

THE DIGBY COURIER

CENTENNIAL EDITION

SEPTEMBER 18, 1974

Welcome to the Digital DIGBY COURIER

1877-1978

100th Birthday

The hundredth anniversary of the Digby Weekly Courier has brought to mind some fond memories as contained in the following historical chapter of the writer. But first, I wish to congratulate the current editor of the Courier, Mrs. J.M. (Edith) Wallis, for a job well done over the years and still being well done, good service rendered with great fortitude.

According to any record, I have at hand, the Digby Courier, in one hundred years of publication, was controlled under the same family management for 42 years, 1931 to 1973, under the control of Wallis Print Limited. The late J.J. Wallis became editor of the Courier the second time, in 1929, and at the same time of the business, which he had been running for some time previously and which became Wallis Print Limited sometime between 1929 and 1931.

I well remember the last year of the twenties when I worked in the office of the son with the husband and father of the late J.J. Wallis, the Courier. Sometime in 1928 or early 1929, the late J.M. Wallis (Mac), son of "J.J." engaged me to work every day after school hours, Saturdays, and for some months after finishing school. The place of work was in the building of the present Digby town hall on First Avenue. J.J. Wallis then worked occasionally at the print shop but mostly across the street at the Courier office which was then located on land in the general area where The Royal Bank of Canada is now.

Wallis Job Print operated in 1929 with a staff of four consisting of J.J. Wallis, J.M. Wallis, Miss Eva Haynes, who later became Mrs. George Kicup, and myself. I was engaged as a printer in the left

Eva's job was to run the printing plant but mostly at the Courier office. "Mac" worked nearly full time at all the different jobs at the Job Print, and I worked at various duties, most of the time being spent at operating printing presses.

We worked ten-hour days, six days a week. "J.J." and "Mac" sometimes worked overtime. I worked only the regular hours being paid a weekly wage which was comparatively good for those times and my lack of experience. I received four or five dollars a week for working after school hours to six o'clock and on Saturday all day, and nine dollars a week for full weeks after finishing school. A two or three dollar a week raise was offered to me in the fall of 1929 for me to stay on at printing, but I had made up my mind to enter a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, starting salary of $300. The bank salary figured out about the same per hour as for the printing job. Nevertheless, the congenial atmosphere of the printing plant those days, and, experience however short, were helpful and appreciated by me.

"J.J." was very jovial in his occasional trip to the Job Print and did considerable kidding all in good fun. "Mac" was a witty person who mixed in a good natured sarcasm now and then for one reason or another. Eva most always had good answers to all the kidding she was called upon to take, and, generally held her own in a quiet sort of way, always busy setting type. We four all got along very well indeed. However, I do remember that some days did seem long and weary because of the monotony of some repetitious jobs.

In spite of the great demand for printing those last boom days of the twenties, business generally being brisk, it looked to me that people had to work long and hard to make any decent profit. There was including treatment of the hands. However, nails and finger ends were used and I was soon back to work.

Now and then a printing job had a dose on parchment paper which required a special kind of printers' ink which smelled very bad those days. I always dreaded it when "Mac" would do that job on the largest press, in spite of the fact that we always opened an outside door to lessen the effects on the constitution.

One of the jobs I had to do, being the junior and printers' devil on the staff, was to clean up now and then. One day not long after I started my job at the printing plant, I decided to clean the floor that apparently hadn't been cleaned in some considerable time.

"J.J." came along and said, "how are you making out Vince?" I assured him that I thought I was beginning to see the floor. "J.J." laughed very heartily, he thought the remark pretty good and suitable.

Sometimes the gasoline engine or a piece of machinery would refuse to work, and after "Mac" the fix-it man had patiently worked for a certain length of time to get it going again, without results, "Mac" would then stand back and cuss quite strenuously, then he would immediately start working. "See," he would say, "all it needed was a bit of cussing."

On other occasions when some gadget refused duty for me and, seemed to be broken, "Mac" would say, "use a little oil," and sure enough, often that is all it took. How often since, have I thought of the value of that remark and the actual need of "oil" in many life situations, applied at the right time, right place and, in the right way.

Other things that sort of stick in my memory and come to mind now and then are, like the time I told "Mac" of four teenage boys who in the spring season of 1929 got together just before dark one evening and decided to initiate the newly built outdoor Pines Hotel swimming pool which had just been filled with water. Clothes were taken off near the road just east of the pool; nobody else seemed to be around except the four boys; no thought or time for bathing suits up to the pool they went. They stood on the edge of the pool and looked at the chilly water, one soon jumped in, the rest quickly followed and across the pool they swam. "Mac" listened to the story and hardly said anything, but the next "Digby Courier" had a good story on the episode. The heading of the story went something like, "Four Boy Scouts Officially Open Pines Hotel Swimming Pool." Who were the four? Many years later they are known as: the late Dr. Earl H. Anderson, veteran of two wars (second world and Korean), was awarded the Victoria Cross; Sidney L. Smith, now prominent druggist for many years in Digby; Clayton D. Snow, Digby wholesale lobster king merchant; and myself.

As a young teenager I used to like doing some writing about different events interesting to myself and mostly for myself. One day "Mac" said to me "how about writing your version of the story told about 'The Marooning of Jerome'." I had heard and read at least two somewhat different stories about the man who was found marooned on a beach at some point on the French Shore of St. Mary's Bay, Digby County. When found this man's tongue had been cut out and his legs quite freshly amputated, were surgically well dressed and bound. He was presumably left by some vessel before dawn one morning, all for some mysterious reason.

"Jerome" appeared to have been a man of some considerable social standing and possibly of some considerable wealth. However the only thing the man could or would ever say after being found and cared for by some family in the French shore was, something that sounded like the word "Jerome". He either could not, or, would not, write anything about who he was or why he was left the way he was. Well, it was, and is, one of Digby County's mystery stories, and, different ideas have been expressed over the years concerning this man. However my response to "Mac" was, I felt no urge to write anything more or different about this man. The mystery seemed to have been very well explored in the mind of many people, and, he was a sort of curiosity for many people who visited where he lived for many years.

Three years later I was quite a young man in the street that I lived back and forth, led a boat clanking noise, powered by a small engine, and a "plur", and as I remember it, it was a "plur". "J.J." was noted for his sense of humor and his sense of humor.

Years and experiences with. The last time I saw him of personal interest, was after one day when he sent and talked with him was, after one day when he had and he wanted me to visit him at his home. He had been recently returned from the Bonaventure after a week's absence. I made the visit and stayed for a few days and experienced a very strong

Digby 172 Years Ago

Compiled by David Sanford

From the files of the Courier of January 23, 1867, the following account has been copied concerning Digby in 1800.

"Among a number of old newspapers kindly sent to us by friends is a copy of the Saint John Gazette of May, 1802, says the Telegraph and among other advertisements contained in the issue before us is one describing the town and township of Digby, and offering for sale certain lots in the town. In this area we are told the township of Digby extends from the Gulf of Annapolis westward to the extremity of the province of Nova Scotia, and contains about 130,000 acres." The town plot is thus described:

"The Town Plot is situated at the east of the township just within the entrance to Annapolis Basin, and twenty miles from Annapolis Town, and six miles across land from the head of St. Mary's Bay. This laid out from the water's edge, partly on level ground and partly on the declivity of a modern hill, dry and pleasant, and having with an eastern aspect, a view of the Annapolis Basin and its cultivated shores for twenty miles in where it terminates with the Fort and River's mouth of that name. It was settled by Loyalists from New York in 1783, the most of whom went early to farms, or, moving to older countries, left the whole side to be bought proved by about who now reside detached, built dwellings with orchards, and some fishery and. It has communal parts of the communal provisions in a cheap, built readily to be from many circumstances, probability of place of some shipbuilding, the West India a cheap and of residence.

free trade with the U.S.A., especially with the New England States. The question was then debated by some Digby High School students one of which was "J.J.'s" daughter, Florence (now Mrs. Melvin O. Tibert, Freeport, Digby Co.) Some days after the debate a man from some part of Nova Scotia came to the printing shop looking for Florence, one of the successful debaters; I had the impression that this man was interested politically but, maybe I was wrong.

Well, I felt that I had learned considerable from my short experience at "The Wallis Job Print". I was learning to do beginner jobs, receiving some knowledge about things like: embossing, stapling, perforating, counting, cutting and trimming paper stock, mixing inks for certain desired colors, and so forth, but, the only experience I had at setting type was just enough to make a "pi", the printers name for a confused mess.

There was a taste of trying to sell job printing outside the plant. Work was a little slack one early fall day and so "Mac" said to me, "how about trying your hand at taking orders for printed personalized Christmas cards?" I tried it, made several calls around town, spent most of the time at one particular house, and got an order, but, it was much time and got an order, but,

VALLEY MEDICAL MEN MEET IN DIGBY TODAY

Close With Banquet At Travellers' Inn

Many interesting features have been arranged for the semi-annual meeting of the Valley Society, which will be in session at Digby on Friday of this week. The afternoon meeting will be held in the Travellers' Inn. It is anticipated that there will be a full attendance, in view of the very important and instructive papers that will be delivered on subjects of major importance to the profession.

Perhaps the most important of these will be the lecture by Dr. J. Allingham, of St. John, who will speak on "The Surgery of Pulmonary Tuberculosis." His lecture will be illustrated by the showing of X-Ray films.

Dr. W. R. Dickie will read a paper on "A Resume of Cardiology," followed by a discussion opened by Dr. W. P. Read. Dr. V. L. Miller, of Halifax, will also be one of the guests of the Valley Medical Society, having accepted an invitation to read a paper. Discussion on his subject will be led by Dr. M. R. Elliott.

Largely responsible for the arrangements for this meeting, which gives promise of being one of exceptional value to practitioners, are Dr. E. DuVernet, president of the Society, and Dr. C. E. A. de Witt, Wolfville, secretary-treasurer.

Smith's Cove

Miss Katherine Weir of Digby, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Weir.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Weir of Digby, with their little daughter Jean, and son Robert, were the over Sunday guests of Mr. Weir's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Weir.

Miss Nettie O'Neil of Barton is spending the summer and fall with her cousin, Mrs. George Comau. We are glad to see Mrs. Comau our again after an operation at the Digby General Hospital.

Rally Day at the Baptist Sunday School was a success. Thirty nine teachers and scholars were present. The Star Class had the banner attendance which was thirteen. The other classes were as follows: Bible Class eight; Sunbeam Class four; Boy's Class seven; Primary Class five. No class had reported absent. We hope that the interest will continue and the attendance will increase from Sunday to Sunday.

Miss Elizabeth Woodman of Digby, was the over Sunday guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Woodman.

John Banks spent the week end at his home in Yung's Cove, has returned.

We are sorry to report Miss Frank Andrews will be at the Digby General Hospital.

Mrs. Arthur Kelsall and little son John, of Annapolis, were the week end guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Thomas. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bryant of Lyon, Mass., are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Rice.

Miss Louise Jagger has been called to New York by the illness of her aunt. She was accompanied by Miss Bessie Sault who will visit friends in Mass.

Mrs. E. A. Booth of Toronto is spending the fall and winter with her brother, H. Stephenson.

Mrs. Aubrey Post of Mount Pleasant, spent Sunday with her daughter, Mrs. George Comeau.

Mr. and Mrs. Lingley returned on Monday to Wolfville.

Reginald Lingley left on Saturday for Cambridge, Mass., where he will continue his studies at Harvard University.

Melvin Elliott of Montreal is the guest of his friend, Miss Louise Combs.

The officers of the District No. 5 Convention as elected at the session held in the Baptist Church here are as follows: President—H. H. Woodman; Vice President—R. E. Smallie; Secretary—Treasurer—Mrs. Dean Clayton; Smith's Cove, Supt. of Adult Division, Mrs. Clara C. Digby; Supt. of Children's Division, Miss Blanche Woodman; Juggins Bridge.

Rev. Frank Smith will preach Sunday afternoon on "Jesus Christ, Who He Is." This is the first of a series of three sermons, the others being respectively: "Jesus Christ—His Character," and "Jesus Christ—What He Came For."

The Horticultural Demonstration held in the Temperance Hall on Saturday, proved to be a great success. Much credit is due the Women's Institute, under whose auspices it was held, for their untiring efforts.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Adams upon the arrival of a son.

New Tusket

J. Herman Moses who has been visiting relatives and friends here last Friday for Wolfville to attend to business.

Mr. and Mrs. William Greene and son, of Dorchester, Mass., are visiting at Harry Mullen's for an indefinite time.

Miss Eliza Sabena and sister, Mrs. Thomas Roberts were called home from Maine on account of the illness of their mother, Mrs. Ellen Sabena.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Green, of Dorchester, Mass., arrived last Tuesday and will spend the winter at their home here. They were accompanied by Messrs Vincent and Bernard Wagner who are visiting at Burton Nichols.

Stanley Sabine returned from the West on Tuesday last.

Miss Marie Gaudet spent a few days last week at relatives at St. Albans and Cape St. Mary.

James W. Mullen and daughter Mrs. Herman Mullen spent a few weeks recently in the United States.

Miss Edna Ward was called home on Friday last on account of the illness of her mother, Mrs. S. Hardy Ward, Kingston. Miss Ward was teaching at Bassett's.

The death occurred on Sunday last of Synthia Mullen, widow of the late Albert Mullen. She has been in failing health for some time. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Bessie Marr, and one son, Almond, both at home. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. L. T. Sabine in the United Baptist Church on Tuesday afternoon in the Baptist Cemetery.

Robbie Morse, South Williamson, Annapolis, was the guest of Miss Helen Hight a few days last week.

Dr. Dickie has resumed work lumbering on the Lamberson property at Barton. There is a gang of men with teams employed doing the logging under the management of Frank Haight. The mill there is in operation again under the management of Percy Balthaz, South Williamson, visited Miss Helen Hill on Sunday last.

Rev. Mr. Thomas occupied the Methodist Pulpit here last Sunday afternoon and delivered a very appropriate sermon.

REGISTER FROM HERE

Many Schooners to Make Digby Their Headquarters in Future

During the past month three schooners have had their registration changed from other ports of Nova Scotia to the port of Digby. The first was the schooner Kirk and Sweeney, owned by Capt. George Morrell, of Sandy Cove, which is 105 tons registered and built at Yarmouth. Capt. Morrell made application some time ago to the registrar of shipping here to have the schooner name changed, and permission has been granted, and in future she will be known as the George and Earl.

Capt. Morrell also owns the schooner Alcala, which is at present registered at the port of Lunenburg, but application has also been made to have it transferred to the port of Digby.

The schooner, Harold Conrad, which was owned by Capt. Morrell, has been sold to Adams & Company, Lunenburg.

The Jesse May, which was formerly owned by Yarmouth parties, but lately purchased by His Worship Mayor Anderson, has also had her registration changed to Digby. Mayor Anderson will use the Jesse May in the scallop fishing business.

Another schooner to be registered in Digby is the Dorothy M. Small. This schooner was seized in an American port in July, but through oversight the bill of sale was not registered and she was later sold to parties in Canada, and after the latter purchase had to be re-registered, which was done from this port.

The schooner, Nelson McFarlane, Capt. Card, was in port this week with a cargo of pulpwood for the Lincoln Pulp Co., at Bangor, Me., and will call Wednesday for her destination.

The beam fishing trawler Lord Shafsbury, Capt. Jeffry, arrived in port last week with a cargo of fresh fish for the Maritime Fish Corporation, and after discharging her cargo left for the fishing grounds. This was the first trip to Digby of the trawler Lord Shafsbury, and it is expected she will make weekly calls to this port during the fall and winter months.

GET TWO YEARS IN DORCHESTER

Pair Found Guilty of Clare of Burglary at Weymouth Falls

The fall term of the Supreme Court closed at Clare on Tuesday, His Honor Chief Justice Harris presiding. Only two cases were on the docket, that of the King vs. Ralph Connor, and the King vs. John Oickle. Both were found guilty on two charges, that of breaking and entering the store of Glidden Campbell at Weymouth Mills with intent to commit an indictable offence; and also charged with stealing a quantity of goods. Chief Justice Harris sentenced the two young men to two years in Dorchester penitentiary on each charge, the sentence to run concurrently.

Johnston Chew looked after the case for the Crown, while Frank W. Nichols acted as lawyer for the defence.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Lent and daughter Frances, Weymouth North, accompanied by Mrs. Farnsworth and Mrs. Gabriel of Haverhill, Mass., moved here last Sunday afternoon and visited Mrs. Isabel Durand and family at the Island Homestead.

Mrs. L. Kilham, and two young sons left on Friday for Boston, Mass.

Port Wade

Earl Keas, of Swampscott, Mass., made a short visit with relatives at Port Wade and Karsdale last week, returning home on Saturday.

Mrs. Mary McGrath has closed her home here for the winter months, and left on Tuesday for a short visit in St. John, after which she will spend the winter in Massachusetts.

Some time in the car last Sunday morning, Captain Outhouse, sailed Sunday morning with a cargo of lumber for Eastport, Me.

Mrs. Bertha Carty and daughter spent the week end at friends in Digby.

Mr. E. P. Theriault arrived here Sunday night and is taking a cargo of pulp at the Pier.

Sch Quilley harbored here over Sunday. On Thursday evening of last week an accident at Karsdale, Mr. Casey and his brother John hastened at once to the scene, and found their brother and Mrs. McGrath a passenger in the car both suffering from severe bruises about the head and back. The auto truck was upside down near a heap of rocks.

The little McGrath girl was the only one of the party who escaped uninjured. Dr. Braine of Annapolis was called and after ascertaining that no bones were broken, the sufferers were conveyed to their homes at Victoria Beach. The accident was caused by running into a wagon by the side of the road, which carried no light. Strange to say the car was uninjured, not even the wind shield being cracked.

James Mullen left on Wednesday for a few weeks visit in Boston and vicinity.

Bear River East

Mrs. W. A. Porter, of Coldbrook, Kings Co., and Mrs. E. G. Dakin, of Chelsea, Mass., were recent guests of their father, Maurice Zwickler.

TWO MEN DROWNED IN LAKE MULGRAVE

Reginald Baird and Geo. E. Long, Lost Their Lives When Their Frail Craft Was Upset By A Sudden Squall

The first drowning accident of the season occurred Wed. afternoon at Lake Mulgrave, about ten miles back of Bear River, when two young men, Reginald Baird, and Geo. E. Long, both of Clements- vale, lost their lives. Baird and Long, with another companion named George Mailing were crossing the lake in a canoe, going to the hunting grounds, when a squall of wind struck the canoe, upsetting it and throwing the three occupants into the water. A canoe some distance behind, noticed the accident, and arrived on the scene just in time to save Mailing, but Baird and Long had disappeared and no trace of them could be found, despite the attempts of the parties in the other boat.

Parties at Bear River were notified of the accident Wednesday evening, and the several immediately left for the scene, and will endeavor to locate the bodies.

Both are young men and married and leave widows and several children to mourn their loss. The accident has cast a gloom over the entire community, as this is the first accident of the season.

Bellisle

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bent were "At Home" to their young friends Thursday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Louis D. Young and returned from their wedding trip, the previous day. The parlors were beautifully decorated with autumn dres. The dining room was especially attractive in yellow and white. The evening was pleasantly spent in games and music. The most interesting feature of the evening program was the presentation of a table of gifts to the bride and groom.

Mrs. Bent was assisted in receiving her guests by Mrs. Roy Bent and Mrs. Jack Bent.

Miss Nan Chipman, teacher at Grandville Centre spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Parker.

Miss Edith Hudson teacher at Young's Cove, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Hudson.

Miss Cora J. M. Parker spent last week with her sister, Mrs. Wallace Court J. at Karsdale.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Nichols and children, of Aylesford, were Sunday guests at the home of Mrs. J. I. Parker.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Troop attended the church service on Saturday afternoon. The parlors were attractively decorated with autumn flowers. Mrs. Bent was assisted in receiving by her daughter, Mrs. W. Troop and sister, Mrs. Arthur Lyette, of Bridgetown. Mrs. J. N. Wade and Miss Aggie Troop, of Grandville Centre, also Mrs. Margaret Gavel, of Bridgetown. During the afternoon Miss Muriel Crombie and Nan Chisholm, of W. Troop, piano selections. After which a dainty tea was served.

Mrs. Gertrude Wade spent a few days last week with Mrs. Wm. E. Bent.

Rev. and Mrs. Crowell, of Grand Manan who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bent for some weeks past returned to their home on Thursday last.

On Tuesday evening September 22nd the Rev. and Mrs. Crowell, of Grand Manan and Bridgetown met and gave her a very pleasant party.

At a late hour the party of over fifty guests broke up sixteen bunting candles.

Many happy returns of the evening.

A short business session followed, at which $90.00 was paid to the Financial Committee of the church in the last week connection with the Farmhouse report. Thirty refreshments were served by the hostesses assisted by Miss Grace Spurr and Mrs. H. S. Vroom.

Obituary

MRS. L. A. MELANSON.

The death of Mrs. Louis A. Melanson occurred at her home, Church Point, on Thursday afternoon, following an illness of a few weeks. In her passing the village of Church Point loses one of its best known and highly respected residents. For the past several years she has been known and highly respected residents. Melanson had not been enjoying the best of health, and suffered greatly from period of illness. She was 78 years of age, was a woman possessing sterling qualities of heart and mind and was a devoted member of the Catholic Church. A life-long member of Church Point she took deep interest in matters pertaining to St. Ann's College and the Convent of the Sisters of Charity, by which she will be especially missed as a friend and benefactress.

She leaves her husband, well known throughout the Province as the Manufacturer of Melanson's Spruce Gum; three daughters, Mrs. Edward Comeau, of Halifax; Mrs. Crook, of Maine; and Mrs. Harry Gavel, of Middleton, and two sons, Charles, Station Agent in Manitoba; and Gustave, at home. One sister, Mrs. J. Belland, of Weymouth, also survives.

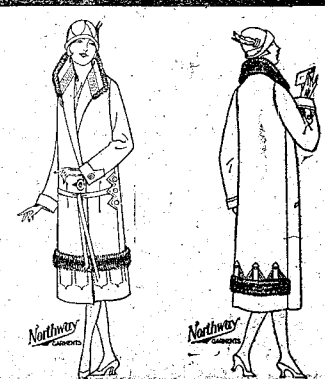

MRS. ELDON FROST

Friday, September 4th, at the family place, on the farm, Magnolia, N. S., occurred the death of Mrs. Eldon Frost.

The funeral was held Tuesday, Sept. 8th, at the chapel of Grand View Cemetery, in Hamilton, the Rev. Father of the Church of Burial, officiating. "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and "Crossing the Barred" were sung by the Organists Four Quartet. The services were most beautiful and interesting. Interment was at Grand View.

Mrs. Frost who will be better remembered as being Mrs. Clara Gaudier, was born at Little River, N. S., July 27th 1859. She married Eldon Frost Dec. 23rd 1880. Being a devoted housewife, she lived in the home for nearly 45 years and has resided in her last years in California.

She leaves her husband, two little daughters, Beverly Rachel, three years of age, and Shirley Mae, one week old; one sister, Mrs. H. H. Thomas of Lunenburg, and many other close friends at her former home; also numerous friends in and around Lunenburg as she was loved by all who knew her. She was a devoted wife and mother and will be greatly missed by all.

Political Amities Should Not Be Overlooked

Before the election campaign gets under way and begins to develop heat and personalities is a good time to consider the desirability and immense advantage all round of strictly observing the amenities of discussion, not only in the press and on the platform, but in individual discussions of the rival claims of parties, policies and candidates.

No difference of opinion, of conviction, of preference—no reasonable difference—call for or justify the saying or doing of anything that should lead to personal estrangement or even unpleasantness. This is a free country and everyone is entitled to liberty of opinions, of speech, of personal decision, on condition of allowing the same liberty to every other and of carefully observing the ordinary amenities of personal and social relations in all expressions and in behaviour. No gentleman or lady is entitled to be tolerated in society who indulged in tirades of temper, in denunciations of others, in insinuations, sneers or scoffs. It simply isn't done in decent society. It isn't done in business. It shouldn't be done in politics. It doesn't get anywhere.

Let us resolve to have a pleasant campaign and to get as much enjoyment as possible out of it. Abuse is not argument. Epithets and caricatures may be very clever but they don't promote good-will. They should not be indulged in if liable to provoke or irritate. Canada has still much to learn from Britain in the line of political tolerance. The Ottawa Citizen, not long ago, called attention to the fact that Asquith had named Lloyd George as one of the five men in Britain who had "won the war," though he had been his most formidable rival and had succeeded in supplanting him during the war as the Premier of Britain. They have learned on the cricket-field in England how to play the game and they play fair even in politics. We cannot do better in Canada than take a leaf out of their book. An election should be a clean game of "gentlemen's" cricket, not a Donbrook fair for a competition in Billingsgate.

Differences and divisions are inevitable. They develop in all democracies. They should be taken for granted and not be allowed to disturb friendly personal relations or distract our minds from the careful and deliberate consideration of the important national issues involved in an election. A scrupulous regard for truth, honour and fair play will help. Along with these, self-respect, self-restraint and tolerance will make the coming election a record one for fair play and good-will in Canadian political history.

Henry Ford's Dream Of The Cow

Henry Ford is talking about abolishing the cow—a milk producer.

He has almost abolished the horse, as a tractor. The horse is now largely a sporting apparatus, good for the races. Gas has taken the place of oats.

Mr. Ford says that it takes only twenty days work on the farm to raise all of the food necessary to keep a cow for a year. But it takes all of the rest of the year, intermittently to take care of the cow as a manufacturing proposition, i.e., as a factory for producing milk.

The cow is a slow producer of results in making milk. Mr. Ford believes that milk, just as good as cow's milk can be produced synthetically. Someone asked the other day what "synthetically" means. He said he had never heard the word until they began to talk about synthetic gin.

Synthesis is the opposite of analysis. When we analyze, we reduce a substance into its elements. When we "synthesize" we take those same elements, put them together and reproduce the article. You analyze milk you reduce it into fats, solids and water, etc. When you put butter fat, water and solids back again into the can, you have milk—perhaps.

Mr. Ford says someone should invent a machine to manufacture the same articles as enter into milk and by putting them together make all the milk we need, scientifically pure and sanitary. Then the time now devoted to taking care of cows can be devoted to something else—perhaps riding around in Fords.

He is planning to establish factories for certain manufactures in farming communities, so that the farmer can find employment for much time. When he makes milk by machinery, instead of by cow, he will have time to make the articles that these factories can produce.

Somehow, we can not see the abolishment of the old "Bossy" just yet. Synthetic milk has already been made. It happens that there is a perfectly good fat in soy-beans that supplies every element of the butter-fat of the cow. An emulsion of soy-bean oil and water, etc., makes a very good milk. But the Cow yet swishes her tail and the farmer-lad feeds down the hay and she yet nibbles in green pastures. Milk, cheese, butter are increasingly in demand for diet. Meat is going out of fashion. Not over 50 years ago as much meat is eaten as formerly, per person.

The cow is an unusually efficient animal for a natural agent. She is not susceptible to weather; passes her summer in contentment in pastures and is not fussy in diet. The goat beats her in healthfulness and a richness of milk. Machine milk is going to be made, and in increasing amount. But the cow is a Destiny.

Yet—who knows? Perhaps some day Bear River power may be popping oxygen and nitrogen into starch and foods; perhaps hydro electricity may be making milk out of gases. Then we may all be engaged in making things—flying machines, motor-cars, and merely going here and there to no purpose like butterflies on the wing, sipping sweets from here and there and not half so happy as the ants that toil to live.

Going Back To School

We quite approve of the plea of a school-reform association that wishes us to avoid picturing or referring to the laggard school boy at this season.

Cartoonists have long since taken to the habit of making pictures of the boy going "unwillingly back to school." Birds are singing, etc. What does a boy care about birds? He likes freedom and play.

So—the reformers ask us "not to make it strong about the boy or girl going unwilling back to school." Rather picture him as leaping forward to his tasks, refreshed like a young giant after his summer's rest.

That's all right, but we can't very well change human nature. One would doubt the future of a child that returned willingly to school. I would honor one who would avoid picturing, or referring to it was essential. He might yet like to stay out of school; but he goes because he is amenable to reason and to discipline.

Permit us to quote from the greatest of poets: William Blake.

THE SCHOOL BOY

I love to rise in a summer morn
When the birds sing on every tree;
The water-lilies bloom,
And the skylark sings with me.
Oh! what sweet company.

Just Talks—On Common Themes

On "Old Fashioned Fears and Fires"

WHEN I was a boy I used to run to fires. If an alarm rang out in the night I was up in bed, all a tremble, heart not in my "bones" because I was wearing none when, as a little coddler, I was tucked in bed—but rather in my heart, in my very tingling toenails.

Alarms of fire in those old days in my home town began usually with some far-off wail, horse on the midnight air (I am speaking only of night) when the frantic house-holder whose roof was in peril, rushed to the streets and yelled "Fire!" And at that sound by some mystic fear I was awake and frequently heard again coming nearer and nearer, the cry of "Fire!" here, there, taken up on the winds of the night, multiplied and re-echoed followed by footsteps on the plank walks resounding, as the eager champion of safety padded to the fire-engine house up out way.

Oh! those old, wailing, fearsome, blood-curdling sounds of voices inhuman, disembodied screams as if lost souls, crying, "Fire! Fire!" the night. Wild winds of storm, perhaps, beating, maybe, on my attic room. Ticking snowflakes on the windows, folks all up in the house as was the fashion of old-fashioned people in times of "Fire," people carrying lamps around the house; mother up looking to see how much I might be frightened, for she understood me; brother dashing out to join the "engine-crew." I could not sleep; I could not lie there and so strange as it may seem today—but actually true—I always dressed and went to fires after I was ten years old. And they let me do it. What would parents say of THAT today. Maybe I went to them in summer nights long before I was ten years old. Indeed, I cannot remember when I did not go to fires as a child. Thus I became an expert.

We talked fire-engines in our family chiefly. My brother "belonged" to "Long Reach No. 2." He started as a torch-boy. I remember his uniform of glazed cap and red shirt and I thought him beautiful. It became a memory—and it was his business to let nobody beat him in getting the hose cart out of the engine house. He was a wonderfully fast runner. He would get to the engine-house, unlock the doors; rush out the hose cart, all alone if he were first there, as he made it a business to be, and clinging to that cart would start dashing off down the hill clinging to the guiding tongue of the cart. How he escaped death, I do not know.

And we KNEW that he was a hero, the nobody else seemed to mention it. In MY heart of hearts was enshrined the sense of duty to never be beaten. Heroes were always "Johnny-on-the-Spot." My brother was—so why not I? Let me in God's good time become a fireman. It is the noblest, most heroic business of man. It is here that the unsung heroes live and die. Cold and wet; ice and snow, bitter nights dashing away thru the slippery streets to put out a fire in a neighbor's home. It is a chapter from the book of battles.

My life was made up as a child of fears that never materialized and so of fires. I never went to bed, without thinking of fires. I never laid my little head on a pillow without sniffing for smoke. Once I was in the house when the chimney burst out and when all was supposed to have become safe and serene. The smell of smoke persisted and then all at once fire burst out into the very room. Menfolk dashed water on it. Our firemen knew how to handle it. But that memory persisted and I saw it every night ere I went to sleep.

What does all this amount to—you may properly ask.

Only to this point. I can judge of children only by myself. I alone know what are the indelible impressions on myself. So I may judge of the lasting results that such things make on other similarly impressionable children.

It is very dang rous to permit children to be frightened at anything. I grew up in mortal fear of fire. The very knees of me shook at the sound of those midnight yells. Never was I so glad as when I moved away and the fire alarm became more mechanical and I grew to feel that there were those who had the job of caring for it. The fear of fire-alarm was restricted to certain fire-districts was a help. And so little by little I gave over running to fires in the day or night. Being a newspaper reporter and having to see to them called me out nights for several years. Then I got to looking from the window to see the light in the sky. Then it became a matter of second alarms and now I no longer emulate Josh Whitcomb.

But guard children from tales of fire: murder; plague; fearsome things. They may listen in silence. Some of them may never remember. Some may take it to bed with them and lie awake fearing the unknown.

Some people call these complexes. It takes years to get over them. Lucky if one ever does. Perhaps the very best thing about newspapers is that they have made these fiery and so common things so common, that they have ceased to thrill.

— E. S.

But to go to school in a summer morn,
Oh! it drives all joy away:
Under a cruel eye outworn,
The little ones spend the day
In sighing and dismay.

Al! then at times I drooping sit
And spend many an anxious hour,
Nor in my book can I take delight,
Nor sit in learning's bower,
Worn thro' with the dreary shower.

How can the bird that is born for joy
Sit in a cage and sing?
How can a child, when fears annoy,
But droop his tender wing,
And forget his youthful spring?

Oh father and mother, if buds are nipped,
And blossoms blown away,
And if the tender plants are stripped
Of their joy in the springing day,
By sorrow and care's dismay.

How shall the summer arise in joy,
Or the summer fruits appear?
Or how shall we gather what griefs destroy,
Or bless the mellowing year,
When the blights of winter appear?

This suggests that teachers should be very gentle to school-children when they return to school after the summer.

They are like birds returned to cages. They are like runners called back to the race—to be started easily and on short distances.

Learning is work; combine it with suggestions of play. Make school as happy as possible. That awful feeling in the school-room for the first few weeks.

Hamlet Of All Ages

It is a tribute to the beauty of the story itself rather than to the wit of the tragedians that the modern Hamlet as played recently in London was a "success" with the audience.

Hamlet brought into modern dress. Singularly it did not prove to be a burlesque or a joke. It seemed as real as the old Hamlet; but we doubt if the audience then and there will care to go and see it over and over again. Once in that form will be sufficient.

Human passion; sorrow, tragedy is great in one grab as another but to make it universal, it must be told, when told properly in the period of the tale itself. Ten thousand Hamlets have lived. The speech of it is pure beauty. The dress was a mere incident. But the play deserves a setting and to do it properly, it should be as inconspicuous as to dress as possible.

The London version in spats, bobbed hair, cigarettes, flapper costumes, is a mere incident, silly and yet not silly enough to ruin a masterpiece. We only hope that the play will not be attempted in modern speech.

A Hope Of Cheaper Motoring

If the new motor fuel, "Synthol," and the motor to use it, come up to announcements, they will do more than make motoring cheaper and easier. They will make long-distance air flights no longer a stunt.

Higher compression engines can be lighter, and more gallons of more potent fuel can be carried, to make still more miles.

Only a little more efficiency is needed, to bridge the oceans with an easy margin of safety, or to cross the whole Polar basin with ease.

The conquest of the earth is nearly complete.

Tiverton

The Sunday School Convention of the island district was held at Tiverton, in the Baptist Church, on Monday, Sept. 21st. Delegates from Westport, Freeport and Central Grove were present, and were cordially welcomed by Pastor McLeod. Ralph Morrell, president of the Convention, also superintendent of the Freeport Sunday School, reported the work of that department. This was followed by a report from Irving Ruggles and Hiram Outhouse of Tiverton, and W. A. Pugh and E. C. Cousins of Westport. A few interesting remarks were given by W. Ring of Freeport, and Rev. Anderson gave a further discussion on the work of the Sunday School at Westport. Miss Harris, field secretary of St. John, then took up the work of the Sunday School, making a strong effort to solve the teacher problem. The afternoon session adjourned until evening. This session opened with a service of song led by W. A. Pugh. Remarks were given by W. A. Pugh, E. C. Cousins, Mrs. Clarence Tibert, Irving Ruggles, and Hiram Outhouse. Rev. Anderson gave an interesting talk on the Memory Course. Miss Harris then continued her discourse on Sunday School work, which was much appreciated by all present. Rev. McLeod gave some interesting remarks in closing. Among the delegates present were: Rev. Anderson, W. A. Pugh, E. C. Cousins and wife, Mrs. R. BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

Here and There

The output of silver from Cobalt
during July amounted to about 400, 000 ounces, according to preliminary estimates. This had a value of less than $800,000, at the rate of about $3,500,000 a year.

All attendance records for the Central Canada Exhibition were broken this year. There was a total attendance of 849,200, or 42,400 greater than the previous record of 807,000, made in 1922.

The first Italian ship to visit Vancouver in several years will be the steamship Plave II, of the Navigazione Libera Trieste, due here at the end of this month. This boat will inaugurate a new service between this port and points on the Mediterranean.

Production of paper by the Powell River Company, at Vancouver, will be increased 80 per cent by the completion of a $5,000,000 development programme now under way, according to an announcement made by M. J. Scanlan, a director of the company. At present the plant is turning out about 75,000 tons a year.

Signs of returning prosperity to Canada are evidenced by the fact that more Canadians are registered in the Canadian Pacific Rocky Mountain resorts during the peak week of the year. These resorts, which are usually filled almost entirely by Americans, contain a guest list last week which is 50 per cent Canadian.

Production of gold in Ontario for the first six months of this year amounted to $1,506,219, as compared with $1,810,069 in the corresponding period of last year, according to a report issued by the Provincial Department of Mines.
Silver production increased from $262,100 to $372,662. Total mineral production was $41,560,385, as compared with $37,397,778.

John Edwin Hoag and Frank S.
Wilton, who were developing the entire continent in a small motor boat arrived recently in Montreal and moored their craft to Canadian Pacific Pier No. 8, having come from Astoria, Oregon, via Columbia River, Caldwell Falls, Port Benton, the Missouri and Mississippi Rivers, the Chicago Drainage Canal and Lake Michigan since May, 20th. From Montreal they continued their journey to New York and returned to the States, via Canadian Pacific Railway to Vancouver and Seattle in order to see the country.

The groundwork for what promises to be a big industry is now being developed by the Singer Sewing Machine Company at Thurso, a point on the Canadian Pacific Railway, on the north shore line to Ottawa. It is planned by the Singer Company to manufacture at Thurso all the woodwork required for their numerous plants in different parts of the world. Work on the new plant is being pushed with all possible speed and it is anticipated that shipments from Thurso will commence sometime early next year.

While the Canadian Railway Commission is besieged with all kinds of applications for reductions in Canadian freight rates, the Western group of railways in the United States is asking for a five per cent increase and the northwestern section of the group is asking more than that "as a measure of relief."
Some of these roads are in the hands of the receivers. For these American railways already have higher rates than the Canadian roads. The freight revenues in the U.S.A. being 1,238 cents per ton mile on western lines as compared with 1,011 cents on all Canadian railways. The average American rate is 28 per cent above the average Canadian rate. Owing to the low grain rates in Canada, the C.P.R. average rate is 4,011 per cent above the average rate on American western lines more than 30 per cent above the average C.P.R. rate.

Marriage

Michigan now has a law aimed at preventing hasty marriages and elopements. You have to wait five days before receiving your marriage license after applying for it.

In this age of motor cars such a law can accomplish little. It's too short a ride to the state line. Nebraska recently tried such a law without success.

The only solution seems to be uniform marriage and divorce laws either thru federal enactment or concerted action by the states.

On Being A Home-

Town Booster

This paper believes in Digby and Digby's future. It believes that Digby is destined to be a much greater town than it is today. It believes that the great majority of people living in Digby have an abiding faith in the town's future and in the Digby of today. It is the faith that has made Digby and it is this same faith that is going to make Digby a greater town.

No one talks of "putting Digby on the map." For, all the world knows, Digby is already on the map; it has had a conspicuous place there for many years. And it is going to remain there—forever.

Digby is already a great place in which to live. If one were to look all around the world, none better could be found. When everything is considered, no one honestly can say that any other town is a better place than Digby.

For that reason, if you have any money to invest, invest it in Digby. It is safer at home than it is in any place else. Keep out of the clutches of the city-tongued stock salesman who comes from a distance and wants your money to invest in an enterprise, the merit of which you know nothing save what is told you by the man or men seeking to "separate you from your coin."

If you have any money to invest, think it over and then invest in Digby. Every resident of Digby ought to be a booster for Digby and Digby's enterprise. Owning Digby's real estate will go a long way toward making all citizens a booster for the home town.
Build or buy a home and grow with Digby, and enjoy to the full all the benefits of being a Digby home owner.

In Memory of Hazel Small

Who left us Nov. 28, 1923 at 8.30 p.m. in her 24th year.

Since then the world seems darkened
The sun seems to fail to give light.

She went away in the evening,
When the autumn air was chill
And ever since then our heart aches
When autumn approach is near.
And I wonder, ah I wonder!
If in all the years to be,
That ever the rays of the sunlight
Will be evermore changed to me.

That evening we watched the ebbing tide,
From the window beside her bed,
And when it had ebbed its utmost
Our darling lay still and dead.
And ever since then my heart aches
When I see the incoming tide;
And when it has ebbed, again I think,
It was like that when she died.

Why has the sun lost its brightness,
To tell me, my heart, today,
And why does the old pain hurt so
When the dancing waves are at play?
Is her shadow that always Peeps close to the whitest wave?
Her shadow that crosses the sunbeam,
The sunbeam that kisses the grave?

No wonder our sunshine was darkened;
"Though bright, as the sunshine of noon
No wonder the harp of our heartstrings
Will never again be in tune.
Till we catch the glad strain of the harpers,
Who under the banner of the harp,
Till the soul touch, that death could not Sunder,
Shall draw us together once more.

I only write for the stricken,
Who alone understand,
The hunger of hearts that are waiting
For the touch of a vanishing hand.
They only know how dense darkness
May come any time and where They only know how the white waves
Have the saddest thing to say.

And today as we sit by the window,
And look at the outgoing tide,
The harp of hearts that are waiting
Than it did on the day that she died.
For a glorified face smiles a welcome
For the home where they sorrow no more.
Where the sad and the weary are rested
In the quiet and calm of its shore.

IDA SMALL,
Hazel's mother.
From our cottage on the shore
East Ferry, Sept. 1923.

The Little Country School-

House

Did you ever in your travels
"Round this dear old state of Maine
Notice close beside the roadside
On the hillside or on the plain?
Or it may be near the brookside?
Or within the woodland green.
The little country schoolhouse
Which so often meets the eye.

In the summer it's neglected,
Grass grows tall beside the door,
And it's not at all inviting
As it was in days of yore.
But it brings back golden memories
Of the days that have gone by,
Days that we have spent together
In that schoolhouse, you and I.

Now we point out to our children
As we journey on our way
The little country schoolhouse
Which means naught to them today
And we tell them of the pranks there
That did bring about the day try.
But we never speak of pranks now
That were tried by you or I.

Yet we seem to see the teacher
As we oft' times saw her then
And we tremble just a little
As we think "what might have been"
Ah, might we have known her better,
Could we but have read her

LOCAL AND PERSONAL NEWS

Mrs. Avis Morhouse of Calgary, Alta., recently arrived at Sandy Cove to pay an extended visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Morhouse. Mrs. Morhouse has spent the past four years in Alberta and other points west.

