Welcome to the Digital DIGBY COURIER

1877-1978

100th Birthday

The hundredth anniversary of the Digby Weekly Courier has brought to mind some fond memories as contained in the following historical chapter of the writer. But first, I wish to congratulate the current editor of the Courier, Mrs. J.M. (Edith) Wallis, for a job well done over the years and still being well done, good service rendered with great fortitude.

According to any record, I have at hand, the Digby Courier, in one hundred years of publication, was controlled under the same family management for 42 years, 1931 to 1973, under the control of Wallis Print Limited. The late J.J. Wallis became editor of The Courier the second time, in 1929, and at the same time of the business, which he had been running for some time previously and which became Wallis Print Limited sometime between 1929 and 1931.

I well remember the last year of the twenties when I worked in the office of the son with the husband and father of the late J.J. Wallis, the Courier. Sometime in 1928 or early 1929, the late J.M. Wallis (Mac), son of "J.J." engaged me to work every day after school hours, Saturdays, and for some months after full time. The place of work was in the building of the present Digby town hall on First Avenue. J.J. Wallis then worked occasionally at the print shop but mostly across the street at the Courier office which was then located on land in the general area where The Royal Bank of Canada is now.

Wallis Job Print operated in 1929 with a staff of four consisting of J.J. Wallis, J.M. Wallis, Miss Eva Haynes, who later became Mrs. George Kicup, and myself. I was added to the staff in early 1929.

Eva's job was to run the printing plant but mostly at the Courier office. "Mac" worked nearly full time at all the different jobs at the Job Print, and I worked at various duties, most of the time being spent at operating printing presses.

We worked ten-hour days, six days a week. "J.J." and "Mac" sometimes worked overtime. I worked only the regular hours being paid a weekly wage which was comparatively good for those times and my lack of experience. I received four or five dollars a week for working after school hours to six o'clock and on Saturday all day, and nine dollars a week for full weeks after finishing school. A two or three dollar a week raise was offered to me in the fall of 1929 for me to stay on at printing, but I had made up my mind to enter a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, starting salary of $300. The bank salary figured out about the same per hour as for the printing job. Nevertheless, the congenial atmosphere of the printing plant those days, and, experience however short, were helpful and appreciated by me.

"J.J." was very jovial in his occasional trip to the Job Print and did considerable kidding all in good fun. "Mac" was a witty person who mixed in a good natured sarcasm now and then for one reason or another. Eva most always had good answers to all the kidding she was called upon to take, and, generally held her own in a quiet sort of way, always busy setting type. We four all got along very well indeed. However, I do remember that some days did seem long and weary because of the monotony of some repetitious jobs.

In spite of the great demand for printing those last boom days of the twenties, business generally being brisk, it looked to me that people had to work long and hard to make any decent profit. There was including treatment of the hands. However, nails and finger ends were used and I was soon back to work.

Now and then a printing job had a dose on parchment paper which required a special kind of printers' ink which smelled very bad those days. I always dreaded it when "Mac" would do that job on the largest press, in spite of the fact that we always opened an outside door to lessen the effects on the constitution.

One of the jobs I had to do, being the junior and printers' devil on the staff, was to clean out and then, one day not long after I started my job at the printing plant, I decided to clean the floor that apparently hadn't been cleaned in some considerable time.

"J.J." came along and said, "how are you making out Vince?" I assured him that I thought I was beginning to see the floor. "J.J." laughed very heartily, he thought the remark pretty good and suitable.

Sometimes the gasoline engine or a piece of machinery would refuse to work, and after "Mac" the fix-it man had patiently worked for a certain length of time to get it going again, without results, "Mac" would then stand back and cuss quite strenuously, then he would immediately start working. "See," he would say, "all it needed was a bit of cussing."

On other occasions when some gadget refused duty for me and, seemed to be broken, "Mac" would say, "use a little oil," and sure enough, often that is all it took. How often since, have I thought of the value of that remark and the actual need of "oil" in many life situations, applied at the right time, right place and, in the right way.

