

THE DIGBY COURIER

CENTENNIAL EDITION

SEPTEMBER 18, 1974

Welcome to the Digital DIGBY COURIER

1877-1978

100th Birthday

The hundredth anniversary of the Digby Weekly Courier has brought to mind some fond memories as contained in the following historical chapter of the writer. But first, I wish to congratulate the current editor of the Courier, Mrs. J.M. (Edith) Wallis, for a job well done over the years and still being well done, good service rendered with great fortitude.

According to any record, I have at hand, the Digby Courier, in one hundred years of publication, was controlled under the same family management for 42 years, 1931 to 1973, under the control of Wallis Print Limited. The late J.J. Wallis became editor of The Courier the second time, in 1929, and at the same time of the business, which he had been running for some time previously and which became Wallis Print Limited sometime between 1929 and 1931.

I well remember the last year of the twenties when I worked in the office of the son with the husband and father of the late J.J. Wallis, the Courier. Sometime in 1928 or early 1929, the late J.J. Wallis (Mac), son of "J.J." engaged me to work every day after school hours, Saturdays, and for some months after full time. The place of work was in the building of the present Digby town hall on First Avenue. J.J. Wallis then worked occasionally at the print shop but mostly across the street at the Courier office which was then located on land in the general area where The Royal Bank of Canada is now.

Wallis Job Print operated in 1929 with a staff of four consisting of J.J. Wallis, J.M. Wallis, Miss Eva Haynes, who later became Mrs. George Kicup, and myself. I was in the staff in early 1929.

Eva's job was in the left up-stairs. "J.J." occasionally printing plant but mostly at the Courier office. "Mac" worked nearly full time at all the different jobs at the Job Print, and I worked at various duties, most of the time being spent at operating printing presses.

We worked ten-hour days, six days a week. "J.J." and "Mac" sometimes worked overtime. I worked only the regular hours being paid a weekly wage which was comparatively good for those times and my lack of experience. I received four or five dollars a week for working after school hours to six o'clock and on Saturday all day, and nine dollars a week for full weeks after finishing school. A two or three dollar a week raise was offered to me in the fall of 1929 for me to stay on at printing, but I had made up my mind to enter a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, starting salary of $300. The bank salary figured out about the same per hour as for the printing job. Nevertheless, the congenial atmosphere of the printing plant those days, and, experience however short, were helpful and appreciated by me.

"J.J." was very jovial in his occasional trip to the Job Print and did considerable kidding all in good fun. "Mac" was a witty person who mixed in a good natured sarcasm now and then for one reason or another. Eva most always had good answers to all the kidding she was called upon to take, and, generally held her own in a quiet sort of way, always busy setting type. We four all got along very well indeed. However, I do remember that some days did seem long and weary because of the monotony of some repetitious jobs.

In spite of the great demand for printing those last boom days of the twenties, business generally being brisk, it looked to me that people had to work long and hard to make any decent profit. There was including treatment of the hands. However, nails and finger ends were used and I was soon back to work.

Now and then a printing job had a dose on parchment paper which required a special kind of printers' ink which smelled very bad those days. I always dreaded it when "Mac" would do that job on the largest press, in spite of the fact that we always opened an outside door to lessen the effects on the constitution.

One of the jobs I had to do, being the junior and printers' devil on the staff, was to clean up now and then. One day not long after I started my job at the printing plant, I decided to clean the floor that apparently hadn't been cleaned in some considerable time.

"J.J." came along and said, "how are you making out Vince?" I assured him that I thought I was beginning to see the floor. "J.J." laughed very heartily, he thought the remark pretty good and suitable.

Sometimes the gasoline engine or a piece of machinery would refuse to work, and after "Mac" the fix-it man had patiently worked for a certain length of time to get it going again, without results, "Mac" would then stand back and cuss quite strenuously, then he would immediately start working. "See," he would say, "all it needed was a bit of cussing."

On other occasions when some gadget refused duty for me and, seemed to be broken, "Mac" would say, "use a little oil," and sure enough, often that is all it took. How often since, have I thought of the value of that remark and the actual need of "oil" in many life situations, applied at the right time, right place and, in the right way.