You expect the Courier to tickle your parents when you are born, describe with humorous appeal the happy ceremony of your wedding, and extol your virtues in eulogistic phrases when you die. How about trying up that over the subscription before you forget it?

Sometimes you hear people talk about the quality of tea they used in the good old days of yore. But as a matter of fact, the tea of those good old days did not begin to compare with MORSE'S TEAS of the present time. MORSE'S TEA cannot be obtained for favor in any market of the world.

There will be a Grand Rally of the Sunday Schools of the Digby and Bear River Districts, held at the Digby Baptist Church on Friday, October 2nd, at 10 p. m., in the interest of M. R. E. C. work. Rev. E. J. Barras of Bear River, will be the speaker for the evening. A full attendance is requested.

Miss Frances Mae Clark, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. S. Clark, of Morganville, deserves much credit for her courage and determination in walking the distance of six miles a day to school. She is attending High School at Oakdale Academy, and walked that distance during the past school year. She has been taken up again this year, and her friends all wish her success.

The following epitaph in an English Churchyard is vouchered for by the London Spectator:

"Here lies the body of Mary Ann Lower. She burst while drinking a solid-litz powder. Called from this world to her heavenly rest. She should have waited till it effervesced."

Mrs. Almon Hensley is returning to New York on Saturday. She regret leaving her beautiful country home in Barton so early, but must do so in order to see Mr. Hensley before he starts off on a five month's cruise. Little Edwin Hensley, with nurse and maid, returned to New York three weeks ago under Miss Lewis' care. Mrs. Hensley will spend the winter in Florida, leaving New York Nov. 1st, so as to avoid the usual November rains.

Ladies and gentlemen talking to The Courier Office on the phone will greatly oblige by stating their name the very first thing, as serious misunderstandings are otherwise likely to arise. It doesn't take any longer to say, "I am speaking to you," than to say "Good morning," and employees taking messages are required to specify name of sender. Then if you will kindly take time to articulate each word correctly, repetitions will be unnecessary and time will be saved all around. There is no use making guesses at things for publication and however distinctive or well-known one may think his voice to be there is nevertheless likelihood of it being mistaken for someone else's.

Miss Helen Blackford, of Tiverton, spent Tuesday in Digby.

Don't miss the Special Sale on Suits and Overcoats at J. L. Peters.

Miss Margaret Goldsmith who is in training at the G. P. Hospital, St. John, is home on her vacation.

Reserve Friday, October 30th for Halloween's Social given by "Friendship Class" in Baptist Vestry.

Seymour Denton, who is attending Acadia College, Wolville, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Denton.

You can buy from J. L. Peters. Floor Coverings of all kinds just as you can buy them from Mail Order Houses.

The Division were entertained at the home of Will Mallett of South Range on Tuesday evening to a corn boil and had a good time.

Miss May Dugas has returned to her home at Marshalltown after a successful operation for appendicitis at the Digby General Hospital.

Mrs. Rachael Morhouse, Centerville, Mass. George Holdworth, Jr., Franklin, Mass., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Holdworth, Carleton street.

Mrs. M. Conwell, who has been spending the summer in Digby, left Tuesday for New York, where she will reside during the winter months.

Mrs. Roberts and Turnbull will be absent from town for a week, beginning October 7th and ending on Tuesday. They keep this date in mind, as their offices will be closed.

The Annapolis Royal Concert Band, who gave three concerts in the Digby Pavilion this summer, finds themselves about $125 short of what they expected to receive, the last collection being very scant. To recover this amount, they are asking citizens to subscribe personal contributions to cover the requisite amount. No doubt this sum will be gladly contributed to cover costs of these delightful concerts.

All the Councillors were present at the meeting of the Town Council, which was held in the Council Chambers on Monday evening last. His Worship Mayor Anderson occupied the chair. After the reading of minutes of last meeting, and the passing of a number of bills, Town Clerk Boden reported on the meeting held by the Arbitration Committee of the town with a similar committee from the Municipality, with a view of getting the assessment against the town settled. Two meetings had been held and the last meeting was a failure, no business whatever being done. The Clerk recommended that the Municipality be paid the sum of $2,514.15, and this was on motion ordered to be paid by the Council, but without prejudice. The total bill amounted to $3,657.00 and was for Joint Expenditure. After correspondence had been read, the Council adjourned.

A pleasant caller at The Courier office a few days ago was L. F. Bryant, of Lynn, Mass., who is visiting his home at Smith's Cove for the first time in 35 years. In conversation with the Editor, Mr. Bryant remarked that he was surprised at the decrease in business and population in Digby and Bear River, and the slump in the latter place was certainly a surprise to him. Thirty-five years ago Digby enjoyed greater prosperity than she does at the present time, and twenty or thirty fishing vessels were leaving this port for the fishing grounds. While the tourist business was not as great, still the revenue derived from the fishing fleet far exceeded that which is being derived from the tourist trade today. He was greatly pleased at the possibility of Digby as a great advertising and better hotel accommodation. This class of business can be greatly increased, Mr. Bryant, who is visiting at the home of Mrs. James Rice, Smith's Cove, left this week for his home in Lynn, but before going became a subscriber of this great family journal.

Rev. Louis LeBlanc will say Mass at Bear River, N.S., Oct. 4th, at 11 p. m.

Messrs Frank Hayden and Frank Robinson were among those who left for the mouse hunting grounds Wednesday.

The monthly meeting of the Ladies' Hospital Aid will be held in the Court House Wednesday, Oct. 7th, at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. A. I. Miller of Sedgewick, Alberta, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hines, has returned home.

The Sunday School Rally which was to be held in the Digby Baptist Sunday School, Friday, Oct. 2nd, has been postponed until next week.

Mrs. James Burgess and little son, Rex; Mrs. Fred Prime and son Allan were passengers to Boston Friday after spending the week end there.

Mrs. F. Croft and children, of Bath, Maine, arrived here Saturday en route to Church Point to attend the funeral of her mother, Mrs. L. A. Melanson.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Marshall, who have been spending a few weeks at Halifax and Aylesford, were in town Tuesday and left Wednesday for Yarmouth en route to Boston.

While Mr. and Mrs. Harry Titus of Moncton, were visiting in Digby, Mrs. Titus sang two solos in Grace United Church before a large and appreciative congregation.

A teacher's institute under the direction of Inspector Foster was held at the Academy a few days ago. Twenty lessons were taught, mainly for the guidance of rural teachers, by Miss Brooks and Miss Curry of the Academy staff, and Miss Cosgrove of Smith's Cove. The afternoon was given over to the discussion of general problems of the teachers.

A meeting of the Chautauqueus was held in the Town Hall on Wednesday evening last, when representative of the Eswarthmore Chautauque, Mr. Dobson, outlined plans for the coming of Chautauque to Digby on October 10-13. The following officers were appointed: Chairman Bernard Chisholm, Sec. Frank Edmund Stratton; Chairman of Advertising, Oakley Turnbull; Tickets, J. W. Merkel; Hall, Edmund Stratton; Hospitality, A. P. Spurr, Assistant to Junior Chautauque, Miss Coggin.

Zelma Rebekah Lodge, I. O. O. F., held its first roll call on Monday evening of this week. The lodge has a total enrollment of 118 women of whom are away on Monday evening 64 responded in person to their names and quite a large number by letter and card. The members present sat down to well set tables shortly after seven o'clock and enjoyed a splendid supper. At the close of the meal, and while still seated around the tables, the roll was called. When this was finished the room was cleared of its excess furniture and the lodge met in regular session. After closing, social hour was enjoyed in games and pleasure. Quite a number of visitors were present including members from Yarmouth, Freeport, Kentville and Middleton.

Weddings

WOOD-HARRIS

At a pretty wedding in the Nazarene church, Freeport, last Saturday afternoon, Sept. 10th, Miss Frances Harris of Salem, daughter of Mrs. Stuart Harris of Bear River, Nova Scotia, became the wife of Roland Wood, also of Salem, formerly of Moncton, N. B. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Alex MacNeill of the Nazarene church. Miss Harris wore a gown of white silk tulle and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. She was attended by a little flower girl, Miss Ethel Lawrence, who wore a white frock with pink ribbon sash and carried a basket filled with pink chrysanthemums. Mr. and Mrs. Wood will make their home in Salem for the present.

In Memoriam

IN loving memory of my father, Lyons Outhouse, Tiverton, N.S., who passed away Oct. 6, 1918.
Remembrance is a golden chain,
Death tries to break, but all in vain,
To have, to love, and then to part
Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart.
A broken string in memory's harp is softly touched today.
Sadly missed by his children.

GRACE UNITED CHURCH
Rev. Jabez Appleby, Minister

Services at 11 and 7, to be conducted by the pastor.

Some of the vital questions to be discussed:

Is the church worth more to the community than the Minister shows, picture shows and other shows which tickle the fancy of the people for a moment and then leave?

Shall we put the church on a paying spiritual basis by bringing our tithes into the store house and challenging God for the promise of blessing?

There will be a harvest Thanksgiving in the evening. Come and excel yourselves in helping the church to be something for God and humanity.

Come and welcome.

"Interference"

To the Editor of Courier

Dear Sir:-

During the past few days we have had some very concrete examples of "How not to tune a Radio Set." There is a warning, in pamphlet form, being issued by the Govt. and it rests with the user to the squanderer to whether or not he will be obliged to have the squanderer moved from the set. It won't be much good down here when that is done, if the set does not work smoothly but has a decided flop it should be adjusted, by someone so that it reaches the point of tuning in smoothly. No one can tune one of these small sets when they are unbalanced. There is surely one thing to remember; that when the set is squealing the owner is not getting reception and neither is anyone else and also that the rest of the crowd - can give him a helping hand. No one is to be owners of regenerative (whistling) sets when they tune in should try to tune without a whistling note if they have one get off it as quickly as possible and work back carefully until good reception comes thro. I thank you

POLITICAL MEETINGS

Liberals And Conservatives to Hold Meetings

This afternoon at 3 p.m., a Conservative meeting will be held at the Arena Rink, to be addressed by Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Premier of Nova Scotia; Col. Harrington, Minister of Mines, and the candidate, H. B. Short.

On Tuesday afternoon next at three o'clock a Liberal Rally will be held in the Bijou Dream theatre, when Col. J. L. Ralston, K.C., D.S.O., and the candidate, Dr. L. J. Lovett, will address the electors on the various political questions of the day.

No doubt a large number of electors from all parts of Digby county will be in town today and Tuesday to hear the Liberal and Conservative candidates.

An Appreciation

HENRY FILLEUL OF WEYMOUTH

There are some men, whose lives show some definite characteristic so plainly that it is easy to write about them and a pleasure to do so. Such was the case with Henry Filleul lately deceased, son of the late Rev. Dr. Filleul, for 40 years Rector of the parish of Weymouth. The characteristic which seems to stand out so conspicuously in the life and character of Henry Filleul, was his wonderful faithfulness to duty and his reliability as a man and worker. It might have been his lot to have undertaken some great work as the head of a firm, but he chose for himself a career less conspicuous, but of great value, as the trustworthy assistant in the business for which he gave freely of his time and energy, with complete self-sacrifice and without thought of sparing himself in the service of those for whom he worked. Year in and year out he was to be found constantly at his post, faithfully performing his duties until his death. He was suddenly stricken down with paralysis and his day's work was done. Deprived of his former great physical ability and pleasure of mind he lingered for 3 years until on 29th September he passed away - thus ending a life of unusual vigor and devotedness to duty. He was a member of St. Peter's Church, St. Thomas, D. Campbell Co. which he had served so faithfully for so many years. It was not only in his business capacity that Henry Filleul showed his reliability and ability, he was also a faithful attendant at church and never absent from his seat at St. Peter's church. St. Thomas, where two churches his home lay. Both in his religious duties and in his everyday work Henry Filleul showed a wonderful example. "Reliable and loyal" exactly expresses the life and character of Henry Filleul.

Obituary

MISS EMMA SMALLIE

Miss Emma Sophia Smallie, one of the older inhabitants of Digby, passed away on Thursday, October 8th, at Yarmouth. Miss Smallie was the daughter of James Smallie, a Loyalist and a well known merchant of this town.

She was born on August 8th 1838, and was thus exactly 87 years and 2 months old when she died. She was baptized by Rev. Roger Vird, Junior, and was a living link into the early days of this parish.

She has been all her life a member and extremely faithful attendant of Trinity Church.

For many years she had conducted the old parish Day School of Trinity parish, a great number of Digby people having been her pupils.

Always bright and cheerful, young in spirit in spite of age, she will be much missed by her friends.

The funeral took place on Saturday last from Trinity Church, with interment in Forest Hill Cemetery, conducted by the Rev. Rural Dean Driffield.

Miss Josephine Winchester is attending the Provincial Normal College at Truro.

Weymouth

Rev. Fathers Doucette and Thibault motored to Yarmouth Wednesday returning on Friday.

Miss Simone Stebbins arrived Saturday from France via Halifax. Miss Stebbins spent the past four months with relatives in France.

A surprise party for Edward Comeau was held Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Legre Comeau. About thirty young people were present and presented Mr. Comeau with several gifts.

One of the first successful hunters to secure a fine specimen of moose this season was H. J. Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Gaudet motored to Yarmouth Monday returning the same day.

Forty Hours Devotions which began Sunday at Sacred Heart Church Doucette terminated Tuesday morning. Father Doucette was assisted by Rev. Father Thibault.

Edward Comeau left Tuesday for Boston and after a few days visit to his father Plus Comeau Quincy, Mass., will sail from New York for France where he will take a special course at the University of Paris.

Mrs. Mabel Melanson left Tuesday for a visit to her sisters, Mrs. Ira Solomon and New York and Mrs. Harry Webster, of Coatsville, after which she will spend winter with her sister Mrs. W. J. Theriault.

North Range

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Haight's Sept. 19th, when about 27 guests gathered there to a Fudge Party. The evening was spent in music and games and enjoying the fudge. The party broke up about eleven o'clock all reporting a very pleasant evening and wishing Mr. and Mrs. Haight and family the best of luck in the change they have made. They left for the United States, Sept. 21st.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sabean motored to Yarmouth on Thursday last to attend the Exhibition.

A community sing was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Solomon on Sunday evening last, when a good crowd gathered and a splendid evening was spent by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Harford Marshall and sister, Mrs. Harry Lewis and daughter Doris, of Danvers called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Farnsworth on Sunday last.

Darius Farnsworth and son Leigh, of Centerville, were the guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. John Farnsworth.

Edward Gregory of Greenwald, Mass. arrived from Boston on Tuesday to spend a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Farnsworth.

Mr. and Mrs. John Farnsworth and grandchildren, Harold and Kenneth Farnsworth, and Edward Gregory and Miss Hattie Farnsworth were passengers to Boston Friday last.

N. T. Rockwell left on Monday of last week for agency work in Pictou County.

Election Card

To the Electors of Annapolis-- Digby--Clare

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

Having been nominated at the largest and most enthusiastic Convention ever held in this Constituency to be a Candidate of the Liberal-Conservative Party to represent them in the forthcoming Election, and having decided to offer myself, I ask you for your valued support.

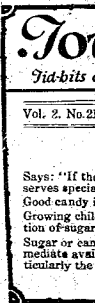

You are aware that this is one of the largest Constituencies in area of any in the Province and it is therefore impossible for me to make a personal canvass of each section, and it is only by this means that I can present to you what policy I stand for if elected to be your representative in the next Parliament.

There is one issue more important to Nova Scotia than all others and that is Maritime Rights and a revival of our industries. That is the issue I stand for and shall work for and will make best endeavours to secure for Nova Scotia a square deal. I will put Province before party every time.

The Conservative Candidates throughout Nova Scotia have all declared themselves to support Maritime Rights and with a united stand on their part there is not the least doubt but what the interests of the Province will be thoroughly looked after, and if the Meighen Government is returned to power on October 29, there will be a body of men pledged to see that we get our Rights.

Again soliciting your support and if elected as your representative it will be my aim to bring about better conditions in this Province.

"Bunk"

A man who has done a real service to reading is Haldemann-Julius of Girard, Kansas, by publishing a lot of paper-covered masterpieces at five cents apiece.

He and his wife have published also some remarkably able, but rather pessimistic stories and gotten them into first-class publications. Haldemann-Julius is a remarkable person, a genius in many ways.

But he may be wrong about some things just the same, and he is evidently writing for "shock." Mr. Haldemann-Julius is a "free thinker"—self-labeled. He says for instance:

"When I say the world is full of bunk, I mean it literally. It is not intended as a clever paradox. It is uttered as a firm, clear, accurate statement of fact. Bunk—which is another way of saying human folly—has saturated the world, the men and women in it, their minds, their living, their trades, their professions, their business, their language, their pleasures, their vices, their manners, their dress, their homes.

"Bunk is supreme. "God is bunk. Religion is bunk. War is bunk. Business is full of bunk. Advertising is loaded with bunk. Journalism is mostly bunk. Jesus is all bunk. Bunk—everywhere, bunk, bunk, and still more bunk." Moments ago I said:

"Let me say that I do not mean to imply that I am the bunkless wonder. I have it in me, but 'let me hope' less than a year ago when I had less than five years ago. My life has been a steady, persistent attempt to throw off bunk, to question everything, in and around me, to shed, as determinately as I know how, the beliefs that are wrong, the ideas that are empty, the facts that turn out not to be facts. I have tried, and 'let me boast' I have made some headway. I have shown it in my work. I am the kind of person who likes to carry his ideas into the very core of his being, and into his work; for my work is of such a nature that it brings me in contact with a large public, and it means something to me to be able to influence others in the direction of realistic thinking and debunking.

"I have made mistakes, of course, and shall make many more, but at least I have shown what can be done. Its effect will be felt. Let there be no doubt about that. Others will join in the work.

"As I see it we must, during the next twenty five years, let us say, pound everlastingly at bunk. We

MRS. B. H. HART SICK FOR YEARS

Wants Women to Know How She Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Cornwall, Ontario.—"I am now giving your medicine a fair trial and it surely is doing me good and I am going to keep on taking it. I used to feel so tired in the morning that I didn't want to get up, but that feeling is leaving me now. I also sleep better and feel more like working. For seven or eight years I have had headaches, tired feelings, pains in my back and across my body. I feel like I am in the newspaper saying what good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. My husband says I am well now, but I am not going to stop taking the Vegetable Compound until I feel better and have no more of my pain. Isn't that the right way? I have given it to my children. They must be good to those who take them. I am recommending it to my friends and I will tell you about it. Mrs. B. H. Hart, Box 100, Cornwall, Ontario.

and across my body. I feel like I am in the newspaper saying what good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. My husband says I am well now, but I am not going to stop taking the Vegetable Compound until I feel better and have no more of my pain. Isn't that the right way? I have given it to my children. They must be good to those who take them. I am recommending it to my friends and I will tell you about it. Mrs. B. H. Hart, Box 100, Cornwall, Ontario.

should analyze every idea that is accepted as a fact. We should question everything. We should take nothing for granted. We should go around and lift covers in industry, in social institutions, in our speech, in our manners, in our ways of living, in our ideas, in our conventions—ceaselessly lift covers poking under things, and weighing and measuring in order to detect shortweights, to expose stuffed dummies, to kick out falsehoods, to ridicule shysters, to lay open quacks.

"Quacks cannot stand laughter. They quake before honest investigation. They flee from questions.

"Twenty-five years of bunk-hunting and bunk will run for cover. Meanwhile, let us begin building the structure that will take the place of bunk—honest investigation; love of liberty and hatred of suppression; protection of education and appreciation of learning; a willing ear for wisdom of the philosophers; a seeing eye for the beauty of the artists; an understanding of culture; a sympathy for what is true and noble. But these things cannot be realities until the swamplands of bunk have been cleared away.

The foregoing is a fair sample of several columns of this sort, of attack on "bunk." It appears that Mr. H.J. has set out on a determined campaign, so he announces to advance "free-thinking." He has a paper which has enormous circulation, chiefly free, or to advertise his books, which are largely liberal and excellent, though many are or have been in the past, sex books, outspoken and in some cases chiefly useful to the medical profession. He announced himself, as a director of the "American Free Thinkers League." He says it is the only "movement of national scope to meet the assaults of the Bible-thumping yokels." "God is bunk. Jesus is bunk. Religion is bunk. Business is bunk, etc."

It is very evident from the foregoing that this IS a free-speaking country and that people have a chance to think if they please. There is apparently no bar to expression, if we judge from Mr. H.J.'s editorials. So far, so good. Again, Mr. H.J. seems to feel that only those are free-thinkers, who decide that "God is Bunk; Jesus is Bunk, etc." In short, only those who agree with him are free thinkers. If a person seemingly thought it all out and retained a reverence for the Bible, for God, for Jesus, he would perhaps not be a free-thinker. Philips Brooks, Dr. Fossdick, Florence Nightingale, Cardinal Newman and millions of others, would not be free-thinkers.

Personally I can not divest myself of the conviction that GOD is NOT bunk; Jesus is NOT; Religion is NOT bunk and I have read all of Mr. Haldemann-Julius's book in his blue-covered editions; have read Ingersoll and all of his favorites; Schopenhauer, Kant, Hegel, Nietzsche; all of the anti-bunk and pro-bunk of human thought so far as able. But this work looks more and more puny; the Universe bigger and bigger and the evidence of a Supreme Power, which I call God is greater and greater, the longer I read the works of Men. I would like to think freely.

It seems to me therefore, that Mr. Haldemann-Julius commits the first error of Egotists—he prescribes a belief; calls it "Free-Thinking" and labels all who do not subscribe and buy his books as "Bible-thumping yokels." Think freely; but don't be fooled into thinking that you think freely just because you think differently from the sublimated conscience and thought of the ages. A lot of that is wrong—a lot is probably right; a lot is essential to the scheme of Human development—directed we believe by a Power greater by far than that which resides in Girard, Kansas.

Advertise Now At this season of the year, perhaps more than at any other time, it behooves local merchants to advertise in the home newspaper. The quiet summer months have passed, and the cooler weather puts a "sense" into business, as well as into the individual. Advertising revenue is of course all important to a newspaper which endeavors to keep up a satisfactory news and feature service—both of which entail much expense—but it would be safe to say that it is equally im-

Just Talks--On Common Themes

On "It Is All In You"

I BELIEVE that I cannot do better by you this fall day when the world outside invites me away and I am chained here to a typewriter trying to do something to make you think—I believe I cannot do better than ask you to read this and see if you understand it. Then I will tell you who wrote it and what it signifies to many people.

When the psalm sings instead of the singer; when the script reads instead of the preacher; when the pupil descends and goes instead of the carver that carved the supporting desk; when I can touch the body of books, by night and by day, and when they touch my body back again; when a university course convinces like a slumbering woman and child convince; when the minted gold in the vault smiles like the night-watchman's daughter; when warrantee deeds loaf in chairs opposite and are my friendly companions; I intend to reach them my hand and make as much of them as I do of men and women like you.

The sum of all reverence I add up in you, whoever you are; the Premier is at Ottawa for you—not you who are here for him; the Secretaries act in their bureaus for you; not you here for them; Parliament convenes every twelfth-month for you; law courts; charters for cities, the going and coming of commerce and mails, are all for you.

List close, my scholars, dear. All doctrine, politics, and civilization exurge from you; all sculpture and monuments and anything inscribed anywhere are tallied in you; the gist of histories and statistics, as far back as the records reach, is in you this hour and myths and tales the same; if you were not walking and breathing here, where would they be? The most renowned poems would be ashes and plays would be vacuums.

All architecture is what you do it when you look upon it (did you think it was in the white or gray stone or in the lines of the arches and cornices?) all music is what awakes from you when you are reminded of the instruments; it is not the violins and the cornets—it is not the oboe nor the beating of drums nor the score of the baritone singer singing his sweet romance—nor that of the men's chorus, nor that of the women's chorus, it is nearer and farther than they.

Will the whole come back? Can each see signs of the best by a look in the looking glass? Is there nothing greater or more? Does all sit there by you, with the mystic unseen soul?

Strange and hard the paradox I give—the objects gross and the unseen soul are one. In them, not yourself, you and your soul enclose all things, regardless of estimation. I do not affirm that what you see beyond is futile—I do not advise you to stop; I do not say that leadings you thought great are not great. But I say that none lead to greater than those lead to.

Will you see far off? You surely come back at last, in things best known to you, finding the best, or as good as the best; in folks nearest to you, finding the sweetest, strongest, loveliest; happiness and knowledge, not in another place; but in THIS place; not for another hour; but for this hour. Man in the first place you see and touch—always in friend, brother, highest neighbor—woman in mother, lover, wife.

This is Walt Whitman.

He exalted men and women—chief handiwork of God. The psalm was never greater than the singer; the desk never greater than the preacher; the script was never greater than the writer.

The world would be nothing without men; nothing that is done, or can be done would be worth while without you. You are what this world is made for—you are Life itself and the soul that dominates all life—that mysterious ineffable element of X. The automobile that stands out there in the roadside is nothing without you: Seeds fall; weeds choke them without you.

If the minted gold ever became to Walt Whitman (which it never did) so that it smiled brighter than the watchman's daughter, then he would reach up his hand and make as much of it as he did of men and women. When warrantee deeds loafed in the chair opposite and became his friendly companions, as they never did, then he would reach out his hand and make as much of them as he would were they human-kind.

Reading Whitman is a matter of patience and seeking. His philosophy is largely of one piece, but so diverse, so powerful; so true in essence that it is colossal.

The foregoing from Whitman is called poetry—made a subject of ridicule as poetry—but not poetry so much as part of a poem—all a poem, an epic of Life. Whitman could write verse—so moving, pathetic, sweet, tuneful, vast, that it is a credit that he did not do more of it. Instead he wrote such things as this: "Objects gross and the unseen soul are one." How like what this poor, column has tried to preach—that through the universe all things run as on a single thread, all in one, one in all. One Law, one Soul, one God.

portant in the merchant's own interests that he advertise his goods. A merchant cannot expect to sell goods when he leaves the public in the dark as to the extent and quality of his stock.

Does advertising pay? It has taken a long educational campaign to prove that it does—but it has been definitely proved. There is hardly an article in use day by day with which there is not a maker's name associated with it in the minds of the buyers. And this is a direct result of newspaper and magazine advertising. A contemporary has pointed out the error of a man, for instance, wears an advertised collar, an advertised shirt—when, in fact, every article of his apparel has been advertised in some shape or form, it is surely proof that advertising is now accepted by all progressive business men who have something worth-while to sell.

People Or Party?

The difference between newspapers of fifty years ago and those of today is that old-time editors were interested in parties, while modern editors are interested in good government. In Horace Greeley's day, political parties could count on their newspapers through thick and thin. Today, except in isolated cases, political parties must earn newspaper support. The newspaper has become the mouthpiece of the people rather than the mouthpiece of the party.

Forecasting Election

Partizan newspapers in this province which are profuse as well as decided in their declarations as to just what the result in the coming elections will be should recall that in the late provincial contest some of their number made very bad guesses. The Courier made no such forecast then and had nothing to explain after the votes had been counted. I will pursue a similar policy in the election that is soon to be held. We shall see what we shall see.

A Mirror

Digby is just what you make it. If you don't like the town, you will probably find that the town doesn't like you. But if you have the right attitude, then you will find the community friendly. It is a mirror in which you will find a reflection of your own disposition.

Our Letter Box

Editor of The Courier:

Sir—Having followed your series of editorials on "What of Digby's Future?" with interest, and wishing that you had carried it farther as from a casual observer viewpoint the citizens of this community need a very rude awakening to show them how far behind the times progress has left them.

One of the most essential assets to any community, both to the residents of the district and as an appeal to tourists at home, as well as abroad, is good roads.

A well built road costs less in the long run than a poorly built one, as the one built for years with small upkeep, while the other is a foolish waste of money from the start and will never be a good road until the road bed is properly laid in the beginning.

Nova Scotia, and Digby County especially, is wealthy in natural wealth and beauty but not overburdened with the coin of the realm. As every citizen of the community should realize this truth they should be more exacting in what they receive in line of their hard earned dollars paid out by their taxes.

The road running back from Barton to the North Range Station is the equal of the Bay road in firmness and smoothness. The hill on the same road from the station to the North Range Post Office was very rough but the road bed was very solid and nobody had any difficulty in using the road regardless of his conveyance.

Approximately four weeks ago a gang of men started sub grading the hill, from shoulder to shoulder of the roadbed, with a very generous application (swerving in depth from eight to fifteen inches) of loam and sub soil, which makes a better grade of mud than we ever dreamed of conceiving in our mud pie days. After standing in that condition for almost two weeks (during which time pedestrians walked ankle deep or deeper in mud) and automobiles were sometimes forced to wade almost a three mile detour) a surface grading of so called gravel (surface grade) almost fifty percent loam and sub soil and the balance a very good plastering sand) has been dumped at an average depth of about three inches to a width slightly in excess of the wheel tracks, leaving the balance of the road on either side a hopeless mess. The surface grade, being put on at the rate of two and sometimes three loads to date.

The writer has talked with several of the residents of the community in regard to the condition of the road with these results: The men working on the job are there for what they can get out of it (by their own admission). This attitude of labor on any work is destructive not the constructive element so essentially needed here. The man in charge is doing the best kind of a job, also by his own admission and that of his friends. The rest of the community after travelling public are disgusted and enraged.

Surely there must be men in the community who are capable of giving the public better service and more value for their money than they have so far received in this section of late.

This letter was not written to start any controversy or to settle personal animosities, (as the writer has none) but in a public spirited manner to endeavor to get more value for the taxpayers dollar and for the benefit of the community at large.

Thanking you in advance for the space in your esteemed journal and wishing you every success in your endeavor, to build up the future prosperity of Digby and Digby County, I shall in the meantime remain.

"One of the Wallflowers of the Mud."

Greetings

To whom this may come:—

For many years I have been sending hundreds of Birthday, Christmas and Holiday cards all over the various quarters of the Globe.

I will reach my 4 score Dec 15th next and as my eyesight is failing somewhat, I must ask my many friends to forgive, if they get no more tokens from me.

It has been a great pleasure for me to send these cards and in many cases to get the pleasant answers to same.

The way to get cheerful is to smile when you feel bad, to think about somebody else's headache when your own is most bustling, to keep on smiling when the sun is shining when the clouds are thick enough to cut.

Josh Billings says—"Laff every time you pheed tickled, and laff once in A while anyhow."

Again thanks to you all for what you have done and may yet all feel well when the votes are COUNTED.

At The Fork Of The Road

When you lose your way on a lonesome road,
Whooee course you do not know,
And your thoughts extend to the journey's end.

But your progress there is slow,
If you're off the track, you can turn back
To see what the signpost showed.

But the time to decide that you need a guide
Is just at the fork of the road.

When you fail to heed a warning sign
On the broad highway of life,
And enter in, through the streets of sin,
How sad to learn, though you may return.

To sorrow, pain and strife,
You must reap what you have sowed,
But all your tears and wasted years
Could be saved at the fork of the road.

As long as the road lies straight ahead,
The journey of life is bright;
It's the setting sun when the day is done
That leads to the signpost ahead.

You will not go wrong as you go along
If you study each crossing road;
It is well worth while to save a mile,
Or a life, at the fork of the road.

51 CANDIDATES

With nomination day a fortnight away 51 candidates have been nominated to contest the 29 seats in the Nova Scotia general election, Oct. 20, in the Maritime Provinces. Of these 51 candidates, 23 carry the Conservative banner, 13 the Liberal, 10 the Laborite, and one the Independent Liberal-Progressive.

In Prince Edward Island four Liberals and four Conservatives were contesting the four seats. In Nova Scotia the line-up was 13 Liberals, 10 Conservatives and Laborite. In New Brunswick 8 Liberals, 6 Conservatives and 1 Independent Liberal-Progressive had been nominated.

All indications pointed to put one three-cornered contest in Nova Scotia, that in Cape Breton, where J. B. McLachlan has entered the lists as labor candidate.

In New Brunswick, both Liberals and Conservatives have yet to nominate candidates for two seats representing Saint John-Albert. In addition the Liberals have yet to nominate candidates in the constituency of Charlotte and York-Sunbury, in both of which Conservative candidates are already in the field.

Of the 51 candidates already formally chosen, 17 were members of the last parliament. In Nova Scotia 9 Liberals and 1 Conservative are seeking re-election. In New Brunswick 2 Liberals, 3 Conservatives and 1 Independent, in Prince Edward Island, 1 Liberal.

With the exception of A. Dewitt Foster, Conservative candidate in James-Beaver, N. S., who was elected over the late Sir Frederick J. Johnson in the 1911 election, all the remaining candidates are new to the federal arena.

Of this residue, however, several have achieved prominence in the provincial field. The Hon. J. A. MacDonald, Minister of Public Works in the present provincial Conservative government, is opposing J. J. Johnston, a former Attorney-General, of Prince Edward Island in a Liberal government, in the constituency of Kings-River-Liberal. In New Brunswick two former premiers, Hon. J. K. Fleming and Hon. W. B. Foster, recently taken into the Cabinet as Secretary of State, will contest the election, as Premier Fleming in Carleton-Victoria and the present Secretary of State, it is believed, in Saint John-Albert.

"Chautauqua Vesper Service"

Bear River has just had the privilege of enjoying an interesting and instructive Chautauqua. On Sunday evening a Chautauqua Vesper Service was held in the United church. A united choir consisting of twenty-four voices led by singing. The mixed quartet of the Baptist church was heard to good advantage in "The house by the side of the road." Fred Harris touched a responsive note in every heart in the solo "The City four-square." The service was in charge of the Superintendent, Mr. Detrich, who during his short stay in the community has won many friends. Rev. George Bryant of Digby Neck, who was supplying for the Pastor, and Rev. E. J. Bauss of the Baptist church, conducted the devotional part. Instead of the usual address, Mrs. Darnick and her daughter gave several readings, all three were well received but "Gwen's Canyon" from Ralph Conners "Black Rock" was the peak of the service. The congregation joined heartily in the familiar hymns and the whole service was helpful and inspiring.

Bedrooms 60 to 70!
My home is 30 by 60, two stories. I had a No. 40 Maplewood Furnace installed two years ago and it gives splendid heat. Even in the farthest room the temperature is from 60 to 70. Ed. Brochu, Val Brillion, Que.

A big house, and far from a compact one; just the type that tests out a furnace. The Fawcett proves itself. Summer heat in the farthest room. If you want to enjoy this luxury, banish cold bedrooms, drafty living rooms, send for details about Fawcett Furnaces.

Obituary

MRS. ALICE McKAY
The many friends and relatives of Mrs. Alice McKay, of Winslow, Maine, will be saddened to hear of her sudden death, which took place on Thursday, October 8th, of pneumonia, following an attack of bronchial trouble of which she had been afflicted for a number of years.
Mrs. McKay was the eldest daughter of the late Joshua Peck, but had spent the greater part of her life in the United States.
She was of a kind and gentle disposition, a member of the Adventist church, and beloved by all who knew her.
She leaves one son, Edgar, two brothers, Orren, of Winslow, Maine; Levi, of Bear River, and three sisters, Mrs. Lucy Wilson, of Melrose Highlands, Mass.; Clara, of Bear River, and Miriam, of Malden, Mass.
Interment took place at Forest Hill, Boston, beside her husband, who died several years ago.
She rests from her labors.
And her workers do follow her.

Junior Chautauqua

Junior Chautauqua was held on Monday afternoon in Oakdene Hall at 3 p. m. under the direction of Miss Schneider. Mrs. H. C. Anthony acting as pianist.
The entertainment opened with a junior town meeting; the mayor being Eric Robillard. The Council consisted of Town Clerk—Alda Benson; Law and Order Com.—Audrey Robillard; Walter Reade, Henry Romas; Health Com.—Eric Robillard; Clayton Robbins.
After a few remarks by the mayor, a flag salute by the Council, followed.
The minutes were then read by the town clerk, and the policeman's report given.
Walter Reade then spoke on "Citizenship," and Rules of Health were read by Clayton Robbins.
After this a number of games were played, under the direction of Eric Robillard acting as Recreation officer. The programme of games was as follows:
"The Snail," "The Princess," by eight little girls.
Boys' Stunts, including the "Sunflower," "Indian Pony," "Hammer and Anvil" etc.
Hungarian Folk Dance by eight girls.
Ping Pong by twelve boys.

House Cosy Cellar Cool
"The heat capacity is far beyond what I expected and I consider it a very light source of fuel. I would say there is no heat in the cellar whatever as I had potatoes and turnips piled round the back part of the furnace all winter without being damaged in any way. I would not hesitate to recommend the Fawcett Pipeless Wood Furnace."—Albert Payne, Bathurst.
"It has given me all the heat I want and perfect satisfaction. It has not raised the temperature of my cellar one degree at all, or harmed any vegetables in any way."—F. W. Buttmer, Bathurst, N. B.
The Fawcett delivers heat where you want it; instead of waiting it on the way.

Bedrooms 60 to 70!
My home is 30 by 60, two stories. I had a No. 40 Maplewood Furnace installed two years ago and it gives splendid heat. Even in the farthest room the temperature is from 60 to 70. Ed. Brochu, Val Brillion, Que.

A big house, and far from a compact one; just the type that tests out a furnace. The Fawcett proves itself. Summer heat in the farthest room. If you want to enjoy this luxury, banish cold bedrooms, drafty living rooms, send for details about Fawcett Furnaces.

Cheaper than Stoves
"Last Fall I installed a Fawcett Pipeless Furnace, No. 38, in my house and it is giving the very best of satisfaction. As will be seen by the enclosed snapshot, it is a large house and it was considered impossible to heat it with a pipeless furnace, but with much less fuel than the stoves required, every room is heated evenly and comfortably."—Fred J. Nutter, Evandale, N. B.

Not from the illustration above that Mr. Nutter's home is not merely large, but exposed as well. But since installing a Fawcett, every room is warm—at a cost below that of stoves. Recent refinements in the Fawcett (widening the casing for one thing) increases still further its capacity to banish Winter in your home.

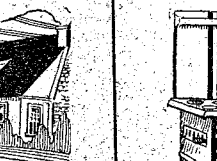

House Cosy Cellar Cool
"The heat capacity is far beyond what I expected and I consider it a very light source of fuel. I would say there is no heat in the cellar whatever as I had potatoes and turnips piled round the back part of the furnace all winter without being damaged in any way. I would not hesitate to recommend the Fawcett Pipeless Wood Furnace."—Albert Payne, Bathurst.

"It has given me all the heat I want and perfect satisfaction. It has not raised the temperature of my cellar one degree at all, or harmed any vegetables in any way."—F. W. Buttmer, Bathurst, N. B.
The Fawcett delivers heat where you want it; instead of waiting it on the way.

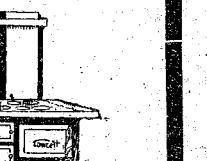

"Summer Weather"
"During last winter when it was registering twenty and twenty-two below zero, we were enjoying summer weather in our house, where in previous winters we have been suffering from the cold. It has indeed been a great source of comfort ever since installed!"—Mrs. Verna Copp, Moncton, N. B.

Fawcett Furnaces, heaters, ranges are made in the largest foundry in the Maritime Provinces—and the best equipped. That's why they have just been awarded first place at the Vancouver Exhibition and their sale is growing by leaps and bounds.

Win this Range
It's free—for the best letter received before Oct. 31, telling us an interesting episode arising out of the possession, or lack, of a Fawcett Furnace, Range or Heater. Story should not contain more than 200 words. The material counts more than the language so all have an equal chance. The range is a perfect miniature steel, nickel, enamel, and will actually cook though height ever all is only 17-1-2 inches.

Free!
Small castiron fry pan. Send 10c for postage and wrapping, stating system of heating now in your home.

Harry Kirkpatrick, of Kentville, is the guest of his parents. Mr. and Mrs. L. Kirkpatrick.

Coun. and Mrs. S. S. Aymer left on Monday the St. John, where they will spend a few days on business.

Friends in Digby County of Mrs. Frank Hayden will be glad to learn that she is making rapid recovery from her recent operation.

Miss Dorothy Miller, of Lansdowne, who was successfully operated on for appendicitis at the Digby General Hospital, has returned to her home.

Leigh Rutherford, who has been employed at Holdsworth's Drug Store the past two weeks, left Tuesday for Yarmouth where he has accepted a position.

L. Kirkpatrick the obliging agent at the local D. A. B. station is enjoying a two weeks well earned vacation turning Nova Scotia, accompanied by Mrs. Kirkpatrick and son Harry.

Miss Evangeline Cairnes, who has been spending the last two months in New Brunswick, returned home Saturday, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Alexander, who returned to Fredericton on Tuesday.

A most unusual sight was witnessed by the fishermen in Digby Bay a few days ago when a huge whale suddenly appeared near the Light House and after spouting several times, lay on its back for the day at great speed. The whale was one of the largest ever seen in this district.

There is always someone, somewhere, who is anxious to buy what you have to sell. Someone has just the article you want to buy. To complete a deal, each must know the other's wants and needs. It is no wonder, therefore, that these wants, known through a classified ad in The Courier.

The people of Nova Scotia are among the largest consumers of tea of any people in the world. And they are also good judges of tea. It is the latter which explains the large consumption of MORSE'S TEA, for if MORSE'S was not of such excellent quality it would not have the extraordinary sale which it enjoys to-day.

"The only honorable and honest way to stop a newspaper is to step into the office and pay up all arrearage, get a receipt and have your name off the list. To fire your paper back at the publisher marked 'refused' when you owe four or five years and still go on and on, is not only disreputable but superlatively dishonest as well.

A pumpkin, weighing fifty-one pounds, has been on exhibition at A. J. Westhaver's market during the past two weeks. The pumpkin was grown in Mr. Westhaver's garden. This week it was placed on tickets, the proceeds to be donated to Digby General Hospital. The sum of $10.00 was realized.

How often do we hear people say: "Where in the world do all the flies come from?" It is simple enough. The larder attracts the blue-bottle fly, the stovetop makes the gad fly, the cyclone makes the house fly, the blacksmith makes the fire fly, the driver makes the horse fly, the grocer makes the sand fly, and the boarder makes the butter fly.

The boat fishermen of Digby have not experienced very good luck during the past few weeks, and on account of the heavy winds some of them have hauled up their boats much earlier than usual. Many of them of the fishermen who have left Digby for the winter, will remain at home this year, where the prospect for work in the woods is very bright at present.

