1877-1977

Now and then a printing job had a save in parchment paper which required a special kind of printers' ink which smelled very bad some days. I always dreaded it when "Mac" would take you to the largest press in spite of the fact he always opened an outside door to lessen the odors on the room itself.

One of the jobs I had to do, besides putting and graders' devil on the staff, was to... I cleaned one and then... One day not long after I started to get to the grating plant. I decided to climb the floor that apparently hadn't been cleaned for some considerable time.

"J.J." came along and said, "how are you making out Vince?" I assured him that I thought I was beginning to see the floor. "J.J." laughed very heartily. He thought the remark pretty good and whole.

Sometimes the gasoline engine, a piece of machinery would refuse to work, and the "fix-it" man had patiently worked for a certain length of time to get it going again, without results. Max would then stand back and come over dramatically then he would immediately start working. "See," he would say, "all it needed was a bit of fixing."

On other occasions when some people would say, "let it be," and seemed to be brokenhearted, I would say, "use a little oil" and vice versa, after that is said, "use a little oil" and vice versa, after that is said, "let it be." They often since have I heard of the value of that remark and the actual need of oil in many life situations, applied at the right time, right place and in the right way.

(Other things that sort of stick in my memory: And come to mind now and then are, like the time I told "Mac," of four teenage boys who in the spring season of 1968 got together just before dark one evening and decided to initiate the newly built outdoor Pears Hotel swimming pool which had just been filled with water. Clothes were taken off near the road just east of the pool, nobody else seemed to be around except the four

Clothes were taken out near the pool, nobody else seemed to be around except the four boys, no thought or time for bathing suits, as in the pool they went. They stood on the edge of the pool and looked at the chilly water, one soon jumped in. The rest quickly followed and across the pool they swam. "Mac" informed to the story and hardly said anything, but the next "Digby Courier" had a good story on the episode. The heading of the story went something like, "Four Boy Swims Officially Open Pines Hotel Swimming Pool." Who were the boys? Many years later (they are known as: the late Dr. Earl H. Anderson, veteran of two wars, second world and Korean), was awarded the Victoria Cross; Sidney L. Smith, now prominent druggist, for many years in Digby; Clayton D. Snow, Digby wholesale hardware merchant, and myself.

As a young teenager I used to like doing some writing about different events interesting to myself and mostly for myself. One day, I was asked to contribute about writing your version of the story told about "The Marooning of Jerome". I did it and read at least two times what I had written about the man who was found marooned on a beach in some point on the French Shore of St. Mary's Bay, Duffy County. When I read this man's tongue had been cut out and his legs quite freshly amputated, were surgically well dressed and bound. He was presumably left by some vessel before dawn one morning, all for some mysterious reason.

"Joe" appeared to have a small, considerable social standing and considerable wealth. However the son thing could or would ever ask after being for by some family in the West, something that seemed like Old either could not, or would not, who he was or why he was left in a was. And is, one of Dignity and different ideas have been years concerning this man. However "Al" was, I left no words in different about this man. The have been very well explored people, and he was a very people who lived where he lived.

free trade with the U.S.A., especially with the New England States. The question was then debated by some Digby High School students, one of which was J.J.'s daughter, Florence (now Mrs. Abbott of Tibet, Connecticut, Digby Co.). Some days after the debate a man from some part of Nova Scotia came to the printing shop looking for Florence, one of the successful debaters. I had the impression that this man was interested politically but, maybe I was wrong.

Well, I felt that I had learned considerable from my short experience at "The Wallis Job Print." I was learning to do beginner jobs, receiving some knowledge about things like embossing, stapling, perforating, counting, cutting and trimming paper stock, trying like for certain desired colors, and so forth, but, the only experience I had at setting type was just enough to make a "go", the printers name for a confused mess.

There was a taste of trying to sell the plants inside the plant. Work was a little piece one early fall day and so "Mac" said to me, "how about trying your hand at taking orders for printed personalized Christmas cards?" I tried it, made several calls around town, spent most of the time at one particular street town, but not much time and got an order, but

Attending Nuclear Talks

Mayor Victor Cardoza

Warden Ronald Morehouse

Digby Mayor Victor Cardoza and Municipal Warden Ronald Morehouse are among sixty representatives of municipal governments in the Atlantic provinces meeting this week with federal authorities to discuss planning along the general lines of maintaining governmental operations in the event of nuclear attack or civil emergency.

The conference, which is being held at the Canadian civil defence college in Arran, Ont., was called by the federal emergency measures organization to lay before the Mayors and Wardens the blueprint of federal planning and to hear municipal views on methods to make it apply on regional and local basis.

According to R. B. Bryce, clerk of the privy council who spoke at the meeting on Tuesday, another war if there is one will be in Canada.

Canadians must expect and be ready for "enormous" destruction and loss of life, he said. Canada was doing everything possible to avoid war "but we cannot avoid recognizing that there is a risk of nuclear war."

Mushrooms Plentiful

Giving the long dry summer and sudden fall rains the credit a spokesman on Digby Neck said he had never seen so many mushrooms growing in the fields as there have been this fall. Almost any spot where one mushroom appears, a basket can readily be filled. Although the mushrooms have been of average good size there have been no reports, he said, of any record breaking dimensions.

Other places in the County have also reported heavy crops of mushrooms with the appearance of every patch gathering being able to have satisfactory quantities without the early morning rush to the fields before a rival gatherer. One resident said there were mushrooms for several days on the lawn of a vacant house in town and no one seemed to be interested.

Show Safety Film At School

A film, sponsored by the Digby County Power Board and released by the Electric Light and Power Commission, was shown to students of the Digby Regional High School on Wednesday. The film dealt with the dangers of disregarding warnings issued by public utilities boards, and was designed for safety of public, particularly children. Such things as dangers from fallen wires, flying kite dangers and how to deal with these and other hazards were among the valuable information released.

From the secretary's report it was learned that 56 members were enrolled and an average of 22 were in attendance at the meetings. Eight hundred and nine visits were made at the hospital with Mrs. G. V. Turnbull making approximately 550 of these. The effort of Mrs. Turnbull in this regard was acknowledged by the auxiliary on Monday evening.

Mrs. Dillon in her president's report particularly thanked the outside of town points for their splendid cooperation and assistance in making the Hospital Fair a success. It was reported the Fair proceeds were $3,116.24, with $495.04 expenses.

Baptist Youth Rally

At a meeting of the Christian Youth Council of the Baptist Church of Digby, held at the close of the service on Sunday evening, plans were made to hold a Youth Rally in the church hall on Saturday evening, October 22nd. Similar to the Rally held last winter, a supper will be provided for all the young people of the church from nine years of age and up. This will be followed by a program in which the young people themselves will participate.

Leaders of the youth groups who are members of the Council reported on the activities of their respective groups which have begun Fall meetings, and all-point to a promising and interesting program of events.

The Council authorized the organization of a Boy Scout Troop in the church as soon as the necessary preliminary arrangements can be made.

At the church service on Sunday evening the pastor began a series of Bible Studies on "The Parables of Jesus". At these services opportunity will be given for a question and answer period and discussion.

Parking Problem On Avenue

In his report of the streets committee presented at the regular meeting of the Town Council on Monday night, Councillor Earl VanTassel brought to the attention of the council the congestion in the flow of traffic on 1st Avenue caused by the many parked cars. The area in question was from the corner of Church St. to the corner of Sydney St. where the railway occupies a portion of the avenue similar to that on Water St. on the way to the C.P.R. wharf. Mr. VanTassel's suggestion was to make that particular area of the avenue a "no parking" zone. This suggestion was not entirely in accord with opinions of other officials at the meeting who said the people must have some place to park and some protection should be given the merchants for the sake of economy. A further suggestion was to make 1st Avenue between Sydney St. and Church St. a one way street going South. Another suggestion combined the previous making a one way street and limited parking. It was finally left with the traffic authority to find the best method of solving the parking and congested traffic on 1st Avenue.

The condition of the fence and rock wall on the property between Turnbull's store and J. Margolian's was also brought before the council and the deputy clerk was asked to notify the owner about the same. Mr. VanTassel reported that work had been done on the Shore Road, including widening and ditching. Two red posts had been erected on the corner of Prince William and King Streets where it had been reported that two cars unaware of the ditch had experienced difficulty.

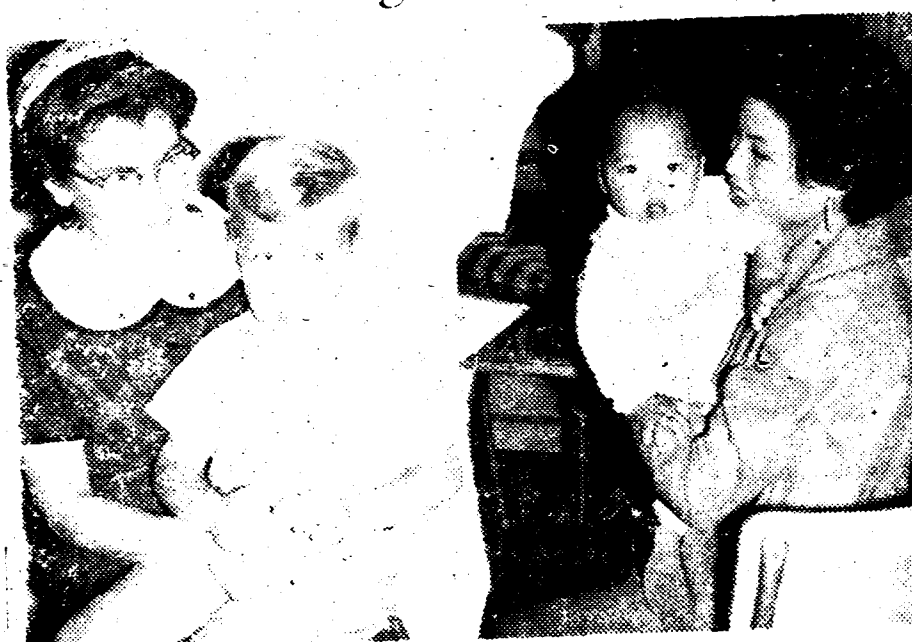

The matter of provision of a five alarm and police alarm system after the new dial telephone system is inaugurated in Digby was presented by Councillor Vernon Bent. Councillor Bent reported that his committee had met with officials of the Maritime Telegraph and Telephone Company and it was found that no change would be necessary for the police light at the North End but that some provision would have to be made and enough people found at various points in the town near the sirens to take on the duty of alarming for fires. Several suggestions were made as to where this important service might be carried on with continuous 24 hour duty. It was left with the fire and police committees to investigate possibilities of installing telephone extensions at some of the suggested points or at additional possibilities which might be presented.

It was decided that Digby would join with Annapolis Royal and Bridgetown in a specified sum in entertaining the Union of Nova Scotia Municipalities which is scheduled to meet at the Digby Pines on August 28, 29 and 30, 1961. In coming to the decision it was pointed out the benefits economically and publicity wise which could be derived from such a convention being held here.

A motion was passed giving the town clerk permission to attend the Municipal Finance Officers' Association meeting in Halifax on October 26, 27 and 28, if he so wishes to do.

Complaints were laid at Monday night's meeting about what seemed to be excessive blowing of the whistle on the night railway diesel. By motion the town solicitor, E. J. Theriault, was asked to write to the Board of

It was stated the club is providing service to some three hundred handicapped children in the area through its crippled children's and speech therapy clinics. Special aid is given also in cases where transportation to hospital is required for handicapped children. In a number of occasions surgery has also been financed by the club.

Wildcats Kill Deer

The Digby (East) Fish & Game Association have now proof that wildcats do kill deer, according to the president, John Nichols and according to reports one was shot last Saturday by Laurence Thurber, of North Range (who is a member of Digby East Fish & Game) while it was eating a deer which was still alive. President John Nichols examined the deer and found no bullet holes or evidence that the deer had been killed other wise.

Mr. Nichols and Mr. Thurber reported the kill to Donald Brown of the Department of Lands & Forests and the intestines were preserved and sent to Dr. Lewis of the Department of Lands & Forests, who is presently doing a survey on whether or not predators are killing deer.

It was estimated that the deer, a six months old buck, weighed about 70 pounds and the wildcat, or bobcat, as it is sometimes called, weighed about 50 pounds. The wildcat was about two or three years old.

There is presently no bounty on wildcats, said the president of the Digby East Association but he stated that he will endeavour to have a bounty put on wildcat at the next meeting of the association, either by the County or by his own association.

The report of Dr. Lewis is being anxiously awaited.

To Make Beaver Survey

It was learned in Digby Friday that Clarence Mason, provincial game conservationist, and other lands and forests department personnel will conduct a survey of the beaver population in Digby County, starting this week.

The survey is being made following representations from the Digby East Fish and Game Association protesting the announced decision of the department to have an open season on beaver in Digby County this year with a bag limit of five beaver.

The association had recommended to their provincial body that the beaver season in Digby County, which has been closed for the past three years, remain closed in order to give the beaver a chance to replenish. This recommendation was later forwarded to the lands and forests department.

An all out effort has been underway by the Digby East Fish and Game Association since it was learned the beaver season was to be opened in Digby this year; to have the department reverse its decision. In line with these efforts the association scheduled a special meeting Tuesday evening, which was labelled "Operation Beaver" at which a complete review of the beaver question was made. It is also understood members of the association volunteered their services to aid in the scheduled survey of the beaver population.

Cornerstone Laid

Beautiful October sun shone on the scene of the laying of the cornerstone of the Parish of Clements Hall at Deep Brook on Sunday afternoon, October 2nd. The possibility of such a hall has been the dream of many for years, including Mr. Robert W. W. Pardy, Sr., a native of Deep Brook who now resides with his wife at the Oddfellows Home, Pines. Although 92 years of age he made the trip especially for this occasion.

At 4 p.m., following chime music played from the electronic system across the highway from St. Matthews Anglican Church, the trowel was passed from Mr. L. V. Harris of Bear River, to the Bishop, Rev. W. W. Davis, Coast, and from the Bishop to Mr. Robert W. W. Pardy, Sr., with smiling face and steady hands, performed the laying of the cornerstone. The plaque reads: Parish of Clements Hall, Deep Brook, stone laid by R. W. W. Pardy, Oct. 2, 1960.

To Manage Pines

Changes in management of five Canadian Pacific hotels across Canada, including the Algonquin Hotel at St. Andrews and the company's Nova Scotia hotels were announced recently by Roy A. Mackie, general manager of the CPR hotel system. New appointments are effective October 16.

Walker, who will move to the Prairies to become manager of the Hotel Saskatchewan at Regina. D. A. Williams, formerly manager of Banff Springs Hotel in the Rockies, will return to the Algonquin Hotel at St. Andrews, where he was manager from 1953 until 1956.

Cape Breton-born Colin M. Rennie, who was for many years manager of Cornwallis Inn at Kentville, and manager of the CPR's Nova Scotia hotels, retired from the company's service on October 1, after two years as manager of Hotel Saskatchewan. His service began at the old Hotel Vancouver in 1927.

Entertains W.M.S.

Mrs. R. H. Hughes, chairman of members of Grace United W.M.S. at the past year on Tuesday when a special Thanksgiving service was conducted under the leadership of the president, Mrs. Burton Fleet. Those assisting were Mrs. Hughes, Mrs. John Hattie and Mrs. Milton Atkinson.

Mrs. Fleet completed the study for the year on Africa, outlining the necessity for education for the purpose of communication in Africa and the need of teacher training. She traced the influence of press, radio and films on the life of the Africans and told the important place that art and music takes in the lives of the African people. Influence of the West in mining operations and other industries was explained by Mrs. Fleet.

A question period was conducted by Mrs. Elsie Arnold and refreshments served by the hostess.

ABOUT THIS AND THAT

Fire Prevention

In preparation for Fire Prevention Week from October 9 to 15 we would remind our readers that it is a good policy to have your home or business checked for fire hazards during the week. Having your home checked does not absolutely guarantee freedom from fire but it is a safe guard which gives you some peace of mind.

Prevent fires by not giving them a place to start. Learn something of fire hazards by asking the firemen to point them out to you. It is surprising how their trained minds can detect these hazards that are overlooked by the ordinary person or the untrained in this respect. If your firemen do not call on you during the week, invite them to do so at some future date.

If a fireman does call to check your home without your invitation, give him a cordial welcome. You can refuse, you know, but if you are wise you will accept his suggestions. His aim is to help you uncover fire hazards. What he has to say concerns the safety of your home, perhaps your own life. He is alert to the danger of trash, to storage of flammable liquids and stove ashes, smoke pipes and chimneys, and faulty or frayed wiring. He looks for obviously unsafe or doubtful conditions.

While public and commercial buildings in Canada must submit to a rigid fire inspection, the home and the owner's privacy are respected. Nevertheless, it is in the home that three-quarters of all fires occur so often with tragic loss of family life.

Three-Way Care

So far as we know there is no rule in Nova Scotia which requires vehicles to stop behind school buses when they have stopped to unload their cargo of precious little lives. We might be wrong on this score, but right or wrong, what does it matter if by stopping we can prevent an accident? Definitely it is slow speed for the motorist who has found no place to pass the school bus enroute to stop at every village and wait for children to alight and be safely across the road. But the practice is a safe one. We have known of courteous school bus drivers as well as courteous large truck-drivers to find a convenient place to slow down and let cars pass. A gesture of this kind can also save lives for it is much easier on the frayed nerves of a hurried driver to be able to make reasonable time when on the road and it is more of a surity for the safety of the bus passengers.

