To Re-open Maybelle Matheson Case

Boston police last week made a fresh attempt to find a solution to the mysterious murder of Maybelle Matheson, Cape Breton girl, who was found dead in a West Roxbury field seven years ago, when Miller Frank Clark, 44-year-old truck driver, was submitted to a lengthy questioning about the case after he signed a confession he was the murderer of Ethel Zuckerman, 17-year-old bakery shop girl, whose death a year ago had baffled local officials.

After Clark's full admission of guilt in the Zuckerman case police, struck by the similarity in the two crimes, saw a possible clue to the mysterious slaying of the Nova Scotia girl, which has frustrated every attempt at solution despite the constant efforts of some of the department's best detectives.

Clark, shabby and hunched, but completely calm, stoutly denied any knowledge of Miss Matheson's death. (People of Digby remember well the "attempt" to solve the Maybelle Matheson case which brought crack (or cracked) Boston sleuths, accompanied by a small army of newspaper men and photographers to Digby and other points in Nova Scotia last winter, amid a blare of newspaper and radio trumpets. The "investigation" was considered one of the prize jokes of the year.)

Loaded Pulp Wood

The steamer "Liverpool" has been in port this week loading pulpwood for the Mercer Paper Company, Liverpool. The cargo was supplied by H. T. Warner.

The loading of this steamer—or any pulp steamer—lives things up along the water front and in town generally. For some weeks shipping at the port of Digby has been rather slack. A few small vessels have arrived and cleared, but on the whole, the waterfront has been quiet.

Since the arrival of the Rover these have been quite a bustle of activity, more especially in the Warner yards where the pulpwood is stored. Men are engaged loading trucks and trucks are loaded from the snow-covered streets from the south end of the town to the government pier where the steamer loaded. The Rover sailed Wednesday morning.

They All Saw Improvement

1934 is over!

There are many evidences that the year just passed has been more generous to the average citizen of Digby than recent previous years.

"A longshoreman" told us yesterday that during 1934 he earned as much in eleven months as he did in twelve in 1933. "That's something!"

A merchant told us that his business in 1934 was twenty per cent at least better than in 1933. "That's something, too!"

Most of our summer hotel men are wintering in Florida so we did not have an opportunity to see any of them, but we were told before they left for summer climes, that their season in 1934 was the best since 1929! "That's a lot!"

Lumber operators all assure us that more orders were placed with them in 1934 than for a number of years back. "That is quite something!"

A fisherman says that although things in 1934 weren't quite up to what he would have liked them to be, he was not complaining, for conditions had improved enough to "make living a little more like living!" That means a lot!

The farmer who interviewed us did not have much to say. He wished there had been more rain while his crops were growing, and less when he was harvesting them. But he, like the fisherman, was not complaining. His last year's wardrobe would hang out another season; he had enough wood and (6) spare, in his shed to keep him through the winter; his cellar was stoned with provisions, and—he had scraped up the interest on his mortgage! We know what that is!

And that's that! We'll not go any further with our interviews, but just wish and hope that 1935 will be a happy and prosperous year for all.

Brotherhood Told of Empire Problems

Frank Jones, K. C. of Digby, was the speaker at the monthly supper of the United Church Brotherhood, held in the church hall, Prince William Street, Wednesday evening. His subject was "Problems of the British Empire."

He considered India as one of the great problems confronting this great family of nations at the present time, but dealing with Canada, he felt that the greatest problem confronting us was the problem of national conditions in Canada.

He pointed out that our nation was spending more than our income and are continually borrowing money to add to our already heavy debt—and a crisis is bound to come.

Mr. Jones added that, perhaps, the crisis we dread would be the best thing that could happen to settle the affairs of the nation.

Gregg Eakin, who always provides specialists for any occasion, he referred to the heads of commissions which have been brought out from the country to solve difficulties and to investigate conditions in Canada, Newfoundland, Australia and other parts of the Empire. Mr. Jones said we are inclined to leave everything to politicians and not to experts, and oftentimes the politicians are very incompetent.

He suggested the organization of non-political study societies to meet with representatives of governments in both provincial and federal houses and put before them the problems of the nation's peoples. In that way the members would become better acquainted with what the electors expected of them and the outcome would be that the government would be run by the people and not by the politicians.

At this meeting a clam chowder was served. After the address music was furnished by members of the Digby Band who were present with their instruments.

Masons Attend Church

Members of King Solomon Lodge, A. E. and A. M. R. N. S., paraded to "race United Church on Sunday evening, in spite of the heavy snow storm, in commemoration of St. John's day. At this service a special sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. T. W. Hodgson, Past Grand Chaplain, pastor of the church, who took his text and scripture lesson from the 7th chapter of the first book of Kings speaking particularly on the two pillars—Jachin and Boaz—set up in the porch of the Temple. "At the top of the pillars was lily work: so was the work of the pillars finished." The lily work took away the barrenness from the massive pillars and served also as a reminder, their supporting function, of the beautiful things in life relieve it of dreariness, and contribute strength and courage.

Marriages

Lewis—Melanson
A quiet wedding took place in the St. Croix church, at Plympton, on Thursday of last week, the contracting parties being Harold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Watson Lewis, Waterford, and Katherine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Melanson, of Marshalltown. A reception was held at the home of the groom, and the happy couple were the recipients of many useful gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis will reside for the present in Waterford.

Edwards—Foster
A wedding on interest to Digby country people was solemnized in Bridgetown on Saturday last, at the home of the bride's parents, School Inspector and Mrs. M. C. Foster, when their only daughter, Marguerite Ethel, became the bride of Clifford Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Edwards, Arichat. Rev. A. J. Prosser officiated. Both bride and groom are well known. The groom was a former teacher in the Sandy Cove school, but for the past three years has been principal at Round Hill. This year he is taking the Superior course at the Normal College, Truro.

Municipal Council Opens Next Week

Kenney succeeds Edward Pugh, in Westport; Bradford Morrell succeeds F. S. Lent in Freeport; Angus Hill succeeds former Deputy Mayor H. B. FitzGerald, of Weymouth North.

There will be considerable business before this session.

Customs Revenue Shows Increase

Customs Inspectors MacLachlan and Eaton, who have just completed their inspection of the custom office in the port of Digby, found the office in a healthy condition. Review of the eight months covered by their survey shows an increase of $1,000 over the corresponding period last year.

The report also showed that exports of lumber and pulpwood to the port of Digby was 100 per cent better than it has been for several years.

During the year 520 vessels entered and cleared through this port; 245 entered and cleared through Bear River; 245 through Freeport and 230 through Westport, making a grand total for Digby and outports, of 1,000 vessels.

Sick mariners' dues collected at the Digby Custom house were approximately $200.

THE JONESES AND THE SMITHS

(A Contributed Editorial)

Mr. and Mrs. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Smith are two young married couples starting out in life together.

Mr. Jones and Mr. Smith hold jobs paying the same wages or salaries. Jones works hard and faithfully. Jones is a thrifty housewife. Out of their salary they save a portion each month. Jones spends his time in the evenings studying and improving his mind.

During the course of years he advances in his employment on account of the ability he has developed. He and Mrs. Jones from their savings make investments such as their home and in their ownership of some stocks and bonds. When old age comes he and Mrs. Jones have a competence which keeps them comfortably.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith live their lives differently. Smith goes out at night and has good times with the "boys." Mrs. Smith is a thrifty housekeeper. While Smith earns good wages each month, he and his wife spend every cent he earns. As he has done nothing to improve his mind, although he is able to do his work well, he lacks the ability to qualify for a better job.

As they grow old Mr. and Mrs. Smith, instead of having saved something for their old age, own nothing. Or a period of hard times comes along and Smith and Jones both have irregular employment, but Jones, because he has saved, is able to make the "ends meet." Smith, because he has nothing saved, has a difficult time and becomes bitter at life and demands that the government take care of him.

It is a popular cry today to denounce Mr. and Mrs. Jones for being thrifty and for saving and investing their money and thus helping with the upbuilding of industry.

The capital Jones has acquired by practising self-denial and thrift, and which is in reality only stored away labor, he is told he is not entitled to. In fact, Smith and many of Smith's friends assert that what Mr. and Mrs. Jones have saved should be taken from them and distributed to Smith and his friends. If not all of it is taken, at least a part is to be confiscated. Mr. and Mrs. Jones are enemies of the "common people."

Is such a program just? Is it fair? Can it be productive of good? Can it create employment and prosperity?

That is something for all to think about, because the ultimate destination of the road we are travelling will end just there—and instead of prosperity and happiness it will bring misery and suffering.

ONLY ONE RIGHT WAY

How may you and I succeed? Chiefly by concentrating to the utmost on success; by finding the one right way to success, and by subordinating every other way to that one.

Within every man is something of an angel and something of a devil: something of a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde; an inclination to live on the heights and a tendency to live in the valley. Now, if we take all of the higher and better inclinations, the ambitions which we know are worthy, the ideals that really build a life that counts, place that cargo on a train that heads toward something that the world needs and wants and welcome, the world is ours. It is merely a question of decision and doing. But that is everything.

It is a constant fight, putting down the temptation to follow the path of the least resistance. In economic life, this principle is very apparent. What can I get? That is the question that haunts the business world. It makes for class distinction, rivalry, dissension, clashes. The only way that this rancor can give way to peace is for men to ask, "How may I serve?"

It seems not to be a very hard thing to find flaws and weaknesses, to harbor hate, keep a grudge, and feel that it is becoming and a sign of large intelligence to pay up old scores of vengeance. That is not the way to successful living. Turning the other cheek seems like a silly and effeminate way to face the world. However, that very thing, or a principle as forbearing and tolerant, is the only right way to build a happier world.

Many a person thinks he knows what is wrong with our world. It is faulty economic laws. It is excessive demand by labor. It is paternalism by capital. It is corruption in high places. It is too much playing of politics. Every such indictment is founded upon fact. But there is a wrong way and a right way to apply remedies.

"How may I serve?" is the way out. Men ought to have far more foresight than they do have; ought to look ahead to the needs of tomorrow; ought to stop and think what is becoming of our social order at the rate we are going.

We are not going to make very strong headway if we refuse to analyze ourselves. That is the starting point. No matter where we go we must start from the place where we are. Every one of us expects too much of life; too little of ourselves. Every one of us must conquer many habits, the principal one being the seeking of easy tasks. The millennium will be here when we cure ourselves of laziness.

Far too many are trying to get something for nothing; hunting too many short cuts and expecting the prizes of life without the required effort. The world is not built upon the principle, probably because it would make cowards and derelicts of men.

Superficial efforts are put forth by superficial men—and superficial are the results. Hard work, toil by a sane method toward noble objectives, leads to the only prizes of life worth recording.

THE PARASITE

Many men, women, and children sufferers are being treated for other diseases without results, when their real trouble is the tape worm. Sure sign of it is the passage of small particles of the parasite. Suggestive signs: loss of appetite with occasional greenness, coated tongue, heartburn, pain in stomach and intestines, pain in chest and limbs, dizziness, headaches, exhaustion, feeling faint with stomach empty, emaciated, dark rings under the eyes. The process of digestion is usually interfered with. The patient becomes irritable and restless at night. There is much dizziness, raising of constant obstruction in throat, gnawing sensation in stomach with voracious appetite and at times loathing of sight of food. The breath becomes offensive, the face flushed—at other times very pale, heaving as if something were moving in the bowels; heartburn with palpitation; obscure pain in the limbs, delusions of the mind, defect of the speech; sudden colic, insomnia; melancholia; hysteria and some authors claim epileptic fits and even insanity.

These monster parasites, the size of which, it is claimed, sometimes reach as high as 45-50 feet, must be eliminated from the system at all costs. Only with the greatest possible precaution and skill can they be removed from the system. However, but to allow a tapeworm to live unimpeded in the human body is almost akin to taking small doses of poison, increasing same daily—until the patient actually commits suicide—figuratively speaking. The formula of Tanex is used for the elimination of this terrible monster—and most successfully in obstinate cases. Tanex is prepared in such manner that it cannot harm any of the sensitive internal parts of the human system, and may be safely given in proportional parts to children. Tanex is not harmful in the sense that it may poison the individual harboring a tapeworm—not is its effects harmful on those who take it where there is no worm. Tanex does not kill the monster tapeworm, as killing it necessarily means the taking of poisons in sufficient quantities to poison the patient. Tanex renders the worm insensible only, so that it loses its power to grasp on and hold to the intestines.

The purgative ingredients in Tanex then quickly eliminate it. Great care must be exercised however, to permit its passage in accordance with the directions. Taken with food, otherwise the head may re-enter the alimentary canal—which means that another dosage will be necessary. Tanex may be taken in the morning and as it leaves no effects at all, will not necessitate the staying away from work. One hour is required for it to attain full effect. Tanex is not sold in drug stores—to insure absolute freshness to the patient. Nor is it sent C. O. D. The treatment costs $5.00, with full instructions. If you want to be rid of this monster parasite—send for Tanex today. Sold only by the Royal Laboratories, 721 Royal Bldg., Box 101, Windsor, Ont. Clip this ad out now and put it away; it may come in very handy some day. Show it to some ailing friend—he may become forever grateful to you for doing so.

BOOTLEGGING WITHOUT PROHIBITION

A year ago National Prohibition was repealed in the United States. The repeal was hailed by the "wets" and others who claimed they weren't "wet." It was predicted that the evils of prohibition would be at once abolished. The bootlegger, the speakeasy, the night club, the road house would all go. The saloon would not come back. Beer and light wines would become the popular drinks, while the harder liquors would certainly be used less. Crime would decrease; lawlessness would be cured, disorder and chaos would be ended. I wonder did they really believe it, or were they just bluffing themselves and others under the hidden urge of an away-with-law complex?

Well, the repeal came, and what a shamefully riotous Christmas and New Year they had in some of the big cities! But let that pass as a first extreme rebound. Better things will come when people get their normal stride. A month passed, and the Secretary of the Treasury declared that "the bootleg ring still has the country by the throat." Two months ago the Chairman of the Liquor Control Commission in Oregon announced that "bootleggers are doing 75 per cent of the business." Joseph H. Choate, Jr., director of the Federal Alcohol Control Administration, said, in April, "Bootleg production continues on so large a scale as to constrain us to the conclusion that our people must now be consuming greater quantities of spirits than they did in pre-prohibition days."

And even Seton Porter, president of the National Distillers Products, complained that "the Federal Government is losing no less than $400,000,000 a year through bootlegging and smuggling." A special writer from Massachusetts, to the New York Times said in May that "Actual students of conditions are of opinion that repeal so far has increased drunkenness." From Atlanta, Georgia, came in the report that "drunkenness is definitely on the increase in this section of the country." In August the Boston Herald, a wet paper, went out and got the facts from New England, and then wrote, "The bootlegger, who was to have been interred forever when the ghost of John Barleycorn escaped the grave and walked among men once again, is more prosperous than ever he was during fourteen years of prohibition." In this same month a report from the nation at large stated that New York City had had 55 per cent more drunkenness in 1934 than in 1933. Los Angeles 95 per cent more. Boston 21 per cent more. Denver and Portland, Oregon, each 116 per cent more.

Well, all this makes unwelcome reading indeed. But did any sensible person really expect that, with a law that provided both a conscience and a restraint, drinking and all its evils were far too much in evidence, the whole evil would disappear or even grow less with such a law withdrawn? Sometimes laws have to be repealed for a while that men may come to know their real value. Sometimes the imps of chaos must be given loose rein for a time that men may value order.

PETER'S CONVERSION AND CALL

Golden Text:—"And Jesus said unto him, Come ye after me, and I will make you to become fishers of men."
—Mark 1:17.

Lesson Passage:—John 1:35-42; Mark 1:14-18.

Like a river, glorious
Is God's perfect peace,
Over all victorious
In his bright increase;
Perfect, yet it floweth Fuller every day.
Perfect, yet it groweth Deeper all the way.

Peter's Brother, 35-39

A University president discussing the appointment of professors remarked that what he wished most of all to know was, "Will the man keep on growing after appointed to a department?" Two men at forty years of age may be rated about equal in achievement, but if one is active and eager to enlarge his powers, he may completely outdistance the other. Peter was far from being a perfect man, but he had this capacity for growth. Evidently he belonged to a family in which strength was characteristic. His brother, Andrew, was a disciple of John the Baptist, and has become the patron of Scotsmen the world over. Good heredity and helpful family environment make a strong combination in the development of a life. Had Peter never become a disciple, he would in all probability have been one of the first citizens of Capernaum. It is said that John Ruskin once scraped the repulsive mud of London's sloppiest streets off his boots, and taking it to a laboratory proved that in it were all the elements of the very finest jewels. Peter had in him the usual qualities of a manly man, but opportunity came to him, under the tuition of Jesus, of casting off the dross of his character and having the jewels formed and perfected. Peter shows what Christ can do for a faulty man.

Peter's Open-Mindedness, 40, 41

Peter did not come to Jesus on his own initiative, but on the invitation of his brother, Andrew. The eager interest of Andrew after meeting with Jesus, and the confidence of his announcement that he had found the Christ appealed to Peter. Instead of discounting his brother's enthusiasm he decided to investigate for himself, and went with Andrew to Jesus. Doubtless Andrew had built up a reputation for reliability and sound judgment, and Peter was predisposed to believe his brother. Credit for winning Peter is due in large measure to his brother, Andrew. This was the greatest day of work that Andrew ever did. Ever afterwards his reputation was to be eclipsed by that of his more distinguished brother, but the career of Peter was made possible because Andrew led him to Christ. One of the incentives of personal evangelism is that the person won may achieve more for the Kingdom of God than the Christian who leads another to Christ.

Peter's Name, 42

By reason of physical strength and rugged mentality and spiritual perception, Peter had great possibilities in him. Jesus was not slow to discern the greatness of the man. Jesus looked upon him, kept looking at him until he saw into the depths of Peter's soul, and then said that Simon's name would be changed from a word meaning waverer to Cephas, the Aramaic word which translated into Greek is Peter, a rock. He was impulsive and unreliable, but he was anything but steadfast as a rock. He was impulsive and unreliable, but he was anything but steadfast as a rock. He was impulsive and unreliable, but he was anything but steadfast as a rock.

Peter's Call, 14-17

After Peter had met Jesus for the first time, he evidently returned to his fishing nets. Jesus came into Galilee preaching, and passing by the sea he saw Simon and Andrew, and called to them saying, "Come ye after me, and I will make you to become fishers of men." Peter at this time had not yet arrived; he was merely starting upon his way. Jesus was inviting Peter to undertake a most difficult task, that of winning men and women to a living faith in God. This work requires knowledge, tact, perseverance, and the utmost unselfishness. At the outset Peter was far from qualified for such a task, but Christ promised to make him to become an evangelist. Religious growth is a process of becoming. Time is required, gaining experience by mistakes and failures, developing skill by progressive success, and remaining true to a fixed purpose. Peter's sermon on the Day of Pentecost demonstrates how Christ had taught him and helped him to become a successful fisher of men.

Peter's Decision, 18

Whether right or wrong Peter always made up his mind in a hurry. When he was invited to become a disciple of Jesus, he straightway left his net and followed Christ. His remarkable growth in character and capability was in part due to his native endowment, and his natural gifts developed the more rapidly because of his companionship with Christ. His uncouthness disappeared, but his courage remained. His eagerness was undiminished, but it became rooted in personal experience of Christ's truth and love. His powers of leadership were accentuated, but in time his leadership was exercised not for personal advancement, but solely for the cause of Christ. The story of Peter's life is full of encouragement to people who wonder if their lives are to serve any useful purpose in the world. Many a person twenty or thirty years of age is discouraged by apparent futility of effort. The way in which Christ made a strong, resourceful, consecrated man of Peter bids us hope ever for ourselves. What Christ did for Peter He is still able to do for those who trust and follow Him.

Questions for Discussion

- 1.—Which would you rather have been, Andrew or Peter?
- 2.—Who first told you about Christ?
- 3.—Are the deepest character changes sudden or slow?
- 4.—Is Christian growth both conscious and unconscious?
- 5.—What can fishermen teach to soul winners?

HEALTH

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY IN CANADA

HEALTH

You are beginning a new year and you have likely thought out your plans for the coming year. Did you consider your health in making these plans? Did you stop to think that sickness would upset things, and that your health must be good if you are to carry out your plan? We pride ourselves on our intelligence, and yet when we realize that well over one-third of all deaths which occur in Canada could be postponed, we may well wonder if we are not rather a stupid lot in matters of health.

You are a lucky person in many ways. You are living at a time when so much more is known about disease than we no longer have to sit down and accept disease as inevitable. No indeed; we can do a great deal to prevent the occurrence of disease, to raise the standard of personal health.

It is rather a terrible thought that so many die prematurely through their own ignorance or carelessness. Are you one of those who, through your own fault, will not enjoy the years of health which would be yours were you to make the necessary effort?

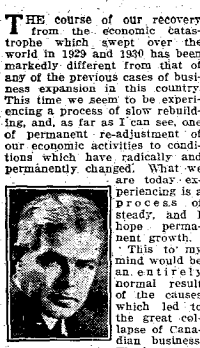

A great deal can be done for you. You can give your health the habit of living more than anything else. You must eat the right kinds of food; no one can do this for you. You must sleep enough to get the rest your body needs. King or peasant, rich man or poor man, must live a healthy life if health is to be enjoyed.

Now if your health is worth while looking after—and who will doubt that it is—then it seems more than reasonable to give some attention to it. Does it not seem a better idea to secure the advice of your family doctor on how to keep well rather than to wait until you are ill to ask his aid.

The periodic health examination offers you a practical means for

Canada Makes Progress Says Beatty

C.P.R. President Reviews Past Year and Finds Evidence of Permanent Economic Improvement in Advances so far made—Predicts Canadian Wheat as Best in the World will find Steady Market.

E. W. BEATTY, C.P.R. President and Chairman of the Canadian Pacific Ry.

THE course of our recovery from the economic catastrophe which swept over the world in 1929 and 1930 has been markedly different from that of any of the previous years of business expansion in this country. This time we seem to be experiencing a process of slow rebuilding which have radically and permanently changed. What we are today experiencing is a process of steady, and I hope permanent, growth.

Throughout the past year the railway business has been a problem in respect to increasing amount of public attention, and I am convinced that proposals for its solution along the lines of unified management for the two great companies have made decided progress. In all directions there is a greater willingness on the part of the public to enter upon an unprecedented change in the railway business, and even among those classes whose interests might at first glance seem to be threatened by any such proposal, I discover a growing desire to examine their possibilities and to find out if they really are as dangerous as those who early rushed into print to attack them would seem to believe. This is all to the good. If unified management is to stand up under the most searching criticism, obviously it should not go forward, but the criticism should be fair and honest and it should be based upon a fairly sound understanding of railway economics and not upon a narrow interest of private gain. I have nothing less than the truth when I affirm that most of the criticism that has come our way so far will stand up before any one or even two or three of the above tests. I shall not further deal with the matter here, except to say that I can see no other way than unified railway management in which the country can put up with the continued cumulative wastage of vast sums of money and can safeguard the future of both railways while adequately preserving the property rights of the Canadian people in the Canadian National and those of the shareholders of the Canadian Pacific.

In growth of life is my proposal for unified management. It is a partnership between public and private ownership, with the added advantage of private operation free from political control. Both Canadian railway systems as well as the railways of almost every modern nation, have suffered to some extent from the growth of highway transportation. The general use of privately owned motor cars, and an increasing amount of pleasure travel in prosperous times, have led to the construction of a great network of modern highways, which in turn have been used as the right of way for a great number of freight vehicles. To a great extent the operations of these vehicles and their policy in acquiring their charges, have not been subjected to the same close supervision which public authorities have long given to railway operations and tariffs. In this case also public opinion is pressing for better handling of the situation. The railways do not question the advisability of building good roads, or of permitting them to be used for commercial transport, but the perpetuation of the present attempts to proper control of this operation will, in my opinion, return to the railways at least some of the business taken from them by highway transport and place both highway and rail transportation on a sound basis.

It is also interesting to note a growing public sentiment in the direction of demanding some contribution to the upkeep of our great and costly inland waterway system from those who use them, especially in the case of ships of foreign registry. With every correction of these special cases of unfair competition, the Company must depend chiefly for a restoration of its normal business on a recovery of Canadian prosperity in general. The outlook in that respect is comforting. The very careful studies prepared by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics indicate a condition far from as alarmingly as some authorities would make it. In this great and sparsely populated country we should not, however, be talking only of recovery. Canada should look forward to expansion in every direction. To my mind the policies needed to insure this are very simple. I should like them as scrupulous care to prevent the debts of public bodies, and resulting destructive taxation from any further increase in concentration of efforts both in public policy and private business on the increase both in volume and prosperity of our primary industries, especially agriculture; public and private business policies looking to increase the production of Canada—especially in the agricultural areas; and, as I have repeatedly said, an immediate correction of the barge and canal duplication of transportation facilities.

It appears to me that we can look back on 1934 with some contentment, as a year during which we found that the world was not ending, and that by industry and thrift nations and individuals could still prosper. What interesting and hopeful is that we can look forward to 1935 and successive years with confidence that under Providence we shall see in them a period when Canada will revive that faith in her future which too many of us seemed to lose, and that we shall again come to realize that all that is wanted to set this country on a forward path of progress are such simple things as energy, honesty, and ordinary common sense.

Two table-top pictures. At left, is a tiny cork-and-paper ship given a "Flemish Dutchman" aspect by placing it on a pane of glass and shooting from underneath. Above, a circus scene made with familiar dolls and toys.

ONE of the most interesting of deep distance, as in a miniature landscape set-up, place various figures (trees, houses, fences, etc.) in receding planes. The focus will become less exact as the distance from the camera increases. A piece of dark cardboard, cut with an irregular edge, laid across the back of the set, will make a range of distant hills. And a big piece of light cardboard, set up well back of the rest of the set-up, gives you a good "sky".

Remember that the camera's outlook is wedge-shaped—narrower close to the lens and widening out as it goes into the distance. The greatest fun in this work is playing with light. Sometimes a single strong flood of light will give you what you want. Again, you may want one figure to stand out brilliantly, with everything else subdued. To do this, you will have to block off most of the light with cardboard, books, or whatever you need.

You'll get your best effects by working with the lens at its smallest opening—allow plenty of time—anywhere from ten seconds to a minute or two, depending on the amount of light.

Too, don't forget that most films register blue as white, and red as black or dark gray. A white figure against a blue background will tend to be lost; similarly, a red figure will not stand out against a dark background.

It's fascinating business, all in all, and will repay you well for your patience and ingenuity.
JOHN VAN GUILDER.

keeping fit. At regular periods, go to your family doctor and have him examine you. He will find out when all, if the various parts of your body are working properly, and if they are not, he will prescribe whatever treatment is required to set matters right. Is this not a better plan than waiting for the condition to become so marked as to make it apparent to you? Your doctor will consider your habits of living, and will guide you in any changes which may be necessary. You will enjoy more years of health if you make use of the periodic health examination.

Where have I been? Well, I "went to the dogs" for a couple of days. But I rather enjoyed myself at that—not half as bad as it sounds.

The occasion was the annual dog show of the Los Angeles Kennel Club which was held in the auditorium of the Ambassador Hotel, recently. One thousand and ten high class dogs on display and not a flea in the pack. Nearly every breed of "purr" was represented from the tiny pocket size black and tan to the huge St. Bernards and Doberman Pinschers. All of the bluest blood and perfect pedigree.

The honor of being the best dog in the show and the winner of the biggest cup of all and the bluest and richest ribbon on the board went to a pompous and snooty little Pekinese, "Cherub of Theliden," by name, who boasts of a string of royal ancestors equal to that of a Chinese emperor.

The second prize went to a perky little white haired fox terrier, of the "wire" variety, named "Keen Lady," leading a pack of sixty contestants.

These two little dogs ran away with the principal prizes, while the rest of the dogs, including the bow-legged heavy jawed British bulldogs, little pug-nosed Boston and French bulls, smiling St. Bernards and frowning chows, slim greyhounds, whippets and ferocious looking Russian wolf hounds, fuzzy little pomeranians and long drawn out dachshunds, short-legged shaggy and much bewhiskered Scotties, tall, fierce looking Dobermans, beautiful English and Irish setters, pointers and spaniels, intelligent looking Scotch collies and English sheep dogs, furry Eskimos and hairless Chihuahuas—all had to be content with whatever ribbons they could win as leaders of their particular breed.

"Some show" it was and as before mentioned not a flea in the pack.

The annual cat show and the horse show are coming attractions to be put on at the Ambassador auditorium this winter. Otherwise business at the famous old hotel seems to be rather slow. Patrons willing to pay $12 per day for a room and $40 per day for an apartment have been rather scarce in the last three years. Result—reversibility and re-organization, with rates probably reduced to a reasonable figure. The travelling public is said to be still price conscious.

Perhaps some of you may have picked up on your radio music from the Ambassador Coconut Grove Orchestra, said to be one of the finest in the country. The "Grove" which is an indoor cabaret, is a favorite meeting place for movie stars and others who have more money than is good for them. No trouble to get rid of it at the Ambassador.

A couple of weeks ago I drove over to Los Angeles Harbor to meet the Dollar Line ship, "President Polk," expecting to meet a young man from Weymouth, but was disappointed. He was not on the ship. While waiting the ship's arrival was introduced by a friend in the Customs service to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Laughton, who were there to meet their old friend. Dr. Dyson, who started laughing on his career as an actor in amateur theatricals in the English village of Pickering, back in 1923. I was certainly amazed to see that this young looking man was the same person who played King Henry the Eighth in the picture of that name, and also the pompous old party in "The Barrets of Wimpole Street." Great is the art of "make-up" man in the movie studios. The things that he can do for an actor are astonishing indeed.

Los Angeles Harbor—which flows through the towns of San Pedro and Wilmington—is a busy place, and compared with San Francisco seems to have the lead as far as freight and passenger traffic is concerned. San Francisco Harbor of course is a magnificent natural harbor where hundreds of ships of all sizes may dock or anchor in perfect safety.

Los Angeles outer harbor which is merely an anchorage, is a pretty rough spot in bad weather; the inner harbor, where most of the docks are located, is narrow and scarcely room enough for any of the liners to turn without the aid of tugs. It is plenty deep, however, for Uncle Sam did a good job of dredging. When I came to Los Angeles in 1905 the harbor wasn't much more than a creek, up which a few coastwise steamers and lumber boats found their way to a few rickety old wharves. But today ships from all the world come here to load and unload cargo of all kinds, at over two hundred berths.

Much of the citrus fruit—oranges and lemons—which used to move by rail in refrigerator cars, is now hauled to the port on trucks for shipment on steamers equipped with cooling systems and cold storage.

Having settled the strike of Longshoremen at the port, Los Angeles now has a strike of street car and bus men on its hands. So far interruption of service on car lines and bus lines has been hardly noticeable. A few cars have been overturned by the strikers but no one has been injured. Police have been active with tear gas, which seems to do the work in dispersing the mob. So far police have had little use for their night sticks with which they have recently been supplied.

Most of the strikers are young men who have been carried away by the oratory of the radicals within their organizations. They feel that if they lose the county will feed them any way. The older men realize that this is no time to strike and that most of the motormen and conductors are earning more per month than ninety per cent of the passengers who ride the cars. Car men earn from one hundred and ten to one hundred and twenty dollars per month, while thousands of men and women working in stores and offices and have no other form of transportation except street cars, can think that they do fairly well if they get sixty to seventy-five dollars and thankful that they are not on the City and County relief rolls.

Our rains have come early this year. The hills and valleys are green and all of Southern California is looking beautiful. The orange growers are smiling, for the rains have helped their orchards. The crop will be large this winter. The fruit is plump and juicy and perhaps the price will be fairly good. Shipments from some districts have been going forward in good volume—4,039 cars oranges and 801 cars of lemons since November 1st—but oranges will not be at their best until the middle of January. They will be ripe, juicy and sweet.

How would you like a mess of sculpin (known in Digby as "horny dogs") for a fish dinner? Today I saw some of those things in the window of a down town restaurant specializing in sea foods. Some people say they are good—but, excuse me, please, I'll take a small slice of swordfish instead.

On Thanksgiving day I attended a reunion of the Journey family in California, at San Bernardino—descendants of George Journey, of Weymouth.

Journey is a name that one does not often find in telephone and city directories after leaving Nova Scotia.

FUNERAL SERVICE

C. C. NICHOLL—Weymouth, N.S.

After two years' study of the proper equipment necessary for Digby Co. roads, we have modelled a Funeral Car that is adaptable to our roads at all times, practically similar to the cars used in the larger cities of the United States and Canada, demanding instant recognition and traffic rights as a Funeral Car.

Our Equipment is valued today at seven times its value, eleven years ago, proving our continual growth. We are constantly adding new equipment as it demonstrates its value to the public.

We employ no agents, entirely soliciting patronage by the merits of our service. Prices are kept down to the minimum and our service the best, with transportation easily possible to and from any point in Nova Scotia.

Father Melanson officiating. The pall bearers were Dennis and Irvin Boudreau, Samuel White and Melvin Saulnier.

The Weather

At this time of the year the weather usually gives us something to write about. A heavy fall of snow over the week end, in addition to a strong wind which "cut loose" late New Year's afternoon, accompanied by rain and snow, raised particular ??? in these parts, and gave the New Year rather a bad start.

Due to snow blocked roads the Digby Neck bus did not arrive with the mail from the Islands and Neck, below Sandy Cove, until 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon—seven hours late. Another section of the mail left Sandy Cove by horse and sleigh early in the morning, and did not arrive at the Digby post office until some time after the bus.

Telephone and hydro lines were disrupted for some time. There was no telephone communication with the Islands on Wednesday. Hydro failed in the Digby Neck district shortly after midnight Tuesday, but the service was resumed before Wednesday night.

Clyde Denton, who has been visiting in Boston and vicinity, returned to his home in Little River yesterday.

GRACE UNITED CHURCH

The services for Sunday are as follows:—Morning service, 11:00; Evening service, 7:00.

KIWANIS NEW YEAR PARTY

A gay scene, was enacted in the dining saloon of the C. E. R. steamship Princess Helen, at Digby, Tuesday, when the members of the Digby Kiwanis Club, accompanied by their guests, celebrated New Year's day with a special luncheon. The saloon was decorated for the occasion and there were noise makers and paper hats in abundance.

The boat's chef, James Carty, and the chief steward, George Bailey, were presented with gifts of appreciation for the services they have rendered during the past year to the members of the club. Each of the ladies was presented with a box of chocolates from the club and a small bottle of perfume, with the compliments of the season, from Past President, P. W. Holdsworth.

A song fest followed the hearty meal. Then came the report of the club's activities during the year, which was read by the chairman, H. J. Campbell, who has been acting president since the club's president, E. E. Lockward, was transferred to Liverpool.

Mr. Campbell's report showed the club had accomplished a great deal during the year. A special mention was made of the Christmas Cheer committee, who through their efforts furnished Christmas dinners to twenty-five needy families in the town. In this connection special thanks were conveyed to the Town Clerk, Alfred Boden and to the Victorian Order Nurse, Mrs. Sturgeon.

Listed among the club's activities were the paying of hospital bills for a young girl suffering with a tubercular spine, who underwent treatment in the Digby General Hospital; paying of hospital bills for several tonsil operations; paying transportation to Yarmouth for school children who needed to be fitted with glasses, helping in the financing of the Boy Scout camp, the minstrel show, and sponsoring the Digby part of the Indian Carnival.

The secretary, as fines master, imposed fines on the members of the club for alleged misdemeanors. The officers for the year were then inducted as follows:—President—Rev. A. E. Gabriel, Vice-President—C. L. Bowley, Treasurer—W. R. Fillmore.

SHIPPING NOTES

Shipping in Digby has been quite brisk during the past week or so. Among the recent arrivals have been the motor vessel Baromet, Capt. Merrill Outhouse, from Triverton, with a part cargo of dried fish. At Digby she finished her cargo of 60,000 lbs. dried cod, and 700 quintals dry hake, consigned to Robin, Jones & Whitman, Halifax. The Baromet is owned by Small Brothers, Triverton.

The Gloucester fishing schooner American, Capt. Simon Theriault, (formerly of West Point) was in for shelter over Wednesday's storm, with 8,000 lbs. fresh fish. She cleared for the fishing grounds yesterday morning. There was no foundation in the rumour that the American had gotten into difficulties and lost four men off Digby.

Another Lunenburg County boat, the Elizabeth M., Capt. Archie Wentzell, Mahone Bay, has been added to the scallop fleet. The Elizabeth M. arrived last week and will drag in the local waters.

The motor boat Aquaharaz which has been tied up at the breakwater at Gilbert's Cove for some years, has been acquired by Edgar Theriault, of East Ferry, and is freighting between Triverton and Eastport, Maine. This week she cleared with 9,000 lbs. fresh haddock. This is her fourth trip and her average cargo has been in the vicinity of 10,000 lbs. fish.

The Beatrice L. has tied up for the winter at Gilbert's Cove breakwater, after making thirty-one trips with cargo since May. Most of her cargoes have been pulpwood and cordwood, shipped by B. N. Melanson, Gilbert's Cove, and consigned from Plympton and Gilbert's Cove to Maine.

The Radio III, Capt. C. L. Thurber, cleared from Freeport this week with 260,000 lbs. dried fish, consigned to Gloucester, Mass.

The Phyllis C., Capt. B. B. Crocker, was in port from Freeport this week with fresh fish for the Maritime Fish Corporation.

BAND NOTES

The year 1934 has witnessed a steady improvement in the work of the Civic Band, with no loss of enthusiasm among the players. The membership is exactly 40, with a Junior Band of 12 more. Heavy indebtedness hanging over the band at the beginning of the year has been reduced to a small amount, though needed repairs on the older instruments will be expensive. It is necessary to complete the uniforms by the purchase of 60 capes at a cost of $225 before the band can apply for out-of-town engagements at a profit. A fund for this purpose will be started when the Band is clear from other obligations.

The band repertoire now includes many difficult numbers of real merit, frequently heard over the radio, played by the great bands of the country. At the coming concert you will hear the weird and lovely waltz "Moonlight on the Nile," and a dramatic overture, "The Fall of Jericho." The trombones will "jazz it" with Jewell's "Lawdy Mussy," and the big tubas will render a love song—a deep blue serenade—"The Octopus and the Mermaid." You will hear the band play, and sing, something of the "hill-billy" sort, but probably the most interesting numbers will be the choruses, and the charming dances by Miss Frances McNutt and Marjorie Holdsworth.

Miss Bernice Rosp is spending a few days in Annapolis Royal, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Rice.

Warne Building Burned to Ground; Damage Estimated at $50,000; No Lives Lost

Digby's largest business block, the Warne Block, was levelled Sunday morning in the most disastrous and most spectacular fire Digby has had in many years. The loss is estimated in excess of $50,000; the building itself, owned by H. T. Warne, was valued at $20,000, partly covered by insurance.

Other losers were the tenants who occupied this finely built three-storey structure, namely:

On the Ground Floor

Frank L. Anderson's grocery and meat market—an M. M. A. store—one of the most up-to-date stores in the county; lost from $6,000 to $10,000—partly covered by insurance.

The office of the Canadian National Telegraphs. Value of instruments and office furniture unknown, but probably not much less than $1,000.

The reception room and offices of Dr. W. R. Dickie. A few items were saved from this office. Among them was the X-Ray machine, which, however, the salvagers were forced to drop just as they reached the street, when a terrific blast caused by accumulated smoke and gas, blew out the large plate glass window of the Digby County Power Board's show room. Dr. Dickie estimates his loss at $3,000. No insurance.

The office and stock room of the Digby County Power Board, well stocked with household electrical appliances. Loss from $3,000 to $5,000; some insurance.

Second Floor

The Dutchland Dance Hall, with piano (the property of A. J. Dillon), and other equipment.

The Ladies Aid of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church, who have been carrying on a series of card parties to raise money for the new church, in the Dutchland (which, by the way, is better known to many as the old Masonic Hall, having been for years the home of King Solomon Lodge). The ladies had just purchased new tables, chairs, dishes, at a cost of over $300, and they had, we are informed, been only used once.

The dental office and reception room of Dr. G. V. Turnbull. Loss, $2,500; some insurance.

Reception room and office of Dr. John R. McCleave. Loss, $1,500; no insurance.

Third Floor

Tenement occupied by Wilbur Parker. Contents destroyed; no insurance.

The Parker family made their escape to the snow covered street with only minutes to spare. Mrs. Parker and her four children, ranging in age from seven to three years, and their maid, were clad in their night clothing and hadn't even time to gather shoes or stockings. About four o'clock Sunday morning Mrs. Parker woke and found Mr. Parker she smelled smoke. Thinking it was merely the furnace smoking they were not alarmed. Mr. Parker put on a few articles of clothing and started for the basement to report to the janitor, Edmund Thibault, who a few minutes before, was awakened by the crackling of burning wood. Finding no sign of fire in the basement he went out on the street to investigate. He was there when Parker found him, and the two located the fire under the stairway leading to the second floor. Thibault went at once to give the alarm while Parker rushed up to the third floor to get his family out. A few minutes after they reached the street the fire broke through the stairway, and within twenty minutes the building was a furnace.

Firemen for some time protected themselves from the broiling heat with water soaked blankets covering their faces, taking their directions from those farther away from the blaze and who were able to see. Thus they were able to concentrate their efforts to protect the store of B. H. Ruggles, separated from the burning structure by only a twelve-foot driveway. By saving this building and confining the blaze to the Warne Block, there is little doubt but what the greater part of the town was saved.

Too much praise cannot be given the firemen for their efforts on Sunday morning, for it was only through their heroism, coupled with the efficiency of the new pumper purchased by the town a little more than a month ago, that Digby was saved a fire loss that would have run into many thousands of dollars.

The intense heat cracked every plate glass window in the large dry goods store of O. Wright; the plate glass window in the Buxite Store and every plate glass window in the Royal Department Store. These buildings were almost directly opposite the Warne Block. The firemen set fire to the roof of the Waverly Hotel, some 200 yards distant; to the roofs of the Red Indian Service Station, the Royal Department Store, the Digby Garage and MacDonald Motors.

Contents of nearby buildings removed their furnishings. Everything was taken out of Mr. Ruggles' apartment above his store, except the kitchen range and piano; all furnishings and stock were removed from the store. In checking over his goods, as they were returned, Mr. Ruggles has not missed five cents' worth, and the damage to his furniture amounted to but a few slight scratches, of little consequence. The furniture was also removed from the tenement of Robert Marshall and Russell Shortliffe, over the Showette store; the tenement of Freeman Wapshott, in the MacMullen Block and from the C. P. R. telegraph office, on the ground floor of the MacMullen Block.

With the exception of the Anderson store, the business and professional tenants of the Warne Block or now occupying temporary quarters. The C. N. R. Telegraph was open for business at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, in the Digby Garage; the Digby County Power Board has its offices in the Court House; Drs. McCleave, Dickie and Turnbull have taken quarters in the Shreve Block.

In addition to those referred to others to meet with losses were H. H. Marshall, a radio; Miss Lillian Winchester, manager of the C. N. R. Telegraph office, personal property valued at $300; Edmund Thibault, janitor, clothing, tools, etc.; Gordon Ellis, manager of the Anderson store, a quantity of personal belongings.

The Annual Meeting of the V. O. N. will be held in the Court House tonight at 8 o'clock.

Local and Personal

Mr. Wm. Caldwell, of Yarmouth, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Wm. Turnbull, returned home Saturday.

Dancing tonight at Dunn's Ball room, "Silver Kings" playing. Miss Dorothy Dunn returned to Yarmouth Tuesday after spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dunn.

IRIS, RASPBERRY, MOULIN—New Colors in Millinery, at the Hat Shoppe—Gertrude Oliver.

Tonight St. George Lodge and Zelma Rebekah Lodge, I. O. O. F. will hold a joint installation of officers. A large attendance is expected.

The Ladies of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Guild will hold their weekly Card Party on Wednesday, January 16, in the Court House. Door prize. Bargains at Miss Chisholm's—Hats, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50.

Miss Dorothy Westhaver, of Clements, who has been visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Westhaver, returned home Monday.

Bargains in Hats and Books at the Hat Shoppe and Lending Library—Gertrude Oliver.

Commander G. R. Parry, D. R. N. R., of the Duchess of York, arrived in Digby last week en route to Saint John to join his ship. While here he was the guest of his cousin, S. M. Raymond, and Mrs. Raymond.

Commander Parry intended sailing on Sunday for Grenada, Belfast, Liverpool and London.

A sensation was created at this first session when nine poll tax delinquents from Tiverton and Centerville were brought before the council and questioned. Four of the nine, being property holders, were allowed their freedom; four more were lodged in jail for an indefinite period and another allowed to go on account of poor health.

H. A. Nichols was again appointed solicitor. Committees of the council appointed were as follows:—

Assessment—The Whole Council. Roads and Bridges—The Whole Council.

Finances and Public Accounts—Couns. Chisholm, S. E. Woodman, Dunn, Kenney and Cornwall.

Poor and Harmless Insane—Couns. Wm. Woodman, Hill, Cossaboom and Outhouse.

Hydro—Couns. Wm. Woodman, Kenney and S. E. Woodman.

Finances in Healthy Condition

The Auditor's report showed the finances in a healthy condition. Tax collections during the past year had shown a marked increase over 1933, being in excess of $11,000 over that year. General collections (including taxes) were $14,259 better than in 1933.

Drs. E. A. Ferguson, W. C. Harris and H. J. Molanson, physicians to the Alms House, the jail and county health officer, presented their reports which showed the general health in the institutions and in the municipality to be good.

H. B. Campbell, of the Canadian Institute for the Adult Blind, appeared before the council requesting a grant, stating that the Institute was giving aid to fifteen adult blind women in the Municipality of Digby. The matter was left to be dealt with later.

Contents of nearby buildings removed their furnishings. Everything was taken out of Mr. Ruggles' apartment above his store, except the kitchen range and piano; all furnishings and stock were removed from the store. In checking over his goods, as they were returned, Mr. Ruggles has not missed five cents' worth, and the damage to his furniture amounted to but a few slight scratches, of little consequence. The furniture was also removed from the tenement of Robert Marshall and Russell Shortliffe, over the Showette store; the tenement of Freeman Wapshott, in the MacMullen Block and from the C. P. R. telegraph office, on the ground floor of the MacMullen Block.

With the exception of the Anderson store, the business and professional tenants of the Warne Block or now occupying temporary quarters. The C. N. R. Telegraph was open for business at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, in the Digby Garage; the Digby County Power Board has its offices in the Court House; Drs. McCleave, Dickie and Turnbull have taken quarters in the Shreve Block.

In addition to those referred to others to meet with losses were H. H. Marshall, a radio; Miss Lillian Winchester, manager of the C. N. R. Telegraph office, personal property valued at $300; Edmund Thibault, janitor, clothing, tools, etc.; Gordon Ellis, manager of the Anderson store, a quantity of personal belongings.

The Annual Meeting of the V. O. N. will be held in the Court House tonight at 8 o'clock.

Municipal Council in Session

The new Digby Municipal Council met, at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the Court House, for their first session since they were elected to office. Those present were: J. Vian Andrews, E. F. Hankinson, Amos Hill, S. E. Woodman, William Woodman, Guy D. Dunn, Clarence Cornwell, Blanchard Morrell, D. B. Kenney, H. W. Cossaboom, and Vincent Chisholm. D. C. Outhouse was the only absentee.

After the swearing in of the council by the Municipal Clerk, Margaret Stewart, J. Vian Andrews, of North Range, was unanimously elected warden of the Municipality; E. F. Hankinson was elected Deputy Warden.

In his address the warden welcomed the new councillors. He felt that there had been a decided improvement in municipal affairs. There had been an improvement in the collection of taxes over the past year and collections were 20 per cent better; however, the bank overdraft was still high and there were many heavy bills to be paid, yet, he said, had each man met his obligation to society by paying his taxes, the municipality would today have a surplus, and the tax rate for this year would have been reduced.

A sensation was created at this first session when nine poll tax delinquents from Tiverton and Centerville were brought before the council and questioned. Four of the nine, being property holders, were allowed their freedom; four more were lodged in jail for an indefinite period and another allowed to go on account of poor health.

H. A. Nichols was again appointed solicitor. Committees of the council appointed were as follows:—

Assessment—The Whole Council. Roads and Bridges—The Whole Council.

Finances and Public Accounts—Couns. Chisholm, S. E. Woodman, Dunn, Kenney and Cornwall.

Poor and Harmless Insane—Couns. Wm. Woodman, Hill, Cossaboom and Outhouse.

Tenders and Public Property—Couns. Hankinson and Chisholm.

License—Couns. Hill and S. E. Woodman.

Insane—Couns. Morrell and Wm. Woodman.

Arbitration—Couns. Chisholm, Morrell, S. E. Woodman.

Revisors Jury Lists—Couns. Wm. Woodman and Cossaboom.

Hydro—Couns. Wm. Woodman, Kenney and S. E. Woodman.

Byelaws—Couns. Outhouse, Dunn, and Cornwall.

Finances in Healthy Condition

The Auditor's report showed the finances in a healthy condition. Tax collections during the past year had shown a marked increase over 1933, being in excess of $11,000 over that year. General collections (including taxes) were $14,259 better than in 1933.

Drs. E. A. Ferguson, W. C. Harris and H. J. Molanson, physicians to the Alms House, the jail and county health officer, presented their reports which showed the general health in the institutions and in the municipality to be good.

H. B. Campbell, of the Canadian Institute for the Adult Blind, appeared before the council requesting a grant, stating that the Institute was giving aid to fifteen adult blind women in the Municipality of Digby. The matter was left to be dealt with later.

Here and There

A further concession to the travelling public is announced by C. P. R. Riddell, Chairman, Canadian Passenger Association, in the statement that a future one-month round trip railway tickets previously good for continuous travel only, will now be valid for stop-over at intermediate points and for a limited number of days.

For many years Canadian railways have been selling one-month round trip tickets at twice the one-way fare, less ten per cent, good for continuous passage only. Now, the stop-over privilege in fare and passengers' sleeping en route to stop over, may do so on application to the railway officials, will do much to further promote travel by rail in Canada.

W. E. Allison, manager of mail and baggage traffic, Canadian Pacific Railway, has been elected Vice-president of the American Association of General Baggage Agents, comprising representatives of all the railways on this continent.

H. C. Groat, general superintendent, Ontario district, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has been promoted to the post of assistant to the vice-president with headquarters in Montreal. Mr. Groat is a well-known and popular official of the railway in Ontario, where he has been stationed for a number of years.

Figures issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics dealing with operations in August of all steam railways in Canada having annual gross revenue of at least $500,000, reveal that higher gross earnings were offset by increased expenses, including an expansion of over $500,000 in payrolls.

Mrs. A. A. Adams, of Oak Bay Mills, Que., has been awarded first prize in the most beautiful couple contest conducted this year by the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways.

Over 10,000 couples were submitted. The largest leaf phase of the contest was won by Richard and Barbara of Vancouver, who submitted a photograph with an area of 226 1/2 inches.

Five hundred school-age boys and girls of Montreal recently took advantage of the unique all-expense trip operated by the Canadian Pacific Railway from that city to Ottawa and were addressed in the Parliament Buildings by Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada. Sight-seeing auto-bus trips across Ottawa included inspection of the House of Parliament, the Memorial Tower and Hall of Fame, and a special recital of the 52 bells of the famous Carillon Tower.

Bob Murray, Quebec's No. 1 tennis player, and third world, second ranking provincial player, were singled out for praise by "The Bill" Tilden, who arrived recently by the Empress of Britain for England. "They are championship players in the making," said the one-time world champion.

Five cruises in one way made this winter on the Empress of Australia sailing from New York January 12. The cruise, the Mediterranean Cruise, the East African, South African, South American and West Indian. There is a full week in Egypt, numerous stops on the east coast of Africa, 12 full days ashore in the Union of South Africa, four stops in South America and return via Trinidad, Jamaica and Cuba.

Leading a baseball tour of the Orient and interviewed aboard the Empress of Japan en route to Tokyo, Coach "Mac" manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, said it was his ambition to continue his tour tonight. "I have passed up a night in London," he said, "and I am not going to let it go."

Heavy Rainstorm Cause Damages

It will be some time before an estimate can be given of the extent of the damage caused by yesterday's rainfall in Digby county. The rain fell, without exception, the heaviest since the town of August 24, 1928. In every section of the county roads have been gullied out, cellars and basements flooded, streams and rivers breaking their bounds, and bridges being weakened, although at 6 o'clock last night we had not heard of any being carried away.

In the town practically every basement in the business section on the west side of Water Street has more or less water in it, some almost to the first floor. Furnace fires have been extinguished by the floods of water, articles, tools in basements ruined, lawns and tennis courts have suffered extensive damage. The railroad track, running to the government pier is undermined. Further damage to the highway is reported from the section of the town near the Racquette.

Large drains, usually able to carry off the excess water, could not carry backed up from the sewerage line it away fast enough yesterday.

About 5 o'clock yesterday so great had been the damage for a number of streets that traffic was stopped on several of them and cars had to detour.

Look out for our Big Fire Sale Announcement next week—R. H. Ruggles.

Keith Potter, who has been visiting his home in Plympton during the holidays, has returned to resume his studies at Acadia University.

Digby schools re-opened on Monday.

Now is the time to buy Rainettes for Women, Girls and Children. We are also featuring the Women's Cuban Heeled Brown or Black, first quality, at $1.28—Dillon's Shoe Store.

Douglas H. Moses, of Ohio, who has been spending the past two weeks with his uncle, Rev. P. M. Hamilton, in Saint John, returned home Friday last.