On Saturday evening last a number of young people from Digby and Weymouth North spent a very enjoyable evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Doty, of Ashmore, the occasion being a surprise party in honor of their son, Elsworth. The important feature of the evening was the presentation of a fountain pen to Elsworth by the young friends present. After games music and light refreshments the company departed to their various homes.

Several successful big game hunters have returned here during the past few days. Among those were Josh Drew, F. W. Holdsworth, Dr. McGowan, Arch Morehouse, Dr. Roberts and Dr. Turnbull. Many hunting parties have returned without even sighting a moose. Numerous deer have been seen, some of them in farm yards, but it is a remarkable fact that as soon as the season opens they are conspicuous by their absence. Several American hunting parties have arrived in Digby this fall.

Hamilton Caddy, who appeared before Judge Taylor for several sittings on a charge of theft from the M. P. A., was a few days ago committed to stand trial at the next session of the Supreme Court. Eleven witnesses were called by the prosecution, most of whom swore they paid their membership fees to accused. G. H. Griffith, Central manager of the M. P. A., was present at the trial and swore that the money received by Caddy had not been received by his association. H. B. Caddy appeared for the defense, while Frank Jones, C. C., looked after the case for the defence. Caddy was later admitted to bail.

And this is October.

Ten days until election.

Mrs. George D. Eon, of Weymouth, was in town Friday calling on relatives and friends.

Mrs. A. O. Leighton and family returned to Philadelphia Tuesday after spending the summer here.

Mrs. J. S. Bryant, who spent the last few months at her summer home here, returned to Boston this week.

At the Digby Hospital, October 13, to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon A. Robinson, of Newville, Mass., daughter.

Mrs. H. Green, who has been spending the summer in Digby, expects to leave this week for her home in Toronto.

Eric Morse, of Halifax, was the guest of his mother, Mrs. Maye Morse, First Avenue, for a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Power, who have been spending the summer at their cottage adjoining Lord Lodge, returned to Montreal, New Jersey, on Wednesday.

The Digby General Hospital wishes to acknowledge with thanks the following donations Ladies of Field Comfort Club proceeds from (Giggs Supper) $54.50; Edward Budd, $1.50; A. J. Westhaver, proceeds from sale of squash, $10.00.

The large pumpkin, weighing 50 lbs., which was on exhibition at A. J. Westhaver's Market, and later put on tickets for the Digby Hospital was won by a gentleman in Boston, Mr. Westhaver has been instructed by the winner to donate the pumpkin also to the hospital.

A lecture will be given in the Parish Hall of Holy Trinity church, Digby on Wednesday, October 22, at 8 p. m. Subject: Impressions and Reminiscences of England, Switzerland and India. Address by Rev. Canon J. C. Macdonald, of St. Mark's church, now in course of erection at Burinville, a district near Weymouth, in which there is at present no place of worship.

Capt. George Morrell, of Sandy Cove, has transferred his entire fleet of schooners to Digby port, and same are registered at the local Customs office. This week on Wednesday morning, the schooner Dorothy Earle transferred from the port of Yarmouth to Digby, making the third transfer so far this month. It is to be noted that Mr. Morrell to have his fleet of schooners equipped from the port of Digby in future which will mean considerable business for our merchants, as well as several hundred dollars in taxes for the town.

From every point of view, Chautauqua was a greater success this year than ever before. The artists were of a high standard; several features were educational—such as Junior Chautauqua—the play "Civic and Tact" was well presented, and the end proved what we hoped it would in ultimate co-operation between capital and labor; the S. H. Henry Company was an entirely new feature for a Digby audience, and one of the best magic performances we have witnessed for a long time. Besides the colored sand sketches of Mr. Henry were really beautiful; the company of Swiss Violets gave an excellent entertainment; all being talented artists. The demonstration given by Mrs. Dominick and her daughter, how to dress well on a moderate income, was a fitting presentation for the ladies, and no doubt they learned something about color schemes, etc. Captain John's lectures were alone worth the cost of a season's ticket. He pointed out how we might acquire real generosity of thought; character building; striving to do our utmost for the young by example and precept as well as the helping and making others happy by compassion and sympathy. The citizens were glad to have Miss McNeill as Superintendent, and Miss Rinkhold as Junior Leader, and under her direction the children gave a fine performance. The presentation was very poor this year, and the Guarantors were obliged to make up a deficit of $210.00.

How often do we hear people say: "Where in the world do all the flies come from?" It is simple enough. The larder attracts the blue-bottle fly, the stovetop makes the gad fly, the cyclone makes the house fly, the blacksmith makes the fire fly, the driver makes the horse fly, the grocer makes the sand fly, and the boarder makes the butter fly.

DIGBY, NOVA SCOTIA, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1925

VOL. LII, NO. 12

Nova Scotia First

To the Electors of Digby, Clare and Annapolis,

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—

I come to you again as the Candidate of the Liberal Party in the approaching Federal Election, soliciting your support and votes, and hereby renew my pledge of unremitting devotion and effort in the interest of this Constituency and Province. Never has any administration in Canada accomplished so much against such tremendous odds as has the King Government during the past four years.

Without a working majority in Parliament, with a legacy of debt, and consequent annual sinking fund and interest charges, greater than the National debt before the war, with the Whole Civil Service and administration permeated with the idea of extravagance and loose business methods, caution and economy unknown, we found progress and efficiency blocked by the so-called Civil Service Act, of THE TORIES, BY THE TORIES, and FOR THE TORIES.

In SPITE of the foregoing we have reduced—

THE OPERATING EXPENSES OF GOVERNMENT.
REDUCED THE PUBLIC DEBT.
REDUCED TAXES.
INCREASED IMMIGRATION.
DECREASED EMIGRATION.
INCREASED PROSPERITY AND BUSINESS.
REDUCED AND REVERSED MEIGHEN'S DEFICITS.
Changed Canadian National Railway from a political football to a soundly administered Railway.
Changed operating deficits to Surpluses.
Turned the balance of Trade in Canada's Favor.
Reduced interest rates on Public Debt.

AND

Made Canada's Dollar the Biggest in the World

I stand for the original Laurier Liberal Principles, the backbone and basis of Canada's greatest era of prosperity. CANADA FOR THE CANADIAN PEOPLE—NOT for the Canadian Corporations, or any of the big interests.

I stand for the right of the people to live, not to be protection taxed for the benefit of Montreal and Toronto, but, to eat food, wear clothes, and have life's necessities on a fair basis.

We cannot have free trade under our present National conditions and obligations. I stand for a Revenue Tariff, not high protection, which favors special interests.

As a Liberal I stand and work for Maritime Rights. The Tories should be for Maritime Rights also, for they gave us all our Maritime wrongs!

Who gave us the Raw Deal we got in the Confederation Pact? THE TORIES.

Who killed Reciprocity in 1911? THE TORIES.

Who killed the I. C. Railway for us and gave us our Railway problems? THE TORIES.

Having regard to the condition of the Country and its treasury I have done more for this constituency than any previous member.

You sent me to Ottawa four years ago with the largest majority ever given a Member from this Constituency. Do it again on October 29th. Vote for the welfare of this constituency, for NOVA SCOTIA AND OUR COUNTRY.

Respectfully soliciting your suffrages,

I am,

Yours faithfully,

L. J. Lovett

ARE WE DRIFTING BACKWARD?

To the Editor of the Digby Courier and to whom it may concern:—

Dear Sir:—I beg leave for a space in your valuable paper, if I am not too much out of place.

In passing through the Town of Digby the other day, I took notice that there is no ship building carried on. Forty years or so ago, there was a yard at the Recettes and one near Water Street, about the centre of the Town, where this industry was carried on. Also, we had two Tanneries, Beaman's on a small scale, and Halloworth's on a larger one, where they tanned their own leather and made it up in Boots and Shoes for our Fishermen and Farmers, too. Today, I could not pick up enough chips to boil a pot of potatoes and fish. And as for leather, we have to go outside of Town to get it.

Now Annapolis is not far behind us in this department, and her border line, very little ship building is being done. Not many years ago, we had a vessel built at Point Prim and between that and Guilers Cove, there were three or four places where vessels were built. I also took notice as I looked out on Digby Basin, very few fishing vessels were to be seen. Forty years ago, you could see vessels near Digby, anchored or sailing around the Harbor. Over in the sea of Grandville, you would see a cluster anchored there, then in Turners Bay, you would see some more. Most of these were fishing vessels, owned in Digby, Annapolis and vicinity. The fish caught were handled by the fishermen and owners combined, and sold where they could get the most out of them, according to their labor. Today, our fishermen have no vessels of their own, only small boats to battle with the colling billows. Well, you see, we can call over from Europe a dreadnaught, or two with a beam trawl and scrape the bottom of the ocean, and shovel up more fish in one day (I was going to say) than fifty common fishermen. Well, someone says, "What has got our fishermen where they are today?" Fishing out of American Ports because they are driven in part, and because we are not protecting them nor planning they can make use of the resources lying at their own door, and they are not alone. Where are our best workmen of all kinds?—In America, because we have not given them a chance to live in Nova Scotia where there are hardly any industries at all.

Nova Scotia, although but small, has a boundary of water marked all around it which is teeming with fish more or less, which is her potential. Now these fish have been given for our use and not abuse, so we should protect them and not destroy their values for us. In doing so, we are destroying our own resources, leaving none for the next generation, and it seems to me this is what we are doing with all our resources that God has given us for our use. Animals of all kinds, Birds and the Forests and all creation is willing to use for the protection of man.

Animals and all creation is fulfilling the command of God by being fruitful and multiplying. All but man, who is saying, we have a free will mind of our own and can use a multiplicity of our own make, and do as we please, and so we have all stepped back and down, which is not a forward movement, while God made in his own image, (not in the image of an ape) above animals, have to take the second place as we have dropped below them, and are not worthy of the name "MAN" for we would destroy ourselves and all creation, if God would permit us. What we want right here is home protection with God in it. If we leave Him out, we will only go farther astray. Jesus says that we are to love God and hear Him and keep his Commandments and "Love our Neighbor as ourself." Now we are all born with a selfish spirit, more or less. Now I am after money, and I see a chance for me by heading off my neighbor to pick up the dollar and leave the five cent piece for him, certainly we are good friends. But the five cent man begins to complain, "Cuthbert, you know that I have a family of nine, all told, to feed and take care of, while you have only one. I am foolish as you, perhaps I will have as large a family as you, so you need not expect me to support you in your foolishness." There is that which scatters and yet increases, and there is that which withholds more than is meet and is tendeth to poverty. Jesus said, "What will it profit, if we gain the whole world and lose our own Soul, or what will a man give in exchange for his Soul? His money will not count in Heaven, neither will it count in Hell, and perhaps in a short time, it will not count here. Why if God sends a famine in our land and you can not get one loaf of Bread to buy with your money, will money count? Not then make good use of it while it does count, for not one (For no man liveth and sinneth not.)

Now I see by the Courier we have two candidates in the field canvassing for the

MRS FRED PECK

The death of Mrs. Fred Peck occurred at her home on Sept. 4th, at North Lake, N. B., after several months illness, which she bore with patient and christian fortitude. She was the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Peck, of Greendale, Annapolis Co., and was sixty-one years of age. She was a member of the Methodist church, a kind loving daughter, mother, wife and sister. She leaves her husband, three children and a number of brothers and sisters, also her parents. Interment took place at North Lake, N. B.

MAJOR R. TIMPANY

The death of Major R. Timpany, a much respected citizen of Rossaway, occurred at his home there on Oct. 17th. He had reached the advanced age of 80 years. Mr. Timpany, during life was a faithful member of the Anglican Church. In politics he was a Conservative.

His widow, who was his second wife and formerly Mrs. Elisha Holdsworth, of Digby, survives him. His first wife was Mrs. Robt. Rossaway, by whom he leaves two sons and two daughters.

His sons, James of Gardiner, Mass., and Frederick, of Philadelphia, arrived in time to attend their father's funeral, which took place Oct. 18th.

His daughters are Mrs. John Hines of Chipodoe, Mass., and Mrs. Edith Newcombe at home.

He was interred in the church yard of St. John's Rossaway, Rev. W. Driffield, Rector of Digby parish performing last rites.

Half Holiday Optional For Election Day

The half-holiday for the afternoon of election day and which will be from noon to the balance of the day, is not obligatory.

The public may observe it or not, but it is customary to carry out any proclamation of the sort. A statute empowered the Government to proclaim any occasion a public holiday and it has been done in this case. Bills of exchange are not affected in coming due, because the day will be only a half holiday.

General observance of the coming half-holiday is expected and it is likely to increase the number voters.

coming election. One a Grit and the other a Tory. Well, I am a compound mixture of the two, they call me Tory and that will show as the master which I might be. Now we will commence at home and see what the Grits have done to us and the Tories have done to their own hands for forty years, and trotted the horse to suit themselves. The Tories of Nova Scotia are the ship that have steered her as they pleased. Finally, they ran ashore because they did not look out in time to take in the skyscraper and Ballou sails—there she is today on her beam ends. They say it was all the Tories' fault. Well, I have heard about Daniel Cooper and the Tories Cooper's dog, it may seem out of place, and yet it is where they have placed us. Now what have these Tories dogs to do? Why cut out the ballast in the hold which has shifted to leeward, bail out the water, and drive some longer spikes in place of those short ones which caused the leak when the planks came off, and try in some way to get her on float before she turns turtle.

Forty years ago, we were in a good healthy condition going forward, today, we look and see ourselves shipwrecked and in a sinking condition. Now as God's people are not all of Israel, that are called Israel, but few and Gentile combined together, so it is with Tories, not all Tories, that are called Tories, but Tory and Grit combined. Now what we want to do Election day is to have a mind of our own and vote for whom we please and to do Election day for a mess of Pottage nor a drink through the neck of a bottle. I know if I am permitted to be there, I shall vote Liberal and conserve there, too.

Now, Mr. Editor, no doubt, I have tried your patience waiting for me to get through rambling about. I thank you very kindly and if there is anything I have said seems out of place, please pick it to pieces, and throw a few of them to the wind, the rest can be put in the waste basket to rest.

Yours in the faith of better days to come

A VOTER.

Pilgrimage Return

Rev. F. J. A. Mallett and Juvénat A. Deveau, of Salmon River, who had charge of the annual pilgrimage to St. Anne de Beaupre on Monday last returned to their homes on Saturday. During the Pilgrimage the cure was effected to Miss Helen White, age 22 years, who has been an invalid for the past year and a half. When Miss White left home on Monday she was in a wheel chair but on Saturday her friends were surprised to see her get out of the chair and walk. She was able to get out and enjoy her breakfast Saturday in St. John for the first time in two years. On Sunday Miss White was able to walk to church in her home parish at Salmon River and attend services.

Others who were notably cured were Miss Elizabeth Comeau, 15 years old, who has been troubled with her spine for the past six months; and Mrs. C. Comeau who had been complaining of infirmity rheumatism.

Among those who were in the party were Rev. J. A. Mallett, Juv. A. Deveau, Mrs. Helen White, Miss Marie Mallett, Mrs. Jos. Moulaison, Mrs. Lizzie LeBlanc, Miss Elizabeth Comeau, Miss Edith Comeau, Miss Helen White, Miss Collette Comeau, Mrs. Blanche Robichaud, Miss Lodie Comeau, Miss Delma Robichaud, Mrs. Arthur Robichaud, Mrs. Auguste LeBlanc, George LeBlanc, Miss Janet Thibault, Miss Lucie Comeau, Miss Octavie Comeau, Mr. and Mrs. D. Duncanson, Miss Amy Robichaud, Wilfred, orphanage, Mrs. Emile Deveau, Mrs. Frank Comeau and Luc. Deveau.

Mr. Deveau is employed in C. N. R. and has been in Montreal and formed the pilgrimage there and returned to Salmon River with where he will remain for a few days.

Deep Brook

Miss E. A. McClelland spent the week end with friends in Round Hill.

Walter Reid returned home from Boston on Tuesday after a few weeks visit there. Mrs. Sarah McClelland spent last week the guest of her niece, Mrs. Freeman Rice at Lunenburg.

Miss S. A. Spurr and Mrs. F. W. Rice left here on Tuesday for Boston and R. I. Mrs. Spurr will be in Montreal on Wednesday. Mrs. Rice expects to spend the winter with her sister Miss Blanch Spurr at Central Falls, N. J.

Robert Vroom and Edgar Sully were among the successful moose hunters who returned last week.

J. H. Berry and Ed. Smith went on a short business trip to Torbrook this week.

Fred Purdy returned to Boston on Tuesday after a pleasant two weeks spent with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Purdy.

Mrs. Willis Rice and children, of Nicotax Falls, were recent guests at Mr. and Mrs. Loran's.

Thomas Flynn and family left here on Saturday for Wallace, Cumberland Co. where they expect to spend the winter.

Mrs. J. M. Nichols entertained the Dorcas Society on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Wright and son Millard, of Annapolis Royal, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nichols.

W. H. Berry made a S. W. Camp last night in a White Sand Lake on a moose hunting trip. We wish them success.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

Having been nominated at the largest and most enthusiastic Convention ever held in this Constituency to be a Candidate of the Liberal-Conservative Party to represent them in the forthcoming Election, and having decided to offer myself, I ask you for your valued support.

You are aware that this is one of the largest Constituencies in area of any in the Province and it is therefore impossible for me to make a personal canvass of each section, and it is only by this means that I can present to you what policy I stand for if elected to be your representative in the next Parliament.

There is one issue more important to Nova Scotia than all others and that is Maritime Rights and a revival of our industries. That is the issue I stand for and shall work for and will use my best endeavours to secure for Nova Scotia a square deal. I will put Province before party every time.

The Conservative Candidates throughout Nova Scotia have all declared themselves to support Maritime Rights and with a united stand on their part there is not the least doubt but what the interests of the Province will be thoroughly looked after, and if the Meighen Government is returned to power on October 29, there will be a body of men pledged to see that we get our Rights.

Again soliciting your support and, if elected as your representative it will be my aim to bring about better conditions in this Province.

SATISFACTION

A seemingly low price for an article is always attractive, but unfortunately frequently misleading. How often is heard the remark—"I would rather have paid a little more and got the quality I wanted."

As a matter of fact that "little more" was necessary to obtain the better quality. Good goods require a higher price to be good.

Our Golden Nugget

Often, when troubled, I turn to the psalms for comfort in my dismay; and always I find a crumb of hope for my soul to take away. Always I search with a glowing heart, for a word to set me right. And always I find a line that glows like a star on a stormy night. There is one psalm that I love to read—"God is my strength," it sings. Oh, it has lifted my mind above the earth, like a bird on wings. "We will not fear," it bravely tells, "though the mountains fall in the sea." This is a psalm that I love to read, for it gives new faith to me!

A Good Move

We were glad to see the following item in a newspaper a few days ago:—"In future no employee of the Dominion Government will be required to work on Sunday." It seemed a circumstance of emergency or necessity. If the employee is required to work on Sunday, he shall be allowed during the next six days of the week a period of twenty-four hours for rest.

The above is the effect of an Order-in-Council which has been passed by the Dominion Government. It declares that there shall be no exception to the above rule except by departmental authority, and then only when there is no substitute to do the work.

It is about time for our Government to take a stand on the subject of Sabbath observance. Our railway authorities have been robbing God and man by the way in which they have required their employees to work on Sunday. They have compelled men not only to violate the Sabbath but also to violate natural law. We have heard of engine-drivers who were permitted so little sleep that they slept while running the train. If this is not slavery it is the first cousin to it. Railway Sabbath desecration has been setting a bad example to the people, now the Government is going to set a good example but the automobile has taken up the bad example. We remember the time when even passenger trains did not run on Sunday. Such trains from Montreal stopped over Sunday at a town in Northern New Brunswick, but that was in the days of ignorance; the time when men obeyed God's law rather than their own desire.

The important thing to-day is, what man wants? The ordinary man wants but what the big man wants. The big man has been insulting his Creator for a good

PAINS ACROSS THE BACK

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mitchell, Ontario.—"I have taken your medicine for a number of years. I do not take it steadily all the time, but I am never without it. I always keep it in the house. I took it first for pains in the abdomen and bearing-down pains, and when I was unable to get on my feet, and have my home to look after and many a day I could not get up at all. I saw the advertisement in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and Mrs. John Miller told me about it, too. Every time I take it, it makes me feel better and I always recommend it to my friends. I am willing to answer letters from women asking about this medicine and you may use this letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. F. J. WASSMANN, Mitchell, Ontario.

The health of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is told by women to each other. Many women know by experience what this medicine will do and they are anxious for others to know. Such testimony should cause any woman suffering from the troubles so common to her sex to give this well-known medicine a fair trial.

Do you know that in a recent canvass among women in the Vegetable Compound over 220,000 replies were received to the question, "Have you received benefit by taking this medicine?" 95 per cent. replied "Yes."

This means that 95 out of every 100 women are better for their health because they have given this medicine a fair trial.

many years and now he is bringing himself. This seems to be the work which the Communist has set himself to do. He feels himself called to insult the big man, to rob him, to bring him down from the high position and make him a small man. The man who turns his back upon God does not get far in this world before circumstances show him what he is worth. The Communists have been giving Russian aristocracy just what its members deserved. We do not say in every instance but in the majority of instances. Strange, but a number of the English aristocrats are joining with the British Communists to give the English big man what he should receive. The world need to be reformed and if men will not reform themselves then the powers of darkness will be permitted to reform them, and those powers do their work thoroughly. Communism is a clean, honest, and acid class. The pity is that men have not sense enough to keep it bottled up.

Premier Rhodes in Digby

H. B. Short, the standard bearer of the Liberal-Conservative party in the constituency of Digby-Annapolis, opened his campaign here Friday at a meeting in the Arena Rink. About 300 electors were present.

Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Premier of Nova Scotia, and Col. G. S. Harrington, Minister of Mines in the Provincial Government, were present and assisted the candidate at the meeting. T. E. G. Lynch acted as chairman and after a few remarks introduced Col. Harrington as the first speaker.

Mr. Harrington dealt principally with provincial policies and "Maritime rights." The speaker stated that he was surprised to see so much vacant land and empty houses on his way today by automobile from Yarmouth and it seemed a shame that the fathers and mothers, as well as the sons and daughters, were forced to leave our province in order to seek a livelihood. The situation was becoming a serious problem and needed careful consideration.

Speaking on matters in the mining districts, Col. Harrington stated that only two days ago a steamer arrived at Sydney with a load of steel rods manufactured in Germany. He questioned officials of the British Empire Steel Corporation and was told that the rods could be landed at Sydney after paying freight $10 a ton cheaper than they could be manufactured at the Sydney plant. And the same held true with every manufacturing concern in the Maritimes. The only solution was a higher protective tariff.

Mr. Short confined his remarks principally to "Maritime rights" and local topics. If elected he would go to Ottawa with a view to putting pressure before party and if elected he would go to Ottawa on matters pertaining to the Maritimes. He would not be bound to any machine rule but would use his best judgement at all times.

Regarding the Canadian National railways, Mr. Short stated that no man in Canada was worth the salary which Sir Henry Thornton was receiving today.

Premier Rhodes was the last speaker and was given an attentive hearing, he dealt with provincial affairs and what his party had accomplished since assuming office. He congratulated the people on their choice of a candidate and felt that they would make no mistake in sending Mr. Short to Ottawa to look after the affairs of the combined constituency of Digby-Annapolis.

Leaves Of Autumn

Leaves of color, falling, blowing, shifting, piling on the ground, have a certain way of showing that the summer's not around.

On the trees are some remaining-colored leaves in bright array; but the falling ones are falling, dropping, blowing, every way.

Leaves of autumn, piling, shifting, in the street and on the grass—falling, floating, landing, drifting—show us how the seasons pass.

We may rake them as they're falling, but they do not come to drop in new quantities appalling—seems as though they'd never stop.

Leaves of autumn, all remind us, as today we rake the leaves, that tomorrow's bound to find us with another pile thereon.

Leaves of color, falling, blowing, shifting, piling on the ground, tell us that the year is going, and that fall has rolled around.

Hard To Explain

Has it ever been fully explained why it is that a man on a cold, raw day will sit four hours uncomplainingly on a hard board in a rowboat and hold a fish pole yet shrink and shiver and fidget if he is asked to sit more than an hour and fifteen minutes on a cushioned seat in a well-warmed church?

Just Talks--On Common Themes

On "The Pedestrian"

THE camel is slowly passing; the zebra is a rare animal and said to be getting more rare; the dodo is done for. The next thing to become extinct will be the pedestrian. Or if he does not actually pass out of existence he will change his type according to the well known Darwinian theory of "adaptability." He will turn into a kangaroo.

Once upon a time everybody walked because he had no other means of conveyance. He had not learned to ride lions; tame elephants; nor had he trained his wife or wives to carry him on the back or in a litter. It was years and years, before he even learned to ride the streams on a log. He was taught this by the mud-turtle. The stupidest thing in the society of beasts, he was slowest to learn to ride.

Thru the ages, man has walked less and less. Today he is dodging automobiles and taking short trips around the office. He does not walk up stairs any more and not even down stairs. An office boy, who once would leap down three stairs at a time, will not wait long for ten minutes if the elevator man is out for an ice cream cone and if the elevator is hung up for repairs, the errand boy won't go at all. One of them starved to death sitting right there on the stairs, in an office building in upper Canada the other day, when the elevator was permanently abandoned by order of the inspector.

Simion Ford said once, in a speech on automobiles, that the pedestrian leaped like the agile chamois of the Alps, from crag to crag at the sound of the hunter's horn, only in this case it was the automobilists' horn. "And," he added, "the motorist today does not even blow his horn." He mows the pedestrian down in a quiet and dignified way and passes on to seek new pedestrians by stealthy approach.

The pedestrian today simply seeks not to be run down by an automobile hearse. He finds as a rule no disgrace in being run over by a furniture van; but he does not want it on his tombstone "killed by being run over by a hearse." A man who is agile enough to cross a street and only have his hat knocked off by a Ford truck, will often be picked off by one of Uncle Henry's vest pocket Lincolns. He never will be able to tell whether the trouble was due to a wet pavement or a wet driver. The next war will probably be settled by sending our soldiers over to foreign countries to cross their busy corners and they will send their soldiers over here; and after five years they will take a tally and the one which has the most soldiers will win the war. They have no business walking anyway. Why not buy cars? If eventually, why not now?

On the other hand there is a renaissance of long-distance walking called "hiking." It is, too, generally commended, lest walking should become popular in cities. Why permit it to become popular? What right have these poor folks who walk to be cluttering up the streets? Why don't they get a car and sit back and run over folks? What are balloon tires for anyway; if not to ride easily over the prone bodies of pedestrians without discomfort to the occupants of the limousine.

The chauffeur, for instance, who has just run over a 200 lb. lady, now turns to the owner of the car at his side or the wife in the back seat and says, as they speed along, "That shows you how easy you can run over 'em if you only have balloons." She must be weighed a ton, that old dame. Agents for shock absorbers will soon be advertising, "Guaranteed to permit your car to run over people up to 400 pounds without appreciable jar." If you must walk have an accident policy; pin your address to the inside of your shirt; and then when you are oking smilingly up from the ground with all your arms and legs broken, you can point to your accident policy which should be sewed into your clothing also and say with your dying breath: "I expected this; but not so soon."

One thing the pedestrians must always bear in mind—he has no peculiar rights of the road. Common law gives him rights only on the sidewalks. When he steps to the pavement, he is to all intents a motor car, a horse or a jackass. And as a matter of fact, he is less than a horse or a jackass. The horse or the jackass can see both ways at once. His eyes are set in the corner of his head and he can see things coming, and going. A poor man who cannot seem to educate his children, buy groceries, pay for life insurance, support his wife's mother and his own mother; subscribe to charitable institutions and pay his poll-tax, and at the same time buy a car and pay 35c a gallon for gas, can't even see at all. Of course he can buy a fifty dollar secondhand Ford, with a brass front and ventilated celluloid windows, and run it for a couple of weeks to get even by killing off his neighbors, but after all, it hardly pays at that.

Pedestrianism, if it is to live, must live by travelling across lots. Country roads are very dangerous. Pedestrians are picked off every few hours by cars swinging around corners of leafy roads, with a chauffeur tightly locked in the arms of a lady friend the car running along at 40 miles an hour. High mountains are left alone. In a few years there may be here and there a few mountain-climbers who "safest and alone take to the open world" but they will be fewer and fewer. And the time will come when the last pedestrian will fling himself from the peak of a mountain or down a gorge, because someone blew a dinner horn in a house down the valley. And his requiem will echo "What's the use?"

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Tibert, of Freeport, who have been spending a few weeks with her mother, Mrs. Joseph Shortliffe, left last week for home.

Hubert Wilson, of Joggin Bridge, and John Balser Jr., spent Sunday at John Marshall's.

Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall motored to Waldeck West on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex P. Horter spent Monday in Plympton the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Baxter.

Roxville

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hall on the birth of a son.

Mrs. Heber Small and daughter Mrs. D. Ross, were visiting their friend Mrs. Lottie Tassel, last Sunday.

Vincent Bowe came from Round Hill last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Miller and family arrived on Friday to spend a few days with Mrs. Miller's parents, Capt. and Mrs. J. E. Woodworth. They returned to their home in Yarmouth on Monday.

Political Meeting

One of the largest political meetings ever held in Bear River, took place Friday evening in Oakdene Hall by the Liberal-Conservative party, with R. N. Harris in the chair.

The speakers of the evening were Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Premier of Nova Scotia; Hon. J. A. Harrington, H. B. Short, conservative candidate for Annapolis Digby.

Bear River East

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sulis, of Deep Brook, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson.

Mrs. Helen Jefferson is spending a few weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Ruggles.

Surprise Party

A number of friends of Miss Winnifred Sullivan gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Warren on Monday evening for the purpose of celebrating Miss Sullivan's birthday. A very enjoyable evening was spent with music and games, after which delicious refreshments were served.

Pie Social

A pie social was held by the ladies circle of the Baptist church at the home of Mrs. Carl Miller. A large number attended.

B. R. THS

Smith's Cove

Miss Cenith Thomas left on Wednesday Oct. 7th, for Milton, Queens Co., where as Convenor of the Agricultural Committee of the Women's Institute she lectured at the public school exhibition Oct. 8th. On the evening of the same day a reception was held at the home of Professor S. D. Merry. Miss Thomas left for home the following day.

Miss John Berry of Clementsvalle, was the guest of her son, William Berry, for several days last week.

Oakley Smith was successful in getting a deer on the morning of Oct. 15th.

Home Division met as usual on Wednesday evening, Oct. 14th, with a very much better attendance than has been had for some time. Everyone seemed to be in good spirits and a very pleasant evening was spent by all present. The officers for the present quarter were installed and other business transacted. Plans are being made for a Halloween Social, the proceeds of which are to be used towards repairs on the Hall. Not only was the attendance and social spirit of the evening far above the average, but the financial side was encouraging in the extreme.

In the absence of the pastor, Rev. Frank Smith, the Baptist pulpit will be filled, on Sunday next, by a visiting clergyman.

A social was held on Tuesday evening of last week, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Berry. Clam chowder, pie and candy were sold. The proceeds amounted to $18.25, which will be paid on the Parsonage Fund. During the evening games and music were heartily enjoyed by those present. The next affair of this kind will be in the form of a community sing to be held in the Temperance Hall on the evening of the 27th of Oct. Candy, etc., will be for sale and a silver collection taken.

On Monday afternoon Miss Cenith Thomas, Convenor of the Agricultural Committee of the Women's Institute, lectured to the teachers and pupils of our public school. Her subject was "The Preserving of Our Forest."

Culloden

Miss Weatlite Hutchinson, of Roxville, is spending a few days this week with Mrs. John Ross.

Mrs. Jessie Balcom, of Karsdale, spent a few days this week with her sister, Mrs. James Handspeker.

Miss Bessie Bain and Mrs. Alfred Handspeker were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Bain on Sunday.

James Trohon, of Digby, is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Murphy.

Two missionaries, Miss Robinson and Miss Goodway, of Ontario, are holding meetings in the village this week.

Canadian Pacific Mount Compartment Sleepers

The Greatest of satisfaction has been expressed by those who have travelled between Saint John and Montreal in the Compartment Sleepers, which have been in operation since August last on Canadian Pacific train 15 leaving Saint John at four o'clock in the afternoon, and train 16 leaving Montreal at seven o'clock in the evening.

This class of sleeper has always been operated on the more important lines of the Canadian Pacific, and its adoption lately on the Montreal route has proved very successful, and growing more popular all the time.

The style of compartment sleeper in service here has three compartments, one drawing room while the balance of the car is given to observation purposes. Of course the car is fitted up in Canadian Pacific style and standard, and all the arrangements lead to the complete comfort of the occupant.
The accommodations offer every opportunity for rest and relaxation, and at the same time give ample chance to view the scenery en route.

Each compartment containing one lower and one upper berth, and all toilet facilities, etc., much the same as the regular drawing rooms; they are what might be termed Private Staterooms, and are considerably less in price than the ordinary drawing rooms. Patrons desiring strict privacy with all the comfort and accommodations offered in drawing-rooms, or those who heretofore have been unable to secure drawing-room, will find the compartment of the greatest benefit.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 p. c. AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly bright, soft white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading Universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, simple, clean and safe. Burns 94 p. c. air and 6 p. c. common kerosene (coal oil).
The inventor, J. M. Johnson, 248 Craig
St. W., U. S. Government, is sending a lamp on 10 days FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

The Road Question

Editor of the Courier:

Dear Sir:
I sincerely congratulate you on your editorial in the last issue of the Courier under the caption "People or Party?"
I also heard several people in this community pass favorable comments on it.

I believe that the fair minded people of this country realize that the time has come to protect their own interests and that of their country rather than support a political party which promises everything yet gives nothing.

In this district the only modern improvement in the tax-payers' route is the public highways. In my letter of last week I tried to give a fair unbiased description of the road construction under way in North Range.

It being impossible to get the exact figures on the job of course it will be understood that the figures used are estimates unless otherwise stated. Conservatively one hundred and seventy dollars was spent in hauling mud into the road bed to be used as a sub grade. When all that was necessary to put the road into proper condition to grade was one half day's labor with two yokes of cattle and a road scraper to shape up the shoulders of the road (to give the road bed drainage)
at a cost of approximately six dollars.

The balance of the difference in the two costs could have been spent in good gravel.

The so called gravel that is being put out at the present time is hauled two miles at a price said to be eighteen cents a barrel. The farthest end of the new construction is two and one half miles from the shore. When one compares the two grades of gravel it will be seen at a glance that the quality of the beach gravel would offset the slightly longer haul.

The beach gravel was hauled to the railroad crossing for twenty cents a barrel. The beach gravel is just the quality required on the bill under discussion as the wash is very heavy on this section of road.

As the distance is a little beyond the railroad I would consider twenty-one cents a barrel a fair price to be paid for hauling from the shore. As far as the amount put on the road is concerned only three trips a day can be made from either place with cattle. Another improvement on the present job would be to give the teamsters an extra cent a barrel for spreading their loads instead of paying a man thirty cents a day for the work that a real man would do in less than thirty minutes. Did the higher officials ever stop and consider that this is a cost of ten cents a minute for the work actually done? It is not fair to the public to have a job managed under such conditions.

Now let us consider what we have for what has been spent on the job. The estimate of one hundred and seventy dollars already spent for mud, and an estimate of six hundred and ninety dollars (of loan and sand for surface grading) at eighteen cents a barrel, plus an estimate of twenty-four dollars for spreading gives a total cost of two hundred and ninety dollars, and remember citizens all we have to show for the expenditure is a quagmire. If the proper method had been used the cost would have been six dollars for shaping up the road (and in order to come anywhere near the actual cost of the mud and gravel we would need a cost of twenty-two cents a barrel (this amount of gravel would put a six inch grade on the road) making a total cost of approximately two hundred and seventy dollars. This would not be too much graveling again for years and we would have had a road the equal of any gravel road in the county.

Mr. Editor do they give responsible positions to men in this country for their ability or because at sometime or other they have been a whip for the political party with which they are affiliated?

"Christians" struggle through the "Sloth of Despond" was no greater than our physical struggle through the mud of North Range.

Thanking you in advance for your valuable space and looking forward to future editorials as powerful as those in the past, I am still

One Of The Wallflower's Of The Mud.

Here and There

Sport conditions are very good in New Brunswick this year. Harold Chadwick operating hunting camps in the province reports that at the end of September catches of speckled trout weighing 13½ lbs. were taken one day while a hunter took out a big game licence September 23rd and three days later had his deer and bear.

The world's most northerly police post, also the most remote of any human habitation, is to be constructed next year for the Royal Canadian Mounted Police at the far end of Ellesmere Island. Building materials and two years' supplies will be cached within easy freighting distance of the point where men will be detailed for patrol duty on the lonely shores of Riel straits.

Appointments recently made through the office of the Comptroller Canadian Pacific Railway headquarters are W. J. Cherry who becomes Freight Claims Auditor in place of J. R. Steele retired under pension rules, and W. L. Moran appointed Assistant Freight Claims Auditor. Both these gentlemen have been connected with the Freight Claims department for many years past.

Because the prospects for hunting and fishing in northern regions of Quebec are more attractive this autumn than they have been for several seasons, the number of residents of the United States applying to the Quebec association for the protection of fish and game for guides and licences is much greater than it has been for some time, according to the secretary of the association.

A very pleasing incident occurred during the visit to Montreal of Madame Maria Jerziza, world-famous operatic star. Col. George H.
Ham, "Grand Young Man" of the Canadian Pacific Railway who had met the singer before, sent his felicitations in the form of a bouquet, and Madame Jerziza replied with a bouquet of roses made of sugar with the hope that his days also would be sugar-coated. She gave a one-night recital in Montreal, leaving for Toronto the following day.

Isaac Gouverneur Ogden, vice-president in charge of finance, Canadian Pacific Railway, attained his 81st birthday October 10. Mr. Ogden is as active as ever although he has spent 34 years in railway work.
He joined the C.P.R. as auditor of the western division with headquarters at Winnipeg in 1881 and has been vice-president of the system since 1901. Mr. Ogden was the recipient of flowers and congratulations from his colleagues on the occasion of his birthday.

Carelessness and lack of forethought on the part of some unknown motorist at Belleville might have led to serious accidents if it had not been soon discovered that the wig-wag signal protecting the C.P.R. level crossing on the Kingston Road was out of order. Investigation showed that an automobile had driven out of its course and broken the rays of the wig-wag cutting the electrical contact. A watchman was immediately placed at the signal until necessary repairs had been made.

The Montreal Windsor street station police team are the champions of the Quebec district in the First Aid contests held at the Place Viger hotel in that city under the auspices of the Canadian Pacific Railway. They won the contest against teams from Ottawa and Quebec and are now holders of the Gatelin Challenge Cup, emblematic of the C.P.R. First Aid championship of the province. The championship of the New Brunswick district was won by the McAdam team who competed against Saint John and Woodstock.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL NEWS

The Courier asks every reader to help make this page interesting by contributing any local news or personal items they may know about. The editor must depend on the parties interested to make this page interesting. Don't hesitate to send persons concerning your family, or your town. We want them all. Don't blame the editor if what you expect is not here. If you have not yourself taken the pains to see that the office was informed of the item. Anything in the matter of advertising appearing in these columns must be paid for at the rate of 5¢ a line. This applies to Cards of thanks, Announcements, etc. Charged items will be 10¢ a line. No advertisement less than 30 cents.

E. Hart Nichols, K. C., who spent a few days with his family last week, has returned to Halifax. Mrs. Nichols will join Mr. Nichols next week.

Owing to increase in advertising a large amount of local matter has been left out until next issue. Among the items left out was an article, "What of Digby's Future," and this will also appear in next week's issue.

A large number of citizens from Digby have attended to the nomination of the Liberal and Conservative candidates. Considerable enthusiasm was evidenced at the meeting and both candidates were heartily cheered as they addressed the issues of the day.

There are two quantities in tea which appeal to the average person. One is flavor, the other the number of cups the can get to the pound. MORSE'S TEA possesses both of these qualities. It is the flavor that pleases and 240 cups of good strong tea can be made from a single pound.

Automatic machinery has developed to the point where you can imagine a future generation "taking life easy" while machines do the work. Who'd supply the food? Machinery cannot grow it. Soil tillers would lock to the city, requiring long hours of toil. Possibly the airplane will break up the cities and people will scatter to the country, each family growing most of its own food.

Two actors were perambulating along the Strand when one of them suddenly doffed his hat and bowed in stately fashion to an old gentleman who was passing. "I am more to that man than I do to the lady," he murmured. "I do not know the lady, but I am sure she is the wife of the man I am bowing to." "Not exactly, laddie, he's my landlord."

At the last meeting of Women's Christian Temperance Union at Weymouth, it was decided that it would be most economic injury to the Province if the Temperance Act was amended to make legal the beverage sale of beer and wine. We request the Provincial Government not to grant the petition of the Moderation League, calling for such amendment and it was further resolved that we request the Provincial Government to provide for the effective enforcement of the Act and to make necessary amendment at the ensuing session of the Legislature for the improvement of the Act.

Thomas G. A. Cumming, of Smith's Cove, was pleasantly surprised to receive the following letter, accompanied by the "chair mentioned": "Your friends of Smith's Cove and vicinity, including summer tourists, have great pleasure in presenting you with this chair as a token of the high esteem in which you are held. 'Tom' would like through the Courier to express his sincere thanks to the good people who were back of this kind thought, and especially Charles Green, the genial 'Ranchman' who has made his home in this section for the past four or five years, and who first met Tom some twenty years ago while they were in Halifax Hospital together. 'Tom' while deprived of the power to walk by an accident of birth has endeavored himself to do his share of the world, and with patient acceptance of 'Life,' as taught him by a good Christian mother, has made his home in this part of Canada since the death of father, the late John Cumming, marine engineer and a faithful employee of the Charlottetown Navigation Co. for over thirty years. Tom would wish for his friends both here and in many parts of the world the best of what the world most dear for them. The Chair is a fine piece of work, and was designed and assembled by Mr. Barkhouse of Bear River. Kindness lives beyond the measure of him who gives."—Cum.

EARLY WINTER COLDS

Cold and Grip germs find their earliest victims among those who are weak and run down and whose resisting power is lowest. The pure food elements in Father John's Medicine build energy to resist cold and Grip germs. The gentle laxative effect of Father John's Medicine helps to drive out impurities. You are safe when you take Father John's Medicine because it is free from alcohol or other dangerous drugs in any form. 10 YEARS IN USE.