Combine the cautiousness of the bus driver, the other vehicle driver and that of the school child and our problems on this score are practically solved. For a child, too, must be taught to take some responsibility for its safety at home, at school and wherever it might be between these points. However, knowing the easily distracted mind of a child, we wonder if enforcement of a law to wait behind stopped school buses might not be the surest and safest solution to the prevention of death and injury to bus riding school children. Home and School Associations had advocated this, we believe, years ago but for some reason their suggestion was never adopted. The reason must have been a sound one. Until such time as a law of this kind is adopted we can only depend on Three-way Care responsibility.

How To Land The Tuna

(A. P. Melanson, Church Point)

In recent issues of weekly and daily papers it was stated "Last year's international tuna match was cancelled following dwindling catches of the massive fish since the mid-fifties". Tuna landed in Wedgeport and Cape St. Mary to date is in the vicinity of 45, which is way below the days of yore when Wedgeport was in its glory.

Studies are being made on the habits of the tuna by Dr. Edward C. Migdalski, Bingham Oceanographic laboratory, and Henry Lyman, publisher of "Salt Water Sportsman", of Boston, Mass. It would be worthwhile to suggest to these gentlemen that they also make a study of the tuna in regards to what bait to use when they become stubborn and refuse to take notice of the bait offered to date.

It is a very well known fact that the tuna have schooled in great numbers at Cape St. Mary's waters since August 1st until the present time. In great numbers, it is meant by the thousands. As stated before in these papers, the tuna can be seen schooling on most days that the sea is fairly calm but when it is too choppy they cannot be seen and thus it becomes difficult to know exactly where they are. That is the reason why a sports fisherman may not be able to see the tuna, on certain days, and believe that they have moved on.

An article appeared recently about tuna fishing in European waters where they faced the same problem as Wedgeport and Cape St. Mary's, where the tuna abounded in great numbers but refused the bait. It stated that live bait was used and the problem was solved. Perhaps that is the answer to the problem here also. It would be well worthwhile trying.

Was the number of tuna available at the Cape all summer long? They should have been caught and possibly a greater number. It is hoped that something will be done to discover how to make the tuna bite.

Roll Call At Little River

Roll Call Service was held in the Little River Baptist Church on Sunday morning, September 11th. Rev. Archibald MacLellan, pastor of the church, conducted the service. Rev. L. R. Atkinson, Evangelist for Nova Scotia, was guest speaker, bringing a challenging message from John 5:32, "Ye came to John but ye did not come to me", emphasizing that it was good coming to John, but not good enough. Ye must come to Christ.

Scripture was read by Deacon Earl Frost Sr., 5th chapter of John, 32 verse. Deacon Shirley Tidd led in prayer. The senior choir sang "When The Roll Is Called Up Yonder"; Brotherhood Choir Sang "Hallelujah For The Cross"; Junior Choir Sang "There's A Stranger At The Door".

The history of Little River Baptist Church, prepared by Mrs. Lallah Frost, traced the early beginnings of the church from 1797 up to the calling of their present pastor, Rev. A. MacLellan in 1959. It was interesting to learn of the labours of Dr. T. C. Morse, who served The Digby Neck for 63 years. This was read by Mrs. Stanley Denton.

Mr. Royce Elderkin, church clerk, called the roll.

The treasurer reported $214 for the roll call service.

Rev. MacLellan closed the service with the benediction.

64 Percent Adults Village Mentally Disordered

According to our correspondent the following appeared in a Toronto paper and is being cause for much discussion on the Islands (Long Island and Brier Island.)

A Toronto doctor's study of a thriving — but unnamed — Maritime fishing village has revealed that 64% of the total adult population have mental disorders.

Dr. Edward L. Thomas, of Golddale Rd., said in a report just released that of the 274 adults in a village 14 have personality disorders; 14 have psychoneurotic disorders; 5 are mental deficient; 16 have brain impairment; 1 is a manic depressive.

Their village has been fictitiously named Fairhaven.

The study — the first of its kind ever carried out in North America — is part of an overall psychiatric study of rural areas by Cornell University Medical College.

During the two years in question, 1956-58, Dr. Thomas was the only doctor for 40 miles and came in contact with everyone in the community.

His report shows that married women between the ages of 25 and 44, suffer the greatest number of mental disorders.

"Perhaps it is caused by the lack of outlets for married women for many physical and emotional drives", the report went on.

It pointed out that fishing is a man's work, where he can use his physical and psychic energy, and where he is his own master.

"The women in general show little love for the sea and the majority never go in any boat except the ferry", the report states.

"They are subject to that classical and recurrent fear of any fisherman's wife — the fleet out and the wind rising".

The report also shows a lower sickness rate among old men still able to pursue their trade.

Marriage

Sanford — Rice.
St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church, Digby, was the scene of a very lovely August wedding when Loretta Darlene, daughter of Edna Rice, Lansdowne, and Norman Rice of Sudbury, was united in marriage to Laurie Denton Sanford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sanford, of Clements-ville.

Appropriate wedding music was rendered by Lawyer E. J. Theriault, Digby, while Rev. Leo Maillet performed the double ring ceremony.
Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked radiant in a floor length gown of nylon net and rayon lace over a full satin slip. The top layer of net had panels of lace down the front and back. The lace bodice was sweetly embroidered with cup sequins and simulated pearls. The long sleeves of classic style ended in points over the wrists. The back closed to the hips by dainty self-covered buttons. Her hip length veil of nylon tulle with scalloped acetate and nylon lace edging fell from a daintily curved halo embroidered with tiny simulated pearls and iridescent sequins. Her only jewellery was a watch, given to her by her father. Her other accessories were white and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

The matron of honor was a sister of the bride, Noreen Greene, of Middleton. She was prettily attired in a yellow dress with a nylon net overskirt. She wore white accessories and carried a bouquet of glads tied with a large yellow satin bow.

The bridesmaids were Marilyn Sanford of Greywood, a niece of the groom, and Carolyn Robicheau, of Barton.

They wore identical dresses of nylon organdy with a softly draped cowl collar extending to two light panels at the back. A pretty cummerbund accentuated over a full perma-fanned skirt. They wore white accessories and carried bouquets of glads, tied with a large bow of pink and blue satin ribbon matching the dresses.

The flower girl, Lavern Robicheau, of Barton, looked pretty in a pink dress of nylon, with a matching slip. She wore white accessories and carried a basket of sweet peas.

Peter Teabo, of Doucetteville, cousin of the bride, performed the duties of ring bearer.

The groom's attendants were Bernard Fraser of Bear River, cousin of the groom, acting as groomsmen and Gerald Wyles of Lansdowne, brother-in-law of the bride, acting as groomsmen's attendant.

Ushers were Malcolm Sanford, brother of the groom, and Scott Handspiker, cousin of the bride. After the ceremony the bridal party breakfasted at the Bay End Motel, in Brighton. After the breakfast the bridal party visited relatives of the bride.

A reception was held in the Forrester's Hall in Clements-ville in the evening.
On Sunday the happy couple left on the S. S. Princess Helene where they were met by the groom's brother, Truman Sanford, of Sussex.
Upon their return the happy couple will reside in Clements-ville where they have purchased a home.

AS FINE AS NEW AS YOU CAN GO

Now! Full comfort, full luxury in a trimmer, full size car

With a car that's so new clean through, Buick was able to start right down on the ground and compromise on no component all the way up.

IT STARTED WITH AN ALL-NEW FRAME
Buick's new X-frame made way for lower door sills, a smoother, quieter ride, easier handling and better insulation of the body from road shock.

The new frame allowed a NEW CONTROL-ARM SUSPENSION
From this came flatter cornering and mirror smooth going over the bumps as well as the highway. Buick has a new semi-floating rear axle, too! This combines what engineers call Torque-Tube Drive and Hotchkiss Drive—giving you the finest features of both.

The new axle allowed a NEW HIDE-AWAY DRIVE SHAFT
Buick put a totally new kind of double-joint into a 2-speed drive-shaft. This let it bend down under your foot—and down went the hump in the middle to give you far more flat floor space than before.

Smaller than big Bigger than small

THE BEST OF BOTH WORLDS

Now! The room, ride, go, pride of the costliest cars plus the savings and ease of the small.
It took combine, GM and Buick invent, to work the miracle which made this possible. Here's FULL-SIZE LIVING WITH NEW-SIZE CONVENIENCE.

COMFORT? STRETCH OUT!
The Special gives you more headroom than most new-size cars, more legroom than most new-size cars—and more total room for comfort.

CANADA'S ONLY ALUMINUM TRANSMISSION

Not another newsize car has it! New Dual Path Turbine Drive is the liveliest automatic in any car. It's like having two transmissions—one with an oil connection for infinite smoothness, the other with a direct mechanical connection for greater go and greater gas savings.

CANADA'S FIRST ALUMINUM V8 puts the power in the Special. It develops astonishing power per pound. The Special got this power without adding weight. And there you have the start of a great gas-savings story.

SAVINGS? TERRIFIC!
The Special gives you the gas-savings of a compact without giving up go-power. It rolls in a price area you'll like without giving up looks. The miracle explained: the smartest engineering in years plus the new wonder materials.

Mouthwatering flavor!

When you bake at home, these light pinwheels with their orange-mace-pecan filling are a treat not to be missed. Make them soon, and use Fleischmann's Yeast, for finest results.

PECAN SWEET BUNS

1. Scald 1/2 c. milk. Stir in 3 tbsps. granulated sugar, 1 tsp. salt, 1/4 c. butter or Blue Bonnet margarine. Cool to lukewarm.

2. Measure into large bowl 1/2 c. lukewarm water. Stir in 1 tsp. granulated sugar. Sprinkle with contents of 1 envelope Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast or 1 cake Fleischmann's Compressed Yeast, crumbled. Let stand 10 mins. THEN stir well. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture, 1 well-beaten egg, 1/2 tsp. vanilla, 1 1/2 c. once-sifted all-purpose flour. Beat until smooth and elastic. Work in an additional 1/4 c. (about) once-sifted all-purpose flour.

3. Knead on floured board until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl. Grease top.

Cover. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk—about 1 1/4 hours.

4. Combine 1 c. lightly-packed brown sugar, 1/4 tsp. ground mace, 1/2 c. chopped pecans, 2 tps. grated orange rind, 1/4 c. melted butter or margarine.

5. Punch down dough. Knead on floured board until smooth. Cut into 2 equal portions. Roll out into rectangles 11" x 9". Spread with pecan mixture. Beginning at a long edge, roll up, jelly-roll fashion. Cut each roll into 9 slices. Place in greased muffin cups, a cut side up. Grease tops. Cover. Let rise until doubled—about 1/2 hr. Bake in mod. oven, 350°, about 15 mins. Yield: 1 1/2 dozen buns.

Finigan, Bridgetown, N. S., formerly of Freeport. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. John W. MacLeod, and Miss Patricia Frail rendered the nuptial music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor length gown of white net over taffeta, fashioning the bouffant skirt with inserts of embroidered nylon and a fitted bodice closing at the neck with a small turn over collar. A bolero of embroidered nylon accentuated long sleeves with points over the wrists. Her bridal veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a tiara of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses.

Miss Donna Thorne, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, wearing a gown of pink net over taffeta, with lace inserts. She wore a matching feather head-dress and gloves and carried a nosegay of white 'mums.

Michael Finigan, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

The bride's mother chose a royal blue dress of nylon net over figured taffeta, white velvet hat and accessories. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

The groom's mother wore a grey tailored suit with royal blue feather hat and accessories and wore a corsage of pink carnations.

A reception for some sixty guests was held in Lower Granville Hall immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table, laid with a white crocheted table cover, was centred with a three tier wedding cake, and on either side were candle holders with tall white tapers.

A toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. MacLeod and responded to by the groom.

The happy couple left on a honeymoon to points of interest in the province. On their return they will reside in Bear River where the groom is on the staff of the Royal Bank of Canada.

Girls, the best way I know to keep your family on the road to success, is through a good healthy savings account. When you've got money in the bank you can pay cash for the things you want, and take advantage of opportunity. Know where my husband and I saved the money to buy this new car?

THE BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA, naturally

HERE! THE GREATEST SHOW ON WORTH!

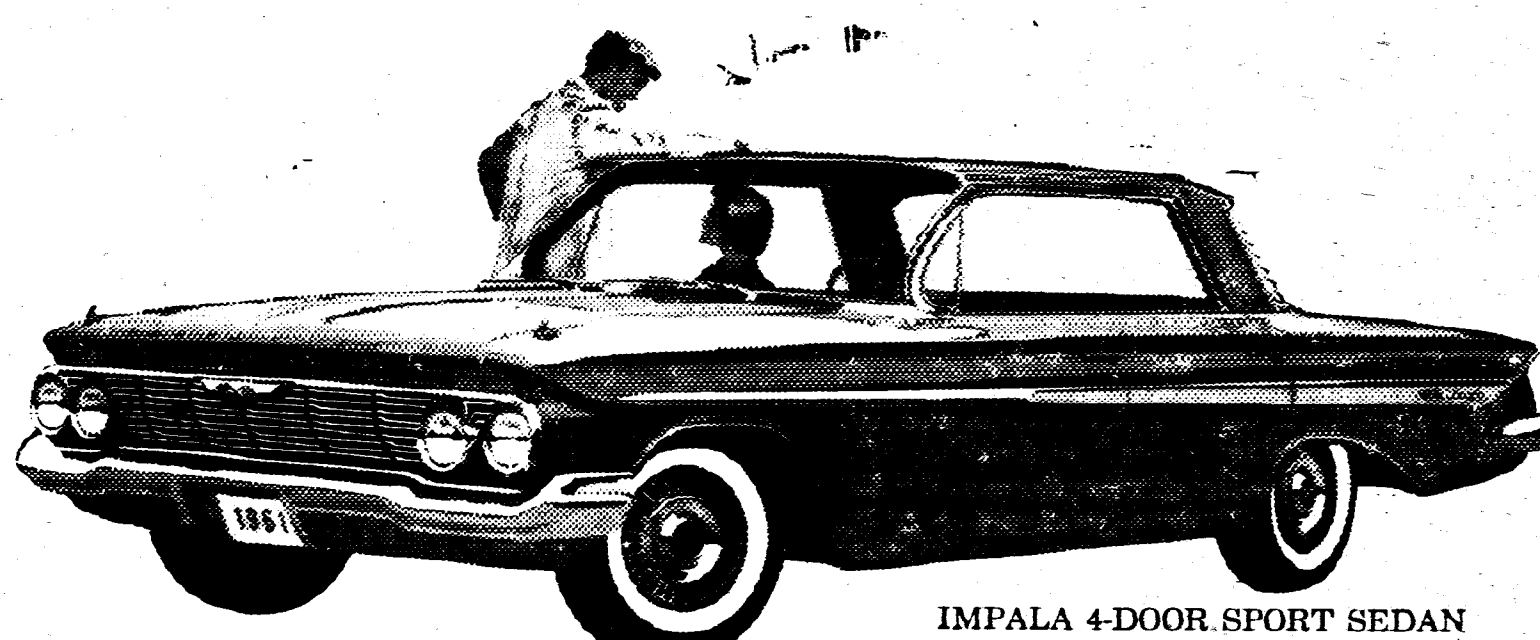

SIXTY-ONE DERFUL CHEVROLET

Here's the car that reads you loud and clear — the new-size, you-size '61 Chevrolet. A car so right for you in so many ways that once you compare it with the rest of the crop you'll agree nothing else near the money measures up to it.

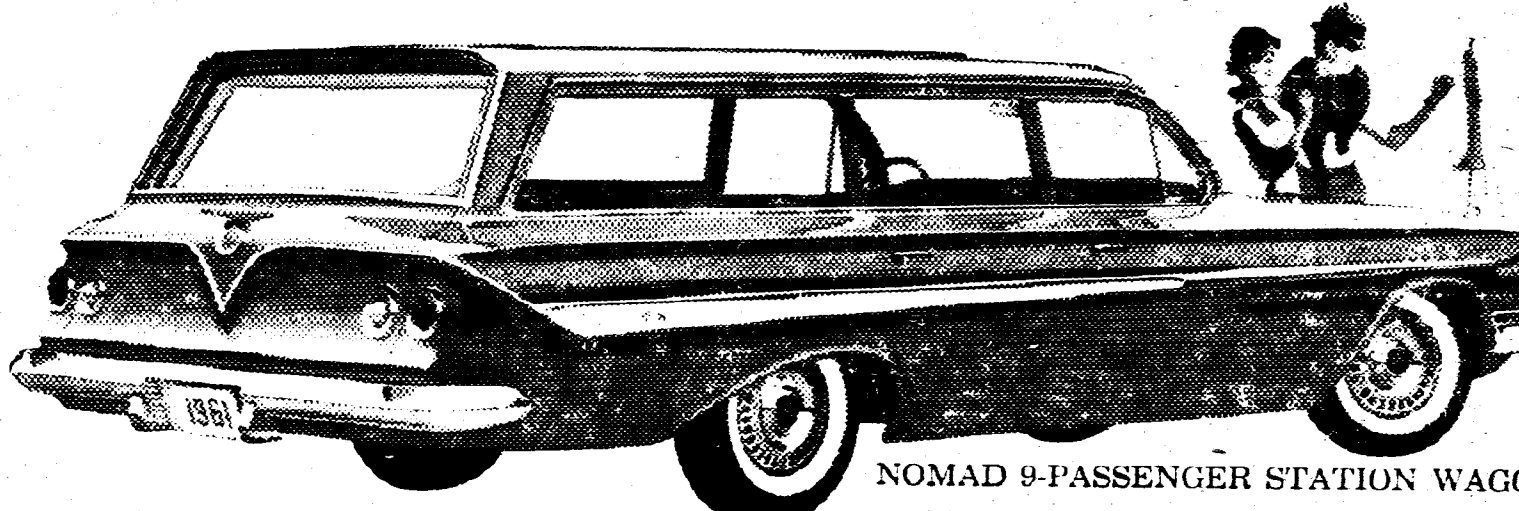

We started out by trimming the outside size a bit (to give you extra inches of clearance for parking and manoeuvring) but inside we left you a full measure of Chevy comfort. Door openings are as much as 6 inches wider to give feet, knees and elbows the undisputed right of way. And the new easy-chair seats are as much as 14" higher — just right for seeing, just right for sitting.

