The Town Plot is situated at the east of the township just within the entrance to Annapolis Basin, and twenty miles from Annapolis Town, and six miles across land from the head of St. Mary's Bay. This laid out from the water's edge, partly on level ground and partly on the declivity of a modern till, dry and pleasant, and having with an eastern aspect, a view of the Annapolis Basin and its cultivated shores for twenty miles in where it terminates with the Fort and River's mouth of that name. It was settled by Loyalists from New York in 1783, the most of whom went early to farms, or, moving to other countries, left the whole

There was a taste of trying to sell job printing outside the plant. Work was a little slack one early fall day and so "Mac" said to me, "how about trying your hand at taking orders for printed personalized Christmas cards?" I tried it, made several calls around town, spent most of the time at one particular

$84,000 Appropriated for Work in This County

Digby's Share Is $7,500—Tiverton, With $27,000, Has the Largest Appropriation
Other Places Named.

In the estimates of the Federal House, brought down last week, sums amounting to $84,200 were included for public works in this county. The largest estimate is for Tiverton where $27,000 will be spent for breakwater repairs. The estimated cost of a wharf extension at Meteghan is $16,500, while Digby's share amounts to $7,500 for wharf renewals and repairs. Following is the complete list:

Comeauville—Breakwater (revote) $14,000.

Digby—Wharf Repairs and Renewals, $7,500.

Meteghan—Wharf Extension, $16,500.

New Edinburgh—Breakwater Extension, $6,500.

Tiverton—Breakwater Repairs, $27,000.

Weymouth—Wharf Reconstruction, (revote), $7,500.

Hon. R. J. Manion says he received a letter from a 33-year-old Montserratian who said in part: "If this country is in danger I want to fight for it, but I don't want to fight for a lot of blood-sucking profiteers back home, for whom I would be risking my life." That's packing a lot of punch in a little space.

Tests New Diving Suit

His wife lights a cigarette for Cyril Von Baumann, traveller, lecturer and writer, as he completes an experimental dive in a New Jersey river, in which he used a new diving suit that requires no surface aid other than to be lowered and raised. A breathing mixture of oxygen and helium is used, precluding the use of an air line from the surface, while the special suit has been tested to withstand an external water pressure equal to that at a 2,000 foot level. Von Baumann hopes to explore the seas at greater depths and with more comfort and safety than is now possible.

German Technicians in Maritimes

Digby Will be Included in the Ports They Will Visit

It was understood last week that the party of eleven German technicians who left Montreal for eastern points, are seeking to buy 500,000 cords of pulpwood in the Province of New Brunswick.

The eleven Germans are connected with a German Company which has an office at Portland, Maine, and Montreal, and will be stationed at points in New Brunswick from which the pulpwood is expected. These men, it is understood, are classed technicians, but in reality are inspectors who examine the pulpwood as it is loaded on the ship at port.

These men will inspect the pulpwood and cut out what is not wanted and pay on the measurement submitted by them. They will also visit Nova Scotia, and it is expected that they will be in Saint John several days. Digby is included in their itinerary.

Gypsum Steamer Loads At Deep Brook

The steamer "Gypsum Empress", of the Gypsum Packet Fleet, docked at Deep Brook last week to take on a cargo of crude gypsum from the storage plant.

It is the first cargo taken from the storage plant in a number of years. Built after 1927, the storage sheds at Deep Brook were constructed to provide storage for summer-produced gypsum from Wentworth so that cargoes to United States ports could go forward in winter as well as summer.

The tug "Otis Wack", which was at Parrsboro, after spending the winter in Saint John, and being fitted with a new tail shaft, came to Deep Brook to assist in docking the steamer, and has been docking in Digby.

of its introduction was opportune from his own point of view.

The debate on the trade treaty was finally concluded on Wednesday, and a bill embodying the treaty and its schedules was passed through the House. The vote on the treaty was, yeas, 158; nays, 32. Considerable progress was made, too, with the Defence Purchasing Board bill.

The annual debate on the issue of Nova Scotia trawler licences came on Tuesday, and a lengthy debate on a proposed amendment to the Pensions Act, abolishing the Appeal Board and extending the time for pension applications.

Measures to be taken up during the remainder of the session include bills respecting live stock and live stock products, cheese and cheese factory improvements, agricultural products, co-operative marketing, cattle and beef marketing, and the constitution of a salt fish board.

Ottawa, April 1, 1939.

THE WEEK IN PARLIAMENT

By S. P. W.

Old soldiers, they say, never die. Perhaps the same may be said of conscription as an issue in Canadian politics; but the most determined effort has been made this week by both Mr. King and Mr. Manion to kill conscription as an issue in peace time. It is interesting to compare their statements Mr. Manion said on Thursday: "The policy that I suggest is... first, that there should be no conscription of Canadians to serve outside the borders of Canada." And Mr. King: "The present government believes that conscription of men for overseas service would not be necessary or an effective step. Let me say that so long as this government may be in power, no such measure will be enacted. We have full faith in the readiness of Canadian men and women to rally for the defence of their country and their liberties and to resist aggression by any country seeking to dominate the world by force. There is in our people, in every part of Canada, a deep sense of duty, a power of facing realities, a tenacious courage, that would rise to any emergency."

It is impossible to summarize adequately the debate on external affairs which took place on Thursday and Friday and will continue on into next week. The speeches of many of the debaters are, it is not too much to say, masterpieces of thought and language, and should be carefully studied by all Canadians. Notable speakers were Mr. King and Mr. Manion, Mr. Lapointe and Mr. Cahan. There seem to be no outstanding differences of opinion. Trying times are ahead. War is not inevitable, but the decision as to whether or not peace shall prevail may not be of our making. It is idle to make decisions based on hypothetical future cases. Canada must act as a united people. She must share her responsibilities as a democratic nation, as a partner in the Empire. The grave problems with respect to the extent of her assistance and the form it shall take can only be faced as they arise in specific circumstances.

Some brief sentences from Mr. King's speech may leave readers with a desire to study the whole debate: "We should be on our guard against reckless rumors and the credulous acceptance of rumors." "We must not permit ourselves to drift into a fatalist and defeatist mood." "It is not a breakdown of civilization with which the world is faced; it is a period of profound readjustments." "We are living in one of those decisive periods of human history when new forces gather momentum and break through the crust of custom, when new tendencies develop with startling speed." "There is among the peoples a passionate desire for peace." "There is a deep difference between the democratic and the totalitarian states. Neither type can at present expect the other to abandon the way of life that seems good to it. That difference, fundamental and important, a sit is, that rivalry, inevitable as it may be, does not mean that a decision must be sought on the field of battle. War would settle nothing, prove nothing, help nothing. The decisive test which faces both democracies and dictatorships is the task that faces them at home." "Countries, like our own, which have chosen the democratic way, must be prepared to stand up for their ideals."

In the midst of this debate in the hour on Friday evening reserved for private members' bills, Mr. Thorson, of Selkirk, in Manitoba, introduced his bill "respecting the status of Canada in time of war." He would have it enacted that Canada should not assume the status of belligerent otherwise than by a declaration of war made by His Majesty with specific reference to Canada and only on the advice of His Majesty's government in Canada. The adoption of his bill would raise many interesting legal and constitutional questions, one of them being that of the "divisibility" or not of the Crown. However, the bill was talked out. Mr. Thorson can hardly have thought that the time

Tiniest Feet

Our good neighbors to the south are always instituting a week devoted to something or other, and the latest is National Foot Health Week. In conjunction with this, the history-making announcement was made that the smallest feet in Hollywood are possessed by Joan Marsh, shown as she has them measured by foot specialist Dr. John M. Hiss. And girls... Dr. Hiss recommends Oxfords with 1 1/2-inch heels and balanced arches for you if you are on your feet most of the time.

Move to Curb Interest Rates of Loan Bodies

Masquerade No Longer Will Be Permitted—Loan Shares Will Be Curbed.

The government's intention that excessive interest rates shall no longer be permitted to masquerade in the money-lending business as various extra charges was clearly set forth in the Small Loans Bill introduced in the Senate.

First government measure to be introduced in the Senate this session, the bill would set a "cost" rate on loans of $500 or less of two per cent a month for a term of 15 months and a basic rate of one per cent for longer terms, with the provision that the term "cost" shall include interest and all other charges and shall be computed only on the amount actually advanced to the borrower. Compounding or computing of the rate in advance would be strictly prohibited.

Money lenders whose charge on loans exceeded 12 per cent a month must obtain a license from the government and all acts of parliament incorporating small loan companies shall be repealed or amended to conform to the provisions of the present bill. Money-lenders and small loan companies shall both be required to make annual statements to the government on their activities and to facilitate any examination of their books and activities as the Dominion Superintendent of Insurance may require.

Agents Support Maritime Industry

Recent customers of the local Simpson's store have been given free of charge a can of Mephisto peas. There's a little story attached to the gifts.

At a recent conference in Halifax, of district managers of Simpson's stores, one of the problems discussed was the necessity of keeping alive Maritime industries. One company in particular, was mentioned as a case in point, the manufacturers of Mephisto peas, canned at Pictou, and recently fallen upon hard times as a result of competition from Upper Canada.

As a result of the discussions, Simpson's agents, none of whom are in the grocery business, were supplied with a case of these peas each with instructions to give a can to each customer, the idea being to introduce to Maritimers a Maritime product they may not have heard of before.

We have sampled these peas and they are as good as any Upper Canadian product. The aim is to support local industries and to keep money at home.

The United Church of Canada continues to expand in the Maritime Provinces and fifty-seven students are applying for work on student fields, according to a report of Rev. W. S. Godfrey, Superintendent of Missions for the Conference. Despite the difficulties of the past year, three new fields in the Conference became self-supporting while others amalgamated, effecting a considerable saving without disturbing the effectiveness of the work.

SCHOOL HOLDS EXHIBIT

The Manual Training Class of the Digby Academy were sponsors of a manual training display and short programme in the Community Hall, Thursday evening. There was a good attendance, and the evening's programme was a splendid exemplification of the excellent progress that has been made in the Digby schools during the past few years.

The manual training display was the first of its kind in the history of the academy, this branch of study having only been inaugurated at the beginning of the present school year, with Baden Jewell as instructor.

P. W. Holdsworth, chairman of the school board, was chairman and he paid tribute to Mr. Powell and to the Domestic Science department of the school, which was also one of this year's additions. He pointed out that in the past a mistake had been made in the educational system—a system which, he said, trained scholars for a college course of which not more than two per cent were able to take advantage. The remaining 98 per cent—many of whom left school without going through high school—left with knowledge that was of little use to them in everyday work. Pupils are now being trained to use their hands as well as their minds.

The guest speaker of the evening was E. K. Ford, Mechanic Science Inspector for the province, who endorsed Mr. Holdsworth's remarks. He complimented Mr. Powell on his success, and commented very favorably on the exhibits, especially as they were the work of a group of boys from Grades V to X, who, prior to this term, were "not shopwise". He also pointed out that "it takes as much brains to be a good mechanic as to be a college professor", and stressed the importance of being able to work proficiently with the hands, emphasizing the fact that the majority of our schools would seek that kind of employment in their after school years, and pointing out that the mechanic science training was equally good for the boy who intended going through college as to the boy who was unable to take up further studies after high school. He also pointed out that in Nova Scotia since the Mechanic Science departments became more general in the schools of the province the number of pupils who continued through high school showed a big increase.

One of the most interesting features of the programme were the brief addresses given by boys of Grades X and VIII, and also by Grade IX later in the programme. These addresses covered a variety of subjects, and prizes were later awarded.

Speakers for Grade X were Teddy Walker, who spoke on "Storage Batteries"; Donald Rice, on "Aviation"; Harold Trask, on "Diesel Engines".

Grade VIII—Donald Humphrey, on "Air Travel"; Peter Humphreys, on the "S. S. Queen Elizabeth"; Carl Melanson, on "Frame-wood of a Building".

ALMOST CRIPPLED

WITH RHEUMATISM

Improved Greatly When He Tried Kruschen

There has come to our notice a case of grand relief from severe rheumatic pains. The seriousness of the man's condition and the step that led to his ultimate recovery, are described in the following letter:—

"For several years I suffered from rheumatism. I had all my teeth out, and still suffered. A year ago I lay in hospital for fourteen weeks, almost crippled. When I got home I continued to take medicine, but began to go down again. A friend of mine asked me to try Kruschen Salts, and I am very pleased to be able to say I have been on the mend ever since."—H. P.

Two of the salts in Kruschen are the most effectual solvents of uric acid known to medical science. They swiftly dull the sharp edges of the crystals—the cause of pain and stiffness—and often convert them into a harmless solution, which is then expelled through the natural channels.

NEW GLASGOW FRIENDS REGRET LADY'S DEPARTURE

Mrs. John Roop, of Bear River, who spent the winter in New Glasgow, left last week for Moncton, N. B. Mrs. Roop will spend about two weeks there and will also visit in Digby before returning to Bear River the first of May to open her home for the summer. Mrs. Roop takes an active interest in church and community work at home and enjoyed visiting church and other women's organizations in New Glasgow and seeing what they were doing. There were helpful exchanges and suggestions on some phases of matters of common interest. Mrs. Roop knew very few people when she arrived at New Glasgow. There were Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Robbins, Dr. Robbins, who is a native of Rossway, Digby Co., is a cousin; Principal and Mrs. J. E. Steadman and Miss Agnes Waring, pastor of Second Baptist Church. Through them and at the home of Miss Julia Cameron, where she stayed, she met many who became fast friends and who, with them, regret her going and are hoping she may decide to return in the autumn to spend the winter in that town.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

On Monday afternoon the Women's Institute held their regular April meeting in the Masonic Building, with eighteen members and six guests present, and the President, Mrs. Romans, in the chair. Included in the business session was the report of the Education and Better Schools Committee, who have just completed eleven weeks of serving hot cocoa at Oakdene School. Plans were made for a Rummage Sale to be held in May.

Miss Phyllis Harris was guest speaker of the Institute for the day, and after thanking the Institute for enabling her to take the short course, recently given at Truro, she gave a very comprehensive report of that course, and the knowledge and benefits she had received from it.

A social hour then followed during which tea was served. The women examined with great interest the gloves, slip, specimens of darning, mending and knitting, etc., exhibited by Miss Phyllis Harris, the very practical results of her short course.

The programme consisted of the following:—
Opening—Old Time Songs.
Orchestra selection.
Reading—Mrs. W. Morine.
Harmonica selection—Mrs. R. L. Roach.
Instrumental selection—Miss E. Morine.
Reading—Mrs. J. T. Davidson.
Trio—Mrs. Litchfield, Mrs. H. E. Harris, Mrs. Roach.
Guitar Solo—Hoyt Purdy.
Solo—"Mother Machree" by Fred R. Harris.
Recitation—Mrs. A. B. Campbell.
Orchestra.
Solo and Chorus—"Home on the Range" by Mrs. Roach.
Reading—Mrs. Croscup.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Edward Rafuse

The death of Mrs. Edward Rafuse occurred Saturday evening, March 25, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Darras, of Victoria, where she had been tenderly cared for, during her long illness. Deceased was the oldest resident of that village, and would have been 92 on April 3rd. She was born in Lunenburg, daughter of the late Edward and Annie Kaulbach, and came to Victoria among the earliest settlers, where she had since resided and was affectionately known to all as "Aunt Eliza". Mrs. Rafuse married three times, her first husband being James McLean. From this union there were two sons, David, living in Carleton, Yarmouth Co.; and James, deceased. Later she married Stephen Ramey. In 1888 she married Edward Rafuse, who mourns the passing of a companion of fifty years. The funeral was held from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Darras, on Monday afternoon, conducted by Rev. A. W. L. Smith, of Clementsport, with burial in the Victoria Cemetery.

Mrs. Ellen Mussels

The death of Mrs. Ellen Mussels, widow of the late William Mussels, took place at the Tewksbury, Mass., Hospital, on March 26, at the age of 96 years. The deceased was formerly Miss Ellen Halliday, of Hillsburn, Annapolis County, a member of a family of fourteen, a sister and brother survive, Mrs. Rachel Haynes, of Victoria Beach, and Joel Halliday, of Granville Beach. She is also survived by two sons, Henry, of Massachusetts, and Frank, of Port Wade. Although unable to walk for the past few years, she enjoyed reading and writing to relatives, of which she did without the use of glasses. Funeral services took place at Tewksbury, Mass.

Mrs. John Ellis

The death of Mrs. John Ellis, of Victoria Beach, occurred at her home a short time ago, after a lingering illness. Mrs. Ellis was twice married, and besides her husband, she leaves to mourn their loss, five daughters and one son by a former marriage: Cora (Mrs. Forrest Mason), Ella (Mrs. Alvaro Edmund), Greta (Mrs. Ward Manning), and Harry Stalling, all of Massachusetts; Mrs. Alton Ritchie, of Moncton; and Mrs. Loran Clayton, of Young's Cove; five sisters and three brothers, also seven step-children survive, three daughters and four sons. The funeral services were held from Victoria Beach Baptist Church with interment in the Victoria Beach Cemetery. The floral tributes were many and beautiful. The service was conducted by Rev. Walter Wood.

William F. Curphey

There entered into rest, Thursday morning, March 30, William Frederick Curphey, 77, following a long period of ill health. Mr. Curphey was born at Loders Rectory, Dorset, England, son of the late Rev. Wm. Thomas and Jane Curphey. He was a man of wide experience, having travelled to many parts of the world. For fifty years he had resided in Canada, settling first in Quebec City. On his retirement from business, he came to the Maritimes, and had resided in Deep Brook 17 years. Surviving are the widow, (nee Violet Oakes), one daughter, Esther, wife of Thomas Forrestall, of Middleton; two sons, George, at home; and William Christian, of Toronto; four sisters, Miss Mona Curphey, Cheyne Walk, Chelsea, London; Mrs. Margaret Burland, wife of Rev. William Burland, "Washington Hall", Washington, D.C.; Mrs. Mabel Curphey, same address; Mrs. Eva Beck, wife of Capt. Lawrence Beck, "Paramatta", Northwood, London; also three little grandchildren.

The Use of poor seed from year to year causes the farmers of Nova Scotia heavy annual losses by low yields and low quality of grains, etc. A seven-year survey of seed used by our farmers showed far too large a proportion of low-grade seed being used.

Home-Grown Seed—Home-grown seed should be used only when it has proved out over a period of years and is regularly tested for germination.

Purchased Seed—Where seed must be purchased, only graded seed should be bought. The Grades, in order of quality, are Registered Nos. 1, 2 and 3; Certified Nos. 1 and 2, and Commercial Nos. 1, 2 and 3.

Potato Seed—Potato production is growing in Nova Scotia. But use of Certified Seed is the only safe way of avoiding "wilt" and other diseases that are becoming a serious menace to potato crops throughout Canada.

Clover Seed—Far too little clover seed is being sown in Nova Scotia. Both red clover and alsike seed are plentiful and cheap this season. Plan to sow more clover this spring.

The Field Crops Branch of the Department of Agriculture is at the service of every Nova Scotia farmer for reliable and up-to-date information on varieties and quality of seed.

BEAR RIVER PEOPLE HEAR PAPER ON SHAKESPEARE

Mrs. W. H. Robbins, Convenor of the Arts and Letters Club, of the Local Council of Women, of New Glasgow, repeated her paper on "Shakespeare," "the man and his times," at the regular monthly meeting of the Club, held at the home of Mrs. J. E. Steadman, recently.

Mrs. Robbins' paper was a gem and the repetition was for the benefit of many unable to be present last month, owing to weather conditions. Those who had already heard it were even more enthusiastic in their praise of what they had enjoyed so much before. Mrs. Robbins first gave a history of the growth of the drama, a big study in itself. She then took her listeners on a pilgrimage to Stratford-on-Avon, birthplace of William Shakespeare, national poet of England and greatest dramatist that modern Europe has produced. In imagination they visited his home, now a museum, the grammar school, Ann Hathaway's cottage, and his burial place in the church of the parish church. Mrs. Robbins' description of Warwickshire, the heart of England, which was such a strong inspiration to the genius of this master-singer of the world, was superb. Shakespeare's move to London; his active dramatic career and his marvellous works were dealt with in fascinating style. Following the meeting a social hour was spent and refreshments were served. Mrs. Robert MacDonald extended an invitation to the Club to meet at her home next month. Mrs. William Cossaboom, of Smith's Cove, Mrs. Steadman's mother; and Mrs. Roop, of Bear River, who is also spending the winter in New Glasgow, were interested visitors.

How the Depression Affects the Business World

There was a man who lived by the side of the road and he sold hot dogs. He was hard of hearing so he had no radio. He had trouble with his eyes so he read no newspapers. But he sold good hot dogs. He put signs up on the highway telling how good they were. He stood on the side of the road and announced his wares. And people bought. He increased his meat and bun orders. He bought a bigger stove, to take care of his trade. He finally got his son home from college to help him.

But then something happened. His son said: "Father, haven't you been listening to the radio? Haven't you been reading the newspapers? There's a big depression on. The European situation is terrible. The domestic situation is worse. Everything's going to pot."

Whereupon the father thought, "Well, my son's been to college. He reads the newspapers and he listens to the radio and he ought to know." So the father cut down on his meat and bun orders, took down his advertising signs, and no longer bothered to stand out on the highway to sell his hot dogs. And his hot dog sales fell overnight. "You're right, son," the father said to the boy. "I certainly am in the middle of a great depression."

Served Canada for Three Hundred Years.

The Canadian flour and feed milling industry which has existed to meet the country's domestic needs for more than 300 years is one of the Dominion's oldest manufactures but it is only within recent years that its progress has become spectacular. The demand created by the World War gave a great impetus to the trade. The 335 flour mills, many of them of the most modern type and highest efficiency, have a capacity far in excess of Canada's demands and during 1928 reached a productive capacity of 121,000 barrels per day. Since then, the industry has been affected by the difficulties besetting the grain trade and the decline in grain prices, but in spite of that Canada continues to be one of the world's leading exporters of wheat flour.

For selling strawberry jam of low content, and the label not showing the manufacturer's address, a vendor was fined $25 and $10 costs recently at Toronto. He sold the jam to a Toronto produce firm.

TEACHERS MEET IN WEYMOUTH

A joint meeting of the Digby local Teacher's Union and the Teacher's Get-Together Club, was held in the Weymouth High School on Saturday afternoon. At the meeting of the Local, at which Carroll Snell of Weymouth North, Vice-President, presided, the membership was raised to 25, and Miss O'Brien, of Digby, was appointed a delegate to attend the meeting of the Nova Scotia Teacher's Union, being held at the Lord Nelson Hotel, Halifax, this week end. Considerable time was spent in the discussing of resolutions.

At the meeting of the club, the routine business was followed by preliminary arrangements being made for the final examinations. The meeting closed with the serving of supper. The May meeting will be held at Weymouth North, and the June meeting at Marshalltown.

Teachers present included: Mrs. Turnbull, Miss Mason and Miss O'Brien, of Digby; Mrs. Balser, of Acadville; Miss Longley and Miss Gidney, of North Range; Ernest Morrisey, of Marshalltown; Oliver Gibson and Miss Best, of Barton-Brighton; Mrs. Amoro, of Plympton Station; Miss Durkee, of Weymouth Point; Carroll Snell of Weymouth North; Mr. Cameron, of Waterford; Galen Pierce and the Misses Payson, Sabine and Comeau, of Weymouth.

FOUR GENERATIONS

Four generations are: Mrs. Celestin LeBlanc, aged 80; her daughter, Mrs. Enos C. Deveau (Leotist), her grand-daughter, Mrs. Adolphe P. Deveau, and her great grand-daughter, Litta Anita Deveau, all of Salmon River, Clare.

Mrs. LeBlanc, whose maiden name was Miss Vitaline Martin, is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Martin, of Salmon River, Clare. She recently celebrated her 80th birthday.

Her grandfather was the late Cyprien Martin, one of the old settlers of Salmon River. It was he who gave the land for St. Vincent de Paul Cemetery down by the river, and was the first one to be buried there, some 65 years ago.

Leather Manufacture

Old Canadian Industry.

Cattle hides comprise the principal material used in the Canadian tanning industry, which is now one of the chief manufacturing industries in the Dominion. Approximately 70 per cent of the cattle hides come originally from Canadian farms, the remainder being imported. A similar percentage applies to the next important material "calf and kid skins", while sheep skins usually attain a fifty-fifty split, fifty per cent Canadian and fifty per cent imported. According to the latest statistics the total number of hides and skins used in the industry in 1937 was 3,475,801, of which 2,313,077 were Canadian and 1,159,824 of foreign origin.

The first record of the tanning industry in Canada relates to two establishments, one at Quebec City and the other at Montreal which were commenced at the instigation of the Intendant, Talon (1655-1672). Before his departure to Louis XIV as follows: "I have this year caused to be manufactured out of the wool shorn from the sheep sent by Your Majesty several kinds of cloth; our tanneries supply one-third of the leather required here, and at present I have Canadian fabrics to dress myself from head to foot."

The International Confederation of Agriculture has completed the final details in connection with the 18th International Congress of Agriculture which will be held in Dresden, Germany, from 6th to 12th June. The International Confederation of Agriculture represents the leading agricultural nations of the world and has been in existence for nearly fifty years. The first international congress was held in Paris on the occasion of the 1889 Paris World Exhibition. Since then a congress has been held every two years, the World War years excepted, in various cities of the world. The 1937 congress was held at The Hague, Holland.

JOGGIN BRIDGE

Arthur Dunn, who has been spending the winter in Melvern Square, is employed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Thomas.

Vote Money For Fisheries

Federal assistance for the promulgation of adult education along co-operative lines in connection with the fishing industry, was arranged for in supplementary estimates, when $50,000 were marked in the new fisheries estimates "to provide for the extension of educational work in the co-operative producing and selling among fishermen".

Other items of $500,000 and $200,000 respectively, provide for aid to fishermen in establishing or re-establishing themselves in the industry and to promote sale of their products at home and abroad.

The citation covering the $500,000 item reads: "to enable aiding fishermen, groups of fishermen and others to establish or better establish themselves in the industry".

The $200,000 item provided "aid in expanding the sale of Canadian fisheries in foreign and domestic markets."

NEW TUSKET

Miss Glenice Wagner, who has spent four weeks at the home of C. F. Sabean, has returned to her home in Southville.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Ida Bell Smith

Mrs. Ida B. Bell Smith, 75, passed away on Monday afternoon, at her home, at Weymouth. She had been in poor health for the past year. Born at Weymouth Mills, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. Gates, she had resided at Weymouth since her marriage to the late Isaiah Smith. Surviving her are two sons, Ralph, of New York; and Harold, of Saskatchewan, and four daughters, Mrs. Kettleberger, of New York; Mrs. Charles Ladd, Cambridge, Mass.; Mrs. Brunell, Malden, Mass.; Mrs. Chas. Journeay, at home; also a number of grandchildren and three great grand-children; two sisters, Mrs. V. Goodwin and Mrs. Thomas Robinson, of Boston, also survive. The funeral was conducted by Rev. C. U. MacNevin, with interment in the United Church Cemetery.

Joseph A. Robichaud

Sunday evening, March 26, Joseph A. Robichaud died at the residence of his brother, Elie Robichaud, with whom he was living, in Meteghan, after a lingering illness, aged 77 years. His wife Marie Robichaud, predeceased him many years ago. Six brothers and one sister survive: Reni, Rockland, Maine; Stanislas, Ipswich, Mass.; Luc, Saulnierville; Augustin, Ed-die and Elie, of Meteghan; and Mrs. Alfred Melanson, (Marie Jane) of Lowell, Mass. The funeral service took place from the Stella Maris Church, of Meteghan, Tuesday morning, at 8 o'clock. Rev. Father Bourneuf officiating.

Jack Sherman Mullen

The death of Jack Sherman Mullen, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Mullen, occurred at the home of his parents on Sunday, March 26, at the age of 5 months, death being caused by pneumonia. The funeral was held on March 28, with interment in the New Tusket Baptist Cemetery, Rev. Mr. Robinson officiating. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of their many friends and neighbours in the loss of their only child.

SCHOOL HOUSE IS BURNED TO GROUND

The school house at Mayflower, was burned to the ground on March 31, about 6 o'clock p. m. The teacher had left the school at 3.30 and there were just a few embers in the stove.

It seems that the fire started upstairs. When discovered it was beyond control. A few desks and books were saved. The school had been built about 1870 and was an old landmark. A few years ago it had been completely renovated, both inside and out. This will be a great loss to the community. Miss Alzora Soud, the present teacher, was again engaged for the next school year.

ABOUT THEIR CHILDREN

No child with defective vision has a greater chance in the battle of life. A scientific examination of children's eyes, such as we make, is a sure way to determine whether they have normal vision. Children who require glasses should have the benefit of the very newest scientific development—CORRECTAL Lenses. They give clear, undistorted vision over the entire surface of the lens so that there is accurate vision even at the very edge.

Granville Ferry

Mrs. Ralph Chisholm entertained at three tables of Rook on Tuesday evening of last week.

Mrs. A. D. Amberman, of Middleton, spent Sunday with her daughter, Mrs. J. A. Ruffee and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mason, who have been living here the past three months, moved to Digby on Saturday, April 1st.

Dr. and Mrs. Earl Messinger, who were former residents of this place, visited relatives and friends in the village on Sunday.

Members of the fire department were called out Sunday morning for a chimney fire at the home of Horace Mills.

Rev. and Mrs. N. Cole, accompanied by Mrs. William Patterson, visited Mr. Patterson, who is a patient in the Middleton Hospital, on Friday of last week.

At the United Church here on Sunday evening, Rev. N. Cole received ten new members in the church, several of which, received Baptism. During the evening two duets were rendered: "Alone" sung by Mrs. K. L. Oliver and J. Elmer Dunn, and "The Psalms" sung by Mrs. L. Hood and Mrs. Mrs.

The Eastern Coastal Steamship Company's new vessel, the Standard Coaster, is now on the route between Saint John and Annapolis Basin ports, made her first round trip this week.

J. A. Ruffee. At the close of the very impressive service, Holy Communion was administered.

Robert Mills, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mills, left for Sudbury, Ontario, on Tuesday of last week, where he will take a position as cornet player in the Band there. Robert started playing the cornet at the age of nine years, and when eleven years old began playing with the Annapolis Royal Band (of which his father was a member) and which was under the direction of Bandmaster, Charles Chesterman, who also gave Robert cornet lessons; for some eight years he has assisted his grandfather, LeBaron Mills, with the music at the Baptist Church, and at the close of the regular church service held in that church, on Sunday morning, March 26, Rev. Walter Wood presented Robert with a Waterman's pen and pencil set, on behalf of the congregation, and in appreciation of his faithful services. His many friends wish him continued success.

HECTANOOGA

Eddie V. Deveau, C. L. Deveau and J. A. Deveau were at Salmon River over the week end where they attended the ceremonies of Palm Sunday, at St. Vincent de Paul Church.

C. L. Deveau was in Corberrie on Monday, on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Sylvain Melanson left Tuesday for Little Brook to spend the Easter holidays with their son, Bowman.

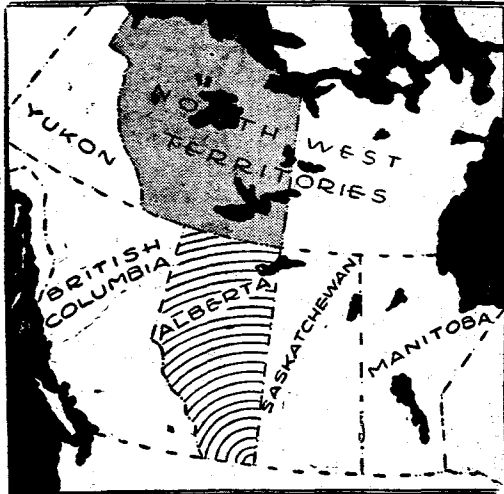

Ernest Thibault has returned from Caribou Plain, where he has been employed with his oxen, since December.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Gaudet, of Meteghan Station, arrived Tuesday to spend Easter with her mother, Mrs. Alice Deveau.

The reports are that the R. C. M. P. were making a raid in a house in a certain village of Clare. They had searched the house from top to bottom, but without avail. On leaving the house, however, the dog started ahead and made for the woods near by. The officers followed him and he lead them to the cache where there were two jugs of the precious (?) stuff. Not too bad for a dog, if the story is true.

Proposed Extension of Alberta

Sponsored by Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of works in Alberta, a move to increase the size of the most westerly of the prairie provinces will be taken up with the federal government, by the government of Alberta. The proposal, as it stands at present, is to extend the provincial borders so that part of the Northwest Territories between the boundary of the Yukon and the present Alberta-Saskatchewan border, extended north, would become part of Alberta. The map shows the area, approximately 500,000 square miles in size, involved and its relation to the rest of that section of Canada. The resolution of the Alberta legislature stated that the mineral and other resources of the part of the Northwest Territories in question could be better developed if the land was controlled from Edmonton, rather than Ottawa. In the past there have been moves made to have British Columbia annex the Yukon, but little came of them.

Ramblings Of A Rolling Stone

A feeling composed of about equal parts of contempt, pity and amusement might be a fairly correct description of the reaction of the majority of us when we read of the poor, benighted heathen whose pathway through life seems to be beset on all sides by fears which, while very real to him, seem to us to be of so trivial a nature as scarcely to merit consideration. The power to work evil which he ascribes to the witch doctor and the obi man added to those things which are declared to be taboo make the earthly sojourn of the jungle dweller a distinctly unpleasant one.

We laugh at his superstitions; we marvel at his credulity; we pity his ignorance; we wish that in some way we might aid in lifting him out of that condition of mental slavery and moral degeneracy which seems to us such a loathsome one. The clay image into whose earthen breast the witch doctor has thrust the thorns; the colored rags tied across the pathway; the bunch of blood stained feathers which some enemy has caused to be placed in his wretched dwelling place; become in his eyes the personification of evil forces from which death is the only escape.

We call it foolishness, and so it is; but, after all, are the so-called civilized people free from everything which might be included under the general head of "superstition"? How about the red string tied around the neck or wrist as a preventative of "nose bleed"? What about the more widespread belief in the "unlucky thirteen"? How many people can put a suffering cat out of its misery without the direst forebodings? Who wears the bent horseshoe nail on his finger or carries either a potato or a horse chestnut in his pocket as a sovereign remedy for a preventative of rheumatism? Who are the people who fear to see the new moon through glass or get the first glimpse of the golden crescent over the left shoulder?

When we take into consideration the opportunities that are ours and which the savage races do not enjoy one is forced to conclude that the fetish worshiper has more excuse for his ridiculous beliefs than we have for those which we so fondly cherish.

Not only do we have those things which are taboo, but we, or some of us at least, believe in the powers of the witch doctor. The left hind foot of a graveyard rabbit killed on the dark of the moon is a well known guard against evil; but how many of us know that a solitary vigil in a cemetery "on the dark of a moon" will bring "ere morning breaks, the fulfillment of those desires which are uppermost in our hearts? I have been told by one who claimed to know that such a vigil took place no more than a few years ago.

It was on the Ark of the moon, the "sign" was right; all the necessary incantations had been made; night came and the expectant swain began his lonely vigil in a graveyard near his home. He waited while the silent planets rose and set; the twinkling stars wheeled round the circle centered by the polar star. The eerie hour of midnight came and went; the cock crew and the east grew bright with streamers red and gold. The glory of the coming king of day. Once only had the stillness of that summer night been broken. A homeless cat had given vent to all the pent-up longings of its soul in one blood curdling wail. The vigil would have ended then and there had the subject of this story been able to get away; but he was as securely held by fear as though he were at one with those who slept beneath those grass-grown mounds.

Morning found anger and disappointment raging in his breast. He went not homeward but his footsteps turned toward the dwelling place of him who promised largely, but performed so ill. When confronted with the evidences of the utter failure of the enterprise, he who had boasted so loudly of his mystic powers, declared that another and more urgent demand had been made upon him and his efforts to summon the sheeted wanderers from their midnight revels he had forgotten the lonely keeper of the trust that failed.

However, as a partial atonement for having been negligent in the fulfilling of the obligation which his promise had placed upon him, he offered to compound a love philter of wondrous efficacy. No member of the fairer sex could possibly resist its allurements. The poor duke accepted this as a sort of token payment for the horrors he had been subject too and in the course of a few days found himself in possession of about a half pail of reddish coloured powder, plus the directions for using it.

A young lady, for whose smiles our hero long had yearned, was chosen as the most fitting testing ground for the magic compound. "The best laid plans of mice and men gang oft a-glee." Pouring a little of the precious dust into the palm of his hand, the love smitten "gawk" gently blew it in the general direction of the well-loved face. The effect was astounding. In one brief moment those eyes which should have gleamed with love's soft light, were dimmed with tears; that fair, sweet face, became a mask distorted and grotesque—and then a sneeze which shook her as the quaking earth shakes in her restlessness.

Horror and dismay were written on the love-lorn face of him who had loved well if not wisely. This tragic end of love's sweet dream might have had a sort of a Medusa like effect had not the fair recipient of this misdirected affection recovered from the shock and with some well-placed strokes of deftly wielded broom stick, filled to overflowing our hero's stirrup cup with grief and pain.

"The Dawn Patrol" a New Aviation Story, at the Capitol

Relates the Typical History of a Squadron of the British Royal Flying Corps During Fatal Period of 1918.

"The Dawn Patrol" Warner's new aviation story, has its first local showing Monday at the Capitol Theatre. A full-bodied action drama—it marks the return of Errol Flynn to the adventurous type of role which made him famous. "The Dawn Patrol" is a story of British wartime aviation, a moving and exciting compound of the pitiful, heedless gallantry of youth and the calmer courage of maturity.

It relates the typical history of a squadron of the British Royal Flying Corps during a few fatal months of 1918—a period when the average life of combat pilots was only four and one-half flying hours. It was a time when raw and hastily trained recruits were, in a constant, deadly chain, sent forth to almost certain death as soon as they reported for service.

It tells particularly the stories of the only two well-trained and comparatively veteran pilots in the outfit, Courtney and Scott, played respectively by Flynn and David Niven. Genuine buddies for a long time, the pair become implacable enemies when Courtney, duty-bound to do so as the commander of the squadron, orders a slot of a group of novice flyers among whom is Scott's beloved younger brother. The boy does not return from his first dawn patrol and Scott is unable to forgive his erstwhile pal.

Courtney, however, eventually attempts to make up with his old buddy when the latter has been chosen to undertake a solo bombing mission far behind the German lines, from which it seems impossible that he can return alive. As commander Courtney cannot himself volunteer for the flight, but he gets Scott drunk and then, against all the rules of the service, takes off himself on the hazardous mission.

Some of the greatest aerial warfare scenes ever filmed show Courtney beating a swarm of German pursuers to his objective, blowing up a train, a munitions factory and acres of ammunition dumps, and then trying to wing his way homeward through the encircling net of German planes.

In addition to Flynn and Niven, the remarkable all male cast includes Basil Rathbone, Donald Crisp, Melville Cooper, Barry Fitzgerald, Carl Esmond, Peter Willes, Morton Lowry, James Burke and Michael Brooks (the Earl of Warwick).

Enrollment now being made. All as above may enroll with G. J. Parker, Secty Digby Branch Canadian Legion or J. W. Merkel at Post Office. Further particulars at place of enrollment.

At the March meeting of the Digby Town Council a motion was passed whereby the town would no longer be responsible for electric light used by the Scout (Community) Hall, formerly the Digby Presbyterian Church. The passing of this motion was hardly considered an important item at the meeting when it was expressed that whereas the Hall received rental fees for amateur plays, concerts, etc., and that the Hall is used to a large extent by the Badminton Club, the members of which pay annual dues, there should be sufficient revenue for the Hall to pay its own electric light bills. Other citizens of the town think differently than the town fathers on this matter, and to date more than one town councillor has been given a lecture on the subject, and at the present time it seems quite possible the matter will be the subject of a lively discussion at the April meeting of the council. In other words, indications are that those in charge of the Scout Hall are determined to "fight for their lights."

Canada's new airmail stamp has occasioned strong criticism. Protests from Quebec and the Maritime Provinces are being received in Ottawa. The stamp has this legend: "Trans-Canada Airmail, Vancouver-Toronto." The eastern provinces resent being left out of the picture. But why the displeasure and sense of injustice? Surely, it is not common knowledge that in the east, nothing outside of Toronto matters very much, while out west Vancouver blandly assumes the overlordship of everything that side of the Great Lakes.

The very principles of democracy were flouted in Nova Scotia recently when some young men of Amherst were threatened with dismissal if they carried through their plans of having Alderman Gough of Halifax, speak to them on secession. The right of free speech was denied these men, but despite this fact they are determined to carry through with their original plans. These young men were not supporting the secession movement, but were merely curious to know if this could have any remedies for the economic ills besetting Nova Scotia. And because they were curious and wishing to better their province, they are threatened by persons who are too narrow minded to even listen to and judge other opinions. Free speech has long been the corner stone of democracy, and now this principle is becoming violated. Hitler like tactics in this country are not approved. All are privileged to listen to anyone they wish to, and allowed to think as they please. Without that privilege men are merely slaves.

Commenting on our article re the price paid for liquor in Digby Town and County during the past year, a Deep Brook farmer, who visited our office on Saturday, tells of being accosted on a Digby street quite recently, by a man "who smelt strongly of liquor" who begged him for a quarter. The farmer states he told the man he would not give him money as he suspected he would use it for drink, but he said "if you are hungry, come across the street with me to the restaurant and I will see that you get a meal." The beggar refused the offer, and the last the farmer saw of him, he was leaning against the door post of the liquor store, apparently "anxiously waiting." Drunken—and half-drunken beggars are not at all uncommon in Digby. Perhaps they are harmless, but, they certainly leave strangers with a poor impression of our town.

"Incorporated 1890" is the inscription on the Digby Town seal. A few years ago Digby passed up a splendid opportunity to observe in a fitting way the 150th anniversary of the founding of our town by the United Empire Loyalists. Let's begin making our plans to really observe the 50th anniversary of the incorporation of our town. It can be done.

The Schwarze Korps, official organ of the Hitler Elite Guard, recently carried an article making Great Britain a really handsome offer of co-operation. The "two white nations", it said, meaning Germany and Britain, could dictate the peace of Europe and even dominate the whole world. Britain's right in such a partnership is based on the ancient blood relationship of the English and German peoples. "Germany is historically Britain's big brother," the article explains. "and as such cannot forever tolerate the whining and complaints of its little brother. Only by the excellence of

By S. P. W.

The parliamentary week ending on April 8 was a short week. Good Friday being a holiday. The first two days of the week were largely devoted to a continuation of the debate on External Affairs, referred to in this column last week. In the debate Mr. Wilfrid Lacroix (Quebec-Montmorency), proposed that before Canada decided to participate in an external war by sending a contingent overseas, a referendum should be held. This is, no doubt, an opinion widely held by some sections at least of the French-Canadian people. The debate was finally concluded on Tuesday and the house moved into committee of supply, to consider estimates of the Department of External Affairs, the department headed by the Prime Minister.

This year, for the first time, estimates will appear providing for the establishment of a Canadian legation to Belgium and Holland jointly. This is regarded by many as the first step in a proposed general expansion of Canada's foreign services; as a further assumption by Canada of her growing responsibilities in the world of today.

On Tuesday was also continued on the bill proposing the abolition of the Pension Appeal Board.

On Wednesday Mr. Gardiner, in introducing a resolution for assistance to farmers in emergent conditions, included with it another measure designed to encourage the co-operative marketing of wheat by guaranteeing initial payment by co-operative associations. He said that these would form the basis of a permanent policy for western agriculture, giving the farmer assistance when he needs it most.

Provision is made for a sixty cent per bushel initial payment on western wheat and a system of acreage insurance as a substitute for the present eighty cent guarantee. Mr. Gardiner felt that if the present policy were continued, the tendency would be to grow more wheat at the expense of coarse grains and live stock whereas the new plan will ensure a more equitable distribution of funds made available by the Treasury. The sixty cent rate is not a fixed price, but an assured amount per acre which farmers can get, and is based on the cost of production as estimated by the University of Saskatchewan.

Payment is to be made on half the cultivated acreage up to 200 acres, no matter what is grown, and wheat is used only as a means of determining the crop yield. This is designed to encourage summer fallow, grass growing and mixed farming. In emergency years, acreage payments are proposed of $1.00 an acre on half the cultivated acreage in all townships with an average yield of from eleven to fifteen bushels per acre; $2.00 on an average yield of from six to ten bushels; and $2.50 on an average yield of from nothing to five bushels. If the average market price is more than 70 cents, one-tenth will be taken off for every cent in excess of 70, and payment will cease altogether when the price reaches eighty cents. A charge of one percent is made on all grain which goes to the terminals, to form a fund for insurance purposes. In years of crop failure by drought or grass hopper, of calamity proportions, payments will be made in municipalities with an average yield of five bushels per acre or under at $2.50 an acre on half the cultivated acreage.

Mr. Gardiner explained that he wanted to establish a principle that could be applied to our agricultural problems throughout Canada, to be followed in dealing with all other branches of agriculture. He gave notice of two other resolutions to be introduced later this session, one of which is to encourage the improvement of cheese and cheese factories, and the other to encourage co-operative marketing of grain other than wheat, and of other agricultural products by guaranteeing initial payments of co-operative associations.

On Thursday, with the prospect of a short holiday before it, Parliament dealt with a great variety of measures. The Defence Purchasing Board Bill was passed and a number of resolutions were introduced and advanced to the bill stage. These included the measures debated on Wednesday, also an amendment to the Dairy Industry Act to provide for the constitution of an advisory committee and the proposed legislation for improvement of cheese and cheese factories (a) by grants in aid of the construction, reconstruction and equipment; of factories; (b) by grants in aid of insulating and refrigerating factory buildings and the purchase of certain equipment; and (c) the payment of a premium of two cents on the higher grade of cheese.

It is too early to say whether the House will be able to prorogue before the king's visit. Some observers believe that the shortness of the Easter recess (Friday and Monday only) indicates a determined effort to do so, and this belief is strengthened by the volume of business accomplished during the past short week and by the fact that the Prime Minister indicated on Thursday his intention of bringing in a motion for Wednesday evening sittings after next week.

Government Provides Many Jobs for Young Men

Various Projects Inaugurated Will Throw Open 400,000 Jobs Under the Dominion-Provincial Youth Training.

Inauguration of a series of public works projects to provide an estimated 400,000 jobs was requested recently of the Dominion Government by representative Canadian youths.

The request was contained in a resolution passed at a recent conference of farm youth, transients, trade unionists, university students, and other youth organizations sponsored by the Toronto Youth Council.

The proposal stipulated that the projects would provide low-cost housing and develop and conserve Canada's natural resources.

The city council and the Ontario government will also be asked to cooperate to the fullest extent with the Dominion in establishing such public works projects. The Ontario government in another resolution will be asked to institute a physical culture program of a non-military nature along with other recreational projects under the Dominion-Provincial Youth Training plan, because of the extent to which unemployment undermines the morale of youth.

The history and development of the Dominion-Provincial plan was traced by R. F. Thompson, Dominion supervisor, who said there are now 1,500 different types of projects in operation. In Nova Scotia and Quebec are two gold mines actually operated by youth in mining projects. Placement for youths trained in this work is practically 100 per cent, he remarked.

In Ontario of 1553 youths trained under this plan up to the end of January, 1125 have been placed in jobs, said J. F. Marsh, Deputy Minister of Labor of the Province, and 213 have been promised jobs as soon as they have finished their courses. Last year training was given to 2934 boys and girls, of whom 1474 were placed in employment.

An Opportunity for Young Men to Learn Farming.

A Two-Months' Short Course to be Held During May and June—Applications Now Being Received.

Young men of Nova Scotia, gainful occupation, and having an inclination to take up farming as a life work, will have opportunity of gaining instruction in the elements of good farming, in a two-months' short course at the Nova Scotia Agricultural College, at Truro, during May and June, according to an announcement by Hon. John A. McDonald, minister of agriculture.

The course, which will open on May 2nd and close June 30th, will be the first of its kind held in the province and will be open to all young men of the province between 18 and 30 years of age. It is part of the youth training movement, under the joint auspices of the provincial department of agriculture and the federal department of labor. Certain financial assistance will be provided approved candidates for the course. Applications are now being received through local agricultural representative or direct to the department of agriculture at Halifax or Truro.

Instruction will be given at this course in all branches of farming, with emphasis on farm management, soils and crops, care and feeding of livestock, farm mechanics, poultry raising, fruit and vegetable gardening, and bee keeping.

"We are anxious to provide a real opportunity for those young men who are seriously inclined to take up farming, to get a good grounding in the sound farm practices," said Hon. Mr. McDonald. "This course will give that opportunity. The staff of the department and agricultural college will be available for instruction during the course, and everything possible will be done to make it interesting and instructive. This plan is in line with the efforts being made by both governments to make it possible for young men to learn gainful occupations, and to assist them to a position in life where they will be able to maintain themselves, and take their proper place as citizens."

"Buys" Actor

To paraphrase an old proverb, "One girl's attack of measles is another girl's good luck," or so it turned out for pretty June Brody, of Dodge City, Kansas. When Earl Flynn, one of the screen's leading feminine heart-throbs, paid a visit to Dodge City, a young women's business club staged a raffle to see who would have the honor of entertaining him, and a Miss Butterfield won, only to be stricken with measles. On the next try Miss Brody, 22-year-old waitress, was the winner, and is seen here gazing at a picture of her guest of the silver screen.

TIMELY PROGRAM FOR AGRICULTURE

The Farmers' Advocate recently presented a very timely summary of the problems affecting Canadian agriculture, together with some very pertinent suggestions as to their solution. It has summarized the latter in the following program which should be read with interest by every farmer.

- 1.—Co-ordination of all farm organizations into one central body that can speak and act for more than 700,000 farmers in Canada.
- 2.—Planned program of production and marketing.
- 3.—Demand for federal legislation through which to make the program effective.
- 4.—Attempt to reach agreement with the other three wheat exporting countries in the big league with a view to disciplining production of wheat and regulating exports.
- 5.—Develop the live stock and dairying industries in an effort to utilize a greater volume of wheat and coarse grains.
- 6.—Establish boards or councils to rationalize the major branches of production and regulate the volume and quality of exports.
- 7.—Press constantly for a gradual but substantial reduction in tariffs so partly may be re-established and the farmers' buying power restored.
- 8.—Urge upon all governments the vital necessity of employable relief recipients being put to work on constructive, self-liquidating enterprises.
- 9.—Above all, impress upon financiers and organizations of all kinds that there must be a planned economy put to work in the interests of all the people.

$106.00 Per $100.00 Of Assessment

That is the Tax Rate Which Faces the Residents of a Mass. Town.

The highest municipal tax rate in Nova Scotia for the current year is probably that of Springhill, which is $8.65 per hundred dollars of assessment. But the town of Wendell, Mass., with a population of 400, can top that. Property owners there are faced with a rate of $106 (one hundred and six dollars) per hundred dollars of assessment, unless their plea for a state appropriation of $20,000 is granted.

Last September's flood and hurricane along the Atlantic seaboard of the United States, destroyed nearly all the property in Wendell. For example, a dam and power plant, assessed at $649,000, which was 71 per cent of the town's total assessment, was wiped out. The town's tax rate last year was about three per cent, and this piece of property paid $19,000.

It's a steep boost from three per cent to 106 per cent. But Wendell property owners are faced with it. If a state appropriation is not received, those Wendell people whose property was saved last fall, will be six per cent worse off than those whose property was destroyed.

Canada's Place Names - - Interesting Legends

When Their Majesties come to Canada they will visit or pass through many towns, cities and villages with names reminiscent of those of Great Britain. In a large number, indeed, they are identical, and London itself has its thriving and developing counterpart on this side of the Atlantic. But Their Majesties will find also traces of Spanish, Portuguese and French, for hardy pioneers from these older countries scattered across the continent names of the lands of their birth.

But not all the place-names are imported—not by any means. The original inhabitants of Canada, the Indians, have left their permanent imprint in terms of some of the happiest names imaginable. There are memorials to the Iroquois, Hurons, Algonquins, Micmacs and other great tribes.

Some of the most interesting and picturesque parts of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and the Gaspe Peninsula still bear names or derivatives of Micmac origin. Names of tribes, chiefs and seasoned warriors are applied to many places in Quebec and Ontario.

Hochelaga, a very ancient name in Canada, is still retained, but the identity of the place is now practically absorbed in the greatness of the metropolis of Montreal. Minaki, a delightful summer resort in the Lake of the Woods country, is a place of great cultural beauty and typifies the suitability of Indian naming, as the word means "Beautiful Country." Abitibi, Timagami, Mississagi, Madawaska, Shebendowan, Sheguandar are all names of Indian origin with meanings that show the natives' aptitude in applying descriptive titles of their haunts.

Western Canada is also rich in place names of pure Indian or corrupted names and compounds of Indian words. Various origins are given for many of the names by which cities, towns or natural features are known. Two names that usually arouse curiosity are Medicine Hat and Moose Jaw and many conflicting explanations are given for the application of these titles. One interpretation of the former is that during a fight between two tribes the professional hat of a Cree medicine man was lost in the river, and the latter place is said to be "the place where the white man mended the cart wheel with the jaw bone of a moose."

Pulp Cargo Jettisoned

The Yarmouth-owned motor ship Accuracy, left Hantsport recently with 245 tons of woodpulp as cargo, but she was minus about 40 bundles of the deck load when she reached New Haven, Conn.

In bundles weighing 250 pounds each, the pulp had to be thrown overboard, after the ship had sprung a leak. For a time the after end of the craft was completely submerged and threatening to fill with water. The Accuracy, a 10-knot ship established somewhat of a record on her last trip when she loaded 125,000 feet of spruce lumber at Weymouth, discharged at Boston and was back at Yarmouth in just a week's time.

Nazi Leader

Pictured above is Arthur Greiser, Nazi leader in the free city of Danzig, which belonged to Germany before the treaty of Versailles. News that Memel had been returned to Germany spread quickly through Danzig, and raised hopes of hundreds of thousands of Germans there that reunion with Germany might be only a short time off.

A REJECTION SLIP MASTERPIECE

Some anonymous correspondent sends a clipping which gives the following "rejection slip" said to have been composed by the editor of a daily newspaper in China:

"We have read thy manuscript with infinite delight. By the sacred ashes of our ancestors, we swear that never have we revelled in so enthralling a masterpiece: if we printed it we should henceforth be obliged to take it as a model, as a standard of quality and achievement, and henceforth never print anything inferior to it. As it would be impossible to find its equal in 10,000 years, and we have to go to press with our poor uninspired paper once a day, we are compelled, though shaken with sorrow and blinded with tears at the necessity, to return thy divine manuscript, and for doing so we ask a thousand humble pardons."

Registration of Revolvers and Pistols.

1.—By virtue of Section 5 of Chapter 44 of the Statutes of Canada, 1938, Section 121-A of the Criminal Code is amended as follows:

"In addition to the registration provided for in Sub-Section two of this section there shall be, similarly, a general registration of all revolvers and pistols during the period between the first day of March and the first day of July in 1939, and during the same period every five years thereafter."

2.—All persons in possession of revolvers and pistols previously registered must re-register same during the period above mentioned, and persons having pistols and revolvers not previously registered shall now comply with the above.

One of the most annoying habits of those who walk on the streets is that of walking two, three and even four abreast, with a show of bravado which almost says, "hit me if you dare." With such a condition prevalent the driver hasn't a chance. Those who indulge in this little bit of stage-play are but asking for trouble—then comes injury to somebody and an annoying aftermath.

THE BOARD OF TRADE

At the monthly meeting of the Digby Board of Trade, held last evening, H. M. Turnbull, chairman, of the special committee appointed at the March meeting to arrange for a "Buy Maritime" week for Digby reported the committee had decided on the week of May 15 for this purpose. Every effort will be made to display and advertise Maritime made products. Mr. Turnbull stated it was first thought to hold the week in August along with the annual Hospital Fair in order to give Maritime manufacturers an opportunity to display their products in both the Fair, but, as this was some time away, the May date was decided upon. It is quite possible, he said, that another "Buy Maritime" week will be held at that time.

The president—J. J. Wallis—stated that a great many papers had commented editorially on this matter and that the Board had received an immense amount of favorable mention.

A resolution from the Lunenburg Board of Trade arising out of the cancelling of the salt fish bonus by the provincial government, was read, but no immediate action was taken. It was referred to the Manufacturing and Primary Industries Committee to look into and report back at the May meeting. The resolution asked assistance of the Government of Canada to be given to the salt fishing industry in the way of special bonuses and premiums on Canadian salt, as well as new trade agreements with the British West Indies, Cuba and the Dominican Republic, giving them preferred treatment and quotas for Canadian salt fish.

M. S. Leonard, secretary of the Board, stated he was in receipt of numerous letters asking information about Digby. A motion was passed that the Tourist and Publicity committee prepare a small booklet containing information of interest to prospective tourists and issue the same immediately.

The Board decided to float an issue of "baby bonds" at $1.00 each for the purpose of raising money to help pay off the $1,700 indebtedness on the Scout Hall. A committee comprising G. M. Morrell, chairman, C. E. Walker and T. E. G. Lynch, was named to look after the sale of the "bonds" which will actually be a contribution, nevertheless "an investment in the young people of Digby".

The matter of closing the retail stores in the town a half day each week, with the exception of the month of December was again brought up. Several merchants are not in favor, especially during the summer months, contending that it is during these months that the Digby stores were doing their best whereby the merchants and clerks will get together and arrange mat-busness. A suggestion was made ters whereby all the clerks will receive a half-day off each week. O. Wright was named a committee of one to arrange a meeting between the store proprietors and the clerks.

Correspondence from the Maritime Telephone and Telegraph Co. was read in connection with an improved telephone system. The company expressed its willingness to give reasonable co-operation in the matter and hoped to be in a position to make improvements before the tourist season of 1940. The Board prefers the installation of a common battery system. At present the magneto or "grindstone" system is in use.

Annual Meeting Of Credit Union

The annual meeting of the Digby Peoples' Credit Union, Ltd., was held in the Fire Hall, Wednesday evening. At this meeting it was decided to declare a 6 per cent dividend on paid up shares and a like interest on deposit accounts. In addition to the interest rates stated above, the Credit Union decided to set aside 20 per cent of the year's earnings in a reserve fund, and 5 per cent in an educational fund.

Since the origin of the Union, March 20, 1936, total collections have amounted to $3,152.22; loans granted $2,180.61. Standing loans total $1,228.34. During the past year a gain of $352.11 was made in paid up shares, bringing total paid up shares to $963.83. There is $198.96 on deposit, while the Digby Peoples' Credit Union, Limited's increase of net profit over 1937 was $73.27. Net assets of $1,311.27 show an increase of $491.25 over the previous year.

Directors elected at this meeting were as follows:—Victor Cardoza, Vernon L. Bent, Stanley Spray, Albert Warner and Rene Richard, these five will act with Stewart Winchester, Lawrence Wilson, Denis Comeau and Jack Keen, whose terms are unexpired.

The following committees were named:—Audit Committee—Denis Comeau (re-elected), Leonard Winchester, Jack Keen. Credit Committee—Albert Warner, Vernon L. Bent, Fred Mulse (re-elected). The directors will name their own president at a later meeting.

Gerald E. Budd, of Sea Brook, went to Halifax on Thursday of last week, returning home Monday night.

Over thirty members of St. George Lodge, I. O. O. F., went to Lawrence town on Wednesday, accompanied by several visiting Oddfellows and a class of nine candidates on whom the second degree was conferred by Valley Lodge, of Lawrence town. A social hour followed the meeting.

349 Visits By V. O. Nurse In Two Months

Reports of the Victorian Order Nurse for both February and March were received at Tuesday's monthly meeting of the Digby Branch of the Victorian Order. The regular March meeting was called off on account of a severe storm.

At this meeting it was decided to hold an entertainment for the benefit of the Order during the first and second week of each month, whenever possible.

The nurse's report for February revealed she had made a total of 159 visits during that month, and had spent 36 hours in the schools. Those under physical inspection in the school during that month were 39, and pupils visited at their homes, 22. Fees collected were $13.25.

Twenty-eight cases were nursed during the month of March and 190 visits made. The nurse spent 25 hours in the schools and made 21 visits to pupils at their homes. Two pupils were under special inspection; 19 defects were found, and 8 corrected. Fees collected were $30.00.

The supply committee acknowledged with thanks donations from Mrs. J. A. Faust, Mrs. W. K. Ganong, Mrs. Eber Turnbull, Mrs. H. Bishop, Miss Bessie Turnbull, Miss Margaret Stewart, Mrs. Hubert Warne and Mrs. R. B. Lent.

Eric E. Armstrong, of Digby, has been appointed a special examiner under the Provincial Collections Act.

The building on the east side of Water Street, occupied by Baxter's barber shop and George Mulse's cleaning and pressing shop, has been purchased from E. B. Weir by Harry Hicks.

Hubert Wilson, Conway, is the new courier of the Digby and Conway mails, his tender having been accepted. Mr. Wilson succeeds J. A. Woolf, who has carried the mails between these post offices for the past few years.

Canadian Parliament Amends United Church Act

At the request of The United Church of Canada legislation has been enacted by the Dominion parliament giving effect to an agreement entered into between The United Church of Canada and the Presbyterian church to enable the latter body to use the name "The Presbyterian Church in Canada", it was announced a few days ago by Rev. Dr. Gordon A. Sisco, secretary of The General Council of The United Church of Canada.

Dr. Sisco explained that under The United Church of Canada Act, passed in 1924 by the Dominion parliament, the Church formed by the congregations that did not enter into union could not legally use the name "The Presbyterian Church in Canada". The right to use this name has now been granted to the Presbyterian church by an amendment to the Act at the request of the United Church. An important provision of the

William Herbert
William Herbert, well known retired Dominion Atlantic Railway conductor, and a prominent citizen of Kentville, died at his home there, on Wednesday of last week, following a paralytic stroke, which he suffered early that morning. He was in the employ of the D. A. R., formerly the Windsor and Annapolis, for 48 years prior to his retirement ten years ago, and was well known in Digby. Born in Birmingham, England, Mr. Herbert entered the employment of the D. A. R., as a brakeman, in 1881. The following year he was made a baggage master and in November, 1896, was promoted to conductor, a position in which he continued until his retirement in December 31, 1929.

A MESSAGE TO PARENTS

ABOUT THEIR CHILDREN

No child with defective vision has a proper chance in the battle of life. A scientific examination of children's eyes, such as we make, is a sure way to determine whether they have normal vision. Children who require glasses should have the benefit of the very newest scientific development—CORRECTAL Lenses. They give clear, undistorted vision over the entire surface of the lens so that there is accurate vision even at the very edge.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Laura G. Munroe

The death of Mrs. Laura G. Munroe, occurred at her home, in Clementsport, early Saturday morning, April 8, after a long period of ill health, but had only been confined to her bed for about two weeks. Most of her life has been spent in Clementsport, where she was well known as a kindly friend and good neighbour. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Lottie Fraser; two sisters, Mrs. Alice Hinsman, of Clementsport; Mrs. Adelaide Wade, of Granville; three brothers, Robert and Herbert Rawding, of Clementsport; and Llewellyn Rawding, of Dorchester, Mass. The funeral service was held on Monday afternoon at her late home, conducted by Rev. B. R. Hamilton, of the Baptist Church, interment at the United Church Cemetery.

John B. Lent

The community of Weymouth was shocked and grieved on Wednesday, April 5th, to learn of the sudden passing of John Balcom Lent, well known and highly respected resident of Weymouth North. Deceased, who was 73 years of age, had been ill with pleurisy, but had recovered sufficiently to be about the house, his sudden passing of heart failure, came as a distinct shock to his relatives and friends. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Lent, Weymouth, and had resided in Lynn, Mass., for a number of years. Retiring in 1929 he and Mrs. Lent returned to Weymouth North, where he had since resided. The late Mr. Lent was of a kindly disposition and was a general favorite among all who knew him, and will be greatly missed by a host of friends. He is survived by his widow, who was formerly Miss Minnie G. Alvy, of Machias, Me.; two brothers, Frederick and Warren, of Weymouth North, and one sister, Mrs. Emma Gabriel, of Havertill, Mass. The funeral service was held from his late home on Friday afternoon, and was largely attended, attesting to the high esteem in which he was held by all with whom he came in contact. The service was conducted by Rev. C. U. MacNeil, of the United Church of Canada, interment being in the Riverside Baptist cemetery, Weymouth North. A solo, "The Old Rugged Cross," was beautifully rendered by Carl Mullen, and the hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee" was also sung. The floral tributes were especially beautiful. The pall bearers were, Arnold Lent, Darrell Thurber, Ellsworth Doty and Willis Cosman—all neighbors of the deceased.