Other things that sort of stick in my memory and come to mind now and then are, like the time I told "Mac" of four teenage boys who in the spring season of 1929 got together just before dark one evening and decided to initiate the newly built outdoor Pines Hotel swimming pool which had just been filled with water. Clothes were taken off near the road just east of the pool; nobody else seemed to be around except the four boys; no thought or time for bathing suits up to the pool they went. They stood on the edge of the pool and looked at the chilly water, one soon jumped in, the rest quickly followed and across the pool they swam. "Mac" listened to the story and hardly said anything, but the next "Digby Courier" had a good story on the episode. The heading of the story went something like, "Four Boy Scouts Officially Open Pines Hotel Swimming Pool." Who were the four? Many years later they are known as: the late Dr. Earl H. Anderson, veteran of two wars (second world and Korean), was awarded the Victoria Cross; Sidney L. Smith, now prominent druggist for many years in Digby; Clayton D. Snow, Digby wholesale lobster king merchant; and myself.

As a young teenager I used to like doing some writing about different events interesting to myself and mostly for myself. One day "Mac" said to me "how about writing your version of the story told about 'The Marooning of Jerome'." I had heard and read at least two somewhat different stories about the man who was found marooned on a beach at some point on the French Shore of St. Mary's Bay, Digby County. When found this man's tongue had been cut out and his legs quite freshly amputated, were surgically well dressed and bound. He was presumably left by some vessel before dawn one morning, all for some mysterious reason.

"Jerome" appeared to have been a man of some considerable social standing and possibly of some considerable wealth. However the only thing the man could or would ever say after being found and cared for by some family in the French shore was, something that sounded like the word "Jerome". He either could not, or, would not, write anything about who he was or why he was left the way he was. Well, it was, and is, one of Digby County's mystery stories, and, different ideas have been expressed over the years concerning this man. However my response to "Mac" was, I felt no urge to write anything more or different about this man. The mystery seemed to have been very well explored in the mind of many people, and, he was a sort of curiosity for many people who visited where he lived for many years.

Three years later I was quite a bit older and was in the street that I lived back and forth, I had a boat clanking noise, powered by a small engine, and I was a "plur", and as I remember it, I was a "plur". "J.J." was noted for his sense of humor and his sense of humor.

Years ago, during the time Mr. Wallis was editor of the Scott Act (Prohibition Law) in the town of Digby, I attended a boys' conference in the town of Digby.

Digby 172 Years Ago

Compiled by David Sanford

From the files of the Courier of January 23, 1867, the following account has been copied concerning Digby in 1800.

"Among a number of old newspapers kindly sent to us by friends is a copy of the Saint John Gazette of May, 1802, says the Telegraph and among other advertisements contained in the issue before us is one describing the town and township of Digby, and offering for sale certain lots in the town. In this area we are told the township of Digby extends from the Gulf of Annapolis westward to the extremity of the province of Nova Scotia, and contains about 130,000 acres." The town plot is thus described:

"The Town Plot is situated at the east of the township just within the entrance to Annapolis Basin, and twenty miles from Annapolis Town, and six miles across land from the head of St. Mary's Bay. This laid out from the water's edge, partly on level ground and partly on the declivity of a modern hill, dry and pleasant, and having with an eastern aspect, a view of the Annapolis Basin and its cultivated shores for twenty miles in where it terminates with the Fort and River's mouth of that name. It was settled by Loyalists from New York in 1783, the most of whom went early to farms, or, moving to older countries, left the whole side to be bought proved by about who now reside detached, built dwellings with orchards, and some fishery and. It has communal parts of the communal provisions in a cheap, built readily to be from many circumstances, probability of place of some shipbuilding, the West India a cheap and of residence.

This advertisement, dated at Digby, December, 1800, were to be a No. 100.

free trade with the U.S.A., especially with the New England States. The question was then debated by some Digby High School students one of which was some Digby's daughter, Florence (now Mrs. Melvin O. Tibert, Freeport, Digby Co.) Some days after the debate a man from some part of Nova Scotia came to the printing shop looking for Florence, one of the successful debaters; I had the impression that this man was interested politically but, maybe I was wrong.

Well, I felt that I had learned considerable from my short experience at "The Wallis Job Print". I was learning to do beginner jobs, receiving some knowledge about things like: embossing, stapling, perforating, counting, cutting and trimming paper stock, mixing inks for certain desired colors, and so forth, but, the only experience I had at setting type was just enough to make a "pi", the printers name for a confused mess.