Once you've settled inside you'll have high and wide praises for Chevrolet's spacious new dimensions (in the Sport Coupes, for example, headroom has been upped as much as 2 inches, and there's more legroom, too — front and rear). Chevy's new trunk is something else that will please you hugely — what with its deep-well shape and bumper-level loading it holds things you've never been able to get in a trunk before.

Yet, generously endowed as this car is with spaciousness and clean-etched elegance, it holds steadfastly to all the thrifty, dependable virtues Chevrolet buyers have come to take for granted. Your dealer's the man to see for all the details that make this sensationally sensible '61 Chevy a new measure of your money's worth.

Tuna Still At Cape St. Mary's

Tuna are still schooling at Cape St. Mary's, reports Capt. Melbourne Deveau, and in fact they are still present in large numbers. It certainly is not the scarcity of tuna at the Cape that very few have been caught since September 4th. The real reason why not so many have been landed by rod and reel is due to the fact that the tuna are not biting.

It has been noted that the tuna are not seen when the sea is quite choppy, though they are still present. On days when the sea is moderately calm they can be seen as on these days they appear to be near the surface of the water, while in choppy weather they seem to be deeper in the water.

Thirty-nine tuna have been landed by rod and reel at the Cape from August 17th up to date. Although the amount caught is below last year, which had a record of 75, it is the only place in Nova Scotia or possibly the Maritime Provinces where such a large number of tuna have been landed by rod and reel this year.

Tuna have been present at Cape St. Mary's since August 1st, though they were not biting at that time. Hundreds were seen schooling at that time and since. It is not a question of where have the tuna gone, as it is known that they have been present all summer. The question that is bothering sports fishermen in the area is, why are they not biting and what bait should be used. It is very exasperating to see thousands of tuna schooling and have the bait pass right under their nose and the fish not pay any attention. That is what has been happening right along.

If the tuna had been biting, hundreds of them would have been caught at the Cape this summer and still would be caught. Thursday was the only day that was fit and safe for fishing this week and thousands were seen, coming to within six feet of the boat, but they were not interested in the bait.

The Cape St. Mary's Anglers' Association is optimistic about developing tuna fishing at the Cape as it is known that the tuna have been present in this area in previous years, as well as the last two years.

Nothing is a waste of time if you use the experience wisely.
— Auguste Rodin.

Rev. James MacGregor, first minister in Pictou county.

William Turnbull and his family were the first settlers in Bay View, four miles from Digby on the west side of Digby Gut. The land they occupied is now the home of Rev. L. R. Atkinson. A son of the original settler, another William, was instrumental in establishing the Presbyterian Church in Bay View and his descendants were the main stay of the Presbyterian Church in the Digby area during its existence.

In preparing his history Mr. Turnbull has evidently done a monumental task of research and the book contains a number of reproductions of ancient documents relating to the family. Also included are genealogical charts showing the family links through to the present generation. Attractively printed, the book also contains colour plates of the three armorial bearings of the family, including that of Turnbull of Bedrule, the coat of arms of the probable ancestor of the family. These are the work of Miss Alison Bent, official herald painter.

Mr. Turnbull's brother, Dr. G. V. Turnbull, is the only immediate member of the author's family now living in Digby, although a majority of the older families in this community can trace their ancestry to the Turnbull family.

Printed by the Book Society of Canada, the history traces the Turnbull family from its origin in Scotland with William of Rule in about the year 1300. This William is thought to have been the first to bear the name of Turnbull which he gained by virtue of a gallant exploit in which he saved King Robert Bruce from the attack of a wild bull.

In 1315 King Robert Bruce granted to William, now called "Turn-e-bull", a piece of land in Ettrick forest in Selkirkshire. This is the first time the name Turnbull appears in an official record. Later, between 1314 and 1325, the Turnbulls became located in the barony of Bedrule where some of them acquired heritable rights to their possessions, thus marking the beginning of the Turnbull House of Bedrule.

Although records show the family came into possession of lands in several parts of Scotland there seems to be little to indicate they took an active interest in the political affairs of Scotland. The Border clan of Turnbull had as its chieftain Turnbull of Bedrule whose seat was Bedrule Castle, a fortress of great strength. The Turnbulls of Minto also occupied an important place amongst the great Border families.

The history of the family prepared by Mr. John Fulton Turnbull traces that history through many stormy periods in Scotland in which members of the family were involved in activities which often brought them into conflict with the law. Reasons are also given for the decline of the family in Scotland which occurred in the 1500's and early 1600's.

Mr. Turnbull admits in his history that many difficulties exist in tracing lines of family descent but states there appears to be no doubt all the Turnbulls stem from the same root. It appears likely, he says, that the Turnbulls of Digby are descended from the Turnbulls of Bedrule.

The earliest ancestor of the Digby Turnbulls from whom a line of descent can be proved was George Turnbull, a cooper in Newton. A son of this George Turnbull, William Turnbull and his wife, Elizabeth Brown, decided because of the famines in Scotland in the 1780's, to emigrate with their three sons. In 1786 they took passage on the brig Lily for Halifax, where they landed on July 11th. They were accompanied by Mrs. Turnbull's sister, Helen Brown, and a fellow passenger was

Four Generations Present

On Saturday, September 24, there were four generations gathered at the home of Mrs. LeRoy Wagner, Riverdale, N. S.; little Cheryl Saunders; her father, Graham Saunders; grandmother, Mrs. L. M. Saunders, Digby; and three great grandmothers, Mrs. LeRoy Wagner, Riverdale, N. S., Mrs. Lucy Saunders, Hantsport, N. S., and Mrs. Ramsdell, Toronto, Ontario.

For the past few weeks Mrs. LeRoy Wagner has also had as her guests the two remaining daughters of the late Peter and Eliza Wagner, Mrs. Nancy Helms, Hellsfort, Pa., and Mrs. Violet Gibson, Wellesley, Mass. Mrs. Nancy Helms and Mrs. Violet Gibson are great great aunts of little Cheryl. It has been a number of years since Mrs. Helms and Mrs. Gibson have visited Nova Scotia and their many friends, both far and near, have enjoyed dropping in and chatting awhile and taking trips down memory lane.

Other visitors at Mrs. Wagner's on Saturday were: Mrs. Albert Grant, Weymouth North, N. S.; Mrs. Margaret Sabine, Riverdale, N. S.; and Mr. Frank Gates, Hill Grove, N. S.

To Appear On "Reflections"

The popular program Reflections, from CBC Halifax, returns to the CBC Television Network this season at a different time and place.

Seen for the last 26 weeks on Saturday evening, it now will be scheduled each Monday afternoon at 4:00 p.m., ADT, starting October 17.

This change will not affect the format of the program. Reflections will continue to present a half-hour of classical and light-classical music, featuring soprano Jean Marshall, formerly of Digby (above), harpist Phyllis Ensher, violinist Francis Chaplin, the string orchestra conducted by pianist Gordon MacPherson, and host Syd Davison.

"The only major change," says producer Robert Alban, "will be the set—a more informal outdoor-indoor type, which will change with the season."

He is very pleased with the reception accorded the program by viewers, and he believes that with the new time, it will reach a much wider audience, one which will include children.

Presbytery To Present Brief

The Annapolis Presbytery of the United Church of Canada will present a Brief to the Royal Commission on Liquor Control in Nova Scotia at its Public Hearing in Digby in the latter part of October. This decision was reached at the regular meeting of the Presbytery held in the Annapolis Royal United Church on Wednesday, October 5th. Chairman for the meeting was Rev. J. R. Calder Fraser, of Bridgetown, and the Secretary was Rev. Morris A. Barss, of Kingston.

Those present at the meeting included Mr. J. L. Jolley, of Annapolis Royal; Rev. W. H. Thomas, of Aylesford; Rev. J. R. Calder Fraser, and Mrs. H. R. Wade, of Bridgetown; Rev. R. H. Hughes, and Mr. M. B. Atkinson, of Digby; Mrs. E. C. Gates, of Weymouth; Mrs. Hugh Morehouse, of Sandy Cove; Rev. Morris Barss, of Kingston; Rev. Allan C. MacLean, of Lawrencetown; Rev. Prescott Burrill, Rev. H. S. Bird, Mr. F. E. Bath, and Mr. G. L. Andrews, of Middleton; Rev. Frank E. Phinney, and Mr. J. M. Wilson, of Waterville; Rev. H. I. Hare, of H.M.C.S. Cornwallis.

The decision to present the Brief came after considerable discussion of the report of the Presbytery's Committee on Evangelism and Social Service presented by Rev. H. I. Hare, Protestant Chaplain at H.M.C.S. Cornwallis. Rev. Mr. Hare and Rev. R. H. Hughes, of Digby, were elected to present the Brief to the Royal Commission on behalf of the Annapolis Presbytery.

In addition to the report of this committee other reports were presented and discussed. Rev. Prescott Burrill, of Middleton, presented the report of the Committee on Recruiting for Church Vocations, stressing the great shortage of Candidates for the Ministry. He urged the members of Presbytery to consider it as their urgent personal responsibility to challenge young people to consider Church vocations in planning their life's work. In presenting the report of the Committee on Overseas Missions Rev. Frank Phinney, of Waterville, also stressed the need of personnel to serve the overseas mission fields of the Church. Not only are ministers needed for this work but there is a great need for people in other vocations such as doctors, nurses, teachers, etc.

The report of the Missionary and Maintenance Fund of the Church was given by Rev. Morris Barss, of Kingston. Mr. Barss reported that the givings of the United Church congregations in the Presbytery had greatly increased in the past year, showing an average increase to date of over 60%. He urged continued support of this Fund and suggested several means of missionary education in the congregations.

It was decided to hold two Missionary Rallies in the Presbytery in November, one to be at Kingston and the other at Annapolis Royal. The Rallies are to consist of a supper meeting for the ministers, members of local church M. & M. Committees and of the Pastoral Charge Official Boards. This is to be followed by a public meeting in the evening when the special speaker is to be Rev. Ian MacLeod, a missionary on furlough from Japan.

Mr. Stewart Russell, of Amherst, was appointed as Presbytery Supply on the Bear River Pastoral Charge. Mr. Russell, who was recently married, will be entering Pine Hill Divinity Hall, Halifax, in October.

Special visitor to the Presbytery was Rev. Homer Lane, who is an Associate Secretary of the Board of Evangelism and Social Service of the United Church of Canada. Dr. Lane spoke briefly at the afternoon session of the Presbytery and addressed a public service held in the Annapolis Royal United Church in the evening. This service was conducted by Rev. Prescott Burrill, of Middleton, assisted by Rev. H. I. Hare, of H.M.C.S. Cornwallis. The music was led by the Choir of the church which also rendered a special anthem.

The water shortage situation in the town of Digby is rapidly reaching the critical stage. H. M. Turnbull, chairman of the town water commission, stated Wednesday.

Mr. Turnbull said the town water supply at Lily Lake, which had been remaining fairly constant, although at a low level, has been dropping steadily over the past several weeks so that it has now reached a point where continued drop off at the rate which has been occurring recently could mean the town would be without water.

Every effort, Mr. Turnbull said, is being made to inform the public of the seriousness of the situation and to secure their cooperation in curtailing all unnecessary use of water.

He said cooperation in the matter of the water supply which has been received from the people of Digby has been excellent but also stated that if the supply continues to dwindle it may be necessary to impose some system of rationing in order to conserve water.

Some people, Mr. Turnbull said, seemed to be under the impression recent rains had improved the water situation in Digby. The actual fact is quite the reverse, he said, and in fact the water supply at Lily Lake has never been so low as it is at present.

A celebration of the Holy Communion will be held at seven o'clock Sunday morning and this will be followed by a choral Communion service at eight o'clock.

At eleven o'clock a special Youth Service will be held. This will be attended by church youth organizations and by local Boy Scouts, Sea Cadets, Girl Guides and other youth organizations of the area.

The anniversary service will be held Sunday evening at 7:30. Speaker at the service will be the Rt. Rev. W. W. Davis, Bishop-Coadjutor of Nova Scotia.

Because of the close ties which Trinity Parish has had over the years with the history and development of Digby and area invitations have been extended to civic and government leaders to attend this anniversary service. An invitation has also been extended to the general public to join with the parishioners of Trinity in marking the anniversary of the establishment of the parish.

Trinity parish was established on September 29, 1785, just two years after Digby was founded by Loyalist settlers from the eastern United States who arrived here in convoy under command of Admiral Sir Robert Digby, for whom the new community was named.

The cornerstone of the first church erected by the members of the new parish was laid by Rt. Rev. Charles Inglis, D.D., first Bishop of Nova Scotia, on July 30, 1788, and was the first cornerstone laid in the diocese by Nova Scotia's first Bishop.

On July 3rd, 1878, the cornerstone of the present Trinity Church was laid and on October 15, 1880, the new church was consecrated by Rt. Rev. Hibbert Binney, Bishop of Nova Scotia.

The anniversary services on Sunday will mark not only the 175th anniversary of the establishment of Trinity Parish but will also conclude the year-long celebrations throughout the diocese commemorating 250 years of continuous Anglican worship in this province.

Celebrate Golden Anniversary Youth Active In Church

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Potter, Clementsvalle, celebrated their golden wedding in the same house they were married in 50 years ago. They reside in the home formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hubley, Mrs. Potter's parents.

As on that October day when they were married by Rev. O. E. Steedes, pastor of Clementsvalle Baptist Church, the room was decorated with autumn leaves and flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Potter greeted more than 90 guests and had their five daughters with them for the celebration. They were Glendean (Mrs. Cecil Young), Hampton, Gladys (Mrs. Arleigh White), Lawrence, Annapolis County; Edith (Mrs. A. D. Thompson), Bedford; Greta (Mrs. Leigh Walker), Charlottetown; Harriett (Mrs. Cecil Talbot), Truro; and one son, Robert Potter, Clementsvalle.

The Potters have 14 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. Mr. Potter's mother, Mrs. Phoebe Potter, now living in Lynn, Mass., celebrated her 100th birthday, September 7.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with autumn leaves, ferns, potted plants, fruit and vegetables.

Sunday School convened at 11 o'clock a.m. with the Superintendent, Mrs. Marshall Whitehouse, opening the school with hymns, scripture reading and a story in keeping with Thanksgiving.

Sunday, October 9, was Fall Festival Time at Lighthouse Mission Church of God. The Young People's Beroan Fellowship sponsored the event with Mrs. Helena Comeau directing preparations and planning the service.

At their regular Saturday evening meeting the Senior Young People decorated the Church with colorful leaves, curtains and the windows with colored paper and arranged very effective candlelighting. This proved to be an appropriate background for the "Fruits of Harvest" brought in by members and friends of the Mission work and presented in God's service on Sunday evening.

The Young People's Choir presented several song specials. A quartette brought a song of dedication. The Junior Young People sang a number of choruses. Dallas Denchfield served as Director of the service. The Pastor's sermon was on "Giving Thanks".

Youth Active In Church

The first Fall meeting of the Baptist Youth Fellowship of the Baptist Church of Digby met last Wednesday evening in the Church Hall. A similar meeting for the Hill Grove youth was held in their church hall on Tuesday evening with 15 members present. Plans were made for the fall program. A number of the young people from these organizations will attend the District Youth Rally to be held in the Bear River church on Saturday afternoon.

All boys of the Digby congregation from 12 years of age and up have been invited to a meeting in the church hall Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m. to consider and make preliminary plans for the organization of a Boy Scout Troop.

The pastor, Rev. H. S. Hartlin, conducted a District Sunday Convention for the Middle town area on Wednesday afternoon and evening of this week.

In Lynn, Mass., celebrated her 100th birthday, September 7.

Swimming Pool & Park Progressing

The booth at the Digby County Exhibition, sponsored by the Swimming Pool Committee of Bear River and operated by some of the interested ladies of the village, proved an outstanding success. The committee is pleased to report that with the proceeds from the booth and the additional funds raised by the Financial Committee by public donation, the outstanding indebtedness has been reduced to $120.00, which is felt can be entirely paid off in the near future. To this end the Committee is urging any citizen who has not contributed to the project to do so at their earliest opportunity. Mr. Chester Kaulback, secretary of the Financial Committee, or the canvasser in the district will receive contributions.

It is planned that as soon as the indebtedness has been liquidated that a public meeting will be called to elect a Commission to carry on the future development of the Bear River Park area.

Since the last report to the citizens of Bear River the Swimming Pool Construction Committee has been successful in acquiring adequate protection from flood waters for the pool area. It is believed. The Department of Highways in widening and straightening the river bed above the bridge on the Parker Road, as a protective measure for the bridge, used the excess material to reinforce the breakwater on the property next to the river. This will prevent the flooding of the Parker Road and the adjoining property. It is understood.

Further protective work has been completed below this bridge by the Committee. The work was made possible by a generous contribution by a local citizen.

ABOUT THIS AND THAT

Dangerous Practice

It was brought to our attention that a three or four year old child had picked up a package of pills, possibly lost or tossed away with other refuse on the shore. Fortunately, the child had not time to tamper with the contents of the container before discovered, but the fact remains that such could have happened. We write on fire prevention and highway safety to save the lives of children. Here is another instance where carelessness by adults could result in harm to a child. Parents and other grown-ups are cautioned to keep drugs of any kind out of reach of children in the home and also outside the home.

Saddest Of All

We are now in the midst of Fire Prevention Week. Our attention was drawn to its observance on Sunday at church services in the town and surrounding area. We have been reminded of financial losses and loss of life which might occur by fire in the forest, on the business premises and at home.

