

Welcome to the Digital DIGBY COURIER

100th Birthday

The hundredth anniversary of the Digby Weekly Courier has brought to mind some fond memories as contained in the following historical chapter of the writer. But first, I wish to congratulate the current editor of the Courier, Mrs. J.M. (Edith) Wallis, for a job well done over the years and still being well done, good service rendered with great fortitude.

According to any record, I have at hand, the Digby Courier, in one hundred years of publication, was controlled under the same family management for 42 years, 1931 to 1973, under the control of Wallis Print Limited. The late J.J. Wallis became editor of The Courier the second time, in 1929, and at the same time of the business, which he had been running for some years previously and which became Wallis Print Limited sometime between 1929 and 1931.

I well remember the last year of the twenties when I worked in the office of the son with the husband and father of the late J.J. Wallis, the Courier. Sometime in 1928 or early 1929, the late J.M. Wallis (Mac), son of "J.J." engaged me to work every day after school hours, Saturdays, and for some months after finishing school. The place of work was in the building of the present Digby town hall on First Avenue. J.J. Wallis then worked occasionally at the print shop but mostly across the street at the Courier office which was then located on land in the general area where The Royal Bank of Canada is now.

Wallis Job Print operated in 1929 with a staff of four consisting of J.J. Wallis, J.M. Wallis, Miss Eva Haynes, who later became Mrs. George Kicup, and myself. I was engaged as a printer in the left Eva's job was to run the printing plant but mostly at the Courier office. "Mac" worked nearly full time at all the different jobs at the Job Print, and I worked at various duties, most of the time being spent at operating printing presses.

We worked ten-hour days, six days a week. "J.J." and "Mac" sometimes worked overtime. I worked only the regular hours being paid a weekly wage which was comparatively good for those times and my lack of experience. I received four or five dollars a week for working after school hours to six o'clock and on Saturday all day, and nine dollars a week for full weeks after finishing school. A two or three dollar a week raise was offered to me in the fall of 1929 for me to stay on at printing, but I had made up my mind to enter a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, starting salary of $300. The bank salary figured out about the same per hour as for the printing job. Nevertheless, the congenial atmosphere of the printing plant those days, and, experience however short, were helpful and appreciated by me.

"J.J." was very jovial in his occasional trip to the Job Print and did considerable kidding all in good fun. "Mac" was a witty person who mixed in a good natured sarcasm now and then for one reason or another. Eva most always had good answers to all the kidding she was called upon to take, and, generally held her own in a quiet sort of way, always busy setting type. We four all got along very well indeed. However, I do remember that some days did seem long and weary because of the monotony of some repetitious jobs.

In spite of the great demand for printing those last boom days of the twenties, business generally being brisk, it looked to me that people had to work long and hard to make any decent profit. There was including treatment of the hands. However, nails and finger ends were used and I was soon back to work.

Now and then a printing job had a dose on parchment paper which required a special kind of printers' ink which smelled very bad those days. I always dreaded it when "Mac" would do that job on the largest press, in spite of the fact that we always opened an outside door to lessen the effects on the constitution.

One of the jobs I had to do, being the junior and printers' devil on the staff, was to clean up now and then. One day not long after I started my job at the printing plant, I decided to clean the floor that apparently hadn't been cleaned in some considerable time.

"J.J." came along and said, "how are you making out Vince?" I assured him that I thought I was beginning to see the floor. "J.J." laughed very heartily, he thought the remark pretty good and suitable.

Sometimes the gasoline engine or a piece of machinery would refuse to work, and after "Mac" the fix-it man had patiently worked for a certain length of time to get it going again, without results, "Mac" would then stand back and cuss quite strenuously, then he would immediately start working. "See," he would say, "all it needed was a bit of cussing."

On other occasions when some gadget refused duty for me and, seemed to be broken, "Mac" would say, "use a little oil," and sure enough, often that is all it took. How often since, have I thought of the value of that remark and the actual need of "oil" in many life situations, applied at the right time, right place and, in the right way.

Other things that sort of stick in my memory and come to mind now and then are, like the time I told "Mac" of four teenage boys who in the spring season of 1929 got together just before dark one evening and decided to initiate the newly built outdoor Pines Hotel swimming pool which had just been filled with water. Clothes were taken off near the road just east of the pool; nobody else seemed to be around except the four boys; no thought or time for bathing suits up to the pool they went. They stood on the edge of the pool and looked at the chilly water, one soon jumped in, the rest quickly followed and across the pool they swam. "Mac" listened to the story and hardly said anything, but the next "Digby Courier" had a good story on the episode. The heading of the story went something like, "Four Boy Scouts Officially Open Pines Hotel Swimming Pool." Who were the four? Many years later they are known as: the late Dr. Earl H. Anderson, veteran of two wars (second world and Korean), was awarded the Victoria Cross; Sidney L. Smith, now prominent druggist for many years in Digby; Clayton D. Snow, Digby wholesale lobster king merchant; and myself.

As a young teenager I used to like doing some writing about different events interesting to myself and mostly for myself. One day "Mac" said to me "how about writing your version of the story told about 'The Marooning of Jerome'." I had heard and read at least two somewhat different stories about the man who was found marooned on a beach at some point on the French Shore of St. Mary's Bay, Digby County. When found this man's tongue had been cut out and his legs quite freshly amputated, were surgically well dressed and bound. He was presumably left by some vessel before dawn one morning, all for some mysterious reason.

"Jerome" appeared to have been a man of some considerable social standing and possibly of some considerable wealth. However the only thing the man could or would ever say after being found and cared for by some family in the French shore was, something that sounded like the word "Jerome". He either could not, or, would not, write anything about who he was or why he was left the way he was. Well, it was, and is, one of Digby County's mystery stories, and, different ideas have been expressed over the years concerning this man. However my response to "Mac" was, I felt no urge to write anything more or different about this man. The mystery seemed to have been very well explored in the mind of many people, and, he was a sort of curiosity for many people who visited where he lived for many years.

Three years later, I was quite a young man, and I was back in the street that I had lived in, and I was clanking my powered up car, and I was thinking about "Jerome", and as I remember it, I was thinking about "Jerome". "J.J." was noted for his sense of humor and his ability to make people laugh. One day in 1928 during the time Mr. Wallis was editor of the Scott Act (Prohibition Law) he was about and advocated by some people, and he was attending a boys' conference in the town of Digby.

Digby 172 Years Ago

Compiled by David Sanford

From the files of the Courier of January 23, 1867, the following account has been copied concerning Digby in 1800.

"Among a number of old newspapers kindly sent to us by friends is a copy of the Saint John Gazette of May, 1802, says the Telegraph and among other advertisements contained in the issue before us is one describing the town and township of Digby, and offering for sale certain lots in the town. In this area we are told the township of Digby extends from the Gulf of Annapolis westward to the extremity of the province of Nova Scotia, and contains about 130,000 acres." The town plot is thus described:

"The Town Plot is situated at the east of the township just within the entrance to Annapolis Basin, and twenty miles from Annapolis Town, and six miles across land from the head of St. Mary's Bay. This laid out from the water's edge, partly on level ground and partly on the declivity of a modern hill, dry and pleasant, and having with an eastern aspect, a view of the Annapolis Basin and its cultivated shores for twenty miles in where it terminates with the Fort and River's mouth of that name. It was settled by Loyalists from New York in 1783, the most of whom went early to farms, or, moving to older countries, left the whole free trade with the U.S.A., especially with the New England States. The question was then debated by some Digby High School students one of which was some Digby's daughter, Florence (now Mrs. Melvin O. Tibert, Freeport, Digby Co.) Some days after the debate a man from some part of Nova Scotia came to the printing shop looking for Florence, one of the successful debaters; I had the impression that this man was interested politically but, maybe I was wrong.

Well, I felt that I had learned considerable from my short experience at "The Wallis Job Print". I was learning to do beginner jobs, receiving some knowledge about things like: embossing, stapling, perforating, counting, cutting and trimming paper stock, mixing inks for certain desired colors, and so forth, but, the only experience I had at setting type was just enough to make a "pi", the printers name for a confused mess.

There was a taste of trying to sell job printing outside the plant. Work was a little slack one early fall day and so "Mac" said to me, "how about trying your hand at taking orders for printed personalized Christmas cards?" I tried it, made several calls around town, spent most of the time at one particular house, and got an order, but, it was much time and got an order, but,

VICTORIAN NURSE COMING

The Victorian nurse which Digby has been expecting for many months, will leave London, Ont. today and is expected here on Monday. Miss Forsyth, of the headquarters staff at Ottawa, has been here this week and the local nursing committee to explain the duties of the nurse and tell what is expected of the community.

The Victorian Order of nurses was organized a quarter of a century ago as a memorial to Queen Victoria. Their object was to do for the nursing profession of the poor, or of those who could not get into the hospitals or engage a graduate nurse, and the duties of the order were so sound that many other organizations have since been based on the same line. A Victorian nurse is a graduate nurse fully trained in a recognized hospital and who has since taken a post graduate course in district and social service work.

WOMAN WAS FATALLY HURT

A fatal driving accident took place at Salmon River, Digby County Sunday when Elizabeth, wife of Peter Robicheau, fell from the carriage and a few minutes later died from injuries sustained. With Mrs. Robicheau they had started to attend church about a mile distant, and when at Cotnam's Hill a shaft strap broke, allowing the shafts to drop, striking the horse in the gambles and causing it to start. Mrs. Robicheau was thrown from the carriage to stop the horse, and at the same time Mrs. Robicheau, through excitement, also jumped from the carriage. As she did so she fell and struck the back of her head at the base of the skull, inflicting such a severe wound that blood to death before anything could be done for her, or medical assistance obtained. Mrs. Robicheau, as he learned from the carriage, also fell and was injured. She was about 60 years of age, and leaves her husband and three children, two sons, and three brothers. Her funeral took place at Salmon River Tuesday morning.

SPECIAL FALL TRIPS TO BOSTON BY STEAMER.

Summer is the regulation time for vacation trips but there are many advantages in a fall outing. For one thing, rates are often lower. The Boston and Yarmouth Steamship Co. Ltd. announce that beginning early in October the one way rate Yarmouth to Boston regularly $2.00 will be reduced to $1.00, with a proportionate reduction in the price of stateroom accommodations is extra.

October is an ideal month in which to visit the Massachusetts metropolis. Social and recreational activities are beginning to get under way again. The shops and stores are displaying their winter goods. Theaters are giving away lectures, concerts and other attractions are ready to entertain you. There is no city in America more interesting than Boston, noted for her culture and refinement, she has reverently preserved many heritages of venerable history and in a modern, pulsating present has surrounded herself with an atmosphere of grace and gentility rarely equaled outside London itself. Among many surrounding towns and resorts, are a score of delightful points to visit. Sightseeing in summer is sometimes fatiguing, but in golden October, there is just enough zest and "bite" in the air to add a romantic lure to the most prosaic objects. You feel in good spirits and enjoy a trip of this kind particularly well. Why let winter set in without having taken advantage of this splendid opportunity.

TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY OF JAMAICA PLAIN COUPLE.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Nickerson observed the 25th anniversary of their wedding recently at their home 53 Creighton St. Jamaica Plain. On Sept. 25th, a reception being held from 8 to 10 p. m., which was attended by about forty relatives and friends from East Boston, Everett, Allston, Dorchester, Jamaica Plain, Yarmouth, West Roxbury, and Roslindale. Mr. and Mrs. Nickerson were married in Jamaica Plain and have lived in that city or suburbs for about thirty years. Mrs. Nickerson was Miss Lizzie Morrell of Westport, Digby Co., and a sister of Mrs. J. J. Westover of Digby. Many gifts were received including china, cut glass, silver and linen. The house was beautifully adorned with carnations and satyr pink and white being the predominating colors. Refreshments were served the wedding cake being cut by Mrs. Nickerson. The guests left at a late hour wishing Mr. and Mrs. Nickerson many more pleasing events.

NEW SCHOONER "Win-the-War"

The new schooner "Win-the-War" has been purchased by Capt. John W. Snow. Port Wadsworth, H. T. Warner, Digby, and Capt. Edgar Keane. She will be used in connection with H. T. Warner's lumber business and will ply between Boston, New York and West India. The schooner is a 100-ton vessel and will be the schooner with Capt. W. E. Ryder of Port Wadsworth and a navigator. The "Win-the-War" was built in Liverpool in 1917 and registers 135 tons.

Local and General

The Maritime Baptist Convention opens in Fredericton on Oct. 14th, continuing through the 18th.

C. A. Jordan, agent for the S. P. C., has been very vigilant of late and is after several transgressors against the cruelty law. One horse is said to have been poisoned by its owner to prevent it falling in to Mr. Jordan's hands.

On the 11th and 12th of October the Agricultural Exhibition at Little Brook will be held. H. T. Draper, Halifax, of the Provincial Red Cross, and Mrs. Pearl County nurse, will be present. A Red Cross demonstration will be given and moving picture slides shown.

A number of teen age girls are being organized into a group along the lines of the C. G. I. T. work. The exact form of organization will be decided upon after conference with Miss Allison.

Tupper is heading up the work in connection with the local Scoutmaster, and the Misses Edith Wilman and Josie Walsh are lending assistance. The girls are keen for the work.

SEEKING REPTILES.

Scientific Expedition in Valley of Red River.

Another expedition to look for the bones of great prehistoric reptiles in the Red River valley of Alberta is now on foot. This time it is under the direction of Dr. W. A. Parks, of the University of Toronto and the Royal Ontario Museum.

For a number of years these expeditions have been an annual summer journey for three months. Two years ago the almost perfect specimen of the kritosaurus incurvimanus, which has just been finally shipped free from the rock and presented to the museum, was found, making a distinct addition to the records of science and giving to Toronto the only specimen of the species yet discovered.

Three incomplete skeletons of the kritosaurus and a great horned head of a kritosaurus, 4 feet 6 inches in length, were found by the professor, but have not yet been carved from the rock. It is the hope of Prof. Parks to collect ultimately for the Royal Ontario Museum one of the finest exhibits of dinosaurs in existence.

The locality and the method of finding the specimens are described by Prof. Parks. "The river cuts right through a flat prairie to a depth of 400 feet, forming a whole lot of broken buttes, and it is among these that the bones are discovered. One of the difficulties in obtaining complete specimens is that the bones cannot be obtained until they are partly exposed by the action of natural denuding causes. Sometimes you are disappointed then, for after exploring you may find only a single bone. You dig down as close as you can and pack the rock in plaster of paris for shipment."

The Red River valley 3,000,000 years ago was near the coast of a great inland sea that stretched from the Gulf of Mexico to the Arctic Ocean. "The sand along the shallow, brackish shores of this great body of water formed a splendid preservative for those huge reptiles which inhabited the world at that time. Our kritosaurus was found in what we call the Belly River formation of the Upper Cretaceous system," explains Prof. Parks.

Wolves' Wiser Than Foxes.
The wisdom of the fox is not so evident as the saying is widespread, but the more we know of the animal, the more respect I have for its intelligence, which is unique among the non-human inhabitants of the north.

The second day on the new land I met a wolf that came running toward me at first, for he was not a caribou, but when he got within two hundred yards and could see more clearly he turned back. He was a wolf, and what is truly remarkable, I inferred that I might be dangerous. This wolf, coming from the north, had been a human before, and the only dark thing of size comparable to mine that he had ever seen must have been either a caribou or a muskox. The caribou are his prey, and while he seldom kills a muskox he at least has no reason to fear it, and exceptionally clumsy and slow-moving animal.

But at two hundred yards this wolf paused and, after a good look that satisfied him that I was something new in his experience, commenced to circle about at that distance to get a wind. When he got it took him by a snuff and he was off at top speed.

The similarly unsophisticated foxes of this region will commonly run within ten or fifteen yards of you and follow you around for miles, barking like a toy dog following a pedestrian. — Vilhjalmur Stefansson in Harper's.

Area of Our Country.
Canada is Britain's largest overseas Dominion.

Canada is 3,600 miles by 1,400 in area. — Canada's boundary line is 3,000 miles long, 1,600 by land, 1,400 through water.

Canada is bounded by three oceans. Its 13,000 miles of coast line is nearly equal to half circumference of earth.

Canada has one-third of area of British Empire, and is as large as 30 United Kingdoms and 18 Germany; twice the size of British India; almost as large as the Empire; 15 times the size of France, and 33 of Italy.

Canada is larger in area than the United States, including Alaska, with 111,999 square miles (Canada 3,729,681; United States and Alaska, 3,511,473).

Canada's land area (within provinces), 1,401,000,000 acres, 31 per cent, or 440,000,000, is fit for cultivation; only 110,000,000 acres occupied, and 34,000,000 acres under cultivation.

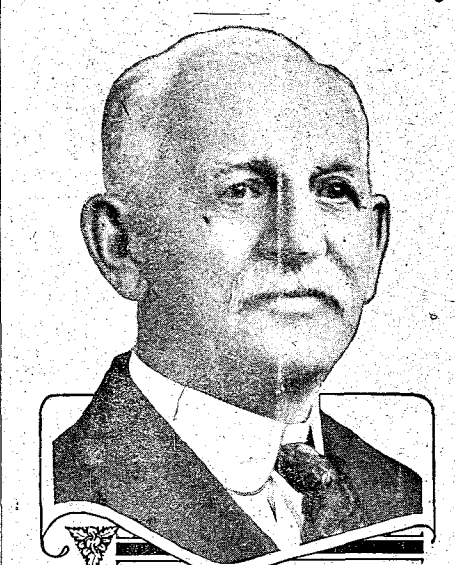

Up-to-date Kittens.
The other day the little daughter of a Salem household was watching a family of small kittens at their first meal of chicken bones. They were somewhat shy at having to eat before an audience, and after one little kitten would come up and get one little chicken bone and retire to a corner of the arbor to eat, and then another little kitten would slip up for its choice and run off with it to its own particular place. The child watched them for a long while and then she came running into the house. "Mother," she said, "do you know what we are doing? We are running a cat-catch-out here instead of a cafeteria. Just come and see!"

The Dead Was Done.
"What were you saying, Tommy?" asked a mother of her six-year-old son, whose prayers she was hearing. "I was praying to be given a new cooler on my birthday, rummums," was the reply. "Oh, you must not pray about such frivolous things," replied the parent. "I can't help it now, mamma, it will come to go, 'cause I've already said, 'Amens.'"

Veteran of Civil War Still Hale and Hearty

GEORGE D. SHAW, Springfield, Mass.

"To say that I feel twenty-five years younger, twenty-five years healthier and twenty-five years stronger expresses what Tanlac has done for me better than any other way I can put it," said George D. Shaw, veteran of the Civil War, who now lives at 321 Walnut street, Springfield, Mass.

"I am now seventy-eight years old and I don't hesitate to say I have never known a medicine to equal Tanlac. For fifteen years I was subject to attacks of indigestion that were so bad at times I would have to lay up for a week or two. For a long time I lived on crackers and milk alone as nothing else agreed with me."

"When I started on Tanlac I weighed only one hundred and seventeen pounds and my days were thought to be numbered. I've been so wonderfully built up, I now weigh one hundred and forty-three pounds and my stomach is as sound as a dollar. In fact, I believe I could eat the old army rations again without it hurting me in the least."

"I never miss a chance of saying a good word for Tanlac and I would like to urge the boys of the 'Sixties' who are not feeling right to give it a trial, for I am sure it would put them in line again just as it has me. For a man of my age to have no physical ailment, to be well and strong and enjoy life as he did twenty-five years ago, is certainly something to be thankful for, and there is nothing too good I can say for Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Digby by P. W. Holdsworth, and by the leading druggist every where.

You Just Try NR For That Indigestion

One Day's Test Proves NR Best

The stomach only partly digests the food we take. The process is finished in the intestines where the food is mixed with bile from the liver.

It must be plain to any sensible person who realizes this, that the stomach, liver and bowels must work in harmony if digestive troubles are to be avoided or overcome.

This fact also explains why sufferers from indigestion, constipation, flatulence, biliousness and constipation, are to be found everywhere.

If you are one of the many unfortunate persons who cannot eat without suffering, afterward, if you are constipated, have bilious spells, headache, coated tongue, bad breath, variable appetite, are nervous, losing energy and feel your health slipping away, take this advice and get a box of Nature's Remedy (NR) Tablets. Give it a trial for a week or two.

And just see how much better your food goes. You enjoy your stomachic bowls will become as regular as clock work. You will feel your food cleared up and your good, old-time appetite restored. You will spend less money, and you will live longer.

Five million boxes are used every year—one million NR Tablets are taken by all intelligent people everywhere. That's the best proof of its merit. Nature's Remedy (NR) Tablets are the best and safest medicine for indigestion, constipation, biliousness, and all ailments connected with the stomach and bowels. It is sold everywhere and recommended by your druggist.

Brings Happiness

THE MODERN GYPSY.

The "Model" Seen In Our Dominion In 1920.

If George Borrow were alive to-day what keen delight he would take in writing about the gypsy caravan, 1920 types do not differ from the tribe of Romany so about in horse-drawn wagons, covered, and concealing in their mysterious depths numbers of stolen children—at least, so most youngsters are taught to believe. And horse trading, once the chief business of these nomads, has given place to a much more modern traffic.

Not quietly did the gypsies quit their horses and wagons. For years after the automobile became popular their quaint caravans might be seen on country roads or city streets, unchanged. But now Romany is become motorized.

To see a modern caravan, composed of several cars of varying sizes, ages and models, go hurrying through a city street, with perhaps a truck or two to carry the tents and other bulky possessions, is to realize that after all these centuries the hand of modern civilization has at last been laid upon these mysterious people.

They ride in automobiles in a fashion all their own. Ten or fifteen people in a five-passenger model, with much personal baggage and with little regard for the conventions. What does matter is a few less and a few more on the sides or if a head sticks through the rear curtain here and there?

All the gulls learned in years of swarming horses, that most gullible of all occupations, has been brought over into trading automobiles, and the same members of the tribe who used to paint the old white horse chocolate colored, plump out the horses in his flanks with some black magic and fill him with two-year-old spirits by dosing him with something called "Blue Bird" or "Eighteenth Amendment," now puts temporary patches on worn-out tires, doctors old motors until they roar with power and with rare skill converts antiquated cars into seemingly youthful and handsome vehicles.

What effect this complete change of living is to have upon the lives of these ancient peoples, who have kept contact with civilization for so many centuries and remain untouched by it cannot be forecast as yet. The women have not abandoned the festive, colorful garb of Romany for more modest and the men steadfastly refuse to dress in any of the accepted fashions for motorists.

There are as many children as ever, too, and dogs, no longer able to keep up afoot, ride in state in the back of the car with children and other live stock.

A Canadian Saint.
The canonization of Joan of Arc has been completed and she is now a saint. A patient investigation has been carried on for forty-five years and has resulted in the complete vindication of the Maid of Orleans and the conceding to her of the divine powers which French tradition ascribed to her.

It is reported from Rome that Canada is soon to have her first saint. Mrs. Margaret Bourgeois, who was born in Quebec, Canada, at the age of 80, in the year 1700. She spent her long life as a teacher, partly with the French settlers, but mostly with the Indians, and in the face of raids, fire, pestilence and famine gave the most devoted service. There is no finer story anywhere than Parkman's account of such devoted lives as hers. In Canada and the United States 131 religious schools have been named after this woman, and she is soon to be canonized by her church and will be the first resident of this continent to achieve the honor of sainthood.

Wouldn't Admit He Was Alive.
There lives in Toronto today a man who, like Mark Twain, has the report of his death was "greatly exaggerated." Arthur Field, 84 Howard Park avenue, was a Colonel's pensioner, who later hit the trail for Alaska. When the war broke out he hastened home to fight for his land and served with distinction in the English sea corps. After 154 days of continuous fighting in France he was so severely gassed that the doctors announced him dead and sent his identification disc to England. He recovered and although he never received several pension visits to the War Office he was unable to convince them he was still alive and they thought he had died. They reported him dead and that settles it, so far as they are concerned. Field, however, refuses to die.

High Salaries.
Canada's Prime Minister is to receive $15,000 per year and members of the Cabinet $10,000. President Wilson is paid $75,000, the Vice-President $12,000, and U. S. Cabinet members $12,000 each, but as they do not sit in the House they are minus the $4,000 indemnity which the Canadian Premier sends to the Ministers who sit in addition to the salaries mentioned. In other words, Canada's Cabinet members will be paid $2,000 per annum more than those of the United States.

A Yukon Problem.
Thoughtful Yukon men call for small coins, the Yukon Development League has turned down the proposal to introduce dimes and nickels in circulation in Dawson. Dawson never has had any less coin than the 25-cent piece, and will adhere to it.

Extravagant.
"Extravagant, isn't he?" "What makes you think so?" "He still puts two spoonfuls of sugar in his tea."

The first dictionary was a dictionary of the Chinese language, containing about 40,000 characters. It was completed by Pao-tu-She, who lived about 1100 B.C.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS BETTER.

Miss F. L. Winchester, local manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company has just returned from three days conference held at St. John, and brings home the good word that indications point to a general improvement in business conditions throughout Canada.

The conference was called by C. W. McKee, District Commercial Superintendent of the Maritime Provinces, and was conducted by T. W. Carroll, General Manager, A. C. Kaufman, General Commercial Agent, and John Simonds, Division Commercial Agent of the company of New York.

St. John has grown to the extent that the markets are apparently unresponsive to bad news and are quite susceptible to good news.

The obligation of the Western Union Telegraph Co., during the adjustment period was fully and thoroughly reviewed with the strong managers and great stress was laid upon the personal responsibility each employee sustains at this important time. The telegraph is playing so large a part as a first aid to business reconstruction.

A conference similar to that held in St. John will be conducted in Halifax, and nothing will be left undone looking to the fulfillment of every required phase of telegraph service to the business public.

"I have used Minard's Liniment in my household and in my business for years, and consider it the best white liniment on the market. I find that it gives quick relief in all ailments, such as sprains, bruises, and all kinds of wounds. Also it is a great remedy for coughs, colds, etc., which one is liable to catch when log driving and cruising during the winter and spring months. I would not be without MINARD'S LINIMENT and cannot recommend it too highly."

YOUNG GIRLS NEED CARE

Mother! Watch Your Daughters' Health

Health Is Happiness

From the time a girl reaches the age of twelve until womanhood is established she needs all the care the thoughtful mother can give.

The condition that the girl is then passing through is so critical and may have such far-reaching effects upon her future happiness and health that it is almost criminal for a mother or guardian to withhold counsel or advice.

Many a woman has suffered years of prolonged pain and misery through having been the victim of glandular weakness or ignorance on the part of those who should have guided her through the dangers and difficulties that beset this period.

Mother should teach her girls what danger comes from standing around with cold or wet feet, from lifting heavy articles, and from overworking. Do not let her over-exercise.

At the age of sixteen my daughter was having trouble every month. She had Mrs. across her back and in her side. Every month her back would pain her so she could not do her work and would have to lie down. My married daughter recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I read the booklet which went with it. I bought it and gave it to her. She took it faithfully and now regular and has no more. We recommend the Vegetable Compound and give you permission to publish this letter in your little books and in the newspapers. — Mrs. KATIE ELLIOTT, 104 N. Fifth St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Read how Mrs. Elcher helped her daughter. She says:
"At the age of sixteen my daughter was having trouble every month. She had Mrs. across her back and in her side. Every month her back would pain her so she could not do her work and would have to lie down. My married daughter recommended Lydia E. We recommend the Vegetable Compound and give you permission to publish this letter in your little books and in the newspapers. — Mrs. KATIE ELLIOTT, 104 N. Fifth St., Philadelphia, Pa."

When I was thirteen years old I had sick spells each month and as I was very backward I would have the pain and my mother knew nothing about it. I read in the daily paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took my own spending money and bought a bottle. It helped me so much that I took it regularly after that until I had taken two bottles and I did not have any more pain or headache and have been a healthy, strong woman. I am now 39 years old and have a little girl of my own, and when she gets old enough I shall give her none other than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

For almost fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been relieving women, young and old, of ailments peculiar to their sex. Ask your neighbor about it, for, in every neighborhood, there are women who know of its merits.

Thousands of letters similar to the above are in the files of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. and for years such letters have been published. Surely it is worth your while to make a fair trial of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

DAVIDSON RECEIVES NOMINATION

At the largest political convention ever held in Digby at which every polling district in Annapolis-Digby was represented B. O. Davidson, the present member, was unanimously nominated as the standard-bearer of the National Liberal and Conservative party Tuesday. As it was the first meeting of representatives of the party since 1917 the convention was first regularly organized with the following officers:

President—H. B. Short, Digby.

First Vice President—O. P. Goucher, Middleton.

Second Vice President—G. A. Hawkes, Annapolis.

Secretary—A. L. M. Swabey, Digby.

Asst. Secy. Treas.—T. E. G. Lynch, Digby.

After the formal nomination had been made and accepted the following resolution was unanimously passed:

Resolved that the members of this Association of the National Liberal and Conservative Party of the electoral district of Digby and Annapolis, record by an unswerving loyalty and devotion to the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, prime minister of Canada, and their abiding conviction that at this most critical period in the history of Canada, the best interests of the country demand his continued leadership and the carrying into effect of his policy for the fiscal independence and national development of Canada.

McGill a Hundred Years Old

McGill University, as it will appear when the proposed extensions are completed, will be held at St. James Methodist Church, on the campus, followed in the evening by a fête de nuit. The morning of Wednesday, October the twelfth, when the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of McGill University will be celebrated, a reunion of former graduates and undergraduates. For a year and a half arrangements have been underway by a special committee of the McGill Graduates' Society in charge of the details of the unique event. From over the world McGill Graduates have signified their intention of taking part in this memorable gathering. At the present time there are some on the high seas from Japan, China and India, from Australia, South Africa and South America, to be followed by those from Great Britain and Europe, eager to be present to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of their alma mater, and to revive the memories of student days. Invitations have been issued to every recognized university in the world to send a representative. Many distinguished men will receive degrees at a special convocation. Following registration which will take place in Strathcona Hall, initial event will be a garden party on the campus, followed in the evening by a fête de nuit. The Nick in the Lapel Of Men's Coats originated in the days of Napoleon. The Emperor tried to imitate his one time superior, General who lost in a conspiracy. Napoleon was so powerful that it was unsafe to express sympathy with Morano. Therefore the general's supporters agreed to nick the coat lapels over his head. At to show their loyalty. Today, in Digby, the same M can be understood to apply to Maise, the up-to-date tailor.

Those Who May Vote In Coming Elections

(e) Is the wife or unmarried widow of a British subject by birth or naturalization; or

(f) Is the child of a person naturalized in Canada, otherwise than under the Imperial Naturalization Act, and was, at or after the time his parent was naturalized and before he or she became twenty-one years of age, resident in Canada with the naturalized parent.

It has been pointed out that the expression "ordinarily resident" has no technical meaning, but the qualification, as regards either residence in the Dominion or in a particular of tenancy, rests upon the fact of the individual having had a personal or family home in which he has lived exclusively or partly, or from which he has been merely temporarily absent, or upon his having actually lodged for two months in the constituency.

Those who may not vote include election employees who are paid out of other than public funds; judges appointed by the Dominion government; women who have merely become the wives of British subjects, were not born in the North American continent, were not entitled to vote at any time before June 1, 1921, and have not obtained a certificate from a judge having jurisdiction in naturalization proceedings; Indians (on a reservation) who did not serve in the war; persons disqualified under provincial law because of race, unless such persons served in the war, can produce their discharge certificates; prisoners undergoing punishment for criminal offences; patients in lunatic asylums; persons wholly or partly supported by public charity in municipal, poor houses or houses of industry; persons supported in provincial charitable institutions and persons disfranchised for corrupt or illegal practices.

In view of the existing inequality between the provincial and federal franchises in this province and the consequent inadequacy of the provincial lists for Dominion purposes, great importance attaches to the registration of voters. The man or woman whose name does not appear in the voter's list on polling day, does not vote, however well qualified in other respects. Registration is the means whereby individuals who are entitled to vote in Dominion elections, but not in provincial or whose names, for any other reason, may have been omitted from the provincial lists, may have their name recorded. As the franchise is not compulsory, so neither is registration but as the exercise of the franchise is not less a duty than a privilege, those who are entitled to have their names recorded in the lists should avail themselves of the opportunity which registration affords.

Registration booths will be opened in the various electoral divisions immediately following the issue of the writ of election. Application for registration may then be made either for the voter personally, or by a relative or employer in his behalf, provided he cannot attend personally because of sickness, disability or "necessary temporary, unavoidable and bona fide absence." In either case the registrar will put to the applicant after swearing him a set of questions prescribed by statute, as follows:

(1) Where is your ordinary residence?
(2) Have you, on application made by you or on your behalf, been registered as a voter in any other polling division in this election?
(3) Are you a British subject in Canada by birth or naturalization?

(4) Are you of the full age of twenty-one years?

(5) Have you ordinarily resided in Canada for the twelve months immediately before (the date of the issue of the writ)?

(6) Have you ordinarily resided in the electoral district for the two months immediately before the said day, etc.
(7) Are you within any of the classes of persons who lack qualification or are disqualified by reason of appointment as a judge, employment for or reward reference to the election, place of birth, race, crime, mental incapacity, the receipt of public charitable support or disfranchisement for corrupt or illegal practices?

If these questions are answered satisfactorily, the questions put to the relative or employer being substantially similar, the full name of the voter is then entered, together with his address and occupation.

Following the registration of voters, the lists are revised by officers appointed for that purpose, after copies have been posted in conspicuous places, municipal buildings, etc. Any person may apply to the revising officer to have his name added to the lists, whether he has applied for registration or not, and persons who have been refused registration by registrars may appeal to the revising officers against the refusal so made. On the other hand, the registrar may have his own mistakes, if any, corrected in this revision, and anybody else may apply for the removal of names after proper notice has been given.

The sittings of the revising officers begin on the twenty-first day before the day of polling, and continue for six consecutive weekdays.

The procedure, while it appears to be more or less elaborate and complicated when regarded as a whole, is simple enough as it affects the individual voter. The status of the latter is clearly defined by law and his or her rights as an elector carefully and fully protected.

hitherto so well supplied. And not only is this group valuable, but another by-product has become evident in deposits of calcium malate, the same article as is derived from maple syrup and known as sugar-salt. Before the war the Germans bought this up extensively in Quebec at about six shillings or more per pound, as a source of italic acid. The process is being treated in two evaporators, and may lead to the development of an entirely new industry in Nova Scotia.

Hon. William Wilson, who was supernumerary as Judge of the County Court of York, Suburban and Queens in March, died Thursday afternoon at his home, Waterloo Row, Fredericton. On Saturday night Judge Wilson was seized by an attack of heart trouble which caused his death.

Statistics from press despatches show at least seventy-two residents of the maritime provinces lost their lives by drowning during the spring and summer seasons of the present year. Of the number fifty-five were drowned in three provinces and the remainder elsewhere. Twenty-six were drowned in New Brunswick, twenty-three in Nova Scotia and six in Prince Edward Island. Eight New Brunswickers were drowned elsewhere and nine Nova Scotians perished outside of that province.

Of those who lost their lives in the water in New Brunswick, nine were swimming, two fishing, two were drowned in wells and two were suicides. The others occurred in various ways, such as falling into rivers, from rafts or while fording streams. So far as known only one New Brunswicker was drowned at sea.

Eight Nova Scotians were drowned at sea, five while bathing, three while fishing in home waters, two in wells, six while boating and one was a suicide.

Of the Prince Edward Island victims two were drowned while bathing, two while fishing and one was a suicide.

A feature of the long New Brunswick list is that no-one was drowned while boating so far as the returns show.

The open season for moose began on Saturday and already several parties are in the woods, all of them from Yarmouth to Queens County, in quest of these lordly animals. Among these parties are quite a number from the United States, and more are arriving every trip of the Boston-Yarmouth liners from Boston. All the regular guides have engagements for weeks ahead, and their report that evidence is seen every day of more moose about the forests than ever before.

Bernard Doggett, of Somerville, Queens County, a workman on the reconstruction of the Port Joli road, was instantly killed while engaged in blasting rock on Wednesday. Doggett was carrying a box of dynamite containing about twenty five sticks of the explosive when he approached a place where a blast was just being set. He evidently came within the zone of the explosion which caused the explosion of the dynamite he was carrying. He was literally blow to pieces, only a few portions of his body being found. Mr. Doggett was about thirty years of age and unmarried.

After navigating his vessel safely port through a dense fog, Captain Alvin Simard, master of the Boston and Yarmouth Steamer Company's Prince Arthur, dropped dead on the bridge shortly after arrival at Yarmouth Friday morning. Heart failure is presumed to be the cause of his death. Captain Simard, who was fifty-eight years of age, had been in the Boston-Yarmouth service for over forty years and is well known to thousands of Americans.

On one of the big English railways every employee is required to wear a black tie or bow. The company is still in mourning for the death of King Edward VII.

LAST WEEK IN THE MARITIME PROVINCES

Decision to increase some of the port and wharfage charges at St. John to provide additional revenue in order to pay for the taking over of railway trestles from the Canadian Pacific Railway at West St. John was reached at a committee meeting of the city council recently. The principal item was a charge of $2.50 a car on all traffic carried over the trestles in question.

The provincial government of New Brunswick devoted considerable time last week to a hearing of a delegation from Woodstock with regard to the deficit of the Woodstock exhibition. The request made of the government was that the province make good the deficit. Consideration was promised. Other affairs in the province are reported to show deficits and it is probable that similar requests will be made of the government from other places.

On the ground that Hon. Frank Carvell, chairman of the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada, was formerly connected with the New Brunswick Telephone Company, counsel for the attorney general of Ontario, objected on Wednesday to his presence on the board which heard the application of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada to increase its rates throughout Eastern Canada.

A circular issued by the Dominion Steel Corporation intimates changes in the Nova Scotia management, forecasted a short time ago. The Springfield collieries are transferred to the management of Arch McCall, general manager of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company; J. J. McDougall, assistant general manager of the Acadia Coal Company, Ltd., becomes assistant general manager for the Mainland District; and Malcolm Blue becomes general superintendent for the district. A new man, Thomas L. McCall, of Edinburgh, has been appointed chief mining engineer for the district.

The five Truro men arrested in connection with breaking and entering and stealing from a number of stores in Colchester and Pictou Counties are now on trial in the Supreme Court before Mr. Justice Osborn. Five charges are laid against the men, the stores cited in the indictment being those of H. T. Fulton, Upper Stewiacke, the Farmers Co-operative Union store at New Annan, R. A. Angley's store at Kentville, W. S. McCracken's at Earlington, and Robt. Bailey's at Salt Springs, Pictou County. Monro Bell, David Lynds and Roy Creelman pleaded guilty to all five charges, the others to all except the Kenton robbery. The five submitted themselves to the Fulton store and the identification of goods recovered by the police on the premises of the accused, by the proprietor H. T. Fulton.

The Lunenburg schooner Bertine Zinck, Captain Daniel Zinck, and the schooner Moravia, owned by the La Have Outfitting Co., and now at Porto Rico, are the latest probabilities for entry into the Nova Scotia elimination fishermen's races which begin on October 15. The six schooners already entered for the races are: Canada, La Have, Captain J. Conrad, Bluenose, Lunenburg, Captain Angus Walters; Alcala, Lunenburg, Captain R. Knickle; Independence, Lunenburg, Captain A. Himmelman; Ida R. Corkum, Lunenburg, Captain Freeman Corkum; Delaware, Lunenburg, Captain Backman.

The Rev. A. R. Yeomans with his wife and sons have arrived in Newcastle. The Rev. Mr. Yeomans has been appointed by the Bishop of Fredericton as the successor of Rev. H. T. Montgomery in the parish of Derby and Blackville. Owing to the dilapidated condition of the Millerton rectory and changes proposed therewith it will be necessary for the new rector to live in Newcastle for the winter. He is especially welcomed to the town, for his father was former manager of the Royal bank and he himself has many friends there.

After having lost two of its toes in a bear trap, a big black bear returned the following night to the same trap and this time put its paw there and was caught. For some time the trap was set for the man who set the trap shot the bear. Two cubs accompanied the big bear which was caught in the trap, but as soon as the man fired at the mother bear the cubs ran off into the woods. This bear is thought to be the one which a few nights before killed a heifer belonging to the man who shot it. It is said that this bear is not the big black one which killed a three-year-old heifer after riding for about two hundred yards on the cow's back through the woods about a month ago at the Hibernia Settlement.

The lobster fishing opens on the South Shore on the 15th of November. For the last three or four years the season did not open until March. This decision is against the wishes of the majority of the lobster fishermen, owing to the fall being such a stormy time of the year and so much fishing gear is lost. However it is thought that this was done to relieve the unemployment situation. The people report business pretty good. The cold storage, fertilizing plant and other industries are running full blast. The town of Lockport is having concrete sidewalks put down the canning factory is getting ready for the lobster season, and this will give employment to quite a number.

On the afternoon of the day of the Lunenburg picnic several men who were eating at the New York Cafe conducted by Chinamen, started a row and severely injured one of the Chinamen cutting his head and breaking his leg. The Chinamen attempted to defend themselves, but of course were outnumbered and overpowered. After the attacking party were got out of the restaurant and the injured one of the number Robert Himmelman went back broke open the door and demolished whatever was unbroken in the place. All the furniture and fixtures were smashed up, and the interior would have been credit to a building in the war zone. The hearing lasted several days, and five of the men were sent up to the Supreme Court for trial.

Edward P. O'Brien of St. John was found not guilty of the charge of ordering Albert Norris by the jury before whom he was tried in the circuit court Thursday. His Honor Judge Barr then declared O'Brien a free man and he was released from custody. W. M. Ryan, who had ably conducted his defense and was first to reach his home and shake hands. After the jury were discharged by the judge, O'Brien shook hands with each one and thanked them for their verdict. Then a large number of those present came forward to shake his hand and congratulate him. Following this he hastened home to his anxious family. Spellman who was associated with him was found guilty of manslaughter.

A delegation from the city of Fredericton waited upon the provincial government Wednesday afternoon, asking that the site of the Fredericton water works be given to the city. The land on which they were situated was originally government house property and until recently was believed to have been deeded to the city by the province in accordance with an agreement made at the time of the establishment of the Fredericton water system some forty years ago. Consideration was promised.

The body of James Duffy, who died from stab wounds inflicted by McGroarty in the Grosvenor House, Groveton, N. H. Friday, arrived at Parrsboro Wednesday evening. The funeral took place from the residence of his brother, John Duffy, Thursday afternoon. McGroarty, who had been drinking, entered the Grosvenor House at 6 o'clock Friday morning and attacked Duffy, apparently without provocation. Duffy was stabbed almost instantly and his assailant escaped. He was arrested and is now in the state asylum under observation.

Fred Priest, a C. N. R. brakeman at Fredericton, has been arrested and released on bail until trial on a charge of stealing liquor from a freight car in the Devon yards or while en route to Woodstock. A cache of one of the finest brands of 25 years old Scotch whiskey was found in a deserted barn near Marysville, a cotton mill town four miles from there, a week ago, and dozens of people got drunk on the

Hill Grove Church Re-Dedicated To the Service of God

Services of re-dedication were held at Hill Grove Church last Sunday, with crowded congregations. The repairs and improvements included new foundation and windows, a tower and spire, shingling of part of the roof, topping out of the flues, concrete steps, painting and decorating within and without, new pulpit and aisle carpet, new stove, etc. The work was done in a manner highly satisfactory to the congregation under the direction of Daley John.

The financial statement showed an expenditure of $3136.30 incurred, of which $924.47 remained to raise. Friends outside the bounds of the congregation came to the aid of the Hillgrove friends to the extent of over five hundred dollars, and although the members of the congregation had already given very generously they rallied nobly to the challenge and the whole amount was raised.

The services of Rev. C. W. Robbins, a former pastor, and of Rev. J. H. Copeland, who conducted the evening service, were much appreciated. Mention was made of the service rendered by the building committee, the ladies, and others who have labored hard to bring about the triumph recorded in the re-dedication of the greatly improved and beautified house of worship free of all encumbrance. The special music by the choir was much appreciated. The order of service used in the afternoon follows. The hymns were written by the pastor.

Doxology.

Invocation.

Hymn.

Oh Thou who dwellest in the high And holy place above, Look on us humble worshippers of the invisible and heavenly God, And grant to us the gracious aid Thou only canst impart To purify, heal and refresh.

Each waiting contrite heart.

No temple made with hands can hold Thy vast infinity.

Yea, how the humble heart may dwell In Thy presence and adore Thee.

The blessed Trinity.

Unworthy as we are, we claim Thy presence and believe.

That Thou wilt grant that grace to us The world cannot receive.

Where two or three assembled are Before Thy feet to bow.

In lowly penitence and prayer, There, in the midst, art Thou; Thus have we come, O Lord, today, And now on Thee we wait.

Let this place be the House of God, Let it be Heaven's Gate.

Let spirit meet with spirit here, Let God commune with men.

Of old Thy servants talked with Thee, Thou art the same as then.

Grant to our souls the sweet delight Of knowing Thee art nigh.

And we will bless and praise Thy name, Our Savior, God most high.

PASTOR.—Who shall ascend into the hill of the Lord, or who shall stand in His holy place.

ALT.—He that hath clean hands and a pure heart, he that hath not lifted up his soul unto vanity nor sworn deceitfully.

I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the House of the Lord.

I would rather be a doorkeeper in the house of my God than to dwell in the tents of wickedness.

He that dwelleth in the secret place of the Most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty.

Blessed are they that dwell in Thy House, they will be still praising Thee.

My house shall be called a House of Prayer unto all people.

This is none other than the House of God and this is the Gate of Heaven.

Jesus went, as His custom was, into the synagogues, and He taught them.

Lord, it is good for us to have here, Thy House and the place where Thine hour dwelleth.

Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life and I will dwell in the House of the Lord forever.

Prayer of Re-dedication.

Hymn.

This House, O Lord, our fathers built, In honor of Thy name.

And here, in many a hallowed hour, Have worshiped, with joy, Thy name.

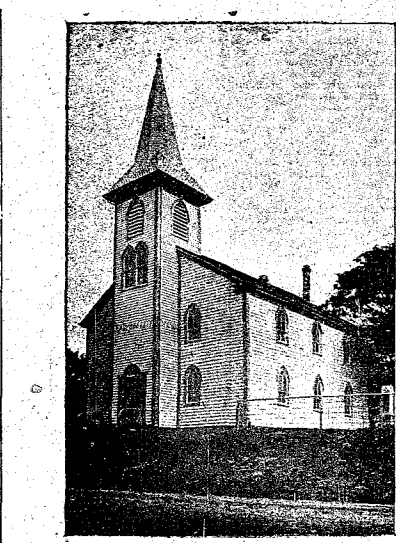

Have seen Thy beautiful face, Thy throne, Thy Gate of Heaven.

The soul's sweet resting place, And now afresh we bring to Thee, Sons of these worthy sires.

Brightest of all Thy faithful hearts, Whose love of Christ inspires, This House to be Thy dwelling place.

Great God accept, we pray, The cheerful gifts of these Thy servants.

We bring to Thee this day, Bless Three in One, Oh God descend And sanctify this place, Make it the very House of God.

A temple of Thy grace: And may Thy Church, in beauty new, The Living Temple of our hearts For Thee, Oh Lord, for Thee.

of this Church came the few Baptists scattered throughout the County. Mr. Towner extended his preaching to all parts of the County as time and opportunity permitted.

In 1806, Mr. Towner was succeeded by Rev. Peter Randall, but in 1816 he returned for a second pastorate, continuing until 1825, when he removed to Westport, where he died in 1828.

In 1833, Rev. Charles Randall was ordained at Weymouth, and extended his labors to Digby Joggins (now Hillgrove). The House of Worship at Hillgrove was dedicated on the second of July, 1837. Rev. Edward Mannings, Charles Randall, Adam Wilson and J. Henry Saunders took part in the exercises. The church was organized on July 29th, 1837, with forty members. Thomas Bacon and Joseph Nichols were the first deacons of the church, Holmes Chipman was its first clerk and Rev. Charles Randall its first pastor.

At a meeting held on the second of January, 1850, it was resolved to seek incorporation under the laws of the province. The name of the organization was to be the Baptist Church of Digby Joggins, in connection with the Nova Scotia Association of Baptist Churches. Rev. Charles Randall was chairman of this meeting and Samuel L. Bacon, clerk.

The following were elected as trustees: Samuel Warner, Edw. M. Marshall, Jesse N. Warner, Wm. Aymer, Samuel T. Bacon, Wm. M. Jones and Robert Woodman. The application for incorporation was signed by twenty-seven men whose names follow:

Charles Randall, Samuel Warner, George Welch, Christopher Roop, Robert Woodman, George Nichols, Joseph Nichols, Elijah S. Jones, Jesse K. Warner, Wm. Aymer, Wm. M. Jones, James E. Woodman, Charles Aymer, John Wilson, John Gilles, Edw. M. Marshall, James R. Warner, Wm. J. Warner, James Roop, Charles E. Warner, James Craig, Robert Armstrong, John Cossett, Ephraim Bacon, Abraham L. Gavel, Samuel T. Bacon.

On January 13, 1851, Rev. Richard Cunningham was called to be pastor of the Digby and Digby Joggins Church and vicinity. The chairman of this meeting was Wm. L. Bent and the clerk, Samuel T. Bacon. The salary mentioned was to be not less than five hundred dollars per annum, to be paid to the subscription paper in Joggins and vicinity and E. M. Marshall in the town and vicinity. It was voted to hold a conference meeting on the first Saturday of each month.

REV. D. E. HATT, M.A., B.D., Pastor

As far as is at present known, the first to preach the truth as held by Baptists in the County of Digby, with any permanent results, was Daniel Towner. He had served as a sergeant in the revolutionary war, and came into Digby County in the year 1797. He had been but recently converted to a revival at Lower Grandville under the leadership of Fathers James Manning and Joseph Dimock. At this time there was not a single house of worship owned by Dissenters in the County of Digby, and few, if any, Baptists. This able and earnest servant of God labored throughout the County under great difficulties, often meeting with strong opposition, not to say persecution. In 1799, seven men, John Roop, of Digby; Benjamin Sabeen, David Shook and Willoughby Sabeen, of Sissiboo; and Peter Harris, Morris Peters and Martin Blackford, of Digby Neck, proceeded to Grandville and were organized into the Sissiboo (now Weymouth) Baptist Church. Enoch Towner was, at the same time, ordained as pastor. To the meetings

TUXIS BOYS HAD AN ENJOYABLE TIME AT THEIR CONFERENCE

This town over the week and was the Mecca of the boys of Nova Scotia, especially to those grouped in the Annapolis Valley League of Tuxis Boys, as it was the scene of their annual convention and quite a large number were in attendance. The total number of delegates registered was 104 and from communities they were as follows:

Annapolis 5 delegates, 3 leaders, Bridgetown 2 delegates, 5 leaders, Berwick 1 delegate, Acadiaville 3 delegates, Centerville 5 delegates, 1 leader, Digby 17 delegates, 6 leaders, Middleton 3 delegates, Kentville 2 delegates, 1 leader, Sissiboo Cove 2 delegates, Wollville 2 delegates, Yarmouth 11 delegates, 5 leaders.

By denominations they numbered as follows:

Anglicans 16, Baptists 12, Congregationalists 11, Presbyterians 11, Methodists 35.

Although the conference did not formally open until 6 o'clock Friday evening, there was an important preliminary session at 6 o'clock on Thursday, the members of the Digby Board of Trade and other business men entertained the leaders of the work at a banquet given at the Baptist church hall, and at which the managing committee of the Local Branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses, present at the Board of Trade, presided. After the dinner had been satisfied interesting addresses were given by Rev. Mr. Gregg, Rev. Mr. Strothard, and Rev. Mr. Sidenius. Both Mr. Strothard and Mr. Sidenius have been heard in Digby several times before, but this was Mr. Gregg's first visit. He took as his subject "The Teen Age Boy" and said the twentieth century had revealed many wonderful things, but as yet had not awakened to the full opportunity of developing human nature. We have made many strides among boy life, and men are thinking today in terms of boys and boy life, but we have a great distance to go before we can get where we ought to be in the greatness of a nation lies in the hearts and minds of the teen age boy. A country can not be measured by its square miles but by its square men. We are beginning to put first things first and to realize that the future of the country lies with the boys and girls. What years 15, 16 and 17 are critical years; after that he may not develop so fast. So then begins a settling down process and it is up to us to see that he has the right training at that time. His training at this period is only 25 per cent physical and only 2 per cent intellectual and devotional. We should see that the boys' social activities are right. This time in a boy's life is when he is most susceptible to religious appeal, and this fact should be recognized fully. A boy's religion must be an active one and if we are to hold him, we must see that he has a definite task to do. We think too often of finances, but there is no town or village but what can find and finance a playground for its boys. The Munroe, Lie, began to preach, Mr. Cunningham was still in the field, but confined to his home by illness. He was, however, the strongest and most earnestly engaged man. Mr. Munroe was ordained as pastor. His ordination took place on December 10th, 1843. Mr. J. C. Moore, Obed Parker, Aaron Caswell, J. Spencer and Richard Cunningham, being present, Mr. Cunningham, being the following January. At a special reference to this good man of God the records of the Church testified the deep affection in which he was held by his people.