There was a taste of trying to sell job printing outside the plant. Work was a little slack one early fall day and so "Mac" said to me, "how about trying your hand at taking orders for printed personalized Christmas cards?" I tried it, made several calls around town, spent most of the time at one particular house, and got an order, but,

Years ago, during the time Mr. Wallis was editor of the Scott Act (Prohibition Law) in the town of Digby, I attended a boys' conference in the town of Digby.

Needle Making in England.

The history of making needles in England is a curious one, for the art has been several times lost to English workmen since the reign of Queen Mary. Needles were first made in England at that time by a negro from Spain, who set up a shop and for a time prospered at his trade. At his death it was found that he had taught the trade to no one, and the English had to go abroad for their needles until 1565, when a German artisan taught a few mechanics the manner of their making.

The trade soon died out again for some reason, and not until 1650 was it revived. A foreign workman, who conducted his operations on so large a scale that there was no longer any danger of the secret of their manufacture being lost.

This was the first time that the method of making them was not shrouded in secrecy, and soon the manufacture of needles became an important industry. The Whitechapel needles became famous over the world.

There are now several centres, in addition to the London quarter, where the needle industry flourishes, Birmingham alone producing as many needles in a day as the original workman made in his lifetime.

Child Had Revenge.

My daughter, thirteen years old, suffered from eczema for three years. She was treated by our family physician and used ointments without benefit. By using Dr. Chase's Ointment she has been cured. It is the only Ointment I feel like recommending. — Mrs. James H. Paterson, 170 Rockdale Avenue, Sydney, C. B.

A Globe Trotter.

Saturday's St. John Star says: B. R. Hardwick of Annapolis is in the Victoria on a regular trip. Mr. Hardwick is a close cousin to "Jimmy" McKenna of the U. P. R. in the way of his teaching. He has been travelling for thirty-five years and calculates that he has done an average of at least forty-thousand miles every year. This would give him a total of 1,400,000 miles. He has no cents in his pocket, but has paid to the transportation companies twenty-eight thousand dollars. He is not fretting over the fortune he has thrown away.

Work's Call to Duty.

As an instance of the late Senator Work's remarkable constitution, it is related that at the session of 1901 he had been without sleeping on chairs or sofas, he had been sitting through the session and simply drawing water to his allowance.

"Arise from your lethargy and do your share of originating legislation," he said in tones that were heard throughout the chamber. "Do not let it be to be worked out in the Lower House. Why sit here like white rats in an attic, without doing anything, and then simply drawing water to your allowance."

Referee Called It a Draw.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 29.—Sam Jackson of Boston and young Peter Langford of California met in a fifteen round bout tonight. The former twice claimed fouls, which Referee O'Hara did not allow. After Langford had pounded Jackson's left eye to a pulp and hammered him with straight hand blows almost at will throughout the 15 rounds, the referee called it a draw.

MAGNOLIA, Miss., Oct. 2.—Theresa Perkins, a white woman, was sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary for marrying and living with a negro, Robert Brown. A Big Fish.

Mr. Wm. O. Porter, of Chebogue, Yarmouth county, says his hermit net caught a large fish, about 30 inches long, on Saturday last. On going out to draw it he found it in the meshes, the net being torn to pieces. He had great difficulty in killing the fish, his only weapon being a jackknife. It weighed from 200 to 600 pounds.

Why Japs Made Peace.

TOKYO, Sept. 29.—Notwithstanding the silence of the Japanese press, the real fact is disclosed that Japan made peace at Portsmouth in fear of a financial breakdown. The war proved ruinous to the Japanese economy and the rice and cereal crops seemed doomed to failure.

France Will Accept.

Paris, Sept. 29.—The officials here say that it is practically certain that France will accept an invitation to the second peace conference at the Hague, owing to the united efforts of Emperor Nicholas and President Roosevelt, but official action awaits Russia's communication.

A—Where are you off to? B—I am going to ask Mr. H. the wealthy banker, for the hand of one of his daughters. A—Indeed? Which one? B—I don't know yet. If he is in a good humor, I will marry the youngest; if in a bad humor, the eldest.

A house of six or seven rooms, with a beautiful lot of land. The moving by water was successful, and the building was towed by a gasoline launch. The weather was beautiful, and several people were present to witness the moving of the building to the shore.

Splitting The Nerve.