Of all fires none seems more sad than those which cause the death of children in the home.

The shadow deepens when the headlines read: "We left them alone only for a few minutes..."

For the stricken family, the shadow lasts a lifetime.

No child (and, for that matter, no very old or dependent person) should ever be left alone. This is a vital message from Canada's fire services, not just for Fire Prevention Week but throughout the year.

There are various provincial penalties for callous neglect of children. And section 189 of the Criminal Code of Canada reads: "Everyone who unlawfully abandons or exposes a child who is under the age of 10 years, so that its life is or is likely to be endangered or its health is or is likely to be permanently injured, is guilty of an offence and is liable to imprisonment for two years."

Parents who go out have a duty to their children, to the community and to themselves to see that the youngsters are properly looked after.

The heartening acceptance of this obligation in homes across the land is reflected by the fact that baby-sitting has become more than a casual occupation for many people. It has even developed into a regular profession.

The Fire Chief has information on child protection. If you do a fair amount of baby sitting, call him. He'll be delighted to hear that you mean business and that, like him, you are deeply concerned with the welfare of your charges.

Hunting Safety

Within two hours of the opening of the hunting season in Nova Brunswick one fatal accident and a wounding accident had happened. Others have happened since. One is forced to ask, "Is hunting sport worth it?" Yet, a bit of caution on the part of the hunter could prevent such accidents and make the sport a bit safer for all who are interested in it.

One of the chief causes of accidents seems to be failure in having a clearly defined target. A marksman needs to exercise the utmost care in this regard. Too often a hasty bullet hits a human and we hear the repeated phrase, "I thought it was a deer." Other accidents occur when hunters carry loaded guns in automobiles and boats, stand them in tents or cabins, or lay them on the ground. A loaded gun should always be carried downward if carried at all. And most of all do not leave a loaded gun where children or irresponsible people have access to them.

Another caution to remember when entering the woods during hunting is to wear something which can easily be distinguished from the trees and wildlife.

The 1960 hunting season opens in Nova Scotia on October 15. Make this a safe year in Digby County.

Sympathy Extended

The sympathy of The Digby Courier is extended to the widow and family of the late Percy W. Carey, editor of the Yarmouth Light, whose death occurred last week.

Sympathy is also extended to Charles Black, of the Mid-dleton Outlook, in the tragic death of Mrs. Black and Glenda. Mrs. Black ably shared responsibility in church and community life and had become known among weekly publishers' wives. She will be missed in those circles in which she had been active.

What's In A Name?

Our readers forgive us if we use this column for personal matters. We want to thank Ann Advocate for this little column in her column - "Congratulations, Mrs. Edith Wallis, Digby Courier for the fine story on you in the Vancouver Province." You can't beat these Wallises even if they don't spell their names right! Didn't you like the picture too, Ann?

Let our readers in on a secret - Ann Advocate is Nona Murray, wife of George Murray, publisher of the Advocate. She was Nona Wallace, of Halifax, sister of that well-known Digby Wallace, the tourist promoter. Not that more of the Wallace family are not well-known but there are times when we think everyone in Digby is a special and personal friend of Dan's. Just mention a tourist problem and you'll see what we mean. Nona is recognized in her own right through her Ann Advocate column and for other reasons, not least of all being a mother to ten fine and beautiful children. She just got through boasting about being a mother-in-law for the first time too, and it is quite possible she hadn't recovered sufficiently to make the trip to Vancouver and hit the news columns of the city dailies there.

Hope to see you in Halifax soon, Ann Advocate, when maybe the courts of the N.S.W.N.A. will decide whether its the "Wallis" or the "Wallace's" who spell their name correctly!

Want also say in passing thanks to Guy Pelton's mention in the Yarmouth Light on the write-up in the Vancouver paper. Just to show how far and wide is publicity in newspapers - from coast to coast.

Marriages

Rankin — Eisener

Standards of mixed gladioli decorated the altar and lily-of-the-valley clusters and ribbons marked the guest pews at St. Alban's Church, Woodside, when Joyce Gertrude, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Eisener, of Bear River, became the bride of Vernon Henry Rankin, son of Mrs. Elsie Rankin and the late Mr. Rankin, of Eastern Passage. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. W. J. Moore, and wedding music was provided by organist Mrs. M. Mitchell, and soloist Leonard Nelson.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white nylon organza. The fitted bodice was styled with short sleeves. The neckline, which formed a v-back, was trimmed with minute seed pearls and iridescent sequins. Her chapel length veil was held in place by a head-piece of matching lace and sequins and she carried a corsage of red roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Miss Shirley Rankin, sister of the groom, was maid of honor, in a dress of pink nylon organza with a matching picture hat and accessories. Miss Myrtice Kaye was bridesmaid. She wore a gown of deep aqua nylon organza, matching picture hat and accessories. Both attendants carried cascade bouquets of mixed shasta daisies.

Charles Miller, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man, and Ronald DeWolfe and Robert MacDonald were ushers.

Mrs. Eisener chose for her daughter's wedding a soldier blue crepe dress. With this she wore white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The mother of the groom wore a dress of dusty rose lace, grey accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at St. Peter's hall, Eastern Passage, where the Rev. Mr. Moore proposed a toast to the bride.

For travelling the bride chose an olive green suit with beige accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

On their return from a wedding trip to Niagara Falls Mr. and Mrs. Rankin will reside in Eastern Passage.

Burgess — Jeffrey

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sabine was the scene of a quiet autumn wedding on October 8, at 11:30 a.m., when her sister, Helen Virginia Jeffrey, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Jeffrey, Sandy Cove, Digby Co., became the bride of Raymond Manson Burgess, son of Mrs. Albia Burgess and the late Mr. Lotan Burgess, Hantsport, N. S. Rev. C. L. Chute officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Floral decorations consisted of shades of yellow and bronze 'mums.

The bride was attired in a street-length dress of print silk in blended shades of green, with hat and shoes of corresponding green, white gloves and a corsage of yellow rosebuds. She was attended by her eldest sister, Mrs. Fred Sabine, who wore an autumn brown wool dress, with accessories of gold and green, corsage of bronze carnations.

John Harvie attended the groom.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Sea Foods Restaurant, Dayton, Yarmouth Co., for forty guests. The bride's table was centered with a three tier wedding cake and on either side tall white tapers. Miniature bouquets of bronze and gold 'mums centered the guest tables.

Following the reception, the newlyweds left for a honeymoon trip via "Princess Helen" to the provinces of New Brunswick and Quebec. The bride wore a worsted tweed suit of periwinkle blue with hat and gloves of bone colour, black suede shoes and a corsage of dark pink feathered carnations.

Harris — Robicheau

St. Claire Ave. United Church, Toronto, Ontario, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday, September 17, 1960, at 11:30 a.m., when Joan Marie, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Robicheau, of Digby, Nova Scotia, was united in marriage to Gerald Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Harris, of Willowdale, Ontario.

Rev. G. Ashton officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her eldest brother, Vernon Robicheau, looked lovely in a floor-length gown of white tulle with train. The fitted bodice had a sweetheart neckline of nylon lace with tiny sequins and long tapered lace sleeves coming to a point over the wrists. She wore a finger tip veil of nylon illusion, which was attached to a tiara of sequins and seed pearls. She wore small pearl earrings and matching necklace. Her bouquet was a cascade of red roses and white carnations.

Miss Violet Gibson, niece of the bride, was bridesmaid. She wore a ballerina length gown of pale blue nylon lace over matching taffeta. Her headress was of a pale blue velvet, and she wore white accessories. She carried a nosegay of blue, pink and white baby 'mums, with matching ribbon streamers.

Miss Suzanne Robicheau, niece of the bride, who was to have been flower girl, was taken ill the previous day and was unable to attend.

Mr. Roy Colt, friend of the groom, acted as best man. Mr. Edward "Ted" Robicheau, brother of the bride, and Mr. Mark Fagan, friend of the groom, were ushers.

Mrs. Robicheau, mother of the bride, wore a dress of greyish blue crepe with white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations with a touch of blue.

Mrs. Harris, mother of the groom, wore a navy blue figured taffeta dress and matching accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception for seventy invited guests was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Larry Crowell, which was decorated for the occasion with fall flowers and pink and white streamers and wedding bells.

The bride's table was centered with a three tier wedding cake, which was cut by the bride and groom in the traditional manner.

Mr. Roy Colt proposed the toast to the bride, and was responded to by the groom.

Mrs. George Gibson and Mrs. Larry Crowell, sisters of the bride, poured, Miss Nancy Russell and Miss Norma Woods served the bridal party.

The first concert of the current season of Jeunesses Musicales of Canada (Youth and Music) will be held at Saint Anne's College Auditorium in Church Point on Monday, October 24th, at 8:00 p.m. For the third consecutive year, the Church Point center, the first of its kind in Nova Scotia, presents a series of four recitals, which will surely delight all music-lovers. The holder of a membership card will be entitled to attend the four concerts: October 24th: Guy Falot, one of the world's top ranking cellists, and Ayia Erduran, a Turkish violinist; November 28th: Michael Dussault, 17 year old Canadian star pianist; (above) January 23rd: from Paris, the well-known Chamber Orchestra of Paul Kuentz (13 musicians); February 27th: two short Comic Operas by the Canadian composer Maurice Blackburn (above).

Benefits of JMC include admission to at least four recitals a year given by first rate musicians. Members also receive a free subscription to the JMC journal.

Every summer, a music camp is held in the national park at Mount Orford, Quebec, where JMC has its own buildings. The best instructors meet there to give young musicians unequalled opportunities to develop their talents in solo, ensemble, orchestral, band and choral work.

Founded in Belgium just before the last war, the Jeunesses Musicales movement is today firmly rooted in twenty countries and has a total membership of over 500,000.

The expansion of the movement right across Canada has now become an accomplished fact. JMC has centers in seventy-five cities and counts 50,000 members. By the means it uses, this movement will certainly spread the knowledge and appreciation of good music and promote cultural development among young Canadians.

Few are the countries of the world where the livestock owner does not live in dread of seeing the above notice tacked upon his gate. For he knows that if his animals become infected with this disease they will waste away and never regain normal weight and milk production.

He also knows that once aftosa hits the only way to stop it is to kill off all livestock in the entire infected area.

But the economic losses caused by this animal ill-formally named foot-and-mouth disease, but more commonly known as "aftosa" — are not limited to stock owners. Today aftosa is a world problem. Here are a few reasons why:

— Because aftosa control and eradication measures are expensive to governments.

— Because in a world where too many millions are already undernourished, aftosa is the number one cause of loss of animal protein.

— Because aftosa cuts down international trade by forcing aftosa-free countries to bar animal products coming from infected lands.

Only Australia, the Guianas, New Zealand, Norway, Sweden, and the western Hemisphere north of Panama are free of aftosa. Yet even these areas run danger of infection as the aftosa virus can be carried in bones, blood, milk and hides as well as fresh droppings, urine or even frozen meat.

Church Marks 175th Anniversary

Sunday, October 16th, was a memorable day in the history of Trinity Parish in Digby for on that day the church marked the 175th anniversary of the establishment of the parish.

The day's services began with a celebration of the Holy Communion at seven o'clock. This was followed by a choral communion service at eight o'clock.

At eleven o'clock a Youth Service was held which was attended by a church parade composed of Boy Scouts, Wolf Cubs, Sea Cadets, Girl Guides and members of the J.A. The parade formed up at the Town Hall and was led by the bugle band of HMCS Cornwallis.

During the Youth Service the flags of the 1st Digby Company, Girl Guides, were dedicated by the Rector of Trinity Parish, the Rev. James Pike.

The flags were paraded to the chancel steps by a colour party composed of Guides Sally Carson, Bernice VanTassell, Leslie Anderson, Joanne Kenney and Janet Hawkins. From there they were taken and placed on the altar where they were dedicated. At the close of the service the flags were solemnly presented to the colour party.

The Scripture lesson for the Youth Service was read by Scout Commissioner N. D. Wright.

In his sermon the Rector told the young people some of the history of the parish and stated that the pioneer settlers who created the community of Digby and established Trinity parish were motivated by a real sense of their duty to God and to their Sovereign when they left their comfortable homes to endure the hardships that occurred in making a new settlement here.

Mr. Pike said that the people of today, particularly the youth, owe a tremendous debt to these people and are bound to continue to fulfil the duty owed to God and country by working together to make Digby a better place in which to live.

For the anniversary service Sunday evening the church was filled to overflowing with parishioners and many invited guests and other visitors.

Included among the distinguished personages attending the evening's service were His (Please turn to page 4)

Several Deer Shot

Reports have been received from a number of successful deer hunters in the vicinity of Digby.

It is understood Melbourne Comeau got a very nice doe on the morning of the opening day of the season.

Other successful hunters include John Cowan, of Digby, who shot a 205 pound eight point buck, and Frank and Russell MacIntosh, who got a deer on Saturday which weighed 135 pounds, and Clifford Melanson and Gus Comeau, who downed a plump buck on Saturday.

Hold Institute At Acaciaville

Seventy-five women from various parts of Nova Scotia were in attendance at the fifth Women's Institute of the African United Baptist Association of Nova Scotia which convened in the Acaciaville Baptist Church on Saturday.

At the official opening ceremonies on Saturday morning a welcome was extended by Mrs. Myrtle Simms, president of the Acaciaville Ladies' Auxiliary, Miss Sherry Parish, of New Glasgow, responded on behalf of the visiting delegates.

The theme of the institute was "Our Children's Welfare". An address on the theme was given by Mrs. W. Parsons, president of the Lucasville Ladies' Auxiliary, who spoke on the text, "And the Child grew, and waxed strong in spirit, filled with wisdom, and the Grace of God was upon Him".

Following the opening ceremonies discussion groups were held on various aspects of the theme. Leading these were Mrs. W. P. Clayton, Grand Lake, Halifax County; Mrs. M. L. Anderson, Greenville, Yarmouth County; Mrs. William Skinner, Halifax.

After dinner in the church hall a devotional period was held, led by the Cobeguid Road ladies, Mrs. Wallace Bailey and Mrs. Ruth Johnson.

This was followed by the business session of the institute. Suggestions arising from the suggestion box were dealt with by Mrs. A. F. Smith, of Halifax, official organizer of the Ladies' Auxiliary. Findings from the discussion groups were reported by Mrs. Fairfax, of Dartmouth.

Beaver Survey Progressing

The beaver survey, being made in Digby County, is going ahead satisfactorily. It was reported by Don Brown of the Department of Lands and Forests at last Wednesday night's meeting of the Digby East Fish and Game Association.

Mr. Brown stated the survey was being hampered somewhat by lack of water in all streams of the county. It is understood a seaplane will be brought in to assist in the survey. Mr. Brown reported some beaver had been found.

The survey was instituted by the Lands and Forests department following protests from the Digby East Fish and Game Association concerning the decision by the department to have an open season on beaver in Digby County this year.

The local association had urged the season on beaver, which has been closed in Digby County for the past three years, remain closed to give the beaver a chance to make a comeback in the county.

President Jack Nichols, of the local association, reported that one of the society's members had a close call recently when he was shot at twice by young boys on a Sunday afternoon, who reportedly mistook him for a deer.

Mr. Nichols urged all members with under-age children make an all-out effort to make sure these youngsters did not misuse firearms. He stressed co-operation with authorities to cut down on any hunting accidents in the county. He also asked that local authorities "crack down" on the practice of young boys being allowed to carry firearms in the town.

Cooperation was also urged by Mr. Nichols in meeting of the request being made by the Lands and Forests department that the reproductive organs of doe deer shot during the season be forwarded to the department. He noted also that the lower jaw bones of all deer shot are to be sent in to the department.

Book Has Wide Circulation

A book which may become one of the principal foundation stones in the long sought after comprehensive theory of human behaviour has recently been published by Dr. Alexander H. Leighton, of Cornell University, well known in western Nova Scotia as a long-time summer resident and, for the past ten years, director of the Cornell program of community research in this area.

The book, whose title is "My Name Is Legion", is the first of three volumes reporting the findings of the Stirling County study of psychiatric disorder and sociocultural environment. Although only in print a short time, the book has received wide recognition around the world among educators, medical and government people concerned in the matters with which it deals and already six thousand copies have been sold.

The study on which "My Name Is Legion" reports has been an intensive ten year research project carried out in an area of Nova Scotia chosen for its patterning of cultures. It has involved more than a hundred scientists from every branch of the behavioural and social sciences and its findings are based upon systematic surveys of the community at large, reports of a psychiatric clinic and observational insights provided by a staff living intimately within the community.

"My Name Is Legion", which is essentially a textbook of social psychiatry, is divided into (Please turn to page 5)

Visited Digby

Above is Captain Harry Wallis, Clear Lake, California, who has just returned home after visiting relatives and friends in Digby and other Nova Scotia points. With this 13th return trip by car from California to Nova Scotia safely made Captain Wallis will have crossed the continent 26 times.

Captain Wallis was brought up from early childhood in Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, where his parents, the late James and Theodosia Wallis, had settled on their arrival from England. In the picture above Capt. Wallis displays an ebony elephant which he presented to the Yarmouth museum during his recent visit, in memory of his parents and those of his late wife's parents, the late Captain and Mrs. Elijah Phillips. The elephant was purchased in Colombo, Ceylon, more than forty years ago on one of Captain Wallis' trips to that country.

Other items of interest which Captain Wallis showed his friends while in Digby are displayed above. The shield to the right was given to the Captain recently in appreciation of thirty years of devotion and service to the Lake County Chamber of Commerce in California. A special Captain Wallis night was held for the presentation.

