New Year's Message

By the
Hon. Robert L. Stanfield,
Premier

The New Year lies before us, with all its opportunities for achievement. It will bring, as does each year, some joy and some sorrow.

In 1958 we celebrated the Two Hundredth Anniversary of Representative Government in Canada. Looking back over that period of two hundred years, we can be proud of the progress we have made and of our contribution to the development of this nation. As we face the difficulties of the day, we can take courage from the fact that our people have faced and overcome many greater difficulties in the years that have gone.

At this time our thoughts go back to the disaster at Springhill. That disaster has left a heavy load of sorrow hanging over the people of Springhill, and indeed over all the people in this province. The wave of sympathy which swept across Canada, and the contributions which gave tangible expression to that sympathy, demonstrated that the people of this nation are not indifferent to the sorrows and the needs of their fellow Canadians. The visit of Prince Philip to the disaster area will not soon be forgotten by the people of Springhill.

We all hope that the measures that have been adopted will result in rehabilitating the economic life of the town.

Each of us must look to the New Year with confidence and a determination to make a contribution to the life of our province. Each of us has a job to do, each of us has a contribution to make. Working together to a common end, we can make this a year of great progress.

We embark upon this New Year in the confident belief that it will be a year of accomplishment. The new farmer-owned abattoir and the stepped up Community Pasture programme will give impetus to livestock production in this province. The highway programme, which achieved a record of more than three hundred miles of paving in 1958, will be continued. The plans for a pulp mill in the Strait of Canso are progressing, and every effort is being made to ensure that the proposed mill will become a reality. The Hospital Insurance Plan assures to each resident of this province access to adequate hospital facilities in the event of illness which requires hospital treatment.

The federal coal subventions on coal produced in the Atlantic Provinces and consumed by thermal electric power plants in the Provinces of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick will give great assistance to the economic development of this province. The subventions will assist the competitive position of coal used for power purposes and will reduce power costs for certain industries.

We may look to the past, so as to ascertain wherein we have failed, but we must look to the future in the confident belief that we can create a better life for the people of this province.

I extend to all the people of the Province of Nova Scotia my

Home Damaged By Fire

Fire early on the morning of Boxing Day seriously damaged the home of Captain and Mrs. Roland Wormell on the Light-house Road. The blaze, which appeared to have started around the flue, was first noticed by Mrs. Wormell who smelled the smoke and roused her husband.

The Digby Fire Department was summoned and their speedy response and efficient action confined the blaze to the rear portion of the house. Considerable damage was done by the flames and by water to this portion of the house, however.

The 82 year old retired harbour master and his wife were back in their home the next day and had a fire going to dry out the water soaked premises. Their loss was partly covered by insurance.

Neighbourly Club Holds Party

The Deep Brook Neighbourly Club held their annual Christmas party at the home of the President, Mrs. Borden Fountain on Wednesday evening, December 17th, with an attendance of 21. Guests included Rev. and Mrs. Frank Smith, Rev. and Mrs. Sidney Whitehouse, Mrs. Hattie Long, Mrs. Fulton Stark, Mrs. Lucie MacDormand and Mrs. MacLean, who is from Scotland and is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Johnstone.

The Christmas devotional was led by Mrs. Cleveland Jefferson. Rev. Frank Smith offered special prayer for a club member who is ill. Christmas greetings and donations were received and gratefully acknowledged.

Following a short business meeting games and quizzes were enjoyed under the direction of Mrs. Fountain and Mrs. Wilfred Deking. Due to the absence of Santa Claus, gifts were attached to a long cord, then members and guests were blindfolded and snipped off the gift of their choice with a large pair of shears.

Following refreshments Mrs. Harold Hirtle extended a vote of thanks to the hostess for a very pleasant evening.

The Treasurer, Mrs. Howard Adams, reports the following donations made during the month of December: $5.00 each to the Day School, Deep Brook Baptist Sunday School and the Clementsport United Sunday School for Christmas treats; $5.00 to Cancer Waiting Room Fund, and $5.00 to County Home and Hospital at Bridgetown. In addition there were two special gifts to shut-ins.

A Christmas Gesture

Last week the Courier carried in a news story a request from Mrs. Alma Melanson of Digby that any twelve needy youngsters in Digby could spend part of their Christmas Day with her and that she would do her best to provide them with a Christmas party. In her request Mrs. Melanson noted her family were all far from her this Christmas and she wished to relieve some of her own loneliness by providing some Christmas cheer for needy local youngsters.

In a letter received this week from Mrs. Melanson, in which she thanks the Courier for helping her to provide the Christmas party, she says that everything went off wonderfully well. Five girls and seven boys arrived at two o'clock and, after having a group photo taken at the tree and at the table, they all sat down together and had Christmas dinner.

After the dinner Mrs. Melanson and the youngsters did some sincere wish that the year 1959 may bring to you happiness and prosperity.

New Year's Message

While 1958 has not been too bad a year for Nova Scotia, we are naturally concerned that the downward trend, evident in 1957, continued throughout the year, creating problems of varying degrees in our economy, and particularly in the basic resource industries of agriculture, forestry and mining. Nevertheless, I continue to remain confident in the future prospects of our Province, provided that the undoubted ingenuity of Nova Scotians can be properly directed to solving the problems inherent in our future, growth and development.

We have noted with great satisfaction the successful completion by the farmers of Nova Scotia of their campaign to finance the building of a provincial abattoir, and hope that 1959 will see construction well under way.

As Leader of the Opposition in the Provincial Legislature, I again urge the Premier and Government of the day to do everything possible to assist the people of Nova Scotia in the advantage of our opportunities in 1959 and the years to come. To this end the Government may again count upon a full measure of support from the official Opposition.

To Nova Scotians everywhere I extend sincere good wishes for a prosperous new year, and hope that 1959 may see a return to economic progress in Canada and particularly in Nova Scotia. May the new year bring health and happiness to all.

Who Covered By Plan

Nova Scotia's geographical position — joined to one other province by a narrow neck of land — will help avoid confusion when the Hospital Insurance Plan comes into effect January 1, Rod MacD. Black, chairman of the Nova Scotia Hospital Services Commission, said.

Outlining residential requirements in a series of talks designed to publicize and explain the Plan, he said that all residents of the province who have lived here three consecutive months prior to receipt of services will be covered. This includes persons who live in the province but work across the border in another province and residents who are temporarily outside the province.

This means, he said, that a candied apples and popped corn. The youngsters were then each presented with a pair of mittens and a bag of goodies as a Christmas gift.

In her letter Mrs. Melanson said the youngsters all behaved remarkably well and added tremendously to her own enjoyment of Christmas. "I did not have any time to be lonely for my own that day", she concluded.

1958 In The News Christmas At Trinity

The year 1958 seemed to be one marked by an unusually large number of deaths of prominent citizens of Digby and Digby County.

The Digby Courier of January 2nd, 1958, marked the passing of Max M. Naftal who, although he made his home in Nictaux, was very prominent in the industrial and commercial life of Digby county and the western Nova Scotia. His death was a severe loss to the whole of this end of the province.

The passing of H. J. Campbell, who served as superintendent of the Digby County Power Board from its inception in the early 1920's, was recorded in April, as was the tragic death of Dr. W. R. Dickie, who served for many years as a medical doctor in Digby County.

In June the Courier recorded the death of Dr. F. E. Rice, of Sandy Cove, a veteran county doctor and for many years county medical health officer. Also recorded in the new columns of the Courier in June was the sudden death of Seymour C. Denton, prominent Digby merchant and former Town Clerk. The Courier in July also reports the passing of E. A. Mader, Weymouth druggist and prominent sports figure in the county.

The sudden passing of Dr. Allister Macmillan, Cornell University research worker who made many friends in this area during his work here, is recorded in August, and in September the death of B. H. Ruggles, a prominent Digby businessman and former town councillor, was reported. Mr. Ruggles was a leading civic figure in the community.

On December 11th the Courier recorded a tragic highway accident that claimed the lives of three well known and highly regarded citizens of Digby county, Lewis Cook and his son, Robert, of North Range, and Harry Anderson, of Brighton.

The year 1958 was also a year of bad fires in Digby county. In January a tragic fire took the lives of four in Bear River and in February fire destroyed the boat and furniture building of plant of Weymouth Industries Ltd. In April a fire claimed the life of a prominent Digby doctor and in May the warehouse of the Digby County Power Board in Digby was gutted by flames.

1958 was not all tragedy, however. Early in the year the Courier reported work underway on the Annapolis River causeway and in February came the welcome news that the Canadian Pacific Railway had decided to reopen and operate their three hotels in Yarmouth, Kentville and Digby. In February the Courier also reported an offer by employees of the Weymouth Industries Ltd. to donate their time and talents free in the rebuilding of the plant there.

Later in the year the Courier also reported the reopening of this plant which is the largest employer of labor in Weymouth.

The Courier of July 7, 1958, records the signing of contracts for the building of a multi-million dollar power development in Weymouth by the Nova Scotia Power Commission. Earlier Couriers had reported decisions made locally to sell out the power generating facilities of the Digby County Power Board to the commission to pave the way for the new power development.

An event that was scheduled to have wide local repercussions was forecast by the Courier in its issue of May 8, 1958, when the paper speculated that HRH Princess Margaret would visit Digby in August. Issues of the paper in August report the visit of the Princess and the splendid official welcome given Her Royal Highness by the Town of Digby.

Other items of local interest carried in the Courier during 1958 include the account of the

Spend Christmas In Germany

A large congregation was in attendance at the midnight service of Holy Communion held in Trinity Anglican church on Christmas Eve. Some one hundred and fifty communicants made their Christmas communion at this service.

The church was beautifully decorated with greenery for the occasion and the white hangings on the altar, pulpit and lectern, together with the altar flowers, added greatly to the beauty of the service. In a short address the Rector, Rev. James Pike, reminded the congregation of the significance of the Christmas celebration. Special music was rendered by the choir for the service.

On Sunday morning the eleven o'clock service took the form of a carol service with the senior choir presenting arrangements of traditional and familiar carols. The junior choir and Sunday School sang the beautiful carol, "Away In A Manger". In his address the Rector, speaking particularly to the children present for the service, traced in simple terms the story of the events leading up to the birth of Christ and told of the effect of His Birth on the world when it happened and in the years that have passed since then.

As in years past, a beautiful illuminated manger scene graced the lawn at the west end of Trinity Church this year for the Christmas season.

Kiwanis Club Entertains Clergy

Clergy of Digby were entertained by the Digby Kiwanis Club at the club's regular supper meeting, held last week on Tuesday evening rather than Thursday.

During the evening the familiar and traditional carols were sung at the piano.

On the Thursday evening of the previous week guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club meeting was the Rev. H. S. Hartlin, of the Digby Baptist Church. Mr. Hartlin took as his theme the Christmas message of peace and goodwill toward men, with special emphasis on goodwill, faith and hope.

Monday evening of this week Kiwanis Lt. Governor C. M. Levy and a number of Kiwanians from the Digby club motored to Yarmouth to attend the re-organizational meeting of the Yarmouth Kiwanis Club. The meeting was held at Wagner's restaurant.

laying of a concrete floor in the Digby Forum; the redemption of a long outstanding note against the Digby Recreation Commission, the opening of the new Clare District High School, the appointment of Hon. M. S. Leonard, Minister of Education, as Minister of Welfare in addition to his education portfolio; the reopening of the Weymouth Industries Ltd. plant and the beginning of work on a new public building for Digby.

In October the Courier reported the resignation of Mayor Gordon R. Turnbull and in December reported the election by acclamation of Victor Cardoza to succeed Mr. Turnbull as Digby's Mayor. Election of the first woman to serve as a councillor in Digby town was also recorded by the Courier in December. She is Mrs. H. J. Anthony who was elected with Irving McKenna and Earl Van-Tassel to serve on the town council.

Many other items of interesting local news were carried in the Couriers of 1958 but space will not permit a complete review of all of them.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR TO ALL OUR READERS

To Assist In Employment

Canada's firm belief in the spirit of Christmas — "peace on earth, goodwill toward men" — has removed many of our soldiers from the familiar Yuletide scene this year.

As members of the United Emergency Force in the Middle East, truce supervisory commissions in Indochina, Lebanon, Palestine and Kashmir, and Canada's Infantry Brigade Group serving in Europe with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, a great many will spend Christmas in strange surroundings far from home.

WIN PRIZES

Congratulations to Meredith Thurber, Sharon Prime and Lindsay Prime, Freeport, for winning prizes donated by the Island Branch of the Canadian Legion on essays entitled "What Remembrance Day Means To Me".

These prizes were presented to the pupils at the school concert by Zone Commander Eugene Outhouse, Tiverton.

A Close Brush

Earl Casey, of Port Wade, had a close brush with death last Wednesday when his car was struck by the Dayliner at a private crossing on First Avenue.

Mr. Casey's car slid into the side of the train and was badly damaged by the impact. Mr. Casey, who was alone in the car at the time, was uninjured.

Review Of Year In Education

With the main object to assist in providing employment during the winter months, the provincial government has decided to offer to cities, towns and municipalities a proposal to share in the direct payroll portion of certain projects they may wish to carry out between now and the end of April next, Municipal Affairs Minister R. Clifford Levy announced.

The financial assistance proposal by the provincial government is over and above the federal-provincial winter works programme.

The province, said Mr. Levy, will pay to each municipality qualifying under the terms of the offer, 50 per cent of the direct payroll costs on projects undertaken during the winter.

Projects, to qualify, must be those which were not intended to be carried out this winter. They may include entirely new projects, or those which the sponsoring body contemplated to undertake in the future, or the continuing of those which had been started and then halted because of the arrival of winter.

All persons towards whose wages or salaries the province will assist must be unemployed at the time they are engaged by the municipalities, their contractors or sub-contractors, utility commissions, school boards or other commissions undertaking winter works. The province will not contribute to the payroll costs of year-round employees.

"Preference will be given to projects providing the greatest amount of employment, and to those in areas where there is substantial unemployment," said Mr. Levy.

"Projects which come within the terms of the offer made by the Prime Minister with respect to the winter works programme, do not come within the terms of the provincial government offer we are announcing today," the minister emphasized.

A monograph, "Teaching in Nova Scotia — A Career for You", was prepared by the director of guidance, in co-operation with the principal of the Normal College, and the Nova Scotia Film Bureau. This attractive booklet has been distributed to high school pupils to encourage more of them to enter the teaching profession. It outlines in a concise manner the qualities of character and personality needed by a teacher; what is expected of him in his work; the background needed; where one can receive teacher education; the financial assistance available; the ethical and financial opportunities offered in this career; and answers to other questions in which a prospective teacher would be interested.

Opportunities to speak to high school groups concerning a career in teaching were used by the Minister, education officials, members of the staff of the Normal College and the education departments of the universities, and by teachers.

The results of these and other means of attracting teachers to the profession are being seen in the increased attendance at the Normal College, where there are 108 more students than last year, and in the larger enrolment in the education courses at the universities, in which there is an increase of approximately 35 over last year.

C.G.I.T. CANDLELIGHT

SERVICES

On Christmas Sunday evening at 7.30 at the United Church of Canada, a very impressive candlelight vespers service was given by the C.G.I.T. under the leadership of Mrs. D. S. McLeod. The leader of the service was Patricia Cook and the candle lighters were: 1st, Florence Harris, Marie Cox; 2nd, Patsy Hand-spiker; 3rd, Judy Mayo. Story told by Marie Cox.

Beautiful carols and hymns were sung after which Rev. D. S. McLeod pronounced the benediction.

by Hon. Malcolm S. Leonard,
Minister of Education

The year 1958 has been one of varied and interesting developments in public school education in Nova Scotia. A number of the highlights are described below.

Enrolment in the schools continues to grow, with a new peak being reached each year. This is caused by the substantial population increases of recent years and the fact that today's world requires that more and more young people receive a well grounded and well informed education.

Recruiting of Teachers

The Department of Education is deeply concerned in helping to have the schools staffed by well trained teachers. We are therefore continuing to promote ways of making the teaching profession attractive. This is being done by publicizing the opportunities, advantages and satisfaction to be had in a teaching career, by improving arrangements for the education and training of teachers, by providing financial assistance towards the cost of training in the form of loans and scholarships, and by increasing the salaries of teachers.

Assistance to Student Teachers

Financial assistance is offered to students who have obtained a Grade 11 or Grade 12 provincial certificate and wish to take a year of professional training at the Nova Scotia Normal College. In addition to providing free tuition for all students at the Normal College, and interest-free loans of up to $500, the provincial government also offers 150 scholarships of $300 each at the Normal College to holders of Grade 12 certificates. ## About This and That

Facing 1959

With this issue The Digby Courier, and its many readers, face the year 1959. We could go back through the files of 1958 and review all there has been of general joy and sorrow, success and failure, but this would do little good in the case of failure except to point out our errors and give ourselves the opportunity to make a determination to avoid these mistakes in the coming year. To review the joys and successes would, indeed, give us an opportunity to count the blessings of the past year and weigh them against statements designed with the one and only purpose of spreading fear, discontent and gloom. Rather than use the space for a general Year End Review we shall leave each individual reader to examine and review 1958 as it actually has effected his or her own life. If this is done, bearing in mind that blessings are not counted in monetary value only (and few truthfully have any complaint in this respect if the spreading propaganda to the contrary is actually picked to pieces) we shall collectively bear a banner of the happiest and most fortunate people of the world in 1958.

What the future might have in store we cannot predict. We can, however, state with a good degree of certainty that how 1959 effects each and everyone of us will depend largely on our own attitude as we enter the year and live through the year 1959. In this respect we can do no better than refer our readers to the admonition of the late King George VI, in his Christmas message of 1941, when he quoted the words of M. Louise Haskins:

"I said to the man who stood at the gate of the year, 'Give me a light that I may tread safely into the unknown.' And he replied — 'Go out into the darkness and put your hand into the hand of God. That shall be better than light and safer than a known way.'"

If we can carry the above message of the late King George VI with us through the coming year, no matter what we are called to face, we shall all be the better for it and will end the year with the comment "a truly happy 1959." This is our "New Year Wish For You."

Canada 1959

A steady rise in economic buoyancy can be expected next year throughout most of Canada. That is the heartening prediction which can be drawn from the economic indicators in this country and the United States.

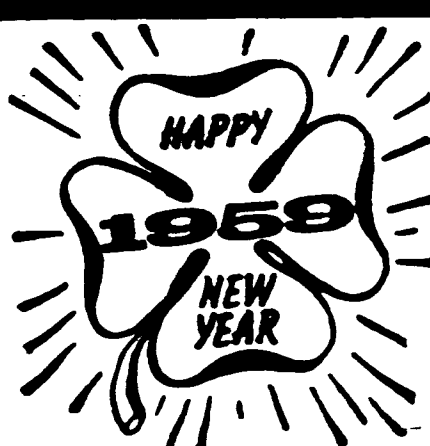

Of course we cannot predict what will happen should the world become involved in a major war, or even a "minor" one, if there be such a thing any more. But there is no use planning on disaster.

Canada has come through fifteen years of unprecedented growth. Through a massive immigration movement and one of the highest birth rates in the world, the Canadian population has been given a tremendous increase.

This in turn has resulted in shifting of gears in economic life. Demands have tripled for new roads and highways, schools and hospitals, dams and hydro power. Canadians have been building new homes in the hundreds of thousands, with all the associated major outlays on furniture and furnishings.

The country has gone through a "breather" spell for the past year. Investment in capital outlay has been high, but not at the record rates we have become accustomed to.

Now, we feel, Canada is readying itself for a new spurt of expansion in major projects, as well as a steadily increasing home market for everything from bacon to printing presses.

We extend compliments of the season, our thanks for your continued patronage and our sincere wishes for a New Year of Happiness and Prosperity.

New Year's Eve Festive Occasion For Native Scots

Christmas never aroused much enthusiasm in Scotland—but on New Year's eve the Wassail bowl goes around, filled with savory liquid nostalgically fragrant.

Floating atop the Wassail bowl, apples stir memories of the "apple-rolling" when boys switched the trunks of fruit trees petitioning "a good howling crop"; somehow, the "lamb's wool" (as the decoction of the Wassail bowl is often called) seems reminiscent of young folks rushing to the nearest spring at the stroke of 12 to drink the "cream of the well"—the first one so doing, might expect good luck during the ensuing year.

Hansel Monday—the Monday after New Year's, is traditionally the "big day" for Scotch boys and girls; and, in addition to being the Scotch day of gift-giving, it is a day of feasting and gaiety.

Small wonder, that families and friends gather on New Year's eve to "Drink a cup of kindness yet 'For Auld Lang Syne."

Tell Me an Indian New Year's Story

The ceremonial for the snow has passed, when enemies are forgiven and harsh words forgotten, as a new trail has been blazed for all through the New Year's festivities.

The story-telling grandmother has taught the ancient chants and customs of the past, the legends of the strings of historic wampum; but now she again has time to entertain the children.

Gathered around her lodge-fire, they plead for another story with their bright eyes and shrill voices. To satisfy them, she tells an ancient legend about the clouds.

"Long moons ago when the world was first made, the sky at wintertime was cloudless much as it is on clear midsummer days. The ground was covered with white snow and the trees, except the pines, stood bare. The cold wind whistled around the bark cabins; and with a cloudless sky, everything above and below looked dreary.

"The children, too, missed the green leaves and changing colors over the landscape and they gave a wish that the sky might have clouds now and then. It is true, dark-gray, fierce-looking clouds came in great masses and covered all the sky and let down snowflakes to amuse the children. But the children also wished for bright clouds and the old bear in the sky heard their wishes.

"So the old bear blew his moist breath in the heavy clouds and broke them up; he even made humps in some of them, and held on to the corners of others, until when they passed over the village, each cloud had a different shape, some like bears, some like wild cats, some like hills, and even some like funny people. Ever afterward, the clouds took these strange shapes to bring smiles and imagination to all children in midwinter."—Dr. E. A. Bates, Cornell.

Traditional New Year's Gifts Were Sacred

The Druids distributed branches of the sacred mistletoe, cut with peculiar ceremonies, as New Year's gifts to the people and the Saxons observed the day with gifts and festivities.

The Roman custom of taking gifts to the emperor was introduced into England as early as the time of Henry III. Queen Elizabeth is supposed to have supplied herself with her jewels and wardrobe almost entirely from these gifts.

As late as 1692 the English nobility were accustomed every year to send to the king a purse containing gold. Under the Tudors and the Stuarts it was the habit of all classes to give presents to friends with the best wishes for the New Year. Ladies received presents of gloves or pins which were then expensive. Sometimes the gifts were wrapped in money and from this practice we have the term "pin money."

Christmas Elf Concerned With Well-Being of Cattle

Jule-Nisse was not exactly a Danish version of Santa Claus. He was an elfish little old man who lived in the attic and was primarily concerned with the well-being of the cattle, keeping them quiet and contented, caring for them if the stablehands neglected their duties.

Nisse's name and association with Christmas probably stems from his legendary tenancy of houses where peace and contentment prevailed. "Tis said he either avoided homes where contention ruled or played all sorts of goblin-like tricks upon the occupants thereof.

Danish youngsters, mindful of Nisse's long memory and watchful eye, put themselves upon their good behavior as Christmas approaches.

Bear Gifts

Angels, sent by the Christ Child, bring presents to Hungarian children—that is, if they have been good. They believe the angels are listening long before Christmas. If the youngsters happen to find bits of tinsel on the floor they are certain of it, as this is angels' hair.

SPONSORS PARTY FOR KIDS

A Christmas party was held at Victoria Beach, sponsored by Douglas Foley. It was held on the lawn with a large lighted Christmas tree. Santa Claus arrived with horse and sleigh, and distributed treats and gifts to sixty-five children. Carols were sung, led by Mrs. Orbin Everett and Mrs. Charles Taylor, accompanied by Mr. Foley on guitar. The party was much enjoyed by young and old.

"POP," Maw Lewis called from the kitchen, "you get your lary bones out of that chair and wash up! Dinner'll be ready in two shakes of a lamb's tail."

Pop managed to lift his six feet of bone and sinew to his feet and headed for the kitchen sink.

"Don't you go usin' that clean towel, neither," Maw admonished. "That's for company. Use the roller towel. Sakes alive, I do believe you'd wipe your dirty feet on the front door mat if I'd leave it out."

"What's a door mat fer," Pop flared, "if it ain't to wipe feet on?"

Pop gave the roller towel a vicious jerk. "Y'know tonight bein' New Year's Eve, Maw, you 'nd me ought to step out somewhere. They're having a big shindig over at the Corners store. Jed Hafey's opinion' a keg."

"Jed Hafey's opinion' a keg."

"If it's anything like that keg he opened Thanksgiving, you ain't gettin' any nearer to than you're right now. Pretty howdy-do, you comin' home six o'clock in the mornin' and shootin' off the shotgun through the roof so it leaks like a sieve. No, siree, you ain't even gettin' near enough to have a smell of any keg Jed Hafey opens," Maw said.

Suddenly Pop looked up from his plate. "Well, consarn! What you cryin' about, Maw?"

"I ain't cryin'," Maw denied. "I'm just thinkin'—thinkin' back fifty-two years. You was payin' attention to me and kind o' jealous like. I couldn't turn 'round but what you was kassin' me. You was jealous o' Jed Hafey—jealouser than anything."

Pop snorted disdainfully. "What'd I have to be jealous o' Jed Hafey fer? Tell me that."

"Plenty," Maw said. "I was going to marry him."

Pop dropped his fork. "You was a-goin' to marry Jed?"

"Sure. Only his folks wanted him to marry Edda Stout. She owned all the bottom land nearly in Clarke county. He couldn't marry me until he was of age, on account o' his folks wantin' him to marry Edda. In a year he figures he can get all her money and then divorce her and marry me. Meanwhile he said I might as well marry you, then when he got all Edda's money I could divorce you and marry him. Said you was about the most harmless 'male bein' in all Clarke county and no harm would come to me marryin' you. He said if I married anybody else I might fall in love with him and then he'd lose out."

"So that was the way o' things! I remember. Jed did divorce Edda a year or so later. How come you never told me this before, Lil? And how come you not to divorce me and marry Jed after he got his divorce?"

"How come?" Maw said. "Well, Pop, I guess maybe you was kind o' responsible for that. Ain't no tellin' how a woman looks at things until she's hogtied to a man. I just kind o' forgot about Jed. Money didn't matter so much, after all. I found out it was the man that mattered. You kind o' had good ways about you, Pop. Different kind o' ways, only they was the right kind. Made a girl think twice afore jumpin' in from the fryin' pan into the fire. You was good enough for me, I found. If there was any better men'n you, I wouldn't have no way o' knowin', o' course. Everything was so nice I didn't think it could be any nicer, so I just decided to hang onto you and let Jed root for himself."

"By gum!" Pop exclaimed after a moment's reflection. "Now I am a-goin' to that keg openin' tonight if it kills me. And you're a-goin' with me, Lil. I won't have Jed thinkin' he didn't get cheated in the deal, consarn his danged hide! If I go without you he'll think I don't care none about you, and I want to make him feel right good and jealous."

"Jed jealous after fifty-two years?" Maw said incredulously. "Well, if he ain't he ought to be! Happy New Year, Maw!"

"I'll go," Maw said, "but remember, Pop Lewis, if you get drunk to-night I'll break the mop handle over your head when we get home—that is, if I'm still able to tell a mop handle from a crowbar."

Year End Review By Premier

Premier E. L. Stanfield

The year 1958 has been a varied one for the economy of Nova Scotia and we shall be well into 1959 before we shall be able to make anything like an accurate credit and debit assessment of our gains and losses. A general leveling-off of business activities has been evident across this whole continent and, though economists assert that this is only a temporary condition—"an economic breathing space preparatory to further advances"—it behoves us to resist with all our strength and adversities we meet and prepare ourselves to take full advantage of the improved conditions which should follow.

At mid-year, Nova Scotia's primary industries were, in the main, showing advances. However, as regards the last of these, certain factors in the coal mining industry (including the tragic disaster at Springhill) have made it evident that the mid-year increase would not be maintained and coal production for the whole of 1958 will show a decrease for 1957.

Forestry, as measured by sawn lumber production, was showing some advance at mid-year over the first quarter, but was still lower in 1957. The weak demand for lumber in the construction industry and the export market was largely responsible for the decrease.

In the manufacturing industry, selling value of shipments amounted to $427 millions in 1957 (the latest year for which figures are available) an increase of some 11.2 per cent over 1956. During 1958, a number of Nova Scotian companies and others developed new product lines. When the days of recession are finally passed and the Western world again enters a period of rising economy, these factors should be of considerable assistance in raising employment from its present level.

During the year, Industrial Estates Limited undertook the building of four new factories—one in the Stellarton—Westville area, one at Weymouth and two in Halifax county near Dartmouth.

Apart from expansions and new products in the manufacturing industry, 1958 saw a number of examples of basic energy in the provincial economy. In February, the boatbuilders met and decided unanimously to form an association which proceeded immediately to a study of the problems facing the industry and to various projects designed to advertise the boats made in this province. Later in the year, a number of food products companies participated in an Atlantic Provinces Food Show held at Moncton, N. B., under the sponsorship of APEC.

In agriculture, plans were completed for the construction of the farmer-owned abattoir and tenders have been called for its construction. In agriculture, too great interest was shown in the government's community pasture program and it is expected that the present two pastures will shortly be increased by a third.

Two economic indicators which showed advances at mid-year in 1958 were electric power consumption and retail trade. The former of these, at 764 million kilowatt hours showed a four per cent advance over the same point of 1957. The second factor, retail trade, stood at an estimated $233 millions, which would indicate a 4.5 per cent advance over 1957.

Thus it may seem, in 1958, Nova Scotia has shown a certain steadiness in the face of general economic softness. With improving conditions throughout the world we should be in a strong position to develop our economy.

Superstitions Told About New Year's In Many Lands

Good Luck Offered in Many Ways to 'Believers.'

New Year's Day affords everyone the opportunity to bring himself good luck throughout the year. At least that is supposed to be true according to several old superstitions concerning the beginning of a new year.

The "First Foot" — the first person to enter the house on New Year's morning — plays a significant role in the family's future fortunes. He must be a dark man to bring good luck, but if he also brings a gift and "carries in" more than he "takes out," then the house is assured peace and plenty for a whole year. The most auspicious gifts as luck-bringers are a lump of coal and a red herring.

Unmarried persons are advised to look out of the window on New Year's morning. If you see a man, it is a sign that you will be wed before the year is out. Should you see a horse, you can have a wish, and it will be realized within the year. To see a dog is lucky, but a cat foretells worry.

A little care will make it possible to bring oneself good luck for the entire year. Wear something new, if possible, on New Year's Day, but the garment must be put on when you first dress in the morning. Receipt of a gift is certain to carry luck. Wish everyone "A Happy New Year," but remember when the greeting is given to cross your fingers for luck. Be sure to say "rabbits" as the first word when you wake before anyone has had a chance to speak to you.

Love's progress will be aided on New Year's Day if you are careful to put on the left stocking before the right. The potency of this charm is supposed to be increased if you do all things as far as possible left-handedly during the day. To open a bank account on New Year's Day was considered lucky in Old England, the custom growing probably from the belief of many centuries that whatever you do on the first day of the year will be an indication of what will happen during the months that will follow. In some parts of England and Scotland it is supposed to be unlucky to leave a house until some outsider has first entered it.

Well-Planned Two-Storey Features Large Living Room

Architect P. M. Beauvais, of Montreal, has combined a pleasing exterior with an attractive and well laid out interior plan in this three-bedroom, two-storey house.

A highlight of the interior plan is a large living room running the complete length of the house. The popular corner window arrangement enhances the exterior appearance as well as providing a well-lighted cheerful living room. Another feature of the house is the open planning between the kitchen and the dining room which should prove popular with housewives. In addition there is a convenient U-shaped working area and easy access to the side service entrance.

The architect has kept hall space to a minimum and provided for a handy washroom on the ground floor in addition to the upstairs bathroom. The large master bedroom is another appealing point.

The total floor area is 1,260 square feet and the exterior dimensions are 30 feet by 21 feet. Working drawings for this house, known as design 524, are available from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

CHRISTMAS 1958

The apple trees have lost their leaves
And now stand covered in hoary frost.
The snow comes down to cover the ground
And the beauty of fall is lost.

But it's another season, and that's the reason
My thoughts I want to write.
For I love the snow with all its glow
When the sun is shining bright.

And I sadly fear we have beauty here
That many of us never see.
But it's all around; it's on the ground,
It's there in every tree.

The Yuletide spirit is here if you'll hear it,
Just listen to the wind in the trees.
But how can you love the fainter above
When you're going through life like a breeze?

The Birthday I love of the Saviour above
Is here for all to enjoy,
So let's have fun and love every one,
Even the enemy coy.

For the year ahead is one to dread
By those who have strayed from the fold.
And God in His wrath may cut us in half
If we do not what we are told.

For I think if I may and I dare to say
That in nineteen fifty-nine,
We'll see trouble and woe, and we're bound to know
Of the strength of The Power Divine.

So in the season abreast let's do our best
To spread the acts of love,
And hope and pray that some sweet day
We'll have our reward from above.

V. C. Henshaw.

HOLIDAY PARTIES FEATURE SOUP

Hurrah! ... it's Christmas Eve. Everyone loves to help trim the tree, arrange the packages and sing carols. It's a time to be happy and gay, the perfect time to have a party.

Plan a SOUP-TUREEN PARTY. There's no work to fixing this meal. Just open several cans of your favorite condensed soup, prepare according to label directions and dress up with a colorful garnish. For festivity ... use a lovely old family turban, or for simplicity ... use one of your colorful canes.

Perfect for the season is easy condensed tomato soup. You'll like it teamed with either vegetable or clam chowder for a hearty combination. Trim the soup with a Christmas garnish of cracker wreaths. Simply brush the edges of round crackers with melted butter. Then press each cracker into some chopped parsley. The parsley clings to the buttered edge so each cracker looks like a little wreath. Float 2 or 3 of these on top of the soup. This soup also looks pretty with slices of stuffed olive or just a cluster of parsley.

For munching, have a tray of sandwiches ... perhaps ham on rye or cream cheese with chopped olives ... on the buffet table. Something sweet and a cup of coffee completes the menu.

TOMATO VEGETABLE SOUP
cans (10 ounces each) condensed vegetable soup can (10 ounces) condensed tomato soup
2 soup cans water
In saucepan, blend soups and water. Heat, stirring now and then. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

TOMATO CLAM CHOWDER
can (10 ounces) condensed clam chowder
can (10 ounces) condensed tomato soup
2 soup cans water
In saucepan, combine soups and water. Heat, stirring now and then. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

THE loneliest place in the world is a summer resort at Christmas time. Joanne Decker watched gloomily as a half dozen men trudged through the snow skirting Arrowhead Lake. They would return in a few hours carrying Christmas trees on their husky shoulders. Joanne sighed heavily as the last man disappeared into the brush.

This promised to be the dreariest Christmas Joanne had ever known. Even the postman's whistle failed to rouse her. It was only when Mr. Rogers stood at the far end of the drive waving a letter that a faint glow of curiosity came to her eyes. The old postman never signalled unless he had something important. Maybe it was a letter from Eddie!

Slipping into a coat Joanne raced eagerly down the snow-covered path, unmindful of her open-toed slippers.

"It's from Lynne Grove," said Mr. Rogers with a grin. "Lynne Grove?" Joanne stared dreamily at the letter in his hand. Then Eddie hadn't forgotten her! Perhaps he was even coming back to Arrowhead Lake to marry her, as he had promised.

"You got a letter," said Joanne accusingly. "A nice registered letter from Eddie Long."

"It's for your sister," said the old man. "Registered too—but you can sign it."

Joanne turned the letter over gingerly; on the flap, in bold, familiar writing, was the name E. Long. So Eddie Long was writing to her sister Mary! And after all the wonderful promises he had made to her. She walked numbly back to the house.

Mary met her at the door. "Did we get mail?" she asked innocently.

Accusation
"YOU got a letter," said Joanne accusingly. "A nice registered letter from Eddie Long!"

Mary was startled; she blushed like a schoolgirl.

"I thought so!" Joanne cried bitterly. "All these months you've been feeling sorry for me because Eddie stopped writing—and you've kept in touch with him behind my back. What a hypocrite!"

Mary blinked helplessly. Joanne ran up to her room and slammed the door. The radio was on, Christmas carols only emphasized her loneliness. She switched it off. Her eyes settled on a paper box under the dresser. Drawing it out she scowled at the lovely figure nestled therein. It was her Christmas present to Mary. With a sob she picked up the little figure and dashed it to the floor.

Joanne heard the murmur of serious conversation downstairs. She hoped Mary was catching it. Suddenly she decided to teach them all a lesson. Christmas or not, she would leave home. She could board a bus this very morning. She knew exactly where to go; her friend Betty Giles had urged her repeatedly to spend a week-end at their new home in Coopersville.

Surprise Meeting
The bus-station was alive with holiday tourists. Joanne felt most conspicuous in her blue-jeans and red sweater. She gasped in surprise when a familiar voice asked: "Where to, Joanne?"

Eddie Long's expressive brown eyes smiled down at her. He had her in his arms before she could remember any good reason to resist.

"Merry Christmas, darling!" he cried as their lips parted. "I've waited more than a year for this. But why the suitcase? Mary told me you'd be at home for the holidays; that's why I sent her the letter announcing my arrival."

"Mary? I—I don't understand." "Well, it was supposed to be a surprise. Last summer, when I was on my way out here, I met with an accident. Mary and your mother knew that I was hurt pretty bad and they didn't want to frighten you. When I showed signs of returning to normal they suggested that I spend Christmas week at your place. You've got wonderful folks, Joanne. Best in-taws a man could ask for."

SOME folks liked Mayor Fulcrum, and some didn't, but if election day had been January 1st, he'd have won by a whopping big margin.

Mollie Nesbitt had lived in Hillcrest nearly eleven years before we found out about her sister Elsie. We heard the news from Mrs. Parker, who seemed a wee bit ashamed for not having discovered it earlier.

"Imagine!" exclaimed the talkative Mrs. Parker, as we wrapped the last of the New Year decorations in the Hillcrest Town Hall. "The poor soul hasn't seen Elsie in more than ten years."

"Why?" asked Mayor Fulcrum. "Mollie says her sister lives out west; guess she just can't afford to buy a round-trip ticket."

"She works at Phil's Diner."

"She works at Phil's Diner, doesn't she," mumbled the mayor.

doesn't she?" mumbled the mayor, stuffing Christmas candy into his mouth. "Phil pays her, I presume."

"She's always helping someone," said young Mrs. Rogers with a frown, as she reached for the mayor's candy bowl. "Whenever any one of us needs a baby sitter we think of Mollie Nesbitt. When the children want a sucker, or kite-string, or pick up a silver—it's always Mollie Nesbitt."

"Why doesn't she call her sister on the phone?" asked the mayor. Then, turning his back on our little group, he strode off in search of new tid-bits.

Good Idea
"No! No!" cried Mrs. Parker as Mrs. Rogers raised the bowl menacingly above her head.

Mrs. Rogers grinned. "I wouldn't throw it—not really. Besides, I think his honor has a good idea. Why not have Mollie call her sister?—at our expense. I think we all owe her a holiday gift."

We all heartily agreed. The mayor or himself said that the plan was a dandy when we told him about it. He promised to write to Elsie to make sure she'd be home when the call came through; it wouldn't be a surprise, or a present, if Elsie weren't at the other end of the line on New Year's Eve.

When Mollie Nesbitt left Phil's Diner on New Year's Eve it was snowing. When she reached home it was snowing harder. By the time she opened the front door to admit our joyous delegation a regular blizzard was under way. We charged the telephone, carrying Mollie with us. She let out a squeal of delight when we told her that she'd soon be talking to Elsie. Her eyes grew bright with anticipation when Mrs. Parker placed the call. Then Mrs. Parker clipped our chatter. Her face was grim as she faced us:

"Martha Weeks says the lines are down. Big snow storm out west. We'll not be able to talk to Elsie tonight."

We were stunned. Mollie sat still for awhile, trying not to look too disappointed. A bit later she trotted into the kitchen for a tray of cookies, but they stuck in our throats.

Company
"Someone's coming up the walk," said Mrs. Parker. "Looks like Mayor Fulcrum, but it's hard to tell with all this snow. It is the mayor—and there's a lady with him!"

Mollie opened the door—then let out a cry that brought us all to our feet. "Elsie! Oh what a wonderful present!" And she threw her arms around her sister's neck.

"Happy New Year, mayor!" I cried, grasping his hand warmly. "You sure brightened things up around here. Whatever made you decide to bring Elsie to Hillcrest?"

"Well, I ran into Mollie last week at the post-office, where she was mailing a package to Elsie. She was sending hearing-aid batteries. Thinking that Elsie might be too hard of hearing to carry on a phone conversation, I enclosed a round trip train ticket in my letter."

"She's not wearing a hearing aid now," I said.

"Never did. The batteries were for Mollie's uncle."

Granville Ferry school was visited recently by four members of the I.O.D.E., namely, Mrs. Leonard Rafuse, Mrs. Vernon Amberman, Mrs. F. F. Smith and Mrs. K. E. Green. Mrs. Rafuse, Regent of the Order, made the presentation, and Mrs. Amberman, Educational Secretary, gave a splendid address, telling the scholars "What the flag means to our country" and what it means to the children who salute it each morning. The teachers, Mrs. Marion Mills and Miss Patricia Mills, and the children, voiced their thanks and appreciation for the kindness and thoughtfulness of the I.O.D.E.

Issues Warning

A. Murray MacKay, President of the Nova Scotia Highway Safety Council, issues this warning to all Nova Scotia motorists:

The Nova Scotia Highway Safety Council are deeply concerned over the multiplicity of accidents on the highways, particularly since the advent of winter conditions. The first week in December, for example, was set apart by the National Highway Safety Council as safe driving week all over Canada, and not only local but continent-wide advertising called attention to this fact and emphasized the need of particular care in driving, with the hope that the month of December started off without any accidents it might set a pattern for the entire winter.

Unfortunately in Nova Scotia however, there were at least three fatalities, and more than a score of people sent to hospital on account of highway accidents during that week.

We agree that driving conditions were not good. Nevertheless, this great toll of accidents suggests carelessness, as nine out of ten accidents are the result of human failure or error.

A driver can excuse himself in innumerable ways, but in the final analysis it comes to this: only YOU, the individual driver can prevent accidents.

As the Directors of our Council sit around the board table and endeavor to consider ways and means by which the colossal toll of highway accidents can be reduced or eliminated altogether, many procedures are suggested. In fact, our Directors would like to be able to sit down with YOU, Mr. Driver, for a full discussion of highway safety and safe driving principles. This is impossible, as it is likewise impossible for me to include in this message a complete resume of safe driving principles and practices.

I do want to say, however: WATCH YOUR CAR, WATCH THE ROAD, WATCH THE OTHER FELLOW—PARTICULARLY PEDESTRIANS AND CHILDREN.—AND, ABOVE ALL, APPLY YOUR BRAKES CAREFULLY ON ICY OR FROSTY SURFACES.

These are general principles which we should do very well to keep in mind at all times, but I do think this—the beginning of the holiday season, a time of the year when driving conditions are the most dangerous—is an opportune time to re-emphasize and reiterate two factors that are largely responsible for at least a substantial number of our traffic accidents.

The first is EXCESSIVE SPEED.

Every safe driving organization on the continent emphasizes the statement that SPEED KILLS. Under the laws of Nova Scotia the maximum speed on our highways under the most satisfactory conditions is sixty mph. With snow and icy highways, on narrow roads and where visibility is poor, or even on the broadest highways under certain conditions, half of this speed might be excessive. Similarly, in towns and villages, half of the 30 mph speed limit might, under icy conditions, be excessive.

The driver should be the best judge of a safe speed under any and all conditions. If, however, he is reckless or his judgement is faulty, accidents will occur, and he must be responsible because after all the legal requirement is not any specified speed but a speed that is SAFE. The responsibility is the driver's, whether he is travelling at 40 or 10 mph. So, Mr. Motorist, please remember the tragedy of speed, that EXCESSIVE SPEED KILLS, and act accordingly.

The second factor is ALCOHOL.—the great danger of alcohol and gasoline, a combination that kills. This is a particularly important consideration just at this time, as the festive season with all its good fellowship and happy conviviality approaches. One thing that should be borne in mind, no matter what kind of car you drive, is that the automobile of today can be a mighty engine of destruction.

It is definitely a criminal act, and should be regarded as such by all good citizens, for anyone whose judgement and driving ability is impaired by alcohol to be at the wheel. THIS MEANS ANYONE WHO HAS HAD ONE OR MORE DRINKS OF INTOXICATING LIQUOR.

No one wants to place undue restrictions on the celebration of the festive season, but neither does anyone want death in such potent form as an automobile with a driver whose ability to drive is impaired by alcohol to be roaming our highways and streets.

So, for the sake of the public and for your own sake,—if you drink, don't drive! If you drive, don't drink!

How many tragedies, how many heartbreaks, might have been prevented if the rule contained in those last few words

WHO COVERED

person who lives in Amherst but works across the border in New Brunswick will be eligible for coverage in the Plan. But a person who lives in New Brunswick and works in Amherst will not be eligible.

Others not included are tourists, transients, visitors to the province, persons who have lived in the province for less than three months prior to receipt of services and persons who are entitled to the same benefits from some other governmental agency.

If a person covered by the Plan moves from Nova Scotia to another province having a hospitalization plan, he will be covered for a maximum of three months, starting on the date he left the province, Mr. Black said. If he becomes eligible for coverage in the new province before the end of three months, his coverage by the Nova Scotia Plan will end when the Plan in the new province becomes effective.

If a person moves to a place in Canada not having a provincial hospitalization plan, coverage under the Nova Scotia Plan will be limited to a maximum of $14 a day for an adult or child and $5 a day for an infant less than 15 days old for a period not exceeding three months from the date of departure.

Students from outside Nova Scotia attending universities in the province will not be covered, Mr. Black said, but students from Nova Scotia attending universities in other provinces will be eligible. The latter are only temporarily absent from the province, he said.

It will be up to the patient to prove to a hospital he is a permanent resident of Nova Scotia, Mr. Black said. Appearance of a patient's name in a telephone directory, a tax receipt, a driver's license, or the word of two reliable persons will help establish eligibility for insured services. "If no satisfactory proof can be produced," he said, "the patient will be responsible for his own bill."

Marriage

Guest — Buckwald

A lovely ceremony took place in Zion Lutheran Church, Pembroke, when Reverend J. M. Zimmerman officiated at the marriage of Miss Myrna Buckwald, of Westmeath, and Mr. Cyril A. Guest, son of Mrs. W. Guest, Granville Ferry, Nova Scotia, and the late Mr. Guest.

The bride was attended by her sisters, Miss Wilma Buckwald, as maid-of-honor, and Miss Linda Buckwald as junior bridesmaid.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Patrick Dwyer, of Camp Petawawa, and Mr. Willard Brown, of Chalk River.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her grandfather, was a vision of loveliness in a floor length gown of white net over satin. Her full length veil was held in place by a crown of rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of red roses and lily-of-the-valley.

The maid of honor wore a floor length gown of pale blue net over satin. Her headdress was a matching flowered bonnet.

The junior bridesmaid was frocked in a floor length gown of mauve net over satin and wore a flowered bonnet in mauve. Their bouquets were of pink and white roses.

Following the ceremony a delicious turkey supper was held at the bride's home in Westmeath. In the evening more than 100 guests were received.

The couple will reside in 18-3ins Westmeath.

REVIEW OF YEAR

For students who take professional courses at university leading to the Junior Diploma, the Senior Diploma and the Bachelor of Education degree, tuition fees are paid by the Department of Education at any of the six Maritime universities offering teacher education courses. Interest-free loans of up to $500 are available for university teacher education students, and 50 scholarships of $500 each for Bachelor of Education students only.

In December it was announced that the provincial government will share, under the foundation program, in addition to teachers' basic salaries to a maximum of $400 a year granted by school boards, above the present salary scale, for teachers with four or more years of training beyond Grade 11 who teach in the junior and senior high school grades. This applies to teachers who hold a Professional Certificate of Class I, II, or III, who teach any of Grades 7 to 12 inclusive. There will be approximately 1200 teachers, principals, supervising principals and supervisors eligible for the proposed increase. If fully accepted by the provincial school boards, the salary increases would amount to approximately $500,000, of which $200,000 would be contributed by the Province. These increases will be over and above the foundation scale under the Education Act and other additions approved last year which came into effect on August 1, 1958.

The maximum amounts per annum of the additions to the foundation salary scale now to be eligible for grants from the provincial governments are: P.C. 1 — $820; P.C. 2 — $760; P.C. 3 — $700; Teachers' License Class 1 — $240; Class 2 — $180; Class 3 — $120; Class 4 — $100. The latest increase will come into effect August 1, 1959.

Emergency Teacher Training Plan

The Department introduced in 1958 an emergency training plan at the Nova Scotia Summer School, to prepare university graduates as high school teachers. An intensive 10-week course was given to 26 students. The subjects studied included general and special methods of teaching, and history and principles of education, with a minimum of four hours each week being devoted to practice work. An interim Professional Certificate Class III was granted to each student. This certificate can be made permanent after one year of teaching and a second summer session of five weeks' duration.

Each of the teachers trained in this course is to receive careful supervision from the principal and other supervisory officials of the school system where he is engaged. A report on his teaching ability is made to the Department of Education at the end of the calendar year, with two or more reports before the end of the term in June. A final appraisal of his competence is then to be made, and the reports become a part of the student's record to be taken into consideration when assessing his eligibility for a permanent certificate.

All but one of the members of this year's class are teaching in the schools of Nova Scotia at the present time and reports to date indicate they are doing good work.

Nova Scotia Normal College

A most important development is the announcement that the Normal College is to have new quarters and a reorganized course. Under this plan a new Teachers' College is to be built at Truro next year, which will offer in addition to the one-year course a two-year course combining, in each of the two years, courses of university calibre along with those devoted to professional teacher education.

A significant factor of the year at the Normal College was the enrollment increase of 108 student-teachers already mentioned. The total enrollment for the term 1958-59 is 429. A corresponding factor is the increase in the number of candidates who have Grade 12 scholarship or better. This has been a trend during the past few years and it is hoped that before too long the minimum requirement for entrance may be a full Grade 12 provincial certificate or its equivalent. Even this minimum requirement will represent a great improvement in the school system.

One drink might be the difference between life and death, between happiness and heartbreak. If you have had that drink, be a responsible citizen. Don't drive your car, let someone else drive it. DRIVE SAFER FOR A HAPPIER NEW YEAR.

Revaluation of Assessments

In 1956 a Revaluation Commission, headed by Mr. T. A. Pugsley, was appointed to examine the assessments of the cities, towns and municipalities of the province and to determine, for the purposes of the Education Act, the full value for assessment purposes of all property which is liable to municipal taxation under the Assessment Act. The Commission was directed to include also property exempt under the Assessment Act but on which payments or grants in lieu of municipal taxes were being paid. During the course of its examination the Commission visited all cities, towns and municipalities and made a detailed study of assessments and values in the 66 units of municipal government.

The Commission made its report at the end of November this year. Hundreds of thousands of dollars in education costs will be shifted as a result of the new valuations. The shift in the educational load is accounted for by the changes in assessment, which alter the proportions of the cost paid by the provincial government and the municipalities.

For 33 municipal units the percentage of the cost of the foundation program borne by the provincial government will be higher; for 20 of the municipal units the percentage will be lower; and for 13 it will remain the same.

Under the provisions of the Education Act, such revaluations are to be made periodically to keep a regular check on continually changing financial conditions throughout the municipal units.

School Building

The construction of new school buildings, as well as renovation and expansion of existing buildings, continues to require much in the way of attention and funds from educational authorities. A Royal Commission, under the chairmanship of Dr. Ira P. Macnab, has studied during the year various aspects of school construction throughout the province and its report is expected to be made shortly.

Among the larger schools completed in 1958 are Barrington District High School; Pugsley District High School; Judique Consolidated School; Centre Consolidated School (Lunenburg County); Acadia, Carleton and Port Maitland Consolidated Schools (Yarmouth County); and three in Halifax County: the new consolidated schools at Indian Harbour and Eastern Passage, and the Halifax West Municipal High School at Fairview. It is of special interest to note that with the building of the new consolidated schools in Yarmouth County, the children of the Municipality of the District of Yarmouth are now attending five large consolidated schools.

Conferences

During the year several special education conferences were held. On January 15 Department of Education staff members and field workers, including inspectors, supervisors and department division personnel from throughout the province met in Halifax for a three-day conference. This is the first time that a general conference of such wide coverage, including all branches of the Department of Education, has been held. Among the topics discussed were teacher supply and recruitment, and teacher education. Service training course for superintendents will be held in October a two-day in-

Assessment Shows Increase

According to the assessment roll received at the Town Council meeting here Monday night, real property assessment in Digby for 1959 amounts to $2,761,020. Personal property assessment will be $952,700, making a total of $3,713,720. This total is an increase of $167,000 over the 1958 assessment. Final assessment figure for 1959 will not be determined, however, until after the sitting of the appeal court.

At their meeting the council approved a building permit application for Aubrey Chisholm to build a house on his property on King Street. Approval was also given for a renovation of the front of the Fundy Restaurant on Water Street.

An offer from Ernest Balser to purchase a property acquired by the town because of non-payment of taxes was accepted by the meeting. Permission was given the National Institute for the Blind to hold a tag day in May.

At the opening of Monday night's meeting the newly elected councillors, W. I. McKenna, E. B. VanTassel and Mrs. H. J. Anthony, were sworn into office and a welcome to the council given them by Mayor Cardozo.

In his remarks the Mayor outlined in detail the responsibilities and duties of the Mayor and Council and also those of the various standing committees of the council. He expressed the hope the council would work together in the interests of the town and stated their interest in promoting the town's welfare was indicated by their willingness to serve on the council.

Honors Couple Wed 65 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Frankland, of Church Point, recently celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary. Both were born at White Head, Grand Manan, N. B. They now reside with their son, Floyd Frankland.

Mr. Frankland lived on Grand Manan Island where he had interests in the fish-processing business for a number of years. He also spent some time in the State of Maine in the fish business. Mr. Frankland followed the complete process of the fish business from catching to the finished product in his long life.

Two sons are following in his footsteps in the fish business. One son, Oscar, operates a sardine factory at Eastport, Maine, and another son, Floyd, processes herring at Church Point. Floyd, who married a French girl from Comeauville, after being a widower, settled in Church Point about 20 years ago.

Chester Frankland is now retired and is proud, along with Mrs. Frankland, of their 13 grandchildren, 12 of whom are still living. They also have 19 great-grandchildren. Both Mr. and Mrs. Frankland are enjoying good health. Mr. Frankland still shows interest in the fish business, taking a trip down to the wharf to check the operations of the vinegar-cured herring processing or the smoked-herring filleting by his son, Floyd.

Club Has Active Year

An impressive list of accomplishments by the Digby Kiwanis Club for the year 1958 was reviewed by retiring President, James Ayer, in his report given at the annual meeting of the club.

Mr. Ayer reported that during the year the Kiwanis Club had made possible the holding of two speech therapy clinics and two crippled children's clinics in Digby. A total attendance of close to seventy children at the two speech therapy clinics was reported, Mr. Ayer said, and total attendance at the two orthopedic clinics was near eighty, with sixteen new patients being registered for the first one of the year, held in April.

The club not only provided the free clinics, Mr. Ayer said, but also arranged for one child requiring surgical correction to be treated at the Children's Hospital in Halifax. Expenses for the parents of this child to visit the youngster in Halifax over Christmas were also provided by the Kiwanis Club.

Besides its direct service work for handicapped children the Digby Kiwanis Club also redecorated and provided funds for new linen supplies for the children's ward at the Digby General Hospital.

In its youth work program the Digby Kiwanis Club also sponsored a swimming and water safety program during the summer and paid transportation and enrolment fees for two Digby youngsters to attend the hockey school in Kentville. On National Kid's Day the club sponsored a free movie and transported little league and special award winners and those successful in passing Red Cross swimming tests to RCAF Greenwood where they were guests of the Air Force for demonstrations and luncheon.

An all-out effort was also made by the club to increase the interest of the young people of the area in agriculture. The club was instrumental in having a 4-H Club organized at the Digby Regional High School in January and in June distributed five calves to 4-H Club members. Two of these were contributed by local farmers, while the other three were purchased by the Kiwanis Club. Later in the year the club transported 4-H Club members to a number of farms in the area and also provided transportation of the calves to the Digby County Exhibition, where all won prizes.

