1877-1977

Now and then a printing job had a page or two of parchment paper which smelled very bad some days. I always dreaded it when "Man" would take you to the largest press in spite of the fact he always opened an outside door to lessen circulation on the room itself.

One of the jobs I had to do, besides putting and grinders down on the staff, was to... I cleaned one and then... One day not long after I started to go to the printing plant, I decided to clean the floor that apparently hadn't been cleaned for some considerable time.

"J.J." came along and said, "how are you making out Vince?" I assured him that I thought I was beginning to see the floor. "J.J." laughed very heartily. He thought the remark pretty good and whole.

Sometimes the gasoline engine, a piece of machinery would refuse to work, and the "Man" fix-it man had patiently worked for a certain length of time to get it going again, without results. Man would then stand back and come out dramatically then he would immediately start working. "See," he would say, "all it needed was a bit of coaxing."

On other occasions when some group refused duty for the dead, seemed to be brokenhearted, I would say, "use a little oil" and sure enough, after that is said, "use a little oil" and sure enough, after that is said, it took. They often since, have I heard of the value of that remark and the actual need of oil in many life situations, applied at the right time, right place and in the right way.

Other things that sort of stick in my memory and come to mind now and then are, like the time I told "Mac" of four teenage boys who in the spring season of 1918 got together just before dark one evening and decided to mutilate the newly built outdoor Pease Hotel swimming pool which had just been filled with water. Clothes were taken off near the road just out of the pool, nobody else seemed to be around except the four boys, no thought or time for bathing suits, so in the pool they went. They stood on the edge of the pool and looked at the chilly water, one soon jumped in. The rest quickly followed and across the pool they swam. "Mac" listened to the story and hardly said anything, but the next "Digby Courier" had a good story on the episode. The heading of the story was something like, "Four Boy Swims Officially Open Pease Hotel Swimming Pool." Who were the four? Many years later they are known as: the late Dr. Carl H. Anderson, veteran of two wars, second world war and Korea; was awarded the Victoria Cross; Sidney L. Smith, now prominent draughtsman for many years in Digby; Clayton D. Snow, Digby wholesale apothecary, and myself.

As a young teenager I used to like doing some writing about different events interesting to myself, and mostly for myself. One day "Mac" said to me how about writing your version of the story told about "The Marooning of Jerome". I did it and read at least two somewhat different versions about the man who was found marooned on a beach in some point on the French Shore of St. Mary's Bay, Duffy County. When I read this man's torso had been cut out and his legs quite freshly amputated, were surgically well dressed and bound. He was presumably left by some vessel before dawn one morning, all for some mysterious reason.

"Jerome" appeared to have been a man of considerable social standing and, possibly, of considerable wealth. However, the woman said she could not or would not say after being asked if he was, for by some family in the French, she knew something that sounded like that. She said either, you'd not, or would not, say, but she said who he was or why he was left the way he was. And, she said, one of Dugre's Council members and different ideas have been given to the people concerning this man. However, she said, "Mr." was, I felt, no more than a name, and different about this man. The woman said she had been very well educated and had been a woman and was a member of the Council.

The Town Plot is situated at the east of the township just within the entrance to Annapolis Basin, and extends miles from Annapolis Town, and six miles across land from the head of W. Mary's Bay. This land not only has water's edge, partly on level ground, and partly on the declivity of a modern hill, dry and pleasant, and having on an eastern aspect a view of the Annapolis Basin and its cultivated shores for twenty miles in extent, it terminates with the Fort and River's mouth at that name. It was secured by Leyden, from New York in 1622, the point of which went early to Britain, or, moving to other countries, left the shore

The game was a fast and exciting one and featured a total of twenty-three penalties. The Buckingham squad were awarded fourteen of these and the Ravens nine. McCallum, playing coach of the Ravens, was given a match misconduct when he disputed a penalty decision of the referee.

Legion Receives Gift

A substantial sum of money was given to the Poppy Fund of the Digby Branch of the Canadian Legion, BESL, shortly before Christmas from the ship's fund of HMCS Buckingham.

It is also understood sums were presented to the Digby Branch of the Red Cross Society and to the Salvation Army in Digby to aid them in Christmas cheer efforts.

Tiverton Housewife Wins $500.00

The Christmas season was brightened considerably for Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Prime of Tiverton when Mrs. Prime, who is the former Lillian Jefferson, of Digby, received word Christmas morning at nine o'clock that she was the lucky winner of a five hundred dollar drawing at a Digby department store.

The winning ticket was drawn late Christmas Eve from a container holding literally thousands of tickets accumulated during the holiday shopping season. Making the drawing was Mayor Gordon R. Turnbull of Digby.

Mrs. Prime told the Courier she first of all could not believe it when she heard the news on Christmas morning but when realization came that it was true she immediately ran to share the good news with her father and mother-in-law.

A supper guest of Mr. and Mrs. Prime's, Mrs. Judson Robbins, of Tiverton, also joined in the congratulations extended to Mrs. Prime on her good fortune.

New Year Ushered In Quietly

Digby may this year have established some sort of record for the quietness with which the New Year was ushered in at midnight on Monday.

So far as can be determined not a car horn was sounded, not a shot was fired nor was there the faintest tinkle of a bell marking the advent of 1957 at the midnight hour.

A number of enjoyable dances were held to mark New Year's Eve, one of these was the annual New Year's Eve Ball sponsored by the Western Nova Scotia Yacht Club, and held this year at the Hotel Champlain. Other dances were held at the Cornwallis naval base and a number of house parties were also held on New Year's Eve.

On Tuesday the Captain and Officers of HMCS Buckingham, which is docked at the spur pier here, held their annual levee. This enjoyable affair was attended by naval officers from HMCS Cornwallis and a number of prominent citizens from Digby and area.

Child Has Close Brush With Death

Eleven year old Bobby Jordan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Jordan, of Culloden, escaped injury in a freak accident at the government pier here last Thursday night.

Mr. Jordan left the young lad in the car parked on the wharf while he went on an errand. In some manner the car got into motion and plunged over the side of the wharf.

Fortunately directly under the spot on the wharf where the car plunged over there was moored a lobster pound belonging to Wilfred Gidney. The car landed on the top of the pound.

By this time Mr. Jordan had raced to the edge of the wharf. He shouted to his son to get out of the car and jump overboard as he feared the weight of the vehicle would sink the lobster pound.

The lad jumped in as he was told and was pulled out by his father. Later, the car, badly damaged by its plunge over the wharf side, was pulled up by wreckers.

PREMIER STANFIELD'S NEW YEAR MESSAGE

New Year's Day is traditionally a time for taking stock. We usually look back over the past year and resolve to do better during the new year.

Nova Scotians can justly feel 1956 has been a year of progress. On the other hand we are bound to realize that conditions have not been happy for some of our people; and we are therefore bound to aim higher for the coming year.

Canada as a whole is enjoying an era of great prosperity. This furnishes an opportunity for our Province.

Co-operation with our neighboring Provinces also offers much hope for the future. It is quite apparent that close co-operation in the Atlantic area would be fruitful in many fields; and it is equally apparent that the governments in the Atlantic Provinces are ready to co-operate. The year 1957 should see many examples of such co-operation. I believe that we are entering an era of very close collaboration among the Atlantic Provinces.

The understanding among the Premiers of the Atlantic Provinces is that they will meet at my invitation. This meeting is not contemplated until after the Session of our Legislature. In the meantime, a meeting of the

DIGBY AREA HIT BY RAILWAY TIE-UP

The strike of locomotive firemen which yesterday paralyzed the operations of the Canadian Pacific Railway hit hard at the Digby area this week.

Notice was given, effective Monday night, for a layoff of some fifty stevedores at the CPR wharf here and word was circulated that, when the strike materialized, further layoffs would follow.

It was stated that fact that present plans of the CPR call for the continuation of the services of the CPS Princess Helene despite the strike, would have little effect on the employment picture for the wharf crew here since freight shipments aboard the Princess Helene would be seriously curtailed by the rail line tieup.

Stevedores and others employed at the CPR pier here are viewing the current strike situation with a great deal of unhappiness. Many of them are no more than getting over the effects of the long tieup of the Princess Helene last year when a strike of unlicensed personnel aboard the vessel tied up the ship for some seventy-five days.

It is estimated that close to one hundred persons in the Digby area alone will be directly affected by the railway tieup. This includes local employees of the Dominion Atlantic Railway which suspended operations due to the strike on Wednesday.

Former Researcher Becomes Probation Officer

Dr. John A. Winget, of Cincinnati, who is well known to many in this area, having been connected for a time with the Cornell University Community Study Project here, has recently been appointed Probation Officer for the new Hamilton Juvenile Court in Hamilton, Cincinnati.

Dr. Winget, who is assistant professor of sociology at the University of Cincinnati, has been granted a leave of absence from his teaching duties to accept the new post.

A forty-five year old father of two small children, Dr. Winget will join the staff of Judge Benjamin S. Schwartz in February to assist in reorganizing the Juvenile Court. Previously the court was a division of the Domestic Relations Court.

In announcing Dr. Winget's appointment Judge Schwartz said that Dr. Winget had "outstanding experience, education and personality" in the field of juvenile work.

An advocate of "intelligent and humane" exercise of authority, Dr. Winget insists that the child is part of the community, even the delinquent child. "If you segregate him, you do so in his interests as well as the community's", he says. "This division of 'we and they' is what gets us into trouble."

"Nevertheless in society we have to accept limits on behavior, he said, and sometimes nothing clears the atmosphere like a spanking."

A native of Dayton, Ohio, Dr. Winget was educated at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, Washington University and the University of Chicago. He became well acquainted with the problem of juvenile delinquency in four year's service as probation officer for the St. Louis County Juvenile Court, Clayton, Mo.

"The alarming growth of delinquency, he believes, is a reflection in part of the increased complexity of living". There are more laws to break now, he says, as well as improved methods of keeping records on law breakers. He said he would like to bring the juvenile court into closer contact with other community agencies working on the same problem.

While in Digby County with the Cornell project Dr. Winget and Mrs. Winget spent considerable time at Freeport and also in Digby. They both made many friends in the area.

WESTPORT H. & S. MEETS

The December meeting of the Westport Home and School was held at the school house Monday evening with Everett Pugh, president, in the chair. The main business discussed was plans to purchase a duplicator for the school teachers, also exhibits from the Nova Scotia Museum of Science.

A Christmas program prepared by Mrs. George Clements and Mrs. Richard Welch, consisted of Christmas quizzes, readings and a number of special Christmas songs by the young women of the high school and intermediate. Refreshments were served.

Celebrate Double Anniversary

Friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Small, Central Grove, on the afternoon and evening of December 27th when they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, and their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Baarteaux celebrated their silver wedding anniversary.

Both couples were married in Central Grove in the present residence of Mr. and Mrs. Small. Mr. and Mrs. Small have lived in Tiverton and Central Grove. Mr. and Mrs. Baarteaux have resided in Moschelle since their marriage in 1931. Mr. and Mrs. Small have two daughters, one living in Moschelle, and Lillie of Central Grove. They have four grandchildren, David and John of Central Grove, Ruth of Moschelle, and Zelma of Wallaceburg, Ont., who joined her family in their celebration.

On the afternoon and evening of December 27th over fifty friends and neighbors called on the happy couples. The guests had a sing-song, heard old time music, chatted, and were served delicious refreshments, including gold and silver cakes cut by the brides and grooms. Much interest was shown in the display of Mrs. Small's wedding dress, made of broadcloth cotton with lace trimming, full skirt and leg-o-mutton sleeves.

During the evening the couples had several phone calls of congratulations, including one from Mrs. Edna Rose, of San Francisco, Calif. They received many beautiful gifts and cards 'midst cheery wishes of good fortune.

North Range

The Yuletide season was ushered in with the annual Christmas sale of food and fancy work on December 11th, sponsored by the sewing club of the Baptist Church, at which time over $2200 was realized for church purposes.

On December 18 Santa arrived at the school house with his usual sack of toys and treats for the school children. Mrs. Vernon Marshall, of Weymouth, and Mrs. Gerald Marshall, of North Range, were in charge of the programs in their separate school rooms.

The Home & School Association held its Christmas party on Wednesday evening, December 19. Mrs. Allen Thomas, President, welcomed the guests, including North Range students of the D.R.H.S., also pupils from grades four, five and six of the local school. The program included carol singing, led by Rev. R. R. Winchester; a skit by six high school girls; contests and stunts, under the direction of the program convener. Following the program delicious refreshments were served.

The Christmas tree and program of the Baptist Sunday School was held on Thursday evening, December 20. Special Christmas music was rendered by a girls' chorus. Two duets by Maxine Andrews, also, and Lois Haight, soprano; duet by Rev. and Mrs. Winchester. Exercises were prepared by the teachers of each class and the Scripture was read by David Thomas. Shirley Ambrose read the Christmas prayer. The program closed with the benediction by the pastor, Rev. R. R. Winchester, after which gifts and treats were distributed.

Despite bad weather the Christmas service on Sunday evening was well attended.

Carol singers were around on Christmas Eve visiting homes of shut-ins and the older folk. The old familiar carols were beautifully rendered by a chorus of mixed voices, which blended in perfect harmony. This was greatly appreciated by all who listened.

About This and That

Return To Christmas Spirit

Perhaps there is no better place than here to thank our many business associates and personal friends for the compliments of the season conveyed by means of Christmas cards. We enjoy receiving the cards and enjoy sending them. Sometimes this one grand effort at Christmas correspondence is the only contact with personal friends throughout Canada and other countries during the whole year. The local cards too convey their own message of genuine good-will.

While post office staffs may long to see the end of the Christmas card clutter, in most cases they play a part in sincerely proclaiming good wishes and the Christmas spirit. Particularly this year we found the cards returning more to the real Christmas spirit and proclaiming the message of the Birth of Christ.

More and more, too, we find the local people using their talent in art to convey Christmas and New Year Greetings to their friends. Such greetings with so much personal effort put into them cannot help but be appreciated and most definitely must be sent in the greatest sincerity.

Christmas cards in 1956, as before, were varied and in cases most unique. As to size we have had some of the smallest and the largest we received measured 36 inches by 44 inches unfolded. The last fold displayed a great big Santa Claus. Perhaps the most unique in our 1956 greetings came from the Murrys in Pictou (Pictou Advocate). They got out a small size 4 page newspaper, 5 x 9, called The Yuletide Log. It contained a picture and editorial significant to the Birth of Christ and a timely Christmas message, while the remainder of the card was devoted to news and pictures of the ten Murray children. Their wants, losses, for sales, etc., all found space in the classified column. Needless to say our many friends were interested in reading the Murray Christmas card.

To all our business and personal friends we again say thank you for the Yuletide and New Year greetings.

Horns Are Often A Dilemma!

If there is a doubt that a pedestrian or another driver knows of your car's approach, and the circumstances of the moment will not allow you to stop or otherwise avoid the situation, sound your horn, advises the Canadian Highway Safety Conference. Otherwise says Canadian Highway Safety Conference, keep it quiet.

The ring or button (set conveniently a finger-flick will operate it) that sounds your automobile horn can be the means of saving human life — or ending it! Foolishly used, the horn can frighten or aggravate people to such an extent that their safety and the safety of others is in serious peril. How often have you been stopped for a traffic light, only to have the driver behind sound his horn the second the light changed to green? Remember how you felt? Well that feeling of indignation, anger and frustration can start a chain of events that could lead to

THE ENCHANTED SEASON

By Lewis Milligan
The season of enchantment comes again, When we can to that mystic realm return, Where childhood's dreams immortally remain, And friendly fires of home forever burn.

An old, old story, yet the flight of years Its magic and its beauty cannot mar; The torch of knowledge flares and disappears, Serene above the East still shines the Star!

Come, let us gather for a little while Here in the sacred circle of its beams, Where all our phantom cares we may beguile, Building again the palace of our dreams: A happy child shall lead us in the way, The child we used to be on Christmas Day, 72 Grenville Street, Toronto, Canada.

momentous conclusions. Your first reaction is to pin the driver down with a scorching remark. But there isn't time for that, so you gear and gun and rush away to show him, once and for all, that if anybody's going to hold up traffic, it won't be you!

Meantime, an innocent motorist or pedestrian is in your path and, with your feelings hurt and your temper enraged, you're not as careful in your driving as you usually are.

You can fly 50 feet through the air, they say, before the pavement or tree or a house stops you — dead.

Attend Agricultural Meeting At Truro

Lloyd McNeill and Harold Height, of Marshalltown, William LeFort, of Weymouth, and H. M. Warne, Digby, were among those from this county who attended the annual meeting of the Nova Scotia Federation of Agriculture, held at Truro recently.

The meeting, which dealt with many problems facing the agricultural industry in this province, also passed a number of resolutions aimed at meeting some of these problems.

Included among the resolutions passed by the meeting was one asking that the present Marshland Reclamation Program be extended to fresh water areas. It was pointed out that there is now no provision made to control fresh water erosion as it affects farm lands and the loss from this erosion presents serious problems to the farmers in the province.

A resolution aimed at increasing milk consumption in Nova Scotia through the introduction of a school milk program in the province was also passed. The federal government has indicated it is prepared to enter into a school-milk program with any province submitting a satisfactory program. The Agricultural Federation indicated in its resolution such a school-milk program would be very effective in improving the health of the province's children and urged the program's introduction here.

The federation also called on the appropriate authorities to institute an effective control of weeds along highways, and railways. The establishment of a seed cleaning plant in some central point in the province was also recommended.

Continuation of land breaking, limestone and artificial insemination policies by the province was recommended by the meeting.

An immediate study of the feasibility of providing a highway crossing of the Shubenacadie River in the Green Oak-Spith Maitland area was urged. A resolution asking the Department of Highways to issue a special operator's license for farm tractors at a nominal rate and at a minimum age of fourteen was defeated by the meeting. Sponsors of this resolution claimed hardship was being caused by the present policy of requiring a regular operator's license for tractor operators and said farm youth were capable of handling these tractors but were impeded in their work by present regulations.

Another resolution calling on the Highway Department to grant special low licenses to farm trucks used only for the transportation of the farmer's own farm produce, equipment, supplies, etc., was passed. These licenses were asked to be effective only where the trucks were not used as commercial vehicles or for hire.

An expansion of the Community Pasture program instituted by the provincial government was asked. The meeting also asked that the provincial government have canneries crops placed under the Natural Products Marketing Act. Certain amendments were also asked in the Agriculture and Marketing Act of the province.

A resolution of special interest to rural dwellers was approved.

It was learned here this week that the well known insurance firms of Mrs. Lillian N. Nichols and Mr. John J. Brittain of Digby have now been combined under the firm name of J. J. Brittain Ltd.

Both Mrs. Nichols and Mr. Brittain have had a great deal of experience in insurance work. Before her marriage Mrs. Nichols was employed in insurance adjusting in New York and she has been actively engaged in insurance business in Digby for the past ten years. GIVEN MUSICAL SHORT COURSES

On January 3rd and 4th short courses in drama and music were presented to the community of Freeport by Donald Wetmore and Betty Murray of the Dept. of Adult Education, Halifax.

Due to bad weather several were unable to attend these classes, but we feel those who did attend derived a great benefit from them. Classes were held afternoon and evening in the vestry of Freeport Baptist Church.

SPENDS 3 YEARS IN FARTHEST NORTH

Constable Fred J. R. Stiles of the RCMP, who was recently transferred to the Digby Detachment from Halifax, recently completed a three year tour of duty at the farthest north Royal Canadian Mounted Police outpost — at Alexandra Fiord on the east coast of Ellesmere Island, about three thousand miles from Ottawa and some 700 miles from the North Pole. Only companions at the Arctic outpost were another Mountie and two Eskimo families.

Constable Stiles, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Riley Stiles of Salisbury, N. B., says that life in the far north is not nearly so bad as many people imagine. In fact, he says, it has such an appeal for the members of the force who have spent time there they often re-apply for another tour. "It's not that they can't get used to civilization again, he says, but that they

The second game of the series will be held at the Forum to night at 7:30 with skating following the game.

Four teams have been entered in the league. They are Digby, Church Point, Centreville and a team from the Digby Regional High School.

MAYOR REVIEWS YEAR'S ACTIVITIES

A review of the civic activities in Digby over the past year was given by Mayor Gordon Turnbull in an address before the first Town Council session of 1957, held at the Town Hall on Monday night.

In his opening remarks Mayor Turnbull extended congratulations to Councillors L. M. Saunders and Donald Amiraault who were sworn in at the meeting. Dr. D. G. Black, also newly re-elected to the Council, was not present for the meeting.

The Mayor said that he realized it took a lot of time and effort to serve on the Council and on the various committees. He complimented the Council members that they had worked cooperatively with him and said he knew they would continue to do so in the year ahead.

The past year, Mayor Turnbull said, had been a "very prosperous one in our town". The citizens of the town, he said, had enjoyed a prosperous year and "our town administration has had a prosperous year and will have a surplus for the year".

Tax collections, the Mayor said, were among the highest in recent years in 1956 with a total of 102% of current levy. He said outstanding taxes had been reduced in the year and stated he felt sure they would be further reduced in the year ahead. He congratulated the office staff of the town on their efficiency and cooperation.

Building and construction was up this year in Digby, he said, and much improvement was made to original buildings. The largest construction job in the town, he said, was the new wing on the Regional High School.

The School Board Chairman, chairman of the building committee and Mayor Turnbull had made an inspection of this new wing, he said, and were agreed that the construction for this type of building was "of the finest" and he congratulated the contractor on a job "well done". Mayor Turnbull said the official opening would take place in the spring.

Speaking further on education Mayor Turnbull said that Monday marked another step forward in the education program here. "All classes, he said, are in their originally planned classrooms, which had been previously planned and completed on date according to plan".

The Mayor said "we have on the hill overlooking our town one of the finest educational institutions and teaching staffs to be found in the country. We should be very proud that we can give our children our greatest gift, "Education".

In further reviewing civic activities for the year past the Mayor said that during the year a new avenue had been opened in the town from Prince William to Carleton Streets; two new sewers had been laid on King Street, including Church Street and on Warwick Street; work has been completed on the Town Hall, the town offices, police office, council chamber and corridors.

During the year, Mayor Turnbull said, the town was honored by a visit from the Governor General. He paid tribute to the cooperation received from HMCS Cornwallis in providing a band and a guard of honour for this occasion and for their cooperation in the Dominion Day Fair and the annual Community Christmas Party.

Mayor Turnbull said there had been adversities during the year. The H. T. Warne Ltd. mill and factory was closed last year, he said, throwing a large number of men out of work. "In spite

Mayor Wires Prime Minister Regarding Strike

Mayor Gordon R. Turnbull advised Monday night's meeting of the Town Council that he had, on behalf of the town, sent a telegram to Prime Minister Louis S. St. Laurent regarding the railroad tie-up which is having such a serious effect on local economy. Mayor Turnbull said copies of this telegram were also sent to the Minister of Labour and to Mr. George Nowlan, M.P. for Digby-Annapolis-Kings.

The text of Mayor Turnbull's telegram to the Prime Minister is as follows: "The Prime Minister of Canada

Ottawa, Canada Regarding the strike of the CPR, called by the firemen's local. It appears by the public generally to be unfair and unjust also unreasonable.

The economy of Digby and country are paralyzed with the layoff of stevedores, expressmen and trainmen numbering about 75. This number will reach about 100 in Digby, if strike continues.

We have very little industry in Digby. Our major industry is the railroad, Digby being the terminals of the CPR and the D.A.R. We depend on it fully for transport system, i.e. transporting fresh scallops, clams and other kinds of fish.

Therefore I ask on behalf of the people of Digby and area that the Government take immediate action to intervene and bring about an early settlement to the problem which is causing the unemployment of about 75,000 men, and the loss of many millions of dollars to the economy of our country.

Gordon R. Turnbull, Mayor of Digby, N. S."

Home And Contents Complete Loss

The home of Rev. and Mrs. Frank Smith, Deep Brook, was lost Thursday morning by fire which was discovered about 8:00 a.m. by Mr. Smith.

The Cornwallis fire department was called but due to the high wind and snow there was little that could be done.

The house and all the furnishings, which included lovely linens, silver, rugs and many other items of value, were a complete loss. The garage was saved and also the car.

Mr. Smith, on discovering the fire, tried to go up stairs, allegedly to save some bonds and money, but was overcome by smoke and had to be brought to safety by John Pettipas, who went into the burning house after him.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith were taken to Mr. Pettipas' home where Mr. Smith suffered a severe heart attack. A doctor was summoned from Cornwallis and Mr. Smith was taken to the Digby General Hospital at 4:00 p.m.

Mrs. Smith is at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Gurda Rice, in Digby.

Married 57 Years

Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Hankinson, of Weymouth, celebrated their 57th wedding anniversary on January 4, when they were supper guests at the home of their son, Kenneth, and Mrs. Hankinson. Several visitors were in to congratulate them, and cards and letters were received.

Mr. and Mrs. Hankinson have 9 children, all of whom are living. In their 57 years of marriage they have been most fortunate in having no deaths in their family.

Congratulations are extended, and many wishes for many more years of happiness.

of the adverses our town has had a good year", he concluded. Mayor Turnbull, in asking the Council committees to begin working on preparing their estimates for the year, urged them to "cut them as, fine as possible as we want to keep our general government rate down to that of last year".

Tell About Visit To Jamaica

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Weir were speakers at the regular meeting of the Admiral Digby Horticultural Society, held at the home of Mrs. H. M. Warne.

Mr. and Mrs. Weir told of their visit to Jamaica and showed many beautiful coloured slides of Jamaica, New York and other places. In informative and entertaining talks, they told of the marvellous floral growths in Jamaica, the vegetation and the scenic wonders. They also told of the small animal and insect pests which invade the homes in Jamaica and make life quite exciting, especially for visitors.

A lovely book on Homes and Gardens was presented to the Horticultural Society through the kindness of Miss Norma Morehouse, of Barton.

D.F.D. Activities

The annual meeting of the Department was held January 2nd when reports and election of officers were given and made. The same slate of officers was again re-elected for the year 1957 with one change being made in the office of Assistant Captain for No. 1 company. Guy VanTassel, being unable to fill this position at the present time, declined, and Tom McInnis replaces him. This also made a transfer necessary, moving Tom McInnis from No. 2 company to No. 1 and this vacancy being filled by Charles Hall moving from the Salvage Corp to No. 2 company. Bill Mason was also moved to the Salvage Corp and Mel Nixon filled this vacancy. The usual number of committees were also appointed. A full report of the year's activities in the department will be made in the next week or two.

Official entry forms are now available for the Beard Contest sponsored by Wright's of Digby Ltd. and being judged at the Firemen's Ice Carnival on February 15th at the Digby Forum. These forms may be obtained at Wright's store or from Reginald Turnbull. Due to the delay in preparing entry forms the date of January 15th has been set as starting date for growing of beards.

One call has been received for a chimney fire at Victor Denison's, with no damage reported. At the time of the alarm there was a bad storm and on return to the Fire Station some of the men stayed on duty until the storm abated around 11:00 p.m.

In bowling activity the Smokeaters played an exhibition game with a team from HMCS Buckingham Friday, which resulted in two points for the Smokeaters and one for the Buckingham. This was a good game for all and the two teams are looking forward to a return match. League action Monday evening saw the Smokeaters go down to defeat to the Sidewinders with a loss of three points, thus putting the Sidewinders in first position in the league. In Tuesday's game the Fyrfyrs took two points from the Legion to give them six points and the Legion with three points. Other positions stand at ten points each for the H. Bombs, Smokeaters and Milkmen, with two points for the Block Busters. Thursday night will see the H. Bombs meet the Milkmen and Friday night the Block Busters meet the Rockets.

Ice Carnival committee will meet at 7:00 p.m. on Friday, January 11th, at the Fire Station.

Fire practice will be held on Wednesday evening at 8:00 p.m., January 16th. Salvage work will be on the review list.

Watch this column for announcement of card parties.

Trinity W.A. will meet at the home of Mrs. Raymond Lent on Tuesday, January 15, at 8 p.m.

About This and That

Our Paper Arrived

Along with our concern about world wide conditions, CPR vs Brotherhood of Locomotive Fireman and Enginemen railway strike and problems affecting others in our readership area, we at The Digby Courier had a major concern of our own. By some error, not necessarily our own, an order for 2 tons of newsprint, a two months supply, was forgotten to be placed. The result was that when we checked up to see where our paper was delayed before Christmas we discovered there really wasn't any shipped. Fortunately, by reducing the size of our paper, adjusting equipment to fit, we were able to manage with stock shipped to us from nearby Halifax and Saint John. Although, we have had readers ask us to continue the insert as of the January 3 issue we shall be most happy to get back to normal at the office again and get out our size sheet that has become familiar to ourselves and our readers.

It might be well to mention here that within the past six years we have increased the size of The Digby Courier from six columns to eight columns. This means that an eight page paper in the size as of now is equal to a ten page paper as of the six column size. Though the pages have not increased in number in many cases, the underlying truth is that our readers are getting more material for their money without increasing our press run. We are anticipating a slight increase in the length of the page in another two months. These progressive steps while hidden from the view of the casual reader are important to us. We are confident that The Digby Courier is a progressive paper, that it gradually serves the public better and better. We go into 1957 confident of even greater success and we are relying on the help of our advertisers, correspondents and readers to help us serve the public in the excellent manner in which we hope to do so.

A Fine Job

During the holiday season the editor of The Digby Courier, along with others, had the privilege of visiting the Municipal Home at Marshalltown. Cheer was scattered to those who make their home there by presenting gifts and joining with them in carol singing and other Christmas and New Year festivities. Groups visiting the Home are always welcome by Mr. and Mrs. Guy Thomas, who are in charge, we understand, and we recommend scattering cheer at the Municipal Home a worthy object for any organization in the year 1957. Among those who visited the Home during the past Christmas season were the I.O.O.F. and Rebekah Lodges, Digby, The Earn and Give Club of Grace United Church, St. Paul's Church at Marshalltown, and Salvation Army, Digby. That those who make their home there enjoyed the visits could readily be detected by the happy faces and the enthusiasm in which they joined in the carol singing and merry making.

Many of the visitors were given the opportunity to tour the Home. To some it was a first visit and a pleasure to see the efficiency with which the County Home seems to be run. Everything was spotless and in perfect order and reflected credit on Mr. and Mrs. Thomas. The immensity of the job and the efficient management entailed were apparent as the hostess took the parties on guided tours. As expressed by some, "Keeping the Municipal Home is not an ordinary job, it can be made an act of mercy and kindness." We judged that is how Mr. and Mrs. Thomas looked upon their job as we heard and saw at Christmas time a little bit of how the Municipal Home in Digby County is run.

$25 Reward

The above reward will be paid by the undersigned to any person laying information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of the person who during the latter part of November last in the vicinity of the road leading from the middle of Smith's Cove south to the little church on Bear River road, fired at, wounded and killed a buck deer contrary to law, the decayed body of which was found last week some five miles west from where it was hit. The circumstances connected with the supposed killing were given me at the time, but no proof, hence no prosecution. The finding of the remains now prove the unlawful killing was done by some one nearby where he and two fine does were last seen together. Should a fine be placed and collected the informer will be entitled to half of that fine for killing deer $100.00.

Game Warden.

P.S. — This is the second large buck deer found dead, the other was north of the old Sissiboo road where the Shelburne road from Digby joins it at South Range. In July, while fighting the big fire two years ago, some of the men found the remains. The horns were perfect and are now in possession of Albert Marshall, Esq., of South Range. Truly there is danger for the head that wears a crown.

Digby People Alarmed

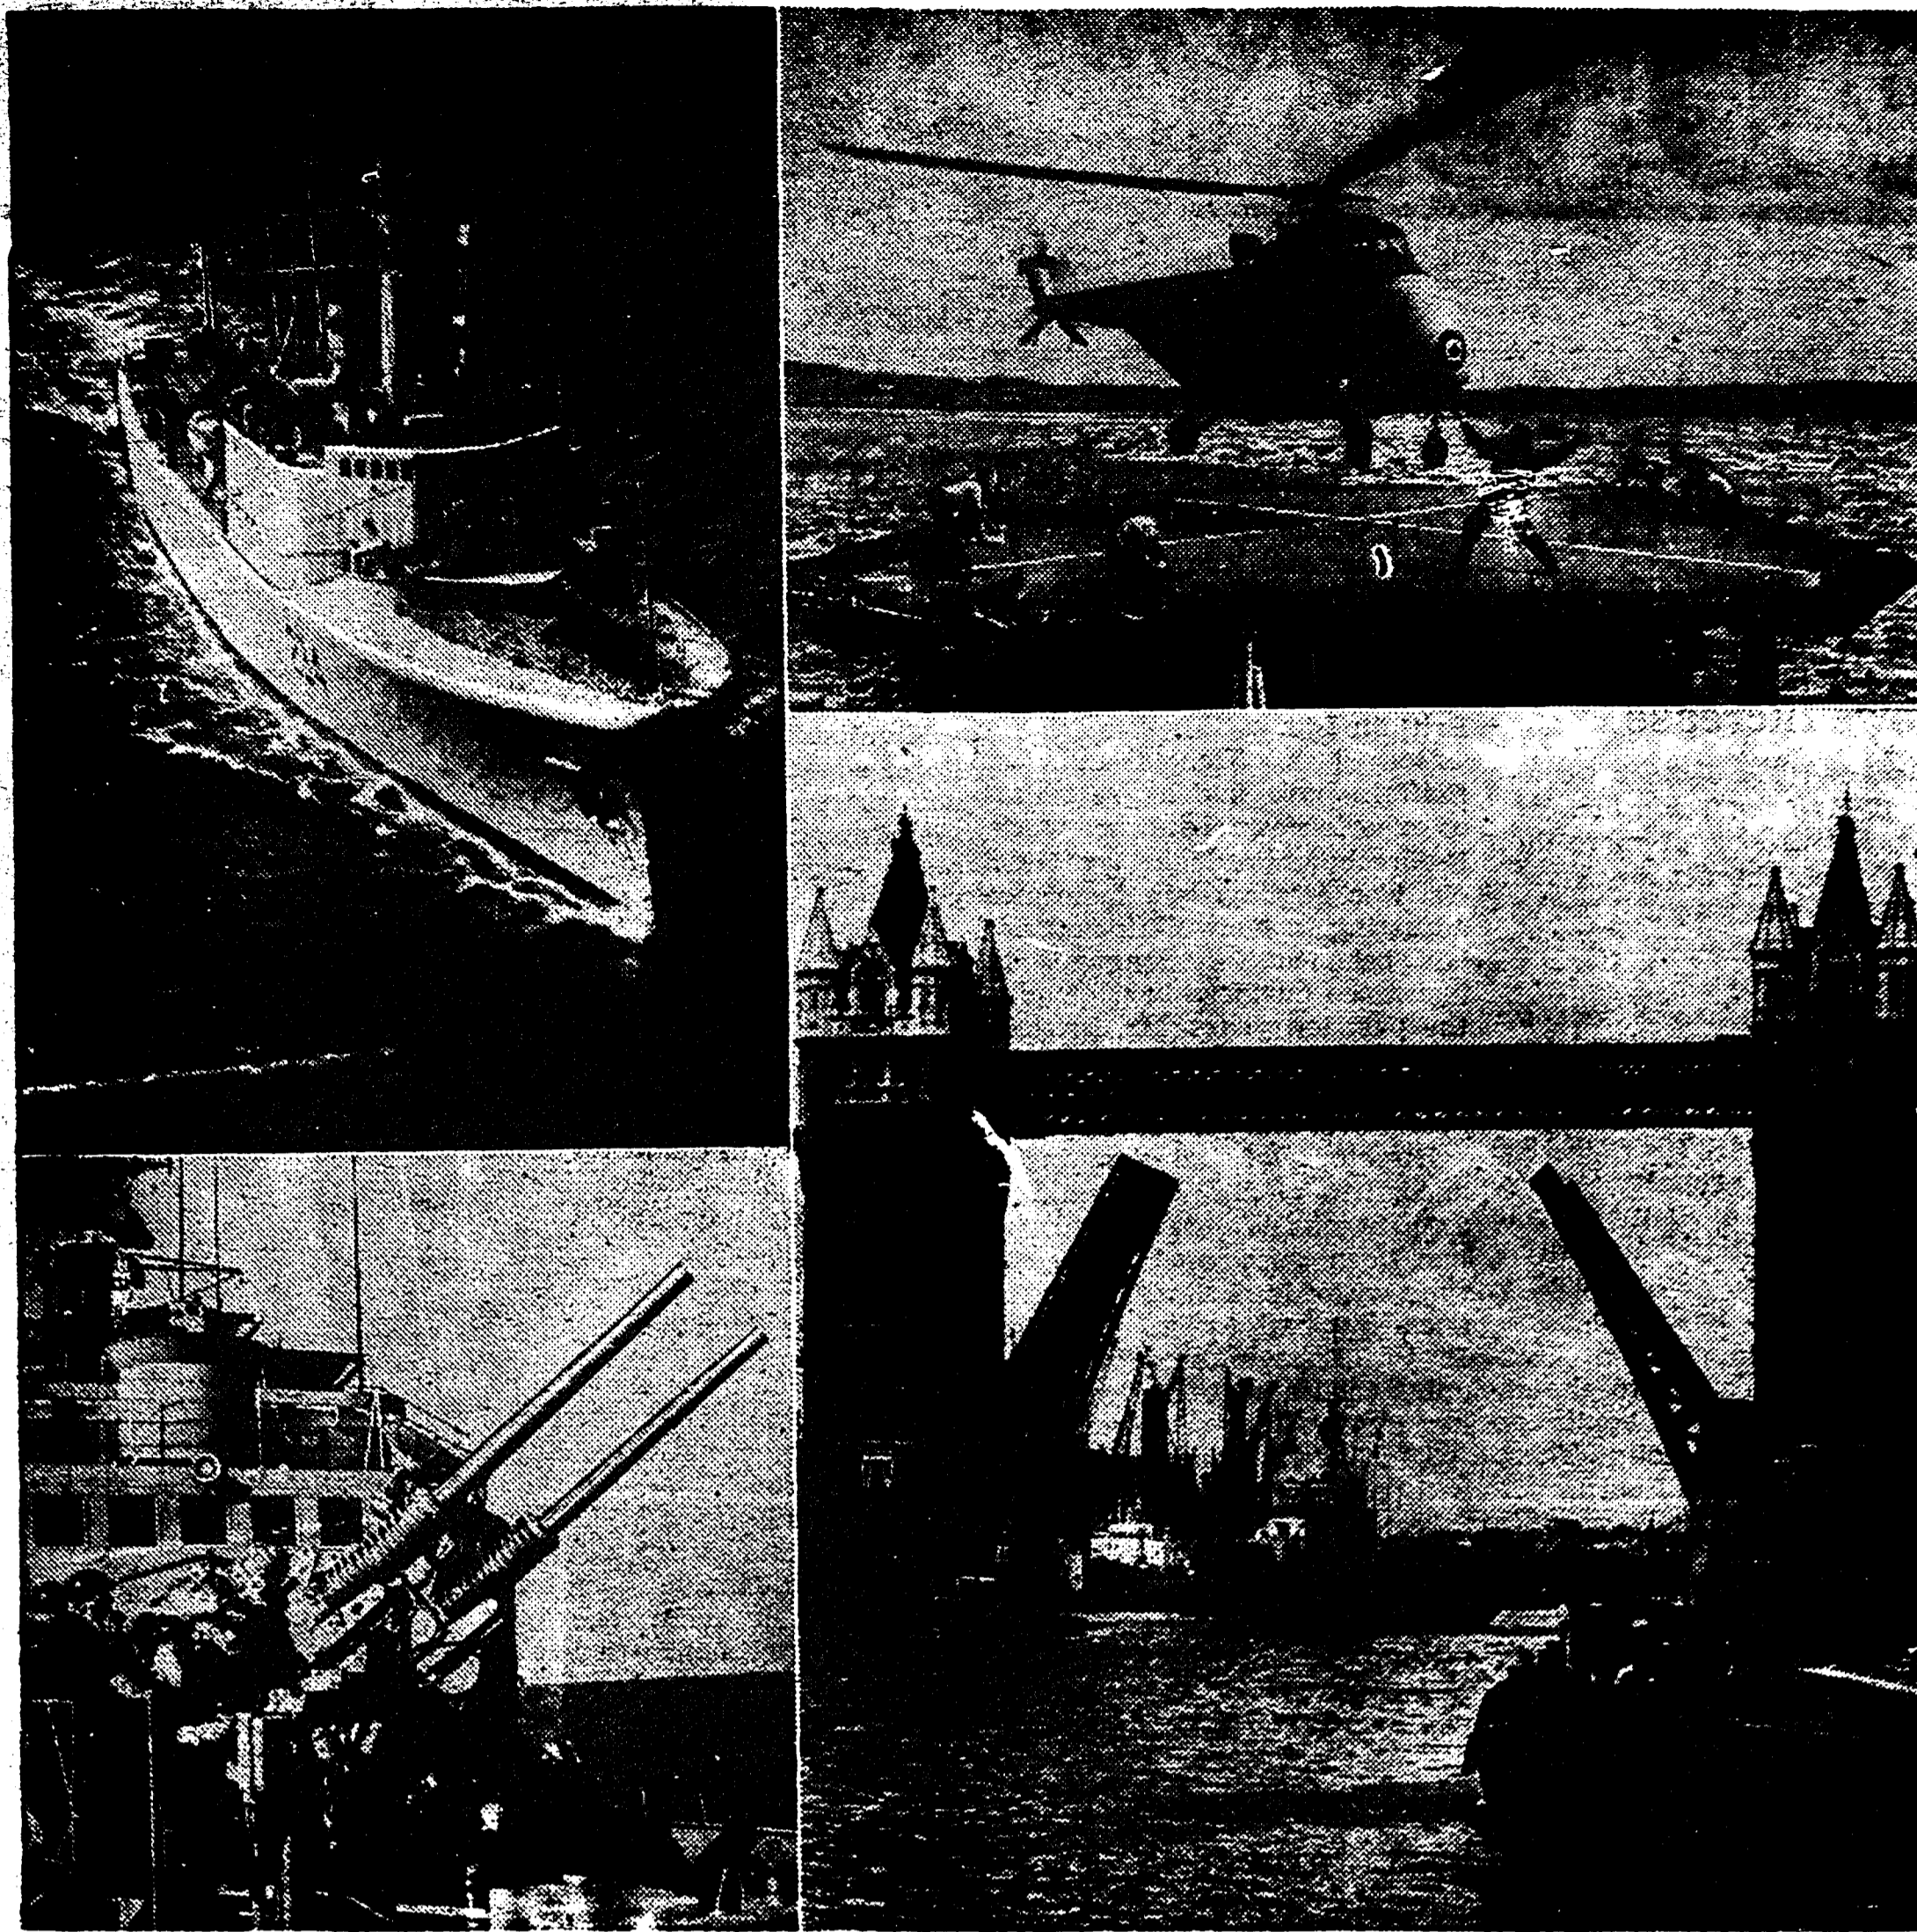

About 11 o'clock Friday night a number of "the boys" with guns, marched up First Avenue and opened fire near Mr. Angus Campbell's residence, intending it as a salute in honor of the Mowatt-Campbell wedding, a story which appears in another column. The sick and the aged became very much alarmed and to make bad matters worse, the electric lights were just at this time shut off over the entire

Some RCN Highlights For 1956

During 1956, the Royal Canadian Navy acquired new ships, 16 warships from the Atlantic and Pacific commands combined for the largest manoeuvres ever held outside Canadian waters in peace time. There were training cruises to Europe and to Japan. Three more ultra-modern destroyer escorts of the St. Laurent class joined the fleet. The first squadron of carrier-borne jet fighters, F2H-3 Banshees, was formed, and the corts now in service. Bottom left: New guns are tested on board the destroyer Algonquin. Top centre: An anti-submarine helicopter lands on the trial platform on board the frigate Buckingham. town, coming on again in a few minutes. Chief Police Bowles was soon on the scene and seizing several of the guns, put an immediate stop to the whole performance. A very proper thing to do under the circumstances. What is often a good joke in times of peace, is a serious offence in times of war.

Surprise Party at Marshalltown

The eastern portion of Marshalltown visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Whitfield Marshall on February 23 in honor of Mrs. Marshall's birthday and presented her with many lovely gifts both useful as well as substantial. The gentlemen not to be out done by the ladies, came in the afternoon with teams loaded with lovely wood cut up for the stove and many more fine gifts. Then came in the evening and partook of the sumptuous repast spread by the ladies and last but not least came the birthday cake like a mountain of snow baptized in a brilliant light of red was candles which will be a bright spot in the memory of the recipients as long as memory lasts them. The evening was very pleasantly spent in old time games and singing and all went to their peaceful homes after spending a very enjoyable time after singing God be with you till we meet again and God Save the King.

Dennie Meuse, Indian Crack Shot, Is Dead

(Was once a figure well known to visitors at Nantasket Beach) (Boston Herald Feb. 14th)

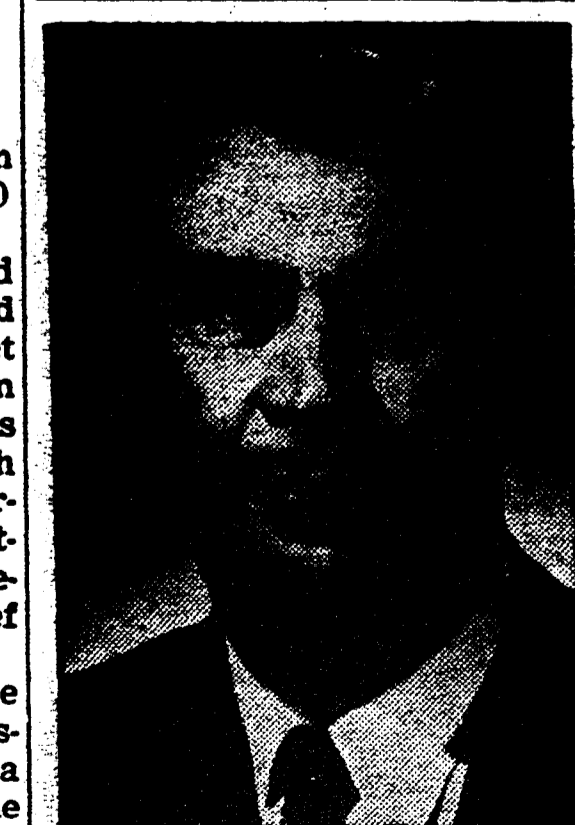

Dennie Meuse, a full blooded Indian who a decade ago used to startle visitors at Nantasket beach by shooting apples from his wife's shoulder, firing his rifle over his own shoulder with the aid of a mirror, died yesterday in his "wigwam" a comfortable house at 46 Grante Avenue, East Milton, after a brief illness.

Meuse was a member of the Micmac tribe and a direct descendant of the Nova Scotia chieftains. He was born in the Province 52 years ago and for many years lived about Digby, N. S. He came to Milton in 1888. He returned to his native woods in 1890 and brought back with him as his wife the prettiest squaw of the tribe, Hannah Givod, who became his partner in his exhibitions of expert marksmanship at summer resorts. She used to laugh when asked if she was not afraid to have her husband shoot apples from her shoulder and cigars from her lips, and say, "Why, no, Dennie can shoot." Meuse gave up the stunts some years ago, however, after narrowly missing his wife's body with a bullet. He never knew he had a right to vote until 1908, but thereafter he cast his ballot at every election. Besides his widow, he is survived by a son.

Driving Accident Sunday Night

Mr. Douglas Russe's automobile collided with a team from Hayden's livery near Mr. Oscar Morgan's residence, Smith's Cove, about eleven o'clock Sunday night. The buggy and automobile were both badly damaged and the horse severely injured. Fortunately the occupants of both rigs were but slightly hurt but certainly had a narrow escape. The automobile was only partially lighted and the team had no lights. We have on several occasions, through our columns, warned autos and teams going without lights and also boats both running and anchored on our Basin without lights. This has been the first serious accident on land in this vicinity and one on the harbor may be expected almost any dark night.

A Word About the Tea at Rossway

All those who drove from Digby to this delightful spot on Wednesday were well repaid. The drive down the Neck is very pretty. The range of hills on your right, and the latter part of the drive, the beautiful St. Mary's Bay on the left, the rich fertile farms, the comfortable houses, the atmosphere of contentment everywhere is a picture which is not forgotten. Then the arrival at the home of Mr. Robbins where the tea was held! Tables were laid on the ground simply loaded with all kinds of good things to eat, hot clam chowder, cold meats and salads, in fact everything one could wish. I think the people of Rossway had better make this an annual affair and I am also sure of a greater number going from Digby another year.

Relief Fund At $365,306

Contributions to the Canadian Hungarian Relief Fund now total $365,306. The figure represents 73.06 per cent of the national objective of $500,000.

Fund officials are urging committees throughout Canada to report their collections as soon as possible as they believe many areas have neglected to report.

G. S. Thorvaldson and G. G. Temesvary, co-chairmen of the appeal, stated contributions over the holidays were up considerably over previous weeks but stated the fund objective must be achieved or over-subscribed if Canada is to do her share of the massive relief operation in Austria and Hungary.

They emphasized all contributions to the Canadian Hungarian Relief Fund will be used to assist Hungarian refugees in Austria and Hungary. The fund is being administered by the Canadian Red Cross Society.

Contributions may be sent to the Canadian Hungarian Relief Fund, 95 Wellesley Street East, Toronto, or to any Canadian Red Cross Branch.

LOVES OF A CAR SALESMAN

When Joe, one of our salesmen, was a young buck, he really knew how to tackle a problem.

It was early February one year and Joe was looking at the display of valentine cards in the drug store. At long, long last he picked one that was draped with fancy lace and said: "To my one, my only, true love."

"Fine," said Joe, "I'll take seven of these."

Whoops... Joe just tried to hang a gasket on MY head.

Of course, Joe has changed since then as far as women are concerned. But, you know, he still has the same problem in a different way (in common with our other salesmen).

I see him out on our lot these fine days walking around patting cars affectionately on the fender. And there's a look in his eye that says "My one, my only, true love."

Yes, Joe has a hard time deciding which car on the lot he likes best.

There's that well-groomed and sleek convertible. Those smooth, new-looking sedans that purr like a kitten (or a blonde). Or a long, serviceable station wagon.

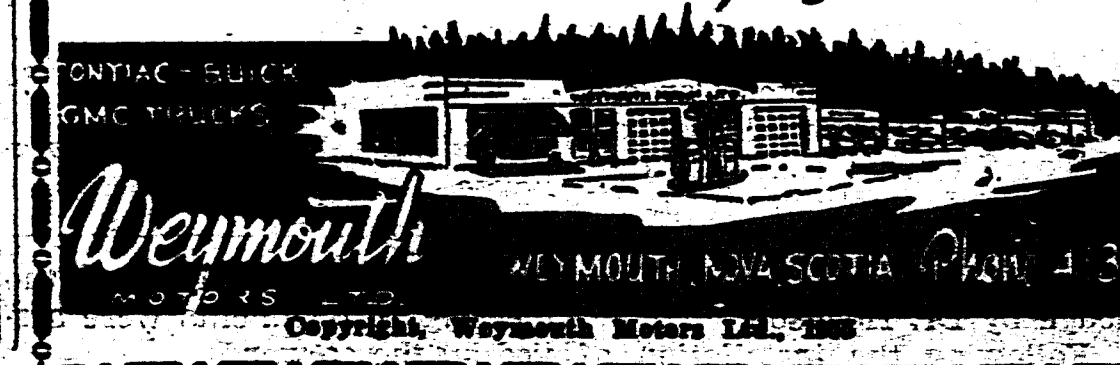

Joe has known most of the owners of these cars personally. He's checked the service records in our shop and he knows the thorough overhaul they got before being placed on the lot.

He knows there's not a finer bevy of beauties anywhere around here. He likes those cars, he's proud of them, and he tries to get to know them really well before showing them to customers.

I think you'll find on our lot, right now, your one, your only, true love.

Evacuation - Its Effect on a City Dweller

Sixteenth in a series of 24 articles

The only really sure way to save the lives of persons living in a city threatened by attack with hydrogen bombs is to evacuate them to areas out of the blast's long reach. This is easier said than done, for it creates many problems. Civil defence planners are certain, however, that none of these problems is impossible.

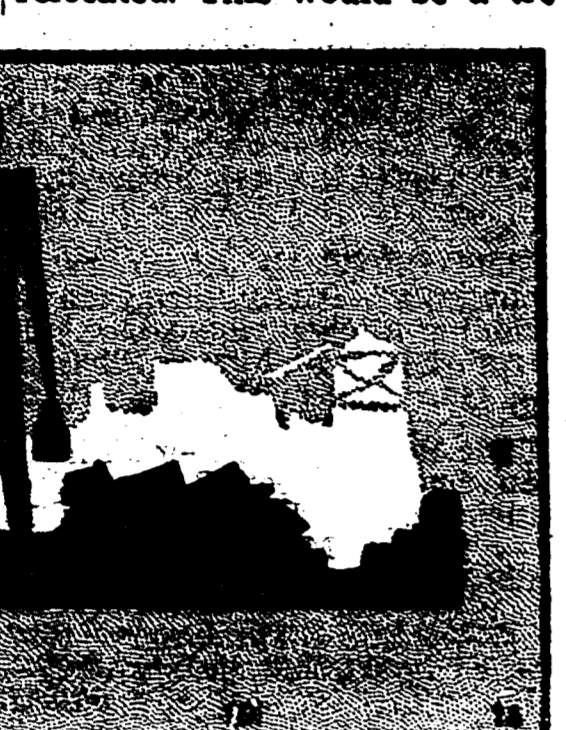

If an H-Bomb attack was on its way to North America, there would be time only to clear out. Civil defence officials emphasize that people would have to flee from wherever they happened to be in a city when the warning came.

There would be no time to return home from the office and rejoin the family. Even those at home would have time only to grab what necessities were handy.

around existing services and facilities, which include trained volunteers who know how to count and identify heads in a hurry.

The displaced city dweller will also need clothing, food, a place to sleep, and money. Civil defence aims to develop means in every community so that these essentials could be provided if war ever makes them necessary.

The H-Bomb would wipe out whole cities and make them uninhabitable for months, years or possibly even a century or two through deadly radiation. That means many city dwellers would have to be evacuated on a permanent basis. They would have to find new homes, new jobs; in short, the whole population of some of Canada's biggest cities might have to be relocated. This would be a tremendous job, but if it were thrust upon the country by an enemy aggressor, it would have to be done. Death would be the only alternative for hundreds of thousands of city residents.

The chief problem of evacuation, of course, is keeping the traffic moving. Civil defence organizers plan to divide cities into sections, each one with its own exit route and destination in the country.

But as soon as he gets into the rural area, the small town or village, the city dweller who fled with scarcely more than his life would have a whole new set of problems to face.

First in the view of civil defence planners is that of reuniting families. They feel that the first thing a man who had to leave by one route for one destination while his wife and children left by another route to another destination will want to know once he escaped the immediate danger is: "Where are the wife and kids?"

Civil defence officials believe they are solving the problem of at least arranging for families to learn where each member is once they've left the city. But it can only be done by setting up a nationwide network of civil defence organizations, built around existing services and facilities, which include trained volunteers who know how to count and identify heads in a hurry.

Worthington, Federal Civil Defence Co-ordinator, "the day of the great city with its population density is ended."

"Or certainly will be ended if and when nuclear weapons are used in warfare."

"So far as we are able to determine, the best defence against nuclear weapons is space. Once a great city, such as Montreal, has been laid low by a thermonuclear weapon... a large area of 100 to 200 square miles in that city will be rendered uninhabitable for a very long time."

"Survivors from these areas must necessarily be distributed over small communities and newly planned and built towns. I do not think that great cities will be allowed to grow again in the haphazard way of the past."

The death occurred on Friday night at the Digby General Hospital of Joseph H. Vincent, after a long illness at the age of 73 years.

Born at Bristol, England, Mr. Vincent came to Acadiaville in 1908 after serving with the Royal Horse Artillery in Ireland. Always interested in military matters, soon after arrival he joined the 27th Battery Canadian Field Artillery of the active militia, under command of Major M. C. Denton, of Digby, attaining the rank of Sergeant Major.

For many years he followed the occupation of farmer and lumberman and was keenly interested in sports, a keen rifle shot and big game hunter. In religion he was a Baptist and a valued member of the Hill Grove United Baptist Church and choir while health permitted. Possessing a very pleasing tenor voice, his services were in much demand as soloist.

Left to mourn besides his widow, Marion (Bell) Vincent, are four daughters, Margaret (Mrs. Roy Warner), Josephine (Mrs. George Franklin), Louise (Mrs. Frank Gates), Richmond Hill, Ont., and Hughina, Mrs. Butterworth, at home. A large congregation of neighbors and friends gathered to pay a last tribute of respect to one so highly regarded as a good citizen neighbour and friend.

Beautiful floral tributes paid a silent tribute of respect to the departed whose place in the life of the community will be hard to fill.

Temperance Notes (Furnished by the Order of the Sons of Temperance)

ALCOHOLISM IN CANADA IS ON THE INCREASE

Since 1953 the number of alcoholics in Ontario has jumped from 57,000 to 76,000, according to the province's Alcoholism Research Foundation.

In spite of a comprehensive program aimed at prevention and rehabilitation, the government-sponsored agency reports a climb in the rate of alcoholism from 1,780 per 100,000 Ontario adults, to 2,210 per 100,000 in three years.

Said the Toronto Daily Star in an editorial: "The Ontario government particularly, with its tremendous liquor sales, should pause to consider just where its liquor policy is heading the people of this province."

"What does the government propose to do about the losing battle... against alcoholism in this province?"

"For one thing the government might well prohibit the sully, but harmful, institutional advertising of beer which it now permits. It could also, with good results, devote more textbook space and classroom time to education on the dangers of consuming alcoholic beverages."

"One thing is obvious. Under the present system the number of alcoholics is increasing at a pace which calls for much greater government attention and action than is being given the problem now."

Frank Thorogood builds for the future

In 43 years, foreman carpenter Frank Thorogood has seen many improvements in building methods.

"Power tools, pre-fabricated sections and the use of new structural materials make all the difference," says Mr. Thorogood. "Developments like these have simplified our work—and make for stronger, more fire-resistant buildings."

In building for the future, Mr. Thorogood has enjoyed still another advantage—through the wider range of financial protection he can give his family because of modern developments in life insurance.

Life insurance gives today's families many new benefits. It not only affords them financial protection that is more flexible, but can also provide money for the children's education, for safeguarding the home mortgage, for arranging retirement income and for other purposes.

In these and other ways, the life insurance companies have progressed with the times... meeting the needs of people in all walks of life.

Life insurance companies are a major source of mortgage funds for Canadian families—last year they invested four hundred and sixty-five million dollars in this way.

SET OUT "COMPANY-BEST" BUFFET FOR NEW YEAR

Sing the praises for 1957. A brand New Year, fresh and sparkling. A bright chance at the future. Hoorsay! Who doesn't feel elated and optimistic!

After an evening of good talk and party games, the high point arrives, midnight. Here's wonderful cause to celebrate. Spread the buffet with mouth-marrowing food and bring out the coffee. Invite everyone to step up and heap the plate.

Worthy of the spotlight at the spread is a rich, hot concoction, Company-Best Creamed Ham. Have it in your chafing dish or a casserole placed over a candle warmer. Guests can spoon the mixture over crisp shoe-string potatoes; or could be over Chinese noodles, or toast, waffles or biscuits. Spiced fruit and iced celery go with the hot dish. Closing to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne", pour coffee and pass thin-sliced fruit cake.

Help yourself to an evening without effort—and use this recipe for the spread.

COMPANY-BEST CREAMED HAM
1 can (1 1/2 cups) condensed cream of mushroom soup
1/2 cup milk
1 cup cubed cooked ham
1/4 cup sliced ripe olives
4 slices buttered toast
Blend soup, milk, ham and olives in saucepan; heat thoroughly. Pour over toast. 4 servings.

CHRISTMAS CALLS FOR TOMATO-CONSUMME

TUCK TURKEY TIDBITS INTO CASSEROLE

Grand finale for the turkey—after Christmas—may well be a macaroni casserole. Turn 2 cans of macaroni (1/2 cheese sauce) into a baking dish. Add 1 cup or more of cubed turkey (or chicken). Then stir in 1/4 cup of chopped stuffed olives. If desired, top with some grated cheese. Bake the macaroni at 400°F. about 1/2 hour or till well heated. Mighty good eating. Team with fruit salad of peaches and cottage cheese.

OFFER HOT V-8 ON HOLIDAY

Ideal as a beverage at Christmas meals is steaming, hot V-8 juice. Guests will relish it to sip around the Christmas tree while they put up decorations. And they'll love it as a hot appetizer before the big feast. You might season the juice with a speck of onion or garlic juice if you like the extra flavour. Or hang a wedge of lemon on the edge of each juice glass for sharper juice flavour.

LAC St. Clair Ford is visiting his sister, Mrs. Roy Prime, and is Gaudett. She returned home Thursday. Messrs. St. Clair, Henry, Lindsay and Ernest and Miss Shirley Ford spent Saturday evening in Yarmouth.

Featuring horizontal-sweep styling, the 1957 Chevrolet looks even longer than its 200 inches—two-and-one-half inches more than last year. All bodies are lower, too, and further additions have been made to windshield area, the whole adding up to striking eye-appeal. Among the many mechanical advancements is revolutionary fuel-injection as an available option. Shown above is the Bel Air sport coupe.

SANTA COMES TO BEAR RIVER

Santa Claus made his annual visit to Bear River on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 22, when he met about three hundred and fifty children at the Legion Hall and gave each one a bag of candy and an orange. Needless to say, the children were thrilled to see him, especially as there was some doubt as to how he could manage to come down the chimney when there was smoke coming from it. Santa, however, who seems to overcome all obstacles, arrived by car.