Other things that sort of stick in my memory and come to mind now and then are, like the time I told "Mac" of four teenage boys who in the spring season of 1929 got together just before dark one evening and decided to initiate the newly built outdoor Pines Hotel swimming pool which had just been filled with water. Clothes were taken off near the road just east of the pool; nobody else seemed to be around except the four boys; no thought or time for bathing suits up to the pool they went. They stood on the edge of the pool and looked at the chilly water, one soon jumped in, the rest quickly followed and across the pool they swam. "Mac" listened to the story and hardly said anything, but the next "Digby Courier" had a good story on the episode. The heading of the story went something like, "Four Boy Scouts Officially Open Pines Hotel Swimming Pool." Who were the four? Many years later they are known as: the late Dr. Earl H. Anderson, veteran of two wars (second world and Korean), was awarded the Victoria Cross; Sidney L. Smith, now prominent druggist for many years in Digby; Clayton D. Snow, Digby wholesale lobster king merchant; and myself.

As a young teenager I used to like doing some writing about different events interesting to myself and mostly for myself. One day "Mac" said to me "how about writing your version of the story told about 'The Marooning of Jerome'." I had heard and read at least two somewhat different stories about the man who was found marooned on a beach at some point on the French Shore of St. Mary's Bay, Digby County. When found this man's tongue had been cut out and his legs quite freshly amputated, were surgically well dressed and bound. He was presumably left by some vessel before dawn one morning, all for some mysterious reason.

"Jerome" appeared to have been a man of some considerable social standing and possibly of some considerable wealth. However the only thing the man could or would ever say after being found and cared for by some family in the French shore was, something that sounded like the word "Jerome". He either could not, or, would not, write anything about who he was or why he was left the way he was. Well, it was, and is, one of Digby County's mystery stories, and, different ideas have been expressed over the years concerning this man. However my response to "Mac" was, I felt no urge to write anything more or different about this man. The mystery seemed to have been very well explored in the mind of many people, and, he was a sort of curiosity for many people who visited where he lived for many years.

Three years later, I was quite alone in the street that I lived back and forth, led a boat clanking noise, powered by a small engine, and a "plur", and as I remember it, it was a "plur". "J.J." was noted for his sense of humor and his sense of humor.

Years ago, during the time Mr. Wallis was editor of the Scott Act (Prohibition Law) in the town of Digby, I attended a boys' conference in the town of Digby.

Digby 172 Years Ago

Compiled by David Sanford

From the files of the Courier of January 23, 1867, the following account has been copied concerning Digby in 1800.

"Among a number of old newspapers kindly sent to us by friends is a copy of the Saint John Gazette of May, 1802, says the Telegraph and among other advertisements contained in the issue before us is one describing the town and township of Digby, and offering for sale certain lots in the town. In this area we are told the township of Digby extends from the Gulf of Annapolis westward to the extremity of the province of Nova Scotia, and contains about 130,000 acres." The town plot is thus described:

"The Town Plot is situated at the east of the township just within the entrance to Annapolis Basin, and twenty miles from Annapolis Town, and six miles across land from the head of St. Mary's Bay. This laid out from the water's edge, partly on level ground and partly on the declivity of a modern hill, dry and pleasant, and having with an eastern aspect, a view of the Annapolis Basin and its cultivated shores for twenty miles in where it terminates with the Fort and River's mouth of that name. It was settled by Loyalists from New York in 1783, the most of whom went early to farms, or, moving to older countries, left the whole side to be bought proved by about who now reside detached, built dwellings with orchards, and some fishery and. It has communal parts of the communal provisions in a cheap, built readily to be from many circumstances, probability of place of some shipbuilding, the West India a cheap and of residence.

This advertisement, dated at Digby, December, 1800, were to be a No. 100.

free trade with the U.S.A., especially with the New England States. The question was then debated by some Digby High School students one of which was some Digby's daughter, Florence (now Mrs. Melvin O. Tibert, Freeport, Digby Co.) Some days after the debate a man from some part of Nova Scotia came to the printing shop looking for Florence, one of the successful debaters; I had the impression that this man was interested politically but, maybe I was wrong.

Well, I felt that I had learned considerable from my short experience at "The Wallis Job Print". I was learning to do beginner jobs, receiving some knowledge about things like: embossing, stapling, perforating, counting, cutting and trimming paper stock, mixing inks for certain desired colors, and so forth, but, the only experience I had at setting type was just enough to make a "pi", the printers name for a confused mess.