During the year the Digby Kiwanis Club also took part in much other service work. This included transport of patients from the Municipal Home at Marston to Digby for church services; visits and distribution of gifts at the home, jail, and at the Digby General Hospital; provision of clothing and transport for a local youngster to a youth camp near Amherst; entertainment of 4-H Club members at a dinner and the erection of a large tourist information sign on Digby main street.

Marks One Hundredth Birthday

Mr. Theriault, who is still hale and hearty despite his one hundred years, has four children, Fred and Elsie, who live with him; Zephie (Mrs. Louis Belliveau) and Edward who lives near his father in Bellevue Cove. He also has twenty-six grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Gives History Of Hospital

Mrs. Ina Dillon, president of the Digby Ladies' Hospital Aid, gave a brief outline of the history of the Digby General Hospital at a meeting of the Aid held at the home of Mrs. V. G. Cardozo on Monday evening. Mrs. Dillon said the hospital was started as a 12 bed cottage hospital in 1925. The present hospital was established in 1931 with accommodation for 35 beds and 15 bassinets.

Acknowledgement was made of the Christmas trays provided by Mrs. Fred McBride and Mrs. Boyd Ellis, for the place cards donated by the United Church C.G.I.T. and also for the carol singing and the place mats made by the Grade VII and VIII Junior Red Cross organizations.

It was announced that the New Year Baby at the hospital was a son born to Mr. and Mrs. Shirley VanTassel, Seabrook, at 8:10 p.m. on January 1.

Plans were made on Monday to hold a Bridge and Pantry Sale in January.

Leonard Makes Announcement Re Teachers' Salaries

The Honourable Malcolm S. Leonard, Minister of Education, announced that the Province will share in additional teachers' salaries granted by school boards above the foundation program scale, over and above the additions approved last year, for teachers with four or more years of training beyond Grade 11 and who are teaching in the junior and senior high school grades. The Province's additional sharing will come into effect on August 1, 1959.

The inclusion of these additional amounts to be shared by the Province will bring the shareable minimum and maximum salaries for teachers holding Professional Certificates of Class III, II and I, and who are teaching in junior or senior high school grades, up to the following figures:

Professional Certificate Class III (4 years of training beyond Grade 11) — minimum, $3100; maximum, $4300.

Professional Certificate Class II (B.A. and B.Ed.) — minimum, $3460; maximum, $5020.

Professional Certificate Class I (B.A., B.Ed., Master's Degree) — minimum, $4180; maximum, $5380. "Three years' experience prerequisite for awarding this certificate.

The total amounts above the scale, including the amounts awarded last year, for teachers holding these three classes of certificates and toward which the Province will contribute are $700, $760, and $820, respectively. The previous amounts of $300, $360, and $420 are shared for teachers in all grades, whereas the additional amounts of $400 awarded this year are for teachers in junior and senior high school grades only.

The Minister also stated that the provincial proportion of these amounts is the regular provincial proportion that prevails under the Education Act, with no minimum of 25%.

In agreeing to the sharing of these additional amounts above the provincial scale, the Minister pointed out that the new minimum and maximum salaries for teachers holding these professional certificates approximate, and in some cases exceed, the minimum and maximum salaries in the Atlantic Provinces and the Eastern States of the United States whose economies are similar to those of Nova Scotia. It is expected that within the next five years, with the post-war enrolment reaching the high school grades, there will be an urgent demand for additional high school teachers and the new shareable increases are designed to attract additional university graduates into the teaching profession, and to encourage them to use their services in the high school grades.

The full text of the Minister's decision is as follows:

Decision of the Minister of Education of December 9, 1958: "1. Under authority of clause (d) of subsection (6) of Section 80 of the Education Act, the Minister of Education, subject to the conditions set out in clause 2, hereby approves, for the purpose of payment of grants under said subsection (6), as from August 1, 1959, the portions of salaries in excess of salaries in the scale prescribed (Please turn to page 8)

Storm Disrupts Traffic

A severe wind and snow storm with below zero temperatures Monday and Tuesday and still persisted, although somewhat abated, on Wednesday, played havoc with transportation in much of the western end of Nova Scotia.

Because of the severity of the storm pupils attending public schools in Digby and transported by buses were dismissed at two o'clock Monday afternoon to ensure their reaching their homes. According to reports, some pupils in the Marshalltown area did not get to their own homes until late Tuesday and were sheltered in homes along the road. The bus was only to reach a point on the road near the store of Ralph Marshall and the pupils had to walk the rest of the way to their homes. Some youngsters, living in the further end of the community, had to stay at homes further down the road and only got to their own homes late Tuesday.

Tuesday morning most secondary roads leading off the main highway were reported blocked and only those school buses covering the main road were dispatched. At noon school was dismissed for the day. The secondary roads were reported still blocked Wednesday.

Travel on the main highway from points east & west of Digby was almost at a standstill until late Tuesday. Personnel leaving the Cornwallis naval base late Monday night were unable to get to their homes in Digby and had to return to the base. Mail service was disrupted by the storm and the west bound mail truck from Halifax was storm stayed some twelve hours in the Bridgetown-Annapolis area, only reaching Digby late Tuesday afternoon. A mail truck leaving Digby for Halifax was storm stayed in Annapolis. The Acadia Lines bus from Yarmouth Monday afternoon got only as far as Digby and the morning run from Yarmouth on Tuesday was cancelled.

Late Tuesday plows were able to break through the heavily drifting snow on the main road in the Deep Brook area and traffic between Digby and Annapolis was restored. Wednesday it was reported mail trucks between Halifax and Digby were running on schedule. High winds were still creating heavy drifting and all-out efforts were being made to keep the roads open.

In the town of Digby snow plowing was carried out continuously most of Monday night and much of Tuesday and most streets in the town were being kept passable although some blocking was reported of streets in the upper reaches of the town. A standby group of fire department members stayed at

First Fire Of Year

A space heater blaze at Margolian's Shoe Store in Digby Friday morning was the first fire of 1959 attended by the Digby Fire Department.

The blaze, which caused little or no damage except to smoke pipes leading from the space heater, appeared to have been caused by a carbonizing up of the burner. When the heater was turned up Friday morning the concentration of carbon in the burner and smoke pipes ignited.

New Year Arrives Quietly

So far as Digby was concerned the New Year slipped in with hardly a ripple. Outside of a few house parties and a dance at the Hotel Champlain the advent of 1959 appeared no more momentous than the breaking of any other new day. Only report of the event heard locally was the raucous sounding of the whistle of a cargo boat at the long wharf promptly on the stroke of twelve.

At the Digby General Hospital where the advent of 1959 signalled the coming into being of the new provincial hospital insurance plan, twenty-five patients who were in the hospital as the old year slipped away were discharged and readmitted under the insurance plan. During the first day of the new year only three new patients entered the Digby hospital.

Digby was not even close in the race for the first baby of the new year. Even up until supper time on January 1st no babies had been born at the hospital in the new year. One new arrival got in under the wire by being born in the closing hours of 1958.

NEW YEAR'S PARTY AT ASHMORE

A New Year's party was held at the Baptist parsonage by Rev. and Mrs. Rogerson for the fellowship group. Games were played and refreshments served.

At twelve o'clock a few minutes of silent prayer was observed, followed by Rev. A. M. Rogerson leading in prayer for the many blessings each had received in the past year, and that each would be blessed in the new year.

A hymn sing was enjoyed and all left feeling it was an evening well spent.

Scallop Fishery

In Progress Reports No. 70, Dr. Lloyd Dickie examines "Recent trends in the scallop fishery of eastern Canada." He points out that the total landing of scallop meats in 1957 was 3,410,000 pounds as compared with 2,420,000 pounds in the preceding year, and an average catch of about 700,000 pounds annually from 1941 to 1951. He then reviews the component fisheries.

The Bay of Fundy catch in 1957 was 1,340,000 pounds, the highest since 1,850,000 pounds in 1937. The high catch was a result of good supplies of scallops on the grounds. The good fishery was forecast in 1952 on the basis of highly successful sets of young. These were the result of warm-water years in 1947, 1949 and 1951. Cooler years since then have probably produced fewer young scallops and the author considers it likely that landings will soon drop to near the old average of half a million pounds annually.

Scallop fishing in the Gulf of St. Lawrence is erratic and depends upon the discovery of new beds as old ones are fished down or die out from natural causes. Since late 1956 the fishery in the southern Gulf is limited by regulation to vessels under 65 feet in length. The catch in 1957 was 230,000 lbs. as compared with 430,000 lbs. in 1956 when both large and small vessels made good landings from the well-stocked Toney River bed.

The spectacular increase in Canadian production resulted largely from the landings from Georges Bank by the off-shore fleet. Landings were 1,690,000 pounds in 1957 as compared with 700,000 pounds in 1956. This increase far more than compensates for the decline in offshore landings from the St. Pierre Bank from 230,000 pounds to 130,000 pounds.

Dr. Dickie points out that the great increase in scallop fishing on Georges Bank may so increase competition for the scallops that they become harder to catch. In addition there is some reason to think that the scallop population on Georges Bank may actually become less productive. Dr. Dickie notes that abundance on Georges Bank followed abundance in the Bay of Fundy and a decline in availability of scallops in the Bay of Fundy has already been forecast.

VISIT COUNTY HOME

On Friday evening a number of the members of the Society of Friends and several friends went to the Municipal Home at Marshalltown to take the residents a New Year's treat. They were graciously welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas and held their party around the Christmas tree in the assembly room.

After gifts were presented to each one, a sing song was enjoyed by all, with many of the residents joining in on the old familiar hymns.

A social hour was spent later with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas during which time delicious refreshments were served.

Digby's First 1959 Baby

Distinction of being the first baby for 1959 to be born at the Digby General Hospital goes to William VanTassel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Shirley VanTassel, of Seabrook, who was born at ten minutes past eight on the evening of January 1st. Attending physician was Dr. D. G. Black, of Digby.

The youngster, born to Mrs. VanTassel at the hospital on January 1st, has also another distinction for it is the first child born at the hospital since the coming into force of the new Nova Scotia Hospital Insurance Plan.

Mrs. VanTassel is scheduled to receive from the Ladies' Hospital Aid of the Digby General Hospital a silver baby spoon which is traditionally given by the Aid to the first baby born at the hospital each year.

Provincial Spiel Underway

Despite inclement weather and bad road conditions curling teams from widely scattered points in Nova Scotia gathered in Digby yesterday for the Past Presidents' Bonselpiel, first province wide bonselpiel to be hosted by the Digby Curling Club.

Due to the sudden passing of R. A. Douglas, ex-M.L.A. and contractor of New Glasgow, donor of the Douglas Trophy awarded each year to the winning rink in the Past Presidents' Bonselpiel, the draw for this year's 'spiel was delayed from nine o'clock Wednesday morning to late in the afternoon. Funeral service for Dr. Douglas was held yesterday afternoon in New Glasgow with interment in Alma.

Official opening ceremonies for the bonselpiel were held at four o'clock with Mayor Victor Cardozo of Digby delivering the first stone to mark the opening of the event. President R. S. MacLellan, of the Royal Canadian Curling Club, received the stone. After the opening ceremonies the draw for play was held and the annual banquet and business session followed in the evening.

Local chairman for the Past Presidents' Bonselpiel is Earnest B. Tufts of the Digby Curling Club. He is being assisted in preparations and handling of the event by Digby Curling Club members. Members of the ladies curling club and wives of the men curlers catered for the banquet.

Storm Forces Postponement

The severe storm which swept this area the first of the week forced postponement of the official opening ceremonies for the 1958-59 hockey season, scheduled for the Digby Forum Tuesday evening.

These ceremonies will now be held Wednesday evening, January 14th, it has been announced. Included in the ceremonies are presentation of awards to the young boys who attended the hockey school in Kentville last year and the burning of a bank loan note which was recently redeemed as the result of an all-out community effort.

The loan which was contracted in 1950 to complete certain necessary alterations at the Forum and to extend the curling club ice surface, was secured through a note endorsed by twenty public spirited citizens all of whom at the time were curlers. Over the years the note was reduced to slightly over four thousand dollars and a few weeks ago contributions from local organizations and individuals and the payment of a sum by each of the endorsers made possible the full retirement of the note.

Next Wednesday's program at the Forum will also include the first hockey game of the season between the Digby Ravens and Cornwallis Cougars and the evening is being made a "children's night" with all youngsters being admitted free if accompanied by parents.

Church Services At Freeport

On Sunday morning, December 14, Rev. R. C. Atkinson was guest speaker at the Freeport United Baptist Church. His sermon, "No Room In The Inn", was very impressive. Rev. W. Ideson sang a solo, "No Room In The Inn". At the close of the service five rededicated their lives anew, and two new converts came forward.

In the evening the young people had charge of the service, with Mrs. Egbert Crocker organist and Margaret Thurber conducting the service.

Sunday morning, December 21st, the subject of the pastor, Rev. W. Ideson, was "And Thou Shall Call His Name Jesus". "Gloria" was sung by the ladies' trio, and an anthem by the choir.

In the evening the pastor took as his subject "The Setting Of The Pearl". He was also heard in a solo, "O Holy Night".

Services were well attended and the Christmas decorations in the church helped to present the spirit of Christmas during the holiday season.

On New Year's Eve a watch-night service was held at 11:00 o'clock. Mr. Ideson's talk was "And Mary Stood".

Christmas In Florida, 1958

To the Digby Courier, Dear Madam:

All our Christmas Days have been in the North, and even though there isn't a vast difference this year, I thought it might be of interest to some to write a little about Florida. First, a bit of description. When one thinks of this part of the country, they naturally think of swamps, bogs, snakes, bugs and flies, to say nothing about other things. But they all have their place, and I haven't seen over a dozen flies since being here.

Orlando is inland, the center of the tangerine-growing section, and is called the City Beautiful. There are fifty-four fresh water lakes in its vicinity, several parks and many beautiful trees, shrubs and flowers. At this particular season there are many poinsettias growing everywhere, some are eight and ten feet high, with huge blossoms, some creamy in color, most of them, however, the lovely shade of red. They do not like to be picked, if brought indoors and put in water they soon wilt.

We see orange and grapefruit trees all around us, too, in most every yard. The citrus groves outside of the city are very beautiful, rows and rows (Please turn to page 8)

The modern thermostat, that watch dog of your heating comfort, has a relatively simple operating principle but most people do not know what to expect from it — nor understand how it operates.

That is why, says Donald Grant, head of the Residential Division of Honeywell Controls Limited, many Canadian homes are not getting the full benefit of their heating systems.

In the first place, says Grant, it is important to know that a thermostat only turns the heating system on and off. It doesn't, he stresses, regulate the volume of heat.

Thus turning the thermostat up to 80 degrees won't cause your home to heat up any faster than merely advancing it to a more normal 72 degrees or 74 degrees, he points out.

Secondly, location of the thermostat has a lot to do with how well it works on your behalf.

It should, for example, be mounted in the living or dining areas in the path of natural circulation and on an inside wall about five feet from the floor and easily accessible. And it should be mounted in a location between two studs.

If the thermostat is placed behind doors, furniture or in cold drafts from an open door, you're asking for trouble. Neither should it be near an outside wall, a fireplace or in the direct rays of the sun; nor close by concealed pipes, ducts or unusual sources of heat such as a radio, television set or lamp.

The inevitable result is cold feet for the whole family.

Still another thing to remember — a fixed indoor temperature does not necessarily mean you will be comfortable. Honeywell research has proved that when the walls of your house get cold, your body loses heat to the walls at a faster rate and you require a higher setting on your thermostat than normal in order to be comfortable.

So watch the weather and adjust your thermostat accordingly, Grant suggests.

For that matter you can get a thermostat to do that for you, one of two which combine to form what is known as Indoor-Outdoor Temperature Control System. The outdoor thermostat provides the system with a sensitive "finger" which measures the effects of outdoor temperature, wind and sun and resets the indoor thermostat to compensate for changed weather conditions.

Today's thermostats are a far cry from those of a few years ago both in beauty and brains.

Because of smaller, more sensitive bimetallics they respond more quickly to temperature changes of just a fraction of a degree.

Also, a small heating element has been added to raise the temperature within the thermostat casing whenever there is a call for heat.

Thus the heating system is shut off before the desired temperature is reached — just enough before so that the heat on its way up from the furnace or boiler will bring temperature up to the desired point. Overheating is eliminated and so is the old, too cold — too hot cycle.

A major mechanical improvement is the use of the newly designed miniature mercury for home thermostats. It responds instantly, "practically never wears out and its hermetic seal prevents dust from insulating the electric contacts — the chief reason for thermostat service calls.

Miss Ella Franklin has returned to her teaching duties in Kentville after spending the Christmas holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Franklin.

When Plan Usable Outside Province

In special cases, the new Nova Scotia Hospital Plan will pay for treatment of residents in hospitals outside the province, Rod MacD. Black, chairman of the province's Hospital Services Commission, said in an interview.

If a doctor decides that it is medically necessary for a person — while still remaining a resident of Nova Scotia — to go to another province for medical treatment, the Plan will pay the charges in a participating province (a province which has a hospital plan of its own) for a maximum of three months in any 12 month period. Payment will be made either by reimbursing the patient or by paying the hospital direct.

If the patient's treatment is received in a hospital in the United States or in a non-participating province, Mr. Black said, coverage will be limited to $14 a day for an adult or child and $5 a day for an infant less than 15 days old.

If a resident is taken suddenly ill while outside the province and had to go to hospital, the same regulations will apply.

In all cases, approval for such care must be obtained from the Commission.

Mr. Black warned residents against expecting too much of the Plan as far as out-of-the-province care is concerned. "Residents shouldn't expect they can be sent to Florida or California or some place like that just because they think they might get better more quickly in the warmer climate," he said.

"The Plan will make payments only where hospital treatment outside the province is medically necessary and a doctor and the commission agree it is medically necessary. A resident is free to go to Florida or California on his own if he wants to, but he shouldn't expect the Plan to foot the bill."

Mr. Black also warned that the Plan will not pay for treatment in quick clinics or health resorts. "Payments will be made only when treatment is given in a bona fide, recognized hospital," he said.

In a case where a patient has to go outside the province for treatment, he added, the cost of transportation must be borne by the patient himself, as it must be when a patient is transferred from one hospital to another within the province.

If a resident moves permanently from Nova Scotia to another province which has a hospital plan, Mr. Black said, he will be covered by the Nova Scotia Plan for a maximum of three months from the date of departure, or until he becomes eligible for benefits in the new province, providing this period is no longer than three months.

If he moves to a place in Canada where there is no provincial hospital plan, coverage will be limited to a maximum of $14 a day for an adult or child, or $5 a day for an infant less than 15 days old, for a period not exceeding three months from the date of departure.

If he moves permanently to a place outside Canada there will be no coverage whatsoever, Mr. Black said.

N.S.P.C. Rates & Regulations

The Nova Scotia Power Commission has announced the approval of a new schedule of rates and regulations which will apply to all energy consumed after December 1, 1958, by the 32,000 domestic, commercial and industrial customers served by the Commission, with the exception of a small number of industrial customers and communities now being served under special contracts.

These new rates have been adopted after a long and careful study and they follow the pattern used by other large public and privately owned utilities. Considering the fact that the Power Commission serves mainly the rural areas of Nova Scotia, where customers average less than 10 to the mile, it is worthy of note that the new rates are equal to, and better in a good many cases, than rates now in effect in areas of much greater customer density. There will be a slight decrease in the Revenue from domestic customers, an increase in the Revenue from the commercial group, no change in the industrial Revenue, so that overall, there will be no appreciable change in the total Revenue to the Commission.

Following a careful overall domestic rate study, and keeping in mind the lower than average electric energy consumption of our customers in the rural areas, the Commission is pleased to announce a new schedule which is generally somewhat lower than the present rates and which is of a promotional type designed to encourage increased use of electricity in the home. The result of this new rate is a slight reduction in Revenue to the Commission, but it is felt that with the lower cost energy blocks and increased use which will follow will quickly result in a recovery of the lost revenue, and as time goes on an overall improvement in the Commission's revenue position.

The decreased in the last energy block from 2 cents to 1 1/2 cents per KWH will provide an opportunity for domestic customers to improve further their standard of living by making better utilization of electric service at lower cost to themselves.

For instance a domestic customer on the new rate using 300 kilowatt hours per month will pay 55 cents per month less than before, while a customer using 400 kilowatt hours per month will pay $1.05 per month less than before. The demand charge formerly paid by domestic customers using electric heating has now been eliminated thus providing further reduction to this group of domestic users.

Although electric service is available to more than 98% of the homes in territory served by the Nova Scotia Power Commission, statistics show that full utilization is not being made of this service. For instance, the annual consumption of domestic customers in the rural areas served by the Power Commission is only about one-quarter of the Provincial averages. The new domestic rate, although it will temporarily mean a slight loss of Revenue to the Commission, will enable customers in this group to increase their consumption of electricity at lower average cost to themselves.

The Commission previously supplied commercial service at the domestic rates but, due to the large increase in the number and the sizes of commercial installation, it has become necessary to follow the practice of other public and privately owned utilities and design a rate which would pay the cost of the added investment necessary to supply these additional loads. The smaller customers will, in the majority of cases, pay the same, or less, while for the larger installations some increase can be expected. Customers of the Commission, however, in this classification will still pay less than the majority of customers of a similar classification in other parts of the Province. Although the new commercial rate incorporated a demand feature in its service charge, the energy rates are lower than those previously used.

This rate will apply generally to customers engaged in selling or distributing commodities, business activities, professional services, educational and institutional activities.

The new industrial rates are standardized to replace a number of rates which were previously charged for this class of service. There will be practically no change in the overall Revenue to the Commission from this industrial rate change. Certain customers will experience slightly lower costs, while others may have moderate increases. These rates do not reflect in any way the Federal subvention on coal generated electricity which will be paid as an additional credit to those industrial customers who are eligible. Industrial customers who qualify for this subvention will be advised of the amount of the credit they will receive.

The industrial rates will not apply to the few customers now served under special contracts until such time as these contracts expire. The Commission will still continue to serve Municipalities at cost as provided by the Power Commission Act and in the case of large industrial users all contracts and rates will continue to be on a basis of negotiation.

Except for those few domestic customers on special minimum bill extensions where there are less than four customers to the mile, the minimum term of contract for seasonal and recurring service has been reduced from twelve months to six and will mean lower annual costs to this class of customer.

In the case of commercial and industrial customers the minimum term of contract has been reduced from six months to four. This will be of considerable assistance to customers engaged in the tourist industry, and seasonal industrial operations such as sawmills and fish plants.

The new regulations, which are not detailed here, will be available upon request after January 1, 1959. Among other things they provide that all bills will be paid to the Halifax office as before, but the Commission will now absorb the exchange on all cheques for domestic, commercial and industrial power general accounts.

The Nova Scotia Power Commission supplies electric power directly to more than 60% of rural Nova Scotia. In addition to the 32,000 customers served directly it supplies, indirectly, through various Towns, Municipalities and Power Boards a further 50,000 customers. The territory served includes all of rural Cape Breton Island with the exception of the industrial area surrounding Sydney and Glace Bay. All of Eastern Nova Scotia bounded generally by the Truro-Halifax highway on the West and on the North by a line from Truro to the Pictou County Power Board territory in the New Glasgow, Trenton, Stellarton, Westville area. The Commission supplies the St. Margaret's Bay area, as well as most of Western Nova Scotia commencing at Mahone Bay and continuing around to Deep Brook in Annapolis County.

Among the Towns and Municipalities supplied by the Commission who have their own distribution systems are as follows: Digby County Power Board, Town of Digby, Village of Weymouth, Municipality of Clare, Municipality of Digby, Nova Scotia Light and Power Co. Ltd. (Northern Division).

The Power Commission generates approximately one-third of all the electricity in Nova Scotia and its total production in the last year exceeded 500 million KWHs. In order to meet the growing demands of its existing customers and to provide for any new industries wishing to locate in Nova Scotia, the Commission will bring into operation next year an additional 20,000 KW generating unit at the Trenton Steam Station. In Western Nova Scotia work is now progressing on the 25,000 KW Sissiboo River Development. The high voltage Trenton to Antigonish transmission line will be extended next year to connect with the existing Cape Breton transmission grid, and by the end of 1959 it is expected the 138,000 volt inter-Provincial inter-connection will be completed and in operation.

The new rates are as follows: They show the charges per month, although domestic and commercial bills are for two month billing periods.

Year End Review

By Hon. Stephen T. Pyke,
Minister of Public Works

The Department of Public Works has a total of two hundred and forty-six owned buildings and rents eighty-one offices throughout the province. A large volume of maintenance work on these buildings was carried out together with considerable new construction.

Contracts were completed during the year on twelve new buildings and three are at present under construction. Plans for seven additional buildings are now being prepared.

In Sydney, an addition to the Provincial Office Building was completed to house the motor vehicle branch of the Department of Highways.

Retail stores were completed during the year for the Nova Scotia Liquor Commission at Sydney, Trenton and Mahone Bay, and stores are now under construction at Louisbourg, New Glasgow and Dartmouth.

A new building at Lawrence town was completed to provide modern and adequate facilities for the Nova Scotia Institute of Land Surveying which is the only school of its kind in Canada.

At the Nova Scotia Hospital in Woodside the New Admission Building was completed. This building with a floor area of 132,000 square feet makes available to the hospital the most advanced treatment facilities. To provide for the expanding requirements of the hospital, a new power plant and laundry were erected. This plant will provide heating, emergency electric power and laundry requirements for the present hospital with provision for future anticipated expansion.

The radio therapy building at the Victoria General Hospital, Halifax, which was recently completed, is the only building of its type in Nova Scotia and one of only a few in Canada. The planning required unusual design features to house the Energy Charge — 2 1/2 cents per kilowatt hour for the first 100 kilowatt hours per month per kilowatt ampere of maximum demand or per kilowatt of connected load, whichever is the basis of the demand charge.

1 1/2 cents per kilowatt hour for all additional consumption
Minimum Monthly Bill — Maximum demand charge in the previous twelve months, or $3.00, whichever is the greater.

Plans are nearing completion and tenders will be called early in 1959 for an addition to the Pathological Building, Halifax, and a new laundry at the Nova Scotia Sanatorium, Kentville.

Property has been purchased at Amherst for a new school for the Deaf and plans should be ready for tender calls early next summer.

Additional buildings for which plans are now being prepared include a new building for the Victoria General Hospital, a new office and warehouse building for the Nova Scotia Liquor Commission and a new building at the Nova Scotia Technical College.

During March of this year the administration of the Nova Scotia Housing Commission was turned over to the Department of Public Works. The Commission's business is expanding rapidly with a total of 86 groups with 924 houses under administration. Twenty-three of these groups are in the active construction stage.

The province through the Housing Commission Act has recently entered an agreement with Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation for the erection of the Mulgrave Park Housing Development. The basic purpose of this agreement is, by providing the necessary housing facilities, to allow the City of Halifax to proceed with a slum clearance program.

CHRISTMAS IN FLORIDA

of trees which have been set out so evenly, on rolling hills, with lakes here and there; and now, the ripening fruit, golden against the dark green leaves well — it's a sight one will not soon forget.

Shopping at Christmas time is the same as elsewhere, stores are well stocked, and one can buy most anything if they have the wherewithal. The large shopping centers are a big attraction, with free parking and a variety of stores such as one would find in the town of Digby, all within a few doors of each other. On the wide sidewalk the Salvation Army representatives with record-player, playing the lovely familiar Christmas carols, and when a donation was given his "God bless you, have a Merry Christmas" was heard to ring out. Even Santa Claus in several of the stores, dressed in his red costume was delightful for the little children; incidentally, he must have been rather uncomfortable when the temperature was up in the high seventies. We saw Christmas trees in white, pink and red, but these were not so right to us as the real fir and spruce.

Temperature on Christmas Day was 64 degrees and dull. With friends we drove to Daytona Beach, stopping along the way to look at the animals at the zoo. One could spend the entire day just watching the monkeys and enjoying their antics. There were about a dozen in one enclosure, two baby ones very careful to keep close clinging to mother's side, and one very bold one posing, he'd stand up with arms upflung and as soon as a peanut was tossed to him, quickly grab and shell and eat, then pose for more. In another cage was a different species and this one would roll around before he got his peanut — he was very careful to not eat any of the shell. We also saw deer, black bears, lions, various birds, and the large macaws with their brilliant red, blue and yellow plumage. Huge, "Big Mo", an alligator 85 years old, and weighing 1600 pounds, looked so sleepy and lazy, we felt like throwing something at him to see if he'd move. There were several baby alligators, too, and they didn't want to move, either. Not so the otter that dove in and out of the water seemed to never stop moving. But the monkeys are the most interesting, climbing, pushing, running and squealing, never quiet, and having a fine time for themselves.

We were glad to see the Atlantic Ocean and drove the cars right on the hard, sandy beach. Some of us waded in the water, and found the water to be warmer than at Hampton Beach, N. H., in the summer time, and much warmer than the good old Bay of Fundy. After we had eaten our lunches on the beach, we started back, driving along what is the largest celery fields of the world.

We arrived back in time for our turkey dinner and spent the evening playing games with the children, then Bible reading of the Christmas story, prayers, and so to bed. Needless to say, we missed our relatives and friends and snow of the North, but it is interesting to see other parts of the country, to meet new friends, to know how other people live and act. I must say we find people here very friendly and polite. I noticed even the children are with their "yes, ma'am" and "thank-you, ma'am" and "sirs". It is emphasized in the schools, too, which is a good thing.

We should like to hear from any who care to write.
May 1959 bring prosperity, health and blessings to you all.
Sincerely,
Mrs. Wilbur O. Parker,

Orlando, Florida.

Year End Review

By Hon. Richard A. Donahoe,
Minister of Public Health

In the Department of Public Health, the year 1958 has brought continued and extended services to the province of Nova Scotia.

In the nutrition division, the staff has increased this year from four to six. All areas of the province are now covered, but each health division does not yet have its own nutrition staff. One National Health bursary has been granted, and the recipient will return to work in the field next year. With the increased staff, more detailed consultant work has been possible in hospitals, municipal and other institutions, summer camps, and school cafeterias. Nutrition education has been promoted at all levels. A nutrition course has been given to the Public Health Nursing class, Dalhousie University, and to the first year students at the Maritime School of Social Work. A series of lectures has been given to all students at the Provincial Normal College. Institutes and study clubs for teachers have been attended, and countless conferences held with individual teachers and community leaders. The extensive work carried out by the nutrition division has shown the great need for an increased program of nutrition education for all groups of the population.

Turning now to the Division of Maternal and Child Health and Communicable Disease Control, we see that in the year 1958 the division spent in the vicinity of $50,000 in supplying modern equipment to the maternity and paediatrics department of various hospitals in the province. This project terminates this year but up to the present time practically all paediatric and obstetrical units in the province have been supplied with much needed up-to-date equipment. Another outstanding event was the initiating by the Medical Society of Nova Scotia of a prenatal and maternal and Child Health Grant, administered through the Division of Maternal and Child Health. This division has also finalized plans for putting on a short refresher course for nurses in the province in maternal and child care. The first of these courses will be given before the end of the fiscal year and will accommodate about ten nurses. In the field of Communicable Disease Control, the outstanding fact is that we have not had a single proven case of poliomyelitis during the year. This is the first year that this has happened in Nova Scotia since we began keeping statistics on the incidence of poliomyelitis.

The principal features in the field of sanitary engineering and sanitation during the year were the review of school plans and the inspection of school sites; a study of taste and odour problems in connection with a town water supply; studies of two small sewage treatment plants; and the Sydney Dustfall Survey. The latter is probably the largest and most interesting problem. The survey is concerned with finding the extent, nature and possible hazards of the fall of iron ore dust and other dusts following the appearance of large dust clouds from the blast furnaces. It involves setting out twelve containers at dustfall stations on the basis of each month and picking up of containers placed a month previous and exposed to the fall of dust during that time. Among most factors considered in the element composition of the dust, broken down into the classifications, are: meteorological data including sound, direction, and speed; temperature and precipitation; and earlier aspects of plant operation. The survey is to continue for at least two more years. Improvements are being made from time to time in the operation of the blast furnaces. It is hoped that at the end of the present survey, we may be able to show, not only that the problem was at its worst, but also that it has been (by that time) solved.

Trade Board Holds Annual

Edward Twohig, Digby chartered accountant, was elected president of the Digby Board of Trade at the annual meeting Tuesday night. Mr. Twohig succeeds Vincent G. Snow who headed the board last year. Other officers elected at the meeting include Philip Woolaver, vice president, and Richard Levy, secretary-treasurer.

At the beginning of the meeting Rev. Dr. T. W. Hodgson referred to the guest of honour, Captain Clarence Bradley, of the local Salvation Army corps, who with Mrs. Bradley, leaves Sunday for a new posting in Ridgetown, Ont. Captain and Mrs. Bradley have been in Digby for two and one-half years and during that time have been active in many community affairs.

In his reference to Captain Bradley Dr. Hodgson said he would be missed in Digby as he had given service not only to his own flock but also to the community as a whole through his participation in the VON, the Kiwanis Club and welfare work generally.

During Tuesday night's meeting reports were given from the various board committees and indicated an active year in the board. Reporting for the labour committee, Gregg Gilliat stated labour conditions were during the year rather spotty, lumber, pitwood and pulpwood markets were down, he said, and the death of Max M. Naftal early in the year had been a blow to the economy of the area. Some of the employment slack had been taken up by the new owners of the H. T. Warne Ltd. plant and he said construction of the new federal building here was providing employment as was the heavy snow falls of recent weeks.

Mr. Gilliat said expansion of the C. D. Snow lobster plant augured well for this industry here and stated fishing had been generally good. He stated the reopening of the Pines Hotel had been a boon to those employed there and stated the board should do all possible to assist the management to keep the hotel in operation.

Reporting for Edgar Chan of the membership committee, Richard Levy, board secretary, said membership in the board had increased twenty percent in 1958. In giving his financial report Mr. Levy said total revenue of the board in 1958 was $1,378.19 with expenditures of $1,329.97.

Hanson Rink Wins Provincial Spiel

W. A. "Pop" Hanson's rink from the Digby Curling Club won the Douglas Trophy, symbolic of the Past Presidents' bonselpiel championship, in five straight wins in the province-wide bonselpiel at the Digby Curling Club here last week.

Veteran Digby curler Hanson, 74 year old charter member of the Digby club, downed Bob MacLellan's rink from Truro once and the Dow rink from Windsor twice to take the double knockout event in five straight wins. In the opening draw of the bonselpiel Wednesday afternoon the Hanson rink took the Webb rink from Halifax, defending champions, by an 8-7 margin in a dramatic extra-end wirt. In the second draw Wednesday Pop Hanson's team, Aubrey Hawkins, Dr. D. G. Black and James P. Richards, took a wide margin win over the Goucher rink from Middleton by a score of 18-4.

Thursday morning the Digby team took an 11-4 win over Windsor and later in the day they retired the Bob MacLellan rink from Truro with a 10-7 victory.

In the payoff game with Windsor Thursday night, last game of the two day 'spiel, Windsor shot ahead of the Hanson rink when they scored three in the first end. The Hanson rink came back and tied it in the third only to fall behind in the fourth when Dow posted a singleton. The first of two three ends put Digby ahead to stay in the fifth and they counted another trio in the seventh to wrap it up.

Spectators at the bonselpiel Thursday night rushed onto the ice at the close of play to give Pop Hanson and his mates a great ovation. The Douglas trophy was then presented to the winning skip by R. S. MacLellan, President of the Royal Caledonian. Other prizes were presented by President M. H. Barnes of the Digby Curling Club and E. B. Tufts, chairman of the bonselpiel.

Scoring for the bonselpiel, which was participated in by seven rinks, was as follows: (Please turn to page 8)

Firm Head Fined

Joseph Margolian Jr., of Yarmouth, head of the J. Margolian & Co. clothing store in Digby, was fined twenty dollars here yesterday morning by provincial magistrate H. B. Dickey when he was found guilty of a charge under section 79 of the criminal code.

The charge against Mr. Margolian, to which he pleaded not guilty, was that on or about December 6, 1958 he did "unlawfully conduct a scheme for the purpose of determining who or the holders of what tickets, numbers or chances are the winners of an automatic electric range so proposed to be disposed of by ticket or other mode of chance, contrary to clause D of subsection 1 of section 79 of the Criminal Code".

E. J. Theriault, Q.C., of Digby, conducted the case for the Crown while A. Boyd MacGillivray, of Yarmouth, represented the accused.

Gordon Baxter, of Digby, gave evidence that on December 5, 1958, he made a purchase of clothing in the Margolian store and received a sales slip and certain tickets which he later that day turned over to the police chief of Digby. He said in response to cross examination he had been asked by the police chief to do this if he had occasion to make a purchase at the store. He was asked this, he said, on the morning of the day he made the purchase and he turned the sales slip and tickets over to the police chief outside the store following the purchase. The sales slip and tickets were placed in evidence.

Police Chief Webster Dunn identified the sales slip and tickets and also tendered an advertisement which he said he had received through the mail. He said he had been instructed by the crown prosecutor to proceed with the matter. Edgar Chan stated on request of Herbert Margolian, manager of the Margolian store, he had on December 6th pulled a coupon from a container in the store which he handed to someone who read a number. He said he could not recall the name on the coupon but thought it was "Baxter".

Herbert Margolian, manager of the store, stated drawings had been held. He said he conducted them and stated he had asked Mr. Chan to take part. Tickets were given out, he said, not for any specific amount. He stated part of the ticket was kept by the purchaser and part placed in a container in the store. He identified the tickets on exhibit as coming from the store. Questioned as to the ownership of J. Margolian & Co., he said he understood J. Margolian Jr. was one of the owners. He was his employer, he said, and stated Mr. Margolian visited the store two or three days a week. In answer to a question by the magistrate he said two or three tickets would be given for the purchase made by witness Gordon Baxter, depending on the clerk.

Questioned about the electric range involved in the charge, he stated he had not delivered it to anyone nor had anyone received it from him. It is no longer in the store, he stated.

Joan Baxter, of Deep Brook, gave evidence that she had made a purchase at the Margolian store and had received tickets. She had been informed later by telephone about the range, she said, and her father had gone to get it. It was now in a store in Deep Brook, she stated.

In closing the case for the Crown Mr. Theriault placed in evidence certificates and documents regarding ownership of J. Margolian & Co. No witnesses were called by Mr. MacGillivray for the defence.

In finding the accused guilty Magistrate Dickey said it was unthinkable that employees would conduct a scheme of drawings as revealed by the evidence and exhibits without the knowledge of the accused who was described as the boss of the manager and who visited the store every other working day.

It is understood the case was the first of its kind ever to be heard in this area and it aroused considerable local interest.

ion and other subjects pertaining to the role of a public health nurse in case of disaster were discussed.

Annual Meeting of Shareholders The Royal Bank of Canada

James Muir urges more flexible tax system, with wider control of money and credit to curb chronic inflation

West can set an example of "free economy in action" by keeping markets open to underdeveloped countries.

"Chronic inflation is the greatest single threat to Canada's economic development," declared James Muir, Chairman and President of The Royal Bank of Canada, at the bank's Annual Meeting in Montreal on Thursday, January 8th. Reviewing the conditions which must be met to ensure continuing economic growth, high level employment and a stable currency, Mr. Muir said, "Regardless of the skill and energy of the monetary authorities, an effective monetary policy is impossible so long as consumer credit is free to move in the opposite direction. The Central Bank contracts credit in booms, and expands in recession. Unregulated consumer credit expands in booms, contracts in recession. Those dependent on bank credit have to bear the full brunt of credit restriction while others enjoy a spending spree. To break up this unholy alliance of injustice and futility I have repeatedly urged that monetary and credit control should embrace a wider area of our financial world than they now do."

Formidable Task
"Until fundamental budget changes can be made the Government must finance its deficit by selling bonds to the general public, the chartered banks, or the Bank of Canada. The shift from bonds to equities in spite of the relative attractiveness of bond yields, rules out the general public. The need for liquidity inhibits sales to the banks, except for the shorter maturities. Purchases of securities by the Bank of Canada, whether from the general public, the chartered banks, or in this case the Government, finances government debt through an increase in the money supply. Thus at a time when inflationary pressure is growing, the indicated policy for the Bank of Canada, monetary restraint, may run directly counter to the financial needs of the Government. It is this formidable task of steering between Scylla and Charybdis, between failure of monetary policy and failure of fiscal policy which, in the months ahead, will try to the limit the imagination and resourcefulness of those charged with the problem of government finance."

But surely it is not beyond the wit of our fiscal experts in government and elsewhere, to devise a system that will minimize the role of the business cycle in determining the size and nature of government sponsored economic activity. Surely a more flexible tax system could be devised which would adjust tax rates to counter cyclical disturbances, not only quickly and effectively but without arbitrarily changing the relative importance of the government sector in our economic life. Such a system, combined with a more comprehensive coverage by our monetary authorities in the regulation of credit, could I think provide an economic climate for high-level employment and economic growth and, at the same time, protect the value of our currency from the ravages of chronic inflation."

Convertibility
Referring to the recent devaluation of the franc, and Britain's move toward convertibility, Mr. Muir said, "One of the most important devices for ensuring the mobility of investment funds, capital goods, consumer goods and services among the nations of the world is a freely operating foreign-exchange market. In this context two recent events of special interest concern the French franc and the pound sterling."

New Tusket
(Mrs. J. E. Ford)
Miss Shirley I. Ford has returned to Kentville, after spending the holidays at her home here.
Little Miss Gaylene Mullen was rushed to the Digby General Hospital on January 3 for an appendectomy. Her mother, Mrs. Clyde Mullen, remained in Digby over the weekend to be near her. Gaylene returned from

RISK-TAKER MERITS REWARD
"Adequate reward for productive effort and risk is an important condition for economic development," said Mr. Muir. "Government, with the aid of tax experts, should make a thorough study of our complex tax structure with a view to improvement both in the distribution of the burdens, and in the allocation of the net rewards for productive activity."
"I would like now to move to more specific cases. If labour becomes more productive, higher wages can be paid without inflation. The increase is both an incentive and a deserved reward. If risks are taken to expand production in some direction, the opportunity for a corresponding large reward is not only prerequisite, but justified to the extent of the risk-taker's contribution to general welfare."
"I would like to join those who are urging the Government in considering the report of the Borden Commission on Energy not to move hastily to put a public-utility strait-jacket on one of the most important contributors to Canada's risk-capital investment: the oil and gas industry — a risk industry that has been responsible in large measure for Canada's brilliant economic showing since the second world war."
"Uncertainty bred of fear, fear of crippling regulations, can cut off risk investment and destroy all hope in the free world for sustained and healthy economic growth."

"Devaluation of the French franc was inevitable. Now it remains to be seen how stable the new rate will be. Naturally this will depend upon how firmly the internal economy of the country can be built up and upon how faithfully the people will accept the new restrictions they must endure to come through successfully."

"The immediate significance of Britain's move towards convertibility must not be exaggerated. All she has done is to make formal what has informally been more or less the case, viz, put Canadian and U.S. sterling, so-called, and Transferable sterling in the same bracket. This means that all non-sterling area holders of pounds are now in the same boat, which is to say they can freely dispose of their sterling for dollars or any other currency at the going rate with in the support points established by the British authorities, viz $2.78 to $2.82 U.S."

"One important outcome is that London can deal freely and directly with all currencies and again get back to where she was before the war as the most important foreign exchange market in the world."
"The great hope is that these latest developments will hasten the day when the U.K. can throw all shackles overboard and make the pound free and fully convertible for everybody inside, as well as outside the sterling area."

Foreign Aid
"Aid to underdeveloped countries," said Mr. Muir, "is useless unless it leads to sustained, and

$4 Billion.
Assets over
Royal Bank

K. M. Sedgewick, General Manager, reported that Royal Bank assets had passed the $4 billion mark, and that Capital funds now totalled nearly $250,000,000. "Deposit figures in Canada have of course, increased markedly," said Mr. Sedgewick, "and we are particularly pleased to see substantial growth during the year in our personal savings deposits where the figures are larger by $148 million odd than those of a year ago. As at date of the Balance Sheet, our depositors numbered 2,927,121, indeed a source of much satisfaction to us."

Mortgage loans arranged by the Royal Bank had increased by 22% to nearly $265,000,000, and shareholders now numbered 22,156, an increase of 2,200 in the year.

Referring to the bank's continuing programme of new construction and the improvement of existing premises, Mr. Sedgewick noted that important new offices, now under construction, would be opened in 1959 at Charlottetown, Montreal and Vancouver and that within a few months work would commence on new main offices in Ottawa and Windsor and on an important branch office in Edmonton.

Building Programme
"During 1958 we opened 33 new branches in Canada and four outside Canada — three of which were in Cuba and one in Puerto Rico. We have completed major additions to our branches in Bridgetown, Barbados, Nassau, Bahamas and at a number of other points. Work is under way now on new main office buildings for Kingston, Jamaica and Ciudad Trujillo, Dominican Republic. Also our Bogota, Colombia main office is being expanded and completely modernized."

The recent appointment of a Far Eastern Representative, with headquarters in Hong Kong, said Mr. Sedgewick, had placed the Royal Bank of Canada in a position to provide on-the-spot assistance to foreign traders who wished to take advantage of what Mr. Sedgewick felt to be "opportunities for further important expansion of trade between Canada and far eastern countries."

self-sustaining development; and fundamental social changes in the underdeveloped country are required before the spirit of enterprise is sufficiently strong to achieve what we might call "escape velocity" independent of the temporary rocket-thrust of economic aid. Without fundamental changes, greatly expanded aid fanned by over-enthusiasm, if not emotional compulsion, may have perverse effects, not only in the inflation-ridden West, but in the underdeveloped countries themselves."

"I think we must raise the question whether earmarking more aid is best or East Asians or the West until much more has been done both in education and in the careful preparation of programmes that achieve a proper balance between agricultural and industrial development."

The big question, said Mr. Muir, was whether the "uncommitted" underdeveloped countries would try to develop a private enterprise economy as an instrument of growth. This depends, he said, "not merely on expanded economic aid but on the example set by the West, and by a good example I mean not merely that we set our own house in order but that we keep the economies of the West open to the goods produced by the underdeveloped countries. Otherwise we can only expect these countries to adopt a policy of self-sufficiency with its inevitable counterpart, centralized control of the economic system. In other words, if we would have underdeveloped countries abroad develop along private lines, we must set them an example of the free economy in action."

Edward Goudey, of Brazil Lake, are sorry to hear he is a patient in a hospital in Halifax. We all wish him a speedy recovery.

IDLING QUESTIONS
We're not very often asked idle questions. But we're often asked idling questions.
You'll see what I mean in a minute.

People who like to look after their cars are often in quite a quandary about how to warm them up, especially on cold winter mornings.

They've been told that idling a car engine brings large amounts of oil into the cylinders, fouls the spark plugs and puts carbon on cylinder heads. All this is quite true.

They've also been told that running the car before it is warmed up causes a great deal of wear because the oil hasn't had a chance to coat the moving parts and because the metal hasn't been warmed up to fit into place exactly right. All this is also quite true.

So what do you do? You get engine wear if you do and you get engine wear if you don't. And this is the real engine wear that can cut your car's life in half.

Well, there is an answer. I think the best way is to turn the engine over at first just a little faster than idling. This defeats most of the objections to idling, and the wait won't be too long.

Then, if you can, try to move the car easily at first, avoiding any great loads and keeping the speed down until normal operating temperature is reached.

So the answer is not to idle and not to gun 'er. Warm it up with your foot softly on the pedal.

Finding a car in the first place is the knottiest problem of all. But most of the problems are eliminated when you find an established lot with a good name it has to keep, and with factory-trained mechanics who've been over every inch of every car before it was ever put on display — our place, of course.

A TRIBUTE TO SCOTT SYPHER

I looked at his hands, and I thought that he was a man well versed in lore of the sea,

Who far in his youth was over-come

By the call of the waves, adventuresome.

Then I looked at his face and saw the lines

Carved by the wind where the gold sun shines

Etched by the spray of the salty wave,

And eyes that were happy and strong and brave.

Then I gazed again and saw that his hair

Was bleached by the years with a silver rare.

And I looked at his ships he carves with pride,

Authentic models that could ride the tide

Of a miniature sea, if such there be,

To charm the heart and the soul of me.

Then I looked at his heart thru his kindly ways,

And hoped that all of his land-locked days

Would be filled to the brim with the memories

Of the days he spent on the rolling seas.

I looked at his head that was held so high

To see the beauties of the far-flung sky,

And was glad that in God's infinite plan

My steps were directed to meet this man.

Ednah Deemer Leach,

Poet Laureate of the State of Delaware.

Marriages

Purdy — King

A quiet wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. A. Sagar on Saturday evening, January 10, at St. Matthew's Anglican Church, Deep Brook, when Robert Purdy Jr., only son of Dr. and Mrs. Allan Purdy, of Somerville, Mass., was united in marriage to Mrs. Helen Harriett King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Robinson, of Cambridge, Kings Co., N. S.

Mr. and Mrs. Purdy left on Sunday for a week's motor trip to Toronto.

Comeau — Prime

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Prime, Freeport, on Saturday evening, December 27th, when their only daughter, Marilyn Jean, was united in marriage to Enos Joseph Comeau, at a double ring ceremony performed by Rev. W. Ideson, pastor of the Freeport United Baptist Church.

The bride entered the room on the arm of her father, by whom she was given in marriage, to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Harry Crocker. She wore a street length gown of blue taffeta with matching headress and corsage of pink and white roses.

She was attended by her aunt, Mrs. William Titus, who wore a yellow gown with matching accessories. Her corsage was yellow and white 'mums.

The groom was supported by William Titus.

A reception followed the ceremony. Those who assisted in serving were Mrs. Curtis Prime and Mrs. Harry Crocker.

The happy couple will reside at Westport where the groom is employed.

We wish them a long and happy wedded life.

Deep Brook Group Active

A most active year has been reported by the Deep Brook Cancer Dressing Group at the annual meeting of the group.

According to the annual report a total number of 6,944 cancer dressings were handled by the group. The group made 4,068 dressings and of this number 1,222 were made at home for outpatients. The group dispatched to headquarters 2,082 dressings and sent directly to patients 1,946.

The Willing Workers of Waldeck West sent in 1,396 dressings which were dispatched to Halifax as were 1,480 sent in from the Dorcas Society of Deep Brook. The Cancer group had 600 on hand at the end of the year.

During the year demonstration sessions were held with the Dorcas Society and the Sharon Club of West Paradise. The group also sent a delegate to the volunteer training conference in Amherst.

The financial drive conducted by the group resulted in $107.50 being collected in the Deep Brook area for the Nova Scotia division of the Canadian Cancer Society. The group also contributed $60.00 toward the operating expenses of the waiting rooms in Halifax conducted by the Cancer Society. $32.57 has been raised by the group since July through penny-a-day sunshine jars.

REPAIRING DEFECTIVE FAUCET SIMPLE JOB FOR HOMEMAKER

Leaking or noisy faucets can usually be repaired quickly and with little expense to the homemaker.

If the faucet drips at the spout, after the handle has been screwed down firmly, it will usually indicate a worn-out washer. To replace a washer, first shut off the water supply or close the shut off valve that controls the supply to the tap. Open the tap to drain off the water. Remove the cap nut with a suitable wrench and unscrew the spindle. The washer is located at the base of the spindle. It may be attached to the spindle by a screw or by a metal flange or sleeve. The worn-out washer must be replaced by another of the same size and type. The spindle should then be screwed back into place and the cap nut tightened.

When a faucet develops a leak around the stem, a loose cap nut or faulty packing is probably responsible. First, try tightening the cap nut. If this does not correct the trouble, it can be assumed that a new packing washer is needed. The washer fits inside the cap nut which will have to be removed to make the replacement. A substitute washer can be made by winding a piece of cotton string tightly around the stem at the point where the washer normally fits.

The hammering that sometimes develops in water taps when opening or closing is caused by vibration of the spindle. This may be due to a loose cap nut or to a worn or loose washer. If the tap has been in use for a considerable number of years, the spindle itself may be defective. If the spindle thread has been worn down, the whole faucet may have to be replaced and a plumber's assistance may be required.

New Year's Eve At Little River

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Royce Elderkin, Little River, was the scene of a gala event on the evening of December 31, 1958. It was the scene of a dinner, party and Watchnight Service. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Trask and the Elderkins entertained the Baptist Brotherhood and their wives. At eight o'clock the company of about thirty sat down to a sumptuous turkey dinner. This, with paper hats and noise-makers, was a lively time. Before saying the grace, Rev. Claude T. Olmstead, minister of the church, spoke of the old year and expressed the hope that "fifty-nine will be fine".

After dinner a time was spent in fun and fellowship. Mr. Elderkin entertained with various impersonations and a minstrel show was enjoyed. As the midnight hour approached, the group drew nearer the piano and a sing was a pleasing experience. About two minutes to twelve the minister called for silence and soon led the company in prayer. Thus they played the old year out and prayed the New Year in.

Year End Review

By Hon. Stephen T. Pyke,
Minister of Labour

The most significant development in the legislative field affecting labour during the past year was the enactment of the Vacation Pay Act at the last session of the Legislative Assembly, which becomes effective on the first day of the New Year.

It is particularly appropriate that this piece of legislation was enacted in 1958, the 10th Anniversary of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, which was adopted and proclaimed by the United Nations General Assembly on Dec. 10, 1948.

Article 24 of this Declaration affirms that everyone has the right to rest and leisure, including reasonable limitation of working hours and periodic holidays with pay.

The Act requires that all employers must provide for a vacation of at least one week with pay for every employee who has been in his employment for a year and has worked ninety per cent or more of the working time during the year. It applies to all employees with the exception of domestic servants or persons employed in farming, lumbering or commercial fishing.

The employer must pay an employee who has worked for him a year, but less than ninety per cent of the regular time, an amount equal to two per cent of the employee's earnings during the annual period, or pay an employee who has worked for him three months or more and who ceases to be employed by him, an amount equal to two per cent of his earnings during the employment period.

In the case of the construction industry, the employer must pay by means of vacation stamps, two per cent of the employee's earnings upon his ceasing to be employed.

Arrangements have been made with the chartered banks for the sale and redemption of the stamps. Also reciprocal arrangements are being made whereby stamps can be cashed in any province in Canada. Vacation Pay Books have been printed, and will be made available to employers commencing January 1, 1959.

At the last session of the Legislature, amendments were also made to the Boiler Inspection Act and the Fire Prevention Act, and amendments were made to the Workmen's Compensation Act based on the interim report of the Commission appointed to inquire into the operation of this Act. The final report of the commission is expected before the end of the year.

At the same session, the Tradesmen's Qualification Act was repealed and its principles incorporated by amendments into the Apprenticeship Act. This should make for more effective and economical administration of the legislation.

A new organizational set-up in the Department of Labour, established during the year has resulted in increased efficiency, and enables us to deal more effectively with the matters for which we are responsible, and to render better service to labour and management groups and the general public. The department is now comprised of seven divisions, each headed by a director who reports and is accountable to the Deputy Minister for the fulfillment of his function. The Deputy Minister is responsible for the overall administration of the department and reports, and is accountable to the Minister of Labour.

A new division in the department, called the Labour Practices Division, has been established and is responsible for the administration of the Women's Minimum Wage Act, the Employment of Children Act, and the Fair Employment Practices Act, the Equal Pay Act, the Vacation Pay Act, and the Industrial Standards Act.

Formerly, the Industrial Standards Act, the Fair Employment Practices Act, and the Equal Pay Act were administered by the Industrial Relations Division. This transfer of authority for the administration of these Acts will enable the personnel of the Industrial Relations Division to devote full time to the important functions in connection with the administration of the Trade Union Act. An additional conciliation officer will also be added to the staff in the near future to facilitate the handling of applications for conciliation services.

A new Division of Mechanical Inspection has been established, and is responsible for the administration of the Factories Act, the Steam Boiler Refrigeration Plant and Pressure Vessel Inspection Act, the Engine Operators Act and the Elevators and Lifts Act.

The Apprenticeship Training Division is responsible for the administration of the Apprenticeship and Tradesmen's Qualification Act; the Division of Trade Training is responsible for the administration of the Trade Training Program, and the Fire Marshal Division is responsible for the administration of the Fire Prevention Act, the Electrical Installation Act, and the Lightning Rod Act. An additional inspector will be added to the staff of the Fire Marshal Division in the near future to facilitate the handling of the works of this division.

A new Division of Administration and Accounting has been added, which is responsible for all administrative matters of the department, financial planning and the development and analysis of statistical data.

A manual has been prepared and is in operation which clearly outlines the organizational structure, defines the positions and responsibilities, establishes the lines of authority and communication, and sets down concisely overall policies, methods and procedures and specific departmental policies.

Increases in minimum wage rates for women were put into effect during the year. An experienced rate of $21.60 is now effective in the larger centres of the province as compared with a rate of $16.80 previously in effect.