His visit was sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion, and made possible by donations from the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Legion; the Bear River Legion; the Bear River Firemen; Friendship Lodge, I.O.O.F.; Keith Lodge A.F. & A.M.; Elita Rebekah Lodge; Cherry Blossom Chapter O.E.S.; Bear River Women's Institute; and the Bear River Home & School.

After Santa's visit all surplus candy was sent to shut-ins. We hear that on Christmas Eve Santa made visits to several homes where he surprised a number of children, who did not expect him to arrive until long after they were asleep. He regretted he was not able to visit each child at this time, but owing to a very full schedule later in the evening he found it quite impossible.

In spite of the hard walking, a goodly number gathered to hear Rev. Scott. The offering will go to the British & Foreign Bible Society.

The surface of the ground never thawed out, he said, even in the two months of "summer" when offshore navigation was open. Because of this they could keep frozen potatoes, cabbage, carrots, oranges, eggs and about 500 pounds of meat readily available beside their two year supply of canned goods. "Like anyone else at home, we had turkey for Christmas with all the fixings, and an evergreen tree air-dropped by the RCAF. Constable Stiles said they lighted oil flare pots to indicate where to drop the Christmas mail and other supplies.

Among other conveniences the station had electric lighting and used coal for cooking. Clothing was washed in a gasoline driven washing machine and the Mounties became very adept at baking their own "home made" batches of bread.

Although Alexandra Fiord rarely if ever had a visitor, other than the annual call of a Canadian or US icebreaker with provisions, the Mounties did not feel cut off or lonely because there was always radio voice contact with the outside world. The outpost was built in a location sheltered by a hill so that the deep snow did not hamper them too much. Temperatures ranged from 60 above zero in the brief summer to fifty below in winter.

During the summer, patrols were made in their trim utility boat, a small auxiliary schooner and covered miles up and down the icebound coast. In other seasons travel was only by dogsled. These sleds were about 12 to 25 feet long and weighed about 500 pounds, made from fir deals with whalebone runners. The Eskimos, Constable Stiles said, coated the runners with oilmeal or flour and water, then with ice; sometimes they used first walrus or caribou blood.

The dogsled patrols cover hundreds of miles across the frozen wastes, when night shelter is found in a snow house quickly built by the skilled Eskimo guide and the Mountie. Constable Stiles said that if a blizzard came on one of these patrols you just had to wait it out in one of the snow houses and if you thought you were lost you just found the coast and followed it back.

If there is any particular aspect of his Arctic experience in which Constable Stiles seems to take extra satisfaction it is the fact he learned to drive his own dog team, having brought up his huskies from puppyhood. He says that, contrary to popular belief that huskies are almost as vicious as wolves, he found them to be "as good natured as any other kind of dog." He said he never saw a vicious sled dog.

Although Constable Stiles saw only one fish in the frigid polar waters during his three year stay, he found a variety of other game to hunt for food and clothing. There were walrus, polar bear, seal, fox, big Arctic hare, wolves, and in the summer, ducks and geese. He said it was strange to find that, in the vast whiteness of the Arctic, not only the bears, fox and rabbit were white but also the wolf at the door. There were no caribou at Alexandra Fiord due to lack of feed, although they were numerous to the south. Some Mounties, Constable Stiles said, grow to like frozen raw caribou steak, a staple of the native diet.

Two Eskimo special constables were attached to the station with their families. Constable Stiles said they were simple, likeable folk and excellent natural craftsmen. They took great delight in the Christmas festivities and they all received wrapped gifts around a decorated tree. The natives, he said, did not learn English so the Mounties learned Eskimo. The Eskimos at Alexandra Fiord had been brought from Pond Inlet on northern Baffin Island, some 700 or 800 miles to the south but they soon adapted themselves to their new locale.

The two Mounties administered to the native's medical needs, including any illnesses among the eleven children, and got doctor's advice over the radio when necessary. No serious emergencies developed in the three years.

In contrast to the comforts at the Alexandra Fiord station Constable Stiles and his companion saw reminders not far distant that the Arctic is not always so hospitable. Forty-five miles due east is Cape Sabine where the Mounties saw a bleached skull and other bones — grim mementos of the US Army Greeley expedition which perished on the bleak shores in the 1880's.

proved by the meeting when it was urged that the provincial government compel the Maritime Telephone and Telegraph Company to provide telephone service to all areas of the province, even if the project has to be subsidized as was the rural electrification scheme. It was pointed out telephone service was a greater need in areas of scarce population in event of emergency.

The meeting called upon the Lands and Forests Department to take steps to enforce the law regarding hunters trespassing on arable land. Institution of a policy for the spraying of all infested farm woodlots to control extensive damage done by the bud-worm and the needle midge.

A resolution calling for seasonal embargo or higher tariffs on poultry products coming in to Canada was defeated. It was pointed out such policies might be in the long run detrimental to the province's primary producers.

A resolution asking that the bag limit on deer be reduced to one deer of either sex and that the season close each year on November 15th was defeated by the meeting. Opinion was expressed that a wide variation in deer population existed in the province and it was felt the resolution did not serve the best interests of the whole area.

Fears were expressed that some of the turkeys being imported into Nova Scotia from the U.S.A. were being produced through use of drugs which are illegal in Canada. A check on this was asked and strong representation urged to have the practice discontinued.

The meeting asked the provincial government to name a farmer to the Board of Public Utilities so that the interests of the province's rural dwellers might be better represented on that Board. A system of farm credit similar to that in effect in the province of Quebec was also urged by the meeting for Nova Scotia and the provincial

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL OPENS ANNUAL MEET

Tax collections in the Municipality of Digby improved in 1956 over the previous year, Warden H. E. Chisholm stated in an address before the opening session of the annual meeting of the Municipal Council here Tuesday. He said collections in 1956 were 91.9% of the total levy and represented a one per cent gain over 1955.

The general economy of the municipality has improved over the past year, Warden Chisholm stated. He said the fishing industry had improved with higher catches and a fair price. Changes in the industry, however, have brought about the use of larger vessels and trawlers, affecting the manpower involved.

So far as farming is concerned the Warden commented that there seemed to be little apparent shortage in production despite the fact many people were leaving farms and being absorbed in other industry. He stated the lumber industry had been adversely affected by rising freight rates and an adverse exchange condition. These factors, he said, had cut net returns and he said there would be a drop in the amount of timber cut this year.

Speaking of municipal operations, Warden Chisholm said all departments had lived within their budgets and it had been possible to operate during the year without overdraft. He said much of this is due to the efficient work of the Municipal Clerk and his deputy.

The Warden in his address dealt with a number of subjects relating to the economy of the area. He said increased production of electrical energy due to developments at Bear River would be of benefit to the county. The operation of the Bar Harbour ferry also has been a great factor in stimulating trade in the western part of Nova Scotia.

Councillor Daniel Kenney, of Westport, took issue with the Warden concerning his remarks about the beneficial effects of the Bar Harbour ferry and said it was of no benefit or use to the fish and lobster producers of the islands of Digby Neck since they could not get their produce to the Bluenose because of lack of adequate transport facilities across the passages which separate the islands from the mainland.

Councillor Kenney said the best market day in Boston for fish was on Monday and it was not possible to get fish to Yarmouth from the islands for transport on the Bluenose to take advantage of this.

To Stage Hamlet In Cornwallis

The final meeting of the local committee for the forthcoming Canadian Players production of "Hamlet" at H.M.C.S. Cornwallis was held on Wednesday.

The Chairman of the Committee, Mrs. Farish Owen, expressed gratification with the progress and called on sub-committee chairmen to give reports. Lt. Cdr. J. Paul, Liaison for Cornwallis, said all arrangements were satisfactory from the Navy viewpoint. Ticket sales were good on the Base. The Navy is entertaining the Players at buffet supper following the performance.

Chairman of Ticket Sales, Miss Katherine Mills, reported all tickets are out and selling well in most areas from Weymouth to Kingston. The response from Digby area is particularly encouraging. Many high school students are taking advantage of this opportunity to view something outstanding. It is advisable to buy tickets immediately to avoid disappointment.

Mrs. A. L. Morfee stated she is prepared to convene a tea on Sunday afternoon if the Players are not too weary.

Chairman of Publicity, Mrs. J. R. Kerr, reported five hundred folders were dispersed and over thirty posters placed, also letters to the high school principals and the I.O.D.E. chapters, etc. The local papers have been most cooperative in running the various news letters on Canadian Players.

Municipal Council Names Committees

Standing committees for the year were appointed Tuesday afternoon at the opening session of the Digby Municipal Council here.

Councillors R. E. Jefferson, Victor Finigan, Ronald Morehouse, Cecil Jones and Daniel Kenney were appointed to the Finance and Public Accounts Committee. Other committees appointed were Poor and Harbours: Councillors W. Cosaboom, S. Westcott, Jefferson, Jones; Tenders and Public Properties: Councillors Westcott, Jefferson, Ernest Ring; Hydro: Councillors J. W. Murley, Morehouse, Jones; Arbitration: Councillors Jones, Finigan, Kenney; License: Councillors Ring, Murley; Jury List: Councillors Ring, Westcott; By-Laws: Councillors Murley, Kenney, Morehouse; Jail: Councillors Jefferson, H. E. Lewis, Jones.

Appointments Received

L. M. Saunders has been appointed Deputy Issuer of Marriage Licenses for this district by the Department of Health of the provincial government.

Another appointment made is that of Claude Connell as Divisional Registrar of Births and Deaths.

These appointments replace those held by Fred J. May, which have been revoked.

Rail Strike Settled

Word that the strike of firemen which had tied up operations of the CPR had been settled after nine days was welcomed here last week.

The strike had brought a great deal of inconvenience to this area and had resulted in a good deal of unemployment in the Digby district. Its continuation over a longer period of time would have brought about real hardship in this as in other areas of Canada.

A Company of one of the oldest Regiments of Nova Scotia has its Headquarters at HMCS Cornwallis and holds training nights two nights a week under command of Capt. R. D. Potter. His 2nd in command is Capt. J. F. D. Fry and CSM R. E. Merwin is the Sergeant-Major.

The Company is made up of a few veterans of the 2nd World War and a great percentage of school age fellows. The training is such that it brings a recruit through his Basic Training up to Advanced training and there are courses to be had in driving, signals, machine gunner.

Along with the training there is a certain amount of fun to be had in the Canadian Army Militia. There are trips to Camp Aldershot where the fellows go on the range firing the rifle, Bren and the Vickers. Also schemes are run from Aldershot getting the fellows out in the field and teaching them what to do to protect themselves in case of an emergency.

All this is training that is good for any young man and teaches him to look after himself and live with his fellow man. The nicest part of it is that the Canadian Army Militia is a paid organization and members are paid at the same rate of pay as the regular Army for the time spent in training.

The Recruiting drive for new members is now on and all interested in Digby can contact any of the present members or inquire at Wright's Store, asking for R. O. Wright, and arrangements will be made to transport them to Cornwallis for interview with Capt. Potter.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton B. Atkinson had as a weekend guest the former's mother, Mrs. Ezra L. Atkinson, Clark's Harbor.

Mrs. G. G. Reid, Halifax, corresponding secretary of the V.O.N., who were hosts to the delegates, presided at the luncheon and W. N. Wickwire, Q.C., gave a resume of the activities of the committee formed at Lunenburg in 1953 to organize on a provincial basis. The meeting on Wednesday was the first provincial meeting.

The By-laws approved by the National Office in Ottawa were presented by Mr. Webb, Chief of its objects were "to unite and co-ordinate the local branches of the Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada within the province of Nova Scotia and to assist branches in all matters of mutual interests and to encourage close co-operation between branches and the national office of the Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada," and "to expand and improve the work of the Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada within the province of Nova Scotia and on behalf of the branches to deal with matters which are provincial in scope."

Appointed to a committee to compile facts on Victorian Order of Nurses in Nova Scotia were Dr. G. B. Richmond, Wolfville; Mrs. C. H. Sutherland, Sydney; Mr. Preston Wilcox, Truro; Mr. W. C. Porteous, Windsor; Dr. G. W. A. Burridge, Yarmouth, and Mrs. E. S. Dickie, Dartmouth.

Plans were made to hold the 1st Annual General Meeting in Halifax on Monday, April 15.

Nellie Higgins left Wednesday via the Bluenose for Boston. She will accompany her aunt, Lillie Delaney, to St. Petersburg, Fla.

Mrs. J. M. Wallis was a visitor in Halifax last week to attend a meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses for Nova Scotia. While in the city she visited with Miss Ena Robinson and with her sister, Mrs. H. D. Hird.

There were also sixteen other calls for various things, such as children locked in upper rooms, cats marooned on top of telephone poles and the like. The list of calls, the chief said, did not include silent alarms answered by drivers or other personnel.

With regard to the Fire Prevention Campaign, Chief Humphrey said the Digby department has improved its standing in these each year so that it has now reached a good standing both provincially and in the Dominion competition. He said it was his hope this standing could be further improved this year and urged full cooperation in achieving this.

The improved standing by the department in fire prevention work, the chief said, was made possible also through the work (Please turn to page 4)

Catches Owl In Snare

Nelson Vidito recently sent a splendid specimen of the great horned owl to the Nova Scotia Bird Society. Surprisingly he caught the owl in one of his rabbit snares.

It is understood grouse and pheasants sometimes become caught in rabbit snares but this is the first time that a great horned owl, which is very clumsy and ill at ease on the ground, has ever been known to have been caught in a snare.

Another splendid bird life sent to the bird society from Digby recently is an immature sharp shinned hawk. This bird, which has been preying on smaller birds in this vicinity for some little time, was killed by Mr. H. L. Woodman and sent by Miss Louise Daley to Mr. Tufts in Wolfville.

The sharp shinned hawk is one of the most vicious of the predatory hawks and confines its killing almost entirely to smaller, and sometimes quite rare birds. Unlike many of the hawk family it does not feed on rats and other harmful rodents and therefore serves no good purpose in its existence.

ed all her friends who had made the presentation possible and said it is her plan to continue in service to the church.

C. M. LEVY HEADS DIGBY TRADE BOARD

Chester M. Levy, Digby drug-gist, was elected President of the Digby Board of Trade at the annual meeting of the Board here last Wednesday night. Mr. Levy succeeds Arthur L. Robinson, retiring President of the Board.

Other officers elected include Vincent G. Snow, Vice-President, and Seymour C. Denton, Secretary-Treasurer.

Executive members of the Board, chairman of the various board committees, elected at Wednesday night's meeting include J. J. Brittain, Civic; J. P. Richards, Tourist; G. Gilliat, Labour; H. M. Warne, Membership; Howard Walker, Entertainment; John Russell, Property Improvement; Charles McBride, Transportation; F. C. Purdy, Welfare and Education; Donald Amirault, Industry; Victor Cardoza, Publicity; C. D. Snow, Fisheries; Clarence V. Snow, Finance.

Before passing the Presidency over to Mr. Levy, the retiring President reviewed the Board's activity over the past year. He said the year had not been a very active one for the Board but that all matters with which it had concerned itself had been successfully concluded with the exception of the production of the proposed tourist folder. Mr. Robinson expressed the hope this would be followed up this year.

Ice Carnival Plans Progressing

The Digby Firemen's Ice Carnival which is held every year in the Digby Forum has announced that this year's show will be all local talent and that plans are now in full swing to make this show a good one and more varied than in the past.

The show this year will feature H.M.C.S. Cornwallis Band, which will supply the music for all events except the skating numbers. This part of the program is under the supervision of Miss Judy Robinson, who some two years ago was responsible for putting on a local skating presentation which was well received and who offered to do so again this year for the Carnival.

Also taking part in the Carnival will be the Carnival's own princess, Miss Sandra Keen, who will crown the new princess this year. The new princess will be chosen from entries of the 10 year age group which is under the supervision of Mrs. J. R. McCleave.

Another feature will be the costume parade which always comes up with some unusual entries and this year is again under the supervision of Mrs. Ralph Wright.

The Beard contest will also be staged again this year with some changes in the rules of judging.

The show will also include midget hockey and clowns and novelty acts filling in between regular acts. There will also be a fifty-fifty drawing which will take place during the evening and there will also be a prize for the holder of the lucky program.

Word was received a few days ago that "Bill" Anderson, of radio station CFBC, would be master of ceremonies for the occasion.

Appointed To School Board

Announcement has been made of the appointment by the provincial government of Edgar T. Williams as a member of the Board of School Commissioners of the Town of Digby. It is understood Mr. Williams replaces Dr. L. F. Doiron as a government representative on the Board.

D.F.D. Activities

A meeting of the Ice Carnival Committee and all outside workers was held at the Fire Station on Friday evening to make further plans for this event, which will take place on February 15.

Men have been on duty at the Fire Station during the recent storms in case of calls. This means a great saving in time when the roads are heavy. On Sunday, following a call at 5:20 p.m. to Griffin's on Sidney Street, for a smoke pipe fire, it was discovered the fire alarm was frozen, necessitating the calling of men for duty until it was cleared at 10 a.m. Monday.

While the men were on duty it was overheard that some single mattresses were needed for the cots which are available for their use when they are required to stay on duty over night. Anyone having a spare mattress, which they could donate to the department, please contact any member of the department. It certainly would be appreciated by the boys who have to sleep on the bare springs.

In bowling news the Milkmen lead the parade with 15 points followed by the Sidewinders with 14 and the Smokeaters with 12. H. Bombs 10, Fyrttters 6, Busters 3, Rockets 3, Legion 3.

Report From Parliament Hill

By GEORGE C. NOWLAN

January 12, 1957.

Was it not only yesterday that this column ended with the words, "This will be the last 'Report from Parliament Hill' for this Session"? Now we are at the beginning of another Session, and it does not seem possible that those words were written last August. Certainly between the National Convention of the Conservative Party, the Nova Scotia Provincial Election and the special Session of Parliament, your Member did not have the time he expected to get around the constituency. Now we are commencing the last Session of this Parliament, and as in former years, we will try to give you a report on what goes on here from week to week, not so much what appears in Hansard, but the background of Parliament itself.

The opening of Parliament has something of the atmosphere of the re-opening of a College. Everyone is glad to meet old friends, and there is an atmosphere of "Old Home Week". This was conspicuously lacking at the opening of this Session. In the first place, the strike overshadowed Parliament like a pall, and everyone realized that action had to be taken, and taken soon. Then again, for many, this will be the last Session of their Parliamentary career. Some of the senior ones have announced that they will not run another election. Some, at least, are convinced that they will be casualties of the next Election, and there is, to some extent at least, uncertainty in the minds of all.

There were, of course, the usual parties and receptions, but even they could not dispel the serious mood which seemed to have gripped all.

Of interest to all Canada, but of particular pride to our Province, was the unveiling on Tuesday morning of a life-size statue of Sir Robert Borden. The figure, cast in bronze and mounted on a substantial granite base, stands on the Hill, just beyond the West Block of the Parliament Buildings, looking down the wide grassy slopes towards Wellington Street. It is fitting that the position occupied by Sir Robert's statue on the western corner of Parliament Hill is almost exactly opposite to that of Sir Wilfrid Laurier on the eastern slope of the Hill. The figures of these two men who, although divided, stood together in Parliament, now, although at opposite entrances, stand together on Parliament Hill.

Wednesday was Leaders' Day in the House of Commons, and of course John Diefenbaker was the centre of attention. Everyone knew him as an expert Parliamentarian, but everyone wondered how he would occupy his new role as Leader. It is one thing to be a First Lieutenant; it is a much more difficult matter to sit in lonely grandeur as the Leader, responsible for decisions and for tactics. Mr. Diefenbaker had a trying week. On Monday evening he made a fifteen minute television broadcast, which probably some of you have seen. On Tuesday evening, he had to endure the cross-examination of a television "Press Conference", where a half dozen of the best brains of the Press Gallery attempt to confuse and confound their guest. It is almost the unanimous opinion that he came through both of these ordeals with flying colours. By Wednesday, the strain of responsibility and the stresses of the two former days perhaps had taken their toll, because although he made a very effective speech, some thought that they had heard him more effective on other occasions. Of course, he was in an embarrassing position. Government supporters taunted him to say what the Opposition would do to settle the strike if it were in power. The Opposition took the stand, and the correct one, that it is the responsibility of the Government to enunciate policy, and it is the responsibility of the Opposition to press for action. Mr. Diefenbaker's speech was therefore an attack on the Government for its inaction.

The Prime Minister was at his very best, gentle, kindly and benign. He rambled on for an hour and a half, describing his golf game with the President of the United States and talking of this and that in a very discursive manner. But his speech was effective in that he created an atmosphere of friendliness that took the sting out of the Opposition's attack. He mentioned the strike only during the last five minutes of his long speech. He shrugged his shoulders, said that he thought that men of good will should be able to get together, and settle the matter, and that he was prepared to give them a reasonable time to do so. That was the carrot, but then came the club, buried in one short sentence. If they did not do so within a few days, then, of course it would be necessary to take direct parliamentary action.

For the next forty-eight hours negotiations were carried on in an atmosphere where an announcement of the settlement was expected hourly. The Prime Minister had made it clear that he thought there should be a further investigation of the "safety factor", in connection with the operation of diesel engines without a fireman. The C.P.R., of course, had taken the position that this had already been investigated by the Board of Conciliation and that a further investigation was not necessary. The Prime Minister pointed out that the public had not been interested in the former investigation by the Conciliation Board, because the public knew little about it. They had assumed this was a matter simply involving labour and the Company. Now there was a bigger issue, the safety of the public, and if a further inquiry was to be held, the public would be represented and the finding of that body would be final. I use the word "final" with some misgiving, because on that point turned the discussion of the next two days. Both the C.P.R. and the Union were willing to have the matter referred to a Board for further inquiry, although the C.P.R. did so reluctantly because it professed that such an inquiry was unnecessary, as one had already been made. However, if such a further inquiry was to be made, the Company did want an assurance that the finding, whatever it might be, would be binding on both parties. The Union refused to accept any binding obligation, because to organized labour this savoured of compulsory arbitration. The Prime Minister took the position that this public inquiry, with all its attendant publicity, would create public opinion one way or the other. If the Tribunal made a finding, particularly a unanimous one, public opinion would compel both parties to accept it, even if there had been no prior agreement to that effect. He therefore urged the C.P.R. to waive the demand for a formal agreement that the decision would be binding. On Thursday, Mr. Crump reluctantly consented to that. However, it is reported here that some of his Directors refused to bow to the Prime Minister's demand. As a result, Mr. Crump had to make a rather difficult drive back to Montreal late Thursday night, had a meeting of his Executive Committee early the next day, a stormy meeting, so it is reported, and finally Mr. Crump left Montreal again shortly after one o'clock Friday afternoon, and was closeted with the Prime Minister at 3:30 p.m. Half the Press Gallery were clustered outside his door, because everyone knew that within the next half hour, the strike would

Minister of Public Works

The Department of Public Works carried out during the past year a considerable volume of construction and maintenance work in various sections of Nova Scotia.

A new dormitory is being erected at the Nova Scotia Agricultural College, Truro, to accommodate one hundred and twenty-six students. This building, of brick and concrete construction, provides living, dining and recreational facilities and will be ready for the fall term of 1957. be settled or Parliament would have to enact compulsory legislation. At five minutes to five, the Prime Minister entered the House of Commons, carrying a short typewritten statement which he read to the House. The strike was over, the trains would move again, but the issue has yet to be decided, and may be reviewed when the Tribunal makes a report some time before next October.

Buick Century 2-Door Riviera

What's it Got that Everyone's After?

We figured folks would go for the '57 Buick—and big.

But we sure didn't figure this—the most rousing reception we've ever seen in all our years of selling new Buicks.

We're getting more enthusiastic talk—along with the signed orders—than ever before. And, neighbor, if you want to know why—listen:

This '57 Buick has that sleek low-sweep styling that today's moderns want—and it's here in extra-long measure, in the lowest Buick yet. It has the room they want—for Buick's new wide-frame chassis permits a sports-car silhouette with more interior roominess than even last year's spacious Buicks. It has newness everywhere, and newness that's wanted. . . . A smart new panoramic windshield of vaster dimensions and greater visibility. The sweet, solid surety of a new "nested" ride. A brilliant new handling and cornering and leveled braking that come of an ingenious new ball-joint suspension. It even has the modern answer for today's driving—a new Safety-Minder* that watches your miles-per-hour for you.

But even more important, this rakish sweep of automobile has a new kind of instant response—and that's the biggest reason for the soaring popularity of the newest Buick yet.

For here is performance—smooth as spun silk—unleashed by a totally new V8 engine 364 cubic inches big, and with the highest compression, torque and horsepower in Buick annals.

And here, to deliver that might, is the power-pitch action of an advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflo.* A Dynaflo of such instantaneous obedience, such smooth and versatile control in "Drive"—the need for "Low" is virtually ended.

In all truth, you've never bossed a car so keenly alive, so smooth in motion, so solid in feel. It's ahead of its time, ahead of the industry—even ahead of your great expectations.

Come check up on all this for yourself. Come drive this shoulder-high sweetheart with the strong he-and-she appeal. Come be our guest—today.

D.F.D. REPORTS

done by the fire wardens and stated this group had been re-organized in the past year and had aided materially through their efforts to have fire hazards in the town corrected before any fires resulted. He said estimates had placed fire loss in Digby in 1956 at $3,650.00.

Fire Department President A. Reginald Turnbull in his report said the department had carried on many activities above and beyond the work generally required of a fire brigade. Many of these activities had been most beneficial to the community and its people, he said, although necessarily they had received little publicity. A scrap book and record account was being kept, he said, of all of the various activities and community projects undertaken and participated in by the department.

A full program of training in fire fighting had been carried on during the year, Mr. Turnbull said, and this would be continued in order to keep up with new methods and equipments and to teach recruits proper fire fighting procedure.

One of the most important efforts of the year, he said, was the formation of a Salvage Corps to work in conjunction with the department and to supply the department with recruits when vacancies occur. The corps, he said, is rapidly taking shape but still requires a good deal of work in training and organization to make it fully efficient. Lack of salvage equipment presents a difficulty, Mr. Turnbull said, but efforts are being made to have this supplied.

During the year repairs have been made to one of the department trucks, damaged in an accident some time ago. This truck is now back in service, he said, and has been turned over to the salvage corps to handle equipment. Minor repairs were also made over the year to sirens, signs and other equipment. Warning lights and sirens were also installed on department trucks.

The department had enjoyed an active year financially, Mr. Turnbull said. The sum of $4354.45 was raised through various efforts and $4000.53 expended on equipment and other requirements. He mentioned also that donations from many individuals and business firms in the town had enabled the department to purchase an additional Scott Air-Pak and tank which was much needed to supplement the one already in use.

In his report of the fact the department also maintains a resuscitator at the Digby General Hospital for emergency use there. This machine is also available for emergency use wherever it is needed in cases of drowning, persons being overcome by smoke and other such happenings. The department also maintains a room at the hospital.

Speaking of community effort participated in by the fire department, Mr. Turnbull said these included providing special police for traffic duty and at the Forum. During the year the department also took over the job of maintaining the flower gardens at the railway station after the DAR stated they planned no longer to keep these up. In this work the department was assisted by the garden clubs in the community.

During the year a Rifle Club had been formed and was now operating under its own officers. The annual Ice Carnival sponsored by the department, Mr. Turnbull said, has proved a most effective way of raising needed funds for equipment purchase. The department also sponsors the annual July 1st parade and the Santa Claus parade at Christmas time. The Ice Carnival also assists the Recreation Commission in raising funds for the Forum.

Participation in all these community events, Mr. Turnbull said, is only an adjunct to the regular work of the department and the men are kept very busy. Despite this, he said, there is never any lack of volunteers to stand watch at the fire hall in bad storms or when the fire sirens are out of commission. He expressed the thanks of the department to all in the community who had assisted in any way in projects sponsored by the department.

TO STAGE HAMLET

those who are anticipating the production of Shakespeare's "Hamlet" sponsored by the Annapolis District Drama Group at H.M.C.S. Cornwallis Recreation Centre Theatre.

William Hutt is one of Canada's most versatile actors. His voice and face are known to TV viewers, radio listeners and theatre goers throughout this country. He learned his stagecraft in the "do it yourself" way. He returned from the wars with a Military Medal, and the strong desire to be an actor. In 1946 he started on his career.

Four years ago famous director Tyrone Guthrie, with his unerring instinct for great stage potential, singled him out whilst auditioning for the Stratford Shakespearean Festival. Since then he has been cast in every production produced at the Festival. This year he will be touring with Canadian Players from Stratford, Canada, as Hamlet. Hutt is delighted to have been handed this theatrical plot, and says there is not a serious actor alive who does not long for the opportunity to play this taxing role.

Canadian Players' Deborah Turnbull is typical of the many talented young Canadians who, in a matter of less than five years, have brought Canada out of the theatrical wilderness to the spotlight of the international stage. Ever since childhood, Miss Turnbull has known what she wanted to do and has pursued her aim with unwavering determination. As a school girl, she knew the value of training and used to cross the border from her native Welland, Ont., to study at the Studio Theatre in Buffalo, N. Y. Throughout her years as a student at the University of Toronto, Deborah devoted all of her spare time and her summer vacations to the theatre. She was a member of the Straw Hat Players of Gravenhurst, The International Players of Kingston, and also worked with summer companies in Niagara Falls and Peterborough.

Touring with the Canadian Players for the first time, Miss Turnbull plays Ophelia in the Players' production of "Hamlet" and the roles of Solveig and Anitra in "Peer Gynt". These roles run the gamut from deep and tragic to the broad farce and offer a challenge to any actress. Miss Turnbull takes up the challenge and turns it to the great advantage of both herself and the Canadian Players.

Friends of Miss Minnie Amireault will regret to learn that she fell recently and broke her wrist.

The regular meeting of Tuscan Lodge, No. 111, A.F. & A.M., was held at the lodge rooms on Wednesday evening. Due to various circumstances installation of officers will not be held until the February meeting.

Sympathy is extended to Rev. and Mrs. Frank Smith in the loss of their home by fire and in Mr. Smith's resultant illness. Rev. Smith has been supplying the pulpit of the Riverside Baptist Church for the past several weeks. There will be no services in the church until further notice.

News has been received here of the death of Mr. Robert Curtis, of Clementsvalle, on Saturday. Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Curtis who survives. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis resided here prior to moving to Clementsvalle.

The stormy weather this past week has resulted in the curtailment of activities in the village. With no train services and buses running off schedule or not at all, there has been little travelling. Back roads, although passable, have slowed up school buses and the mails. The loading of the M.V. Rignor Nielsen has been held up due to the fact that the men have been able to work only part time. Many large transport trucks have found the hills of Weymouth hard going and have had to have a helping hand from other trucks to mount them.

Now that the ground is covered with snow, the birds are having difficulty in obtaining food. It has been the practice of some of the merchants here to feed the birds during the winter months. We were sorry to see on Sunday, when the village is more or less deserted, young boys with an air rifle picking at the birds when they were trying to eat. We hope that parents whose sons may have air rifles will speak to them about this.

Mr. Tom Bartlett, Annapolis Royal, spent the weekend at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fitz-Gerald have returned to Halifax after spending the holidays with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Burton.

Misses June and Anita Cosman, Danvers, recently visited their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Burton, Weymouth Mills.

Geoffrey Journey, who has been visiting in Saint John and Montreal, has returned to Weymouth.

Mr. L. B. Miller, Halifax, is in town on business.

The meeting adjourned with the Mizpah Benediction.

At the regular meeting of Elta Rebekah Lodge, No. 82, the following officers were installed for the year:

Rec. Sect'y., Sis. Iris Cress.
Fin. S., Sis. Viola Cress.
Treas., Sis. Phyllis Read.
Warden, Sis. Marion Ruggles.

Gordon MacDonald accompanied his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Burton, to Halifax and will visit with them for a few days. He will also visit his aunt, Mrs. Carl Fitz-Gerald, and Mr. Fitz-Gerald, of Halifax. This is Gordon's first visit to Halifax and his great desire is to cross the Angus L. Macdonald Bridge. We hope he has a pleasant trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Burridge of Hectanooga, spent the weekend with their daughter, Mrs. Cecil Aker, and Mr. Aker. An executive meeting of the Cancer Society was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. E. A. Fergusson.

At the time of writing Mr. Charlie Dahlgren is confined to his home with blood poisoning in his hand.

Messrs. Willis Mullen and Gilbert McGowan attended the funeral of Mr. Robert Curtis, Clementsvalle, on Monday.

Congratulations are extended to Owen Hankinson who won a pair of roller skates for his entry in the Disneyland contest. Mrs. John Dunkley, who is presently residing in Barton, is spending a few days here this week as guest of Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Melanson.

Miss Marion Hayes, who has spent the past three weeks visiting her sister, Mrs. Victor Nickerson and family, MacAdam, N. B., has returned home.

Clifford Thurber, Truro, is spending some time with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Winslow Thurber.

Miss Lucy Mullen has returned to Halifax after spending the holidays with her mother, Mrs. Frank Mullen. She was accompanied by her mother who will spend the next couple of months in Halifax.

Miss Elene Brooks and Mrs. Kerr Vibert, Montreal, recently visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Brooks. Ervin Brooks, Halifax, spent the weekend with his parents.

The newly organized Kiwanis Club met at the Goodwin Hotel on Monday evening. The program included "a model meeting."

In a recent issue of "The Maritime Baptist" announcement is made that Lie. Howard and Mrs. Taylor, Falmouth, N. S., have been accepted for Foreign Mission Service in Angola, Africa.

Lie. Taylor is the elder son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Taylor, of Halifax and Barton, and Mrs. Taylor is the former Marilyn Marshall, of Halifax. Howard's father is well known in Weymouth having been a guest soloist at the United Church here while in residence at Barton.

Year End Review

HON. E. C. LEVY, Q.C.,
Minister of Municipal Affairs

During the year 1956 the Municipalities of Nova Scotia have made steady progress in meeting their problems, improving their administration and providing increased services for their people.

Perhaps the outstanding feature of the year was the report prepared for the area of metropolitan Halifax. This was the result of the work of a committee representing the Province, the City of Halifax, the County of Halifax and the Town of Dartmouth. Purpose of the report was to provide a basis for meeting in an orderly manner the need of providing services to the metropolitan area, particularly in the field of water, sewers, communications and planning.

The report was to determine what services were required, how they could be provided and the order in which the work should be done. During the late part of the year this report was submitted. It is a complete report on the requirements of the area. The carrying out of all the suggestions and recommendations would require the expenditure of a large sum of money.
A Committee has now been created representative of the Province and the three municipal units involved, which will study this report and make recommendations as to how best it can be acted upon, what parts should be implemented, the order in which they should be done and by whom they should be carried out.

JAMES MUIR QUESTIONS IF
HUMAN RESOURCES AS EFFECTIVELY
AS HER NATURAL RESOURCES

Present teachers' salaries make decent living standard impossible for those who train and mould character of youth.
Effective control of inflation may not be possible without broader central bank powers.

The "depressed occupational status" of Canadian teachers, in churches, schools and universities, and the dangers posed by our apparent neglect of those responsible for the training and building of the moral character of our youth were emphasized by James Muir, Chairman and President of The Royal Bank of Canada, in his address at the bank's annual meeting in Mon-real on Thursday, January 10th.

"It is clear enough that the economic resources at the disposal of our schools and universities and even of many of our churches are insufficient to maintain decent living standards for the devoted men and women whose life work it is to train the minds and develop the character of our young people," said Mr. Muir. "In this we are failing to make the fullest and wisest use of key human resources; we are failing to give them a reward consistent with their equity or incentive; and we are endangering therefore the future welfare of our whole

CRISIS IN EDUCATION

"The present economic position of the teaching profession is an anomaly. The economic position of all teachers has deteriorated relative to other professions of comparable training and responsibility, and relative to the working force as a whole.
Thus the teacher today finds himself in the same occupational 'depressed area' which he occupied as long ago as 1776.
With the present disparity between the salaries we pay our teachers, and the salaries we pay for comparable talent elsewhere, we cannot expect to recruit or to retain enough qualified men and women to maintain our present teaching standards in our schools and universities."

"Here then is a case where the allocation of our human resources would seem to be unresponsive to the ordinary operation of the price mechanism.
But this is only partly true. In fact, the supply of teachers is likely over a period of time to be only too responsive to the price mechanism; the market will work only too well and we shall lose much of what is best in our educational practice through the spread of too small a staff over too many courses and students, and through the deterioration of the staff itself.
"We as citizens must, through government, business, or individual action ensure that our schools and universities are provided with sources of funds sufficient to attract, to retain and to replenish those human resources of talent, training and experience that teaching requires."

INFLATION STILL THREAT

The continuing threat of inflationary pressure, some of them from new and unexpected quarters, was also emphasized by Mr. Muir, who expressed the view that it might be necessary to enlarge the powers of the central bank if we were to keep under full control the forces which threatened the integrity of our money.

"It is now nearly fourteen months since the Bank of Canada came to real grips with the problem," said Mr. Muir. "The battle is a stiff and continuing one, and victory has not yet been achieved. And in this battle, unenlightened selfishness is, perhaps, the most dangerous 'misguided missile' combating those who would confine inflationary forces and preserve the integrity of our money."

Municipal Affairs appointed its first Director of Assessment.
Among the duties of this official will be to assist municipal assessors, officials and councils with their assessment problems. During the past the assessments of many of our municipalities left much to be desired.
During the last five or ten years there has been an increase in interest taken by municipal councils with the result that in about one-half of our municipalities the councils have approached the problem on a systematic basis and have prepared re-assessments. The desire of such councils to improve their assessments is to be commended.
Others are now considering the matter and on the basis of information which has reached us it would seem that a number of

CAN PRESENT CURBS HALT INFLATION?

"There are at least two sources of inflationary pressure which the central bank, with its present powers, will find it difficult to reach," said Mr. Muir.

"First, it is possible, even with no increase in the money supply, to increase the activity of that supply by putting otherwise idle funds into the hands of spenders through the ordinary devices provided by the capital market."

"Second, it is possible, with no increase in the money supply, to increase the funds available to businessmen and consumers from sources other than the financial institutions ordinarily controlled by our monetary authorities."

"In both cases, we have, in the classic phrase, an increase in the 'velocity of circulation,' but the implications for policy are sufficiently different to merit separate treatment."

"It would seem to be at least open to doubt whether the present facilities and techniques available to our monetary authorities are sufficiently wide in scope to deal with present-day problems of credit control. The classical weapon—upward movement of interest rates, largely through commercial banks—may by itself prove an impotent policy. It may be taking too positive a view of a distant scene, but it would at least appear that, in order to be fair and in order to achieve the best results, our monetary and credit control may have to embrace a wider area of our financial world than it now does."

"A rigorous monetary policy has already enjoyed a large measure of success in the traditional area of bank credit. Its over-all success may depend in large measure on the efficacy of the voluntary arrangements already reached in the non-bank area, or on the extension of credit control by the central bank or other organs of government to include this increasingly important source of liquid funds."

"The Bank of Canada and the chartered banks have co-operated within the broad framework of monetary policy to reduce to almost negligible proportions the net inflationary effect of chartered bank operations."

"Consumer credit continues to expand, but consumer credit directly or indirectly financed by banks fell off significantly in 1956. For example, personal loans by chartered banks fell off during the second half of the year, while similar loans by loan companies and credit unions continued in 1956 the rising trend established in 1955. Retail consumer credit by instalment finance companies rose through 1956 to a new high, while chartered bank loans to instalment finance companies fell steadily during the second half of the year."

"These favourable results, so far as chartered bank credit is concerned, were due to a monetary policy that kept the brakes on the expanding money supply, thereby allowing market rates of interest to rise with the increased demand for funds."

Total Deposits have now passed $3¼ billion mark

K. M. Sedgewick, General Manager, noted that not only had the assets of the Royal Bank reached the imposing total of $3,571,298,320 but that deposits had passed the $3¼ billion mark, both new high points in Canadian banking history.
"While our loaning policy during the year was a restrictive one," said Mr. Sedgewick, "in line with our agreement with the Bank of Canada, yet the buoyancy of our economy demanded that we accommodate many deserving clients with new or increased lines of credit. For this reason, the commercial loans of the bank increased by $125,000,000 or just over 10%."
The bank's liquid position, he pointed out, continued strong, total quick assets of $1,958,263,- 058 representing 57.86% of the bank's liabilities to the public.
Capital Funds now stand at $187,701,633, representing an increase of approximately $36, 000,000 during the year."

"In spite of lower balances in Government accounts of some $45,000,000," said Mr. Sedgewick, "deposits of the bank increased by approximately $216,000,000.
The number of our depositors grows steadily and we receive much satisfaction in realizing the high percentage of the country's population who deal with us." Earnings for the year were $12,467,268, after providing for depreciation and income tax.
This figure compares with $10,- 858,480 in the previous year."

Mr. Sedgewick discussed the bank's extensive building and renovation programme, and mentioned that branches and sub-branches operating in Canada numbered 797, while those abroad totalled 75.

ROYAL BANK ABROAD

"International banking on a broad scale has been a special characteristic of the bank for a long period," said Mr. Sedgewick. "It has long been our policy to select business carefully and, as a result, the asset position of our Non-Domestic branches continues at a high standard. For over ten years, a special section of the bank's Foreign Department has been devoted to the development of information necessary to those engaged in trade, and the permanent staff of this department is augmented by the flow of senior men between overseas branches and Head Office." This, Mr. Sedgewick mentioned, makes the bank well equipped to render a specialized and essential service to clients and others engaged in foreign operations. He stressed that in an organization such as the Royal Bank, there are always worthwhile opportunities for young Canadians who have special aptitudes and are interested in a banking career abroad."

"In addition to overall policy on money supply and money rates, the Bank of Canada continues the ban on term loans, as well as its requirement, fully effective in May, 1956, that chartered banks maintain second-line reserves of treasury bills and day-to-day loans sufficient, with existing statutory cash reserves of 8 per cent, to establish a 'liquidity ratio' of at least 15 per cent of deposit liabilities."

WIDER POWERS NEEDED

Despite the effective measures already taken, Mr. Muir felt that there were at least two sources of inflationary pressure which the Central Bank, with its present powers, would find it difficult to reach (see box). "It would appear," concluded Mr. Muir, "that in order to be fair and achieve the best results, our monetary and credit control may have to embrace a wider area of our financial world than it now does." The problems of Canada today, he said, were the natural problems of a growing country and of an economy that has great potentialities for growth and development."

ion respecting education finance. This transferred the cost of school construction and the residual cost of operation, from local school trustees to the rural municipalities. Accordingly the taxes formerly levied by local school trustees are now being levied entirely by the rural municipalities. However, in addition to this, the cost of providing other municipal services continues to increase just as has been the case in all other activities. We still seem to be in an inflationary period with costs continuing to rise. Part of the increase in the cost of municipal government is also accounted for by the fact that many municipalities are providing new services and better services than those they provided heretofore.

During the year the Department of Municipal Affairs conducted its fifteenth Annual Refresher Course for Municipal Clerks, Treasurers and other Finance Officers. The attendance at this course is believed to have been the largest in its history. This is indicative of the interest taken in their work by municipal officials generally. As a matter of fact no review of the year's operations of municipal government would be complete without a word of commendation for all those persons, both elected and appointed, who give long hours of service to the work of municipal government. The elected officials give their services frequently without any compensation but practically always for a token remuneration. They are splendid examples of the democracy of which this nation boasts. While appointed officials are paid, their pay is frequently inadequate and the hours of service required of them are generally unreasonable. It is very doubtful if the people of Nova Scotia give anything like sufficient appreciation to the time and labor provided for them by public servants. The year 1956 has been no exception in this respect.

Taken as a whole our municipalities have made slow but steady progress. There are problems still to be solved and it is likely that there will always be problems of one kind or another. It is by meeting and overcoming difficulties that civilization has advanced. In this Province of Nova Scotia we pride ourselves on giving careful consideration to every difficulty and on our prudent administration. There is every reason to expect that these virtues will be exemplified in 1957 just as they have in years passed. General conditions in our municipalities are good and their financial standing is sound. There is no doubt that they will continue to move forward in 1957.

GRANVILLE FERRY SUNDAY SCHOOLS PRESENT PROGRAM

A very fine program was presented in the United Baptist Church at Granville Ferry recently by members of the Sunday School, under the direction of Mrs. R. H. Bond. Scripture readings, recitations, solos, duets and exercises were given in a very pleasing manner by members of the joint Baptist and United Sunday Schools.

Mrs. Walter Milo presided at the organ and duets were sung by Vesta Littlewood and John Mills, Janet Green and Sheila Dexter, and Donna Meisner and John Mills. Vesta Littlewood sang a very lovely solo.

At the close of the program the Sunday School superintendent, Mr. J. P. Littlewood, made a few interesting remarks, as did Mrs. Gordon Mills, one of the Sunday School teachers. A goodly number were present and greatly enjoyed the very fine entertainment.

ANNUAL CHURCH PARTY

A most enjoyable party for members of the congregation of the Granville Ferry United Church was held in the church vestry. This is an annual event and as usual a most enjoyable evening was spent. A jolly sing-song was the beginning of the evening's entertainment, which was followed by contests and games that were fun to play and

CARS ARE MY LIFE

by Ken Hankinson

THE WORLD'S MOST ELEGANT CAR

The story is told in car-building circles of an elegant dinner in 1927 when an English lady sat next to the French automobile manufacturer Etienne Bugatti. She remarked to him: "Of course everyone knows you make the finest racing cars in the world, but for a town carriage of elegance, one still must go to Rolls Royce."

Bugatti was enraged. He went back to his factories in Alsace-Lorraine, where he ruled like a feudal baron, and set about to make the world's most elegant car. It was the Bugatti La Royale — which cost $30,000 for the chassis alone, the coachwork was extra.

It had a wheelbase of 14 feet, two inches. From the windshield to the radiator cap measured exactly seven feet.

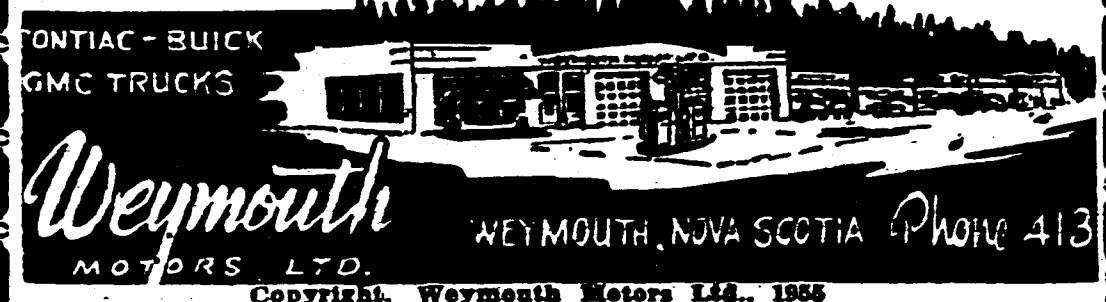

But 1929 came soon after and Bugatti made only seven of his elegant monsters that could ride dead smooth at three miles an hour or speed at 125.

One that was owned by King Alphonso of Spain, had a $13,000 convertible body added to it. During the war, a man with a knowing eye found the car in a New York junkyard and bought it for $350.

That was probably the world's greatest used car bargain and not, I'll admit, the sort of thing you'll find at our place. But — our prices are the lowest, and it's good to remember that the price you pay for a used car is not only the price at the lot but also the money you spend for repairs. That's where our tested used cars score, because every car is gone over by our best mechanics before it ever sees the lot.

Who made the world's most elegant car? We don't know for sure, but a car we'll tell you about next week must come close to capturing that title.

he said, if the fishing industry on the islands is to meet competition and market its produce. At present, he said, the system of small boats towing scows was not at all adequate and could not operate in any breeze of wind.

Processors of fish on the islands, Mr. Kenney said, are paying the highest prices in Nova Scotia for their fish and yet they are handicapped in marketing it because of inadequacy of the ferry service to get their finished product off the islands.

Fishermen on the islands of Digby Neck, he said, are not benefitting from government assistance to the industry and should be given consideration because of their isolation.

Speaking of taxation, Councillor Kenney said municipal taxes were becoming a heavy burden to the people of the islands and he said assessments had doubled over a four year period. He acknowledged a change in the method of assessing fishing boats had been adopted which resulted in a lowering of these assessments but stated they were still not right. He cited cases where some boats were assessed at 10% of their cost while others had a 30% assessment.

Councillor Cecil Jones stated it was his opinion a petition concrete proposal should be submitted to the Council from the Islands regarding transportation difficulties so that the council could deal with it and make recommendations to provincial authorities.

M. S. Leonard, M.L.A., appeared before the meeting and spoke briefly. He assured the Council of his desire to co-operate fully with them in efforts to assist the development of the area.

Dealing with the matter of snow removal, Mr. Leonard reminded the Council this was still a legal responsibility of the municipalities but that the provincial government had accepted a great deal of actual responsibility.

So far as the municipality of Digby is concerned Mr. Leonard said that despite the fact this municipality had more plows per mile than others in the province, there were not enough machines to do a 100% job in weather conditions such as now prevail. He paid tribute to the job being done by the operators who, he said, were working almost beyond their capacity in efforts to clear the roads.

Mr. Leonard assured the council government plows would do their best but again reminded them that emergency situations might arise due to weather conditions when the municipality would have to assume some responsibility in regard to snow removal.

In reply to a question concerning sanding of the roads Mr. Leonard said the government had not authorized any sanding on secondary roads. He stated he felt it was a primary duty in snow removal to see that main roads were kept open and that, in order not to impede the educational program, that roads over which school busses travel must also be opened as quickly as possible.

Snow plows, Mr. Leonard said, had been stationed in the municipality where it was felt they could be most effectively used and that an extra plow had been added this year. He said that the snow plow located on Long Island was intended for the plowing of both that and Brier Island.

BOARD OF TRADE ANNUAL

In his remarks Mr. Robinson said there were two matters which he felt the Board should actively consider this year. One of these, he said, was the matter of improvements to the highway approaches to the town and the other an all-out program to publicize the scallop fishing industry in this port. He thanked all members of the Board for their cooperation during the year and wished the new President and officers success.

Mr. Levy thanked the group for the honor conferred upon him and urged that everyone work together for the success of Board of Trade programs. He said meetings would be held regularly on the second Tuesday of each month and suggested a bulletin, outlining previous month's activities and the agenda for the next meeting be circulated among the membership prior to each month's meeting.

A report on the meeting of the AVABT at Kentville to consider the current CPR transportation tie-up was given the meeting by Vincent G. Snow, only Digby Board member who attended the gathering (others were prevented by a severe storm).

Considerable discussion followed Mr. Snow's report but it was decided any further action on the strike situation by the Digby Board would await receipt of copies of resolutions passed by the AVABT.

The matter of marketing of locally produced agricultural products was brought to the attention of the meeting by Victor Cardoza, who stated representatives of agricultural organizations in the county were anxious to meet with the Board to discuss this matter. It was decided these representatives would be invited to meet with the board at the regular meeting in March.

Steps toward industrial development were also taken at Wednesday night's meeting by the Board when it was decided the secretary be asked to write to a food processing company and fish canning concern with regard to advantages possessed by this area for possible location of plants here.

The matter of efforts made by the board to have a causeway rather than a bridge erected at the site of the present Joggin Bridge was discussed at the meeting. M. S. Leonard stated he had taken this matter up with the Minister of Highways. Plans for the proposed new bridge had been completed and the steel ordered some time ago, he said, and he was advised that any changes would be most difficult. Construction of a causeway would also pose problems, he said, since tidal waters were involved as well as the possibility of land flooding in the area.

VOLUME LXXXIII, No. 21

Barn Felled By Gale

Gale force winds which accompanied the heavy rain here yesterday blew down an unused large barn on the old Royal Hotel property in Digby. The barn collapsed from the buffeting of the wind shortly before ten o'clock yesterday morning.

The fire department was called out for two minor blazes early yesterday morning but both were extinguished without damage. The rapidly melting snow caused flooding in a number of Digby basements and firemen were kept busy with an auxiliary pumper clearing these of water.

Some damage was done to town streets by the heavy rush of water from the melting snow Wednesday. A deep gully was cut down a length of St. Mary's Street between West Street and King. Damage to some county roads was also reported.

Electric power was cut at the south end of Digby when high winds blew over a lumber pile at the yard of the H. T. Warne plant, carrying away a power pole.

Reports from Bear River indicated some damage there with a piling torn loose from under one of the stores built out over the river bank. At Clements, port pilings were also reported torn loose from under a store building by the heavy rush of water.

A number of tree limbs were blown down in Digby by the gale, one large one near the store of B. J. Roop on Water Street.

The regular trip of the CPS Princess Helene was cancelled because of the storm and the Dayliner from Yarmouth was delayed in its arrival at Digby because of water over the tracks at Bloomfield.

March Of Dimes

Campaign To Begin

Some delay has been experienced in Digby County in opening the annual March of Dimes campaign this year. This delay has been occasioned by the late arrival of needed supplies for the fund drive. These supplies arrived this week and every effort is being made to get the campaign underway next week.

All schools in the county will be sent a supply of contribution envelopes and teachers will be asked to seek the cooperation of their pupils in raising funds through this means.

A house-to-house canvass will be made in Digby as usual and plans are that canvassing will also be done in other county centres.

Victor Cardoza is campaign chairman for this year's March of Dimes campaign and Eric Caldwell, Accountant at the Digby Branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, is Treasurer. Mrs. J. M. Wallis is in charge of the house-to-house canvass in Digby.

RAVENS TO MEET NAVY

Digby Ravens will play a team from HMCS Buckingham at the Forum here Friday night, February 1st.

The game, which is being sponsored by the Digby Branch of the Canadian Legion, is expected to attract a good crowd as competition between the two teams is keen.

A recruiting drive is now underway for new members of a company of one of the oldest regiments in Nova Scotia. This is the West Nova Scotia Regiment (MG), a company of which has its headquarters at HMCS Cornwallis.

The company, which holds training two nights a week, is under command of Captain R. D. Potter. Second in command is Capt. J. F. D. Fry, and CSM R. E. Mervin is Sergeant-Major.

Excellent training is given the men who make up this company, most of whom are school age young men, with a few veterans of World War II. Basic training is provided as well as advanced courses in driving, signals and machine gunnery.

Young men in the Digby area, anxious to sign up in C Company of the WNSR (MG) are asked to contact Ralph Wright and arrangements will be made to transport them to Cornwallis for an interview with Captain Potter.

DIGBY LEGION, B. E. S. L. INSTALLS OFFICERS

Officers of the Digby Branch, No. 20, of the Canadian Legion were installed at a general meeting held January 8th, with Ralph O. Wright as president for his second term.

Installation was performed by Past President Seymour Denton, acting for Zone Commander Eugene Outhouse, who could not be present because of the heavy snow storm.

Officers installed for 1957 are as follows:
President, Ralph Wright.
1st Vice President, Arthur Cudmore.

2nd Vice President, Guy Van-Tassell.
Treasurer, Patrick Comeau.
Secretary, Bryson Denton.
Chaplain, William Barton.
Sgt. at Arms, Donald R. Wilson.

At this meeting six new members were initiated. At least twelve of the fourteen approved applicants were expected for a record breaking initiation for this Branch, but because of the storm all could not be present. But without a thorough check of records it is thought six to be one of the largest, if not the largest, groups to be initiated by this Branch.

The Branch reports a very encouraging year for 1956. Membership was greatly increased during the year, and the Auditor's report showed a greatly increased financial activity. The Canadian Legion from coast to coast is conducting a campaign for increased membership, using the slogan "Duplicate by '58". The Digby Branch is very active in this campaign and it is expected the membership will have doubled by end of this year or, as the slogan says "Duplicate by '58". This increase, while greatly due to efforts of present members, shows that more and more ex-service men appreciate the fact that many of the benefits they have received are theirs because of the efforts of the Canadian Legion, and they are now giving their help in the work of the organization which helped them.

A substantial increase in Poppy Sales Campaign over previous year was reported for 1956. This money, by Legion regulations, is controlled as a separate Fund and can only be used for assistance of needy veterans and their families whether Legion members or not. For the generous support given to this Fund by the people of this area the Branch is very grateful.

The Digby Branch has been active during the past year in the entertainment of sailors from the Navy ship based here. "Teen Town" as sponsored by the Branch, means the Legion Hall is open every Saturday night to teen agers of Digby and the surrounding area.

Kentville And Digby Lead

The Digby curling team competing in the thirtieth Western Counties bonspiel at Liverpool this week shared the lead with Kentville as play ended for the first day of the three day bonspiel.

Digby came out victor in three outings Tuesday and built up a total of 37 points in section two. Kentville, successful in their two starts Tuesday, had built up a total of 23 points in section one for the lead. The Digby curlers took easy wins in their first two tilts but it required a single point on the final end to break an 8-8 deadlock with Bridgewater in last game of the day.

Leonard Addresses Weymouth Kiwanis

The regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Weymouth was held at the Goodwin Hotel, Weymouth, Monday evening at 6:30. Several members of the Digby Kiwanis Club were in attendance and presented a "Model Meeting". Kiwanian Jim Ayer, of the Digby Club, was chairman.

Special speaker for the evening was Mr. Malcolm Leonard, M.L.A., of Digby, who gave a very interesting talk on "Criminal Law". Mr. Leonard traced the history and background of Criminal Law in Canada from Confederation onwards, pointing

Rev. Dr. T. W. Hodgson was re-elected President of the Digby Branch of the Red Cross Society for his eighteenth consecutive year at the annual meeting, held in the Baptist Church hall here.

Other officers elected include Mrs. T. E. G. Lynch, Honorary President; Ralph O. Wright, 1st Vice President; Mrs. A. J. Dillon, 2nd Vice President; Mrs. Elton Arnold, Secretary; Mrs. B. H. Ruggles, Treasurer; Mrs. Allen Harris, Asst. Secty.-Treas. Committee elected were: Women's Work, Mrs. H. M. Warne, Mrs. Daniel Comeau, Mrs. Allen Harris, Mrs. R. B. Lent; Sewing, Mrs. G. R. Weir, Mrs. Hugh Vincent; Quilting, Mrs. Allen Stark, Mrs. J. J. Brittain, Mrs. Daniel Comeau, Mrs. Pearl Handspiker; Cutting, Mrs. Thos. Winfield, Mrs. Fred Thibault, Mrs. Hugh Vincent, Mrs. Ralph Wright; Packing, Mrs. Fred Thibault; Nursing, Mrs. Sydney Smith, Mrs. D. G. Black; Sick Room Supply, Mrs. George Winfield, Delbert Forrest; Tea, Mrs. Ralph Berwick, Mrs. George Winfield, Mrs. Fred Thibault; Campaign, Edgar Chan; Blood Donor, Ralph Wright; Swimming and Water Safety, Chester Levy; First Aid Station, Mrs. B. Mahar; Auditors, Accountants of Royal and Nova Scotia banks.

The financial statement showed total revenues for the year of $2525.43, with expenditures of $2213.62. Revenue from the annual fund campaign was given as $1876.57. This amount was forwarded to provincial headquarters. The report of the Women's Work Committee, given by Mrs. H. M. Warne, showed an active year in this department. Mrs. Warne said 636 articles were completed and in addition 189 more articles were shipped early in December for Hungarian relief. Appreciation was expressed for the splendid work of many individuals and organizations. Regret was also expressed at the loss of two faithful Red Cross workers during the year, Mrs. T. W. Hodgson and Mrs. Guy E. Morehouse, both of whom were called by death. Mrs. Hodgson had personally completed more than six hundred sweaters, scarves and socks in the years she served the Red Cross here. Mrs. Warne said, and Mrs. Morehouse gave tremendous service at the head of the quilting group for many years.

In her report Mrs. Warne paid high tribute to the work and devotion of the President, Dr. T. W. Hodgson. He has established an attendance record, she said, which is perhaps the highest in the whole division for, since the wartime reorganization when he was first elected President in 1939 Dr. Hodgson has attended almost every meeting of the branch whether it be for business, quilting or other activities.

Over one thousand articles of clothing were distributed during the year by the welfare and disaster relief committee, it was revealed from the report of that committee, given by Mrs. Geo. Winfield. She stated a new procedure had been adopted this Christmas in the distribution of Christmas parcels. Work of various welfare groups in the area was coordinated through a central committee to prevent overlapping. This had worked out excellently, Mrs. Winfield stated.

Delbert Forrest, reporting for the Sick Room Supply Committee, stated forty loans of needed sick room equipment had been made during the year. A number of requests could not be met, he said, because all equipment in stock was out on loan.

out its implications by referring to many incidents drawn from his experience as a practising barrister.

Tentative plans were also made for the Charter Night of the newly organized Weymouth Club, which is scheduled for some time in late February.

"Hamlet" Well Received

Many citizens of Digby, including classes from the Digby Regional High School, were privileged to see a fine performance in classic drama when the Canadian Players of Stratford, Canada, presented Shakespeare's Hamlet before a full house at HMCS Cornwallis Recreation Centre on Monday night. Upwards of 1000 tickets were sold by the Annapolis District Drama Group, who sponsored the play.

The Canadian Players were heartily applauded as the curtain fell at the close of each act and the rapt attention throughout readily revealed the ability of the players to fully captivate the audience both mentally and visually. The whole performance was pronounced by many as a rare treat to this district.

The Canadian Players were founded two years ago by Tom Patterson and Douglas Campbell of the Stratford Ontario Shakespearean Festival.