The following teachers have returned after spending the Easter holidays in the various places mentioned: Miss Miriam Durkee, Weymouth Point, at Truro; Miss Barbara Crowell, Weymouth North; Barrington Passage; Miss Stella Sabine, Weymouth, at Bridgeport; Galen Pierce, Weymouth, at Wilmet.

AN AID IN ADVERSITY

An elderly lady was once asked this question—"What would you do if someone were to hand you one million dollars in cash?" After thinking for barely a second the lady replied "...I would just sit down and have a cup of tea!" and what a sensible answer that was! In times of stress, and in times of joy, when you're tired or when you're excited, the very best thing to do is to have a cup of tea. And the very best tea to have is the friendly cup that has been the favorite among Maritime tea drinkers for many years—Morse's Standard Tea. You pay no more for Morse's—but you get extra flavour, extra richness and extra satisfaction. When you order tea from your grocer's ask for Morse's—and get the best.

Bear River friends are interested in Wilson Ford, who is the son of Mrs. Rose Ford, teacher of the Indian Reserve School.

IMPRESSIVE GOOD FRIDAY SERVICE

On Good Friday afternoon, a picture service was held in Odd Fellow's Hall, to which all the children of the several Sunday Schools in Bear River and vicinity, were invited.

Lantern pictures of the life of our Saviour were shown, a description of which was given by Mr. L. V. Harris with an endeavour to teach something of the significance of the Good Friday and Easter events. Prayers and the singing of children's hymns were included in the programme.

Mrs. A. W. L. Smith presided at the piano for the hymns and Charlie Jefferson assisted by operating the lantern.

Through the kindness of Mrs. C. P. Henderson, the lantern and slides, except those for the hymns, were procured locally.

Over one hundred children were present, about one-fifth of them coming from Clementsport and Upper Clements. Cars were generously donated for their transportation by friends of the children.

Bad roads and failure to procure cars were responsible for non-attendance from Deep Brook and Victory.

The community is indebted to Friendship Lodge for the use of their hall, which was generously donated for this occasion.

At the same hour a deeply inspirational union service for adults was held in St. John's Church with the four local clergymen giving addresses interspersed with the singing of the "Seven Words From the Cross".

WOMAN AGED WITH SCIATICA

Now Praises Kruschen

When sciatica attacked this woman six years ago, she couldn't move without great pain. Treatment after treatment failed to help her. She tried Kruschen and got quick relief.

"Six years ago, I suffered terribly from sciatica," she writes. "I tried everything, but to no avail. Then I took Kruschen Salts. The first few doses gave quick relief. At the end of a few weeks my sciatica had gone. Now I always begin the day with a pinch of Kruschen in a glass of water. I live a strenuous life, being widowed four years ago, and having a son to keep. I run a boarding-house, rise at 6 a.m., and retire at 11 p.m. I am 52, but everyone says I look 32—thanks to Kruschen Salts." (Mrs.) F.E.R.

The severe pain which is characteristic of sciatica is often due to needle-pointed uric acid crystals in the sheath of the great sciatic nerve. Two of the ingredients in Kruschen dissolve uric acid crystals. Other salts in Kruschen help Nature to expel these dissolved crystals through the natural channels.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Maud Danielson

There passed away on April 4, at the home of her son, George Danielson, of Clementsvalle, Mrs. of 72 years. She was born in Maud (Rice) Danielson, at the age of 18, in Charlestown, Mass., and during the early part of her life she lived with her parents at Melrose Highlands, Mass., where she married Alfred Leslie Danielson, a grandson of the late Dr. Leslie, of Annapolis Royal. Thirty-five years ago they moved to this country. Mrs. Danielson predeceased her a number of years. She leaves five children: Mrs. J. E. R. Holbrook, Hamden, Conn.; Mrs. Clifford Smith, Ottawa; Mrs. N. D. Sanford, Clementsvalle; Mrs. Bernice Mailman, Clementsport; George Danielson, of Clementsvalle. She was a devoted mother and a wonderful friend. The funeral was held on Wednesday morning from her late home, conducted by Rev. A. W. L. Smith, rector of St. Clement's Church, Clementsport. Favorite hymns of the deceased were: "The Old Rugged Cross" and "Abide With Me". The body was taken to the United States, where she was buried in Mt. Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge. The floral tributes were in profusion and were very beautiful.

EASTER SERVICES

Digby

Appropriate and impressive services were held in the Digby Churches on Easter Day, and in spite of the "January" Easter, local churches had large congregations at both morning and evening services when the Resurrection of Christ was beautifully commemorated in sermon and song.

In the Anglican Church the ordinance of Holy Communion was administered to a large number of communicants at the 7 a. m. service by the Rev. E. M. Caldwell, rector. Communion services were also held at St. Paul's, Marshalltown, at 8.30 a. m., and at All Saint's, Rossby, at 9.30 a. m. Sixteen members were received into Grace United Church at the morning service, by the pastor, Rev. Dr. T. W. Hodgson; four of the new members were received by letter, and twelve by confession of faith.

In the Digby Baptist Church, the pastor, Rev. A. G. Robertson, had for his morning subject: "The Power of the Resurrection". In the evening, a Cantata, "The Easter Hope" was rendered by the choir, under the direction of Hedley Dakin, with Mrs. Guy Morgan presiding at the organ; after which a Baptism was administered to five candidates.

Deep Brook

A united service was held at St. Matthew's Church, Good Friday evening, with Rev. A. J. Prosser and Rev. Dr. P. E. Bishop assisting the rector, Rev. A. W. L. Smith. On Easter Sunday, service in St. Matthew's Church was at 10.00 a. m. Easter lilies and jossuils, memorials to loved ones, adorned the altar; while on the organ there were many more beautiful lilies, and other spring flowers.

At the United Baptist Church, at 8.00 p. m., a cantata "The Lighted Cross" was presented by the choir of twelve voices. There was a profusion of lilies, cut flowers and potted plants on the platform, and banking the cross, which had been erected especially for this service.

Resolution to Lay New Main, Defeated

Ratepayers Decide That the Present System Is Sufficient

A resolution to borrow a sum not exceeding $30,000 for the purpose of bringing in an additional six-inch pipe from Lily Lake, the source of Digby's water supply, to the reservoir, and to purchase machinery and equipment which might be regarded as necessary to improve the water system, was defeated by a vote of 14-48, at a meeting of the ratepayers of the town, held in the Court House, Tuesday evening.

Mayor Aymer, who presided over the meeting, in calling it to order, explained that the consumption of water had increased to such an extent, that during the summer months in particular, there was not sufficient water to keep the reservoir full, and at times to supply the town. He declared that from the standpoint of fire protection, the situation was serious.

Mr. Doane, water engineer, of Halifax, who has done a great deal of work on the Digby water system in the past, was called to address the gathering, after the notice of meeting was read by the Clerk, H. A. Nichols. He explained the consumption increased during the summer months and during cold weather, and that last summer he had taken pressure on one hydrant in town, and found a difference of 22 pounds pressure in the space of an hour.

The resolution, read by the Clerk, was moved by H. L. Woodman and seconded by B. H. Ruggles.

T. E. G. Lynch, speaking on the water supply, stated in his opinion, the present six-inch pipe was sufficient to supply two towns the size of Digby, and attributed the shortage of water to wastage by industrial plants, and by homes and business places leaving taps running during cold weather.

C. N. G. Wilde estimated the present system should give a conservative supply of 384,000 gallons of water per day, and that at the outside the legitimate consumption should not exceed 200,000 gallons. He suggested meters for larger consumers. A. D. Daley also said that he believed two or three meters would cure the problem, or that the town shut off all front street users, where the supply is not frost-proofed.

Alfred Boden, former Town Clerk, declared that should the proposed plan go through, the water rate would be increased fifty per cent. P. W. Holdsworth thought it a poor proposition to spend $30,000 to encourage greater wastage of water.

A suggestion was put forward at the meeting that the town purchase the farm lands in the immediate vicinity of the lake, and was informed this was being given the consideration of the Council.

Bernard Havey, Former Magistrate, Passes

A number of years ago, when asked why he had not entered the ministry, Bernard Havey replied: "Because God called me to be a school teacher". This beloved old gentleman passed away at his home, Queen Street, Digby, shortly after 5 o'clock Tuesday morning, after a brief illness. Had he lived until May 8th, he would have celebrated his 98th birthday.

The late Mr. Havey was born at Gaspereaux, King's County, one of the eight children of the late John Henry and Catherine (Gamble) Havey, and was the last member of the family of five boys and three girls to survive. All three of his sisters were over 90 years of age when they passed away.

His father was a native of Galway, Ireland, who immigrated to Canada; his mother, a daughter of an English rector, came to Canada with her mother, after the death of her father, and settled at Hortonville, where she taught school. Shortly after their marriage, when the late Mr. Havey was three years of age, the family moved to Boston, where Mr. Havey received his early education. The family returned to Gaspereaux when he was 17 years of age, and Mr. Havey taught school at Scott's Bay, later, he enrolled at the Truro Normal College. Learning that the school at Little River, Digby County, had asked the college for a teacher who must be "a Christian man and a Baptist", Mr. Havey accepted the position, and taught in that village for a number of years in the same school building in use to-day. One of his pupils at Little River was Mary Ursula Denton, who later became his wife, and who predeceased him a number of years ago. He also taught at Westport, and Sandy Cove before he returned to Boston to work as book-keeper with a grain firm in that city, returning to Nova Scotia and teaching three years later to learn that during his absence teachers' licenses had been cancelled, and he again had to take examinations at the Normal College. He taught on Long Island, Digby County, for a number of years, and also conducted a store business. At one time he was offered the principalship of Horton Academy (now Acadia University) but declined.

Inserted by mother, father sister and brothers.

Because of his wife's health he retired from teaching and moved to Bridgetown, where he operated a hardware store. Later, he came to Digby, where he was actively associated with town affairs for a number of years, serving on the Town Council, and as Deputy Stipendiary Magistrate for the late Judge Holdsworth. At the death of Judge Holdsworth, he succeeded him as Stipendiary, which position he held up until three years ago, retiring from office at the age of 95 years. He was a devoted member of the Baptist Church, and served as a Sunday School Superintendent and teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Havey were the parents of six children, two of whom died in infancy. Surviving are: Eleanor H., (wife of Dr. J. S. Timpany) of Digby, a retired missionary to India; and Dr. Harry B. Havey, Mayor of Stewiacke, N. S.; eleven grandchildren and eight great grandchildren also survive. Funeral services will take place this afternoon at 2.00 o'clock from the Digby Baptist Church, with Rev. A. G. Robertson, pastor, officiating.

Miss E. M. DuVernet left on Tuesday for Ottawa, en route for Vancouver, B. C., where she will be the guest of Dr. and Mrs. E. O. DuVernet, for the summer.

Digby To Celebrate Dominion Day

Firemen Appoint Strong Committee to Carry Out the Work.

The opening gun for a July 1st celebration, to be staged by the Digby Fire Department, was fired Wednesday evening at a special meeting of the firemen, when the following committees were appointed:

Publicity and Advertising—Vernon Bent, Stanley Spray.

Water Sports—Edward Webber, Ernest VanTassel.

Land Sports—Fred Harvie, Raymond Winchester, Robert Mulise.

Parade—Albert Warner, Clifford O'Neill, Albert Sully, Edward Webber, Ernest VanTassel.

Fire Sports—Fire Chief, Stewart Winchester, George Humphrey, Horton Stark.

A committee for the evening's entertainment will be named at the regular meeting, to be held the evening of the first Wednesday in May.

RIVERDALE

Ronald Baxter, Danvers, spent Sunday with friends in this place.

Mrs. Albert Grant, who has been spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Leigh Sabine, has returned to her home at Weymouth North.

Miss Mina McCullough, of Easton; Ralph McCullough, of Southville, and Freeman McCullough, of Havelock, spent Easter with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sebry McCullough.

Miss Bessie Sabine, of Truro, spent the Easter holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sabine.—Dan. Hankinson, of Weymouth, was also a guest at the same home.

Miss Lillian Hirtle spent Easter at her home in Lunenburg County. She was accompanied by Miss Vivian Wagner.

Miss Edith Cosman is improving, after her recent illness.

Stole a Car and Didn't Know It

Chief of Police, Fred Thibault, knows nothing of this car "theft", and in all probability, the owner of the car involved, has not the slightest idea his machine was "stolen". It happened at Digby, the other day. Two friends were talking during the noon hour. One remarked that he should see a party who lived just outside the town limits, before he went back to work. The other suggested he use his car, which he said was parked near the Royal Bank. The offer was accepted. The first man went on his errand and returned in a short time. Later he discovered he did not use his friend's car at all, but another just like it. Both were parked near the Royal Bank—one on one side of the street, and the other opposite.

HEAVY SNOW FALL MARKS EASTER DAY

There was positively no "Easter Parade" in Digby this year; instead of appearing out in their Easter bonnets, spring coats and frocks—fur coats, overshoes, heavy scarves, gloves and mitts were well in style. Easter was marked with one of the heaviest April snow storms Digby has experienced in more than a decade. A regular blizzard, driven by a strong north east gale swept the whole of Nova Scotia.

NEW EDINBURGH

The Misses Maizie and Barbara, also Master Jackie McCormack are ill with flu.

Miss Rita Doucette, who has been visiting her sister in Plympton, has returned home.

Mrs. Agnes Amiraull is seriously ill.

The Misses Laura and Mary Bellevue were recent visitors at the home of their aunt, Mrs. Agnes Amiraull.

Miss Evelyn Porter, who is studying at Maritime Business College, spent the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. Porter.

Young People's Unions

Digby, Y. P. U.

The regular meeting of Grace United Young People's was held in the church hall, on Tuesday evening. The Weymouth Young People's Union were guests of the evening. President, Patricia MacPhee, led the business session, which was followed by the worship and missionary programme, lead by the Convenor of Missions, Geraldine Syda. A Bible Quiz followed, which proved to be a "tie" between Kathleen FitzGerald of Weymouth, and Helen Melanson of Digby. Games were played and refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Weymouth, Y. P. U.
The members of the Young people's Royal.

People's Union of Hearts Memorial United Church, of Weymouth, were the guests of the Y. P. U., of the Digby Grace United Church, on Tuesday evening. All present reported a most interesting, instructive and enjoyable evening. There was no meeting of the Weymouth Union last week, as the annual Good Friday evening service was held in the church at that time. Rev. C. U. MacNevin based his address on the picture appearing on the little booklet "The Upper Room". The Union will meet in the church vestry this evening, (Friday) as usual, when a Quiz Contest will be held on the Book of Acts.

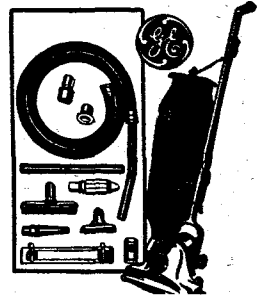

Mr. and Mrs. William VanBlarcom spent the week end at the home of their daughter, in Anna-the Nordic blood of Britain's leaders has she been able to attain her present position of world empire." Lately the little brother has been making some bad mistakes and joining with the wrong parties. It's not too late for him to start being a good child and doing what big brother tells him. At last, the Schwarze Korps thinks so. The idea might have appealed to Chamberlain last September. Now it looks as if the patronizing tone will help stiffen his spine.

"ABOUT THIS AND THAT" Continued (From First Page)

Here in Nova Scotia, and in all parts of Canada we are naturally and properly concerned in the amount of crime. We blame it on bootleg liquor, unemployment, conditions of unrest, juvenile delinquency, lack of parental oversight. It is encouraging to note that in comparison with other countries, crime, as we know it, is practically non-existent. This comment is prompted by reading a copy of the March 9th issue of the Pineville, Bell County, Texas, "Sun". The Sun records the docket of Spring Court term. It included 52 criminal cases, and in all but a very few verdicts of guilty were returned by the trial juries. The docket included three murder cases, one of them being tried for the third time; malicious shooting, wife and child desertion, housebreaking, hog stealing, grand larceny, possession of untaxed liquor, stealing coal, carrying concealed weapons, drunk in office, were only a few of the many crimes listed in the court calendar. The man convicted of drunkenness in office was the local Magistrate, which perhaps explains why crime is common in Bell County.

At The Capitol

One of the most romantic and inspiring epochs in the history of mankind—the conquest of the air during the last three decades—finally gets the screen treatment. It deserves in Paramount's new Technicolor production, "Men With Wings", which opens at the Capitol Theatre next Wednesday. No effort has been spared to make "Men With Wings" a milestone in the history of screen drama. Against the surging background of the period between the flight of the Wright Brothers at Kitty Hawk in 1903 and the present day of round-the-world jaunts, the picture tells a heart-stirring story of three young people, devoted as much to the highest ideals of aviation as to each other, and their experiences in a world made smaller each day by the airplane they helped develop.

Credit for the conception of this great epic goes to the producer-director, William A. Wellman, the man who made the unforgettable "Wings," as well as the more recent "A Star Is Born" and "Nothing Sacred." A former flying ace himself, his intimate knowledge of the technique of aviation and the personality of the birdmen is apparent all the way through the picture. The performances turned in by the three leading players, Fred MacMurray, Ray Milland and Louise Campbell, bring out all the power and human drama of the story. MacMurray, who has been in danger of being "typed" as a screen playboy, shows what he can do in a completely dramatic role as the pioneer aviator whose great tragedy lies in his inability to rid himself of the restlessness and irresponsibility which always marks the pioneer. Milland gives a suave and sincere portrayal of the constructive aviator who, after seeing aviation through its turbulent beginnings, guides it towards its uncertain but brilliant future.

Louise Campbell, who during the past year has served a Hollywood apprenticeship by playing in small pictures, now takes her place at the top of the ladder. As the girl pioneer, in love with two men and with the spirit of flying, she gives her role a vitality and warmth which few actresses could equal. Here is a young lady moviegoers should keep an eye on during the coming season!

NEW TUSKET

Harold Sabine has returned to the Victoria General Hospital, Halifax, for further treatment on a foot.
Miss Winnie Mullen, of Saint John, spent the Easter holidays at her home here.
Miss Edna Moore, now of Danvers, but formerly of this place, is

Easter Hymn Written By Former Digby Girl

A new Easter hymn, written by Mrs. E. F. Whyte, of Halifax, who, before her marriage was Miss Evelyn Ellis, of Digby, was sung for the first time in Bethany Church, Armdale, Halifax, on Sunday. The writer is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ellis, of the Shore Road.

Easter 1939

Our Father, God, our hymns to Thee we raise,
Our hearts ardent;
For life, through love, this day to us is given
For evermore;
O lift us up this holy Eastertide
Above the strife which doth the earth divide.

We pray for those whose altar lights are dimmed
By ruthless hands;
Be near to those who bear the heavy yoke
Of foreign lands,
And unto Israel be a guide once more.
Her broken lives wilt Thou to peace restore.

Breathe through the turmoil, bi the conflict cease,
And tyrants stay;
Touch Thou the nations with Thy righteousness,
Teach them Thy way.
Give to our councils strength to stand or yield
As need shall rise, then truth shall be our shield.

The world is full of doubt and fear and hate
And war-drums beat;
But we would learn new faith, new hope, more love
At Thy dear feet.
Lord keep us steadfast, with a vision clear;
Thou art our God, O what then need we fear.

"Bluenose" Deacons And Ministers

(By Rev. Frank W. Seaborn, in the Watchman-Examiner)

I was sorry to read in the Watchman-Examiner that Rev. W. B. Crowell had lately died. I became acquainted with him while he was a pastor in Aroostook County, Maine. He certainly was a man mighty in the Scriptures.

Some time ago Mr. Crowell told in the Watchman-Examiner the story of the first Baptist Association in Nova Scotia, perhaps in all Canada. Baptists, ministers from both Nova Scotia and New Brunswick met to organize that association in either the year of 1799 or 1800. Some years ago when I was visiting my native land, an aged man, a relative of mine, nearly 100 years old, told me something about that association. Benjamin Seaborn, his grandfather, and my great grandfather, attended that association. He told me that his grandfather, along with a brother, and others from Weymouth, Nova Scotia, rowed all the way to attend those meetings. They were then immersed and became the charter members of what is now known as the Weymouth Baptist Church.

The first Seaborn who settled in Weymouth, Nova Scotia, was a descendant of a Huguenot by the name of Sabon or Sabine or perhaps Seaborn, who made his home in Rehoboth, Massachusetts. I think that most of his descendants have migrated back to the United States. One of those migrants was Henry Dwight Seaborn, who lately died. He was a deacon of Tremont Temple, Boston.

This great grandfather of mine, Benjamin Seaborn, who bore the same relation to him as to me, was a Baptist deacon. One of his sons, Henry Dwight's grandfather, was a Baptist deacon. Henry's father, for whom he was named, was a Baptist deacon, as was his father's brother. Their cousin, my uncle, was also a Baptist deacon.

Dwight's brother, Charles Franklin, who has the homestead, fills his father's place as a Baptist deacon. That deacon uncle of mine had a son who was a Baptist deacon, and a cousin of my father's is a deacon of the church at Brockton, Massachusetts. How many more of Benjamin Seaborn's descendants might also be deacons, I do not know, as they are scattered from Nova Scotia to the Pacific.

Now concerning minister descendants. There are seven of living descendants of that godly forefather, who are ministers of the gospel, and not one of us has ever been accused of disgracing our sacred office or profession. Houlton, Maine.

Herbert Cossaboom returned to Halifax on Sunday, after a short time with his father, W. F. Cossaboom.

KISS YOUR TIRED FEELING GOODBYE!

Peoples Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.

The baffling thing about low blood count is that you wish about as much as you ever did—even look healthy and strong, yet you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, doped, tired and peevish.

Low blood count means you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.

Get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today. They are world-famous for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. Then with your blood count up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today.

About This and That

"We shall not be able to enjoy ourselves", said Major Vernon Bartlett, independent member of the British Parliament, "until Franco's widow tells Stalin on his deathbed that Hitler has been assassinated at Mussolini's funeral." It is a "smart" remark, but not a very wise one. Too many people think all Europe's problems would be solved—and the problems they cause us—if a few dictators were removed from the scene. That would be temporarily reassuring, of course. Europe seems to have been quieter for a while after Napoleon went to St. Helena. The truth remains, however, that Mussolini, Hitler, Stalin and Franco all were enabled to grasp their present power because of social, economic and political conditions within their own lands and because of lack of sincere co-operation among all countries and governments. Something more than the violent removal of the dictators will be necessary to cure the ills of the world.

There is something ironical in the fact of thousands of people of Jewish race being driven from Europe to re-establish homes in other parts of the earth. It is so because John Howard Payne, born and reared in New York, son of Sarah Isaac, and author of one of the world's most loved songs, "Home Sweet Home", was a Jew.

Blessed are the merchants who advertise, for they have faith in their business, and prosperity shall increase many fold. Blessed is the woman who sends in a written account of a party or a wedding for she shall see details and names of her guests correctly reported; and twice blessed is she if she sends it in while it is still news and not history. Blessed are those who do not expect the editor to know everything, but who tell him whenever an interesting event occurs in which they are interested, for they shall have a better county newspaper. Blessed are they who get their copy in early, for they shall occupy a warm place in the editor's heart. Blessed are they who co-operate with the editor, for their county shall be known to all men, far and wide, as a good place in which to live and do business in.

The case of F. X. Lessard, of Quebec, given two years because he broke a padlock in order to get into his own home, is being appealed, says the March "Canadian". It appears that in his absence, authorities ejected the family and placed a padlock on the door. Later, through the exercise of a little strategy, officers on guard outside the house were locked in their own car, and it was then the padlock was smashed. This "padlock" plan of enforcing law is obnoxious. There must be other ways of meeting the requirements of justice. So long as such a system prevails Canada can hardly be described as "the true north, strong and free."

Times appear to be a little tough in Digby. A Water Street business man, it seems, arrived at the office at nine, went out to see a man at 11, took a couple of hours for lunch, read his mail, got to his car at 4.30, went home, and called it a day. Talked hard times to his wife, went to a show, and wound up at a bridge party. When, oh when, will business pick up!

It may be mere coincidence, yet it's a fact that not long after control of the Turner Valley (Alta.) oil fields passed from police and courts to a civilian commission, headed by Premier Abernethy and a gentleman named Kuhl, the Department of Defence decided on construction of one of the largest and best equipped and staffed air bases in the west, at Calgary, just north of the oil wells.

By S. P. W.

One of the most interesting events on Parliament Hill is the weekly meeting of the Banking and Commerce committee. For five weeks now, Mr. Graham Towers, Governor of the Bank of Canada, has appeared before the committee to give enlightenment to those seeking to understand the operation of central banking and the mysteries of monetary policy and credit control. These weekly two-hour meetings are interesting for two reasons. First and most important, they are highly educational and the source of much valuable information. Second, they are often intensely dramatic, for they are the scene of the clash of two strong and vivid personalities. Mr. G. G. McGeer, member for Vancouver-Burrard, has appointed himself counsel for the committee. He has been examining Mr. Towers ever since the sittings began. Sometimes, however, his examination slips over the line into cross-examination. In examining, when he seeks information, he is most successful. In cross-examination, when he tries to prove a point, he is helpless. Mr. Towers' evidence is clear, concise, accurate. His courtesy is bland and unshakable, his temper is unruffled, his caution is never relaxed. He seems to be enjoying himself. Mr. McGeer is intensely earnest, sometimes perhaps too earnest. His understanding of monetary theory and his opinions as to the results of any proposed course of action are not always on all fours with those of Mr. Towers. When he tries to prove that Mr. Towers is wrong, time after time he runs into the blank wall of Mr. Towers' incisive logic, his imperturbable patience, his unflinching courtesy. It is good drama.

The meetings of the Banking and Commerce committee have aroused wide interest which has been reflected in the debates in the house. Mr. Dunning's $750,000 refunding bill now before the house, has been the subject of prolonged debate mostly coming from the southeast, of Social Credit, corner. This has occupied the greater part of two days of the present shortened week. Social Credit theorists persistently deny that they are inflationists, but their concrete proposals (the issuance of $600,000,000 of new currency, for example) seem to many, including the Minister of Finance, to lead invariably to large-scale inflation. The debate continues.

Another controversial issue which has taken a good deal of the time of the house during the present week is unemployment. Mr. Denton Massey spoke for five hours on Thursday, continuing a speech which he had begun on March 15th. His speech was very able, but marred by an unfortunate mis-statement of fact to the effect that thousands of transients had died of exposure, illness, starvation, or lack of care, a statement which received wide publicity and threw the more valuable parts of his speech into the background. He attacked the government; not so much for what they had done in their efforts to relieve unemployment, but for not having gone farther. Some of his suggestions included further efforts to open up the northland, afforestation and reforestation, water conservation and flood control, more intensive efforts to attract tourist trade, an expanded housing plan, and further cooperation with private industry "along the lines of internal, industrial, economic readjustment."

On Tuesday the house resumed debate on Mr. J. S. Woodworth's bill to amend the Criminal Code, so as to make it an offence for an employer to dismiss an employee merely because that employee belongs to the Trade Union. Trade unions have been legal in Canada for many years, and this amendment will make it illegal for an employer to dismiss an employee for carrying on activities which have long been legal. The principal part of Mr. Woodworth's bill has been adopted by the Government, and will be embodied in Mr. Lapointe's annual bill to amend the Criminal Code. It has already been promised the support of all parties in the house.

Mr. Cahan's bill to abolish appeals to the Privy Council is to be referred to the Supreme Court of Canada "for the purpose of ascertaining the jurisdiction and powers of this parliament to enact the proposed legislation." The right of appeal in criminal cases has, of course, already been abolished. The principal of Mr. Cahan's bill has the support of the Minister of Justice, and if it is passed it will make the Supreme Court of Canada the final court of appeal in this country.

The budget is expected on April 20th. Ottawa, April 15, 1939.

THE RESOLUTION PASSED BY THE CANADIAN FEDERATION OF MAYORS AND MUNICIPALITIES

As Mayors representing the Municipalities of Canada, we are constantly faced with public apathy and the sore of criticism which carries with it little sense of personal responsibility. Such attitudes in the individual greatly increase the difficulty of our task, and multiplied by thousands of people all across the Dominion, they create a state of affairs in Canada which is far from healthy.

If we are to deal with the problems of our country, which grow every day more involved, we must have an entirely new mental outlook. Our urgent need in Canada is to cultivate the will to work together. For this, we must find again those fundamental qualities of honesty and unselfishness which are the foundations of a healthy democracy. As Lord Baldwin has said, the need of the day is moral rearmament, a programme which builds on what unites people instead of what divides them.

Such a programme would bring a whole new effectiveness to municipal life. We all know how in our Councils the selfish interests of a small minority, or even of one individual, can cause endless difficulty and delay. Our task as Mayors, must be to lift the level of all proceedings and all policy above personal ambition, prejudice and party interest. If this is done, municipal executives will be able to devote their full energy to a constructive programme. The spirit of moral rearmament in the Council will in turn spread confidence and trust throughout the community.

What practical outcome may we expect from moral rearmament? It shows how to prevent the disintegration of human character through unemployment, as it provides the unemployed with a new incentive. It would bring honest claims for relief and a reduction of administration costs. It would give to business and industry an incentive higher than personal gain, thus making co-operation not only possible, but practical. It means a fearless acceptance of Christian standards in every-day life. With such a spirit any system will work. We must face the fact that the fundamental problem today is moral and spiritual, not economic. Materialism has failed and the authority and will of God must be accepted in public life.

DENMARK GIVES AID FOR FISHING VESSELS

To encourage the scrapping of out-of-date fishing boats and the building of a modern fleet, the Danish Government has granted an annual sum of 200,000 kroner (about $41,666) provisionally for three years, to assist fishermen to procure new boats.

The first of the new vessels has already been completed and delivered. It is a 40-ton cutter, fitted with a 100 horsepower motor and equipped with a radio telephone set and direction finder.

Sixteen similar new vessels which are under construction are to be fitted with Danish Diesel engines.

Denies Being Spy

Baron Raven Erik Angus Bernekow, who will soon become the fifth husband of actress Kay Francis, has announced he will seek legal redress from Countess Dorothy Di Frasso, one of Hollywood's most popular hostesses. "She called me a Nazi spy," declared the Baron. "And I am not a Nazi spy; in fact I'm becoming an American citizen."

and private life, if our problems are to be solved.

The anticipated visit of Their Majesties to Canada brings to our attention the example of leadership which they have unflinchingly set. For them, leadership means constant sacrifice in the service of their people. This spirit must direct our policy and inspire the communities which we are elected to serve. We will then be giving the best evidence of our loyalty and devotion to Their Majesties and to the principles for which they stand.

Ottawa, April 12, 1939.

Moved by:—E. S. Lewis, Mayor of Ottawa, President, Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities.

Seconded by:—D. H. Elton, Mayor of Letbridge, President, Union of Alberta Municipalities.

(Carried unanimously.)

Razing of House Recalls Old Times

An old landmark is about to disappear in the house of the late Adrien Muise, of Mayflower. This house was built about the year 1840, by Mr. Muise, who came from Sault Point, Yarmouth Co., and was one of the first settlers of the present village of Mayflower. Along with him were his brother, Alexander Muise, John Baptist Thibault, David Mulcahy and Cyria Thibault. Sir. This Mr. Muise had married Ann Doucet, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael Doucet, one of the first settlers of Lake Doucet. They had a large family. One of the daughters, Martha Muise, had married Theodore Thibault, a grandson of John Baptist Thibault. She was the mother of the late Rev. Father G. A. Thibault, of Newfoundland; the late Dr. Thibault, of Little Brook; J. D. Thibault, general merchant, of Salmu, River; Joseph Thibault, of Ma, lower; Frank Thibault, of Rossway, and Mrs. Joseph A. Thibault, (Alice) of Beaver River.

Agapit Muise, the only surviving member of the family, aged 93, is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Leo Thibault, of Mayflower.

The house had been completely renovated several years ago. The frame is of hewn timber and there can be seen pine boards over two feet wide. It is now owned by George Thibault, who is tearing it down to build a modern bungalow on the premises.

Girl Smashes 'Never' Records

Juvenile Court authorities in Memphis, Tenn., found thrills in commonplace conveniences recently, as they demonstrated them to a 16-year-old-Mississippi girl, who said she had never seen an electric light, never talked over a telephone and didn't know Franklin D. Roosevelt was President.

Alma Mardis cut two cords of stove-wood for $8, to visit 4 temples, from her farm home in northeast Mississippi. She arrived nearly penniless and was taken to the Juvenile Court for temporary shelter.

Alma said she could pick 150 pounds of cotton a day, but told court officials:

"She'd never heard a radio, never been higher than the second floor of a building and never heard of an elevator; never seen a Christmas tree; never eaten an ice cream cone; never seen a motion picture; never heard of Hitler and Mussolini."

Wins 100 Proposals

Since the world at large learned recently that Miss Adele Gay, 32, a nurse of Chicago, Ill., is to inherit $70,000 if she marries in the Jewish faith within a year, she has had an even hundred proposals of marriage from all parts of the country. Under the terms of the will of the late Harris Goldman, his daughter, Miss Gay, has one year to renounce her non-Jewish religion and acquire a husband.

Home After Surprise Wedding

Smiling and happy, Clark Gable and his actress-bride, blonde Carole Lombard, are pictured at the bride's Bel-Air home, after their return from Kingman, Ariz., where they were quietly married. Gable heralded his return to Hollywood by calling Mrs. Elizabeth Peters and saying: "Hello mon. This is our first kiss in a while."

Local and Personal

Mrs. Mary Turnbull, who has been with her sister, Mrs. Arthur Cronin, in South Natick, Mass., for some months, returned home last week.

Mrs. Sara Cosaboom, who has been spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Stanley Hinton, of Drummondville, P. Q., has returned to Smith's Cove.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Clayton, of Digby, and Miss Rita Ward, of the Digby General Hospital staff, spent Sunday in Yarmouth, visiting relatives and friends.

The Hospital Sewing Circle which was entertained this week by Mrs. Ted Dakin, will meet next Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. J. Theriault.

Capt. and Mrs. C. F. Lewis have returned from spending the winter in Windsor, Ontario, where they visited their daughter, Mrs. Marvin H. White and Mr. White. They also visited in Toronto and Montreal, where they visited their son, Roy C. Lewis and Mrs. Lewis.

Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Haves and son Clinton, of Stewiacke; and Clayton L. Haves, Mrs. Herbert Quack and Miss Helen Haves of Massachusetts, were recent guests of Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Timpany, having come to Digby to attend the funeral of the late Bernard Haves.

Miss Dorothy Elderkin, of Mink Cove, recently won a $100 scholarship for Dalhousie University. This was given as an award for the highest points in recent Grade XI examinations. Miss Elderkin is taking her Grade XII by correspondence—through the Mink Cove school.

A sea-gull was found on the shores at Meteghan Centre, April 14, by Denis J. Comeau. On one of its legs it carried a metal plate bearing the number 672004 and year 1938, Washington D. C. It also had a red celluloid ring on the left leg and a white one on the right.

Lumber mills in the Concession area of Digby County are now operating for their spring cut. Four mills in operation in that district are those of Edmund Comeau, Comeau Bros., Simeon Comeau and Gaudet's. The mill of Edmund Comeau was the scene of an accident on Saturday, when Randolph Comeau suffered a fractured leg when struck by a piece of board.

After a family reunion, he returned home Tuesday.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Patrick Burridge, of Lake Doucet, celebrated her 84th birthday on Easter Sunday, April 9. Her maiden name was Miss Elizabeth Mulse, a daughter of the late Alexis Mulse and Vitaline DeVillier, and was born at Comeau's Hill. She was married at Meteghan, June 1st, 1876, by the late Rev. Father James Daley, then rector of Meteghan and Salmon River. The bridegroom was Miss Olive S. Deveau, and the groomsmen, Peter A. Deveau, both of Lake Doucet, both now deceased. She has three sons, John and Edmund, in the United States, and Frank E. of Salmon River; three daughters, Mamie, Mrs. Melbourne Mallett, of St. Alphonse de Clare; Maggie, (Mrs. Adolph Frontant) of Mavillette, and Arlene, (Mrs. Alex. D. Deveau, of Lake Doucet, with whom she lives; also twenty-one grandchildren and five great grandchildren. A birthday party was tendered her by her children, at the home of Mrs. Adolph Frontant, of Mavillette, on Easter evening. Her husband, Patrick Burridge, died four years ago on February 5. Wishing Mrs. Burridge many more returns of the day.

Risen From The Dead

Risen from the dead, and ready to begin life anew, Dr. Jonas Borak, radiologist, is pictured aboard the S. S. Paris, as he arrived in New York. When Hitler "Anschlussed" Austria out of existence, Dr. Borak was taken from his Vienna home—and later was reported to be among the large number who had committed suicide while in custody—but he was released. The story is that he saved the life of the wife of a high Nazi official. She had been suffering from cancer of the throat, and Dr. Borak is said to have been given his freedom and a passport in gratitude.

DOUBLE BIRTHDAY PARTY

A double birthday party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter LeBlanc, of Salmon River, Wednesday evening of last week. The festive occasion was the 19th birthday of Gilbert LeBlanc, son of Mr. and Mrs. George LeBlanc, of Salmon River, and his friend, Walter Porter, of Yarmouth. Letters of congratulations and of regret at being unable to attend, accompanied by suitable gifts, were received from J. A. Deveau and C. L. Deveau, of Hecanooga. The evening was spent in the playing of bridge, whist and auction forty-fives, songs, organ, guitar and violin selections. Towards the close, a bountiful table was spread by the kind hostess, covered with cakes, ice cream and other delicacies. The principle centre of attraction, however, was two magnificent birthday cakes, richly decorated and ornamented each with nineteen candles. The jubilants also received many beautiful gifts as souvenirs of the day. At a late hour, the company dispersed, after the singing of "God Save the King" and wishing the young men many more happy returns of the day.

LATE SPRING DELAYS FARMING

Farmers and others are complaining of the "backward spring" of this year, the season is said to be at least three weeks behind that of last year. Nevertheless, it is reported that tomato and other plants started inside, are doing remarkably well, and when good weather sets in, thousands of healthy plants will be ready to set out. In rural districts, off the paved highway, roads have begun to break up, and in some cases, travelling over these secondary highways is very bad.

BADMINTON SERIES FINDS HONOR EVEN

An interesting Badminton tournament, between Annapolis Royal and Digby players, took place at Annapolis Royal, last week, resulting in a 4-4 score.

Ladies' Doubles:—L. Morehouse, H. Boyle, Digby, defeated Mrs. T. Rice, A. Fawcett, Annapolis Royal, 15-1; 15-10; H. Daley, B. Roop, Digby, defeated Mrs. C. Pickles, P. Cole, Annapolis Royal, 15-7; 15-10.

Mixed Doubles:—Mr. and Mrs. B. Barteaux, Annapolis Royal, defeated B. Roop, G. Burnham, Digby, 15-10; 15-8; Miss M. Miller, B. Friars, Annapolis Royal, defeated E. Eldridge, D. ### Caught a Deer Six Miles Off Shore

After a hectic experience, a beautiful young doe is "resting comfortably" in a box stall at F. W. Robinson's stable, here, where she has become quite friendly, and seems to relish the hay and vegetables fed her by Mr. Robinson. The animal was found struggling in the city water of the Bay of Fundy, near the "groaner" buoy, some six miles off shore, and picked up by the crew of Capt. C. Halliday's scallop dragger, almost completely exhausted when rescued. Brought to Digby, she was placed in Mr. Robinson's stable. It is thought she had been driven to the water by dogs, and caught in the strong tides, was unable to swim back to shore. She was released and given her freedom on Tuesday.

New Head of The V. O. N.

Appointment of Mr. Justice Davis, a member of the Supreme Court of Canada, to be President of the Victorian Order of Nurses in succession to Senator Graham, assures continuity in the policy that has made of this benevolent institution a great power for good in the country.

The scope of that work was made clear in the annual reports. Last year Victorian Order Nurses attended 84,697 cases and made 765,969 professional visits — of which 59 per cent were free to the patients. Half of the patients treated were maternity cases. Expansion of the Order's facilities has made its services available to one-third the population of Canada.

These cold facts have to be read in conjunction with the declaration of Miss Smellie, the capable Chief Superintendent, that V. O. N. service must not be permitted to become impersonal. "We are," she said, "dealing with humans, not commodities," and that attitude largely explains the prestige and repute of the Order, the unique place it occupies in the public mind. Its efficiency has been splendidly maintained, in the constant expansion of its scope and staff, during Mr. Graham's long term of office. The Davis regime, we have no doubt, presently will record a similar record of proud accomplishment.

The Kentville, Branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses was awarded first prize for its exhibit in a photographic competition, the Board of Governors has announced.

The entry of four photographs showed the visiting nurse assisting a young mother, attending a colored boy, assisting a doctor with an inoculation and caring for an immigrant family.

Second prize was awarded to the Orillia, Ont., Branch, third prize to Annapolis, and fourth to Vancouver. The entry from the Saskatoon Branch received honorable mention.

LADIES' NIGHT AT BROTHERHOOD

Winding up their activities for the season, members of the Grace United Church Brotherhood were hosts to the members of the Ladies' Aid of Grace United Church, and wives and lady friends of its members at the Brotherhood's annual Ladies' Night, at the church hall, Tuesday evening. Following the supper, at which noise makers as well as eats played a prominent part, a pleasant evening was spent in music, games and singing. The Brotherhood will resume its activities in the fall.

TAKES OVER LATE BROTHER'S BUSINESS

C. A. Morgan, well known Digby County farmer, has taken over the agency for the Hoyt Monumental Works, formerly held by his brother, the late Oscar Morgan, of Smith's Cove. Parties wishing to get in touch with Mr. C. A. Morgan are asked to address their communications to Smith's Cove, Digby County.

The members of the Weymouth Young People's Union held a Quiz Contest on the book of Acts, at their Friday evening meeting. The three highest scores for the evening were obtained by Kathleen Fitzgerald, Jack Smith and Mrs. Keith Potter. This evening, (Friday), the members are holding a social evening at the home of the Secretary, Miss Dorothy Blackadar. They have also commenced practise this week for a three-act comedy "A Ready Made Family", which promises to be a riot of fun.

Sandy Cove, Y. P. U.
The Sandy Cove Young People's Union met for their regular meeting in the Community Hall, Wednesday evening, with the vice-president, Wendell Jeffrey, presiding. The programme was in charge of Miss Florence Jeffrey, convener of Christian Citizenship. This was followed by a New Testament quiz. The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction.

The third degree will be conferred on a class of candidates in St. George Lodge tonight. On Tuesday evening St. George will pay a fraternal visit to Freeport, where the second degree will be conferred.

Laddie Jones is visiting friends in Halifax.

Mrs. Susie Goodwin and little son have returned to Bridgetown.

Mrs. Frank Saulnier and Mrs. George Hallowell are both very ill with pneumonia.

Miss Helen Hallowell was called home from Kentville, on Sunday, by the serious illness of her mother.

Robert Brooks, who has been attending the Nova Scotia Technical College, Halifax, has returned home.

Randolph Comeau, of Concession, suffered a broken leg, Saturday, when he was struck by a board while working in a saw mill owned by Edmund Comeau.

Four of the saw mills in Concession are now operating for the spring sawing of lumber. They are owned by the Gaudets; the Comeau Brothers; Edmund Comeau and Simeon Comeau.

At a meeting of the various charges of the United Church held at Clyde River, N. S., Rev. W. H. Forsythe tendered his resignation. Mr. Forsythe has been stationed in the Port LaTour, Cape Negro, Baccass field since leaving Sandy Cove, and upon reconstruction of the field, two years ago, he went to Clyde River, the Baccass Church being added to the Barrington charge.

A MESSAGE TO PARENTS

ABOUT THEIR CHILDREN

No child with defective vision has a proper chance in the battle of life. A scientific examination of children's eyes, such as we make, is a sure way to determine whether they have normal vision.

Children who require glasses should have the benefit of the very newest scientific development—CORRECTAL Lenses. They give clear, undistorted vision over the entire surface of the lens so that there is accurate vision even at the very edge.

ACCIDENT

Friends here have received word this week of the death of W. Daniel Ayer, Jr., 22 year old senior at Princetown University, Princetown, N. J., who died at 12.50 p. m., April 11th, in Princetown Hospital, from injuries received during an automobile accident early the preceding morning. He and Joseph Tomlinson Gifford, also a Senior, who was killed in the accident, were riding on the left running board of a car, when it collided with another car. Ayer had been under an oxygen tent for four hours, and had been given two blood transfusions by professional donors before he died. With him at the time of his death were his parents, Dr. Daniel Ayer, Dean of the Syracuse University Medical School, and Mrs. Ayer, who had intended to enter the Syracuse University Medical School this fall, was a member of the Cannon Club, an upper-class organization. He won his freshman football numerals and played on the rugby team during his sophomore and junior years. He attended Camp Aldercliff at Weymouth North, N. S., for several summers and was well known not only here but in other parts of the province. His sudden and untimely death came as a distinct shock to all who knew him.

Paul F. Durfee, 17, student of University of Michigan, driver of the car in which Ayer, Gifford and seven other youths were riding, remained free on $1,000.00 bail, after his arrest under the New Jersey death-by-automobile law. Peace J. Wham, a negro, driver of the other car, was said to be in a critical condition at Princetown Hospital, where he was under arrest, on the same charge as Durfee.

William Henry Brooks
There passed away at the home of his son Harley, of Ashmore, April 9, William Henry Brooks, following an illness of some months, at the age of 78. He was born at Weymouth Point, son of the late Ephraim and Ruth Brooks. He was a well known farmer until a few years previous to his death. Was a member of the Bethel Baptist Church, and throughout his life was ever interested in the welfare of the church, school and community. His wife was before their marriage, Florence J. Doty, whom he married in 1881. Surviving are: his wife, three daughters and two sons; Gertrude, (Mrs. John W. Tracey), of Waltham, Mass.; Irene, (Mrs. Frank E. Goddard), of Reading, Mass.; Hazel, (Mrs. Nelson A. Bruce), of Abington, Mass.; Arnold and Harley, of Ashmore. The funeral was held from the home of his son Harley, Tuesday, April 11, at 2.30 p. m., with Rev. I. D. Lytle conducting the service in interment was in the Riverdale cemetery. The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

Rev. Frisby Smith, rector of the Anglican Churches here, has tendered his resignation, to take effect in June. It is understood that Mr. Smith will become curate of the Cathedral, Halifax.

MARRIAGES

Saulnier - Quinlan

A wedding of interest to many friends was solemnized Wednesday of last week, in the Church of the Assumption, Saint John, when Helena A., daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George E. Quinlan, West Saint John, became the bride of Henry, son of Vincent and the late Mrs. Saulnier, of Meteghan River, Digby County. Rev. Joseph Whelly was celebrant at the nuptial mass. Mrs. O. C. Morris, organist, played the bridal chorus from Lohengrin, as a professional, and for the recessional, Mendelssohn's Wedding March. The bride, who was unattended, wore a tailored suit of navy blue, with accessories to match, and carried a white prayer book. Miss M. A. Quinlan and B. C. Quinlan, sister and brother of the bride, witnessed the signing of the register. Mr. and Mrs. Saulnier are making a tour of Nova Scotia, and on their return will reside at 228 Watson Street, West Saint John.

Amero - Theriault

A marriage took place on Tuesday, April 18, at Smith's Cove, when Miss Margaret Grace Theriault of North Range, Digby Co., and Eugene Franklin Amero, of East Long Meadows, Mass., were united in marriage. A few relatives and friends witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. M. C. Higgins. The happy couple will reside in East Long Meadows.

White - Robbins

A pretty wedding was solemnized on Friday morning, April 7, at 10.00 o'clock, at the Tiverton

Christian Church, when Miss Reba Eugenia, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman A. Robbins, of Tiverton, became the bride of Clarence Avery White, of Burt's Corner, N. B., Rev. J. W. Derby officiating. The church, filled to capacity, was beautifully decorated with Easter lilies and ferns, also a pretty arch of evergreen and lilies was placed at the front of the altar, where the bridal party stood. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white satin with veil, and halo of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of roses and fern. The bridesmaid, Miss Kathleen I. Peacock, R. N., wore turquoise blue georgette with hat to match and carried pink carnations and fern. Chester Outhouse, cousin of the bride, supported the groom. The ushers were: the Misses Ena Outhouse and Phyllis Ruggles, who were gowned in butterscotch taffeta, with hats to match. The wedding music was rendered by Miss Stella Elaine Small, church organist. The bride's mother wore a black dress trimmed with gold, with black hat and corsage of pink roses. The gift to the bridesmaid was an amethyst bracelet; to the best man, tie-clip and pin; to the ushers, compact, and to the organist, a dress-clip, set with brilliants. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride. Those assisting in serving were: Mrs. Samuel Young, of Freeport; Miss Lillian Reed, R. N., Moncton; the Misses Norma and Eva Blackford, of Tiverton. At noon the bridal couple left for Boston and other United States cities, where they will spend a two-weeks' honeymoon. For travelling the bride wore a blue dress and coat with rust accessories. They will make their future home in Burt's Corner, N. B., where the groom is employed. The bride is a graduate of Provincial Normal College and Business College, Truro, and also holds a diploma from the Chicago Nursing School. She has been a very active worker in the community, especially in church work. Out-of-town guests included: Miss Kathleen I. Peacock, R. N., Miss Lillian Reed, R. N., Moncton; Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Derby, Westport; and Mrs. Samuel Young of Freeport.

Why Not Take Steps To Stop Fast Driving

To the Editor of the Courier.
Sir:—Does the 20-mile speed limit for Digby apply only to me and other careful, law-abiding auto drivers, while it permits any smart-aleck or reckless driver to go as fast as he likes, laughing to see dogs and pedestrians dodge out of his path? The fool driver thinks the careful driver is a "sissy", and sensible people think the reckless driver is a snob or a moron—who is right? Somebody's going to get hurt one of these days—who will pay the bill? Last Sunday night between 7 and 8 o'clock, near the Bank of Nova Scotia, I counted nine cars passing at 30 and 35 miles per hour. Shall we stop this, or shall we take down our speed-limit signs? One cop can't stop it, he already has all he can properly tend to. How about giving Digby some publicity by employing a special officer for a week or ten days in May to hold up the law breakers and replenish the town treasury with a lot of nice fat fines? This could be repeated on occasional days later. The fines would more than pay the cost.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Sollows, who spent the winter in the South, arrived home this week.

Miss Frances Smith, who has been in Montreal for the past winter, has returned to Digby.

SPECIAL MEETING OF CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY

At a special meeting of the Children's Aid Society of Digby, held at the home of the President, Rev. E. M. Caldwell, a resolution was passed whereby the Digby Society will discontinue the present dual arrangement with Yarmouth, and operate independently. Under the existing arrangement, which has been in force for a number of years, both the Digby and Yarmouth Societies share in the salary and expenses of the agent, who is stationed at Yarmouth. It was felt that the work in Digby County had increased to such an extent that it was advisable for the local Society to engage its own agent to work from Digby.

"The Gem Restaurant Will Open Tomorrow"

The latest addition to Digby's business section is "The Gem" restaurant, which opens its doors to the public tomorrow, in the store recently vacated by G. W. Connell. The store has been newly decorated and very tastefully furnished, with small tables and a lunch counter. The old "back stop" has been remodeled and is now a well-arranged and convenient kitchen. Under the capable management of Mrs. Sadie Turnbull and Miss Grace Fontaine, this restaurant should become quite popular with those accustomed to patronizing restaurants.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Colin McRae

Many friends in Nova Scotia and elsewhere will regret to learn of the sudden death of Jane (Phillips) McRae, wife of the Rev. Colin McRae, which occurred at Lacolle, P. Q., on Sunday. The late Mrs. McRae was born at Margaree Forks, Cape Breton, 59 years ago, a daughter of the late Henry Phillips of that village. During her husband's pastorate at St. Andrew's Presbyterian (later United) Church, Springhill, she was a resident of that town, where she had a host of friends. Many friends in New Germany, N. S., where they were stationed for ten years while Mr. McRae was pastor of Epworth United Church, will also regret her passing. Beside her husband, she is survived by her step-mother, at Belle Cote, Cape Breton; four daughters, Miss Lillian McRae, of the Digby Academy staff; Mrs. (Rev.) W. R. Fraser, Lacolle, P. Q., with whom she was visiting at the time of her death; Mrs. (Rev.) M. W. Williams, Valleyfield, P. Q., and Mrs. P. C. Purdy, of Digby, who was visiting at Lacolle, at the time of her mother's sudden passing. One brother, Henry Phillips, of Belle Cote, C. B.; and two sisters, Mrs. Guy Lougee, Allison, Mass., and Mrs. Charles Pineo, of Brighton, Mass., also survive.

Joseph Trask
The funeral of the late Joseph Trask, of Little River, took place on Friday afternoon last from his late home, conducted by Rev. C. L. Chute, pastor of the Little River United Baptist church, of which he was a member. The deceased, who was 87 years of age, passed away after several weeks' illness. He was twice married, his first wife being Miss Sarah Jane Frost. By this union he is survived by four sons and four daughters: Oscar, of Boston; Alfred, Reginald and Ronald; Mrs. Fred Frost and Mrs. Lloyd Trask, at home; Mrs. Bernard Outhouse, of Port Maitland; and Mrs. Harold Cotter, of Berwick; one brother, Byron; and six sisters, Mrs. Martha Denton, Mrs. Emerette Trask, Mrs. Walter Denton and Mrs. Burton Frost, at home, and Mrs. Har-

Reid Saunders has been visiting his sister, Miss Ethel Saunders, in Bath, Maine, the past week.
Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Bond spent a few days in Saint John recently, called there by the illness of Mr. Bond's father.
The Sons of Temperance Division, which has been closed all winter, re-opened on Wednesday evening of last week.
Mrs. Frank Cox, of Yarmouth, was a recent visitor at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edwin Caswell and family.
Miss Dorothy Wood visited her sister, Mrs. Kenneth West, of Goldbrook, Kings Co., one day last week.
Mrs. John L. Amberson returned from Arlington, Mass., last week, having been called there by the illness and death of her sister, the late Miss Carrie Hutchinson.
Sunday visitors at the home of Miss Alice Gilliat were: her aunt, Mrs. John Adams; Mrs. Howard Adams and Myrtle and Vernon Adams, all of Deep Brook.

Mrs. Woodruff D. Warner
Mrs. Ethel M. Warner, wife of Woodruff D. Warner, of 29 Prospect Street, Newburyport, Mass., died April 5, in the Anna Jaques Hospital, Newburyport, after an illness of several months. Born at Bridgetown, N. S., she had been a resident of Newburyport for thirty-five years. She was an active member of the Baptist Church and its societies. Besides her husband, she leaves two daughters, Marion E. and Edith M. Warner; a son, W. Darrington Warner, Jr.; two sisters, Mrs. Charles Plummer, of West Sutton, and Mrs. Howard Bonnemort, of Dedham; and four brothers, Egbert Morse, of Conimicut, R. I.; Leopold Morse, of Northboro; Abner Morse, of Worcester and Cecil Morse, of Bridgetown, N. S. Funeral service was held at the Baptist Church, with interment in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. A. A. Shortliffe
The death of Mrs. Annie (Ruggles) Shortliffe, wife of Alfred A. Shortliffe, (former Mayor of Digby), occurred at her home, Birch Street, following an illness of only a week's duration. The late Mrs. Shortliffe was born at Clementsport, 79 years ago, the youngest daughter of the late William and Charlotte (Eason) Ruggles, and great-granddaughter of General Ruggles, United Empire Loyalist. Mrs. Shortliffe was twice married, her first husband being Joseph Hooper, of Marblehead, Mass., who passed away in 1895. By this marriage she had three children. Fred, who died in infancy; Alice, who passed away twenty-nine years ago in Digby; and Miss Bessie Hooper, of this town. Following the death of Mr. Hooper, she returned to Nova Scotia and made her home with her mother, Mrs. Ruggles, at Deep Brook, where she later married A. A. Shortliffe. Besides her daughter, she is survived by her husband and three step-children, Nettie (Mrs. George Abrahamson) of Waltham, Mass., Hattie (Mrs. William Weir) of Saint John; and Hubert Shortliffe, of South Range. One sister, Mrs. A. G. Sullivan, of Deep Brook, survives. Another sister, Mrs. James Ray, of Deep Brook; and two brothers, Charles Ruggles, of Deep Brook, and Thomas E. Ruggles, of Chelsea, Mass., passed away some few years ago. The funeral service took place Wednesday afternoon with a short service at the house, followed later by a service at Grace United Church, in which the Rebekah Lodge, of which the deceased was a member, took part. The floral tributes were beautiful, showing the high esteem in which Mrs. Shortliffe was held by her relatives and friends.

SPRING CLEAN YOUR CAR carries its own "Motor Tender". If the roads in your locality have been treated with salt or other chemicals during the winter as part of the ice-removing campaign, it will pay you to have the chassis of your car thoroughly cleaned, preferably with steam, before you do any extensive spring driving.

Salt, calcium chloride, and other chemicals commonly used to hasten the melting of ice and snow are not good for automobiles. The effect of the chemicals especially on sheet metal, is to set up corrosion which eventually eats through unless checked. The best precaution is to have the car thoroughly cleaned early in the spring, and to instruct the service man to touch up any spots where the enamel is worn through. Even in localities where chemicals have not been used, it is a good idea to have the chassis cleaned for spring and summer motoring.

HOME, HOME ON THE ROADS

Myron Zobel, advertising executive, has solved the problem of living, working, and relaxing while away from home on his numerous and lengthy contact trips. A huge trailer-tractor unit, specially constructed for service as home and office has recently gone into commission under "Captain" Zobel's command.

The new trailer, known as the Graduate Group Continental Clipper, is powered by a Chevrolet cab-over-engine truck. The outfit is of maximum legal length, and combines in its streamlined body an office, a travelling home, a short wave amateur radio station, and four private power plants operating the radio transmitter and receiver, air-conditioning equipment, and house and running lights.

Sleeping quarters for six people, apartment-sized kitchenette, tile bath, phonograph, typewriter, dictaphone, filing space, dining space and lounge space for about ten persons are contained in the trailer.

Saves a Quarter Cup of Flour on Every Cake!

In Moncton, N.B., Miss Martha Poole is very well known as a cook of extraordinary ability. Her friends and acquaintances never miss an opportunity to enjoy her baking and they are loud in their praise of her skill. Like many other clever cooks, Miss Poole follows one rigid rule: she will use nothing but the finest ingredients and places great importance on flour. She says, "I use Robin Hood Flour for everything." No flour is finer or smoother for cakes and pastry and due to its lively quality it makes excellent bread. Miss Poole has another practical reason for always using Robin Hood. She declares, "It saves me at least one quarter of a cup of flour on every cake."

Miss Martha Poole of Moncton, N.B.

So besides having superior quality, Robin Hood Flour is also dependable and economical. Isn't that just what you want in flour? Why not give Robin Hood a trial? Why not bake bread, cakes, pies and pastry with the same satisfaction that Miss Poole does? Have your family and friends praise you! One of the many reasons why you will like Robin Hood Flour is its absolute freedom from contamination with dirt or dust. The wheat from which it is milled is all water-washed! Let us send you our new recipe book, "Baking Made Easy". Mail nine cents in stamps to Robin Hood Flour Mills Limited, Moncton, N.B.

ALL 5 AWARDS FOR WHITE BREAD AT CANADIAN NATIONAL EXHIBITION GO TO ROBIN HOOD USERS

The Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, is the largest of its kind in the world. At the baking contest this year many of Canada's finest home bakers competed, and naturally many different brands of flour were used. But, when the judges announced their decisions it was found that users of Robin Hood Flour had won all five awards for White Bread. This sweeping victory for Robin Hood flour is just one more proof that the flour milled from washed wheat has no equal for producing home-made bread of the finest quality. Why not make a batch of bread with Robin Hood and let it demonstrate its superiority to you!

IT'S A WOMAN'S WORLD

A recent census of women drivers indicates that the most appreciated development in the automotive world in the last few years is the steering-column gear-shift lever. Many women, especially the petite ones, had a good deal of difficulty handling the standard type of shifting lever. Now those women are under no handicap at all, with the easily operating steering column gear-shift offered on all the principle 1939 cars.

Defeat For Hitler From Within

Brighter hopes for checking the menace Hitler offers to the world are being caught. There is just as much danger for dictators in national over-expansion as there is for industrialists in business over-expansion, and the danger seems to be looming in Hitler's path. Napoleon and his empire met it long ago.

In the first place, reports of underlying rebellion in Germany itself and dissatisfaction with conditions there continue to leak out. The Fuehrer undoubtedly has a real problem at home in more ways than one.

Then, an authority points out that the gains of the seized territories can be consolidated only by the conquerors' practising generosity. He prophesies that unless the Nazis do that their conquests will slip out of their hands again. "Disguised military conquest" will not do. There must be some recognition of the rights of others.

Lack of any such understanding on Hitler's part is playing its role just now. The more he expands the more he alarms other nations and lines them up against him. Because of such fear Poland, Russia, Rumania, Turkey and Greece are showing themselves responsive to the British and French advances.

Any strengthening in the oppression of the territory Germany has already taken over, further, will lead to further trouble with their people. They will have nothing to lose and will stake their all in making it hot for their oppressors. This will be particularly true where the population has no real German lineage. The rude remarks of Jan Masaryk, former Czechoslovakian Minister to London and son of the former President of Czechoslovakia, will illustrate the feeling that has already developed in his country. "I think," he says, "we should let the gentlemen who swallowed us have time to get a good case of indigestion. Six million Czechs will give him a damn good bellyache. They are the most indigestible people in the world."

Thus, even without the evidence of mounting outside firmness against Hitler's encroachments, we catch signs making for the eventual defeat of the Nazi leader.

er and his grandiose plans. Another long era of permanent tolerance of dictators need not, we think, be too much feared. Strutting his little hour now, Hitler in the end will probably wend his unhonored way down the Napoleon path.

OIL FIND IN GREENLAND IN DORMANT VOLCANO

The finding of petroleum oil on the peninsula of Nugsuak, in West Greenland, was announced by Dr. A. Rosenkrantz, leader of an expedition to that country last summer, to a meeting of the Greenland Society held in Copenhagen.

A dormant volcano, 100 feet in height was found to be composed of dust similar to that seen near Vesuvius in Italy, and upon examination it was found to contain oil. The volcano was in eruption about four years ago. An expedition is to be sent to undertake further examination this summer.

NATIONAL LIBRARY FOR CANADA URGED AS HISTORY SOURCE

A national library for Canada was advocated by E. Cockburn Kyte, librarian at Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., in an address before the annual joint convention of Ontario, Quebec, and Maritime Provinces librarians.

Unless a national library is provided by the Dominion Government it is likely the future history of Canada will be written by residents of the United States, Mr. Kyte warned.

A convention committee was appointed to frame a resolution urging the Dominion Government to institute such a library.

Many of the most interesting historical documents and maps were finding their way out of the country because of the lack of a national library, it was claimed.

About This and That

When you call another driver "crazy" after some wild and dangerous maneuver, you may be right. It is not a nice word, and experts prefer the term "psychopathic," but the idea is about the same. An impressive test was made in Detroit, recently. After examining 467 motorists arrested for breaking traffic laws, the experts found that 190 of them, about 40 per cent were serious "mental cases" of one sort or another. Seven were pronounced definitely insane, 40 on the verge of insanity, 46 feeble-minded and 97 so unstable mentally that they were a serious hazard on the road. If these figures come anywhere near representing the general situation, two things are obviously necessary. First, there must be more careful scrutiny of drivers before they are given driving licenses. Second, there must be alienists on the job in traffic courts, so that people who are proved maniacs to traffic will not be allowed to continue driving.