A Cabinet Committee on Winter Employment was established, composed of five cabinet ministers, with the minister of labour as chairman.

Functions of the committee are to recommend appropriate timing of government construction projects to ensure maximum winter employment and to co-operate with the federal government in the educational and advertising campaign being carried on to provide more winter employment.

On the recommendation of the Cabinet Committee on Winter Employment, the government of Nova Scotia recently made a proposal to the municipalities to pay 50 per cent of the direct payroll cost of certain work projects which they may wish to undertake during the winter months. A wide range of projects are covered in this proposal, including renovations to municipal buildings, improvement to parks, playgrounds, reservoirs and dumps and the erection or repair of traffic and street name signs. All of these types of projects are in addition to those covered in the federal-municipal winter work program.

During the period under review the Department of Labour was called upon to render conciliation services in 46 industrial disputes involving almost 8,000 employees.

In 40 of these cases the conciliation officer was successful in effecting a settlement, and a collective agreement was entered into between the parties.

In the remaining six disputes Conciliation Boards were established. In all but one case, collective agreements were concluded following the report of the Conciliation Board. In the other case, strike action was taken, and the strike is still in effect as of the writing of this report. This is the dispute between A. Keith & Son Limited, Oland & Son Limited and Local 361 United Brewery Workers of America.

Conciliation services were again recently provided in this dispute, and although the gap between the parties was substantially narrowed, unfortunately no agreement was reached.

It is gratifying to report that the long-standing dispute between the Canadian Gypsum Company and Local 294 Nova Scotia Quarry Workers Union, which started in October, 1957, was finally resolved. It is my earnest hope that employer and union within the framework of the new agreement will work toward a better understanding of one another's problems, and develop a sound labour-management relationship which will result in industrial peace in the years ahead.

I offer to all Nova Scotians my best wishes for a Happy and Prosperous New Year, and assure them of my sincere desire, as Minister of Labour, to provide the best possible services to labour and management groups and the general public during 1959.

Snow Piles At Deep Brook

"Old Man Winter" called on Deep Brook last week, along with other parts of the Province, leaving several snow drifts and blocking the highway for a time.

The Annapolis school bus brought the pupils of Deep Brook home shortly after 1 p.m. on Monday when the storm was beginning to show signs of a blizzard. The local school was closed Tuesday and Wednesday.

There was no traffic through on Tuesday until after 2:00 p.m. when snow plows from Cornwallis Naval Base and Department of Highways opened the highway. The high winds and drifting snow soon filled in where the plows had been.

On Wednesday cars, covered with snow, were seen "crawling" and being towed to garages. Nineteen vehicles, including transport trucks, were marooned Tuesday night between Lowe's Garage and the Victoria Bridge. Others were ditched along the highway to Cornwallis.

By Thursday the plows had the situation under control and Acadia buses, the school bus, and Cornwallis bus for Digby were able to resume their regular trips.

High drifts are keeping the children busy digging "snow houses" and tunnels, and the residents are enjoying the "Winter Wonderland" of '59.

Elect New Slate

The Baptist W.M.S. of Little River met with Mrs. Lyndon Collins on January 8th.

The meeting opened with the reading of the first chapter of Timothy in unison. Mrs. Edgar Trask had charge of the devotional with the theme being "A Good Defensive". The appointed committee brought in a new slate of officers for the year 1959, namely:

President, Mrs. Rupert Trask; Vice Presidents, Mrs. Clifton Frost and Mrs. Lee Trask; Secretary, Mrs. Wilfred Trask; Treasurer, Mrs. Bernard Morehouse; Organist, Mrs. Annie Ingersoll; Mission Band Leaders, Miss Beverly Frost and Mrs. Robert Addington; Baby Band, Mrs. Eldred Frost and Mrs. Royce Elderkin.

The President, Mrs. Rupert Trask responded fittingly to being re-elected for the new year and her prayers were that God would prosper the new year as the previous year.

Yvonne Smith returned to Digby to resume her studies at St. Patrick's Academy.

ROMEO AND JULIETTE TIME

When Romeo played his Git-Fiddle under Juliettes balcony it was just pure un-adulterated love with no Tax. At that time he could not get a $1.00 sloppy-drippy gooie Rust-Craft Valentine at Connell's so he had to climb up her Pea-Vine to her Balcony and make love to her Hilly-Billy style. Zing went the strings of his heart and also a couple on his Git-Fiddle because he had not seen our Black Diamond Guitar strings that we now sell at $1.98 per set.

If Romeo were alive to-day he would not find it easy to make love because he would have to belong to a Musicians Union and the Tax he would have to pay on his Git-Fiddle it would not sound so sweet, when he played it.

Romeo and Juliette's pure love under the stars would not be so Romantic in these days for kisses are not so sweet with your mouth full of tax, and now everything is taxed even love and our beautiful Rust-Craft Valentines too.

We did not wish our customers a Happy New Year this year because with the coming of the Sales Tax who said it was.

H. M. Warne, in reporting for the economic committee and the industrial committee, reviewed the activities and accomplishments of these committees during the year. Mrs. J. M. Wallis gave a comprehensive report on the work of the publicity committee for the year and outlined many activities that had brought much favorable publicity to the area.

In reporting for the civic committee J. J. Brittain stated work had been done to improve the trade board park during the year and the board had also provided transportation for those wanting it in recent elections. Mrs. H. A. Nichols, president of the Admiral Digby Horticultural Society, reported on the progress made by her group at the Cannon Bank park and said this park was much visited and photographed by tourists. She said the society was planning renovation of the old Loyalist cemetery and asked for assistance from the board in carrying out projects.

Frank Irvine stated that possible changes in transportation across the Bay of Fundy in the near future would greatly affect the area. He referred the meeting to statements recently made by Mr. Gossage of the railway concerning the future of the Bay of Fundy service.

Reports on fisheries, the tourist industry and entertainment were given by C. D. Snow, Victor Cardoza and J. P. Richards, chairmen of the respective committees.

Mr. Twohig, the newly elected president, in taking over the chair from Mr. Snow asked for the support of the board in the year ahead. He said an attitude seemed to be growing locally that in order not to be criticized one should do nothing. He stated he felt there was altogether too much criticism by those who had no right to do so and said this should be reserved, so far as the trade board is concerned, to those who had involved themselves in the work of the board. He stated the matter of the proposed new Bay of Fundy service might be the most important matter to be dealt with by the board in the year ahead and urged full support of everyone to help in getting the service established.

J. J. Brittain voiced the appreciation of the board to Mr. Snow, the retiring president, for his efforts during the year and said when these were reviewed they proved to be considerable.

Plan Two New Schools

The municipality of Digby will seek authority to construct two seven room consolidated elementary schools in the municipality, it was decided at Wednesday's session of the municipal council.

Decision to seek authority to build the two schools, cost of each of which is not to exceed $60,000, was reached following a session of the municipal council with representatives from the school board. The two new schools will be built, if authorization is secured, at Smith's Cove and Barton-Brighton.

A proposal, passed by resolution at a meeting of the municipal school board on January 8th, that the council be asked to authorize building of a $145,000 school at Barton-Brighton and a $55,000 school at Smith's Cove was not followed up by the board representatives at the joint session Wednesday. It was stated by Merle Mullen and Rice Kinney, school board members, that in making this proposal they had not had before them full registration figures covering the whole area and that, following a study of these, it was felt consideration should be given to a proposal such as adopted by the municipal council at Wednesday's meeting.

Councillor C. E. Jones, in moving the resolution regarding construction of a new school at Smith's Cove, branded the present 75 year old two room school at Smith's Cove as "a disgrace". Councillor Jones said the people of Smith's Cove were very fair and were willing to make do with the present school for this year but expect either a new school or the recommended repairs to the present for next year.

An estimate of necessary repairs to the present Smith's Cove school, Councillor Jones said, was from $18,000 to $20,000 and he stated it should be decided whether it was more economical to do this or build a new school. He stated he had been assured the present building and site on the main highway could be sold for sufficient to buy a new site.

The present Smith's Cove school, Mr. Jones said, is without water, has outdoor plumbing, inadequate heating and the foundation is in disrepair. Sixty-five pupils are enrolled in the two room school, he said, and for several days this winter have had to be housed in one room because of inability to heat the other classroom.

The proposed new seven room school for Smith's Cove will be a semi-basement type with four classrooms on the ground floor and three in the basement. It is intended that pupils from the rural area between Digby and Bear River will attend this school.

The new seven room school proposed for Barton-Brighton will be built on land already purchased for school construction in this area and will be of the same style as the Smith's Cove school. It is intended that this school will relieve a serious overcrowding situation in the area and will accommodate pupils from North Range, Plympton, Plympton Station and Barton-Brighton. Both schools will be so constructed as to permit additions if these prove necessary in the future.

Investigating Attempted Break

Police are investigating an attempted break into the office safe at the bulk plant of Petrofina Oils Limited in Digby's south end.

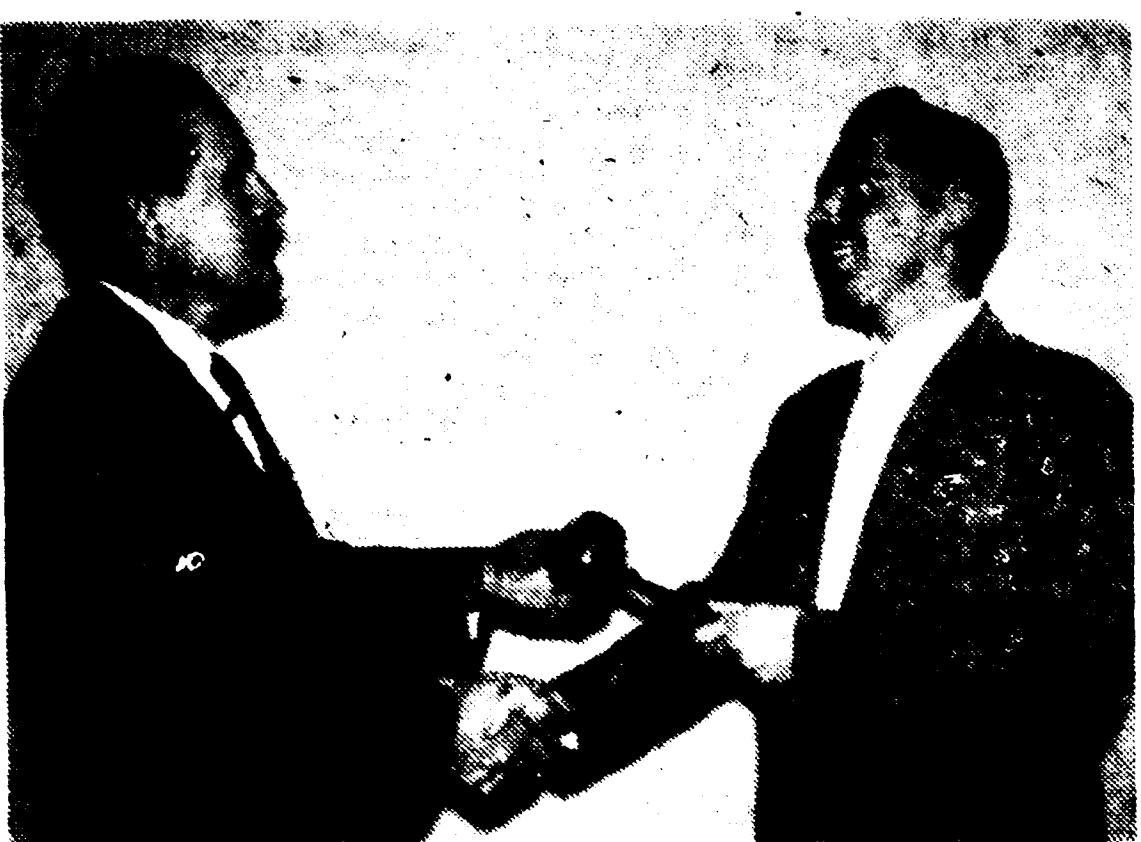

Entry was made into the building by jimmieing open a door. The thief or thieves then attempted to break their way into the office safe. The combination dial was ripped off, the safe handle broken and the hinges of the safe smashed in the vain effort to get into it.

The break evidently occurred sometime between three o'clock Saturday afternoon and four o'clock Sunday afternoon. Plant manager Robert Morgan stated he left the building shortly after three p.m. Saturday and returned Sunday to find the attempted break.

Arms were granted to the Province of Nova Scotia in 1625, New Brunswick in 1688, Prince Edward Island in 1769, Newfoundland in 1637.

Slow down at sundown.

Hold Annual Parish Meet

Members of the congregation of the parish of Trinity Church were guests of the ladies' guilds of the church at a delightful supper Monday evening preceding the annual parish meeting in the church hall.

After the supper session the annual business meeting of the parish was held. Reports were given from various church organizations and the Sunday School, indicating an active and successful year. Mrs. Sydney J. Hall, of the Ladies' Evening Guild reported the guild had set aside five hundred dollars toward painting the church and stated a collection taken at the supper session had realized another thirty-nine dollars toward this project.

Financial statements presented at the meeting showed the church general account had ended the year with a debit balance of $503.87. The Budd memorial fund showed a credit balance of $153.35, while the timber fund showed a credit balance of $136.21. Accounts for Forest Hill cemetery showed a credit balance at the end of the year of $46.87.

Dr. G. V. Turnbull and C. E. Jones were re-elected parish wardens. Elected to the vestry were Robert Bearn, Ralph Berwick, Victor Cardoza, David J. Daley, A. E. Dickson, Garfield Hayden, Lloyd Hicks, John R. Nichols, E. B. Tufts, H. O. Turnbull, Kenneth Woodman and James Wolf. John R. Nichols and Ralph Berwick were named as synod delegates with C. E. Jones and Dr. G. V. Turnbull as alternates. Miss Bessie B. Turnbull was reappointed as representative of the Diocesan Times with Mrs. Fred Stoddard as correspondent. Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Dakin were appointed auditors.

During the meeting it was decided to set up a parish council as provided for in an amendment to canon law passed by the diocesan synod at its session last year. This council will arrange for a parish conference to discuss and take action on the matter of widening the influence of the church, both in the parish and diocese and in the world at large. Such action was recommended to the parishes in the deanery of Annapolis by a committee on stewardship organized at a meeting of the greater chapter of the deanery.

Monday night's parish meeting was presided over by the rector, Rev. James Pike. Mr. Pike paid tribute to the leaders of the church organizations for their efforts over the year; to the wardens and vestry for their cooperation and expressed his pleasure at being in Trinity parish.

Legion Officers Installed

Edward Murphy of Digby was installed into office as president of branch No. 20, Canadian Legion, BESL, at an impressive ceremony at Legion headquarters Thursday night.

Installing officer was R. O. Wright, retiring president of the branch, who also installed other officers and executive members of the branch into office at Thursday night's meeting.

Following the installation ceremonies a special evening was held. Attending the meeting with the Legion members were their wives and members of the ladies auxiliary.

Before turning the meeting over to the newly installed president Comrade Wright paid tribute to the ladies auxiliary and the presidents of that organization who had given him excellent cooperation during his years as Legion president.

Discussion of ways and means of increasing membership in the Digby branch of the Legion featured the first meeting of the executive following the installation of officers. It was pointed out that a real effort is being made this year to make the local Legion branch not only a service organization for needy veterans and their dependents but also to provide comfortable quarters and entertainment for branch members at the headquarters. Garfield Hayden and Victor Comeau were named as contacts for prospective new members.

It was reported at the meeting that a name missing from the second world war plaque on the monument had been inserted through the efforts of J. R. Nichols and Guy VanTassel.

Arrangements were discussed at the executive meeting for a party for the ladies auxiliary which will be held on February 11th. It was also reported the newly installed floor covering was now in good shape and every effort would be made to keep it that way.

Night doubles traffic troubles.

Mr. Doucet Is 106

Mr. Charles Doucet, of St. Bernard, Digby Co., celebrated his 106th birthday Friday, while recuperating from an attack of pneumonia.

Mr. Doucet, who has five great-grandchildren living in Annapolis Royal, celebrated his birthday on the same day as two of his sons — Amedee, with whom he resides, St. Bernard, at 66, and Willie, Digby, at 85.

Born in New Edinburgh, he is the eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hilaire Doucet and is the last surviving member of a family of nine. At the age of 20 he married Mary Eliza Sabin, and two children were born of this marriage: Willie, and Mrs. Wallace Comeau, of Concession, now 83.

His first wife died in 1878 and three years later he married Elizabeth LeBlanc, of St. Bernard. Of this marriage there were seven children: Marie and Nellie, now deceased; three surviving daughters, Mrs. Lennie Brickley, of St. Bernard, Mrs. Alcide Gaudet, Ohio, Mrs. Wilfred LeBlanc, of St. Bernard; and two sons, Amedee and Fidele, of St. Bernard.

In his youth he went to sea for many years and many of the residents of St. Bernard enjoy hearing of his exploits and adventures of his early life.

Has Successful Year

According to the reports presented at the Grace United W. M. S. held at the church hall on Friday a successful year was closed by the organization. During the year the allocation which was raised considerably was met and slightly exceeded by the 15 members, assisted by the associate members and affiliated groups.

Mrs. Gordon Arnold reported 124 home calls made and 45 hospital calls. Three hundred and fifty dollars worth of supplies were shipped as revealed by the supply secretary, Mrs. Milton Atkinson. Other reports of secretaries also showed an active year.

It was announced by the president, Mrs. Burton Fleet, that the World Day of Prayer would be held in the Baptist Church on February 13, at 3:30 p.m.

Mrs. John Russell presented the study for the day in which she touched on the immigration into Canada, its problems in mental health, drug addiction and alcoholism, and the part the church plays in these concerns.

Appointments were made as follows: Representatives to the Official Board of the church, Mrs. Burton Fleet and Mrs. Philip Kaye; finance committee, Mrs. E. G. Arnold, Mrs. J. M. Wallis, Mrs. John Abramson and Mrs. Fleet; quilt committee, Mrs. Gordon Arnold and Mrs. C. B. After the reading of the poem "God Working Together With Us" by Mrs. Oakley Turnbull the officers were installed by Rev. James Brooks.

Escapes Serious Injury Or Death

A close shave with either serious injury or death was experienced by Emmanuel Aadelar of Weymouth here last week when a truck, reportedly driven by George Thibault, of North Range, backed into him, knocking him off the top of the spur pier to the steel deck of a freighter moored alongside the dock.

The accident occurred as the freighter "Berylstone", skippered by Captain T. G. Goldie, was loading pulpwood at the spur pier. A truck, driven by Thibault, was backing up to turn when the rear of the vehicle struck Aadelar, knocking him off the wharf.

He fell to the deck of the vessel, more than fifteen feet below the wharf-top, striking his head and shoulders on projections as he fell.

An ambulance and doctor were immediately summoned and the injured man rushed to the Digby hospital. Examination later showed he had received only minor injuries and no bones were broken.

Almost half the pulpwood cut comes from Quebec province.

Lloyd Jefferson Made Director

"This is one of the best winters we have had in years", was the consensus of a group of delegates attending the 63rd annual convention of the Nova Scotia Federation of Agriculture held at Truro, this week.

"It has been grand for work in the woods for the frost came early and there has been lots of snow. We were in the woods all last week and never were held up once. This is certainly more like it than a few of the winters we have had in recent years. Of course, it is a hard winter on fuel, but one can't have everything. Personally, I would rather have to use more fuel and enjoy winter weather, than have a mild, open winter and be held up with my woods work because there is not enough frost in the ground to carry a load."

This, in essence, was the gist of many of the conversations heard at the convention in Truro this week.

AYPA Officers Installed

Officers of Trinity AYPA were installed by Rev. James Pike, rector of Trinity Church, in an impressive ceremony during the service of matins Sunday morning.

Prior to the installation ceremony the Scripture lesson was read by Douglas Wright, newly elected vice-president of the AYPA.

Officers installed were Joan Hall, president; Douglas Wright, vice-president, and Nancy Sanford, secretary.

In his sermon following the installation Mr. Pike drew the attention of the AYPA members and the large congregation present for the service to the need for taking our religion into our social life. Christianity, he said, is not just a one-day-a-week religion nor is it a religion that has no place for gaiety or joyfulness.

The rector pointed out that Christians should practise their belief in all their living and said they could do much to further Christian principles by simple acts during the experiences of each day. A look of scorn for those who would make vain use of God's name; refusal to smile at the unclean joke; remonstrance with those who would act in an un-Christian manner — all of these might appear to be small things, Mr. Pike said, but they require courage and can be effective in promoting the beliefs which we profess.

Burn Note At Digby Forum

A promissory note, originally for seven thousand dollars, contracted in 1950 to enable the Digby Recreation Commission to complete work on the Digby Forum and increase the ice surface in the curling rink, was burned at ceremonies marking the opening of the 1955 hockey season at the Digby Forum on Wednesday evening.

Taking part in the burning of the note Mayor Victor Cardoza traced its history. After the town of Digby had guaranteed a bond issue of $85,000 for the Digby Recreation Commission it was found this amount was not sufficient to complete the work at the Forum. The late Dr. Earl Anderson, his father, F. L. Anderson, and Guy E. Morehouse, Mayor of Digby at the time, borrowed seven thousand dollars on their joint note and later got the signatures of twenty Digby businessmen, all of whom were at the time curlers, to guarantee the loan. At 10:00 a.m. the undefeated Millionaires went down to defeat for the first time this season when the Rangers won 4-2. G. Winchester, the Rangers' playing coach, when the score was tied 2-2 had the happy experience of seeing the disgruntled Millionaires' goal tender, R. VanTassel, skate out of the nets twice to leave him an empty goal into which to score twice.

Rangers goals were by J. Winchester (P. Murley), G. Winchester (P. Murley), G. Winchester (P. Murley), and G. Winchester (unassisted).

Millionaires marksmen were R. Woolf (R. Trefry) and B. Olson (R. Woolf).

Significant Year In Public Welfare

By Hon. Malcolm S. Leonard, Minister of Public Welfare

In looking back over the year 1954 it is evident that this has been a most significant time in the field of Public Welfare. Early in the year the Province of Nova Scotia signed an agreement with the federal government under the terms of the Unemployment Assistance Act. This made it possible for us to take advantage of the offer of the federal government to share 50 per cent of the costs of unemployment assistance. In May a new Social Assistance Act was passed by the Nova Scotia Legislature. Provincial Assistance, which is Part I, is essentially the same as the 1956 Social Assistance Act. Municipal Assistance, which is Part II, replaces the Poor Relief Act which had been in existence, with very little change, during the entire history of the Province and social agencies have been advocating drastic changes in re-

About This and That

Examinations Nightmares?

Solution In Organization

School exams don't need to be nightmares, according to a communication from the American Medical Association received by the Health League of Canada.

Worst enemy of students is the feeling of fear. Most young people are not trained in methods of taking examinations, and remarkably few work out a really efficient system, despite the frequent occurrence of tests.

A feeling of preparedness can be achieved through consistent study during the school year, rather than a last minute boning-up, the communique stated.

Here are a few pointers:

Prepare for the test physically. This means enough sleep. Make yourself comfortable in the test room. Try to sit near a window in good light — loosen your tie and perhaps take off your shoes.

Before starting to write, check the entire exam so that you know and understand what you have to do.

Allocate your time wisely. By answering the easy questions first you will conserve time and energy for the hard ones. Watch for these common errors which may cost you dearly: misspelled words, punctuation mistakes, sloppy writing, right answers on the wrong lines, correct answers with erroneous steps or processes, and puzzling abbreviations.

Above all, read over what you have written before you turn in your paper. Many errors can be detected in the final moments of a test.

Music Festival Dates Set

The syllabus for the 1959 Digby Music Festival which is to be held April 27, 28 and 29 has just been released. The syllabus gives opportunity for entrants in children's piano solos, piano duets, vocal solos and duets, choruses by schools and clubs, rhythm band selections, singing games and folk dances. Besides, the juniors have an opportunity to participate in the festival through church choirs, Sunday School choirs, C.G.I.T., Girl Guides or other youth groups for boys and girls. The adult syllabus, too, includes opportunities for solo, duet, trio, quartette or chorus work in either instrumental or vocal. The entries of family groups is still made available, that particular part of the Digby Music Festival which has become so popular.

Three months from now until the Music Festival looks to be a long time but it is surprising how soon the time passes. As usual the deadline for entries arrives and a quick scramble is made to get the selections entered often with a poor chance of selection for the participants.

We suggest that it is not too early to acquire the syllabus now, use sufficient time to choose the selection and make use of the months ahead to practice. There is a joy and satisfaction in having performed to the best of one's ability whether that best has been rated the highest award in the group or not. The music festival is designed to develop a greater appreciation of music and to bring out and develop musical talent in children and adults. The highest degree of appreciation cannot be attained unless participants are willing to give of their best in performance. Musical ability, whether instrumental or through voice can best be accomplished through practice and the Music Festival provides that needed incentive for practice. It is not too early now to begin planning for the festival in April. To make the 1959 Music Festival in Digby the best on record will require the co-operation of both parent and child, teacher and pupil and leader and member of all music groups. Music has its benefits for those who perform or listen. It is worthwhile developing it. One way to do so is to create an interest in the Music Festival.

What Do Children Do On Sunday Afternoon?

By Amy B. Hauschuld.

What do you do on Sunday afternoons when you have small children? Are you one of the modern parents who believe that the children may be allowed to do much the same on Sunday as they do the rest of the week? Or do you belong to the old era that believes that Sundays should be different?

As a child staying at my grandparents, I was not allowed even to have my doll to play with, or any other toys. What did I do? I remember sitting in the window on the wide sill, reading as loudly as I could, some verses from the Bible. I reasoned that I would really give them something to be pleased about!

Looking back on that time, it seems silly and far-fetched. Yet there is a happy medium somewhere between those days and the Sunday of today which is treated like a holiday, instead of a Holy-Day.

It is necessary for children to ride bicycles, tricycles, scooters and play on swings, and at cow-boys and Indians. What about the golfers, and Sunday baseball? Well, what about them? The players are not children. They have made their decisions. Children have to be trained in respect and reverence. Parents are the ones to train children.

Many men leave the practising of religion in the family to the mother. Is this right? No; but it is the mothers who try and set the example. If the mother feels that Sunday should be observed in a respectful manner, then she will see that the children do it.

Parents who lool around on Sunday in shorts, reading papers and sleeping, making easy meals, are usually the ones who allow their children to run around everyone's gardens, at play like any other day.

When our children were young, we would meet them after Sunday School and take them to the zoo, or the park or the museum. But we always attended church, even on the hottest Sundays. On vacations, we often helped to swell the country congregation. We took our children to the public library and encouraged them to borrow books for reading on Sunday afternoons.

As a young girl, two or three of us would go for long walks into the country. But we returned in time to have tea with our friends and go to the evening service.

The trend is away from the quiet Sunday. No longer are children made to be quiet while a neighbor rests. Even the corner store is open.

When I was a child, to enter a store on Sunday was absolutely forbidden. Once I kept my Sunday School collection and spent it on cough drops in a tobacco store on the way home. Not to be found out, they had to be eaten fast. There seemed to be a great deal more for the money than had been expected.

Now that fathers work five days a week, there is no longer the excuse that father has only one day in which to take things easy. We see and hear many men cutting grass on Sunday. Is this necessary? Women who work away from home, do the family washing on Sunday. My mother-in-law had seven children, but never washed on Sundays for any baby. The Sunday dinner was prepared on Saturday so that she would be free to take the children to visit their grandmother, five miles away, then with the children attend church in the evening.

I hear my neighbor hammering in his house on Sunday, converting it into two apartments, for investment. Is this striving for money going to make his family any happier? His children are playing outside with bows and arrows. How much nicer for them if their father would take them to the park for a walk and talk to them about the things they see there: the swans, the flowers, the air-

PROTECT YOUR INVESTMENT

Like everything else, a house has a normal rate of deterioration which can be retarded if proper maintenance is carried out. The house owner who develops the habit of checking the points where trouble is most likely to occur protects his investment and is assured of the highest possible return should he wish to sell his property at any time. By following a few simple rules he will spare himself and his family many annoyances and forestall serious trouble with the heavier expenses that major repairs entail.

No matter how carefully a house has been built, certain functional defects can be expected to appear sooner or later. Even though the materials and workmanship have been first quality, there is no guarantee against defects that normally develop in every house. Sticking doors and windows and hairline cracks in plaster walls should not always be blamed on the builder, since they can result from causes beyond his control, such as "settling" of the house or shrinkage, that can not altogether be eliminated in construction where lumber is used.

These defects are usually of a minor nature, though admittedly annoying. They can often be corrected by the owner himself, without the assistance of a skilled repairman. Added to these incidental repairs are other maintenance requirements like periodical painting that should be carried out if the house is to be kept in top condition.

The owner should be trained to recognize failures that call for skilled attention so that corrections can be carried out without delay. Maintaining a house in good repair is just as important as keeping a car in good working order. A little attention today can prevent expensive repairs later on.

Hotel Course In April

The annual Hotel Short Course, sponsored by the Department of Trade and Industry, will be held this year at the Nova Scotia Hotel, Halifax, April 7, 8 and 9, according to an announcement by Hon. E. A. Manson.

Invitations will be sent to operators of more than 700 places of accommodation in the province and a large percentage of these are expected to attend.

Although the course is primarily designed in the interest of hotel, motel and tourist resort managers, it will be open for attendance by representatives of hospitals, service establishments and restaurants.

Although now in the formative stage plans include food demonstrations, group and panel discussions and educational lectures.

Two staff professors of Cornell University's school of hotel administration have accepted invitations to attend the three-day course and will talk on guest relations, general courtesy and food.

Chief hotel inspector for Nova Scotia, Jean Ross, New Glasgow, will supervise the short course, assisted by Joan Campbell, Trenton, assistant hotel inspector.

SHEEP PROBE OVER

Canada's sheep industry enquiry committee has concluded its round of public hearings, after meetings in every province as well as talks with other official groups.

Almost without exception the meetings were well attended and keen interest was shown, said secretary J. W. Graham. Many ideas, recommendations and criticisms were brought forward, which in all likelihood will be studied further and embodied in a final report to Minister of Agriculture Douglas S. Harkness.

The committee was assigned the job of determining what steps could be taken to revitalize the sheep industry and bring it to the point where it is considered another major livestock line.

Statistics show that sheep have been at a low level in Canada for the past decade.

HINTS ON ACCIDENT PREVENTION

- Do you know how to prevent automobile accidents at night?
1. Make sure your car lights are clean and properly adjusted.
  2. Keep your windshield clean.
  3. Slow down at sundown.
  4. Dim your lights to approaching cars, even if they don't dim theirs, and dim when following a car.
  5. Stop periodically on trips for a break.
- Remember, it takes a lot of extra effort by motorists to make night driving safe.

by Ken Hankinson
Should it be snow tires or chains
this winter?
It may be a question of money, but there are other considerations too.
The great advantage of snow tires is that they are always with you. With chains, you can find yourself stuck after leaving them at home when the snow seemed to be clearing.
Chains, as any experienced winter driver knows, aren't to be sneezed at. In deep snow, the sides of the chains give a lot of extra traction, and chains can batter their way through the ice to get you going on the most impossible road.
That same battering-ram action on the ice works another way. When the chains start pounding the bare pavement you can expect a pretty sorry suspension system in short order.
They've taken the noise out of the newer snow tires, and they give a better grip, too.
The decision between chains and snow tires rests largely with the kind of roads you're going to be travelling:
whether the snow is going to stay most of the winter, or pile up off and on.
If you really get stuck, you can usually ease yourself out by letting most of the air out of the back tires — and then crawl along to the next service station.
If you haven't lined up your winter transportation yet, you know where to come for the best selection of snug and well-groomed used cars. And right now is the time to start shopping.

Minister of Municipal Affairs

The year 1958 was one of continued progress for the municipalities of this Province. Near the close of the preceding year a conference had been held in Halifax between the Government and the Mayors and Wardens of our cities, towns and municipalities. The Premier had submitted certain proposals to that conference intended to assist the municipalities financially and at the same time to bring about reforms and improvements in some of the services provided to the people of the Province. Since then conferences have continued between representatives of the Province on the one hand and the Executive of the Union of Nova Scotia Municipalities or Committees appointed by the Executive on the other, for the purpose of consummating the various proposals then made and making adjustments in order to render these proposals more satisfactory to all concerned. Considerable progress has been made.

One of the matters agreed upon at that conference was that the Province should assist the municipalities in providing poor relief, and in the operation of municipal homes and mental institutions, subject to the raising by municipalities of their standards for these three services. Standards have now been agreed upon in the field of poor relief; a new Social Assistance Act has been passed and under the terms of that Act and an agreement made with the Dominion Government, payments are now being made to the cities, towns and municipalities of the Province, amounting to two-thirds of the cost of providing assistance to those in need, subject to those approved standards. Standards have been agreed upon for municipal homes. Some of these homes are well on the way to attaining those standards; others have apparently not advanced as far in this direction as had been hoped.

Standards have also been agreed upon for the operation of mental institutions. At the time of writing this review, three of these institutions have almost attained those standards. Others are endeavouring to raise the levels of services in their mental institutions. Both the Province and the municipalities generally may therefore feel some satisfaction at the improvement made in these three services.

A further conference was held on December 9, 1958, by the Cabinet and the Executive of the Union of Nova Scotia Municipalities at which a number of important topics were discussed. At the 1957 conference the Minister of Education had proposed what is known generally as the Leonard formula for the purpose of assisting in the increasing of teachers' salaries. This formula has been almost universally adopted by our municipalities but there are still requests by teachers for increased salaries, particularly for those who have college training, and who might therefore feel themselves entitled to larger salaries than those who have not made this investment. At the conference in December 1958, the Minister of Education proposed a somewhat similar formula applicable to teachers holding PC-1, PC-2 and PC-3 licenses, provided these are teaching in junior or senior high schools. The formula is again optional. It may be adopted by any school board which wishes, and in such case the Province will contribute the percentage provided under the Education Act (the 25% minimum payment does not apply).

Other items of importance were discussed, and substantial agreement was reached on all of them. Among these was a proposal by the Province to supplement the winter work incentive programme of the Dominion Government. Under the proposal the Province would pay half the labour cost of certain winter work under certain conditions. It is worth mentioning because it is another instance of what can be and has been accomplished by cooperation between the two governments.

Substantial expenditures continue to be made on school construction particularly by the rural municipalities. These are reflected in the debentures issued and sold for school purposes. In 1958 our cities, towns and municipalities sold approximately $7,000,000 in debentures for this purpose of which $6,000,000 was sold by rural municipalities; this compares with a little more than $4,500, 000 in 1957, of which $4,000,000 was by rural municipalities. As a matter of interest, in 1956 total borrowing for schools by all municipalities was only $2,000,000. Some of our rural municipalities have been able to build modest inexpensive schools. In others the case seems to be substantially greater. The fact that some municipalities can build more cheaply than others seems to indicate that all municipalities should give more careful thought to costs when considering their building programme. It is difficult to estimate whether there will be any reduction in the expenditure for this purpose during 1959. From all the information now available to us it would seem that if there is any reduction it will be relatively small.

Other public services have been provided by our municipalities about on the same scale as in previous years. For street and sidewalk improvement $1,500,000 was borrowed as compared with $1,800,000 for the preceding year. For sewers $900,000 was borrowed as compared with $700,000 for the previous year. In addition to amounts obtained by borrowing, current revenue has also been used for capital purposes. The most important instance of this is the Town of Glace Bay which in 1958 expended out of revenue over $125,000 on improvements to its capital facilities. This type of financing will save to the ratepayers of that Town over a relatively short period of years, at least $50,000 which would otherwise have been required to pay interest on debentures.

The total debentures sold in 1958 were $10,135,000 as compared with $8,000,000 in 1957. Practically the entire increase can be accounted for by the larger sums borrowed for school purposes, which for all municipalities together amounted to almost 70% of the total.

Substantial improvements continue to be made in the field of municipal assessment. Our Director of Assessment has been very active. It is anticipated that with the filing of the Pugsley Report, he will now be able to give more assistance than has hitherto been possible. During 1958 the Towns of Amherst, Antigonish, Canso and Dartmouth and the Municipality of the County of Halifax have completed re-assessment programmes. Arrangements have been made for re-assessment in the Counties of Cumberland, Colchester, Cape Breton and Digby during 1959. Total net assessment of all our municipalities for 1958 was $698,000. It is worth mentioning that this is over three times as much as in 1948 when the total was only $220,000,000. While special mention has been made of a few municipalities, most of the others have completed re-assessments over the past few years and are continuing to take an active interest in this most important aspect of their operations. That there is still room for improvement seems evident from the report of the Pugsley Commission, which was filed in December, which places total taxable assessments of all municipal units at $1,357,000,000.

In the field of community planning, in which the department now has a Director, there has also been greater activity. It must be admitted that in the past, with a few exceptions, most of our municipalities have shown very little interest in this phase of their work. Active planning boards now exist in two cities, six towns and one rural municipality. Studies have been completed in 1958 on a number of our smaller towns. These would include Middleton, Mulgrave and Port Hawkesbury. A study of one of the larger towns, Kentville, will be completed this winter. Our Director of Community Planning is discussing this work with other municipalities. Plans have been made for further work during the summer months when the practice of engaging students to do the field work has proved very successful.

During the year we continued our practice of conducting schools for clerks and for assessors. These have been very successful and were well attended by these officials. This is an indication not only of the interest taken by the municipalities themselves but also of the desire of the officials to improve their knowledge of the work they are doing and their value to the public. I again mention the deep debt of gratitude which the people of Nova Scotia owe to their municipal officials, whose long hours of labour, deep interest in their work, and prudent advice have contributed in no small measure to the happy financial position in which most of our municipalities stand. We still have two or three cases where economic conditions are unfavorable and prevent a prompt solution of their problems. For the most part our municipalities are in an enviable position. The municipalities of Nova Scotia have advanced during 1958. We feel that the prudence, courage and spirit of our people ensure further progress in the year upon which we are about to enter.

Clare Company Gets Contract

The Minister of Public Works, Honourable Howard C. Green, announced January 15th that a contract for 178,930 has been awarded to Clare Industries Limited of Meteghan, N. S., for construction of a breakwater at Trout Cove, N. S. The company submitted the lowest bid on the project in response to the Department's advertising for public tenders. Specified completion date is October 6, 1959.

The outer 201 ft. of the existing west breakwater will be completely removed. Foundations will then be prepared for the new work by excavation. This will be followed by the construction of a close faced, fully ballasted and creosoted cribwork stem and ell, measuring 320 ft. and 46.5 ft. on the seaward sides with width of 25 ft. overall. Seaward faces of both the stem and ell will be double faced and the harbour face and outer end will be single faced.

A reinforced concrete deck, 12 inches thick along the centre line, will be placed over the full length of the stem and ell. It will be 25 ft. wide. A creosoted timber guard will be placed along the harbour side of the stem and ell and also across the outer end of the ell. Along seaward faces of both the stem and ell, a reinforced concrete wavebreak measuring 12 inches thick and 3 ft. high will be placed.

The finished concrete deck will be 28 feet above Low Water Ordinary Spring Tides. Six creosoted timber ladders and 10 cast steel-iron mooring cleats will be supplied and placed in the new work. Two hundred and five thousand cubic feet of creosoted crib work, 25,000 pounds of reinforced steel and 2,520 bags of cement will be used for this. ## Special Farm Broadcast

The increasing problem of the vanishing small Canadian farmer will be the topic of a special 90-minute radio broadcast Monday, January 26.

National Farm Radio Forum will present the broadcast at 9:30 p.m., A.S.T., on the CBC Trans-Canada network.

The 90-minute program will be divided into three half-hour sections.

The topic, "Will the Small Farmer Get the Axe This Year?", will be discussed in the first portion of the program by a special panel of experts at the Bessborough Hotel in Saskatoon, where the Canadian Federation of Agriculture is holding its annual meeting.

During the past few years thousands of small Canadian farmers have left their farms to seek employment elsewhere. Many experts believe that this year the exodus will be at a faster rate.

Demand for greater efficiency, more expensive machinery, contract farming and guaranteed prices for the delivered product have streamlined production to the extent that many small farmers find it impossible to cope.

SIGNIFICANT YEAR

spect to it for many years. It has now been repealed.

The main effects of the new Social Assistance Act in respect to municipal assistance are:

1. The aged, sick and infirm being cared for in municipal homes will be separated from the mentally ill and henceforth will be looked after in completely separate institutions.

2. The Provincial and Federal Governments will reimburse the municipalities 66 and 2/3 per cent of their expenditures on municipal assistance to persons in need either in their own homes or in municipal homes.

3. The Province will reimburse the municipalities 50 per cent of the administrative costs in providing assistance to persons in need.

Certain minimum standards are to be met by the municipalities if they are to take advantage of these provisions. Although only a few months have passed since the enactment of this legislation, there are already clear indications that Nova Scotia will have, in future, a greatly improved municipal assistance program. Any change in municipal assistance programs has far reaching effects on other social welfare agencies, particularly those concerned with family and child welfare.

The Child Welfare Division of the Department and voluntary agencies throughout the province have continued their efforts to maintain a high standard of service to children placed in their care by the courts, neglected children in their own homes, juvenile delinquents, children of unmarried mothers and others in need of assistance. The demands for these services continue at a high level and these agencies, although requiring additional staff, have been able to provide a good quality of service to the people of our province.

There are twelve Children's Aid Societies serving most areas of the province and where there is no such agency, district offices of the department provide the services mentioned in the preceding paragraph. In addition to the direct services provided, another major function of the Child Welfare Division is to be available, at all times, to the voluntary agencies for consultation and assistance.

During the last few years greater emphasis has been placed on protection work, that is, working with parents and children in their own homes in an effort to keep the family unit intact. The placement of children for adoption has also received more attention, particularly through the operation of the Department Adoption Clearance Service. Both of these programs are achieving a considerable measure of success and the effect of them is shown in a further reduction in the total number of wards under care from 2633 in 1957 to 2537 in 1958 and in the 431 adoptions finalized by the courts of Nova Scotia during the past year.

During the past year the Mother's Allowance Act was amended to increase the maximum allowance from $80 to $90 per month. This meant a general increase of $10 a month to all persons in receipt of this Allowance. At the moment there are 2124 mothers receiving an allowance, 1325 of these are widows and 799 are wives of disabled husbands. This service involves the Province in a total expenditure of $1,875,000 and directly benefits 5480 children. In addition to the money payments, medical services are also provided through the cooperation of the Nova Scotia Medical Society.

The number of persons receiving Social Assistance or what is now called Provincial Assistance has continued to increase. At the end of the year this program was directly benefiting 1526 mothers and children with an annual expenditure of $275,000.

There has been a steady increase in the number of persons receiving Old Age Assistance, Blind Persons Allowance and Disabled Persons Allowances. Old Age Assistance was paid to 5466 persons between the ages of 18 and 70 years totalling $504,000 paid to 781 such persons. At the close of the year there were 2073 totally and permanently disabled persons in receipt of allowances. The total amount paid during the year was $1,290,000.

Class II (ages 13 to 16)

United Church Holds Annual

The annual meeting of the Granville Ferry United Church was held on Tuesday evening of last week. A short devotional period was conducted by Rev. C. H. Gough before the business session. The minutes of the last meeting were read by Miss H. Laura Hardy and gratifying and satisfactory reports were given by the following officers: church treasurer, J. A. Ruffee; M. & M. treasurer, Mrs. K. L. Oliver; president of the W.M.S., Mrs. Walter Milo; president of the W.A. Friendly Circle, Mrs. Fred L. Fields, and treasurer of the Men's Club, John Gilliat. A minute of silent prayer was observed in loving memory of two members who passed away during the year, namely, Mrs. E. C. Shattner and Mrs. C. O. Saunders.

Rev. Gough, in his report gave special mention to the two outstanding services held in the church during the year, one at Easter, when ten new wine chalice gowns and hats were dedicated to the Glory of God and nine new members were welcomed into the fellowship of the church, and the special anniversary service held in October commemorating the 80th anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone of the church. Dr. A. G. Pentz of Springfield was the interesting guest preacher at this service and the choir of Grace United Church, Digby, added much to the service with their music.

Ruffee, on behalf of the church, expressed the esteem and affection which is held by the members for their minister. The happy and congenial relations existing between minister and congregation is responsible for the many improvements which have been made in the church during the past year.

MADE DIRECTOR

Ross Hill, Onslow, President of the Federation, presided over the various meetings which were held in the auditorium of Cumming Hall. Although the convention was not as large as some held in the past, the number of younger farmers in attendance appeared to be larger and this led the Honourable E. D. Haliburton, Minister of Agriculture and Marketing, to observe that the future of agriculture in the province appears to be bright when so many young men are taking such an interest in the activities of their own association.

If farmers want to stay in business, then they must recognize the changes that are going on about them every day. They must be amenable to change, they must be ever-ready to introduce factors of readjustment as they become necessary and they must produce a sufficient volume of agricultural products that will enable them to take advantage of the increased market opportunities associated with a projected rise in population growth. Far too many farmers were not in a position to take advantage of their opportunities because they had not given sufficient thought to the readjustment of their enterprise in line with changing conditions, and too many had not yet appreciated the importance of increasing the volume of farm business each year.

This, in essence, was the story which the Hon. E. D. Haliburton had for the farmers attending the 63rd annual convention.

In Mr. Haliburton's opinion, there are practically unlimited opportunities for farming in Nova Scotia, providing those who farm recognize that they must operate an efficient farm business; and that they must be able to compete with production specialists who know what they are about and who follow some "factory type" operations, perhaps not in this province, but in other parts of the continent.

"I believe he will be able to compete," cautioned Mr. Haliburton, "only if he is efficient, and if he has the right set-up to enable him to do this."

Officers elected for the ensuing year were, as follows: Honorary President, Dr. W. S. Blair, Kentville; President, Murray Ritey, Cole Harbour; Past President, Ross Hill, Lower Onslow; Vice-President, Gordon Woodman, Grand Pre; Directors, R. F. MacCann, River Phillip; Fraser MacDonald, Greenhill; Lloyd Jefferson, Digby; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Nadine Arrhibald, Truro.

The highlight of the convention was the session devoted to hog production — a project to which Nova Scotian farmers are devoting considerable attention and one which is calculated to provide the co-operatively-owned abattoir, which the farmers of the province are building, with sufficient hog to enable it to operate efficiently and at near capacity.

A panel discussion on hog production, chaired by J. Howard MacKichan, who, in 1935 was president of the farmer's association, proved to be an extremely valuable feature of the convention programme and one in which delegates from all counties took a keen interest.

R. J. MacSween's address was one of the highlights of the convention and in it he traced some of the progress and changes that had taken place in the field of agriculture over the years. In consequence of these changes, he pointed out that it was now more necessary than ever that farmers be well educated and have a sound knowledge of agricultural practices.

Mr. MacSween reminded his audience that two generations ago, farmers of Nova Scotia made representation to the government of the day seeking the establishment of an agricultural college. This was provided. Within the last few years, a residence, known as Trueman House, was provided by the government of the present day, again as a result of representations of Nova Scotian farmers.

Mr. MacSween reminded his audience that the Nova Scotia Agricultural College is equipped with a staff of first-rate calibre and that the courses offered there are second to none. What the college does lack is its quota of he pointed out the difference occurring in Europe where a large percentage of those engaged in agricultural pursuits have had formal training in the field of agriculture.

"It appears to me," said Mr. MacSween, "that you have a great deal of unfinished business on your books until such time as the attendance at the College is stimulated and classes filled. I commend this to your consideration and I am certain that your interest in better agricultural training will rate dividends many times over."

Drive safely, arrive safely!

PLAN TWO NEW SCHOOLS

Rice Kinney, of the municipal school board, stated the board felt the municipality should pay out no more money on school construction in the town of Digby. He stated he had been told some people in Digby regard the schools in the town as Digby's biggest industry and said the municipality was at present paying 55% of the costs of the elementary schools and 75% of the regional high school. "Let us build up the municipality rather than the town," he said, and stated construction of schools in an area bring growth to that district.

Municipal school board member Merle Mullen said there was no question the municipality was now paying the town to educate many municipal pupils and said the matter to be decided was whether to build schools in the municipality or continue to pay the town of Digby for educating rural pupils.

It was pointed out the municipality of Digby is now paying annually to Annapolis municipality $15,655.54; $232.15 to Clare; $39,598.81 to the town of Digby; and $74,473.79 to the Regional High School for the education of municipal pupils. This is the total, it was stated, with the province contributing some 78%.

Councillor Ernest Ring, of Barton, who moved the resolution regarding the Barton-Brighton school, stated he felt it was time the municipality stood on its own feet in the matter of educating its pupils and said he felt in the long run the building of schools at Barton-Brighton and Smith's Cove will be cheaper than paying education costs to Digby.

Councillor Aubrey Forrest, who opposed the move, asked how much the building of the proposed new schools would affect the taxpayer. School Inspector C. W. Crowell and municipal clerk R. G. Hand, spiker both stated this would be hard to estimate since the new construction would effect certain savings and the cost of the municipality's share of the new construction would be amortized over twenty years. Mr. Crowell said he felt there would be very little difference in costs than at present.

With respect to savings through the proposed new building, it was stated some $12,000 now being paid to Digby for tuition of pupils who would be attending the new schools, would no longer have to be paid into the town. Warden Morehouse said it was pretty well established extra classroom space would be needed for next year and if the new schools were not built it might mean provision of three or four new classrooms in Digby.

The resolutions with regard to both schools were passed with all councillors except Councillor Forrest voting in favour.

BURN NOTE AT FORUM

Arrangements were made, Mayor Cardoza said, to take part of the profits from a number of community enterprises to pay off the note over the years and by late 1958 only a little over four thousand dollars remained. An all-out effort was made to clear off this balance through payment of a portion by the note signers and through subscriptions from the general public. These efforts were successful, he said, and the note fully retired.

Before the burning of the note trophies were presented to four local lads who attended the hockey school in Kentville last summer. The citations accompanying the awards were read by H. M. Warne and the trophies were presented by Commander Floyd of HMCS Cornwallis. The recipients were Geoffrey Hodgson, eleven years old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Hodgson, who received a trophy for showing the most progress in his age group; eleven years old Ian Anderson, son of Mrs. E. H. Anderson and the late Dr. Earl H. Anderson; Carmen Cummings and Murray Burgoyne. These last three received awards as the most coachable youngsters attending the hockey school from this area.

At the close of the ceremonies Commander Floyd dropped the opening puck for the first game of a best of three series for the Wright trophy between Cornwallis Cougars and Digby Ravens. The game ended in a three-all draw, with the second in the series scheduled for next Friday night at the naval base.

After the game Recreation Commission members and invited guests were tendered a buffet lunch at the headquarters of Branch No. 20, Canadian Legion, BESL, adjacent to the Forum.

Atlantic Provinces tourist industry grossed over $58 million from visitors outside the region last year, APEC reports.

Lobster Suit Creates Interest

A damage suit which is attracting wide interest locally opened here Tuesday. This is the suit of C. D. Snow, Digby lobster dealer, against the Liberator freighter, Maria Luisa, for damages occasioned in June of 1957 through the "death or destruction" of up to 35,000 pounds of lobsters held in floats in the harbour at Digby by Mr. Snow.

The plaintiff is claiming that because of the alleged negligence of the defendant there was a breach of the oil pollution regulations under the Canada Shipping Act and because of this up to 35,000 pounds of lobsters held in storage by the plaintiff were destroyed.

Hearing the case is Chief Justice J. L. Halsey, acting as deputy district judge in the admiralty division of the exchequer court of Canada. Appearing for the plaintiff is R. A. Ritchie, Q.C., and A. R. Moreira. Defence counsel is H. P. McKeen, Q.C., and D. A. Kerr. First witness for the plaintiff, Allan Harris, Digby customs officer, gave evidence the Maria Luisa docked in Digby from Saint John on June 7, 1957, and cleared customs for Garston, England, loaded with pitprops on June 13th. He stated she did not sail until the morning of June 14.

Following Mr. Harris' testimony Mr. Ritchie entered several admissions made by the defendant. These were that the Maria Luisa was in Digby on June 13 and 14; that the CPS Princess Helene left Digby at 5:15 p.m. June 13, returning after noon next day; that HMCS Buckingham was not in Digby June 13 and 14 and did not arrive until after 1 p.m. ADST, June 14, and that there were no RCN vessels in Digby other than the Buckingham on June 13 and 14. Admission was also made by the plaintiff the Maria Luisa purchased a quantity of bunker oil in Saint John and that the delivery slip of the supplier accurately described the grade. The defendant also admitted an official tide table as giving the tides as they were June 13 and 14 and also an official weather report for the same dates. They refused to admit, Mr. Ritchie stated, there were no bunker fuel oil storage facilities in Digby at the time in question.

Captain A. G. Stanley, steamship inspector, called by the plaintiff, gave evidence concerning types of fuels used by the Digby fishing fleet. He stated the Digby fishing fleet used light diesel fuel. He said CPS Princess Helene used a grade of petroleum oil as fuel. No fishing boats in Digby use bunker oil as fuel, he stated, and said there were no facilities here for storage of bunker oil or facilities for bunkering ships. He said bunker C fuel was black and heavy in appearance and had to be heated to be pumped. He stated the fishing fleet at Digby was moored near the floats used for lobster storage.

Captain Albert Moore, skipper of the fisheries department vessel "Limanda", stated that on June 14, 1957, there was a heavy, black oily substance on the water forty to fifty feet out from his boat, moored at the spur pier. He said this substance was also on his vessel's lines and was so bad one line had to be discarded. It was also around the water line of the Limanda, he said. He stated John Thibault, Digby fisheries officer, came aboard the Limanda shortly before noon on June 14 and got this oil on his coat. He said he and Mr. Thibault cleaned some off. He stated the rungs of a ladder up the side of the wharf were also coated with the substance. He stated the substance he saw on the water and lines was not there the night before. He claimed there was little wind blowing that night.

James Christie, an employee of Max M. Naftal Ltd., who he stated were agents for the Maria Luisa when she loaded in Digby in June, 1957, gave evidence concerning the loading of the ship.

John Thibault, district fisheries department protection officer, told of going aboard the Limanda on June 14 and getting a black, oily substance on his coat and on his hands. He stated he saw the Maria Luisa at the spur pier and stated she had a deck load. He stated only 15,000 pounds of lobsters were available between mid June and July (Please turn to page 8)

Board Shows Revenue Increase

An excess of revenue over expenditure of $21,054.69 after providing for debenture interest and depreciation was reported by the Digby County Power Board in its 32nd annual statement to the Digby Municipal Council here.

The report showed the revenue of the board had increased by $17,228.99 over the past year to $188,887.62. During the year the board sold out its generating facilities to the Power Commission for $250,000. The sale, which was approved by the town of Digby, Digby and Clare municipalities and village of Weymouth, who are guarantors of the Digby County Power Board, was effected in May. Prior to the date of the sale the DCPB had generated in 1958 3,409,600 kwhrs. at the Weymouth and Sissiboo plants. Since the sale and to the end of 1958 the DCPB purchased 10,465,097 kwhrs. from the N. S. Power Commission.

Proceeds from the sale of the generating facilities of the power board were placed in the sinking fund and investments were increased to the point where existing debentures may be retired on maturity without further additions to the sinking fund.

The annual power board report, presented by superintendent James Ayer, showed that 149 customers had been added during the year and sales of hydro electric energy had increased by 1,102,517 kwhrs. A new transmission line was constructed during 1958 between Church Point and St. Bernard, greatly improving the operation conditions in Clare. A new substation is also underway, it was reported, to serve the village of Weymouth.

Mr. Ayer, in his report, stated that in general the operation of the system has been improved by the fact energy is delivered from two sources. The village of Weymouth and district of Clare receive power from a transformer bank at Sissiboo Falls while Digby and the municipality of Digby get their power from the Gulch development at Bear River. Normally, he said, the systems are not connected but they may be and this will provide opportunities to isolate faults and provide better service.

In giving his report on the municipal hydro distribution system for 1958, Mr. Ayer reported the system showed a revenue of $108,525.97. Two thousand, four hundred and eighty-eight customers were served and $3,128.405 kwhrs. of electric energy sold.

Increase in revenue of the distribution system amounted to $5,902.39 over 1957, Mr. Ayer reported. Surplus for 1958 was $4,633.40. This compared with $7,659.96 in 1957.

During 1958 new capital expenditure in the distribution system amounted to $14,751.44, which was a decrease from the previous year. The new capital outlay was mostly for new transformers, meters and poles. Extensive improvements to voltage had to be made in 1958, Mr. Ayer reported, due to television loads and this added to construction costs. Only one new distribution line was built during the year. This was to serve a freezer at Mink Cove. No petitions for service are outstanding, Mr. Ayer reported.