Carrying a minimum amount of staging they have played in cities and towns from Victoria, B. C. to Sydney, N. S., and in the U. S. A. In January of 1956 the president of the company, Mrs. Tom Patterson, and the business manager, Miss Laurel Crosby, visited Digby, with the idea of arranging a booking for January 1957. Monday night's performance was the outcome of that visit and the hope has been expressed by many that it will not be long before the Canadian Players return to these parts.

The retiring president, Mrs. Oakley Turnbull, thanked those who had co-operated during the past two years and bringing each of the two years to a successful conclusion. Rev. Mr. Brooks expressed appreciation for the efforts of the retiring president and other officers and members and asked them to keep in mind that what they did was not for themselves but for God.

Mrs. Gordon Ellis gave the report of the secretary in which she noted other efforts besides financial assistance to the church were providing gowns for the Junior Choir, visiting the County Home, packing boxes for patients at the Kentville Sanatorium and other shut-ins and welcoming summer visitors to the church.

The worship service was conducted by the president, assisted by Mrs. Reginald Holdsworth and Mrs. Gordon Ellis. Rev. James Brooks led in prayer.

Yarn for Red Cross knitting was distributed among the members after the business meeting.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Clair Keen and Mrs. Reginald Holdsworth, which included

Wreckage Recovered On Coast

Wreckage, believed to be from the ill fated Saint John pilot boat that disappeared after being struck by an in bound freighter last week in Saint John harbour, was recovered this week on the Bay of Fundy coast of Digby Neck.

Darrel Lewis, of Waterford, reported retrieving part of a lifeboat with the word "Ottawa" on it late Sunday afternoon. The lifeboat had been seen floating bottom up off the coast on Saturday night but high seas foiled efforts to get it. It was evidently dashed ashore by the waves and pounded badly on the rocks before being refloated by the tide. When recovered Sunday the bow was missing as well as some of the buoyant air tanks.

Also recovered was a white dory at Centreville, also believed to be from the Saint John pilot boat. Truman Wentzell, of Rossway, retrieved a new oar while lobstering and another oar was recovered by a Digby scalloper. Both were thought to be from the pilot boat. George Haight, of Rossway, also recovered two air tanks thought to be from a lifeboat.

The Bay View lifeboat was dispatched to Gulliver's Cove Monday to tow the wreckage into Digby. Fishermen were reported keeping a watch to see if other wreckage might be brought in by the high tides.

He will leave shortly for a vacation trip to his native England.

Bear River-Church Point In Tie

Bear River came from behind Thursday to hold Church Point to a five all tie in a regular District League hockey fixture at the Digby Forum.

At the end of the first stanza Church Point had a single goal lead with a score of 3-2. They widened their lead in the second with a five to three score. Two unanswered goals by the Bear River squad in the final frame tied up the game, however.

Langley and Brown shared two apiece for Bear River while Melanson was high scorer for Church Point, netting two. Comeau, Soucie and Gerald split the remainder. Other scorer for Bear River was Hardy Henshaw, who got the lone tally in the second.

In the game last Thursday between Digby and Centreville the Digby Neck squad cleaned up on Digby with a 13-7 score. The two teams tied up in the first period but after that Centreville took control. They scored five in the second to one reply from Digby and went on in the final stanza to rack up six more unanswered tallies. Scoring for Centreville was fairly evenly divided between Connor, Melanson, Westcott and Bailey, with Morton and Webber also getting a goal each. For Digby Hayden, Everett and Outhouse each netted one.

Referees for the games last Thursday were Halliday, Handspiker, Bailey and Small.

There will be no District League games at the Forum tonight. Instead, Bear River will meet Digby at 7:30 tomorrow (Friday) night and Centreville will meet Church Point at nine o'clock.

On Thursday, January 31st, Centreville meets Digby at 7:30; Bear River and Church Point tangle at nine o'clock. GRACE UNITED CHURCH

The Annual Congregational Meeting of Grace United Church of Canada was held on Wednesday evening, January 16th, in the Church Hall. Despite unpleasant weather conditions, all organizations and boards were represented. Devotions were conducted by the Rev. J. Brooks, who acted as Chairman. Mr. H. M. Turnbull was elected as the Secretary for the meeting.

Annual reports of the various Boards and organizations were given and showed good progress and encouraging results. The Treasurer's Report, given by Mr. Milton Atkinson, indicated all bills paid and a small credit balance. During the year contributions were made to Mount Allison University, Berwick Camp Meeting Fund, Mount Allison Theological Society, and Springhill Disaster Fund. The report of the annual appeal for the Bible Society showed generous response to this worthwhile work, and the sum of $235.45 was raised by Ba, View and Digby congregations. JUST A FEW OF THE MANY GOOD, SOLID REASONS...
WHY NEW FARGO TRUCKS are sound buys for every hauling job!

1. Fargo's new Forward Look styling—with distinctive hooded headlights—is functional as well as handsome. Its windshield (largest of any truck) gives you 1,023 square inches of vision area for greater "see-safety". Its optional wrap-around rear window adds extra vision area, too. Half-ton models, like the D100 express above, are available with exclusive push-button automatic transmission.
2. New high-compression, short-stroke V-8's are the most powerful in Fargo history—up to 232 h.p. And Fargo's exclusive full-opening hood allows the most elbowroom for servicing. Saves time, money.
3. Exclusive dome-shaped combustion chambers in Fargo V-8's get more GO out of every gallon, make "regular" gas fire like premium, minimize power-robbing carbon deposits. Fargo Sixes are extra thrifty, too.
4. Fargo's new comfort cab has a 5-way adjustable seat, extra roominess, centre-located dispatch box, many other features. Independent parking brake adjusts from inside cab without tools or trouble.
5. Fargo offers a complete range of husky models to meet every hauling requirement.

Fargo trucks range from 4,250 lbs. to 46,000 lbs. G.V.W., and up to 65,000 lbs. G.C.W. Many with greater capacities. Frames and other chassis components are built stronger than ever, too.

Successful Mink Show At Clare

The first mink show ever to be held in Clare was held on January 7 and 8 at Little Brook Hall under the auspices of the N.S. Mink Breeders Association. The show was a very successful one with 19 exhibitions and 300 minks entered in competition. Cecile Johnstone, of Montreal, was judge, assisted by R. Jos. Boyd, of Yarmouth. At the banquet held at the Riverside Inn, Meteghan River, on Tuesday evening, Mrs. Johnstone told the group that they were coming into very difficult times and the ranches would have to consider lowering their cost of production. The expansion of mink ranching has caused a probable saturation on the fur market.

Improvement could be made in preparing the pelts for the market. Many dollars, as much as $5.00 per pelt, is being lost to the Maritime ranchers due to improperly preparing and packing their furs. She explained how the improvement could be accomplished by utilizing pelting drums.

Hon. Halliburton, Minister of Agriculture of N. S., told the group that over 30,000 mink pelts were put on the market by the Maritime ranchers and that Canada sold over one million pelts a year while the United States put out four million on the market each year.

He stated how it was interesting to see such excellent team work among the exhibitors.

Among the other speakers were Dr. Pierre Belliveau, M.L.A. of Meteghan, Austin Mullen, president of the N.S. Mink Breeders Association, of Havelock, Senator J. W. Comeau, of Comeauville, Malcolm Leonard, M.L.A. of Digby, Fred Gaudet, of Saultville, and Dr. Hancock of Truro.

TO DEDICATE MEMORIAL ORGAN

The Bear River Baptist Church sustained the loss of three of its young men in World War II. In memory of Roy Gehue, Arthur Green and Elwood Stevens a Hallman 12 electric organ is to be dedicated Sunday, January 27.

The church has been planning to purchase a new organ for the past few years. Under the direction of a former minister, William Milner, an Organ Fund was established. During this past year the Organ Fund Committee consisting of Chester Kaulback, Walter Dukeshire and Rev. William Scott, has found the fund swelling to well over $1725. The organ was installed in December and has been found to be of excellent quality, adding greatly to the worship services of the church.

Memorial gifts were made by many persons honoring faithful workers of the past who laboured through the church. Those listed on the memorial folder are: the Rupert Harris family; the Stuart Harris family; Mrs. Rubin Anthony; Mrs. Boyd Rice; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cress; Mr. Eldon Banks. Miss Judith Buckler is to be president at the organ for the dedication service and Mrs. Fred Rice will direct the choir in its hymn of dedication.

Chester Kaulback was re-elected as Clerk and Ross McCormick elected as Treasurer. Lawrence Henshaw was elected Sunday School Superintendent, and Cecil Miller Superintendent of the Junior Sunday School.

All officers and committees of the church reported on the year's activities. The reports showed that an active time was had and there has been real progress in the spiritual and material life of the church. The financial side of the church was the same as the previous year. The church has added a new Hallman 12 electric organ and the Sunday School has purchased for the church a Viewlex slide and film strip projector.

The Sunday School showed an enrolment of 188 and an average attendance of over 120. Robert Benson was elected as secretary to the Sunday School and Judith Buckler as treasurer. TRINITY CHURCH

The Vestry Clerk's report showed a credit balance at the end of the year of $234.53. The Diocesan apportionment and assessment had been met in full, it was reported, as well as all taxes and other ordinary parochial bills. Collections had shown $2100 increase over a seven month period in 1956, it was reported. This was attributed to the financial campaign held last year.

In his report, the Rector, Rev. H. Y. MacLean, stated a total of 190 celebrations of Holy Communion had been held during the year and one hundred and thirty-one other services. He said 2,619 acts of Communion had been made during the year. This was an apparent drop from last year, he stated, but in actual fact was a gain because of the fact more than three hundred acts of Communion had been made by members of the diocesan Women's Auxiliary during the annual convention in Digby in 1955.

In his report Mr. MacLean stated church population was 398 in Trinity, forty at St. Paul's and forty-six at All Saint's, making a total of 484. He said the recent church census, participated in by all churches of the town, had resulted in adding considerably to the numbers of those professing to be Anglicans, if not to the strength of the church.

Most significant decision in the parish in many years, the Rector said, was to hold a "double the budget" campaign under the direction of the Wells organization during 1956. Results of this, both spiritual and financial, have justified the decision, he said.

Due in large measure to a generous donation from one parishioner, the quota of Trinity Parish in the recent King's College campaign had been over-subscribed. The percentage of overpayment was exceeded by only one other parish in the diocese, the Rector said.

Ravens Clip Hawks

By 18-3 Score

The Digby Ravens took the measure of their traditional rivals, Bridgetown Hawks, here Monday night in a regular Western Valley League fixture by the lopsided score of 18-3.

The game started out in a sea-saw fashion with the Ravens drawing first blood at 4:15 of the first. Bridgetown replied at 7:38 and the Ravens edged ahead again at 12:56. The Hawks made it two all at 14:46 but failed to gain another counter until the 7:50 mark of the final stanza.

In the meantime the Ravens had found the weak spot of their rivals and began bombarding the nets with rubber. At the end of the first they had racked up five. In the second they added four more, despite a tendency of the Hawks' net to slip its moorings.

The final stanza saw the Ravens swarm all over their opponents, adding a tally of nine more goals to the already top-heavy score of 9-2 in their favor. Hawks edged in a singleton on VanTassel, who replaced Skinner in the third, to make the final tally 18-3.

Although goals were well distributed among the Ravens' players, McCallum took top honours with five; Connor, who netted two in nine seconds, got a total of three; Paul VanTassel, Lloyd Donnelly, Morgan and Hayspiker accounted for two apiece, and Warren VanTassel and Webber each got one. Mosher got all three tallies for the visitors.

The game was a clean one with only eight penalties being handed out. Kaulback, Bridgetown goalie, drew a misconduct, which was served by Clements.

REPORT OF WELFARE & DISASTER RELIEF

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen:

The year ending 1955 and 1956 has been a busy one for the Welfare and Disaster Relief Committee.

We have given out over 1,000 articles of clothing. Our territory consists of Plympton, Plympton Station, North Range, Ashmore, Acaciaville, Conway, Mt. Pleasant and Digby Town. Seventy-three children were clothed, and six adults, the children ranging from the ages 1 to 12 years. Three layettes were supplied for new babies.

Calls came to us from the Legion, who do not always have enough clothing in their supply, from the Welfare, Mr. MacDonald, and the Salvation Army. We are very prompt in answering these calls. In fact, if a call comes in the morning, by afternoon the articles are ready for delivery, and some of these calls are families with six and eight children.

Our greatest difficulty is to keep a supply of clothing for children from one to twelve years. There is such a demand for these sizes.

Just before Christmas several meetings were called in town to which every Welfare Organization was invited. This was done to interest every organization in providing Christmas Cheer. For instance, the Legion and Red Cross provided toys and clothing, the Salvation Army a dinner to each family. By co-operating in this way everyone was provided for without overlapping. The list of names of those requiring assistance was provided by all the Welfare Organizations in Digby. The toys were gathered up and taken to the Court House and then were divided between the Red Cross and Legion. Mrs. Ralph Wright called a meeting to dress dolls in the Legion Hall. We had 30 dolls on display and to distribute. As Mrs. Warne was ill at the time the boxes were packed, I went to the Court House and packed twelve boxes of clothing, twelve boxes of toys, and Lieut. Bradley had twelve dinners for us to deliver along with the toys. In this way every family was taken care of and it was all delivered in one lot.

On Monday morning Mr. Philip Woolaver and myself took our parcels, drove to Plympton, Plympton Station, Acaciaville, North Range and delivered our goods. In the afternoon we found we had overlooked a family in Acaciaville. As we did not know the sizes of the children we drove to Acaciaville, got the sizes, came back to the Court House and I packed a box of clothes for eight children ranging from one to nine, collected toys we had left and got a dinner from Lieut. Bradley, and off we went again to deliver them. As we were leaving the home we felt our efforts had not been in vain when we heard the squeals of delight, and as we walked out the six little girls had a doll tucked under their arm, so we felt we had made one family happy.

Mr. Delbert Forrest delivered our parcels at Mount Pleasant, Mr. MacDonald at Ashmore, and Lieut. Bradley the ones in town, along with some of his own.

I would like to thank Mr. Woolaver for his kind offer of his car and his time he spent to help us deliver our parcels, also Mr. Delbert Forrest for giving us his time to mend the broken toys, and helping in other ways, and to all the people who gave toys or clothing to help out. We appreciate it very much and if at any time anyone has any clothing or anything which we could use, if you would call Mrs. Warne or myself we will gladly pick them up.

I would also like to thank the Conway Club for their contribution of knitting, toys and clothing.

Respectfully submitted,

Alice Winfield,
Chairman Disaster Relief.

SEVENTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE WOMEN'S WORK COMMITTEE

I beg to submit the 17th annual report of your Women's Work Committee for the year 1956. Our actual year's work is from November 1st, '55 to October 31st, '56, but owing to the fact that our meeting has been so delayed this year, and recent events of importance has transpired in Red Cross work, I should like to make this report more timely by giving some account of our current efforts as well as the past history of 1956.

Activities for the early part of this period were of more or less routine nature and although the Women's Work Committee carried on the usual weekly meetings, attendance was limited to our regular workers, and there were no spectacular events to focus attention on Red Cross work. True, our Branch had been asked in January last year to help with the National programme to provide clothing for 12,000 children in Red Cross refugee camps in Lebanon, Gaza and Syria, and we did what we could to assist. However, the Near East was half-a-world away, and it was difficult to arouse widespread public response to the appeal on behalf of Arabs and Israelis, even though Red Cross Headquarters tried to publicize the fact that help from the Democracies for the peoples of that unhappy region might mean friendlier relationships between East and West and assist in counteracting Communist influence in the Mediterranean area. Certainly recent events have proved that Red Cross policy was well advised in its aims, even though this goal was not reached. Meanwhile, our surplus work, which was shipped through the Nova Scotia Division from Halifax, was being stockpiled in the International Red Cross warehouse in Geneva, and it was from this point that clothing and bedding were immediately rushed into Austria when the first wave of Hungarian refugees crossed the border in November. Is it not amazing, when one pauses to think of it, that the sweaters and scarves, quilts and layettes which we made here in Digby only a few months ago, were there in Europe ready to play their part in that historic revolution? When the call reached Canada on November 29th for emergency clothing for the refugees, the Nova Scotia Division was able to ship 21 cases in the first two weeks of December, and some five tons altogether, thanks to the efforts of small groups of workers such as ours which had been carrying on their regular quilting, sewing and knitting all the fall, not knowing that any special emergency was in the making. It surely proves the wisdom of the Red Cross policy of preparedness, and shows why workers are needed at all times, not just after disaster strikes. That is not to say, however, that we do not fully appreciate the present response to the Hungarian Relief appeal and trust that many more groups and individuals will be moved by the urgency of the need to give a little spare time to knitting or sewing for this cause within the next few weeks.

Just prior to the Hungarian crisis, the Red Cross was called into action here at home when disaster struck Nova Scotia in the form of the Springhill Mine explosion. The sympathy of all went out to those affected by the blast, and we were glad to know that the Nova Scotia Division was ready with immediate assistance for the rescue teams and the stricken families. Digby Branch played at least a small part by rushing a shipment of finished work off to Headquarters at the first call for supplies to go to Springhill. The total production of finished articles by our Committee for the year numbered 636, comprising:

32 quilts, 32 baby blankets, 210 towels and face cloths, 84 children's garments, 265 infants' garments, 13 stuffed toys.

In addition to these, 189 more articles were shipped early in December for Hungarian relief, to be included with our 1957 totals. Materials for the above work, which were purchased from Campaign funds and forwarded to us from the Division, amounted to $282.93, with nearly $200 worth more received in December for Hungarian relief. The value of this material is of course increased many-fold when made up by volunteer workers. The sum of $33.67 was also spent by our Branch for flannelette for layettes for local relief work, this material being made up by our Committee and kept in Digby for use by the Branch Welfare Committee.

When one thinks of all the material which has been cut, made up and shipped in the course of the year, one's thoughts turn immediately to the separate groups and individuals who have been responsible for the many hours of work involved. We are not as fortunate as many Branches in having active Red Cross Auxiliaries in nearby communities, but we do have various other organizations which have worked with us and to which our thanks are extended, including the Women's Institutes of Smith's Cove and Rossy, Society of Friends of Joggin Bridge, Friday Night Club of Smith's Cove, Conway Ladies' Club and community groups in Barton-Brighton and Bay View. Thanks are also due the Little River Baptist Sunday School for a recent donation of gifts for Hungarian children, and to the ladies' group of that church for their offer to assist with work for the refugees. Individually we wish to thank the faithful workers who attend the weekly work meetings, and also those other special workers who cut, sew and knit so tirelessly at home. Our Branch is even more fortunate in the quality than the quantity of work produced, as practically every shipment receives commendation for excellence of workmanship. Topping our "special names list" are Mrs. Annie Jefferson, with her many beautiful knitted booties, jackets and sweaters, not to mention the yards and yards of flannelette cut into layettes; Mrs. Oscar VanTassel, with her artistic quilt tops and crib quilts, besides the quantity of stitched articles made up; Mrs. Grace Chisholm, whose dainty finishing touches transforms our layettes into special gifts; and Miss Bertha Boggs, whose striped sweaters must be a joy to any small boy so fortunate as to own one. To the other members of our cutting, sewing and quilting Committees we also express our sincere thanks, and to each and every other worker who, though not producing as much as those specially mentioned, has nevertheless contributed a share towards the grand total.

Each year we regret the passing of one or more of our Red Cross members, and 1956 was marked by the loss of two outstanding workers. Mrs. Guy Morehouse had been at the head of our Quilting Group for many years until ill health forced her to relinquish the task, and even then her cheery presence was enjoyed at our meetings whenever she was able to attend. Mrs. T. W. Hodgson had been our most outstanding knitter throughout the entire history of the Digby Branch, beginning with the war years, and even ill health did not diminish her output of socks, sweaters and scarves. Looking back over the years, the records show 136 pairs of service socks, 201 men's and boys' sweaters and 255 scarves. This represents a total of 592 articles, and allowing for error in records, I feel sure the true total is well over 600 altogether. The loss of these two members will long be felt among us.

Activities of the Women's Work Committee for the year covered, as usual, various other phases of Red Cross work. Our members assisted with two Blood Donor Clinics held, many of our workers served as collectors for the Financial Campaign, and we also helped with the local welfare work of the Branch, which has become of major importance in the year's programme. One joint project of the Women's Work and Welfare Committees was an afternoon tea held last Spring when a Toronto navy wife living in Digby was guest of honor and was presented with a Red Cross layette and other shower gifts from the members. This goodwill gesture was made at the request of the Toronto Red Cross, relayed to us through the Nova Scotia Division.

We were again most fortunate in having been able to carry on our year's work from our headquarters in the Court House, of which we have free use by kind permission of the Municipal Council. Mr. Delbert Forrest merits special thanks for the assistance rendered in providing us with new storage space for clothing, dishes and other supplies in our storeroom-kitchen. We are also grateful to Mr. Morehouse and the Digby Neck Bus Service for free transportation of Red Cross parcels, and to Thompson's Transfer for the same service to and from Halifax. To all, a heartfelt "thank you" from our Committee.

One other word of appreciation is most deserved. Since the wartime re-organization of the Digby Branch in 1939, there is one member above all others who undoubtedly has to his credit the best record attendance at all Red Cross functions, perhaps not only in our Branch but also in the Division. He is ex-officio on all our Committees, and he attends not only business sessions, but quiltings as well, always ready to lend a helping hand with a tea tray or sit down for a friendly chat with the workers. Of course you know this could be none other than our President of these 18 years, Dr. Hodgson. This winter he is to take a well deserved vacation trip, and although we are delighted that he can do so, I should like to say on behalf of the Women's Work and all of us that we shall miss him, and although we shall do our best to carry on in his absence, there will be a gap in our ranks that none but he can fill. We are glad it is only to be a temporary absence from Digby, and in the meantime we wish him Bon Voyage and a safe return to us in the Spring.

Respectfully submitted,
Louise M. Warne.

INSPECTOR CROWELL ADDRESSES H. & S.

At the January meeting members of the Tiverton Home and School enjoyed a talk on the administration of education by Inspector C. W. Crowell. Speaking first of the Free School Act which came into effect around 1864, he followed through the different changes in administration until the present time.

Mr. Crowell explained the way in which education in Nova Scotia is administered by the Municipality and the Provincial Government. In answering questions put to him by his audience, he left them with a much clearer understanding of many points and suggested how they should proceed towards getting improvements for their school.

The Home & School, it was felt, could help without interfering with the local trustees, by making representations to the school board advising them of local public opinion.

President Chester Outhouse expressed the meeting's appreciation to Mr. Crowell for coming to talk to them in spite of the bitter weather.

Year End Review

HON. E. A. MANSON,
Minister of Trade and Industry

A review of the industrial position of Nova Scotia for 1956 shows general, across-the-board, advances in practically all industries, large and small, rather than spectacular growth in any one section.

In the field of transportation, the large public works projects inaugurated in 1955 demonstrated, in 1956, their value to the economy. From its opening on April 2, 1955, to the end of September 1956, the Angus L. Macdonald Bridge had seen 3,772,163 vehicles of all types pass across it. By the end of the year, there can be little doubt that the 4-millionth vehicle will have crossed. The Canso Causeway, officially opened on May 21, 1955, had seen by September 1956, 383,805 vehicles make the crossing. From its inception in January 1956, to the end of September, the Bluenose Ferry transported more than 84,000 passengers and 24,000 vehicles.

New projects include an international airport for Halifax now under construction at Kelly's Lake and an estimated additional 210 miles of surfaced highway (bringing the provincial total above the 2,000 mile mark). The year's total of bridges completed will be around 36 and others will be nearing completion stage. Eight of these are for the Trans-Canada Highway.

Of 1956's industrial developments, the greatest was the opening on October 11, of Imperial Oil's new refinery at Impey. This $30-million project gives Nova Scotia one of the most modern refineries in the world. Capacity over the old refinery is increased from 22,000 barrels a day to 42,000 barrels a day. Through new dock facilities, off-loading from tankers is possible at the rate of 700,000 gallons an hour. Other new enterprises in 1956 include a structural steel works by Canadian Structural Steel Ltd., at Burnside, a factory at Truro for the manufacture of animal feed products, fertilizers, refined tallow and grease by Maritime Processing Company Ltd., and a factory in Sydney for the manufacture of aluminum products by Maritime Aluminum Co. Ltd.

More evident and, in some ways, more important than new industry in the province is the expansion of existing industry which was evident in 1956. An early estimate of the year's spendings in the province on plant expansion and new machinery placed that figure at $54,000,000. If amounts spent by utility companies, trade, finance and commercial services, housing, institutional and government departments were included, new capital investment would be something over $175,000,000.

New products include new types of boats—motor boats, cruisers, hydroplanes, etc.—new lines in toys, concentrated apple juice (the "long-sought goal of many chemists in North America and Europe"), plastic pipe, the DOSCO hot air furnace, and the undertaking of Enamel and Heating Products Ltd. to construct rear fuselages for Grumman SC2F airplanes.

The fishing industry continued its advance in 1956. In 1955, 1956, 383,805 vehicles make the crossing. From its inception in January 1956, to the end of September, the Bluenose Ferry transported more than 84,000 passengers and 24,000 vehicles.

The fishing industry of Nova Scotia is one in which the forward-looking policies of those engaged in it are beginning to pay dividends. Since 1939, the policy has been for larger vessels to produce greater economy per trip. Construction of new processing plants and cold storage facilities, expansion and modernization of existing plants has proceeded at a high rate. Government assistance through industrial loans has helped in this regard as have also the mobile schools which bring to the fishermen up-to-date instruction on engines, navigation, nets and gear, the application of modern techniques and methods. Research work in co-operation with the federal Department of Fisheries has added its benefits.

One of the most important elements in the Nova Scotia mining industry is the vigor with which the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation and its employees are striving to increase productivity, lessen cost and thereby regain for coal its place in the national economy. Coal supplies some 75 per cent of the province's mineral wealth and employs over 10,000 persons. Its successful operation is of vital concern to all Nova Scotians.

Production of coal for 1955 was 5,730,743 net tons. The mid-year figure for 1956 was 3,116,524 net tons compared with 2,983,936 net tons at mid-1955, which would indicate a year-end advance over the previous year. Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation is engaged in a multi-million dollar modernization program and at least a portion of this year's advance may be due to the effects of this. When the full effects of the program are realized, it is hoped that considerable benefits will be brought to the industry.

The DOSCO Dowlraft Furnace, which appeared on the market in 1955, has been followed in 1956 with the hot-air furnace. These furnaces, apart from their own excellent qualities, were designed to encourage a greater use of coal in the home and their sales so far give promise of success. They have all the advantages of domestic oil-heating—automatic operation and cleanliness—at considerably lower cost.

The airborne magnetometer surveys which have occasioned an intensive search for base metals in the province are now nearly completed. Imperial Oil Ltd. is engaged in a geological program covering nearly 300,000 acres of central Inverness county in Cape Breton.

During 1955, 3,713,912 tons of gypsum were produced in Nova Scotia. Estimates for 1956 place this year's possible total as exceeding four million tons. Production of barytes in 1955 was 244,005 tons. As of September 1956, production stood at 212,328 which would indicate a further gain for the year end. With the opening of the new salt mine it is expected that the province's salt industry will have a healthy future. Other products of the province's mining industry are gold, silver, peat moss, silica brick, clay products, sand, gravel and stone.

In forestry, sawmill production was down in the early months of 1956. However, this was largely due to bad weather for the winter cut. Demand for lumber remained strong and, later in the year, it was evident that production had picked up. It is estimated that, with planned conservation, potential production from the province's forests will be doubled in 25 years.

Church Point

There were 30 babies born, 15 deaths and 15 marriages in St. Mary's Parish during 1956. St. Mary's Parish includes the villages of Grosses Coques, Little Brook, Comesauville and Church Point.

Ulysse Belliveau, who resides with George Balesh, is quite ill from a shock he received sometime early Sunday morning.

George M. Thibodeau, retired railway mail clerk, is quite ill. He caught a bad cold and the flu and other complications have set in.

Doris McCauley left today for Montreal where she will train as a pediatric nurse.

tripled in fifty. Demand for pulp, paper and other wood products is strong and, with production at a high level, the prospects for this industry are good.

In agriculture, it should be noted that farm cash income was up for 1955 over 1954 and at mid-year 1956 the advance was being maintained. Two major events in this industry were the establishment of Nova Scotia Apples Ltd., a central marketing agency to operate on behalf of the fruit growers of the Annapolis Valley and the agreement to construct a $600,000 farmer-owned co-operative abattoir at Halifax. It may be anticipated that this later project, when it comes into operation, will encourage the provincial drive for quality meats, increase production and bring higher returns to the livestock farmers.

General pointers indicate that 1956 was a year of advance in the province. At mid-year, employment was more than five per cent up, unemployment nearly 20 per cent down. Value of building permits was greater than at the same point of 1955; life insurance sales and electric power consumption were both up. Indications are that retail sales will show a rise—at mid-year they were up by some $5-million for the Atlantic provinces and it is almost certain that Nova Scotia shared in this increase.

Greatest hope lies, not in the advance of 1956, but in the still greater potential advances which they portend. 1956 was a good year. There is no reason to suppose that 1957 cannot be an even better one.

CARS ARE MY LINE

by Ken Hankinson

A LOOK AT THE FUTURE

The experts are guessing that in 10 years or perhaps a little longer, the automobile will undergo its greatest change in 50 years.

That change will be the introduction of the gas turbine engine, the first basic alteration in the automobile power plant since the gasoline internal combustion engine triumphed over the steam and electric cars of the early 1900's.

The internal combustion engine, with its numerous cylinders, pistons bouncing up and down, is about to go out the window. This new engine, when it comes, will eliminate the necessity for the radiator, anti-freeze, the gear box, "tune-ups", regular lubrication and instead of six or eight spark plugs will have only one (and that is used only in starting).

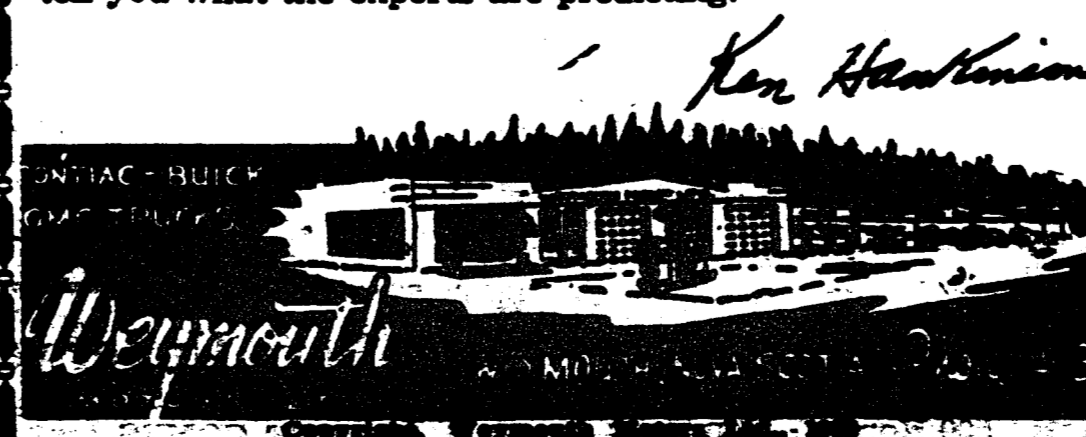

The basic idea is simple. A roaring tube of flame and expanding gases at about 4000 degrees is thrust against a pin wheel — which makes the pin wheel revolve like crazy.

And there is your motive power. The power of the revolving turbine can be transmitted directly to the rear wheels without the problems (solved by the flywheel today) of converting the up-and-down jerks of the pistons into smooth revolutions of the wheels.

This smooth, simple and economical source of power will be introduced when the problems of mass-production have been licked. Right now, the carefully-balanced parts of the gas turbine engine have to be hand-crafted. This is all right in making airplanes, where the turbine has been used for years, but you can't afford this expense in making cars.

No matter how cars are moved, by pistons, by turbines or by infuriated drivers pushing from behind, we expect to be around offering people the advice and service to keep driving safe, comfortable and economical. You have to keep up-to-date in the car business, but there is value for you — in the fact that we've retained "old fashioned" personal service, too.

What will be the next great development in the design of automobiles? When you drop around next week we'll tell you what the experts are predicting.

Interesting Films Seen By Club

The Earn and Give Club of Grace United Church saw some interesting films shown by Miss Virginia Turnbull, Digby, when they met at the home of Mrs. John Russell on Tuesday evening.

The films shown were those taken by Miss Turnbull while on vacations during the past several winters. Some of the films included pictures of the Caribbean cruise enjoyed by Miss Turnbull and Mrs. L. C. Carson in the winter of 1956. Pictures were seen of Haiti, the Panama Canal Zone showing how the canal was cut and of the customs and habits of people of Panama city. The pictures also took the audience to parts of South America, to the mountains and rice fields of Mexico and to basket making in and near Mexico city. Another film enjoyed was one which showed the river boats on the Mississippi and scenes in Texas.

Miss Turnbull intends visiting New Orleans and the Western States and Provinces in 1957, leaving in the month of February.

Adult Education Conference To Be Held In June

"Building the Atlantic Provinces through Communities" will be the theme of the fourth biennial conference, Atlantic region, Canadian Association for Adult Education to be held at Mount Allison University, Sackville, N. B., June 19, 20 and 21. It is announced by Anselme Cormier, chairman of the regional committee.

Mr. Cormier is the recently appointed regional liaison officer, with headquarters here in Sackville, for the Canadian citizenship branch of the federal department of Citizenship and Immigration. The secretary of the regional committee is Roy Grant, Moncton, N. B., secretary, Maritime Federation of Agriculture.

On the agenda will be two panel discussions on factors which help or retard the development of rural and urban communities. A special lecture will deal with "The Atlantic Provinces — Framework of Our Communities". Several special adult education projects will be reported on.

The plan is for the presentation of facts on the first day, the study of techniques on the second and the application of techniques on the final day. These conferences are intended to benefit particularly individuals involved in adult education work but are open to all interested persons. The conference two years ago was held at Charlottetown, four years ago at Antigonish and six years ago at Amherst.

Family Allowance Payments At All Time High

The year just passed saw record payment of Family Allowances to the families of Nova Scotia. For the twelve months of 1956 the Federal Department of National Health and Welfare paid out through its Regional office at Halifax almost eighteen million dollars. This brought to $180,000,000 the total Family Allowance payments to Nova Scotia families since the program began in 1945.

In December, this province received a payment of $1,502,805 which went to 99,542 families on behalf of 247,073 children. This was an average increase for the year of about two per cent in our share of the Family Allowance benefit.

Although there was a general increase in the Family Allowance program in the past year, there were some areas in which there was a falling off from last year's figures. There were about thirty per cent fewer immigrants qualifying on the basis of the required one year's residence — down to 117 families and 207 children.

There were also fewer Canadian born children applied for in 1956 — down to just over 18,000 for the year. This decrease came about because of a drop of more than three hundred in the number of new families applying for allowances for the first time.

1956 also saw an extra large number of Nova Scotia families move to other parts of Canada. While a total of 2815 families transferred in to this province, this was more than offset by the 3970 who moved out, a drop of 1155 families. This was the highest drop ever recorded in the Family Allowance office.

It was, however, out of line with the trend in recent years. Total figures for the first five years of Family Allowances showed an average yearly loss of seven hundred families. But in the following five years this average dropped about twenty

By GEORGE C. NOWLAN

January 26, 1957.

This week, Parliament completed the Debate on the Address, and then commenced its consideration of Government legislation. Also, the Minister of Finance tabled his Estimates for the coming year. The amount of these Estimates is the highest that any Minister of Finance has ever asked the Canadian Parliament to approve. Perhaps only one comment should be made at the moment, and that is one of interest to my readers in Annapolis County. There is nothing in the Estimates for the proposed Causeway at Granville Ferry. However, I am privately assured that this is due to the fact that the details of the Agreement between the Province of Nova Scotia and the Dominion of Canada have not yet been finalized, but that there is no question that the project will be proceeded with, and that sufficient monies will be provided in the Supplementary Estimates to cover the expenditures proposed by the Canadian Government.

As I reported in a former column, everyone is conscious that this is a pre-election Session. However, up to the moment, the Session itself has been surprisingly quiet. Opposition Members have concentrated on asking questions, usually embarrassing questions, always hoping, of course, that the Government will make a faux pas in answering. Up to the moment, I would think that the honours are about even. Other than the question period, there has been little suggestion of election tension. Most speakers have dealt with problems in their own constituency, everyone, of course, has appealed for more money, but there has been very little of political invective or bitterness. Probably this will develop as the Session rolls on toward its climax — dissolution.

It is obviously too early to venture prophecies as to what may develop during the next election, but I think one fairly safe guess would be that the contest in Assiniboia, Saskatchewan, will attract more human interest than will most other election contests in Canada.

This is the seat presently held by Hazen Argue of the CCF. It is in this constituency that Rose Thatcher, the former CCF Member for Moose Jaw, has been nominated as the Liberal Candidate. Both of these men are able Parliamentarians, and redoubtable fighters. Argue is a farmer, dark, swarthy and pugnacious, and one of the most effective speakers the CCF Party has in the House of Commons. He is full of nervous energy and is on the go from morning until night. Thatcher is a prosperous and possibly wealthy hardware merchant in Saskatchewan. He also is a farmer. He also is a vital, active and very able speaker. This is the gentleman who left the CCF Party, and after sitting Independent for a few weeks in that section of the House of Commons reserved for Independents, suddenly declared his allegiance to the Liberal Party. Naturally the CCF Party can never forgive him, and therefore Thatcher will face not only an able opponent, but also the bitterness and wrath of the CCF Party and of the CCF Government of the Province of Saskatchewan. Similarly, the Liberal Party owes a great deal to Mr. Thatcher. They believe that the prestige of the Government has been enhanced because of the fact that Thatcher chose their Party. Therefore, the full strength of the Liberal Party and the so-called Gardiner machine will be back of Mr. Thatcher in the forthcoming contest. Perhaps it will not be a battle of the giants, but certainly it will be a contest which will attract a tremendous amount of interest as the campaign progresses. Incidentally, Argue had a majority of over 3000 in the last election.

As Leader of the Opposition, John Diefenbaker will have to face many perplexing problems, not only political but personal. One of them is as to where he will live during the next few months. Some years ago, a group of wealthy citizens purchased "Stornoway" house as the home for the Leader of the Official Opposition. This is a large and beautiful stone residence in Rockcliffe Park, occupied by Princess Juliana of Holland while she lived in Canada during the war. The men who purchased this residence realized that the position of Leader of the Opposition should be open to all men, regardless of wealth, and that it would be impossible for many, who might seek this position, to occupy a home which the responsibilities of the office require. The Leader of the Opposition must entertain the great and the near great, and this cannot be done in an apartment. Therefore, this anonymous group, including Liberals and Conservatives, purchased this home. But either because they ran out of money or because they forgot about it, they did not provide furniture for the house. I am told, although of this I am not certain, that there are eight bathrooms in the house. Bathrooms probably come with standard equipment, but this indicates the size of the home. In any event, the former Leader of the Opposition, George Drew, furnished the house himself. One can imagine what this would involve in financial outlay. The carpeting alone would run into thousands of dollars. Now, of course, Mr. Diefenbaker has the opportunity, and the right, to occupy that home. But this raises problems both personal and political. The personal problem, of course, is that of furnishing the house. I know nothing of Mr. Diefenbaker's financial position, but one could imagine that he might think twice about purchasing all of the furnishings and equipment which that home requires. Then there is the obvious political problem. If it became known that the Leader of the Opposition was purchasing the furniture for this house, the obvious comment would be that he must intend to remain there for some time. The election is obviously only a matter of weeks away, and presumably Mr. Diefenbaker hopes to become Prime Minister. Therefore, if he really believes that he will win the next election he would be foolish to furnish this house. In any event, it is understood that Mr. Diefenbaker has decided not to occupy the house and during the next few months, he and Mrs. Diefenbaker will rent an

DRIVE CAREFULLY

About This and That

It Is Not Enough

The annual March of Dimes Campaign, sponsored by the Canadian Foundation for Polio, is now underway across Canada. According to reports, the campaign this year is being treated with a certain amount of apathy by the general public who seem to believe that, because of the development of the Salk vaccine, there is no longer a need for the funds raised through this campaign.

Nothing could be further from the truth! It is a fact that the incidence of poliomyelitis has been greatly reduced through the development and use of the Salk vaccine. Throughout the nation, however, there are thousands of persons, many of them youngsters, who contracted polio before the advent of the vaccine and who today are terribly crippled and suffering from the after effects of the dread disease.

Anyone who has ever visited the polio clinic at Halifax and seen the patients there, particularly those of tender years, knows something of the great need there still exists for physiotherapy, trained nursing care, special equipment and rehabilitation work to try to relieve the terrible burden which afflicts these victims and may continue to afflict them throughout all the rest of their lives.

Despite the discovery of the Salk vaccine, polio still claims a number of victims and these victims are no less in need of expert care and rehabilitation work than are their counterparts who were victims before Salk vaccine.

It is not enough, therefore, to sit back complacently and say that the job is done so far as polio is concerned. Far from it! March of Dimes funds aided materially in the research that resulted in the discovery of an effective vaccine. March of Dimes funds are still needed, not only to help finance further needed research, but also to carry on the terrifically important work of helping those people who have been and who, despite Salk vaccine, will continue to be stricken with poliomyelitis.

On behalf of the current March of Dimes campaign we solicit your whole-hearted and generous support. The tide of battle against polio is running in favour of those who are fighting against the dread incidence and after effects of the disease. Let us keep that tide strong and effective by letting our dimes march alongside the thousands of others that have carried the battle to this day.

How Far Out Do We Own?

As a nation with one of the longest coast lines, Canada has a vital interest in a proposal coming before the United Nations to codify the law of the sea, says The Financial Post.

One of the major matters to be settled is how far a nation's sovereignty extends out from its coast line. Back in the 15th century there was no argument. Spain and Portugal claimed most of the Pacific and Atlantic as well as the Indian Ocean from shore to shore. However, a few wars and centuries later, ownership had been pretty well whittled down among trading nations to a standard three miles.

This was the extreme range for shore-based cannon in those days and that was why the three-mile limit was chosen. But modern artillery can shoot several times three miles and what with that and offshore fishing, oil and other wealth in and under the sea, most claims now are for at least 12 miles offshore and some nations have claimed up to 200.

There is room for a good deal of friction in the present confusing situation. The United Nations will be doing a useful job indeed by giving the world a new set of rules.

CARS ARE MY LINE

by Ken Hankinson

HOW ARE YOUR FENDERS & DENTS?

Car fenders are far more vulnerable in Fender, Georgia, than in many other parts of the country, one of those nation-wide surveys has discovered. And Boy! In Dent, Minnesota, the dents are so dense they could be removed only by dint of a great dent in the pocketbook.

The national average for dents, this survey reported without the trace of a smirk, is two for every three cars. But Fender, Ga., had 2.05 dents for every car at the time the national dent detectives were around. Dent, Minn., a town of 200, scored heavily with 2.5 dents per car.

All of this was reported in the automotive trade recently to promote the idea that it's sound business to get the dents, bumps and scrapes out of your car while they're still that and no more. Just as a cold can become pneumonia, a little dent can become a big headache.

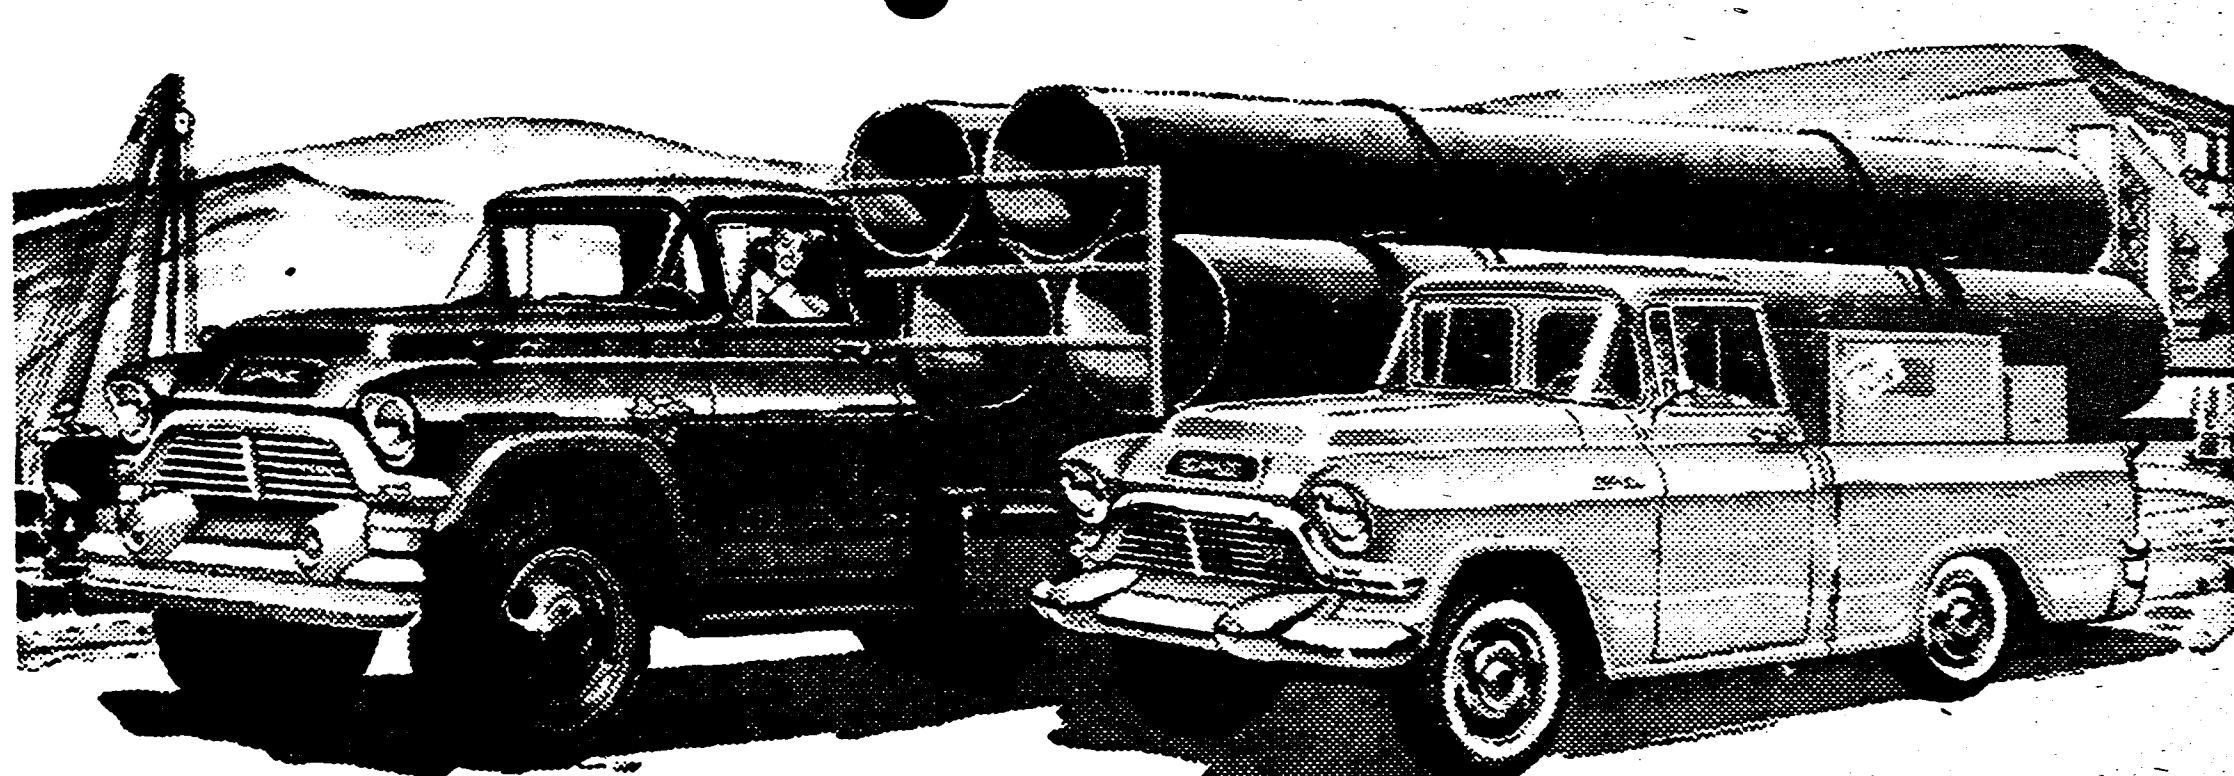

Particularly vulnerable on the outside of a car is the right rear fender. Small stones and rough materials thrown up by the wheels wear away the finish and expose the metal on almost any part of the car. Water and road chemicals splash up and have a field day. And since these materials tend to wash towards the curb, it's the right rear fender that suffers most.

Having these minor items of good car-keeping attended to faithfully has obvious benefits. The major expense of a whole new fender or other costly work can be saved, the life of the car can be lengthened and, most important, it will be worth a lot more when you trade it in.

We've got an answer next week for a question we hear most of any: "When is the best of all times to trade my car?"

Here's the long and the short of it...

The Power of Unionism

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

"Union is Strength" was the fighting slogan of the first trade unions, and it served its purpose at that time when labor was exploited and ill-paid by hard masters. Local strikes were frequent because they were the only means of obtaining union recognition from employers who refused to discuss grievances with their workers.

The united strength secured that recognition and eventually collective bargaining. The latter was advocated as a means of avoiding strikes and it was accepted by both parties. They sat round a table to thrash out their differences and strikes were sometimes averted by compromise. When that failed, as it did in many instances, the unsettled items in the dispute were to be decided by a board of arbitration.

To the general public at least, all this seemed fair and above board. But as the unions gathered strength by bigness, the uniting labor leaders ultimately realized that Union is Power, and collective bargaining, compromise and arbitration have gone by the board.

"O, it is excellent to have a giant's strength; but it is tyrannous to use it like a giant." The right to strike is every man's right to quit his job if he doesn't like it, but when that right is organized on a mass scale it becomes a conspiracy against the industrial life and welfare of a community and the country at large.

The right to work is an equally important human privilege, but that is cancelled out when a giant union issues an order to its members to quit working. To insure that the order is carried out, the idled workers are regimented into pickets who virtually take possession of a plant. They barricade the entire premises and assume the right and the power to prevent the entrance or exit of any vehicle or even the managers of the industry. That is not only a violation of the law of the land, but it is also a violation of the moral law of human society, entailing the deliberate impoverishment of a community. If a government were to assume such dictatorial power, the people would justly rise in revolt.

It is no longer a question of the right to strike, but a question whether labor leaders should be permitted to use the power they have acquired over the lives of the workers and the management of industries. Strikes, as they have developed, are a denial of democratic freedom. They create an interlude of anarchy.

Labor unionism, whether or not its leaders are communists, if carried to its logical extreme by strikes, would in the end lead to the "rule of the proletariat." Fortunately we in Canada have a form of settled government, which no sectional unionism can overthrow. But we must see to it that the foundation is not undermined.

TCA ORDERS "DOUBLE-BUBBLE" TURBO-PROP

Trans-Canada Air Lines took another step forward in its re-equipment program recently when it ordered 20 Vickers Vanguard propeller-driven airliners and took an option on four more. The $67,100,000 order represents the largest single commercial dollar export purchase ever placed in postwar Britain. Built by the same company which produced the popular Viscount, the Vanguard will have a normal cruising speed of 420 miles per hour and will accommodate either 82 first class or 102 tourist passengers. The lower section of the Vanguard's "double-bubble" fuselage will provide space for some 10 tons of freight. The big planes will be powered by Rolls-Royce Tyne engines and will be delivered in service towards the end of 1959. By the following year TCA's fleet will be all turbine-powered consisting of DC-8 jets for long-range routes, the Vanguard for medium-range routes and the Viscount for short-haul service.

OBITUARIES

Watson Anthony
The death of Deacon Watson Anthony, life-long resident of Port Wade, Annapolis Co., occurred in the Annapolis General Hospital, Annapolis Royal, following a long period of failing health. Mr. Anthony had been in the hospital one week.

Mr. Anthony was born at Port Wade 90 years ago. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Anthony and the last surviving member of his family.

One of Port Wade's oldest residents, Mr. Anthony was known to many friends in the community as "Uncle Wat." In his younger years he took an active part in the work of the United Baptist Church, having become a member of that church when a young man. He had been a deacon for many years and a former Sunday School superintendent, and ever since a young man was a faithful member of the choir until ill health forced him to retire.

Mr. Anthony was twice married. His first wife, the former Emma McWhinnie, daughter of the late Captain and Mrs. John McWhinnie, of Port Wade, predeceased him a number of years ago. His second wife, the former Nellie De Ell, of Kings Co., survives and resides in Port Wade.

A brother, Joseph Anthony, J.P., passed away in August 1956 at the age of 94 years. Another brother, Freeman Anthony, and two sisters also predeceased him.

Funeral services were held from the United Baptist Church, Port Wade, on Tuesday afternoon, January 8, at 2:30, conducted by Rev. John MacLeod, pastor of the church. Interment was in the family lot in the Port Wade cemetery.

Miss Annie Cossaboom
At midnight, Friday, January 25, death came quietly to Miss Annie Cossaboom, of Tiverton, daughter of the late George and Margaret Cossaboom, at the age of 53 years.

Death took place at the home of her brother, Mr. W. F. Cossaboom, with whom she had been living since the death of his wife many years ago. Miss Cossaboom was a retired school teacher, having taught in Digby, Yarmouth, Kings, Annapolis and Shelburne counties, and Ontario and Saskatchewan.

She was a member of Tiverton Disciple Church, being baptized at the age of 12 years, and was known by all as a faithful Christian. She was of a quiet disposition, a wonderful neighbor and friend.

Surviving are a sister, Miss Ella Cossaboom, Westport, N. S.; three brothers, Melbourne, North Canton, Ohio; Vernon, Houston, Texas; William F., of Tiverton, N. S.

Funeral took place at the Tiverton Disciple Church on Monday, January 22. Rev. J. W. Derby conducted the service.

Floral tributes were many and beautiful. Interment was in Pleasant Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Alice M. Johnson

Mrs. Alice (Marshall) Johnson, 87, of 78 Lexington Street, died today at Lynn Hospital after a brief illness. She was the widow of Alfred E. Johnson.

A native of Digby, N. S., she lived in Lynn 65 years. She was a 50-year member of East Baptist Church.

She leaves a son, Laurence M. Johnson of Marblehead; a sister, Mrs. Eli Bacon of Cambridge; a granddaughter, Mrs. Thomas Boland of Lynn; and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held on Saturday, January 26, at the Richardson Funeral Home, 48 Lafayette Park, at 1 p.m.

Burial was in Pine Grove cemetery.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC HEALTH

By Hon. R. A. Donahoe, Minister of Public Health for Nova Scotia

Newspaper headlines are so written as to give the maximum of information in the minimum of space. The activities of the Department of Public Health over the past year, if reported in this way, would appear as follows:

"Tuberculosis Death Rate Reaches New Low—Below All Canada Rate"

"Demand For Tuberculosis Beds Decreasing—Tuberculosis Units Closed"

"Department Provides Free Salk Vaccine For School Children"

"New Mental Active Treatment Building Started"

"Provincial Branch Laboratory Opened At Sydney"

"Transportation Paid To Tumour Clinic For Needy Cancer Patients"

"Major Extension Of Provincial Biochemistry Laboratory"

"More Emphasis—More Clinics For Child And Maternal Health Program"

"Mental Health Clinics Established In Province"

"Assistance Given To Rehabilitation Centre"

"First Virus Laboratory In Maritimes In Operation"

"Regional Laboratory System Developing"

"Province Tops Canada In Fluoridation Coverage"

"Free Treatment Of Polio After First Thirty Days"

"Province Free Of Diphtheria For First Time In History"

"Province Establishes Hospital Planning Committee"

"Majority Of Hospital Admissions Now Receive Free Chest X-Ray"

These "headlines" indicate the activities of the Department of Public Health probably better than tedious explanations. In general, it may be stated that the health of the people of Nova Scotia, as indicated by statistical and other information, would appear to be excellent. The natural increase in population continues high—in the vicinity of 13,000 per year. This is due to a continuing high birth rate and a relatively low death rate. The infant death rate and still birth rate have continued to decline with the maternal death rate. More adequate control of the communicable diseases means fewer deaths in childhood—our school population records show over 90 per cent protected against Smallpox and over 80 per cent protected against Diphtheria. A very significant number are also protected against Whooping Cough and Tetanus.

The Tuberculosis death rate for the last year was 7.2 per 100,000—the lowest yet reached. The rate for all Canada was 8.9 per 100,000. In 1930, the Tuberculosis death rate for this province was 106 per 100,000. Better still, we are finding fewer new cases of Tuberculosis—already a large number of Tuberculosis beds have been closed and more closures are expected in the next year.

The training and obtaining of personnel for public health work still continues to be a problem. In co-operation with the other Atlantic provinces, we continue to support training programs such as the School of Psychiatry, Dalhousie University; the School of Nursing, Dalhousie University; and the Maritime School of Social Work. In addition, a bursary system under National Health Grants allows us to train personnel outside the province.

It is of interest to note that, with regard to fluoridation, Nova Scotia had the highest per cent of population covered—about one-fifth of our people are using fluoridated water. The City of Halifax is the largest city in Canada using this method for preventing dental caries.

There were no outbreaks of disease associated with milk or water supplies—the majority of the population is using chlorinated water and pasteurized milk—every effort is being made to increase these protective measures.

In closing, I am very happy to be able to give such a favorable report to the people of Nova Scotia. I would also extend my appreciation to the Municipal authorities who have done so much to improve the health picture throughout the province.

ANNUAL MEETING, JANUARY 1957

MINUTES, JANUARY 1957

The Council for the Municipality of the District of Digby met at the Court House, Digby, on Tuesday, January 15th, 1957, at 2 p.m.

Those present were Councillors H. E. Chisholm, J. W. Murley, Ronald Morehouse, Victor Finigan, D. B. Kenney, Ernest Ring, Sydney Westcott, Cecil Jones, R. E. Jefferson.

On motion, D. B. Kenney, Ronald Morehouse, Cecil Jones and Victor Finigan were appointed as the Nominating Committee.

On motion, the report of the Nominating Committee was read and declared approved.

The report was as follows:

Assessment—The whole Council.

Finance and Public Accounts—Councillors Jefferson, Finigan, Morehouse, Murley, Jones and Kenney.

Poor and Harmless Insane—Councillors Cossaboom, Westcott, Jefferson and Jones.

Tenders and Public Property—Councillors Jefferson, Westcott and Ring.

License—Councillors Ring and Murley.

Revising Jury Lists—Councillors Ring and Westcott.

By-Laws—Councillors Murley, Kenney and Morehouse.

Jail—Councillors Jefferson, Jones and Lewis.

On motion, Mr. Morton, Manager of the Digby Branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia was given permission to address the Council.

The Warden addressed the Council as follows:

To the officers and members of the Municipal Council of the District of Digby, I wish to extend a New Year's greeting as we assemble to transact our Municipal business at the beginning of 1957. We appreciate the fact that during the past year there has been no change in our municipal personnel, thus leaving us as an unbroken body of elected representatives to wrestle with municipal problems which are apparently increasing in many ways, the greatest of which is the revamping of our educational system, which was started in 1948 by the official opening of the Digby Regional High School on Nov. 11th of that year. Since that time further educational expansion has or is to embrace an extension to the extent of $165,000.00 to the Digby Regional High School together with a Three Hundred and Seventy-three Thousand Dollar school at Weymouth and a One Hundred and Sixty-seven Thousand Dollar school at Sandy Cove, and a Twenty-five Thousand Dollar garage extension at Digby.

The completion of our present construction program will give consolidated school service to the greater part of the Municipality, presently leaving the schools at Tiverton, Freeport and Westport together with some other districts between Digby and Weymouth for further consideration, relative to consolidation.

The great overall factor in our financial situation, relative both to our province and as well to our municipalities. The fact that no municipality in Nova Scotia has ever defaulted in the payment of their debentures, gives confidence to possible investors in our municipal administration.

Our tax collections during the year have been somewhat better than those of last year, line per cent of our total levy, which represents a one per cent gain over 1955. Relative to our general way of life, it is quite apparent that, barring a time of depression, there still continues an upward trend in our general economy, as we are using more electric power, more gas and oil, more travel, a higher rate of living and last but not least higher taxes. In speaking of electric power, the requirements supplied by our County Power Board exceeds that of any previous year and, with the completion of a second plant now under construction at the Gulch Development (back of Bear River) will give an output of some ten thousand K.W. Hours from those developments.

Our fishing industry during the year has maintained a good supply together with a fair price, however much of the business is being prosecuted by larger fishing boats and trawlers. Our overall farm picture is such that there is very little apparent shortage of food in spite of the fact that twenty thousand during the past year have left farms in Canada and gone into other employment, thus industry is absorbing a great influx of man power.

At this time of the year the lumber business is generally at a standstill. As far as 1956 is concerned, a rise in freight rates and adverse exchange conditions cut the net receipts and it is somewhat apparent that the cut may be small during the present year.

I feel that the Yarmouth-Bar

Harbour Ferry has been a great factor in stimulating trade and travel in the western end of Nova Scotia. It has been estimated that she has collected in the vicinity of a million dollars in ferry charges during her first year of service.

In our municipal operations our overall accomplishments are such that our office has carried on within the limits of the estimates set by the Council, and again as in previous years it has not been necessary to carry an overdraft and we trust that we can continue to do the same this ensuing year.

I cannot but feel that much of our Municipal success is due to the efficient services of our Clerk together with the assistance of a competent Deputy and I wish at this time to thank not only the Clerk and his Deputy but every member of the Council for their support and co-operation in all matters relating to our municipal activities.

