Town Assessment Totals 85 % Increase

The 1977 Assessment Roll for the Town of Digby was filed on Thursday, March 31, 1977 with Ken Eavis, Town Clerk. Figures released by Philip Dondale, NSIA, Director of Assessment for the Annapolis Digby Assessment Region, show a total assessment of $28,602,540, an increase of approximately 85 per cent over the 1976 total assessment which was $15,484,560. The large increase in assessment for this year was due to the fact that a complete re-assessment program was carried out in 1976 to bring property values in the town up to their market value.

A breakdown of figures shows the following:

Residential and Resource Property $19,433,600
Commercial Property $6,215,200
Personal Property $3,953,740
Total $28,602,540

New legislation was passed by the provincial government in 1976 requiring the assessor to classify all real property which is not commercial into two categories - residential property and resource property.

Residential property includes property used for residential purposes. This would include homes, residential garages and a reasonable amount of land upon which the above are situated. Most land which is not used for commercial purposes would fall into this category.

Resource property includes all other property which is not used for residential or commercial purposes. This would include vacant land not used for residential or commercial purposes at the present time.

Commercial property includes all real property used for commercial purposes.

A few ratepayers will be receiving two or more notices this year, instead of one, and these notices will be identified by R, RP or C, to conform with the above explanation.

Exemptions will no longer appear on the assessment notices. These now become a Tax Exemption. New legislation provides that a city, town or municipal council may, by resolution, grant an exemption for taxation, on property owned by a widow or widower. It could also apply to a person who is the head of a single parent family supporting a dependent, within the meaning of the Canada Income Tax Act. Property owners who feel they qualify for the tax exemption should direct their inquiries to the Town Clerk.

Assessment notices for the Town of Digby were mailed on March 31, 1977. Ratepayers who require more information on their 1977 assessments can contact one of the regional assessors at the Town Hall in Digby, Monday through Friday, from 10:00 to 12:00 a.m. and from 2:00 to 4:00 until April 21, 1977.

N.S. Power Costs Up 47.2 Percent

Domestic customers of Nova Scotia Power Corporation will pay 47.2 percent more for all electricity used after March 2, 1977, they will be billed monthly rather than bi-monthly effective Sept. 1, and they will be given more time to pay their bills before a late payment penalty is charged, according to a decision rendered today by the Nova Scotia Board of Commissioners of Public Utilities.

The Board was ruling on an application by the Corporation for a 79 per cent domestic rate increase. This increase was designed to offset all the Corporation's increasing costs but primarily costs due to large increases in the price the utility had to pay for oil. One long-term, low-price contract expired at the first of this year, increasing the cost of much of the oil it uses by nearly $8 a barrel. The Corporation was hit by another price hike three and a half weeks ago when the national oil price went up by 70 cents a barrel.

The 47.2 percent hike approved by the Board is 32 percent less than the Corporation requested, but the Board felt the approved rates would enable the Corporation to slightly more than break even.

The Board also said that the approved rates contained projected oil price increases for the next 12 months and no further rate increase was expected before April, 1978.

In its decision, the Board approved a declining block rate structure, similar to the type of rate used by the Corporation for many years, but it ordered the utility to hire experts to study new ideas in rate making and to report back to the Board within one year for possible implementation of new utility pricing principles.

It also ordered the Corporation to prepare a proposal for providing time-of-day rates on an experimental basis to a selected group of customers to determine their feasibility here.

And it ordered the Corporation to undertake a detailed cost-of-service study to more accurately allocate generation, transmission and distribution costs to the various classes of customers, so that it could set rates more directly based on costs attributable to each class of customer.

The Board also told the utility it could not charge electricity customers for losses incurred in its merchandizing and appliance division, including the Corporation stores, and it suggested that the Corporation eliminate these divisions if they could not be made to at least break even.

Throughout its decision, the Board admonished the Nova Scotia Power Corporation to "carefully and efficiently manage its affairs" to ensure at least a break-even financial picture.

The Board rejected a proposed lifeline concept which would ensure all customers, particularly low-income families, a basic supply of electricity at lower cost. The Board felt that utility rates should not be used as a means of income redistribution.

In approving domestic rates 32 percent lower than those requested by the Power Corporation, the Board reasoned that:

1) The Board's decision of March 10 this year ended special contracts between the Corporation and certain of its large industrial customers, so that other customers were no longer required to subsidize these special-contract customers. The elimination of these contracts will mean several million dollars in increased revenue for the Corporation.

2) The Board had refused to allow the Corporation to collect revenue from electricity users to offset the loss of about $3,000,000 in its sales of steam to the Atomic Energy of Canada Limited heavy water plant in Glace Bay.

3) The Board assumed that the provincial government would re-commence payments of about $2,000,000 a year to the Corporation under the Rural Electrification Act. These payments had stopped in 1962.

Kenneth Eavis, Town Clerk, Resigns

The resignation of Kenneth Eavis as Digby Town Clerk was accepted with regret by the Digby Town Council at the regular meeting on Monday evening. It was in May, 1976, that Eavis became Digby Town clerk, following the resignation of Glen Pitman, who is presently employed in the North West Territories. Mr. Eavis' resignation takes effect April 30, 1977.

High appreciation was expressed by Councillors for Mr. Eavis' capable and efficient service. His Worship Stuart MacNaughton was exceptionally strong in his praise and said that he accepted the resignation with "utmost regret".

During the period in which Mr. Eavis served the Town, he had been hospitalized for a few weeks and spent a short time convalescing at home. His letter of resignation referred to this period and suggested that some consideration had been given at that time to resign.

It was not until his Worship, Mayor MacNaughton, further spoke on the resignation, that there appeared to both Councillors and spectators that Mr. Eavis' resignation might be prompted by more than illness.

Obviously irritated, Mr. MacNaughton said that the Town is back to "Square One", the same as three years ago, and he deplored the adverse publicity which the Town suffered. He called the situation despicable. His thoughts journeyed back to 1965 to 1967 when he served on the Council previously and said that there had never been such turmoil as presently. Our Town is going backward over trivial things, the mayor ventured, as he brought up the subject of Mr. Eavis being confronted and questioned as to his right to be out of the office to take pictures of corrosion or on business at school. The mayor intimated that he had asked the Clerk to look after these (the pictures were for venturing into a government funding project) - and in resolute manner, assured that he would not resign. Not a single reply followed the Mayor's distraught words and determined challenge. Mayor MacNaughton's references to the past included the resignation of three Mayors within a year recently.

Council moved to advertise for a successor to Mr. Eavis.

Digby Board Of Trade Plans Busy Session

According to the newly elected president of the Digby Board of Trade, the regular meeting to be held on Tuesday evening, April 12th, will be a busy one. Discussion will be held on the feasibility and possibility of the Board to operate the town tourist bureau. The Board is hopeful that funds will be available for the operating venture and discussion will be held on Tuesday regarding the handling of the funds.

Another live subject presently is the application of the D.A.R. to retire its passenger service. The affect of such a situation and what suggestions or proposals might be offered will come before Tuesday's meeting.

Another matter of importance to the Digby Board of Trade is the contract between the town and the R.C.M.P. Alternatives are expected to be aired.

Parking meters on Main St. will come in for discussion as to whether they should be removed or left and whether or not the fines for violation should be raised. Mr. Haliburton is looking for a number of interested persons to attend the meeting and join in the discussion.

Media Has Human Rights Responsibility

Staff and students at the Digby Regional High School are devoting this week to the subject of Human Rights by means of a seminar at the Multi-Purpose room. The seminar at began on Monday when guest speakers from the Human Rights Commission and student speakers were heard. In the picture above is Karen Levy, sitting, and left to right, Paul Brown, speaking on Human Rights and Indians; Pam Francis, Human Rights and Blacks; Gertrude Melanson, president of Students' Parliament, on Women; Paul Comeau, Executive Director of La Federation Acadienne de la Nouvelle Ecosse, guest speaker, and Paul Colpitts, speaking on Acadians. Karen's subject was Human Rights and the Physically Handicapped.

Radio, television and newspapers have the power to mold attitudes and influence opinions across this province and across this country, said Paul Comeau, Executive Director of La Federation Acadienne de la Nouvelle Ecosse, when addressing students at the Digby Regional High School on Monday, to begin a weeklong seminar on Human Rights. He charged, however, that people involved in the Media have not always taken their responsibility in this regard and warned that the powers they have should not be used recklessly as the consequences can have detrimental effects on the development of human behaviour in society. He remarked "I have personally witnessed the media destroy the attainment of human aspirations with their prejudiced editorials resulting in growing animosity within a community."

Mr. Comeau spoke to the students as an Acadian, a member of what he termed an almost invisible minority.

The speaker said that of all cultural minorities in Nova Scotia, the Acadians are the least recognizable group primarily because of their willingness in the past to live in complete harmony with the majority even if this meant denial of some of the most basic human rights as a human being with distinct characteristics. Most minorities in Nova Scotia are tolerated by the majority as long as these minorities adopt their way of life, and their set of values. The cost of satisfying the ideals of the majority has been great. The cost to the Acadians has been complete assimilation of about half of the total Acadians population in Nova Scotia.

Presently we are witnessing in the Maritime provinces a revival of Acadian identity and Acadian pride, he continued but besought not to let prejudice overlap a sober sincere and objective effort of the Acadians to contribute to their society in their own particular way as a distinct group. This revival of Acadian assertion should neither be interpreted, Mr. Comeau noted, as an end to a policy of living in harmony with the majority but simply a request to the majority for human respect towards the Acadians as well as other minority groups in Nova Scotia.

The basic cause of the present crisis in Canada today can be traced back to violations of human rights, the imposition of the values of the majority on the minority and pure selfishness on the part of Canadians to satisfy their egocentric ideals, he charged.

Every Nova Scotian, every Canadian has a moral

Artist Of The Month

Above is Eileen Holcomb of Sarasota, Fla., and Weymouth, N.S. Mrs. Holcomb is a well known artist, both in Canada and U.S.A.

The Sarasota Art Association recently held a fund raising auction, in which Mrs. Holcomb was active. She was appointed "Artist of the Month" at the Avenue Art Shop in Sarasota, and her work was featured in the window and on the walls throughout the month of February.

In March, Mrs. Holcomb's home was open to the public on the "Fine Art Society's Creators and Collectors Tour".

Inside Eileen Holcomb's home at Oakmont Place, where she lives with her husband, there is a quiet corner overlooking the pool where she does her etchings, woodcuts and acrylic foil painting (an original technique). In this airy invironment full of climbing plants, opened to the light by a wall of glass, Mrs. Holcomb sits on her favourite Hilton Leech stool and creates large canvasses in a variety of mediums.

"We built this house around my paintings", she explained. "The entire living area was planned to coordinate the colours of the paintings even before we began to build it three years ago."

Inside, a soft green carpet mutes the tone of wood panelling and sets off the

Editorial

HE WILL BE MISSED
HIS INFLUENCE REMAINS

Albert Melanson of Church Point, will be missed. He will be missed by his good wife, Catherine. To her and relatives of Mr. Melanson, The Digby Courier extends deepest sympathy. Their loss by his death is keenly felt.

Mr. Melanson, too, was a community man. He served the community in a varied number of ways and his loss will be extremely felt in that capacity. Through sports he had in years past exerted his influence on the lives of young people of the area. Adult organizations, church and community counted on his service. In his everyday work in the postal department, Mr. Melanson gave of his best and radiated his philosophy of life in his general living. It is well that his retirement was fittingly recognized by his associates and leaders in the community and area and that Mr. Melanson could know that his able services were appreciated.

Another area where the loss of a special friend will be felt is in the news media. Among those who will feel the loss, none will be grieved more than The Digby Courier. His service to this newspaper has been of high quality and of long-standing. Rarely was compensation for his efforts given thought by Mr. Melanson but service to the newspaper and community were paramount. He was a man who knew news when he saw it and his pen was felt in provincial and local press. His copy was just and fair as was the man himself.

As a person to cement and continue long-standing harmonious and friendly relations between the two races, French and English, which mostly populate Digby County, Albert Melanson could be counted on to use his influence. His bilingualism could throw light in many uncomprehended corners and he took for granted that the rest of us who were not so fortunate appreciated his ability to help.

To the life of Albert Melanson we can do no other than write "30". His influence will long remain.

SOLVE CANCER PUZZLE BY DONATION

The Canadian Cancer Society's annual expenditures on research have now risen to $10 million. What is being done with this money?

Right now in Canada, the search for causes of cancer in the environment is being undertaken by cancer epidemiologists. These scientists hunt for possible connections between cancer incidence and sex, age, diet, social habits, race and geography. Epidemiological studies have already singled out cigarette smoking as a cause of lung and bladder cancers. It is anticipated that, in the next few years, studies of the diet, social customs and habits, previous illnesses and medical care, occupation and even the ethnic origins of Canadians will lead to the identification of more causes of cancer in our environment. This, in turn, will make it possible for greater prevention of the disease.

Some Canadian scientists are engaged in immunological research aimed at unlocking the mysteries of the body's natural defence mechanism -- its immune system -- in the hope that it can be harnessed to fight cancer cells.

While epidemiological and immunological research will probably make important contributions to the control of cancer in the future, there is research being carried out which has a more immediate contribution to the welfare of cancer patients. This involves the testing of new surgical and radiotherapy techniques and new drugs and drug combinations. These clinical trials, as they are called, compare the effectiveness of different treatment methods. Successful results lead to widespread adoption of more effective treatments.

What have we got to show for the $60 million which the Canadian Cancer Society has already spent in the past? The five-year survival rate for all cancer sites now averages 52 per cent compared with 40 per cent twenty years ago.

The problem of cancer can be compared to a giant jigsaw puzzle and the pieces are hard to find -- very often it is even difficult for trained investigators to know what they are looking for. When a piece of the puzzle is found it may not make headlines but progress is made.

The cost of research is high. The Canadian Cancer Society, through the National Cancer Institute of Canada, is the main source of funds for cancer research. The Canadian contribution to this world-wide progress towards the control of cancer has been disproportionately large. When a canvasser knocks on your door during the Cancer Society's April Campaign, remember that your donation is vital to the solution of the cancer puzzle.

EASTER CONQUERS

Unrest is found in every country of the world today. Where direct fighting does not exist, there are other problems which plague the nation. From nation down to families and individuals there is anxiety and worry. Often the individual becomes so wrapped up in his or her own problems that problems of others in the neighborhood, community or nation are sadly overlooked. The lonely continue to be lonely the misunderstood continue to be misunderstood and complaints of discrimination remain unanswered. Youth which deserves guidance fails to get answered questions and direction from others.

This state of affairs should not be. It need not be if Christians live their religion and become true followers of the Man-On-The -Cross who died on Good Friday and arose in joyous and triumphant life on Easter Day. Jesus, in the midst of His own suffering on the cross, had compassion for others. He endured the Cross and became conqueror. Jesus passed on to his followers the spirit of thinking of others in their need and helping them to conquer. He gave to all the secret of overcoming and conquering. That is the message of Easter which the Christian world celebrates on Sunday. Will we hear the message. It is up to us.

Hodge Podge

--Heard many good comments on the Digby Regional High School drama "I Remember Mama". Looks now as though we have a good start on "The Taming of The Shrew". Oh, no, not at DRHS.-

- Saw some storm erosion pictures at Digby Town Council on Monday evening. All of them showed erosion through the early and late years of our town, particularly from the business section to the bandstand. Storm has played havoc with many parts of Nova Scotia's coastline. We didn't. It was someone else who remarked that if that keeps on, Nova Scotia may leave Confederation not by Act of Parliament but by Act of God.-

-- There were those last Friday who awakened to the fact that they had no license for their car. Delinquent is the word. There were others who were so efficient they renewed the license in December only to mislay the stickers. Now who is so smart. -

Cancer is not one disease but a group of diseases characterized by the disorganized and unregulated growth of abnormal body cells. In many cases, there is a favourable response to modern methods of treatment if diagnosis is made before signs of spread are evident. Your contribution to the Canadian Cancer Society is vital to the work of cancer research teams battling to defeat cancer.

Truckers Annual Meeting

obligation to get involved in a bid to better understand the make-up of their community, their province and their country, the speaker advised. Ignorance is one of the worst enemies in Canada and a source of confusion which eventually leads to prejudices and discrimination. He mentioned that for years the department of education of this province has allowed discrimination through the school text books that had derogative remarks about native people, the blacks of this province and other ethnic groups. Fortunately, he said, through the efforts of the human rights Commission of this province of Nova Scotia, the department of Education has removed a good number of these books from the schools and more will eventually be removed.

In closing his remarks, Mr. Comeau said that Society will probably never be completely free of the ugliness of discrimination and prejudice because no one can dictate attitudes to individuals and no one can force individuals to respect another person's set of values. However, he claimed he had a lot of confidence in human beings and he wanted to believe that some day the great majority of Nova Scotians will want to eliminate discriminatory acts that have brought so much human suffering to so many people.

The conference being held in Digby sponsored by the Digby School Board and the Nova Scotia Human Rights Commission, is one of the series held throughout the province under the Commission Director, George F. McCurdy. The Digby conference or seminar is co-ordinated through David States, the Commission's Regional Supervisor and Clyne Boodoosingh, teacher, with the aid of students.

The afternoon on Monday began with a welcome and remarks by the principal of DRHS. Miss Gertrude Melanson, student and president of the Student's Parliament, introduced the platform guests and Mr. McCurdy introduced the speaker. Present from the Commission was also Duncan L. MacNab. Remarks were made by Joe Casey M.L.A., Digby; Miss Coline Campbell, M.P. South Western Nova and Rev. George Bell, co-ordinator of the Multicultural Society.

Highlight of the planned program was a panel on Human Rights by students with Mr. States as moderator. Subjects were Human Rights and Blacks by Miss Pam Francis; Indians, Paul Brown; Women, Miss Gertrude Melanson; Acadians, Paul Colpitts and The Physically Handicapped, Miss Karen Levy.

Miss Francis traced the difficulties of the Black race in Nova Scotia where they were torn away from their native land and subjected to trials on plantations and their striving for recognition through many years. Much which the black man contributed has never been noted, she said, and it has been frustrating. Discrimination has hindered them in school, business, jobs, housing and society.

Paul charged that the white people provided reservations for the Indians in this country but they simply left them there to become discouraged and suffer discrimination. They desire, he said, to preserve their culture but are unable to fit into society. He urged their retention of their own language and being encouraged to build within the areas of the majority society.

Miss Melanson dealt with various aspects of life where women have been discriminated against such as in the labor force, unequal pay, professions, business positions, in society in general and in the confines of the law.

Paul Colpitts mentioned several cases in which the Acadians in Nova Scotia have been discriminated against, some of them beginning by the Expulsion more than 220 years ago and recent cases concerning the French language rejection by people at Greenwood and rejection of roadsigns in French for the Clare district highway. He believed in making the Acadians feel needed and accepted and warned of the high loss in losing a piece of French Canada.

Recognizing the improvements which had been made for the physically handicapped through hospital equipment, camps and other areas, Miss Levy, herself physically handicapped found that in general there were many problems to be faced by the handicapped and improvements should be sought. She felt that the physically handicapped wanted to be self reliant and not dependant on family or friends. This she felt was impossible unless the discrimination was overcome by supplying ramps to buildings, sidewalks, proper washroom accommodation, transportation facilities and other means of making the handicapped self reliant.

The conference closes this afternoon when reports of the week will be heard and speakers will include Louis Comeau, Saint Anne's College, Church Point; Noel Knockwood; Rev. Paul Best; Dr. Tony Johnston and Dr. Andy MacKay.

N.S. POWER COSTS UP 47.2 PERCENT

4) The Board also assumed that the provincial government would pay $1,938,000 in accordance with an offer it made as a result of the Corporation's 1975 operating loss.

5) The Board decided that certain expenditures such as a proposed $3,000,000 for contingencies could not be recovered from electricity customers, thereby reducing the final operating expenditures approved by the Board.

In other changes affecting the domestic customer, monthly billing will be introduced in September at the request of the Corporation, and customers will be given 30 days, rather than 20, to pay their bills before a 10 per cent late payment penalty is charged.

Hearings on the Nova Scotia Power Corporation's application for a rate increase to the Board of Commissioners of Public Utilities began on Oct. 19, 1976 and concluded Feb. 18, 1977 after a total of 45 days of hearing evidence.

The Board received and heard over 65 submissions and representations from various interested parties. The submissions included over 150 exhibits filed in evidence and the transcript of testimony ran approximately 5,000 pages.

The Nova Scotia Power Corporation came under the provisions of the Nova Scotia Public Utilities Act on July 16, 1976 and required that their rate structure changes must first be approved by the PUB. For many years the Power Corporation conducted its operations under a special mandate from the Nova Scotia Legislature and within a framework designed in its Act of Incorporation.

The Power Corporation's operations include over 90 percent of the electrical generation, transmission and distribution facilities in the Province and incorporates the operations of the former Nova Scotia Power Commission and three privately-owned electric utilities and seven municipally-owned electric utilities. It serves 289,000 customers directly and an additional 17,000 customers indirectly through the remaining municipally-operated utilities which purchase their power and energy requirements from them.

The Board's decision states in part that it has designed rates for the Power Corporation which will "enable the Applicant to slightly more than break-even on utility operations during the next fiscal year. Such rates are, in the opinion of the Board, consistent with the guidelines of the Anti-Inflation Board".

The Board's decision goes on to state "that with careful and prudent management by the Applicant, and barring a significant deviation in world oil prices from their current forecast levels for the next 12 months, the customers of the Applicant should be able to look forward to stable rates throughout the coming year".

A Thought Starter

By Rev. R.C.MacCormack
RR 4, Fredericton, N.B.

NEWNESS IS GOOD

The desire for newness is almost a creed.

The "now" generation may put a question mark over anyone past thirty. This can be carried too far, but the young people do have something.

There is no virtue in being tied to tradition, but to be anchored to the rock is a must. God's Word is older than time, but newer than tomorrow. The Lord belongs to every age, ours too!

A leader has said, "The greatest need today is a new humanity, a new kind of people. It is time to break out beyond ourselves, beyond our frozen orthodoxy, and to start living the Gospel of Jesus Christ in our time."

It is not wrong to want to shift into higher gear, and to find new vitality. Too many just talk about the Gospel. Some proclaim it, judge others by it, but fail to live it themselves.

If the upcoming generation only sees a stereotype, nominal, almost hypocritical kind of observance they may be turned off. They need clear examples if they are to come out right.

Christ encouraged change.

We cannot be Christians without the new birth. Self-effort is not enough to reach this new condition. God does it by His power.

In Ephesians 4:24, the Lord calls us all to put on the new man. Hebrews 10:20 calls it the "new and living way".

There should be something new, fresh, and growing about us every day. His Life in us produces faith and radiance.

Discuss Landlord – Tenant Problems

Landlord and tenants problems will be the focus of meetings to take place over the next two weeks, Hon. Guy Brown Minister of Consumer Affairs announced. The meeting in Digby will be on April 13 at 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Social Services Building.

Residential tenancies officers will be undertaking information sessions in various centres of the province, the Minister of Consumer Affairs said. At Annapolis Royal the meeting is April 13 at 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the Municipal Building. In addition to answering queries on various landlord-tenant problems, they will be giving out information on rent increase ceilings and other regulations under the N.S. Rent Review Act. They will, as well, acquaint Nova Scotians with the services offered by the N.S. Residential Tenancies Boards.

Rent increase forms and rental accommodation forms may be picked up from the residential tenancies officers or at any Residential Tenancies Office in the prvince.

"Both landlords and tenants in the province are guaranteed certain rights under the N.S. Residential Tenancies Act and the Rent Review Act," Mr. Brown said. "The Tenancies Boards can act as mediators in rental disputes to the benefit of both parties involved. This series of meetings will serve to familiarize people with the services we offer and the ways in which we can help make the landlord-tenant relationship mutually satisfactory."

World Fishing Exhibition

With opening ceremonies still about six months away, the international World Fishing Exhibition has already succeeded in attracting more than 100 exhibitors from 16 nations around the globe who have already booked 75 per cent of the available display area.

The exhibition, scheduled for Halifax, Nova Scotia, Canada from Aug. 31-Sept. 7, 1977 marks the first North American venue for this prestigious biennial trade show, inaugurated in London in 1963. The exhibition has previously been held in Britain, Ireland, Spain and France.

By every current indication, the Halifax Exhibition will be the most successful yet staged. Show organizers, Industrial and Trade Fairs Limited of England, attribute a large part of the pre-exhibition success to the co-operation received from the administration of the Development, Fisheries, and Tourism departments of the Province of Nova Scotia.

This international showcase for the world's fishing community is expected to bring close to 15,000 visitors to Nova Scotia. It has already attracted exhibitors from 16 nations – Canada, the United States, the United Kingdom, Norway, Denmark, Germany, Sweden, Spain, Holland, France, Poland, Iceland, Greece, Portugal, Japan and Finland. A full 75 per cent of the available 6200 square meters net of display area has been booked.

The spacious exhibition site fronts deep-water berths that will enable demonstration vessels to be easily accessible to the exhibition. By late August, a $250,000 facelift will have been completed, providing all the necessary facilities (including an information centre, restaurant, etc.) for the convenience of exhibitors and visitors.

Nova Scotia is a very appropriate choice for an exhibition site. It lies among a network of islands and salt water inlets which make up Canada's Maritime and Atlantic Provinces where fishing is historically one of the primary industries. Sheltered harbours with processing plants are numerous with considerable expansion forcast by the impetus now being provided by Canada's 200-mile fisheries zone.

Although the eight-day exhibition will follow the usual pattern of "admission by invitation only", on trade days this will present no problem to bona fide fishermen and people of the industry who are being given the opportunity to obtain complimentary tickets. Because of the significant public interest being demonstrated regionally the exhibition will be opened to the public on Sept. 3, 4 and 5.

The City of Halifax has an international airport with regular connections globally and a wide range of first-rate accommodations and facilities specifically set up by metro interests for exhibition participants. Official travel agent for World Fishing is American Express whose many international branches have details of special travel arrangements and inclusive package trips.

Canada's eastern provinces, of which Nova Scotia is the nucleus, is an extremely popular holiday area for North Americans. Nova Scotia, "Canada's Ocean Playground", is especially attractive for foreign visitors. The province enjoys an open, unrestricted and usually natural terrain up and down its 6479 miles (10,000 kilometres) of rugged and picturesque shoreline. Excellent motels, restaurants and shops, great sport fishing, swimming, golf, a gourmet's paradise for seafood and you have the ideal holiday choice.

The eight World Fishing Exhibition is sponsored by the Federal Government of Canada, the Provincial Government of Nova Scotia, the City of Halifax, the City of Dartmouth, the Halifax Chamber of Commerce and World Fishing Magazine.

Conway Co-op Has Successful Year

The members of the Conway Co-Operative will receive a patronage refund of eleven percent on all purchases they made from the Co-Op last year. 1976 was the most successful year that the Co-Operative has had since it was organized in 1957.

At the annual meeting of Conway Co-Operative held on March 30th at the Fundy Restaurant in Digby, it was reported that the net earnings for the year had doubled, and the membership had increased by 20 percent.

The eleven percent patronage refund will be allocated to members in the form of extra shares. The Co-Operative will purchase 30 percent of all members shares for cash, and will retire all existing loan capital. Cheques will be mailed out to members within the next few weeks. Co-Op manager, Dick Warner and his staff were congratulated on their outstanding achievement on behalf of the members.

Jack Harris, who chaired the meeting, was elected president of the Co-Operative, with Rev. George Bell as vice-president.

Donald Haight and Bradford Barton were elected to serve on the Board of Directors. Other Directors of the Co-Operative are LeRoy Sullivan, Raymond Briton, William Lefort, John Roope, and Layton Savory.

Don Newcombe of Port Williams, the president of Maritime Co-Operative Services, reported on the recent M.C.S. Annual meeting and congratulated Conway Co-Operative on its excellent record. Other special guests included Don Ashby, M.C.S. Area Manager, and Keith Russell, M.C.S. Public Relations Manager Maritime Co-op Services.

EASTER BREADS

The extra time taken to make special breads at Easter, is worthwhile when you see the smiling faces of your family during mealtime.

Here are a few of the traditional ideas that you may want to try this year.

Easter Braid

1 pkg. active dry yeast
¼ cup water
1 cup milk, scalded
½ cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
½ cup softened butter or shortening
4 ½ - 5 cups sifted enriched flour
2 eggs
2 teaspoons grated lemon peel
¼ teaspoon mace (optional)
1 cup seedless raisins
Sugar Glaze

Soften active dry yeast in warm water. Combine milk, sugar, salt and butter. Cool to lukewarm, stir in about 2 cups of the flour, add eggs and mix well. Stir in softened yeast. Add lemon peel, mace, the raisins, and remaining flour to make a soft dough. Let rest 10 minutes.

Knead on a lightly floured surface till smooth and elastic. Place in a lightly greased bowl, turning once to grease the surface. Cover and let rise in a warm place till double (about 1½ hours). Punch down, let rise until almost double (about 1 hour). Divide and round dough into 2 balls, one for each loaf. Let rest, covered, 10 minutes.

For each loop; divide one ball in fourths. Shape 3 parts into strands 12 inches long, tapering ends. Line up strands 1 inch apart on a lightly greased baking sheet.

Braid loosely without stretching the dough, beginning at the middle and working toward either end. Seal ends well. Divide remaining dough in thirds. Shape in strands 8 to 9 inches long, tapering ends. Braid loosely and place on top of the large braid, tucking ends of small braid into large one. Cover and let rise until double.

Bake loaves in moderate oven (350 degrees F) about 25-30 minutes. While warm, spread with sugar glaze. Makes 2 loaves.

SUGAR GLAZE

To two cups sifted icing sugar, add ¼ cup hot water and 1 teaspoon butter or margarine; mix well until blended. Drizzle over Easter Braid while still warm.

TRADITIONAL HOT CROSS BUNS

2 packages active dry yeast
one-third cup water
one-third cup milk, scalded ½ cup salad oil or melted shortening one-third cup sugar
¾ teaspoon salt
3 ½ - 4 cups sifted enriched flour
½ to 1 teaspoon cinnamon
3 beaten eggs
two-thirds cup currants
1 slightly beaten egg white sifted icing sugar

Soften active dry yeast in warm water. Combine milk, salad oil, sugar and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Sift together 1 cup of the flour and the cinnamon; stir into the milk mixture. Add eggs, beat well. Stir in softened yeast and currants. Add remaining flour (a little more or less to make a soft dough). Cover with damp cloth; and let rise in a warm place until it doubles (about 1½ hours). Punch down.

Roll or pat out to ½ inch on lightly floured surface. Cut in rounds with 2 ½ inch biscuit cutter; shape in buns. Place on a greased baking sheet about 1½ inches apart. Cover and let rise in a warm place until almost double (about 1 hour). If desired cut a shallow cross in each bun with sharp scissors or a knife. Brush tops with egg white. Bake at 375 degrees F about 12 minutes, or until done. Add confectioners sugar (about ¾ cup) to the remaining egg white. Use this as a frosting for piping crosses on warm buns. Makes about 2 dozen.

To reheat Hot Cross Buns, put 2 tablespoons of water in a large skillet. Place wire rack on top, and place buns on top. Place over medium heat about 5 minutes. Don't cover the skillet as the icing will melt.

French Books Displayed At College Ste. Anne

Acadians, educators, school officials and the general public have had a unique chance to examine more than 3,000 volumes of books in French, from textbooks to novels and poetry collections, at the fourth Salon du Livre which ends here, today at College Ste. Anne.

The exhibition, sponsored by the Nova Scotia Federation of Acadians, the department of education, the Canadian Association for French Language Education, and several other groups including the college, was designed to promote French language publications by making people aware of their existence and where they can be obtained.

Senator Ernest Cottreau, in his opening address to the event on Thursday, said such an exhibition was a "welcome opportunity to enrich the Acadian culture in communities such as ours."

Senator Cottreau, the only Acadian senator from Nova Scotia, told the gathering, that the concern of Canadians with the French question was an opportune time for an exercise such as the Salon du Livre and that it would help Acadians understand their culture.

He said in Ottawa people are often surprised to hear Nova Scotia has a French population and urged Acadians to make themselves better known, not only among themselves, but to the rest of Canada.

Send A Mouse To College

Send a Mouse to College! His Worship Mayor Stuart MacNaughton, Digby, left, and Gifford Lewis, Weymouth, president of the Weymouth and District Unit of the Cancer Society, sport T-shirts announcing the slogan "Cancer Can Be Beaten-Send a Mouse to College" which kicks -off the annual fund-raising campaign in Digby County.

The Weymouth and District Unit of the Canadian Cancer Society officially launches its 1977 April Campaign this year by donating a specially marked T-shirt to Mayor Stuart MacNaughton, Digby. The T-shirts marked "Cancer Can Be Beaten" up front and "Send a Mouse to College" on the back, are meant to reflect the importance and cost of research for the Canadian Cancer Society. The figure of the mouse named "Carlton", represents research in Canada dedicated to the search for a cancer cure, hence, the slogan "Cancer Can Be Beaten."

Research too has had to suffer the impact of inflation and costs have risen proportionately. An example of this are the 25,000 or so mice kept in the University laboratories across Canada. This is why the slogan "Send a Mouse to College" was also used, in order that cancer research in Canada be given a chance to continue.

The year, the Provincial objective is $365,000. The Weymouth and District Unit objective is $3400.00. April is the only time of the year when the Canadian Cancer Society can openly solicit funds for its programmes of research, services to patients and education. Canvassing begins on April 1st and will end April 30th. Last year the Provincial objective was not only reached but exceeded due to the traditional generosity displayed by Nova Scotians.

St. Mary's Marshland Appoints Directors

The annual meeting of the St. Mary's Bay Marshland Body was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Comeau, Brighton on Wednesday evening when John Roop of the Community Pasture and Reginald Lambertson were appointed two new two year term directors. Other two year term directors are Wayne Comeau and David Thomas, North Range. One year directors are Chipman Chisholm, Bear River; Lester Mullen; Ben Seeley and Lloyd MacNeil, Marshalltown. The Marshland Body operates under the Marshland Reclamation Act.

The financial statement presented Wednesday evening was reasonably good and land assessment work on the marsh was completed and presented by the directors. It was found that some of the Marshland Body accounts had not been paid. Land had been purchased by the Marshland Body and if accounts are not paid, the Marshland Body has power to sell these properties, it was agreed.

Mention was made of the excellent job done for St. Mary's Marshlands by the government, the Minister of Agriculture, Miss Coline Campbell M.P. and Joe Casey M.L.A. A letter of thanks is to go out to them for their aid in the project of edyking.

The new directors will meet shortly to appoint new officers, it was decided.

It was decided to have action taken on cars which use the dykeland road without permission and tear up the road by spinning tires, dragging etc. Also those using the road for garbage will be prosecuted. It was mentioned that approximately $325,000 had gone into rebuilding the road across the marshland and it is needed to be protected.

Information Available

The Community Planning Division of the Department of Municipal Affairs has produced an "Information Package" containing background studies which have been done as part of the first phase of a regional planning program for the Annapolis Valley. A copy of this "Information Package" has been placed in each branch of the Annapolis Valley Regional Library and on the bookmobiles.

Know Your Fireman

Long time worthy service with the Digby Volunteer Fire Department and service with the Department of National Defence brought Vaughn VanTassell to his present highly respected position as Digby's Fire Chief. Before becoming Chief, Mr. VanTassell served as Deputy Chief and captain of number three company. His years of service number eighteen.

Mr. VanTassell's occupation for the past twenty years has been with CFB Cornwallis of the Department of National Defence. This service has been ten years in the Central Registry and ten years fireman.

Vaughn has given unstintingly of his time in voluntary service such as First Aid through St. John Ambulance courses and the Emergency Measures Organization. The EMO organization courses included radiation monotoring, emergency planning, emergency policing and rescue instruction courses at Arnprior, Ontario.

Vaughan is the son of Reginald VanTassell, Digby. He married Bonnie Dunn, CNA, daughter of Maurice Dunn, Bear River. They have three children Jeff, Lori and Heather.

Left is Aubrey Forest, trustee of the Digby Lighthouse Church of God; James Ross, elder and Dale Swartz, pastor, at a mortgage-burning ceremony on Sunday evening. The ceremony represented the complete retirement of the debt on the parsonage which began in 1970.

Acadians Urged To Take Pride In Their Culture

Acadians are not French and they are not Quebecois and they must take pride in their culture and heritage, according to Antonine Maillet.

Madame Maillet, who was addressing the final Acadian Conference of the year at the College Ste. Anne, Church Point, told the largest crowd of the conference series to date that the last decade had seen an awakening of awareness in the Acadian culture that was continuing to grow now that "outsiders are looking at us and finding we're alive, that we're on the map."

"We are different and we shouldn't try to imitate the French or the people of Quebec, we must keep our own roots."

She said that Acadians in the Maritimes had a unique way of life, full of spirit and a sense of enjoyment, that must be preserved at all costs.

"The Acadian people are very sensitive and natural and that reflects on the quality of life here."

The New Brunswick native, said there was "too little being done" in the area of written Acadian tradition and she would like to see more work in this area although the small size of the Acadian community does present may problems for would be writers. The author of a number of books, her latest La Sagouine had become a best seller with over 80,000 copies in print in Canada alone. The book has also just been released in Europe.

Channels For GRS Users Increased

Users of the General Radio Service (GRS, or CB as it is commonly known) are reminded by the Department of Communications that the number of channels available to them will be increasing from 22 to 40 on April 1.

This additional spectrum now is occupied by licensees in the Private Commercial Land Mobile Service. Although encouraged to apply for new frequency assignments, they have been given the option of remaining on their present assignments until they find it convenient or necessary to re-locate. The department will not provide interservice interference protection. In the interim period, GRS licensees using channel 23 and above are requested to co-operate where possible with existing licensees on these frequencies.

Those who use the General Radio Service are required to have a licence from the Department of Communications. All GRS equipment licensed in Canada must continue to conform to Canadian technical standards.

In Nova Scotia, the licences can be obtained at the following Department of Communications District Offices:
Halifax- 6009 Quinpool Road
Sydney - 500 Kings Road.

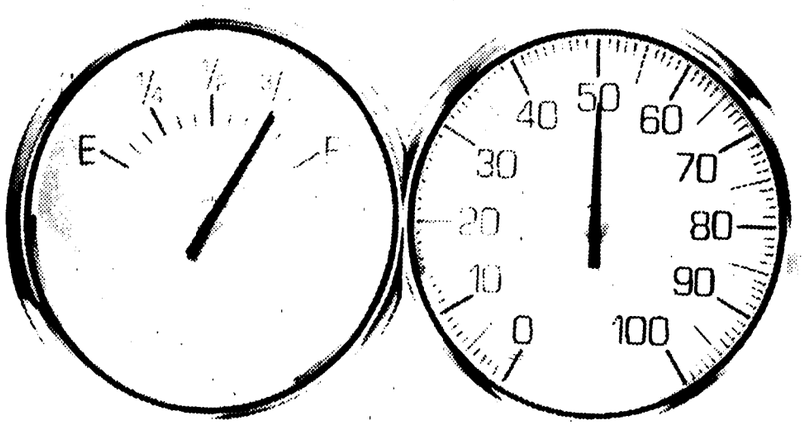
They said it couldn't be done.



45.2 miles per gallon. 0 to 50 in 7.7 seconds.

For the last number of years, carmakers have been struggling unsuccessfully with a huge problem, how to produce a car that is right for these changed times as well as for the changing times ahead.

A car that effortlessly combines economy, room, performance and safety.

It was beginning to look like an impossible chore.

Until now. Until the Volkswagen Rabbit. The car that does the impossible.

We spent five years planning and creating it. Fresh, from the ground up.

Its engine is a gem of ingenuity and function. Transversely mounted, this 1.6 litre, overhead cam, fuel injected powerplant delivers 45.2 miles per gallon on the highway and 30 miles per gallon in the city*. Yet remarkably, it can also propel you from 0 to 50 miles an hour in an astonishing 7.7 seconds. (A combination unmatched in the world.)

The engine along with the transmission is mounted up front, over the drive wheels to give you the superior road-hugging advantages of front-wheel drive.

Its rack-and-pinion steering gives you instant and obedient steering response.

Its unique "independent stabilizer rear axle" makes the car more stable on rough roads. Smoother riding on ordinary roads.

Safety?

The Rabbit has front disc brakes and a dual diagonal brake circuit. (If one circuit fails, a second is still there.)

A double jointed steering column breaks aside in the event of an impact.

The Rabbit also boasts negative steering roll radius. (It assists the driver in maintaining directional control under conditions which contribute to skidding.)

There's a specially designed "unitized safety cell body". Even reinforced steel beams in the doors.

When it comes to room, a staggering 87% of the car is sheer passenger and cargo space.

Besides seating four adults comfortably, the Rabbit with its rear seat folded down has more luggage space than a Cadillac Fleetwood. And with five doors, there are enough ins and outs for everyone.

Stop by your nearest Volkswagen dealership and put a Volkswagen Rabbit to the test.

When you're done, we know there'll be one less person who said it couldn't be done.

The Volkswagen Rabbit
There's no comparison.

Regional Director Visits Bear River New Horizons

The Bear River New Horizons Centre will hold its annual Easter Sale and afternoon tea on Saturday April 9th. commencing at 2 p.m. There will be baked goods, a large variety of handcrafts, and a special Easter ceramics display and sale. Tea will be served throughout the afternoon.

The Centre had a surprise visit from Mr . L. Comeau, the Regional Director for Nova Scotia of the New Horizons program. Meeting with the Board , he discussed some of the problems and possibilities of the work in the area of Senior citizens. He was happy to find the Bear River Branch in good health, and noted the variety of their activities with great interest.

Centre members have begun to use the "First and Third", Film club which holds its showings in Annapolis Royal High School. There will be a good contingent travelling this week, as the major film offering concerns Cape Breton.

Members were glad to see new comers to the Community exploring the centre in the last week. The group is always anxious to increase its membership, and hopes that the attendance at the Easter Sale may encourage non members to take a real share in the Centre life.

Health Week

Nova Scotians have been urged to participate in National Health Week, April 3 to 9.

Health Minister Maynard MacAskill made the call today, and noted that the theme of the week is "Lifestyle and Health of Canadians".

Dr. MacAskill noted that many of today's lifestyles, with their freedom of choice have created health problems which are self inflicted.

"Through faulty behaviour in relation to food habits, smoking, alcohol and lack of physical exercise, many Canadians have chosen an early road to poor health, disease and death. The promotion of healthy lifestyles in a positive sense is a capacity of all Nova Scotians," Dr. MacAskill said.

In conjunction with National Health Week, April 7 has been set aside as World Health Day emphasizing "Immunize and Protect Your Child".

Dr. MacAskill urged all parents to make sure their children are immunized. The Department of Health conducts clinics across Nova Scotia, and parents need only to contact their local health unit for information on immunization and times of the clinics.

Digby Wins Provincial Bantam Girls Basketball Championships

The Digby Dragons won the Provincial Bantam Girls Championship this past weekend. The tournament was held in the Digby Regional High School Gym. The Tournament was a double elimination type, which meant that a team had to lose two games before being eliminated.

In the first game Digby defeated Centennial Martyrs of Halifax 51-22. Kim Roy had 22 points and Janet Wilson had 18 for the winners.

In the second game game the team from Amherst defeated the Community Y team from Halifax 66-20. Michele McGee had 22 points for Amherst while Linda Weeks had 15.

The third game saw Antigonish go down to defeat to the Digby team by a 50-12 score. Kim Roy scored 28 points and Susan Marshall hit for 10 for the winners.

The fourth game saw Centennial Martyrs defeat Community Y by a 49-46 score. Sandy Ross had 18 points and her sister Susan had 17 for the winners, while Andrea Ritchie had 15 for the losers.

The final game of Saturday saw the Centennial Martyrs surge ahead of Antigonish and then hold on to take a 36-26 victory. The Martyrs were led by Sandy Ross with 18 points and Mary Hallett with 14, while Darlene Floyd had 7 for Antigonish.

After Saturday's play both Antigonish and Community Y were eliminated while Digby and Amherst were undefeated.

Sunday morning saw the two undefeated teams meet. The Digby team jumped to a 28-20 lead at the half, but in the process had fallen into serious foul trouble; Kim Roy the high scoring Digby center and Janet Wilson their smooth operating forward had both collected four fouls. The second half saw the Amherst team put on a show of teamwork as they inched closer to the Digby team, who had lost both Kim Roy and Janet Wilson through fouls. Led by Michele McGee the Amherst team tied the Digby team 34-34. The teams went into overtime. The Dragons had opportunities to win the game as they took 7 shots to Amhersts 2 but with 45 seconds left in the 3 minute overtime Vicky Wagner of Amherst scored to give the Amherst squad a 36-34 win.

The Dragons now had to defeat Halifax Martyrs and then defeat Amherst twice in order to win.

Digby met the Centennial Martyrs and defeated them 56-24 to advance to the finals. Kim Roy had 22 points and Joanne Wilson had 12 for the winners while Susan Ross had 9 for the Halifax squad.

The championship game brought Digby and Amherst together for the Provincial title. However because Digby had lost a game they had to defeat Amherst twice.

Digby did just that. Rolling out an impressive attack with tight defence the Dragons made up for their earlier loss by crushing the Amherst team 74-27. Kim Roy led the attack with 28 points while Joanne Wilson had 12. Janet Wilson and Pam Griffiths each had ten for the winners. Michele McGee hit for 10 points for Amherst.

With both teams losing one game, a second championship game was necessary. The Digby Dragons continued their high pressure attack as Kim Roy led the attack with 20 points. Joanne Wilson with 16 points and her Sister Janet with 12 helped the Digby team to win the Nova Scotia Bantam Championship with a 56-32 win. Linda Weeks and Cathy Fury each had 12 points for the Amherst team.

Top scorer in the tournament was Kim Roy of Digby with 146 points in 6 games. Most Valuable Player was Pam Griffiths of Digby. The All-Stars included Michele McGee and Cathy Fury of Amherst, Janet Grant of Antigonish, and Janet Wilson and Kim Roy of Digby.

The Medals were awarded by Richard Wenauss, the president of Basketball Nova Scotia and a representative of the Royal Bank. The Bronze went to the Halifax Martyrs, the Silver to Amherst and the Gold to the Digby Dragons.

The Coach and players of the Digby Dragons wish to thank all those who helped put on the Provincial Bantam Championships; the people who billeted the teams, people on the canteen, people at the gate, people who officiated and any one else who helped out. Special thanks to the maintenance staff of the Digby Regional High School who donated their time free of charge in order for this tournament to be held, (Herman Bent, Chester Winchester, Roger Winchester, and Wayne White).

Blazers Down Legionnaires 4-1

The Sackville Blazers, reigning provincial Junior C. Champions, downed the Digby Legionnairs 4-1 at Sackville on Saturday evening in the first game of the Nova Scotia Junior C Hockey finals. After taking a 2-0 first period lead the Blazers never looked back as they went on to win the contest 4-1. Scoring for the Blazers were Woodland with a pair and Bouchie and Mayhew with one each. The lone Digby marker was scored by Robbie Morgan. Baxter in the Digby goal turned in another strong game for the Legionnaires even though they were defeated 4-1. During this contest Todd Simms of the Legionnaires reinjured his knee and will be lost to the team for the remainder of the series. Another bad break for the Digby team occurred when Bob Wood, a high scoring forward, was suspended on a controversial call late in the game and will set out the next meeting between these two teams.

Lieut Col Retd Indian Army

Exciting, exhilarating and enchanting is the view of the Annapolis Valley from Look-Off, near Wolfville. Nova Scotians find great beauty and peace in crystal lakes and low hills embracing the sea shore.

The rugged beauty of the Canadian and American Rockies, the majesty of the Himalayas, the grandeur of the Mount Fuji, the glistening peaks of the mighty Alps, the mystical snow-covered peaks of the Kilimanjaro have filled the hearts of men with strange longings for beauty and discovery. Every country has its holy mountain where the world was created or where gods dwell. The Bible retains these beliefs but purifies them.

Mankind history is replete with thrilling events which happened on top of mountains and hills. This is the Silver Jubilee of Queen Elizabeth II who became monarch on the slopes of the Mount Kenya, on February 6,1952. In 1953, the coronation year of the Queen, Edmund Hillary and Tensing Norkay climbed the Everest.

Many happy years of my life were spent in the lap of the magnificent Himalayas. They are beautiful in line, form and color. They are beautiful in their purity, in their simplicity and in their freedom. Their repose and contentment provided ideal surroundings to the great Indian - mystic Sadhu Sunder Singh for prayer and reflection and for more than twenty preaching expeditions to Tibet.

In the Book of Life, there are some stirring events that took place on top of holy mountains and hills. It seems that almost every important thing happened on top of a mount or hill.

Abraham's dramatic sacrifice of Isaac was accepted on the mountain, called the mount of sacrifice. At Sinai, Jehovah called Moses when tending goats and sheep; and afterwards gave him the Ten Commandments, the basis of the moral and social code of many nations. Joshua, the remarkable successor of Moses, built an altar to God on the Mount Ebal. At Mount Carmel, the forceful Elijah's prayer was heard which resulted in the defeat and death of his four hundred opponents.

The sweet psalmist of Israel, King David when pursued by his enemies took refuge in Mount Olivet and poured out his heart in this inspiring poetry:-

"If I lift up my eyes to the hills,
Where shall I find help?"

From the pressures and tensions of life, Jesus Christ frequently retired in the stillness of the Galilean hills and at night plunged Himself in their peaceful depths. Many important things in the life of the gracious Master happened on top of mountains and hills. He repelled the devastating attack of His chief adversary on 'an high mountain'. He preached an all pervading sermon on the mount. He fed five thousand hungry humanity at a mountain. The Transfiguration, the advance glory of the risen Christ, took place in the presence of Peter and John, Moses and Elijah, on a high mountain.

The two final acts of the Son of Man were performed on a high mountain and Golgatha, a hill looking like a skull or calvary.

Once I was given a small card, showing three crosses on the hill, Calvary. It was an Easter morn scene. The rays of the morning sun covered the three crosses. The three crosses signified to me that God-man and His humble creatures, two men, glistened in the glory of 'the bright star of dawn'. The repentant and unrepentant were embraced in His loving arms. The central cross was higher than the two other. Its magneticism quickened my perception and filled my heart with unspeakable joy.

The Central Cross towering the other two, representing East and West, had tremendous expression of power and beauty. It touches notes vibrant with etheric rhythm of the universe and lifts all men gently upward towards heaven.

Children Shown Joy Of Movement

Annapolis Valley dance teacher Jeanne Robinson will be bringing a "one-woman-show", involving an overview of the art of dance, to twenty-five elementary schools between Digby and Wolfville this year, funded by a grant from the Canada Council's Explorations Program.

Aimed primarily at grades 3-6, the show – complete with musical accompaniment, props, costumes and posters – is designed to help raise cultural awareness in the Annapolis Valley by exposing children to the art of dance, and to aid in the creation of a dance resource center in the Valley.

"I don't believe that dance – or any art – should be confined to the cities," says Ms. Robinson. "I'd like to help create a structure here in the country which will provide those interested in dance with an opportunity to learn and share. If this is to be selfsustaining, we must start inspiring tomorrow's dancers today."

The forty-five minute show traces the evolution of dance in nine stages from prelingual communication to the Modern (interpretive) dance of today, with depictions of each stage and accompanying lecture material; and attempts to convey something of the Joy of Movement underlying all dance.

Ms. Robinson, a Canadian Landed Immigrant and five-year resident of Nova Scotia, has been offering classes in ballet, jazz and Modern dance in Bridgetown, Middleton and Greenwood for the past two years. She is a dancer of twenty years' experience; has studied at the Boston Conservatory, Martha Graham School of Modern Dance and Toronto Dance Theatre; and was a founding member of the Halifax Dance Co-op. In 1974 she toured with Halcyon Dance Theatre, a Halifax-based Modern dance company (Nova Scotia's first) sponsored by the L.I.P. Program and the N.S. Department of Recreation. Last year she formed and produced Valley Dance Experience, the first Valley-centered dance company, which represented the Annapolis Valley at the 1976 national Dance In Canada Conference, held last August in Halifax.

Mother of a two-and-a-half year old girl, Luanne Mountainborne, Ms. Robinson lives in Hampton with her husband, science fiction writer and critic Spider Robinson, with whom she co-authored Stardance, a novella concerning the first zero-gravity dancer (to be made available in paperback by Dell Books, Inc. next year). The Robinsons also perform together locally on occasion as folksingers.

Those parents who wish their children to see Ms. Robinson's performance are urged to have their principal call 665-2304 as soon as possible for scheduling. All costs are paid by the Canada Council.

Livestock Embryos Under Regulations

Under the Animal Diseases and Protection Act which came into effect in late January, animal embryos are considered as "animals".

Chief of the import-export section Agriculture Canada's Health of Animals Branch, Dr. R. Y. Bonin, says in order to import an embryo, both the dam and sire of the embryo must be inspected by a veterinarian to ensure that they meet Canada's animal health standards. If an embryo has been transplanted, the foster mother must also meet the same criteria. To export an embryo, or the recipient of an embryo transplant, a certificate from a veterinary inspector is required.

Mushroom Identification

The only safe way to eat wild mushrooms is to know a few common species well and leave the rest alone, say Agriculture Canada fungus specialists.

The department's Biosystematics Research Institute in Ottawa provides a mushroom identification service for the public and for the Poison Control Centre of Eastern Ontario.

Last year, the service identified more than 400 specimens. Among these were a number of poisonous species, proving it's wise to have unfamiliar mushrooms identified before eating them.

CTV MACLEAR

THE TWILIGHT YEARS

HAVENS FOR THE AGING MUST NOT MEAN SEPARATION WARNS MACLEAR

In the next episode of "Maclear", titled "The Twilight Years", telecasting Thursday, April 7, 10:30-11:00 p.m. on ATV, Correspondent Michael Maclear searches the orderly and quiet streets of Arizona's affluent retirement community Sun City, and by night seeks out the singles' bars and social clubs to discover what most of us fear to acknowledge but must inevitably confront - life during the twilight years.

Although ten percent of the population today is over 65, and will quickly double, Maclear notes the sobering reality that "our society has no place and no plans for the old".

What remains to be seen is whether retirement 'ghettos' like Sun City, Arizona, (pop. 36,000), can improve the 15 odd years after retirement from professional society by those wealthy enough to enjoy it. Sun City, - the biggest, fanciest and costliest of its kind, "physically the most perfect place I could visually imagine", according to one resident- is still only a tem orary retreat. In the declining years, the need for society's care and protection will make itself felt again.

With Jerry Svendsen, vice president of Public Relations for Dell Webb Corporation, developers of Sun City, Maclear discusses the big business aspect of retirement planning which sees Dell Webb build a million dollars worth of real estate each week.

Widowed retirees are attracted to buy with promises of an end to loneliness. For couples like Fay and Sandy Cochrane of Leamington, Ontario, among Sun City's 160 Canadians, the company-run town offers a tangible improvement in lifestyle, and in the attitudes that separate the elderly from the rest of society. But even here, Maclear finds alienation, isolation, apathy. Segregation has turned into separation.

Happy in their new life, the Cochranes enjoy living with people of their own age group: "It's a big factor really ... at your average dance outside Sun City, you're not pushed aside but you feel that you are, that you can't keep up with the pace."

"Sun City, like it or not," warns Maclear, "raises questions for all of us. We don't think about the old, nor of becoming old."

"The answer for most of us," he concludes, " isn't , nor cannot be, this separation of the old. The lesson of Sun City is that the old do need a world to their own within each community."

"Maclear", with Correspondent Michael Maclear, is produced by Don McQueen for CTV's News, Features and Information Programming Department.

CTV Wins Awards

ATV president Fred Sherratt accepted the awards on behalf of CJCH-TV, Halifax, for the entertainment series "Maritime Country", and a news documentary on "Air Search and Rescue", and CJCB-TV, Sydney, for a documentary on alcoholism entitled "The Sober Alcoholic".

Three major awards in the Can Pro '77 Television Festival, which judges the best local station programs across Canada, have been won by Atlantic Television Sustem stations in Sydney and Halifax.

The Festival, held in Quebec City, was designed to recognize quality in local station productions, and to highlight local stations' sense of community'.

The winners of the nine categories were announced at the Can Pro annual awards dinner held recently at the Chateau Frontenac in Quebec City.

God wouldn't have given us feet if he didn't mean for us to use them. Walk.

Alan Hamel To Emcee Coronation

A re-organization of the executive committee, approval of this year's theme, and announcement of the guest celebrity were among the points discussed at the general meeting of the 45th Annual Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival held Wednesday, February 23, in Kentville.

The approximately 15 persons attending formally approved the theme "The Valley's Future Is..." as the theme for the Saturday, June 4th Parade. Official approval was also given to the formation of a Booster Club as the festival's fundraising aim.

Festival President Geoff Wright of Kentville told the group that ATV talk show host Alan Hamel will be this year's guest celebrity, acting as emcee for the Queen Annapolisa coronation.

The newly re-organized executive committee consists of the president, musical director Art Hildebrand of Wolfville, an executive vice-president yet to be named, and six vicepresidents. Ron Pulsifer of Kentville remains as vice-president in charge of public relations and John Mosher of Kentville continues as vice-president in charge of finance, which includes the administration of the Cathy Walsh Memorial Fund. Alex Macaulay of Centreville, Kings County, was confirmed as Vicepresident in charge of the Booster Club.

The new vice-presidencies were formed. Effie Scott of Hantsport presides over regal affairs, which includes all activities involving the Apple Blossom Princesses. Mike Knight of Canning is vice-president of development which refers to future festival plans.

The position of vice-president in charge of program has not yet been filled. Cheryl Blynn of Kentville is the Festival Secretary.

Mr. Wright said plans were underway for a number of program features, including the Sunday musicale at Grand Pre National Park, the junior and senior art shows, a car rally, and the grand parade. Mr. Macaulay, who is also parade chairman, said a greater emphasis is being put on horse entries for this year's event. Mr. Wright said last year's Apple Blossom Festival car rally was the largest event of its type in eastern Canada.

Mr. Wright urged those present to promote additional locally sponsored Apple Blossom Festival events in the communities outside of the Kentville-Wolfville area.

This year's festival is scheduled for June 2-6. Mr. Wright said there would be no further general meetings of the festival committee and the festival's business would be handled by committee chairman calling their own meetings when necessary.

Liquor Prices Increase

Price increases went into effect on Friday, April 1st, on most imported and Canadian wines and spirits, sold in both general and specialty stores of the Nova Scotia Liquor Commission.

In announcing the price increases D.W. Pulsifer, the Commission's general manager, said that although the prices on several imported beers will increase the price of Canadian beer including draught beer will not be affected by the price adjustments and will remain at the current prices.

Because of the wide variety of spirit and wine products listed by the Commission, Mr. Pulsifer said it was not possible to specify the actual percentage increase but that it would be in the general area of six or seven per cent.

As examples of the price adjustments, a 25-ounce bottle of Scotch, currently selling at $7.65 will advance to $8.10, an increase of 45 cents. A typical 25-ounce bottle of rum, selling at $7.85 will be increased by 55 cents to $8.40 while a 25-ounce bottle of rye will be increased by 50 cents. A 26-ounce bottle of domestic wine will advance in price by 30 cents, from the present $2.95 to $3.25 while a 26-ounce bottle of imported wine will increase from $3.75 to $4.40, an increase of 65 cents. Prices on most imported wines will increase and will vary considerably as these products are greatly affected by foreign currency fluctuations.

Mr. Pulsifer said that while most products would advance in price, decreases in suppliers prices would decrease the prices on some 43 products listed by the Commission. These decreases will apply in the case of 41 wine products and two spirits.

HOWARD HUGHES

Wednesday, April 13 and Thursday, April 14, 10-12 p.m. ATV is pleased to present "The Amazing Howard Hughes", a major four-hour ATV, two-part, dramatic special which traces the life and career of one of the world's wealthiest, most mysterious and evasive industrialist tycoons.

The special, from EMI Television Productions, Inc., with Roger Gimbel as executive producer, is based on the book "Howard the Amazing Mr. Hughes" by Noah Dietrich, longtime associate of the reclusive Hughes, and Bob Thomas, veteran Hollywood correspondent for the Associated Press. In starring roles are Tommy Lee Jones as Hughes and Ed Flanders as Dietrich.

The first part of the four-hour special follows Hughes from his takeover of the Hughes Tool Co. when he was 18 to the start of his famous record-breaking world flight in 1938. During this period, he hired Dietrich to oversee his rapidly expanding vusiness ventures while he pursued his interests in aviation, golf, film making and Hollywood starlets.

The great triumphs and tragedies of Hughes' middle and final years are examined in the conclusion of the special. Events of this period, which are emphasized in the special, are Hughes' critical injury as a result of a plane crash, and his involvement in an historic Senate probe pertaining to war profits. As years follow, Hughes' behaviour changes radically. He isolates himself from others and develops a phobia about germs, but his business activities continue until his death in April 1976.

Reflecting To 1947

Churches were crowded for Easter, so says the April 10 issue of The Digby Courier 1947. The Easter page in the Courier announcing the Easter Season had 22 sponsors. It is interesting to note that only three of these business and professional institutions exist under the same name in 1977. They are MacDonald Motor Co. Ltd., Atlantic Wholesalers (Digby) Ltd and Digby County Power Board. Many Courier readers of today will not have heard of some of those sponsors which are not presently in existence. Sponsors were A.R.Turnbull, Farmers' Market, Smith's Drug Store, G.W. Connell, B.H.Ruggles, Holdsworth Drug Store, H.T.Warene Ltd., Shortliffe Grocery, Dillon Shoe Store, Fritz Dakin, Pyne's Market, Digby Motors, Capitol Theatre, E.B.Tufts, Victory Cafe, L. Gordon Landers, L.M. Saunders, Gertrude Oliver and Hants Wholesalers (Digby) Limited.

The Digby Courier reported thousands of pounds of lobsters going through the new and modern lobster packing storage plant of C.D. Snow. Tanks were capable of holding 10,000 pounds of living lobsters. Lobster prices had reached the peak of 70 cents per pound on the American market but prices were expected to decline.

Saint John Marine Transport Ltd. made an arrangement with Ottawa for a subsidy for the vessel Standard Coaster, to keep her running between Saint John and Nova Scotia.

Town Council (Digby) did not adopt Daylight Saving Time as Council members felt that unless surrounding districts also adopted daylight saving time it would be a confusion and inconvenience.

Bellrock Packing Company was given permission to build an addition to their plant.

The matter of engaging a night policeman was left in the hands of the town's police committee. The town's chief was the late F.J.Thibault, the one man police force.

The Canadian Legion Digby Branch No. 20 asked to be considered in a purchase of the Junior High School building on the Cannon Bank.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Branch No. 20 Canadian Legion received its charter at a banquet. The charter was presented by His Worship Mayor J.W.Merkel and received by the president of the Auxiliary by Mrs. Baden Powell.

The first flock of geese for the season flew North over Digby.

Power Board Asks For Rate Raise

The Council of the Municipality of the District of Digby met at the Digby Court House on Wednesday evening to discuss the possibility of applying for a raise in rates considering that the Nova Scotia Power Corporation had raised their price by 47.2 per cent and which raise effected the Digby Power Board. The meeting was prompted by a memorandum from the Utilities Board that bills at revised rates would be issued by N.S.P.C. early in April and covering energy supplied at the revised rates commencing March 2, 1977. The memorandum suggested that the D.C.P.B. and other utilities being supplied by D.C.P.B. and all municipal utilities being supplied should apply not later than April 7, 1977 requesting rate increases. These rate increases would include only the increases resulting from the increases in the revised rates being charged by N.S.P.C. and no other rate increase would be contained in this application.

A similar memorandum had been placed before the Digby Town Council early in April and tabled as information.

Mayor Stuart MacNaughton, superintendent of the Digby County Power Board, was present at the Municipal Council meeting and presented a schedule of rates which should be considered in the application for a raise. A basic charge of $3.00 per month for a two wire service and a $4.00 per month for a three wire service was mentioned. Energy charge 5.36 cents per kilowatt hour for the first 150 kilowatt hours and 3.61 cents for additional. Minimum charge $3.00 per month two wire and 3.00 per month for 3 wire service. Commercial lighting price suggested by Mr. MacNaughton was $3.00 per month per kilowatt or $4.50 of maxamum demand. Energy 5.86 cents per kh for the first 150 k.h. and 4.61 cents additional. Rates were suggested by Mr. MacNaughton for all-electric power and for alternating current power.

The increases suggested were expected to raise $151,800 in a twelve month period.

On motion of councillor Richard Daley, seconded by Councillor L.E.R. Winchester the council decided to petition the Nova Scotia Board of Public Utilities for the increase.

The meeting was presided over by Warden Wilfred Swift.

On coming to Digby Mr. Reid was employed by the IGA store. Approximately two years ago he purchased the Milberry store on Carleton St. where he presently runs a successful grocery and meat store called Bill's Market.

Mr. Reid has been an arduous community worker, having spent three years on the Digby Town Council as well as serving in other community activities.

Human Rights Conference Concludes At D.R.H.S.

A four-day conference on Human Rights concluded at the Digby Regional High School Multipurpose Room on Thursday when a panel of speakers from various parts of the province dealt with the subjects as presented by the DRHS senior students.

The Conference started on Monday afternoon when Paul Comeau, Executive Director of LaFederation Acadenne de la Nouvelle Ecosse, was principal speaker. A panel of students presented various phases of Human Rights, Blacks, Indians, Women, Acadians and physically handicapped. During the week resource persons visited the school and discussed various ways in which the Human Rights Commission had aided and where they can be of further service.

The students and visitors were welcomed on Thursday by DRHS principal, Donald G. Ross. Platform guests included David States, Human Rights representative, Digby; Leger Comeau, College Ste Anne; Noel Knockwood, Shubenacadie, Cultural Affairs Director for the Nova Scotia Union of Indians; George McCurdy, Human Rights Director; Rev. George Bell; Rev. Paul Best; Dr. Tony Johnston, department of education; Duncan L. MacNab public education officer and Mrs. William Clayton, New Tusket and employed at the Human Rights office, Halifax.

Under the leadership of Miss Gertrude Melanson, president of the Student's Parliament, several high school students presented the findings from the week's seminars.

In his reply to the students' comments Mr. Knockwood, who flew from Ottawa especially to attend the conference, said the language is one of the important keys to Human Rights. Five hundred years ago the Indian language was here, the speaker said and it is still spoken and is alive today.

Mr. Knockwood told the students that Indian people are now only becoming active in standing up for their rights, most of which

Delay Signing Police Contract

Vincent Snow appeared before Digby Town Council on Monday evening, April 4 with the request that the signing of the new contract between the R.C.M.P. and the Digby Town Council be delayed until the public has had an opportunity for study and imput. He said that some people of the town feel the contract does not well enough cover enforcement of the town by-laws. He suggested that a public meeting might be held and suggested that the Digby Board of Trade had been taking an interest in the matter.

His Worship Mayor Stuart MacNaughton while also recommending that the signing of the contract be delayed, he also advised not to drag too long for "the town certainly does not want to find itself without police." Councillor Eileen Chipman, in her report for the Police and License Committee reported that the committee recommended that the contract not be signed until full details of the proposed agreement are brought to public attention. By regular motion the contract was tabled and decision made to hold a meeting within the next month. Sixty-seven complaints were registered with the RCMP according to the monthly report and vandalism was reported as "still quite a problem." Investigations came under criminal code, five; drunk, one; motor vehicle three; by-law, one; town's act, one; break and enter, two; assault, five and drug, four.

In the business arising from the minutes, Mayor MacNaughton reported he had approached the Digby Board of Trade regarding participation in the Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival but the Board had not had the April meeting and could not reply.

Frank Robinson presented his report as superintendent of streets, water and sewer and advised that a switch to the dam for water had been made as the lake level dropped from lack of rain. The snow melting had brought the water level up again. The assistant superintendent reported the following expenses in March $8027.61 streets; $1,290.27 sewer; 2845.20 water and $11,963.08 total.

The report of Webster Dunn showed parking meter collections $442.69 with 63 tickets issued, 27 collected and three cancelled.

Nine permits, including new construction, renovations and alterations were issued by the building inspector, Carl Niemeyer, making a total value of $194,300. Permit fees collected $116. Considerable discussion was held regarding the issuing of permits in the absence of the inspector. Town Clerk Kenneth Eavis issued some permits in the absence of Mr. Niemeyer but though questioned by Councillor Chipman, it appeared to be the regular procedure with Digby Town rules. The report from Mr. Niemeyer was accepted with one dissenting vote.

In response to a letter from "Transport 2000" an invitation will be issued to have a representative of Transport 2000 to attend a Town Council meeting. It was also decided to advise the Digby Board of Trade of the proposed visit.

Concern was expressed by Councillors on the embankment along Digby's front street. The concensus seemed to be that if the street is to be saved something must be done. Discussions regarding this are now being carried on with the Department of Environment and the Department of Highways.

The finance report was given by Councillor Guy VanTassel in the absence of Councillor Gordon Ellis. Bills for March passed for payment amounted to $14,347.78.

In his Fire Fighting report Mr. VanTassell reported six calls answered resulting to fire loss for the month of $6,600. A request from EMO requested the purchase of a generator for emergency. Two firemen will attend the Maritime Fire Fighters School.

The license committee chaired by Councillor Chipman recommended taxi licenses be granted to Lawrence Potter and Fred Pulley. These were passed by Council.

Two Bands Present A Joint Concert

Seen in the photo is a portion of the members of "La Fanfare Regionale de Clare" rehearsing for their Spring Concerts.

Tuesday, April 19, in the College Sainte-Anne Gymnasium, the Yarmouth Citizens Band and the 'Fanfare Regionale de Clare" will present a joint recital, at eight o'clock.

It has nearly become a tradition for the two bands to present each year a joint concert. Since the Christmas holidays both bands have been working hard on a program which will delight all music lovers.

The Yarmouth Citizens Band, conducted by Mr. Herbert Deveau, will perform the five following selections alone: a Spanish march, "El Capeo", a popular melody which held first place in the "Hit Parade" three years ago, "Tie a Yellow Ribbon Round the Ole Oak Tree", "Colonel Bogey" by Kenneth Alford, the "Coronation March" and "Fleur de Lis".

The "Fanfare Regionale de Clare", conducted by Rev. Maurice LeBlanc has also chosen five selections for its program: a march by Harold Bennett "Project", another lively number "Gallant Men", a simplified arrangement for band of the first movement of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony entitled "Call of Fate", another arrangement for band of a minuet by Mozart, "Simple Serenade" and finally something of an altogether different nature, this time in the rock style, "Love's Theme".

Both bands will join together to perform the last five numbers in the program: another march by Harold Bennett, "Normal", "Adagio Cantabile", an arrangement for band of the second movement of Beethoven's "Sonate Pathétique", a medley "Snow White Fantasy", "Canadian Sunset" and to conclude selections from "Jesus-Christ Superstar".

This program promises to be most interesting.

Reserve one of the two dates, the 17th or the 19th to spend an enjoyable evening with the musicians of the local bands. Admission: Adults - $2.00, Student - $1.00. Proceeds of the concert will be used for scholarships to send young members of the band to Summer music camps.

The Budget

SPEECH BY COLINE CAMPBELL, MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT FOR SOUTH WESTERN NOVA

As tabled in The House of Commons Tuesday, April 5, 1977

Financial statement of the minister of Finance

Miss Coline Campbell (South Western Nova): Mr. Speaker, may I take this opportunity to speak in the budget debate and to point out some of the measures which apply to South Western Nova. At a time when we asked people to restrain their spending and when we worked under the Anti-Inflation Board, we could not have expected a spending budget, much as I myself could see many areas of need in South Western Nova where money could be spent.

However, in these times when unemployment and business growth are problems facing any government, whether it be municipal, provincial or federal, we must look again at our priorities and reconsider where and how our dollars are being spent. This challenge, as I said, goes not only to governments but to the people and to business. Nothing should be spent without considering why we are spending the money and what it will create.

The anti-inflation program has been successful. It has kept the expectations of the Canadian people down and has allowed everyone to reconsider what are the priorities for Canada and what the mode of living of the people will be once the controls are lifted. In my opinion, the anti-inflation program has already been successful. The value of real income has risen strongly over the past 18 months. Wage

The bus left Digby at 10:30 p.m. on Wednesday evening and arrived in Madawaska two hours before schedule at noon, giving the students an opportunity to shop before the scheduled welcoming functions which included being met by a police and fire escort and numerous citizens with cars. The afternoon was free to rest, bowl, sight-see or other occupation while the evening activity included a dance.

On Saturday a rehearsal by the combined Digby and Madawaska bands prepared the students for the evening's concert before a capacity house. Digby director and students were presented with the Key to the Town along with a plaque commemorating the 1977 school band exchange. House parties completed the Saturday evening functions.

Sunday morning gave the visitors from D.R.H.S. and their hosts the pleasure of worshipping together at the church of their choice. A planned afternoon tour of the Fraser Pulp and Paper Company completed the 1977 D.R.H.S. band's visit to Madawaska.

James Kempton, a spokesman for the D.R.H.S. band, has announced that the Madawaska High School Band will arrive here on Friday afternoon and will be entertained by a get-together that evening. Rehearsal and the concert by the combined bands will, along with entertainment, occupy the hosts and their visitors for the remainder of the exchange.

To finance the Exchange ventures the D.R.H.S. Concert Band students have been holding rockathons, pantry sales and other fundraising projects. The concert on Saturday evening in Digby will require a student admission of $1.00 and adults 1.50. Tickets are available from band students or director.

OBITUARIES

BURNS MORTGAGE

On Sunday evening, April 3rd a special mortgage-burning ceremony was held as part of the Evangelistic service at the Lighthouse Church of God.

In 1970 the church had borrowed funds to enable it to have the parsonage, which is now located directly in back of the church. Part of the parsonage was moved from the Shore Road with an extension built on.

It was with much thankfulness and gratitude that the members watched as the bank note was set to fire by Aubrey Forrest, trustee; James Ross, elder and Pastor Dale Swartz.

Many projects have been sponsored by the church and the Ladies Dorcas Society to raise money to pay towards the parsonage debt. One of these projects was a spring and fall community concert in which people from the area churches participated. We would like to thank all who have helped in any way to enable this mortgage-burning ceremony to take place.

Interdenominational Bible Study Group Meets

The Interdenominational Bible Study Group met three times during the month of March. The first meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Doris Brown on March 8th with 14 ladies present. Mrs. Carman Frankland was in charge of the Devotional period and since the World Day of Prayer had just passed, "Love in Action" was used as the Devotional theme.

The members present read the World Day of Prayer Program in unison after which the leader talked on Love in Action in the home, in the Church and in the community. She told the group that a Happy Home is a Home full of Love in Action and that caring and sharing was real "Love in Action.

The group met for the second time during the month on March 22nd. Nine members gathered at Basin View Apartments. The hostesses of the evening were Mrs. Tibert and Mrs. Pearson.

The group met for the third time during the month of March on the 29th day. There were six members present. Mrs. Doris Brown was the hostess of the evening and was the leader of the class for the evening in the absence of Mrs. Carman Frankland.

Are You Informed On Cancer Education?

Year in and year out, the Canadian Cancer Society, through its volunteers engaged in Public Education programme, go to work in the battle against cancer.

Some people believe they can keep cancer out of their bodies by keeping it out of their minds. Others take the attitude that if cancer strikes them, it will be fatal, so they try not to think about it. For both of these groups of people, cancer is more likely to get out of hand and out of mind, because proper precautions will be ignored.

The Seven Steps to Health as prepared by Canadian Cancer Society are designed, first, to help people take better care of themselves and secondly, make it possible to spot the early symptoms of cancer in the disease's treatable stages.

In the field of public education the Society's main concern is to eliminate the unreasonable fear of cancer, to encourage early detection and treatment of the disease.

It takes two to detect cancer, you and your doctor.

In the professional education, the Society provides fellowships and bursaries as well as distributing bulletins and films to members of the medical, dental and nursing professions.

We in the Weymouth and District Unit feel that the fight against cancer should be of great concern to all in our community and we will strive to continue in 1977 to make sure that everyone who wishes to know about cancer and the work of the society will ask and not be left out.

President Mr. Giff Lewis; Secretary, Mrs. John Shaw; Publicity, Mrs. Vera Hankinson and Services to Patients, Mrs. E.A.Fergusson.

The Canadian Cancer Society's Seven Steps to Health are:

1. Have a medical and dental check-up.
2. Watch for any change in your normal state of health.
3. Find out about any lump or sore that does not heal.
4. Protect yourself against too much sunlight.
5. Do not smoke.
6. Have a Pap test.
7. Do a monthly breast self-examination.

New Horizons Adopt Child

During the month of March forty members enjoyed a Saint Patrick's Day pot luck luncheon while thirty-five attended the birthday party on March 31st. Three members were present whose birthday occurred during the month.

On April 5th the ceramic class resumed their activities until the last of May. The French class will also end last of May.

The Digby New Horizons Club at their last meeting decided to adopt a child through the Foster Parent's Plan as their project for 1977.

DORAN - In loving memory of our darling daughter, Leah Anne, whom God called home on April 15, 1974 age 18 months.

Three years ago today we had to part
With our darling daughter Leah, we loved with all our hearts.
The wound is deep and will never heal
For only God knows how we feel.
If only we could see you Leah,
Your hands we could but touch
And hear you say "Mom", "Dad"-
Things might not hurt so much.
Among family and friends we are lonely
In the midst of joy we are blue
For nothing will ever be the same-
For Leah, we haven't got you.
If we could have but one last wish
It wouldn't be for silver or for Gold
We'd ask for our Leah, back with us
Within our arms to hold
In each passing day, your loss grows worse.
And sorrow follows us.
For in the face of every little girl
It's you, dear Leah, we see.
But there's a cross for all to bear
Somewhere along life's way
With broken hearts we bore that cross
When God took our Leah away.
But it was his will that we had to part
His will that we had to let her go.
But she meant the whole world to us
And oh, "dear God", we miss her so.

Always loved and sadly missed by MOMMY, DADDY (MELBA, STEPHEN) BROTHERS, WARD, OWEN.

TEED - In memory of Eleanor Teed.
One year has passed and gone
Since one we loved so well
Was taken from our home on earth
With Jesus Christ to dwell.
The flowers we place upon her grave
May wither and decay
But the love for her who sleeps beneath
Shall never fade away.

Another Look At The U.I.C.

Q. You often hear, "I'm entitled to Unemployment Insurance Benefits because I have paid the required premiums for the past three years." Could you please explain who is entitled to receive regular benefits?

A. One of the commonly held myths about Unemployment Insurance is that people are entitled to take out of the system as much as they put in.

An out-of-work salesman expressed it by saying he was entitled to benefits because he had contributed to the Unemployment Insurance Fund for a number of years. He's not, any more than he's entitled to get back all the fire insurance or car insurance premiums he's ever paid, even if he didn't have a fire or an auto accident. A person is entitled to collect Unemployment Insurance only if the eventuality against which he's insured actually occurs - that is, becoming involuntarily unemployed.

People thus, entitled to benefits often can get out more than they put in.

Q. You wrote a letter asking what means of transportation I had. Since I do not own a car, could you please define the term transportation?

A. The term transportation means what arrangement have you made to enable you to travel to and from work if a job was available. It does not mean you have to own a car or truck. Ex.: You might be able to travel with friends, relatives, neighbours, etc. If you have no arrangements made for transportation, it could reduce your chances of obtaining employment. The Unemployment Insurance Commission along with Canada Manpower have made a commitment and that is to assist you locate a job so you may become once again an active member of the labour force.

Q. When I called your office yesterday, I was asked if I had a baby sitter. To me, this is a ridiculous question as I'm unemployed. Why should I have or need a babysitter when I'm home?

A. As mentioned above, arrangements must be made, so that if a job offer is made to you, you will be able to accept the position. On your bi-weekly report form, you answer "Yes" to question 4, "Are you ready, willing and available for work"? In order to truthfully answer yes to this question, you must have made child care arrangements. This should permit you to accept an immediate offer of employment.

Q. When you are unemployed and drawing benefits, how often are you supposed to contact your Canada Manpower office?

A. You should contact your Canada Manpower Centre at least once every 28 days.

A New Youth Programme

The Honourable Barney Danson announced that within a few months, 1,000 young Canadians from 17 to 22 years of age will participate in a new program just launched under the name Katimavik, an Inuit word meaning "meeting place".

Katimavik is run by a private, non-profit corporation. Mr. Jacques Hebert and Dr. Howard Nixon are Co-Chairmen of the Board of Directors, made up of eminent Canadians of all regions of Canada, all disciplines and age groups. Volunteer agencies will be invited to participate in the program development and to have representation on the Board of Directors.

Katimavik is funded by the Federal Government, to which the Corporation reports through Mr. Danson.

The program will put together 33 teams of 30 young people from all across Canada, all walks of life and cultural groups, who will spend ten months of intensive working, learning, sharing and travel, within a structured environment. Each team will have a coordinator and three adult leaders.

The 33 project sites will be distributed across the country, in all provinces, the Yukon and the Northwest Territories. In each project the participants will do volunteer work of interest to the community such as environmental clean-up and re-cycling; development of particular projects within national, provincial and municipal parks; services to the handicapped and senior citizens; flood and erosion control; exploration of community resources on behalf of local authorities; youth hostel programmes; forest fire prevention; search and rescue; fire breaks; farm work; reforestation, etc.

The teams will be living a modest and spartan life, doing their own cooking, washing, producing some of their own food and energy; in all kinds of ways they will be sensitized to the great problems of today: the lack of food to properly feed a large part of humanity and the dwindling resources of the earth.

In each team, priority will be given to communicating in both French and English and all participants will have the opportunity to become bilingual.

Although the program is non-military, the Department of National Defence is co-operating and will accept up to 10 per cent of the recruits into a military option. Recruits within this option will work in the Armed Forces for nine months in such areas as communications, transportation and search and rescue.

In the course of the 10-month program, the thousand participants will have lived and worked in three different regions of Canada.

"This is a work program but definitely not meant to be a youth employment program", said Mr. Danson, "in that the participants will only receive travel, room and board, $1 per day pocket money and about $1,000 when they complete the entire 10 months. Rather it is a challenge to our youth to give of themselves to the utmost, both physically and mentally, to help others and therefore, hopefully, learn more about themselves--their own strengths, weaknesses, their abilities to work with others, to learn what they might want to be and what they want for Canada."

Forms are available from Canada Manpower Centres, Post Offices, Schools, Colleges, and Universities. The deadline for application is early spring 1977 for the program starting in August. All young Canadians or landed immigrants between the ages of 17 and 22 are eligible.

Digby Town Council at its most recent meeting passed a motion made by Councillor Guy VanTassell, seconded by Councillor Philip Robertson to write to the Digby General Hospital Board asking them to make use of the old hospital for a Home For The Aged.

It was reported at the Town Council meeting that expansion of Tideview Terrace did not look very promising and more space for aged persons who have no one to care for them after illness is needed.

Digby Legionaires Lose Provincial Jr. "C" Final

(By Rocket Ross)

The Sackville Blazers are the Nova Scotia Provincial Jr. "C" champions for the second consecutive year.

The Blazers downed the Digby Legionaires 6-3 Saturday night to win the best of seven series four games straight.

The Digby Legionaires do not have to be ashamed of their loss, as they did a remarkable job and showed they could put Digby's name back on the map for hockey.

Throughout the entire season, the Paul VanTassell coached squad, displayed some excellent hockey and the only disappointing factor was the lack of local fan support throughout the season - support they really deserved.

The management and executive of the Legionaires and the Digby Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion, for their sponsorship are to be congratulated for their time, effort and leadership they used to aid in starting to receive hockey of good, high quality here in Digby.

The team consisting of Herby Keates, Wayne Suthern, Tim Wright, Graham Baxter, Todd Simms, Howard Maynard, Kevin McCulley, John Hopkins, Steve Wright, Alan Griffiths , Randy Oliver, Jackie Robinson, Joey Hillier, Bobby Wood, Robbie Morgan, Mitch Belliveau and Perry Simms, are to be congratulated for their excellent sportsmanship they displayed throughout the entire season to and including the last minute of play of the season. The fellows really played with all they had as one fellow said after the game on Saturday, "we played our best and lost, but it hurts deep down."

That was the spirit which kept spurring them on throughout the entire season.

To all those who were members or executive of the Digby Legionaires we say 'Thanks fellows' you were excellent sports and ambassadors to the town of Digby and surrounding areas!

D.R.H.S. Girls Take Third In N.S. Playoffs

Digby's Junior High girls fell short of their goal of bringing home another gold medal last weekend in Provincial basketball playdowns at Truro. The Midget-aged girls hoped to follow the example of the Bantams who thrilled Digby fans earlier when they came from behind to defeat Amherst for the gold, but no such opportunity was available once they dropped their opener to Gorsebrook on Saturday, in what turned out to be the crucial match of the single elimination tournament.

Coach Jamieson's girls knew they faced their strongest competition in this first match, and Gorsebrook lived up to their reputation springing to an eighteen point lead. Experience put Digby back into the game and eventually a six point lead was built up. However, the lead changed five times, and Digby was on the short end of the close 50-47 score at the buzzer. Judy Kenley of Digby with 15, and Janet Lumsden of Gorsebrook with 16 points were top scorers. It was a heart-breaker for the Dragons as they were to see Gorsebrook breeze through the championship game against host Cobequid Education Centre with little difficulty in late competition.

The arrangement of the stronger teams together in one division had already been challenged as detrimental to the tournament, and the results seemed to bear this out. One official remarked that the tournament was decided in the first game.

Eventual second place finisher, Truro, defeated Amherst by seven to reach the finals, but the Digby girls, still seeking a win, came out shooting to swamp Amherst 47-23 in a full team effort that emphasized their depth. Most of the game was played by Digby's spares and Susan McClary led the attack with eight points. The win put Digby against Mahone Bay in a play-off for the third place bronze medal that evening.

The well coached and disciplined Mahone Bay girls stayed within reach of the Dragons through the contest until in the final seconds they tied and forced overtime.

Neither team had been especially sharp through regular time, as both had hoped for better overall showings, but the overtime inspired Erin Garner and Cheryl Trask to score a field goal and foul shot respectively to put the win away. Judy Kenley with 20 and Erin Gardner with 10 led Digby and Donna VanKessel was top scorer for Mahone Bay with 16.

Coach Greg Jamieson of Digby Regional High School expressed disappointment at not at least reaching the final but was pleased with the girls' play, considering it is only their second season of competition. The same girls should have a shot at the title in 1978 and will be strenghtened by several players from the province's best bantam team, who will host the Maritime playoffs in Digby on April 23. The excellent basketball being played has attracted more public interest and parental support than has been seen at the school for some time, partly because of their winning, but also due to the interesting style of a fast-break attack, and "man to man" defence.

Albert P. Melanson

Church Point Man Passes

Albert P. Melanson died Wednesday, March 30, at his home in Church Point. He was born on July 28, 1906, in Church Point, the son of the late Charles and Emilie (Lombard) Melanson.

In 1956, he took on the job of postmaster and Supervisor of Postmasters at the Church Point Post Office, retiring in 1971.

Mr. Melanson was well known in sports, especially baseball and hockey, during his younger days. He was one of the founders of the baseball leagues in 1926. He helped form bowling leagues in Clare. He organized junior hockey leagues in Clare and softball leagues.

He was also involved in local Clare organizations, such as the Red Cross, the Meteghan Lions Club, and the Clare Senior Citizens' Club.

Surviving besides his wife, the former Catherine Comeau, are four sisters, Pauline (Mrs. Gene Deravin) and Yvonne Melanson, both of Church Point; Jacqueline (Mrs. Richard Blinn), Grosses Coques; and Blanche Melanson, Ville St. Laurent, Quebec.

Six brothers, Louis, Vernon, B.C.; Johnny, Winnipeg; Joe, Ville St. Laurent, Quebec; Frank, Annapolis; Paul, Emo, Ontario; and Gerald, Savaut Lake, Ontario.

The body rested at the Meteghan Funeral Home. Funeral services were held at 2 p.m., Saturday, April 2, 1977, in Saint Mary's Church, Church Point, with Rev. Renaud Cote, parish priest, officiating.

Interment was in the Parish Cemetery.

Soil Pests

For those home gardeners that are starting new gardens or planning to expand the old one, or commercial growers going on new land, remember that wireworms can be a real problem in areas that had previously been in grass or turf. They will attack a variety of crops such as potatoes, radish, turnips, rutabaga and corn. Control is obtained by treating the soil before planting, either in spring or fall, but when the soil temperature is about 50 degrees F and soil moisture is equal to that desired for planting. Use Chlordane or Furadan applied as a spray or granules at the rate recommended on the label and work it in to a depth of 4-6 inches. This single application may be effective for 4 years.

The other soil insect you should be concerned with is the seed corn maggot. They can be a problem with corn, beans and cucumbers. The best way to control them is to use seed that has been treated with either diazinon or lindane, plus a fungicide. Check with your seed man to see if your seed has already been treated for seed corn maggot control. If not, it is a simple procedure to apply a ready-to-use mixture that is available. It is also advisable not to use manure in the spring, but rather in the fall since fresh manure will attract the seed corn maggot fly.

Speaks On Plant Diseases And Remedies

Mrs. R. K. Beckwith, was hostess for the monthly meeting of the Admiral Digby Horticultural Society on the evening of April 6th in the lounge of the Hillside Apts., King Street. The meeting was chaired by the president, Donald White.

Mrs. Bruce Hutchins, past president, extended a welcome to guests and members and thanked Mrs. Beckwith for her hsopitality.

A brief business meeting was conducted with committees reporting on spring work that has been planned. The large concrete planters by the Post Office which were broken will be replaced.

A report was given concerning plans being made for the summer Flower Show, the theme of which will be "Summer Time".

It was learned the annual meeting of the Western District of the N.S. Association of Garden Clubs will be held on the evening of May 18th at Bear River.

Reporting for the Program Committee, Mrs. Hutchins said the May meeting will be held at her home, Smith's Cove, when the guest speaker will be Miss Susan Horne, Dept. of Agriculture, Kentville.

At the close of the business meeting D. Delbridge, Plant Pathologist, Dept. of Agriculture was introduced as the guest speaker for the evening.

Mr. Delbridge spoke of the various diseases that occur with plants, trees and flowers, illustrating with slides. Several factors were mentioned as causing the trouble and methods to overcome the problems were recommended.

For indoor plants, conditions can be too hot or cold or over watering. A house temperature should be from 60-70 degrees. With vegetables, certified seed, good drainage, a sunny location, rotating crops, having soil tested and keeping areas well weeded would mean successfully maintaining a garden. Brief remarks were made regarding disease attacking trees and a warning that Dutch Elm Disease is spreading.

Mrs. Hutchins thanked Mr. Delbridge for presenting so much helpful information at this time when many are planning their gardens.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Beckwith assisted by Mrs. K. Daley and Mrs. F. Larche.

YOUNGER LOOK FOR DRY SKIN!
Dry skin is an awful liar! It makes any woman look much older than her real age. When you rid your face of skin dryness and its deceitfulness, you immediately look younger than your birthdays are even willing to admit. If your skin is really dry and flaky, and uncomfortable under make-up, take immediate steps to raise its moisture level and lubricate its surface effectively. Then, reappraise your appearance. For un-failing results, COCRÉMA Dry Skin Creme actually disposes of dryness symptoms with two or three all-night applications, while you sleep. COCRÉMA contains the purest grade of select cocoa butter. Available at

INTO THE MADDING CROWD
Thursday, April 14
10:30-11 pm

Making Crowded Cities Habitable

Rush hour in Tokyo sees four million people disgorging from commuter trains in the most crushing rush of all. As in London or New York, chaos, congestion and misery might be expected but instead Correspondent Michael Maclear finds Japanese commuters a happy lot in the next episode of "Maclear", titled "Into The Madding Crowd", telecasting Thursday, April 14, 10:30-11 pm on ATV.

The reason is downtown living has become workable and enjoyable through the creation of Shinjuku Station, a massive transportation centre that has become an elaborate marketplace bringing travellers, commuters and shoppers back into the heart of the city, both day and night. The world's busiest station, handling ten times as many people as New York's Grand Central, Shinjuku is a commuter- consumer complex that American architects call a pedestrian paradise.

Canadian language student Eleanor Westney and her American friend Jim Conte offer Maclear their views on developments like Shinjuku, and in talking with them, Maclear finds Shinjuku has become an example of how city people must co-exist. While North American city centres are deteriorating, in Japan these very centres are being infused with tremendous vitality in terms of new growth.

Sporting multi-class commercialism, Shinjuku is as variously populated at night as it is during the day. Five huge department stores are anchored around the station yet there are also four thousand small specialty shops, all part of a thriving two million dollars a day business.

In Tokyo, as elsewhere in Japan, the emphasis is on rebuilding within the city. The only option for growth is vertical. Now expected for Shinjuku are eleven more skyscrapers which are expected to bring another three hundred thousand people per day into the centre.

"The reason," explains Maclear "is that the Japanese have had to make their cities habitable. They've no space, no choice. The Japanese believe they can reach for technology and dignity, achieving 1984 without tears."

"I personally hope," he concludes, "never to be a part of such a world though most of mankind eventually will be and it's the Japanese, with their shortage of space and abundance of talent, who may show us how to make tomorrow's crowded sky as habitable as Tokyo today."

"Maclear", with Correspondent Michael Maclear, is produced by Don McQueen for CTV's News, Features and Information Programming Department.

Westport
(Mrs. Charles McDormand)

Many people woke last week to the sound of the snowplow going by, though investigation showed there was no snow present. The reason for this odd behaviour was the presence of large amounts of debris in the road, due to the very high tide and winds. The sea had advanced almost up to many doorsteps.

It is good to see the Coastguard 102 back in port after her absence.

Albert Welch had been admitted to Camp Hill Hospital in Halifax for treatment.

We are glad to see Charles MacNeil back in his church duties after a bout with the "Flu". Many others have also been affected.

The funeral of Mrs. Helen Peters was held in the Baptist Church on Saturday, April 2. Our sympathy to the family.

Mrs. Ruth Barnaby has returned home from the hospital and is slowly regaining health- her sons Rodney and Herbie, and the latter's fiancee, Miss Lynda Sanders, are visiting from Ontario. The family gave a small birthday party in her honour last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Welsh and Mr. and Mrs. George Clements have returned home from their trip to the Southern United States.

Many of the community families have had relatives and friends visiting for the Easter holidays. They did not have pleasant weather to welcome them.

The flowers coming up in many gardens have not been daunted by the snow, ice and cold to which they have been subjected. They are determined to prove that spring is here.

Westport Auxiliary Busy

The Women's Fire and Recreation Auxiliary of Westport has been especially busy during the past month.

The auxiliary sponsored a pie sale which netted $70.60 and for which auxiliary officers expressed gratitude to those who made donations at the sale. Other events held by the Auxiliary during the past month included a pantry sale which earned $32.70; a white elephant and rummage sale, $133.00 and food sale and catering at Oddfellows supper, $64.75.

A hot dog party and penny sale will be held April 30 at 8 p.m. at the Oddfellow's Hall.

This event is sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary for the Fire Hall and Recreation Center.

The group will be meeting soon to make braided floor mats from cloth not sold at the recent Rummage Sale. Mrs. Earl Webber will instruct those volunteers who wish to help with these mats.

The Auxiliary provides support for the new Fire Hall and Recreation Center in Westport.

Islands Plans Fisheries Meet

The Islands Fishermen's Association is expecting a good attendance at their regular meeting at the Oddfellow's Hall, Tiverton on Tuesday evening, April at 8 p.m. to meet the newly appointed executive director of the Atlantic Fisherman's Association, John Coulton of Barrington. It is expected that information will be given on the Atlantic organization and the pros and cons of membership be discussed.

Member Of Thailand Family To Visit Westport

At their recent monthly meeting, the CWF of Westport Church of Christ voted to continue their monthly support to Philip Welch of Westport, a missionary in Cape Breton. The church also supports the Morse family of Thailand, and it was announced that Robert Morse of that family will be in Westport on April 18 to discuss their work.

In the opening devotional, Mrs. Alva MacDormand encouraged everyone to remember that we can all have new life because of the resurrection, and that Jesus blooms in our hearts like a rose- gradually opening to all its beauty.

A letter of thanks for support was received from the Maritime Christian College and also speaking about teaching plans in the island of Antigua if sufficient funds can be raised. Some work has already been done in this area.

A discussion on strengthening family ties in a number of ways comprised the program. The importance of self-discipline and hard work in the maturing of young people was discussed, and the role of parents both in teaching this and in teaching, while young, the giving of tithes and time to the Lord. We must not forget the important place of women in teaching of the young, as well as the development and growth of the church. This is just as important now as it was when Jesus rose from the dead and the new church began.

Maritime Co-op Celebrates 50 Years

"We've been in business for fifty years. From sales of a half million dollars in 1927, we have grown to sales of one hundred and fifteen million. But when we examine the record of that half century, we must make sure that we do not measure our progress simply in dollars and cents. As a co-operative service organization, we must examine our past and plan our future in terms of social needs as well", L.G. Horton, General Manager of Maritime Co-operative Services told delegates attending the organization's Annual Meeting, held at the Hotel Beausejour in Moncton.