"Nerve splitting" is no longer a term to be exclusively applied to New York and the other cities of the world. It is a fixed place in the new surgery. Progressive surgeons think no more of splitting a nerve than some writers do of splitting an infinitive. Nerve splitting is one of the accessories to nerve surgery and nerve grafting. It has been practiced with varying success for eight years in Germany and England, but is now in vogue in the United States. Cases of it have been reported within a month—three in New York, one in Baltimore and one in Philadelphia. —New York Times.

Lord Strathcona laid the matter before the British government. A cable has been received from the official office stating that Lord Strathcona had asked the British minister at St. Petersburg to lay the matter before the Russian government. A view of having the parties released.

The train was made up into three trains.

Happiness.

The gospel of happiness is one that every woman should lay to heart. What need is a man to have a cheerful wife no one but he who has the fight the battle of life. If he is prosperous it is an added joy, but it is not the only one. A complaining wife can kill the last bit of hope and courage in a man's heart, while a cheerful one can give him courage to begin the fight over again.

He Would Take It.

A vineyarder woman who was coming down town on a street car, was restrained violently with a big Irishman who was in the car. He was distributing tobacco smoke among the passengers. He listened, without making report, till the woman, looking at him, said: "You are a big fellow, but if you were my husband, I'd give you poison!" Giving a complacent puff to his pipe, Pat looked at her and replied: "If I were your husband, I'd take it!"

The Boston Tragedy.

Boston, Sept. 29.—Miss Nathan, daughter of Mrs. Louis Nathan, of Baltimore, reached this city today and was immediately taken to the police station. The body of the woman which was found in a dress suit case near the Winthrop Yacht Club on Thursday of W. H. W. and his wife, who will be shown the body tomorrow.

The coming of Miss Nathan has a possibly bearing on the Winthrop mystery, although the police do not attach great importance to it. Miss Nathan is a sister of Mrs. Schapiro, who has been missing for nearly three weeks. She is the wife of a West End doctor, who has also been missing for some time.

It was given out that the authorities knew the whereabouts of Mrs. Schapiro and it was understood that such information had been conveyed to Mrs. Nathan. Miss Nathan now asserts that she does not know where her sister is.

Tonight two fishermen of T. Wharf, Michael Sullivan and Robert Campbell, discovered a dress suit case in the water close to the wharf. They traced it for it with bathos and brought to the surface the upper portion of the case. Their attempt to reach the lower portion of the case was not successful. The police were notified and will continue the search. The dress suit case, it would appear, is the one which was found in the water close to the wharf. The case is of a comparative size of an ordinary dress suit case, though differing somewhat in dimensions from that sold by Pleasant street pawnbroker.

With the exception of the arrival of Miss Nathan and the finding of a second dress suit case, nothing to assist in the solving of the Winthrop mystery developed today.

Queer Mistakes.

Says the London Chronicle: "It is undignified, Dr. Thomas E. Jones, the celebrated court dentist, is writing his reminiscences of the second empire in France, and that the work will appear in the winter with a leading English house. As may be remembered it was Dr. Evans who assisted the Empress Eugenie to escape to England."

If you did you will know what means in common ranges—it means plumbers, delay, muss and big bills—because common ranges are built that way.

As range grates must some time burn out you are certain to have that kind of trouble if yours is a common range.

If you have the Pandora you won't have any trouble, because you can take out the old grates and put in the new ones in ten minutes, and a ten cent piece for a screw-driver does it easier in the Pandora than a whole kit of plumbers' tools would do it in common ranges.

Fruit a Day

Case—And Do-care. They are fruit juices—but changed chemically and medicinally by our secret process. So remarkable is this conversion, that "Fruit-a-Day" cures all Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Skin Disorders, where the fresh fruit would have no effect on the trouble.

and it cures the cold. That's what is necessary. It soothes the throat because it reduces the irritation; cures the cold because it drives out the inflammation; builds up the weakened tissues because it nourishes them back to their natural strength. That's how Scott's Emulsion deals with a sore throat, a cough, a cold, or bronchitis.

PSYCHINE

Taken promptly and faithfully according to directions will not only invariably prevent Consumption but will never fail to cure any of these lesser diseases which are always the forerunners of Consumption.

CONSECON, May 30th, 1904.

It affords me pleasure to speak of the merits of Pyshine, which I found to be a marvelous tonic and tissue builder. I was taken down with a bad cold, which settled on my lungs. In fact, I believe I was never free from colds for months previous, and tried many of the common cure-alls and cheap nostrums you see advertised, but obtained no relief. I had then learned that such remedies are merely palliative and not curative preparations. Friends advised Psychine, and after taking several bottles I became sound and strong again. Scores of my friends have been saved much suffering with Psychine, and I voluntarily give permission for the publication of this statement.