There was a taste of trying to sell job printing outside the plant. Work was a little slack one early fall day and so "Mac" said to me, "how about trying your hand at taking orders for printed personalized Christmas cards?" I tried it, made several calls around town, spent most of the time at one particular house, and got an order, but,

DIGBY WEEKLY COURIER

Digby, Jan. 5, 1900.

—This doings of our soldiers in South Africa and the general news of the war, have for the past few months almost entirely absorbed our attention, and but little interest has been taken in matters not directly connected with our own affairs. There has been a general feeling of very great importance transpiring among the nations, they seem to be making time, while watching with jealous eyes the contest which Britain is waging with the Boers. France has come through many perils in the past year or two, which it was thought would wreck the republic. But all the plots laid for its overthrow have failed utterly. The Bonapartists have failed utterly. The great majority of Frenchmen prefer a republican form of government, but they are as a people too much susceptible to be quiet for any length of time.

Just now they are possessed with insane hatred and jealousy of England. Abuse of the Queen has become so violent and so common, that a stern intimation was given them that they were getting dangerous. Near the limit of Britain's patience. The Newfoundland Government has decided to continue the "modus vivendi" which has been arranged with France in the matter of their fisheries on the coast. Some time longer, or until the French gets her present burden off her shoulders. Nothing has been more hateful to the people of Newfoundland, than the manner in which the French Government has interpreted the treaty which gave them limited fishing rights on the coast. Some time ago the people of that colony refused to be any longer bound by it, and the fact that they are willing to let the matter remain in abeyance rather than trouble England with it at the present time, is a small proof of their loyalty.

The Filipino campaign seems nearly over, ending in the triumph of the Americans. This of course could be the only possible end of the matter. Aguinaldo, who appears to possess a lot of ability and determination, is said to be a fugitive before his victorious armies. It is a lucky thing for the people of the Philippines that they are to come under the control of the United States. While for the latter country it means a breaking off from the traditions which have governed in the past, and the assumption of the role of an Asiatic power. A rather ridiculous feature of our proceedings in the past year, was the national reception accorded Admiral Dewey on his return from the war. It seemed to us extravagant and out of proportion, although if any of the people of the Philippines are to distinguish themselves in South Africa and get us out of the tangle we are in at present, he would probably receive a similar return as great an ovation.

We do not hear much about China just now, although but a short time ago little else was talked of. There is a feeling of uneasiness in the minds of that country at present, and by the time the great powers have assembled to settle the question of the Chinese, we may have a little and a little more. The Chinese have waked up a little and confronted the spidery with some show of resistance. Just now the nations seem more desirous of getting her trade than her territory. Russia, omnivorous and insatiable, stretching out her arms and grasping all within her reach, is just now in the sharp contention with Japan as to which of them shall have Korea. This is a small kingdom containing about eleven millions of people, quite as large as Japan, which in the possession of the Russians would be a continual menace to the Japanese. The political, commercial and industrial changes which have taken place in Korea within a limited number of years, is one of the most wonderful occurrences of the age. Their rapid rise and the great success which has hitherto attended their progress, has filled them with self-confidence, and to-day they are ready to try conclusions with as great a power as Russia. They have the advantage of position, a good navy and are not to be despised.

The long period of general depression and stagnation which has prevailed all over the world, has given place to a time of great prosperity, which must, in accordance with what seems to be an inexorable law, be replaced again by depressed trade. At present we are in the position of a nation whose prosperity, although the gloom of the war cloud hangs over the political horizon. It is a matter of wonder how we of the present age, will support and advance the glories and successors of a century hence. Will it be possible for as great advancements and discoveries to take place in the future as have been hitherto in the past? If we have been hitherto standing only on the shores of the great ocean of knowledge, there must be a boundless sea yet to be explored for the expansion of the future. We are only the pioneers and advance guard of the nation yet to come, but we are laying the foundations on which the great nation of the future will be built.

Newsboy's Annual Address, January, 1900.

To the PATRONS OF THE COURIER.

When, according to Astronomers, the Sun,

Having completed one Annual, begins another year,

Just as every year begins with a new day,

And it's scarcely to be wondered at, that after he has rolled

Through the Zodiac, New, Merry, Peace, A.

Towards the end of every Solar year his arduous wares sold.

As it's easy to perceive it has today.