Notice

We, the undersigned, wish to inform the public that we have opened offices in the Shreve Block, Water Street, Digby, and are practicing our professions as usual.

We wish also, at this time, to express our appreciation of the Digby Fire Department for their heroic efforts Sunday morning last. We realize that nothing could have been done to save the equipment in the Warne Block, but we are well aware that it was only through the splendid work of the Digby Fire Department that the blaze was confined to the one block; and that a large section of the town was spared the same fate.

DIGBY NOVA SCOTIA

An Appreciation

I want to take this opportunity of speaking to the firemen. Not having the privilege of being on the street and seeing the citizens of the town as often as I used to, I fear I might not come in contact with each one personally. This is my medium of expressing our appreciation of the heroic efforts put forth to save the Warne Block, thereby making it possible for no further fire to take place. The various insurance companies have been represented by their adjusters. Amongst the number was one older gentleman I have known for a great many years. He thought it was the most spectacular fire he had ever come in contact with. Never before had he been called in question to adjust a loss where a building so large had burned and no other adjoining buildings. This must have been entirely due to the firemen of the town and the new equipment they handled with such wonderful success. In again expressing our appreciation to the firemen, I hope it will be possible to render some assistance to the upkeep of their organization in some more tangible way.

GOOD WORK

Sunday morning's fire was certainly a test for the new equipment—and it fully justified itself. Without the new pumper the story of Sunday's fire would have been vastly different. There was considerable opposition in some quarters against its purchase, and even this week we have heard one of two men saying that the fire could have been handled just as well without it but that fair-minded person who saw the fire all through, must have been impressed with the excellent work, both of the men and the machine. We have a department to be proud of—let's back them up.

There is one other improvement we would like to see, and that is a better alarm system. It is safe to say that not fifty per cent of the people in town knew that there had been a fire until later in the day. The present siren is too much housed in, and the alarm is not sounded enough. It is the general custom with automatic systems at least, to sound the number of the box or section, "three times three times", that is nine times in all, for a single alarm. We seem to be satisfied with sounding the number once for each alarm—not enough to arouse the members of the corps who live some distance away from the centre of the town. Even if the number of the district were only sounded three times for each alarm it would help—and that can be done by an order from the department.

KIWANIS AND PROHIBITION

In many of the places where the experiment of prohibition was tried, it has been modified, says the current number of the Kiwanis Magazine. In most of the territory in which Kiwanis functions, prohibition laws have been repealed. But the laws of good taste have never been repealed and never will be.

The Kiwanis Magazine has no quarrel with any man about his drinking habits. This is a matter which must be settled between the man and his stomach. But the man who takes a high ball or a cocktail before dinner will be the first to join us in the belief that liquor has no place in Kiwanis, anywhere, any time. Before, during and since the prohibition experiment, Kiwanis has been particularly free from the misuse of intoxicating liquors at its functions. Many organizations of a social and fraternal nature have had difficulty coping with members who have had taste enough to bring disgrace on the group as a whole by their overindulgence.

Here and there, at inter-club meetings and district conventions, host clubs with mistaken good humor and a mistaken sense of hospitality, have made the error of having a more or less well known room in a hotel where the bibulously inclined can have a drink. If every man in the organization drank with good taste, this would perhaps not be objectionable to the majority of Kiwanians. But when a man is indiscreet and overindulges, it offends even those who take an occasional drink.

With parties after convention hours, silly exhibitions of inability to control one's appetite late singing parties in hotel rooms, and other performances which unfortunately characterize some organizations, certainly have no place in Kiwanis gatherings. Better that no man have a drink than that the few who are lacking in good taste and self-control, should have too much.

Now that prohibition has been abolished and any man can go up to the bar and buy a glass of

REMAINS CARRIED BY SEA TO NATIVE SHORE

There have been some strange happenings which have been recorded from time to time and one such had to do with the hurricane which resulted in the Johnstown flood, where 3,000 persons were drowned, and a material loss of $20,000,000 incurred. The incidents, states the tourist department of the C. N. R., were 2,000 miles apart, taking in Galveston, Texas, at one end of the narrative, and Prince Edward Island at the other. On September 8, 1901, a West Indian hurricane commenced which blew steadily for eighteen hours and reached a velocity of at least 135 miles per hour. The waters of the Gulf of Mexico rose in enormous waves that swept across Galveston, Texas, and resulted in the worst catastrophe in the history of the United States included in which was the Johnstown flood. Lyne peacefully in the cemetery at Galveston were the mortal remains of an emigrated Prince Edward Islander. The surging waves forced the coffin from its grave, washed it out to sea, and caught in the Gulf Stream, was carried to the shores of Prince Edward Island, where, upon examination, it was found the coffin bore a name plate identifying the remains as those of Charles Francis Coughlan, a native of Prince Edward Island, where they at last found a resting place.

An item from Bethlehem, dated Dec. 24, reads as follows:—"Thousands of pilgrims, white and black, and representing a score of denominations, poured into this little town in the Palestine hills today to observe the birth, nearly 2,000 years ago of Jesus Christ. Many of these modern pilgrims came by automobile over the broad highway from Jerusalem, only eight miles away. It is a smoother and straighter road and the conveyances many times faster than those that were known in Herod's reign, when the woman of distant Nazareth and her carpenter-husband trudged to this little market town."

HEALTH

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

LIFE BEGINS

Thanks to an interesting book and a popular musical play, the phrase "life begins" has taken on a new meaning. A previous generation used to refer to those who were dead but did not know they were.

Despite the change in meaning of phrases and expressions, the human body in its development continues to follow along well-established lines. No matter at what age you may consider life begins, the development of your teeth began at least six months before the day of your birth.

After all, the important question is "What happens?" rather than "When did something begin?" It is of no particular value for us to know that, although most babies are born without any visible signs of teeth yet the teeth are well under way even if they are hidden. This information, however, is of no particular value unless we make use of it.

Actually, from the point of view of dental health, this is the most important idea for us to get hold of. The soundness of our teeth depends upon the food we eat during that period when the structure of the teeth is being laid down. The diet of the expectant mother determines the kind of teeth baby will have for his first set. What baby has to eat and what he continues to eat during the early years of life is the deciding factor as to the kind of teeth he will have and how long they will last.

Nothing is of more interest to the family than baby's first tooth. Few things should be of as much interest as the loss of the first permanent tooth. It is unfortunate that lack of reasonable care in eating the right kinds of food, neglect of cleaning and delay in securing dental care lead to so much dental disease, but this is so. It is not suggested that anyone should have to eat with his mind fixed on his teeth alone. The teeth are a part of the body and so they are affected, for good or ill, by those things which make or mar the health of the body. Food that is good for the whole body is good for the teeth. Milk, fruits, green leafy vegetables, egg-yolk and cod liver oil are the foods which the growing child needs in abundance.

The teeth should be kept clean. The most important time to brush the teeth is before going to bed, and it is only one way to arrest it and that is through proper dental treatment. Better still, do not wait until you know there is decay; have your teeth examined regularly.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

C. C. NICHOLL—Weymouth, N.S.

After two years' study of the proper equipment necessary for Digby Co. roads, we have modeled a Funeral Car that is adaptable to our roads at all times, practically similar to the cars used in the larger cities of United States and Canada, demanding instant recognition and traffic rights as a Funeral Car.

Our Equipment is valued today at seven times its original cost, eleven years ago, proving our continual growth. We are constantly adding new equipment as it demonstrates its value to the public.

We employ no agents, entirely soliciting patronage by the merits of our service. Prices are kept down to the minimum and our service best, with transportation easily possible to and from any point in Nova Scotia.

Gives Good Advice to Young Mothers

New Brunswick Lady Used Dodd's Kidney Pills

Mrs. W. C. Brown Advises All Mothers to Give Them a Trial.

Cumberland Bay, N. B., Jan. 11 (Special).—"For the last three years I have been troubled with a weak back and occasional headaches," writes Mrs. W. C. Brown, who lives at this place. "I purchased two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and had wonderful results. My headaches left me and I soon felt strong and well. The duties of a housewife are many, and especially where there are children, one needs to be well and strong and give them the care and attention they require. So I would advise all young mothers who suffer from weak kidneys to give Dodd's Kidney Pills a place in their medicine chest."

Thousands of people suffering from various forms of Kidney complaint such as Backache, Rheumatism, Lumbago and Bladder Trouble, have found Dodd's Kidney Pills the best medicine. Ask your friends about Dodd's.

Broke Her Leg Against a Stair

Whilst Hampered by Rheumatism

"Two years ago," writes a woman, "I was suffering with rheumatism in my legs, and when walking up stairs one day just kicked my right foot against the stairs, and broke my leg just below the knee. I was in hospital for about four months, and when I came out someone advised me to try Kruschen Salts. I did so, and now I have no trace of rheumatism. I would not be without my daily dose of Kruschen, which I take every morning—half a teaspoonful in warm water."—Mrs. P.B.

The six salts in Kruschen stimulate the liver and kidneys to healthy, regular action; assist them to get rid of the excess uric acid which is the cause of rheumatic pains. When poisonous uric acid goes—with its deposits of needle-pointed crystals—there's no doubt about those aches and pains going too!

THE VOICE OF THE LEGION

The regular meeting of the Canadian Legion, Branch 22, was held at the "Dug-Out" on Friday last. Unfortunately it was not a case of "all present and correct" as there was a goodly number of the old soldiers "absent on parade". We do miss the assistance of our friend, the gentle sergeant-major, who so kindly took the responsibility of making up our minds in those better (?) days. The Legion appeals to the O. C. of the various homes to kick the "lead swingers" out of the domestic "funkhole" and see that they do their duty.

Those who answered "present" carried on with the regular business. In relation to the League of Nations. The October number of the "Interdependence," the League of Nations Society in Canada Quarterly Journal was the basis of the study with particular attention given to an address by J. W. Dafe. This address entitled, "The World Outlook," was delivered in the presence of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, at Winnipeg, Sept. 12, 1934.

In his opening paragraph he makes this statement: "We are ourselves in the very vortex of world movements, subject to their shocks and to the influence by which they are affected. We may make the wisest plans for domestic recovery and reform; but at the first sound of the war trumpet they will collapse. The state of the world is the controlling factor in all our planning; and should be our first concern." Near the end of his address he makes this statement: "Lip service has always been paid to the idea of peace by collective action. It is now more discussed than ever and as it seems, with at last some measure of sincerity. Even Canadians are beginning to talk about it and their duties thereto; are beginning to understand that if there is another world war we shall inevitably be involved."

We, the members of the Canadian Legion, Branch 22, believe that the sacrifice of our comrades will have been in vain if such a catastrophe as the last war is permitted through ignorance or indifference; therefore The Voice of the Legion, Branch 22, Bear River, appeals to all who read this to become informed on these matters through the facilities of the literature of the League of Nations Society in Canada, or through any other reliable source of information.

As previously reported the plastering repairs have all been done by the members of the Troop, and there has been no outside help on either the kalsomining or painting. Light grey kalsomine has been used on the walls and apple green for the paint trimmings. All that remains to be done now is to decorate the individual "corners".

The amount realized by the ladies was $65.

Mrs. E. E. Taylor and son, Jeremy, of Grand Pre, were guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kellam. Mrs. Taylor, a daughter of the late L. M. Fortier, superintendent of Fort Anne Park for many years, formerly resided here at "The Gables," and has many friends in this vicinity.

The community was greatly shocked on Monday morning to learn of the death of the preceding night of Mrs. Frank Howe, after a few days' illness of pneumonia. PETER'S GREAT CONFESSION

Golden Text:—"And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ, the Son of the Living God."
—Matthew 16:16

Lesson Passage:—Luke 9:18-26; I Peter 2:5, 6.

"Sure, some would cry, 'tis better far
To crown the days with sleep, Than face the road, the wind, the rain."

To heed the calling deep!
Though wet, nor blow, nor space I fear.

Yet fear I deeply too, Lest death should greet and claim me ere

Crowd Thinking, 18, 19

Democracy can count heads but cannot weigh them. A majority vote records the wishes of the voters, but it does not decide the right or the wrong of an issue. It sometimes happens that after events reveal that the majority was wrong and the minority was right. If, at the time of this Caesarea-Philippi incident, a popular verdict would have been taken in Galilee or Judea concerning Jesus, the popular verdict would have been inaccurate. They would have said that Jesus was John the Baptist, or Elijah or Jeremiah. They would have been right in recognizing in Jesus a man of force and insight comparable to Old Testament prophets, but they would not have been able to state why he was greater than any of the heroes of his race. Jesus on several occasions was in danger from crowds that became mobs, but he never ceased to be interested in the opinions of the man on the street. Faulty judgments merely showed the need for further educational work. And always Jesus was more concerned to take a few thoroughly than to win a hurried and superficial assent from the crowd.

An Early Creed, 20

The disciple band, having been in the immediate company of Jesus for several months, were in a position to give a considered judgment concerning their Master. They had heard his words, seen him at work and at rest and had begun to understand his purposes. It was by their decision that the work of Christ would stand or fall. Hearing the conflicting views of the crowd he asked them pointedly, "Whom say ye that I am?" There was no dodging a question so clear and direct. In time all the disciples might have given the same answer, but Peter took the words out of their mouths and answered for them all. "The Christ of God." The words Messiah and Christ both mean the same, signifying "The Anointed One." It was a name rich in content for the disciples because it summed up the long cherished racial and religious hopes of a national deliverer. The name Christ has a much richer content for us because associated with it is the life of Jesus of Nazareth and all his work for mankind throughout nineteen hundred years. Thus does history enrich the meaning of a title or a word.

The Path of Pain, 21, 22

Peter was the better for having made his confession of faith. We never fully know what we know un-

BABY'S OWN TABLETS

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Don't Let Winter Stop You

Watch your exposure and you will get pleasing pictures. The snapshot at the left, taken with a folding camera at f/8 and 1/25th of a second, is properly exposed. The one on the right simulates the effect of under-exposure from two small stop opening or too fast a shutter speed.

A LETTER received the other day opened my eyes and made me realize that sometimes we take too much for granted. A reader of this column wrote in saying she enjoyed the Snapshot Guild immensely and would be so happy when winter was over and spring arrived so that she could take more pictures again.

Here I have been taking it for granted that everybody knew that with present day film it is possible to take good pictures the year 'round—winter included. Well, if Mrs. ... thought she would have to wait till spring to take pictures, doubtless there are hundreds more of the same belief.

Believe it or not, picture taking in the winter is just as easy as in summer, opportunities as numerous and scenes just as beautiful. There is one important thing, however, to keep in mind when taking pictures in the winter—WATCH YOUR EXPOSURE! Many seem to think that because snow is white, exposures should be much shorter than in summer. This would be true if there were nothing but snow in the picture and if the light were as strong in the winter as in the summer. Neither condition exists, however. Trees, houses, buildings, animals, etc., retain their usual color, so exposures must be timed accordingly.

The old rule—expose for the shadows and let the highlights take care of themselves—is still worth following. Although objects are brightened somewhat by greater reflection from the snow, this is frequently fully offset by the lower intensity of the sunlight in the winter.

Where snow is not unduly bright, it remains a glorious mantle of white, clothing familiar scenes in new guises and lending a peculiar charm to trivial objects that fail to attract attention of other persons. With photography as the medium til we express it. "If you wish to nourish faith, speak it." It may be that the twelve disciples wished to herald their conviction far and near but Jesus counselled silence and delay because the time was not ripe for a public announcement. Instead of a career of glory he saw ahead a pathway of pain leading to death. Even at the very hour when his months of work with his disciples appeared to be rewarded, he did not dodge realities but faced the awaiting cross. What surprises us in the mind of Christ is his steadiness. In circumstances that would have elated others, he saw life steadily and saw it whole. There was need at once to correct the Messianic ideals of the disciples who may have been expectant of an earthly king, a more glorious King David. Frankly they were told that salvation would come thro' suffering and sacrifice, and in no other way. Rather must he suffer more than the average man. He was to be perfected through suffering.

Our Surrender, 23-26

Christian people have to tread the path the Master trod. The servant is not above his Lord. If Christ had to suffer, his followers need not look for a pathway of roses. Christ was very frank about this. He told his disciples and all his future followers that they must take up the cross and follow him daily. Our natural impulse is safety first, but Christian living calls for the readiness to submerge self interest. In the acquisitive society in which we live, we are tempted to be attracted by get-rich-quick schemes, but as we get older and discover the real values of life, character comes to rate higher than cash. Spiritual values are realized by surrender to God and forgetfulness of self through enjoyment of the Eternal Spirit. Once this conviction as to our life standards is attained, our fear of scorn or criticism vanishes. Christ did not hesitate to give his life for humanity and his followers can at least publicly acknowledge their allegiance to him. It is when we unreservedly commit our lives into the keeping of the Father in heaven, that we get peace and joy in our hearts.

Civilization's Corner Stone, 5, 6

We get glimpses of Peter at different stages. First, we meet him when his brother Andrew took him to meet Jesus. Then we see him called to become a fisher of men. At Caesarea Philippi we hear him making his great confession of faith. He was not ashamed to declare his allegiance both by spoken and written words. In later life he spoke of Christ as the chief corner stone. The words had Temple associations, but for us it is an illustration that suggests the central influence in nineteen centuries of history. The church, the bible and the spirit of Christ have been supreme factors in the development of civilization. In this historic process we may have a place. Peter speaks of people as living stones, building up a spiritual house. We may have an active part in the on-going process of building up the Kingdom of God on earth. We are neither silent partners nor super-numeraries; each one of us has a part to play, some specific work to do in order that the total plan may be complete.

Questions for Discussion

- 1.—What is the value of a majority vote?
- 2.—What does the title "Christ" mean to Christians?
- 3.—How was Christ a "Man of Sorrows"?
- 4.—Is the necessity for surrender the same for all?
- 5.—Why does Christ's influence endure and increase?

Governor General Frank Murphy, of the Philippine Islands, says:

"A man's job and the faithful performance of it has a freshened significance today."

"A small taste of joblessness has been in part the explanation of this return to an old idleness."

"Disillusionment is slowly recapturing the old virtues and love of duty is one of them."

"In any event it is a happy augury and will contribute no little to the general satisfaction of living."

"Work without enthusiasm for it is zestless and only he who is gripped by the thrill and enthusiasm of his labors knows the imperishable satisfaction of work well done."

"It seems to me that a man finds himself in relation to life when he so orients himself that his job, in comparison to all other life's complications, is such that he goes about it freely, giving it all the energy and direction of a healthy and vigorous spirit."

"Show me the happy worker and I will show you life's happy warrior."

CHURCH ELECTS OFFICERS

The annual meeting of the official board of Grace United Church was held in the parsonage on Friday evening last. The report of the treasurer was most favorable showing receipts for the year of $3,566.12 and expenditures of $3,081.71. Last year the church began its fiscal year with a deficit of approximately $1,000, and is still carrying a note of some $700 in a local bank. With cash on hand and money promised the church will be paid, less than $80 are needed to clear the church of debt. A special effort to raise this amount will be made, and it is hoped that when the note comes due on the 17th it will be taken up in full.

The officers elected at this meeting were:—
Stewards: A. R. Turnbull (recording secretary); R. A. Abramson (treasurer); C. E. Armstrong, A. J. Dillon, and J. Mac Wallis.

M. and M. Treasurer—H. J. Campbell.

PLEASANT SURPRISE PARTY

Mrs. C. L. Beaton was the guest of honor at a very pleasant surprise party at the home of Chief of Police and Mrs. Fred Thibault, on Monday evening, when some forty members of the congregation of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic church gathered to express their appreciation to Mrs. Beaton for the faithful service she has rendered for many years as organist of the church. The presentation of a luncheon set and a framed picture of Digby was made by Mrs. Simon Landry. The congregation had hoped that Father Murphy would make the presentation on this occasion, but on account of a sick call he was unable to attend.

Mrs. Beaton had however, since been presented with a copy of his presentation address.

Mrs. Beaton was quite taken by surprise. She had been invited to take tea at the Thibault home, and the arrival of the guests at 8 o'clock was quite unexpected.

Mr. and Mrs. Beaton and family will leave on Tuesday for LaHave to which place Mrs. Beaton has been transferred as collector.

Municipal Tax Rate Raised to $3.90 at Annual Meeting

The municipal council concluded its annual session on Saturday last. It was one of the busiest in years. The tax rate was raised from the 3.60 of last year to 3.90, an increase of 30, due largely to decrease in assessment. Grants made included $150 to the Digby General Hospital and $300 to the Children's Aid Society. A vote of thanks was extended to A. L. Robbins, Children's Aid Society's agent, for his co-operation with the council.

The report of the Digby County Power Board, submitted by H. J. Campbell, showed an improvement over 1933. During the past year over 900,000 kw hrs. were generated at the Power Board's plant, and the consumption during the year was more than 80,000 kw hrs. in excess of the Board's peak year, 1931. Revenue from power sources, however, was somewhat lower, due to the reduction in rates a few years ago. The town of Digby used about half of the output. The power board was able to show a total operating profit for the year of $1,171, after making all allowances for depreciation, providing for sinking funds, paying operating costs and debenture interest.

Revenue from the Municipal Hydro Distribution, at $18,544, an increase of $738 over 1933. Operating costs increased $347.88 over the previous year, thus bringing the operating loss down to $186.48 as against $617.77 in 1933.

H. A. Nichols, solicitor for the Municipality, was instructed to take the necessary steps to collect a sum of $189.55 from the town of Digby. During 1931 the chief of police lodged several transcripts in the county jail for a night's lodging and breakfast. On the presentation of the jailer's bill for $189.55 the town of Digby agreed to pay its share of the Municipal Joint Expenditure, which is one fifth of the amount, contending that for the night part, the "hot box" were from the municipalities. On the other hand, the municipal council contends that these men were jailed for the sake of "convenience" to the town and not for any criminal offence, and therefore refused to accept any responsibility for the bill. At the May session of the council Solicitor Nichols was instructed to take steps to collect this amount. After serving the necessary 30-day notice of suit to the town a conference was held between himself and the town solicitor, E. J. Theriault, in which the town agreed to compromise on a 50-50 basis. Having no authority to accept this compromise

Solicitor Nichols brought up the matter at this session and was instructed to collect the full amount, taking whatever steps may be necessary. David Hamilton was re-appointed court constable and janitor of the court house. James Robbin as court clerk; Dr. F. E. Rice, of Sandy Cove, was appointed medical health officer; Dr. John R. McCleave, Digby, jail physician, and Dr. H. J. Melanson, Waymouth, alms house physician. Warden J. V. Andrews was appointed a committee of one to meet with the town council of Digby and the municipal council of Clare for the purpose of discussing the matter of inviting the Union of Nova Scotia Municipalities to meet in Digby for their annual convention in 1936.

Floods Cause Very Extensive Damage

Last week's thaw and storm, particularly the heavy unseasonable rains which fell on Thursday, caused extensive damage in all sections of the province, flooding towns, washing out bridges, tying up railroad and telegraph communications, tearing up roads and buildings. The flood is said by some to be the heaviest in thirty years.

Most of the damage was done in the Annapolis and Shubenacadie Valleys and in the Oxford district. In many of the towns it was necessary to cross the main thoroughfares in boats. Digby County got its share of the damage.

There was scarcely a side hill street in the town that was not gutted out. A big section of the Racquetville road near the residence of Ross C. Smallie, was washed away, forty-five loads of stone were put in to one hole on the Lighthouse road on Saturday. This quantity was just about one third of the amount required to fill the cavity. Trenches sometimes three feet deep were gouged out along the sidewalks, ditches and drains, amply large under ordinary circumstances, were unable to carry off the excess water forced through them.

Washouts and floods along the line of the D. A. R. interrupted train service. The first through train from Halifax since Thursday of last week, was the night train, which reached here Monday morning, thirty hours late. Since then conditions have come back to normal. On Saturday a train arrived from Yarmouth and got as far as Annapolis Royal, returning in the afternoon. Submerged telegraph poles in the vicinity of Bridgetown disrupted telegraph service for several days. Railroad tracks were undermined or covered with sand and gravel washed down from higher levels.

The highway bridge at Culloden was left "an island," approaches on both ends having been washed away. The bridge over Henderson's Brook, at Roxville, was carried off by the floods. At Weymouth Falls men worked all Thursday night in the pelting rain to save the Power Board's dam. They were successful. It is said on good authority that when men from Weymouth were asked to volunteer they refused to go in the rain, and men were brought from Digby. Had the dam gone out and the floods decended on the town of Weymouth, it would be impossible to estimate the damage which might have been done.

Annual Meeting Victorian Order Nurses

At the fourteenth annual meeting of the Digby Branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses, a great amount of work by the nurse, Mrs. Charlotte Sturgeon, was reported, particularly in connection with school work, prenatal and post-natal work. Report of the Secretary

Mr. President, Members of the V. O. N. Board, Ladies and Gentlemen: In presenting the 14th annual report of the Victorian Order of Nurses for Annapolis, Digby Branch, I think we should all realize the amount of good that is done by the nurse. The school work alone should appeal to any parent, when we consider the difference before we had a nurse and now; the inspection and weighing of every child in the lower grades, the care taken of minor accidents, the office hours in the court house especially for the benefit of the children; the well baby clinics, the privilege of post-natal work; the privilege of having a trained nurse for everyone and anyone is something that the Town of Digby should be proud of.

We have held twelve meetings, with an average attendance of thirteen, and one special meeting. The District Supervisor, Miss Dawson, paid her usual visits in March and November.

The committee have raised funds by the usual bridge parties, rummage sales, afternoon teas, poultry sales, and, in December, the sale of T. B. Seal. This year we were unfortunate in losing two members of the Board—Mrs. Lockward and Mrs. Forbes. However, the Committee found Mrs. George Peters and Mrs. Frank Nichols to succeed them.

I have written eleven letters and received four. In closing I wish to thank Mrs. George Turnbull and Mrs. Victor Turnbull for relieving me during March and April.

Grace United Church Free of Debt

Starting the year 1934 with a debt of approximately $1000, R. A. Abramson, treasurer of Grace United Church, was able to announce at the church "birthday party" held in the church hall, Wednesday evening, that after all liabilities were paid the church would have a credit balance of a little over $5.

At the annual meeting of the official board of the church held on the 4th inst. it was disclosed that, with the funds in hand and with amounts promised the church, less than $80 were needed to wipe out the debt, and the board decided to make an extra effort to raise this amount before a note for $700 held in one of the local banks became due on the 17th. Part of the campaign was the church "birthday party" to which members paid for admission, "as many cents as you are old, amount not disclosed." Over $60 was raised in this way.

At this gathering the members of the congregation elected their representatives to the church board, as follows:—Dr. W. R. Dickie, Dr. H. J. Campbell, A. A. Shortliffe, Dr. J. R. McCleave, Wm. Warrington, W. R. Fulmore, Milton Turnbull.

Marriages

Teed—Marshall

A quiet wedding took place at St. Patrick's church, on Sunday, January 13, when Rev. Leo Murphy united in marriage Dorothy Mary, the youngest daughter of Capt and Mrs. James Teed, and Herbert Gordon Marshall, son of Mrs. Ella Marshall, of Westmount, Montreal. Only immediate relatives were present. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Beatrice Teed, and the groom by Capt. Chas. M. Warner, of Barton. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall will reside in Yarmouth.

Annual Meeting of Digby Board of Trade is Held

The annual meeting of the Digby Board of Trade was held in the Council Chamber of the Town Hall, Tuesday evening, with a fair number of members present. After the reading of the minutes of the last annual meeting, and a short talk by the 1934 President, Dr. W. R. Dickie, the report of the Secretary was given, showing a balance on hand of $105.40.

P. W. Holdsworth, chairman of the 1934 committee on Tourist and Publicity, gave his report as chairman of this committee and as President of the Land of Evangeline Tourist Association. Mr. Holdsworth told of conferences held with the Premier of the province and with the Minister of Highways, stressing the importance of hard-surfaced roads. "In the past," he said, "thousands of dollars have been spent on advertising to bring tourists to the province, only to drive them out again with dust and bad roads." The government has promised 200 miles of hard-surfaced highway in 1935, and he believed this was the time to start advertising and bring the tourists to the province and keep them here.

He referred to the Federal Government appropriating $300,000 for tourist advertising, proposed to bring tourists to Canada and to promote an interchange of visits among the provinces. After-tourists are brought to Canada it will be a competitive game to bring them to various provinces and resorts. Our aim should be to bring them to the Annapolis Valley, and keep them here.

During 1933 Nova Scotia's share of Canada's $200,000,000 tourist business, was $5,000,000, he stated, while the tourist traffic brought to the state of Maine the same year $125,000,000. He said it is time we became tourist conscious and woke up, our aim should be to increase Nova Scotia's $5,000,000 tourist business to $100,000,000.

The first tourists to visit Bayview in 1935 were Edgar T. P. Walker and daughter, Mildred, of Cambridge, Mass., who arrived at Digby Gap Inn on New Year's day to spend a week, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Ellis. Both were delighted with the scenery and think our winters ideal.

W. McRae, of Halifax, was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Ellis, on Sunday last.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Respect Your Box Camera

Don't think for one minute that you cannot use your box camera in the winter. The snow scene was snapped with a box camera, using the second stop. In the fire-dance scene a time exposure of one second was made, using the largest stop, with the aid of three photoflood lamps.

THOUSANDS of people of all ages are very much interested in the fascinating hobby of picture taking, own box cameras but, believe it or not, have permitted an inferior complex to creep upon them, as far as respect for the performance of their cameras is concerned. Now that really sounds ridiculous. It is true, nevertheless. Readers have written to the Snapshot Guild with a tale of woe about waiting for spring to arrive to make a concerted effort to improve their pictures. So many owners of box cameras seem to be of the opinion that the sun must be shining like blazes before they should try to take a picture.

What is to follow is directed right straight at you, and you and you... with a box camera. If it is hibernating in peace and slumber on the closet shelf awaiting the arrival of spring and bright sunshine, go get it, dust it off and be sure you wipe off the lens carefully with a soft, dry cloth—giving yourself a roll of film and start shooting. There are more interesting winter pictures waiting to be made with a box camera than you will ever be able to take if you live to be as old as Methuselah. Remember, too, that the old Biblical passage with holds good—"Seek ye the Lord"—and it will not take much seeking if your eyes are open.

Under ordinary conditions you can take instantaneous snapshots outdoors in the winter, or, if the day is too dark and dreary, there is always the old reliable time exposure. If the day is clear and bright you can take action pictures providing you snap the picture at the right angle and are not too close to the subject.

Pictures can be taken indoors at night with a box camera if you use one of the inexpensive photoflood lamps. A little experimenting may show you will get a lot of pictures out of the experimenting.

BANFF BEAUTY WINTER QUEEN

SKIPPED across a frozen lake, making with a group of huskies, skating or riding on the mountain trails all come under the heading of real sport, according to Miss Dorothy Standish, who reigns this year during the winter sport season in the Canadian Rockies. Visitors from many United States cities as well as from Canadian centers are enjoying all the little which only this area can provide, and which reach a peak during the annual Banff Carnival held this year, February 13-17 inclusive.

When making time exposures the camera must be placed on a tripod, table, fence or something solid so that the camera will not move when the picture is taken.

You are overlooking a lot of pleasure if you are not making use of your box camera, so get it out. If you are really interested you can stop in "most any store that sells cameras and photographic supplies and get free literature on taking pictures at night, taking dark these long winter evenings, and you will find it is one type of indoor sport the entire family will enjoy.

And speaking of the family—that's a bunch for a mighty important picture. You can have a lot of fun taking a picture of the family group in later years the remembered a year ago.

Try It.

"DOLLED UP" DOUKHOBORS

The Doukhobors of British Columbia long have been a problem to the government and a curiosity to the public. They are a Russian religious sect, some of whom settled in Canada. Because, in their belief, all people are equal and all are children of God, no one can do wrong and no rulers are needed. Naturally these ideas get them into difficulties with their non-Doukhobor neighbors and with government. One of their favorite forms of protest in Canada has been to parade without clothing, regardless of the sensibilities of fellow townsmen and of the weather. For such activity a lot of them have landed in prison.

For years British Columbia authorities have tried in vain to "modernize" the Doukhobors. Nothing worked until an inspired official placed movie cameras and hair combs at the disposal of the girl prisoners. For a few days the girls were ignored. Then the scheme began to work.

One morning one of the girls appeared with her hair dressed as nearly as possible like that of some of the actresses pictured. The "dolling up" spread to the others. Next they began to remake their dresses to conform to Hollywood smartness.

Next summer these girls will be released. They took their matron already that they will never again go back to the old-fashioned styles and garments of their sect. Prison officials and others are wondering. They hope the girls will be the heaven which will change the whole Doukhobor group.

"There's many a true word spoken in jest," is an old saying. This week the Courier was handed for publication an official report. Reading it before putting it on the linotype we found the report referred to "raided parties." The word "raided" was changed to "raised"—but still we have our opinions.

METEGHAN

The tug boat J. A. Mumford, of the Gypsum Packet Company, of Windsor, under the supervision of Capt. A. Young, with Mr. Fleming, of Hantsport, as chief engineer, is undergoing repairs on the marine ship of Cunneen's, John F. Deveau, is also the motor vessel Dream Girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Aymar and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Gaudet arrived last week from a visit to relatives and friends in Boston and its surroundings.

The government work on the main highway is progressing and many people are employed in the vicinity.

The Municipal Council of Clare could not agree last week on its choice for warden, and has decided to appeal to the legislature.

The statistics of this parish (Stella Maris) show for the last year (1934) 4 marriages, 20 deaths, 24 births, and 18,913 communicants.

Mrs. Paul Conneau, relict of the late Capt. Vincent G. Conneau, and Mrs. Cesarre P. Robichaud are on the sick list.

The lobster season has been a failure so far this season. It is hoped that conditions will improve during the coming weeks.

The Catholic Women's League are holding a bazaar tomorrow to raise funds for the new Globe House.

Rev. Father David, C. J. M., of St. Anne's College, has been assisting the parish priest, Rev. Father Deveau, recently.

One of the jolliest parties of the Yuletide season at Meteghan, was the one held New Year's night by the Misses Alphonine and Florence Deveau, when they entertained a large number of their friends at their home. Dancing, games and music, followed by refreshments, made up a very successful affair.

Royal Bank of Canada Presents Strong Statement

Morris W. Wilson, President and Managing Director, Notes Distinct Improvement in Business — Looks Forward to 1935 With Confidence.

Sydney G. Dobson, General Manager, Reviews Financial Statements — Reports $50,000,000 Increase in Deposits.

At the Sixty-Sixth Annual Meeting of The Royal Bank of Canada, held in Montreal, Morris W. Wilson, President and Managing Director, paid tribute to the distinguished service rendered to the bank by Sir Herbert Holt, who had presided at successive Annual Meetings for over a quarter of a century, and whose outstanding ability and prestige have been important factors in the sound and consistent growth of the bank during his regime.

In commenting on the strong Statement presented to the meeting, Mr. Wilson said that it reflected a year of operations under distinctly improved conditions, both at home and abroad.

Referring to the recent revision of the Bank Act and the Act incorporating the Bank of Canada, he stated that at the public hearings preceding these enactments, the bankers were able to justify their administration. He warned that the curtailment of earning power resulting from restrictions upon interest rates chargeable by banks and the withdrawal of note-issuing privileges will inevitably reduce the ability of banks to maintain unproductive branches in small communities. Banking problems have never been easier, if an efficient banking system is to be maintained there is a point beyond which enforced economies to meet falling revenues on one hand, and increased taxation on the other, cannot safely be carried.

Referring to taxation, Mr. Wilson said:

"For every dollar paid in dividends last year we paid sixty-seven cents to the Canadian tax-gatherer. This does not take into account the income tax paid by our shareholders from the Bank. Surely these figures require no comment."

In discussing the improved conditions in Canada, Mr. Wilson pointed out that during the past year manufacturing and employment have approximated the levels of 1928; iron and steel production, the output of automobiles, textiles and electrical energy have increased and the value of exports, notably lumber and minerals, had advanced substantially. The wheat crop was no larger, but fortunately higher prices prevailed. The value of field crops had increased over $100,000,000 and the enhanced purchasing power of the farmers had stimulated trade throughout the country. There has been increased demand for Canadian mineral products abroad and it is anticipated that the output of Canadian gold mines will exceed $100,000,000, as compared with $85,000,000 in 1933. The building boom in Great Britain created unprecedented demand for Canadian lumber and a record volume of shipments has been made during the past year. He mentioned the importance of the tourist trade to Canada, which had amounted to over $300,000,000 a year and for several years brought more money into Canada than our wheat exports.

"Demand from the United States for newspaper has been strong, with the result that the output of the Canadian mills in 1934 was more than twenty-five per cent. higher than in the previous year. In fact, it was within five per cent. of the peak year of 1929. Prices, however, were even lower than in 1933 and, despite the most rigid economies, operations have continued on an unprofitable basis.

The Railway Situation

"The railway situation continues to be the most important economic problem in Canada. Obviously, the Canadian people cannot stand indefinitely a weekly drain of over $10,000,000 for railway deficits, and the time is rapidly approaching when more drastic and effective action will have to be taken if we are to maintain national credit and solvency."

Referring to world affairs, the President said that in spite of tense political situations during the past year, business has continued to improve. Production in Great Britain and several other countries was greater than in 1928.

"It is costly in the countries of the gold bloc where business has become materially worse during the year. World trade, however, must be released from the multitude of new restrictions which were among the worst features of the depression, if it is to regain healthy vigor. Exclusive economic nationalism has proved a dangerous boomerang, striking down home industries as well as those of foreign countries. I believe that the pendulum of opinion has begun to swing toward better economic relationships between countries, and I look upon this new attitude as a happy augury of further favourable developments during the coming year."

The Capitalistic System

"It is not surprising that new social experiments should have been undertaken in many countries in the hope of mitigating the suffering incident to violent booms and depressions. Undoubtedly, the war placed a great strain upon the capitalistic system. That system has been the result of a process of evolution and as such has been subject to modification from time to time to meet changing conditions. Further modifications and changes may be necessary if we are to be rid of the evils of major depressions. The difficulties in the distant past were the outcome of shortages. At the present moment the major difficulties have to do with the distribution of an increasing surplus which tends to exceed purchasing power. Increasing attention must be given to measures which will provide for a freer and more even flow in the exchange of goods and services. Insofar as the 'New Deal' in the United States, or economic experiments in other parts of the world, may provide a workable answer to this problem, we should not hesitate to profit by that solution. Social and economic experiments which fail, however, are usually costly and it is prudent and wise to 'make haste slowly' in changing fundamental principles of the existing system."

The Outlook

"For more than a year and one-half there has been a distinct upward trend in business activity; improvement has been general in practically all branches of agriculture, industry, mining and trade. At the beginning of the new year, conditions both at home and abroad, favor a continuation of this upward trend. It is true that in Canada there remain a number of difficult problems for which practical solutions are necessary, but I believe that the Canadian people have the courage and ability to solve such problems in a rational manner. It is upon the basis of past performance that I look forward to 1935 with renewed confidence."

GENERAL MANAGER'S ADDRESS
In his remarks, Mr. S. G. Dobson, newly appointed General Manager, referred to the very satisfactory nature of the Annual Report and Balance Sheet presented. He said in part: "After several years of declining figures due to general conditions, I am glad to say the trend has not only been arrested, but under most headings has been reversed, in some instances to a substantial degree."

In reviewing the Financial Statement, he said: "Perhaps the most striking feature of the Balance Sheet is the increase of over $50,000,000 in total deposits by the public. The total is now $612,579,453. Canadian branches contributed $41,000,000 of this total increase, of which $11,000,000 is in the Savings category. It is interesting to note that an increase in deposits was shown by every province in the Dominion."

"Current loans in Canada show an increase for the first time since 1929, and are up over $10,000,000. This is a significant change, reflecting, as do other items in the Balance Sheet, a heartening increase in Canadian business activity."

Mr. Dobson pointed out that all banks in Canada, because of their easy cash position, are looking for desirable loaning business, and the comparatively small increase under this heading reflects a lack of demand for loans, rather than a restriction of credit.

"Profits for the year were $4,398,217 but are not properly comparable with published profits for the previous year because heretofore they were reported after deducting Provincial taxes but before Federal taxes."

"From the sale of uniformity, and the fuller information of shareholders, both classes of taxes are now disclosed in the published report. Making allowance for the resulting increase under this heading, profits are lower by $268,448, leaving $1,568,994 to be carried forward in Profit & Loss Account after the usual deductions for dividends, taxes, etc."

"In keeping with the downward trend in interest rates and the resulting difficulty in employing funds profitably, the banks and most other institutions accepting deposits reduced their rates on interest-bearing accounts 1/2 of 1 per cent from November 1, 1934. This has had a beneficial effect upon bond prices, and has helped to reduce the cost of Dominion and Provincial financing."

Mr. Dobson made special reference to the satisfactory results achieved by the branches outside of Canada and the valuable assistance they have given to exporters in the development of their trade in the countries where the bank is represented.

In conclusion, he said: "On the whole, 1934 may be regarded as a year of substantial recovery for Canada. While we still have many problems to solve, we have, I believe, every justification for looking forward with confidence to a further improvement in conditions during 1935."

MENTAL HEALTH

No one can be truly healthy unless he enjoys health of both mind and body. We have minds and we have bodies, but these are not separate the one from the other; rather do they work together, either helping or hampering the individual in doing his best.

Health is the condition when all parts of the body are working together in harmony. If the harmony is lost, ill-health follows, and where there is actual disorder, we have disease. Our own personal happiness and our usefulness depend, in large measure, upon our health, which, to repeat, means health of mind and body.

The past century has witnessed advances in medical science, which have given such an understanding of disease as to enable us to go far in both the treatment and the prevention of disease and in raising the standards of personal health. In no branch of curative medicine has there been greater advance than in the care of the insane.

It is not so many years since mental disease was regarded as a disgrace. There are still those who feel that their family is disgraced if one of its members requires treatment in a mental hospital. A similar attitude used to exist with regard to tuberculosis.

Mental disease is not any different from physical disease except that in the one case, it is the mind rather than the heart or kidneys which is not functioning properly. Just as long as mental disorders were looked upon as evidence of possession by a devil, those suffering from such disorders were treated with cruelty. With an understanding of the true nature of the sufferings of these patients, there was developed a more humane care until we now have the mental hospital rather than the asylum.

The foundation of mental health is laid in childhood. It begins with the earliest training of the child in regular habits of feeding; later comes the establishment of other habits out of which the child learns to share with others; to do without things now so as to have pleasure later on; to work for the joy of getting things done; to accept disappointments.

The world in which we live is a very real place. We have to meet many difficulties. If we secure mental health, through proper training in childhood, we shall face these difficulties and not run away from them or keep to ourselves. Running away means trouble through ill health. Facing up to reality means happiness and mental health through a satisfactory adjustment in the world in which we must live.

Questions concerning health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

THAT HARMFUL CIGARETTE

"That which makes the cigarette especially injurious," says Daniel H. Kress, M.D., Neurologist, Washington, U.S.A., "is the fact that the smoke of the cigarette is usually inhaled, or drawn, into the lungs."

The mucous lining of the lungs, the mouth, the nose, and related air passages covers an area of from eight hundred to two thousand square feet over which the entire volume of blood is spread every three minutes. In inhalation the cigarette smoke with its poisonous substances is brought in contact with all this delicate membrane, which readily allows the poisons to pass through it into the blood. Inhalation is recognized in surgery as the most rapid method of producing anaesthesia.

Two or three deep inhalations of cigarette smoke introduce a greater amount of poison than would be introduced into the blood in the ordinary way of smoking in fifteen or twenty minutes.

Dr. Briggs Smith, inspector of prisons in the Province of Ontario, who has made a deep study of the tobacco question, has said that "the inhalation of cigarette smoke which is made by the combustion of tobacco and tissue paper produces not only a local narcotic effect upon the tissues, but the smoke comes in contact with but the absorption of the drug in the system leads to a permanent arrest of physical development."

Marriages

Melanson-Comeau

An outstanding wedding of the season was solemnized at Saulnierville recently, when Miss Eva Comeau, postmistress, was united in matrimony to Zacharie Melanson, of Meteghan. The ceremony was solemnized by Rev. Father Jules Comeau, brother of the bride, and was followed by solemn High Mass at which Father Comeau officiated. Rev. Father Simon Comeau, cousin of the bride, acted as deacon and Father P. Doucet, P. P., as sub-deacon. The bride was attired in a beautiful satin and lace dress with veil and carried a white prayer book. Miss Francoise Doucet was the bridesmaid, and was dressed in pale pink georgette with large picture hat to match. Rene Gaudet supported the groom. The bride being the president of the Children of Mary, all the girls assisted at Mass and received Holy Communion. A wedding breakfast was served after which the happy couple left on a wedding trip to Halifax. They were the recipients of many useful gifts of silver, cut glass, linen, dishes and several changes. Mr. and Mrs. Melanson have the best wishes of their numerous friends for a long and happy wedded life. They will reside in Meteghan.

The monthly meeting and supper of the W. A. of the Anglican churches was held in the Guild Hall on Wednesday.

Mrs. Louis MacDonald, of Weymouth Mills, has returned home after spending the Christmas holidays with her children in Massachusetts.

One of the new 1935 Model Ford cars, was in town on Saturday, having been driven up here from Trefoil's Garage, Yarmouth, for demonstration purposes. The car attracted considerable attention when parked beside one of the old Model T, high square Ford Coaches of a number of years ago. Amusement ran high as the two cars were compared by the spectators.

In the "Bygone Days" column of the Halifax Herald, of January 9th, under the "Twenty-Five Years Ago" heading, it states: "Harry I. Brooks, the popular baggage master of the steamer Boston, on the Yarmouth route, resigned from the D. A. R. and accepted a similar position with the Eastern Steamship Company, on the Calvin Austin." (Editor's Note: Mr. Brooks, who is still in the employ of the Eastern Steamship Co., at the present time being the General Passenger Agent, was a former Weymouth North boy, and although having resided in the United States for some years, he is still an ardent Weymouthian.)

Weymouth was last week visited by a severe rain storm, the worst since the big storm of August, 1927, roads and fields, flooding cellars and Brooks and ditches overflowed the yards, causing small washouts on the highway and a big one on the D. A. R. line between the station and the crossing near the Goodwin Hotel. On Friday Weymouth was cut off from contact with the outside world as far as train service and mails were concerned. But even at that Weymouth escaped lightly compared with other sections of the province. At Kentville, Tupper, Oxford and other points people were compelled to use boats in true Venice style, to get around the streets, and in some cases to escape from the second stories of their homes.

BATTERY'S FINE SHOWING

Major R. Stanley Hallett, Commanding Officer of the 52nd Battery Field Artillery, of this place has just received word of the following results of the courses which terminated at Kingston, Ont., on Dec. 1, 1934, by those taking part from this place: Capt. Kenneth B. Smith, Weymouth, qualified as Major.

Lieutenant S. B. Smith, of Barton, qualified as Captain.

Sergeant G. Aubrey Butler, Weymouth North, qualified as Warrant Officer.

Sergeant H. R. Burton, of Weymouth, qualified as Bombardier.

The members of the 52nd Battery and their Commanding Officer deserve great credit for the fine showing which is made by its members each season, especially when we realize that they are in competition with the whole of Canada, including such cities as Montreal. In a good many cases the members of the Battery are men who can afford to have their pay pooled to help others out with their courses, but in this small place those taking the courses have no such help.

GOLDEN WEDDING OBSERVED

Are You Giving Your Watch a Fair Show?

Your watch is one of the few pieces of mechanism which works its full complement of time—unlike most machines working a few hours each day. In a week, therefore, your "watch" works 168 hours. The balance wheel revolves 157,680,000 times a year; if this wheel were rolling in one direction it would travel nearly 4,000 miles in one year. An ordinary machine is oiled daily or every time it is used. Don't you think it little enough to have your watch cleaned and oiled once a year? Proper lubrication and cleaning will prevent many faults, which would otherwise stop your watch.

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mrs. A. R. Westcott, on Wednesday evening of last week.

The nature of the party was a surprise by the members of the choir for their church organist, Miss Evelyn Finigan. Games were played during the early part of the evening.

Following games a presentation was made by Joseph Crocker, on behalf of the choir, to Miss Finigan, of a gift of money and a box of chocolates. Mr. Crocker is one of the former choir directors, but on account of ill health has been unable to fill the office during the last few years.

Refreshments were then served by the hostess, consisting of coffee, sandwiches and various kinds of cake.

Councillor Elmer Chad Morrell returned from Digby recently.

BROKE THROUGH THE ICE—IS DROWNED

While workmen at the Digby Co. Power Board's dam, at Weymouth looked on a mile and a half away and powerless to render aid, Leo Melanson met death Friday afternoon in the waters of the Sissibou River, not far from his home at Weymouth Mills, after he had crashed through ice weakened by the recent floods. Fifteen men were working on the dam and some of them looking up the river, saw Melanson walk out on the ice. When about half way across they saw the man disappear and hastening to the spot more than a mile distant, they found a gully lying beside a jagged hole in the ice. The man had disappeared. Afterward the man was identified by Cyril Melanson as that belonging to his brother, Leo. The deceased was a bachelor living at Weymouth Mills. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Melanson and is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Morrisey and Miss Evangeline Melanson, of Weymouth; also by several brothers. Use of dynamite failed to bring up the body and grappling is being carried on under the supervision of the R. C. M. P., but as yet without success.

SHIP'S NON-APPEARANCE CONFIRMS WORST FEARS

Now over forty days out from Turk's Island bound to Yarmouth with a cargo of salt, and intercepted by the schooner, Nova Queen, with a crew of seven, is definitely feared lost, although her owner, Capt. L. F. Barkhouse, of Westport, still holds fast to the conviction that the craft will yet turn up safe. A particularly sad feature of the ship's non-appearance is that young Kenneth Taylor, son of R. J. M. Taylor, well known Weymouth lumber shipper, and a grandson of Rev. Morris Taylor, of Hanport, formerly of Weymouth, and of Mrs. G. D. Campbell, also of Weymouth, was on board the vessel making his first trip to sea. The Nova Queen is a big, three-master, but depended on sail only and thus would have been helpless had her sails carried away. Bound up from Turk's Island the vessel would have encountered the recent gales which stirred up turbulent seas all over the North Atlantic. Added to this is the fact that the ship was carrying salt, admittedly a dangerous cargo which would carry the ship down like a stone once she sprung leak.

The term schooner Daniel Gelson, Capt. Arthur Moore, of Weymouth, was seized by officers of the Digby and Meteghan detachments of the R. C. M. P., at Weymouth, on Monday after a search by them had revealed a small quantity of alcohol, had too, been declared. While the ship is under seizure Capt. Robert Hanks, of Weymouth North, has been appointed to take charge of her.

Constipation Ended Forever

Woman Finds a Permanent Remedy

With perfect frankness a woman correspondent writes:—
"I have suffered from constipation as long as I can remember, and taken all sorts of things—which in some cases seemed to do good at first, but afterwards to have no effect. Then I thought I would try Kruschen in my tea every morning, and I have done so for over a year. I am pleased to say after the first month I had no more trouble with constipation, and I have felt fit." (Mrs. J. G.M.S. Kruschen Salts is Nature's recipe for maintaining a condition of internal cleanliness. The six salts in Kruschen stimulate the organs of elimination to smooth, regular action. Your system is thus kept clear of those impurities which, if allowed to accumulate, lower the whole tone of the system.)

Some of the worst fires on farms arise from the careless use of gasoline and oil. A useful and effective homemade fire extinguisher is a large metal pail full of sand with a heavy shovel in it. A heavy blanket of sand will usually smother flames quickly and in the event of early application may prevent serious loss.

PETER'S LESSON IN HUMBLE SERVICE

Golden Text:—"All of you be subject one to another, and begotten with humility."—1 Peter 5:5.

Lesson Passage:—John 13:1-17; 1 Peter 5:5.

He looked at them, the look of One divine.
 He turned and looked at me—"But they are mine!"
 "O God!" I said, "I understand at last."
 Forgive, and henceforth I will bond-slave be.
 To the least, weakest, vilest ones; I would not more be free."
 He smiled and said, "It is to me."

A Life of Love, I

The love of Christ for men is seen throughout his whole public ministry. His self-dedication as his baptism was altruistic and his choice of methods of work during the temptation was an indication of his desire to give rather than to get. He was a teacher and a healer with no thought of place or power for himself. He called to himself twelve disciples of whom he became very fond. No trouble was too great to answer their questions or adjust their disputes. His thought was far more for them than for himself. We can understand this in his days of popularity while he was training the twelve, but here we see him in the upper room at Jerusalem on the eve of Calvary, when his life is about to end and still he is thinking of the welfare of his disciples rather than of himself. With all their slowness to understand him, he is not tired of them nor out of patience with them. His was no fair-weather friendship. In the very last hours of his life, having loved his disciples during their days of happy comradeship, he loved them unto the uttermost.

The Master and His Men, 2-5

Though we think of eleven of Christ's disciples as saints, apostles and martyrs whose figures grace colored windows, we must remember that they were men of like passions with ourselves. They were self-seeking and touchy as we so often are. Not realizing the solemnity of the Master's mood they had been disputing, while on the march, as to which of them should be greatest. That they could even raise such a question showed that they had missed their Master's teaching about greatness through service. In the absence of a servant to perform the menial task, they refused to wash the dust off each other's feet upon entering the upper room. Wearing sandals made this Eastern custom prevalent. An object lesson was necessary, an acted parable that would make the lesson memorable. Rising from supper Jesus took a towel, and girded himself. He then poured water into a basin and washed his disciples' feet and wiped them with the towel. Such an action was the direct opposite of the action of an Eastern king whose glory consisted in his retinue of servants. Ever afterwards the footwashing ceremony would remind the disciples of the direct opposite of the attitude of an earthly ruler.

