LONDON, Jan. 5.—While the battle on the borders of Bessarabia is apparently still far from decision, each day finds the Russians claiming the occurrence of additional successful operations. The Petrograd news, which is the basis of the press campaign, says that the Petrograd process continues a short time longer, and a break somewhere in the lines of the Central Powers must come.

The whole energy of the Russian army is being directed to making a gap between the German armies in the centre, and the Southern Austrian forces, and the desperate Austrian attacks in the region of Kolzi are designed to prevent this. The fighting must continue for a considerable time yet, but upon the result will depend, in large measure, the strategy of both

News From the Front

AN INTERESTING LETTER FROM ONE OF COUNCILLOR WINCHESTER'S SONS

To the Editor of the Courier:

DEAR MR. DUNHAM: This afternoon after the mail had been distributed and I found myself amongst the unlucky, I was sitting down probably thinking more of dear old Nova Scotia than usual, when something told me I had better get up and redeem my promise made to you when leaving home, and as it has become a habit to obey orders, so here I am.

It was last January that I left home for Ottawa, on my introduction into army life and many things have I seen in these few months that I did not expect ever to see. I landed in Ottawa in the middle of winter. At first everything was rather hard, but the long hours in the open air with good plain fare and sound sleep as well as the indoor work such as scrubbing floors, washing dishes, peeling spuds by numbers, etc., soon made me fit and then everything came easy. And after the first two weeks of training I rather enjoyed it. After while the manoeuvres started and we soon got in swing as full fledged soldiers.

I had an excellent time all the while we were in Ottawa. The people of that city certainly used the soldiers well, especially the Engineers and Signal Coy. We had our Soldiers' Club kept up by the ladies and patronized by their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Connaught. The Y. M. C. A. and the different churches held concerts for our special benefit with always supper after. Besides the great staffs, given us by the same places, and our Sunday evening service in the big mess room with (again) supper afterwards, presided over by the good ladies of the city.

And the good people who opened their private homes to us. I shall never forget all the kindness shown us in the short time we were there. But although we were having a good time and enjoying ourselves, everyone of us was eager to get away. Every little while there would be a rumor that we were to move within a week. Oh, the disappointment when the day came and no orders to move. But at last the orders came and though sorry in many ways to leave, yet in many others glad, we finally left Ottawa on the afternoon of May 14th last for the front. We arrived in Montreal the same afternoon and went right aboard the steamer (the S. S. Megantic, of the White Star Line), sailing in the early hours next morning. After stopping a hour at Quebec we finally left the St. Lawrence and were out in the open sea.

It was here that I think I saw the last of Nova Scotia, there being a number of fishing schooners of the semi knockabout type with their dories out setting trawl. I could not see well enough with my glasses to distinguish anything about them in particular. We had an excellent trip across the ocean. The sea all the way was just like a mill pond, and we had elegant accommodations, our company travelling regular second class, with all pertaining to it. Every evening nearly, a concert was held in the dining room, all local talent of course, of which there was no lack. For the first few days we had nothing to do, then the boat drills began. We would be all spread out all over the boat when the alarm would be sounded on the bugle. 'Twas a sight worth seeing to see them getting into their positions on the boat decks with their lifebelts on and in an incredibly short space of time and the best of good order.

I forgot to say that we did have Swedish drill every day and church service on Sunday.

Everything has an end. So after a delightful trip of ten days we were out on the morning of May 24th. To find ourselves in a harbour. I think we were sorry to find it was so. Then for a few minutes everyone was deep in preparations for disembarking.

We went over the side of the ship into a smaller steamer and were taken right to the train. My, how strange the English train seemed to me. The little engines with their cute little whistles and their strange, to me, passenger coaches. But though the English engine is small it certainly can travel. 'Twasn't long after we started before we were going over sixty miles an hour and keeping it up. We arrived at Sherbrooke station at twelve thirty, arriving at the camp two hours later after a pretty stiff walk in the dark.

We had a pretty good time in England. But one very noticeable thing was the prices charged the Canadians. The town of Folkestone is a summer resort and the excess given was that they had to make enough in the summer time to keep them the remaining seasons of the year. I guess they make it O. K. off the Canadians and are still doing so according to accounts in the English papers.

After quite a lot of new training and a number of manoeuvres we were at last ready to cross the channel. All that kept us now was the waiting for orders.

I was not long in England when I was transferred to another camp as a telegrapher. I had only been there a short time when one day one of the boys called me up and said my brother was there looking for me. Not long after this I was surprised as it was only the last letter I had had from home before this which told me he had enlisted. We were out together on several occasions then, and shortly after I being lucky enough to be transferred back to my own section which was within a hundred yards of his camp, we spent a great deal of our time together.

Thus he got his orders for the front and I saw the last of him for some time.

At one time it was quite like home in England, there being a large number of boys I knew in the twenty fifth, twenty sixth and C. M. R's.

We got our orders to move about three weeks after my brother's draft came over.

I have seen a number of the boys in this country. Boys of the above battalions, they being in the same division as myself.

But I had not seen my brother over here, being in the first division until one day about two weeks ago, we were sitting around the fire in our billet when a visitor was announced, looking for your truly.

It was my brother. He had walked in that afternoon to see me, it being his battalion's shift out of the trenches. We were out and had supper together and he spent the night with me, walking back "Home" the next morning.

He, like myself, is enjoying good health and appears to be enduring the life well.

Up to within the last month I was employed in the construction and maintenance of our telegraph lines. For the last month I have been in the signal office as telegraph operator and register clerk, being senior, next to the superintendent on my shift.

With the exception of being in hospital for a few days with tonsillitis, I have enjoyed good health and continue to do so.

Winter is on us now. It isn't very cold and we have had only a few flakes of snow which melted as soon as it landed. The winter here is mostly all rain, in fact, it rains almost continuously, and the continual drizzle gets you. But, we, that is our company, are pretty well fixed. Our billet is right over our office and the only time we need go out is when we go to the cook house for our meals.

We are supplied with lots of clothing, and with lots of good grub. We have fifty cigarettes issued us a week or two once of tobacco as we like it. This is hardly sufficient for most of us but with what our friends send us usually have enough to keep us going, and if we do go shy our franc a day helps out as we can buy cigarettes in the town, although lots of times our franc a day doesn't last very long as there are a good many things we can buy things we really need and we only get paid twice a month.

Another thing I might mention we get is our weekly bath. Just think of being in sight of the flashes of the guns, yet in the trenches and the same as we do every time they come out.

And a good word for the hospitals. It really is a pleasure to go to the hospital. At least that was my experience and I was really sorry to come out. The orderlies couldn't seem to do enough for the patients. The same with the doctors. They certainly are fine.

Now about something else. I have seen a lot in the Canadian papers about the Canadian equipment. Do you know I have known men of the first division over here offer three imperial tunics for one Canadian. I don't know why as there is not such a great deal of difference between the two, but there must be a reason. And Canadian boots. There is no boot that will keep your feet dry when you go over the tops of them, the Imperial no more than the Canadian. The Canadian boot is softer and lighter and conforms to the shape of the foot, keeping the foot warm. This Imperial boot is very heavy and does not conform to the shape of the foot and is very conducive to cold feet. Of course there is no doubt that the Imperial boot will wear better, being better protected on the bottom and is better for this country, especially in the trenches.

But for Canada and England I think the Canadian boot is better than the Imperial. I know our fellows here on to their Canadians as long as they could in England and a good many of the boys brought them over here with them, and they are giving good service.

Another thing I saw in the Canadian paper. The W. C. T. U. refusing to have anything to do with any project for forwarding tobacco and cigarettes to the soldiers.

Perhaps I did not take the proper meaning from this. I have only taken it as a statement that the most of the boys over here have taken.

If only some people could go into a field hospital and see the fellows carried in and lying there not able to speak, and see how their eyes light up when the orderlies pass the figs. I don't think any person would refuse to send all they could after seeing a thing like that. And poor boys in the trenches hour after hour not able to do anything but smoke, what would they do if they didn't have something to smoke? Believe me we are glad that we have some friends at home who are good enough to send us these things, and we are glad that we nearly always have enough to share with our less fortunate comrades.

There is another thing which by the way does not concern our unit, as we are not allowed it, but which greatly concerns the men in the trenches. This is the stopping of the rum ration. As a rule there is no cause for alarm in regard to drunkenness in the trenches. One man's ration is not enough to get drunk on. And as even the sentinels will take their ration while on duty there, there isn't much danger of any one man getting more than his proper share.

NOW AS A MOTHER

don't you have the good of your family at heart? Don't you want to get for your family the very best? For internal ailments—the best medicine? For sores and skin diseases—the best ointment? If so, get Zambuk. Mothers who have used Zambuk will tell you that it is equal to its soothing, healing power in cases of skin diseases and injuries, and nothing so suitable for sensitive skins.

This is because Zambuk is composed entirely of medicinal herbal essences and extracts, and is free from the poisonous coloring matter and harsh minerals found in ordinary ointments. Children, having once used Zambuk will cry for it when they meet with an accident. They know how quickly it stops the pain, and heals.

It is for burns, cuts, bruises, skin injuries, piles, eczema, blood-poison, ulcers, "chicken pox" and all sorts of skin diseases. 50c. per oz. all druggists, or Zambuk Co., Toronto.

ZAMBUK

This is the stopping of the rum ration. As a rule there is no cause for alarm in regard to drunkenness in the trenches. One man's ration is not enough to get drunk on. And as even the sentinels will take their ration while on duty there, there isn't much danger of any one man getting more than his proper share.

A man stands on guard in mud and water over his boot-tops for hours on the coldest nights. A man goes out on listening post and lies down in the same mud and water for hours on the same night, away out between his own lines and those of the enemy. And yet some people would begrudge these men their ration of something which puts warmth in their bones after coming off such vigils.

Another word here. I think that the thing that a soldier dislikes more than anything else is the armchair critic.

Well, Mr. Dunham, I think I have taken up enough of your time as it is. No doubt you have got tired of reading this long before this. Anyway I have redeemed my promise. So hoping that any of the people who would care to write, will remember that their letters will be always welcome, I will close.

Wishing you a Merry Xmas and a Happy New Year,

I remain,

Yours,

R. WINCHESTER.

On a Transcontinental Trip CHARLES BINGAY GOING ON FOOT TO VANCOUVER FOR $5,000 WAGER.

(From the Kentville Chronicle)

Charles Bingay, who says he is a living statue and the man who never smiles, was given lodging at a Toronto police station Wednesday night when he informed Station Sergeant Rowe that he was on his return journey from Vancouver to Nova Scotia on foot, to win, if he arrived by March 31st, a wager of $5,000 put up by an English ship, whose boots he was wearing. It is all across country-boat wagers of this description, one of the terms, according to Bingay is that he shall maintain his fitness by his own efforts. Bingay says that he left Vancouver on March 10th and walked by way of New York to Digby, Nova Scotia, arriving there on August 15th. He spent two months in Nova Scotia and is now returning. He carries with him credentials from Mayors, Sheriffs and other officials of cities and towns passed on his journey. [Bingay claims to be a native of Digby and promises to marry the first girl that can make him smile, a something that few girls would care to do. The Digby man who is far from prepossessing in his appearance should endeavor to create his smile and his promise which ever it may be styled.

Bingay is a freak of nature, and is sometimes called "the human pin cushion." He sticks pins through his flesh, no blood oozes forth nor pain is felt. He also has the faculty of inhibiting his pulse and claims to have undergone a m-j-r operation without an anaesthetic or the feeling of pain.]

Among the contributors noted are Edward T. Martin, R. J. Fraser, Jean Stevenson, E. V. Williams and Margaret MacWhirter, while some of the articles are: Game Farming for Profit and Pleasure, Capacities, The Unwritten Law, Almost a Walkout, The Resti goochie, etc. In addition the regular departments devoted to Guns and Ammunition and Fishing Notes are maintained. The Road and Gun will be interested in the account of the recent Grand International shoot held at St. Thomas and dog lovers in the Kennel department. Road and Gun is published at Woodstock by W. Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

MOST everybody likes help, but afterward how a man does date the individual who helped him make a fool of himself.

Being dead certain that you can succeed if anybody can is a thing that goes a long way in the boosting line.