Above is an invitation Captain Wallis received in December 1921 to meet His Royal Highness Prince of Wales at the Government House in Calcutta. The invitation was extended by the Governor and the Countess of Ronaldshay.

The medal above was presented to Mr. Wallis in 1907 when he was 3rd officer on the S.S.

Sagami and was in charge of the life boat which rescued the crew of a British steamer in the North Atlantic.

The watch, suitably engraved, was given to the Captain December 25, 1919, by the passengers of the S.S. Santa Ana for bringing them safely through a tornado.

The pile of strange looking buttons is just that. They are tical buttons given along with a set of sleeve links to the Captain in Singapore in 1920. Tical buttons were Siam money used before coined money. These were presented to Captain Wallis for attention and courtesy to one of his passengers, the Prince of Siam, during a voyage.

Captain Wallis, during his spirit for his years, has many interesting stories to tell about his seafaring voyages. One which captivates his audience, particularly the younger generation, is the time a hundred or so monkeys got loose aboard the passenger ship and they the passengers got interested in rounding up the little creatures which hid in every corner of staterooms and cabins imaginable.

Captain Wallis is referred to in books of the late Frank Buck. It was the Captain himself whom it is known as Mr. Buck his start on his famous game expeditions.

Captain Wallis has retired from the sea but he would be lost without his boat with which he takes out touring parties from his tourist establishment, Wallis Court, at Clear Lake, California, which at least gives him some marine connection.

CAPITAL ANSWER

We like the story of the student who, having been asked to define capital punishment, replied thus:

"Capital punishment is when the government taxes you to get capital so that it can go into business in competition with you, and then taxes the profits on your business in order to pay its losses."

The man who weighs his words retains his balance.

Marriage

Hanson — Carlyle
A pretty wedding took place on August 6th in Stonyhurst, Scotland, when Elizabeth Carlyle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carlyle, of Muir Terrace, was united in marriage to William Carlyle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hanson, of Digby.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She looked radiant in a dress of Canadian make, of carwheel lace with alternate panels of pleated nylon, trimmed with mother of pearl and diamante. Her finger-ring face veil was held in place by a coronet of mother of pearl to match the trimming on her dress. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and pink roses.

The bridesmaid was Miss Jenette Piton, who was dressed in turquoise flocked nylon and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The flower girl, Miss Debbie Hayes, had a full length dress of yellow nylon with frills of net and carried a posy of pink roses.

The bride's mother chose a red dress of tulle on tulle, with white net to match and white accessories.

The groomsmen was Mr. Stanburn.

Marriage

MacKinnon — Shaw
Mason — Shaw

Baskets of coral and white roses framed the scene of a pretty double wedding in the United Baptist Church in Westport, N. S., at 2:30 p.m. October 8, when Joanna Marilyn and Ethel Winnifred, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Shaw, Westport, Digby Co., N. S., were united in marriage to David Roy MacKinnon, only son of Mrs. Irene MacKinnon and the late Angus MacKinnon, of Antigonish Co., N. S., and Alexander Tupper Mason, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mason, of Goldenville, Guysborough Co., N. S., respectively.

Double ring ceremonies were performed by Rev. George Sharpe and Rev. Edward Hales, assisted by Rev. Logan McLellan. Both brides were given in marriage by their father.

Joanna Marilyn was radiant in a floor-length model gown of white beaded tulle, fitted bodice with long lily point sleeves, fitted bodice with scoop neckline, embroidered with seed pearls and rhinestones. The slightly flared skirt fell from the waist with a bustle effect and attached by a rose of the same fabric. The chapel length veil of nylon tulle fell from a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of peach peonies, roses. Her only ornaments were cultured pearl earrings, a gift of the groom.

No less lovely did Ethel Winnifred appear in a floor-length gown of white antique taffeta featuring an empire waist-line and a V-neckline with sequin-trimmed French lace insert and long sleeves tapering to lily points over the hand. The portrait collar ended at the waist. She wore a sweetheart bow and the bouquet skirt had appliques of sequin-trimmed lace. Her chapel length veil was attached to a crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of peach pinocchio roses, central with a white orchid. Her only ornament was a pearl ring, gift of the groom.

The brides attended each other as matron and maid of honor and the grooms supported each other as best man. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Gilbert Jones, Halifax, and Miss Hope Russell of Kentville, wore identical street length gowns of coral velvet with matching picture hats and shoes. They carried cascade bouquets of white carnations and fern.

Little Heather Emmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Emmons, Dartmouth, N. S., was a winsome flower girl in a short white velvet dress with coral cummerbund and coral head band. She carried a basket of pink sweetheart roses and white baby's breath.

Little Joy Mason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mason, Goldenville, Guys. Co., was ring bearer. Ushers were Mr. Ellis Jennings, of St. John's Passage, Mr. George Mason, Goldenville, Organist was Mrs. Richard Welch, Westport, and soloist was Miss Donna Crocker, of Freeport and Halifax.

The brides' mother chose a silk sheath dress of powder blue with white and black accessories. She wore a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. MacKinnon wore a mauve wool sheath dress with beige and brown accessories and corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Mason was attired in a navy silk dress with white accessories and corsage of pink roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church hall for 150 guests. The brides' table was tastefully decorated with a white linen tablecloth, tall white tapers in silver candle holders and pink and white streamers. It was centred with two three tiered wedding cakes, topped with traditional bride

Province To Open Boston Office

A large, attractive office in the west-central part of Boston is the Province of Nova Scotia's first step in a more aggressive campaign to attract industry and visitors to the province.

Premier Robert L. Stanfield said the province has leased office space at 607 Boylston Street, a bright new building on Copley Square, in the heart of the New England city. "The office is part of an overall plan to give even greater support to our increased industrial and travel promotion budget in the North-Eastern United States," said Premier Stanfield. "The former Boston office was devoted solely to travel promotion within the City of Boston. The new office will be operated by a manager who will be responsible for industrial and travel promotion throughout the New England States."

Mr. Stanfield said that preliminary arrangements for the Boston office had been made by Hon. E. A. Manson, Minister of Trade and Industry for Nova Scotia, before he left for Europe.

The Nova Scotia office will be in the same building as that occupied in Boston by Trans Canada Airlines, Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Consul.

The building is opposite the Sheraton Plaza Hotel and close to the Public Library and the multi-million-dollar Prudential Centre.

Premier Stanfield said the office will be decorated in line with a plan presented by an interior decorator and that Nova Scotia products and the province's tartan will be part of the motif.

He said it is expected that a manager and secretary will be appointed within the near future and that the office will be opened and ready for operation early in the new year.

Toasts to the brides were proposed by Rev. George Sharpe and Rev. Hales and were responded to by the grooms. A buffet luncheon was served. Pouring were the brides' grandmothers, Mrs. Lloyd A. Denton and Mrs. Frank R. Shaw.

Serving the bride party were Mrs. Joseph Mason and the Misses Lindsay MacDormand, Sharon Shinnott and Ardith Wilcox. Throughout the reception Mrs. G. M. Robertson, Halifax, acted as hostess. After the traditional cutting of the cakes by the brides and grooms, they served their cakes to the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. MacKinnon are spending their honeymoon travelling in Nova Scotia. For travelling she chose a pale green wool suit with beige and brown accessories and wore a corsage of yellow roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Mason left for the Eastern United States. For travelling she wore a moss green wool suit with green and white accessories and white orchid corsage. Both couples will reside in Halifax.

Out of town guests were from Antigonish, Halifax, Guysborough, Yarmouth, Moncton, Bridgetown, Cape Breton, Dartmouth and Watertown, Mass.

Conclude Convention

The western Nova Scotia congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses concluded their three-day convention at the Shuburne Regional High School on Sunday, October 16th.

The convention opened Friday evening with the District Supervisor, Mr. Laurier Saumur, using as his opening address the theme of the assembly "Be Taught by Jehovah," based on the scripture at John 6:45. The speaker pointed out that Jehovah God is the original source of all knowledge and has always provided his creatures with an abundance of it. Also he has given them the ability to take it in and they must do so in order to gain his approval and the reward for everlasting life. The remainder of the evening program consisted of model classes in public speaking and ministry development. Talks during the assembly were given by John Sowany, of Bear River, W. I. McKenna, Frank Tadel and W. Holmes.

The main feature of the Saturday sessions was the baptism service. The discourse of "Dedication and Baptism" was given by Mr. Saumur, after which six new ministers symbolized their dedication to the service of Jehovah God by water immersion. The evening program was devoted to practical demonstrations on developing "Teaching" - at home, at meetings and at the doors.

The highlight of the convention was the public discourse by Mr. Saumur on Sunday at 3 p.m., entitled "Is God Interested in the Affairs of Men?" To an audience of 375 the speaker pointed out that in spite of man's doubts as to God's interest in the human race, the Creator has proved that he is vitally interested. The fact that he endowed man with so many wonderful things for existence, the marvelous structure of the human body and brain, the provision of everything necessary to sustain life, his Holy Word as a guide to proper relationship with God and especially the provision of his only begotten Son who came to earth to die for the Kingdom, he taught men to pray for "Bible prophecy and world events," said Mr. Saumur. "Safeguard Your Thinking And prove that Christ Jesus began his Kingdom rule in 1914 and that Kingdom will shortly bring everlasting peace to obedient mankind". He concluded with the use of the scripture at Isaiah 65:21-25 which describes the condition of man under God's kingdom rule when he will build houses . . . plant vineyards . . . live at peace with the lower animal creation and "they shall not hurt nor destroy" and more in the restored paradise which God was interested enough to provide for man in the beginning.

The convention came to a close with scriptural counsel from F. Tadel and D. Devar, followed by Mr. Saumur's concluding remarks on the subject "Bible prophecy and world events," said Mr. Saumur. "Safeguard Your Thinking And prove that Christ Jesus began his

Scalloping Big Industry

In the past five years the scallop fishery of Nova Scotia has grown from an annual catch of some 1.4 million pounds, worth less than $500,000 to our fishermen, to about 4.8 million pounds, worth almost $2,000,000, states R. W. Lambie, president of the Nova Scotia Fish Packers Association.

Mr. Lambie states that Nova Scotia fishermen accounted for almost 100% of the Canadian scallop catch in 1959. In 1917 our fishermen produced only 104 thousand pounds, worth $26,000.

The tremendous increase in scallop catch is due mainly to the fact Nova Scotia's fishermen have moved to offshore deep scallop beds. On George's Bank, some 250 miles off Halifax, at depths of 20 to 40 fathoms, there are large under sea spawning grounds where scallops are found in great quantity. Each year sees an increase in landings and there is no evidence the beds are being depleted.

The change in the pattern of scallop fishing has had a considerable effect on the port of Digby. Some ten years ago the Digby scallop fleet was one of the largest in the world sailing out of one port. At times it consisted of ninety boats but has fluctuated to give an average of about forty. Digby may still be the home of the largest fleet in terms of numbers, but the advent of large draggers operating on George's Banks has resulted in the Digby scallop fleet accounting for only about one-fifth of the Nova Scotia catch now instead of almost the entire total.

There are some 20 of the large scallop draggers now in operation from various ports. Some of these have landed catches up to 50,000 pounds of fresh scallop meat, which is thought to be a world record.

An acquaintance that begins with a compliment is sure to develop into a real friendship. Oscar Wilde.

English Scouts Receive Gift

A gift of a deer hide, thirty-three antlers and three moose were recently received by the Plymouth Scouts' Association in Plymouth, England, from Mr. R. W. Connor of Digby.

The gift was sent by Mr. Connor aboard H.M.C.S. Gatinou which he hoped would land at Plymouth. Instead, the Gatinou went to Portsmouth and the crate containing the horns and hide were sent to Plymouth by dockyard transport.

On arrival at Plymouth the crate was unpacked at a representative gathering of city Scouts at Blind Man's Woods. Some of the antlers will be used to decorate the Scouts' new headquarters at Blind Man's Woods, Hartley Vale in Plymouth.

The new headquarters is a modern building but Mr. W. R. Venning, district commissioner for the southern division, stated the antlers will serve to create an effect in keeping with Scouting.

The shipment of the antlers and deer hide was made by Mr. Connor after corresponding for some time with Mr. Venning. His first letter was written when the Jubilee jamboree was held at Sutton Coldfield in 1957 and was in fact a request for a picture of Mr. Connor's first wife's grave at Maker church, Cawsand.

While serving in Plymouth some time before the first world war Mr. Connor was one of the Following the service a social hour was enjoyed upstairs in the hall with a sing-song and refreshments. This will be held after each evening service in the future.

Mrs. Harold Hurtle has received word of the safe arrival of her son, Stanley Bacon, in the Dominican Republic, where he has been transferred in the employ of the Bank of Nova Scotia.

Marriages

Warner — Jefferson

A lovely fall wedding took place at Grace United Church, Digby, at 7:30 Saturday evening, October 8th, when Mary Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jefferson, Mount Pleasant, became the bride of Alfred Vaughn Warner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn E. Warner, of Plympton.

The bride, petite and lovely in her floor length gown of nylon net and chantilly lace over satin, entered the church on the arm of her father, by whom she was given in marriage. Her fitted lace bodice, which was fastened to the waist with tiny covered buttons, was finished with a nylon net yoke and small turn-over lace collar. The long sleeves ended at a point at the wrist. Tapered lace panels made graceful the bouffant skirt. Her conventional shoulder length veil was caught up by a small tiara of seed pearls and net. She carried a bridal bouquet of sweetheart roses. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Mrs. Harold Jackson and Carol Jefferson, sisters of the bride, were charming in their roles of matron of honour and bridesmaid.

Mrs. Jackson wore a ballerina length dress of pink nylon net over taffeta, with fitted bodice and matching tulle stole. The full skirt was embroidered with white dots. Her headpiece was a bandeau of lily of the valley. She carried a nosegay of pink carnations and white shasta daisies.

Carol's ballerina length dress was of blue nylon tulle with fitted bodice and matching stole collar. The full skirt was trimmed with narrow clockwise frills, which completely covered it. Her headpiece was fashioned of tiny pearls and veiling to match the dress. Her nosegay was of pink roses and white 'mums.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with baskets of fall flowers. Rev. R. H. Hughes performed the double ring ceremony.

During the signing of the register Carolyn Arnold, church organist, played several renditions.

Earl Jefferson, brother of the bride, acted as best man. Ushers were DeMille Raymond, brother-in-law of the groom, and Willard Jefferson, brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the United Church hall for about 75 guests. The bride's table was decorated with a three tier wedding cake flanked by tall white candles in silver candle sticks. The hall was tastefully decorated with fall flowers.

Mrs. Elmer Ritchie, a friend of the bride's family, and Mrs. Lloyd Jefferson, aunt of the bride, poured. Those serving were Mrs. Carl Franklin, Eva Jefferson, Karen Barnes and Mrs. Willard Jefferson. Mrs. DeMille Raymond, sister of the groom, took charge of the guest book.

The mother of the bride was attired in a moire silk dress fashioned on princess lines in all-over green and brown pattern, with matching jacket. She wore a green duchess satin pill box hat with veil of the same shade. Her accessories were green and brown. She wore a corsage of pink and white carnations.

The groom's mother wore a sheath of black silk velvet with all over design of hand-painted rosebuds and leaves. Her hat was a rose wool felt fez with downswapped quill. She wore a rosewood wool stole and matching accessories. Her corsage was of deep pink carnations.

The toast to the bride was given by Rev. R. H. Hughes and fittingly responded to by the groom. Gifts were presented to the attendants, ushers and organist by the bride and groom.

With the good wishes of their many friends the happy couple left on a honeymoon trip to provincial points.

For travelling the bride chose a two piece green and white tweed suit and matching hat and brown accessories.

They will reside at Digby where the groom is a student-assistant at the Digby Regional High School.

They received many lovely gifts.

Young — Stewart

A very pretty fall wedding was solemnized on Saturday, October 8, in Christ Lutheran Church, Camperdown, when Sylvia June, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Stewart, of Hebb's Cross, Lunenburg Co., became the bride of Walter Guy, son of Mrs. Harvey Young, and the late Mr. Young, of Ironbound. The bride is a granddaughter of the late Mr. Everett Boliver, of Little River, Digby County. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. L. Rodbourn.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, and looked lovely in a floor length gown of French embroidered net over white satin and tulle. The bodice was on princess lines, with a daintily scalloped neckline trimmed in sequins. The long sleeves tapered to the points over the hand. Her circular, elbow-length veil fell from a heart-shaped headpiece, trimmed with rhinestones, sequins and pearls. Her only jewelry was a pair of heirloom earrings. She carried a bouquet of red roses, with sweetheart rose-buds on white ribbon streamers.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Myrtle Stewart, as maid of honor. She wore a pink dress of nylon over taffeta and tulle, with matching hat and gloves. Her bouquet was of pink carnations, and white and yellow 'mums. The bridesmaids, Misses Maxine, Marina, and Marilyn Young, wore identical costumes of aqua. They carried bouquets of shasta daisies.

The groom was attended by Lawrence Knickie, of Lunenburg, and the ushers were Harold Stewart, brother of the bride, and Gerald Hebb, of Halifax. Mr. Cecil Naugler played the wedding music, and during the signing of the register the choir sang "O Perfect Love".

Following the ceremony a reception for over one hundred and fifty guests was held at the Hebb's Cross Hall. The Willing Workers Club catered, and served a delicious lunch.

The mother of the bride wore a blue taffeta dress with black accessories and a corsage of white 'mums.

The groom's mother was attired in a black suit with rose accessories. Her corsage was also of white 'mums.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. L. Rodbourn and responded to by the groom.

The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered, pillared wedding cake, flanked on either side by white candles in silver holders. Following the traditional cut by the bride and groom, the wedding cake was cut for serving by Mrs. Gerald Hebb. The bride and groom then served the cake to the guests.