Respectfully submitted

Auditor's Report for 1956

To the Warden and Councillors, Municipality of the District of Digby,
DIGBY, Nova Scotia.
Gentlemen:

We have examined the books and accounts of the Municipality of the District of Digby for the year ended December 31st, 1956, and have received all the information and explanations we have required.

We report that we also examined the books and records of the Municipal School Board for the year ended December 31st, 1956. Our report on this examination forms a part of the schedule attached hereto. In accordance with instructions from the Department of Municipal Affairs we have changed the form of the Statements. The Revenue Fund Balance Sheet is drawn up the same as in previous years. The Statement of Revenue and Expenditure is changed considerably but is self-explanatory.

We did not verify the outstanding taxes with the taxpayers of the Municipality but we checked the listing of the accounts outstanding and found the total to be in agreement with the Control Account. The cash received on account of outstanding taxes and for other purposes was checked against serially numbered duplicate receipts. All disbursements were made by cheque. Our verification of the bank account included an examination of all cancelled cheques and supporting vouchers.

Capital Fund Balance Sheet included only the assets and liabilities of the Municipality but does not include the capital assets and liabilities of the school board. We have included a Combined Statement of Revenue Fund Balance Sheets and Combined Statements of the Capital Fund Balance Sheets of the General Fund, Municipal School Board and the Hydro Distribution System. The operation of the year resulted in a deficit of $509.71. Surplus Account, after sundry adjustments, now stands at a credit of $34,199.56.

Subject to the above comments, in our opinion, the Attached Balance Sheets of the Revenue Fund and Capital Fund were properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the financial position of the Municipality of the District of Digby as at December 31st, 1956, according to the best of our information, the explanations given to us and as shown by the books and accounts.

Kentville, N. S.

Municipal School Board

Chairman and Members,
Municipal School Board of the District of Digby,
DIGBY, Nova Scotia.
Gentlemen:

We have examined the books and records of the Municipal School Board for the District of Digby for the year ended December 31st, 1956, and have received all the information and explanations we have required.

We have prepared the statements for the Municipal School Board to conform with instructions from the Department of Municipal Affairs. For this reason, the statements are drawn up in a much different form than the previous years. The Balance Sheet is drawn up the same as in previous years. The statement of expenditure is drawn up to show the total expenses incurred, the amount approved for the foundation programme, the amount spent in excess of the amount approved. The Capital Fund Balance Sheet is drawn up to show the assets and liabilities relating to school. The school busses and equipment Balance Sheet is drawn up to show the Capital Assets and Liabilities in regard to school busses.

When we prepared the statement of expenditure, we did not have the actual costs for either the Digby Regional High School nor for the High School of the Town of Digby. We have included in the expenditures the amounts paid as an item of expenditure and this is an estimated cost of the Municipal School Board's share for these schools.

The operations for the year showed an excess of revenue over expenditure for the year and after sundry adjustments for the previous year this resulted in the Municipal School Board having a surplus of $10,925.56. When preparing the Budget for the following year this surplus should not be taken into consideration unless an adjustment is made for the actual costs of both the Digby High School and the Digby Regional High School as it is quite possible that some of the expenses of both these schools would be in excess of the Foundation Programme and this would automatically reduce the grant shown in the Revenue Section of the Municipal School Board. The Digby Regional High School is included at $137,656.00 on the Capital Fund Balance Sheet. This was the appraised value of the Provincial Government equity which was transferred to the Municipality.

In relation to this, there is a Contingent Liability of $42,042.00 with the Province of Nova Scotia. The only other schools which have been included in the Capital Fund Balance Sheet were set up at an amount equal to the debt assumed by the Municipality as at January 1st, 1956. We have included a schedule of the Unmatured Debts on Schools assumed by the Municipality as at January 1st, 1956.

Subject to the foregoing, we report that, in our opinion, the attached Balance Sheet is properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the financial position of the Municipal School Board for the District of Digby as at December 31st, 1956, according to the best of our information, the explanations given to us and as shown by the books and accounts.

Kentville, N. S.

Evacuation - Its Effect on the Rural Dweller

Seventeenth in a series of 24 articles

If nuclear warfare ever comes to Canada, the most permanent effects of evacuation of the large cities likely to be bombed will be felt by the smaller cities, towns and villages and even the farmers.

For the city resident can save himself from the destruction of a hydrogen bomb only by fleeing to the country. If his city were wiped out and made uninhabitable by the blast, he would have to remain in the smaller centre. He could not go home again; he would have no home to go to.

Under Canada's civil defence plan it is the responsibility of the rural dwellers to be prepared to cope with the problems of evacuation of the cities would bring them. And these problems are many and varied.

The immediate demand the evacuees would make on the country folk would be for shelter, not only from the elements and the weather but also from the threat of the blast's aftermath: radioactive fall-out. The fall-out of pulverized cities from one H-Bomb could contaminate areas more than 100 miles long and 20 miles wide with radioactive dust that might remain dangerous for from 48 hours up.

Where would a small town or village shelter up to five times its normal population for 48 hours or more? How would it feed them for that time? Supply them with water?

These are only a few of the problems a local civil defence organization can work out in advance and it is only by advance preparedness and training and practice that the tremendous demands a nuclear emergency would make on rural dwellers could be met.

Since civil defence planners expect the whole country eventually to be divided into evacuation zones - with persons from pre-determined sections of large cities going to pre-determined sections of the rural areas - any community, no matter how small, must be prepared to care for the injured almost certain to turn up among the evacuees.

There would be extra demands on a small town's water supply and sanitation capacity. The town engineer, who would know what these facilities could take and how best to expand them, is therefore an important part of any town's civil defence set-up. Civil defence volunteers might be needed to help him.

The evacuees might outnumber the town's normal residents by as many as five to one. That poses the problem of law enforcement. No town police force can by itself provide the necessary protection from the criminal element that accompanies any such crowd. With trained civil defence volunteers, however, it would have a better chance of doing so.

Besides the necessity of people who live in the country and the small towns and cities to help their less fortunate city dwellers in event nuclear war requires mass evacuation, there is the possibility that rural

Year End Review

By the
HON. ROBERT L. STANFIELD, Minister of Education

The year 1956 has been one of adjustment in the field of school administration and finance. Amendments to the Education Act which went into effect at the beginning of the year re-defined the authority and responsibility of the Minister of Education, the municipal school boards (city, town and county) and the local trustees.

Administrative officials of the Department of Education in co-operation with the municipal boards devoted much time and effort during the year to study and explanation of the changes brought about by the new legislation and to the working out of new arrangements attendant upon the changes. The adjustments were chiefly in the designating of local responsibility for education and in financial arrangements.

Numerous meetings were held throughout the province to acquaint local school trustees and secretaries with the changes in their duties and position. While it was inevitable that difficulties would arise from such a major change, the transition to the new system of organization, under which the municipal school boards have greatly increased authority for the operation of the public schools, has on the whole been smooth and effective. The Department has noted with interest and gratification the sense of responsibility exhibited on the part of municipal school boards and the energy and effectiveness with which they are tackling their new responsibilities.

To provide accommodation and facilities for the education of the children of the province in these days of expanding enrolments, the building of new schools continue, and additions to existing schools are being made on an unprecedented scale. At the same time, in keeping with generally accepted practice, under suitable conditions the rural residents must be prepared to move to safer territory themselves. The chief cause of this would be fall-out. If the weather conditions were such that heavy concentrations of this deadly dust were likely to sift down on a town or village after a city had been blasted by an H-bomb, then the inhabitants would have to seek shelter elsewhere.

How would such people know where to go? Or when the danger was such that they must go?

That is another of the many reasons why Canada seeks to organize civil defence in every community. For it is the purpose of civil defence to work out these problems and allow every individual to learn and be trained, if necessary, in the surest and swiftest method of putting the solutions into action.

than 100,000 of the children are in the elementary grades, primary to 6. In the junior high school grades there are some 30,000 pupils; and in the senior high school grades approximately 13,000. The enrolment per grade ranges from almost 18,000 in Grade 1 to approximately 1,800 in Grade 12. Increasingly larger enrolments can be expected throughout the higher grades as the flood of young pupils progresses upwards.

To accommodate the children there are in the province about 1,950 school houses with some 5,400 classrooms. The number of teachers in the public schools now exceeds 5,500, of whom more than one-fifth are university graduates.

Year End Review

By the
HON. R. A. DONAHOE,
Minister of Public Welfare

Throughout the year 1956 the Divisions of the Department concerned with child neglect, delinquency, foster home and institutional care for children and the voluntary agencies in the Province have been confronted with the usual unchanging problems which present a serious challenge to all who are interested in the welfare of our children.

In most areas of the province this work is carried on by voluntary agencies and in those areas where there is no voluntary agency this responsibility is carried by the department through its district offices. However, the main function of the Child Welfare Division is to provide encouragement to the private agencies and be available for consultation and assistance whenever and wherever such is required.

Strenuous efforts are being made by the Children's Aid Societies in the field of family welfare and protection to keep children in their own homes and thus avoid the necessity of wardship action. This has not been easy with a growing population and the social and economic changes that have taken place during the past ten years. However the good work done by the Societies over the years has now reached a point where the ward population dropped for the first time during the past year from 2830 to 2783. There is every reason to believe that this encouraging trend will continue to an even greater extent during the coming year.

During the year, the Chief Psychologist for the Department was transferred to the Nova Scotia Training School so that from now on his headquarters will be there. Through the co-operation of the Department of Public Health, we have secured the services of two psychiatrists from the Fundy Health Clinic who spend a day a month at the School and confer regarding treatment plans for individual children with the Chief Psychologist and the medical doctor in charge. We hope these changes will improve the medical, psychiatric and psychological services for the children.

The Division of Physical Fitness of the Department of Education has worked closely with the School in promoting a recreational program.

Mothers' Allowances were being paid to 2089 mothers at the end of the year. Of these, 1236 mothers are widows and 778 are wives of disabled husbands. Seventy-five allowances are being paid to foster children whose both parents are dead or disabled. This service involves the Province in a total expenditure yearly of $1,560,000 and directly benefits 5532 children. Besides money payments to the mother, an extensive medical service is provided through the co-operation of Maritime Medical Care.

A new program of Social Assistance was introduced during the year to provide monthly money payments to women whose husbands are serving penitentiary sentences of two years or longer or women whose husbands have deserted and who cannot be located. This program also includes payments on behalf of abandoned children or children who have been left with their grandparents, relatives or friends and who have no means to provide for them.

To date 514 applications have been received and of these, 274 have been approved for the payment of assistance.

A total of 368 adoptions were finalized by the Courts of Nova Scotia during the past year. An adoption clearance service is being established within the Department to facilitate this work for all child placing agencies in the province. We look forward with confidence to increasing success in our adoption placement program in the years ahead.

All Children's Aid Societies and District Offices have continued to provide casework services for unmarried mothers. Indications are that over forty per cent of this group received help in planning for their children. It is hoped that the use of this service will expand to the point where a skilled service will be available to all such mothers desiring help in planning for their own and their child's future.

The adult probation program is being well received by the Courts throughout the province and it was necessary during the year to add a second adult probation officer in the Halifax area.

No amendments to legislation administered by the Old Age Assistance Board were made in 1956. Old Age Assistance was paid to more than 5,000 needy persons between the ages of 65 and 70 years. There was a slight decrease in the number of recipients due to the fact that the number transferred to the Federal Old Age Security program upon reaching the age of 70 years exceeded the number of new recipients. The total amount paid was approximately $2,080,000.

Allowances to needy blind persons between 18 and 70 years of age amounted to $338,000. At the end of the year, there were 717 allowances being paid.

Recipients of allowances as totally and permanently disabled, numbered 1400. Payments under this program for the year totalled $540,000. The evaluation of disability is most important, and in each case, medical and social reports were studied by a committee of medical advisers representing both Federal and Provincial interests.

Mrs. Walter Milo, president of the Women's Missionary Society, reported an enjoyable and satisfactory year as did Mrs. Stewart Condon, retiring president of the W.A. Friendly Circle.

Other encouraging reports were given by Mr. John Gilliat, treasurer of the Men's Club, and Mrs. F. L. Fields, treasurer of the Calendar Club.

Rev. Carrol R. Armstrong, pastor of the church, was chairman and Miss Dorothy C. Wood, Church Clerk, presented the minutes of the last meeting.

The treasurer's report prepared and presented by Mrs. R. H. Bond, was most encouraging as was the report of the president of the Sewing Circle, Mrs. Geo. H. Gates, and the report of the president of the Women's Missionary Aid Society, Mrs. R. H. Bond.

J. P. Littlewood, superintendent of the Sunday School, gave a very gratifying report concerning the joint United Church and Baptist Sunday School which meets each Sunday in the Baptist Church.

The choir under the direction of the organist, Mrs. R. T. Chisholm, has functioned loyally during the year.

The pastoral report given by Rev. C. R. Armstrong, revealed numerous activities in connection with his ministry, with several new members by baptism added to the church membership during the year.

During the meeting officers and committees for the coming year were appointed.

The annual meeting of the United Church W.A. Friendly Circle was held on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Frank R. Troop.

Rev. C. H. Gough presided over the meeting and the following officers were appointed for the coming year:

A very successful year has been enjoyed by the group during the year.

To Speak At Bear River Baptist Church

The Rev. Brinley Evans, of Brooklyn, New York, former missionary to Nigeria, West Africa, and at present Deputation Secretary for the Eastern States, will be the speaker at Bear River Baptist Church February 10th to 15th inclusive at 7:45 p.m. evenings, Sunday at 10:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. Mr. Evans was born in South Wales, Great Britain, and received his training for the ministry at the Bible College, Wales, and the Missionary Training Colony, London. He first went to Nigeria as a missionary in November, 1938, under the Sudan Interior Mission, one of the world's largest faith boards which has today over a thousand missionaries and has reached 200 tribes with the Gospel.

His ministry consisted of working as an Evangelist and Bible teacher in a pagan territory where a few years ago the people were known as the "Tailed Head Hunters of Kagero."

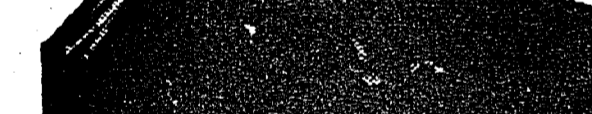

Mr. Evans also worked among Moslems and in a Leper Colony and was responsible for heading the Youth for Christ movement in Kano, Nigeria, designed to reach the English speaking Africans.

Mr. Evans has had profitable ministries in Wales and England and now seeks to make known the ministry in Africa of the Sudan Interior Mission.

The Rev. Mr. Evans is also an accomplished violinist and will render Gospel hymns and selections as a part of his ministry.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

D.F.D. Activities

The committee in charge of the card party on February 11 will be: Guy VanTassel, George Humphrey, Victor Dennison, Gerald Hays, Charles Hall, Clarence Gould.

Last Monday's card party prize winners were: Ladies' High, Mrs. Carl Winchester; Ladies' Low, Emella Comeau; Men's High, Adolph Melanson; Men's Low, Ed. Handspiker; Door Prize, Lena Handspiker.

Last Friday night's broom hockey game with the Legion at the Forum proved to be quite a muscle stretcher for some of the players. Both teams are anxious for a return match.

The annual supper given the members of the Fire Department by Jim Richards will be held Friday evening at 7 p.m. at Hotel Champlain.

A meeting of the Ice Carnival Committee and workers is called for Monday evening, Feb. 11, for final arrangements. All are asked to attend at 7:00 p.m. sharp.

In bowling news the Milkmen now lead with 20 points followed by the H-Bombs with 18, Slidewinders with 17, Smokeaters with 16, Legion 12, Fyrtiters 10, Rockets 6 and Blockbusters 3. The Smokeaters meet the Rockets tonight and everyone is reminded that there is also a meeting of the league tonight to work out playoff schedules and trophies.

Work on the kitchen and recreation room at the fire station is progressing well and it is hoped that this work will be completed shortly. This will make a great improvement for those having to prepare lunches and other eats at the station. It will also mean much improved quarters for those men having to stay in the station.

To Hold "Family Night" At Forum

Officials of the Digby Recreation Commission have expressed grave concern over attendance at hockey games at the Forum this season. It is stated real efforts have been made this year by the Western Valley Hockey League to have teams composed of entirely "home brew" players in response to demands by local fans. Despite this, attendance at hockey games has been very disappointing, it is reported.

In an effort to step up the attendance a "Family Night" has been scheduled for tomorrow (Friday) evening at the Forum. Families will be admitted for a total entrance fee of one dollar, while regular admission will be charged to individuals.

As an added attraction at the Forum on Friday evening there will be a game between two Pee Wee teams, ages 7-11, at 8:15. The regular game, the last in the regular series between Digby Ravens and their traditional rivals, Bridgetown Hawks, will begin at 8:45.

Observe College Sunday

Church College Sunday was observed at Grace United Church on Sunday morning when Rev. James Brooks spoke from the book of the prophet, Jeremiah "I know the plans I have for you . . . plans for good and not for evil." God has plans for the future, Mr. Brooks said, not only for individuals but also for the world and nations. In addressing the young people he cautioned against considering what they want to do rather than what God wants them to do. He advised them to try to see what God's plans are in deciding their future.

Four Christened At Trinity Church

Four infants were christened at a baptismal service at Trinity Anglican Church here Sunday afternoon by the Rector, Rev. H. Y. MacLean.

Those christened were Graham Stewart Baxter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Murray O. Baxter; Joseph Glenn Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hall; Heather Mae Connell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Connell; and Elaine Margaret Hersey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hersey.

The Trinity Guild will meet at the Rectory on Tuesday evening with Mrs. Ralph Berwick as co-hostess.

Work on the kitchen and recreation room at the fire station is progressing well and it is hoped that this work will be completed shortly. This will make a great improvement for those having to prepare lunches and other eats at the station. It will also mean much improved quarters for those men having to stay in the station.

Break Deadlock In Little League

Saturday, February 2nd, was the first day in both leagues that one team stood at the top of the league. In the Pee Wee league the Canadians, with an unbeaten string of three games, stood at the top of their league with six points. In the Bantam league the Maple Leafs with six points, and still unbeaten, are tops.

The league standings are as follows:

Pee Wee League	P	W	L	T	Pts
Canadians	3	3	0	0	6
Hornets	3	2	1	0	4
Ravens	3	1	2	0	2
Bruins	3	0	3	0	0

Bantam League	P	W	L	T	Pts
Maple Leafs	3	3	0	0	6
Rangers	3	2	1	0	4
Black Hawks	3	1	2	0	2
Red Wings	3	0	3	0	0

On a singleton goal in last Saturday's game the first game of the Pee Wee league was won by the Hornets, whose goal by Skipper VanTassel, was enough to beat the Ravens.

The second game in the Pee Wee league was won by the Canadians, whose four goals by Bob Richards, Berny Kuryluk, Phil Murley and Doug VanTassel, was too much for the Bruins whose red light flasher was Robert Burnham.

The first game in the Bantam league was won by the power-ful Maple Leafs, who tallied four times. Goal scorers were Mike VanTassel, (2) and Murray Burgoyne, (2). The Black Hawks lone marker was scored by Gary Winchester.

The last game of the morning resulted in the Rangers outscoring the Red Wings 4-2. The Rangers marksmen were Randy Cummings, (3) and Archie Dugas, (1). For the Red Wings Neil Smith netted (1) and Harold Ritchie (1).

The Little League was again in action on Friday, February 1, when Digby's entry in the M.A.H.A. Bantam Division played an exhibition game for the Legion's night at the Forum. This team named the Digby Rangers played two ten-minute periods as "Canadians" and "Rangers." The lines in "Canadian" shirts proved too much for the "Ranger" lines and scored four times. Goal scorers were D. Outhouse, Murray Burgoyne, 2, and Phil Belliveau.

Next week the schedule is as follows:

8:00 a.m.—Bruins vs Ravens.
8:45 a.m.—Cdns. vs Hornets.
9:30 a.m.—Rang. vs B. Hwks.
10:15 a.m.—R. Wings vs Leafs.

Mental Health Group Holds Annual

The annual meeting of the Digby County Mental Health Society was held at the Fire Station here last Wednesday evening.

According to the report given by the Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. M. E. Bailey, a balance of $29.41 remained in the society's account after purchase of comforts for the patients at the Municipal Home and other expenses. Mrs. Bailey said there were forty-four members registered in the society and that six meetings of the executive had been held since the last annual meeting.

Meetings had also been held at Weymouth and Smith's Cove in efforts to interest the general public in the work of the society. Victor Cardoza, President of the society, said the group had been active in the successful efforts made to keep the psychiatric clinic in operation in Digby and had done much to develop community interest in the clinic. He said he was of the opinion the society should affiliate with the Nova Scotia Society for Mental Hygiene so that the Digby group could have the advantage of educational and other material available through the provincial and national organization.

Mr. Cardoza stated the psychiatric clinic had now been placed on a new basis in its operation and that increased community participation would be featured. He said a local Board of Directors had been formed to operate the clinic and it was hoped financial assistance for the clinic would be forthcoming from the local area. At the present, he said, Cornell University was making an annual grant to the clinic on behalf of the community but this should be replaced by funds raised locally.

Legion Sponsored Game Draws Crowd

A good crowd at the Forum last Friday evening enjoyed a program of hockey sponsored by the Digby Branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L.

Main event was the game between the Digby Ravens and a team from HMCS Buckingham. In this game Ravens came out on top of an 18-6 score.

The first two periods of the game were fairly even but in the third period the Ravens swarmed all over the visiting sailors to make the final tally 18-6 for the Ravens.

An hilarious attraction of the evening's program was a game of broom hockey between a team from the Digby Fire Department and a team representing the Digby Branch of the Legion. In this the Legion came out on top with a 1-0 score. Play was very evenly matched throughout the game but one of several rushes put on by the Legion squad netted them the winning goal.

It is expected the fire department are planning to issue a challenge for another match with the Legion and this is expected to come off at a later date.

Another attraction of the Legion program Friday evening was a Little League exhibition game. In this game Digby's entry in the M.A.H.A. Bantam division, the Rangers, divided into two teams, the Rangers and Canadians, and played two ten minute periods.

The team in the Canadians uniforms proved too much for the Ranger lineup and scored four unanswered goals. Scoring for the Canadians were Murray Burgoyne, who scored two; Phillip Belliveau and D. Outhouse.

Has Narrow Escape

Eight-year-old Patsy Bremner, Mt. Pleasant, met with an unfortunate accident on Thursday afternoon when her clothing caught on the school bus as she passed behind it. She was dragged several yards before her clothing gave way and she fell clear.

The mailman, Jack King, saw the incident but was unable to stop the bus. He carried the child to her home where she was found to be not seriously injured but suffering from shock. The bus driver was informed of the accident on the return trip.

Letter Received From Germany

The Courier this week received an interesting letter from Bombardier Wilfred K. Nash, in Hemer, Germany.

The letter states, "Our Courier serves its job well over here. We pass it around among several other families here, who thoroughly enjoy it as much as we do. Our last copy received was the New Year issue, so it is only proper to return the wishes that the New Year will bring you and your staff all that is good and right."

The importance of mail for those serving overseas is stressed in the letter which says, "Mail is one of the important events of our everyday life, so when the Courier arrives we both have to read it at the same time."

Bombardier Nash was a Lance Bombardier before he left Canada in 1955 for Germany and received his promotion to Bombardier in October, 1956.

Town Council Meets

A building permit was granted to Bernard Bell for the construction of a bungalow on his property on Second Avenue at Monday night's meeting of the Town Council here.

The Council also asked Town Clerk E. S. Eaton to write the Town Clerk of Berwick for further information concerning reasons behind the passing of a resolution by the Berwick Town Council, a copy of which was read at the Digby Council meeting, asking that municipally owned utilities be removed from the control of the Nova Scotia Board of Public Utilities.

A brief from the Union of Nova Scotia Municipalities concerning the proposed health plan and forwarded to the provincial government was read at the meeting and ordered filed.

William Thomas was re-appointed keeper of the town dump. Three applications for the position were considered by the Council.

Tag days for the Hospital Ladies' Aid on March 2nd and the Canadian Institute for the Blind on May 18th were authorized.

It was reported a request from the Fire Wardens that the town truck and snow plow stand by during snow storms when firemen remain on duty at the fire station overnight had been approved by the Streets Committee.

Takes First Place

The Digby Fire Department placed first in Nova Scotia Class F. (population under 2,500) in the international Fire Prevention Contest for 1956.

CHURCHES HOLD ANNUAL MEETINGS

The annual business meeting of the Church of Christ, Weymouth, Digby County was held on Wednesday evening, January 30, 1957, with a larger attendance than at any previous such meeting, and a deeper interest shown by the members in all phases of the church life and work.

Harry J. Lewis was named Chairman of the meeting, and Wilfred Cosman, Secretary-Treasurer and Clerk of the church, recorded the minutes. The minister, Rev. John A. Carr, offered prayer, asking the blessing, presence and guidance of God upon and with the meeting.

Upon the call of the Chairman the Treasurer gave the financial report which showed an income last year of slightly over $5,000. The budget for the incoming year called for $5,900.

The reports of the auxiliary organizations of the church showed progress. The C.W.F. (Christian Women's Fellowship) through their work made contributions to the local work as well as to world-wide and provincial needs. This group, during the past year, gave for all causes $254.95.

Bible School report showed an increase in the average attendance from 54 to 63 with eight classes and nine teachers. The Sunday School Superintendent, Mr. Clyde Cosman, had a commendatory word for each and every teacher.

The S. & C. Club of Women is active and meets weekly. The C.Y.F. Young People's meets each Friday evening in inter-church gathering.

The C.M.F. Men's Work, also inter-church and active, meets the first Monday of each month, with an average attendance of 50 men.

The Prayer and Bible Study meeting is held each Wednesday evening and is showing an increase in attendance and interest.

One Trustee, Mr. Elijah Wagner, was re-elected for a term of three years. The church officers, four elders and eight deacons remain in office for another year.

The increase in membership this year was nine.

The church supports the World Missionary work, the All-Canada work and the Maritime work of the Church of Christ (Disciples) and will this year be supporting the new work in Dartmouth, N. S.

At the close of the meeting the minister commended the members for their faithfulness during the past year and their interest in this business meeting and called for continued effort in the new year. The Chairman followed with remarks to the effect that the work will require, in this new year, the support of all members, financially as well as in every other way.

The meeting was closed with prayers by Albert Jones and Jared Frankland.

Speaks On Bulbs

Mrs. Chester Levy gave a talk on bulbs at the regular meeting of the Admiral Digby Horticultural Society held at the home of Mrs. H. A. Nichols, Second Avenue, on Friday evening. Mrs. Levy told the difference in the various bulbs — true bulbs, corms, tuberous roots, bulb tubers and the rhizomes. A discussion on methods of planting bulbs followed and Miss Louise Daley will continue the study on the care of bulbs at the next meeting. Mrs. Levy also showed slides of a number of beauty spots in and around Digby and of the project by the Cannon Banks undertaken by the Horticultural Society in 1956.

Mrs. H. M. Warne reported having been in conference with J. N. Jankov, Truro, for suggestions and estimation of costs to continue the Cannon Banks project in 1957.

It was decided to find a name for the park around the Admiral Digby Well and the members were requested to submit names at the next meeting.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Nichols, President. At the close of the business meeting Mrs. Nichols was assisted in serving refreshments by Mrs. H. M. Warne, Miss Dora Warne and Mrs. J. M. Wallis.

The Digby girls' basketball team also posted a win Friday evening against Annapolis when they downed the ARA girls' team by a score of 55-15.

High scorer for the Digby hoopers was Marilyn Parsons, who tallied 22. Florence Thibault scored 20, Donna Logan, 6; Shirley Potter, 5, and Jean Brittain, 2.

Jean Harvey was high scorer for the ARA girls with 12. B.

Describes Epidemic In North

Lorna Connell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Connell of Digby, who is spending her second year as a teacher in a mission school at Fort George, James Bay, Quebec, three hundred miles north of the end of the railroad, wrote a letter before Christmas to a friend in Hartford, Conn., telling of her experiences and about an epidemic which occurred at Fort George.

Miss Connell's letter was reproduced in the West Hartford News because its recipients, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence A. Howard, whom Lorna met while they were vacationing in Digby, felt it would be of interest to the paper's readers and because they wanted to secure donations of ice skates which Lorna said were much in demand at her school.

In her letter Lorna said that there were some ninety of the children stricken with measles during the epidemic and the whole staff of the school had to work day and night caring for them. Even the well children, numbering about eight, did their part in caring for the sick.

She said that many of the diseases to which we have built up immunities still are deadly to the Eskimos and Indian children of the north. A helicopter brought in a doctor and two nurses but by the time they arrived the worst of the epidemic had passed. The resident nurse had a very difficult time, Lorna said, since she had to take care of all the school children as well as those in the village.

All of James Bay seemed to be stricken with the disease, she said, at least all the island on which the mission school is located as well as Moose Factory where there is a hospital. She said fears were held the disease might spread to the trappers and hunters and, if it did, results would be tragic since many of them are completely isolated from help.

The letter, written before Christmas, described plans for the festive season at the school. Lorna said she would have the job this year of giving out with the jolly Ho! Ho! since the man from the Hudson's Bay post had a strong Scottish accent and his voice would be immediately recognized.

She said the river had started to freeze and when ice had formed to a depth of eight inches planes could land. She said the arrival of the mail plane in January was an event to which everyone looked forward.

The children of the school love to skate, Lorna said, but have only three dozen pairs of the skates for almost one hundred children. She said it is really something to see youngsters whose normal shoe size is about a three trying to skate in size eight boots. The boys played hockey for the first time last year, she said, and it showed their real spirit and love for the game when they had to learn on skates, many of them sizes too large and worn and delapidated.

A real surprise at Christmas time, Lorna said in a recent letter to her mother, was to receive a Christmas letter from Howard Kirkpatrick who is at Great Whale, "just north of me" and who sent the letter by an Indian who was returning home to Fort George for the holiday.

Howard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kirkpatrick, formerly of Digby.

About This and That

White Cane Week February 10-16

"Guard your sight as your most precious possession" urged Mrs. W. C. Bending, President The Canadian Council of the Blind. She was commenting on the theme of White Cane Week February 10-16, "Be wise, take care of your eyes."

Co-sponsored by The Canadian Council of the Blind and The Canadian National Institute for the Blind for the past twelve years, this national education period has played a major part in developing a greater understanding between sightless and sighted from St. John's to Victoria.

"This year we are turning to sight conservation," Mrs. Bending said. Asked why blind persons are so concerned with the care of the eyes the President replied, "Because we have learned from experience the difficulties of living from day to day under blindness." Mrs. Bending vividly portrayed the problems of the housewife who is blind. "Imagine yourself without sight" she suggested. "How would you get along with your daily duties?"

Suppose you have just bought a pound of butter and a quart of milk. You are well acquainted with the layout of your kitchen, and so find the refrigerator without incident. Experience has taught you that system is a "must" for a blind homemaker. One hand must be kept free for the "seeing" so the milk and butter are put away one item at a time.

Even setting the table is a lengthy energy-consuming process for you. As the table setting progresses you must avoid knocking over the cream pitcher or placing the pickles on top of the butter. When removing the cloth, you cannot glance at the table to see that all the dishes are cleared away. You must take time to examine it carefully, or finish with a vase of flowers on the floor.

"With clothing you will find a problem in handling the wide variety of colours," Mrs. Bending said. "You will have to keep white gloves and accessories in one drawer, blue in another, and brown in a third. You must be careful to separate your light and dark hat pins. Should you forget just which is which, you may find yourself wearing a colour combination like a patchwork quilt."

"These problems are not insurmountable," Mrs. Bending explained. "They have been defeated time and time again. But if you wish to continue your housekeeping the easy way, take a tip from the blind this White Cane Week — "Be Wise, take care of your eyes."

CARS ARE MY LIFE

by Ken Hankinson

IT'S TRADING TIME

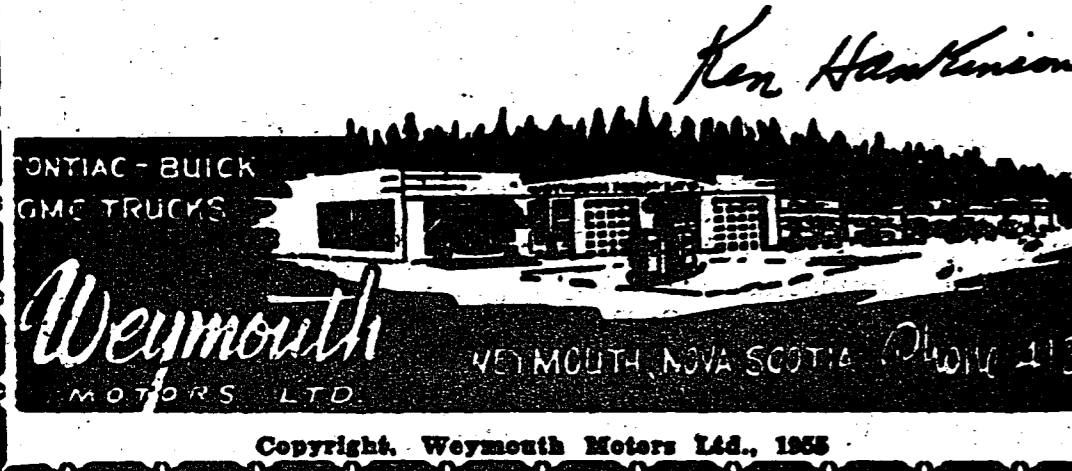

I doubt, I honestly and sincerely doubt, if it's true that a local gal we'll call 'Mrs. Helen Smith' drove into a service station one day and told the mechanic: "I think you'd better look at the depreciation; my husband says it's the most important thing about a car." I sincerely doubt it, even if another person who shall remain nameless (except that he is her husband) swears that it's true.

It is true, however, that depreciation is an invisible rust that is eating away at the value of your car every day. It's part of the cost of running a car, and it's there for the simple reason that an older car is worth less than a newer car.

You can't wipe off depreciation, or hide it with paint — but there is a way to keep its cost down to a bare minimum. The secret is to take advantage of the fact that cars are typed according to their style year. That style year, as you know, changes in the autumn when the new models come in.

You don't have to be an auto expert, or a mathematician, to see that as the style year clicks over in the fall your three-year-old car has suddenly become a four-year-old car. And it's therefore worth that much less. This doesn't happen overnight, however, the turnover to the new style year takes a little time while the new cars are getting themselves established in the market.

The lesson is this: right now, this very week, is the best time in the whole year to trade in your old car. If it's three years old it's still three years old, not four. Take my word for it . . . but you don't have to take my word, I'll take your car for the highest cash or trade-in price you can get and prove it to you.

Agricultural Representative Busy In County

The directors of the Westport Co-operative Society met at Westport during last week for the purpose of studying a program of action to put their store as well as their Fishermen's Organization on a sound business basis.

The meeting was attended by Mr. Percy Pellerin, of the Antigonish Extension Department, and Mr. William LeFort, Agricultural Representative for Digby County.

Plans were also made at this meeting to hold the annual meeting of the Westport Co-operative Society Limited in the Legion Hall on February 19th, in Westport.

The directors of the Meteghan Credit Union held their monthly meeting in Meteghan Parish Hall the latter part of this week.

With them were some of the Treasurers and Presidents of other Credit Unions of the County. Among those present were Camille Comeau, Treasurer for Weymouth Credit Union; Anselm LeBlanc, Treasurer, and Robert Doucet, President of the Church Point Credit Union; and Charles J. J. Comeau, President of the Saulnierville Credit Union.

The purpose of this meeting was to try and get some of the officers of all Credit Unions in the County together, so a uniform program of study could be discussed and put in effect so that more interest would be taken in the co-operative movement.

The regular weekly short course was again held this week at St. Ann's College. This week the program of study was centered on the question of schools in the district. After an outline of what the school program consisted in the Municipality of Clare, by Inspector Comeau, of Meteghan, the sixty-five students present were divided into five groups to study questions taken from the Conference given by the Inspector of Schools.

These short courses are giving an opportunity to the students who attend to discuss many other aspects of our school problems as well as economical and social problems that may occur in this part of the Province.

MENTAL HEALTH GROUP

He said he had discussed the matter of affiliation of the Digby Mental Health Society into the provincial organization with Mr. Andrew Crook, Executive Secretary of the provincial group and that Mr. Crook welcomed the idea. He said also that funds raised in a campaign during Mental Health week in May would in great part remain in Digby to assist the clinic.

After considerable discussion it was decided that the Digby group would take necessary action to affiliate with the Nova Scotia Society for Mental Hygiene and that a meeting would be called for either the first or second week in March, to which Mr. Crook would be invited, to finalize the affiliation.

Victor Cardoza was elected President of the Digby group, with Lawrence Hersey, of Weymouth, as Vice-President. Mrs. M. E. Bailey was re-elected Secretary-Treasurer.

A Gregg Gillatt, manager of the Digby Dairy Ltd., was guest speaker at last Thursday night's meeting of the Digby Kiwanis Club.

Taking as his subject, "Pastorization," Mr. Gillatt delivered a most interesting talk on the history, purposes and development of pasteurization methods in the dairy industry. He was introduced to the gathering by Kiwanian J. D. Hattie.

Organ Dedicated

Efforts of the members were well repaid on Sunday, January 27th, when the new Hallman Electric Organ was officially dedicated at Bear River United Baptist Church.

Rev. W. Scott led in the service and declared the organ dedicated in memory of the following who died in World War II: Elwood Stevens, Roy Gehue, Arthur Green, and others who served King and Country in the conflict. Mention was also made of others who have labored in and through the church to the Glory of God and the service of Jesus Christ.

A hymn of dedication, sung by the choir, and an organ solo, beautifully rendered by Miss Judith Buckler, were part of the lovely and inspiring service.

Local and Personal

J. J. Brittain was a business visitor in Halifax on Monday.
Mrs. Agnes Robicheau, Weymouth North, left on Monday for New Hampshire where she will visit her sister and other relatives.

Mrs. Helen Thurber has returned to her home in Digby after attending the funeral of her mother, the late Mrs. Howard Smith, Springfield, Mass.

Mrs. H. B. Titus, of Halifax, arrived in Digby on Tuesday of last week to spend an indefinite time with her aunt, Mrs. J. S. Timpany.

Scout Hike At Mistake Lake

On Saturday, January 26, six Boy Scouts and two leaders enjoyed an overnight hike to Mistake Lake. Those taking part were: Doug Wright, Robert Beckwith, Kendal Abramson, Ronald Hamilton and George Holdsworth, all of the First Digby Troop; and Stearns Henshaw of the First Smith's Cove Troop. They were under the leadership of Scout Master Rufus Connor and Assistant Scout Master Gerald Hoare.

About ten o'clock the boys, accompanied by A.S.M. Hoare, were transported to the "Fred Haight" corner by Mr. Tom Cleveland, president of the Group Committee. There they loaded their packs, sleeping bags and food supplies on toboggans and headed for camp. On the way they practiced the Scout signs and took individual compass readings, which were later checked by the leaders. On arrival at camp they ate a box lunch, then proceeded to light the fires and hang up their sleeping bags to air for the night. A.S.M. Hoare then took the Scouts out and instructed them in "Estimations." Next on the agenda was making the outdoor fire places which they used for cooking throughout their stay at camp.

Scout Master Connor arrived early in the afternoon. After getting in a supply of water and wood it was time to get supper. This meal consisted of canned pork and beans, wieners, bread, jam, an orange and cocoa. After supper the dishes were washed and the camp made ready for the night. The boys drew lots to see in which order they would take the fire duty. Two Scouts looked after the fire for a two-hour period throughout the night.

In the morning the boys enjoyed a breakfast of fruit juice, bacon and eggs, toast and cocoa. Following this Scout Master Connor took the group on a trek through the woods on a compass and tracking scheme. They were accompanied by Scout Commissioner Norman Wright and Troop Leader John Hawkins, who arrived at camp early that morning. When the Scouts returned to camp they made their fires for dinner. This phase of camp cooking is a very interesting one. The meat and vegetables are placed in aluminum foil, wrapped securely, and placed directly in the fire, and the result is delicious.

After dinner the camp site was cleaned up and fires extinguished. Comm. Wright then loaded up his faithful "Model A" with the toboggans and sleeping bags and headed for town. The boys and their leaders, with only their packs to carry, started out on foot. When they reached the home of Mr. and Mrs. Winston Marshall in Hill Grove, they were invited in for a hot drink and cake; for which the boys all extend their thanks. Starting out from there the Scouts, and especially their leaders, were not displeased to find that "Norm" had returned to give them a lift the rest of the way home.

They arrived home about 5:30 Sunday afternoon feeling satisfied with the accomplishments of the weekend; and believing they had made no mistake by spending a weekend at Mistake Lake.

BEEF VALUES

AT IGA

In this merchandising age, there are many claims based around the word "economical", but what does IGA mean when they use "economical" to describe their beef values? IGA means simply this - that they offer beef to IGA customers governed by the standards of the IGA Table Rite Meat Programme... Rigid Inspection - Natural Aging - Correct Trim. TableRite means more edible meat for your dollar.

Report From Parliament Hill

The next election is only a few months away, and one would suspect that this Session of Parliament would be tense, dramatic and echoing with partisan rivalry. Actually, it is as quiet as a motion picture of a Town Council. Of course, to some extent, this is deliberate, and probably represents sound strategy on the part of the Government. For many years, the Opposition did not achieve too effective a record in the House of Commons, but in the last two Sessions the Government presented them with issues upon which the Opposition Parties capitalized, and thereby enhanced their prestige. The first was the debate on the Defence Production Bill, where the Conservative Opposition forced the Government to capitulate and accept its terms. The second was the Debate on the Pipe Line issue, which afterwards developed into the issue of the independence of Parliament. Both of these damaged the Government severely. Obviously this year, the Government is determined to present no issue upon which the Opposition can capitalize, and the House of Commons proceeds in an atmosphere of peace and serenity.

Another reason is that most of the time of this Session has been spent, outside of the Debate on the Address, in considering educational matters, and who can raise partisan issues about education? There has been a Debate on the creation of the Canada Council, which deals exclusively with culture. There has been a Debate on Federal Grants to Provincial Governments for educational purposes, and there has been a Debate on the increase from 50c to $1.00 per head, in the contribution by the Federal Government to the universities of Canada. In fact, I suspect that more time has been spent in the discussion of education during the first few weeks of this Session, than has been spent by all the Parliaments of Canada since Confederation.

This perhaps assists the Government plan in keeping the Session away from the boiling point, and on a non-partisan plane. But it also highlights the tremendous change which has taken place in our constitutional theory of the responsibility of Government. At the time of Confederation, those responsible for the drafting of the British North America Act, envisaged education as the problem of the little Red School House. It was to be left to the Municipality, and at the best, to the Province. But today, education at all levels, University or Primary School, has reached a crisis, and the Federal Governments, being now the great tax collector, must assume a greater responsibility in this field than ever before. In fact, I suspect that historians of the future will look back upon this Parliamentary Session as marking the development of a new era in Canada, when the Federal Government finally recognized that education was facing a crisis, and although reluctant to assume too great a portion of the burden, did admit that it had responsibility in these fields.

In one of the Debates the other day in which I participated, I referred to this, and commented on the fact that although I thought the proposed provisions were not satisfactory, yet at least they were the beginning of a new road along which the Government and people of Canada would have to travel, and that I supported the present provisions because I knew that within the relatively near future, they would have to be broadened to a much greater extent than the Government of Canada was presently prepared to accept.

There was one Debate this week which provoked some acrimonious discussion, and which undoubtedly will be repeated during the forthcoming weeks. This concerned an item in the Supplementary Estimates whereby Canada agreed to advance One Million Dollars to the United Nations, for the purposes of helping to clear the Suez Canal. This money was to be paid to the United Nations Organization. The Conservative Opposition gave whole-hearted support to the United Nations Organization, and to the work which it was designed to accomplish. However, they were critical of the way in which the situation in the Near East was presently developing. It was suggested that the United Nations, in attempting to placate Nasser, was repeating the mistakes of the late thirties, when through the League of Nations, Britain, France and the United States really contributed towards the prestige of Hitler and Mussolini. The fear was expressed that the United Nations would accept the thesis advocated by Colonel Nasser that the United Nations Security Force should vacate the Near East as soon as Israel had withdrawn from the Gaza Strip. We asked the Prime Minister to give an assurance that the United Nations Force would be kept in the Near East, until a final settlement had been achieved. We asked the Prime Minister to rebuttle the suggestion contained in a recent speech by the Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Egyptian Government that the United Nations Force would be withdrawn as soon as the Israeli Government had withdrawn. Everyone recognizes, of course, that the Prime Minister was in an awkward situation. Naturally he couldn't divulge confidential communications which were passing between his Government and the Governments of the other Democracies. Nevertheless, there was an obvious undercurrent of apprehension expressed by Opposition speakers, and obviously welcomed by many Members sitting silently on the Government Benches. Probably it is safe to assume that 90% of all the Members of the House of Commons feel that the United Nations Organization must take a firmer stand than it has heretofore done. So far, the United Nations has succeeded in enhancing the prestige of the Dictator of Egypt, without achieving any positive result towards the preservation of a permanent settlement in that troubled area.

Parliament has voted the Million Dollars. The people of Canada will help to pay for the sabotage which was deliberately created by the Egyptian Government. But the Minister of Finance admitted that this was only the beginning, and that Parliament would be asked to vote other sums of money in the future. Whether these additional sums will be voted by this Parliament before the election, or by a new Parliament after the election, will depend upon the tactics of the Government. If they wish to postpone the discussion of this matter, they can probably succeed in so doing. But in any event, this undoubtedly offers one of the provocative discussions which will take place in Parliament some time in the future.

A. C. Cooper tells of revolution brought by frozen foods

"Frozen foods are revolutionizing daily living," says A. C. Cooper, Manager of the Frozen Foods Warehouse of Dominion Stores Limited. "They not only save the housewife's time and cut down waste in preparing meals; they also make available all year many tempting fruits and choice meats — and a far wider variety of vegetables and seafood."

As a family man, Mr. Cooper has also benefited by the progress made in another field . . . life insurance. Today, providing continuing income for your family is only one of the functions of life insurance. The increased flexibility of life insurance plans enables you to provide funds for emergencies, your children's education, safeguarding your home, protecting your business . . . and a retirement income for yourself. Your life underwriter is better trained than ever to help you shape these flexible insurance plans to meet your family's needs. In these and other ways, the life insurance companies keep in the vanguard of progress.

A total of over five billion dollars has been invested by the Life Insurance Companies in Canada, on behalf of their policyholders, in homes, roads, utilities, industrial plants and other productive enterprises.

Teachers Training In School Music

A new department, to be known as the Department for Training Teachers of School Music, is being instituted at the Nova Scotia Normal College, Truro, according to an announcement by Dr. J. P. McCarthy, college principal.

Applications for the new one-year course will be received for the term commencing September 1957. Persons interested are asked to apply to the principal of the Normal College as soon as possible. Students who successfully complete the course may qualify for a music teacher's license after completing a summer course at the Nova Scotia Summer School in Halifax.

The institution of the new course in music will provide specialists in the field of teaching school music. It is hoped that it will help meet the present considerable demand for teachers of school music.

Instruction in this course will cover rudiments and harmony, sight singing, ear training, history and appreciation of music, choral methods, classroom methods in music (including practice teaching), piano, general methods in classroom management, psychology, and English literature.

Candidates entering upon the new course must meet the regular Normal College entrance requirements, together with certain prerequisites in piano and voice.

This new course brings to four the number of specialized departments at the Normal College. Those in existence at present are household science, mechanic science, and kindergarten-primary.

It has been brought to the attention of the Department and others by the public that it seems unnecessary that men should have to stay at the Fire Station during storms and on other occasions. The public are reminded that this is for their own protection, done out of the goodness of the men who feel that they should do so. This is strictly a voluntary effort on the part of the men and should be well appreciated. The reason for doing this, especially during bad storms, and in particular snow storms, is that much time is saved in responding to an alarm. If each member had to respond from his home, it would mean that in the case of a bad fire much more damage might result.

About This and That

An Excellent Move

A news story in the Courier some weeks ago indicated that the Digby Board of Trade at its March meeting would invite representatives of agricultural groups in the county to meet with the Board to discuss problems affecting the agricultural industry in this area.

We think this is an excellent idea and trust that the Board will carry through on this move. In times past there has been a certain amount of criticism levelled at the Town of Digby and organizations within the town that Digby was too self centred and not sufficiently interested in the welfare of the rural area surrounding the town.

This, we feel, has not been true, at least in late years. However, the proposed meeting between the Digby Trade Board and the agriculturists of the county gives a real opportunity for a town organization to demonstrate in a practical way that it has the welfare of a large segment of the county's rural population at heart and is willing to do something positive to promote that welfare.

The Town of Digby cannot exist as an island, unconcerned about the problems of the people of the county which surrounds it. The prosperity of both is inextricably bound together and the future development of the Town of Digby will depend in large measure on the degree of prosperity enjoyed by the rural population of the county.

In the matter of agriculture, experts are agreed that in Digby County climatic conditions are conducive to high quality production. Soil conditions are also not unfavorable. County farmers, however, are pessimistic about the future of farming in this area and are greatly troubled concerning the market situation for their produce.

While a meeting between county agriculturists and the Board of Trade cannot perhaps solve all the problems facing agriculture in this county, it can go a long way toward promoting a better understanding between the farmers and the business men of the town. It can too, perhaps, provide an opportunity for the working out in a practical way, problems faced by local farmers in the marketing of their produce in Digby.

We therefore express the sincere hope that the proposed meeting will be carried through and make a suggestion that, either at this meeting or at others which we hope will follow the initial gathering, representatives of the Department of Agriculture and Marketing and other interested governmental bodies will be invited to attend to discuss and work out with both farmers and the town group ways and means of improving the situation which now exists in agriculture in this county.

Report From Parliament Hill

By GEORGE C. NOWLAN

Practically all of the last week was spent debating the problem of Canadian wheat. As that is of little interest to our own constituency, and also as many of you know that I was in the constituency for most of that week, I will not attempt to report what has already appeared in the press.

This coming week, Parliament will commence its consideration of "supply". This involves a complicated procedure, the roots of which go back to the very beginning of Parliament, and it might be of interest to comment on it at this time. "Supply" is actually the consideration of the estimates. As everyone knows, the Government of Canada is divided into various Departments, Agriculture, Fisheries, External Affairs, etc. The estimated expenditure, the estimates, for each of those Departments has to be voted by Parliament, sitting as a committee of Supply. As is well known, in the earlier days, Parliament voted sums of money for the Crown, which was spent as the King or Queen saw fit. Gradually, Parliament hedged the Crown in with more and more restrictions, until ultimately, each Department had to justify its own expenditures, and reveal virtually every item of those expenditures. Now these items of Supply are contained in a volume of several hundred pages, each of which is presumably scrutinized by Parliament, sitting as a Committee of Supply. As a matter of practice, of course, it is impossible for Parliament to give detailed consideration to all of these expenditures, and many items slip by which afterwards cause embarrassment to the Opposition, because they did not detect their real meaning in time. But in any event, that is the machinery which we now have, and which is a vast improvement over that which the Parliament of Britain had to contend with centuries ago.

As the earlier Parliaments voiced their independence, the Members demanded that they should have the right to express any "grievance" before "Supply" was voted. In other words, before the Crown could get the money it wanted, the Members of Parliament would have their say, and express their criticism, their complaints and their demands. Out of this arose the traditional debate "going into Supply". It sometimes lasted for weeks or for months. Gradually the procedure has been streamlined, until in 1925 the Canadian House of Commons adopted new rules entirely, granting the governing of Supply. Here is how the rules work now, and this is what Parliament will be doing for the next few weeks.

On any Monday, the House Leader (the Honourable Walter Harris) makes the traditional Motion "that the Speaker do now leave the Chair, and the House resolve itself into Committee of the Whole for considering the granting of certain Supply to Her Majesty the Queen". On that Motion, any grievance would ordinarily be debatable. However, with the evolution of the Party system, this is the practice which is followed. Once the Motion is made by the House Leader, the Leader of the Opposition, or someone on his behalf, moves an amendment. This amendment very often embodies some particular criticism, or some particular proposal which the Opposition thinks is of interest to the Country. For instance, last year, and possibly again this year, a Motion was, and may be made, to the effect that Canada should process its raw materials in this Country, rather than export them to the United States. This amendment is debated. If there are sufficient speakers, and in the event there are not, then the Opposition falls down on its job, the debate continues through Monday and into Tuesday, until the hour of 8:15 on Tuesday evening. Then the Speaker puts the Motion on the Amendment, and of course, with the Government majority the Amendment is defeated. However, the House does not rise until ten o'clock, and from approximately 8:30 until 10:00, there is a period wherein private Members can raise grievances, or perhaps the C.C.F. Party or the Social Credit Party can move an Amendment of their own. Then at 10 o'clock sharp, the question is put on any amendment which may be before the House, and then on the main Motion itself. This is now Tuesday evening about 10:15, of the first week in which the Motion to go into Supply has been made. Immediately after the Motion has been carried, the Speaker leaves the Chair, and the House takes its place. The Motion is then put under the Table, and the House is sitting as a Committee. On this, the first occasion on which this Motion has been made, the rules permit of the estimates of six Departments "being called". This means for instance that once the Chairman is in his place, he will call the first item in, shall we say the Department of Agriculture says "stand". The Chairman will then call the first item in say Fisheries. The Minister of Fisheries says "stand", and this procedure is followed until six Departments have been "called". Once this has been done, the Government can, at any time thereafter, call the estimates of any one of those six Departments. The following Monday, another Motion is made, another amendment is moved and when that has been carried on Tuesday night, three more Departments can be "called". The Government then has nine Departments which "have been opened", and this provides it with sufficient scope with which to occupy Parliament for some indefinite time in the future. However, as the weeks go by, more and more Motions are made, and at the conclusion of each Motion, three more Departments are "opened". When the sixth Tuesday night has been reached, all remaining Departments are "open", and thereafter there will be no more Motions to go into Supply. But during those six Mondays and Tuesdays, the Official Opposition will presumably have had time to raise six important issues for debate in the House, and private Members will also have had an hour and a half on each occasion in which to raise their own individual grievances. The Crown, now of course the Prime Minister and his Cabinet, have streamlined the procedure so that the great mass of Government business cannot be indefinitely delayed by the Motion to go into Supply. On the other hand, there has been a reasonable time provided for reasonable debate, and in this way Parliament continues to adapt itself to the problem of the present, while maintaining to some extent at any rate, the safeguards which have evolved throughout the centuries.

Her first stop — the bank

When Mrs. Wilson planned to go shopping, her husband Tom said: "Meet you at the bank." It was a natural thing to say, for going to the bank is just a part of everyday life.

In the bank, Mrs. Wilson noticed Miss Ellis the schoolteacher . . . Mr. Cooper the storekeeper . . . and her neighbour's son Bobby, adding to his savings account.

When Tom arrived, he grinned: "Seems like everybody goes to the bank." It's true. Canadians find the chartered banks such a safe and handy place to keep money that practically everybody has a bank account. There are now more than 10 million deposit accounts in the chartered banks—more accounts than there are adults in the country.

prominent part. This part of the program needs no comment in order to demonstrate the fact of Mrs. McKay's ability to officiate on such occasions only to add that she was ably assisted by her daughter, Miss Myrtle, but regretting to note the absence of their son, Mr. Willie McKay, from the festive board, who is under treatment for appendicitis at the Halifax Hospital, but much pleased to learn he has passed a successful operation and was on the fair road to an early recovery, hoping to be home in a few days. After the festivity the program was resumed and the evening further spent in games and in listening to Mr. McKay who favoured the party in his usual brilliant tone with a few choice solos proving eloquent in the extreme and appreciated by all. This a well spent and pleasurable evening was brought to a close by the singing of "God Be With You 'Till We Meet Again," "For He's A Jolly Good Fellow" and the National Anthem. The party then dispersed for home well pleased with the evening spent and heartily thanking Mr. and Mrs. McKay for their genial hospitality with bright anticipation for a reunion in the near future.

So Near and Yet So Far

(Yarmouth Telegram)
A peculiar incident occurred on Wednesday in connection with three tourists from the States—two ladies and one gentleman. They were at the Bay View landing, intending to go across the harbour and visit this delightful spot. It happened that it was the steamer Westport's day for sailing for Westport, and she laid at the foot of the same pier and was about casting off her lines. Thinking they were off for Bay View, the visitors jumped on board, and were not aware of their mistake until the Westport was far out on the water. They were informed of their error, they meekly submitted to fate, were landed at Meteghan, telephoned for an auto from Yarmouth and in due course arrived back none the worse for their short sea voyage.