You never yet made a reputation for yourself out of that which you took from another man.

There is nothing like low salaries to encourage graft unless we except the man with the jack pot.

Good luck is catching, but it isn't catching the fellow who is sitting around waiting to be caught.

A personally conducted business is the kind that gets at the station marked "Attainment."

Success often alights in unexpected places, so cheer up and play away.

Some men spend so much time talking that they have very little opportunity to acquire any information.

What's in a Name?
Listen, children!
That grand quiet
So much like
A young riot
That even tenored calm
That you hear
In the off year
Getting ready
With such studied unconcern
To do its turn.
Yes
Every second year or so We go
Into a state of coma
And rest from the strenuous Presidential campaign.
But this one Promises to resemble more
A score
Of exclamation points
Yes, judging from the hum,
It is getting on some
For one that is on the program
Lashed plumb and clear
As an off year
Issues to burn
Turn
Where you will,
And the bill
Would knock a circus program silly.
There is some billy Going along
For some on the track
That they hope will lead back
To Washington and pie
And plunder.
But the thunder
Is ominous
And some who never felt before
Will score
A victory
And find their way unaided to the humble Pie
Unless the signs unobtrusively
Can lie.

Sure Way.
"Nobody seems to care for me."
"Would you like to receive lots of attention?"
"Yes."
"Get off the train in Kansas and announce that you are a harvest-hand."

Up to Date.
"What is that you are carrying out?"
"A Greek god."
"You ought to give it local color."
"And how, pray?"
"By placing a bunch of bananas in his hand."

Disatisfied.
"The cost of living is very high."
"Yes, and that isn't the worst of it."
"No."
"No. The worst is that the living itself is anything but high."

Just So.
"Why can't a woman understand baseball?"
"Why can't a man trim a hat?"

Use For It at Last.
"I suppose the doctors will work up a new set of signals."
"That will be easy enough."
"How will they work it?"
"Just give the high sign."

Disputed.
"Lots of men are afraid of women."
"Are they?"
"Yes."
"But not unless they are married to them."

Forecasting the Future.
"I met my fate today."
"What is her name?"
"I don't know what it is now. I only know what it will be."

Good.
"What are the best pair of moccasins you know?"
"Common sense and ability to use it."

Her Reason.
"Why did you marry him?"
"I wanted to see if he was really as amiable as he appears."

Too Modern.
"Oh, my with me, the liver said.
To some far distant spot."
Her soul had unconsciously won a wing.
And thus he foiled the plot.

The Reason.
"Why is he so chicken-hearted?"
"Because he is a chicken-hearted."

FINANCIAL ECONOMY.

One Man's Scheme When He Found His Capital Was Shrinkin'

What one man did when he discovered his capital was shrinkin' is told in the American Magazine:
"A friend let me into a secret of his financial economy which strikes me as valuable. He is of middle age, with a small family, and has an income of $3,500 a year. He has put by a few thousand dollars. His investments are in gilt edged securities.
"At the end of every six months he figures out exactly the value of his property. Each share of stock, each bond is reckoned at its present market price, and the sale value of his house is placed at the lowest figure. To the current value of his estate he adds his life insurance. The result is the capital which would be available for the support of his wife and children should he suddenly die.
"At the last three reckonings my friend found that his capital was shrinking. There had been declines in certain stocks and bonds and a falling off in the value of his real estate. What did he do? Commiserate himself? Not at all. He went to a life insurance company and took out a policy large enough more than to cover the shrinkage in his capital. Comparatively speaking, it cost him very little, but it added a neat sum to the value of his estate and guaranteed an unimpaired income to his wife."

PENS OF THE PAST.

The Old Time Quill and the Art of Putting a Point on It.
Quill pens are no longer used except in rare old fashioned instances, but people still use "quills"—you can see the name any day in the cutlery store windows—but they do not use them to make or mend pens. In fact, where is there a man or woman who knows how to put a point on a quill? It was once an art which every man had to master, though women were generally bad at it, as they are now at sharpening pencils.
In the old days the first question asked of a schoolmaster was the one whether he was skillful in pointing quills, for he had to sharpen the pens of his whole school and incidentally instructed his pupils in the art. Alas! There is no modern pen of steel or gold that is so smooth, so swift, so alluring as a good quill pen. The writer is very sure of that, for his father used to tell him so.
The art of handwriting has certainly declined since the quill pen went out of use. The old fellows could really write. We still pay them an unconscious tribute by calling a writer a "quill driver" and picturing the pen, whenever we have to make an abstract representation of it, as a quill.

A Diplomatic Official.
During the reign of Emperor Napoleon III. he and the empress visited Normandy and had arranged to spend a couple of days at Breux. M. Janvier de la Motte, who was the prefect, learned that the revolutionaries intended to hiss the sovereigns as they passed, and so he summoned the leaders of the movement and told them that he knew of their plot. "If you carry out your plan," said he to them, "you will get six months in prison. If you do not turn your friends will accuse you of cowardice and treason. As a way out of the difficulty I propose to look you up at once unless the emperor has gone." The conspirators accepted the terms offered them, and so the emperor was greeted joyfully by cheers, as the revolutionaries, frightened at the arrest of their chiefs, had not dared to utter a sound.

The Tail of a Fish.
A fish's tail is its wings. Owing to the machinery of muscle set along its spine and to its clefting form a trout or salmon can cut through the water at a tremendous pace, though its rapid flights, unlike the birds, are not long ones. It is soon tired. The water is not so friendly to flight as the air. The stroke of the fish's tail is one of great power, and by means of it and the writhing, snakelike flexion of the body a high speed is reached. The strength behind this speed is shown in the way a fish or seal mammal out of the water will raise its tail and strike the ground or boat.

Victor Hugo.
Victor Hugo was the wealthiest of the nineteenth century authors and also the hardest. At one time he made less than 1,000 francs last year and his brother for eighteen months, and one chop would serve for lunch three days in succession. But this early abstinence did not spoil Hugo's digestion, for at the age of eighty-three he cracked up with his tooth and ate oranges as some folk eat apples—peel and all.

Then the Row Started.
Mrs. Snappem (who has been suffering from toothache)—Thank goodness, I've had that row out at last! Mr. Snappem—Hugob tooth! Mrs. Snappem—What do you mean? Mr. Snappem—It's out of the reach of your tongue.

The Grind.
"What are you doing now?"
"Two a day," said the rambunctious actor. "And you?"
"I can't quite equal that," responded the popular vaudeville. "Two a week is about my limit."

It is a great step in the interpretation of life when we have discovered that our enemies are ultimately spiritual—Bierley.

Losses on Both Sides Placed at 175,000 and Half Comes Through Sheer Exhaustion.

RUSSIANS CHECK ENEMY'S FLANKING MOVEMENT AND MAKE MAIN DRIVE FOR STRATEGIC POINT NEAR CERNOWITZ—GERMAN ATTACK IN CHADZYNA OFFENSIVE ON WIDE SCALE BUT COMES TO NAUGHT.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—The Russians retain the important strategic heights in the neighborhood of Sadagora, north of Cernowitz, says a Petrograd despatch to the Times, and although the recent snowfall hinders operations, they are steadily and systematically advancing and fortifying their positions until the extending front comprises thirty-three miles of the east bank of the Stripa river. This front is now deemed secure against re-attack.

LONDON, Jan. 10, 10.29 p. m.—While the front has been quiet for the past twenty-four hours, there has been fighting in the other war theatres.

On the Montenegrin front the Austrians have been generally successful. They have advanced their positions at several important points, despite the handicap of snow waist-deep, and are showing themselves just as adept as the Montenegrins in mountain fighting, which heretofore has been regarded as the particular specialty of the Montenegrin soldiers.

In Champagne, the French have repulsed four German attacks. The Germans have retained a foothold at two places in the French advanced trenches.

In Persia, British reinforcements on their way to the relief of Kut-el-Amara, have met Turkish forces, which were compelled to retire after some heavy fighting.

BITTEREST AND BLOODIEST OF WAR.

The Petrograd official communication says that the calm on the Cernowitz front is due to the huge losses and resulting demoralization of the Austro-Hungarian army. That there is some basis for this statement is evident from the estimate of the Hungarian newspaper, Pester Lloyd, that the losses on the Serbian front are 175,000, or more than the total British losses in the whole Dardanelles Campaign.

Another Hungarian newspaper states, on the authority of a staff representative, that the fighting on this front has been the bitterest and bloodiest in the history of war, both sides sacrificing men in a manner without parallel.

The situation is chiefly notable in the day's despatches as the scene of almost continued aeroplane skirmishes, one of which resulted in the loss of two. The Germans have thus far lost six aeroplanes in this region.

The minor detail consists of the Teutonic allies arrested at Saloniki have been released, appears to have been without foundation, as it is now announced that they have been transferred to a French auxiliary cruiser, on which they have been interned. Extensive Turkish reprisals are already announced, and some similar action is likely also from the capitals of the central powers.

ALBANIA DIVIDED IN ALLIGANCE.

The present situation in Albania was thus summed up today by Lord Robert Cecil, under secretary for foreign affairs, in the House of Commons. He regretted to say that it is impossible to speak of Albania as an entity at present. In the central area, over which Essad Pasha's authority extends, the relations between the Serbian soldiers and the population have been friendly, and Essad Pasha has rendered them little trouble. The northern tribes, among whom the enemy has conducted a considerable propaganda, are hostile to the Serbians and Montenegrins.

Several despatches have been received here giving details of the recent operations in eastern Galicia, which were so meagerly described in the official reports. According to these despatches, the Russians, after artillery preparation which showed there was no longer any shortage in their big gun ammunition, started an offensive which caused the Austro-Germans to rush every available division to Galicia.

Cernowitz is still in the possession of the Austrians, and is filled with wounded. But the Russians apparently are directing their main attack against Sals Gora, north of the Bukowina capital, where five important roads converge.

In the Balkans, reports persist that the Germans are concentrating at Saloniki, preparatory to an attack on Monastir, but the intention of the Macedonian campaign has become secondary to the operations of the Austrians in Montenegro. A determined attack is being made on Mount Lovcen, a Montenegrin stronghold overlooking Cattaro Bay, by the guns of the Austrian fortress at Cattaro, and Austrian warships lying in the Adriatic. The formidable Austrian forces invading Montenegro exist from a wide front, from the Tara river in the west, to the Ipek district in the east.

It cannot be disguised that this invasion is causing great uneasiness among the Entente Powers, and especially Italy, which sees in its success an end to Italy's dream of dominating the Albanian coast of the Adriatic. The Italian newspapers in expressing the opinion that an Austrian success against Montenegro would give the invader an incalculable political, maritime, commercial and strategic advantage, hint the fact that Italy's intervention in the Balkan campaign has come too late.

The number of soldiers training at Meteghan has come up to about forty two. P. J. Leage is in charge and he is certainly doing good work. If there are under his care at Meteghan till May, I am positive that the number will be raised to near the hundred.

He is well liked by all his soldiers and persons whom he comes in contact with. Facts prove it. Last week the soldiers mentioned presented him with a gold watch and chain, valued at forty dollars which they collected amongst themselves. Now young Alex has a new watch and get satisfied.

"Dad's the old dog fall, for we love it the best of all." Meteghan wants recruits.

child or friend, who is suffering from eczema, or other skin disease, or an obstinate case that has defied medical treatment? If so, that is a case for Zam-Buk.

Mrs. B. Ellis, of Castleton, Ont., writes: "My husband suffered intensely with a running sore on his foot. The sore penetrated to the bone, and the inflammation was so bad that he could not sleep at nights. After spending a lot of money and trying every remedy I heard of, with no result, I read of a cure which Zam-Buk had effected in a similar case, and got a box."

"Within two hours after the first application the pain was eased, and with perseverance the inflammation was drawn out the swelling reduced, and before long the sore was entirely healed."

Zam-Buk also cures piles, abscesses, eczema, poisoned wounds, pimples, chills, chapped hands and chilblains.

THE PROSPECT.

Will men in future ages forget the war to which they have been subjected? And how on foot to travel since flying is the ideal? Will airplanes, locomotives, and steamships everywhere, will they begin to wonder why feet were fastened thereto?