Peter's Moods, 6-11

This course of studies has to do with Peter who now takes a central place in the scene. The Master's attitude to Peter was different from that to Judas. As Jesus washed the feet of Judas he knew all the time that Judas concealed a traitor heart, yet he gave no outward sign. He had an attitude of confidence in Peter, an impulsive, rash-spoken man but a man of courage and good will. Peter could not bear to think of his leader performing a slave's task of footwashing for him, and at first he refused. Jesus explained the symbolic meaning of it, and Peter at once went as far in the opposite direction and asked that Jesus should wash his hands and his head as well as his feet. In the haste and excitement of that memorable night the full significance of the action of Jesus may not have been fully understood, but in after years the deep meaning and increasing significance become plain. It provided in striking form an example for the disciples of all the teaching of Jesus about greatness through service. Jesus had done for them all what they had refused to do for one another.

An Example for Us, 12-17

In this footwashing scene Christ gave his disciples an example that as he had done for them they should do for others. The disciples needed the teaching and go do we. There is much lowly drudgery to be done in the world. The bride has dreams of romance and discovers that it includes dishwashing three times a day. An editor has hopes of a wide range of influence and is forced into endless hours of routine correcting copy and reading proof. In every great building of beautiful exterior appearance there are men and women scrubbing and polishing day by day. In churches and parliaments also, much of the effective service is lowly and unsung. There is the distinction of the undistinguished, but it is never heralded abroad in the press. Edgar A. Guest writes:

The backbone of the nation is the happy-hearted throng
 Of ordinary people who go swinging right along.
 They live in modest houses and they work from day to day,
 And the papers never notice what they do or what they say.

Peter Remembered, 5

Peter never forgot the footwashing incident. Over thirty years afterwards, in the first letter bearing his name, he referred to it in words which the very language of the account in the gospels. Moffatt translates it: "Indeed you must all put on the apron of humility to serve one another." This is the very core of Christian character. The pagan ideal was magisterial; the Christian ideal is ministerial. The motto of the world all too often is "get on," "gather gear," "look out for number one." Christ, on the contrary, was among men as one who served. He went about doing good. He came not to be ministered unto but to minister. If any person wishes to be great let him be a servant of all. How imperfectly we have learned Christ's lesson! Nations are striving for first place and are preparing for war to take territory by force. Competition in business has almost destroyed individual security. Ecclesiasticalism in religious life has often been the antithesis of Christ's example of lowly service. Yet Christ was right. Humility of spirit and readiness to serve others, point the way of peace and brotherhood.

Questions for Discussion.

- 1.—Were the disciples worthy of Christ's love?
- 2.—Did this footwashing example only happen once?
- 3.—Was Peter's personality variable or flexible?
- 4.—Have we found happiness following Christ's example?
- 5.—What is the significance of the title, "Prime Minister"?

The January meeting of the Men's Brotherhood of the Brighton-Barton United Church of Canada was held on Monday evening, at Dr. W. C. Harris' home. Fifteen were present and sat down to a clam chowder, with all the good things that usually go with it. A short "sing-song" followed. After lunch Rev. M. R. Ewing as president, called the meeting to order and the usual business was transacted. A vote of thanks was extended to Dr. and Mrs. Harris and to all who assisted. Mr. Ewing gave a brief address.
 The Brotherhood's next meeting at Bath, Monday, February 11th.

HYMNS YOU CANNOT TRUTHFULLY SING

It seems hardly fair to expect a healthy citizen, who can play six sets of tennis on end, go twice around the golf links without pausing at the pavilion, to sing such hymns as "O Paradise! O Paradise! This weary waiting here," or "Weary of Earth," or "I want to be an angel," or "Earth's but a sorry tent." The man who is weary of earth needs a doctor, a holiday, or a change of diet, and probably is in no mood to sing at all, much less sing doleful ditties about dying!

Humility, if not of the Uriah Heep type, (which was only camouflaged conceit), is an estimable virtue, but it balks at singing "I am a wandering sheep," or "Wilest of the sinful race." One used to be asked to style oneself a "wretch" and a "worm" but up-to-date hymnals have got rid of this exaggeration of modesty. It is monstrous to ask children to sing such morbid stuff as "Days and moments swiftly blend the living with the dead; soon will you and I be lying each within his narrow bed." It is a horrid stanza, and its refrain, often sung, only intensifies its horror.

A Lie and a Libel

A fit companion of this deadly hymn is "A few more years shall roll." Imagine any sane, healthy human, in lovely summer weather, in an age when we even create artificial sun rays, and insert vit-a-glass in schools and hospitals, singing: "A few more years shall roll, o'er these dark hills of time, and we shall be where suns are not, a far serefer elime!"

A man need not be a Communist to object to the singing of such sentiments as "The rich man in his castle, the poor man at his gate—God made them high and lowly, and ordered their estate." The late Canon Adair forbade the children of St. Paul's Convent Garden to sing these words, though the rest of the hymn is beautiful. "Don't sing the next verse, children," he said, "because it is a lie."

Not long ago the people of Ceylon, protesting against a libel on their race, sang at thousands of missionary meetings as part of the most popular of all missionary hymns, characterizing their beautiful island as a place "Where every prospect pleases, and only man is vile." Can you wonder?

Some hymns are objectionable because their appeal is not universal. There is one, for instance, which, describing heaven talks of "No mid-night shade, no clouded sun, but constant, high, eternal noon." This might appeal to an Eskimo. To most of us this description does not represent heaven, but quite another place—Tid-Bits.

"THE LITTLE HELPERS"

Eleven little Digby girls have raised $14 for the Digby Children's Aid Society. These girls have recently formed a club which they call "The Little Helpers of the Children's Aid". Since their organization they have held two pantry sales and turned the proceeds over to Dr. J. S. Timpany, treasurer of the Digby Children's Aid.

Wishing "to do something for somebody" these girls decided to form a club. They chose the "Children's Aid" because so many of the older folks were working for the Hospital and the V. O. N. Their meetings are conducted in the same manner as one would expect from older folk. First the meeting is called to order; then reports are heard; after that a collection is taken; then there is a social time—and afterwards—refreshments. Each week a meeting is held at the home of one of the members; hours for meetings are from 7.30 to 9 o'clock.

Miss Phyllis Dickie is president; the secretary is Phyllis Bowby; and the treasurer, Edith Morehouse. Other members are Frances Dickson, Clara Merkel, Marie Eisanor, Patsy Bowby, Jean Weir, Dorothy Christie and Evelyn Hayden.

Obituary

Henry Gilbert Turnbull

Henry Gilbert Turnbull, 76, passed away early on the morning of January 13, at the Maritime Oddfellows' Home, Pictou, where he had been a resident for eight years. He had been in failing health for a year, and was for the last week confined to bed. Mrs. Turnbull predeceased him a few years ago, and he is survived by three sons and a daughter: Osborne, living in Smith's Cove, and the other two sons and daughter in California; also by one brother, Charles E. Turnbull, of Digby. Mr. Turnbull was an old member of St. George's Lodge, Digby, and was one of the most popular residents of the Home.

James R. Dittmars

The death of James R. Dittmars, 67, for 22 years postmaster of Deep Brook, occurred suddenly at his home there last week. He was a son of the late Geo. Edward and Hannah (Boyd) Dittmars. Surviving are his widow, formerly Miss Addie Milner, of Clements; two daughters, Mrs. Harry Froom of Deep Brook, and Mrs. Raymond Morrison, of East Saugus, Mass.; one son, Walter, at home; also one brother, George E. Dittmars, of Deep Brook. Funeral services were conducted on Saturday by Rev. Dean Smith, rector of St. Matthew's church, assisted by Rev. W. H. Turner, pastor of the Baptist church.

Summer Home Destroyed By Fire; Man Arrested

On Friday afternoon last the summer home at Smith's Cove of Rev. H. C. Vedder, D. D., well known writer and retired professor of theology at the Baptist University of Chester, Pa., was totally destroyed by fire. Nothing was saved from the Vedder's library, nor were those who fought the blaze with shovels and snow, able to salvage any of the valuable furnishings. The adjoining cottage of Rev. J. W. B. Stewart was saved.

Tracks leading from the Vedder home to the beach were discovered by the firefighters, who came through snow-filled woods from miles around. It was also discovered that the Stewart home had been thoroughly ransacked. The Digby detachment of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police were called and followed the tracks to the cabin of Postmaster James Merkel, at Salt Pond, Joggins Bridge. At the Merkel cabin they found a young man who gave his name as Robert Perry. Prepart, who was placed under arrest.

It is alleged that articles belonging to both Dr. Vedder and Mr. Stewart were found in Perry's possession. It is also understood that Perry had been occupying the Vedder place for several days, and that, while lying on a couch smoking, on Friday, he accidentally set fire to it. Nor being able to extinguish the flames, he fled.

The fact that the windows of the Vedder home were boarded up for the winter, the blaze was not noticed until it had broken through. Perry was given a hearing on Wednesday before Stipendiary Magistrate J. A. Taylor, and sent up for trial. He was charged with breaking and entering, with intent to commit an indictable offence. Information was only laid against him in regard to the Merkel break.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Warner left this week for Lake Hamilton, Florida, where they will spend the winter.

Miss Geraldine Fitzgerald was in Digby Wednesday enroute to her home in Weymouth from Saint John. Mrs. Fitzgerald will visit the Weymouth home of her sister, Mrs. Katherine, who is residing with her mother for Boston.

Annual Meeting of St. Clement's Parish

The annual meeting of St. Clement's Parish took place on Monday afternoon, Jan. 21st, at 2.00, in St. Matthew's Church, Deep Brook, with a good attendance. The Rector, Rev. Rural Dean Smith, was in the chair. Reports were presented by the warden, chapel wardens, guilds, Sunday Schools and by the Rector. All were most encouraging. While the congregations were small in number it was shown by reports presented that they were most active and capable. Mention may be made here of two reports. That of the Building Committee of St. John's Church, Bear River, on Jan. 19th, 1934, St. John's Church was totally destroyed by fire. The insurance was only $1000.00. In the year another church has been built costing over $3000.00, a church which is a credit to the builder, W. Sanford, and the congregation—and an adornment to the village of Bear River. Through the efforts of St. John's Guild and by the kindness of friends, all has been paid but $1200.00—$500.00 on a note and $700.00 on a mortgage. This, by the efforts of the congregation and kindness of friends, will be soon wiped out.

The second report—that of the Restoration Fund for the Lost Funds in the West—showed that of the $182.20 subscribed to run over the three years, all had been paid in but $20.00 and of this $14.50 had a year to run. The warden and chapel wardens and delegates to synod were all reappointed as follows:

Wardens—V. Shaw, Clements; Major A. M. Simons, Bear River.

Falling on the blade of an axe, Eric Marshall, sixteen year old son of Henry Marshall, Hill Grove, was badly cut about the neck a few days ago. The cut severed an artery, and bled profusely. Eight stitches were required to close the wound, and several of the blood vessels had to be tied to stop the bleeding.

Returning from a call to Smith's Cove Sunday afternoon, Dr. W. R. Dickie, his son Hugh and little daughter, Phyllis, who accompanied him, had a narrow escape when, while coming down the "town hall" near the hospital, the horse became frightened and ran away. Dr. Dickie and Hugh were thrown from the sleigh.

BOYS' RESOLUTIONS

It may be late to talk about ordinary New Year resolutions but a set drawn up by the boys in a certain preparatory school would be timely and worth thinking about in any season. These young fellows did not tackle the impossible and pledge themselves to be paragons of good behaviour. They made a list of common sense resolves to which any normal boy would probably subscribe, but which it is easy to be careless about. Here's the list:

- I will do my own work.
- I will be pleasant at home—Dad is having a tough time, too.
- I will watch my sleep and my smoking.
- I won't cheat even myself.
- I will expect only my share.

There is some fine thinking in that set of resolutions. Whether the boys worked out the list themselves or had the guidance of a wise teacher doesn't matter. If they understand those ideas and apply them, to the best of their ability, in their school and home life they will be training themselves for intelligent manhood and good citizenship.

TRIUMPHANT DIESELS

Diesel engines, in the good old biblical phrase, "go from strength to strength." The Winston Company, chief American producer of this type, is now building a 3600-horsepower motor for the Burlington Railroad, to carry a 22-car train between Chicago and Denver. This is more than five times the power used in the Burlington's celebrated "Zephyr" train, which has broken so many records.

The Zephyr by the way, is reported as earning $440 a day, more than ten times as much as the steam train it displaced. This comes partly from the larger patronage attracted, and partly from operating economy. It is plain in the direction railroads are headed, and not merely in America. France's greatest railroad is preparing to substitute Diesels for steam locomotives. We shall probably be doing the same thing as rapidly as the new installations can be produced and financed.

It may be true, as some railway men insist, that steam locomotives can make as much speed as Diesels, but apparently they can't do it so economically, with so little weight per passenger and so little wear on rails and roadbed.

INFANTS' COLDS

Relieved!

Young children easily catch cold. So Mrs. Russell Ward, of Hilton Beach, Ont., wisely says: "If I notice that there is any sign of a cold I give Baby's Own Tablets and find they are a great help. Thousands of mothers tell me not only for colds but for teething troubles, colic, upset stomach and so on. Baby's Own Tablets are safe and sure in relieving childhood's common ailments." Price 25c.

EASTERN STEAMSHIPS PRAISED

Examinations of various ships of the Eastern Steamship Lines, Inc., by officers of the United States Navy have resulted in a letter being addressed to the Captain of each vessel by Secretary of Commerce, Daniel C. Roper, saying, in every case, "the conditions of your vessel are excellent."

In a letter to Alton B. Shary, president of the Eastern Lines, J. E. Weaver, Director of the United States Bureau of Navigation and Steamboat Inspection, said: "I extend my compliments to your company and your vessel officers for the splendid reports received."

The letters sent to the commander of each of the vessels by the Secretary of Commerce read: "I take this opportunity to express to you and your officers my gratification in regard to discipline maintained and the general operation of your ship."

"Vessels flying the flag of the United States must be second to none in regard to all these conditions that assure the safety of the travelling public and the report" (of the officers who made the examination) "indicates that on your vessel these conditions are most satisfactory. The department feels that you and your officers will continue to maintain the excellent record."

The ships upon which these reports were made are operated on the company's lines between New York and Norfolk, Boston and New York, and Boston and the Maritime Provinces, and their condition and manning by officers and crews are identical with all the vessels which the company operates.

It must be gratifying to the company and to the travelling and shipping public to learn that this fleet has received such high endorsement.

WINTER WEATHER

Hello, Everybody! Wish you could look out of the window with me today and see how pretty everything is. It's just like an enormous birthday cake, frosted with white, and trees and shrubs are candles. They are covered with icy particles and when the sun shines on them one can almost imagine they are lit. We have had our first real snow storm; not very much, either, only three inches, but it certainly changes a dreary looking winter landscape. The old saying, "when the days begin to lengthen, the cold begins to strengthen," is true today. We are having a regular gale from the northeast, and it is almost impossible to heat the house. Wish I had some of those good old hard wood chunks that just fit in the furnace on a cold winter's day. And speaking of wood, I never will forget the gorgeous wood pile that was always in Uncle Charley's yard. It rose in a peak higher than the all of the house and overflowed on all sides until it went right in the door and filled all sides of the shed. Just looking at that fine wood made one feel warm and cosy in spite of winter weather. I must have a "wood complex" because I never see a bit lying around that I don't want to pick it up and bring it home, much to my husband's disgust. "Cars are not kept to carry loose wood in," you know all the reasons a mere man can think up.

Down the hill and around the corner is a pond, and the skating is fine.

NEWSPAPER HOLDER

AWKWARD FOLDING AND UNFOLDING OF A NEWSPAPER COULD BE ELIMINATED WITH THIS SIMPLE POCKET SIZE NEWSPAPER HOLDER. SIMPLY ATTACH TO NEWSPAPER—BEND AND FOLD IN ANY WAY DESIRED. CAN IT BE DONE?

Do you think this idea is practical? Write Ray Gross in care of this newspaper

The boys and girls keep the snow swept off, and as I write I can hear the click of the hockey sticks against the pucks. I would love to go skating and one day I informed the family that I thought I would borrow some skates, and see if I had forgotten how. My son sized me up and said, "You better, now," and I have been wondering since, why not? Skates nowadays, are such new fangled things; they come all screwed on a pair of boots and look much different than my old "Acme" skates did years ago. My brother had a pair that the other boys referred to as "cheese cutters". As I remember them they had very long blades—much longer than his feet—and curled up at the toes. How that boy could skate! He could out-pigeon wings, and do the Dutch-rol like nobody's business. Wonder if he ever goes skating nowadays. We took our skates to school and never thought of going home after school was over, but started away for Journey's Lake, two or three miles distant. Supper didn't mean a thing, nor how cold it was. As dusk came on the Indian boys always built a big fire at the upper end of the lake, and while they always seemed glad to carry wood and keep the fire going as long as we wanted to stay, they would never have anything to say, and rarely answered when spoken to. It makes me sad to think of the distance that separates the pairs of those skating parties; and again let me speak of the disappointment that so few of them are answering the call of "The Old Home Week".

I had a Christmas greeting from a faraway friend. He spoke of the beauties of his adopted home, but, he said, "Never will I forget the glorious winter nights in Nova Scotia, with the sleigh bells jingling, and the old moon riding high and full in the sky"—and says he right? I don't think there is a place as pretty anywhere as that fork in the road in Weymouth just below the soldiers' monument, where you can look over the river, down the river and over the river. I have stood there on a moonlight winter night when the grandeur brought a lump in my throat. Everything was so natural; no bright artificial lights to outshout the moon and so still and quiet almost one's voice was like a gun. There is one thing the depression cannot take away from us, and that is our memory of home.

I watched my neighbor's girls going down the road today and their bright scarves, caps and mittens made me think of Mrs. Henry Moody and the scarlet cloak she used to wear many years ago. It was thick and heavy, and had a cape; and I used to think that red coat against a snowy back ground was just the prettiest thing a winter's day could offer. I'm sure many more of you remember that coat and its owner.

Ahem! Do you all know that our friend L. H. S. is a proud and happy grandfather? He really is, and I hope he is conducting himself with all the dignity the occasion requires.

Santa Claus brought me some gold fish, and I have named them "W" and "Sade", after the characters in favourite radio programme. I don't care much for them—the fish, I mean—they are such silly looking things. I think the kitten has designs on them, too.

The kitten is almost a cat now, and thinks this is a great big world, and all for his benefit. He has explored the yard and today got real brave and climbed halfway up the maple tree. His ears were laid flat back and his tail looked like my floor brushes. The dog sat on the ground at the foot and whined as if he were saying, "The world is big, and you are small, better stay home until you get grown up."

I think the prize for the "Old Home Week" letters will go to Eva Harvey Nichols, for her "Remembrances in Verse". It was so good, and carried all who read it back to their childhood days. We have picked wild strawberries in some "Hankinson's" field; have all fished from the wharf, cooled down the hills, and skated on the mill pond. What a wealth of memories that poem held. Thank you, dear lady, and come again! The verses are safely pasted in the old scrap book.

Good night to all!

Rossy Junior Red Cross officers are:—President, Violet Theriault; Vice-President, Helen Banks; Secretary, Reta Theriault; Treasurer, Bernice Peters. At their Christmas concert they earned 25.05 and purchased new cloak room hooks and replaced two broken windows.

North Range Junior Red Cross has sold 12 magazines this month, and sent a box to the crippled children in hospital. Their Christmas concert netted them $3.30, which was used to pay the enrolment fee and to buy materials for the Busy Bee Club. The Busy Bees are now weaving a table mat, and the boys are starting a poultry club. (Reported by Evelyn Comeau, secretary.)

The convener of the Service Committee is Rosella Elliott; convener of the Programme Committee, Primrose Jackson; convener of the Library Committee, Douglas Jackson. The treasurer has on hand $8.00. Karsdale Four-H Club earned $11.00 at a concert, with which ANTLES of purest crystal, snow spreading over den and vale, the smooth sparkling ice surface of rivers and lakes, and the joyous tinkling of sleigh-bells remind one that the season for beneficial and enjoyable winter sports is again at hand. Other forms of recreational activities are, for the time being, quite forgotten. The toboggan, ski, skate and sled are taken from their summer store-house and properly conditioned for the season's festivities. Children whose years scarcely exceed the finger numerals of a hand, youths of teen age, adults of middle life and frequently those whose years are well extended toward the distant span of life, all lose in the enjoyment of typical Canadian winter sports.

During the winter season every settled area in Canada is as easily accessible by railroad as in the summer and autumn months. Many miles of provincial highways are kept free of snow enabling the motorist to reach cities, towns and villages of international repute as winter sport centres. Nearly everywhere are natural sites for skiing, snowshoeing and tobogganing. Covered rinks for hockey, skating, and curling are found in cities, towns and many smaller centres, while open-air rinks are legion. Carnival fests, including bonfires, toboggan racing, hockey matches, figure skating competitions, skee-jumping contests, snowshoe processions, and fireworks displays, add greatly to the enjoyment of a Canadian winter vacation.

The National Parks of Canada, Department of the Interior, Ottawa, will gladly supply information pertaining to Canada's winter sport attractions.

If teachers will write to the Helping Teacher, stating their needs, it will help towards a prompt distribution of these helps. Those who attend the Teachers' Clubs can make their choice here.

Loan Materials.—A large supply of magazines, "Foliar Education," "The Instructor" and "The Canadian Geographic" is on hand for the use of the teachers who ask for them. REPORT OF THE CHAIRMAN OF COMMITTEE ON TENDERS AND PUBLIC PROPERTY FOR THE YEAR 1934

To the Warden and Councillors of the Municipality of the District of Digby:—

Gentlemen:—

Your Committee on Tenders and Public Property begs leave to present the following report for the year 1934:

COURT HOUSE

Your committee carried out your instructions and had the steps to the approach to the Court House repaired temporarily but a good job could not be done until the whole part of the steps are taken up and a new job done from the bottom up. We had a number of repairs to the pipes, etc., during the year, but nothing more than would be expected from a building this size. Your Committee would like to call your attention to the outer walls of the building; bricks are continually crumbling and falling out. Also, the outer walls are bulging and some day a lot of brick are going to fall out. Your Committee would recommend this matter be taken up at this annual meeting of the Council and some amount be placed in the estimates this year for the repairs to the building. The new boiler purchased last year works very satisfactorily and is cheaper to run than the old one.

The total amount of orders issued during the year for Court House maintenance, not including the Janitor's salary, was $912.18. The Janitor's salary was paid at the end of every month at the rate of $40.00 per month, less 10 per cent, amounting to $32.00 for the year, making a total amount of Court House maintenance of $1,344.18. You voted $1,200.00 for this department. Your Committee would recommend a vote of $1,200.00 for the year 1935, as a premium on Policy for $30,000.00 will not be due again until year 1937.

Your Committee, advertised for tenders for Coal for year 1935, and tenders were received from A. R. Turnbull and H. T. Warner. The tender of A. R. Turnbull was accepted for Sprinkling Screened Soft Coal for year 1935.

JAIL

Your Committee issued orders to the Jailor for Keep of Prisoners for the year, to the amount of $1,018.80, this amount being a little lower than the year 1933. A certain amount of this was refunded by the Provincial Government for prisoner's keep for violations of the Liquor Control Act.

The Jailor's salary was paid by the treasurer, of $50.00 per month, less 10 per cent, making total amount paid to Jailor of $1,558.80.

The total amount of orders issued for Jail maintenance for year 1934, was $1,804.12.

OUTSIDE POOR

Your Committee issued orders during the year 1934 for the Poor Outside, to the amount of $3,185.80. There are a few bills for 1934 outstanding that have not been received by the Chairman of this Committee, approximately $300.00, which will make a total of $3,500.00 expended for this Department for the year 1934.

By keeping the different districts separate, I am able to give you to whom the orders were issued, persons receiving aid, date paid and the amount, viz:—

Basic Facts of Strong Position

88th Annual Report of Canada Life shows substantial progress in 1934

$1,105,688 increase by the Canada Life in new paid for life insurance including renewals, makes a total of $53,795,650 for 1934.

$2,846,589 increase in new annuity considerations was made in 1934, the total being $12,257,820.

$3,261,262 increase in income from all sources is reported, giving a total of $50,859,188 for 1934.

$15,519,672 increase brought the total assets of the Canada Life to $242,362,564.

60% increase in policy loan collections in Canada and United States was shown over the previous year, the total collections amounting to $2,250,000.

5,000 fewer persons applied for policy loans than in the previous year.

$25,785,318 was paid out by the Canada Life during 1934 under its insurance and annuity contracts. Of this sum, $17,784,047 was paid to living policyholders.

$11,827,565 was disbursed by the Canada Life to its insurance and annuity contract holders in the five years of the depression, an amount greater than half its present assets. During the same period the assets increased by over $68,000,000.

Recovery from the greatest Economic Dislocation the World has ever known seems to be under way. We believe it, not only because all News Agencies, Captains of Industry and Finance, and Public men tell us so, but because it is being felt in the pockets of the people and seen in their faces.

We must get back to first principles. People must get themselves off the back of municipalities. Municipalities must get themselves off the back of the Province or State, and the Province or State must get themselves off the back of the Federal Government.

Most people now fully believe that the world cannot get far on the road to recovery without International Trade. It is now realized that the nationalistic spirit has been over-developed in every country in the world. If that is correct, there must be readjustments of quotas, barriers of tariff and import restrictions which a world of harried nations have constructed in their frantic striving for self-sufficiency during the last four years. Although it seems to be unanimously conceded that, before there can be substantial recovery the channels of trade between nations must be opened, every nation continues to ask, "who is going to do it first?"

Public opinion being what it is conceived to be throughout the world, surely the statesmen of the various nations can, in the not too distant future, evolve a policy or policies which will increase international trade and stabilize currency.

Confidence, more than any other thing, is what the world most lacks. Confidence of Private Capital must be restored, and likewise at the same time must the confidence of Labour be established.

The report submitted by the Canada Life is based on the consideration that safety is the first essential factor to be considered by a life insurance company which has a true and proper regard for the interests of its policyholders.

Municipal Council

REPORT OF THE KEEPER OF THE COUNTY HOME

To the Warden and Councilors of the Municipality of the District of Digby:—

Gentlemen:—

1 Horse, 8 Cows, 2 Pigs, 28 Hens, 1 old cow sold
Products of Farm—About 17 tons Hay; the Grain, owing to the dry season, was mostly cut for fodder; 37 bushels Oats, threshed, about 3 loads of straw, 2nd bushels Potatoes, 35 bushels Carrots; 37 bushels Table Beets; 140 bushels Mangel Beets; Corn, Peas, Cabbage, Squash and such Vegetable used on farm; about 1,700 pounds Butter, also Milk and Eggs used on Farm. Four hogs killed and used on farm, weighing about 899 pounds.

The spreading of the house should be looked after. Approximately 210 feet of three-quarter inch iron, with nine turnbuckles, which will cost about 75 cents each, blacksmith work for putting on heads and plates and supplying iron would cost about $40.00 or $50.00. The house has spread so the plaster has fallen in the kitchen and wards, so some plastering needs to be done.

The lower well house, north side rafters are broken, new side needed on roof. Upper well completely dry, wall all around caved from bottom and fallen. Water supply very poor. May be able to get through coming summer without new pipes but no longer. I have been keeping it going until it has got the best of me—the pipes are too badly corroded.

A McClary Evangeline All Cast Iron Range

has been on our floor too long. We consider this one of the finest examples of range building that we have ever had in our store. Its sale price was only $59.00 fitted with warming oven and this price gave us only a small margin when freight, cartage and overhead were figured in. This range is now being built with some changes in the decoration and to move the one on the floor to make room for one of the new models we are offering our range for the low sum of delivered to any house in town. The Evangeline is worth two of the steel ranges for this climate.

John Bradley Lord

The death of John B. Lord, a former prominent New York lawyer, occurred at the residence of his son, John B. Lord, Jr., Darien, Conn., on Jan. 11th. The late Mr. Lord was the son of Frederick J. Lord, a South Carolina planter, and a descendant of Lieut.-Col. William C. Lord, of Revolutionary fame. Being of an adventurous nature, the late Mr. Lord enlisted on a blockade runner on the Confederate side during the United States Civil War, later studying law at Columbia University and practicing in Brooklyn, N. Y., until 1914, when he retired, making his home in Westchester County, occupying a beautiful old manor house built like an English castle, once the property of Daniel Drew, the noted speculator. This estate Mr. Lord sold after the death of his second wife in 1926, then making his home with his son, and spending the summers at his attractive cabin at Harbor View, Smith's Cove, as he had done for over twenty-five years, being one of the most widely known of our American visitors, and winning many friends through his genial personality. His immediate surviving family consists of his son, John B. Lord, also a lawyer, and a granddaughter, Katherine Lord. The funeral services were held in St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church, New York, of which he had been a member for many years.

ANNUAL REPORT OF W. M. S. UNITED CHURCH

The Women's Missionary Society have held twelve regular meetings during the year 1934, with an average attendance of seven members. We have held also three special meetings along missionary lines, and an evening's entertainment, entitled "The Old Fotograf Album."

Our meetings are held the second Friday in each month. The programmes for the year have been mainly from the Study Book on "China," but other programmes have been given on Temperance and from the Blue Book.

The three special meetings were "Mile of Petties," meeting at the home of Mrs. Harry Harris in September, a very interesting programme was given. The annual Mile Box meeting was held in the autumn. This was an evening with hymns and hymn writers and played most interesting. The Thank Offering meeting was also an inspiring and helpful one.

A pantry sale was also held during the year to help swell our funds. During the past year we have sent two boxes for relief work. One to Labrador, valued at $45.00. This contained two new wool quilts and a quantity of good clothing. The other a very large bale for the Canadian West, valued at $72.00. This box also contained two quilts, warm clothing of all kinds. Several Baptist friends also donated goods towards this box.

Early in the year our delegate to Presbyterial, Mrs. Harry Harris, gave us a splendid report of the proceedings of the meetings, and in June a number of the women were privileged to attend the Rally held at Granville Ferry. A most enjoyable and profitable time was held.

The thanks of the W. M. S. are extended to those who made it possible for so many members to attend.

World Day of Prayer was observed in the Baptist Church, with a good attendance.

During the year we have made 163 sick calls. We have raised $100.75, of which $92.55 has been forwarded to Presbyterial treasurer. We feel this has been a good year in our work for the Master, and go forward into the new year, asking and praying for more success in this great work.

Respectfully submitted,

Lillian Morine.

MISSION BAND'S WORK FOR 1934

During the summer months the Band does not meet. They have raised $33.60, which has been paid out for incidental expenses in connection with the Band and Church. A box was also sent to the Aberdeen mission and another to a family at home.

The officers for the ensuing year are as follows:—

THE GROWING OF TURNIP SEED

At a meeting of the Bear River Agricultural Society, held on Saturday, January 12, the question of raising turnips for the production of seed was discussed. The members present were of the opinion that farmers of the district can undertake this branch of agriculture with every reason to expect a good return for their efforts. Farmers in the vicinity of Deep Brook, raising the Dittmars Bronze Top turnip for seed, have done well in the past and there is a good market for this registered seed.

It produces a first-rate turnip and with market conditions as they are, a good return can be expected from the raising and shipping of table turnips. In order to be able to put on the market a turnip seed that will be true to name and free from contamination from other brands of seed, it would be necessary to have certain districts made into restricted areas, where that particular variety of seed only would be grown. This can be done by application to the investigating the matter, will if he investigates the matter, will if he considers it advisable, have the necessary Order in Council passed. By the terms of such Order in Council the growing of any other variety of turnip for seed purposes other than the variety decided upon, would be prohibited, in order to keep the chosen variety pure.

The members of the society who have discussed the matter feel that the growing of turnip seed by local farmer will be to their advantage and that it is in their interests to have the area around Bear River made into a restricted area for the growing of turnip seed. On the other hand, they feel that every farmer in the districts concerned should have an opportunity to express his views on the matter and it has therefore been decided to call a meeting for such purpose. The necessary arrangements for holding the meeting are being made and it will probably be held during the Short Courses which the Society are also arranging for with the Department of Agriculture. The proposed meeting and Short Courses will be duly advertised in this paper as soon as a date has been decided upon. The meeting will also be announced through the churches and schools and all who are interested will be asked to attend. The Bear River Agricultural Society has no desire to try and "railroad" through such a measure as the passing of the Order in Council referred to above and wishes to make it clear that it will be guided by a majority vote of the farmers present at the meeting. It is therefore important that you be present.

PETER'S DENIAL

Golden Text:—Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall.—I Corinthians 10:12.

Lesson Passage:—Mark 14:27-31, 54, 66-72.

"There came a mist and a blinding rain, And life was never the same again."

Warning and Promise, 27, 28

While the central figure of this quarter's lessons is Peter, his life is studied in relation to Christ. In previous lessons we have noted that Christ was thinking of his disciples even more than of himself. Here again we find him warning his disciples that a crisis was imminent, and the sheep would be scattered. The disciples could hardly believe that anything could happen that would break their allegiance to their Master, but Jesus had no doubt of it. While giving them this warning, he also told them that they would meet again. After the resurrection he would go before them to Galilee, a place of many memories and cherished associations. It is well for us to know that life is dangerous. We need to have a wholesome fear lest we make mistakes or act foolishly. Our fears are as a safeguard for our protection. Yet we are not to live in a state of undue dread because there is forgiveness for us even when we fail. Christ is the good Shepherd who restores our souls. Christ warned his disciples, but he did not dishearten them.

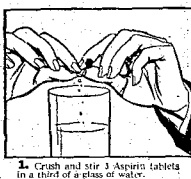

Peter's Self-Confidence, 29-31

Peter was forewarned but not forearmed. The prediction that he would deny his Master seemed so preposterous to him that he refused to be on guard. Jesus understood Peter better than Peter understood himself. It was late; Peter had been under great strain; he was alone; and yet the picture is there of the boastful disciple coming to grief through over-confidence. Dr. F. W. Norwood, of the City Temple, Old London, makes this suggestive comment: "There are those who have seen in the crowing cock something that suggests Peter himself. Every line in the gospel story makes it apparent that Peter was hasty, he spoke before he thought, he acted before he reflected, and it would almost seem that this ludicrous crowing, feathered piece of impotence, swelling out its breast with pride as though it were lifting the sun by its call, is a satirical reference to Simon Peter, himself, as a boaster who could not make good his high-sounding word."

NOW SORE THROAT EASED IN LESS THAN 3 MINUTES!

1. Gargle and stir 3 Aspirin tablets in a third of a glass of water.

2. Gargle thoroughly—throw head back, allowing a little to trickle down throat. Repeat—do not rinse mouth.

3. If you have signs of a head or chest cold take 2 Aspirin tablets—gargle a full glass of water. Repeat in 2 hours.

Rawness, Irritation Go at Once
Note Directions for New Instant Treatment

Incredible as it may seem, doctors are now prescribing a way that relieves raw, painful sore throat in as little as 2 to 3 minutes!

All you do is crush and stir 3 Aspirin tablets in 1½ glass of water and gargle with it twice.

Aspirin tablets disintegrate so completely no irritating particles are left. Results are immediate. At once soreness is eased—discomfort allayed.

Everywhere throat specialists urge this fundamental treatment instead of less effective old-time "washes" and "antiseptics." Remember this. And when you buy, see that you get ASPIRIN. It is made in Canada and all druggists have it. Look for the name Bayer on every Aspirin tablet. Aspirin is the trade mark of the Bayer Company, Limited.

CAN IT BE DONE?

By Ray Gross

Do you think this idea is practical? Write Ray Gross in care of this newspaper his book on Peter in these words: "Simon did become the Rock that Jesus foresaw in him. He was slow in the making, but hard rocks are not made in a day. He did learn how to become a fisher of men and caught them alive for Christ. He did turn and strengthen his brethren as Jesus foresaw that he would do. He did shepherd the flock and feed the lambs. He did use the keys in his hands to unlock the door of the kingdom of God (the church of Christ) for all who would listen to his words. Peter's life is an open book written in imperishable words and deeds recorded in the New Testament to cheer us all on our way with Christ."

Questions For Discussion
1. Are there more Peters than Judases?
2. Why do we enjoy seeing the haughty come to grief?
3. Did Peter run more risk than the other disciples?
4. Was Peter's denial due to loss of faith?
5. Is it always cowardly for men to cry?

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Individuality can be shown in your snapshots by taking scenes of them at odd angles. Such pictures are often much more attractive than conventional, straight-on views.

YOU will be amazed how an odd slant or angle will make an interesting picture of a commonplace scene. Like so many other things we do day after day, we can easily get into a rut in taking pictures. Usually we take just the normal, conventional view—straight at the subject—as if it were a sacred relic of picture-making to do this. It is not at all necessary to take pictures that are way every time. Variety is the spice of live photography!

Street scenes—the scurrying crowds, the repair gang at work, the traffic jam—are usually more striking if taken from a high level. We are, of course, familiar with the reverse view—the pictures of skyscrapers with the camera pointed directly up. The buildings appear to be leaning backwards and about to topple off their foundations. Such pictures are frankly intended to be bizarre distortions, but if you like them, by all means "shoot" them. Some of them will at least be funny.

Parade scenes are effective if the camera is held low, or on the ground, for you will get the effect of feet marching into the camera—realism. This applies, too, in taking pictures of running or trotting races.

Swimming pictures are better if the camera is at a high level and you "shoot" almost directly down on the subject. From this angle you get the ripples of the water and the light playing on them. Another out of the ordinary picture is that of action on a toboggan slide, such as you see at winter resorts and amusement parks. Get set with your camera on a high level, within range of the snow, where the toboggan strikes the water. When you snap the picture you will get a fantastic and attractive effect as the water splashes high above the occupants. Slides in swimming pools or at the beach offer the same opportunity as the bathers strike the water. But if you are close up, be sure and don't let the water splash on the lens of your camera.

Winter offers exceptionally fine opportunities for picture taking at odd angles. For instance, there is the old mill and the mill pond hidden in the summer by the foliage of the willows. You can't get it at any angle. But in the winter from high up on the hill you can get the full picture. Old Jack Frost and King Winter solve many picture problems by removing the leaves and the chances for getting artistic effects are often much more in your favor than in the summer.

In suggesting that you take some of your pictures from high levels, it does not necessarily mean that you should be on a balcony or on top of a building every time. You can perch on a chair, a fence, or the top of your automobile, and get perspectives that will make attractively distinctive pictures.

But all pictured do not lend themselves to this type of photography so don't make it a habit. You would get some queer results sometimes. Just as a good newspaper reporter develops a "nose for news" that tells him what is and what is not news, so the successful amateur photographer should develop "an eye for pictures." It is that which instinctively tells him the subjects that make good "snap" shots at a given time, should be taken in the conventional manner. "Keep shooting!" says it.

Temperance Table Talks

By UMBLE JOHN

(Sponsored by the Social Service Council and Temperance Alliance)

NO LONGER RESPECTABLE

There it is, black and white—the rum-runner is no longer respectable. It is written all over that story of the "Tin Alone," the rum-running ship sent to the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico by the American coast guard in 1929, whose case has just been finally judged by a friendly Canadian-American judicial commission. The good skipper, Capt. John T. Randall, made a claim for personal losses of stiff things as an opera hat, a dinner jacket and the like. But they were trinkets compared with what he judged to be the damage to his personal reputation, and for which he entered suit for the sum of $25,000. This is the way he is reported to have put it: "A stigma has become attached to my name as a rum-runner and smuggler. I can't get a job. As a matter of fact, the judicial commission exaggerated the skipper and his crew from the stigma by declaring that they were not really party to the conspiracy and were therefore entitled to material amends for losses incurred."

I am not here concerned with the merits of the case as it has dragged its way through the stages of legal and judicial process to its conclusion. What interests me here is the word of the good skipper himself, and as well the generally expressed attitude towards the incident. They serve to bring out in bold relief the stigma of dishonor which the public conscience of Canada and the United States—to no further add—stamps upon the whole business of rum-running, boot-legging and all such "heroics" of the underworld of seamen and "bandits" alike. Stripped of all camouflage of respectability, who are the rum-runners or bootleggers but they who, in daily purpose and practice, are the enemies of the society to which they belong, plotting to ruin the greatest of its laws for food and sex for the sake of a few paltry dollars, secured at the priceless cost of human happiness and social well-being, so ruthlessly invaded by their truck and trade in alcoholic beverages.

"I can't get a job," not because there was no job to get, not because he could not do the job if he got it; but just because, if dubbed a "rum-runner" he had lost his social standing before the public conscience of a civilized world. (Whatever else this "Tin Alone" episode teaches, let me say this, at great lesson be lost upon this would-be adventures of his generation.)

Phoney Rhymes

that no rum-runner, no bootlegger, can hold up his head, look the society of this American continent in the face, and say, "I am a respectable citizen."

REPORT OF THE ROAD AND BRIDGE COMMITTEE

We, your Committee on Road and Bridges, hereby recommend that the following Resolution, which was moved by Warden Andrews, seconded by Councillor Cornwell and passed, be sent to the Hon. Minister of Public Highways, with the petition received from a large number of rate payers at Smith's Cove:

"Be It Resolved, that the Council of the Municipality of the District of Digby is in favor of the opening of a Public Highway running from the Public Highway, No. 1, going through Smith's Cove, in a northerly direction to the shores of Annapolis Basin, at or near the eastern line of property of G. W. Whitcham. That the Department of Highways take the already private way and open it as a Public Highway for the convenience and use of Ratepayers in the District of Smith's Cove, No. 16, and further would recommend that this be done as soon as possible."

AUDITORS' REPORT AND STATEMENTS FOR THE YEAR 1934

To the Warden and Councillors, Municipality of Digby, N. S.

Gentlemen:

We have completed our audit of the books and accounts of your Municipality for the year ended December 31st, 1934, and have to report as follows:

- 1.—Balance sheet statement of Assets and Liabilities as at December 31st, 1934.
- 2.—Statement of accrued revenue and expenditure for the year ended December 31st, 1934.
- 3.—Statement of Cash Received and Cash Disbursed and proof of Bank for the year ended December 31st, 1934.
- 4.—Detailed statement of the Items of General and Contingent Expense included in the statement of Cash Disbursements.

Receipts and payments have been examined with original records and vouchers and monies received have been properly paid into the Bank. The Bank accounts have been reconciled with the Bank record and the balance certified by your Banker.

There has been a marked improvement in the collection of Taxes during 1934 as compared with the previous year. There was collected on the 1934 rates $33,838.66, or approximately 79 per cent, and in addition there was collected $14,331.63 on account of arrears. The collection of these funds came at a timely moment and enabled the county to maintain a fairly good financial standing.

The Bank overdraft has been paid off at the commencement of the year to $12,401.05 at December 31st, 1934, but the heavy indebtedness to the Province for Highway Tax has been liquidated with the exception of about $1,000.00, and some further liabilities of 1933 for school drafts and hospitals have been paid in addition to keeping the current bills fairly well paid.

Hospitalization costs for the insane are increasing and now amount to between eight and nine thousand dollars per annum. This is a heavy drain upon the county revenue.

During the year two further serial bonds of $500.00 each fell due and were paid.

Although the collection of 1934 and 1933 rates have been good, the arrears of 1932 and previous of which there are still about $7,000.00 yield, as a very small amount. In view of this we have increased the reserve against uncollectable rates from $2,000.00 to $5,000.00 and an endeavor should now be made to collect these arrears.

The revenue and expenditure account shows a deficit for the year of $2,702.89.

Respectfully Submitted,

Kidneys Bothered
Her for Years

But Dodd's Kidney Pills Soon Made Her Well Again.

Prince Edward Island Lady Always Relies on Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Bedford Station, P. E. I., Jan. 25 (Special).—"My mother always kept Dodd's Kidney Pills in the house because she suffered from kidney trouble," writes Mrs. W. Best, a well-known resident of this place. "When my daughter was in her teens she was bothered periodically with Backache. Naturally, I thought of DODD'S right away. We purchased three boxes, and the trouble was soon overcome. My daughter is now a registered nurse and was quite strong and healthy all through her training period. We always rely on Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Thousands of others tell the same story. They have tried Dodd's Kidney Pills and found them good. For Dodd's Kidney Pills as a tonic and family Kidney Remedy are without equal.

SHE PLAYS ORGAN
AT 75 YEARSTAKES KRUSCHEN TO KEEP RHEUMATISM AWAY

Writing to tell how she keeps her activity, this wonderful old woman states:—

"My hands were becoming so crippled that I had to give up piano and organ playing—and almost entirely gave up knitting. I have been using Kruschen Salts for nearly two years, and am very pleased with the results. Last August I played two church services on the organ, and hope to do so again this August. My fingers are nearly straight, and quite supple again. I am 75. I have recommended Kruschen Salts to many people."

A. A. C.

The six mineral salts of Kruschen have a direct effect upon the whole bloodstream, neutralizing uric acid, which is the recognized cause of rheumatism. They also restore the eliminating organs to proper working order, and so prevent constipation, thereby checking the further formation of uric acid and other poisons which undermine the health.

Activities of the Victorian Order Nurses During Past Year

The following reports were submitted at the annual meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses, Digby Branch, held recently, and which has previously been referred to in our columns:

Report of the Publicity and Educational Committee and Tuberculosis Christmas Seal Sale.

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen:

At the annual meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses at Ottawa, one of the doctors present was slightly critical of the Victorian Order's non-aggressive policy and urged more intensive effort to bring to all sections of the community the benefits of the service offered. From conferences such as this evolved a new committee for the Board of Management of the local branch, viz., this Educational and Publicity Committee. This committee has endeavored to bring before the public, through the press and other means, the benefits and work of the Order.

During the year the various entertainments which have been held each month have been written up and eight articles of an educational nature, for the local newspaper. Unfortunately, for lack of space, these have not always been published. Previous to the annual canvass for membership fees in June, a set of posters depicting the varied aspects of the nurse's work was procured from the head office at Ottawa, and through the courtesy of Mr. May and Mr. Dillon were displayed in their shop windows. Also, in June, through the Director of Publicity, J. C. Campbell, government, Ottawa, we were able to secure some very beautiful slides of Canadian scenery, when Rev. Mr. Fyfe kindly read the lecture and exhibited the picture.

The Victorian Order of Nurses works in conjunction with various health organizations and is especially active with the Nova Scotia Tuberculosis Committee. Twice during the year a Tuberculosis specialist is sent to Digby to hold clinics with the Victorian Order nurse always in attendance. In 1933 and 1934 22 patients were examined; some were sent to the Sanatorium at Kentville; others are taking the rest cure at home, being frequently visited by the V. O. nurse. 12 school children who were underweight, were examined and found to have T. B. After taking the rest cure for several months at home they are back again at school, but still under supervision. Children coming from homes where there are tubercular patients, are frequently examined. Parents who have children in school have much cause for thankfulness for this constant supervision of their health. A grateful patient related to me the following story. A few years ago her daughter was escorted home from school by the doctor and V. O. Nurse and was informed she had tuberculosis, much to her parents' consternation. Following the treatment recommended and with frequent visits from the nurse after a few months the child completely recovered and has been exceedingly healthy ever since. There are probably many such cases of which we never hear results. A disease diagnosed in its early stages can be more easily coped with and there are more chances for complete recovery. In 1932, the latest statistics available, there were fifteen deaths in Digby County from tuberculosis—far too many.

To help raise funds for anti-tuberculosis work the Nova Scotia Tuberculosis Commission each year has a sale of Christmas seals, and in Digby it is under the auspices of the Victorian Order, who are allowed 75 per cent. of the proceeds. In July Miss Madge McCort, field secretary, came to discuss plans for the seal sale, which took place the latter part of November and through December, up to Christmas. Arrangements for the sale began in October; literature studied, a committee formed and districts allotted to the members for canvassing. The circular letter was prepared and signed by Rev. F. E. Bishop, president V. O. N., and Mr. Gass, president of the T. B. Commission. A copy of this letter, with seals enclosed, was mailed to many residents of the town and vicinity. Mr. Walker kindly put on a film depicting some of the work, and posters were exhibited in public places. By a house to house canvass the money was collected for these seals, and the resulting receipts were $102.25. Deducting expenses the Victorian Order received $74.53, and the Nova Scotia Tuberculosis Commission, $24.85.

I wish to extend my thanks to the Digby Weekly Courier, Mr. Walker, and all those who have assisted in this part of the Victorian Order work for 1934.

Respectfully submitted,
Jessie S. Turnbull
Chairman of Educational and Publicity Committee and Convenor T. B. Christmas Seals Sale Committee.

Report of the Nurse

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen:—
Before submitting my report I would like to read a message which appeared in "The News Letter" published by our head office, by Miss Elizabeth L. Shellenie, chief superintendent Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada.
"Out with the Old. On with the New!"
No other person of the year so well exemplify the spirit, the service and the objectives of the V. O. N. as Christmas and the New Year.
The keynote of Christmaside is to bring happiness to others; happiness to those who know it not, and more happiness to those who may already have a share. The twin notes of the New Year are faith in and hope of a greater measure of health and happiness than the declining year has given.

Through its ministrations to the suffering and its guidance towards better health the V. O. N. seeks—and not without success—to extend for those it reaches the Christmas and New Year attributes of happiness and renewed hopes in a twelve-month state of mind.

If we achieve these objectives no one need wish us a Merry Christmas or a Happy New Year, for they will be ours. Yet to those who are helping us toward the goal of maximum public service, the staff who have labored unselfishly and intelligently, the public spirited citizens who have given of their time and means, the departments, municipalities and the corporations who have contributed to enable the work to go forward, to all these, and to the 80,000 people whom we were privileged to serve in 1934, we may be permitted to extend the age-old greeting and wishes.
(Signed) Elizabeth L. Shellenie

I beg to submit the fourteenth annual report for the Digby Branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses.

In 1934 there were 159 patients, classified as follows:—56 medical, 11 surgical, 6 communicable, 23 prenatal, 7 obstetrical (emergency), 22 infants of obstetrical cases, 7 postnatal, 6 infants of postnatal, 21 health instruction.

Nationalities—151 Canadian (English speaking); 1 British; 1 American.

Religions—124 Protestants, 34 Roman Catholics, 1 Hebrew.

Visits—There were 111 to prenatals, 132 to obstetrical, 121 to infants of obstetrical cases, 84 to postnatal, 81 to infants of postnatal, 13 to tuberculosis, 1 other communicable, 1 cancer, 247 to others, 111 visits to delivery (these are visits made during confinement), 7 to operations. Total nursing visits, 914.

Non-Nursing Instructional Visits, Clinics and Classes 240; school inspection 24; home school 73; child welfare, 196; instructive, 202 (including 24 tuberculosis); on behalf of patients, 194; to patients not seen, 11. Grand total of Visits, 2104.

Comparing the work in general with last year: In 1933 there were 153 patients; this year, 159. The number of nursing visits is much lower than last year; this is due largely to the cases being of shorter duration and no serious epidemics, for which we are grateful.

Prenatal Work—We are trying to educate the public that these visits to expectant mothers are of the greatest importance. No fee is charged for these visits and the service is for any expectant mother, regardless of where she is to be confined.

The nurse on her first visit makes inquiries if the patient has seen her physician and if not she is strongly advised to do so without delay. During these visits the expectant mother is taught the safe-guarding of her own health, also doing that of the baby, by proper diet, personal hygiene and the proper preparations for confinement and after care, if she is to remain at home. Unfortunately a number of expectant mothers are not reported to us until at the time of confinement, therefore they miss the supervision and encouragement during one, if not the most, trying time in a woman's life.

Infant and Postnatal Work—After the mother is out of bed or home from the hospital, she and her baby are visited once weekly for six weeks. By this time the baby is usually brought to the Well Baby Clinic. At these visits the mother's general condition is checked up, the baby is weighed, instructions are given as to its proper care, and feeding is supervised under the physician's directions. There were 165 of these visits made during the year.

Well Baby Clinics or Mother's Conferences are held in the nurse's room at the Court House every Friday from 2 to 4 p.m., and every mother, with babies and children up to school age, is invited to attend. At these clinics the babies are weighed, preferably without their clothes, as this is the only way the exact weight and gain may be determined.

Infants' feedings and their condition in general are supervised and if ill or progress is not satisfactory, they are referred to their family physician.

Afternoon tea is served to the mothers have the privilege of enjoying a social time, a well as have their problems solved.

There were 47 cases registered during the year, 35 clinics held with a total attendance of 197. The average attendance was 5.6. 10 group talks to mothers, 66 consultations with the nurse.

On December 14th, in the council chamber in the Court House, which was gay with evergreens and Christmas decorations, a party was given for the babies and older children who attend the clinics. There were thirty-five little people present with their mothers, besides members and friends of the V. O. N.

Afternoon tea was served by the V. O. N. committee; afterwards the children were given oranges and candy wrapped in holiday paper.

School Work—There were 284 visits made to the school. These included the 1 1/2 hours kept for pupils at the Court House—80 more visits made than last year and 198 more than in 1932; 2019 individual inspections; 551 pupils weighed; 69 defects corrected, these included removal of tonsils and adenoids, dental eyeight corrected and dental fee; 27 pupils referred to their family physician; 728 minor treatments given; 17 health talks; 73 visits made to pupils' homes; 51 visits made in connection with school work.

In October ten school children were taken to Dr. Phinney, eye specialist, in Yarmouth, by the nurse. Seven of these were underprivileged; the glasses and doctor's fees were paid by the Junior Red Cross Society and the Kiwanis Club, Digby, provided the transportation.