It is this position in a tender spot and makes it mighty hard to 'leave up. Nervine takes the place of a low spinal column in short order, it soothes, that's why relief comes soon. Nervine penetrates, that's why it cures. Few other liniments do that and you know it. Nervine can't fail to cure knee pain, lambs legs, rheumatism, neuritis, neuralgia. Nervine is indicated in all muscular pain. For nearly fifty years it has been the largest selling liniment in Canada. Better try it.

It is well to bear in mind that direct money saving can only be guaranteed when Diamond Dyes are used. Have a care that you do not buy the worthless imitations sold by some dealers. Refuse such deceptive dyes if you would avoid trouble and loss of money and temper. Ask for the DIAMOND DYES; refuse all others that may be offered.

Odds and Ends

Many Students Enter Delaware.
LARGEST NUMBER ON RECORD IN EARLY
AND SCIENCE—25 FOR ENGINEERING, 186.

The number of new students entering at Delaware this fall is 122. They are distributed as follows—56 in the arts and in pure and applied science; 26 in medicine and 15 in dentistry. While the total number of new students entering this year are equalled in former years the number of new students in arts and science is the largest in the history of the college.
Twenty-five of the largest number entered the courses in engineering.

The homes of the city students are distributed as follows: 11 in Philadelphia; 17; the island of Cape Henlopen; 10;
county 14; Colchester county 10;
New Brunswick 9; Lunenburg county 9; outside the maritime provinces and other parts of the British Empire 10;
and the counties of Shelburne, Kent Newtown, Annapolis, Kings, Prince Geo.
Newfoundland and Antigonish.

Mechanics, Farmers, Sportsmen.
To build and restore the ship and remodel
the house and make stables, paint and varnish the car. "The Master Mechanic," The late Albert Toller has been dead for some time.

The New Princess Gown.
There is much inclination among women who prize themselves on what they call their "figure," and who are particularly those who can command a good back (which means broad, flat, straight shoulders and an erect carriage), to wear the princess gown, appearing in the person of a "Princess" of course. Gown makers must be able to lay in, transparent materials especially by carrying the plaids or other shirings of the skirt, top into the waist, so that the skirt and the bodice are in one combination with the princess material, and that intermingling again adopted upon the lower part of the skirt, and the skirt is made of small and thinner bodices all conform to this model. High bodices have behaviour effects back and front, and that they may or may not be made of the same material. In even gown the style of princess gown forms part of elegance and distinction.

The Common Soldier.

In the long run, if the men who do the fighting do not like their part of the bargain, they will find a way to get it broken. Modern war is not likely to afford much amusement to the rank-and-file, nor, indeed, to the junior officers. Trench digging, hitting from a shower of bullets which come from an unseen enemy, in the open for days suffering from wounds and fever because no one dare go to you through the zone of fire, always fighting in the dark, seldom seeing the foe; these are not the circumstances of glorious war. The common soldier will tire of this very soon; and when he is really tired and then is given the ballot war governments will bear from him.—Montreal Star.

Oil on the Waters.

Instructions are given by the British Admiralty Office regarding the manner in which oil should be poured on "troubled waters." It is recommended that the oil be dropped overboard in small perforated canvas bags capable of holding from one to two gallons, each bag depending from a line whose position differs according to the nature of the sea and direction of the wind. Running before the wind one hangs out the oil bags from either bow. Crossing a bar with a flood tide the oil is sent on ahead. For boating a wreck oil is thrown to windward of her. Waste from the engine seems to be the best oil, though all animal and vegetable oils will serve.

Nervousness and Calamity.

Many who don't realize what lies beyond treat an attack of the "nerves" with indifference. Others consider it will soon pass away. But in every case nervousness is a calamity. Only one remedy will cure—Fertens's nerve strengthener that acts through the blood. First it gives you appetite—you eat plenty. This fills the blood with nourishment for the nerves.

Be Done With Cataracts.
Why allow this filthy disease to poison your system? It drains your strength, ruins digestion, pollutes the breath, makes you repulsive. The one certain cure is "Catarhazene." It cures because it destroys the cause of the disease, cures thoroughly because it goes where the cataract is, cures every case because the vapor destroys the cataract germ instantly. How It Happened.

Odds and Ends

Scenes and Ends.