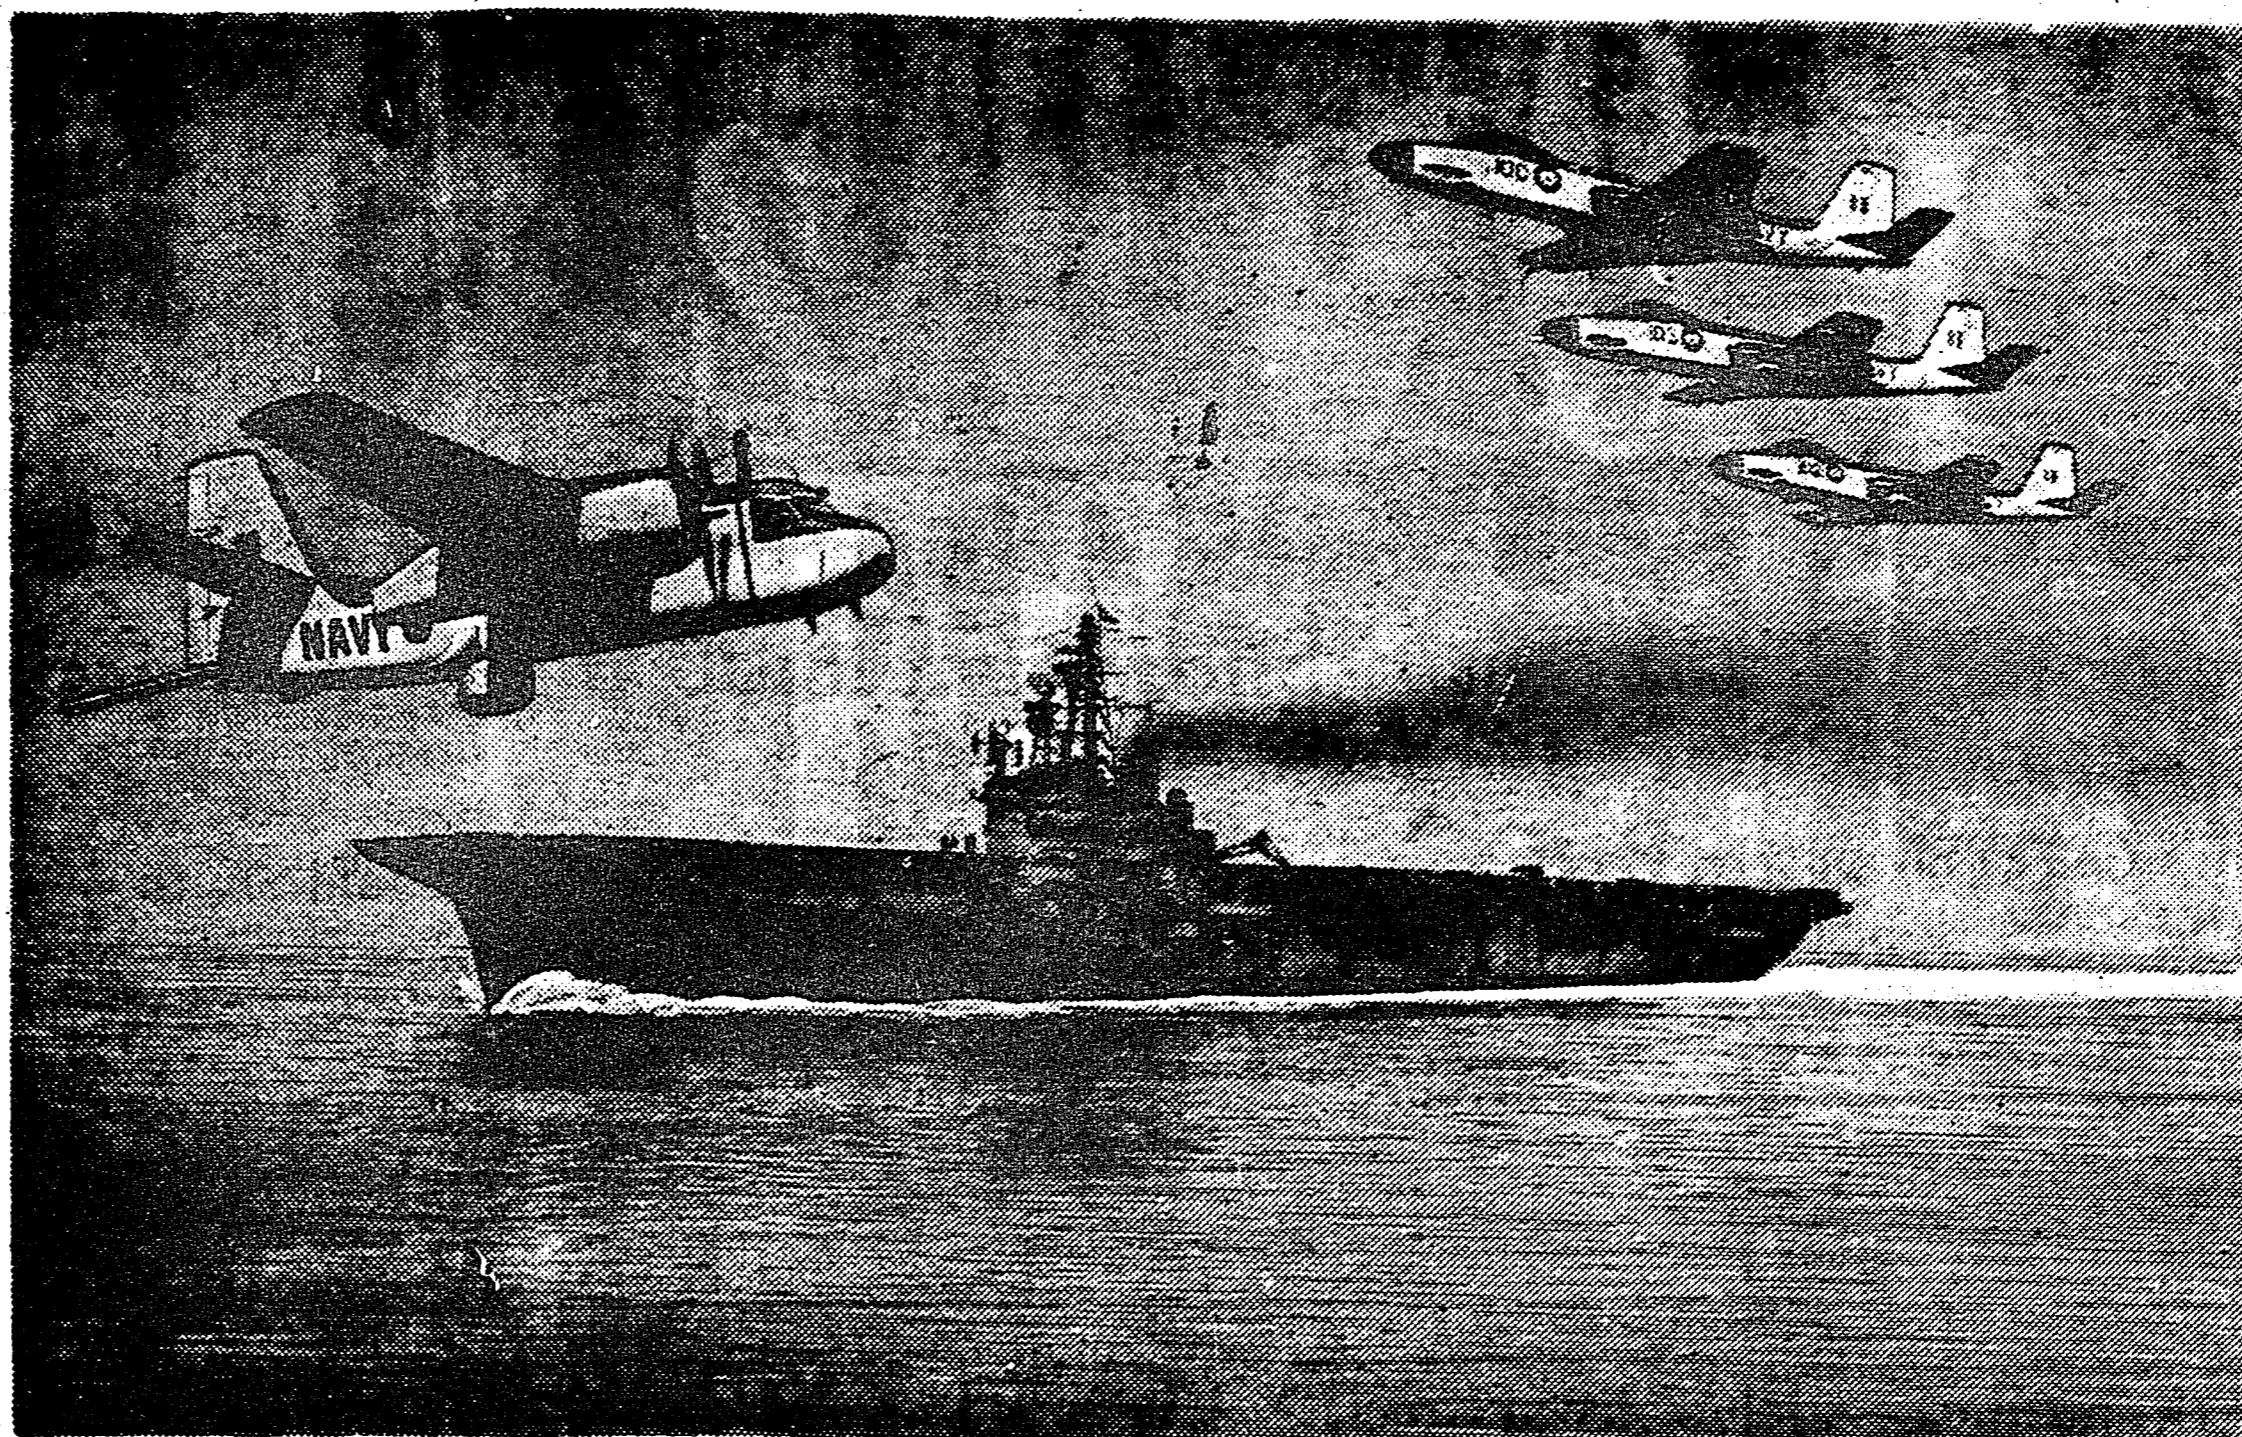

Death of Capt. Oliver E. Deveau

The last survivor of the Brig. Mary Celeste Mystery has passed away. Capt. Oliver E. Deveau died at his home in Brighton on Tuesday the 10th, aged 76 years. The deceased was born at Cape St. Mary's, moving to Brighton when he was a young man. He was an old time sailor, a thorough officer and a man capable of sailing a ship to any part of the world. His last voyage was to Cuba some four or five years ago when he was obliged to leave his ship owing to illness and return home. He is survived by a widow, one son, James Deveau, who holds a responsible position with the telephone company in Springfield, Mass., and two daughters, Mrs. Jessie Melanson, of Plymouth, Mass., and Miss Addie A., at home. The funeral was held from his late home on Friday with interment in the St. Croix cemetery at Plympton. The Courier extends its deepest sympathy to the bereaved ones.

The death of Capt. Deveau recalls to memory the mystery of the Brig. Mary Celeste which has called forth during the past 40 years many columns of newspaper stories, magazine articles and even dime novels. The facts of the strange affair are as follows:

On Nov. 15, 1872, Capt. Oliver Deveau was in command of the Brig. Mary Celeste, a schooner of 235 tons, built in Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, and was on a voyage to New York.

New Teeth For Naval Air

HMCS Bonaventure was commissioned January 17th, 1957, at Belfast, Northern Ireland, the first Canadian aircraft carrier equipped with jet fighters and new anti-submarine aircraft. The ship carries the latest flying facilities, including the angled deck, landing mirrors and steam catapult. This composite photo shows the aircraft that will fly from her flightdeck. To the left is the CS2F-3 "Tracker" anti-submarine aircraft and to the right are F2H-3 "Banshee" jet fighters.

E. Deveau sailed from New York for Gibraltar, chief officer of the Brig. Dei Gratia. After a rough passage of 26 days they reached the Western Isles after which the weather became very moderate. On Dec. 11th in latitude 38.20N., and longitude 17.15W., they fell in with another brigantine which was under moderate sail and appeared to be steering a very peculiar course. They bore down on her and found the strange acting vessel to be the Brig. Mary Celeste of New York, abandoned. She was boarded and Capt. Deveau was placed in charge. The captain of the Dei Gratia furnished him with two men which he styled as captain and cook. These three, working day and night, took the strange vessel to port, reaching Gibraltar Dec. 13th, making the run of 600 miles in nine days in heavy weather, working their 200 ton craft successfully but under great difficulties. She was bound for Genoa, Italy, with $80,000 worth of alcohol.

While all kinds of stories have been imagined as to what became of her original captain and crew and why they abandoned their vessel, the whole affair still remains a mystery. Capt. Deveau has been interviewed by hundreds of newspapermen during the past forty years. He related the entire story to the editor of the Courier in the cabin of the old tern schr. Xebec of Bear River more than thirty-five years ago when Capt. Deveau was chief officer of that vessel and the editor "a small cabin boy."

The stories, taken from the Bible, are dramatized for children by Clare Slater; Basil Coleman produces the series.

Of Historic Interest

Near the birthday anniversary of Abraham Lincoln on Feb. 12, it is of interest to read in a recently published book "Lincoln and the Blue Grass" which is a history of Lincoln's life and connection with his native State of Kentucky, the following extract from a chapter telling of the funeral of Henry Clay, ex-Secretary of State, who was then the most noted son of Kentucky, and who died in 1852.

"On Tuesday morning, July 6, a procession consisting of Odd Fellows, Temple of Honor (the degree branch of the Sons of Temperance), Sons of Temperance, Cadets of Temperance and a large number of citizens marched to the Episcopal Church in Springfield (Illinois) where services were read by the Reverend Mr. Dresser. Then amid the tolling of bells and the firing of 76 minute guns, the procession moved to the Representatives Hall where Hon. A. Lincoln pronounced an impressive eulogy on the character and services of the deceased."

OBITUARIES

Garfield (Buster) H. Curtis, Friends in Nova Scotia and U. S. A. learn with sorrow of the passing of Garfield (Buster) Henry Curtis at Annapolis General Hospital on Sunday, February 10, where he had been a patient the past week.

Surviving besides his wife, Eva, are two sisters (Caroline) Mrs. Douglas Baxter; (Gertude) Mrs. Ward Hill; a brother, William Jr.; three nephews, and an aunt, Miss Beatrice Peck, all of New Hampshire; two step-daughters, Mrs. Ernest Orde, of Clementsvalle, and Mrs. Roland Guest, of Cambridge, Kings Co., N. Pierre Radisson

Jacques Godin, a one-time accounting student turned actor, has the title-role in "Radisson" — a CBC-TV production being filmed in and around Montreal and scheduled for network presentation this month. The role of Pierre Radisson, the famed 17th-Century Canadian explorer, fur trader and adventurer, is a "natural" for outdoor-loving Godin, an enthusiastic skier, swimmer, and weight-lifter, who appeared in this season's Stratford Festival. Godin turned down a major role abroad in order to portray the fabulous Pierre Radisson, whose real-life adventures match or surpass other heroes of fact or fiction.

KIDNEY ACIDS Rob your Rest..

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—blame it on "nerves"—when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons and excess acids from the blood. If they fail and impurities stay in the system—disturbed rest often follows. If you don't rest well get and use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's help the kidneys so that you can rest better—and feel better.

Captain Jette Appointed To Cornwallis

Captain Marcel J. A. T. Jette, 44, of Montreal and Sydney, N. S., has been appointed in command of HMCS Cornwallis, RCN new entry training establishment near Digby, N. S. The appointment became effective yesterday, Wednesday, February 20. He will hold the additional appointment of officer-in-charge of new entry training on the staff of the Flag Officer Atlantic Coast.

Captain Jette succeeds Captain Michael G. Stirling, 41, of Kelowna, B. C., who has been appointed in command of the destroyer escort Crescent with the additional appointments of Captain, Second Canadian Escort Squadron and Senior Officer in Command effective March 11. The Second Escort Squadron is based at Esquimalt, B. C.

Captain Stirling will succeed Captain Paul D. Taylor, 46, of Victoria, who will take up a new appointment at a later date. Captain Jette, in his new appointment, is responsible for new entry training in the Atlantic Command, and will coordinate the basic training of new entries at Cornwallis.

Captain Jette was born in Montreal on August 2, 1912, and entered the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve there in 1941.

He served afloat in the minesweeper Kenora and as executive officer of the corvette Prescott prior to his appointment to HMCS Donnacona, the Montreal naval division, in November 1944. He became executive officer of the division the following year and commanding officer in 1946.

In May 1946 he was appointed in command of HMCS Montcalm, the Quebec naval division. Captain Jette transferred to the regular force in July 1947 and became executive officer of the destroyer escort Nooka. Seventeen months later he was appointed commanding officer of the destroyer escort Iroquois and as Senior Officer Ships in Reserve at Halifax.

MRS. KERR-WILSON ADDRESSES V.O.N.

Mrs. John Kerr-Wilson, Social Worker at the Psychiatric Clinic in Digby, was guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Digby Branch Victorian Order of Nurses held at Grace United Church Hall on Tuesday. Mrs. Kerr-Wilson, who was introduced by Rev. H. Y. MacLean, is a native of Scotland and a graduate of Leeds University. She served as naval officer at HMCS Cornwallis where her husband is at present stationed as a naval officer.

Mrs. Kerr-Wilson's address centered around the work of a sociologist, particularly as engaged in the work at the Psychiatric Clinic in Digby. First, she said, was the intake period after a patient has been referred to the clinic either by the physician, relative, interested party, the patient or a social agency. To save the time of a busy psychiatrist, the social worker sees the patient to ascertain the main problems, what is expected of the clinic and what the clinic can give him. The day has gone when a person can be looked on as one unit but must be considered in relation to family and relatives. It is the duty of the social worker to see the nearest relatives to give them support and have them act in a supportive manner to the troubled patient. Particularly in the case of a backward child there might be misunderstanding toward the feelings of the patient and the treatment by the family might have adverse results for the patient and other children in the family. The follow up work with the patient and relatives is also important, the speaker said. Besides case work, she referred to the social worker's part in group therapy, little of which is done in this locality. The work of a sociologist varies with the type of clinic, whether it is wholly a service clinic or partly research, informed the speaker.

Mrs. Kerr-Wilson was thanked by Rev. E. C. Churchill. Another interesting feature at Tuesday's meeting was the presentation of a table lamp to Mrs. H. R. Bishop in recognition of seventeen years service as treasurer of the organization. The presentation was made on behalf of the board by the retiring president, Rev. James Brooks.

Officers and Board members elected at the meeting on Tuesday were: Honorary President, Mrs. T. E. G. Lynch; Honorary Members, Mrs. L. H. Morse, Mrs. G. W. Connell, President, Rev. E. C. Churchill; 1st Vice-President, Rev. H. Y. MacLean; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. J. W. Christie; Secretary, Mrs. Fritz Dakin; Treasurer, Mrs. H. R. Bishop. Members of the Board: Rev. James Brooks, Mrs. D. G. Black, Lt. Clarence Bradley, Mrs. Clarence Bradley, Mrs. W. L. Carson, Mrs. E. C. Churchill, Fr. Louis Comeau, Mr. Earl Crane, Mrs. Thomas Deveau, Mrs. W. K. Juvenile Apprehended

A juvenile, thought to have been responsible for a break into the Digby Academy last week, was questioned by Police Chief Webster Dunn some two hours after the break had been reported to police.

The break was discovered on Friday morning by the school janitor. Entry had been made by breaking a window pane. A quantity of money from teachers' desks was reported stolen and burnt match stubs were found on the floors.

ENTERTAINS AT BRIDGE Mrs. M. S. Leonard was hostess at her home on Birch St. on Thursday and Friday evenings when four tables of bridge were in play on each occasion. Prize winners on Thursday were Mrs. Gordon Turnbull and P. C. Outhouse, high for ladies and gentlemen respectively, and consolation prizes went to Mrs. C. M. Levy and A. P. Pittas. On Friday evening Mrs. C. V. Snow made the highest score for the ladies and E. J. Theriault for the gentlemen. Consolation prizes went to Mrs. J. M. Wallis and Karl Young.

St. Anne's To Have Modern Rink

The President of St. Anne's College, Church Point, Rev. Edward Boudreau, announced last week that the college is planning on building in the near future an artificial ice rink as another necessary addition to the institution's facilities and equipment.

It is understood the College will provide most of the cost of the proposed new structure but that the people of the wide area served by the university would be expected to contribute the small remainder. Approximately $20,000, in addition to the amount already in hand, will be necessary before work on the project can be started.

President Boudreau stated that it is felt the new rink will not only be of value as an addition to the recreational life of the student body, but the resultant inclusion in a hockey league will have a tremendous value as a broadening and character building influence. The new rink, it is also felt, will have a direct economic value to the district it serves.

Miss Helen Delaney Addresses H. & S. Executive

Miss Helen Delaney, Port Maitland, Yarmouth Co., Rural Supervisor of Schools Digby and Yarmouth counties, was guest speaker at an executive supper meeting of the Digby Area Home and School held at the Digby Regional High School on Wednesday evening. Miss Delaney took as her topic primary work in which the parent can help the teacher. Miss Delaney explained that the child's first year in school was most important when he must make an adjustment to school life and social life. The first three years of school she said laid the foundation for the child's future schooling; these must be happy so that the child does not become frustrated and so that his skills will not decline. It is necessary, she said, that the skills be kept at a minimum and correctly taught during these early years and that the program for the school child be as she termed it, broad and not vertical. Miss Delaney cited many ways in which parents (Please turn to page 5)

Slippery Roads Cause Accident

Four people were hospitalized Sunday evening when the car in which they were passengers and driven by Bernard Lombard, of Corberrie, N. S., is said to have skidded on the icy highway near Digby and crashed down a twenty foot embankment.

Other occupants of the car included Mrs. Lombard and small son, who were released from hospital after being treated for minor injuries. Two other occupants, Theophile Melanson and Nelson Thibault, both of Concession, are still in Digby General Hospital.

New School Is Opened

The Clark Rutherford Memorial School was officially opened Friday afternoon at ceremonies held in the RCN new entry training establishment at HMCS Cornwallis.

Fifteen-year-old Robert Rutherford of Chester, son of the Lieutenant Commander who lost his life while in command of the destroyer Ottawa in 1942 and for whom the school is named, unveiled a plaque in memory of his father after declaring the school officially opened.

Also attending the ceremonies were Mrs. L. H. Norris of Chester, widow of Lt. Cmdr. Rutherford, and his mother, Mrs. S. F. Rutherford, of Montreal.

Guests were welcomed to the modern 10-classroom school by D. St. C. Buckler, principal.

The school, staffed by 12 teachers, is attended by 120 pupils from primary to grade eight. Most of the students are children of naval personnel stationed at the base.

Captain M. G. Stirling, C.A. of HMCS Cornwallis, introducing Robert Rutherford, paid high tribute to the young man's father whom he knew well.

Lt. Cmdr. Rutherford was in command of the HMCS Ottawa when on the evening of Sept. 13, 1942, she was torpedoed and sunk by a U-boat in the North Atlantic. Five officers and 109 men lost their lives.

"When HMCS Ottawa was sunk," Captain Stirling said, "the RCN lost an extremely promising officer. His last act, in giving someone else his life belt, was typical of Clark Rutherford."

Lt. Cmdr. Rutherford's son, who plans a naval career, has donated a memorial shield to the new school. The shield is to be awarded annually to the grade eight student attaining excellence in general scholastic endeavour. Prayers were conducted by Chaplain (RC) J. A. Eves and Chaplain (P) A. J. Mowatt.

Commander J. C. Smyth, executive officer at Cornwallis, Commander C. H. Little, Halifax, Commanding Education Officer, and Commander W. H. Fowler, Education Officer at Cornwallis, also attended the ceremonies.

Navy Wives Injured

The wives of two naval officers at HMCS Cornwallis, Lt. Charles Danby and Lt. Gerald Beaumont, were injured on Sunday afternoon in a car accident at Deep Brook.

The accident occurred when the car, driven by Mrs. Danby, came down Deep Brook hill and crashed through a railing into the south side of the brook, a drop of ten to twelve feet. The car landed upside down in about six or eight inches of water.

An ambulance was summoned from the naval base but before its arrival a passing navy bus took the two injured women to the Cornwallis Hospital. They were later transferred by ambulance to the Digby General Hospital. Their injuries are not reported to be serious.

The accident was caused, it is understood, by icy roads which prevailed in this area over the weekend.

Three other cars and a local bus were also involved in minor collisions following the accident which tied up traffic until the hill was sanded.

This particular part of the highway is very dangerous to both motorists and pedestrians, the hill being on a curve and the bridge having next to no railing.

Plan Saturday Night Program

A full program of entertainment is being planned for the Digby Forum Saturday evening. The occasion will be another "Family Night."

The program will open at seven o'clock when high school hockey teams from Digby and Middleton will meet in the Nova Scotia Headmasters' playdowns for the provincial high school title.

This game will continue until 8.15 and will be followed by a program of figure skating by Judy Robinson and Harley Nash who delighted the large audience at the Firemen's Ice Carnival.

At nine o'clock the Digby Ravens will meet Bridgetown Hawks in the third game of the Western Valley League finals.

After the hockey game the ice will be made available for a full hour's skating. This will give a real opportunity for many who have not skated this winter to don their blades and have a whirl.

Twenty-Five Confirmed

Bishop R. H. Waterman confirmed twenty-five candidates at HMCS Cornwallis on Monday afternoon. The candidates were presented by the naval chaplain, Rev. Robert Shannon.

Taking part in the confirmation service at the naval chapel were Rev. J. R. MacMahon, Rector of Annapolis, who read the preface; Rev. H. Y. MacLean, Rural Dean and Rector of Digby, who read the lessons, and Rev. S. J. Armstrong, Rector of Clementsport, who acted as Bishop's chaplain. Also attending were Rev. W. E. Jefferson, Rector of Granville, and Rev. A. J. Mowatt, senior chaplain at the naval base.

Prior to the service the Bishop and clergy were guests of the navy at a dinner and after the service a reception was held in the Nelson Room for the Bishop and the clergy. Commander Smyth represented Captain Stirling at the reception.

Bishop Waterman remained overnight at the Cornwallis naval base, returning to Halifax the next day.

Bridgetown Wins Palmeter Trophy

The Bridgetown rink, skipped by Mary Dodge, emerged victorious with four wins and one defeat in the recent Palmeter Cup play held at the Digby Curling Club Friday, February 15. Rinks from Windsor, Wolfville, Kentville, Middleton, Bridgetown and Digby competed in the double knockout event. The first games started at 9.30 a.m. with five rounds being played.

The scores were: Round 1—Bridgetown 9, Windsor 7; Wolfville 8, Middleton 3; Digby 8, Kentville 5.

Round 2—Windsor 7, Digby 3; Bridgetown 10, Wolfville 2; Middleton 7, Kentville 6.

Round 3—Windsor 12, Bridgetown 2; Middleton 12, Digby 2.

Round 4—Bridgetown 8, Middleton 7; Wolfville 10, Windsor 5.

Round 5—Bridgetown 11, Wolfville 3.

The curlers were greeted by President Ina Dillon, Dr. D. G. Black, President of the Digby Curling Club, and Mayor Gordon Turnbull welcomed the curlers and wished them success.

A turkey dinner was served at noon by members of the Digby Ladies Curling Club and also a delicious salad buffet at supper. Coffee and doughnuts were served throughout the day.

Mr. Palmeter, donor of the trophy, and his son visited the Curling Club during the afternoon and watched the play. He also donated prizes which were presented to all rinks entering the competition.

To Form New Kiwanis Club

A new Kiwanis Club will be formed at Weymouth under the sponsorship of the Kiwanis Club of Digby. Charter Night will be on Monday, February 25th.

FIREMEN'S CARNIVAL ATTRACTS CROWD

The largest audience to gather at the Digby Forum this winter attended the annual Ice Carnival, sponsored by the Digby Fire Department last Friday night.

The affair was a most successful one, both from an attendance standpoint and from the excellence of the performance.

Particularly pleasing to the large audience was the performance of the figure skaters under the direction of Miss Judy Robinson. Composed of all local talent, the young skaters put on a most pleasing and polished performance.

First of the numbers presented by the skaters was by the junior group and was a precision drill, "Anchors Aweigh". The next item was by little Marilyn Patterson, who delighted the audience with her "Synco-pated Clock".

A duet number by Harley Nash and Judy Robinson, "Underneath the Arches", was wonderfully well done and brought a great deal of applause. This was followed by a duo by Judy and Marilyn, "Synco-pated Clock", and the performance by the figure skaters closed with a solo number by Judy Robinson, "Moonlight Waltz".

Some twenty-seven entries were registered in the Ice Carnival Princess contest. Judges for this and for the costume parade were C.P.O. Hurchbee and Mrs. Hurchbee and Mrs. J. Doucette, of HMCS Cornwallis.

Winner of the Princess contest was little Joan White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert White, of Digby. She was crowned by the 1956 Ice Carnival Princess, Miss Sandra Keen, and corsages and gifts were also presented by Miss Keen to the new Princess, and to Miss Donna Holdsworth, Digby's Scallop Queen. The new Princess and the Scallop Queen led off the costume parade which followed the choosing and crowning of the new Ice Carnival Princess.

Prizes in the costume parade were awarded to both children and adults in a number of different classes.

Winner of the most original prize in the children's section was Johnny Stoddard, who came as an African native, complete with spear. Most comical prize went to the Three Men in a Tub, Nancy Sanford, Bernice Vantassel and Margaret Snow. The prize for most representative went to Joan Hall and Sue Nash, who came as Captain Hook and Peter Pan. One prize winner who really caught the fancy of the audience was little Beverly Robertson, dressed as the Little Rabbit. The prize for best in miscellaneous went to the Two Dice, Janet and Terry Hand-spiker.

In the adult classes prizes for the most original went to the two who represented past Ice Carnival Princesses of about the early thirties, Jean Raymond and Pat Wilson. Most comical prize went to the Friendly Undertaker and his party, complete with coffin and corpse, Norman Wright, Rufus Connor, Carl Warner and Jerry Hoare. A pirate, Ethyl Embree, captured first prize in the most representative class. In the fancy section Helen Robinson and Theta Rae Winchester got first prize with their portrayal of the Lone Ranger and Tonto. The Hawaiian couple, Lois Sanford and Edna Turnbull, took first in the miscellaneous section.

Between the various acts of the carnival the clowns, all local firemen, delighted the audience with their ludicrous antics. Particularly pleasing were the Igloo Antics and the terrifying Atom Smasher, although the Wedding of the Clowns with its hilarious finale was a real rib tickler.

One of the features of the evening was a midget hockey game between the Canadians and the Rangers. The players in this showed effects of the splendid coaching of Arnie McCallum, of the Digby Ravens, and put on an excellent performance.

Master of ceremonies for the evening's program was Bill Anderson, of radio station CFBC, Saint John.

Music for the carnival program was provided by the band of HMCS Cornwallis who also played a concert prior to the opening of the main program. Corsages presented to the Ice Carnival Princess and the Scallop Queen were donated by Cameron's Flower Shop. Mrs. J. R. McCleave and Mrs. R. O. Wright did a tremendous job in arranging the Princess contest and the costume parade.

About This and That

Newspaper Publicity

A few weeks ago we handed on some information useful to chairmen of meetings and had a goodly number of our readers comment on it favorably. We credited it to the Nova Scotia Farm News as it should have been.

This year the Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada is celebrating its sixtieth anniversary and has handed to its publicity chairmen some pertinent pointers on publicity. Because of our interest in the material and as a help to all publicity conveners and correspondents we pass along their timely pointers on newspaper publicity.

(1) Get to know the members of the news staff of your local paper who are responsible for local and district news. Obviously how you do this will depend upon the size and organization of your paper. In a large paper perhaps you will only get to know a city editor or one or two key members of the reporting staff. The city editor is usually the key person. In addition it is always good to have the interest and support of those who direct the paper, managing editors and publishers.

(2) When you know the key people on your local paper find out what their attitude is about news and filler material containing such volunteer organizations as V.O.N. In what form do they want it? Are certain days of the week better for our material than others? Learn about dead-lines — when not to bother the news staff.

(3) Don't sit on news. Let the press have it while it's hot, whether it's a new appointment to the staff or board or whatever.

(4) When submitting material to the papers be sure that it's typed rather than hand-written. If you can cast it in a written form that the paper will use with little or no charge, so much the better; they appreciate it if you save them work.

(5) If you think you have a story of more than ordinary interest, discuss it with your contact on the paper. If he thinks it's worthwhile he will probably send somebody to write it up. In such a case it will get better coverage than if you try to report it yourself.

(6) Don't bother about headlines; let the paper write its own.

(7) Learn the difference between "hard" news and "filler". When they speak of "hard" news newspaper men mean the kind and amount of material which is of definite news value and which should be included in the paper if it is to give an accurate picture of what has happened since the last edition. "Filler" material is used to supplement the core of "hard" news in the news columns. As a rule this kind of material doesn't date and can be inserted whenever an opening occurs. Ordinarily the material which the National Education and Publicity Committee will supply to you for newspaper use will be of this kind. (Any "hard" news stories originating at the national level will be released nationally to the press services, though we will try to provide branches with copies as soon as possible for follow up.)

(8) We realize that good news stories don't occur every day in this or any organization. Be on the lookout, though, at all times for activities and achievements in your branch which have news value.

(9) Always look for the human interest in a potential news story and present it to your newspaper contact in that light. Papers will print abstractions and generalities but they know that the average reader is interested in reading about his fellows. It is an old newspaper maxim that "names make news". Let your fellow citizens know what the V.O.N. people in your community are doing.

(10) About news pictures — very often if you have something newsworthy the paper will send their own photographer to cover it. In general if the papers don't consider a story newsworthy enough to send their own photographer, they are not liable to use a picture which we supply at our own expense. Before arranging for a photo at branch expense find out whether or not the paper is likely to use it. If you are arranging a photo with newspaper publicity in mind use a photographer whom you know your paper recommends or accepts.

(11) Spend some money with your local paper occasionally. Pay for pictures now and then; the paper appreciates the gesture. Buy some paid advertising throughout the year; this gesture, too, is appreciated. You don't have to go overboard about this, but a certain amount of paid advertising is a good investment.

ment. After all, while a paper is in the business of publishing news, it needs advertising to survive.
(12) When writing up reports, especially the annual report, don't overload it with details.

Music In A Changing World

By: G. ROY FENWICK, Mus. Doc.,
Director of Music, Ontario Department of Education
Among the many changes in the world today which are affecting our way of life, there are three which must be giving grave concern to all educators. These are the increase in leisure time, the tendency towards being spectators rather than participants, and the deterioration of public taste, especially in the Arts. Sir Richard Livingstone, the great English Educationist, wrote "Fifty years ago leisure was no concern of any but the well-to-do, who mostly wasted it. Today its use is becoming a problem." Certainly, the majority of our young people enjoy more leisure than formerly, and never has there been a time when so many forms of entertainment have been so easily available. Television, radio, and movies, are among the modern inventions which may be either a blessing or a curse, depending upon their use. One of the dangers is that these, along with other forms of professional entertainment, may develop a generation of spectators rather than active participants. In the case of music, the greatly increased demand has resulted in a flood of sound which embraces music of all kinds. Much of this is of the finest quality, but much more is merely entertainment of passing interest, and never intended to be taken seriously. Unfortunately, a great many people seem to be taking it seriously.

What can we as music educators do to combat these dangers. Certainly not by slackening our efforts to discover and encourage students with exceptional talent, because they are the ones to fill the gaps in the ranks of the professionals and keep standards of performance high. But we must get more and more people actively making music, both vocal and instrumental. A truly musical country is one in which everyone finds in music a means of self-expression. We must also help our young people to listen intelligently and to discriminate between music which has lasting value and that which is only for the moment. Given a fair chance, young people will usually choose the better kind, but we must help them. The worthwhile things in life must be worked for.

By GEORGE C. NOWLAN

February 16, 1957.

I have already commented in this column on the number of questions which daily are asked in the House of Commons. I think it is no exaggeration to say that more questions have been asked this Session already than during the last ten Sessions combined. Almost an hour a day is spent in this manner. Now the Rules respecting questions are very strict. In the first place, the question must be urgent and one of such importance as to require an immediate answer. In the second place, the Member must confine himself strictly to asking the question. In other words, he can make no preliminary statement, or any comment after the question has been asked. It is obvious that with the great number of questions being asked, the Rules have not been strictly complied with. Frankly, many of them have not been of an urgent nature, but simply asked in the hope that the Government might be trapped into some embarrassing error.

For many weeks it has been obvious that Mr. Speaker has been very lax in enforcing the Rules with respect to questions. During the last ten days this has been the subject of much comment in newspapers here. As a matter of fact, in a radio broadcast which will not be heard until this report has been forwarded to your newspaper, I discussed the lack of control which the Speaker was showing in the House of Commons. Suddenly all this has changed. Mr. Speaker has apparently become very nettled about the criticism which has characterized editorial comment. Anyway, during the latter part of this week, he has cracked down severely on everyone who has sought to ask questions, including those on the Government side of the House. In this, I think he has been perfectly correct.

On Friday, Mr. Speaker really displayed his temper and his authority. Mr. J. C. VanHorne of Restigouche-Madawaska, was continuing his feud with the Honourable Milton Gregg, the Minister of Labour. In attempting to ask his question, Mr. VanHorne also made some caustic comments about the Minister. Mr. Speaker ordered him to sit down. Later, Mr. VanHorne attempted to ask the question without the statement, and Mr. Speaker again sat him down. At that time, Mr. Speaker said, "Have Honourable Members ever heard of the theory of Mr. Speaker turning a blind eye to an Honourable Member? I am afraid this probably will be the only policy I will have to follow with respect to the Honourable Gentleman." This comment was the subject of much conversation during the rest of the day. The theory of the blind eye is one adopted by a Speaker in the British House of Commons. There, as you know, Speakers hold office indefinitely, and therefore exercise much more authority than do our who are elected for each Parliament. If, in the British House of Commons a Member of Parliament incurs the wrath of Mr. Speaker, he subsequently refuses to see him when he tries to get the floor. In other words, Mr. Speaker turns towards him his "blind eye." There have been Members of the British House of Commons who have been denied a hearing for many years, because of the fact that the Speaker would not "recognize" him. I doubt if Mr. Speaker intends to follow out this policy with respect to Mr. VanHorne, even during the next few weeks which remain in this Parliament. However, I believe it is the first time that such a warning has ever been issued in the Canadian House of Commons.

It will be no surprise to my readers to know that the Honourable C. D. Howe is again in trouble with respect to his attitude towards Parliament. This week he was severely criticized by Mr. M. J. Coldwell, the Leader of the C.C.F. Party, as well as by other Honourable Members. The incident arose in this way. Last week the House spent four days debating the Canadian Wheat Board Act. The only change involved was the alteration of date, giving the Board another five years of life. However, Western Members took advantage of this opportunity to discuss wheat marketing policy in general. Mr. Howe was angered because of the time which Members took to discuss this matter. On Monday of this week he informed the House that he had another Bill which he felt was essential to pass, but he doubted if he would introduce it. He said he might bring down the Bill and "try it for a day." But if the debate lasted longer than that, he would withdraw the Bill. Many Members of Parliament resented this as a flagrant attempt to brow-beat them into submission. Here, according to the Minister, was legislation which he considered important. It was in the public interest that it be introduced, debated and passed. However, he was not going to give the House any longer than one day to discuss it. It obviously is the duty of Mr. Howe to introduce the Bill, if he considers it necessary. It also obviously is the duty of Members of Parliament to debate it, if they consider such debate necessary. Perhaps such a debate would not last even a day. Perhaps it would last a week, depending upon the importance of the subject matter. Certainly they should not be intimidated by the threat that the Country will suffer by having the Bill withdrawn if the Members insist upon their right to debate it. In this connection, the Globe & Mail, in an editorial, commented in part as follows: "When a Minister's authoritarian prejudices come into conflict with these essential functions of Parliament, it is the Minister who is wrong — so wrong — in fact, that he is left without either defence under the constitution or justification on any other basis."

The Bill respecting the Canada Council was finally passed this week, and now has gone on to the Senate. This Bill provides a capital grant of Fifty Million Dollars for University construction, and a further grant of Fifty Million Dollars as an endowment for "culture." Out of this endowment, an unknown amount will be allocated for University scholarships. All of this, of course, is to the good. But the Social Credit Party took a very dim view of this legislation. The Members of that Party express continually their belief that Communism is gaining control in Canada. In fact, more than one spokesman for the Party continue to quote Senator McCarthy, whom they apparently look upon as their patron saint. Because of this, they criticized the Bill severely. I think they felt that they could indulge in the criticism, but that the Bill would pass without a recorded vote. However, when the last word was said, and the debate had terminated, the Government insisted upon a recorded vote. The Social Creditors were caught in an unenviable position. They did not want to be recorded as being against this measure. On the other hand, having criticized it so bitterly, they could not very well swallow themselves and vote for it. Therefore, after the division bells had sounded, and the Members had stood in their places, the Social Creditors, rather apologetically, had to rise and vote against it. Apparently, "culture" is not included by them among their Social Credit dividends.

Findings On Road Sanding Experiment

Some weeks ago the Department of Highways began an experiment to determine the desirability and cost of carrying out what is known as continuous sanding where and when necessary on the Trunk roads and paved county roads of the province. Hon. G. I. Smith, Minister of Highways, announced recently.

Instructions at that time, Mr. Smith said, were given to the effect that on the unpaved county roads sanding was to be maintained to the same extent and in the same places as was done last year, but that no increases in sanding on county roads were to be made or authorized.

The experiment indicates, he reported, that to carry out the program of continuous sanding on the trunk roads and paved county roads with the equipment now available is likely to result in an increased cost of approximately three hundred and fifty thousand dollars. It is also indicated that the greater safety and travel convenience provided for the public by such sanding justifies the additional expense.

"This, of course, will occasion a further over-expenditure in the Department of Highways, in which according to the recent statement by the Premier, there was a heavy over-expenditure as of November 20," said Mr. Smith.

It is realized, he said, that in the endeavor to carry out continuous sanding, there have been occasions when the sand was not used to the best advantage. It is hoped that this difficulty may be overcome and the Department will make every effort to see that sanding is done as efficiently and economically as possible, he said.

He said considerable unauthorized sanding has evidently taken place on county roads, causing a substantial increase in sanding costs in this respect. "While it is recognized that the citizens using such roads consider that sanding is most desirable, it must be borne in mind," he said, "that there is a limit to the costs of this nature which can reasonably be incurred. The Department will therefore have to insist that all its employees pay strict attention to the instructions that sanding of unpaved roads is to remain at the same standard as was carried out thereon last year."

There are a number of additional ional snow removal units in operation this year as compared with last year. The use of additional units will, of course, result in additional costs which may be as much as $150,000, said Mr. Smith, adding that there was also some additional cost incurred in obtaining and erecting snow fences.

After a number of appointments ashore in Canada, he took command of the destroyer escort Crusader in November 1945. He subsequently held appointments in HMCS Naden, the RCN barracks at Esquimalt, B.C., in HMCS Stadacona, the RCN barracks at Halifax, and a temporary appointment in command of the destroyer escort Nootka.

Captain Stirling served for a year and a half on the staff of the Naval Member, Canadian Joint Staff, Washington, D.C., and in April 1949 became Director of Naval Communications at Naval Headquarters, Ottawa. In September 1951 he was appointed executive officer of the cruiser Ontario. In January 1953 he served on the staff of the Supreme Allied Commander Atlantic in a NATO appointment.

He was appointed commanding officer of HMCS Cornwallis in January 1955.

Captain Stirling was born in Rutland, B. C., in June 1915 and he entered the navy as a cadet in 1933. Following his early training with the Royal Navy he was appointed to the Canadian destroyer Skeena in 1938.

At the outbreak of the Second World War he was serving in the destroyer St. Laurent and later he served in HMS Onslow (destroyer) with the British Home Fleet as flotilla signals officer.

trailer will be visiting seventeen cities and towns in Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia between January 7 and April 10.

Since 1950, when it was first initiated by G.M. Diesel Limited, London, the "School on Wheels" has travelled 63,000 miles by land and sea and 8,000 workers have been trained in 400 classes conducted by the unit's two diesel authorities — Field Superintendent A. P. Sullivan and his aide, Jan Depuydt.

Part of the purpose of the team's most recent trip — the first time the unit has been in the east during the winter months — is to bring expert assistance to marine fishermen who use diesel equipment in their daily work.

Training courses conducted by Sullivan and Depuydt are sponsored by local G.M. distributors and dealers. The Digby visit is being sponsored by Construction Equipment Co. Limited, Liverpool.

Mr. Sullivan pointed out on his arrival that the purpose behind the training scheme is to show workers how to maintain their equipment properly, thus enabling them to get maximum performance. To accomplish this modern training methods are used which incorporate running and cutaway engines, slides, films and charts. "In addition," says Sullivan, "those attending will have the opportunity to perform all the steps of a complete tune-up on 'live engines'."

The big, blue and grey tractor-trailer contains $35,000 worth of the latest diesel training equipment, covering the line of G.M. series 51, 71 and 110 diesel engines, as well as the G.M. hydrostarter — a hydraulic starting device that works instantly in any kind of weather and which eliminates standard electrical starting equipment.

Officials of G.M. Diesel Limited have always recognized the importance of proper operator and mechanical training when it comes to handling diesel-driven machines. They believe that power machinery is essential to the ever-expanding Canadian economy and that trained personnel, well-versed in product knowledge, is the keynote to uninterrupted operation. The on-the-spot training is designed to further the established service skill and promote efficient diesel operation throughout Canada.

During the many thousands of miles they have travelled since 1950, Sullivan and Depuydt have instructed diesel workers on such important construction projects as the St. Lawrence Departments of Public Safety!

It is a well known fact that 7 out of 10 furnaces are HEAT WASTERS — as your heating bills will prove. But most of these furnaces — PARTICULARLY CONVERSIONS — are capable of doing much better, if given a chance.

F.E.S. — most successful co-ordinated fuel conservation system ever devised for the users of Fuel Oil.

- REDUCES HEAT LOSS!
Captures heat which "Escapes" out the chimney.
- RECLAIMS WASTED HEAT!
Returns escaping heat to the combustion chamber.
- INCREASES RADIANCE!
Refractory powder generates "Increased Glow" — result — more heat.
- IMPROVES COMBUSTION!
Turbulator head gives "Greater Mileage" to oil.
- PAYS FOR ITSELF USUALLY IN ONE HEATING SEASON!
The excess dollars you usually pay for fuel in one heating season covers entire cost of F.E.S.
- INSTALLED WITHOUT DISCOMFORT!
Takes but a few hours for installation.

You PAY out of SAVINGS!

GET THE "FACTS OF LIFE"

about your furnace, NOW!

We will not undertake installation if a savings of 15 to 40 percent cannot be guaranteed by instrument reading.

FREE An FES HEAT-LOSS ANALYSIS and COMBUSTION EFFICIENCY TEST of your heating plant will be made on your request... WITHOUT OBLIGATION or COST TO YOU!

AT YOUR REQUEST... a trained FES HEAT-LOSS ECONOMIST will call at your home. He will thoroughly inspect your heating plant... make the standard Bacharach heating-efficiency tests... establish the degree of heat-losses that are penalizing you... determine the rate of combustion efficiency (or inefficiency) that is wasting your fuel... and provide you with an estimate of the minimum guaranteed savings which will follow from corrections that can be made through the installation of the FUEL ECONOMIZER SYSTEM OF HEAT-LOSS CONTROL.

YOU RISK NOTHING. There is no charge or other obligation. You will be given... in writing... the facts about your furnace and the scientific evidence that reveals why your fuel bills run so high. If FES can improve your heating and make an important savings possible in your costs... the FES ECONOMIST will show you how. If FES cannot provide your home with better heat at a lower cost... the FES ECONOMIST will frankly tell you so.

IF YOUR HEATING PLANT is one of the wasteful 7 in every 10 that represent a high heat-cost burden for the home... you should take advantage of the FES FREE INSPECTION PRIVILEGE TODAY! Every day that you delay such inquiry into your heating bills can be costing you money.

MARRIAGES

Grimshaw — Hyson

A wedding of interest to many friends was solemnized in the Wesley United Church, Yarmouth, when Rev. W. G. Davis united in marriage Ruby Charlene, only daughter of Mrs. Ruby Hyson, and Ernest Wade, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Grimshaw, all of Yarmouth, in a double ring ceremony. During the signing of the register Mrs. Eula Cairns sang "Till Walk Beside You". Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Eric Bent, of Saint John, N. B. The bride looked in brown velvet with gold beautiful in a floor length gown of white velvet. Her headress was of tulle and adorned with finger tip veil, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, gift of the groom.

Helen Johnson attended as maid of honour, and Lynne Frizzell, cousin of the bride, as bridesmaid. They were attired identically in ballerina gowns of red velvet and carried nosegays of white and yellow mums.

Hugh Grimshaw, brother of the groom, acted as best man. Ushers were Gerald Morten and Carl Godwin.

The bride's mother was dressed in brown velvet with gold accessories and wore a corsage of yellow roses.

The groom's mother wore dresden blue with navy accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church vestry for 100 guests. Rev. Davis proposed a toast to the bride, which was fittingly responded to by the groom. The wedding cake was cut in the traditional manner by the bride and groom.

For a short honeymoon trip, the bride wore a tan wool dress topped with muskrat jacket with olive green accessories. She wore a corsage of yellow roses.

The bride is a recent graduate of the Victoria General Hospital School of Nursing, while the groom is stationed with the R.C.N. at Ottawa.

Soulsby — Forrest

The Grace United Church parsonage, Digby, was the scene of a quiet but very pretty wedding on Saturday, February 2, 1957, when Carolyn June, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Forrest, of Digby, was united in marriage with George Soulsby, only son of Mr. and Mrs. William Soulsby, of Timmins, Ontario.

Rev. James Brooks performed the ceremony.

The bride looked charming in a street length dress of white brocaded satin with lace inserts and a lace jacket with sleeves tapering to a point at the wrist. The matching veil was held in place by a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

The bride's attendant, Miss Sidney Gidney, wore a street length dress of blege satin with white accessories. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Mr. Merrill Langille attended the groom.

The bride's mother wore a navy dress with navy and white accessories. She wore a corsage of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride for about fifty guests, including relatives and young friends of the bride. A toast to the bride was given by her uncle, Mr. George O'Neill, and was responded to by the groom. Friends of the bride served.

George O'Neill, aunt of the bride, poured.

The happy couple left on a short honeymoon, after which they returned to Halifax, where they will reside.

For travelling the bride chose a dress of green silk with white accessories and twin beaver coat. She wore a corsage of yellow daffodils.

W.M.S. MEETS

The Women's Missionary Society of Rossway met last Tuesday evening for their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Herbert Nesbitt. Six members and two guests attended.

The February meeting of the North Range Baptist W.M.S. was held at the home of the President, Mrs. J. V. Andrews, on Thursday evening, Feb. 7. The devotional service was conducted by Mrs. Milton Bragg. The prescribed theme for the evening was "The Love of God" and was followed throughout the service. Eight members and three visitors answered roll call with a verse of scripture. Following the short period of business Mrs. (Rev.) R. R. Winchester presented the program. The subject of her lesson was Angola, in Africa. Important cities and towns were pointed out on a special map and the geographical features explained by the leader. Members then read accounts of several missionary workers in this relatively new Canadian Baptist Mission Field. The lesson proved to be very informative and interesting. A half hour social period followed, at which time delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

A group gathered at the United Baptist Church, Deep Brook, on Thursday evening, January 30th, to hear Rev. Gordon Barss, missionary from India, now on furlough with his wife and three children, residing at the Mission House in Wolfville.

The service was conducted by Rev. Francis Miller, with Mrs. Eric Adams presiding at the organ. The choir rendered a special selection entitled "Speak To My Heart".

The congregation consisted of many from the Clementsport and Smith's Cove churches, and Mrs. R. J. Vroom, President of the Deep Brook Women's Missionary Society, welcomed them to the service.

Following the meeting the ladies of the Women's Missionary Society held a social hour in the vestry of the church, where they served coffee, brown bread and doughnuts.

H. & S. Meets

The regular Home & School meeting was held at the high school on Thursday evening, February 7th, with President James Olmstead in the chair.

It being the annual Founders' Day meeting a "Mock Trial" was held in honor of the occasion. Mrs. Burpee Campbell acted in the defence of the Home & School; James Olmstead served as Prosecuting Attorney; Mrs. Ernest Powell defended the accused, and Dr. E. Thomas very capably filled the position as Judge.

The Prosecutor centred his case around three points: (1) The Home & School is offering aid where their aid is not needed; (2) The H. & S. is a "Social Clique"; (3) The H. & S. organization is merely a self-centred organization, forgetting its Creed as it frantically strives to provide attractive entertainment.

The defence, aided by Mrs. Campbell, defended the H. & S., and the body of the defence was a summary of the organization's activities over the past ten years.

The Jury, which was made up of the remainder of those present at the meeting, presented a verdict of not guilty to Dr. Thomas.

Meeting closed in the usual form, after which refreshments were served by the refreshment committee.

Addresses Annual V.O.N. Meet

Mrs. Elizabeth Kerr-Wilson, shown above, was guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Digby Branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses, at the United Church Hall here last Tuesday evening. Mrs. Kerr-Wilson, who is a Social Worker at the Digby Psychiatric Clinic, spoke on the general work of sociologists in such clinics.

Petition Being Circulated

A petition, seeking action by the provincial Fire Marshal with regard to removal of fire hazards said to exist on the premises of the H. T. Warne Ltd. lumber plant in Digby, is being circulated throughout the town.

It is understood chief complaint of the petitioners is concerning the robbing of pulpwood which is being done on the property of the lumber and box making plant which has been closed since late last summer.

Large quantities of shavings are produced by the robbing operation and it is feared these when drier weather comes, will constitute a severe fire hazard to homes in the area. The situation is made more hazardous by the fact bulk storage tanks of two oil companies are located in quite close proximity to the area where the work is being carried out.

Last fall the Fire Wardens of the town made an inspection of the area and contacted the firm of Rudolph Van der Walde (Canada) Ltd. which was reportedly carrying out the robbing operations and an effort was made to clean off the accumulation of shavings at that time. Letters were also sent to the provincial Fire Marshal, the Montreal Trust Company, trustees for the estate of H. T. Warne Ltd. which is in bankruptcy, and to the Warne firm with regard to the fire hazard on the property.

An order has also been issued by the Digby Fire Chief to the Van der Walde firm under the provisions of Chapter 101 of the revised provincial statutes of 1954, to remove the wood peelings and shavings from the property. This order was issued on February 25th.

World Day Of Prayer

The World Day of Prayer Service will be held this year in Grace United Church on Friday, March 8th, at 3:30 p.m. The theme for this service is "Who Shall Separate Us?" and the basis of it is prepared by Mrs. Serena Vassady, a Hungarian, who at one time spent eight years behind the Iron Curtain in Europe. It seems fitting that there should be used a worship service prepared by a citizen of Hungary, when thousands of her countrymen are coming to these shores. The World Day of Prayer began in 1919 when a group of women in Toronto, after much thought, planned an interdenominational Day of Prayer. By 1927 the Interim Committee of the Women's Missionary Societies of Canada had been established and the membership composed of three representatives from each of the Protestant denominations in Canada.

The official publication of the Church Women of the U.S.A. now tells us that in 1954 (just 27 years later) on the first Friday in Lent, 114 countries celebrated this year-round bond among the Christian women of the world. Last year in Canada 3000 groups met in the World Day of Prayer Service. The purpose is to unite the Women of Canada in every effort to bring the Kingdom of God in their own country and throughout the world.

The speaker for the service in Grace United Church will be Mrs. Lt. Col. A. Dixon, of Halifax. She is the wife of the Divisional Commander for the Nova Scotia Division of the Salvation Army. The women of the various churches and the combined choirs will worship together at this interdenominational Day of Prayer for Women. It is hoped that more women will attend this Prayer Service this year.

DIGBY SCHOOL TEAM TIES MIDDLETON 5-5

Last Friday Digby's entry in the M.A.H.A. Bantam League, the Digby Rangers, travelled to Middleton to play the first of a two game total goal series, to decide who should meet Windsor.

The game, which was played on natural ice, at times inches deep in water, was a thriller. At the end of the first period Digby tallied Middleton 1-0. The second period saw the Rangers come back strongly and take the lead 3-2. The last period was a goal-scoring spree during which Digby scored three goals and Middleton two, to end the game 5-5.

Digby's goal getters were:

Second period: Burgoyne (Logan, Cowan); Winchester (unassisted).

Third period: Cowan (Cummings); Burnham (Logan); Ritey (Belliveau).

The final game of the series takes place on Friday during Kid's Night. Come out and give our boys a cheer. The winner of the series plays Windsor.

The League was hard at play on Saturday last and in the Pee Wee League the Hornets edged the Ravens 1-0 on a goal by Skipper VanTassell. In the second game of the morning, the Canadians beat the Bruins 6-0.

Assembly Session Opens

The 46th general assembly of the Province of Nova Scotia was opened with traditional pomp and circumstance yesterday afternoon. W. S. K. Jones, member for Queens, was elected Speaker of the House and the Speech from the Throne, starting off the session's deliberations, was read by His Honour, Lieut. Governor Allistair Fraser.

According to this speech, legislation will be introduced to abolish the present highway tax paid by municipalities to the provincial government. Plans were announced to proceed with an agreement with the federal government regarding the building of a dam and roadway across the Annapolis River. It was stated the government would proceed with the paving of roads in the province now ready, or nearly ready for paving, and the replacement of obsolete and inadequate bridges.

In the field of education the speech requested municipalities to give serious consideration to school building programs, and to give priority to the construction required for increased enrollment, and to defer wherever possible construction of other schools which, although desirable, may not be essential.

With regard to municipal debt the speech commented that, "although the burden of municipal debt in Nova Scotia is comparatively low, the present credit restrictions and simultaneous requests from most of the municipalities for capital funds have made it difficult to market the debentures necessary for new construction."

It was pointed out in the speech that, although there is still an acute shortage of teachers in Nova Scotia, school boards engaged 241 additional teachers and the number of teachers holding higher profes-

Canadians goals were scored by Doug VanTassell (4) and Phil Murley (2).

In the Bantam League the Maple Leafs edged the Black Hawks 1-0, their singleton goal being scored by Mike VanTassell.

The Rangers went on another scoring spree to trim the Red Wings 12-1. Ranger scorers were Cowan (6), Cummings (4), Dugas (1) and Handspiker (1). The Red Wings' single reply was scored by Donald Handspiker.

Next Saturday there will be no play in the Little League as the Forum will be used for a Round Robin tournament of S.W.A.V.S.C. schools to see who will represent the Valley in the next round of Headmasters' hockey play.

League standings are as follows:

Capture Huge Lobster

The granddaddy of all lobsters was captured this week in the scallop drags of the "Lorraine-O", skippered by Floyd Oliver.

The huge lobster, which was caught off the Broad Cove wharf, weighed 14½ pounds and its body was 21 inches long. Each claw measured a foot in length. The clamp claw was seven inches wide but the other one was narrower.

Reg Jordan of Culloden purchased the big crustacean and it was later displayed in Digby. On the "Lorraine-O", beside the captain, are Albert and Gordon Oliver and Gordon Hamilton.

sional qualifications continues to increase.

Satisfaction was expressed that for the first time in history of records there was not a single case of diphtheria reported in the province last year. The death rate for tuberculosis has also reached a new low and this will permit the closing of all tuberculosis units connected with general hospitals.

The appointment of a Royal Commission to inquire into and make recommendations concerning the Workmen's Compensation Act was forecast by the speech which also announced the appointment of Royal Commissions to inquire into the apple industry and the Springhill mine disaster.

The speech stated further study would be made of proposals concerning a health insurance scheme to determine the most appropriate methods by which it might be financed and put into operation. Assistance was reported to three mental health clinics in the province and assurance was given this would be continued and extended. A return to the use of hospital construction grants was also forecast.

Plan Education Week Program

Plans for the marking of Education Week in Digby have been announced by School Supervisor F. C. Purdy.

Mr. Purdy stated special reference will be made to education in the churches of the town at their services on Sunday and during the week displays in various store windows will highlight aspects of the educational program being carried on in Digby.

On Wednesday an open day will be held at the Digby Regional High School, the primary school and St. Patrick's Academy. It is hoped parents will make use of this opportunity to visit the schools and see the activities which are carried out. During the afternoon a tea will be held in the cafeteria of the Regional High School. This will be in charge of the elementary school teachers. Arrangements will also be made for an inspection of the new addition to the high school.

As part of the Education Week program this year the Editor and staff of the Amethyst, the publication of the Digby Regional High School, will take over a page in the Digby Courier and will supply feature articles and other material. Students from the Regional High School will also visit the Digby Courier during the week to see for themselves the operation of a weekly newspaper and the various steps in its production.

Highlight of the Education Week program here will be the official opening of the new addition to the Regional High School. This is scheduled to be held Thursday evening at eight o'clock in the school auditorium and the public has been invited to attend.

Special speaker for the opening ceremonies is expected to be Dr. Moffatt of the Department of Education. Dr. J. R. McCleave, School Board Chairman, will be chairman of the evening's program.

WEYMOUTH CLUB RECEIVES CHARTER

More than one hundred and fifty Kiwanians, their Queens and guests from Kiwanis Clubs in Halifax, Armadale, Shelburne, Yarmouth, Liverpool, Lockeport, Digby and other points, gathered in Weymouth Monday night for the Charter Night celebrations of the newly organized Kiwanis Club of Weymouth. A banquet session to mark the event was held at St. Joseph's Hall.

General chairman of the evening's proceedings was Cecil R. Barrett, of Shelburne, Immediate Past Lieutenant Governor of Kiwanis District No. 11. The invocation was given by Rev. John Carr. A welcome was extended by M. S. Leonard, M.L.A., a member of the Digby Kiwanis Club, which sponsored the new Weymouth club and made arrangements for the Charter Night program.

Harvey R. Doane, of Halifax, Past Kiwanis Governor and International Trustee, presented the Charter of the newly organized club to Dr. H. J. Pothier, President of the Weymouth Kiwanis Club. Mr. Doane, who was introduced to the gathering by Lt. Governor Edwin C. Baker, welcomed the Weymouth club into Kiwanis International and spoke at some length on the aims, ideals and accomplishments of Kiwanis.

Other speakers at the evening's session included W. Russell MacKay, Past Lt. Governor who was introduced by G. R. Harris, 2nd Vice President of the Digby club; and Edwin C. Baker, present Lt. Governor of District No. 11, who was introduced by William C. Carter, of Halifax. Both speakers congratulated the Digby Kiwanis Club on the job they had done in organizing the new club in Weymouth and also welcomed the new club and expressed wishes for its success in Kiwanis International.

Charter members of the Weymouth club and their wives were introduced by 2nd Vice President Lawrence Hersey, and R. K. Beckwith, President of the Digby club, introduced the head table guests. A roll call of the clubs present was conducted by J. R. Ayer, 1st Vice President of the Digby club.

The toast to Kiwanis was proposed by Edwin C. Baker, and responded to by Past Governor Doane. Past Lieut. Governor Russ MacKay proposed the toast to the ladies, which was responded to by Mrs. Ralph Tower. During the evening's program group singing was led by Chester Levy, of the Digby club, and Mrs. Dixon Rice, of Weymouth, presided at the piano.

Presentations were made to the new club of a Kiwanis banner, Secretary's and President's kit, gong and gavel, Kiwanis shield and international flags, on behalf of the Kiwanis clubs in District No. 11. Llew Ruby, in accepting the gifts on behalf of the Weymouth club, said he felt the new club would prove a worthy addition to the ranks of Kiwanis International and would continually strive to live up to the aims and ideals of the organization. He said a committee was often said to be composed of men who individually felt that they could do nothing and who met to collectively decide that nothing could be done. In the case of the committee responsible for the organization of the Weymouth Kiwanis Club, he said, the committee was composed of men who felt individually that something could be done and decided collectively it would be done.

At the close of the program Past Lieut. Governor Barrett presented Kenneth Beckwith of the Digby Kiwanis Club with an emblem to be attached to the club banner, denoting the fact the club had been responsible for the formation of the new Weymouth club. In accepting, on behalf of the Digby club, Mr. Beckwith said he felt the honour should go, in great part, to his immediate predecessor in office, Dr. John R. McCleave. Much of the preparatory work toward the organization of the club, he said, had been done long before the first of the year and the charter night celebration was a fruition of these efforts.

Mrs. T. E. G. Lynch Passes Away

Mrs. T. E. G. Lynch passed away at her home here yesterday afternoon after a lengthy illness. Prominent in church and community activities, Mrs. Lynch was the widow of Thomas E. G. Lynch, a former Mayor and prominent citizen of Digby. She is survived by two daughters, Edith, of Montreal, and Mary (Mrs. E. C. Plov), of Halifax, and one son, Richard, of Halifax.

A complete obituary will appear in next week's Courier.

D.F.D. Activities

A meeting of No. 1 Company will be held at the Fire Station this evening at 7:00 p.m., when all members of this company are urged to attend. This will be a short meeting and will not interfere with any other activities. Please be sure to attend.

Salvage Corps will hold their meeting at 7:00 p.m. Friday.

Card party committee for Monday, March 4th, is: Arthur Everett, Lloyd Hicks, Carl Melanson, Wilfred Small, James Ameriault, Doug. Daley.

Attendance at the Maritime Hillbillies a week ago was fair and it is hoped that this will increase as new performances are brought in.

On practice night much information was recorded regarding each member in order to get all the statistics available, necessary for the operation of the department. At the same meeting it was decided that the Companies should appoint their own chairman and secretary, and hold their own meeting, thus making themselves more independent and yet assisting the general department by being responsible to it for their operation. This will eliminate a lot of paper work being thrust on a few.

The committee appointed to act in conjunction with the Legion committee is Charles Hall, Tom MacNnis and Tom Cleveland. The members of the Legion committee are Guy VanTassel, Ed. Murphy and Don Wilson.

A building committee meeting was held to consider plans for the new kitchen now being installed and which is progressing well.

Tuesday night the members of No. 2 Company held a meeting, at which time they took inventory of their equipment and made arrangements to operate on a company basis.

In bowling news the Milkmen and Sidewinders are tied for first place, with 25 points each, followed closely by the Smok-eaters with 24 points; followed by the H Bombs with 20 points. In fourth place is the Legion with 16 points; the Frytters with 14; the Rockets with 9, and the B. Busters with 5.