Weddings

MORRELL-HUDSON

At the home of Mrs. John Hudson, Grand Falls on Thursday evening, Oct. 15th, was the scene of a pretty wedding, when her daughter, Catherine was united in marriage to George Morrell, of Westport, N.S. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. S. Mullen in the presence of the immediate friends and relatives. The bride was very becomingly attired in a dress of navy satin. Mrs. Chester Cochran acted as bridesmaid, while the groom was supported by Mr. Cochran. After the ceremony was performed and the happy couple congratulated, a very generous luncheon was served of which all partook very willingly and all seemed to enjoy. The many beautiful gifts given, showed the high esteem in which the young couple were held. The bride was for many years an employee of one of the reputable firms of the town. The groom is a prosperous farmer. The happy couple left shortly after Westport, N.S. where they will reside. All wish them well and may every happiness be theirs.

sermon was given by Rev. Father Mery, P. P. Church Point, who spoke on St. John Eudes as a missionary. At five o'clock there was Solemn Benediction and Veneration of the Relics. The service on Sunday, the closing day, were held in St. Mary's Church, Bishop Chislow was the celebrant of the Solemn High Mass, and the preacher was Rev. Father Morin who spoke on St. John Eudes as the founder of the Eudist order, the founder of the Devotion to the Sacred Heart, and the work of the Eudist order in Canada. A banquet to the Alumnus was given Sunday noon.

Town Council

At Monday night's meeting of the Town Council, a letter was read from Chief of Police Bent stating that when he was appointed Chief of Police he had applied to Mayor Anderson and Police Committee for an increase in salary. Said Committee declined to allow him the increase but agreed that if he was still in duty as Chief of Police at the expiration of six or seven months from date of his appointment, he should receive $100 instead of the increase which he had applied for. The Chief consented to this arrangement and as approximately eight months had elapsed since such agreement was made with the Committee, he now considered said sum was due him and respectfully requested that the amount be paid.

The letter brought forth considerable discussion from the Mayor and Councilors. Coun. Merkel claimed that when the agreement was made it was to the effect "that if the Chief collected sufficient in fines to warrant a bonus, that the sum of $100 would be paid him." But the Chief had not done this, declared Coun. Merkel, therefore he did not think that he was entitled to the money asked.

His Worship Mayor Anderson agreed with what Coun. Merkel had said. While a meeting had been held informally, nothing had been transacted that warranted giving Chief Bent $100 as a bonus, and he did not think the Council should vote such a sum.

Chief Bent explained to the Council what the Police Committee had done in the matter. He believed that when the Committee promised him the sum of $100 that same would be given as promised. He asked that the Council make a motion and that it be either voted for or against, so he could find out where he really stood in the matter.

Coun. Merkel thought there was no need of a motion, but this did not meet with the wishes of Coun. Holdsworth, who claimed that if the Chief had a case to defend, he should be given a chance to defend himself. If there was a verbal agreement, Chief Bent should be given the money. Coun. Holdsworth declared that the Temperance Committee were to blame if Chief Bent had not carried out his duties relating to the enforcement of the Nova Scotia Temperance Act. The Temperance Committee were very lax, declared the speaker.

Coun. Lindstrom did not think it would pay for the Council to go into the matter fully, and moved, seconded by Coun. Aymar, that the Chief's letter be referred to the Police Committee for action.

After the motion was put and carried, the Council adjourned.

Canada

I saw as in a vision a lady beautiful and fair,
Countless gems were sparkling in her dress and hair.
The snow white tresses of which her robes were made,
Reflected in the many folds the jeweled clasps there laid.

She stood in dignity and moved with slow majestic tread,
Which seemed to carry conviction in all she did or said.

Ode recognized that she belonged to some her kind,
Aut all the abundant riches were just her very own.

One hand clasped a bouquet of various sheaves of wheat,
Which glittered with diamonds and some fell at her feet.

I looked at the Banner which hung above her head,
"From Ocean to Ocean" were the striking words I read.

Turning to the harbours where so many ships were moored,
I realized then fully where all the wealth of the snows was poured.

That this was our own Canada, our lady of the snows, Prophesied Imperially. The brightest gem that glows.

In the King's own diadem and England's Banner knows
Let all Canadians give honor to our Lady of the snows.

Then to our mother country in whose protection we repose
For in union there is strength for all that comes or goes.

Then build the bulwarks higher and prize the flags we fly
Remembering that our fathers fought for the Empire's Imperially.

Then build the Empire stronger, God's blessings over all
Our lady of the sunshine is Queen at Summer's Call.

We will crown her then with roses that sleep beneath the snow
And prize the many blessings which God on her beauteous flag my children, and sing with all your hearts
God bless our King and Empire, in which we form a part John B. Thibodeau, of Church Point was a visitor in Town Saturday.

Centreville

Mrs. Cecil R. Thorpe, of Lakeville, spent the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Gidney.

Quite a number of people from here attended the political meeting in Annapolis Oct. 22nd.

118 Conservatives, 97 Liberals, 20 Progressives, Four Ind.

The Dominion elections are over, and it is a question up to time of writing whether the conservatives, who have the largest group elected, will be able to organize a government to carry on the affairs of Canada, or whether another election will have to be held in order to decide the issue. Returns show that 118 Conservatives have been elected in the Dominion, 97 Liberals, 20 Progressive and 4 Independents. McKenzie King and eight of his Cabinet Ministers went down to defeat, and Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Conservative party, was elected in his constituency.

In Digby County, H. B. Short received a majority ranging from 150 to 250, it being impossible to get the accurate figures up to the time of going to press this morning. Mr. Short received his largest majorities in Annapolis Co., Dr. L. J. Lovett leaving Digby County with a small majority.

Only three Conservatives were elected in Nova Scotia, they being Hon. E. M. McDonald in Antigonish; Paul L. Halford in Yarmouth-Sheburne; and Wm. Duff in Lunenburg.

In the Maritimes, 22 Conservatives and 5 Liberals were elected.

WORTH STEALING

A Tourist sends in a news item for Town Topics under this title. The news item follows:
While picnicking Saturday, August 23th, our boat was loaded and knives and forks thrown overboard. The loaders, boys, had been seen sitting on a bank eating one bag of Meir's Chocolates while numerous other good things, while tossed about had been left unwatched.
"I wish to complain," said the bride haughtily, "of the tough flour you sold me." Grocer: "Tough flour, Madam?"
"Yes, tough flour! I made a pie with it and my husband couldn't eat it."

EDMUND STRATTON, Editor and Mgr

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1925

The Home Newspaper

It has been said that no institution not founded on a fundamental human need can live. The reverse of this is also true. This is why the home newspaper, as an institution has survived many things; the onslaughts of individual opposition, the excesses of paper and printing costs, the peril of unpaid subscriptions, the uncertainty of advertising patronage, the problems of its own professional competition, and the hazards of its own mistakes. Through all these the home newspaper still lives.

When subjected to the test of whether the home newspaper could be done without, there always follows the inevitable reaction of whether the people of the community would want to do without it. The more than 17,000 daily, weekly, semi-weekly and tri-weekly newspapers in the United States and Canada stand as proof of the important service the newspaper renders in its local field of circulation.

The newspaper is not an invention, nor is it a fad or a fancy. It is a growth—a development made possible by the co-operative and receptive spirit of the people themselves because of the need for the transmission of news and as a circulation medium for advertising the products of the community and of the world. But the home newspaper is even more than this. It is the echo of the community's voice, a spokesman of the community's mind, a reflection of the community's vision, a champion of the community's rights, and a direct avenue for the community's progress.

The Predatory Female

Quoted from a London dispatch: "The jumper" for feminine wear has been ousted from favor by the bright waistcoat, exactly like a man's, to be worn with a smart country costume suit. The more vivid the waistcoat the smarter the appearance of the wearer."

So it comes to this! One by one women have stripped men of all their characteristic garments. They have taken our coats, our overcoats, our knickers, our hats, our socks, our collars, our neckties, even our shirts, to wear or play with as the mood suited them. And now our vests—or as our bereaved English brethren call them, our "week-ends."

Time was when the week-end was the glory of man and youth. The vests of this degenerate day are hardly worthy of the name. Thousands of middle aged males have, tucked away in their dresser drawers, vests of the olden time, g regous in color and cut and button, saved from the wreckage of changing fashion and preserved in hope that some day revolving style would bring them into vogue again. And that blissful time seemed almost here. The glory that was Solomon's and Joseph's—it was surely a vest of many colors not a coat, that Joseph wore—was dawning again, when perfidious woman stole for herself the one bit of brightness left to dull males of dull species.

There is only one thing left. One garment only man still reserves for his particular use. That is long trousers. Let men guard their trousers as their lives.

Real Cause For Regret

The other day a "country weekly" closed up shop, after an existence of thirty years.

The item recording the happening had the bare announcement, and a few words intimating that the country weekly "is passing."

Not one word of regret! And yet, that little old newspaper did more for that small community than all the financiers, promoters, efficiency experts, politicians and other big fellows who have been in and out of the place in the last thirty years.

It is quite probable that every inhabitant of the locality owes that little old paper a debt of gratitude—and, possibly, a good many of those who have come and gone in the thirty years owe it other debts, which may have something to do with the "passing" of the paper.

A country weekly may not be the life blood of its territory, but it has very much to do with the lubrication required to keep things moving.

The local paper is the clearing house of the community. There's more real news in a column of its items than in a page of the horrors, near horrors, bunk sensations, and fabrications that decorate the front pages of most of the city papers.

It is a hopeless community that is without some outside news, and so dumb as to forget that the last place upon which the shutters should be allowed to go up is the front window of the local news paper office.

The town which permits such a happening goes automatically up to the list of the dead ones.

Webster Calls It Cohesion

What makes a town anyway? Is it the wealth evidenced by the magnificent and palatial homes and the splendid store windows? These may attest the stability and thrift of certain people, but they offer no great inducements to commercial and moral progress. It is the spirit of good order and law observance? That is a factor only. The sleepiest old hamlets that dot the map have this spirit in rank abundance. Is it the schools and the churches? May their number ever increase, but they don't make a town—they only culture it. Is it the geographical location, the character of the country surrounding, the shipping facilities, the natural advantages? None of these are essential. Well, what is it that makes a town, anyway? Just one thing—the unity of the people, the existence of a common bond which causes business and social enemies to put aside all differences when it comes to boosting the town. There is a word called "cohesion." Webster defines it as: "The act of sticking together; close union." No town ever made real progress in the way to substantial success without the get-together spirit unanimously adopted. It has rejuvenated old hulks of towns that were yawning their way into endless sleep. It has infused new life blood into the heart of commercial life and made thriving cities out of paralytic villages.

Natural advantages account for much and prosperity cannot be built upon shifting sand, but any town with half a chance can be made to grow and expand and thrive when its citizens join with one accord in the boosting program.

Canadian Apples For The Old Country

The crop of Canadian apples this year is better than ever, and what could be more delightful remembrance from this side to our friends across the seas than a box of hand-picked and hand-packed Canadian apples. Your grocer can fill such an order and the Canadian National Express will transport and deliver, by quick service, to any station in Great Britain or Ireland, from Montreal or Quebec up to Nov. 15th, and from Saint John, N.B., and Halifax thereafter, at the rate of $3.00 per standard box of apples not exceeding one cubic foot eight inches in measurement or fifty pounds in weight. Rate includes refrigeration on steamships. Consult any Canadian National Express Agent as to further particulars.

Just Talks—On Common Themes

On "Jumping At Conclusions"

SOME people's minds are always made up in advance. It is said that George Bernard Shaw would instinctively range him self on the side of the few against the many.

If he went into a room where they were divided on a question at the proportion of even a hundred to one, and he did not know a single thing about the matter, he would go and sit with the one.

There is another kind of mind known as "judicial."

It is the sort of a mind that starts out with being perfectly open and without prejudices.

Then it looks at both sides. Then it weighs the claims of both parties and then makes up its opinions.

There are other minds that jump at conclusions. Take any subject of common affairs. How often are we willing to investigate the facts and see both sides.

Here is the matter of a new school for Digby. People jump at conclusions largely as to the need of a new building. They are afraid to invest a few thousand dollars in order to educate their children in the right way.

How many who loudly express an opinion one way or other are willing to investigate it before they go about stirring contention on the subject. It MUST be settled. Have it settled by mutual consideration and forbearance and making the best of a situation. Don't settle it by jumping at conclusions.

How much time do you give to studying matters before you reach conclusions on them? Are you settling affairs by having an opinion in advance and attempting to make every other thing fit that view? It is a fine practice, but then you are endorsing. The bed wherein the poor victim is amputated to fit its length if it is too long; or stretched out by wicked machines to meet its length if too short.

I knew a man whom you could handle every time by setting up a theory on any question in opposition to the opinion you yourself had formed. You could count on his opposition. Hence by opposing you might get his agreement. His opinion formed, he would summon everything to his side and refuse to consider everything against his views. His chief suspicion was when someone agreed with him.

You see the saucer of milk overturned; you jump to the conclusion that it was the cat. You see a window broken, you lick the boy. Maybe, it was the wind.

Romeo jumped to the conclusion that Juliet was dead when she but slept of drugs. He plunged the bare bodkin to his heart. A sad jump to a conclusion.

You hear a speech by the opposing candidate for election—you jump to the conclusion that it is all "politics." Maybe every word he said is true. You read ridiculous claims of supremacy by this business man and that one and you jump to the conclusion that they are true because the other party says nothing. Maybe you are helping ruin a business.

Sometimes we assume that a new nostrum for public reform is good because a certain man or certain element of the press say so. There is a loud cry for it. We all flock together and find after a while that it is no better than the old method. We jumped at a conclusion all together. We have all done that.

It pays to hear both sides and then form an opinion and even then you will make mistakes enough. But we shall make fewer if we don't make too many changes with "fairly well" in the hope of making the condition perfect. Perfection is of slow growth and not often by the way of new statutes.

The sole reason why courts are of great value is because the Court, when properly directed, opens its mind; welcomes all fact and argument; decides slowly; finds reason for its decision and keeps its law in harmony with those principles that have proven good in practice.

Each person should be a court as far as possible in all matters that come within their jurisdiction. We hope to cultivate an open mind. We hope to be free from the notion that we have to form an opinion of every subject and fight for that opinion. For instance, a person was in here a few weeks ago asking our opinion on chemical warfare. We had no opinion on it. How could we have one. It seems abhorrent; but how can one jump at a conclusion on a subject of which he had no absolute knowledge.

This person says "War is abhorrent." We have a positive opinion on that point. It is. He said "Chemical warfare is merciful." We have no opinion on that—since we have no facts on it. He says that out of casualties in the recent great war, 37 per cent. were from gas. But of the 37 per cent only 2 per cent. were fatal. Bullets and shrapnel and bombs average enormously more fatalities according to the casualties. One would therefore hate to jump at a conclusion. We should like to know the facts—how are the gassed persons who did not die. Is it a lingering death, etc. On the facts one might judge of the mercifulness of poison gases, in War.

You see a man at the theatre with a woman other than his wife. You go home and say that this was the fact and couple it with scandal. You jump at conclusions. The woman was his sister. You see a man stagger; he is drunk. Really he has the vertigo.

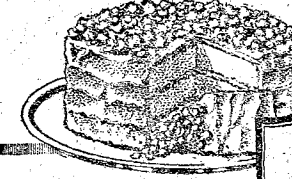

A man was hung for murder of his daughter because his daughter said as she died: "Father, you have killed me." The case is in the English court annals. What the girl meant was that her father had driven her to commit suicide because he would not permit her marriage to a man who was objectionable to him. The girl's confession was found after the hanging.

And maybe the father jumped at conclusions when he objected to the girl's suitor. In short it is an endless coil. And my only purpose is to suggest that we have open minds and look on both sides.

PAINS ACROSS THE BACK

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mitchell, Ontario.—"I have taken your medicine for a number of years. I do not take it at the same time, but I am never without it. I always keep it in the house. I took it first for pains in the abdomen and bearing-down pains, headaches and pains across the back. I have my home to look after and many a time I could not get up at all. I saw the advertisement in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I bought it. I told me about it, too. Every time I take it, it makes me feel better and I always recommend it to my friends. I am willing to answer letters from women asking about this medicine and you may use this letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. F. J. WASSMAN, Mitchell, Ontario.

The merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is told by women to each other. Many women know by experience what this medicine will do and they are anxious for others to know. Such testimony should cause any woman suffering from the troubles commonly known to her sex to give this well-known medicine a fair trial.

Do you know that in a recent canvass among women users of the Vegetable Compound over 220,000 replies were received? Of the great number, 100,000 were in better health because they have given this medicine a fair trial.

Pickling Time Again!

Here and There

"Canada has the greatest opportunity of any country in the face of the earth," stated St. Lee Strachy, editor and proprietor of the London Spectator, in the course of a recent address before the Canadian Club. He stressed the advantages the country enjoyed in her large wheat area, electrical energy, wood pulp and mineral assets.

Between 20,000 and 25,000 men are expected to work in the forests of the Province of Quebec during the coming winter, according to the chief forester of the province. It is anticipated there will be a good season in the pulp and paper products, but that the cut of lumber will not be so heavy owing to the low price prevalent for sawn lumber.

Cordial relations between the ports of Quebec and Liverpool were emphasized recently by the exchange of cables by the respective Chief Magistrates of the two cities. The occasion was the Civic Week Celebration at Liverpool when the Lord Mayor, Thomas Dowd, sent Mayor Joseph Samson, of Quebec, greetings to which the latter responded.

A record for October weddings was established at the Windsor Station, Montreal, early in that month, when twenty couples invaded the Concourse on their way to Boston, Quebec, Ottawa and Toronto. Two of the bridegrooms were bounced following the time-honored custom. It used to be the fashion to subject brides to this usage, but since the advent of short skirts the practice has been frowned upon.

Establishing what is easily a world record for movement of wheat, grain poured into Port William, and Port Arthur elevators at the rate of nearly thirty bushels a second for the whole of the 24 hours of October 6, from Canadian Pacific Railway cars. In all, 1,704 cars were unloaded during the day and each carries an average load of 1,500 bushels, representing a total of 2,556,000 bushels.

Driving into stationary trains on level crossings seems to be a favorite sport on the part of a number of motorists judging by reports coming in recently from different sections. The latest is from Galt, where an automobile, in broad daylight, ran into a freight train consisting of 18 loaded and 15 empty cars standing in plain view on a crossing. Fortunately no one was hurt, but the incident is another of gross carelessness on the part of motorists.

The Grand Challenge Cup, emblematic of the First Aid championship of the entire system of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was won by the Weston Shops team, of Winnipeg, champions of the West, against McAdam, N.B., team, champions of the East and last year's winners, after a searching test of the two teams conducted at the Place Viger Hotel, Montreal, recently. The margin between the two teams was so narrow as to be in doubt to the last moment. Weston took 507 points out of a possible 572 and McAdam had 498.

Tourist traffic development throughout Canada has reached such proportions as to equal the value of a fairly good wheat crop, and such development has only just begun, is the opinion of Colonel Phil Moore, of Yoho Valley, B.C., interviewed recently. He thought that an estimate of three hundred million dollars spent by tourists annually in Canada was not too high. Growth of interest in the Canadian Rockies was very noticeable and although the majority of tourists there were Americans, yet Canadians, too, were beginning to discover them, said the Colonel.

Mrs. C. W. Orey of Malden, Mass., who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Edward Keans, returned home on Tuesday.

Owen McGrath of Victoria Beach, has purchased the Josiah Tabner property, and with his family moved in on Monday of this week.

Mrs. Jas. McWhinnie and the Misses Lena and Alice, are leaving this week for Lynn, Mass.

During the severe storm of Sunday, the Sch. Northern Light of Boston, dragged ashore and was slightly damaged. She will be repaired and floated in the near future.

Sch. Souvenir, Capt. Outhouse, which is loading lumber at the pier, rode out the gale in safety.

On Tuesday last a large gathering of neighbors and friends assembled at the home of Edward Keans to pay the last tribute of respect to the late Mrs. Florilla C. Whitman, who passed away on the Saturday previous. Her pastor, Rev. C. A. Mason, conducted the funeral service at the home, after which the remains were laid away beside her husband, the late Dea. S. F. Whitman, in the Baptist cemetery at Upper Clements. She leaves to mourn one son, L. S. Whitman of Clinton Conn., and three daughters, Mrs. C. W. Orey of Malden, Mass., who was present at the funeral; Mrs. L. E. Stevens of Clinton Ct., and Mrs. Edward Keans, who tenderly cared for her during her declining years. The deceased, who was 81 years of age, was a loving mother and friend and the floral tributes were many and beautiful.

who have been living the past few years, in Lynn, Mass., returned to Port Wade on Friday last, and will remain the winter. We are also pleased to note another family coming to locate in this place. Owen McGrath, of Victoria Beach, who recently purchased the property owned by Josiah Tabner, will move here with his family, the latter part of this week.

A number of people from this place attended the donation at New Tuskon on Monday night for Rev. L. T. Sabine.

Annapolis County District Meeting

A very helpful District Meeting convened with the Lower Granville Church at Victoria Beach on Oct. 21, 22, with Rev. M. W. Brown, D. D., presiding. The preacher at the opening session, Rev. D. W. Dixon, announced as his subject "The Four R's of Gospel Preaching based upon 1 Tim 1:15. These points, Repentance, Regeneration and Reconciliation to God, he emphasized in an impressive manner.

Instructional addresses were given by L. J. Whitman, Esq., on the subject of Minister's Annuity, and Rev. W. D. Wilson on the "Marriage Home For Women at Unionton." A motion was carried that "This District Meeting approves of the new Minister's Annuity Plan and the ministers of this District pledge their support to make it a success."

Business included changing the constitution so that all offerings taken at these District Meetings, present to be used to apply on the County's allotment of Denominational Funds.

The position taken at a previous meeting that all expenses of the Rev. Man, in his work as such, should be chargeable to the Board of Promotion and Finance, was reaffirmed.

At the Thursday afternoon session a helpful reading by Mrs. D. W. Dixon and an interesting address by Mrs. M. W. Brown were given. The Secretary read a paper on Teacher Training in the Sunday School and gave a demonstration of class teaching.

The exercises of Thursday evening opened with a service of song conducted by Rev. P. R. Hayden. An impressive prayer was read by Mrs. Everett and Mrs. Carry. Rev. P. R. Hayden preached from the text Mark 12:17. The claims of the State upon the citizens, as also the claims of God were instructively dealt with.

Other ministers who participated were Rev. A. H. Whitman, Rev. G. C. Duggan and Rev. J. W. Meisner.

Resolutions passed, expressed the activities of the Moderation League of Halifax and petitioned the government for a stricter enforcement of the Provincial Temperance laws; and expressed the grateful appreciation of the Ministers and delegates to the people of Victoria Beach for their kindly hospitality and generous entertainment.

A. GIBSON, Secretary.

A political meeting was held by the Liberals on Saturday evening Oct. 24th, in Oddison Hall, the Chairman being Fred Harris.
The speakers of the evening were Alderman B. Russell, of Halifax, Dr. L. Lovett, Liberal member for Digby and Annapolis Counties, and Col. Ralston, of Halifax.

IN MEMORIAM

IN MEMORY OF MY MOTHER.
The Unfinished Stocking.

Lay aside her work; no more she sits By open window in the western sun Thinking of this and that beloved one In silence as she knits.

Lay it aside; the needles in their place; No more she welcomes at the Cottage door The coming of her children home once more With sweet and tearful face.

Lay it aside; her work is done and well A generous sympathetic Christian life— A faithful mother and a noble wife— Her influence who can tell.

Lay it aside; say not her work is done; No deed of love or goodness ever dies; But in the lives of others multiplies Say it is just begun.

Free Booklet On Soap Making

In the old pioneer days the thrifty housewife used to make their own soap as a regular part of their household duties. It used to be quite a laborious undertaking because they first had to make lye from wood ashes. But nowadays it's different. Hundreds of Canadian housewives are still making their own soap, but they are not bothered with wood ashes. They get their lye for a few cents at the grocery store, and the rest is easy.

The manufacturers of Gillette's Toilet Soap have prepared a little booklet which gives complete directions for home soap-making, using such things as tallow, bacon rind, bones, etc., that too often are thrown into the garbage can. The beauty of it is that there is practically no labor about the business, and if directions are followed, success is as certain as sunrise. This seems like a good way to save money, to say nothing of creating that satisfied feeling which always results from the contemplation of a really good and useful article which you have made yourself. Our readers would certainly be well advised to write E. W. Gillette Co. Ltd., Corner Fraser Avenue and Liberty St., Toronto 2, asking for a copy of their Lye Booklet.

Today--It's Toncan

Yesterday furnace makers were divided into camps. One favored steel radiators because of the quickness with which they radiated the heat. The other favored cast iron because of its durability, in spite of the fact that it has a serious drawback, its slowness in radiating heat.

Along comes Toncan to combine the durability of cast iron with the radiation of steel. Standard with the world's greatest furnace makers—exclusive in Canada to Fawcett.

No Repairs!

"Ten years ago I installed in my seven room house one of your No. 181 Rival Furnaces, and take pleasure in stating that it has given me perfect satisfaction in every way."

"I have not bought any repairs for the above mentioned furnace since same was installed."—John Bedford, Vancouver.

Although there are more Fawcett Furnaces in use than any other Maritime make, and though some are a generation old, the parts and repairs business received by Fawcett on its own products is negligible.

All the work of installing a Fawcett Pipeless Furnace is done in the basement save for the ten or fifteen minutes required to cut for a single register.

The whole work, in fact, can be done so quickly that if required it can be delivered in the morning and be heating your house the same night.

So how is a splendid time to secure a furnace. You've felt the cold already, and there's a long winter ahead. Send for the Fawcett Catalog, giving details about your house.

The manufacturers of Gillette's Toilet Soap have prepared a little booklet which gives complete directions for home soap-making, using such things as tallow, bacon rind, bones, etc., that too often are thrown into the garbage can. The beauty of it is that there is practically no labor about the business, and if directions are followed, success is as certain as sunrise. This seems like a good way to save money, to say nothing of creating that satisfied feeling which always results from the contemplation of a really good and useful article which you have made yourself. Our readers would certainly be well advised to write E. W. Gillette Co. Ltd., Corner Fraser Avenue and Liberty St., Toronto 2, asking for a copy of their Lye Booklet.

Today--It's Toncan

Yesterday furnace makers were divided into camps. One favored steel radiators because of the quickness with which they radiated the heat. The other favored cast iron because of its durability, in spite of the fact that it has a serious drawback, its slowness in radiating heat.

Along comes Toncan to combine the durability of cast iron with the radiation of steel. Standard with the world's greatest furnace makers—exclusive in Canada to Fawcett.

Free

Send 10c to cover postage and packing charges and receive in return an individual fry pan (large enough for one egg, to melt butter) of cast iron in one piece. Please state type of heating in your home.

SACKVILLE, N. B.

No Repairs!

"Ten years ago I installed in my seven room house one of your No. 181 Rival Furnaces, and take pleasure in stating that it has given me perfect satisfaction in every way."

"I have not bought any repairs for the above mentioned furnace since same was installed."—John Bedford, Vancouver.

Although there are more Fawcett Furnaces in use than any other Maritime make, and though some are a generation old, the parts and repairs business received by Fawcett on its own products is negligible.

All the work of installing a Fawcett Pipeless Furnace is done in the basement save for the ten or fifteen minutes required to cut for a single register.

The whole work, in fact, can be done so quickly that if required it can be delivered in the morning and be heating your house the same night.

So how is a splendid time to secure a furnace. You've felt the cold already, and there's a long winter ahead. Send for the Fawcett Catalog, giving details about your house.

Sandy Cove

Mrs. Arlington Crowell and two children, Godfrey and Faith, have been visiting in Roxbury, Mass., the guests of Mrs. Crowell's mother.

Mrs. Alice Beyea and Mrs. Chas. Beyea spent the week end at Tiverton, the guests of Mrs. L. Snow.

Rev. T. F. and Mrs. MacWilliam, a former pastor and wife, of the Sandy Cove Baptist Church, were here recently calling on friends.

Miss Barbara Crowell, who has been confined to the house with la grippe, is convalescing.

A very instructive and interesting lecture by Rev. Mr. Taylor of Weymouth, was given in the Hall on Monday evening, Oct. 19th. The Digby Male Quartette was present and rendered several vocal selections. A pleasant feature at the close was a presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Guy Morehouse, from the summer visitors of Sandy Cove and Mink Cove, to which both Mr. and Mrs. Morehouse suitably responded.

Miss Ethel Saunders has accepted the position of stenographer with E. O. Haskinson, Weymouth.

Mrs. Alice Beyea and Mrs. L. F. Saunders attended the District Meetings of the Baptist Churches of Digby Co., which were held at Little River, Oct. 19th and 20th.

Mrs. Guy Morehouse and Mr. and Mrs. Hedley Dakin were guests of Mrs. Chas. Beyea on Monday last.

Louise and Delva Jeffrey are out again after being confined to the house for several weeks.

Mrs. Russell Johnstone of Toronto, was called home recently by the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. Louisa Dakin.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 p.c. AIRBeats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading Universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean and safe. Burns 94 p.c. air and 6 p.c. common kerosene (coal oil). The inventor, J. M. Johnson, 246 Craig St., W. Montreal is offering to send a lamp on 10 days FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and what expense or money make $250 to $500 per month.

"Back To Mons Again"

Lord, it was a long road, a long road and dreary.

From Mons to Le Cateau all on a Summer's day.

An overwhelming fog behind, and we so late and weary.

That we were sleeping as they walked or dropping by the way.

How we stuck it, goodness knows, that nightmare of retreating, Stored by divisions when we halted for a rest.

Still the Old Comptables they took a lot of beating; It was here here at Le Cateau that we turned and gave them hell!

Fifty months of war, no less! Fifty months of striving.

Now the time has come for us to make it there's any left of old von Kluck's command surviving.

Let them try conclusions now it isn't too late.

There's the long, straight road that needs no finger post to guide us.

There is where our rearwards died and not a man in vain.

Ghosts of Old Comptables shall march unseen beside us.

Up the old rue nationale and back to Mons again.

The New Eight Cent Postage StampAs the letter rate of postage to countries other than those in the North American continent and the British Empire is now eight cents for a one ounce letter, a new eight cent postage stamp, printed in blue, is now ready for issue. The alteration in world postal rates became effective on October 1. To Canada and other countries in the North American continent the rate is three cents for the first ounce and two cents for each additional ounce. To Great Britain and other places within the British Empire, except those in North America, the rate is four cents for the first ounce and three cents for each additional ounce. To all other parts of the world the postage rate for letters is eight cents for the first ounce and four cents for each ounce additional.*NOTICE

Here and There

More than 100 persons joined the ride of the Trail Riders of the Rockies on their horseback journey from Banff to Wapta Camp, via Marble Canyon and Lake O'Hara. The ride started on August 8.

Grain figures issued by the Harbor Commission of Montreal show that on August 1st all grain shipment records were broken by one day's delivery of 2,277,712 bushels of grain to outgoing ships.

Harbor officials state that this is the first time that grain shipments in one day have topped the two million bushel mark.

Installation of machinery at the new annex of the Dominion Textile Mill at Montmorency Falls, Quebec, will be required by January first next.

About 300 additional employees will be required to operate the plant. At present there are about 1,300 employed at the mills.

A prophecy that the Orient would become in the very near future a really large importer of Canadian wheat was made recently by Hon. Dr. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works.

In predicting increased Orient trade in grain, Dr. King pointed out that imports of wheat from Canada for 1923-1924 increased by 400 per cent.

Over fifteen thousand men left the east on the first harvesters excursion from the east to the wheat fields in the middle of August. Four other excursions are to follow from Toronto later in August and September, when it is expected that the majority of the remainder of the 50,000 men required for the harvest will travel west.

British teachers touring Canada under the auspices of the Overseas Educational League are now enjoying all the various forms of entertainment to be found in the Canadian Pacific Rockies. They have been riding trails, hiking, fishing, motoring, bathing in the sulphur springs at the Banff Springs Hotel and were the guests at a dinner there given by J. M. Gibbon, secretary of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies.

Confidence of United States capital in the Dominion, optimistic preparations for the new Canadian financing, prospects of a good crop, large United States purchasing in Canada, and heavy expenditures of American money in the Dominion, were some of the reasons offered by New York financial experts for the consistent above par stand of the Canadian dollar on the New York exchange. The Canadian dollar is now at a premium on the New York exchange.

The total number of students in Canadian universities and colleges in 1924 was 52,639, or nearly one in eighteen of the total population, according to a bulletin issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Under the category of colleges, the total number in 1924 was 33. Of this total six are agricultural, two technical, two law, one dental, one for pharmacy, one for veterinary science, 28 theological, 83 affiliated, one school for higher commercial studies, one college of art and one military college.

During the coming winter Canada will see the debut of a new transportation device known as the Snowmotor. This consists of two hollow cigar shaped cylinders or drums to which flanges, resembling cork screws, are attached. These drums are fixed to an automobile or tractor in the place of the wheels and, by rotating actually float the machine over the snow. The snowmotor is regarded as especially valuable in the transportation of lumber. It can negotiate snow of any depth and can operate in countries where other methods of transportation are impossible or too costly and can also make roads which other vehicles can use. It is manufactured in Detroit and will be on the market in Montreal during the coming winter.

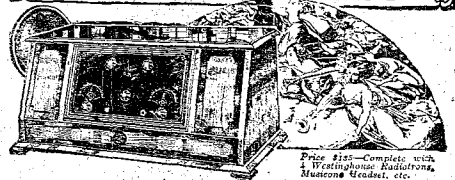

A Barbarous Practice

Editor The Courier.

Dear Mr. Stratton:—Will you kindly give me space in your paper to enter a protest against those unprincipled people who keep their kittens until they are half-grown and then at the time of year when the weather is coming on, drop them here and there through the town. Of all the mean, cruel acts this is one of the worst. The poor little things seldom get good homes and are kicked and beaten, starved, chased by dogs and tormented by boys and lead miserable lives. If people do not want their kittens it is an easy matter to drown them before their eyes are opened and much more merciful in the long run.

Yours truly,

Humanitarian

According to an Order-in-Council, passed a few days ago at Ottawa, "Under the Provisions of Section 56 of the Fisheries Act, Chapter 8, of the Statutes of the Dominion of Canada, Marine and Fisheries has set apart from all claim digging, from the date, the area of flats on the west side of the Sixteen river, in Digby Co., Nova Scotia, extending from Jones' point to the mouth of the river, except for the purpose of supplying bait to fishermen and for local consumption."

The Town Council at its regular meeting Monday evening, decided not to appoint an Assistant Assessor this year, in succession to the late John Russell. Mr. Russell paid a high tribute to the ability of Mr. Russell, a man who was respected by all with whom he came in contact. In view of the faithful services rendered by Mr. Russell to the town, he moved that the Clerk be instructed to forward a letter of sympathy from the town Council to Mrs. Russell and family. This was seconded by Coun. Raymond and carried.

Election Cards

Electors of Culloden

I have been honored with a nomination for the District of Culloden in the Council election and take this opportunity of soliciting your vote and support.

I believe that a real, united effort to reduce taxation should be made, and I can see no reason why a Council having the interest of the people at heart, should not be able to do so.

I have consistently supported and fought for every move that was in the interest of Culloden and I feel that if I am honored with your confidence you will not be disappointed in the efforts I shall make on your behalf.

Faithfully yours,

JAS. F. HILLMAN

Electors of Culloden

As I will not be able to see each voter personally before November third, so am taking this opportunity to solicit your support on that date.

Faithfully Yours

JOHN C. HANDSPIKER

To the Electors of Muni. Dist. No. 4

Having been unexpectedly forced to leave home the day following nomination on account of sickness in my family, and as the date of my return is uncertain, I may not be able to see each voter personally before November third, so I can only respectfully solicit your support on that date, assuring you that I will do all in my power to assist in the proper handling of the business of the Municipality.

Sincerely yours,

CURTIS L. DENTON.

There is no healthier drink than SCOTT'S TEA and there is none more refreshing. How nice it is when you are tired to have a freshly made cup of this old reliable beverage. As a "pick me up" it can't be beaten.

On Sunday morning last, after Mass, a meeting of the newly organized Anti-Society of St. Patrick's Society was held, and the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. W. Hersey; Vice Pres. Mrs. Harry Hersey; Secretary, Mrs. Grace Fountain; Treasurer, Mrs. S. Laundry.

The battle is over.

And many citizens are disappointed this morning.

But the best man won, and the Courier extends congratulations.

It was a strenuous campaign while it lasted, and workers of both parties are glad the end has arrived.

The political campaign developed many speakers, among whom were a number of our own townspeople.

Now that the campaign has ended, why not make a little interest in "The Future of Digby County." Let us arise and boost our town.

The question asked this morning is: "How much did you lose on the outside?" A large amount of money changed hands in Digby County.

The Courier has been congratulated on the stand taken in the political campaign. Both parties were treated alike, and our advertising columns were open to both parties.

Municipal elections next Tuesday and then citizens will be able to settle down to business for at least four years. This was a very anxious year on politicians. First the local elections, and then the Federal.

Election day passed off very quietly in Digby. Owners of automobiles were busy until the morning, and kept moving until the polls closed at six. Outside of a little excitement at the different polling booths, it was orderly throughout the town.

In the evening, around the Courier office considerable excitement was evidenced by the large crowd who anxiously listened to the returns as they came over the wire. Each return as it was announced brought forth considerable cheering from the supporters of the candidate who led the polls.

Honesty—A Good Policy

Whether "Honesty is the best policy," is a question that never may remain a debatable one. So much depends upon the view one takes of life. Moralists affirm that to degrade it into a question of policy is to take all the merit out of honesty. If the object is simply to get on in life, observation shows that plenty of men get position and wealth and political preferment by not running what is called honesty into the ground. Almost everyone admits that a reputation for honesty is useful, and everybody knows that it is often acquired by a long-headed shrewdness in speech and action.

Legal honesty is tolerably common, for it is not true that the majority of people are kept out of jail owing to the imperfections of courts and the difficulty of conviction. There is great respect for law, and in private life an innate or cultivated sense of justice and fair dealing. We all know honest men, and we speak of them as honest with emphasis, showing that we regard it as a kind of distinction to be simply honest. A man can easily be conspicuous by being pretty honest. We do not necessarily choose such men for office—it, has indeed become a sort of mocking proverb that such a man is too honest to go through the necessary steps to command himself to the suffrages of the majority—but we like to have them in a community for they impart a sort of stability to our shifting affairs. If what a man wants in this world is peace of mind, and if he enjoys having the absolute confidence of those who know him intimately—if, as they say, it is that way in life, why, entire honesty is good policy.

The world has only a qualified admiration for a man who cheats in the sale of a horse, or makes money by selling a bad article branded as good, and we feel a righteous disgust for a fellow who filches a ham out of the smoke-house. There is a common conception of opinion that honesty should be the policy of those fellows, but do we have the same feeling towards a man who corners wheat on a large scale and makes such a rise in prices that the poor man, who may be pinched for something to eat, thinks himself justified in taking the ham? We have a contempt for the man who sells his vote. If, however, a man buys a great many such votes, or pays for the running of machinery that buys them, and gets himself elected to the Legislature, we make the same distinction as we do between other retail and wholesale operations.

"Honesty is the best policy" is

ABLE TO DO HOUSEWORK NOW

Sick a Year. Got Great Benefit from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Bloomington, N. S.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for pains and headache, also for nervousness, sick headache and sleeplessness. I was troubled in this way over a year, and a friend told me about the Vegetable Compound and induced me to take it. I must say I have gained great benefit from it and am able to do my housework now. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to myself and am willing for you to use this letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. WILLIAM MORSE, Bloomington, Annapolis County, N. S. Do you know that in a recent canvass among women users of the Vegetable Compound over 250,000 replies were received? By the millions! Have you received benefit by taking this medicine? 99 per cent replied "Yes." While doctors say that every 100 women are in better health because they have given this medicine a fair trial.

Mrs. Morse is simply another case of a woman receiving "great benefit." Women suffering from the troubles we list on the label should know what other women say who have experienced the same suffering and found relief after they had tried all other remedies and at once given up.

maintained, by the majority to be a sound maxim, and in line with the teachings of the New Testament, Socrates and Franklin. The difficulty is in getting that view adopted and practised by the rest of the world who hold a different opinion. One who is honest in the ordinary sense, or is always disposed to act, with careful regard for the rights of others, especially in matters of business or property. One who is honest in the highest and truest sense is scrupulously careful to adhere to all known truth and right, even in the thought. Finally, summer up, Honesty and Honor are Love's fountainhead—the combined virtues that make the world go round. Honor is the dominating force, which brings to mind that couplet of Lovelace: "I could not love thee dear so much, Loved I not honor more."

The Home Paper

The Courier receives frequent commendation from readers for the excellent service it is giving for the Digby district. It has cost us much effort and no little expense to develop this department, and we are pleased that the results have been such as to win public approval. Our endeavor is to make THE COURIER primarily the people's paper, and for the district, and assistance which our staff of correspondents has unstintingly given us in the work we desire to tender our best thanks. If the activities of your section are not being reported for our columns we should be pleased to have the work undertaken. We have no room for neighborhood gossip, but want all the news while it is news, and are willing to pay for it. Make it snappy and be sure of your facts. That the Courier is rapidly growing in popularity as a newspaper is amply proven by the new names that are being constantly added to our subscription list, as well as by the flattering references of appreciation which frequently come through the mail. We want to make THE Courier still more interesting and to this end invite contributions on matters of public moment. The long winter evenings are at hand, and may be profitably devoted to a discussion of community interests. The columns of this paper are freely placed at your disposal for such purpose. Make the Courier your forum.

Gamblers' Luck

Two hard luck stories from recent news:

A Cincinnati gambler, drawing a royal flush for the first time in 15 years, was just about to rake in a big pot when the police broke in and stopped the game. He hung onto the cards, and is going to frame them as a sad memorial.

A citizen of Oakland, Cal., after playing Chinese roulette steadily for eight years, found himself in possession of a winning ticket, good for $80,000. And before he could collect the money, the police arrested both the ticket-holder and the Chinaman operating the lottery, and stopped payment.

Yes, and sad word. But while there's life there's hope; and that's what sustains gamblers. Unfortunately they get little other sustenance, in the long run.

Boost Your Own Town

The wisest course for the true booster is to tell others elsewhere about the good qualities of his home town or city, honestly, but intelligently and interestingly. Some well meaning people are shy about mentioning the home town when away. The residents of some communities, including whole states in some instances, have a reputation for never failing to say a good word for the place they come from. In fact, there are countless instances that might be cited where they have been richly rewarded for their persistence in this respect. Don't be afraid to do a little outside boosting for your own home town.