In a report under date of June 2nd, 1858, is the first mention of a association coming into the Church in December of the following year. Mr. Munroe resigned to go to North Church, Halifax, and in the following year, Rev. R. B. Philip and Rev. R. Walker, supplied the Church. Rev. J. Spencer became pastor in November, 1858. Many were converted by baptism during his pastorate.

From the autumn of 1855 to the spring of 1871, Rev. L. B. Gable was pastor, and the Church rejoiced over money we invest for this purpose will last for eternity.

The conference opened at 8 p. m. on Friday evening with a service of worship conducted by Rev. Mr. Hodge. The central theme being "Friendship." After the opening services, an address of welcome was given by the Mayor H. T. Warner, which was responded to by MacGregor Grant, of Yarmouth. Mr. Gregg took charge of the election of officers which resulted as follows: Grand Preter—James Fay, Bridgetown; Grand Deputy Preter—MacGregor Grant, Yarmouth. Grand Scribe—Maxwell Brown, Middleton.

An address was given by Mr. Gregg on the subject "The Quest of the Best," after which the different squares adjourned to hold separate meetings.

The second session opened on Saturday morning with Rev. C. E. Rockingham, Centerville, in charge. The central theme of the workshop was "Worship." After this the conference was divided into two parts, one being those who were familiar with the work, and the other those who were not. The Board of Trade and other business men then instructed in the work by Mr. Sidenius, and Mr. Gregg addressed the former, outlining the work of the year, month by month. At the close of the interesting talks the boys adjourned to the out doors and indulged in physical training, returning afterwards to the church where they were addressed by Mr. Strothard on the Sunday meetings of the Tuxis Square, and afterwards by Rev. Mr. Macnam, secretary of the Baptist Young People's Work, who happened to be passing through the town and had an hour or two to spare.

The third session opened with a devotional service conducted by the Grand Preter, James Fay, after which a stirring talk, "Comrades All" was given by Mr. Strothard. Mr. Strothard then presented the thirteen things necessary for the successful conduct of the mid-week meeting:

1.—The square to be run by boys.

2.—The appointment of short term committees.

3.—Initiation.

4.—Opening ceremony.

5.—Badges.

6.—Same leadership on Sunday as on Mid-week.

7.—Group honor.

8.—Sabbats at least once a month.

9.—Variety.

10.—Competition.

11.—Subscribe to the Canadian Mentor.

12.—Variety.

13.—Pep.

The fourth session on Saturday evening was the favorite one, as at this time the annual banquet took place. The boys did justice to the good things provided and the following toasts were proposed:

"The King"—Proposed by Rev. Mr. Hatt.

"The Church"—Proposed by James Fay, Bridgetown, and responded to by Rev. Mr. Driffield, of Digby.

"The Schools"—Proposed by Kingsley Collins, and responded to by Prim H

Digby, October 14th, 1921

Many people never get anywhere till the fourth hour, and since now it is the thirteenth.

Motorists Look For Names.

Many small towns and villages hide their identity completely from passing motorists. Others let their name be known by signs at the outskirts of the town, warning automobiles that they are now entering Smithton and daring them not to exceed the speed limit. It would be just as effective and a whole lot more to hang out a welcome sign such as may be seen in many places with the words "Come Again!" on the reverse side. Will H. Hayes, the new Postmaster General of the United States, has recognized the need of labelling the small places and has ordered white signs to be hung in front of post offices, giving the name of the town in plain, bold letters. Only this week the editor was on a motor trip with one or two people who did not know the country, and a common remark was, "What place is this?"

Have you all not people on the road who do not know the country?

THAT HOLD UP

That must have been some hold-up which took place at the Racquet bridge Tuesday night. At first the horrifying details sent a shudder through the town but the shudder has turned into chuckles instead. The story as first given out was that H. S. Coe, an Englishman, who was to be married on Wednesday morning had been snatched and his roll of money taken from him; also that he had remained unconscious all night. But Wild West stuff you know? But the chief of police has been investigating. He found that the first came in public notice about the time of the Perry murder in Yarmouth, when he was section of the First Baptist Church, and one Sunday "turned up missing." He was found "hiding in" to Halifax but eventually brought up in Digby. He has been paying attention to a young lady and putting in his time around the hotels, working for a little if any more than he heard. He told the chief he was putting up at the Winchester. The chief found that he was around that hotel a time of the time but that he was rooming at a very much higher priced hotel but without the knowledge of the owners as the hotel is closed and he was getting in and out of the servant's quarters through a window; he also told the chief he had been outdoors unconscious, all night, but although it rained that night his clothes were dry, and medical men say that the slight scratches on his face would not have caused unconsciousness, another thing he said was that he was in the party office and then with money—but the chief can't find anyone who saw any cash. Another point against it is that he tried to borrow money from a business man with which to pay for a marriage license, and when this was refused tried to get one on credit, saying that he had some money in the post office and would pay when he got it. Well, anyway, the man who did the sand-lagging? (has) not been caught, and the wedding has not taken place.

'STILL THE GREATEST MOTHER IN THE WORLD'

The exhibit of the Nova Scotia Red Cross Society held at the annual county exhibition at Clare proved that the society's pushing forward rapidly in its peace time policy. The exhibit was very attractive and showed excellent taste in its arrangements. Posters were used to illustrate the different preventive measures used in the care and treatment of disease. The special exhibit was devoted to "The Greatest Mother in the World" with "The Roll Call" arranged so that it brought the whole exhibit into illustration. Daily lectures were given by Mr. H. T. Draper representing the Provincial Red Cross Society, Halifax, on Diphtheria, Hygiene, Baby Welfare and T. B. work. Literature on the different subjects and the Canadian mother's books was distributed. Health movies were also introduced to bring the importance of the work before the public. Miss P. Chute, Digby Co's nurse assisted H. T. Draper in the exhibit.

TRIED TO BURN FAIRVIEW HOTEL.

A dastardly attempt to burn the Fairview Hotel took place on Tuesday evening, but fortunately the flames died out of their own accord before they could communicate with the building. It was set under the rear verandah about in the centre of the house. A bag had been filled with combustible material, set on fire and pushed under the verandah. Luckily it was pushed up against a window and the principal result of the fire was to break the glass the woodwork at the sides being scorched. The crime, serious as it is, is rendered more so by the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Cossaboom are residing in the building. Had the building burned the loss would have been heavy as the insurance on it does not cover a third of its value.

WE WANT SOME NAMES.

Boys and girls! The Courier wants the names and addresses of everyone who at one time or other lived in Digby County or in the western part of Annapolis County, and who call this part of the province "home." For every list of over 25 names and addresses which we can use we will give six months' subscription to the Weekly Courier, and in addition for the three largest lists sent in a year's subscription to a popular magazine. Don't wait to get your lists complete—send in what names you know even if there are only one or two—and we will keep track of them.

On Saturday afternoon Miss Allison discussed her work at an informal gathering at Rev. Mr. Hatt's. That same evening she outlined the G. G. T. programme to the Tuxis boys in response to a toast proposed to the Canadian Girls in Training at their banquet. On Sunday afternoon Miss Allison addressed a gathering of girls and women in the Methodist Church, on the work and programme of the Canadian Girls in Training. It is to be hoped that in the near future, the churches of Digby will take up this programme. It would not only make a more interesting and busy winter for the girls of our town, it would live up the work of the Tuxis classes by a spirit of rivalry. The girls of Digby never realized what they were missing until the boys held their Conference here. While in Digby, Miss Allison was the guest of Miss L. Goucher.

You will want a bottle of the wonderful Tanaka remedy. You can get it from P. W. Holdsworth.

Advices from Norfolk, Virginia, sent by Joseph H. Engle, who was in command of the sixteen-foot Veteran, which was in Digby some weeks ago, accompanied by Arthur Sprague, after which Mr. and Mrs. Vancouver, stated that the boat capsized in a heavy squall five miles off Point Judith, R. I., last Wednesday, and that they were picked up by the tug boat Prudence, bound to Norfolk. Strong head winds prevailed making the voyage a very slow one. The boat did not arrive at that port until Sunday. The message stated that they lost everything including their identification papers, which makes their presence in the city an embarrassing one.

Mayors, bankers, lawyers, prominent government, state and county officials, prominent business and professional men and ministers of the Gospel have endorsed Tanaka. P. W. Holdsworth.

Wedding Bells

KAIN—CAMPELL.

A wedding was celebrated at St. Joseph's R. C. Church, Kentville, Wednesday morning, Oct. 5th, at 8 o'clock, when Miss Muriel Helen Campbell, daughter of the late John Campbell, M. P. and Mrs. Campbell, Weymouth, became the bride of Thomas Kain, son of the late M. A. Kain, of Charlham. The church was decorated with pink and white asters.

The bride wore a travelling suit of tulle with hat to match and veil with gold threads. She carried a pretty bouquet of roses and carnations. Miss Gladys Moore and J. Roy Millett were witnesses. Many were present to witness the ceremony and to extend best wishes to the couple. Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party motored to the home of Mrs. John Moore where a wedding breakfast was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Kain left on a wedding trip to New York. They will also visit at Connecticut, where they will be the guests of the late John Campbell, of Pomfret. On their return they will reside at Kentville, where their home awaits them. The groom is on the staff of the General Accountant's office, D. A. R.

The rural mail carriers of Canada have made a reasonable request of the Post Office Department in asking that rural mail boxes now located on the left side of the roadway be required to be removed to a safe location on the right side. Now that motor vehicle traffic has increased, so largely accidents are frequent when mail carriers are delivering mail in boxes located on the left side of the highways.

POPPY DAY COMING

The red poppy of Flanders Fields, the flower immortalized in verse when it bloomed over the graves of the hero dead sleeping there, is proving a new bond of friendship between the Allied countries and France. The "Wear a Poppy" movement is sponsored by The Children's League of Paris, of which Madame A. Millerand, wife of M. Millerand, President of France, is the leader. Replicas of the Flanders poppy will be worn by the people of France, and the Allied nations on Armistice Day in memory of those who fell fighting for humanity's cause.

The organization of the Children's League in France is a clearing house for the relief work among the children of the war-torn areas, and the funds raised through the sale of poppies will go toward the amelioration of the condition among these children and the wounded veterans.

The poppies have been made by French orphan and millions of them have been sent to the Allied countries for sale on Armistice Day.

Madame Millerand has been heart and soul in relief work ever since the declaration of war. She has given many hours daily to it and still continues to do so, despite the demands upon her time because of her position as "first lady of the land." In many cases she has personally administered relief, taking necessities to needy children.

Every Home Calls for B-H Paint

EVERY house, every building, for whatever purpose it was erected, needs the protection of good paint as a preservative against deterioration. The better the paint the better the protection, and consequently the more valuable is your house from an investment standpoint. To effect the greatest economy always use

B-H "ENGLISH" PAINT 70% Pure Lead (Standard Quality)
100% Pure Paint

No other brand equals it in covering capacity, or compares with it in permanency. The formula from which it is made never varies, thereby ensuring consistent quality.

Canada's climate soon discloses the inferior paint. Use B-H "English" Paint—a favorite paint from Atlantic to Pacific for years.

A Contest For Weekly Courier Readers

On another page of this issue will be found particulars of our contest referred to in previous issues. The Weekly Courier has joined forces with The Pacific Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal to conduct this contest, the greatest ever offered newspaper readers in Canada. Two Thousand Dollars in cash prizes will positively be distributed, and there will be one hundred and forty prizes. The contest is known as the "Know Canada" Contest and those competing are asked to solve fifty rebus pictures representing fifty Post Offices in Canada. As it is not possible for every person to have access to the official 1921 Guide, a list of two thousand offices has been prepared for distribution to contestants and which is guaranteed to contain the names of the fifty correct answers. This list may be had on easy terms by all contestants. It will also give hints and has an official answer form. While this list is not absolutely necessary, it will be a great help to those competing. Readers of the Weekly Courier will find full particulars of the contest in another part of this paper. The contest will afford an hour's pleasure and amusement round the family circle during the long evenings. Contestants should begin at once studying the pictures. The contest is open to all members of a family in which The Weekly Courier is received.

SAID HE COULD NEVER BE WELL

"Fruit-a-fives" Restored Him to Health

130 ALEXANDER ST. MONTREAL.

"For three years, I was a terrible sufferer from Dyspepsia and my general health was very bad. I consulted a physician and took his medicine but I did not improve; and finally he told me that I could not be cured.

At this time, a friend advised me to try "Fruit-a-fives". After taking two boxes, I was greatly relieved, and this fruit medicine made me completely well. My digestion and general health are now splendid."

exceptionally good quality free liquor. Later on it developed the whiskey was stolen from a shipment imported by some of the leading citizens of Woodstock, N. B., from Scotland.

Ninety-one young men have gone to Halifax this month to pursue their theological studies at Holy Heart Seminary. This large attendance breaks all records of the Seminary's twenty-six years existence being a gain of 50 per cent. over last year. That the Seminary's popularity is not confined to a few particular sections is shown by the fact that Quebec, (with seventeen from Chichester), New Brunswick, Newfoundland and Nova Scotia are all about evenly represented. The new wing just completed, is full to capacity. Father Tresselt is the new Father Superior, with Father Tecomto as first assistant.

The Port of Halifax is to get a good share of the trans-Atlantic passenger trade of the Cunard and Anchor Donalson Lines the coming winter, for on their latest schedule, embracing sailings both east-bound and west-bound, Halifax appears quite prominently. The ships flying the flag of these two well-known lines will make seventeen calls westbound and nine east-bound from now up to next March.

This week brings to, Halifax the first winner in Nova Scotia of the I. O. D. E. Bursary for Canadian Universities. Miss Leone Tipper, of Kentville, daughter of a soldier permanently disabled in the Great War has won the Bursary for 1921 and will attend Dalhousie University. Miss Tipper is a graduate of Kentville High School. She will reside at the Marlborough Women's Residence for the winter.

That the rejected cup defender Mayflower need not be a dead loss to her owners as a racing proposition is the declaration of Captain Roger Conrad, commander of the Lunenburg barker Gilbert Waiters, which is lying off North Sydney. According to Captain Conrad there is $10,000 cash in Lunenburg which says that the yacht-like Mayflower cannot hold her own with the crack Bluenose in a real ocean race. His proposal is that both vessels load for a port say 2,000 miles away. In such a jaunt the ships would meet all kinds of weather and a real test of each would settle forever the question of supremacy.

The student body of the University of New Brunswick at a meeting held last week gave permission for the university hockey team to play in the Bon during the coming winter. Harvard, Dartmouth and the Technology Institute are the probable opponents.

After four years blindness following a wound received overseas, Hector McDonald, of North Sydney, a former soldier of the Canadian Black Watch, has had his sight practically restored to normal by an operation at Hamilton Hospital, following a visit to the shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre.

A new magazine, with a Nova Scotia as the managing editor, is "The Open Forum Review," published by the Open Forum Society, Los Angeles. The managing editor is W. F. MacKay, formerly with the staff of the Dominion Atlantic Railway, Halifax office, who went to California to engage in university extension work. The Review is devoted to art, science, literature, music and drama. It is a bright and well edited periodical.

The town of Anishewick has opened a civic coal yard and is now prepared to sell coal to its citizens, in large or small quantities. Councilor Fred Lermon, the prime mover in the establishment of the yard, stated that the civic coal yard was not a money maker but simply an effort to help the people of the town to save money in the purchase price of their coal. Coal is to be sold at cost which for the present means $3.70 per ton delivered in the cellar. The coal is of the best quality and at this price a busy season anticipated by the civic fathers, as a saving of a dollar fifty per ton can thus be effected.

There were two applications in the Supreme Court Friday for admission to the bar of Nova Scotia. One application was that of Mrs. F. Seymour Bell, of Montreal, a graduate of McGill who is of the big-law office of Casgrain and Mitchell, of that city. Ladies are not admitted to practice at the bar in Quebec. The other application was that of Mr. Mackenzie, son of D. D. Mackenzie, of Cape Breton, a graduate of McGill and Harvard. It is not Mrs. Bell's intention to practice the profession in Nova Scotia.

Eugene Tremblay, Amie and Thomas Dion, of Campbellton, N. B., were up the L. N. R., at Grog Brook dam on a hunting expedition and had excellent luck. They got a moose, two deer and a bear. The bear had visited their tent during their absence and helped himself to some of their provisions. That night the party sat up to await his further visit and about 10 o'clock they saw him about twelve feet from the tent when he was promptly shot. Bears are not plentiful in these woods and the encounter is very unusual.

Charles Cremen, the well known guide has arrived at Campbellton, N. B. from the Tobique, bringing with him the heads of five moose and the carcass of a deer. One of the moose had a antler spread of sixty four inches. All the trophies were secured at Mr. Cremen's camp by non resident sportsmen, and were brought to be mounted. Mr. Cremen had out 17 sportsmen in the month of September and he now has 12 in the woods, with more coming.

An echo of the bone dry Sydney campaign of last May and June was heard in the supreme court when on the docket of civil cases to be tried by Mr. Justice Ritchie was placed an action by Mrs. A. O'Brien against Geo. R. Rideout, former Nova Scotia Temperance Act inspector in that city. Plaintiff charges that the inspector made damaging statements about her hotel in the course of a raid for liquor. City Solicitor Finlay Macdonald, K. C., will defend the action.

Charles Delahunt, chief clerk in the Moncton post office, was found dead - a little after ten o'clock Wednesday morning in one of the rear rooms of the post office building. He was lying on the floor with a rifle nearby and pointing towards his head. A bullet had passed through his head and lodged in the wall. The door of the room was locked on the inside. He had not been at work on Tuesday and a search was made. He was about forty six years of age.

Know Canada Contest

Two Thousand Dollars in Cash Prizes.

One Hundred and Forty Prizes

THE GREATEST CONTEST EVER OFFERED TO NEWSPAPER READERS

Open to All Readers of The Weekly Courier

The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal is starting a new contest for which they offer Two Thousand Dollars in cash, divided into 140 prizes as follows:

1st Prize	$500	3rd Prize	$100	5th Prize	$25	50 Prizes of	$10--$500
2nd " "	$250	4th " "	$50	10 Prizes of	$20--$200	75 " "	$5--$375

140 Prizes - - - - - Total $2,000

The contest will be called the "Know Canada" Contest, and contestants are required to solve fifty rebus pictures representing fifty Post Offices in Canada.

The Weekly Courier has concluded an arrangement to join The Family Herald and Weekly Star in this great contest and every reader of the Courier will have an opportunity to compete for the prizes.

Do You Know What Post Offices in Canada These Four Rebus Pictures Would Represent? Could You Solve Fifty Such Pictures?

No. 1.
A City which adopted a new name during the War. Study it carefully.

No. 2.
An Ontario City known as the Ambitious City. See page 10 of the list of Post Offices.

No. 3.
A Nova Scotia town—should be easy.

No. 4.
The Contest will not be complete without this B.C. City.

Terms of Contest

The contest is open to any member of a family one of whose members is a subscriber to either the Weekly Courier or the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal.

A list of approximately 2,000 Post Offices in Canada from which the fifty rebus pictures will be selected will be sent free to any contestant, who, before December 1st, 1921, sends one new subscriber to either the Weekly Courier or The Family Herald and Weekly Star. It will also contain a blank form on which to fill in your answers and hints to help you arrive at the correct answers. A self-addressed stamped envelope should be sent with the new subscription for the return of the printed list.

One NEW subscriber to either the Weekly Courier or The Family Herald and Weekly Star sent in by a competitor will take the place of one incorrect answer in the competition, thus 49 correct answers and one NEW subscriber will count as 50 correct answers or 50 points.

Two NEW subscribers to either paper will take the place of two incorrect answers, thus 48 correct answers and two new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Three NEW subscribers to either paper will take the place of three incorrect answers, thus 47 correct answers and three new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Four NEW subscribers to either paper will take the place of four incorrect answers, thus 46 correct answers and four new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Five NEW subscriptions to either paper will take place of five incorrect answers, thus 45 correct answers and five new subscriptions will count as 50 correct answers.

Five NEW subscriptions to either paper will be the limit to be credited in the competition. This places all contestants on an equal footing.

Fifty correct answers and five NEW subscriptions to either paper will be the highest points obtainable.

Four pictures will be published each week simultaneously in the Weekly Courier and The Family Herald and Weekly Star. Answers MUST NOT be sent in until the 50 drawings have appeared in both papers. Ample notice will be given.

In case of a tie the prizes will be divided. For instance, if there are three who have earned say 64 points and no one has obtained the maximum of 55, the first three prizes totalling $850, would be divided amongst them.

The decision of the Editor of The Family Herald will be final.

No employees of the Weekly Courier or the Family Herald are allowed to compete.

Contest will begin early in October. See that your subscription to the Weekly Courier and The Family Herald is paid, well in advance and prevent losing a single issue. Back numbers cannot be supplied.

New subscribers may enter the contest by complying with the above conditions.

Address—The Weekly Courier, Digby,

A large gathering. In October of that year Rev. D. W. Crandall began a brief pastorate. In July of the following year a number of members were dismissed to form a Church at South Ridge.

Rev. Melbourne Parker was pastor of Digby and Hillgrove Churches from October, 1872, to March, 1874. This is the first use of the name Hillgrove in the records, and the name is one word, not two. Rev. I. J. Skinner and Bro. Geo. H. Goudy came from Beaver River, Yarmouth County, and conducted special services with the Church in the spring of 1876, with very gracious results. Mr. Goudy was induced to remain as pastor and in June of the following year the Church called for his ordination.

In September, 1876, Jas. A. Nichol was given a license to preach. About the same time it was decided to unite with the St. Mary's Bay Church in pastoral support. At a joint meeting of the two churches the clerk was instructed to correspond with the secretary of the "Baptist Home Missionary Union" with a view to securing a pastor, and failing there, to advertise in the Christian Messenger.

Jas. M. Aymer was appointed clerk in October, 1877. In re-engaging Mr. Goudy at this time a special vacation was specified for him and his salary was set at $550.00. The pastor's salary, for cutting the wood and firing and lighting the Church, was set at $1.00 per month. In the following spring the Church roll was carefully revised. In February, 1878, is the first record of an appeal for an offering from the "Baptist Home Missionary Board." The following month the first recorded tea-meeting was held, the proceeds being $40.52. Pastor Goudy resigned in March and left in May of that year. In June it was recorded that a circular had come from the Executive of the Board of Governors of Acadia College soliciting aid. Under the same date is the first recorded reference to the Western Baptist Association. In the autumn of that year it was decided to take an offering for missions on the first Sunday in each month.

Rev. W. L. Parker was called to the pastorate in 1878. In May of the following year the twenty-ninth anniversary of incorporation was celebrated. The statistics of that year show $4.00 given for Home Missions, $6.00 for Foreign Missions, $4.00 for Infant Ministers' Fund. The average attendance of the Sunday School is fifty-five and the year's expenses $16.00. In the fall of the next year is the first recorded mention of the Convention Fund.

In April, 1882, Mr. Aymer resigned as clerk and Abraham Smith was appointed. That year the St. Mary's Bay Church separated itself and Second Hillgrove (now Smith's Cove) Church joined Hillgrove in the support of Pastor Parker. The following year Mr. Parker resigned and Rev. L. E. Gaites again became pastor under the same arrangements, until March, 1886. During that summer he served the Hillgrove Church full time, leaving in the autumn. Rev. W. L. Parker returned the following January for a brief second pastorate. The clerk resigned that time and A. W. Parker was appointed to fill the office.

On March 2nd, 1889, incorporation was renewed, the trustees being Ephraim Bacon, Robert Reid and John Nichols. Rev. W. J. Bleakney was called in the following May. J. A. E. Nichols was appointed clerk in November. A season of grace was experienced in the spring of 1891, thirty-three being added during that year. Mr. Bleakney resigned in May, 1892, and Lieut. Davis supplied the Church for three months.

In November, 1892, the Church again joined with St. Mary's Bay Church and Rev. Wm. McGregor was called to the field. The first mention of an envelope system of offerings is recorded about that time. Mention is made of an offering of $1.00 for North West Missions in March of the following year.

The Quarterly Meetings were held at Hillgrove, January 22nd and 24th, 1894. After frequent discussion of the problem of non-resident members it was decided, in March of this year, that non-communicating members be dropped, on the understanding that if they later asked letters these might be granted, and if they returned to their home community they would be welcomed and restored to full fellowship. In May of that year the first recorded Roll Call of the Church was held. The following spring the platform was remodelled. In November, Rev. W. L. Parker was again engaged as pastor, continuing until March, 1901.

In August, 1901, Rev. J. W. Bancroft became pastor. That year the benevolences included $19.20 to assist in building a Church in Lethbridge, Alta., $22.22 for Aged Ministers' Fund, and $19.85 for Convention Fund.

On April 5th, six were received for baptism, among them Miss Lavinia Wilson, now Missionary to Bolivia. The Meeting House was painted that fall. In October, 1903, it was decided to buy a parsonage. The District meetings were held with the Church during this month.

In June, 1906, a collection is mentioned for Ministerial Education in Horton Collegiate Academy. In August of 1907 the Church's record was the payment of its deficit, H. T. Varne making a contribution of over one hundred dollars. Mr. Bancroft resigned in July, 1909.

D. W. Dixon, L.L.C., was sent to the aid by the Home Mission Board in December, 1909. He was ordained before following May and continued in his pastorate until October, 1912. About this time an ornamental fence was erected at a cost of $250. Rev. L. H. McLeod served the field for three months. In the Association after of 1913 the first mention of the Women's Missionary Aid Society, which is reported as meeting regularly and doing good work.

In November, 1913, the Church united with the Digby Church in the support of Rev. J. D. Brehan. Mr. Brehan resigned in October of the following year. Rev. Simon Siddle supplied the Churches, during the summer of 1915 and in October of that year Rev. C. W. Robbins became pastor. A Roll Call was held on May 18th, 1916. Twenty-one were baptized and twenty-six received the Lord's Supper on June 11th. In the autumn of 1916 an individual communion set was purchased. In November of that year the Temperance Hall was taken over by the Church, and repaired and painted at a cost of about five hundred dollars. Shortly after this the horse shed was erected. Another very successful Roll Call was held May 22nd, 1917, followed by special services. After a very fruitful pastorate, Mr. Robbins resigned, leaving in February, 1919.

April 10th, 1919, it was finally decided to repair and improve the Church by putting in new windows, building a spire, etc. Rev. F. McAvoy supplied the Church during the following summer, returning to College in the autumn.

Rev. D. E. Hatt was called to the pastorate of the Hillgrove and Digby churches January 1st, 1920.

The District Meeting was held in the Church on May 9th and 10th, 1921, followed by a series of meetings in which the pastor was assisted by Rev. J. H. Copeland of Weymouth. An extensive work of grace showed and on the first Sunday of June thirty-one were baptized and welcomed into the Church with three others by letter and on experience. A Roll Call was held on May 26th, after which the proposed repairs and alterations were undertaken. The new windows had been put in and the foundation made secure the preceding autumn. The entire work was completed at a cost of about $2,500. The services of re-dedication were held on Sunday, October 9th, 1921. The foregoing history of the Church was compiled after all the available records had been consulted, and a new minute book was secured in which subsequent events of interest will be carefully recorded.

DIGBY, NOVA SCOTIA, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1921

Vol. XLVIII No. 11

Last Week In The Maritime Provinces

An aftermath of the tragedy which shocked Nova Scotia a year ago, occurred at Bridgewater Wednesday night when Howard Veinot, aged sixty died as a result of a self-inflicted razor wound. He cut his throat in the morning, during the progress of a trial in the Supreme Court over the property left by his brother, Wm. Veinot, one of the victims of Havelock Veinot, who ran amuck near Hemsford, on Sept. 19, 1920, and killed four others and then himself over a petty property quarrel. William Veinot was the father of Havelock, the murderer, and the case now in the courts seems to hinge on whether the murdered father or the slayer son died first. The brothers of the father have brought suit to prove that Havelock, the murderer and suicide died before his father. In case the father died before the son, the son would be an heir to the father's property, and on Havelock's death, his mother, who is still alive, would as next of kin fall heir to the property. If, however, the son died first, the father's brother would take the property subject to the dowry interest of the widow. The testimony of the witnesses has been very contradictory and Howard was one of the principal witnesses. He put a long deep gash in his throat while in the basement of the court and spent the day in the hospital, passing away during the night.

A prominent apple buyer said in Kentville this week that this time a year ago he had bought for the English market 150,000 barrels of apples, and that this year he had not bought a single barrel and would not, as the apple market in England was badly glutted, England having the largest crop of apples this year it had ever had. He said Nova Scotia, especially the Valley, were fortunate in having the United States market handy.

At Grand Pré it is proposed to erect a memorial church by the descendants of those French Acadians who were expelled from Nova Scotia in 1755. The French Acadians of Nova Scotia today are as loyal British subjects as are in the whole empire, and their efforts to erect this memorial church deserve credit. Work on this historic church will commence early next spring.

Salisbury parish has evidently carried off the honors in the New Brunswick plebiscite on the question of importing intoxicants into the province. Of the 1,174 voters polled on Monday in Salisbury parish, only seventy-two were placed for the "wets." The women electors turned out in force.

Cape Breton police are searching for the crew of the American schooner Vagrant, who deserted their vessel when it was seized by Captain Bragg, a preventative officer at Cabarus Harbor. The schooner has been towed to Louisburg by the cutter Restless and the $15,000 worth of choice liquor on board will be held in a bonded warehouse here. The liquor is reported to be the property of a Boston man, who fled with the crew of the Vagrant when Captain Bragg, single-handed, seized the schooner and found 40 cases of the real stingo hidden behind a false bulkhead. The booze was in transit from St. Pierre to an unknown destination on the New Jersey coast.

An automobile party from St. John while coming in from Fredericton Thursday evening, saw a large cow moose dash out of the woods which bordered the road near Welsford, and race down the road in front of the fast moving automobile. The roads being very muddy, the animal slipped and fell and but for quick work by the driver, a collision would have resulted. It picked itself up and, after running a further fifty feet in front of the car, it took to the woods and vanished.

One of the worst tragedies in the criminal annals of Victoria County N. B. is reported from Crombie Settlement about five miles from Plaster Rock where Almond Crombie, a well known farmer, suddenly became a raving maniac on Saturday evening; threatened to shoot his wife and a man named Donovan; said to be from Chicago, and when they escaped, beat out the brains of the nine year old son Almond, and attacked his other son Roy, two years younger, whom he left as dead when he was scared away from the house by the arrival of neighbors. He ran into the woods and was found on Sunday morning at daybreak in a clearing, hanging to the branch of a tree, both arms dangling, with his feet just touching the ground and shouting like a mad man.

The body of Margaret Townsend, the unfortunate young woman who was so mysteriously murdered in an upstairs room in New York arrived at Lunenburg on Monday. The funeral was in charge of C. C. Sweeney, and the Rev. Mr. Knickle conducted the services at the church and grave. The deceased was a daughter of the late George Townsend, who formerly conducted a co-operative business in that town, and was prominent in Masonic circles. There are none of the family living there now, they having moved to the United States some years ago. The detectives of New York have been trying to locate the perpetrators of this crime, but so far have been unsuccessful.

As a result of the investigations which have been conducted by the Forest Service of the Crown Land Department in an area of 100,000 acres of forest fires which have occurred in New Brunswick this season, one conviction was secured against Venie Dutchie, Rogersville, at Chatham, recently. The accused was charged with setting fires contrary to the fire laws, near Rogersville, previous to the Rogersville conflagration. A fine was imposed. This is the beginning of a series of prosecutions which will be conducted by the Crown Land Department. A resident of Victoria County was recently fined. Over $100 in damages was also collected from the defendant in this action.

Either the residents of New Brunswick were largely apathetic on the question whether the privilege of importing liquor into the province for beverage purposes should be continued or the greater number who possessed convictions either side of the question regarded this results of Monday's plebiscite as a foregone conclusion as only about one-third of the eligible voters went to the polls. The same apathy coupled with adverse weather conditions, a heavy storm interrupting wire communication, made the task of collecting the returns a difficult one. The figures are far from complete, but as they stand they show a vote of 7,354 against the continuance of the present act which permits importation and 15,048 in favor. The majority which now stands at 23,000 is undoubtedly well increased to 20,000 when the returns are complete. Only two counties, Madagawick and Gloucester, voted "wet" and a view of the smaller towns, including Bathurst, Edmundston, St. Basile, St. Leonard and Shediac were on the same side of the balance sheet.

The Centenary celebration of the Presbytery of Prince Edward Island was held Tuesday, Oct. 19, at the Summerside Church. Fifteen representatives, Presbytery ministers and elders from different parts of the Province were present, besides hundreds of people. The centenary sermon was preached by the pastor, Rev. Roland MacIsaac. Prayers were received from distinguished clergymen, natives of the island, including Rev. Dr. Robert Falconer, Principal of Toronto University, and Rev. Dr. D. J. Fraser, Principal of the Montreal Presbyterian College, also from Rev. James MacIsaac and Hon. W. L. MacIsaac-King.

It is announced that Dalhousie University that as a result of conference of representatives of the various maritime colleges held at Truro, the inter-collegiate football league of this year will be divided into two sections as was the case last season. University of New Brunswick, Mount Allison and Acadia will form the western section, and St. Francis Xavier, King's and Dalhousie the eastern section. The play will for the maritime inter-collegiate title will be held at Truro on Nov. 4. In the matter of basketball it developed that only two of the universities—U. N. B. and Dalhousie—were certain of having teams, and it was arranged that these two should play off in Halifax the second week in March.

Effect will not be given to the result of the New Brunswick referendum, which prohibited the importation of liquor into that province, until early in December, according to information received from the office of the chief clerk of the province. It is expected that at least a month will elapse before the returns are completed at Ottawa and published in the Canada Gazette. When this is done the order-in-council will be passed and as usual it will go into effect 30 days from the date on which it is passed.

At Maryville, N. B. last week while boys were playing about an old barn on a farm, they came across a packing case well concealed. Their curiosity was aroused and they investigated, breaking open the case. The contents were revealed by the sight of upwards of 100 bottles of Scotch whisky, carefully laid away. The news was carried at once to the dwellings of the town, and not tolerating the presence of liquor in their town, much excitement was created. The residents were soon of the scene. In a short time the liquor was not. If the owner of the cache was present he was the acquiescent spectator of the disappearance of the bottled booze and suffered in silence.

Elisba Boone and his son, Harold, of Fredericton, a few days ago, aged the life of a baby, in the bog in College road. Mr. Boone had been working for the University of New Brunswick on college lands and noticed a bull moose and cow moose staying in one place for a time. The animals did not seem to fear him and he was very close to investigate. To his surprise he found a calf moose bogged and in danger of its life with the adult animals keeping close by. Mr. Boone went to his home and got his son, Harold. The two of them went with a tractor, the little chum, they crushed the mud from it and let it go. The three animals moved away together.

Moxham Castle, built twenty years ago at Sydney at a cost of $15,000, was offered for sale Monday to satisfy a claim held against it by the City of Sydney for $3,000 taxes but there were no bidders. During the war the castle was used as a military hospital and was later supplied, settings for the making of moving pictures.

A. W. Covey, St. John, was elected president of the Maritime Provinces branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada at the annual meeting of the union at Amherst, Friday, C. G. Thompson, Halifax, was elected vice-president, A. Doyle, Charlottetown, second vice-president, and M. Dow, St. John, secretary-treasurer. A registration committee was appointed to consist of the executive and Dr. C. H. of Acadia Amateur Athletic Association. Forty six delegates from various sections of the Maritime Provinces were present at the meeting. It was characterized largely by a determination to leave the existing situation without change.

The Halifax express Friday morning, on its way to St. John, struck a 1910 Buick automobile which had become stalled on a crossing near Maccan Station. The car was carried fifty feet or more, smashed to pieces, and John Bowser, who was driving, was killed. A youth who was with him jumped from the car on the approach of the train, but it was thought Mr. Bowser stayed by the car too long in an effort to move it from the tracks. The train was stopped and run to Maccan and returned with a doctor, but nothing could be done for Mr. Bowser. He is said to have lived some six miles or so from Amherst.

On Thursday afternoon while hunting in the woods at Cold Brook, about three miles from Petitcodiac, N. B. William Blakey, accompanied by his little son, made a gruesome discovery. Leaning on the trunk of a tree that had blown down was a skeleton of a man. The body was badly decomposed, the head being severed from the body. The boots were found lying about three feet from the body. The man had been wearing a brown sweater and a heavy rubber vest. The clothes were also partly gone. The man had brownish hair and wore about a number six shoe. No sign was found by Mr. Blakey. No rumors of anyone having been missing are in circulation.

Hulthén Wright, the ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Wright, of Hopewell Hill, N. B., who has had defective vision since birth, will be totally blind as the result of an accident that befell him Thursday when he ran into a disc harrow, one of the levers of which caught in his eye, which he had the better light, and well tearing it from the socket. The injured lad was at once taken to the hospital at Moncton, where both eyes were removed, the right eye having been practically without sight previously. The injured boy was accompanied by his mother, and the operation will aid Friday was reported resting comfortably. Much sympathy is felt for the unfortunate lad, who is a very bright little fellow and in spite of quite limited vision had made fine progress at school.

A fatality occurred in the waters off Petitcodiac N. B. on Thursday when Edgar P. Comeau, aged thirty, son of Peter J. Comeau, of Petitcodiac, lost his life while fishing in a boat. He and several other men were out on the water from shore at the time and the main boom of the craft swung unexpectedly against Comeau while he was standing by the gunwale and precipitated him overboard. Every effort was made by his companions to rescue him but he was soon lost to view and despite their long search about the scene they failed to recover the body.

The convention of the Baptist Woman's Mission Union was concluded in Halifax Thursday night. $24,207 will be spent in the foreign mission field this year, and $13,000 for the home missions. To do will be added $1,500 for the service of evangelists in Nova Scotia. At the election of officers, Mrs. W. G. Clark, Fredericton, was unanimously chosen president. Other officers included the following: Donald Grant, Wolfville; Mrs. W. C. McIntyre, St. John; Miss Sadie Jones, P. E. I. General Treasurer—Mrs. Mary Smith, Amherst.

W. C. T. U. AT NORTH WEYMOUTH

At the regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. on Wednesday the subject of Christian Citizenship was taken up. The program was one of the best that the Union has presented. One who had the privilege of being present was very impressed with the conviction that even greater efforts must be put forth to uphold the ideals for which the organization stands.

The main theme was that God must be enthroned in the hearts of the people, and that without Him the nation would perish.

We are faced with the deplorable fact that the people are drifting away from the chaotic condition into which the terrible war has thrown it.

A paper on Christian Citizenship read as follows: "The first dictionary meaning of Citizenship is 'the status of a citizen, with its rights and privileges'."

The first meaning of Christian is 'a disciple of Jesus Christ.' Then first and foremost we are to begin to make of our citizenship a Christian citizenship.

We find on a motor car a plate marked 'SAFETY FIRST.' In our houses we should find a far more important plate marked 'CHRISTIAN FIRST.'

Foremost in our needs today is a religious home influence built into the child. This is the Foundation Stone towards admission into school life where this influence should be supplemented by the most efficient teachers the land possesses.

These are the needs following are enormous, and the scope of work undertaken is not enough to give day after day, beginning, direction, or impulse, but they are to be followed up until brought to a conclusion.

In a military camp sentries are placed at points of weakness. Our characters are placed at points of weakness. For often the points of greatest strength are really points of weakness. We are slow in developing our God-given powers.

Our life is a constant struggle, a constant fear of masquerading in a better garb than we possess. We do not need great things, but that which is common things shall be lifted up and illumined by a quiet God-like and dignified spirit.

Being a citizen of a Christian Citizen should not regard life as sacred and with all modesty become a living proof of the best that is in him.

Why Must it Be Zam-Buk?

—because in skin troubles, Zam-Buk has this great advantage over ordinary ointments, salves and lotions.

Zam-Buk is a highly concentrated medicinal and perfectly free from medicinal drugs or animal fats.

Zam-Buk is a highly concentrated medicinal preparation, and owing to its unique composition possesses soothing, healing, and curative qualities of rare power.

Zam-Buk also combines the three virtues of Simplicity, Effectiveness, and Safety. It is always ready for use, always reliable and absolutely pure.

Doctors, Nurses, and Ambulance parties who have subjected Zam-Buk to practical tests declare it to be wonderfully effective in superficial wounds and obstinate skin diseases. It makes for the immediate alleviation of pain and burning skin irritation. It destroys skin disease at the roots without damaging the delicate flesh tissue. It gives instant protection against germ-infection and blood-poison, and promotes the quick growth of healthy new skin.

PAPER MONEY IN EUROPE

GREAT INCREASE IN AMOUNT OF NOTES IN CIRCULATION.

Effect of the More or Less Artistic War Notes—Once They Helped to Arouse Patriotic Sentiment, But More Recently They Have Helped to Complicate International Exchange.

For many months past international exchange has been going into more severe straits, and the slight-of-hand tricks than the most skilled magician. This is largely due because the markets of the world have been flooded with paper money to such an extent that currency values have skidded and collided with one another until bankers have been left with the end as to how to deal with the lightning-like changes. Almost ever since the beginning of the world war the presses of several European countries, particularly Germany, Austria, Russia, and Turkey, have been turning out paper money with very little regard for gold or silver metal whatever as a basis. Added to these was the rapidity with which gold has disappeared from circulation, so that prior tokens have had to take their place without any more intrinsic value than the bushels of paper notes. As a matter of fact, Europe, at present lives on paper.

In a recent article on the attitude of the German peasant to paper money, Mr. Joseph King points out that the peasant and rural economy are the foundation of a new Europe, both materially and morally. One aspect of this truth is the attitude of the peasant everywhere to the paper money which now floods overland. No one has a shrewd sense that paper money is not worth what the same nominal value in hard cash represents.

In every land the farmer and land-worker have done well in the past few years, certainly very well compared with the town-worker; everywhere the peasant has hesitated to accept the paper money which the printing presses have supplied to pay for his corn, cattle, and other produce. He had had to be bribed or humored by high prices of other devices to accept the paper currency.

A recent writer recording his impressions of Germany after her downfall has written that German devotion to science, literature and art has stood her in good stead in the hour of national misery. In many strange ways Germans find solace, the power to endure and a basis for reconstruction. There is the Wandervogel movement, in which young people go out into the country as pedestrians and wanderers, musketeers, arrows in various ways astounding independence and vigor; there are movements of promise in dramatic and musical art, in literature and in all the forms to which the printing press may be adapted; indeed, in many signs of the time, there is hope.

The local paper notes of Germany are amongst these signs; scarcely known as yet by the people of other countries, they are a new outlet for national feeling, and an opportunity for moral stimulus. When evidences like these of originality, resource and self-expression are found in a desperately distressed people, then, granted endurance and permission to progress in peace, there is hope for a new life in a reconstructed land.

From 1914 to 1920, says one authority, there has been no less than a 600 per cent. increase in the paper currency of the world, while the gold reserve behind it has increased only 40 per cent. The face value of the thirty principal countries of the world aggregated about $7,500,000 in 1914, $50,000,000 at the date of the armistice, and $70,000,000,000 in December, 1920. The four central powers—Germany, Austria, Hungary, Bulgaria, and Turkey—show an advance from $120,000,000 in 1914 to $12,300,000,000 at the close of the war.

But central Europe is not alone in its excessive paper money issues. In one year since the signing of the armistice France increased its paper money by $1,100,000,000. Every city and town and hamlet that had its own bank received permission from the Government to issue paper money. Five and twenty-franc denominations have been most frequent, but 50 centimes or half-franc notes, have also been issued, and some banks even went to the extent of issuing 5 and 10 centime notes.

All the French notes were beautifully decorated with artistic designs. Even the paper money of the smallest design had engraved figures. A 50-centime note of the department had engraved statues of Joffre and Charles Martel, the two men who had kept the Hun at bay. The 1-franc piece of the Bank of Rochelle had the Bastille. When it became apparent that Verdun was to be one of the turning points of the war, engravings of the rock of Verdun became popular. Most of these notes have been issued for two years or less, and have been renewed many times.

History has been repeating itself in the case of France, for who does not remember the assignats issued at the time of the French Revolution? As a natural consequence of the increase in paper, there has been a dearth of coin, and France once resorted in her extremity to the issuance of leather money, and postage stamps have been extensively used as currency.

Maps as Paper for Stamps. Many of the new republics which were a by-product of the war are utilizing all kinds of material for their needs. For example, Latvia prints her stamps on the back of maps. Paper used for maps is generally good, so the reverse of the sheet makes an excellent white paper for stamps.

At Burton-on-Trent, Eng., Thomas H. Hill an inmate of the workhouse, saved his coppers for 20 years, accumulating $50. Then he applied for leave to visit friends, and he been granted.

BOW NEY DIED.

Story That Famous Marshal Escaped Is Not True.

There never was the smallest justification for the story that Marshal Ney escaped in disguise to Switzerland and that another man was shot in his stead. As the versions usually published of the last moments of "the bravest of the brave" all differ from each other in important particulars, we would suggest that you should read the account of Ney's trial and execution given in the "Memoirs of the Count de Rochechouart," recently published in an English translation by Mr. John Murray. From this account it is clear that Fouché, aided by Talleyrand, laid the snare from which the intended victim could find no escape. Six of the ten judges who formed the court-martial that was first nominated by the newly-restored king to try the illustrious prisoner had taken part with Napoleon during the Hundred Days, and bore therefore as much guilt as Ney himself. In all likelihood they would have acquitted him, but the wily Fouché gave them no chance. Rochechouart does not say so, but it is impossible to conceive that, knowing how the court-martial was constituted, his advocates, Dumas and Berrier, would have acted as they did unless they had been prompted by some one behind the scenes. They took the ground that the title of Marshal was not a rank but a dignity, and that the Chamber of Peers alone had the power to try one bearing the title. "This legal opinion," says the memoirist, "cost the life of Ney. The court was really formed and they would have obeyed an order to attend a court levee. This was on December 6, 1815. At three o'clock the next morning Rochechouart, who at the time was commandant of Paris, received a sealed letter from an anonymous source. 'Dumas,' who commanded the First Military Division, and was the count's immediate superior. The letter ordered the execution to take place on the same day. The prisoner was driven to the Luxembourg gardens in a carriage, in which the only other occupant was the Abbe de Pierre. When the carriage stopped Ney exclaimed, 'What! There already?' He refused to be blindfolded, but stood facing the platoon. 'Then,' says Rochechouart, 'in an attitude that I shall never forget, it was as noble and dignified, without bravado, he took off his hat, and, availing himself of the moment when the adjutant stepped aside to give the signal to fire, he said these words, which I distinctly heard, 'Frenchmen, I protest against my sentence,' my nationality. As he said these words he placed his hand on his heart; the volley was fired, and he fell.'

A Strange Monster.

F. C. Cornell, Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society, who recently returned to England after spending twenty years in practically unknown parts of South Africa, is author of a story about an unknown monster that had been seen near the Great Falls of the Orange river. It has a huge head and a neck ten feet long like a bending tree. It seizes the native cattle and drags them under water. The natives call it "Kymam," or the Great Thing. Last May Mr. Cornell, accompanied by two white companions, W. H. Brown and N. B. Way of Cape Town, and three Hottentots, went to the junction of the Orange and Great Orange rivers to see the monster if possible. He writes: "At the cries of the natives I saw something black, huge and sinuous swimming rapidly against the current in the swirling rapids. The monster kept its enormous body under water, but the neck was plainly visible. 'The monster may have been a very gigantic python, but if it is it was of an incredible size. This monster may have lived for hundreds of years. Python approaching it in size have been said to have lived that long.'

The Eagle.

The eagle, according to aeronauts, remains not merely the king of birds but in flying quality the swiftest of all birds. A French " flyer" from the French nation of St. Louis on February 19, 1916, had a match with an eagle near Mount Olympus. The eagle competed of his free will.

"I was followed by the eagle," writes Commander Larowy, "at a distance of about 100 feet. Our machine was making her full measured sixty nautical miles an hour. In comparison with the bird seemed so perfectly at a standstill that I was able to photograph it with an exposure of a half second, as the sky was cloudy, and the plane gave an absolutely exact reproduction. For two minutes the bird practically did not move its wings, and seemed to glide, except every ten or twelve seconds, when it made a very slight and careless sort of rowing motion as if to keep it.

"When the bird abandoned all thought of attacking its strange rival it went full speed on its way, averaging much more than sixty miles an hour soon disappeared."

Statue to a Cook.

A monument is to be erected at Strasbourg to the man who invented pate de foie gras.

This delectable form of preserved goose liver is now sold in Strasbourg. It is sold potted, and a trade to the value of $4,000,000 was done in it annually up till 1914. Its inventor was a cook named Close, in the service of Marshal de Contades, a French officer who lived in the second half of the eighteenth century.

The method by which the stuffed liver is introduced into the unfortunate goose by keeping them in cramped surroundings and high temperature and gorging them with food several times a day.

Commencing October 1, the menu prices at all Canadian Pacific hotel dining rooms will be reduced sixteen per cent. and may in some varieties on the menu reach as high as twenty per cent.

Know Canada Contest

Two Thousand Dollars in Cash Prizes.

One Hundred and Forty Prizes

THE GREATEST CONTEST EVER OFFERED TO NEWSPAPER READERS

Open to All Readers of The Weekly Courier

The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal is starting a new contest for which they offer Two Thousand Dollars in cash, divided into 140 prizes as follows:--

1st Prize	$500	3rd Prize	$100	5th Prize	$25	50 Prizes of $10--$500
2nd "	$250	4th "	$50	10 Prizes of $20--$200	75	" " $5--$375

140 Prizes - - - - - Total $2,000

The contest will be called the "Know Canada" Contest, and contestants are required to solve fifty rebus pictures representing fifty Post Offices in Canada.

The Weekly Courier has concluded an arrangement to join The Family Herald and Weekly Star in this great contest and every reader of the Courier will have an opportunity to compete for the prizes.

Do You Know What Post Offices in Canada These Four Rebus Pictures Would Represent? Could You Solve Fifty Such Pictures?

No. 1. A city which adopted a new name during the War. Study it carefully.

No. 2. An Ontario City known as the Ambitious City. See page 10 of the list of Post Offices.

No. 3. A Nova Scotia town—should be easy.

No. 4. The Contest must not be completed without this H.C. City.

Terms of Contest

The contest is open to any member of a family one of whose members is a subscriber to either the Weekly Courier or the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal.

A list of approximately 2,000 Post Offices in Canada from which the fifty rebus pictures will be selected will be sent free to any contestant, who, before December 1st, 1921, sends one new subscriber to either the Weekly Courier or The Family Herald and Weekly Star. It will also contain a blank form on which to fill in your answers and hints to help you arrive at the correct answers. A self-addressed stamped envelope should be sent with the new subscription for the return of the printed list.

One NEW subscriber to either the Weekly Courier or The Family Herald and Weekly Star sent in by a competitor will take the place of one incorrect answer in the competition, thus 49 correct answers and one NEW subscriber will count as 50 correct answers or 50 points.

Two NEW subscribers to either paper will take the place of two incorrect answers, thus 48 correct answers and two new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Three NEW subscribers to either paper will take the place of three incorrect answers, thus 47 correct answers and three new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Four NEW subscribers to either paper will take the place of four incorrect answers, thus 46 correct answers and four new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Five NEW subscribers to either paper will take place of five incorrect answers, thus 45 correct answers and five new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Six NEW subscribers to either paper will be the limit to be credited in the competition. This places all contestants on an equal footing.