Three underprivileged pupils had their tonsils and adenoids removed at the Digby General Hospital. The Kiwanis paid the hospital, expenses and Drs. Dickie and McCleave kindly gave their services. A number of pupils have had dental work through the kindness of the School board and local dentists. Notices were sent to all parents whose children were underweight; thirteen pupils were referred to the health officer, seven were excluded.

There were a few cases of whooping cough which might have developed into an epidemic only for the splendid co-operation of the medical health officer, the teachers and mothers of the pupils, and for this work

At the adjourned meeting of the Digby Town Council, held Tuesday evening, it was revealed that during the month of January upwards of sixty men were given employment by the town on the streets and shovelling snow. According to the report of W. W. Hayden, superintendent of streets and water, the heaviest damage by the frost early in the month was at the Racquetto. This, he claimed, was caused by the overfilling of a terra cotta pipe from the Imperial Oil Company's tanks.

A resolution was passed that after full repairs had been made and the actual cost known, that a bill for the damage be sent to the Imperial Oil Company. The damage is estimated at $500.

SENT UP FOR TRIAL

Robert Perry, of Freeport, who last week was committed for trial by Stipendiary Magistrate J. A. Taylor, for breaking into and entering the summer cottage of J. W. Merkel, at Joggin Bridge, was given another preliminary hearing and committed for trial on charges of breaking into and stealing from the summer homes of Dr. H. S. Vedder and Rev. J. W. B. Stewart, Smith's Cove.

At the hearing Perry admitted his guilt, and said he had broken into the Vedder and Stewart places on January 1st: from there he went "up country" and worked a few days, and returned. On the 18th he was lying in a bed in the Vedder home, lighted a cigarette, and threw a match on the floor. The match ignited some paper, and the fire had gained considerable headway before he noticed it. He made an effort to put the flames out with snow, but as the room became filled with smoke he became frightened and fled. Forgetting his rap he returned to the house but was not able to get into the room to recover it. The Vedder home was destroyed.

Perry claims that he made his way to the beach in back of the house, and followed along the shore to the Merkel cottage, at Salt Pond, Joggin Bridge, two miles away. Mounted police tracked him to that place where he was arrested.

Perry had on him two woollen coat sweaters as well as other items of clothing, which he admits stealing from the Vedder and Stewart summer homes. Other articles alleged to have come from these places were in his pockets.

The Ladies of the Executive of the V. O. N. are cordially invited to meet at the home of the Convenor of the supply Committee on Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, to sew for the underprivileged of the town. Please send in any garments or pieces that you may have, or old quilts or blankets that can be mended. Would like them early as possible, so the work can be arranged.—S. J. Abbott, Convenor.

COMMON SENSE

The common sense of an Englishman often helps him to solve a problem. A complaint was made because a lad of 14 was skipping school. The authorities called in his mother to find out why. She said it was because he was just an inch short of six feet tall, was bigger than any of his teachers, and had to sit at a desk that was too low for him. Therefore he hated school, and because of his size the teachers could not discipline him without asking for trouble.
The authorities consulted, and found the answer. They sent a policeman, six feet two, to talk to the boy.

He is back in school.

GOING BACKWARD

In the eighteenth century there were inns and taverns in England whose swinging signs bore the invitation: "here you can get drunk for a penny and dead drunk for twopence. Straw to sleep on."

In the twentieth century an advertisement in a prominent Texas newspaper—we follow it verbatim, says the Christian Science Monitor—reads:

"What's Your Capacity? All the beer you can drink, one hour 65 cents, half-hour 40 cents.

Nothing being mentioned about straw, the assumption is that the modern promoter of tipisness is far less hospitable than was his prototype whose befuddled customers were so realistially portrayed in Hogarth's paintings of "Gin Lane"
and "Beer Street."

But his methods remain the same.

DEEP BROOK

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Steele went to the "San" at Kentville, recently, for

The annual business meeting of the Baptist Church was held in the church on Saturday afternoon. Reports from different branches of the work showed the finances to be satisfactory. All bills paid, with a balance on hand.

Mrs. Arthur Charter, of Wakefield, Mass., visited at the home of Mrs. L. E. Sherman recently.

Frog Lake last week, left on Mon-

Activities of the Hospital
Aid During the Past Year

At the annual meeting of the Ladies' Hospital Aid, held recently, the following reports of the year's activities, were presented:

Secretary's Report

Madam President, Ladies:—
I beg to submit the tenth annual report of the Ladies' Hospital Aid Society, of Digby.

It is my privilege and pleasure to prepare this review of the work of this Society for the year 1934.

We are grateful to report another year of success, despite the financial stress prevalent to these times. The past year has evidenced no great change in the activities of this Society, and the members will be gratified to learn that their diligence and perseverance has earned for us a year which compares more favorably than that of 1933.

It is to our public that we most humbly express our appreciation for their faithfulness in assisting us materially to carry out our efforts, and for their constant co-operation in the raising of their time and money.
Two factors without which this organization could not exist.

In summing up the proceeds for the year, our friends will doubtless forgive us if we boast a bit when we report our earnings as aggregating approximately $1,000. This is exclusive of a bank balance of $38.09, credited to our account on January 1st, 1934, and of proceeds from the Annual Hospital Fair. Our total income exceeds that of 1933 by nearly $200.

In June the sum of $500 was withdrawn from our treasury, and forwarded to the Financial Committee of the Hospital Board to be applied toward the reduction of the bank loan. Although it might seem unnecessary for the secretary of this society to report upon this matter, it, somehow seems only fitting and proper to share with our supporters of Digby and from the surrounding communities, at this time, the knowledge that the bank loan of $5,000 has been fully paid and duly cancelled. Again, in November, an additional $300 was sent to the Board to help redeem a $500 bond.

Other expenditures, incidental to the upkeep of our own organization, such as advertisements, etc., ac-ounted to $24.49.

The Buying Committee has had an active year visiting the Hospital several times during the year to check supplies, and have given generously of their time in mending and making new supplies. It is pleasing to learn at the beginning of a new year that a recent inventory finds the Hospital comfortably equipped in so far as linens are concerned. This committee has purchased, or superintended the making of, since January last, 22 Johnny cakes, 12 bed spreads, 2 bread knives, 10 yards material for operating towels, 12 pairs curtains and a new couch cover for the reception room.

Our sources of revenue have been practically the same as in previous years, namely, Hospital Bridge Clubs, Teas and Pantry Sales, Rummage Sales, Calendars, etc.—these earnings being supplemented by the Hospital Aid membership fees, and a few direct donations.

In earning capacity the monthly entertainments have been most lucrative, the Entertainment Committee having sponsored ten benefits during the year: Two dances, two rummage sales, one tea and pantry sale, three telephone bridges, one chowder and bean supper, and a "travelling apron".

The Hospital Bridge Clubs have been a splendid source of income to us, the 133-34 earnings amounting to $166.09.

The Hospital Calendars, although being distributed for only ten months instead of the usual twelve, have likewise been most remunerative, a total of $260.05 having been realized from this source. This amount includes a balance of $64.45 for calendars of last year turned in last January.

In July the Kiwanis Club kindly granted this society a concession to have a fruit and candy booth at the Midsea Carnival. Proceeds netted $8.16.

The membership dues, composed of a fee of 25 cents, amounted to $3.50, and cash donations totalling $28 increased our funds appreciably.

In addition to the foregoing report of the revenue of the Ladies' Aid, our members have been acceptable for monies which are deposited under a separate bank account.

Throughout the winter of 1934 the Sewing Circle met regularly each week, with ten cent teas served, the proceeds being devoted to supplies for the annual fair, which took place as usual in August. With the customary assistance from the Hospital Board, the sum of $143.85 was realized, this amount going directly to the Board.

During the fair, additional china was needed and a few of the members raised the necessary funds to purchase 12 plates, 12 cups and 24 sauces. A small balance was turned in to the treasury.

As usual our supply committee sent to the Hospital a large contribution of suitable articles from the annual fair, consisting mainly of foodstuffs and a few doctors' supplies.

In November our Society held Donation Day, serving tea in the Hospital reception room. Visitors at this time were given an opportunity to inspect the building. Generous donations of jam, preserves and canned goods, together with several towels, face cloths and a few cash donations, were left by the visitors. Contributions were also sent by well wishers from Annapolis, Bear River, Weymouth and Barton, who were unable to be present.

During the harvest season the Hospital was bountifully supplied with fruits, vegetables and linens from the people of Landsdowne, Bear River, Hill Grove, as well as from many people in our own community.
Needless to say, these donations represent a great saving to the Hospital.

This institution is indeed indebted to its many friends for their thoughtfulness throughout the year.
We would take this opportunity to express appreciation to the entire community as well as to many outside business firms, for all donations received during the annual Fair. We are especially grateful to the ladies of Weymouth, Bear River and Smith's Cove who operated Booths, and for their invaluable assistance rendered us.

During the year, twelve regular meetings, and one special meeting was held by this Society with an average attendance of slightly over 13. This average shows an increase over that of last year, and although it is only a small increase, it is nevertheless, encouraging to us.

However, there are many people in the community who have shown a willingness to help the organization, but who are not on our membership roll, and we earnestly implore these people to join this Society (the fee being only 25 cents) to help share our responsibilities in the sponsoring of their money.

Digby County may well be proud of its Hospital, which is so well equipped, for the good it accomplished throughout the County. During the past year, the Hospital registered and administered aid to 293 patients. I think you will agree that this figure speaks for itself, and proves how necessary an institution of this kind is to the community.
We earnestly solicit the co-operation of everyone as we begin the work of a new year—1935.

Respectfully submitted,
Lillian N. Nichols,
Sec'y. Ladies' Hospital Aid Society

Follow Simple Directions:

When you have a cold, remember the simple treatment pictured here—prescribed by doctors as the quick, safe way.

Results are amazing. Ache and distress go immediately. Because of Aspirin's quick-disintegrating property, Aspirin "takes hold"—almost instantly. Your cold is relieved "quick as you caught it!"

All you do is take Aspirin and drink plenty of water. Do this every 2 to 4 hours the first day—less often afterward. If throat is sore, the Aspirin gargle will ease it in as little as 2 minutes.

Ask your doctor about this. And be sure you get ASPIRIN when you buy. It is made in Canada and all druggists have it. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every Aspirin tablet. Aspirin is the trade mark of the Bayer Company, Limited.

Having worked on a newspaper himself, he will probably realize how soon we will be making the trip and be on hand to welcome us.

SENTENCE SERMONS

Rev. Roy L. Smith

Quarrels Would Not Last

If we were as much interested in the right as in our rights;
If both parties were willing to take their share of the blame;
If both sides did not have a share in the guilt;
We are to victory;
If we were as devoted to truth as if we were willing to let grudge die a natural death;
If we all gave the charity we expect to receive;
If peace was as highly prized as prejudice.

In Bed With Neuritis Every Winter

Until Kruschen Brought Relief

"For three years," writes a woman, "I have been sick in bed about three months every winter with neuritis in my hips and legs. Last winter I started taking Kruschen Salts, and got relief from the first dose. This winter I have not been in bed at all."

—(Mrs.) D. M.

Neuritis is a result of impurities in the blood. And it is impure blood, circulating all over the system and setting up inflammation in the tissues, that causes those excruciating pains. Kruschen Salts can be safely trusted to set the matter right. Because Kruschen contains just what Nature needs to persuade your internal organs back into a healthy, normal condition.

Two attractive musical numbers were "The Japanese Sandman," and "The Yip Doll," given by the Misses N. MacIntyre and B. Dukeshire, in charming costumes and accessories. A piano solo by Louise Harris, a vocal solo, "If Winter Comes," by Mrs. J. Warren, and a humorous reading by Mrs. L. J. Lovett completed the program, and after the serving of refreshments the bridge and 45 tables attracted many of the guests the remainder enjoying the excellent music and floor for dancing. Special mention should be made of the orchestra, of local talent, composed of the following young men: L. Harris, Maurice and Aubrey Darnes, John Harris, W. Peck, C. Temperance Table Talks

By UNCLE JOHN

LET US BE HUMANE

I have recently noticed an interesting argument used by a lawyer in one of our local courts. He was defending a client who was under the charge of having liquor in his possession illegally. Evidence had been given by the defendant to show that he had simply taken the bottle of liquor away from a would-be guest at his boarding house, because already he showed signs of having had too much of its contents. He could do nothing else but hide it in some near-at-hand place, which he did. Here it was found by the officers of the law—hence the charge. "Well," said the counsel for the defence, "if the story be true, then he should be credited with the doing of a humane act in taking the liquor away from the man so that he could not drink any more while he was intoxicated."

Now I have nothing here to do with the truth or falseness of the statement of the defendant. Nor have I anything to say about the justice or injustice of the charge laid or the sentence imposed. My interest here is solely with the lawyer's claim that his client had done a humane deed in taking away the liquor from a man already under its influence, just to save him from drinking any more, at least until he sobered up. I thoroughly agree with the good lawyer. It certainly was a humane act to keep liquor away from a man already intoxicated, for already the man had by liquor suffered injury in body, mind and morals. I would go much further than the good lawyer went, and I have no doubt he would himself go much further too, were he considering the whole matter on its merits. I would say emphatically that it would have been a humane act on the part of the seller of the liquor in question whether legal or illegal, had he considered the injury that intoxicating liquor inevitably does to a sober man, and at that stage have kept the liquor from him. More than that, it would have been a humane thing on the part of the maker of intoxicating liquors, the brewer or the distiller, to have stopped and considered the harm that the liquor he makes inevitably works upon those who are to drink it, and at that stage to do his part to save the would-be drinker from such harm. If it be a humane thing to deny liquor to an intoxicated man, is it not also a humane thing to help save the sober man from the injury which he may thoughtlessly, recklessly, or by force of habit, bring upon himself and others by its use?

And what about the humanness of this whole business that is built around the making and the selling of alcoholic beverages, whose inevitable issues is the degradation of the individual and the deterioration of the whole social structure? Let us determine that we shall be humane, that we shall not make money for individual or state or corporation by being inhumane, that we shall build our business life not around profits but around personality. Let us be humane.

HEALTH

THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

ARTHRITIS

Inflammation of a joint or joints is called arthritis. The inflammation may be acute or chronic. Acute arthritis may be a symptom of rheumatic fever; it may be due to an injury, or it may be a complication arising out of the presence of infection in some other part of the body.

The vast majority of cases follow some other infection in the system. Infected teeth, tonsils or nasal sinuses may be the underlying cause. Infection which has settled down in the gall bladder, appendix, or generative organs may spread and set up an inflammation in the joints.

The disease may begin with fever. Pain in the affected joint when moved is an early symptom. All the usual symptoms of inflammation are present, such as redness, swelling and tenderness. The fingers and toes are the parts which are usually attacked. Later, the joints become stiff and flaccid in an unnatural position; they appear large because the muscles surrounding them waste through lack of use.

The extent and severity of the condition vary. In some cases, there is little or no deformity, whilst in others, the deformity is quite severe. Obviously, the condition is related in its severity to the underlying cause.

The first step in treatment is rest and quiet. Attention should be directed to the general health which is often disturbed. A simple diet, including fresh fruits, green vegetables, and milk, together with the free use of fluids, is indicated.

The real and most hopeful treatment is directed towards finding and radiating any forms of infection which may be present in any one of the sites previously mentioned. If the infection is already firmly established in the joint, too much cannot be hoped for from the removal of the focus from which the infection originated.

Medicines are of value in giving relief from the symptoms, but no medicine has been proved to be of value as a curative agent. Rather, must reliance be placed upon raising the standard of personal health through the recognized means, and by avoiding any excesses, living the simple life, with plenty of rest. The use of massage, heat and other forms of treatment for the joints should be applied only under medical direction.

Question concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

New Electro-processed Light-weight Aluminum Pistons... practically immune from wear.

New Syncro-Silent Transmission... takes all noise and effort out of shifting... in all gears.

New-type Airshod Tires... give broader road contact, quicker stopping, 42% more non-kid mileage.

And an amazing new type of tapered leaf springs in the rear gives flexibility never before possible.

In the Air-stream De Soto you have a car, light in weight, which rides easier than any car except the Airflow.

And now the second chapter—a new Airflow... brilliantly restyled.

You'll have to see it yourself... to know how truly beautiful it is.

The front end has been smartly improved. Interiors are more sparkling... with handsome new fabrics.

Here is the car of 1935... that's two years ahead of the field.

V. O. N. Concluded

On September 21st, the nurse assisted in judging the babies at the Digby County Fair, which was held at Bear River.

Miss Dawson, Eastern Supervisor for the Victorian Order of Nurses, visited this district in March and November, both these visits were stimulating and encouraging.

Miss McCourt, of Tuberculosis Seal Sale Committee, visited this district on July 13th.

Before closing my report I would like to tell you of an incident which happened in one of our V. O. N. districts.

A nurse, on visiting a home found a mother without adequate bedding and the husband despondent because of his own inability to provide, took from a wall a treasured blanket, that was so valued it hung as a tapestry, it was from the V. O. N. wall in her centre, and gave it to the mother, this act of kindness gave new confidence and new courage to the husband, as well as comfort to the wife.

The following is the husband's reply:

"'Twas only a bar of soap
A neighbor cut in half,
'Run along now and do your washing'
She said with a shaky laugh.
'Twas only a loaf of bread
A neighbor cut in three,
Gave away two parts and said,
'This piece is enough for me'.
'Twas only a pair of spuds
A neighbor divided up,
A pint of milk was shared—
She kept for herself one cup.
'Twas only a little sharing,
Giving of what they had,
But we know our neighbor's better,
Somewhat, now times are bad."

I think we too like that husband have taken courage and been helped from the many kindnesses we have received during the year.

"To all who have assisted the work of the Victorian Order of Nurses in any way and to our own staunch V. O. N. Committee, I am very grateful."

May 1935 find us closely banding together for the benefit of the public good.

Respectfully submitted,
Charlotte Gulliver Sturgeon.

Report of the Supply Committee
Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen:

I beg to submit a brief summary of the work of the Supply Committee of the Victorian Order of Nurses, Digby Branch, during the past year. It has been a busy year for the Order, if not a financial success. Owing to the depression the earning capacity has been reduced, as you know—many families out of work, the greater part of the time. Our work has been to look after these families, especially the children. Through the kindness and generosity of our townspeople we have been able to furnish, clothing to a great many of these underprivileged children. We also supplied milk for a time to a family where there was sickness and a mattress being badly needed. In the same home, some generous men friends promptly filled the need. We also helped a family of four who walked here from Halifax in search of work. Again kind friends came to the rescue and helped them with money and provisions to make the trek back. Another friend taking them in his car as far as Annapolis Royal.

Quite a little sewing was done. Six complete layettes for babies were made, as our nurse must have a goodly supply on hand—we would not have her embarrassed should an emergency arise such as the Dionne case. Other things provided for babies were crib sheets and blankets, pillow and cases, cloaks and bonnets, etc. And for older children and those of teen age: Shoes and Stockings, Overalls, Rubbers, Flip-flops, Mittens, Scarfs, Caps. Hate six dresses for high school girls, sweaters, coats, bloomers, undersuits, waists, corsets, suit of men's clothes, extra coat, boy's coat, little girls' dresses, men's boots, golf socks, boys' shirts and pants, dressing gown, etc.

These are some of the things received for distribution—cast-off things for the most part—but have done their share in making so many children comfortable and happy, and were gratefully received by the recipients. I would not forget the splendid donation a lady sent for Christmas, consisting of dolls, dolls' cribs, musical toys, games and books—18 pieces in all. I only wish she had been with me Christmas eve to see the joy on the kiddies' faces when they received them. It has been a labor of love ministering to these little ones, and our Father tells us: "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren ye have done it unto me". Therefore I earnestly hope that you will accord to our successors the same kindness and generosity you have shown toward us.

Respectfully submitted,

"The report of the secretary and treasurer and other information in connection with the annual meeting of the V. O. N. was published in The Courier of January 18th."

Annapolis and Vicinity

The monthly meeting of the Order of Good Chees was held Thursday evening in the Memorial Town Hall, the president, Samuel Pickup, in the chair, and an attendance of about sixty. After a hearty supper provided by the ladies of Unity Rebekah Lodge, welcome was extended to the guests present—Mr. Wood, travelling freight and passenger agent of the D. A. R.; William Sanford, of Clements, who is contractor in charge of repairs at the officers' quarters in Fort Anne Park, and Edward Cassidy of Everett, Mass., a former resident of this town. F. Harding Buttery, manager of the Canada Ski and Wood Products, Limited, gave a short talk on his plans for future development. T. H. H. Fortier spoke on the advisability of forming a Chamber of Commerce here, which suggestion met with approval. Moved by Dr. Blackall and seconded by A. Ruffee, that an organizing committee be appointed by the chair to form a branch of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce. This was done with committee consisting of T. H. H. Fortier, chairman; A. Kelsall, F. W. Harris, W. E. Allen, A. B. Crowe, Stanley Cochrane, A. W. Banks and S. W. Pickup. The principal speaker of the evening was Dr. George Wilson, professor of history at Dalhousie University, who gave a most instructive and interesting talk on Russia in 1934. A vote of thanks to the speaker was moved by the Rev. T. R. B. Anderson and seconded by W. Roy Smith. A vote of thanks was also passed to the ladies who catered, and the meeting closed in the usual way, with the singing of Auld Lang Syne.

On Tuesday afternoon, Mr. Whitman was again hostess at a ladies' contract party. Four tables were in play, and prizes were won by Mrs. F. W. Pickels and Mrs. A. W. Banks, R. W. E. Burnaby, of Toronto, formerly Trade Commissioner for the Maritime Provinces in that city, had been here the past week inspecting his business—the Canada Ski and Wood Products Limited. He is planning to keep the factory running all the year, and will manufacture flat hoops for apple barrels after the season for skills is over. This is welcomed as a new industry in this vicinity and will mean a market for hard wood. Mr. Burnaby has already secured orders for a million hoops, and may run three eight-hour shifts for a time.

A quiet wedding took place on Thursday evening, at St. George's, the parsonage, of William McLeod, of Margaret, C. B., and Miss Mary Evelyn Helen Wainbold, daughter of Mrs. Bernice McBride Wainbold, of Lequille, formerly of Caledonia. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. E. MacLennan, and the bride and groom were unattended. After a short wedding trip the happy couple will reside in town where the groom is an employee of the Canada Ski and Wood Products Limited.

In the case of the King vs. William Westhaver, of Clementsport, which was heard before Stipendiary Magistrate H. R. McKay recently, decision was given a few days ago. The accused was convicted and fined $50 and costs, to be paid within two weeks, or one month in the County Jail.

The trial was held in the Court House here on Thursday last, before His Honor, Judge W. A. Livingstone, of Perley Bruce vs. the British Canadian Fruit Association, of Kentville. This is a case of alleged overcharges on a consignment of apples to England, and being a test case is attracting quite a lot of attention among apple growers. Decision was reserved.

The death occurred early Sunday morning, at the Middleton Hospital, of Mrs. John Gesner, of this town. Shortly after Christmas she contracted a cold and inflammatory rheumatism, which necessitated hospital care. She had been in poor health for a long time, and her death was not unexpected. Mrs. Gesner was the widow of the late Capt. John Henry Gesner, of this town; her maiden name was Mary Fiorella Hawke, daughter of William and Fiorella Jane Roach Hawke and was a life long resident of this town. The funeral was held Monday afternoon at St. George's church, with interment in Woodlawn cemetery. Mrs. Gesner was 72 years of age, and leaves no immediate relatives.

HOSPITAL PLAY GREAT SUCCESS

The proceeds from the three-act comedy, "Making Father Behave", put on under the auspices of the Ladies' Hospital Aid of the Digby General Hospital, at the Bijou Theatre, on Tuesday evening, were $128. After deducting necessary expenses, the balance will be turned over to the Hospital.

The theatre was filled to capacity for this performance, which was greatly enjoyed. The cast was as follows:—Elizabeth Tilden, Mrs. C. L. Bowley, Becky, Harriett Campbell, Josephine, Mrs. Ted Dakin, Hortense Alberts, Miss Florence Keen, Mrs. MacLarren, Mrs. J. W. Merkel, Ardith, Mrs. J. M. Wallis, Mrs. Ted Woodman, understudy; Burgess Lucans, Victor Cardozo; Windham, Lawrence Dickson; Byron Cleveland, W. R. Fillmore; Alberts, Loran Hayden; David Standing, P. C. Purdy, and John St. Clair, E. J. Theatrical.

Hurt Jumping From Path of Runaway Horse

Although escaping death beneath the hooves of a runaway horse, Mrs. Ernest VanTassel, Mount Pleasant, met with a painful accident on Saturday, when she stumbled and fell while crossing a ditch. She struck heavily on her shoulder, dislocating—and possibly fracturing—it. The accident occurred when a team, heavily laden with ice, came to a sudden stop on a bare patch in the road. The horse jumped, breaking the whiffle tree, became frightened and took to flight. Mrs. VanTassel, who was directly in the path of the animal, leaped to one side and stumbled as she attempted to cross the ditch.

The Weather

By comparing their thermometers with the temperature reading over the Boston broadcasting stations, Digby citizens have noted on the whole this winter that the temperature in Digby has been anywhere from two to twelve degrees higher than that registered in Boston—not once has the temperature been lower than in New England. People who have recently returned from visits to Boston report far more snow there than here.

People of Digby County learn with deep regret of the serious illness of His Excellency, Bishop LeBlanc, of the Roman Catholic diocese of Saint John. Bishop LeBlanc is a native of Weymouth, and before his elevation was parish priest at St. Bernard. He it was who was instrumental in starting the magnificent new church now under construction in that village.

Ban Lifted on Scallop Fishing

The ban on scallop fishing in the Annapolis Basin, which was imposed by the federal authorities four years ago, was lifted on Friday, and during this month the scallop fleet will be permitted to drag in these waters.

On Saturday sixteen boats of the fleet dragged the Basin, but with little success. We have not heard of a boat taking over three gallons, and have heard of another shelling out a mere three pounds. Under such circumstances the season might just as well remain closed in the Basin. Nevertheless, the Annapolis Basin was the birthplace of the commercial scallop fishing in this section.

We hate to think of the sad fate of the various fishermen's schooners that have raced in the international contests. With the loss of the Elsie off St. Pierre, two weeks ago, all that have taken part in the trials since 1920, except the Bienenose and the Thebaud, have been lost—the Esperanto, the Henry Ford, Columbus and the Puritan.

Last week Chief Bishop had the misfortune to injure his left eye so badly that for a few days he was unable to distinguish between light and darkness. At the time he was cutting kindlings and one flew up and struck him fair on the eye ball. It was feared at first that the sight was permanently injured. He cannot see at all clearly yet with the injured eye, but its condition is improving gradually each day.—Bridgetown Monitor.

Thursday Morning's Fire Deprives Eight of Home

The residence of Clifford Farnsworth, Church Street, was destroyed by fire yesterday morning, as a result, Mr. and Mrs. Farnsworth and their six small children are without a home. The alarm was sounded about 9:45 yesterday morning.

The fire was discovered by Mrs. Farnsworth, who, on hearing the crackling of timbers, went upstairs to investigate and found the whole top floor a mass of flames. The alarm was sent in by telephone from the residence of T. E. G. Lynch.

Having gained great headway before the fire-fighting apparatus arrived, nothing could be done to save the dwelling. The firemen were unable to do much as there are no hydrants in that section of the town. The barn, near the burning house, was saved. It is understood that there was a small amount of insurance.

Mr. Farnsworth was at work when the alarm sounded, and it was Mrs. Farnsworth who got the children out of the house. Neighbors managed to save a few of the furnishings, but almost everything was lost. The fire is supposed to have caught from a stove pipe going through the roof.

The sympathy of the community is extended to the Farnsworth family. Both Mr. and Mrs. Farnsworth are hard workers, and Mr. Farnsworth has put practically all his earnings into his little home which was destroyed yesterday. Only one of their six children is old enough to go to school.

Judge Livingstone Passes Sentence to Robert Perry

Election to be tried under the Speedy Trials Act, the case of the King vs. Robert Perry, was heard Wednesday by County Court Judge W. A. Livingstone. Perry was charged on the charges of breaking into, entering and stealing goods from the summer homes of Dr. H. C. Vedder and of Rev. J. W. B. Stewart, Smith's Cove, and breaking into and entering the summer cottage of J. V. Merkel, Joggin Bridge. The Vedder home was destroyed by fire.

Perry was sentenced to four years in Dorchester for the Vedder break, three years for the Stewart break and two years for the Merkel break, sentences to run concurrently.

The trial of David Meisner came to an end in London, Ontario, on Wednesday. Meisner, who was charged with the kidnapping of John S. Abbott, wealthy London brewer, was sentenced to fifteen years. The trial lasted one week. Quite a contrast with the Lindbergh kidnapping trial at Flemington, N. J., which, according to one paper is being tried, "according to the best traditions of American Journalism," has already consumed the best part of a month.

With Kiwanis

"Why the Community Should Go to Church" was the subject of an address given by Rev. F. E. Bishop, pastor of the Digby Baptist church, at Tuesday's luncheon of the Digby Kiwanis Club. Mr. Bishop stressed the importance of the church to the community as a leader in the spiritual things of life by teaching the doctrines and ideals of Christ. Benevolent societies and service clubs catering to the physical side of life, are doing a splendid work, he said, but they are the results of the teachings of the church, and without the church they would not exist.

Mrs. Chester Levy-Johns returned home from Windsor, much improved in health.

Dr. C. J. Trueman, president of Mt. Allison University, was in town on Saturday en route to Yarmouth. While here he was the guest of J. J. Wallis and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wallis.

Space is valuable with us and therefore to make room for 1935 patterns we will sell our old stock wallpaper in a 1-cent sale. One roll at the regular price, another for 1 cent more. Borders at the regular price.—Connell's, Digby.

A MARITIME MYSTERY

(Winnipeg Free Press)

While over-production is the world problem and while most of the other provinces are diligently seeking outside markets for their surplus farm products the under-production of food products in the Maritime Provinces still continues, and they are buying $20,000,000 worth yearly, from other parts of the country. Nova Scotia does most of the importing—about $16,- 000,000 worth—but New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island are also doing it in lesser degree.

It will be inconceivable to western people that such a situation should exist—and our western farmers will regret that they are not nearer to the Maritimes and able to get in on some of the business.

There is plenty of good land in the Maritimes; it can produce agricultural products of high quality, and there is a constant market. Yet the Maritime Provinces are not feeding themselves, but they purchase large supplies of food from Quebec and Ontario.

Business in the Maritime Provinces would certainly benefit if these food supplies were produced at home and if the Maritime farmers received the millions of dollars that are spent on them.

CRIME SEVENTH IN PAPERS

A newspaper editor addressing an audience of Kiwanis on the subject "Why Print Crime News?" surprised them a little.

He explains, of course, the rather obvious truth that readers demand crime news, and won't support a paper that doesn't print it for them, and without the support gained in this way the paper couldn't give them a lot of other things which both editors and intelligent readers regard as more valuable. Also that the public ought to know about crime, for the sake of information and control, and had better get it straight in print than by hearsay.

But the surprising feature of his talk was this statement:
"The actual volume of crime news is much less than the public suspects. Surveys show that crime news ranks seventh in newspaper space."

PRINCE NOW A COMPOSER

The Prince of Wales, it is reported, has written a slow march for bagpipes and has presented it to the Scots Guards.
They will play it at certain public performances in connection with the jubilee celebration of King George this year.

Canadians are continually surprised at the versatility of the heir to the British throne. His official duties alone might be expected to keep an ordinary person more than busy. To them he has added hobbies and accomplishments such as are only now being suggested in this country for development in preparation for the greater leisure of the future.

To the untrained Canadian ear all bagpipe music sounds alike, so that a cynical person might say there never will be any way of telling whether the prince's composition is good or bad, but that's a mean attitude which should be discouraged. It is more important to realize that this very popular and busy young man knows enough music and likes it enough to write a march in his father's honor. A prince who makes use of such talents and who keeps increasing their range doesn't need to worry much about being bored even when he has to be king.

Friends of Radioland, did you stay up long enough on New Year's eve to pick up the noise and the tumult of San Francisco celebrating the passing of the old and the coming in of the new year? If so, I wonder if you heard the squawk of the little old horn carried by the California correspondent of the Couthe same.

'Twas a grand and glorious night for celebrating and when San Francisco celebrates she does it with a fervor and gaiety which leaves no doubt in the mind of the spectator and listener-in, that a good time is being had by all. Most of San Francisco's population seemed to have made up its mind to be down town
New Year's eve, for Market Street, from the Palace Hotel to the Civic Centre, was jammed with humanity, and a good natured humanity, too.

noise makers of greater or less intensity. One old boy, with an alarm clock, which he kept winding up and ringing, appeared to be having as much fun as anyone. Confetti salesmen along the street were busy supplying the crowd with paper snow-home for a bit of a nap before tak-berry sauce at Street Department headquarters, on New Year's day.

While Chief Quinn, of the Police Department, expected everyone to have a good time he took no chances on any outbreak of "rough stuff" for he had his men scattered in twos and threes all up and down the sidewalks, while squads of motor coops and mounted men kept auto traffic moving safely and sanely along the main thoroughfare of the city.

There was plenty of liquid refreshment, too. Ordinarily no liquor under the new "prohibition" state law may be sold from 2 a.m. until 6, but New Year's eve was an exception. Leading hotels, long before the first paper snow ball burst in the laughing face of the first sub-deb, announced reservations for dinners and dancing at $5.25 per person had been sold out. Night clubs reported ditto, liquor store proprietors blissfully complained of "glass" arms as they wearily reached shepherd to supply a seemingly endless demand for party bourbon, Scotch and wine.

Beer parlors—new name for saloons—were packed to the limit and weary bar tenders, waiters and fun-keys certainly earned their New Year's eve bonus or "take-off."

It was one of "those nights" and San Francisco, with a whoop and a holler brought in young Anno Domini, 1935, with a gusto in keeping with its most cherished traditions.

New Year's Day in Pasadena, Cal., was something that I missed this year. I had hoped and planned on being there, but having been called away to the northern city, I was unable to get back in time to view the most wonderful pageant in all of Pasadena's history. New Year's Day floral parade. That is how I came to be in San Francisco. New Year's eve, and the distance to Pasadena is 400 miles. I might have made it by driving all night but I do not like night driving so it was San Francisco for New Year's eve and Pasadena, maybe, for New Year's Day, 1935. And, I put in all day, January 1st, 1935, on the highway headed south for Los Angeles—and what a drive that was.
Twenty miles out of Oakland I ran into a pea soup fog which stayed with me until within ninety miles of home—a fog so thick that it was dangerous to pass a slow driver ahead for fear of meeting some one coming in the fog. I rolled along at the best speed possible under such conditions until within seventy miles of my destination and then met a steady stream of cars coming from the mountain from Pasadena—visitors homeward bound from the Tournament of Roses. The glare from headlights was terrible in many cases absolutely blinding, and the usual number of reckless drivers weaving in and out of traffic on that mountain road—splendid road as it is—did not add anything to my peace of mind. However, I came through without a scratch, for which,
Oh Lord, I was truly thankful.

The newspapers described the Pasadena spectacle this year as a dazzling pageant of flowers; viewed by a million people. The weather there was perfect. People came from all over Southern California and many from the north. Thousands were there at dawn in order that they might secure choice locations along the line of march. The theme of this beautiful spectacle was "Golden Legends," and has been described as a "panorama of the glorious past linked with the hopeful present and foreshadowing a brilliant future"— a story of mankind told in flowers.
Santa Barbara, the gem city of the Pacific coast, carried off the principal prize. The theme of that float was "The Jay and the Peacock." Garden owners in Santa Barbara donated more than 100,- 000 of the flowers used on that beautiful float.

Some of the floats carried as many as 250,000 blooms. There were 64 floats and 21 bands in the parade.
Harold Lloyd, movie star, was grand marshall.

Lack of space prevents further description but I am sending your editor a booklet of pictures of the various floats which will give you a faint idea of how they looked. Try to be in Pasadena some New Year's Day. You will agree that this show is the most beautiful thing that you have ever seen.

Christmas Day was a glorious day in Southern California with a clear sky and a warm sunshine. The principal event of the day was the opening of the new race track at Santa Anita, a suburb of Los Angeles and Pasadena. It is located on the Lucky Baldwin ranch.

Baldwin, who passed away some years ago, was a horse trader in his early years. He came to San Francisco some years after the gold rush of '49. He made a large fortune in speculating in the stocks of the Comstock Mining Companies and spent a goodly portion of his winnings in the purchase of Los Angeles County ranch lands. Being a lover of horses, and a devotee of the sport of kings, he established a breeding farm for race horses on his Santa Anita ranch. Some of the colts raised on this farm made fine records and brought Lucky a large amount of coin in purses and other ways. When race track betting was abolished in the City of Los Angeles in 1907 and thereby depriving the book makers and other gamblers of their source of revenue, Baldwin built a race track of his own out on his famous ranch and for about three years facing was carried on there in all its glory and all its viciousness, until the State Legislature passed laws outlawing race track betting in all forms. For the past twenty years horse racing has been a dead issue in California, except at State and County fairs where races were stage for exhibition purposes only.

Two years ago the state law makers were made to believe that it was due to its laws against racing for purses and betting on races and not the popularity of the automobile, that was putting California at the bottom of the list as a producer of fine horse flesh. The state legislators fell for this bit of sophistry and passed a law which permits betting on horse races under the permituted system, a system which does away with the book makers, gives the state a percentage of the wagers, and is supposed to give the public a break, providing the better is able to pick a winner. Otherwise he goes broke—break or no break—if he keeps at it long enough. Racing is also under the supervision of the State Racing Commission which is supposed to see that no funny business is pulled off by owners, trainers or jockeys.

This new track at Santa Anita is the last word in race tracks in this country or any other, and contains all of the latest equipment and appurtenances known to the racing game.

Along with 55,000 others I went out to see the grand opening. The general admission was $1.00 per head (the extra 10 cents went into Uncle Sam's tax fund; the grand stand was packed and the yard in front was crowded with men and women willing to stand up and get the best view possible. There was plenty of parking space at fifty cents per car for what seemed to be most of the cars in Los Angeles, and space to spare. $250,000 changed hands on Christmas day and on Saturday afternoon, 20,000 race fans watched $335,213 establishing a new all-time betting record for California. I wonder how many homes found themselves short of meat and potatoes for the "Sunday" dinner.

Horse racing—the sport of kings and the lure of fools who think they can beat the game but always find themselves broke at the end of the racing season.

Betting on the races is a business with many of the track customers.
They know the record of most of the horses and the jockeys. They can figure fairly well what the horses will do on a fast track or a muddy track, and they place their bets according to their judgment.
Others not so well acquainted with the records look the horses over and back the same animal that looks like a winner. Some give a tipster a dollar for his list of horses that he figures ought to be in the money for their particular day and bet on the tipster selections. It may be "Underdog," who will lead the way.
A horse named "Moe" might win by a nose. "Polar Bear," perhaps, could win by a hair. So across the board. Some bets, however, two dollars each. "Straight," "place," and "show," she's going to win; she's got a punch; but damn it all, she lost her ten. "Red Wagon" comes aclattering in six lengths in front of all the bunch. And that is how the money went, that hobby left to pay the rent. Much money is lost at the track by people who can't afford to lose. The track is a rather unpleasant place for clerks, cashiers, and bill collectors, and up place at all for jockeys with the rent money or lubber's pay cheque in their purse.

Tourists are rolling into Los Angeles in large numbers, as many as 1000 automobiles a day pass through the Arizona gateways. Hotels and apartment houses are reporting the best winter business since 1929.
People still like to come to Los Angeles. There's a reason—finer climate in North America.

VICK'S VAPORUB

Two generations of mothers have proved Vicks VapoRub the safe, dependable way to treat colds. Just rubbed on throat and chest, Vapo-Rub fights a cold direct—two ways at once.
Through the skin it acts direct like a poultice, or plaster. At the same time, its medicated vapors are inhaled with every breath direct to the inflamed passages of head, throat and lungs.

This combined action loosens phlegm—soothes irritated membranes—opens difficult breathing—helps break congestion.

AVOID "DOSING"
With VapoRub, you avoid the risks of constant internal dosing—which so often upsets children's delicate digestions and lowers resistance when not a single VapoRub can be used freely, and as often as needed, even on the youngest child.

What might have resulted in a serious fire Friday afternoon was averted by the timely notice of Miss Grace Brooks, telephone operator, who discovered smoke issuing from under the Ruggles Building, which has not been occupied for the past week. She reported to the fire ward.

It was a fire deliberately set, as "burning" "two-lens" etc., was found under a beam in the lower part of the building. Had this not been noticed another disastrous fire to equal that of six years ago, might easily have resulted.

NOT A RHEUMATIC PAIN FOR 4 YEARS

70-Year-Old Man Praises Kruschen

A man who once suffered severely from rheumatism writes: "For a long time I suffered with rheumatism and at one time was laid up for about nine weeks. About five years ago I was advised to try Kruschen. I did so and have continued using them ever since. Kruschen did the trick, as I have not had a rheumatic pain for over four years. I am nearly 70 years of age, and feeling fine, and always able for my day's work—thanks to Kruschen."—A. S.

Kruschen dissolves away those needle-pointed crystals of uric acid which are the cause of all rheumatic troubles. It will also flush these dissolved crystals clean out of the system. Thus if you keep up "the little daily dose," excess uric acid will never form again.

During the month of January nine vessels arrived at this port. Three have undergone repairs. The tug J. A. Mumford, of the Gypsum Packet Co., of Windsor, is still on the job of the marine railways of the Meteghan Shipbuilding Company Ltd. Capt. B. A. Young, is port captain. Motor vessel Herbert P. II, Capt. Jack Howie, received repairs; also motor vessel "Dream Girl," Capt. Fother, which encountered a heavy gale off Georges, and was badly damaged, about the stern by monstrous waves.

The motor vessel Beatrice L., owned by Capt. Bernard Melanson, of Gilbert's Cove, recently sailed for the South Shore with a cargo of lumber.

The motor vessel Bear Cat, Capt. Louis Romaine, made its weekly trips to Saint John during the past month. On its last trip, however, this vessel was unable to enter this port, due to heavy ice conditions in the bay, and had to sail to Petite Riviere.

There were also in port during January the motor vessels Ammuck, Matilda C., Etch, Patchi, and the patrol boat, Capelin. Capt. Ernest Lewis.

Many local fishermen encountered heavy losses when a large number of lobster traps were blown ashore in heavy gales which swept this bay during the past month.

A card party was held at Meteghan on Saturday evening, by the local branch of the Catholic Women's League. A large crowd was present and refreshments were served. Proceeds will go towards the building of a new Glebe House in Meteghan.

TOURIST BUNGALOW PLANS

By direction of Hon. A. S. MacMillan, Minister of Highways, the Government Bureau of Information is now preparing plans of modern tourist bungalows.

While addressing a meeting at Halifax recently, Harrie B. Coe, manager of the Maine Publicity Bureau, stated that camps of the bungalow style are becoming increasingly popular with the travelling public today. "I mean bungalow colonies or community camps," Mr. Coe said, "where you have a log camp or frame cottage for your living quarters. Those in Maine have a living room with fire-place, nice bathroom with hot and cold water, and one, two or three bedrooms with comfortable beds and nice, clean-smelling blankets, and everything about them is just as comfortable as if you were home. That is why the people like them. They like the privacy of their own home, and when they are ready for their meals they can go into the central dining room, which has a dining room, office, recreation room and kitchen. Very few of them have any sleeping rooms in those main cabins. That is a type of tourist accommodation which is very popular."

The plans now being prepared cover two-room, three-room and four-room bungalows equipped with porch, fire-place and bathroom. Exhibits include floor plans and front and side elevations. Details of fire place are also given.

In making these plans, now underway, available to any resident of Nova Scotia who has in mind erecting accommodation of this type for the tourist trade, Mr. MacMillan expresses the hope that this move on the part of the Government Bureau of Information will help to meet necessary requirements.

HALF-YEARLY REPORT—WEYMOUTH HIGH SCHOOL

During the week of January 21-25, the pupils of the Weymouth Schools wrote the half-yearly examinations, and while the marks show some decline from those of the first quarter, they are, for the most part, quite satisfactory and in some cases very gratifying, to both teachers and parents.

In Grade XII, which consists of seven students, the highest average was made by Adolphe Bellevue, of St. Bernard's, who made 60.1, but he was closely followed by Agnes Payson and Ernest Morrissey. In Grade XI Richard Gates led with 55.8, Lilian Comeau and Muriel Hankinson coming second and third respectively.

To Grade X goes the major share of the honours, for out of a class of nine, eight pupils had averages between 60.4 and 70.6, the class average being 63.9. The leaders were Elizabeth Brooks, 70.6; Frederick Kilam, 69.6; and Teresa Grantville, 69.

The competition in Grade IX was also very close. Alice Payson leading with 67.7, followed by Eleanor Muise with 65.2, and Audrey Blackadar was third.

Attendance has been excellent in the High School department, the half-year average for 34 pupils enrolled being 30.5, approximately 90 per cent.

Blaze.'Guess Again'
Unmasked?

To the Editor of the Courier:

Sir—And now, just for old times sake and a little more fun, I am pleased to tell you that I have gathered new inspiration since receiving the November 15th issue of the Courier. In it I found that our good friend, "Guess" who had changed his name to "Guess Again". Well, no matter what it may be, I think I have him on the spot, but, as there is a certain honor among rogues I do not wish to expose him by divulging his name. I know from his articles, that he is a jolly good fellow and I would not want to think—oh, have his good old pals think—but that he was still the white-haired boy among the folks on the ridge, and particularly since he expresses himself so earnestly and pleasantly in describing their own heady working and fill in the blanks. While who are trying through humble endeavor to produce a word of cheer, always have in mind those most dearly loved and whom we have long left behind.

Well, Mr. Editor, I think he has me licked when it comes to telling a story of the old times. "Guess Again" is a genius and we admire his style and manner, and his good-hearted way of telling us all about things.

There are always little secrets of some character which are better left unexplained. Not that an explanation might lessen one's stock-in-trade, or make one the black sheep; on the other hand it's a pretty good idea to let folks read between the lines, and their own heads working and fill in the blanks. While who are trying through humble endeavor to produce a word of cheer, always have in mind those most dearly loved and whom we have long left behind.

Our good friend from Lynn, nameless though he is, minus signature or address, has said to us, "If you ever come to Lynn, call on me." I would ask you, "Guess Again," how do you suppose anyone would find you in Lynn, unless you have a sign over your door: "Guess Again". Shall we ring all the door bells?

Now, getting back to our playground, where, on occasions of this kind our hearts and minds do dwell. We appreciate that you—from Lynn—shall hear from me, when you come winter. Like you, I have warmed up to the situation and am getting a real kick out of it, too. And while our good friends down there in the old valley and the ridge road have not come through with thanks or apologies to the extent of saying "Hello" to us through the Courier, I am proud to state that I have received several very interesting letters from friends, whom you, "Guess Again," also know. But, as secrets are secrets—we must keep guessing.

I like your reference to Bill Craig with his oven, his good stick, and his voice that echoed through the valley. Your mention of these things reminds me of a story my father used to tell of an old timer. The father had said to his son, "Don't you know it's time to bring in them cows?" "Yes, pa," said the son. Then said the father, "You go get them cows and don't come back without 'em." The boy went after the cows. Thirty years passed. Father and son both mourned the loss of a son. One Christmas day the boy walked in, just at supper time, and said, "Pa, I've found them darn cows." "I've stood over on the old back road, at the top of Dunbar's Hill. I've heard Leslie Craig and dear old Uncle Jesse Warner hold a conversation at the top of the hill on the ridge road. The echo of their voices would carry clear across the valley. One thing that impressed me the most, and which I'll never forget, is what Jesse Warner said to Leslie Craig: "Peradventure, them logs don't float; sounds to the prophets, Les." Craig, how you spoke your going to hold 'em up!" Well, believe it or not, I could hear the echo of those remarks resound among the hills three distinct times.

Now, my good friend, "Guess Again," if we only had the photograph in those days, and could have recorded many of the sayings, the talks, and record of events. They would refresh our memories today.

and you and I could set up an argumentative bureau that would reach almost boundless proportions. We might even have to contract with a good editor to take over his entire sheet. On the other hand, just think if all those memories of events which took place in our boyhood days, in spring and verse and prose, could through some process of science have been bottled up—and now released over the radio. Boy, oh boy, would we still be the white-haired boys of the ridge road? Yes, I think our stock would rise.

Now, Mr. Editor, it was mighty nice of you to let "Guess Again" come along and cheer us with more of his good mirth. As you know, he is much nearer the old home than I.

therefore I have a greater reason for that longing for the old home—in proportion to the distance by which we are separated. So, he owes it to us to be tolerant, and to still remember that I am the "little brother," who looks up into the faces of his bigger brothers, with admiration, always trying to get in on some of their games and emulate their actions.

And you, good folks down home, just fall in line with "Guess Again" and tell us "Hello" through the Courier. I'm sure it would please our good editor and help bring about happier thoughts and a closer bond of fellowship—for old times sake.

WITH THE SCALLOPERS

After a tie-up of nearly a week because of unfavorable weather the Digby scallop fleet has been enjoying better fishing than for some little time. The boats got out for the first time last week on Friday, but on that day the catch was very small. Saturday proved to be one of the best days this year; all conditions were ideal, scallops were plentiful, and the price good. Most of the boats brought in from four to six barrels each.

So far this week there has not been a great deal of activity. A few of the boats ventured out on Monday—some returned to port almost immediately, and others staying on the grounds for a time. Tuesday most of the fleet got away early in the afternoon, and returned in the early evening. Considering the time they were out, the catch, although small, was very successful.

Marriages

Morehouse—McDermid

The Christian church of Westport was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday evening of last week when Norma Elaine, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edith McDermid, and Sidney Judson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Judson Morehouse, were united in marriage by the Rev. Malcolm H. Outhouse. The ceremony was performed under an arch beautifully decorated, from which hung a white wedding bell. The color scheme was sky-blue and pale yellow, to harmonize with the gowns of the bride and bridesmaid. The bride looked lovely in a gown of sky-blue georgette over satin, with hat and shoes to match, and carried a bouquet of white anemones and pink carnations. She was attended by her niece, Miss Carol McDermid, who wore a lovely gown of organdie over satin, with white hat, shoes, and gloves, and carried a bouquet of yellow anemones and daisies. The bridesmaid was attended by Edgar McDermid, Jr., nephew of the bride. The ushers were E. B. Pugh, uncle of the groom, and Dalton Peters, cousin of the bride. During the signing of the register, the song "I Love You Truly" was sung by Gerald Bailey. Mrs. Floyd Denton was the organist. After the ceremony all informal reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, at which about forty guests were present. The newlyweds received a large number of beautiful and useful gifts, including cheques, silverware and linen. The happy couple left for Halifax on their honeymoon, and upon their return will reside in Westport. The groom is chief engineer on the motor vessel, Radio III. The bride is a graduate of Acadia Ladies' Seminary and McMaster University, and for the past three years has been employed as census clerk in Ottawa.

Miss Edith Johnson has returned to Sandy Cove from Lynn, Mass., where she has been caring for her brother, Alfred Johnson. She is now nursing her sister, Mrs. Melba Saunders, who is in very poor health.

A MARE'S NEST

To the Editor of the Courier: Sir—That Yarmouth report to the Halifax Herald about a Nordic expedition from Wisconsin to Greenland touching at Yarmouth was more foolish than funny. I received a letter to that effect, a copy of which I sent to Capt. J. E. Kinney, with explanatory remarks. It looks as if he posed for the recipient of the letter, but I don't believe he did. I laid out that self-same course for the proposed expedition, and sent the same west for confirmation. I did not intend to codd anyone, and if false hopes are raised the people should call that reporter to account. I have revoked my said itinerary and no provincial port will get into the story—maybe not even the province. The Wisconsin base centre has named me president of the Massachusetts memorial movement.

M. H. Nickerson.

The second session of the 17th Assembly of the Nova Scotia Legislature will open on March 5th, according to an unofficial statement made in Halifax.

While coasting down the Campbell Hill, at Weymouth, on Tuesday one of the Sabinier children had the misfortune to slide into C. C. Nicholson's car, which was parked at the foot of the hill. With the exception of minor cuts and bruises the child escaped uninjured.

Celebrate 55th Anniversary

On Tuesday of last week Mr. and Mrs. Terah Morehouse, Sandy Cove, celebrated the 55th anniversary of their marriage. Mr. Morehouse, a life long resident of Sandy Cove, took as his bride 55 years ago, Miss Charity Ross, of Seabrook. Mr. and Mrs. Morehouse have four children, Fred G., principal of the Halifax Co. Academy, John A., of Dorchester, Mass.; Mrs. C. J. Eldridge, of Digby; and Bertram W., of Bloomfield, N. J.

On Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Morehouse were at home to friends and a pleasant evening was enjoyed at the close of which ice cream and cake were served. After singing "Auld Lang Syne" and "For They are Jolly Good Fellows" the party dispersed with best wishes for the bride and groom of 55 years ago.

Among those present were Mrs. Alex. MacKay, sister of Mrs. Morehouse; Capt. and Mrs. Burns, Mrs. I. Saunders, Mrs. B. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Saunders, Mr. and Mrs. Rescoe Foster, Mrs. Forsyth, Mrs. Walter MacKay and Mrs. Hugh Morehouse. Of the above named Mrs. MacKay, Mrs. Burns and Mr. I. Saunders were present at the wedding 55 year ago.