Here is the key to the really fundamental difference between the dictatorships and the democracies of the modern world. It is the difference between slave labor and free labor, between serfs of the national state and free men empowered to govern themselves.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

An American visiting Russia lately, interested in Communist schools, was taken in hand by a Soviet school guide and shown the sights. As men do, he commented on the comparison between the Soviet schools and his own in America, citing now and then wherein American schools were superior. The guide stood it as long as he could, then broke in with a denunciation of the visiting American. "Why?" the Russian guide thundered, "why, try to fool us! We all know that America's working class people are not permitted by the capitalists to learn how to read or write!"

Westerners have dubbed their communities with odd names and Western newspapers of the past have made them appear still odder. A partial list of some newspapers of the past would read: The High River Eye Opener; The Gate City Humming Bird; The Kentucky Thousand Sticks; The Bowie Cross Timbers; The Arkansas City X-Rays; The Gas City Gaslight; The Larned Tiller and Toiler; while other names have been: Sticker; Coming West; Javelin; Anvil; Better Way; Push; New Wrinkle and The Round-Up.

It's time the majority of the peoples of the universe ceased being jittery, and sensing a Hitler or a Mussolini lurking under their beds in the silent watches of the night, or leering from behind the nearest door. It is time the free nations had a more wholesome respect for their own proven powers, and the mighty resources at their command, and less of a tendency to hold the breath and look askance every time a dictator chooses to roar a broadcast. The policy of appeasement, of good will, of patience, of forbearance, of forgiveness, of tolerance in dealing with cold and calculating ruthlessness, has been enough to make the stout old builders of the British Empire writhe in their honored tombs. It made the Prime Minister something similar to a messenger boy, going repeatedly to an autocrat; but never having the latter come to him. But all that is now over and done with. The signs are unmistakable.

Colonists Shun Ethiopia

Italy has spared no efforts to get its people to emigrate to Ethiopia and, as the figures show, a goodly number of them have gone there. But the trouble is that most of them have gone back to Italy after a short stay. Rome has recently stopped publishing registration figures.

The last statistics made public showed that 188,111 Italian laborers went to Ethiopia up to the end of January, 1937. During the same period, 59,997 Italians left that country for home. During the next eleven months 23,838 Italian workers ventured into Africa while 81,364 returned to Italy, leaving a net loss of 57,526 to the colony. The next ten months were even worse. Before the publication of the figures was stopped, a total of 198,678 left Italian shores for the colony while 188,518 for various reasons gave up the attempt to settle there and went back home.

Expulsive of soldiers, the Italian conquest has relieved Italy of about 10,000 men.

These figures, printed by the London Economist, seem to indicate that Italy's bid for colonial expansion, based on the argument that the excess population requires more room, is proving a disappointment. An Arab statesman once predicted that Africa would prove to be the grave of Fascism. It is certainly not proving to be its Garden of Eden.

Mrs. Alice Hilsman, of Clementsport, who was the guest of her cousin, Mrs. L. E. Sherman, entered the Digby Hospital last week.

After Fifth Successful Fast Unto Death

Looking thinner than ever, Mahatma Gandhi was pictured leaving his Delhi residence to visit the British viceroy, the Marquess of Linlithgow, a few days after Gandhi had successfully ended his fifth "fast-unto-death" for political purposes. This fast was conducted in the tiny state of Rajkot, where Gandhi fasted for more than 98 hours until the populace was given a voice in the government of the state.

THE WEEK IN PARLIAMENT

By S. P. W.

It is unconstitutional for the Federal Government to pay out moneys for unemployment relief? This question was raised by the Honourable C. H. Cahan during the debate on unemployment relief this week. He pointed out that during the past year "the public press has borne witness to an insistent and increasing demand that the federal treasury shall assume entirely the costs of unemployment relief, and so relieve the provincial, civic and municipal treasuries of all expenditures which are made for that purpose." He claimed that in construing the terms of the B. N. A. Act, the judicial committee of the privy council had permanently exercised its authority, but that its decisions were, nevertheless, binding, and had the force of law. He referred to their decision on the unemployment insurance legislation of the previous government, and went on to say, "That decision of the judicial committee has, in my opinion, raised grave doubts as to the validity of any enactments hitherto or hereafter made by the Dominion Parliament which purport to make appropriations of dominion funds for unemployment relief or for the support and care of the indigent in the several provinces of Canada." He suggested that the constitutional position of the Dominion Parliament with respect to this and related matters be clarified by a reference to the judicial committee for its opinion. The debate on unemployment occupied the attention of the house for the greater part of the week.

Butter has always been an important factor in Canadian politics. It was before the house during the past week on two occasions. One, when Mr. Gardiner, in answer to a question as to how free butter would be distributed to needy families, said, "Arrangements have been entered into with the Red Cross to take charge of any distribution that may be made, and any such distribution will be made right across Canada." The other occasion was a debate on a private member's bill to prohibit the use of the word "butter" to designate certain products which are not butter. Among these were mentioned peanut butter, cocoa butter and sugar butter. All who spoke were in favor of the bill, but it was "talked out" in the hour allotted to it. Mr. Warren (Renfrew North) in the course of his remarks said, "Surely the dairy cow should have a monopoly of the use of the word 'butter.'" He was interrupted by the question, "What about butter-nuts?"

Latest reports on the mysterious submarine, alleged to have been seen entering Halifax harbour earlier in the week, are at the time of writing "to the effect that a fifty foot fishing vessel based at Sambro has reported having passed the pilot vessel at the exact time, in the exact position and on the exact course indicated in the report with reference to the submarine."

Bill No. 97, respecting small loans, has passed through the Senate, where it originated, and was read in the Commons for the first time on Thursday. Mr. D.

New Commissioner

According to reliable reports from Queens Park, Toronto Hon. A. St. Clair Gordon, minister without portfolio in the Hepburn cabinet, will be appointed as chief liquor commissioner for Ontario within the next few days. Mr. Gordon will succeed the late Edward G. Odette.

RAMBLINGS OF A ROLLING STONE

(By L. H. S.)

"I guess it must be the Gypsy in me." The sights, the sounds, the smells of coming spring seem to set in motion a whole new train of thought. No longer am I seeing the beauties of the snow covered forest nor do I hear, in fancy, the ring of the swift skates or the hearty laughter of the merry coasting parties; but eye and ear seem to catch again some of the things which marked the coming of the springtime in the province by the Eastern Sea.

The voice of Moose Falls roaring through the night shuts out all lesser sounds; I see again the churning, foam flecked waters hurrying down Moose river to gurgle and eddy round that tiny isle which awaits their coming just around the bend.

In my dreaming I see the hardwood ridges beginning to show a tinge of olive green; here and there in the lowland a white maple is ablaze with blood red blossoms and lower still the alder catkins hang in dusty yellow clusters, while close to the brown, damp earth the growing fern unrolls her hairy coils in answer to the call of spring.

I might go on for quite a while telling you about the springtime in the old homeland; things which you already know and probably don't care anything about, so why should I enlarge upon this theme? When I really started out to tell about moose hunting and moose hunters; moose calling and moose callers.

Perhaps it was the name "moose" which started me off, because I seemed to hear again the distant roaring of the angry waters at the "Falls" and hearing once again that deep toned voice I thought of spring; of fishing in the foaming eddies where the speckled beauties waited for their prey. I seemed to see once more those poplar trees which grew beside "The Moose Fall Field" upon whose smooth, green trunks we boys were wont to carve a record of the fish we caught. It may be that some one who reads these lines, remembering, will live again with me those care-free days which are forever gone.

But I started out to tell a story of the autumn time; a time when leaves are falling; when all growing things put off their summer garb, clothe themselves in somber garments for the long cold sleep; a time when morning sees an icy fringe around the edge of every pool and "Dogwood berries" hang in crimson clusters on the mountain ash.

However this may be, a chilly evening in late September found a neighbor and I at a deserted logging camp not far from the Sasiboo River. Some weeks previously he had asked me if I would accompany him on an overnight cruise in the woods. He wanted, he told me, to try his hand—or voice—at calling moose. During the summer he had made himself a birch bark horn and was anxious to put the enticing qualities of his "call" to the test.

Looking around for a suitable base for operations, he chose the roof of the stable—or perhaps I ought to say "hovel"—as a station from which to broadcast to the antlered kings of the forest the good news of our arrival.

Climbing to the peak of the roof he stood erect, put his horn to his lips and pointed it skyward, and right in the middle of the first "blat" when the roof gave way with a crash loud enough to produce nervous prostration in any moose within five miles. Down came roof, horn and wiskers together. Long before my idiotic haw! haws! had ceased to make the night hideous, he had climbed over the low log wall of the hovel and was disconsolately rubbing some of the more than ordinary tender patches on his shins.

Why in the name of common sense we didn't pick up our guns and knapsacks and hike for home is more than I can guess. Instead of doing the sensible thing we two "goofs" spent the cold frosty night in that deserted camp; sans stove, sans bed, sans fire, sans everything except the cold night wind.

The first foray against the peace and well being of the moose was a sort of duet; the second raid parroted of the nature of a trio. A friend invited one of my brothers and myself to accompany him on a cruise in the woods. We were not told anything about the object he had in view, only the naming of a certain day, and the chosen morning found three of us travelling toward Fraser's Ridge.

While eating our mid-day lunch beside a woodland stream our friend turned to me and asked, "Where do you think would be a good place to call a moose?"

After due consideration I named what I thought the most unlikely place in that region—the "Island" in Fraser's Ridge bog.

"That's just the place I had in mind," he replied, and at once began to outline his proposed campaign by informing us he had brought along a hammer and some twenty penny spikes with which to build a ladder.

In revealing to us the scheme by which he hoped to outwit the wary moose he said that he planned to make a ladder, stand it against a convenient tree and from that elevated position would send forth a call which would bring every moose within hearing distance hot footing it for the slaughter.

Before I go any farther perhaps it would not be amiss to explain that the "Island" referred to is a small grove of scrubby spruce and fir which makes a very prominent land mark on the otherwise treeless bog.

Arriving there the work of preparation was divided in a way which I considered was satisfactory. Our companion undertook to provide the material and build the ladder; my brother was set to work clearing, shall I call them, sally ports, through the hard hacks and white wood which were designed to provide the artillery with avenues along which to advance if and when the deluded ruminants had responded to the rallying signal. I was given the arduous task of supervising the whole. I am sure that I fulfilled the duties imposed upon me in a manner which left nothing to be desired. Even at this late date I remember having thrown in a number of suggestions that the measure of my assistance might be as generous as possible.

The work being at last completed, we gathered up our luggage and left for home. As far as I have been able to learn neither of the trio have visited that place since.

Perhaps there may be some one, reading this, will have a solution of the mystery of the ladder and the trails swamped through the hard hacks. Hitler has never planned a campaign more carefully nor one which bore so meager a crop of results.

VICTORIA BEACH

Mrs. Bernard Taylor, who has been a patient in the Digby General Hospital, has returned home.

Mrs. Charles Haynes, who has been visiting her daughter, Beulah, in Lynn, Mass., has returned home.

Mrs. Ralph Charlton and baby, of Milford, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orben Everitt.

Mrs. Lydia Haynes, of Digby, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Rachel Haynes.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Ellis, of Granville Ferry, spent the weekend at their home here.

Miss Anna McGrath, of Port Wade, spent the week end with her cousin, Pauline Taylor.

At a lengthy session of the Digby Town Council, Monday evening, the Mayor and Council were addressed by a large group of citizens, including P. W. Holdsworth, as chairman of the tourist and publicity committee of the Digby Board of Trade, who asked the town to furnish an additional grant of $60 to be added to an amount of $50, to be furnished by the Board of Trade. Discussed later in the meeting, the matter was left in the hands of the finance committee, who were given power to act.

Laurie Anderson complained to the town on the condition of the Racquette, declaring that where this section was used as a dumping ground, it was an absolute disgrace to the town. He was given assurance that dumping at the Racquette would be discontinued from May 1st, and town employees would clean up the grounds after that date.

Dr. G. V. Turnbull, Raymond Winchester and H. J. Campbell addressed the Council with regard to their action in discontinuing payments for electric lights in the Scout (Community Hall) pointing out that the hall was used by Cubs, Scouts, Brownies and Girl Guides as well as an assembly hall for the school. They also pointed out that the hall had a mortgage of $1200, and in addition a number of citizens had backed a note for $500 for repairs to the building. The Badminton Club paid the hall $200 per year for its use, and the School Board made a grant of $75. With other revenues, the hall was just about able to "break even" in paying interest and janitor service.

Discussed later by the Council, it was suggested that if this action of discontinuing payment of electric light for the hall was enforced, similar action should be taken with regard to the Band Room. However, no definite action was taken in either case, other than a suggestion by Councillor Solows, that the Council make a grant to the Scout Hall to be applied toward electric light.

Harry Raymond complained of the alleged wastage of water, while T. E. G. Lynch offered suggestions based on personal investigation on the situation at Lily Lake with regard to providing a better supply for the town. Vincent Snow, in behalf of Snow Bros., asked the town to lead a pipe underground through the abutment in order that they could connect an underground pipe on the beach to their wharf. This matter was left with the water committee.

Permission was granted the Band to hold a celebration and Tag Day on August 7.

A letter was read by the Clerk from Health Officer, Dr. E. DuVernet, expressing the need of a pasteurizing plant in Digby. No action was taken at Monday night's meeting on that matter.

At 11 o'clock the Council resolved into committee to discuss a chlorinating plant for the water supply. Two experts on the matter were present to take this matter up with the Council.

DIGBY MERCHANTS SET AN EXAMPLE

(Maritime Merchant)

The merchants of Digby have received a great deal of publicity on account of their enterprise in preparing for a "Buy Maritime Week" beginning May 15th. The President of the Digby Board of Trade states that Maritime newspapers have given upwards of fifty columns of space to comment on this undertaking. During that week the Digby stores will display and advertise Maritime products and do everything in their power to promote the sale of Maritime-made goods. A further project of the same sort is in view for the month of August, when, it is suggested, they may conduct a "Buy Maritime" event during the time of the Hospital Fair. In fact, it was the original intention to have the "Buy Maritime Week" at that time in order that Maritime manufacturers would be given space to display their products in booths. While the week beginning May 15th was decided upon at length, it may be that the original idea will be carried out as well—two efforts along the same line in one year.

On these two occasions Digby stores will be an exhibition of Maritime Products. Not only the townspeople but visitors on that occasion will have an opportunity to see the variety of goods produced in these provinces. Many of them we venture to say will be surprised to learn how many concerns there are in the Maritimes manufacturing articles of everyday use and how high the total of the variety of articles mounts up. We hope the promoters of the enterprise will be able to get a complete representation of Maritime producers and Maritime products. The list would make a very interesting showing and would be an eye-opener to most Maritime people.

There are many things made in the Maritimes that would not find a place in such an exhibit, perhaps, because they are not articles that are sold over the counter. For example, one would not buy steel ingots or railway cars or gas engines in a retail store. The event cannot therefore be a complete exhibit of Maritime production. But if it is as successful as we hope it will be, it will reveal to people who participate in it many articles of everyday use that are made in these provinces that they possibly never before knew about. Many of the industries which produce these articles are small, which is perhaps the reason they are not well known. But every solid industry of this sort has its day of small things and we hope that Digby's effort may help these industries to become bigger and better known.

If the Digby project is a success, maybe other Boards of Trade throughout the Maritimes will take the idea up and arrange similar events in their respective towns. After all, the number of Maritimers who will participate in the Digby event will be limited, and if the idea is to be got over to all the people of the Maritimes, it is necessary that the event should be duplicated in all our populous centres. If every Board of Trade in the Maritimes were to take the idea up, it would be a movement that would open the eyes of the Maritime people, not only to what has already been accomplished, but to the possibilities of expansion in Maritime industry.

Local and Personal

Miss Marjorie Snow, who has been spending several months in Halifax, returned home this week.

Mrs. H. B. Short, who has been spending the winter at St. Petersburg, Florida, has returned and opened her Queen Street home for the summer.

The Hospital Sewing Circle, which was entertained this week by Mrs. E. J. Theriault, will meet next Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Charles Ramsay.

"The blessing of the Lord is with Germany and not with his enemies," said Hitler a year ago. March. It must be wonderful to get personal assurance from God himself.

The first large convention scheduled for Digby this year is the Maritime Retail Convention, which will meet at the Pines on June 19th and 20th. This will necessitate the opening of the Pines a few days earlier than usual this season.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Thurber and son Harry, of Watertown, Mass., came to Digby last week and spent a few days in their cottage on the Shore Road. Mr. and Mrs. Thurber returned home on Friday, but Harry is remaining for a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Thurber, of Johannesburg, South Africa, who have spent the past two years in Mr. Thurber's old home—Freeport—were in town on Wednesday, on their way to their home in South Africa. They will sail tomorrow from Montreal on the C. P. R. steamer, Duchess of Athol.

Over 2000 young people have joined the Abstinence Movement inaugurated by the Ontario Temperance Federation and the Boys' Work Board of Ontario, Rev. Dr. Manson Doyle, Associate Secretary of the Board of Christian Education, told the Board at its annual meeting, held in Toronto.

At the quarterly United Church Official Board meeting, of the Port LaTour-Clyde pastoral charge held at Clyde River, Rev. W. H. Forsythe, (a former pastor on Digby Neck) tendered his resignation to take effect the last of June. Rev. Mr. Forsythe has served this charge since its amalgamation two years ago.

St. George Lodge of Oddfellows—or rather forty-five of the members—paid a fraternal visit to Chippewa Lodge, of Freeport, on Tuesday evening, and the second degree was conferred on three of the number by the Freeport brethren. A supper consisting of lobster chowder and pies, followed by singing, brought the evening to a close.

Shortage of students for the ministry is causing concern in the Maritimes, reported Rev. W. S. Godfrey, Field Secretary for the Board of Christian Education in report said that "while in the past, the Maritime Conference, whose 15 or 20 men graduated each year from Pine Hill, this year there are only four men. Drastic steps will have to be taken to persuade more men to offer themselves for the ministry."

Results have been announced for the annual field crops competition and provincial seed fair for the 1938-39 season, operated under the joint auspices of the provincial department of agriculture and the federal seed branch. For Swede Seed—the following qualified: 1—Ralph Veno, Deep Brook; 2—R. V. Dittmars and Sons, Deep Brook; 3—Harry Hardwick, Annapolis Royal; 4—E. Sloan, Bear River; 5—S. Barteaux, Deep Brook; 6—Paul Geyer, Deep Brook; 7—Frank Sproule, Deep Brook.

Eyes Tested, Glasses Fitted and Repaired—P. R. Saunders, O. D., Optometrical Sight Specialist, at Digby, May 1st to 6th.

William Sutherland, of the government direction finding station, Rockport, spent Friday with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. VanBlarcom.

Discussing tourist matters with delegates of the Cape Breton Board of Trade, Hon. A. S. MacMillan intimated that a tourist bureau would be established at Port Hawkesbury.

The ladies of Trinity Church are cordially invited to the Dorcas Quilting Tea, in the Parish Hall, on Tuesday, May 2nd, at 4 o'clock. The completed outfit for the Indian boy will be displayed. Collection will be taken for Dorcas work.

A play will be staged in the near future, under the auspices of the "Baby Bond" committee of the Digby Board of Trade, proceeds of which will be applied to the Boy Scout Hall fund. The committee has been making splendid success in the sale of "bonds"—but—if you haven't purchased yours to date—your co-operation will be appreciated.

The report from Calvary Church, North Sydney, of which Rev. Byron G. Manzer is pastor, as noted in the "News From the Churches" department of last week's North Sydney Herald, is most encouraging. The large ingathering into the membership of a church situated in a limited constituency tells its own story of intensive and devoted work on the part of pastor and people. Reports coming from all quarters tell of the large place Mr. and Mrs. Manzer have in the affections of their people and in the life of the community. (Mr. Manzer is a native of Ashmore.—Editor Courier).

Part of the remains of a sea mammal, quite unfamiliar to this district, came up with the scallop drags of Capt. Roland Wormald's sloop, Gonac, while operating a few miles off Culloden. When the contents of the drags were dumped on the deck of the sloop, the upper jaw and portion of the head, all intact, of a large tusked animal, made its appearance. Both tusks were broken off, one about nine inches from the socket, and the other six inches. Although the skeleton was apparently a very old one, the break on the longer tusk appeared fresh, and was probably broken as the drags were being hoisted. The skeleton is thought to be that of a walrus or sea lion.

SMITH'S COVE

Signs of spring—The return of the tree swallows to the village bird-houses, and our boys and girls to the tennis courts.

Mrs. Harry Vroom, of Deep Brook, was a recent guest of Mrs. E. J. Payson.

"Terry", a setter, belonging to Frank Wightman, and a dog much loved by all in this village, was seriously injured by a hit-and-run driver on Sunday.

Work is progressing rapidly on the new residence under construction for Charles Kaulback, on the Old Post Road.

Much Activity Noted Among Farming Clubs in Digby County

Agricultural Representative Is Very Energetic; Interest Is Great.

Agricultural representative, Raymond LeBlanc, is very busy these days looking over the work of the different clubs under his supervision in Digby.

With two calf clubs in Maville and Meteghan, one poultry club at Meteghan, ten garden clubs at St. Bernard's, Little Brook, Lower Comeauville, Saulnierville, Meteghan, St. Alphonse, Maville, Lake Doucet and two at Meteghan Station, there is considerable work attached to the re-organization of these clubs from one year to the other. By the end of May he expects a few more clubs to be organized and they will be giving full swing and with increased membership.

As an aftermath to the short course recently held at Little Brook, there will be many junior organizations formed among the younger farmers, and their work will be closely followed by the Agricultural representative. There seems to be more interest taken in farm work in many sections and there is a strong tendency to improve on the local livestock, especially in dairy cattle, a number of high grade pure bred Guernsey cows having been purchased lately from outside districts.

Mr. LeBlanc has also been instrumental in bringing a car load of lime for distribution in Digby. The advantage of lime has been realized by some of the farmers and some of their land has proved very suitable for the growing of alfalfa hay and a considerable acreage of this will be undertaken in the spring.

Mr. LeBlanc has also announced a farm course for the younger farmers to be held in Truro, shortly, at the expense of the Provincial Government, and it is to be hoped that many young farmers will take advantage of this opportunity to acquire valuable knowledge for successful work on the farm.

The agricultural representative also has twelve sewing clubs in Digby in different schools for the benefit of the young girls and these also show much activity under the able direction of Miss Armstrong and her assistant, Miss McNeil, who are sent by the government.

PORT WADE

Anglers Meeting With Poor Luck

The past week has been a little more like spring, and we are thankful, even although there is still a chill in the air, to see the sun a little more often. During the past few days in particular, there has been a decided change in the appearance of almost everything in general. Lawns are commencing to show green, crocus and show drops are in blossom, and we will wager daffies will be out in all their glory within another week.

Deciples of Isaac Walton, however, are not having any luck. During the week end just past, streams and lakes were so swollen that it was next to impossible to get near them, but, unless there are heavy rains during the next day or so, conditions should be favourable this week end.

Catholic Women Elect Officers

The annual meeting of the Catholic Women's League, was held on Sunday afternoon in the vestry of the Sacred Heart Church at Lower Saulnierville, presided over by the president of the subdivision, Mrs. J. W. Comeau. Officers were elected as follows: President—Mrs. J. W. Comeau. 1st Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Edward Comeau. 2nd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Patrick Armstrong. Secty.—Mrs. Arthur Boudreau. Counsellors—Mrs. Arthur Boudreau, Mrs. Alphonse Comeau, Mrs. Edward Doucet, Mrs. Austere Gaudet, Mrs. Isaac Thibault. A Crucifix was drawn for on which tickets had been sold in aid of the League. The lucky winner was Miss Jacqueline Comeau, of Meteghan River.

MARRIAGES

Ritcey - Fish

A wedding of unusual beauty and interest was solemnized in the Baptist Church at Clementsvalle, on Wednesday, when Dorothy Lovett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fish, of Princeville, became the bride of Laurence Alfred Ritcey, of Riverport. The Rev. A. W. L. Smith, rector of St. Edward's parish, Clementsvalle, and personal friend of the family, performed the ceremony. The church—was filled to capacity—was tastefully decorated for the occasion. The bride, was gownned in white silk net over white silk taffeta, wore a veil and carried a bouquet of white and pink roses with forget-me-nots. Miss Doris Sanford, cousin of the bride, tastefully dressed in pink organdy, and carrying a nosegay of spring flowers, was maid of honor. The bride was also attended by two other bridesmaids, Miss June Sanford, a cousin, who was dressed in blue organdy, and Miss Lois Walker, a friend, in yellow organdy. Bruce Ritcey, cousin of the groom, of Halifax, was best man. Harold and Gerald (Ted) Sanford were ushers. Mrs. Watson Potter officiated at the organ. W. W. Sanford, uncle of the bride, gave a beautiful rendition of "O Promise Me". He was accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Hazel Trask. A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Sanford, Mr. Sanford being an uncle of the bride. The usual toast was given by the master of ceremonies, and responded to by the best man. The happy couple left for a short trip through the province, and will afterward, visit the World's Fair at New York. They will reside in Riverport. The presents were both numerous and beautiful.

Answering a question of Major General W. A. Gressbach, Senator Dandurand, Leader of the Dominion Senate, said there are 27,046 Germans in Nova Scotia.

V. O. N. TELEPHONE BRIDGE

Proceeds of the V. O. N. Telephone Bridge held last week, amounted to $28.00. Hostesses entertaining for this occasion were: Mrs. G. B. Clarkson, Mrs. J. M. Wallis, Mrs. H. M. Warne, Mrs. G. W. Morrell, Mrs. Morse, Mrs. Fritz Dakin and Miss Jean Anderson, bridge; Miss Louise Daley, 45's, and Mrs. G. W. Connell, afternoon tea. Prize winners were as follows: Bridge, high, Mrs. Wilmot Christie and E. J. Theriault; consolation, S. S. Aymar, high; Douglas Syda, low. Prizes were donated by Mrs. Roy Sypher, Mrs. H. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. B. J. Roop and G. W. Connell.

The well known motor boat, Phyllis C., which has been running into Digby for a number of years and which was recently damaged by fire, has been sold to parties in Parrsboro, and left for that port on Wednesday.

Cars Robbed At Dance

At Wednesday night's dance in the Scout Hall, many cars parked in the vicinity of the building were robbed of gas, accessories and other items, including one tire. MacDonald Motors report that items stolen from their cars alone were valued approximately $40. For the most part the thefts were of radiator caps and ornaments, and tank caps. Chief of Police, Thibault, who is investigating the thefts, says he was in the vicinity of the hall between 12.30 and 1 o'clock, and at that time all was in order. Apparently, the thefts occurred after that hour.

Work on the new Maritime Winter Fair building in Amherst, will start this week.

The Boy Scouts netted about $50.00 on the "Suez" picture, sponsored by them last week.

The German steamer, Olga Selmer, Capt. Hansen, 2,900 tons, arrived from Rotterdam yesterday, and is loading pulp wood for a European port.

OBITUARY

Frank Crosby
The death of Frank Crosby, of Bear River, occurred on Sunday night, April 23, at the Digby General Hospital, where he had been removed for treatment. Mr. Crosby was esteemed as a splendid citizen by the entire community, and will be greatly missed. He was 69 years of age, but during the past year suffered from a serious heart condition and failed to rally following a severe attack of influenza. Much sympathy goes out to Mrs. Crosby (formerly Hattie Tario) who is ill at this time, and to the family. A son, Thomas, and a sister, Emma, both of whom reside in New Brunswick, arrived home by motor, on Sunday. Five other children also survive. The funeral service was held on Tuesday, at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. G. D. Brydon, with interment in Mount Hope Cemetery.

MARRIAGES

Oland - Medcalfe
Nancy Jane Medcalfe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bolton Medcalfe, of Bronxville, N. Y., was married Saturday, April 15, to Victor deBedia Oland, son of Lieutenant-Colonel and Mrs. Sidney Oland, of Halifax, at Bronxville. The bridegroom's father is aide de camp to Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor General of Canada. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Jas. Boyde, at St. Joseph's Church. Jean Medcalfe was maid of honor, and Barbara Medcalfe, another sister, and Mary Keating, of Scarsdale, were bridesmaids. Donald Raimnie, of Halifax, was best man and Bruce Oland and Lester A. Lake, Jr., of Bronxville, were ushers. The couple boarded the Monarch of Bermuda, for a wedding trip and will reside in Halifax upon their return. (Many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. B. Medcalfe, who resided in Bear River for some years, will be interested in the above report of Nancy Jane's marriage at Bronxville.)

On Monday afternoon Mrs. Everett Chalmers and the Misses Catherine Hirtle and Freda Rice motored to Kentville, where they were guests at the banquet tendered Mr. Brown, of Middleton, at the Corrwalls Inn. Mr. Brown having retired from the Maritime Telephone Company. The Bear River office operates under the supervision of Middleton.

INSTITUTE MEETING

The Women's Institute will meet on Monday afternoon, May 1st, at the Masonic Reading Room, at 3 o'clock. A ten cent tea will be served. Will the members kindly bring white thread, needle and thimble.

Capt. and Mrs. Wm. McMurtry and two children returned on Saturday from Annapolis Royal, where they have spent the winter.

The BOSS of THE FAMILY

He has just reached the age where he's allowed bread crumbs to eat, and does he love them. And they're good for him, too, especially when the bread is made from REGAL Flour. Bread made from REGAL has extra wholesomeness and nutritive value that builds sturdy, healthy bodies in children, and its delicious flavour makes them clamor for it. You'll nourish your children better if you use REGAL in all your baking.

TENDERS FOR COAL AND COKE

SEALED Tenders addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Coal for Maritime Provinces" will be received until 12 o'clock noon (daylight saving), Thursday, May 4, 1939, for the supply of coal and coke for the Dominion Buildings in the Provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island.

Specifications and forms of tender can be obtained from the Purchasing Agent, Department of Public Works, Ottawa, the Resident Architect, at Halifax, N. S., and the Resident Architect, at Saint John, N. B.

Tenders should be made on the forms supplied by the Department and in accordance with departmental specifications and conditions attached thereto.

In the case of tenderers quoting for one or more places of buildings and when the total of their offer exceeds the sum of $5.00, they must attach to their tender a certified cheque on a chartered bank in Canada, made payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to 10 per cent of the amount of the tender, or Bearer Bonds of the Dominion of Canada or of the Canadian National Railway Company and its constituent companies, unconditionally guaranteed as to principal and interest by the Dominion of Canada, or the aforementioned bonds and a certified cheque if required to make up an odd amount.

The Department also reserves the right to demand from any successful tenderer, a security deposit, in the form of a certified cheque or bond as above, equal to 10 per cent of the amount of his bid, to guarantee the proper fulfilment of the contract.

By order,
J. M. SOMERVILLE,
Secretary
Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, April 14, 1939. 31 2c

SATISFIED

If I should plant ten maple trees And all would die but one, And that one lived to shelter man, I'd count my work well done.

If I've planted on my farm Ten fruit trees in the soil, And one will bear ripe, luscious fruit, I'll ne'er regret the toil.

If flowers bloom where none have grown Because I've planted seed, And fragrance sweet shall scent the air, I'm well repaid, indeed.

If in my garden just one rose Shall full bloom in the sun And I may pluck it for a friend, I'll thank God for that one.

If some little thing I've done, Some aid I may have lent, Has eased a bit some other's load, I'll count my day well spent.

If some little word of mine, Some story I may tell, Does cheer some lonely child of Thine, Dear Lord, I'll deem it well.

I shall not ask for greater things If God will grant to me Power to soothe some other's pain Or to aid humanity.

—Sn.

A THOUGHT WORTH WHILE

If times are hard and you feel blue, Think of the others worrying too, Just because your trials are many, Don't think the rest of us haven't any.

Life is made up of smiles and tears, Joys and sorrows mixed with fears; And though to us it seems one-sided, Trouble is pretty well divided. If we could look into every heart, We'd find that each one has its part, And those who travel fortune's road, Sometimes carry the biggest load.

A MESSAGE TO PARENTS

ABOUT THEIR CHILDREN

No child with defective vision has a proper chance in the battle of life. A scientific examination of children's eyes, such as we make, is a sure way to determine whether they have normal vision. Children who require glasses should have the benefit of the very newest scientific development—CORRECTAL Lenses. They give clear, undistorted vision over the entire surface of the lens so that there is accurate vision over at the very edge.

OBITUARY

Anselme B. Deveau
The death of Anselme B. Deveau, took place at his home at St. Beron, Clare, Saturday, the 15th, at the age of 82. He was the last surviving member of the family of the late Ben. F. Deveau, and the late Mary (Saulnier) Deveau, and was born at St. Beron. In religion a Roman Catholic, he belonged to the Society of the Way of the Cross. He was a highly esteemed citizen and is survived by five sons, three in the United States and two at St. Beron; and one daughter, Mrs. Arthur Comeau, of Meteghan River. The funeral took place Tuesday morning from Stella Maris Church, Rev. Father Bourneuf, rector, officiated. Interment was at Stella Maris cemetery, Meteghan.

Samuel Haines
Friends in Freeport have received news of the death of Samuel Haines, 59, who spent his boyhood days in Freeport, before moving to Massachusetts. He was the son of the late Captain Edgar and Mrs. Haines, and his only sister, Mabel (Mrs. R. H. Haines), died about two years ago. His widow and one son Edgar, survive him. Mrs. Haines was ill in a Boston Hospital, and Edgar was absent in a C. C. camp at Danbury, N. H., at the time of his death.

Brenton Jones
The death of Brenton Jones, well known citizen of this place, occurred at the Digby Hospital, at an early hour on Sunday morning. Deceased was the only surviving member of the family of the late Mr. and Mrs. Norman Jones, of this place. He was in his 71st year of age, and is survived by a number of nephews and nieces. The funeral service was held on Monday afternoon, at St. Peter's Anglican Church, the rector, Rev. Frisby Smith, officiating. Interment was in St. Peter's cemetery.

Fire at Centreville Does Great Damage

On Sunday evening Centreville was visited with the worst fire of its history, when the south-west building of the Lunenburg Sea Products Co., was totally destroyed with contents. The fire was discovered about 10.30 p. m., and in very few minutes a crowd had gathered. The heat was so intense that the building could not be saved, so all efforts were put on the other buildings, which were badly damaged. The electric pump and hose was used until the wires burned and it became useless. Fortunately the gas house was saved. For a time it was feared that Loran Shaw's house would go, and everything was moved out, but a change in the wind lessened that risk. The exterior was damaged considerably. The fire-fighters fought a great fight, and received a wonderful tribute from the Insurance representative, who arrived on Monday. These men were fighting for their means of livelihood as the majority of them owned fish houses and equipment which were in constant danger. "Bill" Robichaud lost all his trawls in the Lunenburg building. This building also housed the dressing shed, and box loft, besides a space where a few fishermen baited trawls.

Miss Adele Blackadar, of Lynn, Mass., formerly of Weymouth, was the hostess at a "linen shower" for her class-mate, Miss Mary Linehan, recently, Miss Linehan, daughter of Mrs. Rose Linehan, 33 Cooper Street, Lynn, Mass., will become the bride of Edward Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Collins, of Everett, Mass., in September. The shower was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Johnstone, R. N., 15 Congress St., Lynn. Miss Linehan opened her gifts under a large umbrella.

MARRIAGES

Height - Franklin
A marriage of interest to many friends took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Eisner, Queen Street, on Friday morning, April 21, when Mrs. Minnie Franklin, of Digby, and Alven Height, of Winchester, N. H., were united in marriage by Rev. A. G. Robertson, pastor of the Digby United Baptist Church. The bride wore navy blue with grey accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Height left on the boat for Boston, and will reside at Winchester, N. H.

TAKE THE "LEAD" FEELING OUT OF YOUR LEGS

Get More Oxygen In Your Blood and Get the Peg that Sends You Bounding Up the Stairs. People who suffer to death because oxygen has been completely cut off from them. Just as surely you are slowly smothering if your blood lacks red corpuscles. Real corpuscles are your oxygen-carriers. They carry the oxygen you breathe in to every part of your system. Without enough oxygen-carrying corpuscles, your kidneys, liver, stomach and bowels slow down. Your skin gets pale, flabby, often pimply. Your nerves may become jittery—you tire quickly—feel depressed. What you need is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These world-famous pills help make more and better red corpuscles and thus increase the oxygen-carrying power of your blood. Get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today at your druggist. See for yourself how quickly this time-honored blood-builder will help give you back your pep. Copyright 1938, G. F. Peters Co., Ltd.

THAT OLD BRITISH CUSTOM

The best of our Maritime traits and customs have been borrowed from England . . . and perhaps the most popular of all is the custom of drinking tea. The average Englishman drinks more tea than the average Maritimer, but he is not a bit more particular about the brand. In the Maritimes we have a tradition of fine tea due partly to the fact that such delicious tea as Mo's is blended right here in the Maritimes by a Company which bears the distinction of being Canada's Oldest Tea Firm. Good tea is a thing that anyone can enjoy. Even the best tea, Mo's Orange Pekoe and Mo's Darjeeling cost but a fraction of a cent per cup. So let your family enjoy the pleasure of really fine tea . . . serve them Mo's Orange Pekoe or, if you prefer, Mo's Darjeeling, the tea of distinction.

HAD DIZZY SPELLS FOR 3 YEARS

Result of Acid Indigestion.

"Before taking Kruschen," a woman writes, "I had very bad dizzy spells and hot flushes, bad spells of acid indigestion, and I was so nervous at times that the least thing would upset me. I was about three years in that condition. I could not tell you in words how happy and glad I am today that I gave Kruschen Salts a trial. I have now taken them for 18 months. I would not miss them one day. They are a great help to anyone who suffers as I did. I feel in better health today than I have for years. After taking Kruschen for three weeks the dizzy spells and hot flushes left me. I now feel so bright and cheerful. Kruschen Salts assist to keep you fit and fine."—(Mrs.) J.M.

Kruschen Salts is an excellent recipe for maintaining a condition of internal cleanliness. The numerous salts in Kruschen stimulate your internal organs to smooth, regular action. Your inside is thus kept clear of those impurities which, when allowed to accumulate, lower the whole tone of the system.

SHIPPING NOTES

The motor vessels, Twila and Rozelle, Capt. Darrell Chaney, of Little River; and Ralph and Arthur, Capt. Walter Wasson, sailed last week for Saint John with cargoes of hard wood lumber for trans-shipment to the Old Country. The cargoes were shipped by G. O. Hankinson, H. E. Wagner and Weymouth Shipping Company.

The motor vessel, Nepsya, Capt. Gilbert Zinck, of Lunenburg, sailed last week for Danversport, Mass., with a cargo of spruce lumber. Cargo was shipped by Weymouth Shipping Company.

DEATH AND IMMORTALITY

Man in darkness, O ye man in chains.

Grasping, clinging to life's puny gains,

One of millions of the human race,

Plunging onward in life's mad chase,

Void of wisdom, though you know it not,

Just an atom in life's polyglot.

Behold a picture, the effect of death,

Silent monitor, not a passing breath.

Pinder it well with an open mind,

See that your heart is thoughtful and kind,

Foster not evil as you tread life's path,

Progenitor of rathed, violence and wrath.

Should it not humble human pride

Just to vision in this world so wide,

That of all that are passing, day by day,

That you may be the next that is called away.

An emblem of what you are sure to be

When you entrain for eternity,

Emblem of what you may soon become,

Wasting away in the silent tomb,

Late in the fall the frost comes around,

Then the leaves fall, lie thick on the ground,

The wintry blasts sing a sad refrain,

But no one comes to gather them again.

Arch Kaye, of Halifax, spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. Hannah Walker. He was accompanied by Ellsworth Coggins, of the crew of the steamer, Lady Hawkins, who spent the day with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Coggins.

VET IS IN FAVOR OF GOUGH'S ARMY

A Weymouth man, who saw active service in France during the days of the Great War, is 100 per cent behind a resolution which recently was passed by Halifax City Council, to the effect that the Dominion Government have voluntary enlistment for all single unemployed men on a basis similar to the military.

In a letter received by Alderman, Dr. P. A. Gough, sponsor of the resolution, G. Campbell, M. C., a former machine gun officer in the 85th Battalion, contends the plan is a splendid one and has his whole-hearted endorsement. Mr. Campbell was overseas from 1916 to 1919.

NATION HOSPITAL DAY

National Hospital Day, May 12, will be observed at the Digby Hospital this year, so it was decided at the meeting of the Ladies' Hospital Aid Society held on Monday. This is an annual custom with most hospitals, and it will be falling in line with a nation-wide movement when it is observed in Digby. The Digby Hospital will be open to the public for inspection and tea will be served in the reception room to the visitors. Everyone is welcome, free of charge, to call at the Hospital, May 12th, and become acquainted with the efficient staff and their facilities for service.

Reports read at the meeting of the Hospital Aid Society gave the following list of Hospital patients for the month of March: Obstetrical, 7; babies, 6; X-Ray, 21; medical, 23; surgical, 16; with 3 minor operations and 13 major operations. Total number of patients, 73. The general expenses of the Hospital for the month were $756.28, and salaries, $592.46.

Considerable redecoration of furniture, rooms and corridors has been taking place at the Hospital during the past few weeks, and several new mattresses have been purchased for ward beds, together with other necessary equipment. In preparation for an improvement in the upkeep of the lawn, an order has been placed for a power-lawn-mower, which should provide well-kept grounds for the coming season.

METEGHAN

Lobster fishing has been very poor so far, this year, there is only one more month for the lobster season, and we hope our fishermen will be more successful in that time.

The work in our shipyards in building and repairs is going along steadily. The Meteghan Shipbuilding Co., will launch two new vessels soon. Elsie Gaudet has a number of smaller boats in his yard, Wilfred J. Comeau has built many small sporting boats this winter and is still busy with more.

W. N. Gates, of Yarmouth, spent last week in this place, tuning and repairing the organ of the church, and also many pianos in the village.

Mrs. Mary M. Eldridge, who resides at the home of her nephew, William H. Saulnier, spent a few weeks' vacation in Boston and vicinity. She was accompanied by another nephew, A. H. Saulnier, of St. Alphonse de Clare.

Mrs. Fidelis LeBlanc, of Church Point, spent last week at the Royal Hotel.

James Surette, of Yarmouth, accompanied his brother-in-law, Dr. Thomas Melanson, D. D. S., here Wednesday of last week, and visited many friends and acquaintances.

We had a heavy thunder storm Saturday evening, for the first time this season.

The Women's Institute had their monthly meeting Thursday evening of last week, at the residence of Mrs. Joseph C. Comeau, Meteghan Centre, under the presidency of Mrs. Raymond LeBlanc. The Patrol boat, Capelin, Capt. A. Moore, left the wharf Saturday, after repairs at Elsie Gaudet's dry dock.

The schooner, Helen McColt, Capt. Otis Cline, and engineer, Edward Hallet, of Lubec, Maine, is in port for repairs at Elsie Gaudet's dry dock. Also the Mary Nell, Capt. Hazin E. Daggett, of Seal Cove, Grand Manan.

Benoit Robichaud arrived home last week, after having been employed for over a year at Annapolis Royal.

Italy Calls It Her "Heligoland"

Looking down we see the island of Leros, one of the Dodecanese Islands, which Italians term the "Heligoland of the Aegean". The island was taken by Italy from Turkey in 1912 and has become increasingly important from a strategic standpoint as England draws in her naval lines to prevent Italian domination of the Mediterranean.

By S. P. W.

The contrast between the Canadian and British budgets, which were both presented to the respective Houses of Commons on April 25th, must have been noted with thankfulness by all Canadians. They reflect most clearly the effect of geographical position on problems of national defence. The Canadian budget contained few surprises. Major tariff changes had already been made in the Canada-United States trade agreement. The three per cent special excise tax on imports came off all goods from intermediate tariff countries. Special income tax concessions were made to encourage capital construction, and the special benefits to new mines were continued for another three years. A paragraph from the budget speech of special interest to the Annapolis Valley, which was loudly applauded as it was read, as follows: "Under the Excise Act it is proposed to increase the rate of duty on spirits used in making vinegar from 27 cents per gallon to 60 cents per gallon. The purpose of this proposal is to stimulate the use of apple cider in making vinegar, and thus to widen the market for low grade apples."

It is the intention of the Minister to extend the Reserve to the Atlantic coast during the present year.

In Ottawa, work is being rushed in Confederation Square, on the new Post Office and on the widening of Elgin Street. In preparation for the fast approaching visit of Their Majesties. The steel skeleton of the new Supreme Court is also now visible on its promontory overlooking the Ottawa River. The Queen will lay the corner stone during her stay in the capital city. Ottawa, April 29th, 1939.

Dr. G. E. Eakins, of Port Arthur, has been elected president of the Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons.

In addition to the budget, which was presented on Tuesday, and debated on Friday, much else of interest claimed the attention of the House during the week. A bill to amend the Criminal Code with respect to trades unions, referred to in this column two weeks ago, was passed, as was also Mr. Illesley's bill to deal with the loan shark problem.

An act to encourage the production of high grade cheese, in the name of the Minister of Agriculture, was also passed. This bill will pay a bonus of one cent per pound on cheese scoring 93, and two cents per pound on cheese scoring 94. An interesting point which was brought out in the course of the debate is that although there are 1025 cheese factories in Canada, there are not any in Nova Scotia. The great majority of these factories are in Quebec and Ontario. There are eight in New Brunswick and eight in Prince Edward Island. Another interesting fact is that Canada's consumption of cheese is very low—3.36 pounds per capita per year. Great Britain eats three times as much per capita, and Switzerland five times as much.

Another bill was passed with respect to the dairy industry, this one at the request of the National Dairy Council, to set up an advisory board to act as a sort of liaison officer between the industry and the government. Mr. Gardiner in another connection explained that the distribution of free butter to needy families would be by the issue of vouchers by the Red Cross. These vouchers would be exchangeable for No. 1 butter at ordinary retail stores, and redeemable through the banks monthly at current prices.

A bill was passed extending the term of office of the Chief Justice of Canada—Sir Lyman Duff—for three years. Both the Minister of Justice and the Leader of the Opposition spoke in most glowing terms of his abilities and the quality of the service he is giving Canada.

On Wednesday the Minister of National Defence made a long statement of Canada's defence problems and needs, and the steps which the government has taken to be prepared for an emergency. It will be of interest to Nova Scotians to learn that a Fishermen's Reserve, a branch of the Royal Canadian Naval Reserve, was created during the present year on the Pacific Coast. Its objects is to train fishermen in naval patrol work for service in their own boats in waters with which they are intimately familiar. Two hundred men are being trained in British Columbia. It is the intention of the Minister to extend the Reserve to the Atlantic coast during the present year.

In Ottawa, work is being rushed in Confederation Square, on the new Post Office and on the widening of Elgin Street. In preparation for the fast approaching visit of Their Majesties. The steel skeleton of the new Supreme Court is also now visible on its promontory overlooking the Ottawa River. The Queen will lay the corner stone during her stay in the capital city. Ottawa, April 29th, 1939.

Dr. G. E. Eakins, of Port Arthur, has been elected president of the Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons.

In addition to the budget, which was presented on Tuesday, and debated on Friday, much else of interest claimed the attention of the House during the week. A bill to amend the Criminal Code with respect to trades unions, referred to in this column two weeks ago, was passed, as was also Mr. Illesley's bill to deal with the loan shark problem.

An act to encourage the production of high grade cheese, in the name of the Minister of Agriculture, was also passed. This bill will pay a bonus of one cent per pound on cheese scoring 93, and two cents per pound on cheese scoring 94. An interesting point which was brought out in the course of the debate is that although there are 1025 cheese factories in Canada, there are not any in Nova Scotia. The great majority of these factories are in Quebec and Ontario. There are eight in New Brunswick and eight in Prince Edward Island. Another interesting fact is that Canada's consumption of cheese is very low—3.36 pounds per capita per year. Great Britain eats three times as much per capita, and Switzerland five times as much.

Another bill was passed with respect to the dairy industry, this one at the request of the National Dairy Council, to set up an advisory board to act as a sort of liaison officer between the industry and the government. Mr. Gardiner in another connection explained that the distribution of free butter to needy families would be by the issue of vouchers by the Red Cross. These vouchers would be exchangeable for No. 1 butter at ordinary retail stores, and redeemable through the banks monthly at current prices.

A bill was passed extending the term of office of the Chief Justice of Canada—Sir Lyman Duff—for three years. Both the Minister of Justice and the Leader of the Opposition spoke in most glowing terms of his abilities and the quality of the service he is giving Canada.

On Wednesday the Minister of National Defence made a long statement of Canada's defence problems and needs, and the steps which the government has taken to be prepared for an emergency. It will be of interest to Nova Scotians to learn that a Fishermen's Reserve, a branch of the Royal Canadian Naval Reserve, was created during the present year on the Pacific Coast. Its objects is to train fishermen in naval patrol work for service in their own boats in waters with which they are intimately familiar. Two hundred men are being trained in British Columbia. It is the intention of the Minister to extend the Reserve to the Atlantic coast during the present year.

HERE and THERE

Here in Sacramento, California, we find ourselves on low ground again, for, this city has an elevation of exactly 71 feet above sea level. It is located at the confluence of the Sacramento and American rivers. During the rainy season these rivers often get out of bounds and flood the country for miles around, and even invade some of the lower sections of the city. Sacramento is a beautiful and flourishing city of about 95,000 inhabitants. It is the distributing point for a large section of Northern and Central California's fruit, berry, walnut, grain and rice crops. The climate is sub-tropical, which means that the summers are hot as blazes and the rest of the year it is much like the climate of Los Angeles, which is good enough for anybody. Sacramento is the Capital of California and of course, the county seat of Sacramento County. It has been the Capital since 1864, despite ambitious desires on the part of other cities to acquire the Capital for themselves. Prior to the date mentioned, and during the early years the Capital had a decidedly migratory existence. Monterey was the seat of government under the Spanish and Mexican regime. Los Angeles used to grab it now and then, but usually had to hand it back to Monterey, for none of the Government officials at that time cared about living in the City of the Angels. When the State came under American rule the capital was first located at San Jose, from there it was moved to the little town of Vallejo on the upper reaches of San Francisco Bay, and then to Sacramento, and back again it went down stream to the little bay city of Benicia, and finally in 1854 up the river again to Sacramento. I suppose one can truthfully say that the principal points of interest are the Capital buildings, most of which, including the Governor's mansion, were built in 1874; some modern buildings have been added in the last four years. The Governor's house is said to be quite out of date as a residence, although all of the Governor's—including San Francisco's favorite son, Jimmy Rolph, Jr., who was quite a stickler for style and appearances—have seemed to get along in it fairly well without having to paste old newspapers over broken window panes or using the family wash tub for the Saturday night bath. But, the present newly elected Governor says he does not like the old mansion—probably expects to spend a couple of terms or more there, a vain hope, however, for no Governor for a long time has been permitted to have more than one term in this State—and he wants a new mansion costing not over a hundred thousand dollars and not less than fifty thousand. This does not jibe very well with his pre-election utterances regarding economy. But the Governor is a politician. And how frugal and economically minded politicians can be before election, and how lavish and extravagant they can become with the people's money after election. However, the line up in the legislature now in session, indicates opposition and hard sledding for some of the Governor's pet schemes.

There is much of interest to be seen on the inside of the Capital building, including paintings and other works by California artists. The collection of relics of the gold rush period and the fine collection of precious and other minerals of the State as well as the products of the forests, are particularly interesting.

As one looks into the Assembly Hall of the Capitol, his memory naturally calls up tales of exciting and historical scenes that have taken place within these walls. I'll venture to say that none more dramatic or disgraceful than the one enacted here in the first week of this year has ever taken place. When a fiery radical convict named Tom Mooney, received a full pardon from Governor Olson. In 1917 during a "Preparedness Parade" in San Francisco, a dynamite bomb was exploded in the crowd, killing ten innocent bystanders. Tom Mooney, a labor union radical, was arrested and tried for the deed. He was sentenced to be hanged. The Soviet Government at Moscow, came to Mooney's aid, and requested President Wilson to intervene. And, Wilson, always ready to intervene and interfere wherever the Governor of a State happened to be a Republican, asked the California Governor to commute Mooney's sentence. In deference to the President's re-

Barrymore Debut

Ethel Barrymore Colt, daughter of Ethel Barrymore and Crown prince of the American theatre's royal family makes her debut in Boston as a night club entertainer. Miss Colt says she has now tried every entertainment field except burlesque and grand opera.

Teachers In Annapolis West

The following teachers have been appointed for the next school year:—

Latest designs in floral decorations will be exhibited at the "school" to be held by the Maritime unit of the Florist's Telegraph Delivery Association in the Canadian National Hotel in Charlottetown, August 1st and 2nd, according to R. A. Snowball, of the Maritime unit. It will be one of the most outstanding schools yet held in the Maritimes. The school will be in charge of Ernest Simmons, of Toronto, past-President of the Association. Among others who are expected to be in attendance are Willard Crain, of Cincinnati, President; Leo McKenna, Montreal, Regional Director; along with several outstanding artists from central Canadian cities. The programme includes instruction in bouquets, corsages, designs and wedding decorations, covering every sphere of floral art and displaying flowers in the most modern creations. A banquet will be held at the close of the school, to be followed by a day of entertainment and sightseeing.

Miss Margaret Hawkesworth, nurse in training at the Montreal General, is spending her vacation with her aunt, Mrs. James Warrington.

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Rowans, of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, recently, and that is news, because she is the first girl born in the family in 92 years.

The public is cordially invited to visit the Hospital on Friday, May 12th—the day when hospitals all over the country are holding open-house. Tea will be served from 4 to 6 o'clock.

W. E. Wasson, of Painsboro, was the recent purchaser of the motor boat Phyllis C., from G. M. Morrell. She is to be used as a pilot boat in Minas Basin and the headwaters of the Bay of Fundy, but will have to undergo considerable repairs before being commissioned.

Ionic Lodge, A. F. and A. M., of Middleton, conferred the Master Mason degree on three candidates in King Solomon Lodge, on Tuesday evening, after which the officers for the ensuing year were installed by S. B. Aymar, assisted by Rev. Dr. Hodgson and J. J. Wallis. Refreshments followed, the Gem Restaurant catering.

Knocked from the back of a truck in a collision with a horse wagon, owned by James Robbins, Roseway farmer, and driven by Mr. Robbins' grand-daughter, Miss Phyllis Walker, of Digby, Arthur Thomas (son of the late Medford Thomas) suffered minor injuries. He was struck in the chest by the horse's head, and the truck ran over one foot. No bones were broken.

Young People's Unions

Weymouth, Y. P. U.
At the meeting of the Young People's Union of Hearts Memorial United Church on Friday evening, a Quiz Contest was held on the Pauline Epistles; highest scores were obtained by Kathleen Fitz-Gerald, Dorothy Blackadar, and Judson Nickerson. This evening, (Friday) Galen Pierce, Citizenship Convener, will give a talk on Democracy. This being the fourth in a series of Citizenship programmes, being given by Mr. Pierce this year.

Digby, Y. P. U.
The regular meeting of the Young People's Union of Grace United Church, was held on Tuesday evening, with Eleanor Wallis, Christian Culture convener, in charge. The theme of the evening was: "The Last Supper". The worship was conducted by Geraldine Syda, and Patricia MacPhee. Miss MacPhee lead the business session directly after, which was followed by a reading by Dora Hirtle, on the painting "The Last Supper" by Leonardo de Vinci. The final Bible Quiz took place, and the team for the Rally was selected. The Rally is to take place on May 18th, in Grandville Ferry. The afternoon session opening at 3.00, and the evening session at 8.00 o'clock. All those who can attend both sessions, please do so.

When it comes to prognosticating hurricanes and storms, the jellyfish is in a class by itself. Last fall, Halifax harbor, in Nova Scotia, swarmed with jellyfish, a shoreward movement that usually happens following the formation and subsequent movement of North Atlantic tropical cyclones. The fishermen were getting tons of them in their gill nets, according to the Natural Resources Department of the Canadian National Railways. The funny part of it was that the official weather forecasters passed it up as it was just one of those storms that did not happen to travel across the usual shipping routes and hence was not reported. The jellyfish put in their appearance in Halifax on September 19th and New England coast on September 21st causing tremendous damage. So, now, in addition to atmospheric pressure, wind direction, and grandpa's rheumatism, the lowly jellyfish takes its place as a weather prognosticator.

The public is cordially invited to visit the Hospital on Friday, May 12th—the day when hospitals all over the country are holding open-house. Tea will be served from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Summer Hotels Getting in Readiness

Summer hotels of Digby are making preparations for the approaching summer season. Already employment has been given a number of persons who are "housecleaning" the properties and putting the grounds in shape for the season.

Several are engaged at the Myrtle Hotel, where a great deal of work is in progress. This popular summer hotel, one of the best known in the province, which has been closed for the past two seasons, will be re-opened this year, the property having been taken over by A. Douglas Cossaboom, of Harbor View Hotel, Smith's Cove, who will operate both properties. Mrs. C. J. Eldridge, of Lour Lodge, another of Digby's larger hotels, is having her property put in condition for the approaching season. It is understood the Pines Hotel will open several days earlier this year, the convention of the Maritime Retail Dealers, June 19 and 20, being the cause.

New Fish Company Starts Business Monday

The very latest business house to open in Digby County, is the Bay of Fundy Fish Company, which starts operations on Monday. This company, organized a few months ago by a group of American business men, was originally styled the Port Wade Fish Company, but it has since been decided to change the name to the Bay of Fundy Fish Company. Land was secured at the head of the breakwater, a few miles below Digby Gut and several attractive buildings have been built. The largest—the warehouse—is a two-storey building 110 by 45 feet; attached is the office and store, 22 by 15 feet; the splitting shed is 50 by 20 feet. The buildings are far enough advanced to enable the staff to carry on all the necessary operations but carpenters are still working on them. Henry Meier, of New York, is the president of the company; Harry Zetche, of New York, is vice-president, and David Price, of New York, is the general manager.

In conversation with Mr. Price yesterday morning, he expressed great pleasure at the very friendly co-operation has been received from the residents of Culloden and Digby. He has found them ever willing to help in the enterprise in any way. Quite a staff of men is being employed and about ten boats will be fishing for them at the start. They will handle fresh and salt fish, smoked fish, lobster, clams, etc.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Allister Skillen

The death of Mrs. Allister Skillen, 29, occurred at the Digby General Hospital, on Saturday last. Deceased, who was a daughter of Boyd Gehue, of Bear River, is survived by her husband and three children. Funeral services took place Tuesday afternoon, Rev. A. G. Robertson officiating. Interment was at Woodlawn Cemetery.

Mrs. Margaret Blauvelt

The death of Mrs. Margaret Blauvelt, 74, widow of the late Aaron G. Blauvelt, occurred at the home of her sister, Miss Bessie Chisholm, Warwick Street, on Saturday morning, after a lengthy illness. Deceased was born at Windsor, and was a daughter of the late James R. Chisholm, of that town. For the past eight years she made her home at Digby. Surviving are one son, Dr. Hugh O. Blauvelt, F. R. C. S., head surgeon at Middlesex Hospital, London, England; a granddaughter, Jennifer Anne; three sisters, Miss Bessie Chisholm, Digby; Miss Grace Chisholm, and Mrs. Frederick Snow, of Framingham Centre, Mass.; two brothers, John, of Vancouver, B. C., and James, of Digby. Funeral services were conducted at the home Wednesday morning with Rev. Dr. T. W. Hodgson, pastor of Grace United Church, officiating. Interment was at Windsor, where Dr. Hodgson officiated at the grave. Many beautiful floral tributes testified the esteem in which the deceased was held by her friends.

Isalah Hill

Isalah Hill, of South Range, one of the best known farmers and lumbermen in this section of the county, died at his home there yesterday morning. He was born in that village 89 years ago next month. He leaves to mourn their loss four sons, Forest and Percy, in South Range; Leroy, in Halifax, and Bernard, in Massachusetts; and one daughter, Mrs. Ernest Robichaud, of South Range. The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon.

Reception Tendered To Popular Clergyman

A former Nova Scotian was recently honoured at a reception, attended by more than 200 persons, at Pawtucket, R. I. He was Rev. Egbert C. Prime, pastor of the First Baptist Church, in that city. The occasion marked the 10th anniversary of his coming to Pawtucket to take up work in that church.

Rev. Egbert C. Prime is a native of Freeport, N. S., a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Seth V. Prime. He graduated from Acadia University, Wolfville, in 1922, and from the Newton Theological College in 1924.

After his graduation he was pastor of the First Baptist Church, Bridgewater, Mass., until April, 1929. He became associate pastor of his present church in April, 1929, and in April, 1931, was made pastor.

He is first vice-president of the Family Welfare Society; member of the Boy's Work Committee of the Y. M. C. A.; director of the Anti-Saloon League of Rhode Island; member of the Providence Baptist Theological Circle; trustee of the Rhode Island Bible Society; trustee of the New England Baptist Conference; member of the executive and past president of the Blackstone Valley Ministers' Union; member of the Permanent Council of the Rhode Island Baptist State Convention.

Among the young people of his congregation he has organized the Fireside Forum; Senior High Fellowship; Wide World Guild and Royal Ambassadors. A fellowship class for young married men has been organized. An Acadia Club for young girls, has been organized, and the Women's Missionary Society and Ladies' Social Circle have been merged into the Women's Guild.

At the reception given in his honour, Duncan C. H. Ferguson was toastmaster. Chief speaker of the evening was Dr. Raymond L. Spoerri, pastor of the Warren Heights Baptist Church. Other guests included: Dr. E. C. Herrick, of Andover Newton Theological School; Rev. Ralph O. Harpole, who brought greetings from the Ministers' Union, and Dr. Reed, of the Baptist State Convention.

Former Freeport people attending the convention were: Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Prime and daughters, Pearl and Dorothy, Wellsley Hills, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel C. Prime, Pawtucket, R. I.; Mrs. Mary E. Haines, Needham, Mass.; Miss Maud L. Haines, Brookline, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Nunn, Brookline, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Randolph C. Campbell, Somerville, Mass.

Mrs. Ansel Snow returned home yesterday from Boston.

CULLODEN

Mrs. Edgar Post and daughter Florence, and Doris Ross spent one day last week in Annapolis Royal. Judson Handsaker spent a few days last week with friends in Digby.

Mrs. Judson Handsaker and Mrs. Sadie Stark spent one day last week with friends in Digby. Miss Francis Boylin, of Bridge-town, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. James Ross.

James Trohon, of Digby, spent Sunday with friends in this place. Mrs. S. E. Wilson and daughter Alice, of the Shore Road, Digby, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Newton Ross.

The Misses Calvina Piggott, Margaret Piggott, Minnie Messenger, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Grover, Charleton Rhynard, Silby Saunders and "Don" McQuarrie, all of Bridgetown, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. James Ross.

Mrs. Wiley Ross and little son spent last week in Digby, with Mrs. Alex. Ross.

Miss Florence Griffin left last Friday for Boston and New York, to visit her sisters en route to Vancouver. She was accompanied as far as Yarmouth by her mother, Mrs. Edgar Post, brother, Alex., and Doris Ross.

Mrs. Otis Middleton has returned home, after spending the past month in Digby.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott VanTassell, of Mt. Pleasant, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Newton Ross.

WHY JITTER?

Apropos of the present-day tendency to "vew-with-alarm" a subscriber offers the following: The London Times says there has been distributed in a London store a handbill as follows:

"They were all wrong!" William Pitt said. "There is scarcely anything around us but ruin and despair."

Wilberforce in the early 1800's said: "I dare not marry, the future is so dark and unsettled."

Lord Grey in 1819: "... believed everything was tending to a convulsion."

The Duke of Wellington, on the eve of his death (1851): "... thanked God he would be spared from seeing the consummation of ruin that is gathering around."

Disraeli (1840): "In industry, commerce, and agriculture there is no hope."

Queen Adelaide said she "... had only one desire, to play the part of Marie Antoinette with bravery in the revolution that was coming on England."

Lord Shaftesbury said (1848): "Nothing can save the British Empire from shipwreck."

We got through then—and shall do so again.