Cold Storage Extension

Editor Courier—It bids fair for Western Nova Scotia traffic passenger and freight—that a fine, new boat, of ample capacity, is to be, in the near future, put on the route, and, being so, that popular line can be trusted to do good service anyway, but the one thing needed for the reliable goods in transit would be a simple system of refrigeration installed on the boat. It would be a great thing for shippers of fish (fresh or frozen) as well as fruit and berries. Such cold space is now provided on most steamers carrying the like commodities. When the Eastern Steamship Co. took over the D.A.R. boats, I brought to the attention of Mr. Calvin Austin, president of the company, the need of such chilled storage. He was quite agreeable, and even came to Yarmouth to consult the shippers about the proposition. Somehow they let the opportunity slip by, but they should now renew the request. Mr. Austin assured me that in the event of a new boat for that route, the matter would be attended to.

Just Talks—On Common Themes

On "A Fear of the Dark"

IT APPEARS that there is a new way of putting children to bed in this age—in the dark. Modern mothers begin to pack their little ones away into darkness and there is never a whimper. The fact about it is that children who are not taught to be afraid of the dark never are afraid.

Old-fashioned mothers used darkness as a threat. They would put naughty children into dark closets. They would tell them stories about naughty children who lay alone in the dark. The story of the little child and the adventure with the Three Bears, always reached its most impressive passage as the story teller related that the child had reached the lonely castle and "then it grew dark-k-k-k"—this being said in a hushed and fearsome tone in order to get the proper reactions.

My grandfather used to thrill me greatly by telling a story that began as follows: "Once a man was going thru a wood, and it was dark, dark, DARK? and that man met a bear and he had a WHIP-SAW on his back!" Whip-saw was shouted startlingly, with a sharp bark so as to make me jump! I never knew or cared who or which had the whip-saw on his back—the man or bear. I know only that it was "dark, dark, DARK!" What was a Whip-Saw, I did not know except that it was something terrible that went with the dark.

It is wise that mothers have stopped using the dark for a punishment and a terror, because we have so much darkness and it ought to be as familiar and as peaceful and as welcome as the daylight. I happen to know that children who are never made to fear the dark, do not fear it. But in the old days children went to bed without a candle for the first time, with terrors untold for a lad of ten. Up the long stairway, down that corridor, into that room with a heap past bears and whip-saws into a retreat beneath the bed clothes where they had terrors untold.

This is not a trivial subject and I want to give it prominence because I doubt not many misguided mothers are still telling ghost stories and tales of fearsome things of darkness to children and threatening to send them to bed in the dark if they do not behave. Yet some are not. I was talking of this to a lady on the street the other day who had with her a sweet little girl of about 8 years. The lady remarked that the little girl had not the slightest conception of any difference between the day and the night so far as her own safety was concerned. It has made life very different for the household. We little know what complexes are set up by these childish terrors which are altogether unnecessary.

I have said that this is not trivial. Indeed it is psychologically perhaps the greatest thing in life—this freedom from terror of the night. There is nothing else to begin with what might be called the hope in this latter day of an emancipation proclamation against this sort of needless slavery.

Mr. William Lyon Phelps says in one of his regular articles in "As I Like It" which he conducts in a monthly magazine, that of all things that Mark Twain wrote in the recently issued "Autobiography," nothing was more true or fundamental than the remarks on "Night." Mark Twain said—

My repentances were very real, very earnest; and after each tragedy they happened every night for a long time. But as a rule they could not stand the daylight. They faded out and shredded away and disappeared in the glad splendor of the sun. They were the creatures of fear and darkness and they could not live out of their own place. The day gave me cheer and peace, and at night I repented again. In all my boyhood life I am not sure that I ever tried to lead a better life in the day-time—or wanted to. In my age I should never think of wishing to do such a thing. But in my age, as in my youth, night brings me many a deep remorse. I realize that from the cradle up I have been like the rest of the race—never quite sane in the night.

Mr. Phelps adds to this by way of comment that the last sentence of this is a true generalization. We never outgrow our fear of the dark. And this is to my mind largely a matter of early training. We seem to have arrived in this latter day at a notion that children do not suffer anyway before they arrive at talking and thinking ages and that their crying and fussing is wholly physical and reflex. Yet the physical reactions do not set up complexes that abide. Hence it is philosophical to let a child cry in the dark, conscious in your own mind that the darkness has nothing to do with it. WE FANCY that because we might not like to be in the dark, the child does not care to be alone in the dark whereas the child does not know that it is dark.

It is a very old notion, this fear of the dark, because probably adults not liking the dark assumed to teach it to their children and thus perpetuated the habit. In the Bible we are told as Mr. Phelps remarks, that "in heaven there is no night." And to us another biblical phrase "Would God it were morning."

If we could only impress on children the proper fear of another sort of darkness we should be better—that intellectual and spiritual darkness that is more to be feared. If we could tell the child at the knee the useless troubles he will be laying up in store for himself thru all life if he goes about in a spiritual night. If he cultivates bigotry and narrow range of vision; if he has determined on a life of night, with many terrors, if he determines that because a man disagrees with him, that person as abusing him, he is bound to live in the terrors of night. I have had in experience of late in making a so-called reply to a piece of writing in a College publication. There was nothing personal about it—merely an effort to state a view-point and the view-point of those with whom I was associated. But the college man called it "savage" and "fulminating" and seemed to feel that HE was being abused. We need daylight without fear of any sort of darkness except the intellectual and the spiritual.

Modern teaching of disregard of physical darkness will pave the way to a greater intellectual and spiritual receptivity. We shall see as the face to face under all conditions. There shall be no Night in this sort of a Heaven.

And will you please read this—the finest sonnet, it has been said, in our language; Night and Death by Joseph Blanco White:

Mysterious Night. When our first parent knew
From report divine, and heard thy name
Did he not tremble for this lovely frame
This glorious canopy of light and blue?
Yet 'neath a curtain of translucent dew
Bathed in the rays of the great setting Gae, Despous with the host of heaven came,
And lo! Creation ended in man's view.
Who could have thought such darkness lay concealed Within thy beams, O Sun; or who could find While flower and leaf and insect stood revealed
That to such countless orbs thou mad'st us blind?
Why do we then shun death with anxious strife?
If Light can so deceive, wherefore not Life?

Here and There

Wishing farewell and bon voyage to the celebrated writer of the Scarlet Pimpernel, a bouquet of scarlet pimpernel was presented to Baroness Orczy, when she embarked with her husband, Mr. Montagu Barlow, on the SS. Montclair of the Canadian Pacific line, for England. The presentation was made on behalf of the company by Capt. Geo. Webster and President E. W. Beatty's card was attached. Baroness Orczy came out to Canada to assimilate local colour for a new book, which will be eagerly awaited here.

Motor tourists from the United States brought $150,000,000 in revenue to Canada in 1925, according to estimates of government officials. This sum is equal to a quarter of the value of the Dominion's wheat crop and approximately the value of the annual mining output of Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia combined. More than 2,000,000 American automobiles, it is estimated, have crossed into Canada this fall. They carried in the neighbourhood of 9,000,000 persons, or a number equal to the total population of Canada.

C. B. Foster, passenger traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific, states that the success of the crop in the West this year will make money more free and is bound to stimulate travel between Canada and the Old Country. To handle the expected increased volume of traffic, his company, he states, will run special trains early in December connecting directly with the company's Atlantic liners, sailing from the winter port of Saint John, N.B. These liners sail on dates that are calculated to get passengers home to any point in the British Isles or the near continent in plenty of time for Christmas.

Taking the North American moose over to Europe with a view to acclimating it in Northern Europe is part of the aim of Heinrich Carl, Count Schimmelpenninck, one of the largest land owners in Denmark. The Count and Countess were taken to the Gains river district, where they spent three weeks. During this time they walked an average of fifteen miles a day for twenty days covering three hundred miles on foot, not reckoning the distance they traversed in canoe. They went to the woods of Northern Quebec for another shot at the elusive moose before sailing for home on the Canadian Pacific liner Montclair.

A recent epidemic of motor accidents, five of which occurred in one night, though luckily none of them proved to be fatal, elicited the following editorial comment from the Montreal Star: "That five drivers of automobiles should drive their cars into moving trains within a period of twenty-four hours in Canada would seem to indicate that carelessness is the main cause of accidents. The location of level crossings is either well-known or clearly indicated at a distance that gives even a fast driver ample time to stop. At many such crossings bells automatically ring as trains are approaching. At others, bar gates are let down. Some are open—these almost entirely in the country districts. But despite all safeguards, warnings, signals, and precautions, accidents continue to happen at level crossings with an alarming consistency. In some instances, indeed, it almost looks as though the drivers were determined to defy all attempts to ensure cancellation of driving license in cases like the above.

Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cosaboon celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage on Oct. 27th at their home in Rosway.

Having been liberal in extending invitations, quite a goodly number of their friends gathered on the evening of that day to congratulate them and bless the couple. Many of the guests complimenting them on looking very youthful for celebrating their golden wedding.

After a bountiful and truly delicious repast had been served, and old friends had greeted old friends, the time was spent in friendly chats and jokes, the ripples of laughter which frequently rose within the walls of the old home which has known the clouds and sunshine of nearly a century if not quite a century, without passing into strange hands, testified to the general enjoyment.

During the evening the bride and groom of "Auld Lang Syne" took an opportunity to thank their guests for the gold coins and other tangible expressions of good will which had given them some what of a surprise, and for their presence there which they had, at least, hoped for. Good singing being present some good music was enjoyed. Mrs. Leslie McKay presiding at the organ.

When the guests with best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Cosaboon had said goodbye, and the inmates of the old home sought repose, we know their hearts were gladdened with the thought, "so many of our friends appreciated our invitations. And the clock on the stairs seemed to say "just so, just so."

Beside those of the village who accepted there were friends from Port Maitland, South River, Digby, Smith's Cove, Marshalltown and Seabrook.

Little Miss Marguerite Willett dressed in a dainty white dress with the usual veil and orange blossoms, acted as bride, while Master Donald Tash was groom. This welcome little couple performed their duties in a most pleasing manner by presenting the "bride to be" with a large clothes basket well loaded with securely tied packages, which proved when opened to contain many useful household articles consisting of china, silver, glass, linen, pyrex and aluminum. Conspicuous among them was a pretty china dish the gift of Belleisle Division, of which Miss Willett is a valued member. The evening was pleasantly spent in games. Refreshments were served and at a late hour the party broke up, wishing the future bride much happiness.

A Man's Prayer

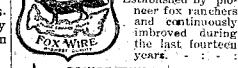

Teach me that 60 minutes make an hour, 16 ounces one pound, and 100 cents one dollar. Help me so to live that I may lay down at night with a clear conscience, without a gun under my pillow, and unharmed with the faces of those to whom I have brought pain. Grant that I may earn my meal tickets on the square, and in earning it, I may do unto others as I would have them do unto me.

Deafen me to the jingle of tainted money. Blind me to the faults of the other fellow, but reveal to me my own. Guide me, so that when I look across the dinner table at my wife, who has been a blessing to me, I will have nothing to conceal. Keep me young enough to laugh with little children, and sympathetic enough to be considerate of old age, and when comes the day of darkened shades and the smell of flowers, the tread of soft footsteps, and the crunching of wheels in the yard—make the ceremony short and the epitaph simply,—"Here lies a Man."

INSTITUTE MET IN ANNUAL SESSION MONDAY

Officers And Committees Appointed And Reports of Years Work Presented to Members

The annual meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the Masonic Reading Rooms on Monday afternoon with the President Mrs. J. H. Cunningham in the chair.

After the reading of the yearly reports, the officers and committees for the coming year were appointed as follows:

President Mrs. J. L. Lovett.
1st Vice President Mrs. J. H. Cunningham.
2nd Vice President Mrs. W. M. Romans.
Recording Secretary Mrs. A. L. Warren.
Corresponding Secretary Mrs. Fred Schmidt.

Treasurer Mrs. A. B. Campbell.
Director Mrs. W. W. Clarke. Mrs. Chipman Harris, Mrs. McNaught, Mrs. Mary Hubbard, Mrs. L. V. Harris, Mrs. Harrow.

Auditor Mrs. A. B. Marshall.

Sick and visiting committee Mrs. H. R. Kinney, Mrs. Hubbard, Mrs. Chipman Harris.

Charity committee Mrs. R. A. Harris, Mrs. Schmidt, Mrs. Robillard, Mrs. J. H. Cunningham, Mrs. C. D. Rice, Miss Elsie Withrow, Miss Kathleen Henderson.

Health committee Mrs. Harrow, Mrs. W. W. Clarke, Mrs. A. B. Marshall.

Entertainment committee Mrs. Schmidt, Mrs. Romans, Miss Henderson.

Library committee Mrs. Robillard, Mrs. V. Harris, Mrs. Cunningham.

Publicity committee Mrs. McNaught, Mrs. J. L. Warren, Mrs. C. D. Rice.

Hospital committee Mrs. H. C. Anthony, Mrs. Romans, Mrs. Cunningham, Mrs. A. B. Campbell.

After the Roll Call the meeting closed with the Institute's "Creed."

ANNUAL REPORTS

During the year from Nov. 1924 to Nov. 1925, the Bear River Women's Institute has held 12 regular and 2 special meetings.

The membership has included 48 persons, of which number only 38 are at present resident in town.

The average attendance has varied from 16-18.

Our "War Memorial Fund" has increased materially since the beginning of the year. Standing on Nov. 1924 at about $400, it has now reached the sum of over $600.

A large part of this increase was raised by an "Institute Gift Shop" opened on Carnival Day in July, when hand made linens and other attractive articles were placed on sale. These articles were all donated by members and friends of the Institute for this worthy purpose.

As usual at Christmas time, "Christmas Cheer" boxes were sent to deserving cases, about $25 being spent for their contents.

During the winter our Lecture Committee secured three University Extension Lectures, one from Acadia, one from Dalhousie, and one from Mt. Allison. A small sum was charged as admission fee, and we paid all expenses, and cleared $10 on the three lectures.

The Home and School Committee was again successful in raising the prize list for Caldene School and the money was collected, and the prizes presented to the pupils early in October.

Several pantry sales were held during the spring months, also a "back shower" for the benefit of our library which continues to be one of our strong drawing cards.

Two of the members call on the school monthly, and a fine spirit of co-operation prevails between Teachers, Trustees and Institute.

During the last month the Institute has taken charge of soliciting funds in aid of the Digby Hospital—the sum being to furnish a room to be known as the "Bear River Room." The committee in charge has been able to report splendid progress the whole town and outlying sections have been canvassed, and the splendid sum of $175.30 has been raised.

As our Institute year closes, we feel our work has been worth while, and hope the coming year may prove of great benefit both to members of the Institute and to the whole community.

JOSPHINE MCINTYRE, Recording Secretary.

Obituary

IRELAND ROBBINS

The death of Ireland Robbins, oldest son of Mrs. Harriette Robbins occurred at his home Saturday morning Oct. 21st, at the age of 17 years. He was active in Boy Scout work having taken a 40 mile hike two weeks ago and constructed a service camp which earned him a medal. His father the late Valentine Robbins, was a private in the 25th Battalion and was killed in action in the battle of Ypres.

He is survived by his mother and one brother Clayton, at home. The funeral was held from his late home Tuesday afternoon conducted by Rev. E. J. Barras. The floral tributes were many and beautiful. Interment in Mount Hope cemetery.

Report of Hospital Committee

Your committee wish to report that a house to house canvass of Bear River District was undertaken to solicit funds in aid of the Digby Hospital, and the amount raised is considerably more than our objective.

Mrs. J. H. Cunningham and Mrs. W. M. Romans carried on the work in Annapolis County, and Mrs. H. C. Anthony and Mrs. A. B. Campbell in Digby County, all receiving a very sympathetic hearing and substantial contributions, the total amount to date being $175.30, which includes $10.00 voted for this fund by the "Women's Institute." This amount we expect will be slightly increased before our next meeting.

Your committee wish to thank those who assisted them in the work in some districts, and would especially mention Miss May Gordon who did splendid work for us at Milford Corner.

Submitted on behalf of your committee,
HELEN D. ANTHONY Convener.

Deep Brook

We are sorry to note the serious illness of John Adams, who while picking apples on Saturday of last week, fell from a tree. Although confined to his bed at present, we hope for a speedy recovery. Mr. and Mrs. Adams have the sympathy of a large circle of friends at this time.

Mrs. Reginald Thomas of Upper Clements, was a recent guest of Mrs. B. A. Rice.

Mrs. J. Elburn Nichols of Bridgetown, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ruggles, leaving on Tuesday for St. John.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Fryman Berry will be sorry to know that their eldest son Hugh (5 years old) was run over by an auto on Thursday of last week. His collar bone was broken and a bad flesh wound in his leg. Little Hugh is doing as well as can be expected at present.

Miss Leola Banks of Paradise has taken the school at Waldeck West. Miss Banks is assisted by Mrs. B. B. Clements; we welcome her to our community.

Miss Mary Lowe of Clementsport, is spending a few weeks with relatives and friends at Deep Brook.

Mrs. Annie Jopeland arrived home last week from Boston.

Mrs. Charles E. North left here on Tuesday for Boston after a pleasant week spent with her sister, Miss E. A. McClelland.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nichols and family spent Sunday with Mrs. Nichols parents at Clements Heights.

Mrs. L. E. Sherman entertained the Dorcas Society on Wednesday Oct. 28th. This was the annual meeting and fourteenth anniversary. A full report of the meeting appears in another column.

Head and Chest Colds Relieved In a New Way

A Salve which Releases Medicated Vapors when Applied Over Throat and Chest.

Inhaled as a vapor and, at the same time absorbed through the skin like a liniment, Vicks VapoRub reaches immediately inflamed, congested air passages. This is the modern direct treatment for all cold troubles that is proving so popular in Canada and the States where over 17 million jars are now used yearly.

Splendid for sore throat, tonsillitis, bronchitis, croup, head and chest colds, catarrh, asthma or hay fever.

Use the VapoRub over throat and chest and inhale the medicated vapors. It quickly loosens up a cold.

BOY WOUNDED

An accidental shooting occurred Friday afternoon, when George Langley eldest son of Joseph Langley, aged 10 years, was shot in the mouth by Harry Hill of this town. The victim with other boys was playing with a 22 rifle when it discharged, the bullet striking George on the point of the chin and coming out in the fleshy part of his neck. Dr. A. B. Campbell was in attendance.

Forest Friends

In the forest you can wonder At the glory of the Lord. For the countless things we see there Marvelous things to be adored.

For the trees in all their beauty Rise, a tribute to their King And their shelter in their mercy Many a helpless thing.

And they bow in greater homage When the winds of winter blow, And the icicles point them downward Though on bough piled high with snow.

'Tis a pleasant happy feeling When the Spring is warm and dappled And trees in gladness wave. Softly raise their benched heads.

And they whisper to each other 'Tis a time for us to dress 'Tis the news of early Spring time, Did you not feel Spring's caress?

She has come and softly bids us To adorn ourselves anew. With the glory of the Spring time. And the summer now in view.

Now the tree which once stood naked With her mantle of snow and sleet Proudly stands within the forest In her gown of green complete.

Then the rain of early Springtime And the warmth of Summer days And the happy frosts of Autumn Each their turn in nature plays.

And we feel as life drifts onward What the seasons for us mean. Oh! could we stay life's time clock With the dial on the Spring.

Culloden

Lorn Adams, of Bay View, spent Sunday with his aunt, Mrs. Henrietta Hand-spiker.

Mrs. Fred T. McDonald and Mrs. Burton Stark went to Culliver's Cove on Monday returning the same day.

Walter Ross went to Boston on Friday to see his father, who is seriously ill.

Smith's Cove

Miss Elizabeth Woodman, of Digby, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Woodman, left on Saturday for Kentville, where she will be the guest of her sister, Mrs. M. Woodman.

Miss Woodman was accompanied by Miss Blanche Woodman, of Jaggins Bridge. Before returning home they will spend a few days in Halifax.

Dean Clayton and Joseph Steadman spent Friday and Saturday in Young's Cove, the guests of their respective parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clayton and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Steadman.

Mrs. Simmonds of Round Hill, spent a few days last week the guest of her daughter, Mrs. William Berry.

W. B. Snow, Colporteur for the Canadian Bible Society spent a few days last week at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cossaboom, accompanied by Mrs. H. H. Woodman, motored to Culliver's Cove on Tuesday of last week to be present at the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William Cossaboom at that place.

"Home" Division paid a fraternal visit to "Hope" Division, Acadiaville, on Tuesday evening, Oct. 27th. A very interesting programme was given by members of "Hope" Division after which Halloween games were played and refreshments served. A goodly number of members from both divisions were present and all report an evening happily spent.

On Saturday last a Halloween social under the auspices of "Home" Division was held in the Temperance Hall. Ten cents admission admitted one to the pleasure of the evening which consisted chiefly of Halloween games and refreshments. The proceeds which were $160 are to be paid on repairing the Hall.

Every Woman Deserves One

The SMP Roaster is a fine time saver. You put the roast or fowl in the oven. The roaster does the rest, bastes, roasts to perfection. It roasts with very little shrinkage, thus saving dollars every year. None of the tasty meat juices are lost; all the rich flavor is retained. Besides you can buy cheaper cuts, for it makes cheap cuts taste like choice ones.

The close fitting cover keeps all the cooking juices and the grease inside the roaster—the smell of cooking doesn't fill the house, and the oven is kept sweet and clean. Best of all, it keeps on for fifty after the roasting. These are splendid reasons. Price $10. to $15.00 according to size and finish. Sold in all hardware stores.

Start the Week With a Smile

"Isn't it difficult to keep a budget straight?" asked Mrs. Buford.
"My dear, it's terrible," confided Mrs. Winters. "The month I had to put in four mistakes to make nice balance."

"How is your stamp collection getting on Jimmy?"
"I'm not collecting 'em any more. When they started issuing one-cent stamps, game got too complicated for me."

"Minister—Do you take this man for better or worse?"
"Bride—No, sir. 'Tis as he is. If he gets any better he'll die, and if he gets any worse I'll kill him myself."

"Madam, the children won't go to sleep."
"Tell them to come here and I will sing to them!"
"I have already threatened them with that, but it doesn't help!"

Robert, aged 6, ardently desired a sister, and was told that if he prayed for one a baby might come. So he added to his nightly prayers a petition for a little sister.

Results not coming as soon as he wished, one night he asked:
"If you have a baby almost finished don't wait to put it in her tonsils or appendix, as they usually have to be cut out, anyhow."

"Here's a queer item in the paper," said Mrs. Johnson in the midst of her reading. "A fellow, over at Ten Degrees slipped and broke his tibia and fell and broke three ribs."

"I've been sorter studying for a year or so about buying a hat," replied Jack Johnson of Rumpus Ridge. "But I reckon I'd better give up the idea; they bath tubs is too devilish dangerous."

There was no love lost between the two women and neither of them could resist an opportunity of scoring over the other. One day they happened to meet by chance in a friend's drawing room. Miss Rookley was the first to open fire.

"I had a handsome young man at my feet yesterday," she remarked.
"Yes," said Miss Cooper, pleasantly.
"I noticed you had bought some new shoes."

Two golf professionals were playing in a foursome. One got into a hunk and spent some time walking round and round his ball observing and incidentally improving the line for his partner.

His partner watched him with admiration for many minutes, but at last one of the spectators asked him what the other was doing.
"I don't really know," was the reply, but I am sure he isn't wasting his time."

Two girls were talking together.
"What's your brother Tom doing?" asked one.
The other smiled and replied: "Oh he's head over heels in love."

"No, not really," exclaimed the other. "I never thought he was that kind."
Tom's sister smiled again as she answered: "And neither did he. But he never can tell you see he's reading manuscripts for a popular magazine."

"Only those who have been used from sleep on board ship by the ship crew," said the lecturer.
"That's not right," interjected a little man in the audience. "I heard it once when I was not aboard a ship and I realized it more than anybody."

"You couldn't," objected the lecturer.
"Oh, yes, I could," persisted the little man. "I was the man who was over-board."

The flower show had been a great success, and the next morning Al. Smith, who had performed the opening ceremony, was reading the newspaper's report of it to his wife.

Presently he stopped and, snatching up his stick, rushed from the room. Amazed, his wife picked up the paper and read: "As Mr. Smith mounted the stage all eyes were fixed on the large red nose he displayed. Only years of patient cultivation could have produced an object of such brilliancy."

It was rather rough, but all the passengers welcomed the sound of the dinner gong. Below, in mellow light of the spacious dining saloon the horrors of their nauseous start were not quite so evident.

The captain, at the head of the table, beamed upon his guests as he rose to make his speech.
"It gives me great pleasure," he began. "To see these five, and twenty smiling faces at my table."

"Just at that moment the ship gave a sickening lurch and four people were carried over by the stewards."

After the ghastly shipwreck in which all lives but two had been lost the pair of survivors found themselves together on the desert island. Fate plays strange tricks and she had lived up to her reputation on this occasion.

Here were two men with totally opposing natures. One was a pessimist of the bluest dye, and the other a cheerful optimist.
"Here we are," said the pessimist, stranded on a desert island and nothing to eat or drink. We are doomed to die a painful and lingering death."

"Never mind," answered the other. "We have plenty of soup. Our boats just turned turtle."

A clergyman, taking a walk met an old member of his congregation. "Well, John," he said, "how is it? I have not seen you at church lately?"
"Hain't got no Sunday trousers," answered John.
"Well," said the clergyman, "I have a pair at home which will fit you, and I will have them sent to you."

CROSBY-MILLER

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Miller, Yarmouth, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday Oct. 28 at 1 o'clock when their daughter Clara was married to Leslie C. Crosby.

The bride was escorted by her father, the groom by his mother. The bride entered the parlor on the arm of her father and took her place under an arch which had been very prettily decorated for the occasion.

The bride was dressed in a dainty gown of old rose, with lace and ribbon. The metal lace carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums. While the register was being signed, Harold Crosby brother of the groom sang impressively "Oh Promise Me" after which a dainty luncheon was served to about thirty-five guests.

The bride's going away dress was an ensemble costume of cocoa charmed with fur trimming and hat to correspond.

The gifts were numerous and useful comprising cheques, silver, linen and china. The groom's gift to the bride was an amethyst and amber necklace, to the bride a pearl earring and a pearl brooch.

The happy couple left on an auto trip through the Annapolis Valley and shores of Lunenburg. On their return they will reside on Highland Ave. Among the out of town guests were Mrs. C. Miller and Mrs. Annie Bopart, of Bear River; H. Hamilton and daughter, of Yarmouth; Annie, Mrs. and Mrs. S. C. Hamilton and Mrs. Reeves, of Pleasant Valley.

The bride for the past four years was an operator at the Yarmouth office of the Maritime Telegraph & Telephone Co., and of late assistant chief operator. Owing to her marked efficiency and courteous manner in that capacity, she won a wide circle among the clients of that company, all of whom will extend to the young couple wishes for a long and happy married life.

Annual Meeting Dorcas Society

There was a large attendance of members present at the Deep Brook Dorcas Society, held on Wednesday afternoon Oct. 28th at the home of Mrs. L. E. Sherman. Being the annual meeting, some time was devoted entirely to business, the President, Mrs. Sherman in the chair.

The Devotional Exercises included—Hymn, "To The Work," Mrs. Robert Spurr, pianist. Scripture reading Acts 9, 36-43. "The Story of Dorcas," read by Mrs. Sherman and "Fervent" prayer offered by the Secretary Miss Emma McClelland. The President then received the events and changes of the past year in a very thoughtful and efficient manner. The visitors Mrs. Mary Lowe, of Clementsport, and Miss Banks, who while teaching in an adjoining section is a resident here, were cordially welcomed to our Society and homes.

All about ones were kindly remembered, heart felt sympathy was offered to those recently bereaved as well as extended to one of our valued members Mrs. John Adams, whose husband is now suffering from accidental injuries.

The Constitution showing the object of the Society was called for and read by the Secretary. Reports from the Treasurer and Secretary showed that the Society is in good working order from every standpoint and steadily improving.

It was indeed gratifying to learn from the report of Mrs. Howard Adams, Treasurer, that the sum of $2.50 had been raised from regular work, while by special effort the members raised an additional sum of $2.50, making a total of $5.00 for the year which not only shows "The Dorcas Society" is a real asset to the Deep Brook Baptist church; but proves the faithful work of its members under the direction of the leader has not been in vain.

The report of Mrs. Manning Nicholls representing the Nominating Committee resulted in the election of the following officers for the ensuing year—

President—Mrs. L. E. Sherman.
1st Vice President—Mrs. Bessie McBride.
2nd Vice President—Mrs. B. A. Rice.

Secretary—Miss E. A. McClelland.
Asst. Secretary—Mrs. R. I. Curtis.
Treasurer—Mrs. H. S. Adams.
Executive—Mrs. J. Henshaw.
Executive—Mrs. J. Henshaw.
Executive—Mrs. J. Henshaw.

Following the discharge of business a delightful social hour was spent. A dainty repast was provided by our hostess, the feature of it being a beautiful birthday cake made by Mrs. Annie Copeland, in honor of Mrs. Charles Hains one of our oldest and much respected members.

The ladies who assisted in the serving were—Mrs. James Dittmars, Mrs. Howard Adams, Mrs. F. F. McClelland, Mrs. Annie Copeland, Mrs. Hyram Berry, Mrs. B. H. A. Rice, and Mrs. Elburn Berry. At the close of the meeting Mrs. Sherman received a check from Malcom Smith, of Rowley, Mass., a bequest left to the Dorcas Society by her mother the late Mrs. Willard P. Smith who was a summer resident here.

Mrs. Walter Waterhouse and son Jack, who have been confined to the Digby Hospital for several weeks suffering from injuries received in an automobile accident, are slowly recovering and expect to leave for their home in Halifax early next week.

The Digby General Hospital wishes to acknowledge with thanks the donation of a regulation Hospital Bed from the Women's Institute of Digby. This bed, which was a valuable addition to the hospital property, was donated by the Women's Institute of Digby. The bed is now in the room in which this bed is placed being fully furnished. The Hospital also accepts with thanks the sum of ten Dollars from Mrs. Harvey and Miss Hind of Windsor in memory of M. C. S.

The Shelburne Shipbuilders, Ltd., of Shelburne, commenced this week, the construction of a fine auxiliary schooner for Messrs. Hugh Cann & Son, of Yarmouth. The vessel will measure 20 feet long, 21 wide, 8 deep, about 90 tons register and 140 tons dead-weight capacity. The craft will be the most substantial built and when completed will be used for general coasting purposes. The schooner will be fitted with a horse power motor of the Canadian Fairbanks-Morse crude oil type, which with other equipment will make the vessel very modern for whatever purpose it may be fitted to use it. It is expected the schooner, which will be a value addition to the Cann fleet, will be completed and ready for service about March 1, next.

Returning from a fishing trip at about 1:30 Sunday night, says yesterday's Boston Globe, William Maize, a fisherman who lives at 14 Webster avenue, East Boston, walked to the kitchen where he found his wife dead, seated in a chair near the kitchen table. He reported to station 7 where he told Lieut. Harry J. King that he left last Wednesday for a fishing trip and that at that time his wife was apparently in good health. Dr. Edward Downey, who viewed the body, said the woman had been dead for some time, probably more than 48 hours. Medical examiner George B. McGrath ordered the body removed to the North Grove Street Mortuary. The woman was 37 years old and resided about three miles west at the Webster avenue address.

WHAT OF DIGBY'S FUTURE

taught this year. The proper time to have Chautauqua would be during the month of August when the Tourists are in town. The larger Chautauqua which visits the leading cities could then be arranged to play this town. It would provide high class entertainment for a large and would be undoubtedly well patronized. Sufficient tickets would be sold among the tourists to meet the guarantee.

Organized parties and excursions on land and water could be arranged. Aquatic Sports are always of much interest—make use of the Annapolis Basin and the Pavilion. Have the beach cleaned and proper facilities provided for bathing and boating. Cover the Annapolis Basin with boats, canoes, yachts, etc. Let out bathing concessions. Provide several aquatic meets. They will be well patronized.

These are some of the ideas which might be put into effect. They would give the Tourist something to do during every moment that he was in town. They would provide him with sufficient entertainment to make his visit to Digby the most enjoyable trip he has ever made. It would increase the Tourist trade and would put more money in circulation. It is worth trying. It is not contended that this can be done in a day, a month or a year. A small beginning is required. Let us make that beginning now and then keep on going. Let there be no looking back. It is common knowledge what happens to the persons who look back. He who hesitates is lost. Why hesitate? Forget the petty us of every-day life and look forward to the future. Make the citizens of Digby must soon realize that they cannot go on as they are doing. If they do they are lost.

The writer will endeavor to deal in the next issue with the other phases of Digby. The industrial side as it is and as it might be. This will conclude the present series of articles. It is to be hoped that there will be an answering response from the citizens of Digby who will awaken to a realization of what they are to this splendid Province and especially our own country.

C. A. Jordan, who has been a resident of Digby for a number of years, last week left for the Columbia House in local parties, and left for Vancouver, where he will be in future residence. The hotel will be closed during his absence, as it will be renovated and redecorated.

Fire at eight o'clock yesterday morning destroyed the cottage at the rear of P. W. Holdsworth's residence, which was occupied by Miss Louise, Cassin. Cause of the fire was due to the explosion of a Perfection oil stove. Miss Cassin escaped without injury. The fire department were on the scene, and were successful in getting the conflagration under control, within a few minutes. Luckily, no one was blowing at the time, otherwise more serious results to surrounding buildings would have occurred. The building is a total loss, and Mr. Holdsworth carried no insurance.

Liberal Total 101, Conservative 117

Two Independents Listed Followers Of King In Summary

The only change in the Dominion election standing as a result of today's Canadian Press returns was the placing of Bonaventure, Que., back in the Liberal list. After it had been transferred to the doubtful column last night based on reports that the Conservative candidate was running ahead in that riding.

Today, however, brought the announcement that Hon. Chas. Marché was returned with a majority of 520. The Conservative total remains at 117 and the Liberal is 101. Among the Liberals are two Independent Liberals who defeated the official Liberal candidates.

In Chatham, Que. J. E. A. Dubuc, Independent Liberal, was victorious over L. Levesque, official Liberal, and J. C. Gagnon, Conservative. In Crockett, Ont., G. Evans, running as Independent Liberal also defeated his official Liberal and Conservative opponents. The following is the party standing by provinces tonight:

	Cons.	Pro.	Ind.	Total
P. E. I.	2	2	0	0
N. B.	1	10	0	0
N. S.	4	11	0	0
Quebec	60	4	0	1
Ontario	12	63	2	2
Manitoba	1	7	6	1
Alberta	4	8	0	0

Here and There

During 1924 the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers' Association sold 2,600,000 pounds of wool, making a total of 25,845,504 pounds handled since its organization seven years ago. Wool was first exported in 1922.

Filings on oil land in South Alberta are drawing near the E.P. ranch, owned by the Prince of Wales. The ranch is said to lie on a Benton outcrop and portions of it may have been staked out by oil seekers before the spring is far advanced.

Caribou are coming back to New Brunswick, says the Chief Game Warden of that province. This is regarded as a testimony to the protective methods employed by the guides who are fully aware that the best means of securing the caribou is to see that hunting of big game is not carried to excess.

"Relations between France and England were never more cordial than they are to-day," said Hon. W. C. Mitchell, Lieut.-Governor of British Columbia, interviewed on his return to Canada from a visit to France. Referring to his own province His Honor said there was every indication of British Columbia being swamped with tourists this year.

Lauchlin MacLachlan, of Toronto, after serving nearly fifty years on the employ of the Canadian Pacific Railway has been retired on pension at his own request. He was presented at leaving with an embossed address and gold watch and chain, which were handed to him by B. W. Scott, superintendent of Toronto Terminals, on behalf of his friends and associates.

The Prince of Wales, just before setting out for his tour of South Africa and South America, took a flying trip to the West End Exhibition grounds. His Royal Highness was especially delighted with the children's section of the Park, Treasure Island, the main attraction of which is a Canadian Pacific model train in which the kiddies will "tour the Rockies."

The Canadian Pacific S.S. "Montroyal" docked at New York recently after her second and final West Indian cruise of the season with a veritable zoo on board, collected by passengers and to be taken inland as "baggage." She carried 600 parrots, and love birds, several monkeys, a deer and a Mexican pig. Some of these are destined for various cities in Canada.

Saskatchewan can boast of a family of six generations. Mrs. Odell of Hanley, 93 years of age, has a great-great-granddaughter of six months. Her eldest daughter is 76. She has 33 grandchildren, 45 great-grandchildren, seven great-great-grandchildren and the little lady first referred to. Mrs. Odell still reads and sews without eye-glasses.

Immigrants who chanted and sang their happiness at arriving in Canada were witnessed recently at the Montreal Windsor Station when a batch of fifty canaries in six cages were banded there for a time before conveyance by train. They had already travelled over 3,000 miles from Liverpool and had a further prospect of another 4,500 until they reached their destination either at Vancouver or in some cases San Francisco.

Electors of Culloden

Please accept my most sincere thanks for the wonderful expression of confidence you have given at the poll.

Never in the history of municipal affairs was a candidate ever faced with such tremendous odds and never did the people rally more enthusiastically to a candidate than you all did to me.

The people made it their fight and it is their victory. I sincerely thank those who worked so hard and so unselfishly on my behalf. I thank all those who voted for me, and made the great victory possible. The fight is over and let us work in unity for the good and welfare of Culloden.

Faithfully yours

Just Talks--On Common Themes

The Chronic Kicker

ANOTHER TIME I may choose for discussion some pleasing theme in which the voice of censure need not be heard above a whisper; but this time I have undertaken to consider that trait in a man's character which urges him to seek his own advantage by disparaging those whose lot is cast in the same line of business with him in the same community.

Let it be understood, however, that my choice of a subject this week does not need to imply that any urgency exists which calls for its discussion at this particular time. On the contrary, like the preacher to a wealthy congregation who scorns the vice of the poor, rather than rail against his own parishioners, I try, always, to be careful to light upon some form of vice which is not prevalent in that neck of the woods where my observations are printed.

So, I may venture here to discuss "knockers" in general with that perfect freedom of utterance which is born of the assurance that no local withers will be wrung by what I say here—where a knocker is as rare a bird as a woodpecker in the Desert of Sahara.

There is some diversity of opinion as to whether the activities in question are helpful or hindering in their effect. Some hold that a knock is a boost. True, a knock is an acknowledgment that the one so honored is respected by his adversary; but is the truth of this very generally appreciated? Personally, I have never regarded such gentry as philanthropists. Certainly it is not a boost when one's case is handled by a real "live wire," one of those jocular chaps whose scathing tongue is seconded by a ready wit and a boisterous mirthfulness, one who can laugh, with apparent disinterestedness, until the tears roll down his cheeks, at the alleged shortcomings of his competitor, and then, mark you!—suddenly change front, look grave and wag his head and say—

"It's bad—it's a great pity."

If he can play this part well, if he can do it convincingly, he is no man's booster. He is a master-knocker, and his knock will have a punch behind them just so long as he can make it appear that he says it for the sake, and not for his own sake.

Many years ago there lived in the village of What's-It's Name a merchant-tailor, called "Jerry." Jerry was bright as a chipmunk, had a genial smile and the gift of scornful laughter; a tongue too that was steeped in the bitterness of gall and wormwood. For long he had been the big toad in that small puddle; and, like many bigger toads who in the past have lived and lorded it in bigger puddles Jerry felt it was his God-given right, not only to be the most upstanding toad in all that puddle, but to snap at any other who dared to stick his nose up and ripple the surface of the water in which his toadship's image was reflected.

Had it not been for the coming of Jones, a rival in the business, perhaps Jerry's genius for knocking might never have become fully developed. Jerry, very wisely, welcomed him with open arms; said he was glad to see another good clothes-maker come to relieve him of the strain of overwork; thought he would be able now to get a little pleasure out of life, and a day off, when the wilds were calling him; to go fishing—ha! Well Jerry knew a trick worth two of fishings.

It was not until Jones' new creations, bright harbingers of spring, began to make their appearance on the main street of the village that Jerry started out in earnest with the hammer.

"For the luv of Mike m'lud, who draped ye with that?" he would demand in a quick started whisper, when he came upon one of Jones' customers arrayed "like one of these" in one of Jones' tailor-mades.

"What?" he would jerk out, "Jones make that? Come—off! Jones is m'friend I tell ye, and he wouldn't make a man a coat like that unless he hated him. Ye ain't riled him have ye m'lud? Just turn round now and let's have a squint at the back of it.—Oh! sufferin' cats!"

Here he would gripas much of the back of the coat as he could, with his fingers, and pull it up about the poor boob's ears.

"Long—sufferin'—cats! Why ye ain't got a homp on your back have ye? Then what does he expect ye to put into this?"

Then peals of laughter, and curious villagers edging up to see the fun. Then seriousness—as Jerry's voice would soften.

"It's too bad Laddie," he would murmur, "it's too darn bad."

Such scenes as this were frequent in the post office, in the barber shop, in Jerry's shop and on the market square. Then, of course, there were his followers, his true believers, who condemned poor Jones work on Jerry's say so; though I could never see that any of it was justified, either by the style or cut of Jones' clothes.

Nor did Jones' character escape. Jerry made him a new one out of whole cloth, as different from the real Jones as chalk from cheese. Just as Dr. Jekyll had to go sponsor for the dreadful Mr. Hyde's acts as well as his own; so Jones had one character to improve and another to grieve over, in the village of What's-It's Name.

Unfortunately also, while his real character was known only to a few, his given character was widely, if not favorably, known to hundreds he had never met. I am glad, however, to be able to place the facts on record that his real self did, in the end, overtake and vanquish that bugaboo of Jerry's.

Much water has flowed under the bridges since the principals in the serio-comic drama I have attempted to unfold, played their respective parts. Jones is dead (God rest his soul), and Jerry, too, has long since gone to his reward. Though in his lifetime he was Prince of Knockers, he was not all bad. He had his points. And may we not (I trust we may) indulge the pious hope that, as he stood there shivering, in the outer darkness of the great beyond—that, then and there, through sheer force of habit, he up—and he knocked and it was opened to him? Indeed I trust he may—poor Jerry! The man is dead, but the art, of which he was the true exponent, lives.

The art of knocking has been likened to the art of agriculture, in that certain seeds are sown in a spirit of hopefulness, after careful preparation of the soil. He ploughs it, and harrows it, and scuffles it and spreads the fertilizer before he plants his seed. Many an otherwise promising knocker has failed through carelessness or inattention to this all-important requirement, the tillage of his soil; and thus a lot of seed has gone to feed the crows.