DESIGN FOR AN ACCIDENT

To encourage safer driving among drivers along the highways a trade journal recently printed some facts based on accident figures that will be instructive to the pleasure motorist or truck driver. When the statisticians adjusted their slide rules, here is the statement they gave:

If you cut out of line of traffic, your chances of having an accident are multiplied by 50.

If you drive over 40 miles an hour, your chances of having an accident are multiplied by 25.

If you pass another car on a curve, your chances of having an accident are multiplied by 21.

If you pass another car going uphill, your chances of having an accident are multiplied by 10.

If you fail to signal a turn or stop, your chances of having an accident are multiplied by 5.

The driver who cuts out of line and drives over forty miles an hour usually explains afterward that he "was in a hurry." He got a late start and had to make up time, thus endangering his own life and property and those of others. With a ton of motorcar and a 75-horsepower motor, he tries to defeat the team of time and the law of averages. "Casey Jones" tried it and won fame—but he survives only in song.

BRITAIN REPORTS DROP IN DRINKING

Home-distilled liquors consumed in Britain have dropped to a new-low, it is shown by figures published recently in London for 1931. Just over 8,500,000 gallons were consumed, against nearly 13,000,000 in the year 1921, 27,000,000 gallons annually in the years before the war, and 8,821,000 gallons in 1933.

The number of distilleries has also declined. In Scotland before the war, 133 distilleries were at work; this year no more than 50 are reported.

Distillers in Britain are urging that the revenue tax be reduced. A reduction in tax, they declare, would start the figures for spirits and liquor consumption on the upward grade again. On the other hand it is pointed out that although the duty has not been increased for fourteen years, the consumption each year has steadily declined.

VICKS PLAN FOR BETTER CONTROL OF COLDS

THE PROPER CARE OF YOUR AUTOMOBILE
Selecting the Right Polish

In the first article it was told how many motorists make the mistake of believing that their cars must be finished when the finish begins to dull and faded. In restoring the color and gloss of the finish, however, it is important that the right polishing material be selected. There is little advantage, for instance, in using an oily polish, because it doesn't remove the traffic film, but only forms an oil film over it.

The best results are obtained by the use of a polish which contains a mild solvent to soften the traffic film, and a light abrasive to clear away the chalked pigment and dirt.

When they start cleaning their cars, many people become alarmed when they see color coming away on the cloth. They assume that the polish is too severe, and will wear away the finish on the car. But there is nothing to fear when the properly formulated polish is used. The color on the cloth simply indicates that the tiny particles of pigment, loosened by the weakener, are being removed with the traffic film. This chalked pigment and accumulation of dirt, and grease must be removed to discover the hard live lacquer beneath.

Temperance Table Talks

By UNCLE JOHN

THAT "INNOCENT" CIGARETTE

It is just too bad to disturb the peace of mind of the millions of users of the "innocent" little cigarette. But scientific inquiry and test are relentless in the interests of truth. The voice of science speaks in compelling challenge to cigarette-users. Only a few days ago the Associated Press told the world of a meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science held in Pittsburgh, at which Prof. A. L. Winsor and E. I. Strongin, of Cornell University, reported that they had found in carefully controlled experiments that inhaling the smoke of one cigarette while smoking it over a period of about ten minutes caused marked unsteadiness of the smoker's hands while he was smoking and for about forty-five minutes afterwards. It also caused an increase in the heart speed of his pulse up to 50 per cent and the same amount of increase in the rate of breathing or respiration, showing a stimulating effect on the heart.

And lest these dainty old professors should seem to be needlessly taking the joy out of life, let us turn to perhaps a more colorful individual in the world of sport. Everyone has heard of "Conny Mack" or "Cornellus McGillicuddy," when one has time to say his name in full. He is leader of the Philadelphia Athletics and is claiming everywhere as one of the greatest men in baseball ever produced. Let us listen to him speaking about the cigarette. "We go everything in our power," he says, "to discourage the use of cigarettes among our baseball boys. Knowing the great harm that tobacco has done to those in the habit of using it. Boys who have continued smoking cigarettes do not, as a rule, amount to anything. They are unfitted in every way for any kind of work where brains are needed. . . . Everyone should have will power enough to overcome the tobacco habit. There are many other ways that one can enjoy life without ruination of health, and this cannot be done if cigarette smoking is continued."

And so it looks as though that little cigarette is not so innocent after all.

In San Francisco, Leo V. Dowling slashed his wrists and throat but failed to commit suicide. Recovering in a hospital he received a large horseshoe of flowers with a card on which was written, "Better luck next time." Dowling read the card, gasped, and died.

Great deposits of oyster shells have been found in the Cardston district of Alberta, which point to a time long distant when there was a vast inland sea covering all southern Alberta. But there were few, if any, people to feed on the oysters in those far-off days.

ANAEMIA

The Greeks had a word for many things; and from the Greek we take the word "anaemia." To us, this word means either a reduction in the number of red blood cells or a decrease in the haemoglobin, which is the coloring matter of blood.

Oxygen is taken into the lungs when we breathe; there it is picked up and carried to the tissues in the blood stream, where it is released for use by the tissues, and carbon dioxide, the waste product of the tissues, is carried away.

Anaemia results from one of three causes: (1) the rapid loss of a quantity of blood, a haemorrhage; (2) the destruction of red blood cells within the body more quickly than they can be replaced; (3) failure, or inadequate formation, of blood to meet the needs of the body.

One month is the average life of a red blood cell. A sudden loss of red cells is met from a supply held in reserve in the spleen and bone marrow to meet emergencies. If, however, the abnormal demand continues, the reserve must be used, and suit that production is faulty, and many imperfectly formed blood cells will appear in the blood.

Haemorrhage means loss of blood, and this, in turn, means loss of body fluids. When the tissues are drained of their fluids, the need for fluid is made known through the thirst that is created. To make up for the red cells lost in the haemorrhage, the heart beats more quickly and breathing is accelerated, so as to keep the remaining red cells working in a full speed carrying oxygen to the tissues. The arteries in the skin contract, to send what blood is left to the essential organs, and the skin becomes cold and pale.

In other forms of anaemia, pallor, weakness and shortness of breath are late symptoms. These forms are recognized early by a study of the blood. A condition which is comparatively rare now but which was quite common in the past is the anaemia of young girls—chlorosis, or as it is known, "the green sickness."

A somewhat similar anaemia due to a lack of haemoglobin, is seen in the mothers of large families, and is due to a deficiency of iron, the basic element of haemoglobin. This anaemia can be readily cured.

Permanent anaemia is a condition wherein the red blood cells die to tremendously reduced in number. Prolonged for several years by a decrease, or absence of acid in the gastric juice, and the earlier symptoms of fatigue and dizziness with a numbness or tingling of the extremities, the condition progresses until the peculiar lemon-yellow tinge of the skin is noticeable.

Pernicious anaemia was invariably fatal until a few short years ago, when, beginning with observations on dogs, it was discovered that the regular use of liver will correct the condition and restore the sufferers to a normal condition. This is not a cure; the use of liver must be continued or relapse will occur.

NEW DIVISION IN HISTORIC SPOT

Recently, at Beaver River, the Mary Corning Division, of the Sons of Temperance, was organized by Rev. A. A. MacLeod, field secretary of the Order.

In the fight against liquor and intemperance, which has waged on the North American continent, the little village of Beaver River—part of which is in Digby County and part in the neighboring county of Yarmouth—has played an important part; for Beaver River is the birthplace of the first total abstinence society on the continent, organized in 1829, and called the Beaver River Temperance Society.

The motives of this pioneer organization are plainly set forth in the preamble to the original list of names, as follows:

"Beaver River Temperance Society.

"We the undersigned firmly believing and most assuredly gathering that the too great use of spirituous liquors is prejudicial to the body and souls of mankind in general both spiritual and temporal, to remedy this great and spreading evil, we therefore whose names are hereunto annexed do forever renounce the use of ardent or distilled spirituous liquors except that which might be taken as medicine in case of sickness. And we pray Almighty God to establish our hearts and strengthen our serious resolutions.

"April 28, 1829."

Then followed the list of names. Shortly after it was thought necessary to organize the Society and appoint officers for the more effectually carrying its objects into operation. The first officers were:—

President—Josiah Porter.

Vice-Presidents—Jonathan Raymond and Jonathan Corning.

Executive Committee—Daniel Raymond, Jabez Landers, William Perry, Daniel Corning, Ebenezer Corning and David Parry.

The Beaver River Memorial Hall, erected in memory of this pioneer society, stands in the Digby County section of the village, a hundred yards or so beyond the Yarmouth County border, and is the meeting place of the new division. In looking over the names of the officers of the new division, which follow, we fail to see any of the Porters, Raymonds, Landers, Cornings or Parrys as figured in the original list, yet their descendants are living all around, that section of the province and are still almost one hundred per cent as solid for the principles of total abstinence as were their ancestors of over a hundred years ago.

The Division's officers are:—W. P. R. Walter Wood, W. A. Murray Ricker, Patron—Mrs. Burton Higby, R. S. Mrs. Burton Higby, Chap.—Forrester, Durkee, A. R. S.—Eleanor Bain, F. S.—Leta Frost, I. G.—Lyle Frost, Con.—Burton Higby, D. G. W. P. Rev. Walter Wood, O. S.—Ervin Moore, A. C.—Rodney Smith.

Articles of clothing, etc. were received by a group of ladies at the Court House on Monday afternoon—the ladies working until 5.30 seeing and "making over". The donations were for the family of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Farnsworth, who lost their home and most of their belongings by fire on Thursday morning last.

OUR GOOD FRIENDS, THE COLLORED FOLKS

Say, boys and girls, can you recall the days when we used to go over to the Edison farm? It led out from Aymer's Corner, on the road leading around the Joggins Bridge, passing the Sam Bacon place and the little old school house beyond the creek. This separated the Edison and Baker properties. On a little further, on the left hand side, was the brick yard. That is where we used to play—making mud pies and getting into mischief generally, and going home to scrub up. And, old Mammy Edison would say to us, "You boys, both you white boys and both you colored boys, you go down in the brick yard and get just brown like dobie chips."

Well, there was "old" Mr. Edison—and not so old at that in times of which we write, for we were but youngsters. We had been taught to respect our elders, and to us it was Mr. Edison and Mammy Edison when we addressed those clean, gentle folk. Yes, there is one thing which we were taught by mother and dad our "yes, sir" and our "no, sir". And, too, to be kind and gentle to our elders and always respectful of strangers. For we have learned, since travelling through life, that there is nothing more appealing, more gracious, or more enduring in the history of mankind, and that will lessen the entanglements of life, help cure the ills of discontent, and be a better prompter to love, honor and respect, than that we as children adhered strictly to the rudiments of our good home training. This was, in, and ever will be, the foundation of man's humanity to man.

Now, back to my story. "Old Mammy Edison," as we were privileged to call her, was a good and gracious old soul. But I want to tell you one little story which I feel sure her kin will enjoy. So, now to be plain, in blunt boy fashion, I will continue. We were privileged to call Mr. Edison, "Pop" Edison. And Pop, in order to make a short cut to Digby, would many times cross the flats below the Sam Bacon place, where Simon Creek reached up from the Bay. And, in the course of his travel, if he did not go just right, he would hit the "honey pots" with which we are all familiar. Those were the soggy bogs where, if you stepped in one, there is every chance in the world that you would never come out. You start to sink and the more you work and squirm, and the more you labor—the deeper you go.

Now, Old Pop Edison (and it has just occurred to me that his first name was Bill—therefore we will use that term)—had been to town—that is, to Digby. He had crossed the flats well beyond Simon Creek—in fact, he had been down to the "honey pots" it wasn't long, by reason of his most violent efforts to get out, that he went down almost to his arm pits. And, say boy, oh boy—the whole valley could hear Bill yell. Mammy Edison heard Bill's cries. She knew he was in awful trouble. She flew from the house to the brick yard, and I don't know how many leaps she actually made, but any air-ship of the present day could not have reached there quicker or within a safer distance of Bill than did Mammy Edison. She knelt down and she prayed. And, said she, "My good Lawd, Jes take Bill out that honey pot, an I sure gonn' to wash you clothes, es so long I live."

Bill was rescued. The good old folks went home to their cabin. And I hope that Josh and his brother Loren Edison, if they still live—sons of those good folk, will forgive me if I've told this story adverse to their sentiments.

I don't know—and have not heard of the whereabouts of the Howard Jordan family, who lived across the road from the Abram Nichols' place, of which we have already spoken—where hung the swing in the picnic grounds. Well, the old colored family were great friends of mine and I often recall my visits to their little home. They were always good to me.

Then, there was friend Peter Butler, whom I remember so well, and I often think of his good wife, and how I used to visit at his home—where I—as well as all of us boys, were always welcome. Mrs. Butler always had a smile and a word of advice and good cheer for us, and there was—always—in terms of today—a "hand-out". It might be pie, or cake, or a good liberal cut of bread with plenty of butter, and say boys, Mrs. Butler could make curd cheese that would tickle your ribs and your palate clear down to your toes. God bless those good old folks, and, if there is a place in Heaven where the good people shall be seated, I would say that Peter Butler and his good Mammy wife are sitting at the right hand of the Throne.

You folks will remember the old colored church, and how we used to go there to hear those darkeys sing. Well—I'm going to tell you something, which you know just as well as I. Over the radio today we hear many negro programmes, with their hymns—their songs of the south—land—mighty sweet refrains. All those beautiful songs that tend to lift one's soul from earth to the better things beyond. But, if I could, I would give much of my time and much that I know, to be back once again—listening to those good negro folks in the little old church, sing as in the days of fifty years ago. And there is where I remember most impressively, the sweet voice of our good friend, Peter Butler.

Well, folks, there was the Wilmet family on the Ridge road and the Jordantown folks, where I spent many happy hours, when I loved to roam. Always I found a welcome because I loved the homogeneous negro folk. They treated us boys with every respect and courtesy that any normal human being could want or ask, and in turn I feel that they appreciated that we did our best to be respectful and honest boys and girls. Well, alright, boys, have just finished a good supper and am going up on the hill to hoe a few more potatoes before dark. Goodnight.

Lobster Fishermen Unsuccessful

Reports from Little River state that Digby Neck lobster fishermen operating in the Saint Mary's Bay, are taking up their traps on account of ice conditions, and that many will give up lobster fishing for the season unless lobsters are more plentiful after the ice moves out of the Bay. In this section lobstering has been more or less a failure during the past three years.

Reports from the same source say that the Bay of Fundy lobstermen are not meeting with much more success than those fishing in St. Mary's. In that section too, lobsters are reported scarce, and losses of gear during the storms this winter have been heavy.

Facts About Fires

According to the annual report of Major J. A. Rudland, Halifax, fire marshals, damage of $1,219,215 was caused by 1,473 fires in Nova Scotia during 1934. Of this total, the insured loss amounted to $844,684, leaving a net loss of $374,531 to property owners of the province. Of the nearly 1,500 fires recorded, 1,123 occurred in dwellings. Sparks falling on wooden roofs accounted for 348 blazes. No origin has been determined for 165 of the fires.

Seven lives and a property loss of $257,178 were the toll exacted by fire in Nova Scotia during the months of October, November and December. The property loss, however, showed a considerable decrease from that recorded in the corresponding period of 1933, when damage totalled $431,264. Of the 1934 fires, the amount of $85,336 was uninsured loss.

Dwellings were far in advance in the class of buildings damaged or destroyed, 252 falling prey to flames during the period. Next in order were mercantile stores, 16 of which were damaged. A total of 179 dwellings and 15 stores were protected by insurance.

In addition to the seven lives lost, 32 persons were injured as a result of fires.

Dr. W. R. Dickie left for Montreal on Friday. He will be absent two weeks.

Entertained at Sandy Cove

A very pleasant Bridge Party given by Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Saunders, at their home recently. The rooms were gaily decorated with Valentines and things pertaining to that day. Three tables were in play. At the close of the evening the guests were invited to the dining room and seated at a table whose cloth looked like a huge valentine with valentine napkins at each cover. The mirror center piece reflected the bowl of greenery and the glistening candle holders with their red candles added to the festive arrangement.

The honors went to A. Foster, Mrs. B. Morris, who is visiting her mother, Mrs. C. Saunders, Mrs. R. Syphen and Hugh Mopehouse. Mrs. Frank Saunders was fortunate enough to sit in the lucky chair, thus winning a prize.

Mounted Police Make Seizure at Deep Brook

Late Friday evening last the Digby Detachment of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Corporal Joseph Hetherington and Constable Stanley Kempton, made one of the largest liquor seizures to be made in this vicinity in some years: at the Gypsum Company's warehouse, Deep Brook, where they confiscated twenty-nine kegs of Black Diamond Rum. Twenty-five kegs were alleged to have been taken from the 42-foot open motor boat "No. 3", and four kegs from the big gypsum warehouse.

Two men, giving their names as Joseph Smith and Christopher Murphy, of Saint John, N. B., alleged to be owners and operators of the No. 3, were placed under arrest and lodged in the Digby jail late Friday night. On Saturday afternoon Murphy and Smith were taken to Annapolis Royal and released on bail of $500 each. It is understood that they were given a preliminary hearing in that town, and that Daniel Owen, K. C., Mayor of Annapolis Royal, was counsel for the defence, and Kenneth Crowell, Bridgetown Barrister, for the prosecution.

The "No. 3", said to have been purchased by the two accused, early last week, was seized, and is now tied up at the "Iron Duke" at Jew Cove. This boat, registered at Meteghan River, arrived in Digby on the 13th, and cleared for Saint John without cargo, about noon on Friday last.

Friday afternoon the mounted police chartered the Lunenburg scallop dragger "Violetta G.", in the absence of government or police patrol boats. They lay in wait for some time inside the wharf at Digby Out. Later, sailing for Deep Brook. On their arrival at the Gypsum Plant, where the alleged rum runners were evidently taken by surprise, probably they were not looking for their arrival by water. The two officers stepped off the boat on to the wharf before the two men took flight. They were soon rounded up and placed under arrest.

It is believed here that the liquor was being loaded at Deep Brook for Saint John.

Social Evening at Tiverton

Mr. Johnson, of Saint John, who gave a short address. After the close of the meeting a special feature of the social hour was a hankiechief shower, given in honor of Mrs. Edward Blackford, who celebrates her Natal Day with St. Valentine. The basket containing the hankiechiefs was presented by her little niece, Ellen Outhouse. Much merriment was caused by the reading of original birthday greetings given in verse, accompanying each hankiechief.

Mrs. Blackford was taken wholly by surprise, and thanked the company in a most pleasing manner. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. R. S. Small, and all felt a very pleasant and profitable evening had been spent.

'Rio Tambo' Goes Down Off Maine Coast; Crew Safe

The 183 ton motor vessel, Rio Tambo, well known here, lies on the bottom of the Atlantic Ocean off Black Head Bluff, on Head Harbor Island, about six miles off from Jonesport, Me. The draft sank Saturday morning after hitting the bluff in a dense fog.

The Rio Tambo, for several years freighting between Saint John, Digby, Bear River and Annapolis Basin ports, was owned by the Eastern Canadian Coastal Steamships Ltd., and was bound for New York with a cargo of 1,000,000 laths shipped by the McKean Lumber Co., of Saint John. She was in command of Capt. R. C. Merriam. Members of the crew were: Mate, Ronald Frye, of Saint John; chief engineer, Wilbert Lang, of Halifax; assistant engineer, Alfred McCarty, of Noel, N. S.; cook, Joseph Rice, of Parker's Cove; seamen, Benji Lambert, of Digby; Bernard Landman and Ronald Shields, of Saint John.

When the Tambo struck several gaping holes were torn in the ship's bottom. Capt. Merriam gave orders to abandon ship. He and his crew made their way to the island, walked two miles across it, and took a boat to Jonesport. Returning on Sunday for a further examination of the ship, they found she had disappeared beneath the surface.

The Rio Tambo was built in Middleburg, England, in 1915, for His Majesty's navy as a patrol boat. She was later converted into a freighter, and secured in 1929 by the Eastern Canadian Coastal Steamship's Limited, and remodelled for the coastal trade in this district.

Salvation Army Presents Anniversary Concert

On Tuesday evening the Digby Corps of the Salvation Army gave a delightful concert in the United Church Hall, in commemoration of their 48 years of excellent work in this community. The concert, over which Rev. P. E. Bishop, pastor of the Digby Baptist Church, presided, was presented in Grace United Church Hall.

The programme, which was most entertaining, opened with a prayer by the chairman, then followed an instrumental duet by David Daley and Ross Turnbull with George Phillips playing the piano accompaniment. Other numbers included a vocal solo by George Berwick, Miss Frances Appleby playing the accompaniment, readings by Victor Cardozo, violin duet by Fritz Dakin and Rev. Dr. Hodgson, Mrs. Bowby playing the accompaniment; pianoforte solos by Mrs. H. A. Nichols and a vocal solo by Miss Frances Phillips with Mrs. Bowby and Fritz Dakin accompanists.

Part two of the programme was the inspiring pageant "Rescue the Perishing", with the following cast: Faith, Miss Patricia McPhee, Hope, Miss Josephine Franklin, Charity, Miss Frances Appleby, Religion, Miss Bernice Abramson, the Outcast, Miss Florence Keen.

John O. Turnbull, a life long resident of the Lighthouse Road, and a highly respected citizen, passed away at his home last evening at 7 o'clock following a short illness. The deceased was 84 years of age, and was the son of the late George and Harriett Turnbull. For a number of years he was president of the Digby Farmers' Association, and at the time of his death was honorary president of that organization. He was also a Past Chaplain of St. George Lodge of Oddfellows, Digby, and for many years the faithful recording steward of Grace Methodist (now United) Church, Digby. He is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Rachel Ray, daughter of the late Alfred Ray, of Bridgetown; by two sons, Howe, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Harry O., at home; one brother, Charles E., of the Lighthouse Road, and two grandchildren. Another brother, Augustus, predeceased him a year ago February 16. Kiwanis Listens to Fine Address

A very interesting address on "The Value of an Individual" by Captain Arthur Casey, of the Church Army in Canada, was enjoyed by the members at their weekly luncheon aboard the Princess Helena.

Captain Casey is a pleasing speaker, a war veteran with wide experience as Church Army Captain. A delightful feature following the address, was the reading of letters from life-term prisoners, expressing their appreciation of his interest in them. Some weaknesses in the penitentiary system were pointed out and he earnestly hoped that officialism, overcrowding and a mingling of young with old, first-offenders with hardened criminals would soon be remedied.

Captain Casey spoke not as a casual visitor to penal institutions, but as one who, when conducting a Mission, occupies a cell during his stay of ten days or more. Reference was made to a gift of $10,000 for a new training school at Toronto, and another $2,000 or more towards establishing a hostel for men who have served their term and come out of prison without a job, friends or money. The hostel cares for them, gives them work and eventually gets them re-instated into society.

He also referred to the Church Army Hostel for boys convicted under the Juvenile Court—these boys, under 16 years of age, are kept under observation and definite training for a year at least, and for the most part leave the hostel as trustworthy lads. The visitors at the luncheon were: Mr. Parks, of Saint John Kiwanis Club, and Messrs. Armstrong and Windross of the Inspectors' Staff of the Bank of Nova Scotia.

Next week's luncheon will not be held at the Waverley, as originally planned, due to the fact that Mr. MacNab, of the C. P. R., the speaker for the day, cannot remain over until the evening.

A sum of money was collected by the longshoremen at the Digby Pier for Clifford Farnsworth and family, who lost their home by fire a short time ago. We were not aware of this when we wrote the account published in last week's Courier.

Little Miss Joyce Gidney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Gidney, Mink Cove, underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis at the Digby General Hospital, on Wednesday.

AN UNUSUAL OPINION

(New York Post)

The Post has always favored the American system of banking, with independent banks for each locality, as against the British and Canadian systems, in which a few chain banks control all of a nation's banking facilities. If the British and Canadian systems have made for greater stability the American system has offered the advantage of preserving local business autonomy and stimulating local enterprise. Unfortunately the tendency toward concentration of deposits in the larger banks threatens to leave us with all the disadvantages of the British system—and none of its benefits.

THE CLYDESDALE MANNER

(New York Times)

What is regarded as "parliamentary language" in the House of Commons? Many "churlish epithets" have been "hurled" there in the last fifteen or twenty years. Monday George Buchanan, who has represented a Glasgow constituency since 1922 and is one of the bitterest of Bitter-Enders, bestowed upon the absent Prime Minister a Scotch blessing. He called Mr. MacDonald a "cur," a "swine," a "dirty dog." The House was of the thinnest. There were no cries of "Order." The Speaker, familiar with Mr. Buchanan's petty little ways, didn't rebuke him.

SEWING CIRCLE OFFICERS

Mrs. Abbie Bailey, of Westport, was hostess to the Christian Church Sewing Circle recently. After concluding the business of a very successful year the officers for the coming year were appointed as follows:—President—Mrs. Elmer Welsh, Vice-President—Miss Norma McDonald, Secretary—Mrs. Albert Welsh, Treasurer—Mrs. Guy Thompson. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Bailey, assisted by Mrs. Alvin Garrison.

CENTREVILLE

The Young People's Society of this place, were guests of Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Forsyth, Sandy Cove, at a Valentine Social on Thursday evening. A pleasant evening was spent in games and music. Refreshments were served. Mrs. Forsyth was assisted in service by Mrs. Hugh Morehouse and Clara Eldridge. A sleigh drive was enjoyed.

Mr. Clifford was a week end guest of Mrs. Bowdler Morehouse. Mr. Aubrey Westcott left Friday for a visit to the United States.

HEALTH

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

CANCER

Of all the questions which might be asked about cancer, the one which logically should be answered first is What Is Cancer? There are many diseases which are unknown to the public at large; unfortunately, cancer is only too well known and feared.

It is natural for us to fear cancer. It will not help, however, if our fear leads us to shut our ears to warnings on the subject. Fear can be made useful if it brings us to learn what is known about this disease, so that we may act wisely for our own protection.

The specific, or direct cause of cancer is not known. All over the world, men and women are devoting their lives in the endeavor to wrest this secret from nature. In the course of time, they will succeed in doing so. The specific cause of cancer must be found, because when the cause is known, it is likely that prevention and cure will be possible.

In the meantime, we have some knowledge which is of practical value. It is known that long-continued irritation of any tissue leads to changes in the tissue which may develop into cancer. As an example of this, there is the cancer of the mouth which develops at the point where the cheek was irritated for a long time by a broken tooth.

Chronic irritation is not always due to a mechanical irritant such as a broken tooth. Such forms of irritation may follow upon the presence of bacteria or germs which, for example, may set up a chronic inflammation in the lower portion of the uterus which has been torn in childbirth. It does not seem to make any difference what is the nature of the irritant—if it continues, it may lead to cancer.

Cancer begins at one spot. Just as long as it remains in that spot, it can be removed. It is for this reason that any sores which do not heal and stay healed, or any lump or swelling in any part of the body should be investigated without delay. Of course, many of these conditions are quite harmless; but by giving prompt attention to all of them, the dangerous ones are found, treatment is given and the patient is cured.

Any unusual discharge from any body opening demands attention. It is easy to say, for example, that blood in the stools is due to hemorrhoids, but is it? An examination will furnish the answer. It is difficult for most people to believe that, to begin with, cancer does not usually cause pain. They find it hard to credit that a sore, lump, or discharge may be serious and yet not cause any real pain.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

Temperance Table Talks

SHIRLEY TEMPLE MUST NOT DRINK

Here runs a story of little Shirley Temple, the movie star, the six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Temple, of Hollywood, California. They wished to take out an accident insurance policy on her behalf, but it happens that no insurance company on this side of the Atlantic will write a policy for any large amount on a child. Her parents wished to insure her in a big way, however, and so they turned to Britain. I guess they found the same difficulty there, for while they secured a policy against accident for the tiny little sum of $25,000, it seems to have been specially underwritten by 499 prominent Britons, including seven lords and earls, some taking large risks and some quite small. But here's the rub. One clause in the policy states emphatically that the insured "must not take up arms in warfare." Well, anyone understands the immense risk of that. But another clause states "that payment shall be cancelled if Shirley meets death or injury while intoxicated."

So, Shirley, my little Hollywood heroine, child movie star, you are given a worthy life ideal from the start. You are to be a missionary of world peace, and you are not to "lock upon the wine when it is red, when it moveth color in the cup, when it moveth itself aright; for at the last it biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder." The business and social forces of your generation are out to defend your health and safety. While generous, interested men of high rank across the seas have coughed for your compensation in any injury you receive in the pursuit of the peaceful arts, they are too wise in their generation to promise they will save you from the adder's sting, the bite of injury that comes from wine's numbing, enslaving power. They hold you personally responsible for any accident that injures you if you have been drinking. They say to you in big capital letters: "Shirley, you are responsible for your own conduct. You must play the game fair, and not make yourself irresponsible by drink. We will simply not throw our good money away on people who drink." And in this warning word they have voiced the whole insurance agency programme of the world, and the implied conceptions of sane and sensible people everywhere. All the little Shirleys in the world should feel in this Hollywood story, the upward social pull to a life of total abstinence that does not waste itself on drink.

YOUNG SAILOR OF NOVA QUEEN DARING SEAMAN

When the Nova Queen, now one of the ships that never returned, sailed from Turk's Island early in December for Nova Scotia, she carried among her crew, Kenneth Taylor, 17, of Weymouth, sailing his first voyage.

A happy vibrant young man with the pride and joy of the sea in his veins, he was a son of R. J. M. Taylor, of the Weymouth Shipping Company, shippers of lumber cargo, and a grandson of Rev. Morris Taylor, of Hantsport, and Mrs. G. D. Campbell, Sr., of Weymouth.

Days recall when young Taylor, unable to coax any of his companions to join him when white waves were the highest, he would ride the high rolling breakers to the mouth of the Sissiboo River, across St. Mary's Bay to Sandy Cove and back, as older folks watched with anxiety, but pride at his skill in handling his frail 20-foot craft, given him by his cousin, Commander Colburn Taylor, of the Canadian Navy. Young Taylor was a graduate of King's Collegiate School, Windsor, N. S.

BOY SCOUT NOTES, WEYMOUTH TROOP

Boy Scouts and Cubs are progressing rapidly. The Cubs are divided into two groups seven in each group with Mr. Pierce as Cub Master. The Cub's work is similar to that of the Scouts. The Scouts are now working to add more badges on their shirts to enable themselves a trip to Halifax to greet Lord Baden Powell on the 29th of June. The group numbers are gradually increasing, though there is not a full 32 boys as yet. Model airplane building has begun in the troop and several of the boys are trying their skill. Scout Andrew Elliott exhibited a collection of twigs from the forest, forty-five in all.

EXTENSION TO WHARF NEARING COMPLETION

The extension to the Government wharf at Weymouth North, 180x40, is now about completed. This extension which was started in the late fall, has given employment directly and indirectly to about one hundred people.

This wharf is of great convenience to the shipping people of Weymouth and vicinity as Weymouth North is the only open harbour in St. Mary's Bay in the winter season. Also it is the only port of 22 foot craft can load at any ordinary tide.

At the present time the Nova Scotia Lumber Company have a cargo of lumber on the wharf awaiting shipment, and H. E. Wagner, of Weymouth, is putting a cargo of pulpwood on it for Spring shipment to the Mercer Paper Company, at Liverpool, N. S.

The motor vessel, Beatrice L., owned by Capt. Bernard N. Melanson, of Gilbert's Cove, is laying at it for shelter, as owing to the ice in the Bay this is the only open port on St. Mary's Bay.

Pastures More Profitable THAN ANY OTHER FARM CROP

MORE digestible PROTEIN and DRY MATTER can be grown on GOOD FERTILIZED PASTURES than on a ROTATION of Cultivated Crops, with TWENTY-EIGHT times less LABOR per acre, according to recent Pennsylvania Experiments.

HUNDREDS of Demonstrations in the MARITIMES show that the judicious use of Fertilizers on PASTURES has more than doubled the carrying capacity per acre and lengthened the grazing season from four to six weeks.

The following suggestions are offered:

- 1.—On light soils low in Nitrogen, apply, about the last week in April 600 to 800 lbs. per acre of 8-9-8 or its equivalent in a home-made made from 150 lbs. Nitrate of Soda, 300 or 350 lbs. of 20 per cent or 16 per cent Superphosphate, and 100 lbs. Murate of Potash.
- 2.—On heavier soils well supplied with Nitrogen, 500 to 600 lbs. per acre of 2-12-6 should be satisfactory.
- 3.—Fertilize 1-3 to 1-2 acre per cow, selecting land in fair sod, and as near the barn as may be convenient.
- 4.—It is advisable when fencing can be arranged to subdivide the pasture in two or three fields, and practice ROTATIONAL GRAZING.
- 5.—When seeding down for pasture purposes on very acid soils, it is advisable to use some form of lime in addition to fertilizers or manures.
- 6.—It is much cheaper, however, to treat a fair to good sod with fertilizers than to plough and reseed it for pasture purposes, as it takes too many years to establish a good pasture sod.

Further information and literature on PASTURE IMPROVEMENT will be gladly furnished on request. Write:

Insurance "As You Like It"

Until some thirty years ago the great institution of Lloyd's in London, was associated exclusively with marine insurance. Today it gives us all sorts of policies to cover all sorts of contingencies. If they don't exactly make us immune from all the ills that may be waiting round the corner, they do the next best thing—give us compensation for them in hard cash.

A family man, expected an early visit from the stork, asked to be insured against the doubtful blessing of twins. He got his policy, but the stork must have found out, for, after the visit, the cot held only one child.

Two or three weeks before Christmas the theatrical world was stunned by the news of the sudden death of Mr. Julian Wylie, the pantomime king. In the ordinary run of business, he had visited an underwriter at Lloyd's a week before his death and taken out an extra insurance of $15,000 to cover the period of his pantomimes. This precaution is frequently taken when, in an enterprise extending over a limited period, a great deal may depend on one man.

But births and deaths are perhaps the least of Lloyd's "risks." Quite recently the heir to a barony covered himself against pecuniary loss by taking out a policy which, in the event of his father's re-marriage, would give him a sum of $50,000.

One other recent "peccage" risk taken by Lloyd's was for $250,000, contingent upon the death of the Duke of Atholl, to cover the period of his Special Hospital Fund.

Some six months ago a well known rich man was asked to make a donation to the funds of the Cancer Hospital, in London, and given a quantity of literature which dealt with the dread disease.

He subscribed a large sum, but what he had read impressed him so much that he immediately insured with Lloyd's against the risk of becoming a cancer victim. Of course, he first underwent a medical examination which told the underwriters that he was a good risk in this respect.

It is now possible to insure against default by an impetuous motorist against whom damages have been awarded, if for any reason the insurance company does not pay. In one recent disastrous car smash, the insurance company was absolved of liability owing to the fact that the motorist had made a false declaration when obtaining a license.

In providing cover against such eventualities—the small annual premium of three shillings will secure up to $10,000 in respect of any motor claim—Lloyd's have furnished another example of the almost unlimited range of risks they accept.

Most, if not all, professional football clubs insure with Lloyd's against rain, fog, or other weather conditions which would have an adverse effect upon their "games" and it has become the rule to take out similar policies in connection with cricket "test" and "benefit" matches.

The rate may be somewhat high, but in the case of "benefits," the comfort and well-being of a professional's old age are in the balance and so nothing is left to chance.

Last summer a number of people wished to insure against their annual holidays being spoiled by an abnormal fall of rain. Policies were issued by Lloyd's, the normal rainfall for each district being clearly set forth.

One of the strangest policies to be taken out was against a "weather risk" which lasted for a bare two minutes fifty-one seconds. A scientific body had set out to photograph an eclipse of the sun and insured against unfavorable weather conditions.

long of $2,000 (their estimate of the cost of the expedition).

About a year ago the Loch Ness monster was occupying the minds of scientists, zoologists, and almost everybody in the kingdom.

Several showmen offered rewards to anyone who would produce the "animal." Among them was Mr. Bertram Mills, of Olympia Circus fame, who promised to pay the sum of $20,000 for its capture, alive or dead, and with commendable prudence took out a policy at Lloyd's under which this sum would be paid if the reward was earned.

One of the most extraordinary contingency policies which has come from Lloyd's undertakes to indemnify a business man, whose premises are within a few yards of the Monument, near London Bridge, in the event of this huge structure falling.

Another business man insured against a lady "falling in love, engaging herself to marry, or marrying." The risk was accepted by Lloyd's on the payment of a heavy premium.

This particular policy was taken out by a managing director of a film company, and covered a period of three months, the period that the lady's undivided attention was necessary for the production of a picture.

Quite a number of the popular English film actors and actresses have business dealings with Lloyd's. For instance Herbert Marshall, who is generally credited with having the most beautiful voice in the world, has insured his tongue of $20,000.

There is a tragic note behind this policy, as Mr. Marshall's father, himself a good actor with a wonderful voice, had to have his tongue operated on many years ago and was compelled to retire from the dramatic profession.

Jack Hubbert also believes in safeguarding his own interests by means of insurance. In his Lloyd's policy the payment of $25,000 is contingent upon the lasting disablement, partial or otherwise, of his feet. It is said that a small accident to a toe, which prevented him dancing for a few days, gave him the "insurance hunch."

Sydney Howard's voice and hands are insured for a large sum; and certain other stars are covered against loss by injury to their eyes, noses, arms and legs. While Charlie Chaplin, owner of the most famous face in the world, has insured them for $50,000.

He thought of this form of "foot cover" before Jack Hubbert.

The limbs of famous actors, dancers and instrumentalists are commonly valued at many times their weight in gold. Minnieque's legs are said to have been insured for $20,000, and permanent injury to one of Paviaya's feet might have cost the underwriters no less than £6,000.

Kubelik's "bow" hand was insured for £2,000 against injury, and for £10,000 against total disablement; while Paderewski used to pay $800 a year in premiums on his hands and once received £1,000 in compensation for a broken fingernail.

The greatest "freak" proposal came from an individual who had "invested" in twenty tickets for an Irish Sweepstakes and then approached an underwriter at Lloyd's to cover the risk of losing a first prize—£100,000. But in this case there was nothing doing!

LIBERTY'S CANADIAN HALL OF FAME No. 3

Stephen Butler Leacock, economist and humorist, noted for his humor and paid four times as much for it by those who care to read it than for his economy by the students of McGill University, where he heads the Department of Political Economy. Sixty-five a native of England, he stands five foot eight. He is a thick iron gray hair and a Groucho Marx mustache. He believes women should never vote out of respect for women. They don't in Quebec, the only place in the Empire where women have no vote. Wears a widely discussed coonskin coat the pride of all ante-queaners and the envy of many a museum. Eight generations of his family have been born in the same house. He is a member of the Order of the Garter. He has been married three times. He has been a member of the House of Commons. He has been a member of the Privy Council. He has been a member of the Senate. He has been a member of the House of Lords. He has been a member of the House of Commons. He has been a member of the Privy Council. He has been a member of the Senate. He has been a member of the House of Lords.

all was well, but apart from that his knowledge was limited. That is why the early settlers built their homes on the hill so the log cabin fires could be easily seen.

At the present time true story magazines, moving pictures, radios and inflated press publicity are causing so much unrest among the poorer educated people that it will take more than the wealth of the Morgans and Rothschilds to dispel the unrest and establish sound business conditions.

With extra quality of the timber in Russia, manufactured by cheap labor and modern machinery, and large foreign tramp steamers which remove distance and place their goods in the world's market at a very low cost, I cannot see how we can have homes built on the plans of the Home and Gardens pictures and compete with our foreign neighbors.

I believe we must cease to give I. O. U.'s that we cannot redeem on the date we promised and we must live within our incomes.

THE SUN LIFE

The annual financial statements of life insurance companies are among the best barometers of general business experience on this continent. Hence, during the past five years when the decline in individual incomes resulted in the purchase of fewer and smaller life insurance policies, the statements in question faithfully reflected that fact. As the depression continued there was a more extensive termination of existing insurance and at its most acute stages there was an exceptional increase of borrowings and of cash surrenders. Plainly, this was an impairment, in many instances, by the insured, under the stress of immediate necessity of prudent provision for the future of himself and his dependants.

Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada

greatly increased the demands for investment insurance and annuities. At the same time insurance companies themselves are faced with the very conditions, on a big scale, that are making the individual investor increasingly anemic minded. Here they can be relied upon to meet the situation in the same competent way as in the past.

A striking fact mentioned by President Wood, in his address, is that of the $88,000,000 which the Sun Life Company paid out to policy holders last year, 85 per cent was in amounts of less than $5,000. That fact vividly indicates the invaluable place life insurance holds as a source of first aid to those of modest circumstances. It is, indeed, a rather significant evidence that some of the problems which governments today are grappling, growing out of concern for those in humble station, have long since been anticipated and provided for on a sound scientific basis by our insurance companies.

The general character of the report is not only satisfactory to the policy holders of the Company but encouraging to the business community at large.

Boy Scouts' Campaign

League of Nations "They say I've got no army, but why should I wait one with these allies?" (By courtesy of Pauch.)

His Excellency, the Governor-General of Canada, challenges the Canadian Boy Scout leaders to celebrate the coming visit to Canada this spring of the World Chief Scout, Lord Baden-Powell, by initiating a drive to increase the ranks of Canadian Scouts from $5,000 to $10,000, thus extending the benefits of Scouting to hundreds of Canadian communities now without an organized programme of any kind for their boys. The Scout movement as a whole accepted the challenge, but expansion demands more trained leaders and more field work. To ensure the success of the enterprise and finance the Scout movement in Canada for the next five years, a campaign to raise $50,000 was inaugurated with a nation-wide appeal on February 18th by E. W. Bentley, N.C.M.D., Chairman and President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who is also President of the Boy Scouts Association in Canada. This campaign has the hearty support of every thinking Canadian citizen.

He Felt Miserable After Meals

ACUTE INDIGESTION RELIEVED BY KRUSCHEN

The treatment which put this man right must surely be worth trying in every case of indigestion. Read what he says:—

"Two years ago I suffered very much from indigestion, loss of appetite, and a most severe pain in my back. Food soured in my stomach. I felt most miserable after meals, and had no desire or appetite for them. A friend advised me to try Kruschen Salts. I did so, and I am most happy to testify that after a short time I felt the greatest relief. I continued taking Kruschen till I felt myself quite better and a new man. I feel as light-hearted as I did twenty years ago."—W. B.

What Kruschen did for him it will do for everybody else who suffers from indigestion as he did. The fact is that "the little daily dose" of Kruschen first stimulates the flow of gastric juices to aid digestion, and then ensures a complete, regular and unflinching elimination of all waste matter every day.

Since this Hauptmann trial, there has already been rumours of movie and vaudeville contracts for a 300 pound lady, member of the jury; contracts for Anne Hauptmann—and contracts for anyone connected with the trial "who can provide color".

It wouldn't be at all surprising to learn sometime that some person had offered Judge Trenchard "a few grand" to make an appearance on the stage or to write a book.

The story of Hauptmann's trip to the state prison at Trenton, N. J., reminds me of a story I heard last year of an incident that happened some thirty years ago. A man wanted by Canadian authorities in a Prairie Province, was arrested by United States detectives in the state of Montana, heavily manacled, and with a guard of eight armed men, was brought to the Canadian border to be delivered. At the border he was met by one lone Canadian policeman, who conveyed him via horse and buggy to a prison twenty miles away.

"Thank God, we live in a country where representatives of the law command respect by their actions; in a country where courts of justice are not show places."

Between Ourselves

I've decided to come back again. Perhaps a few hints from some of the Courier's readers had something to do with waking me up, but, whatever the reason is, here I am.

And after my long absence I should have something to write about, but, somehow, ideas aren't the easiest thing for a dull mind like mine to find.

Last week one of our readers asked me why the Courier hadn't printed any news on the Hauptmann trial. Whatta question! For over a month this trial has been the chief source of static on our radios; for over a month the headlines of the daily papers have shrieked the name "Hauptmann"; for over a month our people have had an overdose of this famous case. It has always been the policy of the Courier to devote itself to the news of its constituency, and to leave the world news to the daily press.

Nevertheless, I cannot help but wonder how this case would be handled were it tried in a Canadian Court. From all appearances, by following up the trial, through the press and radio, it seemed to be more of a burlesque show than a trial, and it seems almost too bad that someone hadn't suggested hiring the Madison Square Garden for a court room—then an admission could have been charged and more spectators could have enjoyed ringside seats.

We, in Canada, have a lot to be thankful for. We live in a country where a man is declared innocent until he is proven guilty; we live in a country where the press is not entirely given over to sensationalism; we live in a country where the press and radio, true to traditions of justice, do not condemn a man before he stands trial; we live in a country where the dignity of the court is respected.

Since this Hauptmann trial, there has already been rumours of movie and vaudeville contracts for a 300 pound lady, member of the jury; contracts for Anne Hauptmann—and contracts for anyone connected with the trial "who can provide color".

It wouldn't be at all surprising to learn sometime that some person had offered Judge Trenchard "a few grand" to make an appearance on the stage or to write a book.

The story of Hauptmann's trip to the state prison at Trenton, N. J., reminds me of a story I heard last year of an incident that happened some thirty years ago. A man wanted by Canadian authorities in a Prairie Province, was arrested by United States detectives in the state of Montana, heavily manacled, and with a guard of eight armed men, was brought to the Canadian border to be delivered. At the border he was met by one lone Canadian policeman, who conveyed him via horse and buggy to a prison twenty miles away.

"Thank God, we live in a country where representatives of the law command respect by their actions; in a country where courts of justice are not show places."

Single Management is Best Solution Canada's Railway Problem Says Speaker

T. C. McNabb, district supervisor of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was the speaker at Tuesday's mid-day luncheon of the Digby Kiwanis Club, delivering a most interesting address on Canada's Railway Problems. Following is his address in part:

"There is in Canada a very serious railway problem. The people of this country, as owners of the Canadian National Railways, owe largely to European and foreign creditors, $2,700,000,000. To give you some idea of just what this means, it is to be pointed out that each of us owes about $270. On the basis of paying interest on our debt we owe $92,000,000 annually. That means $9.20 per head, and the foreign creditors would be satisfied with that in the meantime. Just today this foreign creditor has some of his debts falling due, and you will see by the current newspapers that we have got to make arrangements for $200,000,000 this month to be refunded; that is, we have got to pay off obligations of that amount under the old arrangement for carrying on the debt, because we cannot pay the principal. There is, however, this disturbing feature that immediately arises and it is this, that the figures I am quoting you are not for 1934 but for 1933, and for 1934 we have got an additional amount. Every year we go behind about another $90,000,000. On the basis of 5 per cent money that adds four and a half million dollars to our debt, so that instead of $9.20 for interest for each of us in the country every year we have got to add 45 cents per head to our payment. There seems to be no hope in sight but what regularly every year we will have this addition to our interest and to our principal. As honest men we Canadians are going to pay off our debt. We have got to pay that and since we have made that decision it is our business to see that it is kept within our power to do so. At the present time it takes all the money that is raised from the income taxes to pay the interest annually. The indebtedness must come out of direct taxation, which comes out of the pockets of every person in Canada.

"It is futile to spend time to discover what is the cause of our bad situation. There are a number of reasons but they can all be summed up in one statement and that is we are in trouble because the government is in the railroad business. If you do not feel like agreeing with this, consider this fact. In 1919 the interest that had to be paid on the government railroad was $18,000,000. The government, accordingly for the purpose of reducing this interest charge and making the railroad a solvent and going concern, gave to the railroad all the money and power that Canada could give them, and the result today is that instead of putting the business in a better shape is obligated to pay $92,000,000 of interest on their undertaking. This means that the government management has resulted in a worse position by two and a half times than when they took over the concern. Government operation of railroads in Canada won't work, it has not worked and we cannot afford to continue that mode of operation.

"It is not a new thing for people to say that the government railways in Canada are in trouble. As long ago as 1917 that was realized and a Commission formed to recommend what should be done. Since that time there has been another Commission, in 1931, and it is significant that in almost every case the governments have not accepted the findings of the Commissions as submitted. The Duff Commission, which functioned in 1931, was formed to bring in a report to say what we should do with all the railroads in Canada. They made a report and this was in a large measure followed out by legislation in May of 1933. This Act, in short, compelled the C. P. R. and the C. N. R. to co-operate in an endeavor to find means of curtailing expenses and reducing losses by getting rid of duplication wherever it existed and by putting in effect a policy of continuous co-operation. Most noticeable savings were made in the pooling of trains between Montreal and Ottawa; Montreal and Toronto and Montreal and Quebec. In addition to the pooling of trains there were some line abandonments, and to show you the difficulties in Nova Scotia, the line abandonment was from Middleton to Bridgetown and South, on the Canadian National, and it is significant that so far there has been no definite conclusion to this proposal. The co-operative activities have now been in existence for nearly two years and the sum of their achievement is about $1,200,000 between the two railroads, or about $600,000 for each has been saved. You can understand that this is a very small matter when you recall that we are looking for a saving, on behalf of the Canadian National, of something in the neighborhood of $50,000,000. It seems to be a fair statement that the Duff Commission's report and the activities carried on for two years under it have demonstrated that there is no solution to be expected from co-operation between the two railroads. The failure of co-operation, as enforced by legislation, is due to the fact that no one can, at the same time, co-operate and compete.

If all the railroads in Canada were under a single management there would be no possibility of exploiting the public. You will recall that rates charged for all railway service are under the strict control of the Board of Railway Commissioners. In addition to that, the matter of line abandonment and train service has to be endorsed by this Board before anything in that direction may be accomplished. The greatest safeguard at the moment against a railway monopoly through lack of competition being a hardship on the public is due to the fact that there has grown up in the country at least three other forms of transportation which would immediately step in and take the place of the transportation offered by the railway if the same were not available under reasonable rates and conditions. The ships in Canada have been extended from coastwise service through the canals to interior service throughout Canada. They are a very potent factor in the matter of railway coast. In addition the bus and the truck have exercised a very powerful influence upon rates and conditions of railway service. In the last few years the aeroplane has come into this field and at the moment is a strong competitor for passenger, express and mail and freight service. So important is always competition that the Canadian Pacific National have joined the ownership of a line of airways known as Canadian Airways. At the present moment you will see by your daily newspapers that a report of auditors has been handed into Parliament which says that the solution of the C. N. R. difficulties is to write down the capital structure. It is perhaps natural that auditors should be unduly optimistic as to the effects of the manipulation of figures. That is the realm in which they live; but bear this in mind, that Canada owes $2,700,000,000, and there are obligations outstanding to that amount upon which yearly this country pays interest regularly. It is of no concern at all the people of this country how this payment is shown in the books at Ottawa so long as we are compelled to pay it, and it is worse than futile so shift the bookkeeping from one account to another and to expect that by so doing there will be any reduction in the annual payments that have to be made.

There was at one time a statement going through the press that the C. N. R. had saved $100,000,000. When this was analyzed all it meant was that the expenses of running the road in the year under question as compared with a former year.

When Capt. Archie Wentzell, of Mahone Bay, skipper of the scallop boat owned by W. S. Wentzell refused to have anything to do with either of them, and preferred his berth on the boat to a bed in the hospital. It is understood that Captain Wentzell suffered no broken bones, but was badly bruised and shaken up.

Six Conventions to Meet in Digby this Season

O. C. Jones, manager of the Pines Hotel, and supervisor of the C. P. R. Hotels, in Nova Scotia, was the speaker at Tuesday night's annual supper of the Digby Board of Trade, held Tuesday evening at the Waverley Hotel. In the absence of the President, H. A. Nichols, Vice-President of the Board presided. The meeting was one of the largest held by the Digby Board of Trade in several years. The guest speaker at this annual supper was to have been the Hon. A. S. MacMillan, Minister of Highways, for the Province of Nova Scotia, but who, unfortunately, was unable to attend.

Mr. Jones, who has been in very close touch with the tourist industry, says he was never more optimistic over the future of the tourist industry as he is at this time, and prophesies the summer of 1935 will be a banner year in the tourist trade. To date no less than six conventions, ranging from 2 to 5 days, duration have been scheduled to meet in Digby.

Among other things he urged that the Digby Board of Trade do all possible to look out for the entertainment of summer visitors; he also urged that the school take some part in the coming Apple Blossom Festival and that the business men of the town make arrangements to send hosts to Kentville this year. He considered that the Apple Blossom Festival, while held in the Town of Kentville, one of Nova Scotia's greatest advertising mediums, and it is fast becoming a province-wide institution.

In speaking of the programme for hard-surfacing the highways, Mr. Jones expressed his regret that Hon. A. S. MacMillan could not be here himself to tell more of the program. He considered the 200 miles of hard-surfaced roads promised by the Minister of Highways this year as a wonderful asset to the tourist industry of Nova Scotia in general.

Mr. Jones concluded his address by reading a paper on the history of the tourist industry in this province. A hearty vote of thanks, moved by Mayor Shortliffe, was extended.

Mayor Shortliffe then commented on the resolutions passed at the annual meeting of the Board of Trade, and passed on to the town council. These resolutions had to do with the lack of water in the reservoir and with the paving of the town streets. In the first instance his worship assured the board that the reservoir is now full, and for some time has been running over.

Regarding the paving resolution, the mayor stated that in all probability the main street through the town will be hard surfaced this spring on the government's 50-50 basis, from the town line to the Pines Hotel, although communications with the highways department had only stated "to a point near the Racquette Bridge". The council has asked that it be continued to the Pines, but to date have not received a reply. No contracts have been signed yet, he said.

Following Mayor Shortliffe's talk a resolution requesting that the hard-surfacing be carried as far as the Pines Hotel, and also include the section from Lourd Lodge to Warwick Street and the "triangle" leading from the main thoroughfare to the Digby Pier. This resolution, moved by A. J. Dillon and seconded by J. W. Merkel, was unanimously passed.