Mr. Horton indicated that although a sales growth of 13.2 per cent over the previous year was acceptable, there were important advances and declines to be noted in various fields of operation. M.C.S. engages in the wholesale distribution of food, hardware, dry goods, petroleum products and building supplies, is the region's largest manufacturer of animal feeds, and has recently entered the housing field with the manufacture of Harbour Homes house-building packages, and is involved in the development of a limited profit real estate development through a subsidiary company, Atlantic Peoples Housing Limited.

Nearly 300 delegates are attending the meeting, which celebrates the organization's fiftieth year of operation since its incorporation as the Maritime Livestock Board in 1927.

The Golden Anniversary was marked by two special events. Mr. W.H. McEwen, who served M.C.S. for thirty years as General Manager, and for ten as Corporate Secretary, laid the cornerstone for the McEwen Centre, an office complex which will consolidate facilities for the head office staff. The Centre will comprise the current head office in Moncton, and a larger expansion which will be adjacent to it.

Regional co-op pioneers were honoured at the banquet held in conjunction with the meeting. Head Table guests included two founding directors of M.C.S., Waldo Walsh and Walter Shaw, Mr. McEwen, former Assistant General Manager Roy Grant and past President Jack Walsh.

Two new members joined the Board of Directors during the Meeting, Madame Maria Legere of Caraquet, N.B. and Donald Coburn of Fredericton, N.B. The other members of the board are Wally MacKinnon, Sydney; Bill McWilliams of New Glasgow, N.S.; Donald Newcombe of Port Williams; Petty Prowse of Halifax; Gerald Handrahan of Charlottetown; Francois Babin of Richibucto, N.B.; Frank Lutes of Moncton and Bill Browne of Grand Falls, Newfoundland.

Donald Newcombe was elected President at a Director's meeting which followed the Annual Meeting. Francois Babin is 1st Vice President and Peggy Prowse is Second Vice President.

Illegal Lobster Fishing Results In Suspensions To Fishermen

HALIFAX - Grave concern has been expressed by the Federal Fisheries and Marine Service over the incidence of illegal lobster fishing occurring in the Maritime Provinces by licensed lobster fishermen.

H. Douglas Johnston, the Service's Director General for the Maritimes, said that most of the concern is in the Northumberland Strait area where the majority of some 30 suspensions of lobster fishing privileges were imposed during the past year. These suspensions were all for a 14-day period, beginning on the official opening day of their respective lobster seasons.

Mr. Johnston stressed that a constant effort is being made by Fishery Officers to restrict illegal lobster fishing and that violators will be prosecuted by the Department to the fullest extent of the law. He said that of the 115 lobster prosecutions last year, and some 20 so far this year, fines by the courts were becoming more severe especially for "organized poachers". In several cases, fines have exceeded $500.00 for individual violations.

Mr. Johnston cited the recent examples of one (1) year suspensions being imposed upon licensed lobster fishermen following previous convictions and warnings - two from Prince Edward Island and another from Northern New Brunswick, for 1977. These were as a result of deliberate violations against the Fisheries Act or Lobster Fishery Regulations. These fishermen had previous convictions of a similar nature and had been previously suspended for a two week period. Seven other fishermen from the three provinces - 3 from Prince Edward Island, 3 from New Brunswick and 1 from Nova Scotia were recently deprived of their lobster fishing privileges for two-week periods for first-offence infractions. He stated that any future violations by these particular fishermen may lead to permanent cancellation of their lobster fishing privileges.

Mr. Johnston further stated that it is hoped by the Department that such severe suspensions will deter other fishermen from violating these regulations, and asked for the co-operation of all responsible fishermen and citizens to report any illegal fishing activity to their local fishery officer in order that action may be taken to apprehend violators. He pointed out that the annual loss of lobsters taken illegally to the lobster fishing industry has been estimated in excess of 2½ million lobsters or $3,000,000. This loss represents a grave danger to the Maritime Lobster industry which is already in serious condition in many areas, Mr. Johnston said.

Equal Status For Parents

Omnibus legislation changing some 19 provincial statutes which condone or enforce discrimination on the basis of sex was introduced in the Legislature today by Social Services Minister Bill MacEachern.

He is also Minister Responsible for Status of Women in Nova Scotia.

The legislation involves 31 separate amendments to existing statutes.

Although a number of the changes are relatively minor and correct anomalies or redundancies, there are four major areas of amendment.

Current legislation refers to classes of persons such as fathers, mothers and married women, and generally places the father in a superior or primary position before the law. The changes would place both parents on equal footing in respect to signing consents for apprenticeship agreements, the obtaining of credit and purchasing goods, the duty to see that a child attends school, the appointment of a guardian to manage the estate of a child, and the financial support of a child born out of wedlock. A woman will be a registered voter in her own right, may be a police officer and chief constable and be subject to the same penalties that a husband is for non-payment of debts and other offences.

Current legislation also makes a distinction along sex lines between children. For example, only a son can be appointed a guardian of a parent who is a habitual drunkard and is unable to manage his affairs. The amendment enables either a son or daughter to be appointed a guardian of the parent in such circumstances. Other amendments include prohibition of employment of children in mines and the ordering by a court of maintenance under a will which failed to provide adequately for a child.

Major amendments to the Civil Service Act and the Human Rights Act will prohibit discrimination in employment based on marital status and sex; and, a change in the Labour Standards Code requires that minimum wage rates apply across the board, regardless of the sex of an employee.

Mr. MacEachern noted that the amendments do not incorporate all the legislative changes recommended by the Task Force on the Status of Women. For example, changes respecting matrimonial property and family maintenance, not included in the omnibus bill, are under review by the Law Reform Commission and will be considered by the government as the reports and proposals are put forward by the Commission.

Board To Oversee Insulation Operation

Appointment of a four-man board to oversee the operation of the $17 million Canada-Nova Scotia Home Insulation Loan Program was announced jointly today by Hon. Alastair Gillespie, federal minister of energy, mines and resources, and provincial Housing Minister Walter Fitzgerals.

Named as co-chairman were O. Glen Hubley, director of field services and acting executive director of the Nova Scotia Housing Commission, and Dr. Ian E. Effort, Ottawa, director of the federal office of energy conservation. Also named to the committee were Douglas Tobin, director of revenue, Nova Scotia Department of Finance, and David A. Leslie, assistant manager, administration and finance, in the Halifax branch of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

Under the program, designed to be carried out over five years, loans are being made available to assist Nova Scotians who want to install or upgrade their home insulation, thereby cutting down fuel bills and conserving energy. Assistance up to $1,500 is available for insulation and related work, and up to $3,000 for conversion of electric heating systems to other types of heating.

The loans for insulation are meant to supplement home insulation grants up to $500 from CMHC which is administering a $33.4 million federal fund for the purpose. The provincial loan may be obtained after a homeowner has received a CMHC grant.

The loans will be repayable over as long as five years at a preferred rate of interest which at present is eight per cent.

The joint announcement by Mr. Gillespie and Mr. Fitzgerald advised homeowners seeking loan assistance for conversion from electric heat to apply to regional offices of the Nova Scotia Housing Commission and application packages would be sent to them. All other applicants, once they had received a CMHC grant, were advised to apply for a Housing Commission loan to cover the remaining cost of the insulation project up to a maximum of $1,500. Application packages, they said, were available from CMHC or any branch of the Housing Commission.

The management committee is expected to hold its first meeting within the next few weeks to plan its task of monitoring the loan program and the response to that program.

Its job in essence will be to establish criteria for eligibility to receive loans under the program, to authorize all expenditures under the account, and to ensure that the program is running smoothly and efficiently.

The four-man committee will report back to both the federal and provincial departments of government involved, and make whatever recommendations it feels are desirable.

Highways -- Safety Campaign For Four Provinces

The governments of the four Atlantic Provinces today announced they will initiate a joint highway safety campaign this coming summer.

The announcement, made simultaneously in Halifax, St. John's, Fredericton and Charlottetown, noted that this is the first time a combined highway safety media program has been attempted by the four jurisdictions.

The campaign, in the planning stages now, will use the theme "what are you doing with the rest of your life". It will be designed to focus on major problems relating to traffic fatalities, including such areas as the drinking driver, the inattentive motorist and excessive highway speed.

The rational of the campaign is to effect a united approach underscoring the importance of highway safety, coordinated so that no matter where a person travels in Atlantic Canada he will be exposed to the same series of safety messages.

It is believed that a planned use of the media throughout the Atlantic Provinces, especially during the summer months, will present an effective vehicle through which to heighten public awareness of the importance of safe driving practices.

The governments of the four provinces believe that by mutual cooperation the overall impact on motorists will be enhanced, the public will be educated to safer driving practices and that the necessity to think and react intelligently when in traffic will be recognized.

An underlying intent of the program is to reach not only the residents of the Atlantic area, but the thousands of tourists who travel throughout the region during the summer months.

Announcement of the joint campaign was made following a series of meetings in Halifax and Moncton attended by senior government officials of the four provinces.

Reflecting To 1947

The April 17 issue of The Digby Courier, thirty years ago records the sale of the Veranda Rest, Smith's Cove to Penny Gott and Jo Currie who had just arrived from Canton, Ohio. The Veranda Rest owned by O.F. Woodman was a cabin colony opened only in the summer. It was to be opened year round by the new owners and named Hedley House.

Steps were taken at a special Town Council meeting to set up an Act to incorporate the Digby Recreation Commission. The objects of the Commission were to erect and maintain a skating rink and curling rink and provide other facilities for healthy exercise and play and to provide funds for this purpose. The Digby Board of Trade was to turn over assets held in trust by them for the rink project to the Commission when incorporated. This would include the real property known as the "Athletic Field" property.

Food parcels for Britain was a special project for teenagers.

Rumor had it that cigarette and tobacco prices were taking a jump in price up to ten cents per pack increase. A price of twenty would cost 43 cents, over two cents apiece.

Reflecting To 1947

Churches were crowded for Easter, so says the April 10 issue of The Digby Courier 1947. The Easter page in the Courier announcing the Easter Season had 22 sponsors. It is interesting to note that only three of these business and professional institutions exist under the same name in 1977. They are MacDonald Motor Co. Ltd., Atlantic Wholesalers (Digby) Ltd and Digby County Power Board. Many Courier readers of today will not have heard of some of those sponsors which are not presently in existence. Sponsors were A.R.Turnbull, Farmers' Market, Smith's Drug Store, G.W. Connell, B.H.Ruggles, Holdsworth Drug Store, H.T.Warene Ltd., Shortliffe Grocery, Dillon Shoe Store, Fritz Dakin, Pyne's Market, Digby Motors, Capitol Theatre, E.B.Tufts, Victory Cafe, L. Gordon Landers, L.M. Saunders, Gertrude Oliver and Hants Wholesalers (Digby) Limited.

The Digby Courier reported thousands of pounds of lobsters going through the new and modern lobster packing storage plant of C.D. Snow. Tanks were capable of holding 10,000 pounds of living lobsters. Lobster prices had reached the peak of 70 cents per pound on the American market but prices were expected to decline.

Saint John Marine Transport Ltd. made an arrangement with Ottawa for a subsidy for the vessel Standard Coaster, to keep her running between Saint John and Nova Scotia.

Town Council (Digby) did not adopt Daylight Saving Time as Council members felt that unless surrounding districts also adopted daylight saving time it would be a confusion and inconvenience.

Bellrock Packing Company was given permission to build an addition to their plant.

The matter of engaging a night policeman was left in the hands of the town's police committee. The town's chief was the late F.J.Thibault, the one man police force.

The Canadian Legion Digby Branch No. 20 asked to be considered in a purchase of the Junior High School building on the Cannon Bank.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Branch No. 20 Canadian Legion received its charter at a banquet. The charter was presented by His Worship Mayor J.W.Merkel and received by the president of the Auxiliary by Mrs. Baden Powell.

The first flock of geese for the season flew North over Digby.

Surprise Birthday Party

On April 2nd a delightful surprise Birthday Party was held in honor of Vincent Cromwell at his home in Marshalltown. A turkey supper was enjoyed by his brother, Emerson and wife, Hilda, of Weymouth; four sisters and husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bright, Southville; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Robinson, Conway; Mr. Charles Cromwell, Danvers; Mrs. Mildred Tynes, Halifax; Nieces Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cromwell, Southville; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bright, Southville, and Mr. and Mrs. James Jackson, Bridgetown.

Music was supplied by Mr. and Mrs. Ken Bright, Donald Cromwell, James Simms, Molly Vinzino, Digby.

A delightful evening was enjoyed with refreshments, music, games and dancing, including a pretty birthday cake to mark the occasion.

Guest speaker was New Brunswick tennis champ Roger Duval of the University of Moncton who will be going to the United States next year to turn pro. Duval, athlete of the year at Moncton for the last two years, said talent and determination in combination are the important factor for success in sports, with the greater emphasis put on determination.

Duval, who practices 8 to 12 hours a day, said the important thing for him was the "fun in sports" and college athletes should be more interested in enjoying their sport than winning trophies.

Easter In The Churches

EASTER AT CHURCH OF GOD

The Lighthouse Church of God was a scene of much activity on Easter Sunday. The day was started at 7 a.m. with a sunrise service followed by a pancake and sausage breakfast in the church basement.

The Sunday School hour was filled with lots of excitement as attendance reached 90. Because the goal of 90 in Sunday School was reached, the S.S. Superintendent, Mrs. Rosalynd Bent, received a delicious coconut cream pie in the face at the hands of Sylvia Haynes. As Sylvia had brought the most visitors she had the honors of serving the pie.

In the evening a special Easter musical concert was held. The program was started by the Pre-School, Primary, and Grade I classes playing the rhythm band and singing "Jesus Loves Me". Many vocal numbers were given by various members. These being a duet by Laurie and Vicki Wagner, "When He Cometh"; a solo by Melissa Armstrong, "Jesus Loves Me"; the Junior Choir directed by Mrs. Doris Brown, "One Day Wounded For Me" and "Christ Returneth". Mrs. Brown also gave a moving story entitled "God's Trees". A family trio consisting of Rosalynd Bent and daughters Linda and Patti sang "Three Crosses"; Judy Winchester - "I Should Have Been Crucified"; Pastor Dale Swartz - "The Holy City"; a duet by Elta States and Judy Winchester - "He Touched Me"; the Adult Choir - "Ten Thousand Angels" and an Easter cantata; the Dorcas Ladies - "He Arose"; the Bereans - "The Old Rugged Cross". The program was brought to a close by the very inspiring song "The Night Before Easter" sung by Mrs. Doris Brown.

The ushers for the program were Joey and Robert Winchester, Chris States and Jimmie Martin.

EASTER AT SALVATION ARMY

The First Easter Parade, representing the last events of Jesus on earth, was the theme of the service conducted by Lieutenant David Howlett at the Digby Salvation Army Citadel on Good Friday and Sunday.

On Sunday evening a special Easter service was held when Lieutenant Howlett delivered the Easter message and also contributed to a vocal duet "In the Love of Jesus" with Mrs. Howlett and her sister, Miss Muriel Chadburn of Owen Sound, Ontario.

EASTER PROCLAIMED IN CHURCHES

He Is Risen. He Lives were the messages proclaimed in the churches of Digby Town and Digby County on Sunday last. Reverend Dr. John Corston, interim pastor, was the preacher at Grace United Church, Digby on Sunday morning when he emphasized that Easter is not really about dying, it is all about living and the real question to be asked is "Are we alive, do we live in Him and for Him.

The senior choir under the direction of Mrs. Elton Arnold sang two anthems proclaiming "He Lives."

One of the highlights of the special Easter service at Grace United was the confirmation of four young people, Karin Chodakowski, Bettina Chodakowski, Karen Trask and Susan MacInnes. The young people were presented by the Clerk of the Session, Sherman Rice and received by members of the Session when Dr. Corston had completed the Confirmation Order of Service.

Holy Communion was administered before the close of the service.

Those receiving the morning's offering were Mrs. Helen Fleet, Mrs. Gerald Hoare, Benjamin Haight and C.C.MacInnis.

On Good Friday morning Dr. Corston conducted the Order of Service on The Seven Words From the Cross. In the sixth word from the Cross "It is finished" the speaker especially noted for his congregation that the word was not "I am finished but "It is finished". This was in anticipation of Easter. Death was not the beginning of the end but the end of the beginning.

The senior choir under Mrs. Arnold sang "He Bore All For Me" with Miss Heather Hoare, soloist.

EASTER AT THE WESLEYAN CHURCH

On Easter Sunday a.m., Robert Wilson conducted the service at Digby Wesleyan Church. David Wilson conducted the Church Choir as they gave their rendition of "Blessed Redeemer" Mrs. Mrs. Guy Porter presided at the Piano for the services of the day. "He's Still the King of Kings and Lord of Lords" was the solo number given by David Wilson. He also conducted the choir in the singing of "He could Have called Ten Thousand Angels.

"The congregation participated in the service as they sang "He Lives". The Pastor W.L. Fernley gave the address of the morning. He used various passages regarding the resurrection story and told his congregation that "Jesus is the Master of every situation."

The Easter evening service was conducted by Kenneth Hudson and the theme chorus the Family of God was sung following which the singing of "Amazing Grace" was participated in by the congregation. Previous to prayer offered by the pastor the chorus of "Because He Lives" was sung. The choir was directed in the singing of "Christ Arose" by Kenneth Hudson.

Patty Myers sang a solo number and accompanied herself on the piano. In a duet number "Teach Me to Pray" Patty Myers was accompanied by her father. Mr. Garland Myers and Mrs. Myers presided at the piano for this special number.

The hymn "I Love to Tell the Story" was sung previous to the pastor's message. Luke 24: 13 was the Scripture text used and the pastor spoke about the walk on the Emmaus Road.

He spoke about a Heavenly Heart Burn or a Burning Heart for Christ saying. "Everything God does He does for a reason."

The Easter Services concluded with the singing of the hymn "He Lives".

Councillor Eileen Chipman. The meeting was presided over by the president, Charles Haliburton.

Discussion brought out many facts including the cost of $45,000 approximately to the town for the police salaries, plus other expenses relating to the police department. It was also learned that Digby police have the highest case load in the province at a figure of 97 while other towns vary all the way down to 30.

The contract, as presented at Tuesday night's Board of Trade meeting, named certain duties relating to town bylaws which did not come under requirements of the R.C.M.P. but Reid felt that the intent of the item referred to in the contract was misunderstood by those to whom it caused concern. If the R.C.M.P. becomes involved in all these duties of a bylaw enforcement officer, they would not be giving service in other areas.

Merchants of Digby will be invited to the next Board of Trade meeting to have open discussion on whether or not the parking meter system should be retained in Digby. An estimate of costs and revenue for new meters will be proposed, it is understood.

The Digby Board of Trade will look into the possibility of operating the Digby Tourist Bureau. The tourist committee consisting of Harold Riley, Patrick Comeau and David Irvin will draw up a budget and present to the town council and other groups or merchants requesting financial assistance. In order to get the provincial grant of fifty per cent expenses the bureau must operate eight hours a day for a seven day week from June 15 to September 15. Estimated cost is over $3000. for the summer, of which the grant covers fifty per cent.

Though discussed in sincerity the subject of a New Town Hall was shelved because of the lateness of the hour.

Plan Cyclathon For Mental Health

Plans for the second annual fund raising cyclathon for the Digby Branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association were made at the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors.

Scheduled for Saturday, May 7th, the Cyclathon will mark the closing of Mental Health Week in the Digby area. Plans concluded at the directors' meeting include the holding of the annual session of the mental health association on the evening of Saturday, May 7th. It is understood a dinner session will be held with a prominent speaker from the health field. A committee was organized at the board session to arrange the annual dinner session and the sale of tickets.

It was decided at the meeting the Cyclathon, which raised slightly over $2,000 last year, will be carried out over the same course as last year, from the Racquette to the ferry wharf and return with several laps about the ferry parking area.

Pledge forms will be circulated through the school system again this year and it is hoped participation by youngsters as well as adults will again be at a high level this year.

During the directors' meeting this week some discussion was held concerning the role of the local mental health association in the promotion of occupational therapy programs, particularly for elderly persons. It was noted the mental health association had pioneered in the area in initiating action programs to provide needed activity, socialization, fellowship and other similar programs as a part of its life enrichment endeavours. Opinion was expressed this was a practical and effective way of demonstrating the association's concern for people in need of such services.

Accidents Over Easter

The Digby Detachment of the R.C.M.P. indicate that Easter weekend accidents have sent two persons to hospital. As result of an accident at Conway, Robert Ross was sent to hospital. On Saturday an auto accident at Bear River sent Debbie Bent to hospital with a broken collar bone.

The Ross injury arose as a result of a two-car collision at Conway on Good Friday. A vehicle operated by Darrel Mudge, Digby, was in collision with an auto operated by Patrick Doucette, Cornwallis. Ross was a passenger in the Mudge car. The R.C.M.P. indicated that charges may be laid as a result of this accident.

Bent was injured when a vehicle operated by David Stedman, Lawrencetown, left the road in Bear River near the sawmill on the River Road. The Stedman car went out of control and over the embankment resulting in the Bent injury.

ABTRC SEEKS CULTURAL CENTRE

Gene Sampson, Bear River, reported at the regular meeting of the Annapolis Basin Tourist and Recreation Council held at CFB Cornwallis on Wednesday that a committee of ABTRC had met with government officials requesting to make use of the former Precesky house opposite the Wild Life Park at Upper Clements for a Cultural Centre. The committee had toured the property and had suggested that a reception area be provided where slide presentations could be made, an area for graph exhibit, Nova Scotia writer's corner, Nova Scotia artist corner, etc. There would be no commercial aspects and only highest quality work would be accepted. The request covered the use of the lower floor only and for the summer season. No definite word has been heard on the request. Parking problems came under consideration, there being parking space on the Wild Life Park side of the highway but this created a danger in crossing the road. Another suggestion was to widen the driveway to the "Precesky house".

ABTRC was on Wednesday, faced with a date set for Scallop Day 1977 and with committees ready to begin their Scallop Day activity preparations but no chairman to co-ordinate the program. The names of Howard Langille and Kenneth Eavis were proposed for the chairmanship and Lance Woolaver, secretary, was asked to contact these men regarding the possibility. The president, Mrs. "Penny" Gott, offered to contact Shell Oil Co. for financial assistance.

Lance Woolaver reported that $400 had been raised for the project of entertaining a number of travel agents but a report from Mark Blueguerman, Bear River, indicated the letters had not gone out. The matter was left in the hands of the executive and the committee and it has later been learned that the letters have gone out to the agents inviting them to Digby. It had also been regularly moved and passed that each Travel Agent get a copy of the ABTRC publication, The Basin.

A suggestion was made by Kip McKaigue of the Garrison House, Annapolis Royal that people of the Masonic Order might be interested in visiting Annapolis area since the first Masonic Lodge meeting was held in Annapolis Royal in 1738 or 1739.

Gloria Roth suggested that ABTRC might wish to provide mementoes to the square dancers in Atlantic City in June when Mrs. Roth, the caller, travels there with two bus loads of dancers from Nova Scotia. The importance of educating Americans by radio or otherwise on Nova Scotia was stressed. Many, it was said, have no idea how far it is from Nova Scotia to Quebec.

Brochures for the Daytrips planned by ABTRC for the summer were reported as being late. The Daytrips were to be published in The Basin also.

Mr. Woolaver reported that the problems with the Digby Tourist Bureau had resolved. He reported that the Digby Board of Trade expects to operate the Bureau this summer. Harold Riley is head of the B. Board of Trade Committee.

ABTRC on Wednesday evening decided to offer a $200 bursary to the Hotel School in Dartmouth in memory of the late Gordon Price of Mountain Gap Inn, Smith's Cove. Mr. Price had been one of the founding members of ABTRC and had given much effort to the organization. The amount of the bursary to come under review another year.

Terry Crowe and Madeline LeMay, representatives of the Planning Division of the Department of Municipal Affairs attended the meeting when Mr. Crowe brought ABTRC members up-to-date on regional planning in the area. Annapolis and Kings municipalities, he advised, are set up for regional planning but Digby lags in this respect. ABTRC organization is involved in both Annapolis and Digby in its covering area from Weymouth to Bridgetown. David Irvin was requested to write a letter to the Department of Municipal Affairs and explain ABTRC location in the total planning area and the fact that Digby municipality has not yet been set up for planning on a regional basis.

Reporting on the Canada Works projects, Mr. Woolaver said the department was two weeks behind in their work and that while their budgets had to be reduced, most of ABTRC projects were still alive.

The Basin publication for the summer of 1977 was reported to be solid and well on the way. Disappointment was expressed in the publicity in the Travel Trade Nova Scotia and the former Where To Stay In Nova Scotia or Nova Scotia Accommodation 1977. It was felt finances had gone into these publications by the government and effort had gone into them by those who gathered factual material which was either not used well or not used at all.

Mrs. Gott, president, who presided at the meeting reported that nothing had been heard to date to the requests gone to M.L.A.'s and the Department of Municipal Affairs regarding the proposed Assessment Act amendment. The Act would make major changes in taxation of businesses, farm property, forest property and general property. The Act would remove taxation of inventories and moveable equipment. The revenue would be replaced by a business occupancy assessment on the value of lands and buildings occupied. ABTRC opposed this assessment of 25 percent of the value of land and buildings occupied for the accommodations industry and service stations, 75 percent for financial institutions and 50 percent for all others.

Because of the continuing increase of the congregation at the Sunday Services, plus the steady growth of the Sunday School the necessity of extra accommodations became urgent at the site of the Wesleyan Church on Victoria St., Digby. The new addition to the present church will be approximately 30' x 45'. The extra structure will be a full basement area to be used primarily for Sunday School and children's activities. The added space in the auditorium will give extra seating for the congregation, a Pastors study, choir room, and an enlarged platform area.

School Bands Drew Full House

A full to capacity multipurpose room at the Digby Regional High School on Saturday evening welcomed the Madawaska (Maine) High School Band and heard the Digby and Madawaska bands in an international exchange concert.

The program began with the combined bands playing the National Anthems of each country under the directorship of the Digby director, Donald Scott.

The stage was then taken over by the guests who presented the first part of the program under their director, Norwood Olmstead after courtesies from both bands were extended. Mr. Olmstead spoke of the pleasure in being to Digby and the beautiful Nova Scotia where they found the people exceptionally friendly. He has already plans to return for a visit in the summer.

Along with the high school band, the Madawaska Majorettes visited and featured in two special numbers. In the band selections were Military Escourt (Harold Bennett), Bold City Overture (Charles Carter), Gentle Journey (Giovannini), Have You Ever Been Mellow (Farrar), Festivo (Nelhybel) and Tribute to Louis Armstrong (Edmondson).

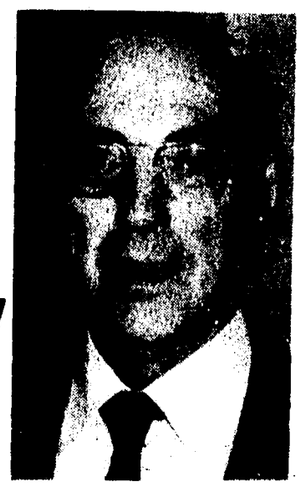
Soloists in the Madawaska band were Lisa Sirois (Clarinets), Steve Bourgoin (Sax), Karen Violette, Pat Michaud and Brenda Dionne (trumpets), Tom Sabo (trombone), Steve Sabo (tuba) and Danielle Bouchard (Percussion).

The Digby High School Band presented Dorian Overture (Whitney), I Wish You Love (Trent), Dixieland Jamboree (Warrington), The Homecoming (Hardy), Beattle Medley (Ralent) and Country Western (Walters).

Digby soloists on those in special numbers were Mike McClafferty and Paul Turnbull (trumpet), Mary Saulnier (clarinet), Rory Rogers (tenor sax), Colleen Scott (alto sax), Robert Fadelle (trombone), May Cromwell (bass), James Kempton (drums), Lexie Peck (oboe) and Karen Trask (flute).

After presentations to the visiting band director and students the combined bands presented Prelude by Handel, Osterling and Jesus Christ Superstar, Webber, O'Brien to an appreciative audience.

Talks On Respiratory Diseases



Dr. John G. Scudding, M.B., B.S., F.R.C.P., M.D., Emeritus Professor of Medicine, University of London, Honorary Consulting Physician, Brompton Hospital and the Hammersmith Hospital, London, England was in Digby on Thursday, April 14, under the auspices of the Nova Scotia Respiratory Diseases and Tuberculosis Association. He met with doctors from Weymouth, Freeport and Digby in the Board Room of the Digby General Hospital. Dr. Alan Stokes was Chairman of the session.

Dr. Scudding's topic was "Sarcoidosis." In his discussion, he outlined the doctors involved in the late 1800's who discovered and named Sarcoid. He reviewed the histological highlights, and continued his lecture into the incidence of disease and the various ways it becomes manifest in the human species. Many questions followed his presentation, following which Dr. Scudding and Mrs. Scudding were guests of the McCleave Medical Centre for a Maritime dinner.

Subject To Be "Old Bottles"

The Admiral Digby Library and Historical Society will present a program on the subject of old bottles on Wednesday, April 27th at 7:30 in the Digby Baptist Church Hall. Wilfred Bent, a well-known antique dealer in the Bridgetown area, will be guest speaker.

A display of books on the subject of old bottles, on loan from the Western Counties Regional Library Services, will also be featured.

Local people who have old bottles, about which they would like to learn more, may bring them to the hall and Mr. Bent will talk about them and attempt to date them.

This will be the Historical Society's third program of the year. A fourth and final program will be held on May 25th in the Baptist Church Hall and will deal with the subjects of quilts and carpenters' tools. At that time slides and a film will also be shown.

96 Years

Mrs. Laura Munroe, who resides with her granddaughter, Mrs. Ralph Johnson, Sandy Cove, celebrated her 96th birthday on April 2. Present was her daughter, Mrs. Flossy Harding, Victoria Beach.

Teacher Attends Municipal Council

Permission was given on Tuesday evening at the Digby Municipal School Board to Walter Gaudet of the Weymouth Consolidated School staff to attend the Clare Municipal Council of which he is a member. The time is given with pay.

The librarian at the Weymouth School has asked for leave from January to April in 1978 to study for a degree. Mrs. M. Estak was granted permission with pay providing a suitable replacement can be made.

James Hanscomb of the Weymouth staff (supervisor) requested an extra member for the 1977-78 staff. It was learned that Miss Donna Carter of the Home Economics Department at the Islands Consolidated School had resigned. Teacher contracts recently signed for the coming year were by Barbara Martin (classroom) Weymouth, W. Gaudet and J. Chaisson.

Weymouth Church Deconsecrated

The Rt. Rev'd. Leonard F. Hatfield, Bishop Suffragan of The Diocese of Nova Scotia was guest speaker at St. Peter's Anglican Church on Sunday afternoon, April 17th.

Bishop Hatfield was introduced by The Rev'd Michael Boyd, Rector of St. Peter's Parish, Weymouth and Trinity Parish, Digby.

Bishop Hatfield was invited to St. Peter's Church by the Parochial Corporation to "Revoke the Sentence of Consecration" of St. Thomas Church in the name of the Lord Bishop of Nova Scotia, The Rt. Rev'd George F. Arnold. The deconsecration took place within the context of the Holy Eucharist, the Church's service of Thanksgiving.

In his message, Bishop Hatfield said that the people of the parish had much to be thankful for concerning St. Thomas Church- the many baptisms, the laying on of hands at confirmation, the marriages, the burials, and the many services of the Holy Eucharist at which the people received the heavenly food of the Body and Blood of Christ- all acts of faith, in the name of God.

Bishop Hatfield went on to say that this could be considered a very depressing time in the life of a Parish, at first glance, yet like Easter, the darkness can give way for a glorious resurrection. Thus it is possible that through the closing of St. Thomas Church, St. Peter's Parish will find a new birth, and become more closely knit as children of God with the mission of Christ's Church.

St. Thomas Church, met a need in a thriving community for many years. However, its congregation, over the past several years, had dwindled away through death, and people moving to other areas, until the present congregation found it difficult to maintain the building. This led to a majority consensus of opinion within the Parish, that it was sad to have arrived at this stage in the life of St. Thomas Church, yet there seemed no other viable alternative than to take the action which has now been carried out. Otherwise, there would have been the danger and disgrace of letting the building deteriorate piece by piece.

St. Thomas congregation has been worshipping at St. Peter's Parish Church, and St. Matthew's Church, Weymouth Falls for several years. Both of the two remaining churches, St. Peter's and St. Matthew's. are easily reached from anywhere in the Weymouth area. Thus with the present means of transportation no problem of this nature is anticipated by the Parish in light of the secularization of St. Thomas Church.

The people of St. Peter's Parish have made no final decisions of the disposal of the St. Thomas Church building, contents, and land. These matters will be decided by the Parochial Corporation, in full consultation with the Parish people over the next year.

Rev. Kenneth Lowe Inducted

Rev. Kenneth Lowe, now at Middleton, will be inducted into the Digby United Church of Canada charge on April 28 at 7:30 p.m. in Grace United Church. The announcement was made on Sunday morning by Rev. Dr. John Corston, supply minister. The service under the auspices of the Valley Presbytery will be conducted by Rev. Fred Archibald, Windsor, Hants Co. and Rev. M.G.Butler, retired, Annapolis Royal, will deliver the sermon. A social hour will follow.

A special part of the service at Grace United, Digby, on Sunday morning was the presentations of Life Memberships in the United Church Women to Mrs. Pearl Handspiker, Mrs. Ida Cosman, Mrs. Vincent Snow, Mrs. Milton Atkinson, Mrs. William Clayton and Mrs. Boyd Ellis. The special ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Corston and Mrs. Benjamin Height, the president Grace U.C.W. made the presentations.

Drug Disposal Days, May 1 To 7

Drug Disposal Days will take place from May 1-7, 1977. The campaign is under the auspices of the Nova Scotia Safety Council with the co-operation of the Poison Control Centre and the Nova Scotia Pharmaceutical Society. The purpose of the project is to rid homes in Nova Scotia of unused medication no longer required which has the potential to cause accidental poisonings and to contribute to the misuse of medication. The Safety Council asks you to take all medication no longer required to your pharmacist and ask him to dispose of it for you. Your support of this campaign will help control the problems associated with excess quantities of unused medication found in our homes.

Editorial

THIS CONCERNS YOU

The conquest of cancer concerns everyone. Protect yourself and your family with medical check-ups and help others with a generous contribution to the Canadian Cancer Society.

Today we can help extend the lives of leukemia patients, tomorrow we may be able to save them. The future depends on research. The Canadian Cancer Society is the prime source of funds for cancer research in Canada. Support the Society's annual campaign in April.

A record total of $10,753,536 has been awarded by the National Cancer Institute of Canada for cancer research in this country. The total represents an increase of 17 percent over the previous year. Most of this money is raised during the annual Spring campaign of the Canadian Cancer Society, which is affiliated with the Institute.

In the Maritimes, New Brunswick investigators are studying the control of gene expression in human cells transformed by the SV40 virus, while researchers in Newfoundland are studying the structure of virus receptors.

Three projects at Dalhousie University in Halifax were funded. A grant of $25,980 has been allocated to Dr. R.Langley and associates for a study on the characterization of lymphocyte subpopulations in chronic lymphocytic leukemia. Dr. G.C.Johnston also received an award for his work on cell division as did Dr. I.MacDonald and associates for their investigation into the metabolism of taurocholate by C.Perfringens with respect to the aetiology of cancer of the large bowel.

Have you made your contribution? This concerns you.

GRASS FIRES MENACE

The time has come when that menace of grass fires begins to raise its ugly head. Setting the fires and watching them burn can supply a lot of thrilling exercise but the Springtime passtime must certainly carry with it a substantial amount of responsibility. There are rules and regulations in most towns and villages governing the setting of fires and these must be adhered to.

Too often the fun of setting grass fires turns into the tradgedy of a lost home or other property and even to the loss of life. However when these serious losses are not encountered there is always the waste of good time from work or other engagements of the fire-fighters. They are volunteer fighters. While they are diligent in their service, men and equipment should not be used needlessly.

Another kind of fire-call is causing concern for firemen. With the expected decrease in quantity and the expected rise in electrical and oil prices, people are turning to wood burning, often into stoves converted for the purpose by amateurs. The Digby Fire Department has expressed concern about this and have asked that people use every caution. The risk is high.

Letter To The Editor

Opinions expressed in the Letter to the Editor column in this newspaper are not necessarily those of the editor.

Dear Editor:

It was good to see the good turnout and interest shown at the Board of Trade meeting April 12. Of course our town, like other towns, have some serious problems and, such problems need much consideration by town authorities backed by sufficient and proper input from the public concerned, for proper solutions.

Among other things, Board of Trade meetings are set up as Forums for discussion of public issues and are open to all citizens.

About a year ago, Mayor R.W. Phinney of Kentville, speaking before the Kentville and area Board of Trade at their annual meeting said some important words to the following effect, "In Board of Trade forums there is opportunity to promote the good and condemn the bad and this calling should not be taken lightly."

Concluding his message, the mayor said, "local boards, Maritime and National Chambers of Commerce form a strong voice of and for the people. There is a challenge before Board and Chamber members which should be accepted."

Over the years much has been said about the need for a Zone bylaw for Digby in order to have proper development and protection of certain human rights. The present question is, what is required to have such a bylaw and the enforcement thereof? Are the requirements too rigid?

What about noise pollution? Living in any community should of course be reasonably comfortable and peaceful. Complaints have often been heard about barking dogs through the night as well as day. Should it not be required that dog owners confine their dogs inside a building late at night between (suggested) the hours of eleven p.m. and six or seven o'clock in the morning? This would solve the most serious part of the problem. When it comes to watchdogs, such dogs untied in a building with contents to be watched, do a better job of watching than they would being tied outside.

What about certain establishments used as dance halls. Should they be used as liquor outlets at the same time, in a residential area? Should the sound of the music or so-called music, be amplified at all? Certainly not to the point of actually hearing it at least three town blocks away.

Such amplified sound at night can be nerve racking to even sober people in good health, and, much more so, to people in poor health, In regard to liquor consumed, it is a serious question in the minds of some people, as to what has killed and disabled more people over the years - wars, or, consumption of alcoholic beverages?.

WEDDING

DOUCETTE- FORD

The St. Bernard Catholic Church at St. Bernard was the scene of a beautiful winter wedding on January 22nd at four o'clock, 1977 when Johann Ruth, daughter of Mrs. Joyce Ford, Hassetts, became the bride of Edwin Joseph , son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Doucette, New Edinburgh. Father R. Deveau officiated at the double ring ceremony. Paul Gaudet was the organist and Mrs. Raymond Cosman (cousin of the groom) of Digby, was the soloist.

The groom was supported by Mr. Vernon Amirault, a friend of the groom. The ushers were Clarence Doucette, (brother of the groom) and Stephen Gaudet cousin of the groom).

The mother of the bride wore a floor length gown of light blue crepe with pink roses. She wore a corsage of pink roses with a white ribbon. The mother of the groom wore a floor length gown of green crepe with yellow flowers and her corsage was white and yellow roses with a white ribbon.

Following the wedding ceremony the reception was held at the Royal Canadian Legion in Weymouth. The toast to the bride was proposed by her cousin Mr. Roger Mullen of Belliveau Cove and responded to by the groom. Grace was said by the bride's uncle, Mr. Austin Mullen.

OPEN LETTER TO THE CITIZENS OF DIGBY

The Town of Digby is a multi million dollar Corporation, the largest Corporation in the area. In my capacity as the Chief Administrative Officer of this Corporation, and in view that there is some confusion as to my reason for resigning, I feel that you, the residents of the Town, my employer, are entitled to more clarification.

The Town of Digby has a potential that is second to none in all of Nova Scotia. We are one of the major ports through whose doors many thousands of tourists enter from all over North America. We used to have (and could again have with co-operation from you), the most attractive Town in the Province, thereby creating much needed employment for ourselves and children. Believe me, this potential is not limited to tourism and this letter would have to be much longer and more detailed to cover all aspects of this potential.

When I was appointed to the position of Town Clerk-Treasurer, I was aware that there was a great deal of animosity directed to both the Clerk and the Mayor of the Town by one individual Councillor. On numerous occasions this was brought to light through both the local and national news medias. I, being a bit naive, did not think that one person could disrupt an elected Corporate body to the extent where members of that body would resign, I therefore accepted the position.

Prior to and during my period of Town Clerk, the records and correspondence of the Town have been open to the inspection of any rate payer of the Town, there is no requirement for insinuations of under the table dealings etc., when documents are readily available.

I, as well as my predecessor, worked diligently for the good of the Towns people. I implied that I was leaving for health reasons, which basically is correct, as the strain of constantly being undermined on decisions was beginning to tell up.

I would recommend to you that:

(1) Insist that a new Town Hall be built this year. I am sure there will be more interest generated in Town affairs if this is done.

(2) Try and become more involved in the affairs of the Town, it is your money.

(3) Support your elected officials and Town Employees.

(4) When the time rolls around again for election of Councillors let us give it more thought and have a better showing, last year was deplorable. As well, look again at the reason for my predecessor's resignation.

Yours for a better Digby.

K.R.Eavis.

Spring fever is evidently getting to this reporter who has failed to note several visitors in our area during the past few weeks. Among those were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Smith, Vancouver, B.C., who were here for a week visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glendon Robbins and family. While in the Province, they also visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Smith of Halifax. Mrs. Smith is the former Joanne Robbins.

Also here for two week visit were WO and Mrs. Harry R. Sulis, Petawawa, Ontario, who stayed with his father, Harry A. Sulis. Their daughter, Darlene, student at Acadia University, was down for weekend visits during that time.

Mr. and Mrs. R.M. Winchester motored to Dartmouth on Saturday to visit their daughter and son-in-law, Cst. and Mrs. Freeman Sheppard, Judy and Scotty.

Mrs. Nola Jeffrey, Guidance Counsellor, reported that the T.M.R. classes would be starting immediately and that I.Q. and achievement ratings were being done on Islands in grades four to nine.

Because the Islands school students spend so much time on the road they are strongly considering purchasing a bus, the Islands supervisor, Keith Manzer, reported, and the students are further considering tendering for one of the municipal school buses. The students also lack a good gymnasium, it was learned.

Dates for the opening and closing of school 1977-78 had not yet been decided upon.

It was agreed that the Weymouth school could be used in the summer of 1977 as a Day Activity Centre.

Roger Hankinson, supervisor of buses reported flooding at both Weymouth and Digby garages.

Supervisor C. C. MacInnis reported five school days had been lost in 1977-78 because of storms.

The matter of an attendance officer for the Digby municipal schools was tabled.

A letter was read from C. W. Smith of the Nova Scotia Department of Education regarding the Education Assistance Committee to be held in Halifax in April.

The meeting was presided over by the chairman, Richard Daley.

Life Of Barrett

A police car moves slowly through the foreboding dark of the city at night. Behind the wheel is a man unique in his profession...a "street cop" named Barrett.

Winner of the Medal of Valor, Sgt. Gary Barrett is a dedicated law officer and complex human being. His story is featured in the new hour-long film that probes into the life, and the faith of a Christian policeman. The film takes us into the streets of a major city with a policeman who uses his spiritual resources both on and off the beat.

Many actual incidents that Sgt. Barrett has experienced are recreated in the film: domestic quarrels that can erupt into violence, the pathetic loneliness of a runaway teen-ager, and the near-death of his partner. The film also re-creates the dangerous ordeal that Sgt. Barrett faced with a gunman who was holding a hostage. This incident won for him the highest honor for valor given to men in his department.

"BARRETT" is released by Outreach Films, Burbank, California, the newest and fastest growing distributor of films for churches and youth organizations. Their productions have already won major film festival awards in the category of Religion, Morals, and Ethics.

This explosive, emotion-packed life of a policeman who won the Medal of Valor, "Barrett" will be shown at the Lighthouse Church of God, Sydney Street, Digby, on Sunday, April 24, at 7:00 p.m. Admission is free and the public is invited to attend.

Healthy Diet Brings Longer Life

By Carol Walsh

Would you like to have better health, more energy, more resistance to disease, live longer? It does not require any miracle drugs - all you have to do is eat a balanced diet, and it is never too late in life to start.

What is a balanced diet? Miss Lawrence MacNeil, public health nutritionist, answered this question at a recent presentation in Westport. A small group of women attended this most informative and interesting talk, which Miss MacNeil made very understandable by the use of various audio-visual aids. A balanced diet, stated Miss MacNeil, is a pattern of eating which consists of all five food groups at all meals, plus three teaspoons of fat and some fiber daily.

A few of the points she stressed were that no single food is perfect, so we need them all; how important it is to check labels to find out the contents of both new and old foods; that all adults need some milk daily to keep the bones strong; and the darker in colour that fruits and vegetables are, the higher the vitamin content. The ladies were shown how various foods fit together to make a good meal, some substitutions which may be used, and also the lack of food value in many items consumed, for example, orange drinks, pop, sugar, jello, honey, jelly, etc.

The new, revised Canada's Food Guide was given out to all present, and Miss MacNeil advised its use in meal planning and buying groceries. She added that no sweets or extra foods should be eaten until the requirements on the Food Guide are first met. A number of questions from those present were clearly answered.

We are fortunate to have such resource people in our communities and it is to be hoped that in these days of rising food costs, people will avail themselves of information such as was presented here, to have a healthy diet for less money. Anyone in this area may contact Miss MacNeil at the Public Health office in Yarmouth.

Celebrations to mark the 9th Birthday of CFRS will include a Sunset and Retreat Ceremony to which the public is invited. Funding For Research

Environment Minister Vincent MacLean said that the Nova Scotia Department of the Environment is proceeding with the funding of budworm pheromone (sex attractant) research in an effort to assist in the development of alternate budworm control strategies.

The Department is providing $45,000 to a group of research scientists at St. Francis Xavier University. This group is headed by Dr. Brian Lynch, Chairman of the Chemistry Department. A further $15,000 is being provided to the research group by the Nova Scotia Environmental Control Council.

The concept of using pheromones or sex-attractant techniques to control insect infestations had its origins during the earlier part of this century. The basic biology underlying the concept is that many insects release minute quantities of a complex chemical which is known as a pheromone. The pheromone released by the female acts as a direction finder for the male who is then able to locate the female and fertilize the eggs which she is carrying.

Scientists felt that it should be possible to interfere with this tracking system employed by the male if it were possible to confuse the male by placing excess pheromone in the area. Under such circumstances, the male would then receive an excessive number of signals for the location of a female. However, many of these signals would originate from the synthetic pheromone placed in the area of insect activity. The result would be a reduction in the number of matings and subsequently fewer insects in the next generation.

In order that such control techniques work, the appropriate pheromone must be identified. This is essential since each species of insect produces a pheromone which is effective only on other members of the same species. Through extensive research, tetradecenal has been identified as one pheromone which is effective for the spruce budworm.

During the past several years, scientists with the Canadian Forestry Service have been experimenting with various forms of tetradecenal as to possible use in controlling budworm infestations. The results of this work has been such that the Canadian Forestry Service has expanded their research efforts.

The initial experiments were designed to determine the appropriate pheromone composition for trapping and confusion experiments. The results of these experiments have been encouraging relative to the future development and use of pheromones for the control of insect infestations.

Research workers at the University of New Brunswick and at the Research and Productivity Council have also been active in pheromone research. The approach taken by the New Brunswick group has been directed towards gaining a fuller understanding of the biochemical and physiological aspects of the action of the pheromone when it is detected by the insect.

Recently, the New Brunswick group received substantial funding from the Province of New Brunswick. The monies received will be directed towards enlarging their activities to include investigations on pheromone impurities, development of methods to increase the stability of the pheromone in the natural environment and to explore the interactions between the pheromone and the forest ecosystem.

The research project being funded by the Province of Nova Scotia involves four distinct aspects. The initial work will be directed toward the further development of less expensive and more efficient production techniques for the pheromones. This work will be followed by laboratory tests which are to be directed at determining the most suitable pheromone composition for budworm found in this province.

Also, work will be started on the development of appropriate stabilizing agents for the pheromone as well as the evaluation of potential field application techniques. Experiments are also being designed to determine the environmental and toxicological properties of the pheromone. This work is planned in order to determine the effects of the pheromone on non-target organisms.

During the past several months, officals from the Nova Scotia Department of the Environment have held meetings with their counterparts in the Canadian Forestry Service and the Province of New Brunswick. The objective of these meetings was to ensure that a coordinated approach was taken to budworm pheromone research.

It is essential that excessive duplication be avoided in order that pheromone control techniques be explored and developed as soon as possible. However, it is important to realize that this research is at the frontier of scientific endeavour and that success is not guaranteed.

However, initial results are encouraging and it is of paramount importance that this work be conducted with expediency while maintaining quality and reliableness of results.

Mr. MacLean said that the Province of Nova Scotia, in funding the work of the group headed by Dr. Lynch, feels that it is making a valuable and positive contribution toward the possible solution of the budworm situation which has been with this province for many years.

Bird Haven

If I keep a green bough in my heart, the singing bird will come.

Old Chinese saying, Well some of our birds have come; robins, red winged black birds, song sparrows and the flicker.

The flicker is slightly larger than a bluejay; brownback, speckled breast, black crescent under throat and red patch on back of head.

They build their nests in rotten trees or old telephone poles. Sometimes you will find several holes in one pole, where they have built for several years. Their song is a wick-wick-wick, etc.

I had several calls about red winged black birds. Males are black with red band on wings, females are brownish striped. You will find these around bogs where there are old cat tails. Song sounds like O, Ka-leeee.

A friend in Clementsport rescued a robin in January and has been keeping him in the house all winter. He is in fine condition, singing and flying in the house. He will be released in a few days after the weather settles down. Thanks.

Mocky has turned out to be a problem bird. He even chased a pair of robins when they arrived. I am afraid I will have to transport him farther afield or I may not have any smaller birds all summer.

It is house cleaning time for swallow houses, they like them clean and empty. It is high time they were here.

Had an Indigo bunting brought in that had been picked up at Conway. No doubt it had frozen. They winter in Cuba and Central America.

They are deep blue all over, with brownish wings in winter, a small bird about 5½ in. I banded five males all at one time several years ago.

Orioles are singing their full song and will be released the first of May.

So long
Bird Lady.

Youth Plant Trees For Canada Project

"Trees for Canada" is a Canada-wide project designed to give all Scouts the opportunity to demonstrate, through action, their concern for their country.

In 1975, its second year as a national project, Canadian Scouts planted over two million trees. In future years these millions of trees will help beautify Canada and provide a source of wood. The Scouts involved received practical training in conservation and reforestation and they could see the results of their work.

"Trees for Canada" is a fund raising project. The funds raised through this project have been used to help further Scouting in the community, develop campsites and meet other local needs. Some of the money is used to support OPERATION AMIGO - an international Scout brotherhood program designed to help five South American countries adapt Scouting to meet their needs.

Funds are raised through pledges from householders in each community involved.

In most communities only one contact will be made with a householder. This, combined with knowing how many trees the scout or cub will plant makes it easy to determine how much to pledge.

Three million trees will reach maturity when the Scouts who planted them have children of their own. "Trees for Canada" is a project concerned with tomorrow. A tomorrow which will be better because communities supported the Scouts in this project today.

Digby District Cubs and Scouts will plant trees on Saturday, 14th May. This year will be the first year that Scouts and Cubs of Digby District participated in this project. To ensure that trees will be planted with a maximum chance for survival the Digby District Council has arranged for all participants to receive practical training in conservation and reforestration and cubs and scouts of the District will be taught the fine art of planting trees by members of the Department of Lands and Forests in the next few weeks. This project will help beautify Canada and provide future resources for all Canadians.

Before the planting day each scout and cub will seek pledges from householders within their community. It is hoped that you the householder, will support the cubs and scouts in this project. When a cub or scout calls on you for your pledge - be generous.

Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards Of Trade

Bruce McKenzie, President of the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade, has announced that the 32nd Annual Business Meeting of the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade will be held on Wednesday, May 18th with the business session commencing at 10 a.m. in the Beveridge Forum, Student Union Building, Acadia University, Wolfville, Nova Scotia.

In making this announcement Mr. McKenzie stressed that at this time in our history there are many areas of serious concern to Canadian business and to the health of the free enterprise system in our Canadian society. Thus, he stated there is an urgent need for broad and effective communication and understanding about these dangers; about the needs of Atlantic Canada, and of the Annapolis Valley in particular.

Because of these considerations, Mr. McKenzie added that it was most important that all local Boards of Trade, Municipal and Town Councils, and Village Commissions make every effort to have their representatives attend. All Sustaining Members are urged to ensure that their firm or business is well represented.

The annual Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade Business Banquet will be held the same evening in Wheelock Hall, Acadia University commencing with a reception at 6:30 p.m. in the McKeen Room, Student Union Building. The keynote address will be delivered by Rear Admiral Desmond Piers, Nova Scotia's Agent General in the United Kingdom.

Mr. McKenzie concluded that the effectiveness of the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade depended upon the participation and active support of all elements of the Valley community.

Special Speaker

A special service was held at the Weymouth Church of Christ on Sunday evening when Mr. Robert Morse of the North Burma Christian Mission, now working in Thailand was present and showed interesting slides on the work.

Some will recall the brief visit two years ago when Bobby Morse was in Weymouth. This was his son.

Robert, LaVerne and Eugene are the sons of Russell and Gertrude Morse who went to China in 1921, and worked with Dr. Albert Shelton in Batang China. Dr. Shelton is one of the first direct support missionaries.

Robert was born in 1923 on the China-Tibet border. In 1927 - Civil War broke out in China and U.S. Officials ordered all American nationals back to U.S. and because they were so far north, they had to flee through trackless jungles over high mountains into Burma. Later they were able to return.

The Morse families have a very inspiring life and some months ago the Readers Digest printed an article of their work which many may have read.

Missionary Society Meets

The Women's Missionary Society met on Thursday evening in the Church basement for their monthly meeting. The president Leota Lewis welcomed everyone followed by a devotion on "Easter", which was led by Coleen Lewis. The Mission Study was led by Mrs. Mary Thurber. She read an article on Rhodesia, and the work on Thialand with the Morse families of the South East Asia, work of the Mission in Burma. Mr. Robert Morse of this Mission will be present in the Weymouth field on April 17th at the Churches of Christ.

A business meeting was then led by the president followed by the Bible Study conducted by Mrs. Stewart Lewis on "The Women Others See" and scriptures taken from Proverbs, John, Matthew and Romans. Several questions such as my relationship to others; what can ruin a friendship? what kind of friends do we need? and what should my attitude be towards those I dislike. These questions were discussed followed by a lunch served by these in charge.

Seek Volunteers For Reading Aid Program

The Fundy Literacy Council is seeking volunteers to help with a reading-aid program which the Council is developing in response to needs in the local area.

Plans were made at the most recent meeting of the Council for a Reading Aid Workshop which it is hoped will get underway before the end of May. The workshop will be a ten hour program to train volunteers as reading-aids who will teach adult non-readers, using the Laubach method.

It was stated at the meeting that anyone who is sixteen years of age or over, who enjoys reading and is willing to volunteer three to four hours a week of their time, can qualify to teach using the Laubach method. Hope was expressed that a number of volunteers would come forward as there is a real need to provide teaching in reading for adults who have not this skill.

The Council does not expect to wipe out illiteracy altogether, but with the assistance of interested volunteers there is hope it will be significantly decreased. Many people are unable to read for a number of reasons and are severely handicapped by this lack. For some it is a question of learning to read in English. Some of these people are to be found among those who have relatively recently come to Canada.

For the non-reader, horizons are severely limited. For instance, he or she cannot hope to enjoy the benefits that those who read often take for granted. They cannot fill out a job application or even read about the many opportunities that might be available to them. They cannot enjoy reading such great books as the Bible and for some even the telephone directory is a mystery.

It is these people the Fundy Literacy Council is attempting to help. The system being used is totally confidential. Only the tutor-student co-ordinator and the tutor know the identity of the person receiving instruction. Lessons are given in private as arranged by the student and the tutor and there is no charge for the program.

One of the first steps in developing a successful program is the securing of volunteer tutors and the Fundy Literacy Council is hopeful there will be a good response to their plea for volunteers. Those who are interested in volunteering in this most worthwhile program may call Beryl Henderson at 467-3375 or Jean Page at 245-4709. These same people may be contacted also by those who wish to enquire about learning to read.

At its most recent meeting the Digby-Annapolis Literacy Council adopted a change-of-name and became the Fundy Literacy Council. The change was made in order to accommodate the Valley Literacy Council. The newly named Fundy Literacy Council was formed some time ago as a response to concerns about the literacy level in the local area. Its services are provided to those who are totally unable to read as well as those whose reading skills are limited to the point of being a handicap.

Just For A Day

E.M.W.

The day was over at The Digby Courier. The staff left for home as usual on Wednesday April 13. One stopped to pick up a few items at the grocery store near by. "And they are changing the name of The Digby Courier" said the clerk. "That's a shame, she continued, it has been The Digby Courier for so long". And the customer wondered whether there was evidence of a head cold or if that was actually a genuine tear. The eyes, too, seemingly looked for signs of disappointment by the Courier staff member (especially that staff member) in having The Digby Courier name change to The Bugle. All was made right when the clerk was assured that the change was just for a day and she attentively listened to the tale of The Bugle.

C.B.C.-T.V., Toronto, is hopefully beginning a series in September entitled "Fit To Print". They needed a newspaper building and available printing equipment as a basis for the program. At Digby they received permission to use the Digby Courier and erect their fictitious "The Bugle" for shooting their pictures. By five o'clock the fictitious name came down but not before many citizens had passed by or had heard by way of telephone and otherwise that The Digby Courier changed its name.

Two things were learned by the newspaper; there are other means of communication besides newspapers and that The Digby Courier is a highly regarded newspaper which has carried a great deal of sentiment through its 104 years. Changing its name, seemingly, would not get much favorable response. Not even for a day?

The newly proposed CBC program "Fit To Print" is a pilot project as far as the photographing in Digby was concerned on Wednesday. If the Eastern Coast part of the project is successful "Fit To Print" will be continued by C.B.C.-T.V. as a weekly series. The story will be based on the old adage that every big city "slicker" wants the challenge of someday running a small country newspaper.

Producer of the program is Bill Lynn, known to many as producer of the Tommy Hunter show; the writers are Lynn and Jack Duffy; comedian of the Wayne and Shuster program; Jerry Wile, formerly of Bridgewater is cameraman; director is Norman Campbell who wrote the music for Anne of GreenGables; designer is Milton Parcher and Harris Verge, a former Nova Scotian, is the second location shooter director. Among the visitors in Digby to aid in the production were members of the Halifax C.B.C. crew. Casting, it is understood, has not yet been completed.

Mr. Verge found many scenic and inspiring locations to shoot pictures in the East Coast area, enroute to Digby and in the Digby vicinity.

With best wihses for a successful series all Digby awaits the September production.

Five-Thirty Fire

The Digby Volunteer Fire Department was called out on Tuesday at the early hour of five-thirty in the morning when an oil stove at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Darres on Maiden Lane flooded. Smoke damage was the most serious consequence of the flooding.

Artisan '77 At Lawrencetown

This year the people in the Valley are once again going to enjoy Artisan - the show comprising the best work of the members of the Annapolis County Arts and Crafts Association. This organization, the ACACA for short, is very active in the County now and comprises more than 140 members who have been working on their own and in workshops to produce many quality craft items. Their best work, of original or traditional design and completed since last year's show, will be on display at Artisan '77, to be held at the Nova Scotia Land Survey Institute at Lawrencetown during the July 1st long weekend.

In past years no provision has been made for the public to make any purchases. This year, however, there will be a sale in conjunction with the show. Plans are well under way and it looks like it will be an excellent display of what County craftsmen can do, so plan a trip to Lawrencetown on the July 1st weekend and see for yourself.

Staff Member Honoured

A surprise farewell party was held on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oisi Belliveau, Weymouth, in honour of Mrs. Carl Kinney, who has been employed with the Amirault's Riteway Co. Ltd., for the past 15 years.

The staff of Riteway and the staff from Simpson's Store were present to wish the best for Mrs. Kinney's future. Mr. Belliveau presented Mrs. Kinney with a dozen of carnations and Mrs. Belliveau presented her with a beautiful ring. A half dozen crystal glasses were presented to her from the staff. The evening ended with a lunch.

Digby Red Cross Receives Campaign Report

Digby Campaign Chairman, Lee Savage, was present at the monthly business meeting of the Red Cross Branch which was held at the Court House last week with the president, Harold Emerson, presiding. Mr. Savage reported that although final returns from the financial campaign were incomplete as yet, partly owing to bad weather and the prevalence of 'flu, the sum of $1212.68 had been collected to date. He was hopeful of a considerable amount still to come in, as several of the larger districts had not been covered as yet, and he urged any collectors who had not completed their areas to make their returns as soon as possible. It was also suggested that if anyone had been missed by a canvasser, their contribution would be gratefully received at the Canadian Bank of Commerce or by any Red Cross member.

The minutes of the March meeting were read by the Secretary, Mrs. Mary Robert, followed by the Treasurer's report presented by Mrs. J.J. Brittain.

The report of the Women's Work Committee was given by Mrs. Allan Harris and included the following finished articles forwarded to Halifax Headquarters: 76 Baby Blankets, 64 Towels, 6 Sweaters, 15 Afghans, and 2 Quilts. It was further reported that Mrs. Edith Hayden and Mrs. Ruth Daley were responsible for making the afghans, Mrs. Warren of Deep Brook for the sweaters and Mrs. Edna Stark for the blankets and towels.

Mrs. Alice Winfield reported for the Sickroom Loan Committee that 2 Walkers and one pair of Crutches were loaned during the past month, while one Walker and one Bed and Mattress had been returned during the same period. Mrs. Winfield also acknowledged with thanks the sum of $13 received in donations from the recipients of loans.

The report of the Ways and Means Committee, presented by Mrs. Allan Harris, showed receipts of $8.17 from the weekly TenCent Teas held in March.

The Secretary read correspondence which had been received from Headquarters regarding the Annual Meeting of the Nova Scotia Division, to be held this year in Truro, beginning on May 12th. After discussion, it was moved that Mr. Emerson represent the Branch as a delegate to the meeting. On motion, the date of the Digby Branch Annual was set for the fall season.

An invitation from the Regional Vice-President, Mrs. Darres, was extended to the Digby Branch members to attend a Red Cross meeting and tea to be held in Bear River next week when the Division Chairman of Women's Work, Mrs. Fleming, and the Director, Miss MacAdams, of Halifax will be guests of the Bear River Branch. The invitation was accepted with pleasure by several members for whom transportation will be arranged.

Following adjournment of the meeting, refreshments were served by the Ways and Means Committee.

Spring cleaning

The last of the accumulated snow has gone, and the flowers are starting to bud. It is also that time of year to get a fresh start on spring cleaning. It helps to give us a lift after the long winter months of closed doors and windows.

One of the most important things to remember when spring cleaning, and using household solutions, read the labels carefully. Some of these products can be very dangerous when mixed together.

The kitchen is an important place to start. Food shelves are a great environment for bugs so cupboards should be carefully cleaned. Packages of cereals, skim milk powder, etc. should be checked to see that they are tightly closed. Foods stored for long periods of time in open packages will not only lose flavor but in some cases become rancid. Whole wheat flour should be stored in a covered container to prevent rancidity.

If you discover bugs in your dry products, check all of them. These bugs can even be in unopened packages.

Although canned foods will keep for quite awhile, it is wise to rotate your supplies and try to use them within a year. Home canned fruits may lose color if stored any longer, particularly if they are exposed to light. Check jams and jellies to see if they are in good condition.

In our flurry of spring cleaning we sometimes neglect our freezer. Soon we find ourselves in a dilemma because we want to freeze the beautiful fresh rhubarb and - we find our freezer walls packed with ice.

Now is a great time to clean the freezer because most of the products have been used during the winter. Cleaning the freezer also has advantages because we find certain foods that we had completely forgotten about, and must use them up within the next few months. Since every food has a recommended storage time, it is important to use them up, to prevent deterioration of flavor, color and texture.

Any remaining food in the freezer should be removed from the freezer, wrapped in several thicknesses of newspaper and packed in heavy cartons. Wrap some old blankets around the cartons, to help insulate against thawing.

Excess frost may be removed from the walls of the freezer with a wooden or plastic paddle. Avoid using metal utensils, as this could cause damage to the walls. The loosened frost can be then scraped up and removed.

When all the ice has melted, or has been removed, the freezer should be wiped out with soapy water, rinsed and wiped dry.

Repack the freezer so the old stock is nearest to the top, so it will be used up first.

An inventory is a convenient way of keeping track of freezer stocks. Keep it taped to your freezer and a pencil nearby so each product can be checked off as it is removed, or new ones added.

Remember too, don't invest a lot of money in cleaning supplies when vinegar, household ammonia, and baking soda can serve the same purposes, only at a more economical choice.

REGULATIONS OF THE TRAFFIC AUTHORITY FOR THE TOWN OF DIGBY RESPECTING PARKING METERS

In pursuance of and by virtue of the power and authority vested in me under the Provisions of Section 137 of the Motor Vehicle Act, being Chapter 191, R.S.N.S., 1967 and Amendments thereto, I, as Traffic Authority for the Town of Digby, do hereby make the following regulations:

1. The highways in the Town of Digby and the parts thereof to which these Regulations apply are those in which, under my authority, parking meters have from time to time been installed.

2. Each parking meter installed in the Town of Digby shall be placed upon the curb or sidewalk immediately adjacent to the parking space to which it corresponds as designated by the lines or markings referred to in Section 3 hereof. The space between such lines or markings are hereinafter referred to as "parking space". Each parking meter so installed shall also be placed in such a manner as to show clearly by sign or device thereon that the corresponding parking space immediately adjacent thereto is in use either in accordance with, or in violation of these Regulations.

2A. Where twin meters are to be installed the same shall be placed upon the curb or sidewalk adjacent to the area or line or lines separating two parking spaces; an individual meter shall relate to the parking space within which or adjacent to which it is placed and a twin meter shall relate to the two parking spaces immediately adjacent to it, and all meters shall relate to their respective parking spaces in accordance with regulations made by the Traffic Authority in respect to parking meters.

3. A parking space shall be provided for each parking meter installed under the provisions of these Regulations. Each parking space so provided shall be designated by lines or markings placed or painted upon the curb or sidewalk and upon the highway immediately adjacent to each parking meter so installed. Where such lines or markings are placed upon the curb or sidewalk, the limits of each parking space shall be defined by the prolongation of such lines or markings at right angles towards the centre of the street until the centre line of the street is reached and when parking at an angle is indicated by the lines or markings aforesaid, the limits of each parking space shall be defined by the prolongation of such lines or markings at an acute angle towards the centre of the street until the centre line of the street is reached. It shall be an offence and a violation of these Regulations for any person to park or leave standing any vehicle in a parking space as hereinbefore described, without first having placed such vehicle entirely within the area designated by such lines or markings.

4. It shall be an offence and a violation of these Regulations for any person to park or leave standing any vehicle across any such line or marking.

5. Each parking meter installed shall indicate by appropriate directions thereon the parking time permitted as hereinafter provided in the individual parking space to which it corresponds. When in operation each parking meter shall indicate by the dial and pointer thereon and period of time during which parking is permitted in the corresponding parking space and shall, upon expiration of the period of time permitted for parking indicate that parking in such parking space is in violation of these Regulations.

6. It shall be an offence and a violation of Regulations for any person to park or leave standing any vehicle, whether attended or unattended, upon any highway in the Town of Digby or any part thereof where a parking meter has been installed and fail to comply with the directions set forth on such parking meter.

7. The parking or leaving standing of any vehicle in a parking space provided in compliance with these Regulations shall be restricted to the directions set forth on a metal plate mounted on the parking meter corresponding such parking space. Such directions shall be in force daily other than Fridays, between nine o'clock in the morning and six o'clock in the afternoon and on Fridays between nine o'clock in the morning and nine o'clock in the afternoon, excepting Sunday and Civic statutory or legal holidays. The time mentioned and referred to in these regulations shall be the time in general use in the Town.

8. The directions contained on the metal plate on each parking meter shall be in the following language or to like effect:

Deposit one nickel for one hour
Deposit one dime for two hours
Two hour time limit, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Friday: 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.; except Sundays and Holidays.

a 5c piece to be known as a nickel;
a 10c piece to be known as a dime.

10. It shall be an offence and violation of these Regulations for the driver of any commercial motor vehicle to park or leave the same standing in any parking space for any period of time in excess of thirty (30) minutes and fail to comply with the directions set forth on the metal plate on the corresponding parking meter.

11. It shall be an offence and a violation of these Regulations for the driver of any vehicle to permit the same to be parked or left standing in any parking space while he word "VIOLATION" is visible, on the red marker in the observation window of the corresponding parking meter.

13. The operation, maintenance, regulation and use of all parking meters installed in the Town of Digby shall be under the management, supervision and direction of the Traffic Authority of the Town of Digby.

14. All monies deposited in parking meters installed in the Town of Digby shall be collected by such person or persons as may from time to time be appointed by the Traffic Authority for the Town of Digby and all monies so collected shall be delivered to the Town Clerk by such person or persons with a record thereof within 24 hours immediately after each collection.

15. It shall be the duty of any police officer, constable or by-law enforcement officer, appointed by the Traffic Authority of the Town of Digby to inspect and examine all parking meters installed and all spaces in the Town of Digby and to report all violations of these Regulations.

16A. It shall be the duty of the Police Officers, Constables or by-law Enforcement Officers, assigned to the enforcement of these Regulations to attach to each vehicle parking in violation of these Regulations a serially numbered Notice to the owner or operator thereof that such a vehicle has been parked in violation of any of the provisions of these regulations and instructing such owner or operator to report to the office of the Town Clerk of the Town of Digby in regard to such violation.

16B It shall be the duty of a police officer, constable or by-law enforcement officer to furnish to the Town Clerk of the Town of Digby a duplicate of each serially numbered notice of violation as attached to any vehicle.

17. Each such owner or operator may, within 24 hours of the time when such notice is attached to such vehicle (exclusive of Sundays or Public Holidays) pay to the Town Clerk of the Town of Digby, or other designated official on duty at his office who is authorized to accept such payment and furnish an official receipt therefor, the sum of Three ($3.00) Dollars as a penalty for and in full satisfaction for such violation. Upon failure of such owner or operator to make the foregoing payment within the siad 24 hours (exclusive of Sundays and Public Holidays) the said owner or operator shall become liable for prosecution as provided for by these Regulations.

18. Notwithstanding anything contained in these regulations no person shall park or leave standing a vehicle of any kind in any parking space as aforesaid for a period longer than two hours. Any person parking or leaving standing a vehicle in such parking space for a period of time in excess of two hours shall be guilty of an offence and a violation of these Regulations.

19. Any person guilty of any offence in violation of these Regulations shall be liable to the penalty provided therefor by Subsection 6 of Section 137 of the Motor Vehicle Act. Provided, however, that these Regulations shall not apply to any motor vehicle operated by a resident practising Medical Doctor.

MacLear

SCHLOCK IT TO 'EM

From Hollywood, the centre of the film and television industry, "Maclear", telecasting Thursday, April 28, 10:30 - 11:00 p.m. on ATV reports on the increasing cultural mindlessness of an industry where mediocrity abounds with violence, sadistic sex and exploitation films which seem to reflect the general malaise of North America.

This is the new pollution swamping our continent, a mental smog that is culturally asphyxiating us all. "It is the movie and television pap for which, " says Maclear, "they've even coined a new word - shlock. And L.A. schlocks it to the rest of us."

The public appetite for movies and movie legends has never been keener, with box office receipts in the U.S. alone a record two billion dollars. This from promoting movies with savage stars and perverted dreams some even made from the leftover film of other schlock.

The program also takes a pointed look at television where soap operas and sit-coms are getting more bed-ridden and doom-filled. Network television grosses four billion dollars a year and Maclear offers that the word is appropriate- gross.

"Arguably," comments Maclear," the product we accept shapes us. Certainly the cheapening of values enriches Hollywood."

Talent is out and commercialism is in. President of New World Pictures, Roger Corman makes 50 million dollars a year from his films and is called the 'King of Schlock'. He argues that "... the commercial element will get people into the theatre."

"One concludes," says Maclear, "that Hollywood's absurdity is our own, our acceptance of its inanities. Hollywood, at least for now, reflects the general maalaise and reinforces it - a kind of deadening escapism. Hollywood, no longer a repository of dreams, is just an emptiness of mind."

"Maclear", with Correspondent Michael Maclear, is produced by Don McQueen for CTV's News, Features and Information Programming Department.

1977 Car Check Campaign

"What you can't see can hurt you" says the Canada Safety Council, and points to one example: exhaust systems.

Mufflers and pipes are all tucked away under the vehicle, and are difficult to inspect properly without a hoist. Yet, although you can't see it, it can leak deadly carbon monoxide fumes that can kill.

There are other parts of a vehicle that can 'hurt' in other ways.

The average driver doesn't know much about a steering system, or where to seek potential faults; neither do many know much about braking systems. Either of these can have hidden faults that can lead to an accident.

In Canada, about 50,000 accidents a year, several hundred deaths and thousands of injuries result from mechanical failures.

Drivers can easily inspect things like wiper blades, lights, horn, and oil levels. Steering, brakes, and similar more complex and more hidden features require an expert.

Most drivers cover more miles, and drive at higher speeds in Summer than in Winter. Consequently, it is especially important to ensure a vehicle is properly maintained before it gets this increased usage.

The premiers of the Atlantic Provinces will meet for a CBC television taping in Charlottetown on Monday, May 2nd, to discuss the region's needs and goals within Confederation.

Frank Moores of Newfoundland, Gerald Regan of Nova Scotia, and Richard Hatfield of New Brunswick will join Alex Campbell in Prince Edward Island as the result of an invitation by the Maritime and Newfoundland regions of the CBC. They will appear in the first program of a five-part series entitled "Confederation: To Have and Have Not", to be aired on Wednesday, May 18 at 8:00 p.m. in the Maritime provinces, 8:30 in Newfoundland. The May 2nd discussion will be held in the same chamber where, 110 years ago, the Fathers of Confederation met to hammer out their agreements.

This CBC series will be based on the premise that, no matter what the future of Quebec and Canada, there is a pressing need for the Atlantic region to take stock of itself and its own needs. The four Atlantic premiers have all said that they want Confederation, their discussion then will center on Atlantic Canada's nature and how it has to understand itself before it deals with the rest of Canada "Know thyself", then see where it leads you.

Prime Minister Trudeau has said that accommodations can and will be made within Confederation. The five programs will deal with Atlantic Canada's choices and the definition of the priorities within those 'accommodations'. Energy, transportation, and financial arrangements form the basis of three half-hour programs to be aired at 8:00 p.m. in the Maritimes and 8:30 in Newfoundland, on successive Wednesdays from May 25th to June 8th.

On Wednesday, June 15th, the concluding hour will tap reaction to Atlantic Canada's position, reaction from those outside the region.

This series is truly a Maritimes-Newfoundland co-production. The two interviewers are Linden MacIntyre of CBC Halifax's "Here Today" and Rex Murphy of "Here and Now" in St. John's. The series producer is Paul Kells, Area Producer (Current Affairs) in Halifax. Two of the five programs will be video-taped in St. John's Newfoundland, one in Moncton, New Brunswick, and both Nova Scotian and P.E.I. personnel will be involved in the Charlottetown production.

My Side Of The Mountain

"My Side Of The Mountain", Saturday, April 23, 9:00 p.m. on CTV's "Academy Performance", relates the story of Sam Gribley, (Ted Eccles), a sensitive and nature-loving 13 year-old boy who set out from his Toronto home for the scenic wilderness of the Quebec range of the Appalachian Mountains to "live deliberately ... and see if he could not learn what it had to teach." Theodore Bikel also stars.

This touching film study of a boy's awakening to the character of nature and the responsibilities of approaching manhood makes first-rate familyfare. It is a film that takes all the beauty of the wild outdoors and uses it to stimulate the minds of all who see it.

The book of the same name on which the film is based has been awarded the Hans Christian Andersen International Award.

In "My Side of the Mountain", young Sam leaves home with only a flashlight, steel, flint, tinder, map, microscope, telescope, notebook, diary and Gus, his pet racoon. He leaves a note for his parents, explaining that he will be gone for a year, living off the land and conducting experiments with algae.

Once in the wilderness, Sam discovers the wealth of food sources nature has to offer. He builds a house for himself inside a burnt-out tree hollow and there he lives. His daily life is a never-ending series of adventures that teach him how to survive and make do with what he has. He even manages to train a falcon to hunt for him. When winter sets in, so do Sam's problems. On Christmas day his deerskin door freezes shut, trapping him inside the tree. But Bando (Theodore Bikel), an itinerant folksinger whom Sam has befriended, arrives and saves the day. He also shows Sam some newspaper clippings telling of the extent to which Sam's parents have gone in searching for their adventurous son. At this point Sam decides to return home, having accomplished almost all of what he set out to do.

"My Side Of The Mountain" is a Robert B. Radnitz Productions Ltd. feature film.

Digby Band Starts Summer Program

The Satin Serenade, formerly known as the Digby Stage Band, under the direction of Donald Scott, begins its summer appointments on Saturday evening at St. Anne's College, Church Point. On the following Saturday, April 30 the "Satin Serenade" will play at The Spring Ball at The Pines Resort Hotel Recreation Centre. Following these the band moves to Middleton on May 7 to play for the Hospital Ball and on May 21 they will be in Cambridge.

The Satin Serenade, an eight piece band of all local talent was organized in Digby two years ago and it was soon found their musical talent was much sought after. This required equipment such as P.A. system so the band held several occasions, which benefited their own cause.

The Spring Ball at the Pines on Saturday will start at nine o'clock p.m. and close at one o'clock a.m. Dress is semiformal.

Regulation Of The Offshore Lobster Fishery In 1977

The offshore lobster fishery concentrated in southwest Nova Scotia and created in 1971 as a direct result of the swordfish fishery losing its markets due to the change in permissible mercury content regulations, will be regulated in 1977, Fisheries Minister Romeo LeBlanc announced today.

Mr. LeBlanc stated that, as well as continuing the limitation on the number of licences, the offshore lobster fishery will be placed under a yearly quota of 1.2 million pounds, with "per vessel" allocations to be made. To complement this management measure, a trap limit of 1000 traps per vessel will be implemented and all traps and buoys will be required to be clearly identified. As well, a nine-month fishing season will be established, with the closed period being either July 15 to October 15 or December 1 to March 1, at the option of the licence holder.

The Minister stated that there is no conclusive evidence that depleted landings in the inshore fishery are caused by the prosecution of the offshore fishery, and therefore, to ban the offshore fishery would be unwarranted.

"However, I am extremely concerned with the depletion of the inshore catch", said Mr. LeBlanc, "and until this urgent issue is resolved by our officials, which I have asked that they address on a priority basis, wise management demands that these measures are implemented."

Mr LeBlanc emphasized that these measures are interim only, and therefore, they will be subject to continuing review. The Minister further stated that regulations implementing these measures will be rigidly enforced.

Get $50,000 Grant

A grant of $50,000 for the formation of the Nova Scotia Fishermen's Association has been made by Hon. Dan Reid, M.D., Minister of Fisheries. The cheque was presented this week to John Coulton, executive director of the association.

"The grant is made with the stipulation that it be used by this democratically organized group of fishermen to promote a province-wide organization," Dr. Reid said.

"I feel that the association can organize fishermen to present collectively a more united front in the face of problems and common concerns. They can be helped to take advantage of programs that will benefit themselves and their families."

Mr. Coulton said the association would be open to membership by commercial fishermen only.

"We are working now to bring all Nova Scotian fishermen in as members," he said.

The N.S.F.A. has its office headquarters in the courthouse in Barrington. However, Mr. Coulton has been travelling throughout the province to build membership and collect information on fishermen's problems.

"He brings considerable personal knowledge of the fishery," Dr. Reid said. "A former fisherman himself, he has served for a few years as a Fisheries Representative with the Department of Fisheries."

Our problem already worked on by the association is the Canadian-U.S. negotiations on the international boundary on Georges Bank. That's the site of a major scallop fishery which was Nova Scotia's largest dollar volume catch last year.

"However, there are many more areas in which we will be involved," Mr. Coulton said.

Launches Fitness Program

"Participaction Nova Scotia" became a reality as provincial Recreation Minister A Garnet Brown launched the fitness program at a meeting of community volunteers from all areas of the province at the Lord Nelson Hotel.

"The Government of Nova Scotia, through the interdepartmental committee on fitness has acquired the expertise and assistance of the national agency for fitness -- PARTICIPACTION-- to help in the development and promotion of our province-wide fitness program," Mr. Brown said.

The minister said that "Participaction Nova Scotia" will be initiated on a regional basis, with each region taking a specific approach best suited to their particular needs and conditions, and with programs adopted in line with what people in the various regions across the province would like to see developed.

The program will rely heavily on volunteers on the community level with support and assistance on the provincial level and coordinated through the PARTICIPACTION fitness agency.

Mr. Brown made it clear that he would be relying heavily on citizen input in formulating the province-wide fitness and health program.

"I have said from the outset that in order for a fitness thrust to succeed, the leadership, versatility and suggestions of the private sectors be thoroughly considered," Mr. Brown said.

The minister indicated that since he made an appeal to the public for ideas on how to accomplish fitness for Nova Scotians of all ages, he had received very encouraging results.

"I asked for suggestions from Nova Scotians on how they would lik to see a fitness program developed and received 150 submissions on the subject," he said.

Much of the minister's concern about the state of fitness of Nova Scotians has resulted from studies which showed that Nova Scotia has the highest incidence of heart disease in Canada.

"Unless we change our lifestyles, we won't be able to foot the bill for what heart and other related diseases are costing us," Mr. Brown said.

"By following a few simple health rules, which includes keeping physically fit, we can reduce the risk of heart attack and stroke."

Rail Hearings In May

South West Nova Member of Parliament, Coline Campbell, has indicated that the Rail Transport Committee of the Canadian Transport Commission is to hold hearings in May on the need to maintain the Dominion Atlantic Railway passenger service between Halifax and Yarmouth.

Although an application by the DAR to discontinue this passenger service was rejected by the CTC, follow up hearings to investigate the need of maintaining this passenger service are normally held if the line in question is federally subsidized. The DAR have indicated to the CTC that the Halifax to Yarmouth passenger service lost a total of $790,900 in 1975.

According to Campbell, this hearing will, in addition, investigate a number of other CP passenger trains in the Maritimes including the Saint John to Montreal run.

Campbell has requested that the "people of the area should seriously look at whether or not they need this service." It is Campbell's position that "if there is a need for this service to remain then it should be maintained."

"If the people of the area do not want this passenger service maintained then perhaps the funds used to subsidize its operation could be better utilized in another program," said Campbell.

Request Using Old Hospital For Extended Care Services

The Council of the Municipality of the District of Digby on Monday morning in regular session voted to write to the Digby General Hospital Board requesting that the Board consider possibilities of using the old Digby General Hospital for extended care services for the aged and infirm.

Warden and councillors were all in agreement that extended care services in Digby were an absolute necessity but all were not in accord about the old hospital being the ideal solution. Some councillors felt that an extension of Tideview Terrace would be more economical than renovations, installation of an elevator if needed or other necessary structuring at the old hospital.

Councillor Helen MacNeil advised Council that a survey had been made in 1974 and the old hospital found structurally sound. Eventually, council agreed that factual costs should be obtained before any decision is made.

Nature of agreements with M.S.I. and other related facts were suggested by members of Council to be looked into before any decisions are reached.

David Irvin, Smith's Cove, and Lance Woolaver, Digby, appeared before the Council of the Municipality of the District of Digby requesting a grant of $950 towards the Digby Town Tourist Information Bureau which is expected to be operated by the Digby and Area Board of Trade in the summer of 1977. Both Mr. Irvin and Mr. Woolaver related benefits to be derived by the town and Municipality from the operation of the bureau. It was noted by the visitors that the provincial and town bureaus in close proximity did not cause an overlapping problem. The motion to contribute $950 to the project carried by 5-3.

A motion passed gave permission to the Digby Regional High School Board to use up to $10,000 for capital expenditures in areas where needed.

Settle Speaker On Farmland Taxation Exemption

Lester Settle, secretary manager of the Nova Scotia Federation of Agriculture, Truro, will be guest speaker at the semi annual meeting of the Digby County Federation of Agriculture to be held at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall, Weymouth, on Monday, May 2 at 7:30 p.m. Mr. Settle's theme will be Zero Taxation On Farmland. He will have complete details, it is understood, of the bill recently passed through the Nova Scotia legislature which exempts Nova Scotia farmland from taxation starting in 1978.

The farmland taxation has been an issue in the minds of farmers for some time and the Digby County Federation of Agriculture and the Nova Scotia Federation of Agriculture have done a great deal of work on the subject. Mr. Settle will be available on Monday evening for questions and conversation.

Mrs. Carmen Inglis of Tupperville, member at large of the Nova Scotia Beautification Program will also be present to speak on Rural Beautification, Bruce Gilliatt, Digby County Agricultural Representative will discuss the 1977 Department of Agriculture and Marketing policies. The president of the Digby County Federation of Agriculture, Malcolm Justason, Bear River, invites the public to attend the meeting.

Doors are open for registration at 7:15, business 7:30 p.m. and the main program 7:50 p.m. Membership to the Digby County Federation of Agriculture for 1977 will be available.

New Hydro Committee And Board Members Appointed

Councillor Reubin Mervin and Councillor Walter MacAlpine were on Monday morning, appointed to the Hydro Committee of the Municipality of the District of Digby when the Council sat in regular session. Councillor Lloyd Grant was appointed the municipality's representative on the Digby County Power Board.

The appointments were made following the resignations from the Hydro Committee by Councillors L. E. R. Winchester and Richard Daley. Both resignations referred to having come to the conclusion of their effectiveness on the committee but Councillor Winchester offered to remain as representative on the Digby County Power Board if the Council wished. A motion to not accept Winchester's resignation from the Hydro Committee was defeated and the motion to accept Councillor Daley's resignation passed. The warden, Wilfred Swift, and several councillors spoke highly of the services of the two men.

It was moved also and passed that the representative of the municipality on the D.C.P.B. should be a member of council. The motion passed in favor of Councillor Grant.

Letters were read at Council from Joe Casey M.L.A. and the Department of Environment, each referring to a proposition whereby the Department would share in costs to clean up old car lots. The municipality could appoint an administrator for municipal program and pay $4.00 per car for a total collection subsidy of $20 on the program can be administered entirely internally. Each vehicle crushed or removed is subsidized by $16. Many councillors felt that the program was good even if it did not break even financially. By motion Council decided to meet with the Department of Environment with the intention of embarking on th program.

It was moved and passed that the Weymouth Ballfield be exempt from taxes.

Takes Up Church Position In Viriginia

Mrs. Doris Brown, a resident of Digby for the past ten years, and her two daughters, Jeanie, age 11 and Nancy, age 8, will leave on June 1st to reside in Front Royal, Virginia, U.S.A. where Mrs. Brown will be an Associate in Christian Education at the Royal Village Church of God. Her duties will be Christian education in music and church office work.

Front Royal is a town of population 10,000 situated in the Shenandoak Valley.

Mrs. Brown, widow of Rev. Raymond Brown who died in 1974 while pastor of the Digby Lighthouse Church of God, was born in Winfield, Kansas. Her older two children who are well known in Digby musical circles are Dennis and Laura. Dennis is married and resides at Rockford, Illinois area where he is employed and where he and his wife have a music studio. Laura has completed her second year at Oregon Bible College, Oregon, Michigan and intends next year to be in Ohio where she will major in education for the handicapped and retarded.

During the pastorate of the late Rev. Mr. Brown and Mrs. Brown in Digby the Lighthouse Church of God was completed and the parsonage completely renovated after its removal from the Shore Road. Mrs. Brown, herself, entered into all phases of church work while in Digby, she taught a music class and was for some time employed at The Digby Courier. Mrs. Brown regrets leaving Digby and the friends she made during the years. She expressed much enjoyment through the years and says she will also miss the water.

Mr. Hubley Retires

In July 1945 he was transferred to Head Office, where he worked in the Accounting Department as Internal Auditor and Senior Clerk until July 1956 when he was promoted to Office Manager. He was appointed Manager-Office Services ar 1 Employment in 1967. A position he held in the Employee Relations Department until his retirement.

Lawrence and his wife, Bertha, who have a married son, Norman, are the proud grandparents of three granddaughters. After a long, well-earned holiday in Florida, Lawrence and Bertha have returned to their home in Toronto.

In this position he will assist management in the many details involved in the relocation of Head Office, which is now under consideration.

During his long career with the Company, Lawrence spent many of those years handling matters closely associated with building management. Digby County Office Moves In Weymouth

The Digby County Agricultural Office of the Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture and Marketing, moved to new and expanded office facilities on April 18th, 1977, in the village of Weymouth. The new office is located directly across the street from the former location in Weymouth. The red brick building is 30' x 40' with the new office being located on the first floor with a basement area available. The building has been completely redecorated inside with its walls sporting a bright green color with walnut stained woodwork, tile floors and modern flourescent lighting. New equipment has been purchased for the building which contains slightly over 800 sq. ft. of office area on the first floor.

The office will contain a private office for the Agricultural Representative, Bruce Gilliatt, and an enclosed area for the secretarial staff will: an additional office in the basement, plus large storage areas throughout the building.

Mr. Gilliatt said that the office facilities will be much more accessible to the general public as well as the farming community as they are located on the ground floor.

With the expansion of agriculture in Digby County over the past three years additional space has been necessary in order to continue with the type of systematic package programs being offered Digby County farmers and the general public.

The Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture and Marketing office in Digby County has become "service orientated" and has offered all services related to agriculture. This includes Farm Loan counselling, Farm Management, Information, Department of Environment guidance, Provincial Tax Commission problem solving and the administration of thirty-seven policies provided Nova Scotia farmers by the Nova Scotia Government.

A complete line of educational courses have been offered in this county in co-operation of the Digby County Federation of Agriculture, Digby County Soil and Crop Improvement Association, Digby District Livestock Health Services Board and the Saint Mary's Marshland Body.

Many projects varying from very large to very small have been undertaken by this office and the Digby County farmers jointly over the past few years.

Mr. Gilliatt also made special mention of the complete line of information and literature for the general public at large, such as a complete laboratory service available through this office, water testing soil analysis, hay and feed analysis, seed germination, plant and in-

Four Electric Units Proposed Rate Increases

Mayor Stuart MacNaughton, superintendent of the Digby County Power Board; C.Willis Mullen, clerk and treasurer of Weymouth Village and William Melanson, manager of Clare's power utility were in Halifax on Monday and appeared before the Board of Commissioners of Public Utilities requesting an increase in electric power rates.

The Digby County Power Board application requested a 110 per cent increase in base charges and a 15 per cent increase in energy charges to its wholesale consumers which include the four other distributing utilities in the county.

In presenting the application, power board superintendent Stewart MacNaughton said the actual base charge increase from the NSPC was 126.2 per cent. The power corporation now determines the base charge using the power board's peak demand load rather than the average maximum demand.

The power board rate increases were reflected in applications for rate increases by the four other municipal utilities in Digby County.

The municipal district of Digby's electrical distribution system requested sizeable base charge increases and a 0.38 cents per kilowatt hour increase in energy charges.

The town of Digby Electric Light utility asked for similar base charge increases and a 0.33 cents per kilowatt hour increase in energy charges.

Mr. MacNaughton told the hearing many Digby County residents feel the power corporation should be generating more hydro power from the nearby Sissiboo River. With power costs rising so quickly, this local source of energy should be developed to its potential, he said.

A 35 per cent across-the-board increase in rates for customers in the district of Clare was proposed by Mr. Melanson. C. Willis Mullin, clerk and treasurer of the Weymouth Village commission, presented an application seeking a 110 per cent increase in base charges and energy charge increases ranging from nine to 14 per cent. He said the average domestic power customer's bill would increase approximately 20 per cent if the new rates are approved.

The four Digby County utilities requested that the proposed rates be effective March 2, 1977.

PUB chairman W.D. Outhit said the board will inform the utilities of its decisions shortly.

Other areas represented at the hearings were Berwick and Kentville. New rates are being sought to offset the increased cost of electrical power purchased from the Nova Scotia Power Corporation in the vicinity of 47 per cent.

Vandals Continue In Digby

The weekend added to Digby's high rate of vandalism when, at least, three businesses were entered, small amounts of money taken, equipment stolen and damage to buildings done. O'Neil Fisheries Ltd; Wallis Print Ltd. and Cameron's Florists were victims of vandalism attacks over the weekend, it is understood.

At Wallis Print Ltd. (The Digby Courier) two offices were ransacked leaving filing cabinets and desks damaged. A pocket calculator, a cash box and a small amount of money was taken.

Entrance into the Wallis Print Ltd. was made between 2 o'clock Sunday morning when the RCMP made a check and Sunday afternoon when the entry was discovered.

Less than two weeks ago an office window was smashed at the same business with a total of six windows smashed in recent months. The front door was smashed twice and a forced entry made another time through the side of the building damaging electric wiring, panelling and walls. Outdoor lights renewed to protect the property had broken bulbs after being used one night.

The MacNeil break over the weekend brought broken windows and doors, pop machine molested and about fifty dollars in cash taken.

The expense of repair work, the waste of time and the anxiety caused by the vandalism in the small town of Digby is causing concern to the businesses victimized. It is felt that the vandalism is not that of an organized gang but that of misguided persons who have little to do. The question being seriously asked by the business persons who are feeling the weight of the vandalism is whether the vandals are receiving punishment suitable to the crime. Police, too, become disheartened when putting in a lot of time and effort in preparation of a case only to have little or no conviction.

Know Your Fireman

Robert Martin MacNutt has been with the Digby Fire Department for a year and a half and has been secretary of the organization in the past.

Born in Digby, Mr. MacNutt received his high school education here and then attended St. Mary's University in Halifax for four years. He recalls his school days when he played on the Digby Fire Department baseball team. He is presently a bar tender.

Robert is involved in many community activities besides the Digby Fire Department. He is presently a member of the Digby Town Council; chairman of the Digby Board of School Commissioners; secretary the Digby Recreation Commission; chairman of the Social Service Committee for the town and the town's representative on the Digby-Annapolis Mental Health Board.

Mr. MacNutt married the former Penny Hill of Smith's Cove. They have one son, age five years.

With the MacNutt artistic ability, Robert designed the background for the picture above and which has been used for each fireman's picture in The Digby Courier.

Coulton Addresses Islands' Inshore Fishermen

On April 19th at Tiverton, John Coulton, Executive Director of the Nova Scotia Fishermen's Association spoke to the members of the Islands' Inshore Fishermen's Association. Mr. Coulton expressed the desire to have all Nova Scotia Fishermen represented on his Association. He further explained that they would not attempt to accomplish this by forcing abandonment of the smaller associations, but by encouraging these associations to affiliate and work together with the Nova Scotia Fishermen's Association. Any commercial fisherman can become a member of the Nova Scotia Fishermen's Association and if enough inshore fishermen join then this will guarantee that the association will not be controlled by the companies and large draggers. Each area will elect directors to this association who will control the association's policies.

Mr. Coulton discussed union vs association and asked that the Islands' Inshore Fishermen's Association make a statement to the press concerning it's connection with the union aimed Northumberland Fishermen's Association, who claim to have Island Inshore support. The Islands' Inshore Fishermen's Association is at present an independant association affiliated with neither group. A decision and official statement as to the future support of the association will come from the next meeting of the Islands' Inshore Fishermen's Association to be held in mid-May. A few of the fishermen present paid membership to the Nova Scotia Fishermen's Association after the meeting.

At this meeting Mr.

CHILD SAFETY WEEK AND BICYCLES

The popularity of bicycles is growing in leaps and bounds and the Nova Scotia Safety Council is taking the opportunity, during Child Safety Week, May 1 to 7, to point out a few facts and rules.

In 1975 six Nova Scotians were killed while cycling, five of these were children under 15 years of age. One hundred and three children were injured, many seriously.

Bicycles are subject to the same laws as automobiles when in the traffic mix. Children (and adults) must be taught to stop at red lights and stop signs, give turn single file on the right side of the road with the current of the traffic. Four out of five bicycle accidents occur in a traffic environment.

Bikes should be kept in good repair in accordance with the manufacturer's maintenance instruction. The bike should match the size of the rider (the seat should be no higher than the hip). When the seat is in proper adjustment make sure that at least two inches of the seat post remain in the frame mast, for rigidity. Coaster brakes are safer for small children. When they are older their hands will be large enough for caliper brakes.

When cycling at night the bike must be equipped with a headlight and a reflector. The use of retro-reflective walled tires, taping and clothing is highly recommended.

The Nova Scotia Safety Council also, being aware of children's leaning towards excitement, are asking parents to watch that children do not use such paths as through construction sites, troublesome intersections and blind alleys. Parents should select the safe route for the child.