Why Jitter?

MEDALS AWARDED FOR GALLANTRY

Capt. L. F. Barkhouse, 73-year-old Westport man, has been awarded Royal Canadian Humane Association bronze medals for gallantry.

Without a moment's hesitation, Barkhouse plunged into the water when Daniel B. Kenney rolled overboard from the schooner, Ronald C. Longmire, in July, 1937. Despite his age, the rescuer managed to keep Kenney's face above water until others came to their assistance.

Miss Geraldine Durling, of St. Bernard's, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Nancy Durling.

Freeport Pupils Win In Music Competition

The students of the Freeport High School are the recipients of hearty congratulations, having been very successful in their first competition at the Yarmouth Music Festival. Much credit is due the pupils on their splendid performance, but their very able music teacher, Miss Phyllis Crocker, is also to be congratulated, because she has been teaching these students a few months only, and it was through her untiring efforts that the students were able to take part.

The students were competing in High School Choirs of twenty-five or under, and needless to say they were overjoyed when they were presented with a cup, by Prof. Ivan Williams, as winners of this group.

The cup is at present on display at the store of A. R. Westcott.

I wish to take this opportunity to thank Dr. Weir, Rev. J. G. Wakeling, B. S. Morrell, H. O. Connell and Lloyd Blackford for the use of their cars and all those who helped in any way to make transportation possible.

B. E. Finigan,
Principal Freeport School.

The small girl met the doctor near her home. "You brought a little baby next door, didn't you?" she enquired. "Yes," he answered. "Shall I bring one to your house?" "No, thanks," came the prompt reply. "Why we scarcely have time even to wash the dog."

A MESSAGE TO PARENTS

ABOUT THEIR CHILDREN

No child with defective vision has a proper chance in the battle of life. A scientific examination of children's eyes, such as we make, is a sure way to determine whether they have normal vision.

Children who require glasses should have the benefit of the very newest scientific development—CORRECTAL Lenses. They give clear, undistorted vision over the entire surface of the lens so that there is accurate vision even at the very edge.

HONORED ON BIRTHDAY

Mrs. George Sinclair, of Westport, was honoured by two gatherings on her birthday, at a very recent date. In the afternoon twelve of her friends called to wish her many happy returns of the day. They had an enjoyable time, and afternoon tea followed the social period. On the next evening the Willing Workers Circle spent the evening with her and much merriment followed till a late hour. Refreshments were served. Mrs. Sinclair showed great appreciation at both gatherings of the remembrances of her many friends.

HECTANOOGA

Eddie V. Deveau, J. A. Deveau, Mrs. Eddie G. Deveau and son Eric, of this place, and Miss Louise Doucet, of Norwood, attended the devotions of the Forty-Hour at St. Vincent de Paul Church, Salmon River, last week.

Mrs. Evangeline Boudreau, Postmistress at St. Alphonse de Clare, and son, Louis, were here Saturday evening calling on friends. Mrs. Boudreau was a former teacher here.

Eulysse Smith, of Saulnierville Station, was here at the week end on his way to Corberrie and Concession.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Deveau, of Weymouth, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lyas B. Deveau, on Sunday. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Philip C. Deveau, also of Weymouth. On their return home they were accompanied by Mrs. Lyas Deveau, who will make a short visit.

Eulysse Comeau, of St. Alphonse de Clare, spent Sunday evening in this place.

Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Boudreau were at Little Brook on Sunday, visiting Mrs. Boudreau's mother, Mrs. Sylvain Melanson, who is ill at the home of her son, Bowman.

Master Eric Deveau, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie G. Deveau, is ill with pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Saulnier have returned from Briar Lake, where they spent the winter. Mrs. Ira Gaudet, of Meteghan Station, returned home on Monday, after spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. Alice Deveau.

Mrs. Mary Taylor is the first to have potatoes planted this spring. They were planted Tuesday, May 2nd.

A fishing party were here recently calling on C. L. Deveau and J. A. Deveau. They fished Dean's Brook and Joe Bonny's Lake and returned with about 50 fine specimens of the speckled beauties. George L. Deveau, of this place, caught a trout in Joe Bonny's Lake that weighed over two pounds. Fishing parties or others, who want to report, give us a call. We will always be with pleasure at your disposal. We want news and stories, as we want to boost up our respective Journals.

MARRIAGES

Thibaut - Boudreau

A pretty wedding took place on Tuesday of last week at St. Alphonse Church, when Miss Genevieve Mae Boudreau, daughter of Mrs. Exile Doucet, of Cape St. Mary, became the bride of Willie N. Thibaut, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Thibaut, of Cedar Lake. The bride wore a pretty dress of blue and grey crepe, with accessories to match, and was attended by her sister, Mrs. Ernest Saulnier, of Mayflower. Hector Boudreau, brother of the bride and bridesmaid, was best man. The happy couple received the blessing of Rev. P. M. LeBlanc, who celebrated the nuptial mass, after which a breakfast was served at the home of the bride, to the bridal party. The day was spent at Wedgeport, birthplace of the bride, where her cousin, Mrs. Alma LeBlanc, served the wedding dinner. The supper, to which near relatives were invited, was at the home of the bride's uncle, Odillon LeBlanc. In the evening a reception was held at the home of the bride, where a large number of friends gathered. The newlyweds will reside at Cedar Lake.

Hird - Denton

A quiet wedding took place on the evening of Wednesday, April 26, when Elsie Mae, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. B. Denton, of Clementsport, became the bride of Charles Collin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Hird, of Garland, Kings County. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. T. W. Hodgson, of the Grace United Church, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Leonard Winchester, who was matron of honor, with Mr. Winchester supporting the groom. The bride was attired in a dress of deep blue with accessories to match, and carried a bouquet of pink and white snapdragons with maiden hair fern. A reception followed the ceremony, where they received many gifts from relatives and friends. The happy couple left the following day for Garland, where they will reside.

METEGHAN

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond LeBlanc, with their son, Aimé, left Friday for Montreal to visit the mother of Mr. LeBlanc, the widow of the late Dr. A. A. LeBlanc, formerly of Arichat, who is ill.

Joseph Geddry, of Hamilton, Mass., after having resided for over forty years in the United States, has returned to his native land to reside. He will make his home with his sister, Mrs. Ben. M. LeBlanc, at Meteghan Centre.

M. C. Lefort, of Cheticamp, representing N. C. Polson & Co., of Montreal; R. Winchester and E. Jones, of Digby; W. H. McEllan, of Halifax, inspector of vessels; and W. H. McIntosh, of River John, were registered at the Royal Hotel last week.

H. S. LeBlanc, inspector of Old Age Pensions, was in the village on Saturday on his way home to West Pubnico.

Mrs. James Geddry, Meteghan Station, returned Saturday from the Yarmouth Hospital, where she underwent a successful operation on her right eye.

On Tuesday evening of last week the first meeting of the Home and School Association was held in the Superior School at Meteghan. Mrs. John P. Deveau presiding, Rev. Father Bournet, honorary president, and Rev. Father Comeau, honorary vice-president, were present and addressed the meeting. A talk on the French language was given by Arthur Robichaud, and was greatly appreciated. A choir of children, under the direction of Rev. Sister Nuelia, rendered appropriate songs, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Alphonsine Deveau.

Sylvain Melanson

Sylvain Melanson died very suddenly at the home of his son, Bowman, in Little Brook, Monday afternoon of last week, at the age of 70 years and 8 months. He was a son of the late Morrell Melanson and Elizabeth (Martin) Melanson, and was born at Lake Doucet. For a number of years he had lived in Hectanooga. On Tuesday of Holy Week he and his wife went to Little Brook to spend a few weeks. He is survived by his widow, the former Miss Emma Thibaut, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Gellien Thibaut, of Briar Lake; one son, Bowman, in Little Brook; two daughters, Mrs. N. C. Boudreau, of Hectanooga, and Louise, in Maine; two brothers, Norman, of Yarmouth, and Arthur, of Lake Doucet; and three sisters, Mrs. Leonard Gillan, Mrs. Arthur Geddry and Mrs. LaFave, all in Massachusetts.

Isaac P. Doucett, one of Plympton's oldest residents, passed away on Sunday, April 23, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Geddry, after a few weeks' illness. Born at Doucetteville, April 11, 1852, the son of Robert Doucett and Marriett Saulnier, he was the last surviving member of a family of eight. He was a ship caulker by trade and worked in the United States for many years, returning to Nova Scotia in 1918. His wife, Sarah Amaro, predeceased him eight years ago. He leaves one daughter, Mrs. John Geddry, of Plympton; two sons, Ollie, Perth Amboy, N. J., and William, of Greenport, Long Island; also several grandchildren. The funeral services were held at St. Croix Church, Plympton.

Peters - Curry
Mr. and Mrs. Nell Curry, of Westport, announce the marriage of their daughter, Helen Shirley, to Eustace Peters, son of Mrs. Annie Peters and the late Rupert Peters, of Westport. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. Cholerton, of the United Baptist Church, Westport, at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bailey, on Monday, May 1st. Relatives and immediate friends witnessed the ceremony. The couple are spending their honeymoon at the above mentioned place of their marriage. Congratulations and all good wishes are extended to them.

Augustin Belliveau
Augustin Belliveau, who was suddenly stricken with paralysis a week ago, passed away at his home in Belliveau's Cove, on April 28. Mr. Belliveau was never sick in his 78 years. He is survived by four children, Lucie, at home; Mrs. Zita Wickstrand, of Hartford, Conn.; and two sons, Alphonse and Charles at home; also three sisters, the Misses Helen and Annie Belliveau and Mrs. Amy Belliveau; four brothers, Martin, Isale, Adrien and Lennie, all of Belliveau's Cove. Burial took place in St. Bernard cemetery.

ANNIVERSARY PARTY

A very enjoyable party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hartlen (nee Lois Tooker, formerly of Weymouth), in Halifax, Friday evening, April 28th, it being the occasion of their first anniversary. Telegrams, cards of congratulations and gifts were received by the couple. The evening was spent playing Bingo. The winners were: Ladies' first, Miss "Dot" Sabean; ladies' second, Mrs. Roy Hatcher; gent's first, Ira Swallow; gent's second, Austin Hartlen; consolation, H. V. Hartlen. At the close of the evening a very attractive table was spread by the hostess, centered by two anniversary cakes, prettily decorated for the occasion, one being an ice cream cake in the shape of a heart.

LET US MAKE NOVA SCOTIA MORE ATTRACTIVE

The Minister of Highways of Nova Scotia is to be commended for continuing the campaign to improve the appearance of public and private properties all over the province. During the two years which have lapsed since this public appeal was first made, much has been done in the cities and towns. "Clean-Up Weeks" have been announced, horticultural clubs and other community organizations have encouraged the planting of trees, shrubs, flowers and lawns. But for the most part the activities have been confined to the urban centres.

This year the Minister is making his appeal especially to those who live in the rural areas of Nova Scotia. Some may not be able to do very much, but, he points out, that if everyone would plant a tree or two which may be obtained only at the cost of labour from nearby clearings in the woods, much would be accomplished. If, in addition to this, some of the rubbish and other eyesores which have accumulated, were cleared away the countryside would be greatly improved and made correspondingly more attractive, not only for our own people, but for the tourists, who have already brought considerable revenue to the province and who will bring much more as the attractiveness of the country is improved.

FREEPORT

A reception for Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Dakin was held in the Nuers Theatre, on Monday evening. They received numerous gifts and refreshments were served at a late hour. Dancing was enjoyed.

Mrs. Roy Powell has gone to her home for a short visit with her parents.

Mrs. A. F. Weir, accompanied by Miss Eva Blackford, of Tiverton, also Donald Weir and Jean Weir motored to Halifax and New Glasgow last week, returning on Tuesday. Mrs. Weir was accompanied home from Dalhousie by her son Edward.

Miss Hildred Prime spent last Friday at the home of Miss Norma Blackford, of Tiverton.

Miss Marie Small was in town on Sunday, visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ring are spending a few weeks at Tiverton. Miss Eva Blackford and Mrs. Roy Small, of Tiverton, were in town on Thursday evening of last week.

News has recently been received here from New York of the sudden death of L. C. Prime, a former Freeport boy. Sympathy is extended to his many relatives and friends here.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Allan Perry on the sudden death of her brother, Stanley Sullivan, at Boston, Mass.

The annual Oddfellow's sermon was preached on Sunday morning last by Rev. J. G. Wakeling. The Oddfellows went in a body from the Community Hall to the church. The members of Fair Isle Rebekah Lodge were invited to march with them. The young people provided music in the choir.

Lloyd Blackford, accompanied by his daughter Louise, and Miss Anna Churchill motored to Halifax this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Blackford and children visited Mr. and Mrs. Edward Blackford at Tiverton, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Holland Althouse motored here from Halifax on Saturday. Mr. Althouse returned the next day, but Mrs. Althouse is visiting her mother for a few weeks.

Mrs. Leslie Finigan recently visited her daughter, Mrs. Murray Small, at Tiverton.

About forty-five Oddfellows of St. George Lodge, Digby, visited the Lodge here on Tuesday evening of last week. Members also arrived from Tiverton, making the total number present in the vicinity of ninety. The degree was conferred upon three Digby candidates by the degree team of Chipewa Lodge, of Freeport. At a late hour chowder, pies and coffee were served, after which a sing was enjoyed. There was also a member present from Westport Lodge.

THE RURAL DEANERY OF ANNAPOLIS

The Chapter of the Annapolis Rural Deanery met at Clements-Port on Tuesday, May 2nd, at 9.30 a. m., with a celebration of the Holy Communion in St. Edward's Church, the Rural Dean being the celebrant. The Rev. E. B. Gabriel conducted the Quiet Hour; the Ordinal for Priests was read, then the brethren went to the Rectory. Owing to illness, Dr. Cunningham, the excoete, was not able to be present, but sent his paper, which was read by the Rural Dean. At 1.00 p. m., the deanery dinner was served at the Rectory, then the business continued until adjournment. Afternoon tea given by Mrs. Smith, concluded the session. Hearty votes of thanks were passed to the Rector and his wife.

The next meeting will take place on July 4th, in Annapolis Royal. The following members were present:—Rev. A. W. L. Smith, Rural Dean; Rev. T. R. B. Anderson, Secretary-Treasurer; Rev. Canon Underwood; Rev. E. B. Gabriel; Rev. Prissy Smith; Rev. Carl Holm. The Rev. Frank Gas-kill was in Boston and sent his regret at not being able to be present.

LITTLE REST DAY OR NIGHT

Woman with Severe Neuritis

For the benefit of others who may be troubled with the complaint she suffered from, a grateful woman writes:—

"Last May I had a very severe attack of neuritis in the leg, which made it impossible for me to rest during the day, or to get regular sleep at night. To say nothing of the intense pain.

"Various medicines gave me very little relief, and a friend advised me to give Kruschen a trial, as she had derived benefit from it whilst suffering similarly. I am so thankful that I took her advice. From the very first bottle I felt relieved, and now I am quite free from pain, and get a good night's sleep." (Mrs.) H.C.

Neuritis, like rheumatism, lumbago, and sciatica, is often caused by needle-pointed uric acid crystals, which form as the result of sluggish eliminating organs. Kruschen helps to convert those crystals into a harmless solution, which is removed through the natural channels.

OBITUARY

Rupert A. Harris

There passed away at his home in Bear River, on Monday morning, following a short illness, Rupert A. Harris. Mr. Harris was born at Bear River 64 years ago, the son of the late Weston Harris and Ida (Oakes) Harris and had lived his entire life in this town, being a very efficient mechanic, he will be much missed. In religion he was an adherent of the Anglican Church. He is survived by his widow, who before her marriage was Miss Alva Mullen; and three sons, Courtney, Clayton and Allen, also one daughter, Louise, all of Bear River; and another daughter, Blenda, Boston, Mass., by a former marriage; two brothers, Arthur, of Bear River. The funeral was held from his late home, Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. A. W. L. Smith, of the Anglican Church, assisted by Rev. G. D. Brydon, of the Baptist Church, with special music by the Baptist choir. Interment in Mount Hope cemetery.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The regular meeting of the Bear River Women's Institute was held on Monday afternoon, in the Masonic Room, Past-President, Mrs. A. B. Campbell, presiding, in the absence of Mrs. W. M. Romans. Considerable business was brought up, some sewing was accomplished for a needy case. The Misses F. P. Campbell, Doris Sanford, Allie Forbes and June Schmidt, of the teaching staff of Oakdene School, then presented a very enjoyable programme. Short readings covered varied views regarding education of the present day. A paper about the famous Ritchie family, of Annapolis Royal, was read, and proved of interest to all. Miss Forbes sang, to her own accompaniment, the new Canadian patriotic song, which was enjoyed. A piano duet, by Dorothy Rice and Gina Brydon, was the means used by the Academy pupils to show their appreciation of the hot cocoa served at school during the winter months. The other grades all sent nicely worded letters of thanks, which were heard at this meeting. Humorous readings were followed by a literary contest, for which a prize was given. Tea was served by the teachers, assisted by Mrs. Harry Harris, who poured, and by Dorothy and Gina.

95 H.P. Rhythmic-Riding * OLDS

RIGHT DOWN IN THE LOW-PRICE FIELD!

Just imagine it! Olds quality, performance and dependability in a car that's right down in the lowest in price! That's what you get when you buy the big, brilliant Olds "Select Six". Olds' flashing, 95 h.p. engine is a fuel-saver if there ever was one and Olds quality materials and workmanship are an assurance of low upkeep expense. In addition, you get Olds' new Rhythmic Ride—the same ride that is featured in the popular-priced Olds Seventy Series and Eighty Series—and the Handi-Shift Gear Control. Come in—look at the car and the new low-price tag—and compare!

Low monthly payments on the General Motors Installment Plan.

Students Return to School They Condemned as Unfit

Leaving their strike against attending an unlighted school, 300 pupils of Port Haney, B.C., trooped back to their classrooms. They had trooped out of the school, parading with such signs as the ABOVE, but the strike ended after three days when the students' council voted 11-5 for returning to classes. "Too many girls on the council!" exclaimed some of the irate males.

Canada's Trade Abroad Increases, Helped by Billion

Canada's domestic exports, or goods produced in the Dominion, showed a slight increase for the fiscal year ended last March 31, as compared with the previous 12 months, but there was a notable increase in foreign exports, reports the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Foreign exports, goods imported for consumption at Ottawa, but later exported, totaled $42,808,000, an increase of $18,215,000, compared with the previous fiscal year when the total was $14,593,000. The main item of export was newsprint with a value of $107,360,211, compared with $120,007,550 for the previous year.

In large part the increase was due to a book-keeping technicality. Canada's gold bullion exports are usually classified as domestic exports, but this year the Finance Department put the domestic Canadian bullion in the Bank of Canada vaults and instead exported a large quantity of British sovereigns that had accumulated over the years. The sovereigns fell under the classification of foreign exports.

WESTPORT SOUTH

Mrs. Bradford Finigan and three children, of Freeport, spent a week with her parents, at Denton Cottage, and returned home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Orle Dixon, of Cape Enrage, N. B., have moved here for an indefinite time, and are occupying a part of her parents' home.

Mrs. W. A. Pugh is spending a vacation in Yarmouth, visiting her daughter, Mrs. Sandy Fraser.

Nell Curry, of Liverpool, is visiting his family for a few days.

Emery Welch, of Moncton, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Odour Welch.

Miss Annie Chisholm, of Saint John, spent the week end with her aunt, Mrs. Mildred Webber.

Ralph Watkins, George Clements and Allan Pugh spent Sunday in Little River.

The W. M. S. held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Cynthia Welch, on Tuesday evening. Mrs. Arthur Hicks prepared the programme.

The Hospital Sewing Circle met at the home of Mrs. Charles Ramsay this week. Mrs. Dixon will be the hostess next Wednesday afternoon.

quest, Governor Stephens changed the sentence to life imprisonment. Then the Moulders union of which Mooney was a prominent member, began a crusade to secure a full pardon for him. But all Governors who have held office up to January 1st, 1939, refused to set him free. The case was fought through several sessions of the Legislature and the California Courts and eventually to the Supreme Court or the United States, but each of the Courts, after reviewing the evidence, declined to recommend a pardon. Then came State Senator Olson, a Los Angeles lawyer, and not a prominent lawyer, but more of a politician of the Socialistic breed, who aspired to occupy the Governor's chair, and promising a new, a brand new millennium every Thursday morning in the shape of an old age dose of thirty bucks a week—bucks meaning warrants or phony money without real cash backing—and also promising the labor unions, particularly the C. I. O. unions—largely communistic—that if they would support him, his first official act would be to pardon Mooney. Olson was elected, and handed Mooney his pardon on a silver platter. And what a show he and Mooney and Mooney's sympathizers made of it. There in the Assembly Hall of the State Capitol, with bright lights, loud speakers and microphones and every movie touch that could be worked in, Tom Mooney was made a hero, embraced by the Governor and allowed to address the whole nation by radio, and the gist of his speech was that he would dedicate and devote the rest of his life to the creation of a new "social order". (The new order of things as we all know that he has in mind is to be patterned on the Soviet plan. Lord help us.) It was a Roman Holiday presented in the best Hollywood style.

An hour later the Governor collapsed while about to address a large crowd at the Sacramento Fair Grounds. He has been in bed ever since. Some say that his collapse was due to over-work. Others say it was due to some other cause, possibly an excess of agitation over the freeing of an acknowledged agitator, and administering a slap in the face for to moving and later when automobiles came into such general use, the travel by water dropped off to such an extent that steamboats could no longer make expenses. Some of these old side wheel boats are now tied up at Stockton, rusting out and falling into a state of general decay.

And Stockton, forty-five miles south, is our next stop. And as there is a fine wide highway through a rich farming and vineyard country, it does not take us long to get there. Stockton is a busy city of 47,963 inhabitants not counting the band of Gipsies camped on the edge of the city. These nomads no longer travel in the old fashioned covered wagons with fancy decorations. It is automobiles, trucks and trailers for them in these days, and this outfit had some pretty good looking rolling stock, but of live stock swishing their tails in pleasant greeting, not a single nag. The old horse trading Gipsy seems to have dropped out of the picture entirely. The younger generation does a little work now and then in the fruit picking season. They still go about mending pots and pans between seasons, doing a little pilfering on the side. The women, both old and young, are as colorful as ever, with their bright head scarfs, fancy embroidered blouses and long flowing skirts of flowered silks. Hose of silk and fancy high-heeled foot wear complete their ensemble. Time has made no change in style for these children of Romany. They still tell fortunes and read the future of the gullible and cleverly pick the pockets of their unwary customers as of yore. All Gipsy bands travelling through the State of California are compelled by law to register their outfit and location with the Sheriff of the County they happen to be in. Stockton, although it is up in the country about eighty miles from the coast, is quite a port. Dredging of the San Joaquin river has made the place accessible for ocean going freighters that come here to load cargoes of grain, dried fruit, wool, cotton, and other California products. Stockton has many Chinese engaged in business and some of them are rich, one of them, Mr. Wong Quon, is the owner of one of the leading hotels of the city. There are many Chinese restaurants, patronized mostly by Mexican and Filipino laborers. There are also quite a number of Basques here. The Basques, as you know, come from the Pyrenees mountain country on the border of France and Spain. They came to California in the fifties and engaged in the sheep business. The old timers are rugged and thrifty. Many of them are well to do, but the younger generation is not so much inclined toward the thrifty habits of their forbears and prefer to have a good time. There are a number of Basque restaurants in Stockton. Basque food may taste good to some people, but to me, no. I had one sample of it in a Basque boarding house a few years ago. One mouthful was enough. I finished the meal on French bread and sour wine which proved to be quite satisfactory and filling. The Basque menu is a mixture of French and Spanish food with rice and some kind of a sauce, wine is always served with it and the wine is always a sour wine. It is passed up and down the long dining room table in sheepskin wine bags which is an ancient Basque custom. If you are curious and brave enough to eat in one of Stockton's Basque restaurants, you will sit at one of those long tables, probably next to a grizzled old Basque sheepherder, who speaks no English but eats A la Basque and that is better described as swishy or swoshy. I ing grounds. The most modern instruments of war were displayed for the King who, accompanied by Queen Elizabeth, asked innumerable questions regarding Britain's latest defence weapons.

The Judges of the highest tribunals in the land. Be that as it may, Mooney is "on the loose" and is also on the rampage. He has been travelling up and down the state addressing radical labor meetings, demanding that labor take over all business and kick the managers and owners into the street. He has a burning ambition to be one of the big union leaders. He would like to organize the farmers of the State and Nation, but so far he has found California farmers stone deaf to his proposal.

Getting back to California history again. It probably was Captain John Sutter who was the founder of Sacramento. For this was where he landed after his voyage up the bay in a sail boat from San Francisco. After the gold rush started, Sacramento became the supply point for most of the mining camps. And what prices the storekeepers got for their merchandise. Eight dollars for a shovel, four dollars and fifty cents for a dozen eggs, a paper of needles cost a dollar. Board was $200.00 per month and it cost $64 to shoe a horse. In the saloons drinks were a pinch of gold dust and only bar tenders with large thumbs were employed. The Southern Pacific Railroad started from this point. Merchants of the town financed the commencement of the enterprise from their merchandising profits. The Pony Express started its first eastbound run from Sacramento. Letters sent by this mail route cost five dollars for each half ounce. For a long time travel between San Francisco and Sacramento moved by steamboat. The evening run from San Francisco up the bay arriving at Sacramento the next morning, has been reported as being a delightful trip. But when the railroads started their trains am not sure that there is such a word as the latter in our dictionary, but there should be, if we are to accurately describe the eating manners of a Basque sheep-herder, who in addition to his other unconventionalities may exude a pungent odor of mutton or wool in the grease. Well, in mixed company one must not be too particular, sort of take things as you find them and smile, smile, smile.

UNCLE SAM'S GERMAN PEACE TREATY

Here is a nice little problem in international politics points out the Montreal Herald. The United States Government negotiated and signed, but did not ratify, the Versailles Treaty. Instead, it made a separate peace with Germany.

In this separate treaty, dated August 25, 1921, the United States claimed, and Germany formally granted, all the rights and privileges the United States would have enjoyed had they ratified the Versailles Treaty.

The United States insisted upon, in particular—and Germany, granted—the rights and advantages in certain parts and clauses of the treaty.

Referred to explicitly in the separate treaty is Section 1 of Part IV which concerns colonies.

Under it, Germany formally renounced all right and title to her overseas possessions, sovereignty over which this passed to the allied and associated powers, including the United States.

Accordingly, if Hitler now insists on raising the colonial question, it is difficult to see how Germany's title to any of its former colonies can be legally re-established without the consent of the United States.

Germany was also pledged to the United States to observe Part V, the disarmament clauses, which Hitler has totally disregarded. However, there is one paragraph in this part—namely, Art. 170—which is still not meaningless. It reads:

"Importation into Germany of arms, munitions and war materials of every kind shall be strictly prohibited."

American treaties, under the Federal Constitution, have the force of law. If it is illegal for Germany to import war materials, why is it not illegal for the United States, by the terms of its own treaty of separate peace, to export war materials to Germany?

So far as we know, this clause of the treaty has never been abrogated; yet Germany has been and probably still is, importing war materials from the United States.—P. E. L., Agr. Ed. of 17th.

"Algiers," the Big Feature at the Capitol Next Wednesday.

Handsome Charles Boyer has his most romantic role as loveable fugitive in Walter Wanger's "Algiers," the colorful adventurous romance that stars him opposite Hollywood's two most glamorous seamstresses, Sigrid Gurie and Hedy Lamarr, at the Capitol Theatre, for two days, beginning on Wednesday.

"Algiers" casts the dark-eyed screen lover as Pepe le Moko, devil-may-care international jewel thief, who takes refuge from the French police by living in the Casbah, the mysterious native quarter of Algiers, where the law dare not intrude.

Here Pepe le Moko rules as king, idol of the strange, exotic women of the quarter, commander of the men, and beloved by everyone for his handsome, smiling face and high, adventurous heart.

Sigrid Gurie, who made a triumphant film debut in "The Adventures of Marco Polo," is seen as Ines, his beautiful and wildly jealous native sweetheart.

Then one day there strolls into the Casbah, a beautiful Parisian tourist, named Gaby, played by the alluring Viennese actress, Hedy Lamarr.

This is the day for which Slimane, suave provincial detective, has been patiently waiting. For he knows that if nothing else can lure the great lover out of the Casbah and into the hands of the law perhaps a woman can.

Pepe and Gaby fall madly in love and after a series of exciting and romantic adventures, in the course of which the jealous native sweetheart betrays Pepe to the police, the story ends on a breath-taking surprise climax.

Joseph Calleja plays the detective, Slimane, while others prominently featured in the cast are Alan Hale, Gene Lockhart and Mrs. Nina Foch. Additional supporting roles are taken by Joan Woodbury, Claudia Dell, Robert Craig, Stanley Fields, Leonid Kinsky, Paul Harvey and Bert Roach. Special Algerian scenes were actually photographed in the city of Algiers by Lloyd Knechtel.

Peppless Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.

The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did—even look healthy and strong, yet you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, doped, tired and peevish.

Low blood count means you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.

Get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today. They are world-famous for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. Then with your blood count up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were feeling on top. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today.

Man has scaled the highest mountains on the globe, all save one, and has flown over that. Compared to peaks which rise thousands of feet into the air, the most of the "mountains" which obstruct man's progress through life are but mole hills. Even worse, such "mountains" are often man-made through lack of courage to attempt to climb them. It has taken courage to climb Mt. Rainier, to fly over Mt. Everest. If just a little of the same courage were devoted to conquering the "mountain" man creates in his own path-way onward and upward, his progress would be faster and more certain.

Nowadays there is heard a lot of "bold and defiant speech intended to deceive and intimidate." Some day some one will call this bluff, just as God called Cain's bluff. In all history there is not a single exception to the rule that the bluffer has in the final analysis gotten the worst of the bluffing. As history has repeated itself, so it will repeat itself again, for there's not a nation on the globe that has the money to go to war. And the nations which are bluffing have the least money with which to go to war.

Hitler has made many promises during his startling career. He has broken most of them. He has already broken the ones he made last September. He is in the process of making more promises now. He'll break them too. But before we in Canada, yell too loudly, our condemnation, it is only fair to recall that Hitler has no monopoly on broken promises. We have elected to our town and municipal councils, to our legislatures and to parliament, men who promised among other things that:

- The budget would be balanced;
  - Taxes would be reduced;
  - Government expenditures would be slashed 25 per cent, with a corresponding reduction in the number of government employees;
  - Government interference hampering business and industry would be removed;
  - Private initiative would be encouraged.
- There are many more promises. How many have been kept? They have proven just as big liars as Hitler—but we do not say much about that!

Just how extensive the vast ramifications of our transportation system is becoming is revealed by the fact that tons of thousands of trucks are now carrying merchandise over our hard-surfaced highways. In the short span of 25 years, truck traffic has been reshaping our national transport system. Today there are hundreds of communities in this country dependent entirely on motor truck carrier service, and this, despite the fact that we have thousands of miles of railroad trackage. This conversion of our highway system to part-time truck service for freight hauling is naturally having its effect on passenger automobiles. Trucks are causing more and more delays and annoyance to occupants of faster moving passenger cars. But when it is remembered that the freight business on our highways returns many millions a year in taxes and fees, the problem of curbing the "nuisance" is not so easy as appears at first glance.

The ability to say "No" is the best preserver of the sanctity of one's word. For the man who can say "No" is not likely to give his word lightly nor to promise what he cannot perform. Most of the troubles that beset poor human beings are traceable to the breaking of a promise. If you could trace back to the causes of business failures and wrecks you would find that most of them were due to somebody's disregard of obligations. The basis of all social relations is confidence and mutual trust. If men did not have faith in one another they could not live together in harmony for a week.

WELCOME To THEIR MAJESTIES

FREEMONT GIRL SURPRISES YARMOUTH

Miss Jean I. Haines, pianist, de-lighted the audience at the Yarmouth Musical Festival with her rendition of the difficult "Kamen-not-Ostrow" by Rubinstein. Besides winning the cup, she made one of the highest marks (93) and was invited to play for the evening broadcast. She competed with two Yarmouth girls.

Prof. I. Williams presented the cup and praised her performance, saying it was one of the finest in the Festival.

Jean Haines is the pupil of Phyllis A. Crocker, and both teacher and pupil deserve much credit.

Miss Crocker is to be congratulated on the success of her two entries from Freemont, one, the High School group, the other, Miss Haines, pianist.

SANDY COVE

Mr. Goodwin of Belle Isle, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Morehouse.

R. Goulden, of Gunning Cove; S. Adams, Shag Harbour; S. Landry, D. Raymond, Digby; A. Hersey, Culloden, with Capt. S. Crowell, have re-joined Dredge, No. 16, to resume work here.

Miss Rowena Harris, of East Ferry, was a recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Weir.

Earl Gidney, Edmund McCullough, Godfrey Crowell accompanied A. McDormand to Westport for the week end.

The Misses Yvonne Sypher and Florence Jeffrey are attending District Meetings of the United Baptist Churches, being held in Ashmore. Several others attended the Monday evening meeting.

School Inspector, T. A. M. Kirk and Mrs. Kirk, of Yarmouth, were visitors of the latter's aunt, Mrs. Melba Saunders, last week.

Miss Emily Bishop, of Digby, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Bishop.

The W. M. S., of the United Baptist Church, was held at the home of Mrs. Scott Sypher, on Tuesday evening.

Clare Eldridge was a guest of Mrs. C. Mitchell, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Wright, of Marsh-town, were visitors of their daughter, Mrs. Dutton Sypher and Mr. Sypher, on Sunday.

James Marshall, of Marshalltown, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Spurgeon Jeffrey.

Little Genevieve, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Gidney, entertained a number of her friends on Monday, May 8, the occasion being her 6th birthday.

Mrs. Scott Sypher spent Monday in Freemont.

Visits Roosevelt

Recently summoned to active duty in the U.S. Army Air Corps, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is pictured here as he left the White House following a conference with President Roosevelt. It is reported that Col. Lindbergh will make a special survey of the U.S. aerial fighting forces.

THE WEEK IN PARLIAMENT

By S. P. W.

May 6th

Will the house prorogue before the King's visit? This question has been agitating the minds of professional political forecasters since the middle of January. Today, as the King and Queen sail from Portsmouth, the question is still unanswerable. The house is, however, sitting today, and it is most unusual for the house to sit on Saturdays.

Mr. King's motion to this effect was strongly opposed yesterday by Mr. Woodworth, leader of the D.C.F. group. He believes that the time is now too short to give adequate consideration to much business that is still to come before the House, mentioning defence estimates, wheat legislation, and the report of the Public Accounts Committee with respect to the Bren Gun contract as examples.

Mr. Manion and Mr. Blackmore speaking for their respective parties expressed willingness to expediate matters in any reasonable way.

Mr. King in reply to Mr. Woodworth, said, "The government does not intend to crowd this House of Commons with respect to public business." It had been suggested that the House should go on with its business during his enforced absence on the Royal tour. This he thought to be undesirable. "Generally, the public will get a much better appreciation of the care with which this house is discussing public matters if that discussion takes place after Their Majesties have left rather than at a time when he public mind is occupied, as it will be with Their Majesties' visit."

He pointed to a precedent in that the House adjourned for a month to allow Mr. Bennett to go to England for the Silver Jubilee of King George V, and remarked, "if it was desirable at that time to adjourn the House for a month for that particular purpose, there is a much more stronger reason for adjournment at this time."

The position, therefore, is that if the House can complete its business it will prorogue on May 19th. Otherwise, it will adjourn from May 12 to June 19.

upied with agricultural legislation of so much importance particularly to the people of Western Canada. This legislation is embodied in four bills. The first of these places at the disposal of farmers who hold the view that wheat can be profitably marketed through the pooling system, facilities and a means of credit under which that pooling system can be tried out. It provides that any co-operative organization or any elevator company may (not must) set up a central selling agency to take delivery of wheat from the producers and to pool it. The Government will guarantee the financing of the initial payment of not more than 60 cents a bushel. This figure is an advance, not a minimum price. That will be dealt with in other legislation. The initial payment bill with respect to wheat was passed on Thursday.

ing to agricultural products other than wheat, was debated on Thursday evening and passed the House on Friday.

A third bill, the acreage bonus bill, is at present before the House. It is to be followed by a bill to amend the Canadian Wheat Board Act. These can be best discussed in this column next week, after they have been debated in the House.

An extract from the Hansard report of the budget debate may be of interest.

Mr. Needham: "The next quotation I wish to make is from A Prince of the Captivity, by our own governor general, Lord Tweed-smuir, published in 1935.

Mr. Speaker: I do not think the hon. member has the right to 'bring into the debate the name of the representative of the King.

Mr. Needham: Can I not make the quotation?

Mr. Speaker: I do not think the hon. member is within the rules of the House in quoting the representative of the King during the debate.

Mr. Needham: I shall say John Buchan, then.

Mr. Speaker: The hon. gentleman is still out of order.

Mr. Needham: May I give the quotation?

Mr. Speaker: No, it is against the rules of the House."

OBITUARY

Mrs. Edward W. Bryant

Mrs. Mary A. Bryant, 61, wife of Edward W. Bryant, died at her home, 63 Merrimac Street, North Woburn, Mass., on Monday, May 1st, following a week's illness. Mrs. Bryant was born in Woburn, Mass., June 6, sixty-one years ago, the daughter of the late Rosanna and Peter Creighton, and had lived there all her life. She was educated in Woburn schools and was a member of the North Congrega-tional Church, North Woburn, where she was active in the various church societies. She was also a member of the Woburn Woman's Club. The Rev. Elton Kennedy Bassett, pastor of the North Congrega-tional Church, North Woburn, officiated at the funeral services, which were held at the church on Wednesday afternoon. Interment was at Woodbrook cemetery, Woburn. Mrs. Bryant leaves her husband, and two sons, James L., of Philadelphia; and Edward C., of Woburn.

Injured as Pile of Lumber Falls

Dolph Burridge, of Hectanooga, met with a painful accident on Tuesday of last week, which might have had more serious results. He was hauling pulpwood at Meteghan with his motor truck, for the Nova Scotia Timberland Co., who are loading a vessel there.

Backing the truck near the pile, which was some 10 feet high, he went round to see how it stood. All at once, the pile gave way, and rolled over him, crushing him down. When released he had a very lame foot and pains in the back. He was taken home Wednesday, and Thursday, Dr. Belliveau, of Meteghan, took him to the Yarmouth Hospital for an X-Ray examination.

An Old Complaint With Publishers

(Maritime Merchant)

With regard to the suggestion made in our last issue that the press of the Maritimes and the Boards of Trade might unite in promoting a "Buy Maritime Week" in their respective towns, one of the local papers expresses willingness to support such a campaign in accordance with the advertising support given the effort.

Commenting on a campaign that the Government undertook a year ago, this paper states that it asked certain Maritime manufacturers what they were going to do in the way of advertising, but the answer was nothing. "It appeared," the paper we are quoting remarked, "the newspapers were to bear the brunt for them while they (the manufacturers) took the profits." Some manufacturers seemed to be afraid that if they used one paper they would immediately be bombarded by other papers for the same advertising and in the end would find themselves spending more money than they could afford.

This is an old complaint with publishers. Advertising space costs money and those of little faith, in advertising balk at the idea of spending as much money as an adequate campaign would cost, and the publishers who spend their effort on a campaign for the immediate benefit of others feel like those who are left holding the bag. We think that those manufacturers who are afraid to advertise in one paper in case they may be called on by other papers for the same advertising are taking a wrong view of the matter; for if they select their media wisely they will promote their business. It is not as if they were giving their money away. If they feel that an advertising campaign is something in which they have no skill and that they might waste their money by conducting a campaign ineffectively, they can consult an advertising agency that knows both the market and the technique of advertising, and at no greater cost. There are several agencies in the Maritimes competent to advise along these lines and keep an advertiser from going it blind-folded as it were.

On the other hand we think it would react to the benefit of publishers if they were to forget their personal feelings in the matter and, even if some Maritime manufacturers do not seem alive to their own interests, promote what will benefit our Maritime producers. The response, if it does not come at once—will come eventually. The interest of a publisher in promoting whatever benefits his clientele must attract the attention of those who are thus supported and "bread cast upon the waters" will return after many days. However, there are not many producers in the Maritimes who carry on advertising campaigns with persistency. At the same time producers in other parts of Canada use media to promote their interests in the Maritimes and this influence needs to be offset by rival advertising. Publicity promotes business and if outsiders are advertising goods which compete with products made in the Maritimes, the Maritime producer operates at just so much of a disadvantage in competing with his rivals from outside the Maritimes. A "Buy Maritime Week" ought to be backed up by advertising by participating Maritime producers; otherwise it will fail to achieve its best results.

Angora Wool From Canadian Rabbits

Centred in the village of Abercorn, Quebec, one of the newest of Canadian industries, the breeding of angora rabbits on a commercial scale, is now entering its third prosperous year. Run by a co-operative unit of several breeders, the industry boasts about six hundred angoras, each producing about a pound and a half of wool a year. An increasing demand for the silky, long-haired wool is aiding the industry in its growth. Eight times as warm as sheep's wool, angora is in demand as a lining for aviation uniform linings, mufflers, gloves and scarves. Holly-wood also uses angora to line silk dresses to prevent them from rustling before microphones. A feature of the Canadian wool is that it does not shed like the imported varieties. The Green Mountain climate and the diet which includes an ample ration of iodized salt are said to be responsible for the superiority of the Canadian wool.

Francois LeBlanc was accidentally hurt Thursday night of last week while working on a boat engine at the Grosses Coques wharf. He was caught by the shaft and the blow fractured a bone in one of his legs.

Mill Worker Is Killed At Maxwellton

Cut In Two When Slips and Falls Against Revolving Saw

William Deveau, of Maxwellton, was instantly killed, Friday afternoon, when he slipped and was drawn into a revolving saw that bisected his body lengthwise and then threw him several yards away. The unfortunate 42-year-old man did not have a chance, as sharp teeth of the saw severed clothes, flesh, ligaments and muscles, entering the body around the shoulder and ripping its way right down to the lower abdomen.

Although several workmen at the mill, owned by Edmund Robicheau, saw the accident happen before their eyes, they were powerless to save the victim, as the middle-aged man was drawn into the rapidly revolving saw. Workers said that the saw was revolving at the rate of 900 revolutions per minute. Dr. P. Belliveau, of Meteghan, was instantly called, covering the ten miles distance by auto.

Deveau was thought to be guiding logs through the saw when his hand became trapped between a log and the carriage, lifting him right on the carriage that carried him along to the saw.

"It was terrible, terrible," said Edward Jeddry, a fellow workman, who saw the tragedy.

"But it was all over in a moment. He couldn't have suffered," Jeddry, who was working around the chute leading into the mill, was the first to reach the severed body and he knew then that death must have been instantaneous.

The entire corps of mill workers said that Deveau was entirely familiar with all workings of the mill and was ordinarily very cautious around the saw, but his glove may have become loose on his hand and caught on the rough wood. Although the terrible accident happened before several witnesses none of these could state exactly what had happened.

The remains were taken to Meteghan, following an inquest, conducted by coroner Arnaud Comeau. The jury came to the decision that death had been accidental.

The victim is survived by three brothers, Dennis, of Meteghan; Phillip and Agy, of Port Arthur, Ontario; his father, Eve Deveau, with whom he had made his home, and four sisters, Rosalie, at home; Edesne and Elizabeth, in the United States, and Mrs. Joseph Deveau, of Salmon River.

Mrs. Fidele P. Comeau

There passed away on Monday morning, May 1, Adeline Comeau, wife of Fidele P. Comeau, of Lower Saulnierville. Her death was a great shock to her numerous friends as many did not know she had been ill, as she had only been ill eight days and failed very rapidly during the last few days. She was known for her many charitable deeds and was always ready to give a helping hand to the needy. The mother of twelve children she still adopted an orphan who she cared for and brought up and who is still at home. She also cared for two aged neighbors, taking them in her own home—the late Frank Melanson who died a few years ago, and his sister, Elizabeth Melanson, who is an invalid in bed. Only six of her children are now living besides her husband. These are Margaret (Mrs. Dr. Medlyn), and Celeste, both of Jamaica Plain, Mass.; Charles, of Port Williams; Francis, George, Neri, of Lower Saulnierville; also Anna Comeau, her adopted child; four grandchildren; one sister, Mary (Mrs. J. L. Robicheau, Meteghan Centre, and one brother, John Blinn, of Lower Saulnierville. She was a devoted member of the Catholic Women's League and was much interested in all its undertakings. The funeral services were held on Wednesday in the Sacred Heart church, where a solemn Requiem High Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father Robicheau, of St. Anne's College, assisted by Rev. Father Comeau, also of the College, and Rev. J. Doucet, P.P. The pall bearers were Chas. Comeau, Wilfred LeBlanc, Felix Comeau, Bernard Comeau, Joseph LeBlanc and Emile Gaudet.

Life in the Channel Islands

To the Editor of the Courier.

Sir:—Living in Jersey is very different from one's living in Canada. The climate is much milder, though there is a great deal of rain. Spring starts early; peas, spinach and beans are all well up in my garden; and, of course, the corn. People here do not seem to know about corn, and the only kind I could get at the seedsmen's was "Golden Bantam". We planted that, and I wrote to Rennie for "Country Gentleman", which is, I think, the very best we grow in Canada. No one here had ever heard of squash, so I sent to Rennie for that, and for musk melon, and both are now planted. I have a very large garden with a greenhouse where we start things; besides any amount of small fruits; we have apple and pear trees and two fig trees which bore largely last year. The farmer's potatoes have been up for some weeks and if we don't have a drought there will be a great crop. The farmers here plant acres of potatoes and tomatoes, their two great export crops. The Jersey potato is very small; when they are dug the large potatoes are put in for winter use. We put the Jersey potatoes in the greenhouse in December, and have been eating them for weeks. Jersey is a picturesque place, with very good shops; but the roads are so narrow that I am a bit scared to drive a car. Even out in the country if one meets a car the one nearest to a field has to back into it to let the other pass. The reason the roads are so narrow is that until the last thirty years or so there were no carriages in the island and everyone rode horses along the country lanes. Of course the main streets of St. Helier have been widened and the town is full of cars. Busses cover the island, so, for the present, we are not risking our lives in a car. All my friends have cars and have no accidents, but the driving is precarious. Raleigh House is built of Jersey granite, as most of the houses are here. There are wooden bungalows here and there, but all the old houses are of stone. The island, which is only five miles long and twelve wide, is divided into parishes, as is the West Indies.

I will not trespass upon your space by writing any more now; if you care to hear more of these islands I will send another letter later on.

Sincerely,
Sophia M. Hensley,
Mont au Preire, Jersey, C. I.

Borden's EVAPORATED MILK

Purest of fresh milk from the finest dairy farms in the Maritimes is evaporated at the Borden Condensary in Truro by removing most of the natural moisture content. All the cream is left in. This double-rich milk is then irradiated by the finest method known to science for an added supply of the essential "Sunshine" Vitamin D, one of the important factors in proper development of strong bones and sound teeth. That's why doctors prescribe Borden's Evaporated Milk for infant feeding. Thrifty housewives will find that Borden's Evaporated Milk improves all their cooking, gives it an extra richness and creaminess very economically. Try this recipe.

CODFISH CAKES
1 slice onion, minced
2 tbsps. butter
3 tbsps. flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. Worcestershire Sauce
1/2 cup Borden's Evaporated Milk
1/2 cup water
2 cups cooked codfish or leftover fish
1 egg yolk
Fry bread crumbs.
Fry onions in butter 5 minutes. Then blend in flour, salt, and Worcestershire. Add Borden's Evaporated Milk and water gradually, blending thoroughly. Stir constantly until mixture thickens. Flake fish, having removed bones. Add to first mixture with egg yolk. Cook 3 minutes longer, stirring occasionally. Remove from fire. Chill. Shape into cakes and roll in bread crumbs. Fry in small amount of fat until golden brown. Serve hot with cream sauce.

Borden's EAGLE BRAND
SWEETENED CONDENSED MILK

A marvellous blend of double-rich milk and sugar, Eagle Brand is rightly called "the magic milk". You can get a FREE COPY of a Cookbook full of these Magic Recipes by just sending your name and address to The Borden Company Limited, Truro, N. S. And Eagle Brand is a splendid way of getting the youngsters to take more milk in their diet. Just spread it generously on a slice of bread and watch the children come back for more.

Here is a typical Magic Recipe.
MAGIC MAYONNAISE
2-3 cup Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk
1 egg yolk
1/2 teaspoonful salt
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 cup vinegar or lemon juice
1/4 cup salad oil or melted butter
Place ingredients in mixing bowl. Beat with rotary egg beater until mixture thickens. If thicker consistency is desired, place in refrigerator to chill before serving. Makes 1 1/4 cups. This is a basic recipe and many delicious variations can be made from it. You will find them in the Magic Recipe Cookbook. Be sure to write Borden's for your free copy.

A clean-up week for Bear River. Why not make the week of May 15th to 22nd our clean-up week for Bear River, and thus fall in line with other communities which are stressing a "clean-up" campaign.

The first and most essential undertaking will be the removal of all the trash which has accumulated on our streets, walks, and lawns during the winter months.

The results will be well-worth the extra time and money, for every worth-while citizen desires his town to look its best.

So, let's see what can be done in Bear River before May 22nd. Our streets sadly need it.

TEACHING STAFF FOR 1939-40

The following staff of Oakdene School have all been re-engaged for the year, 1939-40:

LEFT THE ARMY WITH RHEUMATISM

Now Fit to Join Again

Twenty years ago, he left the Army, he is fit and nimble — a merry, romping granddad, 61 years young.

"I came out of the army with rheumatism," he writes. "It was especially bad in my feet. I started taking Kruschen Salts, and in a few months I found relief from my rheumatism. I became nimble on my feet. Now, at 61 — weighing 168 — I am cheerful, energetic, and always ready to play with my grandchildren." — F. E. B.

Many people grow old long before their time because they neglect one vital need or health — the need for internal cleanliness. Eventually, they adopt the healthy Kruschen habit. Then, probably for the first time in their lives, they start getting rid every day of waste matter from the system. The result is renewed health and vigour. Ailments due to a clogged system vanish, youth returns, and life becomes worth living.

RUSTIC MINSTREL SHOW

On Thursday evening of last week a Rustic Minstrel Show, under the auspices of St. John's Guild, was put on in the Oakdene Hall, to a full house.

The two-hour programme, comprising songs, dances, recitations and many local skits, rounded out with choruses, was enthusiastically received and special mention might be made of many of the characters which were such as might be found in any village. Mr. Slocombe (Mr. Sloane) the farmer, resting from his hay-making labors and assisted by his son (Charlie Jefferson) acted as middle-man, and each character appearing on the village green, was added to the circle. There was Rastus (L. V. Harris) with his belligerent spouse, returning a wash; and an Irishman (John Harrow) who were pressed into service as "end men"; an Irish maid; a young Dago couple; an itinerant Jewish peddler; a Gypsy fortune teller and son, with the hay-makers, interested spectators, perched on the rear fence, as the chorus.

The receipts amounting to $61.75 gross, will be added to the church building fund, and great credit is due Major and Mrs. A. M. Simons, who directed the show.

OBITUARY

Lewis Kingsley

News has recently reached Bear River regarding the death of Lewis Kingsley, at the General Hospital, Orlando, Florida, aged 91 years. Mr. Kingsley died on April 16, of bronchial pneumonia, and on the 18th, a short service was held at his home, Maitland, Florida, following which the body was placed in a vault at Orlando, until April 30th, when the family left for New Jersey. On May 4th, a funeral service was held at the Kingsley home, in Elizabeth, New Jersey, with interment in the family lot.

Mr. Kingsley and sisters, Mary and Caroline, and cousin, Grace, will all be kindly remembered here in Bear River, where they made many friends through their kindness and hospitality; their helpfulness was appreciated by all who regretted their departure, after a three months' stay among us, where they occupied the Anthony cottage.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Emma M. Hoyt

The many friends of Mrs. Emma M. Hoyt, widow of the late Henry S. Hoyt, of Weymouth, will be shocked to learn of her sudden passing, at the home of L. H. Potter, 10 Summer Street, Halifax, N. S. Although in precarious health and confined to her bed under constant medical care for several weeks, her passing came unexpectedly, yet peacefully, without any prolonged suffering, at 8.30 on Monday. She leaves to mourn one sister, Mrs. A. Stanley Titus, of Digby; and one brother, Captain Howard T. Johns, of Philadelphia, P. A., to whom goes out the sympathy of a host of friends. It can be justly said of her that she possessed a goodly heritage, rich in character, and one who ever expressed that which was indeed supremely beautiful and lovely. Her bright spirit commended itself to all who knew and loved her for those noble qualities of heart and mind so enriching and expressive. She was in her 83rd year. She was a member and staunch supporter of St. Thomas' Anglican Church, Weymouth, and in a quiet and unassuming manner contributed to many benevolent societies. "To live in hearts we leave behind, is not to die."

Daily Deveau

The death occurred on April 27, of Daily Deveau, at the age of 24 years, at his home in Meteghan River, after an illness of six weeks. He was a son of Mr. and the late Mrs. Mande P. Deveau. Besides his father, he leaves to mourn their loss, one sister, Mrs. John Res (Erie) of Stamford, Conn.; and five brothers, Martin and Emile, of New York; Alphonse, of Meteghan; Arthur, of Goward, Ont.; and Frank, at home. He was buried from the Sacred Heart Church, with Rev. J. Doucet officiating.

Richard Gates, who has been taking a course in Marconi Wireless, at Toronto, recently returned to his home at Weymouth Mills.

LAWNS NEED CARE IN EARLY SPRING

A well kept lawn consisting of and textured permanent grasses adds greatly to the attractiveness of every home and deserves the gardener's first attention in the spring. Growth requirements of lawn grasses are relatively simple, says G. R. Snyder, soil chemist, yet they must be given thoughtful, skillful attention if unnecessary expense and disappointment are to be avoided. Proper soil conditions are suitable. Kentucky Blue and the fescues—the best lawn grasses for average conditions—spread of their own accord by means of underground stems. If the turf has not been made good, some essential growth factor is obviously lacking, and reseeding without first correcting the soil deficiencies will not produce a permanent improvement.

Heavy liming is undesirable, unless a test of the soil indicates a very strong acidity. Permanent grasses actually prefer a soil that is slightly acid rather than too alkaline or sweet. A soil reaction of pH 6.4 to 6.8 is the most suitable. Contrary to general opinion, moss is not necessarily a symptom of soil acidity or sourness; usually it indicates either excess moisture or a lack of fertility.

Nitrogen and phosphoric acid are the most essential plant foods: the first promoting leaf growth and a deep green colour; the latter vigorous root development and a firmer quality of leaf growth. For spring treatment turf specialists favour a 4-12-6 or 5-10-5 fertilizer. These are applied, either alone or mixed with compost, at the rate of 12 lbs. per 1000 sq. ft. The most effective lawn grass fertilizers contain part of the nitrogen in inorganic, quickly available forms. They cooperate with nature by stimulating vigorous early growth to form a thick turf before summer weeds can develop.

Home owners planting a new lawn can benefit from the experience of professional greenkeepers who, having observed the remarkable influence of phosphoric acid in the establishment of new seedlings, insist on a plentiful supply of super phosphate being incorporated in the surface three-inch layer of soil during the building up process. This preliminary treatment is supplemented a few days before seeding by the addition of a complete fertilizer high in nitrogen.

Earthworms are controlled by the application and watering-in of arsenate of lead. It must be remembered, however, that this is a poisonous substance and should be used very cautiously when there are children about the home.

Dandelions, the most annoying of all lawn pests, are extremely difficult to combat. Repeated applications of sulphate of ammonia 5 lbs. per 1000 sq. ft. at 14-day intervals throughout the summer is one of the best control measures. Strongly established plants require individual treatment with a solution of a more powerful weed killer. But the most potent method of combating weeds is to array against them a vigorous, healthy, properly nourished turf.

Fish Story—Atlantic Salmon

The catch of Atlantic salmon is small when compared with the huge production of the British Columbia variety, yet it is important, for the catch runs around 30,000 cwt., bringing to the fishermen half a million dollars. It is a shapely fish, weighing usually between five and seven pounds.

The bulk of the Atlantic salmon is taken in Quebec and the Maritime Provinces—particularly in the estuaries and rivers flowing into the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Northern New Brunswick and the Gaspe and North Shore districts of Quebec are the principal producing areas, but New Brunswick produces more than all the rest together, followed by Quebec and then Nova Scotia. The Prince Edward Island catch is very small.

While Pacific salmon are taken chiefly from June to October, the Atlantic salmon season is from May to August, with the largest catches in June and July. They are marketed fresh and frozen, only a small quantity being canned and pickled. A ready market exists in Great Britain for Atlantic salmon. Nets are used in taking the commercial catch, but a considerable number is caught by sport fishermen with rods, lines and hooks.

In order to erect any building within 100 feet of the edge of any highway it is first necessary to get a permit from the government.

Smiling happily, ignorant of his future responsibilities, is three-year-old King Feistil 11 of Iraq, who was proclaimed king immediately following the tragic death of his father, King Ghazi, in an automobile crash. A regency has been set up to rule until the baby king reaches his majority.

A Farmer Muses Whilst He Seeds.

Seeding time is always a season of feverish activity on the farm, and spring is late this year. John Brown has to hark back many a year in his memory to find a later, as he strides behind his grain drill and muses to the accompaniment of the tinkling, rasping discs which slice the crumbly loam into furrows that close as the tumbling earth falls back to cover the deposit made by the machine.

With a gee to Bob and Bess, John turns at the lower end of the field, takes his bearings quickly and, with the end disc at the right overlapping the outer wheel track of the previous cast, proceeds undeviatingly on his course toward the upper end. It's uphill going now; and John wonders whether the adding years are slowing him up, as he reluctantly urges the willing team to a faster pace, or is it because the operation has become more complicated than it was last time he seeded this field down?

To John Brown the steering of a true and straight course is no problem, but he has to watch, more closely than usual the discharge from the spouts to make sure that no clogging interrupts the regular flow of seed and of a greivish material, the latter something of an innovation on the old farm, never used by his father, but which John now finds indispensable to success with a seeded-down crop. It ensures a catch and vigorous growth of grasses and clover and makes plumper, heavier grain. Besides, it helps the crop to overcome a late spring.

Musing on the changes he has seen in his time, John trudges on, pressing underfoot his soil-his very own portion of this revolving sphere—realizing it is not the inert mass he had once thought it but teeming with life and constantly undergoing process of change, as he has learned from the chemist, botanist and bacteriologist. Once he was inclined to resent the intrusion of the scientist on his privacy and to regard him as a disturber of the peace. But John came to realize that the old farm was going back and not producing as it did in his father's time. Then John shook off his prejudices and gave a fair trial to the methods recommended for the proper nutrition of crops and their protection against insects and disease.

Arrived at the upper headland, John levers up the discs, he's his team round and looks in the boxes of the drill. Replenishing the supply of seed grain he notices the peculiar odour it never had in his father's time and remembers that it is treated with organic mercury dust to prevent smut and root-rot. Next he refills the compartment containing the grey material from a bag labelled with the symbol 2-16-6, the fertilizer to which he pins his faith, confident that at harvest time he will be amply rewarded for all the extra cost and trouble.

Genuine Old Signboard a Big Curiosity in England

The following is a true copy of a genuine old signboard which is still in existence in a curiosity shop in the south of England:

"East Side of Heaven" a Great Production.

Muscle Important to Plot
Bing and Joan are co-starred in this film which features hit songs, romance and comedy against a strong human background. And they are surrounded by a galaxy of players who already are knocking at Hollywood's carefully guarded portals leading to stardom.

Mischa Auer, often referred to as the mad Russian, tops the supporting cast. "Sandy," 10-months-old baby of a Los Angeles milkman, does such a surprising job that studio executives already have the parents' signatures on a long term contract.

LITTLE RIVER

Mrs. Chesterton Davies and children, John and Joan, of Bridge-town, spent a week with Mr. and Mrs. Austin Denton recently, here Mrs. Davies was guest soloist at the church service Sunday morning, singing "Christ of the Human Road." In the evening, at the B. Y. P. U. service, she sang "Jesus Remembers When the World Forgets," which was enjoyed by a large congregation.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Denton, of Musquodoboit Harbor, spent the past week with the former's mother, Mrs. Albert Denton.

Miss Fay Denton, of Musquodoboit Harbor, spent the past week with her sister Mrs. Edgar Task.

Miss Geneva Foster, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Wm. Frost, has returned to Smith's Cove.

Mrs. Gladwyn Small, of White Head, Grand Manan, is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Emeretta Task.

Miss Elsie Denton, who spent the Easter holidays with her parents, has returned to Saint John.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Jones, of Digby, who spent a week with the latter's sister, Mrs. Bernard Morehouse, have returned home.

Clyde Denton, accompanied by Miss Mildred Kelly and Mrs. Otto Frost, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd McNeill, Marshalltown.

Ralph Watkins, of Westport, visited friends here on Sunday.

Miss Wilma Trask has returned home from Digby where she spent the past week.

Miss Mable Kelly, who spent a few days with her mother, has returned to her sister, Mrs. Martin Barnes, in Digby.

The W. M. A. S. gave a program in church on Sunday, under the leadership of Mrs. C. L. Chute, president, which was greatly enjoyed.

LATE AFTERNOON REFLECTIONS

Do you notice a let-down sort of feeling at the close of the day? Are you glad when the afternoon is over? Perhaps you miss having your tea each afternoon. Perhaps you have forgotten to order a package of Morse's Standard Tea. Don't let another day go by without this stimulating refreshing beverage. Why not do as they do in England—have a cup of tea at four in the afternoon as well as at mealtimes. A cup of Morse's Standard Tea will buck you up for the remainder of the day. Order Morse's Tea from your grocer tomorrow.

27 Men Picked Up at Sea

Word was received at Digby by telephone this morning, that twenty-seven of the survivors of Edith C. Rose, Capt. Hines, and the Isabelle Parker, Capt. Goodwin, have been landed at Westport and Freeport. Nine others were picked up by Yarmouth fishermen yesterday, and taken to that port. Of those rescued at Westport and Freeport, twenty were picked up by Westport fishing boats, 20 miles off that port, operated by Whitney Derby, Wallace Titus, and Herman Cann. Derby's boat had eight men, all from the Edith C.

Rose, one of whom was Capt. Hines' son. The name of the Freeport fishermen who rescued the other seven, are not known here at this hour. The 20 brought to Westport have already left for Yarmouth via the steamer Keith Cann, while the men who were brought to Freeport will take the ferry across to Meteghan, and from there the bus to Yarmouth. More than 40 were reported missing. The schooners collided in the fog, and sank.

ed along the road by the team, letting go to cross the road as Miss Woodman passed. In an effort to avoid the lad, Miss Woodman ran her car into the deep ditch in front of the school house, damaging it somewhat. The little boy's car was completely demolished, although it is not believed the car actually ran over the lad, the opinion is that he was struck by the bumper or mudguard. He was taken to the Digby General Hospital, where he is being attended by Dr. John R. McCleave.

The boy is a first cousin of John Robinson, an eight-year-old boy, who was killed under very similar circumstances last October. In that case young John, who was also riding on a cart, came suddenly from behind a car and was struck by a Mr. Fraser, of St. Stephen, N. B. This accident also occurred near the Conway school house.

The closing meeting of the Digby Young People's Union was held on Tuesday evening. President, Patricia MacPhee, in charge of the worship. Geraldine Syda gave an inspiring reading, "The Angelus", which completed a Fellowship Worship Service. The business consisted of the final arrangements for the Baptismal Font, and for the Presbytery Rally. Miss MacPhee then extended a hearty "thank-you" on the splendid co-operation the convenors had given her this year. Recreation was conducted by Marjorie Clarkson, and ice cream and cake was served by the boys. Dr. Hodgson expressed his thanks and congratulations to Miss MacPhee for her excellent leadership and the new enthusiasm she had given the group throughout her term of Presidency. Meeting closed with the Friendship circle.