On foot he will be lonely, and it will seem a crime if he is going nowhere. To use up so much time with everybody soaring, propelled by gasoline. Here surely saves his money and buys him a machine.

He'll seem some able surgeon and to the doctor say, "Cut off these feet, old sawbones, for they are in the way." When they are amputated, then he can travel light and never more be tempted by anything but flight.

No corns will ever trouble him when he is in the air. And then without a shadow a shoe store he can pass. Here may as some old codger goes trudging down the street, and see that ancient story who still is wearing feet.

Getting Down Fine. "That carpet you sold me was warranted not to shrink." "That is how it came to be, madam." "Well, your guarantee didn't work, did it shrink much, madam?" "Much? Why, the man snuck it up to the vacuum cleaner this morning."

Mean Thing.

"I have absolutely nothing to wear." "Really?" "Very nearly." "Then you must be in fine shape for a dinner decolette dance."

Man Sings. "Do you believe in telling white lies?" "No." "Oh, don't you?" "No. When I lie I want it to be full of color and land me somewhere."

Her Hand. "John fell in love with my hand last night." "With your hand?" "Sure." "Why?" "It was a straight flush."

Classified. "Aw, he's a regular baby boy." "How did you tell?" "The way he senses back." "Didn't hear him snore back?" "That he. He just makes faces behind yer back."

Cunning Child. "What are you crying for, little girl?" "So I can get what I want."

Superhuman. "I can look right into her window." "And what do you see?" "I never look."

Disappointment. The census does not have to guess or deal with facts unknown. It shows ambitious little towns how much they haven't grown.

PERT PARAGRAPHS. A good deal of our difficulty in getting through with the day's work arises from what we did or didn't eat for dinner last night.

A soft snip's apt to be found to be having a great many people sticking to it.

If all were paid according to the merits of each as adjudicated by himself it is doubtful if there would be enough to go around.

Nobody expects everybody to get to heaven, but each knows one who will make the rifle.

It all averages up pretty well. The one who jogs rider the most gets pinched the oftenest.

A fellow who always has an eye for the main chance soon learns to outstep all the others.

There is a large share of our population who seem to think that dignity ought to make up for diligence in this world.

When a man gets out and bustles for his living he doesn't have much time for parade.

With a haughty disregard for the admonition of his elders the gleesome graduate starts out to prove his own theories and incidentally to get it in the neck.

If a lot of the disconcerting tones could be taken the Lord a north-west breeze they would soon be swamped with their own old junk.

CORRESPONDENCE.

A Great Revelation.

To the Editor of the Courier: DEAR SIR:—As fact after fact is revealed by accurate statistics showing the cost of the liquor traffic to the country one wonders why we have been so stupid as to allow the saloon to make us believe that it was a source of revenue instead of a very burlesque as we now know it to be. Some one has said that instead of being a revenue producer it is a revenue consumer and it is.

When at any time the suggestion has been made of lessening or closing the saloons the cry has gone up where will the lost revenue come from and many really believe that it would cause an increase of taxation. There is little doubt that for that cry the saloon would have been wiped out long ago.

But the end is near because the saloon is now known to be an enormous burden on the tax-payer. We have known for some time that in many wet towns the taxes were much higher than in dry towns of similar assessment but now thanks to an investigation by the American Issue Newspaper we have the figures for every state in the Union. This shows that the per capita taxes paid in every state bears a very close relation to the number of licenses in the State.

The following figures are for 1913, the latest for which complete returns were available. Up to that time there were only eight prohibition states in the Union. The per capita taxes paid in every state bears a very close relation to the number of licenses in the State.

The general property taxes collected per capita in the near prohibition states to be $10.12.

The general property taxes collected per capita in the partial license states $11.08.

The general property taxes collected per capita in the licensed states $16.98.

These figures show that all over the United States the taxes decrease with the lessening in the number of saloons. They also show that as a rule taxes in the wettest states are 60 per cent higher than in the driest states. That is one of the most important revelations that has ever taken place regarding the liquor traffic. The saloon can no longer claim to be a source of revenue. Why should we be taxed for the saloon? If any other business injures any one it has to make good the damage but when the saloon ruins the father and kills the mother the burglar bearing the blame, the saloon keeper, has to support the orphan. The saloon is a huge tax devouring parasite.

Will some one tell me what right it has to exist. I have never heard or seen any reasonable answer.

H. A. ANSON, M. B., M. C. P. S.

To the Editor of the Courier: MY DEAR SIR:—I have received a letter enclosing a clipping which appeared in the Globe of many months ago, and also in other papers, and the writer says that I sent to you a contradiction of the report made, namely that the Canadian Red Cross Society were in the habit of selling socks or other supplies.

At the time these statements appeared our Committee took every means to find out from what source they originated, and went so far as to offer a reward of $100 for the conviction of anybody making the statement, but we did not meet with any success and finally came to the conclusion that the rumor was of German origin with the hope that it would damage the ardor of the Canadian people if this was their object they failed, as our work has grown and continues to grow.

The many hundreds of soldiers who have returned give such reports of the work of the Canadian Red Cross Society from actual experience that we know our work is well done.

I am sending you a copy of an interview which was published in the Toronto Mail and Empire at the time, and if you think it desirable you could publish any part of it you see fit.

Yours truly, CHAIRMAN, EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE, Toronto, Jan. 20, 1916.

(The article from the Toronto Mail and Empire, above referred to appears in today's Courier.)

Diners' Plan of Giving Grew to Big Proportions. Not long ago several Montreal capitalists of industry met, as was their wont, to lunch together in a well known cafe.

During the course of the luncheon, others dropped in until they were five around the table. The conversation drifted to the economic side of the war in Europe and to the unfortunate plight of Belgium.

"We ought to do something, remarked one, a bank president.

"I'll give a carload of flour," said a second.

"So will I," volunteered a third, and within a few minutes five carloads of flour were given to the Belgian Relief Committee of Montreal.

More than that two of these men were high officials in Canadian railways and they added the freight on all five cars to their donations.

So this little band provided sustenance for thousands and undoubtedly saved many from actual starvation.

friends. He leaves a widow, three daughters, Mrs. Abner D. Troop, Mrs.
George Foster and Miss Beatrice, at chusetts. The funeral, which took

Cataract Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrh of the ear and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrh of the ear is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed it leaves a running or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. The cause of this inflammation is the catarrh of the nasal cavity, which is the source of the infection. The mucous membrane of the nasal cavity is the source of the infection.
We will give one hundred dollars for any case of catarrh of the ear, which is cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Circulars free.
All druggists.

AN IDEAL TONIC

When your head is dull and heavy, your tongue furred, and you feel done-up and good for nothing, without knowing what is really the matter with you, probably all that is needed to restore you to health and vigor is a few doses of a reliable digestive tonic and stomachic remedy such as Mother Seigel's Syrup.

Take it after each meal for a few days and note how beneficial is its action upon the stomach, liver and bowels—how it restores tone and healthy activity to these important organs, and by so doing enables you to gain new stores of vigour, vitality and health.

Socks for Soldiers.

The boys in the trenches are again calling for socks. They want good, thick, warm well nitted woolen socks.
Everyly in Nova Scotia will realize how necessary it is to health and comfort that one's feet should be kept dry during all seasons. Multiply this necessity tenfold and you will have some idea of the need of our boys in the trenches.

The Red Cross Society confines its activities to the sick and wounded in hospitals. Socks sent to the Red Cross are used for the sick in the hospital. Nobody desires to interfere with the Red Cross Society's work.
The object of this appeal is to point out that there is a wide field for useful effort in the provision of socks for soldiers in the trenches.

We appeal to the women of Nova Scotia to assist in providing socks for the soldiers in the trenches. Members of the Red Cross Society who wish their contribution of socks to go to the soldiers in the trenches should plainly mark their packages "Red Cross Socks" and forward them to Mr. Michael Dwyer, Secy. Treas. Field Comforts Committee, Princess Louise Chapter,
I. O. E. Old Pier, No. 2, Halifax,
N. S. This Chapter is now the recognized channel for distributing Field Comforts.

All women who are not members of a Red Cross Society and desire to provide socks for the soldiers in the trenches, can send them to the same address. They will be packed with others and sent to the trenches. The socks should be medium size and not purposes.

tage. With it we will purchase yarn said a well educated man the other day when we was asked this question: "Why when you have a cold, a cough or from chills (trouble), you will use, of throat and chest) you prefer in, you prefer in, cough syrups long tones and the like into your stomach, which is perfectly sound?"

Ever think of it? The stomach and the lungs are not connected; otherwise food swallowed would choke you. Lung and throat troubles were never yet cured by dosing the stomach. To cure coughs, colic and bronchitis, you must breathe made up of pure extracts and medicinal essences, which when put into the mouth turn into healing vapors. These are breathed down direct to the lungs, throat and bronchial tubes—then swallowed down to the stomach, which is not ailing. Try a box of Peps for your cold, your cough, bronchitis or asthma. All druggists and stores or Peps Co., Toronto, will supply.

Another Letter From The Front

Westenhaner, Jan. 6th, 1916.

Dear Mother—Your letter received last week. Since writing to you I have had a pass given us for four days, to go anywhere in London, England, or Scotland, or even to London, and last night had a fine time. Got lost several times but always got back to the hotel and home from. Will tell you about my trip.

We were all around Piccadilly and Leicester and all those places. Was to St. Paul's Cathedral, one morning and it took us all the morning to go through. It is some church, I can tell you. In the afternoon we saw the White Hall and saw the change of the guards. It is something grand, you can say there an hour and never see the man or the horse move, just the same as a statue. Then we went from there to see the "guard" and things that the British and Canadians have taken from the Germans.

The next day we went to see Buckingham Palace and the German prisoners. Also saw the place where the Kaiser was going to eat Christmas dinner but he did not and he never left.

Now I am back in camp awaiting further orders. (We don't know how long we are to stay here. I am rumoured we are to go across the 17th but I don't know. It is still raining and the mud is as deep as ever. I think the weather is somewhat colder here than here. I would rather be in the land of snow than here in the land of mud.

These German soldiers drilling in Digby. What regiment do they belong to? I was very glad to receive my mail from home. I found that I had in the train went not far from here as so many of the boys lost their things that way. I found that I had a letter from my father. He was in the office for me. I did not lose much time going for it. I had to go to the office to get it. I had to go to the office to get it. I had to go to the office to get it.

"If the government will abolish the orders in council, and issue, in conjunction with our Allies, a strong declaration that the Allies have decided from now on that the entire oceanic traffic to Germany will be prevented by a blockade of German ports," said Mr. Benn. Continuing, he said:

"Lines should be drawn from outside the Norwegian three mile limit to Scotland, and across the English Channel, and the Straits of Gibraltar, and everything going into Germany or coming out of Germany should be stopped there, even if we are violating the rights of neutrals."

"We ought to consider expediency and put such a blockade into force at once, if we are convinced that it will be effective to speedier close. "It would be better to close the lines and would let the empire and the world know that our rulers had the courage to act in a way to which I believe we have a legal and moral right."

Marked Scarcity of Fish

FISH VESSELS ARRIVE WITH SMALL CATCHES—WHOLESALE PRICES ADVANCE TO 50-250 PERCENT.

(Boston Transcript, Jan. 25.)

Comparatively few fish were landed at the fish pier last week and wholesale prices continued high, being about double normal prices. Only a few small catches arrived, and altogether there had only approximately 60,000 pounds of haddock, 20,000 of mackerel and 10,000 of cod brought in to the market.

The fishery of the Bay State steamer, which is operating the largest catch, 34,000 pounds, while the schooner Yankee, had the smallest, 16,000 pounds.

The 27th and 28th of last week at the fish pier, as most of the product is usually marketed by Thursday or Friday. However, it is ordered by the consumer on Friday. No fish was landed at the pier yesterday, an exceptional day for the season.

It is very scarce there was good demand for today's receipts.

Receipts of fresh fish at the Boston market is attributed to bad weather and to the strike of fishermen, which has kept the boats from the Bay State steamer.

Five of these, five of which are tied up by the weather, are the principal demand of the striking fishermen. The strike is being investigated by the State Board of Conservation and Fisheries.

During bad weather the steamers may be counted upon with greater certainty to bring in a good catch of fish, and the absence of some of the craft has contributed to the scarcity.