First, says the Nova Scotia Safety Council, parents should determine the safer side of the streets, avoiding the hazards then draw a map of the route. Explain to children why that route was chosen and why they must stay on it. Children will obey more readily if a reason is given. Teach children the pedestrian safety basics. Tell them to cross roads only at crosswalks or where there are school crossing patrols or guards. Explain the authority of these people. Help them to learn the meaning of red, yellow and green traffic lights and the messages of street signs. Parents, too must obey safety rules.

GRIM MENTAL HEALTH PREDICTION FOR CHILDREN BORN THIS YEAR

One in every six children born this year will require psychiatric care for mental illness at some time in their lives. This grim prediction is posed on studies by the Canadian Mental Health Association. And one in three will become temporarily disabled at some time because of emotional problems.

In a recent 10 year period, says the Association, admissions to psychiatric hospitals and mental health clinics increased by 111 per cent.

This year, it is expected that more than 50,000 Canadians will enter hospital for psychiatric care for the first time. A further 50,000 will return to hospital for further treatment. And more than 250,000 people will be treated for mental and emotional disorders in clinics and outpatient departments.

"Great strides are being made in the fight against mental illness," says an Association representative. "But still too few people realize the enormity of the problem. At least one million children and teenagers in Canada have emotional or learning disorders requiring professional help. And suicide is now the second most frequent cause of death among young Canadians between the ages of 15 and 30.

During Mental Health Week, May 1 to 7 this year, the Association is seeking both funds and volunteer helpers to continue its fight against mental illness.

"People of all ages can contribute time and money to help in the fight," says the Association. "There's an awful lot that needs to be done. And volunteer workers find an awful lot of satisfaction in doing it."

"WE ARE INVOLVED"

Due to the advanced age in which we live, with our modern technology we find ourselves involved in many world problems. We find it necessary to depend on each other in order to survive. Whether it be a gas shortage in the United States or the need for food and medical aid in Bangladesh we become involved. It could be a local mine disaster with the thunder of falling rock, the screech of twisting rails, the rumble of moving earth, somehow we become involved.

In response to major and local tragedies the Canadian people, because of their concern, share both materially and financially. But listen, tragedy hits individuals every day- often not the kind that makes for headlines but it's happening and will happen again. We must be prepared. The Salvation Army, an organization that serves in some eighty-four countries, is ready to deal with almost any crisis. However, they need your help. We should all be involved. Give to the Red Shield Campaign currently in progress.

Campaign director is Lieutenant David Howlett; treasurer, Lee Savage of the Imperial Bank of Commerce, Digby; business chairman, Ernest Tufts; County chairman, C.C.Levy and publicity, Edith Wallis. A window display is being arranged at the Penny Pincher Shop.

Letter To The Editor

Opinions expressed in the Letter to the Editor column in this newspaper are not necessarily those of the editor.

The Editor:

With the springtime weather gradually stirring the environment around us, a feeling of freedom comes to those of us who look to the green fairways of the golf course for a summer of friendly competition, fellowship and wholesome recreation. To realize the fullness of these delights, one thinks of the hours put in by the people who groom the fairways, greens and, ever work to enhance the beauty of the landscape. Taking a deeper interest, one learns about the management, about the rules of play, of conduct and true sportsmanship. It is here that the meaning of and, the need for a sincere interest in the Club becomes evident, so that everything possible can be done to ensure the maximum pleasure for everyone. As in the past, all Members of the Club with their Executive, are approaching the golf year 1977, with enthusiasm and optimism.

Several meetings have been held to date, appointing a new slate of officers, reviewing the terms of the constitution, naming heads of various Club functions, etc.

Appointments read as follows: President, Ted Miller; First Vice President, Pat Comeau; Second Vice President, Rick Olsen; Secretary, Jack Brittain; Treasurer, Pat Fletcher; Tournament Captain, Bill Olsen; Tournament Vice Captain, Rick Olsen; Entertainment Committee, Charlie Walker, Wendy Moore; Club Tournament Chairman for June 3-4-5th, Two Ball Best Ball Tournament, Ron Vantassel; Publicity Chairman, Pat Comeau.

Clayton Snow is Zone Representative to the N.S.G.A., on Rules Rating and Handicap.

Of general interest, the matter of definition of the three Membership Age limits, has been made and adopted and read as follows:

Members who have not attained the age of nineteen (19) years prior to April 20th. of the golf year, rank Junior.

Members who have attained the age of nineteen (19) years prior to April 20th. of the golf year, rank Intermediate. Members having attained the age of twenty-one (21) years prior to April 20th of the golf year, rank Senior.

At a meeting of the Executive held recently, appreciation was expressed to those Members who volunteered their services to help make the Digby Golf Club an Organization continuing the efforts to foster sportsmanship, competition and fellowship. Looking at the game of golf as I do, humbly, I thank whatever source of inducement I have, to try and stay with the demanding art of playing well. It is a challenge. It is wholesome and rewarding.

Dear Editor:

The residents of the geographical area of Digby could possibly have an opportunity to secure a relatively stable priced, supply of hydro generated power from the Sissiboo system located in our immediate boundries.

This energy is capable of meeting the present demands of the people of our area, as well as creating opportunities for small industrial business to locate within our boundaries, thereby providing much needed employment for our area residents.

We presently do not have control of the Sissiboo system as after a public meeting of the rate payers of the Town of Digby, the Digby Town Council, the Municipality of Digby, Clare and Weymouth, it was agreed to authorize the Digby County Power Board in 1958 to sell to the Nova Scotia Power Corporation all the hydro electric generating facilities, including all machinery, substations, buildings, structures, lands and rights for the amount of $250,000.00.

It was agreed at that time that the Digby County Power Board would purchase its future requirements of power and energy from the Nova Scotia Power Corporation, from its generating station at Weymouth falls during the term of the agreement, which was for 20 years. This agreement has now been ruled nil and void as a result of a Board of Commissioners of Public Utilities ruling.

The original demand charge which was to remain in effect for 5 years was $1.50 per month per KVA of maximum demand and an energy charge of $0.005 per KWH and this rate would be reviewed every five years from that time. The rates are now $3.28 per KVA, $2.04 per KWH and a 1 3/4 per cent increase for a greater demand over the maximum.

The original agreement goes on in much detail but basically the Nova Scotia Power Corporation was to deliver energy on a 24 hour basis and to exercise all due skill and diligence so as to assure satisfactory and economical operation of the plant, lines and apparatus of the Nova Scotia Power Corporation for the performance of the agreement with the purchaser.

It is difficult to obtain facts and figures from the Nova Scotia Power Corporation on how long or for what periods power is generated, but it is the understanding of the writer that the Sissiboo System does not generate at full capabilities. It is also understood that our uses are supplied, at times, from generating plants elsewhere.

The Sissiboo is currently capable of generating 24 KW's.

The County of Digby's requirements are 19 KVA's, which is sufficient for our current needs and which is substantial for future expansion.

The Nova Scotia Power Corporation has done little to upgrade this system, water has been allowed to run off without producing electricity.

Can we regain control of this system? I don't know, but we have a great deal to gain by trying, and ever increasing power costs, by not trying.

Some Nova Scotia peoples are noted for accomplishing great things for their communities by banding together and fighting for a cause, if we were to take their example, who knows what we could accomplish.

We have a M.L.A., Board of Trade, Town and Municipal Councils, etc., to whom we should make aware our feelings. Don't expect the other fellow to write. Lets forget our differences, band together in a common cause and make our feelings known.

Dear Editor:

I am trying to complete a family history which will include the CAMPBELL, RUGGLES, and RIGBY families, and it is my understanding that the Campbell and Ruggles families lived in Shelbourne and Weymouth.

I would like to get in touch with descendants of the family of DR. HENRY DWIGHT RUGGLES and his wife, SARAH ANN CAMPBELL, DAUGHTER OF SAMUEL CAMPBELL, JR., son of COL. SAMUEL CAMPBELL, the Loyalist from North Carolina.

Dr. Henry Dwight Ruggles and Sarah Ann Campbell were married Nov. 30, 1833, and had 14 children. She died at Weymouth Nov. 23, 1895, at age 80, leaving 10 children and 30 grandchildren.

Dr. Henry Dwight Ruggles was the 2nd son of Simeon Dwight Ruggles who was a grandson of the famous General Timothy Ruggles, the Loyalist. He practiced in Weymouth for many years.

Will you be so kind as to publish this letter in your newspapers? Perhaps in this way someone will assist me in contacting descendants of the above family. I will indeed be most grateful for your help and interest.

Will someone please help me get in touch with Dr. Henry Dwight Ruggles' descendants? All letters will be answered.

Sincerely,
(Mrs. Fletcher King)

Dear Editor:

In reply to your item Re-Drug Disposal Days, We are asked to bring all unused medication to our Pharmacist, for him to dispose of it safely.

In view of high cost of drugs and medication, wouldn't it be much more profitable to ask the Pharmicist to filling these many prescriptions to check and see if the amount sold is really required. Couldn't the amount sold be just enough to cure our ills instead of being given so much supplies and paying so much than taking it back for safe disposal.

Dear Editor:

May I beg of you some space in your valued paper to bring the attention of the town authorities the dangerous condition which exists in the streets of Digby town. I refer to the large size potholes which if struck unexpectedly by a car could force that car off the road, into a lightpole or some other equally dangerous position. The potholes do not lend to safety especially when filled with water rendering them incapable of being seen. Urgent repairs are needed.

Yours for safe driving in Digby.

"Your paper sure gets around" said one of our regular but recent advertisers. The advertiser went on to say that he had four letters in one week coming from various far away places in Canada such as Saskatchewan, British Columbia, California, etc., in response to his advertisement.

How to win friends and influence people! A Digby resident happened in conversation with an out-of-Nova Scotia person at a restaurant a few miles away. The stranger enjoyed his conversation so much that he plans to make his next stop in Digby. We can all be ambassadors for Digby when you know how to win friends and influence people.

Where are all of Digby's pretty girls? Haven't seen the names of those vieing for princess representative in the Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival. Or, was there no response from prospective sponsoring organizations which received the letters from the town. Think it over. The Blossom Festival brings returns in promotion of tourism, products from the Valley and the goodwill and friendliness created isn't to be sneezed at.

Forgive us Don Scott and all the members of the Satin Serenade. It was only a slip of the editor's pen which called your eighteen piece band an eight piece band in last week's paper. Congratulations, too, on such an assembling of fine music with six saxaphones, four trumpets, four trombones, one bass, one string bass, piano and drums. The editor can easily though inadvertently, make a sour note in a type column. Never tried a saxaphone.

DIGBY COUNTY OFFICE MOVES IN WEYMOUTH

sect identification, etc.

This office highly supports the 4-H program in Digby County as well as the program offered by the Home Economics Division of the Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture and Marketing.

Agriculture in Digby County has become tremendously important to the Digby County economy with ninety percent of Nova Scotia mink ranchers being located within the county with approximately 100,000 pelts being produced in this county alone with a continual expansion in 1977.

The county also contains a large group of successful hog producers who are constantly expanding their operations and facilities; larger beef cattle herds are being kept and there is a tremendous interest being shown in small fruits and vegetables, especially potatoes. Beekeeping has also become important; and with the greenhouse operations, Poultry and Sheep enterprises and other livestock, the agricultural community has become important in the Nova Scotia economy.

The Nova Scotia Government has supported the programs here in Digby County to the fullest extent, stated Mr. Gilliatt and on behalf of all Digby County farmers he wishes to take this opportunity to invite everyone to visit their new office in Weymouth and find out for themselves the services being provided.

Office hours will remain the same 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. with same telephone number 837-5160. The office is staffed by Mrs. Annie Dennison, full-time stenographer, Mrs. Nora Comeau, part-time stenographer, who work along with the Agricultural Representative.

Family Builds Church Of Ten Thousand

"It is our responsibility as Christians to reach out and find the lost members of God's family and bring them back. God created man for His family and He wants us all together. If we were meant to simply sit and enjoy our christianity, we might as well be taken to Heaven as soon as we are converted." So said Mr. Robert Morse, who was born in the mission field in Tibet, and has spent his lifetime ministering to the millions of hill people in S.E. Asia. The mission group now consists of Mr. Morse and his brother, as well as their married sons. Mr. Morse, at a service in Westport last week, told how his parents started the work in Tibet in 1921, and since that time it has grown to over ten thousand christians in many churches.

Mr. Morse himself has converted the sounds of several languages into written words, put the New Testament or whole Bible into these languages, then he and his group have taught the people to read!

The group has already been driven from two areas - Mr. Morse's parents were driven out by the Communists from Tibet, and in 1965 the group was driven by Communists out of Burma. However, from their new area in the north of Thailand they are still able to influence all these churches.

Many of the Christians, including all the leaders in the takeover areas have been tortured and killed by the communists - they tolerate no allegiance whatever outside their own party said Mr. Morse. The present church is threatened in the same way - two missionaries have recently been killed. We must not believe the propaganda to the contrary being put out by China. This mission work may have no more than two years left before they are driven out again, so early help is needed.

Mr. Morse asked for the fervent prayers of all in this country because the work advances in proportion as the prayers go up. Already in Thailand, several hundred mountain people have become Christian.

Bay View Couple Return From Crete

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Emerson have returned after a month in Europe. Most of their holiday was spent in Greece, on the Island of Crete. They also travelled through Italy and West Germany.

Crete is a large island situated in the Mediterrainean Sea- the fifth in size in this sea. Crete is of importance militarily and at the present time has NATO bases operated by the United States armed forces- an Airforce Base at Heraklion, and a Naval Base at Souda Bay.

The coastline of Crete is beautiful. Mountains of purple and grey stone sweep up from the coastal plains with Mount Ide being the highest, and snow-capped. The climate, however, is warm enough to make palm trees feel at home. The island is fertile and irrigation is provided by thousands of windmills. Fruits are abundant - oranges, limes, lemons, pineapples, bananas, apricots, peaches, figs, dates, and olives, as well as purple and white grapes- the last named being used mainly for the red and white wines for which Crete has become famous, every vegetable one can think of is grown there.

Many herbs grow wild on the mountains, and many of our cultivated flowers. In fact, Crete is one large flower garden, outside of the cities- fields, ditches, roadsides and mountain sided are covered with calla lilies, iris, anemonies. English daisies, marguerites, primulas, hebiscus, memosa, gorse, jasmine, oleander and flowering vines.

The Cretans are a happy people; the men good-looking and in their local dress of knee-high leather boots, baggy trousers and fringed headgear, they are quite striking. The women in their brightly colored dresses and fancy aprons are most attractive. Each village has its own traditional dress for ceremonial occasions. Widows and older women are dressed completely in black.

Crete with its many Minoau ruins of 4000 years ago, its Venetian fortresses and fortifications, its ancient churches, Icons and Museums, as well as its scenic beauty, good climate and friendly people, is a pleasant and interesting place to visit.

Hill Grove

Class Party

The Sunday School class of Mrs. W. L. Fernley was entertained at a party on Saturday afternoon, April 23rd, between the hours of 3-5 p.m. at the Digby Wesleyan Church.

The girls class enjoyed outdoor games as well as some indoor games.

There were thirteen present and refreshments were served at the close of the party.

To Sell Post Cards

The Annapolis Basin Tourist and Recreation Council has decided to embark on a post card venture in an effort to raise funds to meet its many activities and projects in the coming year.

This post card venture will use local high quality colour photographs to produce first class post cards. The post cards will be sold at member outlets. In addition the Council is interested in reviewing older post cards, say prior to 1920, in the hope that older high quality post cards might be found that show the Annapolis Basin area fifty or more years ago.

FRANCIS In loving memory of my dear son David Francis who passed away April 23, 1969.
It's been eight years since God called you home,
To some you may be forgotten but for those who care,
You will always be near,
God knew you were suffering
So he said, "lets go".
We will meet again someday
Somewhere along the way.
Always remembered and sadly missed by MOTHER AND TRUDY. 38:1ip.

GOWER - In memory of a dear son and brother, Murray Eugene Gower who lost his life in Germany in the year of 1953.
Gone but not forgotten.

HANDSPIKER - In loving memory of our brother David, who passed away one year ago, April 26, 1976.
One long and lonely year has passed, since our great sorrow fell.
The shock that we received that morning, we still remember well.
The parting was so sudden, we often wonder why.
To us the hardest part of all, you never said goodbye.
And silent tears still flow, for what it meant to lose you, brother, no one will ever know.
The family chain has been broken now, and nothing seems the same.
But, as God calls us one by one, the chain will link again.
Sadly missed and always remembered by SISTERS JANET AND VICKIE. 38:1ip.

HANDSPIKER - In loving memory of my dear brother, David, who passed away April 26, 1976.
What we would give if we could say
Hello, David in the same old way;
To hear your voice, see your smile,
To sit with you and chat awhile.
Sadly missed by SISTER BETTY AND BROTHER-IN-LAW RONNIE. 38:1ip.

HANDSPIKER - In loving memory of a dear husband and father, David Dawson Handspiker who passed away April 26, 1976.
You are not forgotten loved one
Nor will you ever be,
As long as life and memories last
We will remember you.
Sadly missed by WIFE THERESA, CHILDREN, PATSEY, LINDA, DAVID AND TAMMY. 38:1ip.

Moose Hunting Is Back

HALIFAX – Nova Scotia's first moose-hunting season since 1974 will be held this year from Sept. 28 to Oct. 8.

Applications for licenses are in now and drawing for the allowed 650 hunters will begin at 2 p.m., Thursday, May 5 in the Uniacke Room of Province House. The first draws will be made by Hon. Vincent J. MacLean, Minister of Lands and Forests.

This year's moose hunt has been planned by the Department's wildlife biologists to operate on wildlife management principles. The hunt will be permitted in the northern mainland counties of Cumberland, Colchester, Pictou, Antigonish and Guysborough. That area has been divided into six zones.

The previous general draw for 1,000 licenses permitting hunting in the entire five-county area had resulted in uneven hunting pressure on various portions of the moose range. This led to over-harvests in some areas, insignificant harvests in others.

Applicants selected in the draw will be notified that they must also take a test from the Lands and Forests Department. This will include a written test on hunter safety and survival, a practical test on safe gun handling and shooting.

Upon successfully passing the test, the applicant will be required to forward proof of passing test with license fee of $25 to the Department of Lands and Forests office in Halifax to receive his license.

Moose hunters successful in the draw and test will be issued with a license that includes a color-coded strip of paper bearing the license number. This is to be inserted in a clear plastic holder to be worn on the back of the outermost garment when hunting. The color coding relates to the zone in which they can legally hunt.

SPICE FLAIR

A dash of spice added to the pot can change a most ordinary dish into a gourmet special. Generally, in recipe books, there is a section devoted to spices, and this can be used as a guide when you are experimenting.

Before you decide to add some spices to your kitchen shelf, you should have an understanding of what you are looking for. The word spice actually covers spices, herbs, vegetable seasonings and seeds. Spices are generally raised in tropical climates whereas, herbs, which are the leaves of plants, grow in a temperate zone. Seeds, such as mustard and caraway, are really seeds or sometimes the fruit of the plant. Ground, dehydrated vegetables are considered vegetable seasonings. Remember too, all spices are not hot, as generally believed.

Most of these seasonings are sold in whole form, ground or powdered. Whole seasonings require a longer time to give off flavor to food. One advantage of these, is these can be removed at any point during cooking, when the desired concentration of flavor is achieved. They can be wrapped in cheesecloth squares for convenience of removing.

Powdered and ground types of seasonings give off flavor immediately. They should be added just at the end of cooking.

Parsley, garlic, onion, chives etc., are sold in dehydrated flakes. Soaking these in equal amounts of water will easily bring them back to their original state.

Spices tend to lose flavor after a period of time. It is important to check your spices to see if they still have their potency. If they have lost their unique aroma, they are no longer of any use for flavorings. Ground spices do not have a shelf life much longer than 6 months. Whole spices will last longer.

Spices should be stored in a cool, dark, dry place. Locating them near the stove is convenient for use, however, too close to the heat destroys their effectiveness. Keep the container tightly closed after use.

Allspice, from its aroma, gives the impression that it is a blend of cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg, however it is not. Allspice is the dried fruit of an evergreen tree grown in the Western hemisphere. Allspice is part of the ingredients in a mixed pickling spice. Try it with your next pot roast, or when making tomato sauce.

Garlic salt is a blend of garlic powder and table salt. In many cases people use this instead of plain salt.

Chili powder is a blend of spices made up of chili pepper, red pepper, cumin seed, oregano, and garlic powder.

Saffron is the most expensive spice in the world. Saffron is slightly bitter in flavor. It is popular with rice; not only for its flavor but for the soft golden color it adds to the rice.

Mace is the skin which covers the nutmeg. Mace has a somewhat milder flavor than nutmeg. It is used in chocolate dishes as well as fish and meat dishes.

Marjoram belongs to the mint family. It is good with vegetables such as peas, string and lima beans, as well as lamb.

Tarragon is a favorite spice for french cooks. It is an excellent seasoning in salad dressings as well with chicken, veal and turkey. It is a great team mate with other herbs such as parsley and bay leaf.

This is just an insight into the vast world of spices, and hopefully it will open the doors for you in experimenting with spices in your cooking.

Bicycle Safety Message For Boys And Girls

Hello boys and girls:

As warmer weather is here again many of you will be taking out your bicycles once more. Some of you will be taking your new bikes out for the first time. As we always have a number of serious accidents every year envolving young bicyclists, here are some words of caution especially for you.

1. Keep your bicycle properly equipped and in perfect repair.
   (a) Make sure your brakes are working properly.
   (b) At night be sure your bike is equipped with a white light in front and a red reflector in back.
   (c) Have a horn or bell on your bike.
2. Learn to be what folks call a good rider.
   (a) Ride close to the right hand side of the road.
   (b) Ride in single file when two or more are riding together.
   (c) Obey all traffic signs, signals and rules.
   (d) Make correct turning and stopping signals.
   (e) Be alert when cars or trucks pass.
   (f) Watch the road ahead, especially for cars pulling out.
3. Remember that your bicycle is a vehicle for travel, not a plaything.
   (a) Don't weave in and out through traffic.
   (b) Never ride "no hands" or race in traffic.
   (c) Never hold on to other vehicles to "hitch" rides.
   (d) Never ride two on a bike.
   (e) Keep off sidewalks, pedestrians have right of way there.

Remember that a bicycle is safe if you know how to use it properly but it can be dangerous if you are careless. Know the rules of the road and obey them. Learn to ride your bike defensively and you will avoid accidental injury or death.

College Sainte-Anne President Resigns

Mr. Louis R. Comeau, president of College Sainte-Anne, has submitted his resignation to the Board of Directors of the College to be effective on June 30, 1977, or as soon thereafter as a successor can be found.

"Let me add immediately", says Mr. Comeau, "that my resignation casts no reflection on the future of this institution. In the late 60's everybody stated that the College was doomed to failure. With the help of governments and a fantastic team of Board members, faculty, administrators and students, we have managed to put this institution on the map. Our greatest achievement lies in the fact that our academic programs are respected, and have expanded greatly (summer school, extension in Yarmouth, new degrees, etc.) We have managed to participate in the Atlantic Association of Universities affairs and we have joined the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada. Our faculty and staff have improved immensely, and now a third of our full time faculty have Ph. D's or are on the eve of receiving same."

During Mr. Comeau's presidency, eleven buildings (eight residences, a gymnasium, a pool and a library) have been constructed and the old administration building, the ice rink and the campus generally have been renovated.

The latest report of the Economic Council of Canada stated that the answers for the Atlantic region centered around deficit government financing and education. "Such is also the case for the francophones within the Atlantic region. This College will never be viable based solely on economic principles but its role in the education of the Acadians is of prime importance. Acadians simply do not yet participate in the higher echelons of governments or business.

Mr. Comeau's reason for resigning is to become president of a long time family business, E.M. Comeau and Sons Ltd. of Meteghan, N.S., manufacturers of wooden boxes, shooks and crates.

Mr. Comeau adds, "governments, Board members, faculty, administrators and students have all been fantastic and I thank them all for having given me the opportunity to occupy the highest Acadian position in Nova Scotia."

W.M.S. Holds Meeting

The Lavinia Wilson, W. M.S. held an open meeting in the Hill Grove Church hall on Wednesday evening, April 13th.

The devotional period by the entertaining society consisted of Scripture by the president, Mrs. Esther Marshall, prayer by Mrs. Marge Minard; several poems on "Spring" by Mrs. Louise Gates and a word of welcome by Mrs. Stella Murley.

Special guests were members of neighboring societies from Digby, Smith's Cove and Bear River. Readings given by Mrs. Marjorie Tibbits and Mrs. George Winchester added to the program- also a solo, "Fill My Cup", by Miss Carol Marshall.

Slides of the "Holy Land"- were shown by Carol and thoroughly enjoyed by all present. These slides were donated to the Church by Wilfred Peck, Sharon Mass.

They gave us views of many places where Jesus lived, travelled and died.

The meeting closed with benediction by pastor Murray Shaw. A social hour with refreshments ended a pleasant and worthwhile evening.

Speaks At Banquet

In April a banquet was held in the Digby Wesleyan Church basement where twenty-five young teens and senior teens gathered for the occasion.

The tables looked attractive with white table cloths and Spring flowers along with Place Cards. These were made and donated by Mrs. Harry Adams.

Kenneth Hudson of CFB Cornwallis, was the guest speaker.He spoke on the four areas of Love; Love of God, Love for Christ, Brotherly Love and Love for enemies.

Mrs. Layton Hinxman and Mrs. David Wilson assisted Mrs. Walter L. Fernley with the serving.

During the later part of the evening, contests were enjoyed by the Young People.

Churches Hear Guest Speaker

Pastor Barry Dixon of Donnville, Ontario, was guest speaker on Sunday at the Barton Baptist Church for the morning worship service and at North Range for the evening service of Praise and Worship. He was the overnight guest on Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Carman and Mrs. Allan Thomas.

On Saturday night he was a house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph S. Haight at Brighton. During the weekend he called on a number of shut-ins as well as a visit to Barton Nursing Home.

He was entertained at different homes on St. Mary's Bay Baptist Field over the weekend. Sunday evening following the service he, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dixon of Port Mouton, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Bain. He left by plane via Yarmouth and Halifax on Monday.

HAPPY REUNION -- Petty Officer Richard Tibert, son of Mr. Joshua Tibert of Halifax and Bridgewater, N.S., receives a warm welcome from his wife and children upon his recent return to Halifax in the Canadian destroyer HMCS Algonquin, after three months of maritime exercises in the Caribbean and visits to South American ports. A communications specialist, and a member of the Canadian Forces since 1959, PO Tibert has served in the Algonquin for the past eight months. He and his family live at 89 Poplar Drive in Dartmouth. Lodges Entertained

The Fair Isle Rebekah Lodge, Freeport, entertained their sister Lodges, Sunset and Sunrise at their recent Roll Call meeting. After the business meeting and roll call a buffet supper was held in the lower hall consisting of salads, cold cuts, rolls, jellied salads, tea coffee and cake. A cake was raffled off and Mrs. Joyce Ossinger, Tiverton was the winner. Rebekahs from East Ferry, Tiverton and Westport as well as from Freeport enjoyed a very nice evening.

The Bean and Scallop Supper sponsored by the Student Council of the Islands School held Saturday evening was most successful. All of the food donated and made by the various mothers, relatives and friends of the school pupils was delicious and plentiful and the Council would like to thank everyone who donated food and also to all those who attended the supper. Monies raised from this project are to help purchase a vehicle to be used for various outside school activities. The Islands Home and School is also raising money to help with the purchase.

A banquet was held last Friday night for members of the School Safety Patrol by members of the Islands Home and School Association. The elementary teachers, the supervisor, Mr. Manzer and Mr. Floyd Gale were guests. A turkey dinner with all the "fixings" was served to about 30 pupils and guests. After the dinner, games were played in the school auditorium followed by a "record hop" until 9:30. Everyone seemed to have a most enjoyable time.

Anne Murray Returns To Halifax July 12th To 16th

With the support of the du Maurier Council for the Performing Arts, Canada's singing superstar Anne Murray will return to Halifax for an unprecedented engagement of five one-night concerts, July 12th through 16th.

The native Nova Scotian will appear at the Rebecca Cohn Auditorium in the Dalhousie Arts Centre, the first time a solo performer has ever been booked into that facility for five consecutive performances.

The engagement will mark the internationally-renowned songstress' first Nova Scotia concert appearances since her record-breaking Homecoming Tour in 1973. She will arrive in Halifax for the July booking having just completed a two-week concert and television tour of Japan.

An eight-piece string ensemble from the Atlantic Symphony Orchestra will augment Miss Murray's own six-piece band during the Halifax engagement.

Tickets for all performances go on sale at the Dalhousie Arts Centre April 30th.

Atlantic Premiers On CBC

The premiers of the Atlantic Provinces will meet for a CBC television taping in Charlottetown on Monday, May 2nd, to discuss the region's needs and goals within Confederation.

Frank Moores of Newfoundland, Gerald Regan of Nova Scotia, and Richard Hatfield of New Brunswick will join Alex Campbell in Prince Edward Island as the result of an invitation by the Maritime and Newfoundland regions of the CBC. They will appear in the first program of a five-part series entitled "Confederation: To Have and Have Not", to be aired on Wednesday, May 18 at 8:00 p.m. in the Maritime provinces, 8:30 in Newfoundland. The May 2nd discussion will be held in the same chamber where, 110 years ago, the Fathers of Confederation met to hammer out their agreements.

This CBC series will be based on the premise that, no matter what the future of Quebec and Canada, there is a pressing need for the Atlantic region to take stock of itself and its own needs. The four Atlantic premiers have all said that they want Confederation, their discussion then will center on Atlantic Canada's nature and how it has to understand itself before it deals with the rest of Canada "Know thyself", then see where it leads you.

Prime Minister Trudeau has said that accommodations can and will be made within Confederation. The five programs will deal with Atlantic Canada's choices and the definition of the priorities within those 'accommodations'. Energy, transportation, and financial arrangements form the basis of three half-hour programs to be aired at 8:00 p.m. in the Maritimes and 8:30 in Newfoundland, on successive Wednesdays from May 25th to June 8th.

On Wednesday, June 15th, the concluding hour will tap reaction to Atlantic Canada's position, reaction from those outside the region.

This series is truly a Maritimes-Newfoundland co-production. The two interviewers are Linden MacIntyre of CBC Halifax's "Here Today" and Rex Murphy of "Here and Now" in St. John's

Lorne Greene's Last Of The Wild

SILENT KILLERS

Venomous sea creatures, many of which have populated the earth's oceans since pre-historic times, are the subject for exploration on the next episode of "Lorne Greene's Last Of The Wild", titled "Silent Killers", telecasting Sunday, May 1, 6:00 on the CTV Television Network.

These silent killers come in countless varieties of shapes and sizes. Stonefish, lionfish, sea snakes, jellyfish, sea urchins, carnivorous snails and sea cucumbers all have the ability to poison their prey.

Some stun their prey, others paralyse, and some kill outright. For man, the effect of these poisons is generally uncomfortable, often painful, and occasionally fatal. Every year, more people are seriously injured or killed by this group of underwater poisoners than are killed by the sea dwellers humans most fear -- sharks.

For the stonefish, venom is used only for defence. The lionfish, however, believes that "the best defence is offence" and keeps its 13 lance-like, dorsal spines at the ready.

Jellyfish exist in all the oceans off the world. They come in hundreds of sizes and types but have one common bond -- loose hanging poisonous tentacles. One variety, which has tentacles up to 50 feet long, was named the "Portuguese Man of War" by ancient fishermen.

The sea urchin's back resembles a poisonous pin cushion, an almost impregnable fortress... but not for the giant pufferfish. This large member of the grouper family can emit powerful jets of water that force the urchin to roll over on its back, exposing edible, soft tissue underneath.

The largest of the carnivorous snails, the Textile cone, is approximately the size of an adult hand. The beauty of their shell attracts many collectors... but beware! There have been 51 documented cases of cone attacks on humans, 15 of which have been fatal.

Sea cucumbers, named over 2,000 years ago by the Greek scholar Aristotle, squirt venom or can actually expell their sticky internal organs to ensnare attackers. Then, these cucumber-like animals grow a replacement set of organs. If man could only discover the secret of regrowth, the risks of organ transplants and the trauma of losing limbs would be problems of the past.

"Lorne Greene's Last of the Wild" is produced by Peter Backhaus for the CTV Television Network in association with Heritage Enterprises. Lawrence Hertzog and Skip Steloff are Executive Producers.

Jayne Eastwood

CBC-TV regular Jayne Eastwood, clinched an Actra Award last year for her performance in CBC-TVs production of THE LAST OF THE FOUR LETTER WORDS. She accepted The Earle Grey Trophy for Best Acting in television or a non-feature film. This talented Canadian also received an Etrog in 1975 for Best Actress in the non-feature film category at the Canadian Film Awards for her performance in an episode of CBC-TVs series THE COLLABORATORS.

Jayne's numerous roles in CBC-TV productions have ranged from comedy to serious drama. She appeared earlier this year in ADA and SIX CHARACTERS IN SEARCH OF AN AUTHOR and as in the past, critics applauded her performance.

The self-dubbed Queen of Canadian commercials, dramatic actress and comedienne ("she can deliver a wry crack like a Colt '45", quipped one critic), was born in Toronto. She first started out as a commercial artist, then began drifting into acting. Film buffs will remember her as the female lead in Don Shebib's film GOIN' DOWN THE ROAD. The film was a critical success and the beginning of a new career.

The rock musical GODSPELL, though, rescued her from the antiseptic world of Sani-Flush and toilet tissues.

It also was her first opportunity to sing and, as she wistfully recalls, "all of a sudden I was a comedienne". From GODSPELL to comedy and Second City, she eventually left the company and returned to stage and television.

Stars On Ice

A Canadian, World's and Olympic Champion figure skater, Karen Magnussen makes a special guest appearance when she joins the line-up for CTV's "Stars on Ice", telecasting Friday, April 29, 8:30.

In addition, host Alex Trebek also welcomes such other outstanding guests as singer Bobby Rydell; comic puppeteer Jeannie Shinkle; Canadian amateur dance team Sherri Baier and Robin Cowan; solo skater Diana Williams; and a Chorus line of skating medalists.

Music highlights include:
Sway .... Bobby Rydell

Skating highlights include:

The Summer of '42- Brian's Song ... Karen Magnussen
Lady Sings The Blues Love Theme... Baier and Cowan
Love Story ... Diana Williams
Those Lazy, Hazy, Crazy Days Of Summer-
Bolero... Chorus

"Stars On Ice", with host Alex Trebek, is produced by Ed Richardson, directed by Mike Steele and is a co-production between the CTV Television Network and Glen- Warren Productions. Executive Producers are Arthur Weinthal for CTV and Gerard Rochon for Glen-Warren.

David Steinberg

At the Hello Deli across from the studios, Vinnie (Bill Saluga) and Margie the waitress (Trudy Young) are excited about David's special guest star for this week's show, telecasting Tuesday, May 3, 10:30 on the CTV Television Network. He's none other than Ed McMahon, television's most famous second banana.

But trouble is brewing as there are two things David dislikes most of all - being called Dave, which Vinnie always does, and dressing in costumes. Ed insists that David play foil to his impression of W.C.Fields but David won't have any of it.

Elsewhere, David bows to outside pressure and allows Johnny Del Bravo on stage to provide a raucous incantation of "If I Ruled The World". Adding that Johnny is a poor singer camouflaged by bad taste, his cousin goes on to prove his point.

Meanwhile David's problems with Ed McMahon still haven't been settled. So, donning false nose, top hat, white gloves and cane, Ed proceeds with a mightily entertaining impression of Fields and David joins him partway through, decked out in his Little Lord Fauntleroy suit.

And that's only part of the fun as Vinnie's cousin, the cigarsmoking Raymond J.Johnston Jr. comes looking for the Hello Deli.

"The David Steinberg Show" is directed by Perry Rosemond with Arthur Weinthal as executive producer for the CTV Television Network. Writers are David Steinberg, Ziggy Steinberg (no relation) and Fanelle Silver.

Mac Davis Sounds Like Home

Composer-singer-recording artist Mac Davis, George Carlin, Dolly Parton, Donna Summer and special guest star Tom Jones look back at their beginnings and early influences in "Mac Davis... Sounds Like Home", Tuesday, April 26, 11:00 p.m. EDT on the CTV Television Network.

Mac recalls his beginnings via the song, "Poor Boy Boogie," as does Parton with her revealing autobiographical number, "Coat of Many Colors."

The two then sing about a character who lived in the woods, "Applejack," and Mac wonders musically, "Where Did the Good Times Go?"

The song serves as Carlin's cue for his comedy monologue. Davis and Jones then compare their beginnings. Jones sings his hit, "Say You'll Stay Until Tommorrow," and the two perform Mac's "Stop and Smell the Roses". Jones offers his newest song, "When It's Just You and Me."

Mac and Dolly recall their dating years in his song, "Naughty Girl".

Mac next introduces Summer who talks of her beginnings and her hit song, "Love to Love You, Baby." Following their talk, Donna sings "A Song for You."

Mac is joined by Parton, Summer and Jones for a rousing gospel medley, including "Good Old A Cappella," "Old Landmark," "I'll Fly Away," "Operator" and "Up Above My Head."

The program concludes with Mac singing "In the Eyes of My People."

Gary Smith and Dwight Hemion produced the special, which was directed by Hemion and written by Buz Kohan and Rod Warren. Raymond Katz and Sandy Gallin are executive producers for Cauchemar Productions, Inc.

Missionary Workers Band Present Service

The Young Missionary Workers Band presented a Missionary Service on Sunday evening at the Digby Wesleyan Church.

The service was under the direction of Mrs. Allen Potter, the Group's leader.

There were about twenty children taking part in the Y.M.W.B. Service. The children carried a flag of a country in which the Wesleyan Missionaries serve.

The congregation participated in the Service by the singing of the hymn "We Have A Story To Tell To The Nations" also the hymn "He Lives".

Garland Myers rendered a solo "Living Water". He was accompanied on the piano by his wife.

In the message of the evening the Pastor said, "The purpose of the church is Missions".

There were about twenty-five (25) countries in which the Missionaries serve, that were discussed. The congregation present learned that South Africa Jamaica, Mexico, and the Phillipines were some of the larger fields while some of the smaller fields are Brazil, with four churches, Alaska with only one church.

The flags of the various countries were placed on a stand which was centered with a globe of the world.

Maclear The Voices Of Silence

THE DEMISE OF GREEK DEMOCRACY INVESTIGATED BY CTV'S MACLEAR WHO WARNS THERE ARE NO ASSURANCES AGAINST TYRANNY

In the next episode of "Maclear", titled "The Voices of Silence", telecasting Thursday, May 5, 10:30 , Correspondent Michael Maclear investigates the demise of Greek democracy in 1967 when a nameless, faceless group of Colonels took over the capital of Greece, imprisoned Premier George Papandreaou, suspended parliament and abolished law. Because of fear, because the people believed themselves helpless, impotence became silence there for seven terrible years.

Eight million Greeks fell with Athens instead of resisting and, from 1967-1974, the birthplace of democracy slipped blindly into a barbaric age. "The Voices of Silence" recalls the Greece of the Colonels in the shattered lives of the people, how little they did, and could do. "No heritage ensures us against tyranny" observes Correspondent Michael Maclear." The land that bore Socrates then put him to death, still provides a warning against the silence that can enchain us all."

Kay Cicellis, a writer living in Athens at the time, details how easily the Colonels established their rule, by cutting telephone communication, imposing curfews and fostering a sense of isolation. When it came to maintaining power, it was fear, the Colonel's greatest weapon, that immobilized the people. "It got worse and worse as we found out more about torture" Kay remembers, "the first detailed information began coming out six months after they came to power." "No ordinary person," says Maclear, "Could contemplate the tortures practised here- electrical shocks, head screws, burning starvation, mock execution - yet ordinary people endured these just because the fear of it kept them silent."

Talking with Maclear, two such ordinary citizens, Roula Christidou and Tassos Goulas, reveal their attitudes: regretful, yet utter passivity. So, life under the Colonels, supported by foreign aid or indifference, became random arrest and torture. Maclear notes that, with the exception of a few like Yannis Koronas, people didn't see that in extraordinary times, ordinary ways must change." Jailed and tortured for almost four years after planting a bomb outside Dictator Papadopolous' office, Koronas - a politically conservative lawyer - explains that the worst torture was seeing and hearing from his prison, the on-going life of the silent city.

Finally, in November of 1973, the people stood together at last. Actual film footage of the ill-fated uprising at the Athens Polytechnic, documents the dramatic struggle of students and workers who barricaded themselves inside the building and, while all Athens watched, endured a six-day seige until overwhelmed by tanks, police and troops. "I think that was the turning point," says Kay Cicellis, "most people in Athens had a son or daughter among the students. It was marvellous [and

Duties Of Missionary Described

Robert Morse Sr., native of Tibet and missionary of North Burma and Thailand for many years visited Tiverton Christian Church.

In explaining why he chose to be a missionary, Mr. Morse referred to the prophet chapter 61, verse 1 of the Old Testament and where Jesus repeated the identical verse in Luke 4, verse 18: "The spirit of the Lord is upon me to preach the gospel to the poor; He hath sent me to heal the brokenhearted; to preach deliverance to the captives, and of recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised". He said that Jesus was the first missionary and he wants christians today to follow His example.

"A missionary is like a salesman," the speaker suggested. "The salesman must explain his wares and demonstrate the use of them, what performance can be expected of them, the kind of care that must be given them, etc., before the prospective buyer will purchase anything. Jesus came to earth to demonstrate a new life and the power of God over sin and Satan."

The speaker further pointed out that a missionary cannot expect to "sell" his "product" by saying, "Hello, I'm a missionary sent from God, I'll tell you about Him and I expect you to accept Him as your Saviour. Instead, the missionary must learn the ways of the people that he is trying to "sell" to; he must live with them, eat what they eat, speak their language, dress as they dress, adopt their sustoms, become oriented with them and identify with their needs as Jesus reconciled man to God in fellowship and harmony.

Mr. Morse feels that a missionary should find his field, prepare it first by growing with the people there, learning their ways and determining their needs.

Then you plant the seed - and slowly, step by step, you introduce Jesus to them. Then, slowly, after long, hard work, the seed will ripen, take root and grow.

The speaker said one of the phases of their mission work at North Burma and Thailand is that of helping opium addicts find deliverance from the bondage of drug addiction.

The guest who is of the third generation of the Morse family of missionaries, said that churches do not have their own code of ethics in recognizing mission work. "No matter how good we think we are, we are going to fail under our own steam - we must look to God for help and guidance," he said.

Mr. Morse presented slides which showed the high rocky cliffs where the Burmese live and the rugged terrain where the missionaries travel to reach people with the gospel message.

In 1972, Mr. Morse baptized three Lisu natives. By June, 1976, there were 500 christians scattered throughout the some 45 villages. Mr. Morse declared, "All this has come about through God's grace and blessing." However, there is a constant need for Bibles and Literature, the speaker said. At present, teaching the Lisu people involves the use of visual aids, casettes, film strips and charts of various kinds.

Mr. Morse and his family of missionaries is the mission project of the Tiverton Christian Church for the month of April.

Reflecting To 1947

By the April 24, 1947 issue of The Digby Courier we see that the Digby Board of Trade decided to purchase a former R.C.A.F. Drill Hall located in Yarmouth for use as a skating and curling rink. An amount of $6,600 was to be turned over to company previously formed and the town for the purchase. Most of this had been raised at a July 1st Fair.

A matter of consideration under discussion by the Nova Scotia Government and the War Assets Corporation was the possibility of the province purchasing the big multi-million dollar training base at Cornwallis for conversion into a tourist and convention centre. Cost of conversion would be about $2,500,000. The purchase price, however, was found too high. (Today we still have Cornwallis as a Canadian Force Base for training recruits).

The gypsum storage shed at Deep Brook, which had been used by the Canadian Gypsum Company for winter shipments of productions from its Windsor quarries, was to be abandoned shortly according to news. A new storage shed and building plant was being erected at Hantsport.

Editorially, the curbing of speeding in town was in the April 24 columns. The speeding took place mostly from the Bandstand to the Myrtle House. Police and residents were asked to try curb the situation before a disaster happened. "Hit offenders in the pocketbook" seemed to be the advice.

The School Board decided to install fire escapes at the Digby Academy. While the fire marshall felt present means of escape were suitable if the stairway leading to the basement were strengthened and the basement door to the first floor kept closed at all times the Board chose to avoid any risk in loss of life. Since older students would be going to the new Regional School, the children on the second floor of the Academy would be younger children and there would be more danger of panic hazards. More than 200 students would be using the exit in the old wooden section in case of fire.

A letter from Keld Christensen, American Vice Consul, to the editor reminded readers that the United States Nationality Act of 1940 contained the provision that any American citizen, either by birth or naturalization would automatically lose his American citizenship if he should vote in any political election in a foreign state after January 13, 1941. The letter was written in view of the fact that there are many persons with American citizenship residing in Digby vicinity.

The mail must go through. So said The Digby Courier in a caption under a picture 30 years ago of Louis Gaudet, Concession, carrying mail on his route by ox team. (Many probably wish for the good old days.)

News in The Digby Courier for May 1, 1947 was of exceptional nature. Headlines read "Eight Fires In Less Than A Week". The most devastating of these was the Bunk House fire on the property of H.T.Warne Ltd. and which at one time threatened the entire South end of Digby. A residential property known as Orchard Cottage near by became a total loss as a result of the Bunk House fire. The Bunk House fire apparently had started from a chimney fire. Several fires started in the H.T. Warne Ltd. lumber yard and flames set fire to the home of Hugh Vincent. Other places which caught from the Bunk House fire were the Bishop House, the Raymond house and the large warehouse of Hants Wholesalers Ltd. The Warne bunk house was the former "Dingle", a former residential property and "show place" of Digby when owned by the late C.E.Walker. Orchard Cottage, known as the residence of the late Judge Holdsworth, a leading figure in Digby's past, was owned at the time of the fire by Mrs. Helen Anthony. It had previously belonged to Rev. F.E.Kirkers.

The Warne employees made homeless by the burning of the Bunk House were housed temporarily at the Hillcrest Hotel on Warwick St. opposite the Digby General Hospital. The Digby Fire Department however was called out to a slight blaze at the Hillcrest. This hotel had been closed for several months and re-opened for the Warne employees. Origin of this fire was a chimney fire.

The H.T. Warne Ltd. bunkhouse fire was on Thursday. On Sunday the fire department was called out to the residence of H.T. and Mrs. Warne. No fire was found but the house was filled with smoke believed to be caused by a furnace backfire.

Another story in the May 1, 1947 edition of The Digby Courier tells of two other fires during the week. A fire which took over an hour to extinguish broke out at the Royal Hotel and another call was for a chimney fire at the home of Theodore G.Roberts. The latter place was the former Margaret Stewart residence.

Three were rendered homeless in Digby when fire gutted the home of Mrs. Idella Dakin, First Avenue. Made homeless were Mrs. Dakin, her daughter, Josephine and a son, Daniel. It was thought that a grass fire caused the house to burn.

Twelve areas out of 14 finally decided to amalgamate for forming the Digby Consolidated High School. One section, South Range East, did not vote and Roxville voted 8-4 against the consolidation.

The scallop fishing season, October to April, was under consideration to extend for the entire year. This would give the boats permission to fish scallop beds outside territorial waters without restriction. The department ruling permitted boats to operate outside territorial waters from a line drawn from Cape St. Mary, Digby Co. and Western Head, Maine, westerly in the Bay of Fundy.

According to the news, there was a possibility that a large oil concern may take over the former R.C.A.F. bulk gasoline storage depot located on the D.A.R. property known as the Cannon Bank. H.A.Dunphy, manager D.A.R. met with the town council regarding continuance of a lease given by the town on a portion of Carleton Street which passed through the storage depot property. This street was leased by the town to the government during the war and one of the four large underground gas tanks were located on it. Also on the property was the former R.C.A.F. barracks purchased by the town from the War Assetts Corporation and used as a junior high school building. Digby Town Council decided to continue to lease the property provided arrangements were made that the town have continued use of that portion on which the high school building stood. The Council also agreed to continue the lease on the railways right-of-way on Lower Water Street leading to the storage depot. During the war 250,000 gallons of high octane gasoline were stored there by the R.C.A.F.

DRUG DISPOSAL

Bins will be available at Levy's Drug Store downtown, Digby and at the Good Neighbour Drug Mart at the Evangeline Mall from May 1 to May 7 for the disposal of out-of-date drugs. Drug Disposal Days have been arranged under the auspices of the Nova Scotia Safety Council with the co-operation of the Poison Control Centre and the Nova Scotia Pharmaceritical Society.

The purpose of the project is to rid homes in Nova Scotia of unused medication no longer required and which might be accidently misused resulting in poison or death.

These will include presentations on background studies now being conducted in the southwest as part of the planning process and including the Regional Economic Base Study, Clare Environment Study and others. The effects of Route 101 and 103, the need and potential for industry and prospects for present and alternate forms of energy will be reviewed.

This seminar will be cosponsored by Clare Planning Advisory Committee and St. Ann's College. More details on this seminar will be given at a later date.

Today's Student Gets Geography First Hand

By Carol Welch

School has certainly changed when students can attend bull fights and ride camels during the spring break. This was the experience of Miss Candace Bailey, granddaughter of Mrs. Mary Bailey of Westport. Candace, who is now attending school in St. Johns, Newfoundland, went with a school group to Spain this month and has written her grandmother about her experiences.

She writes, "one grows to appreciate the things we have after seeing how some poor people live." One experience was their visit to typical Spanish villages to learn of their way of life. Though the vegetation was beautiful the conditions of some of the people were very poor and Candace felt the group learned a great deal on the trip.

Some other special interest visits were to Tangiers in Africa, where they rode the camels; to the bullfights, where five bulls were killed; and even on a burro safari in the rain.

Candace reports that the students' accommodations were pleasant, and she came home with a lovely tan - home to the snow and cold. As well as learning how to save up money for a special goal, and how to spread your money thin on a trip, it is certainly a wonderful way to study geography.

Newspaper Publishers Meet

Approximately 100 publishers of community newspapers and their employees from throughout the Atlantic Provinces will gather in Moncton, May 5-6-7, for the semi-annual meeting of the Atlantic Community Newspaper Association.

The three day event will feature several seminars on advertising and editorial layouts and design; as well as Better Newspaper Competition awards, business meetings and social functions.

All events will be held at the University of Moncton campus. Early registration for the meetings will ensure elegibility of the registrants for a special drawing of tickets for 2 (two) to the annual meeting of the Canadian Community Newspaper Association to be held in Winnipeg in July.

Break And Enter Still A Problem

In giving his monthly report before Digby Town Council on Monday evening Sergeant Thomas Barlow, RCMP said that break and enter is still a problem but they are making every effort to stop the situation. He complained about those who witness some of these breaks but fail to pass on the information. In one damage complaint during the month a resident witnessed persons break a window but refused to testify in court. On May 1st, two persons brokes into the town office and this was witnessed by a nearby resident who failed to phone.

That break was not discovered until the morning of the 2nd of May. They experienced several cases of late where residents of the town have witnessed an act and failed to report it, he said. As long as this trend continues we can probably expect more of the same kind of crime, Sergeant Barlow cautioned.

Sergeant Barlow's report revealed that during the month of April there were 3 assault cases, eleven break and enters, 6 shoplifting, 10 thefts under $200.00, 6 disturbances, 15 property damage complaints, 1 drug case, 2 impaired drivers, 2 breath test refusals and 4 accidents. There were 115 cases investigated. Court convictions included 8 criminal code, 13 motor vehicle, 5 LCA, 1 NCR and one by-law.

Sergeant Barlow reported the new parking meter regulations are now in effect having been approved by the Department of Municipal Affairs and published.

On April 29th he attended a meeting of traffic authorities in Halifax sponsored by the Department of Highways. The main thrust of the meeting was to discuss conversion of signs to the metric system. It was suggested that the town take an inventory of speed signs (30 mph) and order decals for the new metric speeds along with tabs that are required on the signs informing the public that the new speed is 50 kph. It is expected the conversion will take place later this year.

At Monday nights meeting a motion was passed to sign the RCMP contract with the town which had been pending for sometime for public consideration.

Webster Dunn, parking meter attendent, reported that $409.66 had been collected by meters. There were 43 tickets issued, 27 collected and two cancelled. Councillor Eileen Chipman of the Police and License Committee reported that officer Dunn had attended the committee meeting when the following taxi driving licenses had been issued effective to March 31, 1978; Nettie Titus, Blair Titus, Lovett Francis, Harry Budd, Garnet Budd and Russell Christmas.

Digby Town Helps Entertain Copa

Digby Town will help to provide entertainment for the Copa Conference which meets here at the Pines Hotel on June 11, 12 and 13 to the extent of $1500 according to a motion passed at Digby Town Council on Monday evening. This amount represents fifty per cent sharing with the Municipality of the District of Digby in an anticipated entertainment expense of $3000.

The entertainment costs for the conference of the Canadian Owners and Pilots Association was brought before Council by Councillor Eileen Chipman when presenting her report as a member of the arbitration committee. The entertainment plans include transportation during the conference for some possible 400 visitors arriving here at the Digby Municipal Airport in approximately 100 planes. Other entertainment will feature sight-seeing bus trips, boat trips, masquerade dance, orchestra, craft demonstrations, scallop shell gift kits, etc. Welcome signs were also requested from the town, Councillor Chipman said.

Fearing the possibility of setting a precedent, Councillor Chipman questioned whether other such conventions meeting here might expect the same attention. Other councillors assured that this happens to be a unique situation which could lead to vast opportunities for the new Digby Municipal Airport and prospective industrial development with such international exposure. One of the bus tours is planned for Digby Neck and Islands with a fish chowder enroute.

A motion on Monday evening was passed in support of the objects and aims of "Transport 2000". Transport 2000 is a nationally based citizens organization devoted to preservation and advancement of public transportation throughout Canada. Their efforts presently are centred around the campaign to save what remains of the country's transcontinental rail passenger network. Trains, they feel, are the only decent means of public transportation accessible to many Maritimers and "Transport 2000" believes benefits of modern rail technology should be made available to all regions of Canada. Hearings on passenger rail service begin this month.

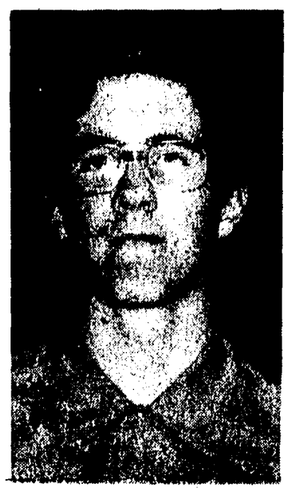
Carl Neimeyer reported that new construction application to the amount of $78,400 was granted by the building committee and $134,900 worth of alterations were granted. Total $215,300, fees $123.

Bills approved for payment in April amounted to $7,535. The finance report was given by Councillor Guy VanTassell in the absence of Councillor Gordon Ellis.

Sixteen calls to fires had been answered by the Digby Fire Department in April – eleven out of town and five within. No loss estimated.

Councillor Foster Journeay was named to represent the town on the Digby-Annapolis Mental Health Service Board in place of Councillor Robert MacNutt who resigned.

Paul Brown Champion In Howe Oratorical Contest



Paul Brown , son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Brown, Smith's Cove , and a student at the Digby Regional High School came up with the championship in South West Nova Scotia in the Joseph Howe oratorical contest. Contestants Kelly Fletcher, Paul and two Yarmouth students met for the finals at the Multipurpose room of the Digby Regional High School on Saturday afternoon. Miss Fletcher was a runner-up in the contestants. In September Paul will join other finalists from parts of Nova Scotia to compete in the Joseph Howe Festival in Halifax.

Judges for Saturday's oratorical contest were James Outhouse, Mrs. Vivian O'Neil and William Diachun. Coaching the D.R.H.S. students in the extra curricular of oratory was Miss Regina Tate of the D.R.H.S. teaching staff.

In February Paul took the debating championship for South West Nova Scotia high schools and will represent the area in the Canadian finals at St. Catherine's, Ontario on May 7.

Paul expressed deep appreciation and admiration for Miss Tate's coaching which brought him to the championship. He looks forward to a medical career and-or a politician when his debating and oratorical ability will stand him in good stead.

Urges Better Telephone Service

Grant Sabine, Riverdale, Councillor for the Municipality of the District of Digby at Weymouth, requested by motion at the regular session on Monday afternoon to that the Nova Scotia Board of Public Utilities be written to requesting better telephone services in his area. He asked that sufficient aerial lines be made available for private lines. Rates he felt could be comparable to privates rates charged.

During the morning session Council voted $950 towards operating the Digby Tourist Bureau in the summer of 1977. It was decided at the afternoon session to recommend that one of the attendants at the Bureau should be from the municipality.

Now that the new hall is fairly well completed at Sandy Cove, proceedings are again being started for a testimonial dinner to honor Ronald Morehouse, Centreville, who had been warden of the municipality for 15 years before Warden Wilfred Swift took office.

Following a report by Councillor Helen MacNeil on a meeting at St. Anne's College, Church Point, on housing, Council decided to send a letter to CMHC to ascertain whether or not a municipality can be eligible for CMHC benefits if it has not been proven a designated area.

Win Poster Contest

Crystal Bremner of the Digby Elementary School; Douglas Oliver, St. Patrick's; Peggy Ann Amero, Barton Consolidated School; Cheri Young, Islands Consolidated; Raymond Scott of the Joseph Dugas School at Church Point and Monique Deveau of Saulnierville School were Digby County winners of the 1977 Forestry Poster Contest sponsored by the Nova Scotia Forestry Association.

Over 2,500 entries were received coming from all Counties in the Province. The contest was open only to pupils of Grades 4,5 and 6, and its theme "What do we lose when forests burn" led to a wide range of ideas from the pupils featuring birds, animals, wood, tourists, books, newspapers, homes. Plaques for the winners will be sent to schools shortly after National Forest Week May 1-8.

Winners in Annapolis County were Kim Burrell, Clements Consolidated; Darrell Hudson, Granville Consolidated; Darren Wallace, Middleton; Sandra Rawding, Middleton; Gary Hannam, Annapolis and Mary Kate Mulvale, Melvern Square.

Oakley Smith, Mrs. Fred Woiwod, Robert M. Winchester, David Irvine, pres., Smith's Cove Historical Society, looking at Bible found in Woiwod home recently with Joseph Smith records.

The Smith's Cove Historical Society meeting on Tuesday, April 26, was well attended. Over seventy people gathered to hear Neils Jannesh, Curator, Nova Scotia Museum Marine Division.

David Irvine, president, presided over a brief business meeting during which Mrs. Fred Woiwod, Smith's Cove, presented a Bible discovered in her home when the family moved to the Cove a few months ago. In it was a written record of the Joseph Smith family and of much interest to this Society.

Members of the Bear River New Horizons group were guests at this meeting. Rev. Foster Hall spoke briefly on recent and future projects of the group, specifically on a one-week study on Acadians.

Mr. Jannesh, illustrated his talk on marine history of the Province with slides of wooden ships of years gone by. As he talked he brought out several interesting facets of how shipbuilding began in Nova Scotia, its effect on local communities, such as need of trees for wood, sails, etc. Then of its involvement in world trade until the advent of the steam age, and finally slowly diminishing until the wooden ships no longer are built as in days of yore.

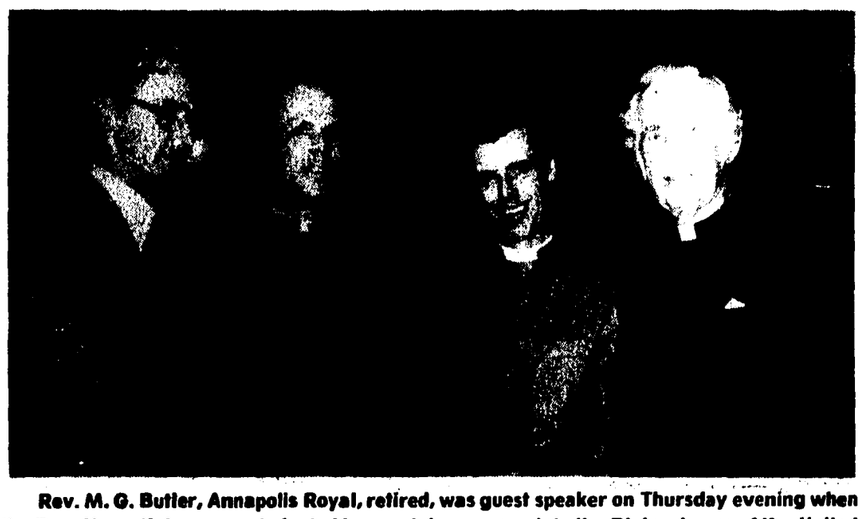
A lunch was served at the close of the meeting by members of the Society.

Minister Inducted At Grace United

Rev. Fred Archibald, chairman of the Valley Presbytery of the United Church of Canada conducted the special service at Grace United Church, Digby, on Thursday evening when Rev. Kenneth Lowe was inducted into the Digby charge.

The induction sermon was preached by Rev. M.G. Butler, retired, Annapolis Royal, who based his message on the text from Jeremiah "Is there any word from the Lord?" This question, Mr. Butler said, is humanity's question in every time and in every place. Today especially, the confused world of the younger and the older is filled with questions to which the answers are not always clear. Humanity, he said, cries to someone to tell where or what should be done. The question arises "Is there any word from the Lord."

Mr. Butler's remarks stressed "love one another" and brought this thought further as he charged the congregation not to try to make the minister into their own image or vice versa but each accept the other as he is. The message of the church to the confused people of the communities and the world, the speaker said, is the word of hope as found in the scriptures.



Rev. M. G. Butler, Annapolis Royal, retired, was guest speaker on Thursday evening when the Rev. Kenneth Lowe was inducted by special ceremony into the Digby charge of the United Church of Canada. Above, left to right, are Sherman Rice, clerk of the session, who read the scripture; Rev. Fred Archibald, Windsor, chairman of the Valley Presbytery; Mr. Lowe and Rev. Mr. Butler.

Sherman Rice, Clerk of the Session, at Grace United read the scripture and William Troupe Jr. and Mrs. Benjamin Height, elders, presented Mr. Lowe for the induction. Eleven members from the Valley Presbytery who were present were welcomed by Mr. Archibald. Other Valley ministers were present, including Dr. John Corston, retired from the Atlantic Theological School and who supplied at Grace United pulpit since November 1976 and Dr. T.W. Hodgson who was inducted into the Digby charge in 1934 and served the congregations for 17 years.

The senior choir under Mrs. Maurine Arnold sang an appropriate anthem and the offering was received by Benjamin Height and Alfred Warner.

Following the service the congregation met Reverend and Mrs. Lowe at a reception sponsored by Grace United Church women. The Church Session held an informal get-together for Doctor and Mrs. Corston on Sunday morning when gifts were presented by the choir and congregation.

Rev. Kenneth Lowe, who succeeds Rev. Ronald Stevens as regular pastor at the Digby charge, was born in Hamilton, Ontario and received his education in that province. For a few years Rev. Mr. Lowe operated a business, later taking his theological course at Queen's Theological School, Kingston, Ontario and graduating in 1972. Until two years ago, when he came to Middleton, N.S., Mr. Lowe served churches in Northern Ontario.

He is married to the former Phyllis Whyte of Peterborough, Ontario and they have two daughters, (Brenda) Mrs. Roy Anderson of Toronto and (Sharon) Mrs. Norman Sullivan, Inglehart, Ontario. Rev. and Mrs. Lowe have one grandchild.

Mr. Lowe is secretary of the Valley Presbytery of the United Church of Canada.

Wheelhouse New Town Clerk

James Wheelhouse of Digby, was selected as Town Clerk from a total of five applications according to the report given at Digby Town Council on Monday evening. Mr. Wheelhouse fills the vacancy in this respect caused by the resignation, effective April 30 of Kenneth Eavis.

A letter was read requesting Digby to enter into celebrations at Saint John, N.B., on June 18 commemorating the great fire one hundred years ago, 1877. It was moved that the Mayor and Fire Chief attend the functions at Saint John and suggested they display some suitable insignia in the parade.

Councillor Robert MacNutt reported that Digby Town float was in need of renovations.

June 19 to June 25 was declared as Senior Citizens Week in Digby.

A reply from the Digby General Hospital Board advised Town Council of a proposal to have the old Digby General Hospital used for Mental Health purposes but if this interest fails they will look into the town's proposal of having it used for a Home For the Aged and Infirm.

His Worship Mayor MacNaughton reported on Community Planning seminars sponsored by the Department of Municipal Affairs to be held in Lawrencetown and Kingston which he expects to attend.

Robert MacNutt, councillor was requested to make presentations, representing the town, at the Tourist Awareness evening to be held at the Digby Legion Hall on Wednesday.

An application from Thomas Amusements was placed before Council requesting they be permitted to operate at the Evangeline Mall, Digby in June on two occasions, one under the sponsorship of the Digby Kiwanis Club and the other on Natal Day under Digby Volunteer Fire Department sponsorship. By motion a license to operate was approved at a sum of $100 a day to a maximum of $500. The intent of license fee expressed by members of Council was that it would be received by the town.

Cyril Reddy To Speak At Dinner

Cyril Reddy, District Supervisor of the Department of Social Services, will be guest speaker at the annual dinner meeting of the Digby Branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association at the Fundy Restaurant on Saturday, May 7th at 6:30 p.m.

The annual session will mark the close of Mental Health Week in the Digby area and will follow the Saturday morning Cyclathon, sponsored by the Digby Mental Health Association.

It is hoped a good number will be in attendance at the annual Mental Health meeting as the session will mark the first time the Digby branch has held a dinner annual meeting.

Cyclathon Attracts Many Entrants

The second annual cyclathon, sponsored by the Digby branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association, is attracting a good number of entrants, it has been learned.

The event, which will be held Saturday morning starting from the Knights of Columbus Hall at the Racquette, will feature cyclists of all ages. A canvass of the town is being made by the entrants in search of pledges to the Mental Health Association. Last year they cyclathon earned some two thousand dollars for the local mental health association and it is hoped to exceed that total this year.

The event will mark the end of Mental Health Week in Digby and it is hoped persons in the health professions as well as other community leaders and youngsters will be cycling on Saturday morning as a part of their participation in mental health.

Editorial

COMPLETELY FED UP

Completely fed up. That is the attitude about vandalism conveyed by many business people attempting to make a living in downtown Digby. We can readily go along with their sentiments. Two more places were broken into downtown over the past weekend—Kennedy's and the Town Hall. Why the needless destruction? Why cannot these culprits be stopped? Why must these business people have to be subjected to continuous expense of replacement and repair, inconvenience and loss of work time to clean up the dreadful messes.

We are told that Digby suffers no worse than any other of our towns and villages in the province with breaks and enters and vandalism. By reports we read occasionally from other areas, that could be true. It is our police caseload that is the highest in the province, represented by the figure of 75 compared to the lowest in the province of 30. Caseload could represent diligence on the part of our police force or need for more police staff or other contributing factors. The fact is, however, that Digby merchants, especially, are fed up with this destruction and petty thievery. More punishment, greater sentences, seems to be the call of the merchants and again we cannot disagree with them entirely, if at all.

But behind it there probably lies the worst enemy of all - the lack of parent (or other influencing adult) and youth communication. There is more to adult and youth relationship than that of providing good clothes to wear and food to eat. Young people, in greater numbers, seem to be lacking a stabilizing influence on their lives and they drift along into all kinds of misdemeanours of the day. Everybody has responsibility for these young people, wayward or not, for they make up society of our age.

Costs are not everything, true, but they do have consideration. Does the adult population realize that not only are the victims of vandalism paying for the destruction, but every taxpayer is helping to bear the burden. Policing has to be paid for, the more staff necessary the higher the cost. Does it ever occur that to sentence one offender to a correctional school, for instance, could cost the taxpayers of the community $38 per day? Even that (figure it up) might have some bearing on light or no sentences. We do not know.

We might, as adults, ask whether we are protecting all offenders from the psychological stigma of heavy fines and jail sentences. Maybe we bend too far backwards. More disciplinary measures might very well be the answer.

Whatever the answer, adults can do some watching for signs of trouble themselves and cooperate with the police by passing on the information. If the vandalism and other offences of youth are the result of "idle hands". adults have a part to play here. The downtown merchants are fed up. Unless all society takes a look into this together, the situation might not improve and more will be fed up. Stronger sentences or sentences suitable to the crime are necessary but a "way of life" is maybe the originator of the problem.

MENTAL HEALTH- KEEP IT IN MIND

The week of May 1st. to May 7th. is being marked across Canada as Mental Health Week. During this week organizations such as the Canadian Mental Health Association are putting forward a special effort to direct the awareness of the Canadian public to Canada's most urgent health problem - mental illness.

We in Digby are fortunate in that we have had, over many years, an active and dedicated branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association. The involved membership of this association, though small in number, have been responsible for many effective and forward-looking programs in the field of mental health in this area.

Although in its earlier years, the Digby Mental Health Association directed its efforts toward the problem of the provision of treatment services for mental illness. In more recent years its primary concern has been the promotion of mental health, particularly through programs of life enrichment.

Among some of the accomplishments of Mental Health - Digby have been the development and maintenance of the services of the mental health centre and its satelite centres. When the financial obligations for this program were taken over by government, the Digby Mental Health Association increased its efforts and focused more of its attention on the promotion of programs for primary prevention and the reduction of conditions that place people at risk.

Some of the accomplishments in this direction have been the development of programs for senior citizens, for the isolated and lonely and in education. In many of these the Digby Mental Health Association has acted as a catalyst and has worked to enable other organizations to more effectively serve the needs of their client population.

During Mental Health Week all of us should keep mental health in mind- in fact, we should do this throughout the year. In particular, however, we should think of those people, in our own community and across Canada, who, week after week, are working to deal effectively with Canada's most urgent health problem- mental illness. These people and the association to which they belong need our active support, both financially and through personal involvement, if the fight against mental illness is to be won.

Interesting Program On "Old Bottles"

The Admiral Digby Library and Historical Society presented a program on "Old Bottles" on the evening of April 27th at the Digby Anglican Church Hall. E. Carolyn Brown, program co-ordinator, introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Wilfred Bent, a well-known Annapolis County antique dealer.

Mr. Bent sells old bottles and also collects them as a hobby. At one time he had over three thousand. He pointed out that six bottles which hold meaning for the collector are of more significance than a large collection.

Displays of bottles brought in by members of the society and visitors were used in his discussion on the topic. Mr. Bent examined the bottles and gave a general idea of the dates the bottles had been made and the purpose for which they had been used.

He commented that a bottle made between 1810 and 1870 would have been made in three parts because three molds would have had to be used. Between 1800 and 1850 the embossing of bottles began.

Mr. Bent also remarked that amber bottles were rarer than green ones and that clear glass was not made until around 1900. At that time manganese became a new ingredient in glass to make it clear; however, if too much manganese was added, the glass would turn pink when exposed to bright light.

Machines for making bottles first came into existence in 1903 and any bottles produced before that time are of much more value.

The displays included bottles which were used for vaseline, stove blacking, pickles, ink, whiskey, ginger beer, Minard's linament, snuff, and perfume. Other bottles of interest were an unusual, flat- bottomed ship's decanter, a dresser bottle (1860-1880), an amber rum bottle (1880), a McCallum Drug Store of Digby bottle (1900-1920), blue drug store bottles which may have been used for poison, round pop bottles dating back to 1890, and an East Indian castor oil bottle made in Saint John, N.B. by Dearborn and Co.. Mr. Bent also commented on the various bottletops, referring to patent stoppers and cap closures.

In clising Mr. Bent suggested that historical societies take on projects of researching where bottles have been made in Nova Scotia because he felt that Nova Scotia bottles should be of particular interest to those who live in the province. He also felt that bottles should have some means of identification similar to the company stamps found on chinaware.

The enthusiastic audience numbered around fifty and when coffee was served Mr. Bent continued to answer questions.

Miss Regina Tate and Barry Jennings assisted in the preparation of the program. Anna Ruth Rogers procured an assortment of books from the Western Counties Regional Library Services pertaining to glass and old bottles. These books may be borrowed from the Admiral Digby Library.

Clare Tax Rate Decreases

Tax rates set by the Clare Municipal Council recently saw a substantial decrease both in the residential category and in the commercial.

Residential property owners tax rates dropped 15.5 percent from $2.25 per $100 assessed value to $1.90 per $100. Commercial properties dropped 6.4 percent from $3.10 to $2.90 per $100 assessed value.

Although the expenses of the Municipality increased nine percent from $1,395,198.00 in 1976 to $1,533,746.00 in 1977, the tax rate went down. Increased spending that was necessitated by an increase in education costs, from $367,533 in 1976 to $418,267 for 1977, will be absorbed by the provincial government.

Social Assistance costs rose from $386,996.00 to $539,330.00 with homes for special care well over the $400,000 mark.

Ste. Anne Library Named For Comeau

College Ste. Anne graduated 60 students at its annual graduation here over the weekend and officially opened its new library complex.

Twenty students received bachelor of arts degrees, one was awarded a bachelor of education, and 39 received certificates or diplomas for completing programs in social administration, commerce, sciences and secretarial science.

Following presentation of the diplomas the college conferred an honorary Doctorate in Civil Laws on well known Yarmouth lawyer Irving Pink, and an honorary Doctorate in Economics on Gilbert Finn of Moncton, president of the Assumption Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Valedictorian Paulette Foley, of Mavilette, told the gathering of family and friends that packed the auditorium, that despite the popular opinion college was "mostly fun and games" most students had worked very hard for their graduation.

Miss Foley said that College Ste. Anne was building a fine reputation.

Dr. Gilbert Finn, in addressing the audience and graduates, said there have been terrible problems between the English and French during the last 100 years and warned the major issues in this conflict "will not disappear by themselves."

Highlight of Sunday's ceremonies for students, faculty, and administration of the university was the official opening of the college's new library by provincial Minister of public works Benoit Comeau.

To the surprise of most present including retiring president, Mr. Louis Comeau, the minister in declaring the library open announced the facility was officially named the Louis R. Comeau Library.

Mr. Comeau, who announced earlier this month he was leaving the college to return to his family business received a loud and thunderous standing ovation from all those present.

A number of special awards were presented during the ceremonies including the Governor General's Award to the sole education degree recipient, Micheline Empson of Church Point. Awards for top student, and the Sen. E. J. Therriault bursary and trophy were presented to valedictorian Paulette Foley. Undergraduate Gayle Dickson of Springhill received the Judge V.J. Pottier bursary for proficiency in English and French.

Listening is not Enough

A church member toward the end of his life's span, if he has been reasonably faithful in church attendance could listen to as many as six thousand sermons. If a service of worship takes an hour and a quarter, then this is more than 300 days of solid listening. Hundreds of preachers, thousands of Bible texts, and all this proclamation adds up to what?

All of this may mean little if the person becomes hardened to the warm truths of the Word of God. Being a patient listener will not buy even a day of Heavenly bliss. Pew sitting does not in itself produce Christianity. Some loyal attenders may be proud, unrepentent, self-righteous, and even mean and vicious.

Sermons are meaningless until they become arrows in the Hands of the Spirit of God to bring conviction of sin and faith in the living Christ.

Sermons must disturb, they must leave a person dissatisfied with himself, and bring that person to God.

The preached Word will leave the sinner staggering with guilt and will send him to the only Redeemer, and peace-giver, the Lord Jesus Christ. To be worthwhile, the sermon must be acted upon.

Listening is not enough. It is not the key to the Kingdom. It is, however, a means to faith and action. Listen and live.

Learn How To Help Fourth World People

The United Church Women held their April meeting at the home of Mrs. Pauline Lent on Tuesday evening with the president, Mrs. Bert Mayo in the chair.

The worship service on "Teaching" taken from the book Share the Spirit , was conducted by Mrs. Ronald Purdy.

The programme, which is the last from the book, "Justice Not Charity" was on how individuals can help people of the fourth world who are struggling to survive. The meeting was divided into three groups and discussed the forty-five ways listed in the book.

Four large cartons of summer clothing were packed for the Brunswick Street Mission. A pound of used stamps was sent to the Leprosy Mission in Toronto. The May meeting will be the Friendship Meeting.

Home-made brownbread and Mrs. Lent's birthday cake were enjoyed during the social hour.

Host Bridal Couple

A bridal shower was held on Wednesday evening, April 27, at the Smith's Cove Fire Hall in honor of Miss Darlene Thompson and Fred Raymond, now Mr. and Mrs. Raymond, prior to their marriage on Saturday, April 30.

Hostesses were Mrs. Roger Carty, Mrs. Neil Robbins, Mrs. Lee Wentzell, Gulliver's Cove. Over fifty friends and relatives were on hand to shower them with many lovely and necessary items for their new home.

Decorations for the event were in yellow and white and centred from a beautifully decorated cake, streamers going out from the table.

As the honorees opened the gifts, Mrs. Robbins read the messages on the cards. As this was going on, each bow and ribbon was used in making two bonnets later worn by the honorees.

The young couple graciously thanked all who had made this occasion such a happy one for them.

Lunch was served by the hostesses.

VAN TASSELL- My heart is filled with love and gratitude to our Digby and Annapolis County friends and relatives who were so kind and helpful to me following the passing of my husband, Burgess.

When I brought my late husband home for burial from our own Port Wade Church, your kind hearts reached out in love and compassion to me and to our family. The comforting service conducted by the Rev. Howard S. Hartlin, the support and assistance of the comrades of the Digby Branch, Royal Canadian Legion, the friends who were pallbearers, the beautiful flowers, memorial gifts, and especially the presence of so many of Burgess' relatives and friends at his funeral service, were of inestimable comfort to us in our sorrow. I shall never forget your Christian love, compassion and helpfulness. May God bless each and every one of you. BERTHA VAN TASSELL 39:lip

In Memoriams

HARNISH- In loving memory of a dear grandson, Gary Lee, who drowned May 1, 1974.
The blow was great, the shock severe,
We little thought death was so near
And only those who have lost can tell
The sadness of parting without farewell.
Memories are treasures no one can steal,
Death is a heartache no one can heal;
Some may forget you now that you're gone
But we will remember no matter how long.
Sadly missed by GRAMP AND NAN WENTZELL. 39:lip

HARNISH- In loving memory of a dear son and brother, Gary Lee, who drowned May 1, 1974.
May comes with deep regret,
It brings back memories
That we never shall forget.
He went so suddenly
Not even a goodbye,
But our memories of him will never die.
Lovingly remembered by MOM, SISTERS AND BROTHERS. 39:lip

THERIAULT- In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Edgar John, who passed away May 9th, 1960.
What we would give if we could say
Hello, Dad, in the same old way.
To hear your voice, see you smile
To sit with you and chat awhile.
So you who have a father
Cherish him with care
For you'll never know the heartache
Till you see his vacant chair.
Forever loved and remembered by daughter, LIDA, AND GRANDDAUGHTER, BRENDA. 39:lip

BAXTER- In loving memory of my dear son, Malcolm Leonard Baxter, who passed away May 5, 1970.
It's lonely here without you,
I miss you more each day,
For life is not the same to me
Since you were called away.
You bade no one a last farewill
Nor even said goodbye,
You were gone before I realized
And only God knows why.
They say memories are golden,
Well maybe that is true,
But I never wanted memories,
I only wanted you.
Always remembered by father CHARLES BAXTER. 39:lip

Another Look At The Unemployment Insurance Commission

QUESTION: In this morning's mail, I received a letter from your office saying I was disqualified from benefits. I don't agree with this decision. Could you please tell me if I have to accept this as a final answer?

ANSWER: If you do not agree with a decision made on your claim, you have the right to provide additional information, to the Commission, if you believe it might affect or even reverse this decision. If the Insurance Agent handling your claim does not reverse his decision or alter it to your satisfaction, you may then appeal. Even if you do not have additional information to provide, but still feel that the decision on your claim is wrong or unfair, you may still appeal.

In order to appeal the decision on your claim to a Board of Referees, you must write to the Unemployment Insurance Commission stating your wish to appeal. This letter should provide the detailed reasons why you do not agree with the decision. It should show your wish to have the appeal held in English or in French, your Social Insurance Number and your written signature.

QUESTION: If I wish to appeal a decision made by your office, how long do I have to prepare my letter.

ANSWER: An appeal to the Board of Referees must be filed within 30 days of the date you received written notification of the decision on your claim with which you disagree.

QUESTION: My "letter of refusal" tells me I have the right to appeal my case to a Board of Referees. Does this mean I'm still dealing with your office, or is this somebody else?

ANSWER: You are still dealing with our office. Your appeal letter should be sent to our office who will match it with your file and submit it to the Board of Referees. In most cases, the Board of Referees is composed of three people:

(1) The Chairman;
(2)0 A member who represents employers;
(3) A member who represents employees. These people who will hear your appeal are not employees of the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

QUESTION: I have two questions which I would like answered.
a) If I appeal, how much is it going to cost me?
b) Can I be present when my appeal is heard?

ANSWER: a) There is no cost for this service. b) You have the right, and are strongly encouraged, to attend the hearing and-or to delegate someone to appear on your behalf.

NOTE: If the Board of Referees does not allow your claim, you may appeal t o the Umpire who is a judge of the Federal Court of Canada. This decision will be final.

Children's Energy Being Tapped

The energies of Nova Scotia school children are being tapped in the cause of energy conservation.

Hon. William Gillis, Minister-in-Charge of the Nova Scotia Energy Council, has announced that the Energy Council, with the co-operation of the Department of Education, is sponsoring an energy conservation poster contest open to all pupils in grades four, five and six throughout the province. Entry forms have been mailed to all elementary school principals with the closing date of the contest being May 4.

"Energy conservation must be an on-going concern of all members of society and we think it is important that children grow up with the idea that energy must be used more sensibly and efficiently than we have used it in the past," Dr. Gillis said. "The poster contest is one means of fostering this idea. We expect to receive some very innovative posters and it is quite possible that the Energy Council will use some of them in our province-wide conservation program."

Posters may be submitted by one, two or three pupils. Among the possible topics suggested by the Energy Council are: 1) Depletion of Natural Resources; 2) Using Energy Wisely at Home and at School; and 3) The Family Car - Don't Be Fuelish!

The winning entry in each of grades four, five and six will receive books awarded to the school library in the value of $300. Three second prizes of books valued at $200 will be awarded. In addition, each student contributing to a winning poster will receive $10 and special mention prizes of $5 will be given to each pupil contributing to posters judged third to tenth for each of the three grade levels.

The posters will be judged by the Mary Lawson Chapter of the IODE and art education and conservation authorities.

The Good Road

There are many roads to go. The ways to health, wealth and power have all been recommended, and some seem to like the way of least resistance, but this is the road which leads to nowhere.

If a person goes around every hill and barrier, and never exerts himself to struggle over the top, he may wind up in the low swamp of failure and disappointment.

The common roads do not bring us in view of distant horizons. The challenging ways do have their own special rewards, never discovered by some people at all.

The road for some may be rocky and winding. The rewards may be quite invisible. Fortunately we don't have to go alone and unaided. Hand in hand with wife, husband, loved one, friend, and good neighbours, we step forth, a day at a time, along the path of faith. It is faith in God's golden sunshine of dreams fulfilled and goals reached.

Also, we are not alone because the risen Christ is there, whose wisdom and energy is our great resource. The Path which He lays before us leads to light and hope. It is the path of no regrets. This way requires special vision and obedience.

"Narrow is the way, which leadeth unto Life, and few there be that find it." Matthew 7:14. This is the good way missed by so many.

YOU'RE IN CHARGE

We can be in charge of our food dollars, if we decide to make that choice. That choice involves beforehand planning, discriminating shopping, careful preparation procedures, and resourceful storage ideas.

In order to keep our grocery bill down in times of inflation, we must take a good look at our buying and cooking habits, and we may have to change these to habits in order to reduce our grocery costs.

There are many factors you must consider when planning meals. One of the most important is time. In view of our activities and interests today, time is rarely given to carefully plan for wellbalanced, nutritious meals. In terms of money saved and nutrition gained, time must be given. Your time is controlled by many factors; family, number and ages of children, jobs, extra activities outside the home.

Resources is another important aspect. Advertised specials, books, are valuable resources. Planning helps to avoid impulse buying. By buying no more than you need you avoid waste, by buying no less than you need you avoid extra trips to the grocery store.

Make a grocery list. It is easier if your list is made up according to the layout of the store. Pick up your perishables last.

Shop alone if at all possible and don't shop when you are hungry. It has been proven through studies that when people shopped with empty stomachs, bought 17 per cent more and, also, purchased more impulse items.

Unit pricing gives you the cost per unit of the product. This makes it far easier when you are trying to compare different sizes to see which is the better buy. For example, a 10 ounce can is 20 cents, that is 2 cents per ounce. A 28 ounce can is 42 cents, or 1.5 cents per ounce. Therefore, the 28 ounce can is cheaper. There are some chain stores using unit pricing now. It is a great convenience to the consumer. The metric system is supposed to come out with easier sizes to make comparison, ie. multiples of 10.

Buy products in season to get the better buy. Also, during the fresh produce season, canned and frozen counterparts are often on special. This would be a great time to store up for the winter if you have some extra money on hand.

Be a brand switcher. Some brands are cheaper than others, but in some cases are the same product with different labels. Be aware of this and select the cheaper brand. Some products give the same amount of nutrients but cost more. For example, whole milk and 2 per cent milk gives the same amount of vitamins, yet one is cheaper.

The same holds true with the grades of items. Canned products are available on the market in Fancy, Choice and Standard grades. They vary in price, and appearance, but the nutritional value is the same. Most products that you purchase must be stored properly in order to maintain their nutritional value, as well as preventing food spoilage. Storing food properly should be just as important as your careful shopping practices.

Storing and cooking food properly, directly influences the amount of nutrients left in food by the time it reaches the table.

HELLO SUMMER

By T. R. Henshaw

Hello summer, life's sweetest span
For every woman and rich young man
Hello mosquitoes, skunks and bees
And gnats and bats and fallen trees.
And bawling infants bright and lively
Picnic by the poison ivy
Summer cabins, gov't sent
Each for just 1000 rent
Sunburn, ants, and spiders, leeches,
Broken bottles on the beaches
Bugs may bite you, snakes will hiss you
Hello summer, soon we'll greet you.

The Auxiliary supports a brother and sister in Haiti; contribute to a native Pastor and his family in Bolivia; contributed to past world disaster relief, and recently voted to put this into their budget as a regular project and to local church and community needs through the funds they raise from projects such as this Walk-a-Thon.

Lic. Fred Bigelow, superintendent of the Smith's Cove Baptist Sunday School, recently announced plans for a new attendance contest for the school. Special pins will be used to denote teams, posters and charts are being prepared to carry out the statistical portion of such an undertaking, as well as other interesting projects.

On Sunday, the pupils were introduced to Ladi, a Nigerian girl, whose story will be told beginning this Sunday, May 1.

Mr. Bigelow and the Staff regularly plan a missionary Sunday, with either slides or some other special missionary emphasis, at least once a month.

The School is also preparing to have a School Choir to present special music from time to time in the regular church service.

The quarterly business meeting was held on Monday evening, April 25, with the moderator, Mrs. Neil Adams, presiding.

This is their fund raising project for this spring season and they have been busy signing up sponsors.

Signs of spring are continuing to come forth, though it remains a bit cooler than we'd like to have it - ground too wet yet for starting gardens, in some areas, but lawn mowers, rakes, pruning shears, etc, are much in evidence, as well as paint brushes being stroked over outside furniture.

Digby - Annapolis County Baptists Fill B.R.H.S. Auditorium In Rally Service

Baptists from the Annapolis-Digby Association of Baptist Churches filled the Bridgetown Regional High School Auditorium to capacity Sunday evening in a rally service which marked the culmination of the annual spring association sessions.

The inspirational tone of the rally was set in the choir introit as a mass choir of forty voices, under the direction of Dr. George P. Allen, Bridgetown, sang the uplifting hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name".

Rev. John Kaulback, pastor of the Little River Baptist Church, offered the prayer of invocation and Rufus McGilchrist, moderator of the Association, extended a welcome to the congregation.

Rev. Paul Legge, pastor of the Clementsvale Baptist Church, led in a hearty hymn-sing, which was followed by the reading of Scripture by Rev. Ron Baxter, pastor of the Nictaux Baptist Church.

The Bridgetown Male Quartette, comprised of Robert and Fred Hall, Clayton Spicer, and George Allen, sang the selections "Thine for Service" and "Heaven Come Down and Glory Filled My Soul". The massed choir sang the offertory selection, "Living for Jesus".

Special music was provided by a youth choir of vocalists and instrumentalists from the Deep Brook-Bear River-Clementsvale pastorates under the direction of Rev. Douglas and Mrs. Hapeman of Bear River. A group of young children sang a number of selections under the direction of Diane Jetters and Betty Brinson, of Middleton.

Rev. Herman Spinney of Paradise offered prayer and Rev. David Watt, pastor of the Middleton Baptist Church, expressed thanks to all taking part in the Association program. Both Rev. Mr. Watt and Rev. George Allen expressed appreciation to the Supervisory Principal, Jack Walker, and vice principal, William Hirtle, and to the Bridgetown School Board for the use of the school facilities, and sincere thanks to school caretakers, Ernest Robichaud and Elwood Dukeshire.

The Association was also grateful for the musical contribution made to the association sessions by Miss Joanne Frankland, pianist, and Miss Lexi Peck, organist.

The keynote message of the Rally was delivered by Rev. Dr. Keith Hobson, Executive Minister of the Atlantic United Baptist Convention. Preaching from the text, John 20:31, "But these are written, that you might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing you might have life through his name". Dr. Hobson presented the Christian faith in a "living Christ" whose spirit and life can, and does, live in the life of those who believe and receive Him as Saviour and Lord. At the close of his message a number came forward to make recommitments of their lives to Christ.

The rally was brought to a close with the benediction and blessing pronounced by Rev. Willard Smith, pastor of the Lawrencetown Baptist Church.

Quick Facts On Power Saws

The average power saw produces 95 decibels of noise. Any sustained noise which exceeds 85 decibels will permanently damage hearing over a period of time.

Safety Step 1: Power saws differ significantly in noise emission, so next time you buy a saw, check this point out with the dealer.

Safety Step 2: Since even the quietest saws at present produce over 85 decibels, the only satisfactory way of avoiding hearing damage is to use ear protection. Ear muff type protectors fitted to a hard hat are ideal.

Safety Step 3: When you buy a new saw, in addition to a lower noise level, insist on a safety chain, anti-kickback device, and anti-vibration handle.

This package of safety features could save you from a serious accident.

Shad Need Better Management

The shad is fast becoming one of the most popular rod fish in Nova Scotia and it's difficult to understand why it has received such shabby treatment from anglers, conservationists and the people who manage sport fishing.

If anglers were surveyed, I'd bet my last Orvis-tied dry fly that shad would rank as the number two most popular fish in Nova Scotia. Well behind trout, mind you, but far ahead of that old status symbol, the Atlantic salmon, and striped bass.

And if you happened to take the survey in the angler-infested waters of the Annapolis Valley or up around the Stewiacke River area, you might find that the shad runs neck and neck with brook trout in the popularity pools. Some fishermen might be surprised to hear this. But for doubters I suggest a visit to the shad pools of the Annapolis or Nictaux Rivers during May, the best shad month. It's not unusual then to find several hundred anglers concentrated along a short stretch of river bank.

Shad angling with spinning tackle and flies has been growing steadily in popularity since the late 60's and early 70's. Anglers have found shad to be superb fighters and lots of fun to catch. They're also readily accessible when on their runs and quite plentiful.

Shad are easy to catch compared to trout, salmon and striped bass. Along with being plentiful, this is probably the main reason for the shad's popularity. An angler properly equipped with a light spinning rod and reel and a few shad lures can catch shad easily the first time out, with little previous experience. One day of fishing on a river when the runs are in and you're an expert on shad.

However, popular as it is, all is not well with the shad fishery. For one thing, a lack of shad angling regulations is threatening to destroy the fishery. A major problem is lack of a daily bag limit, giving anglers the green light to take an unlimited number of fish.

The lack of supervisory angling regulations, such as a bag limit, has led to wholesale waste of fish. It's common to see anglers haul shad in as fast as they can hook them and then leave them on the banks to rot. Not once have I visited a shad river without seeing evidence of waste.

Many fishermen think that rules of fair play and sportsmanship don't apply when it comes to shad angling. Wholesale foul hooking (jigging) of shad is common, so common that a large number of fishermen have come to accept it as the only way to take the fish.

Using the Annapolis River again as an example, I have on several occasions made a count there of fishermen using legal and illegal methods to take shad. Illegal fishermen have far outnumbered other anglers most times the count has been made. I counted 35 anglers on a stretch of the Annapolis one day and 21 were fishing illegally.

Perhaps the fishermen who abuse the shad fishery aren't completely to blame for their actions. The department of fisheries hasn't shown much interest in sport fishing for shad and has made little or no effort to look after it. A simple step would be to declare the shad a sport fish, set daily bag limits and a limited angling season.

Obviously shad should be given more protection while they are spawning. The huge schools that come into our rivers every spring won't last forever if unrestricted angling is permitted.

Since shad angling has to be concentrated in defined areas because of the nature of the spawning runs, it's possible for protection officers to effectively enforce the shad regulations we have at present. Yet either through a lack of manpower or lack of direction, the department of fisheries has only made a few feeble attempts to supervise shad angling.

You get the impression that the department and conservation groups don't care one whit about sport fishing for shad. This impression strengthens as the seasons pass and no move is made to manage the shad fishery.

What is needed is a change of the status of shad from commercial to sports fish on inland waters. Responsibility for shad management should be turned over to the province. Then a study of the shad fishery should be immediately made to determine bag limits and other conservation measures.

Also needed is a program to inform the fishing public about the value of the shad fishery and the urgent need for conservation practise.

Without these steps there's the possibility that overfishing may destroy a great recreational resource.

Message To Motorists

Give Cyclists A Chance

Dear Motorist:

We are witnessing a comeback of the bicycle on our streets and highways. As a result we are having quite a number of serious accidents involving bicycles and motor vehicles. This is probably due in part to the fact that many cyclists have no formal training and that drivers of motor vehicles are not exercising enough care when they encounter bicycles on the roadway.

According to recent studies, ninety-five per cent of all bicycle accidents are the result of collision with motor vehicles. One third of those accidents occurred because cyclists did not drive in a straight line when being passed by a motor vehicle or the motor vehicle did not allow the cyclist enought room. The other accidents occurred when cyclists entered the roadway, made left turns and disregarded signs, signals and traffic rules.

With the coming of summer you the motorist, will encounter many bicycles on the road. Some will drive their bicycles safely but others may be careless. Your action may mean the difference between live and death. Please keep the following in mind:

1. Realize that cyclists have a right to their fair share of the road.
2. Before passing, alert cyclist by blowing your horn.
3. When passing, give plenty of room and be prepared for any move the cyclist may make.
4. Whenever you see a cyclist on the road or nearby, reduce speed until you are safely past.

Please remember that a bicycle if involved in a collision gives very little protection to the cyclist. A collision with a motor vehicle could mean that the cyclist would be injured seriously, even fatally.

Town Votes $950. For Bureau

Digby Town Council on Monday evening in regular session voted $950 be given to the Digby Board of Trade towards the operation of the Digby Tourist Bureau on Montague Row.

The presentation in favor of the opening of Digby's Tourist Bureau in 1977 was made to Council by Lance Woolaver and Harold Riley. Their recommended budget for the operation of the bureau included $1500 grant channelled through the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade for tourism purpose. This amount was confirmed by Herb Smale, executive co-ordinator of A.V.A.B.T.The Municipality of the District of Digby voted $950 and the Town added $950 on Monday evening.

The budget of $3400 is expected to employ two and pay for other necessary expenses.

Eric VanTassell, Digby municipal councillor, also addressed Town Council with the request of having Digby Neck Road and Lighthouse Road enter into the Town's sewer system.

A letter was also read from the Digby sewer construction company to have specifics of various kinds finalized so that the new sewer system work can be continued. The letter advised that the existing sewers would have to be flushed and that they were prepared to train an operator in using the equipment for the new system. Mayor Stuart MacNaughton who presided asked that the sewer committee chairman call a meeting to look into the matter.

Mayor MacNaughton reported on several meetings he had attended in Halifax. He met with the Department of Environment officials and the Department of Highways who were sympathetic towards the project planned by the Town on the Water Street abutments but nothing was definite.

No report had yet been received as to the outcome of the mayor's presentation before the Board of Public Utilities for an increase in hydro rates.

The street, sewer and water report was presented by Frank Robinson, superintendent and Kenneth Ilnitski, assistant superintendent presented the costs for April in these departments viz streets $5884.65; sewer $1089.31; water $3140.39; total $10,115.35.

It was regularly moved and passed that the town streets be washed down and lines painted. Clean Up Week was proclaimed by Mayor Stuart MacNaughton for May 9 with one day set aside when collection of garbage would be made.