For instance, if he should neglect to inform everyone beforehand that he entertains the kindest and the most generous sentiment toward his intended victim, personally—why, the misconception might easily arise that he was urged to it by selfish motives. Such misapprehensions are the bane of knockers. They undo his work. But the master knows how to deal with these.

Later he may attack his quarry openly; yet must he never fail to fabricate a better case to satisfy his public than the poor thing that stirs within his heart. Hypocrisy will suggest to him many more and serviceable causes—the fervor of patriotism, the love of humanity, justice, honor, truth, etc., the hatred of the opposites of which might easily be supposed to make a plain, blunt man just fighting mad! Dear,

DIGBY HOSPITAL NOW IN GOOD FINANCIAL STANDING--1ST REPORT

Good Work Accomplished By Ladies Auxiliary Since Incorporation--Citizens In All Parts Of County Support Movement

BALANCE IN BANK IS $2,390.18

THE six months financial statement of the Digby General Hospital was submitted to the monthly meeting of the Board held in the Council Chambers on Tuesday evening, and showed that after paying all expenses the Treasurer had a balance on hand of $2,390.18.

The Digby General Hospital was incorporated on May 1, 1925, and previous to incorporation several leading citizens objected strongly against the movement, stating that a hospital could not be financed in this town and county. However, a majority of the ratepayers thought otherwise, and at several public meetings voted in favor of incorporation.

Shortly after legislation was passed, strong committees were appointed throughout the town and county, all working in harmony toward the movement. Every village and hamlet have their committees today, and a number of substantial donations have been received.

The Ladies Auxiliary, with Mrs. J. W. Merkel as President, has done good work during the past six months, and much of the credit is due the painstaking efforts of this committee toward the financial success attained. The Bazaar, which was held in August, netted the hospital the sum of $2,168.11.

The following is the financial statement:

CASH RECEIVED
From board and room	1571 25
From use of operating room	347 00
From private donations	339 65
From general donations	1050 04
Receipts from hospital fair	2168 11
Making a total of cash received from May 1 to Nov. 1	5476 05
Cash on hand May 1 when hospital was incorporated	88 90
Making a grand total of cash received up to Nov. 1	5564 93
CASH PAID OUT
For Salaries	1581 33
For House Expenses	785 89
For Medical Supplies	328 31
For Sundries, which include furniture, dishes, etc.	525 79
	3221 23
Less cheque charged twice	36 55
Leaving a total of expense from May 1 to Nov. 1	3184 77
Cash on hand and in bank November 1st, 1925	2390 18

The Road To Success

Life is so exacting that if we waver in our task, or fail to keep our hold on things, we shall lose. That means that we become marked out as one of those who have had their chance and let the opportunity go by.

The only royal road to success is that of uncommon effort. They are wrong who think it comes only by uncommon brain power. This misunderstood old world of ours has more frequently been lifted up by those who toiled and never got tired than by the exceptionally gifted ones who had the power to do so much but never did it.

We have to make good by the sweat of hand, brain, heart and soul. Unless we keep at it we shall be nothing more than the mediocre. The world rarely takes its bit off to any man who didn't take his cost off.

The fountain head of success for each of us, then is getting a reasonable belief in "I." Never mind what suggest we are egotists, but whilst they criticize us we may comfort ourselves by the truth that the critic doesn't know all, although he often thinks he does.

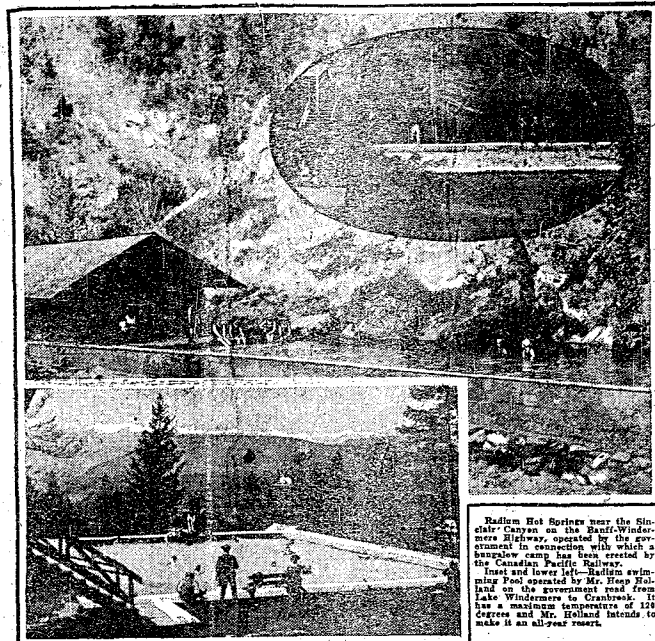

Every man is important. Every man has something to do that no one else can do. A big belief in the big work of life that we have to do is perfectly legitimate.

Sometimes, when we have done our best, we shall find that we are wrong. That is inevitable. There is no eternal in making a mistake. The greatest mistake of all is to linger there and not pick up and go on again. There is always a chance to make good. It is sometimes a greater thing to try than to win. Earth is made gloomy by the losers rather than the victors. We must keep on pushing. Don't shove, but push! Shoving suggests unfairness, getting someone out of his rightful place.

It is said that "To see things through we must first learn to see through things," and the first lesson life teaches is that of preserving. If we shunble we must follow on. If we have not the mental ability of others, never mind. Just cultivate gumption and show grit.

Everything is on the side of the one who determines that, come what may, he will keep moving forward. We are largely creatures of habit. We follow each other, and do much as others do. Thus many a man slacks his hand when he finds others are doing so, just because he shrinks

A Radium Hot Springs In The Rockies

Sixty-four years ago, when Sir George Simpson was making the first overland tour around the world, he came across some hot springs on the western slopes of the Rocky Mountains which the local Kootenay Indians frequented on account of their curative properties. As the white settlers came in after the Wild Horse Creek Gold Rush, these came to be called The Fairmont Hot Springs, and became a well known landmark on the Government road from Lake Windermere to Cranbrook. In 1912 an English rancher, Mr. Heep Holland, purchased them and erected bathing facilities, and two years ago made extensive improvements in connection with his development of a bungalow camp. The waters on analysis proved to contain a higher percentage of radium in solution than any other Springs on the American Continent, higher even than those at from appearing singular. But then, seeing that we cannot live without influencing one another, it is essential that we should not retire, but encourage others to fight on and not grow weary.

Christmas Coming

The merchant who realizes that the greatest buying season of all the year is just around the corner, begins his Christmas advertising now, and keeps right at it until his wares have reached the lowest level possible by Christmas eve.

The Courier has plenty of space to devote to a vigorous campaign, one that would help you to the greatest extent possible if properly handled.

Now is the time to arrange for space and then make that space talk, and talk loud. If we can help you in any way we will gladly do so. We want to see every business make the Christmas trade go over the top big, and we honestly believe an aggressive campaign carried on through The Courier cannot help but bring beneficial results. At any rate do not sit flat and cuss the mail order houses. Get up and fight them, you have the goods and you have a medium that the mail order houses have not been able to get into yet "but we might say it is not for lack of trying on their part" and may we ask "is the protection of any value? Do you appreciate it?"

Port Wade

Leander Oliver of Annapolis was the week-end guest at the home of Frank Muscells.

Lloyd McGrath and family spent a few days with friends here last week, returning to Bridgewater on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Kendall have closed their home for the winter months and left for Boston on Friday last.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kinghorn arrived here from St. John on Saturday to spend Thanksgiving with Mrs. Kinghorn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Johnson. They returned to the city on Wednesday, accompanied by Mr. Johnson and son, Avar.

Ralph Apt and friend, James Coleman, of Kentville, motored to Port W. de on Sunday, and are spending a few days at the home of Mrs. Morrison.

Aubrey Bowles of Waterville spent Thanksgiving at the home of James Muscells.

Mrs. C. A. Keane, who has been spending the summer months at her cottage here, left this week for Everett, Mass.

Mount Pleasant

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Hillman and Mrs. M. T. Thibault, of Bay View, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Harry O. VanTassel.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie VanTassel and children, spent Thanksgiving day with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas at Marshalltown.

Mrs. Gordon VanTassel, who underwent a serious operation at the Digby Hospital, has returned home much improved in health.

Lloyd Everett, of St. John, boat, was the over Sunday guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Arkanas, in addition to valuable curative deposits of magnesium and lime. The Canadian Pacific Railway had obtained right of way through his property in consideration of calling their station Radium, and these Radium Hot Springs now attract many visitors, the camp having a capacity for seventy persons. A special bath is now being constructed for the Indians, under the superintendence of Louis Arbel, the Kootenay Chief, while the white folk have a spacious swimming pool surrounded by scrupulously clean dressing rooms. There is a tennis court and horses with guides are available for riding the neighboring trails, while large numbers of automobilists visit the Springs during the summer months. Mr. Heep Holland has the intention of making this an all-year resort, as the waters have a temperature of 120° and never freeze. The only fly in the omelette is that the Government operates rival hot Springs on the Banff-Windermere Road, which are also called Radium Hot Springs, this being the post office address. These Springs are also highly curative, and have also a neighboring bungalow camp which was erected by the Canadian Pacific Railway, and is operated very successfully by the Misses Armstrong. The Government Hot Springs were for many years known as the Sinclair Hot Springs, being named after James Sinclair, an old time pioneer, who is the first known white man to have crossed the Sinclair Pass in 1842. The virtues of these Springs were known not only to the Indians but to the animals, and it is credibly reported that in the old days bears used to bathe their paws in the waters to secure relief from rheumatism. While there is a natural confusion through the duplication of names, both resorts are rapidly increasing in popularity, chiefly owing to the increase in automobile traffic through the Rockies.

Everett.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Holme, and Fred Ryan, of Marshalltown, spent one Sunday recently with Mr. and Mrs. John C. Handsaker.

Miss Dorothy Fleet, of St. John, is the guest of her grandmother, Mrs. Lucy Woodworth.

Loran Stark spent a few days last week in Yarmouth, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Emdon Fleet.

Mrs. Walter Handsaker has returned from her visit to Westport.

Miss Mildred Stark, of Culloden, spent the week-end with her aunt, Mrs. Archie Handsaker.

Bear River East

Miss Emma VanBuskirk returned home last week after spending her vacation in Amherst the guest of her brother Frank.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Tupper, of Round Hill, spent several days last week with their daughter, Mrs. Fred Jefferson.

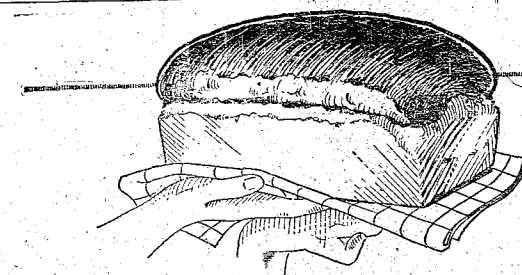

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Blaney, of Berwick, attended the Skimmer-Rugby marriage in the United Church in Bear River on Tuesday of last week.

Miss G. Blair has resigned her position as teacher here and gone to the United States for the winter.

Mrs. Helen Jefferson attended the funeral of the late Beniah Potter at Clementsvale on Sunday last.

Probably one reason for the popularity of Wrigley's is that it lasts so long and retains such great dividends for so small an outlay. It keeps teeth clean, breath sweet, appetite keen, digestion good. Fresh and full-flavored always in its wax-wrapped package.

SATISFACTION

A seemingly low price for an article is always attractive, but unfortunately frequently misleading. How often is heard the remark—"I would rather have paid a little more and got the quality I wanted."

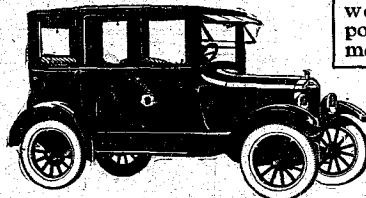

As a matter of fact that "little more" was necessary to obtain the better quality. Good goods require a higher price to be good.

CANADIAN PACIFIC PRESIDENT AND DIRECTORS MAKE TOUR OF WESTERN CANADA TO COAST

SURROUNDING E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, are a number of the directors of the system grouped on the Observation Car of the train about to start for Toronto from the Windsor Station, Montreal. Mr. Beatty spoke at the Toronto Exhibition on the occasion of "Transportation Day" and then went on an extended tour of inspection over the C.P.R. western lines. His itinerary was by way of Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Edmonton and Calgary to the Rocky Mountains and on to the Coast and Vancouver Island where a trip was made over the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway to Fort Alberni and Great Central Lake, the terminal of a new stretch of that railroad which has just been built to open up important lumbering areas. Speaking of general conditions on his return from the trip, Mr. Beatty said a very marked improvement was evident as compared with that which had existed when he last went across the country. The spirit of the people was much more optimistic and he thought with very good reason. The movement of grain had gone forward extremely well. The railways were never in better shape to handle the crop and Canadian Pacific shipments from Winnipeg to the head of the Lakes had created a record. There was, Mr. Beatty added, noticeable throughout the country a sustained interest in the important matter of immigration and a more general realization of the fact that therein lay the soundest remedy for most of Canada's difficulties. The announcement made at Edmonton by President Beatty of a fuller measure of co-operation between the government and the railways looking to an acceleration of the movement of settlers to Canada had apparently been well received as an indication of real progress in this direction, and Mr. Beatty was hopeful that next year's results would be much better than for some years past. At the Rocky Mountains resorts and the coast Mr. Beatty stated that the tourist business was assuming tremendous proportions and the Rockies were fast growing in popularity with American and European travellers, while tourist traffic up and down the coast had been heavy, the two new tourist steamers, Princess Kathleen and Princess Margaret, added to the Canadian Pacific fleet, having been exceedingly well patronized. Improvements were in hand at the Banff Springs Hotel and Chateau Lake Louise for the coming winter. Throughout the trip Mr. Beatty was accompanied by Sir Herbert Holt, F. W. Molson, Ross H. McMaster, directors of the company; P. E. Meredith, director of Canadian Pacific Steamships and by John W. Hobbs, director of the Imperial Bank. Over eastern lines vice-president A. D. MacTier accompanied the party, while D. G. Coleman, vice-president of western lines, was present from Fort William week.

Start the Week With a Smile

"Do you think," Mr. Crochet, that my daughter will ever be able to do anything with her voice?" said a mother, to her daughter's music teacher.
"Well, madam, it might come in useful in case of fire," returned the teacher.

Two men were discussing horse racing, and one remarked upon the inappropriateness often given the horses. "If I had a racehorse," he said, "I would give him a fitting name." "What would you call him?" asked the other.

"Money," was the answer. "But that's absurd, isn't it?" "No, I don't think so.
Do you know anything that goes faster?"

A merry party was going on in one of the rooms of a large London hotel when the festivities were interrupted by an attendant who said: "Gentlemen, I have been sent to ask you to make less noise.
The gentlemen in the next room says he can't read."

"Can't read," replied the host. "Go and tell him he ought to be ashamed to say so. Why I could read when I was 5 years old."

A lawyer once asked an Alabama judge to charge the jury that "it is better that ninety and nine guilty men should escape than that one innocent man should be punished."

"Yes," the judge asserted, "I shall gladly give that charge. Your request is wholly in order. But in the opinion of the court the ninety and nine guilty men have already escaped."

A young man attended a boxing academy and took lessons in the noble art.
A few minutes after they had begun the first bout the instructor floured his pupil with a meat ball hook.

"I say," spluttered the learner as he struggled to rise, "is it necessary to knock me down like this?"

"Else your heart, no, sir," grinned the old pugilist. "Stand up and I'll show you a dozen other ways."

The young flapper just graduated from boarding school was touring Yosemite valley. Her mother, wishing to educate her further, insisted that she tour the valley with a guide. Arriving at a huge chasm, the instructor informed his party that the crevice had been seen with glacial rock action thousands of years ago.

"And what was the name of the glacier?"
inquired the young lady.

"It went back to slip some more rocks," was the tart reply.

There was something wrong with the radio and Tompkins had called in a friend, an amateur wireless expert, to advise him.
It did not take the latter long to discover the cause of the trouble.

"It's a very ordinary fault," he informed Tompkins. "Your aerial is leaking."

"Leaking?" repeated Mrs. Tompkins.
Who was taking an intelligent interest in the proceedings. "What a pity we didn't know yesterday when the plumber was here."

The young flapper was fishing in the Maine woods with her family. Feeling bored while on a camping trip, she decided to carry on a mild flirtation with the Canadian guide. The guide baited his hook and tossed it into the water.

"So sweeten me with a smile, and softly inquired. "I suppose you know all about fishing?" The question was considered in all its aspects before the answer came slowly. "No, I wouldn't go so far as to say that. I only know 1,973 seasons why they won't bite."

You Can't Fool Everybody

All of us know what a pleasure it is to meet a person who is real—without pretensions, without affectations.

Yet few of us ever allow ourselves to appear to others as we really are.

BE YOURSELF! It is certainly good advice from the vernacular.

To effect a quality, and to plume yourself upon it, is just to confess that YOU HAVE NOT GOT IT.

Whether it is courage, or learning, or intellect, or wit, or a way with women, or riches, or social position, or whatever else it may be that a man boasts of, you may conclude by his boasting about it that that is precisely the direction in which he is rather weak.

For if a man possesses any faculty to the full, it will not occur to him to make a great show of affecting it; he is quite content to know that he has it.

This is the application of the Spanish Proverb, A clattering hoof is a nail gone.

Of course, no man ought to let the reins go entirely loose and show himself just as he is, moles, scars, birthmarks and all.

There are many of us now, evidently to our nature which requires what Schopenhauer calls "the negative attitude of dissimulation," but this does not justify a positive feigning of qualities which are not there.

It should be remembered always that affectation is easily recognized, even before it is clear what is being affected.

Affectation cannot last very long and one day the mask will fall off.

No one can preserve a fictitious character; for Nature will assert itself.

There is a maxim attributed to Napoleon, "Everything that is unnatural is imperfect."

It is a rule of universal application.

Diphtheria In The Valley

Some of the Valley communities find themselves threatened with Diphtheria, a number of cases having developed of late in such a way as to indicate wide spread infection.

The type of the disease is mild.
Up to the present there has been little or no loss of life. Indeed the very mildness of the attack has contributed very largely to the difficulty of recognition. This has moreover led many persons—acquainted only with the severer types, where deaths were frequent —to believe that the epidemic was nothing more severe than one of "common colds." Occasional severer cases, followed by paralysis, or in which fatal terminations were averred only by the administration of antitoxin in large doses, have indicated the true nature of the outbreak beyond a possibility of doubt.

The Local Boards of Health, under the direction of the Medical Health Officer, are now making determined efforts to limit the spread of the disease, though they are hampered in their task by the fact that the outbreak had already assumed quite wide spread proportion before the nature of the epidemic was recognized.

In their efforts to relieve the situation they are meeting with the wholehearted support of the communities. This is of the highest importance and promises well for early control.

The boards are endeavoring to secure the safety of the public with as little inconvenience or as little dislocation of business as is consistent with safety. Without a doubt some inconvenience will be experienced, but the measures being taken assure that the inconvenience will be the minimum amount, which is called upon for the individual or the community to undergo, and which is, at the same time, necessary for community protection.

By wholeheartedly supporting the Local Boards of Health, the communities will greatly assist them in their important, though sometimes thankless, duty.

A WOMAN'S SUFFERING

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Verdun, Montreal, Quebec.—"I am one of those who have taken Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have great faith in it. I can safely say it has relieved my troubles and shall never be without a bottle of it in my house. Since my last baby was born I suffered from pains and backache and would feel so tired I could not do anything in my home. Since I have been taking the Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine I feel so different. I recommend it to all my friends and hope it will cure other women who are suffering from the troubles I had."—Mrs. TROUSSE, H. GARDNER, 821 Evelyn Street, Verdun, Montreal,
Quebec.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for the new mother. It is prepared from roots and herbs, contains no harmful drugs and can be taken by the nursing mother.

Its worth in restoring the mother to normal health and strength is told again and again in just such letters as Mrs.
Gardner wrote.

A recent canvass of women users of the Vegetable Compound shows that 98 out of every 100 women taking the medicine are benefited by it. The write and tell us so. Such evidence entitles us to call it a dependable medicine for women. It is for sale by druggists everywhere.

Here and There

Major-General Sir Fabian Ware, vice-chairman of the Imperial War Graves Commission, who has been visiting in Canada during October, has been recalled to England much earlier than he expected. Prior to sailing on the Canadian Pacific liner, Montclair, from Montreal, he expressed the hope that he would be able to come to Canada again next spring so that he could give Canadians in the West some idea of what the Imperial Commission is doing in caring for the graves of western youths who perished during the war.

Robert L. Rice, Jr., of Boston, and J. Y. Cole, of Harvard, took to chances when they attempted to travel by canoe from Rouyn to Ang-liers at the end of October. Although they started in beautiful Indian summer weather they ran within a few hours into a bad storm which filled their canoe with half melted snow and almost froze them into unconsciousness. Fortunately they arrived in the nick of time at a fire-ranger's hut where they stayed a few days until the storm abated. They were prospecting in the neighborhood and were none the worse for their perilous trip when they finally reached Montreal.

Bob Shawkey, New York Yankee veteran pitcher, who organized the party manager league baseball players now hunting big game in New Brunswick, shot a moose with antlers spreading 66 inches and having 28 points, according to word received at Fredericton, N.B. Shawkey shot his moose the first day the party spent in the woods. This information is conveyed by another party of hunters who passed the camp of the ball players at Nepesigau Lakes. In the group are some of the best known players in the American League, Eddie Collins, Babe Ruth and Muddy Ruel being among them.

The romance of a world cruise culminated in New York City recently when Dorothy Holmes O'Ryan, daughter of Major-General and Mrs. John F. O'Ryan, of New York, married Baroness O'Ryan, of Chicago. The couple met for the first time a year ago on board the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of France which was then making a tour of the world. It is feared they had no eyes for the world marvels which were unveiled before them on the tour, since it is stated they fell in love at first sight and could only separate after the marriage was performed by the Rev. Father Francis P. Duffy, chaplain of the "Fighting Sixty-ninth," a regiment commanded by the bride's father during the war.

Good reading for Canadian Pacific shareholders is furnished in the September statement of gross earnings, working expenses and net profits. It has been the most favorable month for the company in a long time. The gross earnings were $18,909,071, the greatest shown in any month since October, 1924.
Operating expenses were $12,641, 450 and the difference between the two, the net profits $6,267,619, an increase of $1,719,973 over the corresponding month of last year. Net earnings for the first nine months of this year, ending September 30th, is $11,900,039 greater than the 1924 figures, despite a decrease in gross earnings of over four and a half million dollars. This was made possible by the company's policy of rigid economy.

To bring the Arctic within the scope of tourist traffic is the object of the Marquis M. N. d'Aguiar, well known sports director of the Arctic Circle. "We are going to swim our horses and outfit across the Saskatchewan River and camp near the sources of the Athabasca which empties into Great Slave Lake and thence into the Arctic," the Marquis asserts. The first of these trips is scheduled between June 28 and July 27 next year.

The members of the Zephaniah Rebekah Lodge will hold their annual public social in I. O. O. F. Hall on Monday evening, Nov. 16th. Admission including refreshments 50 cents. Home made candy will be on sale. Come and have a pleasant evening.

The annual meeting of the Digby Central Agricultural Society will be held in the Town Council Chambers on Saturday afternoon, when reports of the past year's business will be read, as well as appointing officers and committees for the coming year. F. W. Nichols is secretary of the association.

On Saturday evening the Girl Guides of Preport, entertained the Boy Scouts, and members of the Scout Committee. A programme consisting of songs, recitations, piano solos, and dances was given. Guide Evelyn Thurber welcomed our pastor Rev. P. M. Hamilton, who has returned from his recent operation, and presented him with a book of poems in appreciation of his helpful work and kindly interest toward the Guides. Later R. E. Morell, member of the Scout Committee, presented Rev. Hamilton with his Scoutmaster's certificate, the frame being a gift from the Committee. These presentations were acknowledged in a pleasing and appreciative manner. After playing games, dairy refreshments were served. Singing of the National Anthem brought to a close a most enjoyable evening. The Guides are to be congratulated on the efficient manner in which they carried out their social.

lovely virtues! Think you! What meannesses are often perpetrated in thy names?

And in the names of these, throughout the country, he sows the seeds of hatred and distrust of his competitor, of his goods, of his skill, of his integrity, of anything indeed which he may have to offer that, in any way, conflicts or interferes with that which he has to offer, or even stirs the surface of the puddle in which his image is reflected.

Wherever a master-knocker abides, are to be found those, whose destiny it is, to believe in all he says. I set down nothing here discourteously, but everything in all sincerity and kindness, concerning these [what shall I say?] "honest knockers," who have no axes to grind, who are not spiteful, nor vindictive, but trustful souls, admirers of the master-knocker, who pass on what the master tells them, having faith in his good heart and in his judgment. I respect any man's or woman's faith in anything; I care not what it is; but I do say that this faith of theirs should not be used to the injury of others. These honest ones who unthinkingly pass on the verdicts of their master, without revealing the source from whence these verdicts emanate, are creating an "illusion of numbers" which is most prejudicial to him whose name is being hawked at; because there may be no question whatever of numbers, the whole cock-and-bull story being derived from one most doubtful source. It is just an account of his master's, which the honest knocker may prove even deadlier than his master. These honest ones who unthinkingly pass on the verdicts of their master, without revealing the source from whence these verdicts emanate, are creating an "illusion of numbers" which is most prejudicial to him whose name is being hawked at; because there may be no question whatever of numbers, the whole cock-and-bull story being derived from one most doubtful source. It is just an account of his master's, which the honest knocker may prove even deadlier than his master.

But seriously, the "knocker" is a problem; and what a problem needs to be solved. It is not to be regretted that our essays, public moralists and lecturers have not seen fit to deal with it in that thoroughgoing manner, so congenial to their powers, which the grave, anti-social factors of this problem seem to ask for. This treatise of mine purports to be a suggestive merely not exhaustive.

Official Bulletin is issued by considerate Governments from time to time, giving the life histories of the Corn Borer, the Boll Weevil, the Tussock Moth, etc., their modes of growth and propagation, their habits and other useful data concerning them. Then why should not the knocker, that industrious borer into the reputations of men—why should he not receive a little wholesome publicity at the hands of those who have had occasion to investigate his methods? Why should he not?

MCURTREY-OUTHOUSE
At the Methodist parsonage, St. John, N. B., at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, Nov. 13th, Miss Viola Pearl Outhouse, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Outhouse of Tiverton N. S. was united in marriage to Capt. Hugh G. McMurtry, son of Mr. John McMurtry of Margaretsville, N. S. Rev. H. A. Goodwin performed the ceremony in the presence of a large number of guests. Those present being Percy McMurtry, brother of the groom; Mrs. C. W. Perrett of St. John; and the Misses Ina Young and Reba Robbins, of Tiverton, girl friends of the bride.

The bride looked very charming in a dress of powder blue flat crepe with sand and gold trimmings, and carried a bouquet of carnations and ferns. The groom's gift to the bride was a lovely string of pearls. After the ceremony the party returned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Perrett, 31st High St. where a wedding supper was served. The bride's travelling costume was a coat of wood brown velvet with fox trimmings and hat to match. They will at present reside in North Head, where Capt. McMurtry is in charge of the S. S. Grand Manan. Their many friends wish them much happiness.

Obituary

MRS. OSCAR DAKIN
The funeral of the late Mrs. Oscar Dakin, whose death occurred on Monday, was held Wednesday afternoon from her late residence and was very largely attended. The remains were conveyed to Trinity Church, where services were held by the rector, Rev. Wm. Driffield after which the remains were taken to Trinity Cemetery for interment. The pall bearers were Dr. E. DuVerget, Dr. Rice, Dr. W. F. Read, Dr. Victor Turnbull, R. Abramson, F. W. Nichols and Douglas Daley.

Mrs. Dakin, who was 72 years of age, was the widow of the late Capt. Oscar Dakin, and had been suffering from an incurable disease for a number of years. Deceased had been a life long resident of Digby, where she has made many friends, and only in the town throughout the county and province, who will regret to hear of her decease.

She leaves to mourn their loss one daughter, Miss Nettie at home, and one son, "Bud," who is conducting a drug business in Calgary.

MRS. ADA MARSHALL
The death of Mrs. Ada Marshall occurred at her home in Marcellus on Saturday Nov. 7th, after a brief illness of pneumonia, in the eighty-fourth year of her age.

Mrs. Marshall was the widow of Robert Marshall, who predeceased her some thirteen years ago, and is survived by two sons, Ralph with whom she resided, and Stephen of Marcellus; also two daughters, Mrs. James Windicster and Mrs. Arthur Marshall of Joggins Bridge; also thirteen grand children and three great grand children; one sister Mrs. Nicholson of Dorchester, Mass., also survive.

The funeral took place on Monday with interment in St. Paul's cemetery, the services at the house and church being conducted by Rev. William Driffield.

The floral tributes were beautiful showing the esteem in which the deceased was held.

Mrs. Marshall will be greatly missed, as she was loved and respected by all, and the family have the sympathy of the entire community in their bereavement.

MRS. R. W. LINDSAY
Mrs. R. W. Lindsay, wife of Rev. Mr. Lindsay, pastor of the Baptist Church at Hazelwood, Prince Edward Island, died at the P. E. I. Hospital, Charlottetown, on Oct. 23, aged fifty-eight years. She leaves a family of five young children.

Mrs. Lindsay (nee Helen Clark) was born at Belleville, Hamilton, Ontario, and was educated in her native land. When a young woman, she came to Montreal, where she occupied a responsible position, which she resigned about a time before her marriage to Rev. Robert W. Lindsay, also a native of Scotland.

She was gifted with a pleasing appearance, a charming personality, musical talent and a generous heart. These assets she used to a great advantage in her position as a minister's wife.

Her unselfish devotion to her work, her genuine pleasure in helping others, her sweet spirit of consecration endeared her to all, and she will be sorely missed from her accustomed place. The funeral service was held in the Hazelwood Baptist Church, Rev. Wallace R. MacWalker of East Point, officiating. The service was assisted by Rev. C. R. Eaton, Rev. J. S. Millett, Rev. C. H. Armstrong and Rev. Mr. Littlejohn.

An exceptionally good meeting of the St. John's with a fine attendance was held in the United Church vestry at eight o'clock Tuesday evening, the subject for the evening was Temperance.

On Friday Turnbull gave a very interesting talk on the subject and brought forward many good points arguing that intemperance was not only the excessive use of alcoholic drinks, but over indulgence in almost everything.

The Class is sending a delegation to Bridgetown to the Young People's Congress, for expressions of sympathy and the many floral tributes.

RESIDENCE OF H. HERSEY BADLY DAMAGED TUES.

By Fire - Firemen Quell Blaze But Smoke and Water Do Much Harm

The home of Harry Hersey was badly damaged by fire Tuesday evening, and the timely arrival of the fire ladders prevented what looked at first to be a serious conflagration. A citizen passing the house at 7:30 saw smoke emerging from the kitchen, and an alarm was immediately rung in. Every assistance possible was rendered by citizens, but the fire, which started from an overheated chimney, had lodged between the ceilings, and the firemen had great difficulty in locating the blaze.

Considerable damage was done to the furniture and interior of the building by smoke and water. A high wind was blowing at the time, but the firemen had the blaze under control before it got underway.

The building was owned by Jonathan Letteney and was insured.

THERE NEVER WAS ONE WHO NEVER HAD A CHANCE

The popular notion of a learned man is a bald, gray-bearded fellow who spends his days in close confines, pouring over dusty books, and emerging to speak in a deep, hollow voice in words of four and five syllables.

This is only a pendant. So called "practical men" usually are impatient with, or condescending to, speculative men, as if, because they speculate or SEE, they could DO nothing.

But the truly learned man is a man of action, drinking deep of the experiences of life.

"Action is with the scholar subordinate, but it is essential," Emerson observed.

"Without it, he is not yet a man. Without it, thought can never ripen into truth."

"ONLY SO MUCH DO I KNOW AS I HAVE LIVED."

"Instantly we know whose words are loaded with life, and whose not."

The attractions of the world are the keys which unlock your thoughts and make you acquainted with yourself.

You never know your mind until you have to use it.

So much of life as you know by experience, so much of wilderness have you vanquished or planted, then so far have you extended your being, your dominion.

Drudgery, calamity, exasperation want, are instructors in wisdom.

Experience is the raw material out of which the intellect moulds its products.

A strange process it is, by which experience is converted into thought; as a mulberry leaf is converted into silk. The manufacture goes on, at all hours.

Life is our dictionary.

No man can rightfully complain that he never had the chance to educate himself.

BRAINS AND EYES

All science is wonderful, but amateur science is more wonderful than the professional kind. Here, for instance, we find Arthur Brisbane,

BRONCHITIS

Cold-on-the-chest, and stubborn Coughs, are speedily relieved by the soothing and healing Peps medicine. Peps medicine is a cough remedy. They heal sore irritated membranes, clear the bronchial tubes of obstructive phlegm, and soon overcome the wheezing, breathing difficulty and painful cough.

Breathing Peps medicine into the chest is safer and vastly more effective than swallowing. Groggily cough-mixtures into the stomach.

THE REMEDY FOR BRONCHITIS

super journalist, in one of his widely published editorial prophecies, saying:

"Specialized eyesight is still to come. Your highly trained descendant, with a head weighing four times as much as his body, perhaps, will use his two eyes together for the dual daily vision of things about him. One eye he will train to the use of the microscope, for study of things infinitely small. The other will be trained to use the telescope in studying things infinitely big."

We may pass over, in silent wonder, that prophecy of a brain, four times the size of the body, merely musing a little on what would happen to an automobile so high powered that the engine was four times the size of the rest of the car. Prophecy is always perilous; yet there have been prophets of the past who made good, and Arthur may be one of the elect.

What really intrigues us, as a novelist would say, is that remarkable specialization of eyes, one of them to look into a microscope and the other into a telescope. It doesn't seem to have occurred to the prophetic Arthur that the optical process is the same in both cases—that both instruments are used to magnify images too small for the naked eye to see clearly, one magnifier merely being adapted to short distances, and the other to long distances.

Maybe nature, having specialized according to this prophecy, will make a thorough job of it, and enable us to read more effectively by training the two eyes to divide the work, each reading alternate words in a sentence. Or, for that matter, developing cross-eyes for cross words.

Just Talks--On Common Themes

On "The Good Landlord"

"To conclude, the tavern will compare favorably with the church. The church is the place where prayers and sermons are delivered, but the tavern is the place where they are to take effect and if the former are good, the latter cannot be bad."—Thoreau.

The good landlord keeps an inn—not a conscience.

His inn is a substitute for home and its essential is homelikeness, not merely bed and board.

"Mirth must be within its walls, the mirth of good cheer and comfort and restfulness."

In wintry weather the fires should blaze on the hearth and the tables should be clean and fair.

There should be a smile of welcome at the door and across the desk where one writes his name on the book of GUESTS.

The landlord should be a HOST; a lord of the land, a self-appointed brother of the human race, called to his place by all of the winds of heaven as surely as the preacher is called to the pulpit. He should have universal sympathies, a broad, fair weather-and-foul weather friendship for every human being. They are homeless for the night, perhaps. They seek shelter as do the beasts and birds of the field and air. The Lord appointed a place for them. The Landlord is the custodian of the Lord.

The good Landlord should love men, not as a custodian of philanthropy or as an overseer of the poor, but as one cultivates a field both for the joy of seeing it grow and for the profit of the yield. He should care for all men equally, for as his neighbor is a stranger in respect to the rights of the farthest traveller, whom he is to take to the warmth of his hospitality, so he calls all men kindred.

To the good Landlord all things travel except his own sign-post and his own hostility. Hence he will show you only the civilities of the road, yet these will be life and kindly alike to all, with added luxuries to poor and rich according to his demands.

The good Landlord is not one of your peaked and inhospitable men of genius with peculiar and particular tastes! He ought to be broad, perhaps partly, certainly with crochets, cheerfully bustling about, even tempered, with such idiosyncracies as may be, of a sort to make men happier.

It is no part of wisdom for a Landlord to be like a dog with a bone, growling in his corner and waiting to say "I wish you farewell, someone else is waiting for your bed and board." The traveller likes to find someone in a lonely world whom he can call friend. This is the landlord's business according to his accommodations.

The good Landlord will have a good bed, a clean room, a burnished hearth, a good table, a respectful servant. Added to this are such things as we call "modern." But none of them beats the old fashioned welcome of the lowly tavern. The Hotel of Mammon gives no better lodging for the night than the lowly tavern of Three Angels. All else is fashion and fur below.

One does not look up to the good landlord. One looks around him. He is not worshipped or feared; he is fraternized with and belied. Men may call him "Bill" or "Jim." He may call you in Rotarian fashion on the second coming to his inn. And that is well for the Tavern.

The Good Landlord behaves no differently when the inn is crowded than when it is empty. The late comer when he finds the beds are full, gets no scant welcome, but is assisted to the last possible expedient to find a place to lay his head. There may come a day, when his presence will be more welcome and his pay for bed and board better fitted to the tavern-til.

The good Landlord seeks to send away the traveller with joy in the traveller's heart and music in his soul. A word of good-bye is better often than a glad-hand on coming. One smacks of gain, the other of regret. And as we are all egoists, we regard the implied regret as at least tinged with memories of our charming company.

The Good Landlord helps to make good guests; for no Tavern can be made good unless the guest assist to conform to cheerful company. But the bad guest too frequently is like a pig in a parlor. The good Landlord may make him welcome, but will not be complimented by his choice of society. His place is in the sty, not in the house.

The Good Landlord looks like good food, good cheer, good comfort! When you see him you think of these things and all else looks small. In modern times the Landlord is often a commoner, but the man who understands "in loco parentis" so to speak to all the guests, be he manager, head-clerk or what, should have a happy men, of the style of old-fashioned bonifaces of historic worth, whose memories are enshrined in happy tales and at whose side gathered great men, poets, justices of courts, philosophers, artists, to listen to the merry tales of a Good Landlord.

"If Nova Scotia had more good country hotels," said the traveller over the way to the Pullman Smoker the other day, "it ought to be the greatest winter-place in the world. They lack too often warmth, cheer, old-fashioned comfort. They have adopted semi-modern hotel offices and forgot to that they are taverns. We want inglenooks, fireplaces, swept hearths, a few easy chairs, a snug corner, two snugs, a few English inns. It would cost no more to keep them than to keep what they now give. And we want tavern-keepers—not fresh boys and smart alecks behind the desk."

Let's have a school for good Landlords! Let's have a University for them and like the little school that asked the other day of a Canadian legislature the right to give degrees, let's have a school for landlords, empowered to bestow the degrees of "B. G. L." and "M. G. L." which translated should mean "Bachelor Good Landlordship" and "Master of Good Landlordship." It is too sacred a calling not to be properly represented since all the world is now on wheels.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 p. c. AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives so amazingly brilliant, soft white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the S. Government and 28 leading Universities and found to be superior to ordinary oil lamps. Burns without odor, smoke or noise, no pumping up, is simple, clean and safe. Burns 94 p. c. air and 6 p. c. common kerosene (test oil). The inventor, J. M. Johnson, 246 Craig St., W. Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and what expenses, or money make $250 to $500 per month.

Hest it Once!
Then You Will Want One for Your Own Kitchen

The very feel of it will make you want to own it. It balances so nicely, seems to be just right. The handle is rigid and does not slip, ground like a hinged handle. That means no slipping, scalded hands or accidents. See how you fill it? You lift the hinged lid and can fill it right under the tap or by dipper because the opening is at the side, not the centre. Most important, these new up-to-date kettles cost no more than the old fashioned kettle.

NERVOUS BREAK-DOWN

Pains in Back and Legs Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ford, Ontario. "I had a nervous breakdown, as it is called, with severe pains in my back and legs, and with fainting spells which left me very weak. I was nervous and could not sleep nor eat as I should and spent much time in bed. I was in this state, more or less, for over two years before Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me by my neighbor. Before I had taken five doses I was sitting up in bed, and when the first bottle was taken I was out of bed and able to walk around the house. During my sickness I had been obliged to get my meals to look after my home for me, but thanks to the Vegetable Compound I am now able to look after it myself. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine in turn with the Vegetable Compound, and I certainly recommend these medicines to any one who is not enjoying good health. I am quite willing for you to use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. S. S. Smeaton, 130 J. A. Janisse Avenue, Ford, Ontario.

Nervousness, irritability, painful stiffness, run-down feelings and weakness are symptoms as to be and. Women suffering from these troubles, which they so often have, should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. All druggists sell this medicine.

ANNUAL ROLL CALL OF DEEP BROOK CHURCH

Large Attendance At Baptist Church
—Song Service Held—Other Interesting Items

The annual Roll Call of the Deep Brook Baptist church was held on Thursday, Nov. 12th. The visiting ministers were Rev. E. J. Barras of Bear River; Rev. G. C. Durkee of Clementsvale and Rev. P. R. Hayden of Bridgetown. The Roll of church members was called at the afternoon meeting. Several greetings were read from absent members. Rev. E. J. Barras then preached an inspiring sermon from the text "We Preach Christ Crucified." At the close the members and visitors repaired to the hall where a bountiful supper was served, followed by a pleasant social hour. At the evening session, the Scripture was read by Rev. G. C. Durkee; prayer was offered by Rev. E. J. Barras, after which Rev. P. R. Hayden gave a very strong address based on the words "Deliver Us From Evil." Special music was furnished by the choir, and the services were successful both spiritually and financially.

A special song service was also held in the church on Sunday evening last for the purpose of dedicating the new organ which has been recently purchased. Professor Morse of Annapolis presided at the organ and was assisted with violin by Miss Annie of Clementsport who rendered several solos very sweetly. Many old favorites were sung by the choir and congregation, and a short history of each was given by the pastor, to whose untiring efforts the success of both delightful services is largely due.

Mrs. S. Blancy of Lower Granville spent the week-end the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Howard Adams.

Frank Dittmars, W. H. Spurr, J. C. W. Dittmars, Carl Nichols and Robert Cress arrived home on Monday from a ten day hunting trip with two fine moose.

Rev. Frank Smith had the misfortune while splitting wood on Saturday to cut his foot quite badly. However, he was able to conduct the service of Sunday evening by being carried to and from the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Sanford of Torbrook are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son (John Freeman).

Miss Harriett Banks of Clementsport Heights, was a week end guest of Mrs. Carl Nichols.

Mrs. E. V. Hutchings arrived home from Boston on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Clarke of Bear River, were the Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Sully.

Courtesy Purdy of Barton, spent the week-end with relatives here.