Fifty correct answers and five NEW subscriptions to either paper will be the highest points obtainable.

Four pictures will be published each week simultaneously in the Weekly Courier and The Family Herald and Weekly Star. Answers MUST NOT be sent in until the 30 drawings have appeared in both papers. Ample notice will be given.

In case of a tie the prizes will be divided. For instance, if there are three who have earned say 54 points and no one has obtained the maximum of 55, the first three prizes totalling $850, would be divided amongst them.

The decision of the Editor of The Family Herald will be final.

No employees of the Weekly Courier or the Family Herald are allowed to compete.

Contest will begin early in October. See that your subscription to the Weekly Courier and The Family Herald is paid well in advance and prevent losing a single issue. Back numbers cannot be supplied.

New subscribers may enter the contest by complying with the above conditions.

Address—The Weekly Courier, Digby, or The Family Herald and Weekly Star, Montreal.

SPECIAL CLUBBING OFFER

The Weekly Courier costs $2.00 a year.

The Family Herald and Weekly Star costs $2.00 a year.

We now offer a full year's subscription to both papers with the right to compete in the "Know Canada" Contest for

POINTS IN THE ELECTION LAW

Provisions of Interest as Canadians are to Vote for Federal Representatives.

There are many things in connection with the conduct of and procedure in elections which are changed considerably under the present Dominion Election Act from what they were formerly. One of the amendments is that referring to campaign fund contributions. Clause Ten has been made to read:

"No unincorporated company or association and no incorporated company or association other than one incorporated for political purposes alone, shall directly or indirectly, contribute, loan, advance, pay or promise to offer to pay any money, or its equivalent, to, or for, or in aid of, any candidate at an election, or to, or for, or in aid of any political party, committee or association, or to, or for, or in aid of any company incorporated for political purposes, or to, or for, or in aid of any political purpose whatever, or for the indemnification or reimbursement of any person for moneys so used."

Another clause makes it an offence for any person, not being elector or a candidate, and who resides outside of Canada, to canvass for votes or in any way endeavor to induce voters to vote for any of the candidates at an election.

The conveyance of electors to polls, etc., is also forbidden by the act. This is not a new amendment but one which is strengthened somewhat in the amending of the former act. It is not an offence under the act, however, for anyone being an elector, to pay his own fare to or from the polling station.

By another clause it is made an offence to pay or promise to pay the expenses, wages or other costs of an elector going to or from a polling station. Under the act provision is made that "Every employer shall, on polling day, allow to every elector in his employ at least two additional hours other than the noon hour, for voting, and no employer shall make any reduction from the pay of such elector or impose upon or exact from him any penalty by reason of his absence during such hours."

For the protection of candidates in election law, it is made an indictable offence for any person, during, or before any election to make or publish any false statement of fact in relation to the personal character or conduct of any candidate for the purpose of affecting the return of that candidate to office.

For the keeping of order in and about polling stations, election officers are given powers as peace officers to arrest or order the arrest of any person committing an offence under the act. The returning officer or his deputy may, during nomination day and polling day require any person within half a mile of the place of nomination or polling "to deliver to him any firearm, sword, staff, bludgeon, or other offensive weapon in the hands or personal possession of such person and the person so required shall forthwith so deliver." Nor may a stranger come armed into a polling division nor a resident arm himself.

Other prohibitions in the act are against the use of banners, ribbons, favours, badges or labels to display the political leanings of the wearer on election day or within eight days of that date. There are also provisions against the selling or giving away of liquor on the day of voting, and also provisions against the treating of electors to drink or amusements, and stringent provisions against bribery, giving or promising employment and the demanding or receiving of bribes in any form.

Persons guilty of indictable offences under the act are liable on indictment or summary conviction of fines not exceeding two thousand dollars or to imprisonment for a term of two years, with or without hard labor, or to both fine and imprisonment. Non-indictable offences under the act are punishable by a fine not exceeding $500 or one year in prison or both fine and imprisonment. Persons found guilty of illegal or corrupt practices are also disqualified from voting or candidature for a period of five years for an illegal practice and seven years for a corrupt practice.

Old and New
McGill.E. W. BEATTY,
McGill's New ChancellorJAMES MCGILL
Founder of McGill University

Although the centenary celebrations at Montreal indicate that McGill University is already a hundred years old, the roots of that great educational institution reach still further into the past. In the fascinating volume "McGill and His Story" just published, Cyrus MacMillan, the author, states that the British settlers in Lower Canada, after the conquest of Quebec were eager that their children should have at least an elementary education. It was felt, too, that in the unrest and the uncertainty of the period immediately following the American Revolution it was not advisable to send students in search of higher professional training to the universities of the United States, which in the days of their British allegiance had attracted Canadian students in large numbers.

Efforts were accordingly made to establish a system of free schools with the hope that later a university might be founded. As a result of the agitation for the providing of educational opportunities in Lower Canada, The Royal Institute for the Advancement of Learning was established under this Act, the King gave directions for the establishment of a competent number of Free Schools for the instruction of children in the rudiments of elementary learning; and also as occasion should require for foundations of a more comprehensive nature.

Accordingly, elementary schools were soon erected in different parts of the Province, one-room buildings of cedar logs. Indeed, they were mere log-huts, but they provided the first free English Education in Lower Canada, and by the foundation for a Canadian nationality. The Secretary's salary was always many months in arrears and he frequently complained, with unfortunately little satisfaction, that not only had he given his time for some years without remuneration, but that he had expended even his own fuel and candles. It was not unusual for teachers to be content "for not keeping school at all," or for giving too many holidays, or for tardiness in opening school in the morning and sleeping in closing it in the afternoon. At least one teacher was warned that his arrears in salary would not be paid and that he would be instantly dismissed "if he did not treat his wife with greater kindness."

The Royal Institution for the Advancement of Learning supervised the establishment of McGill College and directed it in its infancy, for under the Act of 1827 all property and money given for educational purposes in the Province of Lower Canada was placed under its control. James McGill is described by his contemporaries as "a frank and social temperament," in figure, "tall and commanding, handsome in youth, and becoming somewhat corpulent in his old age," and in his leisure "much given to reading." James McGill died in 1813 and in his will bequeathed to the Royal Institution for the Advancement of Learning, in trust, the sum of £10,000, and the Burnside Estate of forty-six acres, together with the dwelling house and other buildings for the erection of the estate, and the endowment of a University or College.

The first Principal of McGill was the Reverend George Jessup, a Presbyterian Minister, who was appointed Principal in 1824 while the university was only a name. The official opening did not take place till June 24th, 1829, and was attended by what the contemporary press called a gathering of "numerous and respectable individuals."

Anxious years marked the early history of McGill, due to lack of funds and quarrels between the Board of the Royal Institution and the Governors of the College. In November, 1848, the Governors had only the sum of $54 at their disposal. They failed to secure the lease of the site and the two Lecturers in proportion to the amount of salary in arrears and as a result the Lecturer in French, M. Montier, received $2 1/2 as his share for January 1st, 1848, to November 20th, 1848. That was the full amount of salary received by him during the year; but he still says the school had his cow and his garden.

Dr. B. C. Macmillan wrote an account of medical student life about this time. "A large proportion of the students," he said, "were men verging on, or who had passed middle age. Indeed, several of them were married men and the heads of families. There was a general feeling of anxiety to secure material for practical anatomy were of frequent occurrence. The last, involving as it did a certain amount of dissection, was particularly so. The dissections were not at all times successful, and the participants in them were sometimes thwarted in their attempts and had to beat a precipitate retreat from the scene after serious threatened injury."

The first real progress was made when the late Sir John Dawson became Principal. "When I accepted the principality of McGill," he said in his reminiscences, "I had not been in Montreal, and knew the college and the men connected with it only by reputation. I had heard that in October, 1855. Materially it was represented by two blocks of unfinished and partly ruinous buildings, standing amid a wilderness of excavators and masons' rubbish overgrown with weeds and bushes. The grounds were unfenced and were pastured at will by herds of cattle, which not only cropped the grass, but hoveled on the already leveling ground, and a few old oaks and cottonwood trees, most of which have had to give place to our new buildings. The only access from the town was by a circuitous and ungraded cart track, almost impassable at night. The buildings had been abandoned by the new Board, and the classes of the Faculty of Arts were held in the upper story of a brick building in the town, the lower part of which was occupied by the High School. A direct appeal for financial assistance was then made to the citizens of Montreal. It met with encouraging response, which greatly relieved the situation. It was what Dr. Dawson, forty years later, called 'the beginning of a stream of liberality which has since flowed into the college's budget up to the present date.'"

The more recent expansion of McGill to its present position is well known. The appointment of Sir Arthur Currie as Principal and the still more recent election of Mr. E. W. Beatty, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, as Chancellor have given it a practical administrative basis which is calculated to ensure its continued progress as an essentially National University.

James McGill wrote: "There is a new spirit in McGill. Today the pulsing life, under the guidance of a general forward movement, unimpeded and undivided by considerations of compromise of reaction or of acquiescence. The University is country, not a city. It is seeking to draw its students, like the true 'Stadium Generis,' from every country on the globe, and to send them back to serve their individual countries to advance the enlightenment of the world." McGill's first century has been a century of trial, but a century of great accomplishment of a great work. The publishers of "McGill and His Story" are S. B. Gandy, of the Oxford University Press, Toronto, in Canada, and John Lane, London, England, and the John Lane Company in New York.

A special dispatch from Ottawa says that it has been definitely arranged that L. S. Brown, now assistant general manager of the Canadian National Railways, will be placed in charge of the Intercolonial unit of the Canadian National group, with headquarters at Moncton.

All ore mines and quarries of the Dominion Steel Corporation and Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Companies have been merged under H. B. Gillis, mines and quarries superintendent, for the Dominion company it has been announced in Sydney.

Charged with attempting to extort money by menaces from Mrs. Annie O'Hearn, proprietress of the Royal Hotel, Sydney, Herbert Moseley, an attorney, and James Weatherbee, a county constable, were released on bail by Magistrate Alexander Campbell, pending a preliminary hearing. Mrs. O'Hearn's story is that Weatherbee came to her Monday morning, told her that Nova Scotia Temperance Act Inspector Karn was about to bring several "sure conviction" liquor cases against her, intimated that the fine would total $2,100, declared that he and his associates were holding Karn's witness in an office up town, and suggested that the cases might be avoided by paying $350.

Dr. L. G. Pinault, Campbellton, President of the N. B. Medical Association, has been notified that he has been elected a "fellow" of the American College of Surgeons. The Doctor and Madame Pinault have gone to Montreal where they will board the vessel "Corsican" en route for Europe. Dr. Pinault will visit England, France, Belgium and Italy and spend the winter attending clinics in the best hospitals of Paris. Congratulations to the distinguished Canadian surgeon and good wishes for a happy journey from their many friends.

At an early hour Saturday morning a pile of lumber containing one million feet, caught fire at Millville about 14 miles from Oxford, and was totally destroyed. It was piled in a field on the McElmiston farm, and included a quantity of dimensioned lumber. The lumber was owned by R. M. Baxter, of River Philip. The origin of the fire is not known, but loss was practically covered by insurance.

An agent of the white slave traffic in Boston and vicinity is believed to be operating in North Sydney and the Sydney district. An advertisement recently appeared in a Nova Scotia paper for a maid in a small family. Two North Sydney girls answered the advertisement but on applying for the position were told that the man's wife was sick in one of the American States, and asked the applicants to go there before deciding to take the position and to consult her clergyman in the matter and be advised by him. It has been alleged that several other young women were engaged for the position by the same man.

The following resolution on church union was adopted by the Maritime Baptists at Fredericton. "In view of the various pronouncements of organic church union which are being made by various religious bodies, this convention of the Maritime Baptists in annual session, wishes to make known our desire for the most sympathetic relationship with all other Christian communities, but deem it well and necessary to make it quite plain that any negotiations looking toward a closer union would not be entertained that did not recognize the validity and equality of our ordination with that of all other religious bodies."

There was amusement in a belt line car at Halifax on Sunday when an aged lady undertook a campaign against immodest dressing. Two young women boarded the car. Attention of passengers was focused upon the two on account of the brevity of their apparel. Notwithstanding the chilly breeze the girls were very undressed. The elderly lady rose from her seat and approached the two, said: "Would you like me to give you some pins?" Her offer was met with laughter from the girls.

Lobster fishermen all along the Nova Scotia southern coast are making extensive preparations for the fall fishing which will begin on November 1. All the coastal steamers are taking very heavy cargoes of supplies of all kinds for distribution at the various fishing stations and "very available craft is being sent to Grand Manan or the north shore for bait. In conversation recently with the manager of one of the Tuskent Island lobster factories it was learned that several of the packers contemplate operating their factories for the few weeks the fishing is to be allowed.

The pretty Roman Catholic church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel at Prospect, Halifax county, was burned on Tuesday. The church was built in 1852 and was one of the landmarks of the coast for miles. All the interior ornaments and decorations were destroyed. Father Cragg is the parish priest. The cause of the fire is unknown.

A Berwick fruit company has announced that it will receive contributions of apples from Nova Scotia growers as contributions for Russian relief. The company states it will dispose of the apples in the better markets and turn the proceeds over to the famine fund.

Under the direction of W. B. MacCoy, secretary of Industries and Immigration, there went forward on the S.S. Manchester Exchange, which sailed from Halifax one of the finest exhibits of Nova Scotia fruit that has ever been sent across the Atlantic ocean. This is to be exhibited at the London Daily Mail Imperial Show to be held at the Crystal Palace Oct. 28 to Nov. 5. There also went forward at the same time an equally striking exhibit of Nova Scotia fruit that has been sent across the Atlantic ocean. McGill Centennial Convocation — Lord Byng, Governor-General, after receiving the Degree of Doctor of Laws, followed by the new Chancellor, E. W. Beatty, K.C., President of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Canadians Have Very Conservative Taste For Fish Species Popular in United States, Great Britain and Germany Practically Unmarketable Here—Great Variety of Sea Food to Choose From.

The people of this country are eating more fresh fish than they did last year. Records show that in all parts of the country the ration of fish is being increased. For the first six months of this year there was nearly a 50 per cent. more of fresh sea fish consumed than in the corresponding period of 1920. From January to June close to 22,000,000 pounds went from both coasts to interior markets, but the volume is still not noted to not more than twenty-five per cent.

Although more than six hundred species inhabit our waters, of which more than two hundred are edible, many of them extremely palatable and nutritious, not more than twenty-five are familiar to the consuming public, and the great portion of the trade is limited to six or seven species.

It is rather strange how tastes for fish develop. The United States, for example, will buy all the swordfish Nova Scotia can produce and send wholesale this year as high as twenty-eight cents per pound, yet it is next to impossible to market the species in Canada. In Great Britain the sole is the delicacy among sea foods. In this country it is very little known and in fact our flat fishes are not appreciated.

The Italian people regard the tentacles of an octopus as a luxury. Canned squid, so prolific in the Atlantic, would appeal to them very much, but would it be safe to place it on the tables of Canadian households? How the Germans prize eels. A large haul taken from the St. Lawrence brought as high as seventy-five and eighty cents a pound among German and other foreign nationals in New York. In Canada the sale of eels is very small—the price is not high. These are just a few examples to show how very conservative we are in the selection of sea foods. When eels are placed before us we think of the wriggling, slimy creature as repulsive. Likewise when octopus is suggested, the unsightly creature is brought up before our mind and the food is condemned on that account. Personally the writer has no high regard for the slovenly, filthy creatures which give us pork, but the meat is not condemned for that reason.

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT SEA FISHES

HERRING. The quest for the herring constitutes one of the important branches of our extremely diversified fishing industry. More than 2,056,680 cwt. of herring were landed last year on our Atlantic and Pacific coasts, with a first hand value of $2,337,738. No other fish were captured in such abundance, the cod generally believed to be the most prolific, falling some 75,000 cwt. short of the herring catch. From the standpoint of value it gave place only to salmon, lobster, cod and halibut.

The common herring (clupea harengus) is beyond question, says D. S. Jordan, the most important of food fishes in the Atlantic, if not in the world. Distributed as it is throughout the whole of the north Atlantic it affords occupation to many thousands of fishermen. An estimate made by Prof. Huxley places the world's annual catch at three billion fishes or half that number of pounds, and some authorities place it even higher. But even three billion is probably no greater than the number contained in a single shoal if it covers a long way to supplying the whole of man's present-day consumption of herring.

The herring is found in the colder waters of the north Atlantic. It has been caught on the American shore as far south as Cape Hatteras but it seldom prevails in abundance south of New England. It very seldom takes to brackish water, and it spawns in the open sea, the female depositing from thirty to fifty thousand eggs. Unlike most fishes the herring is regarded as particularly delicious at spawning time and the most successful herring fisheries are prosecuted when the fish are in full roe, that is, ripe in eggs and in milk. On the American side of the Atlantic the herring fishery is entirely a shore fishery. With the exception of a few occasionally taken for bait by the line fishermen on the banks, our herring are all caught in the immediate vicinity of the shore. Although the fishery on the west side of the ocean has not assumed the importance it has long held in Europe, there is no doubt that the species obtains in as great abundance immediately off our shore as in the North Sea and European Atlantic. Our fishermen, however, never found conditions sufficiently inducing to invest in special equipment to fish off shore. The Fisheries Department, Ottawa, conducted experiments in 1915 and 1916 which seemed to indicate the prolificacy of herring in the St. Lawrence and the Gulf of St. Lawrence. A class adapted to "Scotch" curing which is popular in the American and other markets. Generally speaking, the inshore fish are not suited for this cure. The herring fishery on our Atlantic coast extends from Newfoundland to Cape Cod, while the stretch from the Bay of Fundy southward is practically a continuous fishing ground.

DEDICATED A SQUARE TO MEMORY OF J. HORACE FARNHAM

Unusual Honor Paid to a Nova Scotian Boy by the City of Boston—No Canadian Officer or Private Has Ever Before Received Such a Distinctive Honor.

Several thousand people joined with the American Legion, The Veterans of Foreign Wars, the G. A. R. and several civic organizations on Columbus Day in paying tribute to the memory of the late Lieutenant J. Horace Farnham, and these other young men of Jamaica Plain, Mass., who made the supreme sacrifice in the World War.

The procession was led by the police escort from Station 43. Then came the Fifth Company, Massachusetts National Guard band, and the colors.

A company of bluejackets from the U. S. S. "Nantucket" came next with Lieut. C. C. Von Dausen in command.

The Marshal J. O'Connell Post, American Legion, followed by several companies of members and also many members from the Veterans Foreign Wars.

The third section was made up of a large number of citizens from the different civic organizations, and then followed several automobiles containing the families of the men in whose memory the squares were named and also the speakers.

J. HORACE FARNHAM SQUARE. At the corner of Elm and Newburn streets the procession came to a halt and Com. J. Edward Murray introduced the Rev. John R. Chaffee, pastor of the First M. E. Church, who offered a prayer in which it he thanked God for Columbus who "discovered" America, for the men who developed the land, and for the splendid spirit which has entered into world affairs. Following the prayer, Mr. Murray said that this square was to be dedicated in memory of the late Lieut. J. Horace Farnham.

Dean Everett W. Lord, of Boston University, spoke of the personal life of Mr. Farnham and of finding him a clean upright young man who was always a leader for the right at school. "He did not wait for his country to declare war but enlisted in the Canadian Royal Flying Corps."

"His college life was perfect," his motives high, his fellows looked upon him as a leader and they sought his advice. He was fitted to live and he was fitted to die. There is no untimely end for those who are fit to go on."

The members of the Alpha Epsilon Psi Fraternity, of which Lieut. Farnham was a member, sent a wreath of white chrysanthemums which were presented to Mrs. Farnham, (mother) by Louis Mattensten, the president of the Fraternity.

Rev. J. R. Chaffee read a letter from Mayor Andrew Peters and expressed his regret that the acting mayor, James A. Watson, was unable to attend. Mr. Chaffee also read a letter from the Rev. Charles W. Jeffras of Salem, who wrote "The Farnham" belonged to that type of manhood which could find life's satisfaction only in useful and helpful service to their fellow men. He served the community, he served humanity, he served God, and such an one can never die. In seeking to honor him we honor ourselves."

The Rev. Bailey Lipsky of Barre, Vt., a former pastor of the M. E. Church, offered the closing prayer. Lieut. Farnham was the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Farnham, 38 Burroughs St., Jamaica Plain, Mass. (formerly of Digby and Weymouth) he enlisted in the Canadian Royal Flying Corps and was afterwards transferred to the Imperial Air Force. This tribute to the memory of Lieut. Farnham, given by order of the Mayor and City Council of Boston, and the services conducted by the American Legion, is an honor to a Canadian boy, one of our own parents and family can justly be proud. —Ed.)

into a pound. The torching method is most primitive, and is employed only after the fish has become cool. An oil torch—formerly a birch bark torch—is fixed to the bow of the boat, which is rapidly rowed through the water. The fishes rise toward the light as long as the boat is in rapid motion, and a good number of them are scooped up in large quantities with a dipnet.

The herring food consists of small animal organisms, chiefly two small crustaceans, known in the vernacular as "red seed" and "drimp." It has a great number of enemies, including cod, haddock, pollock, hake, dogfish, albacore, squid, porpoise, seal and the finbacked whale, each of which is very destructive.

ORIGIN OF FAMILIAR SURNAMES

HOWE. VARIATIONS—Hough, Huff, RACIAL ORIGIN—Anglo Saxon SOURCE—A locality.

English is a strangely compounded word, and the history of the name reveals more of the history of the race that speaks it than commonly imagined. Invariably when we sort out words filling the old, elemental needs of speech, we find that they are of Anglo Saxon origin. Thus, one of our words of geographical origin, the name of a locality, Anglo-Saxon, such words as hill, plain, etc.

But hills, valleys, forests, glades and the like are no longer so important to us as landmarks since the passage of centuries has devoted to us only one place name and taught us the efficiency of arbitrary naming new real estate developments. Hence a great many of these old Anglo Saxon words have disappeared, or are rapidly disappearing from our vocabularies.

If any one should take us today to the house on the hill, or tell us that man lived on top of a "hough," or climbed a "hill," we could hardly be expected to understand. Yet these are all old words, of almost exactly the same meaning as hill, and have been preserved to us only in the form of family names, which originally were descriptions of the localities in which people lived. The "hough" was an elevation of land of somewhat less prominence than a hill.

Such family names are found in the mediaeval records in the forms "de la Hough," "de la Haff" or "atte Hough."

WHY NATIONS QUARREL

MISUNDERSTANDINGS OFTEN LEAD TO SERIOUS TROUBLE.

It is Difficult for One People to Get the Viewpoint of Those Who Live in a Different Environment—English Traveler Talks of Situation in Germany.

Many people whose minds have been cleared of war emotions and who are able to look across the Rhine, with philosophical calmness, see in the present German danger a German opportunity. Germany would have fared differently in the last two and a half years if the Allies had found themselves able to believe that the effort to democratize that country was genuine and that it had the sympathy and support of a majority of the people, says a well-known English traveler.

The assassination of Erzberger has drawn the line very sharply between democratic and non-democratic Germanic goals. If Chancellor Wirth is a real leader and if the majority of the people are real democrats and loyal behind him, Germany may not show the world that the loss of the war has sunk deep into Germans and they are determined to get rid of the ruinous old system which merely fattened them for the slaughter of war. If this is the condition within Germany, and it is, we must make clear to the allied powers, there will probably come at last a more tolerant spirit and some measure of co-operation with Germany in accomplishing the primary allied purpose in the war—the destruction of the German autocracy.

To the observer in Europe much of the trouble since the armistice has arisen from the inability of the various national groups to detach themselves from their own viewpoints.
National boundaries are "walls" through which our visions do not penetrate. The war made this difficulty insurmountable as between Germany and the people who had suffered at her hands. But even where war feelings were not dominant, misunderstanding and narrowness have worked their deadly mischief. The troubles between England and Ireland are nine-tenths the result of misunderstanding. England and France have been in constant danger of falling out on mere questions of manner and method.

The newly-arrived American constantly kicks because he doesn't get in Europe the precise things that he is used to at home. He loathes bargaining in a shop, misses his hot butters and butter cakes at breakfast, laughs ironically at the elevators for which there are no attendants and which he can't operate for himself, and in his heart wonders whether spoken French is a language or an attempt to stir curiosity. The French in turn look at Americans with considerable wonder as they take possession of the Rue de la Paix and the Rue de Rivoli.

French newspapers often have a heavier sulkier at the American expense. There is nothing in which point of view counts more—and it is almost controlling in a majority of the questions of life—in the way people of different nations seem to each other. To French eyes the distinctive points of foreigners are much exaggerated. What they are not used to seems strange, even barbaric, to them. As a matter of fact, doubt if it is always. Frenchman considers the people of any other country fully civilized. Even the Englishman is a sort of rough inlander in the eyes of the French observer, who, however, demonstrates his own refinement by keeping his opinion under cover.

It is much in the mind of any traveler who goes back and forth between countries that most of the conflict in the world has its root in lack of understanding. When one goes about from one "culture" to another he is impressed by the many impressions and distorted views across boundary lines.

On a recent visit to Berlin I was discussing this question with a Cabinet member. He was saying that the French were out to ruin Germany; their aim was European hegemony, and nothing less would satisfy them. I replied: "We all used to think that there was a German superman. He disappeared under close inspection. Now you are creating out of the same material a fear of a French superman. He doesn't exist except in your imagination." The German said that I underestimated the Frenchman.
Typically, he was the most tenacious of all humans. If he went into the Ruhr it would be impossible to get him out. The map of Europe as it existed at the height of France's power was now fixed in the Frenchman's mind. The war had given him back subtle qualities of character, the evaporation of which within the last hundred years or so had reduced France and made Frenchmen accept a diminished status in Europe. The war, too, had prostrated the competitor whose success against the Frenchman had affected the latter's ambition and energy.

I found the like view deeply ingrained among Germans of all classes. It is only natural that Germans should apply the measure of success and failure to all situations.
The system under which they advanced to such a strong, and as ultimately shown, dangerous position was one of power almost solely.
Power was not only their rule of conduct, it was their principle, their ideal. When it collapsed they were reduced to utter helplessness, except in so far as they were kept up by habits of discipline and energy formed under the old regime. They had little standard of abstract right to sustain them in adversity; the spiritual qualities had been ground out of them in the fierce competition for tangible results. They became utter cowards, as they had before been arrogant tyrants.

PEOPLE ENJOY- ED TREAT

Rarely indeed has been the privilege of the citizens of Weymouth to listen to such a treat as was recorded those who attended the entertainment given in the Grand Lancers theatre on Monday evening.

The entertainment consisted in a series of readings from the immortal poems of Dr. W. H. Drummond and from the compositions of the entertainer, Dr. E. H. Hart, of Digby, who gave the readings, it was well the great reports we have heard of him as a great entertainer.

Not only does he delight the characters of the verses of Drummond and his own but he has an exceptionally expressive manner about his readings that strikes the listeners. Mr. Hart has given these entertainments from Halifax to Vancouver and it is indeed regrettable that there was such a slim audience.

However, perhaps the entertainer derived a certain amount of satisfaction to know that though the audience was small in number it made up in applause thereby showing its appreciation.

Rev. J. H. Copeland, pastor of the Weymouth North Baptist Church, introduced Mr. Hart, who began his entertainment with a biographical sketch of the poet, Dr. Drummond, whose death occurred in 1892. After some of his best known Drummond poetry were recited.

"Wee of the Julie Plante" and "The Breeze" were recited, and "The Breeze" was recited by Mr. Hart.

A Promise that has made good

When KING COLE TEA was in its infancy we associated with it the slogan—"You'll like the flavor." It was a modest statement, yet when you come to think of it, it covers all that you are looking for in the tea of your choice. How well KING COLE has lived up to its promise is proved by the many thousands of users today.

Perfectly packed in bright lead foil and price marked on every package.

Obituary

MRS. M. ZWICKER

On Oct. 18th, at the Victoria General Hospital, Halifax, Pictou, Minette Zwicker, beloved wife of the late Minette Zwicker, Bear River, passed peacefully to her great reward in the 60th year of her age. Mrs. Zwicker was for many years a devoted follower of the Lord Jesus. She was a most loving wife and mother. Her sweetest love, self-sacrificing spirit won a host of friends and the highest regard of all who knew her. She leaves a husband, three daughters and a multitude of others to mourn their loss. The beautiful floral tributes bespeak of the high esteem and affection in which she was held. The funeral service, which was at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. L. Banks, Halifax, was conducted by Rev. E. Dady, who spoke in a beautiful and appropriate manner. The interment took place at Fairview Cemetery, Halifax.—Com.

A newspaper for hungry people, which could be eaten after it had been read: was once published in Paris. It was printed with an ink guaranteed non-poisonous on thin sheets of dough.

Local and General

V. T. Barry went moose hunting Monday morning, accompanied by Levi Brooks guide.

The Ladies Circle of the Baptist Church met at the home of Mrs. Cordelia Rice Tuesday evening.

Dr. Baylan returned from a moose hunting trip on Tuesday evening, bringing a fine moose with him.

Miss Clara Campbell, who has been relief operator at the Middleton Telephone Office, is home again for a while.

On Memorial Sunday, the C. W. Y. A. will hold a service in one of the town churches, fuller particulars of which will be given later.

The Bear River Brass Band will give their concert on the evening of Armistice Day, Friday, Nov. 11th, assisted by local talent, in Oakdale Hall. Program and further information will be given later.

We regret to learn that Tom Kennedy met with an accident at his home late Tuesday night when he fell down stairs cutting his head and face quite badly. Dr. Dymore was called and dressed the wounds.

Miss Helen MacDonnell, Superintendent of the Nova Scotia Women's Institute, has been invited by a large number of Smith's Cove ladies to organize an institute in their community as soon as convenient.

The annual Roll Call of the Baptist Church took place on Wednesday evening. The Rev. M. S. Richards, of Yarmouth presided. After the Roll Call and a special address, refreshments were served in the vestry.

The Methodist Ladies Aid Society met on Tuesday afternoon at the home of the President, Miss Florence Vroom, and a very happy time was spent by the large number present. It is very much regretted that Miss Vroom will soon leave for Boston, where she will spend the winter months with her brother, Al in Vroom, an infant.

The Annual Meeting of the Woman's Institute will be held on Friday afternoon, Nov. 4th at 2 o'clock instead of on Monday, the 7th (the usual day of meeting) on account of the original date falling on Thanksgiving Day. A full attendance is specially requested and a selection of officers and other important business will come before the meeting.

On Friday, Oct. 14th, the Bear River Brass Band, assisted by local talent of Smith's Cove, gave a concert in Temperance Hall at Smith's Cove, to a large and appreciative audience. During the intermission home made candies were sold. The total sum received was $37.00, which was to be expended in the purchase of a piano for the people of Smith's Cove for their reception and the support given them at that time.

On Friday, Oct. 21st, the Bear River Brass Band gave a concert in the hall at the home of the Rev. E. Dady, who spoke in a beautiful and appropriate manner. The interment took place at Fairview Cemetery, Halifax.—Com.

Obituary

MRS. EDWARD E. WRIGHT

The death of Celestia Wright, wife of the late Edward E. Wright, occurred at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Richard McKee, of Bear River last Sunday, age 45 years. Her death came as a very great shock to her children and friends as she was only in an hour before death.

Her death was the result of a long illness. She was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church. She leaves to mourn their loss, eight children: Mrs. Richard McKee, Mrs. E. G. Smith, both of Summers, N.S.; Mrs. Scott Smith, of Summers, N.S.; and Mrs. Stanley, of Summers, N.S.; Mrs. Joseph, Summers, N.S.; Mrs. B. and Mrs. McKee, and Mrs. McKee, all of Summers, N.S.

The funeral service was held on Wednesday conducted by Rev. E. Dady, with interment in the cemetery. As a general rule roots extend on each side of a tree to a distance equal to the height of the tree itself.

Our "Know Canada" Contest 140 Prizes --- $2,000

The "Know Canada" Contest for readers announced two weeks ago is creating a vast amount of interest and judging from the numerous enquiries every family reached by the Weekly Courier will be a competitor. The second set of four rebus pictures will be found on another page of this issue. The prizes represent four Post Offices in Canada. Can you solve them? Two thousand dollars in cash prizes are offered for the best answers. Full particulars will be found elsewhere. Begin today. The pictures will be found amusing and interesting and the study of them will pass many a pleasant hour round the family circle during the long evenings. The contest is open to the old or young and one of more members of any family where The Weekly Courier is read may enter the contest. Read the particulars.

PERSONAL MENTION POPPY CAMPAIGN

Miss Marie O'Leary has returned home after spending a month in St. John's. Mrs. A. G. McIntyre and daughter Nancy, left for Halifax Tuesday. Mrs. Alice Clarke and daughter Margaret, left for Halifax Tuesday. Rev. and Mrs. S. J. Dymore returned last week from their vacation. Mrs. Arthur Rice was at home Wednesday. Mrs. and Mr. Theodor, with their little daughter, left for their home in Brooklyn, N.Y. after spending the summer in Bear River. Mrs. William Grant, of Summers, N.S., is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Campbell. Mrs. F. A. Chalmers returned from a pleasant visit with relatives and friends in Boston. Mrs. F. J. Dymore returned from St. John on Tuesday, Oct. 25th, and is making good progress towards recovery from her recent illness. Mrs. Howard Kelly, Summers, N.S., is in town visiting friends.

IMPROVEMENTS TO BALL FIELD

The Base Ball Club wish to thank their friends for the assistance given in connection with the Base Ball field last week and also the friends who could not attend but who assisted afterwards with their generous donations.

A part of the proceeds is now being used to fix up the field. The part of the outfield, which was so rough last year has been cleared and plowed and harrowed and in the spring will be harrowed again and rolled. The infield is also being worked and will be put in much better condition than it was this year. After these improvements are made it is anticipated that the local boys will have a more continuous field to play on than any of the other teams in the Valley League.

We show the progress made by the Club within a short period it may be interesting to give a few dates.

Reorganization meeting June 15.
Grounds leased June 27.
First match game (Digby) July 7.
Season closed Sept. 10.
Total collections for the season $529.70.

Last Week in the Maritime Provinces

However there were many reasons for thankfulness. Church membership last week was 62,439 as reported by 536 churches. There had been 2474 additions by baptisms. A total of $791,280 had been raised.

Dr. Stillwell reported for the Foreign Mission Board. It stated that there were 110 missionaries, an increase of 17 over the total ten years before. In the Maritime Provinces the sum of $35,000 had been raised.

Dr. J. C. Shearer of the Social Service Board of Canada complained the Baptists for their care of delinquent girls and their fight against the liquor traffic. He declared that Jesus Christ must rule in the social life in the church. Twenty-five thousand of our citizens are mentally defective, says Dr. Shearer, resulting in 50 per cent of all crimes, 66 per cent of prostitution and 42 per cent of venereal diseases. Dr. Shearer deplored the waste of 42 to 43 million dollars in Ontario in race track gambling.

Joseph Tierney, a former resident of New England, was found dead at Amherst shortly before noon Tuesday in the boarding house of Mrs. Elsie Worth, Maple Avenue. The deceased was a foreman at the Amherst Woolen Mills, where he has been employed for several months. He was of a quiet nature and a little is known of his family or previous whereabouts. He came here from New England and attempts are now being made to get in touch with certain people at Attleboro, Mass., and Brockville, Vt. with whom he has been in correspondence. Nothing is known of his family.

Richard Retallic, who died a few days ago in St. John was well known in shipping circles. He and his father, the late John Retallic, were associated in building the steamers Empress, David Weston, Fairy and May Queen for the Union line. He also built the steamer Florenceville, which ran on the Fredericton-Woodstock route. During the winter of 1893-94 he built the steamer Aberdeen for the Star Line. For several years he acted as purser on river steamers. In 1899 he was in command of the David Weston. For the next two years he commanded the steamer Acadia. He was considered an authority on steamboat construction and repair work and his views on such matters will be greatly missed.

The extensive electric plant, excepting the dam at Carleton Place, eighteen miles from Yarmouth belonging to the Yarmouth Light and Power Company, was totally destroyed by fire which was discovered in the boiler room about 11.50 Tuesday evening. The structure was wood and the flames spread with such rapidity that the night crew were unable to do anything to stay the flames which soon to a country lacking adequate protection and present industrial enterprise would be promptly strangled by foreign competition.

The preservation of the home market by a Reasonable Protective Tariff is vital to both city dweller and agrarian alike—now as never before. More capital is urgently needed for the development of Canada's enormous resources, which will result in a lessening of unemployment and an increased population. More work and more workers will produce an enlarged home market for products of both city and farm, and the exodus of Canadian men and women—and the dollars they earn—will be precluded.

The United States has slammed her trade door in the face of Canadian farmers by adopting the Forney Bill and the farmer is consequently now even more dependent upon the home market than in the past.

Yet Cramer asks you to destroy that home market by voting for Free Trade.

King's policy—if he has one—will result in the destruction of the Tariff.

Meighen stands four square for Reasonable Protection—Protection for all the people and asks for an overwhelming mandate to give both industry and agriculture that assurance which will spell prosperity for all. Individual prosperity depends upon National prosperity. Your personal interests and Canada's very existence hang upon your vote.

Meighen will lead us through

The commercial production of apples in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia this year has been excellent, while in the other apple-producing provinces the crop has not been nearly so favorable. According to an estimate of the department of agriculture, the crop in New Brunswick is 33,000 barrels, or ten per cent above last year's crop. Nova Scotia's production is ten to fifteen per cent, better than last year, amounting to 1,300,000 barrels.

After forty-five years of continuous service, twenty-seven of which as manager, V. A. Major has retired from the management of the Halifax office of R. G. Dun & Co., Mercantile Agency, to take effect January 1, 1922. Mr. Alexander I. Drummond has been appointed his successor. When Mr. Major has fully recovered from the effects of his recent serious illness he hopes to have again the pleasure of meeting his friends at various times in connection with the commercial life of Halifax and province, and to renew, at least to some extent, the connections of the past.

Oliver Cripps of Norton, was accidentally shot and killed at the head of Mill Stream, Kings county Wednesday morning. He was on a hunting trip and was accompanied by an eight year old boy named Donnell. It is said the boy was passing a gun to Cripps when, in some manner, it was discharged, the bullet striking Cripps in the face, killing him instantly. He was a blacksmith at Norton. This makes the seventh fatality in New Brunswick since the opening of the hunting season.

Daniel W. Hawthorne was almost instantly killed at the St. Croix paper mills in Woodland, up the St. Croix river, on Saturday afternoon. He had been installing a rope drive. While he was adjusting a nut on a water wheel the water was turned on, starting the wheel and forming a death trap. He lived but a few minutes after the flanges struck him. Hawthorne was fifty-eight years of age, was a native of Bethel (Me.) and was employed by a Worcester (Mass.) construction company.

The French traveler Assise is held at North Sydney by the customs authorities who have the ship's papers as the result of alleged smuggling carried on from the vessel. Tuesday night liquor inspectors or Henry Lovell saw legs being carried up the pier at which the ship was lying and pursued. The liquor was thrown into a sea house and the Frenchmen disappeared leaving the inspector in possession.

In China it is the custom to pray for holy medicine. A patient must pay a visit to the temple and take from the altar a tube containing numbered sticks. He passes the tube over the incense several times until one of the sticks falls out. This is picked up and the number on it is read. A corresponding slip containing a prescription is then handed to him.

RAINCOATS

This is the season of the year when a raincoat is a necessity. The weather is so changeable, you can never tell when it is safe to go without one. Our spring stock is the best and largest ever seen in this county and we can suit everyone—tall or short, stout or thin—and without making too big a hole in the pocket book.

Town Council Apparently Favors Park as Memorial

Committee Appointed to Confer With G.W.V.A. Committee To This End.

Water May Be Put On The Hill

Most of the Time of Council Was Taken Up With Routine Business.

The regular monthly meeting of the town council, held in town hall on Monday evening, was presided over by Mayor Warner and Councilors Read, S. A. Keen, Geo. Keen and Lynch, and also Frank Jones, town solicitor.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved. The superintendent of streets and water submitted the following report which was approved.

"Built new bridge at south end of Lighthouse Road, 35 feet long and 3 feet clearway. Put in new dam at Lily Lake, dug up South End public watering service drain pipes and changed it. Have taken out the old 10 inch waste pipe gate at the dam and made preparation for putting in a new one."

"Made repairs to Lighthouse Road, also hauled ash and gravel on other streets, to fill up the holes."

"Four old water services taken up and replaced with new ones, those of H. H. Marshall, Mrs. J. Syda, A. R. Turnbull's store and Orbin VanTassel. Put in new dam at Lily Lake, dug up South End public watering service drain pipes and changed it. Have taken out the old 10 inch waste pipe gate at the dam and made preparation for putting in a new one."

"W. W. HAYDEN, Supt. of Streets and Water."

A petition from a number of residents of Church street praying for an underground water supply, continuous the year round, was read, and Lemuel Raymond and Hardy Bent were present in support of the petition.

The council received the matter favorably and referred it to the water committee and superintendent for an estimate. If after the figures have been received, the council decides it will be a public work to go on with the work, a public meeting will be called to authorize the expenditure, as there is no provision in the estimates for it.

The following accounts were paid:

Nova Scotia Hospital 182.08
Supt. Inspector and Delinquent Children 166.00

It was decided to take up the public slip and store the material until next season.

$350 was voted Percy Wornell on account of his contract for repairing the breakwaters.

Coun. Read brought up the matter of a Soldier's Memorial. He suggested a public park for the town. After considerable discussion, taken part in by all present, a committee consisting of the Mayor, and Couns. Read, Anderson and Lynch was appointed to confer with the memorial committee of the G. W. V. A.

The council also decided that on Armistice Day a public meeting should be arranged about midday to observe the day and take public recognition of it.

A further meeting to consider this matter was held Wednesday. See report elsewhere.

A Good Suggestion for Digby's Memorial

To the Editor of the Courier:

SIR:—Every few days, while looking over the daily papers, we see where some town or village of this province has unveiled a memorial to those "Who rest in Peace," as the result of the Great War.

The question then comes to one's mind—If Weymouth, Barton, Ross and other of our neighbouring villages have a memorial, why does not Digby's material? Is it, I wonder, because the committee in charge of this has made no definite plan as to the form the memorial will take, that the general public has not got behind them and helped the memorial along. Perhaps a few suggestions, through your columns, will help the committee to decide. So I would like to make a suggestion, and then perhaps others will make better ones.

HOW ABOUT A MEMORIAL PARK.

The town owns at the South End what is supposed to be a park.

Last Week In The Maritime Provinces

An interesting ceremony took place Tuesday morning at the Roman Catholic church at Edmundston, N. B., when Rev. Father W. J. Conway, united four couples in the bonds of matrimony immediately after the 7:30 mass.

The four couples presented themselves before the altar at the same time, and after the ceremony the wedding cards filed out of the church. The contracting parties were:

—Denis Levesque, of Drummond, N. B., son of David Levesque, and Edith Martin, of Edmundston, daughter of Joseph Martin, Edmundston.

—Alfred Fidele Cyr, of Edmundston, son of Alexis Cyr, of St. Basile (N. B.), and Lena Lavoie, of Edmundston, daughter of Alcide Lavoie, Edmundston.

—Michael Braulieu, of Edmundston, son of Pierre Braulieu, and Marie Ernestine Philomee Couturier, daughter of Peter E. Couturier, Edmundston.

—Jos. Clovis Ruest, of Quibisis, son of Richard Ruest and Marie Eugene Dumais, of Edmundston, daughter of the late Paul Dumais.

After the 8:30 mass, on the same morning, in the same church, Rev. Father Lynch, united in marriage Michael Dufour, of St. Jacques, son of County Councillor Dufour, and Delia Braulieu, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Braulieu, of Madawaska, (N.E.).

Letters received at Fredericton announce the arrival in Paris lately of Miss Bessie Kelley, who is returning from Prague, Czechoslovakia, where she was stationed with the American Red Cross. Miss Kelley has had an experience which few Canadian girls have had, serving through the war as a nurse and afterwards going to Prague. On the return to Paris she visited Constantinople, Budapest, Sofia and almost every part of Europe. She expects to sail soon for New York and will spend some time there before coming to Fredericton to spend her vacation with her sisters, Mrs. John Rowan, Lincoln, and Mrs. Wm. Rutledge, of that city, and her brother, William Kelley, of the Victoria Hospital staff.

Captain Howard Taylor, of Economy and others have purchased the third schooner Jessie and Alice from Sydney parties. She was built in Cape Breton in 1920 and has never made a trip. She is 119 tons register and will be employed in the coasting and West Indies trade.

A Cape Breton "gold boom" that was assuming formidable proportions collapsed Wednesday when a group of physicians adjudged Angus J. Morrison insane and ordered his confinement in the Dartmouth Asylum. Declaring that he had kept his secret for twelve years for legal reasons, Morrison early this week started Cape Breton North with an announcement of a rich gold mine.

Why, with a little co-operation, could this not be obtained, a suitable Memorial Gate erected, the centre cleared for a sports' field, and another section set aside, and divided into plots—each plot to commemorate one of the town boys who "Made the Supreme Sacrifice," and across, similar to those used on the other side erected at the head of it. Then each year let there be a Memorial and Decoration Day declared, when the people could assemble and decorate each grave.

A Memorial of this kind, would provide a twofold purpose—first—a place and purpose for future generations to assemble, and pay their respects to those "Who rest in Peace," and second—it would fill a much needed want, namely a place where clean and healthy sports could be carried out.

Trusting to hear further suggestions, and thanking you for your space.

A RETURNED MAN.
Digby, Oct. 31st.

The condition of the aids to navigation in the Bay of Fundy was one of the matters reported upon by the harbor committee of the St. John Board of Trade at the meeting of the board council Friday. Last winter, it will be recalled, some complaints were entered by steamship captains against non-effectiveness of several of these aids when the winter port season opened, among others the Lumber lightship, the Brazil Rock buoy, the South West ledge buoy at Briar Island and the Blond Rock buoy. The committee reported that the subject of the effectiveness of these aids for the approaching season had been taken up with the agent of the marine department, J. C. Chesley. He reported that the Lumber lightship had been of this season from September 15 to October 15, undergoing repairs, and that it now was functioning in thorough order, having been re-placed on the latter mentioned date. The South West ledge buoy, however, had been provided with new moorings and was in good order. Brazil Rock buoy had been renewed and was in good condition. Blond Rock buoy likewise was in good condition. All other aids to navigation in the bay, Mr. Chesley reported, were in the best of order. He said that all spar, can and conical buoys in the bay had been renewed during the summer. The practice, which was begun last winter and which proved so satisfactory to mariners, of sending wireless messages twice a day with respect to condition of buoys, lights, etc. would be followed again this winter; during the period the Lumber buoy was off duty the last summer such messages were issued.

Earlier in the day a pontifical high mass was celebrated by Dr. van Allen, assisted by Bishop Parker of Concord (N. H.) and Bishop Weller, of Fond du Lac (Wis.). During the mass all three altars and the road screen were brilliantly lighted with three score candles.

His Majesty's Canadian youths' training establishment, for the training of boys for ratings in the Canadian Navy, and the first school for a kind in Canada, was opened by Lieutenant Governor McCallum Grant, of Nova Scotia, at H. M. C. Dockyard at Halifax Thursday.

Sixty boys are now at the establishment and forty others will join in the spring. These come from many parts of Canada. Forty weeks' training, which includes instruction in general school subjects, gunnery, boat pulling, sailing, etc., are spent at the school before the boys are placed on ships for sea. Additional sixteen weeks' training will be given to a small number of boys for merit. A number will qualify as electrical and ordnance engineers, artificers and clerks.

BRITISH FLAG FLIES IN BOSTON CHURCH

The closing exercises in the jubilee celebration in honor of the 25th anniversary of the ordination of Rev. Dr. William H. vanAllen to the Episcopal priesthood, were held in Crosswell Hall, Boston, on Wednesday.

Major Peters, F. B. Porter, British consul-general, Suffragan Bishop Samuel G. Babcock and Rev. Dr. John Higginson Cabot of Martha's Vineyard, a former curate at the Church of the Advent, were among the speakers who took part in the testimonial to Dr. van Allen.

In greeting his guests, Dr. van Allen alluded to a criticism because the British flag was displayed in the church, saying he hoped the time was not far distant when the most amicable relations would exist between the two countries.

The British consul-general thanked the rector for his fearless championship of right and justice.

Major Peters thanked Dr. van Allen for the service he had rendered the city of Boston, and expressed the wish that his splendid work would continue for years to come.

Bishop Babcock congratulated the parishioners of the church for having a rector of the type of Dr. van Allen and hoped they would tempt the rector to stay there for the rest of his life.

Dr. van Allen received a number of personal tributes and individual gifts.

Earlier in the day a pontifical high mass was celebrated by Dr. van Allen, assisted by Bishop Parker of Concord (N. H.) and Bishop Weller, of Fond du Lac (Wis.).

INSURING PARCEL POST PACKETS

Parcels Posted for Delivery In Any Place in Canada Can Now Be Insured Up to One Hundred Dollars

Against Loss by Rifting, or Damage of Any Kind.

In view of the recent introduction of insurance of parcel post packets the Post Office Department advises that heavy articles of a fragile nature, such as chinaware, glass, pottery, cameras, glass flasks, scientific instruments and mechanisms, clocks, watches, and musical instruments, should be surrounded with excelsior or other shock absorbent materials, packed in well made wooden boxes and labeled "Fragile with Care."

Under the new regulations parcels posted for delivery in Canada will be accepted for insurance up to $100 against loss, rifting or damage while in the custody of the postal service. The fees are three cents for assurance not exceeding $50, twelve cents not exceeding $50, and thirty cents not exceeding $100. The fee is paid by means of postage stamps affixed to the parcel by the sender. A receipt will be given the sender in every case.

Light articles of a fragile nature, such as artificial and cut flowers, cake, candies, fans, feathers, fountain pens, hats, jewellery, pipes, photograph records, spectacles or eyeglasses, toys, etc., should be packed in double faced corrugated cardboard, containers and labelled "Fragile with care."

Ordinary cardboard boxes are not found to be satisfactory containers for shoes or any other goods sent by mail, and should have an outer outside wrapper of several layers of strong paper, and be well tied with cord.

Hats, millinery and similar articles should be packed in rigid boxes of wood or other material or in "leather-board" boxes with the depth of the box, or in boxes protected on all sides by light cross-bars of wood. Such packages should be marked "Fragile with care."

Pictures in frames should be protected by "leather-board" boxes with wooden bars each rather larger than the frame, and each packing should be placed firmly between the corners of the frame and the boards, but not so as to press on the glass. Drawings, paintings, maps, etc., if mounted, should be placed between layers of corrugated cardboard, otherwise they should be rolled around a stout stick and carefully wrapped, or enclosed in a strong cardboard tube. These packages should be marked "Fragile with care."

Cases, fishing rods, golf sticks, umbrellas, etc., should be protected by two stout pieces of wood each a little longer and wider than the article to be protected. Sharp pointed or sharp edged tools, etc., must have the ends of the wood protected that they cannot cut through their coverings.

Powders and all pulverized dry substances may be sent in the manner prescribed for liquids, or when enclosed in cases of wood, metal, papier mache or other material in such a manner as to prevent the escape of the contents. Butter, lard, grease and other liquidable substances must be packed in strong leak-proof containers and marked "Keep from heat."

Liquids and oils must be enclosed in glass bottles hermetically sealed. Each bottle must be placed in a special box of wood or of strong corrugated cardboard containing sawdust, cotton or spongy material in sufficient quantity to absorb the liquid in the event of the bottle becoming broken. Fish, Game, Meat, Vegetables, etc., should be well packed and marked "Perishable."

Addresses must in all cases be written plainly on the parcel itself and not on an attached tag or label. It is desirable that the sender's address should appear either on the cover or inside of the parcel.

Trinidad Johnson was instantly killed in the yard of the Elmstone Hotel, Great Village, his mother's home on Sunday. He was a tin smith by trade and was employed by H. H. Dryden & Son, Toronto.

Saturday night, in company with a friend, Levi Carr, he went in an automobile to Great Village to visit his mother, Mrs. Ralph Smith, and was turning the car Sunday morning to return to Toronto when he was struck by a truck and was crushed to death beneath it. He was 45 years of age.

T e Fruits of Experience.