Receipts of fresh ground fish at the Boston market for the week ending Thursday night were the smallest in a long time.

This amount was brought by seventeen vessels. For the corresponding week of the previous year, 142,738 pounds of fish were brought in.

Wholesale dealers' prices today were: Haddock $2.25 to $2.50; mackerel $2.25 to $2.50; cod $2.25 to $2.50.

Wholesale dealers' prices today were: Haddock $2.25 to $2.50; mackerel $2.25 to $2.50; cod $2.25 to $2.50.

U-Boat Escapes Sea Net.

NEWMAN CAPTAIN TELLS HOW HE BROKE FROM BRITISH MESHES.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Feb. 2.—Naval Lieutenant Newman, commander of the German submarine "U-7," which departed the French steamer Graveline gives the following description of how his submarine was caught in the net off the east coast of England, and how, after the most difficult circumstances, he succeeded in saving the boat and crew from capture.

"He said that they had left their base early in the morning and had passed in the North Sea, the boat being under cover with a periscope awash. "I looked through the periscope," he continued, "and could see a red buoy about my head. When the net came later, I looked, I saw the buoy again, still at the same distance behind me. I turned to the right and then to the left, but the buoy kept on following us. I descended deep into the water but still the float on the surface above us. At last I discovered that we had caught the chain of the buoy and that we were dragging it along with us. At this time I saw through the periscope that a strange small steamer was steering a course directly behind us and the buoy. At the same time my sounding apparatus indicated that a screw steamer was in the vicinity. Observation revealed that five enemy torpedo boats were approaching from the north. I increased the speed in the expectation of being able to break out of them. The five torpedo boats arranged themselves in a circle. I sank deeper and got ready for eventuality.

"At this juncture my boat began to fill in a most incomprehensible manner. We began to rise and sink alternately, the steering gear being apparently out of order. Soon afterwards I discovered that we had encountered a wire netting and were hopelessly entangled in it. We had, in fact, got into the net of one of the hunters surrounding us.

"For an hour and a half the netting carried us with it, and although I made every effort to get clear of it, it seemed impossible. There was nothing to do but to increase the weight in the submarine as much as possible so that I might try to break the netting. Fortunately, when we started I had pumped in from five to six tons of water, filling all the tanks. I increased the weight of the boat to the utmost, and suddenly we felt a shock and were clear of the netting. I then descended as deeply in the water as I could, the monometer showing thirty metres. We remained under water for eighteen hours. When I wanted to ascertain where we were, I noted that my compass was out of order. For a time I steered by the green color of the water, but at last I had to give up the idea of this in order to rise. I then discovered that the monometer continued to register the same depth, and was also out of order. I had therefore to be very careful not to rise too high and thus attract the attention of the torpedo boats.

"Slowly the periscope rose above the surface and I could see the enemy in front of me, and towards the left the east coast of England. I tried to turn to starboard, but the rudder did not work. In consequence, I had to sink again to the bottom of the ocean. I remained for six hours, at the end of which time I had succeeded in putting the compass in order and also in repairing the steering gear. But upon rising this time, we were detected by a torpedo boat, which made straight for us, forcing me to descend again. I remained submerged for two hours, then turned slowly outwards and at a distance of some fifty metres from the leading enemy craft passed under the open sea. At nine o'clock in the evening we were able to rise to the surface in safety."

Dr. Andrew Wilson, Dr. Gordon Stables and Dr. Lussell Scott, the famous English analysts, have all personally tried Zambuk and expressed themselves convinced of its great healing value.

Mrs. St. Denis, of Thompson St., Weston, Windsor, after being ill with extreme and finally her doctor said only a supply and to call another fine tribute of a scientific man to his great medicine.

Mrs. St. Denis says: "The eczema broke out on my nose and one side of my face. I could not go to sleep because of the irritation and pain, and my face was in such a shocking condition that for two months I did not go out of the house. I applied remedies and my doctor treated me, but without effect, until one day I said that the only thing which would be likely to cure me was Zambuk. I procured a supply and to my great story short, in a few weeks Zambuk cured me completely, leaving no scars."

Zambuk is a sure cure for eczema, boils, eruptions, ringworm, itching, inflammation, skin, etc., also an excellent for rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, etc. It is a sure and reliable cure for all skin diseases and is sold in all drug stores. Flames Finish Haddock Ship

FOREST CITY, BURNED AT SAN JUAN, NEVER MADE A VOYAGE WITHOUT OCT. DISASTER.

SAN JUAN, 31.—The burning of the four-masted American schooner, Forest City in San Juan harbor a few nights ago marked the close of the career of a vessel long known along the Atlantic coast as a "haddock ship."

The Forest City came in from distress from Colmar, on the west coast of Africa, with a cargo of palm oil for New York. At 10 p. m., soon after she was tied up at a bulkhead, she was seen issuing from her forward hatch. The San Juan fire department hurried to the place and the captain, who was on board, saw the flames coming from the hatch and saw the ship John H. Berwind pumped water into the flames in the schooner's hold.

The burning oil, however, spread rapidly and after a three hour fight the flames forced the haddock ship to the pier. The intended German ship, which like a huge torch, she lit, the flames leaped, while 20,000 people on shore watched the spectacle. Sprouts of flame leaped in the air as the masts went by the board. Finally the deck went three three pounds shells into the schooner, below the water line, practically completing her destruction, although part of the hull burned until next day.

The entire cargo was lost with the ship. It was valued at $125,000, and the Forest City cost $40,000 when she was built at Milbride, Me. She was owned by Frankel & Co., Her captain, H. E. Allen, was making his first trip as her master.

It is said that the Forest City never made a voyage without mishap. On her last trip she was blown from her course, and when she put into San Juan she was leaking badly, with several severe cracks in her hull. She had contracted beriberi during her seventy-one day's run from Africa.

Several years ago, then, her name was the Myrtle Tunnel, she went fast on a voyage from San Juan to North Carolina and it was several months before she was pulled off and towed into Savannah, bottom up. She was then refloated and renamed Forest City, but it was not long before she was again in trouble. In taking her away from the bulkhead while she was under the repair, she was damaged by the rigging of the schooner Warren. She was moored near her stern, and nearly set her vessel alight.

She has been twice waterlogged and in the winter of 1912 she was so badly battered in a gale on the New England coast that she put into a dock and was spars broken off, her sails torn away and her captain sick in the cabin. To add to her misfortune the foundered and she was left bound for a long time.

The master of the big schooner Forest City was Capt. Howard Allen, formerly of Digby who has many friends in this place who will regret to learn of his recent misfortune at San Juan.

To women who are suffering from some form of woman's special ills, and have a constant fear of breaking down, the three following letters ought to bring hope:—

Pinkham remedies.—Mrs. Mary Ann, North Cranston, Wis.

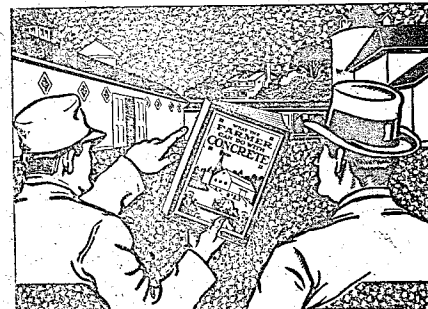

Testimony from Oklahoma.

Lawton, Okla.—"When I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I seemed to be good for nothing. I tired easily and had headaches much of the time and was irregular. I took it again before my little child was born and it did me a wonderful amount of good at that time. I never fail to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all women because it has done so much for me."—Mrs. A. J. McCasland, 309 Hays St., Lawton, Okla.

From a Grateful Massachusetts Woman.

Roxbury, Mass.—"I was suffering from inflammation and was examined by a physician who found that my trouble was caused by a displacement. My symptoms were: aching pains, backache, and sluggish liver. I tried several kinds of medicine; then I was asked to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has cured me and I am pleased to be in my usual good health by using it and highly recommend it."—Mrs. E. M. Osmond, 1 Haynes Park, Roxbury, Mass.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Developing the Boy and the Girl.

Of the activities encouraged and promoted by funds provided under the Agricultural Instruction Act of the Dominion none is more worthy than the improved means which have been made possible for the development of the juvenile mind. There is but one way that the boys and girls can be directed to the soil and that is by strengthening their attachment for it. This can only be accomplished by the inculcation of knowledge presented not altogether in utility fashion but in a manner that will emphasize the brightness, the wonder and the attractiveness of the work of nature.

This the boys' and girls clubs are doing; this the school fairs are doing; this the nature study classes in the public schools are doing. They encourage association and sociability in the first instance, a desire for cultivation in the second, a favourable disposition for the outdoor life in the third and an appreciation not only of the marvels, but also of the beauties of creation in the fourth. All four divisions of the work receive substantial emphasis in every province from the grants derived under the Agricultural Instruction Act. In Prince Edward Island, the sum devoted to these purposes in 1913-14, the first year the Act was in operation, was $5,235; in the third year, or 1915-16, it is $10,050. In Nova Scotia, the sum thus employed under the Act in 1913-14 was $6,700; in 1915-16 it is $10,000. In New Brunswick in the first year it was $1,800. In the third year it is $10,000. In Quebec the first year was $3,000 in the third it is $8,000. In Ontario it was $10,000, it is now $20,000. In Manitoba it was $2,000, it is this year $3,200. In Saskatchewan it is $2,100. In British Columbia, $1,000 was so used in 1913-14, but this year for boys and girls competitions, fairs, etc., and instruction in public schools, $17,000 is to be spent from the grants. It must be understood that while in some of the provinces the money is directly employed for the purposes set forth, in others it is used in other ways and the sums required for school fairs, school gardens, and so on, are received from provincial and municipal sources. The figures, however, are in themselves abundant indication of the far reaching benefits conferred by the Act.

A Young Canadian Volunteer.

It is with a source of pride that we make known in public of another of Weymouth's most brave and patriotic sons, who has volunteered to give up his services to his country and to his king against a terrible and highly organized foe.

Four years ago, P. K. Gates, of Weymouth Mills, then a mere boy of only eighteen years of age, but full of venturesome spirit and true manly courage, went west to see what the new country had in store for him. At first he engaged in harvesting during the fall months in Saskatchewan and later, wishing to be his own lord and master, absolutely, he took up a homestead in the north-west. He had no sooner made himself available of a portion of prairie land entitled to him, when more settlers came and took up other lots around him so quickly that before a year passed he was in the midst of a thriving community of Scotch and English settlers. With these people the young Canadian made many friends and they called him Kim, an abbreviation of Kimball, which is his middle name. Kim worked among his neighbors industriously to control all the means he could which he invested upon his homestead; and through this sort of industry and the loving friendship of his neighbors he was happy, during his third year, to control and own a valuable ranch, supplied with nearly all the requisite utensils for modern farming. His first crop of wheat amounted to several hundred bushels. Being a typical Canadian ranchman and encouraged with what his first crop afforded him, he determined the next year to double the amount. At this point, however, on the eve of his prosperity, war was declared and his interest became at once not on himself but for his country. He studied his second crop, however, and then determined to train at Moose Jaw.

And so it came to pass that when it was circulated over the prairie that Kim had responded to the urgent call to arms of his king and country, his neighbors for miles around came to greet him and to say farewell. They formed themselves together in a home, where a patriotic rally was given in his honor, and told him with many kind words that their interest in him would not cease but would follow him from the field of training to the field of battle. At the same time they begged of him to accept a token of esteem, which they contributed among themselves to bestow upon him handsomely. "Let us hope," said they, in bidding him good bye, "that you will be successful in your venture, and may bring you back safely to us at the close of the war for it is boys like you we need in Canada and it is the sort of men who help to build our Empire."

How Stmr. Pollentia's Crew Was Rescued.

IMPOSSIBLE TO LOWER BOATS OWING TO THE STORM—OIL WAS POURED UPON THE WATER.

Boston, Feb. 2.—After dodging ice bergs in the South Pacific Ocean, the British steamer Norman Monarch arrived today from Australian ports with 21,338 bales of wool, comprising one of the largest annual valuations of shipments of the product ever brought to Boston. The wool weighs approximately 7,000,000 pounds and is valued at about $2,500,000. In addition, the steamer brought consignments of kangaroo skins. Freight on the cargo is said to amount to $200,000.