O. Haverley received word on Tuesday that he had been re-appointed Stipendiary Magistrate for the Town of Digby. He entered upon his duties Wednesday morning. This appointment meets with the approval of the general public, as Mr. Haverley has been a faithful servant to the town for a number of years. Supporters of both political parties are congratulating him upon his re-appointment.

The Rural Deanery of Annapolis will meet in Digby on Monday and Tuesday next under the presidency of the Rev. Rural Dean Driffield. In connection with this meeting services will be held in Holy Trinity Church on Monday evening at 7.30, when the preacher will be the Rev. S. J. Woodroffe. On Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock, Canon Underwood will preach the ad clerum sermon.

Some interesting developments are expected at the next session of the Town Council, which will be held in the Council Chambers on Monday evening, Nov. 20. It is rumored that the Women's Temperance Association are to enter a complaint to the Town Fathers regarding the enforcement of the law in town. Citizens who are interested in town matters should keep this in mind and be prepared to hand to see how the affairs of their town are conducted.

Johnson Chew, who has been conducting a law office in Digby for upwards of three months, has just been elected to the law firm of Attorney General John C. Douglas. During his stay in Digby Mr. Chew has made many friends and is expected to be heard of his early departure from our town. The Courier joins with its thousands of readers in extending to him an enterprising young barrister every success in his new field of labor.

An orange seller the other day found a bad specimen among his fruit and carefully tossed it away. It struck an old woman in the eye, and the result, such as over the accident that the man gave her a dozen good oranges to go her way. She had scarcely left when a sharp-looking boy about twelve years of age sidled up to the fruit-seller, and said: "You are a big fellow, aren't you?" "Why, yes," was the reply. "If you are, give me a chance, continued the lad. I'll bet my mother down here, and you may hit her in both the eyes for half the oranges you gave that other woman, and if that ain't fair, you can have a shot at dad and me."

No disasters have been reported, but the gale which struck Digby Tuesday morning was blowing with such terrific force that the S. S. Express remained at the pier. Coasting steamers remained in port and no vessel is ventured out. The gale which reached tremendous proportions about noon, kicked up a nasty sea in the bay. A number of small boats dragged their moorings in the harbor and one owner saved a valuable boat that was in danger of being dashed to pieces on the rocky shore. Along the roads that were exposed to the force of the gale, trees were uprooted and the highway littered with broken branches torn off by the force of the wind. It was the worst gale Digby has experienced for many years in November.

P. C. R. Harris, who has been manager of the local branch of the Royal Bank for the past seven and a half years, received word this week that he had been transferred to Lawrenceville, and will leave to resume his new duties in a few days. News of Mr. Harris' removal from Digby will be heard with deep regret by citizens in all walks of life. He has been interested in everything pertaining to the welfare of this town, and for a few years President of the Board of Trade, as well as assuming other important public offices. He has been taking part in his duties and always ready and willing to help along any cause. Mr. Lockwood, of Davidson, Sask., will assume the management of the Royal Bank here.

At the annual meeting of the Digby Central Agricultural Society, held in the Town Hall on Saturday afternoon last. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, J. O. Turner; Vice-President, Gordy Nichols; Secretary, Treasurer, G. W. Nichols; Directors, P. C. McKay, J. C. Trevoy, Jacob Trask, H. C. McNeil, Jonathan Levesque. James R. Cope was elected delegate to attend the Farmer's Association meeting, with H. C. McNeil as substitute.

If there is any place where two 'lucky' hunters can find a 'lucky' in Bay View, we would like to hear of it. Archie Morehouse left his home for a day's deer hunting. As he was proceeding up the road, and about five minutes after he had left the house, a deer jumped out of a clump of bushes directly in front of him. He brought it down with one shot and just 15 minutes after he left home he was back with his prize. Will Ellis left his house on a similar mission and while still on his own property, and about 200 yards from his residence, a fine buck loomed up in his path. He fired and wounded the animal, which bounded off across the field and dropped dead a few yards from the house Ellis had just left.

Here and There

In the last fiscal year 3,840 household entries were granted in the Prairie Provinces, aggregating an approximate area of 614,850 acres, while, in addition, 710 soldier grants of 118,600 acres, make up a grand total of 728,450 acres so settled.

In 1915 Canada exported no wheat to China. In 1918 she sent only eight bushels to Japan. In 1924 China imported over 5,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat and over 1,500,000 barrels of flour, while Japan took 7,000,000 bushels of wheat and 110,000 barrels of flour. It is predicted these figures will be well beaten for the current year.

The Grand Challenge Cup, emblematic of the First Aid Championship of the entire system of the Canadian Pacific Railway, will be completed at the Place Viger Hotel, Montreal, November 15. The champions in a knock-out competition among Eastern and Western teams respectively, will fight it out for the trophy.

Plans are already being laid to make the 1935 Eastern International Dog sled Derby an even greater success than in any previous year, and it is reported that the prize money will be considerably increased next winter, with the object of attracting more teams and mushers from the West and the United States.

Fire Prevention Week, October 4-10, was observed throughout the Dominion, and to mark the sense of the importance of the occasion Mr. Grant Hall, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, broadcast an appeal by wire to every officer and employee of the system "to co-operate as in the past and set a good example by thoroughly cleaning up all premises."

Canada's great outlook says a recent issue of the London Outlook, is that she wants more people, but of the right type, namely, steady agricultural workers with enterprise, initiative and endurance. Enthusiastic letters from emigrants under the joint scheme of settling 3,000 families in Canada are bound to have their healthy effect on relatives and friends dissatisfied with their lot in England.

E. F. L. Sturdee, general Passenger Agent for the Orient of the C.P.R., with headquarters at Hong Kong, has been appointed Assistant General Passenger Agent of the system at Montreal. His duties commenced here in October. He was relieved of his other work owing to health, but the climate of Canada soon restored him to physical well-being. He has a long record of service with the C.P.R., dating back to his first appointment at Saint John in 1904.

Sixty bushels of wheat at every tick of the clock is the rate at which the Canadian Pacific Railway have carried the grain into the elevators this season. To keep up this unprecedented rush, it has been necessary to move one car-load of grain out of Winnipeg at every one minute and twenty-three seconds of the twenty-four hour day. Grain delivered at the head of the lakes by the Canadian Pacific in September alone would fill a fleet of 200 ships, each with a cargo of 200,000 bushels.

Back from an extended tour of inspection over the company's western lines, E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, found a very marked improvement in the West as compared with that which had existed when he last went across the country. He thought the spirit of the people was much more optimistic and with very good reason, since he considered it safe to say that 800,000,000 bushels was not too high an estimate for the total Canadian wheat yield this year. He noticed throughout the country a sustained interest in immigration and a more general realization that therein lay the soundest remedy for most of Canada's difficulties.

CAN'T BEAT "TIZ" WHEN FEET HURT

Just take your shoes off and then put these weary, shoe-crushed, aching, burning, corn-pestered, blister-tortured feet of yours in a "Tiz" bath. Your toes will wriggle with joy! They'll look up at you and almost talk and then they'll take another dive in that "Tiz" bath.

When your feet feel like lumps of lead—all tired out—just try "Tiz." It's grand—it's glorious. Your feet will dance with joy; also you will find all pain gone from corns, callouses and bunions.

There's nothing like "Tiz." It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous matter which causes your feet and cause foot torture. A few cents buy a box of "Tiz" at any drug or department store—don't wait. Ah! how glad your feet will be when you put them on!

BOY SCOUTS

Well we were away to a fine meeting in the new Hall last Friday and were pleased to have as fine place to gather in. We are growing and a new patrol was formed with an enrollment of eight with Patrol Leader Hal Nichols in command.

After the Scout work was finished, setting up exercises was the order and then a whopping good game of Basketball.

With the giving of the Scout's Promise the meeting dismissed.

Just Talks--On Common Themes

On "Thrift For Christmas"

OUR banks are now taking up the subject of Christmas Savings and we are concerned, all of us, in assisting all worthy enterprise.

I think of three kinds of squirrels--so called--the red squirrel, the chipmunk and the gray squirrel. The chipmunk has a store of things laid up for the winter; the red squirrel has to forage over the winter snow drifts.

Have we as much sense as the squirrel or the rat? Some animals have to lay up not against the rainy day but against the drought.

When the trying droughts come we find some animals asleep. Others are able to resist on the scanty, dried-up vegetation which they can find from day to day, relying on succulent roots or stems for water. Still others, like Joseph of old, lay up stores against the lean days and have the remarkable power of supplying their need for moisture from their dry food, without ever to their lives, perhaps, enjoying a cool drink.

In the last named group comes Banner-tail the kangaroo rat of the Southwest desert country. In April and May, when the grasses and other plants have had an opportunity to grow and produce seeds following the rains and winter, and again in September and October, when the vegetation following the summer thunderstorms had had a chance to mature, the kangaroo rat becomes almost unbelievably industrious and makes countless trips from den to desert and back, again, each time with check pouches crammed with grass seeds, grass crops, tiny pods, fleshy stems, beans, or edible fragments of certain ones of the most abundant plants growing within a radius of twenty-five or forty feet.

His choice of the seeds and crowns is an extremely favorable one for these portions of the plant carry a large quantity of nutriment in a small compass and with very little weight. When the harvest days are over and the interior of the den has been transformed, out-pocketings and underground cupboards, built in alleys and subterranean buffet closets, sometimes entire hallways and chambers of considerable size, all have contingents of foodstuffs.

Material taken from a single mound more than filled a large burlap sack, according to an investigator for Nature Magazine, from another den more than two bushels of grass crowns and seeds, with miscellaneous other plant parts, were recovered; in a third were twenty-seven thousand crowns of grama grass; and a fourth contained six hundred and eighty thousand cut sections of drop-seed grass.

Talk of industry and efficiency! Are you collecting with the rest of the Christmas Savings Club this year? Have you as much saved as a rat?

Of course you have and all over the land are millions of people laying aside certain definite amounts of money against the Christmas buying.

This makes business; for the money thus saved and put into banks is not out of business; it is merely being put into circulation to be paid out again for Christmas, again to be put into circulation.

—E. S.

Town Council

At the regular meeting of the Town Council, held on Monday evening last, in the Council Chambers, Town Clerk Boden read a report of a meeting of the Police Committee, to which the matter of a bonus to Chief of Police Bent was referred. The committee recommended a bonus of $100 be paid Chief Bent, and that if the Chief tendered his resignation, that same be accepted by the Council.

At the October meeting, Chief Bent claimed that the Council, at its meeting in February, promised him a Bonus of $100 if he was in the employ of the town at the end of six months. The Council denied this, claiming that if the chief had secured enough in fines, etc., to warrant a bonus, that same would be given him.

Coun. Merkel, Chairman of the Police Committee, moved that the committee's report be accepted, which was seconded by Coun. Lindstrom and carried.

All the Councillors were present at Monday's meeting, and a large number of citizens were on hand, expecting to hear some interesting discussion re liquor question, but in this they were disappointed, as the Council made no mention whatsoever of the recent trials in the Town Hall.

The report of Supt. of Streets, W. W. Hayden, as well as the report of the Health Officer, Dr. E. DuVerney, was read and on motion adopted. The Health Officer's report was referred to the Board of Health for consideration.

A report was read from the gentleman who inspected the boilers at the power plant some few days ago, the report stating that everything was found in good condition, and the whole plant was found in good order. This report was accepted and amended on file.

W. H. Farham, M. P., appeared before the Council outlining a proposition re the Racquette bridge, stating that the government would widen the street eight feet and do all sub-structure work if the town would do the structure work in connection with this bridge.

Coun. Holdsworth objected against the town taking over this work, and in looking into the matter fully he had found that the government up to the present time had done all work necessary at the Racquette, and the town would now be establishing a bad precedent to take the work over from the Highway Board. He believed that Mr. Farham should be allowed to go back to the Highway Board and see whether he could not get the structure work done as well.

Coun. Warrington moved that the proposition as outlined by Mr. Farham be accepted, which was seconded by Coun. Lindstrom. Coun. Holdsworth moved an amendment that the matter be left in abeyance, which was seconded. Finally an amendment to the amendment was moved "that if the Government would begin the sub-structure work, the town would look after the structure work." This was seconded and put to the meeting and carried.

Bills were then read and passed for payment, after which considerable discussion took place on street work and necessary improvements to the Fire Department.

Salvage Case Is Tried Before Judge Grierson Wednes.

Decision Reserved -- Important Point of Law Involved--Considerable Interest Shown

A special sitting of the County Court was held Wednesday, Judge Grierson presiding. The case of Simms vs Snow was tried. This case arose over the salvage claim made by the Dorothy M. Smart, assisting the Jean Campbell when in distress near Shelburne in 1920. The salvage action was settled and a large sum paid the owners and crew of the Dorothy M. Smart, Charles Simms, the plaintiff in Wednesday's case, was a sailor and Capt. Asael Snow, the defendant, master of the Dorothy M. Smart. While the action for salvage was pending Charles Simms sold his claim to Capt. Snow for a sum smaller than his share turned out to be when the remuneration for salvage was decided. Upon this the plaintiff, Simms, brought the action to recover the difference between the amount of the salvage and the amount paid him by Captain Snow.

An interesting point of law is involved, namely, whether a sailor is bound by a prior agreement accepting a smaller sum than the amount awarded him for salvage.

The case occupied all the afternoon and Judge Grierson reserved decision.

Frank Jones, K. C., appeared for the plaintiff, while E. Hart Nichols, Halifax, and Frank W. Nichols looked after the case for the defendant.

War Opens On Bootlegging Here--First Case In Years

Magistrate Says Citizens Want Sales Stopped Hersey's Sentence is "200 or 3 Months"

A fine of $200 and in default of payment, three months in the County Jail, without hard labor, was the sentence handed out to Harry Hersey Tuesday, by Stipendiary Magistrate Haver, for selling intoxicating liquor to a boy named Winchester, aged 15. Hersey was given thirty days to try and secure the necessary amount, and if it be not paid within that time he must go to jail for the three months period.

Magistrate Haver, on sentencing Hersey, stated that he did not believe Hersey had told the whole truth regarding the people he had purchased liquor from, and the Magistrate thought that some interesting information would be forthcoming within the next thirty days. The citizens of the town, he said, wanted to see the case of liquor stopped in this town, and would prosecute to the very limit all those who are engaged in the business.

This is the first time for a number of years that a conviction had been served against any person in this town under the N. S. T. A. Hersey's trial has created considerable excitement, owing to the fact that names of several citizens have been given to the court by Hersey, who stated they are in the wholesale liquor business.

A CHRISTMAS QUIZ

Over the radio—Sunday night listeners—in the East Pittsburgh station heard some distinguished divines conduct, at the close of the evening service, an open forum, answering questions on Christmas.

For half an hour we heard these queries plied at the clergyman and his resourceful, logical, helpful and often piquant replies. Some questions had come by telegram from distant cities, representative of that radio and audience that included even the Labrador rappers to whom the pastor, earlier in the service, had extended a special greeting.

What about Christmas? Is it commercialized? Do people think more of Santa than of Christ? Is giving too much a well calculated exchange of gifts? Do folks give more than they can honestly afford? Are Christmas doles to underpaid employees hypocritical? So the list ran on—most of them in intensely serious vein.

Back came the eminent divine—we forget his name, but recall that he was from the National Capital. Merchants, to be sure, he said, have taken every advantage of Christmas giving to promote trade. Call it commercializing, if you please. That element certainly enters into the present-day Christmas. Santa is not infrequently mentioned more often than Christ. Thousands calculate well their "exchanges" in dollars and cents. Many pay out at Christmas more than they can well afford. The Thanksgiving or Christmas turkey to employees who have not had fair wages for a year is not even a palliative of the evil.

Yet—behind and thru it all may be found, as this divine pointed out—the real spirit of the Christ, giving unselfishly; remembering those less fortunate not only at this time but as a habit thruout the year; making children happy and old folks more comfortable; easing the loads on shoulders of the staggering beneath burdens of sickness; striving to reach the root of evils that haunt mankind—disease, sin, want, unemployment and other woes.

God gave His son to the world. His son gave his life for the world; so, WE GIVE today. Christmas is not in vain. It may be abused. But it is not in vain. God GAVE. Christ Jesus GAVE. So, we GIVE.

THE RURAL TEACHER

A school teacher at a convention the other day said that the boarding house problem is still a sticker.

In the Night

It is when sickness always threatens most. But with a bottle of Johnson's Liniment, the danger is over. A doctor's prescription for internal and external use that has been saving the family loved one since 1810. At all dealers. 25 and 50 cents.

for country pedagogues, and suggested that the teachers write to the local newspapers about it. In spite of the advance in the standard of living the past few years, this speaker contended that school marmas are still up against boarding conditions that are anything but satisfactory. Teachers cannot mark examination papers in front of junior members of the family who are pupils and must have a private place for study. According to the speaker who appeared to voice the sentiments of the convention, studying in a room where the water is freezing in the pitcher is still far from uncommon. Few rooms are provided with a proper table, while a reading lamp suitable for the study table is unheard of. One teacher solved the problem by carrying his own equipment around with him, but he didn't think it should be necessary to do so when he was paying for board at town prices. In a prosperous district like this, perhaps the boarding fee is small attraction to most farmers who are indifferent about opening their homes to the school teacher. But it is a real problem to the young teachers, who should be entitled to proper accommodation, especially when they are paying a price which calls for such service.

WHAT THE COUNTRY OWES TO YOUR YOUTH

Life on the farm is divided into two distinct periods by the cycle of the seasons. From early spring until late fall the seeding and the harvest provide a continuous life of ever changing work that keeps one fully occupied; but when winter sets in, and the long evenings encroach even on the day, there is time for those diversions that keep one's being in tune with life and the mind at peace with mankind and the world. It is during the winter months that young folk look for a measure of relaxation and hope to mingle with others of their age in the spirit of mirth and wholesome pleasure. Many rural districts are losing their young people simply because there is no one willing to speak a word or lend a hand in the encouragement of local organization for pleasure and entertainment. The long winter evenings become dull and monotonous, the clouds thicken and eventually the young folk make up their minds that only in the towns and cities can they enjoy emancipation, mingle with the crowd and laugh with a world in glee. The mistake is often made and realized too late, for where is loneliness more intense or pleasure more empty than in a crowded city amongst strangers and without friends.

It is useless, and we believe wrong, to shackle youth to any occupation, trade, or calling that has in it no attraction for the young man or young woman arrived at the age where they can make a decision for themselves. The secret of success in life is liking one's work and preserving in it, but agriculture and rural life will never compete on a basis of equality with the city until the growing generation of the countryside can give expression amid home surroundings to that inborn desire for sport, recreation and wholesome pleasure, the rightful heritage of every normal youth.

The city may have the brighter lights and the louder band, but almost every rural district has sufficient talent within its own confines to adequately provide for its own needs. And the society organized for social and cultural purposes at the crossroads or in the village is just as refreshing, quite as interesting, more wholesome and on the whole more satisfactory than the urban organization, because it escapes the sterilizing influence of the professional entertainer, is free of pomp and artificiality, and provides the opportunity for one and all to express themselves in his or her own way.

Young men and young women are coming to the front in these days more than ever before, and are providing a leadership that is most praiseworthy and inspiring. And some communities, too, are organizing to the hilt with choral, literary and debating societies that radiate a cheering influence in all directions; they are turning the old cloud in-

POST MORTEM

The recent Federal election may have been a fizzle. It may have brought chaos instead of order, and it certainly brought the careers of several prominent politicians to a somewhat untimely end, but we in the fisheries have cause to rejoice. There will be another representative of our industry in the seats of the mighty when the roll is called in Ottawa. Mr. H. B. Short, Manager of the Digby branch of Maritime Fish Corporation, was nominated by the Nova Scotia Liberal-Conservatives of the Digby Annapolis district to be their standard bearer, and was triumphantly elected.

The fishing industry is fortunate in having a gentleman of Mr. Short's calibre in Parliament. Few men have such a thorough knowledge of the fisheries. Mr. Short has spent his life in it, and has kept his eyes open. He knows the ins and outs of the game, and is quite conversant with the problems that be et the trade. Well posted, keen-witted, able and resourceful, he will not only see that his constituency is represented, but he will undoubtedly see that the interests of the fishing industry are kept to the front.

Congratulations, Mr. Short—Canadian Fisherman.

Visiting Eskimos Enthusiastic About Tobacco

Civilization's many wonders apparently made but slight impression on Savakak, Annotak, Attawingak and Tapita, four Eskimos brought to Montreal by officials of the Revillon Freres Trading Company. The four visitors from the frozen North smiled and were mildly amused by the white man's environment and pastimes, but displayed little enthusiasm for the mechanical marvels which they were viewing for the first time.

The sight of one thing, however, invariably caused the quartet to display all the enthusiasm anyone could demand. Tobacco was unmistakably a tremendously prized article, one that they enjoyed hugely, though they had never in their lives made its acquaintance previous to boarding the good ship "Jean Revillon" which brought them from Baker Lake to Liverpool, Nova Scotia.

As a solace for the rigours of Winter as they know it, all four—after sampling everything in the form of tobacco offered—look away with them to Pagna, Ontario, a plentiful supply of Millbank Virginia Cigarettes, and of Dixie Bright Plug Smoking Tobacco in the famous vacuum "air-tight" tin. Evidently these primitive people age exceedingly quick to sense value when they encounter it.

QUARTERLY EXAMX. AT DIGBY ACADEMY

To the School Board:
Town of Digby:

Sirs: I beg to submit, for your approval, my report of the Digby Schools for the quarter ending November sixth 1925.

The progress of the schools during the quarter was quite satisfactory. Improvement, however, especially in the advanced grades, is to be looked for yet. This can only be effected by more home study application in school on the part of the pupils.

With the assistance of an additional teacher on the staff and the opening of a new department, the congestion of last year is removed and the proper attention is being afforded the advanced grades.

The enrollment generally is slightly less than that of the corresponding period last term.

In the matter of regular school attendance some pupils are yet delinquent. The attendance for the quarter shows that out of a total of 290 enrolled 245 attended daily on an average. The total days attendance was 11523. The percentage in daily attendance 84.50.

The results of the quarterly examinations are attached.

"A husband leads a dog's life," he said "That's right," agreed his wife, "He grows all day and sleeps all night."

Woman (who has given some food to a tramp): "You have a very awkward way of eating, man." Tramp: "Yes, madam. I spoke it's cause I'm out of practice."

Thompson: "Before he was married, old Williams said he'd be master in his own house, or he'd know the reason why." Jenkins: "And now he's married?" Thompson: "He knows the reason why."

First Boy: "I call my dog 'Sausage' because he's only half-dressed." Second Boy: "That reminds me of a goat we called 'Narly' because he was all butt, and a prize cock we named 'Robinson' because he crew so."

"I say, doctor, did you ever doctor another doctor?" "Oh yes," "Well, tell me this. Does a doctor doctor a doctor the way the doctor doctor wants to be doctor, or does the doctor doing the doctoring doctor the other doctor in his own way?"

"Tis a story that Finnegan died, and when he greeted St. Peter, he said, 'It's a fine job you've had here for a long time.' Well, Finnegan," said St. Peter, "here we count a million years as a minute and a million dollars as a cent." "Abl said Finnegan, 'I'm needing cash. Lend me a cent.' 'Sure,' said St. Peter, 'just wait a minute.'"

A story is told of a farmer who was called into a friend's house to hear the radio for the first time. The friend gave him a hand phone when a concert was in progress. The farmer, listened a minute, and then said, "Boys that's great. I never heard of the like before." Then abruptly taking off the hand phone, he exclaimed, "There's a hand coming! I must go and hold the horses!"

A gentleman met a young woman who had formerly been employed in his household. "Well, Mary," he said, "are you married yet?" "No, sir," "Well, I thought you would have been married before now." "Oh, no sir," she said, "but there's two waiting." "Two? Why, you don't mean to marry two do you?" "No, sir. The two that's waitin' is the person an' me."

An Irishman, who was working with a farmer in England, was proceeding towards his employer's residence to get his mid-day meal when he was met by a Cockney who had been on holidays at the farm, and who thought he would take a rise out of the representative of Erin. The Londoner addressed him thus, "Hello, Paddy, did you meet a wagon along the way laden with monkeys?" "No," answered Paddy, "indeed I didn't. Did you fall off?"

The sturdy individualism of the Scot was recently demonstrated at a revival meeting when the preacher, who felt that his words had produced the desired effect upon his congregation requested all present who wanted to go to heaven to hold up their hands. The response was unanimous with the exception of one man. "Do you not wish to go to Heaven?" the preacher asked this man. "It's a right about going to Heaven," he replied, "but I'm no gawn wi' a trip."

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 p. c. AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft white light, even better than gas or electricity; has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading Universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise, no pumping up, is simple, clean and safe. Burns 94 p. c. air and 6 p. c. common kerosene (cost only 1¢ per gallon). The inventor, J. M. Johnson, 246 Canal St., Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days FREE trial or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency and without experience or money in $3.00 to $100.

A Christmas Reverie

THIS is the morning season. Also, the time when photographs abound—and my mind is much taken up with both. Salutes to the scenes of other days, and snapshots of faces, some erstwhile forgotten—these are the distinguishing features of the Christmas mood.

I am sitting in a hearty fire, and all hearts are warm, somewhere in their glowing fires, the embers of the days of yore. Quite unclassified, quite distinct of the order of time or place, these Christmas reveries meander, these Yuletide reveries flash upon memory's screen and disappear. Fragmentary, unsorted, they yet mark the trail of the friendly years.

The first has its scene in Ottawa; year, the first of my millennial life. Am in my room in the Victoria Chambers, seated in an armchair, and it is Christmas Eve. Knock at door, which opens to a pathetically cheerless presence: "For Mr. Hunt's son, (elevator man and his charring daughter)—just a little Christmas 'wink' (cause I can't afford very much, you see, bein' as how I only get four dollars a week and go keep—'an, besides, me chum borrowed thirty cents off me to go to the lagoon, which last fall an' he ain't paid me back," the childish face showing equal parts of benevolence and financial care. Beautiful, this—and as common as beautiful—this mutual generosity of the poor.

Four years have passed; and the scene is marvelously changed. No snow now, no chimney sleigh-bells, nor resonant sidewalk crisp beneath the hurrying feet. But the December sun is pouring down upon a picnic party in the pine woods of North Carolina, those woods re-echoing to the shout and laughter of merry voices, most of which are absent now. Soon the stroke of an ax is heard, wielded by a burly negro—and, a few minutes later, a tall holly tree crashes to the mossy ground, its deep green foliage and gleaming berries glittering in the sun. Later still, a couple of darkies loaded like beasts of burden, the holly-tree party, a few with great bundles of the mystic mistletoe, are in Indian file making their way to the boats, song re-echoing as we cross to the stately southern home, its fireplace lighted for the last hundred years and more, that crowns the river's farther bank.

Six more years have fled, after their relentless way. I am sitting before my own fire, north again, in "the hill-girt town." We are at family worship, and in my lap there nestles a golden-haired girl of four. For nearly a week she and I had followed the course of Santa Claus: "North Pole, Ft. Churchill, Hudson Bay, Temagami, etc.," I reported from time to time. But ever coming closer! Our roading that night, that trembling stocking night, is of the landing of the five thousand, and the dialogue was as follows:

"Wasn't that kind of him, my darling, to feed all those poor, hungry people?"

"Yes," the glowing eyes averted one brief moment from the fire: "but, where do you suppose Santa Claus is now?"

Yet four more years have gone. It is Christmas here again, and I am driving back to town from a farm-house where the head of the horse lies in agony, his last Christmas almost at the door. The same childish town, taller and developed now, is beside me in the cutter as we glide along, sleigh-bells murmur that their sweet stars a little brighter, mantle of snow touched with a holier gleam. Suddenly I feel the trembling of the girlish figure a little hand pokes at the sleeve of my coat, a curiously earnest head is burrowing into my side—and the sobbing of a child mingles with the music of bells. I ask why, darkly suspecting that the cause is what I fear, that someone has given her to eat of the tree of life, and surely this knowledge of fact and fantasy. It is even so—and the little form is quite shaken with grief as "This is the first Christmas that I didn't know," comes from the trembling lips. I can only comfort and caress and murmur: "Life is full of these awakenings, my darling," and we go on thru the night that has led, never to be restored, the wonder and the glory of a year before.

And it is not wonderful how, when we retrace the bygone years, we find, not the great and momentous things unfaded, but misty trifling little episodes enshrined in love and nearly all linked to the vision of some childish face.

Gone now, and far away, are those childish features, and the wonder of life has returned to her own. In a home of her own, too, her eyes are lighted upon a new-born babe. Thus the holy cycle goes by way. Those who have disappeared, and the locks are grayer, yet no less dear. And surely, surely, there is no reason why she should not nestle as of yore upon that great throne of childhood, a father's knee, and surely those locks could rest again where they reposed of old. I am sorely tempted. The birth find that Southern path—and why not?

One year later still; and the peaceful happiness of a Christmas morning passes again before me. Breakfast over; a little hymn, a little prayer; a little floating (thank God) above the measure which I know the hurrying years are bound to shatter—and we glide on till before the door of the room within which the laden tree awaits us. Entrance delightful as of yore—and then begins the giving and receiving. Some really beautiful gifts, no doubt, all forgotten now—but forgotten, and unlost or mislaid through the years, a little knitted bag (to hold soap articles of toilet) handed to me by a proud little daughter's hands. "The very first thing I ever did, daddy," face alight with childish pride, mine with fatherly compassion. Surely a reassuring parable for all our poor gifts and service, yet precious in larger, other eyes than ours.—E. E. Knowles.

Cradle of World

Of all the shimmering clouds of ravishing reminiscences associated with a world, that of 35,000 years, memory holds no other gem quite so delightfully exquisite as that of the birth of the human race. No other spot on earth is richer in religious treasure or more radiant with romantic and well-authenticated tradition. Viewed from any standpoint—topographical, historical, social or religious—Bethlehem is simply unsurpassing. Every range in the kaleidoscope is wondrously fascinating, and discloses a perfect picture of idyllic grace and charm. Once more, as "The Season of the Birth of Christ draws near," the imagination of the world will be centered there, catching overtones of its pastoral sympathy: while the instinct of Christian millions will turn to the tenderest affection and trust veneration. The heart of modern civilized man warms in mystic wonder, and finds its affinity with the primitive Judean shepherd's song. "Let us now go even unto Bethlehem."

The town which has vanished, but the site of Bethlehem, determined by the long and straight ridge, is precisely where it was 3,000 years ago. Entering the town at a distance of 2,500 feet above the sea, the visitor has a magnificent view of the surrounding country, opening out like a panorama. To the east slopes the deep valley where Ruth "went down" in her sorrow. Over the softly rising hills to the south are the plains in whose fields she gleaned "amidst the alien corn," where also David walked—"in glory and in joy."

Following his sheep along the mountain side.

On these plains, too, were the shepherds keeping watch over their flocks by night when the Angel of the Lord, accompanied by the Heavenly Host, announced the birth of "Christ the Lord."

Away to the horizon stand the purple hills of Moab, at whose feet in solemn stillness lie the deep blue waters of the Dead Sea. Almost immediately above the town towers Mount Jebel Fureidis, on the summit of which is the tomb of Herod the Great, of execrable memory, who, in Bethlehem at least, needs no such monument in memorial of the Massacre of the Innocents. For it is around may be seen rich olive and fig groves intermixed with apricot orchards and vineyards each with its watch tower, as in ancient times. The hills are cultivated in terraces of "hanging gardens," and the stony plains are ploughed for cereal crops.

The town is solidly and closely built. The streets are generally narrow, with houses of two or three stories, constructed of yellowish-white limestone, and topped with flat roofs. The central thoroughfare is occupied by workshops, whose floors are strewn with men and material. The chief industry is the manufacture of "articles de tourisme." Souvenirs in olive wood, medallions from mother-of-pearl, engravings on shell and stone of incidents from the life of our Lord, with other similar curios, are everywhere conspicuous in almost embarrassing profusion. In this art alone one-third of Bethlehem workers find employment. The remainder are shepherds, quarrymen, husbandmen, tradesmen and merchants. The population, which is estimated variously from 5,000 to 8,000, is almost entirely Christian; and, apart from the occasional outbursts of sectarian animosity, the Latin, Greek, and Armenian Churches are on enviable terms of friendship—for Eastern communities.

Boasting a strain of Crusader's blood, the Bethlehemites are altogether the finest human type to be met with in Southern Palestine, and their sartorial appearance is primly picturesque. The men dress in a bright-colored gown over a white undershirt, the head being covered with a turban or fez. The women's chief garment is a long narrow tunic of blue cotton, tied at the waist, and relieved with a red embroidered stole. The matrons are distinguished from the maidens by a differentiating arrangement of head-dress; the married ladies wearing a sort of cap adorned with gold and silver sequins—their only dower—while the spinners display a ribbon in their hair. All the women have veils, but these are thrown back so as to fall in long, graceful lines, about the figure, to which they lend a charming dignity. The exposed face of the Bethlehemite woman is distinctly beautiful—not a brunette, but with a bright, clear complexion, large eyes, and delicately shaped mouth—and she carries herself so admirably as to appear taller than she really is.

Of course, the supreme object of interest in Bethlehem is the reputed place of the Nativity. Spectation and the emulation of jarring sects have led to the multiplication of sacred sites in the Holy Land. Many of these are doubtful, to say the least, and some are without question apocryphal. Fortunately, however, the place indicated with reverence as the Cave of the Nativity is not among these. Ancient, continuous, and well-authenticated tradition stamps this as one of the most genuine shrines in Palestine. The credibility of this tradition is supported by no less an authority than Corder, who observes in his "Tent Work in Palestine" that "the rude grotto with its rocky manger may, it seems to me, be accepted even by the most sceptical of modern explorers." Within a generation of the death of the last of the Apostles, Justin Martyr, himself a native of Nablus, speaks of the Saviour's birth having taken place "in a certain cave close to the village." The fact of its early sacredness is demonstrated by the method taken by Hadrian (A.D. 117-138) to desecrate it by causing a grove in honor of Adonis to be planted above the cave, so that pagan worship rites might be performed over the very spot where the Holy Child Jesus was born. This grove was subsequently cut down by Constantine in order that the Empress Helena might rear (A.D. 309-327) the basilica which is still standing there, the most ancient Christian Church in the world.

The Church of the Nativity presents the outward appearance of a fortress. The huge central doorway has been almost entirely built up, leaving the only entrance by a "niche" or side which, symbolically, teaches each worshipper, at least, the virtue of humility. The interior is spacious but bare. The aisles have flat roofs above the pillars of red and white marble with Corinthian capitals, but the nave has a clerestory, with walls thirty feet above the capitals, and a pointed roof. A wall, built across the east end of the basilica, cuts off the chancel. Evidently at one time the entire church was richly adorned with gold and mosaics, of which some remnants still exist, but the ravages of time and the hand of the spoiler have left their marks. Underneath the choir, by a staircase of thirteen marble steps, the crypt containing the Chapel of the Nativity is reached. The Chapel—once a rude cave—is now paved and walled with marble, roofed with gold and silk, and lighted with fifty-three lamps. Immediately to the left is the shrine, universally sacred to Christendom. From an arch about four feet high hang fifteen silver lamps, and in the centre of the floor is a silver star with the inscription "Hic de Virgine Maria Jesus Christus Natus Est."

The site itself is infinitely touching, but as I gazed upon it an unspeakable tenderness invested it by the presence of eight women robed in white praying silently and, in turn, kissing the star. I followed, and found the slabs glistening with tears. Indescribably sad it is that this same silver star has a tale to tell not altogether of "peace and good-will to men!" That it should have been used as a wedge for sundering the peace of the world by war is one of those episodes the world would willingly forget to-day. To-day we stand with the wondering shepherds and worshiping magi by the spot where was witnessed the greatest event of all time—the Divine assumption of humanity. The world will never permit the tender idyll of Bethlehem to die. May it not forget the truth enshrined in the quaint old lines—

"Though Christ a thousand times in Bethlehem be born,
If He not born in thee, thy soul is still forlorn,
Oh, would thy heart be but a manger for His birth,
God would once more become a Child upon the earth."

"I will Never Die"

The Christmas Festival of goodwill, goodfellowship, and peace has lost none of its popularity in its passage through the ages. Nineteen hundred and twenty-five finds us welcoming it as heartily as did our ancestors a thousand years ago, before railways, telephones, radios or automobiles were even dreamed about.

It awakens dormant feelings and aspirations which the clamor of worldly life stifles and deadens.

It opens deep springs of brotherhood and love, from whence flow desires to bless with gifts and good wishes.

Miss Hattie Farnsworth has returned to her home in Melrose, Mass. after visiting her sister at Greenwood.

If there is someone you just can't think of a present for, come in and look over the Warwick Red G. H. Line at Connell's.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Gregory, of Greenwood, Mass., are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a daughter Nov. 9th, 1925, Dorothy Muriel, weighing 8-5 lbs.

"Mr. Connell, you have the nicest Christmas things in town." Not once but at least once a day for the last three weeks! There must be something in it, don't you think?

"How's business?" "Good!" at Connell's. Sales to date are slower than expected and it looks as though people planned on an old fashioned Christmas this year.

Several severe cases of scarlet fever are reported in town, but every precaution is being taken to prevent a spread of the disease. The cases under quarantine are declared by the medical men to be of the old fashioned type and of a serious nature.

The display of articles in bronze has pleased many customers, this season. It is laquered and does not tarnish and so you get away from the trouble of having "too much brass." Examine this line at Connell's.

The big shipment of Xmas Cards at The Courier office is attracting considerable attention. Call and see our line before ordering your cards elsewhere. All the newest designs from 5 cents to .25 cents each, envelopes included. Mail orders will receive prompt attention.

After all other displays of Christmas Cards are exhausted we will yet have a good selection. "Kiddies" Cards and "grown ups" cards from 3 to 30 cents each of English and Canadian manufacture. But why wait until later? Come to "Connell's" now.

Quite a number of fishermen have fished up their boats for a while a-dare busy preparing for the lobster season, which opens on the first of January. Some of them met with heavy losses in traps and gear last year on account of the storms and it means quite an expense to replace the lost outfit.

Citizens of the town are getting ready for the coming civic elections which take place the first Tuesday in February. A committee has been appointed to select men to run for the office of Councillor, and several names of well-known citizens are already mentioned. The retiring councillors this year are S. J. Ayer, W. Holdsworth and W. C. Warrington. The name of Coun. Holdsworth is prominently mentioned as a candidate for the Mayoralty in opposition to Mayor Frank Anderson.

Complaints are daily coming to Game Warden Daley of unlawfully killing deer and moose in Digby County. Mr. Daley visited several sections in the outlying districts this week and found to his surprise that a large number of deer had been poisoned and were allowed to lie on the ground and decay. One place in particular he was informed that several citizens had been in the habit of putting Paris Green on their stalks in order to poison deer which were daily visitors to their farm. An investigation will be held in all cases within the near future and the guilty parties will be haled before the courts.

Wm. Cossaboom, proprietor of The Harbor View House and Summer colony at Smith's Cove, left Friday for Florida where he will spend the next four weeks securing new ideas for his Colony for the next tourist season. Mr. Cossaboom has under consideration the building of several additional log cabins next spring and it is to get information along this line that the trip to Florida was planned. He already owns about forty cabins and a big property, as well as a large Main hotel, a Dancing Casino etc., and has installed a large DeLoe plant which furnishes a twenty-four hour service during the summer season, and all buildings have been equipped with electric lights. Last season was one of the most successful in Mr. Cossaboom's twenty-eight years of tourist business.

Lumbering operations are getting into swing throughout Digby county. Men are working in the woods back of Doucetteville, and many "brows" are making their appearance along the road sides. At North Range, Plympton, and Quilodon, big cuts are expected, and a lot of the timber cut in those places will find its way to Dickie's and Warner's Mills. Some of the farmers are hauling while the roads are frozen, but most of the timber will be brought in when the sledding is good. A number of farmers are devoting their time to cutting pulpwood and piling it up in convenient places, with the expectation that there will be a good demand later on at increased prices. Much money has been made in the county in the selling of pulpwood, and much more attention is being paid to the industry than formerly. Lumbering is also in full swing at Port Wade. James Snow of the Port Wade Lumber Co., has put in a new camp, and a crew of men are starting this week. They hope to make the season a very busy one. James Mattison also takes on a crew this week and expects to double his cut of last season. The schooner Souvenir, Captain Outhouse loaded lumber in Port Wade and sailed for Eastport Maine. The schooner George H. Murray, Capt. John Stuart, and the schooner Ouzanette are also loading lumber here for the West Indies, the former for the Vermont Shipping Co. and the latter for the Maitland Lumber Co. It is expected that a great deal of lumber will be shipped to American ports during the winter months.

DIGBY BOARD OF TRADE TO SEND 4000 BOOKLETS TO FLORIDA NOW

Other Important Matters Discussed at Regular Meeting in Council Chambers Monday Evening

A special meeting of the Digby Board of Trade was held Monday evening to consider several important matters which needed immediate attention. President C. F. McBride was in the chair and a good representative of members were present.

Considerable discussion arose over the question of Digby forwarding four or five thousand booklets to the different tourists in Florida. The members were of the opinion that this would be a good time to advertise our Tourist business in the Southern States, as they believed considerably good would be accomplished.

It was finally decided to at once forward about four thousand booklets to Florida, and the distribution of some to be looked after by prominent citizens of this town who are at present spending the fall and winter months in St. Petersburg and other tourist centres.

A communication from the Kennebec Board of Trade in reference to the suggested formation of "The Annapolis Valley Colonization Board," was read by Secretary P. W. Nichols. Digby was not represented at the meeting held in Kennebec recently at which provisional officers of the new Board were appointed, but the members of the Digby Board of Trade were very enthusiastic over the project and intended to co-operate to the best of their ability, and it was decided to send two delegates to attend a meeting at a date selected by the Provisional Committee at Kennebec. The choice of the delegates was left to the Industrial Committee. It was agreed that the move to form the Colonization Board was a splendid one and in the right direction.

Hundreds of native sons have departed from Digby County during the past several years, and it is felt the drain upon our population must cease, or at least a beginning made to either bring them back or replace them by settlers who would be suitable. There are several vacant farms in this County, declared one member, that should be producing, and abundant opportunities in the industrial field. The speaker pointed out that the County of Digby is specially adapted for farming and an influx of settlers with the proper encouragement will start Digby back on the road to prosperity.