A pound is not always a pound, announces the Italian scientist, Maforano. One would be almost willing to swear that he had a speaking acquaintance with certain Nova Scotian tradesmen and farmers. Over here a pound is highly uncertain (save when the sealer of weights and measures stands at the counter) especially as it applies to butter and other articles. It is to be put up in certain sized packages.

Speaking of rising in the world, some rise, some raise up others, and some ought to be strong up.

A copy of the Maritime Labor Herald, Glace Bay, has just reached our desk. B. A. Cotton, B. C. L., is editor. Down here, in this section of the province where agriculture and fishing are the mainstay of the people, we do not see the need of these radical organs, and we believe that even the industrial centers would be better off if common sense ruled instead of class appeal as championed by these organs.

To a great many people Thanksgiving is only a day when we eat too much dinner.

If you want to vote in the coming election, register. Make it your business personally to see that your name is on the list. Take nothing for granted. The revision courts are now in session and it is a very simple matter to protect your rights by calling to see if your name is on the lists.

We wonder if the words "knacker" and "nosious" did come from the same root?

The women now have Canada's destinies in their hands. Over the Dominion they outnumber the men by a considerable number on the voters' lists. Politicians! Walk straight.

Too many of us make dollars alone our measure of success.

One trouble with the general situation is that there are too many willing to lend their ears and too few who care to lend a hand.

Many there are who ask, receive and then knock.

HALLOWEEN IN I. O. O. F. HALL.

The members of Zelma Rebekah Lodge, I. O. O. F., opened their social work with a splendid Halloween session given in their hall on Monday evening. The beautiful hall looked particularly well with its wealth of Halloween decorations. Yellow and black streamers, with the Odiffole's colors, with pumpkin grinders, black cats, and other decorations added the proper Halloween feeling. The guests were received at the door with a spooky hand shake and witches ushered them to seats. The Billon Dream theatre down stairs had to be denuded of its chairs to provide seating accommodation. It was a Halloween social, pure and simple, with time-honored Halloween sports, and no attempt was made at a musical or literary entertainment, as such a thing is entirely foreign to the proper celebration of the night. It is safe to say that the majority enjoyed themselves immensely. There were a few who did not but they were the ones who glued themselves to the chairs so securely that a stick dynamite would not have dislodged them and in a second of this kind no one can get the full benefit of it unless they take part in the sports. The programme was as follows:

- 1—Ghost Parade.
- 2—Candle Contest.
- 3—Peanut Hunt.
- 4—Archery.
- 5—Hoop Fortune.
- 6—Apple Bouncing.
- 7—Basket Guessing Contest.
- 8—Apple Race.
- 9—Matching for Refreshments.

GREAT PRAISE FOR VICTORIAN ORDER NEWS.

Spencer Gale, Manager of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of the Weymouth District, was in town this week and reports that the services which the Victorian Order nurse is rendering the Metropolitan Policy Holder and others in the town is the highest praise he has heard. Mr. Gale says that the citizens of Digby are very fortunate in securing the services of this Nurse and wishes to state that any person carrying an Industrial Policy in the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company is entitled to the services of the nurse free of charge.

OFFER STILL OPEN.

We have received over three hundred names and addresses in reply to our current offer of six months subscription to the Courier for a list of 25 or more names is still open. The three prizes we are offering for the largest lists will be a little difficult to award unless an effort is made to send in more than 25 names. We have had one list of 50, but all the others have tied at 25 each.

The Marine and Fisheries Department have issued a notice to the effect that Lightship No. 15 will be withdrawn from the Heath Point station on December 1, and the light will be transferred to the new light to be placed in the Sambo station for the winter months only. At the opening of the fishing season in 1922, the light No. 15 will be taken back to Heath Point station.

A statistician and business adviser says: "It is a great mistake to consider advertising as an index of business. A more valid consideration is the amount of business, or foreign trade. Advertising is far more the factor of business. When railroad earnings may be compared to the thermometer which registers the heat of business, it may be compared to the sun, which creates it."

The Royal Bank of Canada, in its monthly market letter, says that it is possible to report a slight improvement in general business conditions during the past two months; and although this improvement has not been of a duration or scope to warrant any great optimism, yet it is exceedingly welcome to a business world which has suffered little but reverses since the autumn of 1920.

The Dominion Police have been active in Yarmouth during the past week searching for smuggled St. Pierre liquor. Four bottles were located in a shop at South End, while over a hundred bottles of the article were discovered in a barn at the north end of the town. The latter comes up for trial this week, and it is said that some of the leading citizens of the town, a combination known as the "Big Five," is involved.

What is the largest amount of advertising ever carried by an American publication? So far as we have been able to ascertain, the record is held by the Ladies Home Journal of Philadelphia, which in the October number of 1919 contained advertising of 1,000,000 words. The popular magazines have printed 550,000 words in a single issue. Of the weekly magazines, the Saturday Evening Post easily leads its contemporaries with a record of over 500,000 in each issue for four successive issues in 1920.

There will be a solemn High Mass of Requiem sung at St. Joseph's Church Weymouth on November 11th, Armistice Day, for the repose of the souls of the soldiers who died on battle field. The Mass will be celebrated by the pastor, Rev. J. C. Combs, assisted by Father Melanson and Thibault. The returned soldiers from Bellevue's Cove and St. John's will be invited to attend this memorial Mass. It is requested that as many returned men as possible attend and wear their uniform.

COULD HARDLY MOVE IN HER BED

Eight Boxes of "FRUIT-A-TIVES" Completely Relieved Her.

MADAM RICHER

Labelle, P. Q., April 18th, 1921.
"It is my duty to tell you and publish to all what your remedy 'Fruit-a-tives' has done for me."

I suffered with Rheumatism for ten months; could hardly move in bed, and was miserable all the time. I tried several physicians and took many remedies, but they left me at the same place, in bed and suffering, the Rheumatism was so bad.

I finally started in taking 'Fruit-a-tives' and continued the treatment regularly as I found myself getting better. After using eight boxes of 'Fruit-a-tives' (which cost only $4.) I am completely well without a trace of Rheumatism."

Madam J. RICHER.

50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

There will be a special service in the St. Lawrence Division service will also be conducted at Bay View on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The sermon, and the Rev. J. H. Supper will be administered at the close of the afternoon and evening services. Preacher at each service the minister.

Obituary

LADY LAURIER

Lady Laurier, widow of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, died at her home at Ottawa on Tuesday at a quarter to twelve. All through Monday night the physicians attending her had expressed the fear that the end was at hand. Lady Laurier was in her eightieth year. She caught a chill while out walking recently. Sir Wilfrid Laurier died on February 17, 1919. No family survive.

ARCHIBALD DAKIN

In Cambridge, Mass., suddenly, Oct. 13rd. Archibald Dakin. Funeral services were held at his late residence, 15 Humboldt St., 26th. A wife and daughter survive him, also a sister Mrs. E. B. Woodrow.

NORMAN A. RUGGLES

The death occurred at his late residence Weymouth on Monday evening of Norman A. Ruggles in the 67th year of his age. The late Mr. Ruggles was a victim of paralysis, having suffered a stroke some months ago. He was born in Weymouth, his loss three sons, Lesley and Clare at home and Arce; two brothers Dwight and St. Clare of Boston, and one daughter, Mrs. James Morse, of Weymouth North. The funeral which was held on Thursday at St. Clare's church, was largely attended and burial was in St. Peter's Cemetery, Weymouth North. Mr. Ruggles was a member of Court St. John, I. O. P., and a staunch conservative in politics. For some years he represented Weymouth in the Municipal Council. His wife predeceased him four years. Funeral arrangements were under the direction of C. O. Nichol, undertaker.

HOW WOMEN AVOID SURGICAL OPERATIONS

Some Are Extremely Necessary, Others May Not Be

Every Woman Should Give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a Trial First

Chicago, Ill.—"I was in bed with a little trouble and inflammation and had four doctors but none of them did me any good. They said I would have to have an operation. A druggist's wife told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and see if my friends who have been restored to health by a dose and a little of that time I was perfectly well. I have never had occasion to take it again as I have been so well. I have a six room flat and do all my work. My two sisters are taking the Compound upon my recommendation and they can publish my letter. It is the gospel truth and I will write to any one who wants a personal letter."—Mrs. E. H. HAYDOCK, 624 St. Lawrence Ave., Chicago, Ill.

A Vermont woman adds her testimony to the long line of those fortunate women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after it had been decided an operation was necessary:

Burlington, Vt.—"I suffered with female trouble and had a number of doctors who said that I would never be any better until I had an operation. I was so bad I could hardly walk across the floor and could not do a thing, and it certainly has helped me wonderfully. I keep home and do my work and have a small child. I have recommended Vegetable Compound to all my friends and they all praise my testimony."—Mrs. H. R. STANON, Apple Tree Point Farm, Burlington.

In hospitals are many women who are there for surgical operations, and there is nothing a woman dreads more than the thought of an operation, and the long weary months of recovery and restoration to strength if it is successful.

It is very true that female troubles may through neglect reach a stage where an operation is the only resource, but most of the commoner ailments of women are not the surgical ones; they are not caused by serious displacements of the organs, but by the symptoms which appear in the system.

When disturbing ailments first appear take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is the most reliable and prevent more serious troubles. It is the only remedy that has been restored from women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after operations have been advised by attending physicians.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

Auto Storage Battery Care in Winter

When you lay up your car for the winter bring your battery here to be stored till you need it. The additional security and convenience of leaving this battery care to the Service Station far outweighs the moderate expense. Willard Service Stations are responsible to over three and a half million battery owners for winter storage, and your battery is too valuable to be put in the hands of any but an expert.

Dry Storage

is recommended for all batteries with wood insulation which have given a summer's service. The plates will be disassembled, dried and carefully stored in a dry place. In the spring new insulation and acid is put in, the battery resealed, charged, and given a coat of acid proof paint. With wood insulation, of the above age, this is the only method by which you can be sure that your battery is in a serviceable condition in the spring. Willard Threaded Rubber Insulation should always be stored wet.

Wet Storage

means that your battery will be kept filled with Distilled Water and charged at regular intervals, at the correct rate, to keep the plates in a healthy condition. We recommend this storage for all Rubber-Insulated and batteries with wood insulation in service three or four months. If we have not mailed you the Willard booklet, "Battery Care in Winter", ask for it.

Our profit sharing Winter Storage plan is worth hearing. Let's tell it to you.

"For Home and Country"

patients, suffering from acute throat or lung troubles, to get away from the cities into the quiet mountain resorts, and there live in the open air as much as possible. Why? Because there is a wonderful exhilaration from pine trees, which, breathed in by the lungs and air-passages, builds, strengthens and reinvigorates them.

Today, by the wonderful aid of Science, these volatile fumes and other medicinal agents are compressed into unique, breathable, tabulets known as Peps. These bring the healing pine forest air into your own home. You strip Peps from its silver wrapper and dissolve the tablet in your water. The germicidal action is your ally. The medicinal action is your friend. The Peps is carried with the breath into your air-tubes and lungs where it quickly stops the most troublesome cough, relieves soreness and tightness, and soothes and heals the inflamed bronchial tubes. Peps are the direct scientific treatment—the remedy that has revolutionized treatment of coughs, colds, chills, bronchitis, and all soreness or irritation of throat or chest. 50c. box, 3 for $1.35.

PERSONAL MENTION HALLOWE'EN PARTY

The ladies of Elita Rebekah Lodge, O. O. F., celebrated their first anniversary in a very unique and happy manner Monday evening when they gave a Halloween party to the ladies of the town. Invited guests being the members of the Friendship Lodge, O. O. F., and their wives, together with a number of the personal friends of the members of the lodge.

On entering the lower hall, the guests were greeted by a committee of ladies very graciously and cordially. All the colors and emblems that go to make a Halloween party were in evidence. The staircase leading to the upper hall was decorated on each side with large pumpkins, grins, and the last of the season's scene of festive party and dancing.

Refreshments were served by the ladies of Elita Lodge, who certainly had nothing undone for the pleasure of the guests.

In a few graceful words the welcome to the guests to the first anniversary celebration of Rebekah Lodge, and the evening's program would be very informal.

The first number was "The March of the Spooks" excellently carried out by several ladies in very realistic costume, followed by the waltz and ever-present "black cat" in the (2) solo.

who persisted in tapping over the match much to the detriment of the audience. Other numbers of the programme were a piano duet by Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Harris, cornet and violin by Messrs. Harold Hinton and Karl Schindler.

Miss Gertrude Wright, and her husband, and piano selection by Carl Schindler and Miss Barr, all of which were enjoyed.

These numbers were interspersed with fortune-telling by a witch, who stirred the old black pot and stirred up the anxious ones that nature destined.

These proved dissatisfying to the audience and chance for a better fate by applying to the "wheel of fortune" on the opposite wall, which was a very comic scene.

Even the old time "apple" game was not forgotten nor the dainty pumpkin carving which was a very interesting and happy contest for the ladies.

Prizes were awarded to the first and second successful contestants in these tests of skill.

Mrs. L. J. Lovett held her monthly "At Home" day on Wednesday afternoon of this week.

Mrs. L. V. Harris was "At Home" to her friends on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Arthur Grogan entertained on Monday afternoon at a Halloween party. Many guests were present and were decorated with witches, black cats, etc. A very enjoyable time was spent by the ladies present, about ten in number.

On Sunday morning, Nov. 6th, a united Memorial service, under the auspices of the G. W. V. A. will be held in the Methodist Church at 10:30 o'clock.

The Grand War Veterans will parade, attended by the Bear River Band. Addresses will be given by the pastor of the town churches. All are invited to attend this service to the memory of our fallen heroes in the great world war.

Fifteen minutes after leaving his home on Monday night, a fire broke out in the house of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brown, shooting a deer. Can anyone beat this?

The Methodist Ladies Aid spent the afternoon on Tuesday very pleasantly at the home of Miss Elizabeth Moore.

The Church of England, held a special Harvest service on Tuesday evening, when the Church was appropriately decorated with fruits and vegetables.

The annual meeting of the Women's Institute will be held in the Division Hall on Friday afternoon, Nov. 11th, at three o'clock. Election of officers for the year will be the first business of the meeting. All fees are payable at this time.

The marriage will take place in the First Baptist Church of Edmonton, Alberta, on Saturday, Nov. 5th at 11 o'clock, of Carol, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Clarke, to Miss Annie M. Schneider of Oswego, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. Clarke will reside in Edmonton where Mr. Clarke is principal of one of the schools.

One of the successful hunters this season was Mrs. Freeman Rice who, accompanied by her husband and Louis Peters as guide, brought in a fine moose last week. V. T. Barr was also fortunate in securing a four year old with a fine head for mounting. Levi Brooks was guide for the party.

The B. Y. P. U. will hold a social evening on Friday, Nov. 11th, at 8 p. m. All are cordially invited to attend.

The Baptist "Circle" met on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. W. E. Reed, when a very pleasant time was enjoyed by all present. At the conclusion of the evening delicious ice cream and cake were served.

The selling of the "Poppies" in memory of "Armistice Day" will be begun on Thursday of this week. Solicitors will make a house to house canvass that all may have a flower to wear on Sunday at the Community Service to be held in the Methodist church at 3 o'clock. Small poppies ten cents—Large poppies twenty cents. "Let us forget."

PERSONAL MENTION HALLOWE'EN PARTY

The ladies of Elita Rebekah Lodge, O. O. F., celebrated their first anniversary in a very unique and happy manner Monday evening when they gave a Halloween party to the ladies of the town. Invited guests being the members of the Friendship Lodge, O. O. F., and their wives, together with a number of the personal friends of the members of the lodge.

On entering the lower hall, the guests were greeted by a committee of ladies very graciously and cordially. All the colors and emblems that go to make a Halloween party were in evidence. The staircase leading to the upper hall was decorated on each side with large pumpkins, grins, and the last of the season's scene of festive party and dancing.

Refreshments were served by the ladies of Elita Lodge, who certainly had nothing undone for the pleasure of the guests.

DO YOU WANT TO VOTE DECEMBER 6?

Be Sure That Your Name Is on the Vote's List—Not Too Late.

In answer to this question you say "Of course, what do you take me for?" Exactly, you want to vote, but is your name on the voter's list? The Registrars are on duty this week and it is up to you to find out who is the Registrar in your district and further to see for yourself that your name is on the voters' list. Do not leave this to anyone else; do not take it for granted that those acting for the Liberals, the Conservatives or Farmers will see that your name is on the list. It is quite possible that neither of these parties know how you are going to vote. Each may think it best that the other should withdraw after it. Don't leave it to chance. Every decision there is a great many heart burnings because persons whose names should be on the list find when too late that their names do not appear and they are thus deprived of the privilege of voting. You owe it to yourself and to Canada to vote in the coming election. Be sure therefore that your name is on the list in order that there may be no disappointment when polling day arrives.

Act today. Find out who is your Registrar and make it your business to see for yourself that your name is on the list.

Remember that no one but yourself in person can get your name on the list. Every man and woman of the age of twenty-one years is entitled to vote.

WEIRD DOINGS AT SMITH'S COVE

Old Sol had scarcely hidden behind the distant hills when, suddenly, the streets of the village seemed alive with myriads of wind-blown leaves, fluttering and chattering on their way to the hall.

Two Hallowe'en—the members of Home Division had joined forces with the goblins to give their friends an evening of real sport.

The interior of the hall itself presented a ghastly appearance with its frize of witches and black cats, looming large in the golden rays of light emitted from diabolical pumpkin grinders arranged upon the stage and about the room.

One knew not how to get on from whence they had sprung, judging from outward appearance for all were in masquerade and presented features rarely encountered in mere man's existence, and, but for the unobtrusive reassurance of Charlie Chaplin in the door that no evil should befall those who entered, a person would have developed a faint heart and hurried home with a shiver.

Clowns cavorted with witches and guests, while the Black Cat mewed loudly for water that the visiting Queens and Princesses from distant lands, might hear to advantage the lamentable wails of the Hallowe'en plagues.

Such to the delight of all, the noted Charlie Chaplin had been able to accept the invitation extended to him by the Division to be present, and added much to the sociability of the evening with his clever dancing, his latest feat of devouring a whole pie at one gulp, several not only to win for him the hearts of the gentlemen, but the ladies as well, despite the fact that they do not look with favour upon such savage appetites.

The unusual antics of the masqueraders, together with a well arranged program and delicious refreshments, rounded out an evening long to be remembered by the members and their friends.

Following is a list of prizes awarded during the evening:

BEST COSTUMES

Ladies—Miss Inez Rice.
Gentleman—Dwight Morgan.
Pumpkin Race—Frank Harlan.
Hunting the Witches—Miss Ada Winchester.
Baking for Cakes—Donald Cosaboom.
Pumpkin Seed Stringing—Miss Greta MacGregor.
2nd Miss Kathleen Hastings.

For Best Behavior—Charlie Chaplin, alias Gordon Cosaboom.

SEAPLANE ENTERED

An unusual entry was filed at the arrival office in the Customs House, at St. John, where the master of the coastwise gas sloop and the ocean greyhound are required to announce their coming. The seaplane, a Polaris, lying at Black Beach, was among the entries. This was the second entry of this kind at that office, and the first to be entered from a foreign port, the Polaris having been from Harbord, U.S.A. W. H. Alexander, her master, said that he hoped to clear shortly for Bear River, where he will visit his brother, Postmaster M. B. Alexander. He satisfied the customs authorities that he was on legitimate business.

MADE GOOD IMPRESSION

The Charlottetown Guardian says:—Rev. D. E. Hatt occupied the pulpit of the Baptist Church last evening preaching a most impressive sermon on "The Christian Teaching of Tolson." Mr. Hatt is a speaker of fine presence, a rich, sympathetic voice and above all, a thorough mastery of his subject. The great poet's teaching on the three great themes of Faith, Love and Hope were brought out with power, eloquence and insight. Each point was illustrated by beautifully rendered selections from the poet's works. The music, which was of the usual high order, was under the charge of Prof. Duncan. A solo, "Lead Kindly Light," was very beautifully rendered by Miss Ratane.

ANNAPOLIS CO. HAS MYSTERY.

Annapolis county has a mystery which the residents of Kamsdale are anxious to solve.

On Wednesday morning, Oct. 19, an unidentified body of a young man was found in the Bay Shore Lake Brook, Annapolis county. The body was buried on Friday, Oct. 21, near the spot where it was found. It was that of a man about five feet eight or nine inches tall. He wore a blue serge suit, light striped shirt, dark brown shoes of English last, size 7 1/2, and black cashmere hose. The face was unrecognizable.

PRINCEDALE

Mrs. Wm. MacDonald, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Walter Dunn, has returned to her home at Barton.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Wright are receiving congratulations—a son—born Oct. 21, Clifford Miner left home on the 28th, after daylight. He found his moose, shot and dressed it, had the carcass home in time for a fry for dinner.

Manning Dandale returned from Queens County, after a successful moose hunt.

David Wright of Virginia East, while working in Albert Fraser's mill, had his hand cut nearly off on a saw.

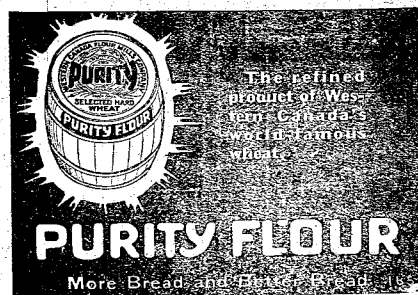

John Feener of Newton, Mass., is visiting his brother, Samuel Feener.

Mrs. Wallace Peters, of Wilton, New Hampshire, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Foran Wright, returned to her home on Saturday.

Field Marshall Sir William Robertson is said to be the only officer in the British Army to start in the ranks and win a Marshal's baton.

Eight hundred chess players, both men and women, participated in a recent tournament in London.

Wide-open eyes are said to be indicative of rashness.

Do you know what Post Offices in Canada the four rebus pictures below would represent? Could you solve fifty such pictures and win a big cash prize?

The Contest is called the "Know Canada" Contest, and is open to all readers of The Weekly Courier, of Digby; or The Family Herald and Weekly Star, of Montreal.

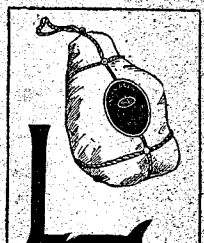

Eight pictures have already appeared. Begin NOW and you will have an opportunity to study the first eight later on.

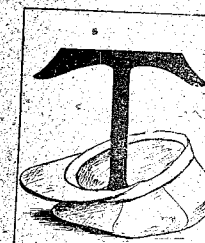

No. 9.
The dog sits on the wash-tub. What kind of dog is it? See page 2 of list of Post Offices.

No. 10.
A Post Office in P.E.I. Also an Irish city very frequently mentioned lately.

No. 11.
You must look for this Post Office in Quebec. It will be found on page 2 of the list of Post Offices.

No. 12.
A Post Office in Eastern Ontario. See page 6 of the list of Post Offices.

Terms of Contest

The contest is open to any member of a family, one of whom must be a subscriber to either the Weekly Courier or The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal.

A list of approximately 2,000 Post Offices in Canada from which the fifty rebus pictures will be selected, will be sent free to any contestant, who, before December 1st, 1921, sends one new subscriber to either the Weekly Courier or The Family Herald and Weekly Star. It will also contain a blank form on which to fill in your answers and hints to help you arrive at the correct answers. A self-addressed stamped envelope should be sent with the new subscription for the return of the print id list.

One NEW subscriber to either the Weekly Courier or The Family Herald and Weekly Star sent in by a competitor will take the place of one incorrect answer in the competition, thus 49 correct answers and one NEW subscriber will count as 50 correct answers or 50 points.

Two NEW subscribers to either paper will take the place of two incorrect answers, thus 48 correct answers and two new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Three NEW subscribers to either paper will take the place of three incorrect answers, thus 47 correct answers and three new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Four NEW subscribers to either paper will take the place of four incorrect answers, thus 46 correct answers and four new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Five NEW subscriptions to either paper will take place of five incorrect answers, thus 45 correct answers and five new subscriptions will count as 50 correct answers.

Five NEW subscriptions to either paper will be the limit to be credited in the competition. This places all contestants on an equal footing.

Fifty correct answers and five NEW subscriptions to either paper will be the highest points obtainable.

Four pictures will be published each week simultaneously in the Weekly Courier and The Family Herald and Weekly Star. Answers MUST NOT be sent in until the 50 drawings have appeared in both papers. Ample notice will be given.

In case of a tie the prizes will be divided. For instance, if there are three who have earned say 54 points and no one has obtained the maximum of 55, the first three prizes totalling $850, would be divided amongst them.

The decision of the Editor of The Family Herald will be final.

No employees of the Weekly Courier or the Family Herald are allowed to compete.

Contest will begin early in October. See that your subscription to the Weekly Courier and The Family Herald is paid well in advance and prevent losing a single issue. Back numbers cannot be supplied.

New subscribers may enter the contest by complying with the above conditions.

Address—The Weekly Courier, Digby, or The Family Herald and Weekly Star, Montreal.

SPECIAL CLUBBING OFFER

The Weekly Courier costs $2.00 a year.

The Family Herald and Weekly Star costs $2.00 a year.

We now offer a full year's subscription to both papers with the right to compete in the "Know Canada" Contest for

$3.00

Remember the above price includes a full year's subscription to both the Weekly Courier and The Family Herald and Weekly Star, of Montreal.

$2000 IN CASH PRIZES

Our "Know Canada" Contest, for which Two Thousand Dollars in cash prizes are offered and will surely be, is creating a great deal of interest amongst our readers. The rebus pictures are very interesting and amusing. Old and young may study them. There will be fifty pictures in all. So far the pictures appear to be easy of solution but many will find a mistake can be made. They should be studied over and over again and compared with the list of Post Offices. Every competitor should have the list of two thousand Post Offices, for in which the fifty are selected. It can be had on easy terms by every competitor and will greatly help to solve the pictures. The third set of pictures and terms of contest will be found on another page of this paper. Begin to-day and you will have an opportunity to study those already published later on.

petitioner had been adjudged insane and was on his way to the Dartmouth asylum.

Halifax hunters who have been in the bush the past week, have returned to the city with many tales of careless shooting. Some local men stated that they have seen men out shooting who have fired at any object that looked like game to them, without first ascertaining what their target was. The Halifax men say that some of the shooters seem anxious to get rid of ammunition, no matter what they aim at.

An unusual fatality befell Rev. Father Norrington, Roman Catholic priest of the Eagle Lake district, N. B. on Thursday. While driving along the highway near the village of Eagle Lake, with a member of his parish the priest observed a high powered automobile coming at a high rate of speed and fearing that disastrous collision was inevitable, Father Norrington jumped out, striking on his head. Concussion of the brain resulted.

The Prince Edward Island refunding issue of $125,000 ten year six per cent. bonds was last week awarded to A. B. Ames & Company, of Montreal and Toronto, at $9.199. Twenty six bids in all were received by the Prince Edward Island government, of which the Ames company tender was the highest.

Hon. D. W. Merseureau, minister of agriculture and Harvey Mitchell, deputy minister, are going to Moncton to arrange for an advance from the department to assist the co-operative marketing of poultry in the United States market.

The crop of flax raised at Caraque and neighboring places in Gloucester county is reported to be of the highest quality. The deputy minister who was in that section, last week, inspected the crop. Seed was furnished by the department last spring, and flax of a finer grade was the product.

TO SUSPEND BUSINESS FOR TWO MINUTES.

The Governor-General has received a despatch from the Secretary of State for the Colonies, regarding the signing of the Armistice, there should be a complete suspension of business so far as possible, beginning at 11 a. m. and continuing for two minutes.

The Canadian government have adopted this suggestion and accordingly the secretary of state for external affairs has issued a request that the rite be observed throughout the Dominion.

DIGBY, NOVA SCOTIA, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1921

VOL. XLVIII No. 14

Last Week In The Maritime Provinces

According to statistics just compiled by the Department of Agriculture, Fruit Commissioner's Branch, it will require approximately 1,850 cars to protect this season's apple movement from Nova Scotia. Export shipments to the United Kingdom and early shipments to the Canadian and American markets will be taken care of in box or crate cars but nearly 2,000 refrigerated cars will be required for the late shipments. Up to the present approximately 300,000 barrels have been marketed, a record movement for a corresponding period.

Two well known St. John commercial men while travelling a lonely road by automobile near Cole's Island recently ran into what had every indication of an ambush or holdup. An obstruction of logs and timber was found piled across the road in a thickly wooded spot on the highway. The salesmen had a rifle in the car, so one man held the rifle while the other removed the obstruction. It is thought that the rifle kept the obstructivists from coming out in the open and demanding money. Several other attempted holdups have been reported recently, most of them in Kings county. Cole's Island is in Queens county in the Canadian country.

That the latest ten per cent wage cut will apply to every employee of the Dominion Steel Corporation from the highest official down, is the announcement made by the management at Sydney. The announcement of a ten per cent cut for the day workers, made Monday, was supplemented with a further notice that the cut will also apply to the salaried workers or the general offices.

The Nova Scotia College of Agriculture at Truro has opened with an attendance of sixty-five, thirty eight juniors and twenty-seven seniors. Of the total attendance, forty-one are from Nova Scotia, twenty from New Brunswick, and teny and that fish caught as far west as Toney River and as far east as The Ponds will all be packed there, the fish being brought to the Carriboo factory in motor boats or by steamer. G. W. Atkins, who has been at the head of the Atkins Company, is to remain in the business with which he has been so successfully associated all his life in the capacity of a manager for the Burnham and Morrill Company, and it is understood, will have charge of the new Carriboo factory.

Three rifles owned by residents of Van Buren, Maine, seized by a New Brunswick game warden, near St. Leonards, have been forwarded to the office of the chief game warden at Fredericton. A fine of thirty dollars was imposed recently in a game case in Madawaska county near the same locality.

Speaking at a meeting of the Canadian Deepwaterways and Power Associations at Hamilton, Ont., George A. Graham, of Fort William, expressed the opinion that the eastern part of Canada will be benefited by the project of deepening the St. Lawrence River almost as much as the western districts. With the opening of the river channel now markets to the West would be opened for Nova Scotia coal, iron and steel products. Nova Scotia coal would displace Pennsylvania coal in Ontario, and as far west as the head of the Great Lakes.

The committee formed for the purpose of providing a hockey rink for St. John, which has been destitute of hockey facilities for several years, has practically decided to proceed with the erection of a suitable building on the site of the old street car barn in the North End, from which the present buildings will be removed.

A hold burglary and an attempt to set fire to a Yarmouth block, took place some time Wednesday night when burglars removed one of the glass panels of the front door of William Starr's clothing store, entered the shop, and pilfered a quantity of goods consisting of men's overcoats, mackinaws, other furnishings, and some jewellery.

They made their exit by a rear door, but before doing so attempted to set the building ablaze by starting a fire under a counter at the back of the shop. Fortunately that dastardly plan did not carry, and it failed to develop to serious proportions before the clerk arrived in the morning to open the store, when the work of the marauders were discovered.

The slumber of the residents of towns and villages along the railway lines have been disturbed of late by hooting choruses which go by at night or are heard from sidings. Numerous cars of live geese from Prince Edward Island are going through to Massachusetts to be fattened for the Thanksgiving Day dinners on Nov. 24. C. E. Austin, of Mansfield (Mass.), has bought and shipped no less than 7,000 geese on the Island. Years ago geese could be bought for fifty cents or less at the farm, but now they are worth there from $1.75 to $2. Because of the almost incessant hooting of the waddling members of this feathered tribe trainmen usually prefer to set live stock of this nature in the middle of the train so they can hear themselves think aloud.

The U. S. "check-off" injunction naming Sydney district and the notice of the British Empire Steel Corporation on that it would ask a wage decrease are practically the subject of the meeting of the Breton coal fields, even to the eclipse of the Dominion elections. The injunction has no effect directly. No action will be taken by the miners until their committee meets the committee of operation at Halifax Nov. 10.

River piracy seemingly has been added to the crime records of New Brunswick. Daniel C. Barnes, Whitehead, Grand Manan, reported to the police in St. John that his motor boat was boarded in St. John River last Monday night by two armed masked men and $175 taken from him. Barnes said he had gone upriver with a load of fish to sell throughout the Washademoak Lake district. He had sold out and was on his way down river to St. John, when just as dark settled down on Monday night, his engine stalled. A speedy white motor boat, he said, came after him out of the Washademoak. He thought it meant assistance but two men boarded his craft each armed with a revolver and each with part of his face concealed. He says they demanded his money and with a revolver pointed at his face, he complied, handing out his roll of $175.

James McIntosh, formerly of Glace Bay, a veteran of the Great War, started from St. John on Thursday with the intention of travelling around the dry portions of the world on foot. He expects to encircle the globe in five years.

The city of Fredericton will probably erect a memorial tablet to the late Donald Fraser, deceased lumberman, who founded the great business from which has grown Fraser Companies Limited, at the Fraser Memorial Building, which has been constructed at Victoria Public hospital.

Hiram Crossman is probably the most successful hunter in New Brunswick. Last week he secured a deer, a moose, half a dozen partridges and chased a bear. Apparently, however, Bruin knew what he was up against, and managed to elude his pursuer. He may not be so fortunate next time, as Hiram knows a thing or two about killing bears.

The only Cape Breton fatality resulting from Saturday's terrific storm was brought to light recently when searchers found the body of James Maclean, 26, in a grove near Kilkenny Lake, New Waterford. He had been missing since Saturday, when he left the home of his grandparents, with whom he lived, to go to a colliery three miles away, to draw his pay.

When found his pay was in his pocket intact, and medical examination found that there was due to exposure. Two brothers, Dan and Joseph, reside at New Waterford.

As a result of the vigilance of customs officers, who have suspected that there has been extensive rum-running along the Guysboro coast by so-called "mystery-ships" and other craft, a sloop, N. S. 863, has been seized. H. M. Scott, customs officer, also seized about $1,000 worth of contraband liquor which had been landed by one vessel. Other craft are under suspicion and further developments are expected. The officers charge that the seized

POLLOCK.
The pollock, captured extensively by our deep sea or bank fishermen, along with cod and haddock, is for uncountable reasons, not popular as a fresh commodity. It is closely allied to the true cod, is of fine flavor, and may be readily and cheaply procured in our Canadian markets, especially during the months of June, July, August and September. One authority, endeavouring to locate a reason for the apparent deep-rooted prejudice, considers it due largely to the fact that the pollock destroys better fishes. It is true that the pollock is very destructive to the young of many of the schools and driving the fish to the surface where they fall a prey to the voracious pollocks attacking below and hundreds of sea gulls which with astonishing voracity and precision pounce upon them from above. But this subsultive tendency is not confined to the pollock alone. It is a sloop was recently sold and that there was an irregularity in the transaction. The liquor is supposed to have been smuggled from St. Pierre (Miq.)

A moose hunting party of seven doctors from New York are hunting on the head waters of Pollack River. They brought down five antlered monarchs, which, after being made ready for shipping, were sent in a refrigerator car to the United States. Another party of five, Albert Dix, James McDonald, J. Greenlaw, N. Thompson and J. W. Cleveland, of Beverly, (Mass.), arriving later in the week, are living in the Elliott camp near Bennett Lake with King, Butland, Cook, and Egbert Elliott, guide. They are hunting in the woods beyond Bennett Lake.

John Gratton, of Tabusintac, who was employed at the Stafford and Anderson mill at Ludlow was terribly crushed and injured in an accident recently, and while few hopes of his recovery were held at first the latest reports are more encouraging. Some of his clothing caught in the driving shaft of the machinery at the mill and he was thrown round with the shaft through several revolutions, breaking several bones and receiving severe internal injuries. He suffered much pain.

Word was received at Clair, N. B., on Thursday of a fatal accident on the opposite side of the St. John river. William G. Levesque, while driving a tractor on a farm, was caught in the mechanism and so badly injured that he died soon afterwards. Levesque was employed by the Fort Kent Tractor Co., and was demonstrating the machine at the time. He was a past warden of the Knights of Columbus and was well known in Madawaska and Aroostook counties. The sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved family, consisting of his wife, formerly Miss Alice G. of Grand Isle, and four children. His father, several brothers and sisters also survive.

eyed pollock. It is quite abundant about Puget Sound, but is not fished commercially.

As a game fish the true pollock is highly appreciated. In some localities it is a voracious fish, taking the hook freely and fighting viciously. In Massachusetts Bay great numbers are caught with a surface bait, but larger fish must be sought at the bottom.

These Arctic cat pollock fresh eaten is highly. The limited experience the writer has had convinces him that the general antipathy to the fresh pollock is largely associated with the name and not with its inherent qualities. Some months ago pollock were brought to this, a certain Canadian city and offered for sale. The demand was disappointingly small, but a few days later the resourceful dealer offered the same fish for sale as "Boston bluefish." On the first occasion the price was six cents and subsequently as "bluefish" it was offered for sixteen cents. The "bluefish" was extremely popular and the stock was soon sold out. The writer does not intend to justify the business morality of the deceptiveness, but it illustrates clearly that the aversion to pollock is not a sensible one. Incidentally it proves once again that Barnum had the right conception of human nature. Any method used in preparing cod for the table may be employed with the pollock with equally good results.

The official returns for the year 1920 disclose that of the total pollock catch of 128,023 cwts only 19,499 cwts were used fresh. The value of the total catch was $428,467 and the quantity consumed fresh $33,588. The great bulk of the fish was dried or green salted. Eighty-five thousand cwts were thus treated, valued at considerably more than half a million dollars.

Women of Canada

"I ask from all the people of Canada an earnest review of the real issue before Canada to-day. I ask from men and women a calm, thoughtful consideration of serious public questions; and, so far as I am concerned myself, I ask not favors but fairness."—ARTHUR MEIGHEN.

WOMEN OF CANADA, the coming General Election will be one of the most momentous in Canadian history, and Arthur Meighen asks YOU to give the issue fair, unbiased consideration.

Women and men alike are called upon to decide whether political, industrial and economic stability is to be replaced by class rule, political and industrial chaos and possible economic bankruptcy.

The facts are clear, and every Canadian woman will do her own thinking. She will not be misled by others. She will not blindly follow family political precedent, neither will she be carried away by the false theories or empty "isms" of theorists and extremists. Every woman will arrive at a personal decision by the application of practical common sense.

The great issue is the Tariff and here are briefly the facts.

The present Canadian Tariff, so far as it affects the necessities of life, is a very moderate one. It is simply a tariff maintained to keep Canadian factories in Canada employing a steadily increasing volume of Canadian labor and developing Canadian resources.

Meighen stands firm for the continuance of a reasonable tariff. It is now even more imperative than in the past. All other important countries are retaining or increasing their tariffs in order that they may hold their home markets for their own people.

Under Cramer's Free Trade policy Canada would be swamped with foreign goods, principally from the United States. Canadian industry would be ruined, thousands of men and women would be out of work with all the hardships to themselves and their children that must result. The farmer's great home market would be seriously affected, taxes would be increased, and Canadian working-men would have to go to the United States for employment.

While King's Tariff policy is wobbly it nevertheless tends toward the destruction of the Tariff and would bring with it practically the same results.

MEIGHEN'S POLICY EVERYBODY KNOWS. It is the only means whereby confidence may be maintained and employment given to all classes of the people.

The foregoing is a plain statement of logical conclusions arrived at from the facts. Think the matter over carefully "without favor but with fairness".

Make your own decision, stand by it unmoved and be sure to exercise your vote.

Good News For BRONCHITIS Sufferers

FAMOUS DOCTOR ENDORSES PEPS

"Peps are exceptionally suited for the treatment of bronchitis ailments; their peculiar composition, their direct influence on the membranes of the bronchi, and their freedom from risky narcotics, being among their many praiseworthy points."

DR. GORDON STABLES.

These chilly wet November days, when the old bronchial cough shows signs of return, and the chest feels raw and tender, it is important to have handy a box of Peps. They treat chest trouble in only one of two ways. You breathe the Peps medicine, and it penetrates where ordinary medicines cannot. As Peps is a balsamic in the mouth, the sufferer inhales with every breath rich balsamic pine essence; with other valuable medicines. This article Peps includes: cures coughs and healing into the chest; it soothes the sore inflamed airways; from the breathing, it causes phlegm to loosen, and relieves the painful tight feeling around the lungs.

Peps are the safest and most valuable remedy ever discovered for throat and chest. With them you can safely cough and colds, croup and other throat and chest troubles. 10c box, all dealers.

THIS WOMAN'S MISERY

Ended by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Remarkable Recovery of Mrs. Church.

Smiths Falls, Ont. — "I suffered with falling of my organs, pains around my heart and in bowels and down my legs, neuralgia in my face and head, and this terrible sinking feeling. I felt that I could not live and would try my best in order every night so these would be no trouble if I dropped off in the night. My husband went to the drugstore to get the best remedy he had and he gave him Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took six bottles and felt a lot better. I will always recommend the Vegetable Compound, and you can use these facts as a testimonial." — Mrs. J. O. Church, Box 845, Smiths Falls, Ont.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from nervous prostration, displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion and dizziness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the standard remedy for female ills.

If there are any complications about which you need advice write in confidence to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Trade Winds in Literature

Writing to Brander Matthews, the well-known American literary critic, an English friend asks why it is that British papers review comparatively few American books, while American papers review comparatively few English books. He wants to know whether it is because there are so many more English books that are worth reviewing. Prof. Matthews takes some space to answer this question, but we can answer in a word—Yes. The professor says that the earliest trade winds of literature, so far as the two countries are concerned, blew from east to west, and they have never changed. The old habits persist, and probably would persist even if there were as many American books worth reviewing as there are English books. He admits that the American people have never cast off their colonial attitude of deference to the nation of letters of the Mother Country.

"We expect," writes Prof. Matthews in the New York Times Book Review, "to be interested and entertained by the books published in London; and the British have no such respect for the books published in New York. We are still more or less colonial in our humility, and they are persistently inhuman. They have to make an effort, they have to overcome their inertia, so to speak, before they extend to an American book the cordiality equal to that with which we are always ready to welcome a British book. It may be an overstatement to say that we have a prejudice in favor of a British author, and that they have what is almost a prejudice against an American author; but even if this be an overstatement of the case, it is not altogether a misstatement. We are inclined to be suspicious of a British book, to please us, and they are inclined to be surprised when an American book happens to please them."

In another place he says, "The Americans always feel that the whole of English literature, past and present, is our precious possession. We are proud to count ourselves loyal subjects of King Shakespeare — to borrow Charles's strange term. On the other hand, the British do not feel that way about American literature, except in the case of the few American writers like Washington Irving and Poe who found their first recognition in England. E. V. Rieu, the English historian, who visited the United States not long ago, has discussed the difference between the English attitude and the American in 'Extracts From an American Notebook.' He was delighted with the Stevens manuscript in San Francisco, and with the cottage at Saranac Lake, which is also preserved as a memorial to the Scottish novelist. Lucas said that he wished there might be a similar memorial to Nathaniel Hawthorne in Liverpool."

Lucas writes again: "My hours in these libraries, together with a glimpse of the Widener room at Harvard and certain bookshelves, gave me some idea of what American collectors have done toward making the New World a treasury of the Old, and I realized how more and more necessary it will be in the future for all critics of art in whatever branch, and literature in whatever branch, and all students of an inquiry, if they intend to be thorough, to visit America. This I had suggested at, but never before had known. For none of these treasures are going back."

The only thing to do is to scribble and bear it and feel happy that these unique possessions are preserved with such loving pride and care. Any idea of retaliation on America on the part of England by buying the manuscripts of the great American writers, such as Franklin and Poe, Hawthorne and Emerson, Thackeray and Lowell, Holmes and Whitman, was rendered futile by the discovery that Mr. Morgan had these, too. I had in my library all the best of a similar series in my hands, together with a play by Poe not yet published."

Prof. Matthews complains good-humoredly that few British men of letters have any intimate acquaintance with American literature, and says that when the Bostonian of the New York weekly invited Mr. Augustus Birrell to review a volume of Paul Elmer Moore's critical essays, the British critic began his review by naively confessing that he had been entirely unaware of the American critic's existence. Andrew Lang is the only British historian of English literature who has dealt with the literature of the language as one and indivisible, and who, therefore, considered Cooper as fully as Scott, Emerson as fully as Carlyle, and Hawthorne and Poe as fully as Dickens and Thackeray. It has been suggested that one reason why English readers are not keen on American novels is because so many of them deal with phases of life interesting only to Americans. But, as Prof. Matthews points out, the American novel has proved themselves cosmopolitan enough to be loved by Arnold Bennett into the Five Towns, so why should the British condescend to take a stroll through Gopher Prairie?

Vanity of W.H.D. Animals. An investigating scientist who has been studying wild animals has learned that members of the feline tribe do not play with their long claws on the bark of trees to sharpen them, as is popularly supposed, but the part of the display of vanity on the part of the cat, to show how agile and powerful he is.

Where Real News Is Paramount

In the country newspaper, sensations, scandals—the recording of human misery—is almost taboo. At least it is certainly secondary to the printing of real news about people and things.

For the province of the country paper—your Home Town Paper—is to give community interests first place; printing the more or less sensational personal items only when necessary to keep faith with subscribers who pay for ALL the news.

Therefore, your Home Town Paper can give you, in full measure, and overflowing, 100 per cent pure news about the people in whom you are most interested—your relatives and friends of the Old Home Town.

WHO WILL WIN THE BIG PRIZE?

1st Prize $500 2nd Prize $250 3rd Prize $100
140 Prizes. Total $2,000

Open to all readers of The Weekly Courier of Digby, or The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal.

Fifty rebus pictures to be solved, each represents a Post Office in Canada. Twelve have already appeared. Begin now with numbers 13-14-15-16. You will have an opportunity later on to study the first 12. Read carefully terms below. Read also the bargain price of The Weekly Courier and The Family Herald and Weekly Star. These two papers will provide the family with all the newspaper reading they require. With the Family Herald you also get a copy of the beautiful new Canadian Coat of Arms in true heraldic colors. Size 14x17 inches.

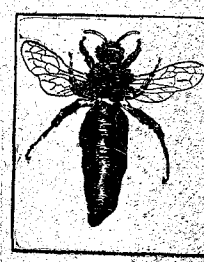

CAN YOU SOLVE THESE FOUR PICTURES?

No. 13. A man, a gun, a deer, a Western Post Office. See page 6 of the list of Post Offices.

No. 14. This may not seem, yet it is very simple—represents a Post Office in New Brunswick.

No. 15. What is it? Suppose to be a bee, but study carefully and consult list of Post Offices.

No. 16. Another Western Post Office that should be easy to make sure of if you see on page 6 of the list of Post Offices.

The above four pictures may look easy but a mistake can be made. Competitors will find the list of Post Offices from which the pictures are selected a great help. See 2nd item of terms of contest.

Terms of Contest

The contest is open to any member of a family, one of whose members is a subscriber to either the Weekly Courier or The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal.

A list of approximately 2,000 Post Offices in Canada from which the fifty rebus pictures will be selected will be sent free to any contestant, who, before December 1st, 1921, sends one new subscriber to either the Weekly Courier or The Family Herald and Weekly Star. It will also contain a blank form on which to fill in your answers and hints to help you arrive at the correct answers. A self-addressed stamped envelope should be sent with the new subscription for the return of the printed list.

One NEW subscriber to either the Weekly Courier or The Family Herald and Weekly Star sent in by a competitor will take the place of one incorrect answer in the competition, thus 49 correct answers and one NEW subscriber will count as 50 correct answers or 50 points.

Two NEW subscribers to either paper will take the place of two incorrect answers, thus 48 correct answers and two new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Three NEW subscribers to either paper will take the place of three incorrect answers, thus 47 correct answers and three new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Four NEW subscribers to either paper will take the place of four incorrect answers, thus 46 correct answers and four new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Five NEW subscribers to either paper will take place of five incorrect answers, thus 45 correct answers and five new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Five NEW subscriptions to either paper will be the limit to be credited in the competition. This places all contestants on an equal footing.

Fifty correct answers and five NEW subscriptions to either paper will be the highest points obtainable.

Four pictures will be published each week simultaneously in the Weekly Courier and The Family Herald and Weekly Star. Answers MUST NOT be sent in until the 50 drawings have appeared in both papers. Ample notice will be given.

In case of a tie the prizes will be divided. For instance, if there are three who have earned say 54 points and no one has obtained the maximum of 55, the first three prizes totalling $850, would be divided amongst them.

The decision of the Editor of The Family Herald will be final. No employees of the Weekly Courier or the Family Herald are allowed to compete.

Contest will begin early in October. See that your subscription to the Weekly Courier and The Family Herald is paid well in advance and prevent losing a single issue. Back numbers cannot be supplied.

New subscribers may enter the contest by complying with the above conditions.

Address—The Weekly Courier, Digby, or The Family Herald and Weekly Star, Montreal.

SPECIAL CLUBBING OFFER

SOME CANADIAN AUTHORS OF TO-DAY

If any evidence were required of the growing interest in Canadian literature, one need only point to the remarkable progress of the Canadian Authors' Association, which already numbers over seven hundred members, although it was organized only eight months ago. So far as poetry is concerned, Canada ranks exceptionally high in the world of poetry, with names such as Bliss Carman, to her credit. In the world of fiction Arthur Stringer, Ralph Connor, L.M. Montgomery, Basil King, Bertrand Sinclair, Isabel Ecclestone Mackay, Madge Macbeth, and Frank L. Packard, are only a few of an army of popular novelists. Life on the prairies has been admirably depicted by Janey Canuck (Judge Emily Murphy), Nellie McClung, Robert Stead, and Sergeant Ralph Kendall with his stories of the North-West Mounted Police. Among those who have written of the life of the wild, Charles G. D. Roberts, Arthur Heming, W. A. Fraser, Archie P. McKishnie, and Ernest Thompson Seton, at once come to mind, while Steffanson is one of the world's greatest explorer-authors. Marshall Saunders, who wrote "Beautiful Joe", is famous as a sympathetic interpreter of animal life. F. W. Wallace is one of our best known authors of sea stories, and H. A. Cody has an immense following among boys. Among the humorists, Stephen Leacock and Peter McArthur stand exceptionally high. The chief object of the Canadian Authors' Association is to create a wider interest among Canadians themselves in their own literature. It has an official organ called the "Canadian Bookman". It has helped to organize Canadian Authors' Week for the third week in November, in which libraries and bookstores will make special displays of Canadian books, and it has conducted a vigorous campaign for the improvement of Copyright conditions in Canada.

Last Week In The Maritime Provinces

That prospects in Cape Breton steel industry are none too bright at present was the statement made by H. D. MacDonnell, vice-president of the British Empire Steel Corporation, at a meeting with members of a citizens' committee on unemployment at Sydney.

Mayor William Fitzgerald, E. P. Merrill, general manager of British Empire Steel Corporation, Arthur McLean, secretary of the steel workers union and A. N. McLennan, president of the board of trade, were present and considered ways and means of obtaining further orders for the Sydney mills when the present government is for 20,000 tons of rails in finished, which will be in about two months.

bureau show a healthy growth in many Nova Scotia towns. Bridgeport, with 3,152 has grown by 14 per cent. Dartmouth, 7,904, 56 per cent. Inverness 2,929, 29 per cent. Kentville 2,717, 8 per cent. Lunenburg 2,263, 8 per cent. Sydney 2,286, 4 per cent. Sydney 2,327, 27 per cent. and Trenton 2,837, 62 per cent.

Eddie Casey, 26 and unmarried was found dead in the Wanderers Club rooms at Glace Bay early Tuesday. Death is ascribed to heart trouble. Casey was a son of Thomas Casey, Sydney. He was seen to enter the club Monday night and when he did not show up a search was made.

Three record crops of apples in three consecutive years is the proud record of the Annapolis Valley. It is stated that when the total of the 1921 crop is known it will be found that the years 1919, 1920 and 1921 have varied less than twenty per cent. from the normal crop of 1,500,000 barrels.

New Brunswick's urban population figures recently issued by the census bureau, disclose some substantial increases since 1911. Bathurst with 3,334 has increased 245 per cent. Edmundston, 4,033, 122 per cent. Newcastle 3,510, 20 per cent. St. Stephen 3,309, 22 per cent. and Sussex 2,198, 16 per cent.

Two large stills were seized in the vicinity of Grand Narrows by Inland Revenue Officer J. W. Kennedy, Sunday. In spite of scores of seizures, Mr. Kennedy is of the opinion that large numbers of moonshiners are still active throughout the island.