Apple Blossom Festival June 2-5

Program plans for the 45th Annual Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival are close to being finalized, according to the vice-president in charge of program, Beorge Butt, of Kentville. The major events of the past years which have proven to be popular remain mostly unchanged, but a few new twists have been added.

The Thursday night, June 2, program slated for the Memorial Ball Park in Kentville will start with a "celebrity" ball game, followed by a talent show and a fireworks display. Mr. Butt said the line-ups for the baseball teams, which will include local and provincial political and sports personalities, will be announced at a later date. About seven Valley groups will be invited to perform in the open air talent show, which will be followed by an Apple Blossom fireworks display, a renewal of a popular event discontinued two years ago.

As in past years, many of the Apple Blossom Festival activities will centre around the coronation of Queen Annapolisa and appearances by her and her princesses. About 15 Princesses are expected again this year, with the coronation scheduled for Friday night, June 3, at University Hall at Acadia University in Wolfville. ATV talk show host Alan Hamel will be this year's emcee. Plans call for the Princesses to remain at the Hall to view the musical program, following which they will go to the Queen's Ball at the Acadia Gymnasium. There will be a Princesses Ball Saturday night, June 4, at the Gym.

The Royal Party will also be a feature of the giant street parade to be held on the Saturday afternoon, June 4, in Kentville. Over the years, the street parade has grown to one of the largest in the Maritimes, featuring locally designed floats, marching groups, horses and other attractions. The youngsters will again have their children's parade in downtown Kentville on the Saturday morning.

The Sunday, June 5, afternoon outdoor musical program at Grand Pre National Park is also being finalized. Festival musical director Art Hildebrand of Wolfville, promises some changes and improvements in the annual event.

Mr. Butt said some new events are in the discussion stages. These include a "unity breakfast" with selected guests offering their thoughts on the decision facing Canadians following Quebec's threat of separation. Other possible events are a skateboard competition and community bonfires. Mr. Butt emphasized that there are also many exciting community and special events scheduled that will add to the annual festivities.

In Windsor, an invitational horse show is scheduled again for Apple Blossom Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the Hants County Exhibition grounds. Senior and Junior art shows are also planned for this year's festival, to be on exhibit at the two New Minas shopping malls. Following last year's success, a car rally is planned, starting in Windsor, travelling to Annapolis Royal and returning to Kentville, with lunch in Berwick and scheduled civic stops along the way.

Other festival features will include Lynch's amusement show in New Minas, the Kinsman Beer Fest in Kentville, the proclamation four by Dan D. Apple, a bowling tournament and various dances.

Following in the wake of last year's giant apple pie, Apple Blossom celebrants will have a chance to warm up their apple guessing ability again. This year, the question is "How many apples were needed to make the barrel of cider which will be on display during the June 2-6 festival?"

South West Nova Badminton Hi-lites

A lively and highly competitive badminton tournament was held in Yarmouth this past week-end with teams from the counties of Yarmouth, Shelburne, Queens, Digby and Annapolis competing. The event was the annual South-West Nova Tournament and involved play in A, B, C. Singles, Doubles and Mixed.

The eventual winner of the team trophy was Yarmouth who captured the trophy for the first time.

Some sparkling performances were turned in by some of the "Islands" players as they won 11 individual trophies for the two-day event.

Scintillating artistry by Steve Comeau earned him the glory of being the triple winner of the day. Steve won "A" Singles with ease, combined with Arden Thimot to capture the men's "A" Doubles and then with Judy Thimot as partner in "A" mixed, literally breezed to victory in that event.

Two other very promising players to emerge from the tournament were Michelle Kinney who at 13 was the youngest trophy winner of the day. She combined with Davis Elliott to take mixed "B" honours. (Davis incidentally achieved a milestone in his career winning his first trophy). She also teamed up with another fast-rising star, Kim Comeau to surprise many and win the Ladies "B" trophy. These girls, neither whose head reaches the top of the badminton net played with the poise and composure usually associated with older more experienced players.

In Ladies "A" Doubles, Judy Thimot and Heather Titus perennial winners of "A" section play encountered little difficulty in retaining supremacy as Ladies Doubles champs.

The Islands also had runner-up positions in two events. Former Provincial Champ, Kim Elliott coming back after a three year lay-off combined with Jane Thurber and finished a strong 2nd in Ladies Dlubles "B". In sectional play-offs, Billy Howard and Kim Comeau lost a heart-breaker to Annapolis and finished as runner-up in "C" Mixed.

This tournament culminated a very successful badminton season for the "Islands" and hopes still lie high that maybe in the not-too-distant future a regulation size gym will be available for our players to play in.

Business weak this week?

Give it a boost by long distance.

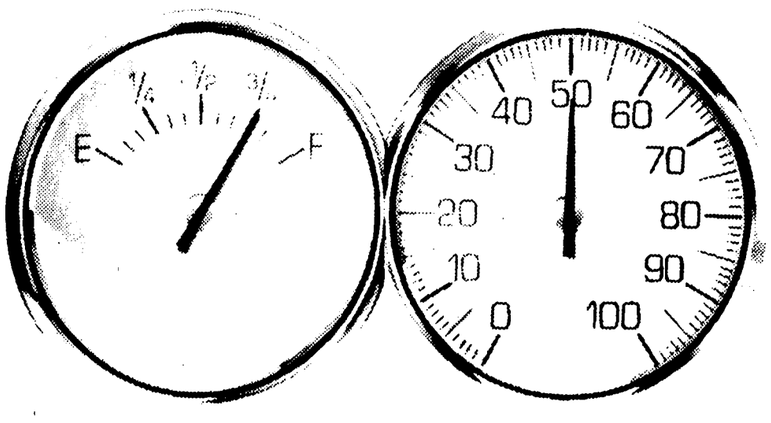
People in business today are discovering the amazing, rejuvenating qualities of a little extra long distance calling. Especially when things are quieter than they should be. You can check on dealer inventories; solve problems in advance; pick up new orders. It's being done more and more. Every week of the year.

It's especially good on weak weeks. Within Nova Scotia, a daytime direct-dialed call costs less than a dollar a minute. Even if it takes a couple of minutes, at little more than a "dollar-a-holler", who's to complain — if it means business. And it does.

MARITIME TEL&TEL
your neighbors serving you

Long distance is good business.

They said it couldn't be done.



45.2 miles per gallon. 0 to 50 in 7.7 seconds.

For the last number of years, carmakers have been struggling unsuccessfully with a huge problem, how to produce a car that is right for these changed times as well as for the changing times ahead.

A car that effortlessly combines economy, room, performance and safety.

It was beginning to look like an impossible chore.

Until now. Until the Volkswagen Rabbit. The car that does the impossible.

We spent five years planning and creating it. Fresh, from the ground up.

Its engine is a gem of ingenuity and function. Transversely mounted, this 1.6 litre, overhead cam, fuel injected powerplant delivers 45.2 miles per gallon on the highway and 30 miles per gallon in the city*. Yet remarkably, it can also propel you from 0 to 50 miles an hour in an astonishing 7.7 seconds. (A combination unmatched in the world.)

The engine along with the transmission is mounted up front, over the drive wheels to give you the superior road-hugging advantages of front-wheel drive.

Its rack-and-pinion steering gives you instant and obedient steering response.

Its unique "independent stabilizer rear axle" makes the car more stable on rough roads. Smoother riding on ordinary roads.

Safety?

The Rabbit has front disc brakes and a dual diagonal brake circuit. (If one circuit fails, a second is still there.)

A double jointed steering column breaks aside in the event of an impact.

The Rabbit also boasts negative steering roll radius. (It assists the driver in maintaining directional control under conditions which contribute to skidding.)

There's a specially designed "unitized safety cell body". Even reinforced steel beams in the doors.

When it comes to room, a staggering 87% of the car is sheer passenger and cargo space.

Besides seating four adults comfortably, the Rabbit with its rear seat folded down has more luggage space than a Cadillac Fleetwood. And with five doors, there are enough ins and outs for everyone.

Stop by your nearest Volkswagen dealership and put a Volkswagen Rabbit to the test.

When you're done, we know there'll be one less person who said it couldn't be done.

STIR-FRYING

This is a relatively new cooking technique in Canadian homes; although it was developed by the Chinese years ago. This method of cooking meat and vegetables is catching on quickly.

Basically it involves cooking small pieces of vegetables and meat at a high temperature, in a vegetable or peanut oil. The food must be stirred constantly during cooking. Vegetables are excellent done this way because they retain their crispness and color.

The Chinese people use a special metal pan called a wok, however, a large heavy skillet will do the job just as well. It is important to prepare all your ingredients beforehand, so they are ready to add at the precise moment.

Meat, fish, or poultry should be sliced thinly, or cut in small cubes, or strips. When preparing the vegetables it is important to note that they should be relatively the same size. There are many ways to cut them up, which all helps to create interest, just keep in mind that they will cook more evenly if sliced thinly and relatively the same size. Slices, diagonals, coins, or strips, are only a few of the many shapes the vegetables can be prepared.

Place the skillet on the stove and turn the burner to high. If a drop of water sizzles when added to the pan, then it is hot enough to add the oil. Use a vegetable or peanut oil, since it is hot enough to withstand high temperatures without smoking. The ingredients are added at different times depending on the recommendations in the recipe. Stir them well so they are all coated in oil. Keep stirring, turning, or lifting, during cooking to prevent sticking and burning. Once the vegetables are all cooked add the seasonings.

STIR-FRY PORK WITH VEGETABLES

4 thick pork chops, (about 1 ½ pounds)
2 garlic cloves, crushed
1 small onion, minced
½ teaspoon ground ginger
½ cup soy sauce
2 tablespoons peanut or vegetable oil
1 can water chestnuts, drained
2 cups diagonally sliced celery
1 package (10 ozs.) frozen cut green beans (thawed)
¼ cup cornstarch
1-3 cup water
14 ounces chicken broth
salt and pepper
Scallion slices for garnish (optional)
Hot, fluffy rice

Trim fat and bones from pork chops. Cut pork into thin strips using a sharp knife. Place strips in a bowl and add garlic, onion, ginger, and soy sauce. Let stand at room temperature for 1 hour; drain, save liquid.

In a skillet, heat oil and add the pork. Cook over high heat, stirring until pork is cooked, about 5 minutes, or until vegetables are tender-crisp. In a bowl, mix water, cornstarch, reserved marinade, and chicken broth. Stir mixture into skillet. Cook and stir over moderate heat until sauce bubbles and thickens. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Garnish with scallions if desired. Serve with rice. Makes 6 servings.

Another Look At The U.I.C.

Question: For the last 22 years, I've paid Unemployment Insurance Premiums without ever applying for benefits. Could you please explain why I must continue to pay UI premiums?

Answer: Like most Canadians, you are probably insured against various possible misfortunes such as fire, theft, and automobile accidents. That way, if you suffer an unfortunate experience beyond your control, you have some protection against your loss.

Unemployment Insurance operates on the same principle. You pay for protection against your loss of income. If you have lost your employment by reasons of misconduct, or you have left your employment without just cause, your benefits could be denied, therefore losing the protection you have paid for.

While you are paying UI premiums, it is important to remember that you are insuring yourself for the immediate future only. You are covered for a maximum of 51 weeks and your contributions are only valid for a year prior to the date you apply for benefits.

To achieve a stable economy, money must circulate from the business sector to the public in the form of wages. The public then has income to purchase goods and services from the business sector, which in turn has the revenue to pay more wages to produce more goods. If this cycle is interrupted for any reason, unemployment and loss of income results.

Unemployment Insurance benefits "prime the cycle" by filling the wage gap, therefore a contributing factor in keeping the economy stable. So, even if you contribute premiums and never actually collect benefits, you are indirectly helping to prime the cycle.

Lieutentant Governor, A Busy Man

By John MacCormick

An hour-long helicopter ride; an address to high school pupils; a question and answer session with well-informed political science students; a comprehensive tour of the facilities of the Nova Scotia School for Boys; an address to and conversation with the boys; a visit to Shelburne Municipal Council; a visit to the Mayor at Town Hall; a tour of the hospital facilities and residents of Roseway Manor; a trip to the waterfront ship repair service for talks with welders and other craftsmen on their bustling operations.

If you think that sounds like a busy week, you're right. But it wasn't a week's schedule; it was part of a day's job for Nova Scotia's Lieutenant Governor Dr. Clarence L. Gosse.

The Lieutenant Governor who is the Queen's representative in Nova Scotia for all purposes of the Provincial Government, is often regarded as a person whose full time is taken up with dinners, entertaining royalty and other dignitaries and officiating at a variety of other social and ceremonial functions. But Dr. Gosse is much more than that. He is a man who gets around the province, a busy man whose pace and energy can fatigue the most energetic of reporters following him. The Shelburne visit demonstrated just that.

Accompanied by Mrs. Gosse, Hon. Harold Huskilson, Provincial Secretary and MLA for the Shelburne constituency, and an Aide-de-Camp, Dr. Gosse paid an official visit to the town of Shelburne last Thursday, (April 21) marking the first occasion since 1971 that a Lieutenant Governor has done so. The Lieutenant Governor arrived at the N.S. School for Boys in Shelburne at 9:30 and covered his busy schedule by 3:30 for the helicopter trip back to Halifax.

During his stop at Shelburne Regional High School Dr. Gosse addressed the student body referring to today's youth as "a responsible group". "Regardless of what older people say about youth," Dr. Gosse assured students, "there is nothing wrong with our younger generation that the older people haven't outgrown." As a memento of his visit, the Lieutenant Governor presented the school with a framed photograph of himself and Mrs. Gosse with Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip, taken during their 1976 Royal Visit to Nova Scotia.

Later that morning the political science pupils at Shelburne High were given the opportunity to question Dr. Gosse and Hon. Mr. Huskilson on a variety of political questions and non-political issues. A highly knowledgeable student group asked questions on the duties of a Lieutenant Governor and the Provincial Secretary, the Lieutenant Governor's political status, repatriation of the BNA Act, the possibility of Quebec's separation, the value and functions and future of the British Common wealth and even his views on Communism.

A light touch was added to the proceedings when a young student asked the Lieutenant Governor if he ever just felt like "chucking it all up" some morning and retiring from the rigors of public life. Dr. Gosse said he never considered it, since he regarded his position as rewarding and useful but hectic. However, he added: "I sleep well."

The afternoon's schedule was Dr. Gosse's visit to the N.S. School for Boys, where he and his wife did a complete tour of the educational, medical and recreational facilities of the seven-building complex. On several occasions he spoke personally to many of the 100 boys now in the institution, questioning, persuading and advising the boys who are aged from nine to 16. After addressing the assembled students he presented the school library with a colour history of the 25-year reign of Queen Elizabeth II. It was the most appropriate day of the year, April 21, the Queen's birthday.

Visits to the Shelburne Town Hall and county municipal building were also part of the itinerary. This was followed by a visit to the Roseway Hospital and Manor, escorted by Mrs. Joan Lay, Chief Administrator. The Lieutenant Governor, Mrs. Gosse and Hon. Mr. Huskilson literally saw it all from the x-ray department to the kitchen. But Dr. Gosse found time to speak to the staff and even have a chat with Roseway Manor's first resident, Ralph Brannen of Cape Sable Island. No matter what the schedule, the Lieutenant Governor seems to always make time to speak to people.

At Shelburne Industrial Park, Lieutenant Governor Gosse spoke to welder Glenn Wood of Shelburne County and worker Larry Jeddry of Clyde River, Shelburne County, who was in the process of putting new oak planking on a freighter being converted at drydock to a deep-sea lobster vessel.

Dr. Gosse has been referred to as a man who digs in, questions, answers, and investigates. He takes as much interest in speaking to a welder as he does in speaking to a mayor. At Shelburne that's just what he did. A far cry from the popular misconception of the Lieutenant Governor as an aloof individual whose duties involve only pomp and ceremony.

At Shelburne he did what he most enjoys—talking to other Nova Scotians. The Lieutenant Governor - diplomat and gentleman - helicoptered back to Halifax for another busy evening. But as he explained, if you don't find the time - you make it!

Flip a Switch Be Wise

You'll Be Dollars Ahead!

Before the price of oil went sky high, being carefree about our consumption of electricity came naturally. Most of us left lights on in unoccupied rooms, let the hot water run away. Even turned on the broiler to make a piece of toast. And why not? Electricity was one of the great bargains.

There's little we can do as individuals about the prices charged by oil producers. But we can fight back. Be wise by flipping a switch instead of forgetting. Be wise by practicing the WISE USE OF ELECTRICITY.

The Nova Scotia Power Corporation has a new program to help you to use electricity wisely, without taking any of the real comfort or fun out of life.

A Thought Starter

by Rev. R.C. MacCormack
RR 4, Fredericton, N.B.

WHERE DID THE BURDEN GO?

It is one thing to believe in forgiveness, but quite another to experience the release and joy which result. It is possible to confess, then go on without the assurance of pardon and peace.

It is limiting God, to say He is big enough to forgive, but not able to remove the pain of guilt, and the penalty for wrong-doing. If He has grace to send His Son to die for our sin and burden, then His grace is also sufficient to lift the loads, (II Cor. 3:5). We are under condemnation no more, Romans 8:1.

Failure to grasp our good fortune to be completely delivered, is common. Perhaps the gift is too much for us to comprehend.

In the old days, a man was driving along the country road with his horse and wagon. He overtook a neighbour who was walking by the roadside, carrying a heavy load. The man driving said to his neighbour, "jump in and have a ride". A while later the guest was still carrying the big package in his arms. The friend said, "Why not put your package down and let the horse carry it?" The timid man replied, "It is enough that the horse would carry me, I won't ask him to carry my load too."

A Christian or a seeker may be unacquainted with the great strength and love of the Lord. This is what freedom through Christ is all about.

What a relief to have Him carry us and our weight too!

Makes Bull Purchase

Demand was high and bidding brisk at the Super Select Invitational Hereford Sale held April 16th at the Hants County Exhibition Grounds, Windsor, N.S. Fifteen head were offered from the finest Hereford herds in the Province, according to sales manager Bradford Hood.

Among the buyers were Hugh Colwell and Sons, Weymouth, Digby County, who chose three head including $890 Minotaur B Hans 4H a bull which was consigned by John and Shirley Layton, Oxford. The Colwells also chose one female from the herd of Norman and Bruce Spence and from Everett Goodall, Pictou, N.S.

All members rocked the full 12 hours, going home at 9 p.m. tired but happy that they had been responsible for raising $225.00 for their adopted sister.

Expect To Open Digby Neck Center In June

Work is progressing on the Digby Neck Firehall and Community Center. It is expected that an 'open house' will be held on June 18, with a dance in the evening. According to the L.I.P. contract all work is to be completed by May 6. There will be minor work to be done after this date, but all major work will be done and the Center will be a reality.

Committees are hard at work to put the hall to good use. The bingo committee has it Thursday nites and the Youth Group has scheduled a pie social for May 6. The dance committee has scheduled May 7, 9:30 to 1, with the Kolts furnishing the music. May 20 will have the Bonded Stock and the June 4 and June 18 nites will have music by Uncle Penn.

The community is invited to make suggestions for use of the hall. It is not necessary to be a member of the Fire Department to take part because this is a community recreation hall and is to be used by the community. Several wedding receptions have been scheduled and it is expected that summer will find the hall in full use.

South Range Group Speak At Tiverton

South Range, Digby Co. group held Sunday morning service in the Tiverton Christian Church.

The group, consisting of about 15 men and women, dedicated Christians, presented the service in sermon and song.

The sermon, delivered by three speakers, asked three questions: (1) Why do we have a Bible? The speaker said through the Bible we learn by faith God's plan of salvation and hope for eternal life. The answer was also found in the hymn sung by a mixed quartet, "It Was Alone the Savior Died" with organ accompaniment and "Keep your Eyes on Jesus" with guitar accompaniment. (2) Why did Jesus die on the cross? The answer to this, said the second speaker, was to fulfill God's plan of redemption for mankind as prophesied in the Old Testament and fulfilled in the New Testament. The solo, "I Was on His Mind" and the duet "For Those Tears" further told of God's love for everyone. (3) The satisfaction that comes from being a Christian. The third speaker pointed out that Christianity gives life a new meaning to those who will accept it. He said when Christianity is effective in the home it has to show so don't keep your religion just in the Church. The solo, "He Looked Beyond My Faults"; the group singing, "Thank God for My Christian Home" and "People to People", pointed out the wonderful experience of having Christianity in the home.

An action song, " Shake the Dust Off Your Bible" was greatly enjoyed. The song leader, in urging the congregation to join in the singing, said, "don't be afraid of Christianity, it's a lot of fun."

The group sang the invitation hymn, "How Can You Refuse Him Now?"

Organist for the event was Miss McCullough.

Many expressed enjoyment derived from the fine Christian program prepared and presented by the group.

While in the area, they were luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cossaboom, Mr. and Mrs. Alger Sollows and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ossinger.

Reflecting To 1947

By the April 24, 1947 issue of The Digby Courier we see that the Digby Board of Trade decided to purchase a former R.C.A.F. Drill Hall located in Yarmouth for use as a skating and curling rink. An amount of $6,600 was to be turned over to company previously formed and the town for the purchase. Most of this had been raised at a July 1st Fair.

A matter of consideration under discussion by the Nova Scotia Government and the War Assets Corporation was the possibility of the province purchasing the big multi-million dollar training base at Cornwallis for conversion into a tourist and convention centre. Cost of conversion would be about $2,500,000. The purchase price, however, was found too high. (Today we still have Cornwallis as a Canadian Force Base for training recruits).

The gypsum storage shed at Deep Brook, which had been used by the Canadian Gypsum Company for winter shipments of productions from its Windsor quarries, was to be abandoned shortly according to news. A new storage shed and building plant was being erected at Hantsport.

Editorially, the curbing of speeding in town was in the April 24 columns. The speeding took place mostly from the Bandstand to the Myrtle House. Police and residents were asked to try curb the situation before a disaster happened. "Hit offenders in the pocketbook" seemed to be the advice.

The School Board decided to install fire escapes at the Digby Academy. While the fire marshall felt present means of escape were suitable if the stairway leading to the basement were strengthened and the basement door to the first floor kept closed at all times the Board chose to avoid any risk in loss of life. Since older students would be going to the new Regional School, the children on the second floor of the Academy would be younger children and there would be more danger of panic hazards. More than 200 students would be using the exit in the old wooden section in case of fire.

A letter from Keld Christensen, American Vice Consul, to the editor reminded readers that the United States Nationality Act of 1940 contained the provision that any American citizen, either by birth or naturalization would automatically lose his American citizenship if he should vote in any political election in a foreign state after January 13, 1941. The letter was written in view of the fact that there are many persons with American citizenship residing in Digby vicinity.

The mail must go through. So said The Digby Courier in a caption under a picture 30 years ago of Louis Gaudet, Concession, carrying mail on his route by ox team. (Many probably wish for the good old days.)

News in The Digby Courier for May 1, 1947 was of exceptional nature. Headlines read "Eight Fires In Less Than A Week". The most devastating of these was the Bunk House fire on the property of H.T.Warne Ltd. and which at one time threatened the entire South end of Digby. A residential property known as Orchard Cottage near by became a total loss as a result of the Bunk House fire. The Bunk House fire apparently had started from a chimney fire. Several fires started in the H.T. Warne Ltd. lumber yard and flames set fire to the home of Hugh Vincent. Other places which caught from the Bunk House fire were the Bishop House, the Raymond house and the large warehouse of Hants Wholesalers Ltd. The Warne bunk house was the former "Dingle", a former residential property and "show place" of Digby when owned by the late C.E.Walker. Orchard Cottage, known as the residence of the late Judge Holdsworth, a leading figure in Digby's past, was owned at the time of the fire by Mrs. Helen Anthony. It had previously belonged to Rev. F.E.Kirkers.

The Warne employees made homeless by the burning of the Bunk House were housed temporarily at the Hillcrest Hotel on Warwick St. opposite the Digby General Hospital. The Digby Fire Department however was called out to a slight blaze at the Hillcrest. This hotel had been closed for several months and re-opened for the Warne employees. Origin of this fire was a chimney fire.

The H.T. Warne Ltd. bunkhouse fire was on Thursday. On Sunday the fire department was called out to the residence of H.T. and Mrs. Warne. No fire was found but the house was filled with smoke believed to be caused by a furnace backfire.

Another story in the May 1, 1947 edition of The Digby Courier tells of two other fires during the week. A fire which took over an hour to extinguish broke out at the Royal Hotel and another call was for a chimney fire at the home of Theodore G.Roberts. The latter place was the former Margaret Stewart residence.

Three were rendered homeless in Digby when fire gutted the home of Mrs. Idella Dakin, First Avenue. Made homeless were Mrs. Dakin, her daughter, Josephine and a son, Daniel. It was thought that a grass fire caused the house to burn.

Twelve areas out of 14 finally decided to amalgamate for forming the Digby Consolidated High School. One section, South Range East, did not vote and Roxville voted 8-4 against the consolidation.

The scallop fishing season, October to April, was under consideration to extend for the entire year. This would give the boats permission to fish scallop beds outside territorial waters without restriction. The department ruling permitted boats to operate outside territorial waters from a line drawn from Cape St. Mary, Digby Co. and Western Head, Maine, westerly in the Bay of Fundy.

According to the news, there was a possibility that a large oil concern may take over the former R.C.A.F. bulk gasoline storage depot located on the D.A.R. property known as the Cannon Bank. H.A.Dunphy, manager D.A.R. met with the town council regarding continuance of a lease given by the town on a portion of Carleton Street which passed through the storage depot property. This street was leased by the town to the government during the war and one of the four large underground gas tanks were located on it. Also on the property was the former R.C.A.F. barracks purchased by the town from the War Assetts Corporation and used as a junior high school building. Digby Town Council decided to continue to lease the property provided arrangements were made that the town have continued use of that portion on which the high school building stood. The Council also agreed to continue the lease on the railways right-of-way on Lower Water Street leading to the storage depot. During the war 250,000 gallons of high octane gasoline were stored there by the R.C.A.F.

DRUG DISPOSAL

Bins will be available at Levy's Drug Store downtown, Digby and at the Good Neighbour Drug Mart at the Evangeline Mall from May 1 to May 7 for the disposal of out-of-date drugs. Drug Disposal Days have been arranged under the auspices of the Nova Scotia Safety Council with the co-operation of the Poison Control Centre and the Nova Scotia Pharmaceritical Society.

The purpose of the project is to rid homes in Nova Scotia of unused medication no longer required and which might be accidently misused resulting in poison or death.

Seminar On Development In South Western N.S.

A seminar on planning, development and energy will be held at St. Ann's College on June eighteenth and nineteenth when interested persons from Barrington Municipality to Annapolis will be invited to participate.

Issues of prime interest to the development of southwestern Nova Scotia will be discussed. These will include presentations on background studies now being conducted in the southwest as part of the planning process and including the Regional Economic Base Study, Clare Environment Study and others. The effects of Route 101 and 103, the need and potential for industry and prospects for present and alternate forms of energy will be reviewed.

This seminar will be cosponsored by Clare Planning Advisory Committee and St. Ann's College. More details on this seminar will be given at a later date.

Today's Student Gets Geography First Hand

By Carol Welch

School has certainly changed when students can attend bull fights and ride camels during the spring break. This was the experience of Miss Candace Bailey, granddaughter of Mrs. Mary Bailey of Westport. Candace, who is now attending school in St. Johns, Newfoundland, went with a school group to Spain this month and has written her grandmother about her experiences.

She writes, "one grows to appreciate the things we have after seeing how some poor people live." One experience was their visit to typical Spanish villages to learn of their way of life. Though the vegetation was beautiful the conditions of some of the people were very poor and Candace felt the group learned a great deal on the trip.

Some other special interest visits were to Tangiers in Africa, where they rode the camels; to the bullfights, where five bulls were killed; and even on a burro safari in the rain.

Candace reports that the students' accommodations were pleasant, and she came home with a lovely tan - home to the snow and cold. As well as learning how to save up money for a special goal, and how to spread your money thin on a trip, it is certainly a wonderful way to study geography.

Senior Citizens Too Old, Serious Mistake - Reddy

Rejection of senior citizens as being too old to contribute, too rigid to accept new ideas and as being a burden which someone else should bear has probably been the most serious mistake, of the past generation, said Cyril Reddy, District Supervisor Department of Social Services, when addressing the annual meeting of the Digby Mental Health Association held at the Fundy Restaurant on Saturday evening. Many of these citizens are still able to contribute positively to communities, he said, but the result of rejection is extreme loneliness for them. In closing his remarks he suggested that this loneliness, the most destructive of all feelings, can be eliminated by understanding of each others circumstances and by effort on the part of each concerned.

Speaking in general Mr. Reddy said that we must recognize that we are living today in an affluent society that has a tremendous emphasis on technology. This creates a need for personal gain and the pressures involved to achieve this aim cause extreme loneliness, he said. The pressures that the affluent society has created directly affect also the young and middle-aged. There is created such extreme pressure on these groups that demands for increased Mental Health Services and better understanding from each and every person in the community are a necessity, he remarked.

Family life has been disrupted, the speaker said. Young men and women are faced with a multiple choice of careers and are expected to do well in whatever field they choose. Failure to any degree is unacceptable. The moral system has been modified to the point of where we must question its actual existence (drugs, promiscuous sexual behaviour, and broken homes). Yet, out of all this "chismocile" we are supposed to provide model citizens. How are the young to cope? queried Mr. Reddy.

The vocation of marriage, which has been the backbone of our society since its inception, is coming under a continuous barrage of pressure: cost of housing; cost of feeding a family and demands of "keeping up with the Jones' ". When the rate of failure in marriage reaches epidemic proportions, each and every known social problem will accompany it, continued Mr. Reddy.

Mr. Reddy commended the Digby Mental Health Association in the work they have undertaken in Mental Health and reminded the organization that small acknowledgments give people encouragement, recognition and satisfaction. If each give thought to making a point of understanding a neighbour there will result a more happy, productive and pleasant community.

Saturday evening's dinner meeting was presided over

Wings For Digby

The orginal public relations campaign that lead to the establishment of a paved landing strip at the Digby Municipal Airport was built around the slogan "Wings for Digby".

Both before and after that public relations campaign, air facilities at Digby have moved forward. That campaign was the driving force for the initial development of the airport. The present promotion centered around the upcoming Canadian Owners and Pilots Association annual convention is the next step.

Orginally the Porter farm, the site now occupied by the Digby Municipal Airport was first developed by the Digby Air Services Limited. The District of Digby Municipal Council tried unsuccessfully for four years to gain ownership of this facility. At that time, the airport was little more than a dirt strip.

Following considerable effort, the Digby Municipal Council was able to purchase the site. Councillor Bud Windchester, as the first chairperson of Council's airport committee, lead the fight to purchase and develop this facility for the Digby area.

Following a public relations campaign built around the slogan, "Wings for Digby", the Project Implementation Group, a division of the Department of Finance, worked with the municipality to derive a rather grandoise development plan for this air facility. This provincial group was able to secure the financial participation of the federal government in the development program that followed.

Leading up to that development program, the wings for Digby public relations campaign was successfully staged. Winchester is especially appreciative of the contribution made by the business community and the residents of both Digby and Annapolis areas.

The federal and provincial development program and funds constructed the present air terminal. A three thousand by seventy-five foot runway was built. The runway base was built long and wide enough to be eventually expanded to four thousand one hundred feet and thereby able to accommodate even the larger jets.

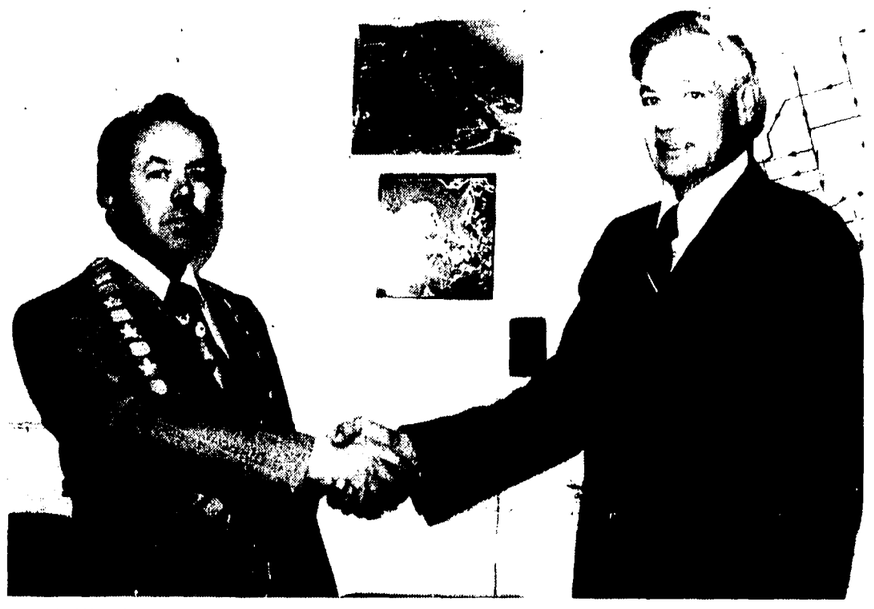
Although the airport is without full instrument landing, the underground conduit and other preparatory work was completed with the original contract. The specialized equipment for full instrument landing need only be purchased and installed.

In early June, the Canadian Owners and Pilots Association will hold their annual convention in the Annapolis Basin area. The Digby Municipal Airport will host over one hundred aircraft. Specialized COPA air traffic control will be established for the event. Numerous other special events and attractions are being planned for this convention.

The COPA convention will afford the Digby Municipal Airport national and international exposure. This convention will be given nation wide media coverage.

The Annapolis Basin area will be shown off to the whole of North America.

New Town Clerk



His Worship Mayor Stuart MacNaughton welcomes the new Town Clerk at the Digby Town Hall. James Wheelhouse succeeds Kenneth Eavis whose resignation took effect April 30.

Digby's newly employed town clerk, J.M. Wheelhouse, began duties at the Town Hall last week. Mr. Wheelhouse succeeds Kenneth Eavis in the town clerk position.

Mr. Wheelhouse comes to the town hall highly qualified, having held the position of Hospital Administrator at the hospital, CFB Cornwallis since 1974. From 1966 to 1974 he was administrator at the armed service hospital, Borden, Ontario and from 1960-66 he was employed as Medical Finance Officer, Prairie Medical Region, Winnipeg, Manitoba where he was responsible for budgeting and controlling the finance for all military - medical activities within the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Prior to that he was Administration and Finance Officer at the Institute of Aviation Medicine, Toronto, Ontario.

Mr. Wheelhouse was born at Pacific Junction, N.B. and was brought up and educated in Bear River, N.S. In 1956 he graduated from Acadia University with Bachelor of Science and Bachelor of Education degrees.

Mrs. Wheelhouse was the former Valivia Melanson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Melanson, Digby. They have three children, a son, James, a coast guard engineer at Dartmouth; a daughter, Patricia, Mrs. Stephen Pringle, a psychiatric nurse with the Wellesley Hospital and a son, Thomas, a grade twelve student at the Annapolis Royal Academy.

Recently Mr. and Mrs. Wheelhouse purchased the Marla Motel on the South end of Digby which is rented as apartments.

Digby County Power Board Rates Increased

The Board of Commissioners of Public Utilities, Halifax, has granted an increase in power rates by the Board and its four distributing utilities, Digby Town, Digby Municipality, Clare Municipality and Weymouth Village. The increase was granted after presentations had been made by Mayor Stuart MacNaughton, superintendent of the D.C.P.B. and other representatives of the utilities at hearings held in Halifax. Other units in Nova Scotia were also granted increases.

The rate increases range from 22 to 40 per cent for domestic customers, while general service customers face power rate hikes of 19 to 36 percent. The rates are effective March 2 for all utilities, except the Berwick and Kentville utilities whose new rates are effective on bills rendered on and after April 30.

The P.U.B. approved the Digby County Power Board's application for a 110 per cent hike in base charges and a 15 per cent increase in energy charges to its wholesale customer which include the four other municipal utilities in the county.

These power rate increases were reflected in the rate schedules approved for the four utilities. Sizeable base charge increases and energy charge increases ranging from 0.31 to 0.38 cents per kilowatt hour were approved for power utilities in Digby, Weymouth and the district of Digby.

The P.U.B. granted a 35 per cent across-the-board increase in rates for customers in the district of Clare.

The power rates were revised to offset the increased cost of electric power and energy purchased from the Nova Scotia Power Corporation. P.U.B. chairman W.D. Outhit said several of the municipal utilities will come before the board later this year for approval of further rate increases to offset increased operating costs.

Princess Of Acadia Traffic Up

April passenger traffic on CN Marine Ferries in Atlantic Canada continued what is now a seven-month overall decline. Rail freight tonnage also showed a drop when compared to the same month a year ago. However, truck and tractor trailer traffic increased.

CN Marine reports carrying a total of 104,807 passengers on its four major services in April, a drop of 3.8 per cent over April a year ago. Comparable figures for each of the past six months also show declines in passengers handled.

Automobile traffic was also down in April. The total of 32,514 represents a drop of two per cent.

Trucks handled last month totalled 6,776, an increase of 8.3 per cent while the number of tractor trailer units carried was 8,573 , an increase of 19.3 per cent.

The brightest individual performer of the four major services was the Saint John-Digby operation. The largest percentage decreases were recorded on the Yarmouth- Maine services.

April traffic for each service compared with April of 1976 show the following for the N.B.- N.S. operation:

N.B.- N.S.: passengers- 7,826 up 28.7 per cent from 5,661; automobiles - 1,592 up 30.8 per cent from 1,217; trucks- 443 up 15.7 per cent from 383; tractor trailers - 1,303 up 31.1 per cent from 994.

Home Economist Guest Speaker

Mrs. Bruce Hutchins was hostess at her home, Smith's Cove, on the evening of May 4th for the monthly meeting of the Admiral Digby Horticultural Society. Donald White, president, presided.

On behalf of the Garden Club , Mrs. Hutchins extended a welcome to Miss Susan Horne, Home Economist, Dept. of Agriculture and Marketing Kentville, as guest speaker for the evening. Miss Horne touched upon the various duties in connection with her department , saying many publications were available, giving insight into what information could be given to consumers. Most of these are a free service.

The staff works across the Province, carrying on a varied program through personal visits, newspaper columns, radio and T.V., giving helpful advice suitable for each area, also on home cooking, mostly for young home makers. An effort should be made to keep track of grocery lists and amount spent on food of nutritional value. Many booklets are available featuring N.S. dishes and recipes.

Comments were made concerning the proper and safest way to prepare and freeze vegetables and fruits, which always need to be blanched and should never be refrozen. This applies as well to meats and fish, which should be used shortly after thawed. Fruits and produce should always be well washed.

Guide lines are available for catering to church groups and community affairs, working with 4-H Clubs and youth programs.

Mrs. Hutchins thanked Miss Horne for visiting the Garden Club and for the friendly manner in which the program was presented.

The regular business meeting was conducted by the president, with reports being given on the summer work now well on the way.

On May 18th twenty members from the organization will attend the annual meeting of the Western District of the N.S. Association of Garden Clubs, to be held at Bear River, N.S. and take part in the program.

A July trip by bus is planned to the Avon Valley Greenhouses, Windsor, N.S., as a project for the month.

The June meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Louise Stephen, when slides will be shown featuring the Art of Flower Arranging. Later floral arrangements will be made and commented upon. At each monthly meeting an appointed committee presents an interesting program.

At the close of the meeting the members enjoyed a social hour with refreshments being served by Mrs. Hutchins, assisted by co-hostesses, Miss Mary Marshall and Mrs. Mabel Marshall.

Miss Campbell To International Conference

Coline Campbell, member of parliament for South Western Nova, represented Canada at an important International Conference this month. The meeting of young commonwealth leaders in Jamaica, May 4th to 9th, Miss Campbell was one of three delegates chosen to represent Canada and was the only Canadian parliamentarian taking part in the conference. She will also represent Canada at the 18th meeting of the Canada-U.S.A. Interparliamentary Group in Victoria, B.C.

The Jamaica conference was called as a result of a meeting of the Commonwealth Youth Affairs Council in Malta in 1976. It was agreed at that conference that the first pan-commonwealth seminar should be a meeting on youth participation in all aspects of society, including community, national and international development. It was noted that over 30 of the 36 commonwealth countries have populations of which more than 50 percent are under the age of twenty five. Governments are beginning to experience the importance of this situation and the Jamaica Conference was the first large scale effort to deal with it.

Among topics dealt with at the conference were participation by young people at the community and national levels; community participation and its relevance at the international level; international issues of concern to commonwealth youth and priority areas for youth participation. Speakers included Hon. Michael Manley, Prime Minister of Jamaica.

The interparliamentary group sessions are among the most important joint meetings of Canadian and United States parliamentarians, serving as they do as a forum for discussion and the development of mutual understanding of matters of concern to both nations.

Among issues to be dealt with at this year's sessions

IS D.A.R. NEEDED

This is the month when the Canadian Transport Commission will be holding its hearing on rail passenger service. Should it be retained or should it be discontinued?

Among the lines being considered, we believe, is the Dominion Atlantic Railway (D.A.R.) from Halifax to Yarmouth. People living in the areas of this line or people with interests have been requested to consider the question. It is time now to ask ourselves how much homework we have done. Is the D.A.R. needed. What will your answer be.

Looking at the D.A.R. service as is and of now, one might readily be inclined to agree to its abandonment. Few use the D.A.R. mode of transportation. On the negative side, the service is an unprofitable one financially. A yearly debt of late is around $900,000. Certainly far from good business or one to be encouraged. Maintenance of the service is costing the taxpayers much via of subsidies. Is it worth it? Besides users pay fares on the D.A.R. which are double those of bus transportation on the same route.

While there might be some compensations in train travel, the slow, rough, uninteresting trip from Halifax to Yarmouth offers little to attract more passengers. Since alternative transportation can be found one might decide the D.A.R. service might not be missed.

However, times are changing rapidly. Before motor cars, trains and buses (or stage coaches) were used a lot. Then the motor car took over to the decline of both train and bus. The trend again is reversing and there is a possibility that the scarcity and high price of gas for individual motor car might lead to rail necessity. With some modernizing and making comfortable, the passage could be made acceptable to a modern age. This, of course, brings on cost factors.

Digby talks development, the whole Valley talks development. Transportation is one of the key needs for any development. The new 3000 foot airstrip owned by the Municipality of Digby can boost development and so can an upgraded bus service and a good ferry service. But, before we decide to discard the rail, it, too, should be investigated with the preservation of energy factor clearly in mind. Is D.A.R. needed.

Hodge Podge

-Shoplifters this year in Digby to the end of April numbered 24. We recall the number to the end of March was 18 and six were reported for April. That makes twenty-four in this small town in four months. No wonder shoplifting runs into millions.

-The past week seems to have brought out crime prevention as an adult topic of conversation again. Positive action from this line of topic should reduce our break and enter problems somewhat. See where RCMP detachments at Dartmouth, Truro and Sydney have been given the go ahead to hire 18 summer students to conduct the crime prevention Operation Identification program. Some places have seen tremendous reductions in break and enter after such a program. By the program valuables are marked with electric pens with the owners Social Insurance Number which assists police in determining the rightful owner of recovered stolen items.

CWF Discusses "Mom-ism"

In these days of many kinds of "isms" we have found a new one - "mom-ism". In the opening devotional at the CWF in Westport last week, Mrs. Barbara Thompson pointed out the unfortunate occurrence of "mom'ism" in many homes today. The father spends little time in the home, being too busy advancing in his work, so the mother devotes her entire time to the children. By gaining her own desires through her children, she unintentionally produces neurotic and dependent young people and adults. Mothers have in most cases stopped honouring God, as in Proverbs 22:6, rather than like Proverbs 24:30, Mrs. Thompson said.

The meeting was chaired by Mrs. Crystal MacDormand, and the business meeting was opened with special prayers for the missions and other needs in the circle of prayer. It was concluded with a discussion on the influence of Satan in the world today. The discussion centered mainly around the ways that Satan can deceive without people realizing it. Some examples were the many excuses thought up for not attending church services, and also the many religions springing up in the world. The excuses are so logical, and the religions so close to reality, that many can be deceived if they do not study God's word, it was felt.

by president, Vernon Wessell. The guest speaker was introduced by Rev. George Bell and thanked by Judge V.G. Cardoza. Rev. Isaac Butler said grace. Mrs. Mary Robert, chairperson of the nominating committee presented the Board of Directors for the Digby Mental Health Association which was adopted by motion. The slate of officers will be elected at the next regular meeting.

Among reports presented were that of the Senior Citizens (originally sponsored by Digby Mental Health) by Rev. Isaac Buttler; Multiculturalism, Fundy Literacy Council and Life Long Learning by Rev. George Bell and Operation Friendship by Mrs. Emma (Balser) Tufts. Judge Cardoza reviewed activities of Digby Mental Health to date and suggested programs to fill a need in the future.

Present at the dinner and bringing greetings to the Association were His Worship Mayor Stuart MacNaughton; Digby Town Councillor Foster Journeay; Municipal Councillor, Grant Sabine, Weymouth and Joe Casey, Digby.

Among other speakers was Dr. M.A. Khaliq-Kareemi, psychiatrist at the Digby Mental Health Centre, who reviewed developments in services of the mental health centre over the past number of years. He outlined the development of the satellite clinic program and noted service is being provided directly in some nine communities throughout the two counties of Digby and Annapolis which serve as the catchment area for the centre. In his remarks Dr. Kareemi paid high tribute to the work of the volunteer secretaries in the various communities. He said these people are respected members of their home communities and do much to make the services of the centre better known and to help in crisis situations.

Dr. Shahab Ahmad, psychologist at the Mental Health Centre, outlined the psychology services provided throughout the catch area of the centre. Speaking of the youth services, Dr. Ahmad stressed the need for early detection of problems. He also pointed out the need for dealing with children as a part of the environment in which they live, study and associate. He said professional services of the centre are being more utilized and the number of patients is increasing throughout the catchment area served by the centre.

Dr. Ahmad in his remarks commented on the merger of the services of the Digby Mental Health Centre and the Digby General Hospital. This merger, he said, is working out in a satisfactory way. He said there was some concern on the part of the centre with the possible effect of the merger on the preventive programs being carried out by the mental health professionals. This concern, he said, has proven to be without foundation. So far, the merger has been an administrative one and the work of the centre in the various communities and outside a medical setting has continued without hindrance.

Judge Cardoza presented a gift to the speaker and extended a welcome to the new Board member Rev. Kenneth Lowe. Other Board members are Dr. Shahab Ahmad, Rev. George Bell, Rev. Isaac Butler, Judge V.G. Cardoza, Benjamin Cullen, John Englehutt, James Gillis, Mrs. M.P. Gott, Joseph Hattie, Mrs. Nola Jeffrey, Mrs. Mary Robert, Ernest Ryan, Rev. John Stokoe, Ernest Tufts, Mrs. J.M. Wallis, Vernon Wessell and Mrs. Desmond Woods.

Presented With Gifts

On Tuesday, April 26th, members of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Digby Wesleyan Church gathered at the church parsonage to pay honour to Mrs. Harry Adams.

During the afternoon an interesting game of Scrambled Pies was enjoyed.

Mrs. Kenneth Murray presented Mrs. Adams with a red and white varigated carnation corsage, also on behalf of the ladies, the pastor's wife. Mrs. W.L. Fernley, presented Mrs. Adams with a gift.

Mrs. Adams expressed a "Thank You" to the ladies for the gift of money and for remembering her at this time.

Tea was served. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Oakley Turnbull.

Mrs. Adams, a member of the Church Auxiliary, was remembered on this occasion because on March 28th fire damaged four rooms on the rear of their Bay View Home.

Appointed To MAGI

Mr. Keith Eaton, a prominent Halifax lawyer, has been appointed to the Board of Directors of the Metropolitan Area Growth Investments Limited. Mr. Eaton fills a vacancy created by the resignation of Mr. Doan Hallett, who recently resigned in order to accept a judicial appointment.

Mr. Eaton's appointment was announced today in Ottawa by the Honourable Marcel Lessard, Minister of Regional Economic Expansion. Mr. Eaton is a native of Bridgewater, Nova Scotia, and brings to M.A.G.I. broad and varied experience. After serving in the Armed Forces during the Second World War, he studied law at Dalhousie University, graduating with a LL.B. in 1948. Mr. Eaton worked with the federal Department of Justice in Ottawa and later in Halifax with the firm of Daley, Block and Moriera.

Charles Jeffrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Jeffrey crossed the line first in the twenty mile cyclathon staged by the Digby Branch Canadian Mental Health Association on Saturday morning. The twenty mile stretch was achieved by the cyclists by riding several times from the Princess of Acadia Wharf to the Racquette Bridge. Above are Judge V.G. Cardoza, Joe Casey, MLA and Charles on the bicycle.

SPRING TREAT

Rhubarb is one of the first true signs of spring. By its classification, rhubarb is a vegetable, however, because of its use in the home it is considered a fruit.

Rhubarb grows best in cooler dry environments. During cooler growing periods, the stalks develop a pink color, however, warm temperatures cause green colored stalks to predominate.

There are over one hundred varieties of rhubarb available, however, when buying fresh rhubarb, the same rules apply. Look for stalks that are firm, crisp, tender and either red or pink in color. A general rule; if the rhubarb is a good color, then generally its flavor is good. Rhubarb contains a variety of vitamins and minerals.

Only the stalk is consumed, since the leaves contain a high amount of onalic acid, which could be quite poisonous.

Rhubarb is very popular in pies, tarts, jams, jellies, sauces and puddings, to mention but a few.

Store rhubarb in a plastic bag in the coolest part of your fridge. Rhubarb wilts very quickly at room temperature.

Freezing rhubarb is relatively simple. Wash stalks then remove the root ends. Cut the stalks in one inch lengths and pack in freezer bags. It is easier if you pack in amounts that you plan to use at one time. Seal bags tightly and label them. When using frozen rhubarb, thaw it only enough to separate the pieces, then proceed as for fresh.

RHUBARB WHIP
2 cups fresh rhubarb (diced)
½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons water
1 tablespoon gelatin
¼ cup cold water
¼ cup boiling water
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 egg whites
⅛ teaspoon salt

Cook rhubarb, sugar, and 2 tablespoons water for 5 minutes. Soak gelatin in ¼ cup cold water, then dissolve in the boiling water.

Add ½ cup sugar and lemon rind, stir until sugar is dissolved. Add lemon juice, cooked rhubarb and vanilla. When well chilled, beat until frothy. Whip egg whites until stiff, add remaining ½ cup sugar gradually. Fold into beaten gelatin mixture. Chill.

RHUBARB ALASKA PIE
1 deep 9-inch baked pie shell
1 cup sweetened, thick rhubarb sauce
3 egg whites
⅛ teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons sugar
1½ pints strawberry ice cream

Prepare pie shell, cool, then chill. Prepare rhubarb sauce and chill thoroughly. Make a meringue of the egg whites, salt and sugar. Working quickly, pile about half the ice cream evenly in the pie shell. Spread rhubarb sauce over the top and cover with remaining ice cream. Cover the entire surface with meringue, spreading it to touch the crust all around. Set the pie on a wooden board and bake in a very hot oven 450 degrees F until lightly browned, 2-3 minutes. Serve immediately.

Note: If you have room in your freezer, the pie shell may be filled an hour or so ahead of time with the ice cream and rhubarb sauce and placed in the freezer. Just before serving, prepare the meringue, spread over top and bake as above.

THICK RHUBARB SAUCE
2 cups rhubarb, cut in ½ inch pieces
1-2 tablespoons water
6 tablespoons sugar

Place rhubarb and water in a small saucepan. Cover tightly and heat slowly until some juice has formed, then increase heat and cook until tender. Add sugar and stir until dissolved. Makes about 1 cup sauce.

Correction

This correspondent wishes to apologize for an error in last week's Courier-the report, received by phone was incorrect. Mrs. Danny Cole has not been ill as reported.

Canadians are unfit. Sadly, this applies to children as well as adults. In fact, fitness levels start to deteriorate when children start school.

Tourist Awareness Program

The Tourist Awareness poster and essay awards for the area were presented on Wednesday evening at a special program held at the Digby Branch Canadian Legion Hall. Allen Roger of the Department of Tourism office presided and Herb Smale, executive director of the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade assisted and gave a talk on various phases of tourism, the Valley's tourism potential and achievements.

Posters and essays were on display at the hall and the class of Wayne Buckler, grade IV and V, St. Bernard's was presented with an award. Representing the class were Lisa Robicheau, Louise Comeau, Rachael Belliveau, Andy Amirault, Bobby Boudreau and Andrew LeBlanc.

The purpose of the Tourist Awareness Program sponsored by the Nova Scotia provincial government, is to foster more awareness of the travel industry among Nova Scotians. This industry, Mr. Roger said is the third largest industry in Nova Scotia and tourism jobs make other jobs for secondary income. Last year, it was estimated that about $300 million had been spent on travel, creating the equivalent of 30,000 full time jobs.

In announcing the Tourist Awareness month, Dr. M. E. DeLory, Minister of Tourism, said that by increasing awareness and involvement in the travel industry, this awareness can help protect the natural environment, enhance Nova Scotia's historical and cultural heritage and maintain the community spirit, friendliness and hospitality of Nova Scotians.

Mr. Roger emphasized the importance of attitudes in his address and also brought to the attention of his audience that tourism does not deplete natural resources. He reviewed the many assets of the particular area which can be utilized to have the tourist who comes here to stay an extra day.

Mr. Smale delved into the historic facts about the Valley area which are of interest to tourists beginning at the year of 1604 when the French under DeMonts and Champlain founded the first permanent settlement in North America at Port Royal. He spoke of the Order of Good Cheer founded in 1606 and to which tourists are given permission to become members. Among the firsts cited by Mr. Smale for the area was the first cereal crop sown in Canada, first drama written in the New World and staged the region boasts of the first agricultural fair in Canada.

Mr. Smale spoke of the two main geographical areas, the French Shore and the Annapolis Basin route with their distinctive cultures and traditions to be explored.

The speaker reminded the audience of outdoor activities which they have available to attract tourists to remain a little longer. Only if their vacation needs are satisfied, Mr. Smale said, will visitors come, stay and return. A satisfied visitor goes back home and tells his friends.

Tourist dollars come through various avenues Mr. Smale said. In 1976 they brought $2,400,000 to restauranteurs, gas and auto $2,280,000; overnight $2,880,000; souvenirs, gifts etc, $3,000,000 and recreation $480,000. Full time jobs created in the Annapolis Valley region were 3,400. If the tourist passes right through he spends little money Mr. Smale warned and urged through the Tourist Awareness program the necessity of keeping the tourist longer.

Slides and films were shown depicting Nova Scotia attractions for tourism.

Two were recognized on Wednesday evening as special boosters for Digby area in the tourist industry. Booster pins were presented to Mrs. Addie Tufts and Bevis Turnbull for their interest in tourism. Mrs. Tufts has been in charge of the Digby Tourist Bureau and Mr. Turnbull, retired, has been using his tourism experience to promote tourism in the area. In response to the presentation Mr. Turnbull particularly addressing the young people, stressed courtesy as an asset for tourism.

Councillor Robert MacNutt represented the town of Digby and aided with presentations of awards.

Islands Consolidated - Provincial Badminton Champs

Three teams from Islands Consolidated competed in the Nova Scotia Athletic Federation Provincial Badminton play-offs in Truro this past weekend and fared exceedingly well. Stephen Comeau, four years a Provincial Singles champion, continued his winning ways defeating teams from Truro, Halifax and Sydney en route to the Under "20" Singles Championship. His sister, Kim Comeau, entering Provincial play-offs for the first time defeated her opponent from Eastern Passage by scores of 11-2, 11-3 and was given a real battle by a girl from Antigonish before winning 11-9, 5-11, 11-9 to capture the Under "14" Girls' Singles title. The third team of Michelle Kinney and Darren Clelland gave a good account of themselves, but lacking a bit in finesse and experience dropped matches to Central Colchester and Eastern Passage to finish third overall in Under "14" Mixed Doubles.

It is significant to note that training for all badminton teams as well as for all other sports is carried out in the schools only area suitable for athletic purposes - a small multipurpose room large enough to house one badminton court with a ceiling height of only 13 feet. Efforts are presently underway through local and Provincial authorities to examine ways by which the school's athletic facilities can be improved. Development of organized school sports has been a frustrating problem for years to school coaches as all training has been effected in a room considered to be far too small for inter-school sports. It would be tragic if sports would have to be discontinued in an area which by mere virtue of its island isolation is already deprived of outlets of cultural and social pursuits generally available to students who live on the mainland.

Kim Chappell Love Locket Winner

Miss Kim Chappell, Bridgetown, formerly of Smith's Cove, N.S. was one of the Miss Chatelaine sponsored Diamond Love Locket Contest winners as announced in the recent Action Fashion 1977 issue of the magazine.

Miss Chappell, a sixteen year old Bridgetown Regional High School, grade ten student, entered the contest as advertised in the Spring Fashion 1977 issue. It required a short essay (100 to 200 words) on The Most Romantic Couple I Know; Why Good Old-fashioned Romance Is Here to Stay or My First Lesson About Love.

Entrants were to be 26 years or under and the diamond lovelockets, valued at $250, were to be supplied by Jolyn Jewellery Products Ltd. Judges were from the Diamond Information Centre.

There were 30 winners chosen from 1500 entries in Canada, six of these thirty being published in the latest issue of Miss Chatalaine. Kim's essay on the most romantic couple (her pair of parakeets) was one of the six out of 1500 to be published. Her essay was the only winning one from Nova Scotia. There were two from New Brunswick, ten from Quebec province, thirteen from Ontario, two from Saskatchewan and two from British Columbia.

Resolution To Develop Sissiboo

A resolution to urge the Nova Scotia Power Corporation and government to develop the Sissiboo river to maximum capacity for electric power purposes was passed at the Digby Board of Trade on Tuesday evening. The resolution will be forwarded to the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade to be considered at the annual meeting to be held in Wolfville on May 18. It was noted that development of the whole potential of the Sissiboo was in mind when the right to generate power on the river had been sold.

A lengthy discussion was held on Digby Parking Meters as to whether they should be removed entirely, prices increased and time shortened or the town invest in new ones. The matter was left in the hands of the Civic Committee to find out results of other towns which had removed their downtown parking meters.

The Digby Board of Trade on Tuesday agreed to support the project of scallop shell emblems for store windows to welcome Copa conference here June 9 to June 12. The Canadian Owners and Pilots Association will meet at the Pines Hotel and the approximately 100 planes will land at the Digby Municipal Airport at Hill Grove. Nearly 400 persons are expected at the conference. The Board's contribution to the emblem project was limited to $150.

The Board decided to participate in the A.V.A.B.T. Tourist of the Week program after finding out the cost to the Board. Tourist of the Week program has been carried out by having the R.C.M.P. stop a visiting car and offer the occupants complimentary overnight accommodation and free meals at a hotel or restaurant.

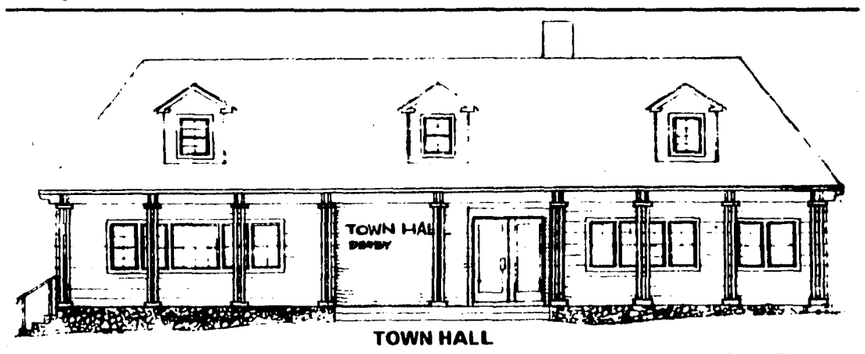
The Board of Trade decided to sponsor a princess for the Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival to the amount of $125 and contact other organizations to share the additional amount necessary. Patrick Comeau was named in charge of contacting a candidate for the Board of Trade.

Harold Riley reported that both the town and Digby Municipality had agreed to giving $950 each in support of the Digby Tourist Bureau and the amount to be received from A.V.A.B.T. is $1250. Everything is about ready to start on June 15 with Mrs. Addie Tufts in charge. There will also be a part time worker. The bureau will be open eight hours a day for 14 to 15 weeks.

A committee consisting of Wellington Halliday, Charles Haliburton and Leigh Everett was asked to look into the possibility of updating a former brochure distributed some years previous by the Annapolis-Digby Development Commission.

The Board went on record as supporting the Digby Town Council in expediting a new Town Hall for Digby.

It was moved and regularly passed to enquire of the D.A.R. to take up the rail tracks going to the Fisherman's Wharf and to repair the rail crossings in town.



TOWN HALL

A design from Digby Town Hall for a frame building to house town offices, Council rooms, etc. It was designed with the decor of the town in mind.

She was living at the home of her daughter Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lovitt in Fredericton, N.B. In her many years living in Gilbert Cove, she was active in many ways being organist and singer in church, post mistress, store keeper and was receptionist for Dr. Doucette. She made many friends and was known for her pleasant smile, came rain or shine. Only 65 years of age- her last nine years, she suffered very much. She will be missed but never forgotten.

Sister Durella Gaudette (Sister Albertine as she is known to Holy Cross and Sacred Heart Mission) will celebrate her 50th anniversary on May 21st in Moncton. Sister Albertine was in this parish for many years. A wonderful worker, loved by all - and especially remembered by concerts she directed. Many more years of happiness are extended to her.

Capt. and Mrs. Charles H. Melanson of Dartmouth, spent a few days at the home of his sister, Ms. Edith Melanson. They attended the funeral of Mrs. Amirault while here.

Scott Doucette, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Doucette underwent kidney surgery at Toronto Children's Hospital recently. It is reported he went through the operation successfully and is coming along fine.

Mrs. Gus (Rosalie) Melanson returns to the Infirmary in Halifax on Monday for a check-up and change of cast following her accident.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Mrs. Cleveland Thibideau who passed away at the Digby Hospital following a short illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lovitt of Fredericton, N.B. and Mrs. Peter McLean of St. Thomas, Ontario, daughters of the late Mrs. Ducky Amirault were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Doucette.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Wagner; Mrs. Clifford Doucette, Taryn, motored to Middleton to attend the open house at Middleton Vocational School on Wednesday, April 27.

Weymouth Girls Graduate

Nearly 300 graduates heard The Honorable Therese F. Casgrain, C.C. O.B.E. present the keynote address at the 50th annual Mount Saint Vincent University Convocation, Sunday, May 8 at 2:00 p.m.

Mme. Casgrain, a member of the Canadian Senate until her retirement in 1971, has led the crusade for women's rights and civil liberties for several decades, in many countries. She was a major contributor to the struggle for the right for women to vote in Quebec in the late 1930's and she has played a major role in the NDP, and it's predecessor, the CCF, in that province.

Bachelor's and Master's degrees will be conferred by the Chancellor of the university, the Most Reverend James M. Hayes, J.C.D., D.D. Archbishop of Halifax.

Among the graduates were Miss Wilhelmina Cromwell, Weymouth Falls, Digby County and Maureen Isabel Mullen of Weymouth, both in Bachelor of Arts.

Province Wants Best Transportation

Commenting on a recent Canadian Transport Committee announcement of a series of public hearings to be held in Nova Scotia next month, Development Minister A.M. Sandy Cameron urged citizens to take advantage of this opportunity to assist in developing the type of public transportation systems which will serve the province in the future.

Mr. Cameron said, "The Province of Nova Scotia is continuing its efforts to obtain the best public transportation in both the short and long term.

"We are committed to encouraging more widespread use of public transportation in order to reduce unnecessary capital expenditures and to decrease dependence on the energy - intensive automobile."

The information gathered by the Railway Transport Committee in the hearings next month will be used in the preparation of a preferred rail-passenger plan for the Region. Nova Scotians will have a further opportunity to participate in the rationalization of their rail-passenger system after the Railway Transport Committee has published the initial preferred rail-passenger plan.

A Final Plan will then be prepared and issued before the end of the current calendar year.

The Nova Scotia hearings are scheduled for 10:00 a.m. on May 17 at the Citadel Inn, Halifax; May 25 at Keddy's Motor Inn, Truro; and May 27 at the Sydney Council Chambers.

Zero Taxation Policy

Zero Taxation Policy 1978 on Farmland was the title of the address given by Lester Settle, secretary manager of the Nova Scotia Federation of Agriculture at the semi-annual meeting of the Digby County Federation of Agriculture held at Weymouth on Monday.

The zero taxation amendment to the Assessment Act for farmers does not cover buildings, only the cultivated or pastureland. Farmers will be required to register their land, the number of acres under cultivation and pasture. The province refunds the municipality at the rate of one dollar an acre for farmland. If the land is taken out of farmland it will revert to a change-of-use taxation.

The zero taxation assessment act applies to the owner of the land whether he operates the farm or leases the land to a farmer.

Reports were presented to the meeting by Wayne Comeau, treasurer; by-laws, Hubert LeBlanc; winter program, LeRoy Warner; and Agriculture and Marketing by Bruce Gilliatt, agricultural representative. President of the Federation is Malcolm Justason, Bear River.

Mrs. Carman Inglis, member-at-large, Nova Scotia Rural Beautification Committee, Tupperville, talked on rural beautification.

Tiveton Mother's Day Message

In a special Mother's Day service presented by Rev. Charles MacNeil of the Tiverton Christian Church, he pointed out that a mother is a Keeper of the Springs of Life. He referred to the time of Creation. God created the earth and all animals and then created Adam to care for them. However, Adam needed a "help mate" that could not be found in any of God's creations. So, when Adam fell into a "deep sleep" God removed one of his ribs and created Eve. Mr. MacNeil pointed out that God did not create Eve from a bone in Adam's foot, to be walked on, nor did He create Eve from a bone in Adam's head to be above him, but from his side so that Eve would be "beside" him sharing their life together as husband and wife and father and mother.

The speaker noted the many changes that have taken place in the lives of married couples down over the years. He said some women attempt to do the man's work, they act like a man, and talk like a man. Some are given to drugs, drink, smoking and tend to forget their real purpose in life that is, to be a help mate for their husband and provide a good christian home for their family.

College Students Present Play

Students of Maritime Christian College, P.E.I. presented a play in Tiverton Christian Church.

The presentation, "To Be His People" featuring excerpts from The Mustard Seed by W.A. Poovey and music from Charles F. Brown, was written and directed by music and drama teacher, Judy Clark of Charlottetown, P.E.I.

John MacDonald, professor at Maritime Christian College, was M.C. and had charge of the props and lighting effects. Organists for the event were Elizabeth Moore and Mrs. Lou Outhouse.

The theme of the presentation centered around a new christian, Kristen, played by Karen Mecher and her guardian Angel Remuel, played by Larry Armstrong. Here Remuel pointed out in a two act play of seven scenes and vocal numbers, the selfish pride, the haughtiness, and indifference to the true Word and purpose of Jesus life and death that can creep in the church through lack of understanding the real message found in the Bible.

"To Be HIS People" is an attempt to discover ways in which the church can help the individual Christian to grow in faith."

The cast of the program was introduced by John MacDonald. Heather MacKenzie, 2-year student at M.C.C. ; Karen Beecher, Montreal, a Charlottetown University student who expects to take up nursing next fall; Sheila Craig, full time student and secretary of M.C.C.; Elizabeth Moore, N.B. 1st. year student of Holland College, P.E.I.; Larry Armstrong 1½ year student of M.C.C.; Young Key Min of Korea, 2 year student of M.C.C. and his wife, Soon Hee Min who recently joined her husband at the college, Lou Outhouse, Tiverton, 3 year student at the college and his wife Joan (McCallough) of Riverdale, N.S. who is a nurse in Intensive Care unit of Charlottetown hospital.

Valley Leader And Newspaperman Dies

Frank J. Burns, a veteran newspaperman and a man instrumental in organizing the annual Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival, died Sunday in St. Vincent's Guest Home, Halifax. He was 89.

A native of Fredericton, he was a son of the late Patrick and Frances (Arbeau) Burns.

He was associated with the Fredericton Gleaner and Sackville Tribune in New Brunswick, joining the staff of the Kentville Advertiser in 1930. He was manager, editor and later publisher of the Kentville Publishing Company, retiring about 12 years ago.

Mr. Burns was an honorary member of the first president of the Nova Scotia Weekly Newspapers Association, and a past president of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association.

He was a leading figure in originating the apple blossom festival, which attracts thousands of tourists annually to the Valley. Mr. Burns was honorary president of the annual festival. He served as its chairman for 12 years, and every year since its establishment he was active on the publicity committee.

Mr. Burns was a leader in many community efforts and was interested in sports.

He is survived by one son, Hugh, Kentville; two daughters, Sister Mary Jean, Halifax; Flona (Mrs. Alexander MacAulay), Centreville; two sisters, Gertrude, Fredericton; and Mrs. Agnes O'Sullivan, Chester; six grandchildren; and eight great-grandchildren.

Funeral service was held Wednesday at 10 a.m. in St. Joseph's Church, Kentville, with burial in the church cemetery.

Mayor Stuart MacNaughton officially opened the Digby Branch Canadian Mental Health Association cyclathon on Saturday. Left to right are Mayor MacNaughton, Judge V.G. Proof The Egg Comes First

by Carol Welch

The Real Estate business seems to be booming in Westport - new buildings are springing up behind many homes. It seems that a number of citizens are launching into the time-honoured occupation of keeping chickens. The most interesting heard about is that of Glen Welch. Most of the buildings have to be stocked with chickens before the owners start collecting eggs, but it is heard that Mr. Welch's chickenhouse has been producing eggs with no hens present. Perhaps he has found the answer to the age-old riddle of which came first - the chicken or the egg?

Musical Drama Presented

The Maritime Christian College Students accompanied by John MacDonald and Shelia Craig of Charlottetown, P.E.I. are on their Spring Tour and on Sunday morning at South Range, the afternoon in Southville and at Weymouth Churches of Christ they were guests. In the evening service they presented a dramatic musical, presentation "To Be His People". This is a production written and directed by the music and drama teacher, Judy Clark. It included excerpts from "The Mustard Seed" by W. A. Pooney and musical selections from Gods People, by Kurt Kaiser and Charles F. Brown.

School children at Barton staged a strike in protest of the eight cent chocolate bar price and refused to buy the bar at the inflated cost. All but one student at the school joined the parade with banners or posters reading "We want a five cent chocolate bar."

The Annapolis Presbytery (now the Valley Presbytery) of the United Church of Canada held in Bridgetown gave its support to the anti gambling move of the National Advisory Council of the Service Clubs of Canada. They urged all members of the United Church of Canada who are members of service clubs to use their influence against the practice of resorting to gambling methods of raising money.

The hand crank magnets telephone system in Digby was changed to the modern common battery system. The cut over was made under direction of H.A. Duncan, Halifax., and operators were supervised by Miss M. Naugler. Mayor J.W. Merkel made the first call through the new switchboard and extended greetings to the mayor in Halifax. W.A. Winfield, president Maritime Tel and Tel, said that he believed the manual battery system just installed was better suited to Digby needs than a dial system due to the fact Digby is an important long distance center and because that it would be necessary to employ a staff of switch board operators. To house the new system, the local building had to be doubled in size.

Digby Municipal Council passed a resolution to have the ferry from Westport to Freeport replaced as it was thought unsafe.

High School students at the Digby Academy held a Career Day as part of a Vocational Guidance Program. Exhibition of work and addresses were on the program.

Teachers And Board Into Arbitration

With the date of May 13 having passed and teachers' contracts with the Digby Municipal School Board not signed, the contracting is now under arbitration. The announcement was made at the school board meeting that after the 13th of the month arbitration would be necessary.

In an interview with this newspaper, a spokesman for the Board said that the Board has been in negotiations for approximately one and a half years with the Teachers Union over a group contract for the teachers employed with the Board.

The spokesman said the Board has agreed to pay all the monetary or money items but, as he put it, "wish to retain the right to say yes or no." The Union, he went on to say, rejected their request and have filed to take the matter before a Board of Arbitration. This the spokesman explained results in an additional cost to the ratepayers of the municipality. It is the Board's wish, he remarked, to keep the ratepayer informed of what happens to his tax dollar.

Digby To Have Princess

A tea to be held at the Admiral Digby Inn on Saturday afternoon assures Digby of a princess to enter the Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival Contest late in May. The tea, to be held from 2:00-5:00 p.m., is sponsored by the Digby Board of Trade. The public is invited to attend.

Several young ladies have already signified their intent of entering the contest and when Saturday arrives the committee in charge expects upwards of a dozen participants.

Closing Date For Entries

May 31, 1977 is the closing date for entries in the Rural Beautification Contest in Digby County. Already, five or six applications have been received, it was announced by Mrs. Hilda Mullen, secretary, New Tusket of the Digby County organization, who succeeded Mrs. Eleanor Elms in that capacity.

It is expected there will be a goodly number of entries in each category under new homes (after two years not considered new), resource base house (Century Home), small holdings, mobile homes and flower gardens, Judge is Mrs. Isabel Sabine, New Tusket. Judging is done in August. The project is sponsored by the Nova Scotia Department of Tourism.

Bishop Burke Addresses Catholic Women's League

Always walk with the right hand in the hand of Christ and the left hand in the hand of the brother, being true instruments of God's love, said Bishop Austin Burke, Yarmouth, when addressing the Catholic Women's League, Yarmouth, Diocesson Convention held Sunday at Plympton, Digby County. Being Christian the Bishop said is not only a name but it presents a challenge giving dignity to life. He charged the women to a challenge of unselfishness taking themselves off their minds while they fill their minds with other's pains.

Also speaking at the luncheon meeting on Sunday was Father Harland D'eon, Yarmouth, diocesan director who was presented with a gift commemorating his 25th anniversary as priest. The presentation was made by the president, Mrs. Ellen McKinley, Yarmouth, who presided over the day's meetings.

An impressive part of the day was the installation of officers by Father D'on, assisted by Mrs. Ruth Minear, Halifax, provincial president.

Those installed included president, Mrs. Ellen McKinley; vice president, Mrs. M. J. MacDonald; 2nd vice president, Mrs. Eugene Lenton, Mrs. Marie Tebo, Plympton, third vice-president; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Marjorie Devillier; recording secretary , Mrs. Mary Marshall and treasurer, Mrs. Loretta Vanderdonk.

One of the items of business was the adoption of a resolution which is to be forwarded for consideration at the Diocesan and Provincial C.W.L. convention in 1977. The resolution was drawn up following the statement in March by the Honorable Marc Lalonde, Minister of Health and Welfare, indicating his department's intention to modify drastically its strategy and plans regarding family planning programs. The Catholic Women's League by way of the resolution will petition the provincial govern to totally reject specialization centres for abortion as they would have the effect of systematically accelerating the destruction of unborn children in Canada and would thus be contrary to the wishes of Canadian people. The resolution further petitioned the provincial government not to include abortion referral and counselling as part of any family planning program. The resolution asked the government not to allocate family planning funds to the planned parenthood association and to establish positive guidelines and regulations which would tighten the abortion procedures so that abortions will not be granted for economic and social reasons.

Further the resolution petitioned the government to seek ways of eliminating the abuse taking place under the present law as pointed out in the Badgley Report which focuses on access to abortion.

Special visitors were Mrs. Minear and Miss Mary Coolen, Halifax, secretary of the provincial Catholic Women's League. Mrs. Minear stressed communication and public relations and to get back to the basics of Christian values. The spiritual aspects of life was emphasized and Mrs. Minear advised the women that with this conviction inside they are able to draw people to Christ.

Hostess C.W.L. was Plympton, supplying a noon hour luncheon and tea. President of the Plympton C.W.L. is Mrs. Mary Viall.

Clean Up Week In Digby

Response to Clean-up Week in Digby (May 9 to 14) was termed "pretty good" by Town Clerk James Wheelhouse although, he allowed, it didn't quite measure up to expectations.

Only about a dozen calls were received by residents requesting pick-ups by the town truck which had been made available for the week. But, Wheelhouse noted, some fairly large bits of garbage and useless materials were moved.

CITIZENSHIP DAY
By Judge V.S. Cardoza.

Tomorrow, Friday, May 20th, is Citizenship Day In Canada. Established in 1950, Citizenship Day, though not a public holiday, is a day set apart on which private citizens, public bodies, schools, voluntary organizations and other groups may stress by appropriate ceremonies the value, privileges and responsibilities of Canadian citizenship.

Citizenship is the highest honour a nation can bestow on an individual who has not been born into that heritage. It is also a priceless birthright for those who secure their citizenship as a natural-born right. Without citizenship, without a land to love, a people with whom one can share mutual hopes and aspirations, much else in life is meaningless.

It is fitting and important, then, that Canadians should stop at least on one day each year and think upon what their citizenship in this great land means to them. Actually, one day seems far from adequate to deal with such an important subject. Citizens of Canada should take advantage of every opportunity, every occasion, to contemplate what freedoms and privileges are theirs with citizenship. They should also make use of every opportunity to ensure that their fellow citizens also have an appreciation of what citizenship in Canada really means.

To properly understand and truly appreciate this country of which we are citizens, we must make ourselves familiar with Canada's past, proud of its history and knowledgeable about its present, its resources, its people and its tremendous potential. Unfortunately, it would appear only a small minority of Canada's citizens are fully aware of these things. Most are too prone to take Canada for granted and to enjoy and participate in the freedoms that are theirs as Canadians without much thought as to how these came to be.

For many Canadians, busy with our own affairs, there seems not to be time to think of those things that have contributed to the making of what is now Canada. We willingly accept the benefits that are ours as Canadians, whether native-born or naturalized, but dismiss as relatively unimportant the sacrifices, the dedication and the vision of those in times past who made all that we have today, and that will be ours in succeeding years, possible.

At present it would appear that Canada is passing through somewhat troublous times-times when there is great need for an understanding of the nation's past, an appreciation of the elements of that past that have played a part in the creation of the present. All of the pages of Canada's history must be studied and understood - together with the record of Canada's more recent and immediate past, so that we may properly understand and appreciate the still unfolding drama that is Canada today. This understanding and appreciation is vitally necessary at this point in Canada's in order that we who are Canadians in this day and age may contribute effectively and constructively to the great future that can be ours as a nation. These are times when Canadians cannot afford to take for granted and without thought the many things that are ours as citizens of this great nation. On Citizenship Day and indeed on every other occasion that presents itself we need to remind ourselves and our fellow Canadians as well as those who would join us in citizenship what it really means to be a Canadian.

TIME TO CLEAN UP AND BEAUTY UP

Digby's Clean-up Week declared by the Town Council for May 9 to May 14 has come and gone. To facilitate the project the town made a truck available to collect the accumulations of rubbage. So far as we can gather about a dozen householders or business persons availed themselves of the opportunity to use the town truck. Hardly enough to make a big impact on the appearance of the town, but, at least, some people did take advantage. A legitimate excuse for the rest of us could be the weather. Afterall, most of us woke up to snow on the roof and on the grass of the lawns on Wednesday morning of that week. None of us could control the weather and rightfully the Town Council should be commended for presenting the opportunity for citizens to get their winter's rubbage accumulations hauled away.

Our attention was drawn last week by an outsider to the fact that Digby is a bit dowdy looking right now and they hoped it would spruce up a bit before the tourist season arrived, especially before the Copa Convention. We agree that the Town Hall is nothing of which to be proud, stores do need paint down town we note and areas continue to need tidying up. A little light shines in the horizon when we learn that backed by the support of some organizations and residents, serious thought is being given to a new Town Hall. This, of course, is a big project and will take some time. However, in the meantime we should do the best we can to make Digby more attractive by smaller projects.

Another aspect of clean-up or brighten-up idea comes to mind in the avenue of safety both for our tourist population and ourselves. We urge the white-line markings to be painted early on our streets. Remember strangers do not know where to expect danger spots or crosswalks. They could so easily miss them if not plainly marked. Even Digby regulars are not always sure.

We could not leave these remarks without reminding the municipal residents of the importance in keeping the municipal countryside attractive and we draw to their attention at this time the Nova Scotia Rural Beautification Competition sponsored by the Nova Scotia Department of Tourism, the Nova Scotia Federation of Agriculture and the Women's Institute of Nova Scotia. In Digby County the president of the committee is Judy Prime, Weymouth and Mrs. Hilda Mullen, New Tusket. Both these ladies can be contacted regarding the award catagories, eligibility, fees and other pertinent questions. The rural areas of our County become more and more the favored vacation areas. Keep them rural but interesting and lovely.

Whether residing in town or out the calendar date declares this Time To Clean-Up and Beauty-Up.

NOBODY TO VOTE OFFICERS IN

The nominating committee had done their work. They had a fine slate of officers ready to present, all of whom had agreed to act. But, alas! and alack! not enough persons showed up at the annual general meeting of the Minor Hockey League, Digby, to vote in the slate. Lack of a quorum certainly is nothing new for meetings in Digby but difficulty in getting officers or leaders has generally been the worst proposition before any nominating committee. Lack of a quorum to vote in the Minor Hockey slate in that respect is a switch.

Willing to hold office for the 1977-78 year were Benjamin Cullen, president; Stan Locke, first-vice president; Michael Sweeney and Charles Walker. The past year has been a good one financially, Mrs. Victor Kynock informed us. Mrs. Kynock was the president; Dr. Ian Anderson, first vice-president; Bill MacMillan, second vicepresident; Benjamin Cullen, treasurer and Betty Cosman, secretary. No one was on hand Thursday to thank retiring officers for their efforts during the year nor even to vote others in their places for the coming year. We do hear there will be another opportunity (the third, we understand) to pass the nomination committee's report officially. Will you be there May 26.

Minor Hockey could be a means to preventing crime, loitering and idleness. Minor Hockey is a healthy sport worthy of promotion. It is good both for physical and mental health. It teaches the players sportsmanship and general good character. Those who are willing to lead such a program deserve better support than they get.

HYDRO POSSIBILITIES ON SISSIBOO

As we write about the hydro generating system on the Sissiboo, we have not heard the result of a resolution on the subject which the Digby Board of Trade placed before the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade at the annual meeting in Wolfville on Wednesday. They were seeking support for further generating of power on the Sissiboo.

The further generating of power on the Sissiboo is a fascinating subject as well as a highly prospective venture into economics. The Sissiboo generating facilities belong to the Nova Scotia Power Corporation, having been bought from the Digby County Power Board some twenty or more years ago. It is understood that the intention at time of sale was to develop the Sissiboo to its fullest potential. This, apparently has not been done and according to those with expertise in the field, the potential is more than double its present capacity of generating.

If Nova Scotia Power Corporation does not keep its bargain it could be that local concerns might like to further investigate Sissiboo hydro. Much would have to go into planning. Owners of the Digby County Power Board are the Municipality of the District of Digby; Town of Digby, Clare District and Weymouth. With the price of oil continuing to rise and becoming scarce, likewise electric energy becoming scarce, there is no telling what might happen and what possibilities might be in store.

According to some calculations additional generating facilities could be easily installed at comparatively reasonable costs. One or two other dams and generating stations could be constructed up the river, it is understood by the time you read this the arguments, pro and con, of the A.V.A.B.T. will have been heard and read. With a push, Digby County's Day might again come. Think about it. It belongs to you. There has been mentioned the possibility of the four units selling to the N.S.P.C. Even that has its snares.

- The Digby County Arts and Crafts Show at Weymouth more than a week ago deserves more mention than the news story of last week. It deserves special comment for its well planned exhibits and the day's program. Our wish was that more tourists might have been there to see the talent Digby County has. Nevertheless, the show was well patronized by local people many of whom who were not familiar with the arts and crafts. At the show were seen not only completed articles but also articles in the process of being produced. Congratulations to those who were responsible for the successful day. It doesn't take a city hall with professionals in charge to make a meaningful exhibit of Arts and Crafts.-

– Even had a reply to my advertisment in The Digby Courier from Whitehorse, Yukon, that Courier sure gets around, said our advertiser.-

- What was that we saw on May 11 when looking out to the back yard at the cherry tree. Snow or blossoms? Believe it or not, there was some of each. And that strange looking red-headed, black and white striped bird? It wasn't a woodpecker.-

NATIONAL POLICE WEEK

Dear Editor:

The observance of National Police Week in May holds special significance this year, when Nova Scotia's new Police Commission is making strides in upgrading town police forces throughout the province. Established last October under the new Police Act, the Commission's top priority is the development of a municipal police training program, according to Commission Chairman Harry Porter, who expressed confidence, in an interview last November, that towns in Nova Scotia which have disbanded local police forces in favour of R.C.M.P. services may begin to switch back to their own departments, as training and recruit standards are established province wide. The many benefits that arise from having resident police officers who know the town and it's people, rather than transient R.C.M.P. officers, also make municipal police forces more desirable, the Chairman stated.

While three cities and twenty-three towns in the province provide their own police forces, fifteen towns are now policed by contract with the R.C.M.P. The towns have no input in the terms of the contract. When it is presented they have the choice to accept or reject. The recent five year agreement presented to the towns in late March of this year, and retroactive to April 1, 1976, brings into sharp focus the limitations of service provided, tho' Section 5 (1) states, "The R.C.M.P. services shall be sufficient to ensure that the standard of policing shall not be less than the minimum standard, as determined by the Commissioner in consultation with the Attorney General."

At the same time, the new cost sharing arrangements with Ottawa have decreased the Government's share, and jumped the town's share to 52 percent for the first five men employed, increasing by 1 percent each year of the contract to 56 percent and 77 percent for each additional officer, increasing by 1 percent each year to 81 percent. Previously the towns paid 50 percent of the cost up to five men and 75 percent for additional men. Surely the rationale behind these increases is questionable.

In a letter to the President of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities in January 1976, the Solicitor General expounded the "numerous advantages" in hiring only one police force in a given area - advantages which, he stated, are not to be found in a municipality where the R.C.M.P. assume the role of a national police force only. To one who has had the opportunity to observe as a private citizen, as well as a town councillor and chairman of a town's police committee, the numerous advantages of ready availability, adequate foot patrol, co-operation in the enforcement of municipal by-laws and direct and private telephone communication (to name a few), provided by the province's local police forces, far outweigh the limited and costly services provided towns by R.C.M.P. contract.

The basic theme for Police Week 77 is "working together, supporting justness." What better time to ask ourselves "what will we do to support our local police forces, not only to-day but throughout the entire year - working together, supporting justness."

Dear Sir:

I am enclosing a check for subscription to "The Digby Courier.

This is a gift to my mother-in-law.

There is a story behind this.

I am working here at the Syncrude Project, Tar Sands Plant, in Fort McMurray, Alberta. A Security Officer, G.C. Outhouse has been giving me the papers after he had read them. Knowing that my mother-in-law was from Nova Scotia, I had sent them to her at avove ad dress.

Little did I know she knew the area well and has relatives and friends in the area. She is 77 years of age and is planning to visit the area this coming September.

My wife Florence Marie Rice was born at Bear River area.

Now since my mother-in-law is real happy reading "The Digby Courier", I could see no alternative but to purchase this suscription and have her read about all of her old friends and the latest happenings and news in the area.

Thank you
Yours truly
Vic Wolchick

LETTER TO MINISTER

The Honourable Maurice DeLory
Minister of Tourism
Department of Tourism
Halifax, N.S.

Gentlemen:

We, the undersigned, are all college students who live in the Digby area. We all know summer work is very hard to get, but in our area jobs are extremely scarce.

We all applied for jobs at The Pines Resort Hotel in Digby, and at an interview we were told Digby students would be given preference, due to the location and high unemployment rate. However, quite the contrary, none of us were successful in obtaining employment at the hotel, although students from other areas have been hired. We do understand, of course, that former employees should be given preference– some of us are former employees.

This leads us to ask the following:

1. Is this just another government promise?
2. Is the government implying that we are not competent enough to handle the positions?
3. Are we unimportant, as we are merely students?
4. Is the government implying that we should just "hang around", collect unemployment and try to obtain a good student loan in September?

We are ambitious, reliable, competent and mature young adults, and we do not wish to incur heavier debts. WE WANT TO WORK!

We want an answer. Is there going to be one forthcoming??

Yours sincerely,

SOS - CALLING ALL DIGBY AREA BLOOD DONORS!

be away or have reached the retirement age of 65. Mr. Tufts is particularly gratified by the interest and support expressed by members of the Royal Canadian Legion Branches in the area, the Bear River Branch being represented on the Committee by Allister Harris, the Weymouth Branch by its President, Arnold Comeau and the Digby Branch also by its President, Charles Francis.

The Committee urges everyone between the ages of 18 and 65 to circle the date, May 26, and think seriously about attending the Clinic on that day. It is both your privilege and responsibility to help keep the Blood Bank filled and ready for the emergencies which are arising every day. One operation alone may take as much as 20 pints of blood. Unfortunately there is no way of obtaining this blood except from a donor like you who is willing to "give that others may live".

It will take so little of your time - only a half hour or so! You won't really miss it - in 24 hours your system will make up the loss of the three quarters of a pint you give, which is only about one twentieth of your bodily content of blood! The satisfaction of knowing you have helped will make you feel so good!

See you at the Clinic!

Let the buyer be aware

. . . of long distance.

In today's marketplace, merchandising problems are enormous. They could become impossible without an immediate, readily accessible means of obtaining information — like long distance.

Buyers and purchasing agents, for example can check on available materials, changes in models, styles and sizes. And they can do it now. Immediately.

They can save time, make better buys, save money, avoid problems. Here in Nova Scotia, business hour, direct-dialed calls within the province, cost less than a dollar a minute. It's a small investment that can pay big dividends. It's a bargain to be aware of.

JOHNSON- Our dear mother, Nettie Alvenia Johnson who died May 13, 1976, at age 63 years old.

One sad and lonely year has passed
Since that great sorrow fell,
The shock that we received that night.
No one will ever tell
Your end came sudden,
No time to say Good-bye
You were gone before we knew it,
Only God knows the reason why.
So this month comes with deep regret
For it brings back a day we cannot forget,
We did not get to say goodbye
But our memories will never die.
Ever loved and remembered by Daughters EVELYN AND MARILYN. SONS: CHARLIE, BERNARD, GERALD, EARL AND LLOYD, LOVINGLY MISSED BY HUSBAND: BILL. 41:1ip

POWELL- In loving memory of Cora B. Powell, who passed away May 19th, 1973.

A Thought Starter

By Rev. R.C. MacCormack

WHERE DID I GO WRONG?

The young person, weakened in body and mind by drugs, or self-abuse, may feel like asking. "Where did I go wrong?" The person who has been outwardly moral but inwardly empty and unfulfilled, may ask the same question. Anyone who has been busy, successful, well-to-do, but without friends, and with little love in his heart for anyone, may ask such a question. A person coming to the end of life, and finding that he is afraid of death and the hereafter, and that all his achievements have brought little peace, may ask, "Where did I go wrong"?

It is safe to say, that multitudes make their fatal mistake by counting God out of their lives. They are not full of rejection or bitterness toward their Maker. They just ignore Him, year after year.

It is not sensible that we can live a full life, and be out of harmony with the Maker of Life. It is when we fit into His purposes and plans, like a hand fits into a glove, that we feel right about things.

Christ came to give meaning and depth to our lives, but if He is not included in our thinking, then it is little wonder that we feel cheated and empty. There are two ways to go, and every person must choose to trust himself or to trust God and His Word. The wise course is to believe the Bible, and receive Christ joyfully into one's heart.

Here is a challenge. "See, I have set before thee this day life and good, death and evil....." Deuteronomy 30:15

Many go wrong by going away from their only hope.

PERISHABLE NUTRIENTS

Fruits and vegetables make up two Food Groups of Canada's Food Guide, and are necessary for good nutrition. They are low in calories, yet contain vitamins, minerals and fiber.

Their contribution of valuable nutrients to the diet is very important. Almost all of the vitamin C we require comes from fruits and vegetables, almost half the vitamin A, as well as major contributions of iron, thiamine, niacin, phosphorus, riboflavin and protein.

Fruits and vegetables also contain many trace minerals and are good contributors of bulk for digestion, and in the raw state are good tooth cleaners.

Cooking vegetables only until they are tender is the best way to insure peak flavor, color, texture and food value. Vegetables cooked whole in their skins, such as potatoes, retain more nutritive value. If you are peeling vegetables, try to make the peelings as thin as possible as most of the nutrients are stored just next to the peeling. The less water used in cooking the more nutrients retained. Spinach and other greens, for example, can be cooked only in the water clinging to their leaves from washing if placed in a pan with a tight fitting lid and cooked over low heat. This will minimize the loss of vitamins and minerals. Food should be served immediately if at all possible because flavor and nutritive value will be lost simply from letting it stand.

Considering their importance to the diet and health, fruits and vegetables tend to be easy to prepare, most can be eaten "as is" or with a minimum of fuss and bother. This is especially true of fruit, but also true of many vegetables. Imagine how bland and flat your daily meals would be if they were confined to meats, breads and cereals.

Vegetables in the raw form are similarly important and easy to prepare. Sliced or chopped into a salad, they provide a variety of nutrients.

Other vegetables boiled or baked are also easily prepared and contribute to our daily health. There is practically no limit to the degree of appealing arrangements possible preparing fruits and vegetables in the form of sauces or elaborate dishes.

Their versatility allows fruits and vegetables to add color, variety and taste to your diet.

When shopping for produce, make sure you are getting high quality produce. This will mean more nutrients per dollar. Once you bring the produce home there are ways to prevent more nutrient loss.

The enemies of nutrients in produce generally are time, heat, enzyme activity, micro-organisms, water soaking, damage to cell structure, oxidation, light in some cases, and excessive dryness.

Factors you can control to make sure nutrients are retained include, gentle handling to prevent bruising, early consumption, storing at proper temperature and humidity, avoidance of soaking produce in water, use liquids for sauces and gravies that vegetables are cooked in.

Vitamin C is soluble in water and is also lost during exposure to air. This loss can be speeded up by heat as well. To cut down on vitamin C loss, store produce in the refrigerator, cook for as short a period of time as possible, avoid keeping food hot and exposure to air for long periods of time.

One important point to remember that retention of nutrients in fruits and vegetables also means the best color, flavor aroma, and texture. The same conditions that retain freshness also retain vitamin content.

Too fat? Too thin? Too tired? Too often? Do something for somebody Your body!

Another Look At The U.I.C.

Q. Who is entitled to illness benefits?

A. Illness benefits are payable to people who are prevented from working because of illness or injury. In order to qualify, you must have worked 20 weeks or more in insurable employment in the last 52 weeks or since the start of your last initial claim, whichever period is the shorter.

If you have between 8 to 19 weeks of insurable employment, you may continue to receive benefits, if you became ill while on claim.

Q. How long are illness benefits payable?

A. Illness benefits are payable for a maximum of 15 weeks within a 39 week period. Under the present system, a person may receive up to 10 weeks of regular benefits and still be eligible for up to 15 weeks of illness benefits. The number of weeks of benefit payable depends on the nature of the illness and the number of weeks you had when you filed your claim.

Q. Will paid sick leave have an effect on my claim?

A. Many employers provide paid sick leave to employees when they are ill. If your sick leave pay is greater than the Unemployment insurance benefits would be, there is no point in filing a claim for illness benefits. If your sick leave pay is less than the UI benefits would be, you can claim as illness benefit the difference between the UI benefit rate and your sick leave pay. It may be to your advantage to delay filing your claim for benefit until two weeks before your paid sick leave runs out. This way, you would serve the 2 week waiting period while you are still receiving sick leave pay from your employer, and also before the illness benefits begin. Please check with your UIC office for guidance.

Q. If I have an individual insurance plan, can I still be entitled to sickness - illness benefits?

A. If this is an insurance that you have taken out and you're paying for yourself, it will not prevent you from being entitled to benefits. Benefits received from your insurance plan will not be deducted from your unemployment insurance benefits and you should file your claim without delay.

Q. If I receive Workmen Compensation benefits, will I be eligible to Unemployment Insurance benefits?

A. Workmen Compensation benefits can be divided into three (3) groups:

1) Temporary total incapacity - you are not entitled to UI benefits; 2) Temporary partial incapacity - you can claim as illness benefit the difference between the rate of the unemployment insurance benefits you would otherwise receive and the workmen compensation benefits you are receiving. It might be more to your advantage to delay filing your claim. Please check with your local UIC office for guidance. 3) Permanent incapacity - if you are receiving a disability pension, file your claim for UI without delay.

Q. What proof must I provide to show that I am incapable of work?

A. Have your doctor complete the medical certificate that is included in every claim kit. When completed by your doctor, the medical certificate is proof that you are incapable of work.

Swimming Pool Ready For Summer

The regular meeting of Clementsport Branch No. 122, Royal Canadian Legion, was held in the Legion Hall on Tuesday, 10 May, 1977 at 8:30 p.m. Commander President Charles Long was in the Chair. Zone Commander Joe Wilson from Zone 9, was guest at the meeting. Two applications were approved for Fraternal membership.