Spotlight On Purple & White

The Digby basketball teams were quite successful in Middleton on Friday night.

The B girls team started the evening of basketball. This team was the most successful of the evening for Digby. With a great effort on the part of all the players on the team they were able to obtain a lead throughout the game. Those scoring for Digby were C. Murley (4), M. Garden (1), and S. Donnelly (8). The game ended in favor of Digby with a score of 13-6.

The success of the B girls team gave the B boys team courage to go into their game with light hearts. We are sorry to say this spirit did not last long. They tried their best to follow in the foot-steps of the B girls but it proved impossible. George Thibault went all out to score 10 points, with Ray Riley scoring the remaining point, making the final score 21-11 for Middleton.

Appoint Members To Committee

Councillors Clyde Cosman, Roy Snell and Aubrey Forrest were appointed to represent the municipal council on a joint planning committee to consider the problems affecting the Digby General Hospital occasioned by developments brought about by the new provincial hospital insurance scheme, at last Thursday's meeting of the municipal council here.

Appointment of the three council members to the committee came following presentation of a brief concerning the local hospital by hospital board president F. C. Purdy and finance chairman E. B. Richardson.

The brief reviewed action taken by the hospital board to prepare for the implementation of the hospital insurance plan and studies made by a joint committee, representative of the hospital board, town of Digby and Digby county, concerning possible need for expansion of facilities with the development of the insurance plan.

In presenting the brief Mr. Purdy stressed the need of reorganizing the local planning committee because of changes made in the council personnel since the end of the year and said he felt it vitally important that all bodies having contact with the hospital and its operation should be kept fully informed as to the needs and problems of the institution, particularly at this time.

He stated the opinion of the previous local joint planning committee that the hospitalization needs of the area under the hospital insurance plan would require an expansion of the facilities of the Digby General Hospital to a 75 bed institution had been concurred in by Dr. Simms, deputy provincial minister of health and the Nova Scotia hospital services planning commission. Dr. Simms, he stated, had expressed the opinion the area needs could conceivably reach 105 beds by 1965 and had recommended any construction should be so planned to permit future expansion without replacement of ancillary services.

The brief presented by the hospital board representatives at Thursday's council session urged that an agreement with councils, medical staff and board representatives be secured for an acceptable plan of action regarding the expansion of the hospital; that the public of the area be informed fully as to the hospitalization needs of the area under the new insurance plan; that a study be made of methods of financing capital costs and other matters in connection with any plan of expansion.

Following a discussion of the brief and other matters concerning the hospital the council appointed representatives of the joint planning committee. Councillor C. E. Jones was also appointed as the representative of the municipal council on the board of directors of the Digby General Hospital.

Past Lieutenant Governor C. M. Levy presented the following members with appropriate honours: E. Scott Eaton, thirteen years; Edgar Chan, five years; Joe Hattie and Reigh Jayne, two years; and Dr. L. F. Doiron, one year. Following the above presentations Past Lieutenant Governor H. M. Warne presented Mr. Levy with a fourteen year perfect attendance tab and remarked on the splendid work that he had done in serving Division Number Eleven as its Lieutenant Governor during the year just past.

J. J. Brittain, well known local insurance and real estate agent, was inducted into the club by Reigh W. Jayne. In his remarks Mr. Jayne stated that Mr. Brittain, although he was just being admitted into membership had certainly acted the part of a Kiwanian for quite some time. His record as a community worker is one to be proud of. Mr. Jayne stated that although the club was honouring Mr. Brittain with membership, he, in return, was honouring the club by accepting this membership.

Municipal Council Hears MacKinnon

"Rumours that seem to be circulating to the effect the province will not pay its share of monies paid out by the municipalities for poor relief above the minimum set by the province are entirely without foundation", stated Fred MacKinnon of the provincial Welfare Department, in speaking to the Digby municipal council here Friday.

Mr. MacKinnon, who with H. E. Farquhar of the department, and Stanley MacDonald of the local welfare office, met with the council in company with Hon. M. S. Leonard, Minister of Welfare, stated there seemed to be some misunderstanding about the matter of relief payments in some areas and said he felt these should be cleared up.

He stated the minimum amounts had been set by the province "so that no person should go hungry", and said the province would pay its two-thirds share of any monies paid out by municipal authorities for provision of relief to persons who by dint of adverse circumstances were in need of such relief, so long as the amounts paid were not below the minimum figures set by the province.

In explaining the operation of the social assistance act, Mr. MacKinnon stated supplementary benefits being received by the relief recipient could be taken into account in calculating the total received. For example, he said, the municipal authority could add its relief payments to pensions or such other benefits, except Mothers Allowances, in order to ensure the recipient is receiving sufficient aid to prevent actual hardship.

ed their game with the first basket but Middleton soon took the example and left Digby far behind. This game was by far the roughest game of the evening. A technical foul was called on Digby for disagreeing with the referee. At the end of the scramble the score was 25-13 in favor of Middleton. The most efficient scorer for Digby was Karen Nickerson with a total of 10 points. L. Wagner and S. Richard also contributed to the score with 2 and 1 points.

The final game of the evening was that of the A boys team. This game proved to be the most exciting of the evening. Middleton seemed to be on the road to victory during the first half of the game. The Digby boys suddenly came to life which made the second half of the game out of great enthusiasm. The scores were very close through this half of the game and in the last few seconds of the game the score was 23-22 for Middleton. Middleton made a foul in these remaining seconds giving Digby the liberty to shoot a foul shot. The entire gym was silent as the foul shot was taken by Jimmy Doucette. This shot was perfect, making the score a tie, 23-23, and Jimmy the hero of the evening. He also made 12 other points. Others scoring for Digby were G Hard (2), G. Sanford (8).

ernment expense has been estimated at $25,666.70.

On the revenue side of the budget the municipal council estimate a recovery of $13,300 from the provincial government on social assistance expenditures. $43,557.15 is also estimated as the recovery from the province on school capital debt charges.

Because of the implementation of the hospital insurance plan hospital care expenditure item of $16,990.69 in the 1958 budget has been reduced to an estimate of $2,000 for 1959. The two thousand dollar figure has been included to cover accounts contracted before January 1st. In the 1959 budget an amount of $6,700 has been included to cover the provincial per capita levy for hospital capital account. $9,000 has been estimated as the cost of provision of care for the mentally ill of the municipality for 1959. Last year's actual expenditure on this account was $8,644.05.

The council included in their 1959 budget figures an amount not to exceed one half of the total estimated cost of $1,000 to build a sidewalk along the main highway in front of the Weymouth Consolidated School. Request for this came from the Weymouth Board of Trade. The provincial government will contribute the other half of the cost of the new sidewalk.

During the budget session questions were asked by Councillors Westcott and C. E. Jones concerning the calling of tenders for insurance on municipal schools. Councillor Westcott stated the council had asked the municipal school board to do this last fall and it was not done. Councillor Jones said there was much outside criticism about the matter and said some claimed the insurance matter had been "railroaded".

Warden Morehouse, who was a member of last year's municipal school board, emphatically denied any railroadings in the matter of the insurance. He said the school board had not called tenders for insurance last fall simply because the insurance had been renewed only a year ago after tenders were called and it was on a three year basis. He stated the insurance on the schools had been awarded to a Yarmouth firm and that this firm had submitted the lowest tender. After the contract had been awarded, he said, a Digby agent had told him he could have met the figure given by the Yarmouth firm but his tender had been higher.

The matter of appointment of municipal officers such as fence viewers, sheep valuers and the like came in for some discussion at the meeting. Councillor C. E. Jones said only very few of those appointed were ever sworn in and said he felt it made little difference if they were appointed or not.

HEARS MacKINNON

Misunderstanding also exists, Mr. MacKinnon said, with respect to the matter of the continuity of relief payments. While payments on an every other week basis are not permitted, he said, the municipal authority may take into account periods when a recipient is getting other income to make relief unnecessary and may suspend payment for that time, renewing it when and if the need recurs. In making claim for the province's share of such payments, however, it must be explained to the department why benefits were paid in such manner.

Mr. MacKinnon also explained in detail the provisions of the provincial act with respect to the operation of municipal homes. Providing such homes meet standards set, he said, the province will pay two-thirds of the cost of patients in such homes. It is the province's feeling, he said, that mental patients should be cared for apart from the aged and poor and provisions are underway to effect this.

Speaking of the matter of standards for municipal homes, Mr. MacKinnon said there was no thought on the part of the department to "run up big costs" for the municipalities in this respect. "We just want to make the lot of the aged and poor in these homes a little more comfortable and cheery."

Dealing with the Digby municipal home at Marshalltown he said the council "need not be ashamed" of this home and said at present it is "at a pretty fine standard". He said, however, it was felt the provision of a qualified practical nurse in addition to the matron would do much to ease the burden on present staff and provide increased care for the patients. He said he knew of cases where staff at municipal homes had not been off their job for a vacation for many years because there was no provision for someone to take their place. Such people are dedicated to their task, he said, but they should not be called upon to do such things. In these days of forty hour weeks and the like we cannot expect to secure staff to work under conditions as existed years ago.

Speaking of the home at Marshalltown Mr. MacKinnon said he understood the fire marshal had recommended that a sprinkler system be installed. We are prepared, he said, if a plan can be worked out to pay our share of the costs of this and have it amortized over a period of time. Dealing with the matter of other improvements to the home he said it was not the desire of the department these things be done all at once. We want to work with you on these, he said, going ahead step by step.

department officials met with representatives of the Clare municipal council at the Digby court house. At this meeting a review of the provisions of social assistance regulations was also made. Mr. Leonard stated department officials would meet with as many of the municipal councils as was possible to discuss these matters over the next several weeks

LOBSTER SUIT

20th, 1957, in part of Digby, Annapolis and Kings county. He said fishermen were getting fifty cents a pound for lobsters in late June and July.

Evidence was given by Captain Grafton Outhouse, a deckhand on the Limanda in 1957, that he saw oil on the water and on lines on the morning of June 14, 1957.

Arthur Halliday, a Digby fisherman, also gave evidence that when he went aboard his vessel between four and six on the morning of June 14, 1957, he got grease on his hands and clothing while climbing down the ladder on the wharf-side. He stated he saw this grease or oil, "black sticky and hard to wash off" on the water and on the wharf spilling. It was spread out, he said, and his lines were covered. He said he had the lines untied from his vessel and left them when he went out to fish. He stated he later took one line home, hoping the weather would clean it off but it rotted out. The oil was on the ladder up to near the high water mark, he said.

Another Digby fisherman, Reginald Hazelton, of the Bay Bird, gave similar evidence to Captain Halliday, as did Douglas Campbell, Clyde Handspiker and Glendon Handspiker, Digby weir fishermen. Mr. Campbell stated his weir boat was moored to the Snow lobster floats and on the morning of June 14 the water was full of a black substance. He said he rowed through it out to the floats and found it was all around the floats. When he came back, he said, about eleven a.m., the oil had cleared from the water but he could still see some on the floats. He said he reported this to Mr. Snow and to the harbour master.

Carl Sollows, fisheries conservation officer, said he went to the wharf June 15 and was shown the heavy oil on the wharf and lines by the fishermen. On June 24th, he said, he examined the lobster floats of Mr. Snow and found patches of dark tarry oil substance. He called the biological station in St. Andrews and an official from there came on June 26th, and examined the lobsters in the floats, taking blood smears and some of the dead lobsters for examination. Mr. Sollows said he estimated a heavy mortality of lobsters on his visit to the floats on June 24th, and on June 26th estimated at least half of his estimate of 50,000 lobsters in the floats were either dead or dying.

Questioned by Mr. McKen, Mr. Sollows stated he recalled on January 17, 1959, that there was a heavy slick of oil on the water near the lobster floats and said some adhered to the wharf and drifted toward the floats. Some was on the deck of the floats, he said. He stated he had received no report of loss on this occasion. He said he recalled hearing that a tug had experienced trouble with engines. He said the oil on the harbour was thin. He saw some around the floats. Referring to the June 1957, occasion, Mr. Sollows said he made no ph tests when he examined the lobsters in the floats and did not recall whether any of the lobsters had oil on them. He did not know if the dead ones were thrown overboard. He said normal wastage of lobsters kept in floats should be between 1% and 4%. He said there was no evidence of overcrowding and the lobsters in Snow's floats appeared well taken care of. He stated he did not recall seeing any chicken or jumbo lobsters.

Charles Macdonald, fisheries inspection officer, told of going to the floats and seeing evidence of oil and some lobsters dying on June 20, 1957. He said the lobsters appeared to have oil on them and he saw oil on the wharf spiles and the floats. He returned on June 25 and examined the floats and estimated 75% dead in the one nearest the pier; 50% dead in the centre one and 25% dead in the one furthest from the spur pier.

On cross examination Mr. Macdonald stated a similar incident had occurred January 17, 1959, and although called in on the matter no official report was made. He said he recalled a heavy rain on the night of January 16. He stated dead lobsters can be boiled for eating up to six hours after death and any showing signs of life can be cooked for eating. He stated he would not eat a lobster cooked after death. He stated he did not know himself of any cases where lobsters had been killed by oil.

Reginald Jordan, local lobster buyer, told of an instance on January 17, 1959, when he found black heavy oil on water. This oil, he said, was on his lobster floats moored near the spur pier. He had 2,000 pounds of lobsters in the floats and 500 pounds of them were dead, some of them covered with heavy, black oil. He stated he shipped the balance to the firm in Boston he was supplying and got "a bad report back". He said he first saw the oil in the morning and when he took his lobsters out of the floats five hundred pounds were dead and many others weak. He said the oil was under the tails of the lobsters and on their short legs. He said his floats had been moored closer to where the Maria Luisa was berthed than those of C. D. Snow.

At press time C. D. Snow, plaintiff in the action, was on the stand giving evidence concerning the matter.

Reports from leaders of the various youth groups showed sustained weekly activities of these groups, such as C.G.I.T. (17 members); Explorers (20); Tyro (13); B.Y.P.U. (23), and the Junior Choir (28). Interest is high among the young people and a special Youth Rally will mark the close of Youth Week on Sunday evening, February 1.

Due to illness the report of the Treasurer, Mr. E. Scott Eaton, was deferred until a later meeting to be called by the chairman.

In his report, the pastor, Rev. H. S. Hartin, called attention to the opportunities the church has in the community with particular stress on the work among the youth of the church. He urged the church to adopt the following goals for 1959:

1. Reaching more people for Christ and promoting the spiritual life of the church.
2. Emphasizing our young people's work, and achieving a higher degree of effectiveness in our youth program.
3. Achieving our "Missionary and Extension" allotment in full.
4. The outreach of the church to more Baptist families in the Digby area with the purpose of relating them to the life, worship and work of the church.

Reports given on behalf of the Senior and Junior Choirs, the Mission Band and the Baby Band gave indications of good work being done and a successful year.

In the adoption of the report of the Nominating Committee attention was called to the fact that Mr. M. C. Denton had completed 39 years as Clerk of the Church, and would be happy to continue in this office which he has so faithfully filled. Mr. J. W. Christie, it might also be noted, has completed 25 years as the Finance Secretary of the church and continues to serve in this office.

Tribute was paid to the passing of two prominent members of the church during the year, namely, Mrs. Tupper Warne and Mr. Seymour Denton, and also a faithful adherent, Mr. B. H. Ruggles.

Following the business period, Mrs. J. W. Christie, President of the Women's League, presented to the church a set of sixty new stack chairs for use in the church hall and Sunday School room. The cost of these chairs, more than $300.00, had been raised by the organizations of the League with the assistance of two generous gifts. The pastor accepted the chairs on behalf of the church and warmly thanked the League for the gifts.

Mr. Wallace Hodgson, Choir Director, presented to the retiring organist, Miss Marilyn Clayton, a gift of a fountain pen on behalf of the choir. Miss Clayton goes to the Windsor Hospital Nursing School for training.

The meeting was brought to a close with refreshments served by the Women's League.

Grace United Officials Named

The Annual Congregational Meeting of Grace United Church of Canada was held on Wednesday, January 21st, 1959, at 8:00 o'clock in the Church Hall. There was an excellent attendance, and all the Boards and organizations were well represented. Devotions were conducted by the Rev. J. Brooks, who acted as Chairman. Mr. Milton Atkinson was elected Secretary for the meeting. Annual reports of the various boards and organizations were presented and showed good progress and encouraging results.

During the year contributions were made to Mount Allison Fund, Berwick Camp Meeting, Mount Allison Theological Student Fund, Atlantic Christian Training Centre at Tatamagouche, and other worthy appeals.

All reports were contained in the printed Year Book, the production of which was very much appreciated by the Pastoral Charge. The report on the Every Person Canvass showed it to be one of the most successful and encouraging projects carried out during the year.

The following men were appointed to the Board of Stewards: Mr. H. C. Morton and Mr. N. D. Wright; Mr. A. L. Jeffers was elected in place of James Ayer. Mr. Gerald Hoare was appointed to the Trustee Board replacing Aubrey Forrest. Various recommendations made by the Session to the congregation were approved, and three new members, J. O. Turnbull, A. Hawkins and Eric VanTassel were duly elected. Auditors appointed were H. C. Morton and C. V. Snow. Mrs. Fred May and Miss Mildred Cary were re-elected as Financial Secretaries. Miss Connie Kirkpatrick was again appointed as Organist and warmly commended by the meeting for her good work. Mrs. Ina Dillon was appointed representative for the "United Churchmen" and the Rev. J. Brooks for the "United Church Observer". The report of the Missionary & Maintenance Fund given by Mr. Elton Arnold showed the highest giving in the history of the Pastoral Charge. The chairman, in his report, expressed appreciation of the active cooperation and diligent work of the congregation during the year past, and commended especially the people's increasing sense of Christian Stewardship. During the meeting the members of the Choir brought a much needed lighter note to proceedings while they sang and presented a brief humorous play.

A very fine and generous lunch was served by the members of the E. & G. Club. The chairman concluded the meeting with the benediction.

Hold 12th Annual

Mrs. Marshall Turner was elected president of the Joggin Bridge Society of Friends at the twelfth annual meeting of the society, held at the home of Mrs. Robert Harrison.

Other officers elected were Mrs. Chester Brinton, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Earl Thomas, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. William Woodman, secretary; Mrs. Robert Harrison, treasurer; both these latter were re-elected. The officers serve for a period of six months.

Elected to the buying and visiting committee were Mrs. Clayton Woodman, Mrs. Stella McGuire, Mrs. Cyril Daniels, Mrs. O. F. Woodman.

An entertaining program followed the business session. This was a presentation of "A Day at School in the Modern Age". The classes in all branches of learning were conducted by Prof. I. B. Smart and the students displayed unusual intelligence in their answers to class questions and in the preparation of home assignments which they read in class.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and members at the close of the evening.

Heard On Network

The many friends and former parishioners of the Rev. J. Earle DeLong, of Springhill, were glad to hear his voice again on Sunday last when he was the speaker on the coast-to-coast network programme, "Church of the Air".

Rev. Mr. DeLong was pastor of the Baptist Churches at Digby and Hill Grove some years ago.

Town Council Meets

Objection to the manner in which standing committees for the year 1959 were appointed by the Digby Town Council was voiced by Councillor W. I. McKenna at the February meeting of the council.

Following the reading of the minutes of the January meeting at which the committees were appointed Councillor McKenna stated his objection and said in his opinion the committees were not legally appointed. He said that, while the manner may have been the same as in use for some years, it was not in his opinion legal.

He stated the Mayor had presented a list of committees to the meeting and this had been accepted on motion by the council. Such procedure, he stated, did not constitute appointment of the council committees as required by the act.

Mayor Cardoza said the same procedure had been followed in other years and said no vote against the motion to adopt the list as presented had been noted. He quoted from town by-laws a section requiring that all councillors present at a meeting vote on motions.

Town Solicitor E. J. Theriault, Q.C., on being asked for a ruling on the matter stated it was his opinion the committees had been legally appointed.

Councillor McKenna then stated he was objecting to the legality of business conducted at the January council meeting on the grounds the oath of allegiance had not been administered to the newly elected councillors prior to the meeting.

Mayor Cardoza stated failure to administer the allegiance oath had been an oversight but said the oath of office had been properly administered. He said steps had been taken to administer the oath of allegiance as soon as possible after the commission had been noted and reminded Councillor McKenna that when he had been asked to take the allegiance oath he had challenged the Mayor to show that this was required by the act.

Councillor McKenna stated in reply that what he had said was that this was not in the duties of councillors. He stated he wished his objections to the matters complained of noted in the minutes.

Civic officers for 1959 were appointed at Monday night's meeting. Dr. D. E. Lewis was re-appointed medical health officer and E. J. Theriault, Q.C., was re-appointed town solicitor. Other officers appointed by the meeting were F. W. Robinson, superintendent of streets; W. F. Dunn, police chief; James Haystead, police constable; H. R. Doane & Co. were re-appointed as auditors. Richard Thomas was re-appointed town dump keeper and Bruce Baxter and Dickson Sabine, weighers and measurers.

Two names were placed in nomination for town representative on the Digby County Power Board. They were H. M. Turnbull, who has represented the town on the board for some years, and Councillor W. I. McKenna. On the vote being taken Councillor McKenna was elected to the board.

Fred May, M. C. Denton and A. Reginald Turnbull were re-appointed revisors of the voters' lists and the finance committee was appointed to check the rate roll.

R. O. Wright, local co-ordinator for civil defence, appeared before the meeting asking that steps be taken to secure a civil defence director for Digby County. He stated fifty percent of the salary of such a director would be paid by the federal government with the province paying twenty-five percent. The balance, he said, would have to be made up by the municipalities of Digby and Clare and the town of Digby. A salary of $3,000, with $1,000 for expenses had been suggested for the director, he said, and stated a joint committee representative of the bodies involved locally would appoint the director.

W. L. Troop appeared to complain about the operation of a junk yard adjacent to his property on Montague Row. He stated this yard was being operated in a manner contrary to the provisions of the town by-law and asked that the by-law be enforced. Mr. Troop asked also that a by-law be passed prohibiting junk yards in residential and commercial sections of the town. After considerable discussion the council decided to (Please turn to page 10)

Little League Hockey News

The top spot in the Pee Wee table of league standings is jointly owned by the Black Hawks and the Canadians as a result of last Saturday's action.

The Canadians played the Black Hawks in the first game of the morning in a game which could have ended in either team being top of the league. After a hard fought game the result was a 1-1 tie. Canadians' scorer was B. Richards (W. Snow). Black Hawks singleton was by D. Wood unassisted.

The Bruins came out of their slump in the second game of the morning when they downed the Red Wings 2-1. Bruins' marksmen were D. VanTassel (S. Manning), and S. Manning (D. VanTassel). Red Wings' lone goal was by G. Robinson unassisted.

The lowly Maple Leafs reversed previous form when they played strongly to defeat the Rangers 2-1. Maple Leafs' scorers were J. Dunn (O. Foote), R. Winchester (J. Dunn and A. Wood). The Rangers' singleton was by G. Winchester (P. Murley and I. Anderson).

Millionaires continued their march to supremacy in a game which could be classed as a goal scoring spree. Eleven goals were scored in all, seven by the Millionaires and four by the Rangers. Millionaires' tallies were: R. Wolf (R. Trefry), R. Wolf (unassisted), R. Wolf (R. Trefry), E. Sibley (D. Marshall), R. Wolf (C. Wagner), R. Wolf (D. Marshall), and R. Wolf unassisted. The Rangers' four in reply were by: I. Anderson (G. Winchester), G. Winchester (Murley and Anderson), P. Murley (G. Winchester), and G. Winchester (M. Baxter).

As a result of Saturday's games league standings are as follows:

Pee Wee League:
Team	P	W	T	L	Pts
Canadians	6	3	1	2	7
Black Hawks	6	3	1	2	7

CONCLUDE EVIDENCE IN LOBSTER CASE

On the stand under direct and cross examination for more than five hours, C. D. Snow, the plaintiff in the case, gave a detailed account of the conduct of his lobster business. He stated following the incident of the alleged oil damage his employees spent some three weeks cleaning the storage floats and disposing of the dead and affected lobsters. He said when he examined the floats on June 18, he estimated the loss in the float closest the pier at 50 per cent. He said nearly every lobster in the three floats had to be handled individually, the dead taken away and the weak taken in for cooking. He said some were taken out each day from the 17th to 25th of June. If he and his men had not worked on the floats practically all the lobsters would have died, he said. Of the lobsters in the floats at the time of the incident Mr. Snow said 27,769 pounds were estimated as lost completely while 7,338 pounds were cooked and sold.

Mr. Snow stated that following the incident he had not been able to fully supply his package trade and also able to fill only a small percentage of his New York trade. He stated his business with his New York customer had fallen off since the incident and he had lost contact in New York. He was not able to re-establish this until November 1958, he said. Referring to his package trade or trade to restaurants, hotels, Mr. Snow said he found customers had gone to other suppliers because of his inability to meet their requirements.

Speaking of the alleged damage to his lobsters, Mr. Snow said he saw a film of oil on the surface of the water in the floats on June 17. It did not seem heavy but was unlike lubricating oil, he said. There was no heavy thick oil on the lobsters, he stated and said on a calm day it would be difficult for such oil to get inside the float from the surface. He stated he saw heavy oil on the pilings. He stated he had always understood oil to be dangerous for lobsters and stated he had never lost any lobsters because of fresh water.

From June 20 to the end of July in 1957 he said he had only purchased 2,000 pounds of lobsters and had not tried to get any from other dealers. This was because of price, he stated. He estimated about 25 per cent of the lobsters in the float had been "quarters" and the other 75 per cent selects. His price on these for June 8 to July 6, 1957, had been 65 cents pound for the quarters and 75 cents for selects.

Shades Of '98

Passersby on Digby's main street Tuesday morning thought they had suddenly been transported back into the good old days when they saw a white horse tethered to a parking meter in one of the busiest sections of the main street.

A check of the meter showed the horse's rider was unfamiliar with that modern gadget, the parking meter, as it was in violation. The horse, however, seemed quite happy with his hitching post and all the attention he was getting.

Comment that the rider had probably gone looking for the Red Dog saloon was proved without foundation but it was reported he was having a game of pool at the local pool hall.

Deals With Purchases Prior To January 1st

The Commissioner of Hospital Taxes for Nova Scotia, V. M. Knight, has stated that the portion of the Brief of the Canadian Manufacturers Association, dealing with the foods purchased prior to January 1, 1959, but delivered to the purchaser subsequent to that date, might be misconstrued.

Mr. Knight pointed out that goods purchased by a consumer prior to January 1, 1959, are not subject to the Hospital Tax Act and that this applies even when delivery is delayed until after January 1, 1959. This means that a contractor who purchased goods prior to January 1, 1959, does not have to pay a tax on those goods when the goods are used by him subsequent to January 1, 1959, to perform a fixed price contract. The goods will be taxable, however, if subsequently sold by the contractor to another purchaser.

In order to clarify the position of lumber operators the commissioner also stated that the exemptions which are allowed lumber operators under the Federal Excise Tax are also allowed under the Nova Scotia Hospital Tax Act.

Speaks On Publicity

The February meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Monday afternoon in the Legion Hall with the president, Mrs. A. G. MacIntyre in the chair.

After routine business the program was presented under the publicity committee.

Mrs. Wm. Morine gave an interesting resume of the work done by the Institute since its organization in 1920 when 60 enthusiastic ladies enrolled to form the Bear River Women's Institute. The first officers were: Hon. President, Mrs. V. T. Hardwick; President, Mrs. L. J. Lovett; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. F. H. Bone; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. W. J. Wright; Secretary, Mrs. J. Arthur Rice, and Treasurer, Mrs. A. B. Marshall. Mrs. Morine was commended on the excellent history she had prepared and plans were made to have her copy published in The Digby Courier.

Mrs. Morine introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Edith Wallis of The Digby Courier, who used as her subject — Publicity — dealing chiefly with publicity through newspapers. Mrs. Wallis outlined the rudiments of press reporting, explaining why some copy is accepted and others rejected. The dangers of libel were noted and the fact that many cases of defamation are committed in seemingly innocent and unimportant news items were brought to the attention of the audience. Mrs. Wallis commented on the difficulties encountered by the editor of a newspaper, particularly in the weekly field. She noted the part played by the Bear River Women's Institute in recording the events occurring in Bear River by their faithful correspondence to the county paper. Mrs. Wallis impressed on her audience the importance of the responsibility they assumed in this respect.

Monday's program was in charge of the publicity committee, Mrs. J. H. Cunningham, Mrs. Wm. Morine and Mrs. J. L. Warren.

At the business meeting five dollars was voted to the March of Dimes campaign and ten dollars to the Women's Institute scholarship. Contributions were also planned towards the Friendship and Peace Garden funds and arrangements made to carry on a rug hooking class under Mrs. Bennett.

Mrs. Willis Buckler as a current event item spoke of the prizes awarded to Dr. Rutnam of Ceylon who was also interested and instrumental in forming Women's Institutes in that country.

Tea was served by the committee in charge, Mrs. G. Oickle and Mrs. Cecil Miller.

Dr. D. E. Lewis has been named Digby chairman for the February Canadian Heart Fund campaign, it was announced jointly by Dr. Lea A. Steeves, Halifax, president of The National Heart Foundation, and Provincial campaign chairman C. M. Haley of Sydney. In Weymouth Dr. Tom Edgett is named chairman and in Bear River Dr. D. S. Last year in Nova Scotia, two research scientists at Dalhousie University received Foundation grants and three applications have been approved for 1959-60.

Diseases of the heart and circulation, according to statistics, account for nearly one-half of all Canadian deaths. About 1,200,000 people in Canada have some form of heart disease and of these, more than 300,000 are seriously disabled.

A Thought Starter

MAKE UP YOUR MIND
In baseball the umpire must make up his mind. He calls balls and strikes with the voice of assurance and authority. Regardless of protests he sticks to his decision. No one questions his right to do this, nor the standards by which he speaks. Apart from the rule book and the umpire, every baseball game would result in wrangling and chaos.
In life we need a standard of conduct. We need the courage of an umpire to call the balls and strikes of life and we must make up our minds gracefully and firmly, then stick by our decision. Often when he lives that strictly he is called a fanatic, but to live otherwise is to invite confusion and disrespect.
An umpire who couldn't make up his mind would be forced to walk off the field amid a din of "boos".
In life the Bible is the rule book. God has set the standards and we need to read and follow exactly as He says. Remember the umpire cannot deviate from the rule book to suit his desire or fancy.
The advice to those who waver and who weakly refrain from the decision of righteous living, is to get off the fence. Stand by the absolute rule of God's authority and His revealed Word. Make up your mind or live pointlessly and without blessing.

THE PULSE OF LIFE

There was a time when the Christian Church didn't exist. No one could then have foreseen an organization so vast and powerful. Its advance can best be described as a movement.
Not a single steady push, but pulsating onslaughts in every second and third generation have caused the message of Christ to transform customs, laws and the souls of men.
These pulse beats of advance in the church are often called Revivals. The pulse indicates life, but in modern Christianity it has slowed dangerously. The world is due for such a revival right now. Many individuals have been praying that the church would begin to attack sin; that preachers would grow more bold in their preaching; that sinners would once again cry for the mercy of Heaven; that prayer would bring an awakening to the dangers of Hell; and that peace and salvation would overwhelm the penitent.
These points have always been apparent in times of true church growth. Without them, all advances are superficial and man-devised.
When believers humble themselves, forsake intellectual pride and cast themselves on God, then the church will move again, sinners will tremble, and God will be honored.
This is how things happened when Peter stood to his feet and preached on the Day of Pentecost. In that day at least 3000 were served and baptized. God can do it again, and He will do it when His people become more faithful and more concerned.

Courtesy will save lives.

POLIO IS STILL DANGEROUS

In 1953 there were 8875 cases of polio in Canada. In 1957, due to the use of the Salk vaccine, there were only 273 cases. The total cases for 1958 are, of course, not yet available. Yet, in a communication from the Department of Public Health and Welfare of Manitoba we are informed that up to September 12th there had been 70 cases and five deaths in Manitoba this year. Fifty-six cases were paralytic. Of the paralytic cases three had had three doses of vaccine. All of the deaths were males. The ages were 19 months, 6, 25, 29 and 31 years. The six-year-old had had two doses only of vaccine. None of the others had had any vaccine.
Of nine cases which had to be put in a respirator (artificial lung) only one had had even one dose of vaccine.
An examination of this series of polio cases, small as it is, should teach us two lessons. The first is that the Salk vaccine will prevent polio. The second is that not only children but older persons may contract polio and die. The Salk vaccine is useless unless it is used. All Canadians should see to it that they and their families are protected.

Mrs. Florence Maud Robinson, well known Digby resident, died at the Digby General Hospital early Wednesday. She had been in failing health for the past several months. She was the wife of James A. Robinson and for a number of years was cashier at the local theatre.

Born at New Glasgow, fifty-three years ago, she was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William McFarlane.

She moved to Digby 24 years ago with her first husband Raymond Cunningham. He predeceased her in 1943. She was later married to James A. Robinson of Digby. She was a member of Trinity Anglican Church and faithful supporter of all church activities.

She leaves to mourn besides her husband; a daughter Gloria (Mrs. Charles Hardman) of London, Ont.; brothers, William McFarlane of Stellarton, Fred McFarlane of New Glasgow, and a sister, Anna May (Mrs. William McIsaac) of New Glasgow. The remains rested at Jaynes Funeral Home until Saturday when they were taken to Trinity Anglican Church for service at 2 p.m. Rev. James Pike conducted the service and interment was in the family lot in the Anglican cemetery, Digby.

Marriage

Sanford — Height
A lovely winter wedding was solemnized on January 17 in Lansdowne Union Church, when Barbara Blanche, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Height of Lansdowne, became the bride of Darrell Avon Sanford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Avon Sanford of Smith's Cove. Rev. W. Scott, Bear River, officiated at this double ring ceremony.

The church was tastefully decorated for the occasion with pink and white streamers, wedding bells, green boughs and potted ferns.

To the strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Hilda Winchester, the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, by whom she was given in marriage. She was resplendent in a full length gown of nylon net and lace fashioned with molded bodice and a four tier bouffant skirt over flounced net underskirt and a tiny lace over rayon taffeta jacket with long pointed sleeves and sweetheart collar. Her circular veil of embroidered nylon net was held in place by a wreath of white ice-box roses. She carried a bouquet of mauve and white 'mums.

Miss Marilyn McCullough of Mink Cove attended as bridesmaid and was attired in a yellow taffeta floor length gown with matching elbow length mitts, and taffeta head band and carried a bouquet of yellow and white 'mums.

Betty, the bride's little sister, was flower girl and looked pretty in blue nylon and carried a nosegay of mixed 'mums.

Karl Wright, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man. The ushers were Ronald Wright of Clementsport, nephew of the groom, and Roy Miller of Lansdowne.

Mrs. Height, mother of the bride, wore a brown taffeta street length gown with matching accessories and a shoulder corsage of white and mauve 'mums. Mrs. Sanford, mother of the groom, wore a figurish street length gown with matching accessories and a shoulder corsage of white and mauve 'mums.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Parents and grandparents of the bride and groom received some sixty guests.

In charge of refreshments were Mrs. Dwight Morgan and Mrs. Ashford Balser of Lansdowne. Assisting were Mrs. C. Franklin, Hill Grove and Mrs. F. Wilson, Lansdowne, sisters of the bride. Also Mrs. R. Lohes and Mrs. Carl Wright of Digby, sisters of the groom. Mrs. F. Elson, Digby, great aunt of the bride, cut the wedding cake.

Marilyn Height, sister of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

For travelling the bride chose a brown chemise dress and blue coat and accessories, and wore a corsage of yellow 'mums.

Showered with confetti and the best wishes of their many friends, the happy couple left on a short honeymoon. Mr. and Mrs. Sanford will make their home at Smith's Cove.

Nehru Says Indian Embassies Serve No Liquor

The notion that affairs of state must be well lubricated with liquor was blasted recently by Prime Minister Nehru of India. Some members of Parliament asked whether it would not be well to serve liquor at embassies "to attract more guests."

Nehru retorted: "If people are attracted only by our drinks, they had better stay away."

Then he added, smiling, "You know, some officials tend to get loose-tongued under the influence of drinks and leak secrets." — "Social Action News-letter" — Nov. 1957.

Letter to the Editor

Ottawa 4, Ontario, 28th January, 1959.

The Editor,
Dear Sir:

It may interest you to know that during the month of December Canadian Post Offices handled more than 500 million items of mail matter. Regular post office staffs were augmented by more than 40,000 temporary helpers but without co-operation of the public we would hardly have been able to cope with the avalanche of mail prior to Christmas.

I find that reports received from postmasters throughout the country almost invariably commented on the fact that their local newspapers rendered a notable public service in stressing, through photographs and special articles, the need for co-operation in mailing early.

I am therefore writing direct-ly to you on behalf of the Postal Service of Canada, to express to newspapers my appreciation of their efforts in the public interest in making our citizens aware of the advantages of mailing early.

Yours Sincerely,
G. A. Boyle,
Deputy Postmaster General.

In Observance Of National ELECTRICAL WEEK FEBRUARY 8th— 14th

In tribute to Thomas A. Edison and other pioneers whose inventive genius launched the electrical era three quarters of a century ago.

Do You Remember When?

Mother used the old scrub board and tub? When lopsided cakes were baked in the old wood stove? Grandpa read his Bible by the light of "old smokey", the fluttering old lamp? The butter jar was dunked in the well to keep cool? Fresh meat, fruits and vegetables could only be bought in small, expensive quantities so they wouldn't spoil?

Would You Like To Go Back?

Surely we would all like to go back to those horse and buggy days . . . but only to reminisce. There were many happy times and pleasant thoughts but gradually each phase of this past was improved by modern inventions and the applied use of electrical energy.

Electric power has already done more than any single development to improve our way of living and . . . complacency still has no place in electrical progress. Inventors and engineers are still discovering and developing even greater things for us all.

DO YOU AGREE?

That National Electrical Week is worthy of recognition? That National Electrical Week is a proper tribute to Thomas A. Edison (a descendant of forebears who once lived in Digby) who opened the doors to our modern electrical living that we enjoy today? Then let us wholeheartedly salute the pioneers in electricity who have done so much for humanity.

THE DAILY GRIND

The daily grind can really get you down.

To get away from it, people dream up all sorts of hobbies — which reminds me of a doctor in these parts I heard of who was out of town at a convention.

He got to talking about hobbies and he asked one of his colleagues what his hobby was.

"Sleighting", said the other Doc.

"No, no", said the first doctor, "I mean apart from business". I always get a kick out of that gag because it shows that even our medical men, who are amongst our most sober and responsible citizens, are not adverse to brightening their daily grind by kidding about their profession.

The daily grind means another thing to the automobile business — when temperatures start to drop at this time of year it can mean the daily grind, grind of cars trying to start on a cold morning.

If that happens to you, we'll be glad to look after you, of course. But we'd rather look after you before you get stuck.

The battery is usually at the heart of the trouble. Cold weather usually hits a battery before anything else. At zero, for example, a battery in good condition will deliver only 40 percent of its power. That's reason enough to have us check the battery next time you're in, remove corrosive deposits around it and make sure you have large enough electrical cables that are not loose or frayed.

With winter-time drain on the battery, your engine may turn over when you work the starter, but there may not be enough voltage left to produce a spark. That's a big reason for a lot of winter stalling.

The battery is just one part of winter care. We're equipped to prepare your car bumper to bumper for the rigors of winter. Why not drop around before the daily grind, grind, grind hits you.

Mrs. John E. Rawding

Relatives and friends far and near were saddened to learn of the passing of Mildred Louise, wife of Mr. John E. Rawding, at her home in Deep Brook, Annapolis Co., on Wednesday morning, January 28th.

She was born at Deep Brook, eldest daughter of the late Edgar W. and Louise (Sanford) Adams, and would have been 68 years of age in February.

Mrs. Rawding chose the profession of teaching, receiving her diploma from the Provincial Normal College in 1912. Through many years experience in this profession she became widely known in many parts of Nova Scotia and also taught in Saskatchewan in 1921.

She was married in 1917 to John E. Rawding, at Dorchester, Mass., where they resided for two years.

On returning to Nova Scotia she and Mr. Rawding operated a general store for some time in Deep Brook, later resuming her teaching career. She took an interest in her former pupils' lives and was always a friend and advisor to the children and young people of the community.

Since her retirement she had suffered from ill health and had undergone a major operation at the Victoria General Hospital in December, 1957. In December, 1958, she received treatment at same hospital and New Glasgow Hospital, from which she convalesced at the home of her son Keith at New Glasgow. She returned to her home the latter part of December and was confined to her bed, during which time she was tenderly cared for by her daughter, Barbara, of Detroit, Michigan.

Flower bearers included employees of L. E. Shaw Ltd. plant of New Glasgow (of which her son Keith is a valued member of the staff).

Interment took place in the United cemetery at Clementsvalle.

A profusion of floral tributes of baskets, wreaths and other beautiful flowers expressed the sympathy of relatives and friends. Floral offerings were received from friends in New Glasgow, Sydney, and other parts of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, P. E. I., Ontario, Boston, Detroit, Michigan, and Florida, U. S. A.

Employees of L. E. Shaw Ltd. from New Glasgow, Dartmouth and Lantz, Hants Co., attended the funeral service; also friends and relatives from Middleton, Digby, Annapolis, Smith's Cove, Bear River East, Greenland and Clementsvalle.

the air release and said he got oil on his rubber gloves and on the lobster as he handled them in checking their condition. He stated it was possible for the lobster in his tanks to break the surface and thus get oil on themselves. He also stated he did not know if the lobster he used were Bay of Fundy lobsters. Questioned as to the appearance of gaffkya or red tail bacillus from the blood of lobsters within two hours after death, Dr. McLeese said these would not disappear if they were not present in the blood smears he took. He stated he did not think it was a good practice to dump any materials into the sea when questioned as to the dumping of the dead lobsters removed from the floats in Digby harbour. He also stated he was aware lobsters use up twice as much oxygen when feeding. He stated also it would require a heavy film of oil to get a concentration of 1 part to 1000 in the water of the area concerned at Digby.

Dr. McLeese stated he felt it was proper procedure to cull the floats and remove the dead and dying. He said he had made no estimate of the total lobsters in the floats and had seen no oil on top of the water when he examined the floats. He stated dead lobsters secrete an oil and this is sufficient to create a visible film. He stated he had conducted experiments in which he left dead lobsters for the living to feed on without adverse effect.

Under cross examination Dr. McLeese stated he had not examined the lobster at Snow's pounds or floats for oil. He stated it was his opinion a high concentration of bunker oil in sea water would kill lobsters. He stated he was not prepared to say what part of the oil killed the lobsters or that naptha acids extracted by the sea water killed them. He also stated he would not be surprised to learn there were no soluble volatile acids in bunker oil. He said he was not suggesting that something came out of the oil. He said he did not know any more about the toxicity of oil than he found in his experiment and from a report which he quoted except that he knew oil was toxic to life. He stated there was no smothering of lobsters in experiment and none with Snow's lobsters. In his experiment, he said, he did not attempt to reproduce all the conditions found in Digby harbour but only those he felt had a bearing. Lobsters, he said, can withstand a sharp change in any one of three factors, temperature, salinity of water or oxygenation without adverse effect. He said he knew of lobsters living in water of 90 degrees temp. and also of these which lived where salinity was as low as 6 parts per 1,000.

Dr. McLeese said he was aware of an epidemic of red tail disease along the Maine coast with lobster mortalities of 20 percent to 50 percent. This occurred in 1946 and '47. He said he admitted there could be a possibility of some other disease striking in 1957 and knew of a high mortality among lobsters from Summerside, P.E.I. in '57. If there had been an outbreak of red tail in this area, he said, he would have learned of it.

Evidence concerning purchases and sales of lobsters by C. D. Snow over a period from October, 1956 to January 1st, 1959 was given by his bookkeeper, Louis Melanson during today's hearing. Mr. Melanson said from Oct. 15, 1956 to Aug. 3, 1957, C. D. Snow had purchased 290,628 pounds of lobsters and sold 248,029 pounds. His total sales in dollars for 1955 were $253,748.24. In 1956 he sold $276,841.16 while in 1957 sales dropped to $239,068.96. Sales in 1958 were $264,075.82.

Referring to individual Snow Firm customers, Mr. Melanson said sales to 1 firm dropped from $11,172.80 in 1956 to $6,845.55 in 1957. Sales to another large customer dropped from $15,833.75 in 1956 to $3,747 in 1957. He quoted other figures which showed drops in sales from 1956 to 1957. He said no clients to his knowledge increased their volume of purchases after the incident in July 1957.

Late Thursday afternoon the plaintiff concluded his case and the defence opened. Mr. McKen defence solicitor, entered the engine room and deck log of the Maria Luisa in the original Spanish and in English translations into evidence. He also tendered commission evidence on the case taken in England.

First witness for the defence was Harold Wyman, Halifax consulting chemist. Mr. Wyman who was employed as an assistant chemist with Imperial Oil in Halifax from 1930 to 1938, gave evidence concerning production of various types of oils including bunker C. He said there could be no release of volatile material from bunker C while it was cold. He said when oil floats on the surface of water it is separate from the water. There are no components in bunker C, he said, that dissolve in water. He stated the oil itself by agitation or by a dispersing agent can be placed in suspension but if this is accomplished by agitation it would soon return to the surface.

Mr. Wyman stated there was nothing that could be leached out of bunker C oil with water and nothing could come out of it into salt water. Referring to the possibility of oil getting on the lobster in the Snow floats, he said, if the lobsters were six inches below the water only severe agitation of water and oil there was no way the oil could reach the lobster. He said the oil in no way could contaminate the water under it.

Plaintiff's counsel objected when Mr. Wyman was questioned as to toxic effect of oil claiming he was not an expert in toxicology. Objection was upheld. He stated if there was any effect from oil on lobsters he would expect to find it in the holding tanks in the Snow plant. These tanks, he said, are filled by sea water pumped in and agitation is greater than that in the harbour. If there was any effect, he said, he would expect that evidence of the oil itself would be found in these tanks. He stated there would be less opportunity for agitation in the lobster floats.

Dealing with the composition of oils, Mr. Wyman said there were some slightly water soluble materials in crude oil. There occur in small quantities in gasoline and through kerosene to light diesels, he said, and would be acid. He stated bunker C contains fair amount of sulfur impurities but reiterated that there is nothing water soluble in bunker C.

Mr. Wyman was still under direct examination as court rose this afternoon. Questioning will continue Friday morning. It is understood the defence will call only one other witness, Captain Joseph Casey, local harbour pilot.

During the hearing Friday Dr. W. D. McLeese, fisheries research scientist, was called to the stand to explain a certain apparent quotation in an article written by him on an experiment he conducted to determine the toxicity of oil on lobsters. Dr. McLeese stated this morning the phrase "toxic substances leached from the oil remain suspended in water", was not a direct quote from another article to which he referred in his paper but that he had found substantiation for this in the other article in which it was stated "there is convincing evidence of the leaching out of toxic substances from oils in salt water". Dr. McLeese also stated in evidence that decay of lobsters begins immediately upon death and within two to three days whiteness appears under the tail.

Harold Wyman, Halifax consulting chemist explained in testimony Friday about an experiment he carried out to determine whether any acidic materials were extracted from bunker C oil by sea water. This experiment, he said, showed there was no change in the pH of a sample of Halifax sea water in which he put a quantity of bunker C oil and heated and agitated it for a period of three hours. He said he was convinced no materials, either acidic or alkaline, were leached from the oil by the sea water. The test, he said, was an extremely delicate one and he took a triple re-check.

While on the witness stand here Mr. Wyman took a large jar partly filled with seawater which he said he obtained from near the scene of the alleged incident in Digby harbour and poured enough bunker C oil on top to form a half inch layer. He agitated the bottle and showed the breaking up of the oil into varied size lumps which were dispersed in the water and within half an hour returned themselves on the surface.

When plaintiff's counsel later agitated the bottle Mr. Wyman said he had shaken it "violently" and said the resultant agitation if related to a body of water like Digby harbour could only result from a "cataclysmic" upset of the harbour waters, opening them to the bottom of the harbour. He noted the oil dispersed through the water by the shaking was reformed on the top and admitted smaller particles took longer to do this.

In answer to question by Justice Lisle Mr. Wyman stated there was no way in which a solid, liquid or gas from bunker C oil could get into seawater. He stated colloidal materials would not disperse in seawater. He said if bunker C oil came from a ship it would have to be pumped. He said evidence in the case indicated a considerable amount of oil was involved and he would from his experience be surprised if the bluges of a 2,000 ton ship would hold that much oil even if completely full. He said a chemical analysis would have shown if the oil found on the harbour pilings was bunker C.

Mr. Wyman stated the experiment he conducted confirmed what he was sure of before hand. He said all bunker oils were the same in that nothing passed from them into the water. Under cross examination he said he did not know the normal pH for seawater but there was no change in the reading of 7.30 made at the beginning of his experiment after it was concluded. He said the fact there was no change could mean an equal discharge of acid and alkali but said this would have to be very equal as the test was most sensitive. He stated there was a buffer in seawater that decreased the effect of acids and alkalis on the pH. He admitted dark like droplets of oil on the dark green of lobsters would be hard to see.

Mr. Wyman said he made no chemical analysis of the water used in his experiment except to determine its pH or the balance between alkali and acidity. He said turbulence of the tide would break up the oil and said was from scallopers and other ships would effect this for a distance. The disturbance of the water would break the oil on the surface but it would soon reform, he stated. Some would cling to wood, he said, and if there was agitation and oil was being carried in water the slats on the lobster floats would break up the flow and some would stick. He stated he would expect to find globules of oil on the lobster trays and shells.

Captain Joseph Casey of Victoria Beach, Digby harbour pilot, gave evidence concerning the piloting of the Maria Luisa out of the harbour on June 14, 1957. He also gave evidence concerning tides and speculated as to what would happen to a quantity of oil in a given position on the harbour under certain tidal and wind conditions.

Captain Casey said when he went aboard the Maria Luisa on the morning of June 14 he did not notice any oil. He said he saw HMCS Buckingham and the CFS Princess Helene while leaving the harbour with the Maria Luisa and indicated their positions on a chart.

Following transcript of evidence taken in the hearing here briefs will be submitted by counsel in March concerning the matter at issue.

foul shot from Kendall. This made the score 15-4 for Digby. Those from Annapolis managing to make points were Allen G. 2 and John M. 2.

The final game of the evening was a shock to the history of the school. For the first time since anyone could remember Annapolis won a game on Digby's home floor. The game was again a close one for the "A" boys. The scores were tied practically the entire game. At half time the score was 13-10 in favor of Digby. We are quite confident in thinking that Digby would have won if two of the best players had not been fouled off the floor. Our main excuse for them winning is that two of their players were former DRHS students.

Those scoring were — Digby: Jimmy D. 15, Jerry S. 6, Gary H. 2, Lloyd P. 5, Walter M. 2; Annapolis: Nick B. 2, Bill M. 21, Mike B. 7, Peter N. 7.

Final score was 37-30 for Annapolis.

instruct the police department to enforce the present by-law and instructed the solicitor to prepare a by-law prohibiting the operation of junk yards in the town.

A letter, as read from the medical health officer, Dr. D. E. Lewis, referring to a number of cases of typhoid in the county. Dr. Lewis outlined ways in which typhoid could be transmitted and asked that the council have a by-law passed prohibiting the sale of un-pasteurized milk in Digby. The meeting instructed the solicitor to prepare such a by-law.

Permission was given at the meeting to Hubert Shortliffe to construct a home on property of Miss Louise Daley as a permanent residence for Mr. and Mrs. William Sutcliffe. Plans and specifications for the building were attached and value was given as $25,000. Approval was given providing the building is constructed in keeping with regulations of the Canada Building Code.

A delegation from the board of directors of the Digby General Hospital appeared and reviewed steps taken by the hospital board with respect to present and future demands on the hospital occasioned by the implementation of the hospital insurance plan. One request the delegation made was that the council should appoint three representatives to serve on a continuing hospital planning committee for the local area.

Appointed to the committee were Councillors V. L. Bent, W. I. McKenna and Mayor Cardoza.

A proposal from Kenneth Beckwith, local insurance agent, regarding an employee pension plan, was passed over to the finance committee for study.

Approval was given the Ladies' Hospital Aid for a tag day on March 7th, and to the Recreation Commission to hold a tag day February 6th to assist in purchasing uniforms for the hockey team.

A letter was read from Elie Comeau requesting that the council seek information concerning the establishment of a library in Digby. The clerk was asked to secure information on this matter from provincial library sources.

Mayor Cardoza was asked to secure and forward information desired by an industrial concern which had expressed an interest in the local area.

The police committee and department was asked to make a thorough study of ways and means of handling the dog situation in Digby and take action to curb this problem.

Accounts were approved for payment by the council. An account of three thousand dollars for purchase of a new furnace for the Digby Academy was questioned. Councillor J. W. Christie, chairman of the town school board, stated the board had been advised last fall the furnace at the academy was in bad shape and another should be set up in case it failed. Purchase was made, Councillor Christie stated, and the account held over to be included in the 1959 budget.

Councillor W. I. McKenna stated he felt tenders should have been called for this purchase. The solicitor stated that while this was good business practice, the matter under consideration was not under the direct jurisdiction of the town council.

On recommendation of the fire department Charles McBride, Earl VanTassel, Norman Wright, George Humphrey, Thomas Cleveland and Melvin Nixon were appointed fire wardens for 1959.

Councillor W. F. Muise, reporting on a joint meeting of the arbitration committee with the municipal committee, stated the ratio of joint expenditure had been agreed upon at 47-53 and said this was the same rate as in effect last year. A letter from the municipal council was later read confirming this but expressing dissatisfaction of the municipal council at the outcome of the meeting.

Speaks At Sandy Cove

Dr. Watson Kirkconnell, president of Acadia University, was guest speaker at the Founders' Day meeting of the Digby Neck Home & School Association, held last Thursday evening in the Sandy Cove consolidated school.

Dr. Kirkconnell, who was introduced to the gathering by association president, Rev. C. T. Olmstead, prefaced his address with a few remarks to the high school students present for the meeting. He also recited for their benefit his poem, "The Flying Bull".

In opening his address Dr. Kirkconnell gave an analysis of the makeup of Canada's population from the New England colonists who populated Digby Neck to the complex communities of western Canada. He said he had found that fifty languages were spoken in Winnipeg and the district about it. Dr. Kirkconnell said that during his own lifetime Canada has grown from a population of five million to over seventeen million.

Increases and changes in population have also brought corresponding changes in Canada's schools, the speaker said. In Nova Scotia alone over forty big regional high schools have been built in the last decade and the end is not yet, he stated. He said the cost of these schools would have paralyzed our grandparents for the expenditure per room is eighteen times what it was in 1895.

Horticultural Society Meets

The regular meeting of the Admiral Digby Horticultural Society was held last week at the home of Mrs. Eva Wendell.

During the business session of the meeting it was decided to proceed this year with the society's project of restoring and beautifying the old Loyalist cemetery at the corner of Warwick Street and 1st Avenue. This old cemetery has been a point of interest for visitors to Digby for many years as it contains a number of monuments with most interesting epitaphs.

Some years ago the town partially cleared the grounds and placed corner markers around the property and recently the horticultural society discussed the possibility of making it an attractive beauty spot in the town.

The cemetery dates back to the earliest Loyalist settlement of Digby and is the burying place of a number of Digby's prominent citizens of early days. Originally known as the Ruthford cemetery, the plot is located on what was part of the Phineas Lovett estate in the south end of the town. In later years it became more commonly known as the Holdsworth cemetery and some years ago a descendant of James A. Holdsworth, an early Loyalist settler, who is among those buried there, turned the cemetery over to the town for perpetual care.

Among those buried in the old cemetery is Henry Ruthford, Digby's second representative in the provincial legislature and whose son-in-law, Phineas Lovett III, succeeded him as a legislature member. Mr. Ruthford was a prominent business man of the town in its early days and was one of the operators of the first fish weirs ever in use here. As a legislator he was responsible for much of the early legislation governing commercial fishing in this area, particularly the production of the smoked herring which gained world wide fame as "Digby Chickens."

During the meeting of the horticultural society papers were delivered by Mrs. Alfred Kenney and Mrs. Wendell on African violets, slipping geraniums and caring for evergreens.

Electrical Pioneer
Has Digby Ties

Thomas Alva Edison, world famed inventor whose 112th birthday anniversary is being celebrated this week and in whose honour National Electrical Week is being marked across the North American continent from February 8th to 14th, has definite ties with the Town of Digby.