Now, Philosophers assure us that the demarcating line

Twist the year that's being finished, the new is

So very poorly painted that we scarcely can define

Any landmark whatsoever 'twixt the two.

But, like mighty Archimedes when he wished to move the earth,

We must have a spot to rest our lever on.

And the question for us now is how to overcome the death

Of a line betwixt the Hither and the Yon.

We might call an Arbitration with the power to define

A new boundary which neither can revoke.

As the Paris Arbitration did in 1899.

For the British and the Venezuelan folk.

We might send an Expedition as we did to Omdurman,

Shedding British blood in bringing Equal Rights to every man

And get nothing but abuses for our pay.

We might get a secret Dealer and naughty Boredeaux,

And procure a verdict whether right or wrong.

But, like the probable coming of the New Year, now,

That would make our poem, very much too long.

So the better way to separate the Thimble from the Hat,

Without running risk of harm in any wise

Is to do as Ruddy Kipling says: "Pass the Broom!"

To afford the "Broom" a New Year's surprise.

It would make the spot an Epoch which never be forgot.

Where the double-edged Janus rears his face,

And would stimulate his faculties, as he usually is not

To perceive he had not agonized in vain.

Like the "Quality of mercy" which we never ought to strain,

Let your giving be unstinted in its flow.

Dropping like the gentle dew—or rather like the falling rain—

On receiver, and on whom who thus behave.

So, all of us would cultivate that "Greatest gift of three".

At this writing, the year is 1899, and the year is 1900.

And would to all other virtues the sweet gift of Charity.

To be practiced just as often as Love abides.

We should feel that 1899 had wrought a lasting good.

And the world was somewhat nearer to its aim.

As the New Year found our Patrons in a charitable mood

And they tried to make the New Year feel the same.

CAPT. SLOMBER LECTURES TO A LARGE CROWD AT WESTPORT. SPEAKER AT RANDY COVE—ACCIDENT AT WESTVILLE—SHIPPING, PERSONAL AND OTHER ITEMS OF INTEREST.

The lobster fishermen received good returns this week, $16.00 per case. T. S. Bayley and wife arrived home from the Westport from Montreal last evening. The boys gave them a reception.

Sch. Sovereign arrived from Yarmouth and Vesta Pearl sailed for St. John. Rev. Howard Murray has been confined to his bed for the last ten days with dyspepsia. His accepted daughter is confined to the house with rheumatic fever.

From another correspondent. Miss Josie Peters has gone to New Haven for the winter.

Schrs. Moore and Miners are hauled up for a month or so.

The lobster fishermen complain of the saving of small lobsters.

Mr. T. C. Thibault is confined to the house, owing to illness.

Rev. Mr. McGregor is conducting special services in the Baptist church.

The sch. Mary A. Taylor has arrived from Halifax with forty tons of coal.

The Vesta Pearl, Capt. Theo. Haddock, has sailed for St. John with ballast.

The South African war is the prevailing topic of conversation just now.

The steamer Westport had a freight of lobsters last week to Yarmouth, over two hundred crates.

Lloyd S. Bailey and his bride arrived home Monday evening from Montreal by the steamer Westport.

Rev. Mr. Murray and daughter are very sick. Doctors Bingley and Bishop have been in attendance.

The daily newspapers are eagerly looked for upon the arrival of the mails, and the war column scanned very anxiously.

Some readers almost lost their sleep in consequence of the deep interest manifested in this great conflict. But no Westport volunteers as yet have offered their services.

Capt. Josh. Slocumb, who circumnavigated the globe in his lonely solo voyage, second R. Orsode, gave a very interesting and impressive lecture to the hall Friday evening before a large audience.

His views and description of the foreign parts of the world were well received, and the best treat Westport people ever had for a long while. Everyone present was delighted with his lecture.

[From Another Correspondent.] Elder Howard Murray, of the Christian Church is present with ill from an attack of grippe, and erysipelas.

We hope that he may soon recover his health and again fill his station. The Elder is an able preacher.

Rev. Mr. MacGregor is holding a series of revival services in the Baptist Church with every prospect of success.

The inhabitants of our village enjoyed a very pleasant time last evening listening to Capt. Joshua Slocumb as he described minutely and vividly his cruise around the world in his little solo voyage.

The views shown by him with the aid of acetylene gas were beautiful and fully repaid us all for our trip through the mud to the Temperance Hall.