Official figures of the recent New Brunswick plebiscite show 27,517 majority against importation of liquor. Gloucester was wet by forty-five votes, and Kent by five. The other constituencies were dry.

A wonderfully successful fishing season is now in progress at Lockeport. Codfish are better and more plentiful than they have been for years past. The vessels average from twelve to fifteen thousand pounds every day, while the fishing boats are also making money. Many of the small boats, with two men, are making from eighty to a hundred dollars a day.

A new service to the British West Indies will be inaugurated with the sailing from St. John of the Canadian Pacific "Sicilian". She will sail in December for Havana, calling at Boston and Nassau, Bahamas. This marks the second departure from the established services of the Canadian Pacific to such ports as Liverpool, Glasgow, Southampton, Antwerp and Havre, the first being a direct line to Naples, Italy.

Walter Babin, Athol, appeared before Judge McLatchey at Dalhousie, N. B. on Tuesday pleaded guilty of stealing a pair of expensive marine glasses from a shopkeeper in the wharf in Campbellton in October and was sentenced to two years in penitentiary. At the time of the preliminary trial the police had not located the party to whom Babin sold the glasses, but did so about a week later, and received the glasses and returned them to the captain of the vessel.

Work has been commenced upon the foundation of the new composite high school building in Edmundston, N. B. It will have approximately one third of the accommodation devoted to vocational training departments, which will be installed when the completion next September. The cost will be in the vicinity of $100,000.

ENGINEER DIES AT SEA

T. F. Ossinger, formerly of Westport Succumbs on Steamer Robin Grey.

Thomas F. Ossinger, who was guarantee engineer of the Skinner & Eddy Corporation during the great war period of ship construction, died last night at 6 o'clock on the steamship Robin Grey, 150 miles off Cape Hatteras, on a voyage from Rio de Janeiro to Baltimore. He had been chief engineer of the Robin Grey since he went into commission in Seattle at the beginning of 1919, the vessel having been built by the Skinner & Eddy Corporation for its own account. Later, with three sister ships, she was sold to the Isthmian Steamship Lines. Mr. Ossinger continued with the ship until the Isthmian ownership. He was 38 years old.

Mr. Ossinger leaves a widow and four children living in the family home at 4418 W. Massachusetts St. News of his death was sent by Captain White, master of the Robin Grey, to Capt. N. K. Willis, of Seattle, former commander of the vessel. It was transmitted by wireless to New York and thence telegraphed to Seattle. Captain Willis received the message at 9.30 o'clock last night. Captain White gave up the Robin Grey command last spring. The vessel is due in Baltimore tomorrow. Mr. Ossinger's body will be sent home for burial. On a leave of absence from the ship, Mr. Ossinger spent several months in Seattle last summer.

Before the war period, Mr. Ossinger, served for years as engineer with the old Pacific Coast Steamship Company and the Admiral Line. When the Skinner & Eddy Corporation began its great career as a shipbuilding company, it engaged Mr. Ossinger as guarantee engineer and he was one of the experts who helped the corporation make its great war records. He supervised the installation of engines and other machinery and had charge of the engine room department on trial trips.

Mr. Ossinger was a member of the Elks, the Masons and the Marine Engineer's Beneficial Association No. 35 of Seattle.

[Mr. Ossinger was the eldest son of the late Capt. W. F. and Mrs. Ossinger who some years ago resided in Westport, and was a grandson of the late T. C. Titus, of Westport.—News Editor Courier.]

reported to be in a serious condition, and young Steeves will be remanded pending the outcome of her injuries. Steeves had been doing odd jobs around Centreville since last fall.

George W. Smith, 85, of Ninevah, ten miles from New Germany, N. S., died from rifle wounds received when hunters shot at him in mistake for a moose. Smith was bending over his trap and was carrying a horn which he used for calling moose. A verdict of accidental death was rendered by a coroner's jury.

The students of the University of New Brunswick, have passed a resolution that a communication be sent to University authorities stating their refusal to pay their terminal and tuition bills upon the grounds that they had not been advised of the increase in rates which has been put into effect.

Owners of sailing vessels are complaining bitterly of the freight rates they are now forced to accept in preference to laying up their crafts, declaring that there is great difficulty in breaking even, and little show of making a living profit. The sailing vessel market continues slow, there being no noticeable improvement in the general demand for tonnage, and few charters were effected last week.

AN EVANGELINE TOWN

By NORMA MOREHOUSE
(Reprinted from Simon's College Review)

Nestling down in a gentle curve of the mountain within a pink and white circle of apple orchards, a hint of blue sea before it, the gray strength of the mountain behind, lies the little Evangeline town of Digby. Its quaint winding streets and dignified old houses slope up from the water-front with a prim aloofness, and its irregular fronted quays branch out into the sparkling blue waters of the Basin, through which the ships of de Monts once ploughed their stately way.

On a bright morning the trip across the Bay of Fundy to Digby is delightful. As the roll of Fundy's tide subsides, one gets the first indication of land, two or three little fishing boats gaily braving the waves. Then suddenly, as though two hands were impulsively extended in greeting, one notices the projecting outlines of land just ahead. Everyone on deck for in a few minutes the boat will be passing through Digby Gap, the home of so many quaint and curious legends.

The Gap being passed, the tiny harbor now opens out, dotted with gay yachts and sturdy gaff-rigged boats pulling in the harvest of the sea.

How gracefully the little town smiles in the sunlight! Not even the gray brow of the mountain can detract the pleasantness of the many irregularly shaped quays, or the invitation of that winding white road that twists itself up the summit of the mountain. The clock is just striking ten! What a mellow ring it has, and how it dwells on each street, its loath to allow the hour to escape!

Now the boat has touched, and we go down the dimness of the wharf-house straight into the arms of a welcoming bunch of porters with their cries of "Myrtle Lodge", "O'Connell's", "The Way-In!", "Pines Hotel", that express by their very names the romantic spirit of the whole place.

The chief inn, "The Pines", stands at one end of the town near a narrow stretch of water that runs in on white sands, behind is a grove of pine trees through which the sea-breeze pours a flood of vagrant memories.

This shady lane leads down to the street on the left. Here all the houses are old and distinctive looking. The set back lawns, the street in the peaceful shade of maples and oaks; ivy rambles them as if to cover the scars of time and the gardens hold fragrant memories of lavender and old fashioned clover-pinks.

What a picture that little brown house makes in its frame of beech trees! How neatly the grass is clipped along the flagged walks—with what precision the garden-beds are planned—just look at that great spray of honeysuckle that hangs over the arch of the gate as there down the street, enough inside to pour out its fragrance!

As one turns the corner it is impossible not to feel that this intangible air of dignified aloofness is lost; the houses are a trifle nearer the street, the flower beds, too, are closer to the gutter, and there one sees a few Barbicanian experiment that savors of modernity.

At the other end of the town are the stores and business-houses. Notice the little store on the left—"The Wigwam", one gets a breath of sweet smelling Indian grass in passing, and the odorous balsams that are distilling from the pile of pine-pillows in the window.

Do you see the Indian boy over there, with the huge bundle of baskets strapped over his shoulder? What gay splashes of color they make in the sunshine! Listen to the soft "sing-song" note in his voice as he calls out his wares.

The gay awnings wave in the breeze, the Basin sparkles and shines like a vivacious French girl. Down on the quay the fishermen are unloading a boat; look at the rainbow hues on the sides of those mackerel, what a foil they make to the sober colors of the herring. Here comes a lusty young lad to trundle off the catch to the cleaning houses, which are in a part of the town that Digby ignores; she pushes them back to the inmost recesses of her memory and covers them with a lofty forgetfulness.

But even the fisheries have a certain attraction if one can brave the attack of unpleasant odors that assail. On raised platforms the fish are carefully spread out to the rays of the hot sun and the bright breezes of the Basin, until they are cured to exactly the right degree that makes them the tempting morsels that one eats.

Beyond the Pines are the little white cottages of the fisherfolk with

FISHERMEN USING SMALLER BOATS IN WORK

The trend in deep sea fishing in the Canadian provinces is toward the use of smaller craft, but of greater adaptability. That is, they will be able to take up, in turn, according to the season, different branches of the fisheries, instead of hanging to one pursuit like the haddock and others. The boats will be fitted for trawling, fish scooping, flounders, herring, and swordfishing. That will be a regular rotation of marine crops. Light tonnage enables the fishermen to become owners and crews at the same time. Every workman-producer, like a fisherman or farmer, does best when he owns the implements of production.

STEAMER VALINDA DAMAGED

The steamer Valinda, which runs between Bridgetown and St. John via Annapolis River points, is reported full of water, the result of collision with the draw of the bridge across the Annapolis River. The damage to the boat and cargo is said to be considerable. She was loaded with merchandise for merchants at Bridgetown and nearby points. The accident happened Saturday night. The Valinda is owned and operated by the Bridge-town Steamship Company and managed by J. H. Longmire and Son, Captain Merritt of Pictou, is master of the vessel.

ROD AND GUN.

The November issue of Rod and Gun in Canada will delight the sportsman of the Dominion with its resplendent cover painting showing a picture of a ring-necked duck in natural colors. The many interesting stories and articles in this issue include a splendid ducking story entitled "Twenty-six years of solitude and one and one-eighth ounces of number six." A thrilling account of one of Captain Joseph Bernard's exploratory trips in the Arctic region also appears in the November issue. For the trapper and lover of the outdoors life there is the "Trapping Department" edited by A. L. Bates, from material obtained on his own trapping. The usual departments appear in the November issue. Rod and Gun in Canada is published monthly by W. J. Taylor, Lunenburg, Woodstock, Ont.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

This is a Short Letter, But It Proves the Reliability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Bethel, Ont.—"I was weak and ran down, had no appetite and was nervous. The nurse who took care of me told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now I am getting strong. I recommend it to my friends, and you may use my testimonial."—Mrs. W. J. Brady, R. R. 2, Bethel, Ont.

The reason why Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in overcoming women's ills is because it contains the most strengthening proportion of good old-fashioned roots and herbs, which act on the female organism. Women from all parts of the country are constantly testifying to its strengthening influence, and as it contains no narcotics or harmful drugs it is a safe medicine for women.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (con. mental), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read, and answered by women only.

POMPEII

Lostest Treasures Recovered From the Buried City.

Three-score years after the birth of Christ the busy and beautiful little city of Pompeii, overlooking the Bay of Naples, with its 20,000 inhabitants, was dramatically blotted out of existence by an eruption of the long-dormant Vesuvius, and for seventeen centuries lay unknown beneath a thick shroud of volcanic refuse. About the middle of the nineteenth century the grave of the dead city was accidentally discovered, and subsequent excavations have slowly revealed the rare treasures of a departed civilization. New excavations were begun in 1911, but with the Great War of 1914 the work had something more important to think about than Pompeii. Nevertheless, the antiquarians continued quietly digging and discovering fresh wonders. A few weeks ago the London Times correspondent in Rome wrote an interesting description of the latest findings, among them being a great fresco, with painting of the twelve penates (custodians) of the city: Jupiter, Juno, Mars, Minerva, Hercules, Venus, Mercury, Proserpine, Vulcan, Ceres, Apollo and Diana.

But to the people of Canada the most absorbing discovery will be that of a bar, or thermopolium, where various drinks were served out to parched Pompeians. There were many terra cotta amphorae found—and an amphora, gente reader, is a sort of glorified "schmoozer." At the end of the bar was a small furnace and a cauldron with a lid for mixing what Mr. Dooley termed "hot wana." Within the cauldron the excavators found the remains of some of the liquid used. But the most delightfully modern human touch of the election manifestos which adorned its walls. One of the candidates who eloquently reminded the public that he was a dumvir, who looked after the streets and sacred buildings. Another candidate was a "schmoozer" who looked after the roads, public works and a full dinner pail, and one can easily imagine the grave and reverend seigniors, and the young bloods of Pompeii dropping into the thermopolium for a modest quencher and incidentally making cautious enquiries as to the condition of the roads and their chariot wheels, and speculating as to how much Lullus was making out of the highways and temples.

The people of twenty centuries ago wrangled over the same political and social problems that exercise us today. Party politics ran high, and the campaign speeches of 1921 seem crude and tame when compared to the eloquent and fiery denunciations and the acrid personalities of such immortals as Cicero or Demosthenes. The latter complained that public men no longer were ashamed of charges of bribery and corruption—that they held principles by which Greece was ruined.

What are they? Dirty when a man gets a bribe; laughter if he confesses it; mercy to the convicted; harshness to the innocent. Pompeii is a city of the future. Pompeii is a city of the future. Pompeii is a city of the future.

The Lake of the Hanging Glaciers

(By Frederick Niven).
The name had always intrigued. It went into the same place as the names Lago Estacado, the Barren Land, Land of Little Slides. When by the excellent goodness of God (as it seems to me), I found myself, late July evening, actually close enough to have Nixon, the long, lean leader of that wonderful, incoherent, if not the ranging, hanging glaciers, the direction of our travel to it, I could scarcely believe my good fortune. I felt as one who dreams, at any moment it seemed that his face was not all a big shadow, save the chin, under a high forehead, but he was only a figure in a dream, before a dream; that only in a dream was he saying to me: "What do you folks like to drink, tea or coffee? And in the way of fruit, do you prefer peaches or apricots or peaches?" All evening I could hardly believe I was going, even though I laid out a khaki pants and leggings and a "black" coat before turning in that night.

Very early I was awakened, to the reflection of lake rising the austere above my bed, by the call of a loon. I was indubitably there—while the loon called, I could hear over some of the causes of my happiness. The call of the loon; the scent of sage-brush and balsam; the smell of horses in the open air; horses whose tails are not docked; and wrinkled ladies' dress; among the luxuriant belt of the austere Rockies; and lakes that are like polished jade to flick a simile from a little sheet of snow across the other day called "The Canadian Calendar"; and still blue lakes whose high rise the austere to the surface the appearance of watered silk; and the smell of wood smoke. Enough said: it was a trifling excitement as we started out from a vermine in an automobile along a road, clipped the top and bottom of Nixon and the horses were to wait.

June bugs and yellow grasshoppers were cracked. Dragging the loon called, I could hear over some of the causes of my happiness. Digby Pupils Awarded Prizes For Last Years' Work

INTRODUCTION AND PROGRAMME

One of the largest audiences ever in the Bijou Dream theatre in this town assembled Friday night to witness the Commencement Day exercises of the Digby Academy. The building was literally jammed and a great many were forced to go away. A lengthy programme was successfully carried out and it was worthy of all praise. The teachers and pupils have been working hard for almost two months to get their work as near perfect as possible and neither was disappointed in the result. Part I of the program was as follows:

Opening Address by Geo. I. Lettrey, chairman of the school board.

Chorus—Soldiers' Chorus, from Faust, High School.

Flag Salute.

Address—Rev. Wm. Driffield.

Recitation—A. Mortifying, Miss Lois Walker.

Motion Song and Drill—Grade I and II.

Quartette (Double)—High School.

Folk Dance—Grades VI and VII.

Chorus—High School.

Violin Solo—Humoresque, Miss K. I. Kaick, Vice-Principal.

Recitation—In Flanders Fields, Miss Mildred Outhouse, Canada's spy, Alton Snow.

Address—Rev. D. E. Hatt.

Good-Night Drill—Grades IV and V.

The second part of the program consisted of an address by Rev. W. H. Watts, after which came the awarding of the prizes by Mr. Lettrey.

KILLED THREE MOOSE IN FORTY FEET

Prof. George E. Sanders, of the Entomological Laboratory, Annapolis, has been successful in capturing a party which holds the record as far as the western part of Annapolis county is concerned, in the capture of "The King of the Forest." They have just returned from a most successful trip. Their hunting ground was back of Milford, near the Milford lakes, twenty-six miles from Milford House, this picturesque spot being reached by a chain of lakes with only three short portages in the whole distance. Here they came upon three bull moose, and dropped them all within a distance of forty feet. They were fine specimens and each of the sportsmen claimed a trophy which they bore home in triumph. It was a great trip, accompanied with wonderful success.

Three coal laden schooners for Charlottetown, were totally wrecked during the gale of Saturday night and Sunday morning. The Arizona, owned by Captain John A. Munn, of Murray River, and commanded by Captain Harris, with coal for C. Lyons and company, from North Sydney, was wrecked between Wallace and Pughwash; the Howard, owned and commanded by Captain Galt Murray of St. Peter's, with coal for A. Pickard and company, at Pilette, and Hazel Dell, owned and commanded by Captain Bonheur, St. Peter's, with coal for Bonheur, St. Peter's, with coal for Cape Bear. The crews of all three vessels escaped. The coal cargoes were insured.

MEMORIAL TO SAILORS LOST IN GREAT WAR

The members of the crews of Canadian registered merchant vessels who lost their lives at sea during the war as a result of enemy action, are to be commemorated on monuments erected by the Imperial War Graves Commission at Halifax and Vancouver. In order to secure a complete list the Naval Department is communicating with the owners of all Canadian ships lost during the war. The Department reports that replies so far have been satisfactory but that there are a number of companies who lost ships who have since gone out of existence. The Naval Department will be pleased to receive any information from officials of companies who have not been communicated with.

The death occurred Tuesday evening of one of Yarmouth's most prominent citizens in the person of Roy F. Kelly, at his residence, South East street, following an illness of 24 hours. He was 40 years old. He was a well known business man throughout Nova Scotia, being manager of the Minard's Liniment Company Limited. He was also an enthusiastic yachtsman and was formerly secretary of the Yarmouth Yacht Club. Among other offices held by Mr. Kelly were those of secretary of the Liberal Association, deputy game commissioner and deputy sheriff. He is survived by a widow, one son and one daughter, who are on a vacation in Massachusetts, and also his mother, three brothers, Clifford R., and Aubrey, of Yarmouth and Murray D., of Hamilton, Ont., and one sister, Mrs. Perry of Saskatchewan.

ANNAPOLIS LINKED WITH GRANVILLE

The new highway bridge connecting Annapolis and Granville was officially opened Thursday afternoon by Hon. H. H. Wickwire, provincial minister of highways, and A. F. Macmillan, chairman of the highway board. The bridge, which cost $317,000, is 2,273 feet in length, the longest in the province. Mr. Macmillan recalled that the first road constructed in Nova Scotia had been built from the bridge head to Fort Royal in 1604, and was glad to see the completion of a project mooted 317 years ago. He claimed that Nova Scotia now had better roads than New England, and more bridges than any province in Canada, the latter distinction being due to the numerous streams which roll through the landscape and supply the inhabitants with the only liquid now available without a doctor's prescription.

Arrests are expected at any moment in an amusing smuggling episode which occurred at South Bay three miles below Sydney one dark night recently when a smuggling schooner from St. Pierre, landed a cargo of the choicest stuff on the beach where it was loaded into waiting motors and hauled away. An hour later when the real consignees appeared it was discovered that through the treachery of two of the smuggler's crew the liquor had fallen into the wrong hands. The vessel's identity is a mystery but local revenue officers say that they have information as to the identity of the parties who got the free booze.

LOST FISHERMAN IS REPORTED SAFE

James McGrath, in Small Boat With Disabled Motor, Drifts From Near Digby to Grand Manan in Heavy Storm.

James McGrath, the fisherman who went adrift of Digby on Thursday and who was almost given up as lost, landed on Grand Manan on Friday afternoon. He was searched for by the Canadian government steamer Arloux but without success. He is reported to have come through the affair without suffering any serious effects from his long exposure.

McGrath left his home in Victoria Beach on Thursday morning to haul up his lobster pots. He was using a small motor boat to make his rounds when his motor refused to work. He was only a short distance from land at the time but only happened to have one oar with him. He started to drift and was last seen below Digby Light. Efforts were made to reach him but a gale came up, accompanied by a thick flurry of snow, the wind blowing at the time quite strongly from the southwest.

When the fisherman did not seem able to make any headway a report was sent the life saving station, which immediately put out a boat to search for him. This effort was unsuccessful and the Arloux was then dispatched to continue the search. This steamer went as far down the bay as Grand Manan but could not find any trace of the missing fisherman. The weather was reported to be extremely stormy and the captain reported that a heavy sea was running. This aroused grave fears for McGrath's safety and many anxious moments were passed by the missing man's family and friends before the arrival of the glad news that he had landed safely on Grand Manan Island on Friday after being out in the open boat for more than twenty-four hours.

A report received by Chief Game Warden George F. Burden from Moncton, announced the conviction of Elias Crabb and Bernard Shaw at Moncton on a charge of killing a cow moose. Fines of $150 each and costs amounting to $47.50 were imposed with the option of three months jail. Shaw who was unable to pay the fine, went to jail, while Crabb was allowed out on bail to collect the funds with which to pay the fine. Wardens Bradbury and Johnson were instrumental in securing these convictions. The cases occupied three days before the court and some thirty witnesses were called.

At the 34th annual meeting of the Amateur Skating Association of Canada held at Montreal, official announcement was made of the awarding of the Dominion skating championships for this year to St. John, N. B. A charge was made by decision to drop in the future the hurdle race as a championship event in speed skating. Officers on the executive committee included Frank White, St. John, and Lieut. Col. C. M. Edward, Ottawa.

Victor Lloyd Dimock, 16 years old, son of George Dimock of Mt. Uniacke, N. S., was accidentally killed by a companion while shooting at a hawk. Young Dimock had his head almost blown from his body when his pel was aiming at a hawk. Dr. Reid, coroner, returned a verdict of accidental death.

WOMEN WHO MAY VOTE ON DECEMBER SIXTH

Under Present Act Women Have Equal Rights With Men in Holding Election Offices, Being a Candidate for House of Commons and in Voting.

When has a woman the right to vote? This question is being generally asked in Canada today, especially in view of the recent amendments to the Dominion Election Act, which give women a wider share in political affairs than formerly.

Under the present act, as amended at the last session of Parliament, any woman who is a British subject of the full age of twenty-one years, and who is not prohibited for any reason, has equal right with men in holding election offices: being a candidate for the House of Commons, and in voting.

Foreign women who were not born in North America, but who through marriage become British subjects, do not have the right to vote despite their British citizenship, unless they secure a certificate from a judge certifying that they possess qualifications entitling them to become naturalized. Any foreign woman, who has not been personally naturalized but who has acquired the status of a British subject through marriage, can nevertheless not vote, unless born on the continent of North America, without a certificate of qualification from a judge. This means that if an Italian woman, born in Italy becomes a British subject by marrying a Canadian she would not be entitled to vote in the Dominion election. But if the same woman happened to be born in the United States, or even Mexico, and acquired British citizenship through matrimony she would be entitled to vote because of her citizenship and without the qualifying certificate demanded in the case of the women born outside of North America.

The same rule applies to any woman born in North America, and outside of Canada, who secures British citizenship through marriage no matter what her race or color. Any woman, born of foreign born parents in Canada is a natural born British subject, and neither needs to marry nor secure a certificate from a judge in order to cast a ballot.

Prior to the last interpretation of the Dominion Election Act there was one rather curious anomaly with regard to women voting. This was in dealing in the normal phraseology, carried the meaning that if a Canadian woman married an American resident in Canada she would be unable to vote because of her loss of British nationality. It also carried the meaning that if an English born woman married an American resident in Canada she would be able to vote despite her loss of British nationality. Colonel O. M. Biggar, chief electoral officer, overcame this apparent discrimination against former Canadian women by ruling that neither had the right to exercise the franchise.

Aside from the question of naturalization there are other rules which women must overcome before being allowed to vote, although these rules apply equally to male voters. The person must have resided in Canada for the year immediately preceding the date of the issue of the writ of election, and must have ordinarily resided in the electoral district in which he or she votes for the two months immediately preceding the polling day. Women as well as men, may not vote who, in the province in which they desire to vote, are disqualified by their particular provincial laws from voting for a member of the legislative assembly. Prisoners undergoing punishment for criminal offences, patients in lunatic asylums, persons maintained partially or wholly in municipal poorhouses or houses of industry, persons who are inmates of any charitable institution receiving provincial government aid and those persons disfranchised for corrupt or illegal practices cannot vote.

Last Week In The Maritime Provinces

Monday afternoon, while out lobster fishing at Terrace Bay, Wm. Sloughenwhite, aged 16, who accompanied his father, Joseph Sloughenwhite, was drowned in a big wave overturning the boat. Both father and son started to swim for the shore, the young man, however, giving out before aid could reach him. The father was saved through the timely coming to the rescue of Thomas Jollymore, with his boat. Next morning the body of the son, a youth who was very popular in the neighborhood, was recovered.

Charitable organizations in Sydney are concerning measures for the relief of nineteen foreigners who were discovered in unheated shacks in the Cove Oven district, without beds, food, clothes, or fuel, slowly freezing and starving to death. These people migrated to Canada after the war, got caught in the slum and not speaking English or Gaelic, their position became extreme before it came to the attention of the proper authorities. During the past few weeks some of them have been killed, and eating stray cats.

Roderick McKee, aged 62, farmer, of Little Sands, P. E. I., left his home last Tuesday night after informing his housekeeper that he intended to go to the shore to drown himself. She alarmed the neighbors and they went to search but found no trace of him. Later his body was discovered in another direction in a pond near his home. He was drowned in two feet of water.

A fatal accident occurred at Hillsdale, N. B. about six miles above Upland, on the St. Martin Hampton road Sunday, when a seven passenger trolley, owned and driven by Harold G. Robertson, of St. John turned turtle, killing Thomas E. Robinson, proprietor of the Standard Creamery of St. John.

SMUGGLING BIG BUSINESS IN CAPE BRETON

"Nothing short of a cordon of 25,000 troops around the island will ever keep smuggled booze out of Cape Breton," declared Captain Alfred Lacave, commander of H. M. C. S. Margaret at Sydney on Friday.

The Margaret has been on patrol duty off the Cape Breton coast all summer and has captured seven smuggling schooners as well as overhauling and searching numerous suspects.

"Not in my twenty-six years' experience in the patrol service of the Canadian government have I ever run up against a tougher proposition than that of keeping St. Pierre liquor out of Cape Breton," declared Captain Lacave.

"The coast line of the island is ideal for smuggling operations because the innumerable bays and inlets afford the best of concealment for the small schooners engaged in the business, and they are assisted materially by the cooperation of people on shore."

The Margaret is to load 200 cases of liquor seized by revenue cruisers during the summer, which she will take to Quebec for storage.

FOREIGNERS KILLED CATS FOR FOOD

Despatching trains by telephone will soon be the order of the day throughout Northern New Brunswick. It is expected that the phones will be installed and the change made shortly. When this change is made despatchers will handle the traffic over the entire division from Campbellton to Moncton, including all branch lines from Campbellton. The new system is ideal in many respects. One feature worth mentioning is that conductors of any train can between stations, call up the despatcher by simply stopping his train and placing a hoop and wire over the proper wire. Each train is provided with a telephone. The telephone is both in use between Moncton and St. John for some years.

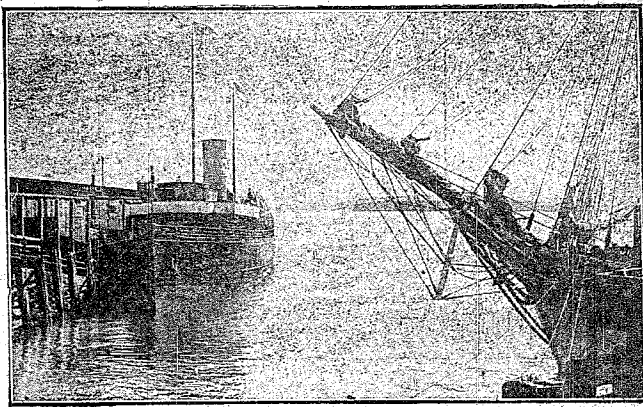

who was sitting in the front seat with Mr. Robertson. The other members of the party, W. B. Mahoney, Frank B. Orr, and George Orr, all of St. John, who were sitting in the rear seat, sustained minor injuries, with the exception of George Orr, whose collar bone is broken.

Springhill was shocked Monday by the news that John Penny, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Penny, had been accidentally killed by a shot from a 22 rifle. The boy was 15 years of age, with a companion Malcolm Cummings, were hunting rabbits in the woods south of the town. Penny was holding the rifle erect brushing snow from the brush when his finger must have sprung the trigger. The bullet struck the left side of his face and entering his eye lodged in his brain.

An enquiry was ordered by Coroner Townsend into the death of Wm. Axworthy, 40 years old, who was Friday morning found dead in a ditch on Vulcan Ave. Sydney. His forehead was bruised and a large stone covered with blood was lying nearby. Pending the enquiry the police are investigating reports that Axworthy had recently quarrelled violently with an acquaintance. He is survived by a widow and nine children.

St. Croix Courier: Two young men from the Mayfield district, N. B., were before Police Magistrate Vroom during the week charged with damaging the camp of Harry Leeman on the main river bank and destroying contents. They acknowledged their guilt, confessing that nothing but a desire for wanton destruction had prompted their act. Their parents paid the costs of the damage done and the fines imposed and they were released. There is too much of such destruction of camp property and it is quite probable that other perpetrators, when apprehended, will not escape so easily. The spirit of the victims is against leniency being shown.

Gunner Gordon Thompson, of the Royal Canadian Garrison Artillery, who was shot by Gunner Edward Raven, later a suicide at McNab's Island, Friday of last week, died Thursday evening. He was 45 years old, and a native of Prince Edward Island.

MUSHROOMS.

Only Four or Five Varieties Are Poisonous.

Fortunately, among the hundreds of varieties of mushrooms there are not more than four or five poisonous varieties, but, as some of the latter are somewhat common, it is dangerous to eat any mushroom unless one is sure of its identity. The only way to know the proper thing is to ask someone who is familiar with them, or by studying them one by one as one would take up the study of a foreign language. Several reliable works are available to the student who wishes to acquaint himself with the subject, as for instance:

"One Thousand American Fungi"—Melvinne-Bobbs, Merrill Company.
"Mushrooms, Edible and Otherwise"—Hard—Ohio Library Company.
"Mushrooms"—Atkinson—Henry Holt & Company.

"The Agaricaceae of Michigan"—C. E. Keweenaw—Wyke, Hales, Hales, Crawford Company.
Practically no mushrooms are to be found during the dry weather. Two of the deadly varieties are likely to be met with after rains: the fly agaric (amanita muscaria) and the death cap (amanita phalloides). The first of these is a very conspicuous mushroom, not resembling any other variety in such a range of mushrooms. The cap is large, from 4 to 6 inches, rounded at first, then nearly plane, surface when fresh, slightly variegated. Its color is subject to great variations, ranging from orange-red to yellow or almost white, the yellow color being more common. The margin of the cap in mature plants is marked with radiating lines or markings. The surface is covered with thick, angular persistent scales, usually white. These scales are often yellowish and easily removed; flesh white, the gills are free, but reaching the stem. Color white, rarely becoming yellow. Stem, 4 to 6 inches long, shining white or pale yellowish, becoming hollow, enlarged at the base into a conspicuous bulb, marked prominent, concentric, irregular rings. There is a ring or collar on the stem, very soft, large, white. The fly agaric is easily identified on account of its cap, brilliantly colored; large ring, and bulbous, ringed base. It occurs along roadsides, in woods, open fields, generally from June till frost.

The other deadly plant, amanita phalloides, or death cap, is 3 to 4 inches broad, commonly shining white or yellowish, but may be grey or brown, olive to amber. It is viscid when moist, smooth, oval and finally extended; the margin is even, not marked, flesh white, not objectionable to taste. The gills are free, the stem, largest at the middle, white. The stem is 3 to 5 inches long, generally hollow, white. The base of the stem is inserted in a semi-free, white, cup-shaped covering called a volva. It is of common occurrence from July to October in wooded groves and along borders of woods. It resembles somewhat the common field mushroom, but a slight examination will disclose in the common field mushroom the dark colored gills and the absence of the cup at the base of the stem. A phalloides is the most dangerous of all fungi, and is responsible for most of the deaths resulting from eating mushrooms. Ten to fifteen hours may elapse before symptoms of poisoning may appear. No antidote has been found by which the effect of the poison may be counteracted. A safe rule is to avoid eating all mushrooms having white gills, a ring on the stem and a volva at the base of stem, combined in the same. —W. S. Gifford, Division of Botany, Ottawa Experimental Farm.

When Bakers Saved Vienna.

During the siege of Vienna by the Turks in 1683, the apprentices were at work one night in underground bakehouses. The boys heard a rhythmic thump, thump, thump, and were puzzled by it. Two of the apprentices guessed that the Turks were driving their guns and ran to the commandant of Vienna with the news. They saw the engineer officer and told him of their discovery. He went to the underground bakehouse, and decided that the boys were right. The Austrians got the direction from the sound and aimed their guns. Then they exploded a powerful powdermine. Great numbers of Turks were killed, and the siege was temporarily raised. On September 13th of the same year John Sobieski, King of Poland, utterly routed the Turks and drove them back into their own country. As a reward for their intelligence the baker boys were granted the privilege of making and selling rich rolls in the shape of the Turkish emblem, the crescent. The rolls became very popular with the Viennese who called them Rollen. When Marie Antoinette married Louis XVI, of France she named her kitchen maid, sent to Vienna for an Austrian baker, who should teach his kneading the art of making them. The rolls—known as crescents—retained their original shape and became as popular in Paris as they were in Vienna. And to this day the rolls that are brought with your morning coffee in Paris will be baked in the form of a crescent.

San Antonio.

San Antonio is the name of a new port which has been under construction in Chile for the years and which is expected to become a formidable rival to Valparaiso as a shipping center.

In Luxembourg there is a penalty for those who do not record their votes at elections.

Hollywood the Exotic

Thanks to Patsy Arhinche and other noted screen artists, Hollywood, California, is a little town whose fame is world-wide. It is a town different from any other town in the world, for it is almost wholly supported by the film industry. There are many people living in Hollywood and Los Angeles before there were moving pictures, and Los Angeles had a well-established reputation as a winter resort. Los Angeles would probably continue to thrive if it were the last east-coasting city in the United States. All the films and film stars in the world were to be destroyed, but Hollywood would not. It is supported by the movie people. Around their studios have sprung up hotels and restaurants, shops of all kinds, where movie stars go to shop. Where movie stars go to shop, the money is spent in Hollywood, and in any other town of similar size in the United States. Not so many years ago Los Angeles and Hollywood were nothing but a desert plain. The first settlers here were the miners. They came to the desert to mine, but they found no gold. They found only a few small streams of water. They found a few small streams of water. They found a few small streams of water.

There was little rain, and little or no vegetation, because after no six weeks rain in spring, the only moisture that reached the place was from the melting snow on the mountains. They found a few small streams of water. They found a few small streams of water. They found a few small streams of water.

Is It Worth 50 Cents?

"Money can't buy anything else like this wonderful herb, Zam-Buk. It's simply priceless," says one enthusiastic mother.

For injuries, Zam-Buk is the indispensable ever-ready healer. Where there is any skin or scalp disease, Zam-Buk is magical in extracting germs and poisonous humors and growing new healthy skin. Being prepared exclusively from pure refined herbal essences, all highly concentrated, Zam-Buk retains its medicinal virtues indefinitely. It never goes rancid and is as effective as any other remedy. Yes, while so much more safer, purer and reliable, herbal Zam-Buk costs no more to buy. From Suddacoe St., Montreal, Mrs. Zam-Buk. It is the best thing I know. It saved me from a poisoned hand, rid my three children of scaly sores, and healed my husband's badly crushed finger. We couldn't be without it at any price. Know Canada Contest

Two Thousand Dollars in Prizes

Open to Every Reader of The Weekly Courier

The contest consists of fifty rebus pictures representing fifty Post Offices in Canada. Begin today with Nos. 21 to 24—the first twenty may be had free on application to this office.

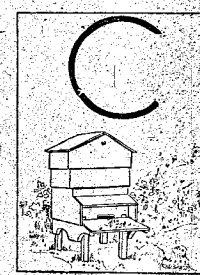

The contest is conducted by The Weekly Courier of Digby, and the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal. A year's subscription to both papers at regular rates would cost $4.00. We offer them for one year each for only $3.00. Can you solve these four rebus pictures.

No. 21

No. 22

No. 23

No. 24

The above four pictures may look easy but a mistake can be made. Competitors will find the list of Post Offices from which the pictures are selected a great help. See 2nd item of terms of contest.

Terms of Contest

The contest is open to any member of a family, one of whose members is a subscriber to either the Weekly Courier or The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal.

A list of approximately 2,000 Post Offices in Canada from which the fifty rebus pictures will be selected will be sent free to any contestant, who, before December 1st, 1921, sends one new subscriber to either the Weekly Courier or The Family Herald and Weekly Star. It will also contain a blank form on which to fill in your answers and hints to help you arrive at the correct answers. A self-addressed stamped envelope should be sent with the new subscription for the return of the printed list.

One NEW subscriber to either the Weekly Courier or The Family Herald and Weekly Star sent in by a competitor will take the place of one incorrect answer in the competition, thus 49 correct answers and one NEW subscriber will count as 50 correct answers or 50 points.

Two NEW subscribers to either paper will take the place of two incorrect answers, thus 48 correct answers and two new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Three NEW subscribers to either paper will take the place of three incorrect answers, thus 47 correct answers and three new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Four NEW subscribers to either paper will take the place of four incorrect answers, thus 46 correct answers and four new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Five NEW subscribers to either paper will take place of five incorrect answers, thus 45 correct answers and five new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Five NEW subscriptions to either paper will be the limit to be credited in the competition. This places all contestants on an equal footing.

Fifty correct answers and five NEW subscriptions to either paper will be the highest points obtainable.

Four pictures will be published each week simultaneously in the Weekly Courier and The Family Herald and Weekly Star. Answers MUST NOT be sent in until the 50 drawings have appeared in both papers. Ample notice will be given.

In case of a tie the prizes will be divided. For instance, if there are three who have earned say 34 points and no one has obtained the maximum of 55, the first three prizes totalling $850, would be divided amongst them.

The decision of the Editor of The Family Herald will be final. No employees of the Weekly Courier or the Family Herald are allowed to compete.

Contest will begin early in October. See that your subscription to the Weekly Courier and The Family Herald is paid well in advance and prevent losing a single issue. Back numbers cannot be supplied.

New subscribers may enter the contest by complying with the above conditions.

Address—The Weekly Courier, Digby, or The Family Herald and Weekly Star, Montreal.

At the close of the Regular Meeting on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Hankinson, a special hour was enjoyed.

Our County President, Mrs. William LeBlanc was the guest of honor, and the informal reception which took place for the purpose of extending to her the warmest congratulations on her recent appointment to her new office.

As President of the W. C. T. U. in Lunenburg for some time, Mrs. LeBlanc has become familiar with W. C. T. U. work, and has been in so many ways with our Provincial President, Mrs. Powers.

In response to our expression of loyalty to her in her new position, Mrs. LeBlanc said that she hoped to join our Branch of the W. C. T. U. in Lunenburg.

At the Provincial Convention last month our local Superintendent, Mrs. William Hankinson, was appointed Provincial Assistant Superintendent. Mrs. Hankinson, of the W. C. T. U. of Yarmouth, took our hearty congratulations, and we would all wish her to be successful in her new position.

DIGBY, NOVA SCOTIA, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1921

Vol. XLVIII No. 17

Last Week In The Maritime Provinces

Within four days of the 61st wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Colwell, of St. John, Mr. Colwell died after a few days illness, in his 84th year. His wife and several children survive. Robert B. Colwell, of Halifax, is a son.

Fighting her way to Pictou in a gale of wind the little schooner Bonus, of Charlottetown, P. E. I., landed her injured cook, a man named Cesar Cloney, of Antichat, Cape Breton, and rushed him to the hospital in hope of saving his life. Cloney, however, was too far gone, and shortly passed away. When the Bonus, which was bound from Crapaud to Sydney, was raising her anchor, after riding out a blow in Northumberland Straits, Cloney was caught in the gear of the gasoline winch and had several ribs broken before the engine was stopped. He leaves a widow and three children.

Miss M. P. Smith, E. B. Stratton, Jr., and Charles F. Smith, Boston, were in Fredericton last week en route to Boston, after spending a few weeks hunting around Miramichi Lodge. P. L. McElroy, of Tully, N. Y., and E. G. Wallis, of Apulia, N. Y., have also returned after a successful trip to the Miramichi.

There was a slump in the price of spuds in Cape Breton during the week, a drop from $1.50, charged by local farmers, to 60 cents the bushel as charged by the skipper of a schooner which arrived with a full cargo of tubers and turnips from the Magdalen Islands. Several other schooners at the various wharves with produce from P. E. Island are discharging at 70 cents a bushel, and according to quotations appearing in the P. E. Island papers, there is likely to be another drop in the prevailing prices.

The annual meeting of the New Brunswick Agricultural Society, United, was held in Fredericton, on Thursday. It was decided to adopt a more progressive policy in regard to the organization's activities among the agricultural societies. Stanley Wilson and J. D. McKenna were appointed to address the meetings of the Farmers and Dairymen Association, which will be held in Moncton opening on January 17. Officers elected for the ensuing year were: Stanley Wilson, Rolling Dam, president; W. D. Gilman, Fredericton, vice-president; J. D. McKenna, secretary-treasurer; these officers with W. H. Jackson, Kewick; A. H. Margeson, Centerville; Ward Jensen, Hartland; and Fred Fowler, Chipman, forming the executive committee.

The St. Lawrence coal shipping season has closed with the clearing of the steamer Kamouraska with a cargo of fuel for Montreal. The other vessels in the St. Lawrence trade of the Dominion Coal Company are the Hochelaga, Rosedale, Langan, Wabana and Maskinonge. There will be devoted for the winter to other routes.

Thomas J. Spellman, convicted of manslaughter in causing the death of Albert Norris in a yard off Erin

APPLE SUCKER A PEST IN MANY COUNTIES

In August 1920, the Dominion Department of Agriculture placed a quarantine on Kings, Hants, Colchester, Cumberland, and parts of Lunenburg counties on account of the apple sucker, a pest that was first discovered in Nova Scotia in 1919. The quarantine prohibited the shipping of nursery stock unless the shipment was accompanied by either a permit or certificate. As a result of scouting work carried on during the past summer, for this pest, it was found that the apple sucker had spread into Halifax county. On November 15th a Ministerial Order was passed adding Halifax county to the districts already quarantined. Persons who wish to ship nursery stock and desire further information should apply either to the Dominion Entomological Laboratory, Annapolis Royal, N. S., or to the Dominion Entomologist, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Street St. John, in a fracas in which a bottle of whiskey figured, was sentenced by Judge J. H. Barry to twenty years imprisonment. Spellman's counsel pleaded his overseas service for leniency but the judge said the law did not permit him to take this into consideration. He would, however, submit the counsel's plea in his report to the department of Justice.

Charles Bourgeois, aged 17, son of Arthur Bourgeois, lost his life at Grand Digby, Kent county, N. B., Friday afternoon, as the result of a boating accident. Bourgeois and his companion, Louis Fongers, went out on the river in a small skiff after a bird that had been shot

LIQUOR SEIZED AFTER FIGHT WITH SMUGGLERS

Sixty-two kegs of choice liquors, captured at Mainadieu after a sensational fight between Revenue Officers and smugglers Tuesday night were landed by the Cutter Restless, which later started back for the south coast to take around to Sydney the seized schooner Isma and several prisoners taken during Tuesday's battle. Detailed advice reaching Sydney indicates that the resistance encountered by Revenue Officers, in seizing the $16,000 liquor cargo of the schooner at Mainadieu is the most serious smuggling incident of recent years on the Cape Breton coast.

DIGBY COUNTY BOY DIES AFTER BURNS

The death of Melbourne, the eleven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Doucet, of New Edinburgh, Digby County, took place at the Yarmouth Hospital Wednesday morning. The boy several days ago was severely burned by gasoline, and was taken to Yarmouth for treatment. At the time of the accident he was with another youth lighting an ordinary barn lantern with gasoline, when the second boy lighted a match which instantly ignited the gasoline, setting fire to the Doucet boy's clothing, causing burns that finally resulted in his death. The boy that was with him and lighted the match was also badly burned, but not sufficient to require hospital treatment.

WHAT CANADA NEEDS MOST

There are too many people in the British Isles. There are vast empty spaces in Canada which, given human occupation and human endeavor, will blossom like the rose. Canada's problem is to establish a connection between the people who have no land and the land that has no people. The action of Hon. F. D. Pattullo in going to England in aid of the Dominion Colonization scheme to obtain settlers for 2,000,000 acres on the British Columbia lines of the Grand Trunk Pacific is the kind of action which will have the most rapid and far-reaching effect on the future of Canada generally, and the prosperity of our nationally owned railroads.

In Great Britain the Canadian National Railways have recently made a wide distribution of a booklet specially prepared for women, pointing out the advantages for the proper kind of women to make their homes in Canada.

and the boat capsized. The two lads clung to the boat three-quarters of an hour and after being rescued young Bourgeois succumbed from exposure.

The dispute over the new agreement between the Longshoremen and the St. John shipping interests for the coming year has been peacefully settled at a session of the joint conference which has been in progress during the last three days. The longshoremen accepted a cut of fifteen cents per hour but secured the majority of last year's working conditions. This schedule makes their wage fifty-five cents per hour with an additional ten cents per hour for handling grain. Both sides compromised on the matter in order to reach agreement. The ship carpenters and the coal handlers will meet the shipping interests but it is expected that they will also accept this scale.

WILL HIKE FROM AMHERST TO AMHERST

The start of the trip from Amherst, (N. S.), to Amherst, (Mass.), was commenced Friday by Edward Langille and Jack Johnson. Clad in their Highland garb—kilts, stockings, sporrans, tunics and plaid mackinaws, and wearing Balmoral caps, the two young men took their departure from the town hall at 1:30 p. m. They are prepared in practically every detail for the hike, and do not anticipate the least difficulty in crossing the line. The two young men have been in communication with the American consul in Moncton and the immigration authorities in St. John. Their Highland costume will be one of their principal assets in paying a gracious way with the guardians of the boundary.

DESERVES A REWARD, NOT PUNISHMENT

Because she beat a farmer named Ball at Ball's Creek, Mrs. Katherine Ball, of Sydney, was fined $16.85 by Judge Muggah Thursday. Evidence showed that the lady in the case purchased some meat from Ball and several days later asked him to take it back, on the ground that it was unfit for consumption. Ball refused and the assault followed.

STILL DOING BUSINESS AT THE OLD STAND

(From The New York Times)

John Bull is still jealous of his financial credit. The Chancellor of the Exchequer announces that England expects to pay her debt to the United States for that purpose about $250,000,000 will be earmarked in the next budget. This, of course, is only in line with the policy which the English have found it wise to pursue for many generations. A debt of one Government to another is something new, but the plan is to put it on the same basis as if it were a debt of English merchants. They have learned to feel that they will gain more by being scrupulously loyal to their obligations than they would by failing to pay. It is true that the former Chancellor of the Exchequer said that England would be favorable to a general cancellation of interrelated war debts; but if that is not feasible, the English stand ready to pay what they owe. There has never been any doubt of that.

In line with this clinging to an old and honorable tradition is the steadfast way in which those responsible for the conduct of English public finance have refused to run after crazy notions. As the Prime Minister declared in his Guildhall speech, they would not countenance the currency. They would have nothing to do with the method of meeting deficits by printing money on Government presses. The gold standard has been guarded. Liquidation has been enforced. Heavy taxes have had to be levied on the Treasury to make both ends meet. The costs of production have resolutely been cut down. The result is that England, which also had an artificial "boom," deflated it more rapidly and is recovering from it sooner than other countries.

In a word, England has held on to ancient and tested principles of finance. She is now reaping the benefit and preparing to do business at the old stand.

NEW COAT OF ARMS FOR THE DOMINION

Royal Proclamation at London Gives Heraldic Description

The London Gazette contains a Royal proclamation according to the request of "the Governor-general in council of our Dominion of Canada," for a new coat of arms for the Dominion, described by the proclamation in heraldic terms as follows: "We hereby appoint and declare that the arms or ensign armorial of the Dominion of Canada shall be tierced in fess, the first and second divisions containing the quarterly coat following, namely, 1st Gules three lions passant guardant in pale or, 2nd, or a lion rampant with a double tressure flory counter flory gules, 3rd Azure a harp of stringed argent, 4th Azure three fleurs-de-lis or, and the third division argent three Maple leaves conjoined on one stem proper.

And upon a Royal helmet mantled argent doubled gules the crest that is to say on a wreath of the colors argent and gules a lion passant guardant imperially crowned proper and holding in the dexter paw a Maple leaf gules.

"And for supporters on the dexter a lion rampant or holding a lance argent point on flying dexter to the sinister a unicorn argent crined and unspined or, gorged with a coronet composed of roses, thistles, shamrocks and lilies, a scroll azure inscribed with the motto: "A mari usque ad mare."

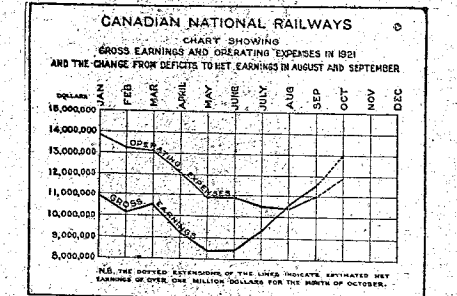

The above containing many pitfalls for the unwary, is a doubtless accurate heraldic description of the new Canadian coat of arms, recently determined upon by a Canadian committee in consultation with the College of Arms or Heraldic College.

NATIONAL RAILWAYS PROSPECTS BRIGHTEN

The improved financial showing of the Canadian National Railways for the months of August and September has received general and favourable comment in the press throughout the country. It will be of interest to the public to see in graphic manner the monthly advance made since the beginning of the year.

The accompanying chart shows that Operating Expenses, as indicated by the upper line on the chart were brought down, month by month, and that they drew gradually towards a meeting with the lower line, which indicates the Gross Earnings. In August, the lines met and crossed, showing a small margin to the good for that month. In September, the widening gap between the lines indicates net earnings of more than half million dollars. The trend of the sweeps or curves as they are sometimes termed, predict a much better showing in October.

Those who were in close touch with the situation, and who knew what was being done to bring about operating economies, could see well in advance, that a continuation of these measures, with the usual increases in volume of traffic, would bring the lines together, and that with the seasonal "crop" movement, they should cross.

The chart also shows that the greater reductions in operating expenses were obtained prior to July; this should dispose of the view that the reduction in expenses was largely brought about by the readjustment of wages, effective July 16th.

The Canadian National Railways, earlier in the year, informed the people of Canada, by a series of frank, explicit articles in the public press, of some of its problems and, in particular, of the pressing need of more traffic. The improvement in the relative position of the National lines has been accomplished, not only by the reductions of operating costs, but, also, through the co-operation of the public that realize the truth of the statements made on the National Railways behalf, and who have met the situation in a practical way.

April, May and June were lower than these in the months of January and February. This slump in business was general and affected all lines. The usual trend of earnings had been followed, the operating economies effected would have brought the lines together at an earlier date.

The chart also shows that the greater reductions in operating expenses were obtained prior to July; this should dispose of the view that the reduction in expenses was largely brought about by the readjustment of wages, effective July 16th.

What Is a Job?

A job indicates some service, a position means pay. A steady job is a man's best friend. It sends a man to sleep at night without anxiety as to how he will land or where he will land without work. A steady job pays a man while he is improving his ability to earn more and hold down a good position. Moving out of one job into another job is sometimes necessary, but more often it is an evidence that you are a drifter and not a doer. Leaving one job and waiting to find another is the biggest speculation on the market to-day. Good jobs are hard to find now, for where there is a good job, there are many applicants. A good suggestion is to stick to your job.

A proselyte is he who has been hastily lured away from yours, the true belief, while he who joins it, of course, a convert.

THE LITERARY SOCIETY.

A meeting of the Literary Society was held on Friday afternoon last. The entertainment for the afternoon consisted of:
A piano duet by Miss Farnham and Miss Morehouse.
A vocal duet by Miss Ruth Snow and Miss Bertha Snow.
An interesting debate, on the question Resolved, That a protective tariff is more beneficial to Canada than Free Trade. On the side of the affirmative were: Gordon Porter, Captain; Rachel Marshall, Harry Potter. On the side of the negative were: Kingley Collins, Captain; Theta Morehouse, Alton Snow.
The decision was given in favor of Free Trade.
The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

PERSONAL MENTION

C. L. Bowby spent the week end in town as a guest at the Waverley Hotel.
Mr. J. F. Sharp and Mrs. E. D. Sharp, of Winnipeg are visiting their cousin, Mrs. H. B. Short.