Agricultural Farm News

The members of the Maple Leaf Agricultural Society had their monthly meeting this week in Conway. On the program for this meeting was a report of the farmers annual meeting held in Truro the last week in December. This report was given by one of the delegates who had attended the meeting. The report was studied together with the resolutions passed at that meeting.

A report on the Digby Neck Marshland situation was also given by one of the members. A petition among the marshland owners has been circulating since a while to know how many farmers are in favor of having it drained so that it can be of some agricultural use. As many of the owners are away and would not be interested in paying their share for the drainage, some of the members thought that their portion of land should be put into a community pasture for the use of the farmers in the vicinity. It was finally decided to ask Mr. Henry of the Department of Agriculture to come to Digby in the near future to meet with the marshland owners to decide what should be done.

It was also decided at this meeting to hold a two day short course at the Agricultural Hall on March 29 and 30th. This course will be put on by the staff of the Credit Union League and will include some speakers from the Department of Agriculture.

At a meeting of the Weymouth Kiwanis Club guest speaker was Mr. W. A. Jenkins, who outlined the development of Agriculture and its possibilities in the County and cited several ways in which the industry could be developed to a very high degree.

Mr. Pellerin of the Antigonish Extension Division was again in the County for part of the week, and was at Conway to the Agricultural Society meeting. While here, Mr. Pellerin also met with several leaders for the purpose of studying a program of Adult Education among the fishermen as well as with the farmers of the County. In Bellevue's Cove a group of individuals met with Mr. Pellerin for the purpose of organizing a Co-operative Housing Group. At least eight or ten of this group have decided to get together for the building of their homes.

A meeting was held with the Clare Municipality councillors this week to give them a report of the Digby County Veterinary Assistance Board. All councillors seemed very pleased with the work done by Dr. Hawkes in that part of the County. The Councillors agreed to pay $1650 to the Board again this year as their share of the payment for the Veterinarian.

Short courses were again held this week at St. Ann's College with a very good attendance.

Some farmers were interviewed during this week for the purpose of finding probable prospects for a County Farm Management Association. Some of those interviewed were very much in favor of such a program, but others were not interested.

The Weymouth Credit Union directors met this week for their regular monthly meeting. This Credit Union is doing very well and all its directors are very enthusiastic about the development.

Report From Parliament Hill

By GEORGE C. NOWLAN

February 23, 1957.

Today we hear that the world is passing through a Revolution. Whether this is true or not, and I think it is, there certainly are many fundamental changes taking place in the relationship between the Government of Canada and the Canadian people.

I remember the late Joseph Noyesworth, the C.C.F. Member for South York, telling the House that when he first entered it in 1945, he was twice ruled out of order by the Speaker, because he attempted to discuss education. He was told severely that education was the responsibility of the Province, and that the Federal Government had nothing to do with it. During this Session, we have had at least three debates on various phases of education, and these were accepted as being as much in order as would be a debate on National Defence. In addition, we have provided large sums of money for University construction, for University scholarships, and the Government has frankly admitted that it does have a responsibility in the field of education. So far, it has raised a constitutional bogey, insofar as secondary and high school education is concerned, but there can be no doubt that within a few years, the Federal Government will have entered that field as well.

Another example of a trend occurred in the House of Commons this week. It was the debate on the Municipal Grants Bill. Up until a few years ago, it was taken as fundamental that the Crown could not be taxed. In our case, the Crown, of course, means the Government of Canada. Therefore, no buildings owned by the Government were subject to taxes, nor were they assessed. Gradually, however, as the activities of the Government became more widespread, and more and more property was acquired by it, the Municipalities protested vigorously about the fact that some of the most valuable properties in any Town or City were exempt from taxation. A few years ago, Mr. Douglas Abbott, the then Minister of Finance, attempted to deal with this problem. He did not admit that the Crown could be taxed, but he did admit that the Crown should assist Municipalities in certain cases. He therefore evolved the formula that if the Crown owned property in any city or town, the assessment of which equalled 5% of the total assessment in that Municipality, then the Crown would pay taxes on a certain basis. Later, the 5% was dropped to 4%. And this week we have passed a Bill, or at least debated it, whereby all property of the Crown, in any Municipality, shall pay taxes as would any other citizen. This, of course, will be of great benefit to those Municipalities which have Crown property within its borders, and it also destroys once and for all the old myth that the Crown is sacrosanct. Once that principle is admitted, one can envisage many far reaching developments in that connection.

Of course this concession was forced by events which will require far more intensive treatment than the mere payment of municipal taxes. For instance, the Gordon Report estimates that during the next 25 years, the municipalities of Canada will be compelled to pay out approximately One Hundred Billion dollars, in providing the necessary facilities for their people. It is impossible for me, and I suspect for my readers, to envisage just what a hundred billion dollars means. Certainly it is a sum of money far greater than that which could possibly be raised by all or any of the Municipalities in Canada. Probably it is a sum so large that it never can be spent, even with the co-operation of Federal and Provincial Governments. But it does indicate something of the problem which confronts the Municipalities during the lifetimes of those who are just assuming the responsibilities of citizenship. And under our archaic system, the Municipality is supposed to raise practically all of its money from taxation of lands, while to the Federal and Provincial Governments are given all other sources of revenue. My guess, therefore, is that the Municipal Grants Act is merely a step in the direction of further and further assistance, given by the Federal Government to the Municipalities, either directly or through the intervention of the Provincial Government.

Of course, all these trends tend to create a unitary Government. The Fathers of Confederation saw the Dominion Government, the various Provincial Governments and the separate Municipalities each exercising their own functions, within their own field. Today, the Federal Government takes more and more money from more and more people, from more and more different forms of taxation. The demands on the Provinces and the Municipalities tend inexorably to increase. Yielding slowly to that pressure, the Federal Government must intervene more and more in the Provincial and Municipal fields. What the end will be, no one can foresee, but certainly the events that have transpired during the few short years I have been in Parliament indicate some of the changes which will take place in the future.

Most of the remaining time of the week was taken up with a debate on Prairie Farm Assistance, which is really a form of crop insurance, although this is indignantly denied by Mr. Gardiner. Usually a debate on this matter is left entirely to the western Members. This time, however, Members from various parts of Canada participated, urging that the benefits of a system of crop insurance should be made available to all the farmers in all parts of Canada. Certainly this never can be done on a universal scale. However, I think the debate does indicate, that in this field as well there may be changes in the relatively near future, and a system of crop insurance on certain selected products may be adopted within the lifetime of most of us. At the moment, the Minister says this is a Provincial responsibility, and the Federal cannot intervene.

But that is the stock answer which has been raised time and time again, in fields which the Government then did not want to occupy, but in which, today, it plays a most important part. The feeling of urgency with respect to the election seems to have diminished during the last few days. Of course, if a decision has been made, it is a well kept secret of the Government. Heretofore, I have had the last Monday in May ringed as the most likely date. Just now, I am looking speculatively at either the 10th or 17th of June.

W.I. Meets

The Rossway Women's Institute met on Tuesday afternoon in the hall for their monthly meeting. Seven members attended.

After the opening, roll-call and reading of the minutes, etc., Mrs. Douglas Andrews read an appeal for clothing for the Hungarian refugees arriving in Halifax, which was received from Miss Doris Wagner, a port worker in that city. It was decided that the W.I. sponsor a clothing drive in the community for good used clothing and shoes, as well as coloring books and crayons and picture books, for children. These things can be left with Mrs. Darrell Lewis, Mrs. Edison Specht, Mrs. Herbert Nesbitt and Mrs. Douglas Andrews. The drive will end the last of February.

The Farm Forum broadcast on Monday night, which the W.I. members also formed a listening group on the topic "Does She Put The Price Tag On?" was discussed and well defined by Mrs. Edith Gidney.

Mrs. W. Comeau had a reading on the Diamond Jubilee of the W.I.N.S., which is celebrated this year.

Mrs. Douglas Andrews had charge of the program on cultural activities. One, a reading beginning with sand drawing, then going on to pencil drawing and painting, pointing out art creates thinking, feeling and acting, thus developing an ability to be understanding in making comparisons. Several paintings of Canadian artists were on display.

In music, a reading on two great early musicians' lives were read. One gave the early life and struggles to become a great composer of John Sebastian Bach. He made the pathway for other great composers to follow and he made the beginning of music on the organ, harpsicord and stringed instruments as we know it today. The other was Fritz Kreisler, a great violinist, whose music still en-lured long after he laid aside his bow.

Mrs. Andrews ended her program by two humorous musical quizzes.

V. O. N. Report for 1956

Secretary's Report

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen —

During the year 1956 there were eleven meetings held with an average attendance of ten members. Six meetings were held at the Court House, three in Trinity Church Hall, and in June at the home of Mrs. (Dr.) D. G. Black, and in December at the home of Mrs. Fritz Dakin. Miss Dorothy Fowler, District Supervisor, visited the Branch in March.

A letter was received from Miss Christine Livingstone, Director in Chief for the Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada, announcing that the Governor General would be in Digby on June 28th and would like to meet the President of this Branch. At a meeting at the Pines Hotel the Mayor, Mr. Gordon Turnbull, presented a beautiful coloured photograph of Digby Gut to His Excellency, The Right Honourable Vincent Massey.

It was with sincere regret that the resignation of Miss Mary Blair was accepted by this Branch. At a social get-together at the home of Mrs. (Dr.) D. G. Black a sterling silver pin was presented to Miss Blair as a token of appreciation of her capable and conscientious work. Miss Ellen Murphy, of Sarnia, Ontario, arrived the middle of July to take over the duties of Nurse in Charge.

Two changes in the by-laws were made during the year with the approval of National Office. They were as follows:

(1) The Board of management shall consist of the Officers of the Branch, the Chairman of each standing committee, and not less than 12 members elected at the annual meeting.

(2) A quorum of the Board of management shall be seven (formerly 1/3 of the total membership).

Miss Fowler met with the Board members at their regular meeting in November and discussed problems relating to the work of the Order. A report received from Miss Fowler stated that Miss Murphy had established an acceptable community relationship and was doing splendid work.

Mrs. Wallis represented the Digby Branch in Halifax on January 9th when the first meeting of the Directors of the newly formed Victorian Order of Nurses for Nova Scotia was held at the Lord Nelson Hotel. In this incorporation of the 16 Branches may there be unity, co-operation and expansion of the health programme.

The annual membership canvass in June and the T.B. Seal campaign in December are two of the outstanding financial projects for the year. Other fund raising activities include a tag day, pantry sale, bridge parties and the showing of films.

A bequest of $2256.06 from Miss Mary Clinton, who was always interested in the work of this organization, is deeply appreciated.

The year 1957 marks 60 years of V.O.N. service in Canada, and the years ahead will challenge all to give of their time, effort and financial support.

There is a saying —
Coming together is a beginning
Staying together is progress
And
Working together is success.
Respectfully submitted,
Blanche Russell.

Nurse's Report

Mr. President, Officers and members of the Digby Branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada, Ladies and Gentlemen:

As we look back over the years we find there has been many changes since 1921. In that year Mrs. Hart, the first V.O.N. nurse in the Digby Branch, arrived in a town of 1200 inhabitants. In spite of the increase in population and modern trends the object of Victorian Order of Nurses remains the same — "to care for the sick and afflicted, to help the poor and bring relief whenever possible, to prevent illness and promote health".

In the past year 740 home visits have been made where nursing care was given to those who were temporarily in need of our service. Also 31 demonstration baths were given to newborn babies to help give the mother sufficient knowledge and confidence in handling her new baby.

Since 1929 we find another vast change. In that year there were 34 babies born in Digby — 9 of which were born in the hospital, as compared with 1956 when 60 babies were born in the last six months — 2 of which were home deliveries. The remainder of the 1400 visits were postnatal, prenatal, newborn, infant, pre-school, school children and adult health instruction. During the fall months 9 immunization clinics were held with a local doctor in attendance each Wednesday afternoon. At this time 68 children, including infants, pre-schoolers, and school children, received 3 injections antigen triple toxoid, and 239 children received booster doses. In June 607 children were given Polio injections in the primary and elementary schools and St. Patrick's Convent.

190 hours were spent in school nursing. Due to the number of children attending school in Digby, the nursing service has been placed on a referral basis. Each morning the nurse is at the Court House from 8:30 to 9:30 for the convenience of the teachers and parents. 1337 children were attended to by the nurse for minor accidents, classroom inspection, checking for signs of contagious conditions and examination of the primary students for defects such as poor eyesight.

On 47 Friday afternoons Child Health conferences were held, with an attendance of 142 infants and pre-schoolers. This gives the mothers the opportunity of discussing Growth and Development in their children, since many difficulties arise, especially with the first-born, and as we all know no two babies are the same.

I wish to express my appreciation to Mr. Brooks and Board members for their consideration; to the doctors and county nurses for their assistance; to Miss Dill and the hospital staff for the sterilizing of supplies; to the relief nurse, Mrs. Paul Snow; to the volunteer workers for their cheerful co-operation; to Mr. Purdy and the members of the teaching

Publicity Report

Mr. President, Officers and members of the Digby Branch Victorian Order of Nurses —

Besides the publicity afforded the Digby Branch Victorian Order of Nurses by the work of capable nurses, the publicity acquired by means of the name on the Victorian Order car and the usual conversational publicity gained by satisfied, comfortable and happy patients, there was also at work throughout the year a publicity committee named by the Board. Convener of this committee for 1956 was Lieutenant Earle Birt, who unfortunately was transferred before the expiration of his term of convener. Since that time the publicity has been directed by Mrs. J. M. Wallis, Mrs. John Russell and Mr. Stanley MacDonald.

During 1956 the usual newspaper coverage was obtained for the Victorian Order of Nurses activities in Digby and general publicity relative to V.O.N. work was given generous space by the local press.

Another method of achieving publicity during the year was staff; and to all those who have assisted in our work in the community.

I would like to say "Thank You" to all the people of Digby for the warm welcome I received on my arrival to your town last July.

Respectfully submitted,
Ellen Murphy, R.N.,
Nurse in Charge.

ENTERTAINED AT VALENTINE PARTY

Members of Sunrise Rebekah Lodge, Tiverton, were invited to a Valentine party at Fair Isle Lodge, Freeport, on Thursday evening, February 14. A short programme by each lodge was enjoyed and delicious refreshments served at the close. Mrs. Grafton Outhouse (recently married) was presented with a nice gift from Fair Isle Lodge. Those who attended from Sunrise Lodge were: Mrs. Eugene Outhouse, Mrs. Ronald Outhouse, Mrs. Hilson Sollows, Mrs. Romaine Buckman, Mrs. Thurston Ossinger, Mrs. Robert Ruggles, Mrs. Charles Thimot, Mrs. Alvah Young, Mrs. Linwood Perry, Miss Aleta Clifford, Mrs. Grafton Outhouse, Mrs. Louise Elliott, Mrs. Calvin Ossinger, Mrs. Herbert Cosaboom, Mrs. Lloyd Guier, Mrs. Nelson Prime, Mrs. Lillie Pyne, Mrs. Georgia Outhouse.

Little River

A sing-song was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Denton on Sunday evening. A large number engaged in singing the gospel hymns. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

A cottage meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Morehouse with Rev. Mr. Benson, Reformed Baptist Minister, of East Ferry, and the gospel preachers, Miss MacDonald and Miss Hadley, of Middleton, conducting the service. A cottage meeting was held by entering a float in the July 1st parade sponsored by the Digby Fire Department. The committee is most grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hersey for the use of their truck, driven by Mrs. Hersey; also to Gail Hersey and Wayne Snow, who played some part in influencing the judges' decision on a five dollar prize for the float. The committee extends thanks to Mrs. J. W. Christie, Rev. E. C. Churchill and Mrs. Paul Snow for their splendid work on the float.

The customary February V. O. N. Week was not held or will not be held in 1957 as the Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada is celebrating its Diamond Jubilee in 1957. Extensive national publicity is planned for the entire year. This will include radio, television, films and newspaper publicity. The publicity committee, however, remembers the generosity of Wright's of Digby Ltd. for the usual window for display in February and extends sincere thanks for their kindness in 1956 and previous years.

Since there will probably be no special report at this time for the June Drive in 1956, we should like to extend the appreciation of both the drive committee and the publicity committee for the publicity given in June by C.F.B.C. radio station in Saint John, N. B., and to the local press, The Digby Courier.

Respectfully submitted,
Edith M. Wallis,
Blanche Russell,
Stanley MacDonald.

On Monday evening the H. & S. Association held their regular monthly meeting in Oakdene Auditorium. This meeting was to celebrate "Founder's Day," the 9th anniversary.

After routine business with Rev. Wm. Scott, president, in the chair, an interesting program was presented under co-sponsorship of Mrs. Bruce Read.

Mrs. Lent's school pupils — 30 voices — gave an exhibition of their work. A film on Road Safety was shown. Refreshments were served under direction of Mrs. Calvin Ruggles.

TO GIVE LOANS TO STUDENTS & TEACHERS

The Annapolis Local of the N.S.T.U. at their last meeting made available two loans of $150.00 each, one to a teacher of Annapolis county to further teacher training, and one for a non-teacher (student) of Annapolis county to continue education at any recognized school or college. If, for example, no application was received from a teacher, then the two loans will be made available to non-teachers. These loans are to be interest free. They are to be made on the basis of need, worthiness and scholarship.

Applications from non-teachers must give as reference the names of four persons including a minister and two teachers it was stipulated.

Applications from teachers must give as reference the names of four persons including the Inspector or Supervising Principal and a minister. A teacher making application must be teaching in the county during the year in which application is made. The loans are to be made payable after enrollment at school or college.

It was recommended that loans be repaid during the first year of regular employment.

Applications are to be made before April 15 to Mrs. Ellen H. Crocker, Secretary of Annapolis Local, Bear River N.S.T.U., Bear River.

TO SPONSOR EDUCATION WEEK PROGRAMME

The Annapolis Local of the Nova Scotia Teachers' Union will sponsor an Education Week programme during the first week of March.

Included among the proposed projects is an exchange of students among some of the larger schools on Thursday, March 7. Some of the visiting students will participate in an assembly programme in the school they visit.

Other projects will be carried out in the different towns and communities.

Suggestions are being sent to rural teachers regarding the programme.

Any teacher who would welcome a visit from a student who intends to become a teacher is asked to notify the supervisor of the nearest regional high school.

Have Narrow Escapes At Westport

Some look on Friday as an unlucky day but for Walter Lent and Roland Swift it was very lucky. Walter is the four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Lent, and he tripped and fell off a wharf owned by MacDormands. He was sighted by Gerald Morrell who made alarm and Wickerson Lent was able to get to the wharf and under to reach him just before the top of his parka went under. The child was taken to his home and later taken to Freeport for medical attention.

Roland Swift, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Swift, was driving down the back road and failed to make the corner. He landed into the cement step of the United Baptist Church vestry causing damage to the step and car, but fortunately with little injury to himself.

DIGBY'S WINTER TOURIST A Man With Lots Of Money (?) Spends A Week In Nova Scotia's Popular Summer Resort

A young man made his appearance in Digby Saturday afternoon, January 30th, registered at one of Digby's well known hotels. He proceeded at once to rent an office. He soon succeeded. He was not particular about price. All he wanted was quality and up-to-date service. He had a telephone installed. Monday and Tuesday were busy days. He purchased splendid furniture, including beautiful rugs for the floor. He immediately employed two office boys to wait on him, build fires, etc. A new stove was set up by one of our local merchants. He purchased everything he required in Digby. However, he was unable to get a $150.00 phonograph here, but the dealer cheerfully loaned him a "Little Gem" and lots of records while the new machine was being telegraphed for. It has since arrived.

The new comer also arranged with one of our stable men to take care of his horse and carriage at $5.00 per week. This expensive rig was due the following morning via the Annapolis suburban train, but has not as yet arrived. The young man's mother was also liable to arrive on any train after which a building site would be purchased and an expensive summer cottage erected within the next few weeks.

All went well until it became reported around town that Digby's new resident was probably a German spy. He was visited by Chief Police Bowles Tuesday morning and at first positively refused to give him any information as to his business here, or his future plans. Mr. Bowles did not arrest him but soon learned that our winter tourist had neglected to show even one cent of his wealth and that his creditors were becoming a trifle uneasy.

Wednesday noon he confided to the police that he had no money but would make satisfactory arrangements after dinner.

In the early afternoon, not having the price of a railway ticket, he was seen walking out of town. The same evening he was given supper at Smith's Cove where he endeavored to buy a horse. He was still without money but had lots of financial references in Digby.

His office has been stripped (the genial landlord decided not to hold the contents for rent. Three or four of our kind merchants and two office boys are now exchanging words of sympathy and say they will wait until "the good old summer time" arrives before doing business with strange arrivals.

Bear River Wins Protest

A protest by the Bear River hockey team, concerning a game in the district league, has been decided in their favour. It is understood, and the game has been ordered re-played.

The protest was based on the fact it was alleged a player on the Centreville team was registered with the Digby Ravens and was therefore ineligible to play with the Centreville team.

Centreville won the protested game by a score of 6-3. In the second game of last Thursday night's schedule Church Point downed Digby by a score of 10-4.

Tonight the second of the two game total goal playoffs will be held at the Forum commencing at seven o'clock. The disputed game between Bear River and Centreville will be played March 7th.

Successful Year Had By Church

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Little River Baptist Church have held their annual business meeting, which gave evidence of a highly successful year.

The meeting was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Nelson Kelly, with Mrs. Austin Denton acting as chairman.

The treasurer's report was given and showed receipts for the year of $425, and a balance on hand of $450. Expenditures for the year were $292, which included $100, which had been voted for the church furnace.

The following slate of officers were elected for the coming year:

Pres., Mrs. Stanley Denton.
1st Vice-Pres., Mrs. Austin Denton.
2nd Vice-Pres., Mrs. Lee Trask.
Sec'y-Treas., Mrs. Clayton Denton Sr.
Buyer, Mrs. Nelson Kelly.

Plans were discussed for another year after which the hostess served refreshments.

April 16, 1877—There was a rumor last Sunday evening that the Big Lake Dam had broken and that "The Flat" would be wiped out. The lake was 12 feet above normal due to recent heavy rains. The evening service at the Methodist Church was postponed. Crowds were watching for a wall of water plus 15,000 logs of E. Walsh. The men carried out shingles, machines, lathes, perishables from the mills of E. Walsh, E. E. Tupper, I. D. Vroom. Others set a boom across the river to catch the logs. By ten or eleven p.m. most people concluded that someone was mistaken. A small part of the dam near the shore had broken, giving rise to the rumor.

April 16, 1877—Last Friday evening the Bridgeport School under the management of Mr. A. M. Chesley assisted by Miss Cynthia Dunn and Mrs. Wade, organist, gave an entertainment at the school house which was enjoyed by a large and appreciative audience. Some of the pieces were done in good style and reflected great credit on those who acted them, among which were: "The Bridal Wine Cup," "Curfew Must Not Ring Tonight," and "Widow Green."

Proceeds of $15.80 are to be appropriated to the purchase of a dictionary for the school.

HOW DID IT GET THERE?

Capt. Hadley Blackford, the popular commander of the government patrol boat A, informs the Courier that a deer has been seen on Long Island, near Tiverton. How did it get there is a question difficult to solve at present. If it swam across St. Mary's Bay it covered a distance of five miles, and if across the narrow part of Petite Passage, 1250 feet. The latter could easily have been accomplished during a calm spell at either exactly high or low water, but it could not survive the tide rip, usually experienced in that locality. Capt. Blackford hopes that its mate will follow in a few days so that the residents of Tiverton, Central Grove and Freeport can have a little sporting ground of their own independent of their neighbours on the mainland.

PRESENTATION

The ladies of Waterford, a branch of the First Digby Neck Baptist Church, gave their pastor a very pleasant surprise on the evening of November 25th. He was invited to the home of one of these good sisters to spend the evening. After a time he took notice a number of the neighbours gathered in and presently Mr. Haddon Westcott presented, in behalf of these good sisters, a lovely fur cap, telling him it was tangible of the esteem in which they held him. The pastor could not find words to express his thanks but breathed a prayer from his heart, that, He who had put such love into the hearts of these dear sisters for their pastor, would abundantly bless them for all future time.

invited to the deacon's home at Rossway and surprised by the presentation of a fur collar and pocket book with some money in it. Then friends gathered two evenings at deacon Robbins' Centreville, and presented me with thirteen dollars and over in cash. Last evening on the tree I received the fur mittens which makes me the set. This, with an over paid salary, as the pastor is leaving, and the many warm hand shakes and good wishes he gets from all, go to show the warm feeling existing between pastor and people. JOHN MEUSE FOUGHT A BIG LOBSTER

The story of a fight with a giant lobster, as the result of which he was severely injured about the hands and legs, was unfolded on the Boston water front Wednesday by John Meuse, when the fishing schooner Ellen and Mary arrived. Fisherman Meuse had the live lobster aboard the vessel to prove his tale. It measures nearly three feet long and its claws 18 inches long.

The lobster weighed 11 pounds and is one of the largest ever brought to Boston. Meuse caught it on a trawl hook and when he got it into the boat it made a savage attack upon him. Numerous wounds on his hands and legs bear witness to the nature of the assault. Meuse finally subdued the gallant crustacean with an oar. This grandfather of all lobsters was evidently a fighter and always came off victorious in its battles with denizens of the deep, for it was in perfect condition.

Experts on the water front figured that the lobster was 25 years old. It was covered with barnacles. The catch was made on Brown's Bank, and Capt. Brophy figured that the lobster must have been a mascot, for the Ellen and Mary had a cargo of 106,000 pounds of fish aboard.

NARROW ESCAPE

Timely Rescue At Little River

Our Little River correspondent writes: What might have been a serious accident occurred last Monday afternoon when Mrs. A. Morehouse, her daughter, Miss Cora, and Miss Fannie Denton, were out in their pleasure boat, the "Blue Bell", when near the bridge, owing to the swiftness of the tide, the boat was caught in the current and capsized, the occupants being thrown in the water. After struggling in the water for some time their screams for help were heard, but by this time Cora had reached the land in safety and Mrs. Morehouse was about to go down for the last time when Mr. Aleck Lombard, of Weymouth, jumped in and swam to her assistance and at the same time Capt. Manning Trask rescued Fannie from under the boat just as she was about to go down. We are pleased to say nothing serious has happened from the shock and they extend many thanks to the rescuers for their prompt action.

DIGBY, NOVA SCOTIA, THURSDAY, MARCH 7, 1957

Reaches Century Mark

A grand old gentleman, William Alexander Rafuse, resident of Lake Brook, Annapolis Co., is receiving congratulations on his 100th birthday anniversary.

Mr. Rafuse was born March 5th, 1857, at Mill Village, Queen's Co., where he resided until he was 12 years of age, when his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paulus Rafuse, and family, moved to Lake Brook, where he has resided for 88 years.

Mr. Rafuse was the only boy in the family and he had six sisters. He was the youngest and was a twin. His sisters have all predeceased him.

Mr. Rafuse is very smart for his age and when the weather is fine he enjoys short walks. Most elderly people enjoy talking about happenings of years gone by and seem to live in the past. Not so Mr. Rafuse. He is keenly interested in the news of today. His mind is very alert and he thoroughly enjoys discussing with friends and members of his family incidents of world wide interest appearing in the news at the present time.

Mr. Rafuse and his wife, the former Emily Graham, who died in February, 1944, were the parents of 12 children, two died in infancy, and ten are living. They are as follows:

Aubrey Rafuse, of Granville Centre; Reginald, formerly of Granville Ferry, now residing in Halifax; Arnold, Parker's Cove; Harold, Annapolis Royal; Curtis, Hilton, Victor and Joseph Rafuse, all of Lake Brook; and two daughters, (Ardie) Mrs. Howard Guest, Young's Cove, Annapolis County, and (Nellie) Mrs. Milton Wade, of Parker's Cove.

There are 36 grandchildren, 61 great grandchildren, and 37 great great grandchildren, making a total of one hundred and forty-four descendants, and five generations in the family.

Many friends join in wishing Mr. Rafuse good health and God's blessing in the years to come.

Marks 99th Milestone

Congratulations are being extended to Mrs. Howard Denton, of Little River, on the celebration of her ninety-ninth birthday. She received a host of cards, letters and gifts from relatives and friends.

Hale and hearty, Mrs. Denton enjoys chatting with her many friends and recalling for them happenings of years gone by. Active for her years, she is a devoted church worker and still does more than her share of work in the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Little River Baptist Church.

A Real Coincidence

Two years ago on the same day Lloyd McNeil, of Marshalltown, and Alfred Woodbury, of Granville Ferry, bought used cars of the same model, same year and same colour.

Last week on the same day, within a few hours of each other, the two cars both suffered a breakdown in their transmission system. With the McNeil car it was the driveshaft that went, while the Woodbury car it was the gear system that broke down.

TOWN ENDS YEAR WITH $10,000 SURPLUS

The Town of Digby ended the year 1956 with a surplus of $10,451.23, it was revealed following receipt of the auditors' report by the Town Council at their meeting here.

A saving of $4,500 in education costs; reduction of $2,000 in debenture debt charges; receipt of $3,010.95 in unbudgeted school debt charges from the province and the fact a number of town departments operated below their budgets brought about the surplus it was stated.

Total town revenue for 1956 was $124,406.21. Expenditures amounted to $113,954.98. Taxes outstanding at the end of 1956 were $1,675 less than at the end of the previous year, it was reported. During 1956 the town retired $10,725 in debentures.

Passes After Lengthy Illness

Mrs. Mary Edith Letitia Lynch, widow of Thomas E. G. Lynch, passed away at her home "The Hill", here last Wednesday after a lengthy illness. News of her death brought sorrow to her family and many friends in Digby, Halifax, and other Canadian and United States centres.

Until 1956, Mrs. Lynch had been a regular winter guest at the Lord Nelson Hotel, Halifax.

Born in Liverpool, she was the daughter of Rev. E. B. Nichols, D.D., and Caroline Agnew Nichols. Her only brother, George E. E. Nichols, of Halifax, predeceased her in 1933.

Mrs. Lynch was educated at Edgemoor, Windsor, being a member of the first class when the school opened in 1891. She maintained an interest in the welfare of the school throughout her life.

A faithful member of Trinity Church, Digby, she was a life member of the Women's Auxiliary, serving as president for many years. She was also a member of Trinity Church Guild and had been a member of the church choir. In community activities in Digby she was one of those largely responsible for bringing the VON to Digby. She was an active member of the Canadian Red Cross Society. Over the years she held many offices in the various organizations for which she worked.

Mrs. Lynch's ancestors were United Empire Loyalists, who settled in Liverpool and Digby, and the family was connected with many prominent citizens of the early days of Nova Scotia. It was through Mrs. Lynch's personal influence and generosity that the Queen's County Historical Society obtained their present home (known as the Simeon Perkins House), the property being the home of her maternal grandmother.

Mrs. Lynch married Thomas Edward Grindon Lynch in 1903 and resided in Digby and Halifax throughout her married life. Both the late Mr. and Mrs. Lynch were known for their fine Christian characters and generosity, both in means and time given unstintingly to the support of many worthwhile endeavours. Mrs. Lynch's numerous personal deeds of kindness and wise understanding will be greatly missed by her many friends.

Survivors include one son, G. Richard K. Lynch of Halifax; two daughters, Edith G. Lynch of Montreal, and Mary N. Plow, wife of Major General E. C. Plow, Halifax, and five grandchildren.

The funeral was held from Trinity Church, Digby, at 4 p.m., Friday, March 1, with burial in Forest Hill cemetery, Digby, by Reverend H. Y. MacLean officiating.

Mrs. Leonard Entertains Hospital Aid

Mrs. M. S. Leonard entertained the Digby Ladies' Hospital Aid at her home on Birch St. on Monday evening when an auction sale was held by the members. Mrs. Guy Morehouse acted as auctioneer. Approximately ten dollars was realized.

At the business meeting it was learned the tag day held on Saturday under the convener-ship of Mrs. Ina Dillon, Mrs. L. F. Dolron, Miss Mildred Carthy and the Misses Grace and Bessie Chisholm, had raised more than $115. for the Aid.

It was decided to have a mammoth bridge and other games at Hotel Champlain in May. Conveners named were Miss Gertrude Budrow, Mrs. L. F. Dolron, Mrs. Joseph Hattie and Mrs. M. S. Leonard.

Present Plan Of Proposed Legion Building

President Ralph O. Wright, of the Digby Branch of the Canadian Legion, BESL, and Patrick Comeau, branch Treasurer, appeared before Monday night's meeting of the Digby Town Council and presented a plan of the new building which the Legion branch proposes to build in Digby. Plans of the building were prepared by Mr. Comeau.

It is understood the proposed new building will cost some $60,000. Plans are to include it provision for a Legion headquarters; a hostel which may be used by youth of the area and by service personnel, and space for town offices, a vault, Town Council chamber and police office. Amount of space proposed in the new building to house town offices and Council facilities will account for some $35,000 of the anticipated cost, it was stated.

The Council was asked to give consideration to the possibility of the town making use of the proposed facilities on a rental basis. It was stated rental for the quarters proposed would be $350 a month. Town Clerk E. S. Eaton stated in response to a question that cost of operating present town hall facilities amount to about two thousand dollars annually.

No decision was reached at the meeting on the proposal but it is understood a study of the whole matter will be made by the Council. It was stated two possible sites for the new building are under consideration by the Legion.

Scout News

On Sunday morning the Scouts of the First Digby Troop and their leaders, SM Rufus Connor, ASM Gerald Hoare, ASM Carl Warner, and D.C. Norman Wright, marched to the Salvation Army Citadel, where they were given a stirring address by Lieutenant Bradley, who chose as his theme "A Good Scout." This parade was in conjunction with a number of special activities planned by the Scouts in honor of their founder, Lord Baden-Powell. This year marks the 100th anniversary of the birth of Lord Baden-Powell, and the 50th anniversary of the Scout movement.

The regular meeting of the Boy Scouts took on a different air last Friday evening. There was to have been an outdoor scheme, but due to inclement weather it had to be cancelled. The boys were looking forward to this because it was to end by cooking hot-dogs and cocoa over an outdoor fire. Scoutmaster Connor's phone was busy around supper time, but he told them to bring their supplies as planned and they would work out something. The evening turned out to be a huge success as they played games and had a sing-song. The refreshments were enjoyed as planned, and the boys expressed their hope for more such social evenings.

The "Amethyst" Page

Some weeks ago we thought all arrangements were made to give over a complete page of the March 7 issue of The Digby Courier to the "Amethyst" staff of the Digby Regional High School. To do so would have necessitated at least a ten page paper. We do want to commend the "Amethyst" staff for the nice layout of their copy brought to us on Monday night. The copy was arranged and planned well to be conveniently accommodated in a special page as referred to by Miss Donna Logan in the editorial today. Here was the hitch. Monday night was too late to arrange for ten pages. In order to run ten pages we must have at least four pages set up and ready to run on Monday night. After that we can run only eight pages, no matter how much copy comes in to the office. We are happy to have the "Amethyst" staff visit our plant during this education week and if they learn nothing else, they will have gained some experience to realize that time is a most necessary element to consider in running a newspaper. We mention this not only for the benefit of the "Amethyst" staff but for all correspondents and advertisers of our weekly paper.

We are deeply sorry to have to disrupt the "Amethyst" page as planned, but we hope to insert their copy submitted within the next week or two.

meeting to the Legion to bring Lynch's Shows to Digby in late June.

TO WEEK RE-OPENING OF WARNE PLANT

Plans for a delegation, representing the Digby Board of Trade and Town Council, to meet with Nova Scotia Trade and Industry Minister, Hon. E. A. Manson, concerning the future of the lumber and box making plant of H. T. Warne Ltd. here, which has been closed since the firm went into voluntary liquidation last summer, were discussed at a special meeting of the Executive of the Trade Board and the Town Council here.

Concern was expressed at the meetings over seeming delay in proceedings and it was stated there seemed little evidence of an early settlement and re-opening of the plant. Opinion was expressed continued delay might result in deterioration of the plant to such an extent re-opening and further operation would not be feasible.

An advertisement had been placed in the local press, it was stated, by the trustees calling for tenders on certain property owned by the Warne firm and outlining conditions of sale but no tenders had been received. A number of adjournments and postponements in proceedings had also occurred, it was stated, so that seven months had now elapsed since the firm went into liquidation.

Figures presented at the meeting showed that close to three hundred men had been thrown out of work by the closing of the Warne plant. Thirty families within the Town of Digby were affected, it was said. Disbursements made by the firm for labour, raw materials and other items in the Digby area amounted to some $40,000 to $50,000 monthly, it was stated, and loss of these was having a severe effect on the economy of the area. Annual direct tax revenue to the town from the Warne operation amounted to some $5,200, it was stated.

It is understood Mayor Gordon Turnbull, Deputy Mayor N. D. Wright, and officials of the Digby Board of Trade, will compose the delegation that will meet with Trade and Industry Minister Manson next week.

Digby Visitor Guest Speaker At World Day of Prayer

Mrs. Lieutenant-Colonel A. W. Dixon is the wife of The Salvation Army Divisional Commander for Nova Scotia and has the oversight of The Army's Women's work in the Division. This includes the Women's Auxiliary Groups which are known as the Home Leagues, and also is the Divisional Secretary for the League of Mercy.

She entered The Salvation Army College from Toronto, and with her husband held many Corps appointments in Ontario and Quebec. The Divisional Commands have included Northern and Mid-Ontario Divisions and also New Brunswick and Saskatchewan. A year ago they were appointed to the Nova Scotia Division, with headquarters in Halifax. A son and two married daughters live in Toronto.

While in Digby, Mrs. Dixon will be the guest speaker for the Women's World's Day of Prayer Service to be held in Grace United Church on Friday, March 8th, at 3:30 p.m., and also will conduct a Home League meeting in The Salvation Army at 8:00 p.m. the same day.

The Teachers' Union And Education

Ninety-five percent of the qualified teachers of Nova Scotia are members of the Teachers' Union. This certainly is a sign of the strength of our professional organization. Yet someone may ask, "What is the Teachers' Union?" In the words of a former president, "It is a large group of professionally-minded men and women united for one great purpose—the improvement of education in Nova Scotia, in so far as both children and teachers are concerned."

As early as 1862 a group of teachers united to establish the Educational Association of Nova Scotia, with its chief aim the general advancement of education in the province. Later other groups were organized and in 1869 steps were taken to found the Nova Scotia Teachers' Union. In 1920 this group was re-organized with Dr. Coady of Antigonish as president.

Some of the objectives of the N.S.T.U. are:

- (1) to promote and advance the cause of education in the province.
- (2) to co-operate in raising the status of the teaching profession.
- (3) to secure conditions for teachers which will make possible the best professional service.
- (4) to advance and safeguard the interests of the teaching profession.
- (5) to arouse and increase public interest in educational affairs.

The N.S.T.U. believes there are six major items to be considered in education — (1) the child, (2) the teacher, (3) the educational program, (4) educational facilities and equipment, (5) educational administration, and (6) educational finance; and has committees to investigate conditions and give suggestions for improvement in all these fields.

We believe that each child in Nova Scotia should have educational opportunities suited to his ability, well-trained teachers and adequate provision for his physical and mental health. The N.S.T.U. supports the consolidation of schools and strives to have every classroom staffed by qualified teachers. One of its long-range objectives is to have medical and dental treatment and x-ray examinations provided for all school children.

Teaching is the most important work in the world. Teachers are not only citizens but makers of citizens. No one objects to paying doctors, lawyers or architects the fees they ask. (Please turn to page 8)

Assessor Appointed For Municipality

Paul W. Davidson, of Smith's Cove, was appointed Assessor for the Municipality of Digby at a special meeting of the Municipal Council here.

Mr. Davidson is a native of Wolfville and served as Collector of Customs and Excise for thirty years. In 1940 he was loaned by the department to the Canadian Army and served as Paymaster at the Yarmouth army base until 1945.

He was educated in Wolfville and New York and also studied at the Nova Scotia Technical College. An architect, he designed a number of buildings in Kings and Annapolis counties and also supervised and assisted in the construction of eleven boats, both power and sail.

A veteran of World War I, he was invalided home in 1917. He served on the Town Council in Wolfville for four terms and also served on the School Board and other bodies there.

Mr. Davidson will commence his duties as Assessor for Digby Municipality immediately.

Well Known Business Man Passes

Vernon Wood Rice passed away at his home in Conway on Friday evening. Although in failing health for some time, his death came as a shock to relatives and friends. He was 57 years of age.

A veteran of World War One, Mr. Rice was actively interested in the welfare of ex-service men. He was a past president of the Digby branch of the Canadian Legion, BESL, and was a member of the Masonic Order. He was also keenly interested in sports.

Born in Bear River, he was a son of the late Stanley Rice of that place. For the past number of years he had operated a service station at Conway.

Mr. Rice is survived by his mother in New York; by his wife, the former May Nichols, and by four sons, F/O Donald Rice, St. Jean, Que.; Bruce, Mesa, Arizona; Malcolm and Chester at home. Also surviving are four brothers, Coleman, Joggin Bridge; Herbert, Bear River and Cleveland and Victor, New Brunswick; and four sisters, Lillian, Maine; Vivian and Pauline, New York, and Robena, Digby. Six grandchildren also survive.

Funeral service was held from the Hill Grove Baptist Church, Tuesday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. E. C. Churchill. Interment was in the Hill Grove cemetery. The service at the graveside was conducted by officers and members of the Digby branch of the Legion.

In 1955, approximately 38,000 teachers in Canada (39% — excluding religious teachers in Quebec) received a salary of less than $200 a month.

About This and That

Teaching Standards Need Raising

There is much talk these days about the shortage of teachers but not nearly as much about the need for raising teaching standards.

At the present time there are approximately 8,000 persons serving as teachers in Canada without any professional training and nearly 18,000 others whose education and training are below the prescribed minimum of the province in which they teach.

The Canadian Teachers' Federation points out that raising teaching standards will help to reduce, not increase, the teacher shortage. This seeming paradox is explained by the fact that teacher drop-out is much more responsible for the present teacher shortage than an actual lack of recruits. If entry standards were higher, misfits and those who use teaching as a temporary means of employment would be kept out.

The teacher in today's world has a big job. It is not just one of hearing lessons and marking papers. He must have sufficient training, insight and leadership ability to develop the attitudes that are the basis of true Canadian democracy. Nothing but the best is good enough for this vital responsibility.

The Canadian School Trustees' Association has recommended "that the minimum standard of certification for teachers be two years of teacher education beyond the senior matriculation and that no person be given a professional certificate unless and until he attains this standard."

19th CENTURY ORPHANS OF DIGBY TOWN

Years ago in Digby County when people died leaving their children to the care of the community a system called "bound out" was used. In this system the children were hired by people to work for them. The money that the people had to pay to hire the children was used to pay off debts left by the children's parents.

A story, which is true, that is told by the older people around Little River about a girl named Anne who was bound out to a family in Mink Cove. Not long after she had been bound out to this particular family the man of the family sold a yoke of oxen. When he came home with the money he put it in a safe place so that it would not be stolen. But one day, however, the money disappeared. People in that neighbourhood were questioned, but nobody knew anything about it. Since Anne was new in that area she was blamed for the theft of the money.

In order to escape being accused of a crime which was considered so terrible in those days Anne ran away. Soon she was forgotten.

Not long after this some children were playing in a gully between Tiddville and East Ferry. They heard a strange noise in the woods. At the sound of the noise the children ran home in fear. When they told their parents what had happened some of the men went back to the gully where the children had been playing and tried to find out what had made the noise. They soon forgot about the whole thing though, because nothing was found.

One day the family who had hired Anne found the money which they had gotten from the sale of the oxen, where they had left it and had forgotten that they had put it there. Immediately they tried to contact Anne but they were not successful.

Some time later someone was in the gully where the children had heard the noise. There in the bushes they found Anne's body where she had died. Apparently she had gone there to hide.

For many years after everyone believed that the gully where Anne had died was haunted.

THE TIME I LOST THE RACE

When dad had a farm, I always liked the horses. Dad taught me how to ride horses when I was only five. I am eleven now.

One day when I went to school I heard there was going to be a horse racing show for girls. After school I went straight home to tell dad. He said I could join if I helped Mum with the house work over the weekend.

When it was about time for the race, I polished the saddle and bridle so that it sparkled in the sun.

The day came and it was the most exciting time of my life. We got in our places. The signal came and we were off.

My horse was ahead at first but soon number three got ahead of me. I tried to get ahead again, but number three was the one who was going to win. I will try again next year.

D.E.H.S. SPORTS

A very active one in the high school as far as sports are concerned.

As usual we started the year off with our drive for the soccer awards. However, we were not quite as successful as we hoped to be. The boys lost the three games they played, which eliminated them from the series. The girls were eliminated by Bridgetown in their second game.

The next event was the annual volleyball tournament held this year at Middleton. The girls did a little better in this as they got two out of four games. The boys equalled the girls by winning two games also. However, these wins did not entitle us to enter the finals.

The next and most popular event was basketball which just recently ended. This year, was in a sense, a very successful one for the boys as they broke a scoring record in the Nova Scotia Interscholastic Basketball. However, again we failed to capture the honours. The boys and girls each took four games out of six. The series which we entered was a total point series. The girls came very close to taking it until they played the last game with Bridgetown. In this game they failed to make the points required to overthrow Bridgetown.

Curling, on Saturdays, proved very popular, among the boys no more than the girls. The teams competed throughout the year in an attempt to make the finals. This year we entered a team in the Nova Scotia Headmasters Curling Bonspiel held in Truro. Digby placed sixth in this bonspiel. The cup finally went to North Sydney.

Another winter sport was hockey, in which Middleton eliminated Digby in the last game.

The last event of the year is track and field which will be held in the spring. Digby will likely enter this sport as they have in former years.

These sports provide a change from the usual pattern of school life, also keeping the body in good physical condition. We are very fortunate in having excellent facilities with which to work and capable instructors.

HOW THE CANNON BANKS GOT ITS NAME

When Rear Admiral Sir Robert Digby brought the Loyalists to Digby they landed behind the place where the Canadian Tire Corporation has its store today. They built their houses, barns, and churches. Everything was going along fine but they began to worry about a means of protection. So they took some cannons off a ship and mounted them by the Long Wharf and pointed them out towards the Gut. The guns were manned day and night to protect the town. Although the cannons were not fired upon any ship, the citizens felt very secure because of their presence. After the War of 1812 they were no longer used. After the cannons had been left there for a long time the citizens took them and mounted them behind the place where the Information Bureau is today.

After this the citizens of Digby referred to the bank on which the cannons were previously mounted as the 'Cannon Banks.' The handful of men who manned the cannons held the future of Digby in their hands.

If the citizens of Digby could come now and see what has happened to the Cannon Banks they would not feel very good about this situation. In my opinion the guns should be taken back and trees planted to look like the days when the Loyalists manned them. It should be made into a park to remind the people of the by-gone area.

Odis Darris,

AN UNWELCOMED PUPIL

An odd thing happened when Clark's dog followed him into the school room. Teddy, his dog, crept under his desk and lay down very quietly looking through the top of his eyes as if waiting to be thrown out. When the teacher came in Teddy was not spotted under his master's feet. The children read aloud to the teacher; Teddy was puzzled at that new way of reading. He wagged the tip of his tail but remained contented with his nose on his paws. Then the teacher's feet moved toward an instrument with two pedals. When she made her foot move a weird noise sounded from above. This was fun to Teddy. He sat up and perked up his ears and began to howl. The teacher looked astonished and exclaimed "When did he enter!" Then he felt himself being picked up and out the door he went. Being a musician was not for any dog.

The Extension to the Digby Regional High School

The new extension to the Digby Regional High School was designed by Leslie R. Fairn and Associates of Wolfville and Halifax, Nova Scotia. This new construction is attached to the original building through a connecting link which is occupied by the administration offices. The original building was designed in 1948 by the Fairn Associates. In the ultra modern design of the new extension, the architects have achieved complete architectural harmony with the traditional lines of the original structure. The two units differ essentially, yet blend surprisingly well. Thoroughly modern in design, well staffed and well equipped, our Regional School is superbly located on a hill overlooking the historic Annapolis Basin. The new classrooms and administration area command a view unexcelled in its magnificence.

In general, the lines of the new construction conform with those of the original structure. This two storey wing is of the semi-basement type, having the ground floor below grade level. This construction is believed to be the first of its type to be built in the Province and represents a departure from tradition for both the Architect and the Contractor. The use of structural steel has been reduced to the basic minimum and gives way in all classroom areas to laminated Douglas fir beams which are placed four feet on centre. These beams are exposed and capped. The ceiling areas between the beams are covered with decorative tile, which lends a pleasing and attractive finish. The classrooms are lighted by continuous window banks, separated only by the casings.

The exterior of the building is of brick veneer, except in window areas where brick work is replaced by the use of striated plywood. Brick pilasters at the corners and entrance areas relieve the symmetry of the plywood spandrels.

More adequate facilities are provided in the new construction area which was designed to take care of substantially increased school enrollments. The layout of this new section includes the following features:

(1) The administration centre, which is located on the main floor of the link connecting the new section with the old construction. Here we find the general office, flanked on either side by the supervisor's office and vocational guidance office, all opening into the spacious main lobby.

(2) The school cafeteria and kitchen, which are located on the ground floor, below the administration centre.

(3) An academic instruction area, located on the main floor of the new wing, provides six academic classrooms, book storage, staff room, spacious corridor areas and boys' lavatories.

(4) The Specialized Departments on the ground floor of the extension contain the Industrial Arts Centre, the Commercial School, the Home Economics Department, office space and a lecture room.

(5) Alterations to the existing structure provides the following additional facilities:

(a) Two academic classrooms 32' x 22'.

(b) A visual education room, of standard classroom size, is artificially lighted and ventilated by means of an exhaust fan. A miniature stage provides excellent facilities for dramatics and debating. The seating arrangement was improved by means of raised dais providing chair stands on three levels. Artificial lighting was necessary because the boiler room extension cut off the supply of natural light. This room is ideally suited to the purposes for which it was designed.

(c) A locker and storage area, both adjacent to the auditorium, provides storage cubicles for over 800 students.

(d) The recovery of the Library and Science Laboratory, which served in dual capacity as classrooms and instructional areas, has substantially improved our teaching facilities.

Classrooms

The academic classrooms, having southern and northern exposures, are located on either side of a single corridor which is lighted by means of light borrowed from classroom areas. Classroom glazing extends to the ceiling and is of clear glass. Window areas are double glazed with sill sashes in all areas except for hopper sashes, used for ventilation purposes. To reduce glare and shut out the direct sun light, the windows are equipped with venetian shades which more properly control classroom lighting.

The Industrial Arts area, located on the ground floor, provides well lighted instructional areas consisting of the general shop, a power tool area, paint and storage areas together with a lecture room and office.

The Home Economics Department provides a general foods area equipped with four unit kitchens, laundry area and work areas. In addition to the foods area there is a sewing room of standard classroom size, well equipped with recent model sewing machines, large cutting tables and ample storage cabinets.

The Commercial School, also located in this area, has two instructional areas and office space. The typing room is equipped with 27 typewriters and proper typing desks, all of the latest design. The lecture area is separated from the typing area by means of glass paneling which eliminates the sound of typing and yet permits complete observation of the activity in progress in either room.

Heating is by a closed forced hot water system regulated by Johnston Control valves and thermostats set to regulate classroom temperatures at all times, all of which is controlled by means of a master clock system located in the boiler room. This system cuts out day temperatures at 4:00 p.m. and reverts again at 8:00 a.m. Week-end temperatures are also controlled in like manner. A three way mixing valve regulates the water temperature in the boiler and mains in accordance with outside temperature changes. The boiler is a steel welded, oil-fired hot water heating unit, complete with all accessories. It is expected that this system will reduce heating costs by a substantial figure.

A public address system consisting of a DuKane sound bay is located in the general office with outlets in every classroom, all offices, auditorium and special teaching areas. The equipment is designed to provide the following services:

(1) The office can call selectively any loud speaker or group of speakers.

(2) The office can call all speakers by separate master control.

(3) Intercom service is possible between any classroom and the office. This permits the monitoring of any classroom during casual absence of the teacher.

(4) A radio program can be received and transmitted to any one or all speakers.

(5) A remote microphone makes it possible to amplify concerts and addresses in the auditorium.

(6) Recordings can be made and later reproduced over the sound system.

The central unit is of DuKane manufacture, installed by Coscor Limited, Halifax, and consists of an audio amplifier complement to provide through channel output switching panels, volume controls, rectifying panel, all wave radio receiver,

THE ACTIVITY PROGRAM IN SCHOOL

The activity program in our high school is a comparatively new venture and its value is the subject of many debates. There are those who realize its importance and there are also those who feel that it is wasted time. I feel that the activity program is a very important part of our school life.

Our program of activities is very large. There is a choice of oil painting, dramatics, debating, chess, checkers, choral, orchestra, Hi-Y, hockey, movies, study and work on the Amethyst and Fundy Light. Each one naturally chooses the activity in which they are most interested. In this way hidden talent may be discovered and developed. Who knows but we may have a future master artist, famous lawyer, great musician, or an author in our midst? These activities help us to realize and develop our abilities and so choose our vocations in life.

Our activity program also teaches us to work and play in a group. We learn to cooperate and to enjoy all kinds of people and we get great pleasure from working with people who are interested in the same things we are. Competition with the people of greater or less ability than we have is stimulating and we work harder to do our best.

For the present our enjoyment of this part of our school life is one good reason for continuing it. But the usefulness of the activity program and its influences in our lives in later years cannot be measured.

Ruth Atkinson,

automatic record player and monitor panel all assembled in an attractive and smartly styled steel cabinet in grey finish.

The total cost of construction, not including architects fees, but including extensive alterations to the original building will approximate $205,000. Equipment and architect's fees will place the total cost in the vicinity of $230,000. The cubic cost of basic construction, excluding alterations, is estimated at 87 cents per cu. ft. which is well in line with construction costs in other areas.

EDITORIAL

Education - Everybody's Business

This week, March 3rd - 9th, is National Education Week. This is the 21st annual observation of the week which is designed to keep the public informed on the goals, achievements, problems and needs of education and is an endeavour to obtain the co-operation of the public in solving the problems of education.

National Education Week was first sponsored by the Canadian Teacher's Federation, but today it is promoted jointly by fifteen sponsoring bodies. Our provincial theme for Education Week is "The Foundation of the State is the Education of its youth". This is a very fitting theme, for it is a well known fact that a construction lacking a firm foundation is doomed to destruction. Education is that foundation and we must do our part in making it sound.

How are we observing National Education Week in our high school? Perhaps our most important project is our contribution to this paper made possible by the Digby Courier. The committee appointed for Education Week decided that this would be a suitable project to further the aims of this week and consequently approached the Amethyst Staff (our high school paper) with the idea. Thinking it to be a worthwhile project we undertook it. It has been our responsibility to gather material from the various grades, editing it and planning the layout of this page. We have tried as far as possible to have each grade represented and give the adults an idea of the functions of our high school this year. We, of the Amethyst staff, are grateful for the privilege of being able to undertake this educational project and it is our sincere hope that our purpose has been accomplished.

Aside from this project, each grade in the school was responsible for a poster which has been on display in the downtown store windows this week. The posters deal with such topics as vocations, a relief map of the transportation routes of Digby County, etc. These posters represent a good deal of time and effort.

It has been said that the school remains today, as it has always been, the main source of strength in a free society. Many people who do not have any children in school feel that education is no concern of theirs but it is statements like this above which show that it most certainly is their concern. Yes — education is still everybody's business.

— Donna Logan,
Editor Amethyst.

Champlain stands at The Seaway

If Champlain returned to the waterway he knew so well, could he enter into the far-reaching spirit of the mighty Seaway project along the St. Lawrence? We believe he could, for Champlain, "Father of New France" and founder of Quebec, was a businessman-explorer... seeking new lands for development.

The Bank of Nova Scotia, too—a pioneer in Canadian progress since 1832—continues to share with men of enterprise and vision in developing the Canada of today, by directing the savings of the community into channels that increase productivity and trade.

Report From Parliament Hill

By GEORGE C. NOWLAN

March 2, 1957.

On Monday of this week, Members of the House of Commons were shocked to learn that Mr. M. J. Coldwell had suffered another heart attack, while attending a Party caucus that morning. This is his second attack within a few years, and although reports suggest that Mr. Coldwell is resting easily in hospital, yet he will probably not return to the House during this Session. It is obvious, also, that he will not be able to take an active part in the coming election. In all probability, in the relatively near future, the CCF Party will be facing the task of the selection of a new Leader. This will not be an easy choice, because the Party is divided into two wings, and it will be very difficult for them to agree on the man who should lead them in the future.

Undoubtedly the one who stands head and shoulders above all others, in the House of Commons group, is Mr. Stanley Knowles, but of course it is not for me to say on whom the choice will fall.

Is it a mere co-incidence that during this term of Parliament, the Leader of the Social Credit Party, and the Leader of the CCF Party have both suffered heart attacks, and the Honourable George Drew has suffered a complete collapse. I believe rather that it is an indication of the load which Leaders of political parties in opposition must carry, in trying to deal with the multitude of problems confronting them, and in attempting to carry out their duties without adequate staff.

Two days of this week were spent in discussing a Treaty between the United States and Canadian Governments protecting the pink salmon, and allocating the catch between those two countries. This, in itself, would not seem to be of much importance, certainly not to those of us in the East. However, it is perhaps indicative of one way in which a determined Minister could deal with the American Government. Certainly the Honourable James Sinclair takes a tremendous interest in his Department of Fisheries, and I think has done an excellent job of administering it. He unfolded the tale in connection with this Treaty which I think is worth recounting. It savours more of a battle between two industrial giants, rather than of polite usages which usually accompany government negotiations. Perhaps other Departments of Government should borrow a page out of Jimmy's book.

Here is the story as he unfolded it. When he became Minister of Fisheries four years ago, British Columbia fishermen asked him what he was going to do about the Americans catching the pink salmon. He told them he didn't know much about it, but he would think it over, and tell them the next year. During the year, he thought it over, and this is what he found. The pink salmon come in from the deep waters of the Pacific, and first strike Canadian Territorial Waters off the west coast of Vancouver Island. Here the waters are very rough, and Canadian fishermen did not have the gear with which to operate there. The pink salmon cruise down along the coast of British Columbia, then enter Puget Sound off the coast of Oregon. They then come up into Canadian waters, in the Gulf of Georgia, and then up the Fraser River. It was in the Gulf of Georgia that the Canadian fishermen caught their fish. However, the trouble was that the Canadians only got 20% of the fish, while the Americans got 80% in the Puget Sound. Jimmy had taken the matter up with the American Government, but they were not interested in negotiating any Treaty. At least the American Government may have been willing to co-operate, but the fishermen exercised pressure to prevent this from being done. Naturally the American fishermen did so, because they were catching four salmon to Canadian fishermen's one. Jimmy told the Canadian fishermen there was only one way to force a treaty, and that was to outfish the Americans. He accordingly arranged with the Canadian fishermen to purchase fifteen large fishing boats, which were for sale cheap in the United States. He helped the fishermen to raise the funds with which to purchase the boats. He then persuaded the Minister of Transport to waive the Canadian Steamship regulations, which prohibited the import of ships more than five years old. He persuaded the Minister of National Revenue to rebate 50% of the duty charged on the importation of the boats. He, himself, revoked all fishing regulations respecting the quantity and quality of gear, and told the fishermen to go out and fish. As a result, the next year, the Canadians caught 46% of the catch, and the Americans only 54%. But then Jimmy found that the fishermen were fishing only five days out of the week. He berated them for giving the Americans two clear days in which to catch fish which should have been caught by Canadians. The Fishermen's Union refused to give up the five day week, but they did agree to alternate crews so that they really could be fishing seven days a week. The next year, the Canadian catch rose substantially over 50% of the total pinks caught, and the American catch fell proportionately. Jimmy then took up with the American Government the question of negotiating a treaty respecting pink salmon. He undoubtedly did it with a perfectly straight face, and without batting an eyelash. He was not surprised, however, when within a few weeks, the Americans sent a delegation to Ottawa to negotiate a treaty. Within four days, the treaty was negotiated, and it will shortly be confirmed by the Canadian Parliament, and presumably also by the American Congress. Under this treaty, the catch in the future will be divided 50-50 between the two nations, quite an improvement over the 80-20.

The only lively debate of this session occurred one day during the week. It arose as an aftermath of the Pipe Line Debate of last year. During that debate, and again this year, Mr. Howe informed the House that there were no secret agreements whereby any of the "insiders" could get stock at a discount. Mr. Stanley Knowles discovered that there were such agreements which not only had not been disclosed to the House, but which apparently Mr. Howe had denied existed. On Monday, Mr. Howe apologized to the House for having forgotten those agreements. But by that time it was too late. Mr. Knowles moved a vote of censure on Mr. Howe, and this opened up the whole issue.

I think it is entirely ethical,

We are now looking to the budget. It is rumoured that

CARS ARE MY LINE
by Ken Hankinson

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT . . .

Sure, the lines of most cars are lower this year, and Buick is among them, more than three inches lower in some models. In most cars, that's the whole story, but with Buick it's only half the story.

It reminds me a little of the story a fellow told me of a woman he knows who borrowed the family car to drive over to her sister's for the weekend. A cop stopped her for going the wrong way on a one-way street and she was mad as blazes. "But," she fumed, "I AM going only one way."

She was right, and then again she was wrong. And that's the way it is with many of the cars with lower lines this year. The car is lower, but they've done it by putting the drive shaft through a tunnel that sticks up into the car floor like a camel's hump.