Edison's father, Samuel Edison Jr., was born in Digby on August 6th, 1803. He was the son of Samuel Edison who with his father, John Edison, and other members of the family came to Digby from New Jersey at the close of the American Revolutionary War.

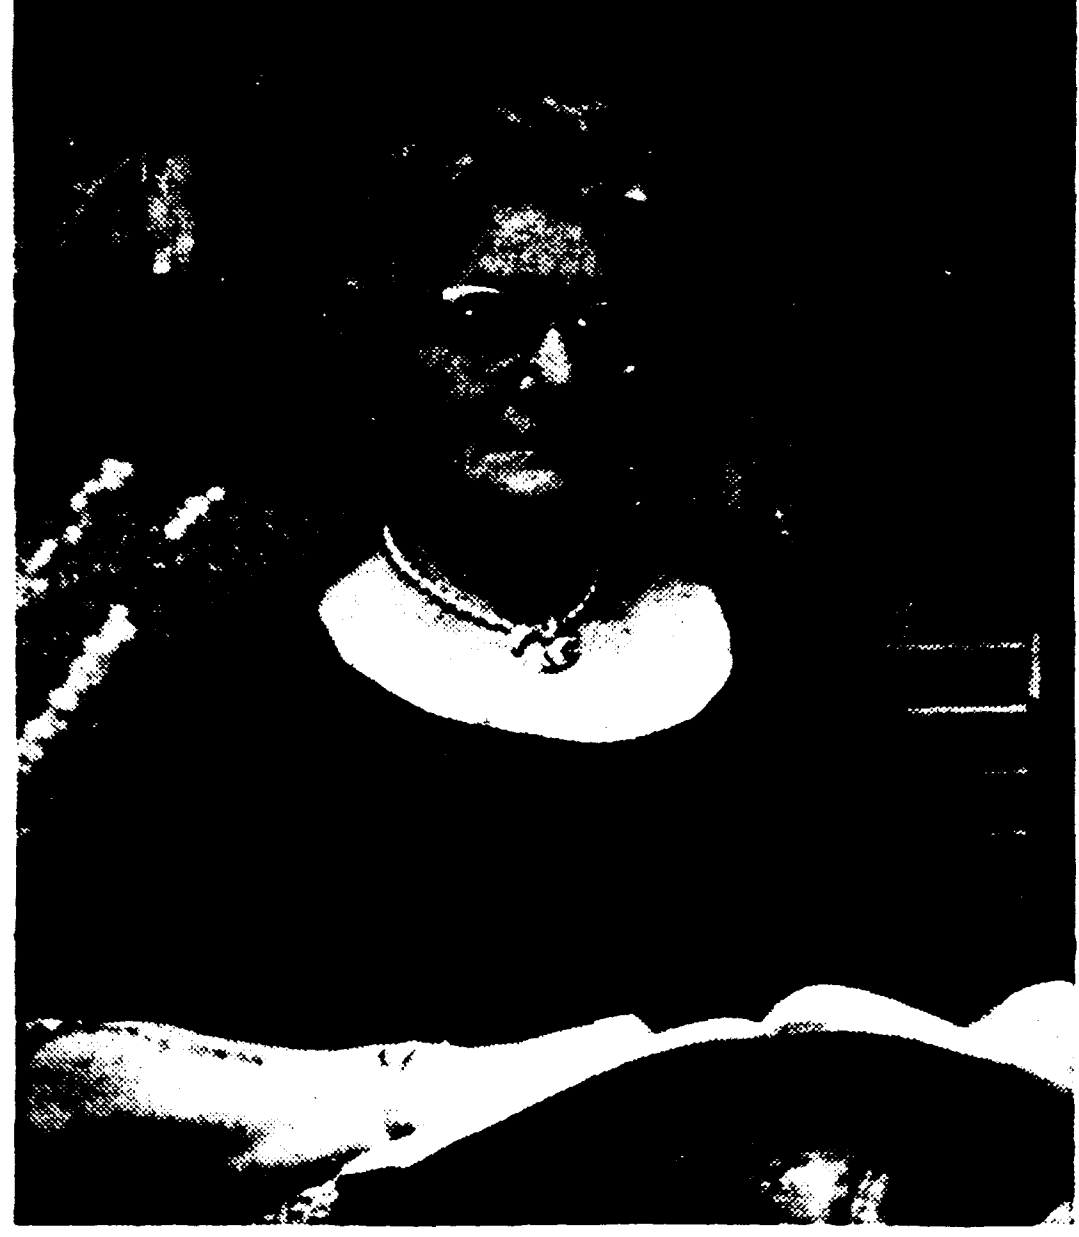

John Edison, great grandfather of the electrical pioneer, was of Hollandic stock. During the Revolutionary war he was living in New Jersey. As a Tory he was loyal to the Crown and after he had been found guilty of helping British troops he was sentenced to be hanged. His sentence, however, was commuted to banishment from the United States at the end of the war and he and his family emigrated to Nova Scotia where they became one of the first Loyalist families to settle in Digby.

According to history John Edison had three sons, Samuel, who married Nancy Simpson; Adonijah, who married Nancy Williams; Thomas, unmarried. He also had three daughters, Margaret, who married William Saxton; Catherine, who married Peter Weaver, and Mary, who married Dennis Dowling.

All the family left Digby in 1811 for Vienna, Bayham Township, Elgin County, Ontario. After some years there the Edison family's penchant for getting involved in governmental upheavals came to the fore again and the inventor's father allied himself actively with the forces of William Lyon Mackenzie in the ill fated rebellion and was forced to flee in 1838 with his family to the United States for safety after the Mackenzie's attempt to seize the government failed.

While the family lived in Vienna, Ontario, two of Thomas Edison's brothers and a sister were born. His grandfather, Samuel Edison, Sr., also died there in 1865 at the age of 103. The inventor himself was born in Milan, Erie County, Ohio, in 1847. When the boy who was destined to transform electricity from a laboratory experiment to an everyday reality was seven the family moved to Port Huron, Michigan, and as a boy he worked as a "candy butcher" on the Grand Trunk railway between Detroit and Port Huron. Later on he worked as a telegraph operator in Sarnia and Stratford, Ontario.

Former Digby Woman Active

Mrs. E. H. Spinney, wife of one of Yarmouth County's members in the provincial Legislature, is playing an important role in the life of the town of Yarmouth.

A native of Digby, Mrs. Spinney who is the former Eunice Milberry, daughter of Mrs. and the late Joseph Milberry, went to Yarmouth sixteen years ago after several years in the United States.

Since going to Yarmouth Mrs. Spinney has been active particularly in education, welfare work and the work of the hospital there. She has also played a prominent role in the cultural life of the community.

She assisted in organizing and became first president of the Yarmouth Memorial High Home & School Association and has served as a director of the Yarmouth County Children's Aid Society. Mrs. Spinney also played a prominent role in developing Community Concerts for Yarmouth and is a past president of the Women's division of the Yarmouth Golf and Country Club.

Her community efforts extend beyond the confines of the town of Yarmouth and she is playing a prominent role in the Canadian Council of Women and the Canadian Association of Consumers.

Says Freedom
Crisis

Dr. A. H. Leighton, noted psychiatrist and professor of social psychiatry at Cornell University Medical School, delivered the Thomas William Salmon Lectures at the New York Academy of Medicine recently. These lectures are world renowned in psychiatry circles and the lecturers are distinguished men in their particular specialty in the field. Dr. Leighton is well known in the Digby area where he has been associated with the Cornell program here for some years and also with the Western Nova Scotia clinic here.

In his lectures Dr. Leighton said that the rights of individuals are becoming more restricted as society becomes more centralized. Centralized society benefits the individual, he said, with better health, education, productivity and leisure time.

Attending these advantages, however, is the strengthening belief of the individual that he needs more freedom, that he must not be victimized by society, stated Dr. Leighton.

This paradox, he said, is "one of the really great problems of our time" and stated, "it belongs in a class with the question of man's ability to survive his nuclear discoveries".

Dr. Leighton said the problem, which is basic to social psychiatry, is "compounded when, in order to express these rising needs people submit to regimentation in military services, in unions, in professional societies and in other organizations of the group".

"Such submergence of the individual is often regarded as a temporary expedient toward an end. But is it? We are quick to assert in the case of enemies or potential enemies that this is a one-way street, that the expedient always becomes permanent".

Dr. Leighton said he considered this conflict fundamental to man today. "On the one hand, it runs to the heart of some of the unrest that would trigger a terminal war, while on the other it has to do with the worthwhileness of survival, that is the value of the pattern of existence we might adopt in order to survive".

Appointment
Announced

The Hon. M. S. Leonard, Minister of Public Welfare, has announced the appointment of Fred Gaudet (above), of Bellevue's Cove, to the Old Age Assistance Board of Nova Scotia. This Board has jurisdiction over Old Age Assistance, Disability Allowances and Blind Persons' Allowances. Mr. Gaudet replaces Mr. A. N. Chisholm, of Margaree, who resigned from the Board.

Mr. Gaudet is well known in Digby and Yarmouth Counties. He contested the constituency of Clare for the Progressive Conservative Party in the general election of 1956.

Investigating
Weekend Breaks

Digby police are investigating a series of breaks which occurred in the town over the weekend.

Broken into were the canteen of the Digby Curling Club, the Canadian Legion canteen and the Digby Regional and elementary schools.

Entry into the curling club was made by breaking a window in the door and turning a night latch. The break into the canteen was made by smashing a door.

The thief or thieves netted a number of bottles of liquor from the curling club canteen and also a quantity of cash. It is reported the maurauders were evidently selective for they chose only certain types of liquor to steal while leaving bottles of other varieties on the shelves. Some twenty dollars in cash was taken.

In the Legion canteen the thief or thieves took a quantity of cigarettes and some eleven dollars in cash.

The break into the Digby schools marks the third time stealing has been reported in these schools in somewhat over ten days. It is not known how the weekend break into the schools was effected, but desks were rifled and a quantity of cash taken from a number of rooms in both schools.

Included in the money taken over the weekend and in previous stealing episodes was funds contributed by school pupils for the March of Dimes collection.

Ferryman Has Narrow Escape

Mr. Emmerson Titus, Westport ferryman, narrowly escaped death Friday evening when he fell into the icy waters at Westport harbour.

Mr. Titus had just returned from Freeport with a passenger. The wind was blowing heavily in a northwesterly direction, which prevented him from being readily heard when he fell and called for help. Mr. Richard Thompson, hearing a call for help, rushed to the new partly constructed government wharf and was able to throw a cable for Mr. Titus to grasp. Soon, a dory was launched and Mr. Thompson was able to reach Mr. Titus. After much difficulty Mr. Titus was brought to shore, extremely cold but luckily escaped any after effects.

Injured When Car Overturns

What may have been a serious accident occurred last Tuesday morning at Rossway when Mrs. Thurston Banks was injured when her car skidded on the icy pavement.

According to an eye witness, Mr. Edgar Everett, who lives nearby, heard her scream and got Mrs. Banks from under the car where she was pinned. The car had turned over twice, throwing Mrs. Banks out, then coming to rest and pinning her beneath it by the head, where she suffered most of her injuries. Mr. and Mrs. Loran Banks rushed her to the Digby General Hospital where she was x-rayed and treated for cuts and bruises about the head and eyes. One cut in her forehead necessitated four stitches.

Continuity of Revenue Fund

Social Assistance expenditures most difficult. We were unable to verify the authenticity of Social Assistance expenditures for a period of three months for which period vouchers had been submitted to the Director of Social Assistance and were not returned by the date of this report.

The increased Revenue was offset by increased expenditures. These increased expenditures were for the reimbursement of increased costs of most services particularly, Social Welfare, Education and Debt Charges. The total Revenue for the year was $223,585.95, the total expenditure $238,114.05 resulting in an excess of revenue over expenditure of $14,528.61 to be transferred to Revenue Fund Surplus.

Adjustment of prior years accounts mainly hospital account recoveries and additional School Debt Charges Grant were credited to Revenue Fund Surplus in the amount of $7,932.32. The Revenue Fund Surplus after transferring $14,528.61 to the Reserve for Uncollected Taxes amounted to $47,188.11, this was $4,128.05 greater than at December 31, 1957.

The Capital Fund Balance Sheet includes only the Fixed Assets applicable to the Municipal General, Combined Capital Fund and Combined Revenue Fund Balance Sheets are presented to the General Fund, Municipal School Board and the Hydro Distribution System.

Subject to the foregoing, we report that, in our opinion, the attached Revenue Fund Balance Sheet and Capital Fund Balance Sheet and related financial statements are properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the position and affairs of the Municipality of the District of Digby as at December 31, 1958, according to the best of our information, the explanations given to us and as shown by the books and records.

PLANTS ENTERED
R.C.M.P. from Bridgetown were called to Victoria Beach on Wednesday morning due to a breaking and entering on Tuesday night of thieves into the store belonging to James Haynes. Also broken into was the office of the Casey Fisheries plant. Nothing was noticeably missing from the fish plant, but a quantity of cigarettes and money were taken from the store.

Report From Parliament Hill

Feb. 2, 1959.

Many people believe that there is much more danger of an economic war between the State controlled countries of the Communist block and the countries of the Western world than there is a danger of an actual shooting war. With the development of the atomic bomb and the almost certainty of complete annihilation for anyone taking part in a shooting war, the chances for such an outbreak are at least much more remote than they were a few years ago. Even Mr. Khrushchev this week is reported to have said the way in which the Communist countries could break down the Western world was by winning the economic war. In other words producing goods and selling them so cheaply that they would completely disrupt employment and the capitalistic organization of business in our free economy.

An interesting example of this occurred during the past week, and one with which the Minister of National Revenue had to deal with rather firmly. Canada's Customs Laws are based on the "fair market value of the country of origin". In other words if a certain product is selling freely in the country of origin at shall we say $100.00 per unit, then that value is taken as the fair market value when those goods are imported into Canada even though that value might be much lower than the similar cost of the Canadian product. For instance a fair market value of a product of the United States might be $100.00 per unit whereas the same unit might have a fair market value of only $60.00 in Japan. Nevertheless when those goods are imported from Japan our rate of duty is applied on the $60.00 rather than the $100. Probably 85% of all of our imports enter Canada under the fair market principle.

However, how can you determine the fair market value of a country where everything is controlled by the State. There probably is no free market in that country on which you can base comparisons. More than that you are denied the information, even if there were a free market and in addition there is almost certainly an element of subsidy whereby the State shares a large part of the cost of the production of those goods.

During the past few weeks this has come very much to the fore with respect to the importation of textiles from China. Chinese have erected huge modern technically efficient textile plants which are producing tremendous quantities of textile goods and selling them at very low prices. Within the last few days two imports of over one million yards each entered Canada. The prices at which these were bought were so low that it was absolutely impossible for any Canadian firm or American firm to compete with them. It was obvious that these were selling far below any "reasonable cost of production". Roughly these goods were sold for 20 cents a pound less than equivalent goods produced in highly technically efficient plants in the United States. Under the Customs Act when it is impossible to determine the fair market value, the Minister of National Revenue is authorized to determine the method on which that value can be fixed.

I accordingly this week signed an order fixing the value of these Chinese goods on the same basis with comparable goods imported from the United States. Of course, American goods are giving our manufacturers very tough competition and the fixing of values on American standards will not eliminate shot, but at least they will put them on a fairly competitive basis with standards applying in Western countries. The probabilities are that there will be many more instances of this practice in the relatively near future. Another example which affected a Maritime plant, P. S. Sim and Sons, of Saint John, was the importation of Chinese paint brushes which were coming into this country for 45% lower than they could be manufactured at Saint John. In that case the values were fixed on the basis of the most efficient producer in the Western world, namely Great Britain. My guess is that in the months to come we may hear as much about these importations by a long dangers of the economic war as we have had in the past the dangers of the shooting war.

When I first came to Ottawa occasionally in the twenties as a young lawyer, practically all of the Government Departments were housed in and around Parliament Hill. Finance, for instance, was in the East Block, as well as Privy Council and at least one other Government Department. The West Block also housed two or three Departments. The old Langevin Building across the street from the Parliament Buildings housed other Departments and the Connaught Building, within a stone's throw of the Hill was occupied by Customs and Excise, then the largest Government Department, and later on by the Income Tax Division. Now Government buildings are scattered all over the City. The first break came with the Confederation Building, so called because it was built on the 75th anniversary of Confederation.

Then came the Annex, then the buildings out at Tunney's Pasture. Recently the Veterans Building, the Trade and Commerce Building, and now seven or eight more buildings are being completed this year on the outskirts of the City of Ottawa. At least the traffic jams of 9:00 o'clock in the morning and 5:00 o'clock in the afternoon which used to make the downtown streets confusion founded will be largely relieved as the process of decentralization goes on throughout the expanding City.

Crossley Sherwood has been a senior servant in the House of Commons for fifty-seven sessions. If anyone should be an expert on Parliamentary procedure, it is Mr. Parliament himself — Crossley Sherwood. He said confidently Parliament will prorogue on July 1. His reasoning is very good. That is the day when Her Majesty the Queen will be in Ottawa. It would be most appropriate if she should prorogue Parliament. More than that he says the average session has never lasted more than six months. Needless to say we are all hopeful that he is right.

Week In The Legislature

A fanfare by Royal Canadian Artillery trumpeters heralded the arrival, shortly before three o'clock Wednesday afternoon, of Major General, the Hon. E. C. Plow, C.B.E., D.S.O., Lieutenant Governor of Nova Scotia, at the official opening of the third session of the 46th General Assembly.

Despite the inclement weather a sorry mixture of lashing rain and high winds, the Lieutenant Governor unhurriedly inspected the smart 100-man guard of honor lined up in the courtyard. The honor guard, members of the First Battalion Black Watch from Camp Aldershot was under command of Capt. Alex MacRae. Also present for the colorful ceremony were the pipe and drum band of the Black Watch under direction of Drum Major T. Robertson, and the Royal Canadian Artillery Band, directed by Lieut. K. Elloway.

From atop Citadel Hill artillery pieces boomed out a 15-gun salute.

Following the inspection of the honor guard the Lieutenant Governor entered the gallery-packed Assembly Chamber, escorted by Sergeant-at-Arms, Major Harold Long, of New Glasgow. The Lieutenant Governor then read the Speech from the Throne, a 72-item document dealing with accomplishments of the government during the past year and proposals for the future.

Gratitude to those who made financial contributions to the Springfield Disaster Relief Fund, was expressed by the Hon. Mr. Plow on behalf of the government in reading the Throne Speech, the charity of many enabling the relief fund committee to alleviate the plight of many who suffered the loss of dear ones.

Winter works programs were being carried on by the government to offset the seasonal winter employment. Work had already started on several picnic and camping sites as one phase of the winter works program.

Work relative to highways, ordinarily not carried on during the winter, such as clearing of brush, improving of visibility and other measures, was being carried out this year, with substantial measures of progress being reported in many areas of the province.

Proposed legislation would include the introduction of a bill to provide for the creation and administration of a Municipal Hospitals Loan Fund, to assist in the construction, or addition to, of hospitals.

Coal marketing difficulties, which the government believes to be of a temporary nature, have unfortunately placed some mines on a part-time basis and the government is making representations to Ottawa for an increase in subventions in aid, effort to remedy the situation.

Through introduction of the Nova Scotia Hospital Insurance Plan, January 1 of this year, all Nova Scotians became entitled to free ward service in the 45 hospitals participating in the plan. In addition to the $3,500,000 admission unit centre opened recently at the Nova Scotia Mental Hospital near Dartmouth, a new mental clinic was opened in Sydney and two such clinics are anticipated to be in operation at Truro and Antigonish during the coming year.

Plans are being made to commence the construction, this year, of a new Teachers' College to provide modern facilities for teacher-training and more room for the anticipated increase of teachers in training.

Further extension of the community pasture program was forecast in the speech.

Three hundred and sixty-eight miles of pavement were laid during the past year, the greatest amount of paving, in one year, ever carried out in Nova Scotia. In the past two years 236 bridges were completed and 14 more are in construction stages, constituting the greatest bridge building program in the history of the province, said the Lieutenant Governor.

Payments under the Mothers' Allowance Act were increased $10 per month in all cases.

The Nova Scotia Power Commission, entering into an agreement with the Dominion Coal Board for the payment of sub-ventions on coal burned by electric power developing stations expects, approximately $1,000,000 per year will be paid to those customers who qualify for assistance.

Increased tourist promotion was indicated. The American market target will be broadened, and locally, special efforts will be continued to assist municipal tourist bureaus. A new tourist information bureau is slated for Caribou and the government's bureau at Amherst will receive extensive improvements.

The Progressive Conservative member for Cape Breton South, Mr. Donald C. MacNeil, moved the address in reply to the throne speech and Mr. Harvey A. Veniot, member for Pictou West, seconded the address.

The throne speech debate was opened by opposition leader Henry D. Hicks, pilot of the Liberal forces in the House of Assembly. Mr. Hicks expressed regret that the speech had contained "no program for meeting the crisis in the coal industry" and "no adequate effort to develop industry... to cope with rising unemployment."

During Mr. Hicks' two-hour long speech, his questions included one as to whether the Nova Scotia Pulp Limited's proposed mill in eastern Nova Scotia was to be postponed. There was "no question of postponement" in the government's agreement with the Nova Scotia Pulp Limited, interjected Premier Stanfield.

Many subjects were covered by C.C.F. Leader Michael McDonald, who continued the debate, including the unemployment problem (particularly in the coal industry), the necessity of a national health scheme, and appointment of an independent commission to investigate institutions caring for the mentally ill.

In adjourning the throne speech debate for the week Premier Stanfield said that Mr. Hicks' address "did not advance

Village Shows

Surplus

An operating surplus of $3,394.79 was shown in the report of the ratepayers department read by Commissioner Merle Mullen at the annual meeting of the ratepayers of the Village of Weymouth held in the Fire Hall. One thousand dollars had been paid during the year against the debt on the fire hall which was erected the previous year. Chairman of the meeting, Commissioner C. Willis Mullen, gave the report for the Electrical Department for 1958 which showed an excess of revenue over expenditures of $1,043.09.

It was decided to again adopt Daylight Saving Time and to hold Boxing Day as a holiday.

The report presented by the fire chief, Joseph Ethier, showed the Weymouth Fire Department had responded to 32 calls during the past year, twelve of which were outside the village. Only one major loss was reported within the village and that was the loss of the main buildings of Weymouth Industries Limited in February 1958.

Dr. J. E. Comeau, dentist, was elected commissioner for the next three years by acclamation to succeed Merle Mullen who retired as commissioner after eleven consecutive years of faithful service in this office. Mr. H. W. Powell was recently appointed clerk and treasurer, replacing Mr. J. A. Hatt, who tendered his resignation effective December 31, 1958. Mr. Hatt, who has held the position of clerk and treasurer for 27 years, faithfully performed his duties during his term of office, and was presented with a leather travelling bag by Commissioner Dr. H. J. Pothier on behalf of the ratepayers. Mr. Hatt expressed his thanks to the ratepayers, both present and past commissioners, and to all those who had assisted him during his years in office.

A vote of thanks was extended to the following: Merle Mullen, retiring commissioner, Joseph Ethier, fire chief, and C. E. Campbell, deputy fire chief for their free services to the village and to J. A. Hatt, retiring clerk.

Village officials are: Commissioners Willis Mullen, Doctors H. J. Pothier and J. E. Comeau, and Clerk and Treasurer, H. W. Powell. Messrs. C. W. Marshall, Clyde Cosman and W. E. Cosman were appointed auditors.

Obituaries

Reginald W. Sypher

Reginald W. Sypher, prominent resident of Sandy Cove and a pioneer tourist resort operator in that picturesque Digby County community, passed away at his home on Saturday at the age of 67.

Mr. Sypher was widely known and made many friends among visitors to the area during the years in which he operated the Harbour View Lodge. For some thirty-five years he also was district representative of the Frigidair Division of General Motors Ltd. and in this position gained a host of friends throughout the county area.

Born in Sandy Cove, Mr. Sypher was the son of the late Frederick C. and Gertrude (Crowell) Sypher of that place. He lived all his lifetime in Sandy Cove and, although he retired some years ago as a tourist hotel operator, he still maintained a close interest in the welfare of his community and the development of its tourist resources.

He is survived by his wife, the former Glene Morehouse, and by one daughter, Avis (Mrs. Clifton Sparks), Halifax.

The body rested at the Jayne Funeral Home, Digby, until Monday, when the funeral was held from Zion United Church in Sandy Cove, conducted by the Rev. William MacMartin. Interment was in the family lot.

Mrs. Jessie Balcom

Funeral services for Mrs. Jessie Balcom were held in the Granville Ferry United Church on Wednesday afternoon conducted by Rev. Cyril H. Gough. Mrs. Balcom, who was born at Seabrook, Digby Co., was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Ross. She would have been 98 years old her next birthday.

Mrs. Balcom was twice married, her first husband was Bruce Kerr, and they lived at Culloden where their only daughter, Mary Ann Kerr, was born. Mr. Kerr died many years ago.

Following her second marriage to Silas Balcom of Auburn, King's Co., they resided at Karsdale, Annapolis Co. Mrs. Balcom was a resident of Karsdale for over 50 years. Her beautiful flower garden was admired by visitors and residents of the village. A keen lover of flowers, Mrs. Balcom spent many happy hours beautifying her grounds. For the past two years she had been a guest at the Woodland Nursing Home at Annapolis Royal, where her death took place on Sunday, February 1st.

Mrs. Balcom's daughter, Mary (Mrs. Lemuel Morrison) passed away following a short illness some six years ago. Mrs. Balcom is survived by two grandsons, Raymond Morrison, Beverly, Mass., and Ernest of Akron, Ohio. Both grandsons and Mrs. Raymond Morrison came here for the funeral. Also surviving are five great grandchildren in Ohio.

Pall bearers were Avar Morison, Wallace Ellis, Fred Covert and Oscar Chisholm. Following the service at Granville Ferry the remains were taken to Auburn for burial in the family lot. The committal service was conducted by Rev. James Munro, rector of St. Mary's Anglican Church, Auburn.

Chairman and Members, Municipal School Board of the District of Digby, Digby, Nova Scotia.

Gentlemen:

We have examined the books and records of the Municipal School Board for the District of Digby for the year ended December 31, 1958, and have received all the information and explanations we have required. Our examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of the accounting records and other supporting evidence as we considered necessary. The financial statements have been drawn up in the form prescribed by the Department of Education and the Department of Municipal Affairs. The Statement of Expenditure is drawn up to show the total expenses incurred, the amount incurred within the foundation program and the amount in excess of the foundation program.

As at the date of preparation of financial statements, certain information was not available from other school boards, this made necessary the estimation of certain costs. Tuition for the Digby Regional High School and the Board of School Commissioners of the Town of Digby has been computed by applying the actual attendance of pupils against the estimated costs for the year 1958. Regional High School and Foundation Program Grants have been based on these estimates and therefore are subject to changes which may be made in the Tuition figures.

Revenue Fund Balance Sheet

A comparison of the Revenue Fund financial position as at December 31, 1958, with that of a year previous reveals that whereas the bank balance of the previous year was $27,271.74, as of the end of this year there is an overdraft of $5,245.00. This can be accounted for due to the advances by the Province of Nova Scotia being less than the estimated Grants Receivable for the year by $20,549.84, together with smaller balances being due to other school boards and creditors as of the same date of the previous year. The Municipal School Board shows a surplus as of December 31, 1958, of $12,242.61. This surplus arose from an excess of Revenue over Expenditure for the year of $7,329.47, and adjustments affecting 1957 revenues in the net amount of $5,983.47.

These adjustments resulted primarily from a necessity of estimating Tuition Expenditures and Foundation Grant for the year.

Statement of Revenue

The total Revenue for the year is approximately $30,400.89 over that of the previous year: $4,988.71 of this being increased appropriation from the Municipality of Digby, however since debt charges no longer form a part of the appropriation, the increase in operating appropriation would be $13,268.62, and $25,761.71 being an increase in the estimated Foundation Grant.

Statement of Expenditure

The total expenditure for Foundation Program services increased over the previous year by $35,140.81. Only approximately $1,500.00 of this increase was in excess of those costs approved for Grant purposes. Administrative Expenses increased by $648.14. The Excess of Revenue over Expenditure for the year ended December 31, 1958, was $7,329.47 as compared with $15,159.66 for the previous year.

A Schedule of Maintenance Costs has been included this year showing a break-down of the total maintenance of $32,632.15, as to type of expenditure and various schools. We have also included an analysis of the Operating Costs of Municipally owned Busses showing a break-down of the total cost of Operating Busses amounting to $48,782.52.

Capital Fund Balance Sheet

Additional investment for school purposes during 1958 totalled $33,782.61. The major portion of this expenditure was on the Island Schools totalling $26,742.62. These additions were financed by a Bank Loan in the amount of $25,000.00, by using the balance of the 1958 Debenture Issue in the amount of $2,596.46 and by providing a balance of $6,186.45 from Municipal Revenue Funds. During 1958 the Province of Nova Scotia established $5,803% as the portion of Capital Expenditures within the Foundation Program after eliminating a contingent liability which the Municipality had in respect of the Digby Regional High School. This is the percentage of the School Debenture Debt Charges on which the province will pay a capital debt charges grant.

Subject to the foregoing, we report that, in our opinion, the attached Balance Sheet and the Capital Fund Balance Sheet and related financial statements are properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the position and affairs of the Municipal School Board of the District of Digby as at December 31, 1958, according to the best of our information the explanations given to us and as shown by the books and records.

Salute To Competition

My competitors do more for me than my friends do; my friends are too polite to point out my weaknesses, but my competitors go to great expense to advertise them.

My competitors are efficient, diligent and attentive; they enable me search for ways to improve my products and service.

My competitors would take my business away from me, if they could. This keeps me alert to hold what I have. If I had no competitors, I would be lazy, incompetent and inattentive. I need the discipline they enforce upon me.

I salute my competitors; they have been good to me.

God bless them all.

J. Charles Hall.

CONSUMER SUCCESSION

Buster, an aging hound dog in Victoria Beach, Nova Scotia, had been sickly for some time. For years he had been treated like gold by his master, but by the dog's reactions, one would surmise that he did not mean to be a burden to anyone. One night recently the folk of the house were awakened by strange noises, and upon investigating, found old Buster busily scratching at the door. He was immediately let out, followed at a distance by his master. The dog, it was thought, felt that he was creating too much trouble for the humans of the house and committed suicide by jumping off a 300 foot bluff into the current of the Bay of Fundy. His body has not as yet been found.

SPEAKS AT SANDY COVE

Dr. Kirkconnell said we are living in a world of breathtaking advances in applied science. We live also, he said, in a world of incredible tensions with the possibilities of war never absent from our thoughts. In such a world, Dr. Kirkconnell said, our children need a mastery of mathematics, chemistry and physics. In Russian schools, he said, these are compulsory for all pupils and all begin at least one foreign language by Grade V. "It will be at our peril, he said, if we remain ignorant of these basic studies in such a world."

Speaking of the Home and School organization, Dr. Kirkconnell said the basic unit of a free society is the family and it is important that home and school be always on intimate terms. The school instructs, he said, but the family educates. They need each other in their fundamental tasks.

Dr. F. G. Morehouse moved a vote of thanks to the speaker, which was seconded by Warden Ronald Morehouse.

To mark the first birthday of the association a playlet, "Burn Candle, Burn", was presented by Mrs. Elmer Lewis, assisted by twelve young ladies. An enthusiastic sing-song was led by Rev. D. I. McClure.

At the close of the evening refreshments were served by the social committee under Mrs. Keith Raymond. During the social hour Dr. Kirkconnell met informally with many of those present.

STUDENT GOVT.

The financing of student activities is provided. A magazine drive, conducted by the council, she reported netted $450 for council activities.

The students' council, Miss Potter said, also operates a canteen at the school and all business activities are carried out by the students themselves also a financial advisor on the school staff is available in cases where advice is deemed necessary.

Speaking of the uses to which the students' council puts its earnings, Miss Potter said trips made by sports teams and debating and drama groups from DRHS to other schools are financed by the council as is the purchase of sports uniforms and other athletic equipment.

A present project of the council is the payment for a grand piano recently placed in the school auditorium. This piano, a very valuable instrument, was purchased at a reasonable price and payment for it will be arranged by the students' council from its earnings. Miss Potter stressed that, although this piano will become part of the furnishings of the school, no public funds will be used in its purchase.

Last year, Miss Potter said, the students' council activities involved a turnover of some $6,000. All of this money was raised, handled and accounted for by the council, she said.

Very often the council tackles projects which may seem beyond their ability, Miss Potter said, but so far they have been successful in their endeavours. She said the student body is proud of the regional high school and grateful to the people of the area who have made this school available to them. The students' council, through its efforts, tries to give practical voice to the pride which the students have in their school, she concluded.

Founders Day At Freeport H. & S.

On February 5th the monthly meeting of the Freeport Home & School was held in the high school room, with Mrs. Egbert Crocker acting as president.

The occasion was the celebrating of Founders Day.

After the business session the program was given over to Mrs. Hooper, who had a contest on Founders Day. Following this, a film was shown entitled "What Greater Gift", which was about the life of a school teacher.

A special offering was taken, and plans were made for a party sale to be held in the near future to purchase capsules for the children. The lot of capsules for all the school children costs about $22.00 and the support of the parents is solicited.

At the next meeting, which will be Education Week, a program on education will be presented and a visit from the municipal assessor will be made regarding taxes for the community. Everyone interested is welcome to attend the March meeting.

Following the program on Founders Night, refreshments were served and a birthday cake made by Mrs. Ernest Powell was served.

At this meeting the Home & School made plans to sponsor a spelling contest for Grades VI, VII, VIII and IX between Freeport and Tiverton Home & School Associations.

The winner will be presented with a trophy at the close of the contest. The contest will begin some time in March.

Reject Teacher Pay Increase

Recommendation was made by a joint meeting of the Digby Municipal School Board, the Regional High School Board and the Town School Commission, which was held Monday evening, that the individual boards not adopt a salary increase proposal put forward by the negotiating committee of the Digby local of the Nova Scotia Teachers' Union.

The joint meeting did recommend that high school teachers holding a P.C. certificate receive the four hundred dollar increase participated in by the provincial education department.

The salary proposal put forward by the teachers' union was a counter-proposal to one made by the school boards to the union in December. It called for a smaller total amount of increase than that offered by the school boards but later withdrawn.

Cost to the municipality to implement the union's salary proposal would have been some $13,000 annually, while the adoption of the proposal would have cost the town an additional $2,600. Cost of implementing the scheme adopted by the boards will be in the vicinity of $750 for the municipality and $500 for the town, it is understood.

A meeting of the town school board reconvened following the joint session adopted the recommendation of the joint meeting as did a meeting of the regional board. The municipal board approved the recommendation at their meeting Tuesday.

Check Further Breaks

Local police are investigating two more weekend breaks in Digby.

Latest breaks reported this weekend were at the Esso Imperial Service station operated by Kingsley Collins and at Jack's B-A service station.

Break into the Esso station was made sometime Saturday night and was discovered by Mr. Collins Sunday morning. Entry was made by breaking glass in the front door and opening the night latch. A check of the premises indicated little, if anything, had been taken although the cash drawer was disarranged.

The entry into Jack's B-A was also made by breaking a window. The break was made Sunday night and a check revealed little if anything was taken in this break, although evidence indicated a thorough search for cash was made.

Take Defence Training

Five members of the Digby Fire Department left Saturday for the Civil Defence College in Arnprior, Ontario, to take specialized civil defence training in rescue work.

Those attending the course are Buddy Barr, Bobby Hand-spiker, Charles Hall, Earl Anderson and Joseph Doucette.

Also leaving for training at the defence school in Arnprior on Saturday was H. Roy Peters who will take special training in staff and organizational work in connection with civil defence.

Tax Rate Same

The Municipal Council of Digby set the tax rate at $2.50 per $100 on full assessment for the year 1959, which is the same rate as last year. Despite the increased demand of $81,088.10 for education, which is $9,442.83 more than in 1958 the council was able to hold the rate to its former level.

The municipal councillors will receive $15 per day while attending sessions of the council instead of the former rate of $10. The increase was demanded due to the mileage of councillors being paid for only one trip while attending sessions whereas the council will sit from one week to ten days during the February session alone.

Two new consolidated schools will be constructed. One is to be erected at Salmon River, Lake Doucet, Hectanooga, Mayflower and Beaver River and the second will be built at St. Alphonse to serve Cape St. Mary's, part of Mavillette and St. Alphonse. The former school will be a six-classroom structure, while that in St. Alphonse will have four rooms.

The financial report showed a surplus of $2,033.94 for 1958. Total revenue shown was $193,972.55 which consisted of the following: from taxation $153,248.09, interest on tax arrears $537.38, contributions, grants and subsidies, $40,187.08.

Expenditures: general government, $16,004.53, protection to persons and property, $2,650.43, sanitation and waste, $244.80, health $29,447.93, social welfare $19,229.66, education $72,765.27, community service $174.67, debt charges $39,485.92, provisions for reserve accounts, $2,548.36, capital expenditure out of revenue, $7,080.00, joint expenditures $1,293.40, unclassified $1,013.64, for a total of $191,938.61.

The operating cost of the Municipal Home was $9,032.47. A sprinkler system will be installed in the Home on recommendation of the provincial fire marshal. Other improvements will be made during the year.

Increase of salaries to the teaching staff in Digby is one of the main items which has increased demand on the municipality for 1959. In 1958 the teachers' salaries amounted to $1,648,14.99 but in 1959 will be $1,539,000 which is an increase of over $30,000. Total costs of education will be $306,218.02 as against $256,969.07 last year.

The new Clare District High School at Meteghan River has an enrolment of 575 pupils which is beyond the expectation of the school board. In 1958 enrolment from grades 7 to 12 was in the vicinity of 471 and in 1955 the figure was 383. The Meteghan school, with a newly constructed addition, has now 9 classrooms, a library and a recreation room. The school is filled to capacity. In 1955 there were five grade XII pupils attending schools in Clare and in 1958-59

Addresses World Day Of Prayer

Rev. H. S. Hartlin was the speaker at the World Day of Prayer service held in the Digby Baptist Church on Friday afternoon.

Mr. Hartlin took as his subject the theme for the day, "Lord, I believe", and based his remarks on the story of Jesus restoring sight to the man born blind in the gospel of St. John, chapter 9. He said the blind man stood as a symbol of the world's needs and that through the manifestation of Christ's love and power the world's deepest needs can be met. It is the task of the church, Mr. Hartlin said, through faith, prayer and service, to bring men in relation to Christ so that these needs of the world might be met.

The service was opened by Mrs. Hugh Vincent, president of the Baptist Women's Missionary Society, who gave a historical outline of the World Day of Prayer and its significance. The program for 1959, she said, had been prepared by a committee of nine women in Egypt, representing the Anglican, Coptic Evangelical (Presbyterian) and Coptic Orthodox churches, who worked on it in Cairo.

Other leaders were Mrs. Raymond Lent, president of the Anglican society, and Mrs. Burton Fleet, president of Grace United W.M.S. Lieutenant Joan Vaughan read the scriptures. Leading in prayer were Mrs. Clarence Gould, Mrs. Fritz Dakin, Mrs. John Russell, Mrs. Elton Arnold and Mrs. H. S. Hartlin. Mrs. J. M. Wallis was heard in a vocal rendition of "Teach Me To Pray", accompanied by Mrs. H. A. Nichols who presided at the organ throughout the service.

The offering was received by Mrs. Benjamin Franklin and Mrs. Burton Ellis.

Addresses Women At Prayer Service

World Day of Prayer Service was observed in Zion United Church, Sandy Cove, when ladies of the congregations of the three village churches united to worship in this special day of prayer.

The service this year was prepared by the women of Egypt, the theme being "Lord, I believe, and he worshipped Him", was conducted by Miss Elizabeth McCullough. Prayers were offered by Mrs. Nelson Merritt, Mrs. Weldon Trask, Mrs. Clarence Hersey, Mrs. Robert Winchester and Mrs. Jack Morehouse.

The speaker for this special service was Miss Blanche Hicks, who interestingly traced the ancient Egyptian beliefs to those of the present day, and how the Christian belief has been accepted in various parts and how Christ is worshipped. She also related an experience when visiting in Florence, Italy, several years ago. Here some twelve persons attended a church service and at the close sang in English "Blest Be The Tie That Binds". The Italian choir responded in Italian, which shows that although neither could interpret each other's language they did have the same common belief.

Mrs. Eldon Mitchell, as soloist, sang "My Task". Mrs. Hugh Morehouse was organist.

Entertain At Tea

The home of Mrs. James Brooks was the scene of a delightful Valentine tea on Thursday evening when twenty-seven dollars was raised for church purposes, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of Grace United Church.

In charge of the tea was Mrs. Dickson Sabine, assisted by Mrs. Flora Lindstrom. Valentine motifs were much in evidence in the living rooms and on the effectively arranged tea table.

Preceding the tea a Valentine quiz was conducted by Mrs. Brooks, when prizes were awarded to Mrs. Margaret Gorman, 1st, and Mrs. F. A. Kenney, 2nd.

Assisting At Salvation Army

Tells Of Cuban Revolution

A very vivid account of the recent revolution in Cuba was given at last week's meeting of the Digby Kiwanis Club by Captain John Kernick, of Yarmouth.

Captain Kernick, who just recently returned from Cuba, told the Kiwanians of conditions in the country as he found them and outlined the effect of the revolution on the economy of the country. In a graphic manner he told of the success of Castro's forces and described scenes in Cuba at the climax of the revolution.

In attendance at the meeting were several members of the newly re-organized Yarmouth Kiwanis Club.

At the previous week's meeting the speaker was Dr. D. E. Lewis, local chairman for the Heart Fund. Dr. Lewis gave a most interesting address on the heart and its functions. He explained the illnesses associated with the heart's failure to function properly and told of the work being done in research and service through monies made available by contributions to the heart fund.

Beach Fishermen Have Close Call

Wallace King and John Ring, two Victoria Beach fishermen, had a narrow escape from death Wednesday morning when their forty foot Cape Island fishing boat caught fire while they were on their way into Digby for fishing bait.

The two men put out from Victoria Beach shortly after eight o'clock yesterday morning. Soon after they were underway fire broke out around the engine of their boat. The two men worked valiantly and extinguished the flames but not before a hole had been burned through the side of the boat and the planking badly burned inside.

They then beached the craft at Rattling Beach on the Digby side of the Annapolis Basin. The Bay View life saving boat was summoned and towed the damaged craft back to Victoria Beach.

Neither of the two fishermen, who are brothers, were injured in the episode.

Former "Sandy Cover" Writes

The Courier this week received an interesting letter from Ira E. Bishop, now living in Brooklyn, N. Y., but formerly of Sandy Cove.

Mr. Bishop writes that he left from Saint John on a sailing ship in 1895 and followed the sea until 1903 but since then has been living in Brooklyn.

Although living away from Sandy Cove for so many years, Mr. Bishop writes that "my heart is still on Digby Neck". He says he has had lots of visits to Sandy Cove over the years and "in fact one summer sailed a schooner in the Bay of Fundy."

"Let me tell you, he writes, when the Bay of Fundy gets mad it sure has a bad temper". He says he crossed from Saint John to Digby in March, 1957, and this was one of the bay's bad days. "The old Princess Helene is a sturdy craft, he writes, and we arrived at Digby on time."

The secretary, Mrs. Fritz Dakin, paid tribute to the memory of the late Mrs. G. W. Connell, a charter member whose death occurred during the past year. She expressed appreciation of the reports forwarded from Ottawa by Mrs. W. B. Christie who represented the local association at the annual meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada held there.

Plan Series of School Meetings

A series of meetings to explain to the people in various school districts affected by proposals to build two new consolidated elementary schools and to secure their views on these proposals were scheduled Tuesday by the Digby Municipal School Board in session here.

At the annual meeting of the Digby Municipal Council it had been decided to seek authority to construct seven room consolidated elementary schools at Barton-Brighton and at Smith's Cove to serve a number of rural school sections in the vicinity of these two areas. Cost of each of the schools was estimated not to exceed $60,000.

At Tuesday's meeting of the municipal school board it was decided that, before proceeding with the matter of the proposed school construction, meetings would be held in the districts affected at which the proposals would be explained and the views of the people secured.

Meetings have been scheduled for Smith's Cove, Barton-Brighton, Plympton and Plympton Station, North Range, Marshalltown, Hill Grove, Acaciaville, Conway, Ratepayers from the Lansdowne, Milford Corner, Bear River Road and Morganville school sections will also be asked to attend the meetings as pupils from these districts will be included in the proposed consolidation program.

It is understood the building of the new schools will mean a withdrawal of some 125 rural pupils now being educated at the elementary school in Digby.

Move To Bridgetown

Mr. and Mrs. George Harris have moved to Bridgetown, where George has been transferred to the Bridgetown Branch of Stedman Stores.

Before leaving they were presented with a T.V. lamp by the staff of Stedman's, and Mrs. Harris was presented with a serving tray by the staff of Maritime Tel. & Tel. Company, of which she has been a member for the past two years.

D. I. D. ACTIVITIES

Five firemen left on Saturday to take a course in civil defence rescue work being given at Civil Defence training school in Arnprior. Those selected for the course were Charles Hall, Buddy Barr, Earl Anderson, Joseph Doucette, Robert Hand-spiker. Also accompanying them was Roy Peters who is attending the school and taking a course in administration. These courses are available at regular periods for training of civil defence personnel. Every member of the fire department is registered with the civil defence headquarters when they join the department.

Last night was the beginning of a regular training course on fire fighting in the department conducted by local instructors from fire department manuals of the latest type, and will include a thorough course after which tests will be given to qualify those taking the course. It is also expected to start first aid classes next week for the members wishing to take this course and continue on from the one taken last year.

Several men were on duty over the weekend during the storm in the event of fire and due to the difficulty in getting around. One call was answered for a chimney fire at Mount Pleasant when it was impossible to get to the fire and extinguishers were carried to the fire. No damage resulted. The only other call was for a flooded oil burner.

Plans are now well under way for the annual Ice Carnival, and a different program in some phases is being planned along with a possible change in the princess contest and a queen being chosen. Clowns are expected in full force to provide fun, along with a costume parade and other events.

Hill Grove Church Holds Annual

The annual business meeting of the Hill Grove Baptist Church was held in the church hall with the pastor, Rev. H. S. Hartlin, presiding.

After a devotional period, led by the pastor the church clerk, Lloyd B. MacNeill, read the minutes of the last regular meeting, which were received and accepted. Reports of the different committees and societies within the organization were also read and on motion adopted.

The activities of the Social Committee were presented by Miss Sue Nichols. W. J. Franklin, treasurer, gave the report on the financial condition of the organization which revealed a small cash balance on hand after all obligation, including the "New Church" building fund had been met.

Highlighting the year's expenditures was the cost of a complete new heating unit for the church building, which was also the redecorating of the interior, and painting and repairing the outside. A gift of $900.00 from the estate of the late Mrs. Phoebe Egar was thankfully received during the year, which will be used to help out the cost of cemetery care.

Mrs. Egar was a former resident who has been a resident of the United States since her marriage but never forgot her old home church.

The following is a list of officers and committees for 1959 as presented by the Advisory Board and which were duly elected to their respective offices:

About This and That

Brotherhood Week, Feb. 15-22, Is For All The World's Big & Little Places

In the small communities, such as ours, the observance of Brotherhood Week probably will be of a rather limited extent, and not nearly so great as the interest attached to it in many of the larger centres.

No doubt, many will read about the observance of Brotherhood Week and immediately commend it in their thoughts as something the world urgently needs — that is, the world that is far away from them and not that part of the world in which they themselves live.

The world needs a Brotherhood Week in its fullest observance — to take away the "iron curtains" and the threats to peace, and which will turn men away from the using of materials for the making of weapons to destroy mankind, towards the using of those same materials for the ways of peace and the establishing of a brotherhood among all the people of every nation.

But before a Brotherhood Week can be truly observed around the world, it first must be observed in the little places. The world, big and mighty though it appears, is really only made up of people who live in big and little places — and more people live in the little places of the world than in the big places.

Every community would be a better one for the observance of Brotherhood Week. The little places often have small counterparts of the big trouble-makers on the world scene, and the same grasping for power, so obvious on the world front, is found frequently in the little places of the world, where the same kind of selfishness causes the seeking of individual power.

Brotherhood around the world can come only when the ideals of Brotherhood Week are observed in all the little places of the world. The Canadian Council of Christians and Jews helps many smaller communities plan programs for the week. The churches, the lodges, the service clubs, and all the numerous organizations are working to establish a world brotherhood, but the actual achievement of that goal must wait until each individual member and every citizen thinks as Jane Wyman does — "The opportunity to practice brotherhood presents itself every time you meet a human being."

YOUR BEST BOOK

Sir Walter Scott lay dying. He who had written many books asked someone by his bedside to bring him the book, "Which book, sir?" the person asked. Replied the author, "There is only one book".

In the time of crisis there is only one book, the Word of God, the Bible. It differs from all others because it is not the word of lowly man. This book declares the whole truth, and nothing but the truth.

Who can stop the rain or the snow? God has promised that His word shall go forth as the rain and snow. Isaiah 55:10-11. It will be irresistible. No one can stop it.

Who can stop a river? The Word of God is like the pure river of life. It gives life to all who stoop and drink if its refreshing promises.

Nothing can stop the Bible. In fact it cannot be compared with any other book. No other writing will do for us what the Bible will do.

This priceless piece of literature is to be read, believed, obeyed, treasured in the heart, and practised in daily living.

Do you read and love the Word of God? Have you received the Salvation offered here-in?

NO TIME LIKE TODAY

Time is running out. Its passing is swift and silent. Things of value and importance must not be postponed until next year or next week: they must be done today. Those who trust God and see His hand in the events of life will realize the sin of saying "Tomorrow" when God says "today".

Is it a deed of kindness? Is it a task which you alone can do? Is it a matter of faithfulness to your church? Is it, perchance, the necessity of accepting Christ as Saviour? Is it the need of living the hours of life to please the One who gives both the hours and the life? Cultivate the realization that now is the time to act. Things postponed are often never done.

A tourist in Europe was observing the well-kept grounds of a castle. To the gardener, he remarked that the owner must be very pleased with the good work being done. The gardener explained to the tourist that the owner had not visited the castle in twelve years, that he never wrote and that instructions came through an agent. The visitor remarked "But you keep this place as though you expected your master to come tomorrow." The gardener almost interrupted his guest, "Today, sir, today!"

In a way we are keepers of our lives and of our conduct. If moral and spiritual fences need mending, there must be no delay. Jesus is coming again. (Acts 1:11). Will we have things ready when he comes?

Travelogue To Entice Tourists

A feature-length travelogue produced in Nova Scotia last summer by one of the outstanding travel lecturers in the United States, James Metcalf, of Dowagiac, Mich., is being well received by American audiences.

In a letter to the director of the Nova Scotia Travel Bureau, Dan Wallace, whose department assisted the film project, Mr. Metcalf stated the travelogue has been booked for a full week of showings over a Detroit television station, the series to start February 9. "Be prepared for an influx of Detroiters to the province next season," said the producer.

The New York Town Hall has scheduled the travelogue for April 9, and the National Geographic Society, which, after viewing the film, rated it very highly, will have it for their series in Washington in the near future.

"The Carnegie Institute series in Pittsburgh was a great success and was well received. I was especially gratified," said Mr. Metcalf, "to have a group of six Nova Scotians come up to the stage after the last performance and compliment me profusely on my handling of the subject."

Most of the audiences seeing the Nova Scotia film are composed of those who acquire season tickets for series of travel films and lectures... excellent

In Memoriam

FORREST — In loving memory of our dear father, Howard E. Forrest, who passed away February 18, 1953. This day we remember. A loving thought we give. To a dear father no longer with us. But in our hearts still lives. — Always remembered by his four sons and daughter, Rose, 25:1p

MARSHALL — In loving memory of Cpl. Walter M. Marshall, who passed away in England on February 15, 1942. He is gone but not forgotten. And as dawn another year. In our lonely hours of thinking Thoughts of him are always near. Days of sadness still come o'er us. Friends may think the wound is healed. But they little know the sorrow That lies within the heart concealed. — Always remembered by his grandmother. 25:1p

MORGAN — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Clarence Morgan, who passed away February 21, 1957. Gone, dear father: gone forever. How we miss your smiling face. But you left us to remember None on earth can take your place. — Lovingly remembered by wife, Hattie, and three daughters, Hazel, Elizabeth and Cath- erine. 25:1c

TIMPANY — In memoriam to my beloved wife. Remember the day we met, dear. Many long years ago: Remember the love that came, dear. As we met in the even glow. A love that touched

CONTRACT AWARDED FOR NEW POST OFFICE AT WEYMOUTH, N. S.

The Minister of National Revenue, Honourable George C. Nowlan, announced today that the Department of Public Works has awarded a contract for $18,432.48 to Camille P. Comeau of Weymouth, Nova Scotia, for the construction of a new Post Office building at Weymouth. The building is one of more than 60 small post offices across Canada which are being erected by the Department of Public Works during the winter, to increase winter employment.

Camille P. Comeau submitted the lowest bid on the project in response to the Department's advertising for public tenders. Specified completion date is June 1959.

The new one-storey building, which will provide approximately 800 sq. ft. of public and working area, will replace accommodation which is presently rented. It will be of frame construction with an exterior finish of brick veneer.

The interior finish will be plaster board walls and ceilings with linoleum-covered floors. The public lobby of the building will permit access to the lock-boxes after normal office hours. It will be heated by an oil-fired space heater.

Plans and specifications were prepared by the architectural staff of the Building Construction Branch, Department of Public Works, Ottawa.

Marriage

Bonang — Parsons

A lovely winter wedding took place recently at Christ Church when Archdeacon W. E. Ryder united in a double ring ceremony, Marilyn, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Parsons, Kentville, and Douglas Bernard Bonang, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Bonang, of Dartmouth.

The church was decorated with white chrysanthemums at the altar, and snapdragons at the front of the church. The pews were decorated with white bows.

Miss M. D. Robb was the organist.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a floor-length gown of nylon over net over satin. The bodice was of lace over satin with a square neckline, and long sleeves which tapered to points over the wrists. The gown which had self-covered buttons at the back from neckline to the waist with hooped skirt, featured a large satin bow at the back. The finger veil was held in place by a headress of seed pearls. She carried a cascade of red roses.

Miss Lawna Outhouse attended as bridesmaid, and wore a gown of blue nylon net over taffeta, ballerina-length, with matching headband. She carried a nosegay of pink chrysanthemums.

Miss Glenna Bowser, the groom's cousin, was flower girl. She wore a ballerina-length gown of yellow net over taffeta, with matching hat. She carried a nosegay of white chrysanthemums with a yellow rose in the centre.

Clyde Bonang attended his brother as best man, and the ushers were Hugh Boyd and John Woodworth.

Mrs. Parsons, mother of the bride, wore a medium blue crepe gown, with navy hat and matching accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Mrs. Bonang, mother of the groom, wore a teal blue crepe sheath gown, with pink hat and matching accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Dartmouth Service Centre for approximately 100 guests. Clyde Bonang proposed the toast to the bride.

For travelling the bride chose a two-piece ensemble in salmon pink, with black hat and matching accessories, topped with a grey coat. Her corsage was of red roses.

SUITABILITY OF LOTS MAKE COST CONSIDERATION

The cost of constructing the house you want will be greatly influenced by the suitability of the lot you purchase. Choice of the building site, therefore, requires careful thought on the part of prospective home owners. The price you will have to pay for a lot is governed by numerous factors such as the site of the lot, quality of the neighborhood, the demand for land in the locality, and the availability of water and sewer services.

Before choosing a lot you should have a definite idea of the type of house your family needs. For instance, a long narrow lot would not be suitable if you are planning a low ranch-type bungalow.

After you decide on the type of house you want and the price you are willing to pay for it, then you can check on the suitability of the available lots in the neighborhood you have selected.

When looking over possible building sites, first attention should be given to the surface features. See that there are no large outcroppings of rock, because this will mean expensive excavation. On the other hand check the land to make sure that it is in its original state, and not just a gully or swamp that has been filled in with loose earth. Trees and shrubs on the property are a good sign that it is in its natural condition. They also add to the value of the property and enhance its attractiveness when the house is built.

Institute Takes On Stress Importance Of Vaccination

More than eight thousand children of school age in Nova Scotia have never been vaccinated against smallpox.

In drawing attention to this serious omission, provincial health officials emphasize that the Public Health Act makes it compulsory for all children entering school to be vaccinated.

The Department of Public Health recommends vaccination in infancy and re-vaccination every five years, but approximately 80 per cent of the school population have never been vaccinated. Data is not available, but it is believed that vaccination figures for the adult population are more inadequate than those for school children.