On Friday next week will be the Christmas tree and tea, the knowing ones will calculate to keep that day as a date.

The V. O. N. party sale will be held this Saturday in the hall of the Annapolis Royal sch. A. W. Longmire, Capt. Longmire, was at Cape Nove Thursday evening with a fare of 10 cents.

The silver coffee set, chafing dish, and silver vase, generously donated to the V. O. N. party sale by J. H. Robinson, is now on exhibition in Mrs. Morse's window. Buy a 10 cent ticket for the gift of one of these desirable prizes.

The Hull Cove Church has had the gift of a fine bell from friends in the United States. It is hoped to have the bell hung in time to ring out the Christmas Joy.

W. H. Nichol, of Bennington, Vt., and his brothers are the generous donors.

Services in Grace Methodist Church next Sunday at 11 and 7 Morning subject: "The Vision and the Debt." Evening subject: "The Open Door." Divine service will also be conducted at Bay View at 3 o'clock. Preacher at each service Rev. W. H. Watts.

Two Boy Scouts, Edgar Jones and Gerald Tupper, have passed all the tests required to qualify as first-class Scouts. The Scouts are not far from this honor.

The Scoutmaster is prepared to give training and take work every Saturday afternoon from two till four o'clock.

Westley Foreweather showed considerable improvement yesterday. He has been in a state of semi-consciousness all the week, but yesterday he was able to recognize and speak with those around him. His pulse was stronger and his general condition was better than it has been for some time.

The Barrington sch. Thomas & Robert, Capt. Anson, arrived at Yarmouth on Wednesday of last week with a fare of 5,000 pounds fresh haddock which she landed for Austin E. Nickson, son, Limited, and sailed that evening for the banks, returning again Thursday evening with a similar fare, which was also purchased by the above concern.

In the Baptist Church next Sunday morning at eleven o'clock the Pastor will give the fourth in a series of expository sermons of John's Gospel, the subject being "Jesus' Zeal for His Father's House." The subject of the evening discourse will be "The Pastor's Assistant." All seats are free and cordial welcome is extended to all who do not worship elsewhere.

You need not be some friends whom you cannot remember this Christmas with a gift. If so, do not forget them. They will greatly appreciate an attractive individual Greeting Card. At The Courier Office you will find a large variety of designs from which to make your selection. Order early while the "picking" is at its best. Your name and address neatly printed on all cards.

Annual dance under the auspices of the Digby High School was held in the Digby Dream Theatre on Wednesday evening and was even a greater success than the one held a week ago. It was very largely attended and a splendid programme of dances was carried out. The boys are grateful to the girls who have and have promised to repay by playing an extra good game of hockey during the coming winter.

The Rev. J. S. Lodge, A. F. & A. M., will hold his regular communication next Tuesday evening.

It is many years since there has been so much snow in the North as there was here in the last week.

Mrs. Geoffrey Morrow, of Halifax, was one of the speakers at the Davidson sisters' bazaar in Smith's Cove.

The tea and sale at St. Patrick's Church held last night was very largely patronized and was a success from every point of view.

Tanlac will overcome that run down debilitated condition and make you feel just like your old self again. P. W. Holdsworth.

By the time the next Courier comes out the shouting and the tumult will have died—no doubt the right party will be in power.

With all his great facilities, this is a happy year for Santa Claus, who is well disposed. Step up and volunteer.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Canadian Club, held in the court house, a good attendance is requested as the election of officers is taking place, as well as other important business.

"I have taken eight bottles of Tanlac and have actually gained 40 pounds in weight and feel better and stronger than I have felt before in twenty-five years," says O. H. Mahaffy, of Nashville, Tenn. P. W. Holdsworth.

Possibly it will be of interest to many of our readers and fur dealers to know that trappers can send skins out of the province and into non-resident buyers within the province. Postmasters are no longer allowed to issue permits for export of fur skins.

Such regulations to points outside of the province, and not tearing a tag as required by law, are subjected to seizure in transit.

While escaping from jail quite popular with prisoners in Ontario, it is frowned upon by the authorities charged with the administration of justice. Samuel McCordie and Joseph Hobson, two of the three men who escaped from the jail at Digby, but who recaptured, have found out their discovery being in the shape of eight additional years in Kingston penitentiary, to which institution they were going to serve two years sentences. They will thus have ten years imprisonment in which to contemplate their mistakes.

RURAL DEANERY MEETING AT ANNA POLIS.

The clergy of the Rural Deanery of Annapolis met on Monday at Annapolis Royal.

During the afternoon a financial meeting of rectors and church wardens took place, at which the Deanery apportionment of $3150.00 for missionary and other purposes was sub-divided among the parishes.

At the clerical chapter meeting the study of the Epistle to the Ephesians in the original was continued. Canon Morris contributing another of his interesting and instructive papers on this subject.

Other papers read were as follows: "The Mother's Union" by Rev. A. W. L. Smith, and "The unconscious influence of the Catholicity of the Church on the world at large" by Rev. M. Taylor; both were practical and impressive and were followed by interesting debates.

The usual routine business was transacted and a grant of $50.00 from Deanery funds was voted toward the King's College campaign.

The Rev. E. Underwood, rector of Bridgetown, who has been secretary of the Deanery for 14 years, made a vain attempt to resign that office, but was eventually withdrawn his resignation.

The official Deanery Service was held in St. Luke's Church on Tuesday morning, when the Holy Communion was celebrated by Rev. W. Driffield, Rural Dean, and the sermon and clerical were preached by the Archdeacon Watkinson.

Services also took place on both Monday and Tuesday evenings, participated in by the assembled clergy, the preachers being Rev. Canon Morris and Rev. M. Taylor. Arrangements were made for the meeting at Annapolis Royal next April, papers on interesting subjects being promised by the Revs. J. Reeks, T. C. Mellor and E. Underwood. Thanks were expressed by unanimous vote to the chapter to the Rector and Mrs. Mellor, the hostesses who entertained, and the organist and choir who braved the elements to be present at service. The whole gathering was a delightful and profitable one in spite of exceedingly inclement weather.

During Recent Years We were obliged to turn away many prospective students for want of space for expansion.

In our present premises we have space for enlarging and we will be glad to accommodate all applicants.

No better time for entering than now. Send for New Catalogue.

DIGBY SCHR. CAUGHT IN GALE

The Dorothy M. Smart Had Keel Damaged and Her Sails Tern.

The Digby fishing schooner Dorothy M. Smart, Capt. William Ross, is in port at Yarmouth in a somewhat damaged condition. The vessel was fishing on the grounds north of the Lurche lights when she was struck by the terrific blow of last Friday morning, and as the wind increased into a strong gale, Capt. Ross decided to turn into port for shelter, but before he reached Yarmouth Sound the vessel's lower sails were practically all split and badly torn, so much so that it was impossible to work the vessel quickly and as a result she lay stranded when running.

Later the tug Mary H. Coad went to the assistance of the schooner, floated and towed her up to one of the docks where Saturday a survey was held by Port Warden Ferguson, and Capt. F. A. Ladd, who recommended that the craft be hauled out on the Marine Railways.

Monday morning she was placed on the slip, and further survey revealed that she sustained considerable damage about the keel and garboards, which will take about ten days to repair. Besides that work the schooner will require a new suit of lower sails. The Dorothy M. Smart is owned by the Maritime Fish Corporation, and Capt. J. B. Kinney, of Yarmouth, has been appointed to look after her owners interest, while the vessel is undergoing repairs.

GREETING CARDS FOR CHRISTMAS.

Like everybody else, you have many friends, relatives and patrons whom you ought to remember, and to whom you will want to send appropriate greetings at Christmas time.

In these times of the "cost of high living" it is out of the question to buy gifts for all your friends. You have decided to make use of Greeting Cards during previous years, but you have long wished for cards that are original, beautiful and distinctive, and "different" from the styles you see everywhere.

It was to meet this desire on your part and others that we are offering the Personal Greeting Cards that may be secured at the Courier Office this season. Orders have been coming in for some weeks. Call now and make your selection. You must see the cards to really appreciate them.

Christmas Decorations

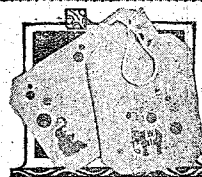

One of the easiest ways for dressing up the house at holiday time is to make lamp, candle and electric light shades of tapers of crepe or tissue paper and tinsel. To make the small lantern pictured two rings of cardboard are covered with plain black or gold paper pasted over them. A length of light green tissue paper is folded along the center, slashed into narrow strips and pasted inside the rings. Under this a length of rose-colored crepe paper narrower than the green is pasted; this causes the strips of green paper to spread and stand out. Silver tinsel hangs from the wire handle at each side.

Gifts for Gay Hours

Christmas never brought lovelier remembrances to fair women than the picturesque hair ornaments for their gay hours which this season presents. There are many of them made of ribbon, beads, flowers or mock jewels in headbands, and finished with a feather or blossom or other ornament. The sparkling piece pictured is merely a diet of rhinestones that encircles the head and supports a small polka-dot flower at the left with a few sparkling rhinestones scattered on its leaves.

Bib and Tray Cloth

Balloons, in bright colors, and an angular elephant decorate the ample bib and tray cloth to match, made of oilcloth, as pictured above. They will afford the youngest member of the family much joy and his mother much peace of mind at the dinner table. Therefore the donor of this gift will be twice blessed and long remembered. The mottled oilcloth is cream colored and the bib is bound at the neck with white tape which is extended into ties.

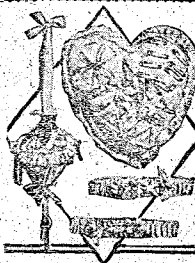

Fairy Powder Puff

Little celluloid keepies which may be bought everywhere have been used in many ingenious ways for Christmas gifts. Here is one dressed up like a fairy bride with ruffles of chiffon bound with narrow satin ribbon for a skirt and her head adorned with a braid wreath and veil. She stands in a small bag stuffed with cotton and gathered about her feet and it has a cloth powder puff sewed to it that rests in a glass bowl.

Word has been received by Ben Belliveau of Bellevue Cove, that his schooner, Rosanna Belliveau, Capt. Comera, arrived at Boston on Sunday. Also that the schooner Edith Belliveau, Captain Bernard Bonanza, had arrived at Mobile, with a cargo of coconuts, on Sunday.

Ever Welcome Gifts

If a Christmas were to come and go without leaving with us pin-cushions, pin-holders, garters and other pretty trinkets made of ribbon, it would be remembered with something of disappointment. A heart-shaped pin-cushion, a small bag for holding pins and a pair of ribbon-covered garters represent a few of many ribbon novelties for the holidays.

For the Hostess

Gifts that every woman who entertains will delight in are pictured here and they will be all the more appreciated because they are made by their donor. A set of numbers for card tables is attractive and easy to make. They are cut from white cardboard and have gilded figures in black placed on one side. On this black and white background graceful sprays of gay flowers are painted and the cards are supported by small wire holders.

Bits of Splendor

Plain wide satin ribbon and narrow fancy ribbons, with handsome metallic mounts, are used to make these elegant shopping bags. Ribbons in the richest qualities and most brilliant patterns are chosen for them and they are lined with gay and equally good silks. Besides being bits of the splendor dear to women these bags have the additional value that belongs to a gift made by its donor.

Gay Bungalow Caps

Here is something new in bungalow caps. It is made of gay cretonne and is buttoned up the back so that it may be easily washed and ironed. It is bound with a plain color in chambray and has a narrow band of this material about it. The trim portion may be turned up or down and is shown here turned up at one side and down on the other.

The tern schooner E. P. Theriot, Capt. Joseph Oliver, which went ashore near the entrance to New York Harbor some three weeks ago, has been towed to New London, Conn., where a survey was held. The vessel met with considerable damage.

TRADE PROSPECTS WITH MEXICO

Canada's influence in Mexico has for years taken the form of branch banks and the financing and management of many industrial and public utility plants.

Major Chisholm, former Canadian Trade Commissioner, stated recently that Mexico is now heading quickly back to her former state of prosperity and presents an exceedingly attractive market for Canadian products.

Mexico should be added to the list of foreign markets made available through the operation of the Canadian Merchant Marine. As a matter of fact, the Canadian National Railways Management has sent a special representative to make an investigation of traffic conditions there in respect to services on both the east and west coasts. Canadians are well represented in Mexico, and it only needs the practice of salesmanship and proper shipping facilities to establish very extensive and profitable trade in natural and manufactured products of the two countries.

CULLODEN

Miss Emma Post, of Digby, and George Post, of Lighthouse Road, spent a few days last week with their brother, John Post, who is quite ill.

Oscar Stark has returned home from Yarmouth where he has been engaged in fishing.

Charles Adams, of Bay View, spent a couple of days last week with his sister, Mrs. Henrietta Handpiker.

Miss Edna Deamond is visiting her cousin, Miss Ruby Daley, at Marshalltown.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Murphy have moved to their new home, formerly owned by Standford Daley.

SERVICE

This word is daily coming to mean more and more. It is the one thing auto owners particularly look for and the garage which can furnish it in the best degree is the popular one. Our fire last summer was both a heavy blow and a great blessing. It destroyed our old equipment, making it necessary to secure new—and naturally, as we had to have it, we purchased the very latest obtainable. Among the new material put in this week are the following:

New Generator and Charging Panels for our battery service. Since this service was started under the management of Hedley Dakin, we have always been in the lead and we are still there.

Boring Machine

by which the cylinders of any car can be re-bored, giving more power and doubling the life of an engine. New over-size pistons and rings are always in stock.

Crank Shaft Tester and Straightener

An ingenious machine which will take the defect out of any crank shaft and make it as good as new.

Improved Burning-In Stand for fitting connecting rods and practically rebuilding your motor. We will tell you more about this in another ad. later.

Model C1 Main Bearing Boring Machine

This, as its name implies, bores out main bearings after being re-babbitted and puts them in identically the same condition as when the car leaves the factory. And we have the machine for re-babbiting too. It is called the

Model H 4 Daily Jig for Re-Babbiting Main Bearings and Caps

All these machines will be set up and operating in a few days. Come in and see them.

always in stock and arriving constantly. We can give almost immediate delivery on any Ford car.

Canada for the Canadians

What Is To Be Canada's Destiny?

Shall it be that through the destruction of the Tariff as proposed by both Crerar and King, the development of Canada is to come under the domination of the United States, to be followed by gradual financial domination and as a consequence, political domination?

—OR—

Is Canada's destiny to be that of a great free nation within the British Empire group of Nations, developing her boundless resources of mine, river, water power, forest, and cultivating her millions upon millions of acres of arable land? Is her development to surpass that of any other nation?

Shall her manufacturing industries develop her minerals and raw materials into implements and goods for the benefit and comfort of her people and for foreign trade? Shall she become a self-contained nation within the Empire, her great railways interchanging, the products of factory and farm among her own people, and her ships sailing every sea?

Shall she maintain her integrity within the Empire and protect her farms and factories against unfair competition from foreign countries?

IF THIS IS TO BE CANADA'S DESTINY THEN CANADA NEEDS MEIGHEN.

On December 6th, Canada should once again protect her farms, her factories and her workmen against the unsound theory of Free Trade, and should hold fast to her reasonable Protective Tariff, her national entity and her British connection.

On December 6th Canada should declare with no uncertain voice that she will not tolerate the false trade theories of visionaries and group leaders which tend toward her economic destruction, toward the separation of her people and the weakening of the ties that bind Canada to the British Empire.

On December 6th Canada should demonstrate unmistakably to the outside world her fixed determination to keep Canada for the Canadians.

On December 6th Canada's destiny is at stake.

Dog's Gift of Tracking

Was Tested in England

With Interesting Results

Not long ago some interesting experiments were made in England to test the strength and acuteness of the sense of smell in dogs.

There was a terrier that could not be driven off the pavement of Regent's Park although his track was crossed and recrossed by hundreds of fresher ones and by thousands that were not so fresh.

To make a test with a setter the master had his men in Indian file, and the gamekeeper brought up the rear of the line. Each man placed his feet in the footprints of his predecessor. The master's scent was most overland; that of the gamekeeper was the freshest. When they had gone 200 yards the master turned to the right, followed by five of the men; the other six turned to the left. Keeping their unit order, the setter followed the common track with such eagerness as to overshoot the point of divergence, but quickly regaining this point, chose at once the track to the right.

The master and a stranger to the dog exchanges shoes and then went different ways. The setter followed his master's shoes and found the stranger. When the master and the stranger walked the park with bare feet the setter followed his master's shoes but not with the eagerness with which it followed the trail of his shoes. When he walked in new shining boots the setter would not follow. The master gave a single thickness of brown paper to the soles and sides of his old shooting boots. The setter did not take the trail until it came to a point where the paper having worn away, the bottom of one heel touched the ground. Walking in new cotton socks left no trail that the setter could follow. In woollen socks that had been worn away the trail was followed, but not eagerly.

The master walked fifty yards in his shooting boots, then kicked them off and carried them with him while he walked in his stockings 300 yards, then took off his stockings and walked 300 yards barefoot. When the setter was put upon the track at the outset it followed with usual eagerness and maintained the pursuit throughout the whole distance.

Accompanied by a stranger to the dog, the master rode out along a carriage way several hundred yards from the house, then alighted and walked in shooting boots fifty yards beside the carriage. He then entered the carriage and his friend got out and walked 200 yards along the way. The setter ran the whole 250 yards at full speed without making any pause at the point where the scent changed. The master walked in his ordinary shooting boots, having first soaked them in oil of anise seed. Although the odor of the anise seed was so strong as to be perceived by a friend the hour after the trail was made, the dog followed the track of its master, thus disguised, with usual speed, after having examined the first three or four steps carefully.

Other experiments tested the power of scent through the air. The master walked down a tramway field by a zigzag course for a quarter of a mile, then turned on one side, ran over a stone wall and walked back toward the house. The stone wall was breast high and about a hundred yards to the windward of his course down the field. The dog, taking the trail at the top of the field, rapidly followed its master's winding course. The moment it gained the "wind's eye" of the place where he was standing, with only his eyes above the top of the wall, the dog set up the lead, turned from the track it was following, and went straight to its owner, although there were at the time several overheated laborers near it in the field.

Speech Made Visible

A wonderful new invention called the Lioreograph is to be brought to this country from France by the London University College authorities for research work into phonetics. The Lioreograph, named after M. Liore, (the Paris Inventor) is for making extremely accurate tracings upon permanent records of the actual vibrations of sound in articulated speech. The instrument is worked by motor power. When one utters a word sound the Lioreograph is full of vibrations, and each different sound gives vibrations of different shape. In the presence of the Lioreograph a person saying "Ah" would record upon paper on the instrument a little wobbly symmetrical line. The principle involved is similar to the ordinary phonograph, but, by means of extremely delicate mechanism, the effects of speech are enlarged an enormous number of times. The shape of all words in the air can be discovered, and it is believed that will be possible ultimately with this new invention, aided by mathematical formulae already in use, to read, analyze and translate any foreign or unknown tongue of which these lines are the records.

No. 10 Downing Street.

No. 10 Downing street has been the home of the Prime Ministers of England for nearly two hundred years. The first floor of the house is given over to council rooms and the offices of the Premier's secretaries. The second floor contains guest chambers, a library and the usual appointments. It is interesting to note that the last three occupants of the famous house, from the aristocracy and two from the middle class, have refused all honors and titles.

Absent from church was a punishable offence in the 17th century.

HAD EVENTFUL CAREER

Man Who Founded Royal National Lifeboat Institution

The Royal National Lifeboat Institution was founded in 1824 by Sir William Hillary, who lies buried with his wife in a tomb in St. George's Church, Douglas, Isle of Man. The life of William Hillary is in a singular way exemplary of the vicissitudes of fortune. He was born in 1771, a son of a wealthy English merchant, one of whom had settled in Yorkshire as the result of the Edict of Nantes. By his first wife he inherited some property in Essex. His wife dying in 1812, he married the daughter of a prominent Manxman named Robert and she remained his faithful consort and counselor until she preceded him to the grave by two years. Much of his early life was passed in the continent as an esquire of the Duke of Sussex, a brother of George III. In 1803 he spent £20,000 in raising an Essex regiment of 1,400 men for coast defense against the threatened French invasion, and the Government acknowledged his services by a knighthood and substantial support. He had depleted his powers of resistance to the attacks of fortune, the sugar plantations in the West Indies in which much of his fortune was invested ceased to give expected returns, and his Essex property had to be sold. Hillary, through his second wife, had inherited some property in the Isle of Man and there he made his home. To that fact the Royal Lifeboat Institution owes its birth. In the early years of the last century a succession of storms off the island caused much shipping loss, and Government ships were wrecked. Hillary, who was personally instrumental in saving many lives, organized a service to perform systematically what private enterprises and courage had hitherto done sporadically. He appealed to the public, and Thomas Wilson, a London merchant, then M.P. for the City of London, gave him hearty and substantial support. At a meeting at the London Tavern, on March 4, 1824, over which Dr. Monro, Archbishop of Canterbury, presided, it was resolved to form a "National Institution for the Preservation of Life from Shipwreck on the coasts of the United Kingdom." This was Hillary's greatest triumph. But he had others, only a little inferior. It was his enterprising and generosity that the tower of Refuge on Conister Rock at Douglas was built—"a tower of refuge to the else forlorn mariner." He spoke of it in 1833—"and it was through him that a School of Navigation was established on the island of Man, despite his achievements, this great man was buried in oblivion. He had become a director of a local bank, and two years after his wife's death, when still overwhelmed with grief, the bank broke. He did not long survive the shock. He died on January 5, 1845, aged 74, and was laid to rest by the side of his wife. There was no description on his tomb because it was a mistaken belief, as he had died a bankrupt, his body could be buried by his family. It is only within the last year that the tomb has been removed to the church, which he founded and in which he lies buried, and in which he lies buried.

Where Tennis Court From.

The most popular game for holiday-makers this year has undoubtedly been lawn tennis. It is a game that has certainly had an enormous revival. Parks and open spaces and even back gardens are nightly thronged with wretchedly dressed Londoners and country folk.

The London County Council have done a lot to encourage the game by providing courts in the parks, and every evening dozens of white-dressed people may be seen hurrying off for a game.

Tennis, the forerunner of the lawn game of today, is a very old game. It was introduced into England about the fourteenth century. A kind of tennis was played on a wall, and a stroke below this was considered a fault.

"Palm-Tennis" originated in France.

The ball was driven by the palm of the hand; at first the hand was bare, but later the players used a glove, and later still some form of racket was used. In the time of Edward IV., Henry VII., and Henry VIII., a great form of tennis was played in a hall, and it is on record that Queen Elizabeth was pleased at a game played by ten of the Earl of Hertford's servants. Another story tells how a noble earl, becoming tired of the exertions of the game, and tired of the heat with the Queen's handkerchief, and was rewarded with a crack on the head with her Majesty's rasclet.

The Prince an Early Riser.

Like his grandfather, King Edward, the Prince of Wales is a moderate sleeper. He is said to dislike cards and billiards, and is a great smoker, with a pronounced preference for a pipe. His normal day is rather more strenuous than that of most of his future subjects. Long before the average modern youth is awake he has walked round the park (this favorite mount is a bay of pure Arab strain), or clad in conventional running short and vest, has taken a long run round the extensive grounds of Buckingham Palace. By 9.30 he will frequently be in the Bath Club, where he is a staff game of squash rackets, perhaps the most strenuous of all sports except fencing and boxing. The rest of the morning he generally spends with his secretaries.

At Crofton.

At Britain's great air station at Crofton is to be seen the largest electric sign in the world. It is in the shape of a electric sign, measuring nearly a quarter of a mile from point to point. The electric lights forming the sign are sunk in the ground and covered with glass, so that airplanes can land on them without damage.

The largest moonshine still ever captured in Cape Breton was seized by inland revenue officers at Balls Creek, eight miles from Sydney on Wednesday. Woloshauk, an Austrian, alleged to be the owner of the outfit, was caught asleep in a loft near the still. The boiler has a capacity of 150 gallons and large vats nearby contained the "mash," several gallons of which were seized.

What is believed to be the long-railway strike in this country, and possibly on the continent, that of the yardmen of the two Cape Breton steel corporations entered upon its second year last week. It was on November 22nd, 1920, that the switch engineers, firemen, conductors and brakemen in the employ of the Dominion Steel Corporation and the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company walked out for standard rates of pay, hours and working conditions and they have been out ever since. Since the strike began there has been so much short time in the Cape Breton Steel industry that the men on strike with their monthly allowances have been better off than most of those who have remained nominally on the job.

City of Fredericton 1921 serial six per cent bonds amounting to $40,000, maturing from 1922 to 1941, were sold to J. M. Robinson and Sons, of St. John at 102.25. This is the highest price which has been paid for bonds in New Brunswick in recent years and is in the vicinity of 3 points above the price paid for the recent issue of New Brunswick provincial bonds.

The Newfoundland government airplane which with inaugurate a St. John's-Halifax mail service next week is to make North Sydney a port of call for oil and petrol according to instructions received by local officials of the Reid-Newfoundland Company. The machine was formerly used to scout for seals off the Newfoundland coast.

Announcement has been made that Very Rev. Scoville Neefes, Dean of Christ church cathedral, has been appointed Bishop's Commissary to administer the diocese of Fredericton, during the absence of His Lordship Bishop Richardson, who sailed last week from Halifax for Barbadoes, West Indies, where he will spend some time for the benefit of his health.

Know Canada Contest

Two Thousand Dollars in Prizes

Open to Every Reader of The Weekly Courier

The contest consists of fifty rebus pictures representing fifty Post Offices in Canada. Begin today with Nos. 25 to 28—those previously published may be had free on application to this office.

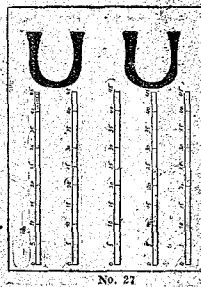

The contest is conducted by The Weekly Courier of Digby, and the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal. A year's subscription to both papers at regular rates would cost $4.00. We offer them for one year each for only $3.00. Can you solve these four rebus pictures.

No. 25

No. 26

No. 27

No. 28

The above four pictures may look easy but a mistake can be made. Competitors will find the list of Post Offices from which the pictures are selected a great help. See 2nd item of terms of contest.

Terms of Contest

The contest is open to any member of a family, one of whose members is a subscriber to either the Weekly Courier or The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal.

A list of approximately 2,000 Post Offices in Canada from which the fifty rebus pictures will be selected will be sent free to any contestant, who, before December 1st, 1921, sends one new subscriber to either the Weekly Courier or The Family Herald and Weekly Star. It will also contain a blank form on which to fill in your answers and hints to help you arrive at the correct answers. A self-addressed stamped envelope should be sent with the new subscription for the return of the printed list.

One NEW subscriber to either the Weekly Courier or The Family Herald and Weekly Star sent in by a competitor will take the place of one incorrect answer in the competition, thus 49 correct answers and one NEW subscriber will count as 50 correct answers or 50 points.

Two NEW subscribers to either paper will take the place of two incorrect answers, thus 48 correct answers and two new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Three NEW subscribers to either paper will take the place of three incorrect answers, thus 47 correct answers and three new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Four NEW subscribers to either paper will take the place of four incorrect answers, thus 46 correct answers and four new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Five NEW subscribers to either paper will take place of five incorrect answers, thus 45 correct answers and five new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Five NEW subscriptions to either paper will be the limit to be credited in the competition. This places all contestants on an equal footing.

Fifty correct answers and five NEW subscriptions to either paper will be the highest points obtainable.

Four pictures will be published each week simultaneously in the Weekly Courier and The Family Herald and Weekly Star. Answers MUST NOT be sent in until the 50 drawings have appeared in both papers. Ample notice will be given.

In case of a tie the prizes will be divided. For instance, if there are three who have earned say 54 points and no one has obtained the maximum of 50, the first three prizes totalling $50, would be divided amongst them.

The decision of the Editor of The Family Herald will be final.

No employees of the Weekly Courier or the Family Herald are allowed to compete.

Contest will begin early in October. See that your subscription to the Weekly Courier and The Family Herald is paid well in advance and prevent losing a single issue. Back numbers cannot be supplied.

New subscribers may enter the contest by complying with the above conditions.

C.A. JORDAN CALLS ON COUNCIL TO RESIGN

The regular monthly meeting of the town council was held on Monday evening, with Dr. Read, deputy mayor, in the chair, in the absence of Mayor Warren who is confined to his home. The other councillors were all present and also Frank Jones, K. C., the town solicitor.

The report of the health officer was read and adopted, as follows:
To the Mayor and Town Councilors of Digby.

GENTLEMEN—I herein submit my report for the quarter ended.

In the month of September a meeting of the Board of Health was called at which important public health matters were discussed, with which you are conversant.

The Health Clinic held monthly at the Court House are being well attended and will soon be on a firm basis.

The Victorian Nurse has been busy since her arrival and is doing good work. Chickenpox has made its appearance in the town and parents should be on the lookout for it.

There has been considerable Impetigo in the community particularly among the school children. The disease manifests itself by nasty pussores principally on the hands and face and is quite contagious. It can however be easily cured if the proper remedy is used.

E. DUVERNET, M. D.
M. H. O.

Digby, Nov. 28th, 1921.

The report of the superintendent of streets and water was read and adopted as follows:

To the Mayor and Council:
GENTLEMEN—the contracts awarded to Mr. Roland Worsell to construct breastworks at Mrs. J. Bryant, Shore Road, and at the Racquette, also repairs on Water St., Breckinridge St. of the Salvation Army Hall have been completed. The material used in the above works is good, and the work has been done in workmanlike manner.

I would recommend the balance due Roland Worsell $135.40 be paid.

Yours obediently,
W. W. HAYDEN, Supt. Streets.

STREETS
The leaves have been raked and the streets generally cleaned up. The ditch has been dug out on Montague St., from Mount to Warwick St., also gravelled the streets from the D. A. Ry. crossing at Water St. to J. L. Peters store on Water St. This work was performed with light Ford motor trucks this way being the cheapest. There have been long hauls. Have cut bushes and cleaned out the ditch at end of Racquette near G. W. Lettency's.

We had to break roads two days the first with snow, the next day men had to shovel out west end of Prince Street and the street from Water St. to the pipes have been replaced in two crossings on Warwick St.

There has been installed a new 10 in. gate in the waste pipe at the dam, also built wall 3 ft. high around the gate, and wall 3 foot thick east side 2 foot, and wall 1 foot thick. Thus leaving a centre space 10 1/2 ft. filled with earth 1 ft. above the pipe.

This work was necessary in order to keep the frost from the waste pipe gate as there is no circulation of water in this pipe most of the time.

The 1 in. pipe laid from the reservoir to Church and Mount and St. Mary's streets has been taken up and stored in Town Barn, on account of the dry fall, the residents in that section have no water. This work was delayed rather late as the frost had already damaged 17 lengths of this pipe.

There has been repaired 3 leaks in main line one in the gate on Carleton St. one in Campbell's pasture and another in creek at the Racquette. There have been new frames put on two double sets of screens in the well at the dam where the supply pipe takes its water.

Yours obediently,
W. W. HAYDEN
Supt. Streets and Water.

A letter from George E. Graham, manager of the D. A. Ry., was read, asking what was going to be done about an all night electric service for the lines next summer.

The letter called forth considerable discussion, during which the electric system was roundly condemned and a committee, consisting of Couns. Lynch, Troop, and Read, was appointed to look into the matter and to report at the next meeting.

A letter from the secretary of the Maritime Commercial Travellers Association complained of the truckman's excessive charges for carrying trunks from the station to the hotels and vice versa. This was referred to the licensing committee, who will confer with the truck men and endeavor to arrive at a satisfactory solution.

The following bills were ordered to be paid:

Smith End Grocery	$2.60
Dr. Electric Light	100.00
Dr. Duvernet	25.00
Mr. Tel. and Tel. Co.	5.25
Dr. Read	15.00
Digby Fire and Pub. Co.	15.00
S. Worsell	135.40
Stephen VanFasselt	15.00
Osmer VanFasselt	1.50
Charles Small	1.00
Roland Worsell (cement)	132.00
P. E. Franklin	7.14
Albert Trollden	2.24
Roland Worsell (balance contract)	135.40
Street Pay Roll	20.00
Water Pay Roll	100.25

C. A. Jordan was present and objected to the presence of the councillors as a council. He claimed they had taken part in many illegal acts and had broken their oaths of office repeatedly. He called upon them individually and as a body to resign and not operate as a council further until a town meeting had been called.

No action was taken.

Messrs. Vyne and Hewitt were appointed town auditors and the sum of $3.00 each was named as a remuneration.

A motion was carried in favor of the appointment of a vendor in the event of the Nova Scotia Temperance Act coming into force in this town.

LITTLE RIVER

A week ago Monday night fire broke out in C. L. Denton's house, caused by a defective flue, as they had a fire in the grate of the living room that same evening. It had burned pretty well through the partition between that and the kitchen before the inmates were awakened by the smell of smoke. But before the neighbours could be aroused and assistance rendered the whole kitchen and 20 in. down stairs were one blaze of fire and so no one could enter so the large plate glass windows on the front had to be smashed to gain entrance and the piano and furniture had to be taken through it, and then it looked simply impossible to save the home. But through the valiant efforts of the men it was under control after a few hours but a good many started by until morning afraid it might break out again. It was finally repaired by insurance and Mr. Denton has already commenced clearing up and repairs are being made under Mr. Nicholas of Bridgetown, and Mr. Theriault, of Saint Cove. In the meantime the family of Denton went to their neighbours, where they went the night of the fire until the house is ready to live in.

The "Freds and Blanches" Capt. Shirley Tidd, has returned from Yarmouth. Mr. Brand and sister, Miss Brand, of St. John, have been the recent guests of Mrs. Minnie Trask.

Mrs. Albert Denton and Mrs. Alonzo Denton went to Halifax Thursday returning on Saturday.

We are pleased to welcome Mrs. Doug. Denton back again after her serious operation she has undergone. Halitax recently. Mr. Denton left Monday to accompany her home.

Nelson Kelley, Alonzo Morehouse and Nelson Trask have returned home from Cape Breton where they have been employed for the Government for the last nine months and will remain the winter here.

Vote for DR. LOVETT

He stands for a tariff in the interests of all the people to reduce the cost of living, and not for one which allows the rich and powerful combines to amass fortunes at the expense of the poor man.

He stands four square in advocacy of Maritime Province rights regarding the operation of the Intercolonial Railway. He believes in shipping Canadian produce through our Maritime ports rather than through American ports, and thus give employment to our own people.

He stands for a square deal for all—no I. O. U.'s for taxes from great operators high in the Councils of the party while forcing the small concerns to pay up promptly or suffer the consequences.

Don't forget the past. We are extravagantly in debt. The present government is discredited.

Last Week In The Maritime Provinces

Because the slack demand for coal will only warrant the production of 5,000 tons per day, eight Cape Breton collieries closed last week, adding about 3,000 men to the list of unemployed. Owing to the lack of demand for coal the company must lower production to 5,000 tons a day, and to do this it would suspend operations entirely at the more expensive pits and concentrate the work at the mines, where it can be done most economically.

T. S. Rogers, K. C., chairman of the Halifax Relief Commission, has been appointed Judge of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia, vice Judge Drysdale, who has resigned. W. Margeson, former member for Lunenburg in the Provincial Government, and now of the Pensioners Board, has been appointed County Judge for Queens County, Nova Scotia, vice Judge Forbes, resigned.

Because she is the mother of eight small children, and her husband is at present serving out a Nova Scotia Temperance Act sentence, Mrs. J. M. Gaudin, of Sydney, convicted of selling liquor, drew down only five hours in jail instead of two months that Magistrate Muggah usually hands out for this offence. The woman seemed much affected, and promised to mend her ways. She declared she only entered the business in desperation induced by the struggle to support her family while her husband is in jail.

A Campbellton report gives currency to fears that George Sargent, a former employee of the Shubenacadie Lumber Company, has been drowned in the Restigouche. Sargent who is a well known riverman left Campbellton for down river points in a boat on Monday last, and has not been heard of since. His boat has been found and it is feared the young man has been drowned. Sargent is a brother of Warden Meighen's secretary at the Dorchester penitentiary, and he was to have been married to a Campbellton girl in the near future.

Sugar Loaf Mountain, situated to the rear or southwest of Campbellton, N. B., and a little over a mile from the town, has been the cause of considerable consternation to the residents of that place, on account of frequent rock slides which have occurred recently.

The first slide of any size occurred on Wednesday last week at 8:30 p. m., when a large mass of overhanging rock on the side facing the town fell carrying with it tons of loose rock. Last Sunday another slide of rock occurred smaller than the first. The breaking away of these overhanging masses of rock is attributed to exceptionally dry summer and frost action.

A fatality took place on Nov. 24 at Shemogue, N. B. when a boy aged fourteen, only son of Mrs. Peacock of that place, met a sudden and tragic death. He was on the way to the shore for sea-weed with his step father, and while he was in the rear end of the wagon, the horses took fright and made a sudden start, causing the boy to fall backwards upon the hard ground. His skull was badly fractured and death ensued before he could be taken to his home. The sad affair has cast a deep gloom over the home and community.

"Guilty" was the momentous word that fell upon the ears of John Paris, charged with the murder of nine-year-old Sadie McCauley near Riverview Park, St. John, on Aug. 2, when shortly before midnight Friday night he stood in the courtroom to hear the verdict pronounced by J. H. Armstrong, foreman of the jury. Paris shook his head from side to side and seemed to be muttering to himself and breathing heavily when the verdict was announced. He was still shaking his head when he was taken out of the courtroom back to the jail. Judge Chandler announced that he would not pass sentence on the prisoner last evening. The jury was out for approximately four hours before they returned with their verdict.

A resident of Victoria County, N. B., Jack Lane, while cruising logs for Edgars Ltd., had a thrilling experience and barely escaped with his life. While Mr. Lane was walking through the woods he came upon the carcass of a deer and the tracks of some large animal. Following the tracks he came upon a wildcat in the act of gorging itself upon another freshly killed deer. A Lane at once fired at it and wounded the wildcat, whereupon it sprang at him and badly tore his arms and chest. Fortunately, Mr. Lane got a fatal shot in the animal's body and escaped further serious injury. The wildcat weighed ninety-seven pounds and measured four feet seven inches from tip to tip. Old hunters say that the wild cats are very plentiful this year and that the early winter in this part is making them more ferocious than usual.

Rev. G. R. Harrison, rector of the combined parishes of Trenton and Westville, was the unanimous choice at a meeting of the parishoners held at Springhill Tuesday night for the selection of a rector for All Saints Church, Rev. Harrison is a Halifax boy and is 33 years of age. He was educated at the Halifax County Academy, after which he spent five years in business. He then entered Kings College and graduated with a B. A. degree in 1912. He was ordained the same year by Archbishop Worrell and became curate at Truro under Archdeacon Kainbach. He was in Truro until ordained a priest in 1913 when he was appointed rector at Petite Riviere. He has been rector at New Waterford and New Germany and later at Moncton and Westville. It is expected that he will take over the rectorship of All Saints during the first week in January.

Customs officers at North Sydney are suspicious of increasing numbers of so-called "business men" who sail by every steamer for the chartered islands of the North Atlantic. St. Pierre and Miquelon. Reports say that the principal "business" which engages the attention of the "business men" is that of arranging for the purchase of liquors for the Canadian and American markets, and there is certainly brisk demand for small schooners and skippers willing to take a chance on the penitentiary or being winged by a revenue officer. An occasional pitched battle, such as occurred recently at Moncton, draws public attention momentarily to this traffic, but it is said by those who claim to know that, in spite of the activities of revenue cutters, for every schooner overhauled and captured, a dozen land the coast and dole out their thirty beaches from Cape Breton to Florida.

Mary Lewis of Sydney, 24 years old, met death by suffocation in a fire which destroyed the family residence at Coxheath, three miles above Sydney, at an early hour Thursday. The incessant barking of a watch-dog awakened Roger Lewis, the eldest brother of the deceased, and he found his house in flames. He aroused the six other members of the family, who escaped in their night clothes. Mary Lewis, who only recently returned from Boston, was cut off in a room on the ground floor and smothered by smoke before she could be brought out. The cause of the fire is unknown. The family are the children of the late Councillor Peter S. Lewis.

According to figures given out for publication the eighteenth annual Maritime Winter Fair at Amherst will surpass all previous fairs in point of entries alone. The officials have been coping and the officials are preparing the advanced details in connection with this great winter event in the agricultural world of the Maritime Provinces. Two hundred and twenty-five beef cattle have been entered, fifty more than last year. In the dairy classes, seventy cows are competing in the milk test, while one hundred and thirty young dairy animals are marked in the breeding classes.

Nearly 1,500,000 feet of lumber, with three flat cars went up in smoke in a fire at Scouts Sliding near Oxford, November 29th. The fire was discovered issuing from two separate piles giving the impression of incendiarism as no trains had passed by during the previous 24 hours. The loss of lumber was covered by insurance with the exception of one small lot will aggregate about $45,000. Chappell Bros., of Sydney, owned 500,000 feet of the lumber, W. Malcolm Mackie, of St. John owned 250,000 feet, K. G. Thompson, of Oxford, had 200,000

Maurice Haycock and John Crowell two Wolfville boys who are students at Acadia, have fitted up a wireless telephony receiving apparatus and on Monday night were rewarded by the pleasing novelty of listening to a concert in New Jersey where a representative of the Westinghouse firm announced that at 9:55 each evening the event would be repeated, and requested that any station picking up the message would oblige by replying. Not having the sending outfit the Acadia wireless boys are writing him their experience.

In connection with the town elections to fill the vacancies for Mayor of Sackville and councillor for North Ward, Allister Cameron, who has been acting mayor for the past few months during the illness of the late Mayor Doncaster, is elected to the mayoralty chair, and Dr. Secord, who has served several terms at the council table, is elected councillor for North Ward, both elections being by acclamation.

Following an outbreak of twenty-five cases of smallpox in St. Stephen N. B. just across the line from Calais, Canadian District Health Officer George G. Melvin issued sweeping notice compelling every resident of St. Stephen who has not been vaccinated within seven years to do so at once. Schools excepting one have been closed and doctors are doing a rushing business in vaccination. Calais fortunately is free from smallpox, but has one case of diphtheria. Calais health officers have advised the vaccination of school children, and others will be vaccinated starting December 2.

The official figures of the referendum in New Brunswick on whether or not intoxicating liquors should be imported into that province have been announced by Col. O. M. Biggar, chief electoral officer. The total vote in favor of banning importation was 46,050, and the total vote in favor of importation, 18,773.

The estate totalling $298,369, of the late Angus Sinclair, Toronto, civil engineer and railway contractor, is disposed of in the will which has just died. A life interest in $12,000 worth of Victory bonds is left to a sister, Mrs. Catherine Murray, Campbellton, N. B. Mr. Sinclair was a North Shore man.

H. D. Wilshire, Montreal, who piloted a Curtiss biplane last autumn from the old golf link grounds, is expected in Moncton in a short time. It is understood that Mr. Wilshire is attempting to procure a contract for the carrying of mails from Prince Edward Island to the mainland, the conveyance to be an airship.

The building erected at Hillsboro, by J. L. Peck, M. P. P., in honor of his son and all other Albert County boys who lost their lives in the Great War, was dedicated, and windows unveiled on Wednesday afternoon, in the presence of 1,000 persons. The service in the church opened at 2:15 o'clock, the auditorium being crowded. Rev. A. S. Bishop, pastor of the Church, presided. With him on the platform were Mr. Peck and various clergymen who represented the parishes and gave addresses of a patriotic character.

It is reported that indications at the present point to the cut of lumber on crown lands in the Province of New Brunswick being much larger than was expected at the beginning of the logging season. These indications are most gratifying, as it had been thought that with a period of depression in the lumber market the cut on the crown lands would be exceedingly light. Conditions are very similar to those of last season, when it was forecasted that like lumber would be cut. The season as it progressed saw operations of considerable magnitude undertaken, and a total cut of some two hundred million feet produced. The scaler's reports from various parts of the province show that operators are cutting ahead, and it is probable that before the winter is far advanced a very respectable total will be shown from the crown lands. The operations generally are in the central and north of the province, and although small in comparison with some seasons a few years ago, go a considerable distance toward solution of the problem of unemployment. The southern portion of the province shows little activity, as all operators are waiting for improvement in the market.

Mr. J. D. O'Connell, who hails from Canagay, Cuba, and Sussex, New Brunswick, has arrived back in the former place after spending some months in Canada and the United States. Mr. O'Connell is known as the Children's Friend, and his annual picnic for orphaned and poor children is a looked forward to with a great deal of interest. This year he gave fourteen picnics in the U. S. and sixteen in Canada, several of the latter in New Brunswick, at which he distributed tons of candy and fruit, and tens of thousands of pennies. At each picnic it is Mr. O'Connell's aim to talk to the children and give them good advice as to their future life. He is the owner of extensive cattle ranches and game fields in Canagay, which seemed to be operated by their owner with one set idea and that is to turn in a profit immediately devoted to making children happy, to supply the medicine necessary to save the lives of some one's child and other philanthropic work along similar lines. Few men are more worthy of being remembered.

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT SEA FISHES

SMELT.

Very few Canadians but know something, or at least have heard of, the smelt. But very few indeed will know why the smelt was thus named. The name, of course, according to authority, from its peculiar odor, which resembles that of a cucumber. The smelt is a small and very delicate food fish, native to the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, and is in season from October to March. It is closely allied to the salmon family, having the general structure of these fish. Although related to the salmon, the smelt is really a dwarf species. For the most part they are marine, though some ascend the rivers to spawn just as the salmon, but do not go as far and frequently become landlocked in ponds. Most of the species are confined to the near temperate zone, and a few sink into the deep sea. Shrimps and other small crustaceans constitute their chief nourishment. The flesh is extremely delicate and charged with a fragrant oil which adds to the digestion of this excellent food.

The American smelt, the best known of the smelt group of fishes, is found along the Atlantic coast from Virginia to the Gulf of St. Lawrence. It is the fish of America, declares Dr. David Starr Jordan, entering the many streams it often becomes landlocked, hence the lakes and bays of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia abound with this delicious variety. During the winter it ascends our rivers and beach bays in great numbers, and is caught in immense numbers in nets and by hook and line. In other days it was more profitable than it is today. In 1622 Capt. John Smith wrote: "Of smelts there is such abundance that the salvages take them up in the rivers with baskets like sieves." Great quantities are taken on the coast and after first being frozen, are then shipped to the larger cities. But the greatest demand is for the unfrozen or "green smelt," as it is called, which is much more highly esteemed.

Osachuan, or the candle fish, a native of Pacific waters, another member of the smelt family, is said by some authorities to be unsurpassed by any fish whatever in the delicacy of the flesh. In the spring it takes them up in the rivers with baskets like sieves. Great quantities are taken on the coast and after first being frozen, are then shipped to the larger cities. But the greatest demand is for the unfrozen or "green smelt," as it is called, which is much more highly esteemed.

POST OFFICE WARNS ON CHRISTMAS MAIL

Do you want that letter of yours to be delivered when it is expected? You don't want that Christmas gift to lie in the post office undelivered? Then be careful how you address your letters, your parcels, etc. This is the warning contained in a circular sent out by the post office department, calling attention to the thousands of posted packages undelivered on account of illegible, insufficient or incorrect addresses.

The warning comes at an opportune time, considering the fact that the postal clerks all over the country are on the eve of the annual Christmas rush, that always means overwork and congestion. The post and over-work is to be expected and cannot be helped; but the congestion of mail can be relieved greatly if the public will co-operate, says the circular.

If a letter is delayed or misdelivered, those concerned are willing to lament the inefficiency of the post office officials. But that today's, through the medium of the circular, that most frequently the fault is with the person who addressed the letter. The address was insufficient or incorrect. During three days of last month it is stated 128,360 pieces of incorrectly or insufficiently addressed mail matter were handled at 55 post offices in Canada. This is a daily average of 42,780 pieces per day, nearly 800 pieces per day for each office, and for a year of 365 days a total of 15,600,000 pieces. The labor necessary for the satisfaction of the public is enormous.

been operated for the manufacture of oilacuan oil. It is proposed to substitute it for cod liver oil. Indians in Alaska take the oilacuan and bury it in the ground in great masses. After they are well decayed they are taken from the ground and oil extracted.

The oilacuan is about ten to twelve inches in length, of a whitish silver color. Broiled or fried it is a favorite dish in British Columbia. It is fat tender, juicy, rich, delicious and practically free from the many troublesome bones. This last ought to bear weight with some people. Very often distaste of fish arises from the fact of having to carefully pick out the many minute and greatly troublesome bones from the fish. One drawback is that it does not bear transportation well. Capelin, another variety, closely resembles the oilacuan. It is very abundant on all the Arctic coast of America, north of Atlantic and the Pacific. Natives of Arctic regions depend largely upon the capelin as a source of food.

On our Pacific coast from San Francisco northward to Bristol Bay, Alaska, we have the Pacific herring. It is about eight or nine inches in length, a very weak and feeble species. The flavor is excellent although the flesh is soft. It has not good keeping qualities and soon spoils.

Surf smelts are also plentiful in the north Pacific. They are so called because they spawn in the surf. It is a firm fleshed and fat little fish, slightly inferior to the oilacuan in flavor. (Quillite Jordan believes that "the surf smelt" (that appear must not be sold or given away to be taken to another place, nor must they be cut transversely, but split open with a mussel shell.)

factory disposal of the volume of mail matter, could, if the public would see to it that there is no inefficiently addressed matter, be directed to furnishing more satisfactory service. The post office is desirous of properly addressed matter, they say. And now, with the Christmas season at hand, the public are especially requested to adapt the most careful methods in preparing and addressing their letters and parcels.

The department asks the public to observe the following details: Prepay postage fully. Address plainly and fully. Place name and address of sender on all mail matter. Carefully wrap and seal all articles sent by parcel post but do not seal the parcels as they will then be subject to letter rates. Mail Christmas parcels early. Insure valuable parcels.

A tragic shooting accident took place at Irish Settlement, about two miles from Pearsonville, Nov. 24th, when Mr. Canelling, a returned soldier, lost his life. He had been out hunting and was talking with a neighbor. He was standing with the butt of the rifle on the ground, his hand over the muzzle. In changing his position his hand struck the hammer and the gun was discharged, hitting the back of his head, passing up through his chin, lodged in his head. Death was instantaneous. He was twenty-seven years old and is survived by a wife and one daughter.

Questions and Answers on Forestry

by the Canadian Forestry Association

Q. Has not Canada the largest forest resources of any country in the world?

A. No. The United States possesses about three times as much timber as Canada, and Russia is regarded as much better endowed with timber than the United States of America.

Q. Is it not a fact that Ontario and Quebec and New Brunswick, have given away most of their timber resources?

A. The "fact" needs modifying. For example, of seventy million acres of accessible forests in Ontario, only ten millions are leased to limit holders. These leases are renewable every year and the leaseholder in all provinces with few exceptions is subject to such regulations and increased taxes as the Government may choose to apply.

Q. Can trees be successfully grown on the bare prairies? What made the prairies treeless?

A. Certain species of trees as Russian Polar and Manitoba Poplar can be easily and rapidly grown on nearly all portions of the prairies. It is generally believed that fires are in the main responsible for the denuding of the southern prairies. With the coming of settlement and the subdividing of prairie fires, so common in the Indian days, tree growth has rapidly encroached on what was formerly bare prairie. The State of Kansas, once a dreary, windswept plain, has been "made over," commercially and aesthetically by the planting of shelter belts.

Q. Are many of the lumber or paper companies planting trees to replace the timber they cut?

A. Only a very few, because once a year's forest fires destroy more grown-up timber than any conceivable amount of planting could replace. In one timber fire last year, enough wood was destroyed to have required for its replacement 14 million little trees at an expense of $200,000 and a wait of sixty years. The great problem in Canada is not tree planting but forest fire prevention.

Q. Which province has the most timber?

A. British Columbia contains as much timber as the rest of Canada.

CANADIAN CLUB HELD ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Canadian Club took place on Monday last in their rooms at the Court House with a good attendance.

The president opened the meeting. After the minutes of the last annual meeting were read, the Secretary gave her report.

Madam President and ladies of the Canadian Club—

Since the last annual meeting of the Women's Canadian Club we have had nine monthly meetings, with an average attendance of nine members.