The captain was nearly three years from the time he sailed for London and he entered New York harbour. All this time he was (when not in port) sailing alone, from one port to another, often times many weeks on the ocean, without seeing or hearing the sounds of human voices except at those times when he talked to the "crew". We feel especially interested in the captain.

He spent his youthful days (8 years) at Westport and he often spoke of the little school house in which his father was first brought into active play. We understand that he talks in Halifax later on and we hope that Digby and the other provincial towns will have his presence during the spring months.

Freepost. Mr. Bertie Brooks has gone to Weymouth to make a short visit.

Little Emerson Hurrell, son of Milton Hurrell, is very sick with pneumonia.

Miss Lizzie Marrell has returned after a few weeks' visit in Belle Isle, Bridgeport and other places.

Our young butcher George Morrell, killed a fine brook on Monday. George seems to thoroughly understand his business.

Mr. Edwin Hains of Haines Brook, who went to Antigonish last week, per sch. Lennie and Edna, returned on Saturday by the overland route.

Capt. M. G. Crocker left for St. John on Friday last. On his way he made a spring trip to Bridgetown where he called on his old friends Dr. Armstrong and B. H. Hays.

A very interesting event took place on Thursday evening, Jan. 18th, at the home of Mr. E. B. Everett, when his daughter, Cora, was united in marriage to Mr. Willie H. Stevens. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. H. Hays. The bride looked charming dressed in lemon silk and wool. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Pearl Hains, while Mr. Fred Stevens supported the groom. About one hundred and fifty guests were present. The bride was the recipient of many handsome and useful presents. May many long and happy years be counted to them.

[Too late for last issue.] L. C. Prime is in town this week.

Miss Ted, of Teesville is visiting Mr. Nelson Thibault.

A series of special meetings is being held here at present. The same old rumor says we are soon to hear the chiming of wedding bells.

Schrs. Lennie and Edna sailed on Monday for Antigonish.

Fred Thibault is home to spend the winter with his parents.

Miss Jennie Teal has returned from her lengthy visit in St. John. The bride was the recipient of many handsome and useful presents. May many long and happy years be counted to them.

Our teachers have returned from their vacation and taken up their duties.

Miss Jennie Brooks has returned from St. John where she has been for some time.

Our blacksmith, Mr. DeWolf, has taken his final departure. He has gone to the shelter where he was to follow his old trade. We wish him every success.

The young ladies of the Bayside gave a reception in the hall on Tuesday evening, Jan. 9th. There was a goodly number of guests and the evening was realized. Not bad for the Bayside.

THE DIGBY WEEKLY COURIER.

Digby, March 9, 1900.

—This is the season of the year when our legislators both Dominion and provincial are at their lairs. At Ottawa it is not thought that the session will be a long one. Probably there will be a dissolution of the House during the present year and an appeal to the people. Although the government need not do so unless they are defeated in the House, it is not likely that they will wait until a vote from May next. Government whether liberal or conservative usually appeal to the people for re-election at the most favorable time, and this will doubtless be the case by the party now in power. At Halifax there are hardly enough counter-voices for a corporate's guilt. It is not a good thing for a government to have too weak an opposition, and our house of assembly would be all the better if the parties were a little more evenly divided.

—In Nova Scotia there is a new conservative government led by the Hon. John J. McDonald, a son of the late Sir John A. McDonald who did not live to see the day of his triumph. The government of British Columbia has been upset and a new one has not yet been formed to take its place. The local government of Prince Edward Island is also in trouble. By-elections there have lately been unfavorable to the administration, and the conservative opposition has become equal to them in numbers. It will use its own appeal to the electors. The liberals have a large majority in Quebec when the house is in session. There is some rumour of an early dissolution of the House of Commons. Mr. Stanley resigned the Premiership a short time ago and was succeeded by Mr. W. W. Martin. The latter has a majority which for so many years sustained the administration there has been very much reduced, until it is not more than a bare majority in a house of ninety-two members. One time provincial and federal politics were kept almost entirely separated. This is not the case now. Issues affecting Canada generally are discussed and voted upon at our local elections, until the two have become inextricably mixed.