I don't blame them, really. For years everybody has thought that's the way it had to be — you could have either a flat floor but a high car or a low car and a bulging drive-shaft tunnel. That's the way it had to be — until Buick came along.

What Buick did was simple, but important. They put a second universal joint in the driveshaft near the rear axle and this accomplished what used to be impossible — a lower car AND a lower driveshaft tunnel.

They've said for years When Better Cars Are Built Buick Will Build Them. That's especially true this year. I know it already, but I'd like you to discover it for yourself by dropping in to look around.

(Edited by Gloria Mullen and Mrs. Marion Lewis)

Richard Journey has returned from Goose Bay where he has been employed.

Forrest Prime made several trips to Halifax last week on business.

Ervin Brooks, Halifax, spent the weekend at his home here.

Mrs. H. E. Wagner has returned home from the V. G. Hospital, Halifax.

Mrs. H. M. Mullen was a visitor in Digby on Tuesday.

The World Day of Prayer service observed each year on the first Friday in Lent by the women, will be held on Friday, March 8, at 3.30 p.m. in the Church of Christ. All women are urged to attend.

Roy Pugh, Halifax, was a visitor in town on Tuesday.

Mrs. Donald Glennie, Oxford, visited her father, Mr. Fred Melanson, for a few days last week.

Mrs. Parker Moore was hostess to the Young Married Women's Club at her home on Wednesday evening.

March is the month for the canvassers to be out on behalf of the Canadian Red Cross Society which serves in all parts of the world. Remember you too can serve by giving when the canvasser calls at your door.

Mrs. N. L. Ruggles spent two days last week with her daughter, Mrs. Bernard Fraser and family, Bear River.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dahlgren and baby have returned to their home after spending two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Dahlgren.

Last week we enjoyed some spring weather in the village but like everything else it had its drawbacks. The secondary roads were in very bad condition as a result of the mud and some places would have been impassable had the mild weather continued.

These are the days when pedestrians appreciate a little courtesy from motorists when the melting snow fills the road with water. It only takes the drivers a few seconds longer to go through the water slowly rather than driving through it quickly and showering everyone around with muddy water.

Miss Betty Mullen spent Saturday in Yarmouth.

Recent visitors in Digby have been Mrs. Sherman Prime, Mrs. Harry Walker and Mrs. Richmond Journey and son, Eric. Dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Hankinson on Sunday were Larry Lombard, New Edinburgh, and Miss Bernice Journey.

Visitors in town from Halifax for the charter night banquet of the newly formed Kiwanis Club included Mr. and Mrs. W. Carter, who were guests at the Goodwin Hotel; Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Doane, guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Tower, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Baker, who were entertained at the home of Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Pothier.

Gerald Journey Jr., formerly of Weymouth, but now of California, was seriously injured in an accident recently. Friends will be pleased to learn that he is recovering satisfactorily.

TEACHERS' UNION

(Continued from page 1) but without teachers there would be no doctors, lawyers or architects. Surely qualified teachers have the right to expect salaries commensurate to those of other professions. Due to the efforts of the N.S.T.U. salaries in this province are not at the shameful level they were several years ago, but in most cases they are not yet high enough. Only by paying reasonable salaries will we be able to attract into the profession the quality of teachers that we demand.

Misses Bernice Journey and Marie Bonnenfant and Mrs. Sam Journey visited Mr. and Mrs. Lee Payson, Digby, recently.

A hazard in evidence the last few days has been the sticks of pulpwood flying off the trucks loading the steamer which has been in port. Whether this can be blamed on the condition of the roads or on the fact that the loads are not secured properly is best known to the drivers. We hope which ever may be the reason that more care will be taken. On one occasion this past week a mother looked out to see several sticks falling off a truck and landing on the side of the road where just a few minutes before her young child had been standing waiting for the school bus.

Lenten Services

Commencing on Ash Wednesday Lenten services will be held Ash Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. in the Anglican Churches of Weymouth. The first service was held in St. Peter's Church and the services will alternate between St. Peter's and St. Thomas' Churches.

Each service will be followed by choir practice.

In considering the educational program the N.S.T.U. has committees studying text books, their value and use in the classroom, teaching methods and practices, and the course of study. Many suggestions made by these committees have been adopted by the Department of Education and have contributed to the improvement of the work being done in the classrooms of the province.

Since 1920 the N.S.T.U. has become a strongly-united and powerful group working for the improvement of education in Nova Scotia, and we have met with some success. There has been an improvement in educational opportunities and facilities for children, in economic conditions for the teachers and in professional status. We are working for a future when all the children in the province will receive an education adapted to their abilities; when every classroom will be staffed by dedicated, well-trained teachers; and when every teacher will receive from the public the recognition, both financial and otherwise, which they deserve.

June S. L. Schmidt, President of Annapolis Co. Local, N.S.T.U.

GETS TWO YEARS ON BREAK CHARGE

A resident of Acaciaville, some five miles from Digby, was arrested last Thursday night in connection with a daring, early evening break into the hardware store of Fritz Dakin Ltd. on Digby's main street.

The arrest came only about half an hour after the break had been reported to police by witnesses who allegedly saw the intruder inside the store. Entry was made into the store about 7:30 p.m. by breaking a window in the main door. After ransacking the premises the intruder escaped from the building by a back window. He then made his way to a local taxi stand and hired a taxi to take him to his home, where he was arrested by police.

Club Observes Birthday

The Earn and Give Club of Grace United Church observed its twenty-fourth birthday on Tuesday evening when a special invitation was issued to past presidents of the organization and other friends.

The evening was spent in games and a backward spelling bee conducted by Mrs. John Russell. Other items on the program were readings by Mrs. Clair Keen and Mrs. J. M. Wallis, vocal duet by Mrs. Gordon Ellis and Mrs. Oakley Turnbull, and a violin solo by Mrs. Elton Arnold. Miss Constance Kirkpatrick, who accompanied Mrs. Arnold, also presided at the piano for a sing song led by Mrs. Wallis.

An auction sale, when $14.35 was realized, climaxed the evening's program. Mrs. Keen was auctioneer.

Refreshments, which included a birthday cake, were served under the convenship of Mrs. Gladys Budrow, Mrs. John Abramson and Mrs. Philip Kaye. Mrs. A. J. Dillon, a past president, cut the birthday cake.

Says Full Year In School Wasted

M. S. Leonard, Digby M.L.A. (shown above) said in the throne speech debate in the provincial legislature in Halifax last Thursday that the present generation of school children is wasting a year in school under the present system which demands that a child spend one full year in Primary and another in Grade 1.

Mr. Leonard asked the government to consider revising the educational system to allow a youngster to take Primary and Grade 1 in a single year. A student would then acquire matriculation or a college degree a year sooner, and there would be more classroom space available for other pupils.

He said he had no fault to find with the present curriculum in provincial schools, but the emphasis today, as in the past, should be on quality of instruction, first, and quality of schools, second. He said he believed in the principle of consolidation of high school grades, but not in municipalities where it was not wanted.

Turning to industry, Mr. Leonard said that progress made by Weymouth Industries Ltd., a boat-building firm established several years ago, was proof that industry could progress in Nova Scotia.

But the voluntary liquidation last year of H. T. Warne Ltd., a lumbering firm which had employed 300 men and reached $40,000 to $50,000 production monthly, was a severe blow to Digby, he said. Mr. Leonard said a delegation planned to meet the Minister of Trade and Industry to seek assistance in having that industry restored.

He also discussed highway needs in his constituency, requesting more paving, and suggested that a new bridge be constructed to replace the old Victoria bridge over Bear River which he termed "very dangerous".

World Day Of Prayer Services Held

Taking as her topic the theme for the World Day of Prayer Service, "Who Shall Separate Us?", Mrs. Lieutenant Colonel A. W. Dixon, Halifax, delivered an inspiring address at the service held at Grace United Church on Friday afternoon.

The service was opened by Mrs. James Brooks, who in a short reading told of the beginning of the World Day of Prayer Service, and its continuation through the years. The service for the present year, she said, was planned by Serena Vassady, formerly of Hungary. Other leaders for the service on Friday were Mrs. Hugh Vincent and Mrs. Raymond Lent.

The Scripture was read by Mrs. Milton Atkinson, and prayers were offered by Mrs. Elton Arnold, Mrs. J. J. Brittain, Mrs. Oakley Turnbull, Mrs. H. Y. MacLean and Mrs. Clarence Bradley.

Mrs. E. C. Churchill and Mrs. Reginald Weir rendered a beautiful duet, "Be Thou Near", and Mrs. J. M. Wallis sang as a solo "A Prayer Perfect". They were accompanied by the church organist, Miss Constance Kirkpatrick. Combined choirs were in attendance.

Mrs. Philip Kaye and Mrs. John Abramson received the offering.

WESTPORT

The World Day of Prayer was observed in the United Baptist Church vestry on Friday afternoon with about fifty in attendance. Mrs. Albert Welch and Mrs. George Sharpe, Presidents of the Missionary Societies of the Church of Christ (Disciples) and United Baptist Church, were in charge of the program.

News Of Passing Received With Regret.

Word has been received here of the death at his home in Nottingham, England, of Edgar Spray, retired mine Superintendent. Mr. Spray had been ill for some time.

News of Mr. Spray's passing will be received with regret by members of the West Nova Scotia Regiment who served overseas during World War II. During the war years Mr. and Mrs. Spray's home and the homes of their married daughters were always open to the boys from Nova Scotia and many of the members of the West Nova Scotia Regiment have fond memories of leaves spent with the Spray family in Nottingham.

Two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Spray, Norman and Stanley, were killed while in the services during World War II. Stanley, who came to Nova Scotia as a young man, served with the West Novies.

Mr. Spray is survived by his wife and by four daughters, Hilda (Mrs. Cyril Moffett), Ethel (Mrs. George Chettle), Edith (Mrs. Charles Caulton), Margaret (Mrs. Norman O'Toole). All live in or near Nottingham.

Mrs. Spray visited her son, Stanley, in Digby in 1938 and Ethel (Mrs. Chettle) visited here in 1956.

Warne Plant Problem Discussed With Government Officials

Mayor Gordon R. Turnbull of Digby, lead a four-man delegation representing the Digby Town Council and Board of Trade, that appeared before Premier Stanfield and Trade and Industry Minister E. A. Manson yesterday morning in Halifax.

Mayor Turnbull presented a brief concerning the matter of the H. T. Warne lumber and box mill here which has been closed since the firm went into voluntary liquidation last June, throwing some 300 men out of work in the Digby area.

It is understood the brief asked the government's assistance in bringing about an early reopening of the plant. Effect of the long shut-down of the mill and box making plant on the economy of the town and area was stressed, it is understood.

According to information, it also expressed that more than one-third of the production of the Warne mill in box shooks has been lost to the province with orders going to Upper Canadian and out-of-the-province firms since the Digby firm closed. The Warne plant produced, it is understood, some 4,000,000 feet of box shooks annually and about 2,000,000 feet of lumber. Started in 1894, the Warne firm was founded by H. Tupper Warne, pioneer lumberman and industrialist of Western Nova Scotia. When the lumber firm located in Digby in 1916, after operating in Hants county, the Warne enterprise employed only 25 men. The business expanded however, and when it closed in June of last year 120 were employed in the woods, 75 in the box factory and 65 in other activities of the firm.

Breadwinners of 30 families in the town of Digby were employed at the Warne plant. From a small mill in Digby in 1916 the firm expanded so that some 7,000 acres of land in Western Nova Scotia were included in the Warne firm holdings at the time of the liquidation.

Members of the delegation that conferred with the Premier and Trade and Industry Minister included Digby Trade Board President, C. M. Levy; Trade Board Vice-President Vincent Snow and Deputy Mayor Norman D. Wright. Also present was Digby M.L.A., M. S. Leonard.

V.O.N. Reports On T.B. Institute

Miss Ellen Murphy, V.O.N. for Digby Branch, gave an interesting report at the regular meeting of the Board on Tuesday on the Institute for the Care of Tuberculosis Patients, which she attended in Halifax in February. Her report dealt with the nursing care of the patient in the community and in an institution and stressed that T.B. be cured in a sanatorium. The necessity of educating the patient and nurse in understanding and fighting the disease was pointed out.

Miss Murphy reported that 124 home visits to patients were made in February, 45 of which were for bedside care. Twenty-six new patients were admitted.

Donations of $20.00 from St. Patrick's Convent and $50.00 from a friend were acknowledged.

The fund raising committee named for the month of April included Mrs. John Keen (con- venter), Mrs. D. G. Black, Lieut. and Mrs. Clarence Bradley, Mrs. L. C. Carson and Mrs. E. C. Churchill.

The offer of Mrs. John Keen, on behalf of the Nursing Committee, to form a telephone committee for six months, was accepted by the Board. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Paul Snow and Mrs. Chas. Hersey.

New members appointed to the Board were welcomed on Tuesday by the president, Rev. E. C. Churchill.

Clare Board Appoints Committees

Brian Meagher, director of fisheries for Nova Scotia, of Halifax, was guest speaker at the last meeting of the Clare Board of Trade.

Mr. Meagher stated that the Maritimes imported 30,000,000 pounds of wet salted cod in 1956 and Nova Scotia imported approximately 85 percent of this amount. The imported fish was from Newfoundland. He also stated that the trend of N. S. fishermen was towards larger fishing boats and the Fishermen's Loan Board has given great assistance.

The boat building yards have been employed constructing fishing boats and employ approximately 1,000 men. There are nine large boat yards and about 80 small builders in Nova Scotia.

The department has engineers to assist the fishermen and their advice is sought by many. Navigation courses have been given in different fishing areas with one having taken place at Church Point in 1956. A navigation training school will be opened at Pictou which will be available to the young fishermen.

Adelard Comeau, of Meteghan, fisheries officer, stated that the total catch of fish of all sorts in 1956 was 89,315 cwts. for a value of $477,381.00 which was an increase of over $120,000.00 over 1955. He stated that the lobster catch would probably be about the same in 1957 as in 1956. The lobster catch in 1956 was 5,166 cwts. for a value of $284,459.00. The next highest catch was in herring with 50,038 cwts. caught for a value of $61,050.00.

Dr. Julius Comeau of Meteghan, chairman of the Acadian Festival Committee, gave a brief account of the program planned for the festival slated for August 8 to 15.

The committee is composed of Kenneth Weaver, Bellevue's Cove; Gerard d'Entremont, Meteghan Station, and Albert Melanson, Church Point.

This committee will appoint other sub-committees to assist in the organizing of the programs. The board of trade intends to make this a great year and the Acadian Festival will be bigger and better than last year. A grand parade of decorated cars and floats is planned for one of the days. The parade is expected to be a big affair and work has commenced to get the plans in order.

Committees appointed were: Fisheries, Adelard Comeau, Meteghan; Urban Bellevue, Bellevue's Cove; and Bernadin Comeau, Saunierville.

Forestry Products, Denis (E. M.) Comeau, Meteghan; Basil Bellevue, Bellevue's Cove; Raymond Bellevue, Concession, Industrial Development, Ernest F. LeBlanc, Church Point; Desire Comeau, Meteghan; Al- phee Bellevue, Bellevue's Cove; Tourist and Publicity, Albert Melanson, Louis Thibodeau, Church Point; Gerard d'Entremont, Meteghan Station; Emile Theriault, Bellevue's Cove.

The average Canadian Teacher's salary in 1956 was $2,950.

STORY OF HYDRO PLANT SALE DENIED

Denial of a report that the Digby County Power Board is carrying on negotiations with the Nova Scotia Power Commission for the sale of the Digby Board's hydro-electric system to the Power Commission was made here last Friday by an official of the Digby Power Board.

The denial by the Power Board official came in response to a story carried last week by a Yarmouth newspaper that "negotiations have been under way between the government power board and the Digby organization for the sale of the Sissiboo development to the province." (The Sissiboo is the river on which the generating facilities of the Digby County Power Board are located.)

The Digby official stated that discussions had been held with the NSPC concerning the hydro-electric generating potentials of the Sissiboo River and a survey of these by Power Commission engineers had been authorized in March of last year. This survey commenced in July, he said, and is not yet fully completed.

"No negotiations have been carried on between the NSPC and the Digby Board for the sale of the generating facilities on the Sissiboo or any other part of the Digby County Power Board's hydro-electric system to the Power Commission was made here last Friday by an official of the Digby Power Board.

The matter of hydro-electric development in this area came in for considerable discussion at the last meeting of the Digby Board of Trade when a committee was appointed to look into the effects a large scale development in the Shelburne area, announced as a possibility by the NSPC, might have on further development of hydro-electric generating facilities on the Sissiboo River in Digby County.

Fears were expressed at the meeting the Shelburne development might rule out any further development on the Sissiboo River in Digby County.

Approximately $17.00 was realized by the Admiral Digby Horticultural Society on Friday evening when the members held an auction sale at the home of Miss Louise Daley, Queen St. Delbert Forrest was auctioneer.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. H. M. Warne. It was reported by the secretary, Miss Dora Warne, that more than 100 rose bushes had been ordered by members for the homes and gardens in Digby. The naming of the park project at the Cannon Bank was left over for the April meeting.

Miss Daley gave an interesting and instructive talk on the reproduction of bulbs and especially mentioned the importance of leaving the foliage to provide food for the bulb. Among other methods of caring for bulbs, Miss Daley dealt with their storage and the type and care of the soil for planting.

Since Dr. Hodgson left in February on a holiday to England the charge has been supplied by padres from HMCS Cornwallis. Rev. William Armitage, Weymouth, is interim chairman.

Leonard Urges Deer Herd Probe

Government appointment of a commission to investigate the "deer herd" situation in Nova Scotia was suggested in the Nova Scotia Legislature Thursday by M. S. Leonard (P.-Digby).

He said that confusion existed over whether deer were scarce or plentiful but he preferred to accept the opinion of veteran guides and woodsmen who were "seriously alarmed" over the situation rather than the word of some lands and forests officials who claimed deer were so plentiful they were in danger of starving.

The guides and woodsmen were "the real experts," he said.

Mr. Leonard said that deer herds had continued on the increase in Nova Scotia until the mid-30's when a season on deer was opened. The deer continued to increase during the war because there were not many hunters in the woods, but since the war the numbers of hunters and the size of the deer herds had increased rapidly, he said.

The increased deer kills were not indicative of a growing deer herd, he said. In 1937 there was an increase over the previous season in the kill of moose, he said, but a few years later moose became almost extinct.

Mr. Leonard urged the Department of Lands and Forests to "take heed of the situation before it is too late."

Report From Parliament Hill

GEORGE C. NOWLAN

Under the American Constitution, Congressional elections must be held on a certain fixed date, every other year. As this system once worked out, the Congressmen were elected in November, but the new Congress was not sworn in until March. The result was that Congress continued to sit for five months, very often with a substantial proportion of its Members defeated. Hence rose the expression "lame duck Session", because those still sitting, until their time had expired, were popularly called "lame ducks".

In some ways, this might be called a "lame duck Session". Our system, of course, is different from the American, because our elections are not held until after Parliament has been dissolved. But there are quite a few Members who have announced their intention not to run again, and to some extent, therefore, they are the "lame ducks". To the other Members, this Session is somewhat of a prelude to the election, and everyone is thinking of that, rather than of the Session itself. In fact, I suppose it is a safe guess to state that over one-third of the Members are away at all times during this Session, at home mending political fences. They keep coming and going, and on their return, their colleagues question them closely as to what they find in the people's minds back home.

And of course, above all, there is practically nothing for this Session of Parliament to do anyway. The Government has very carefully abstained from giving it any program which could cause controversy or arouse debate. The Government obviously wants no more Pipe Line Debates this year. In the meantime, the most discussed question about this Session is "When is it going to end?" "When do we dissolve". And always somebody has heard from the most authentic source, very confidentially, of course, that it is going to be the last week of March, the first week in April, the 10th of April, and so on. My own guess is that "the most authentic source" has not yet determined when this Parliament will dissolve. But it is obvious that it has only a few weeks' life left.

As a result of the Government's desire to keep Parliament from doing anything worthwhile, a new technique has developed this Session. Perhaps one should say that an old technique has been converted and extended far beyond what was ever contemplated in the past. I am referring to "questions". Of course Members of Parliament have always had the right to ask questions of the Ministers, on matters of "urgent public importance". In other years, perhaps five or six questions might be asked at the opening of each day's Sittings, but the Opposition has extended that this year, so that now the question period usually lasts for more than an hour. Obviously, some of the questions are not of "urgent public importance". Some days, Mr. Speaker rules sharply on these matters. Other days, he seems to ignore them, and Members can ask questions on any matters they wish. They have developed this technique, of course, in order to put the Government on the spot. Since the Government won't allow them to discuss matters they feel should be discussed, they question the Cabinet Ministers to attempt to find out at least their intentions with respect to certain subjects.

This week the Prime Minister had an especially rough time with respect to the Suez crisis. Howard Green, that lean, gaunt, stubborn Member from Vancouver, has done most of the questioning. On Friday, the Prime Minister did not do too well. In fact, one Member of Parliament was heard to say, "I think the Prime Minister ought to leave the answers to questions about the Suez to the Minister for External Affairs. And I think the Minister for External Affairs is beginning to think so too." At least, Mr. Pearson looked distinctly unhappy while the Prime Minister was attempting to deal with this subject.

Another interesting development arose out of the questions about the Suez situation on Wednesday. In answering Mr. Green, the Prime Minister admitted that it might become necessary for the United Nations to use force in the Suez.

Everybody gets a bit run-down now and then, tired-out, heavy-headed, and maybe bothered by backaches. Perhaps nothing seriously wrong, just a temporary condition caused by excess acids and wastes. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys, and so help restore their normal action of removing excess acids and wastes. Then you feel better, sleep better, work better. Get Dodd's Kidney Pills now. Look for the blue box with the red band at all drug stores. You can depend on Dodd's.

Big Game In The Province

Deer Aging: The Department of Lands and Forests aged 2,366 deer between the years of 1950 and 1955. From this aging program the results for the province were found to be: fawns 18%, yearlings 28% and adults 54%. For 1956 the numbers remain approximately the same. There appears to have been a smaller fawn crop toward the northeast section and a better crop in the southwest section.

Deer Kill Figures up to and including Jan. 15, 1957—

As figures on the deer kill were not complete at the time of the report it is expected that the final total kill for 1956 in the province will be over 35,000 deer. Perhaps some of the reasons for a drop in the number of kill this past year resulted from a drop in license sales, a very dry season, the woods being noisy, and the hunting difficult. "There was much publicity given to hunting accidents and to a reported scarcity of deer. Resident license sales were down. Yet, when the shooting was over and returns (up to January 15, 1957) were counted, we find that the reported kill to date is over 32,000 and the reported purchase of deer hide buyers' licenses is over 20,000. This figure does not include purchases by full-time fur buyers."

The winter of 1955-56 was unusually severe and therefore resulted in much loss of deer due to starvation. "... if the hunters of Nova Scotia cannot manage to harvest the available surplus during the autumn deer season, severe winters are going to continue to take a heavy toll. There were too many deer in Northeastern Nova Scotia after the season ended in 1955. The proof lies with the carcasses in the woods."

As of January 15, Yarmouth county was the only county in the province reporting a resident kill greater than that of 1955. It is believed that when all reports are in an increase will show in the counties of Queens, Shelburne and Digby. In Annapolis, Kings and Lunenburg counties we find they are down by over 300 deer each.

"The future of the deer herd cannot be foretold with any certainty, but with the example offered by the year 1952 before us, a few probabilities can be suggested. The slow decrease in kill in the southwest appears to have been halted, or nearly so. In the northeast and on Cape Breton Island losses occurred during a time of deep snow. Food supplies were thus partially protected and the herd reduced. The response to be expected would be that rapid recovery, at least for a year or so until the herd again catches up with the food supply, or we have another severe winter. These two factors work together. When food is plentiful, it requires a hard winter to cause trouble. As food decreases, or deer increase, milder winters can cause the same trouble."

Bears
Bears killed between April 1, 1955 and March 31, 1956 in Digby County totalled 10 and in Annapolis County 15. A total of 172 were killed in the province.

Moose
A moose survey was carried on during 1956 with the purpose of determining the moose population in our province, finding winter yarding areas, assessing the density of moose population in different areas and to use the information gathered in making appropriate management measures. As a result of this survey the following are the conclusions drawn:

(1) Moose are present and increasing throughout the counties of Cumberland, Colchester, Pictou, Antigonish, Guysborough and Halifax.

(2) North Colchester County has the greatest density of moose to be found in the above counties. This density appears to be comparable to that of the period 1930-37.

(3) The population in North Colchester is utilizing heavily the forest regeneration which is replacing the Yellow Birch stands lost due to birch "die-back."

(4) The present abundance and variety of winter food for moose in North Colchester will remain available for a few years only under present conditions; then it can be expected to decrease due to (1) utilization by moose and (2) natural growth above the reach of moose.

Thesis Wins First Prize

Douglas G. Hubley, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hubley, of Bridgewater, N. S., honor graduate of the Bridgewater high school and now a senior student in civil engineering at the University of Toronto, won first prize in the preparation and presentation of his thesis at the Civil Club University of Toronto annual dinner last week. OBITUARIES

John Ford

Many friends of John Ford will learn with deep regret of his sudden passing at North Sydney from a heart attack after he was called out late Saturday night to locate a break in the main water line of Sydney Mines. He was one of the north side town's best known and esteemed residents and had been a utility worker the past eight years.

He was born in Ingonish 69 years ago and resided in North Sydney for 32 years. John Ford was a fine citizen and held in highest esteem by fellow citizens. He was a charter member of the shop steward with the North Sydney Civic Worker's Union.

Surviving are his wife, four daughters, Betty (Mrs. Thomas Fenton), Banff; Mrs. Kenneth Verns, Quebec; Ida (Mrs. Herb MacGuigan), Sydney; Mrs. Lorne Grandy, Kitchener, Ont.; three sons, Rev. John Ford, Anglican Church Minister, of St. John's, Newfoundland; Gordon and George, of Kitchener, Ont. Another son, the late Sylvester Ford, made the supreme sacrifice while serving overseas in World War II. Four sisters, Mrs. J. W. Derby, Westport; Mrs. Sidney Burke and Mrs.

the evening, told the meeting. "First to educate people to recognize the disease and disease can be controlled and cured. Secondly, to provide funds for research so that the cause of the disease can be discovered, and an effective remedy found. Finally, to provide welfare services to those who have the disease; giving dressings, drugs, hospital supplies, etc., providing for transportation of patients to tumor clinics. Rooms have now been opened in Halifax as well where patients may wait when attending the clinics."

On Monday evening March 11, a similar meeting was held at Smith's Cove with two different social groups volunteering to make dressings and aid in the campaign work in April. Heading these groups are Mrs. Bailey and Mrs. Harrison. The Weymouth and District Cancer Unit is one of the fastest growing and most active units for its size in Nova Scotia and merits the support of all members of the public.

THE NEW BUICKS

I was telling a customer the other day how much trouble General Motors had gone to in finding out what a cross section of the motoring public wants in their cars — and how they had equipped the '57 Buicks with the best of this year's advances.

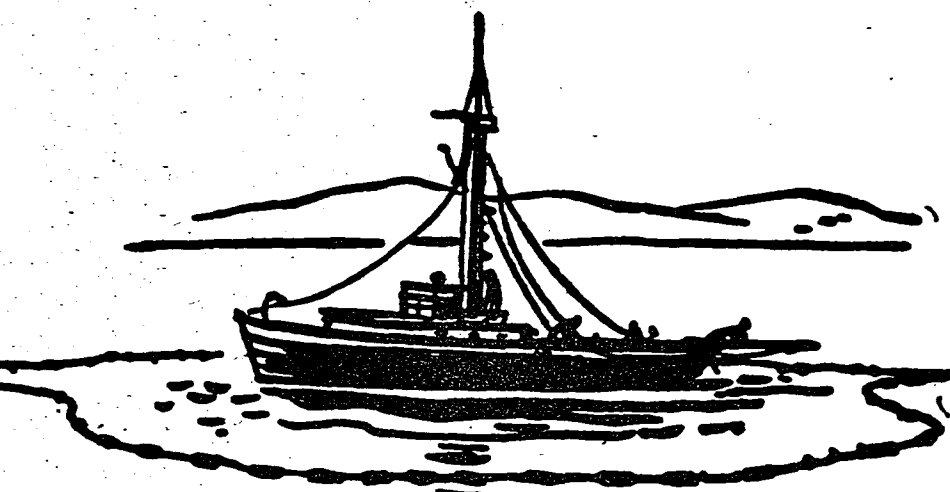

"Humph," he said, "they didn't have to go to all that trouble. Whenever I get caught in those Sunday traffic jams I meet a very cross section of the motoring public."

He stopped joshing me though when we went into the showroom to get a look at those beautiful Buicks. Everything he wanted in a car was either impossible (he wanted a red light to flash on when a policeman got within 500 yards) or else it was on the Buick.

Everyone can see just by looking how magnificently styled the Buick is, but we got to talking about little things: pesky windshield wipers that slow down when you accelerate, for instance. I just fairly puffed with pride, because I was able to point out that this doesn't happen on the '57 Buick, a new vacuum booster pump has been added on all new Buicks to stop this.

It's the unseen improvements like that you might not notice when you're looking over these new Buicks. And I'll have to admit it took me a time to discover it, I was too busy gawking at the new Estate Wagons with the hardtop styling. That's a wonderful idea, the outdoor living of the hardtop, with the real everyday usefulness of the wagon.

And the Buick this year has 48 combinations of interior trim . . . yes 48 different . . . but why don't you come by and count them yourself?

gary have proven during the past few years and the revolution that nothing could separate them from the love of God. She also made her listeners realize that they, as Christians in Canada, must work harder, be more prayerful, since as Communism spreads it means it is that much nearer to our own shores, therefore our faith must be so grounded that such seeds could not take root.
After the service a social hour was enjoyed at the home of Mrs. Hugh Morehouse. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Weldon Trask.

Digby Hydro Hits 11 Million Kw. Mark

The consumption of electric power in Digby County hit the 11,000,000 kilowatt hour mark in 1956, an increase of 13 1/2% over the consumption in 1955. This increased use of electric power was general throughout the system and is still continuing, according to J. R. Ayer, Assistant Superintendent of the Digby County Power Board. This represents one million and a quarter kilowatt hours more than the previous year and is the third "million hour" increase experienced in history, the two previous being in 1946 and 1947.

It is interesting to note that since the formation of hydro by an earlier generation thirty years ago, the consumption of electric energy in the county has increased more than 100 times. In fact the first million kilowatt hours per year was not achieved until 1937, only 19 years ago.

I am sure, says Mr. Ayer, that anyone who predicted an eleven fold increase in power consumption here in Digby County within 20 years, back in 1937, would have been considered a subject for mental examination. Probably anyone who predicted doubled consumption ten years ago would be considered a bit wild, yet this prediction would have been way low of the mark.

It is apparent, says Mr. Ayer, that we are in the middle of a trend toward greater use of electricity and can expect that our present consumption, high as it is, will itself be doubled sometime within the lifetime of the present generation.

To Hold 70th Anniversary Services

The Salvation Army warfare commenced in Digby on January 26th, 1887 and this year the local Corps of The Salvation Army celebrates seventy years of service in Digby. To commemorate this event special meetings have been planned for the weekend of March 23, 24 and 25 with Lt.-Col. and Mrs. A. Dixon, of Halifax, as guest leaders.

The Colonel and Mrs. Dixon have held many Corps appointments in Ontario and Quebec. Their Divisional commands have included Northern and Mid-Ontario Divisions, and also New Brunswick and Saskatchewan. A year ago they were appointed to the Nova Scotia Division, with headquarters in Halifax.

The Col. and Mrs. Dixon will be conducting public meetings in The Salvation Army Hall on Saturday, March 23, at 8:00 p.m., on Sunday, March 24, at 11:00 a.m., and 7:00 p.m. and on Monday, March 25, at 8:00 p.m.

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend any or all of these services.

RED CROSS HEARS DELEGATE'S REPORT

The reports of the delegates to the Annual Meeting of the Nova Scotia Division, presented by Mrs. Allan Harris, highlighted the Red Cross business meeting for March, which was presided over by Vice President Ralph Wright.

Mrs. Harris gave a most interesting and comprehensive account of the annual sessions, with special reference to many of the more outstanding features of the meetings. Of local interest was her mention of the fact that she and Mrs. Comeau had been pleased to find many Digby articles on display among the Women's Work, and were proud to state that they compared favorably with the best. Among other important information contained in the report was one fact in reference to the Blood Donor Service which is of special significance at campaign time when one considers the high cost of blood for transfusions. In some countries, including the United States, a patient is charged as much as $30 per pint for blood, yet in most of Canada the Red Cross provides it free, although the cost to the society is $7.50 per bottle. Mrs. Harris stated that this fact might be of help to the fund collectors, together with the 1957 slogan "Red Cross needs a quarter more for every dollar you gave before".

In view of the fact that Nova Scotia is faced with a cut in Red Cross services unless the campaign quota can be met.

Mr. Wright announced that April 9th had been set as the date for the next Blood Donor Clinic in Digby, and that he had had a recent visit from Mr. Robert White, Director of the Service for the N. S. Division.

Routine business was transacted at the meeting, with the Secretary's and Treasurer's reports presented by Mrs. Elton Arnold and Mrs. B. H. Ruggles respectively.

Marks 93rd Birthday

Benjamin W. Campbell, a lifelong resident of Freeport on Long Island, celebrated the 93rd anniversary of his birth on February 28th. An "at home" was held at the home of Mrs. Alton McNeill. Mr. Campbell's daughter, with whom he resides, during the afternoon and evening of his birthday. A large number of friends and relatives called to wish Mr. Campbell many more years of happiness and he also received many lovely cards, letters and gifts. Among those who attended the "at home" were Mr. Campbell's granddaughter, Mrs. Watson Crocker, and five great grandchildren.

Mr. Campbell, who enjoys good health, keeps busy with his hobby which is whitening out model boats, which he gives to his great grandchildren and to friends. One of his ship models, whittled from the wood of the old Campbell homestead in Freeport, he gave to his niece in California, Mrs. Lee Willard, with whom he corresponds regularly.

Besides his whittling, Mr. Campbell enjoys daily trips to the wharves and fish plants where changes in the industry from which he earned his livelihood for many years. He pays a daily visit to his brother, Arthur Campbell, and to friends about the village.

Mr. Campbell has two sons, Guy in Vancouver, and Clarence in Prince Rupert, B. C., and two daughters, Mrs. Alton McNeill in Freeport, and Mrs. Walter Floyd in Weymouth, Mass. He also has four grandchildren and six great grandchildren. He also has four sisters, Mrs. Charles Robinson and Mrs. Samuel Taylor, Long Island, N. Y.; Mrs. Walter Brown, Duxbury; and Mrs. Victor Porter, Weymouth, Mass.

Mental Health Group To Meet

Andrew Crook, Executive Secretary of the Nova Scotia Division of the Canadian Mental Health Association, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Digby County Mental Health Society at the Firemen's Hall, First Avenue, Tuesday evening, March 26th.

A special invitation has been extended to the public of Digby County to attend this meeting, as it is expected Mr. Crook's address will be of real interest.

It is also understood plans for future action by the Digby Society will be discussed.

The reports of the delegates to the Annual Meeting of the Nova Scotia Division, presented by Mrs. Allan Harris, highlighted the Red Cross business meeting for March, which was presided over by Vice President Ralph Wright.

Mrs. H. M. Warne reported for the Women's Work Committee that the various community, church and club groups were still cooperating in the work, with Smith's Cove and Rossway Women's Institutes and the Conway Ladies' Club having taken more materials recently, while finished articles are being returned by these groups and many others. Shipments to headquarters during the month had totalled 225 articles, with quilt materials to the value of $27.60 received. Thanks were also expressed for various donations.

In reporting for the Welfare Committee, Mrs. George Winfield stated that clothing and bedding had been provided for one family of seven, and many donations of clothing had been gratefully received during the month.

The Sickroom Loan report, prepared by Delbert Forrest, showed all the Digby Branch equipment in use except three pairs of crutches. One gatch bed had been returned in March and loaned again the next day. Four standard hospital beds, 3 bed rests, 4 gatch beds, 4 wheel chairs and 5 pairs crutches were on loan. A letter of appreciation had been received by Mrs. Harris for a wheelchair recently sent to Bear River.

A report from the Campaign Committee stated that canvassers had been secured for all districts, and the first returns had come in from the district of Bloomfield, where Mrs. Joseph Comeau had exceeded last year's total by a small amount.

Quitting was in progress during the afternoon, which concluded with the usual social hour and Ten Cent Tea.

Limanda Has Narrow Escape

The fisheries patrol vessel Limanda had a narrow escape from foundering while tied at her berth at the government wharf in Westport on Friday at about 6 a.m.

The plight of the Limanda was noticed by Stanley Moore, who was on his way out of the harbour to tend his lobster traps. He noticed the vessel seemed to be settled deeply in the water and went aboard to notify the crew. He awakened Arthur Adams and Mr. Outhouse, both of whom were unaware of any trouble.

By this time the Limanda was partly filled with water and alarms were sent out. The ship was pulled up and the pumps of the Westport fire engine brought into play. Within a short time the vessel was pumped dry.

An inspection of the ship showed that an underwater intake pipe had rusted through, allowing the hold to flood. Watertight bulkheads and the fact the situation was noticed in time prevented heavy damage to the Limanda. Quarters of the ship's captain were water soaked and starters on the motors were burned out. Damage is estimated at about one thousand dollars.

Bear River Takes Legion Trophy

The Bear River Hornets took the Digby Branch Canadian Legion Trophy when they downed Church Point in a sudden death final game in the District League hockey playoffs here last week by a score of 5-3.

The Hornets came from behind a 1-0 first period deficit to take a 4-3 lead over Church Point at the end of the second and went on to win the game 5-3.

Presentation of the cup to the captain of the winning team was made by Guy VanTassel of Branch No. 20, Canadian Legion, BESL. The Sydney L. Smith Trophy, for highest score, was presented to Gerry Comeau, of the Church Point team, and the Wallis Print Ltd. Trophy, for best league goal, went to Bob Handspiker, of the Centerville Pirates.

March Of Dimes Passes $700 Mark

Mr. Eric Caldwell, Treasurer of the Digby County March of Dimes campaign, reported this week that total collections in the March of Dimes drive this year have now passed the seven hundred dollar mark.

Mr. Caldwell said school collections amounted to $454.35, with thirty-three schools in the county so far reporting. The Porch Light canvass brought in $210.46 and collection cans placed in several Digby stores resulted in $25.55. Private subscriptions accounted for $33.70.

An appeal for schools in the county not yet reported on the March of Dimes collection to get their reports in to Mr. Caldwell has been made by Victor Cardoza, County Chairman of the March of Dimes drive.

Results to date of the drive in Digby County this year are below the total of last year's campaign. This has been attributed to several factors, chief of which is the fact campaign supplies were sidetracked during the railway strike and did not arrive in Digby until the active publicized campaign had been nearly concluded.

Large Catch Made In Annapolis Basin

One of the largest catches of sardine herring made in the Annapolis Basin by seiners in recent years was boated here Tuesday when New Brunswick seiners boats located several schools of herring in the basin with their echo sounders.

Three seiners from Wilson's Beach in New Brunswick started the search early Tuesday morning and soon located the schools. By noon close to one hundred hogheads of the silvery fish had been landed. Other seiners joined the fleet later in the day and the total of the day's catch was reported in the vicinity of one hundred and twenty hogheads or 120,000 pounds.

Value of Tuesday's herring catch is estimated in excess of two thousand dollars with the current market price of sardine herring at $20.00 a hoghead. The fish were all good sardine quality and were taken by the collection boats to New Brunswick fish processing firms.

One by-product of the herring fishing, the scales, which in past years often brought more in price than the herring themselves, is reported this year to be almost valueless. Price of the scales is reported to be ten cents a pound dry weight, landed in Yarmouth.

At noon Wednesday it appeared the run of herring in the basin had been short lived. Nearly a dozen boats continued the search but no large schools were reported. Hopes, however, were high the herring would return to the basin.

Tuesday's bustling activity on the harbour by the seiners in search of herring was reminiscent of several years ago when phenomenally high catches of herring were made in Digby (Please turn to page 10)

Trade Board Discusses Farming Problems

A thorough discussion of the farming industry in Digby County was a feature of the March meeting of the Digby Board of Trade here when agricultural leaders of the county met in session with the Digby Trade Board.

In opening the discussion William LeFort, Agricultural Representative for the county, said the development of some sort of producers' organization and the establishment of grading and cold storage facilities was a necessity if the agriculture industry was to prosper in Digby County.

He stated that although soil and climatic conditions in the county were good, Digby was not regarded as an agricultural county. This, he said, was the result of several factors including marketing and financing difficulties.

Lloyd McNeill, prominent Marshelltown farmer and Director of the N. S. Federation of Agriculture, said press reports claimed Nova Scotia was producing less than half the farm foodstuff it consumed and yet farmers were leaving the land in ever increasing numbers.

"Youth is turning its back on the farm," Mr. McNeill said, and we can hardly blame the young people." He stated it had been estimated $20,000 to $25,000 was needed to get properly established in farming. This sort of capital, he said, is hard to get and the prospect of only meagre returns is discouraging to youth.

A criticism of educational policies was levelled by Mr. McNeill when he said the present system of centrally located Regional High Schools was attracting farm youth away from the farms and into other industry. He said farmers had no fault to find with education or with developments made in education but felt more stress should be

Entertains At Tea

The home of Mrs. E. J. Theriault, First Avenue, was the scene of one of Digby's smartest social events of the season when about eighty ladies were entertained at afternoon tea on Saturday. Mrs. Theriault's home took on a definite touch of spring as the ladies, many in the latest new spring hats, entered the rooms where tulips and other flowers associated with spring were in evidence.

Assisting the hostess in receiving the guests were Mrs. A. T. Boutiller, Halifax, and Mrs. A. J. Dillon.

Presiding at the tea table centered with a beautiful potted African violet were Mrs. A. P. Pittas from 3.30 to 4.30 and Mrs. Howard Walker from 4.30 to 5.30.

Miss Ellen Murphy and Miss Molly MacLean served while Mrs. Gerald Connelly and Miss Yvonne Theriault replenished.

laid on the farming industry and its possibilities in the school curriculum.

In farming as in other businesses, Mr. McNeill said, the small operator is getting the squeeze. He said a recent U.S. survey had predicted the end of the family type farm and the establishment of huge industrial like corporations to carry on agriculture in the near future. When this happens, he said, the consumer will really pay for farm produce and returns to operators will be on a par with other industry.

Possibility of the development of some seven hundred acres of marshland at the head of St. Mary's Bay into a community pasture was suggested by Victor Cardoza. He said he had been informed this land was some of the finest in the province and would support sizeable herds of livestock.

Mr. McNeill stated efforts had been made over a period to develop this area as dyke land but absentee and disinterested ownership had hindered the project. A meeting was scheduled shortly with Mr. Henry of the Agriculture Department to go thoroughly into the community pasture plan, he said.

Following discussion of further agricultural matters a permanent committee, representing the Trade Board and Agricultural interests in the county was set up to study the problems facing the industry in this county and make reports concerning ways and means in which co-operative action by the Trade Board and agricultural groups might benefit the situation. Members of this committee are C. D. Snow, Victor Cardoza, Donald Amraut, Lloyd McNeill, Chipman Chisholm and John Roope. William LeFort and Trade Board President C. M. Levy will act ex-officio on this committee.

Public Health Staffs Meet At Yarmouth

Public health problems of Western Nova Scotia came up for discussion last week as Department of Public Health staffs from Shelburne, Yarmouth and Digby Counties met in the divisional health office in Yarmouth.

In the first morning session, chaired by D. F. Tupper, tuberculosis, polio and the school health program were discussed. Plans were made for the continuation of polio vaccination clinics in April.

In the afternoon Air Vice Marshal A. L. Morfee, Co-ordinator of Civil Defence for Nova Scotia, spoke and showed films on civil defence. Several interested persons from the town were in attendance.

The second day was devoted to particular interests of the Public Health Nurses. Several films were reviewed for use with teenage and pre-natal groups and special health classes for teenagers were discussed.

The Western Division staff conference has developed over the past two years under the direction of Dr. V. K. Rideout, Divisional Medical Health Officer, and Miss Caroline Macdougall, Supervisor of Nurses.

Others in attendance were nurses Yvonne Theriault and Georgina Yull, Yarmouth; Mrs. Kay Bruce, Shelburne; Frances Hewitt, Barrington Passage; Mary Marshall, Little Brook; Marjorie Tupper and Ella MacLean, Digby; Sanitary Inspectors D. F. Tupper and Fred Whitehouse; nutritionist Hazel Holland; and clerical staff Florence Harris, Glenda Falle and Mrs. Margaret Taylor.

List Highways Ready To Pave

In response to a question in the House, Highways Minister G. I. Smith this week tabled a list of highways in the province ready to pave. He stated 456 miles were ready or near ready for paving in 1957 at an estimated cost of nine million three hundred thousand dollars. Another 81.9 miles would be ready for paving in 1958, his return stated, at an estimated cost of $1,630,000. Total cost of paving the 546.8 miles said to be ready or near ready for paving either in 1957 or 1958 would be $10,930,000, the return stated, based on an estimate of $20,000 a mile.

In Digby County the following roads are listed as ready or near ready for paving in 1957:

Sissiboo Road from Weymouth 10.0; North Range, 6 miles to Sissiboo Road 6.0; Acaciaville, 4 miles from Trunk 1, 4.0; Second Division Rd. Saunlierville Rd. to Concession 3.0; Township Line - Old Yarmouth Road 3.0.

Home Badly Gutted

On Wednesday evening fire broke out in the home of Mr. Stanton, a house which has been unoccupied during the winter. Mr. Stanton was getting the house ready to rent to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ellis and built a fire in the furnace to heat the house and dry out the rooms. He had left the house only a few hours when neighbors noticed smoke and called the fire department at Annapolis Royal. Due to bad roads the department made slow progress and were only able to save the outside of the house, the inside being entirely gutted.

A large crowd stood by to help in case nearby homes were threatened due to wind. Fortunately it was a very calm night.

ENTERTAIN AT BRIDGE

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Harris recently entertained at two evenings of mixed bridge.

D.F.D. Activities

Committee for card party, March 25th: Buddy Barr, Frank Handspiker, Arthur Sullivan, Gerald Sanford, Tom Cleveland, Murray Baxter.

All members are requested to meet at the Fire Station at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, March 24th, for church parade. Dress will be uniforms or dress suit with uniform hat.

Winners at Monday's card party were: Door Prize, Margaret Comeau; Raffle, Tom MacInnis; Ladies' High, Mrs. S. Barnes; Ladies' Low, Mrs. J. L. Everett; Men's High, George Small; Men's Low, Carl Winchester.

A Scout group committee meeting was held in the Fire Station Monday evening to consider important matters coming up in the very near future, and to make arrangements for the annual banquet, to be held in the Fire Station on March 27th.

Work on the new kitchen has now been completed, with the exception of painting. This improvement makes work much easier, along with the fact that it will be easier to keep clean and present an attractive appearance to activities in the building requiring the use of the kitchen.

Some thought has been given regarding the forming of an auxiliary of the fire department, and from one inquiry made at a recent meeting the vote was 90% in favor of such a move. The remaining 10% were on the doubtful side. The functions of an auxiliary in the department would be beneficial to the operation of the department in general and also create added interest.

Mount Allison Has Full Time Chaplain

Mount Allison University has appointed Rev. Donald Macintosh, B.A., of New Waterford, N. S., as full time university chaplain.
President Ross Flemington in making the announcement said that whilst a few of the large universities such as Toronto, McGill and Queen's had made such appointments, this was the first in the smaller universities. Mount Allison now has an attendance of about 900 full-time students, 75% of them living in residences on the campus. It is a full time job in itself, Dr. Flemington stated, to look after the spiritual welfare of such a large community. Mr. Macintosh will devote his full time to the many phases of this work.

Mr. Macintosh was born in Sydney, the son of a greatly beloved minister, Rev. Dr. John Macintosh. He graduated from Mount Allison in arts and whilst there took a very active interest in university life as captain of the intercollegiate basketball team, manager of the football team and president of the student union. The year after he graduated he acted as dean of residence at the summer school. He then went on to Pine Hill Divinity Hall graduating in 1933 and after ordination became director of religious education at St. Andrew's Church, Halifax. He was later called to Milford Station, thence to Inverness and for the past six years has been minister at New Waterford. He married Myrtle Matheson, R.N., of Sydney, and they have three children.

Mr. Macintosh has been active in church councils and all his training, Dr. Flemington says, has been fine preparation for the new position to which he has been appointed.
Dr. Flemington went to New Waterford recently when he spoke in Calvin United Church and made his peace with the congregation for taking from them a greatly loved minister.

LARGE INCREASE ANTICIPATED

It is apparent that Canada is to have a greatly increased school enrolment in the years immediately ahead, this estimated increase being based on population figures only, not on any change in administrative practice or in public attitude towards secondary education. It is estimated that enrolment in 1966 will be 42% higher in elementary and 85% higher in secondary school grades than corresponding 1956 enrolments. To provide school seats for the extra pupils in the next decade, Canada will need about 46,000 extra classrooms and 46,000 additional staff members. At present dollar values, new elementary and secondary school buildings in the ten year period will cost $1,500,000,000; the increase in salaries for the additional teachers will amount to nearly $150,000,000.

In 1956 expenditures on elementary and secondary education in Canada were $41 per capita or just 11c per person per day. By provinces, expenditures vary from $20 per capita to $55 per capita. Expressing this variation another way, expenditures per pupil on elementary and secondary education vary from $105 in one province to $275 in another.

Report Emphasizes Role Of Education

The report of the Gordon Commission paints a rosy picture of Canada's economic progress in the next twenty-five years. The report emphasizes the vital need of trained, educated men and women to make this forecast come true so it is appropriate that during Education Week we should take a good look at our educational facilities.

Two great problems face education in Canada. First there is finance. Just to erect all the new educational buildings required across Canada in the next ten years will require an expenditure of $200,000,000 annually — and this makes no allowance for the salaries of staff for these schools.

Even more important is the question of teachers. We must have enough — and we must place more emphasis on quality. To a certain extent the two problems are related. Better salaries and better teaching facilities will help to attract better teachers.

But, most of all, we need conviction of the central importance of education in the future of Canada. In a country so blessed with natural resources, it would be folly indeed to neglect the mental and spiritual resources needed for their proper development and use. Education alone can provide them.

THE IMPORTANCE OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION

I think that sports and Physical Education in school are not a waste of time. The student in school is sitting most of the time and doesn't get much chance for exercise. Physical Education and sports provide this necessary exercise. The expression, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy", is very true. When a pupil works all day mentally and it comes time for Physical Education or sports and working physically, it is a kind of relaxation.

Physical Education and sports are also necessary for good health. It teaches the student good sportsmanship and how to get along with others. The trips that sports provide are educational and teach the students how to get along with strangers. If you are a good sport in the games and mingle well with others it promotes good will between the teams and the schools. Some students go to school for this purpose but if sports and Physical Education are used properly it can be a very interesting and helpful program. I think Physical Education and sports are just as important as some academic courses. It gives the pupils an incentive to work harder in other courses.

Fulton Logan, I.X.A.

1936 START OF CANADIAN EDUCATION WEEK

Canadian Education Week was started in 1936 to stimulate public interest in education. Until 1950 the project was an undertaking of the Canadian Teachers' Federation. Then the slogan, "Education — Every body's Business", was translated into action through joint sponsorship by a number of national organizations.

No other project in Canada has brought into effective working partnership such diversified groups as are found in the sponsoring organizations listed below. These groups want more and better education for Canadians. They are united in this appeal to all citizens to turn the spotlight on education and its contribution to Canadian life.

WHY I WANT TO LIVE IN CANADA

Though some may think I am sentimental for preferring the land of my birth, I feel that my reasons for preferring Canada above any country in the world as a place in which to live are sound.

Canada has one of the greatest gifts any country can have — a democratic government. Because of this, our government — of the people, for the people, and by the people — is constantly working for the common good. The government issues millions of dollars annually to provide the public with such things as old age pensions, children's allowances, unemployment insurance, etc. If, however, we, the people, decide that these benefits and other public services are not up to certain standards then it is our right and privilege to elect a new government by secret ballot. The party in power, realizing this fact, does its best to satisfy the people in order to stay in office. This insures less chance of corruption in the government, thus protecting the economy of the country.

Usually people are most happy in a country whose climate does not impose any or few discomforts or hindrances on daily life. Canada has, in comparison to other countries of the world, a suitable climate during the summer season. Although the winter season does provoke a great drop in temperature, often disrupting daily routines with big storms, the cold is not severe enough, by any stretch of the imagination, to force people to emigrate to countries with less severe climates. As far as I am concerned, several large storms throughout the winter months are necessary to enable people to learn to become more resourceful in emergencies.

Because of the cold climate in the north the population of Canada is centered more to the south. Therefore, Canada does not have as large a population as she would have were the north lands more easily inhabitable. I feel that this situation invites the ingenuity of people of the present or the future to devise a way in which living in the northern extremities of Canada would be practicable.

Canada's population consists largely of two nationalities, French and English, with a large sprinkling of other nationalities. This element of mixed nationalities is most noticeable in the western provinces. However, there is one aspect of this situation which is worthy of note. Although the French and English have not mixed, to a great extent, in some parts of Canada, neither have they clashed. They are two nationalities living side by side in peace.

To the person who is seeking an education with a firm foundation, the schools in Canada can provide just that. Then there are the universities of which Canada can well be proud. Such names as Acadia, Dalhousie, St. Francis Xavier, Mount Allison, and McGill have graduated from their walls many great scholars.

Opportunities do not end with a chance for a good education in Canada. In fact, they go further, much further. Any type of occupation to suit the needs of any type of person can be found in Canada. The government also employs thousands of people through the Civil Service. These are the opportunities of the present, but the future holds more opportunities in store. Canada is still a young nation with most of her development yet to take place. No doubt many new sources of wealth will be found in Canada before too many years have passed.

Another good point in Canadian life is that we are free from racial discrimination, a narrow-mindedness very apparent in our neighbour to the south of the border.

Canada also has as many entertainments and as much social life as a nation's people could possibly want to indulge in during leisure time. Although a Canadian film industry is lacking, imported films are always available for those who enjoy this type of entertainment. So Canada is pretty well equipped to satisfy the needs of the majority of Canadians.

In view of Canada's almost limitless opportunities, not to mention her beautiful scenery and her democratic way of life, I cannot imagine why anyone would choose to live elsewhere.

MY AMBITION

When I grow up and finish school I'd like to be a teacher. I've always thought the chalk and rule —

Could be my special feature. To teach all children large or small, From primer class to high. Has always been my fondest wish —

Do you suppose that I Could ever reach to such a goal? Well, I guess, I can try.

Betty Ryan, VI-B.

NEWS ITEMS

The first event of the school year to arouse general interest was the election of officers for the Senior and Junior Students' Councils. As a result the following were elected:

Senior Council Officers:
President, David Leonard.
Vice-Pres., Don. Blenkhorn.
Treasurer, Eleanor Doucette.
Secretary, Shirley Potter.

Junior Council Officers:
President, Fulton Logan.
Vice-Pres., Linda Doucette.
Treasurer, Patsy Doucette.
Secretary, Donna Gillespie.

The annual magazine drive was launched during the latter part of October. At the termination of the magazine drive a few weeks later, the total amount of money received from subscriptions exceeded $1100. As commission for these sales the Students' Council Treasury received $390. These funds are being used to finance extra-curricular and worthwhile activities which are not always provided for in the annual school estimates.

A constant source of speculation among the students was the south wing extension which was still under construction during the first half of the school year. After returning from the Christmas vacation the students in the senior grades were transferred to the completed wing. By this time everyone is thoroughly acquainted with the modern conveniences the new wing provides.

Social activities play an important part in school life. This year, however, the "Open House" dances have not been emphasized as the first two held were not supported by a sufficient number of students. One "Open House" in the form of a Sadie Hawkins' dance, which was sponsored by the Fundy Light staff, proved very successful. Another successful dance held this year was the formal "Valentine Ball" which, incidentally, was also sponsored by the Fundy Light staff. For this occasion the High School orchestra was in attendance as it invariably is when a musical element is required.

The Girls' Hi-Y club within the school involves a great number of girls from both the Senior and Junior grades. This worthy organization undertakes many money-raising and service projects throughout the year. Hi-Y Day was an event, under the sponsorship of the club, which proved successful. Activities during this day included a devotional service conducted by Hi-Y members. A variety show held on that day received hearty applause for its interesting and hilarious numbers.

Activities such as photography and chess have an enthusiastic following. Because of the chance to participate in these activities several expert chess players and photographers are being produced.

The Drama Group, which in the past has always had an ardent following, did not have enough support to produce a play this year. However, a play which is now in progress will be put on by a group from grade X. Since this same group will be in school for two more years the drama group will have a nucleus on which to build.

Debating has always been a highlight in school activities. This year the debaters drew a bye into the second round schedule. Because the team lost to Annapolis in this debate it could go no further.

The above has been a resume of events that occurred during the first seven months of the school year. Following are highlights of events to take place at DRHS within the next three months.

On March 18th the students began writing their second set of examinations, which will be concluded well in advance of the Easter vacation. In April the grade XII class is going to Halifax on a tour of the city under the guidance of their Social Problems teacher. The students of grades VII, VIII and IX go on their annual outings in June.

June is also the month of the annual graduation formal. This, of course, is to be followed by the graduation exercises which bring the 1956-57 school year to a close.

WHAT I WANT TO BE WHEN I GROW UP

When I grow up I would like to be a dancer. I take dancing now and I like it very much. I try to learn the steps as best as I can. I love going to practice on Saturday. It just makes you feel wonderful when the teacher turns on the record player and you practice your dances and try to get them right. Of course things don't always go right, things might happen, you could get sick and not be able to go in a recital, or you might not get in the dance you want to, but you have to take things as they come to be a good dancer and you have to practice each day and try to improve it.

THE AMETHYST

Each second Friday is the date, When the students publicate. And if the readers only knew, All the work the staff goes through.

Our Editor shouts and pulls her hair, When finding the material isn't there. The deadlines are posted upon the wall, And how many are met? — none at all.

The copy editor can sometimes wait, Although the news is always late. Reading items she can be found, Correcting mistakes that come around.

Although the news is very slim, Our two sports editors are really trim. Curling on weekends they try to do, And turn up on Monday all black and blue.

Our humor girl is in a frizzy, She digs for gossip until she's dizzy. In the funnies she prints the humor, And in the gossip she prints the rumor.

With correcting fluid and dictionary, The typist's fingers never tarry. For on the stenils she prints the news, Even including the editor's views.

The feature editors are really great, And their efforts we congratulate. Read "In The Spotlight" and "Vox Populi," "Meet The Teachers" and "What Will I Be?"

The business manager must calculate, And handle figures really great. To keep the paper out of debt, And order supplies that we must get.

With stylist, stencil and gesso, The artists never give up hope. To get the drawings looking good, And suit the topic as they should.

Our circulation manager has quite a vocation, To sell the papers on this location. Then go down through all the streets, And sell to everyone she meets.

The work and toil of our class reporters, Prove to be our best supporters. They pass in humor, gossip and news, More of their items we always can use.

Through the help of our staff advisor, We make our columns much the wiser. He has the patience to help us out, We need this help without a doubt.

Round and round our presses go, The operator is covered from head to toe, With ink and stencils and paper too. He counts the pages as they go through.

After school and doing fine, You surely can find the assembly line. Stapling papers and straightening about, When the last one's done, they're all tucked out.

Thus goes the paper from week to week, More news and gossip each one of us seek. Not to make it better, but BEST. We all support the AMETHYST.

WHY I DON'T WANT TO LIVE IN CANADA

One of the stories of how the name "Canada" came into existence is that when Spaniards sailed up the west coast of North America one of the stops which they made was at what is now British Columbia. On not seeing very much there, one of them scribbled on a rock two Spanish words which meant, "there is nothing here." Eventually, these two words became contracted and the "Canada" was derived and soon was chosen as the name of our country.

Apparently, our forefathers must have been very pessimistic in order to keep for the name of their country one, which in the original, meant that there wasn't anything here. Since that time Canada has supposedly gone ahead and earned herself the title of: "The Land of the Future." This sounds all very well, but the future had better hurry and come or else Canada is going to be a United Nations with all the native born Canadians in the United States.

Geographically, Canada has a fairly good position. She is situated where many air routes pass over. Also she has many good ports. However, the climate is such that vast areas of her north are not inhabitable and therefore causes her population to be hemmed in along a small strip between the United States border and the cold lands of the north. Canada's geography has been a drawback to the development of the Atlantic provinces in comparison with Ontario and Quebec. The geography of these provinces has more or less shut them off from these markets. Since we live in the Atlantic provinces this is a good reason for not wishing to remain in Canada.

In Canada there are two distinct groups: the French, for the most part living in Quebec; and the English. These two groups have been a source of friction and disagreement ever since Wolfe took Quebec in 1759. Some like to describe the French as the "romantic habitants of Quebec" but they do not seem so romantic when someone brings up the idea of compulsory military service. This is a cause for Canada's armed forces being below the number at which the government and military officials would like to see. The English and French are always having trouble over something so as not to impose anything on the French to deprive them of their religion and customs. This does not promote good feelings in any country.

It is very hard for a person to obtain public recognition in Canada. He must go to the United States or England to make himself famous and then Canadians will proudly boast of how he comes from Canada, but yet they have done nothing to encourage him. It is very hard, therefore, for a person to obtain recognition in his field in Canada.