The cargo was loaded at Brisbane, Newcastle, Sydney, Melbourne and Wellington, the steamer sailing from the latter port sixty five days ago because of the Panama Canal. The Norman Monarch had to go through the Straits of Magellan, and come up the east coast of South America, thus travelling about 5,000 miles more than would have been necessary were the Canal open.

Officers reported having sighted nearly fifty icebergs in the South Pacific, some of which were unusually large. Captain Watson estimated one to be about five miles long and about 1000 feet high. It was necessary for the steamer to change her course several times to avoid hitting any of the bergs.

Tramp Steamer Rescues Port.

SHIMOSA, FROM PHILIPPINES TO BOSTON WITH SUGAR, TRAVELLED 23,000 MILES.

Boston, Feb. 2.—A consignment of Philippine sugar brought to the greater day by the British steamship Shimosa arrived by an unusual route owing to the Panama Canal being closed to traffic. All told the boat travelled nearly 23,000 miles.

The cargo was received at San Carlos and the Shimosa crossed the Pacific, calling at Comox, B. C., to replenish her supply of fuel, it being Captain Boat's intention to proceed down the coast to the Canal. At Comox, however, it was learned that the war ferry had been closed for an indefinite period and the Shimosa headed for Boston by way of the Straits of Magellan. The ship after discharging at a South Boston refinery will go to New York to load a general cargo for China and Japan.

Barb is out 100 Days.

A reward would be willingly paid by the Lord Brothers for any information that to the whereabouts of the Italian bark Antonio d'Al, now out 100 days from Trapani, a passage she has made recently is less than half the time. Her cargo of salt is badly needed by the consignees, there being a great scarcity of that very important product, both here and at Boston. Several vessels which left the other side just before she reached Atlantic coast ports three weeks ago, and it seems probable she must have lost salt or met with some other mishap, although little apprehension is felt for her safety.—Portland Argus.

PARLIAMENT BUILDING DESTROYED BY FIRE

Bowman B. Law, M. P. For Yarmouth, Lost His Life in the Disaster.

SEVERAL LIVES WERE LOST—SPENDID STRUCTURE WAS IN FLAMES IN A FEW MINUTES—PREMIER BORDEN, OF HALIFAX, AND CLARENCE JAMESON, M. P. OF DIGBY, AMONG THOSE WHO WERE THRILLING ESCAPES

OTTAWA, Feb. 5.—Fire, which broke out in the reading room of the house of commons at nine minutes to nine Thursday night, spread with appalling rapidity and resulted two hours after in the destruction of the greater part of the magnificent Gothic building.

The library with its inestimable treasure of books and public documents, and a part of the senate wing on the east side of the magnificent parliament building were saved through fire walls and the efforts of the firemen.

The commons chamber, all the commons offices, the restaurant, the speaker's chamber, and almost the whole of the west wing were completely gutted, only the walls and a small portion of the interior of the building remaining intact.

Many valuable records in the various offices were destroyed. It will take months to repair the damage.

The loss will probably be at least $1,500,000.

The speaker's wife and a nun belonging to the nuns and female employees on the upper stories of the building had to be taken down ladders, or jump into fire nets—spread by the firemen.

Madame Morin and Madame Bray of Quebec, guests of Mr. Maurice Séguin, were caught in the speaker's chambers and perished. Their bodies were immediately removed from the burning building.

The members and the people in the gallery soon rushed out.

The minister of agriculture was severely burned. Mr. Clarke, of Red Deer, was almost asphyxiated.

Mr. Clarence Jameson, M. P. for Digby, had his hair slightly singed while escaping from the Commons Chamber as flames burst through. He also lost his overcoat.

Honorable R. L. Borden, Prime Minister, escaped without hurt or overcoat.

It is generally believed that the fire was incendiary origin, as several witnesses accused probably the agents of Germany's agents. Several arrests have been made and a thorough investigation will be held. Inquiry will also be made into charges of looting after the fire. They are directed against some of those who were supposed to act as guards and not the general public, who were rigorously excluded. A couple of hundred boxes of cigars and quantity of wines and liquors have disappeared though the part of the building where they were located was not fire proof.

Members' desks have been broken open and papers gone through. Several unaccounted checks belonging to F. B. McCurdy, M. P. have been stolen while numerous typewriters have also disappeared.

It was not until Friday morning that it was discovered that Mr. B. B. Law, member from Yarmouth, was missing. The following resolution passed by Mr. Jameson, of Digby, and Mr. B. B. Law, of Yarmouth, was passed by Mr. Law, F. B. McCurdy, J. H. Sinclair, A. K. MacLean and Dr. Chisholm was being discussed when the alarm was given:

"That whereas, fish is a nutritious and palatable article of food which abundant supplies are continually available at low prices at the seacoast and inland waters of Canada, and

Whereas, in order that an increased demand for fish might be speedily supplied in the interior markets of the country by having the government assist in the production of fish by paying a bounty on the fish, and providing more adequate transportation facilities, the prices at which fish can be sold in the interior markets seems unduly high, as compared with those received by the producer, which condition is militating against the ends in view.

"Therefore, be it resolved that, in the opinion of this House, it is desirable that an inquiry be made to determine the causes and causes of the great discrepancy in the prices of fish at the places of production and that charged at the interior markets.

"And it is further resolved, that this resolution be referred to the committee on Marine and Fisheries with instructions to consider the subject matter thereof and make such inquiry."

The resolution passed the house the next day.

TWO MORE BODIES RECOVERED

OTTAWA, Feb. 8.—Two more bodies have been recovered from the ruins of the Parliament Buildings.

They are Alphonse Desjardins, and Randolph Manning. The former was badly crushed, especially about the head. The body of B. B. Law, M. P. for Yarmouth, is now the only one to be recovered.

THE LATE B. B. LAW, M. P.

A few moments before the discovery of the fire in the evening, when Alphonse Manning, Dr. Chisholm, who was the next speaker on Mr. Jameson's resolution, saying: "Speak good and loud, so that I can hear you." He was going to a telephone to converse with a friend (who learned later was Mr. Robert Hood).

SHE RECOMMENDS "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Mrs. Corbett Read the Advertisement and Tried It

AVON, May 14th, 1914.

"I have used 'Fruit-a-tives' for Indigestion and Constipation with most beneficial results, and they continue to be my only medicine. I saw 'Fruit-a-tives' advertised in a paper in which some one recommended them very highly, so I tried them. The results were more than satisfactory, and I have no hesitation in recommending 'Fruit-a-tives'."

Time is proving that 'Fruit-a-tives' can always be depended upon to give prompt relief in all cases of Constipation and Stomach Trouble.

At a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At dealers or by post paid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

and who afterwards told Dr. Flint that Mr. Law finished his conversation and hung up the receiver. This was a moment or two before the alarm of fire was heard from again.

Bowman Brown Law was the son of William and Mary Law, and was born in Douglas, Mass., on July 29, 1855.

Not long after his birth the family moved to Yarmouth, and he was educated and brought up there, so that, but for his birth, he was a Yarmouth boy.

Leaving school he first entered the employ of the Bank of Yarmouth, but was only there a short time before he went in with his father in the grocery business.

On January 13, 1880, to Miss Agnes M. Lovitt, daughter of Captain Joseph B. Lovitt. In 1890 he was elected to the first council of the town of Yarmouth, and was a councillor for six and a half years. He was first returned to the House of Commons at the by-election on December 3, 1902, to fill the vacancy caused by the appointment of T. B. Elliot as clerk of the house of commons. He was re-elected as the minister of agriculture in 1908 and 1911, and in the last two elections took the largest majorities—839 and 1184—ever given to a candidate in Yarmouth county. For thirteen years he was a director of the Exchange Bank before that concern was taken over by the Bank of Montreal.

In religion he was a Methodist—an earnest supporter of Wesley Methodism and he was always foremost in the many fields of work of that church.

He had three children: a widow and one daughter, Miss Dorothy; also a sister, Annie M., wife of Arthur Goudy.

Owing to Mr. Law's death and pending further arrangements in regard to the contents of the house, the store will be closed until further notice.

NO INSURANCE.

A correspondent asks the COURIER why the Parliament buildings were not insured. The reason is that the government of Canada not to insure any of their public buildings. These are scattered throughout the whole country, and the insurance premiums each year would amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars.

For half a century he has been doing his own insuring, and while there have been losses from time to time, yet on the whole the saving in money has been millions of dollars in premiums.

and more, people with chest and throat troubles have tried to cure them by pouring cough syrups, lung tonics and the like into their stomachs. All a mistake! The Rem way is different.

Peps are tablets made up of Pine extracts and medicinal essences, which when put into the mouth turn into healing vapors. These are breathed down direct to the lungs, throat and bronchial tubes—not swallowed down to the stomach, which is not all right. Try a box of Peps for your cold, your cough, bronchitis or asthma. CANADA MUST GUARD

Still Warning Sounded by Toronto Globe, Because of Recent Reports.

HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF GERMAN AND AUSTRIAN RESERVISTS IN UNIT
ED STATES READY TO OBEY ORDERS
IF RAID SHOULD BE DECIDED UPON.

Canada must guard against raids by Germans from the United States, says the Toronto Globe in an editorial discussion of recent reports that the dominion is threatened by German plotters in America who are said to be provided with great numbers of rifles.

This country cannot afford to disregard these warnings, the Globe says, remembering that there are hundreds of German and Austrian reservists in the United States "who would obey unhesitatingly the orders of their superior officers to assemble on the frontier and take part in an invasion."

The Toronto Globe's editorial follows
here:
The assertion is made by The New York Herald that secret service officers of the Canadian government, working in the United States, have discovered that two hundred thousand Mauser rifles have been secretly purchased by German agents and are being shipped to points along the Canadian border.

It is further stated that scores of German army officers have arrived recently in the United States with the object of heading an armed force for the invasion of Canada.

The government and people of the dominion cannot afford to make light of this information. It may be true that the foundation—the creation of an unbalanced mind—it should prove to be true it indicates that Germany is prepared to risk war with the United States for the assistance given by this country to the cause of the Allies.

There are millions of people in the United States of German birth and descent who would gladly provide money to buy arms for an invasion of Canada. There are hundreds of thousands of German and Austrian reservists who would obey unhesitatingly the orders of their superior officers to assemble on the frontier and take part in an invasion. There are very many business men in the United States who would just as soon make a war profit by selling arms for delivery in Buffalo, Cleveland, or Detroit as for delivery in New York or Boston.

"Morse Henry" Waterson calls clannish neutrals, utterly regardless of the moral issues involved in the war, and seeing in the world's greatest tragedy only the prospect of colossal fortunes.

In face of The Herald's statements,
the government of the United States has a plain duty to perform. Even though it cannot be demonstrated that the border cities are to be used for the launching of a German raid against Canada, precautions should be taken to nip in the bud any movement of the sort. A considerable part of the regular army of the United States, and especially of the field artillery, should be located in frontier cities, so that the imperfectly trained and numerically weak State militia would not be left unaided to oppose the progress of armed Germans toward the border.

tions that exist in Belgium and Serbia

Artillery Cost to France Enormous
WHAT FINANCE MINISTER RIBOT'S AP-PROPRIATIONS FOR 1916'S SECOND QUARTER REVEAL

PARIS, February 23.—An appropriation of 7,817,000,000 francs for the second quarter of 1916 is provided in a bill introduced in the chamber of deputies today by Alexandre Ribot, minister of finance. Of this amount,
all but 657,000,000 francs is for military purposes. The amount provided in the bill is 330,000,000 francs more than was appropriated for the first quarter. Virtually all of this increase is for artillery and accessories. The estimates under this item have been increased to 2,450,000,000 francs.

Some economies have been made in other directions, so that the total for the quarter for artillery and munitions is 450,000,000 francs more than the amount for the first three months of the year, thus indicating an enormous development in this arm of the service.

The appropriation for aviation is 82,800,000 francs. In expenditure for engineering material, 43,000,000 francs is cut off; and for horses, 62,000,000 francs. This is made possible by the fact that the importation from the United States and elsewhere have reached a point sufficient to permit of purchases on a less extensive scale.