The bride and groom were the recipients of many lovely gifts, including silver, china, linen, money, and electrical appliances. The groom's gift to the bride was a set of cultured pearl necklace and earrings, and the bride's gift to the groom was a silver tie clip and cuff link set.

For a honeymoon to Western Canada the bride wore a brown suit flecked with bronze, with brown and beige accessories, and a corsage of white carnations and stephanotis.

Take her out tonight!

Driven the new Volkswagen yet? She's loads of fun.

More and more people are having the time of their life driving the new VW. There's 10% more power. The new Volkswagen leaps away at lights as if it was going to a fire. You can put your foot down anytime you like, in any gear you like, and really take off. The engine torque is increased too. There's more power to call on in every gear—passing is safer and faster. And now that first gear is synchronized, the Volkswagen's easier than ever to drive. You can shift straight down to first gear without stopping the car. This eliminates a lot of unnecessary stopping and starting. (Women drivers especially will like this change). All four gear ratios have been modified to take advantage of the new engine's output. You can thread your way through heavy traffic or give it its head on the highway. In any gear, the new Volkswagen's a lot more fun to drive. There's more luggage space in the new car too; 10 cubic feet in all. A full 5 up front and another 5 behind the back seat. Some of the 30 improvements in the De Luxe Volkswagen are also in the Custom model. There's so much to say about the new car, why not get it first hand. Take her out tonight; she's waiting, bright and shining, at your VW dealer.

Intercontinental airliners criss-crossing the world's flight paths are being transformed into airborne Noah's Arks in this jet age as the animal air cargo business climbs as fast as the big jets themselves. Canadian Pacific Airlines at Vancouver employs two specially-trained handlers to care for the live, exotic cargoes which regularly pass through Vancouver, cross-roads of the airline's international routes linking five continents. At left, handler "Scotty" Starks comforts a zoo-bound gibbon by scratching its chin, and at right, Starks and his mate Ernest Ferrar make a scarf out of a nine-foot Indian rock python. Now just a 60-pound baby, the artfully camouflaged reptile will eventually measure 30 feet and weigh in at 300 pounds. (CP Photo)

Marriages

Melanson — Doucette

St. Croix Church, Plympton, was the scene of a lovely fall wedding at 10 a.m. on Saturday, October 29th, when Eleanor Margaret, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Doucette, Conway, was united in marriage to Nelson Peter (Dick) Melanson, son of Roy Melanson, and the late Hattie Melanson, of Plympton.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was regal and charming in her bridal floor length gown of silk tulle, with sweetheart neckline and fitted bodice which buttoned to the hipline with tiny covered buttons. The full short sleeves were met at the elbow with white mitts fastened at the wrist by three tiny matching buttons. The flowing skirt fell to a train below the full double bustle at the back. Her shoulder length veil was caught up by a tiara of pearl sequins edged with tiny seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses. Her jewellery was a pearl drop earring and matching earrings, a gift of the groom.

Linda Doucette, sister of the bride, made a charming bridesmaid in her dress of pastel flowered white nylon with low cut neck and fitted bodice laced with narrow pink velvet ribbon. She wore a tiny flower hat with dotted nylon veil and carried a nosegay of pink sweetheart roses.

Best man was Harry Theriault, and ushers were Joe Potter and Bernal Waterman, friends of the groom.

The bride's mother chose a blue silk flowered sheath with shawl collar, a navy silk duster. Her hat was a pink velvet cloche with matching silk veiling. Her accessories were pink and navy. She wore a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

Rev. Father Raoul Deveau performed the double ring ceremony.

Soloist was Joyce Melanson, accompanied by Mrs. Harley Ambault, of Gilbert's Cove.

Also assisting with the music were the Sisters of St. Croix Parish.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion by friends of the bride and groom with baskets of fall flowers and vases of gladioli.

Following the ceremony the happy couple left amidst showers of confetti and good wishes from their many friends for the bride's home where the wedding breakfast was held for the bridal party and families of the bride and groom.

The toast to the bride was given by Harry Theriault and responded to by the groom. The groom's gift to the best man was gold and onyx cuff links and tie pin, and to the ushers gold initialled cuff links and tie pins.

The bride's gift to the bridesmaid was a pearl drop earring and matching ear rings.

A reception and dance was held in the evening at Budd's Hall, Marshalltown. It was attended by over 200. Refreshments were served by friends of the bride and groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Melanson left for a short trip to provincial points. For going away the bride wore a dress of royal blue tulle with fitted bodice and full skirt and three quarter length sleeves. Her coat was of beige wool with matching accessories.

Out of town guests attending the wedding and reception were Mrs. May Fraser, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Christie, Lynn, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. George Harris, Patsy Potter, Wolfville; Audrey Kinney, Truro; Margaret Rand, Shelburne; Shirley Potter, Saint John; Ralph Chown, Halifax.

Mr. and Mrs. Melanson will reside at Digby where Mr. Melanson is on the staff of Jack's B.A. Service Station. The bride is on the staff of T.C.C.

They were recipients of many lovely and useful gifts.

George Sollows

Death again cut the village of Tiverton, taking as its victim a well known resident and 87 years of age.

He was born at Freeport, N. S., a son of Mr. and Mrs. Collin Sollows. When very young he went to Tiverton to live where the greater part of his life was spent as a fisherman, which he was interested in until the end.

He had not enjoyed good health for a number of years, but only confined to his home a few days before he passed away.

He was respected by young and old, a wonderful neighbor and friend, and will be greatly missed.

Left to mourn the loss of a kind father and grandfather are his widow, Ella; one daughter, Althea (Mrs. Clarence Machum), Saint John, N. B.; two sons, Carleton G. fishery officer, Halifax, N. S., Alverton, Tiverton, N. S.; a number of grandchildren and great grandchildren.

To all who mourn sympathy is extended.

Paradise is not a locality — it's a state of mind.

ABOUT THIS AND THAT

UNICEF Hallowe'en

Hallowe'en is again approaching and if we have guessed correctly the younger set have been buying and planning for weeks to have a merry time. As usual we remind these people that a happy climate can be created when the fun is fun for everybody and not heartaches and disappointments for a few. Destruction to other people's property is dubious fun for those who cause the destruction and only care and disappointment to those who suffer the loss. Careless conduct causing injury or death is a far cry from Hallowe'en fun.

What makes Hallowe'en really fun is to see the joy of making others happy. Some of this joy can be experienced by those who hand out treats to the Hallowe'eners at the door. But the joy could be spread even further if the treats could be handed out from there to those who really and truly are in need as is done by a UNICEF Hallowe'en.

We are not aware of any person, organization or group sponsoring a UNICEF Hallowe'en in town this year but this idea is something new which has been added to Hallowe'en in many places. It is something which could be considered for future years or quickly organized for Monday, October 31st, of the present year. Here is the story as told to us.

From the original venture of a small Sunday school class in 1950 there has grown the wholehearted participation of well over two hundred thousand boys and girls in more than 1,500 Canadian communities in the world's greatest and most heart-warming effort by children to help children.

The fun, the excitement, the colourful costumes traditionally associated with Hallowe'en have remained unchanged, but something new has been added. Now the joy of giving enhances the pleasure of receiving, the spirit of helping brings a new significance to an evening of merriment. Enthusiastic children who share their Hallowe'en treats know that in many parts of the world the most coveted "treat" is treatment for a maiming disease. They know that the coins they collect can mean that another child will escape the ravages of malnutrition. Such a result increases the enjoyment of Hallowe'en as children realize the satisfaction that comes from helping others.

By the same token, adults are proud of the children's concern for their less-fortunate contemporaries. They welcome this opportunity to channel youthful energies along constructive rather than destructive lines.

It is not surprising, therefore, that each year since 1955, more and more schools, churches, clubs and civic groups have encouraged Canada's direct participation in this 20th century crusade against illness and hunger among children.

All may take part in a UNICEF Hallowe'en. A single parent, teacher or child may spark interest in this venture and spread the word to his church, club or school. Often entire communities devote themselves to the preparation, promotion and realization of a successful "Hallowe'en for UNICEF" program.

USEFUL THOUGHTS

"Slow me down, Lord! Ease the pounding of my heart by the quieting of my mind. Steady my hurried pace with the vision of the eternal reach of time.

Give me, amid the confusion of my day, the calmness of the everlasting hills. Break the tensions of my nerves and muscles with the soothing music of the singing streams that live in memory.

Teach me the art of taking minute vacations — of slowing down to look at a flower, to chat with a friend, to pat a dog, to read a few lines from a good book.

Let me look upward into the branches of the towering oak and know that it grew slowly and well.

Slow me down, Lord, and inspire me to send my roots deep down into the soil of life's values." Author Unknown.

Temperance Notes

(Furnished by The Order of the Sons of Temperance of Nova Scotia)

ATHLETES WHO KNOW —

I have known a lot of men, who, so far as I know, have never been hurt by their use of strong drink. But I have never known a man who was helped by it. It certainly has no place in the life of any athlete, and that includes professional baseball players. Physical fitness and alcohol don't mix. I personally know of two pennants that were lost, as I view it, because one fellow on the club drank a bit, and then associated with someone with whom he would not have associated if he had not been drinking. This happened two different years in a major league. — Branch Rickey.

If you expect to stay in the game, leave alcohol alone. It gets you sooner or later. — Walter Johnson, of National Baseball Fame.

I consider my voluntary pledge of total abstinence, at the age of 13, as one of the turning points of my life. — Clarence DeMar, Finnish Marathon runner.

The only use I have for alcohol is for rubbing my body before I run. I have never used, nor do I intend to use, alcoholic beverages. — Jesse Owens, U. S. runner in the Olympics.

Alcohol and sports do not agree. I have found out that he who wants to be really and constantly successful, must abstain from the use of alcohol. I use neither alcohol nor tobacco. — Eric Larsson, great athlete of Sweden, in New York Times.

For the boy who is truly interested in athletics and their furtherance and in excellence in any sport, there is certainly no place in his program for indulgence in alcoholic beverages. Championships depend upon skill and endurance. Skill and endurance will follow naturally in the wake of hard work, sacrifice and clean living. Earl Brown, Harvard University.

The Texas Aggies use alcohol for rubbing sore muscles only. — Homer Bill Norton, of Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College.

I am not afraid of tomorrow, for I have seen yesterday and I love today. — William Allen White.

The Bible Today

In Camaguay and Manzanillo, two cities in Eastern and Central Cuba, the Baptist, Methodist, Pentecostal and Adventist Churches co-operated in two one-week campaigns to distribute the Scriptures.

Two hundred and fifty volunteers were trained in Camaguay and sixty in Manzanillo in preparation for the work of distribution of the Scriptures. Special services were held and the co-operation of local radio stations was secured.

The campaign was carried out on the basis of house to house visitation. The visitors were generally well received and the American Bible Society reports that considerable success was obtained. It is expected that further campaigns will be conducted in other parts of Cuba in the future.

The growth of the Church in Brazil has been aided greatly by the phenomenal growth in the circulation of Bibles since the new version was published last year. The Bible Society of Brazil reports that the distribution of Bibles increased from 122,000 in 1958 to 211,000 in 1959. The Society hopes to print 300,000 copies in 1960 even though the importation of Bible paper over a given quota is heavily taxed. The paper was published in 1959.

THE Digby Courier

produced locally in Brazil is not suitable for whole Bibles.

The Society has now issued as a separate volume a 45,000 line Concordance, which was originally prepared for inclusion in the revised revision of the Portuguese Bible.

In recent years, several Roman Catholic editions of the Scriptures in Portuguese have been published by Roman Catholic organizations. A new translation of the whole Bible, based on the Maredsous version, was published in 1959.

NECUS IMPRESSIONS

which is still in the process of being built. When completed the South Saskatchewan River Dam will be the largest rolled earth dam ever built in Canada and one of the larger dams of its kind in the world. In South Central Saskatchewan, it will mean irrigation for agriculture, more dependable water supplies, and the reduction of flood hazards.

A picnic lunch was followed by a showing of coloured slides indicating the progress of work on the dam. We then studied a scale model of the Dam project and then had a view of the actual Dam site. This and the return trip occupied most of the days. Our return to Saskatoon was marked by a banquet given for us at the CNR Beesborough Hotel by the Federated Cooperatives. So ended our visit to Saskatoon.

The morning of August 26 found us eating another early breakfast - this time in Athabasca Hall on the campus of U. of Alberta.

We started our tour of the campus in the newly-completed Math-Physics Building. At this point some of us got separated from our groups but finally managed to converge at the next point of the tour - the Library. We next had an opportunity to examine the newly-constructed $3 million Physical Education Building complete with $1 million swimming pool and modern ice rink. We then broke up into groups to visit the different departments of the Provincial Research Station on the campus.

A buffet luncheon sponsored by the City of Edmonton was held for us in the Jubilee Auditorium. This magnificent building and one identical to it were built in Edmonton and Calgary by the Provincial government to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the Province of Alberta.

We could easily understand why the Alberta students called it "Manning's Mansion."

The afternoon schedule consisted of tours through the Imperial Oil Refinery and Canadian Industries Limited. We returned to the Jubilee Auditorium once more to attend a banquet given by a group of business men of the oil-rich city. We had the rest of the night to explore Edmonton as we remained there overnight.

The next day we left Edmonton on our own special train. This day was highlighted by a short stop at the C.N.R.'s famous Jasper Park Lodge in Jasper National Park. The breathtaking beautiful scenery of the Rockies claimed our attention most of the day.

The day and night-long train ride before reaching Vancouver gave us not only a chance to rest after those hectic three days but a chance to reflect on all we had seen and heard. Our impressions of the prairie provinces had been favourable. How could they be otherwise? Beautiful weather, warm hospitality on the part of our Western friends, universities with huge campuses and impressive new buildings greeted us in each province.

We realized that having one government-supported university in each of the western provinces necessitates their having large enrollments and campuses to accommodate them. Nevertheless it was something new for many of us who had not been West before.

One thing the Western universities do have in common with universities in the East is the continual need for expansion. They too, are constantly engaged in campaigns to raise funds for new buildings.

Having seen these large universities and having talked to the students who attend them, we are more able to appreciate the "feeling of belonging" one gets at a small residential college like Acadia.

Digby County Baptists Meet

The annual Fall meeting of the Baptists of Digby County convened in the Riverside United Baptist Church, Weymouth, on Tuesday morning, with the Chairman of the District, Rev. H. S. Hardin, Digby, presiding. The Secretary-Treasurer is Rev. R. R. Winchester, Barton.

The devotional was conducted by Rev. M. Murray MacLeod, pastor of Germantown United Baptist Church, Saint John, N. B. A welcome to the delegates was extended by the Pastor of the Church, Rev. A. Rogerson, and a welcome to the new minister in the County, Rev. Logan McLellan, who is just settling at Westport, was given by the Chairman.

The business session in the morning included the appointment of committees and a report of denominational giving by the Keyman, C. Willis Mullen, Weymouth. Reports on the Bible Society by Rev. A. McLellan, Little River, and Mission La Bonne Nouvelle by the Secretary were also read. Delegates unanimously passed a motion for a brief to be presented to the Government stating their opposition to the liberalization of the present liquor laws.

Guest speaker, Rev. MacLeod, spoke on "Protestant-Catholic Relationships" and a discussion concluded the morning session.

A meeting of the United Baptist Women's Missionary Union was held in the afternoon at 2 p.m., with the District President, Mrs. J. Vian Andrews, North Range, in the chair, assisted by the Secretary, Mrs. Douglas Andrews, Rossy. Guest speaker was Rev. MacLeod, a former missionary in India, who spoke on the sending out of missionaries, basing his remarks on the 13th chapter of Acts. The devotional period was conducted by Mrs. A. Rogerson, assisted by Mrs. Daniel Hankinson, Mrs. Scott Kinney and Mrs. William Lent, all of the local field. The business sessions included reports from the various societies of the County.

The concluding session got underway at 7:30 with a singing conducted by Rev. R. R. Winchester, Barton. The sermon was delivered by Rev. Ivan Smith, Bear River. The choir was composed of members from the various churches. Delegates were entertained in the homes in Weymouth North and Ashmore at the dinner hour and supper was served in the Guild Hall by the ladies of the Weymouth North Church.

Tea For Supervisor

The home of Mrs. Fritz Dakin, Queen St., was the scene of a delightful tea on Tuesday when Mrs. Dakin and Mrs. Wilmette Christie jointly entertained members of the V.O.N. Board in honor of Miss Laura Wall, newly appointed V.O.N. Supervisor for the district.

Miss Wall took over her duties as Supervisor on October 15 and is at present making an official visit on Miss Valerie Squance, V.O.N., and the Board here. Miss Squance was present at the tea.

Mrs. Dakin chose bronze mums to give her home an added touch for the pleasant occasion. The tea table was presided over by Mrs. W. K. Ganong and assisting were Mrs. Herman Olsen and Mrs. Melford Thurber.

New Organization Chief Topic

A new organization to be known as "United Church Women" was the topic for discussion at the Fall Rally of the W.M.S. Annapolis Presbytery held at the Bridgetown United Church on Thursday.

Miss Bessie Matheson, Halifax, President Maritime Conference Branch, explained to the group that the purpose of the new organization is to unite all women of the congregation for the total mission of the church and to provide a medium through which they may express their loyalty and devotion to Jesus Christ in Christian Witness, Study, Fellowship and Service.

The function of the new group will be to cooperate in the programme of education for the children, youth and adult groups, personal, family, social relationships, the congregation, community and the world; to provide funds through envelope giving and by acceptable money raising projects.

The W.M.S. and W.A. will cease to exist on December 31, 1961, and the new organization will come into being on January 1, 1962.