"ABOUT THIS AND THAT" Continued

We all make promises to each other—implied promises—by the very act of living among people who place confidence in us. We are all of us promising hundreds of things every day—promising without knowing that we do so. Unconsciously we all break many of our promises, but our fellow men excuse us because they know that they have done the same and that in the complexity of life it is easy to forget. But there is absolutely no excuse for the broken promise that we all know to be a promise. "Better that thou shouldst not vow than that thou shouldst vow and not pay."

The old-fashioned spelling bee, which for many years seems to have been stored away in the attic with other relics of other days, seems to have drawn a second lease on life. For spelling bees are again the style. With the radio showing the way, these public tests of a person's ability to sort and collect the letters properly for tough English words seems to be sweeping the country from one end to the other. Oldsters as well as youngsters are interested. This new "game" should be emphatically encouraged, whether in rural school or metropolitan broadcasting station. The average Canadian has never been too certain of his spelling. And in recent years he seems to have been more uncertain than ever. Good spellers aren't born; they are made. So anything that stores in our memories the correct combination of letters for certain words is to be desired.

Mankind's greatest enemy today is fear. Some fears are valid and wholesome. But not many. Most of them are unhealthy, unnecessary, and not conducive to contented living. Men fear mostly failure, breakdown, poverty; fear lest they be unequal to the demands made upon them. So few persons today have any degree of material security. We have set so much store by such security that lack of it assumes hideous forms and gigantic dimensions. Fear is in reality nothing more nor less than a discounting of the future—and a dark future at that. What right have we to assume that the future will be dark? We must learn to wait and see. In nine cases out of ten we shall find that the thing we are afraid of will not happen, or, if it does, other things will happen too, which will change the setting, and modify the results. We must learn to be patient enough to live one day at a time—which is really all that is asked of us—and to realize that strength will be given us to do what is required.

About This and That

Digby's "Buy Maritime" Week which commenced on Monday and will continue until Saturday, is apparently "going over big." It really commenced last Saturday, according to the head clerk in the grocery department of one of our larger stores, who told us that even then more than half the customers were asking for "Maritime Made" goods and were even examining the labels of the cans they were buying to see that they bore the name of a Maritime manufacturer. Almost all the merchants trimmed their windows with Maritime Made goods and stressed them in their advertising and sales talks to their customers. But although the merchants did their share to put Maritime goods over, the manufacturers fell down. The Courier sent out 230 letters to manufacturers all through the Maritime Provinces and only twenty replied, seven of these declining to have anything to do with it, the others sending ads. On Friday afternoon one merchant who had devoted his whole space to Maritime products, deplored the fact that the manufacturers apparently had not sufficient confidence in their own goods to advertise them. A Moncton business man was in our office on Monday congratulating us on Friday's paper. He was looking over the ads. and spoke about the "Mephisto" brand advertised by the Royal Store. "Who puts that brand up?" he asked. We told him it was a Magee product from Port Elgin and Pictou. "What! Fred Magee?" "Yes," we replied. "Well," he remarked, "I have been in his place lots of times and I know him as well as I know you, but I never knew the name of his brand before." And in spite of such incidents—and we know of a number in connection with this week's sale, Maritime manufacturers do not think it necessary to advertise. Well, this "Buy Maritime" week in Digby has proved a success and a great many cases of Maritime made goods have been sold, but the manufacturers cannot expect the retail merchants of Digby or any other town to do their advertising for them.

Blessed are the merchants who advertise, for they have faith in their business and prosperity shall increase many fold. Blessed is the woman who sends in a written account of a party or a wedding, for he shall see the names and details correctly reported; and twice blessed is she if she sends it in while it is still news and not history. Blessed are those who do not expect an editor to know everything.

Scribner's magazine had a period of very high standing. Of late its place has not been quite so important. Changing conditions have been too much for a number of formerly top ranking magazines. There are many who remember Scribner's in its heyday, however, who will be sorry to hear the announcement that it is to cease publication.

The Typographical Journal prints an article said to have been furnished by German printers, who, it can be well understood, remain anonymous. The lot of a printer in Germany where printing is understood to have been invented, is not a happy one. The Nazis destroyed unionism. Here, for example, is a week's programme: Monday sees the printers called for fire brigade exercises, Tuesday's must-try drill, Wednesday is first-aid drill and gas mask tests, Friday is given up to "theoretical instruction" and Saturday has a work-a-meeting—all these items being after working hours. Thursday has a little variety. At 4.30 a. m., the printers turn out in full military equipment for a route march—before working hours.

A recent dispatch from Germany says: "The government has issued a decree which will establish miniature ghettos in German cities, by compelling all Jews who will not or cannot emigrate to live in Jewish-owned houses. This new decree will lead to establishment of Jewish areas

By S. P. W.

Spring, late this year, is now well advanced in the Ottawa Valley. Man and nature are combining their efforts to have Canada's capital city appear at its best for the Royal visitors. The space around the National Memorial, only a few weeks ago a chaos of mud and concrete mixers, is now a neatly trimmed lawn, and the transplanted trees, some of them forty feet in height, are coming into leaf. It has proved impossible for parliament to complete its business in time for the King to promulgate it. It will even sit on Monday and Tuesday of next week, though this will necessitate the presence in Ottawa of some Cabinet ministers, who will thus miss the only meeting in Canadian history of the Canadian Privy Council as a whole. It is to take place in Quebec. It was the Prime Minister's wish that the House should adjourn for the duration of the King's visit, but the members seemed to think that not advisable. Mr. King acceded to their wishes, and the House will adjourn only for the four days which their Majesties spend in Ottawa.

The wheat programme is still before the House, and has been the principal business of the week just past. In addition to the bills discussed in this column last week, two bills have been extensively debated. The first provides a graduated acreage bonus in case of crop failure, and sets up a fund to be used for the payment of this bonus. This fund will be made up, at least in part, of a payment by the growers of one per cent of all grain delivered to the elevators in what is known as the spring wheat area, namely the Prairie Provinces and the Peace River district of British Columbia. It is the beginning of a crop insurance scheme. In addition there is a bill which provides for a minimum price for the present year of seventy cents a bushel for number one Northern delivered at Fort William. This payment is limited to 5,000 bushels for any one individual. This second bill applies not only to the spring wheat area, but to the whole Dominion.

The first of these bills occupied the full time of the House on Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, and had its third reading on Wednesday. The second took most of Wednesday and Thursday, and has not yet received its third reading. Much pressure has been brought to bear, especially by the Social Credit and C. C. F. members, in the direction of having the 70-cent provision raised to 80 cents, or even more. Reams of statistics and reports have been produced in an attempt to show the cost of producing a bushel of wheat. The policy of the wheat board has been reviewed again and again. The problem is to give the west sufficient assistance without bearing too heavily on Canada as a whole. It is hoped that the present scheme, comprehensive as it is, will be successful in accomplishing that very thing.

On Saturday of last week the Minister of Fisheries, Mr. Michaud, introduced a bill which will set up a Salt Fish Board. This board is to be composed of men well acquainted with the industry, will have its headquarters in Halifax. It will be provided with a considerable sum of money with which to assist the industry. In addition, it will investigate and report to the Minister upon the marketing of salt fish in the export trade, and explore all possibilities of opening up new marketing outlets. It is instructed to "devise and recommend to the Minister a plan, or plans, which may be adopted for the orderly marketing of fish, salt or, to be salted, with a view to improving conditions and bringing greater returns to the primary producer and the exporter."

It is also to study methods of curing, packing and inspecting salt fish for export, and to study the grade and kind of salt used for curing the various species of fish.

The bill has not yet been debated, but it is not expected that it will prove contentious.

The estimates of the Department of National Defence were debated on Friday and again today. If they are not finished today they will probably be discussed again on Monday. The most important bill not yet debated is that to establish a Central Mortgage Bank.

Ottawa, May 13, 1939.

Westport Hero Presented With Humane Medal

Sewing Club Organized at Hectanooga

Miss Armstrong, sewing teacher, was at the Hectanooga school last week to organize a sewing club. Seven members joined and the club was named "Seven Happy Helpers." The officers are: President, Gladys Burridge; Vice-President, Geraldine LeBlanc; Secretary, Mildred Burridge. Miss Comeau—the teacher—is to be congratulated on having taken the initiative as such clubs—sewing, garden, calf and poultry—are doing a heap of good in the communities where they are established. Miss McNeil, another sewing teacher, was at the Mayflower school at the same time, to work up a sewing club there.

OBITUARY

The death of Miss Harriet B. Rand, aged 90 years, took place at the home of Mrs. Alice McNeill, Barton, on Tuesday morning of last week, after several weeks' illness. The body was taken to Hantsport for interment in the family lot. Miss Rand was a daughter of the late Rev. Dr. Silas Rand.

Proceedings Semi-Annual Session Municipal Council

The Council met at 2.00 p. m., Tuesday, May 2nd, 1939; present: J. V. Andrews, Warden; and Councillors Chisholm, S. E. Woodman, H. W. Cossaboom, Kinney, Fitzgerald, Wm. Cossaboom, Cornwell, W. C. Woodman, Dunn and Hankinson; Councillor Morrell coming later in the afternoon.

The Warden addressed the Council, outlining the matters to come before them and speaking of the rapidly increasing number of Hospital cases that are a charge in the Municipality and of the many bills for the care of poor, both of which have become a heavy burden on the tax payers.

The Warden also spoke of the proposed Hydro Developments, his district being the only one which is not supplied with electricity; he asked for more co-operation from the doctors when sending patients to Hospitals.

Councillor Cossaboom read a letter re Beatrice Nute from her mother, Mrs. Butterworth, regarding Hospital accounts. The methods of sending patients to Hospitals and payment of doctors' accounts were discussed.

Minutes of the January meeting were re-read and approved. A letter was read from Mr. James McDonald, city clerk, of Sydney, re resolution on percentage allowed the Public Utilities; after discussion this letter was left on the table.

Moved by Councillor S. E. Woodman, seconded by Councillor Cornwell, that the whole Council examine and deal with Hospital Bills now owing; passed.

Moved by Councillor Chisholm and seconded by Councillor W. C. Woodman that the Council visit the County Home and the Power Plants of the Digby County Power Developments on Thursday afternoon; and also accept the kind invitation of the Warden to attend a supper at his home on Thursday evening; passed.

Councillor Chisholm reported on various cases that he had been called upon to investigate.

Repairs for the Court House were discussed; the Janitor being present, reported on needed repairs.

On motion the Council adjourned until 10.00 a. m., Wednesday, Wednesday, May 3rd.

The Council met at 10.00 a. m., all Councillors present; the Warden in the chair. Minutes of the previous day were read and approved.

Moved by Councillor Fitzgerald that necessary repairs be made on the Court House, the amount expended not to exceed two thousand dollars; seconded by Councillor W. C. Woodman and passed.

Moved by Councillor Cornwell that Councillor S. E. Woodman be appointed, with the assistance of the Warden, to oversee the repairs to be made on the Court House; seconded by Councillor W. C. Woodman and passed.

Moved by Councillor Wm. Cossaboom that Councillor S. E. Woodman be allowed four dollars per day for committee fees for oversight of said repairs; seconded by Councillor Kinney and passed.

On motion the Council resolved into Assessment committee; Councillor W. C. Woodman taking the chair. This committee rose to report later. The Warden resumed the chair.

Letters were read from the Hon. J. L. Isley, Minister of National Revenue; and from Hon. A. S. MacMillan, Minister of Public Highways, acknowledging receipt of copy of Resolution passed by the Council in January re improved ferry facilities between Digby Neck and the Islands; these were on motion received, and ordered placed on file.

Discussion followed re pedlers licences, there being cases of persons holding a very small lot of land and paying a nominal tax to the Municipality and selling a large amount of merchandise in the Municipality.

On motion the Council adjourned until 2.00 p. m.

Council reassembled at 2.00 p. m., all Councillors present; the Warden in the chair.

Moved by Councillor Chisholm that the Royal Bank of Canada be authorized to charge coupons from Municipal Hydro Distribution bonds to the current account; seconded by Councillor Dunn and passed.

Councillor Chisholm read the report of the committee appointed in January to investigate re Gussie Eleanor Langford; this report was received and left on the table.

Moved by Councillor Chisholm that Mr. Balser, Keeper of the County Home, be asked to come before this Council at the present session; seconded by Councillor W. C. Woodman and passed.

The Council resolved into committee on Hospital Accounts.

Councillor Hankinson being appointed chairman. This committee rose to report later.

On motion the Council adjourned until 10.00 a. m., Thursday, Thursday, May 4th.

Council met at 10.00 a. m., all Councillors present; the Warden in the chair. Minutes of previous day read and approved.

The Warden read a letter received from the Canadian Red Cross Society in which they asked that names be sent the Society of those in the district who were unable to buy butter.

The Warden also read a letter from the Hon. J. R. Isley re The Housing Act; this was on motion placed on file.

Moved by Councillor Kinney that the Clerk be authorized to sell the property at Westport, assessed to Estate St. Clair Dakin by tender, this property having been offered for sale for recorded rates and no one having bid on it; seconded by Councillor W. C. Woodman and passed.

Moved by Councillor Kinney that the property assessed Estate Thomas Pugh at Westport, be sold for recorded rates; seconded by Councillor Cornwell and passed.

Moved by Councillor Cornwell that the property assessed Estate William Sanderson in the District of Rossby, be sold for recorded rates; seconded by Councillor Kinney and passed.

Mr. Balser, Keeper of the County Home, came before the Council; after hearing his report Councillor Cornwell moved that the report be left on the table until Friday morning; seconded by Councillor Chisholm and passed.

Mr. Theriault being present, gave information re Hospital accounts, and advised that the Treasurer and Accountant for the Hospital be asked to meet the Solicitor and the Municipal Treasurer and agree on a system of collecting and accounting, there having been confusion in the methods used in the past. Moved by Councillor Dunn, seconded by Councillor Fitzgerald, that the foregoing suggestion of the Solicitor be authorized by the Council and that all bills marked to be collected by the Councillors, be handed the Solicitor by the Clerk for collection; passed.

The report of the Hospital Committee was read and adopted.

Councillor Dunn having given notice in writing that he would at this session of the Council ask to have the by-law re licensing of dogs amended. Moved that this be done and the following be substituted:

(1) The owner of every dog November in each year pay an annual fee of one dollar for each male dog and five dollars for each female dog;

(2) Any Constable or Peace Officer may impound and kill, or kill without impounding, any dog in respect of which such tax has not been paid, without notice to or complaint against, the owner of such dog;

(3) The owner of a dog in respect of which such tax has not been paid shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five dollars. This was seconded by Councillor W. C. Woodman and passed.

On motion the Council adjourned until 1.30 p. m.

Council reassembled at 1.30 p. m., all Councillors present; the Warden in the chair. On motion the Council adjourned to visit the County Home and the Power Plants.

Friday, May 5th.

Council met at 10.00 a. m., all Councillors present; the Warden in the chair. Minutes of previous day read and approved.

Mr. Heber McNeill on motion came before the Council re care of his daughter, who is a mental case. Mr. Theriault, Solicitor, being present, advised that this woman was not at present a case for the Council to consider.

On motion Mr. H. J. Campbell, Superintendent Municipal Hydro Distribution, came before the Council and gave his report; Mr. Campbell told of a proposed extension of a line to Culloden, the Hydro Committee in their report had advised that this extension be authorized. A request had also been made that the line be extended to Gulliver's Cove. The extension of a line through North Range was being considered.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. G. Lynch were visitors to Yarmouth on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Purdy left Monday to spend a few days in Montreal.

Friday evening, May 19th, two short plays by Smith's Cove Home Division. Admission, 25 cents.

Mrs. S. M. Raymond has returned home from the Digby General Hospital, after a surgical operation. She is much improved in health.

Hospital Variety Sale, Saturday, May 27, at Waverly Sample Room. Send donations there on Friday, or phone 95.

The initiatory degree will be conferred tonight at St. George Lodge, I. O. O. F., and a large attendance of the members is requested.

Have you seen Miss Chisholm's H-1? Lowest in price and highest in style.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Titus, who have been spending the winter with their daughter, Mrs. Oscar Lane, in Hammond, Ind., returned home on Thursday. They were accompanied by Mrs. Lane.

See Miss Chisholm's top-notch styles in Hats, at Mrs. Roop's store, Monday, Tuesday and Saturday.

Miss Grace Chisholm, of Framingham Centre, Mass., who has been visiting Miss Bessie Chisholm, Warwick Street, returned on Tuesday. She was accompanied by Miss Bessie Chisholm, who will be her guest for three weeks.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Bishop returned to their home in Deep Brook, on Saturday, May 13, from MacDonald's Corner, N. B., where they were called by the sudden and fatal illness of Mrs. Bishop's brother, the late William L. MacDonald.

St. George Lodge, I. O. O. F., will celebrate the 120th anniversary of the founding of the Order by attending divine service in the United Baptist Church on Sunday evening. Zelma Rebekah Lodge will also attend the service.

The lobster smack, Grace M. Crilly, Capt. Sping, left Monday morning with 6,000 pounds of lobsters from Snow Bros., Digby. The Crilly will take on another quantity from Alden Elliott, of Tiverton, before sailing for Haddock, Me.

Master Gordon Ritcey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ritcey, of Halifax, was one of the youngest to compete at the Musical Festival, held on Wednesday, at the Dalhousie Gymnasium, Halifax. Gordon is just nine years of age, and was just a few points below the winner. He has been playing the piano in recital for the past two years, held at the conservatory of music. Mrs. Ritcey was formerly Marjorie Ellis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ellis, of Bay View.

First opening of Summer Millinery, at the Hat Shoppe, tomorrow.—Gertrude Oliver.

The Hospital Sewing Circle met at the home of Mrs. Conrad this week. Mrs. Fred Thibault will be the hostess next Friday afternoon.

Honors graduate of Alberta University and holder of a diploma from the school of education, Miss Josephine Mitchell, a grand-daughter of Mrs. Josephine Russell, of Digby, has been appointed leader in mathematics at Bryn Mawr, where she spent the past year in advanced study.

Art's Spa, which has been in the hands of painters and decorators for some days, will be ready for business again tomorrow evening. The restaurant is a beautiful spot resplendent in light colors blue and gold predominating, and well lighted. Those who have seen it are loud in their praises.

Returned Visit of Lieut.-Colonel J. Southall

The Colonel will conduct a meeting in the Salvation Army Citadel on May 24th, at 8.00 p.m., assisted by Major T. H. Mundy, Divisional Commander for Nova Scotia. Among the many names of the early pioneers who opened The Army's work in the Maritimes, the name of Colonel John Southall stands out prominently, for he was at the beginning of things, and evidently built better than he knew.

The Maritimes are favoured in having a return visit of this veteran Salvation Army Officer, who, although now retired from active service, is still a most energetic leader. During the years after the important field commands, he has held important positions as Divisional Commander. Then came the difficult position as Immigration Director for Army Migration to this Dominion, after which he was Editor of "The War Cry".

The Colonel is a gifted speaker, and continues to exhibit the fiery eloquence of the old time warrior. Fearless in his denunciation of wrong, and yet tender in his treatment of those who have erred, the Colonel's visit to Digby will be welcomed by not only the members of The Salvation Army, but a vast host of Army friends.

In 1883 he was appointed as Divisional Commander to the Halifax Division, and was installed in this important command by Commissioner Thomas Coombs. Apart from the Colonel's Evangelistic messages, he will speak on "Pioneering Days in the Maritimes", and a real treat is in store for all who attend.

Shirley Temple at The Capitol.

There's so much to laugh at, so much to love, so many things to take away and remember in Shirley Temple's new picture, "Just Around the Corner", which opens Monday at the Capitol Theatre, that even the most glowing comment can hardly do justice either to Shirley or to the delightful show which 20th Century-Fox has fashioned around its Number One star.

You'll simply have to go see it for yourself! For "Just Around the Corner" is not only the best picture Shirley Temple has ever appeared in, but also one of the most entertaining hits ever produced by the studio that has given us so many great pictures in the past. And it finds Shirley in her happiest role, one which allows her an occasional outburst of that mischievous humor, which is said to be so characteristic of her irresistible spirit outside the studio.

Among those who share in all this fun are Charles Farrell, as Shirley's dad; Joan Davis, as lady-in-waiting to a kenneled-fall of Park Avenue posies; Amanda Duff (a promising young newcomer to films) as the girl with whom Farrell is in love; Bert Lahr, as Joan's chauffeur-sweetheart; and the inimitable Bill Robinson, who does a new dance routine with Shirley that surpasses even their sensational "Toy Trumpet" number in "Rebecca".

The picture opened with Shirley returning home from boarding school to find her architect dad down on his luck. Having invested all his money in a great alum clearance project, work on which has been suspended for lack of additional capital, Farrell has given up his pen-house and taken a

Committees Working For Firemen's Field Day

During recent years, and, indeed, before that, Digby people have had ample evidence of the high state of efficiency of our local Fire Department by the prompt appearance of the fire truck at the scenes of the fires. In fact, at times, the large fire siren, located at the Town Hall, has hardly ceased to sound when the banshee wail of the smaller siren on the truck can be heard on its way to the fire. However, we'll all have a good chance to view at close quarters the local Department in action on July 1st as they run through their whole bag of tricks from getting away from the fire hall in record time to coupling up hose and climbing roofs. On Saturday, July 1st, the Digby Fire Department are "taking over the day."

We have heard that besides the list of competition among firemen only, there will be water and land sports open to entries far and near. The Secretary of the Fire Company has already been in touch with a number of interested companies and an imposing array of prizes have been gathered together for the different land and water sports events.

In the weeks to come before "der tag" the committees will all be working to make July 1st one of the most interesting and enjoyable days you have ever spent. In the meantime the Courier will, of course, try to keep you informed about the different entertainments as they are planned. The program will be printed in next week's issue.

Temperance Rally On August 23rd.

The committee arranging for the Annual Temperance Rally and Picnic, at Margareville, met at Middleton on the 12th inst. The committee is composed of Mrs. Pirman Baltzer, Berwick; E. C. Bishop, Somerset; Rev. P. M. Hamilton, Nictaux Falls; Rev. A. B. Higgins, Rev. J. M. Armstrong and Fred H. Cox, Middleton; Rev. M. R. Ewing and Mrs. M. B. Landers, Lawrencetown; and Rev. G. E. Huestis, Paradise.

The Rally date is Wednesday, August 23, and it will be held as last year on the Hudgins grounds, at Margareville. It will be in the form of an old time basket picnic. Mr. Cox is chairman of the committee and Mrs. Landers is the secretary-treasurer. The following are chairmen of sub-committees: Programme: Rev. A. B. Higgins; tables: Mrs. P. E. Black; sports: Rev. J. M. Armstrong; and finance: Rev. M. R. Ewing. Beginning at 2.00 p.m., there will be sports, boating, speeches and supper. It is expected that a band will attend. W. C. T. Unions, I. O. G. T. Lodges, Divisions, S. of T., and Bands of Hope from Avonport to Weymouth will be invited and the general public so far as they wish to attend, will be welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Avard Hudgins have one of the most popular picnic grounds on the Bay of Fundy shore and are adding improvements this season. Last year's Temperance Picnic was a grand success and it is expected that it will be surpassed both in attendance and enjoyment this year.

baseament room in the same apartment building. Once the biggest paying tenant in the building, he is now one of its humblest employees.

The reason, he explains to Shir-ling to Uncle Sam. Uncle Sam could fix everything—if only people would help him.

Shirley naturally assumes that her Dad is referring to the fabulously wealthy Samuel Henshaw—who is "Uncle Sam" to her playmate, Bessie Bartlett, and to the lovely Amanda. So she conspired with Bert Lahr, Joan Davis and Bill Robinson to put on a big benefit show in the basement of the apartment house—and "Uncle Sam" (Henshaw) is to be the beneficiary!

The newspapers get wind of Shirley's show, which is a tremendous success, and what follows provides a thrilling and completely satisfactory climax for everyone concerned.

On Sunday last Mrs. Parker, accompanied by her two children and her mother, Mrs. Landers, visited her husband and found him doing nicely, although he had suffered greatly for some time previously.

ARMS USELESS ON A WET DAY

Rheumatic Pains Relieved By Kruschen

Here is a noteworthy instance of the manner in which damp weather can affect the joints of one who is subject to rheumatic pains.

"I had been suffering from rheumatism very badly," a man writes, "and had such pains in my joints that I could hardly bear it, on a wet day especially. It pained me terribly to use my arms, and I was hardly able to work. I tried two different remedies, but I was still as bad after the treatment."

"Then I was told to try Kruschen Salts, which quickly brought relief. So of course I have kept on with it, and I am now much better and have never felt so fit for years. I used to feel so miserable and sluggish, but now it is a pleasure to be able to work."

The pains and stiffness of rheumatism are often caused by uric acid crystals in the muscles and joints. The numerous salts in Kruschen assist in stimulating the internal organs to healthy, regular activity, and help them to eliminate excess uric acid.

Mrs. B. Robbins is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Otis Rice.

Mrs. Ina Sollows, R. N., is at the home of Mrs. W. A. Chute.

The Sunbeam Band met on Wednesday at the Church vestry.

The Ladies' Aid met on Tuesday evening with Mrs. Wm. Morine.

Miss Utah Robinson, of Clementsville, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Fowler Robinson.

Miss Hazel Purdy spent the week end at Bear River, East, guest of Mrs. Charles VanBuskirk.

Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Roach were at Kentville the past week to see the former's sister, Mrs. K. Pineo.

Amy White, little two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard White, South Range, met with a serious accident on Tuesday evening of last week at the supper hour, when she had her little finger of the left hand almost cut off by a blow from an axe in the hands of her small brother. She was brought to the village and surgical aid secured at once. The injury is doing well and the finger is saved.

Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Snow entertained at dinner and bridge on Friday of last week, at the Grand Central Hotel, and the long table, centred with jonquils and yellow candles in silver holders, had covers laid for twenty-six. Following dinner contract was enjoyed at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Snow, and the winners of the attractive prizes were Mrs. J. E. White, James D. Hubley, Mrs. A. B. Campbell and James C. Brown.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hubley are Mrs. Hubley's sister, Mrs. Smith, and her husband, Lieut. H. R. Smith, U.S.N., who have been visiting in Sydney and arrived by motor on Friday last. Their young son, Ross, is with his grandmother, in Alma, Michigan, and will be joined there by his parents, prior to making their new home in New Haven, Conn., where Lieut. Smith will be in command of a training ship. During their stay here, Lieut. Smith and Mr. Hubley enjoyed a pleasant trip in the woods, securing pictures of wild life. Mr. Smith being an ardent amateur photographer. Dr. D. J. MacKenzie, director of Public Health Laboratories, Halifax, also visited Mrs. Hubley, (his niece), over the week end, returning to Halifax late on Sunday.

THE ARISTOCRAT OF TEAS

Just like a breath of clear mountain air—that's what people say about Morse's Darjeeling Tea—the tea which is grown on the high altitudes of the Himalaya Mountains. No wonder it is so refreshing . . . no wonder it gives heightened action to all the bodily functions, and yet has no let-down or unpleasant after effects. Morse's Darjeeling Tea is truly a delight to the palate, and is regarded by connoisseurs as tea which is "second to none." For special occasions no other tea can give the matchless satisfaction of Morse's Darjeeling.

Mrs. H. E. Harris spent several days at Westport the past week visiting her sister, Mrs. E. C. Coggins.

The flowers and potted plants were lovely at the United Church on Sunday, in memory of loved ones.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Warren and son Lyman, Kentville, are spending a fortnight's vacation in their cottage here.

The Ladies' Circle met with Mrs. Gilbert Hubley on Tuesday afternoon, at which a silver tea was served by the hostess.

"Hal" McDormand, who has been spending a few weeks here with his parents, left on Tuesday for Providence, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Rice and son Darrell, and Mrs. Lyle Stevens spent several days at Tiverton and Freeport, the past week.

Mrs. George Crouse met with a painful accident on Thursday of last week, by breaking an arm. At present she is ill from the shock.

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. McCarthy have recently had as guests the latter's brother, G. L. Fraser, and wife, of Halifax, who spent several days with them.

At the splendid Mothers' Day service in Lansdowne, last Sunday, Miss Allie Forbes, of the "Oakdene" staff, rendered beautifully the solo, "The Church By the Side of the Road."

Mrs. Henry Wright, who has been spending the winter in Boston, with her son, Morley, arrived home on Tuesday last and re-opened her residence for the summer.

Miss Blanche Purdy, who has spent the winter in the "sunny south," at Orlando, with her niece, Mrs. "Ted" Stevens and family, also visiting Miami, Daytona Beach, New York and Boston, arrived home last week and re-opened her residence for the summer.

A very interesting programme for Mother's Day was carried out in the Advent Church last Sunday evening, by the younger members of the congregation. The program, although rather lengthy, was much enjoyed by those present. (A copy of this programme was sent for publication but it is incomplete in that in one or two cases only the Christian name of the person taking part was mentioned—and it was also a little too long. But what spoiled it from a news point of view was the fact that there were no introductory remarks.) The latter also applies to the programme sent in from the United Church. Programmes, by themselves, are of no news value without a "write-up".

PHILATHEA CLASS

On Thursday evening of last week the Philathea Class held an enjoyable evening in the form of a class party, at the home of the president, Mrs. Roy Snell, where some fifty-five class members and friends were in attendance. The evening's programme, under the direction of Miss Allie Forbes, consisted of games, readings, contests, etc. Refreshments were served by the committee in charge, Mrs. G. D. Brydon, convenor.

MAYFLOWER

Leonard Saulnier caught a salmon at the bridge here last week that weighed over twenty pounds.

W. J. Foley, of Salmon River, is building a cottage at the bridge, for the sportsmen of the rod and line.

Mr. and Mrs. Armand A. Deveau were at Briar Lake on Sunday, calling on Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Thibault.

Mrs. Josephine Deveau is now at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Robichaud.

Thomas F. Rice

On Sunday, May 7th, there passed away at his home in Round Hill, Tom Rice, a former Bear River boy, after a lengthy illness, aged 36 years. The deceased was the youngest son of the late Colin C. and Jennie (Brown) Rice. He was on the staff of the Bank of Nova Scotia, but later was engaged in business in Kentville. After the tragic death of his mother in an auto accident in 1937 he moved to her home in Round Hill where he has since resided. He is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Marjorie Belyea, of Saint John; a young son, Lathan; a sister, Freda, (Mrs. Herbert Faim), of Moschelle; and a brother, Kenneth, in Montreal.

Messrs. Jock, Stewart and Donald Campbell, of Halifax, spent the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Campbell, Jr. Donald is remaining at home for an indefinite time.

Magistrate J. M. Sabine, met with a painful accident on Saturday, when he fell from a step-ladder, cutting one hand and receiving other injuries.

Rev. Frisby Smith, for the past few years Rector of the Anglican Churches here, and Mrs. Smith, left on Monday for Halifax, where Mr. Smith is to be Curate of the Cathedral.

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Titus and daughter, Mrs. Oscar Lane, of Digby, have been spending a few days in town, having been called here by the death of Mrs. Titus' sister, the late Mrs. Emma Hoyt.

W. E. VanBlarcom, our genial young old man, of Digby, spent a part of the week visiting in town. One of the homes he happened to call on was the United Church parsonage, and there noticed some of the tomato plants grown by the MacNevin boys. Mr. VanBlarcom is a grower of plants himself, and quite well satisfied with the success he has had. But he found that these far surpassed his, for he discovered that some measured as much as ten inches in height. And there were about two hundred and fifty-five in all. He wanted to know what they were going to do with such a host of such plants, and the reply was, "Oh! guess we will plant about fifty, and if we can get any to buy the balance perhaps we can sell them."

OBITUARY

Miss Theodora Boudreau

On Thursday, May the 4th, after twenty months' sickness in the Sanatorium in Norwich, Conn., Miss Theodora Boudreau died, at the age of 29, leaving her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Damien Boudreau, the latter postmistress of St. Alphonse de Clare; a brother, Louis, of the same place; and a sister, Ann Sarah, employed in Kentville, and who came home to attend the funeral. The deceased had been employed many years in the General Electric office at Bridgeport, Conn., as stenographer before she was confined to the San, and she was highly esteemed by her employers. The remains arrived Monday from Saint John, via Digby. The funeral took place on Tuesday of last week from the St. Alphonse church, Rev. M. J. LeBlanc, pastor, officiating. The organist was Vincent Maillet, and the choir was directed by A. F. Haché, a friend of the family. The pall bearers were Louis Boudreau, Albert, Edward and Denis Saulnier; and the cross bearer was Vincent Saulnier.

TENDERS

For Keeper and Matron of the County Home, at Marshalltown, Digby County.

TENDERS will be received by the undersigned, at Bear River, N. S., up to and including May 23rd, 1939, for a Keeper and Matron for the County Home at Marshalltown, in the County of Digby. Qualifications of Applicants: Must be between the ages of thirty-five and forty-five, with no children. Also must have knowledge of farming, as well as experience in an institution for those suffering from nervous disorders, and be in a position to take charge of the Home on June 1st, 1939.

All Tenders must be enclosed in sealed envelopes, marked "Tenders for Keeper and Matron for County Home," and addressed to the undersigned at Bear River, N. S.

The Committee does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any Tender.

H. E. CHISHOLM, Chairman of Committee on Tenders and Public Property, Dated at Bear River, this 6th day of May, 1939.

The flowers at the United Church of Canada on Mother's Day were especially beautiful. Two bouquets were placed there in honor of the late Mrs. N. E. Butler, a former resident of this place, by her daughter and grandson, of Yarmouth County.

Rev. Mr. Oliver, of Halifax, will be the special speaker at the services at the African Baptist Church, on May 21st. On Monday, May 22, at the same church, there will be a Rally of the B. Y. P. U.'s of the African Baptist Churches of Weymouth Falls, Yarmouth, Acadiaville and Annapolis Royal. Special programmes of singing, etc., will be given by the various Unions and Rev. Mr. Oliver will be the special speaker.

METEGHAN

Rev. Father Blinn, of St. Bernard, officiated at High Mass on Sunday, the 7th, and also presided at the Holy Hour in the evening. Very Rev. Father Bourneau delivered an able sermon and exhorted his people to pray for peace during the month of May, which was consecrated to the Blessed Virgin. The curate, Rev. Father L. Comeau, directed a strong choir, composed of young ladies, young men and the ordinary singers, who rendered beautiful hymns and appropriate chants. Mrs. Joseph S. LeBlanc was at the organ.

Rev. Father d'Entremont, curate of Joggins Mines, and who had been previously curate here, was a visitor at the Glebe House and at the convent recently. Sister St. Theresa de Liciois is his sister.

Professors Charles Pothier and Ernest Coteau, of St. Anne's College, on their return from a visit to their parents in Wedgeport on Sunday afternoon, were accompanied by Leo Murphy, Harold Pothier, Arthur Pothier and Denis Boudreau, who paid a short visit to the Pothiers' uncle, Guillaume and Mandé Pothier, of this place.

Miss Bernadette Boudreau came from Kentville a few days ago to spend a few weeks' vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Liboire Boudreau.

Mrs. James Comeau, of Church Point, was a visitor to her sister, Miss Agathe Comeau, recently.

Inspector L. A. d'Entremont was inspecting schools in our vicinity last week.

Isaac Geddy, assessor of Combeville, was in our village on Thursday, on business.

Charles O. Deveau, of Salmon River, visited A. F. Haché one day last week.

Joseph Dugas sustained a broken leg on Tuesday in an automobile accident four miles from here. Dr. Belliveau took him to the Yarmouth Hospital.

A few of our boys—students in St. Anne's College—spent their congenial Thursday with their families.

Donald Blackadar and Jack Hankinson, of the Halifax branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, spent the week end at their homes here.

The motor vessel, Nepeya, Capt. Gilbert Zinck, sailed on Saturday for Boston, with a cargo of lumber shipped by G. O. Hankinson.

Mrs. Arnold Lent is supplying as Primary Teacher at Weymouth North, during the absence of Miss Barbara Crowell, who is convalescing at her home in Barrington Passage.

A MESSAGE TO PARENTS

ABOUT THEIR CHILDREN

No child with defective vision has a proper chance in the battle of life. A scientific examination of children's eyes, such as we make, is a sure way to determine whether they have normal vision.

Children who require glasses should have the benefit of a very recent scientific development—CORRECTAL Lenses. They give clear, undistorted vision over the entire surface of the lens so that there is accurate vision even at the very edge.

OBITUARY

George A. Coleman

The death took place on Wednesday morning, May 10, at his home in Brighton, of George A. Coleman, aged 73 years. His death was not unexpected as he had been ill for several months. He leaves to mourn, his wife, also one daughter, Mrs. Samuel I. Coleman, of Brighton; one grand-daughter and one great-grand-daughter, of Barton, and an aged mother, Mrs. Julia Coleman, of Nictaux, N. S.; also six brothers and two sisters, Sherman Coleman, Hardy Coleman, Leonard Coleman, and Mrs. Nettie Balcom, in Middleton, the others in the United States. As a young man he lived in Chelsea, Mass., and thirty-five years ago moved to Brighton, Digby Co. The funeral was held Friday afternoon in charge of the Oddfellows, Rev. C. U. McNevin of the United Church officiated and interment was in the Barton cemetery.

William L. MacDonald

At his residence, MacDonald's Corner, Queen's County, N. B., William L. MacDonald died on the morning of May 8. Mr. MacDonald was stricken with paralysis on May 3, and passed away without regaining consciousness. He is survived by his widow, one sister, Mrs. F. E. Bishop, of Deep Brook, N. S., and three brothers, A. B. MacDonald, Kansas City, Missouri; M. C. MacDonald, Merrimac, Mass.; and G. H. MacDonald, Richmond, California. The funeral service was held on May 10, at the Baptist Church, conducted by the pastor, Dr. W. R. Greenwood assisted by Dr. Gladstone McLean, returned missionary from Nigeria, Africa.

Mrs. Thomas Hicks

The many friends of Mrs. T. M. Hicks in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick will be sorry to learn of her death, which occurred suddenly at East Riverside, N. B., Saturday morning. Mrs. Hicks was a resident of Westport, and was the widow of the late Capt. Thomas M. Hicks, prominent merchant and ship owner of that place. Mrs. Hicks was a devoted member of the Christian Church and was especially active in church work. Following the death of her husband two years ago, Mrs. Hicks made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Horace F. Goodwin, of East Riverside, N. B. Besides her daughter, Mrs. Hicks is survived by one son, Vernon B. Collins, of St. Andrews, N. B. The body was taken to her former home in Westport, on Tuesday, where funeral services and interment took place Wednesday afternoon.

New Edinburgh

Michael McCormack was a passenger to Digby last week. Mrs. Agnes Amiraault is much improved in health. Word has been received here of the sudden death of George Webster, of Massachusetts. Mr. and Mrs. Webster were summer guests here and always occupied their cottage, "My Dream". Barbara McCormack visited her sister, Mrs. Stanley Robichaud, of Weymouth Mills, this week.

"ABOUT THIS AND THAT" Continued

in Germany's largest cities, with groups of buildings inhabited exclusively by Jews. Not since 1870, when Rome's segregation of Jews ended, has there been a ghetto in Europe. Here is a step backward to the Middle-Ages, when such segregation was customary in Europe, with all the indignities and restrictions that naturally accompanied it. Such barbarous procedure is not confined now in Germany. It is expected in Italy and, so far as may be judged from recent legislation, seems likely to spread through most of Central Europe. And all this cruelty stems now from one man, Adolf Hitler, who seems to have a pathological phobia against Hebrews. Karl von Wiegand, veteran American correspondent, tells of Hitler running around the room shrieking incoherently when asked why he persecutes the Jews.

Aged Resident a Link With the Past.

Charles O. Deveau (Dedier), of Salmon River, Clare, celebrated the 81st anniversary of his birth on Friday, May 5th. He is a son of the late Oliver A. Deveau, of Salmon River, and Mary (Cormeau) Deveau, of St. Alphonse de Clare, and was born in Salmon River. He was baptized at St. Vincent de Paul Church, Salmon River, by the late Rev. Father McLeod. Of a family of eight children—two boys and eight girls—he is the only one living. One sister, the eldest of the family—Monique—was the first white baby born at Hectanooga, their parents having child born at Hectanooga, as far lived there for a while. The first as can be ascertained, was an Indian boy by the name of Barrio. Mr. Deveau's only brother—Marin—was drowned at Pleasant Cove about fifty yards from the shore. (Raymond's) August 26, 1887, on coming from their nets. With him also were drowned Mando Robichaud, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Gervais Robichaud, of St. Alphonse de Clare, and Albert Dowley, a son of the late Capt. and Mrs. Michael Dowley, of Woodvale. In 1882 Mr. Deveau married Mary Cormeau, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Marin F. Cormeau, of St. Alphonse de Clare, who died March 29, 1838. He has two children living, Maggie (Mrs. Louis A. Deveau) postmistress of Woodvale, and Nancy (Mrs. Ulysse Cormeau) in the United States; also seventeen grandchildren and three great grandchildren. For a number of years he was an active travelling salesman for the firm of Massey-Harris, of Toronto. He was also an able political organizer and campaigner—a staunch Conservative. His father died in 1901, aged 92 years; his mother in 1908 at the age of 99 years and 3 months. He is the 5th generation from Jacques Deveau, the first French Acadian settler of Salmon River. He came from Cape Rouge, having made an exchange of land with one Robert Timpany, in May, 1788. He settled on the hill on the southern side of the Salmon River with his sons, John Ephrem and Francois. It was at the house of this Jacques Deveau that the first Roman Catholic Mass was said by the Bishop of Quebec, in the summer of 1813. The cellar was still in evidence up to a couple of years ago and should have been kept up as an historic spot.

C. L. Deveau.

Forty Hours' Devotions at the Meteghan Convent.

On Wednesday morning of last week Very Rev. Father Bourneuf, pastor at Meteghan, opened the forty hours' devotions in the convent by a High Mass and exposition of the Blessed Sacrament. The students, under the guidance of the good sisters, rendered the singing of a new Mass. On Thursday morning Rev. Father Cormeau, curate, officiated at the High Mass for Peace, and in the evening the pastor presided at the Holy Hour. On Friday morning the curate sang the High Mass for the closing of the Devotions. Gustave Robichaud and George Aymar were the altar boys.

THE WEEK IN PARLIAMENT

By S. P. W.

The Prime Minister was right in a statement quoted in this column two weeks ago, he said that the public "will get a much better appreciation of the care with which this house is discussing public matters if that discussion takes place after their Majesties have left rather than at a time when the public mind is occupied, as it will be, with their Majesties' visit." On Thursday, May 18th, the day after the arrival of the King and Queen at Quebec, the proceedings of the House of Commons were, for the first time this year, crowded off the front page of both the Montreal "Gazette" and the Toronto "Globe and Mail."

Actually, the House has accomplished a good deal during the present shortened week. On Wednesday, until late in the afternoon, the Minister of Agriculture was the only member of the Government in the House. This was another situation probably unprecedented in this historic week when so many precedents have been broken. Most of the agricultural estimates were passed on Wednesday, and a long debate took place on Bill 104, an act to establish new and more efficient controls over stockyards and livestock exchanges and hatcheries. It will also set up an advisory committee composed of representatives of an industry to assist in measures dealing with the marketing of any particular livestock product. Under this act an attempt will be made to regulate shipments of bacon (among other products) to the British market as to ensure a greatly increased return to the Canadian producer. Experiments in connection with weekly shipments of baby beef to Great Britain will be continued and expanded. So far they have proved most beneficial.

On Tuesday, the estimates of the Department of National Defence were before the House. This year for the first time provision is being made for the amortization of certain capital expenditures. The increase in defence estimates this year has met with very little opposition from any quarter of the House. The active militia is organized at the present time as follows: Permanent force and one cavalry division and six divisions with ancillary troops and fortress garrisons. Peace establishment of the permanent force, 6,928; non-permanent force, 86,000. Present strength of the permanent force, 1,211; non-permanent active militia, 51,659. The ultimate objective which the navy has set out for Canada is to build up a naval force of eighteen destroyers, nine in each coast; eight anti-submarine vessels, four on each coast; sixteen minesweepers, eight on each coast; eight motor torpedo vessels, to be used on the east coast only; two parent vessels, on the destroyers on the west coast and one for the motor torpedo boats on the east coast.

It was also announced that a non-political joint committee of the Commons and Senate will be set up to study Canadian defence problems, similar to a parliamentary committee already existing in Great Britain.

Due to the unfortunately late arrival of the Empress of Australia, the programme of festivities originally planned for Ottawa, was somewhat curtailed, as was also that planned for Kingston. The last minute change of plans in no way diminished the enthusiasm of the capital city's welcome to its King and Queen. On every occasion of their public appearance cheering thousands lined the route.

The events of the last two days in Ottawa have provided an unforgettable experience for the thousands who have witnessed them, as they have, surely, for the King and Queen themselves. Ottawa, May 20, 1939.

UPPER CLEMENTS

On Tuesday evening of last week a pie sale and dance was held in the Club House for the benefit of the new Annapolis Royal Hospital. The sum of $16.00 was raised.

"Learn to Do Things' on the Farm And in The Home"

"Learn to do things" on the farm and in the home, was the unofficial slogan for the short courses held under the youth training movement in Nova Scotia during the past winter. The aptness of the expression will now be apparent to more than 1,000 young people who obtained the benefits of these courses, held under the joint auspices of the Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture, and the Dominion Department of Labor, at the Agricultural College at Truro, and in the rural districts during the past six months.

While more than 1,000 young people between the ages of 16 and 30 benefited from these courses, adults to the number of several hundred also attended, the total attendance in all being close to 2,000 people.

The object of the courses was not only to train young men and women in the right way to perform the various tasks of farm and home, but also to give them some knowledge of work which might provide them with a certain amount of gainful occupation in the future. This has proven out in a number of cases. One outstanding example has been in the courses in egg and poultry grading held for the past two winters. With the rapid expansion of co-operative egg shipping stations, and the application of the grading system to both eggs and poultry, the services of efficient graders are more and more in demand. It is reported that almost all of those who took the course in egg grading at Truro a year ago, found gainful occupation among the egg shipping stations and wholesale produce plants in the province.

Under the youth training movement, a total of 33 short courses were held during the past winter, 13 of which were held at the Agricultural College at Truro, and 20 under the direction of the Extension Division of the Provincial Department of Agriculture at various rural points.

In the 13 courses held at the College, approximately 300 young people obtained training in various useful lines in connection with farm and rural life. The courses at the college included on grading of dressed poultry, ten days; one in farm mechanics for three weeks, in which blacksmithing, wood-working, and care of farm implements was featured; one in fur farming; one in egg grading; two for young women, in home crafts; one in poultry raising; one in bee-keeping; one for herdsmen in the care and management of cattle a general course in soils and crops and one in horticulture and gardening.

Plans are now under way for the two-months' short course in farming, to be held at the College at Truro, during the month of May and June, and for which many applications are being received.

Large Rural Attendance

In the twenty short-courses held under the youth training movement in the rural districts, the total registration of young people was 837, with an aggregate average attendance of 741, including adults, the total registration at all these short courses in the country districts was 1653, with an aggregate average attendance of 1140 persons.

The short courses were both specific and general in character. Four short courses were held for women in home crafts and handicraft, a poultry course was held at Kentville experimental station, a potato short course was also held at Kentville. Two short courses were held at Little Brook, one in January for fur farmers and the other in March as a general course. At the Baddeck course, in addition to general instruction in farming subjects, one speaker was obtained on the subject of mink breeding, while a cobbler was also used to instruct the young men in repairing of harness and similar farm jobs.

Fishermen Learn Gardening

The short course at Main A Dieu in the fishing districts of Cape Breton, and those held at Dominion and Centreville in the mining districts of Cape Breton, were given over specifically to raising of garden truck, and poultry, both of which lines have seen considerable advancement in these districts in the past year.

Little Brook short course headed the list in point of attendance, with total registrations of 290, and an average daily attendance of 100. Mabou came second with a registration of 245, and Yarmouth third with 185, and an average daily attendance of 86.

Speakers and instructors for the courses were drawn largely from the staffs of the Dominion Department of Agriculture located in Nova Scotia, and the Provincial Department of Agriculture and the College of Agriculture staff. The personnel of the Dominion Experimental Farms in the Province gave considerable assistance, while many of the agricultural representatives in the counties, and extension staff gave much time to the courses. Those outside the departments who gave instruction included Norman Clark, of Berwick, on Poultry; W. O. Creighton, of West River, on Vegetable Gardening and shall fruits; and David MacRae, of West Side Middle River, on mink.

Reports submitted on the various courses indicated that never before in the history of short course work in the province, have the courses been so well attended by young people. At Amherst, an essay competition on the results of the short course held there, created considerable interest, and brought forth a number of well-written essays indicating the extent to which the training given had been absorbed. Slides and films were used at some of the courses to illustrate the talks. In the fur farming courses, actual animals were available for demonstration work.

Excellent Work in Homecrafts

In the two homecraft courses held for young women at the Agricultural College, and in the similar courses held at rural points, under direction of the home economics division of the Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture, the keenest interest was shown and attendance at all the courses was good. At the two courses at Truro, a total of about 60 young women received training. The subjects taught included cooking, sewing, knitting, home nursing, and some handicraft such as glove-making, weaving, etc. The work was under the direction of Miss Helen Macdougall, Director of Home Economics for the Provincial Department, and the members of her staff, the courses being held with the co-operation of the officials of the Dominion Department off Labor which has in hand the planning of the youth training movement.

Some interesting incidents are told of the courses for women, indicating the striking manner in which the courses benefited those taking the instructions. One of these relates to a young girl, of 14, member of a large family, which had come from the Old Land some years ago. This girl had mothered her brothers and sisters since the death of her mother when the girl was only eight years old. Although this girl was somewhat under the age permitted for the course, a special allowance was made in her case since she was the practical head of the household. The young girl was struggling along in her enforced task of housekeeping for a large family, in the best manner she knew, but her knowledge of all the things that go to make up good house-keeping was scanty indeed. On the little farm they occupy, the girl not only kept house but made the butter, did the milking, and other odd jobs about the farm. The course was boon to this youthful housekeeper, because she learned how to sew and knit and cook properly.

Another young girl, eldest in a large family, was helping to keep the family store, and look after the household, her mother being dead. The course taught her many things about home tasks that will materially improve the standard of living of this family.

Several of the girls who took the course at Truro, have been successful enough to make suits and gloves for sale, thus adding to the family income in a very tangible way. A few of these girls have proved so apt at the work, that they have been able to undertake the training of some of the local leaders of Women's Institutes in similar work to be carried on in the community.

Interesting Course at Thorburn

A course for the women of the community of Thorburn, near Stellarton, in Pictou County, one of the mining communities of the province, was inaugurated by the youth training movement some time ago, under the direction of the home economics division of the Provincial Department of Agriculture and a large number of women of the community have been receiving training in homecraft in this course. A loom has been provided for these women for weaving, and the keenest interest is being shown by the women in all the lines of work in which instruction is being given. To date a list of the things made by the women at this course includes 354 pairs of socks, 277 pairs of stockings, 11 pairs children's stockings, 20 pairs of gloves, and 15 pairs of mittens. Further work of this kind is continuing at Thorburn.

Free Publicity—What It Means

We copy a timely article from the Kentville Advertiser re Free Publicity. We often think if one-tenth of the cost of paper and printing that at present finds its way to the waste paper basket, were spent in paid advertising, the man or woman seeking the assistance of the paper would receive some benefit and the newspaper get enough to at least pay the printer.

The advertiser article follows:—We sometimes wish it were possible to have the people of this community spend a week in our office, so that they might check over the scores of requests for free publicity which are received daily. We sometimes wonder if many of the people making these requests would ask their landlord to throw in a month's rent, or their grocery man to give them a bag of flour without cost.

A newspaper is a business organization no different from any other business enterprise, and we find that it is impossible for our employees to maintain their families and meet their obligations without wages, and the advertising columns of a newspaper are the only medium of revenue. Free publicity detracts from the value of advertising columns. The business firms and merchants realize this, and are willing to pay for the services rendered. There are many worth-while community projects which a newspaper gladly supports, believing them to be in the interests of the community. The purpose of a newspaper is to record the history of its community; to interpret the news, and advocate those things which are in the best interests of the field it serves.

Unfortunately there are many people and organizations who feel that by paying for a small space to advertise some enterprise, they are entitled to news space many times more valuable than the amount they pay for advertising. If the people could only see the amount of free publicity which finds its way to the news desk of a weekly paper, they would hesitate before making the unreasonable demands which some are in the habit of making.

Another unfortunate angle is that many people seeking free boosters through the news columns forget that most weekly newspapers conduct a printing department, which can serve them at reasonable prices. They shop around for cheap work and resort to substitutes for printing then expect the newspaper to support their favorite project. All of which does not add up to common sense.

The legend is that during the attack Soulanges' wife and family remained safe within the shelter of the Mount House which, concealed by trees and off the beaten path, escaped the invaders' notice.

When France regained Acadia, Sieur de Soulanges was granted a seigneurie in this area. For three years his efforts to acquire the property were resisted by Temple.

Soulanges then held the seigneurie only four years before Jurriaen Agnouts, a Hollander, and John Rhoads, gentleman adventurer from Boston, cruised up the river in a well-armed vessel. They burned and looted en route, crushed the fort at Jemseg and carried Soulanges and other Acadians to Boston for ransom.

Oldest N. B. House Is a Mystery

The Mount House, a grim, stone skeleton of a structure on an island in the St. John River opposite Gagetown, is the oldest building in New Brunswick and the province's greatest historical mystery.

No one knows who built it, how old it is or even why it was named the Mount House. It was old when the first Loyalists settled along the river.

The roof, floors and all interior woodwork disappeared long ago but the walls of stone and mortar, two and a half feet thick, remain as sturdy as when built. Three open fireplaces extend up a wall, one for each floor.

Some experts have said that a brick baking oven, with a vent into the massive chimney, is of English type and consequently the house must have been built by English. Other experts argued that architectural features of the building are French.

One historian theorized that the house was started by Colonel Thomas Temple and completed by Sieur de Soulanges. The former, an English governor, but at near-Jemseg the first English fort on the river. The historian believed the Mount House was to have been Temple's castle.

When France regained Acadia, Sieur de Soulanges was granted a seigneurie in this area. For three years his efforts to acquire the property were resisted by Temple.

Soulanges then held the seigneurie only four years before Jurriaen Agnouts, a Hollander, and John Rhoads, gentleman adventurer from Boston, cruised up the river in a well-armed vessel. ## Famed Mountain Resort Will Be Opened Earlier

"Owing to the visit of Their Majesties, we will be opening Jasper Park Lodge, Jasper, Alberta, earlier this year, and the whole place will be available to the public from June 3rd. This will make the opening nearly two weeks earlier this year than for many years, and we will remain open until September 15th," declared Robert Sommerville, Manager of Jasper Park Lodge, when discussing the summer arrangements.

"While we fully appreciate the opening this year is much earlier than usual, we have made arrangements to offer a series of exceptionally low all-inclusive rates from the opening day until June 24th. These rates even include all the golf the guest may wish to play. We feel sure this will assist in stimulating much additional movement of summer guests."

"Never in the history of the Lodge will the place look so fine as it will be at the opening this year. We had a grand break in the weather and the gardener has been able to make excellent progress with the grounds and flower beds. If no late frosts come around we will have a blaze of color ready for our distinguished guests, never before seen at the Lodge."

"Those who are looking for early holidays this year will find everything to their advantage at Jasper because of the special arrangements made," stated Manager Sommerville.

This is the first installment of a principal amount which will endow a scholarship of $200. The nature of the scholarship is to be settled later.

The present chairman of the Dalhousie Club of New York is Ross McLeod; the secretary, Warren Publicover. This is one of the scholarships contemplated by the Dalhousie Campaign committee in its drive for funds. The Hector McInnes Memorial Scholarships is another outstanding example of what can be done in this regard.

Firemen's Field Day Committees Hold Meeting

In another column you'll find an ad. telling of the Field Day and Water Sports, to be put on by the Digby Fire Department on July 1st.

Last Friday evening the committees met at the Fire Hall to draft out a programme and appoint such other committees necessary to the furtherance of their plans. It was a very enthusiastic gathering and with the exception of the land sports a complete programme was decided upon.

The programme is as follows:—Firemen's Sports:—Hose Reel Race; Hose Coupling; Duty Race; Hose Replacement 100 yard Dash; 220 yard Dash. In these competitions they hope to have entries from other Fire Companies throughout the province. A cup will be donated for one of the foregoing races not decided upon yet.

Water Sports:—Sail Boat Race (2 Boats); Trawl Fishermen's Motor Boat Race. These two races will be under the complete charge of the "Western Nova Scotia Yacht Club", Digby; Singles; Canoe; Doubles; Canoe; Canoe Tilt; Tub Race; Swimming Race (12 to 16 years, 16 years up.) Money prizes will be awarded in most of these water sports events.

For the evening's entertainment a special committee was appointed to arrange for a Band Concert; Dance and fireworks. Land sports programme with a time schedule for all the foregoing events will be printed later, in a special programme leaflet.

The world's smallest newspaper to be accepted by any government as second-class mail matter, the product of Ivan Shortliffe and Rupert Cann, who live at Central Grove, in this county, became the star of a royal movie, it is revealed in a list of the pictures provided for the entertainment of King George and Queen Elizabeth for their ocean voyage. Down to the shack on the Fundy Island journeyed Associated Screen News cameramen to take the picture shown on the Royal ship. Details of the little paper's evolution were shown, with its owner-publisher writing a copy setting type and turning the little press. Clippings showed its social notes, editorial page and "The Quiet Hour" page, all on its six by four inch pages.

Board of Trade Discuss Play Grounds, Etc.

The 50th anniversary of the incorporation of the Town of Digby, was discussed at the regular monthly meeting of the Digby Board of Trade, and the possibility that the anniversary, which takes place next year, be marked with a celebration of some kind, was considered. No action at this meeting was taken, however, and the matter tabled for discussion at a later meeting.

No report was received from the Scout Hall "baby home" committee, although it is understood that over $200 has been subscribed to date, and a play for the benefit of the Hall is being sponsored.

Dr. G. V. Turnbull raised the question of a play ground, stating the boys of the town had no suitable place to play ball and other games. The original "ball field" has for a number of years been used as a lumber yard; the Hospital occupies the site of a later field, while the school play ground, (owned by the Anglican Church) cannot be used for this purpose.

A vote of thanks was tendered the management of the Pines Hotel for the beautiful folder they have put out this year, which advertises Digby as well as the hotel.

Rebekahs Hold Annual District Meeting

The annual District Meeting of the Rebekah Lodges from Bridgetown to Westport, was held in the Oddfellow's Hall on Monday. There was a very large attendance and the meetings were very interesting. The afternoon session was devoted to matters pertaining to the district, including the exemplification of some ceremonial work. This was followed by the annual memorial service and later by the regular session of Zelmia Rebekah Lodge, when 146 were in attendance. Following the regular business session a pageant of the "Parable of the Good Samaritan" with feminine characters in the leading roles, was put on under the direction of Mrs. B. J. Roop, with Mrs. Jack Keen as reader, and it was a wonderful piece of work, calling forth loud applause and much favourable comment. The Baptist ladies of the Junior

SHE WAS A VICTIM OF HEADACHES

Kruschen Got at the Cause

This woman's headaches were of the gripping kind that reduce the sufferer to something like helplessness. She tried tablets. She tried pills. All without avail. Only Kruschen could help her.

"I used to get very bad headaches," she writes. "No tablets or pills of any kind could relieve them. One morning, casually, I tried Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water. I continued taking it, but I have not had one of those awful headaches since. Kruschen suits me better than anything else. I find it very good."—(Mrs.) L. A. W.

Headaches can nearly always be traced to sluggishness of the kidneys, liver and intestines, and to the unsuspected retention in the system of stagnating waste material which poisons the blood. The numerous salts in Kruschen stimulate the internal organs to healthy, regular action so that no clogging waste is allowed to collect. Your inside is kept clean and serene. And that is just what Kruschen Salts brings quick and lasting relief from headaches.

J. L. Warren is on a trip to Boston.

Mrs. Boyd Rice was hostess to the Ladies' Circle last Tuesday afternoon.

Burton Marshall, of Middleton, was a guest at the Baptist parsonage during the last week end.

OBITUARY

Henry Robinson

Word was received in Bear River this week of the sudden passing of Henry Robinson, at his home in Dorchester, Mass., on May 14th, after an illness of two days of pneumonia. For many years Mr. Robinson has been a familiar figure in Bear River, for with Mrs. Robinson he spent a long summer vacation at River View Lodge annually. Mrs. Robinson preceded him two years.

Mrs. Frank E. Nichols

The death of Mrs. Frank E. Nichols, 77, occurred at her home in Deep Brook, on Tuesday, May 6th, following a long illness. On the date of their fifty-fourth wedding anniversary (March 4th) Mrs. Nichols suffered a stroke from which she failed to rally. She was a daughter of the late Robert and Rebecca (Firth) Ryer, of Shelburne. For many years Mr. and Mrs. Nichols resided in Bear River, later moving to White Plains, N. Y. Ten years ago they returned to Nova Scotia, and built a home in Deep Brook where they have since resided. Mrs. Nichols enjoyed the respect of all, and there are many who mourn her passing. Besides her husband there survive two sisters, Lizzie, (Mrs. W. A. Bailey), Watertown, Mass.; Sarah, (Mrs. A. E. MacIntosh), Melrose Highlands, Mass.; and two brothers, Archibald and Fred, of Shelburne. The funeral took place from St. Matthew's Church, and was conducted by the rector, Rev. A. W. L. Smith, assisted by Rev. Frank E. Bishop. Interment was in Mount Hope cemetery, Bear River.

Robert Spurr

On Wednesday evening, May 17, the death of Robert Spurr occurred at his home, Bear River, following a cerebral hemorrhage suffered three hours earlier. Although in ill health for more than a year, his passing came with startling suddenness, as he had been up for a short period during the day, and very recently had walked out to the verandah. Deceased was one of a large family of the late Capt. Wm. V. and Emma J. (Dittmars) Spurr, of Deep Brook, and would have been 70 in June. Unlike his father and many other relatives, he did not follow the sea except for an occasional voyage on his father's ships. Early in life Mr. Spurr was connected with railroading in the Canadian West and later became interested in farming, when he returned to his native village where he enjoyed a large circle of friends. Surviving are his widow, formerly Miss Mabel MacClelland, and one son, D. Robert, in Giscome, British Columbia. He also leaves three brothers, George M., in Yarmouth; A. Roy, Giscome, B. C.; Shippey A., Deep Brook; and two sisters, Miss E. Blanche Spurr, Central Falls, R. I., and Miss Grace Spurr, in Deep Brook. A brother, Capt. E. W. Spurr, died at his home in New Jersey on Easter Sunday.

The funeral was from the home on Saturday afternoon, conducted by Rev. R. B. Hamilton, pastor of the Baptist church, assisted by Rev. F. E. Bishop, cousin of the deceased. Interment was in Mt. Hope cemetery, Bear River.

SMITH'S COVE

Mr. and Mrs. Forman Wright have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Larrimore the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Turner and Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Ford have arrived and opened their summer cottages at Harbor View.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cossaboom are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Lent and daughter Frances spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith.

Mary Elizabeth Sullis has returned from Acadia College for the holidays.

Edwin Robbins spent a few days last week in Deep Brook, with relatives and friends.

Corey Morgan, of Lansdowne, was a guest over the week end of Mr. Oscar Morgan.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Greene, Miss Harriet Greene and Miss Barbara Payson spent the week end in Apple River.

Mrs. Alberta Mosher is spending some time in Brighton.

Home Division Presents Entertainment

Home Division presented an entertainment in the Temperance Hall on Friday evening. The programme was made up of two short plays, one a court scene, "O'Hafferty vs. Tin Tung," and the other "Dr. Cureall." Music was rendered by local talent and home made candy was sold during intermission. The money raised will finish paying the insurance premium on the hall. Those taking part were, Misses Mildred and Marion Larimore, Wilda Winchester, Joyce Payson, Ruby and Alice Woodman, Geneva Frost, Florence Berry, Irene Smith, Mrs. S. J. Smith, Mrs. Oakley Smith, Mrs. Geo. Larimore and Clayton Woodman, Ira Davis, Wilbur Weir and Preston Banks. Miss F. J. Austin was director. Mrs. Minard Weir gave two readings.