It appears from the financial portion of the bill that France has advanced to Belgium 600,000,000 francs; to Serbia, 165,000,000; to Greece, 5,000,000, and to Montenegro 400,000 francs.

The total appropriation from the beginning of the war in August, 1914, to June 30th, next, M. Ribot said, would be 44,416,000,000 francs, of which 32,449,000,000 was for purely military objects.

Interest on the public debt amounted to 3,300,000,000 francs, while allowances to the wives and families of soldiers, unemployed, and related expenses for social welfare amounted to 5,050,000,000 francs.

M. Ribot made various references to the United States. He said that up to December 31st France had realized in cash $77,340,000 from the Franco Briest loan, of which on that date
there remained in cash in New York $33,625,000. Treasury bonds at the end of December sold in Great Britain and the United States totalling 164,000, 000 francs.

M. Ribot referred to the ease with which the treasury had been able to meet all requirements.

American Manufacturers Buy

TWO MILLION DOLLARS WORTH OF MUNI-TIONS DAILY FROM U. S. TO EUROPE.

WASHINGTON, February 23.—American made war munitions now are pouring into Europe at the rate of nearly two million dollars worth daily, with the figures swelling rapidly as production increases. For a long time after the war began shipments were negligible, and not until the middle of 1915 did the millions of dollars worth of war materials contracted for begin to move in considerable quantities.

Estimates made at the department of commerce today put the total munition shipments since Europe began to purchase for the present year, close to a quarter of a billion dollars. At the rate shipments are going now the next four months would see this total doubled, even if production remained at a standstill, but production is doing so well that it is now faster now at any time since American manufacturers began the conversion of their plants into munition factories.

A great part of the munition output has been in the form of high explosive shells more than one hundred million dollars worth of which have left American shores. Powder comes next, with shipments estimated at nearly one hundred millions, and small arm cartridges are third, with 80, 000,000. Fire arms, including ordnance, are put at less than $200,000,000, with small increases shown. The heaviest month's fire arms shipment was in January, 1915, when more than $2,000,000 worth went to Europe.

A few days after a farmer had sold a pig to a neighbor he chanced to pass his place and saw his little boy sitting on the edge of the pigpen watching it eat.

"How'd y'e do, Johnny?" said he.
"Oh, pretty well, thank you," replied the boy. "How'd all your folk?"

How He Would Treat Him

A class of raw recruits was being put through an examination in first aid work. At last it came to the turn of the answer. "Now, pa," said the instructor, "supposing a man were to fall down in a drunken fit, how would you treat him?" "Faith, sir," replied Pa, "O' wouldn't treat him at all. I'd consider he had had enough."

CORRESPONDENCE.

A Letter From Sir Frederick Fraser
Re Recruiting.

Halifax, N. S., Feb. 19, 1916.

To the Editor of the Courier:
Sir—Among the many products of Nova Scotia there is none of which the people are more proud than her splendid manhood. Her sons are intelligent, industrious and brave and have shown positions of responsibility in our own and other lands. But never has this manhood received a more urgent and noble demand upon its resources. Canada has authorized an army of a half a million men. This is a tremendous but glorious demand upon our resources. 3,000 of these must be raised at once in Nova Scotia. Our Province has given generously already a fair share of our sons who have been successful abroad have flicked home to join the colours. Now comes the demand for every available man. Nothing is any longer of consequence but to win out and to obtain security and freedom for the future.
In this appeal the Recruiting Committee rely with implicit confidence upon that patriotic co-operation that the press and the people among others, have given, since the very inception of the war.

The arrangements for enlistment are most attractive. The new recruits are to be bracketed in a Highland Brigade along with the 83rd, one of the finest bodies of men ever gathered on our shores. The very act of enlistment is a step toward a new career and a shot will do something to hasten the victory. The enemy is surveying with envious eyes the swelling ranks of the British Army. The moral effect of a universal response would be stupendous. We join in drilets, no one can tell how long the agony will endure; if we all join together, the end is in sight. The enemy is overwhelmed. There are glens in Scotland without a man, shall it be so in Nova Scotia? Never has cause been more honourable, never has duty been so deadly. Life, love and liberty are at stake; the ruin of Belgium and Serbia must be averted. Therefore "For all we have and are

For all our children's fate
Stand up and meet the war
The line is at the door."

Yours faithfully,
C. FREDERICK FRASER,
Acting Chairman Nova Scotia
Recruiting Association.

Of Special Interest

THIS IMPORTANCE OF RIFLE SHOOTING, AND THE TARGET PRACTICE ROD.

(From the Canadian Military Gazette.)
In the Franco British wars of the Middle Ages the British were not because they were better, but because of their better skill in the use of the bow, the rifle, so to speak, of that day.
In the present war the importance of accuracy in rifle shooting has been overestimated, and anything that will promote marksmanship must not be overlooked.

In his recent speech, the Minister of the Militia proudly stated that the First Contingent sent to the front better riflemen than any body of troops of equal length of training.

There can be no doubt about it, this excellence on the part of our soldiers is largely due to the use of the target practice rod, a device adopted before the outbreak of the war, about which that excellent old British service paper, the "Army and Navy Gazette," has this to say—

"The target practice rod, invented by Mr. Readson, and patented and sold by the Target Practice Rod Company, Ltd., of 11, Victoria Street, S. W., has been for some little time before the public in this country without attracting the notice of the official attention which both in Canada and in America the invention has for at least six years been officially adopted for the use of the military forces by the Department of Militia and Defence of Canada, and the Board of Ordnance and Fortifications of the War Department of the United States. In view of the fact that the target practice rod has been approved of by so high an authority as Lord Roberts, and by so thoroughly military and well known a rifle shot as the late Mr. Omondson, we looked on a citizen, who was for many years on the staff of the British Army, to make a thorough, respectful, and invention and to give us his opinion about it."

He says: "The apparatus is very simple, consisting of a hollow brass tube inserted in the barrel of the Ordnance Service rifle, and containing a needle-pointed target actuated by the striker on pressing the trigger. The rifle, fitted with the target, is placed about 6 ft. from the special miniature target provided, upon which the hit is indicated by the needle point and above mentioned. The target practice rod teaches the rifleman to aim correctly, to keep his sights on his object, and properly to press the trigger; for instructional purposes in barrack rooms it is so simple that it is capable of taking the place of an aim corrector, and gives an accurate record of the result of each pressure of the trigger; it affords unlimited and valuable rifle practice at a merely nominal cost, and seems admirably adapted for the instruction of the new men now joining our armies." Canada has ordered its issue at the rate of one for every ten men of the regular army, and for each squadron or company; America has directed the issue of ten target practice rods to each company and troop in the United States Army. Our War Office has exhibited its usual cynicism, and has refused to issue them, and it is apparently, will so far have none of it. Possibly it is considered that with the rifle shot is produced ready made on the ground, or even "spontaneous" like the buildings of E. E. City.

We know of one commanding officer of a Canadian corps who refused to acquire for the rods to which he was entitled because, he said, "I have more than enough stores to keep me out of now." Such a stand, on such a subject, is little less than criminal. We know that the benefit of the rods is doubt, and impute his action to ignorance of the great value of what he is refusing. The rods are not these rods should be issued by the military department to all C. E. F.
battalions, and that the new men now joining—our infantry corps should not be more without them than without rifles and bayonets.

"HEAL SORES"

To heal sores, don't mean to heal over the outer skin, only to have the sores break out again. Real healing, means going to the root of the trouble and curing from the base upward. That is why Zam-Buk heals, and that is why
Zam-Buk cures are lasting.

Zam-Buk, as soon as applied to a sore, commences three processes.
It soothes the pain by drawing out the inflammation. Being a strong germicide, it thoroughly cleanses the sore by destroying all germs;
and then by its marvelous healing power, it promotes the growth of new, healthy tissue. As the new tissue gradually develops, it casts off the old, until the diseased patch is replaced by new, healthy flesh.

Directed by this unique method of healing, Zam-Buk cures are thorough and permanent. Send this

THOUSANDS OF NOVA SCOTIA GIRLS EMPLOYED IN THE UNITED STATES.

[Written Specially for the Courier]

The statistics of the United States Department of Labor issued in Oct. 1915 in that part of its report relating to the employment of women and girls in the shoe industry in the State of Massachusetts, states that there are thousands who come every year from Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island.

If there are thousands who come every year to engage in the shoe industry there must also be thousands who come to enter other fields of labor.

Why do they come? Do they gain anything by coming? How do they live and where? What have they to live on? These are questions that concern you and me vitally as it concerns them. Their problem is everybody's problem and we are living in an age or generation which does not believe in solving a problem with a platitude. And as one of our writers has said, "the fact that she must work is one of the weaknesses of our modern civilization." "The fact that she has strength that should be conserved against the day of wifehood and motherhood should be expended in piling up profits for rich corporations is a social disaster."

"But she is caught in the grind of greed. Wants multiply, the cost of living increases and until such time as the wage earner of the family can secure enough for his toil to meet the demands of rent, clothing, food, education and all the other necessities of life, the girlhood of the country is condemned to hard labor." Duties await her that cannot be performed by a body broken down or prematurely aged. "And since she is not responsible for a social system which sentences her to work she has a right to demand certain things in return." "She may be only a cog in a vast machine, but she is a living cog and she has a right to demand that the conditions under which she works shall be sanitary, hygienic and safe."

Under the present system of factory inspection conditions have greatly improved in these respects, but that there is still room for vast improvement in the matter of safety, it is only necessary to recall what is known as the "Triangle Fire" in New York City a few years ago when more than 100 girls were killed by jumping out of the four and five story windows to escape being burned to death. Also another fire in a clothing factory in Williamsburgh last October when 20 girls were burned to death. There are so many girls coming from the Province to work in the shoe factories of Massachusetts we will try and state briefly the conditions under which they live, the wages they receive and the expenses of living.

The city of Lynn with a population of 100,000 being what is termed a "shoe city" we will take that as an illustration. The social status of the women in shoe factories in Lynn is variously estimated. A recent investigator states on one page that women inevitably lose caste by working in a shoe factory, and on another page that "America may well take pride in this class of wage earners."

If these opposing statements were less inclusive, both might be true.

In nearly every quarter of Lynn the lodging house is prominent. The prices for rooms are uniformly high, though conditions vary. Convenience of location, however, is a factor and prices range from $2.50 to $5.50 a week for small rooms shabbily furnished and with wretched artificial light.

Restaurants or "dining houses" are also numerous. The usual price for meals is $3.00 to $3.50 per week. The former price generally for women and the latter for men.

Thus for a fairly decent room and tolerable food not less than $5.00 to $7.00 a week must be paid. As the price for food cannot be cut down, women making $8.00 a week or less will try to cut down on the room.

This is frequently done by sharing a room with another worker. The average annual cost of living, of the supporting women as estimated by the Washington Minimum Wage Commission, is as follows:

Room and meals.....	$32.82
Shoes and rubbers.....	7.12
Repairs of shoes.....	3.42
Stockings.....	2.17
Underwear.....	2.77
Petticoats.....	2.17
Suit.....	17.63
Cost.....	10.36
Dresses and aprons.....	14.53
Shirt waists.....	4.38
Handkerchiefs.....	1.18
Corsets.....	2.17
Corset Covers.....	1.24
Gloves.....	2.33
Neckwear.....	1.80
Hats.....	6.75
Umbrella.....	1.40
Repairs of clothing.....	3.83
Laundry.....	21.47
Medicine and dentistry.....	25.42
Street car fares.....	32.39
Newspapers, magazines, etc.....	11.36
Stationery and postage.....	4.64
Association dues.....	3.78
Life insurance.....	3.05
Vacation expenses.....	10.54
Amusements.....	9.86
Church and other contributions.....	5.12
Incidentals.....	4.71
Total	$520.00

or at the rate of $10.00 a week.

Now let us try and see how much she earns. If she has had no previous training or experience she will have to learn the trade. For her there are but two places where she can learn shoemaking—the factory or the shoe school. The great majority learn the process in the factory, yet the school as the formal and definite method, deserves first consideration.

The seven most remunerative processes are open to men only. Vamping, foxing, tip stitching and last stitching are the skilled processes practiced by both men and women.