A beautiful devotional period was conducted by Mrs. Stoddard and Mrs. Morehouse, Lawrenceville. Mrs. P. H. Burrell presided at the organ. The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. J. M. Wallis, Digby, and Mrs. Elton Arnold presented the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Harold Willett, president of the Bridgetown Auxiliary, extended a warm welcome and an invitation to all to remain for the evening and join in the celebration of the 70th anniversary of the Bridgetown Auxiliary.

Rev. Calder Fraser brought greetings from Presbytery and Mrs. Warren Roop, Middleton, from the Presbytery W.A.

An interesting and detailed report on the school for leaders held at Berwick Camp, was given by Mrs. Ernest Neely, of Middleton. Mrs. Neely attended the course and received many benefits and used posters and flip chart for illustrations.

Mrs. G. E. Myers, Middleton, introduced several new books and had an attractive arrangement of literature on display.

A beautiful autumn day encouraged a large gathering of members and visitors from the 15 auxiliaries in the area and as the ladies left the rally each one felt this might well be a starting point when meeting the challenge of the world. "One of the greatest needs today is for unity in teaching Christian Education in all countries."

At 7:30, in honor of the 70th anniversary of the Bridgetown United Church W.M.S. Auxiliary a special meeting was held at the Church Hall. Special guests included former ministers and their wives; Dr. W. R. Seeley and Mrs. Seeley; Rev. W. Picketts and Mrs. Picketts; Miss Bessie Matheson, President Maritime Conference; and Mrs. J. M. Wallis, President Annapolis Presbytery.

A history of the auxiliary was read by Miss Mary Palfrey, whose mother had been a valued member.

The first group was formed October 27, 1890, by several enthusiastic young women and elected as their President Miss Bessie Murdoch, who later became Mrs. Rogers, of New York.

The only charter members living are Miss Lily Fowler and Mrs. Ethel Davis Thorne. They were unable to attend the celebration.

Mrs. Harold Willett, President, paid tribute to three members who have gone to higher service within the last four months: Mrs. A. Marshall, Mrs. H. B. Hicks and Dr. Harriott Jost.

The guest speaker was Rev. H. T. Cox, Chaplain at RCAP, Greenwood, and was introduced by Mrs. J. M. Wallis. Rev. Mr. Cox gave an inspiring and challenging address.

Greetings were brought from Presbytery by President Mrs. J. M. Wallis, and from Conference Branch by President Miss Bessie Matheson. Former ministers of the Bridgetown church also brought greetings.

A social hour was enjoyed when a beautifully decorated, three tier birthday cake was cut by Miss Mary Jost, a senior member of the Auxiliary.

The Courier has been advised that the opening of the Eastern Counties Mental Health Clinic scheduled for November 3rd has now been moved forward to November 10th.

Hallowe'en Passes Quietly

Hallowe'en was comparatively quiet in Digby this year, with few reports of any serious damage.

The usual waxing and scoping of store windows was carried out and this year a new twist was added with asbestos powder being smeared on some.

Some of the writings on the store windows was somewhat more nasty than in previous years and in one case, appeared to have been influenced by a recent television program on the existence of a Nazi party in Canada.

A considerable number of traffic signs were torn down by the Hallowe'eners and some twenty-five dollars worth of windows were broken in the Regional High School.

Police and firemen carried out an extensive patrol of the town during the evening, keeping watch on activities and curbing some of the more ambitious pranksters.

Householders report an unusually large number of visits for handouts. Much of this is attributed to the fact it was a fine evening.

Commission Hears Briefs

The Digby trade board's brief urged liberalization of liquor laws to permit sale of beer, wine and liquor in first class hotels and dining establishments in the province to aid the tourist industry.

It was pointed out 10 percent of town taxes in Digby are paid by hotels, restaurants and hotels that cater "almost exclusively to the tourist trade", and that 50 percent of the working summer population depends on the tourist trade.

The Annapolis Valley Affiliated trade board's brief pointed out the present law regarding liquor plebiscites which requires the question of beer and wine with hotel meals to be coupled with the question of taverns is enough "in many local situations" to prevent the plebiscite results from "giving an honest picture of the public's wishes".

It was urged that changes in the liquor control act be at the provincial level and not by local option.

Several others presenting briefs in support of relaxation of present laws also expressed the opinion on questioning by members of the commission that the local option provision of the act should be removed.

R. A. Mackie, who presented the CPR brief, stated that less than six percent of liquor sold in the province of Ontario is through licensed premises such as hotels and dining places. He said he would not favor liquor licences for places which did not serve food and said he felt private clubs as they are operated, are unfair competition to the hotels.

Mr. Mackie said the provision of liquor in hotels does not necessarily attract the tourist on his first visit but if he does not find it he is not likely to return. In order to stay in business our hotels must have more revenue, he stated.

The annual Act of Remembrance, sponsored each year by the Digby Branch of the Canadian Legion, will be held again this year on the morning of November 11th in the Capitol Theatre.

Speakers will include Eugene Outhouse, 2nd vice president of the provincial command of the Canadian Legion; R. O. Wright, Zone Commander; Mayor Victor Cardoza, and the chairman of the Digby Branch Poppy committee, Bernard O'Neill.

Strange Robin

It is habitual for the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Bragg, South Range, to be visited by the red breasted robin, both of the male and female species.

Last Thursday a robin, a strange looking bird, but a robin nonetheless, visited the Bragg home.

According to Mrs. Bragg the bird was practically white, with the exception of under the breast.

Heads Digby Kiwanis

Reigh W. Jayne has been elected President of the Digby Kiwanis Club. He succeeds Edgar T. Chan, who presided over the activities of the club for the past year.

Joseph D. Hattie was elected first vice president, with Edward Twohig as second vice president.

Treasurer is C. V. Snow, and secretary, Edgar T. Chan, immediate past president.

Elected to the board of directors were Karl V. Young, J. J. Brittain, Dr. P. C. Outhouse, Dr. L. F. Dolron, Dr. J. R. McCleave and C. M. Levy.

Convention Objects Dancing In School

The Sunday School Convention of the Digby Neck District, sponsored by the M.R.E.C., was held in the Little River Baptist Church on Tuesday, October 11, 1960, with Rev. Calder Fraser, Bridgetown, as leader.

The President of the convention, Mrs. Kenneth Merritt, of Mink Cove, opened the afternoon session, then called on Mrs. I. Worthylake, Rossy, to lead in the worship service. Mrs. Worthylake chose as her topic "The Seed and the Soil." "The seed represents the Word of God and the soil represents the heart of a child. Our problem is to bring the 'Seed' and the 'Soil' together, thus producing in the children a desire to accept the Lord Jesus Christ as their Saviour," said Mrs. Worthylake.

Mrs. Merritt gave a welcome to the delegates. A short business session followed. A roll call of schools showed four schools represented by delegates and all six schools reporting. A committee was appointed to make plans for a Teacher Training Workshop.

The meeting was turned over to Rev. Calder Fraser, Bridgetown, who conducted the remainder of the session. The subject of the afternoon discussion was "Fundamentals of Teaching — How Shall We Teach?" Discussion groups were formed to discuss the following: "The Most Unforgettable Teacher I Ever Met", with group 1 taking the desirable qualities of a teacher and group 2 taking the undesirable qualities of a teacher. After the finding of each group were brought back and discussed. Rev. A. MacLellan closed the afternoon session with prayer.

The delegates were entertained for supper in the homes of the community.

The evening session was opened by the President, Mrs. Kenneth Merritt, and Mr. Kenneth Carty led the worship period. His theme was "Seed Sowing." Mr. Carty stated that "A good farmer is careful in preparing the ground and careful about the seed he sows, so we should be careful in sowing the Seed, God's Word. There is no greater task than to lead children to the Lord. Our younger generation are the Church of Tomorrow," the speaker said.

Hold Teacher's Institute Here

Nearly one hundred and fifty primary and elementary school teachers from the schools of Digby and Annapolis counties gathered at the Digby Regional High School Wednesday for an institute program.

The institute, first of its type to be held in this area, dealt with mathematics in the schools and had as its theme, "New Thinking in Mathematics".

The invocation at the official opening ceremonies Wednesday morning was given by Rev. James Pike, rector of Trinity parish, Digby. An official welcome on behalf of the town of Digby was extended by Mayor Victor Cardoza and the theme of the conference was outlined by the general chairman, Inspector C. E. Edwards. A welcome on behalf of the Digby schools, was voiced by supervisor F. C. Purdy.

During the opening ceremonies Red Cross Certificates of Merit were presented by Mrs. H. M. Warne, regional vice-president of the Nova Scotia Red Cross Society, and Dr. T. W. Hodgson, president of the Digby branch, to Miss Rena Viola Burrill, principal of the Nictaux Falls school, and Mrs. E. M. Starratt, teacher at St. Croix Cove.

The keynote address of the institute session was given by Dr. J. P. McCarthy, principal of the provincial Normal College, who outlined the principles involved and the application required in the teaching of mathematics.

Following Dr. McCarthy's address discussion groups were formed covering the various grade levels involved in the institute. These were led by K. W. Perry, Armadale; School Inspector M. W. Campbell, Miss H. E. Orchard of the education department, former School Inspector C. W. Crowell, of Yarmouth, Miss Dorothy Ralph, divisional supervisor of Hants county, Harry Nelson, divisional supervisor, Pictou county, and Dr. McCarthy.

During the afternoon session an address on audio-visual aids in the teaching of primary and elementary mathematics was given by L. D. Stockdale, principal of the Weymouth Consolidated School. Inspector Campbell also gave an evaluation of the school program in mathematics.

Guest speaker at the afternoon session was Professor A. E. Mowat, of Dalhousie, who spoke stirring of the challenge involved in education today.

National Director To Visit

Mrs. Douglas Blair of Ottawa, national director of the Women's Liberal Association of Canada, will visit Digby on November 9th, it has been learned.

Mrs. Blair will be accompanied by Mrs. Margaret Norrie, president of the Women's Liberal Association of Nova Scotia, on her visit to Digby.

In the evening of November 9th both Mrs. Blair and Mrs. Norrie will address a meeting of the Liberal women of Digby County at a meeting scheduled to be held in the Lions' Club Hall.

Replacement Of Ferry Likely

The CPR is "studying a possible replacement" for the Bay of Fundy ferry, Princess Helene.

This was revealed by CPR Vice-President R. A. Emerson, in an appearance before the MacPherson Royal Commission on transportation in Ottawa.

Replacement of the vessel had been discussed before, the last time about a year ago during a visit of CPR officials to Saint John, but there had been no further definite announcement.

Mr. Emerson said the old passenger and freight Saint John-Digby, N.S., ferry may be replaced while under questioning by F. H. Smith, the commission's counsel for the Atlantic Provinces.

He added that a multi-purpose vessel likely would replace the Princess Helene "eventually."

This vessel would be equipped to ferry passengers, railway cars and highway vehicles.

was a small one, weighing 150 pounds. Gordon says now he thinks he has enough for this season.

Ship's Captain Addresses Laymen

An outline of the religious program carried out in the Canadian navy was given by Captain F. C. Frewer, CD, RCN, commanding officer of HMCS Cornwallis, in an address at the communion breakfast at Trinity church on Sunday.

The breakfast followed a corporate Communion service for the men of the parish, which was part of the observance of Laymen's Sunday.

In his address Captain Frewer pointed out the importance of the work done by naval chaplains in assisting in the maintenance of a high morale among the men of the navy.

He stated these chaplains, especially those serving aboard naval ships at sea, often have to carry out their duties under hazardous and trying circumstances. Despite this, he said, they never falter in their duty of providing for the men in their care religious services, instruction and guidance.

Speaking of the trainees at the Cornwallis naval base, Captain Frewer stated these young men were put through an intensive training and indoctrination program during the weeks they are at the base.

Oftentimes, he said, they find the discipline somewhat hard to take and many of them suffer severe pangs of homesickness. The chaplains at the base, he said, have a real role to play in the counselling of these young men and in meeting their religious needs.

He urged the people of the area to look upon the trainees at the base, when they are "off ship" as a part of the populace of the area. Many of them are confused, away from home perhaps for the first time, confronted with an intensive training and disciplinary program and welcome a friendly greeting and a chance to meet and talk with the civilians they meet in the "all too few" hours they have away from the base.

Entertains Church Women

Mrs. John Russell, Maiden Lane, entertained members of Grace United Church at her home on Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. C. B. Parker introduced the study for the coming year, "Into All the World Together", being studied by 28 denominations during the year.

In commemoration of 50 years of ecumenical movement among the churches, special emphasis is placed this year on this particular subject. Mrs. Parker said, means world wide both geographically and spiritually with the message of Christ spread internationally. She was assisted by Mrs. Elton Arnold and Mrs. J. M. Wallis. Two books in conjunction with the study were introduced "The Ship Under the Cross", by Dr. John Webster Grant, and "The Turning World", by Betty Thompson.

Mrs. Burton Fleet presided over the business and led the devotional on Unity of Christ's Church.

It was announced that Miss Catherine Gorman would be Explorer leader. It was also announced that the W.A. of the church had voted $50.00 towards the missionary enterprise through the W.M.S. auxiliary.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Sea Cadets Go To Sea

Members of the Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps Cornwallis had a real treat on Wednesday morning when they went aboard the three minesweepers in port and went to sea with the ships on their regular morning training cruise.

Although the weather was inclement the young lads all reported a thoroughly good time on their return. While aboard the minesweepers they were shown navigational aids and much of the complicated devices which the ships use in their minesweeping operations.

On Friday a group of the Sea Cadets hope to get a trip aboard the minesweepers when they leave here for Yarmouth. It is expected the lads will travel to Yarmouth aboard the navy craft and disembark, returning to Digby by car.

Henry Davies Hicks, former Premier of Nova Scotia, has been appointed to the Faculty of Arts and Sciences of Dalhousie University, effective November 1st, 1961, and will be the first to become Vice-Chancellor of the University, it was announced Monday.

Announcement of the appointment was made by President A. E. Kerr, on behalf of the Board of Governors of the University.

Drives Last Spike

On November 7, 1885, a group of bearded, frock-coated, beaver-hatted, Canadian Pacific officers and directors, surrounded by railway engineers and track-workers, gathered in the chilly mist of Eagle Pass at Craigellachie, British Columbia, to watch the driving of the spike that completed Canada's first transcontinental railway. Historians say that Lord Strathcona's hammer-taps were literally heard around the world, since the linking of the rails at Craigellachie fulfilled the terms of Confederation, making Canada at last truly a nation "from sea unto sea". In Montreal, N. R. Crump, president of today's Canadian Pacific, commenting on the 75th anniversary of the event, said: "While on this historic occasion we pay homage to the great figures of the past—the men who built Canada's first transcontinental railway—it should not be forgotten that it was their vision of the future which laid the economic foundations of nationhood and also established the basis of the worldwide transportation enterprise of Canadian Pacific today". Canadian Pacific has grown in the seven and a half decades since Craigellachie into an integrated transportation system of 85,000 route miles serving Canada and the world by land, sea and air.

ABOUT THIS AND THAT

Should Press For Causeway

As we spend Sunday afternoon visiting friends in Westport, we visited for several days on Cape Cod, Massachusetts. Many of Cape Cod that Digby Neck and Islands do not have, but in actual scenic value, we are sure. We will admit that the beaches on Cape Cod and to its convenient location. Nevertheless, we could not help feel a semblance of Cape Cod and our own Neck and Islands. But at Cape Cod, the country is dotted and lined with summer homes of all sizes, of every description, restaurants with general menus, each with their own special foods and gift shops. On the other hand are practically devoid of

we have the quiet of the islands as they are, except of the gull in the still air and the thrill of the sea for our casual visits. There are others like Cape Cod, but for greater number who do not enjoy the loss of time in crossing and to whom the ferry ride is not a pleasure.

However, if the prosperity of Nova Scotia is to be maintained, it seems we are losing out in one of the most beautiful and attractive parts of the country. A causeway might make an attractive tourist spot in the town of Nova Scotia. Think of the deep sea fishing, the employment in hotels and Westport on Sunday was the first since the last time from Tiverton to Freeport and on the two through Westport. Unless Sunday was an exceptional day, we feel the traffic has increased tremendously. It did seem to be more visitors from off the islands. The islands themselves seemed to be on the move on the pavement is surely a vast improvement in travelling and by the traffic on Sunday the gasoline tax will be for the best of paying. Decidedly, the Island people are in favour of this convenience and we hope they will not be disappointed when they have reached their goal of a causeway. We are sure the causeway is possible. We await the day when the causeway will become prominent tourist spot, easily accessible by at least one causeway.

Sandra Louise Evans, second eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Evans of Sydney, N. S., to LAC Norman Arthur Robar, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Robar, Deep Brook, Annapolis County.

The bride looked charming in a street length gown of white brocade satin, shoulder length veil of nylon net and pearl tiara carrying a bouquet of red roses and lily of the valley.

She was given in marriage by her father. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Geo. Ross of Fredericton, and the groom supported by George Ross of Fredericton.

The church organist, Mr. Webb, supplied the nuptial music. Following the ceremony a supper was held at the home of the bride's parents for the bridal party and relatives. In the evening a dance and reception was held in the Legion Hall with a large number of guests.

The couple will reside at 139 George St., Sydney, the groom being with the RCAF. Mr. and Mrs. Robar spent their honeymoon at the home of Norman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Robar and at the Robar Camp in Deep Brook on Sunday.

COURAGEOUS PEOPLE
(Composed after reading an editorial in the Digby Courier)

Cooperation is the wedge
And courage is the hammer
When they are used to overthrow
All doubt and fearful clamor.

The people of our Weymouth
This surely understood
For they cooperated
When things were not so good.

If all the County could aspire
To follow their example
No need there'd be to summon aid
For jobs would be quite ample.

With heroes and with heroines
Our Weymouth has been blessed Some sleep on foreign battle fields
While some at home find rest.