Temperance Sunday Observed

Temperance Sunday was observed in the United Baptist church.

He was accompanied by Miss Frances Robinson, who will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wetmore, sr., for a short time. Rev. Mr. Wetmore has been appointed curate of St. Ann's, in Fredericton.

Miss Mabel Archibald, of Wolfville, was a luncheon guest of her school friend, Mrs. Lottie Roop, last Saturday, en route to Wolfville from Yarmouth County, where she had been speaker at several district meetings.

$1,000.00 IN CASH PRIZES

Plan a Supper for Royalty First Prize $200.00 and a Sterling Silver Cup!

What kind of supper would you serve the King and Queen?
By Evangeline

Supposing their Majesties, whose preference for simple meals is well known, were to drop in for supper at your home. What would you serve them? Draw up a simple, typically Canadian menu and send it to me. Robin Hood Flour Mills are offering 187 cash prizes totalling $1,000.00 for the best menus.

A GRAND LIST OF PRIZES

1st Prize ----- $200.00 and a Sterling Silver Cup
2nd Prize ----- 100.00
3rd Prize ----- 50.00
9 PROVINCIAL PRIZES (one to be awarded to the best entry in each province after the winners of 1st, 2nd and 3rd prizes have been selected), $25.00 each
25 Prizes, each ----- $5.00
150 Prizes, each ----- $2.00
If you don't win 1st, 2nd or 3rd Prize, you have a chance for the $25.00 Provincial Prize which will be awarded for competition only in your province. And if you don't win one of these you can win one of the 25 prizes of $5.00 each or one of the 150 prizes of $2.00 each. No contestant can win more than one prize so that 187 Canadian women will share the prize money.

Just Plan a Simple, Home-Like Meal

Think of a meal which, in your opinion, would give our King and Queen a correct and favourable impression of Canadian foods. Choose what you like but be sure to have at least three items in each menu which contain Robin Hood Flour.

Follow These Simple Rules Which put Everything in a Nutshell:

1. 187 cash prizes and a handsome Sterling Silver Cup, suitably engraved with your name, will be awarded for the best supper menus to serve the King and Queen during May of June, using Canadian ingredients only (spices excepted) and with Robin Hood Flour used in three or more items on each menu.

2. Send in as many entries as you wish. Each menu entered must be written on a single sheet of paper, with your name and post office address written clearly at the top of the page.
3. Each menu must have three courses: a soup, main course and dessert. Each course may include whatever dishes you would serve to one or two well-balanced, typically Canadian men. In case of a tie the prize will be given to the menu with the best recipe.
4. To each menu entered, pin the guarantee certificate from your bag of Robin Hood Flour. No entry can be considered unless accompanied by the guarantee certificate.
5. Each entry will be judged on its merits as representing a simple, well-balanced, typically Canadian meal. In case of a tie the prize will be given to the menu with the best recipe.
6. The closing date is June 30th, 1939. All entries must be received by midnight of that date. Mail your entries to "Evangeline," Dept. M, Home Baking Service, Robin Hood Flour Mills Limited, Montreal, N.B. No employee of Robin Hood Flour Mills Limited or any member of their families may enter the contest.
7. The following date is June 30th, 1939. All entries must be received by midnight of that date. Mail your entries to "Evangeline," Dept. M, Home Baking Service, Robin Hood Flour Mills Limited, Montreal, N.B. No employee of Robin Hood Flour Mills Limited or any member of their families may enter the contest.
8. I have appointed the following well-known dietitians as judges:—Miss Jessie Bell, of the Toronto Evening Telegram; Mrs. Madeline Day, Chief Lecturer of the School of Canadian Cookery; and Miss Marie Holmes of the Toronto "Daily Star".
9. If, for any reason, the Royal visit should be postponed, this contest will be held just the same.
10. All menus and recipes become the property of Robin Hood Flour Mills Limited.

Sample Type of Menu
Now, to give you some idea how to go about making your menu, I have put together a menu as a guide to help you. Of course, I haven't mentioned any actual dishes so as to leave your choice absolutely free!

SOUP

KISS YOUR TIRED FEELING GOODBYE!

Pepples Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.

The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can feel about as well as you ever did—even look healthy and strong, yet you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, doped, tired and peeples.

Low blood count means you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.

Get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today. They are world-famous for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. With your blood count up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today.

Steamer Makes New Record in Loading.

The Norwegian steamer Snel-Jeld, 1002 tons, Capt. A. A. Hill-land, sailed on Monday evening for Sharpness, England, with a million and a half feet of lumber. The loading of this vessel marks a new record for this port, as this cargo was taken on in six working days. The cargo was supplied by H. T. Warne, Limited, and a remarkable thing about it is that this lumber was cut on the Warne holdings at Acadia Valley, on land which was cut over and stripped clean thirty-five years ago when Mr. Warne had a mill on the Acadia Valley Brook. This shows how rapidly timber grows in this section of the country. Thirty-five years ago there were the same gloomy prophecies that the country was being stripped and made into a desert that we hear today as we listen to the dire forebodings of those who are watching the pulp wood operations.

We understand on good authority that since Mr. Warne commenced operations in Digby he has sawed 75,000,000 feet of lumber, besides being active in numerous other lines of business. He has given employment to hundreds of men, in the woods and in the mill, and now, at 71 years of age, he is full of activity and keeps a constant oversight on the many-sided business he has built up. If Digby only had a few more Tupper Warnes — men who do things, what a town this would be!

Interesting Visit To an Old Indian

On Sunday afternoon, of last week, we made a trip to the Mac-Mac Reservation at Bear River where we called to see Maitai Picotou, who, last October, celebrated his 101st birthday. Although very "hard of hearing" we found the venerable old Mac-Mac up and around, and when we called, he was carrying an armful of wood into the house.

Old Maitai was born on the reserve, and is the last of the Mac-Macs who made a livelihood at shooting porcupine at Digby Gut; he recalls the old days when they tracked moose in the snow—and his son-in-law, Louis Harlow—says with reference to the present closed season on moose, that, according to the statements of the Mac-Mac guides, these animals are plentiful now in comparison with the days when they were tracked through the snow, and hunted with dogs.

Maitai Picotou saw the last herd of caribou in this section of the province—and that was more than forty-five years ago, on Caribou Plains, near Boundary Rock.

Among his possessions is a translation of the Bible in the Mic-Mac language. This translation, made from the French, is beautifully done by hand in exquisite characters, and is the work of the old gentleman.

He makes his home with his daughter and son-in-law, Louis Harlow in their neat cabin near the Reserve school House. The government pays the Harlows a sum of $5.00 monthly toward his keep—and his tobacco bill is $1.00 per month.

On the wall of the kitchen in this home hangs a piece of seal-skin, about the size of a hand, cut in the shape of a seal. Louis tells us that this has hung there for years, and the hair on the piece of skin always stand on end at flood tide, and lie flat when the tide is on the ebb. Louis also showed us a photograph of a monument erected near "Kedgie" on the site of an old Mic-Mac burying ground, on which the inscription reads as follows:

RESPECT THE BONES OF MIC MACS BURIED HERE
WHO KNEW THESE WOODS AND WATERS

METEGHAN

John Woodland and Charles Orde, of Moschelle, were on a business trip through Digby last week. The three-masted schooner Sailer, Capt. Pettipas, of Parrsboro arrived Thursday night at the Meteghan Shipbuilding Company's dry dock, for repairs.

Mrs. Hilmar Theriault left Friday by the Boston boat to spend a few weeks visiting her sisters, Mrs. Evangeline Comeau, of Haverhill, Mass., and Mrs. Marguerite Longland, of Rockland, Mass., her sister-in-law, Mrs. Lucie Theriault, of Arlington, Mass., and other relatives and friends in the New England states.

Mrs. Evangeline Boudreau, post mistress of St. Alphonse de Clare, was here on a business trip on Tuesday.

Dr. Thomas Melanson, D.D.S., and Mrs. Melanson, were visitors at the Royal Hotel Wednesday.

About This and That

Sometimes editors are appreciated. Recently, a Manitoba editor was presented with a handsome bouquet of flowers by his fellow citizens. On that occasion a quartette sang, and a clergyman gave a little talk. Six husky men hoisted the editor on their shoulders, put him in a 1939 sedan, and the whole town formed a parade in his honor. The appreciative crowd returned to their homes serene in the thought of having provided one bright day for their beloved news purveyor. Incidentally, it might be mentioned that the editor was dead.—Ex.

More college graduates, looking for suitable positions! Here's wishing them long life and prosperity, but to graduate from the school of experience is also an accomplishment. Don't expect too much, too soon. Many centuries ago a Roman emperor remarked "Festina Lente," or in other words, to make haste slowly. Words of wisdom and good advice.

The Canadian Magazine, published continuously for forty-six years, has suspended publication. This has added to the ranks of the unemployed and cut the revenue of Canadian writers and artists. The Canadian Magazine helped develop the spirit of understanding among the peoples of the dominion, and contributed to the national revenue. In postage alone, it paid out $135,000 since 1926. Meanwhile, there is a torrent of periodicals—much of it propaganda and lewdness—pouring over the border free of duty or taxes.

More than 100 homeless unemployed men took part in a demonstration in Ottawa after waiting in vain for a reply to a wire sent by Mayor Lewis to front of Ottawa's civic offices.

Actual Farm Exhibited At World's Fair

One of the most unique and outstanding exhibits at the New York World's Fair is that of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Company and its world-wide organization which is represented by one of the finest exhibits in this panorama of industrial science and progress.

The Firestone exhibit building and grounds covers three and a half acres, and depicts a most fascinating story of rubber in visual form. It also includes a full scale tire factory in operation, producing a tire every four minutes, and, in addition, displays demonstrating the essential part rubber has come to play in everyday life.

Probably the most unique and appealing part of the great Firestone exhibit is the actual life-size reproduction of a thriving farm, live stock, farm hands, and all. In the midst of a vast exposition whose theme is ultra modern, this farm provides an atmosphere and setting that attracts and gives pleasure to millions. Through the farmyard flows a stream crossed by a covered bridge. Cattle, sheep, pigs, chickens, ducks and other live stock roam the fields. A farmhouse, barns, silos, granaries and other buildings of a typical farm brings the countryside to visitors. This part of the exhibit demonstrates how the farm has become modernized by the adoption of pneumatic tires to every kind of wheeled farm implement and calls attention to the fact that it was Harvey S. Firestone, who pioneered the rubber tire for farm use. Any person planning to attend the World's Fair will be well advised to visit this great exhibit where a warm welcome awaits them.

A request made by the Italian Consul in Glasgow that Italian be taught to Italians in the country schools of Scotland has aroused much indignation there. Scotsmen specially resent the proposal that the teachers be Italians appointed by the Italian government. Many this farm provides an atmosphere and setting that attracts and gives

THE WEEK IN PARLIAMENT

By S. P. W.

After the stirring events of the week end of May 19-21, the House returned to its routine business on Monday of this week. Canadian parliamentary history had been made on Friday afternoon when the King, from the throne of the Senate Chamber, had given assent to eight bills and delivered in person a "speech from the throne." The symbols and formulae of our British parliamentary traditions had taken on a new content and meaning for the members of His Majesty's Canadian House of Commons and Senate. The greater part of the present week was occupied on the estimates, the voting of money for the various departments of government, a proceeding that first took on real significance in the days of Hampden and Pym.

Debates on the estimates give an opportunity for detailed discussion of various aspects of governmental service, and though most important have little news value. Four departments were given this careful combing during the week. Mines and Resources, Pensions and National Health, Trade and Commerce, and the Post Office. In explaining the air mail estimates, the Postmaster General, in reply to a question by Mr. Gordon Inor, had this to say with respect to air mail services in the Maritimes: "The eastern terminus of Trans-Canada Air Lines as is well known, is at present Moncton. It is contemplated that this service will go into effect on September 1—that must be taken only as an approximate date. But immediately it does, the air mail service will be extended to various points in the maritimes, including Halifax and other points that can be usefully served. It would be inadvisable to mention a definite date, but I can assure the hon. member that air mail service will proceed to Halifax and other eastern points just as fast as circumstances permit. I understand that the Department of Transport is working energetically to complete the necessary landing fields to make that possible."

The rapid growth of the Trans-Canada air mail service is shown by the following figures:

Week ending	Daily gross pounds
April 12	935
April 19	954
April 26	962
May 3	990
May 10	1000
May 17	1200

The service is expected to pay for itself when the total load reaches 2,380 pounds a day.

The bill to establish a Salt Fish Board in Halifax, was extensively debated during the week. One misconception in the minds of the members was that the bill would assist the exporting firms, but do nothing directly for the fishermen themselves. This point was cleared up in the debate, which made it plain that all sections of the industry, from the primary producer to the final exporter, would come within the provisions of the act, and that the board would have wide powers as to the place at which and the form in which such assistance will be provided.

The Central Mortgage Bank Bill was debated at some length during the week. A bank is to be established under the control of the government, which will be empowered to issue debentures up to $200,000,000. Any lending institution in Canada may become a member company of the bank if it fulfills three conditions. The first of these is that it must adjust all farm mortgages and all urban mortgages under $7,000.00 to a five per cent interest basis. Second, all arrears of interest in excess of two years must be written off. Third, in cases where it is necessary, the amount of the mortgage must be adjusted downward to the point where it does not exceed eighty per cent of the fair value of the property mortgaged. The new mortgages will be extended for twenty years in an amortization plan, calling for semi-annual payments in respect of rural mortgages, and monthly payments for urban mortgages.

The advantage to accrue to the mortgage company in exchange for these concessions on its part are two. First, to the extent of fifty per cent of the aggregate write-offs outlined above, twenty-year debentures of the mortgage bank will be handed to the member company. In other words, the dominion, through the mortgage bank, undertakes to bear over the next twenty years half the loss brought about by this general readjustment of mortgages across the dominion. The second advantage to the lending institution is the creation of permanent mortgage rediscount facilities. The mortgage bank will be permitted to buy from the member company its bonds, debentures, or other evidences of indebtedness, and the mortgage bank will be empowered to set the rate at which member companies may lend money on mortgages. The mortgage bank undertakes by this legislation to buy the debentures of its member companies at a rate which will leave them an operating margin of not less than one and one-half per cent or more than two per cent.

This complicated and important bill may give rise to a debate lasting for some time. It is to go to the committee on Banking and Commerce to enable the mortgage companies to make their representations. It is, however, likely to become law during the present session, as Mr. Dunning has described it as being "dearer to me than anything I have brought before this house this session." Ottawa, May 27, 1939.

Canadian Goods for Their Majesties

Every Canadian eye is focussed toward the one major event in Canadian history for this year. The coming of the King and Queen fascinates the imagination of every one. There is barely an idea in connection with commemorating the event that has not been worked out in some manner. Interviews with those who are to play a major part in their entertainment, and pictures of the places where happenings are to take place have filled the pages of the press for some months. Even the food they are to eat is being discussed and one of the leading milling companies has sponsored a contest with many cash prizes for the best all-round Canadian menu that might be served to the Royal Visitors.

That should be rather an interesting subject, by the way, when you think that all the provinces have dishes that are distinctly native to that province and yet, there are certain dishes that are universal across Canada. For instance, although we speak of British Columbia as a great apple province, good apples are pretty universal across the Dominion so that Apple Pie has become a standard Canadian dish. Serve this with Canadian Cheddar cheese to make it a dish that will almost sing "O Canada."

Canadian bacon is a familiar way to describe back bacon outside of the borders of our own country. There are many ways that smart Canadian cooks have learned to present this very attractive Canadian food and it is surely one thing that might be included in some way in an all Canadian Menu.

Of course the French women in Quebec will naturally think of her delicious pea soup, so much a part of the habitation menu; and other women will think of corn dishes heretofore almost unheard of in the Old Country.

Salads—and in particular fruit salads—would be innovations to visitors from overseas—who as a matter of fact, think some of our very best arrangements are nothing but despicable concoctions bent on thoroughly destroying the human race.

Certainly this visit of the King and Queen to Canada is making everyone thoroughly Canadian-conscious in a way that they never have been made before.

The milling company's ingenious idea of a "typical Canadian menu for Royalty" should appeal to women. It will make them put on their "thinking caps" to figure out just what foods are most genuinely Canadian. It should bring out a lot of interesting information which no one thought of seeking before.

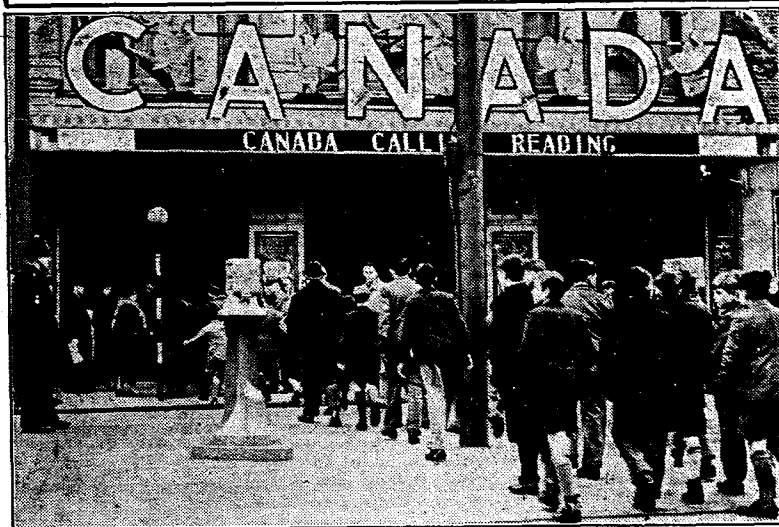

Brigadier-General George Catlett Marshall has been named by President Roosevelt to succeed General Malin Craig as chief of the U. S. army, following the latter's completion of duty this summer.

"CANADA CALLING" IN BRITAIN

Typical of scenes witnessed at cinemas in some of the principal cities in Britain these days is the above photograph, showing English schoolboys trooping into a theatre at Reading, England, to see a special screening of films provided by the Dominion Government. One of the many activities of the "Canada Calling" campaign, the films depict farm, fishing and industrial scenes which emphasize the importance of Canada as the food basket for the United Kingdom. The campaign, which covers the major population centres in Britain, is being conducted by the Dominion Government's Department of Trade and Commerce. Regarded as one of the most carefully planned efforts ever launched by a British Dominion, this trade crusade also embraces a series of localized drives and extensive newspaper advertising and marketing operations. In addition, it is supplemented by lectures to schools, women's clubs, domestic science classes and other organizations, and has enlisted the support of thousands of merchants who are giving special displays of Canadian products.

Your Future Auto: Home Comforts Plus Sun Baths and Air to Order

Automobiles of the future, as visualized by a motor expert, will appear more like homes than vehicles—with movable chairs, sun-bath roofs, air-conditioning, beds, and washstands.

Edwin L. Allen, of the Standard Products Company, told the Congress:

"In the not-too-far distant future, we will walk up to our car, push a button and the door will open... the seats will be light movable chairs and the floor will be wide and flat.

"A portion of the roof will be made of a curved translucent material which will admit the health-giving rays of the sun, at the same time removing the glare. A series of buttons will regulate the temperature and humidity to any desired condition of air.

"Pressing of another button will unfold a concealed bed from out of the partition between the passenger and engine compartments. Many little passenger conveniences will be installed, such as toilet and lavatory facilities."

Mr. Allen said the driver also would be able to carry on a two-way conversation with home or office. Movable controls, he said, would make it possible to drive the car from any seat.

"All of this will be done," he added, "without increasing the width or height of the car at all and the length only slightly."

He didn't say how much the cars would cost—or how soon they'll be on the assembly line.

The City of Portland, New Brunswick

The City of Portland, New Brunswick, incorporated in April 1883, was an outgrowth of the neighboring City of Saint John, the dividing line being City Road and comprised the following wards—Victoria, Dufferin, Lansdowne, Lorne and Stanley or what is now known as the "North End" as well as Mount Pleasant and vicinity.

It was governed by a mayor and fifteen aldermen, three to each ward. The population at that time was: Saint John, 26,000 and Portland, 15,000. It has its own Fire Department and Fire Alarms, also its own police force.

The majority of the industrial establishments of the two cities were located in "Portland." The Harris Foundry, Parks Cotton Mill, Nail Works, Portland Rolling Mill, Carriage Factories, Rope works and numerous long lumber mills. In 1883 there were about fifty saw mills within a radius of five miles of the City of Portland giving employment, in all woods departments to at least 6,000 people.

Churches in Portland at time of Incorporation—Baptist, 1; Free Baptist, 1; Episcopal, 3; Methodist, 1; Roman Catholic, 1.

Douglas Avenue was originally Bridge Road and Elm Street, Black Black Spring Road.

The City of Portland existed for a period of six years as a separate section of what is now the City of Saint John. It united with the sister city on May 18, 1889.

A Few Reflections On "Buy Maritime" Week

We have been making a few inquiries about the recent "Buy Maritime" week, and we find that the merchants generally were fairly well satisfied with the results, but not all took hold of it as enthusiastically as they might have done and some of the clerks apparently took no interest. We know of one lady who ordered an assortment of canned goods in the middle of the "Buy Maritime" week, and when the delivery boy—who also acts as clerk in the store—arrived with them, she asked him if they were Maritime Made. He did not know and further acknowledged that he had not heard of the "Buy Maritime" Campaign, although at that time show cards were on display in the store in which he was working and the stores were advertising Maritime goods. It is safe to say that boy will never make a clerk!

A commercial traveller for an Ontario concern, in conversation with one of the merchants who had just turned him down on an order because he had stocked up with Maritime goods, ridiculed the idea. "It's absolute nonsense," he declared, "and it wouldn't be advisable to push it too far, because some time the Maritime store keepers might want something special from Ontario, and they would be out of luck."

One of the twenty replies to the 230 letters the Courier sent out soliciting the aid of the manufacturers in a special advertising edition, stands out. It was from Kentville and said that his goods were so well known they required no advertising. It was from an individual, written on plain paper, and there was no hint as to what his business was. We referred to our list and found we had sent two or three letters to Kentville, addressed to Company addresses. We presume this letter was from one of those companies, but which one? The individual's name was not known to us, nor his business, and yet his "business is so well known that it required no advertising."

The Golden Rules of Life

1. Appear friendly to all whom ye meet, speak to them fairly, but by all means say all the nasty things you can think of behind their backs. This will make you popular.
2. Run accounts with all business houses who will extend you this courtesy, but by no means pay your bills. This will ensure your credit.
3. Attend church every Sunday and place large donations in the plate, but be careful not to apply the principles of Christian ethics and morality to your daily life. This will cause you to stand in high esteem.
4. Join many Societies for the welfare of the community, and say "Aye" loudly when a vote is called, but avoid at all times and at all costs any attempt to bring about progress or advancement. Thus will you be known as a great social worker.
5. Expand loudly and at great length in all public places, upon the weakness and the inefficiency of those whom you have placed in responsible positions, but refuse flatly to accept any share of that responsibility yourself. Thus will you be known as a good citizen.
6. In all things, and at all times, consider your own selfish interests before that of other people, or the community in which you live, cultivate the shortest possible sight, and the most elastic conscience. Thus will you become rich and respected.

Quite a lot of shingles were burned off the roof, but no serious damage was done. It is thought to have caught from a spark from the passing express engine.

OBITUARY

Roderick A. Abramson
There passed away on Sunday morning last, after an illness of several months, a beloved resident of Digby, in the person of Roderick A. Abramson, at the age of 72 years. Mr. Abramson endeared himself to all who knew him, both young and old. By his fine Christian character, devotion, kindness and loyalty, he will long be remembered. He was an untiring worker in church and community. A member of Grace United Church, he served on the church and trustee boards for a number of years, and for several years was treasurer of the church. He was also at one time a member of the Digby Town Council, and was a charter member and Past Grand of St. George Lodge, I. O. O. F. He is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Carrie Edith Wightman, whom he married in 1889; one son, John W. of Digby; and a sister, Mrs. William Trahan; also four grandchildren. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon, with a short service at the home followed by a public service at Grace United Church, conducted by Rev. Dr. T. W. Hodgson, pastor of the church. Interment was at Fairview Cemetery, where the burial service was conducted by members of St. George Lodge, I. O. O. F.

Mrs. Guilford Ellis
The sudden death of Mrs. Eliza (Thorpe) Ellis, widow of Guilford Ellis, occurred at her home, on the Shore Road, Digby, Wednesday night or early Thursday morning. The late Mrs. Ellis, who was 82 years of age, appeared in the best of health and early Wednesday evening was seen working among her flowers. Death came while she slept. Not seen about as usual on Thursday morning, neighbors visited the house shortly before noon, and after gaining entrance through a window, discovered she had passed away in her sleep. Mrs. Ellis, who spent the winter in Digby, re-opened her Shore Road home on May 24. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Richard Dunn and Mrs. C. F. McBride, both of Digby; and two sisters, Mrs. James Ellis, of Shore Road, Digby; and Mrs. Jane Lytch, of Port Wade. She was born at Victoria Beach, Annapolis County.

Desire Doucet
Desire Doucet, born in Belliveau's Cove, in 1871 passed away suddenly at his home in Haverhill, Mass., on May 20th. Besides his wife he is survived by five children, three daughters and two sons, also two sisters, Mrs. Willie Dupius, of Haverhill, Mass., and Mrs. Antime Doucet, of Belliveau's Cove; also three brothers, Willie and Adrien Doucet, of Haverhill, and Delile Doucet, of Belliveau's Cove. Funeral took place on May 23rd.

MARRIAGES

Ryan - Taylor

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the United parsonage, Granville Ferry, when Rev. N. Cole united in marriage Miss Lillian Bernice Taylor, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor, of Victoria Beach, to Frederick Melvin Ryan, son of Mrs. Odessa and the late Mr. Ryan, of Freeport. The bride was dressed in a dark blue suit with hat and shoes to match. Those who witnessed the marriage were the bride's mother; an aunt, Mrs. Orbin Everett; an uncle, Reid McGrath, and a friend Mrs. John McGilvery, of Toronto. Following the marriage a reception was held at the home of the bride, where a hundred invited guests were present. The bride's reception dress was of blue silk with colored trimmings. A buffet lunch was served. The happy couple received a large number of gifts. The bride and groom are well known.

Hospital Aid Plans Many Improvements

Interesting reports of hospital work were presented at Monday's regular meeting of the Hospital Aid Society. Arrangements were made for a Tag Day to be held during the latter part of June.

Hospital patients for the month of April were reported to have been as follows:—Obstetrical, 7; babies, 8; X-Ray, 23; medical, 24; surgical, 20, with 10 major and 10 minor operations. Total number of patients, 81; deaths, 4. General expenses (including X-Rays), $843.08; salaries, $577.73.

A number of improvements are being planned for the Hospital in the near future, the first of which will be a coat of paint next month. A large battery light, for emergency use in case of power failure, has already been installed in the operating room, and a ventilation system is to be placed in the kitchen for the removal of food odors.

Plans are being made for the annual Hospital Fair, which will be held at the Manhattan Hotel this year.

New Busses On Valley Route

On Tuesday morning, the mayor, members of the Town Council, representative of the press, and other citizens of the town, were taken on a demonstration tour on one of the new Wagner Tours Ltd., busses. The bus was one of a fleet of three that has been purchased by this company, which will be put into regular service today. The new "Flexible" bus, with its powerful engine in the rear, is of the same pattern as the well known Greyhound busses, is air conditioned and luxuriously comfortable. Wagner Tours are to be congratulated on their enterprise. This concern is providing an excellent transportation service. Their modern busses and courteous drivers are evidence they are striving to give the public the best possible motor transportation service at all times.

New Edinburgh

Miss Hilda Comeau is confined to her home through illness. Word has been received here of the serious illness of little Elsie Robicheau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Robicheau. Mrs. Robicheau was formerly Dorothy McCormack, of this place. Mrs. Timothy Doucette has returned from the Digby Hospital, much improved. Michael McCormack was a passenger to Annapolis Royal, recently.

A MESSAGE TO PARENTS

ABOUT THEIR CHILDREN

No child with defective vision has a proper chance in the battle of life. A scientific examination of children's eyes, such as we make, is a sure way to determine whether they have normal vision. Children who require glasses should have the benefit of the very newest scientific development—CORRECTAL Lenses. They give clear, undistorted vision over the entire surface of the lens so that there is accurate vision even at the very edge.

SALMON RIVER

Edward R. Deveau, local carpenter, has about completed a fine little cottage or over night cabin, on the Lake Doucet Road. It is built on the side of the river where the old Raymond mill used to be, and about five minutes drive from Salmon River corner. It is finished in wood with a cozy bedroom, complete with bed and required furnishings. There is an ample kitchen with cook stove, sink, cupboard and sets of shelves, and also two good sized bunks, and furnished with an antique parlor suite. It is the ideal spot for sportsmen of the rod and gun, or for over-night rest. A fine salmon was caught Sunday afternoon about fifty feet from the cottage and another one at Lake Doucet, about a mile inland.

The banns were published at St. Vincent de Paul Church, Sunday, by Rev. Father Maillet, of Edward Saulnier, son of Willis Saulnier and the late Mrs. Saulnier, of Saint-Neville, and Miss Florence Deveau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emilien Deveau, of Salmon River; also of Walter Maillet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Maillet, and Miss Delia LeBlanc, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dannie LeBlanc, both of Salmon River.

Royal Engine for Record Run

Engine 2850 of the Canadian Pacific motive power fleet—semi-streamlined Hudson type, last-minute word in locomotive construction—will haul the Royal Train from Quebec to Vancouver and 25 Canadian Pacific engineers, each selected for his record and ability, will in turn handle the engine during the coast-to-coast run. From the time the royal train leaves Quebec City May 16 until it arrives in Vancouver May 29, the engine will provide the power for the trip of more than three thousand miles, a run not heretofore carried out by any one engine on the North American Continent.

Canadian Pacific engineers, firemen, conductors and trainmen to a total of 110 men will man the Royal Train on the Company's lines, and an equal number selected with equal care will handle the Pilot Train which has been provided for newspapermen, police and accompanying officials. The honor of being first engineer to pilot the locomotive of the train bearing Their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth when they visit Canada, however, goes to Eugene Leclerc, (inset), quiet-spoken French-Canadian locomotive engineer who has 48 years' service with the Canadian Pacific Railway. Nearly 38 years ago when the late King George V and Queen Mary, then Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York, visited Canada, Eugene Leclerc was fireman on their train from Quebec City to Montreal. This time he will be engineer for the same run.

Comparison of the above pictures of the new locomotive of the same series as 2850 and old No. 360, which powered the royal train on the 1901 tour, and which was one of the best in service at that time, shows the great strides made in engineering in the past four decades. Locomotive 2850 is one of the new semi-streamlined engines built last year for the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. It weighs 363,900 pounds, more than four times as much as the original 90,000-pound engine, and has a tractive effort of 57,000 pounds as compared to the 12,400 pounds of old No. 360. No. 2850 is being carefully checked for the trip and will be beautifully painted in royal colors for the tour over Canadian Pacific lines.

"TIRED" ALL THE TIME

She felt miserable—draggy—low in vitality—lower in spirit. She hadn't thought of her kidneys, until a friend suggested Dodd's Kidney Pills. At once she took Dodd's. The "washed out" feeling was soon replaced by clear headed energy and mental alertness. Headache, backache, lassitude and other signs of faulty kidneys disappeared. 112

A NEW DAY DAWNS! FOR THE FARM BOY!

When he learns how to work that team "Science and Practice" at the Agricultural College.

NEW horizons are opened up to him in Farm Life. He sees new possibilities in a future—possibilities which spell satisfaction and a happier rural life for him in future.

The application of Agricultural Science to the ordinary farm operations makes profitable farming more assured, and thus makes it possible to enjoy more modern comforts and conveniences and educational advantages.

Plan your farm operations this season so as to provide the extra money needed for that course at the Nova Scotia Agricultural College at Truro. No tuition fees required, just sufficient money for room and board, books, and the day-to-day necessities.

Write to the Principal for the College Calendar and other information.

BAPTIST ROLL CALL SERVICE

The annual Roll Call and thank-offering service of the Bear River Baptist Church, was held on Sunday evening, May 28th.

The large congregation present at this service included the congregation of the United Church. On the platform were Rev. G. D. Brydon, Rev. G. W. Guilou, (special speaker for the evening), and Rev. R. L. Roach, of the United Church.

The Scripture lesson was read by the speaker, from II Kings, VII. This revealed his text which was based on the words, "This is a day of good news." Mr. Roach led the congregation in prayer. Three musical selections were beautifully rendered by the Digby Male Quartette—Guy Morehouse, Ross Turnbull, Hedley Dakin and Raymond Winchester—their final number, "Crossing the Bar," being particularly impressive. Mrs. Guy Morehouse was accompanist.

The speaker's address was helpful and impressive.

The well-known hymn, "The Church's One Foundation," closed the service.

C. D. Rice, clerk of the church, called the roll of 276 names and Deacons Kinney, Moore, Warren and Harris received the offering, which proved to be a substantial one.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rafuse, formerly of Jamaica Plains, Mass., were received into church membership during the service.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

SOFTER SHADOWS

Baby's blanket on the lawn is a fine reflector. Note the soft, pleasing light effect it produces here. Use such a reflector when you can, especially when taking informal portraits.

If we compare a picture of a snow scene with almost any summer picture, we observe a marked difference in the shadows. In the summer picture, shadows tend to be strong and black. In the winter picture, shadows possess beautiful clearness and transparency, and the effect tends to be quite pleasing.

The reason for this difference is that snow on the ground is a fine reflector, which casts light into all shadow areas, and brightens them. In summer, green grass does not have this same reflecting power, and therefore, shadows are darker.

However, even in summer we can brighten the shadows of a subject if we use some sort of improvised reflector. A book or newspaper held in a person's lap will often serve as such a reflector, helping illuminate the face and softer shadows there. If a subject is placed near a wall of white house, and stands so that the wall reflects light to the shadow side of his face, a more pleasing picture may be obtained. The baby's blanket

CAN WE BEAT THE ENGLISH?

An Englishman's house is his castle.....and in his home the Englishman has developed one of the most civilized and charming of all customs—that of drinking tea. The average Englishman or woman consumes about ten pounds of tea each year, which is three pounds more than the average Maritimer consumes. Yet if everyone in the Maritimes were to drink Morse's Standard Tea our quota would come closer, and in fact it might surpass that of our English cousins.....MORSE'S STANDARD TEA is so economical, yet so flavorful and delicious that those who use it become great tea drinkers, with consequent benefit to health of body and nerves. There's no pleasanter or safer way to take the liquid you need for health than in the form of tea—especially when you use a tea like MORSE'S SELECTED ORANGE PEKOE. Do as they do in England.....drink tea with every meal and at four in the afternoon. Keep a supply of MORSE'S ORANGE PEKOE on hand, and you'll enjoy every fragrant cupful.

Ramblings Of A Rolling Stone

In the year of our Lord, 1780, England, but more especially London and vicinity, was in an uproar. Lord George Gordon, a somewhat dim-witted scion of the noble house of that name was being used as an instrument to foment religious strife throughout the southern part of the kingdom. Placed, by those who were the actual leaders of the movement, in the position of leadership, history records that he led his motley throng of followers, or a part of them, into the very halls of parliament itself.

Dickens, though not recognized as one of the more prominent historians of that, or any other age, gives us a dramatic word picture of that unhappy season of turmoil and hatred in his book "Barnaby Rudge".

Perhaps a re-reading of that book might be a profitable occupation for some of the more prominent leaders in world affairs today. In his portrayal of men, their motives and their actions, Dickens surpasses any author with whose writings I have been fortunate enough to have become acquainted and for that reason it seems to me that an appraising of the character of some of the actors whom the author places upon the stage which he has erected for the re-production of that historic tragedy known as "The Gordon Riots" might be productive of some salutary results.

A number of these actors might be studied with profit. There is Sir John Chester, personification of luxury loving selfishness; John Willet, the thick headed, headstrong proprietor of the Maypole Inn; Simon Tappertit, the disloyal, would-be dandy apprentice to Varden, the locksmith; Hugh, the Maypole roustabout and left-handed son of Chester. All these men, a careful study and their actions might, unless the case is a hopeless one, become a sort of mirror in which these time serving leaders might get a somewhat clearer view of themselves.

All these to whom I have referred were possessed of characteristics which are becoming more and more apparent in some high governmental circles; but there is one other to whom I wish particularly to call your attention. The one who gave his name to this most interesting historical novel; none other than the immortal idiot; the one and only "Barnaby Rudge".

Poor Barnaby! "Tetched in the head", "bug house", "three buttons short"—in fact a "blithering idiot" becomes the hero of an exceedingly interesting tale. Born in poverty, and living the life of an early day "Riley" the picture might have been somewhat overdrawn had he been given an umbrella by his famous creator. One of such obscure origin and who moved in such low-brow circles could not possibly have had as a cherished possession so proud an emblem of authority and statesmanship. The best that Dickens could do for his hero was the raven "Grip" in a basket.

It does not appear that the absence of this water proof emblem of place and prestige troubled our hero to any considerable extent. In fact, one might be justified in believing that the poor idiot never knew how much he lacked in not having possessed one of these emblematic adjuncts of the crusading pilgrim.

In offering what might be called circumstantial evidence in support of my contention I need only to cite the fact that Barnaby and Grip are said to have spent many a day chasing the wind across the fields and along the muddy ways which were a part of the London of that day. How far afield he wandered in his idiotically erratic ravings we do not know, but as the channel crossing is not mentioned in the record we may with reasonable assurance conclude that he never strayed as far as "Munk". Barnaby is represented as being intensely loyal to those who put their trust in him, in the shadow of the gallows, his courage and faithfulness did not waver. It is unfortunate that the parallels should come to an abrupt end before we reach the climax of the story and we are able to include in our comparisons only those things which seem trivial, unimportant, or utterly idiotic.

Leaving Barnaby, we turn to another of the great characters of fiction; the immortal, the imitable, that ne plus ultra of chivalry, Don Quixote. A student of students, so fully imbued with the spirit of the course of study which he pursued that he became a living counterpart or a re-incarnation of those whose activities were extolled in those musty records which told of the days "When Knighthood was in Flower." Here again, at the very outset, we find the parallel lines beginning to diverge. The umbrella is replaced by a lance and Rozinante becomes a substitute for the aeroplane. In spite of these handicaps the aged Don seems to have made something of a splash in the murky waters of his day. Not, mind you, because of any intelligence which he possessed, but only because of the fool things which he did and the unpleasant consequences of that doing.

The famous tilt at the windmills; the attack on the flock of sheep; the sending of Sancho Panza with the letter to the mythical Dulcinea Del Toboso while the scrawny master disported himself in the nude are near enough to the present facts to give them almost a prophetic character. One thing is yet lacking in a complete and perfect fulfillment; but time the great adjuster, may yet unfold the much desired thing. The wandering Don was adjudged crazy by his people; was put in a cage, taken home, told to stay there and they saw to it that he did just that.

SHE COULD NEITHER WALK NOR SLEEP

Arms and Feet Swollen with Rheumatism

This woman suffered for many years. Pain sapped her strength until she lost hope of recovery. Many remedies were tried, but nothing broke the grip of her crippling rheumatism. At last her husband persuaded her to try Kruschen Salts.

"My arms and feet were swollen with 'rheumatism,'" she writes. "I could not walk nor get regular sleep, and nothing did me any lasting good. I was so hopeless of ever getting better. I lost my good nature entirely. Then my husband persuaded me to try Kruschen Salts. After two weeks I began to feel better. I persevered, and in six weeks, I was doing household work. Later, I was able to go for a walk. Now I am free from pain and I feel grand."

(Mrs.) F. W.
 Rheumatism is commonly caused by deposits of uric acid crystals, which lodge in the muscles and joints. Kruschen helps to break up these deposits of troubling crystals and to convert them into a harmless solution, which is removed through the natural channel—the kidneys.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Thurber in London

B. L. Thurber, Johannesburg, has arrived in London, accompanied by Mrs. Thurber and their Canadian niece. "We came to England for the Coronation," said Mr. Thurber, "and have been in America and Canada ever since. Now, however, Mrs. Thurber is anxious to see home again, and we shall sail for South Africa towards the end of summer, after a look at Scotland and Scandinavia. I hope to buy a car to take back with us when we go, and since we are all three competent drivers we can divide the labour. I should like to say how much we have appreciated the coming of 'South Africa' week-by-week during our travels. It kept us right up-to-date, and we should have been lost without it." Mr. Thurber first went to South Africa in 1890, and so may be fairly reckoned a pioneer. He knew the Transvaal in the old Republican days, and has clear recollections of President Kruger and Dr. Leyds, whose recollections he has been reading. "I am by birth a Nova Scotian," said Mr. Thurber, "and like most of the 'blue noses' went to sea as a boy, before the mast. On recovering from a bout of fever at Lourenco Marques, I found the ship had sailed, so I determined to settle in South Africa, and have never regretted my decision. I have revisited Canada six times, but the land of the veld always calls me back. Mr. Thurber was for a long period associated with the Native Labour Department of the Transvaal Chamber of Mines, and now has a pleasant house at Parkview. In Canada and America he found constant interest expressed in South Africa, but some of the prevailing notions about the Union were of the haziest. He speaks highly of America's motor highways and the travellers' camps by the wayside, equipped with everything useful. "To hitch a trailer to an old Ford car is a favorite way of seeing America from coast to coast on the cheap," said Mr. Thurber. Miss Swift has not yet seen South Africa, but has formed the brightest anticipations. "I am supposed to take my niece back to Canada after six months in the Union, but I doubt if she will be willing to go. In fact, I feel certain she will not."—From "South Africa," a monthly magazine published in London.

Canada to Card Index the Eskimo

Ottawa Will Even Have Finger-Prints and Jobs Each Does Best—Part or Exploitation Plan.

They're going to card index the Eskimos. Among the barren coastlines bordering the Arctic Circle, these hardy Northerners will no longer be known merely in geography books, and to occasional explorers.

Ottawa will have their fingerprints. Ottawa will know their names and tribes. The Dominion Capital, moreover, will know the tasks in which each is most proficient.

For the Eskimo at long last is being recognized in the role which the Government experts have repeatedly depicted him—a vital link in the exploitation of the Far North.

Exploitation Pushed

Financial interests are putting millions of dollars in the development of the most northern part of this Continent. The fur and mineral industries are annually moving farther north. Once the Arctic coastline of the mainland was thought to be the farthest north that commercial exploration plane has changed this. Now the could be carried. But the air-lands to the north are considered commercially of value.

The card index, which is nearly complete for Eskimos living north of the Arctic Circle, will indicate whether an Eskimo has had experience in a fur post, whether he is a skillful hunter, or whether he has had perhaps served as guide to a party of aerial prospectors.

All this information is tabulated, so that if some special work is going on, the Government agents can quickly locate Eskimos best suitable to take part in that work.

Today's Eskimo is a different Eskimo from the one of 20 years ago. At that time the white man was a novelty, and whalers were about the only white men he knew. Today the Eskimo is a fur hunter and trapper; some are even fur traders operating stores in competition to the great fur companies and independent white traders. Today the Eskimo is wealthy in material goods, and many natives own motor-driven schooners, radios, phonographs, sewing machines, even electric light installations. The wealthier have gone in for frame houses, though snow houses in winter and skin tents in summer still serve most of the natives.

These adaptations of the white man are encouraged by the Government up to a point where it is felt it might be too hard for the Eskimos.

Trade Proficiency

Trades are being taught the Eskimo, who is a hardy type, and he is quick to learn. There are schools in some sections of the Northland, and the wealthier of the Eskimos send their sons south to the white man's school so that the coming generations will be able to cope better with the white man. The Eskimos have become good businessmen, have learned the value of their furs and their services, and the days when a pen knife would buy a bale of furs is long past.

Now that the Canadian Government has been teaching the natives what to adapt of the white that there will be an increase in man's civilization, it is expected the Eskimos population in the next ten years, and that the Eskimo will not, like other native races, vanish from the Northland, but will play a leading role in the building of cities and towns, mines and fishery stations, in the Arctic which the airplane has brought so close to the rest of the Continent.

Long ago Aristotle said, "The best of all animals, when governed by law and justice, is man; when the Eskimos send their sons south

It is three centuries ago last month since the art of printing was introduced in North America. It is three hundred years since the first plant, from England, was landed in Cambridge, Massachusetts. Today, printing ranks among the continents five chief industries. W. D. Fuller, of the Curtis Publishing Co., addressing a recent convention in New York, said: "printing is destined to remain the all important factor in the distribution of goods from the raw product straight through to the ultimate consumer."

For six consecutive months, the city of Winnipeg, where there are plenty of busy streets, has been without a single fatal traffic accident. As a consequence, Winnipeg is becoming known as the safest city on the continent, from the standpoint of motor driving. This is highly desirable publicity, and the best kind of advertising. Indeed, it can influence many a family to settle there. As the distinction becomes firmly established, the determination to maintain it, will naturally become more deeply rooted.

Finishing his careful inspection of Germany's "West Wall," which on the German side of the boundary corresponds to the "Maginot Line" on the French side, Chancellor Hitler pronounced it invincible. The western democracies, he is sure, cannot pass there. Probably he is right. But Britain and France and their allies have no intention of trying to pass that wall. If Germany is invaded now or in the immediate future, it will not be by land force. And it will probably not be by air, either. The most likely form of invasion is one that is invisible and silent, but more effective than military weapons. Its name is Economic Pressure. Nazi Germany is in a state of siege, and without the internal strength and equipment that it had in 1914. Military encirclement is developing, too. But it may be less important.

Winthrop W. Aldrich, prominent New York banker, returns from abroad with cheerful news. He considers war now unlikely in Europe. That is because the people don't want it, because the democracies have taken a firm stand against the autocracies, and because the democracies themselves have grown stronger. That is fine, from the American viewpoint. But most Americans may not agree fully with Mr. Aldrich's additional comment on Germany and Italy. He suggests that the United States should now help them solve their economic problems by making trade agreements with them. The "have" countries, he thinks, should lower their trade barriers first, buying from the "have-nots" and thereby promoting their prosperity. Would that be wise or safe at this time? Experience has been that Hitler and Mussolini are insatiable and ruthless. Given a yard, they will take a mile. Every effort to "appease" them seems to have made them more arrogant in their demands. So statesmen of the free countries have reluctantly concluded that the warmakers must be made harmless by economic pressure before they can be dealt with on humane terms.

The protection which the British Navy has accorded not only to Canada but to the United States during the past century, was the subject of a fine tribute by a prominent United States banker, Mr. Thomas W. Lamont. The occasion was a dinner function in New York. "First," said Mr. Lamont, "I would remind you of the fact that from 1814, we will say, until 1914, there was an era of unbroken peace in the world, so far as any world conflict was concerned. There was, what has been called a Pax Britannica. Great Britain, the British Empire, maintained the peace. It did so for the benefit of the empire and incidentally for the good of the whole world, including, as it turned out, America. Unless we look back over that 160 years, we can hardly realize the advantages which accrued to America through the fact that Great Britain threw a mantle of security over the seven seas, and made it possible for American trade to go forth unmolested and develop in mighty volume with no necessity (Concluded on last page)

THE WEEK IN PARLIAMENT

By S. P. W.

At 10.30 p. m., on Saturday, June 3rd, the fourth session of the eighteenth Parliament of Canada was prorogued by the Chief Justice. The session has lasted for twenty-one weeks and its major accomplishments have been chronicled week by week in these columns. Sittings have been held on one hundred and three days, on the last eighteen beginning at eleven o'clock in the morning and running on until eleven o'clock at night. The verbatim records of the session are embodied in an official report known as Hansard, running to about 5300 double-column printed pages. Two of the House committees have also produced lengthy minutes of evidence, running to seven or eight hundred pages each. One of these, the Public Accounts Committee, which conducted an inquiry into the Bren gun contract, was still sitting within an hour of prorogation. Its report is not available at the time of writing. The other major committee, the Banking and Commerce committee, which held thirty sittings, had been appointed to inquire into all matters pertaining to the report of the Bank of Canada for the year ended January 31, 1938. This inquiry was broadened into an examination of the whole field of currency and credit, and the committee reported that it was unable in one session of parliament to complete its study of so wide a subject and recommended that the study be continued during future sessions of parliament. Other committees which aroused wide interest were those investigating the Canadian Broadcasting Commission and the operations of the Civil Service Act and the Civil Service Superannuations Act.

During the present session more than one hundred bills have been passed by the Commons and the Senate and become law—an average of better than one a day. Eight of these were unique in receiving the assent of the King in person, a revival of a royal prerogative last exercised by Victoria in 1854. Some of these bills related to minor matters, such as Senate divorce bills and several bills renewed from year to year as routine matters; for example, the appointment of auditors for the Canadian National Railways. But many of these bills, of course, have dealt with matters of great and urgent interest to the Canadian people. The most important of them have been dealt with from week to week in this column. Outstanding among them have been the unemployment assistance legislation, the four bills dealing primarily with wheat but also with the whole of western agriculture, the establishment of a Defence Purchasing Board, a National Film Board, a Salt Fish Board, and the Central Mortgage Bank. The report of the Rowell Commission, which was anticipated in the Speech from the Throne at the opening of the session, has not yet been made, and it is now expected that it will appear during the summer months. The Canada-United States Trade Agreement is regarded by the government as one of its most vital achievements.

During the present week, the last of the session and, according to Senator Meighen, the last of the present parliament, the remaining departmental estimates have been passed, and two bills, those establishing the Salt Fish Board and the Central Mortgage Bank, have become law. The provisions of both these bills have already been set out in this column. On the last night of the session the Senate made a strong bid to limit the application of the Central Mortgage Bank to farm mortgages. Their only supporter in the House of Commons, as the vote was recorded, was the Hon. C. H. Cahan. In the face of such unanimity in the Commons, they finally gave way, and the bill becomes law in substantially the form in which Mr. Dunning brought it before the House.

The ceremony of the Royal Assent and the Parliamentary Dinner attended by Their Majesties, will perhaps remain in the minds of most members as the highlight of the session. It is hoped on all sides that one of the results of the Royal visit will be a great strengthening of the spirit of unity in Canada.

The great question in the minds of the members as they leave Ottawa tonight for their homes across the country, is whether there will be an election before parliament meets again. There is none of them so bold as to offer an unconditional answer. Ottawa, June 3, 1939.

Source of the Names of Twelve Months of Year

Names of the twelve months of the year have the following derivation: January, the Roman Janus presided over the beginning of everything; hence the first month of the year was named after him. February, the Roman festival Februs was held on the fifteenth day of this month in honor of Lupercus, the god of fertility. March, named from the Roman God of war, Mars. April, the Latin word, "Aprilis," probably is derived from "aperire," to open, because spring generally begins and the buds open in this month. May, the Latin word, "Maius," probably is derived from Maia, a feminine divinity worshipped at Rome on the first day of this month. June, from Juno, a Roman divinity worshipped as the queen of heaven. July, from Julius; Julius Caesar was born in this month. August, named by the Emperor Augustus Caesar, 30 B. C., after himself, as he regarded it a fortunate month, in which he had gained several victories. September, from "septem" meaning seven; September was the seventh month of the old Roman year. October, November and December respectively are from "octo," meaning eight; "novem," meaning nine; and "decem," meaning ten, those three months being the eighth, ninth and tenth months of the old Roman year.

As The Pope Became Bishop of Rome

Reviving a colorful church ceremony which was held in abeyance for the 90 years that the pope was "the prisoner of the Vatican," Pope Pius XII journeyed from the Vatican through the streets of Rome to the basilica of St. John Lateran, of which he took possession as bishop of Rome. The pope is pictured here being carried on a portable throne, en route to his "parish church."

London Exhibits 'First Bicycle' at World's Fair

Exhibition at the New York's World's Fair of a copy of the first "real" bicycle ever built is to mark the centenary of the bicycle which is being celebrated this year.

The machine which has been sent to New York from the Science Museum, South Kensington, is closely modeled on that built in 1839 by Kirkpatrick MacMillan, a blacksmith of Courthill in Dumfriesshire, Scotland, said to have been the first man to propel himself on a bicycle by pedals.

After practising for two years, during which time he became a proficient cyclist and learned a number of tricks, MacMillan rode to Glasgow. He must have cut a strange figure on his unusual contraption. He was six feet in height and because of what were then considered to be his crazy adventures on wheels was known to the neighborhood as "Daft Pate MacMillan."

A MARITIME CUSTOM

It's an old English custom—drinking tea—and it's one which we of the Maritimes have gladly made our own. It's a maritime custom to drink Morse's Standard Tea—and what a delightful custom it is. Morse's Standard Tea has a flavour which is always refreshing. People who drink it four or five times a day, year in and year out, insist that Morse's cannot be beaten for flavour and satisfaction. Why not try Morse's Standard Tea in your own home, and learn why this great blend has earned for itself the reputation—The Good Old Family Tea of the Maritimes.

Hero of Disaster

Lloyd B. Maness, who slammed shut the door connecting the forward and rear compartments of the ill-fated submarine Squalus, was given credit for saving the lives of his 32 companions. Had Maness been unable to shut the water-tight door the entire crew of the Squalus would have perished.

Steamships Strike Tieup Is Concluded

The week-end strike tying up the Eastern Steamship Lines was ended Saturday, when crews of the fourteen coastwise vessels voted by a narrow margin to return to work.

The management agreed to grant minor concessions to the 1,080 men involved but had stood firm against the Union's demands for an increase in pay. The Union first asked for an increase of $10 to $15 a month for the deck and engine room forces and later reduced the demand to $5 a month. The concessions included elimination of night work for the deck and engine room crews, he said.

Conclusion of the strike averted cancellation of the scheduled cruise of the S.S. Saint John from Boston carrying 500 passengers to Halifax for the Royal visit June 15, Halifax agents for the Eastern Steamship Lines said. It would also mean immediate revival of the Boston-Yarmouth and Boston-Saint John service which had been affected.

June 15 Is Official Public Holiday

A telegram received by the Courier yesterday afternoon from the Director of Publicity for the Province of Nova Scotia, read as follows: "June 15, Official Public Holiday".

During the past week we have heard this question debated many times. Merchants of Digby circulated a petition requesting the Mayor and Council to proclaim a holiday for the town, as many of them, and their clerks, would like to be in Halifax on the occasion of the visit of Their Majesties—an opportunity that does not come even once in a lifetime. None, however, would close their places of business unless the day was made a local or provincial holiday.

The matter was brought up at the last regular session of the Digby Town Council by Councillor Cardozo, who asked that the day be made a holiday in honor of the Royal visitors, who will be in Halifax. There was no second to his motion, and the matter was dropped.

A MESSAGE TO PARENTS

ABOUT THEIR CHILDREN

No child with defective vision has a proper chance in the battle of life. A scientific examination of children's eyes, such as we make, is a sure way to determine whether they have normal vision. Children who require glasses should have the benefit of the very newest scientific development—CORRECTAL Lenses. They give clear, undistorted vision over the entire surface of the lens so that there is accurate vision even at the very edge.

OBITUARY

Eldon M. Marshall

The home of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Marshall, of South Range, was saddened on the early morning of June 2nd, by the death of their third son, Eldon Murray, age 12 years and 10 months, after an illness of eight weeks of spinal meningitis. The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon with prayer at the home from which the body was taken to the cemetery and laid to rest, followed by a service at the Christian Church, conducted by Rev. Donald Stockford. The hymns sung were: "Safe in the Arms of Jesus"; "O Praise the Lord"; Eldon's last hymn he sang while sick, "My Father Knows"; and a duet by Mrs. Harold Marshall and Miss Muriel Marshall. The deceased leaves many bereaved ones to mourn for him as he A year ago he became a member of the Christian Church. He leaves to mourn, besides his parents, three brothers and two sisters, Myron, Gerald, Eldred, Blanche and Vivian, all at home. The pall bearers were his four cousins, Alwood, Vernon and Scott Haight, and Earle Marshall.

TEACHER'S STUDY CLUB MEETING HELD

The final meeting of the Teacher's Study Club for the 1938-39 term was held in the Marshelltown school house, on Saturday, with the President, R. O. Gibson, presiding.

T. A. M. Kirk, of Yarmouth, Inspector of Schools, paid a brief visit to the Club at this meeting.

This meeting to be held at Weymouth, on September 9th. The Club's suggested school programme for Grades 7, 8, 9, 10 was revised; and an outline of work to be carried on by the Club next year, prepared.

There were seven teachers in attendance.

THREE ACT PLAY PRESENTED

The three act play, "A Ready Made Family", which was presented at Community Theatre, recently, by the Young People's Union, of Heartz Memorial United Church, was repeated at the Barton Hall, on Thursday evening of last week, to an appreciative audience.

The situation in the play was as follows:—Agnes Martyn, a widow, (played by Agnes Payson), while vacationing, met an old sweetheart, Henry Turner, (Jack Smith), a widower, and they became engaged. Neither told the other of the children at home, three in one household and two in the other. The youngsters, having heard of the big surprise and not feeling any too good about it, planned to upset the matrimonial apple cart by acting their worst before their prospective step-parents. Marilee Martyn (Mrs. Perley Gates) decided to talk baby talk. Bob Martyn (Galen Pierce) had fits; Gracie (Kathleen FitzGerald) acted the part of a holy terror. Sammie Turner (Laddie Jones) became a kleptomaniac, and worse; and Doris Turner (Stella Sabine) having had an operation, harped on that. Then there was Miss Lydia Martyn (Mrs. C. F. Granville) a neurotic old maid; Begonia (Mrs. Keith Potter) the colored maid, and Nicodemus (Bill Garden) the colored handy-man, to add to the fun and the mix-up. After almost two hours of laughter, Agnes and Henry emerged victorious and the "kids" were ready to accept their new parents.

The play was directed by Rev. C. U. MacNevin and Bill Garden. At Weymouth guitar music and singing by Wallace Mullen was a special feature between the acts; while at Barton, Carl Mowen rendered piano and vocal solos.

Their Majesties at Banff

Their Majesties thoroughly enjoyed their rest from official duties when they visited the Banff Springs Hotel in the heart of the Canadian Rockies at Banff, Alberta. The Royal Party reached Banff on Friday evening, May 26th and remained until Sunday morning, May 28. Both King George and Queen Elizabeth hiked and drove over Banff's trails and roads and both expressed their delight and pleasure in the magnificent scenery surrounding the great internationally famous playground. Photographs show their Majesties chatting with J. C. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King on the terrace of the Banff Springs Hotel, and enjoying a view down the Bow River Valley. This terrace overlooks the "Mile High Golf Course", with Cascade Mountain in the background.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

CORRECT EXPOSURE

The right exposure—corrected for each situation—yields better pictures. For this average subject, on a cloudy-bright day, 1/25 second at f.8 lens opening is correct. On a sunny day, with the same subject, 1/25 second at f.11 is proper.

NOW that spring is here, the days seem brighter as well as longer. This apparent brightness may deceive some of us into shortening our outdoor exposures—but we should be cautious in so doing.

Underexposure is the most frequent fault in amateur snapshots. A picture printed from an underexposed negative has a harsh appearance. The shadows are too black and lack detail, and by comparison the bright areas appear excessively bright. If many of your pictures have this appearance, you should practice giving fuller exposure, either through choice of a larger lens opening or longer shutter time.

Modern films have broad exposure latitude, to take care of reasonable errors in exposure. But we should not ask too much, and we should remember that a correctly-exposed negative always produces the best print. When we are in doubt, it is usually wiser to give a full exposure rather than one that may be too short.

Here are typical correct exposures for the "chrome" type films that most of us prefer for outdoor picture taking:

HEARTBURN KEPT HIM AWAKE

Afraid to Eat Square Meal

What a worry he must have been to his wife! No food agreed with him. Acid indigestion made him positively wretched. In this letter, his wife tells how he got welcome relief:

"My husband developed a wretched form of gastric acidity," she writes. "Meals were a misery to him. He often could not sleep for heartburn. Business kept him from home a great deal, but when he did get a spell at home, I gave him Kruschen Salts. I was amazed at the results. That weary look left his face, and his indigestion gradually disappeared. It is a treat to hear him say, 'I'm hungry.' It seems too good to be true." (Mrs.) K.M.E.

The numerous salts in Kruschen help to promote a natural flow of the digestive and other vital juices of the body. Soon after you start on Kruschen, you will find that you are able to enjoy your food without distressing after-effects. And as you persevere with the "little daily dose," you will see that Kruschen brings glorious relief.

CLUB SHOW

The second annual Club Show, of Oakdene Garment Club, was held in Oakdene Hall, on Monday evening, June 5.

Nearly 200 exhibits of the following classes were judged by Miss Winnifred Armstrong, Supervisor of Girl's Clubs for western Nova Scotia, and her assistant, Miss Kay MacNeil, and over $40 prize money was given to the 26 exhibitors. Club medals were also presented to several junior members. Classes of exhibits were blouses, slips, peasant aprons, child's coveralls, crochets, embroidery, hemstitching, knitting, holders, darning, patching (matches and plain), sewing bags.

Club member, Linda Banks, led in the year's work with 58.5 points out of a possible 60. Three girls, Jean Reade, Ethel Hazelton and Barbara Rigg tied for second place. President, Marjorie Fleet, presided throughout the evening assisted by Margaret Roache, past-president, and Scout Everett McCormick.

The following programme was presented to an appreciative audience:

Opening Chorus—Club Members
Piano Duet—Gene Brydon and Dorothy Rice.
Vocal Solo—Miss Allie Forbes.
Vocal Trio—Mrs. Litchfield, Mrs. Roache and Mrs. Harry Harris.
"Stars of the Summer Night".
Tap Dance—Anne Jefferson.
Vocal Solo—Rev. G. D. Brydon.
"The Mighty Deep"; encore, "I Dream of Jeanie".

Piano Duet—The Misses Louise Harris and Annie Miller.
Pageant—"To Their Majesties in Canada", by Club members assisted by Miss Forbes as "Miss Canada".

The Misses Allie Forbes and Louise Harris were accompanists throughout the evening.

Candy and flowers were presented to Miss Armstrong and Mrs. MacNeil by the Club. Refreshments were served.

Local Club Leader, F. Pearl Campbell, and members of the Club, wish to express their thanks to all parents and friends, who helped so generously in making the "show" a success.

"UNCLE ELMER" WILL BE IN BEAR RIVER

"Uncle Elmer" and his Radio "Song Circle", heard Sunday mornings from 8.30 to 9 o'clock over W E I, Boston, will present a special programme of Gospel hymns on Monday evening, June 19th, in the Bear River United Church, at 8.00 o'clock.

The "Song Circle" is composed of young people who work at their regular tasks every day but give up most of their Sundays and week-end evenings to bring to an enormous and appreciative audience the gospel hymns that were so popular a generation ago. They have decidedly demonstrated that the old time religion still appeals to thousands and that when presented to them in the right way will get them out of bed early Sunday mornings and bring them in surging crowds to the churches.

Old favorite Gospel hymns in solo, duet, trio and quartette arrangements, with a generous variety of inspirational poems will constitute the major part of the program Monday evening, June 19th in the United Church, Bear River.

There are thousands of people who listen in on Sunday mornings in appreciation of the fine work the "Song Circle" is doing for those who are numbered among the sick and the shut-ins.

OBITUARY

Bessie Lois Caswell

Miss Bessie Lois Caswell passed away at her home in Granville Ferry, on Saturday, May 27th, after a lingering illness. Miss Caswell was a daughter of the late Austin S. and Elizabeth Dale Caswell, and was born in Hallsburn, 51 years ago, but had lived at Granville Ferry during the past thirty years. She was baptized early in life and was a devoted member of the Baptist Church. In March, 1938, Miss Caswell was stricken with pneumonia, (it was also at that time her mother passed away) and she never regained her full strength. She is survived by one sister, Nettie (Mrs. Ronald Bond), and one brother, Edwin A. Caswell, and a number of nieces and nephews. The funeral was held at her late home on Sunday, May 28th, at 2.30, conducted by Rev. Dr. F. E. Bishop, a former pastor at Granville Ferry. Hymns sung by the choir were: "Hark! Hark! My Soul", "Peace, Perfect Peace", and a solo, "Face to Face" was rendered by Mrs. Hartley Marshall, of Bridgetown. The floral tributes were beautiful. Burial was at Granville Beach cemetery. Sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

WOMEN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY OF DEEP BROOK

The Women's Missionary Society of the Deep Brook Baptist Church, met on Tuesday, p. m., June 6th, with Mrs. Hamilton, at the parsonage. Mrs. M. Jackson, vice-president, in the chair, sixteen guests from Bear River Society were present.