The factory is the cost of tuition in the shoe school and the time required to learn.

Cost of tuition.....

Skiving.....

Vamping.....

Fixing and tip stitching.....

Top stitching.....

Seaming and backstaying.....

Stitching linings.....

Patent leather repairing.....

The time necessary to learn processes in the factory is difficult to estimate, varying as it does with every operator and with every learner. To quote the skilled worker, "it all depends on how smart you are."

And now as to wages and earnings. The average earnings of 26,875 women employed in the manufacture of boots and shoes in the State of Massachusetts based on the returns made by manufacturers to the State Bureau of Statistics was ten dollars and thirty cents weekly. It must be remembered that this is for actual working time. When time lost on account of the slack season, holidays, etc., is taken into consideration it will be seen the average for the year will not be that much. There are a great many details in a subject of this kind which it is impossible to enter into, but the figures which I have given will give some idea of the conditions.

The average weekly wage is $10.39 it naturally follows that some of the workers must receive less than that amount, perhaps as little as $6 and $7. With living expenses at $10.00 a week, how are they going to exist on $6 or $7?

Consequently the question naturally arises, does it pay these girls to leave home and friends and everything which makes life worth living and go away to a strange place where they will have none of the pleasures of home, no social or spiritual advantages and few opportunities for recreation.

Let the one who has any idea of doing so pause and consider.

There are numerous and wonderful opportunities in the United States for the trained and skilled worker in some vocations or professions, but boot and shoe making is not one of them; and the uneducated or untrained worker who comes here expecting to support herself decently from the start is trying to do the impossible.

Please God the time is coming when out of the past will emerge a "Perfect Day," when under a new and better social system the problem of the just and equitable distribution of great accumulated wealth will have been solved and the worker will receive a fair reward for his labor and will be able to keep out daughters at home until they leave it to go into a home of their own.

MR. JOHN MCPHERSON OF THE P. E. I. RAILWAY, RETIRES ON A PENSION

[From a Charlottetown Paper.]

Mr. John McPherson, who has been one of the employees of the Mechanical Department of the Prince Edward Island Railway for nearly thirty years, is now retiring on a pension. Wednesday he was waited upon in the Railway Works by his fellow employees and presented with a purse of money and the following address, read by Mr. Peter McQuinn, Mechanical Foreman: "Mr. John McPherson, Dear Sir—We, the employees of the Mechanical Department, on behalf of the P. E. I. Railway, wish to accept the accompanying purse, not for its value, but as a slight token of esteem in which you are held, and our expressions are that you may long be spared to enjoy the fruits of your labor."

Signed on behalf of the Employees of the Mechanical Department, Mr. McPherson heartily thanked his fellow workers for their kind gifts and was highly appreciated. Though retiring from active service he shall not soon forget his friends in this city.

To Take Over N. S. Oyster Areas.

A special meeting of the stockholders of the Shemogue Oyster Company was held on Wednesday afternoon to consider a proposition from the N. S. Oyster Co. of Nova Scotia to sell the New Brunswick oyster areas to the Shemogue Oyster Company.

These barren bottoms for the cultivation of oysters, which have been in the hands of the Pictou and Colchester, N. S. The Nova Scotia lease covers an area of about 6,000 acres of barren bottoms. It is the intention of the Shemogue Oyster Co. to commence the seeding of these areas under the same terms as the Shemogue Oyster Co. has adopted in regard to the New Brunswick areas and which has been so successfully carried out. Those present at the meeting were Messrs. H. O'Leary, Richibucto, Capt. M. G. Siddall, Port E. L. P. G. Mahoney, Melrose, M. Lodge and W. F. Humphrey.

The Shemogue Oyster Co. has only been cultivating oysters for two seasons and it is expected to market some next year.

A Good Marine Story.

The April number of Adventure Magazine, published by the Ridgway Co., Spring and Macdonald streets, New York and now on sale contains an excellent marine story by Mr. Frederick Wm. Wallace, of Hudson, N. Y., editor of the Canadian Fisherman, entitled "Dory-mates." It tells about the Newfoundland Banks in an open boat. Two men, a deep-sea fisherman, one hating the other as a loser can hate a winner, and a chance shot at a "get even," written by a deep sea man.

VIOLENT ATTACKS OF DYSPEPSIA

Suffered Tortures Until She Tried "Fruit-a-lives"

ST. JEAN DE MATHE, Jan. 27th, 1914.

"After suffering for a long time with Dyspepsia, I have been made well by 'Fruit-a-lives.' I suffered so much that at last I would not dare to eat for I was afraid of dying. Five years ago, I received samples of 'Fruit-a-lives' and after taking them I felt relief. Then I sent for three boxes and I kept improving until I was well. I quickly regained my lost weight—and now I eat, sleep and digest well—in a word, I am fully recovered, thanks to 'Fruit-a-lives.'"

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

The Fence No Strain Can Sag

Maritime Fence remains taut and trim after years and years of hard usage. It simply cannot sag or get out of shape. Made from extra-heavy imported hard-drawn steel wire, thicker, stronger, and galvanized so it is steel-proof.

Maritime Fences are tested rigidly before leaving our factory. We know they will withstand far greater strains than any they are likely to endure. The simple lock with the bull-dog grip—never lets go.

Our Fencing is made from Standard Gauge Wire. Other makers use SCANT WIRE. WE DON'T. Full weight, full measure, 16 oz. to the pound in every case. It would pay you to act as our agent.

Send for new offer and our latest Maritime Fence Book.

BERTIN, Feb. 29 (Special)—The Gef man. Crown Prince last evening was having a nice little chat with his father, the butcher of Potomac, and apropos of nothing said:

"Father, who started this war?"

"I know," said his father, playfully, "I would tell you."

"Did Cousin George start it?" persisted the youth without a chin.

"No!" said Father.

"Did Cousin Nicholas?"

"No!" said Papa.

"Did Francis Joseph?"

"No!" said the Old Man.

"Well, who did, then?"

"I will tell you, son! You remember Teddy Roosevelt came out of Central Africa and called on us several years ago and I showed him our magnificent army; I showed him our great and glorious navy; I showed him the Zeppes and the submarines and the gas bags, and Teddy greatly impressed, slapped me on the back and said:

"Bill, my boy, you can lick the world—and, like a d— fool, I believed him."

are you aware that old sores and ulcers, that have defied all other treatments, will yield to Zamb-Buk? Mr. Gelfert, of London, N. S., suffered from a bad leg for ten years. Doctors could do nothing for him, but Zamb-Buk cured him. Mrs. Gelfert writes:

"For ten years I suffered from a bad leg caused by a broken vein, which is the most stubborn sore to heal. I had treatment from several doctors, all of whom finally acknowledged that the case was beyond them. I used many ointments, some of which did me good for a time, healing over the open skin, but the sore always broke out again. Then I used Zamb-Buk, and I could soon see an improvement. Zamb-Buk penetrated to the root of the trouble, as the other ointments had failed to do. With perseverance Zamb-Buk completely and permanently healed the sore."

Zamb-Buk is just as good for eczema, abscesses, blood-poisoning, piles, ringworm, chapped hands, chilblains, cold sores, cuts, burns, and all skin injuries. All druggists, 66c. box, 2 for $1.25, or post free from Zamb-Buk Co., Toronto.

GIN PILLS

FOR THE KIDNEYS

Regulate Kidneys AND Relieve Constipation

Gin Pills are acknowledged to have the largest sale of any proprietary medicine in Canada—its achievement being due to its remarkable action on a Kidney and Bladder remedy.

Users of Gin Pills have discovered that this invaluable remedy also acts as a mild cathartic. The action of hundreds of letters we have received establishes the very logical fact that in expelling a medicine to the bowels and thus upon the kidneys and bladder certain ailments are relieved, a beneficial effect upon the organs, especially the bowels.

It is important to know that Gin Pills do not act as a stimulant, but as a gentle restorative of the function. Try Gin Pills for constipation, and this remedy will be found to be a most valuable self-aid against possible kidney trouble.

Gin Pills come in a box, or in boxes for $2.50 at your dealer's. A trial treatment will be given upon request.

MORE INFORMATION AS TO THE THOUSANDS OF YOUNG WOMEN GOING TO THE UNITED STATES EVERY YEAR FOR JOBS IN THE NEW SERVICE AND ABROAD—EDWARD BELAND.

(Written for the Courier.)

There comes a time in many homes when owing to adverse circumstances and lack of sufficient incomes the mother of the household feels it necessary to leave home and go out into the world to support herself and perhaps contribute something toward the support of the family at home.

It is a case that will grip the hearts of thousands of the conditions prevailing among women who work and are not of wages paid in the different trades or occupations.

The information which is being given here has been obtained from the study of the results of the investigations of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, which have proved conclusively that half the workers in the United States are not getting the wages to sustain themselves and their families.

The rate received by many establishments is not based on the cost of the goods, but on the needs or efficiency of the worker, not upon the capacity of the business to pay.

The statistics of the Department of Labor at Washington show that there is in the United States a vast number of women who are not getting the wages to sustain themselves and their families.

These girls are generally referred to as the "girls on the fringe line." The girls earning from $5 to $10 a week, who are not getting the wages to sustain themselves and their families.

Climbing the Military Ladder by Sheer Merit

A SKETCH OF MAJOR E. C. PHINNEY, JUNIOR MAJOR, 55TH OVERSEAS BATTALION, TEMPORARY OFFICER COMMANDING THE 219TH BATTALION.

[Halifax Herald]

Nothing is so picturesque or evokes so much human interest as the rapid rise of a young man to high and important positions. This is true of a civilian and truer of a soldier. A noteworthy instance of the latter, is the promotion of Major E. C. Phinney, Junior Major of the 55th Overseas Battalion, C. E. F., and temporary Officer Commanding the 219th Battalion.

Major Phinney is a young man, having been born at Bear River, Annapolis county, Nova Scotia, about 25 years ago. He measures up splendidly to the physique, mind, energy, and spirit of the classic race of which he is a son on the Irish side of descent. A six footer, every inch of his body compacted of sound bone and muscle, it might have been expected that he was born to be a stalwart athlete and a leader of men. His career is proof of the fact.

In his youth he began to show the qualities of foresight, energy, and ambition to succeed. When the late Lord Strathcona subsidized cadet military training in the Nova Scotia public schools, Major Phinney, then a mere youth, took so great an active interest in the training and perfected himself so rapidly in the manual and drill that he was soon marked for promotion. This came to him in August 1909, when he was gazetted Lieutenant in the Corps of School Cadets for instruction.

Coming to Halifax, he engaged in teaching, and later entered the Law School of Dalhousie University in 1911 and articulated himself with Messrs. Covert and Pearson, barristers. It was while teaching in Halifax and a student at Dalhousie that Major Phinney disclosed athletic prowess and gifts as a leader of men. He developed into a strong, dashing forward, playing first with the Wanderers, with whom he went to Montreal to contest the Rugby Championship of Canada with McGill University's rugby rollers.

Afterwards he was forward with the Dalhousie team. While at the law school he received several distinctions, being elected president of the Dalhousie Amateur Athletic Association and the student's Council. His outstanding service to Dalhousie was the organization and promotion of the rapid fire campaign for a Students' building to cost $50,000. It was a huge undertaking, the students themselves doing, under the direction of the organizer, all the selling. In the interests of the campaign, Major Phinney established pro tempore, The Dalhousian—a bright, convincing sheet. He entered into the movement with enthusiasm and all his tireless energy, and the work of getting subscriptions progressed so well that funds amounting to $20,000 were soon available. The required $50,000 would in all likelihood have been subscribed, had not the current war made further soliciting of subscriptions futile.