The pool committee gave a good report on the Swimming Pool on Moose River. The surrounding land has been acquired and is now the property of the Branch. Clearing is expected to take place shortly and plans call for picnic tables to be erected, as well as change houses and toilets. It is hoped the pool will be in full operation during the summer months complete with a life guard on duty. For those interested, the pool is located just South-East of the Guinea Bridge on the Clementsport-Clementsvale highway. This has been a popular meeting place for residents of the surrounding area and will be used much more when improvements have been made. Anyone who can spare an hour or two to help with this project should contact Bob Wright or Mason Wamboldt. Volunteers are urgently required.

DRHS Sports Banquet

Neal Bentley was awarded the trophy for the junior athlete of the year.

Digby Regional High School held its annual sports banquet on Wednesday night (May 11). Guest speaker for the evening was Dick Hunt, head coach of the varsity men's basketball team at Acadia University (national champions).

Mr. Hunt spoke of many different things concerning athletics and academic achievements. In comparing the two, he said that in each case a student is striving towards his or her goal in life.

The key word between the two, he noted, is participation. In participating, a person can achieve many things including satisfaction, togetherness, friendship, hard work and empathy.

Mr. Hunt stressed the importance of hard practices in any sport the individual is involved with. Difficult practices lead to a closer-knit team and one which can be competitive.

In closing, he stressed the importance of combining both athletics and academics. He also left a message for every individual at the banquet - 1. Get out of life what you want 2. Set your own goals 3. Achieve goals both academic and athletic.

Requests Organizations Participation Of Apple Blossom Princess Funding

At the regular monthly meeting of The Digby Board of Trade, held on Tuesday, May 10th, 1977, the matter of participation in the Annual Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival, was brought up for debate.

Very obviously, the crux of the situation, delay and resultant confusion, centers on financing of participation by the various Community Organizations. Because of the urgency of taking immediate action to resolve this problem, it was adopted by resolution of the Board, that Pat Comeau, (Volunteer), would personally seek interviews with Members of the Executive of the various Organizations in the town, to explain the principle of a joint cooperative program which could simplify the system of financing the promotion of Candidates for Digby Princess.

The proposal would require Organizations, Clubs, etc., to contribute annually by April 1st, the minimum sum of one hundred twenty-five dollars, $125.00, to a fund set up under jurisdiction of the Digby Board Of Trade, Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival Committee. From this fund, a maximum of $25.00, would be provided to assist candidates in preparation for appearing before a panel of judges at the local level. The balance of the contribution would be used in support of the chosen Digby Princess, in her appearance in the functions of the Blossom Festival.

Appropriate accounting, auditing and annual report to the various contributing Organizations, Clubs, etc., would be carried out by the Apple Blossom Fund Committee.

The survey has been concluded, with the following Organizations, Clubs, etc., contacted: Digby Board of Trade; The Lions Club; The Canadian Legion, Ladies Auxiliary; The Kiwanis Club; The Kinsmen's Club; The Knights of Columbus; The Town of Digby, and the Digby Volunteer Fire Department. Businesses: Phil Robertson; Kenneth Eavis, and Digby County Power Board.

In summary, this survey proved the value of seeking a way to improve the management of such important functions and, a systematic, proper financial program. Response to the basic plan of administration was nearly one hundred percent positive, so that implimentation of the same is strongly urged.

Respectfully yours,
Pat Comeau.

Growing Room

A major consideration when trees are growing in plantations is the spacing between individual stems. If trees are planted too closely together they compete for sunlight and moisture and growth slows down. If they are planted too far apart they do not make full use of the area.

When young forests, are planted, seedlings are usually placed from 6-10 feet apart (8 feet is a common spacing). As they develop, the trees and crowns get bigger and there comes a point when thinning will be necessary in order to get maximum growth over the area.

There is wide variation in the amount of wood that may be produced over a given number of years in any area and one of the important skills of a forest manager is to be able to control the amount of space betweeen trees during the life of a forest.

Heavy Traffic Expected

Drive Carefully

Heavy traffic is expected on the highways of Nova Scotia over the Victoria Day holiday weekend which begins this year on Friday, May 20, ending at midnight May 23.

Highways Minister J. Fraser Mooney, said today that it can be expected that most of the provinces licensed drivers, well over 400,000, will be on the move at some time during the first long holiday of the spring season.

Following is the text of the Highways Minister's message:

Traditionally, the Victoria Day holiday weekend ushers in the beginning of our spring and summer holiday season. It's that time for getting the summer camp or cottage opened up. It's time for family fishing trips and picnics in the outdoors. This holiday weekend will see our people on the move all over the province. I would predict that most of our licensed drivers, well over 400,000, will be on our highways at some time during the period of the holiday.

It is therefore incumbent on me as Highways Minister to add a note of caution. I would ask you to think back to this time last year. Most of us know personally of a good friend or relative killed or maimed in a highway crash. Long holiday weekends were the last weekends for many of our people. They died in crashes on our highways.

Don't let this first long holiday weekend be your last. Drive carefully - drive defensively - don't drink and drive - be an alert driver - buckle up your seat belts. Be sure your vehicle is in top mechanical condition as the law demands.

We are now entering the high traffic volume period - a period that usually marks an increase in fatality and injury figures. Don't delude yourself in this matter of safe driving. It can happen to you and our safety division regretfully has the statistics to prove it.

Don't let your memory of this holiday weekend be one of remorse over the death in traffic of a fellow human being.

Think about it when you step into your car and as you take to the road for the Victoria Day holiday weekend.

Those who insist that the youth of this generation is less industrious than ere before had better take a second look. There is Harold Dugas for instance. Harold, age 18, is a student at the Digby-Annapolis Vocational School in Middleton. After school hours and Saturdays he holds a job at Jack's Irving Station in Digby. Along with those occupations he is also a fully fledged member of the Digby Volunteer Fire Department.

North Range Church 100 Years

By Sue W. Bragg

Friday through Sunday, May 6 to 8th, 1977, was a special weekend for the members of North Range United Baptist Church when the one hundredth anniversary of the dedication was observed.

The Centennial services began on Friday evening, May 6th, when the Women's Missionary Society entertained members from the different churches throughout the area at a Crusade Meeting which marked the 90th anniversary of that body. The local president, Mrs. Marilyn Carman, conducted the service and welcomed the guests.

The roll of the societies was called by Mrs. Thelma Bacon. The history of the W.M.S. was prepared by Mrs. Sue Bragg and read by Mrs. Kay Silver. This society has been active since 1887, and is made up of members from different sections of St. Mary's Bay pastorate. It is of interest to note that the first contribution to Overseas Missions was $14.00, in 1976 well over $400.00 was sent.

Musical specials were presented by the Little River Women's Choir and by the North Range quartette made up of Mrs. Maxine Bain and Mrs. Muriel Levings, alto, Mrs. Brenda Hannam and Miss Donna Haight soprano, accompanied by Wayne Dingle on guitar.

The guest speaker, Rev. Elizabeth Legassie, Missionary elect to Bolivia, was introduced by Mrs. Carman. She brought a challenging message basing her thoughts on Revelation 2:4, "Leftovers". She emphasized the point that often Christians are prone to satisfy their own desires first and give to God whatever happens to be left of time, talent, money and life; losing sight of their "first love".

Mrs. Ena Kinney was the committee on courtesies - she thanked the speaker, choirs and guests for being present and sharing in this important celebration of the Missionary Society.

Following the service, refreshments were served at the nearby hall. Highlight of this was the anniversary cakes. One made in the form of the number "90" and five smaller ones shaped of the letters U.B.W.M.U. All made and beautifully decorated by Mrs. Violet Wagner and a friend. The cake was cut in traditional manner by the oldest member, Mrs. Sue Bragg and Mrs. Phyllis Thomas, who became a member at the earliest age. At the close of this period, all present joined hands around the hall to form a friendship circle while singing, "Blest Be the Tie".

On Saturday evening an informal time of fellowship with guests from the surrounding areas was enjoyed at the church hall. Ivan Bain, church clerk, acted as M.C. Rev. Sendel Barr, Pastor, read the scripture and conducted a short devotional. Several special members were given by the singing group with guitar and piano accompaniment. The Sunday School children delighted their listeners with several choruses, including "Happiness is the Lord". Letters of congratulations from former pastors and absent members were read by the clerk. Many old familiar Gospel songs were requested by those present and sung enthusiastically by all. A buffet lunch brought this part of the celebration to a close. Again Mrs. Wagner displayed her talent in cake designing when a "cake" church, a perfect model of the one being honored was on display as well as three cakes grouped to form "100". Floral pieces and wall decorations were by Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Floyd McNeil.

Perfect weather prevailed over the weekend and the little United Baptist Church at North Range was filled to capacity as friends from surrounding areas met with its members to share in the fellowship and help celebrate its one hundredth anniversary. On Sunday evening, May 8, 1977, a very impressive service was witnessed by members and descendents of its first officers and members. The church clerk, Ivan Bain, conducted the service and welcomed the visitors. The scripture, Matt. 16:13-20 was read by deacon Gerald Wagner and prayer offered by the pastor, Rev. Sendle Barr. Musical numbers were supplied by the choir and the singing group. John E. Andrews of Point Clare, Quebec, was present for the occasion and sang, "Lead Me Gently Home". The church school also had part in the service as they sang a special number. The church history was read by Mrs. Floyd McNeil. Mention was made of the faithful few who have carried the torch through the difficult as well as the glorious experiences in times much different from today, when members then had to travel long distances by foot to attend the services.

The first deacons were: William McNeil, John V. Andrews Sr., William H. Haines and Charles McNeil Sr. Following the reading of the history a moment of silence was observed in memory of all who had passed on to their reward. After prayer by the clerk, "The Churche's One Foundation", was sung. Recognition of the oldest active member and the youngest member was then made when a white carnation was presented to Deacon Milton Bragg by deacon Gerald Wagner and a pink carnation to Miss April O'Neill by Mrs. Wagner.

The centennial sermon was preached by Rev. R. Roosevelt Winchester, association secretary who had ministered to the church for the longest term, that of thirteen years. He took his text from Joshua 3:5. "Sanctify yourselves, for tomorrow the Lord will do wonders among you". Tomorrow - the people of God looking at tomorrow with hope; the destiny of tomorrow rests with a sovereign God. If we sanctify ourselves, if we seek His face, God can still do wonders. One hundred years of the beginning of the work for God. Be strong and of good courage. If we sanctify ourselves we are living up to the ideals that Christ has set for us.

The service closed by singing, Amazing Grace and the benediction by the pastor. Accompanist for congregational singing was Mrs. Ivan Bain.

Friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mrs. Ruth Berry, Centreville, to extend congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Harley Dakin on the occasion of their 50th Wedding Anniversary. Although their sons, Edsel and Milton were not able to get home for the occasion, Edsel had been home the previous week. Guests were from Rossway, Little River, Sandy Cove, Digby, Barton, South Range and Centreville.

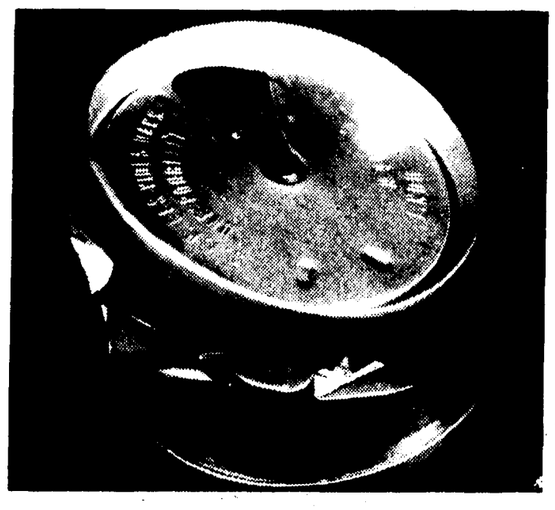
An anniversary supper was given for Mr. and Mrs. Dakin at the House of Wong by Lorraine, Sheila, Winona and Mrs. Cann.

Congratulations were received by phone from Premier Gerald Regan, and Joe Casey, M.L.A. also from Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau and His Honor Governor General and Madame Leger.

Life: it's non-returnable



Waste is a dirty word yet last year Nova Scotia's highways saw the worst waste of all . . . the waste of 203 lives in highway accidents.
This year there will be others — you can bet on it.
Nobody knows who they'll be but we do know how it will be . . . inattention, the single greatest cause of car accidents.
When you drive, drive as though your life depended on it. Pay attention or it could cost you your life! And that's non-returnable

What are you doing with the rest of your life?

What You Can't See Or Smell

In mounting its annual "Car Check" campaign for 1977, the Canada Safety Council draws attention to a problem all too often overlooked: exhaust fumes.

One example, used graphically, is the drive-in theatre, where cool weather can tempt occupants to run the vehicle's engine for a while to warm up.

Young people, often with limited funds to maintain a vehicle adequately, are also the ones who most often frequent drive-in theatres. Carbon monoxide, entering the vehicle from a leaky exhaust, is neither seen nor smelt, and it is tasteless.

Carbon monoxide is particularly dangerous because its presence may not be suspected until it is too late.

Leaky mufflers and tail pipes might be one common cause - but at least a driver is noisily made aware of a problem in this regard. Fewer drivers suspect that exhaust gas can be drawn into a vehicle through rust holes in the floor and body, or the the trunk, or holes in the firewall.

Drivers of older cars especially should know the symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning: slight headache and shortage of breath on moderate exertion if there are low concentrations of the gas. Higher concentrations cause severe headache, mental confusion and dizziness, impairment of vision and hearing, and collapse or fainting on exertion.

The Canada Safety Council says prevention is best; keep the exhaust system in good condition, and all holes repaired. Do not idle for long periods.

Notes From Bird Haven

THE BIRDS RELEASE

Friday morning was lovely warm and sunny so the big cage was carried out on the lawn, the large gate opened and one by one the orioles found their way out.

They flew to the big spruce trees. Such a lovely sight. Their brilliant orange and black against the dark trees.

They flew from tree to tree singing often, then found the pond and all six took baths, then settled down in the trees to shake and fix their feathers.

When I came in the house late in the afternoon it seemed very empty.

A little quote from a magazine, "Canada Outdoors", nursing a sick or wounded wild creature back to health can be most rewarding, but releasing it after it is cured can be a traumatic experience."

This was about a hawk, but applies to Orioles as well.

They all wore their little silver bracelets. They had been banded a week ago.

Since last writing I have lost one of my special birds, Joey the Cedar wax wing. He had been shot in Annapolis four years ago and had become very tame.

Lots of our summer birds are coming back. The yellow warblers will be along soon as they come when the forsythia start to leaf out. I call the forsythia my singing bush as the little birds are the colour of the new leaves and flowers.

Mocky left three weeks ago. The very day he left, the Bluejays and Chick-a-dees came back and have been here ever since.

How did they know the watch dog of the trees had left?

So long
The Bird Lady

Education - Safety Film

Adults in charge of school buses got a lesson in safety from some spirited sixth-graders at the annual School Conveyance Conference in Halifax.

Delegates and observers from across Nova Scotia, the Atlantic Provinces, Ontario and Ohio were treated to a snowing of "Joe and Mabel", a Super 8 film on school bus safety.

Produced by students at Robert Jamieson School, Oyster Pond, Halifax County, the film features both live-action and animation sequences.

The children shot and edited the film themselves as well as conceptualizing and drawing cartoons for the animated sequences. The sound track features live sound, music, narration and sound effects. It discusses bus safety rules in an amusing and entertaining manner even though the seriousness of the message is never in doubt.

Two buses are used to contrast the rights and wrongs of school bus safety. One bus contains careless and unruly children while the other is safety-conscious and aware of responsibilities to the driver and to each other.

The animated sequences warn of possible consequences when safety rules are taken lightly.

Teacher John Macpherson suggested that the film be used as an orientation into bus safety rules.

"It provides a take-off point for further projects or activities on bus safety," he said.

Atlantic Premiers On CBC-TV

Shown above are the Atlantic premiers during the taping of the program "CONFEDERATION: To Have And Have Not" which is to be seen on the CBC network of stations in Atlantic Canada on May 18th at 7:30 p.m. It is the first of the five-part series which will then continue each Wednesday at 8:00 p.m.

The Human Journey
The Early Years

According to a majority of scientists studying human behaviour, the time from birth to the beginning of school is the most critical period in a person's life. Sunday, May 29, 10:00-11:00 p.m. EDT, CTV presents the first episode of the successful and highly acclaimed series "The Human Journey: The Early Years", an hour-long documentary that covers that most crucial period.

Until recent times, very little was understood about these years. What is known indicates that if a child is influenced at the right time, he or she will grow to be, not only more intelligent and knowledgeable, but also saner, with better emotional adjustment.

The program looks at the wide range of experiments and areas of study that are attempting to unravel many of the mysteries of how a child senses the world in these early years. In the opening sequence viewers are treated to one of the most beautiful films ever produced on the event of birth- the birth of Shawn MacDonald Campbell.

Elsewhere, Dr. Burton L. White of Harvard University discusses the results of a ten-year research program he took part in that studied children from birth to six months of age. Also appearing is Dr. Jerone Kagan, Professor of Human Development at Harvard who by using electrical equipment is trying to discover when young babies think and reason for themselves.

Dr. Glenn Doman of the Institute for the Achievement of Human Potential in Philadelphia discusses his theory that mothers know more about their own children than any professional. He believes the professional role is simply to help mothers improve their own techniques for teaching and stimulating their children. Also appearing is Dr. William Fowler of the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education who, by teaching and observing his own three children wrote one of the most important papers on the subject.

The problems of day care are discussed with Mrs. Audrey Berger, president of the Canadian Mothercraft Society and Dr. John Gilbert talks about his study of how children learn to talk.

The first episode in "The Human Journey" series, "The Early Years" was the recipient of two major awards - the Gold Medal at the 1971 Atlanta Film Festival in the documentary class and Best Informational Documentary at the 1971 Canadian Film Awards.

THE HUMAN JOURNEY-THE EARLY YEARS was written, directed and produced by Jerry Lawton.

Residential Rate 90c Commercial, $1.40

The Municipality of the District of Digby struck its 1977 tax ate during its monthly meeting on Tuesday. Commercial ratepayers will pay taxes in the amount of $1.40 per $100 of assessment this year, while those assessed at the residential rate will pay 90 cents.

The garbage rate was set at two and one half cents per $100 of assessment and the fire rate at 1 cent. Bear River residents will pay an additional 9 cents light rate.

Total income, before tax revenues are considered, for the year are expected to amount to $1,551,848. Expenditures are expected to reach $1,794,224.

Residential assessment for the year is $70,058,855; commercial assessment is $21,421,625.

In other action taken on Tuesday, Council decided to request that the department of highways install at least three crosswalks in Conway while road-widening is being carried out there. Councillor Walter MacAlpine voted against the motion. He shared the view of several other councillors that the department should cover the cost.

Council will be required to pay $100 for each crosswalk installed.

The motion followed a lengthy discussion on the issue. Councillor Helen McNeil was the strongest advocate for having the crosswalks installed at the stated cost.

Through another motion, Council voted that those living over the Clare border, but who pay garbage rates in Digby would be provided with regular garbage pick-up provided the truck passes by their houses.

Ruben Mervin requested a grant of $1800 for the Digby County Exhibition Society. Last year the society received $1,200.

Council decided to write a letter to Digby Town Council to see if it is permissible for certain county areas to enter the town's sewage system. Conway and Mount Pleasant were two areas mentioned.

Mention was made of the poor situation in Conway where, according to Councillor Eric Vantassel, "there must be two feet of sewage disposal right in the ditch."

Councillor Rick Daley reported on the status of contract negotiations with teachers of the municipal school board. He figured the next stage would be arbitration.

A delegation, including members of the department of municipal affairs in Halifax and the Annapolis County and District Planning Commission appeared before council with the expressed purpose of explaining what regional planning is all about.

The municipal council was asked to decide within a reasonable period of time either in favour or against the concept of regional planning. Delegate spokesman Mr. Haverstock made mention of the desire in Annapolis County to have Digby municipality included in any regional planning.

Several councillors felt regional planning was being pushed on them. In Councillor McNeil's view, "it's coming and we've got to be in on it."

A delegation from the Digby-Hillgrove Flying Club also appeared before council protesting a letter from the council's Airport Committee demanding that the club's "privy" be moved by June 2 to a less visible area.

After a discussion on the matter, Council passed a motion supporting the stand taken by its committee. Ervin Marshall acted as spokesman for the flying club, with support from other club members. Councillor McNeil voted against the motion.

Princess Julie MacIntosh will represent Digby in the Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival.

Princess Digby

Eighteen-year-old Julie MacIntosh was selected Princess Digby during a Princess Tea held at the Admiral Digby Inn on Saturday.

Julie, representing the Board of Trade, was one of six young ladies in the contest. The others were Gail French, Cathy Currie, Nancy Turnbull, Joanne Frankland and Mae Cromwell.

Julie is a third year pharmacy student at Dalhousie University in Halifax. She has two years remaining to complete her studies.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank MacIntosh, of King Street, Digby, Julie is a sports enthusiast and enjoys handcrafts.

Saturday's tea was sponsored by the Admiral Digby Inn and co-ordinated by the Digby Board of Trade.

Governors And Premiers To Meet In Digby

Energy, fisheries and underseas exploration for minerals in the northwest Atlantic will be key topics for discussion at the Fifth Annual Conference of New England Governors and Eastern Canadian Premiers to be held at Digby Pines, June 23 to 26.

Details of the four-day gathering were announced today by the conference host, Nova Scotia's Premier Gerald A. Regan, Q.C.

In addition to the premiers and governors, the conference is expected to draw between 150 and 200 state and provincial government officials and members of their families.

Deliberations on energy, which will be assigned to Friday, June 24, will cover such areas as conservation, potential power production from the massive tides of the Bay of Fundy, hydro developments, and possible production and delivery of offshore gas.

The business session of Saturday, June 25, will be devoted to an examination of production and protection of fish stocks in waters adjacent to the Atlantic Provinces and New England States with particular emphasis in co-operation among the five provinces and six states, problems arising out of contiguous jurisdictions in fisheries limits and on the continental shelf, and the potential for development of new subsea sources of minerals off the

AVABT Urges Study On Sissaboo System

Survival of rail passenger service through the Annapolis Valley was one of seven resolutions dealt with during the AVABT's annual meeting in Wolfville.

Emmanuel Adelaar, addressing the board on behalf of the Village of Weymouth, sponsoring body of the resolution, spoke in favour of a 50 per cent reduction in passenger rates on the DAR line running through the Valley.

Such a move, he suggested, accompanied with proper scheduling could result in increased usage of about 75 per cent.

After a brief discussion, the resolution was tabled. Executive-manager Herb Smale noted the affiliated boards have asked for and are currently receiving views from municipal units and boards of trade throughout the Valley on this matter. He felt it would be unfair to take a stand before receiving and considering all opinions.

While speaking on this matter, Mr. Adelaar supported his resolution's stand that Canadian railway companies in the last decade have "pursued a policy discouraging the public from the use of railway transportation by letting the service deteriorate steadily "to the point at which they suffer heavy losses."

The resolution noted that CP-DAR have on numerous occasions requested the Canadian Transport Commission to abandon service in a number of areas including the Valley run.

"It notes, however, that the cost of oil is growing and "it must be taken for granted that a properly run railway transportation service must be more economical both in dollars and cents in immediate cost of the passenger-mile, and as well as from the view of fuel conservation.

The average number of passengers using the Valley passenger service during 1976 was only 9.5 according to the report.

As well as its effect on energy conservation, drafters of the resulution felt it would reduce the huge deficits now run up by the railways at the taxpayers' expense and suggested that whereas everything else has failed, "this should be a last but worthwhile resort to turn to in the interest of consumers in order to retain an improved passenger service to all taxpayers."

National Unity

Another resolution submitted by Weymouth dealt with the matter of national unity. This resolution received unanimous support.

Through this resolution, the AVABT takes a strong stand in favour of national unity but stresses that an independent Quebec would not have any further financial advantage through a special customs union with the rest of Canada.

A resolution submitted by Kentville requests a completion of the review of municipal-provincial cost-sharing structures and implementation of a new arrangement preserving the present relatively favourable arrangements for rural municipalities while permitting the town of the province increased access to provincial revenues.

This resolution received unanimous approval.

Another Kentville resolution which received approval urged publication of an assessment of the Kentville area destination area study undertaken by the Department of Highways some two years ago, urged an additional crossing for the Cornwallis River, and requested action to alleviate the New Minas-Kentville bottleneck for traffic on Highway 1.

A Windsor resolution urged the federal government to place a high priority on restoration of Fort Edward National Historic Site.

New officers for the AVABT include one representative from Digby County. Omer Blinn was chosen 2nd vice president. At previous meetings, Mr. Blinn attended as warden of Clare. He has since been replaced as warden by Robert Theriault who represented Clare in Wolfville.

Officers are Murdock MacLeod, President; Bruce MacKenzie, immediate past president; Victor Mackay, first vice-president; Omer Blinn, second vice-president; Colin Lang, third vice-president; Cecil Verge, treasurer; Col. Herb Smale, secretary, executive-manager.

A tennis program for Digby area students is now available, courtesy of Victor Bradshaw, manager of The Pines. The program will operate under the direction of Billy Olsen, DRHS teacher, and Lantz Woolaver, socio-cultural co-ordinator for the resort. The students shown here are Susie Wong, Bonnie States, Judy Pothier and Judy Comeau. Standing behind are Lantz Woolaver and Billy Olsen.

50 Per Cent Drop In DAR Passenger Rates Proposed

Representatives from the Western end of the Annapolis Valley played an important role at the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade's annual business meeting in Wolfville. The Village of Weymouth alone was responsible for three of the seven resolutions presented for consideration.

One topic of concern to our area dealt with hydro-electric power generation on the Sissaboo water system. Two resolutions had been submitted on the matter, one by the Village of Weymouth and one from the Digby Board of Trade.

The two resolutions were combined by Resolutions Chairman Bill Cox of Bear River and given approval by the affiliated boards.

The resolution requests that the Nova Scotia Power Corporation and the Nova Scotia government review the potential for generating hydro-electric power on the Sissiboo system "on an urgent basis" or, if such a project is not undertaken this year, that hydro-electric generating rights on the water system be returned to the Digby County Power Board for development.

Stewart MacNaughton, Digby Mayor and Chairman of the Digby County Power Board, spoke on behalf of the Sissaboo resolution.

He told board members he had been astounded at what he saw during a recent tour of the water system by land and air. To travel around the circumference of the one lake, at the fourth lake dam, he noted, would mean a trip of 135 miles. Yet no electricity is being produced at it, although according to Mr. MacNaughton, it could be. He noted that other development on the system is also possible.

It was Mr. MacNaughton's view that all available hydro resources in the Valley, and especially on the Sissiboo, should be developed to the fullest extent.

A clause of the approved resolution notes that "even allowing for the capital investment required for such an undertaking, given the natural advantages of the terrain, and considering the increasing costs of carbon fuel, such an expansion should be economically feasible in the very near future."

Later in the meeting, the AVABT indicated its strong concern for power production and costs by deciding to set up an open forum on the energy question at which those deemed necessary to thoroughly explore the matter in depth would be invited to attend.

Ferry Rates To Rise?

Are substantial rate increases in store for the Digby-Saint John Ferry vessel Princess of Acadia?

It appears to be a possibility and, as such, will be investigated by the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade.

Emmanuel Adelaar of Weymouth, brought this matter to the floor during the AVABT's annual meeting in Wolfville. He said someone had been taking a survey of passengers on the vessel, asking among other things, how they would feel about a substantial rate increase.

SHUT-INS DAY

Sunday, June 5th is Shut-Ins Day. It is a special day when people single out other people who are home ill, hospitalized or possibly aged so that getting out to communicate with others is seldom done. Many suggestions have been made on ways which might bring a little extra pleasure to the shut-in. You might share your dining table with one who cannot otherwise get out to visit, your garden or yard might be an unusual place to relax for an otherwise shut-in. There are many ways to serve and there are many persons we can think about who would welcome a change on Shut-ins day.

Normally we think of the shut-in as physically handicapped, or aged or ill who are shut within an institution or home. We would like to add to this list those who are shut-in within themselves, the lonely, the worried, those not able to cope with life. There are many such who also need to be visited and taken out of themselves, given a chance to communicate and become part of the community, to feel needed and to feel wanted. It was just within the last week we read that it was felt a telephone "help line" service should be established in the Annapolis Valley as a study recently made revealed that there are many lonely, isolated people living in the area which stretches from Kingston to Digby. By themselves these people find it difficult to face life and all, too often their plight is not recognized until too late.

Digby area has an organization Operation Friendship sponsored by the Digby Mental Health Association which is doing a good job. Whether involved in Operation Friendship or not, we urge our readers to remember the Shut-ins on Sunday - those who are shut within a physical structure and those who are shut within themselves. We further add that days following June 5 continue to be used as a release from being "shut-in".

Digby Dragons Best In Maritimes

The Digby Dragons have proved they are the best in the Maritimes, and next year they intend to spread their fame as far away as Sweden.

The Dragons are a girls' basketball team consisting of girls from grades eight and nine. Their coach, Greg Jamieson, started the team last year, and "the main reason was to try to provide something in the area people could be proud of," he said.

The team placed first in the Girls' Junior Valley League with ten wins and no losses. From there the coach divided the team into midget and bantam, based on age. The midget team placed third in its tournament, but the bantam team faired better as they won the Maritime title.

Coach Greg Jamieson is no novice to the sport of basketball. He coached a girls' team in Newfoundland and attended basketball clinics in Canada and the United States as far away as UCLA before coming to Digby.

Next year on the March break, coach Jamieson plans to accompany the girls on a trip to Sweden which will last about ten days. The games played in Sweden will be basically exhibition games against schools from Sweden and also from Norway. One school in Sweden will host the girls and it is hoped that school will visit Digby next May.

The coach says the trip will be mainly an educational one. The girls will visit educational spots and will learn about the culture of the Swedish people.

Funding for this trip has not been completely organized. Coach Jamieson said the costs will be all transportation as the school in Sweden will provide the girls with a place to stay. It is thought that the money will come from government grants, auctions, and the coach said the team will have to branch out beyond Digby for assistance.

Raising money seems to play an important role to the Dragons as money is always needed for transportation, uniforms and the like. In the past the girls have had bake sales and bike-a-thons, and have raised $4,000 in the last two years.

This year the girls had quite a season. Some highlights were winning the Digby Invitational, the MacDonald Drive Invitation in Saint John, the Horton Invitational, and being runners-up in an invitational at Barnhill Memorial in Saint John. Altogether the girls had a 52 wins 2 loss record and scored an astounding 4,271 points. In contrast the girls had only 998 points scored against them.

FERRY RATES TO RISE?

Mr. Adelaar said lower rates should be sought for the crossing to increase usage instead of chasing people away with higher rates.

To Maintain 7 And 8 At Oakdene

Following a meeting with concerned parents and the Trustees of the Oakdene School, Bear River, the Annapolis County Municipal School Board has decided to maintain grades seven and eight in the Oakdene School for the forseeable future.

According to Superintendent of Schools, Philip Lake, due to reductions in the municipal school budget by the Nova Scotia Department of Education, the Municipal School Board was investigating the possibility of moving grades seven and eight from the Oakdene School to existing facilities in Annapolis Royal and Digby. When public reaction arose opposing this move, the School Board decided that there were other ways to compensate for the salary allocation reductions imposed by the province.

Some factions in Bear River opposed to the removal of grades seven and eight, tried to get the County School Board to agree that the subject of these transfers would be dropped once and for all. The School Board preferred not to do this, because, according to Lake, it is not possible for any school board dependent upon provincial assistance to make such a promise when it may not be possible for it to be kept. In addition, Lake indicated, such a stance by the School Board would be taking financial decision making from the hands of those elected by the people to make these decisions.

Lake has emphasized that the board has evidently reflected the wishes of the community in this decision and grades seven and eight will be maintained at the Oakdene School.

Tidal Study Awarded

The Tidal Power Corporation has entered into arrangements with three Quebec-based companies relating to pre-engineering studies at the Annapolis River causeway at Annapolis Royal, finance minister Peter Nicholson said in the legislature Thursday.

Mr. Nicholson told NDP leader Jeremy Akerman the companies will proceed to work on calculations relevant to the installation of a tidal generating unit at the causeway, and to evaluate components of the unit.

The companies of Sulzer Brothers, Pointe Claire, Tidal Power Consultants, Montreal, and the Montreal Engineering Company.

Mr. Nicholson said the extent of involvement by Sulzer Brothers would not be in excess of $75,000.

There were no tenders called, he said, because the study is not for specific work to be undertaken other than evaluation of existing assumptions and "perhaps a modicum of physical work."

The companies will study the causeway structure to determine installation procedures for the generating unit, said Mr. Nicholson.

The Sulzer firm was recommended to the Tidal Power Corporation by "prominent engineers" and "the most experienced people we could find right now."

Mr. Nicholson announced last Friday a tidal project for the Annapolis River causeway which, if successful, will greatly speed up development of major tidal projects in the Bay of Fundy.

The project, when finished, will see a permanent generating unit established at the causeway, capable of producing 10 to 20 megawatts of power.

The Steady Subscriber

How dear to our hearts is the steady subscriber,
Who pays in advance at the birth of the year,
Who lays down his money and does it quite gladly,
And casts round the office a halo of cheer.

He never says "Stop it; I cannot afford it,
I'm getting more papers than now I can read"
But always says "Send it; our people all like it;
In fact we all think it a help and a need.

How welcome his cheque when it reaches our sanctum!
How it makes our pulse throb! How it makes our heart dance!
We outwardly thank him; we inwardly bless him,
The steady subscriber who pays in advance.

NOTICE TO FISHERMEN

4 VWX FLOUNDER ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

The Fisheries and Marine Service, Department of Fisheries and Environment, will implement an incentive program to encourage the taking of the unused 4 VWX Flounder quota and to reduce effort in the more favored areas.

Effective June 1, 1977, fishing enterprises will receive assistance in the amount of 1c/lb. on all first quality flounder (Plaice, Witch, Yellowtail, Winter Flounder) taken in ICNAF divisions 4VWX.

This plan is in addition to the normal groundfish assistance program. Fishing enterprises will not be required to submit separate applications, as payment will be based on the monthly applications submitted for the groundfish assistance program. All supporting documetns must clearly identify flounder captured in ICNAF divisions 4 VWX. Applications for vessels over 25.5 gross tons must also be supported by a copy of all relevant log records which should be identical to the log record regularly submitted for statistical purposes.

Sunday Was M.S. Day

The Multiple Sclerosis Society of Canada (Atlantic Division) received a favorable response from the churches of the Atlantic provinces to the request to observe Sunday, May 22, as the M.S. Day of Prayer.

Multiple Sclerosis, a disease of the central nervous system afflicting young adults in the prime of life, has no known cause, prevention or cure. It is hoped that the M.S. Day of Prayer will help bring to the attention of concerned citizens the need for research into this mysterious disease as well as the need for improved services to patients through treatment and counselling clinics, recreation and home strengthening programs.

M.S. Day of Prayer coincided with the third annual Atlantic Conference held this year in Saint John, N.B. from May 21 to 23. The Conference focused on Independent Living for MSers.

In Memoriams

STARK - In loving memory of our father, Clyde Robbin Stark, who passed away suddenly on May, 24th, 1963.
We were younger then and very sad,
For we had lost our loving Dad.

We're older now and time has past,
But our memories of you will always last.

We hold in our hearts your love so true,
And we'll always be remembering you.

Sadly missed by PATSY, RODNEY, GREGORY AND BONNIE. 42:1ip.

OICKLE- In loving memory of our only child Leanne Marjorie who was taken from us suddenly on May 30, 1975.
Her busy hands are resting now
Her work on earth is done
Her worries are all over now
Her heavenly crown is won.
She sleeps in God's beautiful garden
Sheltered from sorrow and pain
And when life's journey is over
We know we shall meet her again.

Too dearly loved to ever be forgotten by MOM AND DAD. 42:1ip

WOODMAN - In memory of our dear daughter Wilda Woodman who passed away May 30th, 1975.
Somewhere back of the sunset,
Where loneliness never dies,
She lives in a land of Glory
Amid the blue and gold of the skies.
Her life is a beautiful memory
Her absence a solemn grief
She sleeps in God's beautiful Garden,
In the sunset of perfect peace.

Greatly missed but lovingly remembered by her PARENTS GEORGE AND ANNIE WINCHESTER. 42:1ip.

Child Abuse Major Social Problem

Child abuse is a major social problem in the province and "anyone put in a situation with enough stress could be a potential child abuser," Sister Nvala Kenny, M.D., told a mental health seminar here.

Dr. Kenny, a pediatrician and assistant professor of pediatrics at Dalhousie Medical School, said studies conducted in Nova Scotia during the past few years have corresponded almost exactly to an earlier American study that found one out of every 1,000 children under five years of age is a victim of active physical abuse.

She said abused children have a ten percent mortality rate while some 50 percent suffer permanent brain damage and the same percentage suffer repeated abuse.

Age groupings for abused children show 32 percent are under six months while 38 percent are between six months and three years and 30 percent were over three years of age.

Dr. Kenny told the meeting the most common abuse was the shaking of the head by an angered parent. While the brain of an adult floats free in the protective fluid of the cranium, a child two years or under has a web of blood vessels connecting the brain to the top of the skull which violent shaking can tear resulting in permanent brain damage.

Dr. Kenny said many people were shocked to discover a third of abused children were infants under six-months-old.

"I have admitted to hospital a six-month-old who was burned with cigarettes all over her body because she wasn't toilet trained".

She said abuse manifests itself to the doctor in the form of many kinds of problems including failure of the growth hormone resulting in short stature, malnutrition and developmental retardation.

Child abuse comes to the attention of the doctor when the child is brought in by "a scared parent" who usually maintains the child was injured by falling downstairs, off the coffee table, or off a tricycle or similar toy. If challenged, the parent will then usually blame the baby sitter or grandparent.

Dr. Kenny said the typical child abuser is from 20-25 years of age, usually with high school or less than high school education, and often lives in an apartment.

Traits of personality a child abuser might typically possess are immaturity, impulsiveness, self-centredness, poor control of aggression and a low frustration threshold.

"The child is usually the scapegoat in a situation where there's a lot of stress," she said "and generally people who are abusers were themselves abused as children."

Environment is an important factor in child abuse, according to Dr. Kenny. Contributing factors often include sexual promiscuity or incompatibility, financial crisis, parental or family illness, frequent and unwanted pregnancies and alienation from the community.

She said alcohol was also a major factor as the first "drug" function of alcohol is to depress learned behavior patterns such as not hitting someone smaller than you.

The Ladies Zone party at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall on Monday evening was very interesting and enjoyable. There were forty two ladies from the five units, each had a different entertainment. The Violin Solo from Lawrencetown was very much enjoyed. The presentation from Clementsport of the Silver Jubilee Trays to each unit was well received. Stephen Hawboldt was on hand to get a picture. After a tour of the new addition and the Haviland Room, delicious refreshments was served by the catering committee. Next year the zone party will meet at Annapolis.

About sixty women from the different churches in Bear River attended the Friendship Meeting of the UCW in the vestry of the United Church on Tuesday evening. The meeting began with a sing-song which was followed by an interesting program of music, readings, games and contests. Everyone had a share in making this part of the evening a success.

A social hour followed during which time the theme of friendship was emphasized by visiting and friendly conversation. Everyone enjoyed the delicious refreshments which were served by the social committee. The meeting closed by forming a large circle around the room, joining hands and singing Shalon, the Jewish greeting which means both welcome and good-bye.

The Western District Of N.S. Association Of Garden Clubs Meet

The annual meeting of the Western District of N.S. Association of Garden Clubs was held in the Legion Hall, Bear River, N.S., on the evening of May 18th. Garden Club members from Annapolis, Weymouth, Digby and Bear River, were present.

The meeting was chaired by Jack Harris, President of the N.S. Association of Garden Clubs, who extended a welcome to the various clubs and introduced Mr. Pellworthy, President of Weymouth Garden Club, Mrs. W.Smith, President of Champlain Garden Club, Annapolis, Donald White, President Admiral Digby Horticultural Society, Digby N.S. and Mrs. A. Milner, President of the Hill'n Dale Garden Club, Bear River. Also present was A.S. Morton, N.S. Department of Agriculture and Marketing, Truro.

On behalf of the Hill'n Dale Garden Club, Mrs. Milner extended a welcome, with the wish that the evening would be an enjoyable one.

Annual reports were given from the Annapolis Garden Club, from Bear River Garden Club and from Digby Garden Club.

Each Club had been invited to give a five minute program as part of the evening's entertainment.

A member from Annapolis gave an interesting demonstration of articles that could be made from odds and ends around the house, such as lamp shades, chair seat covers, cannister sets, cushions, trays, shopping bags, etc.

Mrs. Robert, Digby, showed colored slides of local gardens and other areas, commenting as to location and variety of flowers.

Mrs. J. Gilliatt, Bear River, demonstrated the art of using dried grasses and colored flowers for making bouquets and decorating wooden plaques.

Mr. Morton showed a colored film, entitled "Green Survival" and the need of grass and green plants in our environment.

The film explained that well cared for lawns, shrubbery, flowers and all types of gardens, along with trees and well kept buildings can add much to the appearance of our surroundings and enjoyment in our lives.

Trees can be a benefit for coolness in summer as well as making a saving on cost of energy during the cold months.

The four clubs took part in a quiz conducted by Jack Harris, with questions pertaining to garden and general flower information Weymouth won the highest points.

During the evening numbers were called according to registration and prizes given.

Mr. Morton thanked the members for preparing and making possible an interesting meeting and enjoyable evening and each Garden Club for their individual activities and doing their "own thing".

Mr. Bruce Gilliatt, Agriculture representative N.S. Department Agriculture and Marketing, Weymouth, spoke briefly on items of interest to Garden Club members.

At the close of the meeting, delicious refreshments were served from an attractive buffet table.

David Harold Raymond, Smith's Cove, was among the more than eighty graduates at the N.S.L.S.I. on Friday, receiving his certificate in the Cartography Program. Mr. Raymond was also the recipient of the Hughes-Owen Co. Ltd. Cartography Prize. Here he watches as his mother, Mrs. Kelsey Raymond, tries her hand at the art.

Development Of Tourist Potential Is Necessary

The future of Annapolis Royal is pinned to the development of its tourist potential and restoration of the town's old buildings is important to that potential, Mayor George Richardson said Monday.

In an interview here, Mayor Richardson said he is extremely pleased with the restoration of the old liquor commission building by its new owner Michael Susnick.

"It's really good to see someone taking an older building and doing something with it," he said. "It means another attraction that will attract and benefit local people as well as tourists."

Mayor Richardson said the Susnick property, which will house an art gallery and craft sales on the first floor and a hostel to accommodate 20 people on the second, will be the first restoration in the town to be done by private enterprise and will hopefully serve as an example to other businessmen.

He said the town's industry committee has had little luck trying to find industry to meet the town's desperate economic situation and it appears that, for the time being, tourism is going to remain the most immediate hope of the area.

He said Annapolis Royal will be trying to advertise itself to a greater extent, to get more people to stop and explore what the mayor calls the cradle of Canada, while still pursuing a much needed industrial base.

Mr. Richardson, who did not attend the second part of the regional planning seminar in Kingston last week, said he and his council are still strongly in favor of the exclusion of Kings County from a region to include Annapolis and part of Digby County.

He said he feels that, at the present time, the municipalities should be allowed to get on with their own plans before any regional plan is drawn up.

"I still say this is something they dreamed up in Halifax and passed down to us and it should be going the other way. The province has simply made the wrong move at the wrong time with this regional planning thing."

Mayor Richardson said his town's priority was to finish their plan, which has not as yet been started, before they can think about any regional planning. He added that with the extensive funding for the town's historic restoration it should have a good start on the master plan.

"Police Services"

By Sgt. T.E. Barlow I-C Digby Detachment

Recently there has been a great deal written in local papers concerning police services in this town and elsewhere. The discussions have centered around RCMP services versus local or town police services, costs, duties, etc. It has been suggested that because RCMP members are normally not from the immediate area they police, that they are not interested and therefore do not do a proper job. It has also been suggested that the town have no say in what is written into the RCMP contracts.

I have no intention of arguing the pros and cons of RCMP policing over local or town police, the RCMP track record will speak well for itself. I would like to point out that the RCMP has been policing municipalities from coast to coast in Canada since 1935. The RCMP is the best trained police force in Canada and probably the world, most people feel we do a good job in town and rural policing. It was said to me once that the RCMP are not geared to municipal policing. If one would have a close look at RCMP training, management practices and the like, it would be amply obvious that we are geared for all types of policing. Look at the types of policing we are doing in Canada, at the present time, the record speaks for itself. Anyone with a little knowledge of police practices would be impressed. Maybe that is the problem, our critics are misinformed or not informed at all.

Members of the RCMP come from all parts of Canada, small towns, villages, rural communities. The men policing this town are in all probability from a town of similar size somewhere in Canada. Ask them yourself. To say they are not interested or do not understand is a fallacy, they are concerned and they do try and do something about it.

The duties performed by the RCMP under contract are similar and in most cases identical to duties carried out by most local police forces. A police force cannot solve all the social and other problems found in a town, it was never intended that way. No police force can enforce all of the administrative by-laws that are written in the books. It is a matter of priorities, do the people want relatively high paid policemen writing parking tickets, chasing stray dogs and cats, and enforcing all of the revenue and administrative by-laws, when there are more than enough serious crimes to investigate and criminal laws to enforce.

The new contracts signed by towns for RCMP policing are the results of over two years negotiations between the provinces and federal government. The provincial governments have been negotiating for the municipalities. The towns have no input into the contracts, was a statement I saw recently. Do you, the people, really believe that? If a particular municipality chose not to have input than I can understand that. There are many avenues open for input, there has been for the past two years. All of the towns knew in March 1976 that the old contracts were about expired and new ones were being arranged.

At the last meeting of the Canadian Association of Chief of Police it was agreed that public apathy was the greatest problem faced by police forces in Canada. A police force, RCMP or town police, is only as good as the society it serves wants it to be. The theme for police week 77 is "working together, supporting justness". Let's get the petty politics out of policing, hire your own town force or RCMP, they are both trying to do the same job. Your police force, whatever its name happens to be, wants and needs your support, the support of the public and local government. Let's work together, support justness.

Receives Grant

Grant Les Femmes Acadiennes de Clare has been awarded a grant in the amount of $1,650.00. from the Secretary of State.

This grant was used for a Provincial Conference of Francophone Women of Nova Scotia, which was held on May 13, 14 and 15 at Saint Anne's College in Church Point.

U.K. Industralists Interested In Nova Scotia

"Enormous goodwill" exists in the United Kingdom toward Nova Scotia, this province's agent general in the U.K., Rear Admiral Desmond Piers (ret'd), told members of the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade in Wolfville.

Speaking on European investment possibilities he noted, "We have a lot going for us. It is not going to happen quickly. The determination is there for the people to break out into the new world and here is a beautiful province which they like."

He said his London office receives many inquiries about the province.

Trade contacts exist all over the U.K. and Europe, he said, and if Valley industrialists and businessmen have things to sell "be sure and let us know."

Those wishing to follow Mr. Piers advice can do so through the department of development in Halifax and its representative, Robin Hennigar.

The agent general said a recent industrial seminar in London was so successful in attracting interest to Nova Scotia that another one will be held in November in the northern industrial section of England. "A lot of people are looking for an opportunity to move to this part of the world, he said.

Mr. Piers said London is still the international trading centre of the world and most banks have a branch in that city - a fact which makes representation there a "very important matter."

He described London as a flourishing city with a great deal of money in circulation.

In spite of U.K. and European feelings for Nova Scotia and Canada, Mr. Piers noted that investors there are holding off with major investments until they see a solution to Canada's most pressing problem, the Quebec independence issue. This is their main concern, as far as Canada is concerned, he said.

He noted "large amounts of money in Europe were looking forward to investing in political stability."

In a comment on the European front, Mr. Piers said the onrush of political communism is a "spectre" which haunts many countries of Europe.

He noted this did not necessarily involve Russian communism but "communism as a social philosophy is sweeping Italy, France, etc. and the people feel that in a few years private enterprise will no longer be possible for the continent of Europe.

Marketing Maple Syrup

Canada could be getting more money out of its maple trees. The International Maple Syrup Institute says less than five per cent of the potential sap that could be collected is now being tapped for syrup production in eastern Canada.

The Institute, set up by producers with assistance from Agriculture Canada and the provincial governments, is working to expand markets for pure maple products and to increase Canadian syrup production. The Institute has initiated a large-scale advertising campaign and is running a recipe contest to increase public interest in pure maple products.

Canadian Driving Championship Coverage Provided By CTV's "Wide World Of Sports"

With a $50,000-a-race prize fund, the 1977 Labatt's Challenge Series for the Canadian driving champ ionship has become the richest series of motor races in Canada and CTV Sports will provide coverage of the first competitions from Mosport, Saturday, June 4, 5:00 p.m. EDT on CTV's "Wide World of Sports".

Competitors are expected from around the globe and interest has already been expressed by Grand Prix drivers Jacques Laffite of France and New Zealander Chris Amon. Entries also will come from Canadian defending champion Gilles Villeneuve of Berthierville, Quebec and three-time winner Bill Brack of Toronto.

Fifty dollars is paid for every point scored in the series. A win in each of the six races in the championship is worth 30 points, with a 15th-place finish worth one. In the past three years of the Canadian championship, the winner has averaged 120 points, which means he would receive $6,000 under the new system.

Bay View Honours Resident

A Pantry Party was held on Wednesday May 11th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Griffiths, Bay View.

A number of the residents of the community gathered to present the guest of honour, Frances Adams, wife of Harry Adams with pounds of grocery items to fill the pantry shelves.

The items received were many and of a large variety.

Mrs. Adams expressed her thanks to the group for the deeply appreciated groceries following which a poem composed by Mrs. Griffiths, especially for the occasion, was read by the author.

Refreshments were served during the tea hour. Mr. Griffiths provided organ music.

The Pantry Party is the third occasion at which Mrs. Adams was honoured since fire damaged four rooms at the rear of their Bay View home.

On the first occasion the ladies of the Digby Wesleyan Church held a tea to remember her and the second occasion the members of the Interdenominational Bible Study Group honoured her during the Social Hour following the regular meeting. On both occasions a purse of money was presented on behalf of the groups.

Class Donates Money Gift

On Tuesday evening May 10th at the Mount Pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. Lyndon Collins the members of the Bible Study Class met to hold their regular meeting. The leader of the group, Muriel Frankland opened the meeting with prayer.

There were 12 members present and the devotional period was one appropriate to Mother'sDay. This was under the direction of Mrs. Betty Dennison who read Scripture from Proverbs Ch 31 and a poem entitled "A Memory Of Mother".

Mrs. Boyd Haynes read two other poems. Both of these were about Mother.

There was a circle of Prayer when the bereaved and sick were remembered along with others who have a special need.

Plans for a pot luck supper were discussed and the next regular meeting will be held on May 31st. A Social Hour followed and during this time Mrs. Harry Adams, a charter member of the Bible Study Class, was honored by the group when Mrs. Boyd Haynes presented her with a gift of money.

Mrs. Adams has served the group as treasurer for over two years now and was remembered on this occasion because fire damaged the rear of the Adams home on March 28th.

Breakfast Speakers

Three speakers have been confirmed to date for the Canadian Unity Breakfast being planned for Saturday morning, June 4th, in Greenwich, Nova Scotia, as part of the 45th Annual Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival.

Those three are, Monique Begin, federal minister of national resources, Patrick Nowlan, M.P. for Annapolis-Kings, and George Doucet, speaker of the Nova Scotia House of Assembly. A Unity Breakfast committee chairman, Lloyd B. Gillis of Woodville, Kings County, said those invited to address the breakfast have been assured that their audience will welcome the chance to learn the speakers' personal views of the current Canadian struggle and that questions will be of a non-partisan nature. He also said a representative of the Parti Quebecois is being sought to add dimension to the program.

The breakfast, which is scheduled for 8:30 a.m., June 4, at the Old Orchard Inn, will feature a menu of Annapolis Valley oriented foods, such as apple fritters, apple pancakes, apple jelly and locally produced sausage.

Invitations have been sent to community representatives throughout the Valley, and a limited number will go on sale to the public about two weeks before the breakfast, at the admission price of $3.50.

The Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival is scheduled for June 2 to 6.

Aerial Surveillance Underway

Aerial surveillance of traffic on Nova Scotia highways is underway as part of the province's continuing highway safety program to reduce accidents and fatalities.

Attorney General Leonard L. Pace, QC, said the awarding of contracts to five Nova Scotia flying companies to undertake the aerial surveillance program under the direction of the RCMP. This is the third year the program has been in effect during the late spring, summer and early fall.

The firms selected to provide aircraft for the program are Annapolis Valley Flying Services Ltd., Waterville, which will be responsible for the Kentville-Bridgewater-Yarmouth area; Halifax Flying Club, Waverley, the Halifax region; Golden Air Ltd., Debert, Truro-Amherst region; Butler Air Services, Trenton, New Glasgow region, and Eastern Flying Services Ltd., Sydney, Cape Breton region.

As many as five fixed wing aircraft will be up over the highways during peak traffic periods, including holidays.

Under the Motor Vehicle Act persons can be apprehended for speeding by means of air patrols.

Mr. Pace said RCMP reports indicate the 1976 aerial surveillance program produced good results in terms of enforcement and as a deterrent to potential traffic violators.

"This program indicates our determination to cut down on the carnage on our highways by all legal enforcement means available," the attorney general said.

A motorist passing dangerously, exceeding posted speed limits or impeding traffic on specially marked sections of highways will be spotted from the air by an observer. He then radios to a ground interceptor vehicle details of the traffic offender's movement. RCMP officers below then prepare to intercept.

White T-shaped gauges are marked over quarter-mile "zone sections" of highways so that motorists can be clocked from the air by the observer who works in radio communication with RCMP interceptor cars near the portion of marked highways.

Aircraft patrol signs are also posted to alert motorists.

An airborne observer determines vehicle speeds by measuring movement of a car from one marker to another.

Accidents and vehicle breakdown are also reported to RCMP patrol vehicles.

Song Books Dedicated

On Sunday May 15th in the morning meeting, Captain Kevin Rideout dedicated 36 song books to the glory of God, the dedication took place at the Digby corps of the Salvation Army.

Captain Rideout, the Divisional Youth Secretary of the Salvation Army Maritime Division, quoted the words of the Salvation Army's founder, General William Booth.

"Sing so as to make the world hear. The highest value of our singing after all has not been the mere gladness we have felt because of our salvation, but the joy of pouring out the praise of our God to those who have not known Him, or of arousing them by our singing to new thoughts and a new life. And sing till your whole soul is lifted up to God, and then sing till you lift the eyes of those who know not God, to Him who is the fountain of all our joy."

The song books were purchased by the donations of the comrades of the Digby corps and the Salvation Army corps in Fredericton, New Brunswick.

Susan E. Raymond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robertson Raymond of Queen St. Digby, graduated from Acadia University with a B.Ed in May of this year.

COPA Convention Could Attract 400

DIGBY-Grant Goodwin, a Nova Scotian member of the Canadian Owners and Pilots Association, has said, "once COPA members get a taste of Nova Scotia hospitality it will make a weekend spent at Buckingham Palace appear like a marshallow roast with the local church ladies."

The Canadian Owners and Pilots Association will hold their annual convention in Digby this year. Slated for the early part of June, the annual convention is expected to attract upwards to a hundred light aircraft and perhaps four hundred conventionaires.

The COPA conference will afford the Digby Airport national and international coverage. The delegates to the conference will be drawn from all over North America . Delegates from as far away as the North West Territories and the southern United States will visit the Basin area.

While in Digby, COPA members will be given a show of down east hospitality that will not be unequalled. Boat cruises, dances, dinners and an array of other special events will be laid on for the COPA members.

Not only will this convention highlight this area, it will, in addition, show local people, and the national and international visitors the facilities and the importance of the Digby Airport. That airport could become the focus around which this area can move into the twentieth century.

Communications are the bond that holds the modern economic system together. Without rapid transmittal of information between points the world that Canadians take for granted would be curtailed, perhaps even disappear. The Digby Airport has an important role to play in second level air service.

Second level air service is designed to supply connecting flights to the major international air terminals in North America. This type of air service would connect Digby with Halifax, Toronto, Montreal, and a host of other similar air ports. In addition, such a service would provide rapid connections to other second level air terminals in the Atlantic region.

Air planes are more significant than for just the transport of people. The modern planes transport goods and freight and most importantly ideas.

By moving products, services and people, ideas are transferred from one part of the world to another. The transmittal of ideas is key to economic development. It is with these ideas that investors find new ways of doing things, new markets and a host of other economic motivators.

While the Annapolis Basin area will show the COPA convention unequaled down east hospitality, it will also show the world the potential of the Digby Airport and its significance to this area and its future.

The Canadian National Telegraph closed in Digby on May 20, following the policy of the company regarding unprofitable offices. It was felt though there were two offices in Digby, there was not sufficient business for one. This was the end of the C.N. Telegraph business in Digby, which began 1855. The first was established in December 3, 1855, and later became Western Union Telegraph Company and still later the Canadian National Telegraph. The first operator was John Robinson, who received salary of 75 pounds for the year. At the end of the first year, it was understood, the profit amounted to one penny. The first telegraph office was located in Digby at the head of the government pier. It then moved to the railway station with the opening of the Western Counties Railway and the operator was the station agent. Still later it was operated as Western Union and moved to Main St., Digby, where Miss "Puss" Winchester was operator, succeeding Miss May Anderson. The telegraph facilities again moved to the old Warne block which was later destroyed by fire and the offices finally located at Digby Garage and the Shortliffe building.

Not too many will remember the turnip industry in Digby County. People in May 1977 from Annapolis Royal to Plympton and down Digby Neck were busy setting out turnip plants. They were the Ditmar's Bronze Top Swede, one of the best table varieties. The seed variety originated with R. V. Ditmars and Son, Deep Brook, and were sold in all parts of Canada. The seeds sown early in the Spring produced the plantings for May and the seed was then harvested in late summer.

Victoria Day holiday was coming up. Railways were reducing their fares for the weekend. One and a half fare was charged for a return trip.

The poorest lobster season in years was reported. Nobody could understand the dwindling of the lobster catch in the late years.

The days were warm like summer. Forget-me-nots, daffodils and tulips made a blaze of color. Cherry trees were in bloom and apple blossoms were on the way.

Digby's Apple Blossom Festival Princess was Miss Barbara Underwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Underwood. Mr. Underwood was a bank manager.

Mrs. Elizabeth Haines of Fair Isle Lodge, Freeport, was elected president of the District Rebekah Assembly at the annual meeting held in Freeport.

E. B. Tufts was elected president of the Digby Ys'men Club.

It probably wasn't news, but, in place of Mary and her little lamb, little Judy Robinson had a pet duck which followed her to school and uptown. The duck was named Donald but according to the Courier Judy soon discovered Donalda was a more appropriate name.

No Immediate Discussion On Amalgamation

It appears no discussion on amalgamation of the three Digby school boards will be undertaken at the present time.

Two letters on the issue were read during the Digby Board of School Commissioners' meeting on Monday night. The municipal school board advised it is not interested in such discussions at the present time, the Digby Regional School Board said it would rather see the matter tabled until after June 13.

The Board of School Commissioners is interested in getting discussions started and had sent out letters to the two other boards requesting a meeting on the matter.

In other board activity, the resignations of two teachers were accepted- those of Mrs. Wendy Burton and Michael Susnick.

Mr. Jennings informed the board on the Nova Scotia Teachers' Union project Schools Today, which is coming to Digby on October 21-22. The exhibition is designed to focus on the input of classroom teachers, administration and the local school boards.

The school board endorsed the display by a vote of 2-1. Eileen Chipman voted against endorsement stating that the board did not have enough information to make an intelligent decision. The motion was placed on the table by Mrs. Myra.

Cadets Recieve Awards

Seven of the Digby Sea Cadets received awards on Tuesday evening when the annual inspection of Cadets was held at CFB Cornwallis.

Randy Potter received the McBride Cup for the Ordinary Cadet. It is presented annually by the Digby Branch of the Navy League of Canada to the outstanding first year male cadet. The outstanding first year female cadet was Ordinary Cadet Nadine Scharf. This award was offered by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Digby Branch Royal Canadian Legion.

The Smith Award for Leadership went to Chief Petty Officer Robert Purdy. It is offered annually by Glen Smith of Digby for outstanding leadership.

Petty Officer Rex Francis received the Scott and Grace General Proficiency Trophy. P.O. Francis joined the Corps in September 1973. During the summer of 1974 he attended a two week camp at Cornwallis. The next summer he successfully completed a six week Junior Leadership course at Cornwallis. Last summer he worked as a cadet callout at Summer Camp and will be employed in the same position this summer. Since joining the Corps, Cadet Francis has been an active participant in the Corps many activities. At present he is the Guard Commander.

The Camping and Woodcraft Award was won by Leading Cadet Jamie Sweeney. The award is presented annually by the Knights of Columbus, Digby.

Petty Officer William Troupe was awarded the Best Attendance Award donated annually by the Officers of Corps. P.O. Troupe, was last year selected to go on a cruise which took him to the Caribbean.

The Marksmanship Trophy went to Leading Cadet Wayne Sweeney. This is a new trophy presented by the Digby Branch Canadian Legion number 20. Sweeney is captain of the newly formed Rifle Team and has attained the Sharpshooter Classification from DCRA. He has been nominated for a shooting course in Gagetown this summer.

John Nichols, president of the Navy League of Canada, Digby Branch in his opening remarks on Tuesday said that 1977 marks the 34th year of the Digby Branch of the Navy League of Canada's sponsorship of the Sea Cadets, the Cornwallis Sea Cadet corps. It is also the first year that girl cadets paraded and trained with the corps. The lack of a permanent female officer hindered the proper development of the girl cadets but the excellent training given by Corps. Commander Lt. L. R. Banks, his officers and Senior Cadets and the enlarged scope of outside activities kept the morale of the Corps high. He said the interest of the citizens and business concerns of Digby, the Digby Branch and the Ladies Auxiliary of the Royal Canadian Legion, and the continued assistance of Colonel Fox and the Officers and men of CFB Cornwallis are reflected in the enthusiastic response of the young men and women. Rifle shooting, camping, woods training, boating and allied training are producing able, interested and potentially useful young Canadians, he added.

Other officers who assisted in the special ceremony and program were Lt. (N) L. R. Banks; M. George, executive officer; SLt.(N) D. A. McClafferty, training officer; SLt. (N) C. E. Light, stores officer and G. N. Dalton, Range Officer.

Accident

A car-pedestrian accident on Water Street Saturday night sent one man to hospital with a concussion and broken arm.

Digby RCMP report the pedestrian, Albert Joseph Burke, 28, walked in front of the vehicle driven by Jack Richard Sarty. No charges are involved.

Jack Hawkins Opens Agricultural Office

Provincial Minister of Agriculture Jack Hawkins joined a host of local dignitaries in Weymouth Wednesday to officially open the new county agricultural office at the former site of the Royal Bank of Canada.

In addressing the outside-inside gathering, Mr. Hawkins remarked on the increasing interest being shown in agriculture in Digby County. He noted more adequate facilities were in order because of increased demands for agricultural services brought about by expansion of agricultural programs here.

After briefly outlining progress made in agriculture here, Mr. Hawkins declared that agriculture is a "significant industry" in Digby County. "We," he said, "are involved with the development of agriculture in this area to the fullest extent we can."

Agriculture, said the Minister, as a significant industry, must be considered in efforts to produce work for rural areas. He noted some of the mink and hog producers in the county rank among the most efficient producers in Canada.

The Minister went on to list some provincial funds which came into Digby County last year through some of the 37 provincial programs applicable here. Among them were a $21,000 capital grant to mink ranchers; $15,000 in assistance for trucking limestone, etc. Under the province's land-clearing policy, 119 new acres were cleared in the county last year.

Mr. Hawkins said he thinks of his department's policies as "incentives" rather than assistance since farmers must invest their own money on at least a 50-50 basis. "The assistance we have been able to provide indicates that the farmers themselves have made a significant contribution."

"Farming in this area has a bright future," Mr. Hawkins said, making note of the large crowd on hand for this ceremony. He thanked farmers for their past co-operation and for their ideas.

Robert Theriault, Clare Warden, was the next speaker. He commented on the "upsurge" in farming in Digby County.

While it might be difficult to see the day when Digby County becomes a net exporter, he noted, "I think farming has a vital role to play in the future of this county.

Wilfred Swift, Warden of Digby Municipality, used his time to present a rundown on the workings of Municipal Government. He ended his talk on the importance of government grants to municipalities. "....these are the grants we are looking for to complete our Municipal Airport...."

Digby Mayor Stewart MacNaughton spoke of the importance of food production. He also noted that the department is helping to "maintain part of our heritage" by maintaining its offices in the present site. The building, he said, had been here for 70-75 years.

While introducing Mr. Hawkins, Digby's MLA, Joe Casey spoke of the changes farming has experienced since he was a farmer. Emmanual Adelaar, Chairman of the Weymouth Village Commission, spoke of the agricultural office as the focal point of much interest and needed activity in this area. "No industry is so basic to our society as agriculture is."

Mr. Adelaar said he hoped the farmers would see fit to establish a day for farming.

Walter Grant, deputy minister of the Department of Agriculture and Marketing, expressed hope that the agricultural office would become a focal point for agricultural development in Digby County.

Hank d'Boer, president of the N.S. Federation of Agriculture, noted that this is one other shining example of co-operation between the department and organized agriculture - such as the federation. He said it is a "very healthy sign" that young farmers are involved in agriculture here.

Several presentations were included in the afternoon of activities at the agricultural office. The first was a presentation to office secretary Annie Dennison by Mary Robar and Louise Warne on behalf of the Admiral Digby Horticultural Society.

Others included a gift to Jack Hawkins made by LeRoy Warner and a plaque to Annie by Mr. Warner. Regina Deveau presented Agricultural Representative Bruce Gilliatt with a flag for use at the office.

After Mr. Hawkins had cut the ribbon to officially open the agricultural office, the crowd had a tour of the office facilities. This was followed by a reception at Weymouth Consolidated High School, after which the heads of the counties various agricultural groups addressed those present.

Jack Hawkins, Minister of Agriculture, is shown cutting the ribbon to officially open the new agricultural office in Weymouth. Shown in front are (left to right) Austin Mullen of Havelock, Mr. Hawkins, agricultural office secretary Annie Dennison, Ag. Rep. Bruce Gilliatt, and John LeBlanc of Concession; in rear are LeRoy Warner and MLA Joe Casey.

Golfers Play At Digby Pines

Two hundred professional and amateur golfers are expected to compete in the first Pines Resort Hotel 36-hole open, at Digby, July 30 and 31, Hon. Maurice E. Delory, minister of tourism, announced.

Ten purses totalling $3,700 will be competed for. They will be among the largest offered for professional golf tournament players in Atlantic Canada.

Professional contestants from the CGPA, PGA will play the Pines 18-hole championship course.

They will arrive at Digby from Canadian and American clubs.

Dr. Delory said there will be a free practice round over the par 71 course on July 29.

Entries close July 24.

The minister said he hoped the Pines 36-hole open would be the beginning of an annual event. "The Digby-Annapolis Basin has a growing awareness of the travel industry, thanks to the joint effort of the Annapolis Basin Tourist and Recreation Council and the Department of Tourism," he added. The department operates the Pines Resort Hotel.

Digby Golf Club pro Bill Nickerson spoke of the toughest of the challenging holes on the par 70 course as the par 4, twelfth hole. "Four hundred and eighteen yards into the prevailing wind, on a narrow fairway, offers a workout even for long drivers," he said.

Ted Miller, President of the Digby Golf Club, expects a big turnout by golf fans to watch the Pines open.

Amateurs with provincial or RCGA handicap cards can enter the tournament.

The Pines Resort Hotel trophy will be presented to the low gross amateur winner. The field will be divided into four divisions.

There will be a special senior division for players 55 years and older, added Dr. Delory.

Entry fee for professionals will be $30; for amateurs $15.

The 6,204-yard, 18-hole course was built in 1930 and was designed by Stanley Thompson, one of the foremost course designers of the day.

He also designed the Banff Springs Hotel course in Alberta.

Connors Brothers First Wharf Demolished

The last remaining poles, timbers, etc. that go into the fashioning of a wharf, loosed their hold during a recent wind storm and the first wharf that Connors Brothers established at Freeport drifted out into the Bay of Fundy.

According to records supplied by Mrs. Parker Thurber, Freeport, the wharf and fish cannery establishment was built in 1930 by Connor Brothers of Blacks Harbor, N.B. and it became a branch of their world-renowned fish canneries.

The plant, located at Fish Point, at Freeport, employed approximately 100 men and women, depending on the amount of fish caught during the season. A spokesman, Scott Perry, of Freeport said the first manager of the plant was the late, Archibald Thurber. Mr. Thurber had been manager of Frank E. Davis fish plant that had been established at Freeport during 1918. (The Frank E. Davis plant was a branch of the Davis plant originating at Gloucester, Mass.) Mr. Thurber's first secretary of the Connors plant was the late Mrs. Norman ("Jennie Maude") Perry of Freeport.

Wages paid the employees at that time ranged between 15-18 cents per hour. The price of fish, hake, was 15 cents per hundredweight.

The late Romain Perry succeeded Mr. Thurber as manager and many secretaries "Filled in" until Miss Rena Perry accepted the full time position.

Part of Connor Brothers plant and most of the wharf were demolished during February 2, 1976 storm.

Fishing and fish canning were the booming industries in that area during the early years.

Pines Opens

RECREATION CENTRE, LOUNGE, READY FOR SUMMER BUSINESS

The Pines Resort Hotel now has convention facilities comparable with any other hotel convention centre in Atlantic Canada as the result of work carried out at The Pines over the past winter.

One of the major improvements made at the provincially-owned resort this past year has been the addition of a convention centre at unused space below Digby Hall.

With the new facilities, The Pines can now handle three or four convention groups at the same time. The new centre provides space for three seperate business meeting rooms which will be separated by flexi-walls (folding wall system).

The new facilities will also allow the resort to cater to tourists and conventions at the same time. This will make conventions possible in July and August, months previously reserved exclusively for tourists.

Digby hall itself, which previously saw some convention and business meeting use, will henceforth be used for mass meetings. The hall can handle approximately 400 people.

One of Digby Hall's first functions this year was a successful benefit affair for the DRHS high school band under the direction of Don Scott. On July 9 and 10, an arts and crafts show will be held under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Susnick of Bear River.

In explaining facility improvements being carried out, Pines manager Vic Bradshaw was quick to point out the management's interest in maintaining good relations with the surrounding business community and with the community-at-large.

He expressed hope that the new centre can serve as a convention and meeting centre for the entire community. "There's no reason why other hotels without facilities couldn't bring conventions in and use our meeting facilities if they're available."

Increased convention business is indicated by early season bookings at The Pines, and Mr. Bradshaw feels this will result in an immediate benefit to the private tourist industry in the Digby area.

The Pines, according to its manager, has no intentions of increasing units for overnight accommodation. Any overflow will have to seek accommodation in the private sector. "Hopefully we will become a service centre for the total industry in the area."

A few of the major conventions booked for this summer are the New England Governors and Atlantic Premiers convention, the COPA convention and the Maritime Wholesale and Hardware Convention.

LOUNGE

Among other additions at the Pines this year is the Good Times Lounge which will feature live entertainment all summer.

The Good Times Lounge will be open six nights weekly. Action got under way there on Tuesday. Dress regulations will be enforced.

The Pines' tennis court is once again in operation and is open for community participation. Those interested should contact The Pines by Saturday.

Mr. Bradshaw notes that membership in the golf club this year is encouraging and a number of new members have been signed. He attributed the golf club's success to the work and co-operation received from the Club's members and its executive.

One of the season's first functions on the golf course will be a two-ball-best-ball tournament being organized by the Nova Scotia Amateur Golf Association.

One of the early resort functions involves a group of tourist agents scheduled to be here until tomorrow. While in the area they will be visiting many points of interest and places of business of other ABTRC members. ABTRC is also involved with The Pines in seeking to tap into the foot passenger market coming into Yarmouth via the Caribe.

Another improvement hoped for this year is operation of a Budget Rent-a-car business from the hotel. But this has not yet been confirmed.

Know Your Fireman

Being vice-president of the Digby Volunteer Fire Department which calls for exoficio membership on each fire department committee, demands much of Ronald Ward's time. It leaves little time to become involved in any other organizations, he remarkeed.

A meat manager at I.G.A. Stores, Mr. Ward came here eight years ago and joined the Digby Fire Department two years after. He took special courses in fire fighting at Waverley and also completed the Firefighters Part A course.

Born in Berwick, he married the former Bernice Huntley of Scott's Bay. They have two children, Aaro, eight years and Kim, five years. Mr. and Mrs. Ward purchased a home on Queen St., and look forward to living for a long time here where they like it very much.

Granville Artist Wins Prize

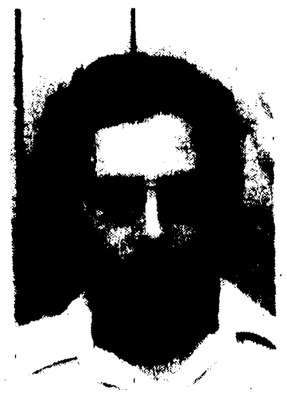
Granville Ferry artist, Geoff Butler, has had two paintings accepted for display in the 41st Anniversary Exhibition of the Maritime Art Association and was awarded the second prize, selected by the jurors Keilor Bentley, Edgar Leger, and Norman Cody.

The Exhibition was officially opened by Ms. Hsio-Yen Shih, Director of the National Gallery of Canada on May 6 at the National Exhibition Centre, Fredericton, N.B. The Exhibition continued there until May 28, and will travel throughout the Maritimes.

Geoff, son of Reverend and Mrs. Isaac Butler, Digby will open an Art Gallery in Granville Ferry in July where he and his wife, the former Judy McLear, have bought and renovated a home.

While in Digby Mr. Butler was speech therapist with an office in the Digby General Hospital. After moving to Granville, Mr. Butler worked at speech therapy out of Lawrencetown during the winter months.

Joins Staff Of Digby Courier



Larry Duchesne, above, has returned full time to The Digby Courier as reporter after spending one year at Ste. Anne's College, Church Point. Larry was born and educated in Bedford, Halifax Co. and had worked on weekly newspapers in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick before joining The Digby Courier staff in fall of 1975.

Agriculture Important To Digby County

The significance of the agriculture industry to Digby County can be seen in the fact that the 200 farms in the county have sales of more than $3.5 million annually, Agriculture Minister Jack Hawkins said today.

Speaking at the opening of the new Digby County agricultural offices in Weymouth, the agriculture minister said that production of the type taking place in the county resulted in three times as much additional economic activity in related service sectors.

The minister noted that farm operations in the county were diversified and included dairy, beef, poultry, fruit and vegetables, mink ranching and hog farms.

Mr. Hawkins congratulated producers in the county for their initiative, imagination and skill in the development of the industry "showing how local resources, acquired skills, and sound management ability can be combined to develop an industry, provide employment and create economic wealth in an area".

The agriculture minister noted that his department has over 37 programs available to assist farmers in the development of their units with a total of $186,000 in grants being paid by the department in the past year.

Mr. Hawkins predicted a bright future for agriculture in the county and paid tribute to the work of his department's staff in the area.

Flying Instruction Underway

Flying training has commenced at the Digby Municipal Airport under the auspices of the Hillgrove-Digby Flying Club Ltd.

Instructor Art Quinn of Milford, Annapolis County, now has seven pupils under his wing, most of whom have their student pilot permits and are in actual in-flight training. Mr. Quinn is a qualified flying instructor and aircraft maintenance engineer. He is a retired, former pilot of the Greenwood Flying Club.

The pupils in training are Ron Cooper, Bear River; Wayne Henderson, Hillgrove; Matthew Erjavec, Weymouth; Dr. Calvin Rice, Digby; Gary MacKenzie, Bayview; Donna Beattie, Weymouth; and John R. Nichols, Digby.

The students are using Cessna C-GDDK C-GKJN aircraft and are presently flying with and under the constant supervision of Mr. Quinn at the airport and 4000 feet above the practice area in Digby County between the Digby airport and the Bear River airstrip.

It is expected that some of the pilots will have their solo flight prior to the arrival of the approximately 100 aircraft expected for the Canadian Owners and Pilots Association Convention to be held on June 9-12 at the Digby Pines.

The public is invited to visit the municipal airport during the convention weekend to view the aircraft on display. Refreshments will be on sale at that time.

Persons interested in flying instructions and Groundschool training may contact Mr. Quinn or any member of the flying club at the clubhouse in Hillgrove as to availability of registration.

Break-Down In Negotiations

The Digby Municipal School Board and the Digby Local of the Nova Scotia Teacher's Union will go to arbitration over an unresolved contract agreement a spokesman for the Digby Local of the Nova Scotia Teacher's Union has informed The Digby Courier.

After two years of intensive negotiation, the negotiating committees of the School Board and the NSTU met, once again, in October of 1976 to work out a final agreement. After a good deal of negotiating and compromising by both parties, an agreement was reached. This tentative agreement was accepted by the Teachers but rejected by the Board. Some members of the Board's negotiating committee rejected items they had previously agreed to. Changes in the agreement subsequently made by the Board were unacceptable. It then became necessary to refer the matter to a Board of Arbitration.

NATIONAL TRANSPORTATION WEEK

Believe it or not, this is National Transportation Week, May 29 to June 4. Little is made of the week in smaller areas but we note that in Halifax-Dartmouth there was a special church service, there were guided tours, displays of all modes of transportation and films shown relating to the subject. Similar observances have been held in New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, Newfoundland and, no doubt, all the way to British Columbia.

Good transportation is important. It affects both the social and economic statures of our entire country. Transportation can encourage the movement of people and goods across the nation and tend to unify the whole nation. Transportation is an industry in Canada which involves almost one million men and women in its employ. Add to these the number employed in other industries which thrive only because a transportation exists which keeps those industries alive.

Just as any chain is only as strong as its weakest link so every link in the transportation chain is important. Transportation in Digby is an important link whether considering the ferry service, rail transportation, road transportation or looking to the future of the air transportation via the Digby Municipal Airport. Just as the national transportation links affect the social and economical spheres of the nation and give it unification so do smaller communities depend on transportation to link them together and attach them to the more metropolitan areas too.

This is National Transportation Week. Maybe the nearest to a home issue right now in relation to transportation is the passenger rail service. Does it matter to you if the Dayliner stays on or is taken off? Is bus service adequate from Digby to Halifax or Yarmouth? Would an upmoded passenger rail service be beneficial? Or, an upmoded bus service? Or, do we not expect restrictions on private transportation because of cost? These thoughts are appropo for Transportation Week. How about expressing them.

DON'T TURN BACK THE TOURISTS

Listening to Front Page Challenge on Monday night when a golden medal award winner in the Culinary Olympics was a challenger, brought to mind that the tourist season is upon us and tourists to Nova Scotia, especially Digby, will be hunting those restaurants and hotels serving a good fish dinner. Digby has in the past been well advertised as a fish specialty, the scallop being hailed as king.

Generally, we think our food caterers serve good fish dishes but for the fact that we do run across the occasional disappointment ourselves, we caution the caterers that any meal should attract the customers back again and not turn them away. The worst disappointment we've had (not in the Digby area, thank goodness, but in Nova Scotia) was a high priced fried salmon dinner. The texture and the taste of that "delicacy" resembled leather. In no way did the dinner taste like salmon as we knew it. Of course, fish to be at its best must be fresh out of the water and food caterers must be aware of this. But to serve the best in a fish meal, the cook needs to know how. According to the golden award Culinary Olympic winner there are good fish dishes available and we know, too, that Nova Scotia kitchens are full of fish recipes and methods of preparation. Besides, we think there are provincial hospitality workships that include cooking. There is scarcely any excuse for not being a good fish cook in Nova Scotia.

Of course, fish plates are not the only foods poorly produced at times. Occasionally you come across a meat dinner that leaves much to be desired and the resolve of the customer is to not return. Neither do their friends or their friends' friends return.

Now, after visiting as we have, there is a compliment we wanted to pass on about food for the past few weeks. It refers to an excellent buffet dinner put on by a downtown restaurant in Digby. The roast beef was superb. If that is a sample of food served in Digby, there is no worry about turning tourists away on that score. The buffet was attractively laid, most pleasing to the eye. No one needs to drive miles, few or many, for a well laid buffet.

Good food, a restful bed, a friendly atmosphere, a pleasant smile will attract the tourists. Today we emphasize food. Don't turn back the tourists for want of that commodity.

It was offered and not demanded, therefore you can't call it inflation when a customer offers a proper carrier seventy-five cents for a single current copy of The Digby Courier. The customer either was impressed with Kevin Young, the paper carrier, or the customer holds a high regard for the value of The Digby Courier.

Another customer, the following week, gave Kevin fifty cents for one copy of the Courier. Kevin is not complaining. —

After taking every precaution all winter long, to not fall on those stones on Birch St. in our town, your editor went to Chester on one of those nice hot summer days last week and did just that. Result: a sprained ankle twice its original size. It was purely coincidence, however, that the next day's Chronicle Herald second section front page headline, Chester news, was "Improvement to streets urgent." —

Letter To The Editor

Opinions expressed in the Letter to the Editor column in this newspaper are not necessarily those of the editor.

Dear Mrs. Wallis:

I hope you might provide a little space in your Letters to the Editor column so that I might say a word about the Apple Blossom festivities.

On Saturday, May 21st, a very pleasant and successful afternoon tea was held at the Admiral Digby Inn where "Princess Digby" was chosen. The Admiral Digby has for three years now supported these festivities by hosting the tea. The Board of Trade was involved directly this year in coordinating the various volunteer efforts of others, but without the fine accommodations and cooperative staff of the Admiral Digby Inn, offered so freely, the event would have been much less successful.

My purpose in writing is to publicly express the appreciation of the Board through your column to those who assisted and participated, especially; the Judges, Col. and Mrs. A.E.Fox and Mrs. Penny Gott; those organizations which assisted financially; the Admiral Digby Inn for assisting in a very material way; to the organizations which sponsored the girls, and to the girls themselves, of course, who were the candidates.

We had six lovely candidates for Princess, any of whom would have done credit to Digby as our Princess for the Festival.

Yours very truly,
Charles E. Haliburton,
President
Digby Board of Trade

Editor, The Digby Courier:

One of the most historic Baptist pastorates in Canada is that of the Lower Granville United Baptist pastorate in Annapolis County, Nova Scotia. This pastorate can trace its origins back by nearly two hundred years. In fact, the first Baptist Association in all of Canada was established in June 1800 in what is now known as Granville Beach. It was one of the original nine or ten Baptist churches existing at that time to form the Nova Scotia Baptist Association.

During its long history the Lower Granville pastorate, which includes the communities of Granville Beach, Port Royal, Karsdale, Port Wade and Victoria Beach, each having a distinct and separate autonomous church to form the pastorate, has had a most useful, and in many respects, a distinguished career. Many pastors, some of them outstanding leaders, have contributed of their evangelical zeal and pastoral leadership to the spiritual life of the people living along this historic highway. For the most part of its existence this pastorate has enjoyed a history of good Christian fellowship and of spiritual nurture. For many years, too, the churches on this pastorate have enjoyed the attendance, interest, and support of many summer visitors from the United States and elsewhere.

Looking back to more than fifty years ago, this writer who spent more than six years on this field, four of them while a student at Acadia University and receiving his ordination to the Christian ministry while at Lower Granville, recalls the days of filled churches, a Sunday School in each section of the pastorate, several active youth groups, and a considerable evangelical thrust and witness among the people. This pastorate has faced problems from time to time, but the pages of its story glows with many bright jewels of light and beauty throughout its long record.

The painful experience through this pastorate has so recently passed leaves deep wounds and an unnecessary division among its members that will probably take many years to heal. It is indeed a matter of deep personal hurt and of sadness for this writer, whose home is on this field, that the "new church" just established has apparently cut itself off from its historical Baptist ties to organize and build an "independent church," and up to the present time at least, severs itself from the fellowship of the Annapolis-Digby United Baptist Association and the Atlantic United Baptist Convention. For this is what it seems to mean.

Under the present interim pastoral leadership of Dr. Freeman Fenerty, who recently arrived on the field, there are days of great promise and hope for the church on the Lower Granville pastorate. I am sure that it is the prayer of many that the grace and love of God may heal the wounds and restore harmony and fellowship once again among the churches of this beloved pastorate.

(Rev.) H.S. Hartlin, Interim Minister, Temple United Baptist Church, Yarmouth.

Accident

Digby RCMP are investigating a Saturday night accident which sent one person to Digby General Hospital with serious injuries and resulted in minor injuries to three others.

As of press time, Robert Cole, 21 of Barton, was reported still in hospital with undetermined injuries. The three others had been admitted and later released.

Further details were not available.

Loitering

This is a word that comes up many times, especially when talking about the downtown Digby area. For those that are unfamiliar with the term it means: to linger idly, to stop and play along the way, to spend time idly, to move slowly and aimlessly, etc. Generally, it means standing or sitting around doing nothing.

One would probably wonder why I would bother to write about such a thing. Well, in addition to having a lot of people loitering about, there has been in the past and continues to be a considerable amount of property damage occurring in the downtown area, not to mention the number of businesses broken into and the number of fights on the streets.

When a policeman arrives on the scene, although many people were standing around when something happened, it is amazing, to say the least, that nobody ever sees anything.

I have been a policeman in this town of Digby for almost a year now and I have tried very hard to treat everyone fairly, including those that spend many of their idle hours on Water Street. However, this approach does not seem to be working as when the time comes round for investigating something, those same people indicate that they know nothing about something that it is obvious that they do know something about. The time has come for a new approach.

Section 209 of the Towns Act of Nova Scotia reads as follows:

209(1) No person shall disturb the public peace in the town or: (a) lie or lurk in any highway, yard or other place in the town and not give a satisfactory account of himself; or
(b) be drunk or feign to be drunk or make any loud bawling, yelling, screaming, singing or shouting in any public street or thoroughfare of the town; or
(c) incommode peaceful passersby or loiter on the streets or highways or in the doorways or windows of shops or dwellings on the streets or thoroughfares of the town; or
(d) obstruct people by standing across the sidewalks or thoroughfares of the town.
(2) Any person who violates any of the provisions of this section shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty dollars and in default of payment to imprisonment for a period not exceeding ten days.
(3) Any police officer of the town may take into his custody without warrant, any person whom he finds violating any provision of this section.

A few people have been charged under this section already and others will be before the summer comes to an end.

In addition to section 209 of the Town Act, the town of Digby has presently in effect the Loitering By-Law which reads as follows:

1. No person shall loiter on or about the steps or entrances of any public building within the town or on any street or sidewalk in the town
2. Any person who violates the provisions of section 1 shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars and in default of payment of such fine to imprisonment for a period of one month.

The Towns Act of Nova Scotia also gives a police officer the authority to arrest without warrant any person caught violating this or other Municipal By-Laws.

With regard to crowds gathering on the street and causing disturbances, we still have the Criminal Code of Canada to deal with that sort of thing. For instance Section 160 of the Criminal Code states that: Everyone who
(a) not being in a dwelling house causes a disturbance in or near a public place, (i) by fighting, screaming, shouting, swearing, singing or using insulting or obscene language, (ii) by being drunk, or (iii) by impeding or molesting other persons;
(b) openly exposes or exhibits an indecent exhibition in a public place;
(c) loiters in a public place and in any way obstructs persons who are there; or
(d) disturbs the peace and quiet of the occupants of a dwelling house by discharging firearms or by other disorderly conduct in a public place, is guilty of an offence punishable on summary conviction.

Section 694 of the Criminal Code provides punishment as follows:

694(1) Except where otherwise expressly provided by law, every one who is convicted of an offence punishable on summary conviction is liable to a fine of not more than five hundred dollars or to imprisonment for six months or to both.

Section 435 of the Criminal Code provides for arrest of the offenders as follows;

435. A peace officer may arrest without warrant
(b) a person whom he finds committing a criminal offence.

In concluding, I wish only to say that those that have continually caused trouble within the town of Digby will be watched a little more closely throughout the summer. Many are the same ones that loiter about the streets of the town.

BLOSSOM TIME

Let me walk once more with Beauty
When the blossoms bloom again,
And the orchards wear their garments,
Pink and white as soft chiffon.
Where the rivers wind their pathway,
Silver threads through velvet green,
And the sound of music drifting,
Speaks of Springtime's finest hour.
Here, we find a sweet communion
With nature's wonders, sure to please,
When the mist is on the mountain,
And the blossoms bless the trees.

Mrs. Doris Brown, who will be leaving in the near future to take up new duties in the U.S.A., will be residing in Virginia where she will be assisting a pastor in that area with Christian Education work.

Recently Mrs. Brown was honoured at a pot luck supper by the Interdominational Bible Study Group of which she is a member.

The group gathered at the Church of God basement andfollowing the supper hour all attended the devotional period held in the Church.

Mrs. Zelma Turnbull was in charge of the brief devotional period which was followed by special musical numbers. A trio composed of Mrs. Doris Brown, Miss Joanne Frankland and Pastor Dale Schwartz rendered several numbers. The younger generation also provided special music. One or more trio numbers which included "Something Special" were sung by Miss Sylvia Haynes, Jeannie Brown and Nancy Brown.

Sylvia Haynes sang two solo numbers, "Rise and Shine" and "He Washed My Eyes with Tears"

The leader of the class, Mrs. Frankland, presented Mrs. Brown with a small token of remembrance from the group and Mrs. Brown expressed her thanks for the same. The group extended good wishes to Mrs. Brown before the evening concluded.

Help stamp out new business.

Overlook the selling potential of long distance.

It's easy to overlook opportunities—even when they're right on your own doorstep. And that includes the opportunities for new business that are right at your elbow—via long distance telephone.

Introductory calls to prospective customers and "keep-in-touch calls" to present customers are two great ways to generate new business.

And it doesn't cost much. Direct-dialed calls within Nova Scotia, for example, cost less than a dollar a minute. And that's during prime time business hours. If your business needs a little new business, give it the long distance treatment. It works.

Years roll on but memories last.
Ever remembered by AUNT ELSIE & UNCLE JOHNIE - Toronto, Ontario. 43:1i

CARTY—In loving memory of our daughter, Loretta, who we lost June 5, 1973.

Pray for us dear little one,
For there'll be a day
We shall all come.
Sadly missed and never forgotten by MOMMY, DADDY, DEAN, IAN & LYNETTE. 43:1ip

CROMWELL—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Owen J. Cromwell who passed away June 1, 1970.

Wedding Bells

OICKLE-HELM

St. Peter's Church, Dartmouth, was the scene of a pretty spring wedding on Saturday, May 7 at 2:30 p.m., when Deborah Jean Helm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Helm, Antigonish, became the bride of Miles Kevin Oickle, Smith's Cove, Digby Co.

Rev. John R. Campbell officiated at the double ring ceremony. Kay Porter of Dartmouth sang "Of My Hands", "Christians Let Us Love One Another", and "The Wedding Song" accompanied by the parish organist.

The bride entered the church on the arms of her parents. She wore a floor-length gown of white poly organza; featuring a full skirt extending into a chapel train, edged with a ruffle; the fitted bodice was trimmed with Venice lace and scattered seed pearls, featuring a U-neckline; and long straight sleeves ending in a small ruffle. Her matching headpiece of lace and pearls held in place her veil of tulle illusion. She carried a bouquet of red roses entwined with baby's breath. The bride wore a ruby pendant, gift of the groom.

The maid of honor was Jean MacIsaac of Antigonish and bridesmaids were Brenda and Anne Marie Helm, sisters of the bride. The maid of honor wore a floor-length gown of baby pink polyester satin fashioned with a fitted bodice, featuring a self-ruffle V-neckline, shaped midriff, flared skirt and long sleeves gathered at the wrist. She carried a cluster of mixed flowers including red and pink roses; yellow, mauve and pink mums; and shasta daisies. The other attendants wore identical floral print polyester satin gowns in soft shades of pink and blue. They carried clusters of pink carnations, white mums and shasta daisies entwined with baby's breath.

Best man was Art Ripley of Bridgewater. Gary Selig of Deep Brook and David Dagley of Dartmouth were ushers.

The mother of the bride wore a floor-length polyester gown in a rosecolored floral print, a mink stole and matching accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses. For her son's wedding, the groom's mother chose an floor length maize chiffon gown with fur cape and white accessories. She wore a corsage of white roses.

The sanctuary was adorned with baskets of mixed gladiolii.

The bridal party left the church to strains of the organ playing "Color My World".

Immediately following the wedding ceremony a reception was held at the Parish Center. Rev. Tony MacDonald led the guests in grace. Master of ceremonies, Sylvain Arsenault, proposed the toast to the bride, which was responded to by the groom. The wedding cake was cut in traditional manner by the bride and groom and apportioned to their guests.

For a wedding trip to New Brunswick, the bride wore a rust pant suit with a beige cape and matching accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

The bride is a graduate of St. Francis Xavier University, Antigonish. The groom is employed by the Department of Lands and Forests.

Mr. and Mrs. Oickle will be residing in Dartmouth.

Out of town guests were from Antigonish; Smith's Cove; Bridgewater; Montreal; Corner Brook; Swan River, Manitoba and New Brunswick.

OUTHOUSE—THURBER

A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Thurber, Freeport, on May 14th, when their fifth daughter, Victoria Lynn, became the bride of Daniel Lee, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Baden Outhouse, Tiverton, Rev. Charles McNeil officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a pale yellow gown, shoulder length veil, and carried a bouquet of yellow daisies, white carnations and hyacinths.

The maid of honor, Jane Thurber, sister of the bride, wore a plain green gown, yellow daisy headpiece and bouquet to match.

Mr. Gordon Outhouse, Tiverton, friend of the bride and groom, was best man.

The mother of the bride, in a blue polyester gown, wore a corsage of red and white carnations and the groom's mother, in pink, had a pink and white carnation corsage.

Grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Belle Thurber, also looked charming in blue with pink carnations.

Reception immediately followed at the Canadian Legion Hall.

After a short trip, the happy couple returned to their home in Tiverton, where the groom is employed as a fisherman.

Bear River Takes Tight Game From Clementsport

Bear River scored one run in the sixth inning Thursday night to defeat Clementsport Legion 1-0 in Western Valley Softball League Action on May 26.

The game had been a scoreless tie until Steve Saulnier singled to score Danny Height from second base. Dave Banks, on the mound for Bear River, held Clementsport to one hit while John Tooker allowed Bear River only three singles in a very tight game with no walks on either side.

Bear River had threatened in the third when Dan Haight reached first on a fielders' choice, went to second on a wild pitch and reached third on an error which put Josh Peck on first with one out. Robinson's following line-drive to short, however, was turned into a double-play to end the inning.

Clementsport's John Tooker led off the sixth with a hard single to centre to spoil the Bear River bid for a no-hitter, but was stranded when Cook and Wright struck out and Longie grounded to third.

Bear River finally got another runner in the sixth when Haight singled and with two out was driven home by Saulnier's hit to break the deadlock. Held to the one run, Bear River had to fight off a Clementsport rally when Perkins reached second on an error in the seventh but was stranded when Potter and Sanford grounded to short and Harry Potter flied out to Peck in left field.

Digby Blood Donor Clinic "Over The Top"

With a total registration of 309 donors, Digby's Spring Blood Donor Clinic was successful in reaching and slightly exceeding its quota of 300. This is most gratifying to the Committee and all the workers involved, who had expressed fears that the prevalence of 'flu in the area might cut the attendance at this one of our usually successful Clinics.

The wholehearted appreciation of the Chairman, E.B. Tufts, is extended to all the donors and also to the many groups and individual workers who were responsible for the success of the Clinic. There was an increased attendance from many of the nearby communities participating in the Clinic, special thanks for which are extended to Lieut. Karl White of C.F.B. "Cornwallis", Arnold Comeau, President of the Weymouth Branch of the Canadian Legion, and to the Bear River Red Cross Blood Donor Chairman, Allister Harris, assisted by Lawrence Henshaw and Mrs. Mary Darres, Red Cross Regional Vice-President.

The Islands area can always be relied upon for support and this Clinic was certainly no exception. Mrs. Ivan Moore, Red Cross Area Chairman, and the seven carloads of donors from Freeport and vicinity have established quite a record with the 90-mile trip to and from Digby which they make in attending the Clinic.

The co-operation of the Principal of the Digby Regional High School, Mr. Ross, was greatly appreciated in providing time for senior students to attend the Clinic. In the morning the Red Cross vans were unloaded by the students, many of whom remained to become donors. The usual assistance of Miss Linda Macintosh, President of Red Cross Youth, was greatly appreciated, as was that of Mrs. Dorothy Curry who took charge of notifying the Donor Panel.