After the opening hymn and welcome, scripture was read by Mrs. M. Nichols, with prayer by Rev. G. D. Brydon, of Bear River Baptist Church. Reading, poem, "Hands", by Mrs. H. S. Vroom; reading, poem, "Holding the Ropes", by Miss E. Mosher. Rev. Dr. F. E. Bishop gave a splendid address on "The Foundations of The Missionary Enterprise", which was much appreciated by all. A patriotic hymn was sung after the closing prayer by Deacon Moore, Bear River, and one verse of God Save the King. A social hour with refreshments concluded the meeting. There were 35 present. The offering of $33.25 was for home missions.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Maria E. Cossaboom

The death occurred on June 3, of Mrs. Maria E. Cossaboom, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Hazelton. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Hanks, of Weymouth, and was 86 years of age. Mrs. Cossaboom had been ill for some time. Her husband predeceased her about a year ago. She has left to mourn two daughters, Mrs.

Frank Hazelton, Digby, and Mrs. Willard Merritt, of Natick, Mass.; one son, William, of Natick, Mass. She also leaves twelve grandchildren and ten great grandchildren. Rev. A. G. Robertson, of the Digby Baptist Church, performed the service at the house, while at the service at Rossway, where interment was made, Rev. Mr. Dimock officiated.

Harris W. Bowles

The death of Harris Welsford Bowles, well known resident of Digby, occurred at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. C. Warrington, at 10.30 a. m., Tuesday. The late Mr. Bowles, who had been in poor health for about a year, was born at Waterville, Kings Co., 83 years ago, a son of the late Woodworth and Charlotte Bowles. He has been a resident of Digby for more than half a century, and for twenty-one years was Chief of Police in this town, retiring to take the position of government inspector of weights and measures, from which he was superannuated twelve years ago. For sixty-four years he was a member of the Odd fellow's Lodge, and was a member of the Masonic order for a period nearly as long. The late Mr. Bowles was active in the affairs of the town, serving as member of the Town Council, and also as Deputy Mayor. He was a staunch supporter of the Salvation Army, and took a very active part in its work in Digby, holding the rank of Envoy in the Digby corps. He joined the Salvation Army at Campbellton, N. B., many years ago, before he came to Digby to live. His wife predeceased him five years ago this month. Surviving are one daughter, Evelyn (Mrs. W. C. Warrington) with whom he had resided since the death of his wife; three grandchildren, and one great grandchild. Funeral service will take place this afternoon from the Warrington home, with Rev. E. M. Caldwell, rector of Trinity Church, and Digby corps of the Salvation Army conducting the service. Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Mrs. Eliza Ellis

The funeral for the late Mrs. Eliza (Tanch) Ellis was held on Saturday last from Grace United Church. Rev. Dr. T. W. Hodgson conducting the service. The floral offerings were beautiful and many. Mrs. Ellis was the widow of the late Capt. Gilbert Ellis, who predeceased her twenty-five years ago. Besides two sisters, Mrs. James Ellis, Shore Road, Digby; and Mrs. Jane Litch, Port Wade, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Richard Dunn and Mrs. Fred McBride, of Digby, three grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Pallbearers were T. E. G. Lynch, Douglas Daley, George Peters and Guy Dunn. Mrs. Ellis will be greatly missed by all who knew and loved her in the community.

Rev. Charles Carroll Rand

On Sunday morning, at 6.30, at his home in Deep Brook, Rev. Charles Carroll Rand entered into rest, at the age of 65 years, ending the long illness which caused the termination of his ministry at Chester. Rev. Mr. Rand was born in Quebec, where his boyhood was spent; he later moved to P. E. I., where he settled for a number of years. For many years an ardent layman of the church of England, Mr. Rand was ordained in 1904 and became rector of the parish of Crapaud, P. E. I. Following a long service in Middleton, he went to Chester parish, which he was forced to vacate due to illness. Rev. Mr. Rand was for a number of years, editor of The Maritime Church paper, "Church Work", and among his outside activities his influence was felt in the Masonic Order, in which he acted as Chaplain of Ionic Lodge, Middleton; and in the Middleton Band, of which he was the guiding spirit for six years, and of which he was honorary president at the time of his passing. Mr. Rand leaves behind him a wide circle of friends, who will miss a friend, guide and counsellor. Surviving are: his widow, also two sons by a former marriage, Rev. John L. Rand, rector of Port Medway; and Douglas, in Montreal, and one grand-daughter. The funeral was held from Holy Trinity Church, Middleton, Tuesday afternoon, conducted by His Grace, the Archbishop of Nova Scotia, with the rectors of Annapolis Deanery and others attending in a body.

Mrs. Annie Saunders

Mrs. Annie Saunders, wife of the late Dr. D. O. Saunders, passed away at the home of her son, Charles Saunders, at the Granville House, Granville Ferry, early Saturday morning, at the age of 91 years. Mrs. Saunders was born at Conquerall Bank; she lived thirty-four years in Clarence, and the past eight years in Granville Ferry, where she has been cared for by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Charles Saunders. The late Mrs. Saunders is survived by four sons, Dr. R. McK. Saunders, of Lunenburg; Charles, of Granville Ferry; LaMont, of Clarence, and Otto, of Bridgetown. The funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon, with interment at Bridgetown.

Invade The Golden Eagle's Domain

The Sky-Line Trail Hikers and Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies will share with golden eagles and white mountain goats the glaciers, mile-high alpine meadows and scenic beauties of two of the loveliest sections of the Canadian Rockies on their annual outings this summer. Starting each year from Banff Springs Hotel, the Riders on sure-footed mountain ponies, the Hikers on foot, explore new sections of the Rockies. Carefree days are passed camera-hunting big game, fishing in virgin lakes, roaming in alpine gardens, mountain climbing, or basking in the sun, roused from lethargy only by the incantations performed thrice daily by the cook. The Trail Riders, will leave Banff Springs Hotel early Friday, July 28, riding in easy stages over the scenic High Line to Moraine Lake in the Valley of the Ten Peaks, where they will hold their closing Pow-Wow on the evening of Tuesday, August 1. A day's rest in a most interesting location is provided enroute. The Hikers will make headquarters at a central camp in beautiful Parnassian Valley north of Lake Louise, August 4-7, and spend their time exploring the high country. The Trail Riders and Trail Hikers of the Canadian Rockies' plans for this year are being received enthusiastically by nature lovers all over the world, judging from the number of inquiries reaching the secretary, J. M. Gibson, Windsor Station, Montreal.

There will be a Memorial Service in the Salvation Army Citadel, Kempville, Yarmouth Co., Sunday evening, at 7.30, in memory of the late Envoy Harris W. Bowles.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

TRICK PICTURES

"Castle in the clouds"—an easy trick shot you can make at home. For how to do it, see below.

TRICK pictures made with the aid of glass or mirrors are easy—and these devices permit many unusual effects.

Place an object on a table with glass top—shoot from underneath the table—and the object seems to be floating in air, for the glass, of course, will be invisible.

That is how the picture of the "castle in the clouds," shown above, was taken. A big piece of glass served as support—the castle is a toy one—the clouds are pieces of fluffy cotton. And a portrait attachment was used on the camera to permit shooting "close-up." Diagram 1 shows how things were arranged.

You can use this same technique in shooting a picture of a pet—in picturing a ship model—showing a doll making a high dive—and in many other clever, striking snapshots. Just have the glass well cleaned, don't allow it to pick up reflections from your photo lights, and your pictures will truly puzzle anyone who views them.

Mirrors are extremely useful in making trick snaps. For an amusing shot, get a plain unmounted mirror, and place it level just under the camera lens as shown in Diagram 2. Take a picture of your house with this arrangement—and if the mirror is correctly adjusted an shown, your picture will show a lake in your front yard! The mirror cuts off the lower half of the scene, and substitutes an upside-down reflection, just as would appear in a smooth sheet of water!

Try these simple, amusing camera stunts. You can make trick pictures as well as anybody!

John van Guilder

Diagram 1—Castle picture. Put subject on glass sheet or glass top table, shoot from below. G, glass; C, camera. Diagram 2—Trick reflection method. M, mirror arranged under lens; C, camera. The mirror creates a "lake."

"ABOUT THIS AND THAT"—Continued (From First Page)

for a far-flung navy. "Now I ask you what sort of world should we in America be facing if it came to pass that through unprovoked aggression the British Empire were in the future to be gravely weakened? Can we contemplate for ourselves what that would mean to our own liberties, to our own economy? I am not proffering any suggestions whatsoever on this point. I am not proposing any pulling of chestnuts out of the fire. I am simply asking you to recall the old Pax Britannica as it was, and as it never can be again, perhaps, in the same way. What sort of world, then should we be facing if we had a British Empire of definitely lessened all-around strength?"

Old Hulk Dug UP: A Raleigh Vessel?

The hulk of an ancient ship dug up near Manteo, North Carolina, identified by Roanoke Islanders as a cromster, a light war vessel developed by Sir Walter Raleigh in the latter part of the sixteenth century.

The hulk was first noticed by A. W. Drinkwater, local authority on maritime lore, after a storm in 1903. It barely jutted out of the sand on the beach of the "outer banks," about 40 miles north of Cape Hatteras.

On April 3, after another bad storm, Mr. Drinkwater went to the spot again, and found considerably more of the structure had been bared to view. Officials of the Roanoke Island Historical Association decided to excavate around the hulk.

The excavation was completed by a crew of 100 Civilian Conservation Corps men, who voluntarily toiled at the task through their week end holiday. A guard was put over the ship to keep souvenir hunters away.

Mr. Drinkwater said that careful measurements of the now fully-exposed hull checked with the specifications of sixteenth century war vessels contained in two authoritative works on naval construction available on the island.

Dr. Joseph T. Holbach, superintendent of the Marine Museum at Newport News, Va., planned to explore the ship.

Sir Walter Raleigh founded a British colony on Roanoke Island in 1584. A supply ship from Britain later arrived at the Island and found no trace of the colonists except the word "Croatan" carved on a tree.

What happened to the colony is a riddle of history.

Marie Antoinette At the Capitol

Norma Shearer, whose courage has won for her the respect and admiration of a world that hailed with enthusiasm her decision to resume a brilliant career, returns to the screen in "Marie Antoinette," the spectacular picture opening Wednesday, at the Capitol Theatre.

With Tyrone Power as her co-star for the first time, Miss Shearer brings to life the glamorous and fascinating Antoinette, a role she has waited four years to play. Power is cast as Count Axel de Fersen, the man who dared to love a Queen of France.

History has written no more tenderly romantic or grimly tragic episode than that of the little Hapsburg Archduchess whose marriage to Louis August, Dauphin of France, changed the course of empires. The powerfully dramatic character role of Louis is played by Robert Morley, who was

Shoes From Fish Skins

Shoes with "uppers" made of plaice, and soles made of leather may sound a bit fishy, but a new industry has been established in Copenhagen for footwear manufacture on these very lines.

There's no catch in it, either. This is proved by the fact that the "Danish Fish-Leather Factory" is the idea of utilizing fish skin as a synthetic leather resulted from research undertaken by Capt. W. Nellemose of the Ocean Research Council.

It is reckoned that Denmark has an immense potential reserve of "leather" in its fish skins. For there can scarcely be a country in the world that, proportionately consumes so much filleted and skinned fish as Denmark. The Danes also do a big export business, sending filleted fish to many countries in cans—skinned ready for supper. Which explains why they place so much importance on the work in the Castle of Charlottenlund, where Captain Nellemose and the O. R. C. are hard at work finding new uses for cast-off fish clothing.

Investigations have already resulted in a pair of shoes presented to Her Royal Highness, Crown Princess Ingrid of Denmark, and in the setting up of the "Danish Fish-Leather Factory" under the management of Director Theodore Jensen.

It is found that eight skins are necessary for each pair of shoes, so that with 20,000,000 skins, 1-500,000 pairs of shoes can be made, or 30 per cent of the shoes required by the Danish shoe trade each year. The normal export of leather to Denmark for shoes amounts to between 6,000,000 kroner ($1,458,333) and 7,000,000 kroner.

Captain Nellemose claims that a pair of shoes made from fish skin have withstood a severe test—they have been in use for one year in rain, snow, and summer sun and have only been re-soled once. And never re-placed! They had been cleaned with ordinary shoe cream.

The factory is also making "leather" buttons from the same material. Denmark has previously imported leather for this purpose to the value of 3,000,000 kroner yearly, the skins being dyed in every case. Gloves and the backs of books are also included in the industry, the skins giving a great variation in natural grain.

The sum of 5,000 kroner from the Lauritz Andersen Fund, a large fortune left for the purpose of experiment in Denmark, was given to Captain Nellemose to aid his research on making use of fish skin.

Kidney Acids Rob Your Rest

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—lie awake and count sheep. Often they blame it on "nerves" when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons from the blood. If they are faulty and fail, poisons stay in the system and cause headache, backache often follow. If you don't sleep well, try Dodd's Kidney Pills—for half a century the favorite remedy. 103

About This and That

It is harrowing for an English submarine tragedy to follow that of the Squalus so soon. The British Navy has no such equipment as the great diving bell which brought up the 33 rescued seamen on our side of the Atlantic. If submarines are necessary—and while one country uses them, others, no doubt, must do so—and if they must continue to make their dangerous practice dives, there should certainly be more life-saving equipment on hand for emergency. Now that the effectiveness of the diving bell has been proven by strenuous use, others should be built.

Soup made to the tune of 6,000 gallons a day. Sandwiches piling up to the count of 78,000; apples and bananas, 119,000. Pudding, apple sauce or prunes, 3,000 dishes. Not even the liveliest church picnic or political clambake is in this class when it comes to serving food. Needy New York school children eat this much every day. What do they like best? Vegetable soup, then lima bean soup, with barley soup third. Peanut butter sandwiches hold high favor. Jelly sandwiches next. Bananas? Oh, boy! Apples next. Other fruits, too. Now, there's a carrot stick, highly regarded. It's just a raw carrot sliced and trimmed to look attractive. Milk? They drink it by the ton. Eat it in soups and puddings. They like spaghetti, too. In short, children like and eat what's good for them when they are hungry and it's available.

That dream of a vast highway linking Alaska with Argentina seems to be coming true—in spots. Between Laredo, Texas, and Panama, something like 3250 miles in all, a great deal of it has already been constructed. A stretch of 865 miles in Mexico from about 40 miles south of Mexico City to the border of Guatemala remains to be finished—the rest of the road in Mexico is done. Panama, Costa Rica, Nicaragua, Honduras, Guatemala and El Salvador have made surveys. Canada is considering the stretch through to Alaska, so far without much enthusiasm, but with the possibility of warming up to the project later. Roads, constructed at first with the idea, that they may serve as useful military highways, have a great way of proving themselves ministers of peace. For it is as true of nations as of individuals that "enemies are those who do not understand." The greater knowledge of each other that individuals of scattered nations can attain, the surer, in time, becomes their friendship. That is, if they can meet on an easy-going basis, telling each other the scenic features not to miss as they munch their hot dogs companionably together at the way stations.

The King Receives "Rent" of Two Black Beaver Pelts

When Britain's Kings Went Calling

(By M. G. Hughes in Canadian Business)

Their Majesties come to Canada as the first reigning Royalty ever to visit this country. King George comes, too, as the first "King of Canada"—for it has only been since the passing of the Statute of Westminster in 1931 that a British Sovereign could come as such. To rule this Dominion entirely on the advice of his Canadian Ministers. He will be the second English Monarch, ever to set foot in an overseas dominion, for that precedent was set by George V, when he was crowned Emperor in India.

The King comes to his Dominion on a mission of goodwill and affection, to mix with the Canadian people in their own country. But British kings did not always travel abroad on such peaceful missions. In fact, out of the thirty-nine rulers since William the Conqueror, only four of the twenty-one who travelled outside England during their reigns, embarked on peaceful missions in the interest of Empire solidarity or international goodwill. All of comparatively recent times, these latter, sovereigns include Victoria, Edward VII, George V, and now, George VI.

Since the beginning of time, monarchs of many nations, to mention only Alexander, Caesar and Napoleon, have set out on external missions, the far-reaching importance of which has shaken the world. But most interesting to Canadians are the quests of British kings abroad. They are so emphatically contrasting that they fall into three distinct phases of England's history. The first period, from 1066 to 1466, saw reigning monarchs leading English forces into France, bent either on the protection of territories already acquired or the conquest of new domains. George VI's visit to Canada stands in full contrast to the warring errands of these earlier English kings who led covert expeditions on the continent.

William the Conqueror, that mighty invader from Normandy who gained by conquest the throne of England, often crossed the channel after Hastings to guard his French possessions against encroachment by the King of France. William's sons, Rufus and Henry I, followed in their father's footsteps, warring on the continent in an effort to secure new territories as well as defend their old. It is over one hundred years, however, since English kings have had the need of Imperial armed forces to guard their possessions in America against aggressor nations. That responsibility is now Canada's own with the knowledge that she can call on the help of the Mother Country and her "Good Neighbour."

Tudor Henry II, who followed the Norman rulers, possessed such large territories in France that he regarded "the little isle" merely as one of his provinces and, of his thirty-five years on the English throne, he lived only thirteen in England. Britain's history shows that this provincial concept of England soon changed until, today, it is exceptional if a reigning monarch spends more than six months of his rule on external soil.

Richard I, Coeur de Lion, also saw little of England and was concerned with it mainly as a source of revenue for the financing of his invasions of France and the Holy Land. How strangely contrasting is this coming visit of England's King as compared with Richard's plundering expeditions the Lionheart's ever-ready sword with the friendly smile with which George VI rallies his subjects to his side. Richard and his band of privateers, in the glistening armours of knighthood, galloped through desert and Arab village, past mosque and minaret, while George VI will travel through great industrial cities wide expanses of prairie and a great heights of purple mountains in the stream-lined conveyances of another age.

John, of Magna Carta fame, continued England's wars in France, but met with defeat as did his son, Henry III, when he tried to conquer the entire French Empire. Later, the tables were turned on English misfortunes abroad and the Hundred Year's War saw Edward III leading a pillaging army into the rich countryside of France. For had not the proud Edward sworn "by the heron" at the Round Table that he would conquer the whole country? Blood ran red as the shining shield of England's King emerged victorious from Cressy and Poitiers and the French disruption of English trade with the Flemish weavers forever ceased. Over five hundred years later, in 1938, an English King and his Queen were to visit France again this time on invitation, and to receive a welcome that has no precedent in magnificence, for its brilliant splendour out-rivalled even that splendour out-rivalled even that of older days. That King was George VI who, with Queen Elizabeth, was the guest of President and Madame Lebrun—and the French people—last July.

Henry VI continued the Hundred Years War with France. But with his defeat by the French forces of Joan of Arc, came the end of that dream of a continental empire which so long had enticed English sovereigns abroad. The reign of Henry VII marks the beginning of a second period in the travels of British Kings. Wars of defence rather than conquest now occupy her army and navy. Henry VII, like a number of other English monarchs, came from exile to be crowned King of England. Through diplomatic alliances, he kept England at peace, bettering her internal affairs and developing her navy and commerce. His son, Henry VIII, journeyed abroad to meet France's King for purposes of an alliance in what was later called the "Field of the Cloth of Gold" for, in this kindly contest of splendour, their sumptuous and gorgeously appointed retinues were dazzling indeed. George VI, over 400 years later, comes to Canada with only a few closely associated members of the Royal household, not to impress the Canadian people with the magnificence of his entourage but to meet them on the level of "man to man."

Flipping over the history pages quickly, we find that the chief claim of Charles I, and his son James II, to "foreign travel" is that they were both forced to flee the country in fear of their lives—Charles to escape the Parliamentary forces of Cromwell, James, the invading army of William of Orange. As King William III of England and Governor of the Netherlands, he was a confirmed enemy of France, but with all his continental warring he bequeathed to England a firmer foundation for what was later to be her role as mistress of the seas. George I, followed in William's footsteps by coming from abroad to be crowned King of England—this time from German Hanover. His son, George II, will go down in history as the last British Sovereign to command an army in the field. Over 170 years later, however, George V, saw active service in the Great War, inspiring his men along the lines but leaving the command with his generals.

Queen Victoria's reign coincided with a decided change in the purpose of kingly missions abroad and begins the third period. Throughout her reign British prestige the world over increased at an amazing rate although the Queen travelled sparingly herself. Her son, Edward VII, however, was widely travelled as Prince of Wales for half a century. Through kindly goodwill tours, he renewed his personal contacts on the continent and was able to promote a better understanding with the Great Powers. In fact, he won for himself the title of "peace-maker."

The late George V, well known to most Canadians today, seldom left England after his coronation. His one notable mission was, of course, his journey eastward to his Indian Empire. This year, his son, another George, sails westward to his premier dominion across the Atlantic. George VI will not review the brightly-turbaned Lancers that were his father's personal escort in India, but in their place he will have, to do him honour, the scarlet-coated Royal Canadian "Mounties" and colourful Canadian militia units, branches of his own regiments at home.

Britain's Ruling Family has long been familiar to Canadians through their visits and official residences at Rideau Hall. We knew by radio the voices of our last three Kings, but, as precedent at his visit, was King George's broadcast to all his subjects from Winnipeg on May 24th.

How fortunate we are that our King comes to us in understanding and respect and not like the warring generals that were his to knit the bonds of Empire and early predecessors, that he comes not as a warring commander like the British kings of olden times.

Plimsoll Line Still In Service After 60 Years

Painted on Ship's Side to Indicate Loading Level—Important Lifesaver.

Despite numerous innovations in recent years for greater safety at sea one device has continued in service unchanged since its inauguration more than sixty years ago.

This is the Plimsoll Line, painted on the sides of practically all ships for the purpose of indicating to what extent they may be loaded with safety.

The symbol consists of a circle, one vertical line and five horizontal lines. Its compulsory introduction to shipping is regarded as one of the most important life-savers in the history of seafaring. The sign may be seen on every British ship and has been adopted by most countries.

British authorities who assign the compulsory load line marks are Lloyd's Register, the British Corporation and Board of Trade. Initial letters of the assigning authority are shown above a horizontal line through the circle.

The circle, line and letters are painted in white or yellow on a dark ground and in black on light ground. They must be cut into the planking for at least an eighth of an inch in the case of wooden ships, and must be plainly visible.

The maximum depth to which a ship may take on cargo in summer is shown by the line passing through the circle and by another line marked S. The winter load line is indicated by a line marked W. It is one-quarter inch per foot of summer draft lower than S.

A line marked T, indicates the tropical load line and is one-quarter inch per foot of summer draft higher than S. The fresh water load line is one marked F, slightly higher than the tropical. TF marks the tropical fresh water load line. The measurement from S to F is the same as that from T to TF.

Against Coffin Ships

On sailing ships the winter and tropical load lines are unmarked. The maximum load line to which sailing ships may be laden in salt water in winter and in the tropical zone is the centre of the circle.

A timber load line is a special one used only when a ship is carrying a timber deck cargo in compliance with special conditions and regulations. Heavy penalties may be imposed for violation of the international load line limits.

The Plimsoll Line was invented by Samuel Plimsoll, a British politician and social reformer who was born at Bristol in 1824 and died in 1898. His efforts at reform were directed mainly against "coffin ships," or seaworthy and overloaded vessels, often heavily insured by unscrupulous owners who risked the lives of their crews.

Plimsoll entered parliament as a member from Derby in 1868 but failed to have a bill passed for correction of the shipping evil. Disclosures in a book he published in 1872 resulted in appointment of a royal commission to investigate his charges.

Introduction of a government bill followed in 1875 and Plimsoll decided to accept it although he termed it inadequate. The bill was dropped but the country believed it had been stifled by pressure from shipowners. Public agitation forced the government to pass a bill which in the following year was amended in

Club Show Held At Tiverton

The third annual Club Show of the Queen Elizabeth Sewing Club, of the Tiverton school, under the leadership of the Principal, Ena W. Outhouse, was held in the I. O. O. F. Hall, on Tuesday evening of last week. Exhibits, consisting of sewing bags, aprons, embroidery, crocheting, pajamas and dresses, were judged by Miss Winnifred Armstrong, superior of girl's club, and her assistant, Miss Kay McNeil. The prize money, which amounted to $25, was given to the twelve members. First prize was won by Rosanna Gaudet; second, by Joyce Small, and third, was tied between Verna Guier and Frances Thimot.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. T. A. M. Kirk, of Yarmouth. Mr. Kirk, who is Inspector of Schools for this district, gave a very interesting talk on education of today as compared with that of yesterday. The remainder of the evening was spent in playing games, dancing and singing.

Proceeds of the Club Show was added to the fund that is being used to paint the school building.

The supply committee of the Victorian Order of Nurses acknowledges with thanks donations from Mrs. Eber Turnbull and "The Friends' Club."

Mrs. Hugh Morehouse and daughters, Gloria and Margy, and Mrs. E. W. Sypher and little daughter Avis, of Sandy Cove, were in Saint John this week, returning Wednesday.

The editor expresses his sincere thanks to the G. E. Barbour Co. Ltd., of Saint John, for a parcel containing packages of King Cole Tea, King Cole Coffee, Barbour's Peanut Butter and Acadia Baking Soda, sent in appreciation of our efforts in backing up the "Buy Maritime" week a short time ago. We also received a nice box of biscuits from the Brown Holder Co. of Moncton, and the Fred Magee Company, of Port Elgin, writes that they are sending a case of Mephisto Peas. Thanks!

Many persons have been absent from Digby these past few days to take advantage of the opportunities given them of seeing Their Majesties at Saint John and Halifax. Special excursions carried hundreds to Halifax Wednesday night and yesterday morning, and on Monday and Tuesday large numbers crossed the Bay to Saint John on the Princess Helene and smaller boats. Seven hundred and fifty persons are said to have crossed on Tuesday's Princess Helene, which left shortly after one o'clock in order to reach Saint John in time that the excursionists might have ample opportunity of seeing their Gracious Majesties.

EXERCISES AT ST. ANNE'S

Marking the close of a successful year, annual commencement exercises were held in the Saint Anne's College auditorium, Church Point, with F. J. Comeau, President General of "L'Assomption" Society, presiding. The spacious auditorium was taxed to capacity with relatives and friends of the students, thereby evidencing their keen interest in the results of the year's work.

An interesting and varied programme was successfully carried out. The music selections by the college band, which formed a prelude to the conferring of degrees, were distinctively in the highest sense.

Very Rev. J. Comeau, C. J. M., conferred the degrees. F. J. Comeau addressed the graduating class. He also congratulated the prize winners among the undergraduates and expressed the sentiments of all in wishing them a pleasant and restful vacation.

The English valedictory was given by A. Deveau, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Deveau, of Salmon River; and that in French by P. LeBlanc, son of D. LeBlanc, of Little Brook.

E. Ringer, of Caledonia, was a visitor in Digby on Sunday.

Golden Wedding at Victoria Beach

A golden wedding was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John McGrath, Sr., of Victoria Beach, on the evening of June 3. Under gold and silver trimmings the bridegroom waited for his bride, all the while being consoled by Mrs. James Apt. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Ernest McGrath, of Port Wade, and the bride, attractively gowned in a printed silk dress and bridal veil of curly material trimmed with wild cherry blossoms, went to meet her groom. The ring bearer was Mrs. Ira Haynes; the bride's attendants were her two sisters, Mrs. Stephen Ellis and Mrs. Lalia Ellis; Myles Everett performed the ceremony from a T. Eaton Co. catalogue, much to the amusement of the crowd. After the congratulations, a lovely wedding cake was cut by the bride, all this to commemorate a wedding which took place at Annapolis Royal, fifty years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. McGrath had their entire family with them with the exception of their eldest son, Harvey L., who is in London, England. Among those coming from a distance were their daughters, Mrs. Ralph Royce and daughter, of Charlottetown, N. H.; Mr. and Mrs. William Stickney, son and daughter, of West Lynn, Mass.; Mrs. Charles Merrill, of Bangor, Maine; Miss Hazel Hayes, of Middleton, and Albert Hayes, of Port George. The house was filled with friends and relatives and a table was filled with gifts. A purse of money was presented to Mr. and Mrs. McGrath by Stephen Ellis, showing the high esteem in which they are held by the community.

THE ROYAL VISIT ENDS

The visit of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth is over. Their Majesties are now on the high seas on their way back to England—and here's wishing them a pleasant journey. And thus ends what was undoubtedly the most memorable event in all history. Their Majesties must have been touched with the wonderful display of loyalty and affection from their subjects all over Canada, and the friendship shown them in the United States. There was not as far as we could see in following up the press and radio reports, one jarring note in the whole trip. What a wonderful story they will have to tell to the little princesses of their experiences in this great new world! And we echo the words of one of the little princesses: "Will ye na come back again!"

V. O. N. REPORT

The monthly report of Miss Brydon, V. O. N., shows 194 visits were made by the nurse during the month of May; 94 hours spent in school and among the school children, 4 defects were corrected, and 23 pupils examined at the chest clinic. Three baby clinics were held during the month with an average attendance of 13. Forty-three visits were made to pre-school children and infants. Fees collected during the month were $42.

The chest clinic, held May 29 and 30, under the auspices of the Provincial Department of Health was conducted at the Digby General Hospital, by Dr. H. J. S. Robertson, assisted by Miss Anderson, and was attended by 92 persons.

The annual collection of the V. O. N. for membership fees is now being conducted, and so far is meeting with fair success. Canvasers will continue their work next week.

MARRIAGES

Corbin - Milbank
The wedding of Miss Edith Dixson Milbank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Milbank, South Orange, N. J., to Horace Kellogg Corbin, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn Park, of West Orange, took place on June 16th in the Church of the Holy Communion, South Orange. The bride is well known in Digby and Smith's Cove where she is a frequent summer visitor. George Richard K. Lynch, of Digby, who has been visiting Channing Lefebvre, in New York, was a guest at the wedding.

DeLong - Trimmer
The marriage of Miss Rosamond Helen Trimmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Trimmer, Waldeco West, and Lester DeLong, Caledonia, was solemnized by Rev. B. R. Hamilton, at the Parsonage in Deep Brook, on Wednesday evening of last week. The bride, dressed in a gown of white satin, princess style, with matching accessories, was given in marriage by her father. Her attendant was Mrs. Kenneth Apt, dressed in a gown of blue. Mr. Apt supported the groom. Among those present at the ceremony were the groom's mother and brother. Immediately after the service the young couple left by motor. They will reside in Caledonia. Last week a shower was tendered the bride-to-be at her home.

Adams - Weir
The marriage took place on Thursday of last week, at the home of the bride's parents, when Edna Rosiland, daughter of Mr. Mrs. Elmer B. Weir, Smith's Cove, became the bride of Garnet Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Adams, of the same place. The ceremony was performed by Rev. B. R. Hamilton at the Wedding March was played by Miss Isabel Cossitt, cousin of the bride. The bride was given in marriage by her father, and wore a white satin gown, with conventional veil and orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of carnations and sweet peas. The bridesmaids were little Joan Weir, of the bride, and Joyce Adams, sister of the groom, who wore gowns alike in pink organdy and carried nosegays of sweet peas and maidenhair fern. Lily of the Valley formed a beautiful background for an arch of apple blossoms under which the bride and groom stood. The adjoining room was trimmed with flowers of the season. In the dining room, tasteful decorations, a wedding cake, beautifully decorated, was presented to the couple by Horace Smith, of the Digby Bakery. The reception was held immediately after the ceremony. Those who assisted in serving were Mrs. A. D. Ellis, Mrs. Harry Williams and Misses Florence Berry, Barbara Payson, Mary Elizabeth Skae and Jean Adams. The bride and groom were the recipients of many useful and valuable gifts. The gift to the bride was an Avenue dinner set. The bride's gifts to the young ladies assisting at the reception were compact. Later the bride and groom left amid showers of confetti for a motor trip. The bride travelled in a teal blue costume with accessories to match.

DRESSMAKER HAD TO QUIT SEWING

Hands Swollen With Rheumatism

Pity this poor dressmaker! Nineteenth of her work consists of sewing — and she was not able to sew. Rheumatism in her hands was her trouble, and she tried any number of remedies. But nothing helped much — until she came to Kruschen.

"Three-and-a-half years ago," she writes, "I had a violent attack of rheumatic pains. My feet and hands were swollen. The pain was terrible. I was really quite crippled and helpless.

"I tried many remedies without success. Then I started on Kruschen Salts, and after one month, I could stand up again. Then I walked with a cane. In three months, I was quite well again. As I am a dressmaker, you can imagine what it meant to me not to be able to work my sewing machine. What a treat to be able to walk to work, and to be free from pain."

(Mrs.) E. S. The stabbing pains of rheumatism are often caused by needle-pointed crystals of uric acid lodging in the joints. Kruschen brings relief because it helps to dissolve those troubling crystals and to expel them from the system.

Digby-Annapolis District Women's Institute Rally

On Friday of last week over two hundred members and friends of the Women's Institutes of Digby and Annapolis Counties, met in the Academy Hall, Bear River, for their annual Rally Day.

The commodious hall had been decorated with flowers and union jacks, and large tables installed in the rear for the display of Handicraft articles, which was exceptionally fine and large. Added to this was the fine display of garments and fine sewing exhibited by the Garment Club of Oakdene School, arranged by Miss Pearl Campbell, of the Oakdene teaching staff.

Miss MacDougall, superintendent of Nova Scotia Women's Institutes, arrived for the morning session, which was principally devoted to District business, with the exception of a jolly sing-song, and an interesting address by Miss Bateson, representing the Regional Libraries Commission of Nova Scotia.

Mrs. Hermon, of Nictaux, District President, presided at both sessions, with Mrs. Grace Chipman of Tupperville, as District Secretary. A cordial address of welcome was given the visitors by Mrs. L. J. Lovett, Vice-President of the Bear River Institute, Mrs. Longley, of Lawrencetown, responding for the visiting Institutes.

At the Roll Call, names of the new representatives from each Institute for the District and Provincial Executives were announced, the nominees from Bear River were:—For Provincial, Mrs. W. M. Romans; for District, Mrs. F. R. Harris. Meetings of the old and new Executives were held immediately after the close of the morning session, and lunch followed, tea and coffee being provided by the hostess Institute, and Miss MacDougall and Miss Bateson were guests of the Bear River organization for dinner, at the Grand Central Hotel.

The afternoon session opened with the customary sing-song, Mrs. Roop, of Bear River, presiding at the piano, a very interesting address on different phases of Institute work, was delivered by Miss MacDougall, in her characteristic style, which always is an inspiration for greater effort in Institute activities. Other features of the fine programme were the "Health Play" presented by the Smith's Cove Institute, one by the Paradise Institute, a reading by Mrs. Longley, of Lawrencetown; a trio, by Bear River members, under the direction of Mrs. Simons, and a piano duet by Mrs. Roop and Miss Annie Millar.

Tea and cakes were served by the Bear River Institute at the close of the programme. Lovely weather and Bear River scenery at its loveliest, added to the enjoyment of the delegates, to whom the yearly Rally means renewal of fraternal associations and long-standing friendships.

PHILATHEA CLASS

The monthly meeting of the Philathea Class was held at the home of Mrs. Walter Dukeshire, on Thursday evening, June 8th, with some forty-five members and friends in attendance.

The programme, in charge of Mrs. Wilson, consisted of readings, music and an old fashioned spelling bee. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting. Mrs. Hardy Benson, convenor.

H. E. Harris left on Tuesday for Saint John.

Rice - Dukeshire

The Union Church at Bear River, East was the scene of a very pretty wedding, on Thursday evening, June 1st, when Miss Alice Dukeshire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Dukeshire, was united in marriage to Maxwell Rice, of Milford Corner, by Rev. G. D. Brydon, of Bear River. The bride and groom, both of whom were unmarried, stood beneath an arch of evergreen and flowers. The bride entered on the arm of her father, and was dressed in white organdy and carried a bridal bouquet. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Oscar Berry, who also sang a duet with Mrs. David Dukeshire, during the signing of the register. The ushers were Miss Annabelle Dukeshire and Mrs. George McKeown, sisters of the bride. After a reception at the bride's home, the happy couple left by motor for Digby. Mr. and Mrs. Rice will reside at Milford Corner. Previous to her marriage the bride was a student at the University of New Brunswick, where she was the recipient of many lovely gifts.

On Thursday evening, June 8, Miss Lila Perkins, of Bear River East, was delightfully "showered" at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Perkins. The dining room was tastefully decorated in yellow and white. The gifts of linen, glass and china, ware, attested to the high esteem in which the guest of honor is held, and were arranged on the dining table. After the guests were thanked in a pleasing manner, refreshments were served by Mrs. Charles DeLong, the Misses Ola and Vera Sanford and Miss Hazel Perkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd L. Rice spent the week end at Maitland Bridge, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Park Kempton.

Mrs. John Harrow went to Saint John on Monday, to spend a week with her daughter, Gertrude Harrow, R. N.

Rev. I. D. Little, pastor of Weymouth Baptist Church, will be the guest speaker at the Senior B. Y. P. U. this evening (Friday), at 8 o'clock.

On Tuesday morning Mrs. Lottie Roop accompanied Miss Grace Hubley to Digby, where she was the guest of Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Timpany.

Atlee B. Clark, of Montreal, who accompanied his mother, Mrs. W. W. Clark, home, after a six weeks' visit at his home, left last Tuesday to return to his business at Westmount, making the round trip by auto.

The Junior B. Y. P. U. closed its activities for the summer, by having a picnic dinner, games, etc., up Campbell's Brook, with thirty members in attendance, last Saturday, with their leader, Miss Annie Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rice and sons, Donald and Dill, of Seattle, Wash., are now visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Rice, of Lansdowne. This week they are in Halifax, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Rice.

Among the teachers in our adjoining districts for 1939-40 are: Miss Hazel Oickle, at Lansdowne school; Miss Ruth Parker, at Bear River Road; Miss Hazel Potter, at Milford Corner; Miss Hazel Sollows, at Morganville, and Mrs. John Rawling at Greenland.

On Friday evening, June 9, the Bear River Y. P. S. held their closing meeting for the season. It was in the form of a marshmallow and wiener roast, up Pistol's Brook. After the roast, games were played and the young people grouped around the camp fire and sang. Approximately fifty young people attended, and a grand time was had by all.

THE POOR RICH MAN AND RICH POOR MAN

The poor Rich man had lands and Gold,
His barn so full no more would hold,
He loved to boast of fame and wealth,
Of bank account and perfect health.
"Why need I worry?" said he with a grin,
"As long as dollars come rolling in?"

There is our neighbour across the way
Owing me more than he'll ever pay.

I am glad I gave him a helping hand,
His farm will help enlarge my land;
Some call me a miser without a heart
Who took advantage to get my start.

I have done no worse than others do
They all foreclose if notes are due.

I am not to blame for his hard luck,
Nor lack of rain to grow his truck.

They both heard Gabriel blow his horn,
corn;

With all his cattle and weaving wheat
At the Golden Gate his fate to meet.

WHAT WE NEED

A little more kindness and a little less greed,
A little more giving and a little less greed,
A little more smile and a little less frown,
A little less kicking a man when he's down;
A little more "we" and a little less
"I",
A little more laugh and a little less cry,
A little more flowers on the pathway of life,
And fewer on the grave, at the end of the strife.

OBITUARY

Rev. John Stuart Timpany, M. D.

The death of Rev. John Stuart Timpany, M. D., retired medical missionary to India, occurred suddenly at his home, Queen Street, about 8.30 yesterday morning. The late Dr. Timpany, who was born in India, had been in poor health for some time, but was able to be around. Yesterday morning he got up and shaved, then called Mrs. Timpany, complaining he was feeling ill. After resting awhile, he again got up and asked for a cup of tea. While drinking this he collapsed and died before medical help arrived. The late Dr. Timpany was born at Nellore, India, July 22, 1868, the son of Rev. A. V. Timpany, the first Baptist missionary from Canada to Telugu, India. At the age of nine years he came to Canada with his parents, who were returning home on furlough, and on their return to India he remained at Aylmer Ont., where he was educated in the Aylmer schools, and at Woodstock College. After the death of his father in India, he went to Philadelphia, where he was an accountant with the firm of John Wanamaker & Co. While there he led to missionary service in India, and remembering his father's appeals for medical missionaries, he took up the study of medicine, and graduated from the Detroit College of Medicine in 1893. In the same year he was ordained a minister of the Baptist Church at the Woodworth Avenue Baptist Church, Detroit, and in August of that year he married Eleanor Havey, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. B. Havey, of Digby. In September they sailed for India, where the late Dr. Timpany spent forty years of his life as a pioneer medical missionary. Soon after their arrival at Hanamkonda, India, after a period for language study, Dr. Timpany was left in charge of a very large evangelistic field (more than 6,000 square miles), with few Christian workers. Preaching of the word often met with strong opposition. As a doctor, he went about his work, a double ministry, often working in towns and villages in epidemics of smallpox and cholera, and at times threatened with famine. Friendships sprang into being, and in time the missionary and his helpers were gladly heard. In time people began to ask why they had no hospital there, and eventually a fund was started by a Mohammedan gentleman, receiving contributions from all classes of the community. After nine years of work in India, Dr. Timpany was able to open a hospital large enough to accommodate 26 beds, without receiving aid from the foreign missionary society. During his term branch dispensaries were opened by the doctor, two of which are operating to-day and the third is now an independent hospital. In the spring of 1915, after 22 years of work in India, with only one furlough to America, he and his wife were about to return home on leave. A suggestion had been made that he be transferred from Hanamkonda on his return to India, that he might be associated with the opening of the Clough Memorial Hospital in Ongole. Protests from the people of Hanamkonda, from Christians, Mohammedans and Bud-dists, were sent to the Society in America, with the result that Dr. Timpany returned to Hanamkonda. During the world war he was asked to take charge of a government base hospital, but was turned down on account of age, however he was appointed medical examiner, and examined thousands of Indian recruits. At the close of the war he was presented with a badge in recognition of his services by the Viceroy of India. Because of ill health, Mrs. Timpany did not go back with him after their 1915 furlough. Six years ago he retired, and came to reside in Digby, where he was greatly interested in the town's affairs, serving for three years as treasurer of the Digby Children's Aid Society. He was also Past Chaplain of King Solomon Lodge, A. F. & A. M. Funeral services will take place from the Digby Baptist Church, tomorrow afternoon, at 2 o'clock.

HILLSBURN

(Held Over From Last Week)
Lic. G. R. Bell, of Whittemville, N. B. held service in the Baptist church on Sunday afternoon. He is to be the pastor here for the summer months.

Mrs. Eugene B. Coates and family, of Annapolis Royal, spent Sunday at their bungalow here.

Alfred Longmire is painting the church—the ceiling a light brown and the walls buff. Many thanks are due the sewing circle for their help in the matter.

A wedding of much interest to this place took place in Halifax recently when Minnie Sproule was united in marriage to Albert Hoar, of Saint John. The marriage was solemnized in the church residence by Rev. Dr. Arthur Huddleston, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Halifax, on May 18th, at noon. The bride was married in a grey and blue ensemble, and she wore a corsage bouquet of opheelia roses in cerise and orange shades. After a nuptial luncheon at the Nova Scotian Hotel they departed for a short wedding tour. On their return they will reside in Saint John. Mrs. Hoar is well known in this community.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wade visited the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Watson Guest, on Sunday.

Mrs. Irving Longmire visited her parents on Sunday.

Claude Milner, of Parkers Cove, visited his sister, Mrs. Edward Hudson, on Sunday.

Mrs. Lottie Mills has returned from Granville Ferry.

Granville Ferry

(Held Over From Last Week)
Miss Elizabeth Hardwick, student at Mount Allison College, returned last week and is visiting her aunt, the Misses Pickup.

Mrs. A. D. Amherman, who has been spending several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. J. A. Ruffee, has returned to her own home.

Miss H. Laura Hardy, of Port Anne Museum, spent the week end in Saint John.

Mrs. W. H. Weatherspoon has returned from Windsor where she spent the winter months, and has re-opened her home. She was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Joe Currey, and Mr. Currey, the former remaining a few days with her mother before returning home.

Miss Marjorie Wood recently visited her sister, Mrs. Kenneth West, in Coldbrook.

Miss Eleanor Parks, Port Wade, was a recent visitor at the Parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. Furdon, of Newton Highlands, Mass., are visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Longmire.

Miss Gertrude Gilliat entertained at afternoon tea in honor of her sister, Mrs. Ellis, of Sheffield Mills, on Wednesday afternoon of last week.

Mrs. Ernest McGrath, of Port Wade, recently visited her sister, Mrs. K. L. Oliver.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis G. Morgan and daughter, Juanita, have moved to Annapolis Royal.

Miss Cynthia Norris, of Litchfield, was a recent visitor of her cousin, Mrs. Ronald Bond.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Caswell and two children, Hubert and Dale, visited relatives in Yarmouth last week.

MAYFLOWER

(Held Over From Last Week)

Tenders are out for the rebuilding of the school, replacing the one destroyed by fire some time ago. The classes are now being held in the house of John M. Geddy, formerly of this place but now residing in Plympton.

There are thirty pupils enrolled and the teacher, Miss Alzora Soucie, of Belliveau's Cove, has been giving general satisfaction. She has been engaged for next year. The Sewing Club is making good progress and all the members are deeply interested in the work.

W. J. Foley's summer cottage at the bridge is nearing completion and it will be a good resort for the sportsmen of rod and gun. Several fine salmon have already been taken near this bridge and during the hunting season big game is quite plentiful.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Langley spent the week end with the latter's sister, Mrs. Douglas Mailing.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nichols spent Sunday with Mrs. Nichols' sister, Mrs. Douglas Mailing.

Deanna Durbin At the Capitol

What is said to be the most pleasing picture in which Deanna Durbin has ever appeared, Universal's "Three Smart Girls Grow Up", comes to the Capitol Theatre, Monday and Tuesday.

Deanna became a full fledged star with her first picture, "Three Smart Girls." It was followed by "100 Men and a Girl", "Mad About Music" and "That Certain Age." Each picture was hailed by critics as a better one than its predecessor. Now critics and preview audiences are claiming that "Three Smart Girls Grow Up" is the best of the five.

Directed by Henry Koster, who directed "Three Smart Girls" and "100 Men and a Girl", the current offering is a happy remainder of "Three Smart Girls." It presents approximately the same cast—Deanna, Charles Winninger, Nella Walker, Nan Grey, and Ernest Cossart, with the addition of Helen Parrish, Bob Cummings and William Lundigan.

It will present Deanna as a slightly older youngster who tries to straighten out the tangled love affairs of her two sisters, with amusing and amazing results. With this plot it is much more of a comedy than any of the 16-year-old singing star's previous offerings.

In the picture Deanna sings four songs, "Invitation to the Dance," by Weber, with a special vocal arrangement by Charles Henderson; "The Last Rose of Summer," from Flotow's opera, "Martha"; "La Capinera" (The Wren), by Sir Julius Benedict; and "Because," by Edward Tschernacher and Guy D'Hardelot.

GREENLAND

(Held Over From Last Week)
Mrs. Reginald Potter and son, Lawrence, spent Monday with Mrs. Howard Aptt.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Langley spent the week end with the latter's sister, Mrs. Douglas Mailing.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nichols spent Sunday with Mrs. Nichols' sister, Mrs. Douglas Mailing.

Jacques Cartier

This daring navigator won the proud title of "Discoverer of Canada." In 1534 he made his first voyage and landed at Gaspé where he planted a 30 foot cross and claimed this new land for François I of France. The following year he sailed up the river to Stadacona—now Quebec—where he spent the winter of 1535-6, sailing home in the Spring, carrying glowing tales of this new land of great promise.

NEW MARKETS

THE courage and vision of Cartier opened up a new world. In the same spirit of adventure and enterprise, Canadians, assisted by this Century-old Bank, are continually making voyages of discovery in business. ## About This and That

The King is the head of the nation, yet there are some things His Majesty cannot do. Despite his prerogatives, there are, under the Constitution, places he cannot go. The King cannot go into the House of Commons. He cannot lease a house or land—but he can buy it. His name and his birthday is not his own. His given name is Albert, but the government has decided that his name is George. He was born on December 14th, but officially his birthday is June 9th. And in other ways, His Majesty is not precisely what he seems to be.

"Service," the business motto of this age, may be more important than manufacture as far as profits are concerned. The Ford Motor Company reports that in the nine years from 1929 to 1937 inclusive, it lost $15,000,000 on domestic sales of cars, but made a net profit of $70,000,000 on parts and accessories. At the same time an automobile dealer tells of losing money on selling cars, both new and used, but manages to make a net profit by his earnings on service, parts and accessories—all of which might be roughly grouped under the heading of "service." Many another type of business nowadays is probably having the same experience.

The most hazardous age for automobile drivers, according to an analysis recently conducted by an insurance company, is youth—the period before 20. A study of the records of 4,000,000 licensed drivers shows that the percentage of drivers under 20, who are involved in personal injury accidents is nearly 40 per cent above the average for the whole group. In fact, the survey indicates that the automobile driver does not really reach an "age of discretion" until he is 30. The older the driver, according to these figures, the more careful he is; the safety factor rises steadily through the various age groups, without interruption. All of this indicates that licensing boards might do well to consider the age question more carefully than they now do. The old suspicion that a chap in his teens is out of place back of a steering wheel seems to be rather well established.

Things are not going so well in Czecho-Slovakia since the republic was malevolently assimilated by Hitler. Recent reports say it is being looted by the Nazis, not only of food supplies, but "everything of value." This includes "wearing apparel, boots, wool, leather, wood, metal articles of every description, even including park benches, bridge railings, door knobs and other things, not to mention military equipment, which was first on the list." Dr. Jural Slavik, formerly Czecho-Slovak minister to Poland, tells American Czechs that 160,000 carloads of food supplies alone have been shipped from Czecho-Slovakia to Germany, leaving storehouses empty. He estimates the value of this loot—apparently not paid for, but confiscated, as were the Czech government's funds—at far more than a billion dollars of Canadian money. As a result, he says, in case of war it will be the inhabitants of that wrecked republic who will suffer first and most from lack of necessities. Doubtless the knowledge of such looting, among those of Germany's small neighbors who are still free, has much to do with their snuggling up to the big democracies for protection.

David Lloyd George, in The Strand Magazine, says: "Surely the Jews are the most remarkable race that ever dwelt on this earth. When they were a poor people of peasants and shepherds dwelling like conies (to use the comparison of one of their great painters) on a rugged plateau covering ground no more extensive than Wales, but with none of its great mineral wealth and fine harbors, they produced"

AN UNGUARDED FRONTIER

Recently those of our readers who listened to the radio heard a well-presented description of the enthusiastic welcome received by the king and queen at Windsor, Ont. The royal couple were scheduled to spend fifteen minutes in that city but so enthusiastic was the greeting accorded them that they stayed for over half an hour.

Out of this visit comes an interesting story which has great significance when interpreted in the light of what is going on elsewhere in the world—especially along the frontiers of European countries.

Many a time after-dinner orators have spoken on the subject of the undefended 3,000 mile frontier that separates Canada and the United States—an international boundary without a fort or a gun. When preparing for the welcome of the king and queen the City of Windsor discovered that this boast of an unarmed border is more than a speaker's phrase. Windsor needed a small piece of artillery with which to fire a salute to the king on his arrival but there was no such gun in the city. At first the city fathers considered borrowing a gun from the city of Detroit, just across the river, on the other side of the border—but Detroit, just across the river, on one was borrowed from London, Ontario.

This interesting sidelight serves to emphasize the international peace that surrounds the boundary between Canada and the United States—peace almost unimaginable in most places of the world today.

Somebody will say again that here is an object lesson for Europe but apparently Europe is not receptive to object lessons of this nature these days.

Two enemies said it with butter when they fought a duel in Buenos Ayres, Argentina, recently. Juan Carlos Mendez and Alberto Churba wore raincoats as they faced each other in the pátios of an office building, stepped off 10 paces and began to hurl packages of butter. The duel was declared a draw and the long-standing grudge was drowned in vermouth.

No man is so foolish, but may give another good counsel sometimes and no man is so wise, but may easily err, if he will take no other's counsel but his own. But very few men are wise by their own teachings.

DIGBY ACADEMY YEAR BOOK NOW ON SALE

The second edition of "Fundy Light," Digby Academy's year book, is now off the press. The book is an attractive and creditable volume of 48 pages and covers, and has been given a good advertising patronage.

"Fundy Light" was edited this year by Paul Winchester, with Mary Murley as assistant; "Teddy" Walker as business manager, and Doris Franklin, circulation manager. The volume was dedicated to Alfred Boden, former town clerk and secretary of the school board, whose weekly addresses to the high school students on world conditions and other subjects have been highly instructive.

The editors and staff, as well as the high school faculty, are to be congratulated on the splendid 1939 edition of the school year book.

Waited in Vain

Scenes like this one, tragic actual photographs of only two and poignant, were enacted of the many anxious vigils kept over in Birkenhead, England, at fer many hours after all hope the yards of the Cammell Laird had been given up for those who had been taken in the Thetis, now submarine. Thetis, that sank in the mud of Liverpool Bay, taking with it 103 men, but four of whom were able to emerge after tragedy. This is one of the last

GERMANS NOT "HAVE NOTS"

Joseph L. Goebbels, propaganda minister, told a gathering of 15,000 German students in Berlin on Wednesday night of last week that Germany was serving notice on the world that she does not regard its status as a "have not" nation as unchangeable.

"On the contrary," he said, "we are of the opinion that the present order is man-made and what has been created by men can be changed by men. . . . Our destiny is ahead of us."

He assailed intellectuals and their "attenuated" criticism of Nazi daring.

"There are some folks who ask what we would have done if war had come last September or if Chamberlain had not come to Munich," he said. "It is merely necessary to reply that he did come. He did not come for fun. There was no other way for him. We had him driven into such a small narrow corner that, to borrow a phrase from chess, he was checkmated."

The propaganda minister told the students the world situation was "very difficult and Germany faces difficult times."

"If in the seventeenth century there had been a man in Germany capable of uniting the country we would be leading the world, not England," Goebbels said. "Now we have to catch up in a couple of decades on what we failed to do in a couple of centuries."

Brault, (of Montreal). Piano selections were executed by the Misses Etta Deveau and Anna Deveau; duet by Anna and Ruth Deveau.

An address was read to Rev. Father Bourneuf by Miss Angele Geddry, to which the reverend made a suitable response.

What is called the first automobile accident in the world occurred, properly enough, on the streets of Detroit, and still more properly it was Henry Ford himself who was in the accident. Ford, who was then driving the chugging contraption then called "Ford's Folly," couldn't quite get out of the way of a bicycle rider and damaged the bicycle for which he had to pay $1.50—all he could afford at the time!

For treating pigs to the best farmers of New Zealand are growing richer. Fifteen years ago only 5,000 little pigs went to foreign markets. Last year 670,000, valued at $8,670,000, were exported. This year the returns will be much greater. Wellington reports the growth is due to keeping pigs out of the mud and to changing them from one field to another so they always have plenty of grazing.

CROPS ARE BEHIND BUT LOOKING GOOD

Generally, crops in Digby county are somewhat behind what they usually are at this season of the year, although in almost every reports are that they are making good progress. Due to a cold spring farmers were from two weeks to a month behind in their planting.

Growth, however, especially during the past two weeks, has been quite rapid and field crops are at present looking very well. Cherry trees have been out of blossom for some time, and there appears to be an abundance of green fruit on many of the trees; with continued good weather the strawberry crop promises to be very good.

Hay is at least two weeks behind in its growth but recent rains have given it a start and at present the prospects are good. Last year the hay crop was the heaviest for many years but due to the continued wet weather most of it rotted in the fields.

Despite the lateness of the season the farmers appear to be fairly well satisfied with the prospects and are looking forward to a good harvest.

A BOUQUET FOR THE COUNTY WEEKLY

According to a recent story in "Time" Magazine, while daily papers are waning, weekly papers are constantly picking up. Time reports that since 1929 weeklies have gained in circulation and advertising lineage while the daily group has fallen off.

Time says that the radio has cut in on the daily group till they are squeezed hard, both in news and in advertising. On the other hand, Time points out that the field of the weekly has not much to offer the radio—the advertising field is limited and the news that the small community wants the radio can't supply them.

Therefore, then, says Time, the well edited ad newsy weekly paper fills a place in a larger community that no other agency can possibly touch. The news carried by the weekly paper is of no interest to the world at large, but it is of vital interest to the district which it serves; and the good weeklies are serving larger districts being printed at some central points, containing news brought in by a good news gathering source. Interesting, too, to note, was Time's statement that a country editor rarely gets rich, that he works from 60 to 80 hours a week, rarely has time to read a book, and has to be mighty careful what he prints.

Here you see Affleck in cap and gown under the ceremonies. The "Imp" wearing a canine version of the academic apparel, is carrying his master's diploma.

Germany Issues New Regulations on Former Masons.

The German Interior Ministry issued a new regulation on Wednesday of last week making the status of State and Government officials who once were Free Masons, or members of similar organizations, dependent on when they resigned from them and their rank in the organizations.

Intended to simplify former decrees, the new regulation said officials would not suffer disadvantages because of their former membership in Masonic lodges provided they did not hold a higher rank than the third degree.

Officials with higher degrees or who held leading positions within the organization would be treated differently, it was stated, dependent upon whether they resigned before or after Jan. 30, 1933, the day Adolf Hitler became Chancellor.

Free Masonry and similar institutions of international character, including Rotary International, have been outlawed by National Socialist authorities. Wilhelm Frick, Interior Minister, ordered disbanding of Masonic lodges on August 17, 1935.

We need to have an ideal in our minds with which to test all realities. But it is equally true, and less noted, that we need a reality with which to test ideals.

Owing to so many different affairs on last night only seven gathered for the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Trade. In consequence it was adjourned until next Thursday evening, at the same time and place.

The attractive large Hats and the becoming Turbans at the Hat Shoppe are really going over big with everyone. So— for yourself. — Gertrude Oliver.

Port Worth, Texas, citizens take a lot of interest in the city zoo but there was one animal on exhibit there which attracted more attention than any other recently. It was a fox terrier pup. The attendants put him in a big cage all to himself, with no sign to say what he was—and were flooded with questions all day.

"Phonopost," the new method of sending small phonograph records of messages, bits of poetry, singing and other music, as mail, was endorsed by the Universal Postal Congress which met in Buenos Ayres, Argentina, this year. The Argentine delegate pointed out that the new service would be of inestimable benefit to those who could not see or read or write as well as in keeping strong the ties of separated families. The Congress voted against the idea being used commercially.

Sir Edward Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railways, arrived here Friday, accompanied by a party of company officials making the annual tour of inspection of C. P. R. property in the Maritimes. Sir Edward's party included H. J. Humphrey, vice-president, and general manager of Eastern Lines; George Stephen, vice-president of traffic; L. B. Unwin, vice-president of finance; E. P. Flintoff, general counsel; George E. Graham, vice-president and general manager of the Dominion Atlantic; and A. T. Smith, general freight and passenger agent, Halifax.

Hon. J. L. Ilsley, Minister of National Revenue and federal member for this constituency, was a visitor in town on Wednesday.

Mrs. Rod. Hayden and son, Jackie, of Syracuse, N. Y., who have been spending the past few weeks with Mr. and Mrs. James Hayden, left on Sunday for Newfoundland, where she will join her husband.

Mrs. G. R. Willson arrived in Digby Tuesday having motored from Pledras Negras, Mexico, where Mr. Willson is the American consul. Mr. Willson will join her later at Brighton, where they will spend the summer.

A prenuptial shower was tendered Miss Florence Keen last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Syda, by her many friends. She received many beautiful and useful gifts. Refreshments were served and her friends wished her a most happy married life. The wedding will take place tomorrow.

Ross Chisholm, Aylesford, and Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Russell, of Oxford, were visitors to Digby this week attending the Rexall Convention at the Pines. Both Mr. Chisholm and Mr. Russell were at one time, former employees of P. W. Holdsworth's store. Mr. and Mrs. Russell visited Mr. Russell's mother during their stay here.

Martin L. Barnes, of the Canadian Pacific Telegraph staff here, left yesterday for St. Andrews, N. B., where he will be employed on the wire in the Algonquin Hotel in that town. Mr. Barnes returned last week after working on press wires during the royal visits to Frederickton and Saint John, and at Halifax. William Finlay, of Kentville, will relieve Mr. Barnes here.

Lieut. George C. Cossaboom, of the Royal Engineers during the World War, was one of the special guards at Windsor, Ont., June 6, on the occasion of the visit of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth. It is estimated that about 250,000 turned out to greet Their Majesties, a large percentage from Detroit, just across the river. Many will remember Mr. Cossaboom is a former Digby boy, and before going over seas was a member of the Royal Bank of Canada staff.

Maritime Rexall Dealers Convention

In response to a toast to "Our International Guest", proposed by J. J. Kinley, M.P. of Lunenburg, at the closing banquet Tuesday evening of the Maritime Rexall Dealers, who have been in session at the Pines since Monday, Martin L. Daniels, chairman of the United Drug Co., Ltd., Nottingham, England, held Canada and the United States as examples which the rest of the world would do well to follow. He said he was thrilled when he thought of these two great countries, lying side by side, with their three thousand miles of border only fortified by their true friendship toward one another. He also made reference to the splendid spirit of friendship and co-operation which exists between these two great countries and Great Britain. Discussing briefly the situation on the other side of the Atlantic, he remarked "The British Empire is able to take care of itself and you as well." He also referred to a visit he made to Germany a short time ago, when, he said, he found a strong feeling of friendship toward Great Britain among the ordinary citizens of that country, and said, that in his opinion, that feeling of friendship still exists.

Others responding to the same toast were A. C. Bond and Mr. Sneed. The convention was declared one of the most successful in the history of Rexall conventions in the Maritimes, with more than one hundred registered from all sections of the three provinces by the sea, and the eastern portion of the province of Quebec. Sessions were presided over by the President, J. R. Kennedy, and the delegates were welcomed to the town at the opening of the convention Monday morning by S. S. Aymar, Mayor of Digby.

At the morning session, Monday, after opening ceremonies, a sound and motion picture "Dear Partners" on the life of L. K. Leggett, founder of the Rexall chain, was shown, followed by addresses by Professor Geo. A. Evans, chief chemist and chairman of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Company, who discussed the chemical side of vitamins. He was followed by an address by Professor F. R. Lorrain, of Toronto, consultant director of organic chemistry, whose discussion dealt with the organic side of vitamins. Charlie Peacock gave a talk on store planning and selling.

The men's golf tournament took place on the Pines Course during the afternoon, while the ladies were entertained at bridge and afternoon tea in the lounge. Tuesday's sessions were opened at 9 a.m. by J. R. Kennedy, who showed an instructive sound film "The Last Three Feet" which dealt with problems of merchandising. Martin L. Daniels, of Nottingham, England, who, with Mrs. Daniels, arrived Monday morning, addressed the meeting. Mr. Daniels is chairman of the Board of Directors of the United Drug Co., Ltd., Nottingham. Other speakers at this session were Becher-R. Gale, sales manager, who discussed store planning and displays;

Favorably Impressed With Digby

During the week we have had the pleasure of chatting with several of the delegates who attended the Rexall Convention during the first part of the week, and those attending the Electrical Convention, now in session, and all have been very favorably impressed with our town and the convention facilities found here. One man remarked it was a pleasure to hold a convention here, not only because of the beautiful Pines Hotel and the town, but, because at so many of their conventions the delegates have been scattered about in many hotels, and frequently it was necessary to hire a hall for meetings. "At Digby", he said "we are all together under one roof."

The Pines Advertises Digby

The C. P. R. has given Digby one of the most effective, as well as the most expensive, single pieces of free advertising it has received in a long time by taking an entire page—the inside back cover of Liberty Magazine, for June 2. A large photograph of The Pines by Paul Yates appears at the top, and the rest of the page is filled by a well written description of our summer attractions, delightful climate, magnificent Basin, and of course The Pines is depicted for what it really is, viz., one of the best equipped, most beautifully situated and most admirably conducted summer hotels in Canada.