—NINE years ago General Booth, the head of the Salvation Army, suggested that a people of English descent, by improving and assisting the lowest class of its population, those who through poverty, ignorance and crime, were known as the submerged tenth of the English-speaking world. The $1,000,000 was subscribed for the carrying out of his scheme. The General has recently been giving a statement of what has been done, and is on the whole fairly well satisfied with the result. There are in operation 345 institutions for the relief of the wretched and homeless, male and female; under the care of 2,000 men and women, 20,000 destitute people are benefited in some way every day. 15,000 human beings are housed every night. More than 300 criminals are in the House of Correction, and many have had the chance to reform and become useful members of society. Over 500 women taken from careers of darkness and shame, are safely sheltered every year, and helped towards a good and virtuous life. There are large colonies overseas in the different British possessions, where 100 men are employed. They are the best of the most difficult, productive and modern times, and proving that the helpless loafer of the city can be made a useful producer on the soil. There are always two thousand men in the Regent Homes of the Army. The writer adds: "Over the gates of every one of these homes, elevators, bath-factories and colonies, this might be written: No man or woman need starve, or beg, or pauperize, or steal, or commit suicide. If willing to work or apply himself. Here there is hope for all."

—A serious fall. The Yarmouth Herald says: "A telegram to Mr. W. H. Hazell, dated yesterday from Boston, states that his brother, Thomas, fell into the hold of a vessel at that port, breaking his neck and cracking the skull." Thomas is a son of Mr. W. H. Hazell, keeper of Victoria Bridge at the mouth of the Bear River.

—His name changed. Seth, Martha D. McLean, which had been her name, was changed to Mrs. S. H. McLean, during the week of 1924 last, and which has been reported at Messrs. H. & C. McLean, who are the future to be known as the S. V. H. Her owner, Capt. John S. Hayden, has changed her name. The wife will be ready for all this new thing.

ENTERTAINMENTS.

Two biograph entertainments and a concert. The writing for dates to play in Oddfellows' Hall on or about Wednesday evening, March 22nd, has been arranged. The following have been handed over for publication: Arrangements are being made to have the Biograph Exhibition in Digby on Wednesday evening 22nd March. There will be a display of the most up-to-date pictures of the world, and an appeal to the people. Although the government need not do so unless they are defeated in the House, it is not likely that they will wait until a vote from May next. —A large number of people to Digby would remain for several days.

—A yacht-racing is certainly one of the finest sports of the day, and one that creates the most interest among our citizens.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for communication under this heading.]

To the Editor of the Courier: DEAR SIR:—Public interests in town affairs seems to be increasing. As we are taking place, this is a good thing. It is time that we were making an attempt to show the public that we are not so much as we are.

—The time has come when every inch of the town is laid down in the original plan, should be referred to the town council.

—Those who have the direction and control of our affairs ought, now to see the path where their duty lies.

—Public welfare should be paramount to private interest. No concerns, however prosperous, should seek to appropriate to their own advantage any thing rightfully of a public nature.

—The public never dies, and the public never forgets. Let any resident of this town who may have been ten years, look backwards for verification of my statement; if that is not sufficient, let him ask some resident of twenty years to convince him.

—Why then should we not devote our time to the service of any portion of our assets?

—Land and property will probably never be of lower value in the town than it is at the present time, now that it is the opportunity to own the original plan of the town freed from all private claims; now is the time to have every street, once more made accessible to the public. The stipulations of the town council should be for the benefit of the town, not for the benefit of individuals.

—If streets, now closed, were reopened, not only that portion of the town, but the whole town, would be benefited. The street, which lies west of King Street, also the closed-in streets running north and south, would be reopened and the town would be benefited.

—It is evident that the desirability of this plan of Digby has not yet been discovered.

—We have no doubt a satisfactory arrangement might be made with the present holders of our enclosed areas.

—They would receive for a number of years, to the town, taking over this part in question again, from the fact that they are not interested to do so. Such a course on their part would place an immediate burden on the property by the conversion of fields into desirable land.

—Nature has dealt so beautifully with Digby, and the inhabitants have done so little for their town.

—We have squandered the "best" portions of our town.

—We have allowed a railway to cut up the very limited area of the business part, and also permitted it to appropriate a whole block, formerly a hotel site, but which has not yet received the first stroke of a pickaxe.

—We have allowed a hotel, but for years has been rented for fishing purposes and as a pasture.