A case of smallpox entering this province, health officials point out, could cause a severe epidemic.

Vaccination against smallpox is a most effective means of preventing this disease. Modern methods make vaccination almost completely painless, and severe reactions seldom occur.

For some time now there has been an increased incidence of smallpox in India and Pakistan.

Last month the Department of National Health and Welfare, Ottawa, reported to the provincial health departments that 14 cases of smallpox have occurred in Germany — 13 in Heidelberg and one in Kaiserslautern. The first case occurred Dec. 5, 1958, in a man who had travelled by air from Madras, India, to Heidelberg. Symptoms of what he considered to be influenza had developed while in Madras on Nov. 26, 1958.

Reports such as these bring home to us the fact that such diseases as smallpox are still very much with us and still constitute a serious threat to life and health. Modern means of transportation make this threat even more serious than in the past. A person incubating smallpox in the Far East can now reach Canada in a matter of hours.

Our immigration authorities are constantly on the alert and have done a remarkably fine job of keeping such diseases out of our country. We must appreciate the fact, however, that even with the best quarantine services, it is still possible for a case of smallpox to enter this province. No cases so far have been reported in Canadian troops or their dependents living in Germany. Frequent transfer of troops and their dependents however, and trips home, especially by air, could well be the means of bringing smallpox to this province.

The Nova Scotia Department of Public Health urges the public to take advantage of this simple and effective means of preventing smallpox. Vaccination is available from family doctors and clinics. Teachers are urged to see that no child is allowed to attend school without a proper certificate of vaccination against smallpox. Also at this time it is of paramount importance that those who are in direct contact with immigrants are aware of their special need for vaccination or re-vaccination. A case of smallpox entering the province in 1928 caused one death and several cases among hospital personnel — hospital administrators should ensure that their personnel are vaccinated or re-vaccinated if necessary. Outbreaks have occurred in the United Kingdom and the United States in recent years — it can happen here.

An important point to be remembered, health officials stress, is that there is no new or special treatment for smallpox once it develops, and the death rate is high — prevention, through vaccination or re-vaccination, is the only answer.

Among the azalea species which grow successfully in the open are calendulaceum, cumb-erlandense, arborescens, Mollis and roseum.

Some of those species have been flowered successfully when exposed to full sun rather than in partial shade in the Kentville area. This characteristic increases their adaptability since they may be used for foundation planting, as lawn specimens and for massed effects in open areas.

During the business period, it was reported that a box of good used clothing had been packed and shipped. The Bible study entitled "We Have The Mind Of Christ" was led by Mrs. Harry Lewis. The missionary benediction was repeated after refreshments were served.

Very few azaleas have been planted on smaller properties in the province, the majority of plantings being to estates and parks.

In recent years many homes have been built in woodland on the outskirts of established communities. An attempt has been made to retain as many of the trees as possible, which has brought desirable azalea planting sites close to the homes. Even in older established residential areas, there are many properties possessing fairly large trees of the proper type which cast enough light shade to provide good planting sites for azaleas.

These conditions apply generally to such hardy azalea species as japonicum, calendulaceum, cumbrianense, arborescens, Mollis hybrids, atlanticum, roseum, vaseyi and viscosum.

Observe World Day Of Prayer

The Women's World Day of Prayer was observed by the churches in Smith's Cove with a service held at the United Baptist Church. Miss Sue Winchester, president of the BWMS, presided and opened the meeting. Mrs. Donald Logan, president of the United Church WA, was unable to be present. Her part was taken by vice president Mrs. Aven Sanford.

Mrs. Vera Langman gave an inspiring address on the topic of the day — "Lord, I Believe" — stressing the importance of the individual; that Christ's ministry was for the individual; that all Christian work must begin with the individual. It must come from within. We have two commandments — "Follow Me" and "Love" or "Care for" your neighbors, both of which require us to "believe" and "love" from within our hearts.

Special music was provided by the quartette, Mrs. Ruth Walker, Miss Sue Winchester, Mrs. Chester Brinton, Mrs. Aileen Woodman. Their selection was "The Haven of Rest".

Others taking part representing the three churches at Smith's Cove, were: Mrs. Kelsey Raymond, Mrs. Garnet Adams, Mrs. Frank Wightman, Mrs. Lloyd Adams, Mrs. George Warren, Mrs. William Berry, Mrs. Charles Foster, Mrs. Gordon Landers, Miss Ada Winchester, Mrs. Oran Woodman, Mrs. Alex MacLean.

History Of Bear River W.I.

(Mrs. Wm. Morine)
On March 3, 1920, a large number of ladies met in the Methodist Church vestry to form a Women's Institute, with Miss Helen MacDougall, Truro, who was then the Superintendent of Institutes for Nova Scotia, as the organizing official.

Sixty enthusiastic ladies were enrolled as members of the Bear River Women's Institute, with the following officers: Honorary President, Mrs. V. T. Hardwick; President, Mrs. L. J. Lovett; 1st Vice President, Mrs. F. H. Bone; 2nd Vice President, Mrs. W. J. Wright; Secretary, Mrs. J. Arthur Rice; Treasurer, Mrs. A. B. Marshall. Directors: Mrs. Cunningham, Mrs. Reginald Benson, Mrs. L. V. Harris, Mrs. William E. Brinton, Mrs. F. Powers, Miss A. McGinty, Mrs. W. W. Wade, Mrs. Harry Harris, Mrs. Thelbert Rice, Mrs. Randall, Mrs. Carl Miller, Mrs. Melbourne Rice, Mrs. Joseph Langley.

Miss Mabel Harris and Miss Irma Campbell were the auditors.

The meetings were held in the Division Hall for some time following organization. Mrs. Jean MacDormand Rice was the first Chairman of Publicity Committee and reported later that news was sent in every week.

Following is a paragraph quoted from an issue of the Digby Courier published in 1920, following the organization of the Bear River Women's Institute.

"Women's Institutes are supplying a long felt need of organization, allowing its members to take up all matters pertaining to the good of the town—patriotic, social, literary and sanitary... With its large membership, it (B.R.W.I.) bids fair to become a valuable factor for the development of the Bear River community life."

In December, 1923, the Institute moved into the Masonic Reading Room to hold the meetings and remained there until a few years ago when we then moved into this building.

Among the "firsts" of the Bear River Women's Institute were:

First copies of "Home and Country" were presented in April, 1923, and the first kindergarten magazine was ordered for Oakdene School in the same year. Later other magazines were supplied for the school. School visitation was started in 1923, when two ladies, Mrs. Robillard and Mrs. Chipman Harris, visited the school for the first time. "First Aid Kits" and a flag were purchased to be used in the school.

A library was started in 1923

THE Digby Courier

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1959

with a few books and the McGill Library on order. The ladies in charge met each Saturday afternoon to loan books to those who availed themselves of this opportunity. Ten years later nearly five hundred volumes were in the library.

We have helped at serving dinners at Cherry Carnivals. We held a Gift Shoppe during Carnival Days, the proceeds of one day were given to the Fire Protection Fund for Bear River. Institute Floats have been entered in the Carnival Parades. Community Parties and a Minstrel Show have been held.

The Institute has supplied clothing to families in need on several occasions. Christmas Cheer and cards have been sent each year.

The War Memorial Fund was started in 1925 with the funds collected from the first Gift Shoppe held on Carnival Day. Flowers are placed at the base of the War Memorial each year and a wreath is purchased and placed at the Memorial on Remembrance Day each year also.

During the years since organization we have had a number of addresses and talks including: Taking the Census; Passion Play at Oberammergau; Temperance; Child Welfare; Elizabethan Garden; From Canada to Geneva; Citizenship; Spring Gardening; Cathedrals in London; Resources of Digby and Annapolis Counties. Miss Roebling gave an interesting talk on a United Nations meeting that she had attended, and Miss Schmidt told us of the work she had been doing on Primary Reading.

We have collected funds for the Digby General Hospital and also provided a bed, mattress, and breakfast tray for the Bear River Room, also linens as required. We have sponsored the collecting of jams, jellies, fruit, etc., for the hospital, as well as having a booth each year at the Hospital Fair.

Contributions of money have been made to the Provincial Home for Girls, Pelford Fund, Prisoner-of-War Fund, Home for Coloured Children, Queen's Canadian Fund, and other worthy causes.

A very considerable amount of Red Cross knitting was done through the Institute Committee. Gifts of clothing were made at our "Sewing Days" and sent to the Infant's Home in Halifax. Donations made from the Institute included the purchase of a flag for the Boy Scouts and also a gift of twenty books. We packed fifty-nine boxes for servicemen overseas during the war, also three ditty bags and a great many "Boxes for Britain" were supplied. We also assisted in the United Nations Appeal for Children.

Demonstrations at Institute meetings have included: Cooking, Sewing, Use of Alabaster, Crayon Work, Block Printing, Home Canning, Sandwich Making, Christmas Decorations, Use of Sewing Machine Attachments and others.

The Bear River Women's Institute has entertained the Rally on two occasions.

We sponsored a Tag Day for the Blind and the showing of the Nova Scotia Art Exhibit at Oakdene School.

During the past year classes were formed and a two weeks demonstration was given on Rug Hooking and Braiding. It is hoped there may be an opportunity for further classes, as this has proved a very interesting demonstration.

As our motto is, "For Home and Country" we, as an Institute, have endeavoured to do our small part in this purpose along with many other Institutes across Canada and abroad.

A MEMBER FOR 50 YEARS OLD MINUTES PRESERVED

The regular meeting of Home Division, No. 169, was held on Wed. evening, Feb. 4th, at the home of Sis. Alice Brinton. In spite of the inclement weather a goodly number were present. Bro. Rev. R. R. Winchester, of Barton, was a very welcome guest.

Sis. Leota Sanford, W. A., acted as W. P., in the absence of the W. P., Bro. Eric Kinsman.

It was noted that Sis. Blanche Woodman had completed 50 years of continuous membership in Home Division, 1908 to 1958. Sis. Woodman's grandfather, Bro. Crocker Woodman, was a member of old Union Division, No. 6, Digby. Her father, Bro. Henry Woodman, and her mother, Sis. Millie Woodman were members of Home Division. Her great uncle, Bro. Miles Woodman and Bro. Israel Woodman were charter members of Home Division. Her brothers, O. F. Woodman and the late William C. Woodman with his wife were former members of Home Division. Sis. Woodman's niece, Sis. Alice Brinton is the present W. P. of Home Division while her nephew, Bro. Clayton Woodman, is Treasurer and her sister-in-law, Sis. Leota Woodman a faithful member. Sis. Wilda Woodman is F. S. Home Division owes much of its success to the Woodman family.

Sis. Hazel Clayton reported that the old Record Book of Home Division 1860-1866 and the oldest record book of Union Division, beginning with its organization in 1848 were being sent to the Provincial Archivist where a micro film is to be taken and the book forwarded to the library of Acadia University for safe keeping.

The following programme was then rendered:

Vocal Duet - Sis. "Sue" Winchester and Bro. Rev. R. R. Winchester

Piano Solo - Sis. Frances Wallis

Reading - Sis. Geneva Adams. Reading - Sis. Hazel M. Clayton.

Two contests under the direction of Sis. Helena Comeau. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

ISSUES NEW STAMP

When the "Silver Dart" replica flies over Bras d'Or Bay on February 23 as one of the main thrills of the 50th anniversary of flying in Canada, it will carry a mailing from Prime Minister Diefenbaker to the heads of state of some 25 countries. Each piece of mail will carry the special stamp commemorating the occasion.

Several thousand new covers with the special stamp will be issued on that day from Baddeck and the world of philately is already busy making arrangements to obtain them, as each first cover will be highly prized by stamp collectors.

Plans are in the making that the mail will be specially honored on receipt in countries where the RCAF has air attaches or where Canadian representatives of External Affairs are located.

Canada's airmen are renowned the world over, and the RCAF will play a dominant role in the half century anniversary of Canada's first flight which took place in Nova Scotia.

DAIRY COWS NEED LOTS OF WATER

Each day, the average dairy cow will drink 12 or 15 gallons of water. That seems like a lot of water until one considers that a high producer may need even as much as 40 gallons, daily. The amount, of course, will vary with the temperature of the water and the amount of succulent feed in the ration.

Experiments have shown that cows have produced 3 to 4 per cent more milk when given free access to water, than when watered twice daily, and 6 to 11 per cent more than when watered once. If they have free access to water in pressure tanks and water bowls, cows will take an average of 10 drinks a day.

It is a fact, too, that they will drink more when they get warm water, in a protected place, than when they have to drink through a hole in the ice, or from an outside, unprotected tank, or brook.

It is well to remember, too that it costs less to heat water before a cow drinks it than to heat it with high priced grain, or roughage.

Our forests are a perpetual asset.

Text Neh. 4:10 "The strength of the bearers is decayed, and there is much rubbish; so that we are not able." So, too, the Christian must be on guard that the strength of his Christian witness does not decay, nor "rubbish" collect in his heart. He must:

- (1) Be sure of a good foundation.
- (2) Remember your body is the temple of the Holy Spirit.
- (3) We are all "labourers together with God".

Letters to the Editor

Box 36,
Weymouth, N. S.,
March 2, 1959.

The Editor,
The Digby Courier,
Digby, Nova Scotia.
Dear Mrs. Wallis:

The enclosed item from "The Montreal Star" was sent to me recently in a letter from my brother-in-law, Harlan Elliott, formerly of Weymouth, but now residing in Montreal, and I was wondering if some of the older residents of Weymouth could enlighten us on this subject and perhaps even identify "Maritime" for us. If so, I would appreciate hearing about it.

Yours very truly,
Maureen H. Elliott.

Can Anyone Else Recall Lettered Grass Blades?

Sir,—In the year 1917 or thereabouts as a boy on a farm in Weymouth, N. S., I distinctly recall picking blades of grass having the letter "B" imprinted as though it had been stamped there, also recall a dirigible, I believe it was the R-34, passing overhead during year 1917-1918. I wonder if any readers of letters to the Editor recall the grass incident. I'm having a time convincing friends it actually happened.

Feb. 20/59.

Digby, N. S.,
March 2, 1959.

The Editor,
Digby Courier.

Dear Mrs. Wallis:

Several months ago you published a letter from me regarding the establishment of so-called Allied Youth Posts or Clubs in schools throughout Nova Scotia, Canada, and the U.S.A., carried on under the jurisdiction of Departments of Education. I quoted the purpose and some history as given in the Allied Youth Manual. In this issue of the Courier, during Education Week, I greatly wish to add something further for the cause.

There are a good number of persons in Digby who are in support of an Allied Youth Club being established in our Digby Regional High School, and I understand it is decided, by top school authority, to plan for the establishment of such a Club beginning the next school year. I firmly believe this avenue of education for a way of life so useful in our human society today, is one of the best ways yet conceived; in fact, the growth of Allied Youth Clubs in schools is increasing throughout Canada and the U.S.A., and gaining momentum with each passing year.

The Philosopher, Santayana, wrote: "a fanatic is one who having lost sight of his aim, redoubles his efforts." Those of us who believe in the value of Allied Youth Clubs or Posts have not lost sight of our aim.

Of course, many Clubs have good aims and are good for our Canadian society, but Allied youth is one of those Clubs that aims for the highest and best for human society. Its programs are varied and interesting, and it requires of its voluntary membership that each member so long as he or she is a member does not use alcohol as a beverage.

Canada now has about a quarter million alcoholics (compulsive, addicted drinkers, who are or become enslaved to the use of beverage alcohol). This fact means, that in Canada at least one million other people are suffering in some degree, in some way, because of alcoholism; over half this problem being caused by young people starting to drink in their teens.

Most people who know the problem, believe in alcohol education through the schools, to help solve this large and growing problem. Surely this is extremely important to school teachers and other educators. Let us seriously consider that Nova Scotians now spend much more for liquor, than for education, not including the high cost of the aftermath.

Is it not so, that education, and our gaining knowledge, is good only when, by so doing, we better do the Will of God and are better neighbours one to the other; I believe A.Y. plays an important part in helping all concerned to so truly live. Decisions are not worth much unless they are founded on the understanding of the facts. Let us have the facts of beverage alcohol, in its relation to human consumption, through the media

On February 15th Mr. and Mrs. David Dukeshire observed their 60th Wedding Anniversary at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Oscar Berry. They were married at South Range, Digby County by Rev. James Porter in 1899. At that date there was lots of snow. Mrs. Dukeshire is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Marshall of Bear River, and Mr. Dukeshire is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dukeshire. They have a family of seven children, twenty-two grandchildren and three great grandchildren. They received cakes, flowers, gifts, cards and other gifts. Among those present at the Anniversary Party were their daughter Mrs. Lisle Stephens and Mr. Stephens of Saint John and Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Dukeshire, Mr. Kenneth Wamboldt and Linda of Bear River. Mr. Dukeshire, a mason by trade, followed the mason work until he retired about seventy-five years. Mr. Dukeshire is 90 years old, his wife is 78. They are quite well for their years. Mrs. Dukeshire attends to the work of the household, assisted by her daughter with whom they make their home. Until a few years ago Mrs. Dukeshire was a faithful attendant of the Mite Society of which she is still a member. Mr. Dukeshire celebrated his 90th birthday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Oscar Berry and Mr. Berry. Many friends called to extend congratulations and best wishes. Mr. Dukeshire, possessing a keen memory, takes great pleasure in relating tales of happenings years ago.

Hounddogs Make Comeback

A strong comeback by the Hounddogs Tuesday night cut the H-Bombs lead from 3-0 to a 4-2 margin. The two teams will meet again Monday night to decide the issue in the best of nine playoff series.

Monday night the Arrows, who during regular play were well down the list, eliminated the Police team with a 3-0 win. Arrows scored a 2-1 victory over Police in their first encounter in playoff competition. The Legion team Monday night increased their lead over the Sidewinders to 4-2. On Tuesday night the Outlaws also widened their lead to 4-2.

Last Thursday night the Smokeaters took a 2-1 lead over the Ravens and St. Pat's topped the Spitwhites 2-1. These four teams meet tonight in their second night's play.

Has Interesting Trips

Schulman Joseph W. Amero, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Amero, of Acadiaville, who has been serving in Soest, Germany, with the Canadian forces, recently wrote his parents and sister, Mrs. Gerald Keast, about interesting trips he has enjoyed while in Europe.

On a fifteen day leave Sgm. Amero saw a good deal of Europe. He visited Austria, Italy, France, Belgium and Holland. During his stay on the coast of Italy and the south of France he found it very warm and the beaches most inviting.

One of the high points of his trip was a visit to Venice where he said he went about on the famed gondolas. He also visited the famous gambling city of Monte Carlo in Monaco.

The most impressive part of his trip was the visit to Rome. He arrived there on the Feast of the Epiphany and while visiting at St. Peter's received the Pope's blessing. He also secured a lovely cross while in Rome and has sent it to his mother.

Altogether Sgm. Amero covered four thousand miles on his leave and returned to camp tired but very much impressed and delighted with all the wonderful sights he had seen.

More than 170,000 Canadians of all ages participated in the Water Safety programme of the Canadian Red Cross in 1958.

of active Allied Youth Posts, well established in our schools throughout our nation and others as well, whereas the problem is, in fact, a national and international one, for home, school, and church, and most effectively controlled through properly organized and active school Clubs, under the authority of Departments of Education.

Presbytery Meets In Bridgetown

Annapolis Presbytery met in the United Church in Bridgetown on February 19th. Rev. C. H. Gough presided. The secretary, Rev. D. S. MacLeod, led the devotions, giving a brief address on "Keeping Lent". Fifteen ministers from other churches are seeking admission to the United Church of Canada.

Rev. Dr. Godfrey, Home Mission Superintendent, was present and spoke on the diversified work in Canada supported by the Church — 53 institutional agencies for the care of the needy are supplied; 1785 new churches, church halls and manse have been built in the last 10 years — a new church or hall being built at the rate of one every 4 1/2 days. He commended the churches for their splendid response to the church's policy for an increase in ministers' salaries. High praise was given the Kingston charge on becoming independent.

Rev. James Brooks, for the Missionary and Maintenance Committee, reported a very successful year — an increase of 14% over last year and all charges showing an increase. He urged that all consider carefully their missionary giving and strive to exercise true stewardship.

Excellent reports were given on the college work of candidates William Brooks and John Fraser.

The statistical report given by the Secretary showed a year of progress along many lines. Of special interest was a considerable increase in insurance on church property.

Mrs. Banks, of Kingston, announced that a Presbytery Women's Association had been formed and asked for support for this new endeavor.

Guest Honoured On Birthday

Mrs. Edward Young and Mrs. Walter Wood, of Brighton, entertained delightfully at their home, "Brookside," on Thursday afternoon, February 26th, in honor of the birthday of their guest, Mr. Ralph Abbott. Mr. Abbott, a former "Digby boy," has a fund of interesting recollections to tell of his experiences as a young man in the Yukon Gold Rush, and of his travels to many parts of the world. For many years he lived in Vancouver, and although he now makes his home in the east, he still crosses the continent at frequent intervals to spend several months on the west coast. It is understood from an unimpeachable source that these journeys are for the purpose of bringing back a portion of the mid-west coast climate to transplant here in the east. Although Mr. Abbott feels he has not had quite the success in doing this that he had hoped for, he has not given up the project entirely.

His courtesy and thoughtfulness to all guests in Mr. Abbott's home is a joy to all who visit him. Many more pleasurable birthdays.

Publishes Poems

Louis O. Cox, Minneapolis, who with Mrs. Cox and family spends his summers at his summer home in Digby, has published his third book of poems, "The Wilderness". Quoting from Samuel French Morse, who reviewed the book, "The Wilderness," defines the range and depth of his talent as spare not austere, sober but energetic and exact.

It tells the story of an abortive Indian expedition led by a Jesuit priest against an English settlement in Maine at the beginning of the eighteenth century. Based, apparently, on the accounts of Charlevoix and Parkman, "The Wilderness" is something more than a period piece or a historical reconstruction. It is, in this sense, like Robert Penn Warren's "Brother to Dragons," an imaginative recreation of history, interrupted from time to time by commentaries that serve to sharpen perspective and relates the story to our own age. The scale of Cox's poem, however, is much smaller; it runs to no more than a thousand lines. Even so, by contemporary standards, "The Wilderness" is a long poem, and it is Cox's most impressive work to date.

The short poems sometimes seem to be versions of one poem, partly because Cox, who teaches at Bowdoin College in Maine, writes almost exclusively about the northern New England landscape and seascapes in dark colors and between seasons.

Ravens Take Series 15-14

Despite a desperate comeback bid by the Union Pontiacs in the second game of a home and home total goal series in Pictou Monday night, the Digby Ravens won the series by a total score of 15-14. The Ravens took the opener in Digby Saturday night by a 10-1 score but dropped the second game 13-5.

In Monday night's game the score was tied two-all at the end of the first but the Pontiacs put on an all-out drive in the second to tally six while holding the Ravens to a singleton, making the score 8-3 at the end of the middle frame.

The Ravens tallied two more in the final while Pontiacs racked up five more to make the total 13-5.

Gas Truck Overturns

Marks 100th Birthday

Little River in Digby county was the scene of a gala party on Saturday when residents of the village and friends and relatives from many miles around gathered at the home of Mrs. Cynthia Denton to help her celebrate her one hundredth birthday.

Despite the fact she has reached the century mark, Mrs. Denton is still active and takes great pride in looking after her own household. Prior to the party she scrubbed the floors in her home and dusted in preparation for the event. She regularly entertains church groups and thoroughly enjoys visits from her many friends.

On the occasion of her one hundredth birthday the Philaethea Class and Auxiliary of the Little River Baptist church, of which she has long been an active and interested member, entertained in Mrs. Denton's honour. In charge of the party was Mrs. Lyndon Collins of Little River, assisted by Mrs. Oakley Turnbull, Digby, and Mrs. Lloyd McNeill, Marshalltown. Mrs. Woodrow Brown of Milton, a former resident of Little River, poured. Guests were present from Digby and distant Nova Scotia points.

Centre of the banquet table for the party was a beautifully decorated birthday cake. The cake, ordered by the sponsors of the party from a nearby bakery, was decorated by the birthday girl when they found it was for a centenarian's birthday. Dozens of bouquets of flowers were received from relatives and friends, many from far and parts and telegrams, telephone calls and letters were received from a host of well-wishers.

Among the congratulatory telegrams received was one from Queen Elizabeth, one from Prime Minister, Diefenbaker, and one from Premier Stanfield. A certificate was received from the government of Nova Scotia and letters were received from the Hon. M. S. Leonard and Hon. G. C. Nowlan. Ronald Morehouse, warden of Digby municipality, telephoned his best wishes and Dr. J. R. McCleave and Mrs. McCleave of Digby, long-time friends of Mrs. Denton, were among her visitors on the occasion of her birth day.

Many beautiful gifts were received by Mrs. Denton to mark her arrival at the century mark and included in these was a large purse of money.

Mrs. Denton is the former Cynthia Trask, daughter of the late Thomas and Chloe Trask of Little River. She was one of a family of thirteen of whom four are still living and attend the party. She was the first person married in the Little River Baptist Church following its erection and was married by the Rev. Dr. J. C. Morse who was the church pastor for 65 years.

Mrs. Denton's husband, Howard Denton, predeceased her some years ago as did her only child, Flora Denton, who was a graduate in arts from Acadia and married the late Dr. James Melbourne Shortliffe, a native of Freeport in Digby county and for many years Professor at Colgate University, New York.

Total age of Mrs. Denton and her three sisters at her one hundredth birthday party is 367 years. Mrs. Denton is one hundred, her sister Martha (Mrs. Edgar Denton) is 97, another sister Laleah (Mrs. Burton Frost) is 90 and the baby of the family, Annie (Mrs. Harley Ingersoll) is a mere 80. All except Mrs. Ingersoll have been lifelong residents of Little River.

During the party Mrs. Denton delighted those present with her

Digby Woman Has Close Call

Digby firemen, police and townspeople working hand in hand with the aid of a wrecking truck Monday night managed to save the life of Mrs. Evelyn Outhouse after her car crashed through the Racquette Bridge into the water below.

The accident occurred as Mrs. Outhouse was returning home sometime after ten o'clock Monday evening. The car skidded on the pavement and crashed through the bridge railing, landing on its roof in about five feet of water. A passerby saw the accident and summoned help.

When police and a fire department rescue team arrived only two or three inches of breathing space was left for Mrs. Outhouse who was trapped in the overturned car. After some effort a chain was secured to the car and it was pulled into reach and the door pried open and Mrs. Outhouse removed.

It is fortunate the tide was not fully in when the accident occurred or little could have been done to save the occupant of the car. The fire department rescue squad did an excellent job as did all others who assisted in the rescue work.

Mrs. Outhouse suffered little ill effects from her close brush with death and returned home next day after an overnight stay in the hospital.

Fire Devours Easton Home

A disastrous fire on February 20th completely destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mullen in Easton. Only a few items of furniture and personal belongings were saved from the flames.

The fire started in the ceiling near a stove pipe and by the time it was noticed the upstairs of the house was so filled with smoke it was impossible to get up. Mr. Mullen tried to fight the blaze with a hose but could not make any headway.

All of the clothing of Mr. and Mrs. Mullen and their son, Ross, except what they were wearing at the time, was destroyed by the fire as well as many valuable personal belongings, including a number of firearms and a quantity of money.

Mrs. Mullen was overcome by the smoke while trying to rescue some of her belongings and had to be helped from the burning home.

Through the assistance of friends and neighbours household articles were gathered together and by the next week Mr. and Mrs. Mullen were able to move into a temporary home which they will occupy until Mr. Mullen can build on the cellar of the former home. There was no insurance.

Entertains Hospital Aid

Mrs. D. C. Black was hostess Monday night at her home on Queen St. to the Ladies Hospital Aid. Assisting Mrs. Black were Mrs. Mel Thurber and Mrs. John Abramson.

It was announced by the president, Mrs. A. J. Dillon, that the Hospital Fair this year would be in charge of the Ladies Aid with the Hospital Board and others assisting.

The evening took the form of an auction when $38.00 was raised. Auctioneers were Mrs. J. M. Wallis and Mrs. Mel Thurber.

Mrs. Wallis was lucky prize winner for the evening and Mrs. Abramson won the prize the previous meeting.

keen wit, her amusing recollections of past events and the vivacious manner in which she joined in with the festivities. A steady stream of visitors called at her home beginning on Thursday to extend their best wishes and Mrs. Denton had a cheery greeting and some reminiscences to exchange with all of them.

To Build New Motel

W. L. Troupe of Digby was given permission to erect a two story, thirteen unit motel, complete with lounge, restaurant and manager's quarters on his property on Montague Row at the regular meeting of the town council here Monday night. The new motel will be located on the site of the Manhattan Hotel, longtime noted Digby summer hotel, timbers used in the construction of which were brought here with the Loyalist settlers in 1783.

A building permit was also issued to A. N. Harris to construct a home on his property at 2nd Avenue. Sheriff's Office was also given permission to renovate and repair their store front.

The 1959 assessment roll, adopted at the meeting, showed a total net assessment for the year of $3,646,070. Real property assessment is $2,766,070 and personal $907,525. Exemptions total $99,825. The 1959 total assessment was $3,462,435.

It was decided at the meeting the town of Digby would adopt Daylight Saving Time from 12:01 April 26th to 12:01 October 25th this year.

Notice was given by Councilor W. F. Mulse he would introduce an amendment to the town by-laws relating to junk yards at a later meeting of the council. It is understood the amendment would in effect rule out the operation of such yards within the town.

At a meeting of the health board following the council session a by-law prohibiting the sale of un-pasteurized milk in the town of Digby was adopted. The by-law will take effect after approval by provincial authorities on April 1st.

in the LEGISLATURE

present tonight since our last report on the legislature was the visit of Sir Howard d'Evville, Secretary-General of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association. He spoke to the legislative assembly for half an hour and outlined the purpose and progress of that group. Due to train delay, unfortunately, Sir Howard was unable to attend Speaker W. S. Kennedy Jones' buffet dinner in the Red Chamber so he was accorded the full privilege of the house the following afternoon. He felt meetings of the Commonwealth Association could be stepped up from once every two years to once a year.

Jerome Barnum Associates' on the N. S. Liquor Commission shows the Barnum improved methods and an annual savings of $200,000. We already know how the Barnum space rearrangement eliminated the re-employment. The Royal Gazette operation has been turned from an annual loss of roughly $6,000 to a potential gain of $5,000 each year. About $100,000 a year is lopped from the operating deficit of the Victoria General Hospital; a new cost accounting system has been instituted and other administrative recommendations will make the entire situation much more efficient.

The Premier went along with a Liberal suggestion that the house not meet on Monday so members could attend "The Silver Dart" 50th Anniversary of powered flight at Baddeck. It has been government intention to make this arrangement, as he explained when the matter was brought up on the floor by Dr. C. L. MacMillan from Victoria.

On re-convening of the house after the weekend, the opposition asked for an adjournment of the throne speech debate on Tuesday evening, and Mr. Stanfield offered no resistance. However their request to discuss coal as an emergency measure was considered unnecessary in the light of the importance given it in the throne speech and subsequent debates.

Mr. Stanfield reported that he had been in close liaison with Ottawa but there had been no report on additional subventions at that time. The next day he called Ottawa again to ensure that the matter was being given priority study. That is how the matter continues to stand at the moment.

Trade and Industry Minister Manson expressed confidence in the future of coal and told Opposition critics that prior to Industrial Estates Ltd. there Tory Whip Dr. J. A. Langille said the accusation of Opposition Leader Hicks about certain personnel being appointed to jobs with Lands & Forests was unfair. He denied the accusation Hicks early in the session. He said he regretted that statements were made in the house when the men concerned were unable to defend themselves.

George Lohnes of Lunenburg Centre called for a fresh approach on "back to the farm", with accent on land reclamation. He said a diversified program of farming is what is called for today. Jim Harding of Shelburne asked that consideration be given to the building of several wooden patrol vessels for the protection of inshore fishermen and he launched another bill in relation of chiropractic.

Labour Minister Pyke spoke of 1600 jobs being created under the winter-works program and gave indication that a new mine may be opened in Springhill in the near future which may provide work for up to 200 miners of that stricken community.

The house is proceeding well with committees functioning regularly and work is progressing as rapidly as possible.

Advertising

A business transaction is good only if it benefits all parties involved.

Pyne's Market advertising is a case in point.

Every week we buy space in the Digby Courier which serves the community our store caters to.

This is good for the newspaper, for it helps supply the revenue they need in order to give good news service to their readers.

It's good for our customers because it gives them honest information about the quality foods available in our store that week and the low prices charged.

It's good for us because when people read about the fine values available at Pyne's it makes them want to come to our store to do their shopping.

For many years, we at Pyne's Market have worked constantly to increase the efficiency of our operations in order to give the people of Digby and district more food for their money.

Through newspaper advertising, this efficiency is translated into better living for hundreds of families. It enables them to eat better and save money.

This is the kind of business that is good business . . . good for the newspaper, good for the customer and good for us.

...says so much about your own good taste!

A car is very personal. It tells much about its owner. And this is truer of Buick than any other car. Its long, sweeping lines, accented by a restrained use of chrome, reveal your appreciation of the very best in design. This is, indeed, the finest of automobiles. Drive it . . . and let your own good taste decide.

HAS SUCCESSFUL YEAR

On February 18th the annual business meeting of the Weymouth North-Ashmore United Baptist Churches was held at the parsonage.

Although the roads were very slippery and it was rather a stormy night, a good representation of both churches was on hand for the occasion.

Rev. A. M. Rogerson, who was appointed chairman, opened the meeting with prayer.

Since the meeting a year ago the old parsonage had been destroyed by fire and a new modern one erected on the old cellar.

Reports showed that extensive repairs had been made on the church at Ashmore during the past year.

Very encouraging reports were heard from the Sunday School, Ladies Sewing Circle, and the Fellowship, which is the weekly prayer service.

The reports of all other organizations of the church showed a very successful year.

Little League Hockey News

The eleventh session of the Digby Little League got underway on February 28, at 9:00 a.m. when action began, as usual, in the Pee Wee league.

The once cellar dwelling Bruins continued their undefeated way when D. VanTassel, unassisted, rapped in the quickest goal of the season. They continued their all out effort to top the league when D. VanTassel, assisted by R. Cook, scored again. The Canadians then settled down and played the kind of hockey which has made them one of the top contenders all season. B. Richards scored unassisted to put the Canadians back into contention. W. Snow scored the equalizer, assisted by Richards and F. Ayer. The game ended in a 2-2 tie.

At 9:30 the Black Hawks tangled with the Red Wings. They opened the game as if they meant business when at the start Hawks' D. Wood scored unassisted. This lead, however, was short lived, when Red Wings' G. Robinson rapped in the equalizer, also unassisted. In a game of many chances, no one else scored and the game ended in a 1-1 tie.

Bantam League action began at 10 a.m. when the Millionaires shut out the Rangers 5-0. Millionaires' scorers were: R. Wolf (unassisted), C. Wagner (R. Trefry), R. Wolf (B. Olson, C. Wagner), R. Wolf (B. Olson, C. Wagner) and C. Wagner (R. Trefry).

The last game of the morning was a repetition of the first when the Millionaires shut out the Maple Leafs 4-0. R. Wolf scored a hat trick, two unassisted and one assisted by C. Wagner. The Millionaires' fourth goal was by C. Wagner, assisted by B. Olson and R. Wolf.

The twelfth Little League session of the season got underway on Saturday, March 7, and opened with the Pee Wee Bruins edging the Black Hawks by a score of 5-4. D. VanTassel, of the Bruins, netted all his team's goals. Assists on these were by: first, Manning, second, Manning, third, Cook, fourth, Manning, fifth, Cook and Manning.

Black Hawks' D. Wood also scored all his team's goals. His first was unassisted, his second was assisted by B. Neville, his third and fourth by S. Doucette.

The second game of the morning saw the league leading Canadians post their second tie in two weeks in a see-saw battle with the Red Wings.

Canadians opened the score when W. Snow (B. Richards) tallied. The Red Wings were not long in evening things up when T. Sabean (M. Surette, B. Burnham) scored. W. Snow (F. Ayer, J. Ayer) put the Canadians back in front. G. Robinson (unassisted) snatched the game out of the fire for the Red Wings and gave each team a point on the table of league standings.

In the Bantam League, the Maple Leafs found themselves on the wrong end of a 6-0 shut-out when they opened Bantam action for the morning by playing the Millionaires. R. Wolf got his second hat trick in a row and after C. Wagner, assisted by G. Hodgson, got number four, the game ended. As

Ages Total 367 Years

(Cynthia) aged 100; Mrs. Edgar Denton (Martha) aged 97 and Mrs. Burton Frost (Laleah) aged 90. With the exception of Mrs. Ingersoll, who spent 28 years in Grand Manan, all have spent their lifetime in Little River. All are daughters of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Denton and are the survivors of a family of thirteen.

Present Easter Program

The Easter Thankoffering meeting of Grace United W.M.S. was held in the church hall on Friday with the president, Mrs. Burton Fleet, presiding.

Mrs. Fleet led the worship entitled "Rejoicing in Hope", assisted by Mrs. John Abramson. A reading, "He Is Not Here, He Is Risen" was presented by Mrs. James Brooks. Two vocal numbers were rendered when Misses Carolyn Arnold and Marilyn Atkinson sang an Easter duet and when Mrs. J. M. Wallis rendered the vocal solo "Why Weepst Thou?", accompanied on the violin by Mrs. Elton Arnold and on the piano by Miss Janet Corkum.

Speaks On Parents' Role

"Schools can help a child insofar as his parents help him to be himself, to see himself as a capable person and a good and worthwhile person", stated Mrs. J. M. C. Duckworth, past president of the Nova Scotia federation of Home and School, in an education week address here Wednesday evening.

Speaking before an audience of more than three hundred parents, from the area served by the Digby regional high school, Mrs. Duckworth stated that school is only an extension of the home and the teacher an extension of the parent. "The child's education is still basically the parents' responsibility," she said.

Parents organized into communities have turned over certain aspects of education to the schools, Mrs. Duckworth said, but even these aspects can be better achieved if parents retain a partnership with the teachers. Parents, she said, must try to develop a proper understanding of their children's needs and set certain standards for these children in their homes.

In their partnership with the teachers parents should work to provide the proper home atmosphere conducive to study. They must help to get it across to the children that study is real work and help the children to realize it must be taken seriously, she said. To do this the parent must understand for themselves the purposes of homework, she said. They must understand how the child's capacity for and scope of home-work changes over the years.

Deficit Increases

A total deficit of $958.53 faced the Local Association Victorian Order of Nurses as they heard the report of the treasurer for the end of February at the regular meeting held at the Court House on Tuesday. The meeting was presided over by John R. Nichols, newly elected president.

Against the deficit, the treasurer, Mrs. H. R. Bishop, reported a sum of $200 had been received from the local Tuberculosis Association and approximately $43.00 from a recent pantry sale. This, of course, will be offset by the current expenses for March with unexpected revenue for the month.

The April fund raising committee was appointed as follows: Rev. Father Amoro, Mrs. Robert Bearne, Mrs. D. G. Black, Rev. James Brooks and Mrs. Thomas Deveau. The committee for June was named as Mrs. H. R. Bishop, John Nichols, Mrs. J. W. Christie and Mrs. Fritz Dakin, subject to their approval. These would take care of the annual June membership drive.

It was pointed out by the committee that the present car was becoming expensive to operate and consideration to the purchasing of a new car should be given. The Board at its meeting on Tuesday requested the committee to investigate possibilities of makes and prices of cars, meet with the finance committee on the methods of financing and a joint report be presented to the board at the April meeting. On the car committee are Stanley MacDonald, Rev. Father Amoro and Fritz Dakin. (Please turn to page 10)

Education Week Marked In Clare

A special Education Week program was sponsored by the Clare council of the Home and School Association at the Clare District High School. All Home and School branches in Clare as well as the two service clubs, the Lions Club of Meteghan and the Richelieu Club of Church Point, the clergy school board and the Clare municipal council, had their representatives taking part in the program.

A colloquy was organized by Inspector of Schools J. Alphonse Comeau, Meteghan River, the topic being: "What Are We Attempting To Do For Our Youth?" Those participating were: Rev. Louis Comeau, St. Alphonse, spiritual director of the high school, Prof. Willie Belliveau, president of the municipal school board, Stanislaus d'Entremont, principal of the high school, Dr. Julius Comeau, Meteghan, representing the Lions Club, Marcel Valotaire, bank manager, Church Point, and president of the newly organized Richelieu Club and Gerard d'Entremont, president of the Clare Chamber of Commerce, Meteghan Station.

St. Ann's College, Church Point, took an active part in the Education Week program. The college band furnished entertainment for the group with several selections which were enthusiastically applauded. Several members of the teaching staff of the college also were in attendance. The high school choral group under the direction of Alain Doucet of the teaching staff rendered two numbers.

William Deveau, president of the Clare council of the Home and School Association, spoke a few words and was master of ceremonies for the evening. He suggested that all Home and School branches in Clare bring the matter up at their next meeting, suggesting that a central Home and School branch be organized for the Clare District High School or that a portion of the meetings during the year of the different branches be held jointly at the high school. This matter will be dealt with according to the suggestions received from the different branches at the spring rally.

Maurice Belliveau, regional vice-president of the Nova Scotia Home and School Federation of Argyle and Clare in Yarmouth and Digby Counties, spoke on the importance of study in all programs of the local meetings.

Still More "B's"

Those perplexing B's on grain foliage about which a correspondent wrote a week or so ago were evidently quite common during the latter part of the first world war.

Mrs. Rachel Amoro, of Plympton, told the Courier this week she had seen hundreds of them on barley foliage during 1918. She said she had also seen a good many stalks of barley which bore not only the letter "B" but also the letter "V".

She said the common interpretation of the two letters in 1918 was that they meant "British Victory".

Tie Up Festival Details

Managing details of the Festival to be held on April 20, 21 and 22 occupied the minds of the Digby Music Festival committee at the meeting held on Saturday in Digby. The meeting was presided over by the president, Elton Arnold. Robert Taylor was named to take care of the program advertising, and Mrs. J. M. Wallis press publicity.

Entries for the music festival were coming in with satisfaction according to the president, Mr. Arnold. The deadline, he stated, was March 15.

On the executive committee with Mr. Arnold are past president, Mrs. Curtis Hankinson, Weymouth; vice-president, E. J. Theriault, Digby; secretary, Mrs. Gordon Campbell, Weymouth; treasurer, Mrs. A. J. Dillon, Digby; Syllabus committee, Mrs. Elton Arnold, Digby; program committee, Mrs. Dan Hankinson, Weymouth.

CORRECTION

We regret the error in last week's issue of The Digby Courier when the picture of Mrs. Cornelius Simpson mistakenly accompanied the story of the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. David Dukeshire. These pictures are found in this issue of The Courier with their correct copy.

Restaurant Proprietor

Digby Curlers Down Middleton

Three rinks of the Digby Curling Club came from behind here last Wednesday night in the second match of a home and home, interclub total point series with the Middleton curling club to win the series by a wide margin. Middleton entered last night's play with a 2-plus edge.

Scoring in Wednesday night's play here was:
Digby — J. Rosenthal, L. F. Doiron, R. Graham, R. McPherson, 14; Middleton A. Marshall, D. Scott, L. Mingo, C. Becher — 7.
Digby — Ern Tufts, T. Miller,

Support Appeal For Ferry

The Digby Board of Trade signified its support for efforts currently underway to have a boat service established between New York and Yarmouth at the regular monthly meeting here Tuesday night.

After a discussion of the matter it was decided to send a telegram to Trade and Industry minister A. E. Manson urging government support for the proposed new venture.

Speakers at the meeting stressed the need for increased local interest in the trade board and it was decided to organize a campaign to build up membership.

Considerable discussion featured the session concerning standing committees and the opinion was expressed the board should concentrate its main efforts at this time on industrial development.

Board president Twohig stated he favoured a strong industrial committee willing to put a great deal of work on industrial promotion. Such a committee, he said, would not be an "idea" committee but one which would be required to put in a lot of effort writing letters, seeking out information and making contacts that might lead to industrial expansion. A long term effort would be required, he said, and stated the committee would have to be prepared to see much of their effort unproductive of quick results.

Five Teams Eliminated

Five teams have now been eliminated in the opening rounds of the playoff series in the Digby Bowling League.

Monday night the H-Bombs took the measure of the Hound-dogs in a thrilling string which saw a narrow lead move back and forth between the two teams until the tenth box when a spare by Tupper Smith put the game on ice for the H-Bombs. On Monday night, play of the Outlaws put the final run to the Rustlers, and on Tuesday evening the Smokeaters took a close 3-pin win to eliminate the Ravens. St. Pat's also took the Spitwhits out of the running. The Arrows eliminated the Police on Thursday night of last week.

Only teams left to play in the opening round of the playoffs are the Legion and Sidewinders. In this battle Legion has a two point edge with the score now 4-2.

The next round of the playoffs starts Monday night when H-Bombs meet the Outlaws.

Endorses Red Cross Campaign

"When you contribute to the Canadian Red Cross, you share in the great humanitarian work carried on by it."

So said the Hon. Robert L. Stanfield, Premier of Nova Scotia, in endorsing the annual campaign for funds to be held during March.

Premier Stanfield, Honorary President of the Nova Scotia Division, Canadian Red Cross Society, added personal wishes for success in the campaign.

"The Red Cross has been for many years the symbol of mercy when disaster strikes in any part of the world," the Premier pointed out.

"The work of the Red Cross Society in disaster areas is well known, but less well known are many other functions performed by it. In the Province of Nova Scotia the Red Cross Society carried on a free blood transfusion service, and 32,000 bottles of blood were distributed to the hospitals of this Province in the year 1958. The blood was generously contributed by volunteer donors, but the total cost to the Society of this service was two hundred thousand dollars.

"During the month of March the Canadian Red Cross Society, Nova Scotia Division, will appeal to the people of Nova Scotia for the sum of $199,200.00, so that its services may be continued. I endorse the Canadian Red Cross Society and urge all Nova Scotians to acquaint themselves with the work being carried on in this Province by the Society and then to give it their generous financial support," the Premier concluded.

DFD ACTIVITIES

The regular meeting of the Department was held last Wednesday with regular business coming before the meeting. One application was read and acted upon, that of Carl Warner being accepted and placed on the waiting list until a vacancy occurs. This gives the department three men waiting to take on active duties when a vacancy permits.

A report was received from the Rescue team who received their "A" course at Annapolis recently.

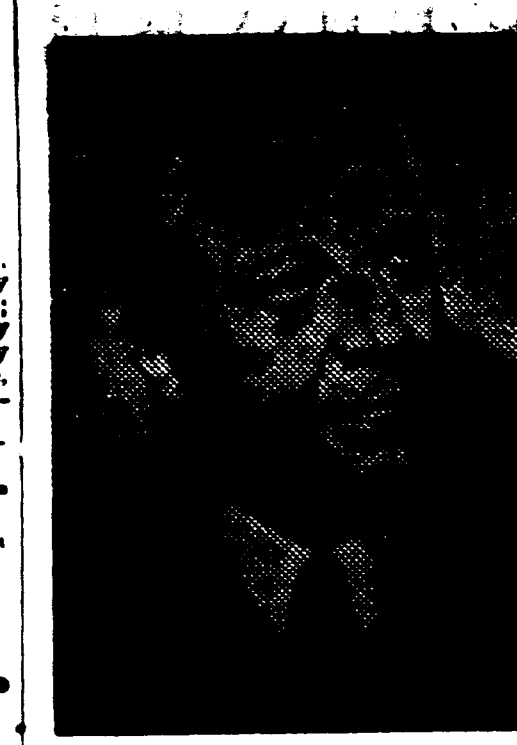

Plans are under way for a social evening for the Department and their friends under the chairmanship of Charles Hall. Plans for this event are progressing very well.

Some eighteen members are taking First Aid training along with three members from Bear River Fire Department. They have just completed their second week.

The meeting also saw donations made to the Little League Hockey Club, the Digby Ravens' Hockey Club and the annual donation for maintenance of the Firemen's Room in the hospital. Monday night plans were completed for the Ice Carnival which takes place at the Forum on Monday night, the 16th. The program will feature two princely contests from which will be chosen two attendants for the Snow Queen who will also be chosen and which is something new for the show this year. It was felt that this should give the age group in between the 10 year old and the older ages of sixteen and up some contest which normally is not held in this area. The costume parade is expected to bring in its usual number of entries for (Please turn to page 10)

Report From Parliament Hill

Hon. George C. Nowlan.

Parliament has been sitting in the present House of Commons for over thirty years but the building has not been completed yet. Those of you who have visited Parliament Hill will have noticed the most ornate carvings along the corridors and in the Chambers of the Senate and of the House of Commons. But very often with in a few feet of these carvings there are huge square blocks of stone which project rather crudely through the walls and partitions. The plan is that every one of these will some day be carved to match the carvings which have already been done. This includes the Coats of Arms of the various Provinces, the various countries of the Commonwealth, scrolls, floral designs and replicas of both allegorical and natural animals. Included with the latter, though not to be confused with them, are the faces of the Members of Parliament, of the Senate, and of the Press Gallery, who have since departed this life and now stare coldly down at the corridors along which they one time walked. It is estimated that this work will go on in a leisurely pace for many more years. In fact, it has been suggested that it will be fifty years before the work is finally completed. I wonder what kind of a world we will be living in when the last stone is carved. In any event as soon as the House rises at ten o'clock each night from Monday till Friday, the sound of the pneumatic drills echo through the corridors as a team of carvers mount their slender steel scaffolds and work from ten o'clock until five o'clock in the morning; then the staff clean up the dust and the debris and the parliamentary routine resumes for another day.

It was rather appropriate that the Debate on the CF-105, the Arrow, took place on the Fiftieth Anniversary of the flight of the Silver Dart at Baddeck, the first airplane flight in Canada. I wonder how many noticed the common factor which characterized that flight and which played a prominent part in the Debate. The Aeronautical Association which developed the early plane consisted of five men. Alexander Graham Bell, a Scotsman who had become an American citizen, two other American citizens and two Canadians. Casey Baldwin and the Honourable J. A. D. MacCurdy. There were four planes produced at that time. There were all built in the United States, three were flown there, and the Silver Dart was transported by freight car from New York to Cape Breton. All of the bills were paid by that sterling American citizen, Alexander Graham Bell. The plane was flown by a Canadian. In other words, the same type of cooperation between the American and the Canadians existed at that time as will exist now in the defence of Canada and this Continent. I wonder if there were any editorials then complaining that Canada was losing her national sovereignty?

The problem confronting the Coal Industry is, of course, the most serious one insofar as our Province is concerned. In this connection one or two figures might be of interest. In 1958 Canada burned 5,000,000 tons less coal than it burned the preceding year and there was a drop in consumption of 17,000,000 tons between 1919 and 1958. In that period the production of Canadian coal has dropped 6,000,000 tons and the importation of American coal has dropped 10,000,000 tons. One of the short time factors which aggravates the situation is the surplus electrical power. This is due in part to new Hydro Plants having been developed in Quebec, in part to excessive rain and snow falls during the past two years, and, in part, to a falling off in the demand for electrical energy, particularly in the pulp and paper industry and in the aluminum industry. This surplus electrical power has been fed into electrical furnaces to create steam rather than using coal. In 1957 there was the equivalent of 67,000 tons of coal used in electrical furnaces almost entirely in the Province of Quebec. In the last six months of 1958 the equivalent of 226,000 tons of coal was fed into electrical furnaces and steam thereby generated. It is assumed that within the next year or two this surplus electrical energy will again be diverted into its usual channels and coal or oil or gas will be used for the generation of that steam. Despite all these cutbacks employment in the Nova Scotia coal fields has been maintained at a much higher level than in any other coal producing area in either North America or Europe.

The Debate on External Affairs took place this week. As usual, it was a depressing Debate. One seems surrounded by black clouds with impending crisis just ahead of us. The only encouragement is that the same tone has been sounded in every Debate since I have been in the House of Commons for the last ten years. Each year it seems as if some insurmountable crisis was just ahead of us. Each year that has been surmounted and we have carried on. Probably that in itself is good ground for optimism in that the more crisis we overcome, the longer we have survived without conflict, the more likely it is that we will continue to do so.

About This and That

We Are So Poor! Or, Are We?

For those who do not know and who might be interested some people around Digby had dipped into their pockets to the total extent of $349,136.75 for various forms of alcoholic drinks in the year ending March, 1958. This represents $3,557 more than in the previous year. It's a lot of money! Compare it with the figures representing what has been spent on the restoration of health, prevention of disease, education, Christianity and other means of uplifting our society. Three hundred and forty-five thousand one hundred and thirty-six dollars and seventy-five cents represents a lot of money put to no good purpose. No, no Mr. — let us not prompt a letter on the subject at this time. They have a tendency to get so long and rambling and tiresome and argumentative. But please, Mr. Public, don't complain about the state of our economy. We can't be poor!

To the above figures add $187,397.02 spent in Weymouth (this figure is $7667 less than the previous year) and $176,022.82 in Meteghan ($1,005 more than the year before) and we arrive at a total of $712,556.59 spent in Digby County in one year on alcoholic drinks. True this is $3,105 less than the year ending March 1957 but it is still a lot of money. Think what the same amount would do in building construction which would stand for use in years to come. The hundreds of thousands spent on alcoholic drink is repeated year after year and is not even being used for the maintenance of the human bodies which consume it. It can scarcely represent anything but waste. That same amount of money could do a great deal of good if it were put to some constructive use. Maybe some day we'll find the better use — like additional hospital accommodation or something.

Fifteen-Year Death

It was an obituary that really set you to thinking: "Local man, age 36, dies after 15 years in hospital, following auto accident in which he was totally disabled."

Fifteen years of staring at the same ceiling, 180 months of complete dependence upon others; 780 weeks of hope-erosion with expenses towering to crowd everything else off the sky-line, 5475 days of waiting for the night; 5475 nights of waiting for the day; 131,400 hours of four walls, fading flowers, medicinal smells, useless sympathy, 7,884,000 minutes of vegetation with roots withering in hopelessness, spirit shrinking in stagnation.

473,040,000 seconds of DEATH BEFORE BURIAL — and probably because of some little fault that you might be committing, every day of your driving life. Such as failure to glance to left and right, or forgetting to check your rear view mirror. Squeezing one more trip out of bald tires. Crowding the car ahead. Leaning on luck in a blind spot. Trying to average 60 on a 50 mph road, or in 50 mph conditions. Or just plain blind assumption that the other driver will do the right thing.

Death at 36 — after 15 years of dying. Within that period of time a man usually marries, has a family, climbs upward in the world, travels, plays, begins to mature, enjoy a million sights, sounds, sensations. Over these same 15 years, this man was a castaway on a lonely bed-island. He absorbed tasteless food, slept a desperate sleep, suffered, cursed, cried, felt the bitterness kink his insides into knots at such ordinary sounds as laughter, free footsteps and hearty talk.

For every person who dies in traffic smashups, many others spend agonizing weeks, months, life-times of disability. You risk this as well as a quick ending when you commit those "little" driving errors. Do you realize this? Do you KNOW what errors are yours, and what you must do to correct them?

From now until Spring, road conditions are made even more hazardous by fog, sleet, snow and ice. Drive with care. —Liverpool Advance

Freedom Of The Press

(Pictou Advocate)
Prime Minister John Diefenbaker, sometimes accused of a dictatorial attitude toward his cabinet and party leaders, told directors of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association there was no fear of dictatorship in Canada as long as the community newspapers of the country carried on their traditions.

Addressing a dinner gathering in Ottawa, with a number of his ministers and members of parliament present, he paid a warm tribute to the editors.

He went on to say that the importance of the freedom of the press had been impressed upon him during his world tour. In many countries he found news of Canada and other western nations misinterpreted or deliberately slanted. Thus the people of those countries had an entirely distorted view of the policies, habits and intentions of Canadians. The problem of reaching these people with the truth was serious, for they were faced with a controlled press.

Mr. Diefenbaker added that he would like to see the newspapers of Canada devote more space to political affairs. He said the newspapers of the British Isles, although restricted to size, carried a much greater proportion of government and political news.

It is heartening to hear an appreciation of freedom of the press, which generally is taken all too lightly. Actually, there can be no understanding between nations until wider freedom of the press is achieved.

Renovates And Remodels Restaurant

A splendid job of renovating and remodelling the premises of the Fundy Restaurant on Digby's main street has been done by its owner, Mr. W. V. Troupe (shown above).

Mr. Troupe, who took over ownership of the restaurant previously known as Roy's Snack Bar in September, 1957, began at once to change the decor and interior appointments of the restaurant to improve its appearance and its operation.