This is doubtless the first advertisement Digby ever received occupying such a prominent place in such a widely-read magazine.

Fire Damaged Hotel Pumping Plant

The pumping plant of the Pines Hotel was badly damaged by fire Wednesday afternoon which is thought to have originated as a result of line trouble which developed on the power lines outside of Digby late that morning, which caused interruptions in the service all the noon hour, causing an uneven and uncertain load to be thrown on the motors. The alarm came in shortly after the noon hour.

Fred Crowhurst, manager of the Cosmetic Department; William E. Irwin, of the sales promotion and advertising department, delivered a talk, illustrated with natural color photographs, on "How to Improve Your Rexall Store." Speakers in the afternoon were A. C. Bond, director of General Merchandising, United Drug Company, Boston; and Eldon H. Waldruff, president of the L. K. Leggett Co., Ltd. Ladies attending the convention, held their golf tournament on the 18 hole Pines Course, Tuesday morning. In the afternoon they were entertained by boat trips on the Annapolis Basin.

OBITUARY

Irene Mildred Stevens
The death of Irene Mildred Stevens, age 3 years and 8 months, occurred at Digby, on Friday last, after a brief illness. She was a daughter of Mrs. Stevens and the late Walter Stevens, of Digby. Funeral services were conducted Sunday, with Rev. A. G. Robertson, pastor of the Digby Baptist Church, officiating. Interment was in Fairview Cemetery, Digby.

Fears are entertained of a hay shortage this year. To partly meet the situation Kenneth Cox, Provincial Agronomist, recommends, where possible, top dressing of hay lands with nitrogenous fertilizer to produce a bigger crop and to promote growth of the after-crop, the growing of an extra area of turnips, either swede or fall turnips; the occasional growing of an extra field of oats for fodder on land that does not require much cultivation (he would not recommend plowing up sod for this purpose); the occasional top dressing of pasture land with nitrogenous fertilizer to promote extra growth of grass that will put cattle in better condition.

A MESSAGE TO PARENTS

ABOUT THEIR CHILDREN

No child with defective vision has a proper chance in the battle of life. A scientific examination of children's eyes, such as we make, is a sure way to determine whether they have normal vision.

Children who require glasses should have the benefit of the very newest scientific development—CORRECTAL Lenses. They give clear, undistorted vision over the entire surface of the lens so that there is accurate vision even at the very distance.

Fine Vessel Launched at a Meteghan Shipyard.

The motor vessel Mont Joli was launched at the yard of the Meteghan Shipbuilding Company, on Thursday last week in the presence of several hundred spectators. She is to be used in the passenger service out of Mont Joli, Quebec. The craft, which is 130 feet long, was christened by Miss Florence Deveau, daughter of John Deveau, manager of the Shipbuilding Company, who broke the traditional bottle on the prow of the vessel as she slid down the ways. The owner of the vessel is Dr. B. LePage, of Mont Joli, P. Q. The officers who took charge of her here are Capt. A. Tremblay, master; L. Levesque, chief officer; M. Bouchard, chief engineer; M. Paquet, chief steward.

The company have another vessel on order for the Missionary Fathers, to carry supplies to their various mission stations in Quebec and Labrador.

DOUCETTEVILLE

A white frost slightly damaged the vegetable gardens on Sunday morning. In some gardens the beans and the squash were quite blackened.

COMBAT RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is often caused by uric acid in the blood. This blood impurity should be extracted by the kidneys. If kidneys fail, and excess uric acid remains, it irritates the muscles and joints causing excruciating pain. Plan to help prevent rheumatism by keeping your kidneys in good condition. Take regularly Dodd's Kidney Pills—for half a century the favorite kidney remedy.

Old Days Recalled in Birthday Anniversary.

Mrs. Remi Thibault, of Briar Lake, celebrated the 84th anniversary of her birth, on Thursday, June 15th. She was born at Meteghan River, on or about the premises where the Clare Creamery now stands, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Anselme Thibault. When she was about 12 years of age her family left their extensive farm at Meteghan River, and with her two uncles—Charles and Gaston Thibault—they came through the wilderness of the back woods and founded a new home and farm in the primeval forests of Briar Lake, of which village they were the first settlers. On August 15th, 1873, she married Remi Thibault, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Cyrille B. Thibault, of Hectanooga. The marriage was performed by the late Rev. Father James Daly at Meteghan. The bride was Miss Julie Thibault, sister of the groom, who afterwards married John Mark Deveau, of Salmon River, and who are now both dead. The groomsmen were John Thibault, brother of the groom. Remi Thibault, her husband, died Oct. 17, 1930. Mrs. Thibault has now eight children living, Ernest and Edward, of Hectanooga; Vincent and Eddie, at home, (with whom she lives); Germaine, of St. Alphonse de Clare; Alphonse, of Kemptonville; Sadie, (Mrs. Charles Gaudet), of Corberrie; and Mrs. Celina Ward, of Digby. She is also grandmother of thirty children and great grandmother of twenty-five. Despite her advanced age she still attends to her household duties. On the evening of the day a surprise party was tendered her by some of her children and immediate friends, among those present being Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thibault, Miss Lena Thibault, Briar Lake; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Thibault, Miss Ariel Thibault, Mrs. Alice Deveau, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrid Corporon; Miss Aimee Comeau, J. A. Deveau and C. L. Deveau. She was presented with many beautiful and useful gifts.

HECTANOOGA

Those from here who went to Halifax at the visit of the king and queen, were the Misses Seleste, Estelle and Adele Chandler; Mary and Ruth Connick; Elsie Charles, Odessa Corporon, Paulette Mazier; Mrs. Celine Trefry, and N. C. Boudreau.

Miss Pauline Comeau, of Meteghan, spent the week end with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent S. Deveau.

Henry Mazier returned Saturday from a week's visit to relatives in Berwick, Maine.

Miss Olive Deveau arrived Saturday from Baltimore, Md., where she had spent the winter. She was met at the boat in Yarmouth by her mother, Mrs. Elisee Deveau, and George Chandler.

Miss Eva Babin, of Mavillette, spent the week end with friends here.

Visitors at Jos. B. Deveau's on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Emin, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Emin and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Noah, of Yarmouth. Ruth Connick, student at the Sacred Heart Academy, Meteghan, has returned home.

Mrs. Margaret Connick left Saturday for an extended visit to the United States.

J. J. Thibault, station agent at Brooklyn, Hants County, and Mrs. Thibault, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Thibault, of Briar Lake.

Mrs. Celine Trefry and two boys, Donald and Victor, returned to Yarmouth on Saturday, after spending a few days visiting relatives here.

METEGHAN

The boys from here who were attending St. Ann's College, at Church Point—Rogers Comeau, Alfred J. Deveau and Gilbert Gaudet—are home for their summer vacations.

Mr. and Mrs. Jules A. Robichaud came from Boston on Saturday to visit relatives and friends.

On Sunday afternoon a baseball game took place between the Little Brook team and the Meteghan Stella Maris team. Little Brook won by a score of 8 to 1. Pitchers: D. McLaughlin, Stella Maris, and T. Gaudet, Little Brook; Catchers: A. Comeau, Stella Maris, and E. Douat, Little Brook.

On Thursday last week the school children of Meteghan Centre spent the day at Maxwelton. The officers of the Home and School Association provided for all and helped the teaching Sisters Colombiere and St. Therese de Lieveux. Among the guests were Very Rev. Father Bourneuf and Rev. Father Comeau; Hon. J. L. P. Robichaud and Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Melanson, of Yarmouth. Capt. J. O'Hearn, Chief Engineer N. Pothier, of Surret's Island, officers R. Goulet, Moosonee, Ont., and W. J. LeClair, Roxton Falls, P. Q., and Rev. F. Dutilly, the owner of the new missionary boat now under construction here, were registered at the Royal last week. Others registered there were G. Jobidon, Quebec; Dr. B. LePage, J. LePage, Mont Joli, P. Q.; Mrs. E. H. Gower, Westport; L. E. Allen, Inspector of Weights and Measures, Yarmouth.

Rev. Sister Francisca, of Church Point, and Rev. Sister Virginie, superior of the Sacred Heart Convent, visited Mrs. A. F. Haché on Sunday.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

TRICK PICTURES—I

"Trick pictures" you say; "oh, I can't take those. Mine is just an ordinary camera."

There you're wrong. Splendid trick snapshots can be taken with any camera—whether it's a simple, inexpensive box camera or one of the finest cameras made.

Consider the snapshot above. It looks like the sort of thing that demands a fast "action" camera and lots of picture luck. But don't be fooled. The picture was posed. The horse was stuffed, and hung on a peg. And the camera used was a simple amateur type such as thousands of us possess.

Probably you don't have a stuffed horse. But if your son has a bicycle or "scooter" you can picture a spill just as realistic as this one. Simply rig up the child's vehicle to a tree, showing it in a cockeyed, off-the-ground position—see that the supports are concealed. Let your subject pose as if he had just toppled off—and snap the picture. Photo tricks with string or thread are fun. Try a "magic golf club" shot. Just use light-weight thread, and suspend one of your clubs from a tree branch, in proper striking position. Hang a ball a few inches in front of the club head. Now, have a friend pose as if hypnotizing the club into action—and shoot. If you use thread which is about the same color and tone as the background, it will not show.

Thread also can be used for trick shots indoors. Thus, you can show your wife "hypnotizing" a vase of flowers right off the table—or beckoning her sewing basket to her through the air. Just use dark thread to suspend the objects, and shade your photo lights so the thread is not illuminated.

Try these tricks now—and we'll tell you of some others just as easy, next week.

KING'S SCOUTS HONORED AT KING'S VISIT

Seven of the ten Scouts of the First Bear River Troop, who journeyed to Halifax on Thursday of last week, to see the King and Queen, were King's Scouts. These were: Watson Peck, Roscoe Cress, Everett McCormick, Johnson Harris, Philip Rice, Charlie Jefferson and Arthur Greene.

All of the Scouts were detailed for marching and for street duty, but all of the King's Scouts were especially selected as a Guard of Honor, and appeared in the front rank to line the walk as the King and Queen entered the Province Building and the City Hall. The honor of carrying the Union Jack and the Patrol Standard fell to Howard McCormick and Lester Fleet.

The Scouts received a wonderful thrill during the numerous occasions on which they occupied close positions to their Sovereigns and took additional pride in the fact that the King is a Scout and has shown especial interest in all appearances of Scouts during their recent Canadian and American tour.

The party made the trip by train, under the direction of Assistant Scoutmaster, Eldon Banks, and at Halifax they were quartered at the commodious rooms of the Immigration Building. Scouts jamboree in Halifax, several years ago, will recall with pleasure the associations connected with their quarters in the Immigration Building.

"SHOWER" TENDERED

On Saturday evening, June 17, friends and neighbors met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Copeland to "shower" their daughter, Ellen, who is to be one of the principals in a pleasing event in the near future.

After a social hour, all repaired to the dining room, the table of which was piled high with parcels of various shapes and sizes. These Ellen opened and found gifts useful and ornamental, including a bride's cake. Refreshments were served by the young friends. Mrs. W. P. Brinton, aunt of Miss Copeland, poured, and her grandmother, Mrs. T. Copeland, was among the guests.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Colin Hirtle

On Sunday last, Mrs. Colin Hirtle died at her home here, after an illness of several weeks, cared for by her daughter Catherine; another daughter, Mrs. Fred Carey, came home from Dartmouth. Mrs. Hirtle was highly respected in the community, and a member of the Baptist church. She is survived by two daughters and four sons, her husband having predeceased her eight months ago. The funeral service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. G. D. Brydon, on Tuesday afternoon, with interment in Mt. Hope cemetery. The many beautiful floral tributes bore silent tribute to the esteem in which she was held by neighbors and friends.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH VISITED BY LAYMEN

On Sunday morning St. John's Church was visited by a group of the Laymen's Association of the Cathedral of Halifax, about forty members, of which made courtesy visits to Bear River, Round Hill and Granville Centre. Mr. Jones and Mrs. Creighton gave addresses on "What the Laymen's Association Means to the Church" and "What the Church Means to the Average Laymen." Several of the gentlemen were accompanied by their wives.

FAREWELL PARTY

On Friday evening last, Mr. and Mrs. James D. Hubley entertained at dinner and bridge at the Grand Central Hotel, as a farewell to their friends, before removing to reside in Bridgewater. Thirty covers were laid at a decorated table in the dining room, and at the close of the dinner, Dr. Lovett, on behalf of the guests, presented the host and hostess with a very beautiful silver platter as a friendship memento of their seven years residence in Bear River. After coffee served in the ladies' lounge, bridge was played at seven tables, and the prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. J. E. White, Miss Blanche Purdy and James C. Brown.

Mrs. K. W. Fraser, of Grand Manan, is spending a few weeks in town, visiting her mother, Mrs. John Berry, and her sister, Mrs. Lillian Hubley.

Carroll E. Clarke, of Aylesford, formerly of Bear River, has been engaged as Principal of Port Maitland school, Yarmouth Co., for the year 1939-40.

The St. John's Guild met on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Vernon Harris, and arrangements were made for the annual Garden Party to be held the second Wednesday in July.

PAINFUL TO BEND A JOINT

Hospital Case of Rheumatism

The value of perseverance with Kruschen, in the treatment of some cases of rheumatism, is proved by this man's experience. He says:—

"I was abroad for over seven years. When I returned I began to suffer from rheumatic pains—particularly in the feet and arms, and I was eventually taken into hospital, unable to move without groaning with pain. When I left the hospital after two months, I was somewhat better. I was recommended to take Kruschen Salts, have taken them continuously, and until now I am entirely free from pains. I would not be without my Kruschen Salts for anything."—M. B.

Two of the salts in Kruschen are effectual solvents of uric acid the excess of which is decidedly injurious. They swiftly dull the sharp edges of the painful crystals—the cause of pain and stiffness—and convert them into a harmless solution, which is then expelled through the natural channels.

"UNCLE ELMER" AND HIS SONG CIRCLE

"Uncle Elmer" and his song circle, from W. E. I. Boston, presented a special programme of Gospel hymns, on Monday evening, June 19th, at the United Church of Canada, Bear River. The group was made up of twenty-five consecrated singers. The church was packed, and all chairs for seating space was used. Old favourite Gospel hymns in solo duet, trio, and quartette were rendered.

"Uncle Elmer" and his song circle are doing a splendid work not only over the radio, but with the sick and shut-ins. The circle were all entertained at the homes of the ladies of the United Church. Wishing them God speed on their tour and looking forward to another year when they can come again.

INSTITUTE LIBRARY CLOSING FOR THE SUMMER

On Saturday next, all books in circulation must be returned to the library, as no books will be issued for the next two months.

Miss Grace Hubley was accompanied by Mrs. Lottie Roop on Wednesday, to Digby, where she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Armstrong.

Mrs. P. Burrage, Mrs. O. Rice, Mrs. H. E. Harris are attending the graduation exercises of Grade XII at Annapolis Royal, this afternoon. Miss Jean Burrage being a member of the class.

SALLY'S SALLES

HILLSBURN

Mrs. B. C. Clarke and Miss Hazel Purdy spent Monday at Annapolis Royal.

An automobile used by Lenin, the Russian leader, in 1928, has been found in Kerch, the Crimea, by the Lenin Central Museum, in Moscow. Kept after Lenin's death in the garage of the Council of People's Commissars, the car, a Rolls Royce, was later sent to the Crimea, where all traces of it were lost. After several years' search the museum found it by chance in the possession of the Union of Workers of the Fishing Industry. The car will be exhibited at the branch museum in Gorki, where Lenin died.

New Meteghan Built Boat Attracts Attention

A fine specimen of a boat has been attracting much attention on the Yarmouth waterfront. It is a 45-footer built by Elizee G. Gaudet, at Meteghan, and named Mawoma II, being of 18.22 net tons, for Capt. Louis LeBlanc, of Yarmouth, who just lately disposed of his other boat, Mawoma, to Wm. Foster, of Tusket. The new craft is the last word in construction and ruggedness and is a credit to the builder. Having a width of 12 feet, a depth of 5 feet, the boat is powered with two car engines, a Studebaker and Buick, and on the trial trip to Yarmouth averaged 10 miles an hour. Native woods are used in the construction of the craft throughout and the planking is of 1 1/4 inch spruce with 1 3/4 ins. by 4 ins. hachmatak timbers and the fore-castle deck is of pine. Although only four bunks are in the fore-castle now, two more will be built later and a crew of five men will be carried. Capt. LeBlanc will be skipper and the other members of the crew are Bob Firth, Joe Saulsbury, Freeman Titus and Oscar VanTassel.

Henry Ford Buys

Weymouth Built Ship

Henry Ford has bought the largest sailing vessel on the Great Lakes, the J. T. Wing, a 140-foot gaffrigged vessel, and will use her as a training ship for young men interested in sailing. The J. T. Wing was built in 1919, at Weymouth, and is of 373 net tons. She will be sailed this summer probably by the Sea Scouts.

Electricians From All Over Canada in Convention at Pines Hotel

Two hundred and sixty-five delegates have registered at the Pines for the 49th annual convention of the Canadian Electrical Association, which opened their sessions on Wednesday, and will remain until noon tomorrow. They are from practically every section of the Dominion, from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The membership of the association is in the vicinity of 800, composed of privately owned electrical utilities, manufacturers of electrical appliances and equipment, and their employees. The opening session was at 2.30 Wednesday afternoon, when reports from the secretary, the treasurer, and the address of the president were heard. The president, M. C. Gilman, of Winnipeg, in his report, stated that during the year he had signed six Canadian Electrical Recusation Medal awards for successful recusation from electrical shock. He also commented briefly on the state of the electrical utility business in Canada, making comparisons with previous years. At the end of 1938 there was approximately one billion five hundred million dollars of capital invested in electrical utilities, which represented an increase of 56 per cent over ten years ago. This investment represented 7,430,000 hp. of installed generating capacity, which was an increase of 60 per cent over the same period of time. This generating capacity generated approximately twenty-six billion kw. hrs. during 1938, or an increase of 59 per cent over ten years ago.

He pointed out, however, that where during the past decade capital investments, capacity and output had increased approximately annual revenue from the sale of electricity had increased but 20 per cent, and asked how many other commodities there were available today at prices averaging 20 per cent below those of ten years ago.

He emphasized as an accomplishment of the industry the low average price at which the Canadian resident consumer buys electrical service in comparison with prices in the United States. He quoted figures of the Dominion

Bureau of Statistics which showed the average price delivered for residential electrical users in Canada as 1.95 cents per kw. hr. whereas for the United States, according to figures compiled by the Edison Electrical Institute, the corresponding price was 4.23 cents for 1938. He further pointed out the annual average use of electricity by residents in Canada was more than 50 per cent above that in the United States: 1338 kw. hrs. compared with 853 kw. hrs.

B. C. Fairchild, secretary, in his report, stressed a number of technical matters regarding the electrical code, standardization of apparatus and equipment, employee training, committee reports and radio interference, and other matters which will be taken up during the convention.

Other speakers on Wednesday were B. G. Ballard, of the National Research Council, Ottawa; J. S. Keenan, manager of the Appliance and Merchandising department, and H. H. Rimmer, of the Advertising department.

Canadian Pacific Hotel Chefs Arrange to Cook Royal Meals

The combined life-time experience of four chefs who have worked in famous hotels and restaurants all over the world will go into the preparation of meals which will be served Their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth during their visits to three of the Canadian Pacific Railway hotels, the Chateau Frontenac at Quebec City, Banff Springs Hotel in the Canadian Rockies, and Empress Hotel at Victoria, B.C.

On the day of their arrival from England, May 15, Their Majesties will be guests at a state luncheon at noon and a state dinner at night in the Chateau Frontenac at Quebec City. Chief Chef Louis Balthera, who has cooked for two former British Kings, and other world-famous figures will be in charge of both functions, assisted by Chef Raymond Charles Emil Ferry, European culinary expert and chef of the famous summer resort, Algonquin Hotel, St. Andrews-by-the-Sea. Maitre d'Hotel Harry Drewery, who has had world wide experience will supervise the banquet hall arrangements.

At Banff Their Majesties will enjoy their only real holiday of the trip and the cooking of Chief Philippe Vignal, formerly of Paris, London, New York, Montreal, Italy and China, assisted by Chef Ferry. Their Majesties will be at Banff for dinner May 26, three meals May 27, and breakfast May 28.

The Empress Hotel at Victoria, B.C., farthest west of the Canadian Pacific trans-Canada chain, will be the scene of a state dinner in honor of Their Majesties, May 30, for which Chief Chef Caspar Andereg, will display all the cooking artistry he gained in his native Switzerland and England before joining the Canadian Pacific in 1912. Here, too, Chef Ferry of Quebec will assist. From left to right are Chefs Balthera, Ferry, Andereg, Vignal with Maitre d'Hotel Drewery in circle.

"ABOUT THIS AND THAT"—Continued (From First Page)

the most sublime literature that ever issued from the pen of man. When they were a despised province in a great Empire so insignificant that the Roman historian of the period did not deem them worthy of passing mention, they founded a religion which finally conquered their conquerors and is today the accepted faith of the most powerful nations on earth. Whether you like them or not, no one can deny the fact that they possess some intrinsic quality or qualities which distinguish them from most if not all the races with whom they have in the course of their long history been brought into contact. The very fact of their survival as a separate race under the adversities and tribulations through which they have passed, demonstrates their inherent vitality and indomitable spirit. . . . Those who accuse them of disloyalty to the countries where they happen to reside conveniently ignore the fact that when their aid was sought they have invariably wrought and fought bravely for the lands which accorded them just treatment. The French Revolution conferred equal rights upon the Jews; and Napoleon in the famous Sanhedrin he convoked at Paris in 1807, confirmed the revolutionary decree in this respect. The result was that no Frenchman fought more gallantly for the tricolor than the emancipated Jews of France. For generations they have enjoyed the full rights of citizenship in the British Empire, and they have in every crisis of our fate requited this treatment by a loyalty and patriotism which never shone out more conspicuously than during the World War. The most brilliant and successful general in the British Army during the Great War was an Australian Jew—General Monah. (And Lloyd George might well have added that one of the most successful prime ministers that ever conducted the affairs of the British Empire was a Jew—Benjamin Disraeli.—Editor Courier).

Shirley Temple in Technicolor at the Capitol.

In answer to thousands of requests from her fans Darryl F. Zanuck presents Shirley Temple in Technicolor in "The Little Princess," 20th Century-Fox's screen his. Gene Markey was associate producer.

Set in one of the most colorful periods of English history, when Queen Victoria's reign was drawing to a close, the beloved Frances Hodgson Burnett story casts Shirley as what the dimpled star herself describes as a "backwards Cinderella."

When her devoted and wealthy father, an officer in the Grenadiers, goes off to fight in the Boer War, he leaves the happy child at Miss Minchin's Exclusive School for Girls. Later, when he is reported dead—a bankrupt—the cruel Miss Minchin takes away all of Shirley's pretty clothes and turns her into a pathetic little slavey.

TAKE a look at the unequalled sales record of the new 1939 Chevrolet—then take a look at the unequalled list of Chevrolet quality features shown at the right . . . There's a direct connection between the two!

Chevrolet is leading all other makes of cars in sales, because it's the only car that gives you so much for your money—bringing you all these modern features at such low cost! Such great value brings great volume; great volume brings still greater value; and thus Chevrolet keeps on piling up its value leadership over all other cars in the field, year after year.

You want the car that out-styles, out-accelerates and out-climbs all others in its price range; you want the car that is first in sales, first in value; you want a new 1939 Chevrolet! Better see it and drive it—today!

About This and That

Commenting on the meeting between the King and Queen and the Dionne quintuplets: dwelling on the miracle that occurred on a May morning in a lonely Ontario farmhouse a few years ago, the New York Times says: "What shall the rest of us think and say? Perhaps that these five radiant little girls ought to stand as representatives of all children, and the rights of all children, on this wicked and troubled earth; that they ought to make us more intolerant of all preventable disease, preventable poverty and avoidable infringements upon the health and happiness of children everywhere; above all, that they ought to make us more determinedly intolerant than before of the supreme crime against childhood—the crime of war. As they have been protected from the savagery of the world so should all children be."

It is always refreshing to find a successful man who takes no credit for his success and doesn't brag about being self-made. Such a man was Richard C. Cabot, professor of social ethics at Harvard, who died recently. His will, published the other day, begins in this fashion: "I, Richard C. Cabot, realizing that God has allowed me a life of almost unbroken happiness upon this earth, and that this happiness has been due in no way to any merit of mine, but has been permitted me in spite of grievous sins and shortcomings, do now make this last will and testament." Such humility is very rare nowadays. Any man who can honestly make a statement like that must have lived a better life than he himself was aware of. The name, too, challenges attention. There is the ribald old Bostonian rhyme telling how "the Lowells speak only to Cabots, and the Cabots speak only to God." In the case of this Cabot there must have been some divine conversation, although Richard C. himself wouldn't have been exclusive about it.

One of the things surprising Canadian visitors in Germany is the censorship on books, especially the Bible. That Book of Books has been placed under a ban which, though not complete, is very effective. Bookshops are not allowed to keep it in stock, though they may order it for a customer if he insists. Presumably a record is kept of people ordering Bibles. A very few "religious book stores" are allowed to sell them. No clear explanations are given for this procedure, but its implications seem clear enough. The Bible is especially obnoxious to the Nazis because of its "non-Aryan" origin. The Christian church, too, is now under attack in Germany, with the persecutions first affecting the Catholics and soon to be extended to the Protestants. "The anti-Christian tyranny is goose-stepping steadily toward its pagan goal," says a critic. Hitler, however, may not regard his policy as anti-religious. He seems to be trying to substitute for Judaism and Christianity a religion of his own. Nazism aims to regiment the German soul along with German life and culture in general.

The customs tariff rates in Cuba applicable to Canadian fish until April, 1940, are those of the minimum tariff plus a surcharge of 25 per cent of the duty. The only fish excepted from this ruling are the types included in the term "bacalao," which are certain types of the codfish family and pollock. These types at present, and until October 2, 1939, are dutiable at minimum tariff rates without any surcharge.—Commercial Intelligence Journal.

One of the "outstanding statesmen of Europe," it appears, has told Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler that all the present trouble in the world was being caused by 1200 or 1500 men. And we have been thinking all along that three men in Germany, one in Russia, one in Italy and one or two in Japan, were all that there were causing trouble.

Christie was 16, and an ensign in the Royal Navy at the time of the mutiny. His uncle, the army list, leaves C. J. Palm, a resident of British Columbia, the only survivor of the dead hero, leaving a Canadian the sole survivor of the Indian Mutiny.

Important Indian Discoveries Made in Ontario

Added to the list of discoveries, be those of Huron Indians, and of Indian relics in Canada can be two made recently in Ontario. FIGHT two young ladies scrape one of a minor nature of skeletons, and another that has created much interest in a Huron village. Edna Assiz holds aloft a skull at the LEFT, part of the discovery of seven skeletons, said to be those of Huron Indians, and some coins near Trenton. At the village, strategically located upon a hill, enjoyed prosperity before the coming of the explorers. Professor T. F. McIlwraith, of the department of anthropology at the University of Toronto, and Dr. Philo Nash, associate keeper of the Royal Ontario museum, are examining the ruins.

Graduation Exercises of Digby High School

A crowded house filled the Community Hall for the annual graduation exercises of the Digby Academy, on Thursday evening of last week, when the class took their places on the platform of the auditorium to music played by Mrs. Harold A. Nichols, alongside the Mayor, members of the School Board, and the guest speaker. Miss Annie Franklin, who brought greetings from the graduates, lass to the audience, was presented by P. W. Holdsworth, chairman of the Digby Board of School Commissioners. Mr. Holdsworth in his remarks told of the advances that had been made by the Academy, which, last year, had the largest registration in its history. He made special references to the new Manual Training and Domestic Science Departments, which, he said, were added to train the hands as well as the minds.

Miss Mary Murley presented her well prepared Valetudinary, and for the first time in the history of the school, was presented with a prize awarded to the Valetudinary—a year's subscription to the "Readers Digest," awarded by the publishers.

The guest speaker for the occasion was Rev. E. M. Caldwell, rector of Trinity Church, whose theme was "That one cannot judge a pupil from the marks on his papers."

Miss Helen Gerard was awarded a scholarship from Mount Allison University, Sackville, N. B. The Mayor's prize of $5.00 cash for highest standing in English for a period of three years, was awarded to Agatha Melanson.

The class prophesy was read by Miss Dorothy Rice, and the class will by Miss Muriel Small. F. C. Purdy, Principal of the Digby Academy, gave an account of his stewardship during the past year, during which the Digby High became an accredited school.

His Worship, the Mayor, presented cash prizes to Mary Murley, Dorothy Rice, Agatha Melanson, Helen Gerard, Mary Purdy, Rena Height and Georgina Abbott. Literary "D's" were awarded to Harold Morehouse, editor of the 1938 (first) edition of "Fundy Light", the Digby Academy's year book; to Paul Winchester, 1939 editor, and to Mary Murley, who won 23 points for her contributions (20 points are required for the award.)

The Grade XII graduating class was as follows:—Mary Murley, Annie Franklin, Dorothy Rice, Marjorie Porter, Virginia Turnbull, Muriel Small, David Clarkson, Charles Dakin and Irene Smith.

Receiving Grade XI diplomas were:—Agatha Melanson, Marjorie Purdy, Frank Wilson, Albert Colp, Rena Height, Jean Weir, Marie Eisner, Eileen Melanson, Paul Winchester, Gwendolyn Abramson, Marion Burnham, Betty Knowlton, Ena Robinson and Georgina Abbott.

A vocal solo was rendered by Mrs. Reginald Weir during intermission.

The Valetudinary
Mr. Chairman, Members of the School Board, Citizens of Digby, Members of the Faculty, The Junior Class, Classmates, and Friends:

A tonight marks the beginning of a new chapter in the lives of the graduate students. We are, tonight, putting aside the days of childhood and girl and boy hood. We are reaching forth to the future, and we are ready to begin our way in life. It is not without regret that we take this step, for the memories of school days come rushing back and we sigh to think that we are finished. Yet, as we leave in our senior year, we face a challenge—the challenge of life. We should not wish to remain at school forever; that would be a block to young ambition. So we go out upon this night, feeling that we have done our best, and thanking those who have made this evening possible and who have given us a background that will fit us to join with the ever-increasing band of good citizens.

To the members of the School Board we can say only "Thank you!" hoping that those words will express our appreciation of your kindly interest in the Senior Class and your loyal support to the Digby Academy. The Academy is an institution that will always need your support, and we hope that you will never fail it as we shall never fail to appreciate your services.

Citizens of Digby, as a student from out of town, I can, perhaps, appreciate your efforts as well as, if not better than, students who have become accustomed to the educational facilities you so willingly support, to take them as a matter of course. Indeed, you are to be congratulated for your fine efforts to make Digby Academy one of the most modern schools in the province. The new Domestic and Mechanic Science departments which you so kindly added this year, we feel, are the answer to the longing of many girls and boys who here find diversion from the dull routine of many of the ordinary subjects on the curriculum. These departments will be builders of character, since they encourage the pupil to give his best to his work. By providing an interesting course to the pupils of the Academy, you are facilitating the growth of a new group of citizens along the lines of good citizenship. Another improvement you are introducing this year is the library. Unfortunately, we of the senior class, will not have the opportunity to make use of this valuable aid, but we feel grateful that such a study and recreational centre should be provided for those who have not yet graduated.

To the members of the Faculty, particularly to those of the High School staff, we can say very little. Words cannot express the feeling of appreciation we have for you as we look back on the years we have spent under your instruction. The key-note to your associations with us has been co-operation, and we hope that we have not failed to help you carry it out.

To Mr. Purdy, Miss McWhinnie and Miss Anderson, all of whom I have known more intimately than other members of the staff during the two years that I have attended the Academy, may I express my personal appreciation. You

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

PICTURES AND SPORT

Combine photography with your sports or other hobbies... for studies of "form" in golf... wildlife studies if you are a hiker... and so on. Picture taking mixes well with almost any other hobby.

ONE of the fascinating features of photography, as a hobby, is that it fits in perfectly with almost any other hobby or interest. In particular, nowadays, outdoor enthusiasts are finding that picture taking harmonizes admirably with such sports as hunting, fishing, hiking, golf, and other open-air activities.

More sports enthusiasts are taking pictures because modern cameras are so light, compact, and easy to carry. Cameras taking fairly large pictures have been reduced in bulk in recent years, while many fine present-day miniature cameras are so compactly built that they can be carried in a pocket at all times.

Operation has been made more convenient, too, so that picture taking is quick and easy. Therefore, the sportsman can use his camera about as he would a notebook, "jotting down" in picture form each interesting detail of his trip or sport activities.

This is the modern way to use a camera. Instead of taking random snapshots, one here, one there, the wise picture taker tries to keep a full, well-rounded picture record of all the things he does and sees. And such "notebook" pictures add greatly to the pleasure of other sports and hobbies.

For example, the hiker or mountain climber may employ his camera for pictures of woodland plants and wild life—gradually building up a collection which is genuinely worth while. The hunter records his camps, his kills, the trails and waters he traverses—building up an enviable story of travel and outdoor life. The golf professional may use a home movie camera to make slow-motion pictures of his students, so that they can study their errors on the movie screen—or golfers may take movies of each other for the same purpose.

From these examples, it is easy to see how photography can enrich and broaden other hobbies. It fits in with any of them—and its great virtue is that pictures have lasting value. Therefore, by using the camera to record our other hobbies and activities, we can put them in enduring form... and enjoy them over and over again.

FIREMEN'S FIELD DAY SATURDAY

Digby is looking forward to a "big day" on Saturday, when the Digby Fire Department will sponsor a day of land and water sports, and firemen's races. Plans have been well laid, and it is understood many well known sportsmen will take part in the events to compete for the valuable prizes donated by local merchants and friends of the firemen.

The day's programme will open by a street parade, led by the Civic Band. For this event many fine floats are being constructed, and an exceptional array of decorated cars is expected. The parade will take place at 9.30 a.m.

Following the parade will be the water sports on the Annapolis Basin, which begin at 10.30, in front of the Band Stand, and will include Sail Boat Races (two classes); Fishermen's Trawler Race; Double and Single Canoe Races; Tub Race; Gunoe Tilting, and Swimming Races.

The Firemen will hold their sports during the first part of the afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock, with a Hose Reel Race, which will be followed by Hose Coupling Race, Hose Replacement Race, 100 Yard Dash and 200 Yard Dash.

Immediately following will be the land sports, which will include the usual "dashes"—60-yd., 100-yd. and 220-yd.—a 440-yard relay, sack race and a pipe smoking race, as well as races for girls up to 16 years of age.

During the evening a program is planned as well as a concert by the Digby Civic Band, which has been engaged for the day, with a dance to wind up a "glorious fest."

Further donations that have been received since last week's list are as follows: $5.00 donated by Churchill Sallows; Arm & Farmer Cup and Saucer, by B. F. Webber; Services of Harry Raymond's boat "Delores T." for the day; Braces and Carters, by Mrs. Roop; 4-lb. box Chocolates by Candy Shop.

Charles LeBlanc, fishing from his boat, three miles from Saulnierville, got the surprise of his life when he pulled in a cod which he had caught on his hook. A ten-foot shark which had been following the cod through the water, leaped half-way into the boat. LeBlanc, alone at the time, limbed up the mast. He descended only when he was certain his sailor was out of the way. Probably he would have enjoyed going a-sharking, but when a shark comes a-manning, that's a different story.

Suggested Prayer for Some Storekeepers.

(To be said slowly and with great feeling).

Lord, let me never stray From off the straight and narrow way.

In fact, so narrow let me live That I may never tempted be A holiday to give.

Lord, never let my clerks protest Or ask me for a day of rest. If they should want Dominion Day, Lord give me power To say them nay.

Lord, if I should relent and say, "Tomorrow is a holiday,"

Grant me the grace to ask my clerk, To come that night And help me work.

Lord, when at last my days are o'er And when I reach the golden shore,

Give me a store and money trays Where I can say, "No Holidays!"—Amen.

One hundred farmers of Digby County, on Thursday of last week made a tour of farms, orchards and pure live stock farms in the counties of Kings and Annapolis. The tour was organized by Raymond LeBlanc, agricultural representative. The first visit was to the farm of V. B. Leonard, Clarence; next to the piggery of J. D. MacKenzie, M.L.A., near Middleton. From there with occasional stops in orchards and farms, the party went to the Dominion Experimental Station, Kentville.

Glen MacNutt's Paintings On Exhibition.

A painting by Glenn MacNutt (son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon MacNutt, of Digby), senior member of the art department of John Donnelly & Sons, Boston, was accepted by the Art Institute of Chicago for exhibition this spring. Fourteen nations beside the United States were represented by their outstanding artists at this exhibition. Many world-renowned artists, as Matisse and Picasso, had their works on display in this famous exhibition. The Institute is highly selective in choosing artistic representations for the exhibit; out of approximately 1700 paintings submitted only 100 were finally accepted; and MacNutt was among that number. Two more of MacNutt's works were on display at The St. Botolph Club Water Color Show. The Boston Transcript mentioned "the unusual correctness of style and subject used by Glenn MacNutt", and The Boston Post lists MacNutt "among the well known painters in this (water, color) medium".

Edward W. Foy, 96, believed to be the eldest Mason in the United States, in point of membership was paid a testimonial tribute by his lodge brothers. Foy has been a Mason for 75 years and a search for local and eastern records failed to reveal any other member with a claim of longer activity in the fraternity.

Local and General

Arthur Jones, of California, is home for two months.

Miss Barbara Crowell, for the past two years primary teacher at Weymouth North, has returned to her home in Barrington Passage.

H. M. Mullen and son Willis, went to Halifax on Sunday. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Mullen and Mrs. O. E. Denton, of Little River, who had been spending ten days in Halifax; also by Mr. Banks, of Nictaux, who is their guest for a few days.

R. F. Cummings, secretary of the Maritime Lumber Bureau, of Amherst, accompanied by John Bigelow, a representative of the Lumber Bureau, of Halifax, was in town on Friday, calling on local lumber operators, outlining the provincial government's proposals which they feel would facilitate lumber export trade operations. It was felt that co-operation between the shippers and operators would result in higher profits for all concerned. Operators would be kept in touch with current market prices and the industry as a whole would benefit from any movement toward a more complete organization. Cummings is a son of Rev. C. R. Cummings, who was at one time the rector of the Anglican churches in this parish.

The pastor of the Weymouth United Church is again distributing copies of the little booklet, "The Upper Room", among many of the homes. These copies are for the next three months an contain many helpful daily readings for the entire quarter. It is now four years since this little devotional booklet was first published by one of the leading denominations in the United States, and already it has increased in circulation from one hundred thousand to well over a million copies. Each issue has on the cover the reproduction of a well-known Bible painting, and the one for this quarter is that noted painting by Zimmerman of "Christ and the Fishermen". Mr. MacNevin's sermon for next Sunday will be on this painting.

A MESSAGE TO PARENTS

ABOUT THEIR CHILDREN

No child with defective vision has a proper chance in the battle of life. A scientific examination of children's eyes, such as we make, is a sure way to determine whether they have normal vision. Children who require glasses should have the benefit of the very latest scientific development—CORRECTAL Lenses. They give clear, undistorted vision over the entire surface of the lens so that there is accurate vision even at the very edges.

Closing Exercises at the Weymouth High School

The closing exercises of the Weymouth schools were held on Saturday afternoon in the Community Theatre, with Galen Pierce as chairman. The first part of the programme consisted of music, exercises and short plays by the pupils of the common school. Notable among these were the primary exercises, a singing game, Cinderella (in costume), by the Pupils of the intermediate department; and a dramatization of Stephen Leacock's "My Financial Career," by the preparatory pupils. This part of the programme was under the direction of the teachers—the Misses Agnes Payson, Stella Sabine and Madeline Comeau. Miss Frances Lent, music teacher, was in charge of the musical numbers, which were very well done and showed excellent training.

Following this Mr. Pierce introduced Inspector T. A. M. Kirk, who addressed the large gathering on some of the more recent trends and ideas in education. Particularly Mr. Kirk emphasized the need of education along more practical lines and getting away from the out-worn, burdensome examination system. In conclusion he congratulated Weymouth on its fine school, with its staff of efficient teachers and praised the work of Mr. Pierce, who has held the position of principal for the past five years.

The various classes were then called to the platform where the Grading Cards and Certificates were distributed.

To conclude the afternoon's programme Mr. Pierce spoke briefly expressing his regrets at leaving Weymouth after five years' service and his appreciation for the co-operation of his fellow teachers, and of the members of the school board, parents and pupils, without which, he said, "the high efficiency of the school could not have been achieved." Mr. Pierce will go to Lockeport as principal for the next school year.

Teachers in Weymouth and Vicinity.

The following teachers have received appointments for schools in this vicinity:

Weymouth—Principal, Bernard Strong, B.A., Centreville; Intermediate, Miss Madeline Comeau, Weymouth; Preparatory, Miss Stella Sabine, Weymouth; Primary, Miss Agnes Payson, Weymouth.

Weymouth Nth.—Principal, Carroll Snell, B.A., Weymouth North; Primary, Miss Lohmes, Lunenburg County.

Weymouth Point—Miss Bessie Sabine, Riverdale.

Weymouth Mills—Miss Helen Deane, Central Grove.

Ashmore—Miss Nichols, Clyde River.

MARRIAGES

Height, Simmons

(Copied from, the "Canadian Union Messenger.")

Following a baptismal service at Adams Lake, British Columbia, during the writer's recent visit there on the evening of April 15, 1939, Henry Height and Miss Jeannette Simmons were united in marriage at Dr. Jenkin's home. A surprisingly large group of friends were present, and many were the expressions of goodwill and fervent good wishes from Adventist brethren and sisters and non-Adventist acquaintances. We pray that Brother and Sister Height may enjoy every needed blessing, and themselves prove a blessing to many as they journey through life together. (Note—Henry Height is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Height, of Tidville, N. S.)

Galen Ray Pierce, for the past five years principal of the Weymouth High School, left on Tuesday for his home in Wilmet, and on Saturday will leave for Toronto to attend the Summer School of the University of Toronto.

Capt. H. B. FitzGerald, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey FitzGerald and baby, and Miss Kathleen FitzGerald were guests of Rev. and Mrs. Wm. Forsyth, at the United Church Manse, Clyde River, on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Chipman Saunders and Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Foster, of Sandy Cove, were week end guests at the same home, while other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Ensore, of Clyde River (formerly Miss Lenika Eldridge of Sandy Cove), and Mrs. Maude Sandford, of Walton, N. S. Mr. and Mrs. Forsyth, who were formerly stationed at Sandy Cove, are leaving this week for Cape North, on Cape Breton Island. Both have been the guests of honor at a number of showers and presentations, attesting to the high esteem in which they are held. They are followed to Cape Breton by the best wishes of a host of friends in this county.

Confined Aged by Lumbago

In Pain for Weeks

Acting on his principle of "when you know a good thing tell your friends about it," a man who has had very bad lumbago pains writes as follows:—

"I suffered from lumbago, and for weeks could scarcely move in bed. I had treatment, but it did not ease the pain very much. A friend said, 'Why not take Kruschen Salts' take them every morning, and you'll likely get relief from that pain in your back.' So I have taken them every morning for some time and I am in fit condition for my work again—thanks to Kruschen."—C.B.

Why is it that lumbago, backache, rheumatism and indigestion in many cases yield to Kruschen Salts? Because it is a combination of several mineral salts that are vital for your bodily well-being. Each of these salts has an action of its own. Stomach, liver, kidneys and digestive tract are all benefited and toned up to a high state of efficiency.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Moses F. Trahan

On Wednesday of last week Emelie (Thibault), widow of the late Moses F. Trahan, of St. Martin de Clare, died at the age of 80 years and 6 months, after a lingering illness, leaving to mourn their loss, two daughters, Annie, (Rev. Sister Nathalie) Superior at the St. Family Convent, West Bathurst, N. B., and Rosie, (Mrs. Wallace Saulnier), of St. Alphonse de Clare, with whom she had been living for several years. The funeral service was held from Stella Maris church, Meteghan, on Friday morning, Rev. Father L. Comeau officiating. Rev. J. A. Saulnier, eccl. of the Holy Heart Seminary, Halifax, helped in the choir. The Sisters of Charity, with their students, attended, as did also the Ladies of St. Ann. The pall bearers, headed by Edmund Deveau, were Wallace Saulnier, Edmund Thibault, Elie Saulnier and Augustin Saulnier.

METEGHAN

Rex J. E. Bournave returned on Saturday after a week's visit to Cape Breton. He was accompanied by Mgr. Daley Comeau, P. P., of West Chezzetcook, and Jean V. Thibodeau, of Church Point.

Harvey and Pierre Deveau, who are students, the first named at the Sherbrooke College and the latter at the Seminary in Quebec, are spending their vacations with their mother, Mrs. Emelie Deveau, widow of the late Dr. J. N. Deveau. Another son of the family—Raoul—obtained his bachelors degree with distinction at the Seminary in Quebec. He will return later.

Rev. J. A. Saulnier, of the Halifax Seminary, is spending his vacation with his mother, Mrs. Hilma Saulnier, n. St. Alphonse de Clare. He visited his brother—William Saulnier—here last week. Johnnie Robichaud, of West Haven, Conn., with his nephew, Elmer, and Mrs. Henry Surette, of Dedham, Mass., are visiting their father, Hilarion Robichaud, who is ill; also his sister, Mrs. Chantale Hubbard, of Amherst, N. B.

Mr. and Mrs. William German arrived from Boston last week to spend the summer in their old home, formerly the Bay View Hotel.

A group of amateurs from St. Bernard's, directed by their pastor, gave a very interesting play, "Lodgers Taken In," in Boudreau's Hall, on Saturday evening, to a capacity house. The proceeds are for the new church in St. Bernard.

On Saturday evening a group of relatives and friends gave an agreeable surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Robichaud on the occasion of the 15th anniversary of their married life. Among them were our R. C. M. P. officers, with their wives; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. d'Eon, Mr. and Mrs. Chute, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Deveau, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Deveau, Mrs. Emelie Devaux, Mrs. (Dr.) J. E. Belliveau and a number of young men and women.

Rev. Father Louis, of the Passionist Order, New York, has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Maillet, Meteghan River, on Sunday he officiated at Vespers and gave the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Seventeen pupils are writing the Provincial Examinations here this week. Principal F. Courtney Purdy, of Digby, is deputy examiner.

Nitrate For Poor Hay Fields

With the cold backward weather this spring there is very little nitrification in the soil, and the result is evident in slow growth of hay and pasture fields and in the pale color of the earlier-sown grain. Couch grass has made an excellent start because it grows at a lower soil temperature than timothy and other hay and pasture grasses.

Nitrogen can be taken by plants only in the form of Nitrate. Sulphate of Ammonia must first change to Nitrite, and Nitrite then changes to Nitrate, but these chemical changes require heat or warmth in the soil. Hence the slow growth of stems and leaves or the vegetative organs of the plants. Root growth is, however, taking place, and with warmer weather, plant growth will be quite rapid.

But hay fields have only a few weeks before they are blooming and ready to cut. A hundred pounds of Nitrate of Soda per acre may be mixed with fine soil or road dust to give bulk; and if applied now when the grass is dry or just before rain which washes the fertilizer off the grass and down into the soil, it should cause not only more rapid and heavier growth but also a higher percentage of protein in the hay. The aftermath will benefit from the Nitrate application should thus repay the farmer who would otherwise be short of good hay and fall pasture. A hundred pounds of Nitrate per acre also works well on pale green and weak grain fields.

The regular pasture fields which are backward in growth require a top-dressing of barnyard manure or complete fertilizer. The 5-10-5 brand is relatively cheap this season and 500 pounds per acre is the usual application. If the grass and clover plants in the pasture are thus fed they will get a start on the weeds and tend to crowd them out.

Hay and pasture fields polluted with sheep sorrel and goldenrod (yellow weed) are deficient in lime and the soil is strongly acid. These weeds tolerate high acidity, but alfalfa, red and alsike clovers and most grasses require neutral or alkaline soil. While a present application of manure or fertilizer will encourage the grasses and wild white clover now growing in the meadows and pastures, one or two tons of ground limestone discolor the soil after early September rains will encourage the clovers and better grasses.

If the field in question is desired later for potatoes, soil samples taken to plowing depth from different parts of the field may be mixed together and a pound or two sent to Dominion Chemist, Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Enclose name and address, and request rate of application of ground limestone to neutralize acidity.

Farmers who are doubtful of these recommendations should leave an occasional strip across the field without any fertilizer, manure or limestone. Those who had to buy hay and grain this spring may decide that the money or credit invested in fertilizers and limestone will produce more and better feed on their own farms, without paying tribute to middlemen and railways.

The Danish steamer Martin Carl sailed on Tuesday from Weymouth North for the continent with a cargo of crossed pulp wood for Germany, shipped by Kempton & Mason, Ltd.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for Ordnance Stores Building, Halifax, N. S." will be received until 12 o'clock noon (daylight saving) Wednesday, July 5, 1939, for the construction of an Ordnance Stores Building at Halifax, N. S.

Plans and specifications can be seen and forms of tender obtained at the offices of the Chief Architect, Department of Public Works, Ottawa, the Resident Architect, Public Building, Halifax, N. S., and the Caretaker, Post Office Building, New Glasgow, N. S.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the forms supplied by the Department and in accordance with the conditions set forth therein.

Each tender must be accompanied by a certified cheque on a chartered bank in Canada, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to 10 per cent of the amount of the tender, or Bearer Bonds of the Dominion of Canada or of the Canadian National Railway Company and its constituent companies, unconditionally guaranteed as to principal and interest by the Dominion of Canada, or the afore-mentioned bonds and a certified cheque if required to make up an odd amount.

Note—The Department, through the Chief Architect's office, and the office of the Resident Architect at Halifax, N. S., will supply blue-prints and specification of the work on deposit of a sum of $100.00, in the form of a certified bank cheque payable to the order of the Minister of Public Works. The deposit will be released on return of the blue-prints and specifications within a month from the date of reception of tenders. If not returned within that period the deposit will be forfeited.

ACID FEET?

Foot That Sweat, Burn and Give Off Offensive Odors

Tonight do this—give your tired aching feet a good hot foot bath using a good soap; rinse and dry thoroughly. Next pour about a teaspoonful of Moore's Emerald Oil into the palm of your hand and rub thoroughly over each foot, rubbing well into the soles—repeat the rubbing in the morning. This brings relief and quickly too. That tired aching burning soreness goes and you go about your work again happy and comfortable. Unpleasant foot odors from excessive foot perspiration—gone for good.

Moore's Emerald Oil does not stain; is economical and sold satisfaction guaranteed or money back. Any progressive dry store will be glad to supply you.

SAILOR'S HORNETPIPE

Australian naval reserves are taught to dance the hornpipe not as recreation, but as a part of their training. The traditional hornpipe steps of the British navy are used. This lively jig is regarded as a valuable form of exercise.

We've heard that the boys dance at Annapolis, but not the hornpipe and not for exercise. Physical vigor is achieved in other ways.

It's fine to have such a good old tradition maintained. There are probably few seamen today who can dance the sailor's hornpipe. Lake the Highland fling and the Irish lilt, it is left pretty much to dancing school pupils and special gymnasium classes. The Australians are doing the world a good turn by teaching it to sailors again.

AT THE CAPITOL

Lavishly mounted, superbly directed, and with Leslie Howard and the new acting "find," Wendy Hiller, offering two of the finest acting portrayals seen on the screen in some time, "Pygmalion", filmization of the Bernard Shaw comedy hit, is to open Wednesday and Thursday at the Capitol Theatre, to provide audiences with entertainment brimming with laughter and human interest.

The story of "Pygmalion" revolves about Henry Higgins, a professor of phonetics, who on a bet takes Eliza Doolittle, a drab flower seller, out of the London slums and trains her in correct speaking, deportment and social graces with a vengeance. It is a complete entertainment. But now that Eliza is no longer a flower girl nor really a duchess, her problems have actually begun and it is in the outcome of these that the story reaches a surprising and unforgettable denouement.

There is movement and suspense from the opening shot to the closing reels of "Pygmalion", with the action developing smoothly and convincingly under the brilliant direction of Anthony Asquith and Leslie Howard. The Shaw dialogue is not only witty but natural, the characterizations are a shrewd and penetrating.

Leslie Howard has never been better than in his role of the cold-blooded phonetics professor, making the character real and human, and a new screen star of rare beauty and distinction has been born in Wendy Hiller, cast as the flower girl. Also outstanding in a supporting role is the excellent character actor, John G. Balfour, who will make audiences laugh as they have not laughed since the old Chaplin comedies.

MARRIAGES

Merritt - Height

A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Height, of Tidville, N. S., on May 27, 1939, when their daughter, Gertrude Crosby, was united in marriage to Edgar James Merritt, of Sandy Cove. The bride and groom were attended by the bride's sister, Marguerite, and the groom's brother-in-law, Bertram Gidney. Rev. C. L. Chute officiating. Immediately following the ceremony refreshments were served and the happy couple left for a motor trip through the Annapolis Valley, and were over-night visitors of the bride's brother, who is now in the army. The travelling suit was light blue with hat and accessories to match. They will reside in Sandy Cove.

Roessle - Griffin

A quiet but pretty wedding took place in the Church of the Holy Rosary, Vancouver, B. C., on May 17, when Miss Florence Mary Griffin, daughter of Mrs. J. E. Post, of Culloden, Digby County, and the late William Griffin, of Yarmouth, was united in marriage to Walter Albert Roessle, of the Hudson Bay Company. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Tague. The bride, who is well known in Digby and vicinity, where she resided for many years, was dressed in navy blue crepe with accessories of white, and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. The couple were attended by Miss Beatrice O'Neill, of Vancouver, and Harry Moore, also of the employ of the Hudson Bay Company. Immediately after the ceremony they left on a trip to northern British Columbia, on their return they will reside in Vancouver. (Yarmouth papers please copy.)

Baltzer - Keen

Saturday afternoon, June 24th, when Florence Gertrude, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Keen, of Digby, was united in marriage to Lloyd G. Baltzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Baltzer, of Granville Ferry. The bride, who looked lovely in a pale pink sheer afternoon dress with white accessories, came into the room on the arm of her father. She carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations and snap-dragon. The couple stood under an arch beautifully decorated with pink and white thornes. The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Alma Rice, of Granville Ferry, who was attired in rose chiffon with white accessories. Clare Keen, brother of the bride, supported the groom. Rev. Dr. T. W. Hodgson, of the United Church, officiated at the ceremony, while Mrs. Robert Mason played the wedding march. A reception was held immediately after the ceremony. The happy couple left by car for a short motor trip, after which they will reside in Granville Ferry.

Riley - Barteaux

A quiet wedding took place on Saturday evening, June 24th, at Clementsvalle, when Miss Lyliah Mildred Barteaux, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Barteaux, of Deep Brook, became the bride of Douglas D. Riley, also of Deep Brook. Rev. F. C. Burnett performed the ceremony.

Doucette - Crosby

The marriage of Ada Crosby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crosby, of Marshalltown, to Benjamin Doucette, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Doucette, also of Marshalltown, took place in Grace United Church, Digby, on Friday, June 16, the pastor, Rev. Dr. T. W. Hodgson, officiating. The ceremony was witnessed by Mrs. Archibald Jordan and Carrie Doucette.

Attend Traditional Trooping of Colors

Although the King was absent in Canada on his official birthday—June 8—the traditional trooping of the colors took place as usual on the Horse Guards' Parade, the Duke of Gloucester taking the salute. The Duke of Gloucester and the Duke of Kent are pictured arriving on the Horse Guards' Parade for the annual ceremony.

Papal Colors Are Banned By Recent Nazi Order

(Special Correspondence, N.C.W. C. News Service.)

The Papal flag of yellow and white may no longer be flown by private individuals in Germany. Even the display of these colors in floral or other decorations is no longer permissible. Only the Nazi swastika flag may be displayed even on Church holidays. The police insist that even altars installed on public streets in connection with Corpus Christi processions must not be decorated with yellow and white flowers or draperies. Archbishop of Freiburg, urged the faithful to turn out in large numbers, since "the feast has gained a new significance almost to the point where it becomes a test of our faith."

"Don't forget," the Archbishop said, "that the more we profess Christ in the face of the whole world, be it as hostile as it may be, particularly in these times, the more He will stand up for us."

Archbishop Groeber's message was delivered to a congregation in Freiburg Cathedral soon after he had returned from Rome where he had been received in private audience by the Holy Father.

New measures hostile to the Church are reported every day from across the German border. A latest case in point is a resolution adopted by the Nazi university student federation asking that endowments and purses which were established in favor of Catholic theologians be turned over to students of technical and other scientific disciplines.

The city budget of Nuremberg was increased by 200,000 marks (about $80,000) due to the recent closing of the Catholic and Protestant schools and because the services of the Catholic Sisters who acted as teachers free of charge are no longer available.

However, Nazi propaganda against all things Christian continues unchecked. Alfred Rosenberg, Nazi educational dictator and arch-foe of the church, insisted in the course of a recent public speech in Wuerzburg, Bavaria, that "Christianity has completely run its course."

The V.O.N. acknowledges with a donation of cash from Mrs. R. Murray.

OBITUARY

For a Patch Here or a Shav-

You need GOOD TOOLS around the home and it is astonishing what can be accomplished in the way of small repairs, a new board in the outside steps, a shaving off a door or a strip on the garden lattice. When it comes to new pieces to make for the home the variety is great, for there is always need for an extra shelf, cabinet, washbench, stools, garden chairs and benches and so on. It is surprising how quickly the almost professional handling of a small kit of Home Carpenter Tools is attained. A Cutting-Off Saw, Rip Saw, Try Square, Hammer, Brace, Assorted Bits, Jack Plane, Block Plane, Screwdriver, Rule and Pencil, Three Chisels will give you a good kit to start with. Home Made Repairs Save Money.

PLEASE NOTE—This Store will be open FRIDAY evening, and closed all day Saturday.

Ramblings of a Rolling Stone

Well, the Royal visit is over, and as I write these words the Emperor of Britain bearing their Royal Majesties, is nearing the shores of that "Tight Little Island" toward which the thoughts of all the empire's peoples are turning during these troubled days.

Those of us who are of the older generation; we who knew the Britain that was before the world war; we who glorified in the far flung boundaries of the Empire and to whom the "Meteor Flag" was the symbol of that unity, and of that freedom to which all born beneath its sun-kissed folds were heirs, are not a little troubled, and with reason, as we look out upon that bubbling cauldron of suspicion, envy, hatred and oppression which makes up the world of today.

Within the secret chambers of the mind we are, consciously or unconsciously, weighing the things which are passing in review while the nations jockey for position as the day of reckoning nears. The Britain which we knew seems almost to be "One with Nineveh and Tyre," so great are the changes which have taken place in the past quarter of a century. All, or nearly all, of those attributes which were hers are the more conspicuous by their very absence in the present crisis. Vacillation, weakness, uncertainty and compromise seem to have replaced whatever of strength and fixity of purpose the records of the past may show.

It is into the very centre of this international witches' broth to which George VI and his Queen are returning after the tour of Canada and the trip to the United States has come to a triumphant close. It is too early for one to hazard more than the merest guess as to the effect which the Royal visit will have in the more firm cementing of the ties of the Empire. Time alone can show if there has been a strengthening of the ties of friendship between the Empire and the United States; but one thing stands out in bold relief—George the Sixth and Queen Elizabeth have made for themselves a place in the hearts of all who have been privileged to meet them.

I have followed with much interest the reports which have come both in the press and over the radio as men and women have tried with pen and voice to give their public something of their impressions of the Royal visitors. Almost without exception, these have been of a distinctly flattering character; but the following from the pen of Eleanor Patterson, editor of the Washington Times-Herald, has made a deeper impression on me than has anything which has come to my notice:—

"She stood up there, grave and sweet on the steps of the wide portico of the British Embassy," wrote Mrs. Patterson. "And I began to suppose: Suppose this young couple do not care for the frozen pattern of their lives any more than Edward did for his when he was king."

"And somehow, an odd comparison popped into my head. How many daughters of the very rich and very powerful remain through life as sound and sane as this sturdy little queen? How many are as unselfish in any line of activity? How many are as physically sound? As mentally clear and keen?

"And I began to wonder how it would be if we women were to study Elizabeth and think a little bit seriously about her."

"Just supposing for instance, we were to sicken overnight of false eyelashes and Hollywood. The slim, barren thighs. The signpost mouths, painted thick and wide, pointing 'this way.' Supposing we were to find ourselves all fed up tomorrow morning with the lovely neurotic, the introvert, the self-indulgent—capital chaff."

"Listen, girls, weren't you struck by the admiration for Elizabeth of all our menfolk, young and old? Even the toughest of all reporters smiled and surrendered as she passed by."

"Stocky, sturdy little queen. Sound of body and sound of mind. Unflinching. Serene. She has taken away with her the admiration of millions of our people. And maybe she has left behind something more concrete, if no more lasting than a memory—the germ of a new ideal."

Successful Recital At Freeport

An enjoyable hour was spent in the church vestry, at Freeport, Thursday evening of last week, when the pupils of Miss Phyllis Crocker were heard in another piano recital. Each number was well rendered, the pupils showing a marked progress in their year's work.

Special features on the program included two piano solos by Jean Weir, a playlet in which a number of students took part; a vocal duet by Ruth Wakeling and Edward Young, and a piano solo by Jean Haines.

At the close of the recital prizes for general improvement were awarded by Miss Crocker to the following: Blair MacNeil, Jean Weir, Barbara Blackford, Gwendolyn Finigan, Romana Bouchie, Sheila Haines, Peggy Connell, Joyce Bouchie and Donald Weir.

Others taking part in the program were Ellen Outhouse, Jean Blackford, Marion Finigan and Freda Crocker.

The vestry was decorated with potted plants, ferns and flowers. A large audience was present including a number from out of town.

DEAFNESS IS MISERY

Millions of people know that, but multitudes of persons with defective hearing and deafness are again enjoying conversation, going to theatre and church because they use Leonard Invisibles, which are tiny microphones fitted in the ear entire, out of sight (see illustration). No wires, no batteries, no headpieces. They are clean, comfortable and inexpensive. Write for booklet and sworn statement of the inventor who was himself deaf.

Graduation Exercises

have taught us not only the subjects included in the average education, but also the maxims of good living. As a noted gentleman said: "It is not the good marks you make or the splendid work you do, but the associations you have with your teachers and fellow students that will be important to you in future years." So, we may be sure that the memories of our associations with the members of the Academy staff will be very pleasant ones.

To the Junior class, may we extend our warmest wishes for your success. As you enter your senior year, do so with the determination to make it the best yet. Accept all the opportunities that will make your last year at High School one long to be remembered. Keep your standards high, and as new occasions arise to make school life more interesting and more practical, incorporate these in your standards. Let your aim be to put forth the best that is in you, for only in giving your best will you reap the greatest reward.

And now, my fellow Classmates, I turn to you for a last farewell. We are leaving school days behind and are setting out to face the world. The unknown future has something wonderful in store for each of us. I am sure, if we only strive to find it. It may be material or immaterial but we shall find it if we live artistically. For living is an art. We have all things, present and past, to aid us in making our lives noble and happy. As we go out upon a world troubled by wars, financial and economic instability, with dissension among the various peoples, let us remember our class motto: "Per Ardua Ad Astra"—"Through Difficulties to the Stars." That is a lofty goal and we perhaps can never attain it, but through all the disappointments that we may well expect, let us not forget it. May our theme be "Co-Operation" for through co-operation what cannot be accomplished! The old proverb, "Many hands make light work," has never been as true, possibly, as today in this world faced with war at any moment. It is unquestionably the duty of all graduates as they enter the ranks of citizens to have a vital interest in making the world a peaceful one.

My heart goes out to each and every one of you tonight as we graduate together. I cannot say "Good-bye," for that would be too final, as though I were shutting a door on my happy school memories. So, as I wish for all of you lives of supreme happiness and contentment, I give you my fond "Farewell."

—Mary Estelle Murley