Lines to a Bald Spot.

When first you caught my thoughtless eye
Ere yet you read my lines, I thought
My friends would look at you and sigh
That I should have a bald spot on my brow;
But I missed on you with such a show
Of good grace, that you thought I was wrong.

"I soaked you in expunction," said
My cap I turned as though I were not
I thought it well to make a real
My brow in harrow's eye would mean
To me, Sir, said you, "I'm not wrong."
Now spread, blame you, spread—

Germes, microbes and bacilli, too,
Killed and slain, and all the crew
Of tonic I have used to take;
Each day I used to wash my face
By hygienic aspiration (see!)
Now spread, blame you, spread!

Electric shocks and summer sea
Have failed to put you on the map;
I have taken a vapor bath, and Purified, pure, and waste and whither, there,
Now spread, blame you, spread!

Grow larger, old grow fair and wide,
And trim my hair to suit the times
Your bare and kiln-dried orange
Has not led me to the hair of mine
So do your worst with my poor head—
Now spread, blame you, spread!

The Best He Could Do.

The attendants of a certain street church are chuckling over

The church had been twice visited by its former pastor, the Rev. Mr. Jones, who is now following a brilliant career in the United States. He attended several prayer meeting and socials, and all his old fire and powerful eloquence making a deep impression on all who heard him, including the regulars, who took occasion to attend the religious announcements on the following Sunday:

"Next Wednesday evening," he said, "there will be the usual praying. I cannot say that another sermon — will be there, but I do think, promise you the presence of God."

The Wonders of the Body

Its mechanism, like delicate machinery even a slight cause is so disarranged as practically useless. A headache is no more because the stomach is disturbed than a sore throat is because the feet are too wet. To cure the one we must get rid of the other. The head and neck are joined at the base of the skull; it allows the stomach to press upon the brain, thus forcing the blood through the arteries, which fills the nerves and brain with impure blood. This causes nervousness, your spirits, No real health brings Fifty cents a box of light chocolate can take off all troubles.

Sure Cure for Summer Complaint

NEWCASTLE, N. B., Nov. 3, 1904

Mrs. C. GATES, Son & Co.

In St. John, I have been thinking for sometime that I should write and let you know what your Certain Check has done for my son. He had such a bad case of cholera that he was reduced to a skeleton. We tried doctors, drugs and every other remedy but without avail. Finally we procured your Certain Check and we believe it saved our boy's life, as it cured after everything else had failed.

Your life of Man Batters and Intoxicating Syrup also cured me of Liver Trouble. I consider that your medicines are all as recommended.

Yours truly,
W. L. CURTIS.

Digby, December 15, 1905.

Entered into Rest.

MRS. JOSEPHINE MULLIGAN DIED IN HOSPITAL FRIDAY.

A despatch received here Saturday morning contained the sad news of Mrs. Josephine Mulligan's death which occurred suddenly at her home in that city Friday night, Dec. 8th, at the age of 65 years. Mrs. Mulligan had taken a heavy cold which was followed by pneumonia. Mr. Gerald V. Vets, of Digby, who is studying at Harvard for the Episcopal ministry, visited her before her death. Her last words were very comforting to those at her bedside. The deceased was well known in Digby, having carried on business for many years in the building now occupied by Mr. Webster opposite the Methodist church. She was the wife of the late John Mulligan, who died in 1898.

After the Big Fire.

After the big fire she had erected the Mulligan Block on Water street and intended to return to Digby next summer and occupy the tenement up stairs in that building. She leaves two daughters, Miss Ella, of Boston, and Miss Josephine, of New York, and four sons who reside in Digby.

The funeral was held Monday with interment in Boston.

The Courier extends its deepest sympathy to the grief-stricken family and other relatives who mourn their loss.

THE DIGBY WEEKLY COURIER

Digby, December 29, 1905.

The "Courier" extends New Year's Greetings to its thousands of readers in Canada, United States and elsewhere.

