CIGAT come to the

100th Birthday

The hundredth anniversary of the Digby Weekly Cower has brought to mind some fond memories at cytained in the following historical chapter of the other. But first, I wish to congratulate the current shows a finer of the Courier, Mrs. J.M. (Edith) Wallis, for a job wall done over the years and still being well done. According to any record. I have at hand, the Digby Courier, in one hundred years of publication, was controlled under the same family management of Wallis Print Limited. The late J.J. Wallis became didner of The Courier, the second time, in 1929, and at the same time of Courier the second time, in 1929, and at the same time of Courier the second time, in 1929, and at the same time of Courier the second time, in 1929, and at the same time of Credits spanes. which he had been running in and which became With between 1929 and 1931

J.L. and "Mac" sometimes worked overtime. I worked only the regular hours being paid a weekly wage which was comporatively good for those times and my lack of experience. I received four or five dollars a week for working after school hours to six o clock and on Saturday all day, and nine dollars a week for full weeks after finishing school. A two or three follar a week raise was offered to me in the fall of 1925 for me to stay on at printing, but, I had made up my mind to enter a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, starting salary of $500. The bank salary ingred out about the same per hour as for the printing job. This laid out from the water's edge, partie on level of that name. It was settled by Loyalists from New York in 1783, the most of whom went early to farms, or, moving to older countries, left the whole free trade with the U.S.A., especially with the New England States. The question was then debated by some Digby High School students one of which was a J.J.'s' daughter. Florence (now Mes. Melvin O. Tibert, Freeport, Digby Co.) Some days after the debate a man from some part of Nova Scotia came to the printing shop looking for Florence, one of the successful debaters; I had the impression that his man was interested politically but, maybe I was wrong.

Well. I felt that I had learned considerable from my short experience at "The Wallis Job Print" I was learning to do beginner jobs, receiving some learning to do beginner jobs, receiving some learning eabout things like embossing, stapling, perforating, counting, cutting and trimming paper slock, mixing inks for certain desired colors, and so forth, but, the only experience I had at setting type was just enough to make a "pi", the printers name for a confused mess.

The cuise attributed to this increase is first the therapeutic use of ruw beef, and second, the habit of enting that meat, as well as mutton (the latter, however, in a less degree than the former.) in a very rure state. Both beef and in thoi entain morbife igorns, which might well escape the serutiny of a much more rigid inspection of market food than obtains here; and these, lodged in some organ of a the body, specially develop into the mature worm. Cooking the meat through thoroughly is a sure safeguard; but on the other hand, there are, many who have no relish for well-done beef or mutton, and, arrong the Germans especially, the meat is prepared in various ways without being cooked at all. We have frequently seen raw beefsteak served and eaten with the simple accompaniements of In the state of th

That this is a sultile error will be clear from a brief consideration of the cooking process. The rationale of broiling is the subjection of a large surface of meat to a sudden high, temperature. Congulation of the exterior albumen succeeds, and the juices are prevented from escaping, so that they are cooked with the fibrous part of the meat, enclosed as it were, between two shells. Reasting, or rather beling, as it is practised in this country, is virtually the same process, the hotoven being sufsitioned in the country, is virtually the sume process, the hotoven being sufsitioned for the costs. "leathery," which tends to preyent the further penetration of heaf; It will readily be perceived that thus, although the meat has been subjected to cooling a proper length of fifme, and although its exterior may appear overdene, a part of its interior may be practically raw, and may never have reached the temperature of 140°, beyond which it has been proved germ life can not exist. Hence in such portion of the meat thus prepared, the germs are none the worse for their warming, and enter the body in an active state.

Josse Hanshnw, a man well advanced in years, it appears from reports current, had received injuries from sunstroke hat summer, which to some extent had affected his mental faculties, but which the nurrowest observers of his conduct since then had not the slightest idea would culminate in the excusses which insanity alone can in the least manner palliate.

Jesse Hanshaw has been twice married; his second wife—with whom, to all appearance, till the moment of the occurrence of which particulars follow, he had lived on good terms—being the victim of his crazed and all but successful attempt at murder. It is very-difficult to obtain the minute dotains an necessary to the construction of a connected nurrative of such a case, placed, as we are at considerable distance from the scene, and without any quick medias of obtaining information we give the faces of the case, however, as we have them from a thoso oughly reliable person.

Jesse Hanshaw, his wife and son reside on the cross road between the Hessian and Waldeck lines. On Monday and through some cause or other only a dispute a roae. Leiveer-them, and

COLONIAL FEDERATION dipping the man who had hold of it, caused the loan to upset. No trace of the bodies has yet heen found. The young men were been found to the state of the world, it must be attended to cient_justification for heatatung to ap-probable the consideration of such a scheme. But there is abundant evid-ence to the conterry. In America, in Switzerhind; agid in our colonies amongst themselves; confederation has succeeded. A'recent_example of the successful operation of the princi-ple is furnished in the case of the new tierman Empire. The power and prestige of that Empire have been vastly increased by confederation. Yot, notwithstanding, that the work of consolidating it presented siffical-ties which, in many respects, were greater than three which, would have to be encountered in carrying out a plan of federation of Great Britain and her colonies, the work was suc-cesseully and satisfactury accom-plished. Indeed, so far as we are concerned, the way is partly prepared by the success of the plans of confeder-ation which have been adopted in our won colonies. It now only remains to crown this work by the institution of a great scheme of confederation, not the listitution of an "Imperial Patiliament," which would have juris-diction over the whole of the British dominions. The subject is indeed, a great one, and one which domands the depended of this country and of those who inhabit her colonial dominions.