The Red Cross Mobile Unit from Halifax was assisted by local workers in carrying out the various duties in the Clinic Room. Nursing services were provided under the convenorship of Mrs. C.D. Snow, R.N., Chairman of the Digby Red Cross Nursing Committee. Other registered nurses assisting were Mrs. D. G. Black, Mrs. Desmond Woods, Mrs. Robert Wallace, Mrs. Stephen LeBlanc and Miss Kathy Lafurge. Also assisting in the Clinic Room were Miss Mary Robinson and Christopher Tufts.

In charge of registration, ushering and the serving of refreshments was Mrs. Allan Harris, Vice-President of the Digby Red Cross Branch, assisted by Mrs. Paul VanTassell, Mrs. Andrew Thibadeau, Mrs. Hilda Bremner, Mrs. Edith Hayden, Mrs. Helen Anderson, Mrs. Sophie Everett, Mrs. Frank Macintosh, Mrs. Glen Smith, Mrs. Brazeau, Mrs. Avery Crowell, Mrs. Bessie Daley, Mrs. Edna Stark, Mrs. Elliott VanTassell, Mrs. Robert Wilson, Mrs. Frank Larche, Mrs. Mildred Beckwith, Mrs. Wilfred Comeau and Mrs. J. J. Brittain.

The Clinic was held in the Digby Fire Hall and assistance with refreshments was also provided by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Fire Department, members helping being Mrs. Guy VanTassell, Mrs. Mason VanTassell, Mrs. Vaughan VanTassell, Mrs. Barry Hyson, Mrs. Marie Germaine and Mrs. Irene Gibson. The Committee extends its thanks to these ladies and also to the firemen for their splendid co-operation, particularly in loading the Red Cross vans at the close of the Clinic. Another much appreciated service was the free transportation provided during the afternoon by Charles Francis, President of the Digby Branch of the Canadian Legion.

One of the Digby helpers who merits special mention for his continuous support of the Blood Donor Clinics is Layton Hinxman, who always greets the donors and workers throughout the day and keeps a watchful eye out for every opportunity to be useful. It should also be noted that this helpful spirit is a family characteristic, with two of his daughters regularly serving as registrars at the Clinics and his granddaughter, Linda Macintosh, serving the cause of Red Cross Youth with great enthusiasm.

The Director of Blood Donor Services for Nova Scotia, Rod Milne, was a guest of the Chairman, Mr. Tufts, at the Digby Clinic and paid high tribute to the efforts of the Committee in achieving such success. One particularly good feature, from the standpoint of the Red Cross Blood Bank, was the 100 per cent attendance of the three donors in this area who have the rare AB Rh Negative blood type which is always in short supply. During the Clinic the presentation of a scroll was made by the Digby Red Cross President, Harold Emerson, to Paul Fenton of Digby for thirty-five blood donations.

No Immediate Loss Of Grades At Deep Brook

Fears of some parents that Grade 5 and 6 children at Clements Consolidated School in Deep Brook might soon be bussed to a Middle School in Annapolis Royal were put to rest, at least for the present, at a ratepayers meeting held Monday night. About 60 ratepayers attended.

The meeting was called by the Clements Consolidated Home and School Association to inform area parents on the proposed Middle School concept as it may affect students in this area. Charles Light acted as chairman.

Phillip Lake, Superintendent of Schools for Annapolis County and a strong supporter of the Middle School concept, was guest speaker for the evening. He brought along a delegation composed of Frederick Fry, principal of the High School; Richard Parrott, principal of the Junior High School; Keith Chappell, supervisor of curriculum; and Kim Skuinton, newly appointed principal of the Junior High School.

Mr. Lake told parents the Middle School concept involves only those youngsters at the Junior High School level at the present, but that Grade 6 and possibly Grade 5 youngsters could become involved at a later date.

"I personally would recommend that we consider Grade 5's and 6's", Mr. Lake said. But he noted that neither the Regional or Municipal School Board had given even the slightest indication it is willing to take the Grade 5 and 6 students out of the feeder schools.

In explaining the Middle School concept, Mr. Lake noted that provision had been allowed for its development at the time a new high school was built in Annapolis Royal. At that time, he said, it made sense that if Grades 5 and 6 were sent to the Middle School in facilities of old Academy, it would provide for adequate space in the small schools for comprehensive programs for Grades 1-4.

One of the factors in making the decision was that the majority of small schools didn't have the facilities for a total elementary program, he said.

Mr. Lake explained that a Middle School is designed to continue an elementary type of education, with courses designed for the needs and abilities of children, allow more personal teacher-student contact than Junior or Senior High Schools, and prepare students for the jump into the high school system.

He noted that financial considerations might also have a bearing on future decisions in this regard. To continue to provide the services now being provided, or those being requested, "We're going to have to set our priorities with perhaps some fairly tough decisions."

However, he expressed hope that future decisions will be made principally from an educational viewpoint. "personally I see the Middle School as having a lot of educational benefits for children at the middle or early years of adolescence."

When asked a question later whether the Middle School concept would save money, Mr. Lake replied; "I don't think it's ever going to be cheaper but it'll give us more value for our money."

Some parental concerns which arose during the question and answer period concerned use of drugs at the High School, difficulties encountered by younger children travelling a long distance to school, and their difficulty in adjusting to older children.

Mr. Lake allowed that potential problems do exist, but not of the too serious nature, and stated that parents may or may not ever be asked to do it. (send Grade 5 and 6 youngsters to the Middle School).

One parent questioned whether this concept had ever been employed elsewhere. Mr. Parrott noted it is in existence in Europe and parts of Canada and the U.S.A. with one operating in Dartmouth. Mr. Lake added that other parts of Nova Scotia are studying it.

Frederick Fry, commenting on the concept, noted that attempts have been made to incorporate some of these ideas in the High School. "I'm convinced things have to be personalized". He felt some success had been achieved in lessening the slack between Elementary School and Junior High School.

Parents, Mr. Fry said, are "very wise to think carefully before sending their children 10 miles down the road." He felt it must be proven that beginning high school life can be made less of a shock for Grades 7 and 8 before parents can be asked to send their Grades 5 and 6's. "I think we should be slow-going...."

The Regional and Municipal School Boards, before changing the structure of the feeder schools, have a further meeting with the ratepayers of this area to inform them of the improvements warranting this change.

Edwards Will Give Graduation Address

C.E. Edwards, former Inspector for schools for the Annapolis-Digby region will give the address to graduates during Graduation Night ceremonies at Digby Regional High School on June 28.

The date for Graduation Night was set by the Digby Regional School Board during its May meeting. The evening will get underway at 8 p.m.

Several musical numbers will be included on the night's program. These will be performed by the DRHS High School Band under the direction of Don Scott.

In other school board activity, Rupert Haley presented the Board with a proposed budget on the Continuing Education Program for the year April 1, 1977 to March 31 of 1978. The grant was cut back by $100 this year.

Don Scott was given permission to obtain estimates on a set of drums for the high school band.

The Annapolis-Digby United Baptist Association was given permission to use the Multi-purpose Room, cafeteria and six classrooms at the school on the evening of Sept. 16 and all day on the 17th.

Sandra Amirault was hired as teacher for the 1977-78 school year.

The question of amalgamation of the school board was tabled until after the June meeting.

Official Status For French Language Sought

The Acadian Federation of Nova Scotia plans to "pressure" the provincial government to declare French as an official language of Nova Scotia, according to the federation's executive director, Paul Comeau.

This was one of the major resolutions adopted Saturday by the federation which represents a portion of Nova Scotia's 105,000 Acadians.

The federation, concerned over the assimilation of over half of Nova Scotia's Acadian population, resolved to press the provincial government into taking action to ensure the preservation of their culture and language, Mr. Comeau said in an interview.

Recognition of French education in the province would go a long way in preserving and increasing Acadian culture, Mr. Comeau said. Therefore, the federation resolved to form parent committees in the seven Acadian regions to approach the proper authorities and the minister of education to develop an Acadian school system, guaranteeing French language instruction for Acadians, he said.

"Only 45,000 Acadians in the province still speak French," said Louise Comeau, president of the federation for the past two years.

Problems were discussed and resolutions formed when 160 members met for the federation's annual conference held over the weekend in Halifax.

The problems of the economic sector are also of major concern, Mr. Comeau said. The federation will work to develop community and social resource centres as well as establish an inventory of human and natural resources.

A resolution to play an active role in the Chamber of Commerce and in the development of Acadian unions was passed in order to serve as an economic link between the different Acadian areas.

In addition, the federation resolved to approach the provincial government to "activate and revitalize development of industry in the Acadian areas to enable Acadians to live and remain in their rural communities." This, Mr. Comeau feels, would lessen migration to larger urban centres such as Halifax, and thus further prevent assimilation.

"The provincial government, however, seems interested only in those areas where there is already considerable economic development and a fair number of industries," Mr. Comeau said.

Mrs. Comeau meanwhile, said she felt too many Acadians have already lost their identity in terms of forgotten history, culture and language.

The province's seven Acadian areas in Nova Scotia include Halifax where 15,000 Acadians reside, Digby, Yarmouth, Richmond County, Sydney, New Waterford and Inverness. About 90,000 Acadians live in the latter six areas.

The federation represents 45 associations and 300 individuals comprising a total membership of 15,000 Acadians.

Response To Red Shield Campaign Encouraging

While there is still a good deal of ground to cover before the objective of $3300.00 is reached, it is very encouraging to see the wonderful response to The Salvation Army's Red Shield Campaign.

Lt. David Howlett, Campaign Director, told the Courier today that Mr. Chester Levy, Campaign Chairman, has been very happy with the way the canvassers have been received and states that everyone, with very few exceptions, is responding to the Campaign.

The canvass for Digby, Smith's Cove, and Deep Brook, with very few exceptions has been completed.

If by chance you might have been missed, donations may be mailed or given to the Campaign Treasurer, Mr. Lee Savage, at the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, Evangeline Mall, Digby.

On The Streets Again

This past Sunday, The Salvation Army commenced its outdoor evangelism. It took the form of an open-air. There was some good hearty singing to the notes of an accordian played by Ronald Wilkins, Digby, and the Army drum played by Sidney Isnor, Digby. The comrades formed their open-air meeting on Queen Street just a few yards away from the Salvation Army Hall. After the open-air the folks marched back to the evening service, behind the "Blood and Fire", the Army flag.

Sixteen Princesses Chosen

The 16 Annapolis Valley towns who have elected princesses for the 1977 Apple Blossom Festival can be justifiably proud of their contestants.

In addition to representing the beauty and talent inherent to the people of the Annapolis Valley, the 1977 contestants vying for the title Queen Annapolisa 45th, are well informed in the issues affecting this country and the world in which they live.

In surprise interviews recently, the princesses expressed deep concern for the future of their country, and almost unanimously called upon all Canadians to learn and understand both sides of the separation crisis facing Canada.

With twenty-one paid members and many other willing helpers many projects have been completed. Weekly 45s card parties, beginning in November and running through to the end of May, supplied a much enjoyed form of recreation to residents of both islands. Letters pertaining to the lack of proper gymnasium facilities at the school, and retaining our school board representative were sent forthcoming. With the funds generated by the card parties, along with monies raised from our Spring Bazaar, the Home and School helped the Student Council sponsor a bid for the purchase of a 48 passenger school bus. This bid was successful and the bus will soon be available for school and community use.

Donations towards the elementary school's Christmas treats; end of the year prizes for both elementary and high schools; and to Johnson's Christian Park were made.

A $150. bursary will also be awarded to a deserving graduating student.

The final meeting of the Home and School will be held June 6th at 8 p.m. There will be no pot luck supper this year as members are being asked to contribute towards the buffet on June 11th. One final fund raising event for the year will be held June 11th at 9 p.m. in the form of an adult dance and buffet featuring the Band of Gold. Come out for what should be a very enjoyable evening and support the worthwhile work your Home and School Association is doing.

More Young Canada Works For Digby

Three more Young Canada Works projects and three Canada Works projects in the federal constituency of South Western Nova were approved today by Bud Cullen, Minister of Manpower and Immigration.

J.P. LeBlanc, Director Manpower, Nova Scotia, said, "The newly-approved Young Canada Works projects will employ 18 young people in the South Western Nova riding for a total of 181 man-weeks of summer employment."

The 'Champlain Chamber and Folk Music Quartet' will have its home base in Weymouth, but will be conducting concerts and workshops in the entire Annapolis River area.

Another of the projects, the 'Boys' Club of Yarmouth', will receive $7,116 in federal funds to create work for four Yarmouth youths and summer fun for countless young boys of the immediate area.

The third Young Canada Works projects to be approved for this federal constituency is 'C.J.A. Summer Camp' in Concession, Digby County, offering summer camp facilities for students between the ages of eight and fifteen.

Mr. LeBlanc said, "This brings to 21 the number of Young Canada Works projects approved for the South Western Nova constituency."

"The projects have employed 118 young people of the area at a cost to the federal government of $146,642 as well as providing needed services to hundreds of families in the surrounding communities," he added.

Mr. LeBlanc went on to explain that, "The three Canada Works projects, 'Annapolis Royal Recreation Field'. Tiverton Fire Department Project' and 'Acadie et son cinema' will receive funding totalling $28,000".

This brings to 27 the number of Canada Works projects already approved for South Western Nova.

All hiring for Young Canada Works and Canada Works projects is done through Canada Manpower Centres for Students and Canada Manpower Centers respectively.

The projects are administered through the Job Creation branch of Manpower and Immigration.

Water Safety Summer Consultant Appointed

The Water Safety Service of the Nova Scotia Red Cross has announced the appointment of John Rodgers of Digby as Summer Consultant for Shelburne, Yarmouth, Digby, Annapolis and southern Kings County from Sable River to Waterville, for the summer of 1977.

This will be John's first year as Summer Consultant for your region. John was instrumental in the overall development and administration of the swimming program conducted in the Digby pool for the past two years. John has served as a course conductor for the Red Cross Leader Award in the past year at Acadia University and will be instrumental in assisting with Leader and Instructor Courses in the near future.

The function of the Summer Consultant is to visit early in June with each of the program sponsors to assist, when necessary, with the organization and administration of the overall swimming program. A second visitation will probably be necessary in order to deliver the supplies such as crests, cards and water safety teaching materials which will be necessary for use by the swimming instructor. The Consultant is then in a position to determine when and if a third visitation will be necessary, to the swimming program, to provide the technical assistance and moral support which is sometimes requested by the swimming instructors. Summer Consultants are also prepared to assign examiners or conduct the examinations themselves. In summary, the Summer Consultant is a resource person made available to the swimming programs and they will provide an evaluation of the overall summer project for the benefit of the individual instructors and the Water Safety Service.

Ask your friends who drink it.

METRIC AND THE CONSUMER

For the past two years Canada has been gradually converting to the metric system. The gradual changeover allows you more time to get used to the system before everything is in metric measurement only.

However, because of the gradual change some people are relying on the old system and not learning the new system until forced to. A lot of people purchased new fahrenheit thermometers when weather reports changed to Celsius so they wouldn't have to learn the new system.

Since we are given the opportunity to learn the system gradually, it would be far easier to become familiar with the metric measurements while articles are labeled with both systems. For example, men's shirts are now carrying both the metric and the standard label presently. Try to learn the metric size, because soon it will be the only measurement appearing on the label. This will be the same for many products on the market.

Pattern books are equipped with conversion charts, but soon patterns will be metric only and fabric will be sold by the metre, not by the yard.

In the grocery store there have been some changes made already. Sugar and ice cream have been changed over to metric and in the 1977 year we will see so many more. By 1980 almost everything will be metric.

During conversion times it is important to be aware of how much you are paying for the items. For example, when ice cream was first converted to the litre container, it was selling for the same price as the quart container in some stores, even though the contents are 12 percent less in the litre container. In some circumstances this problem was caused by the stock clerk not pricing it properly, and was soon corrected once complaints were made.

One thing to remember also, that, even though the litre container is 12 percent smaller than the quart we will not see an equal percentage reduction in price; although we should see some. Metric conversion means that manufacturers require new machinery, containers, etc., that will add to the cost of production.

In 1977 meat scales in stores will be converted to the kilogram measurement. Try to remember that there are 2.2 pounds in 1 kilogram. At the grocery store if one kilogram of bacon costs $3.00, the price is approximately $1.35 per pound; that is a little less than half, than the price in kilograms.

The easiest way to understand and learn metric is to learn by associating those measures with something very common to us. Here are a list of some common associations that you could become familiar with.

1 centimetre-about the width of one finger
10 centimetres-about the width of your palm
1 kilometre-about a 10 minute walk
100 kilometres-approximately a one hour drive
1 metre-average height of a kitchen counter
3 kilograms-average weight of a newborn baby
1 gram-about the weight of a stick of gum
1 litre-a bit smaller than the quart container

In the kitchen new "measures" are being developed which will be almost equal in size to our old measuring cups and spoons. Cup sizes will be called measures and will come in a 250 ml. (millimetre) size. This will be graduated in 25 ml. divisions. The 250 ml. size is almost equal to the cup measure.

For small measures, there will be 5 in a set of: 1 ml., 5 ml., 15 ml., and a 25 ml. The 15 ml. is almost equal to our tablespoon.

One thing to remember though, even Miss Canada is not exempt from Metric Conversion! Her figure will be 90-60-90 (centimetres) and will weigh approximately 50 kilograms and her normal body temperature will be 37 degrees Celsius!

Notes From Bird Haven

The dream of a life time has come to pass, a trip to Point Pelee Federal Park to see the spring migration of the birds returning from the south.

We left here in a snow storm. Had rain, hail and sunshine by the time we took off in the plane and it continued for nine consecutive days.

We arrived at the park early the next morning and there were hundreds already there, some had arrived by 4 a.m.

The birds fly in at night, have a short rest and then start feeding and are flying everywhere.

All ages were on the spot, old gentlemen with canes and infants in carry-alls on their parent's backs.

The park is a narrow slit of land only six square miles, jutting out into Lake Erie. A little train takes you from the lodge to the tip of the point which is literally covered with all kinds of sea birds.

Then there is the nature trail which takes you around the park proper and the Marsh Boardwalk in another section. We covered them all.

It seemed funny, the first birds we saw and heard were Baltimore Orioles and Rose breasted grosbeaks. The two kinds I had released before going away.

I only added four new birds to my life list, Marsh Wren, Sora Rail, Orchard Oriole, and a male wood duck that nearly hit me.

The wild flowers were lovely and the trees were beautiful and so many everywhere. All the streets were lined with them. We could take a tip from them, it certainly adds charm to the place.

This trip is a must for all ardent bird watchers, some people go every year and from a great distance.

Now I must get back to reality and look after my own birds. They were well looked after by kind friends, while I was away.

All our summer birds are back now, a pair of Cat birds, Chick-a-dees, Downy Woodpeckers and Song Sparrows apparently have settled in the yard, but I miss robins around the yard.

Keep watching for orioles wearing bands on one leg.

So long

CYC Honour Council Held

Sunday evening, May 29th, at the Digby Wesleyan Church when the Church was almost filled to capacity the CYC Honour Council was held.

The service was opened with the singing of the hymn "Onward Christian Soldiers".

Pledges to the Canadian Flag and to the Christian Flag, which were displayed at the front of the Church, were given.

This year a group of CYC Heralds numbered 21. The group is divided into three age groups, Grades 1, 2 and 3. As a special musical number the group sang "Something Special".

The CYC cadets are divided into three age groups Grades 4, 5, and 6 . They gave a scripture verse which they had learned during the past year.

A group of pre school children, known as Joybells, are for the first time this year a part of the CYC program. This group during the year increased in numbers from 10 members to 12. The special number which they sang pleased the large congregation present.

Certificates and awards were presented to the CYC children. Tanya Chute, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chute, received the only high award for the year and we congratulate her.

A Stepping Up ceremony was conducted for the 4 Joybells who will become Heralds in the fall, and for the 5 Heralds who will become Cadets.

Mrs. Grace Brewster made a presentation to the CYC director, Mrs. Ruth Wilson.

The closing Honour Council for the largest CYC ever in Digby concluded with the singing of "Happiness Is the Lord". Fifty-five children were a part of the CYC program during the past year.

Reflecting To 1947

A written decision declaring the civic election held in Digby on February 4, 1947 as valid and the election of councillors V. G. Cardoza and Albert Warner as legal, was handed down by County Court Judge Kenneth L. Crowell. A petition asking that the election be set aside and declared invalid was filed shortly after the election date by M. S. Leonard, acting on behalf of F. L. Anderson and H. M. Warne. The reason given by the petitioners was because of certain irregularities which they alleged existed. The case was heard before Judge Crowell in Digby on April 11th, and adjourned until May 20, when briefs and arguments were presented at Little Brook. Judge Crowell's decision declared the election of Cardoza and Warner as valid and allowed them casts.

Sea Cadets in Digby had an exciting trip to Bear Island. The boys under the leadership of Charles McBride had gone to Bear Island in two cutters and were expected back by Sunday evening. High winds whipped the Basin and when nothing was heard from them a Life Boat was sent to the island. The lifeboat was prevented from landing by mountainous seas and returned to Digby to find both cutters and youngsters had arrived safely home. They left the island at about 10:30 p.m. in a lull in the storm and followed the shore line at about ten to fifteen feet all along the Basin to Digby. Charles McBride was in charge of one cutter and his father, C. F. McBride was in charge of the other.

When the Aquitania docked in Halifax, it brought a charming lady, Miss Ursula Ruth Nafthal, who had acted as interpreter for 500 immigrants during the voyage. She was planning to make her home with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Max Nafthal, Middleton. A Lithuanian citizen, Miss Nafthal was taken prisoner by the Germans and subjected to concentration camps as was all of her family. In 1945 she was liberated by Canadian troops and for two years she served as interpreter for the Canadian and British occupation forces. Her uncle, Max Nafthal operated an extensive pitprop business in Digby.

Paul Lorion, French Consul General, was the honored guest at St. Ann's College, giving an interesting address on France.

The Digby Civic Band was making preparations for the summer season of 1947 and open air concerts at the bandstand.

Provincially a Buyer's Strike was being agitated against the high cost of certain foods. However, though erroneously included, bread was not supposed to be included. A. C. Shaw, Secretary Maritime Bakers Association, advised the price of bread was frozen in early war years and had not been changed to that day.

Grades I, II and III at Digby Academy held an exhibition of their year's work at the schools. The exhibition also provided an opportunity for teacher and parent to discuss problems if necessary.

The First Pines Open

The first Pines Open will be played at Digby July 30 and 31. Charged With Income Tax Evasion

On May 24, 1977, Edward S. Jollimore of Terence Bay, Halifax County, appeared in Halifax County Court before Judge R.E. Kimball on charges of Income Tax evasion. Mr. Jollimore had previously entered a guilty plea to the charge, that between Dec. 31, 1973 and May 2, 1977 he had wilfully evaded the payment of $6230.12 of income taxes on unreported income of $27,907.81 for the 1974 taxation year.

The court was told that this unreported income was the result of the sale of swordfish to the United States. Also the court was informed that Mr. Jollimore has paid all the taxes and interest with this income, plus a 25 percent administrative penalty.

Judge Kimball sentenced Mr. Jollimore to a fine of $1557.53 with two weeks to pay. In default of payment Mr. Jollimore will serve 45 days incarceration.

Looking For Expression Of Planning Interest

Gregg Haverstack of the Department of Municipal Affairs was not concerned whether Digby was inclined towards Annapolis or Clare in Regional Planning, but he was looking for an expression of interest. He made the remark when speaking before the Digby Town Council meeting on Monday. This co-ordinator of regional planning for the department was accompanied by George Zadougis, also of the Department.

Mr. Haverstack, whose mission was simply to explain regional planning, said that Annapolis favors planning with Digby area rather than with Kings Co., as they feel they have more in common with Digby. Mayor Stuart MacNaughton, who presided at the meeting and other councillors also expressed the same opinion particularly regarding educational areas and the possibility of the establishment of an airport here. Other councillors felt that industrially Clare and Digby would be more suitable components for a planning region. No councillor felt disposed towards the extensive region of Clare-Yarmouth-Shelburne. There being a planning seminar to be held at College Ste Ann, Church Point, June 17, 18 and 19, it was recommended that a committee from Digby Town Council attend for information and get an expression from Clare.

Mr. Haverstack informed on the three levels of planning in which the provincial level is entirely a provincial cost, the regional is paid on a fifty percent provincial basis and the municipal is a hundred percent municipal cost. By diagram Mr. Haverstack noted the common problems and interests in board regions and their interrelationships in economic changes and their affects on people, lands, housing, schools, fire, recreation, water supply, etc.

Mr. Zadongis referred to the legal aspects and the assistance which the department could render in any planning operations. The Joint Planning program gathers information, determines the issues involved, expresses the needs or likes of the committee and refer back to see how the plan is working. The speakers warned that it must be seen where the committee is going before they attempt to go too fast and that the support of the public is much needed.

Mr. Haverstack remarked that the Annapolis Basin Tourist and Recreation Council is much interested in regional planning and that David Irvine gave a well expressed presentation at a recent seminar in Lawrencetown on behalf ABTRAC.

Patrick Comeau, appeared before Council on Monday requesting a sum of at least $125 and more if possible, towards the sponsorship of Digby's princess in the Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival. Mr. Comeau said he had volunteered to aid the Digby Board of Trade in contacting heads of organizations to donate an amount not exceeding $125 but to date he had received only $175. The matter was left for Council to consider. Mr. Comeau hoped that a continuing account might be established.

His Worship Mayor MacNaughton commended the Digby Board of Trade for a job well done. Assisting Mr. Comeau was last year's Digby Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival princess, Miss Jacquelon Journeay, Digby.

Councillor Gordon Ellis asked that an account of receipts and expenses be made available to Council.

To date of Council, Mr. Comeau had received only $175 towards expenses but he felt the organizations would make committments.

Tournament Attracts 272 Golfers

What may have been the largest golf tournament ever played in Nova Scotia wound up at the Pines on Sunday under cloudy and wet playing conditions.

A total of 272 amateur golf enthusiasts invaded Digby for the annual Two-ball best-ball Tournament, held here for the first time in four years.

None of Digby's two-man combinations managed to come away with the tournament championship, but several placed well in the final standings.

The Lyndon Garron-Paul Doucette combination stayed with the leaders (Gerry MacMillan and John Randles of Ashburn) all the way down the line for a final gross score of 146. The winners finished with a gross of 144. The Digby duo managed to come up with the best low net score.

Gordon Handspiker and Bill Power, playing for the Digby Club, also managed to place well. They finished with a final gross of 152. The next-best Digby combination was S. Saulnier-L. Dugas with a gross of 158.

The size of this golf tournament came as a pleasant surprise to both Digby Golf Club president, Ted Miller and Pines Resort Hotel Manager Vic Bradshaw.

Mr. Miller termed it the "largest Golf Tournament ever held in Nova Scotia". He estimated the weekend golfers, many accompanied by family members, left from $75-100,000 in the Digby area during their visit.

Victor Bradshaw was a little more conservative in his estimate of the financial benefit to the area, but he even he put the estimate in the $60,000 vicinity. Mr. Bradshaw said he was "absolutely amazed" at the size of the tournament.

The Pines' Manager termed organization for the weekend of play as "fantastic" and attributed its success to the Digby Pines Golf Club and officials of the Nova Scotia Golf Association.

He noted that resulting business to the town will be "smiled upon by the operators" and termed this "a typical example of how The Pines can work hand in glove with other businesses in the community."

Mr. Bradshaw said he hoped the Pines would host this tournament in the future. Mr. Miller noted there is now talk of having it held in Digby every third year.

Top players at the end of play on Sunday were: (gross score follows names) - Gerry MacMillan and John Randles, Ashburn, 144; R. Dumeah and E. Dumeah, Liverpool, 146; Lyndon Garron and Paul Doucette, Digby, 146; H. Morash and G. Walker, Ashburn, 147; D. Webber and D. MacCarthy, Brightwood, 147; C. Boswick and J. Bryant, Ashburn, 148; P. Hope and L. Smith, Brightwood, 151; Gordon Handspiker and Bill Power, Digby, 152; D. Hood and J. MacLeod, Abercrombie, 153; F. Mason and D. Fowlie, Brightwood, 154; P. Locke and G O'Hearn, Brightwood, 154; D. VanSnick Kenwo and L. Seary, Ashburn, 154; H. Davis and J. Nauss, Chester, 155; M. Cousens and F. Rose, Ashburn, 165; R. Shoveller, Ashburn, and J. Fairhurst, Oakville, 157; E. MacDonald and D. Hiltz, Keno, 157; D. Saltzmen and S. Harrick, Paragon, 157; Mike DeYoung and J. Bond, Harlen Point, 158; D. Wentzell and J. Power, Bluenose, 158; S. Saulnier and L. Dugas, Digby, 158; W. Picott and B. Graham, Brightwood, 158.

The combination of Lyndon Garron and Paul Doucette get congratulations from Digby Golf Club president Ted Miller after their fine showing in the Two-ball-best-ball tournament held at The Pines.

Digby Considers Recreation Director

Digby Town Council on Monday evening passed a motion to get together with the Municipality of the District of Digby to try to come up with something in the line of recreation to combat the destruction of property and crime in Digby. The motion followed the report of Sergeant T.E. Harlowe who recommends a full time recreation director. He felt there was enough damage done to pay for a director.

Sgt. Harlowe's report revealed there is a growing problem in the town with juvenile offenders, those under 16 years of age. To date this year, 25 juveniles have been taken to family court, the most notable offence is shoplifting. There were only about 30 juveniles charged during all of 1976, his report said. The report reasoned that there is a lack of organized recreation and of a lack of recreation director which is a contributing factor to this rise in juvenile crime. The R.C.M.P. recommended the town take a serious look at appointing a full time recreation director if only for the summer months.

From the police report it was learned there were seven break and enters, one theft of motor cycle, nine thefts under $200 (mostly shop lifting, ten disturbances and seven damage complaints in May. There were three accidents.

Sgt. Barlow brought to the attention of the town council that cross walks have not been painted this year so far and they recommended that this be done as soon as possible.

The Town Hall was found unlocked twice during May. The liquor situation according to the report seemed good.

Revenues collected amounted to $210 for the town; $1332 for the province and $100 for the federal government.

The financial report for May was given by Councillor Gordon Ellis when bills to the amount of $82,465 were passed for payment. Of this $40,700 was for the new sewer construction expenses.

Frank Robinson, superintendent of streets presented his report on work done on the present sewer and street facilities and the assistant superintendent, Kenneth Ilskinski reported a total of $12,922 expenses in May.

According to the report of Webster Dunn, collections from the parking meters amounted to $420.89; 57 tickets were issued; 61 tickets collected and two cancelled.

In the absence of Carl Niemeyer the building inspector's report gave figures of three new construction applications made, two applications for alterations made and two for

Special Display Planned

As part of the activities for the Canadian Owners and Pilots annual convention in this area arrangements have been made for the Search and Rescue squad to put a special display on Saturday, June 11 at 1:30 p.m. on the open field near the tennis courts at the Pines Resort hotel.

Other planning for the convention is reported to be progressing well. On Saturday, a day trip to Digby Neck and Islands is planned. The trip will be highlighted by a chowder luncheon that will be put on by the Westport Fire Department Ladies Auxiliary.

On Friday special boat tours of the Annapolis Basin area are planned. These tours will permit the conventionairs an unique water side view of this area.

Aircraft for the COPA conference are expected to begin arriving on Thursday, June 9. Special air traffic control facilities are being set up by the COPA organizers to manage the one hundred light aircraft expected at this convention. These facilities should be set up during the early part of this week.

It is understood that personnel to run these facilities will be arriving early this week. While this advance team will bring some of the special equipment with them, the remainder is expected to arrive later in the week by air freight to Yarmouth.

Also at the Digby Municipal Airport special arrangements are being planned to handle the many aircraft expected. "Tie-downs" are being set up around the margins of the airport to secure the aircraft against wind damage. It is understood that these tie-downs are now in place, patiently awaiting the arrival of the first aircraft on Thursday.

As a safety precaution, various fire departments will be on standby to meet any emergency should one arise.

The public have been invited to witness the fly-in of these aircraft to the Digby Municipal Airport. The landings and take offs are expected to begin on Thursday and continue throughout the weekend.

Unfortunately, there will be no public parking on the approach roads to the Airport. Provision has been made, however, for the visiting public to park on the Hillgrove Road and the Bloomfield Road. From this parking area, the air terminal is only a short walk.

George Knudson Will Play At Pines

One of the top professional golfers in Canada will be in Digby on July 30-31 for the first Pines Resort Hotel 36-hole open golf tournament.

George Knudson, member of the Canada Sports Hall of Fame has signed to play in the tournament. Pines Resort Hotel manager Victor Bradshaw made the announcement during the presentation of awards which ended the 272-player Two-ball best-ball tournament on Sunday evening.

Two hundred professional and amateur golfers are expected to compete in the July tournament, for 10 purses totaling $3,700. They will represent Canadian and American golf clubs.

The purses are among the largest ever offered for professional golf tournament players in Atlantic Canada.

George Knudson has gained international recognition as a tournament player over the years. He has won tournaments in Canada (won the Canadian PGA three times in the past 10 years), the U.S.A. and Australia. His 1976 victories include the Ontario Open, the Maritimes Open and the Canadian PGA.

93 Years

A birthday celebration will be order of the day at the home of Mrs. Mabel Dakin, Centerville, on Friday, June 10, 1977. Mrs. Dakin will celebrate her 93rd birthday.

She will be assisted by her granddaughter Arlene (Mrs. Peter Crenek) of Grande Prarie, Alberta. Arlene is the daughter of the late Minnie and Tuttle Graham.

Arlene is accompanied by her daughters, Anne and Myrna, also her grandson Darryl. He is the great great grandson of Mrs. Dakin. The children are visiting Nova Scotia for the first time and all are warmly welcomed.

Friends will be welcome at the Dakin home, on Friday the 10th, to visit and say 'happy birthday'.

Festival committee chairman Jeff Wright is shown escorting Queen Annapolisa Sheila Jones toward the Digby Legion Hall during the Royal Tour on Monday.

Royal Tour In Digby

The Royal Tour of Queen Annapolisa and her 15 princesses was welcomed to Digby Monday by Mayor Stewart MacNaughton at the Legion Hall.

After a procession of the girls and their escorts to the stage area of the hall, Mayor MacNaughton gave a welcome on behalf of the town and remarked on what a "wonderful day', he had. He had travelled with the girls on their visits to various Valley locations.

Festival committee chairman Jeff Wright noted that Digby had a "very delightful princess and called her "the apple of everyone's eye" He noted support for the festival throughout the Valley had been "just tremendous".

Digby's princess, Julie MacIntosh, was the centre of most of the attention during the visit here. In a brief address she thanked those responsible for supporting her - i.e. Mayor and Mrs. MacNaughton, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Comeau, the Digby Board of Trade (her sponsors) etc. She termed the other Queen Annapolisa contestants as "15 of the most wonderful girls in the province."

Queen Annapolisa also had a few words to say. She said it was encouraging to see so many people come out to welcome the group and noted all the girls had a very good time.

Presentations during the brief visit included a gift to the Queen by Mayor MacNaughton, bouquet of flowers for the Queen and Digby's Princess, a handbag for Digby's Princess, (by Gary Smith) and flowers for all the girls, presented by Mrs. MacNaughton.

Music for the welcoming and parting of the Royal Tour group was provided by the high school band under the direction of Don Scott.

Drug Dependency Chairman Resigns

The Digby Local Committee on Drug Dependency will soon be looking for a new chief to replace Walter Black, chairman of the organization for almost two years.

Mr. Black's resignation, accepted with regret at the committee's May meeting, came as the result of a conflict between job-hours and the committee meeting schedule. He is employed with the federal department of public works.

Mr. Black sees this organization as a "desperately needed committee" which serves both alcohol and drug abusers in the spheres of information and treatment.

Members of the committee are kept in touch with what's happening on the drug scene via guests from Halifax and films which are often a part of the meeting agenda.

Films dealing with drug abuse, its danger, possible cures, etc., are available through the local committee to schools and other organizations. The RCMP are also involved on an information basis and have made presentations to various groups in the area.

The public is invited to attend all committee meetings. The next one is scheduled for June 21.

Pace University Students Visit Digby

On June 1st, 1977, a group of students from Pace University, Pleasantville, New York spent an enjoyable respite in Digby. This was a "Canada History Study Tour" to give the American students a chance firsthand to follow the routes of the Loyalists who came to the Maritimes from New York and the New England States. The group stayed at Mount Allison University, at U.P.E.I., at St. Francis Xavier (where a visit to Louisburg was a fascinating event) and at Acadia University after a brief stop at Dalhousie University for lunch.

At each stop a professor in the History Department spoke with the students in order that they could hear the various points of view of the different local sections of the Maritimes. The students were often surprised to learn of the attitudes towards the United States – running from cool to warm – as this was for most of them the first visit to a foreign country where they could take a more objective view of their own culture.

WELCOME COPA

Editorial

DIGBY AREA WELCOMES COPA CONVENTION

More than one hundred planes, bringing more than 400 delegates, fly into the Digby Municipal Airport at Hill Grove this weekend, beginning today. The reason is because the Canadian Operators and Pilots' Association holds a convention at the Pines Hotel.

This is a spectacular occasion for Digby. Never before have there been so many aircraft to fly in here in such a few hours of time. Airplane facilities could not have accommodated such a venture. Because still of "air-strip" status, the venture here is still a big one and the occasion one which is greatly appreciated by the town and municipal residents alike. A most hearty welcome is extended to COPA delegates by this newspaper on behalf of its management, its staff and readers of Digby and area.

We want COPA delegates and their families to be happy in Digby over this weekend of June 9 to 12, and, of course, realize it is the obligation of the committees and citizens to create an atmosphere for their guests' pleasure. While not in any ostentatious manner, the Pines Hotel, the Digby Municipal Airport Committee and the Digby-Hill Grove Flying Club plus other residents and businesses have joined to make, in Digby's quiet way, a pleasant and memorable visit for the conventioners. There is good food to eat, beautiful scenery to see and entertainment to be enjoyed. We look for the guests to participate in all the functions, be a part of Digby and enjoy themselves thoroughly along with their business deliberations.

Admittedly, we are a bit selfish in our approach. We are tourist conscious. The Canadian Operators and Pilots' Association convention here is a big advertising boost for Digby. A favorable opinion of our countryside and life in general will, without doubt, be passed on by the delegates to their friends and the name of Digby will likely be heard mentioned, here and there, from Newfoundland to British Columbia.

Yes, there maybe is a sort of selfish motive in our wanting to be liked, in wanting to impress our flying guests and their friends to return again, but, beneath it all, the guests we are sure will see the genuine friendliness of our people for which we have been so often recognized. Only by the existence of this truly friendly feeling can there be the spirit of communication which inevitably warms the hearts of our guests. May it be so with COPA. We welcome them heartily and fondly look for their return.

DIGBY CONSIDERS RECREATION DIRECTOR

repairs. Amounts represented in dollars were $72,500 new; $1,000 alterations and $400 repairs; total $76,900 and total fees $81.00. Councillor Eileen Chipman requested that the building inspector include the names of applicants in his reports. On motion of Deputy Mayor Philip Robertson, seconded by Councillor Robert MacNutt, it was passed that copies of the reports of the superintendent, assistant, parking meter superintendent and building inspector be made available to the Council members and press so as not to detain these people at Council.

The Digby Branch Canadian Legion was granted permission to hold Tag Days on June 17 and 18.

Considerable discussion arose over the application of the Digby Kiwanis Club to obtain a license and have use of the ballfield to accommodate the Gorden Bros. Circus on Aug. 26. 1977 in Digby for the benefit of the club and its swimming pool project. While the discussion was not principally on whether or not a license be granted but sidetracked to payment of taxes and authority in correspondence and other points, a motion passed that the Kiwanis Club be granted a license and given permission to use the grounds. One of the difficulties surrounding the bringing in of the circus by Kiwanis is that already the Digby Recreation Commission had booked for the Martin and Downs Circus for July 18 and a stipulation in the contract was that there should not be another circus perform in Digby for 90 days prior or before 60 days after. It was felt by councillors that the Recreation Commission would have no power to say whether or not another circus could come to town. There was one nay vote on the motion, that of Councillor Eileen Chipman. Mayor Stuart MacNaughton took what he felt was his privilege in not voting.

Councillor Chipman presented her report as chairperson of the License Committee which showed taxi licenses in town recommended for Walter Hutchins, Alvin Lawrence, Frank Ryan, Robert Francis and Gerald VanTassell.

According to the report of Councillor Guy VanTassell for the fire committee fires were down in number this year from 1976 by 11. The 1976 figure numbered 51 to May while this year they numbered 40. There were seven fires in the month of May this year with a loss of $500.

A statement was presented from the Town of Digby Electric Light Department which showed revenue in 1977 to be $170,563.60 and operating expense $193,315.08. Net loss was $25,662.43. In 1976 the revenue was $194,123.92 and expenses $172,485.97 showing a gain of $18,431.94.

Letters To The Editor

Opinions expressed in the Letter to the Editor column in this newspaper are not necessarily those of the editor.

Editor, The Digby Courier

I appreciated the fine article written by Cst. David M. Martin, R.C.M.P. of the Digby Town Detachment, entitled, "Loitering" in last week's issue of the Courier. All the citizens of Digby and the surrounding area need to read and note what he has expressed in his article. He has stated the Law regarding misbehavior in public, and public places - also the punishment that is due those who violate and break the law.

By writing such an article he has warned the law breaker that a stricter watch will be maintained in the area where much of the trouble eminates viz: the Water St. Area of digby. Since I have come to Digby, (last August), I also have been disturbed and perturbed by the goings on at various times in the said area. It is a real shame that the fine community of Digby has to put up with the kinds of behaviour and rudeness of those who purposely make Water St. the "DIVE" that it has become. I have been in that area a few nights around mid-night to see for myself "What Goes On" and I have been alarmed and disgusted by what I have seen and heard, and have wondered what could be done about it.

I believe the law must be enforced, and the law abiding citizen support the law enforcement. Also the proprietors of some of the establishments that are partly responsible for creating such a situation, be asked to consider restricting or restraining the influences that cause people to act in such a manner. Every Liquor outlet and lounge in that area must take some of the blame for the present situation that exists there, they are making their money off of the poor dupes who are unwittingly led to take more than they can manage, who in turn find themselves unable to cope with an Alcoholic Head, and therefore are hardly responsible for their actions.

I heard the other day that a petition has been in circulation to get favourable votes to open up ANOTHER LOUNGE in that area, and that some of the councillors of the town have given their votes in favour of it !!! What kind of community do our Town Council want ?? Are they going to cater to the people who think more of the dollar, than the residents who are concerned about the image of the town and the lives of those people who are unable to control their actions when they are turned out of the establishments??

Of course the ONLY ANSWER to the Water St. Problem, is a "spiritual One." Get a man truly related to God, and the kind of problems that exist not only on Water St., but every street in the world, would cease to be. The "Wesleyan Church", Victoria Street, problem, dedicated to that Task, and with the help of God, and those people who are concerned enough to do something about it, we are doing what we can.

Digby Courier and To all Swimmers, Bear River Area.

Our Swimming pool is now open to the public and we want all to enjoy it as in the past. To date we have never had a serious accident and hope this record will continue. Parents must be responsible for their children. Funds do not seem to be available for full time lifeguards, but we like volunteers. The grounds should be kept clean and a barrel is provided for trash. Some have been seen throwing trash on the ground when the container is just feet away.

Several pounds of broken glass and bottles have been raked and picked up, and we see no need of throwing bottles in the pool. The foot you cut may be your own.

The water is clean and we estimate it changes twice daily by natural circulation. There is no sewage or dumps above on this river. So let us all enjoy the swim this summer in a good sportsmanlike way, with no accidents.

OPEN LETTER

Dear Students:

In reply to your recent letter concerning your applications for employment at the Pines Resort Hotel in Digby, I have been in discussion with the Hotel's Manager, Mr. Victor Bradshaw, and he advises me as follows:

Those of you who worked at the Pines last year and were unsuccessful in your application for 1977 have been advised of the reason by direct letter. Those of you who can stay the entire season and have not worked at the Pines previously will be given every consideration as vacancies occur during the season. Unfortunately, those positions available until August 22nd were mostly filled by returning employees from last year.

When accepting applications for employment for 1977 season, prime consideration was given to those people capable of working the entire season, that is May 31 until September 30. The Manager also advises me that 60 per cent of the positions this year were filled with employees returning from previous years. Of the remaining positions totalling approximately 70, 20 of these were designated professional areas and had to be filled by qualified individuals. This left approximately 50 positions available to the more than 600 applicants and, of these available 50 positions, 25 were filled from the local Digby area. The remaining 25 positions were recruited from other parts of Nova Scotia.

Although I can understand your disappointment on not being successful in your application for employment at the Pines, I am sure you will agree that the Digby area was given every consideration when positions were allocated.

You may wish to note that owing to the structure of employment at the Hotel this season, there are still 20 full positions available from August 15 until the last day of September. Should you be available to work fulltime during this period, I would suggest that you contact the Manager, Mr. Bradshaw, who certainly would give acceptable applications very serious consideration.

I might add that it is anticipated that upon completion of the 1977 Season, 120 persons of a total work force of approximately 160 will be from the local Digby area, an increase of 18 per cent over last year's figure.

I hope that you will be successful in finding appropriate employment during the coming summer.

Yours very truly
M. E. DeLory

A Day In The Life Of Coline

A day in the life of Coline Campbell, Member of Parliament for South Western Nova, invariably starts early.

Sometime between 7:30 and 8:00 a.m. the young politician strides into her parliamentary office in the Confederation Building, just next to the Centre Block and the House of Commons in Ottawa.

She's there before her office staff and before most of the other people in the building so she can get a head start on the day.

In her constituency, she explains, everyone was up an hour earlier because of the time difference between Ottawa and Nova Scotia.

By 8:00 a.m. in Ottawa, Miss Campbell's constituency office in Yarmouth is already open and she can start making the many telephone calls that fill most of the spare moments during her busy day.

Miss Campbell's weekday mornings are usually taken up with parliamentary committee meetings or Liberal party caucus meetings.

The committees she serves on include Fisheries and Forestry and National Resources and Public Works. Because she feels she "has something to gain" from meetings of the Manpower, Transportation, Broadcasting and Regional Economic Expansion Committees, she sits in on meetings of these groups as well.

These standing committees are staffed by MPs from all parties and, as their major function, review legislation clause by clause and then report it back to parliament for the third reading.

The committees may propose amendments to the legislation and have the option of calling witnesses to provide them with more information on the issue.

Miss Campbell admits her involvement in so many committees keeps her busy but she also says that by being a member on only two, she is free to monitor many others.

If she has a special interest in an area outside fisheries or public works – unemployment insurance for example – she can follow it up by attending the Manpower Committee meetings.

Her other important, scheduled meetings are the Liberal caucuses which are held for a total of three hours each week.

Two hours are spent in the national caucus of all Liberal MPs from across Canada. The prime minister and the cabinet sit at the front of this meeting and answer what Miss Campbell describes as a usually "friendly" barrage of questions from the rest of the Liberals, herself included.

One hour is spent in a regional caucus where the maritime Liberals discuss the issues unique to their area which they later report to the national caucus.

Miss Campbell says the caucuses are usually productive. "Caucus means to talk and that's exactly what's done."

After her morning meetings, lunchtime gives Miss Campbell a chance to check back with her office for messages or special business that has to be handled immediately.

Then she's off to lunch – often a "working" lunch with other legislators, civil servants, Liberal workers or Nova Scotia constituents in Ottawa for a visit.

At two p.m. each afternoon that parliament is in session, Miss Campbell often joins the herds of MPs and journalists who flock to the House of Commons for the daily question period.

This is a special hour set aside for open questioning of the government by both the opposition parties and by Liberals outside of cabinet.

Miss Campbell is one of the many "backbench" Liberals who, during this hour, may ask specific questions should they be given permission to do so by the speaker of the house.

As a member of the party in power, she explains that her questions to cabinet must be carefully chosen because they are easily, and usually, viewed as criticisms of her own party.

"I use question period to ask something that would be of

Hodge Podge

If you keep on in Hodge Podge, Edith, some day we'll have a paved sidewalk on Birch St. So say the Birch St. neighbours.—

—One thing we've learned. Digby has a lot of wrestling fans and every one reads The Digby Courier!

You believe you have the right to return goods purchased from any store, for either a refund or exchange. The Better Business Bureau of Nova Scotia says this is not so. When a company allows you to return merchandise, this is a PRIVILEGE extended by certain companies, purely as a matter of goodwill. All sales are final unless otherwise stipulated by the company itself. In other words, customers cannot DEMAND a refund or an exchange simply because they have changed their minds. And that's not all....the fact a company chooses not to issue a refund in no way reflects on its honesty and integrity.

Youth Rally At Mount Allison University

By Frances Adams

On Friday, May 20th the Digby Wesleyan Church Bus left for Mount Allison University with about 18 of their young people.

The Denominational Youth Rally began on Friday night with a service.

On Saturday those who so desired attended a Prayer Meeting to start the day following which a morning church service was conducted. There was a musical concert which was enjoyed by many of the young people present.

As the day continued there was a choice of activities which included swimming or a shopping trip to the mall.

Following the evening service there was a film shown.

On Sunday the youth rally continued with the early morning prayer meeting. There was a service of sharing during this time the youth present who desired to participate gave Testamonies to their Lord and Savior. The morning church service was held and a time for T and T was given.

The young people attended a service of communion in the chapel of Mount Allison University and an after burner service followed.

During the weekend rally a report was given in regard to the fast growth of young peoples work. The Digby Wesleyan church was recognized as one of the fastest growing churches and it was said that the Digby Church was growing now faster than it had been before.

There were 18 young people present at the Rally to represent the Digby Church which was named among the top 5 churches. The church was named among the top 5 because it had such a large number of young people present to represent that church.

On Monday morning the Digby Church Bus was present to provide transportation for the young people back to their home province.

There were over 700 young people present for the rally which was considered one of the largest ever. The guests were provided with lodging at the university.

Reverend David Roy Inducted

On Thursday evening, May 26, an Induction Service was held in the Westport Baptist Church for their new Pastor, David Roy.

There were seven ministers present. Rev. Paul Legge was Master of Ceremonies. Rev. Robert Matthewson gave the Induction Prayer. Rev. Eugene Thompson read the scripture, and Rev. Wallace Jordan preached the sermon. Rev. George Allen conducted the Induction and Rev. George Sharpe presented the new pastor.

A social evening followed in the vestry.

Mrs. Sidney Morehouse is your new reporter for the Digby Courier. If anybody has any items of interest to report, I would appreciate it very much if they would communicate with me.

MOUNT- In loving memory of husband and father, Murray Mount, who passed away June 19, 1976.

He is gone but not forgotten.
And, as dawns another year,
In our, lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of him are always near.

But they little know the sorrow
That lies in the heart concealed.

St. Joseph Roman Catholic Church, Weymouth, was the scene of a very lovely wedding when Denise Albertine, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Comeau was united in marriage to Russell Mailett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elie Maillet of Meteghan Station.

Baskets of blue Hydrangea and blue ribbon pew-markers formed the setting for the double ring ceremony, which was performed by Rev. L. Amirault.

Cathi Burke and Susan Deveau performed beautifully with appropriate songs. Cathi accompanied on her guitar.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, was charming in her floor length gown of white sheer over Satin, styled with lace flowers down the front and around the hem, a lace high neck, long full sleeves with lace cuffs and a Cathedral length train Her veil was a three-tier Cathedral length, and was held by a pearl sprinkled lace crown-styled headpiece. She carried a bouquet of red and yellow roses, with Lilies of the Valley.

Miss Rose Marie Kennedy, a friend, was maid of honor and Miss Marcia Comeau, sister of the bride, was briesmaid. They wore identical blue print polyester floor length gowns and carried matching bouquets of blue Carnations and Shasta Daisies with Baby's Breath. Also an arrangement of Baby's Breath with blue ribbon in their hair.

Andrea Gaudet, the groom's niece, was the flower girl and wore a floor length pale blue gown and carried a basket of mixed flowers.

Daren Gaudet, the groom's nephew, was the ring bearer.

The best man was Charles Melanson, a friend of the groom. The groom's attendant was Ronnie Maillet, brother of the groom. The ushers were Alban and Claude Comeau, brothers of the bride.

The mother of the bride chose a coral polyester gownjacket ensemble with white accessories and an Orchid corsage. The mother of the groom wore a pale green crepe floor length gown with white accessories and an Orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in "La Cave" Restaurant, Church Point, with a full course dinner and an orchestra for the dance.

Arlette, sister of the bride circulated the guest book. The happy couple left the next day for a four week holiday in Florida and the Bahamas.

World Fishing Exhibition Boost For Canadian Industry

Nova Scotia Fisheries Minister, Dr. Daniel Reid, believes that the World Fishing Exhibition - which will be held in Halifax, Nova Scotia from 31 August - 7 September, 1977 - will prove invaluable in assisting in the development of the Canadian commercial fishing industry.

"We consider we have much to gain from this exhibition," he commented recently. "We are anxious for it to succeed and we are providing considerable support to help it achieve its objectives."

Prospects for exhibitors obtaining business at the World Fishing Exhibition - which is already more than ninety percent fully booked by companies from 16 countries - are rated highly according to the Minister's views.

He said: "Our nation has assumed control of our 200-mile offshore zone and as stock levels are re-established with effective resource management, we expect to realize a consistently larger return. This will require additional vessels employing modern selective gear. Not only must the increased catch be harvested efficiently but also quality standards must at least be maintained but preferably raised. Our processing and distribution systems must be expanded and modernized to handle additional varieties and an increased supply. Therefore, demonstration of the latest in equipment to our fishing community is considered both opportune and vital at this particular point in the development of our fishing industry.

"From a departmental point of view, it is extremely important for our experts to become as familiar as possible with new equipment and technology. Our department is presently preparing a comprehensive, development plan for the fisheries in Nova Scotia and the information obtained at this exhibition will be invaluable in future assistance we will be providing to the industry as a whole."

Wholehearted support for the World Fishing Exhibition has also come from The Hon. A.M. (Sandy) Cameron, Nova Scotia's Minister of Development and Mr. Arthur McDermott the Province's Deputy Minister of Tourism.

Mr. Cameron comments: "We are looking forward to hosting the Exhibition from a development point of view. It will provide an excellent opportunity for us to learn something from the exhibits which will come from all over the world. We think we can put on a pretty good show."

Mr. McDermott said it was the Nova Scotia Department of Tourism's aim to make the exhibition "the most successful ever held in Eastern Canada."

Every effort was being made by the Department to ensure that visitors, who were expected from 35 countries, enjoyed their stay in the Province.

The Department has assumed responsibility for all accommodation and transportation and is working closely with the exhibition organizers, Industrial and Trade Fairs Ltd., and the official travel agents American Express Travel Service in the planning and promotion of pre-post exhibition tours.

All accommodation requests from exhibitors and visitors are being handled in the World Fishing Exhibition Accommodation Bureau at One Sackville Place, Halifax, Nova Scotia (Telephone: (902) 424-6699, Telex: 019-21501). The Bureau is under the managership of Audrey Kennedy who is also responsible for co-ordinating ground transport to and from the exhibition. She is working closely with bus carriers, taxi companies and rent-a-car companies in the area.

Throughout the period of the World Fishing Exhibition an accommodation-transportation information booth will be operating at the Halifax International Airport.

The World Fishing Exhibition is being sponsored by the Federal Government of Canada, the Provincial Government of Nova Scotia, the City of Halifax, the City of Dartmouth, the Halifax Chamber of Commerce and "World Fishing" magazine.

Bear River New Horizons

The Centre lost its first member since its inception, in the death of Mr. Charlie MacMaster, of Bear River. As the funeral took place at Middleton, members were not able to be present as they had wished, and a Memorial service was held in the Centre on Thursday, June 2nd. The service was conducted by two members of the Centre, the Rev. R. Winchester and the Rev. E.F.Hall. Many of the Centre members were present, and sincere tributes were paid to the memory of Mr. MacMaster, who had been a member of the Centre from its first opening.

Preparations are being made for the visit of the Round Hill centre members, and although the normal winter activities have now been discontinued, a lot of special work is being prepared for the participation in the display to be held in St. Mary's University, Halifax, on the occasion of the Provincial Senior Citizens Jamboree. A bus load of members will be attending the event on a one day trip, as well as the official delegates from the Centre.

The Western Nova Scotia Arts and Crafts Exhibition, which the Centre is sponsoring this year, will be held in the Digby County Exhibition grounds on July 29 and 30th. There will be a full display of arts and crafts, and programmed demonstrations by the artisans concerned. A special invitation is being sent out to all Senior Citizens groups to attend to "Meet the Artisans", and acquire some new ideas in activity resources for their winter programming. This invitation will, it is hoped, offer assistance to Centres to send representatives, and there are some booths which have been reserved for Centre displays. Any Senior Citizens group which wishes to take part in the sale and display should write to The New Horizons, Bear River, for application forms. The Music Festival, which is being held concurrently, is now being programmed and should offer an added inducement to spend one of the days in Bear River. The Centre will be open on both days as a drop in to all visiting Senior Citizens.

Bear River Board Of Trade

At the June meeting of the Board of Trade, to be held on Thursday, June 9th, the matter of the exit roads to the Route 101 will be the subject of the meeting. An official of the Nova Scotia Dept. of Highways will be present to outline the plans of the Dept. in this matter, which have been under discussion for some months. Members of the general public are invited to attend, the meeting begins at 7:30 and will be held in the Bear River Fire Hall.

Visit Former Ministerial Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Isles, have returned home after attending the Royal Canadian Legion Provincial Convention, at Sydney, N.S.

On the return trip they stayed over night at the Mountain Brook Motel, at Blue Mills, Cape Breton, owned and operated by Rev. Elmer and Maxine Asaph. Rev. Asaph is a past minister of the Bear River United Church of Canada. They send best wishes to their many friends in Bear River and the surrounding areas.

Mr. and Mrs. Isles also spent several days visiting with their son, Paul and family at Moncton, N.B., prior to returning home.

Parents At 9 & 10

The fate of most motherless kittens is probably death by drowning. These two young cats were a little more fortunate. After the Kittens' mother was run over by a car (the kittens were eight days old) Corolyn (9) and Stephen (10) Larkin of Bear River East, were ready and anxious to take her place. An eyedropper, milk (with a little sugar) and lots of love will ensure the kittens' survival.

Bear River Planning Society

The Society has again received an allocation from the Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. for the rehabilitation of existing homes, and the construction of new homes for Bear River and the immediate area.

Last year, 9 rehabilitation projects were undertaken, at a total value of $95,000 and two new homes were erected. The allocation for 1977 was for 15 rehabilitation projects and five houses. Owing to the backlog of applications carried over from last year, all these have now been allocated and no further applications are being received unless the quota is increased during the coming months.

Preference in this project is given to low income families, and especially families with children. While the allocations from C.M.H.C. can never meet the need that exists in the area, the Society is grateful for the help that has been given to upgrade local homes, and make the provision of new houses possible.

Waldec East
(Mrs. Aubrey Durling)

Mr. and Mrs. Fraser Hebb and family, also Miss Alethia Stark, of Barton, were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Robbins, on Sunday, May 29th.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boudreau, of Clementsport, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Durling, enjoyed a drive through Kejimkujik National Park and surrounding area, on May 29th.

Mrs. Albert MacKenzie spent several days in Saint John N.B., this week, to visit her sister, Mrs. Donald Crosby, who is still a patient in the Saint John General Hospital.

65th Wedding Anniversary

On June 5th, 1912, Zella Maude Rice and Frederick Allison Read were united in marriage in Bear River. On Sunday, they celebrated their 65th anniversary in their home where they have lived since their marriage.

On this special occasion, a buffet dinner and anniversary cake was served in their honor in the home of their son, Thelbert. Guests present were: Peter and Doris McCarthy, Owen, and Dennis from Halifax; Ernest and Jean Brisseau, Guy and Michael from Dartmouth; Donna (Rice) Craig, Truro; Willis and Ruth Rice, Middleton; Bruce and Edith Read; Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Wheelhouse, Wendy Gower, Digby; Allan, Jerry, Marilyn, and Kevin Read.

Mr. and Mrs. Read received flowers and telephone calls from the rest of their family in California, Virginia, Ontario, and British Columbia.

Congratulations were received from Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau, John Buchanan, MLA, Coline Campbell, MP, Joe Casey, MLA, and Peter Nicholson, MLA. To highlight the occasion a telegram arrived from London, England, with best wishes extended from Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth.

NOTICE TO FISHERMEN
4 VWX FLOUNDER ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

The Fisheries and Marine Service, Department of Fisheries and Environment, will implement an incentive program to encourage the taking of the unused 4 VWX Flounder quota and to reduce effort in the more favored areas.

Effective June 1, 1977, fishing enterprises will receive assistance in the amount of 1c/lb. on all first quality flounder (Plaice, Witch, Yellowtail, Winter Flounder) taken in ICNAF divisions 4VWX.

This plan is in addition to the normal groundfish assistance program. Fishing enterprises will not be required to submit separate applications, as payment will be based on the monthly applications submitted for the groundfish assistance program. All supporting documents must clearly identify flounder captured in ICNAF divisions 4 VWX. Applications for vessels over 25.5 gross tons must also be supported by a copy of all relevant log records which should be identical to the log record regularly submitted for statistical purposes.

All other guidelines pertaining to this program, such as quality, are identical to the existing groundfish assistance program.

Cougars Nip Berwick And Kentville

The Cornwallis Cougars started the Valley Softball League Season in a winning fashion by edging the Berwick Easson's 1-0 on Sunday, May 29. Terry Tompkins pitched a strong game for the home team allowing five hits and giving up only one walk. Bruce Redden was tagged with the loss. The Mickey Hanlon coached Cougars picked up their only run in the bottom of the seventh when Dave Goulden doubled and Mike Alcoe singled home the winning run. Catcher Pat Doucet and third baseman Paul Bertrand played a strong game for the Cougars.

On Tuesday the Cougars travelled to Kentville and edged the home team 3-2 on the strength of John Yurcak's arm and the home runs of Greg Sanford and Mike Alcoe. Yurcak allowed four hits and struck out five. Alcoe's two run homer in the third inning gave the cougars a two run lead until Kentville tied the score in the seventh. Sanford won the game in the eighth with a solo home run. The league consists of six teams from Newport to Cornwallis and is one of the strongest leagues in Nova Scotia. The Cougars are blessed with one of the best teams to come out of the area in years. The pitching staff alone can match any in the province with Terry Tompkins, Jim Robinson, Don Nichols and John Yurcak. Spectators are welcome to attend the games. On Sunday, June 12 the Cougars play a double header against Wolfville at 2 p.m. here at Cornwallis.

Fire Ban Imposed

A ban on open fires in woodland areas of Nova Scotia has been proclaimed by Hon. Vincent J. Maclean, Minister of Lands and Forests.

The ban is effective from noon Thursday, May 19 until October 15 unless revoked sooner.

Mr. MacLean said the danger of forest fires led him to make the proclamation. So far this season, there have been more than 320 forest fires that have damaged more than 1,200 acres of the province's woodlands.

Following is the text of the proclamation:

Whereas the Minister of Lands and Forests of Nova Scotia deems it necessary for the protection of woods to make this proclamation.

Now know ye that the Minister of Lands and Forests of Nova Scotia under and by virtue of section 86 of the Lands and Forests Act, revised statutes, 1967, chapter 163, doth hereby prohibit the setting of fires for any purpose in woods in any part or parts of the province, excepting areas of forest land in any federal, provincial, municipal park, or private campground, providing the fires are enclosed in grills or proper camp stoves, during the period commencing 12 o'clock noon, Atlantic Daylight Saving Time (so-called), which time shall be reckoned as three hours behind 12 o'clock noon Greenwich mean solar time, on the 19th day of May, until the 15th day of October, 1977, unless this proclamation is sooner revoked or unless a burning permit has been issued by the Department of Lands and Forests for the purpose set out therein.

Any person setting a fire in contravention of this proclamation shall be liable to prosecution by virtue of the provisions of the Lands and Forests Act.

Of which all persons concerned are to take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

Given under my hand at the City of Halifax this 18th day of May A.D., 1977.

(Signed) Vincent J. MacLean, Minister of Lands and Forests.

"Tomorrow Money"

We are living in the age of "tomorrow money", using credit to purchase items to use and enjoy now while paying for them in the future, says the N.S. Department of Consumer Affairs.

But credit obtained without careful planning can become a very harsh master, says the Department's chief executive officer, Harry M. McIlroy.

"Almost everyone uses credit in one form or another," he says, "whether as a convenience or to help enable the purchase of large items. In all cases, careful consideration should be given to any purchase before the contract is signed."

Young couples, especially, should think through every purchase carefully, Mr. McIlroy says. They can find themselves overextended as a result of rash decisions. Very often, they accumulate a number of small loans from various sources which obscure the extent to which they are in debt.

A couple about to become married should prepare a budget to plan their financial future, he suggests. All the fixed expenses of running a home- rent, food, utilities, transportation - should be considered and another list prepared separating those items that will be required for the new home - needs - from those which can be considered luxuries - wants. Keeping your wants and needs separate will enable you to acquire possessions in an orderly way, with little strain on your monthly budget and no risk to your financial stability, he says.

By preparing a budget, Mr. McIlroy says, you determine the amount of disposable income you will have available for credit purchases and by planning these purchases carefully your money will be working for you and not vice versa.

Continuing Education Cut Back

The estimated cutback of a quarter of a million dollars from the budget in grants to continuing education is a disappointment to the teaching profession.

It is doubly so when you consider that grants and assistance in this sector of the education spending made up by far the major part of the annual operating budgets for continuing education for centers outside of the Halifax - Dartmouth metropolitan region.

Recently, the annual education report tabled in the legislature mentioned that in the year ending last July 31, the continuing education program assisted 37,000 adults enrolled in 2,400 classes of 56 school boards in 12 major subject areas involving a wide range of individual programs.

This represented an increase of 300 classes and 4,868 participants over the enrollments of the previous year and reflected recommendations of the Graham Royal Commission which, in this instance, the Nova Scotia Teachers' Union is in complete agreement. In the section on continuing education the Graham report stated that this type of education would "continue its remarkable growth in extent and importance".

"It will likely be in this area that the greatest expansion and the most significant and exciting changes will take place in the next decade or two. This growth and change will reflect, complement, and influence changes in public schools and other formal educational institutions and in society generally."

The report added that "the importance of innovation, planning and coordination in continuing education cannot be exaggerated". And it requested that a major study of this aspect of education be done at once. It recommended clearly:

"Continuing education programs designed to enable those no longer registered in public schools to meet the established standards of achievement of the goals of public school education should be provided free of charge and, whenever possible, should be provided by the schools."

The cutbacks do not auger well for a comprehensive education system which we support. Cutbacks will impair the effectiveness of the programs, especially in those areas of the province outside the metropolitan region where there is a great need for upgrading in all areas of individuals' educational credentials.

Surely a time when unemployment is such a heavy weight on our province is not a time for restricting areas of upgrading which could assist individuals to better help themselves.

I would request, therefore, that the government reconsider the estimated cutback in continuing education costs (from $777,300 to $528,000).

Busy Weekend For Airport

The Digby Municipal Airport will get plenty of use this weekend as some 100 planes arrive for the Canadian Owners and Pilots Convention set for the Pines Resort Hotel from Friday to Sunday.

The Digby-Hillgrove Flying Club has issued an invitation to the public to drop by the airport to view the planes. Refreshments will be on sale.

Although the convention doesn't actually start until Friday, a wine and cheese party will be held this evening for the benefit of early arrivals. Entertainment tonight will be provided by Eddy Peck COPA member, and The Satin Serenade, Digby's own big band sound, under the direction of Don Scott.

On Friday morning convention members will get a tour of provincial spots of interest. During this time, other delegates may stay at The Pines and enjoy the recreation available.

At noon, the convention begins to take on a serious tone. The first educational presentation will be an address by Joe Casey over lunch in the Annapolis Room. Members will then go the Recreation centre to hear panelists from DOT, DND and the ELT manufacturing industry bear down on the trouble with ELT's.

At 3 p.m. the delegates will move along to another topical aviation topic, "Canada's New Look in Aeradio Information Services." A one-half hour talk by Willard Bishop about favourite flying routes for a tourist in Nova Scotia will follow. At 5 p.m. some movies brought in by Aviation Electric on the use of airborne weather radar by Bendix will be shown.

During Friday evening's dinner, Carl Elliott and his group will treat delegates to a taste of "down east" entertainment. The visitors can join the party afterwards - square dancing until midnight with champion caller Gloria Roth.

At breakfast on Saturday morning the Dartmouth EAA Chapter No. 305 will present an aviation fisherman's comedy skit and bingo.

COPA's annual meeting of members commences at 9:30 a.m. Saturday. At 10:30 a.m. lawyer and Canadian Flight columnist Bill Clark will advise delegates on their legal rights vis-a-vis DOT. Afterwards, engine overhaul expert Ed Tarki will be on hand to speak with members.

Other Saturday activities will include the Moncton Air Cadet Squadron 101's drill team and band which will perform toward noon and a demonstration of local handcrafts in the Fundy Room beginning at 10 a.m.

Saturday's luncheon features an address by EAA President Paul Poberezny entitled "When Lindbergh Flew the Ocean" (This is the 50th anniversary of that event).

After lunch it's back to the Recreation Centre for more intellectual exercise at the "Aviation Forum". Pete Arpin, Director General of Civil Aeronautics will lead the discussion. By mid-afternoon, this forum will break up and association members can get into another one on Lycoming engines led by Joe Diblin from the factory at Williamsport, Pa. Audio-visuals will be presented in the late afternoon by DOT and by Aviation Electric.

Saturday evening's activities will include a social hour, and banquet with guest speaker Mervin Small of Beechcraft. This will be followed by ballroom dancing to Don Scott's Satin Serenade. Simultaneous aviation movies will also be shown.

The mixed program of education and recreation winds up on Saturday, but on Sunday visitors are free to extend the recreational portion of their stay.

Law And Order - Whose Responsibility?

When one mentions the term "Law & Order" one usually thinks about the police. However, if one were to do some research one would find that throughout the ages, citizens themselves have been responsible for much of the law and order that existed.

There were times in history when citizens of a town or village took turns policing their neighbourhood. However, in modern times when most people had other jobs, this became harder to do. As a result certain citizens were given full time positions as policemen to help curb lawlessness.

This however, did not relieve the ordinary citizen of his responsibility with regard to crime prevention. The new idea was that the police and the citizen should work together to prevent crime. This idea is reflected in the Criminal Code of Canada.

The following are some sections of the Criminal Code which state clearly that a citizen has a responsibility to assist in crime prevention

PROTECTION OF PERSONS ACTING UNDER AUTHORITY

25. (1) Every one who is required or authorized by law to do anything in the administration or enforcement of the law

(a) as a private person,

(b) as a peace officer or public officer,

(c) in aid of a peace officer or public officer, or

(d) by virtue of his office,

is, if he acts on reasonable and probable grounds, justified in doing what he is required or authorized to do and in using as much force as is necessary for that purpose.

(2) Where a person is required or authorized by law to execute a process or to carry out a sentence, he or any person who assists him is, if he acts in good faith, justified in executing the process or in carrying out the sentence notwithstanding that the process or sentence is defective or that it was issued or imposed without jurisdiction or in excess of jurisdiction.

(3) Subject to subsection (4), a person is not justified for the purposes of subsection (1) in using force that is intended or is likely to cause death or grievous bodily harm unless he believes on reasonable and probable grounds that it is necessary for the purpose of preserving himself or any one under his protection from death or grievous bodily harm.

(4) A peace officer who is proceeding lawfully to arrest, with or without warrant, any person for an offence for which that person may be arrested without warrant, and every one lawfully assisting the peace officer, is justified, if the person to be arrested takes flight to avoid arrest, in using as much force as is necessary to prevent the escape by flight, unless the escape can be prevented by reasonable means in a less violent manner.

EXCESSIVE FORCE

26. Every one who is authorized by law to use force is criminally responsible for any excess thereof according to the nature and quality of the act that constitutes excess.

USE OF FORCE TO PREVENT COMMISSION OF OFFENCE

27. Every one is justified in using as much force as is reasonably necessary

(a) to prevent the commission of an offence (i) for which, if it were committed, the person who committed it might be arrested without warrant, and (ii) that would likely to cause immediate and serious injury to the person or property of anyone, or

(b) to prevent anything being done that, on reasonable and probable grounds he believes would, if it were done, be an offence mentioned in paragraph (a).

ARREST OF WRONG PERSON

28. (1) Where a person who is authorized to execute a warrant to arrest believes, in good faith and on reasonable and probable grounds, that the person whom he arrests is the person named in the warrant, he is protected from criminal responsibility in respect thereof to the same extent as if that person were the person named in the warrant.

(2) Where a person is authorized to execute a warrant to arrest, (a) every one who, being called upon to assist him, believes that the person in whose arrest he is called upon to assist is the person named in the warrant, and (b) every keeper of a prison who is required to receive and detain a person who he believes has been arrested under the warrant, is protected from criminal responsibility in respect thereof to the same extent as if that person were the person named in the warrant.

DUTY OF PERSON ARRESTING

29. (1) It is the duty of every one who executes a process or warrant to have it with him, where it is feasible to do so, and to produce it when requested to do so.

(2) It is the duty of every one who arrests a person, whether with or without warrant, to give notice to that person, where it is feasible to do so, of (a) the process or warrant under which he makes the arrest, or (b) the reason for the arrest.

(3) Failure to comply with subsection (1) or (2) does not of itself deprive a person who executes a process or warrant, or a person who makes an arrest, or those who assist them, of protection from criminal responsibility.

PREVENTING BREACH OF THE PEACE

30. Every one who witnesses a breach of the peace is justified in interfering to prevent the continuance or renewal thereof and may detain any person who commits or is about to join in or to renew the breach of the peace, for the purpose of giving him into the custody of a peace officer, if he uses no more force than is reasonably necessary to prevent the continuance or renewal of the breach of the peace or than is reasonably proportioned to the danger to be apprehended from the continuance or renewal of the breach of the peace.

31. (1) Every peace officer who witnesses a breach of the peace and every one who lawfully assists him is justified in arresting any person whom he finds committing the breach of the peace or who, on reasonable and probable grounds, he believes is about to join in or renew the breach of the peace.

(2) Every peace officer is justified in receiving into custody any person who is given into his charge as having been a party to a breach of the peace by one who has, or who on reasonable and probable grounds he believes has, witnessed the breach of the peace.

OFFENCES RELATING TO PUBLIC OR PEACE OFFICER

118. Every one who

(a) resists or wilfully obstructs a public officer or peace officer in the execution of his duty or any person lawfully acting in aid of such an officer, (b) omits, without reasonable excuse, to assist a public officer or peace officer in the execution of his duty in arresting a person or in preserving the peace, after having reasonable notice that he was required to do so, or (c) resists or wilfully obstructs any person in the lawful execution of a process against lands or goods or in making a lawful distress or seizure, is guilty of an indictable offence and is liable to imprisonment for two years.

ARREST WITHOUT WARRANT AND RELEASE FROM CUSTODY

449. (1) Any one may arrest without warrant

(a) a person whom he finds committing an indictable offence, or

(b) a person who, on reasonable and probable grounds, he believes (i) has committed a criminal offence, and (ii) is escaping from and freshly pursued by persons who have lawful authority to arrest that person.

(2) Any one who is

(a) the owner or a person in lawful possession of property, or (b) a person authorized by the owner or by a person in lawful possession of property, may arrest without warrant a person whom he finds committing a criminal offence on or in relation to that property.

(3) Any one other than a peace officer who arrests a person without warrant shall forthwith deliver the person to a peace officer.

Although our Criminal Code protects the citizen that does make a lawful arrest and the citizen that assists a police officer, it should be stressed that an arrest is not always necessary. For instance if you are witness to an offence and if there is no further danger to life or property, relating the events to a police officer and be willing to do the same in court would be just as good. The word of a citizen is just as good as the word of a policeman in court.

It should be remembered that rather than get involved physically and put your own life on the line, you should note the particulars as accurately as possible and call the police. The police are trained to deal with various crime situations and in many cases can do the job more efficiently than the private citizen, however, should the police request your assistance, it is your duty to assist them if you can or if you see someone's life being threatened, it is your duty to assist in some way.

In concluding here are a few things that should be kept in mind if we wish to live in a crime free community.

The laws we have are necessary to guide us in every day life and to help the community to be a good place to live in.

The policemen are ordinary people, paid by the community to interest to my whole constituency, something I haven't got an answer to or something I need a quick answer to."

Outside of question period, Miss Campbell also often attends the daily debates in the Commons and participates in them by delivering statements or formal speeches.

Visitors to the House of Commons are often surprised with the large number of MPs' desks that are empty while another MP is energetically giving a seemingly controversial speech.

Miss Campbell explains that she and other parliamentarians are aware of this apparent disinterest among their colleagues and adds that when they speak in a poorly attended house, they do so for several reasons.

Occasionally what is said in isolated speeches is picked up by the press and will be printed in newspapers to the benefit of people who choose to read it.

Also, everything that is said by speakers in the Commons is recorded in Hansard, the parliamentary minutes. Hansard is read regularly by most MPs and is an open reference to any Canadian interested in the governing of their country.

Miss Campbell, like many other MPs, does not attempt to attend the debates all the time. Committee meetings and national and international conferences are often scheduled while the house is in session.

Because of this, each MP has to budget his or her time between their parliamentary duties and their concern for providing services to their constituents.

Miss Campbell keeps on top of her constituency affairs by reading the local papers and phoning her constituency office daily.

Almost every weekend she returns to her constituency to meet with people personally and to attend any special functions to which she has been invited.

The problem-solving Miss Campbell undertakes for her constituents revolves around personal issues such as difficulties individuals may be experiencing in obtaining various federal payments.

She also picks up industry-oriented causes such as government-imposed fishing regulations that may threaten the livelihood of some constituents.

Miss Campbell rarely has a full weekend to herself and has had a total of about 15 days of holidays during the three years she has been in Ottawa.

It's a busy life but it is one Coline Campbell seems to thrive on and one which has won her the qualified respect of the opposition.

"I think she's alert and aware of issues and has spent a good deal of time getting a basis of acceptance in her constituency so she can broaden her concerns," says Gordon Fairweather, the Progressive Conservative member from Fundy-Royal.

For Miss Campbell herself, the job of Member of Parliament is a very rewarding one.

"The nicest thing is when you work on a project and you can see the results," she says.

"That's your satisfaction when you take something which is causing a lot of hurt and find a solution."

APPLIANCE EFFICIENCY

These days there is a tremendous concern about the cost of energy, and also how we can reduce our energy consumption. One way is use your appliances efficiently, that is, getting the benefit out of the kitchen appliances without using more energy than you need.

The following information will provide suggestions to help control your energy costs in the kitchen.

When it comes time to replace old appliances, remember to shop carefully. Buy a size appliance that will specifically suit your family's needs. You should buy an appliance with only the features that you require. Add only the accessories you can afford and those that will make the appliance more useful to you.

Appliances will be more efficient and consume less energy if they are cleaned and maintained properly. Putting off needed repairs can cause increased energy consumption.

Small appliances such as toasters, electric skillets, and the electric kettle generally use less energy than a range or oven would for specialized jobs. Some of these appliances also double as serving dishes and, therefore, cut down on dishwashing, and that saves hot water.

Heat producing appliances, all those with elements, draw more current than a motor driven appliance such as a standing mixer.

An electric oven draws current only about one-third of each hour it is used. The rest of the time it coasts on stored heat because it is insulated on all six sides. Due to this stored heat, cooking in the oven can be more economical than cooking on top of the range, if you use it to cook several foods at one time.

If the cooking surfaces of pots and pans are clean, there will be a better heat transfer both on top of the range and inside the oven.

A point to consider - not all oven cooked foods require a preheated oven. When recipes call for a preheated oven, don't turn it on too far in advance - usually 10-15 minutes will do. Setting the oven temperature higher than required won't make the oven heat up more quickly. Oven racks should be arranged before preheating the oven. Food should never be placed on the oven floor, always use an oven rack.

For oven meals, generally meat dishes and vegetables are placed on the lower oven rack, desserts and quick breads go on the top oven rack. Foods that require longer cooking go on the lower rack. Place the foods requiring attention more frequently on the front of the racks in the oven.

Choose cooking utensils that fit the range surface elements properly, pots and pans with straight sides, flat bottoms and tightly fitting lids make the best use of heat.

The refrigerator and freezer operate at peak efficiency when filled to capacity but not overfilled.

To avoid damage to the unit do not place the freezer or refrigerator in a room not heated in the winter, these appliances operate best at room temperature. Below 40 degrees F efficiency is reduced.

To freeze foods quickly, the packages should be placed against the walls or shelves of the freezer one layer deep. When frozen they may be packed more tightly.

There are only a few ideas to keep in mind, and are pertinent today for each one of us, at times when we are trying to reduce our energy consumption.

LAW AND ORDER - WHOSE RESPONSIBILITY?

protect life and property, to prevent crime and enforce the laws. A policeman cannot do a good job by himself. He must have help and support. A policeman cannot be everywhere at once and cannot see everything so he counts on you to help him. In any town there are a great many more people than policemen. Your eyes can be his eyes. If this is the case you will see a rapid decline in criminal activity in your area. If criminals know that citizens will not stand idly by while they do something, they will refrain from doing it, however, if they know on the other hand that people will watch them do something and never breathe a word to the police, they will continue to commit crimes in this area.

As an ordinary citizen you can help the police mainly by just being a good citizen. A good citizen is one who thinks about his responsibility as a citizen and tries to act accordingly. A good citizen tries to obey the law and encourages others to do so. He keeps the good of the community in mind and reports suspicious situations to the police. If he is required as a witness in court, the good citizen realizes that it is his duty to attend and tell the truth. In other words, the good citizen is the one that is not afraid to "stand up and be counted" when the time comes.

Remember "by helping your police force, you are helping yourself and your community".

Dr. Marygold Nash, who is the professor in charge of the study tour, is herself a Canadian from the west coast and says that she finds great sympathy with the Maritime point of view.

Returning by way of the ferry to Saint John the final stop will be at Salem. After an enriching two weeks, most of the group are aware of their growing appreciation of their "hazy neighbour" to the north. According to the students, perhaps the most rewarding experience was the opportunity to meet and talk with Canadian students whom they found so friendly.

Reflecting To 1947

A written decision declaring the civic election held in Digby on February 4, 1947 as valid and the election of councillors V. G. Cardoza and Albert Warner as legal, was handed down by County Court Judge Kenneth L. Crowell. A petition asking that the election be set aside and declared invalid was filed shortly after the election date by M. S. Leonard, acting on behalf of F. L. Anderson and H. M. Warne. The reason given by the petitioners was because of certain irregularities which they alleged existed. The case was heard before Judge Crowell in Digby on April 11th, and adjourned until May 20, when briefs and arguments were presented at Little Brook. Judge Crowell's decision declared the election of Cardoza and Warner as valid and allowed them casts.

Sea Cadets in Digby had an exciting trip to Bear Island. The boys under the leadership of Charles McBride had gone to Bear Island in two cutters and were expected back by Sunday evening. High winds whipped the Basin and when nothing was heard from them a Life Boat was sent to the island. The lifeboat was prevented from landing by mountainous seas and returned to Digby to find both cutters and youngsters had arrived safely home. They left the island at about 10:30 p.m. in a lull in the storm and followed the shore line at about ten to fifteen feet all along the Basin to Digby. Charles McBride was in charge of one cutter and his father, C. F. McBride was in charge of the other.

In 1945 she was liberated by Canadian troops and for two years she served as interpreter for the Canadian and British occupation forces. Her uncle, Max Nafthal operated an extensive pitprop business in Digby.

Shaw, Secretary Maritime Bakers Association, advised the price of bread was frozen in early war years and had not been changed to that day.

Grades I, II and III at Digby Academy held an exhibition of their year's work at the schools. The exhibition also provided an opportunity for teacher and parent to discuss problems if necessary.

Charged With Income Tax Evasion

On May 24, 1977, Edward S. Jollimore of Terence Bay, Halifax County, appeared in Halifax County Court before Judge R.E. Kimball on charges of Income Tax evasion. Mr. Jollimore had previously entered a guilty plea to the charge, that between Dec. 31, 1973 and May 2, 1977 he had wilfully evaded the payment of $6230.12 of income taxes on unreported income of $27,907.81 for the 1974 taxation year.

The court was told that this unreported income was the result of the sale of swordfish to the United States. Also the court was informed that Mr. Jollimore has paid all the taxes and interest with this income, plus a 25 percent administrative penalty.

Judge Kimball sentenced Mr. Jollimore to a fine of $1557.53 with two weeks to pay. In default of payment Mr. Jollimore will serve 45 days incarceration.

DAR Takeover Proposed

The Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade suggested Thursday in Halifax the CNR take over the Dominion Atlantic Railway to provide better service to the Annapolis Valley.

In a presentation to the House of Commons' standing committee on transportation, the board said the small railway in western Nova Scotia subjects most shippers in the valley to double freight rates.

Any shipment which begins its movement on the DAR must be transferred to the CNR, either at Windsor Junction or Truro. Incoming shipments originating with CNR and destined for the valley have to be transferred to the DAR, except at Middleton, Bridgetown and Yarmouth.

"Therefore most cases shippers are subjected to two freight rates or the equivalent thereof and two carriers at all other points in the valley," the brief said.

Industrial executives in the Valley, the board said, consider that the takeover of the DAR by CN would be a step toward better freight service in the Annapolis Valley. The board, however was reticent to make any statement about the DAR's rail passenger service that operates between Yarmouth and Halifax.

Both the board's and the Atlantic Provinces Transportation Commission's briefs concurred that the "taper principle" be applied on long haul rail transport of commodities. By this principle there would be a sliding scale of increase applied on commodity rates from the Annapolis Valley to western Canada.

The board said "rather than the railways subjecting industry to across the board increases of 10 to 15 per cent we argue that the railways should be requested or pressured... into applying a lower percentage increase to Vancouver, as opposed to Thunder Bay or Winnipeg."

The assistant general manager, R.M.S. Armitage of the Atlantic Provinces Transportation Commission said railway freight increase in the past year-and-one-half based on a flat uniform percentage increase have had greater impact on long-haul shippers like those in the Atlantic Provinces.

Both the board and commission agreed that restriction of all trade to Canadian ships will adversely affect the cost to users, and that there is a need to upgrade highways to permit carriage of goods at higher uniform maximum weights on a year-round basis.

The board said also that the government must spend more money upgrading highways. The present allotment from the federal government, it said, could be spent constructing between 30 to 40 miles of Highway 101 through the Valley.

The two associations agreed the announced intention of the government to withdraw from the British Commonwealth Shipping Agreement and reserve Canadian coastal shipping to Canadian vessels only could have a serious effect on the cost to users.

Provision of stable competitively-priced transportation systems in the Atlantic region are vital to the region's economic future, the 2,600 member Halifax Board of Trade told the committee.

"Transportation is the jugular vein of this region and future development and selfsufficiency can only be attained with a favorable transportation policy," a brief from the group saids.

"Otherwise, stagnation must ensue."

In its brief, the group called for provision of guarantees of economical and comfortable rail service and provision of a better capital grants program to East Coast ports.

COPA Convention Another Economic Pill For Area

The weather was less than inviting this past weekend but the moral climate was running high as the Canadian Owners and Pilot's Association, the largest aviation group in Canada, gathered in Digby.

About 63 planes had landed at the Digby Municipal Airport as COPA's 23rd annual general meeting got underway. The convention brought an estimated 250 people into the area.

One man who found himself heavily involved in weekend activity was Louis Wyles, airport manager. Never before had the municipal airport seen so much activity.

Mr. Wyles said the whole thing was "just wonderful". He attempted to welcome as many incoming convention people as possible and to wish them well as they departed.

Mr. Wyles felt this convention had given Western Nova Scotia the greatest exposure it had ever had, and felt it definitely was of financial benefit to the local area.

"These people spent a great deal of money in the area due to this convention. That's what the airport is for...its an industry in itself."

According to Pines manager Victor Bradshaw the association members enjoyed themselves in spite of the wet weather. For many, he said, it was the first trip to the Maritimes and many were amazed at our scenery and lifestyle.

Noting that conventioneers are the highest spenders of any tourist group, he felt they definitely benefited the community financially.

The fact that day-trips are being organized, he said, is going to result in more benefit to the community-at-large than has been the case in the past. Conventioneers and their guests are now given more time to get out into the area.

Around the Globe with Joshua Slocum, the Digby Neck day-trip proved to be a popular attraction on Saturday. Though 43 people signed up for the tour, 65 finally ended up going. An extra bus had to be engaged to carry the extra load. Tour organizer Lantz Woolaver termed the response "super".

Those on the trip were treated to a luncheon in Westport put on by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Digby Neck Fire Department. This was sponsored by the municipality.

Afterward, the tourists took up a collection for the fire hall in Sandy Cove.

CASEY

A luncheon, featuring an address by Digby MLA Joe Casey was included on Friday's program.

Mr. Casey welcomed those present on behalf of Premier Regan and wished the visitors a pleasant stay. He noted this is the very first time such a fly-in convention had been held in an Eastern Canadian province.

The local MLA then proceeded to entertain the visitors with a series of well-received jokes. SAMPLE - "Listening to a politician is a little like flying...you have to allow a little for the wind."

Mr. Casey also presented Order of Good Times certificates to several of the visitors on behalf of the province.

Friday also happened to be the 35th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Casey. Connie Casey, wife of Mike, a son of the celebrating couple, pinned a corsage on Mrs. Joe Casey.

Locals in at the head table included Mr. and Mrs. L.E.R. Winchester, Mayor and Mrs. Stewart MacNaughton, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Casey, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wyles, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Swift and Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Barr.

ROTH

Another local attraction during the convention came on Friday evening. Square dance caller Gloria Roth of Clementsport was guest speaker during the dinner.

Gloria recalled some of her hilarious experiences encountered while flying to call dances in different parts of the world.

Later seven couples with the Carl Elliott group performed some demonstration dances which were well received by the visitors. Gloria termed the audience "very enthusiastic people...very alive." COPA members were later invited to join a square-dancing session which went on until midnight.

Other local participants over the weekend included Satin Serenade under the direction of Don Scott. This group provided music for ballroom dancing on Saturday night.

Fundy Herring Being Monitored For Fat Content

The federal Fisheries Department has undertaken a summer program to monitor the fat content of herring in the Bay of Fundy area.

Dr. E. G. Bligh, Director of the Technology Branch, Fisheries Management, said the fat content of herring, which may vary from 5 to 25 per cent, has a very important bearing on the economic value of the fish. He explained that fattier herring yield more oil and as a result are tastier and better suited for many food products as opposed to lean herring. One can readily see, said Dr. Bligh, that a high fat content in the fish is a determining factor in the price received for food herring on the European market where there is a great demand. The fisheries Technology Director pointed out that the bulk of the Bay of Fundy herring catch this year will again be directed into food use so it was vitally important to know the concentration of fat in the landed herring, thus the reason for the monitoring program.

Although the program will be directed and co-ordinated by the Halifax Lab of the Technology Branch, the bulk of the work will be done in co-operation with the federal Fish Inspection Labs at Yarmouth and Black's Harbour under the direction of Area Managers Glen Smith and Walter Kozak, respectively.

Dr. Bligh said the fishing industry was fully prepared to co-operate again this year in the program which, hopefully, would assist in selling herring to markets for a greater economic return. This important program, he stressed, calls for an elaborate sampling and analytical schedule during the fishing season and the levels of fat in the fish will be provided to industry with a minimum of delay so they can determine which catches to process as food and thus realize a greater profit.

Dr. Bligh added that all information will be compiled at the end of the season for publication by the Technology Branch for general distribution and reference.

LIP Grant Restores Historic Sites

An important chapter in the earliest history of the permanent settlement of Digby has been rescued and restored through the judicious utilization of funds made available to the Parish of Trinity Church, Digby, by way of the federal government's Local Initiatives Programme.

Making use of an LIP grant which was announced late last fall by Miss Coline Campbell, M.P. for Southwestern Nova, the Wardens and Vestry of Trinity Parish have effected a restoration of the original churchyard burying ground on Queen Street in Digby. In addition, work on restoring and improving the churchyard burying grounds of two other historic churches in the parish, St. Paul's Chapel, Marshalltown, and All Saints', Rossway, have been made possible through the grant. Other repair, renovation and restoration work has also been made possible on the parish church and its Sunday School in Digby as well as to Forest Hill Cemetery which in 1864 succeeded the original churchyard burial ground.

Trinity churchyard in Digby is the oldest consecrated burial ground existent in the community. It was first officially mentioned in a letter from the church corporation to, "His Excellency John Parr, Esq., Lieutenant Governor of His Majesty, Province of Nova Scotia and its dependencies."

This letter, dated July 13, 1787, stated in part, "....And they also beg leave to inform Your Excellency that there is likewise in the Town of Digby a square of land that is alloted for a church ground which is now occupied for a burying ground, and where we intend to build our church," The description of the land in the letter indicates the whole plot was the square, bounded by King Street on the west; Queen on the east; Mount on the south; and Church Street on the north, "containing seven acres and a half."

Over the years much of the original plot was taken up for the location of such public buildings as the Court House and the Jail, the original Digby Academy and its successor, the present elementary school. Only a very small portion, surrounding the church, was retained as a burial ground. Burials were made in the church yard burying ground at least as early as 1785, according to one memorial.

In its earliest days the plot of land was not fenced. Indications are that much of the land was used for a time as grazing land with agreements to keep the burial ground portion fenced. A letter to Bishop Inglis in 1970 informed him, among other things, that "...the yard cannot be enclosed this year." This was about four months prior to the holding of the first service in the Parish church on January 16, 1971.

In 1804 the Wardens and Vestry took action to fence the burial ground and the minutes recorded that, "The sum of 20 pounds out of church revenue to be laid out for the enclosing of the burial ground around the church and digging a trench around the enclosure and Isaac Bonnell Esq. and John Hill be com-

ABTRC Accepts Presceski Proposal

The Annapolis Basin Tourist and Recreation has received and agreed to a provincial proposal which will allow ABTRC to use facilities at the Presceski Property this summer.

ABTRC had asked for use of the property as a cultural and arts centre to promote local artists, writers and crafts people.

Among the terms of the proposal are: the province will accept no liability for the property's use, ABTRC must advise patrons of the danger in crossing Highway 1 to and from the wildlife park; the province will provide no insurance for display items; ABTRC must pay $25 rent for the season; Heat and light will be covered by the province but ABTRC must cover any unusual operating expenses; the body must advise as to operating hours.

The only term which resulted in significant discussion was the one whereby ABTRC must warn people of the danger of crossing the highway.

Acting Chairman Kip McKaigue noted the province had originally planned to construct a tunnel at this crossing point at a cost in the area of $27,000. He felt the association could come up with an acceptable idea.

One idea put out was to have a crosswalk with a 30-mile speed limit on both approaches, and have the crosswalk manned during open hours.

Gas Spill Protected From Fire Danger

When some nearly 1500 gallons of gasoline spilled from the Gulf Oil Canada Ltd. at Victoria St., Digby, on Friday and Saturday, precautions were taken by both the Gulf staff and the Digby Fire Department to prevent a fire disaster.

The spill occurred, it is understood, when the Gulf maintenance repair crew were doing routine work. The Fire Department stood at the scene on both days applying acryllic foam and especially taking care that no one was nearby while smoking a cigarette.

The gas company dredged the area and refilled their tanks to continue their usual line of service.

Judge Nichols Re-elected President

The Admiral Digby Library and Historical Society held its annual business meeting on Thursday, June 9th in the Baptist Church Hall. Members of the executive and committee chair persons reported to the meeting on events of the past year.

The president of the Society, Judge John Nichols, reported that the society had just completed a successful year.

Miss Mary Marshall, in her secretary's report, commented on the formal opening of the Joyce Anderson Memorial Room in December and expressed the Society's appreciation to Mrs. Anna Ruth Rogers and Barry Jennings who co-ordinated the affair. Miss Marshall also mentioned her correspondence with Miss Ann Hale who is doing research on old courthouses of Nova Scotia. Information on the Digby courthouse was sent to Miss Hale to include in her material.

Mrs. E. Carolyn Brown, as co-ordinator of the program committee reported that three successful programs had been undertaken during the past year. Programs on "old chairs," on "old bottles" and on "Christmas Past" were presented throughout the year. The program on quilts which had been planned for late May, had to be postponed until the fall. It is hoped that a guest speaker will be present at that time.

Mrs. Anna Ruth Rogers, co-ordinator of the museum, reported that a grant has been received from the Nova Scotia Museum and that the museum will be open for the summer months.

The nominating committee presented its list of nominees for the coming year. The new officers elected are as follows: President: Judge John R.Nichols; Vice-President: Mrs. MacLeod Rogers; Honorary Vice-President Judge Victor Cardoza; Treasurer: F.C.Purdy; and Secretary: Miss Regina Tate. The Board of Trustees includes: Mrs. Ian Anderson, Mrs. Donald Brown; Miss Louise Daley; Mrs. John Black; Harold Emerson; Barry Jennings; Dr. Alexander Leighton; Mrs. Douglas Lewis; Mrs. Mary Robert; Philip Robertson; Gerald Hoare; Mrs. Louise Stephen; Miss Marjorie Tupper; Mrs. Hubert Warne; Miss Mary Marshall. Ex-officer members are Mayor Stuart MacNaughton and Warden Wilfred Swift.