—We believe that a Bargain Day is a good thing for a town, say once or twice a year, and it should be held in the dull season, in order to create business. It can be profitable to the buyer but we cannot see where it can be very profitable to the merchant to hold a bargain day or bargain week during the Christmas rush. It is of course had a tendency to bring people to Digby who might have spent their money elsewhere. Saturday the 23rd was certainly a busy day in town. Mr. H. B. Sproule, a Contractor, says that he did the biggest day's business in the history of the Digby Boot & Shoe Store. Mr. W. Fairweather, proprietor of the business, says that he had the same, and several other merchants report a big holiday trade. Saturday night we only noticed one store where there was no rush and it is needless to state that business has no difficulty in our columns. Our merchants advertised liberally this year and their increased business is largely due to that fact. We would advise the merchants to get together and arrange for a regular bargain day to be held during the month of February. Run large advertisements in the "Courier" and give the thing a fair trial. The following which we reprint from a recent copy of the Hants Journal, Windsor, N.S., gives an idea of the success of a merchant's day in that town. The same thing is properly managed by a committee composed of the right men, will prove a success in this town. Try it. The Hants Journal says:

Tuesday the 7th, opened up cold with hard frosts, but no snow. The people were in the town, and those who were waiting to be first in the ranks. Some of the clerks told us they would not give them time to take off their coats, but rushed to the business counters. There was no rest all day. At noon, the clerks had to be contented with themselves with punches and hour glass. Very early in the morning the newly trimmed windows of Messrs. Booth & Co., containing the latest in the line of goods, were sold out, and at 9 a.m. looked like a Christmas tree. The clerks in the country were in town, and the big day had been early in the race for bargains. The merchants report the sales for the day to be a night's income. Messrs. Booth & Co. had about 20 clerks, Messrs. D. & O. Sproule, 25 clerks, and Mr. Elliott 21 clerks. The system of delivering and forwarding parcels was well carried out, and we have not heard of any lost parcels. The big crowd was not natural, and had no hand in getting lunches and dinner, for beside the hotels there were at least two dozen other places where accommodation could be had. The cold weather helped rather than hurt the merchants, and the trade was booming. The buyers patronized all classes of goods, from groceries, Hardware, Boots & Shoes, the Jewellers, and Furniture. We have heard of many in for special patronage, and the printing offices had a few additional clerks. The services were in the line of what was advertised, as we saw several buyers who had purchased largely, and they told us that they were not only satisfied with the quality, but the prices of the goods were very low. Many people went to Eaton's when they could buy goods at home at such fair rates. The buying kept up until 11 p.m. and during the evening good sales were made. Merchants and clerks told us they were completely tired out, and would take a few days to rest and get their stock in shape. There is no doubt that the day has come to stay. It booms the town, gives the outside a better idea of the business in the city, and also shows that our merchants can compete with any other town in the way of supplying goods at fair prices to seller and buyer. It also shows that our town and shows that our business men are not laggards in the race for the business. The day is a benefit to all.

Wadding Ball at Plympton.
A very pretty wedding took place on Xmas evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Macdonald, when their son Arthur Levan was united in marriage to Miss Sula E. Tooker, daughter of the late W. Tooker, of Plympton. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. H. Hancock in the presence of the immediate relatives. The parlor was prettily decorated with flowers, holly and potted plants. At 7 o'clock the bride party entered to the strains of the wedding march, led by Miss Della Hecht. The bride looked very pretty in a dress of cream tulle, with trimmings of all lace and silk chiffon and was attended by the sister of the groom, Miss Ethel Macdonald, who wore blue velvet with white trimmings. The groom was supported by his brother, Arthur Guy Macdonald. Little Miss Eva, sister of the groom, acted as ring bearer. At the conclusion of the ceremony the guests repaired to the dining room where a supper was served. The bride was the recipient of many useful and beautiful presents, among them being a handsome dining room lamp presented by two of the groom's shipmates. After a pleasant evening the bride and groom were driven to their future home amid showers of rice and wishes—50M.

The Death of Hon. Mr. Prefontaine.
The news of the death of Hon. Mr. Prefontaine, Canadian Minister of Marine and Fisheries, came as a great shock to the entire Dominion. He died suddenly in Paris on Christmas Day in the midst of festivities and from the effects of a banquet tendered in his honor at Lillie.
Mr. Prefontaine was one of the most popular men of the Cabinet. Affable and kind in his disposition he was friendly everywhere. He was only 50 years of age and was in most excellent health when he left Canada on his connection with the establishment of a fast line of steamers between the Atlantic and the Pacific. He was greeted by all classes throughout the wide extent of the Dominion.

Leslie's Body Found.
The body of R. P. Leslie, M. P. P. for the Western Islands, Quebec, lay in the wreck of the steamer Lunenburg which was wrecked at the mouth of the St. Lawrence.