When the war broke out, Major Phinney joined the 63rd Halifax Rifles as lieutenant. At the end of three months, connection with the 63rd, he was called by Lieutenant Colonel Thompson, now A. A. G., 6th Division Halifax, to assist in organizing the Canadian Corps T. C. (The Canadian O. T. C.) Later he enlisted for overseas service and joining the 40th Battalion with the rank of lieutenant, was given the task of organizing the detail of the battalion, which he accomplished with marked efficiency. He was placed later in charge of a detachment of 100 men at Digby, and after putting them through such training as time permitted, took them to the Valcartier Camp, Quebec, for the finishing touches before they sailed for the English training camp. His soldierly qualities, his gifts for organization and his stick to it until finished energy had by this time been observed by high officers looking for men of Major Phinney's kind. And when Lieutenant Colonel Allison H. Borden began organizing the 55th Overseas Battalion, Nova Scotia Highlanders, Major Phinney then lieutenant was one of the very first men he called, and appointed him Adjutant, with a rank of Captain. So efficient has his work been in every department of his activities that recently he was promoted to the rank of Major and given the post of Junior Major of the 55th Overseas Battalion, C. E. F. This promotion was immediately followed by his appointment as temporary Officer Commanding the 219th Battalion, while remaining Junior Major of the 55th.

Major Phinney's extraordinary qualities of mind and body, and his soldierly manliness and deportment are appreciated by all ranks in the Nova Scotia Highlanders, and he is deservedly popular.

Said a prominent Dalhousie alumnus who knows him well—Major Phinney is one of the biggest men—biggest in every sense—that Dalhousie has turned out in the last decade. "And a brother officer in the 55th Battalion thus commented on his qualities:—If Major Phinney is given a job to do, he does it. This is his most noteworthy characteristic—when he undertakes any work he goes through with it, cleans up the task thoroughly and well. To him, regarded from the point of view of his present gifts and military status, may be applied the latin dictum, vir optimus est—a man of the very greatest promise. For he has risen to his present rank solely by sheer merit.

Turkey Seeking Peace

A London despatch says:—The most widely discussed war topic today is reported advances made by Turkey in seeking peace with Russia. No official advice of such an enterprise have been received here, it was learned, but from the nature of the reports reaching London regarding the state of internal affairs in Turkey, no one would be surprised if such a request were made at any time.

The prevailing opinion is that in the event of such overtures being made to Russia they would be promptly refused. Russia's opportunity to crush Turkey, for which she has waited and fought for years, is nearer now than ever, and with the Grand Duke's armies meeting with success, to enter into such negotiations at this time would seem out of the question. There is also the bond of unity among the Allies which Russia would cover if she lent an ear to peace proposals. At the Russian Embassy this afternoon an official declared:—

"Russia would not consider any peace offers unless they were made simultaneously to all the Allies."

March Rod and Gun.

March Rod and Gun has an interesting table of contents for the lover of outdoor life. Bonycastle Dale contributes the leading article on "The New Sport for the Spring Duck Shooter." E. Williams writes of "Him's Fox." B. J. Fraser the "Men who can't come back." Norman Lett describes a "Three Weeks' Canoe Trip in Algoquin Park;" and E. O. Perrin contributes the story of "Blanchard's Trap," the hero in which sets out to capture a bear and succeeds in landing an even more valuable and quite unexpected prize. There are other stories as good as these and besides the regular departments devoted to Guns and Ammunition, Fishing Notes, The Trap, The Kennel, etc. are calculated to attract sportsmen who are interested in matters of this kind. Rod and Gun is published by W. J. Taylor, Woodstock, Ont.

DIGBY WEEKLY COURIER
Digby, March 24, 1916

DIGBY'S TOURIST BUSINESS
One of the most important matters before Digby today is her standing as a summer resort. Up to about three years ago Digby's tourist business had been continually on the increase during the past quarter of a century. In other words the hotel accommodation had been increased every year and every August all the hotels and boarding houses were full until our visitors numbered more than a thousand and Digby's income was at least $3,000 per day.

Yet it could be noticed that many of our citizens were not boosters and we would often be obliged to contradict the remark that "There are no many tourists here this year as last." These remarks would generally occur during the latter part of June, at which time the rush never started until after the "famous Fourth of July."

All these years Digby had celebrated, water sports, etc., to entertain her visitors, row boats to let day time and evenings, and other forms of amusement.

These celebrations were carried on without any assistance from the summer hotel proprietors and those directly interested in the tourist business. Our merchants and other enterprising citizens got tired of this work which was evidently not being supported by those who should be interested, with the result that all matters of this nature were dropped with the exception of the Western Nova Scotia Yacht Club, which continues to be a live organization. However, the tourists are always surprised to learn that the membership roll does not contain the name of one summer hotel proprietor, although one of our leading commercial hotel men is a very active member.

During the years of no special entertainment for our summer visitors the business began to fall off, and it will probably be some time before some of our biggest hotels are again filled during the summer season.

There has been no perceptible falling off at what we consider Digby's best advertised summer hotel and cottages and the proprietor informs us that he is again looking forward to a big season. But what about the other hotel men, what are they doing to boost Digby as a summer resort?

We can point toward a number of public spirited citizens, who have not a dollar invested in the summer tourist business, who are doing more for Digby today than, with perhaps one or two exceptions, all the summer hotel men put together.

It is through these gentlemen that Mr. R. Parker, general passenger agent of the Dominion Atlantic Railway, has been asked to come to Digby and give a talk in the Bijou Dream theatre on "The Tourist Travel and its Commercial Significance," dealing in general terms with the situation in Digby and elsewhere. Mr. Parker expects to address all who have sufficient interest to be present, in the Bijou Dream theatre next Thursday evening, March 30th, at the same time throwing on the curtain several dozen stereoscopic views, illustrating what has been done elsewhere for the entertainment of tourists.

We wish also to call special attention to an article on the 5th page of today's COURIER reprinted from the March 9th issue of the Maritime Merchant.

The Digby Golf Links were opened last year by a number of our enterprising citizens. This is indeed a valuable asset to any summer resort. Are the promoters getting the proper encouragement from those who are directly interested in the summer tourist business? We are afraid not, but we believe that those in power will make a success of it and we assure our readers that they deserve the support of every hotel and business man in our town.

Milbury, of Beaufort, N.B., on September 12, 1912. He has a wife and two children, a son and a daughter.

Women Once Invalids

Now in Good Health Through Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Say it is Household Necessity. Doctor Called it a Miracle.

All women ought to know the wonderful effects of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound even on those who seem hopelessly ill. Here are three actual cases:

Harrisburg, Penn.—When I was single I suffered a great deal from female weakness because I was unable to do any kind of work. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for that I was made stronger by its use. After I was married I took the Compound again for a female ailment and after three months I passed what the doctor called a growth. He said it was a miracle. It came away as one generally goes under a knife to have them removed. I never want to go without your Compound in the house."—Mrs. F. E. Yost, 611 Water St., Harrisburg, Penn.

Hardly Able to Move.
Albert Lea, Minn.—For about a year I had sharp pains across my back and hips and was hardly able to move around the house. My head would spin and I was often sick to my stomach. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, I am feeling stronger than for years. I have a little boy eight months old and am doing my work all alone. I would not be without your remedies in the house as there are none like them."—Mrs. F. E. Yost, 611 Water St., Albert Lea, Minn.

Three Doctors Gave Her Up.
Pittsburg, Penn.—My medicine has helped me wonderfully. When I was a girl 18 years old I was always sickly and delicate and suffered from irregularities. Three doctors gave me up and said I would go into consumption. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and with the third bottle began to feel better. I soon became regular and I got strong and shortly after I was married. Now I have two nice stout healthy children and am able to work hard every day."—Mrs. C. E. Clementine, Duaneville, 24 Gardner St., Troy Hill, Pittsburg, Pa.

All women are invited to write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for special advice—it will be confidential.

They can't slip with the bull-dog grip

Many farmers are surprised to find Maritime fencing, even when it has been up for a number of years, remarkably free from loose or broken sections and fences. Examination shows, however, that the Maritime Bull-dog back holds the joints so rigidly that they cannot give or pull out of shape, and because we use standard bar, strong, "square" wire—No. 6 heavily galvanized—they are able to stand the daily stress of wind and tear without breaking.

Maritime fence is always tight, always straight, and always efficient. It is a bull-dog grip, and dog-tight, because it is made to withstand for years without any of it being to change. It gives you all that you can expect in a wire fence at a reasonable price.

Before you buy or even select your fence, learn first what the Maritime has to offer in the way of REAL horse service. A postal brings our illustrated catalogue with full details.

Household Hints

When frying fish of any kind, put a little salt in the oil. The reason for this is that when it is hot, the fish can then be easily turned without breaking.

When putting a layer of fat on a piece of meat, lay it on one side. Invert one or two toothpicks around the outer edge and leave until the fat is set, when they may be easily removed.

To remove a scorch from linen, cut an onion in half and rub the scorched part with it and then soak it in cold water.

Put a little salt in the starch and it will not "freeze out" of the clothes when they are hung out to dry in cold weather.

When the cream is too thick to whip, add the unbeaten white of an egg. You will have no trouble whipping the cream.

To prevent the under crust of a pie from soaking the fruit, brush it over with a thin layer of butter.

When brushing a velvet hat, slightly dampen the brush first, and the dust will come off twice as quickly.

Comphor will remove fruit stains from table linen. Before the linen goes into the wash go over the spots with comphor.

Rub finger marks from doors with a clean piece of flannel dipped in kerosene oil. Afterwards wipe with a clean cloth wrung out in hot water to take away the smell.

This is better than using soap and water, as it does not destroy paint.

Not a Good Soldier.
"Take him I freely give him to you, content to his enlistment, and commend him to you as a good fighting man. But if he serves his country he serves his wife, God save this noble land of ours."

This is an excerpt from a letter sent by a woman of Hushwood, N. Y., to the United States Marine Corps, expressing her desire to see her husband in the service of Uncle Sam.

She had written to him in the past to a letter asking if he had any objection to the enlistment of her husband in the sea service of Uncle Sam.

Upon receipt of the letter, the sergeant rejected as undesirable the Hushwood applicant who sought to exchange martial love for martial skill.

It was only the changing of one letter for another that was the result of the war. The wife at Hushwood had put an everlasting crimp in the martial ambitions of her spouse, and it now remains to be seen whether he will stick to that letter "back where it belongs" and keep the obligations that he bound himself to when he married the woman years ago.

The statement that the wife made to the recruiting sergeant is true the world over. The man who is drafted to his wife at home is not a good soldier in land or sea, in business, in profession, or in any trade. He doesn't even make a loveable vagabond—and there are some vagabonds that are loveable still.

Feminine Logic

Helena annoyed her father with questions while he tried to read the newspaper. One evening among other things she demanded, "Papa, what do you do at the store all day?"

"Oh," he answered briefly, "nothing."

Helena was silent a moment, and then asked, "But how do you know when you are done?"

A Different Reason

"What bright eyes you have!" said the visitor to five year old Tommy.

"You must get plenty of sleep!" "Yes," he answered. "My mamma makes me go to bed every night at eight o'clock."

"That's to keep you healthy," said the visitor.

"No, it isn't," replied the youngster. "It's so she can mend my clothes."

Strangers in the Town

A little girl whose parents had recently moved from country to town, and who is now enjoying her first experience in living in a street, said:

"This is a very queer place. Next door is fastened to our house."

Her younger brother added his impression by declaring: "I like to live where the sidewalks have edges."

Why? Sure We Do!

"Which do you love best—your papa or your mamma?"

"Little Charlie—I love papa most. Charlie's mother—Why, Charlie, I am surprised at you. I thought you loved me most!"

Charlie—Can't help it, mamma, we men have to hold together.

Kept the Secret

"Madam," shouted the angry neighbor, "your little Reginald has just broken a brick through our window!"

"And would you bring me the brick?" beamed Reginald's mother. "We are keeping all the little mementoes of his pranks!"

Like Her Daddy's
Her mother sent four year old Edna to the store to get a new mantle for the vestibule. But Edna forgot the name of the article and said she wanted "a little postcard for the gas."

The Fatalist
"No darling you mustn't have any more pudding; you will be ill!" Little Gerrie (after due thought)—Well, give me another piece—and send for the doctor.

WOMAN LIKES

To preserve her complexion. At this time of year, despite the raw, biting winds and sudden changes of temperature, this is an easy task if she uses Zam-Buk.

Zam-Buk is a skin food, that not only keeps the surface skin smooth and soft, but, being of animal penetrating power, reaches and feeds the underlying tissues. It stimulates the cells to healthy action, produces vigorous circulation, which carries away all impurities, and thus creates a permanently clear complexion. How much more satisfying than a temporary complexion produced with the aid of powders and cosmetics!