Another resolution that the Board of Trade co-operate with the town and municipal councils in inviting the Union of Nova Scotia Municipalities here for their convention in 1936 was moved by J. W. Merkel, seconded by J. M. Wallis, and unanimously passed.

On motion of Leigh Peck, seconded by Dr. S. B. MacGregor, a resolution was unanimously passed requesting that the Provincial government take action to repair the road from Morgantown to Lake Joli, and to keep the dams at Lake Joli in repair. It was considered that this road was one of the main thoroughfares into the hinterland of this section of the province and that it should be made passable for automobile traffic for the benefit of tourist and local sportsmen.

Miss Caroline Jones, of Cambridge, Mass., arrived on Saturday to spend the week end with her grandmother, Mrs. Ingram Saunders, and her aunt, Mrs. Morris, at Sandy Cove, returning on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Lent, of Westport, are visiting relatives in Digby.

Donald MacNeill, of Dartmouth, is visiting his parents Rev. and Mrs. H. C. MacNeill.

The sewing circle of the Ladies' Hospital Aid met at the home of Mrs. H. M. Warner on Tuesday afternoon. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. George Morrell, next Wednesday.

Town Council in Monthly Session

The appointment of officers for the ensuing year was the chief business to come before the February meeting of the town council. They were as follows:

Superintendent of Streets and Water—W. W. Hayden; (salary $60 per month).

Chief of Police—F. J. Thibault; (salary $60 per month).

Medical Health Officer—John R. McInnis; (salary $90 per year).

Deputy Stipendiary Magistrate—Alfred Boden; (no salary).

Town Solicitor—E. J. Thibault; (salary $90 per year).

Special Constable—Fred Lawrence Fire Wards—W. S. Winchester, G. W. Connell and J. W. Merkel.

Board of Fire Escapes—C. E. Walker and W. S. Winchester.

Weights and Measures—G. Cardoza, C. E. Armstrong, B. A. Roney and A. J. Dillon.

Surveyors of Wood—B. A. Roney, K. E. Collins and W. L. Oliver.

Cattle Reeves and Pound Keepers—Walter Marshall, Horton Stark and Harry Baxter.

Caretaker of South End Dump—Medford Thomas; (salary $10 per year).

Revisors of Voters' Lists—A. R. Turnbull, J. F. Milberry, A. McPhee; (salary $30 per year).

Applications were made to the council by Jack Keen for the purchase of one of the Queen Street lots owned by the town, and by Mrs. Dominic Melanson for a kennel license. Both applications are being considered.

The town also purchased a snow plow for clearing the streets.

The report of Tuesday's session of the Appeal Court will be given at the March meeting of the council. The town solicitor, E. J. Thibault, presided over the court, which comprised also Mayor A. A. Shortliffe, F. L. Anderson, H. L. Woodman and S. S. Aymar. The number of appeals were fewer than in previous years and most had to do with property transfers and losses in the Warne Block fire of January 6th.

The monthly report of the Superintendent of Streets and Water was received. Mr. Hayden reported that at the first of the month twenty men were hired for half a day for shovelling snow. Since then, except for shovelling out a few drifts and clearing ditches, there has been little trouble in that way. He reported all fire hydrants in good condition and the reservoir full and running over.

A purchase of 400 feet of 24-inch pipe has been made by the town to be used at Lily Lake, the town water supply. This pipe will likely be used on the proposed scheme to extend the present outlet into the deeper waters of the lake for a clearer supply.

CRANKS NOT WANTED

Behold the crank. Then behold the person with a sunny heart. The crank is not wanted anywhere. The other is welcome everywhere; his faults may be overlooked, and his shortcomings forgotten because he meets the world with a smile. He has a good nature. His soft answers turn away wrath. His hearty laugh is like the blue sky after a thunderstorm.

The crank is a fly in the ointment of human society. He carries a chip on his shoulder, goes to work with a grudge, finds fault with everything, will never put himself out to do a favor, scolds, condemns, threatens, scolds, and lives a lonely life. People cross the street to dodge him. He picks a fight with the telephone operator, abuses the grocery boy, antagonizes the milk man, and makes himself generally disagreeable on the trolley car, at the theatre, in the railway station, everywhere.

We wish to be surrounded by good-natured people. We want to associate with those who are pleasant; those who are civil; those who have manners, good breeding, and who conduct themselves like ladies and gentlemen, and not like a dog with a sore head. Others, conversely, desire the same thing of us.

When a person loses his temper, he generally suffers defeat in the issue then at stake. An explosive temperament has cost more people their jobs, their prestige, their friends than lack of ability. "He who can overlook a snub and forgive an insult can rule his world like a king. Such persons are so few and so far between that others pause and admire them."

He who sets out to "jaw" everybody who crosses him is in for a whole lot of trouble. It used to be said of Beecher that if anybody wanted a favor of him, all they had to do was to do him an injustice. He made and held friends by hunting up those who had treated him unkindly and doing them some kindness of an unusual nature. When Stanton called Lincoln a fool, and some people decided that fact to Lincoln, the latter said: "Well, I guess Stanton is right. He generally is. I'll walk over and have a talk with him."

The successful salesman is the one who can whistle and smile. The popular clerk who makes money for her employer is the one who is courteous and can meet rebuff with a smile. The preacher who conciliates is the one who leads, not the one who drives. The employer most esteemed is the one who acts like a human being. The teacher who pupils wish to study under is the one who is kind.

The crank is in the way. People shun him and isolate him. The person with a sunny heart radiates joy and draws admiring friends to himself as the magnet draws the filings.

THE OLDEST TOWN

For some years, archeologists have been digging up a prehistoric mound in northern Mesopotamia. It has yielded a rich historical hoard. The ruins of a city believed to be nearly 5,000 years old are the latest find. They have been reached by going slowly and carefully through "twelve layers of civilization" at that particular place. Ten later cities have already been brought to light by the researchers. Three of them were found beneath a layer of silt which the archeologists say must have been left by the flood of Noah's day. And the end is not in sight. Trial surroundings made in a lower level of the mound indicate that the oldest cultural remains ever found in Asia are about to be unearthed. Among the ruins of the latest discovery are the walls of a temple and of private houses, household pottery, spindles and loom-weights for weaving; hammerstones, hammers, knives and chisels for leather-working and basket weaving; combs, mortars for ointment, receptacles for beauty preparations used by women and other remains of domestic life.

The workmanship of these articles compares well with those found in the excavations of later cities.

The archeologists are playing a game more fascinating than any cross-word puzzle and piecing together the story of mankind's past, heretofore veiled in mystery. In doing so, they are pushing farther and farther back the beginnings of human civilization.

SUCCESSFUL YEAR FOR BROWN-HOLDER

The annual meeting of the shareholders of Brown-Holder Biscuits, Limited was held in the offices of the company, Moncton, N. B., recently. The attendance was more than that of the previous year and increased interest was shown in the information which was placed before the meeting. Major A. J. Tingley, President, was in the chair, and the following shareholders were present:—

Hon. Dr. E. A. Reilly, K. C., H. T. Reilly, W. B. Logan, Percy Crandall, Dr. G. T. Leighton, J. H. Farrell, S. L. Holder, P. M. Brown, R. A. Frechette, T. Nowlan, Jude Bourgeois, H. M. Brown, Moncton; F. G. Poole, Saint John; Hazen Farrer, Dorchester; B. W. Lockhart, Shediac; C. C. Avar, Sackville.

About seventy per cent of the stock of the company was represented in person and by proxy.

Most satisfactory reports were presented by the President, Major A. J. Tingley, General Manager, Mr. Fred M. Brown and the Secretary, Mr. S. L. Holder. The turnover for 1934 was about fifty per cent in excess of that of 1933, while the sales for January, 1935, show a very substantial increase over the sales of January, 1934. Resolutions of warmest appreciation of the splendid work of Major A. J. Tingley, the President, F. M. Brown, General Manager and S. L. Holder, Secretary-treasurer and the other directors were enthusiastically passed by the meeting.

Reference was made to the fact that the Brown-Holder Company were the first biscuit manufacturers in the Maritimes to wrap their packages in cellophane.

Reference was made to the recent death of Capt. J. E. Masters, who was present at the annual meeting of 1934 and the secretary-treasurer was authorized to write to Mrs. Masters conveying to her the shareholder's sincere regret at the passing of her late lamented husband.

While the bulk of the business of the Company is in the Maritime Provinces, yet there has been an increasing demand for Brown-Holder Biscuits in Ontario and Quebec. A very gratifying evidence of popular esteem lies in the fact that the Company is receiving an ever increasing number of orders by mail.

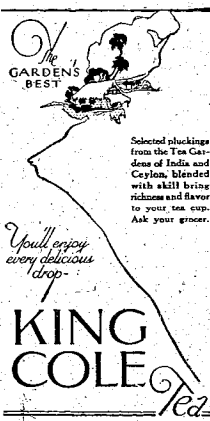

The following directors were elected for the ensuing year:—

A. J. Tingley, B. W. Lockhart, S. L. Holder, F. M. Brown, T. Nowlan, R. A. Frechette, Ambrose Wheeler, F. R. Summer, Moncton; C. C. Avar, Sackville; F. G. Poole, Saint John.

Temperance Table Talks

THE DRINKER DISCOUNTED

A reliable speaker over the radio told recently of a big distiller in one of our leading Canadian cities who in advertising for a chauffeur put it down in black and white that the applicant for the position must be a total abstainer from all intoxicating liquors. None other need apply. Now, isn't that rich? He was giving his life to the making of intoxicating liquors, piling up a snug fortune from it, pushing the sale of it for all he was worth as opportunity offered, rejoicing in a record of sales every dollar's worth of which inevitably told in the process that makes for the deterioration of the manhood and womanhood of the land he called his home. Perhaps he was present at meetings of shareholders or directors who planned for the increase of sales, by making drinking of his own liquors attractive to the young, realizing that the whole success of his business depended upon capturing other men's sons and daughters for the drinking habit. Perhaps he planned with others for some such decent way of effecting sales as "government control" policies would tend to assure, for what more worth while customers could there be than governments, and what more respectable way could there be to sell the stuff than by the bottle, with all the nasty consequences of drinking banished from the salesroom and driven back into the home. Perhaps, indeed, he offered his co-operation with the brewer fraternity to have their sales of beer and wine increased through the setting up of "parlors" and "clubs" where these "innocent" stimulants could be handed out to all and sundry who came in to buy—for of course, such beer and wine habits would speedily react favorably on the harder liquors, he with others was making.

But, when it came to waiving a reliable person to drive his car, he must find one among the men who never touched his liquor. Other folks might drink and drive things and people to disaster and death—that was good business for him. But when it came to his own precious life, no sir, his chauffeur must be a strictly sober man. And he was right, emphatically right, about his would-be chauffeur. But he was wrong, emphatically wrong about his business of making those liquors. Even the maker and seller of liquors discounted the man who kept his liquor habits would speedily react favorably on the harder liquors, he with others was making.

HOW MONEY IS CARRIED

One who is a careful observer points out that people in different lines of business carry their money in varied ways. For instance, grocers, butchers and cattle dealers, are said to carry their money in wads; bankers in clean bills laid full length in a packet, while brokers carry theirs in a single fold—thus doubling their money. The young business man carries his money in an inside pocket, whereas the newspaper editor carries a very large proportion of his dollars in the pockets of his subscribers.

loud talk and bluster about the public wanting drinking laws relaxed and drinking places increased. I do not know of any worthwhile business on the top of the earth today in which a man who drinks is not held at a discount. Do you?

GYPSUM USED BY ANCIENT EGYPTIANS

Gypsum is a very old product. It formed the basis of the plaster used in the mysterious pyramids which were built in Egypt thousands of years ago. It is still used extensively in the building trade and has other uses as well. It is the foundation material for plaster board and is used in the form of blocks and tiles; as plaster-of-paris; surgical plaster; as a substitute for horn and rubber in the making of buttons and for cleaning wool. Calcined and with the addition of coloring matter and glue, it is used for tinting walls. Blackboard crayon, known as chalk, is made of finely pulverized raw gypsum. In various rubber goods, including some kinds of automobile tires, gypsum is used as a filler. It is also used in agriculture as a fertilizer. The qualities that make it valuable are that it sets quickly and makes a strong support; furthermore, the plaster is a non-conductor of heat and is not affected by moisture. During the war, it was much used in the erection of temporary buildings for war purposes. Extensive deposits of gypsum are to be found in the provinces of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick and much of it goes to the United States. Other deposits are located in Ontario, Manitoba, Alberta and British Columbia. Recently, Great Britain has taken a considerable quantity. Most of the gypsum is exported from Canada in the raw state but there is a growing export trade in gypsum plaster and other gypsum products. The quality of gypsum found in Canada, particularly the white rock of the Maritime Provinces and Ontario, is of an exceptionally high grade.

Obituary

Mrs. Alden Wamboldt

There passed away at her home in Bear River, on Wednesday morning last, after a short illness, Mrs. Verta B. (Dakin) Wamboldt, wife of Alden Wamboldt, at the early age of 31 years. She was born in Centerville and was a daughter of the late Vernon Dakin and Mrs. Dakin, now Mrs. Robbins, but went to Bear River at the age of eight years, and was adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Harris. She was a member of the United Church of Canada and had made many friends. She is survived by her husband and three small children, Malcolm, Marylee, and Claire; her foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Harris; her mother; three sisters, Mrs. F. Speights, Centerville; Mrs. Otis Rice, Bear River; Margaret Peters, Bridgetown; three brothers, Leighton Dakin and Bernard Dakin, of New York; and James Peters, Vancouver. The funeral was held from her late home on Friday afternoon, conducted by Rev. C. L. Blanchard, of the United Church, assisted by Rev. S. Steeves, of the Baptist church, and choir of the United Church. "The Old Rugged Cross" was given by Mrs. Lloyd Sanford and Mrs. Ralph Purdy. The pall bearers were H. W. Purdy, Fred. R. Harris, J. L. Warren and Walter Dukeshire. Interment was in Mt. Hope cemetery.

Mrs. G. D. Morgan

The death of Florence A., wife of George D. Morgan, occurred at the home of her daughter, Mrs. I. M. Phinney, at Middleton, Feb. 26th, after a tedious illness, borne with Christian fortitude. She was in the 73rd year of her age, and a daughter of the late S. F. Bars, for many years a prominent merchant of Halifax, where her early years were spent. She is survived by her husband, one daughter and four grandchildren. Her only son was killed overseas, and two daughters predeceased her. Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Edwin Harris, Aylesford, and Miss M. Bars, Middleton. She will be much missed in the church, in her home, and by the friends who knew her best. Funeral was from the home, conducted by her pastor, Rev. J. W. Armstrong. Members of the Baptist choir were in attendance and Miss Maxine Morse sang "Have Thine Own Way Lord". Interment was at Pine Grove cemetery. (Mrs. Morgan was at one time a resident of Monctonville.—Editor Courier.)

RANGERS WIN AFTER FOUR STARTS

The Smith's Cove Rangers defeated the Round Hill Pirates 5-3 in a regular league game in the Annapolis rink, Saturday evening. In the first period R. Smith scored for the Rangers on B. McHugh's rebound. Smith again scored on a pass from A. Adams, the period ending 2-0 for Smith's Cove. B. McHugh scored on a pass from A. Payson; Round Hill then scored two goals to end the period.

The last period was very exciting with the Rangers playing defensive hockey. R. Smith scored again for the Rangers on a pass from A. Payson. R. Turnbull retired from the game after being hard checked by Stevens. B. McGregor scored another goal for the Rangers in a clever pass from H. Sulis. B. Stevens, of the Pirates, was injured and carried from the game. Round Hill scored the final goal of the game in a mix-up in front of the Rangers' cage.

ALL FOOD MADE HER ILL

Caused by Acidity—Corrected by Kruschen

"It is only fair to pass these facts on," writes a nurse. "I was suffering from over-acidity and flatulence to such an extent that I was completely ill. I couldn't take food. When I actually forced myself to take something, I would be wretchedly ill. I have now taken Kruschen for 12 months, and I have no doubt that it has righted my digestive system. I am now quite fit and able to work with vigor again."—Nurse E. S.

Indigestion is caused by a failure in the flow of the gastric or digestive juices. As a result, your food, instead of being assimilated by your system, simply collects and ferments inside you, producing harmful acids. The immediate effect of the six mineral salts in Kruschen is to promote the healthy flow of the vital juices of the body. As you continue with the "little daily dose," it ensures the regular and complete elimination of all waste matter every day. And that means a complete end to indigestion.

NOTICE

The regular monthly meeting of the Bear River Women's Institute will be held in the Masonic Reading Room, on Monday afternoon. An interesting programme is being prepared and important business will come before the meetings. A large attendance is requested.

PROMPT ACTION PREVENTS FIRE

On Monday evening, about 10 o'clock, the Bear River Fire Department was called and promptly responded, in company with many other citizens, to an alarm of fire in the barn of Wilton Banks, caused by the storage of ashes in wooden containers. The fire was promptly controlled before much damage had been done to the building which is in close proximity to the house, occupied by Mr. Banks, and in the neighborhood of a number of other dwellings.

Bear River has cause to be proud of the services of its Fire Department which is composed wholly of volunteers.

Mrs. Edward Winchester has returned to Digby after spending some weeks with Mr. and Mrs. A. Hubley.

BOY SCOUTS

The weekly meeting of the Bear River Troop was attended by nineteen, in spite of the stormy weather. The Wild Ducks, weakened by the absence of their patrol leader and second, nevertheless made a strong bid for point supremacy by winning a tennis ball relay, but were beaten slightly in attendance and uniform points by the Bearers.

Plans were made in the Court of Honor for the completion of the calssing of the interior of the Scout Hall.

HONORED BY TOWNSMEN

Many regrets are being expressed in church, business and social circles of Bear River, over the removal to the Kentville Custom department, of J. L. Warren, who has been customs official in Bear River for twenty-four years, and with his wife, (formerly Margaret Harris) has been very active in all departments of religious and community life. Mr. Warren is a member of the Council of the Board of Trade, of the management of the Bear River Agricultural Society, an ex-trustee of Oakdene Academy, a deacon of the United Baptist church, acting also as secretary-treasurer of that church for the last fifteen years.

Mrs. Warren, who has a beautiful soprano voice, will be greatly missed from the musical circles of the town and particularly from the choir of the Baptist church, of which she was the leader. Tugible evidence of the appreciation of Mr. and Mrs. Warren's services to the church was given on Wednesday evening, when over seventy-five members of the congregation genuinely "surprised" them at their home, and presented them with a large and beautiful multiple-light electric floor lamp. The presentation address was made by Rev. S. F. Steeves, pastor of the church, and replied to by Mr. and Mrs. Warren, who expressed regret at their removal from this, their native town.

Rev. A. A. MacLeod, a former pastor of the church (now field secretary of the Sons of "Temperance") and Rev. C. L. Blanchard, pastor of the United Church of Canada, added their tributes to the valuable services to religious and community circles, that had distinguished Mr. and Mrs. Warren as true citizens, whose removal to Kentville would be a distinct loss to Bear River.

Music and refreshments, arranged by a capable committee of ladies of the Baptist church, were features of this farewell social gathering of old friends and church associates.

Mr. Warren will assume his duties at the Kentville Customs on March 1st. Mrs. Warren and family joining him there shortly.

'Guess Again' Back Again

How do, folks, how be yeh?

Had to kinder let down on my letter writing this winter, because of one thing and another. It is not so easy as I anticipated. Been all winter shovelling myself out.

I started out like a feller running a hundred-yard dash, but it time went on I got kinder winded. I realize it takes a long-winded feller to keep ahead in this letter writing business.

However, that young feller—Bobby—way out in California, is still plugging away. Am glad he is. I enjoy reading his letters. It was his article in the February 8th issue of the Courier that gave me inspiration to grab my pen and again dive into literature.

I was going to throw a big wet sponge in the ring—as the sportsmen say—thinking that I had been discovered; as the chap or lass only half guessed my name, the old hat is still in the ring, and I hope to go another round or two before I take the count.

You are right, Bobby, when you bring to task—so to speak—those good friends down there in the old Valley and the Ridge Road, for not having contributed a letter or two to the Courier for old acquaintance sake and help cheer us old timers up a bit.

If Isaiah Wilson was around the Valley today you would hear from him on this old time stuff. What a memory he had—you knew him, Bob, of course.

I wish you could have heard his speech in my behalf, just before a ballot was taken for my membership in the Band of Hope in the Valley. I didn't realize he knew so many good things about me. I have one of his books, "History of Digby County," and refer to it quite often.

You can't expect to get any letters from the new generation growing up around the Valley these days. There are enough seasoned folks still meandering around the old hunting grounds in the Valley that would contribute to the columns of the Courier if the Senior and Junior editors would interest themselves a bit to that end.

I have been trying to draw out some of those old timers, but have failed. That is partly why I have neglected writing more frequent. There is an old saying that, the people in and around Digby work hard all summer and sleep during the winter. (Oh, yeah!—Editor Courier).

So Bob, it may be the season is again us. Let us hope that when they do wake up that it will be a dull day and that they don't see their shadow.

I was in hopes that between us we would get Tupper interested enough to contribute an occasional article. I know of many persons who would lay aside business or pleasure to have

He said he liked to say "good morning" to everyone he met when going to the office in the morning after partaking of a good breakfast. He added that even two cows when let out in the barnyard in the morning—although separated by a fence—would be jingling each other within ten minutes.

a chat with him for an hour or so, and be full well repaid for the time spent. He can tell more stories; crack more jokes, spin more yarns (I don't mean quilting parties, better than Irving Cobb, Ed. Wynn or any other professional story teller I ever listened to, as well as give you a good argument on any public question of today. Those likes to and from Digby—and what he learned there—must have laid the foundation for all his knowledge—and by the great horn spoon he keeps it all bottled up.

Now, Bobby, don't be so rude and all-fired cold blooded as to say that you have me on the spot. You will be surprised when you learn how mistaken you are. I am not the feller you think I am.

The only thing that saves your skin is the very flattering references you have made to my humble efforts to interest the folks with an occasional historical letter.

To me, the matter of a number on my humble postage in Lynn don't mean a thing. Neither would the name "Guess Again." I am so well known that I venture to say that if Bobby stopped off at Lynn and asked any man or woman (especially woman), where I lived he would be directed correctly.

You know Mr. Ediffo, I establish a residence in small cities so that, in event I decide to enter more deeply in politics and run for office of alderman, mayor, or congressman, there would be no doubt as to the interest I would take in the affairs of that particular city or country I choose to represent.

Perhaps Bobby will see the point. An ex-mayor of the city of Sydney, Nova Scotia, who called on me several times when visiting Boston—and by the way was a close friend of mine—left a deep impression on my mind in speaking words of wisdom when taking his leave.

After telling me he could not quite understand people who dwell in houses built so close together in our suburban cities, did not know their neighbors nor even the family occupying the apartment. He said he liked to say "good morning" to everyone he met when going to the office in the morning after partaking of a good breakfast. He added that even two cows when let out in the barnyard in the morning—although separated by a fence—would be jingling each other within ten minutes.

Perhaps the ex-mayor never had his pockets picked, nor asked to "stick 'em up, give me all you got," when entering the driveway to his home, or on nearly every corner to be asked, "Mister, come across with two bits, haven't eaten for a week."

We may be our brother's keeper and all that, but by cracky, when these things happen every so often, one is apt to forget his own name, without wanting to get intimate with his neighbors, and feel like saying good night instead of good morning.

However, in parting, my friend said, "Now—" (jumping legs) "harp, I almost wrote my name, 'I would rather be a big man in a little town than a little man in a big town.'"—and I guess he's right.

So, Bobby, you have received many interesting letters from friends since writing to the Courier. No wonder you are warming up to the situation. One of the reasons why I did not sign any letters was I dislike receiving fan mail. And I am not going to sign any letter until the "last round-up."

I must tell you, Bob, that one evening the telephone rang. I being the nearest, answered it. A female voice asked, "Is that you—?" I replied, "Yes." She said, "I can't hold out any longer. I got it, and I just had to call you up and tell you so."

It was long-distance, too. Well, I asked her what she had that bothered her, and why call me. "Oh," she said, "I've read the Courier last week and this and I just know you did it. Oh, it was grand—please do it some more. I let some friends of mine from Weymouth read my Courier, and they think you did it, too."

I was a little bothered and curious but asked her what I had done. Then she told me who she was and a lot of other things that would not interest the Courier readers, except that I was "Guess Who"—and she knew it.

Now, Bob, many attacks like that would undermine me and I almost wish I had not started this non-plumbe business.

This little epistle I send along for old times sake, hoping it will cheer Bobby up a bit and "peradventure" some good soul in the Valley, the old Ridge Road, or even out in West Roxbury may contribute a letter or two that makes such interesting reading for those who are living in foreign lands.

With still a longing for a tramp along the scenes of my childhood I am, as before,

Yours, Mass.

Guess Again.

Rambblings of a Rolling Stone

How often it happens that the common-places of yesterday become of deepest historic interest to-day. Perhaps many of the places and things which fail to impress us to-day will be cherished by future generations as links in the long chain of human endeavor.

To the red-skinned warrior, the lost arrow head or the broken lance, meant nothing more than a passing inconvenience, or a trip to the wigwam of the tribal arrow maker. To us they tell a story of sudden death in tribal warfare, of wailing squaws and orphaned papooses; perhaps the story told is of good hunting and well filled pemmican bags. A tale of plenty after famine haunted days; of nights when phantom feasts spread round a spectral fire left marrows chilled and hunger unappeased.

Those of us to whom the candle moulds and the scissor-like "snufflers", where part and parcel of the nightly round, little thought that on antique-hungry world would be so eager in its search for these and others of the familiar utensils of that near-by yesterday.

The spider had scarcely completed her filmy drapery among the hand worn spokes, nor had the music of its varying drone grown distant to the ears that listened yesterward, before the humble spinning wheel was called to play a Cinderella part, and left her resting place among the ashes of the past to reign, the queen of antiques, on a modern throne.

To the men and women who accompanied it: the covered wagon train that crept across the plains and creaked its way through the danger haunted passes of the Rockies, there was little of romance and none of glory. Today the land is filled with monuments glorifying the achievements of those who answered the call to follow in the footsteps of the horses of the sun.

In this section of the State of Washington are many deserted farms—homes which have been left a prey to the elements for many years; and seeing them I wonder where one might find those whose patient hands built these humble homes and won these little fields from the savage wilderness. Did these orchard trees, now moss-bearded and hoary with the years, bend the supple branches of their youth to the breeze of summer as happy children played their noisy games within their quivering shade? I wish I knew.

As long as memory lasts, I shall be able to re-live again a day I spent in wandering around the old fort at Annapolis Royal. Only a few years separated me that day from the history I had studied in the little school house. The heroes of that warlike age were still living actors to me; and whether I stood on the old fort and followed with my eyes the wandering ribbon of silver that stretched away to the Basin of the old narrow winding stairs in the old barracks, those whose swords fought either to win or to retain that vast new world, were ever beside me. Days of toil and danger to those whose names are written large on the pages of Canadian history, but mellowed by time and helped by an aura of glory, those mis-enriched days become to us an era of grand adventure and of high achievement.

One Sunday afternoon in the au-turn of 1910 when, as was our wont, my wife and I were exploring the prairie which stretched from sky to sky, and of which our tiny home seemed to centre, we made a discovery. We had descended into one of the not infrequent ravines which form the drainage system of the plains, and in following its narrow, winding course we found a tiny spring of water. On a little mound beside the spring was a cairn of stones surmounted by two bleached buffalo skulls, markers which had been placed there many years before perhaps by some wandering Cree who had refreshed himself there and in gratitude had built this guide post to attract the attention of others who might stray that ways. Though, the spring and the eye-arresting skulls were a real discovery, they faded into insignificance when I chanced to uncover a skull which lay hidden in the tangled grass and weeds. Further search failed to reveal any other parts of the departed and so we had only the skull on which to build a myriad theories regarding the unknown brave. As I tried to read something of the life story of one who long years before had joined his fathers in the Happy Hunting Grounds, I remembered that I was not the only one who had tried and failed to read the riddle of life from the mementoes of death. Another had lamented his inability to unravel the mystery in immortal verse:

"Behold this ruin, 'twas a skull,
Once of ethereal spirit full.
This narrow cell was life's retreat.
This space was thought's mysterious seat."

What happy visions filled this spot!
What dreams of pleasure, long forgot!
Nor love, nor joy, nor hope, nor fear
Have left one trace of record here."

Halifax to Digby Express First in Canada . . .

Express service was first established in Canada by a news gathering station, the Associated Press, in 1849, the service operating with messengers on horseback between Halifax and Digby, and thence by boat to Saint John, for the carrying of news despatches from Europe arriving by vessel at Halifax it was explained by E. Smith, superintendent of the Canadian National Express, speaking before the Moncton Rotary Club last week on the history and development of the railway express. From Saint John the despatches transmitted by telegraph. The first express service on what is now the Canadian National Railways, was operated by railway and stage coach between Halifax, Truro and Pictou. The portion of the route covered by stage coach was between Truro and Pictou and was known as Hyde's Stage Coach Line. The old coach, still in existence, being in the Pictou County Museum, at Green Hill, Look-off. The service went under the name of the Fishwick Express and the speaker remarked he had recently discovered in Pictou an old seal and book of records of shipments after 1873. The first express service on the continent was established in the United States in 1839 by William Harden between Boston and New York. The American Express was the next in 1850, followed by the Wells Fargo in 1852, and the Adams Express in 1854. Since 1918 the express services in the United States have been operated by the government under the name of the American Railway Express Agency was formed. In the course of his remarks Mr. Smith spoke of the various classes of express matter handled by Canadian railways express services which stretch across Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific and into the far north. With these various connections they handle express matter and take money transfers all over the world.

—as if it were in debt to them;

MUST ALLOW FISH TO GO UP RIVERS TO SPAWN

That one of the greatest tourist attractions of Nova Scotia and one of its finest spots is rapidly deteriorating and will continue on the road to oblivion unless protection is supplied against the trapping of salmon in the rivers of the province is the contention of W. J. Foley, manager of the Buena Vista Hotel, at Salmon River, who visited Halifax recently. Mr. Foley expressed the opinion that this great sport cannot be followed much longer unless the salmon are allowed to go up the rivers to spawn. As it is now, he says, traps at the mouths of the rivers capture the fish as they attempt to reach the spawning ground and as a consequence the stock is rapidly becoming depleted. Mr. Foley is competent to speak with authority on the subject for he has lived nearly all his life at some of the best salmon fishing grounds in Nova Scotia.

Although in his 70th year, Mr. Foley is a very active man and personally attends to all the business of his hotel, as well as maintaining a hearty interest in his favorite sport.

He has the distinction of being one of the last of Nova Scotia's stage coach drivers, having been in the business on the route from Digby to Yarmouth in the year 1882. He recalls that the average for the hundred mile journey from Yarmouth to Yarmouth and back was 16 hours, changing horses three times each way.

After leaving the stage coach business Mr. Foley went in for ship-building and in 1898 he built the Buena Vista. In his ship building career he turned out several craft well known along the Nova Scotia coast. One was the brigantine Bertha Grey, and another, the last he built, was the Mary B. Brooks, a vessel which is still in commission. During the war he constructed five ships for the firm of J. M. Ra'us and Sons, of Bridgewater.

One exciting experience of his was the wreck of the Bon Homme, in American waters. He and a crew of five were rescued and taken to Boston and the boat was left a derelict and later sank.

Mr. Foley has also been concerned for the greater part of his life with community and provincial affairs, and has filled a number of important positions.

He was gazetted a Justice of the Peace in 1892, the warrant being signed by Hon. W. S. Fielding and in 1915 he was appointed Stipendiary Magistrate, a position he still holds. The warrant was signed by the late Lieut.-Governor MacGregor.

The Buena Vista hotel is one of the favorite places in Digby County, patronized extensively by Americans. Mr. Foley is a firm believer in advertising and backs that belief up by using space in American publications.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD
NEW MEMBERS AHEAD!

When he's very young, a simple, minimum cost camera is really preferable in most instances, but once he comes under the spell of real snapshot shooting, he merits—and should have—a modern camera of the better type.

YEAR after year, the idea of cameras as appropriate gifts for birthdays, graduation and other memorable occasions, has grown steadily. Last year, if you'll pardon the personal intrusion, I gave my own mother a simple little camera on her birthday. At first, she was frankly skeptical. She had never used a camera, always relying on my sometimes unreliable skill. She was sure she would never master that camera. . . . Now it goes with her everywhere, much to our mutual joy.

To some folks, I wouldn't dream of giving a camera. They're not enough interested in other folks and places and life in general to get any fun out of it.

But there are others—the majority—to whom a camera would mean much.

What kind of camera? It depends entirely on the kind of person who is to receive it. Every youngster should have a chance at a camera, but only of the simplest, most inexpensive sort. By "inexpensive" I mean cameras costing from, say, one to five dollars. They should be of any of the standard makes, using film available everywhere.

Of course, if you have a young friend who has shown more than average interest in picture making and has outgrown his simple little box camera, you can provide vast happiness by presenting him—or her—with a better camera.

Once you get above the five to ten dollar class, the variety of cameras to be had is bewildering. Of recent years there has been a tremendous increase in the use of so-called "provision" cameras—small cameras, beautifully made and equipped with all manner of useful gadgets. Their lenses are masterpieces, their adjustments more accurate than many a professional studio camera. Naturally, they cost money, plenty of money. Beginning at about $25, the prices of these miniature cameras range on up and up and up. If you're really anxious to spend a hundred dollars on a camera, you'll have no trouble at all. However, you can stay in the general neighborhood of fifty dollars and get some amazingly beautiful cameras. By "beautiful" I mean something as expertly designed and constructed that there's sheer delight in handling it.

Many of the miniature, precision cameras use very small size film. The idea is that the small pictures are kept as records, while enlargements of the best shots are used by the proud owners to show what they've been doing.

Modern, fine-grain film, by the way, makes this procedure possible. You need not, of course, consider the miniature camera in your gift hunting. For the average person you can select a camera with a reasonably good lens—one that's rated at f.6.3 or even f.4.5—and use a film big enough so that enlargements are not always necessary. The famed "post-card size" camera is a favorite and will probably remain so. There's a reason.

If it has been several years since you last looked at cameras, shop around just for the fun of it. You'll discover that things have been happening.

New Instant Treatment

Incredible as it may seem, doctors are now prescribing a way that relieves raw, painful sore throat in as little as 2 to 3 minutes!

All you do is crush and stir 3 Aspirin tablets in 1/4 glass of water and gargle with it twice.

Aspirin tablets disintegrate so completely no irritating particles are left. Results are immediate. At once soreness is eased—discomfort allayed.

Everywhere throat specialists urge this fundamental treatment instead of less effective old-time "washes" and "antiseptics." Remember this. And when you buy, see that you get ASPIRIN. It is made in Canada and all drug stores have it. Look for the name Bayer on every Aspirin tablet. Aspirin is the trade mark of the Bayer Company, Limited.

AUSTRALIAN TREES ARE DIFFERENT

Trees in Australia differ widely from those in other parts of the world. The number of species, however, is not very great as compared with other countries, states the master of one of the freighters of the Canadian National Steamships in the Canada-Australia-New Zealand service recently arrived in Canada with a cargo from the Antipodes. The genus eucalyptus predominates as a source of timber. Its species exceed three hundred, a greater diversity, probably, than in most other genera of the world. The eucalypt has a rapid growth, comparatively speaking. An English oak takes two hundred years to yield as much wood as an Australian eucalypt in twenty-four. Australian timber comes in a wide range of colors, from dark to pale red, pink, grey, chocolate, yellow and pale yellow; some almost colorless. In weight Australian timber ranges from extreme lightness—13 lbs. to the cubic foot—to iron-barks, which run to 70 lbs. and some of the heavier acacias 80 lbs.

and over. Hardness is an attribute, one species being known as "the axe-breaker". Ironbark ties are in demand abroad for railway use due to their long life, from 25 to 30 years. On account of trees being ruthlessly cut down in the early days to provide areas for pastoral and agricultural purposes, there being no demand for lumber, Australia is faced with a rather serious forestry problem and attention is being directed toward conservation.

BELGIUM COUNTRY OF SMALL FARMS

Belgium is a land of small agricultural holdings. It is the ambition of every man to own one or more plots of land, possibly no more than a house and garden, but preferably, also pieces of agricultural land. 82 per cent of the population is engaged permanently in agriculture. Over one-half of the soil is farmed by tenants, owing to the high price of land. Scientific farming is carried on to a high degree, due to the poor natural fertility of the soil. In the Hesbaye alone is any kind of soil that might be called fertile to be found. The soil of Flanders, familiar to Canadian war veterans, does not yield a single crop without one of two thorough and scientific manurings. There is no soil in all Europe less fertile naturally than that of Northern Belgium and the agricultural prosperity of Flanders is entirely the result of human effort. The low wages paid in the industrial field the lowest in Europe excepting Russia, result in many holdings to the land. Of the 11,780 square miles which comprise the whole of Belgium about 5 per cent is owned by communes or municipalities.

F. A. Graham, who is spending the winter in Halifax, was a recent visitor at the home of his daughter, Mrs. (Dr.) McCleave.

was $100,000,000 less. That is, the traffic had so fallen it was not necessary to pay for coal and wages to that amount. Under no circumstances could this be called savings, because it did not represent any betterment in the condition of the road. Sufficient criticism of the tendency to let the problem remain as it now is, is simply this, that Canada is unable to afford an annual increase of nearly $90,000,000 to its debt, and it is a matter of simple arithmetic to find what year our debts will exceed our valuable assets. We cannot remain quiescent unless we are willing to embrace certain bankruptcy.

Of late, there has been a suggestion that another Commission be formed to discover what should be done with the transportation problem of Canada. Whether or not such a Commission would result in a solution is very hard to say. There is, however, a solution which was offered in 1931 and has not been accepted by the people of Canada. The C. P. R. at that time and continuously since has said, on its reputation as a business organization, that it is prepared to save the people of Canada $15,000,000, if they are allowed to administer all of Canada's railways. That offer is still open and it is the only definite solution, backed by responsible men, that has been put before the country. The proposition in its broad outline is simply this, that the ownership of the roads should remain where it now is and that the Canadian Pacific, on behalf of the two owners, would operate jointly all the properties and divide the results. There seems to be nothing that is simpler or more easily understood than such an arrangement.

There is a body of opinion that is strongly in favor of government ownership and as such are refusing to agree that the government railways should be turned over to any other owner. It is sufficient to answer that in this particular case the ownership would remain where it still is and to point out that no matter what opinions one may have concerning government ownership it is abundantly proven in Canada that government ownership of railways cannot flourish longer endure as a government cannot carry the financial cost.

There is no solution proposed by any responsible body except, that which the Canadian Pacific has brought forth. Twice before in railway history in Canada the Canadian Pacific has tendered a solution for the current railroad problem: once in 1917 and later in 1931. In both cases, time has shown that the acceptance of the Canadian Pacific proposal would have resulted in undoubted benefit to this country.

We cannot go on as we are now. $90,000,000 a year added to our debt is too much. We have tried co-operation and it has failed. There is no other solution other than co-ordination of Canadian National facilities under our management. It is honestly contended that this would save $75,000,000 a year for the people of this country. It would result in more people at work in the railroad business and more money made by the railroad companies. It has been definitely shown that government operation of railways in Canada cannot function economically. This is not due to the men at work on the government railways as they are as good as any railwaymen and officers can be but the conditions under which they labor are such that they are, and cannot be, allowed to exercise their undoubted ability.

Col. David MacMinn, of Toronto, Field Secretary of the Salvation Army in Canada, will conduct a public meeting in the Army Barracks tonight. All are cordially invited to attend.

With the Scallop Fleet

Capt. Archie Wentzell, who has been in charge of W. S. Troop's scallop dragger, has returned to his home in Mahone Bay. On Saturday the boat formerly under his command, went out in charge of Capt. Ivan Mosker. Capt. Wentzell was the victim of a bad fall last Wednesday.

The scallop fleet report, Saturday as one of the best days in several weeks. Large quantities of scallops were brought in Saturday afternoon and evening. Some boats shelled out as high as five and a half barrels. Prices are down somewhat.

The M. W. Colp, locally known as "the big Dutchman," is again ready for the scallop beds. The Eunenburger had the misfortune on Friday to lose a valuable six-net set of drags and cable. New-nets were manufactured locally by A. J. Troton.

In among several bushels of rocks and other debris from the bottom of the Bay of Fundy, hauled up a short time ago by the Digby scalloper, Finback, was a cup. When the nets were dumped on the deck of the craft the cup rolled out, undamaged. The following day, in the same manner, this boat drags brought up from the bottom, a saucer which matched the cup exactly, and it, too, was unbroken. It is thought they were from the cargo of the ship Culloden wrecked along these shores over sixty years ago. The Culloden, bound from England for Saint John, was carrying a general cargo, a large portion of which was crockeryware. Other pieces have been found by scallopers from time to time.

The Violeta G. ("the little Dutchman") recently brought up timbers from an old wreck, and coal, supposed to be part of the cargo of the Mule, a Yarmouth barge which foundered off the Gut many years ago while being towed from Parrsboro to Yarmouth, has frequently come up in the scallop drags. The village of Culloden received its name from the old wreck.

How Kiwanis Began

The Kiwanis movement began to ward the close of the year 1914, when two young men of Detroit, Michigan, formed a business men's club. Considerable thought was given to the selection of a name for the new organization. After some research the Indian word "Kee-wanis" was submitted. The derived meanings were—"To make one's self known" and "To impress oneself." The spelling altered to "Kiwanis" and this word, suggesting "self expression," was selected as the name of the organization, which was later to become continent wide in scope and to exert inestimable community influence.

Echo From Old West in Death of "Medicine Man"

An echo of the primitive West was brought to light recently, when a death certificate, filed with the authorities in accordance with regulations, showed the occupation of the deceased as "Medicine Man". He was "Doctor" Josiah Young, a Cree who died on Christmas Day, in his log cabin at Young's Point, near Demetery Lake, seven miles south-west of The Pas Junction point on the Canadian National Railway for Churchill. Josiah Young was 76 years of age. He was a well-known figure in the north and was referred to as "Doctor" Young, and often simply as "the Doctor". He was buried in the Big Eddy cemetery of the Cree, following services in the Church of England mission on the reserve. The aged Indian represented the Cree of a by-gone day. He remained true to the gods of his fathers. He declined to surrender his independence in the treaty with Queen Victoria, made in those memorable months of August and September, 1876. He refused to accept treaty money. He would not become a ward of the government. He would not deny to live on a reserve. He spoke his native language and no other; and, more than that, he wore the lived apart from the reservation. He trapped for a living, meanwhile gathering herbs in the secret recesses of The Pas mountains; and he numbered among his patients white men and women, as well as red. Only in the way of such necessities as flour, tea, sugar, tobacco and beer did he come in contact with civilization. The treaty Indian is barred from buying beer. But "Doctor" Josiah Young was beholden to no monarch and no statute. He could buy beer, would enjoy his beverage, put down his glass, shoulder his pack, and trudge off into the forest. Upon the government certificate he remained himself—medicine man—the writing marking a closing chapter in a passing age.

N. S. Fish and Game Society in Annual Meeting

The Nova Scotia Fish and Game Protective Association's annual meeting took place in Halifax on Wednesday and Thursday of last week, resulted in a number of important resolutions being passed regarding our fish and game. These resolutions will be presented at this session of the Legislature.

After many lengthy discussions the Association voted for a moose season of the same dates as 1934, namely October 10th and 31st, but asking for increased Ranger service.

E. S. Dixon, of the Halifax Tourist Bureau when asked if he thought a closed season on Moose would have any effect on the Tourist business stated that in his opinion there would be more tourists interested in shooting with a camera than with a rifle.

In answer to a question Mr. Harrison stated that it had been found that police dogs were the chief offenders against big game. A total of 113 were killed last year for chasing and destroying game, practically all of them being caught in the act.

A resolution was passed in which the Association asked that the Department of Lands and Forests increase the number of wardens and rangers, to effect more rigid enforcement of the Game Laws.

The resolution presented by the Halifax County Association asking for protection on Black Bears, and the placing of them on the same status as other big game, received the approval of the parent body by a vote of 19 to 5, after a somewhat lengthy discussion.

A committee under the chairmanship of Rev. A. W. L. Smith, of Clementsport, was appointed to study the matter of a commission or civil service to have charge of the administration of law pertaining to the natural resources of the province.

A committee headed by Seymour Baker, of Yarmouth, gave a very comprehensive report on National Parks.

John McEwan, of Bear River, in a brief and interesting address stated that in his opinion a closed season should be placed on mink and muskrat as they appear to be getting scarce. He also remarked that beaver were being taken when trappers could not get the other fur bearing animals, and as a result their ranks were being depleted in the Bear River section of the province at least.

Brotherhood in Monthly Meeting

The Men's Brotherhood of Grace United Church, at their monthly supper Wednesday evening, were hosts to the Digby Fire Company. Following a splendid supper, Harry Beaman, who presided at the piano, entertained the gathering with music and songs.

The meeting was thrown open to the public at 8.15, when the Brotherhood adjourned to the church, where Bobbie Tufts, of Wolfville, Maritime Provinces, gave an illustrated lecture on "The Birds of Digby County", following this interesting address Mr. Tufts showed several reels of motion pictures on the wild life of Canada.

During the course of his address on the birds of this county Mr. Tufts stated that late last fall he received a report from Digby that a mocking bird, very rare in this province, had been seen in the vicinity of the Digby Hospital.

Mrs. Aubrey Corkum and son, Lee, of Middle LaHave, spent the weekend in Digby, the guests of James J. Wallis and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wallis. Mr. Corkum is engaged in scallop dragging out of this port.

IT'S NATURAL LAW

Years ago a philosopher named Drummond wrote a little book entitled "Natural Law in the Business World." At the time that little book appealed only to thinkers. Today it would attract more general attention. It is called to attention by the remark of a would-be humorist, who says: "It's natural law that we poor mortals pay little or no attention to until we need it. And isn't that true?"

We ignore natural law, deliberately violate it, are punished by it, and then expect Divine Providence to get us out of our troubles; and when He does, we give credit to natural law.

And purs is not the only "perverse generation" that has done so, not the only one that will do so. Natural law is God's law and our only way out is to respect that law.

Government, from both the Federal and Provincial viewpoints, seems to have become just a couple of figures followed by six naughts.

YOUR NEIGHBOR'S CORN

Susan Giaspell is an American authoress who has written many commendable stories. One of them has to do with an Iowa youth, who following a disappointment in love, settles down to lead a life of devotion to intensive farming.

In time he takes first prize at the state fair for producing a yield of corn of blight-resisting powers. But fame and honors fail to move him from his homestead self-centeredness. He has no seed corn to sell, he says; let others learn the secret for themselves.

Then comes a season in which his corn does not do so well. Pollen from the neighbors' inferior corn impregnates his own crop, and his yield is ruined. The story closes with the man on his way to the neighbors with a basket of his best seed corn and explaining:

"I'm taking some of my seed corn to my neighbors, and I'm going to tell them all I know about growing it. I can't have good corn unless my neighbors have good corn."

Never was greater truth spoken. The pollen knows no law of man. We can have good corn, good business, healthy children, peace and order, or a solid social structure while enemies of these blessings thrive anywhere on earth. No man lives to himself alone. The winds of crime, poverty, illness, and hatred blow where they will.

You can't have good corn unless your neighbors have good corn.

Another thing this country needs is more people who are willing to persevere instead of inspire.

PATRIOTISM

Some people apparently have the wrong perspective of patriotism. These people think that a patriot is one who, when our country is engaged in war, offers to help defend it; or one who stands and removes his hat when the band plays, "God Save the King." This is all well and good as far as it goes. We contend, however, that a patriot is one who obeys the laws of the country, who "loves his neighbor as himself," and who "does unto others as he would have them do unto him." Our forefathers believed in helping those who were less fortunate. This is a trait which some of us have dispensed with.

A patriot obeys the laws because in doing so he helps to protect the rights of others. A person who conforms to the traffic rules helps to safeguard

NO MIDDLE OF THE ROAD

In our modern culture, there is no happy medium. We cannot have normal times. We must have a picnic or a panic. We cannot take a sane course. We must have prohibition or rum shops.

We cannot be logical. We must blot the rich, or soak the rich.

We cannot be truthful. We must curse religion, lie about it, or be saints.

We must live happily. We must ride in limousine, or drag our feet to the relief stations.

We cannot be merciful. We must idolize a man or starve him to death.

When we can change to a safe, sane, constructive state of mind, we shall once more see our country where it belongs—certainly not where it is.

Could Scarcely Do Her Housework

Backache Troubled Her For Several Years

Mrs. J. Gaynor Found Relief In Dodd's Kidney Pills.

South Branch, N. B., March 8 (Special).—For the last ten years I have been troubled with backache on and off, and have taken Dodd's Kidney Pills, writes Mrs. John Gaynor, a resident of this place. "I do not know just how many boxes I have taken, but I always find that they help me. This Fall I was taken suddenly with a terrible sore back. For two weeks I could scarcely do my own housework without help. I decided I would give Dodd's Kidney Pills another trial, and in a very short time I seemed as well as ever. Now I recommend them to all that are troubled with sore back."

Thousands of others tell the same story. They have tried Dodd's Kidney Pills and found them good. If you suspect your kidneys, turn at once to Dodd's Kidney Pills. You can do so with confidence.

Between Ourselves

One of our American subscribers in West Roxbury, Mass., has written me as follows:—
"To Between Ourselves:—
"Thank God we live in a country where representatives of the law command respect by their actions: in a country where the courts of justice are not show places."—(Ye Junior Ed.).
"May be if you looked around at home, you would not let your gas escape so fast. Ed. We own a place near Joggins Bridge; in the past two years it has been broken into and robbed of everything of value. And we pay taxes. The break was reported to the Canadian Mounted Police—what have they got? 'They always get their man!'"

Well, Joe and Stan, that may be a hint for you Mounties to get on the job and uphold the reputation of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police who always get their man. However, if I am not mistaken, I am very much of the opinion that there is one man at least serving a sentence in Dorchester penitentiary for "breaking, entering and stealing a quantity of goods" from a summer home near Joggins Bridge. This may not be the same property as the one my American friend refers to, but the surname of the owner is the same as my correspondent's. An account of this arrest by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police was published in this paper at the time.

Incidentally, I want to thank this reader for the letter, and for a cheque enclosed for two years' subscription to the Courier.

At the annual supper of the Digby Board of Trade, held at the Waverly Hotel last week, O. G. Jones told of the prospects for the 1935 summer season, and they were very promising prospects indeed. Personally I have several reasons for believing that the summer of 1935 will live up to all expectations. Mr. Jones, like other speakers whom I have heard on the same subject, stressed the importance of making our summer visitors "feel at home" and to provide something for their entertainment while in our midst. In other words, play host to our visitors.

I think this "playing host" is very important, and I believe that in this respect we are falling down as a summer resort. On the whole there seems to be very few of us who go out of our way to extend the glad hand of welcome to the visitor without in our midst. True, we welcome back the visitor who have been coming here year after year—but they are, to a certain extent, citizens of our town, and not strangers, and we welcome them back "home" with the same enthusiasm as we would welcome back a fellow townsman. Let us resolve this summer to extend a cordial welcome to the strangers; to make them feel so much at home that they in turn will resolve to make Digby their summer home.

FUNNELS FOR SHOW

The gigantic "Queen Mary" has three funnels and so have many of the biggest ships built of recent years, including the "Empress of Britain," and "Empress of Japan" of the Canadian Pacific, the "Monarch of Bermuda" which figured in the "Morro Castle" glory, the still newer "Queen of Bermuda," "Jie de France" and the rival of the "Queen Mary," the new "Normandie." There was a time when four and even five funnels were the vogue. Today there are only five four-funnel ships afloat, the best known to Canadians being the "Acquitania" (1914), "Mauretania" (1907) and the "Olympic" (1911).

Is the reversion to a smaller number of stacks due to better combustion or the substitution of oil as a fuel? No, says John McClain, in the New York Sun. This authority asserts that the larger number of funnels was mere ostentation. It was the landlubber's quick means of judging a ship's size. Steamship owners realized that the world loved its funnels and in many cases a dummy smokestack was put on a ship merely to drag in the suckers. If it served any purpose at all, it was merely to ventilate the galley and carry off the smoke and fumes from the cooking ranges. In the period of frenzied immigration, it was found that the steerage passengers particularly felt that a vessel with many smokestacks must be bigger, better and safer.

Five funnels having been reached, more would have been an absurdity, and the tide turned with the new century. A few of the larger ships built before the war were equipped with four funnels, and especially in the cases of the "Mauretania," the "Acquitania," and the "Olympic," and the "Titanic," admittedly the four towering stacks furnished a becoming elegance.

THE NEW DISEASE

Cold and stiff they found him. With a peaceful look, though dead: "A case of Super-Taxia."

The coroner's jury said.

His sewer tax and town tax—
Had worried him full sore.
His personal and income tax
Then fretted him some more.

His motor tax and dog tax Disturbed his mental ease.
Amusement tax, employment tax,
And "air-tax" pullman fees.

Tax on safe-deposit box.
Tax on cheques he wrote.
Borrowed cash, and then they taxed
His promissory note.

A road tax and a school tax
Made him sad and blue.
He had to take a stimulant,
And found it was taxed, too.

A clothing tax near stripped him.
He paid on shells and hair.
Plus taxes on cigars and beer
And everything he ate.