At Christmas, 1920, a number of boxes were packed, containing food, clothing, toys, candy, etc., and distributed among the sick and children of the town. At the same time a contribution of money was made for the soldiers' Christmas at the Kentville Sanatorium. Societies were held in the Myrtle House in May, and November. Lectures were given in January by Prof. McGee, of Acadia, in February by Prof. Whitlaw, of the same college; in April by Dr. McDonald of Wolfville, and in May by Walter McKee. In the last case, all of the proceeds of the evening were given to the lecturer.

Since the last annual meeting in December for the benefit of the Memorial Fund, in March a contribution was made to the National League.

Assistance has been given to the sick and poor in the town throughout the year in the way of food, rent, blankets, fuel and clothing.

The Club is indebted to the Municipal Authorities for the use of the Court House, to the Digby Courier for printing, to Mr. Spurr for the use of his house for socials, to the Digby Orchestra, and to all who have contributed in any way to the success of the Canadian Club during the past year.

MAUDE GREEN,
Secy.

This was followed by the Treasurer's report.

People don't take enough interest in civic affairs.

George Tilton has again opened his hat shop which was closed during his illness.

Hats from $1.00 to $4.00 and Ladies' Blouses below cost at Miss Elizabeth's.

The ladies of Holy Trinity will hold their Christmas tree and tea on Tuesday afternoon next as in another column.

Weather and stage permitting, Rev. D. E. Hat will preach on Sunday at the School House, Mt. Pleasant, Friday evening of next week.

Once upon a time there was a citizen of a town who didn't think he could handle matters better than the elected officials.

The ladies of the Baptist Congregation are holding their Christmas sale and tea this afternoon and evening in the Vestry of the Church.

The picnic at Hill Grove on Friday evening of last week was a great success. The sum of $75.00 was being added to repair and improve the Church.

C. G. L. meeting to-night at 7.30 o'clock, in the hall place. As this is to be an especially interesting meeting, a good attendance is requested.

The Junior C. G. L. group of the Methodist Church held their Friday evening meeting at the school house. The subject of the evening was a lesson in table-setting.

The subject of the sermon in the Baptist Church, next Sunday will be, at eleven o'clock, "The Teaching that Paved a Way." The Minister at seven, Getting our B rings.

Rev. Charles R. Freeman, of Charlotte, P. I., has accepted a call to Charlotte Street Baptist Church, West St. John and will begin his labors there about the middle of January.

Miss Lillian Davis, of Chattanooga, Tenn., only 17 years of age, after taking three states of Tania, she now weighs over 150 pounds and is enjoying the best of health. P. W. Holdsworth.

A slight fire in the hot air pipes of Miss Marshall's room caused a little excitement in the school yesterday. The flames were extinguished by the contents of one of the extinguishers with which the building is supplied.

The girls in aid of St. Patrick Church on Thursday last was a great success. The sum of $11.00 was realized which will be used to install electric lights. The centre piece which was drawn for was won by ticket 23, J. J. Wallis.

The World Wide Guild of Hill Grove will hold a Christmas sale in the hall next Tuesday evening. The women will serve a "Meat and Beans" lunch to all comers. Local talent will furnish a programme. A very delightful evening is in prospect.

The Girl Guides and Boy Scouts are making rapid progress in their respective work. A number of badges for advanced work will shortly be granted. The girls met Monday after school and the boys Saturday afternoon, from two to four o'clock.

The regular business meeting of the Woman's Canadian Club will be held at the Court House on Monday, at the usual hour, 8.30 o'clock. Matters of immediate importance will be discussed and a large attendance is therefore requested.

Please take notice that the regular monthly meeting of the V. O. N. for December, Digby, will be held on Monday afternoon (instead of Tuesday) next at 8 o'clock in the Town Hall. All who are interested in the work are invited to attend.

Rev. J. H. Copeland will give his promised Lenten Lecture in the Church at Hill Grove next Tuesday evening, beginning at 7.45. An offering will be taken to defray the lecturer's expenses. The Church would be glad to hear Mr. Copeland and to see his fine pictures.

The petition for the repeal of the Scott law in this County has now passed through all the necessary formalities required by law and has been forwarded to Ottawa. It is expected that the announcement of repeal of this law and complete force of the Nova Scotia Act will be gazetted in the very near future.

The pupils of the Digby High School will present an entertainment on Wednesday, December 21st, at 8.30 p. m., in the Bijou Grand Theatre. The programme will consist of choruses, drills, musical numbers, etc. Admission, reserved seats 35 cents, front seats 25 cents, and for school children 10 cents.

This is "Merritt Baptist Week" in three Provinces. Denominational papers, like newspapers, have felt the pressure of greatly increased cost of production. The "Maritime Inquirer" is endeavoring to save the situation without increasing the price of subscription by seeking to add two thousand new names to its mailing list this week. Rev. E. O. Morse, formerly of Westport in this County, is filling the local position of editor and business manager in a manner that gives him a worthy successor of the able men who have filled these positions in other years.

Market and officers for the coming year were elected as follows:

President, Mrs. E. D. Verneer;
1st Vice Pres., Mr. E. R. Turnbull;
2nd Vice Pres., Mrs. J. J. Wallis;
3rd Vice Pres., Mrs. F. W. Holdsworth;
4th Vice Pres., Mrs. J. H. Green;

Secretary, Mrs. L. E. Haines;
Treasurer, Mrs. H. E. Jones;
Lecture Co-ops., Mrs. H. Green and Mrs. H. P. Short.

Committees for the different churches, Mrs. H. Green, Mrs. D. Verneer, Mrs. H. B. Short, Mrs. S. Aymar, Mrs. H. Smith, Mrs. E. Burnham, Mrs. M. Green, Mrs. Collins, Miss J. Green.

After a vote of thanks was given to the retiring officers the meeting adjourned.

Do not overlook the Methodist Christmas tree and sale next Thursday.

The hand linen A. W. Longmire, Capt. Longmire, Catherine A. Capt. Telephone, D'Entremont, and Thomas & Robert, Capt. Ansel Snow, arrived at Yarmouth on Saturday afternoon with 3,000, 2,000 and 5,000 lbs. fresh fish respectively.

The vessels were in port Tuesday and Wednesday morning and the fish was landed for their homes for the election.

It is the proper thing for young people, when they have left school, and commenced earning their money, to be reasonably saving and judiciously economical. It is well always to learn at the outset that a dollar never contains more than one hundred cents. But it is a mistake to think that saving money is the principal objection in Belcher's tell of a "White" Christmas this year. The forecast calls for snow and sleet during the early part of the winter, to the twelfth, promising much dampness, followed with blizzards to 16th, when we are to have, it declares, fair weather until the 20th; thereafter, to the end of the year, the forecast is for continued storms, Christmas day not excepted, snow and sleet alternating, accompanied by high winds.

A prominent business man of Bear River was kind enough to inform us last Thursday evening that he had furnished a bulletin service equal to any he had seen in the cities. We tried hard to give the people of Digby the best of the service and we think we were successful. But our efforts would have been in vain had not been backed up by the Western Union Telegraph Company and the Maritime Telegraph and Telephone Company. The operators in both offices did splendid work and in spite of the rush were ever courteous and obliging.

THE ELECTIONS.

The elections on Tuesday resulted in the defeat of the government. The Liberals have the greatest number of followers, the standing of the parties being as follows:

Liberals	118
Conservatives	62
Progressive	2
Labor	3
Doubtful	3

With 118, in a house of 235, the Liberals would have a majority of only one. As to the actual result of the government, it will be hard to tell until after the first division in the house when it will be seen how the parties line up.

Gree Methodist Church, minister Rev. W. H. Watts. Services for next Sunday at the usual hours, 11 and 7. Morning subject "Humanities plus Prayer." Evening subject "All Saints Great Find, Contentment." At Smith's Cove at 5 p. m., the Missionary Anniversary service will be conducted. There will also be service at Mount Pleasant on Friday evening December 16th, at 7.30. Preacher at each service the minister.

Two teaspoonful of Tania, in a little water taken three times a day just before meals will make you eat better, feel better and work better. P. W. Holdsworth.

SHEEP SHEARING.

How "Star Ringers" Work to Establish Records.

The "ringer" (the fast shearer) of an Australian shearing shed is a class of workers whose glory is their efficiency, writes a bushman. He holds a union ticket and will not work part in anger from his best pal and reeve him as a "scab" if, by his actions, he attempted to undermine the industrial unity of his class.

But though this unity and collective effort is strictly encouraged to the utmost degree in the shearing sheds, the shearer who puts up the highest "tally" for the number of sheep shorn, from the commencement of shearing to the "cutting out of the shed," is venerated by his mates as a man worthy of the highest admiration.

There is no grumbling at the pace he sets. Instead, his skill and speed inspire his mates with a spirit of emulation.

The shearing season in New South Wales begins in the north, about the beginning of May, and closes, in the south, about the end of August.

Many of the energetic shearers shorn 4,000 or more sheep a day, and as many as 200,000 fleeces are shorn, classed, pressed and ready for transport in five or six weeks.

A "good" — that is, a quick — shearer is always assured of a season's good pay, for he is a "big-shearer," and he is a "big-shearer."

The average "tally" is about 110 sheep per man per day of eight hours, six days a week.

The highest "tally" made by an Australian shearer in one day, and I have known a clever shearer shorn a sheep to put up a record — I think still unbroken — of 240 sheep per day for forty-five consecutive days.

But, of course, a "big-shearer," a "star-ringer,"

Moderately fast shearers calculate on clearing 150 to 200 fleeces a day, and many of them, owning blocks of land of their own, use the money thus earned for its development at the season's close.

Danced With Princess.

At Shadwell, in the heart of the East end of London, there is a dock, where, a few evenings ago, enjoyed a privilege which many men in society would have given almost anything to obtain.

His name is Dennis Taylor, and he can boast of having danced with Princess Alice.

"I usually go to the club of an evening," he said, "as I am fond of music and dancing. On this particular occasion, however, I had the princess present, but no one expected her to join in the fun. The stood watching us for a few minutes, then she came forward and smilingly came towards me. For the moment I thought I was dreaming."

"The princess said, 'Is this going to be a waltz?' The pianist had struck up a tune which she did not recognize."

"No," I said, "it's a fox-trot." The next moment I found my arm round her waist and, hardly before we knew it, we were fox-trotting briskly."

"I should say that the princess, as a dancer, is perfect. But what struck me most about her was that she seemed to be enjoying herself as much as anyone in the room. There was no stiffness about her. She's a fine, bonny girl."

"As soon as the fox-trot was over, and the princess had left me with the appreciation of a dance, all the other dancers crowded round with congratulations. 'Did you notice me most about her was that she seemed to be enjoying herself as much as anyone in the room. There was no stiffness about her. She's a fine, bonny girl.'"

"It was, 'Oh, boy, what a wonderful girl you've got!'"

Took "Redmac", The Great Tonic GAINS 22 POUNDS

A Montreal Man's Amazing Experience

Mr. Tremblay, of Montreal, says, since taking Redmac, the Great Tonic, he has gained 22 pounds. I feel and people say, I look 30 years younger. I had been suffering from run-down condition, nervousness, loss of strength, poor appetite and thinness. Today I feel nervous, sleep well, nervousness has disappeared and hard work never bothers me. Redmac was a God-send to me. The reason REDMAC brings such wonderful results is because it feeds run-down glands the cause of many run-down conditions, by supplying them with the extracts of Certain Herbs and Roots and Tropical plants, the glands are made strong and healthy — just like re-charging a storage battery.

If weak, pale, thin, run down, try REDMAC, the King of Tonics, worth of Fort. Write for price. It has helped thousands to regain youthful health and strength. Try a bottle: a large generous bottle can be procured from your druggist at a reasonable price. If you have indigestion or stomach trouble, if you feel all out of sorts, REDMAC will put you on your feet in a short time.

NAMING CAPE COD.

Sir Francis Drake Landed First In New England.

It is said that the great Francis Drake was the first Englishman to set foot in New England, and that he landed on Cape Cod. French, Dutch, Spanish, English—all had names for the Cape; but in 1602 Gonsalvo, examining the coast of New England with a view to colonizing, gave it the predestined name—Cape Cod. "Making across Massachusetts Bay with a fresh mile of wind," writes his chronicler, "in the morning we found ourselves embayed with a mighty headland, with a white, sandy and very bold shore." After landing they returned to their ship and sailed on to Cuttyhunk, "amongst many fair islands." But the significant point for us," says Miss Mary Rogers Bangs in "Old Cape Cod," "is that the Indians pointed their ship so frequently with oodah that they threw numbers of them overboard and thereupon named the land Cape Cod."

Henry Hudson, too, spent a night on the Cape and had difficulty with shoals and tides and mist; he testified that the land was "very sweet." In 1614 Captain John Smith set sail for those shores to look for whales and for gold mines. With eight men in an open boat he explored and charted the coast and dedicated his map to Prince Charles, afterwards Charles I., with a request that he change the barbarous names thereon; "so that the postscript might say Prince Charles was their godfather." New England, the river Charles and Plymouth retain the royal names, but the prince's "Stuart Bay" and "Cape James" are still Cape Cod Bay and Cape Cod.

Keeping Pace With Time.

The division of the day into a certain number of hours, minutes, and seconds is a purely arbitrary measure intended to simplify the process of keeping account of time and scheduling various events which must occur at the same time each day.

Since the dawn of history the revolutions of the heavenly bodies have formed the basis for the measurement of time. These revolutions are three in number—the revolution of the earth upon its axis (which forms the foundation for our twenty-four-hour day); the changes in the appearance of the moon, which consume approximately twenty-nine and a half days and form the basis for the month; and the yearly motion of the earth around the sun.

The sub-division of the time the earth takes to revolve upon its axis into twenty-four spaces we know as hours is comparatively recent. In the time of Homer only four such divisions were recognized—morning, day, evening, and night.

Early Jewish historians record the fact that the night and the day were each divided into eight parts or "watches," a custom followed also by the Romans, who referred to the first, second, third, and fourth watch of the day—vesper, evening, midnight, and cockcrow. Each of these spaces was three hours in length, the first watch starting at what we call six o'clock in the morning. But as the Romans started their daily time-keeping at sunrise it followed that their summer watches were longer than their winter ones—a condition which led to the adoption of the modern division of time into hours, each of a certain exact length.

Scotland for World!

Those who dislike work should dwell in Turkey and avoid Scotland, for these two countries are at the top and bottom respectively in the list of the countries of the world as regards public holidays.

Turkey has twenty-six official holidays in the year, when business is entirely suspended; thirty Scotland has but five.

If, however, we include local public holidays, Brazil comes first with eighty-four, and the United States second with fifty-four; but a citizen of either republic who set out to keep them all would have to travel about quite a lot.

August is the favorite holiday month in Britain. Taking the world for, however, November comes first, twenty-six out of its thirty days being kept as official holidays by as many different countries. May comes next, with twenty-five.

Italy celebrates twenty-three general public holidays, Germany twenty, France sixteen, Great Britain sixteen, Japan fifteen, and Portugal eight.

Not His Business.

An old colored man had a pig. He sold it to a white man for three dollars. The white man drove it away, but it returned to the original owner, who, with singular acuteness, sold it to another white man an hour later for four dollars.

The second purchaser drove the pig away. But he encountered the first buyer, and they started wrangling. Finally they decided to consult the colored man. They returned to him.

"Look here," said the first, "didn't you sell that pig to me at ten o'clock?"

"Sho, I did, massa."

"And didn't you sell the same pig to me at eleven o'clock?" asked the second.

"Sho, I did, massa."

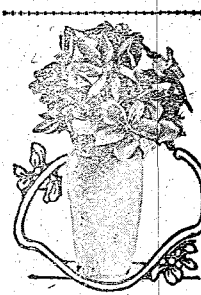

"Then to whom does it belong now?" asked the first.

"Skakes alive!" said the old man. "Can't you settle that question between yourselves?"

The Nightingale.

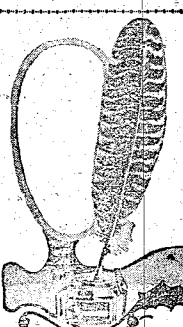

It is a curious fact that the nightingale is seldom seen or heard in Scotland. Its visits are confined to certain parts of England. This does not seem to have been the case always, from the fact of the bird being frequently mentioned in old Scottish poems. One of the earliest references to the nightingale in Scotland occurs in the poem, "The Priory of Sweto Susan," attributed to Ruchon of the "Avis Ryale," who died in 1381.

Fadeless Flowers

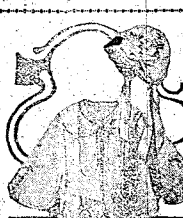

Flowers made of petals cut from paper tape and coated with colored sealing wax, are among the novelties that add to the cheerfulness of home and Christmas this year. A cluster of them in several different colors, in a vase that is also coated with the wax, makes a very pleasing bouquet for the living room or dining table. The colored wax is a substitute for paint and a small alcohol flame comes the brush for making the fadeless blossoms.

A Decorative Pen

For the writing desk or as a companion piece to the guest book, a pen with a feather quill for a handle makes a beautiful gift. Natural feathers are as marvelous and beautiful in their markings as flowers and those in neutral colors can be tinted if one wishes to brighten them. Many kinds of feathers, including those of the ostrich, are used for these decorative pens and they make a gift suited to every group-up.

Santa Remembers Baby

Santa Claus never forgets the babies and each year presents their little belongings made in new and pretty ways. This year "nightingales" and "bombers" seem even better than their predecessors. A set to match is shown above, made of fine flannel and trimmed with narrow satin ribbon gathered along one edge and feather-stitched down. A trail of narrow lace finishes the cap.

For Little Garments

Hangers for wee garments make a lovely gift for young children, especially when they look like dolls. Here two are dressed up to represent a girl and a boy doll and a third is simply covered with ribbon and decorated with ribbon flowers. Little school doll heads, wide and narrow satin ribbon and wire hangers with a little ingenious sewing are all that is needed for the doll hangers.

Know Canada Contest

Two Thousand Dollars in Prizes

Open to Every Reader of The Weekly Courier

The contest consists of fifty rebus pictures representing fifty Post Offices in Canada. Begin today with Nos. 29 to 32—those previously published may be had free on application to this office.

The contest is conducted by The Weekly Courier of Digby, and the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal. A year's subscription to both papers at regular rates would cost $4.00. We offer them for one year each for only $3.00. Can you solve these four rebus pictures.

No. 29

No. 30

No. 31

No. 32

The above four pictures may look easy but a mistake can be made. Competitors will find the list of Post Offices from which the pictures are selected a great help. See 2nd item of terms of contest.

Terms of Contest

The contest is open to any member of a family, one of whose members is a subscriber to either the Weekly Courier or The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal.

A list of approximately 2,000 Post Offices in Canada from which the fifty rebuses pictures will be selected will be sent free to any contestant, who, before December 1st, 1921, sends one new subscriber to either the Weekly Courier or The Family Herald and Weekly Star. It will also contain a blank form on which to fill in your answers and hints to help you arrive at the correct answers. A self-addressed stamped envelope should be sent with the new subscription for the return of the printed list.

One NEW subscriber to either the Weekly Courier or The Family Herald and Weekly Star sent in by a competitor will take the place of one incorrect answer in the competition, thus 49 correct answers and one NEW subscriber will count as 50 correct answers or 50 points.

Two NEW subscribers to either paper will take the place of two incorrect answers, thus 48 correct answers and two new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Three NEW subscribers to either paper will take the place of three incorrect answers, thus 47 correct answers and three new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Four NEW subscribers to either paper will take the place of four incorrect answers, thus 46 correct answers and four new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Five NEW subscribers to either paper will take place of five incorrect answers, thus 45 correct answers and five new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Five NEW subscriptions to either paper will be the limit to be credited in the competition. This places all contestants on an equal footing.

Fifty correct answers and five NEW subscriptions to either paper will be the highest points obtainable.

Four pictures will be published each week simultaneously in the Weekly Courier and The Family Herald and Weekly Star. Answers MUST NOT be sent in until the 50 drawings have appeared in both papers. Ample notice will be given.

In case of a tie the prizes will be divided. For instance, if there are three who have earned say 54 points and no one has obtained the maximum of 55, the first three prizes totalling $500, would be divided amongst them.

The decision of the Editor of The Family Herald will be final.

No employees of the Weekly Courier or the Family Herald are allowed to compete.

Contest will begin early in October. See that your subscription to the Weekly Courier and The Family Herald is paid well in advance and prevent losing a single issue. Back numbers cannot be supplied.

New subscribers may enter the contest by complying with the above conditions.

U. S. LUMBER.
Lumber is being cut in the United States at the rate of 33,758,800,000 feet a year. That is equivalent to a plank four inches wide, two inches thick and 40 feet long, for each man, woman and child. Seems like a small amount. But picture a procession of 108,000,000 people, each walking out of the woods with a plank like that, and you realize that forests are being destroyed faster than they are growing.

Obituary

MRS. MICHAEL BURNS.

The death of Sarah Ann, widow of Michael Burns, of Clementsport, Annapolis County, took place at Newton, Mass., on Sunday. The deceased was 100 years, 1 month and 23 days of age, but despite those advanced years she had been comparatively active until about three weeks ago when she suffered a general breakdown and her remarkable vitality failed suddenly. Mrs. Burns was a native of Annapolis County, but since the death of her husband eighteen years ago she has lived with her son, Arthur S. Newton, of One other son, Edward S., also survives and accompanied the remains, which arrived at Yarmouth by the Prince Arthur Tuesday and were forwarded by the D. A. R. to Clementsport.

MORRILL FARNSWORTH.

The death occurred on Friday last at his late residence, Centreville, of Morrill Farnsworth, following a very brief illness of two or three days. Mr. Farnsworth was fifty-nine years of age. He has served as a janitor in the Methodist Church of which he was a very active member for many years. He leaves four brothers, Thomas, of Digby, George, of Lynn, John, of North Range, and Darius, of Centreville. Also a sister Mrs. Clara Hall, of Lynn. The funeral was held on Sunday the 4th and was largely attended. The service was conducted by Rev. H. McNeil, pastor of the Methodist Church of Centreville.

MRS. ALBERT N. WORMELL.

Miss Jane, widow of the late Albert N. Wormell, died suddenly at her home, Light House Road, early Tuesday morning, aged 67. About one year ago she suffered a severe attack of paralysis, from which she recovered sufficient by to attend to her home duties. She is survived by four children, Mrs. Joseph LeBeau, Randolph, Mass.; Percy J. Roland A. and Savile Turnbull of this town; also thirteen grandchildren and three great-grandchildren, and one brother, Capt. David Haydon, of Fort Wade. She was an active worker and member of the Methodist Church. Funeral from her home at two o'clock Thursday afternoon, Henry Trask, Guy Dunn, George and William Turnbull acting as pallbearers.

Service in St. Mary's Bay, U. B.

Churches on Sunday will be as follows: Barton, 11 a.m.; South Range, 9 p.m.; North Range, 7 p.m.

Of Canvas and Ribbon

It goes without saying that bags of all sorts are among those gifts that are always welcome. There are many new ones this year made of coarse canvas, or unbleached linen and trimmed with narrow satin ribbon and ribbon flowers. Baby ribbon may be drawn through the interstices of the canvas. Drawing threads out of either the canvas or linen makes it possible to weave wider ribbons over and under the remaining threads, in borders or ornaments. Flowers cut from cotton or linen, in various colors, are applied to the linen bags and buttonholed along their edges with cotton floss or yarn. A case for holding playing cards and a bag which may be put to various uses are shown above in gifts suited to either men or women.

Sweets for Christmas

You cannot think of anyone who will not be delighted to receive a gift like that illustrated here. It is a half dozen glasses filled with jelly, preserves and marmalade, very attractively arranged in a wicker basket. The tin covers of the glasses are lacquered with black lacquer and a white gummed letter is placed in the center of each one. A spray of fruit or blossoms painted on the lid with sealing wax, together with the letter, tells the kind of jelly or preserves the glass contains, as apple, with a spray of apple blossoms and the letter "A", or currant with a cluster of currants and foliage and the letter "C". Sealing wax in several colors simulates shirred ribbon on the center glass which contains marmalade.

Christmas Candles

This year's candle shades made of grey silks or of crepe paper are shown in such variety that every one may be pleased. Sparkling silver tinsel strays over some of them, adding a holiday glitter to the pretty colors through which the light gleams. shades decorated in this way is shown at the right of the two pictured. At the left a foundation of plain paper is covered with ruffles of crepe paper in two alternating colors, in this case white and green, and has daisies made of paper set about it.

Oil Cloth Table Sets

No housewife will fail to enjoy the new table sets of oilcloth with their cheerful borders of gay flowers and fruits. They are much handsomer than the stenciled pieces and many women use them for the dinner as well as the breakfast table. These sets consist of a centerpiece, place doilies and smaller doilies. The fruits and flowers in the set pictured are in their natural colors and the oilcloth in a deep cream color.

Viscount Knollys Veteran Courtier

VISCOUNT KNOLLYS recently celebrated his 54th birthday. He is in many respects the most wonderful man of his time. For a period of forty-five years he was actively engaged at court, first as a Gentleman Usher to Queen Victoria in 1858, and last as private secretary to her grandson, King George, in 1913.

During this period Lord Knollys enjoyed the confidence of three sovereigns in a measure accorded to no other individual. And well has he acquitted himself of the confidence that was reposed in him.

He has not long been at the court before he became on terms of friendship with King Edward, so that it was no surprise to those in the royal household when he was appointed private secretary to the then Prince of Wales in 1870.

It was in this capacity that he accompanied the late King upon his memorable tour of India in 1883. He is to-day one of the three survivors of that happy little band of nineteen that formed the princely entourage in this tour, the others being the present Marquess of Lincolnshire and that other "allant veteran", Gen. Sir Dighton Probyn, V.C., who is four years senior in point of age to Lord Knollys.

In addition to being private secretary to King Edward for precisely forty years, Lord Knollys was his friend and companion, and accompanied him everywhere. In those days the late King had a little band of trusted advisers about him who assisted to mould the history of Europe in a measure that is scarcely understood to-day.

Among those who went to make up this group were, in addition to Lord Knollys, the Duke of Vise, Viscount Parham, the late Lord Suffolk, Sir Alfred Fergus, and Sir Dighton Probyn. All these, incidentally, assisted in the foundation of the Marlborough Club.

As a secretary, Lord Knollys has always been the perfect model of what the holder of this extremely responsible position should be. His soul of discretion and tact, he had a suavity of manner and an imperturbability of demeanor that made him a favorite wherever he went.

The ex-Kaiser realized years ago the power of Lord Knollys, and his devotion to his country and to his throne. He knew that in him there was a man to be feared, and he feared him, while at the same time it is quite certain he hated him.

As a companion Viscount Knollys was always delightful, and it was reasonable to note the ease with which he could discard the care of his official position and assume his favorite role of a dilettante "man about town" with a care in the "forenoon".

Nor was it less striking to note the swiftness with which he could return to his official duties, and his former attitude with the celerity that an ordinary man displays in moving his overcoat. Then he was keenness and alertness himself, and the amount of work he could get through in the course of 24 hours was extraordinary.

It used to be the boast of King Edward that "Frank" Knollys — as he is still known, and remembered about the court — could "find any letter or document at five minutes' notice".

During the course of his career at court he was brought into more intimate contact with the royalties of the world than any other man of non-royal birth, and he is a veritable depository of state secrets.

It is no wonder that an enterprising firm of transatlantic publishers sent him shortly after his retirement a blank cheque bearing his signature with an invitation to fill it in for any amount he desired if he would write the story of his official life.

It is believed that this cheque found its way into Lord Knollys' capacious waste-paper basket in the quickest time on record.

Methods of Carrying Money. — It is interesting to note the various methods in which men of different nationalities carry their worldly wealth. Before the advent of Treasury notes as legal tender, the Englishman was wont to carry gold, silver, and copper all loose in his trousers pocket, pulling out a handful of the mixture, and selecting the coin he needed. The American carries "his wad of bills" in a long, narrow pocket-book, in which the greenbacks lie flat. The Frenchman makes use of a leather with no distinguishing characteristics. The German uses one gaily embroidered in silks by one of the fair sex. The half-civilized capitalist from some torrid South American city carries his dollars in a belt with cunningly devised pockets to baffle the gentlemen with the light fingers. The Italian of the poorer classes ties up his little fortune in a gaily-colored handkerchief secured with many knots, which he secretes in some mysterious manner about his clothes. A similar course he takes for the Spaniard, while the lower-class Russian exhibits a preference for his boots or the lining of his clothes as a hiding-place for his savings.

Dry Countries. — In parts of Australia, where the average yearly rainfall is not more than 10 inches, a square mile of land will support only eight or nine sheep. In the Argentine the same area, with 84 inches of rain, supports 2,500.

Women of Western Australia have had the right to vote for nearly fifty years.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS

You's th' Bestest Man

CAROLS AS PART OF THE CHRISTMAS SERVICE.

THE origin of the Christmas carol is uncertain. It is probably as old as Christianity. Indeed, Bishop Taylor in his "Great Exemplar" remarks that the first carol is the hymn of the angels to the shepherds in the plains of Bethlehem.

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

In the fifteenth century carols were widely used throughout Europe. In fact, the first pieces printed by the very first printers were carols. In one of the oldest collections appears "The Boon's Head," which used to be sung as that old ditty was carried to the table during the Christmas revelry.

The Boon's Head in hands I bring With garlands gay and birds singing; I pray you all to help me sing "Qui esca in convivio!"

The Boon's Head" represents one of the convivial carols or "jolly chansons," which had their place at the feasts, dances and other gay festivities of the Christmas season.

In Shakespeare's time bands of itinerant singers used to wander about the streets and make their carols a pretext for getting money.

During the eighteenth century carols declined greatly, and many of the quaint old customs which had marked Christmas festivals for centuries became obsolete.

Carols still exist in parts of England.

In Wales it has been preserved to a still greater extent, while Ireland, too, has her Christmas caroling in the old-fashioned style. France has its "Noëls," and in Italy Christmas carols have been sung since the time of St. Francis of Assisi, who discovered the power of sacred song in the vernacular.

In churches all over the world many of the delightful old carols are now a part of the Christmas service.

Good Reason, Too.

At Christmas the children of a certain provincial school tried to collect money by going from house to house singing carols and snatches of hymns. Many complaints reached the rectors' ears of bands of youngsters scampering through the first verse of "While Shepherds Watched," and then violently ringing the doorbell. So he instituted inquiries on the next occasion he visited the school.

"Why is it," he asked, "that, instead of singing the hymn in a reverent way, you scampers through one verse and then ring the bell?"

Silence reigned for a short time. Then a shrill voice from a small boy at the back of the room was heard in explanation: "Hence, sir, it's 'cause they always lets the dog loose at the second verse."

Charity in the Heart.

'Tis the season for kindling the fire of hospitality in the hall, the gentle glow of charity in the heart.—Washington Irving.

Under the Holly Bough

WHO have scorned each other, Or injured friend or brother, In this fast-fading year, Ye who by word or deed, Have made a kind heart bleed—Come gather here. Let sinners against and sinners Forget their strife's beginning, And join in friendship now! No links no longer broken, Be sweet forgiveness spoken, Under the holly bough.

Ye who have loved each other, Sister and friend and brother, In this fast-fading year, Mother and sire and child, Young man and maiden mild, Come, gather here, And let your hearts grow fonder, Each past unbroken vow, Old love and younger wooing Are sweet in the renewing, Under the holly bough.

Ye who have nourished sadness, Estranged from hope and gladness, In this fast-fading year, Ye with o'er-burdened minds, Made aliens from your kind—Come, gather here.

Let not the useless sorrow, Pursue you night and morn'g, If e'er you hoped, hope now—Tis heart unclouded your faces, And join in our embraces, Under the holly bough.

—Charles Mackay.

Birds and Animals Share Christmas

CHRISTMAS is not merely a festival celebrated by and for man alone. Among the folk lore of other countries are several quaint stories in which animals and birds give evidence of their adoration. A well-known legend offers a version of world antiquity—they claim that on the holy day "the sun in the east bowed down, the stars stood still, the mountains and forests shook and touched the earth with their summit, and the green pine tree bent; the grass was beflowered with the opening of blossoms; incense sweet as myrrh pervaded, upland and forest; birds sang on the mountain tops and all gave thanks to the great God."

In Bosnia on Christmas day a sheet of ice is put into birds' nests and bird houses for the birds' Christmas. A stranger, stranded in a Michigan town, was once started to see a sheet of ice in a bird box. He knew immediately that one of his kind lived there and was keeping Christmas in the old way.

An old Indian legend tells us that on Christmas night all the deer in the forest kneel in adoration before the Great Spirit. Were to him, however, who tries to spy upon them, he is punished with perpetual stiltiness of the knees.

Many people of the old world claim that on Christmas night animals are gifted with speech, but none must trespass or eavesdrop.

THE RETURN AT YULETIDE

CHRISTMAS comes and the old world turns. Fondly back to its fairy days—Days that saw him whose splendor burns Bright through eras of morn' and morn; Back to the Star whose speaking rays Wines much speed up to beckoned them Over Judea's winding ways—Back to the Babe of Bethlehem!

Christmas comes, and the old heart goes Gladly back to the days of yore—Days whose breath of the budding rose Scents the years that have followed since. Back to the Star whose spell was cast Over young eyes and startled them, Piling fast youth with a wonder vast—Back to the Babe of Bethlehem!

Christmas comes, and the old faith lives, Summoned back from the days gone by—Days begemmed with the joy that gives Mortal balm for their sob and sigh; Back to the Star in the sunset sky, Pilgrims haste as it urges them Over the years that have followed since—Back to the Babe of Bethlehem!

Christmas! come, when the world shall go Bounding back to the best of days—Days when life in a manger low, Rages charmed into prayer and praise; Back to the Star whose speaking rays All men men as it beckons them Over Judea's winding ways—Back to the Babe of Bethlehem!

—J. McNally, in St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

To Clean Leather Furniture. Add a little vinegar to tepid water and wash the leather with a clean cloth; wipe dry. To polish apply the following: Whites of two eggs beaten slightly (not stiff) and mix with two teaspoonfuls of turpentine; rub with clean, dry cloth.

The Joy of the True Spirit of Christmas

ARE you willing to forget what you have done for other people this year? To ignore what they have done for you; to ignore what the world owes you, and to think what you owe the world; to put your rights in the background, and your duties in the foreground; to put your chances to do a little more than your duty in the foreground; to see that your fellow men are just as real as you are, and try to look behind their backs to their hearts, hungry for joy; to own that probably the only good reason for your existence is not what you are going to get out of life, but what you are going to give life; to close your eyes to the calamities against the universe, and look around for a place where you can sow a few seeds of happiness—are you willing to do these things even for a day? Then you can keep Christmas.

Are you willing to stoop down and consider the needs and the desires of little children; to remember the weakness and loneliness of people who are growing old; to stop asking whether your friends love you, and ask yourself whether you love them enough to bear in mind the things that other people are going to do on their hearts; to try to understand what those who live in the same house with you really want, without waiting for them to tell you; to trim your lamp so that it will give more light and less smoke; to carry it in front so that your shadow will fall behind you; to make a grave for your ugly thoughts and the garden for your kindly feelings, with the gate open; are you willing to do these things even for a day? Then you can keep Christmas.

Are you willing to believe that love is the strongest thing in the world—stronger than hate, stronger than evil, stronger than death—and that the blessed life which began in Bethlehem nineteen hundred years ago is the image and brightness of the eternal love? Then you can keep Christmas. And if you can keep it for a day, why not always? But you can never keep it alone.—Dr. Henry Van Dyke.

Soft Sugar Vanilla Wafers.

Cream together two cups of soft sugar and one cupful of butter. Add the yolks of five eggs well beaten and a generous flavoring of vanilla. Sift two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one-half a teaspoonful of soda with two cupsful of flour. Add alternately the well-beaten whites of the five eggs and the prepared flour with enough more to make a soft dough. Roll thin and cut in small rounds, diamonds or squares.

Distributed Care.

"Why are June weddings so por?" "Because of the natural tendency of conditions to adjust themselves. People shouldn't be expected to buy wedding presents and Christmas presents all at the same time."

My Gift

When Santa Claus is hitching up The reindeer to his sleigh, I'm going to bring a great big bag Of love to him and say—

Dear Santa Claus, please take this bag And on each Christmas tree Tie just a little bunch of love Fast with a memory.

So you dear friend I wish the best Of all good gifts that are, Good health, and wealth, and fame, and love, The last more precious far.

So search ye closely every branch When candles bright the tree, And you will find my bit of love Tied with a memory.

—L. W. SNEELAND, M. C. Edgar Farmer.

St. Nicholas, the Holy Man of the Fourth Century

IN THE entire category of the saints none continues to enjoy a more extended popularity than St. Nicholas, archbishop of Myra. At this time, when preparations are being made for the celebration of the birthday of the Christ-child, it is particularly fitting that we recall something of the character of this holy man of the Fourth century and remember some of the legends which bring him so close to us at Christmas time.

Strange to say, while St. Nicholas is regarded as the special guardian of children, virgins and sailors, he came to be regarded as the patron saint of robbers, from an alleged adventure with thieves, whom he compelled to restore some stolen goods to their proper owners.

In various parts of the old world it is customary for the elder members of the family to place little presents in the shoes as well as the stockings of the younger relatives on the eve of St. Nicholas' day. To converse the young women used to place little stockings at the door of the apartment of the abbess, with a paper recommending them to "Great St. Nicholas of the chamber."

While the emblem of the three golden balls is derived from the Lombard merchants, yet St. Nicholas is frequently pictorially represented as bearing three golden balls of purse, the origin of which can be traced to an act of the saint which has come down to us in the form of an ecclesiastical notation.

DECEMBER ACROSTIC

THE following words are arranged in such order under the other, their initials will spell the name of something relating to Christmas. As a further help, we will say that each word has three letters:

1. A small insect.
2. Word used in speaking of ocean tide.
3. More than one.
4. Word used in asking questions.
5. Adjective meaning not right.
6. A small part of the body.
7. Head covering.
8. Verb to be mistaken.
9. Month of the year—Successful Farming.

Christmas Is Children's Day

THE message of Christmas is love. Its emblem is radiant, thankful, contented childhood. Without love had without children there could be no real Christmas. The form might survive but the substance would be lacking.

Childhood must be the adult who cannot make himself a child again in spirit at the Yuletide. For Christmas is the universal children's day. Men and women are superheroes except as they make themselves partners with those whom the day glorifies.

Let us, then, lay aside the affection and the passion of manhood and womanhood and be children again. Let us adopt their point of view and put ourselves in their places—in the places of these boys and daughters of our kind and of the sons and daughters of our neighbors. It was only a year or so ago, as it seems, when we hung our well-worn stockings in a row along the mantel shelf, while our fathers and mothers looked on with misgiving, the picture of the innocent evidences we showed in the morning.

Dressed as you and I. It all comes back in a flood of memories. Life was simpler then. Our desires were less pretensions, then those our children voice now. Most memories except as they were that would be and had of the "stockings hung" tale.

Life and its circumstances change, but the essence of Christmas never. The same happy childhood, the same contentment, the same well-like creeping of time as the holiday approaches. The same joyful, warm, happy planning across the reading table after the boys and girls are abed, the same loving consideration of what this or that child most desires and how far the family "case" can be stretched to permit any further purchase.

Every home is assured a Christmas if it has a great, warm heart pulsating in time with the hopes and joys of childhood.

Obituary

HERBERT L. JONES.

The community of Weymouth was shocked to learn of the very sudden death of Herbert L. Jones, of Weymouth North, who was one of the most prominent citizens of the town, and who died on Friday morning in the sixty-fourth year of his age.

Mr. Jones, though not in the best of health, was unusually fit only one day. He was one of the most prominent citizens of Weymouth, and represented Digby County in the Federal Parliament in 1888.

Twenty years ago he married Miss Kate D. Black, of Halifax, who survives her husband.

The deceased leaves one son, Reginald, and one daughter, Mrs. Josephine Jones, of York, five brothers, Dr. Howard, of Dalhousie University, Halifax; Sidney and Harlan, of Weymouth; Cedeno, of Braintree, Mass.; and Fred of California.

At two sisters, Mrs. Carl Stayer, of Halifax, and Mrs. Josephine Jones, of York. His aged mother, Mrs. Sinclair Jones, also survives, to whom the death of her son was a great shock.

The late Mr. Jones was a member of the Board of Governors of King's College, and a regular attendant at the Synod meetings of the Church of England. In politics he was a Conservative, and in religion a member of St. Peter's Anglican Church.

The funeral will be held on Friday at 10 o'clock. The interment will be in the cemetery.

The funeral of the late Herbert L. Jones, who died on Friday last, took place from his late residence on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Jones was always interested in everything tending to the betterment and uplifting of his native town. He was a member of the Weymouth Amateur Athletic Association, and represented Digby County in the Federal Parliament in 1888.

Twenty years ago he married Miss Kate D. Black, of Halifax, who survives her husband.

The deceased leaves one son, Reginald, and one daughter, Mrs. Josephine Jones, of York, five brothers, Dr. Howard, of Dalhousie University, Halifax; Sidney and Harlan, of Weymouth; Cedeno, of Braintree, Mass.; and Fred of California.

At two sisters, Mrs. Carl Stayer, of Halifax, and Mrs. Josephine Jones, of York. His aged mother, Mrs. Sinclair Jones, also survives, to whom the death of her son was a great shock.

The late Mr. Jones was a member of the Board of Governors of King's College, and a regular attendant at the Synod meetings of the Church of England. In politics he was a Conservative, and in religion a member of St. Peter's Anglican Church.

The funeral will be held on Friday at 10 o'clock. The interment will be in the cemetery.

MY CHRISTMAS WISH

A Good, Glad Christmastide, my friend,
To you and yours is the wish I send.
May all your tomorrows have skies of blue,
And all your friends be loving and true.

The Christmas Card

By MARY GRIFFIN

I AM a Christmas Card. I was born shortly before Christmas of 1913. I was put away in a box after Christmas and the next year I came forth again, and the price put upon me had risen from two cents to five.

The next year I cost ten cents. Still I did not sell.

"We'll have to charge a quarter for that card," my owner said, "and get up the prices of some of these others, or they won't be bought."

So I was a quarter. And then I cost 50 cents and was purchased. The price mark has been left on me. I've been traveling with it written on my back ever since. Sometimes, too, I get around to a number of places around Christmas time, especially if I'm started off early in the first place.

So far, too, I've been greeted with joy, and an exclamation I do not quite understand.

"Oh, good! Here's a card which is marked fifty cents. Who would believe it possible, but no matter, it did! And it's not written on either!"

"I do not understand their joy over me, but they never keep me with them!"

Christmas Fish.

A fish which resembles a cod is considered by the people of Sweden as an indispensable adjunct of their Christmas feast. This fish is buried for days in wood ashes or else soaked in soda water, then boiled and served with a milk gravy.

Who Said Santa Claus?

Bell Ringing, One of the Oldest Christmas Customs

WHAT would Christmas be without the ringing of the bells ringing good will toward men? Bell ringing is one of the oldest of Christmas customs. At one time, in England, the ringers gave their services free, not would they accept any special payment. The peal was rung as a matter of course, and was the natural expression of English joyousness. The merry music of the bells in Great Britain and wherever churches have peals of bells, is today as much a feature of Christmas as the decoration of church and home with evergreens, or the provision of the good cheer which always marks this festive season.

What an outcry there would be if an edict were issued forbidding the ringing of the bells during the coming festive season! Yet this was actually done during the Commonwealth, for in 1652 the wise men of parliament gave orders that "no observation shall be had of the five-and-twentieth day of December, commonly called Christmas day."

It is quite certain that this edict was disregarded in many places, while in others it led to open rioting. At Canterbury the mayor of the city tried to enforce the new rule, but the people were not going to be deprived of their pleasures so easily, so they took the law into their own hands, broke the mayor's windows—and some of his bones as well—and affirmed their intention of keeping their Christmas in their own fashion, just as their fathers had done before them.

A Good Modeling Material. It is often very difficult to keep a child confined to the house amused. But with a modeling material with which they can make animals, beads, etc., they can be kept amused for hours. Take four tablespoonfuls cornstarch, eight tablespoonfuls salt and eight tablespoonfuls boiling water. Mix the dry ingredients and pour on the boiling water, stirring until the mixture is soft. Put on the fire and stir until it turns a soft ball, then remove from the stove and stir for ten minutes. A little color may be added. Wrap in oiled paper when not in use to keep from hardening.

THE GIFT I CHOOSE.

GIVE me the heartiness with the good will. I choose the gift of ninety-nine and a half cents. The gift that ripens to the lips from loving hearts. The gift that is the gift of content. When I give it I give you time.

Uncompromisingly More. "Christmas comes but once a year," said the medieval philosopher. "Yes," replied Mr. Greaves, "a formula doesn't come over as often as that. But consider how long it takes to get over it."

A Christmas Joke

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

HE was a young bride. Every present she had received was very nice. She had depended on presents to furnish her new home.

When she had received a duplicate which were not intended she hastened to the place from which they had been purchased and picked out other articles of beauty and of household necessity.

Her friends had really been remarkably kind. She had been surprised to find how ready the shops had been about taking back gifts and substituting with others, or in engraving presents, which had not already been engraved. Only one had clung to engraving—the gift had been purchased at "wholesale rates" and so engraving was not included.

Although from the point of view of presents as well as from the point of view of a mate she had done remarkably well. This would enable them to make a very good appearance in their home without having to draw from the none too plentiful savings.

She viewed everything over again one evening, presents and those which were exchanged. There was just one thing among them that was not necessary and not particularly pretty. It was a gray dish. She knew of no particular use to which she could put it—she had one of the kind she really liked.

She could not exchange it. It had a monogram in the center.

"I know what I'll do with it," she said to her husband. "I'll give it to Molly Stevens for a Christmas present. She has been so good to us and I'd like to show her how much I appreciate it."

"You know she is going to get married in the spring—that is her engagement is all but announced."

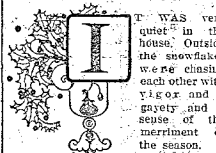

"Don't you think it would be a good idea?" She was so helpful about wedding and she has told me, quite confidentially, that the wedding will be in the spring.

"It would be a good idea to give her

His First Christmas

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

HE WAS very quiet in the house. Outside the snowflakes were falling each other with vigor and a sense of the morrow of the season.

Voices could be heard shouting across streets, wishing others "A Merry Christmas."

Now and again the wind blew loudly, but not shrilly nor harshly nor with a warning sound. The wind, too, seemed to be quivering with happiness. All of nature had joined together to be as beautiful, as radiant, in honor of the day as possible.

The hills were covered with snow. The branches of the trees were laden with it. Icicles hung from eaves and from corners of houses, and windows were frosted with exquisite designs. The shrubs, too, were covered with snow. It looked more like Fairyland than anything else.

In the house they were waiting, waiting, waiting.

How tense and long seemed the wait. How nervous, how frightened, and yet how nervous—if all went well.

But just suppose everything didn't go well? Suppose anything happened?

Ray Clarke paced up and down the floor and wondered how he could have been so happy—so free from nervousness for so long a time.

He hated the great beauty of the outside world. When he heard people wishing each other "Merry Christmas" he almost hated their smiles and their cheerful voices.

How deeply he loved Lillian. She was worth all the Christmas presents in the world! Of course. There were no two ways about that.

And the doctor had said with such a genial, merry twinkle in his eyes: "Well, I fancy the young son and his wife will be a Christmas present from the misus to you."

He had laughed at the time, and Lillian had blushed and smiled and laughed, too. The doctor was such a friendly old soul—he had been the doctor when Lillian had been born. And he was fine, too.

But perhaps he counted too much on Lillian's strength. Ray had been sent out the room and he had been alone here now for so long.

At first he had been so full of high spirits. But the delay had been so strange. They had tried him there would be any such delay. They had simply sent him out of the room and had said that everything was all right, and that they'd come and tell him soon to be back to see his child.

He would go upstairs. He couldn't stand this another moment. And it was so quiet. He had fancied it would not be quiet. Then he heard a strange shrill voice.

How curiously it sounded. Was that Lillian. She must be very ill to have a voice sound so curiously. He never heard it like that.

They couldn't keep him from her. She would want him, too. Of course she would!

He hurriedly ran up the stairs. The doctor was at the top of the stairs. "Wait a moment; not so fast; not so fast," the doctor smiled. "I was coming to tell you."

"Couldn't you have let me come to her? Did you have to wait until it was all over to come and tell me?" Ray said in a husky voice.

"She wanted it to be that way," the doctor said. Still he was smiling. How could he smile at such a time? How hard and inhuman doctors became.

"I don't believe a word of it," he said. "She wanted me, I know. I heard her cry. That was it. You kept me from her. You wouldn't let me go to her and she—she—wanted me."

"My dear Ray, just a minute," the doctor said, but Ray had rushed past him and was in his wife's room. Tears were in his eyes.

Oh, he had never forgiven himself that he had consented to do what the doctor had told him to when suddenly he noticed that Lillian was looking at him, her eyes wide open, smiling happily.

"Did you hear him shout out a 'Merry Christmas' to you, Ray?" she asked.

"It was the baby who cried?" "Not a cry, my love. 'Merry Christmas' was what he said."

"Lillian, my own, my own," he murmured, and bent down over her. And now the tears came freely. They had care of all about them. Nothing mattered. For the tears—they were the tears of joy!

PAINS SO BAD STAYED IN BED

Young Mrs. Becroft Had Miserable Time Until She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Hamilton, Ont.—"I have suffered for three years from a female trouble and consequent weakness, pain and irregularity which kept me in bed four or five days each month. I nearly went crazy with pains in my back, and for about a week at a time I could not do my work. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the Hamilton Spectator and I took it. Now I have no pain and can go to regular work. I overwork or stay on my feet from early morning until late at night. I keep house and do all my own work without any trouble. I have recommended the Compound to several friends."—Mrs. Emily Becroft, 268 Victoria Ave. N., Hamilton, Ontario.

For forty years women have been telling how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored their health when suffering with female ills. This compound is the greatest demand for it from coast to coast. If you are troubled with any ailment peculiar to women, do not fail to get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is made from native roots and herbs and contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. For special advice women are asked to write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. "I'll Give It to Molly Stevens for a Christmas Present."

something for Christmas that she could have for her new home.

"We really can't afford to buy anything thing just now and that will do beautifully."

"But the monogram?" her husband inquired.

"Yes, that's a splendid idea," her husband heartily agreed.

"I'll go down-town and attend to it tomorrow. I haven't much time. Christmas is almost here."

"Our first Christmas," said the young husband as he clasped his bride to him.

"Our first Christmas," she murmured.

The next evening he asked her if she had arranged about sending the gray dish to Molly Stevens.

"I couldn't send it," she said. "Christmas is almost here."

"Why not?" he queried.

"Because of the monogram in the center," she said.

"But you told me that that could be erased by the silversmiths and a new monogram placed there," her husband persisted.

"I know I did," the young bride answered, "but you see they told me today at the shop that it would be possible to do it were it not for the fact that it had been done so often to this gray dish that they wouldn't dare take a chance with it again. They'd not be able to avoid boring a hole this time! It has been given away once too often for me to put to any use," she sighed sadly.

"And I shall just send Molly a Christmas card. After all she did no more than any one else!"

EXPORTING BRAINS

In the reading room of the Halifax Board of Trade are many journals dealing with domestic and foreign commerce.

The wide-awake business man will do well to frequent that reading room, not for amusement, but for greater markets. There one may learn of our export trade, of new fields opening to Nova Scotian enterprise.

But all the trade journals will be read in vain to learn of Nova Scotia's greatest export. Perhaps even Mr. Saunders himself, the wide-awake secretary of the Board of Trade, could not give much data on the chief of our contributions to foreign lands.

The forgotten item of our commerce was brought vividly to the writer's attention in a conversation with President Cullen of Acadia. Though he did not say it in the same words Dr. Cullen intimated that he regarded our premier export as not lumber, potatoes or fish, but rather that all these were secondary to our export of Brains.

Recently I saw a consignment of boxes of apples bound for South Africa.

"That's a long way to send a bluenose apple," exclaimed an on-looker. "Pshaw! We send our Bluenose Brains as far as that again."

On July 8th, 1853, Commodore Perry entered the harbor of Yeddo in Japan. He was supposed to be the first of four American surgeons behind the veil of the Far East.