There are opportunities in Canada for people at good wages but the industries in which they are acquired are for the most part controlled by American companies and it is very difficult for a person to work to the top of the company in which he is employed. Canada has great ore and mineral deposits, but instead of trying to develop them and set up new industries to manufacture them, they mine the ore and ship it to the United States and let them manufacture it.

The opportunities for writers, actors, dancers and musicians in Canada are few. These artists must go elsewhere to seek employment and fame. This is certainly no incentive for young artists to develop their skills or stay in Canada.

Practically all Canada's entertainment is second-hand American material. It is the same way with the sport of Canada with the exception of football and hockey. It seems to me it would be better to go to the United States where you could feel you were watching the entertainment provided by your fellow countrymen.

The government of Canada is influenced by both Britain and the United States. We might just as well be in either Britain or the United States where we could either be British or American instead of trying to be both. We have a government which has been in office for 23 years, certainly this is enough for a Canadian to want a change.

Perhaps the above are some of the reasons why Canada's biggest export is college graduates and her biggest import is football players.

NEW CNR LINE — By autumn of 1957 trains will be running on a new $3,000,000 spur line being built by Canadian National Railways in northern New Brunswick. Twenty-three miles long, the railway will link the Heath Steele base metal lines at Little Tomogons River to the CNR's Montreal - Saint John - Halifax main line at Bartibog. Construction is being carried on through the winter months and about 10 miles of the line are now ready for tie and track laying. Modern Construction Company of Moncton has the contract for the building of the sub-grade, and CNR crews will carry out the track-laying work. Top photo shows big machines chewing through a deep rock-cut near the Heath Steele mine site. At left is seen construction of a trestle across the East Portage River, on the Bartibog end of the line. The opening up of the Heath Steele ore deposits is one of the major mining developments in Canada in recent years. (CNR Photos)

Interesting Letter Received

(The following is part of a letter received by Mrs. Waters Comeau, Rossway, from a friend Mrs. Mildred Peters, now living in the West in the Peace River district. Her letter will be interesting to her many friends in Digby County, especially Digby Neck. Mrs. Peters was a former resident of Centreville.)

"You asked me to write what I thought of this part of Canada, so I shall give you 'an Easterner's impression of the West.' Of course, the general lay of the land is very different from the East, it is so flat, one can see great distances in all directions. Trees are rather scarce but many ranchers have set out a few rows around their buildings as a wind and snow break. The farther north one goes, the more 'bush' one finds, aspen, poplar, willow, and a few spruce, the farther north the more spruce.

One can easily believe this part of Canada was at one time under water because the stones are what we call beach rocks. I saw fossilized clams which were found in Alberta, also fossils of prehistoric animals, including vertebra and other bones of dinosaurs. These were in collections, one was in the museum in Calgary, where about seventeen different prehistoric animals had been reconstructed, and were placed intermittently through the shrubbery, they are all ferocious looking objects.

The northern part of Alberta made a deeper impression on me, because it was so very different from what I had visualized. I visited a month in the Peace River district with my cousins, Ella and Flossie, daughters of the late Solomon and Cornelia Graham, who used to live in Centreville on the property now owned by Leonard Hubley. The family moved to Saskatchewan in 1910 and this was the first time since that we had got together. We enjoyed every minute, finding we had so many like interests. I was there in October and was very interested in harvesting operations, so very different from what I had expected. The new combines drive through a grain field, cut, thresh, clean the grain, put it in a compartment of its own, cut the straw and scatter it. The one I saw working cut a 14 ft. swath and it didn't take too many hours to finish a 50-acre field.

I wasn't prepared for such modern homes and conveniences for living so far north. Even the stores carry many luxury items which were not dreamed of when the first settlers went down north over the famed 'Edson Trail' about 1913. These stores are on a par with our eastern stores, imagine my surprise at finding that the shelves and counters held various goods, one Peace River (town) has three jewellery stores and is a fair sized town. On our way to this town from Grande Prairie, distance 131 miles, we experienced a soil storm, with 50 m.p.h. gale. It rolled up like a huge grey cloud and crossed the highway, obscuring the sun and necessitated driving with lights. Several times this happened during the drive, but we learned later that this storm came over a large area, even a couple hundred miles away. It was kind of weird. The banks of the Peace River are steep and one week later there was a landslide which did much damage.

The roads are very straight, on account of the land having been surveyed in lots of 160 acres each. There aren't any rocks or stones here when a field is plowed, and I remarked it one time. The reply was "Ha, we have stones enough." I said, "Well, but you should see the stones in Nova Scotia!" Water for drinking purposes is scarce, wells have to be drilled from 200 to 300 feet deep. There are rivers and lakes everywhere, and nearly everyone who raises cattle makes a dug-out which fills with snow and water in spring and holds it during the summer for the stock.

Near Dawson Creek, B. C., I called on Douglas Morehouse, who formerly lived in Centreville, we had been school mates together. He has a sister, Esther Howard, living in Tiverton. Another former Centreville resident I saw was Abner Graham, who came west soon after he returned from overseas following the First World War. He was interested in hearing of the old home town and the old fishermen with whom he worked for several years. He and a son keep house and farm, and they preserved and canned about 200 quarts of vegetables, fruits and berries. Abner has a sister living near Bear River and a brother in Westport.

One day Ellis took me to call on a Mr. Cochrane, who has a collection of rocks, fossils and various minerals, quartz, agates, jade amethyst, crystal, etc. I recall there was an article about him in the Family Herald a year or so ago. He also collects juniper roots and does carving, also makes violins from this wood. The top is in several pieces and is a beautiful piece of work. At that time he had two violins hanging inside the radio, he said to teach them music—it was something about vibrations. Mr. Cochrane also has shells from foreign countries. He was very interesting. I was there two hours, but it would take a full week to look everything over and hear about it. I was the first Nova Scotian to sign his guest book.

While in Teepee Creek I was taken to call on a family of Frasers who had recently won a Master Farm Award, they were one of five families in Alberta to receive this honor along with a thousand dollars.

Grande Prairie Radio Station, "the voice of the Mighty Peace" has a rather unusual program called "Hospital Bulletin" which is on every evening around 7 o'clock, giving names of patients admitted that day, those discharged, births, conditions of certain patients, etc., and it is a very popular program.

Another thing I was surprised to see was trailer parks and sales. One thinks of them as belonging to a more tropical climate, but many are occupied, especially around construction work. And northern Alberta has a temperamental climate; about October 9th we sat in a grain field and ate dinner, for additional clothing we wore sweaters, but from the 20th to the end of the month there were several nights below zero. Yet, I ate tomatoes ripened in Clairmont, about 580 miles north of Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. Clair Milburn, who have spent the winter with her sister, Mrs. Chipman Saunders, and Mr. Saunders, left on Saturday for Boston, Mass., where they will spend two weeks with another sister, Miss Anna MacKay, before returning to their home in Craik, Sask.

Thirteen tables of 45's were again enjoyed at the Community Hall on Thursday evening. High score prizes were awarded this week to Mrs. Owen Irving and Weldon Trask, while the low score prizes went to Mrs. Clair Milburn and Dr. D. A. Stewart. Mrs. Kenneth Merritt was winner of the lucky cake. Refreshments were served by the ladies.

Dr. F. G. Morehouse has returned home after spending the winter months with his daughter, Mrs. Gordon Quigley, and family, Halifax.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hebb and family, of Port Royal, were Sunday guests of her sister, Mrs. Godfrey Crowell, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Mitchell, of Middleton, and Mrs. Ingram Neely, of Nictaux, were guests during the week of their mother, Mrs. Carrie Mitchell, and also visited with other relatives.

Mrs. Marion MacKay and daughter, Miss Mary Elizabeth MacKay, of Kentville, were weekend guests at the home of Mrs. C. H. Saunders, and Mr. Saunders.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Barteaux, of Middleton, visited during the week at the home of Mr. Barteaux's sister, Mrs. Ralph Morehouse.

Miss Gertrude Warne was hostess to a surprise birthday party on Saturday evening in honor of Mrs. Margaret Saunders. Mrs. Saunders, who had

BEEFY—ONION NOODLE SOUP
1 can (1½ cups) condensed beef soup
1 can (1½ cups) condensed beef noodle soup
1 can (1½ cups) condensed onion soup
2 cans water
Blend soups. Heat and simmer about minutes.

CREAMY SAUCE TOPS TURKEY SANDWICH

Top turkey or chicken sandwiches with a deluxe creamy sauce for can't-be-beat flavour. Use condensed cream of chicken soup (or mushroom soup) for the sauce. Just blend ½ cup milk with 1 can (1½ cups) soup. To serve, place slices of turkey or chicken on hot buttered toast. Spoon a generous amount of hot sauce over each. Pass cranberry relish, celery and olives to complete the repast. Remember hot coffee too.

TOP CHOPS WITH V-8 SAUCE

Cold weather is pork chop time. To set the chops up as real company fare, pour on about 1 cup of V-8 juice as the meat cooks. Use this amount for 4-6 chops. Let them simmer about 45 minutes on until tender, depending on the thickness of meat. Check the frying pan now and then to see if more liquid is needed. Vegetable juices put "new charm" into pork chops—a savoury meal with fluffy mashed potatoes and broccoli in lemon sauce.

CHICKEN BREASTS AU GRATIN

The French may be famous for their sauces, but this dish will win bravos for elegance with a minute's effort. Place 1 pound chicken breasts in single layer in buttered shallow baking dish (about 10" x 6" x 2"). Pour 1 can (1½ cups) condensed cream of chicken soup over chicken. Bake one hour 350°F. Let 10 minutes of cooking time sprinkle ½ cup (2 ounces) shredded mild processed cheese over chicken—makes 3-4 servings.

To Sponsor Assessors' School

The Honourable R. Clifford Levy, Q.C., Minister of Municipal Affairs, announced March 7th that the annual Nova Scotia Assessor's School, sponsored by the Department of Municipal Affairs, would be held in Halifax the week of May 6th to May 10th.

In making the announcement Mr. Levy placed particular emphasis on the importance of assessment as the foundation of Municipal Finance in all rural and urban municipal governments of Nova Scotia. He said that in order to obtain a fair distribution of the burden of municipal taxation it is most important that there be a fair and equitable basis of assessment of all property in all municipalities. This can only be achieved, he said, by assessors who are fully acquainted with their duties and who possess a wide knowledge of property value and the procedure of sound assessing practices.

Mr. Levy expressed the hope that all cities, towns, and municipalities would be represented at the Assessor's School and in this regard he has written personally to all Mayors and Wardens of Nova Scotia urging them to encourage their assessors to attend.

Mr. Charles F. Kilburn, City Assessor of Fredericton, New Brunswick, and a recognized authority in the field of assessment, will be the Chief Instructor at the School. Mr. Levy said that Mr. Kilburn, who has had wide experience and is highly regarded in his profession, would be given able assistance by Nova Scotia leaders in the field of municipal law, architecture, property appraisal, Municipal Government, public relations, forestry and agriculture. The school is under the direction of Mr. W. E. Moseley, Q.C., Deputy Minister of Municipal Affairs and Mr. H. S. MacGlashen, Director of Assessment for the Province.

Mr. Levy said that it was quite evident that Municipalities were becoming increasingly aware of the importance of proper assessment systems. In this regard he pointed out that last year fifty-eight of the sixty-six towns, cities and municipalities were represented at the one-week school. It is his hope that the attendance this year will be even greater.

This year will be the first time the school, during certain periods, will be conducted in two parts — one part to consider rural problems such as forest lands and farm lands, and the second part to consider problems that only concern the city and town assessor.

While Mr. Levy expressed gratification that several units of municipal government had taken very important steps to improve assessments in recent years, he said that there was much that remained to be done. It is his hope that the Assessor's School would aid assessors and Municipal Governments to further a much needed improvement.

Your family doctor is going to school again!

Hundreds of busy family doctors are now committing themselves to many hours of extra study each year so that their skills and knowledge will keep pace with the latest developments in modern medicine.

Already, over 1400 family doctors throughout the country have pledged themselves to such studies by joining the College of General Practice of Canada.

This College, which can do so much for the health of all Canadians, was founded two years ago by the Canadian Medical Association — and is being aided in its work by substantial grants from the life insurance companies in Canada.

Family doctors treat four out of five patients themselves. But they must also know when a specialist is needed and how best to work with him for the greatest benefit to the patient. In all these activities, they welcome the guidance of the College.

By aiding in this progressive development, the life insurance companies in Canada are actively helping to create a healthier life for all Canadians.

ONLY FOUR GET DEGREE

Of 100 Canadian children in Grade VI, approximately 15 drop out of school before they reach Grade VIII and thus do not finish their elementary education.

Of the 85 who remain, only 70 enter Grade IX which is usually considered the beginning of high school. About 40 of these — or over half — drop out during the next four years, leaving only 30 who graduate from high school.

The ranks are thinned even further at this stage as only 20 go on to further training — senior matriculation, nursing, teaching, etc.

Of the original 100, only five enter university and one falls by the wayside, leaving only four who win through to a university degree.

Report From Parliament Hill

GEORGE C. NOWLAN

March 16, 1957.

Many of you will know that this column had to be prepared on Wednesday, due to my return to the Constituency at the end of the week. Therefore, I will not attempt to discuss the budget in this report, as ordinarily I would do, because, like you, this year, I have read the highlights in the daily papers and heard them discussed by the radio commentators. In a later report I hope to discuss some of the details with you.

A report which hit the headlines earlier in the week may, I think, be of interest to all of my readers. You are all aware of the fact that during the last few years the Government has been assisting, to a very substantial degree, the development of a housing program. We have had Central Mortgage & Housing. We have had the Banks encouraged to lend money for that purpose. Altogether, there has been a tremendous impetus in providing housing for Canadians. Then this year, the Government became worried about the dangers of inflation. Costs were going up, wages were going up, the dollar was being depreciated and the Government decided that something should be done about it. Therefore, it imposed credit restrictions, making it very difficult for people to borrow money. The Government realized that this would have an effect upon contractors building houses, but thought that it could compensate for this by raising the rates of interest, thereby encouraging people with money to lend to make it available for mortgages.

But it hasn't worked out that way. There is less money available for housing than ever before. I saw the figures the other day and it is my recollection that the number of houses started this year is only about one-third of the number commenced during the comparable period last year.

Tuesday, it was announced that the Government intended to do something about this, or rather should I say that it was announced that the Bank of Canada intended to do something about it. Now if you were to ask me where you draw the line between the Bank of Canada and the Department of Finance, I would have to suggest that you ask someone else. If the decision is an unpopular one on the part of the Bank of Canada, the Department of Finance says that of course it has nothing to do with it. If, on the other hand, the Bank of Canada makes a popular announcement, the Department of Finance is eager to explain that, of course, this is the Government's policy which is simply being administered by the Bank of Canada. So, as the old saying goes, "you pay your money and you take your choice" as to where the Bank of Canada stops and the Department of Finance begins, or vice versa.

In any event, early in the week, Mr. Coyne, the Governor of the Bank of Canada, announced that he was summoning to a meeting on Thursday the Heads of all Chartered Banks in Canada. To these gentlemen, he would put the proposal that the savings accounts, that is the savings of all Canadians on deposit in any of these Chartered Banks, should be made available for mortgage purposes and to a lesser extent for the purchase of Provincial and Municipal Bonds. Up to the present time, and for the past year, the Banks have been rather gingerly loaning small amounts of money on mortgages. The reason for this is a fundamental one in our banking history. In the United States the highways of finance are littered with the wreckage of Banks which tied up money in mortgages, could not recover these assets in time, and went into bankruptcy. In other words mortgages are not, in the Banks' language, "liquid". Our Banks have always insisted on "liquid" loans, although some, like my own perhaps, have not always been too liquid. But the Banks can call in these loans on relatively short notice, and always maintain a strong deposit situation. That is one reason why we have been so proud of our Canadian Banking history.

The proposal of the Bank of Canada would reverse this situation. From here on, our Banks are to be encouraged, in fact ordered, to lend the money of their depositors on mortgages, and, as I said, to a lesser degree in Provincial and Municipal Bonds. This, of course, will take the Government off the hook in more than one respect. In the first place, it hopes that there will be provided a large amount of money for housing construction this year. In the second place, there also will be money made available to the Municipalities and to the Provincial Governments without the Federal Government having to provide money for them. One Bank President is reported to have snorted "From here on, the Canadian Banks are simply going to be the office boys for the Bank of Canada."

At the time this report is being written, no one knows what the outcome of the meeting on Thursday will be, between the officials of the Bank of Canada and those of the Chartered Banks. When questioned in the House about the matter, Mr. Harris was evasive, and suggested that we wait the outcome of the meeting on Thursday, that at the moment the matter was merely being discussed.

Already many newspapers across the country have come out with editorials in strong condemnation of the proposal. One editor terms it "deadly, dangerous nonsense". Dr. Charlotte Whitton, now writing a column three times a week for the Ottawa Citizen, wonders how many Canadians have given any thought to the matter and goes on to say, "This is just the place to stop, look and listen, for with this plan we Canadians have come to a very dangerous intersection in our way of life. Near disaster can follow upon taking the wrong turn."

In any event, most of us will be interested to learn the outcome of the proposed meeting of the Banking Heads of the Nation, and to hear their own opinions as to the soundness or otherwise of this latest proposal of the Government to find money to assist the housing program.

Mr. W. B. Hamilton, principal of the Weymouth school, was a supper guest of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Brooks on Thursday.

Scrumptious!
Coffee cake at its best... sweet and scrumptious! And so easy to make with Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast when you bake at home. Surprise your family tomorrow!

Butterscotch coffee cake

1. Measure into bowl

1/2 cup lukewarm water

Stir in

1 teaspoon granulated sugar

Sprinkle with contents of

1 envelope Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast

Let stand 10 minutes, THEN stir well.

2. Sift together twice, then into a bowl

2 3/4 cups once-sifted all-purpose flour

1/2 cup granulated sugar

1 teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon grated nutmeg

Cut in finely

1/2 cup chilled shortening

Beat until thick and light

and stir into dissolved yeast.

Make a well in dry ingredients and add yeast mixture; mix well, adding a little additional flour, if necessary, to form a soft dough.

3. Turn out on lightly-floured board and knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl. Brush top with melted shortening. Cover. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk—about 1 1/2 hours.

4. Punch down dough. Halve the dough. Roll each half into a 9-inch circle and place on greased cookie sheets. Brush each circle with melted butter & margarine. Cover. Let rise until doubled in bulk—about 50 minutes. Bake in a moderate oven, 350°, about 30 minutes. Cool and spread coffee cakes with the following butterscotch icing:

Measure into a saucepan, 1/2 cup lightly-packed brown sugar, few grains salt, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine and 4 tablespoons cream; stir over very low heat until sugar dissolves. Remove from heat and work in 1 1/2 cups (about) once-sifted icing sugar—use enough sugar to make an icing of spreading consistency. Stir in 1/4 cup coarsely-chopped toasted pecans and 1/4 teaspoon vanilla. Yield: 2 coffee cakes.

CARS ARE MY LIFE

by Ken Hankinson

ARE OUR SPEED LAWS SENSIBLE?

Everybody has heard that old saying that the safest way to drive is to imagine that everyone else on the road is a half-witted moron.

It's a good enough rule, but I suspect that when highway traffic laws are prepared, the lawmakers have the same thought in mind.

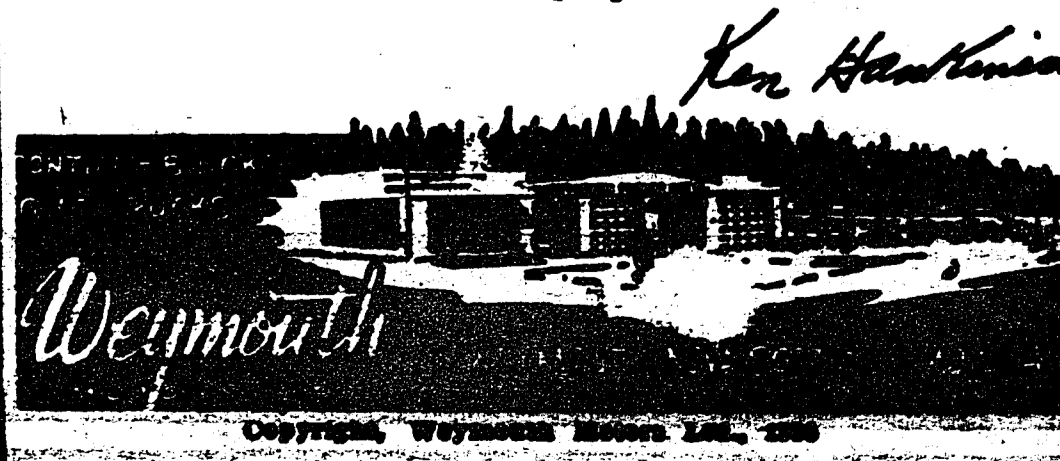

Take speed limits for instance. Speed limits reveal in two ways that no one really trusts the man behind the wheel.

First of all, there's the matter of over-all speed limits, the same limit applying to almost every highway. Every motorist has had the feeling that it would be perfectly safe to go 60 on a clear, dry four-lane highway where the limit is 50, but he would be scared silly to go 50 on a crooked, bumpy road where the law says the safe speed is also 50.

No one defends the crazy, irresponsible speeder, but we tend to think that giving any latitude in speed limits would send us all throttling madly to our deaths. That's the second point, that drivers are going to set the speed limits themselves anyway, and laws should take some recognition of it.

There's a section of the Pennsylvania Turnpike that was engineered to be safe at 90 — and the speed limit is 70 miles an hour. A 13-year study showed recently that the average speed in this 70-mile an hour zone was only 59 miles an hour — people just didn't want to travel that fast.

There were a few maniacs, sure. But it was also shown that cars going over the speed limit of 70 were involved in only 2 percent of the accidents on that road. Drivers aren't such bad people after all.

Plan Easter Seal Campaign

Preparations were made at last Thursday night's meeting of the Digby Kiwanis Club for the annual Easter Seal drive carried out by the club to help finance its under privileged children's work.

Last year the club carried on two clinics for crippled children at the Digby General Hospital. Medical services were provided by Dr. T. B. Acker, well known specialist from Halifax. At the spring clinic twenty-nine children were examined and at the fall 40 were examined. The club also provided X-rays for a number of children in the area and assisted others through the provision of glasses.

Other youth activities carried on by the Kiwanis Club last year included the conduct of swimming classes at the Kiwanis pool at the Racquette and the provision of a trained swimming and water safety coach. The club also entertained some five hundred children at a theatre party at which swimming awards were presented.

The Kiwanis Club also sponsored Little League baseball last year and purchased equipment and trophies for the league. A coach was also provided for high school curling and assistance was given toward the provision of a paid coach for school hockey. This made it possible for more than one hundred youngsters to play and receive training in hockey each Saturday through the winter. Jerseys were purchased for the PeeWee hockey players and transportation was provided for the Boy Scouts to HMCS Cornwallis so that they might take their swimming tests.

Among other youth endeavors in which the Digby Kiwanis Club participated were the community Christmas party, at which some 1,200 children were entertained and the holding of vocational guidance classes at the Digby Regional High School. The object of these classes was to stress the importance of education and to assist students in choosing a career.

In club activities the Digby Kiwanis Club was also successful in sponsoring a new Kiwanis Club at Weymouth. A series of films were shown during the year on highway safety and the club entertained the Digby Golf Club at a supper meet when the Seagram's Gold Cup Championship film was shown.

The Kiwanis Club also participated in welfare work through the year. Included in this was the giving of assistance toward obtaining a wheel chair for a patient in the Municipal Home; assistance in Christmas cheer work in the area and the donation of twenty-five dollars to the Salvation Army for welfare work.

Support was also given the local Red Cross in both the Blood Donor Clinics and their financial drive. The club also assisted with the July 1st Fair and was active in support of churches through the year.

Noted Doctor To Speak

A visitor to Digby on Monday next will be Dr. C. M. Harlow, of Halifax, noted specialist in Cancer diseases. He will speak at a meeting which is open to all members of the public, to be held in the Trinity Church Hall at 8 o'clock.

Much research has been done in seeking the cause of cancer, and progress has been made; it is hoped that before too long a definite cure will be found and a system of prevention will be made available. Dr. Harlow will outline the discoveries to date and will be ready to discuss any questions that may be introduced.

If you are interested in this disease and its cure you are invited to attend this meeting, Monday night at 8.00, in Trinity Hall.

Contribute To Springhill Fund

It was reported at the last meeting of the Vestry of Trinity Anglican Church that the parish had contributed one hundred dollars to the Springhill Mine Disaster Fund.

Total contribution of the Anglican Diocese of Nova Scotia to the Springhill fund amounted to $9,793.19, it was stated. Some eight hundred dollars was contributed by the Deanery of Annapolis, of which Trinity Parish is a part, it was reported.

Several Anglican parishes in Cape Breton also contributed to the Springhill fund through their local Union appeal, it was stated.

Game Society Endorses Two Buck Limit

Support and endorsement for a resolution of the Shelburne Fish and Game Association calling for the imposition of a bag limit on deer of two bucks showing horns, was given at Tuesday night's annual meeting of the Digby (East) Fish and Game Association here.

The meeting also endorsed a submission prepared by the Shelburne Fish and Game Association for presentation to the Lands and Forests Committee of the Nova Scotia Legislature. It also decided to wire M. S. Leonard, M.L.A., who is a member of the committee, urging his support for the resolution when it comes before the committee on Tuesday.

The submission states with regard to the proposal concerning the imposition of the two buck bag limit that farmers of the province know the only way to rebuild a herd is to conserve the females and the young. The only way to save the does and fawns is to have a buck season or no season at all. Feeling that a two buck season would not seriously deplete existent herds, the association decided to propose that. The provision that the buck have horns showing will help to conserve the young, it is stated, and will also act as a safety measure in that hunters who must see deer horns before they shoot will be less likely to mistake a human for a deer.

The submission by the Shelburne Association calls for the establishment of two deer hunting zones in the province. The counties of Kings, Annapolis, Digby, Yarmouth, Shelburne, Queens and Lunenburg would be included in the western zone and the rest of the province in an eastern zone.

Also suggested is the discontinuance of the present card and tag system of reporting deer kills. A new system of presenting deer heads to Game Wardens at reporting stations is suggested as a substitute. These heads would be marked with a tag or in some other fashion by the Warden.

A change in deer license is also suggested. Suggested are two deer coupons attached to the license. These would be signed, dated and surrendered when reporting deer kill.

Three hunting choices are suggested for the sportsman in the submission. In the western zone he would be allowed two buck deer showing horns. One buck with horns in the western zone and a deer of either sex in the eastern zone is given as a second choice, and as a third choice the killing of two deer of either sex in the eastern zone is given. The resolution states that the reporting of deer killed in either zone should be made at the nearest reporting station. Setting up of these reporting stations at convenient points is also suggested.

The submission takes exception to views expressed that there is not a shortage of deer in the province. In Shelburne County, it is stated, the deer population is at present lower than at any time in the past fifteen years. Building up of the deer population to the level it was fifteen years ago is urged.

The present system of reporting deer kill is severely criticized in the submission. The system not only gives an incorrect picture of the deer kill, it is claimed, but also makes enforcement of game laws practically impossible. To the evading hunter, it is said, the tag system is only a joke. Tags can be inserted but not locked and if no game warden is encountered before the deer is disposed of the tag can be removed for re-use. Other methods of evading the present tag system were also given.

The submission claims that there has never been a time in the history of western Nova Scotia that the deer stand was too great for the available food supply and with the governing factor of the high power rifle such a situation will never occur.

Local Fish & Game Association Elects New Officers

Rueben Mervin, of Bear River, was elected President of the Digby (East) Fish and Game Association at the organization's annual meeting here Tuesday night. Mr. Mervin succeeds Thomas S. Matheson, of Digby, who headed the association last year.

Other officers elected include John R. Nichols, Digby, Vice-President; Robert L. Taylor, Smith's Cove, Secretary-Treasurer. A. R. Pyne was named to head the Fish committee, with Dr. P. C. Outhouse as head of the Bird committee. W. L. Troop heads the committee on mammals and all committee chairmen were empowered to name their committee members.

District chairmen for game conservation elected are T. S. Matheson, Digby; John Thibault, Doucetville; Douglas Andrews, Digby Neck; James Dunn, Bear River; Donald Sabean, South Range; Victor McNeill, Weymouth. W. I. McKenna was named chairman of the membership committee, and Dr. T. W. Hodgson was appointed Association Chaplain.

Guest speaker at the annual meeting was G. C. Sollows, of the Fisheries Department. In an interesting address on inland fishing Mr. Sollows dealt at length with wild life predators which prey on game fish and told of efforts made to control these and to build up and restock lakes and streams. He said that in order to ensure the survival of game fish stock placed in a lake, it was necessary in many cases to first poison the lake to destroy predators. Such poisoning, he said, often cost as much as fifteen hundred dollars for a single lake.

WESTPORT H. & S. MEETS

The March meeting of the Westport Home and School was held in the Intermediate Department with Mr. Everett Fugh, president, in the chair. Only a small number attended.

The business was attended to and Mr. Fugh told of the Municipal members of the school board visiting the school, also a contractor had been present and there had been discussion of the possibility of central heating, bathrooms and hardwood floors for the village school. Following the business a number of quizzes were held.

Addresses Mental Health Meet

Andrew Crook, Executive Director of the Nova Scotia Division of the Canadian Mental Health Association, was guest speaker at a meeting here Tuesday evening of the Digby Branch of the CMHA.

Mr. Crook dealt at some length with the aims and objectives of the Mental Health Association. He said these included education, provision of aid and comfort to the mentally ill, research, promotion of mental health clinics and training of key personnel to aid in the fight against mental illness.

He stated at present there are some three thousand people in mental institutions in Nova Scotia. Many of these patients have been forgotten by friends and relatives, he said, and go on for years often without a visit or a gift from anyone directly to them as a person.

The Mental Health Association, he said, was trying to improve this situation by making more people aware of the need for the human touch in mental illness as in other illnesses. Through the use of new drugs many patients long given up as incurable are being returned to useful life, he said and it is important that we do not allow the mentally ill to become "forgotten people" so far as the public are concerned.

People, he said, need to be educated to regard mental illness in the same light as other illnesses. Particularly is this true with regard to persons who have suffered a mental breakdown and returned to their home communities and former associations. There is a great need for understanding and knowledge at such times so that the cured person need not suffer a feeling of rejection.

Mental illness, Mr. Crook said, is the number one illness of today and is responsible for more patient bed days in hospitals, more time lost from work, more loss to individuals and families than any other illness.

So far, he said, research funds for study of mental illness have been only meagre. The public must be awakened, he said, to an understanding and knowledge of the tremendous problem of mental illness and must be taught to adopt right attitudes towards both the illness and those who may suffer from it.

This is the job that the Mental Health Association is trying to do. Mr. Crook said, and every avenue of successful promotion of that job is being explored. To do this function is to provide aid, to educate, to provide aid for the mentally ill, to assist in research and to do the countless other jobs that are entailed in such vitally important work.

Prior to Mr. Crook's address Victor Cardoza, president of the Digby Branch of the CMHA, outlined plans for the branch's financial campaign in May. He said it was hoped to carry on a campaign through the schools, through house-to-house canvass and by a special names drive.

Funds raised through the campaign he said would be used to assist the local mental health clinic, carry on education in mental health in the county and in general assist the great work being done by the Canadian Mental Health Association across the country.

It was reported the club had enjoyed a most successful year both financially and in curling. All outside bonspiels played by the Digby club had been won. The club also won the Hamilton Trophy in competition with the Yarmouth Curling Club.

Celebrates 89th Birthday

Mr. Norman A. Robbins celebrated his 89th birthday on March 19 at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Clarence A. White, Burt's Corner, N. B., with whom he lives.

Mr. Robbins received gifts and cards from his friends.

Mr. Robbins enjoys reading and writing and visiting with friends, and he takes a keen interest in everything that goes on. His former home was at Tiverton, N. S., where he lived until going to Burt's Corner, N. B.

His many friends wish him many more happy birthdays.

FIRE THREATENS ISLAND VILLAGE

A raging fire which for time threatened the tiny community of Tiverton in southwest Nova Scotia was brought under control Thursday night despite gale force winds and a lack of firefighting equipment and water.

The town turned out in force to battle the blaze. They used snowballs on ember-covered roofs of a nearby house, buckets of ditch water carried by hand up ladders, and a makeshift pump fashioned from a motor and hose found in a fish shed.

Discovered at 9 p.m. Thursday night in the home of Eva and Norma Blackford, the fire forced the occupants to flee, leaving all behind.

Raging flames spread rapidly to a second dwelling on the south side of the Blackford home, but were brought under control before serious damage was done. This house is the property of the late Sarah Ruggles.

The only occupant of the Blackford home at the time was Eva, who discovered the fire. After running upstairs to gather some legal papers, she collapsed in the sitting room when the lights went out.

A neighbor, Alvah Young, 50, came to her rescue, dragging her away before the house became a raging inferno.

Early reports stated there was extreme difficulty in obtaining water. Formation of a bucket brigade from the sea front was considered impractical due to the direction of the flames being borne by a heavy wind.

At the time the fire started the tide was out, aggravating the water situation.

Both houses are in a heavily populated residential area of the tiny community. The Blackford house was destroyed. The Ruggles house is damaged slightly on the exterior.

Industrial Engineer Addresses Kiwanis

George Cunningham, of Danbury Conn., who is associated with a well known firm of business and industrial engineers, was guest speaker at last Thursday night's meeting of the Digby Kiwanis Club.

Introduced by Kiwanian James Ayer, who presided over the meeting, Mr. Cunningham traced the development of industrial and business engineering and told of early days in the profession when understanding of its role was meagre and faulty. He said the title "efficiency experts" as applied to those engaged in the profession was a misnomer and efforts were being made to discourage its use.

Early efforts in the profession were designed to make the absolute maximum use of human efficiency and were much involved with motion studies. It has been proven, he said, that humans cannot be regarded as machines and any efforts designed to regard them as such are doomed to failure. Assembly line production must pay particular attention to the human factor involved, he said.

Speaking of the local area, Mr. Cunningham, who is at present engaged in survey work for the Power Board, said he felt local people would know the local situation best but he felt that sometimes the viewpoint of an outsider brought to the attention of local people matters they had overlooked or were perhaps too close to them to really notice.

Wealth, he said, was a combination of raw material and human labour. He stated he felt this area contained much that could be converted into wealth. The first thing that must be done, he said, is to think about what is here. We must then learn what can be done with it and finally must have the courage to go ahead and do that.

The thanks of the meeting to Mr. Cunningham for his address were expressed by Kiwanian H. C. Morton.

Set Objective At $1700

The objective of the Red Shield Drive in the Municipality of Digby and the District of Clare, to be held from May 5 to May 29, was set at $1700, it was announced on Friday by Chester M. Levy, county chairman.

The announcement was made at a committee meeting, held in the office of The Bank of Nova Scotia and chaired by Mr. Levy. Present with Lieutenant Clarence Bradley was Colonel A. W. Dixon, Halifax, who expressed appreciation of the efforts of the people in Digby County towards the Red Shield Drive in the past. He also told human interest stories of instances when evident appreciation of the Salvation Army was expressed by tangible means. As a few examples of use to which the Canadian wide Red Shield funds were used Colonel Dixon cited the Fresh Air Camps and the new wing on Grace Mater-nity Hospital and the new building for unmarried mothers.

Mr. Levy outlined extensive plans for the forthcoming campaign and was aided in valuable suggestions from the treasurer, H. C. Morton. Publicity ideas were also discussed with Mrs. J. M. Wallis publicity convener.

The business meeting of the Ladies' Hospital Aid will be held at the home of Miss Mildred Carty on Monday evening, April 1st.

A.V.A.B.T. To Hold Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade will be held at the Cornwallis Inn, Kentville, on the afternoon and evening of April 12th, it was announced here by Mr. James P. Richards, President of the A.V.A.B.T.

Guest speaker for the meet will be Mr. Raymond Dupuis, of Montreal, President of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Dupuis and other officials of the Chamber of Commerce will be making a tour of Nova Scotia in April and will visit Kentville, where Mr. Dupuis will address the annual meet of the A.V.A.B.T.

Included on the agenda for the annual session will be the report of a committee, set up at the semi-annual meeting in Digby last fall, to explore the possibilities of a central prison farm for the Annapolis Valley. This committee, headed by Dennis B. Wright, of Middleton, has done considerable research on the prison farm question. It is understood, and the report is expected to touch off some lively debate.

Another report included in the agenda for the meet is that of the Tourist Committee, headed by Howard Walker, of Digby. This committee has been very active during the year and their report is expected to reveal some interesting information.

Other items which may come before the meeting include the subject of having Greenwood included as a regular stop for T.C.A., long urged by the A.V.A.B.T.; the proposed Shelburne to Digby highway, discussed for some time by the A.V.A.B.T., and the matter of a car ferry for the Bay of Fundy crossing between Saint John and Digby. This last item was first urged by the Digby Trade Board and later endorsed by the A.V.A.B.T.

Protest Proposed Removal Of HMCS Buckingham

A letter asking the Board of Trade to take action aimed at preventing the proposed removal of HMCS Buckingham from the port of Digby was read at last meeting of the Board.

The letter, which was from Branch No. 20, Canadian Legion, RESL, stated information had been received that the Royal Canadian Navy intended to remove HMCS Buckingham from Digby in the fall and that no ship would be stationed here on a permanent basis to replace her.

It was stated removal of the Buckingham would mean the loss of some thirty families from the area and that this would have a serious effect on the economy of Digby and district.

The Board decided that the president and other officers should meet with navy officials at HMCS Cornwallis to discuss the matter of the proposed removal of the Buckingham and seek further information on the subject.

It was decided at the meeting that the Digby Board of Trade would join the Atlantic Provinces Economic Council, Victor Cardoza was appointed to secure and prepare information concerning industrial and other facilities which are to be found in Digby and area. This information will be submitted to AFEC.

The Trinity Evening Guild will be held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Bishop.

Power Board To Improve Service To Islands

An over-head transmission crossing spanning Petite Passage from East Ferry will be erected and put in service by the Digby County Power Board this summer.

The transmission line will be supported at East Ferry by 3 sixty-foot pine poles and at Tiverton by a 170-foot steel tower. The length of the span will be 2,037 feet and is designed to maintain a clearance of 150 feet above high water.

Land has been purchased by the Power Board at Tiverton and East Ferry and the concrete foundations for the tower have been installed at Tiverton.

It was originally planned to have the over-head system in operation in the fall of 1956 but the strike in the steel industry delayed materials. The steel is now on hand and erection is expected to start in May.

Due to its proximity to the Yarmouth-Saint John air route, the Department of Transport has ordered that the tower be painted in orange and white and be equipped with red clearance lights at the middle and top.

At present the Islands are serviced by a submarine cable at a potential of 6500 volts. The strong currents of Petite Passage can break this cable and this has happened on different occasions. The Islands used over a half-million kilowatt hours in 1956. A load of this degree requires a more dependable service.

The over-head crossing will operate at 11,500 volts and is designed to withstand all wind and ice loads that may be expected in the Passage.

The new crossing will provide the Islands with improved service and it is expected that this will mean an even greater increase in use of electricity from Tiverton to Westport.

Escapes Serious Injury

Russell Small, well known local carpenter, had a narrow escape from death or serious injury here this week when he fell headlong from a ladder while fixing the porch roof of his home on Lighthouse Road.

Mr. Small plunged off the ladder, landing on his head and neck on the rough ground. He was rushed by Jaynes's ambulance to the Digby General Hospital in an unconscious condition.

X-rays taken at the hospital showed no bones broken and he was returned to his home later in the day very stiff and lame although otherwise unharmed from the fall.

About This and That

To Observe 50 Years Of Scouting

Elsewhere in this week's issue of The Digby Courier is a picture of Patrol Leader Douglas Wright and Troop Leader John Hawkins, of the 1st Digby Scout Troop, who have been chosen at provincial Scout headquarters to attend the World Jamboree of Scouting in England. The Courier extends congratulations to the two Scouts who were chosen for the Jamboree and to their leaders who are doing an excellent job in training the boys in all the worthy aims and objects of Scouting.

The Digby Scouts are just a few who make up the 212,000 Scouts in Canada and some 6,500,000 throughout the world. A goodly many of these will attend the Jamboree in England in August, when 50 years of Scouting will be observed.

The mighty force of Boy Scouts got its beginning way back in 1908 when Robert Baden-Powell, the hero of Mafeking, published the first number of his "Scouting for Boys", a book issued in fortnightly parts at fourpence each. Almost immediately a great world movement was born.

Its birth surprised nobody more than B.P. himself. He merely thought that the ideas in his book, gained from his own practical experience of training young men, might prove of some value to existing youth organizations like the Boys' Brigade and the Y.M.C.A. It never entered his head that boys all over Britain and elsewhere would start forming themselves into patrols and calling themselves "Boy Scouts."

That is how the Movement began. But the ideas behind Scouting were taking shape through fifty years of the life of B.P. The story began when he was a boy. He was one of six brothers who used to spend their holidays camping, hiking or sailing. They learned to pitch tents, to cook on wood fires, to find their way about by map and compass and to look after themselves. At school at Charterhouse his favourite spot was in a nearby copse which was out of bounds. Years later he wrote of those days: "It was in the copse that I gained most of what helped me on in after life . . . how to hide my tracks, how to climb a tree and 'freeze' up there while masters passed below."

In 1876 he went to India as a young army officer and specialized in scouting, map-making and reporting. He was so successful that he was put on to training young soldiers. He discovered that a lot more than drill and lectures was needed, and used methods which were very unorthodox in those days. We see the beginnings of the Patrol system, now an intrinsic part of the Scout system. B.P. would divide his men into groups of six with a leader in charge and give them competitions and games, and sometimes he would send them out alone or in pairs to follow a route marked on a map.

As a special distinction for efficient men he gave a badge, the design of which he took from the north point of the compass — the familiar Scout Badge of today.

His reputation as a Scout grew and he became recognized as one of the greatest Scouts in the Army. Later he went to Africa — to Ashanti and Matabeleland. Here some more familiar aspects of Scouting were added. He took to wearing a wide-brimmed hat to keep the rain from his eyes and the sun off his neck. And it was in South Africa that he saw an army engineer carrying a long pole marked off in feet and inches — the Scout staff of today.

And so grew the great movement of which our two Jamboree Scouts and all the other worthy young Scouters in Digby belong.

Letter To The Editor

Digby, N. S.
March 22, 1957.

Editor,
Digby Courier.

Dear Editor:

In last week's issue of the Courier was a notice of the Annual Meeting of the B. & F. Bible Society. I wish to ask your permission to write something in support of this particular Bible Society.

First, let us be reminded that of all the organizations we now have, the church is the most important. And the church, as it stands today, needs the full support of all the organized Bible Societies such as the Canadian branch of the British and Foreign. These Bible Societies in turn, need much more support from all friends of the church in order to give the church the opportunity it should have to expand and increase its efforts in preaching and otherwise conveying the Gospel (good news) to all peoples.

Now let us sufficiently consider the truth that the Holy Scriptures contain inexhaustible wisdom and power when properly used for daily nourishment of our souls. There is nothing so good for the nerves or any other part of us, when received in sufficient portions, daily, in good faith, and put into practice.

All the different Bible Societies together cannot, at the present time, produce enough

Bibles, or even New Testaments, in the various languages, for the estimated number of people who learn to read each year, throughout the world, which number is estimated to be about twenty-five millions.

Will it not be a good thing for all who can, to be present at the Annual Meeting tomorrow evening, Friday, March 29. Will you give your support in this way to help the organization that helps in a big way, to distribute the "Bread of Life", the Source Book of our Christian Faith.

One preacher of the Gospel recently told the following story from a church pulpit: a certain small boy asked his mother, "Why do we have to ask God for our bread every day?" A brother, about four years of age, was quick to answer for the mother, and said, "Don't be so stupid, Johnnie, we want it fresh, don't we?" How true it is that we all need fresh bread for the soul, each and every day, for the more abundant life.

So, let us all do our share and give as much of our time and talents that each can in support of the B. & F. Bible Society, which Society is ours only, to the extent that we give of it. The annual financial appeal in this area, will probably take place in the early Autumn as usual.

Pres. B.F.B.S.

ACCESSORIES AFTER THE FACT

Being an "accessory after the fact" can be a pretty serious thing — like hiding a bank robber under the bed or wiping the fingerprints off the glass. But I know about some "accessories after the fact" that are packed with fun and comfort and relaxation.

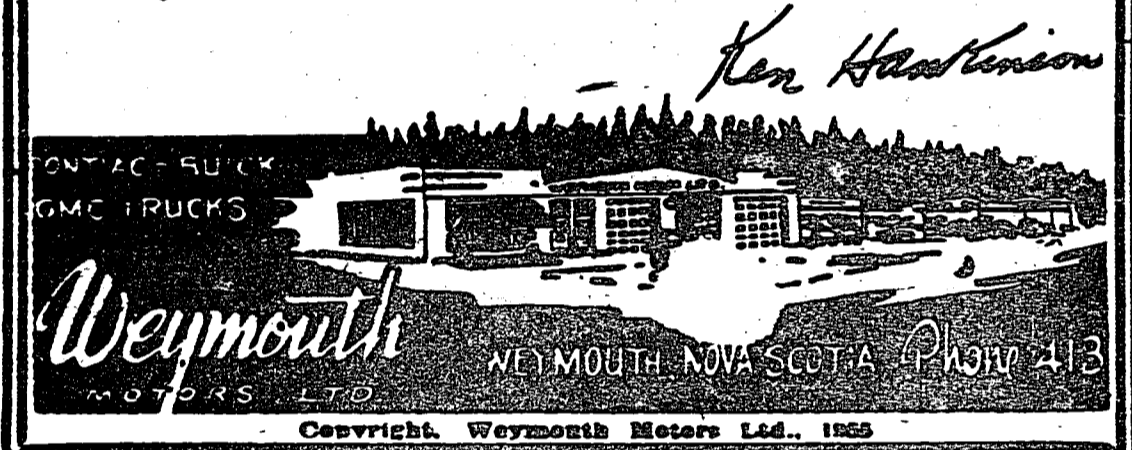

I mean (in case by some impossible chance you haven't already guessed) the unlimited line of magnificent accessories that are available after you sign up for a beautiful new 1957 Pontiac.

Just about the greatest thing I've run across is the completely automatic power antenna, which raises or lowers itself when the radio is switched on or off — it's available with the powerful new Deluxe Electromatic Radio. It means, of course, perfect reception at all times, and no risk of turning your aerial into a hairpin when you go into the garage.

Pontiac this year brings you its greatest line of extra luxuries — 55 different accessories and 14 optional items of equipment. This means Pontiac stays down in price with the lowest, offering its traditional built-in luxury plus a line of "extras" that add your individual taste to your car.

Pontiac's windshield washers have been redesigned for more effective cleaning; the power steering unit provides quieter driving ease and the sun visor accessory includes a prismatic viewer on the dashboard to watch traffic lights without craning your neck.

All this, and I haven't even mentioned the great advances of the restyled, redesigned, repowered Pontiac. That, you'd better come up and see for yourself.

FROZEN SOUPS CATCH COMPLIMENTS

Years ago a famous chef once remarked that a woman who couldn't make a good soup shouldn't be allowed to marry. How lucky the 20th century girl is... she doesn't even take time to think about soup making! Because she knows if she serves one of the full-flavored frozen soups available at her corner grocery store, she's bound to catch smiles which say "this is so good!"

Today there are all sorts of magic tricks for serving and varying these soups. Take for instance frozen condensed oyster stew... serve it plain, add a bit of shredded cheese, or even make a casserole with it. Or combine it with frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup to make a new soup mate. Ideas

CREAMED SHRIMP WITH OLIVES

1 can (10-ounces) frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup
1/2 cup milk
1/4 cup sliced ripe olives
3 cups cooked rice
Combine ingredients; heat slowly, stirring frequently. Serve over hot rice. Makes 4 servings.

The Week In The Legislature

Nova Scotians, between the ages of 65 and 69 needing financial assistance; those receiving disabled person's allowance, and blind people will receive increased monthly pensions of $46, probably effective July 1, through bills introduced by Welfare Minister Richard A. Donahoe. All three pensions are given on a means test basis and Mr. Donahoe's action followed immediately announcement of the federal budget.

Although the federal government contributes 75 per cent and the province 25 per cent of blind pensions cost, the other two allowances are shared on a 50-50 basis with the expected overall cost to the province for the coming year estimated at approximately $237,000.

Whitewater in Kings county and Partridge Island in Cumberland were suggested by A. T. Smith (L/Cumberland West) as terminus points for a new Minas Basin ferry service which should follow a survey by federal authorities of wharf sites in the area, he said, adding the survey would probably be carried out late in April.

Championing the lot of students who would be unable to attend universities he urged that vocational schools be allotted greater financial assistance. EC member for Hants East, E. Ettinger struck out against drunken drivers, urging more rigid fines and stiffer jail sentences to help eliminate highway accidents caused by the mixture of gasoline and liquor. He also urged introduction of education relating to the seriousness of drinking and driving as part of the school curriculum.

Tribute to all who helped in many ways assist families of victims of the recent Springhill mine disaster was paid by Labor Minister Stephen Pyke who also said he was pleased to hear the announcement by Mines Minister E. A. Manson that a search for oil in Nova Scotia would be undertaken by a reputable United States oil company, with geological surveys to be carried out in 24 sections of the Cumberland-Pictou area and also in the Broughton, Cape Breton district. Drilling would be commenced later, said Mr. Manson, if conditions warrant such.

In reply to a question asked by Halifax Centre member G. S. Cowan (Liberal) the Minister of Highways, Hon. G. I. Smith, reported that in 1957 four hundred and sixty-five miles of provincial highways were ready or nearly ready for paving. Estimated cost, at approximately $20,000 per mile, would be $9,300,000 for paving the total 465 miles.

Highway department personnel such as grader operators, road foremen and superintendents were active supporters of the former Liberal government in rural areas and were dismissed because the people wanted such action, Mr. Smith reported. Asked if those who replaced these dismissed workers were active supporters of the Conservative party he answered in the affirmative.

On the subject of the proposed dam and highway causeway across the Annapolis River construction work might possibly get underway during late summer or early fall of this year on the joint federal-provincial project, said Mr. Smith.

A plan for the economic revival in rural eastern Nova Scotia, mainly through the establishment of a central, co-operative processing plant in the Strait of Canso area for the accommodating and marketing of farm and forest products of Cape Breton Island and the eastern mainland counties of Antigonish and Pictou should be given utmost consideration by the provincial government, urged J. Clyde Nunn (L-Inverness). The plan had already been submitted to Ottawa, Mr. Nunn said. He hoped that one of the new thermal plants proposed by the federal government would be established in Inverness.

Presenting his budget Premier Stanfield forecast revenues for the 1957-58 fiscal year at $66,304,000 with expenditures of $68,216,000. About $60,000,000 of the total estimated revenues are expected to be obtained from federal grants. Nova Scotia Liquor Commission and from motor vehicles. More than half the expenditures would go on highways and education, $18,514,000 for highways and over $16,000,000 on education.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Lillie Pyne
Tiverton was shocked and saddened on Monday evening, Mar. 18, when it was learned that Mrs. Lillie Pyne, widow of the late Irvin Pyne, had suddenly passed away. She had been in her usual health, attending to her household duties and making plans for the future.

In the early evening Mrs. Pyne was calling on her neighbor and mentioned feeling ill. She started at once to return to her home but before she reached there she was noticed by a neighbour who thought something was wrong. He and members of her family assisted her to the house and Dr. Thomas was called. Everything possible was done to save her but in a few minutes she passed quietly away.

She was a wonderful mother to her large family and sympathy is extended to them in their great loss.

Mrs. Pyne was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John MacCormack, and was a life long resident of Tiverton.

She was a staunch member of the Baptist Church and faithful member of Sunrise Rebekah Lodge, 124, of which she will long be missed for her attendance and faithful work during her years with them. She was 62 years of age.

Surviving are seven daughters: Barbara (Mrs. Howard Greenlaw), Marilyn (Mrs. Clifton Outhouse), Hattie, Tiverton; Rena (Mrs. Howard Butler), Carol (Mrs. Bryant Perry), Sylvia, Moncton, N. B., and Mildred (Mrs. Austin Westcott), Ottawa; five sons: Manfred, Mervin, Jack, Paul, of Tiverton, and Guy, of London, Ont.; eight grandchildren; two sisters: Mrs. Hubert Rigney and Mrs. Sherman Taylor, and one brother, Edward, of Middletown, Connecticut.

Funeral took place from the Baptist Church on Thursday at 2:30 p.m., Rev. E. Miner officiating, and speaking very feelingly of the life of Mrs. Pyne. He was assisted by Rev. Frank Smith. Hymns by the choir were "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" and "God Will Take Care of You."

Members of Sunrise Rebekah Lodge attended the service in a body, paying their last respects to their late sister. Floral tributes were many and beautiful. Interment was at Pleasant Hill cemetery beside her late husband.

All members of the family were home for the funeral.

Mrs. Judson Handspiker
Mrs. Judson Handspiker, of Culloden, passed away at her home on March 25th after a lengthy illness. She was eighty-eight years of age. She is survived by her husband and by one son, Victor Handspiker, Quartermaster aboard the CPS Princess Helene. One sister, Hattie Mussels, Culloden, also survives. Mrs. Handspiker was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Mussels and was born in Port Wade.

Funeral service will be conducted from the late Mrs. Handspiker's home on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 by Lieut. Clarence Bradley of the Salvation Army Corps, Digby. Interment will be in the Culloden cemetery.

In Memoriam
IN MEMORIAM
1933 — GRANT — 1957
In sad but loving memory of Marion Hollowell Grant, who departed this life March 29, 1933.

Always so true, unselfish and kind.
Few in this world her equal you'll find;
A beautiful life that came to an end.
She died as she lived, everyone's friend.

And deep in our hearts your memory is kept,
We loved you too dearly to forget;
Sweet memories of you we will always treasure, Loving you always, forgetting you never.

—Inserted by her lonely husband, parents, sister and brother.

At St. Joseph's Church in Weymouth, Nova Scotia, on March 29, the twenty-fourth anniversary mass will be sung for the repose of the soul of Marion Hollowell Grant, requested by her lonely husband, Frederick Grant, of Boston, Massachusetts. 30:1p

IN MEMORIAM — In loving memory of Captain Hilary Barnes, who departed this life March 28, 1949.
Some day we hope to meet again,
Some day, we know not when,
To clasp his hand in the other land
Never to part again.
Lovingly remembered by his wife and five children.

IN MEMORIAM—ROBBINS — In loving memory of Mrs. Norman A. Robbins, who passed away March 23, 1949.
Peacefully sleeping, resting at last.

The world's weary troubles and trials are past.
In silence she suffered, in patience she bore
'Till God called her home to suffer no more.

— Sadly missed by her husband; daughter, Reba; son-in-law, Clarence, and grandchildren, Norman Douglas, Robert and Linda White, Burt's Corner, N. B. 30:1c

IN MEMORIAM — In loving memory of husband and father, Rev. W. Outhouse, who passed away March 26, 1939.
Like falling leaves the years slip by.
But memories of him will never die.
— Sadly missed by wife and son, Delroy. 30:1p

PAPER CONDUCT

Services at the United Church of Canada are being held every Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. until the arrival of the resident minister, Chaplain Taylor and Chaplain Mowat, of HMCS Cornwallis, will be alternate supply.

At these services special sermons are being given for the Lenten season and will continue to Easter Sunday for which time special services and music are being prepared.

On March 17 the subject of "The Cross" was clearly outlined by Padre Taylor. The music helped greatly to inspire the congregation. A solo was beautifully rendered by Mrs. Donald Brown and an anthem of sincere meaning was sung by the choir.

On March 24 the sermon was given by Padre Mowat, of H.M.C.S. Cornwallis. His topic was "Sufferings." Verses from the Book of Job were read during the sermon and it was truly most inspiring and interesting. A beautiful anthem was given by the choir. Ray Riley was junior soloist.

Tiverton

Sympathy is extended to Norma and Eva Blackford who lost their home by fire on Thursday night, March 21.

ANNUAL RATEPAYERS MEETING HELD

The annual meeting of the ratepayers of the Bear River District Fire Protection area was held in the Fire Hall, Bear River, on Tuesday evening, Mar. 19, 1957, at 8 p.m., with only 19 ratepayers in attendance.

The volunteer fire company report given by Col. A. V. Banks, fire chief, noted a decrease in the number of calls during the year and it also stated conditions on the highway with regard to cars at the time of fires had improved. However, the fire chief stressed the need of giving the firemen the right of way when proceeding to fires and the public are asked to please refrain from parking along the roadway in front of burning buildings.

The Commissioners report paid high tribute to the Volunteer Firemen and congratulated them on their splendid response to duty in time of fires. It was felt the public owed a great deal to these men who gave of their time without remuneration in order to protect the lives and property of the ratepayers.

Continued failure of some ratepayers to pay their taxes was said to be imposing an additional burden upon those who did pay and the arrears amounting to approximately $1100, was considered to be far too high. Therefore the ratepayers present passed a resolution that after due notice had been given to all delinquents all the outstanding arrears of two years and over be collected by warrant.

Mr. Chester Snell was elected as Commissioner for the next three years replacing Mr. Walter Dukeshire, who retired after three years.

The tax rate for 1957-58 is expected to be $1.50 per $100. of assessment with the possibility of a further substantial cut when the arrears are collected.

A detailed statement of finance will be published in the next issue of The Courier.

Bake a batch of crusty Dinner Rolls

● If you bake at home, you'll want to try a batch of crunchy Dinner Rolls. They're so easy to make when you use fast rising dry Best Yeast!

CRUSTY DINNER ROLLS

Measure into a large bowl 1/2 c. lukewarm water; crumble and add 1 cake Best Yeast—or stir in 1 tsp. granulated sugar and sprinkle with 1 envelope Best Dry Yeast. Let stand 10 minutes, THEN stir well. Add 3/4 c. lukewarm water and 1 tsp. salt. Add, all at once, 3 1/2 c. once-sifted all-purpose flour and work in with the hands; work in 3 the soft shortening. Knead on lightly-floured board until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl. Cover with a damp cloth and set in warm place, free from draft. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Punch down dough in bowl, fold over, cover and again let rise until doubled in bulk. Turn out on lightly-floured board and divide into 2 equal portions; shape each portion into a long roll about 1 1/2" in diameter. Cover with a damp cloth and let rest 15 mins. Using a floured sharp knife, cut dough into 2" lengths and place, well apart, on ungreased cookie sheets. Sprinkle rolls with cornmeal and let rise, uncovered, for 1/2 hour. Brush with cold water and let rise another 1/2 hour. Meanwhile, stand a broad shallow pan of hot water in the oven and preheat oven to hot, 425°. Remove pan of water from oven and bake the rolls in steam-filled oven for 1/2 hour, brushing them with cold water and sprinkling lightly with cornmeal after the first 15 mins., and again brushing them with cold water 2 minutes before removing baked rolls from the oven. Yield—18 rolls.

(Edited by Gloria Mullen and Mrs. Marion Lewis)

The regular meeting of the St. Thomas' Guild was held in the basement of the Church of Christ on Tuesday evening. At the conclusion of the business session a party was held for Mrs. Frank McAlpine in honor of her birthday and her 25th wedding anniversary.

Friends will regret to learn that Harry Lewis of Lewis Lumber Co. is a patient in the Victoria General Hospital, Halifax, having undergone surgery. Mrs. Willis Mullen spent last week in Halifax with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Pugh.

Tom Bartlett, Annapolis Royal, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bartlett.

Camille Muise is able to be out again after being confined to his home for the past month on account of illness.

Willis Mullen was to Delap's Cove on Monday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Gifford Lewis spent the weekend with the latter's mother, Mrs. Pinkham, at Barrington.

RATEPAYERS MEET

On Tuesday evening, March 19th, a special meeting of the ratepayers of the Village of Weymouth was held in the Community Theatre with Commissioner Merle Mullen as chairman.

This meeting was called to deal with fire protection in the village and by a 92 per cent vote of those present eligible authorization was given to the commissioners to purchase land and erect a fire hall.

STORM BLOCKS ROADS

The unexpected storm which arrived on the first day of Spring held up traffic in some sections for the first time this season. Snow blocked the road to Weymouth Mills so that the school bus was unable to get to the village and all traffic was stopped until the fog arrived later in the day. However, services were quickly restored and the snow is fast disappearing.

In some sections phones were not working and a fire in the box on one of the poles in the village put the street lights out. A chimney fire at the home of Jovite Belliveau during the storm was kept under control by the Deputy Fire Chief who was unable to contact others due to the phone service being disrupted.

Award Winner At The Capitol

It's not often that the Capitol Theatre, Digby, can offer so many attractions as this weekend holds. On Thursday, Friday and Saturday one of the most virile and actionful westerns yet produced in CinemaScope, "Jubal", guaranteed to keep you in suspense throughout. The stellar cast includes such Academy Award Winners as Glenn Ford, Ernest Borgnine and Rod Steiner. A novel short subject "McBoin on Planet Mars", completes this outstanding weekend program.

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, April 1, 2 and 3, the Capitol brings you the whole story of Rock and Roll, "Rock Around The Clock". If you have not already become a fan of the national rock and roll, this peppy production will most surely convert you. The stars in "Rock Around The Clock" include Bill Haley and his Comets, The Platters, Ernie Freeman Combo, Tony Martinez and his Band, Freddie Bell and his Bellboys, Alan Treed, Johnny Johnston and Alix Talton, and a swarm of beautiful and handsome teenagers. Don't forget to see "Rock Around The Clock" when it is presented at the Capitol Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evening, with a matinee Wednesday.

A wise man is never less alone than when he is alone. — Jonathan Swift.