But, now, alas! all overtaxed
His soul has down its lair.
Be it up or down he's satisfied,
For hell's end no taxes there.

RUM RUNNING

The bold attempt to land smuggled alcohol by night on a Newburyport wharf, coupled with another earlier abortive attempt at Piper's Quarry on the Merrimack show that rum running is persistent and prevalent on this coast, perhaps as prevalent as in the days of prohibition, and as just as daring, says the Gloucester Mass. Daily Times. Where does all this smuggled alcohol go? More of it is brought into this country than is ever captured. Evidently the Merrimack has become a favorite port of entry for illegal liquor. It seems impossible that licensed sellers of liquor who are under continual inspection are using this smuggled liquor to increase their profits. The administration tells us that more than $50,000,000 is annually lost through the smuggling and manufacture of illegal liquor, but it seems powerless to prevent this loss. It has assumed that repeal would put an end to both smuggling and illegal manufacture.

A month ago between thirty and forty persons were killed by poison liquor in New York state. Similar incidents with fewer dead aroused immense indignation during prohibition, but it is now evident that the high price of liquor makes the smuggling of alcohol still a profitable business. A recent puzzling murder in Boston is connected with a liquor store kept by a former speakeasy proprietor, since rewarded with a license. A great deal of discrimination should be exercised in selecting licensees, and the criminal element should be excluded. All in all the liquor situation does not seem to be settled by repeal.

The harassed American people are too busy with their troubles and anxieties to give consideration to the liquor question just now, but no doubt they are notching all these upward events which crop up to the news. The repealers maintained that repeal would stop rum running, stop racketeering and kidnapping and pay the nation's debts with the taxes laid on liquor. It is all too clear that their promises have not been fulfilled, and many more deaths on the highway are the result of the first year of repeal. No doubt when thinking people once more get a moment of leisure it is evident that they have much to consider. The liquor problem has not been solved by our present liquor laws or the manner of their execution. The subject will need grave study.

BAKERS DO ALL THE BREAD MAKING IN CUBA

In Cuba bakers do all the bread making—no bread is baked in the home. The hearth method of baking bread is generally employed by the Cuban baker, there being no modern ovens in the land. The method of baking is very primitive, and very much like the outdoor bake oven seen in the Caspe Peninsula in Canada, although in Cuba the ovens are enclosed within the bakehouse. The Cuban baker's only machinery are a mixer, a dough brake, a set of scales and a divider and with these he turns out his bread. The loss by moisture per loaf to the Cuban baker, by his method of baking is five ounces as against two ounces in Canada for a sixteen-ounce loaf.

GREAT BRITAIN BUILDING OVER 1,000 HOUSES A DAY

The year 1934 witnessed the greatest number of houses constructed in the United Kingdom in any year since the Armistice. 310,000 Canadian lumber being used to a considerable extent. The highest previous year was 1927 when 270,000 houses were put up. Most of the houses were built by private enterprise; the number with state assistance being relatively small.

WELL, WELL, WELL—IT BROAD-CASTS

An indication of the increased interest being taken in Nova Scotia is the announcement that representatives of twenty-five Eastern United States tourist agencies are to tour Nova Scotia before the summer season begins. This is to better enable them to direct visitors to the province.

Hither and Yon with G.R.T.

Here it is Saturday, February 23rd, 1935, and a day of many events in Southern California, beginning with Dollar Day in Los Angeles stores where much merchandise has been put on sale at reduced prices, not confined entirely however to articles in the one-dollar class. The stores were crowded, with eager shoppers determined to get as much as possible for their money at bargain prices. I moved around a bit myself looking for replacements for the shirt and collar department of my wardrobe but found no bargains, and still having in mind an ancient piece of advice from the lips of that genial old well-wisher and adviser and well known innkeeper—none other than the late Forbes Jones, of Weymouth—who said: "Never buy anything that you do not need because it is cheap." I passed up the shirts and neckties and hied me back to the knit wear section to invest in some much needed raiment, which next to myself, I like best of all—not BVDs, by golly, but good old "unions," short sleeves and ankle length, but do know I had a hard time finding them; nothing but so-called athletic stuff on sale, the kind with the undershirt cut away until it resembles an old fashioned porous plaster and as for the rest of the outfit nothing but "shorts," "shorties" and practically nothing whatever—a little too much of nothing for me and a bit too effeminate for my old fashioned ideas. So I hiked along down Broadway to the great department store of the same name, owned, operated and staffed by Canadians. Here, said I, is where I'll find "unions" suitable for a "Bluenose" with a tender skin. And, sure enough, they had a couple of things on sale, specially priced for the day, marked down from $1.45 to $1.35. They should have been priced at a dollar, but having in mind the possibility of

Why His Headaches Ceased

Wife Put Kruschen in His Coffee

He could not understand why the headaches he had been subject to suddenly ceased. His wife told him, and he at once sat down and wrote the following letter:—
"I am 62 years of age, and ever since I was a boy of ten years, I was subject to very bad headaches. But two years ago the headaches stopped—for what reason I did not know. I was surprised when one day my wife told me that I had been using Kruschen. Salts in my coffee for over two years. I am still using them, as I know of nothing finer for the system."—J. T.
Headaches can nearly always be traced to a disordered stomach, and to the unsupervised action in the system of stagnating waste material which poisons the blood. Removing these poisons—prevent them forming again—and you'll never have to worry any more. And that is just how Kruschen Salts brings swift and lasting relief from headaches. Kruschen Salts aid Nature to cleanse your body completely of all clogging waste matter.

President Roosevelt ordered the destruction of more cotton this year than last and a resulting further mark-up in cost. I decided to stock up at present prices. These sales as a rule are not the great money-saving opportunities that they are supposed to be. A lot of advertising blarney, and a lot of goods specially made up and purchased for "dollar day sales" to be unloaded on the unwary buyer is more or less of a scheme to get the people down town and into the stores, and sell them something, whether they need it or not. The only real mark down in prices that I noticed today was in the "National Dollar Store," a link in one of the chains of stores by that name operating on the Pacific coast and controlled by Chinese. They do a tremendous business; the department heads are all graduates of Pacific coast universities, very dignified young men, speaking perfect English, and very attentive to business. Some young Chinese women are employed in the stores but most of the clerks are young American women who have been trained in American department stores. I noticed today that all the goods on sale at this store seemed to be priced at figures considerably less than the same goods were selling for at other stores, and that the Chinese store was packed with people, which sort of proves that the Chinese boys understand the merchandising game fairly well—and who not? Their forefathers were experts in the subtle art of "mark up" and "mark down" and other clever tricks of trade some two thousand years before the first French trader landed in Quebec or the earliest Dutch peddler unslinging and opened his pack of trinkets to the wondering gaze of the Indians of Manhattan. The Chinese merchants were in business what such names as Eaton, Seligman, Macy, Jordan, Ward and Sears were merely disconnected letters in our alphabet.

The evening papers, however, report the leading merchants as saying that the results of today's "dollar sale" were quite satisfactory. Whether that means business is better than last year or not as bad as they feared it might be, is something that they have probably decided to keep to themselves.

This is also the day of the Iowa picnic and 100,000 former residents of the State of Iowa, now living mostly in Los Angeles and Long Beach, have gathered in Lincoln Park for their thirty-sixth annual reunion. Ninety-nine counties "of the land where the tall corn grows" will be represented. The largest registration being from Polk County, noted for its production of hoop poles and "punkies." The crowd will have a good time feasting and renewing old friendships. Governor Merriam, himself a former Iowan, will make the leading address and extend the welcome from the State of California. "Howdy, neighbor! Gosh darn it, glad to see yer; how's yer corn crop coming along?"

In old San Bernardino, sixty miles due east from Los Angeles as the crow flies, and the motorist speeds along the highway at sixty and seventy, and never at the lawful rate of forty-five. The National Orange how opened today, with a grand pageant depicting fifty episodes in the history of that old town which was founded by the Mormons who trekked across the desert in 1847 headed for the port of Wilmington (now Los Angeles harbor), where they could trade their wool and sheep skins and cow hides for flour, sugar and tea and other necessities.

So this being the week of the annual Orange Show or Exhibition the directors of the organization decided to stage something extra for the benefit of the winter visitors and tourists; thus the pageant. An additional feature of the show was the crowning of the "Queen of Canada" by the Canadian Tourists' Club. The young lady to receive that honour was Miss Lillian Bennett, a near relative of Rt. Hon. Richard B. Bennett, prime minister of Canada. Let's see—am I right about that? Yes, I guess I was right the first time. Page 607 of the World Almanac says that the honorable gentleman is not a one party minister, but president of the P.R. Council and secretary of state for external affairs—which has the president of the United States beaten by at least two titles.

Last year the Canadians in Southern California had quite a "ruckus" between themselves over the selection and crowning of a "queen." The Canadian Tourist Association put up a candidate and crowned her amid much pomp and ceremony without consulting the members of the "Maple Leaf Club," the regular and duly incorporated Canadian club of Southern California. The result was a small-scale rebellion and a refusal by the Maple Leafers to accept the queen of the Tourists. The Maple Leaf Club elected their own queen leaving the Canadians of Southern California holding a pair of queens, which is considerably better than a pair of deuces or even a couple of ten-spots in any man's country. But after all this queen business is getting to be a very temporary and unsatisfactory honor; and we don't have to dig back into the life of Mary, Queen of Scots, to prove that.

And, among other events of this Saturday, perhaps the most exciting was that of the big race at Santa Anita track when twenty horses were entered and contested for the main prize of $108,400 in the Santa Anita handicap. The race was won by an outsider from Detroit, Michigan, a reformed steeple chaser that was not considered in the betting—"Azucar" by name (which is Spanish for sugar)—and sugar it must have been. To the one who, goodness knows, did not need the money, he became a millionaire lumberman from Ohio, but victory is sweet even to millionaires, and to win a purse of $108,400 with a horse that only cost him $8000, is sweet indeed, even if the horse's name had been "lemon juice." The bettors or holders of pari-mutuel tickets on the winner received for each two dollars "that they bet" $26.80 win, $9.00 place or second, and $6.60 to show or third place. The distance was one mile and a quarter and the winner's time was 2:02 minutes. A horse named "Laysman" ran second, won $10,000 second money and paid $5.20 and $4.60. "Time Supply" ran third and paid $8.40 to draw on a two-dollar bet. Mac West, glamorous film star of pictures depicting life in the gay and glorious nineties, is said to have bet rather heavily on "Laysman" because the name appealed to her. Others used the hat pin method of shutting their eyes and jabbing into the racing programme—whatever name the pin struck simply had to be the winner. A lot of money changed hands on this particular race, the extra amount being $239,335, and the reporters say that people fought like mad to put the family bank roll through the ticket windows. The total betting for the day's eight races amounted to $802,983. If you can spell "depression" out of that set of figures you are a wizard. But you can never tell what will happen in this Southern California when

CONVULSIONS
Convulsions, or spasms, may arise from any one of many causes. Those conditions which lead to chill in an adult will often precipitate a convulsion in a young child. Convulsions not infrequently occur at the onset of a communicable disease, during childhood; as they do also when there is inflammation of the brain or its covering—encephalitis and meningitis.

A convulsion strikes terror to the heart of those who witness it. It is well to remember that death rarely occurs during a convulsion, although unconscious, twitching body which may turn blue appears to be in a helpless condition.

During the convulsion, the child should be protected from injury; a spoon placed between the teeth protects the tongue from biting. A hot mustard bath is indicated while waiting for the doctor; care should be taken not to burn the child.

Epilepsy, a disease which is marked by periods of unconsciousness accompanied by convulsions, usually begins early in life. The cause of epilepsy is unknown. Heredity plays a definite part. Some cases are associated with chronic alcoholism of the parents.

The typical attack of epilepsy is ushered in by an "aura," which is the occurrence of some particular sensation or feeling which precedes the attack and, as such, is recognized by the patient. The onset is sudden; consciousness is lost, the eyes roll upward, the face becomes purple and the body rigid for a few seconds this is followed by jerky convulsive movements. The attack lasts for several minutes, after which the patient sleeps from exhaustion. During the attack, the patient should be protected from injury through falling, striking objects, or biting the tongue.

Jacksonian epilepsy is a form of the disease that is due to irritation of the brain following upon injury. The onset is seen in the twitching which begins at one particular point. Consciousness is not lost in most cases, and if it is lost, it happens late in the attack.

Petit mal is another form in which the loss of consciousness is momentary and there are no convulsions. The patient stops talking or doing whatever he was engaged in, the eyes stare and the face is pale. After a second or two, the patient resumes what he was doing, and possibly is somewhat dazed.

Epilepsy is usually incurable except where the ill effects of an injury may be corrected by surgery. Much can be accomplished through proper treatment. Nothing but harm results from spoiling the epileptic child through mistaken kindness and lack of training.

SHADOWS
I am sitting in the twilight
As the evening shadows fall,
And the flames from the fireplace
Throw weird forms upon the wall.

And they seem to take me backward,
Back to childhood days once more,
When those old familiar flames,
Played upon the kitchen door.

When twilight had turned to darkness,
My dad from work was free:
Oh, what a joyous evening,
As I climbed upon his knee.

With hands so quick and clever,
Came a donkey, plain as day:
To me it seemed so real
That I surely heard him bay.

Then a horse's head came bobbing up
And his ears winked how do you do,
But he quickly vanished in the dark
As a rabbit popped into view.

The bonny's mouth did open wide.

His little round eyes winked at me:
His ears kept flopping back and forth.
As I laughed and shouted with glee,
Then a fat little duck came waddling along.

With its funny old crooked back;
Dad's clever fingers made him so real.
That I thought I heard him quack.

And when the shadows had vanished,
My dad's arms encircled me tight;
He told me the nicest story
As the sandman said, good-night.

The flames had died in the fireplace
I was waked by the embers' fall;
The shadows had sadly tricked me—
It was only a dream after all.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Clouds add much to the beauty of the sky. Include them in every picture. It's easy to do.

It seems that too often we forget all about the fleecy white clouds, which add so much to the attractiveness and beauty of a snapshot. The average amateur will put forth great effort to secure sharpness, contrast and good composition in his snapshot subject, and then completely overlook the possibility of beautiful cloud effects.

One thing that really adds to the interest in a landscape picture is clouds. Suppose we are taking such a picture and use a film which responds only to ultra-violet, violet and blue light. We should not be able to distinguish between the clouds and the sky if we give enough exposure to show detail in the landscape. This is because the light from the blue sky and the white clouds is very rich in light rays to which the film responds.

At such clouds and blue sky are both rich in ultra-violet, violet and blue, there is a marked difference between the two. The light from the clouds, being white, actually contains, however, a bit of green and red light, while that from the blue sky does not.

Peppercorn Pays Lodge Rent

Bermuda's Executive Council, corresponding to the Canadian Senate in the British colony's legislative system, convened at St. George's this year in the historic old statehouse for the first time since 1815, when the capital of the islands was moved to Hamilton. The sturdy old statehouse, whose walls are solid limestone two feet thick, is one of the oldest buildings on the islands, and has been standing more than three centuries. At present it is used as a Masonic Lodge, the members of which pay the state a quit rent of one peppercorn a year for the use of the building.

2. Drink hot glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

3. If throat is sore, gargle and use a Aspirin tablet in a third of a glass of water four times a day.

Discovery Bringing Almost Instant Relief to Millions Follow Simple Directions:

When you have a cold, remember the simple treatment pictured here—prescribed by doctors as the quick, safe way.

Results are amazing. Ache and distress go immediately. Because of Aspirin's quick-disintegrating property, Aspirin "takes hold"—almost instantly. Your cold is relieved "quick as you caught it!"

All you do is take Aspirin and drink plenty of water. Do this every 2 to 4 hours the first day—less often afterward. If throat is sore, the Aspirin gargle will ease it in as little as 2 minutes.

Ask your doctor about this. And be sure you get ASPIRIN when you buy. It is made in Canada and all druggists have it. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every Aspirin tablet. Aspirin is the trade mark of the Bayer Company, Limited.

Obituary

Mrs. Cynthia Eliza MacKay

There passed away at her home in Acadville, on Tuesday morning, after an illness of nearly six weeks caused by a broken limb, Mrs. Cynthia Eliza MacKay, aged 82 years and 6 months. The deceased was a daughter of the late Morris Adams and Eliza Campbell Adams, and is survived by one son, Duncan C. MacKay; two grandchildren, Arthur MacKay and Mrs. Esther (MacKay) Marshall; one great grandchild, Marilyn Marshall. Her husband, the late Donald J. MacKay, formerly of Baddeck, predeceased her sixteen years. Two half brothers, Edward Adams and Loran Adams, of Deep Brook, and two half sisters, Mrs. Florence Anderson and Mrs. Edith Winchester, of Digby, also survive. Mrs. MacKay was a member of the Hill Grove United Baptist church, and before age and failing health made it impossible, was a willing member in all its activities, and a member of the choir for over thirty years. She was a consistent member of Hope Division, Sons of Temperance, for 62 years, and also a member of the Grand Division of Nova Scotia. "Aunt Eliza" as she was affectionately known, was much loved and respected by a large circle of friends for her kindly and unselfish disposition, and the willingness to do her best at all times in the service of humanity. The funeral services were held from her late residence yesterday afternoon, her pastor, Rev. F. E. Bishop, officiating with interment in the family lot in the Hill Grove United Baptist cemetery. The beautiful floral offerings gave mute testimony to the esteem in which the deceased was held.

Rev. D. E. Hart, of Seattle, Wash., a former pastor of the Digby and Hill Grove Baptist churches, sent the following letter in verse to Mrs. MacKay, after hearing of her accident:—

Sister MacKay

Dear Sister MacKay, we're too far away

To run out to Hillgrove to meet you, But thought that it might be proper to write

A brief loving message to greet you, How sweet was the day, dear Sister MacKay,

When you publicly made your confession Of faith in His name, who bore all our shame

And freed us from all our transgression, Let those scoff who may, dear Sister MacKay,

At the wonderful plan of salvation, But blessed indeed are those who in need

Find in it their great consolation, Dear Sister MacKay, we need not to say

We grieve at the troubles that vex you, But hope that no doubt will ever crop out

To worry your soul and perplex you, There's coming a day dear Sister MacKay

When all of earth's wrongs will be righted, God's children can trust, He loves, and He must

Preserve them till Heaven is sighted, God grant you to say, dear Sister MacKay

With trust that no trouble can sever, My Beloved is mine, in His arms I recline

And rest on His bosom forever.

Big Catch Scallops Early This Week

Over one hundred barrels of scallops were on the wharf Tuesday, waiting to be shipped to the Boston and New York markets. In addition several barrels were shipped by way of Yarmouth, and several held over for later shipments. The scallop catch of the Digby fleet for all day and all night Monday is estimated in the vicinity of 150 barrels, valued between two thousand and three thousand dollars.

Three Digby boats owned by Capt. G. M. McNeil, namely the Finback, the Sypher M. and the Sonata, are reported to have brought in approximately 24 barrels; the Finback's catch was expected to be shell out in the vicinity of 9 barrels.

As an estimate of the quantity of scallops required to make up the enormous catch taken in within the last 36 hours by the local fleet, the average scallop barrel contains 13 gallons; flouting 9 pounds to a gallon, and 12 scallops to a pound, makes a total of 210,000 scallops dragged from the floor of the Bay of Fundy. Flouting on the same basis, of 150 barrels of scallop meat, it takes between four and five thousand bushels of scallops in the shell to shell out 150 barrels of meat.

Miss Marjorie Marshall, teacher at Harlem, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Marshall, Marshalltown.

SERIES OF ACCIDENTS

While coasting with several other boys in the vicinity of Norman Duke-shire's, Conway, yesterday, nine-year-old Avard Franklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Franklin, fell from his sled and suffered a badly sprained leg. At first it was thought the limb was broken. The young lad was unable to walk and was taken to his home on a sled by Mr. Duke-shire.

At Marshalltown yesterday morning, after he had delivered the east mail at the post office in that village by horseback, Roy Comeau, mail driver, fell from his horse when the animal slipped on the icy roads, and suffered a fractured shoulder.

The Courier was advised shortly before going to press last evening that Robert Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Robinson, suffered a bad cut on his right leg just above the ankle. Mr. Robinson, with a number of other men, was cutting timber on the James Rice property, near Acadaville. We are unable to state just how seriously he was injured. Mr. Robinson, of Conway, left about 5.30 last evening with a team to go in the woods after the young man.

Hospital and Church Benefit by Will

Requests of $2,000 each have been left to the Digby General Hospital and to St. Paul's Anglican Church, Marshall's Town, by the will of the late Mrs. Jessie Goddard, who passed away suddenly at her home, 50 Park Ave., Newton Centre, Mass., on Sunday March 3, according to information received here late last week.

Her estate is estimated in the vicinity of $200,000, outside of a few personal belongings, the bulk of which was left to four of her servants, her chauffeur, William Wilson, and his wife Annie, her cook, Miss Margaret MacAuley and her maid, Miss Jane Douglas. It is understood that the Wilsons had been in her employ for more than 25 years.

Mrs. Goddard has maintained a summer home at Marshall's Town for many years, and has many friends in that community and in Digby, who keenly regret her passing. During her lifetime she has come to the aid of St. Paul's Church on several occasions.

Obituary

There passed away recently at the home of her daughter, at Watertown, Mass., Mrs. Frederic W. Goldsmith, a native of Nova Scotia, and a former resident of Bear River and Annapolis Royal. The late Mrs. Goldsmith was born in Bear River 56 years ago, and was a daughter of the late Israel Burpee.

Word has been received in Barton of the death of Eldridge Melanson, which occurred at Sanford, Maine, on March 5th. The deceased was born in Pictou 58 years ago, and moved to Sanford shortly after the death of his wife, which occurred 28 years ago. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Minnie Melanson, of Barton, and Mrs. William Tebb, of Doucetteville; two sisters, Mrs. Chester Wells and Mrs. Earle Byron; and five brothers, Archie, Gene, Alfred, Alphonse and Harold, all residing in the United States.

Mrs. Heli Stanton, of Tidville, has received news of the death of her brother, Robert Wagner, which occurred at Waltham, Mass., on February 23rd. The deceased was 65 years of age, and was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wagner, of Riverdale, in this county. Nineteen years ago he moved to Waltham with his family, and went into the real estate business. He is survived by his widow; two sons, Everett, of Waltham, and Ralph, of Quincy; and one daughter, Mrs. Charles Arnold, of Waltham; also three brothers, Isaiah, of Dorchester, Mass.; Stephen, of Wollaston, Mass.; and LeRoy, of Riverdale; four sisters, Mrs. Mary Smith, of New York; Mrs. A. T. Helems, of Philadelphia; Mrs. L. A. Gibson, of Waltham; and Mrs. Heli Stanton, of Tidville.

You may talk and read about remote controlled automobiles of the future, but as yet remote-controlled sea going automobiles have hardly been thought of, yet. Capt. Edward Keans, of the Port Wade to Digby ferry, reports that he and his passengers saw, while crossing to Digby the other day, a driverless automobile riding the ocean waves and bound in the general direction of this port, possibly to trade itself in for a 1935 model at a local garage. The car was evidently one that had been discarded over a dump, and was drifting to town on an ice cake.

Local and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Ganong have left for a few weeks' visit to American cities.

Please reserve Thursday, March 21st, for Hospital Benefit Bridge. Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Winfield attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Hardwick, at Annapolis Royal.

Byron MacNeill, of Marshalltown, who has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Fred Strong, Upper Granville, has returned home.

Owing to the cold epidemic there will be no Baby Clinics held until further notice.

Capt. Almon Parks, Mark Corkum and James Wambach, of the scallop boat, Violetta G., spent the week end at their homes at East and Middle LaHave.

Miss Ina O'Brien and Miss Vera Mason, of the Digby teaching staff, are spending a few days at their homes in Noel and Mahone Bay while the school is closed on account of the flu epidemic.

Mrs. Elizabeth Warrington had the misfortune to slip and fall while returning from service in the United church, Sunday evening. She suffered a fractured wrist.

The death of Mrs. Robert Hardwick occurred at Annapolis Royal on Wednesday evening of last week. She was born in Digby 72 years ago, and was a daughter of the late Edmund and Margaret (Hutchinson) Burnham.

St. Patrick's Irish Dinner, on Monday, March 18th, in aid of St. Patrick's Building Fund, at the Ideal Restaurant. Dinner, 35 cents; served from 5 to 7 p.m. There will be a benefit card party at the Court House, at 8.15. Admission, 25 cents. Door Prize—Floor Lamp.

Due to slight mechanical trouble the Lunenburg scallop, Violetta G., was tied up at the dock here from Friday until Monday. While repairs were being made Capt. Parks and his crew spent the week end at their homes in East LaHave. They left Bridgewater to return at 9 o'clock Monday morning, and at 4 that afternoon were on the grounds. They dragged all that night, returning to port on Tuesday morning, and had five barrels ready for shipment on that day's boat from Yarmouth. It is doubtful if many boats of the local fleet have been able to equal this feat in so short a time.

DEATH OF WELL KNOWN STATIONER

The death of Mrs. Isabella Augusta Morse occurred at her home on Queen Street yesterday afternoon, at the age of 76 years. Mrs. Morse, who was a daughter of the late George and Cynthia (Rice) MacKay, came to Digby many years ago and opened a disarming establishment, a little later going into the stationery and wall paper business. She was one of the victims in the big fire over thirty years ago. For many years, until forced to relinquish the position on account of health, she was assistant postmaster here. She was about town as usual on Wednesday and spent several hours at her store, apparently in good health, but she suffered a shock in the evening, passing away as stated. Leslie MacKay, of Rosaway, and Miss Annie MacKay, who made her home with her, are brother and sister. The funeral will be at Rosaway.

Oran Wentzell Sent Up for Trial

At the preliminary hearing Tuesday of Oran Wentzell, brought to Digby from Saint John a week or so ago, on the charge of stealing cattle, held before Stipendiary J. A. Taylor, he was committed for trial.

The defence offered no evidence at the hearing but according to evidence offered by the prosecution it is alleged he asked Mrs. George Hunt, of Smith's Cove, for the use of her oxen, with the understanding he would be using them for a week or two. That was some time in November. After four weeks Mrs. Hunt laid information against the accused who was later arrested in Saint John. According to the evidence Wentzell sold the cattle to Herbert Rice; since that time they have been re-sold several times, the last purchaser being Genos Sanford, of Clements-ville.

FISHERIES CONVENTION AT THE COURT HOUSE

There was a large attendance at a meeting of fisheries officers and scallop fishermen at the Court House on Tuesday evening, called for the purpose of talking over the problems of the scallopers with the fishermen and officers. The meeting was called to order by H. H. Marshall, fisheries supervisor for Western Nova Scotia, following which, Major D. H. Sutcliffe, of Halifax, chief supervisor, gave a short address.

He went into the history of the scallop industry which rose from nothing in 1920 to a catch at the present time valued in the vicinity of $55,000 per annum. In his opinion the Digby scallop fisheries hold a virtual monopoly on Canadian scallops on the Boston market, and he felt that with the proper handling and marketing, the local fleet should control the market and get the best prices at all times. By way of suggestion he made reference to the group shipping methods of certain organized lobster fishermen of the province.

Dr. Beattie, of the biological department, gave several interesting experiments and tests on scallops, and recommended the shipping of live shelled scallops to the markets. The scallop, which is a cold blooded creature, will live for five days, out of the shell, at a temperature of 50 degrees, when properly handled and cared for, and should arrive in Chicago alive and in good condition. He did not recommend washing the scallop muscles, for, he explained, washing soon kills the outside layers and death gradually creeps into the inner layers of the meat. If scallops must be washed, he recommended clear sea water, but strongly advised against the use of the water in the vicinity of the docks, which contains a great amount of bacteria which soon kills and spoils the meat.

Among the experiments was a test recently devised to detect whether or not scallops had been soaked in fresh water to increase their weight. This alleged practice was the subject of considerable discussion at the meeting. F. L. Anderson, of Digby, expressed himself that the Digby scallop shippers were getting a "raw deal" on the Boston market. By shipping independently to dealers within 100 miles of that city he had been able to obtain as much as $1.00 per gallon higher than he could get in Boston. He also thought that the Digby shippers, through improper handling, were losing anywhere from $25,000 to $50,000 annually.

Don't forget the Sean Supper in the United Church hall, tomorrow, (Saturday). Tickets, 25 cents. Everybody come.

The motor vessel Nova IV, Capt. Merriam, which has operated out of Halifax for a number of years, has been assigned to the Bay of Fundy service of the Eastern Canada Coastal Steamships, Limited, and sailed from Halifax on Wednesday on her first trip to Digby.

Digby Schools Ordered Closed

Digby schools were closed Tuesday morning until Monday at least, owing to an epidemic of influenza which has struck the pupils of the lower grades. Ninety-eight pupils were reported ill that morning. Up until this week the pupils of the school have been comparatively free of the epidemic which has struck in so many of the other towns; but when school re-opened after the week end many of the students were reported sick. For the most part the epidemic is confined to the pupils of the lower grades on the first floor, there being very few cases in the higher grades. The epidemic is reported as being of a mild nature.

"At Home" on Her 89th Birthday.

Mrs. Robert Austin, Smith's Cove, was "at home" to friends on Wednesday afternoon and evening of last week, the occasion being her 89th birthday. There were numerous callers and a shower of cards from the Smith's Cove Women's Institute, of which she is an honorary member. She also received many gifts from her host of friends. All the family were present with the exception of Mrs. A. H. Brooks, of Weymouth, including her grandchildren and great grandchildren. Mrs. Austin is the oldest resident of Smith's Cove, and in spite of her advanced age, is enjoying splendid health.

ADDRESSES KIWANISANS

"The Aristocracy of Service" was the topic of an inspiring address delivered to the Kiwanis Club of Digby, by Rev. H. H. MacNeill, at the club's weekly luncheon on board the steamer Princess Helene, on Tuesday. Although this is an age of the common people, Mr. MacNeill said, he did not believe in equality. The world needs leaders, men of genius and vision, gifted men, who as leaders, are worth many of their fellow men.

Between Ourselves

I attended the meeting of the scallop fishermen with the fisheries officers and inspectors last Tuesday evening. This meeting was held in the Court House, and although there was a large attendance of scallopers, it struck me as being an absolute "flop".

Nevertheless, not being a scalloper, I may be wrong in my opinion. The officers present admitted they knew but little about the scallop fisheries, and were there more for the purpose of obtaining information than of dispensing it, and on several occasions asked the scallopers for information which they thought would be of assistance in forming regulations in the future. For the most part the information given by the fishermen was a profound silence, and it appears to me that future regulations will have to be guessed at by the powers that be, and kicked at by the scallopers. Who will be to blame?

On the other hand perhaps the scallopers had some motive for not discussing matters; as I said before, I am not a scalloper.

However, before the meeting opened a group of fishermen threw up the same argument to me that they have been throwing up ever since I commenced reporting—that is, that the newspaper correspondents are ruining the scallop fisheries of Digby! They feel that the scallop fisheries are given an overdose of publicity, which is attracting newcomers in the vain hope of making a clean-up on scallop dollars. One fisherman even went so far as to say that I should report only the mishaps and losses of the fleet, and forget the big hauls entirely.

Another told me of a good catch, he had made and asked that I be-

Strange to say, unlike most everything else, the mishaps and losses do not reach the ears of a reporter as easily as does the other kind of news. Perhaps that may be because I am not on my job as I should be. Still, it seems that I catch it—when I report these instances (when I am aware of them), as frequently as I do—the fishermen concerned do not like it.

But, in spite of all the scallopers or others say about it, Digby scallops are getting publicity, and this publicity cannot help but make a name for Digby scallops. It wasn't so long ago that I received a telegram from an American publication requesting the names of at least one dozen local scallop shippers. I complied with the request, but have no way of telling whether or not these shippers realized anything from the information I gave.

Frankly, I believe with the proper kind of publicity consumers could be educated to ask for "Digby Scallops" when making their purchases; that "Digby Scallops" could virtually become a trade name and command higher prices on the market. To do

Easter Late this Year

Not in the past thirteen years has Easter Sunday fallen on as late a date as it will this year. And it will be some time before it again comes so late. Occurring on April 21, Easter day, does not arrive until a month after spring's official arrival. Easter can never fall later than 35 days after the spring equinox, so that this year only a few days separate Easter from the latest date on which it can come under any circumstances. Easter Sunday is set as the first Sunday after the first full moon, which follows the spring equinox. In 1930 Easter fell on April 20. Previous to that, as far back as 1922, the Easter week-end came much earlier than this year.

Sentenced to Dorchester

At a special session of the County Court, on Friday last, over which County Court Judge, W. A. Livingstone, of Annapolis Royal, presided, P. Fitzpatrick, who was arrested some three weeks ago, at Minto, N. B., was tried under the Speedy Trials Act, on two charges, one, misappropriating funds, and the other for receiving money under false pretences. Fitzpatrick was sentenced to two years in Dorchester penitentiary for each count, the sentences to run concurrently.

The accused had obtained order forms, receipt forms and samples of a well known laundry mail, and had gone about the country soliciting orders and deposits.

PROPHESIES WENT ASTRAY—RAILROAD STILL ESSENTIAL

For one hundred years and more experts have been prophesying the end of the steam railroads, but, regardless of changes which may be brought about in motive power and in cars, the road of rails will continue to bear the transportation burdens of this continent for many decades to come, states E. S. Henry, Regional Research Director of Railway Executives, in an article in the current issue of the Canadian National Railways Magazine. No particular form of locomotive or car is vital to the railroads, Mr. Henry states. There were railways when the only motive power was the muscles of men and animals, or the pressure of wind. When rails were adopted there was no other way to make a smooth road. The rail guided train is the essential of railroad, which in spite of present efforts to handle truck trailer trains on the public highways, can truly be duplicated nowhere except on the road of rails, which remains unique in its power to guide the wheels of long trains of burden bearing, vehicles pulled, with the minimum expenditure of energy, by a unit of motive power.

The Weather

Spring seems to have arrived. The snow in the open spaces has practically all disappeared, brooks and streams are opening up. Old Sol is showing his strength. We have had several warm days, this week, and some not so warm, but, as far as spring weather goes, Sunday and Wednesday were ideal.

A GREAT NEWSPAPER

When a publication shows the remarkable increase in circulation made by the Toronto Star Weekly during the past few years, it is evident that it must be a paper of exceptionally high merit.

The Star Weekly now has the highest circulation in its history and the largest circulation of any paper in Canada. During the last twelve months, its circulation has increased by 18,000 copies a week, showing that Canadians, whether times be good or bad, regard first class reading matter as a necessity.

In the Star Weekly, Canadians find news and features in which they are keenly interested, written from a Canadian viewpoint. The Star Weekly, is produced in Canada, by Canadians, for Canadians. Both its reading matter and its pictures in general every member of the family from the youngest to the oldest. It is a cheery, youthful publication, stimulating and vigorous.

The Star Weekly in fact is five newspapers in one. The Rotogravure section presents the world in pictures, including not only photographs but paintings of Canadian subjects done especially for The Star Weekly by leading Canadian artists.

Its sixteen full-size pages of carefully selected coloured comics and cut-outs is a feature in which the younger members of the family find unending pleasure, shared by adults. There are also two magazine sections, crowded with articles, fiction and departments where the principal aim is to make the paper interesting and entertaining as well as informative. The fiction, by well known writers both of Canada and the world, is spirited and inspiring, with none of the slowness and morbidness which are distasteful to so many people. The movies and the radio have special departments to themselves, with the latest news and pictures of these two most popular arts. The Star Weekly Kitchen is an authoritative presentation of cooking for the homemaker and Star Weekly fashions are up-to-date and practical. Besides all this, there is a complete section of news, including both Canadian and foreign events, with special emphasis also on sports.

Looking over The Star Weekly, one cannot fail to be impressed by the tremendous money's worth found in it, a week-end's entertainment for the whole family at ten cents.

The members of Olive Branch Rebekah Lodge entertained a number of their friends at a delightful clipping party, after the regular lodge meeting, Wednesday evening. All mysteries of the sea must have some logical explanation. Londoners had an example of one solution in 1901. About 5:30 in the morning the Birell, a tug from New York, was completely disappeared. Officers, passengers and crew aboard the other river boat were emphatic that they saw nothing, and careful inquiries among the river folks failed to yield a clue to the disappearance of the Birell. And her 300 Chinese passengers.

The Birell-Wa mystery was even more remarkable. She was a fair-sized river steamer engaged in the regular run between Shanghai and Hankow. One morning in 1928 she was seen by another river boat wending her way peacefully up the river about 20 miles from Hankow. Then within plain sight of scores of Chinese, the Birell-Wa disappeared. The Birell-Wa was completely disappeared. Officers, passengers and crew aboard the other river boat were emphatic that they saw nothing, and careful inquiries among the river folks failed to yield a clue to the disappearance of the Birell. And her 300 Chinese passengers.

Mrs. (Rev.) P. M. Hamilton, of Saint John, passed through Digby on Saturday last, en route to Aylesford to attend the funeral of her grandmother, Mrs. Maria L. McLean. She was accompanied by her father, Edwin Haines, who, after spending the winter in Saint John, will visit his son, Fred, in Aylesford.

"Deep Sea Fighters"

The Nova Scotia government has just issued a booklet, nicely printed and illustrated, entitled "Deep Sea Fighters", which, we understand, will be in charge of the local club, H. J. Campbell, the committee chairman, presiding. "Mine host" Harvie furnished an excellent chicken dinner. The chief feature of the program was a "Kiwanis School" with the club's president, Rev. A. E. Gabriel as teacher. "Professor" Gabriel asked his pupils many questions relating to the Kiwanis organization, and received many interesting, as well as surprising, answers. The whole gathering, with the assistance of the Kiwanis quartette, took part in the singing.

Ship Vanished on First Trip

In these days of wireless communication, it seems strange that large vessels can disappear literally into the blue, and that their fate should remain as great a mystery as that of some of the ships of the past. Yet what greater mystery than that of the American liner Asiatic Prince which disappeared on her maiden voyage in 1927?

The Asiatic Prince was equipped with wireless and every modern life saving device, and left on her maiden voyage from Seattle to Shanghai carrying 32 Europeans and 150 Chinese passengers. In her strong room was a quarter of a million pounds of silver bars, consigned to the Chinese government.

Constant wireless messages were exchanged with her until she was within a few days of her destination. Then suddenly, a tramp steamer on her way from Nagasaki to Shanghai picked up the international distress signal, "S.O.S.", repeated four times slowly, and realized she was being spoken to by the Asiatic Prince.

Halfway through the message giving the vessel's latitude, the wireless stopped and despite every effort the vessel failed to establish communication. Immediately she relayed the call, and several ships, including two American warships and a Japanese destroyer, were sent to the spot where it was thought the Asiatic Prince might be. The most careful search, however, failed to reveal a trace of the ship, which has never been heard of since.

What lies behind this great mystery of the sea? Many people believe that the vessel was seized by Chinese pirates—who were pirates—the white people murdered, and the bullion taken to China in the ship's boats. The only alternative explanation seems to be that the vessel struck some submerged object with such force that she foundered before the boats could be lowered, or a full wireless dispatch sent out.

Only two years before this disaster the British-owned Caratista disappeared without trace while on a voyage between Hong Kong and Brisbane, Australia. The last heard from her was a message received by her Brisbane agents saying that she expected to berth about eight o'clock the following morning. At that time she could not have been more than 200 miles from Brisbane, and steaming with full speed. The Australian coast where vessels of every kind are frequent. She was a well-found vessel of 7,300 tons, equipped with wireless and commanded by an efficient captain and officers. One might think that such a ship was as safe as the Bremen but the fact remains that the Caratista disappeared completely and not even a piece of wreckage was washed ashore to give an inkling of her fate.

Australia can boast of another mystery of her coasts. It concerns the loss of a government vessel. This was the steamer Sumatra, 4,000 tons. She was due to leave Sydney one morning in April, 1934, when the head-boy of her native crew approached the master and begged him not to sail. Asked the reason for his need to quit, he announced that all the boys were agreed that evil spirits waited for them outside Sydney Heads, and that the ship was doomed. The Sumatra's captain, of course, paid no heed to the native's warning and the ship, sailing as arranged, vanished.

The Birell-Wa mystery was even more remarkable. She was a fair-sized river steamer engaged in the regular run between Shanghai and Hankow. Digby Neck Service

The Digby Neck bus has been running through to East Ferry all this week, and thus is several weeks ahead of last year's winter schedule. During the worst of the winter months the bus carries passengers and mails as far as Sandy Cove one day; the next day they take a team to the lower section of the Neck and the Ferry.

Highways throughout the county are commencing to give up the frost. In many cases are almost impassable. They will become worse before they improve.

Swordfish Are Batters

Swordfishing on a commercial basis is one of the industries of the Atlantic Coast, and fish running from 250 to 600 pounds are shipped to the markets of Canada and the United States. Sword fishermen take their lives in their hands when seeking these trophies, the harpoon-fish frequently turning to attack the fishermen in their dorries. Swordfishing as a sport has been tried by adventurous souls and some big fish have been landed with rod and line. Tourists to Cape Breton are sometimes taken out by the commercial fishermen to watch the battles against these husky dwellers of the deep.

A person wrote to the Bishop asking him to come and hold a "quiet day". The Bishop declined saying, "Your parish does not need quiet day; it needs an earthquake."

And the constable left to communicate with a provincial police constable. Subsequently the two rode to the settlers' cabin on a section gas car, where the insane man was arrested after a struggle. He was later examined by a doctor and committed to the asylum as hopelessly insane. Yet the entire story was told in the report to Superintendent Rowland Flynn, of the Canadian National at investigation, in less than three typewritten lines!

BY-LAWS NOT VALID?

According to the Wolfville Acadian there appears to be good reason to doubt the validity of the by-laws that are supposed to regulate the conduct of the citizens of that town and others who are visitors there. These civic ordinances were adopted by the Wolfville council some years ago but they have never as yet been printed or made available to the public. The situation in Digby is almost as bad. The last by-laws printed by the town are dated 1912—and almost every council since then has amended or revised them in some respect, the changes being made necessary by constantly changing conditions. But nobody knows what these amendments and revisions are. Commenting on the situation in Wolfville the Acadian says:

"What might happen if an attempt were made to enforce local by-laws, we do not know, but it is scarcely reasonable to hold people responsible for the observance of laws with which they have had no opportunity to become acquainted. In any well ordered town it is necessary to have certain reasonable regulations that in the interest of all must be complied with at least in spirit. To properly supervise and enforce these is the duty of the people's elected representatives, but it is a duty that should be conducted with all due caution."

The Acadian adds:

"Recently in the town of Grimsby, Ont., a test was made under similar conditions of a by-law regarding the early closing of business places. Complaint was laid by the chief constable who swore he had purchased a package of tobacco in the store at 7:45 in the evening, while the by-law required all such stores to be closed at 7 o'clock. Counsel for the accused made objection to the by-law on the ground that it had never been in effect. It was held to be defective because it did not state the time at which it was to become operative; it had not been published or advertised; and there was no penalty fixed for infractions. The court ruled that the three objections were well founded and the by-law 'absolutely null and void'."

This is a matter that the Digby town council might look into—it's "better to be sure than sorry."

The adage, "Man wants but little here below," was written before tax collectors were invented.

JAIL FOR DEBT

According to a Cape Breton paper, John Maximilian Dhmel, of Reserve, Cape Breton County, has been in jail since March, 1934, for non payment of taxes. Owing the municipal district the sum of $53.75 he was taken before Magistrate W. A. G. Hill, of Sydney, in March of last year and went to jail, and has been a guest of the county ever since. Undoubtedly John Maximilian Dhmel has cost the county more than $53.75 since he went to jail and it was absolute folly to have sent him there. We had an idea, erroneous it seems, that one could not be put in jail for debt, and certainly it is a most futile proceeding. It is a throw-back to the dark ages but it is only to be expected when we consider the personalities of some of the men we put into power. It is an exemplification of the old saying: "Cloth on some men with a little brief authority and they will make — fools of themselves."

A gossip talks of others, a bore of himself, while an interesting friend is one who talks only of you.

QUITTERS

There are as many reasons for quitting as there are quitters, for the quitter will find some reason for quitting if he wants to quit.

But the reasons for quitting are not so much to be deplored as the quitters are to be pitied, for quitters invariably lose out in the battle of life.

Quitting once, it is easier to quit again and again, until quitters get so used to quitting that they feel no disgrace in doing so. Quitting is a certain route to loss of self-respect, and he who loses self-respect forfeits the respect of others.

In Klondike days, two prospectors, one a notorious quitter, made a rich strike, but the hardships they encountered were terrible. The quitter quit, the other mined a fortune and retired. Before leaving the nearly exhausted digger, he posted the notice: "This mine once belonged to a quitter." The quitter was then an inmate of a home for the poor.

Love is that intangible quality that enables a man and a maid to add a $25 rent bill and a $35 grocery bill and make it equal a $40 income.

WHAT DO YOU SEE?

The story goes that the ancient city of Florence, in Italy, had purchased a large block of marble from the quarries of Carrara. When it arrived, it was discovered that it contained a flaw which presumably made it unfit for the purpose for which it was intended. So it was cast aside. Michelangelo looked at it, and saw in it possibilities. He took it and from it carved his world-famous statue of David!

It is not what the eye sees that counts in this world; it is what the soul sees.

One man looks on a block of bricks and mortar; another sees homes where human hearts love and hope and fear and suffer, where children are born and grow, where the foundations of a nation's life are laid.

One man sees only real estate, worth so much a front foot; another sees life, warm and throbbing and creative.

Which of them truly sees?

What is humanity? One man sees only cannon fodder, another sees potential labor power, another sees a market for agricultural or industrial products.

We can live on the surface of things if we will, and we shall get only the surface values out of life.

Or we can look with the eye of the spirit into the hidden possibilities of life, and call into being ideals and aspirations which have power to conquer circumstances and life the souls of men to the heights.

It takes as little to make some people laugh as it does to make other people worry.

Times Haven't Changed

In days of old when knights were bold,

And barons held their sway,

They took their orders from their wives—

Just as we do today.

Hither and Yon with G.R.T.

You said it, Junior Ed! You surely did, when you said you were "thankful that you live in a country where representatives of the law command respect by their actions," and you might have added without fear of contradiction that you are thankful that you live in a country where the banks are run by bankers and not by "bunkers"—thankful that your bankers are men with high ideals of character and service, who recognize their responsibility of looking after and protecting the savings of their depositors. When you know that Canada has not had a bank failure in the past ten years and that Canada has come through the depression without one depositor losing one penny of his savings, you should stand up and cheer for it is a great record.

There were seven thousand bank failures in the United States during the depression and in the last ten years approximately one-third of the banks in the United States have failed. Leading bankers try to minimize the scandalous record by saying that practically all the closed banks were small and unimportant—but having one's life savings tied up in one of these small and unimportant banks that failed is no cheering or laughing matter. Certainly not a joke that would cure one of the blues! What say you, Junior Ed?

I suppose that you noticed a few days ago that former President Hoover had broken his silence and made a suggestion to the people of this land that the country get back to the gold standard as soon as possible. I wish that he had added that all of the gold now locked up in the United States treasury should be sent to the mint and coined into five, ten and twenty dollar pieces, and put into circulation. The clink of two or three five or ten dollar pieces would be sweet music to the ears of the average wage earner, and the psychological effect of being able to look at and handle some real money might go a long way toward getting people to feeling more hopeful than they are now supposed to feel about work. Many are still quite content to get along with county welfare relief orders for groceries and clothing and practically refuse to go to work when a job is offered them, but if they saw some gold coin in sight, even of the two and a half variety, they might want to consider getting away from the county relief roll and back to a regular pay roll job.

When I first came to California, in 1905, everyone was paid in gold and silver coin. Then about 1912 the banks stopped circulating gold coin and locked it all up in their vaults. Then came President Roosevelt last year, who took away from the banks all of their gold, coined and uncoined, and even refused to allow his "forgotten man" friends to keep what little gold they had neglected to deposit in banks. Then, after taking away all of the gold from everybody the president marked up the price of gold from $20 to $35 per ounce, thus making as he called it, a nice profit for the government, but what a scaly trick to play on old friends. "Forgotten man," who had voted him into power. There was no profit for the voter in the "new" law, but the gold bugs and gold headed speculators, gold headed cane, door knobs or golden goose eggs lying around, which could be sold to Jewish gold buyers at ten points under the market.

I have just read something in my evening paper that makes me wonder why I did not stay with my school boy hobby of collecting postage stamps. The report read: "Insured for $50,000 is a tiny bit of postage paper, magenta colored—and it's not one of Mr. Farley's stamps either. It is a British Guiana stamp—one cent face value—78 years old—and as the only one of its kind it is rated as the 'rarest in the world'."

It is one of a collection offered at auction recently by Mrs. Arthur Hind, of Utica, N. Y., and for the lot more than $750,000 changed hands. Can you imagine a stamp collection worth that much money? When I was about fourteen years old I got started collecting stamps in an odd sort of way. It was during the summer vacation period and I was trying to make myself useful around the Campbell store in Weymouth—salary one dollar per week and glad to get it. Mr. G. D. Campbell had just taken over the old store—which is still standing—that his father, the Hon. Colin Campbell, had built and operated for many years. An inventory was being taken in the course of which, we came upon several boxes of old empty envelopes stored away in the attic of the store. These envelopes bore stamps from many foreign countries for, as many Weymouthians know, Colin Campbell operated a fleet of ships which sailed the seven seas and carried cargo to and from most of the important ports of the world. The Campbell office, therefore, had extensive correspondence with brokers, ship chandlers and ships' agents at those ports as well as receiving the good and bad reports from the various captains. For some reason which evidently was a good and sufficient reason to himself and which permitted of no argument from employees, as former employees no doubt remember, Mr. Colin Campbell had never allowed the envelopes from the daily mail to be destroyed but had them deposited in a large box which, when filled, was stored away in the store loft. But when Mr. G. D. Campbell took over the store after his father's death he ordered a general cleaning out of old junk and rubbish and empty boxes to make way for new goods. I was ordered to carry the old envelopes down stairs—two flights—and burn this waste paper in the back yard. I at once saw that the stamps on the envelopes were mostly from foreign countries, and having read somewhere that there were such people in the world as stamp collectors I then and there decided to join the tribe. Having received permission to do so, I removed several hundred stamps of Canadian and foreign issues and had enough to start a fairly good collection, with enough left over for trading purposes. I think I was the first stamp collector in Weymouth and perhaps in Digby County. When I graduated from the Weymouth school I gave up what I then considered a school boy hobby, which even at that time—what with buying new stamp albums and trying to fill in the vacant spaces with rare issues—was getting to be much of a strain on my finances which were constantly in a state of distress. So I gave away most of my stamps to other collectors, wished them well, and thereafter for a time indulged in the thrilling pastime of collecting Louisiana Lottery tickets, which were more expensive than stamps.

I have many times since regretted that I did not continue with my first hobby, for every time I read of some old stamp being sold for a fabulous price, I feel sure that I once had some that were equally as valuable. My old school chum, Alfred R. Hood, who started collecting shortly after I did, went about the business in a systematic way with albums and catalogues and subscription to philatelic journals. He continued as a collector for several years, and, as I remember it, had a very fine collection. If he still has his original collection he must have quite a nice little fortune stowed away between the covers of his stamp albums.

Taking in the issues of all countries and governments of the world, it has been estimated that nearly 100,000 major and minor varieties of postage stamps have been issued since stamps became the medium of preparing postage. Adhesive stamps of the penny variety were first used in England about 1840 and some authorities claim that stamps for postal purposes were used in France as far back as 1659.

Nova Scotia's first postage stamps were issued in 1851, and, at the present time must be quite valuable. The first stamps authorized by the U.S. government for postal purposes were printed in 1847. Since then some 4,000 varieties have been issued by the United States. The youngest philatelist inclined, will face a rather impossible situation today if he imagines that he will be able even in a life time, to gather in many of the early issues, for literally hundreds of governments, which once had their own postal systems, and issued stamps by their own authority or that imposed upon them, have faded out of the philatelic picture; they have vanished from the earth; their surviving stamps merely reminders that they once existed. For example, such colonies as Cape of Good Hope, Congo Free State, Heligoland and the Kingdom of Hawaii, Korea, no longer issue stamps of their own, due to political mergers, or having been swallowed alive by some larger nation. If the young collector starts off with the issues of present day governments, from 1918 to date, and especially that of the United States, where special events are commemorated with a new issue of stamps, he will have plenty to occupy his spare time, and use up most of his spare cash. And if he happens to be a friend or a friend of a friend of Postmaster General Farley he might get a few of the stamps which recently created some a fuss among the stamp collectors of the country. The P. M. G. did not have enough new office jobs to go round so he presented some of his friends with some of the new stamps, slightly "imperfect," but still fairly good stamps. Obviously he couldn't put them on sale at reduced prices as some of the department stores would have done; so what better use could they have been put to than to pay off a few political debts. Some of the stamp collectors learned of the transaction and immediately demanded a set of the Farley "gift stamps". So Sunny Jim smiled and ordered a new batch run off for the collectors, and made the following entry in his diary for the 67th time: "Running the post office department ain't no soft bed of mail bags."

President Roosevelt is a stamp collector also. I wonder if he got a set of the "Farley stamps" without asking for them, for of all the voters in this wide land that the president so affectionately refers to in his freestyle talks, as "My Friends," Jim Farley is the friendliest friend of all. For did he not very cleverly manage the campaign and make possible the election of his friend, Mr. Roosevelt? What, I "ask" you, what does a few stamps, perfect or imperfect, between friends amount to anyway?