One of the first changes made by Mr. Troupe was in the kitchen and catering departments where equipment and surroundings were modernized to permit faster service and improved food handling conditions.

Changes were also made in the restaurant dining room where a complete alteration of the layout was carried out to make the surroundings more attractive and to create a better atmosphere. Former booths were removed and in their place modern, low backed booths, finished in holly red leather, were installed with tables covered in smart platinum walnut arborite.

The dining room floor space was also enlarged and a picture window installed, permitting a fine view of the Annapolis Basin. Throughout the whole dining area the colour combination of holly red, white and green was carried out and tile flooring installed, giving the restaurant a smart and up-to-date appearance. Counter space was increased and the counter topped and faced with arborite.

As the modernization program in the interior of the restaurant was proceeding a program of modernizing equipment was also in progress. A modern, stainless steel rotisseries for barbecuing chicken was installed, the first in this area. Also added was a new, stainless steel milk dispenser. The only one in the area, this dispenser provides a completely hygienic method of handling milk.

A new Helmeo fountainette of stainless steel has also been added to the modern ice cream cabinet dispenser providing facilities for handling in a modern fashion fountain supplies for sundaes and other such dishes.

Within the past several weeks work has been underway to modernize the exterior front of the restaurant. The old front has been completely removed and a new combination glass, zorite and Roman brick front installed. A canopy has been installed over the modern front and this will be surmounted with plastic letters giving the name of the restaurant. These will be floodlighted. The new front provides a pleasing view of the interior of the restaurant, showing the comfortable, modern fittings. A glass door provides access. Colour combination of the front blends with the interior, green zorite and red Roman brick having been used.

Inside the restaurant a new acoustic tile ceiling has been installed to soften noise in the dining room. The floor space has also been increased through installation of the new front.

Mr. Troupe has enrolled his new Fundy Restaurant in the Canadian Restaurant Association, having met the requirements for membership in this association. A new and most attractive menu, especially printed to feature distinctive Nova Scotia seafood dishes and providing visitors to the Fundy Restaurant with interesting information about Digby's history, scenic beauty spots and other details, has been developed by Mr.

Troupe. Printed by Wallis Print Ltd., this new menu has attracted favorable comment from officials of the Canadian Restaurant Association and adds much to the attractiveness of the restaurant tables.

ANOTHER "B GRASS"

LETTER

Another person's curiosity has been aroused about the letter appearing in The Montreal Star about the "B grass" blades. This one comes from Stafford Killam of Montreal, formerly of Weymouth. He saw the letter and forwarded it to us for publication.

Mr. Killam does not mention knowing about these blades of grass which were supposed to have been found in Weymouth in 1917 and bearing the letter "B". Mrs. Forrest Eisner, Digby, does remember the incident. Mrs. Eisner remembers picking the blades of grass with the letter "B" at her home in Plympton, Digby County. She informs us that many thought this letter "B" stood for British and that the British would win the First World War, which was then being fought.

Another reader who remembers the "B" grass is William Titus, of Victoria Beach, formerly of Freeport. He seems to remember the "B" on wheat, oats and barley, as well as grass blades.

Form New Boys' Club

On the evening of March 4th at the Freeport Baptist Church, an I.A.H. Club (I Am His) was organized under the leadership of Mrs. Allison Morehouse assisted by Mrs. Curtis Prime.

An impressive ring ceremony was conducted by the pastor, Rev. W. Ideson, who kindly combined the meeting with the regular prayer service, and directed his talk to the boys using as text "There was a lad". The meeting opened with the singing of the hymn "Take My Life And Let It Be" followed by scripture and prayer. The candle-light ceremony was conducted with the 18 boys present taking part in lighting the candles, of which each represented a club by-law. Following the signing of the charter and the ring ceremony each boy was presented with a book of prayer help, directions for wearing their rings and a New Testament gift from Rev. Ideson. Soft music was played throughout the ceremony which greatly added to the impressiveness of the service.

Mrs. Prime gave a brief outline of the I.A.H. Club and Mrs. Morehouse told of what had been accomplished so far in organizing the boys, and spoke of future plans.

The meeting closed with song and Mr. Ideson led in prayer. Total enrollment at present is as follows: Hamilton Lent, Wilfred Patterson, David Small, Melvin Tibert, Clinton Tinker, Clifford Tinker, George Patterson, Eric Albright, Hillburne Crocker, Lloyd Crocker, Roger Thomas, Billy Albright, David Teed, Jimmy Prime, Albert Hooper, Gregory Stark, Gary Haines, Linden Haines, Floyd Crocker, David Webster and John Thurber.

EDUCATION WEEK AT BEAR RIVER

Following the example of schools all over Canada, Education Week was observed last week in Oakdene School.

A display of some of the best work done in all classrooms from Primer to Grade IX was exhibited in the Bear River Trading Company windows and helped to create an interest in the school and the work being done there.

During the week the subject of Education was discussed in the various classrooms and essays were written by the pupils.

Friday afternoon parents and friends were invited to meet with the children in the auditorium where a program consisting of work done during the year was given. The primer class delighted their parents with a family project. Grade one gave a choral reading, sang a winter song and read a story. Grade two gave oral compositions on a Nature project. "Sh-h-h It's Winter". A very interesting health exercise telling how colds spread. We learned about four things in Canada from a Grade six history lesson. Grade seven had a debate. "Resolved that homework should be abolished". Pupils in grades eight and nine read essays on Education.

After the program many parents availed themselves of the privilege of visiting the classrooms, talking with the teachers and learning more about the work their children were doing.

Cardboard is merely thick

by Ken Hankinson
IT COULD BE YOU — AND NOT YOUR CAR THAT'S THE GAS BURNER

I meet a lot of interesting people in this business... people from all walks of life. And I enjoy shooting the breeze with them. Naturally, the conversation is about cars. In fact, I consider it a bad week when I don't learn something myself from these discussions.

A few days ago, for instance, I was talking to a salesman friend of mine and the conversation got around to why some cars seemed to be so hard on gas. "Not always the fault of the car", said my friend Joe who is on the road five days a week. Then he went into a long discourse on the gas-consuming driving habits he's observed during years of highway travelling.

It all boils down to a few "DO'S" and "DON'T'S". For example, always get under way moderately and smoothly by depressing the accelerator gradually until your car attains the desired speed.

Keep a steady foot on the accelerator, instead of pumping it up or down to maintain the speed of traffic.

When approaching a red light that is about to turn green adjust your speed to avoid stopping. Or, if a light is changing to red coast up to it with your foot off the gas.

If there is a "slow-down" area ahead decrease your speed gradually rather than slamming on your brakes.

Yes, good driving habits all add up to good gas mileage. But to begin with you need a good car. We have some real choice models on our lot right now. Cars that had one-owner care and that we have tuned up to mechanical perfection. We'll be happy to show them to you anytime. Or, just drop by for a chat. As I said in the beginning, it's sure a bad week when I don't learn something new about cars from somebody.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Madam Editor —

HOSPITAL TAX

Now I'm not opposed to the Hospital Tax. But their collection system is very lax. The exemption on children's clothing is fine. If your children are small enough to get under the line. But if your twelve year old daughter can't wear fourteen X. Then you have no alternative but pay Hospital Tax. While it's possible that Mother can wear a size ten, it's plain to be seen what happens then.

Exemptions on certain items the fishermen use, May be O.K. - if it isn't abused, But if it's anything like the tax free gas, Have you any suggestions? - as for me, I pass.

Comic books come under the classification, Of cultured literature - well, in my estimation, If this statement is true, there is something I lack, Could it be - I was born on the wrong side of the track?

Nowadays a man comes into your shop, While waiting to be served, he has a bottle of pop, But to treat his friend, is a thing he resents, That brings his purchase over fifteen cents.

A few days ago, to the drug store I went — To purchase some cold cream, I produced my three cents, But to my amazement, it was passed back to me, The cream was medicated, so, it is tax free.

What is exempt? is the usual query, You search the pamphlets until you are weary, The item you're looking for, is not there, You get so disgusted and give up in despair.

Now I have a suggestion that I'd like to make, That would simplify matters, and increase the TAKE, Is to pay three cents on purchases over a dollar, I think you will find that few people will holler.

Excluding of course, gasoline, autos and such, To pay more tax on these items, is asking too much, But if you must have liquor, to help you relax, Then be prepared to pay a luxury tax.

Now, I'm not criticizing the Hospital Commission, The idea is new, and with a few omissions — Of certain exemptions, a change here and there, Our beefs will be forgotten, by the end of the year.

Perplexed.

"Disunity has been a characteristic of the Atlantic Provinces since colonial days," said APEC President Dr. Frank MacKinnon addressing the Maritime Wholesale Hardware Association in Moncton recently. "It has held us back and it will continue to hold us back if we allow it," he remarked.

Robbins at the close of the evening.

WESTERN in the LEGISLATURE

During the past week there were two major occasions in the legislature which concerned government action. The most prominent was the tabling of the estimates by Premier Standfield. The second was the winding up of the throne speech debate by Hon. G. I. Smith, provincial secretary and minister of Highways.

A resolution of the Liberal opposition urging a request for a federal-provincial conference was amended to continue to give priority to requests for federal aid where we need it most — assistance for coal and transportation and of the special needs of the province.

In the course of the debate the leader of the opposition was asked to state the advantages of the coal board being made the marketing agency for coal, which he has been urging. Mr. Hicks quickly changed the subject, leaving the distinct impression that he did not know what the advantages might be.

Highways Minister Smith told the house in the final throne speech stage that during the construction seasons of 1957-58 the Standfield Government had paved 518 miles of highway of which 111 miles are trunk highways and 407 are county or secondary roads. It is all new pavement, Mr. Smith said, and is the greatest two-year mileage effort in the history of Nova Scotia.

The highways minister said "To illustrate the magnitude of the task performed, let me say that 518 miles of new pavement would be more than sufficient to pave a new highway running from Yarmouth to North Sydney."

He continued that when the Tories took office there was a total of 2003 miles of paved highway in the province. Now there are 2521, he said. So in two seasons the government has increased the total paved mileage by more than 25 per cent. In the last three years of the previous government, Mr. Smith pointed out, the total new pavement laid down had been 487.5 miles.

Hon. Mr. Smith gave a detailed report of government progress in highways advancement. He also recapitulated the work of various government ministries during the past year and said, "I invite the house to consider this solid performance. I suggest, Sir, that it compare favorably with any four-year record of any government that ever guided the affairs of Nova Scotia. It far exceeds anything any such government has ever before attempted, much less achieved, in two years. . . . It merits the support of every citizen and it deserves the confidence of this House."

As for the Premier's budget speech — it displayed progress and sound financing. It contained two statements (1) an interim statement of revenues and expenditures for the year ending March 31, 1959 — nine months' actual and three months' estimated and (2) estimates of revenues and expenditures for the year ending March 31, 1960.

In the past these statements have been submitted separately — the present method will be more consistent for reference. The forecast for the current year shows a surplus of $182,996 — this after full provision for the winter work program ($735,000), payment of $750,000 into the Public Debt Retirement Fund (in addition to regular sinking fund payments) and for the payment of $630,000 highway capital expenditure out of current revenues. The results are better than estimated a year ago when the estimated surplus was $69,596.

The Premier said total expenditures for the current year are more than half-a-million dollars above estimates mainly due to extra for winter work in highways, lands and forests and municipal projects. Other departments went over their mark in expenditures in mines for new safety staff, the new administrative division and in tourist promotion.

Premier Standfield dealt with the financial picture in detail but an important point, particularly, was that in assessing revenue and expenditure for the year ending March 31, 1960, the estimates forecast a surplus of $270,458. This is a hopeful sign — a further improvement in careful financing. The number of millions spent and received are also important — but mainly in relation to what is left over for additional use.

It is also especially noteworthy that welfare payments in the province are up 50 per cent since the last year of Liberal regime.

It was another triumphant week in the legislature for the government.

Marriage

Bartlett — Hackett

A lovely winter wedding took place at St. Peter's Glebe when the Very Reverend Gerald Murphy united in a double ring ceremony, Joan Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hackett, and Reginald Bartlett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Bartlett, of Dartmouth, formerly of Weymouth.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a floor length gown of white chiffon velvet, styled in princess lines with full skirt over a crinoline. The gown featured a scalloped neckline with long sleeves which tapered to points over the wrists. The fingertip veil of nylon net with rose petal applique was held in place by a pearl and rhinestone hairdress. She carried an arm bouquet of red roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Miss Ellen Hackett attended her sister as maid-of-honor. She wore a street length gown of red velvet with white feather hair band, and white accessories. She carried a nosegay of white mixed flowers.

Miss Peggy Nash attended as bridesmaid. She wore a street-length gown of sapphire blue velvet with white feather hairband, and white accessories. She carried a nosegay of white mixed flowers.

The groom was attended by Harold Kellaher as best man.

Mrs. Hackett, mother of the bride, wore a blue velvet street-length gown with navy blue hat and matching accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Mrs. Bartlett, mother of the groom, wore a Dior blue crepe and lace street-length gown with winter white hat and navy accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents at 13 Tulip Street, Dartmouth.

For travelling the bride chose a black wool jersey sheathdress with red hat and matching accessories, topped with a grey jacket. Her corsage was of red carnations.

Following a trip through the province, Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett will reside at Port Wallis.

Children Give $24.00

Children of the Church of Christ Sunday Schools in Weymouth, N. S., have recently given $24.00 toward the work of the Bible Society. The money was collected in dime cards, and is a contribution to the special project undertaken by the children of Canada to provide Scriptures for the children of West Africa.

This project is to continue over several years, and Canadian children aim to collect $30,000.00 for this work. Scriptures paid for in this way will be sent to children in all parts of West Africa, including the newly independent State of Ghana. 1959 will be the first full year that this project is in operation as the first cards were distributed in mid 1958.

The generous gift of the children of the Church of Christ Sunday School in Weymouth helps to ensure that Nova Scotia will make a fitting contribution to the target of $30,000.00.

Letter to the Editor

North Range, N. S., March 10, 1959.

Digby, N. S.

Dear Mrs. Wallis:

In reply to the query regarding the "Lettered Grass Blades" from Maritimer's letter in your issue of March 5 inst. I recall very clearly of finding the letter B on the blades of oats. When we were told about it, we were very cynical and made all sorts of fun about it, but curiosity finally led us to explore and we really did find that it was true. Now this mark on the blades may have been there always, but we were so weary of war that it was sort of looked upon as a sign that British victory was assured. My husband and I not only found them on our own grain but we saw them on blades of oats from farms in Bear River and Annapolis County.

Have you any data on the "Angel of Mons" and also the vision of the "Unseen Army", both of which caused so much conjecture and wonderment in World War 2?

I have a picture of the "Angel of Mons" which was given out by the "Family Herald" in World War 2.

The vision of the "Unseen Army" may have been during the battle of "Ypres" or of course may have been at "Amiens" or "Rheims" or any of the terrible battles.

I was thinking that some of these things might furnish interesting reading for your very nice paper.

Sincerely yours,
Evelia H. Andrews.

Letter to the Editor

North Range, N. S., March 10, 1959.

Digby, N. S.

Dear Mrs. Wallis:

In reply to the query regarding the "Lettered Grass Blades" from Maritimer's letter in your issue of March 5 inst. I recall very clearly of finding the letter B on the blades of oats. When we were told about it, we were very cynical and made all sorts of fun about it, but curiosity finally led us to explore and we really did find that it was true. Now this mark on the blades may have been there always, but we were so weary of war that it was sort of looked upon as a sign that British victory was assured. ## A.Y.P.A. Initiation

The Digby Branch of the Junior Anglican Young People's Association held an initiation service for the new members in the parish hall on Thursday, February 19th.

The service began with an impressive candle lighting ceremony, during which time the president and older members gave the new members their charges, after which they lit the candles of the new members.

Following the candle lighting service, a new member induction ceremony was presided over by Rev. James Pike, who in his address urged the members to attend the church of their denomination regularly, and give their whole hearted support to their A.Y.P.A. chapter.

A series of initiation stunts were drawn up by the older members. To add amusement to the ceremony, the new female members were required to wear their father's shirt, tie their hair up in rags and wear no makeup. The boys, on the other hand, were required to part their hair in the centre, and to wear bright lipstick and nail polish. The new members were

E. & G. MEET

Mrs. Gordon Ellis and Mrs. Eric Marine were joint hostesses to the Earn and Give Club of Grace United Church at the church hall on Tuesday, when two satin bed puffs were knotted by the members. Plans were also made for the St. Patrick's tea which is being sponsored by the club.

Among the refreshments served was a birthday cake in honor of Mrs. Boyd Milbury.

OF WHAT USE, NYLONS?

No need to put those ladder pattern nylons in the garbage can or the trash burner. When they've done their duty of party going, had their day at the office and accompanied the broom at the morning household chores, there's another use for them. That is, according to the Grace United Church W. M. S. members. They are going to be made into lace curtains, sleeping nets, rugs for floors, gloves or socks. Already the members have gathered together the winter's leftovers and are preparing to ship them to Korea where the women will fashion them into the above named articles.

Paper is our leading product.

Carnival Is Tremendous Success

"The best ever" was the comment following Monday night's sixth annual Digby Fire Department Ice Carnival at the Digby Forum.

A crowd estimated at close to one thousand was in attendance at the carnival which featured the superb skating of the Digby figure skaters under the direction of Mrs. Evelyn Cameron.

Miss Carol Morehouse, who was the first ice carnival princess chosen at the initial Digby Fire Department Ice Carnival six years ago, Monday night was picked from among six entries to be the Fire Department 1959 Snow Queen.

Princesses chosen from among some thirty entries in each age class were Gall Neville and Gloria Baxter.

Judges for the Snow Queen contest and for the princesses were Mrs. Marcel Jette, Mrs. Coe and Master-at-Arms Strickland, all of HMCS Cornwallis.

They were also judges for the costume parade which followed.

After the Snow Queen and princesses had been chosen they were crowned and presented with corsages and cups by Mayor Victor Cardozo who acted as master of ceremonies for the evening's program.

Mrs. J. R. McCleave was in charge of the arrangements for the queen and princess competition.

In the costume parade which followed the choosing of the queen and princesses many strange, weird and wonderful costumes were featured. Prizes were awarded in several categories, both for children and adults.

In the children's awards the most original went to Pamela Wright, who appeared as a butterfly. Most comical was won by Greg Holdsworth, Roddy MacPherson and David Turnbull, who appeared as the "Little Rascals" with a most realistic Spanky. Winner of the most representative was Jim Kenney who was a most convincing robot.

The prize for fanciest costume went to a duo, Cecile and Claire Doiron, who appeared in timely costume as a diminutive pair of Irish colleens. Winner of the miscellaneous costume prize was Verleia Ellis who appeared as a purple people eater.

In the adult section the award for the most original costume went to H. C. Morton who appeared as Dr. Doolittle. Most comical award went to Mrs. Freda Harris and Mrs. Florence Snow who were costumed as two rustic characters, Uncle Zeke and Uncle Clem. Best representative award was won by Doug Wright and Bruce Wright who appeared as an organ grinder and monkey. Award for fancy costume went to Marilyn Henshaw and Dianna Harris who were winsome as the "Two Little Girls in Blue". Miscellaneous award went to George Holdsworth who was billed as a typical teenager.

In charge of the costume parade was Mrs. Ralph Wright.

One of the most hilarious episodes of the carnival was the beauty contest featuring a bevy of well known local beauties which rumor has it were recruited from among members of the fire department. Winner on the basis of audience applause was Miss Rose Bud, a typically buxom grass-skirted Hawaiian beauty.

The commentary for the beauty contest was given by Mr. Tom Davis, of Smith's Cove.

Little League Hockey News

The thirteenth session of the Digby Little League Hockey got underway on Saturday, March 14, at 9 a.m.

The Pee Wee League began the action by playing the Red Wings. The Bruins continued their undefeated way when they shut out the Red Wings 2-0. The league's highest scorer, D. Van Tassel, picked up two points by scoring one goal himself unassisted and by picking up an assist on the one scored by team mate S. Manning.

After the 9:30 game was over the Canadians had established themselves as league leaders by a precarious one point margin. They did this by downing the Black Hawks 2-1. Fred Smith, the Canadians' net minder, turned in a superlative performance, stopping at least five break aways by Hawks' D. Wood. Canadians' goals were both by W. Snow — one unassisted and the other assisted by F. Ayer. The Black Hawks singleton was by D. Wood, unassisted.

Bantam play began at 10:00 a.m., and the opening game ended with the Rangers edging the Maple Leafs 1-0. Rangers goal was by I. Anderson, assisted by R. Ross.

The upset of the season occurred at 10:30 when the Rangers, in their second game, downed the mighty Millionaires by the same margin. G. Holdsworth was particularly outstanding for the Rangers. As net minder he stopped shot after shot. Rangers lone goal was by P. Murley, assisted by I. Anderson.

The League standings to date are as follows:

Team	P	W	T	L	Pts
Canadians	11	5	3	3	13
Bruins	11	5	2	4	12
Black Hawks	11	3	4	3	10
Red Wings	11	3	4	4	9

Bantam League:
Millionaires 15 12 1 2 25
Rangers 14 6 0 8 12
Maple Leafs 15 3 1 11 7

The schedule will be played this Saturday as per the original printed sheet. Playoffs will begin in the Pee Wee league the Canadians will play the Black Hawks at 9 a.m. and at 9:30 the Bruins will play the Red Wings. In the Bantam league the Rangers will play the Maple Leafs at 10 a.m. for the right to meet the Millionaires in the final. At 10:30 the Rangers will play the Millionaires in a regular league game. The Rangers vs Leafs game, as well as being a playoff, will also be counted in the points race as a league game. This will mean after Saturday all teams in the Bantam league will have played sixteen games.

The finals of these games will be played at the Forum on Tuesday evening, March 24th, starting at 7 p.m. Admission, 35c.

Porch Light Canvass Slightly More

A. Davis, of the Bank of Nova Scotia and treasurer of the March of Dimes Campaign in Digby County, reported that $244.92 had been collected in the town of Digby at the House-to-house canvass.

This exceeded the 1958 campaign by approximately $6.00 according to the 1959 conveners, Mrs. J. M. Wallis and Mrs. Atlee Cornwall.

Meet In Hockey Game

Two Digby Neck lads, serving with the Canadian forces overseas, met recently at an armed forces hockey game in France.

The two boys are Austin Westcott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Westcott, of Watford, who is serving with the RCAF in France, and Beverly Pyne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pyne, of Rossway, who is serving with the Canadian Army in Soest, Germany.

Both boys play in their respective forces' hockey teams with Austin as goalie for the RCAF team.

ber was beautifully performed and featured intricate pattern skating which drew continued applause from the more than one thousand spectators.

Honored By Shower

Honoring Miss Mary MacLean on her approaching marriage to Mr. Donald Harvie, a miscellaneous shower was held in the vestry of the Smith's Cove Baptist Church on Saturday evening, March 14th.

A sing-song, led by E. B. Weir, with Mrs. J. J. Wallis at the piano, was enjoyed by all while awaiting the arrival of the honored guest and her fiancé.

The prettily decorated gift table was the centre of attraction and on Miss MacLean's arrival Mrs. Ruth Walker presented the gifts on behalf of the many friends who had met for the occasion. She paid tribute to the work in the church and community in which Miss MacLean had willingly given of her time and talents and expressed regret that she would be leaving and would be greatly missed in the village. She had been a faithful attendant and member of Mrs. Walker's Sunday School class, a member of the choir and CGIT, and is President of the BYPU.

Both Miss MacLean and Mr. Harvie responded briefly, thanking one and all for the gifts and good wishes, after which the gifts were opened, admired and displayed.

Refreshments were served by the young matrons, assisted by members of the BYPU.

Civil Defence Training Saves Life At Digby

Civil Defence training and a small group with knowledge of the art of rescue was responsible for the saving of a life at Digby, N. S. early in March.

Racquette Bridge, near the Digby Pines Road was the scene and road conditions were treacherous and as the car driven by Mrs. Evelyn Outhouse entered the bridge it went out of control, crashed through the bridge railing and the vehicle landed on its roof in the stream's channel. The time was ten-thirty at night and fortunately for the car's occupant the tide was out, but, to aggravate the situation, the stream was six feet deep.

Ralph O. Wright arrived on the scene soon after the accident and as the Civil Defence Director for Digby, he was immediately able to appreciate the seriousness of the situation. Mr. Wright contacted the Fire Hall and gave instructions to alert the Civil Defence College trained Rescue Team, a doctor, town police, RCMP and a wrecking truck.

The rescue itself was impressive and here are the details as described by Mr. Wright: "The thing that impressed me most was the way the fellows bridged the gap between the bank and the overturned car and the encouragement they gave Mrs. Outhouse trapped in the car."

They kept up a steady conversation with her, encouraging her to hang on while they worked. I noticed that someone suggested breaking a window in the car but they were not allowed to do so by the rescue team as that would have permitted the water to enter the car more quickly and possibly drown the lady trapped inside. By this time the wrecker was in position and quickly righted the car and pulled it to the beach. Here Mrs. Outhouse was removed from a stretcher and hurried to hospital by waiting ambulance.

This operation took approximately 25 minutes and is a credit to the Digby Civil Defence organization. One minute could have been fatal as the victim had about six inches of clear air space left as the car was pulled from danger.

Joe Doucette directed the rescue team and others who participated. Members of the team were Tom Cleveland, Tom McInnes and Guy VanTassel. Reg Turnbull, the Digby Fire Chief was on the ball and quickly alerted his crew and rushed them to the scene.

Civil Defence training rescue crews have a definite place in the every day happenings in all communities and more citizens are daily becoming conversant with this fact.

To God, thy country, and thy friend be true, then thou'lt ne'er be false to any one. — Henry Vaughan.

To Appear Tonight

A group of dancers from Mrs. Frances Peters' dancing class will appear this evening on the "Time for Juniors" telecast over CHSJ-TV at seven o'clock.

This group was to have appeared several weeks ago but inclement weather prevented their crossing the bay.

Pot Luck Supper Held

The Neighbourly Club, Deep Brook, held a Quilting Party and Pot Luck supper at the home of the President on Wednesday. Supper guests were Rev. and Mrs. Sidney Whitehouse, Rev. and Mrs. Frank Smith, Mr. Harold Hirtle and sons, Allister and Roger, Mr. Borden Fountain and Mrs. Ira Duke-shire, of Clementsport.

A beautifully decorated birthday cake was made and presented to Mrs. Wilfred DeMing by Mrs. Stanley Webb. (Later in the evening Mrs. DeMing received a birthday brooch from the club). "Happy Birthday" was sung to Rev. Sidney Whitehouse who also celebrated a March anniversary.

Mrs. Frank Adams led the devotional and special prayers were offered by Rev. Frank Smith.

Veterans Operate Key Tag Service

During the next few weeks every automobile owner in Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland will receive two miniature car license key tags bearing the same number as his own car.

This is the 12th year the Key Tag Service has been operating. The key tags are manufactured by war amputation cases whose work not only keeps them gainfully employed, but raises funds for benevolent work of the War Amputations Association of Canada. During the past six years an average of $26,431 annually has been handed over to the Benevolent Fund Committee.

Thirty-five war veterans, all of them amputation cases, are steadily employed in the making of car key tags. This year more than 7,250,000 key tags will be mailed across Canada. Lost keys are returned to their owners at the rate of one every 36 minutes.

Manager of the Key Tag Service is Allan David Piper, who wears two iron hooks in place of the hands he lost in a grenade explosion in 1942. Piper explained that the new practice of mailing out duplicate key tags is paying real dividends. There are two cars in many Canadian homes. In most homes the husband and wife have car keys.

The key tags are sent out gratis. The recipient is expected to mail back to the War Amps Service 60 cents for duplicate key tags, 35 cents if only one key tag is required. The money is sent to the War Amps Key Tag Service, 740 Bay Street, Toronto.

Lt. Col. The Rev. S. E. Lambert, O.B.E., is Dominion President of the War Amps Association; Alan L. Bell is Honorary Secretary.

Collects Catalogues

The Rossway Women's Institute met Tuesday evening, March 10th, for their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Willard Wentzell with ten members and two guests present. The roll call was answered by telling an Irish joke.

During the business period final plans were made for the St. Patrick's Day sale. The box of clothing for the Koreans is to be packed this week and sent to Montreal for shipment.

Contributions of two dollars each are to be sent to the Walter Callow Fund and the W.I.N.S. Scholarship Fund. The former fund is to enable wheelchair patients anywhere in Nova Scotia to enjoy one or two outings a year on the Walter Callow wheelchair buses. The latter fund is to provide scholarships to two rural girls in Nova Scotia, one to enter Normal College and the other to enter the Digby Normal School. (Please turn to page 6)

To Retire

Rev. Lena A. Keans, M.A., B.D., of Port Wade, who went to India as a teacher and missionary in 1922, will leave to return home on April 11th, it has been learned.

On March 11th she was guest of honour at a farewell concert at the Hird High School in Narasaraopet where she has taught for many years. Last year Miss Keans participated in the 75th anniversary celebrations at the school and was author of an interesting history of the school, covering the period from 1943 to 1958.

In her annual report for 1958 on the high school and evangelistic work among women Miss Keans reviewed the work of the school and missionary effort for the year.

She commented that the oldest person attending the 75th anniversary celebrations of the school was Mrs. B. Southasham who was the first qualified woman teacher on the school staff. She taught at the school ten years and then served the whole Narasaraopet field as Bible woman for fifty years.

Miss Keans stated in her report that it would be a tremendous thing if Mrs. Southasham could tell the story of her sixty years of Christian work to the American churches. If this were done, she said, they would hear stories of persecution and of conversion and of constancy in God's service.

Captain Recalls Sea Experiences

Capt. Burke, of Church Point, celebrated his 82nd birthday on Friday, March 13th. Mr. Burke is hale and hearty and keen of mind and takes interest in the affairs of the community. Capt. Burke is a veteran of the Spanish-American War and was seaman on the forward gun of USS Wasp with Jimmy Lavin who was gunner in the battle of Nipe Bay, Cuba, on July 21, 1898. In this battle the gun on which he was employed, made a direct hit on the Don Jorge Juan, which sent the cruiser to the bottom.

Capt. Burke recalls old "Cervera", a cat aboard the Don Jorge Juan which was saved from a watery grave. The cat was found swinging from the wreckage of the sunken cruiser and after being taken aboard the USS Wasp, the crew renamed it "Cervera", the name of the Admiral of the Spanish Fleet.

He was formerly employed by Eastern Steamship Lines on the Boston-Yarmouth route prior to his retirement over twenty years ago. In his younger days Capt. Burke sailed the seven seas in the old windjammers and he recounts many of his adventures to the local groups who find them very interesting.

Capt. Burke may be seen at the weekly cribbage tournaments at the Church Point Social Club held on Wednesday nights. He can hold his own with the younger men at this game and has emerged the winner on many occasions. He also will tackle the younger men in private games of cribbage at the club.

Ravens Crush St. Anne's 12-5

Digby Ravens crushed St. Anne's College 12-5 at Church Point Monday night to take a two game lead in the best-of-seven Western Valley Intermediate Hockey League finals.

Third game is scheduled for Digby tomorrow night. MacCallum led the visitors with five goals. VanTassel shot a hat trick while Amirault and Handsaker each fired a brace. Bernard paced St. Anne's with three goals. Blouin and Arsenault shot the others.

Digby Area Hit By Storm

Linesmen of the Digby County Power Board and local telephone exchange were busy Friday repairing damage to transmission lines caused by last Thursday night's terrific wind, snow and rain storm which swept this area with gusts in excess of eighty miles an hour.

For several hours Thursday night firemen were kept busy warning people off Digby streets because of the danger from falling power lines. At times the sky was lighted with great sheets of blue flame as hydro wires tangled with trees, poles and other lines. Power service was disrupted in many sections of the town from shortly before midnight until seven Friday morning.

Because of the disruption of power service the town fire alarm system was out of operation and firemen remained at the fire hall throughout the night. An auxiliary power unit supplied lights and power for the local telephone exchange.

At the height of the storm the scallop dragger "Bobby Boy", Captain Arthur Halliday, was swept from its mooring at the Digby spur pier and smashed against the main government wharf. The bow of the vessel was driven in and she was jammed between a scow and the wharf. The boat is considered a total loss. More than five hundred dollars damage was caused to another dragger, "Bay Bird", Captain Victor Halliday, and most of the more than twenty boats of the local scallop fleet were damaged by the gale. Captain Arthur Halliday had every available line on his boat attached to the wharf including two steel cables but the force of the wind and waves tore the vessel loose.

Reports reaching Digby Friday from D. B. Kenney were that power service on the neck was disrupted by the storm and considerable damage done. At Westport a scow was torn loose from its mooring and smashed against the D. B. Kenney wharf.

Driving conditions during the storm Thursday night were reported "terrible". During the height of the storm a truck, driven by Mrs. W. J. Melanson of Plympton, plunged off the side of the Kinney bridge on highway number 1 near Plympton. Although the truck was badly damaged Mrs. Melanson reportedly suffered little injury.

Public Speaking Competition

Public speakers from ten Maritime colleges and universities will have an opportunity to meet in Halifax in competition on March 20 in the Nova Scotia Co-op Union Public Speaking Contest for post-high school students. For the past number of years, the Co-op Union, under General Manager Alex MacIsaac, Antigonish, has been providing leadership in public speaking and essay writing in schools, 4-H Clubs, and other youth groups.

Mr. MacIsaac said he expected entries from Acadia University, Mount Allison, Dalhousie, Saint Mary's, St. F. X. University, Mount St. Bernard, Mount St. Vincent, Provincial Normal College, Xavier Junior College and St. Anne's.

University authorities in Halifax said this contest marks the first occasion on which universities will be able to participate in public speaking on such a wide scale. In the past, other than inter-collegiate debates, students from the various colleges have not had the opportunity to compete in the oratorical field. Mr. MacIsaac said he has heard fine reports of the excellent oratorical contests conducted on each campus and that the Co-op Union is attempting to bring together the best speakers in this province-wide contest.

Judges for the contest will be staged at St. Mary's University at 8:00 p.m., are Donald Wetmore, Dramatics Adviser, Adult Education Division, Halifax; George G. Lent, Inspector of Schools, Port Hawkesbury; and Rev. J. W. A. Nicholson, Halifax.

A committee consisting of Rev. J. D. Nelson MacDonald of Dartmouth, and J. Patrick MacAdam, Secretary, Adult Education Division, Halifax, is working with Mr. MacIsaac to plan the contest. Mr. MacAdam will act as program chairman for the March 20 meeting of orators.

Report On Red Cross Annual

A well-attended business meeting of the Digby Red Cross Branch, held last week at the Court House, listened with interest to a splendid report of the recent annual sessions of the Nova Scotia Divisional Council, presented by Mrs. Hugh Vincent, Digby Branch delegate. Attending the annual meeting in Halifax, in addition to Mrs. Vincent, were Mrs. Fred Daley, who was also a delegate, Dr. T. W. Hodgson, Hon. Vice President and Chairman of the Awards Committee for the Division, and Mrs. H. M. Warne, Regional Vice President for 1959.

Mrs. Vincent reported that this year's meeting, attended by 250 Red Cross members, was celebrating the 100th anniversary of Red Cross and the 50th year of Red Cross in Canada, its theme being "Red Cross Serving Canada and the World". The objective of the Nova Scotia Division for this anniversary year is to reach 100 branches, there being 93 at the present time in Nova Scotia.

One of the programme highlights, as reported by Mrs. Vincent, was the account of Red Cross activities at Springhill together with slides taken at the scene of the disaster. Resumes of the numerous phases of Red Cross work showed progress in various fields, particularly in the Blood Transfusion Service, with an encouraging increase in Blood Donors in 1958, the 10th anniversary of the Blood Donor Programme in Nova Scotia. The Outpost Hospital Service came to a successful conclusion last year with all the Red Cross hospitals being taken over by the communities under the government hospital plan. The need for a successful financial campaign, which is underway at the present time to collect the provincial quota of $199,200, was stressed, and the members reminded of the 1959 Campaign slogan: "Let's knock on every door".

The sessions concluded with the annual banquet at the Lord Nelson Hotel, at which the special speaker was Mr. Marshall Sterns of Toronto, Chairman of the National Executive. At this time Red Cross awards were presented to several outstanding workers in the Nova Scotia Division, the citations being read by Dr. Hodgson and the presentations made by His Honor, Lieut. Governor Flors.

In addition to hearing Mrs. Vincent's report, routine business was carried on at the Digby Branch meeting, the Women's Work Committee reporting over $100 worth of new materials received for knitting, sewing and quilting, and expressing their thanks to the new workers, both individuals and groups, who were assisting in making up the materials.

Mrs. Winfield reported for the Disaster Relief Committee that clothing had been given out this past month to a Digby Neck family and also that a little girl was clothed so that she could continue school. A bolt of flannelette had been purchased by the Branch and made up for local layettes.

At the conclusion of the business, afternoon tea was served, with a birthday cake in honor of Mrs. Daley, who expressed her thanks for this and also for the privilege of attending the sessions in Halifax, which she felt was an education in the work of the Red Cross which everyone should have the chance to have.

Addresses Kiwanians

Lieutenant Commander Menzies, of HMCS Cornwallis, was guest speaker at the Digby Kiwanis Club at their regular luncheon session on Thursday. Lieutenant Commander Menzies took as his subject Education of Youth in the Sea Cadet Movement. Following the luncheon the Kiwanians visited the Sea Cadet Corps at HMCS Cornwallis. The luncheon was held at Chan's Coffee Shoppe.

It was reported on Thursday that $132.00 had been raised at the recent rummage sale held by the club at Cameron's Flower Shoppe.

Fitting As Dragger

Reg Hazelton, well known local fisherman, has purchased the vessel "Frank & Kathleen" and is fitting her out as a fish dragger.

The boat, renamed by her new owner the "Olwen", will be re-decked and have the hatch opening reduced in size. A new bed is being installed for the engine and other alterations and repairs made.

Repairs are also being made to the scalloper "Bay Bird" which was badly damaged in the recent gale while moored at the spur pier. New railings are being installed and repairs made to the hull of the vessel.

To Distribute Palms

The traditional blessing and distribution of palms will be carried out at the eleven o'clock service of Holy Communion at Trinity Anglican Church Sunday morning.

The palms, in the form of small crosses, will be blessed and distributed at the beginning of the service as the church marks Palm Sunday.

During Holy Week services will be held twice daily at Trinity Church. Special services will also be held at St. Patrick's Church on Palm Sunday and during Holy Week in preparation for the high festival of Easter.

Other Digby churches will also hold special services this Sunday and during the coming week as all Christendom prepares to mark the death of Christ and His glorious resurrection.

DFD ACTIVITIES

Last Thursday evening saw members of the department on stand-by at the Fire Station during the high wind and snow. Through the evening all was quiet and most of them wandered home between ten and eleven, but within minutes the wind seemed to increase and bright flashes could be seen in the sky and the few men who remained investigated and found broken electric wires in a maze on Water Street and took up stations to warn traffic of this hazard until power could be cut. The regular freight from Yarmouth to Halifax had to be delayed until lines could be cleared from the tracks and assured that the remainder of the line was clear. The department supplied a vehicle with equipment for the DAR men to use to travel in while investigating the railway before the train could be despatched. During all this several calls were received for taxi trips, prowlers and keeping an eye on things in general. Due to phones being out of order the fire station became a general headquarters for all services the remainder of the night.

First Aid classes have been changed to Tuesday evenings each week to get the course completed in a shorter period of time than was originally planned.

Monday night saw one of the largest attended Ice Carnivals that has been presented by the Fire Department in the last six years. The show was well received and many entries and participants took part in the show. The highlight of the show was the excellent performance of figure skaters under the direction of Mrs. Evelyn Cameron, who did a marvellous job with the short time there was to get these organized and have practices. The department wishes to thank everyone who in any way contributed to the success of the show. The cooperation of all has been outstanding.

Fire practice was held last night with further training being given in the care of equipment, driving suggestions and acquainting members with the different types of equipment and its location on the trucks.

Following the regular practice session a meeting of the committee chairmen and the executive was held to iron out a few problems.

About This and That

May Determine The Future Of Fishing Boat Design

One of the main problems facing the fishing industry of the world is to determine design and construction criteria which will ensure that fishing boats will be both safe and sea-kindly and, at the same time, operate efficiently.

A function of the forthcoming Second World Fishing Boat Congress will be to focus attention on this question and a great many of the papers presented will deal with such problems as stability and sea-kindliness. In an interview at the Rome headquarters of the Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO), where the Congress will meet 5-10 April, Mr. Jan-Olof Traugott, who is Chief of the Fishing Boat Section, Fisheries Division, FAO, and Secretary of the Congress said:

"We think that the Congress will make a very important contribution towards solving the problem of making fishing boats safer at sea and increasing their efficiency. In many ways the problem involves contradictions. For example, a vessel with a long period of roll is much more comfortable for the crew and provides easier working conditions which contribute to efficiency in operation; but it is in more danger of capsizing than a vessel with a short period. Naval architects and boat builders throughout the world need a simple method of establishing the stability of fishing boats on the drawing board but we have not, so far, acquired sufficient data for this purpose. However, judging from some of the papers which are being contributed to the Congress, I think we are approaching a point where universally accepted methods may be proposed . . ."

Seek Improved Access To Buildings

Something which has escaped the planning of building architects in the past has been the necessity of entrances easily accessible for handicapped persons. The Maritime Division of the Canadian Paraplegic Association is carrying on a campaign with regard to plans for new construction in the hope that architects and owners will realize the necessity of considering the handicapped.

Step elimination is a case in point. Long step entrances are hazardous to the health of persons but more so they are very trying to the lame. Hugo Deffner, a polio victim from Oklahoma City recently said "We're engineering now to get to the moon — but we can't seem to fix it so many of our people can get to church". Steps can be found not only in the old church structures but many of the newer buildings are looked upon as an imposing structure with a beautiful set of steps. Little thought has been given to the wheelchair occupant or otherwise handicapped.

Physical fitness training, games and exercise figure largely in the rehabilitation of the physically disabled, Mr. Deffner said, but the same are often prevented from being able to get into any gymnasium.

We all know wheelchair cases in this area at present and the years will likely continue to bring them. It might be well in any new construction in this area to remember these people who are thus handicapped.

As one wheelchair occupant stated "We all know most entrances require a step to keep out rain and snow, but bearing in mind the dexterous souls who manipulate by wheels, why cannot this one step be ramped to street level."

The Editor,
Digby Courier,
Digby, Nova Scotia.

Dear Madam:
I am sending this to you and I am hoping that you will find space in your fine paper which I read every week. I am sending this to my mother to send to you.

I was born in Centerville and lived there for 18 years before coming to Ontario. I am deeply concerned with the affairs of my Province and Canada as a whole. I was deeply concerned with our Springhill disaster and fishermen and the coal industry and the highway which is Digby Neck, and pulpwood business which the woodsmen cannot sell, and unemployment of Canada and Nova Scotia with a lot out of work. I think that the highway on the neck and school and the Bear River dam was built is a great thing for I am interested in all work done. Also breakwaters. Why don't the Ottawa, Halifax try and do something for the people of Nova Scotia and Canada instead of letting the people down, and hope in the future that Canada, Nova Scotia will prosper.

Thank you
Milton A. Dakin.

Dear Mrs. Wallis:

The item from the "Montreal Star" sent to M. H. Elliott, mentioned in March 5 issue of the Courier, was of interest to me in one particular respect.

According to memory, one evening not long after the First World War, two other boys and myself were playing on the beach, close to the abutment on the south side of what is commonly known as the Racquette, in Digby town. We had not played long, when one of us suddenly shouted, look at the big rat! The rat was a few feet away on one of the abutment logs, and we boys right away were giving the rat all our attention, when again, one of us shouted very excitedly, look over the mountain! (Beaman's Mountain). We looked, and saw something truly big, something we had never seen before, and probably never heard of, but we called it an airplane or airship. We later learned it was a dirigible — the R-34.

The R-34 was coming toward us, and flying about south when we first saw it. It moved along quite silently, not very high, and did not appear to be moving very fast. We of course had heard a lot about Germans during the First World War, just past, and I, being quite young, more than once had dreamed (nightmares) of seeing German submarines or ships of war coming through the Digby Gap and along the Annapolis Basin toward Digby, but, this thing was real and different, and we were much excited and somewhat concerned about it.

We quickly ran to the street, then along the street, and started up the hill toward home, exclaiming as we went. By this time, people were coming from their homes, looking up, some pointing, and excitedly talking to one and another about this thing never before seen in Digby. I do not know of any dirigible seen in Digby since that time.

Some people talked about this event, long after the excitement passed, and because of it, I learned at least two new words, namely, dirigible and helium, and what helium is.

I do not know, whether the rat saw the dirigible, or not, but I do know, we did not see the rat, after we saw the dirigible.

Report From Parliament Hill

March 9, 1959.

The most important event of the past week insofar as this Minister was concerned was the settlement of the CBC strike. This unfortunate matter had dragged on for sixty-eight days and even up to almost the last minute it appeared as if it might go on indefinitely.

The Producers Association had insisted on the right to form a Labour Union. The Corporation refused this right on the grounds that Producers were part of Management, and Management could not belong to a Union. In any event if this privilege were to be accorded to the Producers it could only be obtained through the regular process of applying to the Canadian Labour Board for certification. In other words, the Corporation would not grant the right unless it was approved legally by the Department of Labour. The Producers refused to make the application and insisted that the right should be granted by the Corporation which would, of course, have created a precedent all across Canada. In the end the Producers agreed to withdraw their demand for Union recognition, but after all other issues were settled, they again stated their intention to affiliate with the Canadian and Catholic Congress of Labour. The argument started all over again and has been carried on for weeks. Negotiations often ran into the early hours of the morning, when the men completely exhausted would break off for a few hours sleep. Finally, and suddenly, early Saturday morning the Producers withdrew their request for affiliation and signed a document stating that they had no intention of affiliating with a Union, group of Unions, or any third parties. That broke the log jam and on Saturday afternoon the agreements were signed by the Producers and the Corporation. It was high time. Tempers were frayed, riots were occurring in Montreal, and there always was the danger of bloodshed. As the Minister who reported for the CBC, I had no direct responsibility in the matter, but, of course, Parliament through the Opposition parties kept urging that I should intervene in the dispute. There also was always a danger that this might develop into a racial matter as the strikers were almost entirely French Canadian, whereas the Minister and the senior officers of the CBC were of English extraction. Of course, the President of the Corporation was an outstanding French Canadian but he had been stricken with a heart attack in the early part of the negotiations, which complicated the situation materially. Certainly I heaved a deep sigh of relief when the documents by the time they reach you but I have noticed recently that you yourself have been of the programme of a religious service and so you may be interested. If you have a good chance, you may pass them on to Mr. Hartlin. His wife is a Port Wade girl.

There is a house in Kodak named Digby. When Dr. J. S. Timpany died, Mrs. Timpany gave their cottage in the hills with its land, to the Mission. One of the new cottages constructed by our Board on this land is named for Mrs. Timpany's town, Digby. When my successors, Mr. and Mrs. Dexter, go to the hills next month, to escape the worst of the heat, they will live in "Digby".

Yours with appreciation,

Lena A. Keans.

THE Digby Courier

THURSDAY, MARCH 19, 1959

ments were finally signed late Saturday afternoon.

Probably the outstanding event of this coming week will be the "March on Ottawa" of the Western farmers. One sometimes wonders about democracy these days. Our system is based on parliamentary representation, having Members in the House of Commons to voice the legitimate demands and problems of one's constituents. But latterly we seem to be developing sort of mob principle of having marches on Ottawa. Just what can be accomplished by such a maneuver is beyond my comprehension. I think that generally Governments resent mob pressure.

The Western farmers are demanding deficiency payments, although no one can define exactly just what this means. Certainly apparently the intention is to have the Government pay out several hundreds of millions of dollars to the Western Growers because it costs them more to farm now, so they say, than it did a few years ago. On the other hand, the Minister of Agriculture in his speech in the House on Friday afternoon pointed out that the Farmers in Western Canada were in a better position financially this year than they have been any time during at least the last four years. At one time the thought of travelling to Ottawa was something which one might do once in a lifetime. It would be an expensive and long planned event. But, according to press and radio, there will be over 1,000 farmers travelling all the way from Western Canada to present their demands here. One would have thought that if their financial plight was as bad as is represented, it would not have been able to get such a mass movement travelling by special trains to Ottawa and taking up all of the hotel space in this City for the next three days. Undoubtedly they will have an interesting trip, and undoubtedly they will have an opportunity of presenting their views to the Government which will be given careful and sympathetic reception. But these views of course have already been presented by the Members of Parliament from Western Canada in a much more orderly fashion than can be done during the next few days. When I hear of demands such as these on behalf of the Western grain grower, I have even a higher appreciation of the patience and understanding shown by the farmers of Eastern Canada, and particularly those of my own Province.

Now that the CBC strike is over, the next problem to solve is that of the Nova Scotia coal miner. I hope that before this week is over, real progress will have been made in that direction. Bob Winters once told me that whatever portfolio the Minister from Nova Scotia held, he automatically was Minister of Coal Mines. I am afraid that there is more truth than poetry in that statement. Certainly it is a most serious problem from the miner's standpoint and a solution must be reached, both on the short term basis of the immediate emergency, and also an approach to a long term solution so that this industry may be put on a sound foundation without chaotic upheavals every year.

In the meantime, the sun is stronger, the days are longer, but the temperatures still drop to sub-zero at night. But the calendar tells us that in a few weeks it will be Easter and the House of Commons will be closing for a ten day recess.

HOME & SCHOOL MEETS AT SANDY COVE

Home and School met in the Digby Neck consolidated school on March 5 with Rev. C. T. Olmstead presiding.

Rev. C. F. MacKinnon opened the meeting with prayer. A sing-song of old time favorites was led by Rev. D. I. McClare. Mrs. Elmer Lewis, secretary, read the minutes after which a brief business meeting was held. Since it was Education Week, Mr. Olmstead turned the meeting over to the principal, Miss Elizabeth McCullough. The handwork of the school was on display in all classrooms from primer to grade 6. Many parents availed themselves of the privilege of visiting the class rooms, talking with the teachers and learning more of their children's work. At the close of the meeting delicious refreshments were served by the teaching staff.

Mr. Olmstead expressed his pleasure in having such a large crowd out and thanked the teachers for their extra effort put forward to make the evening a success. Mr. Olmstead offered prayer and the meeting was closed by singing "God Save the Queen."

Marriage

The United Baptist Church at Clementsville was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Saturday afternoon, March 7, when vows were exchanged beween Jessica Jean, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Whitehouse, Bear River East, and Roy William Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ferguson, Fairview, Halifax. The double ring ceremony was performed in a setting of seasonal flowers by Rev. Edgar Robinson, pastor of the church. In the presence of over a hundred guests. To the strains of the wedding march, played by Judith Buckler, Halifax, the bride, a vision of loveliness, entered the church on the arm of her father, by whom she was given in marriage. She was adorned in a floor length gown of wide nylon net and chandilly lace over satin, the lace bodice embroidered with iridescent sequins and simulated pearls was styled with bateau neckline and long sleeves ending in points over the wrists. Appliques of lace, pearls and sequins adorned the front panel of the skirt, the back of which consisted of very full flounces of net and lace. Her finger-tip veil was held in place by a bridal cap of nylon tulle embroidered with sequins and pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of American Beauty Roses and white carnations. Miss Florence Purdy, cousin of the bride, Miss Jackie Coates, R. N. and Mrs. Fraser Murray, R. T. attended the bride, wearing blue respectfully with matching accessories and carrying nosegays of chrysanthemums and carnations. The groom was supported by his brother, Bryce Clayton, Halifax, while Fraser Murray and George Boutilier acted as ushers.

During the signing of the register, "Wedding Prayer" by Dunlap was beautifully rendered by Miss Sheila Harris.

The mother of the bride's dress was of silk organza and lace in a warm beige shade, with flower hat and accessories to match, while the groom's mother chose for her costume a silver gray satin brocade with touches of gold and black with which she wore turquoise hat and accessories. Both wore corsages of pink and white Carnations.

The reception following was held in the I. O. O. F. Hall Bear River, which was suitably decorated with baskets of spring flowers. The bride's table was centered by the bride's cake flanked with tall white tapers in silver candlesticks, bowls of flowers and the groom's cake baked by his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hamilton, Raynordton, completed the setting.

Mrs. Harold Purdy, aunt of the bride, presided over the refreshments, assisted by Mrs. Willis Buckler, Mrs. Robert Potter and Mrs. Purdy Wheelhouse, sister-in-law of the bride served the bridal party. Also assisting were Mrs. Willis Trimmer, Mrs. Lorge Fraser, Mrs. Arthur Jefferson, Mrs. Wilbur Trimmer, Mrs. Keith Fraser, Mrs. Jean Rice and Mrs. George Boutilier.

The wedding cake was cut in the traditional manner and then served to the assembled guests by the bride and groom.

For going away the bride wore a pink wool sheath dress with black fur jacket, pink hat and black accessories, her corsage was of pink carnation. After a short motor trip through the province, Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson will reside in Halifax, where the groom is on the staff of the Royal Bank of Canada. Mrs. Ferguson, prior to her marriage, was employed as a laboratory technician at the Yarmouth Hospital, Yarmouth, Nova Scotia.

For a long time the visitor to the museum stood gazing at the Egyptian mummy swathed in bandages. "Tell me one thing," he ventured.

"What is it, sir?" asked the guide. "Did you have motor bikes then?"

FAST RELIEF FOR

TIRED FEET

Premier Stanfield tabled an interim statement of expenditures and advances from capital account and special reserve for the period ending March 31, 1958. It showed that more than $4,000,000 remains available from previous voted authority — so the money has been well husbanded — not spent just because it was there to spend.

A rental control bill was "killed" by assembly vote because the government feels new Opposition leader Hicks asked the Premier about the rumored arrangement with an American firm that seaweed and kelp be harvested along a lengthy stretch of coastline. Mr. Stanfield assured Mr. Hicks that talks are in process but that no commitment will be made in any fashion until the matter is aired ment expects tot spend over sideration.

The Premier tabled his account of capital estimates which totals slightly more than $26,000,000 but $10,000,000 of which is to retire old indebtedness built up through the years. Something over $3,000,000 remains of the last session's vote so the total available to be spent other than on debt retirement will be in the vicinity of $18,000,000.

How to cut a FANCY figure ...without spending one!

The way to cut a fancy figure without spending one is to drop into your neighbourhood Ford Dealer and ask him to show you his Custom 300 Tudor Sedan with a Six engine. It's the lowest-priced of all Fords—in fact the lowest-priced car in its class.*

Ford also gives you a whole series of standard features that would cost you $87.25 extra in a directly competitive model (which costs more to begin with). Examples? Foam cushioning in the front seat, extra body insulation, 66-plate battery, aluminum muffler that lasts up to twice as long... just to mention a few.

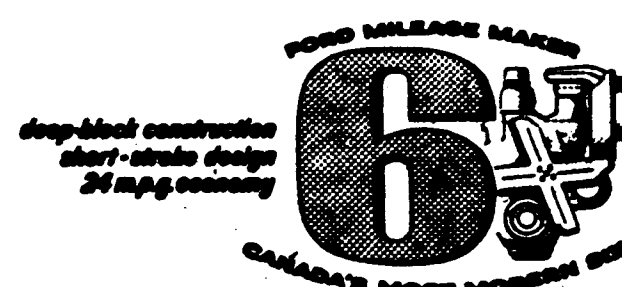

Sounds good? It is good. Drop into your nearest Ford Dealer's and see for yourself.

The Custom 300 Tudor is as economical to run as it is to buy. For example, with a Mileage Maker Six engine you get up to 24 miles per gallon of regular gas.

Ford gives you a choice of 18 models in 5 series, that start with the low-priced Custom 300 and include the Fairlane, Fairlane 500, Galaxie and Station Wagons. Six or V-8 available in all models.

CNT MICROWAVE SYSTEM—Harassed by one of the coldest, snowiest winters in Newfoundland's history, Canadian National Telephones crews are doggedly pushing ahead with installation of a $9 million microwave system across the province. This map shows the location of repeater stations over which CBC television programs will be brought live into Newfoundland in time for ceremonies marking the St. Lawrence Seaway opening by Queen Elizabeth II in June. Harmon, to be linked with the system, is a United States Air Force base. Progress has continued despite storms which closed tower entry roads to all vehicles except snowmobiles, winds of more than 100 miles an hour which toppled scaffolding, freezing rain which within 15 minutes formed ice conditions hazardous for frost-tipped riggers and technicians and, at times, forced temporary suspension of work. Buildings have been completed at 18 of the sites, towers erected at 15. In addition to providing television in and out of Newfoundland—in the latter direction by the end of the year—the CNT project will mean greatly increased communications facilities to and from the island. With its completion Canadian National will be able to handle a much heavier flow of all types of traffic—telephone, teletype, radio, Telex—between Newfoundland and other parts of Canada and United States.