A committee in charge of the Dalhousie Extension Lecture Courses also wrote the Board on the subject of having the series of lectures held in Digby this winter. Several speakers outline the proposition and were unanimous that from an educational standpoint it would be an excellent idea for the Board of Trade to accept the proposition and assume all financial obligations. It would also assist the pupils in the schools in improving their education in a way not to be gained otherwise. A committee consisting of H. B. Dickie, L. J. B. Dr. Victor Turnbull, and Principal Chisholm were appointed to make the necessary arrangements.

The tourist season received considerable discussion but it was finally decided to leave the matter in abeyance until the regular meeting, which will be held early in the New Year.

Plympton

The Women's Institute held its yearly business meeting at the home of Mrs. D. Thomas, and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Pres. Mrs. J. M. Melanson, Vice-Pres. Mrs. Alma Walsh, Sec. Mrs. E. P. Warner, Treas. Mrs. W. M. Warner.

The claim supper held recently in the Library Building was a decided success. The proceeds are to be used towards furnishing a room in the Digby Hospital.

G. O. Hankinson's schooner has been loading lumber at the public breakwater. Trucks have been hauling lumber from Dr. Dickie's mill at Barton.

Sorry to report Wm. Tynboun and Lorenzo Hewart on the sick list.

Mrs. Cassie Brown, who has spent the summer at Plympton, expects to return to her home in New York on Friday next. Quite a number from this place attended the play given in Barton Hall, by the Weymouth United church, on Friday evening last. It was greatly enjoyed by all.

Acaciaville

Mrs. Charles Hinzman is visiting friends in Lunenburg and Bear River.

The Division here were entertained by the Division in Smith's Cove on Wednesday night, and as usual all had a good time.

The Ladies Sewing Circle held a Fancy Sale and Lunch in the Hall on Friday night. The sum of $28.00 was realized. This sum together with $5.00 previously raised goes toward the fund for Acadia College.

Remor says one of our young men is expected home soon with his bride. We hope the gates will be wide open to give them a good welcome.

Veron Rice has gone to Boston where he has accepted a position for the winter.

Weymouth

Charles P. Belliveau left on Friday for Boston where he will spend the winter.

Mrs. Laura Burks motored to Yarmouth Saturday, where she underwent special treatment at the Yarmouth Clinic Infirmary, returning home the same day.

Capt. Dosite Doucette who has been visiting at his home at Cape St. Mary, returned here Saturday to resume command of the Sch. E. P. Theriault, which sailed Sunday for the West Indies with a cargo of stores.

Mr. Jones of Portland, Me., who was in town in connection with the loading of the Sch. E. P. Theriault, left Friday or before.

Edward Thibodeau has joined the crew of the Sch. "Ononette" which sailed Friday for the West Indies.

E. F. Hankinson was a passenger to Digby Monday returning the same day.

Tom Amineau arrived Tuesday from Boston and will spend the winter at his home here. He was accompanied by his mother Mrs. Rose Amineau, who has been visiting her daughter Mrs. George Mulise, of Ansdor Mass.

Smith's Cove

A party, under the auspices of the Star Class, was held at the house of Miss Stella Woodman on the evening of Dec. 12th. Games and refreshments were enjoyed by all present.

T. F. F. Hough has recently returned from a business trip. He attended a Hatchery Course in Elmira, New York, at the beginning of the month, and on his return journey made business calls in Buffalo, Peterboro, Montreal, Toronto and St. John.

Mrs. Hough spent last week end in St. John.

Dean Clayton spent last week in Acadiaville.

The Library Executive Committee recently met for the monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Elmer Weir. The usual business was transacted.

The S. S. Christmas Tree festivities will be held in the vestry on Tuesday evening Dec. 22 at 7 o'clock.

The school concert will be held in the Temperance Hall on Friday evening Dec. 18th.

The Christmas season is good for what ails us. All the rest of the year we are quite likely to be dashing ahead furiously and in this hurry we get thinking pretty much of ourselves. And then, along comes Christmas, and we begin to think of others and for others. Many kind thoughts for others find expression in a box of candy, especially about Christmas time. It means so much in the gladness of Christmas to be making others feel a thrill of goodwill and kindness. A box of candy is always welcome, but if the charm of it when it becomes a gift transformed into a gift of kindness and Christmas goodwill by the wondrous snow-white tissue and holly-berry red ribbon.

Outstanding Leadership Needed in the Churches

A recent article in a British religious paper which has stirred up considerable thought and discussion appeared from the pen of one of England's best known laymen, J. C. W. Smith, J.P., in which he arouses the nonconformist churches by claiming there is need of outstanding leadership in the churches; a need of less "pious" talk in the pulpit and more practical religion in daily life. He believes that Britain is on the verge of a new and brighter era of industrial development, and that the churches should prepare to influence that development so that peace, righteousness and justice shall be dominating factors when prosperity arrives. He also makes the important observation that: "The free churches have lost their faith in politicians and their interest in politics - and this is all to the good. Nonconformists are realizing that great questions which in their time are vital have been in the past and are today merely valued as party assets, or the reverse - and are treated accordingly. We have been sold too often by the politicians."

Here is a British justice of the peace, and a well-known churchman, who claims that "the churches have lost faith in their politicians." That is an arresting statement for Britain has been, and is still, the home of statesmen. If this can be said of Britain, what is the situation in Canada? Are the leading men of our churches who are interested in the welfare of Canada seeking parliamentary timber that will give the highest type of leadership in the material and moral progress of Canada? If they do not have a voice in selecting it, how can we blame those who may do so from the standpoint of self-interest? If we are to have representatives in parliament of the highest type of character, the Christian men of all communities must take an interest in the politics of the country. There is a danger of too much destructive criticism of politics today and not sufficient real Christian constructive criticism or co-operation. The ablest and most honorable men of the country are slow to offer their services just to become targets for national mud slingers. Our politicians on the whole are as good as the people who elect them.

Florida Vs. Nova Scotia What's the Score

We'll wager that every summer visitor in Digby last season had read many articles about Florida, seen magazine advertisements about Florida, and had received booklets about Florida. They all knew the charms of Florida. What is YOUR guess as to how many winter visitors in say one Florida resort ever heard of Digby and its wonderful summer climate? OUR guess is that less than one-half of one percent (1 in 200) knows whether Nova Scotia is off the coast of Labrador, or further north. All Florida adverts are among Digby tourists. Does Digby advertise among Florida tourists? Next month in Florida will be found TEN Nova Scotians to ONE Floridian in Nova Scotia last summer (in proportion to population). Why the difference? The answer is simple and clear—Florida ADVERTISES and does it right; Nova Scotia doesn't. Furthermore, Nova Scotians seem dull in comprehending the enormous profits possible from a big tourist business. Florida knows that it's a cinch. Nova Scotians can't be made to work TOGETHER. In Florida absolute co-operation is the strong point with individuals, as well as with big cities.

This brings the writer to the main object of this article—believe that thousands of Digby booklets should be judiciously distributed among guests at the leading hotels throughout Florida. The Digby Publicity Bureau should look after this matter.

The sooner Digby people wake up to the FACT that the tourist business is our best investment, the sooner will we have more money in our pockets, and the sooner will our population increase instead of steadily decreasing.

In these days of modern methods, modern industrial enterprises, new ideas, and new sources of wealth, it is wonder why people cling to the old-fashioned ideas that we must make our living just the same way as our fathers did. Well, it can't be done. We have got to move along with the current of present-day progress. We have got to absorb and apply new ideas, and we future not call such ideas "new fangled." If modern systems are new-fangled, we ought to be grateful for the chance to benefit by them. Thank Heavens for anything new that gets us out of the rut, and offers us great opportunities for progress and a GROWING BROWN.

The Natural Resources Intelligence Service of the Dominion Government can be relied upon to speak the truth and to know what it is talking about. The following comes from that Bureau: "Clear across the States there is town after town and city after city where information on Canada and how to get there is eagerly sought. Why doesn't Nova Scotia spread this information for our own good? The report can be obtained from the Bureau of Tourist Information."

1925 the amount is placed at $30,000,000 for the city of Vancouver alone. An estimate of $345,000,000 per annum for the Dominion. Dr. Doolittle, President of the Canadian Automobile Association, predicts that in a few years Canada's Tourist business will be worth $500,000,000 annually."

The Tourist Business has become in late years one of the largest and most profitable of the BIG INDUSTRIES. We can make it a BIG INDUSTRY for Digby.

Xmas. Shopping

If human nature were not what it is, the Christmas season might not be one of rush and worry over what to buy, and sales forces in stores would not be run to exhaustion in the week before the event. If people did their shopping when it could be done under the least congested conditions, it might extend over months instead of weeks, and it would be not less seasonable.

However, none but the exceptional person thinks of doing shopping until it cannot be put off longer, then it becomes an ordeal and is so strenuous, that it tends to rob the season of the "cheer and good will" that attach to it sentimentally. The "good will" might actually pervade the shoppers were they not overworked trying to find what they want and struggling to get it. Yet it would not be Christmas for a lot of people were it otherwise. They have become so accustomed to waiting and then making a hurry-up job of it that they would not feel right were it done betimes.

Human nature is a peculiar thing despite the fact that all of us have it. It wouldn't be human nature if it wasn't odd. If we did everything in a reasonable and sane way we would not be human beings. We would be super human and that is too much to expect. It is the prerogative of human beings to do as they please to delay as long as we can the doing of what we cannot avoid. There may be those who are forehanded in Christmas shopping but they are rare, and so different from the mass that they are odd, too.

By the way, we must do our shopping pretty soon.

It Makes All Things New

While it seems impossible to say anything new on the subject of Christmas celebration, the miracle of the season is that the custom of nearly 2,000 years makes practically all things new. The aged become young again through their rejoicing in the delights of the grand-children with the things that once made their own eyes open wide in wonder—memories of their own childhood also come back to them.

It is not simply a jest that papa also likes to play—even though he may say it is just to test them—with the toys he buys for the youngsters. Thus, while the holiday is particularly a festival for the children, emphasizing the story of the Babe in the Manger, it also has for the elders its pleasures and the wider significance of the world-inspiring event in Bethlehem.

Editorial Notes

There are no statues of men who felt sorry for themselves.

Much that passes for philosophy is no more than a good digestion.

Wisdom is merely the reaction that follows contemplation of receipted bills.

A pipe is really cheaper, and is much to be preferred if you don't mind solitude.

A women's declining years come before the age of 30. After that she is glad to accept.

Every normal youngster passes through an age when it seems that the crass old world can't understand.

The meek shall inherit the earth. But there won't be much fun in a world peopled exclusively by henpecked husbands.

The problem of the son and daughter who go out every evening isn't much more distressing than the same kind of furnace.

Science gives us artificial rain and synthetic lightning when what we want is some means of making winter merely hypothetical.

These statues to Christopher Columbus in various parts of the country commemorate a prominent foreigner who didn't come over here to lecture.

The authorities of the town of Digby are waging a vigorous campaign against the bootleggers of that place and setting a commendable example in enforcing the law upon offending citizens. Our citizens have realized with very great dissatisfaction the fact that for months past liquor has been openly sold on our streets, especially on Saturday evening, and would welcome the evidence of more activity on the part of those responsible for the carrying out of the law—Wolfville Acadian.

Edison, in his seventy-ninth year, has begun to sleep five or six hours a day, instead of four hours, as formerly, and now he only has about eighteen hours a day for work. According to the Popular Science Monthly his meals do not vary and they are exceedingly light—a piece of toast, one and one half glasses of milk, a tablespoonful of cooked oats, and a sardine. He thinks the world does not need more inventions just now, "until general intelligence is increased so men can be had to operate what we have." Being asked whether he thought men had progressed mentally in the last 5,000 years, the wizard replied: "Yes. The number of men in every nation, per capita, who are honest, humane and highly intelligent is increasing. This number is a measure of our civilization." The Lord appears to be in no hurry.

"So Tired"

Holiday shopping often puts it's greatest strain on health. Over tiredness and the sudden changes from over heated stores to the icy cold of the streets, are so apt to make one take cold which develops into influenza, grippe or dratted Pneumonia. The value of Father John's Medicine in treating and preventing colds, grippe and pneumonia has been proven by over twenty years of success.

It is a medicine, a food and a tonic that builds new flesh and strength to fight off colds and prevent colds from developing into more serious troubles.

Being free of alcohol and dangerous drugs, Father John's Medicine is a preparation to be given to every member of the family, young and old.

Here and There

British Columbia's whaling industry produces about 400 tons of whale bone meal and 900 tons of meat and blood for fertilizing purposes annually. This is exported mostly to the United States.

According to G. F. Tomsett, superintendent of the Saskatchewan Branch of the Employment Service of Canada, about 43,000 harvest hands were brought into Saskatchewan and distributed over the province to harvest and thresh the 1925 crop.

J. Stapleton, of Regina, ordered two springer spaniel puppies from a dog expert in Liverpool on October 9th. Thirty days later, they were delivered to him after a voyage and journey totalling 4,500 miles, the shipment going at the rate of 150 miles a day. This constitutes a record for speed.

Constituting a record for Canada and probably for the world, 3,447, 624 bushels of all grades were marketed on the lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway in Western Canada on November 19. The nearest approach to this figure was the 3,406, 000 bushels marketed on October 18, 1915, in the year of one of the greatest crop the Dominion has ever harvested.

Reports received at Canadian Pacific Railway headquarters this week show that four more accidents occurred in cases where motorists drove their cars into trains directly in the process of crossing levels. This brings the total of accidents of this kind up to thirty for the year. In all four cases the automobiles were damaged while the motorists escaped with minor injuries.

Eighty-seven black foxes, valued at about $100,000, shipped in 44 crates, arrived at Montreal last week from Buffalo. Twenty-five of the animals were prize-winners at the Black Fox Exhibition which closed last week, and were on consignment to the Borestone Mountain Fox Ranch at Onawa, Maine.

The Far East has heard about Canadian apples. The Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia carried 8,000 boxes of apples when clearing out of Vancouver last week. General trade conditions between Canada and the Far East are quite healthy as there was also on board the vessel 800 tons of Canadian flour, 100 automobiles and 160 tons of Alberta beef.

With each succeeding year Great Britain is relying more upon British colonies for agricultural supplies. In the seven months of 1925 ending July, Canada supplied Great Britain with 4,927,296 pounds of butter, compared with 154,234 pounds for the same period of 1924, and 40, 458,544 pounds of cheese, compared to 20,153,504 pounds for the same period of last year.

Two bears, six coyotes and fifteen chipmunks were shipped to England on the Canadian Pacific liner Montclare last week from the Toronto Zoo to the London Zoo. In exchange, the Curator of these gardens has been asked to supply Toronto with Ceropis, Beane, Magellan and bar-headed geese; shell ducks; a female Comb Duck; two Rheas (ostriches); four Jays; two young leopards; and a Barbary Sheep. A stiff order.

Six champion juvenile swine breeders, winners in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, have been awarded medals and trophies by the Canadian Pacific Railway and are now the guests of the latter at the Royal Winter Fair at Toronto. The young people, who competed in clubs on Canadian Pacific lines in the West, are Vera Johnston and Oscar Gustafson, Alberta; Lorne Joynt and Fred Argue, Rouleau, Saskatchewan; Mamie Cormack and Grace Ewen, Kenton, Manitoba.

"MAKE IMMIGRATION HUMAN" SAYS C. P. R. PRESIDENT: SIR THOMAS WHITE PAYS HIM HIGH TRIBUTE

Sir Thomas White, Chairman and President of the C.P.R.

Addressing the Associated Boards of Trade banquet at Winnipeg recently, E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, said that one of the most significant facts of the conference was the desire of men from all parts of Canada to discuss the country's problems from an economic and national point of view, free from the bewildering influence of political partisanship. "Thus," Mr. Beatty said, "I am glad to see that the question of Confederation on the principles of national unity which troubled the fathers in establishing it, can now be solved by political manipulation, but only by that mental attitude which comes from understanding and is the result of honest education."

In order to achieve national prosperity, Mr. Beatty advocated an extensive immigration policy to supply the man power necessary for the "largest undeveloped country in the world." "If I had any suggestion to make in respect to this question," continued the president, "I would suggest that we take it out of the field of statistics and place it in the field of human relations. We are apt to forget that the people who come to our shores are not economic units or thousands of beings, members of families who have torn themselves up from old homes, homes in some cases centuries old, to come and live in Canada, to be neighbours, if we are willing to do so, and to become good citizens if we only hold out a welcoming hand."

"We realize how great the wrench must be when we learn that some bring with them a handful of earth so that when the time comes for them to die it may be scattered over their coffin. I wonder how many Canadians, who have made the trek to the United States, have ever thought to carry with them a handful of Canadian soil. No immigration scheme for Canada can ever achieve success unless due allowance is made for such human factors."

On the same occasion Sir Thomas White, former Federal Minister of Finance, paid a high tribute to Mr. Beatty. Sir Thomas said that he had always looked upon Mr. Beatty as a representative Canadian who typified the qualities which are to be found in true Canadians. Mr. Beatty had carved his own niche in Canadian affairs and had made his own way in the world as in the manner of Canadians. As president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Mr. Beatty occupied one of the highest positions in the Dominion and was absolutely unspiced by his enormous success, and Sir Thomas liked to think that in this the former was also a characteristic Canadian.

Referring to the improvement of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the former Finance Minister pointed out that the history of the Dominion and the Company were intertwined and could not be dissociated. The Canadian Pacific Railway had stood as the type of exemplary Canadian enterprise and courage in the face of adversity and insurmountable obstacles. Sir Thomas also commented favorably on the good work the Canadian Pacific Railway had done during the Great War, and later on in going ahead with work, at the request of the Government, in order to give employment to soldiers who were returning after the war.

A sale of cut-pie and fancy articles was held recently at the home of W. H. Gilliat under the auspices of the "Willie Workers" Sewing Circle. The sum of $9.00 was realized which with the proceeds of past sales has been used in purchasing an ornamental wire fence for the cemetery. The goal for which this small band of workers has striven has been reached in the erection of the fence which was sorely needed and which cost approximately $18.00. Another improvement being an addition of twelve feet across the entire cemetery, the land being donated by Mrs. George Cositt.

The following account is taken from an Edmonton exchange, in regards to the latest trip the Peace River district of John Russell, D. L. S., a son of the late J. A. Russell, and will be read with a great deal of interest by Mr. Russell's friends in Digby:

Among the passengers who arrived on Friday's train from Waterways were R. W. Cautley, D. L. S.; G. Palsen, D. L. S.; and John Russell, D. L. S., who have been engaged during the summer in departmental surveys covering a wide range of country. Mr. Cautley, with Mr. Palsen as assistant, has commenced the survey of the interprovincial boundary between Alberta and the Northwest Territories and completed the first 30 miles west of the Slave river as far as the Little Buffalo river.

The north boundary of Alberta is 346.7 miles long and extends along the 60th parallel of latitude from longitude 110 west to longitude 120. It crosses the Slave River less than a mile south of Fort Smith in the Northwest Territory. From Smith it extends between Fitzgerald and Fort Smith. These rapids constitute the fast, obstruction to the navigation of the great Mackenzie waterways. From Smith there is uninterrupted navigation for 1400 miles to the Arctic ocean, while from Fitzgerald there is no obstruction for 300 miles south to Waterways. The 16 mile portage between Fitzgerald and Fort Smith presents a very busy scene throughout the short transportation season. Every pound of freight for the north has to come over it.

Powerful caterpillar tractors, capable of hauling 20 tons and dozens of teams are constantly moving freight from Fitzgerald to Smith and returning empty, for it is a strictly one-way traffic. All the vast territory north of Waterways is purely a fur country. The fur pays for everything that is imported into the country, and whereas there are perhaps 2000 tons of freight transported in a season across the portage from south to north, a few wagon loads of carefully baled fur is the sum total of southbound freight.

Eighteen miles west of Fort Smith the boundary crosses Salt river which is nearly as salt as sea water, in fact many of its smaller tributaries are super saturated with salt, and the Roman Catholic mission farm at Salt River supplies all the northern missions with a very pure salt obtained from one of these super saturated springs.

After completing the survey of the boundary, Mr. Cautley was engaged in miscellaneous survey at Fort Smith, Resolution, and Hay River.

Mr. Russell has been in charge of a party, under the direction of Mr. Blanchard, and has been successful in obtaining a lot of survey information needed to complete the work of past years. Leaving Peace River early in May the party crossed over from Vermilion on the old horse-trail portage to Hay River which is about 100 miles long. Arriving at Hay River Mr. Russell traversed about 236 miles of Hay River to its mouth at Hay River settlement on Great Slave lake.

In doing this he definitely established the position of the beautiful Alexandra falls for the first time. The upper falls have a sheer fall of 109 feet, while the lower falls have a drop of 48 feet and they are nearly 50 miles up from the mouth of the river.

After the completion of this work Mr. Russell made about 50 miles of traverse of the northwestern shore of Great Slave lake necessary to complete the survey of this immense body of water which was commenced in 1921. Great Slave lake will be found to have an area exceeding 10,500 square miles, as compared with the 82,000 square miles of Lake Superior, the largest known body of fresh water in the world.

Mr. Russell then proceeded up North Bay and made an exploratory survey of a river with a view to its feasibility as a summer water route between Great

Chicken Supper And Fancy Sale

On Friday Dec. 10th the ladies of the United Church held their Annual Supper and Fancy Sale. The supper was very attractive in its Xmas decorations. The chicken supper was well prepared and served and was much enjoyed. Many fancy and useful articles were displayed and attracted a host of buyers. A fish pond was well patronized by both old and young and added considerably to the receipts of the evening. The ladies were well satisfied with the sum of money this function added to their treasury.

Special Meeting Mission Band

A meeting of special interest was held by the Mission Band of the United Church on Sunday afternoon. A fine program was given at the conclusion of which Miss Edith Withrow, who has rendered valuable assistance to this society was presented with a Life Membership certificate. The Xmas services of the United Church will be held on Sunday the 27th.

Women's Institute

Don't forget the special meeting of the Women's Institute Saturday afternoon, Dec. 19th, at 3.30 o'clock to be held in the Masonic Reading Room. Every one is asked to contribute clothing and Christmas cheer to be sent to the Children's Aid Society in Bridgetown. All articles will be packed Saturday afternoon by the women to reach the Society in time to distribute before Christmas.

An Appropriate Christmas Gift

On every Christmas list there is some one who would appreciate a subscription for The Digby Weekly Courier. Such a gift—informative, entertaining and educational—will keep alive the Christmas spirit of the three hundred and sixty five days of the year. It will bring to mind once every week the thoughtfulness of the giver. It is of equal interest to men and women, young and old.

No other gift you can buy for $2.00 or $2.50 if for the United States will so completely reflect your kindly thought and at the same time pay so delicate a compliment. It is both a personal and an impersonal gift. It can be sent to anyone. It is always acceptable. It meets one's needs and suits one's fancies.

Many of our old subscribers will, as they did last Christmas give to their most cherished friends at a distance, a year's subscription to The Old Home Paper.

Send the subscription on to us and we will mail you a Gift-Subscription Card to enclose to your friend.

DIGBY WEEKLY COURIER

To Mr. Santa Claus!

Oh goodie! He's coming—O ho! O ho! He said so over my radio! His pack is ready. He's on his way! O Santa! Dear Santa! Hurrah! Hurrah! I'm going to get my pen and write a letter to Santa this very night. O daddy! Tell me, what should I say? How shall I start? I know. This way.

Dear Santa: Please bring a mamma doll. A pair of skates and a big red ball. I don't know if I shall want much more. 'Cause I have the toys that you left before. O Santa! I wish that you were here. I'm loving you more and more each year. I'm leaving some cents in my stocking too. A little present for you, you know. I want to ask you, Santa Claus dear. If you have an extra doll to spare? 'Cause Mary—a girl across the street—is a real sick, with a cold and a fall. Please do leave Mary the big red ball. 'Cause she can play with that in bed. And 'cause she's extra tired and red. I'm glad you're staying a while in town. Big hugs and kisses, from Betty Brown.

CHEERFUL JANE.

Clothing From Wood

The age which has given us artificial sunlight, imitation silk and synthetic gin has brought forth a new product to take the place of wool. It is called maulin. It is a wool pulp product that can be woven or sewed as wool is and it is to be used in the manufacture of clothing. It is now being made in Italy, but before long it will be manufactured here. The new product is said to have all the properties of wool. That is more than could be said for shoddy. If science can give us cheap and comfortable garments, we will be grateful, whether it comes from a tree or the back of an animal. The fashions will have a lot of fun with the new "woolen" kimono, but after awhile has been made up into bottomed trousers and knee-high skirts no doubt it will be accepted as "all wool and broad-loom wide."

The Way It Works

Business is good. The farmer sells a load of wheat and at the same time grows fat and sweet; he hums a couple of cheerful tunes, and pays the grocer for his prunes. The grocer who had the blues, now buys his wife a pair of shoes. That ten the shoemaker thanks God sent, and runs and pays it on the rent. Next day the rent man hands the bill to Dr. Carver for a pill. And Dr. Carver tells his fiancée that business is improving now. And cheers her up and says, "My dear, you've been quite feeble for a year. I'm thinking you should have a rest; you'd better take a trip out west. And in a couple of days the train is on the farm of Joshua Howe. She says her love to Farmer Howe, who takes the bill and says, "I sww. Here's something that just can't be beat—this bill's the one I got for wheat." He hums a couple of cheerful tunes and goes, and buys a lot more prunes.

Eric Moore of Halifax, representing the Eastern Securities Co., was in town Thursday the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Kinney.

Deep Brook

On Sunday Nov. 29th at the close of the afternoon service a large number of women of the Baptist Church met for the purpose of re-organizing the Bible Class in connection with the Sunday School. W. W. Henshaw the Supt. urged a deeper interest on the part of parents in the Sunday School work. The class will meet every Sunday at 2.15. A cordial invitation is extended to all adults who are interested in the study of the Bible to meet with the Class.

Mrs. Bessie McBride entertained the Dorcas Society on Wednesday afternoon. The afternoon was busily spent in sewing and business in preparation for the Christmas Sale, which will be held on Monday, Dec. 14th. At the close of the business session dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. Albert Purdy and son, of Centre Sackville, N.B., are spending a month with relatives and friends at Deep Brook.

Mrs. John E. Rawling and son Keith, left here on Tuesday for Boston, where she will join her husband for the winter months.

Start the Week With a Smile

"Dear teacher," wrote a parent who evidently dissipated her corporal punishment. "Don't hit our Sammy. We never do at home except in self-defense."

First Undergrad: "What shall we do?" Second Undergrad: "I'll skip a coin. If it's heads we'll go to the movie, tails we go to the dance, and if it stands on edge we'll study."

"Who do brides wear white, mummy?" "Because they are so happy, darling." "Then why do bridegrooms wear black?" Silence!

Officer (producing note book): "What's your name?" Motorist: "Aloysius Alastair Cyprian."

Officer (replacing note book): "Well, don't let it happen again."

"No," remarked the determined lady to the indignant taxi cab driver after giving him his exact fare, "you can't cheat me. I haven't ridden in cabs these ten years for nothing."

"Haven't you?" he returned, bitterly. "Well, you've done your best."

Old Gentleman (seeing the small colored boy was having some trouble in carrying away with the large melon he was trying to eat): "Too much melon, isn't it, Rastus?"

Small Colored Boy: "No, sir, bust, not enough nigger."

"Two young men met in their club one day. That's a nice suit you are wearing, old chap," said one of them.

"Why you give me the address of your tailor?" "With pleasure," replied the other, "providing you don't give him mine."

The kind old gentleman met little Willie after the death of the latter's father.

"Well, Willie," he asked, "What were your poor old father's last words?" "He didn't have no last words," was the reply. "Mother was with him to the end."

In a little Kansas town a group of natives were discussing whether it made any difference if the words, "In God we trust" were omitted on certain pieces of silver, when one spoke up and said, "I don't care about that, but I would like to see writ across these Cheating House checks, 'I know that my Redeemer Liveth.'"

A traveling man was travelling through the country, and he came along to a farm, and a dog was sitting alongside of the road and barking as hard as he could bark, and the traveling man asked the farmer what was the matter with the dog and the farmer said he's lazy; the traveling man says lazy. The farmer said yes he was lazy sitting on a whistle and he is too lazy to get up.

Sunday school teacher: And who was Moses?

Little boy on back row: "He was Pharaoh's daughter's son."

Sunday school teacher: No dear, Pharaoh's daughter found the little baby in the bulrushes.

Little boy: "Huh, that's what SHE said."

A few minutes after an alarm of fire was given in a hotel, one of the guests joined the group that were watching the fire, and chaffed them on their apparent excitement.

"There was nothing to be excited about," he said. "I took my time about dressing, lighted a cigarette, didn't like the knot in my neck-line, so I'd go over again—that's how cool I was."

"Fine," one of his friends remarked, "but why didn't you put on your trousers?"

A fond Mother was punishing a mischievous young daughter for the first time by shutting her in a dark closet.

The extreme quietude with which the punishment was received caused grave alarm in the Mother's mind. She had visions of her young offspring in the throes of a fit caused thru fear, or maybe, suffocation.

Unable to stand the suspense, she opened the door a little ways, and said: "Marjorie, what are you doing?"

A breathless silence, and a wavering voice replied:

"I'm spittin' on yer new hat—and I'm spittin' on your new slippers—and I'm spittin' on your new dress."

More silence.

"An' what are you doing now?"

"Waitin' for some more spit!"

Celebrated 80th Birthday

To the Editor of The Chronicle:

Sir:

If he should be spared on Tuesday, December 15th, one of Nova Scotia's most remarkable citizens will have reached his 80th birthday. I refer to Mr. E. C. Bowers, of Westport, Digby County, who for more than a dozen years has been an invalid, bedridden and with slowly failing eyesight, and who in spite of all these handicaps not only has been personally able to direct his business affairs, but has set every able-bodied inhabitant of his country a most illustrious example of cheerfulness and fortitude.

Mr. Bowers, for long the leading business man of Westport, during his protracted imprisonment in a sick room, has radiated a greater number of personal messages of cheer and encouragement to a legion of friends and correspondents than have many of his contemporaries who have enjoyed complete health and strength.

Not only has Mr. Bowers written or dictated hundreds of letters to friends in various parts of Canada and the United States, "not a few of them entirely in original rhyme," but he has kept up a constant outflow of newspaper articles and contributions dealing with the many subjects, domestic and international, in which he has been interested, so that the influence of his experience and observation has benefitted thousands.

This truly remarkable man most assuredly has "brightened the corner" in his particular part of Evangeline's country; and may well be believed he is universally beloved by the entire community.

A few weeks ago, Mr. Bowers issued "To whom this may come," the following pathetically cheerful message:

"For many years I have been sending hundreds of Birthday, Christmas and Holiday cards all over the various quarters of the Globe.

"I will reach my 4 score Dec. 15th next and as my eyesight is failing somewhat; I must ask my many friends to forgive, if they let so many tokens from me.

"It has been a great pleasure for me to send these cards and in many cases to get the pleasant answers to same.

"The way to get cheerful is to smile when you feel bad, to think about somebody else's headache when your own is most bustin', to keep on believin' the sun is a shining when the clouds are thick enough to cut.

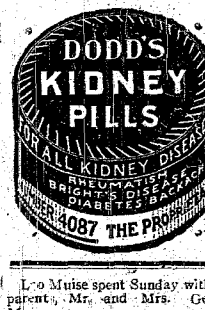

"Josh Billings says—'Laff every time you feel tickled, and lall once in a while anyhow.'"

"Again thanks to you all for what you have done and may you all feel well when the votes are counted.

"E. C. BOWERS"

I have no doubt that already scores of combined birthday and Christmas greetings are on their way to this courageous Canadian citizen, and I hope that on his birthday there will be many telegrams and telephonic greetings winging their way via Digby, to Westport's Grand Old Man. Nova Scotia ought to be proud of him!

The value of the published reports of municipal council proceedings is often overlooked. Not to in the State of Michigan, where a new law requires every village council to publish all proceedings of the council in the nearest newspaper, within ten days after the meeting. The newspapers have to be paid for this service.

It used to be said when making tea that you are doing it in a responsible way for each member of the family and one for the teapot. That was in the old days when China was but these days with MORSE'S, which has greater strength, all you need to put in the teapot is one responsible for each member of the family, in fact if you do not want full strength even less will do.

Another weekly newspaper amalgamation has taken place this week. Two papers in the town of Gananoque being combined. As in nearly all other Ontario towns the operation of two papers has long been known to have been costly to the local advertiser and unprofitable to the publishers; but it sometimes takes years to decide who shall be the one to withdraw. — Blenheim News-Tribune.

The fire brigade were again called out on Thursday evening to extinguish a fire in the office of the Maritime Fish Corporation. His Worship Mayor Frank Anderson, superintendent of the Maritime Fire, while assisting the firemen, was overcome with smoke and had to be taken to his home where medical aid was immediately summoned. The fire started in the basement behind the furnace and rapidly spread through the walls, watching the building was full of smoke. Several hundred dollars damage was done by water and smoke, which was covered by insurance.

PHILIP MCBRIDE

Friends of Mrs. Philip McBride, who was formerly Miss Lennie Comeau, of Digby, heard of the death of her husband in St. John a few days ago with great grief. He was employed with the Canadian National Railway and was a member of St. John Council, Knights of Columbus and the Ancient Order of Hibernians. He is survived by his wife and three small children, his mother, Mrs. Mary McBride, two sisters, Mrs. M. E. Keenan and Mrs. J. McGuire, all of Bath, N. B., and one brother, William McBride of this city.

Mr. McBride entered the government railway service in St. John in 1903 as messenger. He was a member of the Brotherhood of Trainmen and very popular. In 1915 he joined the Canadian Forces.

Notice To Merchants And Correspondents

The next issue of The Courier will be published on Wednesday next and all copy must be in the hands of the management by Monday evening at the latest. This is being done to allow members of the staff to spend Christmas at their homes. We will all advertisers and correspondents kindly assist. This will also be a good opportunity for the Merchants to advertise their goods and offer suggestions to the buying public.

Thanks.

Harry Gavel, of Middleton, was a visitor in Digby this week.

Miss Isabel Williams leaves today to spend the Christmas holidays with her parents in Shelburne.

Charles Hersey, of Lynn, was a visitor in town last week attending the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Mary Guest.

Dr. Victor Connor, of Harcourt, N. B., visited in Digby Monday and spent a few days with his brother, Rufus Connor.

Stanley Veniot, of Kentville, spent a few days in town last week, the guest of his sister, Mrs. D. J. Hewitt.

Mrs. Tuttle Graham, of Centerville, who has been spending the past few weeks in town, returned home Sunday.

In proportion to population the city papers have no larger circulation than the weekly papers that would reach the buying public in the districts that they circulate in. If the small town merchant expects to hold his own with good roads, bus lines and automobiles, he must change his method and advertise correspondingly to reach the public with what he has to offer.

We want the news, and while we sometimes exercise discretion, it is not that we do not desire to publish anything, but we feel that it is better not to unnecessarily wound the family of an offender who may have committed a first offence. The parties who make a practice of stealing poultry, if caught, need not come to this office asking to have their name kept out of the paper.

Two citizens of the town had a narrow escape from death last week due to the brakes on their automobile failing to respond while they were coming down the Racquette Hill. This bill is very regrettable. The party were bound to come from Caledonia. The car traveled down the hill at a high rate of speed and it was only due to the quick mind of the driver that a serious accident was averted. The car struck the Racquette Bridge, throwing both men several feet. Outside of a few bruises they escaped unharmed.

Look girls! Want a nice doll for Christmas? You can get one very easy! All you have to do is get a subscription to The Courier and bring the money to us. For every two dollars secured, it will count as one subscription. If you collect four dollars from one person the count is four. For every two dollars secured, the amount collected we will give credit on our books for whatever it is. The dolls are 24 inches tall, all dressed, can walk, say mama and go to sleep when laid down. Wouldn't such a doll please you? Sure! It is so easy, nearly everyone of your friends will help you whether their subscription is expiring or not, a year or two in advance won't hurt anyone.

With lots of good skating and the hockey season almost here there is all kinds of comment on the possibilities this season. The young ladies of the town, of whom there are great many, and some kind of inclined, are talking of forming a hockey club for the purpose of putting a ladies' hockey team on the ice. There are a good many ladies' teams in the Province and the Digby girls see no reason why the town cannot boast of one also. There are some who favor a league in town, with one team representing the town and the other the Academy. It would be the first year in a league of many of the players and they would be accustomed to each other's style of play and have a better chance next year. But the majority of our team consist of the best players available to represent the town and to make arrangements with the ladies of Annapolis to play a series of home and home games for a trophy or medals. A meeting of those interested will be held in a few days when the matter will be threshed out and some kind of decision arrived at. There are many good skaters among the ladies of the town and when the announcement is made that a team will be organized it is expected that there will be plenty of candidates for positions in a team. The hockey fans of the town are anxious to have the girls put a team on the ice and are ready to assist them in every way.

Obituary

MRS. MARY GUEST

The death occurred a few days ago, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Dan McIntosh, of Mrs. Mary Guest, aged 62 years, after an illness of over three months.

Deceased was born at Sandy Cove and came to Digby twenty years ago, where she has resided ever since. She leaves to mourn her loss, two daughters, Mrs. Dan McIntosh, Digby, and Mrs. Fred Outlaw, and six sons, Fred and Charles Hersey, of Lynn, Mass.; Fred and Harry, of Digby. The funeral service took place at the home, and was conducted by Rev. Mr. Bishop, pastor of the Baptist church, assisted by Rev. Mr. Appleby of the United Church, and interment took place in the Baptist cemetery. The pall bearers were Messrs. J. W. Milbray, Lee Peck and Frank Robinson.

The sum of $10.15 was realized at the Grace United Church bazaar and sale held last Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Miss Nina Hewitt, who is taking a business course in St. John, is expected home tomorrow for the Christmas holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Farnham left for Cape Breton, N. S., where they will spend Christmas with their son, Dale Farnham.

FOR SALE—Schooners "Alcala" and "Dorothy Ball." Both vessels with power, appliances, George Morrell, Saney Cove, Digby, Co., N. S., 20-30.

Mrs. Marilla Walling, of Tiverton, passed through Digby on Sunday en route to Bear River, where she will spend the winter with Capt. and Mrs. H. W. Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. Forest Elsom, who have been spending the past three weeks in Boston and other American cities, visiting relatives and friends, returned home Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Salonga, of Tiverton, have closed their home for the winter and will make their home at the Traveller's Inn Digby after a short trip to St. John and Montreal.

Miss Alma Boudreau, of Church Point, was in town Tuesday en route to her home. Miss Boudreau was a passenger on the four-masted schooner "Harry McLean" which was wrecked off this coast a few days ago, and reported a very thrilling experience. All members of the crew safely landed on shore by rescuing parties.

The annual Christmas Tree for the inmates of the Alms House at Marshalltown will be held on Thursday evening, Dec. 21st, and the keeper, Wm. H. Thomas, would appreciate it if any person having anything to give for the tree should bring it to the Alms House at 11 A. M. Short-life's store, and same will be called for. This year there are fourteen small children at the Alms House, and citizens should endeavor to make their Christmas one of joy and happiness.

Deep Brook

The Annual Christmas Sale of the Dorchester Free Will on Monday evening, Dec. 14th, was a very good number, but for such a rough cold night. The following ladies were in charge of the sale: Mrs. J. W. Farnham, E. W. Hutchingson and Mrs. L. E. Sherman. Apron Table Mrs. Howard Adams, Mrs. J. W. McCallum and Mrs. E. A. McCallum. Candy table and tree Mrs. Augustus Purdy, Refreshment Table, Mrs. Jessie McLehrie, Mrs. R. H. A. Rice, Mrs. Bruce Dittmar and Mrs. Annie Copeland.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McCallum will be glad to know that their son Max who has been very ill in hospital for the past two months, is at his home now in Saskatoon and is slowly recovering.

Lame Duck Arrives In Port

With a jib boom trailing over the side the three-masted schooner, C. Maud Gaskill, Captain Lohr, beat into Digby harbor yesterday for shelter and repairs. The Gaskill left St. John yesterday bound for Barbados, with a load of lumber, but was forced to return to port on account of counteracted such terrific winds and heavy seas that the vessel was obliged to make port. Several attempts were made to straighten away for the open sea, but the wind blew with such violence that it was impossible to do so. One average gust struck the schooner and snapped off the jib boom like a pipe stem. Under such severe conditions it was impossible to make any repairs, and after tautling for hours she arrived here.

Captain G. Crocker also arrived in Digby from St. John with the schooner "Phyllis C", and reported that in his many years experience he has never witnessed such tremendous seas in the Bay of Fundy. His vessel is a staunch craft, and has stood many a blow, but he has been many times during the trip that the captain never expected to reach port, he said.

The Digby steamer, Disco, did not take any chances, preferring to remain in St. John until the heavy weather moderates.

Newsy Items From Westport

Mrs. Cornelia Stevens, of Freeport, who spent a few days with her sister, Mrs. Albert Moore, returned home Monday.

Mrs. Geo. Baltzer, of Granville, is the guest of her mother, Mrs. Annie Gower.

The ladies of the Baptist church held their annual Xmas tea and fancy sale in the Vestry on Thursday evening, the sum of $130.00 was realized.

A miscellaneous shower was tendered Miss Annie Peters on Friday evening at her home.

H. Davis is visiting his sister, Mrs. R. Welch.

P. V. Watkins was a passenger to Weymouth, Friday en route to St. John to join his steamer.

A Cantata, The Pilgrims Progress was held in the Baptist Vestry on Sunday evening, with Mrs. Chas. Gower as reader and the choir doing the singing. Collection $34.32 for mission work.

W. A. Pugh returned from Yarmouth Monday.

The funeral of the late Capt. Geo. Gower was held from the Baptist church on Friday afternoon, the Rev. P. Hamilton of Freeport conducting the services.

I have always thought of Christmas as a good time; a kind, forgiving, generous pleasant time; a time when men and women seem by one consent to open their hearts freely and so I say—God Bless Christmas.—Dickens.

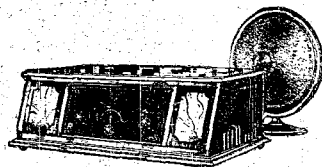

Yuletide Greetings

Swiftly onward time doth fly
Here is Christmas coming nigh.
Little children laugh and sing, Saying,—“What will Santa bring?”
Joy and gladness fill the air,
Bid adieu to carping Care,
Sing the song of Peace on earth,
Celebrate our Saviour's birth.

Give with loving hearts so true,
'Tis what Christ would have us do.
He has the example set
The poor are here, do not forget.
Ring the joy bells, mortals sing
Praises to our Heavenly King.
Scatter presents far and wide,
Ever in God's love abide.