A freak windstorm, with thunder and lightning, rain, hail and snow, struck Southern California today with a suddenness and velocity that made natives and tourist alike run for cover. Trees were uprooted, bridges washed out, and at San Pedro breakwater a waterspout swirled a huge column of water skyward for a period of five minutes and vanished. Tonight the mountain ranges are completely covered with snow and a beautiful sight that will be when the sun rises tomorrow. Thunder storms in this section of the country are so unusual that they are classed as freaks of nature.

Our C.C.M. Bicycles Have the Reliable One Piece Hanger

Which puts it in a class by itself as the strongest, most durable and easy running wheel on sale today. Most of the cheap imported Bicycles have what is known as the cotter pin type hanger. This is in three pieces and the crank arms are fastened with pins. These are almost certain to loosen up and once loose it is almost impossible to keep them tight again without putting a complete new hanger which is an expensive repair. C.C.M. make a cheap wheel of the cotter pin type for export at a very low price and while we can supply these we do not feel it is good sales policy to sell them.

Price $33.50

You will have a bicycle that has no equal.

OBJECTS OF KIWANIS

- The objects of Kiwanis are:—
- 1.—To give primacy to the human and spiritual rather than the material values of life.
 - 2.—To encourage the daily living of the Golden Rule in all human relationships.
 - 3.—To promote the adoption and application of higher social, business and professional standards.
 - 4.—To develop, by precept and example, a more intelligent, aggressive and serviceable citizenship.
 - 5.—To provide, through Kiwanis Clubs, a practical means to form enduring friendships, to render altruistic service, and to build better communities.
 - 6.—To co-operate in creating and maintaining that sound public opinion and high idealism which make possible the increase of righteousness, justice, patriotism and good will.

Next Week—Value of Kiwanis

Did you ever stop to think what a big part advertising plays in business? The department store considers advertising a necessary part of its expenses. So much so that the average department store in its annual budget assigns a certain percentage for that purpose.

Then, think of the household articles that would never have been heard of but for advertising. Millie's brand of face cream, the tooth brush you use, many articles in daily use on our dining tables; almost everything that we eat, drink, wear, or enjoy are made known to us and popularized through advertising.

The candidate makes himself known through advertising. In fact, advertising is the greatest force in the world, and newspaper advertising tops all the mediums and newspaper advertising performs a great public service. It shows people what to buy for their comfort, their convenience and their enjoyment. It shows them where to buy safely and economically.

IT WAS TIME for someone to build a popular-priced Streamlined Car. And that's just what DeSoto has done.

The new Airstream DeSoto was designed by the same engineers who built the record-breaking Airflow DeSoto. It

MEASLES

One of the most common of the really serious menaces to the lives and health of young children is measles, a disease which is considered by many parents to be nothing more than an annoying incident in the life of a child.

Measles is the most readily spread of all the communicable diseases. It is the most difficult to control of all because the patient may transmit the disease to others before the rash appears, at a time when measles is not even suspected.

The ordinary symptoms of a cold in the head mark the onset of the disease. The only safe way to deal with the child who has the symptoms of a cold is to put him to bed in a room by himself. This protects the child, for bed is the best place for him if he has a cold, or if a communicable disease is coming on. It also protects the other children to whom he might spread whatever he has if he is allowed to be up and around.

The younger the child, the more serious measles is. It is during the second year of life that so many young children die from measles. It is for this reason that every care should be taken to protect children from exposure during the first five years of life.

It is almost impossible to escape measles entirely because the disease is so contagious. The parents who succeed in protecting their children during the first five years of life have accomplished a great deal. The parents who heedlessly or thoughtlessly expose their young children to measles are taking a great risk with the lives of their little ones.

The child with measles should be in bed in a well-ventilated room. Most of the deaths from measles are due to the complications, notably pneumonia, and these complications very frequently develop from negligence, particularly in allowing the little patient to get out of bed too soon.

When it is known that a young child or a delicate child has been exposed to measles, the family physician should be consulted. The injection of blood drawn from a person who has recently recovered from measles will prevent or modify the attack. Because practically all adults have had measles at some time, blood from the parents may be used for this purpose.

To secure results, these injections of convalescent measles blood serum or adult serum must be given as soon after exposure as can be arranged. The protection conferred is transient, and unless the child develops a mild attack, no permanent resistance remains. Much has been accomplished and much more can be done to safeguard young children who have been inadvertently exposed to measles through the use of the blood from convalescents or parents.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 384 College St. Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

Temperance Table Talks

By UNCLE JOHN

BEER—AND WINE—AND TOURISTS

Neighbor Ben is greatly interested in all this talk about the tourists who are coming to Nova Scotia. He is quite sure we have a country and a people well worth visiting, and that we really ought to tell the world about them. And he likes people, has indeed a sort of flair for mixing with folks. I find, too, that most folks like to meet with him. But he is a very canny soul and doesn't easily get hot over new fads all of a sudden. So he is wondering these days if after all we are not getting a little lopsided over the tourist, and quite largely I think, because it looks to him more like a matter of mere business than just downright good neighborhood. He is a warm-hearted soul, is Neighbor Ben, and he doesn't want things fixed up in such a way as to make it look as though we valued the coming of the tourist mainly for the sake of the money he scatters round among us. "I'd like to think," he said to me, "that the guest in my house meant a good deal more to me than the bit of money he left behind. I was glad to have him for what he was in himself, and that is, I think, the spirit we should cultivate regarding the coming of tourists."

I enjoy teasing Neighbor Ben a bit sometimes. "What do you think," I asked him, "of this proposal to legalize the sale of beer and wine in hotels and restaurants to meet the need of the tourists?"—just trying him out a bit. "Well," he said, "I don't object so much to the beer and wine. You know I like a drink myself once in a while. 'This with a twinkle in his eye.' But I cannot get away from the suspicion that these fellows who talk that way are a good deal more concerned about the dollars they'll get themselves than they are about the comfort of the tourists they profess to welcome. They're just on for making money out of them. I don't like it. It looks too much like rank selfishness and not good neighborhood at all. And that's that."

"That's saying it pretty strong," said I, and then I went on to note that, after all, the tourists as a class are not of the drinking sort, and any that are should be made to feel that while we welcome them, we do not welcome their drinking habits. As a matter of fact, only one in eighty-four of last year's tourists took enough interest in the liquor we had around to take the trouble to buy a permit so they could get it at the government stores. Do we want tourists who drink? Talk of capitalizing the so-called tourist trade for the liquor business—why not capitalize it for temperance, true temperance, which is 'moderation in all things helpful and abstinence from all things harmful?' Why not make a bid for total abstinence tourists, and build our laws around that?"

HOW TO RELIEVE YOUR COLD ALMOST AT ONCE

Follow Simple Directions Here For Quick Relief

1. Take a Aspirin tablet.

2. Drink a glass of water. Repeat treatment in 3 hours.

3. If throat is sore, crush and mix a Aspirin tablet in a third of a glass of water and gargle. This gives you a quick relief.

When you have a cold, remember the simple treatment pictured here... as prescribed by doctors as the quick, safe way.

Results are amazing. Ache and distress go immediately. Because of Aspirin's quick-disintegrating property, Aspirin "takes hold"—almost instantly. Your cold is relieved "quick as you caught it!"

All you do is take Aspirin and drink plenty of water. Do this every 2 to 4 hours the first day—less often afterward... If throat is sore, the Aspirin gargle will ease it in as little as 2 minutes.

Ask your doctor about this. And be sure you get ASPIRIN when you buy. It is made in Canada and all druggists have it. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every Aspirin tablet. Aspirin is the registered mark of the Bayer Company, Limited.

Between Ourselves

Remember the days of the old "dime novels" and the consequence, either a trip to the woodshed with dad or a talking to from mother. If we were caught with one of them?

Times have changed now. It is seldom one sees these paper covers, tales of adventure with a "killin' chapter" on sale at news stands or book stores. They seem to be a thing of the past. However, I imagine the dads and mothers of today caught any of their offspring reading one of these thrillers, they would live up to the traditions of their ancestors, and the result would be the same—a trip to the woodshed with dad, or a talking to from mother.

But in this modern age the boys would find the stories of Jesse James' adventures almost assailable. Reading so-called "dime novels" would be a waste of time—especially when bigger and better thrillers can be turned in on the radio (and nobody seems to object).

Not so long ago the "League of Decency" was organized to make an effort to suppress—through boycott—all demoralizing films. It is safe to say they are meeting with some success. Perhaps it wouldn't hurt to organize a similar league to suppress a few of the radio programs that are now on the air.

The effect of some of these radio programmes on the young might, in my opinion, be far from good. I have listened to a few. I have heard the blood curdling shrieks and groans; the reports of six shooters; and the rap-tap-tap of machine guns; murders and killings appear to be the order of the day; and no adventure seems to be complete without a dozen—more or less—of them.

Sure, we all love stories of adventure. Our most cherished books are filled with adventure stories, and although I am condemning some radio programme stories, I am not condemning all of them; but I do feel that some concentrated effort should be made to suppress some of these blood-curdling thrillers that are put on the air especially for the younger boys. As I said before the old dime novels were vassified in comparison.

If you have the idea that I have written this just simply for "something to kick about" you are mistaken. It is the simplest thing in the world to discover the effects of some of these broadcasts, by eaves dropping on the conversation of some of these little chaps discussing their favorite broadcasts or by watching them re-act some of these radio plays.

Most parents want to know the type of literature their school age sons and daughters are reading, and consider it an important duty to supervise their reading. It is just as important to supervise their listening. The radio, like certain books can do more harm than good to the adolescent mind.

No Change in Tax Rate; Will Remain at 4.20 is Decided

The Digby Town Council, in its regular session on Monday evening, brought down the estimates for the ensuing year. No change was made in the tax rate, which will remain at 4.20. A number of citizens were present at this meeting, and three of them—Rev. Dr. Hodgson, W. H. Farnham and T. E. G. Lynch—addressed the council. Dr. Hodgson, on behalf of the Children's Aid Society, asking that the usual grant be made; Mr. Farnham, asking for a refund of poll taxes he has paid the town since he reached the age of 60, six years ago; Mr. Lynch appealed to the council on behalf of the Digby Board of Trade, asking a grant for the Land of Evangeline Tourist Association.

The report of the February session of the Appeal Court was also heard at this meeting, and although most of the appeals had to do with transfers of property there were a few reductions of assessment. Total deductions as the result of appeals amounted to $8,585; increases to $350; making a net reduction in the assessment of $8,235. Net assessable property and income for the Town of Digby is $737,540. The rate of 4.20 will produce $30,972.42; with a discount of $912 (based on 1934 discounts), leaves a net production of $30,060.42. The town budget provided for tentative expenditures for the year of $38,961; less tentative income of $9,290, leaves an amount of $29,671 to be assessed for.

Tentative figures of expenditures are as follows:—Sewer, $4,500; Poor and Charities, $2,000; Street Lighting, $2,250; Fire Department, $650; Police Department, $300; Salaries—town clerk, $1,200; stewardship, $135; stenographer, $210; solicitor, $90; School Requisition, $9,100; Joint Expense, $4,000; Town Hall, $400; Board of Health, $80. Listed among the estimated miscellaneous expenditures are the following: Interest Coupons, $2,365; Sinking Funds, $906; Provincial Highway, $730; Grants—Digby Hospital, $500; Special Grant Hospital, $150; Children's Aid Society, $250; Victorian Order of Nurses, $200; Land of Evangeline Tourist Association, $180. Assessors: $100; Auditors, $75; Revisors, $30; Printing and Advertising, $150; General Interest, $400; Sundries, $350; Bank Overdraft, $7,050.

The grant to the Victorian Order of Nurses was restored to $300. Two years ago this grant was reduced 1 per cent. For the past two years also, the town has been granting a discount of 5 per cent on taxes paid before July 1st. This year the discount will be reduced to 2½ per cent. Originally the 5 per cent discount was made as an inducement to get the taxes in earlier, but members of the council did not feel that it accomplished the desired result and that those who took advantage of it were the ones who would pay their taxes at an early date, and the advantage to the small tax payer was very small. It was also stated that certain ratepayers, under the 5 per cent discount, paid their taxes for the current year, taking advantage of the discount, leaving their arrears unpaid.

Letters were read from the Board of Trade asking the town to co-operate with the Municipalities of Digby and Clare in inviting the Union of Nova Scotia Municipalities to Digby for their 1935 convention. Before taking any steps in this matter it was decided to interview Warden Andrews, of the Municipality of Digby.

There was also a letter from the manager of the Waverly Hotel abjecting to the use of the sidewalk in front of those premises by teams and automobiles. The letter suggested that the town mark off the road and sidewalk with curbstone. The matter was left with the street committee.

THE WEATHER

Winter returned this week. On Sunday we had one of the heaviest snow storms of the season, although the snow did not drift to any extent, the ground was covered to a depth of six inches. Prevailing cold weather during the week has kept the bulk of this snow with us, although on Thursday morning when this paragraph was written, the sun was out bright and warm and the snow moving fast. Let us hope it continues. Although the week has been quite cold for the time of the year, these days (with the exception of Sunday) are pleasant days.

The scallop fleet was out yesterday afternoon for the first time this week.

Frank Jones, K. C. returned home on Monday after spending several weeks in Toronto.

Lynott Hersey and Carman Gidnev, of Mink Cove, are spending this week with Mr. and Mrs. Manford Wentzell, at Sea Wall.

Miss Ida Marie Wheelock, age 98 years and 5 months, died at the home of her nephew, Fred W. Harris, at Annapolis Royal, on Monday. Miss Wheelock was the oldest resident of that town.

The Brotherhood of the United Church will hold its regular monthly meeting next Wednesday evening. The Brotherhood of the Baptist Church will be the guests on this occasion, and Rev. Dr. Hodgson will be the speaker, taking as his subject "Britain's War Debt".

Edwards, principal of Round Hill school for the past three years and for two years previous to that of the Sandy Cove school, has been appointed principal of the seven department school at River Hebert. His brother, Leonard, who has been principal at River Hebert for the past six years, will attend Acadia University next term to complete his B.A. course, and also later will qualify for M. A.

ganist of Trinity church, New York. Application was made by letter.

Mayor A. A. Shortliffe was appointed a committee of one to go to Halifax for the purpose of interviewing the Minister of Highways in regard to hard-surfacing the town streets.

It happened in front of the Royal Bank of Canada shortly after 6 o'clock, Wednesday evening. Some man, well under the influence of liquor, staggering down the sidewalk, unable to navigate with any degree of certainty, sat down suddenly. A little girl about six years of age, stepped up to him and asked "Mister, can I have the bottle when you're through with it?" Evidently there is keen competition in the empty bottle business. The man in question was holding tightly to an uncorked bottle still swathed in liquor store wrappings.

FARMERS HOLD MEETING

A meeting of Digby County farmers was held in the hall at Acadiaville on Thursday afternoon and evening of last week. The afternoon session, which convened at 2 o'clock, was largely a round table discussion on farming methods, including such topics as cattle breeding; turnip disease and fertilizers for general farm use. C. Eric Boulden, superintendent of agriculture for the province of Nova Scotia; Raymond LeBlanc, of Meteghan, county agricultural representative; and Mr. McIntyre, of the Maritime Fertilizer Board, Moncton, were present.

During the evening session Mr. Hall, of the passenger department of the C. P. R., showed motion pictures on the use of fertilizers for growing grains. Following this there was a general discussion on farm management.

Mrs. Mildred Holmes, of Port Wade, was a week end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Young.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Worsley, of Kentville, spent a few days in town this week, while en route to Victoria, B. C.

Between Ourselves

Folks in town generally seem pleased that the tax rate was not increased, and pray that conditions will be such this year that the town will receive somewhere near the amount the estimates provide for—and that the council will be able to keep within its estimates, clean up a good portion of the overdraft, and thus make the rate a bit lower for 1936. Unless this can be done we can look for an increase in next year's rate.

It appears to me that some of this "poor relief" graft we read of in other towns and cities is striking pretty well at home. At Monday night's session of the council a case was cited where one family received some $70 from the town during the year just passed. This was in addition to financial assistance given through the Children's Aid Society and through the auspices of the Digby Legion.

This same family received aid last year amounting to almost eight hundred dollars—more than many families have who get along very comfortably. The same thing has been going on for years. True, the father suffered an accident last fall, but he appears to be in good health now. Even if he were unable to work, it appears to most of us the amount of relief this family receives is too much when one takes into consideration the quantities of poisonous "belly wash" that is apparently consumed by the head of the household.

None of us are willing to sit by and see a family of children starve or go naked, but there must be some way of "drawing the line" when relief for the needy goes for liquid refreshment, whether that refreshment be in the form of lemon extract, Jamaica ginger, strained canned, heat, shoe polish, or the genuine bootleg or government merchandise. It is alleged in some quarters that foodstuffs supplied by the town have been sold by the recipient and the proceeds used to purchase hooch! Have these allegations ever been investigated?

Even if this is not so, and the fire water is purchased with the odd change earned by the purchaser—should he be permitted to buy booze even with his own money? when his family is dependent on the town practically the whole year round? If I remember correctly one Nova Scotia town council last year stated they would refuse further assistance to any person, who had been "on relief" if they were seen intoxicated or frequenting a liquor store.

I am not attacking the poor committee of the town council, nor am I accusing them of laxity, for, through my association with the Children's Aid Society I know something of what they are up against, and there are some problems such as the one I have cited, for which the Children's Aid Society, the town and municipal poor boards, would like some workable solution of eliminating a lot of "waste".

Refuse to Pay Jail Bill

On Monday evening, the Town Council refused payment of a bill for $120 from the keeper of the County Jail for the keeping of a transient overnight. The man was taken to the jail for shelter by Chief of Police Thibault, on instructions from Mayor Shortliffe. For several years the town and municipality have been in dispute over the matter of a bill for approximately $450 for the keeping of transients in the county jail here. The municipality contends the town is responsible for the whole amount. The town, on the other hand, feels that they should only be responsible for their share of the joint expenditure. At the January session of the municipal council the municipal solicitor was instructed to take whatever means seemed necessary to collect the amount from the town.

Beckwith and Miss Brenda Troop were witnesses at the signing of the register.

TODAY

A great many people attempt the impossible when they try to live yesterday, today and tomorrow. Yesterday has gone, for tomorrow has not come, and today only is here.

The experience of the past can be applied today, but the morrow is idle speculation no matter how well it is planned.

Consequently one's main effort should be, as Emerson expressed it, to live well today so that we may live better tomorrow.

And Thoreau added: "Sufficient unto the day may be the evil thereof, but never the good."

Somewhat it seems to escape our attention that the Lord's Prayer has to do with today and with today only.

Happy the man, and happy he alone. He who, secure within, can say, He who can call today his own: Tomorrow, do thy worst, for I have lived today.—Dryden.

Away back a century or so ago, self-reliant Nova Scotia farmers did not suffer for want of consumers. They raised their own.

THE VALUE OF FAILURE

Failure, in many instances, is more beneficial than success. That is—failure is often the turning point to success, and because of it the results are much more lasting.

Too much success has been the downfall of many individuals. The people who are suffering today from the worldwide depression are the people who heretofore have known only success. Those who have met failure and have felt its sting have been made able to cope with the present situation. The once most successful business men have today become the heaviest losers, and while many are facing defeat bravely others hardly know where to turn.

Too many victories have also often caused the failure of many teams—and individuals. Frequently they have depended upon their past glory to lead them to their goals and have found out, all too late, that had they made more effort, again success would have been theirs. Always remember, there's value to failure.

It's funny, but the man who knows exactly how the world should be made over never lands any kind of a decent job.

DO THE WORTH WHILE NOW.

Every young boy and girl should realize that the time to begin doing things worth while cannot be too early. The majority of young people feel that they are not expected to accomplish something worth while until they are 35 or 40.

But many famous men started the world with success when they were around the age of 30. For example, Alexander conquered the world at 33, and Shakespeare was celebrated before he was 30. Jefferson was in the Virginia legislature at 26 and also at the same age Napoleon commanded an army. Beethoven had composed some of his great works at 25.

It is true that few people attain great success prior to 30 or 40. But there are many exceptions.

The only really happy man is the pessimist; he's always expecting the worst, and gets disappointed so often.

ten about it—weighty books. Magazines are full of analyses. Virtually all speakers on public questions contribute to the discussion.

To us the clearest statement ever made on the problem was that of an English secretary to the minister of agriculture.

"The problem today is to bring together the over producer and the under consumer."

We think that neatly sums up the present dilemma, which would disappear if the two paradoxical horns could be brought together. Now that the problem has been so concisely stated who will give this puzzled old world, in equally terse language, a practical answer?

This thing known as a "business cycle" seems to be the sad story of running into debt and crawling out of it.

That money flowing back and forth through the channels of trade in a town is what helps to build better business, good roads, churches, schools and everything else that goes to make a better, bigger, brighter town.

Any man who buys merchandise away from the town in which he lives is not a good citizen.

Any man who earns money in a town and then spends his money in some other town should move to the town in which he spends his money. He might be able to boost for that town.

Every citizen should be converted into believing in his home town. His interests should be in the town in which he lives.

Buying at home keeps home dollars working at home. Keeping money in the home town is saving money for the home town.

It is up to every real citizen to boost the home town and buy at home!

HEALTH

ACIDOSIS

During the past year the Health Service was asked by many correspondents for information concerning the acid-forming foods. It is a significant fact that these people did not enquire about the alkaline or base-forming foods. For one reason or another, there is a popular fear of what is commonly called acidity or acidosis.

When foods are burned in the body to produce heat, energy, etc., carbonic acid gas is produced, which is eliminated from the lungs. An ash is left which may be acid, alkaline or neutral. If the acid ash is in excess and this continues to pile up over a period of time the alkalinity of the blood will be gradually reduced, and the condition known as acidosis results.

The common symptoms of this form of acidosis are fatigue, headache, a sense of weakness, and pain in the muscles, with a loss of appetite. The symptoms are mild when the acidosis is mild, but if the acidosis progresses, the symptoms become more severe, the urine and the sweat being strongly acid. The condition, in a mild form at least, is fairly common among those who consistently use acid-forming foods to excess.

The body does its best work on a balanced diet. To maintain health, the diet must be reasonably balanced in all ways, including the acid and alkaline foods. A continued excess of acid-forming foods leads, as has been said, to acidosis, while an alkalosis, which is just as much to be avoided, will follow upon a diet that is excessive in its alkaline content.

It is not a question of one or other food being a good food; it is rather that an excess of any one kind of food is undesirable and may actually be harmful or dangerous.

Meat, fish, eggs, bread and other cereals are acid-forming foods. The alkaline foods are vegetables, excepting rhubarb; fruits, excepting plums, cherries, cranberries and prunes; almonds and milk. Fat foods, such as butter, cream and lard, together with sugar and starch, and the fats of meat, fish and fowl are neutral foods.

It is not necessary to become faddy with regard to diet to secure the balance which is essential to good health and physical fitness. To the diet of meat, bread and other cereals, add liberal amounts of fruits, vegetables and milk; this will ensure the balance. There are other reasons why fruits, vegetables and milk should be used every day; they are the protective foods which guard against lack of minerals and vitamins as well as against an excess of acidity.

Now is the time to start on those repair jobs about the premises. With the ravages of winter over there comes to light many little defects, such as loose shingles, leaky gutters, peeling paint, defective chimneys and other things, that, if not fixed now, may develop into expensive problems later.

The Brandon, Ont., Sun wonders how it is that so many persons appear to be successful in gaining illegal entry into the United States. The Sun says: "How it is done, none of those who have tried to enter the United States legally and formally know. The agents at the United States ports of entry are usually quite insistent about the entrants from other lands being really qualified to enjoy the liberties of that Republic. Every agent met by the average citizen is alert to hold even tourists for questioning and guarantees. In fact, it is difficult for law-abiding world citizens to get by all the tremendous fences around the United States. Thus it is almost staggering to discover there are four million aliens there who entered the country illegally. It is estimated two million aliens, a million more million aliens are on the relief over there."

"BE PREPARED FOR OUR SUMMER GUESTS"

"Be Prepared for Our Summer Guests" is the title of a 40-page booklet published by authority of Hon. A. S. MacMillan, Minister of Highways, for distribution among the summer hotels, camps and boarding houses of the province. The pamphlet gives practical hints to those engaged in accommodating summer visitors, and all the principal phases of such accommodation receive attention.

The booklet emphasizes the fact that impressions of the Province will be formed largely according to the treatment our summer guests receive. The importance of proper preparation, the need of courtesy, hospitality and utmost cleanliness, are fully stressed in the booklet, as well as the value of exterior appearances. Attractive surroundings are described as one of the best advertising mediums.

The pamphlet deals at length with distinctive Nova Scotia menus, composed of fresh fish and all other sea foods, native fruits, berries, vegetables, lamb, chicken and maple syrup. It is pointed out that many guests arrive in the province expecting that a sufficiency of properly cooked sea foods will be provided, and that various methods of cooking fish are described, and the preparation for guests of Nova Scotian game birds, venison, and moose steak is also set forth in detail.

The booklet points out that to many persons, much of the thrill in travelling is contained in the discovery of new things to eat, and in being served the native foods of the country visited. Accordingly this pamphlet has been prepared with this thought in mind, and with the hope that its suggestions and menus will be of value especially to those not as yet fully experienced in catering to our summer guests.

From the strictly scientific point of view, biologically speaking, even the Jew is not a pure bred stock. He started probably as a cross between the Hittite, the Amorite, and the Semite. He got his nose from the Hittite, his culture to a great extent from the Arab; his vigor, perhaps, from the Amorite.

Thievesy seems to be branching out into new fields. Police of Jersey City are looking for the person, or persons who stole a 22,000 pound locomotive from a warehouse. How the job was done without detection is a mystery yet unsolved.

CAPT. SIMON THERIAULT HAD A ROUGH TRIP

The fishing schooner American, Capt. Simon P. Theriault, (formerly of East Perry), arrived in Gloucester, Mass. (her home port), early last week from Boston, after selling her halibut, and docked at the Davis Fisheries, where she landed 5,000 pounds of salt cod. This is her first halibut trip of the season, and she is the second of the fleet to complete a voyage.

Capt. Simon and crew say that it was one of the toughest trips in the past fifty years insofar as hurricanes are concerned. They left Gloucester on February 16, and in the thirty days going and coming they had days when the wind seemed as if it were trying to carry them to South America.

On Monday, March 4, after they had completed their third set, they had the misfortune to part the cable and for 44 hours the American drifted at the mercy of the hurricane and resultant mountainous seas. It looked as though they would lose an entire nest of dories, but as luck would have it, they did not lose one dory, nor was any dory even slightly damaged.

Damage was done to the pilot house by the seas that broke over the stern.

Several stringers were ripped from the rear of the house while the planking on the starboard rail at the stern, was torn away, although not enough to cause worry for the crew's safety.

They did not lose any cable when the line parted, for the parting came at the ring leaving only the anchor at the bottom of the sea. Once the breeze abated, the craft returned to the fishing grounds and they resumed their labors. On their way home ice floes were encountered in a dense fog, but again the craft was fortunate in escaping damage.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY NOTES

Under the auspices of the Bear River Agricultural Society, a series of lectures, some illustrated by lantern slides, were given in Sanford's Hall, on Friday afternoon and evening. The speakers were C. Eric Boulton, J. E. McIntyre and Raymond LeBlanc, sent by the Department of Agriculture, and their talks were of considerable interest to the farmers who were present. Mr. Boulton spoke on the Feeding of Farm Animals and on Horses; and Mr. McIntyre gave an illustrated lecture on the Value of Improving Farm Pastures; while Mr. LeBlanc discussed various matters that are of a more local nature in regard to our farms in and around Bear River.

During the evening there was a discussion on the Growing of Turnip Seed along the lines followed by a number of farmers in the Deep Brook district. There appears to be a fairly good market for a standard and recognized Turnip seed, such as the Dilmars Brown Top, a variety already well recognized, and a suggestion to ask the Provincial government to declare certain of the school sections around Bear River as "Closed Areas" for the growing of this seed, was approved. This will mean that after the necessary order in council has been passed, it will not be permissible to grow turnips for seed of any variety but the Dilmars Brown Top. It does not mean that the growing of other varieties for feeding or shipping purposes cannot be carried out, and applied only to turnips grown for seed. A restriction such as this is necessary in order to keep the seed pure, as it has been found that where several varieties are grown for seed, the insects and the winds carry the pollen from one variety of blossom to another variety and the purity of the seed is soon lost. It is to be hoped that a number of the farmers in the district will give the growing of turnip seed a trial and that their efforts will prove successful.

The meeting concluded with the showing of moving pictures, provided through the courtesy of the Canadian Pacific Railway, showing the beneficial effects of treating farm land with limestone and also some very fine pictures of the scenery in the Canadian Rockies. Members of the society are reminded that their annual membership dues are now payable and the secretary will be glad to receive them and to issue the necessary membership cards. Please bear in mind that the amount of the grant to be received from the Department of Agriculture depends on the number of members who pay their dues.

FIRE WRECKS DWELLING

About nine o'clock Saturday evening, the dwelling of William Henshaw was discovered to be on fire, the flames then breaking through the roof. The fire department was summoned and large streams of water taken from the adjoining brook, soon subdued the flames, but not before the house was badly wrecked, the roof on the front side collapsing, and the rear so damaged that it will have to be torn away and replaced. The family's clothing and furniture were removed, but were much damaged by water and smoke. Mr. Henshaw has a wife and six children, and as the house is uninhabitable in its present condition, these are at present at neighbors' homes.

The damaged house was a large four-story building. The fire originated in the attic, supposedly from a defective chimney.

LADIES' CIRCLE ENTERTAINS AT PARTY

Oddfellows' Hall was again the scene of a gay community party on Tuesday evening of last week, held under the direction of the Ladies' Circle of the local United Baptist Church. Though this was the sixth party of this kind held here since autumn, it attracted a large number of guests and was a great success. Many of the guests coming as masqueraders in very original and pretty costumes.

The president and vice-president—Messdames Fred Rice and J. Purdy—received the guests, the president opening the programme with an address of welcome. The Grand March of those in costume followed, reviewed for prize award by the judges:—Mrs. A. M. Simons, Mrs. William Morine, and B. Rice, whose decision follows:—Most Unique, "Shiek of Araby," Graham MacNabb; Most Original, "Sailor," Mrs. C. Stewart; Funniest, "A Belle of the Past," Rev. S. Steeves. Some particularly pretty juvenile costumes won prizes, namely, "King and Queen of Hearts," Rosalie Sanford and Terence Purdy; "Fairly," Geneva Alcom.

The music was well presented, with Mrs. Carroll Clarke as pianist, and consisted of popular Irish songs and choruses. An outstanding number, a solo, "Danny Boy," Rev. S. Steeves, received a hearty encore. The complete programme follows:—Opening Chorus—"Mush, Mush," Reading—Mrs. R. A. Harris. Solo—Mrs. Waldo Chute. Chorus—"Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," Playlet—"Mad As a March Hare"—Solo—"Danny Boy"—Rev. S. Steeves. Mrs. B. Harris, Mrs. H. Benson, Mrs. J. Purdy, Mrs. W. Dukeshire. Humorous sketches by Miss Barbara Payson and the Messrs. Lovitt Woodman and Austin Payson were good laughs, depicting, as they did, glimpses into the past as portrayed by touching old tableaux, and a one-act play, entitled, "With a Tourist's Wardrobe, 30 Years Ago and Today."

On Thursday morning of last week one of the oldest and highly respected residents of Clementsvalle, Deacon Samuel Pyne, passed away, after an illness of about three weeks. THE BOY SCOUTS

On Saturday seven members of the Bear River Troop went off on a twelve-mile hike and made a full day before they got home. Those who were interested in studying for their Boy Scout Badges practiced identifying trees, and over twenty varieties were identified during the day. This is not as easy to do when the trees are bare as it is when the leaves are showing. There was also practice in compass work and in tracking and reading foot prints.

The destination of the hike was Durling's Camp at Barnes Lake. Mr. Durling had kindly passed over his key so that the camp could be opened. But all the cooking was done in the open, and the odor of frying steak was enough to give anyone an appetite. Topping off with pancakes and maple syrup and coffee filled everyone so they couldn't eat any more. The maple syrup was especially good and had been made by Scout Arthur Green. Dinner was followed by a stroll across the lake and a paper chase before the party started for home.

A NOTABLE JUDICIAL SENTENCE

For possibly the first time in Halifax County, since the Nova Scotia Liquor Control Act came into effect, a man was convicted of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated and did not have to go to jail. The other day, in the County Court, Justice R. H. Murray handed down a decision, which is, if not unique, far too rare.

A sergeant of the Royal Canadian Engineers was convicted of the above offence, and was placed on suspended sentence for three years. The soldier also suffered the loss of his driver's licence, and must not touch intoxicating liquors for three years. Surety of $500 was ordered to be posted. The usual penalty for the offence is a jail term without the option of a fine. But a recent amendment to the criminal code provides that suspended sentence can be given where the proceedings are conducted summarily.

His Honor, Mr. Justice Murray, took into account the fact that the accused bore an excellent reputation; and it was of doubtful benefit for him to spend seven days in jail, involving demotion in the military service. Accordingly, the sentence quoted above was imposed, a wise solution of a problem which at one time recognized the gravity of the offence and provided a penalty consistent with justice and mercy.

Here's real medication

To Help You Prevent Colds

USED IN TIME, HELPS TO AVOID MANY COLDS ENTIRELY

THIS is the danger season for colds—the time when they are most likely to lead to serious complications. Don't neglect that first warning sign. Quick! At the first nasal irritation, sniffle or sneeze—just a few drops of Vicks Vapo-nol up each nostril. Used in time, Vapo-nol helps to prevent many colds entirely.

This unique aid in preventing colds is especially designed for the nose and throat—where most colds start. Vapo-nol aids and stimulates the functions provided by Nature—in the nose—to prevent colds, or to throw off colds in the early stages.

Where irritation has led to a clogged-up, stuffy nose, a well developed head cold or nasal catarrh, Vapo-nol penetrates deep into the nasal passages—reduces swollen membranes—clears away clogging mucus—brings comforting relief.

Powerful yet absolutely safe for both children and adults—Vicks Vapo-nol contains real medication. Its results cannot be expected from mere "oil drops." Vapo-nol's effectiveness has been proved in thousands of clinical tests supervised by practicing physicians. Equal effectiveness is shown in its every-day home use—aiding millions to greater freedom from colds.

"NOTE—for your protection—The remarkable success of Vicks drops—for nose and throat—has brought scores of imitations. The trade-mark Vapo-nol is your protection in getting this exclusive Vicks formula. Always ask for Vicks Vapo-nol.

To Help End a Cold Sooner

If a cold has developed or strikes without warning, use Vicks Vapo-nol, the modern method of treating colds. Just rub on at bedtime. Its direct two-way action—by stimulation and inhalation—loosens phlegm—softens irritated membranes—eases difficult breathing—helps break congestion. Often, by morning, the worst of the cold is over.

ACACIAVILLE AND HILL GROVE

Miss Evelyn Foster, teacher at Clementsvalle Heights, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Foster.

H. P. Newcombe, of Halifax, was a week end visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. H. Nichols.

Mrs. Ruth Nichols and children who have been visiting here, returned to Yarmouth on Friday. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Frank Gates.

The Misses Millie and Margaret Porter were "at home" to the young folks on Friday evening, to a crokinole party.

Miss Alice Henshaw, of Waldeck, visited friends here over the week end.

Not only do O. K. form the initials of "Ola Kala", the modern Greek words meaning "All's Best" but testimony now comes that the Greeks have long used the letters as we do. We'll bet, however, they haven't pronounced them "Oke!"

The map of the world will be changed again when the British and Brazilian commissioners now engaged in demarcating the boundary between Brazil and British Guiana, in South America, complete their work.

More From Our M. G. T.

M. G. T. remarks that this March 17, and the whole town is Irish. Even the grass is turning green. And don't you just love the beautiful Irish music heard from coast to coast on the radio? The florists' shops in town yesterday were things of beauty, with their green and white trimmings and green carnations. Once on a time if one looked at green flowers, well, we would wonder if our eyesight were at fault. Now a days, every St. Patrick's day brings forth a shower of sweet smelling green carnations. There are also tiny pots of real shamrock imported from the old sod to gladden the eye of homesick sons and daughters of Erin. There are tiny high crowned hats and wee clay pipes. Every one wears a bit of green—a ribbon or a tie or springy looking hat. This afternoon there will be a grand parade, at least five thousand strong, and the only snakes in sight will be on the reviewing stand in front of the city hall, where the politicians, in tall hats and spots, will wave joyously at their friends, and curse inwardly at the bitter east wind that is scattering dust over their splendor. It's too bad such a grand old day could not come when the weather is better, and believe me, when I tell you that I shall toast my shins at home today. Yesterday the thermometer rose to 74 degrees at 6 o'clock a.m., but today we have shaken down the old furnace and prepared for a few more days of winter weather. Robins and blue birds are here and it sounds good to hear them singing in the early morning, but there are also many patches of snow on the sheltered hillsides, and I think we will keep on the red flannel undies for a while.

Speaking of "undies"—do you like the California style? Tut! Tut! G. R. T.—with your "long legs", and "short sleeves" that you just must have! I bet you wear a "nightie", too, with the sides of the tail split up half a yard. I know all about them. I have an old "Snoo-thie" of my own that prefers them. He says his idea of the "Great Divide" is that chasm between the top of pajamas and the bottom of the coat, when said coat is round, round, and hunches around his neck when he turns over during the night.

Is my face red—and here is why. About two weeks ago our capital city—Halifax—held a grand sportsmen's show. According to all reports it was a great sight, and the Nova Scotia exhibits were very fine. But here is the trouble. Many friends have heard me for years talking and bragging about my old home town, telling of the beautiful scenery, good fishing, etc., and naturally they looked through all the beautifully illustrated literature that was distributed during the show to see if the place lived up to my description, and believe it or not, Weymouth was not even mentioned, and was not even shown on the map. How do you like that? Yarmouth and Digby shone with a great light. Even Barton and Brighton and Meteghan were mentioned showing places where tourists could be accommodated over night. Poor little Weymouth just turned its face to the wall and didn't speak up at all. When some friends brought their pamphlets for us to see and said Weymouth wasn't on the map, my husband grabbed the map and said, "Of course it is," and I grabbed it away from him, and said, "Of course it is."

DOUBLED UP WITH RHEUMATISM

Could Not Wash Himself Nor Brush His Hair

So bad was his rheumatism that his friends declared he would never work again. Although he is 70 years old, he proved they were wrong. Read what he says:—
"I am seventy years of age. Last Christmas I was completely doubled up with rheumatism. I could not brush my hair nor wash myself. People said I should never work any more. I am working harder than a young man today. Thanks, many thanks, to Kruschen Salts. I take them in my tea, and I have recommended them to many. I could not get in or out of bed myself, nor sit up. But see my work now—12 hours a day sometimes. Kruschen Salts have done it."—G. J.

Rheumatic conditions are the result of an excess of uric acid in the body. Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts have the power of dissolving uric acid crystals. Other ingredients assist Nature to expel these dissolved crystals through the natural channel. In addition, there are still other salts in Kruschen which prevent food fermentation in the intestines, and thereby check the further accumulation not only of uric acid, but of other body poisons which undermine the health.

It is—and it wasn't. Better wake up, fellows! Flood, fire and famine—and you are still fast asleep. But when you are taken off the map of Nova Scotia you are certainly on the skirts—and that's why my face is red.

Remember those old hat pins from 12 to 18 inches long that the girls were in their hats many years ago? Well, they haven't come back, but something just as dangerous has taken the place. Women are now wearing hat ornaments that resemble a meat hook thrust through the crown of their hats. They are about six inches long and pointed on the end; the other end curls up like a rope thrower's rope, and in a jammed crowd one could easily get an eye gouged out, or receive a slash on the cheek. A local newspaper suggests that if women will wear such contraptions, they should be obliged to carry a permit—all dangerous weapons are not concealed.

What funny things we read and hear these days. I heard over my radio about a man who was giving a woman for breach of promise. Among other things he claimed that at his home the "precious tumbler" was Oh, my gosh! Ain't life grand!

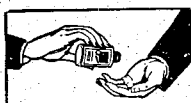

Once in a while I go to the movies. Yesterday I went to see "The Little Colonel", starring Shirley Temple, and for sheer sweetness and all around entertainment, that picture is a prize winner. There is one scene—a colored baptism—that took me back a long, long time. To the days when I never missed a similar happening. Lionel Barrymore supports Shirley Temple, and you all know how fine he is.

I'm stuffed to the sky line. Had a dinner of Nova Scotia codfish, with baked potatoes, carrots and hot buttered beets. This was topped off with apple dumplings, baked in maple syrup. If I were a mere man, I would unbuckle the top button and start eating, but since I'm not, I'll just paraphrase that grand news commentator, Lowell Thomas, and say, "So long, until next time."

QUICKEST METHOD TO RELIEVE A COLD

Follow Directions to Ease Pain and Discomfort Almost Instantly

When you have a cold, remember the simple treatment pictured here... prescribed by doctors everywhere today as the quick, safe way.

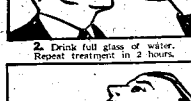

1. Take 2 Aspirin Tablets.

Because of Aspirin's quick-disintegrating property, Aspirin "takes hold"—almost instantly.

2. Drink full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

Just take Aspirin and drink plenty of water... every 2 to 4 hours the first day—less often afterward... If throat is sore, use the Aspirin gargle.

3. If throat is sore, crush and stir 2 Aspirin Tablets in a third of a glass of water and gargle. This soothes the throat and your throat almost instantly.

But be sure you get ASPIRIN. It is made in Canada and all druggists have it. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every Aspirin Tablet. Aspirin is the trade mark of the Bayer Company Limited.

Miss A. Peters entertained a number of her friends at a birthday party on Saturday last.

At the close of the evening refreshments were served.

On Saturday evening Miss Blanche Morehouse entertained at three tables of bridge, the occasion being her birthday. Guests included Mrs. Vernon Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. Carman Outhouse, Oscar Morehouse, Mr. and Mrs. Elynn Morton and Charles Morehouse.

PRESERVE BEAUTY OF THE COUNTRYSIDE

In order to preserve the amenities of the countryside in England, patrols are to be organized this year by the Council for the Preservation of Rural England. The duty of the Countryside Wardens, as they are termed, will be to persuade, educate and help the public to keep the various rural resorts unspoiled. The Wardens will be volunteers and will work in co-operation with a number of other organizations.

Mainly, the duties of the patrols will be of an educative nature, and it is hoped to attain the desired object of persuading the public to observe a courtesy code. This includes among other requests, the following:—

Don't injure fences or anything belonging to others.
Make a point of buying litter or carrying it away.
When you go, leave the place as you found it.

Avoid carving your name or initials anywhere.

Growing crops such as hay, clover and oats are someone's livelihood. They are spoils if laid flat.

Put out fires, which should never be lit where they may spread; and wherever they are lit, take every care that they do not spread.

Do not foul streams or standing water.

Observe the Highway Code which applies to walking and cycling as well as to motoring.

The Golden Rule which the organization desires to have observed is: "Good will to all, as you expect good will from others."

It would be a good idea, says an exchange, if some voluntary organization were instituted in this country. Each summer sees throngs of visitors proceeding countrywards, and during each season is witnessed an epidemic of fires, beauty spots made unsightly, streams made the depository for empty tins and other kinds of rubbish, and unnecessary damage caused. In most instances it is due to sheer carelessness. To check such acts, many citizens would no doubt, be only too glad to co-operate. They may be somewhat diffident to interfere on their own, but if such a movement was organized and they could show they were acting with some authority and with public support behind them, there would be no hesitation in exercising their influence to preserve the beauty of the countryside and to discourage the destruction which it involves.

Their entertainments consist of spelling matches, class prophecies readings and songs. With their funds they have paid for the Red Cross Junior, a dust pan and two pines of glass to replace missing panes. Grades I and II are beginning their flash cards, word dictionaries and story books for Exhibition. The secretary is Marjorie Rice; the teacher, Miss Constance Wright. (This letter wins the prize for March).

Britain's unemployment insurance administrators find that no one can successfully make false statements and receive benefits for more than a few weeks without somebody writing in to report its falsity and "squel" on their neighbor.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

SPRING LIGHTNING

Lightning and moonlight pictures are unusual and fascinating and you can take them with any kind of camera.

APRIL showers not only bring May flowers but night-time electrical storms as well. And there's your chance for sensational lightning pictures.

With the dark, clouded skies, the sharp ribbons of lightning spread in fantastic, fascinating flashes and when caught by the camera, the resulting picture is really something to talk about and add variety and interest to your snapshot album.

There is no trick involved in taking lightning pictures. In fact, it's quite simple. If it is raining during the time the lightning is weaving its webs of flashes across the sky, and you don't want to get wet, take your pictures from the inside through an open window. Place the camera on a tripod or something solid at the open window and point it in the direction of the last few flashes. Set your shutter at "time", using the largest diaphragm opening or "stop".

You may close the shutter after the first flash or leave it open for the registering of several flashes. Of course, if you leave the shutter open for many flashes, you will get a fantastic conglomeration of ribbons of light but not a true picture of a single flash. However, it will be unusual, to say the least, and well worth adding to your collection of "frisks".

If it is an honest-to-goodness storm, it will pay you in self-satisfaction to take several pictures, for the more brilliant the flashes and the more ribbons of light zigzagging through the dark skies, the greater the chances for a really spectacular picture.

The only form of lightning that does not register satisfactorily is sheet lightning. It merely uniformly illuminates a broad expanse of sky. With this kind of lightning, however, interesting silhouettes of trees and buildings can be secured.

And while discussing sheet lightning, photographers must be heeded. Moonlight should not be overlooked. Moonlight will serve to make pictures just as sunlight does, but as it is a great many times weaker than sunlight, exposures must be increased considerably. Perhaps the simplest way to calculate a moonlight exposure is to give 25 minutes for each 1/100 second exposure that would be given the same scene by sunlight.

For example, the exposure in bright sunlight for a landscape with a dark-toned object in the immediate foreground, would be 1/25 of a second, 8th stop f/11 or U.S.S. Then the exposure by the light of a full moon would be 100 minutes with the same stop. This could be cut down to 30 minutes with stop f/8 or U.S.S. For a landscape without a dark-toned object in the immediate foreground about 25 minutes with f/8 or U.S.S. would be ample, and for distant landscapes the exposure can be from 10 to 15 minutes.

If a daylight effect is desired, the exposure must be multiplied by four, and this applies only to nights when the sky is clear and the moon is full.

With a single lens and all fixed focus cameras, use the largest stop and double the exposures given above.

So—let the sky light your way to out-of-the-ordinary pictures.

Small space does it!

We can "locate" an extra bathroom complete in a space you never would believe could accommodate it so amply! Little actual space is needed. Little time for finishing all the work. Little actual investment in an added luxury and comfort which you've always wanted, is required. May we call and talk it over with you now while prices are low and on the advance.

RUNS IN STOCKINGS

It says in the New York Sun that the United States Bureau of Standards uses an improved machine for testing hosiery. This leads the New York Sun into a chaste little bit in its editorial columns upon runs in stockings. It seems that this machine "shows that laundering, dyeing, ageing, finishing and constructing, all have a great effect on the durability of the stockings on repeated distending." Thus, it appears, the researches of the bureau in knitting, degumming, dyeing, finishing, ageing, laundering, re-dyeing, re-finishing, etc., etc., are helpful on the great subject of runs in stockings. But the New York Sun thinks that when a woman discovers a run in her stocking she doesn't think of what the bureau is doing.

What we feel like saying about this is that, God bless our souls, how the times do change! The New York Sun could never have had an editorial bit about runs in stockings when it was young. Come to that, we couldn't have had an editorial bit about runs in stockings when we were young.

Runs in stockings was a subject that simply didn't arise in those days. The Courier wouldn't have known. Who would have known? Stockings were supposed to be out of mind then. We don't even know if they had runs in stockings then. But if they did have runs in stockings then, we'd bet they were out of sight anyhow.

THAT FRIDAY TREFIDATION

Not a newspaper in the province but will echo these sentiments as expressed by the editor of the Colman, Alta. Journal:

"A newspaper, even though it is a small country weekly, does not just happen, despite the general opinion that everyone can run a newspaper better than the fellow whose job it is to publish the news. Where we content to use the scissors and paste, we could escape a lot of pounding on the typewriter, but we would miss some mental exercise and a certain amount of pleasant entertainment. You may publish a newspaper for a whole year and write a lot of stuff outdugled from the dim recesses of a thick cranium and never know if anyone read it or not, but make one foolish slip or tread on someone's foot and then you soon find out if little hope.

people read the paper.

We remember one old fellow who climbed two flights of stairs to tell the editor he had used the word "done" instead of "did" in a sentence, as an object lesson to be careful what we put in the paper. That lesson stuck with us all through the years, and though we may have been guilty of many mistakes, both before and since, yet it was interesting to know that there is ever a vigilant eye which might swoop on peated distending. Thus, it appears, the small things that count, often more so than the big things. So, in newspaper publishing, you never know who is reading it. At one time we had quite a run on "bad breaks" unintentional, of course, and we used to keep out of the way for a half day after the paper was published. For Friday seemed to be the traditional unlucky day, but for quite a long time there hasn't appeared any one brandishing a club or a fist, or sweeping tears of indignation, or something we had written or said. We must be getting older and wiser, or people must have become peaceful or more indulgent."

"THERE IS NO GOD"

(New York World Editorial)
"Teacher, there is no God." "My child, there never was any God." This little colloquy, dimmed into the young mind day after day, is a regular part of the exercises for opening school in Chihuahua, Mexico, capital of a state bordering on the Rio Grande and near neighboring city to the United States—in this present year of 1935.

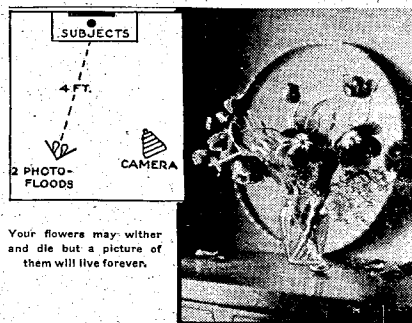

Such is the report of Frederick V. Williams, San Francisco newspaper man. Incredible the report seems, but it is well supported by others. "They have taken God out of the sky down there," Mr. Williams added in summary.

"There is no God," lisp the first rude tots in Chihuahua, progressively sealing their minds tighter against their old traditional Catholic faith, against the Protestant gospel, and all other religion likewise.

"There is no God," they repeat, drinking in the contagion of a bigotry as dark as was ever practised in the name of God or devil, as fanatical as was ever imagined by a whirling dervish of the desert. The new generation in Mexico, so far as the state can dictate to it, is growing up with a closed mind, and with little hope.

FLOWER PICTURES

Your flowers may wither and die but a picture of them will live forever.

IT WOULD be quite unusual to find a mother, wife or home-maker who hasn't a potted plant, vase of artificial flowers or an object of art in the house that for one reason or another has become the "favorite." Flowers are much like friends. You don't like and respect all of the friends you associate with socially or you wouldn't seek their companionship nor accept their hospitality. There is invariably, however, one or two you like particularly well. There is something about them that appeals to you. Their very presence cheers you. It may be their personality, their manner of speech, their consideration of others, even their idiosyncrasies or many other things referred to and classified under the small but greatly publicized word—"It."

We can't say that flowers have "life," but they do have a way of becoming a bright spot in our lives.

Why not keep a record of their growth and beauty with snapshots? You can take good pictures of flowers with any camera in the house or outdoors but today let's discuss pictures of flowers in the house.

Proper lighting is the foundation for good flower photography. It should be remembered that shadows are necessary to properly reproduce form in any graphic illustration. In outdoor photography natural lighting is depended upon so it is necessary to wait until the sunlight comes from the right direction to get the proper lighting for your subject. In this respect indoor picture taking has its advantages. You make and place your own lighting. As a general rule, bright direct overhead light is not desirable so the best results are obtained when lighting comes more from the sides so as to cast interesting, artistic shadows.

Successful flower photography has been made quite easy with the introduction of super sensitive panchromatic film. This film provides users of roll-film cameras with the advantages of extreme speed under artificial light and accurate color sensitivity heretofore available only in cut film and plates. This film, sensitive to all colors, records the various color tones more in the variation of brightness as seen by the eye.

The diagram above shows how the picture to the right was taken. It is best not to place lights directly in front of the subject for in doing so you will generally fail to get depth in the picture. You will notice that the tray, used effectively as a background, is tilted against the wall and not flat against it. By tilting the tray the shadow to the right is made possible and adds greatly to the depth and attractiveness of the picture.

As shown in the diagram, you will need two photo-flood lamps placed in an ordinary room lamp with the shade tilted slightly upward. If you cannot tilt the shade remove it entirely and hold a white cardboard, sheet or green or bright dishpan behind the lamps to serve as a reflector. You may want to do your own experimenting in the placing of the photo-flood lamps to get shadows that please you most.

After locating the subject in the finder set the diaphragm at f.6.3 and the shutter speed at 1/25 of a second and take your picture.

Your flowers may wither and die but the picture will live forever. JOHN VAN GUILDER

Feet in New Zealand, on the average, are broader than those of the average Canadian. The New Zealanders, it is claimed, are athletic from childhood, the children leading outdoor lives throughout the year and go barefooted a great deal of the time. For this reason wider heels are preferred. New Zealand, however, does not make the climate somewhat damp. The people, however, do not wear golf shoes or rubbers but go in for heavier soles on their boots and shoes. English patterns in shoes predominate. It would seem here is a market in New Zealand for Canadian shoes of character, style and good construction.
