THE DIGBY COURIER

CIGAT come to the

100th Birthday

The hundredth anniversary of the Digby Weekly Cower has brought to mind some fond memories at cytained in the following historical chapter of the other. But first, I wish to congratulate the current shows a finer of the Courier, Mrs. J.M. (Edith) Wallis, for a job wall done over the years and still being well done. According to any record. I have at hand, the Digby Courier, in one hundred years of publication, was controlled under the same family management of Wallis Print Limited. The late J.J. J.L. and "Mac" sometimes worked overtime. I worked only the regular hours being paid a weekly wage which was comporatively good for those times and my lack of experience. I received four or five dollars a week for working after school hours to six o clock and on Saturday all day, and nine dollars a week for full weeks after finishing school. A two or three follar a week raise was offered to me in the fall of 1925 for me to stay on at printing, but, I had made up my mind to enter a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, starting salary of $500. The bank salary ingred out about the same per hour as for the printing job. The town plot is thus described.

The Trees Plot is streated at the east of the township just within the entrance to An-rapellis liasts, and beenly miles from Annapellis Town, and ex-mittee across tax-d from the lessel of St. Mary's day. This laid out from the water's edge, partie on level of that name. It was settled by Loyalists from New York in 1783, the most of whom went early to farms, or, moving to older countries, left the whole free trade with the U.S.A., especially with the New England States. The question was then debated by some Digby High School students one of which was a J.J.'s' daughter. Florence (now Mes. Melvin O. Tibert, Freeport, Digby Co.) Some days after the debate a man from some part of Nova Scotia came to the printing shop looking for Florence, one of the successful debaters; I had the impression that his man was interested politically but, maybe I was wrong.

Well. I felt that I had learned considerable from my short experience at "The Wallis Job Print" I was learning to do beginner jobs, receiving some learning to do beginner jobs, receiving some learning eabout things like embossing, stapling, perforating, counting, cutting and trimming paper slock, mixing inks for certain desired colors, and so forth, but, the only experience I had at setting type was just enough to make a "pi", the printers name for a confused mess.

I saw thee in thine early prime;
Then thou wart bytheigs maid raight be,
Before the ceaseless title of time
Had borne one raifted wave to thee.
Then thou wert fair as maid might be
And gainly too in all thy ways,
Tho moothraity, ever free,
And slind, saw in others praise.

I saw thee cre the chilling breath Of envy ere had soited thy name, Ah! blighting as the sting of death Are words that wound a maiden! Or bid her woar fie birsh of shame While conscious still of innocenc

nd now upon thy lowly bler
A wasted corne we see ther lie;
nmindful of the mourne's tear;
Unheeding of the pitying sigh,
hus while I gaze I inly cry—
Give me the guileless sonle fur

With will and near the wrongen to soul Another morn and thou shalf sleep | Amid you mouthed so given and cold—Where come the sea with winding aweng Or in rude wreathing billows roll'd. Lone is the place and dark the mould, Nor frequent are the wand'rers there, Savo when men bear to Death's dark foll Some one the dreamless sleep to shaze.

Let all work the patient made of regitting every power of the patient made of the patie ordered notions! We are compelled to method and exactifude when we set outselves to present a subject before a child's mind in a simple and perspicious manner. Our children tain is aquite as much as we train them. A well-constituted child is orderly, patient, constant; enjoys the use of his fieutities, takes delight in accombishment. We have only to set him in the right direction, and not make the path unpleasant to him; he will walk forward as fast as is goof for him. The fault which we must guard our selves against most waterfully is impatience to see results. We must not expect advance from day to yad day, hardly from month to month. If, on looking back six months or a year, we preceive a gain, it is enough. The mental growth, like the physical, is gradual and imperceptable. We ought always to keep this analogy in view. We do not earm [children with food; why should we try to erum them with knowledge? Wedo not let them have indigestible things, or force them to take what they have a decided distaste for; why should we oppress or sicken them with heavy or ropulsive studies?

What we have to do for children is to instit into them good principles and help them to form good balbis. It is important very early to cultivate the labits of attention and of persevering pursuit. inhabitants, had been once the seatof Saint Swithin. To this Allan directed his trembling flost sponounced the and trembling lips, pronounced

When his naked foot traced the midnight wold, I call thee, fiend, to appear this night, And to me reveal thy promised plight."

And to be reveal top promised prigat.

Strange and uncartably voices rose upon the blast, the wind swent through the cavern with terrific arry, a bright flame rose from the water, and the form of a tall and bladous-locking woman stood before him. In her hand she held the branch of a plue; her, hair was grizzled and fell in thick masses over her naked shoulders and

POETRY.

ONE BY ONE.
One by one the sands are flewing,
One by one the moments fail;
Some are coming, some are going,
Do not strive to grasp them all.

One by one thy duties wait thee:
Let thy whole strength go to each.
Let no future dreams state thee:
Learn thou first what these can teach.

One by one thy griefs shall meet the,— Do not fear an armed band: One will fade as others greet thee,— Shadows passing through the fand, Do not look at life's long sorrow,— See how small each moment's pain God will help thee for to-morrow, So each day begin again.

Every hour that floots so slowly Has its task to do or bear: Luminous the crown, and holy, If thou set each gem with care.

Hours are golden links, Ged's token, Reaching heaven; but, one by one, Take them, lest the chain be broken Ere the pilgrimage be done.

GRANDMOTHER GRAY.

GRAADOTHER GRAA.

Grandmother Gray by the window saf,
And looked at the setting sun,
And watched our cows as they slowly.
From the pasture one by one;
And back again to the "long ago,"
Her memory traveled fast,
While the dim eyes closed as she lived
'Mid scenes of the happy 'past.

'Mid seems of the happy' past.

'Let me see,' she mutmitted: "ah, ye,
know;
It was there by the posture gate
That Roblin with milking pail and stol.
For my coming used to wait.
It was just a week, of our wedding-day
That he hell so sick and diet,
And I leid my heart in the grave with hi
And loved none other besiden.

ah! it was for my father's sake at I wedded Farmer Grev.

The sun went down the golden west, And the cows came safely home, As Grandmother Grey by the window sat. While her thoughts seemed yet to roan But the angels came for her waiting soul white the twilight shadows fell.

GIVE THEM A TRADE.

In all business centres there is, and cannot fail to be, a large number of people who, never having been engaged at anything more than clerical work, when hard times and depression supervore, are turned out of situations, and lawing no funds and no trade to fall lack upon, are reduced to the verge of starvation. This class, in the majority is town-bred; but it is increased by the number of sons of small farmers, who, usehaned of the plough, and too proud to dig, rush into the cities, hoping to earn an easy living, but on good elothes, and in far becomes the more important. Recently, a Mr. Parsons, of Newport, Monmonth, shirt, has written to Mr. Gildstone on the unsatisfactory condition of commercial and other clerks, tensemitting at the same time a pamphlet which the last prepared on the sattle-town of Classicone place.

CALLED BY THE ANGELS

Her eyes have wandered through a tears
To the church-yard under the hill,
Where the snow, like the wings of a ing dove
Lies soft and pure and still;
And where her treasures, so long ago,
She laid at the master's will.

And ah! how oft' as the days go by,

She starts as her listening ear
Has almost cought on the passing bre
The singing of voices near,

"Tis the angels calling!" she thinks.

"Tis the angels carriege of me! It is weary waiting here." The farmer comes from his work, at last In the dusk of a winter's day, And he sits him down by his faithful wi