But no "Bluenose" was there before him. When he landed at Nagasaki, who should he meet walking on the sea wall, but Captain Porter of Yarmouth, who was one of the seven foreigners in shipping business allowed ashore in Japan, before the coming of the Americans.

When Colonel Younghusband entered Thibet he thought of course that he was the "first." But a Judique Highlander from Cape Breton had "beaten him to it" and was there at the gates of Tahassia to give the "glad hand."

Back in 1913 at the time of the Armistice, between the first and second Balkan wars, I stood one day on the Asian shore at Scutari, gazing out into the Marmora.

Heading down the Bosphorus was the Turkish cruiser Hamidiah, flying at the main peak an admiral's flag.

It was a flag of Ransford D. Buckman, formerly of Hall's Harbor Nova Scotia, then admiral of the Turkish Navy. At the sight I dropped my hat and yelled "Hurray for the County of Kings!"

"Not much of a navy," someone objects. Nevertheless it's quite a raise for a barefoot boy from the King's County shores of the Fundy. Lord Rosebery said: "Wherever you see a good thing in the world you'll always see a Scot sitting down right alongside."

A modern rendering will soon be "Wherever you see a good thing you'll always see a Bluenose sitting down alongside."

They're not at all backward when they get abroad these sons of our Maritime Provinces. The other day we had a young man in Halifax selling insurance, named Max Aitken. Rumor has it that he was black-beamed out of a certain club in his humble days. But now to make up for past rebuffs he is known as Lord Beaverbrook, who dines with the King at Buckingham.

In the talk I had with Dr. Cullen he told me of a poor student who came to Acadia from the island, by the name of Jacob Gould Schurman. Afterwards this same student was a professor at Dalhousie, then President of Cornell University, and now he is United States Ambassador to China.

In the language of the Epistle to the Hebrews, "Time would fail me to tell" of our export in brains. When we think of our debt to mine and steel plants we must not forget our greatest debt to the little red school house.

As a reminder a single instance will suffice. In Wallace, Cumberland Co. N. S., two lads, Simon Newcombe and George Stewart sat side by side for lessons in reading writing and arithmetic. Newcombe, before his recent death was acknowledged the foremost American astronomer, American via Nova Scotia.

Dr. George Stewart today in New York City, is reckoned as one of the first four American surgeons; he also is American via Nova Scotia.

The moral of all this is why not keep a little more of our brains for home consumption. Why pour out so freely to the United States that for which we ourselves are sore in need?

Many of these young men have left us because as one expressed it, "We can't live on earth and board in Heaven."

It is a problem for this province in the future not merely to train talent at the red school house, and at the Technical College and at the Universities, but beyond that to find fields of service at home for brains which Nova Scotia can ill afford to lose.—Arthur Hunt Chute.

Christmas

SOUND over all waters, reach out from all lands. The chorus of voices, the clapping of hands. Sing hymns that were sung by the stars of the morn, Sing songs of the angels when Jesus was born.

With glad jubilation Bring hope to the nations! The dark night is ending and dawn has begun.

Rise, hope of the ages, arise like the sun. All speech flows to music, all hearts beat as one!

Sing the bridal of nations, with chorals Sing out the war culture and sing in the dawn.

Till the hearts of the people keep time in accord And the voice of the world is the voice of the Lord!

Clasp hands of the nations In strong gratulation! The dark night is ending and dawn has begun.

Rise, hope of the ages, arise like the sun. All speech flows to music, all hearts beat as one!

Alps, hope of the ages, arise like the sun. All speech flows to music, all hearts beat as one!

East, west, north and south, let the long song of glory to God, peace to men of good will! Hark, joining in chorus. The dark night is ending and dawn has begun.

Rise, hope of the ages, arise like the sun. All speech flows to music, all hearts beat as one! —John Greenleaf Whittier.

And the Postman Passed the House

By MARY GRAMHAM DOBIE

Copyright, 1921, Western Newspaper Union

IT WAS Christmas morning. Old Hiram Palmer sat by the window waiting for the postman. Christmas was his favorite time. He had seen, from the window, groups of people passing from time to time, hurrying, smiling, such gay, happy people.

Hiram was old, too old. He had outlived his friends, his immediate family, his day had long since gone by. He had given generously to hospitals and charitable institutions and a number of personal presents. He always, for example, sent some of the best baskets of fruit the town's leading shop arranged as attractively, to those he knew would never buy themselves such delicacies.

The last Christmas he had only received two presents. One from his nephew out West and another from a grandchild.

He was waiting for these now. The postman came along the street. Eagerly old Hiram waited. And then he got up and went to the door.

But the postman had passed. "You sure you have nothing for me?" he called out. "Look more carefully. I was expecting some packages."

The postman looked again. "I'm sorry, Mr. Palmer, but there is nothing here."

Slowly Hiram went back into the lonely little house. He had lived too long.

For his nephew had said: "I guess I won't bother about Uncle Hiram this year. It's a nuisance to shop, and anyway he can't do his share about a necktie? He can buy all his wants."

And his grandchild had said: "I've got to cut down my Christmas list. It's so long."

And she had run her pencil through her grandfather's name.

For she had said: "Christmas is for young people. He's too old to care about presents and a handkerchief or two which I might send him."

Christmas best thing to give to your enemy is forgiveness; to an opponent, tolerance; to a friend, your heart; to your child, a good example; to a father, deference; to a mother, conduct that will make her proud of you; to yourself, respect; to all men, charity.—F. M. Bainford.

Ironing Board Cover. Cut and hem a piece of unbleached muslin, about four inches wider and longer than your ironing board, so that it laps over about two inches under the board. Then crocheted an edge of six chain and fasten, and so on until you have edged the entire piece. Lay the cloth on the board, turn over and place it with a stout cord or tape, the same as you would lace a shoe—using, however, only about every fourth loop. The cover can be easily removed and washed.

Good Christian people, waken up And hasten all to bring Cold, frankincense and myrra to lay Before the new-born king.

Christmas Gifts. "THE best thing to give to your enemy is forgiveness; to an opponent, tolerance; to a friend, your heart; to your child, a good example; to a father, deference; to a mother, conduct that will make her proud of you; to yourself, respect; to all men, charity.—F. M. Bainford.

Merely Postponed. Frank: So you didn't manage to catch Ethel under the mistletoe? Jack: That's just right. I'm going to tell her for a sleigh-ride tonight.

The Indian's Vigil. In a book of sketches of upper Canada, a pretty incident is cited of the writer meeting an Indian at midnight, on Christmas Eve, during a beautiful moonlight, cautiously creeping along, and beseeching him to stay.

In answer to an inquiry the Indian said: "We wish to see the deer knee; this is Christmas night, and all the deer have taken their knees to the Great Spirit and look up."

The Shepherds all rejoiced to hear The Christmas Angels' song. Their flocks lay, lost in stupid sleep, And humpered all night long.

YULETIDE IN THE COUNTRY

Christmas Day in the Old Farm Home recalls Fond and Pleasant Recollections.

CHRISTMAS in the country. Christmas day in the old farm home. What pleasant memories it recalls to some of us, and what good times it will mean for many of us this year.

There is really no place like the farm home for Christmas. Good times and jollity and good cheer. Here, if anywhere, prosperity and plenty abound, and in family gathering and in neighborhood reunions, with an abundance of the fruits of our labor with which to spread our bountiful boards, old friendships may be renewed, new ones made, and even the stranger within our gates may be added to the list.

At Christmas time we may put into practice the real principles of neighboring. Living close together does not always make neighbors. Speaking acquaintance and the neighborly spirit of neighborliness in our hearts which prompts us to get together once in a while, to gather around a well-laden table, and feast, and visit, and laugh and joke and have a rousing good time. To love our neighbor as we do ourselves, we have to know him pretty well; and there is nothing like these neighborly reunions as a means of getting acquainted.

It may be that some of us will have to do a little mental and spiritual housecleaning before "Christmas" day dawns. We shall have to rid ourselves of all the old rubbish of grudges, dislikes, jealousies and ill feelings which we will find piled up all over when we begin to explain the accumulation of the years. You will have to throw all this into the discard before you can get into the real Christmas spirit, because before "Christmas" day, if you have wronged your neighbor in any way, Christmas is a good time to make reparation. And if you feel that you have been wronged, why not get it, and the Christmas spirit and the Christmas "get-together" will do the rest.

Christmas should be a time of peace and good will to all mankind, not a time for favored friends. It should be a time of reviving old associations, of renewing old friendships, and of making new friends, and the peace and good will, the love, the brotherhood and good fellowship thus revived should not be allowed to die out as the yule fire comes to burn, but should flow out in a plentiful stream to enrich and brighten all the days of the coming year.

A Christmas Sermon. TO BE honest, to be kind—to earn a little and spend a little less, to make upon the whole a family happier, his presence, to renounce when that shall be necessary and not be embittered, to keep a few friends but these without capitulation—these are the same grim conditions, to keep friends with himself—here is a task for all that a man has of fortitude and desire. He has an ambitious soul who would ask more; he has a hopeful spirit who should look on such an enterprise to be successful. There is indeed one element in human destiny that not blindness itself can controvert; whatever else we are intended to do, we are not intended to succeed; failure is the fate allotted. It is so in every art and study. It is so above all the edifying art of living well. Here is a pleasant thought for the heart's end or for the end of life. Only self-deception will be satisfied, and there need be no despair for the despairer.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

Cookie Recipe. One and one-half cups of sugar, one-half cup of butter, cream. Add three eggs well beaten, three cups of flour, one teaspoonful of soda in a tablespoonful of water, one pound of dates cut in small pieces, three-quarters pound of shelled walnuts (one and a half pounds in shells), one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one-half teaspoonful of allspice. Beat the nuts in large pieces and cut the dates about the size of raisins. Drop this stuff dough from a spoon on buttered tins in the size of walnuts. Bake in a slow oven.

IN DOUBT. Wife: This year just tell me just what you are going to give me for Christmas. Hubby: But how do I know what you have decided upon?

Christmas in the Shetlands. In the Shetland Islands they celebrate an old Christmas Eve, January 2, and on that occasion the young men and children go "outing." The children disguise themselves in strange dresses, parade the streets and invade the houses and shops begging for offerings. At one o'clock the young men, carrying clubs, drug bling in barrels through the town, blowing horns and cheering. At six o'clock in the morning they put off their grimy clothes and dressed in fantastic costumes go in groups to wish their friends the season's compliments.

Will you, like the three wise men did, Bring gifts to Christ the Lord, Or, like King Herod, will you hail His coming with a sword.

WITH THE CHRISTMAS PLANTS

Trees and Flowers are Believed to Own Peculiarities to Connection With Jesus.

THE legend of the Glastonbury Thorn is that after the death of Jesus, a rose from the Arundine came over to England. Shortly before Christmas, he laid on the summit of Wearyall hill, Glastonbury. There he thrust into the ground his staff, and on Christmas eve it was found to be covered with white blossoms. This bush is said to have been the first of this such Christmas tree until during the civil wars, when it was cut down. Cuttings from the original thorn are said to bloom in this same wonderful way every year.

The Silician children put penury, in their coats on Christmas eve, believing that at the exact hour and minute when Jesus was born it will blossom.

There is a cherished legend in the East that the Rose of Jericho first blossomed at the birth of Jesus, closed at the crucifixion, and opened again at Easter, from which comes its name of Resurrection flower.

Many plants, trees and flowers are believed to owe their peculiarities to the crucifixion, and the childhood of Jesus. "The Star of Bethlehem" is so called, because it white starlike flowers resemble the pieces of the Star of the East.

"Our Lady's Belt" is named in name because it was believed that the mangle in which the Babe lay was filled with this plant.

An old account tells the story in this manner: "The broom and the chick-pens began to rustle and crackle, and by this noise betrayed the fugitives. The flax bristled up. Happily for her, Mary was heard a jumper; the hostile tree ground its branches against the brooms and the chick-pens, and even since that day they have always rustled and crackled. But later the Virgin pardoned the fox its weakness and gave the jumper a blessing, which is said to account for the use of the jumper as Christmas decorations in some countries."

Adeste Fideles. THIS well-known and great-ly loved Christmas carol was known at Benediction at Christmascide in France and England since the close of the eighteenth century. It was sung at the Portuguese legation in London as early as 1707. The most popular musical setting was ascribed by Vincent Novello, organist there, to John Reading, who was organist at Winchester cathedral from 1775-81, and later at Winchester college. The hymn itself has been attributed to St. Bonaventura, but is not found among his works. It is probably of French or German authorship. It invites all the faithful to come to Bethlehem to worship the new-born Savior.—Catholic Encyclopedia.

Roast Pig. Have your butcher prepare the pig for roasting and lay him in cold water for fifteen minutes. Dry him inside and out with a soft cloth. Make a stuffing of bread crumbs, seasoned to taste with salt, pepper, parsley, sweet marjoram and thyme; moisten with butter, and work into the dressing the beaten eggs. Stuff the pig so that he will hold his original size and shape, and after sewing him up bend his fore legs backward and his hind legs forward under him. Skewer or tie him in this attitude and after dredging him well with flour put him, with a little water, in a covered roaster. Roast for an hour and a half before removing the cover, then rub him well with butter, baste him with the gravy in the pan and roast half an hour longer, basting twice during that time. Apple sauce should be served with him, lemon should be in his mouth, cranberries in his eye sockets.—The Dallas Editor.

Last Week In The Maritime Provinces

The station building at Newcastle Bridge, on the Fredericton and Grand Lake Railway, was destroyed by fire on Wednesday, with all its contents. An adjoining shed and some household furniture belonging to the station master which was stored in it, also, were destroyed.

At the postponed annual meeting of the Fredericton Park Association, which was held Tuesday evening, the board of directors who served during the past year were re-elected, and Alonzo Staples, a veteran horseman, was named as honorary president. The resignation of J. D. Black as secretary, because of ill-health, was announced, and George E. Howie is acting secretary. The transfer of the interests of the association in the Fredericton Park property to the Fredericton Exhibition, was endorsed and the directors were authorized to make any arrangements considered advisable for representation of the association in the joint management of the exhibition and the track in the future.

That a compromise agreement will be the outcome of the Montreal conference between the Nova Scotia coal operators and the United Miners, on rates of pay and working conditions, seems to be the prevailing impression in the Cape Breton coal fields. There are, of course, a considerable number of the United Mine Workers who are opposed to any wage cut whatever, and would insist upon the renewal of the Montreal agreement, and go to any length to enforce their demands. On the other hand, there has been much unemployment and the general impression seems to be that, if President Baxter and his officers succeeded in negotiating a new schedule at a reasonable wage rate, there will be little opposition, particularly if the lower rate is accompanied by a guarantee of steady employment at the mines.

Sydney Methodists do not want women in the pulpit. Both the local congregations have voted decisively against the proposal to allow women to enter the ministry of the Methodist church in Canada upon which a nation-wide referendum of Methodists is now being taken. Rev. C. E. Crowell, pastor of George street church, and president of the Nova Scotia Conference, admitted today that his people went strongly against women ministers, but would not give the exact figures. Rev. Ernest Baines, pastor of Victoria Road church, said that the result in his congregation was practically the same.

After a delay of twelve years the sum of $5,000 has just been awarded by the United States courts to the estate of the late Captain J. W. Peppert, of North Sydney, for damages in connection with the holding up of the schooner Pescheva in the Behring Sea by an American fisheries cruiser in 1909. Notice of the award has been received by Mrs. Bolling, daughter of Captain Peppert. Two other British schooners interfered with at the same time have received similar awards, the long reel of Anglo-American red tape having come to an end at last. The schooners were not seized out-right in 1909, but their owners claimed compensation for delay resulting from their temporary restraint.

A large shipment of fur-bearing animals was made by the Hannington Ranch, at Dorchester, N. B., on Saturday to England. This ranch was started about a week ago promoted by C. Lionel Hannington of England, and managed by Henry C. Hannington, late of British Columbia. A large sum of money is invested and it is expected that an extensive business will be carried on in raising animals and shipping them alive to England. H. C. Hannington will spend the winter in Dorchester, and will probably settle there in the spring.

The directors of the Royal Bank of Canada, at their regular meeting Friday elected William Anderson Black, of Halifax, a director of the bank to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mr. Justice T. Sherman Rogers, following the appointment of the latter to the bench of the supreme court of Nova Scotia. Mr. Black is a prominent citizen of Halifax and is well known favorably known in eastern Canada. He is president of Pickford & Black, Limited, steamship agents and owners, and a director of a number of local corporations.

In the Supreme Court, Chancery Division, before Judge Grimmer, at Moncton, on Wednesday, a settlement was reached in the case of Warren Duffy and Thomas McCarthy versus William Watson. This was an action brought against the defendant for an accounting of an alleged partnership extending from May, 1919, to June, 1921. James Friel, K. C., Moncton, appeared for the plaintiffs; M. G. Teed, K. C., St. John, and E. Albert Reilly, K. C., Moncton, for the defendant. The settlement reached, it was reported, was almost equal to the sum for which plaintiffs had entered suit for. Costs, it was said, were ordered paid by defendant.

The branch of the Self-Determination League for Ireland; Fredericton, met Tuesday evening. After the transaction of business a programme of Irish songs and choruses was carried out in which Mrs. Colby, Rev. M. P. Howland, Frank Foster, Vincent Boyle, and Gregory Feeney took part. Father Howland, Rev. J. Henry Milligan and Gregory Feeney gave short addresses on the settlement of the trouble in Ireland, which had existed for so many years, and expressed their gratitude and the gratitude of all present, that Ireland had at last come into her own. They also expressed satisfaction at the action of the bishops of Ireland, and earnestly hoped and prayed that the Dail Eireann would accept the peace terms.

Hiram Underhill, Blackville, N. B., was the victim of a fatal accident at Maple Drive, while engaged in cutting lumber for James Forbes, of Nashwaak Village. He was hit by the limb of a falling tree. He was about thirty-three years of age and is survived by a widow and two small children.

More equitable distribution of mining operations in the coal fields of Cape Breton was urged before the Provincial Government, Thursday when Messrs. Foreman Way, D. W. Morrison and Joseph Steel, members of the House of Assembly from Cape Breton County, waited upon Premier Murray and a committee of the Government. Premier Murray promised that the Government should give the matter the closest attention. It seems that at present the Cape Breton Company has been concentrating operations at two or three mines, and the communities which have grown up around other mining areas are suffering from the complete closing down of the mines in those districts.

Financing for Clarke Brothers, Ltd., of Bear River, is being arranged following the recent consolidation of the lumber, pulp, paper and similar interests of the company. At the time of the amalgamation $1,500,000 of bonds were issued to redeem the bonds of the two original companies and $500,000 of the bonds, which mature in 1936, remained in the treasury. A portion of this latter block has now been disposed of in New York.

Considerable interest in mining circles has been caused by the discovery of a six-foot seam of high grade coal on the Anglo Coal Company's property at New Campbellton. The seam crops on a hill and is said to have great possibilities. J. C. Douglas, ex-M. P., owner of the Anglo mine has a gang of men at work developing the new discovery.

The meeting of the executive of the New Brunswick Temperance Alliance held at Fredericton on Saturday was concluded late in the afternoon. Rev. W. D. Wilson, field secretary, left for Minto in the evening. The meeting was for the purpose of considering possible action in the prohibition act, the executive having heard a report that it was possible that an attempt would be made to introduce a system of government sale of liquor similar to that in British Columbia and Quebec. The alliance will resist such an attempt.

The Chief's Dismissal

We have never in our experience with town councils—an experience which has extended over many years—heard of an act more unpopular or which came in for more condemnation than that of our Council this week in dismissing Boyd Bishop as chief of police without notice and as far as we can see without reason. The town has for years been very quiet and orderly. Criminal offences are very few, and those with which the chief has had to do have been done quietly and without any flourish. The civil work of the town has been properly carried out and there can be no complaints with the chief on that score. It is possible a little more aggressiveness could have been shown in violations of the Canada Temperance Act but in that respect Digby is much better off than the majority of towns in our province. And we all know the local conditions and how difficult it is to secure evidence sufficient to convict. We are of the opinion that Bishop has had the rawest kind of a deal and that the electors of the town will show the council that they were wrong when the first Tuesday in February rolls around.

CRUELTY AT TIVERTON

A letter received from Tiverton by C. A. Jordan, the local agent of the S. P. C. A., reveals a startling state of affairs there. The complaint first started out by drawing attention to the prevalent use of the sheep-poke in that locality. The sheep-poke is a device used out around the animal's neck to keep them from straying into cultivated fields and gardens in growing time, but which is absolutely not for them at this time of the year and it renders the animal peculiarly liable to accidents, one of which got into the rocks and starved to death and another fell off a boat's head and broke its neck. Another case is referred to where some sheep had to be shot to get them out of their misery. During the summer a number of boys caught some pigeons and cut off their wings so they were not able to fly starved to death. Two other boys skinned a live frog and threw them out at arm's length without letting go, thus pulling the fur right out of their backs. The letter which contains several names of the worst offenders will be sent to the provincial authorities at Halifax for advice how to proceed.

If the Irish problem has not been brought to a settlement, people in this country are not likely to forget that a Canadian, in the person of Sir Hamar Greenwood, has had a good deal to do with it.

We have been asked what position the police took on the matter of the week. As we were not present we cannot say definitely except that he was opposed to the present appointment. As preceding officer he could not take part in the decision but he did suggest that if Mr. Bishop's services were dispensed with, he be paid until the end of the town year, which suggestion was afterwards carried out.

While coming up the Yarmouth harbor something went wrong with the steering gear of the Government steamer Laurent, and as a result she ran into the schooner Lewis B. Snow, which was lying at Clement's wharf, striking the vessel fairly astern and making a bad hole which will necessitate practically rebuilding the schooner's stern. The approximate cost to repair the vessel is placed at $1,000. The Lewis B. Snow is one of Mayor Walker's fishing fleet and was ready to leave for the fishing grounds.

It is astonishing how quickly Tantalus will produce results. You usually feel better from the very first dose. P. W. Holdsworth.

Salt Saved Thirsty Crop

The following letter from J. Milligan & Sons, farmers at Union Centre, Pictou County speaks for itself:

"It will no doubt interest you to know that we used 400 lbs. of your Salt, sown broadcast (before drilling) on about an acre of turnips, which, in spite of the extra dry season, turned out an extra crop. A fifty bushel sample of these can be seen at M. M. Rhinds in New Glasgow."

"All other crops, grain and potatoes, were a failure owing to the droughty season and I have no hesitation in stating that but for the Salt used our turnips would have proved a like failure."

AN INQUIRY

To the Editor of the Courier:—A little over a year ago when the present mayor and councillors were elected to office, was when the citizens of Digby were brought to the general realization of a condition they little thought existed in the town—I speak of the complete exhaustion of Digby's brains and ability. And it seems that condition still exists if we would judge by the appointments being made to town affairs.

Is a worse school system accountable for the lack of ability that bars the long suffering taxpayer? Or is it a lack of trust on the part of the Mayor or Council in the genuine Digby?

Digby, Dec. 22

The afternoons reached their shortest Wednesday last and today the sun sets three minutes later and by the end of the year the afternoons will be 15 minutes longer. The mornings will continue to grow shorter until the end of the year; the sun rising three minutes later.

Know Canada Contest

Two Thousand Dollars in Prizes

Open to Every Reader of The Weekly Courier

The contest consists of fifty rebus pictures representing fifty Post Offices in Canada. Begin today with Nos. 33 to 36—those previously published may be had free on application to this office.

The contest is conducted by The Weekly Courier of Digby, and the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal. A year's subscription to both papers at regular rates would cost $4.00. We offer them for one year each for only $3.00. Can you solve these four rebus pictures.

The above four pictures may look easy but a mistake can be made. Competitors will find the list of Post Offices from which the pictures are selected a great help. See 2nd item of terms of contest.

Terms of Contest

The contest is open to any member of a family, one of whose members is a subscriber to either The Weekly Courier or The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal.

A list of approximately 2,000 Post Offices in Canada from which the fifty rebus pictures will be selected will be sent free to any contestant, who, before December 1st, 1921, sends one new subscriber to either The Weekly Courier or The Family Herald and Weekly Star. It will also contain a blank form on which to fill in your answers and hints to help you arrive at the correct answers. A self-addressed stamped envelope should be sent with the new subscription for the return of the printed list.

One NEW subscriber to either The Weekly Courier or The Family Herald and Weekly Star sent in by a competitor will take the place of one incorrect answer in the competition, thus 49 correct answers and one NEW subscriber will count as 50 correct answers or 50 points.

Two NEW subscribers to either paper will take the place of two incorrect answers, thus 48 correct answers and two new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Three NEW subscribers to either paper will take the place of three incorrect answers, thus 47 correct answers and three new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Four NEW subscribers to either paper will take the place of four incorrect answers, thus 46 correct answers and four new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Five NEW subscribers to either paper will take place of five incorrect answers, thus 45 correct answers and five new subscribers will count as 50 correct answers.

Five NEW subscribers to either paper will be the limit to be credited in the competition. This places all contestants on an equal footing.

Fifty correct answers and five NEW subscriptions to either paper will be the highest points obtainable.

Four pictures will be published each week simultaneously in the Weekly Courier and The Family Herald and Weekly Star. Answers MUST NOT be sent in until the 50 drawings have appeared in both papers. Ample notice will be given.

In case of a tie the prizes will be divided. For instance, if there are three who have earned say 54 points and no one has obtained the maximum of 55, the first three prizes totalling $850, would be divided amongst them.

The decision of the Editor of The Family Herald will be final.

No employees of The Weekly Courier or The Family Herald are allowed to compete.

Contest will begin early in October. See that your subscription to The Weekly Courier and The Family Herald is paid well in advance and prevent losing a single issue. Back numbers cannot be supplied.

New subscribers may enter the contest by complying with the above conditions.

Address—The Weekly Courier, Digby

TOWN COUNCIL

Quite a sensation was sprung in town this week when it became known that Boyd Bishop, who has been chief of police for this town for some years, had been retired from the job and Corneilus Hatfield, of Yarmouth (late chief of police of Mahone) substituted. There seems to be no reason for it as no charges have been entered against Bishop and he has not been called upon to give any explanation for anything in the way of wrong doing. On the face of it it looks like an automatic act of an automatic council.

The regular monthly meeting of the town council was held last Monday evening, a week earlier than it should have been on account of the fact that next Monday is a statutory holiday. The mayor and all the council were present. The reports of the Superintendent of streets and water were read and approved as follows:

To the Mayor and Council:

The windows in the Pavilion have been boarded up. Also the windows in the Spavil's houses on Victoria St.

Have made 2 cross drains across the Shore Road, one near Mrs. Bryant's and the other one near Mrs. Annie Roaches house, and made some repairs to breast work near "Red Raven".

Supplied the S. S. Keyingham with water this being supplied from the hydrant through the hose.

Dug up main gate near S. Titus meat market, and repaired leak in it. Dug up 2 water services, one at Maritime Fish Corporation Office, repaired same and put back. The other G. A. Vye's residence Sydney St., this one we had to put in a new. Corporation took up a hydrant at corner of Maiden Lane and Prince William St., which was leaking badly replaced it with a new one, and will have the old one repaired for emergency.

Yours obediently,

W. W. HAYDEN,

Supt. of Streets and Water.

Digby, Oct. 17th, 1921.

To the Mayor and Gentlemen of the Council:

The contract let to Mr. Rolland Wornell to construct breast work near C. Jameson's residence has been completed. I have inspected the same, and find the work well done. The material is of rock and stone, put together with cement, thus making a permanent job.

The measurements are 65 ft. in length, height from the foundation up 8 ft. 2 in.

Yours obediently,

W. W. HAYDEN,

Supt. of streets.

But the love of a man, I never do court.
He's a savage, a brute, a blood thirsty clout,

WILL RULE OF ROAD BE CHANGED?

All Maritime Province Legislatures to Consider Matter This Winter.—British Columbia Falls in Line on January First.—Many Good Reasons for Reform.

In the three Maritime Province local legislatures, the matter of "changing the rule of the road" is to be taken up this winter, and discussed, with the object of bringing about the change, the same to come into effect in all the provinces at a date to be agreed upon.

Practically all the other provinces of the Dominion have already fallen in line. On the first of January at 6 o'clock, in the morning, British Columbia will adopt the drive-to-the-right rule of the road, leaving the Maritime Provinces the only section of Canada following the old world plan of driving to the left. The change is made, as it should be made in Nova Scotia, in the interest of public safety. Each succeeding season brings a number of accidents, the direct result of lack of knowledge or failure to remember that the rule of the road here is not the rule in the United States, in Quebec, in Ontario. That we follow a different rule means no different rule of the road, but a source of confusion and danger to the automobile brought so many strangers on our roads, that the danger menace has become very real and very serious. To reduce to the limit the danger which might result from local failure to observe the new rule, the British Columbia government has adopted a number of practical suggestions put forward by the Vancouver Automobile Club. The government will provide auto windshield stickers in the form of an arrow, with the words, "Keep to the right." Signs with the same legend for the back of motors will also be provided and given every traffic officer, with authority to place these upon motors which lack them. In addition, the government is having new road signs made bearing the legend, "Keep to the Right" which will be put into place on all provincial highways between midnight and six a. m. January 1. Large banners bearing the same caution will be strung across the principal streets of the cities and towns, and street cars will carry both front and rear signs of the same effect. As a further precaution, the Automobile Club will notify all its members of the change. The Maritime Provinces should follow the British Columbia example and inaugurate the keep-to-the-right plan for street traffic as a measure of public safety, made practically imperative because of the increasing number of foreign cars which come here, and because the general run of cars are equipped for that plan of street traffic. The separation of the two drivers by the full width of their cars constitutes a measure of danger.

Questions and Answers on Forestry

by the Canadian Forestry Association

Q. If Canada is so concerned in forest conservation, and the timber supply is rapidly decreasing, why not stop the cutting of Christmas trees?

A. Because the Christmas tree custom is too beautiful and too well established to be interfered with. All the Christmas trees cut in Canada every year would only represent a few square miles of forest, and in comparison with the forest fires of just a single province in any one year, are of infinitesimal account. Most Christmas trees are cut by farmers from lands they use as pasture, and it means a handy source of revenue for many a worthy family. Let's be reasonable about tree cutting. Don't let us disturb the joys of Christmas until we have done more to block the ravages of the real tree destroyer, the fire fiend.

Q. Is it possible to cut a spruce or balsam, to secure a good Christmas tree without killing the parent tree's growth?

A. Quite easy. Cut the tree off just above the lowest whorl of branches and then trim off all except one of the remaining branches except one. The latter will grow erect rapidly and gradually establish itself as the main tree trunk. In this way a plantation of spruces can be kept producing Christmas trees indefinitely. The plan is in effect in several parts of the United States.

Q. How far apart should trees be planted to form a shelter belt about a farm or school property?

A. Four feet apart each way. This will give you a dense shade in a few years sufficient to kill out the grass underneath. If planting in districts where there is abundance of moisture you can afford to space the trees farther apart.

Q. What is the value of the maple sugar and syrup crop in Ontario and Quebec per annum?

A. You will be surprised to know that it goes up to eight million dollars a year. Most of this is credited to Quebec.

Q. I am a Manitoba farmer. Is there any arrangement whereby I can get free trees for farm planting?

A. Yes. Write Tree Planting Division, Indian Head, Sask. and you will get full particulars.

Q. I put on roof of wooden shingles do I have more insurance to pay?

A. As you are an Ontario man you can lay asbestos paper underneath your shingles and get the same rate as a slate roof. The reason regarding inflammability of wooden shingle roofs is due to the use of poor cheap grades of shingles that curl at the edges. Really high grade wooden shingles are a minor fire menace.

Last Week In The Maritime Provinces

At Newcastle, Millet Stewart, who had been on trial on the charge of murdering James Ross on the night of August 2, was Thursday found guilty of manslaughter. The prisoner was remanded for sentence.

The Norwegian schooner Alda, which sailed out of Chatham on Dec. 6th, and had to put back into the river on account of a leak, was badly damaged by the ice at Burnt Church last week. Port Warden M. Goggin, Harbor Master Wals and G. McEachern, with the insurance company's inspector, looked over the vessel on Thursday and from their report it is probable that the vessel will be a total loss.

Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Wetmore, Lower Cobequid, Albert Co., announce the engagement of their daughter, Marjorie Spenser, to Charles Tower Perry, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Perry, Maple Ave., Sussex.

Mrs. Sarah Miller, the 85-year-old widow of Captain Charles Miller of Miller's Creek, Hants County, was found frozen to death on the road a mile and a half from Poplar Grove early Thursday. Starting out in zero weather from the house of Herbert Storey, Brooklands, at about five o'clock the afternoon before, Mrs. Miller left apparently to visit friends at Mar-look but as Marlook is in the opposite direction from where her body was found it is surmised that she must have lost her way, and perhaps exhausted lay down on the roadside.

Loaded to the water line with whiskey and alcohol, the Gloucester schooner Motor, Captain A. W. Schultze, of Gloucester (Mass.) sailed from St. John for Settlement Point, Bahamas Islands. The little vessel had on board ninety-two cases of alcohol, valued at $8,445.45, and 365 cases of whiskey, valued at $15,855.85, shipped by the Consolidated Distilleries, Ltd., of Belleville (Ont.) This vessel, when she arrived in St. John on December 5, failed to report promptly to the customs authorities and, in consequence, was detained. She was released later on the payment of a fine of $40 and orders were given that she would be allowed to clear, but without a cargo. Later permission was given for her to clear with her cargo, as the shippers of the consignment had put up at Ottawa a bond for double the amount of the duty.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Dysart of the Manitoba Court of King's Bench, arrived in Moncton from Winnipeg, to spend Christmas at his former home in Cocagne, Kent County. The Canadian West apparently agrees with Judge Dysart, and his many friends are pleased to see him and avail themselves of the opportunity of congratulating him on his success. Judge Dysart is a brother of the Hon. A. A. Dysart, of Buctouche.

Like Halifax, Sydney is having raised bank notes to contend with. The first local detection of a "phony" note there was made by the teller in a bank on Tuesday, when a colored man belonging to Whitney Pier attempted to deposit a $50 note to his saving account. The bill was a Bank of Toronto five dollar note raised to $50, and it was only after a close examination, conducted some time after the deposit has been made that its bogus nature was determined. It is thought that the counterfeit was made by removing the old lettering with an acid preparation and substituting the figures '50' and the letters 'fifty'.

The former Belgian Relief ship Ino, which was in collision with the Mont Blanc in the Halifax Narrows on the morning of December 6th, 1917, has come to grief. As the Guvernoren, which was the name given her following the disaster, the Ino was totally wrecked after striking a rock off the East Falkland Islands early this month and it is a strange coincidence that the Ino should come to grief on the same date four years after the Halifax disaster. The ship was acting as a mother ship of an ailing expedition at the time she was lost. The Guvernoren was under the Norwegian flag and left Sandefjord on October 26th, for the South Shetland Islands. She arrived at Montevideo and sailed from there on November 24th.

Mrs. W. H. Vanwart, Fredericton, fell on an icy sidewalk near her home on Wednesday afternoon and fractured her wrist. Mrs. Vanwart was resting quite comfortably next day.

At Marysville, Claude O'Donnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. O'Donnell, on Wednesday afternoon started out on a Christmas tree, and while on his way he slipped and fell upon the blade of a sharp axe, inflicting a bad cut in his leg. Medical aid was summoned and the injury attended to.

WHAT A GOOD BAND MEANS TO A TOWN

It is One of the Most Useful Things a Town or Community Can Possess.—Digby Should Have One and Now is the Time to Organize.

"In time of peace prepare for war." Digby should have a good band next summer—one that could give public concerts, at which our citizens might be able to make the summer more enjoyable, as is done in other towns, by community chorus singing.

But if we are going to have a good band next summer, we cannot put off until then to organize one. It must be done soon, so that the winter months can be taken advantage of for practice.

In speaking about bands, and town bands in particular, we sometimes hear people carelessly say, "What good is a band in a town anyway?" Well, first take inventory of the fellow who makes the remark. You may have reason to allow the silly question to go unanswered. But regarding the remark more seriously, let us say that a good band is one of the most useful things a town or community can possess. It is one of the best advertisements a town can have. Emerson says something about the world making a beaten path. Well, a good band will make all the roads leading to the town beaten paths, even though the town's other attractions be not enormous, every merchant is benefited by a good band. Many people come to town to attend the entertainments, and they combine shopping with this pleasure. The promoters of business and musical enterprises always have the satisfaction of knowing that their civic demonstrations from time to time will be successful, because they will be successful, because they will have a first-class band to lead the parade and attract the crowd. A band composed of able players is a tower of strength to any town or section of country. It cultivates the public ear to a high class of music, and does it right at your door, too. Every enterprising citizen will boost the band.

During the holidays everyone is busy preparing for a visit from "Santa Claus", but after the Yuletide season, let everybody boost the band.

NEW CANADIAN STAMPS ISSUED

May be Used for Printed Matter Only.

(Montreal Gazette.)

Philatelists may now add to their collections two new Canadian stamps, one an orange tinted one cent impression printed on postal cards and envelopes. The present issues of one cent stamps and two cent stamps are tinted respectively green and red. In order to provide for stamps which may be used for printed matter only, the new tints have been prepared and are now being issued. The printed matter referred to consists of postal cards or printed enclosures which bear no handwriting. Such matter submitted must bear the new stamps of either an orange one cent or a green two cent printed impression.

In connection with the rush of Christmas mail to the English Isles it has been noted that a considerable number of letters have been placed in the collection boxes with stamps at the old rate. Formerly a letter could be despatched within the British Commonwealth for two cents. After the outbreak of war an additional cent was required by way of war tax. Since October first it has been necessary to place four cent postage on letters directed to places in the British Isles and all other places within the Empire. Postmasters had been advised that slips bearing this information were to be distributed to all householders, but evidently the slips were not issued in sufficient numbers, as the last issue of the Post Office Weekly Bulletin contains a paragraph drawing to the attention of postmasters the fact that numbers of letters have been received bearing postage at the old rates.

Letters addressed to points in Canada, the United States, Mexico or Mexico may be forwarded for three cents for the first ounce and two cents for each additional ounce. Places in the British Isles, and within the Empire, require postage of four cents for the first ounce and three cents for each additional ounce. Elsewhere requires ten cents for the first ounce and five cents for each additional one.

Postal cards for points in Canada, the United States, Mexico and the British Empire may be forwarded for two cents but to places outside these countries the charge is six cents.

The Christmas dinner of the Scandinavians is a very solid one. All kinds of sausage is prepared. Another traditional dish is Butskif, and for supper Christmas pudding, containing a sweet almond and a bitter one. The person who gets the sweet almond will soon be married, but the bitter almond indicates the contrary result.

It is terribly unlucky to cut berries holly from the hedge or trees of a churchyard, according to an old belief. The cutter, strangely enough, is threatened with nothing worse than sores on his fingers, but within a year and a day there will be a funeral at the house in which the holly was used.

The first Christmas pantomime was produced at Drury Lane Theatre in 1702.

You Just Try NR For That Indigestion

One Day's Test Proves NR Best

The stomach only partly digests the food we eat. The process is finished in the intestines where the food is made into blood. If the process is not finished, the food is not properly assimilated. It must be plain to any sensible person who realizes this, that the stomach, liver and bowels must work in harmony if digestive troubles are to be avoided, or even cured. This fact also explains why sufferers from indigestion, and all the ailments and complications that follow, should take NR.

and just see how much better you feel. And see how quickly your stomach and bowels become as regular as clockwork. In only five days, you will feel clear up and your good, old-time appetite will be restored. Your food will digest and how you feel. Your entire satisfaction.

NR is a real risk taker for Nature's Remedy (NR) tablets. It is only five days, and you will feel clear up and your good, old-time appetite will be restored. Your food will digest and how you feel. Your entire satisfaction.

Auto Storage Battery

Care in Winter

When you lay up your car for the winter bring your battery here to be stored till you need it. The additional security and convenience of leaving this battery care to the Service Station far outweighs the moderate expense. Willard Service Stations are responsible to over three and a half million battery owners for winter storage, and your battery is too valuable to be put in the hands of any but an expert.

Dry Storage

is recommended for all batteries with wood insulation which have given a summer's service. The plates will be disassembled, cured and carefully stored in a dry place. In the spring, new insulation and acid is put in, the battery resealed, charged, and given a coat of acid proof paint. With wood insulation, of the above age, this is the only method by which you can be sure that your battery is in a serviceable condition in the spring. Willard Threaded Rubber Insulation should always be stored wet.

Wet Storage

means that your battery will be kept filled with Distilled Water and charged at regular intervals, at the correct rate, to keep the plates in a healthy condition. We recommend this storage for all Rubber Insulated and batteries with wood insulation in service three or four months. If we have not mailed you the Willard booklet, "Battery Care in Winter", ask for it.

Our profit sharing Winter Storage plan is worth hearing. Let us tell it to you.

Good Times Just Ahead

Prosperity is within our reach in Canada. All we need to have and to hold it is a sane, sure grasp on its simple elements. They are Industry, Integrity, and Faith. These are the Cardinal Virtues of human relations. They are the underpinnings of healthy natural business life and the foundation of a wholesome system. They are the fountain head from which Progress springs. Your purchases are an expression of Faith. They are evidence of your Industry. Buying is the backbone of prosperity. An active market means more employment, steadier earnings; benefits are passed around. Wise spending gives stability to earnings and for that reason is far sighted thrift and sound economy. The call of today is for cheerful thinking, willing working and constructive action by you—everybody—now. Tomorrow's change for the better will come about through the combined efforts of each and every one of us. By their force of numbers and co-operation, by the higher power of heart and mind, we can put business on a firm, stable basis. Let us link our faith with industry, our vision with courage and force ahead. Let us make an unceasing effort towards a common end—Good Times. Our "December Drive Sale" is still going full swing. Our complete range of Dress Goods has been reduced in price. The prices lean your way. Buy now for future needs.

Is Your Harness In Condition for Snow Banks?

A lot of strain comes on the harness when your horse is working through a drift and the weak spots soon give way. Examine your harness carefully right away—today—and see if it needs repairs. It's a good time now before the rush commences. I also have New Sets, Collars, Blankets, Sweats, Oils and Dressings.

Local and General

There was a special song service in the Baptist church on Sunday evening when the regular choir was increased by a number of the young people, and a number of Christmas selections were given.

Many people entertained friends at dinner on Christmas Day and on Dec. 26th.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Institute will be held on Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 3rd, at 2:30 p.m.

The Methodist School held their Christmas tree on Wednesday evening of this week.

The Public School closed on Friday last, and the teachers went to their various homes for their vacation period. School will reopen on Monday Jan. 9th.

The pulp mill closed on Dec. 23rd to give the men an opportunity to spend Christmas at home.

Schooner "Neve" which arrived from Boston on the 20th with a part cargo of fertilizer for the Bear River Trading Co. has arrived at her wharf, and partly unloaded her cargo.

S. S. Bear River arrived on Friday with a car of flour and feed, etc., for the Bear River Trading Co.

The choir of the Methodist Church appeared in their new caps and gowns for the first time on Sunday, and presented a very pleasing appearance. The music also was splendid, and showed very careful preparation.

A watchlight service will be held in the Methodist church on Saturday night at 11:30 o'clock to which everyone is cordially invited. On Sunday the choir will represent the music prepared for the Christmas services.

BETTY HARRIS
A quiet wedding took place on Monday afternoon, December 26th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Davis, New Haven, Conn., when the latter's daughter, Miss Hazel Estella Harris, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Davis, of Harris, Bear River, was united in marriage to Edward Betty, of Dorchester, Mass. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Arthur H. Goodenough, D. D., pastor of Trinity Methodist Church in the latter city.

The bride was attired in a gown of golden brown broadcloth trimmed with silk, and wore a string of pearls, the gift of her groom. Her dainty luncheon was served the happy couple left on a short tour, after which they will return to their new residence in Dorchester, Mass. The bride traveled in a seal-skin coat with large collar and cuffs of opossum fur, and a gold cloth hat trimmed with velvet flowers, and a flowing veil. The many friends of the bride in her old home town will join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Betty much happiness and prosperity in life.

COMMEMORATION OF ST. JOHN'S DAY

St. John's Day was commemorated by the Keith Lodge No. 16, A. F. & A. M. with a special service held in the Baptist Church on Tuesday evening, Dec. 27th.

The Lodge convened and marched in procession to the church accompanied by the Bear River Band. The service was conducted by the Rev. R. S. Gregg, and an excellent address was delivered by the Rev. C. M. Mack, dealing with the history and principles of Freemasonry which proved interesting and instructive both to the members of the craft and to their friends assembled. At the close of the service the Lodge returned to the Temple where they provided entertainment and refreshment for their friends and guests.

The collection at the church was for the benefit of the "Masonic Home at Windsor, and the amount of forty dollars was contributed for this purpose.

The thanks of the Lodge are extended to all those who assisted in making the gathering a success.

NEW THEATRE FOR ANNAPOLIS

(Annapolis Spectator)
The opening of the new King's Theatre, (Theatrical) evening marks an epoch in Annapolis history which will be notable for many reasons. It is not only the finest building of its nature between Kentville and Yarmouth, but it is the most modern in type, architecture and convenience of any in the Province and it is the most complete in its facilities for gatherings which it never before possessed in its more than three centuries of existence. It has been erected on a site which it would be difficult to equal in any other theatre in the Province, and its excellence of surroundings, and it is now being completed within ten weeks of the day on which the land was purchased, on Lower St. George street, opposite the Post Office. When the old theatre on St. James street was destroyed in the great fire of Sept. 7, it was not thought possible by the public that a new one would be available before next Spring, but Mr. King has done the trick and thanks to his indomitable pluck and enterprise the building has become a fact, a feature which the city of Annapolis might well point with pride. In this erection the proprietor has not only covered himself with credit but deserves the thanks of the community for having so promptly and excellently risen to the occasion.

The new building is the work of the care and skill of a modern architect, J. Graham Johnson, of Kentville, while in rapidity and efficiency of construction it is a monument to the foreman of builders, Martin LeBlanc, of Concession, Digby Co., the building having been entirely erected by day's work under his indefatigable day and night superintendence, solving all problems, masonry, painting or heating as well as carpentry, by his or his assistants' handy readiness. The building is 42 feet wide and two high stories. The theatre entrance is 10 feet wide by 8 feet deep, with an inside lobby 8 feet deep by 10 feet deep leading to the auditorium which is 54x40 feet, besides a stage 30 feet deep with a dressing room of 10 feet on each side. The floor of the auditorium has been carefully built on a slope that assures the best possible view of the stage from every seat. The two aisles are each 3 1/2 feet wide and the lighting, ventilating and acoustic properties are excellent. For the first time in Annapolis the Royal seats are regular theatre orchestra chairs, having been obtained from an Ontario manufacturer at special expense. The house seats 400 without the galleries designed on the plans and which may be installed later. The orchestra pit is 6x14 feet in front of the stage. The heating is by hot air furnaces. There are no posts or pillars to obstruct view. There is no plastering. The house has a modern metal ceiling, 10 feet clear. Interior trim of Douglas fir and hardwood floor. The theatre office is on the right of the main entrance with the moving picture operating room on top of same.

The new theatre building however is not only a theatre, but a material addition to the town for commercial and social purposes. The north east corner of the ground floor has been leased by the Annapolis Hardware Co., as offices, a general office 13 1/2x22 feet, private office 7 1/2x12 1/2 feet, with lavatory in rear. The southeast corner will be a store about 12x22 feet and an opening also on the theatre lobby, conducted by Miss May King with confectionery, etc.

A stairway six feet wide at the South corner of the building leads upstairs to the Oddfellows Hall in rear of the second floor, occupying an area 40x45 feet with ante-room recreation room, toilet, etc., in the

Great Britain's Census

Shows Many Strange Facts
1,000,000 Women to Spare

CENSUS FIGURES.
Total in Great Britain, including Ireland, 42,767,830.
Total England and Wales 37,885,242.
Ireland 4,882,588.
Total Scotland 10,000,000.
Total Northern Ireland 1,720,000.

It is therefore surprising that the nation has become a nation of women, and that the type of woman pauper, and expert in the subject has written with cruel, cruel candour, that 1,000,000 females in Great Britain must find their way through life unsupported by any man, bread lover as the novelists say.

Imagine it! If every man in England and Wales and Scotland over 20 years of age found a wife there would still be two million women left over to whom the matrimonial career was closed. But for the women know that 68 out of every thousand could never get a "steady" for life, and the "steady" is the reserve of "steadies", but now the census shows 1,095 females to every 1,000 males in England and Wales, and 1,075 in Scotland. In the industrial areas the excess reached the pinnacle. To every 1,000 males there were 1,157 women; West Sussex, 1,249; East Sussex, 1,300. In the great mine fields of the country the excess are more equally distributed; in high industrial towns the disparity is particularly marked, while in rural areas there is an equal division.

It is a delicious journey through the past, present and future census figures. This is striking: The total is the largest ever recorded; the rate of increase is the lowest ever registered (4.93 per cent.). A century ago Britain's population was 28,000,000. In 1901 it was 32,500,000. Since then it has been steadily dropping. The birth rate has fallen from 24.15 to 21.18 from 20 to 25 per cent. Another grave effect of war was the loss of 500,000 men and women in active service. Since 1918 the birth rate has changed the rate reassuringly.

The population of the "city" of London is little more than 5,000,000. The population of Great Britain is slowly moving out to rooster Great Britain. London is growing, while the rest of the country is shrinking. In one-fifth of the total population of England and Wales, with its 7,475,158 men and women, has climbed into second place since 1901, with 7,119,438 people, and Liverpool and Manchester have dropped into third and fourth place. The population of the five great cities, though there are two million more women than men, the total male voters are 10,182,617, as against 7,475,158 women.

London alone contains more people than that of most countries. The population of Great Britain is now several millions greater than the population of the United States. The French population remains stationary.

Here are two interesting facts from the present year, which are not without a certain bearing on political questions. The home over the "Irish Republic" has been started by those concerned when it is pointed out that Ireland contains less than one-tenth of the population of Great Britain. The number of people in England, Wales and Scotland in 1921 was 37,885,242. Scotland having 4,882,588, and Wales 2,206,712. The exact present total in Ireland is not known, since conditions have prevented the taking of an exact count, but the population was given in 1911 as 4,590,219, and there is expert testimony that the increase, if such there has been, will not bring the figure above 4,500,000. And of this total 1,000,000 are under 16 years of age.

The case against an "Irish Republic" in the matter of majority rights is therefore clear. The British people are therefore able to permit less than one-tenth of their number to pre-empt the safety of the whole by a separatist movement. The military force of the island, by any democratic test, the right of the eight-ninths to protection, could be supported by substantial statistics before any tribunal.

Britain's increase in population is given as 4.7 per cent. in the last decennial period, as against 16.9 per cent. in the period from 1901 to 1911. The British increase, although lower than normal, is consistently greater than that of Ireland. London still surpasses New York, having lost her greater rate of population 7,475,158. The latest official figure for New York city is 5,521,161. The American claim, however, that by following the same rates as are followed in London for including metropolitan territory, they could strength New York's population to 8,000,000.

Private and Confidential.
It was the custom of the manager of a provincial touring company, after the first night's show in every fresh town, to line the performers up on the stage and criticize them. The players would stand in a row, the leading lady at the head of the line. The least important "singer" at the foot and the manager would walk along it, handing out praise or censure as the case might be. One might be passed one actor without saying a word.

"As you did not say anything about my performance," he said to the manager afterwards, "I take it it was all right."

"My boy," came the reply in a low tone, "I did not speak to you because what I have to say can only be said in private."

Blood and Nerves

To Purify the Blood,
To Strengthen the Nerve
Redmac is Guaranteed

If your blood is thick and impure you will soon know it. Your face becomes covered with pimples and blotches, your back covered with spots. If your nerves are shattered you are nervous, irritable, easily annoyed, and will eventually become run down and the whole nervous system a wreck. Redmac, the most wonderful of all Tonics made from Herbs, Roots and Barks, will fix you up in a short time. It is the latest and most wonderful Tonic ever offered to the Public. The nerves are made strong and healthy. The blood purified and made pure. Sold by one druggist in every town.

Sold in Digby by H. E. Jones, in Bear River by the Bear River Drug Store.

When his automobile went "dead" the second time, a man in Trenton, N. J., called an undertaker and made him a present of it.