YUGOSLAV YOUTH WANTS CANADIAN LITERATURE

The mail from the CNR's public relations department in the Atlantic region contained a large envelope addressed to a youth in Yugoslavia. It contained literature and pictures on Canada.

Describing himself as a "Yugoslav boy" interested in Canada, Goelurc Horis of Skofia Loka sent a postcard to W. H. Collins, the CNR's divisional freight agent here, requesting some guide books, with pictures and pamphlets.

Goelurc said: "Although there isn't much hope of realizing a dream to visit Canada because of the great distance that separates our countries, I would like to learn about your wonderful scenery, customs and geography."

Mr. Collins, who assumed his address was learned from a CNR timetable or one of the company's representatives in Europe, turned the youth's request over to the railway's public relations department in Moncton.

Old Eaton's and Simpsons' catalogues are being collected and sent by April 1st to Mrs. Carlton Mason, British Sailors Society, North Sydney, N. S. Quoting from "Home & Country" the W.I.N.S. magazine — "These catalogues can become Canadian goodwill ambassadors to the far country of Portugal. Sometimes six or seven hundred sailors come and each wants a catalogue to take home. The women take the patterns off the clothes and the men copy the windows, doors and household accessories — unquote. Anyone can collect and send these catalogues prepaid by freight to the address above.

The programme for the month on Home Economics was ably prepared by Mrs. John McBride, who was unable to attend. It was carried out by the Programme Convener, Mrs. Douglas Andrews, consisting of readings on "The Importance of Milk in the Diet", "How to Prepare Foods" and "Healthy Foods for Everyday Menus".

An interesting article was read by Mrs. Andrews on "Institute Doings" in other lands, telling how greatly it has helped rural women in developing home making skills especially in countries like Asia and Africa where in some communities the women had never seen a pair of scissors until the Women's Institute came into their midst. The programme ended with a quiz concerning dairy foods and products.

A pleasant surprise awaited the members as Mrs. Andrews distributed wrapped gifts to all those present, which were given by her mother, Mrs. Cora Marr. These were mounted hand painted winter scenes done by Mrs. Marr. Everyone was delightfully pleased and will long remember the thoughtfulness of Mrs. Marr in doing such a nice gesture.

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening by the hostess, Mrs. Wentzell.

Faithfulness and truth are the most sacred excellences and endowments of the human mind. — Cicero.

Frost — Gidney

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the Digby United Baptist Church, when Deanna Faye Gidney, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Gidney, Little River, was united in marriage to Edgar Denton Frost, only son of Otto Frost, Little River.

Rev. H. S. Hartlin performed the double-ring ceremony in the presence of a number of guests. The bride looked lovely in a light blue suit with white accessories, and a corsage of white 'mums. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Ainsley Tidd, sister of the groom. The groom was supported by Ainsley Tidd.

A lovely lunch was served by Mrs. Clyde Denton, Mrs. Clayton Denton Jr. and Mrs. Stanley Denton. Mrs. Clayton Denton Sr. and Mrs. Wilfred Gidney, grandmothers of the bride, poured, while Mrs. Annie Ingersoll replenished.

Mr. and Mrs. Frost left for a honeymoon trip through the Annapolis Valley. Mr. Frost is employed at Little River.

TORONTO — NEW YORK PIGGYBACK LINK

A forthcoming international expansion of the Canadian National Railways piggyback freight service, which operates in the Maritimes, has been announced.

Toronto officers of the CNR said the first international piggyback service will be inaugurated March 23, between Toronto and New York City, jointly by the Canadian National and the Delaware, Lackawana and Western Railroad.

The service is being established to meet growing demands for piggyback handling of freight. It will be operated daily in each direction between the New York, New Jersey and Toronto metropolitan areas, using railway-owned trailers.

It is planned eventually to extend this new piggyback operation to additional areas.

The monthly meeting of the Baptist's Women's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. Roy Cameron on Monday evening, March 9th with the president, Mrs. John Tibbetts. The meeting opened with the WMS Watchword, after which the devotional was presented by Mrs. Roy Cameron. The theme of the devotional was "Full Power".

The program was conducted by Mrs. D. I. McClare and was on Civil Defence. Those reading parts were Mrs. Fred Dakin, Mrs. William Titus, Mrs. John Tibbetts, Mrs. Roy Cameron and Mrs. McClare. The meeting closed with "God Be With You" and the Mizpah Benediction.

A report was given on the World Day of Prayer observed in the United Church when ladies of the congregations of the Baptist and United Churches of Centreville and the Baptist Churches of Rossway and Roxville united to worship. The speaker was Mrs. D. I. McClare. Leaders were Mrs. J. Tibbetts, Mrs. K. Raymond, Mrs. Tibbetts, Mrs. Clare Dukeshire, Mrs. R. Morehouse and Mrs. L. Titus. Readers were Mrs. F. Dakin and Mrs. E. Morton.

Prayers were offered by Mrs. J. Tibbetts, Mrs. G. Porter, Mrs. J. McBride, Mrs. D. McClare and Mrs. R. Cameron. Soloist was Mrs. Loran Shaw who sang the very beautiful "Somebody Knows". Mrs. McClare was organist and Mrs. Gordon Morehouse received the offering.

On February 27 Mrs. John Tibbetts presided at an open meeting held in the Church. Miss Evelyn Eaton, a Missionary on furlough from India, was expected to be the guest speaker. However, since she did not arrive, Rev. and Mrs. McClare presented a very interesting and informative program on Missions. Scripture was read by Mrs. William Titus and prayer was offered by Mrs. Roy Cameron. Rev. McClare answered the many questions regarding the Study of Missions showing that ALL men, women and children need to study about missions.

A solo "How Great Thou Art" was rendered by Mrs. Loran Shaw. Mrs. McClare presented some parts of the work which is being done on the Mission field in India. Readers were Mrs. R. Morehouse, Mrs. W. Robicheau, Mrs. L. Shaw, Miss L. Baker, Mrs. J. McBride and Mrs. B. McBride. Mrs. G. Morehouse received the offering. Mrs. McClare presided at the organ. Mrs. Clifford I. Thibault Doucetteville was saddened on Saturday, March 7th, to learn of the passing at a Halifax hospital of Nettie, beloved wife of Clifford I. Thibault. Although in failing health for some time, death came as a shock to her relatives and friends.

Born in Doucetteville 53 years ago, she was the daughter of Mrs. Zinnie Thibault, of that place. She lived most of her life in Doucetteville where, as a young girl, she was organist of Sacred Heart Church, of which she was a faithful member. Prior to her marriage she resumed her duties as choir director and organist, performing this duty for the past 25 years. She will be greatly missed by her many friends for her charitable work.

She leaves to mourn their loss her husband at home, mother, Mrs. Zinnie Thibault, four sisters, Helen (Mrs. Herbert Amero), Berlin, N. H., Louise (Mrs. Delphis Comeau), Halifax, Margaret, Doucetteville, Jean (Mrs. Clifford Ward), Germany; four brothers, Johnie, Maine, Clifford, Doucetteville, Louie, Halifax, Nelson, Sudbury, Ont., as well as a number of nieces and nephews.

The remains rested at her late home until Tuesday, with funeral in time for 9 o'clock Mass of Requiem by Rev. Father Deveau, assisted by Rev. E. Le Blanc, St. Bernard, as deacon, and Rev. Father Comeau, Weymouth, as sub-deacon. The Sisters of Holy Cross Parish directed the choir which were members of Plympton Church.

Burial took place at Sacred Heart Cemetery under the direction of C. C. Nicholl, Weymouth. Pallbearers were Alcide, Elisee, Freddie Thibault and Pius Thibodeau. Floral tributes were many and beautiful, showing the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

The sympathy of her many friends go to her family and relatives.

A box of finished Red Cross articles were taken into Digby last week consisting of several dozen gauze wipes, men's socks, children's mittens and a ten year old size pullover sweater. Anyone wishing Red Cross work could contact Mrs. Waters Comeau. Red Cross work is always needed. Collectors will soon be calling at the homes in the community. Last year Nova Scotians collected only half the amount as was spent for Red Cross services to the people needing help.

Interesting Program Slated

The Professor of Hotel Administration at Cornell University, Dr. Gerald W. Lattin, will address delegates attending the Hotel Short Course in Halifax on Thursday, April 9th. Dr. Lattin, well known as a guest speaker at numerous Hotel Conventions and Workshops throughout the continent, is the author of "Modern Hotel Management" and contributor to many hotel and institution magazines. His subject for the Short Course will be "The Personality of Your Inn — Present and Future."

Accompanying Dr. Lattin will be Commander L. E. Bond, also an instructor at the Cornell School. Now retired from the U. S. Navy, Commander Bond has had many years experience as Director of Good Services in various naval hospitals and as director of the Naval School of Hospital Administration. He has recently returned from Tokyo, Japan, where with other Cornell personnel, he conducted a series of lectures to Air Force Club and Food Service Managers. The topic of Commander Bond's talk at the Short Course on April 9th will be "The Quality Quantity Food Operation", in which he will discuss Menu Planning, Cost Factors, Personnel Training, Meat and Vegetable selection and preparation, and the preparation of soups and sauces. Following the talk he will give a brief demonstration on the preparation of beef, lamb, veal, and poultry.

Over 700 invitations have been issued and advance registration indicates that a large percentage of the Hotel Operators of the province are planning to attend the Short Course which will be held at the Nova Scotia Hotel on April 7, 8, and 9.

Since its inception almost twenty years ago, the Nova Scotia Hotel Short Course has proven to be of invaluable aid to those engaged in the business of catering to tourists. While primarily intended for hotel operators, the Department of Trade and Industry, sponsor of the Course, welcomes restaurant and institutional food service operators and any others interested in the tourist industry.

Visitors at the home of Robert Winchester and the Misses Winchester on Friday evening were Robert Smith of Moncton and Wilfred Miller of Lansdowne.

Mrs. George Winchester was hostess to the WMS of the Smith's Cove Baptist Church on Thursday afternoon.

The Society of Friends met with the president, Mrs. Marshall Turner on Friday evening. Following the business period a delightful program was presented by Mrs. Clayton Woodman and Mrs. Chester Brinton, featuring Music as the theme.

Several piano duets by these two ladies were enjoyed and several contests on songs old and new with hidden titles and varied definitions served to sharpen the wits of the members. Mrs. Turner and Mrs. R. Harrison were the prize winners.

Commander L. E. Bond, instructor in Hotel Administration at Cornell University, will address the annual Nova Scotia Hotel Short Course being held in Halifax April 7-9. Commander Bond is the former head of food service for all United States naval hospitals.

Rev. Ronald C. MacCormack, West End Baptist Church, Halifax, Nova Scotia.

STILLING THE STORMS

A small boat carrying Jesus and His disciples was on its way across the Lake of Galilee. The Lord lay asleep while his followers manned the boat. Suddenly a storm broke. The face of the sea became like a huge boiling pot. You can imagine their fright, and the speed with which they awakened Jesus.

By a word, He calmed the storm.

Incidentally, He can calm any storm. If fierce winds are blowing in your life, call upon the same One Whom the disciples called upon.

When temptation comes with startling force, He can push it back. It comes to all of us to meet Satan, but in Christ we can have the stillness of His peace, and victory. When victimized by a blazing temper, and by hot, perverted passions, one needs the Lord in a hurry. Otherwise, the boat with the tempest will be lost and another life ruined.

Jesus can calm the sea of sorrow. Loved ones must pass on. The separation may produce an inner tumult seemingly too great to bear. A quick and genuine call upon the Lord will banish bitterness and furnish blessed comfort. When Jesus is called in, the tears will soon dry and the wounded heart be soothed.

Fortunate is the person who is alert enough to call upon the living Saviour when storm breaks.

Attractive Bungalow Shows Careful Planning and Design

The substantial appearance of this three-bedroom bungalow designed by architect P. Meschino, of Toronto, should find appeal with many prospective home owners. The massive chimney, wide windows and attractive entrance, highlighted by two planting areas, all contribute to a pleasing exterior.

The architect has given the same careful attention to the interior design providing for well-separated living and sleeping quarters. The well-planned kitchen has ample cupboard space and is convenient to both the dining room and rear service entrance. The separate compartment arrangement in the bathroom is another feature.

The floor area is 1,393 square feet and the exterior dimensions are 48 feet by 29 feet. Working drawings for this house, known as Design 256, are available from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

Addresses Group At Annapolis

John R. Nichols (above), barrister of Digby, was the guest speaker at The Order of Good Cheer banquet at Annapolis Royal, presided over by the President, J. L. Jelly.

Mr. Nichols' subject was "Frontier College", the most unique college in Canada. Mr. Nichols spoke from actual experience as he was one of the students given a railway pass and $1 and told to go to Winnipeg and then one hundred and fifty miles north and work ten hours a day in a logging or railway camp and teach basic English at night. His black board was a ground sheet. His fellow labourers, his pupils, from Poland, Germany, Russia, Ukraine and other foreign countries.

Frontier College was started in 1891 by Professor Bradman, a native of Pictou County, Nova Scotia. It received its charter in 1922.

Over seventy students are selected each year from universities, given basic English primers and told to teach English, geography.

Mr. Nichols spoke of the President of "Frontier College", Eric W. Robinson, being in Halifax last week recruiting students to go to mining, logging, construction and railway camps for the summer.

The student gains an experience in leadership and helps the labourer in his education, his recreation and culture.

Dr. L. B. Layton moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Nichols for bringing such an interesting and so little known subject to the meeting.

Mr. Nichols was introduced by David Armstrong, barrister of Annapolis Royal.

Province To Be Represented At Boston Trade Fair

Nova Scotia will be represented at the first all-Canadian Trade Fair ever to be held in the city of Boston. In the main ballroom of the Sheraton-Plaza Hotel from Monday, April 20, to Friday, April 24, more than 10,000 square feet of space will be devoted to the display of Canadian products and industries.

The Hon. E. A. Manson, Nova Scotia's Minister of Trade and Industry, will attend the Fair and, in addition, the Province will have representatives in attendance to answer queries on tourism and industrial development. For this, the province will share with the other three Atlantic provinces and Quebec an information booth set up in the foyer of the hotel.

The Fair, sponsored by the Department of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa, will be directed by F. B. Clark, Canadian Consul and Trade Commissioner at Boston. Items of interest apart from the exhibits will include fashion shows, Canadian films, a one-day businessman's forum, a goodwill visit by ships of the Royal Canadian Navy and a "Canada Day" at Fenway Park Stadium where the R.C.N. band will perform.

Considerable publicity is being given by Boston T.V. and radio stations, the CBC supplying programs of Canadian music, drama, talks and regional documentaries. The two daily newspapers, the "Herald" and the "Globe", plan to publish special Canadian supplements in their respective pre-fair issues. This trade fair is said by Ottawa to strike a new note in Canada's Sales promotion efforts in the United States.

It's well to forget the past because the future will give you plenty to worry about.

County Student Wins Trip

Joseph Chester Melanson, Claire District High School, has been named winner among 15 young Nova Scotians of a four day visit to New York City through a magazine salesmanship contest sponsored by their school. Joseph is son of Mrs. Freda Melanson, Meteghan Centre.

The group will travel to New York via TCA and will be staying at the hotel Taft. Various sightseeing tours have been arranged and include visits to Canada House and the Canadian Consulate General and to the United Nations where a special briefing has been arranged by the Canadian Delegation to the U. N. Other features of the tour will include the Ed Sullivan Show and a Broadway Hit Show.

Miss Lena Reinhardt, teacher at West Kings District High School, will be chaperone for the tour, which has been arranged by Mr. Donald Frost, Truro, representative for the Curtis Publishing Company, who will accompany the group.

Palm Sunday Observed

Palm Sunday was observed in Grace United Church on Sunday when the pastor, Rev. James Brooks, speaking on the Triumphal Entry, said Jesus showed outstanding courage, he claimed to be the King of peace and he made a clear call and appeal to His people. The choir sang the anthem "Jerusalem He Cometh" with Mrs. J. M. Wallis as soloist.

Twelve new members were received into the church. They were Marilyn Jean Atkinson, June Marie Hawkins, Harold Atlee Hawkins, Keith Robert Hawkins, Valerie Elizabeth Howdorth, Dennis Keith Kaye, Barry Churchill MacDormand, Margaret Rose MacDormand, Florence Elaine Murphy, Wilhelmina Murphy, Evelyn O'Brien, Edward James Perry. They were given the right hand of fellowship by seven members of the church session.

Holy Week services continued in Grace United and a service will be held at eleven o'clock on Good Friday morning.

Roads Closed To Heavy Traffic

The full provisions of the law will be invoked against the operators of motor vehicles who fail to observe the regulations covering weight restrictions during the Spring road closing period, Highways Minister G. I. Smith said today.

All roads in the western part of the province were closed to certain classes of traffic at midnight Wednesday and official notices have already been published. Closing of the remaining sections of the province will follow in a few days and vehicle operators are advised to watch for the notices in the press.

Because of the severity of the past winter, it is more important than ever that the regulations be observed, Mr. Smith stated. The province has a huge investment in its highway system and it is imperative that everyone concerned help to protect the highways against the severe damage that overweight vehicles are bound to inflict.

Most vehicle operators are cooperative, the Minister said, because they realize that it is in their own best interests, but the few operators who feel that they can disregard the regulations are warned that they will be liable to heavy penalty under the law.

The restrictions will be removed as soon as the highways are in a condition to support normal traffic without risk of undue damage, said Mr. Smith.

Clarifies Report

Deputy Minister of Highways, J. L. Wickwire, has clarified a report appearing in the Halifax Chronicle-Herald on Thursday, March 19, with respect to the operation of passenger and school buses during the spring weight restrictions on the highways. The situation is that while passenger and school buses are not subject to the weight limitations affecting all other heavy vehicles, they are limited to a gross load of 17,000 pounds.

Scallop Boats Collide

The scallop boat "Dale and Roger" belonging to Max Longmire, Hillsburn, Annapolis Co., was badly damaged on Saturday when it was in collision with another scallop dragger the "G. M. G." belonging to Mr. Longmire's brother, Gerald, also of Hillsburn.

The "Dale and Roger", which was smashed in the rear, has undergone repair at Digby and it is understood is ready to resume operations. The accident occurred while fishing on the scallop beds in the Bay of Fundy.

Give Excellent Performance

Those in Digby and friends in other parts of Digby County and throughout the province were treated to a fine performance on Thursday evening when the dancing class of Mrs. Frances Peters was seen over CHS-TV, channel 4. Those taking part were Cecile Doiron, Gail Hersey, Joan White and Elizabeth Peters of Digby in a Canadian number and Pamela Wright, Carol Roberge, Beverly Kaulback, Digby, and Gloria Theriault, Belliveau Cove, in an acrobatic dance. They were seen on the regular Jene Wood Show.

Blanks Stolen, Public Warned

A warning to the public to check the serial numbers of all Canadian National Express money orders submitted for cashing in denominations up to $100, has been issued by E. A. Spearing, director of CNR's investigation department.

Twelve money order blanks with serial numbers CN 13868 to CN 13879 inclusive were stolen from the office of Trans-World Travel Service Ltd., 257 St. Catherine Street, said Mr. Spearing. They bear the stamp of the CN Express, Montreal branch.

Digby Baptist Church News

Special Easter services will be held in the Digby Baptist Church, morning and evening. The Junior Choir, which now numbers about thirty voices, will lead the singing at the morning service and also provide special music. The morning service will be followed by the Communion of the Lord's Supper. The dedication of a new Pulpit Bible will also form a part of the worship service. Easter service will be held at the Hill Grove church in the afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Pre-Easter services will be held in the Vestry of the Digby church on Thursday and Friday evenings of this week at 8 p.m. The pastor, Rev. H. S. Hartlin, has formed a preparatory class for baptism and church membership which meets every Sunday morning following the worship service.

At the Hill Grove Church, the B. Y. P. U. members conducted an interesting debate on Tuesday evening on the subject "Resolved that every student should attend College." Those participating included Catherine Murley and John Murley for the affirmative, and Richard Porter and Bobby Killam for the negative. Decision was given in favor of the negative.

An invitation has been extended by the Hill Grove B.Y.P.U. to the Digby group to attend a social gathering in the Hall on Tuesday evening, April 7th.

Digby Legion Meets

Ralph Wright, past president of the Digby Branch Canadian Legion, was presented with the past president's medal and badge at a recent meeting of the branch held at the Legion Hall. The presentation was made by Comrade Chaplain William Barton.

Thirty-six members were present, three being new members. It was reported that three pensions had been secured during the month. It was understood the hockey game to be sponsored by the Legion has been cancelled.

Snow Queen & Princesses

Grass Fires Becoming Burden

As high as five times on Wednesday the Digby Fire Department was called out to fight grass fires which got out of control of persons who had lighted them. Many of the grass fires which are avoidable, place a heavy burden on a volunteer fire department and it is understood that the firemen and the wardens are making a strong plea to the residents of the town to refrain from igniting grass fires.

Easter Monday To Be Holiday

After much deliberation it was decided that Easter Monday was declared a holiday in Digby as in previous years. For some time it was considered by the mayor and councillors to follow the pattern of most of Nova Scotia towns in not observing Easter Monday. Pressure from merchants changed the views of the town fathers and His Worship Mayor V. G. Cardoza issued the holiday proclamation.

Big Rats — Little Rats

There is no Pied Piper expected around the corner. The picture above shows left to right Winston Haight, Linda Amero, Della Merritt and Margo Webster displaying the white rats they are using to get a practical lesson in nutrition. The lesson is carried on by Grade IX students of the Digby Regional High School under the supervision of Mr. Clinton McInnis, teacher. Linda is shown holding one each of the fat rats and lean rats. On Winston's shoulder can be seen one of the "pets" while another is in his hand. Della and Margo are urging their charges to settle down for the camera.

The experiment started about four weeks ago when Miss Ruth McKinnon, nutritionist with the N. S. Department of Health, visited the Digby school on request of the students to start the project. The rats are providing the value of a well balanced breakfast and charts are kept as shown above to mark the progress by weight. The originally smaller rats were fed a well balanced breakfast but soon gained weight over those which were purposely given an insufficient diet. The process is now being reversed and the students on checking the weights have found that the well fed rats are not nearly so rapidly effected by the reverse breakfast diet as if they had not had the reserve upon which to draw. The previously undernourished rats are making gains, it has been noted by the students. Another observation of the students is the difference in the coats and skins because of the diets.

Entertains Grand Matron At Tea

The home of Mrs. John Russell was the scene of a beautiful tea on Thursday when St. Mary's Chapter Eastern Star was entertained and District Deputy Grand Matron, Sister Annie Horton, was guest of honor. Mrs. Russell was assisted by Sister Jean Anderson and Sister Joyce Daley. Amid a profusion of daffodil and pussy willows, the tea table was presided over by Sister Ruby Roope. Mrs. Russell is matron of St. Mary's Chapter and Mr. Russell is patron.

On Thursday evening Sister Horton attended the regular meeting along with Brother Douglas Horton, P.G.P. It was announced that the Grand Chapter would meet in Prince Edward Island in July.

See Easter Film

The North Range Baptist W.M.S. met with the president Mrs. J. V. Andrews on Tuesday evening. The Easter program was under the direction of Mrs. Andrews and scripture was read by Mrs. Milton Bragg, prayer by Mrs. H. A. Shortliffe. Rev. and Mrs. R. R. Winchester sang a beautiful duet, "How Great Thou Art". Part three of the film strip "The Resurrection Story" was presented by Rev. Mr. Winchester with Mrs. Winchester as narrator.

During the business session the president reported that the White Cross box had been completed and was ready for mailing to India. A box of food was to be shipped also.

Combining business and pleasure often spoils the pleasure.

She received many cards and gifts, also a birthday cake made by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Morrell.

Although Mrs. Morrell is not enjoying the best of health at present, she enjoyed the day very much.

Conducting Agricultural Short Course

W. A. Jenkins, Associate Director of Extension at the Agricultural College, Truro, addressed farmers from Bear River to Weymouth at a short course held at the Maple Leaf Agricultural building at Conway on Tuesday evening. The short course meetings which are chaired by William LePorte, Weymouth, agricultural representative in the area, were conducted for two days, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. Jenkins spoke on the major problems in the agricultural industry. One of the problems facing the industry is structural change. Eighty per cent of the population is now in industrial areas and twenty per cent in the agricultural area. Agriculture, he said, is one of the few industries which operate by pure competition. Agriculture operates on a sellers market for the things that farmers buy and on a strictly buyers market for things they sell. The terrific amount of underemployment in agriculture, Mr. Jenkins attributed to poor distribution of labor throughout the year.

Capital rationing is another factor attributing to the problems of farmers. Farmers do not procure sufficient capital to operate on at the optimum level. Too many working in the agricultural industry in relation to the constant consumer figure creates a problem. The ideal situation of fewer but larger farms managed by more efficient operators is the goal which is trying to be achieved for the benefit of the industry.

Another problem of the industry is that farmers seldom produce at the highest level. Frequently they use insufficient artificial fertilizers and lime to give the utmost production.

To remedy some of their difficulties, Mr. Jenkins recommended that farmers press for the freight rate assistance policy to be made a statutory act in parliament so that the farmer has a measure of assurance and has confidence for expanding. The city consumer eventually benefits by improvement in agriculture so the speaker urged that the present agricultural research and extension program should be maintained. Another remedy to the farmers' problems could be achieved by expanding farm management assistance to individual farmers, he continued.

Other speakers were Dr. Stanley Curtis of the Department of Agriculture; A. V. Banks, Bear River, who dealt with artificial insemination and beef production, on Wednesday afternoon, and H. A. L. MacLaughlin, of the Department of Agriculture, who last evening spoke on Gardening of Small Fruits and Vegetables.

Digby Soldier Graduates

Bdr. Wilfred K. Nash, Queen Street, Digby, was among a group of soldiers graduating from a Senior Non-commissioned Officers Course at the Royal Canadian School of Artillery at Camp Shilo, Manitoba.

The intensive 10 weeks course was designed to train candidates as instructors and gun detachment commanders, and to develop in them qualities of leadership. Candidates were required to study in their own time, and carry out normal regimental duties after training periods. Their manner, conduct and military bearing was closely watched, on and off duty, by officers and warrant officers of the instructional staff.

Bdr. Nash now returns to his parent unit, the 4th Regiment, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery in Petawawa, Ontario.

Roads Closed

All roads in the eastern and northern sections of the province will be closed to certain classes of traffic effective midnight tonight, March 26, it was announced Tuesday by Highways Minister Smith.

Highways in western Nova Scotia were closed a week ago because thaw conditions were more advanced in that area.

Operators of commercial vehicles are asked to cooperate by observing the weight restrictions Mr. Smith said.

The Minister said it is impossible to predict how long the restrictions will have to remain in force. "But the roads will be opened as soon as the engineers who have them under continuous observation are satisfied that it is safe to do so," he said.

Special Fares For Servicemen

Canadian National Railways will be offering reduced fares to personnel of the armed forces during the Easter holidays.

George Stiven, general passenger agent for the company's Atlantic region, said the CNR has authorized round-trip coach class fares for members of the armed forces during their Easter furlough at the regular one-way coach fare and one-tenth.

These armed forces vacation tickets may be purchased anytime between March 26 and March 31, both dates inclusive. The return limit is leaving destination not later than 12 o'clock midnight April 6, 1959.

CNR Acknowledges Conscience Money

This season of Lent evidently has stirred the conscience of an unidentified Nova Scotian.

He or she has sent $20 to the Canadian National Railways, with a partial explanation which confessed "this is yours, not mine... sincere Lenten conscience and repentance."

The note accompanying the money bore a Halifax dateline. There was no hint as to why the sender was indebted to the CNR.

The remittance was the second of its kind received by the railway in the Atlantic region in less than two months. Ten dollars came through the mail in January.

Repayments from the conscience-stricken are recorded from time to time. They have ranged from a few dollars up to $100, returned in Saint John.

No man is fully educated until he learns to read himself.

All things come to those who wait—on themselves.

BIG GUNS?—No, not the big guns of yesterday's battleships and battle cruisers, but anti-submarine mortars of the Royal Canadian Navy's modern destroyer escorts, rated as the most advanced submarine killers afloat. The twin-mounted triple mortars are the destroyers' principal armament. Loaded with lethal bombs of far greater power than Second World War depth charges, the mortars are controlled by electronic equipment that locates and tracks the submarine and then fires the weapons at the correct moment and with great accuracy.

Many people pay too much for the things they get for nothing.
Fidelity finds its reward and its strength in exalted purpose. — Mary Baker Eddy.
A good many people drop all their money trying to pick up more.
Unless a man is doing all he can he is doing less than he should.
If you think women never do anything on time, you've never gone shopping with them.
A straight tip on a sure thing usually demonstrates the uncertainties of life.

WANTADS

Card of Thanks

CASEY—The family of the late Mrs. Annie Casey wishes to thank all their friends and neighbours for flowers and cards, also all those who helped with the funeral arrangements and service in any way.
HERSEY—I wish to thank all those who sent cards, fruit, and friends who came to see me while I was a patient in the Digby General Hospital. Also special thanks to Dr. Webster, Dr. Lewis, Dr. McCleave, nurses and staff who were so kind to me while I was there.
WILSON—We wish to thank all our very good friends and neighbors who sent cards, flowers and for every act of kindness shown us during our sad loss of little Julie. We want especially to thank Rev. William Scott, Dr. D. G. Black, Mr. Furlong, Wilfred Miller, Conrad and Darrell. — Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson.
30:1

OUTHOUSE—I wish to extend sincere thanks to Dr. McCleave and Dr. Webster, nurses and staff of the Digby Hospital who were so kind to me during my stay there. Many thanks to friends who called to see me and sent cards, etc. — Mr. Clyde Outhouse, Tiverton, Nova Scotia.

SCALLOPS MAKE DELICIOUS DISHES
The scallop is a delicious shell fish. Like the oyster it is an ocean bivalve. Unlike the oyster it has power of movement and by opening and closing its two shells can propel itself rapidly through the water. The large muscle which controls shell movement is tender and succulent and is the only part of the scallop eaten in this country.
Almost everyone is familiar with the appearance of the scallop's fan-shaped shell, incidentally the trademark of a well-known oil company. In the Middle Ages, we are told that the scallop shell was a symbol of piety. Christian pilgrims on their way to a shrine wore it in their hats. Pilgrims travelling through France to worship at the shrine of St. Jacques (St. James) in Spain were such a common sight, the French people nick-named the scallop Coquille St. Jacques. Today if you should ask for Coquilles St. Jacques in a Parisienne restaurant, you would be served with scallops in a delicious sauce, arranged in deep scallop shells. This dish is a culinary as well as artistic triumph.
French Fried Scallops
1 pound scallops.
Salt.
One-quarter cup flour.
1 egg, beaten.
Three-quarter cup fine, dry bread crumbs.
Separate scallops and sprinkle with salt. Roll each scallop in flour, dip in egg and roll in dry bread crumbs. Fry in hot, deep fat (375 degrees F.), until golden brown. This will take from 3 to 4 minutes. Drain on absorbent paper and serve garnished with lemon wedges and accompanied by tartar sauce. Makes 3 or 4 servings.

In Memoriam

BARNES—In loving memory of Captain Hillyard Barnes, who passed away March 28, 1949.
God called him home, it was His will
But in our hearts we love him still
His memory is as dear today
As in the hour he passed away
Ever remembered by his wife and five children.
30:1p
HANDSPIKES—In memory of Ada Handspiker, who passed away two years ago, March 26th.
Ada left me just two years ago.
I remember the day so well.
I've managed since then; there's chores to be done.
But the loneliness none can tell.
I remember too, the words she spoke
When she said, "Jud, I'll meet you there."
So I'm pressing on with this going in view
To that Mansion, I'm also an heir.
— Inserted by her husband, Judson Handspiker.
30:1p
KERS—In memory of Pte. Kenneth Erb, Jr., killed in action in Korea, March 26th, 1952.
Down the lane of memory,
The lights are never dim,
Until the stars forget to shine.
We will remember him.
— Lovingly remembered, Mother and Bob.
30:1c
ROBBINS—In loving memory of Mrs. Norman Robbins who passed away March 23, 1949.
I have lost my soul's companion.
A life linked with my own,
And day by day I miss her more.
As I walk through life alone,
It's loneliness here without you,
And sad the weary way.
For life is not the same to me
Since you were called away.
— Sadly missed by husband, Norman; daughter, Reba; son-in-law, Clarence, and grandchildren, Norman, Douglas, Robert and Linda White.
30:1c
While some men battle their way to the top, others bottle their way to the bottom.

Bar Obstructs Passage

Church Point wharf and harbor was completely blocked by a gravel bar which surged across the entrance to a distance of over 75 feet. Fishing boats were unable to enter or leave the harbor, following the heavy gales of the last few days. It is the first time in the history of this wharf that it has been completely blocked.

The Church Point wharf, under favorable conditions, is one of the best harbors along St. Mary's Bay and many fishing boats from other sections come to Church Point when heavy gales are forecasted. But with the gravel bar which forms, especially during the winter months when gales prevail, this opportunity of having a safe haven is somewhat curtailed.

The local fishermen as well as the surrounding other districts expect to have something done to enable them to fish to better advantage. Since the hurricane Edna of several years ago, the gravel has been forming to a greater extent than formerly which is due to the fact that a 100 foot extension of the present wharf was washed away. The present wharf serves merely as a retaining wall as it follows the dune, whereas the extension stood out westwardly into the sea. The gravel follows the present wharf and skirts the short 50 foot extension on the first portion of the wharf extends in a north-easterly direction with a 50 foot extension extends to the south for another 100 feet and then follows the dune for several hundred feet. The gravel on the dune abuts the end of this portion of the wharf and naturally is carried along the side of the wharf until it works past the portion that faces north-easterly and blocks the channel.

This channel has been kept clear as much as possible by but fill will have to be brought in to raise the lot up to a satisfactory level. This type of lot also raises a number of drainage problems.

You should also enquire about the present tax rate on the property you are considering and investigate the probable assessment on the property after completion of the house. Local authorities will be able to give you an estimate. The main concern in considering the tax feature is to determine the relative advantages of the tax level on the property in comparison with the taxes on similar properties in the areas.

If you hope to obtain a mortgage loan to assist in financing the construction of your house, remember that the amount you may borrow will be influenced largely by the suitability of the lot you acquire. Under these circumstances discuss the purchase of the property under consideration with the approved lender of your choice before making any final decision.

Good transportation is also essential. Ready access by street car or bus to the urban areas is most important for all members of the family. Closely allied with transportation is safety. Has the neighbourhood a good record with regard to traffic accidents? Is there adequate police and fire protection?

Amusement centres are prerequisites for any modern community. Facilities for both indoor and outdoor sports should be readily available. Under the headings of services, and improvements, investigate such matters as garbage collection, telephone service, electricity, water supply, and road conditions.

Careful consideration should be given before you invest your future in a community. The location of your house determines the accessibility of work and play, and fixes the conditions of light, air and sunshine. It also provides neighborhood associates and activities. Thus careful examination of the community before building or buying is a form of investment insurance that pays dividends in greater living satisfaction for you in the future.

A lot that slopes gently up from the street has many advantages from the standpoint of appearance and drainage, as well as costs. In such instances, much of the soil that has been excavated can be used to advantage in grading the site. A lot that slopes down from the street will mean less excavation work the Dept. of Public Works with a bulldozer removing the gravel and clearing the channel after practically each storm. This has been done for the last ten years although at the commencement the gravel was negligible but in recent years since the wharf extension was washed away, the gravel bar has increased in size. Several weeks ago the storm of that time had extended the gravel bar to 60 feet and as funds were low, a cut was made into the bar to enable the fishing boats to leave for the fishing grounds. This cut was of short duration when a few days later gales prevailing at that time completely filled in the gap and extended the bar further.

The blocked harbor formed an artificial lake until a gap was cut at the extreme end. Gravel has been removed every year for the last ten years and the gravel so removed has formed an island about 75 feet from the wharf and is approximately 150 feet in diameter. It is with this island that the bar extended to from the wharf, keeping the water from receding with the tide.

Work is presently being undertaken with a tractor-lifter and trucks to remove the gravel bar. With gales from the westerly direction, the amount of gravel removed in one day or more, may be refilled the next day.

Engineers have been observed around the wharf and their report will be sent to the department responsible for the wharves and harbours and the local fishermen are hoping that something will be done to make fishing from Church Point wharf a more interesting one. Under present conditions, except when the entrance is completely barred, the fishermen may leave only at half tide and must return before the tide has completely receded, otherwise they cannot enter into the harbor. This causes extreme hardship to the fishermen.

During the summer months the local wharf is used by larger boats who carry herring to the local fish plant. The seriousness of having a decent wharf may be more clearly understood when you are aware that over 25 carloads of pickled herring are shipped from Church Point and smoked herring also are shipped. Pickled herring are shipped to the American markets which brings new cash to the district. Employment plays a big part also and fishing is one of the largest money makers in these parts, especially since the lumber market has hit a slump. Even under better conditions, the fishing along St. Mary's Bay is one of the largest contributors to the economy of the District of Clare.

With better wharf facilities at Church Point, more fishing will be undertaken and those now fishing will be able to stay on the fishing grounds for longer periods than they are presently doing.

Increased Land Prices

Canadian Cities Accelerated Growth Matched By Increased Land Prices

Canadian cities are now encroaching on suburban land at the rate of about 100 square miles per year, according to Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation. At present Canada's urban areas cover more than 1,500 square miles. If expansion continues at the present rate, the actual land area will be doubled by the year 1973.

Residential areas, including local access roads and lane-ways, account for just over one half of all urban land in this country. Less than a sixth of all land classed as urban is taken up by railways, industry and commercial establishments. The rest is public land which includes streets, parks, schools, public buildings, utilities and airports. In all, about 35% to 40% of urban land area is publicly owned.

Many hundreds of square miles of suburban land are held in reserve for urban expansion. Land set aside for future urban development is bought far in advance of actual building requirements, often from five to ten years ahead of development.

The calculated rate of urban expansion is based on the assumption that the rate of residential construction during the next decade will average about 150,000 new houses a year.

This progressive absorption of the peripheral farm land around our cities will eventually result in a radical change in the Canadian landscape. It has been calculated, for instance, that the Niagara fruit belt will have virtually disappeared at the turn of the century, unless there is a deliberate effort to redirect the growth and prevent the eventual merger of the three key cities involved - Hamilton, St. Catharines and Niagara Falls.

The natural consequence of this accelerated urbanization has been a steep rise in urban land prices. CMHC reports show that the average value of building lots for houses financed under the National Housing Act has risen from $523 in 1947 to $2,852 in 1958.

The increase in values is not entirely due to the general inflationary trend in our economy or land speculation. There are other factors involved. Typical residential lots are now larger than they were ten years ago. Furthermore, the cost of services which was formerly reclaimed the form of improvement taxes, now has to be borne by the developer in many cases and the cost is added to the lot or the completed house.

The average increase in agricultural land prices has been kept considerably below the increase in land price in urban areas. The average assessed value of agricultural land in Canada in 1947 was $35 per acre and is now about $55 per acre, an increase of slightly under 60%. The jump in land prices in urban areas over the same period represents an increase of close to 50%.

Governmental concern with overall urban planning is best exemplified by the fact that the number of professionals and municipal has increased tenfold since the end of World War 2. The total budget in Canada for municipal planning departments alone is now in the neighbourhood of $3 million a year.

The awakening of the public mind to this problem is also encouraging. Four Canadian universities now give courses in urban planning. They are McGill University and the Universities of Toronto, Manitoba and British Columbia. Together they have conferred a total of about 200 graduate awards, (degrees or diplomas) since 1947. More than 100 fellowships for community planning studies at these universities have been awarded by CMHC during the past 10 years. The fellowships are provided under Part V of the National Housing Act.

GIVING OR KEEPING

There is a fable about the villagers who agreed to contribute a sack of flour for those who were ill and poor. A large vat was put in the town square where the sacks were to be emptied under the secrecy of night. The appointed day for distribution arrived. Many assembled. The vat cover was lifted. Each villager had thought, "My gift will not be missed", and had not bothered to give. The vat was empty.

The motive behind a gift counts a great deal. Is a person giving to be seen by men? Is he giving to satisfy his conscience, or to create proper deductions on an Income Tax return? Is he giving to enhance the family name through a memorial? Highest of all reasons, he must give to glorify God. In this the giver will forget himself, and not seek recognition for what he has done.

Real generosity is not measured by the size of the offering, but by the amount left over in our hands. A well-to-do person might give a large presentation to a fine cause, but by comparison with his wealth, the gift may be a pittance.

Remember the story Jesus told of the widow who gave two little coins. In proportion to what she had this was a huge amount for she had given her all. Only a relative few have found the light on Jesus' teaching: "It is more blessed to give than to receive". Both are necessary, but of the two, giving brings real joy.

It takes wise parents to know that their own child was as much at fault as the neighbors'.

BEAR RIVER SCOUT DIARY

On the 24th of February in commemoration of Boy Scout Week and Lord Baden Powell's birthday the Bear River Scouts attended a church service at Cornwallis. Reverend E. G. B. Foote, Deputy Chaplain General, gave a fine address to the many Scouts and Scouters present. Norman D. Wright, Scout Commissioner, gave the first lesson, reading from I Samuel, and Mrs. Roy Laurence, Guide Commissioner, gave the second lesson, reading from the second chapter of Luke.

Scout officials of the province met on March 10th in Halifax and were addressed by R. C. Stevenson, vice-president Canadian General Council of the Boy Scout Association. He told the group that the Scout membership in Canada had passed the quarter million mark. Mr. Stevenson emphasized the aim of Scout training which reads as follows: "The aim of the Boy Scouts Association is to develop good citizenship among boys by forming their character; training them in habits of observation, obedience and self-reliance; inculcating loyalty and thoughtfulness for others; teaching them services useful to the public and handicrafts useful to themselves; and promoting their physical, mental and spiritual development."

The Bear River troop has been busy collecting and rolling newspaper to sell in order to add money to their treasury. We again wish to thank all who have so kindly helped the Scouts in making this project possible.

On March 22nd, a large group of Scouts and Scouters attended the afternoon service at the Church of England and were addressed by Rev. A. Sagar. Cubmaster Everett McCormick read the Scripture, reading from the Gospel of Luke.

In the near future second-class Scouts will be taking an overnight hike to obtain their second-class tests. Hope the weather warms up a bit or they'll have to take plenty of wool!

This brings us up to date on our news, so until next time. "Good Scouting!"

LAST WEEK in the LEGISLATURE

Last week the House of Assembly and committees were operating at top speed processing bills and investigating a variety of Provincial matters but the two main items of the period were the announcement of additional subventions to assist the coal industry of Nova Scotia and Premier Stanfield's bill concerning the establishment of a tax for the proposed chemical pulp mill of Nova Scotia Pulp Ltd., in the Canso area.

The good news was announced simultaneously in the Nova Scotia house by Premier Stanfield and by the Prime Minister in Ottawa. It concerns the payment of $4,340,000 additional subventions to stabilize the Province's coal industry on a joint action by the federal government and the Province of Nova Scotia, the latter paying $500,000 as its share. The plan is a special one-year addition to normal subvention payments and is based on the three point plan.

In essence it will make possible the sale of some 700,000 tons of industrial coal stockpiled in Sydney and will definitely improve condition in the direction of alleviating the unemployment situation in the coal industry here as time progresses.

The main points: (1) Provincial coal operators will have the $4,000,000 plus to assist in selling the Sydney stockpile in new Ontario markets. (2) The federal government will continue to pay all necessary subventions, to assist mine companies with their Quebec markets. This outlay is $8,100,000 at the moment. But the subvention base would be amended to provide more resilience in the amount of assistance on individual orders. (3) Both the provincial and federal administrations will initiate studies, into the long-range prospects for coal to determine "what related readjustments of coal production must be made so industry may be able to serve markets efficiently".

Early in April, Premier Stanfield and Mines Minister Manson will visit Ottawa to begin talks with the federal government, regarding this general study of the coal future. Speaking of the Province's sharing in the new subventions, the Premier said in the house: "I did not feel the request was unreasonable in view of the large commitment of Ottawa and of claims by other parts of Canada which would be most difficult to resist if Nova Scotia were not prepared to share in these increases." The Premier also told the house that the government did not intend to budget for a deficit in order to provide the necessary $500,000. He said revised estimates for some departments would absorb the sum.

On Thursday the Premier presented a bill regarding taxation of the proposed chemical pulp mill for the Canso area so that all basic requisites for the construction and operation of such a mill may be tidied in advance — and the Nova Scotia Pulp Ltd. firm can get on with plans of financing the project.

The bill calls for a fixed tax of $100,000 for the first year of operation to be increased by $2,500 a year for a minimum of 20 years and a maximum of 26 years. Naturally it will concern the mill and lands leased from the Crown. The big point is that the tax money will be shared by eight municipalities where the land lies. There is special consideration for Inverness, too, in the form of a decreasing, transitional grant from the Provincial Treasury for loss of revenue from the Oxford Paper lease which it is proposed to lease to the new firm. The grant will be $14,000 for the first year.

Premier Stanfield said the corporation plans to obtain a large portion of the financing funds from the sale of public debentures. The outlook for the chemical pulp mill is highly encouraging and it would transform the economy of eastern Nova Scotia when a reality. This is additional good news of a most hopeful nature for the people of the province. Of course, we should not count on the new pulp mill until it is actually built.

WESTPORT GETS FORCE OF STORM

Briar Island felt the force of the Atlantic storm which brought rain, snow and extremely high winds Thursday night and Friday from the south-east, followed by south-west and westerly gales. In the height of the storm a steel scow owned by Kenny Construction Co. broke loose and considerable damage to the wharf and work sheds of Mr. Daniel Kenny Jr. An oil pump was also destroyed.

The high winds blew the top from the Briar Island-Long Island ferry boat. Television antennas were blown down, windows blown in, the high tide left rock weed in quite a number of front yards along the waterfront. Electricity was disrupted from midnight to eight-thirty the next morning.

Boats were dragged from their moorings but the usual co-operation of the fishermen helped to keep them from going ashore.

CARS ARE MY LINE

by Ken Hankinson

IF YOUR CAR'S STOLEN... YOU'RE PROBABLY TO BLAME!

Whenever I read in the paper about someone's car being stolen I can't help but wonder if it wasn't through the owner's own carelessness. It constantly amazes me to see the way some drivers park this big investment of theirs and blissfully walk away leaving it wide open for any passing car thief or joy riders on the prowl.

Figures prove that of all your property, your car is most likely to be stolen. And it can be a costly and annoying experience, even if you are covered by insurance. Even though most stolen cars are recovered, they're often stripped and damaged.

To help protect your car against theft, or if it is stolen to assist the police in its quick recovery, here are a few safeguards to take.

1. Don't leave keys in an unattended car, even for a few minutes.

2. Always lock car doors. And make sure all windows are secured.

3. Never leave valuable articles where they can be seen. This is just inviting a break-in.

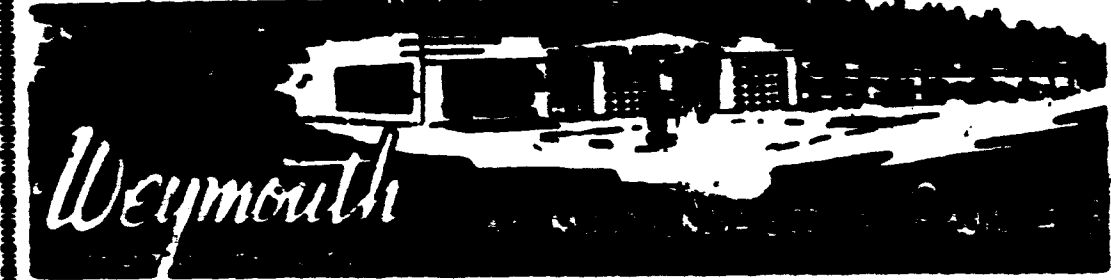

Place a hidden mark on your car — such as, under the dashboard. Then you'll be able to identify your car, even if the thief repents it or changes the license number.

5. Notify the police at once if your car is stolen. Don't delay by first calling your family or insurance company.

6. Make sure you know your current license number. Police can often spot stolen cars within minutes if they are given the license number right away.

By observing these rules you'll go a long way towards protecting your car against theft.

But if you want a real "steal" in a thoroughly re-conditioned used car... just drop in and see us.

Report From Parliament Hill

Hon G. C. Nowlan.

March 16, 1959.

This has been an interesting and dramatic week. For the first three days Parliament played host to the fourteen or fifteen hundred Western visitors who had organized this "March on Ottawa". Whatever may be said about their arguments and the merits of their case, certainly this was one of the best organized efforts that I have ever witnessed. Three big trains rolled into the Ottawa station twenty minutes apart early on Monday morning. Within forty-five minutes after the arrival of the last train every visitor had been shown his accommodation which had been reserved in his or her name in the eight hotels and motels which had provided space for this purpose. Each visitor was also given the room number of the Member of Parliament for his or her constituency as well as the room number of the Member of Parliament for his or her Province. During the next three days the corridors of the House of Commons and the Galleries were crowded with our Western visitors. On Tuesday morning there was a mass meeting in the ballroom of the Chateau Laurier at which was presented the petition signed by the several hundred thousand Western growers. All of the Government Members attended. The ballroom was crowded, every chair was occupied, every aisle was filled, as were the galleries. Yet at sharp ten o'clock the meeting was called to order by the Chairman and the proceedings started. I doubt if any military organization, certainly no political organization, could have equalled the efficiency with which all these proceedings were organized and conducted. Obviously the visitors, whom I understand were chosen at meetings in various villages and towns, were carefully briefed before they came here. There was no shouting, no demonstration, no rowdiness and of kind. Despite the crowd, despite the intensity of the feeling, the meeting was as orderly as a church meeting, and whatever one may have felt about the merits of their case, one could not help but feel proud of these fellow Canadians who have travelled so far to present what they thought was a logical demand upon the Government.

This has also been a strenuous week for our Government. There have been long and almost constant sessions of the Cabinet dealing with many problems, not the least of which has been that of Newfoundland and the coal situation in Nova Scotia. But since no decisions have been made or announced with respect to these matters, I obviously cannot write about them at this time.

Perhaps, therefore, I could deal generally with a question which has often been asked me. "What is the difference between the Privy Council and the Cabinet?" This, of course, carries us back to our ancient constitutional history. Originally, as we all know, the Sovereign was absolute with no Parliament to advise or consult. But even in those days the Sovereign did not feel confident to deal with all matters of Government himself. Therefore, he had what was known as the Privy Council, consisting of four or five or six privileged people who advised him and who also enjoyed all of the tremendous emoluments of office. They were, of course, the Royal favourites and the only way they were removed was when the Sovereign got tired of them and charged them with treason and had them beheaded, or there might be a revolution. Gradually our system of Parliamentary democracy evolved and Parliament insisted that the Privy Council should sit in Parliament, or at least some of them should where they could answer questions with respect to the King's business. Gradually there evolved the principle of responsible Government where the majority ruled and only the majority could be represented in the Government. Thus evolved our Cabinet, a word which has no constitutional history and no legal justification whatsoever. All of the legal and constitutional terminology refers to the Privy Council. But as in so many other matters in connection with our history and development we have evolved a practice which, although unwritten, is all the more powerful. Parliament insisted that all the members of the Privy Council should sit in Parliament and be obliged to resign when they lost the confidence of Parliament. So evolved the Party system and with it the Cabinet. Once a man or woman was appointed to the Privy Council, he or she remained a Privy Councillor for life. He or she had been chosen by the Sovereign to advise and keep that prerogative for a lifetime. But Parliaments come and go and so do Governments and so the Cabinet evolved as a committee of the Privy Council which, for the time being, had seats in Parliament and had the support of the majority of the Parliament itself.

For instance, Mr. Pearson, Mr. Chevrier, Mr. Martin, Mr. St-Laurent and many others are still Members of the Privy Council and theoretically could be called in to advise the Sovereign or her representative, the Governor General. Of course, as a matter of practice, the only ones who advise the Governor General are those who command the majority in Parliament. Privy Council in London in convened at the time of the death of a Sovereign, and at the time of the birth of and heir to the throne, as well as at the coronation of a new Sovereign. In Canada, I cannot recall when there was a meeting of the Privy Council itself. This is rather a short and hasty history of the development of the Cabinet from the Privy Council, but I trust it will answer some of the questions which I have received on this matter.

ROSSWAY W.I. MEETS

The Women's Institute held their Saint Patrick's Day sale on Tuesday afternoon last. The sum of $32 was realized from the 25-cent lunches sold at the rummage sale and the parcel post table. All the Institute members present wore green crepe paper hats. The day was also the birthday of Mrs. Darrell Lewis who was presented with a prettily trimmed birthday cake by Mrs. Douglas Andrews with all singing Happy Birthday. Mrs. Lewis then cut the cake in as many pieces as their were people present and passed it around. Mrs. Lewis also donated a cake to the sale decorated in "Saint Patrick's Day style" and sold tickets on it, which was won by Mrs. Margaret Wentzell. The food and people were picked up by Mr. Carl Lewis whose helpfulness was greatly appreciated by the Institute.

Housing - Time To Take Stock

By 1958, Canada's housing shortage had been reduced to the lowest proportion in at least thirty years, says The Bank of Nova Scotia in its current Monthly Review "Housing - Time to Take Stock". And since most of the people now marrying were born in the 'thirties when birth rates were low, the physical pressures on housing should not be intense for the next few years.

But although the housing situation has improved there are no grounds for complacency. At least a third of Canadian families are below the income level needed to buy a new house, and probably half a million of them are living in housing conditions which may fairly be described as poor. Many of the houses now standing are approaching the end of their life expectancy. By 1980 1 million houses will be more than 75 years old, and another million will be between 50 and 75 years.

Before long a new generation, which make its first appearance as the bumper baby crop in the late 'forties and is now crowding its way through the schools, will be marrying and seeking independent accommodation. A study prepared for the Gordon Commission estimated that between 1955 and 1960 the housing stock might have to be almost doubled, and that most of the growth would occur in towns and cities. To those who have watched the face of the country changing over the postwar period, says the Review, this prospect is at once alarming and challenging.

Canadian clearly prefer single-family dwellings which made up about two-thirds of occupied units at the 1951 Census and have accounted for about 70% of new construction since then. The outstanding exception to this pattern is Montreal where in 1951 90% of dwelling were multiple units, but even there single-family houses are becoming more popular. Apartment blocks, of course, are most common in the large cities, especially Montreal and Toronto.

More than half of new dwellings built in Metropolitan Toronto last year were apartment units. This concentration came about partly because apartments are suitable for many people working in the city (70% of Toronto's apartment are bachelor or one-bedroom suites), partly because easy Government financing was available on these buildings for a few months in late 1957 and early 1958, and partly because of other special considerations in both Montreal and Toronto. There are now considerable numbers of empty apartments in both of these cities, particularly in outlying districts. Estimates put Toronto's vacancies at around 5% of a total stock of about 60,000.

What will determine the direction and arrangement of new building? It has been suggested that in the foreseeable future there will be regional cities in continuous strips across whole stretches of the continent. Such a regional city is already solidifying along the northern shore of Lake Ontario, from Oshawa beyond Hamilton. The severe financial strain experienced by municipalities in the path of new development has brought a new emphasis on community planning. In the past planning usually involved setting up separate advisory bodies of laymen but since the others men in the scout car is also a Nova Scotian, from Cape Breton. Carl has this same picture in a snapshot. Mr. and Mrs. William Baker and son Percy and Mr. Noah Baker spent Sunday with the latter's daughter, Mrs. Manual Seaboyer and family at Auburn.

1950 some rapidly growing communities such as Edmonton and Vancouver have been finding that they need a different kind of planning body, a sort of staff intelligence unit to serve a board of city department heads.

Other questions which will require increasing attention are those of conserving the existing housing stock, and of redeveloping areas which are really "blighted", where housing is no longer fit for habitation. Social problems coupled with physical deterioration mean that slums are an ever-increasing drain on the public purse, and to recapture the land so that it may become once again a healthy part of the city demands large scale financing. In 1956 the National Housing Act was amended to broaden the federal Government's participation in urban redevelopment and since then 18 redevelopment studies have been undertaken across Canada with redevelopment projects actually under way in five cities. As this program gathers steam the provincial governments are also showing interest.

New Kitchen facilities added to the Canadian Pacific's Royal York Hotel at Toronto will enable the hotel to serve as many meals in a day as would be eaten by the average man during half his adult lifetime.
