100th Birthday

The hundredth anniversary of the Digby Weekly Cower has brought to mind some fond memories at cytained in the following historical chapter of the other. But first, I wish to congratulate the current shows a finer of the Courier, Mrs. J.M. (Edith) Wallis, for a job wall done over the years and still being well done. According to any record. I have at hand, the Digby Courier, in one hundred years of publication, was controlled under the same family management of Wallis Print Limited. The late J.J. Wallis became didner of The Courier, the second time, in 1929, and at the same time of Courier the second time, in 1929, and at the same time of Courier the second time, in 1929, and at the same time of Courier the second time, in 1929, and at the same time of Credits spanes. which he had been running in and which became With between 1929 and 1931

J.L. and "Mac" sometimes worked overtime. I worked only the regular hours being paid a weekly wage which was comporatively good for those times and my lack of experience. I received four or five dollars a week for working after school hours to six o clock and on Saturday all day, and nine dollars a week for full weeks after finishing school. A two or three follar a week raise was offered to me in the fall of 1925 for me to stay on at printing, but, I had made up my mind to enter a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, starting salary of $500. The bank salary ingred out about the same per hour as for the printing job. It was settled by Loyalists from New York in 1783, the most of whom went early to farms, or, moving to older countries, left the whole free trade with the U.S.A., especially with the New England States. The question was then debated by some Digby High School students one of which was a J.J.'s' daughter. Florence (now Mes. Melvin O. Tibert, Freeport, Digby Co.) Some days after the debate a man from some part of Nova Scotia came to the printing shop looking for Florence, one of the successful debaters; I had the impression that his man was interested politically but, maybe I was wrong.

Well. I felt that I had learned considerable from my short experience at "The Wallis Job Print" I was learning to do beginner jobs, receiving some learning to do beginner jobs, receiving some learning eabout things like embossing, stapling, perforating, counting, cutting and trimming paper slock, mixing inks for certain desired colors, and so forth, but, the only experience I had at setting type was just enough to make a "pi", the printers name for a confused mess.

OUR PLOWER IN HEAVEN We heard the voice of the Lord, One cold and wintry night, Saying, " Give me one of your fairest! For mine Heavenly garland bright

We looked from the window at eve, We looked forth again in the dawn; We only saw the Desolate street, And shuddered, that bleak cold morn

We wandered away to the woodland, By paths all leafless and bare; There was tangled weed, and withered But never a bloss om there.

So we gave our human flower, The flower we loved the lest,— The Lord received it tenderly, And laid it in his breast,

And when the Sabbath bells ring out, Wherever we may roam, We shall know the Lord, who watches all, Has taken our darling home!

LOSING HIS CAR.

LOSING HIS CAR.

A conductor who was recently appointed on the Sacket street line of cars in Brooklyn, N. Y., was so proud of his position that he soon become the sulget of much sport, both for the small brys who hovers about Hamilton Ferry, and for other conductors on the routes that centre there. A few mornings ago as his car reached the ferry, he observed that an old gentleman, who had been a pascenger, had been a pascenger, but the bundle, and went, into the ferry house looking for his passonger, and, after traversing the chuns, he found him seated well forward a cloying his morning paper. The old gentleman was glad to got back his hundle, and he hanked the conductor, who fell well repaid by the politic acknowledge ment. At the same instant the conductor felt the throbbing of the vessel beneath him as she started out of her pier. A look of turner overspread his face, and he started wildly through the cabin at Juli speed. He ran out on the deek, and, seatching off his had, screening at the typ of his voice; "Stup the beaut Stop the Saut Tra conductor and must get back to me cair."

Colonison of the remained in camp till the afternoon of July 3, awaiting the surrender of the cannon and 1,000 rides captured by the Zalus at Isandial. These not arriving he advanced and was attacked in the open coantry by 15,000 Zalus, who fiel under heavy fire by the British. Lord Chelmsford then advanced and destroyed Ulundi. The Zalu lost 830. The British lost 10 killed and 33 wounded.

WHEN THE BATTLE WAS FOCHIT.

The battle was fought July 4th, the Zalus were variously estimated from 15 to 20,000 in number. They surroundel the British trops who farmed a hollow square. The Zalus charged the square on all four-sides. After the Zalus were broken by the British fire, they were pursued by example and atterfy routed. Load Chelmsford burned and destroyed all the military transla and returned to his camp the same evening.

A Story of Fendau Vengennee.

A strang story is just becoming known in Dablin. In the annals of the last Fenian insurrection stands prominently forward the name of a man manual Nagle, an informer, by whose extlence many of the Fenians were convicted. He had pension from Government, which was paid through the police authorities, and, sometime back, they were surprised at his not appearing, to receive the last half-yearly approach, very surprised at his not appearing, to receive the last half-yearly payment. Very lately a many was found dead under a railway arch near Lordon, with his stall beaten in and an jeon bar lyting beside him.