Harold Emerson, chairman of the nominating committee, expressed the Society's appreciation to Lawrence Banks and Mrs. Karly Denton. They will be leaving the Digby area and have both worked faithfully for the Society. Mr. Banks, who held the position of Vice-President, is leaving to assume a new position in the Yarmouth area. Mrs. Denton will be away for the Digby area for a year.

Judge John Nichols presented prints of sailing vessels to the museum on behalf of Graham McBride. Mr. McBride has taken the prints off glass plates which had originally been done by the Paul Yates Studio in Digby.

Offer $1000 Bursary

The Department of Tourism is offering a $1,000 bursary to the successful candidate applying to enroll in a hospitality industry-oriented course at Ryerson Polytechnical Institute, Toronto.

Hon. Maurice E. DeLory, Minister of Tourism, said today that the four-year course will lead to a diploma in hotel, restaurant and institutional management, with emphasis on business administration.

The program at Ryerson starts in September. Applicants must be residents of Nova Scotia.

"Graduates with ability advance rapidly to management positions and many go into motel or restaurant business for themselves," said the Minister.

Deadline for application forms to be returned to the Department of Tourism, P.O. Box 456, Halifax, is July 15.

Advancements in the hospitality-tourism industry, along with an increasing need for supervisory skills, have created more demand for trained management people, added Dr. DeLory.

Digby Museum Open For Summer

The Admiral Digby Museum located upstairs in the library building on Montague Row will open for the summer on June 20th. It will be open from Monday to Friday from two to five in the afternoon until September 16th.

The museum has been a project of the Admiral Digby Library and Historical Society since it was successful in opening the library in Digby. With the aid of a grant from the Nova Scotia Museum, the local group was able to repair the upstairs rooms in the library and display various items of local historical interest.

The official ribbon-cutting took place in December with the opening of the Joyce Anderson Memorial Room, honouring a former trustee of the society.

The society is planning a display of things pertaining to the sea. Gifts and loans of papers, pictures, diaries, etc., would be appreciated by members of the society. Anyone wishing to give or lend anything may call Mrs. Anna Ruth Rogers at 245-4600 or Mr. Barry Jennings at 245-2639.

Support Track Removal

At the recently held Digby Town Council meeting, support was given to the Digby Board of Trade's request made to the Canadian Pacific Railway to have the railway tracks removed in town between Sydney Street and the old wharf. This track has not been used since the federal wharf was built for the Princess of Acadia accommodation near the Racquette Point. Another request of the Board supported by the Town was to have all the crossings in town repaired and possibly paved.

Editorial

TRIBUTE TO HER MAJESTY

Frequently we have written in this column on the fine example shown to the world by Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II who has served her subjects with all grace and dignity for nearly 25 years, this being the twenty-fifth (Silver) Jubilee of her reign. Those who were so fortunate to meet Her Majesty at times when she visited Nova Scotia sensed a warmth of personality and a sincere friendly smile, yet, never wavering from the envelopment of awesome dignity which characterized her speech and manner. Crowds expressed pleasure and admiration for the Queen which joyously testified to the feelings of her subjects here in the small province of Nova Scotia.

This same admiration by vaster crowds has been seen on T.V. as London, England, went all out to honor Her Majesty last week at the beginning of her Silver Jubilee year. We, too join with them and other subjects around the Commonwealth in recognizing this glorious event and pray that Her Majesty may long reign to further show the world an example of greatness in her combined role as Queen, wife and mother.

It would be well, too, for us to remember that Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II is Queen of Canada and especially to give that some significance as Canada Day arrives in little more than two weeks time. Each Canadian, being a loyal subject of Her Majesty should be influenced in attachment and pride in this vast dominion in which we live. This wide expansive territory is ours to learn about and to know. It is ours for living in with peace and content with all the family of Canadians as we live under the rule of Her Majesty in the entire family of the Commonwealth. Long live the Queen and long live and bless the Canada which is part of her family of nations and of which each and everyone of us is a part.

Letters To The Editor

Opinions expressed in the Letter to the Editor column in this newspaper are not necessarily those of the editor.

Dear Editor:

CO-OPERATION ASSURES SUCCESS:

I wish to say a few words with regards to the contribution made by many people, towards the realization of a very enjoyable reception for Queen Annapolisa and Her Princesses, when they visited Digby on June 6th.

Charles Haliburton, President of The Digby Board of Trade, as well as His Worship, Mayor Stewart MacNaughton, gave time and assistance in the matter of financial planning in support of a number of candidates who offered their beauty and talents for the title of Princess Digby, which was awarded to Miss Julie MacIntosh. Her reception was one of merit.

Miss Jacqueline Journeay, gave time and effort in arranging for flowers and gifts for The Queen and Princesses, which were presented by Mrs. MacNaughton, wife of our Mayor, and two charming little girls, daughters of Sgt. and Mrs. Tom Barlow, R.C.M.P., and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kennie, of Digby. These little girls gave the assembled Royal Party and the many friends who attended, a heart warming appeal. I like to think of the joy in their little hearts in taking this part.

Mr. Gary Smith, presented Queen Annapolisa with a Barrette and Key Fob also, to the Princesses, a Key Fob.

To Princess Julie, he presented a shoulder purse.

Of paramount importance, was the accommodation offered by Digby Branch, No. 20, Royal Canadian Legion. Most sincere thanks to their President, Charles Francis, also to Mrs. Laura Winchester, President The Ladies Auxiliary, for their personal interest and help.

We now come to that group of people, the Public, that without their presence, the reception would have been less than cordial. Thank you friends and neighbors, you helped Digby make a fitting reception for such a gala event.

In conclusion, may I say again, that I found a willingness on the part of Organizations and Community Clubs, to support participation in the Apple Blossom Festival but, because of the lateness of soliciting their contribution, commitments had previously been made on the availability of funds. One has to respect such a situation. May it be that by April first 1978, we shall be prepared to support the Festival by joining together at a minimal outlay of funds.

Pat Comeau

Dear Sir or Madam:

The April Campaign of the Nova Scotia Division is over for another year. Results of our drive for funds to date show that our objective will again be reached and that our commitments for 1977 nationally and provincially will be met.

As was pointed out to you in a letter at the beginning of the campaign, the co-operation we get from the newspaper industry is one of the main forces behind the success of our campaign each year. On behalf of the Public Relations and Information Committee and Board of Directors of the Nova Scotia Division, please accept our most grateful appreciation for the excellent coverage given the Society by your publication.

I especially note the feature on Send a Mouse to College and various articles presented during April.

Our Units in the area have conducted very successful campaigns and they are very grateful for the support given them in April and throughout the year.

Please accept our most sincere thanks for your continued support of the Society's work in the fight against cancer.

Yours very truly,
Harold T.Shea, Chairman,
Public Relations and Information Committee,
Nova Scotia Division.

Dear Mrs. Wallis:

I hope through the pages of your paper in the letter to the Editor column you might allow me space to say a few words about the important subject of liquor.

I have been informed that a permit for a new liquor outlet in our small town has been requested. The Chief Inspector of the Nova Scotia Liquor Licence Board should have by now received a letter from me and a letter from my husband also to oppose this move. I trust this permit will not be granted now or in the future. In 1st. Corinthians 10; 31 it says, "so then, WHETHER YOU EAT OR DRINK OR WHATEVER you may DO, DO ALL FOR THE HONOR AND GLORY OF GOD.

Now please be kind enough to take a look at Digby with me. At one end of the town we have the N.S. Liquor Commission located and at the other end we find a Tavern. In addition to these large outlets we find a number of other places where Liquor is served. If this permit is granted I know that in addition to the places I have mentioned here that three outlets will be located on the Main Street of our small town all within only a short distance of each other.

Liquor has caused more broken homes, more crime, more poverty, more fights, more accidents, and even numerous deaths more than I care to mention. I say with a note of sadness the crime rate is high in Digby.

I have a concern for our young son, our grandchildren and for the younger generation of our church and of our town. I do not believe to expose either the younger or older generations of this town to more liquor outlets would be doing all for the honor and glory of God. I vote negative to more liquor outlets.

LIP GRANT RESTORES HISTORIC SITES

missioners for carrying the same into effect." It is of interest to note that both John Hill and Isaac Bonnell are interred in the churchyard cemetery. Isaac Bonnell "departed this life 7th November, 1806, aged 68 years, 2 months and 9 days", according to his tombstone.

Over the years after original fencing of the churchyard burial ground many attempts to enclose the grounds were undertaken. In 1904, for instance, a committee composed of the Wardens, J.M. Viets and H.L. Denninson with Major Daley was appointed to build a "suitable fence around the Church Sunday School and churchyard."

At a vestry meeting on January 27, 1914 a motion was passed that "the offer made by the Ladies of the Sewing Circle transferring the balance from the Garden Party of $136.00 be consolidated with the Baxter fund now held for the building of a fence around the said grounds" was passed. At the annual meeting in January, 1915, it was reported by T.E.G. Lynch that "there was available for the construction of a fence around the churchyard a fund of $595.45 made up of the Baxter bequest $207.45 and proceeds from the 1914 Garden Party." The meeting resolved that a committeee be appointed to "arrange for the construction of such fence and the authority therefore not to exceed $900.00" An amendment by J.F. Rice to substitute $1200 for $900 in such resolution was lost.

It was at a vestry meeting on February 3, 1915, that a motion was passed that the Steel Furnishings Co. Ltd. of New Glasgow be asked to send a man "to look over the grounds re the erection of an iron fence around the churchyard and to estimate the cost therefore." The company later submitted a figure of $798.40 which together with other local costs brought the total for the fence and gates to $1031.34. A resolution was passed authorizing the committee to expend $135.00 more than the original approval. This resolution was passed July 9, 1915. Mr. Lynch reported at the annual meeting for 1916 that $939.09 had been expended to date with a balance to complete of $98.40 The report was adopted and the committee authorized to continue for another year.

Over the years since then the iron fence which surround three sides of the churchyard has been repaired and painted numerous times, each a drain on scarce parish finances. As the years passed also, vandals damaged priceless memorials and time took a toll on many of them. Lack of a secure fence at the back of the burying ground made this area vulnerable and the whole western section developed a very unkempt appearance. Sporadic attempts were made to deal with the situation but lack of adequate funding made the task a losing battle.

The recent LIP grant has changed all this and for the first time in the last many years a full scale effort at restoration has been carried out. Under the direction of Vestryman W.L. Troupe, a group of workers have cleared the grounds, restored and repaired many of the monuments and replaced them securely. They have removed unsightly stumps, tree roots, dead trees and in general done a thorough clean-up and tidying-up of not only the burying ground but also the church with its beautiful stained glass memorial windows and the Sunday School. The original cornerstone of the church, laid by the first bishop of Nova Scotia, Rt. Rev. Charles Inglis on July 30, 1788, has been restored and made clearly legible. The cornerstone of the present church, laid in 1878, has also been refurbished as has that of the Sunday School, laid in 1903.

Because of the work that has already been done, many of the interesting and historic monuments in the churchyard that were previously difficult to view are now easily accessible For the many visitors each summer who visit Trinity Parish church and its churchyard this constitutes a real bonus. Many of these visitors are descendants of the early Loyalist settlers of Digby and they are thrilled to find the monuments of their ancestors in the burying ground here. The restoration project could well be termed an undertaking of great historic significance, one which will preserve much of the rich heritage of this area which was in real danger of being forever lost.

Among the memorials now restored and easy of access are such monuments as that to Major Robert Timpany, a native of Ireland, who died February 16, 1844" in the 102nd year of his age". Major Timpany emigrated in 1760 to Philadelphia where he was a teacher until the revolution. He joined a militia company in British service and endured many hardships, attaining the rank of Major before the end of the struggle. He emigrated to Digby where he became a Justice of the Peace and Deputy Land Surveyor. He lived at Rossway and drew the pension of a Major, $1.50 a day, from the end of the war in 1783 until his death in 1844, His wife Sarah is also buried in the churchyard. She died in 1822 at the age of 61.

Also buried in Trinity churchyard is the Rev. Roger Viets, first Rector of the parish. He died on August 15, 1811 at the age of 74. His widow passed away January 1, 1817 at the age of 64. An attractive monument to Rev. Roger Moore Viets, second Rector of the Parish and son of the original, is also to be found in the churchyard. He died June 24, 1832 and his widow passed on March 17, 1862.

The monument to Col. David Fanning, noted Royalist fighter, is also to be found in the burying ground. It records his death on March 11, 1825 at the age of 70. The epitaph reads "Humane, affable, gently and kind; A plain honest, open, moral mind; He lived to die, In God he put his trust; To rise triumphant with the just."

Memorials in the burying ground also record the passing of Sarah, wife of David Fanning on November 20, 1833 at age 68. An interesting monument records the death of David William, son of David and Sarah Fanning on July 15, 1810, "aged 16 years, and 11 months, and 11 days and 11 hours and 37 minutes."

A splendid monument in the burying ground is that of Elisha Budd Esq. who served as an Ensign in the King's American Regiment and emigrated with the Loyalists to Digby in 1783. He died in Liverpool, England in 1833 at the age of 51. It is recorded Elisha Budd's father, James Budd who was a prominent Royalist, was shot dead at his own door in White Plains, N.J. in 1778 by a party of Whig guerillas. His son, Elisha who served in the army, emigrated to Digby in 1783 and married Mary Ann, daughter of Isaac Bonnell, who had been High Sheriff of Middlesex County, N.J., prior to the Revolution. Mr. Bonnell had later emigrated to Digby and he is buried in Trinity churchyard. He died November 7, 1806," aged 68 years, 2 months and 9 days." While Elisha Budd died in England, his widow, Mary Ann, died September 4, 1850 in Digby at the age of 82. Her remains are beneath the memorial.

Another monument in the burial ground records the death of Thomas Gilbert, "the third son of Major Thomas Gilbert He was born in the County of Bristol in Massachusetts. He departed this life on the 25th of August, 1793 in the 27th. year of his age". Thomas Gilbert, despite his short life was a very successful businessman on St. Mary's Bay. He built vessels at what is now Gilbert's Cove, carried lumber and other cargoes to various markets and was also an importer, supplying whole communities along the Bay.

Space will not permit a complete account of all those Loyalist settlers of Digby whose resting places are marked in Trinity churchyard. Included, however, are such pioneers as James Wilmot, Esq. first Church Warden of Trinity Church in Trinity Parish, who died December 13, 1804 age 77 years, 2 months, 13 days; Dr. Jacob Tobias, physician, who departed this life April 4, 1808, age 54 years, 10 months, 10 days. Dr. Tobias was a prominent churchman and a member of the Vestry in 1785. Another Doctor, John Lightfoot, and his wife are also among those whose graves are marked. Dr. Lightfoot died September 29, 1839 at age 43. Mary, his wife, died in 1855 at 61.

Among the inscribed stones marking the resting places of the earliest settlers of Digby who lie in Trinity churchyard are to be found such well known Digby names as Turnbull, Nichols, Letteney, Dakin, Keen. Other names no longer so familiar here are also to be found. Included are names such as Ray, Hatfield, Crowly, Fitzrandolph. They live on, however, in their descendants who, though no longer bearing surnames of the lineage that lie buried in Trinity, recall their ancestry with pride.

One apparent mystery is to be found in an ornate slab that covers the gravesite of "Mary Getsheus, the wife of Cap't Jacob Getsheus- November 17, 1785, age 37". The epitaph on this imposing monument reads "Accept blest... this tribute of a tear; Thou best of women and thou friend sincere; Where now on earth can we thy equal find; Where such a wife , a daughter, Sister, kind; Who felt like thee another's want and grief; Who e'er applyed that did not find relief; Who with such fortitude could sickness bear; Or with such piety for Death prepare; Immortal Saint look from the realms above; And guide the steps of those you once did love; Teach us like them to bear affliction's Rod; Teach us to follow Thee to Heaven and God".

No readily available record sheds light on the mystery of whom the beloved Mary Getsheus may have been. Her death and burial is one of the earliest marked among the gravestones in Trinity burying ground. No mention seems to exist in the local histories regarding Cap't Jacob Getsheus. It is, however, the unravelling of mysteries such as this and of genealogies which lead to the present generation, that makes ancient burying grounds of such great interest.

It is of interest to note that the churchyard burying ground was officially closed in May, 1865. A resolution, moved by Dr. Peleg Wiswell Smith, seconded by E.R. Oakes, was passed by the Vestry on May 19, 1865. The resolution read, ".. the burial ground adjoining Trinity Church be closed after this date except to persons now of 70 years and upwards as are survivors of their generation."

Almost a year previous to the closing of the churchyard burying ground a new cemetery had been consecrated by Bishop Binney. The consecration was made on June 7, 1864 by the Rt. Rev. Hibbert Binney, D.D., Lord Bishop of Nova Scotia. He was assisted by Rev. H.L. Yewens, the Rector; Rev. P.J. Filleul of Weymouth and Rev. J. Storrs of Cornwallis. A memorandum of the consecration is contained in a minute book of the Parish, "as a record in case that in future ages no convenient data may be found".

It was not until September 21, 1865, that a name was given to the new cemetery. On that date the vestry chose the name "Forest Hill" by majority vote. Rules and bylaws for the new cemetery were also adopted at the meeting.

Church Of God Revival

A week long revival was held at the Church of God in Digby. The guest speaker was Dr. William Kammin from Cleveland, Ohio. Dr. Kammin preached the truths of God's Word every night, Monday through Sunday and at the close of the week of meetings, local pastor, Dale Swartz, baptized nine persons by immersion into the body of Christ for the remission of their sins.

Dr. Kammin, then had a special service for seven persons who rededicated her membership to the Church of God by letter.

Special music was provided each night during the revival. Persons providing special music included Sylvia Haynes, Cheryl Swartz, Ron Wilkins, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Howlett of the Salvation Army, Miss Joanne Frankland, Rose Bent and daughters, Linda and Patty, and Pastor Swartz.

As the revival services came to a close and a fellowship tea was held in the church fellowship hall, Dr. Kammin spoke on the revival that remains in the people. The continuation of revival depends on the people right here in Digby.

Attendants were reminded nightly of the soon coming of Jesus Christ and how they should live in order to be ready for His coming.

Military Christian Fellowship Service

Four men, members of the Military Christian Fellowship presently serving at CFB Cornwallis, held a service in the Wesleyan Church on Sunday evening June 12th.

Sargeant Darrell Brewster conducted the service which began with the singing of the Theme chorus.

Master Cpl. Raymond Hamilton read the Scripture lesson.

The Pastor Rev. Walter Fernley gave the prayer of dedication at offering time.

Each of the four service men gave a Testimony during the service.

A quartette of M.C.F. Singers rendered two numbers. One was entitled "I Know Who Holds Tomorrow and the second was "How Great Thou Art."

Brother Frank Parker who is a M.C. F. member was unable to be present for the service and in his absence Brother Kenneth Hudson showed slides of the M.C. activities. He explained something of their work across Canada saying the group presently numbers 300.

The Military Christian Fellowship is a group of Interdenominational Service Men. This group which is growing in number each month travel to various churches conducting services.

The four men members of the Military Christian Fellowship who participated in the service were: Master Cpl. Raymond Hamilton; Warrant Officer- Kenneth Hudson; Sonny Sundstrom and Sergeant Darrell Brewster.

The service was closed by Brother Raymond Hamilton who offered Prayer.

Ivan Smith (left) is welcomed to the Bear River Baptist Church by Pastor Doug Hapeman.

Relaxed, happy, excited describes the atmosphere that was in the Bear River United Baptist Church this past week and a half. Ivan Smith, formerly pastor of the Bear River Church, returned for 10 nights of revival meetings. Ivan, his wife Beverly, and family presently reside in Santa Barbara, California.

Each night as pastor Smith addressed the audience, there were those who came to entrust themselves to the Lordship of Jesus Christ. Attendance for the meetings was strong with well over 300 present on some of the evenings. People seemed to be hungry for God, if you know what we mean.

The Wednesday evening service was crowned with an unusually sweet spirit, as many came at the close of the meeting to present themselves to the deacons and the elders for anointing with oil and prayer for healing.

The people in the Bear River Church appreciate the many folks from the surrounding area who supported the meetings in prayer and attendance. Would the Church like to have meetings like these again? Just ask them!

Church Celebrates 116th Anniversary

Rev. Kenneth Lowe, pastor of Grace United Church, Digby, was the preacher on Sunday when the church celebrated its 116th anniversary. Holy Communion was celebrated and a fellowship hour was held following the morning worship. The senior choir under direction of Mrs. E.G. Arnold sang the anthemn "Wonderful Love of God" with Mrs. Gerald Wilson doing the solo part.

In his remarks Rev. Mr. Lowe described the situation of the church where it had been, where it now is and the challenge before it for the future in a changing world. He referred to the years when the church building itself stood out as a witness to the Lordship of God in the community. Church buildings were put on a pedestal but to an "unknown God". Now a whole new challenge faces the church in which the people of the church become aware of the awesome responsibility of the congregation as the church to the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob instead of an "unknown God". He placed the challenge before the congregation with the assurance that God would give strength to meet the challenge.

Recognition was made in the Sunday morning service of the 25th Jubilee celebration for Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II.

Application forms for attendance at Sherbooke Camp were announced as being ready for those who wished to have them.

Reaches Objective 100 Jobs

The Minister of Development, the Honourable A.M. Sandy Cameron today announced that the JOB CORPS has achieved its objective of hiring 1,000 Nova Scotians. Mr. Cameron was extremely pleased with the results of the Programme to date particularly in creating jobs in areas of high unemployment.

Mr. Cameron had high praise for the people who are involved in the JOB CORPS Programme, and particularly for the co-operation and support of the various Departments who are participating in this programme. Mr. Cameron went on to say that their support and co-operation has enabled the programme to be successful.

In light of this success Mr. Cameron has directed his officials to endeavour to create an additional 200 jobs. He said he was making this move in light of the response to the programme. Mr. Cameron indicated that the extra effort would be concentrated in areas of higher unemployment such as Cape Breton, Pictou and the area surrounding Strait of Canso.

Possibility Leasing Factory Vessels

The Hon. A.M.Sandy Cameron, Minister of Development for Nova Scotia stated that he was "delighted" by the success of the Nova Scotia fisheries trade mission to Poland.

"This is the kind of opening we hoped for as a result of the 200 mile limit," said Mr. Cameron. The Nova Scotia Department of Development organized the current fisheries trade mission to Europe after the success of an earlier mission to the East Coast of the United States.

"We've got a fairly long way to go before we can take full advantage of the extension of Nova Scotia's fisheries," said Mr. Cameron, "but these missions show that our Province's entrepreneurs have got what it takes to seize the advantages offered by the extension of our territorial waters."

Mr. Cameron was particularly hopeful for an increase of onshore processing, which would benefit the existing fish-processors of the Province, and also stated that the idea of leasing factory vessels was "an interesting possibility." He said that the training of Nova Scotians on board such foreign vessels was "the kind of technological exchange from which both sides profit."

WEDDING

MARSHALL-WHITE

A pretty spring wedding took place in the Holy Cross Church, Plympton, on Saturday, June 4, 1977 at 3 o'clock when Heather Marie White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur White was united in marriage to Winston Dale Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Winston Marshall of Digby.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a wedding gown of white sheer over satin. Her wedding veil was waist length, held in place by a lace headpiece. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and baby's breath.

Aline Gaudet, a friend, was maid of honour. Shirley Wagner, sister of the bride and Linda Handspiker, niece of the bride, were bridesmaids. All the girls wore identical peach polyester floor length gowns and carried matching bouquets of peach daisy mums, daisies, and baby's breath.

Nancy Wagner, niece of the bride, was the flower girl and wore a floor length peach gown trimmed with lace and carried a basket of matching flowers.

Scott Wagner, nephew of the bride was ring bearer.

The best man was Robie Murphy, a friend of the groom. The groom's attendants were Ronald Marshall, brother of the groom, and Billy Wagner.

The mother of the bride wore a pale blue pantsuit and a corsage of white and blue carnations.

The mother of the groom wore a floor length pink floral gown and a corsage of white and pink carnations.

The reception followed at the Knights of Columbus, Digby and was followed by a dance in the evening.

Guests were present from Trenton, Ontario, and from these Nova Scotia points, Truro and Halifax.

After the dance in the evening the happy couple left for a short honeymoon.

YOU'RE IN CHARGE

YOUR FOOD CHECK BOOK

Are you concerned about how much you are spending each week on groceries, but have never kept track of the amounts. Well the Home Economics Division has developed a new publication to help you do just that.

This Food Check Book has been designed with you in mind. Use it weekly and it will work for you.

It will fit in your purse or pocket, it is small enough to hold in your hand at the store, and is complete with buying tips and cost per serving information.

Regularly used, it will make it easier for you to plan your weekly shopping lists so that you will buy only what you need for the best economy and nutrition.

The book is broken down into four sections for convenience.

Section 1 - includes Canada's Food Guide. And the opposite page is listed serving suggestions for each of the food groups.

For example: in the milk group, 8 oz. of cottage cheese or yogurt, or 1 ounce of cheddar cheese, or 2 ounces of process cheese can be used in place of 1 cup of milk.

Section 11- includes weekly shopping lists which are set up to include the Food Prices Review Board recommendations of how your food dollar should be spent for a nutritious diet.

24 percent of one dollar on meat
29 percent on fruits and vegetables
15 percent on breads and cereals
14 percent on milk and dairy
7 percent on fats
11 percent on others such as: flour molasses, etc.

Section 111 - includes buying tips on each of the five food groups.

Buying tips include information as:

Buy in season. Fresh products have the best prices and quality in peak season. The season starts early with fresh fruit; rhubarb is first, followed by strawberries, sweet cherries, raspberries, blackberries, and apricots. Later summer fruits include blueberries, peaches, plums, cantaloupe, pears, grapes and apples.

Prices of fresh, frozen and canned vegetables vary in price throughout the year. Compare the costs of these various forms to see which is more economical.

There are two main types of cereals available on the market, whole grain cereals an refined. Whole grain cereals contain the entire kernel of grain. They are an excellent source of starch and vegetable protein. Whole grain cereals contain significant amounts of thiamine, riboflavin, niacin and some iron. Refined cereals are highly processed. They contain the "indosperm" of the kernel. The "germ" area has been removed during processing. The germ area contains the B Vitamins. Some of these cereals have vitamins replaced that were removed during milling. Check the labels to see if the cereals are fortified.

Milk is available in many forms on the market. Compare cost per serving to see which is more economical.

Buy meat according to cost per serving, not cost per pound. Meat with an excess amount of bone, fat, gristle can be expensive because this is all inedible, yet is included in the price.

Section 1V - includes cost per serving information. In order to determine exactly what the food is costing you, you must consider cost per serving rather than cost per pound. This is a simple formula to try on some of your food items.

Inside the covers are pockets to keep your grocery slips.

Used regularly, this booklet can be an effective tool in controlling your food spending, and maintaining a nutritious diet.

If you would like a copy of "Your Food Check Book" send $1.00 to Herb Taplin, N.S. Dept. of Agriculture and Marketing, P.O. Box 550, Truro, N.S., and he will forward a copy to you.

A Thought Starter

By Rev.R.C. MacCormack
RR 4. Fredericton, N.B.

THE REASONABLENESS OF GOD

There seems to be a prevailing sense that God is some kind of tyrant, Who wilfully taunts and punishes everyone according to His fancy. Some I talk with are afraid of God, afraid that He has no thought of their good.

Nothing can be further from the truth. He is out to love, to lift, to forgive and to restore all the lost ones. Those who are in sin, who are suffering from pain, sickness, loss, disappointment and all must not necessarily conclude that God is smiting them. When a child suffers, the parents will take the little one into their arms and make him feel secure and comfortable. This is a picture of God as loving Heavenly Father.

True, we deserve nothing from Him, but by His mercy. He will offer to us every treasure, through the sacrifice of His Son for us, even Christ. Grace is a term which means that He is not out to get even with us because we sin, but to cancel all our sin by His compassion.

God is reasonable in not expecting us to be perfect, but to let the perfect Saviour dwell in our hearts and move in our lives. He is reasonable in not expecting us to do more for Him than He gives us strength to do. We are not to hide behind this as an excuse for laziness and waywardness, but we are to know that He will receive us anytime and bestow victory.

"Present your bodies a living sacrifice....Which is your reasonable service". Romans 12:1.

No Till Seeding

With concern about moisture levels and soil erosion in some areas, farmers are becoming more interested in no-till seeding and crop production. Wayne Lindwall, agricultural engineer at Agriculture Canada's Lethbridge, Alta., Research Station, says yields from no-till stubble fields have averaged four bushels per acre more than from conventionally seeded stubble fields.

Mr. Lindwall has been testing both hoe and disc-type seeders to plant directly into a field that has had no cultivation since the previous season. He has found the triple-disc drills to be most effective, because they cut through trash better, with less chance of plugging.

The new queen was crowned by last year's Miss Clare Rosanna Deveau. The girls were judged on the basis of personality, posture, beauty, conversation and expression.

CTV'S LIVE EXCLUSIVE COVERAGE OF 118th RUNNING OF "THE QUEEN'S PLATE" HOSTED BY VETERAN RACING TEAM

Celebrating its 118th running, making it the oldest continuously run stake's race in North America, Fergie Olver, Jim Coleman and Daryl Wells make up CTV's experienced coverage team for the live exclusive telecast of "The Queen's Plate", Saturday, June 25, 5:00 p.m. EDT on the CTV Television Network.

Run on the one-and-a-quarter mile dirt track at Woodbine, this event is open to Canadian-bred three year-olds and CTV will be there–at the infield, at the starting gate and at shed row, focusing on the colour, excitement and pageantry of what is considered by many to be the most prestigious of the three Canadian Triple Crown events (included are "The Prince of Wales Stakes" and "The Breeders' Stakes").

Last year, almost 35,000 enthusiastic fans thrilled as Norcliffe took the winner's share of the $140,000 purse, the coveted gold cup and Her Majesty's traditional 50 Guineas.

CTV's three sportscasters are as well-known to racing fans as the races they'll cover. In the host spot is Fergie Olver who, with co-host Jim Coleman, provides the background and analysis that their many years of experience provide. Calling the race will be Daryl Wells, 'Canada's voice of horse racing'.

CTV's five camera coverage, isolated camera for the home stretch, instant replay, slow motion analysis and interviews with the winning jockeys, trainers and owners capture the full excitement of sporting history in the making.

Overpass Proposed For Bear River Bridge Intersection

The department of highways has come up with new proposal to eliminate the Highway 101 level crossing between Bear River and Smith's Cove at the Bear River Bridge.

The new plan was presented to a meeting of Bear River and Smith's Cove residents at the Bear River Fire Hall Thursday night. Those present gave the proposal unanimous approval.

One major change from the original proposal presented here in September, 1976, is the addition of an overpass over Highway 1 to maintain community links between Bear River and Smith's Cove. Last year's proposal called for closure of the bridge intersection.

Another change included in the new plan is elimination of the proposed Smith's Cove Connector. The plan calls for an intersection at the west end of the Bear River Bridge, and one at the Joggins Bridge sometime in the future.

The entire project is expected to take three years to complete. If the department decided to proceed with the scheme, this years work may include design, overall layout, purchase of land and possibly the calling of tenders later in the year for structure work.

Bernard Dyer, one of the three-man department of Highways delegation present at the meeting, estimated the total cost of the project at over one million. Andy King, Assistant Director of Planning, termed it an "expensive scheme" but, in the final analysis, "we figured it was the only realistic thing."

Mr. King noted a total review of the department's original plan to eliminate the level crossing came as the result of disfavour encountered at last years meeting for a Smith's Cove connector location. The new plan, he said comes as the result of incorporating ideas received here in September.

Under the three-year program currently proposed, the existing level crossing will remain as it is for at least another two years.

Mr. King noted that no houses are expected to be lost as the result of planned work. The new proposal has already received approval-in-principal from the department of highways.

In estimating the total cost at around 1 one-third million, Mr. Dyer noted this is a "solid rock job."

Under the traffic-flow system of the new plan, those entering Bear River from the Digby direction would exit the 101 about 1800 feet west of the bridge and proceed to the Old Post Road. Those entering Bear River from the east would exit the 101 via a connector located about 900 feet west of the bridge, join the Smith's Cove road and proceed over the proposed overpass onto the River Road. Those leaving Bear River could proceed over the overpass to the latter-mentioned connector (if heading west), or use the farther exit via a connector running west from the River Road (between the Old Post Road and the 101) If heading east. Entrance and exit to Smith's Cove, is also provided for in the project area in a somewhat similar system.

"Human Journey" Series

FUTURE OF THE FAMILY STUDIED June 21

The family, the basic unit in almost all societies, is still being placed under the microscope. Experts differ on the amount of change forthcoming, but all agree that the family will undergo modification in the future. In a study of "The Family", Sunday, June 26, 11:00 p.m. p.m. EDT on the CTV Television Network, "The Human Journey" examines its changing role, alternatives to the family and organizations working to combat the tensions within the family and on its individual members.

Historically, the 'extended' family, consisting of parents, children, aunts, uncles and grandparents, was the norm. Today, however, due to the variety of factors, the "Nuclear" family made up of a father, mother and their children, often separated by many hundreds of miles from other relatives, is the standard. Thus, the single nuclear family absorbs all the changes taking place around it and must also attempt to solve its internal crises without recourse to relatives.

In this hour-long documentation, several noted psychiatrists and social scientists give their opinions about the future of families. Dr. Norman Bell, Dr. Robert Cancro, psychologist Mario Bartoletti and Warren Farrell, a political science researcher, discuss their various experiences and beliefs.

In business...

If it's new, it's news.

Spread the word by long distance.

The introduction of a new product can take months. Or even years. But it doesn't have to. It can be done in minutes by long distance.

Until potential buyers know about a new product, or an important change in a present one, they will remain just that — potential buyers.

With a long distance call, you can convert them into actual buyers — even in advance or introduction, if necessary, to prevent loss of valuable business to a competitor.

And the cost? During prime time business hours, a direct-dialed call within Nova Scotia, costs less than a dollar a minute.

Scallop Day

In other council business, a committee has been established to start planning for Digby Scallop Day. Chairman this year is Ken Eavis of Hillgrove. Meetings were to commence this week.

Roger Denley, operator of the Budget Rent-a-car franchise in Digby announced that his company is also operating a Limousine service to the airport.

Rick Young, department of tourism, brought along the day-trip folders and lure pieces ABTRC has been waiting to distribute. Ninety thousand copies have been printed on each day-trip area.

Mr. Young announced that a van would be left in the area for a couple of days to help out with distribution. He also announced that the province would cover the $ 400 ABTRC was supposed to pay as its share of the printing cost.

Copies of the folders and lure piece will be sent to all entry points and major centres of the province.

Lantz Woolaver announced that the group has received a $5,300 Young Canada Works program grant to fund a brass band at the Presceski property.

He also noted that a Secretary of State program grant will cover the cost of three-four guides, information people etc. at the estate.

A bid has also been received from a local insurance agent to look after the required liability.

Mr. Young announced that the Job Corps has approved an application on behalf of ABTRC for four-five destination co-ordinators who could be made available around Labour Day.

Various possibilities for their use were discussed. One suggestion was that at least one be placed aboard the Princess of Acadia to sell the Basin area.

The council decided to accept the people. Their actual functions will be discussed at a later date.

The group's tourist publication, The Basin, has gone to print. Twenty-three thousands copies will be published and distributed.

This month's meeting at the Mountain Gap Inn was the last for this season. Meetings will resume in September.

Mr. Woolaver announced that the tourist agents tour had gone over very well. The Results, he said, are already coming back. Over 60 agents were in the area over a 6 -day period.

This was the last scheduled ABTRC meeting for this season. Meetings will resume in September, with the first to be held at Digby Pines Resort Hotel.

Eye Glasses Special Project

The Womens Missionary Society held their monthly meeting on Thursday evening in the Church of Christ basement.

The special project for the month was bringing in used eye glasses which will be sent to Asia, Africa, India, Bangladesh and Kenya as they are in need of glasses. "Operation Eyesight Universal" issued an S.O.S. to its supporters throughout Canada for this need for such curable blind people, or who have had cataract operations . Frames with lenses will be packed for Bangladesh and frames without lenses will go to Kenya. Over 20,000 pairs are needed.

The cost of a Cataract operation in India is $10.00 and for $25.00 the blind can have both eyes operated on and be provided with glasses at the end of a 10 day stay in hospital.

The women brought in over 50 pairs of glasses to be sent for this cause.

Insulation In Farm Buildings

Properly installed insulation in farm buildings will reduce heat loss, prevent deterioration due to condensation and control noise.

J.E. Turnbull, a research scientist at Agriculture Canada's Engineering Research Service in Ottawa, says that with rising energy costs well-insulated buildings are becoming more important in lowering annual farm production costs.

Insulation can also provide fire resistance if fire retardant materials are used.

There was a good attendance of Red Cross workers at the final business meeting of the Digby Branch before the summer vacation work meetings will continue for several weeks longer as there is a quilt to be completed before closing. Packing and shipping of finished articles will also be done before closing and the drawing will be held for the "Grandmother's Flower Garden" quilt now being raffled. The date for the opening business meeting of the Fall season was set for September 14th.

The Digby Branch President, Harold Emerson, chaired the meeting and also reported on the Annual Meeting of the Nova Scotia Red Cross Division, at which he had represented the Branch. The meeting, which was held at the Agricultural College, Truro, had the largest attendance ever, and Mr. Emerson considered it very successful in every way, the highlight being the very fine address by the Honorary Comptroller, Mr. Jean Desjardins.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read by the Secretary, Mrs. Mary Robert, followed by the Treasurer's report presented by Mrs. J.J. Brittain.

Mrs. H. M. Warne reported for the Women's Work Committee that a shipment of yarn for infant's wear and afghans had been received from Headquarters during the past month. In accordance with the new Red Cross fund-raising policy, tickets were being sold on a quilt and we owed appreciation to Mrs. Carter of the Elite Shop for her co-operation in displaying the quilt, with tickets available there.

The Sickroom Loan report by Mrs. Alice Winfield showed three pairs of crutches returned from loans during the month, with grateful acknowledgement of cash donations totalling $25 for the use of crutches and a walker. Appreciation was also expressed for the donation of a wheelchair from the late Miss Charlotte Gilpin.

Mrs. Allan Harris, in reporting for the Ways and Means Committee, included a motion that $100 of the Ways and Means funds be donated to the Digby Swimming Pool which is operated by the Kiwanis Club. This motion was passed unanimously.

Mr. Emerson advised the meeting that in conversation with Lee Savage, Chairman of the March Financial Campaign, he had learned that the total collected to date was $1870.41. with the possibility of a little yet to come in. Mr. Emerson stated that Mr. Savage is being transferred, but any further collections may still be left at the Canadian Bank of Commerce, where the campaign records will be held for the present. Mr. Emerson also referred to the total of 308 donors registered at the May Blood Donor Clinic and extended congratulations to Mr. Tufts, Chairman, for the success of the Clinic.

Following the adjournment of the business meeting, refreshments were served by the Ways and Means Committee.

New Navigation Aid Brings Pilot Home

An air navigation aid- an automatic voice responder- received its first field test in Digby during the Canadian Owners and Pilots meeting held here over the weekend.

The device "earned its wings" by bringing in a pilot who had become lost in bad weather.

Joel Tate, assistant to the president of Servo Corporation of America said this was the first time such a device had been used in the world to the best of his knowledge. He said the only other tests his company had run were "in the parking lot in Hicksville, N.Y. But it really needs to be tested in operation.

Mr. Tate said the voice responder had proven very effective at its first real try although there were some slight problems, which had been taken care of by flying in the devices' inventor, Woody Sandville, to make sure the prototype was operating right.

"Basically what the thing does," he said, "you might refer to as 'poor man's radar' but it gives you an exact bearing, and other features that radar does not."

In operation, the responder is hooked to a doppler direction finder system which locates the position of a pilot through voice transmission when he calls for information. A transceiver supplies audio to the responder.

When the pilot finishes his request, the units compute the information then go to a transmit mode, identifying the pilot, the system and supplying vocally the requested information such as "steer zero nine zero degrees to Digby."

The units' "voice" is stored on magnetic tape in the engineering model in use at the Digby station and no human operator is needed, the responder can be mounted in a cabinet and left unmanned. The machine even makes special situation replies such as "overhead pass" when a plane is directly above the unit, "please retransmit" when more than one pilot calls at the same time, and "unavailable, malfunction" when the responders' self-check system finds its performance unacceptable.

Mr. Tate said that the idea behind the machine is to provide a high quality navigation system at a price which smaller airports can afford and this new system is compatible in operation and price with virtually any airport.

He said the unit premiered at the COPA meet was no new the engineering model used had only been completed a week before being shipped to Digby but, due to the excellent results received in its maiden run, his company hoped to have the 7010-12 Automatic Voice Responder on the aviation market within six months.

Request Continuance Of Building Use

At a recent meeting of the Digby Town Council meeting, a resolution from the Admiral Digby Library and Historical Society was read which stated it had been brought to their attention that the Town of Digby may be contemplating a relocation of the Western Counties Regional Library quarters to a building which would become the Digby Town Hall in order to attract provincial government grants. The Society felt that their building on Montague Row is of historical significance, an asset in the appearance of the town and it provides a home for the affiliated facilities of the library and museum. The resolution continued that since the rent paid to the Society on behalf the library is necessary be it resolved that the Society continue to urge the town to use the building on Montague Row owned by the Society, supporting the efforts of the Society.

Push For Recognition Of All Sport Aviation

DIGBY - Col. Paul Poberzny, president of the world-wide Experimental Aircraft Association EAA and a man who has personally designed, built and flown 113 different aircraft, told members of the Canadian Pilots and Owners Association (COPA) Saturday that private aviators must push for the recognition of sport aviation on all fronts.

We have looked at aviation simply as a tool for transportation and I don't agree with that."

He told the group pilots and aircraft owners have to get more involved if their mutual aims in aviation are to be achieved. He said pilots once they soloed are a very individualistic breed and are hard to organize.

He said there are a great many people who are "tire kickers" around U.S. and Canadian airports. These are the very people who should be involved in the various aviation organizations.

"If these people would join the existing associations such as COPA or EAA the general aviation public could have a much stronger voice in dealing with government and air regulatory bodies."

Col. Poberzny said aviation instruction and information should be included in school curriculae and greater emphasis should be placed on sport flying in air cadets and similar organizations.

The EAA, which maintains the largest private collection of aircraft and memorabilia in the world, is currently sponsoring a four-and-a-half month, 24,000-mile tour of the U.S. with a replica of Lindberg's Spirit of St. Louis.

Col. Poberzny, one of the tour pilots with a personal log of over 21,000 hours in the air, in 350 different types of aircraft, told COPA members the EAA hopes the trip will remind aviators "what Lindberg has meant to all of us."

Facts

This year Nova Scotia will use over 32 million barrels of foreign oil to help meet our total energy requirements. 75% of this oil will be used for transportation, space heating and manufacturing. The remaining 25% is used for the generation of electricity.

Your Help

Your help in using electricity and all forms of energy wisely reduces our purchases of foreign oil, keeps more of your money here at home and saves you important dollars on your own energy bills

In the Future

In the future, NSPC anticipates switching to local Nova Scotian coal for more of its generating requirements. Tidal power and possible offshore oil and gas discoveries may also help. These and other new energy sources, combining both local and self-renewing power generation, point to increased reliance on electricity, should oil become prohibitive in price or in short supply.

In the Meantime

In the meantime, our policies and programs encourage the wise use of electricity and other forms of energy. Send for your free information package covering wise use of many forms of energy — check the items of particular interest to you and forward the coupon to us.

Over Nova Scotia

"Over Nova Scotia. Visibility unlimited. Altitude 600 feet."

The enduring words are those of Charles A. Lindbergh, recorded in his aircraft's flight log during his premier trans-Atlantic, nonstop trip 50 years ago this week.

On May 20-21, 1927, the 25-year old American did what his generation of aviators dreamed of: he flew his single-engine monoplane, The Spirit of St. Louis, nonstop from Long Island, New York to Paris, France in 33 ½ hours.

About four hours of that historic flight were spent over Nova Scotia. His first landfall was at St. Mary's Bay, Digby Co., along the southwestern shore.

It was ironic that almost 50 years to the month after Lindbergh first passed here doing 104 miles per hour on his way to Paris – an Air France supersonic Concorde made its first landing – a forced landing – in Nova Scotia, at Halifax International Airport. One jet engine had failed over the Atlantic, several hours out of Paris en route to the United States.

During his grueling 3600-mile flight in the Spirit of St. Louis, sights of "the huge green mass" of Nova Scotia meant more to Lindbergh than just a postcard view, after flying north along the U.S. Atlantic coast, past Providence, Rhode Island, and Cape Cod, towards the Canadian shoreline.

The maritime province represented one of three "bridges"-- or points of decision– he had marked out in his flight plan as being essential if he was ever to land in Paris.

He literally hurdled the first bridge with a successful but bumpy take-off from Long Island's Roosevelt Field early in the dismal drizzle of a May morning. The take-off was "touch and go" in part because of the little plane's ponderous cargo of fuel – 450 gallons weighing 2700 pounds.

The plane's total weight: 5,000 pounds "balanced on a blast of air". A 46-foot wingspan supported the load aloft.

But, the key to his ocean odyssey turned around flying weather over Nova Scotia. Lindbergh had earlier decided if there was no fog by the time he sighted a known landmark somewhere along the province's "low, grassy coast", and found he was on course – he would fly on towards the nearly 1,800 miles of alien ocean between Newfoundland and Ireland. Possible encounters with fog —"the most dreaded of all enemies of flight" -- didn't deter him.

When he clearly located Chedabucto Bay and the nearby Strait of Canso-- between Cape Breton Island and the Nova Scotia mainland – the sighting reaffirmed that he was well on his way to Paris. Another bridge was that invisible half-way mark out there over the North Atlantic Ocean" an imaginary thin line tracing the age-old Great Circle Route to Europe. At this fateful compass point on his Mercator's Projection flight chart, if he encountered no mechanical problems, he would stay on his eastbound course, whatever the weather.

"Air is crystal clear along Cape Breton Island's coast .. the ocean beyond is sparkling blue in sunlight."

Older residents of North Sydney, in Cape Breton, recall seeing the silver, high-winged monoplane fly low over their harbour late on a sunny day, bound towards Cabot Strait and Saint John's, Nfld.

Mrs. B.L. Powers of Halifax, in 1927 a resident of North Sydney, watched thoughtfully from her home as The Spirit of St. Louis nosed towards the northeast horizon. "I remember thinking how fragile and solitary it seemed, and of the long and hazardous trip ahead," she said.

What Lindbergh may not have then known is that another epic in aviation history had occurred along his Nova Scotia flight path 18 years before. The first flight by a British subject, in the British Empire, had soared 30 feet above the ice of Cape Breton's Bras d'Or Lakes on February 23, 1909. The ancient aircraft was The Silver Dart.

As he settled down on course from Cape Breton to Newfoundland, it had taken Lindbergh about four hours to fly up the Nova Scotia peninsula, at an average speed of 104 miles an hour.

With mostly fair weather in his favour, the lone airman found he was navigating within an acceptable two degrees of his planned flight path.

Though Nova Scotia's population in 1927 was about 515,000, his observations -- written in his 1953 book, The Spirit of St. Louis– indicate that he saw the seaside peninsula as a near-northern wilderness.

"Nova Scotia! That strange northern country of school-day geographies... hanging there precariously on the eastern edge of Canada... I could never fully realize that it lay no farther north than Maine."

After he landed at LeBourget Field, Paris on May 21, 1927, the 25-year old aviator was deluged with honours from around the world. He was awarded the Orteig Prize of $25,000 for the first non-stop New York-Paris flight.

Among other awards were the Gold Confederation Medal and Album of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Prime Minister MacKenzie King sent Canada's congratulations.

In 1929, an Alberta hamlet took the name Lindbergh.

Another honour accorded the famous flyer was a gold lifetime pass, courtesy of Canadian National Railways.

While aloft over Nova Scotia Lindbergh had wondered: "Did anyone think to send a message back over the wire to the United States, saying a plane had reached the shores of Nova Scotia?"

Someone did.

And 50 years later there are still older Nova Scotians who remember when Charles Augustus Lindbergh passed this way.

Simpsons-Sears Donates Dictionary Of Canadian Biography

All Secondary schools in Canada are to receive the latest edition of a unique Canadian reference book as a continuation of the Centennial project launched 10 years ago by Simpsons-Sears Limited.

Distribution of the new 967 page Volume IX of the Dictionary of Canadian Biography is to begin in March. This will be the fifth volume in the series to be donated by the catalogue and department store firm to Canada's 4500 high schools.

The Dictionary is considered one of the most important works of reference ever undertaken in this country. It documents the events and records the activities of the adventurous, dedicated and often controversial figures in Canadian history, who contributed in one way or another to the shaping of Canada's destiny from the earliest recorded history.

The pages of Volume IX contain the lives of 524 persons, who died between 1861 and 1870 and who are remembered in Canada's history. Included are major treatments of figures such as Bishop John Strachan, who shaped so much of Upper Canada, rebel William Lyon MacKenzie, entrepreneur Sir Samuel Cunard, politician Louis-Hippolyte La Fontaine, and writers Francois-Xavier Garneau and Thomas Chandler Haliburton, to mention but a few.

Not neglected are the minor, often unusual characters from our past, such as the Cape Breton Giant, Angus McAskill, who once lifted an anchor weighing 2700 pounds, but slipped and was pinned beneath it. The lives of folk heroes, Laura Ingersoll Secord and Joseph Montferrand are unravelled and the story of how their legends grew is told.

As a reference work, this Volume is incomparable because of the number of significant persons it covers, and the two 19th century volumes now published (Volume X appeared in 1972) provide an important resource for all interested in the history of Canada.

The Dictionary of Canadian Biography is published jointly by the University of Toronto Press and Les Presses de L'Universite Laval in Quebec City. The massive research work and publication were made possible by a bequest of the late James Nicholson of Toronto, with the assistance of grants from the Canadian Centennial Commission and the Canada Council in Ottawa.

Each volume is researched and written by English and French speaking scholars in their own language, edited at both universities and finally published simultaneously in companion English and French editions by the two university presses. The volumes distributed by Simpsons-Sears are in either English or French depending on the principal language of the school.

Advisory Council For Status Of Women

Nova Scotia's office on the Status of Women, a "hit-and-miss" operation for the past year, is about to lose its ad hoc status and "hand-to-mouth" existence with the passing of recent legislation establishing a permanent Advisory Council.

The province's Status of Women office was appointed by government shortly after the onset of International Women's Year in 1975. It had a budget and a mandate.

"It was necessary then to establish a focus to which the community could turn for information but since the close of IWY, it has been a rather haphazard operation with very little government commitment," recalls Hon. William M. MacEachern, Minister of Social Services.

Mr. MacEachern, who also took over responsibility for Status of Women in late 1976, says establishment of an Advisory Council with a probable membership of 12- will put the office on firm footing with enough funds and staff to carry out the work which "seems to be increasing".

"Now that the legislation has been passsed, we can begin looking at possible candidates- men as well as women- to serve the Council's two and three year terms; also we can establish ongoing budgets and do some long-term planning," he says.

The Status of Women office now works out of cramped quarters on the fifth floor of a downtown Barrington Street office building in Halifax. It has a co-ordinator, Kathryn Logan, two staff members, and no fixed budget or mandate.

Since the 1975 International Women's Year, however, pressure has been on government to respond to the 95 recommendations contained in the Nova Scotia Task Force Report on the Status of Women, tabled in the Legislature in March, 1976.

This report was compiled by a government appointed seven-member task force, chaired by Dr. Mairi Saint John MacDonald of Mount Saint Vincent University, Halifax. Pressure points, although not militantly vocal, have erupted since then within factions in Sydney and Halifax.

Last fall, an interdepartmental government committee, headed by Mr. MacEachern, was appointed to tackle the report and to recommend action. "I told the committee to concentrate on the less controversial and easily implemented recommendations for the time being so we could get on with the job of cleaning up existing legislation which clearly discriminated against women," says Mr. MacEachern.

The committee did this, he says, with the result that discriminatory clauses have been eliminated from some 19 Nova Scotia statutes and research has just concluded recommending changes in an additional twenty-eight.

In the meantime, the committee is carrying out research on major issues such as equal pay for work of equal value, automa payment of maintenance when a mother deserted, a family day-care system, a pointment of women to various governme departments and commissions, co-ordinati of well-women's clinics throughout t province, and matrimonial and property la reform.

Mr. MacEachern says the terdepartmental committee, which is ma up of female economists, lawyers, soci scientists and planners, will soon ma recommendations on these issues to gover ment.

"These are tough problems and no provin in Canada- let alone the federal governmen has solved them. We do not want to ma hasty decisions without any hope of seein them succeed. We are committed to bringi in the best legislation possible and if th requires more research on controversi issues, then we will do it," he says.

The task force report's major recom mendation was for the establishment of Ministry of State for the Status of Women " give women a strong voice at the highest lev of decision-making in our province."

Mr. MacEachern says the Nova Scot cabinet didn't follow through on this propos because "the same job could be accomplishe more economically" through appointment an advisory council.

"A considerable amount of the work in volved has, and is being carried out, throug co-operation and involvement of othe provincial government departments an agencies.

"We want to continue this kind of universa department commitment, understanding an appreciation of women's concerns. Cabine felt that a continuation of this effort plus th establishment of an advisory council would b the best way to handle things."

Mr. MacEachern thinks the legislatio setting up the council, which has not yet bee proclaimed by cabinet is "more com prehensive', than that used in Quebec, On tario, Saskatchewan or Prince Edward Island.

"As the fifth province to set up such a advisory council, we have learned from the others and have also cashed in on the experience gained by the federal government's advisory council.

"In fact, our own legislation comes closer to that governing the federal body since our council, too, will have the authority to make public studies and recommendations at the same time it reports to government," says Mr. MacEachern.

Other responsibilities of the advisory council, whose members will be government appointees, will include advising government on all matters of interest and concern to women and to propose legislation, policies and practices to promote equality of opportunity and status.

Exceed 1976 Collections

The Culloden area Cancer collections for 1977 exceeded those of 1976 by $59. In the district $54.30 was collected by Dianne Jordan; $59.30 by Faye VanTassell and $150.00 by Sarah Cosman, Mount Pleasant. A total of $263.60 in 1977, more than $59. over the 1976 total of $204.

No Co-ordinator

Russell Christmas, local Digby taxi driver has informed The Digby Courier that he did not take on the job of Co-ordinator for Salaam Imported Sardines as reported in the Courier last week. His relatives, Gordon Christmas I, Gordon Christmas II, and Gordon Christmas III of Boston, Mass., were in town on Wednesday in the interest of distribution of Salaam products.

Hogs Profitable On N.S. Farms

Hog production in Nova Scotia has increased significantly in the last 20 years.

Hog quality and feed conversion have also improved and the economists have found a trend toward farrow-to-finish rather than feeder hog operations. Between 1966 and 1975, Nova Scotia hog producers had an average net return of $10.49 per hog marketed.

Weymouth Woman Displays Art

Gold from Nova Scotia" was the headline in the Siesta Key Pelican recently, promoting an exhibit called "Ventures in Gold and Porcelain" by Eileen Holcomb, painter, and Ann Darling, Sculptor. The show was held in the Gallery of Harbor Towers Yacht and Racquet Club in Siesta Key, Florida.

Eileen Holcomb, a native of Weymouth, N.S., has been a winter resident in Sarasota since 1965. In Nova Scotia she studied with Dr. Donald MacKay, and in Sarasota, with Herbert Stoddard, Robert Chase, Hilton Leech and Elden Rowland. It was during her association with Hilton Leech Art School, that she developed her "Gold Technique."

Mrs. Holcomb has exhibited widely, and has received many awards, and her works are included in both private and public collections. Most of her paintings are imaginative and mysterious memory shapes of her own Nova Scotia, and from sketches of her many travels throughout U.S., the Caribbean and Europe.

She has frequently given demonstrations of her "Gold Technique", demonstrating her highly specialized technique.

Mrs. Holcomb has taught painting for Adult Education programs in Nova Scotia and Sarasota, and in the Art Department of Inter American University in Puerto Rico. She was associated with the Hilton Leech Art School and collaborated with Mr. Leech on his book. "The Joys of Watercolor". She has also done experimental painting for Cameo Crafts in Montreal.

One of the out-of-town visitors at the exhibit was Mrs. Ira Dillon of Digby. There were also others from Nova Scotia.

Ann Darling- co-exhibitor had a display of white-translucent porcelain. Sculpture and pottery have been Mrs. Darlings' absorbing interest for many years. She also mixes her own glazes and clays. She is well-known for her stoneware Bird series, vases and sculptured bowls throughout Florida.

Esso Home Comfort. The service you'd expect from a friend...

When you become one of our Automatic Delivery Customers, you don't have to worry about running out of fuel.

We worry for you.

Long before you run out, one of our trucks will be there, to fill your tank with top quality Esso fuel oil.

How do we do it?

By getting to know you. By getting to know your house and your furnace. So we'll know how much fuel you need to keep your place as warm as you like it.

Then, we keep a sharp eye on the weather. If the temperature drops, our delivery schedule speeds up.

That way, you always have a good reserve of fuel on hand.

And should you need service, we can and will provide that, too, anytime of the day or night.

After all, we like to treat our customers like friends – and if that means going out of our way to help, we will. That's what friends are for.

Esso HOME COMFORT We'll keep you comfortable.

DIGBY NECK & ISLANDS

Tiverton

Sympathy is extended to the family of the late Mrs. Leta Butler (nee Leta Outhouse, native of Tiverton) who passed away at Saint John, N. B.

We are pleased to report Joseph (Joey) Outhouse has returned from Digby General Hospital where he has been a patient for the past six months.

Mrs. Lindsay Outhouse is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Allen Walker and family at Centerville.

Sunday School Superintendent, John Outhouse was confined to his home over the weekend with the flu. Assistant, Melbourne Outhouse, served in his stead.

New Time For Sunday School Session

During the Sunday School period on Sunday an issue involving time was settled. Ever since Sunday School sessions began in the Tiverton Christian Church many years ago, the time for commencement of the hour-long session was 12 noon. immediately following the church service 11 a.m.- 12.

Several months ago, the superintendent, John Outhouse raised the question - why not commence our Sunday School sessions at 9:45 a.m. immediately preceding the church service. Also, he said, if members wished to visit the mainland they would have an extra hour or two of the afternoon and could catch the 12 or 1 a.m. ferry at Petite Passage. He pointed out that anyone wishing to visi N.B., could make an earlier connection with Digby- Saint John Ferry.

However, fishermen and others who begin labor in the wee hours of the morning and continue all day, every day of the week, appreciate the extra hours of sleep and rest on Sunday a.m.

After considerable discussion and weighing the pros and cons of the issue, it was decided Sunday to allow the new time two month's trial. At that time it will be decided if the action taken will remain permanent.

At present, church services held in the Tiverton Christian Church alternate between Sunday A.M. and evening, similiar to those of the United Baptist. Services of the two churches are arranged so as not to coincide with each other.

the sidelines.

Busy Year For COPA

This past year has been the "busiest, most challenging year we've ever had in COPA, the organization's national president Russ Beach, told COPA members at The Pines.

But, the president noted, "there is still much more work to be done and the association's biggest problem is that of pressuring the government to maintain an environment in which aviation can grow unrestricted."

He said the use of French in the air is still a problem to be solved and while COPA is still supplying pilots for tests in this area in simulators, he believes the whole thing is an "exercise in futility."

At the meeting members voted to empower the directors to oppose the proposed introduction of compulsory aircraft liability insurance, as described in Bill C-40.

Peter Arpin, director general of civil areonautics in Canada, told COPA members some preliminary progress has been made in developing a new federal policy governing civil aviation in Canada.

Mr. Arpin said Canada has the second largest fleet of civil aircraft in the world, topping 20,000. About 88 per cent of these are single engined, which underlines the large number of small plane owners.

He said only 10 percent of the licenced airports in Canada handle large commercial air carriers and general aviation provides the vital link between the remaining 90 percent, as well as participating in the other ten per cent.

"From a national viewpoint, what we would like to determine is the contribution that civil aviation makes to the gross national product."

Mr. Arpin said while his department is sensitive to the needs and requests of pilots, budgetary restrictions make it hard to keep up with such a dynamic and growing industry.

Brier Island Weekend

The Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival which seems to "kick off" the summer shows is over. Other organizations and places are beginning to advertise their special days for the summer of 1977. The first of these coming to our attention is the Westport celebration under a new name and under a new program. This year the celebration at Westport is called Brier Island Weekend and will take place on July 1,2 and 3.

Westport has been noted for its excellent performance on such occasions and should the Brier Island Weekend of 1977 have favorable weather, the usual community cooperation and its newly planned program, there is no doubt but that resident islanders will be joined by hundreds of mainlanders for a day of friendship, sharing and supporting the various community projects which are derived from the proceeds of the day.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the program for Brier Island Weekend. Here too we repeat the many attractions like Friday's Turkey Shoot, games, bingo, dances with music by Life and Times Band and also music by the Kolts. Saturday will see a Motor Vehicle Parade, a bazaar, dunking game, mock jail, auction book store, Old Country Store and Youth Booth. Ball games will attract the sports minded on Sunday. No one will need go hungry through all of this with eating resources being canteens, fish chowders, casseroles and bake tables.

Other villages and towns in Digby County and nearby areas have announced their festive dates but we congratulate the Westport committee for releasing their program details early, giving people the opportunity to make arrangements for attending as well as arousing the appetites of would-be clients for the festivities announced.

Many Brier Island natives have wandered to the New England States or to Canadian cities for employment. What better time for planning a vacation than during the Brier Island Weekend celebrations when old scenes can be recalled, pleasant faces met once again and friendly chats make a joyous vacation.

Congratulations to the Brier Island Weekend committee. May your endeavours be rewarded by crowds of people and successful days.

Culture Sharing Day Planned

Tentative plans are reported underway through the Western Nova Multicultural Association for a special program featuring the Multicultural nature of the population, not only of the area served by the Association, but also the wider area of Southwestern Nova Scotia.

Although plans at the moment are only in the formative stages, it is understood a special cultural sharing day will be held during the week preceding Canada's Birthday, July 1st.

This program and presentations will feature the many cultures that form the population of the area. These presentations and demonstrations will include traditional costumes, art forms, songs and dance as well as traditional foods.

A co-operative undertaking, the program will include representation from the Yarmouth-Shelburne area as well as Digby, Clare and Western Valley. It is hoped the program, which will highlight both the Multicultural and Bilingual aspects of this area of Canada will attract not only wide participation and involvement, but also a considerable audience interest.

While the locale for the program has not yet been definitely determined, it is understood a central point will be chosen. Consideration is also given to repeat performances if interest warrants.

Reflecting To 1947

Notice of appeal from the decision of County Court Judge Kenneth L. Crowell in the case of the petition lodged by F.L. Anderson and H.M. Warne concerning the civic election held in Digby on February 4, was served on Victor Cardoza and Albert Warner, respondents. The appeal seeks to have the decision of Judge Crowell, which declared the election of Cardoza and Warner as valid, reversed and the prayer of the petitioners relating to Cardoza and Warner allowed with costs of the appeal to the Supreme Court and County Court. The petition back in February set aside the election on the grounds that Warner was a member of the Digby Volunteer Fire Department and it was alleged he was paid remuneration. Cardoza's was on the grounds that papers were not in proper order and improperly received by the town clerk. It was also claimed that because the ballot used on election day contained names of persons not eligible for elections, the whole election should be invalidated.

The sloop "Nina L" became a total loss by fire at Westport early Saturday morning. The Nina L was skippered by Captain Melvin Melanson and had discharged hardwood cordwood brought from Plympton to Westport. A backfire from the engine set the craft on fire.

The use of Sunday in the programs of the annual Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival was protested by the Western Association of United Baptist Churches in session in Digby. They suggested it be held in mid-week with one of the days set apart as a full holiday.

Regular monthly food parcels are being sent by a group of Red Cross workers in Digby under the convenership of Mrs. G.W. Connell to Mrs. Gwendolyn Winnifred Digby of Sherborne, Dorset, England, a descendant of Admiral Robert Digby for whom the town of Digby was named. The Digby family had an interesting history. Admiral Sir Robert Digby, whose ship, the "Atlanta" brought refugees to Nova Scotia from New York in 1783, landing them at the hamlet of Conway, later named Digby in his honor, was a son of Edward Digby Sherborne Castle. He was a greatgrandson of William 5th, Baron Digby and younger brother of Henry 1st Earl Digby. At the time of the Revolutionary War he was senior officer in command of His Majesty's naval forces in American waters. In 1787 the people of Digby wrote Admiral Digby stating they felt the town to be under his immediate patronage and "from which circumstance we are emboldened to beg your honor to bestow on the infant settlement something toward enabling us to build a small but decent church. The Admiral responded with a gift of 100 pounds and a fine bell which is still in use at Trinity Anglican Church.

An outstanding event took place on May 22 in North Range when the local Home and School Association unveiled and presented a Roll of Honor to the school in commemoration of the thirty ex-pupils who served in the four branches of the service during World War II.

An estimated 100,000,000 words were used in a half century's service in the teaching profession by Kelsey C. Denton formerly of Little River. He retired in California. He started his teaching in Montreal High where he spent 31 years.

DAR Takeover Proposed

The Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade suggested Thursday in Halifax the CNR take over the Dominion Atlantic Railway to provide better service to the Annapolis Valley.

In a presentation to the House of Commons' standing committee on transportation, the board said the small railway in western Nova Scotia subjects most shippers in the valley to double freight rates.

Any shipment which begins its movement on the DAR must be transferred to the CNR, either at Windsor Junction or Truro. Incoming shipments originating with CNR and destined for the valley have to be transferred to the DAR, except at Middleton, Bridgetown and Yarmouth.

"Therefore most cases shippers are subjected to two freight rates or the equivalent thereof and two carriers at all other points in the valley," the brief said.

Industrial executives in the Valley, the board said, consider that the takeover of the DAR by CN would be a step toward better freight service in the Annapolis Valley. The board, however was reticent to make any statement about the DAR's rail passenger service that operates between Yarmouth and Halifax.

Both the board's and the Atlantic Provinces Transportation Commission's briefs concurred that the "taper principle" be applied on long haul rail transport of commodities. By this principle there would be a sliding scale of increase applied on commodity rates from the Annapolis Valley to western Canada.

The board said "rather than the railways subjecting industry to across the board increases of 10 to 15 per cent we argue that the railways should be requested or pressured... into applying a lower percentage increase to Vancouver, as opposed to Thunder Bay or Winnipeg."

The assistant general manager, R.M.S. Armitage of the Atlantic Provinces Transportation Commission said railway freight increase in the past year-and-one-half based on a flat uniform percentage increase have had greater impact on long-haul shippers like those in the Atlantic Provinces.

Both the board and commission agreed that restriction of all trade to Canadian ships will adversely affect the cost to users, and that there is a need to upgrade highways to permit carriage of goods at higher uniform maximum weights on a year-round basis.

The board said also that the government must spend more money upgrading highways. The present allotment from the federal government, it said, could be spent constructing between 30 to 40 miles of Highway 101 through the Valley.

The two associations agreed the announced intention of the government to withdraw from the British Commonwealth Shipping Agreement and reserve Canadian coastal shipping to Canadian vessels only could have a serious effect on the cost to users.

Provision of stable competitively-priced transportation systems in the Atlantic region are vital to the region's economic future, the 2,600 member Halifax Board of Trade told the committee.

"Transportation is the jugular vein of this region and future development and selfsufficiency can only be attained with a favorable transportation policy," a brief from the group saids.

"Otherwise, stagnation must ensue."

In its brief, the group called for provision of guarantees of economical and comfortable rail service and provision of a better capital grants program to East Coast ports.

Bank Of Nova Scotia In Digby

The Bank of Nova Scotia opened sub-agency in Digby, Nova Scotia on February 20, 1877 under the supervision of Thomas Whitman, Agent at Annapolis. Agencies, which changed to branches in 1897, were run by individuals who, unlike today's managers, were not employed by the Bank on a full-time basis but were business or professional men in the community who received a small salary and a commission for their work. The Digby opening was one of many during this period as the Bank was embarking on a program of expansion under one of its most able general managers, Thomas Fyshe.

Mr. G. Henderson was appointed as the first agent at Digby. The Board of Directors of the Bank agreed to allow Mr. Henderson one thousand dollars per year to cover salary, clerk's hire, rent, etc. When their first Agent at Digby died in April, 1880, the Board expressed their sorrow at having lost such a fine man: "Resolved that the Board express their deep regret at the loss sustained by the Bank in the death of their agent, the late Mr. Henderson, and their appreciation of the zeal and vigilance as well as high toned integrity which he has at all times displayed in the discharge of his responsible duties as Agent of the Bank and also that they express their warmest sympathy with the widow in her sad and sudden bereavement.

Henderson was succeeded by D.C. Chalmers who managed the Agency for one year until J.H. Churchill took over. David R. Forgan, well-known in Scotiabank's history as the one who travelled out West to open an office in Winnipeg with $40,000 in a satchel around his neck, remembered an amusing story concerning Mr. Churchill in his "Sketches and Speeches" in 1925. As Churchill had fallen sick in 1883 or 1884 and could no longer manage the Agency, Forgan was sent out to relieve him for a period of about two months:

Herb Warren, former manager of the Digby Branch, Bank of Nova Scotia, cut the cake during 100th anniversary celebrations .

"On taking over the discounted notes I, put aside about a dozen, and when I had finished the task the following conversation took place between myself - the smart youngster from the Head Office- and Mr. Churchill, the shrewd old country banker...

The youngster: The bills balance, Mr. Churchill, but I think that the endorsements on these notes are forgeries. The maker of the note forged the endorser's name in each case.

Mr. Churchill (taking the notes in question and calmly examining them): Well, young man, you are pretty smart. You did not pick out all the forgeries in the box, but all those you did pick out are forgeries right enough.

The Youngster (in astonishment): Well, why don't you have the forgers arrested?

Mr. Churchill: Arrested? Not on your life! These notes are the best loans in the Bank. The makers know they are forgeries. I know that they are forgeries but the makers don't know that I know they are forgeries. If you are here when these notes mature you will find every one of them will be promptly paid. The makers are farmer-fishermen. They are not running away, and they will take good care that the endorser does not get a notice of non-payment of the note.

I was there long enough to notice that these notes were promptly paid - generally a day or two before maturity! Upon my return to Halifax I thought it my duty to report this kind of business to the General Manager and to ask if I should write Mr. Churchill and put a stop to it. 'No, no,' said the General Manager laughing, 'let him go on discounting his forgeries- he has made no loss in many years.'"

A total of seventeen individuals have served as managers at Digby, N.S. over a period of one hundred years. The longest term was that of H. Green from 1889 to 1923, a period spanning 34 years.

Although the first quarters of The Bank of Nova Scotia in Digby have not been determined, we do know that a lot measuring 50' x 45' on the north-west corner of Water and Sydney Streets was purchased in July 1899 from Mary Nichols at a cost of $1500. A building, described as a two storey brick and stone structure with a slate roof, was erected the same year for $19,669 by Rhodes Curry Co. The ground floor was naturally used as the banking office while the upper floor was rented out tenants. After the structure was remodelled in 1922 by Denton and Condon at a cost of $12,482, the Bank valued its entire property including land, building, furniture and fittings at $25,770 in 1923.

Bank Marks 100th Birthday

The Digby branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia officially observed its 100th anniversary on Thursday . Guests were entertained by several guest speakers and served with coffee and do-nuts.

Special speaker for the occasion was Jim Mitchell, Supervisor of the regional office (in charge of marketing) in Halifax. Other speakers included Joe Casey, MLA, Helen McNeil, municipal deputy warden, and Mayor Stewart MacNaughton. Bank president Pat Fletcher MC'd the event.

Mr. Mitchell noted the Bank of Nova Scotia is truly a Nova Scotian insititution....conceived and born here in 1832...the only bank in the world founded here...the only bank with its head office in Nova Scotia ... and the only one to hold its meetings here.

He spoke of the Bank of Nova Scotia's surging progress and with assets now over $20 billion - and attributed this to its customers and staff.

Mr. Mitchell then went on to provide some information obtained from the Bank of Nova Scotia archives on the history of the Digby branch (n.b. information included in this Courier edition).

Joe Casey used his speaking time to comment on the tremendously changed PR of banking today, and the importance of a bank manager.

On a humourous note, he spoke of the difficulty he had getting money from banks in earlier years. "They say no now," he noted, but they say it with a smile...that always eases the pain."

Mrs. McNeil brought greetings on behalf of the municipality and wished the bank success over the next 100 years.

Mayor MacNaughton congratulated the bank on behalf of the town and the Digby County Power Board.

After the speakers had finished, a birthday cake was cut by a former Digby bank manager, Herb Warren.

POSTER CONTEST

Winners of a poster contest (theme: Conservation of Natural Resources) were announced near the end of the program. Winners were: age 6-8-1. Kim Sibley $25.; 2. Rochelle Thomas, $15; 3. Armista Frothinger, $10. Age 9-11 -1. Karin Tidd, $25; Bruce Baxter $15; and 3. Tracy Martyn, $10. Age 12-14 -1. Jack Theriault, $25; Douglas Morgan, $15; and Robert Winchester, $10.

Judges for the poster contest were Mrs. Gladys Nesbit, Michael Langley and Marion Croft.

Tea for the guests was poured by Kelly Fletcher. Pat Levings served as doorperson.

Some of the winners in the Bank of Nova Scotia (Digby Branch) poster contest are shown here. Standing in front are Rochelle Thomas and Tracey Barton. Standing behind are Karen Tidd, Kim Sibley and Jackie Theriault. Conservation was the theme of the contest.

Wins $25 Math Prize

Alan Blinn, Clare District High School, Church Point, was among those who won a $25 County prize in the 1977 provincial mathematics competition sponsored by the Canadian Mathematical Congress.

Shane Stark, of Halifax West High School, who received honourable mention in the 1976 competition, claimed the first prize of $100. James Graham of Queen Elizabeth High School in Halifax was second. Halifax West showed strongly, placing five students in the top ten. A number of rural schools also turned in fine performances.

448 students from 43 schools in Nova Scotia participated, writing what Dr. Lee Keener, chairman for the provincial competition, called "a very demanding exam, probably more difficult than the one set in 1976."

Dr. Keener, a mathematics professor at Dalhousie University, commented that the Congress has sponsored the test for more than 20 years in an effort to keep students interested in mathematics and encourage them to continue their studies in the area. "The co-operation and enthusiasm shown by the province's principals and teachers was again very great, and is most appreciated," Dr. Keener said.

Governors, Premiers In Digby This Weekend

Undersea exploration for minerals in the northwest Atlantic, development of tidal and hydro power, fisheries development and jurisdiction, and international boundary negotiations, will be discussed in Digby this weekend at a conference of New England governors and eastern Canadian premiers.

It will be the fifth annual meeting of the group, and the first in Nova Scotia.

Premier Gerald Regan and Connecticut Governor Ella Grasso will co-chair the conference, to be held in the Nova Scotia government-owned Digby Pines resort hotel.

Conference planners expect that in addition to the premiers and governors, between 150 and 200 state and provincial government officials and members of their families, will attend the three-day event.

Several Nova Scotia cabinet ministers will participate in the conference, including Mines Minister Bill Gillis, Fisheries Minister Dan Reid, Environment Minister Vince MacLean, and Recreation Minister Garnet Brown. Nova Scotia Power Corporation president Les Kirkpatrick will attend Saturday's session, which will deal primarily with energy-related matters.

Formal conference sessions will be held only on Friday and Saturday mornings, with the balance of the weekend free for informal meetings among the delegates, and for recreation.

All six New England governors plan to attend, although only three of the five eastern Canadian premiers are expected to be present.

Newfoundland's Frank Moores will be represented by deputy premier Alex Hickman.

Hickman, who holds the justice portfolio, has represented Moores at most previous meetings.

Quebec Premier Rene Levesque has already announced that he does not plan to attend, because he wants to participate in St. Jean Baptiste Day festivities June 24.

However, Premier Regan, as conference host, has not been officially advised of his colleague's intention not to attend.

"There has been no indication (from Levesque) that he is not coming," said a Regan aide.

Behind the scenes, Regan's office has been attempting, without success so far, to secure definite word from Quebec City.

Offshore issues will dominate Friday's session. A general review will be given of the Canada-U.S. dispute over the international boundary in the Gulf of Maine.

Both countries are anxious to settle their differences, because of the proclamation of 200-mile fisheries zones, which overlap on the resource-rich George's Bank.

A report will be presented by the New England Commission, in co-operation with the New England Fisheries Resources Steering Committee, dealing with methods of joint co-operation in Canadian and U.S. waters.

The Maritime Offshore Resources Board will make a presentation on the jurisdiction agreement between Ottawa and the Maritime Provinces, which was concluded last winter.

New Brunswick Premier Richard Hatfield and Massachusetts Governor Mike Dukakis will present a general review of federal and regional energy developments since the 1976 conference, when Saturday's session deals with energy matters.

Papers will be tabled on the proposed Dickey-Lincoln hydro development in Labrador, including possible transmission line routings.

A discussion will be held of the Tenneco liquified natural gas trans-shipment port, planned for Saint John, together with the associated pipeline across New England.

Officials of Tenneco Corp. are expected to participate in the Digby talks.

Reports will be presented on both the Bay of Fundy tidal power study, and the United States Corps of Engineers study on Quoddy tidal power.

Both Prince Edward Island and New England will lead discussion of alternate energy sources.

Energy conservation plans of the states and provinces will be reviewed, including discussion.

D.A.R. Reduces Fares For Summer

Travellers on the Dominion Atlantic Railway in Nova Scotia will be able to save one-third of regular fares under special summer rates beginning June 17.

The round-trip excursion rates will be in effect between all stations along the DAR line connecting Halifax and Yarmouth via Digby, where ferry service crosses the Bay of Fundy to Saint John, N.B.

To qualify for the lower rate passengers must complete the return journey within 30 days of purchase of the round-trip ticket.

As examples of the fare savings possible, the round-trip summer excursion rate between Halifax and Digby will be $21.10 instead of the regular $31.60, while the journey from Yarmouth to Digby and back will cost $9.40 instead of $14.10.

Excursion rates will remain in effect throughout the peak tourist season, until Sept. 26.

The Dominion Atlantic Railway, serving the principle cities of Halifax, Windsor, Kentville, Annapolis Royal, Digby and Yarmouth, is owned and operated by CP Rail.

Casey Opens New Bank Facilities In Bear River

The Royal Bank of Canada, Bear River Branch, officially opened its new location on the River Road with a ribbon-cutting ceremony Tuesday.

Joe Casey, Digby MLA cut the ribbon with assistance from William (Bill) Cox, branch manager, J. Clifford Sinclair, general manager for the Atlantic Provinces; Susan Wambolt and Mary Everett.

Mr. Casey, during a brief address commented that the opening of new branches shows the agressiveness of banks today, noting openings in this area seems to be of "epidemic propostions".

It shows, he said, that "you have great faith in the area.

Mr. Sinclair commented that rising business at the Bear River branch is "a growing reflection of activity within the community." He noted the new office should enable the bank to do a better job.

Branch manager William Cox noted that this is the fourth home of the Bear River bank since it first opened in 1898 in a building on the present site of the post office. It was then known as the Union Bank of Halifax. Before its move here, the bank operated from sites in what is now the Bill Benson Memorial Building and the Oddfellow's Hall.

Mr. Cox noted that the bank has made much progress in the past few years and has doubled its staff since 1971 to six full-time and one part-time employees. The provision of new facilities, he said, is the crowning of the bank's progress.

Digby MLA Joe Casey cut the ribbon to officially open the Royal Bank of Canada's new location on the River Road on Tuesday. WHAT ARE YOU DOING FOR CANADA DAY

The question is being asked what are you doing for Canada Week or Canada Day? Canada Week begins June 25 and of course, Canada Day is on July 1st. Well, what are you doing? The town, the municipality, the people?

Actually right around here we have not heard too many specific Canada Day plans. There is the Weymouth Day which we hope will be successful and there is the Westport Weekend. We doubt if either of these were designed with Canada Day in mind specifically but may we suggest that both can be made use of in getting across the Canada Day message to the most people.

There is another Canada Day observance which has come to our attention. The Western Nova Multicultural Association is definitely claiming June 25 1977 as a day to especially observe "Canada Day" in a unique way. There is to be a Multicultural Picnic beginning 2:30 p.m. at the Ellenwood Provincial Park in Yarmouth County. The program will consist of cultural art, crafts, pottery, discussions, musical entertainment, fun for children and food to eat (you bring it). The Multicultural Picnic will be a reminder that Canada is made up of many nationalities who have proved that people of different races and orders can live and build together in unity forever.

When was there a time in the past 110 years that the blending of Canadian voices needed more to be heard than in 1977. No time has there been when Canadians needed to exert their friendships than now. No time has there been when genuine mutual trust has been so much needed to be felt among Canadians as in 1977.

So what are you doing for Canada Day this year? You can fly a flag, you can dance or sing. You can twirl a baton or march in a parade. You might even say "hello" to your neighbour "it's a nice Canada Day". You can be conscious as a Canadian that it is Canada Day and not just another holiday.

Hodge Podge

Blame it on the weather or what you like but we did get a well wrapped Christmas parcel on Saturday "Do not open until Christmas". Well, it might not have been the weather. Just a thrifty soul from Massachusetts had to come to Nova Scotia and took advantage of delivering 1977 Christmas gifts while here. Sure thing, we'll leave it in its Christmas wrapper until Christmas.

Speaking of the weather, a lady was in our shop a few days ago who declared there have been worse cold spring days. Not too many years back she had worn mittens while picking strawberries.

COST SHARING FORMULA A PRIORITY—BAGNELL

priority this year. The minister was speaking at a banquet during the conference on energy, development and planning.

Pressure on resource lands such as agricultural and forested areas is increasing, and the resulting problems require action in order to maintain options for the future, the minister said.

There are two problems. The long-range problem concerns depletion of the resource lands, while the more immediate problem deals with conflicts between suburban development and the farmer, or cottage development and the forest industry.

The sprawl of suburban development makes the provision of fire, police, sewer and water lines costly and means that taxes must be increased or levels of service dropped, he said. In some centres the services are not provided.

"It sometimes appears we are chasing development with water and sewer systems. Taxes cannot continue to increase. Over the last five years our municipal affairs budget has increased eight-fold.

"This cannot continue."

Mr. Bagnell said the drift of residents to rural and fringe areas has not only created problems for the farmers, but is eroding the town cores, leaving them where they cannot compete with the suburban shopping centres.

Problems also have arisen over conflicts in watershed areas where sprawling developments are difficult to prevent, he said. When they occur in areas used for public water supply, it means expensive treatment or a costly move to a new watershed.

Mr. Bagnell said his department is trying to deal with these problems by making sure taxation policies, financial programs, resource sector incentive programs, controls and regulations are structured to support solutions.

"I have identified the need to examine our cost-sharing formula with the municipalities and this examination and revision of the foundation formula will receive priority this year.'

Letters To The Editor

Opinions expressed in the Letter to the Editor column in this newspaper are not necessarily those of the editor.

Dear Editor and Citizens:

A special meeting of the Digby Town Council was held on June 14, to deal with the 1977 budget and tax rate. While the usual procedure of paring each department and cutting non-essentials, failed to get off the ground, considerable interest was sparked when discussion moved to two items - (1) the purchase of new parking meters for Digby and (2) remuneration paid to council members.

The "parking meter fiesta" has been surfacing periodically since 1974, when a parking meter salesman from J.J. MacKay Canada Ltd., met privately with Councillor Robertson, clerk Pitman and meter attendant W.F. Dunn. This meeting came to light when correspondence followed, which brought questions from councillors. In January of this year, the salesman arrived again to sell his wares, and met with Robertson, Dunn, Clerk Eavis and the Mayor. None of the members of the committee under which this falls were advised of this meeting. Again a follow up letter was received, in which the salesman proposed the disposal of all present meters and the installation of new ones at a cost to the town of approximately $15,765 plus interest, for 100 (one hundred) new meters, with a trade in allowance of only $400 for the one hundred meters now in use. Rates would increase with the new meters and two hour parking would be abandoned, but the salesman pointed out that the shoppers would continue to patronize down town stores and "gladly pay the higher fee." The normal operating hours shown on the new meters would be from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily (excepting Sundays and holidays) plus evenings when the stores are open. The salesman stressed the necessity of enforcing the meters continuously. (On the basis of 67 hours per week it would appear that two attendants would be required.)

Some research on the parking situation in Digby has indicated considerable disapproval by both meter users and businesses, of the continuation of a system of metered streets, which in the past two years has been abandoned by all towns from Yarmouth to, and including Windsor.

The committee met to discuss this in March of this year, and all members, Councillors MacNutt, Journeay and myself, opposed purchasing new parking meters for the town of Digby. This recommendation was presented to Council later. When the discussion arose at the recent budget meeting it came as somewhat of a surprise when Committee member Journeay, (who is chairman of the shopping center merchants association and operates a business there), completely and unexpectely reversed his former decision, and put the motion to buy new parking meters for down town and increase the rates. His motion was supported by Councillors Robertson, Ellis, VanTassell and of course, the Mayor. Councillor MacNutt was absent from the meeting. Councillor Robertson has, since 1974 maintained a determined stand to retain parking meters in Digby, presumably "till death we do part," tho' meters have never been installed near his place of business and he has enjoyed an added free parking area since a section of Mount Street, allegedly owned by the town, from Montague Row to the beach, mysteriously lost its identity as a street and was blended into the parking area of the Canadian Tire store which he operates.

The meter attendant has urged and supported buying new meters, which understandably would add long term security to the attendant's position.

Apart from the questionable wisdom of placing the purchase of new parking meters on a priority list above sidewalks and numerous other needed services at the present time, the question of the survival of down town Digby businesses is a sobering one. With rumours of a second shopping centre nearby in the County, and one already providing free parking in the town, this decision of town council could spell disaster to the very heart and core of our town and the businesses which provide much of it's life blood.

On the matter of councillor's pay, Journeay once again eagerly waved the torch for increases, and put the motion to increase councillor's remuneration by 100 per cent, the Deputy Mayor by 150 per cent and the Mayor by 200 per cent, retroactive to January 1, 1977. Mayor McNaughton will now receive $1500.00, Deputy Robertson $1250 and Councillors $1,000. All were previously receiving $500. Ironically, Journeay's position on council is less time consuming than that of any other member, as he does not carry the responsibility of chairing any committees and attends few meetings, other than the regular monthly meeting. Unlike a defeated motion a few months ago, to increase the discount from 2 per cent to 5 per cent for early payment of taxes, there was no hesitancy in supporting the motion to increase remuneration for council members.

Eileen Chipman
Town Councillor
Digby

Dear Mrs. Wallis:

It was so nice talking to you on my recent visit to Digby. I am only sorry I didn't have more time, I love Digby so much and I hope I will be able to visit again real soon.

My friends were very impressed and feel the same as I do.

I had a brief visit with Mr. and Mrs. Archie Ellis which I enjoyed very much also with Mr. Oswald Banks in Centerville.

Both gentlemen told me some fine stories about the Morrissey and my Grandfather.

I will be getting in touch with them again.

I am happy to tell you that arrangements have been made to ship the masts for the Morrissey from Providence to Africa Via FARRELL LINE SHIPPING from New York on or about July 5, 1977 and should arrive in Dakar on or about July 15, 1977.

This means the Effie Morrissey - Erenestana will begin another life in the United States.

For myself and all others who have worked so hard to make this possible pray our mission will be successful and thank everyone that has become involved.

Of course there is much to be done to restore the vessel and we must still raise funds.

You would be surprised how women as well as men are working on this. Some donate handicraft they have made to raffle off at affairs others arranging displays and all sorts or things.

It is very gratifying to be involved with so many beautiful people.

Thank you for your time Mrs. Wallis and I look forward to seeing you again soon.

Sincerely,
Betty (Kiley) Koharek

Action Programs Aim Of Conference

Action programs for the future of Southwestern Nova Scotia was the goal of a conference on Planning, Energy and Development held at College Ste. Anne over the weekend.

The conference ended Sunday afternoon with formation of a steering committee which will press for action on the resulting recommendations.

The first recommendations formulated deal with regional co-operation. It was recommended that a committee be formed to study the idea of regional planning and that a development commission be formed for southwestern Nova Scotia.

Another recommendation calls for pressure on the provincial government for a decision on the alignment of Highway 101 through Clare.

The conference also recommended that better weather gathering and despersing information for the area should be sough from the federal government. This move wa made as the result of damage which ha resulted from wind storms.

Municipalities which will be involved wit new highways construction will be urged t review their gravel control by-laws to ensu they are adequately protected from unsightl construction aftermath.

The steering committee will work to se that wharves now in use remain so and th those which have been abandoned a restored. Such a recommendation is als contained in the region's economic base stud which states that the small community wha is the backbone of our economy.

A fisheries school is also being proposed f this area. (Also included in economic ba study) as is the introduction of resour management courses in area schools whi will deal with local resourses.

Conference Termed Success

The conference on planning, development and energy has been termed a success by its chairman, Normand Pothier of Meteghan.

"I didn't expect such unanimous agreement on what we talked about, Mr. Pothier commented at the conference's conclusion on Sunday afternoon.

The conference was designed to develop action programs for the future of southwestern Nova Scotia and Mr. Pothier said it achieved more than he had hoped for.

The conference was sponsored by College Ste-Anne and the Clare Planning Advisory Committee.

Representation was present from most towns and municipal districts in the region. No one, however was present from Digby town or Digby district although both municipal units were invited.

Delegates decided to invite these two municipal units, along with Weymouth (which was represented) as observers to future gatherings. "In other words we're going to put the welcome mat out," according to Chairman Normand Pothier.

Dos And Don'ts Of A Safe Kitchen

Hub of activity

To keep the room that is usually the "hub of activity" safe from fire and other hazards, Gillette recommends these kitchen DOs and DON'Ts.

• DO check plugs and cords often for signs of wear.

• DON'T overload sockets by plugging too many power-hungry appliances into one outlet. And remember to install outlets high enough above the counter so that water can't get into them.

• DO keep a small first-aid kit in a drawer in the kitchen for easy reach.

• DON'T wait until after accidents happen to tell children the rules on kitchen safety.

• DO have a towel rack placed where it should be —by the sink—for easy access to wipe up dripping slippery puddles on the floor.

• DON'T toss flammable hot pads carelessly over an electric range where they might start a fire on a burner that has turned off but is still Place a hook to hang pads close to the ran one can be grabbed qu if necessary.

Drive-In Services Begin

The opening Drive-In Service sponsored by the Smith's Cove Baptist Church was held on Sunday evening, June 19, on the grounds of the Smith's Cove Consolidated School. Rev. Wallace H. Jordan, pastor, led the service and special music was presented by the Men's Choir (Pastorate and area) under the direction of L.E.R. "Bud" Winchester, Miss Elizabeth Potter, pianist.

In spite of inclement weather for this first service of 1977, fifty cars were on the field to be blessed by the music; testimony of Lic. Fred Bigelow, who also read the scripture from Genesis 15: 1-6; and the message by Pastor Jordan on "What's Involved in Believing". Mr. Jordan used the Genesis portion in his message as well as that in Romans 4.1-5, 16-25; 5:1-2... concerning Abraham's belief in God's promise ... and urged those present to have this same strong faith in God.

Next Sunday, June 26, Pastor Jordan will again bring the message and special music will be presented bythe Youth Choir with Joanne Frankland, pianist.

Wesleyan Members Attend Zone Quarterly

The Port Maitland Wesleyan Church pastor, Rev. Berry Ingersoll, hosted three day quarterly meetings during the weekend, June 3rd to 5th included. Rev. Fraser Dunlap a retired Wesleyan preacher well known to many people of this zone was guest speaker. Rev. and Mrs. Dunlap are presently making their home in Fredericton, N.B. The special meetings began on Friday night with a youth service when 52 people from the Digby Wesleyan Church rode the bus to attend the service.

On Saturday afternoon at the business meeting reports from the various Wesleyan Churches of the zone were given. Reports were encouraging and told that the Wesleyan Churches in some of the places on the zone were growing. Mention was made that some churches had an extention program presently under way while others said if the rapid growth of their church continued a new church would be required in the near future.

There was a Saturday evening service and on Sunday, the services continued with a morning service.

"A Love Feast" was conducted on Sunday afternoon with the church filled to capacity.

The North Range United Baptist Church

1877-1977

May 6, 1977, marks an important milestone in the life of the North Range Baptist Church. It was on this date one hundred years ago that a body of thirty baptised believers, who desired a place of worship in their own community, met in this building for their first worship service under the leadership of Licentiate George Goudy, pastor; who later in the same year received his ordination at Barton. Prior to this the North Range people worshiped at the St. Mary's Bay church at Barton.

Before the organization of the St. Mary's Bay Pastorate, the Baptists of the area formed a part of the Sissiboo church, later known as the Weymouth church. That body was organized in 1799 and for forty-four years ministered to the Baptists in the surrounding areas with Reverend Charles Randall as pastor.

In 1843, the Baptists in several communities, including St. Mary's Bay district, separated from the Sissiboo congregation, receiving their dismissal for the purpose of establishing churches of their own. On July 28th. of that year a special conference meeting was held at the Sissiboo church and the St. Mary's Bay church at Barton was organized with 62 members; a number of these were from the North Range section; they worshiped for thirty-four years with the St. Mary's Bay congregation. always maintaining a good relationship.

As the membership at the North Range church continued to grow, it was decided to build a place of worship of their own. The deacons who were transferred from the St. Mary's Bay church at the time to carry on their duties here were: William McNeill, John Andrews Sr., William H. Haines, Charles McNeill (honorary deacon).

The following report is quoted from the minutes of the dedication services of May 6, 1877.

"Sabbath morning May 6, 1877, the new meeting house at North Range Corner was opened for worship. Ministers present, Reverend G. Goudy, Pastor; Reverend C. Randall, L.W. Parker and U. Bancroft. The dedicatory sermon was preached by Rev. L.W. Parker from first Timothy, 3rd. chapter and 16th. verse. Sermon in the afternoon by Rev. Charles Randall, text, Ephisians, 2nd. chapter and 8th. verse."

Later in the month of June the following minutes were recorded: –

"After opening the new meeting house, meetings were held at intervals, brother L.W. Parker from Freeport, remained a few days and laboured, he baptized nine willing converts. Brother J.D. Skinner from Newton Thelogical Seminary visited us and six were baptized."

For 93 years this church was designated a preaching station of the St. Mary's Bay Church at Barton. The term used in referring to it in the early days was, "The meeting house".

At the Fall session of the Digby-Annapolis association which was held at Hill Grove on October 8, 1969, the North Range United Baptist Church received recognition as such and was welcomed as a member of that organization. Present at that meeting, to represent the church and to receive the right hand of fellowship were Mr. and Mrs. H.A. Shortliffe, Mrs. Allan Thomas, Mrs. Clement Silver, Mrs. Ralph McNeill, Mrs. Gerald Wagner, and Mrs. Milton Bragg.

On January 18, 1970, at the morning worship service the church became a fully organized body when Lic. Myrtle Ingersoll conducted the service taking her message from Isaiah 61:3rd. verse, "That they might be called trees of righteousness"- "The goal of the Christian church is to guide the lives of its youth; to feed the soul with the living water and be ready to accept responsibility; to have a worthwhile purpose in life". Following the sermon, the roll was called by the assistant clerk, Mrs. Floyd McNeill. One new member was added by letter.

The building itself was erected in 1876. Nearly all members contributed either by material or labour toward it. One member gave timber for the frame; three others gave lumber for boarding in and for pews; others provided the lath. A few years later a granite-rock foundation was placed under the building; falling plaster removed and the interior sheathed.

In 1930, a vestibule and bell tower were added and a bell, wrought in England was placed in the tower.

Through the years many other improvements have been made and many memorial gifts presented to the church. These included an electric organ, communion table and chairs, candle wall lights, hymn board, vestibule and door lanterns and many other gifts. Time will not permit the listing of all the donors. All of these have been faithfully recorded that future generations may take note.

THE NORTH RANGE UNITED BAPTIST CHURCH

the early church was its Saturday afternoon conference meetings held on the third or fourth Saturday of each month. The members were expected to attend and encouraged to give their personal testimony and in this way renew their covenant with God and His church.

Since 1877 many evengelistic campaigns have been held. Some of the more recent decisions for Christ being on May 1956, when 28 candidates were later baptized by Reverend R.R. Winchester.

Again on Sunday afternoon, July 6, 1969, the ordinance of baptism was administered to five candidates at Andrew's Lake, four of these being mother, father and two sons who were led into the baptismal waters at the same time. Eight members, six by baptism and two by letter were added to the church during Lic. Myrtle Ingersoll's term as pastor.

The most recent decisions for commitments to Christ were on September 15, 1974, when five candidates were received for membership and baptized by Pastor Edison E. Wiltshire, at Porter's Lake.

Reverend R.R. Winchester has the distinction of ministering to the church for the longest term; that of thirteen years.

A few words should be added here regarding a very important branch of the church; the Sunday School. Little is known of its early days or of when it first was organized. One of its oldest members, who is present with us at this time, can recall going to Sunday School in the 1890's. Mrs. Cora Mullen remembers the superintendent being Mr. Herber McNeill; Mr. Leonard McNeill succeeded him and he was followed by Mr. J. Vian Andrews as the leader. The Sunday School has been active continuously since it's organization under many superintendents.

At the present time the church school is in a healthy condition and has an enrollment of 55 with classes for all ages from nursery to adult bible class.

For many years the Sunday School supported a boy in India, receiving letters and photos of this boy from missionaries in appreciation for this effort to help educate an Indian child.

The present Superintendent is Mrs. George Carman.

Another organization of the church that has been active for 90 years is the Women's Missionary Society. It has never been inactive during that time and with the exception of one year has sent contributions to overseas missions. In 1894, the following report was sent to headquaraters by the county secretary, "the dear Lord has made use of our smallest Society in the salvation of souls, this little society in North Range started prayer meetings in which several professed conversion and before many weeks had passed twenty-one had been added to the church." At the present time there are fifteen members; fourteen are Provincial and seven are Dominion Life members.

During the years many seemingly impossible projects have been undertaken, on faith, by the church all ending in a satisfactory conclusion.

On this centennial occasion we praise the Lord for the many faithful members who have carried the torch through difficult as well as glorious experiences and pray that God will continue to guide as the church carries on in the future.

"They that trust in the Lord shall be as mount Zion, which cannot be removed but abideth forever" Psalm 125:1.

Changes in D.R.H.S. Graduation June 28th

Invitations have been issued to the D.R.H.S. Graduation Exercises in larger numbers than ever. The ceremonies will take place in the D.R.H.S. Multi-Purpose Room at 8 p.m. on June 28, 1977.

Every one of the 88 members of the graduating class has been provided with four tickets for guests. A number of special guests have been invited by the administration to attend the exercises as well. Due to space limitations it will not be possible for those without invitations to attend.

The guest speaker for this year will be Mr. C.E. Edwards, retired Inspector of Schools. He will address the graduates with reference to the theme "Goals in Life".

Various changes in format have been planned for the exercises this year. A procession of school board and staff members along with graduates is planned to emphasize the complementary nature of these groups in the educational process of the school.

Other changes include the announcement of merits certificates for academic achievement and contribution to school life during the ceremonies and the presentation of many awards along with diplomas.

The latter change will streamline the proceedings of the evening.

The graduating class has arranged through its officers for photographers to take official photographs of each graduate at the moment of the presentation of the diploma. These will be distributed free to all members of the class and it is hoped that guests at the exercises will restrict the taking of snapshots to the procession only.

The class of '77 will host its graduation banquet and dance at The Pines Hotel on June 22nd. The speaker at the banquet will be Harry Flemming, former executive director of APEC.

The members of the graduating class have now completed their examinations and are awaiting graduation with anticipation.

Clementsport Legion Repairs Pool Property

The regular monthly meeting of Clementsport Legion Branch No. 122, was held in the Legion Hall on Tuesday evening with fourteen members present, Commodore President Charles Long in the chair.

The meeting opened in the usual manner according to the ritual and during the silence Com. Ed. Riley was remembered, he having passed on since the last meeting. For many years he was Poppy Chairman and was a past President of the Branch.

One guest, Zone Commander, Joe Wilson, along with the President installed Com. Jos. R. Lewis to membership in the Branch.

A request for sponsorship for the girls ball team was turned over to the Ladies Auxiliary. They were also asked if they would sponsor a princess for Annapolis Natal Day. The Legion would provide a float.

The Branch was authorized to purchase approximately ten acres of land adjacent to the pool property. Com. Wamboldt reported that the renovations to the pool and property were proceeding well in spite of the wet weather. Picnic tables were being built and the land cleared. Dozer work is delayed due the high level of water in the pool. A pool supervisor has been employed for the summer and a lifeguard has been advertized for. It is hoped that swimming instructions will be available approximately the first of July. In addition to the picnic tables change houses and toilets are to be erected as well as a bridge across the brook.

Approval was given to replace approximately twelve sweaters for the Legion ball team. This team has been a credit to the Branch and again this year are playing fine ball.

The Welfare Officer, Commander Dukeshire, reported that all was in hand for the forthcoming World War 1 Vets banquet to be held on Saturday at Branch No. 21. Two World War 1 Vets from this area will be attending.

Bingos and dances are continuing to be well attended, darts and pool are very popular. Com. Bateman reported on the first four month financial statement which showed a fine increase in revenue to the Branch and that the Branch is keeping well within the budget.

Commander Long and Wilson gave a fine report on their attendance at the Provincial Convention held in Sydney in May.

BARBECUE

Have you ever had barbecued bacon? Fresh bacon strips is one cut of pork barbecued as part of a pork promotion seminar being given to meat managers throughout the province during May and June.

These seminars of course, are not open to the general public but I do think I should pass along some of the ideas being presented there.

Usually when we say pork barbecue we think "chops". But that's not all the pork that can be cooked on the outdoor grill. Fresh hams can be barbecued as well as shoulder cuts. Even fresh ribs can be barbecued. As there is less meat on ribs, care must be taken to prevent drying out. Just brush them liberally with a plain sauce (which I'll mention later). However, those barbecued ribs are just the thing for those who love to chew on pork bones, and get some good tasting meat besides!

The fresh bacon strips I mentioned at the beginning are cut ½ inch thick. Of course, they are a bit fat but when cooked thoroughly and with a light brush of barbecue sauce during the last five minutes of cooking, they are delicious!

Speaking of barbecue sauce: how many times have you eaten burned exteriors of barbecued meats? The red coloured barbecue sauces burn easily. A plain sauce of vinegar, butter, salt and water (heated together) allows the meat to cook without burning and drying. Brush or spray the meat every time it is turned.

Pork cooked with this sauce is juicy and has its own delectable taste. If you like the red barbecue sauce taste, just brush it on during the last 5-10 minutes of cooking.

This is a good policy to follow with all meats. If the sauce has sugar in it, it will burn if put on the meat too soon.

Here's the recipe for the plain barbecue sauce:
½ cup butter
1 cup vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
¼ to ½ cup water

Mix ingredients and heat. Keep hot and stir well before basting. Baste pork several times during cooking.

A Thought Starter

ONE WAY

Error and sin can be repeated so often that it is considered to be true and right. A most unsound religious teaching is that there are many ways to God. If people are sincere, we are told, it does not matter which path they travel; in the end they will reach the right destination.

Really, there are only two roads for all people, and Jesus describes them in the Bible. One is the straight and narrow path leading to God and to Eternal Life. The other is a broad and popular road leading to final separation from the Lord. It is shocking to hear the Bible say of the narrow road, "few there be that find it". The broadway is well travelled by hosts of people who do not realize that they are on the wrong road.

The preferred way of right is not hard to find for those who will humble themselves and trust the mercy of God in His Son. Jesus said, "I am the way". John 14:6. He is the only way. There is no other way to light, peace and hope.

Again it is said in the Scripture, "Christ hath suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that He might bring us to God". I Peter 3:18.

Sincerity is not enough. Some are sincerely wrong. Reality based on the revelation of God in His Word is solid. Let no one be deceived, there is no other way to God, righteousness and Heaven, but the way of the Cross.

Barbecue Time Is ... Chicken Time

Barbecuing is a fun and inexpensive way of serving chicken to family and friends. Whether you have an inexpensive hibachi or a deluxe barbecue you'll find barbecuing chicken is easy and delicious!

Chicken is best when cooked slowly. If the fire is too hot or the grill is too close to the coals, the outside of the chicken burns before the inside meat is cooked. You need only a single layer of hot coals for cooking chicken. Place the chicken on the grill when a white ash has formed on all the coals. The grill should be 6-8" above the coals.

Halves, quarters or chicken pieces may be barbecued. The pieces should be of uniform size so that the cooking time required is the same for all pieces. If you barbecue a cut up chicken place the larger, meatier pieces in the center where the heat is greatest and the smaller pieces near the edge where the heat is not as great.

To keep chicken moist throughout the cooking period baste with simple Basting sauce. Sauces that contain sugar or tomato should only be used during the last 10-15 minutes of cooking. These sauces speed up browning and burn if used the entire cooking time. Chicken should be turned with tongs rather than a fork to prevent loss of juices due to punctured skin. Baste and turn every 5-10 minutes. It should take 50-90 minutes total cooking time depending on the size of the pieces.

Simple Basting Sauce
½ cup butter
1 cup vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
¼-½ cup water

Combine ingredients and heat to blend flavours. Keep warm while using.

Tangy Barbecue Sauce
¼ cup ketchup
¼ cup corn syrup
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons salad oil
2 tablespoons prepared mustard

Combine ingredients. Brush on chicken the last 10-15 minutes of barbecuing-only.

Former Digby Woman Called To Bar

Judith (McIntyre) Haldemann was called to the bar of the Supreme Court of Prince Edward Island recently before Chief Justice J.P.Nicholson at a special ceremony held in Charlottetown. Mrs. Haldemann was presented to the bar by Charlottetown lawyer, James Haslam, Q.C.

After the ceremony she was welcomed by the Chief Justice who commented on the challenge women are presenting to the fields of medicine and law, with more and more women entering these professions. Mr. James Haslam, of Haslam, Ross and Mullin, where she articled, praised her work and commented on her high interest in all aspects of the law.

BBB Expanding Services

This non-profit organization is supported by annual dues from supporting members.

Mr. Russell Fox of the Better Business Bureau of Nova Scotia was in Bridgetown Tuesday and was a visitor at the Monitor Office. He explained that it is the intention of the organization to extend their services to the business people and general public of the Annapolis Valley. At the present time, with their head office at 1708 Granville St., Halifax, most of their efforts are with the Halifax-Dartmouth area, but anyone in the Valley requiring their services is invited to write to P.O. Box 2124, Halifax, or phone 422-6581. In the near future they plan to have a representative in the Annapolis Valley who will be contacting the business with the view of expanding their membership.

The services of the Better Business Bureau include investigating complaints from buyers of furniture, appliances, etc., regarding guarantees, repairs and quality of material and workmanship. Inquiries are also handled from members requesting information about their suppliers or manufacturers.

Exhibit To Acquaint Public With School Work

Barry Jennings, a teacher at the Queen St. Elementary School in Digby, appeared before the Digby School Board on Tuesday evening seeking approval to a display of school work and information in October 1977 at the Evangeline Shoppers Mall. The purpose of such a display, sponsored by the Nova Scotia Teachers Union would be to make the public acquainted with the school programs offered. The other school boards had given their support, Mr. Jennings said, and they were seeking similar support from the Municipal School Board. Mr. Jennings is convener of the committee for the N.S.T.U. Local.

It was brought to the attention of the Board that waivers must be signed by both parents of students entering sports activities after regular school hours. A motion to this effect was made.

The Smith's Cove School under principal Gerald Wade was given permission to visit Saint John, N.B. via Princess of Acadia and $150 was granted to the students to supplement their earnings for the extra curricular.

Teachers engaged by the Board for the year 1977-78 included D.Stewart, F. Denton and R.Bickerton, Barton and B. Winchester, Smith's Cove.

The Board following the report of Keith Manzer, Islands School supervisor, decided to pave the Islands School driveway.

With the report of James Hanscomb, Weymouth school supervisor, drawing attention to the several break-ins at the school discussion arose on the possibility of a night watchman. New floors were approved for buses 68 and 69 on the Weymouth run.

Rate for extra unauthorized bus trips around town was set at $10 per hour.

Arrangements were in the process of being planned for the accommodation of the mentally retarded at the beginning of the 1977-78 year.

Expenditures to the amount of $16,510 were approved for payment for the month of May. Amounts were set aside for school closing prizes.

Both Jack Ritcey, Supervisor of Curriculum for Digby County and Mrs. Nola Jeffreys, Supervisor Guidance presented papers and books explaining the responsibilities of their positions.

Mr. Ritcey's paper revealed responsibility for analysis of children's needs and for preparing programs to suit their needs, responsibility for leading the school district in the implementation of the curriculum and for the leadership role in initiating changes in the curriculum of the school district. Mr. Ritcey has the responsibility for providing leadership in selection of text books and for participation in preparation of pupil - teacher guides and introduction of new guides from the Department of Education. Among other responsibilities are supervision of classroom instruction, assisting administrators and teachers on curriculum matters; in - service training, evaluation in relation to pupil and program; promoting research and experimentation and maintenance and operation of District Curriculum Centre.

Bird Haven

Here it is the third day of summer and we have had so few nice warm days so far, although everything is growing, even the weeds and lawns.

To see a pretty wildflower garden you should take a drive to the wharf, the roadside is covered with lupin.

Things have been quiet lately in bird land. Had a baby partridge brought in a week ago. It had been separated from its mother and the rest of the flock. However, it didn't live. They are very hard to raise.

Mrs. Yellow Warbler has been busy building her nest. I put out bits of cotton wool and she carried it right away. Think her nest is high up in a maple tree, they usually build in shrubs or hedges.

The cat-birds seem to like company. They follow me around the garden singing most of the time.

Heard a loon in the harbour early one morning. They nest back in the lakes and don't come to salt water until early fall. Perhaps this was an old bachelor that hadn't gone to the lakes.

A lady in Weymouth is raising a family of robins, rescued from a deserted nest.

Had a nice visit from an ardent bird watcher from Florida last weekend. She has travelled a great deal, was on her way to Newfoundland. She had enjoyed her visit to Nova Scotia so much.

This little hymn appealed to me, thought I would leave it with you for the summer. Will be back in September if you still want me.

A HYMN FOR ANIMALS

O God, who made this world of ours,
And in it put the fruits and flowers,
The scurrying rabbits, buzzing bees,
O help us to take care of these.

O God, who livest in the sky,
And helps the tiny birds to fly,
Who with a gentle hand now feeds,
O help us to take care of these.

And now, O Lord, to thee we pray,
To watch and bless our pets today,
Our dogs, our cats, our budgerigars,
O please preserve these pets of ours.

The woods are filled with creatures small,
And thou, O Lord, Thou lovest all
The deer, the fox, the owl, the bee,
O help us, Lord, to be like thee.

So Long
The Bird Lady.

Transportation "Key Area In Whole Energy Picture"

Energy expert Bill Zimmerman told delegates to a three-day seminar on planning, development and energy at the College Ste. Anne here this weekend that transportation is the key area in the whole energy picture.

Mr. Zimmerman, who is consultant to the Prince Edward Island government's Institute for Man and Resources, said cars are not efficient and throw away 90 per cent of the energy they develop.

He said even at the present high rates "electric costs are not the real ultimate killer." He wondered why there is so much concern over power costs. He said part of the criticism is political because the Nova Scotia Power Corp. is a Crown corporation.

He said what it boils down to is "if you don't go anywhere in your car you'll save money," noting public transportation is cheaper and when car payments and insurance are taken into consideration public transportation could save a person thousands of dollars a year.

"We should be looking for an answer before we go out and build more roads for more and more cars," he said.

Mr. Zimmerman said next to transportation, the second economic "killer" is electricity. He said 60 per cent of electricity consumed domestically is for heating space and water, and energy for these purposes is "relatively easily attainable from the sun."

He said 50 to 70 per cent of heat needed for these purposes can be solar-generated for a cost- including installation, hard ware, interest and other expenses- that is about the same as electricity now costs the consumer but the cost would never go up in price.

He said while solar energy in the province could provide heat energy, "as far as solar electrical generation goes, you might just as well forget it. Direct solar energy in Nova Scotia will not make electricity." But it will produce heat, both for space and water.

"The most cost efficient energy source in Nova Scotia today is wood," according to Mr. Zimmerman. He said the province's forests, with proper managemesnt, could supply energy for heating homes and water as well as possibly producing electricity and energy for transportation.

He said there is a lot of wood in the province, and much of it is not good wood for uses other than as a fuel source. People stopped burning wood because it was messy, inconvenient, and required the user to do some of the work.

Despite the potential of wood he warned caution had to be used "if you're going to use wood. You've got to make sure they'll (the trees) be there in 100 years. We've got to start thinking that way."

Mr. Zimmerman said he will be going to the Magdalen Islands in the next week or so to take a look at the world's first commercial vertical axis wind generator, a 120-foot high, 80-foot wide device that will produce 250 kilowatts of electricity for a cost of 2.5 cents per kilowatt-hour when the average wind speed is 19 miles an hour. However, if the average speed were to drop to 14 miles per hour, for example, the cost could at least double.

For this reason, he said, wind generation may not be feasible in many, if not most areas of Nova Scotia except Sable Islands or Sydney where the average velocity is 14.9 miles an hour. But what is needed is accurate charting of wind speeds to determine this. The experience of "windy" for most people is subjective and what a community might agree is a windy location, might not be technically windy at all, he said.

Omer Blinn Acting President

Mr. Desire A.Boudreau, chairman of the Board of Directors, announces that the said Board in a special meeting June 16th named Mr. Omer Blinn acting president of Universite Sainte-Anne until such time as a permanent president can be named.

M. Blinn is presently president of Club Richelieu, Church Point, N.S. and 2nd Vice-President of Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade.

His past experience involves many years of service to Credit Unions, and to the Municipality of Clare, Digby County, Nova Scotia, as counsellor from 1970 to 1976, and as warden from 1973 to 1976. He also served as director of Digby County Power Board, Yarmouth Regional Hospital, Villa Acadienne, Meteghan, Nova Scotia, and Digby Annapolis Mental Health.

Don't Be Taken In

The coming of summer usually signals the return of encyclopedia salesmen, most of whom are students, the Consumer Affairs Department advises Nova Scotians.

Although some sales are conducted from retail outlets, most are solicited by direct sellers working door-to-door, by telephone or mail, says the Department's chief executive officer, Harry M. McIlroy. As such, they must be licensed by the department and consumers should ask to see the license before deciding to buy.

Consumers should also be wary of an often used sales pitch which implies that they will be receiving something free, he says. Most common are two approaches, one offering a set of encyclopedia in return for taking part in a research program the company is conducting, the other offering a free set or part of a set in a special introductory offer if the consumer will agree to pay the handling charges.

"Both approaches are designed to seem like bargains," Mr. McIlroy says, "and the consumer is well advised to remember the adage that you don't get something for nothing. Before you decide anything, find out exactly what the handling charges will cost, how much the update or yearbook will cost, and whether the special deal you are being offered includes the full set or just part. Six volumes of a 10-volume set will do you little good," he says, "if you can't afford the cost of the rest of the set."

Although there are many advantages to owning a set of encyclopedia, Mr. McIlroy suggests that consumers consider all factors before making up their minds to buy. Encyclopedias are expensive, he says, and the cost to you should be weighed against the fact that they are readily available at public and school libraries. Consider how often your children are likely to use the set. If your children are very young, keep in mind that the information contained in the encyclopedias will be out of date by the time they are ready to make full use of them. The publisher's updates and yearbooks will therefore be necessary to keep your set current. The cost of these must be taken into consideration. As well, if you're buying on credit, encyclopedias can become very expensive, tying up your money for three or four years in some cases.

If you have decided to buy a set of encyclopedia, Mr. McIlroy suggests that you get guidance from your children's teachers, as well as your local library as to the best kind to suit your children's needs. Inspect the books carefully to guage their usefulness yourself. Read an article on a subject you are familiar with and check it for accuracy. Then read an article on something you are not familiar with to judge how understandable the writing is. Also, read several articles on controversial subjects to determine how objective the authors are.

Since encyclopedias are meant to provide reference, check to see how easily they can be used. Look for an accurate and easy to use index, a good cross-reference system, and clear illustrations. Also enquire about any research or updating service the publisher may offer to keep your set current.

Always compare prices, Mr. McIlroy says, and don't forget to ask the cost of handling charges. If you're buying on credit from a direct seller, Mr. McIlroy says, make sure he is using the correct contract form. It will have the cancellation procedures printed on the first page of the contract, giving you 10 days during which you may cancel the contract by sending a registered letter to the address given.

Plan To Attend Weymouth Day July 1st

Cultural Sharing Day Sunday

The Western Nova Scotia Multicultural Association has planned a cultural sharing for Sunday at the Ellenwood Provincial Park, Yarmouth County.

Ethnic dress is being encouraged for this occasion, advises co-ordinator George Bell of Smiths Cove. Participants can expect a varied selection of ethnic foods.

Activities during the afternoon (beginning at 2:30 p.m.) will include informal displays of culture, arts, crafts pottery, tapistry, etc.; informal multicultural discussions; and musical entertainment from different cultural backgrounds.

The multicultural association is sponsoring this event with assistance from the Canadian Folk Arts Council. The association is made up of cultural groups from Digby, Yarmouth and Shelburne Counties and the western part of the Annapolis Valley.

Association activities provide an opportunity for a sharing of cultural heritage among the area's Anglophones, Francophones and other ethnic groups.

This cultural gathering is being held in conjunction with Canada Week (June 25 to July 1).

One Grandmother Is Great, Great, Great

Love and care should abound for Michael Corey Ryan, Bear River, if the number of grandparents of various generations he owns lavish their affection on him.

Mrs. Louis Pictou (Betty) of Bear River was thrilled with the new arrival on Monday and made no delay in making the announcement of her newest great grandson.

Michael is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Ryan whose two sets of grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Potter and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ryan are living. He also has two sets of great grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Pictou and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Amero, Acaciaville and a great, great grandmother, Mrs. Mary Denny, Boston, Mass. Where Michael can really boast over most other under-a-week age infants is that he has a great, great, great grandmother, Mrs. Madeline Harlow, Berwick who this week celebrated her 99th birthday.

Ox Hauling Competitions Saturday

An afternoon of ox-hauling will be held at the exhibition grounds in Bear River on Saturday. Competitions are being held under the auspices of the Maritime Ox-Pulling Association in co-operation with the Digby County Exhibition Society.

Teams from all parts of western Nova Scotia are expected to take part in Saturday's activities. The cookhouse will be open and canteen facilities may be available.

A summer-ox-haul here last year attracted over 60 teams according to exhibition society secretary Jack Harris. Provided the weather is suitable, another good turnout of entries is anticipated.

Last year's entries were divided into five classes with a trophy going to the winner in each. Trophies are supplied by the exhibition society.

The hauling is expected to be held in the ring area of the new building now under construction. Whether the site will be covered for the event is as yet uncertain.

Action is expected to get underway around 1 p.m.

N.S. Power Corporation Announces Cutback

The Nova Scotia Power Corporation will close its electric living centre operation later this summer, according to Power Corporation President L.F. Kirkpatrick.

The decision to terminate the operation of the appliance stores was taken following an extensive study by external financial consultants. In addition to the stores, the Corporation's appliance service and repair department will also close.

"Changing market conditions in the electrical appliance industry coupled with increased operating costs have necessitated this decision," Mr. Kirkpatrick said.

Affected will be the electric living centres at Amherst, Greenwood, Windsor, Yarmouth, Sydney, Dartmouth and the Halifax outlets at the Bayers Road Shopping Centre and Scotia Square. Service and repair depots affected are located at Halifax and Amherst.

"The corporation would like to sell the appliance operation as an on-going enterprise and accordingly we will invite purchase proposals from interested parties." Mr. Kirkpatrick said.

However, he said that if a buyer, or buyers cannot be found, then steps will be taken to liquidate the appliance sales and service of operations as quickly as possible.

The appliance and service departments came to the corporation following the acquisition of the investor-owned utilities of Canada Electric Co. Limited, Eastern Light and Power Company Limited and The Nova Scotia Light and Power Company Limited.

"The service end of the merchandising operation has always incurred a loss," Mr. Kirkpatrick said. "However, for many years the profits realized by the appliance stores have offset these losses."

During 1974 and 1975, the total operation showed a small profit with appliance sales totalling in excess of $2 million each year. However, during the past two years declining sales and high operating costs have resulted in losses.

"Every effort will be made to provide alternate employment in other departments for those employees displaced by the closure of the sales and service centres," Mr. Kirkpatrick said.

Arrangements are being made with manufacturers for the continuation of warranty and service policies for customers who have purchased appliances from the corporation.

Customer inquiry and bill payment services at present located in the stores will be relocated at local corporation offices so that this service will continue to be available to customers, Mr. Kirkpatrick said.

Weymouth Born Man Makes Good

John Jarvis was the son of Henry Minard Jarvis, Weymouth, who at the age of 14 years moved from Nova Scotia to the United States.

Recently John H. Jarvis of 211 Endicott, St., Revere, Mass., president of Precision Metal Products Company, Inc. of Stoneham, was the recipient of a Dean Junior College Distinguished Service Award presented at the annual Alumni Reunion Weekend, May 20-23.

Jarvis, established his Stoneham firm in 1949 and it has become one of the leading manufacturers of precision components for the electronics industry. Over three quarters of a million parts including turret terminals and presserts are manufactured daily. The firm is an international supplier and numbers IBM, Honeywell, and NCR among its accounts.

Jarvis, who attended Tufts University School of Engineering, was recognized for his management and business expertise which has been instrumental in making his firm an international leader in the electronics industry.

John, whose native characteristics of friendliness, hard work and self discipline were passed on from generation to generation, visits his birthplace and relatives each year. The family homestead is 200 years old.

John's father was a mason by trade and ran his own business in which young John started apprenticeship.

Football later lured him to Dean College and later to Tufts University School of Engineering.

According to his retiring publicity, John's father suggested that electronics would be the industrial forefront of the future, and heeding his advice Jarvis opened a shop in 1949 in Malden. In 1950 the firm moved to its present location in Stoneham. His father's prediction proved correct and today Jarvis' company is one of the leading international suppliers for such blue chip companies as IBM, Honeywell and NCR. Most of his products are sold directly, while a small percentage are marketed through electronic representatives and advertisements in trade journals.

In a characteristic pose, Jarvis reminisces about former friends and teachers at Dean

The hard work which has accounted for so much of his success has been coupled with the foresight to purchase the best and most up-to-date machines. In this way, the company has had an edge on the competition, producing and stocking millions of different parts in order to meet both large and small orders. Because of modern machinery and expertise, the company is also able to handle the most severe requirements for custom components.

At 70, Mr. Jarvis will gradually retire but he has said "I don't agree with the tendency to retire people at 65. Companies are beginning to learn that they are retiring much knowledge and experience.

Sandwiches for the evening were donated by Mrs. Lee Wentzell Jr. and Mrs. Donald Halliday Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Comeau of Marshalltown, spent Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Waters Comeau.

Seven and a half tables of cards were in play last Tuesday evening at the Rossway Community Hall. Mrs. Elliott Van Tassell of Mount Pleasant, seemed to be the lucky winner for the evening capturing the door prize, ladies first prize and the cake, which she had cut and served with the refreshments. Mrs. Trueman Wentzell donated the cake. Mrs. David VanTassel and Mrs. Noah Halliday donated the sandwiches for the evening.

Against Union Support

Members of the Islands' Inshore Fishermen's Association of Long and Briar Islands', Digby County, voted unanimously, at their last meeting, against supporting any fishermen's organization attempting to form a union for Nova Scotia fishermen. Fishermen of this association are interested in a strong association but not a union, and will consider affiliation with the Nova Scotia Fishermen's Association in the near future.

The Islands' Inshore Fishermen's Association has been in existence for approximately 8 months and feels that it has laid the groundwork for several improvements for the inshore fishermen of the area. Membership in the association is steadily increasing and the fishermen are working together in unity.

The name of the Islands' Inshore Fishermen's Association has been mentioned by the union aimed group, it is understood, when they speak of their supporters, and that is not true. Therefore, it was urged by the membership of the Islands' Inshore Fishermen's Association decision against a fishermen's union be sent to the press.

Beckman In "Fit To Print"

Henry Beckman, Hollywood, California, formerly of Yarmouth and Amherst, N.S., plays the leading part of a newspaperman in the CBC-TV comedy "Fit to Print" which will begin its series in early fall of 1977. Producer is Bill Lynn and the show will be shown to delegates of the Canadian Community Newspapers Association in Winnipeg in July.

In the show, Beckman is assisted by Mr. Tuckley (Joseph Galland), the local printer and part time harness racer; Cassie Brooknee (Katherine O'Hara), whose local high school newspaper had double the circulation of the "Bugle" before she quit to become the Bugle's photographer; and Mrs. Breed (Helen Hughes), the social and agricultural reporter who writes her copy on the back of seed catalogues.

Digbyites will have an interest in the production since "The Bugle" office and other scenes were partly photographed here.

Editor's Note:-

Many Digby TV viewers on Tuesday evening had the opportunity to see on CBC-TV channel 4 the pilot showing of "Fit to Print" and recognized The Digby Courier building bearing the name "The Bugle". Henry Beckman, as Editor Fowler, falling into the water from the rear of the shop could well have been suggested by the Annapolis Basin which washes the foundation of The Digby Courier building.

All in all, viewers were impressed with the story of a city "know-it-all" trying to run a small town weekly newspaper. So far it has been enjoyable entertainment. More please.

In last week's article on the COPA convention, mention was made of the Digby Neck Fire Department. This should have read the Westport Fire Department. It was the Ladies Auxiliary of the latter which sponsored the luncheon in Westport.

From The Premier

WHEREAS: Canada will celebrate its 110th Anniversary as a nation on July 1, 1977, and

WHEREAS: The people of this province firmly believe that the Canadian Confederation is the best form of Government for all Canadians and,

WHEREAS: The Council for Canadian Unity and the many local Canada Week Committees promote one Canada for all,

THEREFORE: I, Gerald A.Regan, Premier of the Province of Nova Scotia declare the week of June 25 to July 1, Canada Week in Nova Scotia, and urge all residents of the province to participate in activities that will promote the unity and strength of our Canadian nation.

Message From The Prime Minister

On July 1st, 1977, we celebrate our one hundred and tenth birthday as a nation. Through our eleven decades we have gathered together in good times and in hard times, in war time and times of peace. We have seen our country grow, in just over a century, from a sparsely settled, pioneer land to a modern country of great diversity and international responsibilities.

From the richness of our two official languages and the diversity of our many cultures we have built a society which places great importance on the traditions and values of all Canadians. Together we have participated and will continue to participate in the national adventure which is Canada.

Canada Week and Canada Day are occasions for joy and celebration, but they are also occasions for thoughtful contemplation of what we have achieved as a people. We have now an opportunity to reaffirm our belief in a nation from sea to sea and to accept the challenges that are an essential part of a vital and constantly evolving nation.

The Walter Callow wheelchair bus was in Digby on its tour of the province securing monies for more busses for incapacitated war veterans. Walter Callow, blind and paralyzed, who had lain abed in Camp Hill Hospital, Halifax, since 1930 considered his handicap an additional incentive to his work for fellow war veterans. To the people of Digby, Walter Callow and his efforts for veterans had a special appeal. Before World War I, Walter Callow was in business in Digby. Together with Harry Chittick of Saint John, N.B., he operated a garage here. Serving with the Royal Flying Corps in World War I, he was badly injured in a crash during a test flight. Through 13 years of difficulty and suffering his stout spirit kept him living an almost normal life. For 16 years he had been bedridden and for seven he had been blind.

The large number of country pupils leaving senior high school before the completion of the term was commented upon at the Senior High School closing exercises by the supervisor, F.C. Purdy. The ratio of country to town students leaving early was four to one. He considered this high casualty rate due to the lack of well trained and experienced teachers in the rural schools. The students found it difficult to cope with the high standards of the urban schools and get discouraged and disillusioned.

At a meeting of the Digby Recreation Commission, Thomas L. Deveau, local contractor, was given instructions to dismantle, load on freight cars and re-erect in Digby the building recently purchased in Yarmouth by the Commission. The building, formerly a drill hall in Yarmouth was to be used as a skating rink. The corner stone for the new rink was to be laid on July 1st as part of the Board of Trade's July 1st ceremonies. "Miss Digby County" to be chosen that day was to perform the actual laying of the stone.

John Rodney, well known movie actor who had recently appeared in the film "Pursued" was to have been one of the judges of the beauty contest to be held with the Board of Trade's July 1st Fair.

Miss Margaret Whebby was named at a special meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses' Board, Digby Branch, as V.O.N. to succeeed Miss Faye Saunders.

"Falling In Love" was the unusual title of an excellent address at the Kiwanis Club luncheon by Judge L.M. Pepperdene of the Saint John Juvenile Court. He emphasized that without love, life would be a cold matter of fact thing without enthusiasm to get the best out of life and work.

Loans For Insulation Neglected

Nova Scotians have gone for the grants but have virtually ignored the loans provided under the federal-provincial home insulation program, and Housing Minister Walter Fitzgerald has issued a plea to provincial home owners to take advantage of "a good investment

Mr. Fitzgerald said he was extremely disappointed that only a small number of home owners had applied for loans to date, because he was convinced the loans were "a good deal" and could help many families alleviate the heavy burden of high energy costs.

The provincial loan plan offers assistance up to $1,500 for insulation and related work, and up to $3,000 for conversion of electric heating systems to other types of heating, under a $17,000,000 program aimed at assisting Nova Scotians who want to install or upgrade their home insulation, cut down fuel bills and help conserve energy.

The loans are meant to supplement home insulation grants up to $500 from CMHC which is administering a $33.4 million federal fund for this purpose. The provincial loans can only be obtained after a homeowner has received a CMHC grant.

Mr. Fitzgerald appealed to Nova Scotians to use up "every last nickel" of the $17,000,000 being offered in loans by the provincial government through the Nova Scotia Housing Commission.

While admitting that the eight per cent interest rate on the loans apparently was a major factor in the general reluctance to use the $17 million loan fund, the housing minister said it was nevertheless a favorable rate and the five-year repayment period should be an added inducement.

Mr. Fitzgerald said he was convinced that use of the loan fund could help thousands of Nova Scotians cut down very substantially on fuel bills, and he urged home owners to take full advantage of the money the province was making available.

The minister reminded home owners that the money could be used for a wide range of insulating purposes including not only ceiling and wall insulation but also weather stripping, caulking, multiple glazing of windows, for storm doors and for consequential work required as a result of carrying out eligible work.

He advised those seeking loans for conversion from electric heat to apply to regional offices of the Nova Scotia Housing Commission and application packages would be sent to them. All other applicants, once they had received a CMHC grant, were advised to apply for a housing commission loan to cover the remaining cost of the insulation project. Application packages, he said, were available from CMHC or any branch of the housing commission. Regional offices of the Nova Scotia Housing Commission are located in Bedford, Sydney, New Glasgow and Lawrencetown.

Roll Call

The Annual Roll Call Services of the Hill Grove Baptist Church will be held on Sunday, June 26th at 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. Dr. Alner J. Langley of Acadia Divinity College will be guest speaker at both services.

Oppose Reduction In DAR Service

Another recommendation opposes decreased service on the DAR run through the Valley between Halifax and Yarmouth. Instead, the conference steering committee will work for improved service at a lower rate. Emmanuel Adelaar, Chairman of the Weymouth Village Commission proposed that the rate should be dropped by at least 50 per cent and better adapted to serve our local needs.

Mr. Adelaar advised that the government pays, through subsidies, about $25 per person using the service. "I think this is insane." If the government is going to waste money like that, he noted, why not ask that the service be upgraded.

Another recommendation to be looked into by the steering committee is a cold storage for mackerel somewhere in the area.

In the field of energy, the conference agreed to two recommendations which resulted from Sunday's energy workshop.

One recommendation states that government at the municipal level, should support the development of renewable energy sources.

It urges that no increase in taxable assessment should result where a property owner installs wind or solar energy producing devices. And it proposes that those items related to wind or solar energy production, now exempt from federal sales tax, be exempt from provincial tax.

The workshop report also recommends to municipalities that they consider establishment of a resource centre for gathering and disseminating information on energy conservation (if this is a municipal function.)

The steering committee which was established will be supported by subcommittees on energy, planning and development. As chairman Norman Pothier noted "Its what goes on from here that's going to count."

Display At Mall August 18, 19 And 20

An energy conservation display will be transported by van throughout the Province during the summer months, Hon. William Gillis, Minister-in-charge of the Nova Scotia Energy Council, announced today.

The display, sponsored by the Energy Council, is designed to inform the homeowner on how he can conserve energy and at the same time save on high costs. Special emphasis will be placed on the family home, the proper application of home insulation and the usage of electrical appliances In addition the winning posters submitted to the recent Energy Council school poster contest will be mounted on display panels.

Dr. Gillis said that the staff accompanying the display will be concerned with identifying measures to improve energy efficiency and cost savings. "The display, for example, will stress the importance of insulating basement walls. Recent studies indicate that this area is a major heat loss contributor with a typical Nova Scotia residence losing about 25 per cent of its heat from this source," the minister added.

In addition to the staff of the energy display, a representative of the Nova Scotia Housing Commission will be present to provide information to homeowners interested in applying for aassistance under the Home insulation Loan Program.

The display will be in the Evangeline Mall in Digby, August 18th, 19th and 20th.

FIRE DEALS HEAVY BLOW

One of the worst fires to strike in the town of Digby in recent years destroyed the 1948 wing of Digby Regional High School early Sunday morning and resulted in smoke and water damage to the section built in 1957.

An estimate of the loss was not available at press time but the loss will probably amount to at least $1,000,000. Insurance on the lost and damaged portions of the school amounted to $990,000.

In an emergency meeting of the regional school board on Monday, under the chairmanship of George Barton, a decision was taken to rebuild the lost portion of the school on the present site.

Chief VanTassel said one room of the school was completely engulfed in flames when the Digby Volunteer Fire Department arrived on the scene early Sunday morning and by that time flames had gone through air vents to the attic and through the ventilators.

Fire departments from seven surrounding areas were called in for assistance to prevent the blaze from destroying the rest of the school complex and spreading to surrounding buildings.

Mr. VanTassel said the firemen were fortunate to save the Digby rink, located only 50 feet from the school. Sparks and flying debris endangered all structures in the area.

Fire departments longnight responding to the call for assistance came from Cornwallis, Bear River, Smith's Cove, Digby Neck, Barton-Brighton, Plympton and Weymouth.

All men and equipment put in a long night. The Digby department kept men on the sit e until Monday morning watering hot areas and checking for further outbreaks.

In all, 75 men or more were involved in the battle, including Digby's veteran firemen who had retired after long service to the department.

As of Tuesday, no possible causes of the fire were being made known. An investigation was in progress by the fire marshall's office and the RCMP.

One of the problems faced by the Digby Regional School Board when it met in emergency session Monday was what to do with the 350 junior high school students who made use of the destroyed portion of the building.

Even though a decision was made to rebuild - subject to approval from the municipal units of the town of Digby and the district of Digby- the new facility would not be ready for the start of the coming fall term.

Although no decision was made as to how to accomodate the students, various suggestions were offered. A "split shift" is one possibility. That would keep the students housed in the remaining wing of the high school.

Another suggestion was to make use of facilities such as church halls, organization buildings or possibly the elementary schools.

School officials were fortunate in that all certificates for report cards were saved. However, permanent record cards were lost. There is hope, though, that these records can be reproduced.

During the school board meeting, superintendent of Schools Clinton MacInnes praised the fire department for getting to the fire-scene so quickly. The board, by motion, decided to write a letter of thanks to the various fire departments for a job well-done.

Municipality Interested In Municipal Planning

The trend toward municipal planning in Nova Scotia has finally reached the District of Digby. At Monday's regular council session, Digby municipal council passed a motion declaring its interest in both municipal and regional planning.

Just which direction the municipality will go in its regional planning is as yet uncertain, however. Several councillors favoured a planning union with Annapolis County rather than the western group which includes Clare, Yarmouth, Argyle, and perhaps several other western municipal units.

Councillor Richard Daley was one councillor without much interest in planning with Annapolis County. He felt industry in the two municipalities are quite far removed and Digby district has more in common with Clare.

Sewage

A letter from the Town of Digby advised that any sewage system constructed by the municipality may be connected to the town system provided the municipality will share the cost of treatment at the plant on a pro-rata basis.

A motion was passed to authorize the board of health to look into the possibilities of sewage systems and connections into the town's system and report monthly on their progress, including approvals and disapprovals.

A letter was received from COPA thanking councillors for their best convention to date. The organization said they have never before had such community involvement.

At the request of Councillor Eric VanTassel, a letter of thanks will be written to Don Scott and his band for adding to the atmosphere at the Ronald Moorehouse testimonial dinner.

Sidewalks

By a vote of 5-3, council decided to accept the proposal of the department of highways for sidewalk construction in Conway. The work, being done on a cost-sharing basis, will cost the municipality about $5,710.

Votes against the motion came from Walter MacAlpine, Ruben Mervin and Lloyd Grant.

A decision was made to tender for someone to collect and pile derelict cars in an effort to clean up junk heaps around the municipality. Councillor McNeil voted against the motion.

A crusher will be brought in to demolish the junk.

Fire Destroys Mill

A major fire in Weymouth North completely destroyed the main mill of Waldec Enterprises Friday night resulting in a loss of about 25 jobs at the mill and affecting other jobs in the woods.

According to a Waldec Enterprises owner, Emmanuel Adelaar was on the site at 6:30 p.m. and everything was okay. By 8 p.m. the fire was reported going full-blast.

Although preliminary steps are being taken to rebuild the mill, an actual decision on erecting a new structure is reported still in limbo.

Fire departments from Weymouth, Plympton and St. Bernard were called in to fight the blaze.

Cause of the fire and estimated loss were not known as of yesterday.

The fire which destroyed the main mill of Waldec Enterprises in Weymouth North was fought by members of the Weymouth Volunteer Fire Department and neighbouring departments for more than four hours. Little is left of the structure.

EDITORIAL
REPLACE THE SCHOOL PROMPTLY (Contributed)

Prompt and effective action needs to be taken in the ensuring of the earliest possible replacement of the original portion of the Digby Regional High School in the tragic fire early Sunday morning.

Actually, it was not just a portion of a school in Digby that was destroyed in that fire. Rather, it was the first Regional High School established in this province. It was a notable pioneering effort in the provision of an equality in education. As such it should be restored without delay and on its original site.

While it is true the original Digby Regional High School has had a number of necessary additions over the years since it was first opened in 1948, it is also equally true a whole system of education would never have been developed in this area without the vision and foresight that the original Digby Regional High School demonstrated.

Surely, in the replacement of this school our area can again show forth that degree of cooperation that resulted in the building of the original Digby Regional High School. Those who are in positions of responsibility and authority can lead the way by taking every necessary step to ensure there are no delays in getting the replacement job underway. The populace can show through their active support of a rebuilding program they are united in this enterprise.

At this point in our history our area needs to show, not only within our own midst, but to those elsewhere that we can set aside that may seem to divide us and act in a determined and united way to replace an edifice and an institution whose graduates have brought honour not only to themselves but also to their school, the Digby Regional High School, and the area it serves.

From a practical point of view there is also need for immediate and decisive action. A rebuilding program must get underway as soon as possible so that there will be a minimum disruption of classes and schedules next fall. Undoubtedly classes will have to be housed in makeshift accommodation and new schedules will be required but this should be for the shortest time necessary.

CANADA DAY

It used to be called Dominion Day and it fell on July 1. When the Government decided to proclaim our own uniquely Canadian heritage and institutions, the name was changed.

Unfortunately, we have lost the significance of Dominion as proclaimed by the psalmist: "He shall have dominion also from sea to sea...". Our forefathers were conscious of God's handiwork when they named this country and we would do well to remember His bounty, regardless of the change in name of our holiday observance.

Perhaps for a while we could add the words "National Unity Day" and urge Canadians to develop a truly burning sense of the need to reshape our Confederation so that we can build a new and more solid foundation for this nation.

But changing names or having special days are only symbols and while it is important that we have symbols to guide and inspire us, we must also find it within our hearts to develop a sense of pride and patriotism that will keep our country together.

For too long we have either been faintly embarrassed or openly critical of the American brand of patriotism that wears its heart on its sleeve. But perhaps we erred the other way in our desire to remain unemotional and cerebral about what Canada is all about.

It is time that we began to know our country -- the grandeur of the mountains, the empty beauty of the harsh northland, the neverending golden Prairie, the lakes and rivers of Central Canada and the oceans and rocks of the East.

It is time we began to understand what it is that we have accomplished as a country so that people can see what is uniquely Canadian and recognize it as theirs, not something American or English or French, but Canadian. To swell with pride when we recognize ourselves in our own books, paintings, theatre and even television.

Canada Day, 1977 should be a Day of Unity, a day of being Canadian and then all the other days must be spent in glueing together the Canadian mosaic so that it is strong and beautiful.

Diverse we are, disunited we cannot be for to be truly Canadian is to be proud and, yes, a little humble at being part of a common identity within one of the most richly blessed lands in all the world.

Canada Day.

A day to be thankful and a day to be united.

Hodge Podge

We saw an impressive item in the latest War Cry. The War Cry quoted a Nova Scotia newspaper as reading "An impassive ordination service was held Sunday in the Tiverton Christian Church." It ends the paragraph with "Well, who gets excited any more?" Truthfully, we haven't tried to find from what Nova Scotia newspaper the quote was taken.

As far as we can gather the first Bank of Nova Scotia Branch in Digby operated from the wooden building, later home of the Donald MacNutt family, which stood on the property where the present Bank of Nova Scotia stands. The house was moved back towards the railway tracks in order to build the next construction which most of our residents vividly remember with its unique architecture and ivy covering. This gave way but a few years back to the present modern structure". Anyone able to supply further information?

Letters To The Editor

Opinions expressed in the Letter to the Editor column in this newspaper are not necessarily those of the editor.

Dear Sir:

On behalf of our Board of Directors I wish to thank the good people of Digby for giving our recent convention such a terrific welcome.

In spite of poor flying weather which meant that several dozen aircraft could not arrive, we had a most successful convention thanks to the kind co-operation of the Digby people.

We'll be back again sometime.

Yours truly

Dear Editor:

Before I leave Digby today, I must get this note to the Editor's office hoping you will print it.

One week ago I came from New York to your wonderful town of Digby which I admire very much. My wife and I really had big plans for staying all summer until August 25th. But here we are getting our things together to leave your wonderful little town. After leaving N.Y. City we sure we were looking forward to having some nice quiet restful nights with windows open. The air we really needed. But the noise of barking and howling dogs has off set any noises we have been used to. It is an awful shame a nice town like Digby has to be ruined with that awful pollution of noise.

To the people and town authorities I say. "Clean up on the dog barking if you would like tourists to stay around". Take a look around Digby as I have and note on the average of one or two dogs to each home.

Sorry we have to move on so suddenly but we cannot take another night of broken rest.

We will search for some farm home to spend the rest of our vacation. We may come back again if this situation changes. We will read all about it as we have the Courier sent to us each week.

Best of luck with cleaning up dog pollution.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Marcus
N.Y. City.

Dear Mrs. Wallis:

About the letter inviting use of the Bear River swimming pool. I would like to ask the writer some questions. He says they have never had a serious accident.

As the pool is over 8 feet deep and there is to be no one in charge will Mr. Peck be responsible for the first one that happens this year? There were 3 incidents last summer which could have been fatal.

Will he prevent the men who bathed naked in the pool last year and made it impossible for parents to take young children? What does he plan to do about the schoolchildren with their filthy language and their vandalism.

We would like to have seen something for the younger children as when the pool was rebuilt last year. At least I will make sure my children will not use it, and I know there are others who feel the same way.

A Parent.

Meeting Held On Swimming Pool

A special meeting of the Bear River Board of Trade was held at the fire hall Monday night to deal with the situation at the community swimming pool.

The pool has been closed by the department of public health on the grounds that the bacteria count resulting from dead vegetation exceeds the allowable level.

Those who came expecting to find out when the pool might again open, and what, if any, changes would be made there, left less than satisfied.

Much of the meeting time was taken up by charges and arguements between members of the Board of Trade and the Swimming Pool Committee.

If anything positive came from the meeting it was the fact that the two groups have finally recognized each other and have agreed that no major changes be made by one without approval from the other.

The Board of Trade undertook a program at the pool site last year when they attempted to establish the Rice Memorial Park with help from an LIP program. The swimming pool committee later undertook their own program which brought fire from the Board of Trade, particularly Rev. Foster Hall who directed the LIP program.

Mr. Hall said he was "shaken beyond measure" when he found a bulldozer working at the park site. He said the pool was dug up and dumped on the picnic site and the seeded area covered with sand and gravel, among other things. When the provincial people saw what happened, he said, he was told there would be no more LIP grants made in the name of the Board of Trade.

Watson Peck, a member of the swimming pool committee, defended the work done at the site by the committee. He said the result is a good pool and the water is clean. "I'm happy with it," he said.

Oakley Peck (committee) said the pool is not closed and anyone can still swim there....and have been for the past few days. He said changes were made to the pool itself after a youngster received head injuries diving off the diving board.

Mr. Peck charged that there was no heed paid to the pool committee's recommendations during the Board of Trade's work there.

Mr. Hall, however, countered that no recommendations were offered.

Gymnasium Sought For Islands School

Digby Municipal Council has given its blessing to a movement to have a gymnasium built at the Islands Consolidated School in Freeport.

At its monthly meeting on Monday, council went on record in support of the program and decided to include the project in next year's budget.

Physical Education teacher Roger Outhouse appeared at council's morning session to outline the need for a gym and request that council make some move toward this objective.

He noted that the multipurpose room is currently used for gym activities but said it is inadequate for a number of reasons.

Other schools, he said, refuse to come to Freeport to play games, i.e. basketball, volleyball, because of the facility's limited space and low ceilings. Therefore, all the school's games must be played on the road.

Mr. Outhouse said the only sport that can be played at the school is ping-pong, a sport newly introduced this year.

Volleyball has also been introduced this year at the junior level, but Mr. Outhouse said senior students could not be expected to play it here.

Seven teachers are involved in extra hour sports at the school, he noted, and the present facility is well used. But the students are placed in a difficult position when going elsewhere.

He also suggested that school sports should be removed from the centre of academic activity, noting it is difficult to conduct physical education classes with teaching going on all around.

Mr. Outhouse's position was supported by a number of letters from people in the area.

Town Tax Rate Not Struck

After several Digby Town Council meetings to prepare a budget and strike a tax rate for the town, the special meeting on Monday evening failed to come up with a rate.

It is understood that Council will look to the Department of Municipal Affairs for assistance in declaring the rate because of certain grants available. The approved budget was submitted to the Department of Municipal Affairs following Monday evenings' 'special meeting.

Picnic Celebrates Canada Week

A Multicultural Picnic of more than 150 people was held at Braemar Lodge on the shores of Lake Ellenwood, Yarmouth County, Sunday afternoon, June 26. This gathering of people of many different cultures of Southwestern Nova Scotia was a fitting example of the Multicultural Mosaic of Canadian Society.

There were displays of art and handicraft. One display which attracted much attention was a group of hand made dolls depicting the features, the color and the native dress of many of the different ethnic people in Nova Scotia. Other displays included a variety of painted pictures, painted bottles, pottery, and sculptured figures of fishermen, lumbermen and senior people.

Mrs. Barbara Campbell, Co-ordinator of the Multicultural Association of Nova Scotia was present and expressed the greetings and good wishes from other Multicultural Associations throughout Nova Scotia. She praised the friendly, informal atmosphere of this Canada Week Occasion.

The entertainment featured Ethnic folk songs sung in Native Tongue. Native folk dancing as well as children playing along the lake shore and riding skateboards on the paved parking lot.

The evening meal featured a variety of ethnic foods along with the picnic supper brought by various families attending.

The picnic was orginally scheduled to be held in the Ellenwood Provincial Park. But due to the threatening weather condition, the picnickers were favored with the use of the Recreation Hall at Braemar Lodge. The owners, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth DeMone, received high praise for the use of the facilities of the Lodge in this beautiful setting on the shores of Lake Ellenwood.

This Multicultural Picnic is one of the events in the celebration of Canada Week in Western Nova Scotia.

It was made possible by ideas and assistance from the Canadian Folk Arts Council and arranged by the Western Nova Multicultural Association.

Wedding Bells

RAYMOND-THOMPSON

The Smith's Cove United Baptist Church was the scene of a lovely spring wedding on Saturday, April 30, 1977 at 2:30 p.m. when Darlene Ann Thompson, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald (Bud) Thompson, Smith's Cove, became the bride of Frederick William Raymond, son of Mrs. Mildred Raymond and the late LeMert Raymond of Smiths Cove.

Rev. Wallace Jordan officiated at the double ring ceremony. Soloist and organist was Joanne Franklin of Digby, who sang three selections. The first selection, "I'm Forever" was beautifully rendered after the bridal party had ascended to the front of the church and stood facing their relatives and friends. During the signing of the register two more selections were beautifully rendered, "Let It Be Me" and "The Wedding Song."

The church was decorated with baskets of yellow and white gladioli and shasta daisies. The pew markers were composed of miniature yellow parasols trimmed with artificial shasta daisies.

The radiant bride entered the church on the arm of her father and was given in marriage by her parents. She wore a dreamy floor length gown of white chiffon with a Puritan collar and Alencon lace bodice; long slim sleeves with ruffled cuffs; featuring a full skirt extending into a chapel train trimmed with Alencon lace. Her matching headpiece, a picture hat, was trimmed with Alencon lace and tulle illusion veil. She carried a white satin parasol trimmed with yellow ribbon (to which was attached) a corsage of yellow roses.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Linda Carty, sister of the groom, wore a yellow polyester floor length gown featuring capped sleeves, v-neckline, and tied at the back waist. Her accessories were elbow length white gloves and a yellow picture hat trimmed with white ribbon. She carried a yellow bouquet of shasta daisies, yellow roses and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids were Suzette Thompson, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Cathy Wentzel, friend of the bride, who wore green gowns identically fashioned as the honor attendant's. Their accessories were white elbow length gloves and white picture hats trimmed with green ribbon. They carried green bouquets of shasta daisies trimmed with baby's breath.

Holly Crosby, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl who wore a yellow gingham checked floor-length dress with capped sleeves and tied in a bow at the front and trimmed with white lace. She wore white gloves and had a band of flowers in her hair. She carried a basket of yellow roses, shasta daisies and baby's breath.

The groom was smartly attired in a pale yellow tuxedo. Attending the groom and wearing white tuxedos were best man, Ralph Raymond, brother of the groom, and ushers Lynwood Thompson, brother of the bride, and Roger Carty, brother-in-law of the groom.

The ring bearer, Nicky Crosby, cousin of the bride, wore a pale blue three-piece suit with a navy bow tie. He carried a white satin pillow which held the rings.

The mother of the bride wore an aqua floor-length dress of doubleknit polyester with a chiffon cape and white accessories. Her corsage was yellow roses.

The mother of the groom was dressed in a coral floor-length gown of double knit polyester with long chiffon sleeves, white accessories, and corsage of yellow roses.

The reception for 185 guests was in the banquet room of the Digby Fire Hall. The hall was decorated in yellow and white with the bride's table trimmed with yellow and white streamers, yellow parasols and white wedding bells.

The stairway wedding cake consisted of six cakes setting on lucite tubes in which were yellow roses.

Serving the brides table was Vonda Thompson, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Wanda Thibodeau, cousin of the bride.

To the left of the bride's table was the tea and coffee service with Mrs. Audrey Spects, aunt of the groom, and Mrs. Juanita Tibbetts, aunt of the bride, pourers.

To the right of the brides table was the punch being served by Mr. and Mrs. Neil Robbins, friends of the bridal couple.

In charge of the guest book was Burnadette Dauphinee and Keithea Kingston of Kentville, both cousins of the bride.

The toast to the bride was given by Gerald Young, a close friend of the bride's family.

For their honeymoon the happy couple travelled along the north shore of New Brunswick, down to the States and Quebec.

For travelling, the bride chose a blue pant suit with white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

The newlyweds reside in Deep Brook, Anna. Co. The groom is employed with the Digby Electric Co. Ltd., and the bride is employed by the Province of Nova Scotia Department of Social Services in Digby.

Out of town guests were from Kentville, New Minas, Halifax, Yarmouth, Wolfville, Enfield, and Boston, Mass.

"It Was Wonderful"

"It was wonderful!" that is the way the CYC'ers campout was described when the director was asked for information regarding the events.

The camp -out took place on Friday evening June 24th at the Estate of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Myers, Clementsport, when about forty CYC'ers and others enjoyed a great night out.

The Digby Wesleyan Sunday School bus transported the children to the camp-out area where some sports were participated in.

A devotional talk was given by the pastor Rev. Walter Fernley.

Roasting Hot Dogs and marshmallows around a campfire was enjoyed by many present.

There was one house trailer present for the camp out. A number of tents provided overnight accommodations for the guests.

One gentleman who sat by an early A.M. campfire and made his rounds in the tenting area said strange sounds were heard on that fine night.

The strange sounds were proof that the campers many of them at least enjoyed several hours of good sound sleep in the fresh air.

Before the camp out concluded on Saturday a.m. the weather dampened but the spirits of the group did not follow in the path of the June weather.

We understand that the camp out was termed a successful one and it was also termed a wonderful one.

Thanks was expressed to everyone who made this event possible. The CYC group is under the direction of Ruth, Mrs. Robert Wilson.

Annual Roll Call Services Held

Several non-resident members were present to respond to their names and others responded by letter. The Pastor conducted an "In Memoriam" service for three members who had passed away during the year: Mrs. Byron MacNeill, Dr. Walter DeLong, and Mrs. Vernon Rice.

The special music for the afternoon service was by Vennie and Dorothy Hill of Bear River who sang three duets, "My Father Knows", "The Mercies of God", and "The Longer I Serve Him", accompanied on the organ by Mrs. R. R. Winchester.

A service of song, led by the Pastor opened the evening service, followed by a worship service. The special music for the evening was provided by the Bear River Baptist Church Men's Choir, acompanied by Mrs. Winchester on the organ, and their selections were "I Will Praise Him," "The Old Account was Settled Long Ago", "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer", and "Alone With God".

The guest speaker for both afternoon and evening services was Dr. Abner J. Langley, Professor at Acadia Divinity College.

The Ordinance of the Lord's Supper was observed at the close of the Evening Service.

Flowers in the church were in memory of Mr. John W. Murley from Mrs. John Murley and Mrs. Harris Mossman.

Visitors were present from near-by and distant areas, and all visitors and members were given a sincere welcome by the Pastor.

Canada Safety Council

Water skiing is fun and exciting - but remember the other fellow. Stay clear of swimming areas. fishermen, piers and divers. The Canada Safety Council advises that there must be an extra rider in the tow boat to keep the skier under constant observation.

A boat doesn't have to hit anything to cause damage. The Canada Safety Council urges boaters to watch their wakes. Powerboat wakes can damage shorelines, docks and moored boats and endanger swimmers. Keep your wake to a minimum when proceeding through channels and near other vessels.

Small boat skippers should always file a "float plan" says the Canada Safety Council.

The "float plan" is simple. Tell your yacht club, a neighbour or a relative where your boating trip is taking you, what general course you will follow, and when you expect to arrive. If you become lost the person in charge of your plan will be able to give search and rescue authorities a "fix" on your location.

Boating safety should begin in the driveway for the thousands of owners of trailer boats. The Canada Safety Council reminds trailer boaters to check tire pressures, hitches, bearings and lights so as to avoid a boating accident on the highway.

Attention, small boat operators!!! A message from the Canada Safety Council. If you see a red flag with a diagonal white stripe, bobbing in the water, give it a wide berth. It means there's a diver in the area and you should steer clear.

Employment Opportunities

Job hunting in these days of slow growth economy can be a joyless, disheartening experience. The bitterness can be compounded by answering Help Wanted ads which are "comeons." Nova Scotian newspapers have recently run ads from out of province employment agencies promising high wages for skilled and unskilled workers. The applicant must submit up to $30.00 with his application form to register with the agency. Some Nova Scotians have gone as far as Alberta to follow up on such offers, only to discover that there are no vacancies and much lower wages than advertised.

The Better Business Bureau offers the following advice to those who may be intrigued by such ads:

1. Beware of prospective employment opportunities that require a financial outlay. Registration fees are not required by most employment agencies.

2. Be suspicious of claims of exorbitant wages. Your local Manpower office can advise you of the going wage rate in any Canadian locality.

3. Remember that very few employment agencies can guarantee placement. Check with Canada Manpower to see if any such guarantees are realistic.

A single telephone call to the Better Business Bureau may tell you whether the registration fee for an employment agency is a good or worthless investment.

Canada, I want to shake your hand.

Field Day At Digby Elementary

The students and teachers of the Digby Elementary School held their third annual "field day" on June 23rd. All students from grades one to six participated in an excellent program organized by Mrs. MacAlpine.

Full of energy and enthusiasm, the students of Digby Elementary arrived and were divided into groups according to age levels. Individuals competed with other students of their own age for points. Students of grades one, two, and three participated in such activities as: potato sack race, hoola hoop contest, and an assortment of other races. Students of grades four, five and six competed in the following activities: sack race, train race, standing-broad jump, shot-put, crazy cloth race, obstacle course relay, Firemen's carry race and a three leg race.

Laughter and shouts of encouragement filled the air as each student tried his best. Each activity was carefully supervised by teachers who encouraged students to reach their potential and offered words of encouragement.

The above activity took place in the morning. After lunch break, the younger students enjoyed a Walt Disney movied entitled "Bristle Face." The students were very appreciative of this heart warming story about a boy's love for his dog.

Meanwhile, the older students were back on the field where they enjoyed a vigorous tug of war. This was followed by a ball game between Mr. Jeffery's grade six and Mrs. Dunn's grade five. The victorious students were those of grade five.

Trophies were awarded. The female who accumulated the most points was June Sibley; she was presented the "Female Athlete of the Year" award. Craig Harnish was presented the "Male Athlete of the Year" award. The highest achievers in each age group were presented awards and were as follows: Sandra Theriault, Marshall Miller, David Reid, Peter Handspiker, Cheri Nesbitt, Danalie Weir, Allan Griffin, Wendy Carter and Harly Robicheau.

Before leaving, teachers congratulated the students on a job well done and spoke of the good sportmanship that was shown throughout the day.

Meeting Demand For Fuelwood

Efforts to meet the increasing demand for fuelwood in Nova Scotia have resulted in a major adjustment in fuelwood policy, Lands and Forests Minister Vincent MacLean announced.

"Because of the escalating costs of energy, demand has increased for fuelwood throughout the Province," Mr. MacLean said.

"As a result, efforts will be made by the Department of Lands and Forests to meet the growing demand for fuelwood. To this end, 148 people are now busy working cutting fuelwood on Crown Land."

The Minister said that any cutting on Crown Lands would conform to standards of good forest management with the objective of leaving young advanced growth of desirable species for natural regeneration.

"The Department of Lands and Forests will not tolerate indiscriminate and random cutting by the public on Crown Lands," the Minister said.

"Cutting of trees for fuelwood, or for other products, without a written permit or license is an offense under the Lands and Forests Act and will constitute trespass under the Act."

The new Fuelwood Policy will emphasize a decrease in the issuance of small fuelwood permits for cutting of standing trees for household use. The Department will attempt to meet these demands for fuelwood, in excess of commercial supplies, by volume cutting and sale of four or eight-foot lengths at roadsides or in yards.

"The Department will also be assessing the fuelwood potential throughout the province on both Crown and private lands, and evaluate cutting capabilities of the Department and private industry to fill fuelwood demands of the public," Mr. MacLean said.

The Department will also be investigating the feasibility of establishing fuelwood yards to make it more convenient for the public to purchase small quantities. However, the Minister pointed out that care would be taken not to affect the income of commercial fuelwood suppliers if yards of this type are established.

"As a matter of fact, the Department will tender large quantities of standing fuelwood for the benefit of commercial suppliers if the demand warrants such action," he said.

The Lands and Forests Department has jurisdiction over only one-quarter of the forest land in the Province while private land owners control the remaining three. The new policy will encourage the private owners to supply fuelwood for private consumption.

Mr. MacLean said that he hopes to have the new policy in effect by late 1977.

Notes From The 74th Crusaders Motorcycle Club

The regular meeting of the 74th Crusaders was held on Wednesday, June 22nd with twelve members, and three guests present.

Although the weather was not the best, some of our members went to Laconia, New Hampshire, and most had a very enjoyable trip. They were amazed to see the infinite number of bikes driving about the city.

Two new members joined the Crusaders this week, Sid Facey, sponsored by Carl Marshall; and Billy Wambolt, sponsored by Les Robicheau. It is hoped they will enjoy the club activities and others are welcome to join.

This weekend there is the Bluenose Rally to be held at Coldbrook. Those interested will be leaving Annapolis on Thursday, June 30th, at 7:30 p.m. from Brian Cummings' home.

THE UNFRIENDLY WORLD

Would you read John 16:1-4?

Here Jesus warns His disciples that their future will not be easy. The cost of believing in Christ was paid in blood by most of the original apostles. Here He warns them not to give up even when they are ostracized by former friends. Sometimes Christians abuse one another.

The world has never treated true believers with much enthusiasm. Names of martyrs are well known. Some have been called fanatics; they have been ridiculed and belittled by many intellectual worldlings.

But God will not permit His children to suffer without also receiving the inner strength of His Holy Spirit.

At this point in time, some are facing torture over the world. Public worship is banned. Satanic power seeks to destroy faith in the Saviour. The world's last and only hope rests in its ability to recognize the enemy, and to rise up in prayer and action for the defeat of the foe.

World order cannot come by legislation, nor by peace talks.

It is time to repent, to believe and to take courage in Him Who said, "I will never leave thee nor forsake thee."

Don't give up, but look up in this power which brings personal victory.

Federal Gasoline Tax Rebate

Farmers, like other businessmen who use gasoline in earning a living, are eligible to claim a 10-cent-per-gallon rebate on all gasoline purchased for business purposes after June 24, 1975.

D.P. Atkinson, chief of Revenue Canada's gasoline tax division says that farmers may apply for the 10-cent rebate up to four years from the time the gasoline was purchased.

Claim forms are available at post offices and at district taxation, customs and excise offices across Canada.

Bride-To-Be Showered

A surprise bridal shower was held for Jane Kinsman, Smith's Cove on Saturday evening, June 11, 1977 by Darlene Raymond and Cathy Wentzell at the home of Mrs. Neil Adams. The beautifully decorated room included a pink umbrella decorated cake. She received many lovely and useful gifts.

On June 23, 1977 she was again surprised by a luncheon shower given to her by the twenty girls working with her at National Sea Products, Halifax. She is a Purchasing Agent for that company. The shower was held at 12 o'clock noon in the Board Room of the National Sea Products Company. At this time she also received many beautiful gifts.

Another Look At The U.I.C.

The Unemployment Insurance Commission has voiced concern that some claimants may not be receiving their correct rate of benefits. Mr. Doucet, who is the Public Liaison Officer, for the local Unemployment Insurance office, said the discrepency occurs when persons making applications for benefits do not include all the Records of Employment (formerly known as separation certificates) which apply to their qualification period.

The qualification period is time during the last 52 weeks prior to the application of benefits or since the last application, which ever is the shorter period.

Failure to include all Records of Employment can result in either an overpayment or underpayment and can even affect the duration of the claim. An overpayment is caused when a person receives more money than he is entitled to from the U.I.C., either by having a weekly rate higher than he should, or by receiving benefits to which he is not entitled. An underpayment occurs when a person does not get all the money to which he is entitled. The number of weeks of insurable employment can also have a bearing on the length of time a claimant will receive benefits.

It is also important for a person filing a claim to include, with application, Records of Employment for all types of insurable employment, whether they be fishing or regular. All Records of are considered when determining both the rate and duration of the claim.

If you have already filed a claim for benefits, and you have not included all your Records of Employment, it would be in your interest to forward them to your nearest U.I.C. office.

Question: Could you please tell me how long it will be, after I file a claim, before I can receive my first Unemployment Insurance cheque?

Answer: After you have filed your application for benefits, you will receive two report forms. In most cases, one form will cover a two-week period, while the other will cover a one-week period.

At the start of your claim, there is a two-week waiting period for which no benefits are paid. Your first report form for a two-week period will cover this waiting period. At the end of the third week, you are required to send your report forms to the Regional Pay Centre where payments will be made, provided you are entitled to benefits.

Ordinarily, you should receive your first cheque during the fourth week after the start of your claim. If you have been disqualified or disentitled for a period of time, you will naturally receive your first cheque later than the fourth week.

Question: My nearest Unemployment Insurance Office is Yarmouth but I get my benefit cheque from the Moncton Pay Centre. Which place should I contact in order to obtain general information?

Answer: Any Correspondence, insurance documents, or information other than your report cards, should be mailed to your district office. The address is: Unemployment Insurance Commission, P.O. Box 249, Yarmouth. You may call Yarmouth 742-7102. Delays could occur if anything other than the report card is sent to Moncton.

Question: I have sent in my report forms to Moncton, but they were returned stating I had mailed them too early. How do I know when I should send in my report forms?

Answer: At the top of your report forms, next to your name, it will show you if the forms cover a one (1) or two (2) week period. The next three columns after this will indicate the DAY, MONTH, and YEAR of the first week which your report form covers. Once you have determined for how long and for what period your form covers, send them in at the end of the last week covered.

EATING SAFELY OUT-OF- DOORS

We all get the urge to eat out of doors when the summer sun beats down. Many things affect our enjoyment of barbecues, picnics, etc. Several conditions we cannot control, but we can affect the quality of the food we serve.

One of the biggest concerns I have is food safety. When eating out of doors it is difficult to keep certain foods really cold, so therefore, the food safety questions arises quickly.

Perhaps the hardest foods to keep really cold and safe are salads, especially those that contain mayonnaise. Potato, chicken and fish salads all provide great substance for the growth of bacteria. The problem arises when we run out of refrigerator space and allow those salads to become slightly warm.

One way to avoid the risk of slightly warm potato salad is to eliminate it and substitute a hot potato in its place: mini potato scallops in foil. These may be done on the barbecue grill alongside meats.

Just peel a medium size potato, slice it onto a square of foil. Dot with butter, add a bit of chopped onion and salt and pepper. Seal the foil by folding the edges over several times. Ten minutes a side will cook these potato packets on a barbecue grill.

These mini scallops are very tasty and when food is piping hot-it is safe. Many vegetables may be done this way.

Barbecued meats when served hot are safe foods too, however, problems may arise when they are held to be kept warm for over an hour. If they aren't served within an hour-cool the meats. The key is to serve foods HOT or serve them COLD.

Speaking of cold foods-it's best to avoid cream pies if you're serving a fairly large group and cannot keep the pies refrigerated until serving time. Fruit pies are a much better alternative. An even easier dessert is homemade fruit cocktail. Just before serving add a can of gingerale, seven-up or other clear soda pop for extra special flavour.

Fresh fruit and vegetables are easy to prepare, flavourful, colourful and are less risky. So enjoy the summer and enjoy SAFE pleasant out door meals.

Government Builds 200 Homes

Two hundred new homes will be built for the lowest income people in Nova Scotia under the 1977 Rural and Native Housing Program which was given final approval this week.

Housing Minister Walter Fitzgerald announced that the provincial cabinet had allocated $1.3 million as Nova Scotia's share of the $5.2 million federal-provincial program, and that the program would get underway immediately. Ottawa's share – through Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation – had already been approved.

The Rural and Native Housing Program is aimed specifically at communities with populations of 2,500 or less. Homes built under the program go to the lowest-income residents of those municipalities, and their mortgages are geared to their ability to repay.

The 200 new homes planned under the 1977 program -- costing an average of $26,000 each – are proposed for 17 municipalities across Nova Scotia.

They are: Antigonish, Annapolis, Colchester, Cumberland, Digby, Guysborough, Hants, Halifax, Inverness, Kings, Lunenburg, Pictou, Queens, Richmond, Shelburne, Victoria and Yarmouth.

Beef Production In The Atlantic Provinces

Beef producers in the Atlantic provinces could raise their net returns by calving beef heifers at least once before slaughter.

This is one of the findings of an economic study recently published by Agriculture Canada comparing methods of beef production in the Maritimes. The study also showed higher net returns for finishing steers on a combination of pasture and grain rather than selling them as feeder calves.

Digby Dragons

The Digby Dragons have been asked to participate in an exchange of teams with Ockelbo Sweden. Members of the Ockelbo Basketbollklub invited the Digby team because of their playing reputation, and their corresponding age level. The trip will take place next March as the Dragons travel to Sweden. The Swedish team will make a return trip to Digby during May of 1978. The two teams will play a number of games as well as participate in tournaments. The trips will be filled with educational and cultural events.

To go along with this trip the Digby Dragons have started a number of campaigns to raise the necessary funds. It is hoped that the whole community will get behind the Dragons.

The Dragons have attempted to carry the name of Digby with pride wherever they go and it is now hoped that the community will demonstrate a pride in the Dragons.

Some things the Dragons are attempting are: auctions in August; tickets on queen size quilt - seen at the "Sewing Center", help from service clubs such as the Kinsmen.

If anyone has a suggestion as to how the team can get support, or if anyone wishes to help out please feel free to contact either Don Hattie 245-4093 or Greg Jamieson 467-3730.

Digby Dragons To Basketball Camp

Ten members of the Digby Dragons are attending a basketball clinic at Unity College in Maine. The girls include: Pam Locke; Cheryl Trask; Janet Wilson; Kim Roy; Joanne Wilson; Erin Gardiner; Kathy Troupe; Kathy Naylor; Debbie Pyne; Susan Marshall.

The camp is being conducted by both Canadian and American coaches, under the guidance of Acadia's Dick Hunt, Canadian University coach of the year. Other coaches from Canada will include Kent Balish of Lockeport and Greg Jamieson of Digby.

The aim of the camp is to further develop the skills of the young female basketball player. The girls will be staying at the dormitories of Unity college and will be involved in about 8 hours of basketball per day.

Bear River Blanks Clementsport Legion

Lindsay Peck went the distance pitching a 4 hitter leading Bear River to a 5-0 triumph over Clementsport Legion on June 20 in Western Valley Softball league action.

B.R. started early in the game scoring 2 runs in the 1st inning on consecutive singles by Steve Saulnier, Dan Haight and Ed Banks, Clementsport managed several runners in the 4th and 5th innings but were unable to get the ball out of the infield to score any runs. Murray Baxter singled home 2 runs in the 5th to up the score to 4-0.

Steve Robinson made a great catch in left field in the 5th inning to save a run and maintain Bear Rivers shutout. Steve Saulnier doubled in the 7th to score Lindsay Peck to end the scoring. John Tooker pitched the game for Clementsport allowing 11 hits, striking out 2 and walking 1 while Peck allowed 4 hits, struck out 2 and walked 5 for Bear River.

Bear River Defeats Digby

Steve Saulnier led Bear River to a 6-4 victory over Digby Thursday (June 23) hitting in 4 runs, with three of those the result of a bases loaded double in the second inning. Back to back triples by Baxter and Banks in the first inning gave Bear River an early 2-0 lead. Digby's Mike Sweeney was hit by a pitch in the 1st inning and stole second base. Bear River then went out in front 5-1 on Saulniers three run double in the second inning. Bear River added another run in the third when Dave Larkin singled and scored on Saulnier's second hit of the game. Digby came back in the fifth on a two run hit by Brian Hazel. Digby then loaded the bases in the last inning adding another run when Todd Simms scored on a hit by Robert Dugas. A force out at home, line drive to second and a fly ball to left field finished the game with B.R. winning 6-4. OUTDOORS with ED COLEMAN

THE GRAPHITE ROD

(The following article on the graphite rod has been prepared especially for this column by Perry Munro of Black River, Kings County. Well-known in the province as an archery expert, Mr. Munro is an experienced guide and angler. He operates an outdoor specialty shop where he makes the graphite rods he writes about.)

Graphite is a very light and stiff material. In comparison with glass fibre, it is about 25 per cent lighter and twice as stiff. This doesn't mean that the rod is 25 per cent lighter and twice as stiff but the raw graphite is.

The stiffness of the raw material enables the rod designer to reduce the diameter of the rod to get the same stiffness–the slimness reduces the air resistance.....and gives the angler a rod that is far more sensitive than the glass equivalent.

A well-designed graphite rod will also have good damping characteristics (when you wiggle the tip it returns instantly to its normal position). This gives you greater line control and more energy is available for line speed because of the lack of waves in the line on the forward cast.

The result of all this is that a well-designed graphite is a superb fly rod that is more sensitive, less tiring, lighter and produces longer casts.

Graphite has been sold to the public for its long distance casting and it certainly does cast a long line. I have changed to a Cortland 444 from an Air Cel Supreme because the Cortland is 35 yards long against the Air Cel's 30. The Air Cel would be completely cast out through the eyes of the rod.

I have a 7½ foot rod I use for trout and on occasion salmon which will cast over 100 feet. They will cast distance but in general, the better a caster you are, the less advantage a graphite rod will be for simply extra distance.

Most important is the ability to present a good line at all distances. Straight and true to the mark with a good turnover. The ability to lift 50 feet of line without stripping in when fly fishing is much more important.

The sensitive part of the rod becomes obvious to the wet fly and streamer fisherman. You feel the fish take. It's hard to explain, but anything that touches the fly–grass, bottom, rocks and on occasion fish–is felt. You would have to use a graphite rod to understand this.

When fighting a salmon (with a graphite) you can anticipate what will happen by the feel of the fly in the fish. It's great!

I'm not going to get into the high modules graphite versus the low modules graphite discussion. I will, however, suggest to your readers that a well-designed fibreglass rod is far superior to a poorly designed graphite rod.

One last word. All the jargon in the world does not alter the fact that the final way and best way to choose a rod is to try it out. If it performs well, it is a good rod. If it does not, all the talk in the world will not make it a good one.

—Perry Munro.

Fishing Outlook

The tempo of fishing has slowed down a bit in the past few weeks due to rainy weather. But in spite of the dampness and high water, anglers are still picking up brook trout. Fisheries officers report scattered catches with best results coming from lake fishing.

Rainbow trout fishing has been fair in recent weeks with some fish reported in the two to three pound range. Smallmouth bass activity is on the increase and, according to fisheries officers and anglers, fish over three pounds have been taken to date this season.

Largest brown trout caught in recent weeks weighed in at five pounds but this doesn't come close to the season's record brown of 11 pounds taken earlier from the Cornwallis River. All time record from the Cornwallis, by the way, is a 14 pounder.

The Annapolis River will open again for striped bass angling on June 30th. Angling for striped bass has been prohibited on the Annapolis during April, May and June from a point roughly four kilometres above the causeway up to the Lawrencetown bridge.

This section of the Annapolis River was closed for the first time this year to coincide with the spawning run of stripers in the river. The closing has been unpopular with some anglers I've heard, but it's bound to help the striped bass fishery in the long run.

Coupon Book Promotions

A coupon book is a sales promotion device, wherein a promoter obtains agreement from a number of merchants to place coupons for discounts and free gifts in a book. The promotor provides the participating merchants with advertisements via local media. Often, the merchants will pay to participate.

Coupon books are sold usually by telephone solicitations. A caller may ask you a very simple question, and right or wrong, you "win" a coupon book for the mere price of $19.95.

Coupon book promotions are not illegal, however, prospective purchasers should remember that the coupons do not necessarily mean you will get "something for nothing". There is often a catch. Example: You must buy one meal to get another free. Buyers do not "win" anything and there is nothing free about it if it costs you money. It is not a gift, if you must pay for it. These books are most often sold through mass telephone solicitation. Remember that you have not been "selected" any more than any other subscriber.

Sometimes, you as a coupon customer, may have to wait to redeem your coupon until paying customers have been served. Some merchants find it difficult to handle the rush of non-paying "coupon" customers plus their regular paying customers. This may result in the dissatisfaction of all customers.

To businesses which consider enrolling in such a promotion device, the Better Business Bureau offers the following advice:

1. Request a confirmed guarantee in writing, of the books to be printed and distributed. If more books are sold than you bargained for, you will have to honor more coupons at a greater expense than you bargained for. Should you be unable to honor the coupons, it is your reputation that is at stake; your customers who will be disappointed.

2. Check for a cancellation clause, it may be too late for doubts after you sign.

3. Does the promoter provide advertising for your business? Make sure all details are precise and in writing.

4. Be sure of the cost to you of your coupon, whether it is a discount free gift or other deal. Disregard statistics which may indicate that only 15 per cent of coupons sold will be redeemed. Rather consider maximum redemption. Can your business afford to honour 100 per cent of the coupons?

5. It's possible that you may have to honor all the coupons on one day. Is it practical? It has been the experience of the B.B.B. that most coupon book purchasers use their coupons soon after buying the book.

6. Don't overestimate traffic generated by the Coupon books. Money is scarce and consumers will go to great lengths to get a deal. Many will redeem the coupon and leave without a backward glance at higher priced goods.

7. Ensure that coupon wording is drafted without ambiguity. Leave limitations as to time, quantity, type of good effected, should be clearly printed on the coupon. When the consumer presents the coupon is not the time to add an afterthought: "I didn't mean any meal free, just a lower priced meal."

The coupon type promotion can be a profitable and worthwhile operation, if it is carefully thought out and operated.

Remember that the Better Business Bureau neither endorses nor condemns businesses or business promotions. Any promotor who suggests he has the "approval" or "clearance" of the Better Business Bureau in misquoting the function of the Bureau.

Annapolis County Arts And Crafts Association

The Annapolis County Arts and Crafts Association presents Artisan '77 on July 1st, 2nd, and 3rd at the Nova Scotia Land Survey Institute in Lawrencetown. Mrs. Marilyn Crawford, chairman of the event, says her committee has planned a very interesting display, with all work being done by local people. The exhibition and sale include many types of crafts such as weaving, pottery, leaded glass, wood carving and wood working, quilts, metal work, lapidary, batik, silver and peweter jewellery, needlework of all kinds, macrame, as well as paintings in both oil and water color. Also included in Artisan '77 will be dolls from a doll-making workshop last winter and a RAKU section where pots made at a RAKU party this spring will be on display. These are only two of several workshops sponsored by the Association throughout the year.

Three professionals have been invited to do a critique of the work on exhibition. Mr. Tom Forrestall of Dartmouth, Mr. Robert Phinney and Mrs. Lillian Thurber of Bridgetown will be in attendance Friday evening. The opening ceremony, beginning at 6 p.m. July 1st, will be performed by Col. Herb Smale, executive manager of the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade.

The show and sale continue all day Saturday (10 a.m. to 5 p.m.) and from noon to five o'clock on Sunday. The Lawrencetown Figure Skating Club will be catering during open hours and light lunches (sandwiches and chowder), tea, coffee, and lemonade will be available.

A puppet show "Solar Circus", featuring Binkley and Doinkle, sponsored by the Department of Environment will be held on Saturday and Sunday afternoons for the children at no charge.

Last year, for the first time, the public were asked to vote on their favourite article in the show. We are asking the public to be our "judges" again this year so come and cast your ballot at Artisan '77 in Lawrencetown on the long weekend.

Starks Return From Extended Trip

Travelling across Canada was how Louis and his wife Eleanora Stark of Mt. Pleasant, Digby, chose to spend their June vacation. Departing Digby on June 2nd the Starks travelled to Alberta stopping over in Saint John, N.B. where Mrs. Stark's uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Marshall reside. Leaving there they travelled to Fredericton, N.B., on to Toronto, Ont., and finally to Edmonton, Alberta, where their son Wayne and family met them and brought them to their home in Whitecourt, a progressive town 109 miles north of Edmonton. Here Wayne and his wife and family operate a golf course.

During their twelve day stay in Alberta Mr. and Mrs. Stark toured the National Parks of Banff and Jasper with Wayne and two children, Michael, II, and Christina, 5. While on tour they visited Phyllis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Anderson in Calgary. Louis and Eleanora returned to Whitecourt for a few busy days and then boarded an Air Canada flight in Edmonton bound for Montreal where their daughter Mrs. Jean Butterworth and husband Alfred live with their three children, Terry, 22, Peter, 21, and Gayle, 16. The Starks stayed there for four days and after a 16 day vacation, returned home.

A Thought Starter

By Rev. R.C. MacCormack

Where Did The Burden Go?

It is one thing to believe in forgiveness, but quite another to experience the release and joy which result. It is possible to confess, then go on without the assurance of pardon and peace.

It is limiting God, to say He is big enough to forgive, but not able to remove the pain guilt, and the penalty for wrong-doing. If He has grace to send His Son to die for our sin and burden, then His grace is also sufficient to lift the loads, (II Cor. 3:5). We are under condemnation no more, Romans 8:1.

Failure to grasp our good fortune to be completely delivered, is common. Perhaps the gift is too much for us to comprehend.

In the old days, a man was driving along the country road with his horse and wagon. He overtook a neighbour who was walking by the roadside, carrying a heavy load. The man driving said to his neighbour, "jump in and have a ride". A while later the guest was still carrying the big package in his arms. The friend said, "Why not put your package down and let the horse carry it"? The timid man replied, "It is enough that the horse would carry me, I won't ask him to carry my load too."

A Christian or a seeker may be unacquainted with the great strength and love of the Lord. This is what freedom through Christ is all about.

What a relief to have Him carry us and our weight too!

Honour Graduates

By Francis Adams

On Wednesday evening, June 22nd at the Digby Wesleyan Church following the regular mid week service two of the young people of that Church were given a reception in honour of their recent graduation from the Annapolis Royal High School.

Miss Tanya Trimper daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Trimper of Greenland, and Miss Nancy Riley, of Bear River East, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Riley were guests of honour.

The Church basement was attractively decorated with Red and White to represent the class colors and a platform especially erected for the occasion was attractive with the red and white streamers and a red carpet.

The red drape located immediately behind the platform on which the honoured guests were seated signified they were from the class of 1977.

A large basket of red and white flowers which stood between the girls graced the platform.

The girls who were attired in their graduation dresses and wore red carnations received many congratulations on this special and colorful occasion.

Robert Wilson favored the young people and other guests present with a solo number entitled "I Know Who Holds My Hand."

The fifty or more guests present were seated around small tables and served a salad plate supper.

Red tablecloths and white candles located on the various tables added much attraction to the room along with small bouquets of flowers.

The nine people seated at the head table were from right to left were the church Pastor, Rev. Walter L. Fernley, Miss Patricia Myers, Mrs. Kenneth Hudson, Kenneth Hudson newly elected, Sunday School superintendent, Robert Wilson- Assistant Sunday School Superintendent; Mrs. Robert Wilson. Mrs. Donald Trimper; Mr. Donald Trimper, Church Treasurer; Mrs. Edith Wallis and the tables accommodating four people seated deacons and their wives.

The graduation cake was served by the new graduates. It was appropriately decorated in red and white and topped with a graduation cap.

Rev. Fernley was the speaker for the occasion. He spoke on the meaning of graduation saying it was a turning point in life. He remarked that it was an honor to graduate because everyone who attended school did not graduate. He said they did not have strength enough or courage enough to carry through.

Rev. Walter Fernley made presentations to Miss Tanya Trimper who served well as Church pianist during the past year and to Miss Nancy Riley. Both new graduates will be attending Bethany Bible School in the Fall. In expressing thanks the girls said they would miss the people of the church but know they were not going alone because God would be with them.

Miss Patricia Myers daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Myers who has recently graduated from Bethany Bible College was also remembered on the occasion. She will be leaving to go to Truro where she will assist the Pastor of the Wesleyan Church. Miss Myers said, "To have a home church and supported by love, unity and prayer meant much to her but to be supported by Prayer meant even more.

Burned School Pioneered In Education

Destruction of the original Digby Regional High School by fire early Sunday was a reminder to many who witnessed the blaze of the early beginnings of the structure which marked in its day a new approach to education in the Digby area.

The first sod for the Digby Regional High School was turned by Dr. John R. McCleave, then Chairman of the Digby Board of School Commissioners, on Tuesday, March 2nd., 1948. Present for the ceremony were some seven hundred pupils of the Digby Academy along with many dignitaries.

According to the Courier, the day was "a particularly fine one for the occasion with bright sunshine and little wind". In turning the sod Dr. McCleave noted the morning's event marked the first step in the actual construction of the building although "much thought and effort had been expended by the School Board in paving the way toward the securing of the new school."

Mayor H.M. Turnbull stated, "Events of this day marked a great day, not only in the history of the Town of Digby, but also in the development of educational facilities in the town". He noted that it gave him a great feeling of pride and pleasure to take part in the events "marking such an historic occasion", and commended "the efforts of the Board of School Commissioners in carrying the preparations for the development of such splendid educational facilities for the town and surrounding countryside to the point that had now been reached". He concluded by saying that when the new school went into operation Digby would have an educational set-up second to none in the province.

The cornerstone of the then new Digby Regional High School was laid by the Hon. Angus L. MacDonald, Premier of Nova Scotia, on the afternoon of Thursday, June 17th., 1948. Dr. McCleave acted as Master of Ceremonies for the occasion. The invocation was given by Rev. Dr. T. W. Hodgson.

In his address Premier MacDonald traced the steps taken in education in Nova Scotia from the time in 1841 when Hon. Joseph Howe first advocated a general assessment for education. He noted Howe's vision of the need for universal education and the effect it would have on the province had become an ever increasing reality.

Premier MacDonald, before laying the cornerstone, congratulated the educational and civic authorities of the Digby Consolidated School area and the Town of Digby for the "splendid efforts they had made to make possible the building of this school here". He said the day was one of the most momentous in the history of education in Nova Scotia for it marked the beginning of an entirely new development in the field of education. "When this school opens, he said, it will mean that rural and urban pupils will sit down together for the first time in a school expressly designed for the education of both pupils from the rural areas and those from the town."

The thanks of the gathering to Premier MacDonald for his address were expressed by Digby's then Deputy Mayor, Victor Cardoza. He commended the Premier on the "splendid opportunities that had been made available in the field of the development of educational facilities in the province and stated the benefits of the educational policy presently being followed would be far reaching".

Others speaking at the ceremonies included Municipal Warden H. E. Chisholm, Municipal School Board Chairman J. Vian Andrews; Mrs. J. W. Murley of the rural high school advisory committee; Inspectors C. W. Crowell and T. A. M. Kirk and Mr. F. C. Purdy, Supervisor of Schools.

If you're in business...

what you don't know can hurt you.

Find out... by long distance.

It often just takes a minute to find the answer to an important business question. So why wonder and wait when you can get the information you need, immediately, by long distance.

You can confirm delivery dates, clarify quantities to be shipped, find out who the new purchasing agent is or whether or not you have to pick up the vice-president at the airport. For efficiency's sake; to stay out of trouble, call long distance. It only takes a minute. With a direct-dialed, daytime call within Nova Scotia costing less than a dollar a minute ... it's worth it!

Safe Boating Week

In 1977, as in previous years, thousands of Canadians will take advantage of the many lakes, rivers and streams in which Canada abounds.

This attraction to the outdoors should not allow us to forget the many boating safety regulations which the Canadian Coast Guard has issued for the welfare and "survival" of Canadians. Each year, unfortunately, there are drownings or accidents attributable in large part to ignorance or disregard of the most basic safety precautions.

Transport Canada is also aware of the public's need for adequate documentation on how to prevent accidents, which often occur because of the absence of elementary precautions. I wish to express my fullest support for the efforts that are made to this end by the Canada Safety Council, which is again organizing a Boating Safety Week from July 1 to 7, 1977. I also wish to commend the work of groups like the Canadian Power Squadrons and the Canadian Red Cross, which spare no effort to make vacationers familiar with the boating regulations.

This year Transport Canada is continuing its public education program on boating safety. The 1977 "Boating Safety Guide" contains much useful and relevant information and can be obtained free of charge from Transport Canada.

I strongly recommend that every user or prospective owner of a pleasure boat obtain this guide.

Transport Canada also plans to establish a corps of volunteers who will act as auxiliaries of the Canadian Coast Guard. Their main task will be to assist boaters and to participate in search and rescue operations. In addition, these volunteers will be able to inform the public on emergency procedures, accident prevention and safety in general.

The purpose of Boating Safety Week 1977 is to promote the joys, benefits and safety of boating activities, and also to make the Canadian population more aware of the dangers inherent in them. I do not doubt for a moment that all Canadians will join to help make this public - spirited effort a success.

On choosing your weapon

In the billion-dollar business of fishing tackle, rods are designed to catch fish and fishermen. It's disheartening to realize that the biggest selling point of fishing rods is cosmetics, but you don't have to fall into this trap. Here's a short primer on what to look for and avoid, beginning with action and weight.

Action simply means how much and where a rod shaft bends. Rods are rated in decreasing order of stiffness: light, medium-light, medium, medium-heavy, heavy and extra-heavy.

Determine what kind of fishing you enjoy and plan to pursue. This will tell you what type of rod weight and action you require. Remember that it's the weight of lure to be cast, not the size of fish you're after, that dictates your choice of rod and reel. Balancing the rod, reel, line and lure weight is the key to better casting.

A rod's flex cannot be determined by frantically whipping the rod back and forth. Instead, handle the rod ideally mounted with your reel as if fishing. Cast back and forth until you have a feel for the rod's flex and that indefinable quality, "character".

Generally, a light, "soft" rod will offer accuracy and an awareness of the lure at the other end of the line. A heavier, stiff rod will help you fire off lures a great distance, but only by sacrificing a measure of finesse. For most casting, a light- to medium-action rod which develops a good curve in the top third of the shaft is recommended.

Baitcast

Baitcasting rods are paired with revolving-spool reels and are characterized by good distance, accuracy and "feel". This combination is the favorite of American anglers pursuing their favorite quarry, the black bass. In this country, baitcasting tackle has earned an unfortunate rap of being difficult to master — the reason most Canadians shy away from them in favor of spinning and spincasting gear.

A typical, light baitcasting outfit might consist of a fast, free-spool reel mounted on a six to six-and-a-half-foot, light-tip action rod, and six- to ten-pound test line. For larger fish, ⅝-ounce lures tied to 12- to 18-pound line are paired for a medium-action five-and-a-half- to six-foot rod. Casting lures up to two ounces calls for a stiff rod with heavy action, five to five-and-a-half feet long.

Spincast

Spincasting and baitcasting rods are identical at first glance, but there are several important differences. Spincasting reels mount higher on the reel seat than do baitcasting reels. Monofilament tends to "balloon" when casting, so rod guides must be slightly larger to gather and straighten the line as it flows from the spincasting reel. Relatively long, flexible rods are preferred because they perform well with the light lines and lures popular with spincasting fishermen. Typical length is six- to six-and-a-half feet.

Spinning

It's difficult to describe a "typical" spinning rod. They may weigh anywhere from one-and-a-half to 30 ounces, are available in lengths from four-and-a-half feet to 14 ft., and range from ultralight to extra-heavy action. But all have characteristics in common. The open-faced spinning reel is designed to work under the rod, seated near the centre of the handle.

Guides are deliberately oversized to accommodate line as it pours in large spirals from the spool during casting. The gathering guide nearest the reel chokes part of the line down to pass on to the next guide, which further reduces the spiral. If the guides are correctly spaced, the line will flow freely without loss of speed or distance and will leave the rod perfectly straight. Because of this effect, spinning guides must be elevated from the shaft to prevent "line slap".

Cost

What will all this cost? A fishing rod can run between $5 for a piece of junk to over $300 for a finely crafted split-cane or graphite pole. A reasonable but well-made rod should range between $15 and $50. Considering all that gasoline, tackle, lodge rates and maybe a new boat, it's only a drop in the bucket.

Thirty -two guests from the Island area attended the event and participated in the games of charades and Bingo and enjoyed the buffet lunch of cold salads, turkey, and fancy bread.

The shower was planned by Miss Guier to coincide with the birthdate of their grandmother, Mrs. O'Neil of Mink Cove. However, it was regretted that Mrs. O'Neil was hospitalized at the time.

Mr. and Mrs. Frost reside at Bear River. Mrs. Frost is employed in the bank at the Naval Base at Cornwallis.

Westport Students Place High

The High School Graduation at Freeport, N.S. can be remembered by the graduates with pride in a well organized and entertaining evening. The graduates were impressive in their caps and gowns, and their speeches delivered with effectiveness and poise. The Honor grads from Westport were: Heather Delsey, Grade XII, second class honors; Joy Delsey, Grade XI, first class; Joyce Robicheau, Grade X, first class. The Grade VIII honor students were also presented with their certificates - Brenda Porter, with an average of 93, the highest mark in the whole school, Craig Glavin and Jerry Titus, both first class, Sandy Delsey and Randy Bezant, both with second class honors.

A reception for the graduates and their parents, (or guardians) was held at the close of the Graduation exercises. Their attractive and well planned year book was on sale here. It was edited jointly by Heather Delsey, Westport, and Debbie Stanton, Tiverton, under the supervision of Miss Carter.

The amateur photographers were there in full force, with expressions of achievement or chagrin as the flash bulbs did or did not flash. Your correspondent was prominent among the latter.

The following evening the graduates had their prom, resplendent in their formal attire - a final get-together with mingled excitement and a bit of sadness that their school days were over.