And if disaster strikes again
In this, or any clime
The people of our Weymouth
Will be there right on time.

Two disastrous fires in a short period of time which destroyed industries and the business section — are now rebuilt thanks to the courage of the people.)

ism of the operation of the clubs was also voiced by Mrs. M. P. Snow who presented a brief for the Hedley Hotel in Smith's Cove. She said that for the most part the clubs are not operating strictly within the law. As to the future, she stated there were no serious operating between Digby and Yarmouth.

Mrs. Gott said she was opposed to local option in the matter of the liquor laws. She said she favored the reduction of the total consumption of alcohol in the province and said present day insecurity and tension accounted for much of the increase in drinking.

The brief of the Annapolis Presbytery of the United Church urged increased emphasis on alcohol research to foster a provide for medical research, provide training for nurses, doctors and ministers and treatment for alcoholics. It also recommended continuation of the alcohol education program in the schools and the addition of two members to the staff of the alcohol education unit.

A complete ban on liquor advertising in Nova Scotia was urged in the brief submitted by the United Baptist Churches of Digby County. This brief also recommended that a blood test be made of any driver involved in a highway accident and that before anyone can secure a driver's licence in the province he be required to sign a statement agreeing to such test.

The Baptist brief also urged that in any consideration of future liquor outlets the principle of local option be maintained. It also stated complete opposition to any lifting of present regulations regarding liquor in the province.

Complete prohibition was stated as the answer to the liquor problem in Nova Scotia in the brief presented by Home Division.

Stricter liquor laws and greater enforcement are the need today rather than any relaxation, stated Vincent G. Snow of Digby in presenting a brief to the Royal Commission enquiring into Nova Scotia liquor control at its sitting in Digby, Thursday morning.

At present, Mr. Snow stated, police have not the means to do the job. More enforcement officers are needed, he stated. As the liquor law now stands, he said, drivers impaired by alcohol are actually protected. He urged a law to "permit some chemical test of blood alcohol content of a motor vehicle driver suspected of being intoxicated, or even for checking up purposes".

The ban on liquor advertising in newspapers was urged by Mr. Snow. He stated, however, he would favour publication in the press of liquor laws and regulations. He said he was of the opinion many who discussed the liquor question were uninformed as to the actual provisions of the present laws.

Before any relaxing of liquor laws is considered, he said, a great deal more education is needed. He stated "voluntary total abstinence" was his goal and said he would not advocate a plebiscite on prohibition.

In the event of any plebiscite on the liquor question, Mr. Snow said, it was to be hoped the ballot questions would be clear and single and not worded in any way that would mislead. He said he believed "the area to be covered by any possible liquor plebiscite should be either province wide or by counties separately". This would depend, he said, on the phase of the issue at stake.

Mr. Snow spoke out strongly against private clubs which he said were "doing a great deal of bootlegging". He said he would rather see another liquor store in Digby than the private clubs.

Exception was made by Mr. Snow in his remarks concerning presentations made by trade boards with regard to the liquor question. He stated the matter was one contrary to the policy of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, which states partisan or sectarian matters are not within its field.

He stated members who regularly attend board meetings "usually do not comprise a good cross section of the community in the way of representing all of the community". He said it was also his belief that the Digby trade board resolutions on liquor met with minority support from other boards, province-wide.

Speaking in answer to questions as to the sale of liquor in hotels, Mr. Snow said he felt some hotels in the province were "in a class by themselves". He said he favoured a province wide vote on this question.

In a brief presented by E. T. Williams on behalf of the employees of the Digby Pines hotel it was stated payroll at the hotel amounted to $83,000; food, beverages and consumer goods amounted to $55,000; water rates, taxes and utilities were $25,000 and equipment, repairs and maintenance costs were $30,000 for a total annual outlay of $193,000.

A great deal of this money is spent locally, it was stated, with one account running to $10,000. Seventy percent of the peak staff of 190 are local people who account for the largest part of the $83,000 payroll. It is calculated twenty-one families with forty-two dependents and children are dependent on the operation of the hotel.

Beside these expenditures, the brief stated, the local purchasing power of the six to seven thousand guests who come to the Digby Pines during the season means the addition of many thousands of dollars to the sum left in the local area from the staff pay and gratuities.

The brief stated the missing link to a successful financial operation of the Digby Pines is "our inability to serve those beverages that today are part of the modern way of living, especially while on vacation when people wish to enjoy social relaxation".

Present liquor laws in Nova Scotia are "obsolete and wholly inadequate to meet the requirements of people who today are on the move in increasingly large numbers," the brief stated. These liquor laws can

Marriages

Verburgh — Perry

A wedding of interest to many in Westport as well as Saint John was solemnized at Hillcrest United Baptist Church when Rev. Dr. Murray Armstrong united in marriage, in a double ring ceremony, Carol Joan Seeley Perry, daughter of Mrs. Lloyd and the late Mr. Lloyd Perry, and Johannes Jacobus Verburgh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerhardus Verburgh, Saint John.

The church was decorated with baskets of bronze mums and the pews reserved for guests were marked with lily of the valley and miniature wedding bells. Miss Vesta Galbraith was guest soloist and organist was Mrs. Jack Hersey.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Charles Wilson, wore a gown of imported ivory brocade fashioned on extended shoulders and long armlets. Her elbow length veil of tulle illusion fell in folds from a tiara of seed pearls, roses, stephanotis, with a background of ivy strands.

The bride was attended by her sister, Ruth Perry, as maid of honor, who wore a gown of Russian blue velvet fashioned on princess lines with a deep v-neckline. Her headdress was a bandeau of matching velvet and peacock feathers. She carried a cascade bouquet of bronze mums and yellow roses.

The flower girl, Ann Beyea, cousin of the bride, wore a velvet gown over a crinoline in the same shade as the maid of honor, with matching head-dress and carried a basket of baby bronze mums.

Fritz Verburgh, brother of the groom, was groomsman and ushers were Donald Perry, brother of the bride, and Benny Verburgh, brother of the groom.

The mother of the bride wore an afternoon two piece dress of deep blue, American beauty velvet hat and a corsage of American beauty roses.

The groom's mother chose a sheath dress of black brocade with gold leaves, matching accessories and a corsage of Chalcis roses in corresponding shade.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the school room of the church when eighty were in attendance. Mrs. Julius Rubin, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Raymond Robichau, sister of the groom, presided over the tea cups. Dr. Armstrong proposed a toast to the bride, which was responded to by the groom.

Later, the couple left on a wedding trip to Montreal, Quebec City, Toronto and Hamilton. For travelling the bride wore a two piece ensemble of red shade. Her hat was of black maribou and she wore matching accessories, a grey Persian jacket and corsage of white gardenias.

The bride has been associated with the Commercial Union Assurance Co. Ltd. and the groom is a member of the Canadian Armed Forces, recently returned from service in Egypt.

Out of town guests were from New York and Nova Scotia.

Dennison — Thomas

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the Digby Baptist Church on October 13th, at 8:30 o'clock, when Rev. H. S. Hartlin united in marriage Gloria Rose, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thomas, of Digby, N. S., to Victor Harold Dennison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Dennison, of Digby, N. S.

The bride looked lovely in a floor length gown of white nylon with overskirt of white nylon net. She carried a bouquet of yellow and white mums tied with wide, white satin ribbon.

Her attendant was Mrs. Arthur Thomas, sister-in-law of the bride. She wore a floor length gown of yellow nylon net over taffeta and carried a bouquet of yellow and white mums.

The groom's attendant was George Thomas, brother of the bride.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother.

The young couple received many lovely gifts of silver, linen, dishes, electrical appli-

Mrs. I. Worthylake, reporting for the courtesies committee, thanked the Little River people for entertaining the delegates, for having the convention in their Church, and Rev. Calder Fraser for acting as leader for the convention.

The workshop committee reported that a workshop would be held on the evenings of November 15, 16, 17, in the Little River Baptist Church.

A motion was made that a letter of protest against pre-teen dances in the Sandy Cove school be sent to the President of Home & School and to the Board of School Trustees by the Sunday School Convention. The motion was carried unanimously.

Rev. Fraser took over the remainder of the evening program which was on the theme "As A Kingdom Minded Teacher My Aim Is Conversion." The subjects for group discussion were (1) "What is the Kingdom of God?" and (2) Conversion: "What is the Holy Spirit?" After the findings of these groups were reported and discussed, Mr. Earl Frost Sr. closed the convention with a prayer.

Letter to the Editor

The Digby Courier,
Digby, N. S.
Dear Editor:

We in this County are responsible for the care and welfare of a number of human beings who have come upon days of misfortune — the friends and relatives of some of us — the people now living in the Municipal Home at Marshelltown.

Fast approaching is one of the principal Christian festivals of joy and thanksgiving — Christmas — a time for giving and receiving, but for the most part of giving. To these people it all means the same as to the rest of us more fortunate ones, but they are not in a position to afford to give gifts to their folks.

Therefore I wish to appeal to the generosity of the public now. The sort of things required are small articles suitable for presents to be given by the residents of the Municipal Home to their relatives and to each other, together with fancy paper wrappings, decorated string, Christmas cards, calendars, postage stamps, etc. Any other gifts of direct benefit to the Home to brighten the occasion would of course also be received gratefully.

Please give and give generously.

Gifts should be sent or taken to Mr. Thomas of the Municipal Home, Marshelltown, or to myself at the Western Nova Scotia Clinic, Digby.

Sincerely,
R. A. Armstrong.

someone,

has bought a new Ford Falcon

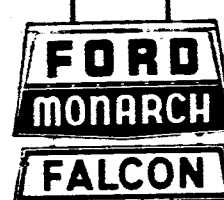

FALCON FORDOR SEDAN — one of Ford of Canada's fine cars... built in Canada

Remarkable record for a new car, isn't it? But then, the Falcon is a rather remarkable car. It has honest room for six, combined with handy size and dimensions that make it terrific for driving in traffic, a pleasure to park. It delivers up to 35 miles to a gallon, with 85 lively horsepower designed for Canadian roads and loads. (There's an optional 101 horsepower engine available in the '61 Falcon if you want even snappier performance.)

The Falcon runs so smoothly and quietly you sometimes forget the engine is on. Trunk room is generous, visibility practically unlimited. And as for style, in all modesty, it really is a beauty!

433,440 Falcon owners (one for every minute of every working day) live all around the world. One of them lives in your neighbourhood. Why not have a chat with him yourself?

ANOTHER FORD FIRST: The written warranty on all 1961 Falcons is now extended to 12,000 miles or one full year, whichever comes first

Dr. Frank N.D. Buchman, initiator of Moral Re-Armament, is seen here with James Coltart, executive of British press and television, and Rajmohan Gandhi, grandson of Mahatma Gandhi of India, at Mackinac Island, Michigan. Dr. Buchman is talking with Mayor Willi Brandt of Berlin, West Germany.

"A HURRICANE OF COMMON SENSE"

Caux, Switzerland, June—Dr. Frank N.D. Buchman, speaking to the world through press, radio and TV, called Moral Re-Armament "a hurricane of common sense sweeping through the heart of nations. It is washing down the barriers between nations and races, dispersing the fogs of hate that threaten humanity, and bringing a mighty wind of hope to the millions of the earth."

The failure of the Paris Summit meeting points up the need for a serious reappraisal of national purposes and policies. It throws into sharp relief the opening of the Moral Re-Armament World Conferences in Caux, Switzerland, and Mackinac Island, Michigan, early in June. These conferences have been called to bring a cure to the crisis of nations.

The keynote was given by Dr. Buchman: "Today nations are in convulsion. The answer lies in radical, drastic dealing with the motives of men and nations. This is the normal work of true patriots of every country throughout the world. Without this essential patriotism, civilization must end in chaos. With the acceptance of this challenge, every man can be a force to bring an avalanche of the answer to his nation. Moral Re-Armament stands as the dynamic alternative for mankind. It is the way up and the way out for all humanity. We will win the world in time."

Dr. Buchman has gone to Europe in response to repeated invitations from Chancellor Adenauer of Germany and Archbishop Makarios, President-elect of Cyprus. In the last months he has also received urgent invitations from President Tubman of Liberia; Dr. Azikiwe, Prime Minister of Eastern Nigeria, and other leaders of Europe and Africa.

Dr. Buchman concluded, "It needs a hurricane of common sense to bring men to their senses, restoring the Communist and the Non-Communist world to sanity and unity before it is too late. That hurricane is sweeping through every nation today, and in the midst of the hurricane the still small Voice of the living God, an unseen but ever-present Guide, willing and able to speak to the men of the Kremlin, the men of Washington, to the millions everywhere, leaders and led, who have lost their way and seek to find it."

"It is so normal. It is so practical. It is a hurricane. And it is common sense."

Canadians Train In Germany

Soldiers of Canada's NATO brigade in Germany recently completed two weeks of intensive field training in Northern Germany. The complete lack of peace-time comforts and amenities injected realism into the war games designed to practice the brigade in both defensive and offensive operations. The nuclear aspect of modern warfare was stressed throughout the training period. Major John C. Whalley, left, of Sydney, N. S., an umpire on the exercise, pauses in his ferret scout car to relay orders to Corporal Thomas Saulnier, of Digby, N.S.

Bounty At Sea

Under partial sail off Lunenburg, N. S., is a replica of the famous ship, HMS Bounty, which will be used in a new version of "Mutiny on the Bounty." Built at the Smith and Rhuland Shipyard in Lunenburg, the $500,000 vessel, under Captain Ellsworth Trask Coggins, of Dartmouth, N. S., has successfully completed sea trials and will leave Lunenburg for Tahiti, where the filming will be done.

Travel Bureau, hands the gift — a set of Nova Scotia light-house bookends cast at the Lunenburg foundry — to James Havens, of MGM, Hollywood's foremost expert in direction of sea sequences, who will take the gift to its destination.

Society Holds Annual

Mrs. H. A. Nichols was again re-elected President of the Admiral Digby Horticultural Society at a largely attended annual meeting held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Levy. Mrs. Nichols thanked the officers, directors and all the members for their splendid co-operation throughout the year and stated that with an organization in which each member shows such personal interest in all the projects she could confidently look forward to another successful year.

Reports of the officers and committee chairmen attested to the success already achieved. The Treasurer's statement, presented by Miss Dora Warner, showed a total of almost $1,000 spent by the society this year on its four projects, namely, the Admiral Digby Well, the Welcome Sign at the "Cannon Bank", the Loyalist Cemetery and the Hanging Baskets. Receipts to cover this expenditure came from grants of $400 from the Department of Trade and Industry for the Welcome to Nova Scotia sign, $75 from the Town of Digby, and $15 from the Department of Agriculture, the balance having been earned by the members through fund-raising events, together with a few cash donations. Other donations gratefully acknowledged were labor by MacDonald Motors in preparing the standards for the Hanging Baskets, a gift of one basket from Mr. Vincent Snow, and roses for the Cemetery from Mrs. Cox of Pic-A-Rose Gardens.

In the Secretary's report, Mrs. Blanche Porter showed a membership of 70, of whom 22 were summer or part-time residents. Although this was no increase in numbers, the proportion of active, working members had greatly increased, due largely to the added interest of those who joined the Admiral Digby Society on the disbanding of the Digby Home and Garden Club. Average attendance at the eleven meetings was 18.4, in addition to which there was active participation in the projects, work-parties, and various social and fund-raising events. Meetings held at the homes of the members with co-hostesses providing refreshments, interesting guest-speakers on several occasions, and instructive garden bulletins prepared by Mrs. Eva Wendell, who also included several chapters on the early history of Digby, all contributed to an entertaining program.

Additional reports were presented by the chairmen of the various committees and projects, all showing an active year. Mrs. George Winfield reported for the Entertainment Committee, Miss Louise Daley for Ways and Means, and Mrs. Eva Wendell for the Rose Show, in which Digby participated along with the Bridgetown and Champlain Garden Clubs at Annapolis Royal. In connection with the Rose Show, note was made of the honor brought to the Digby club by Miss Marjory Tupper in capturing the Rose Bowl for the best rose in show. Mrs. Ralph Wright reported on the Flower Show held in Digby, which she, together with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Keen and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Berwick, again organized most successfully. Note was made in the "Landscape News" of the outstanding arrangements displayed in the Digby Flower Show.

In reporting on the Loyalist Cemetery Project, Mr. Wilfred Como stated that new walks, benches, rose beds and a willow tree had been added during the year. Mr. John Russell reported for the Well Project, where an "Admiral Digby Park" sign had been added, this having been designed and painted by Mrs. Wright, and constructed by Mr. Daniel Comeau and co-workers. Additional roses and bulbs had also been planted. The Welcome Sign report, presented by Mrs. H. M. Warner, paid tribute to the successful work of Messrs. Kenneth and Robert Beckwith in the upkeep of the garden during the exceptionally dry summer, and reported the addition of many spring-flowering bulbs around the planter and rock-garden.

The report on the society's newest project, the Hanging Baskets, was given by Mrs. Nichols, who expressed regrets that this project had not come up to expectations this year, owing to the dry season and in spite of the assistance of the firemen in watering the plants. However, Mrs. Nichols stated that the experience gained this year would help the committee to improve the construction and

To Consider Expansion

Mrs. J. W. Christie gave a report of the Semi-Annual Meeting of the Provincial Order of the Victorian Order of Nurses held in Yarmouth at the regular Board Meeting of the Digby Branch. As there were not enough branch representatives to make up a quorum it had been decided to have all decisions ratified at the Annual Meeting of the Provincial Order in Halifax. A decision was made to stop the semi-annual meetings and change the Bylaw to read that the Board meet once a year instead of twice as had been the practice. The main topics under discussion were Finance and Publicity.

Miss Laura Wall, District Supervisor of Nova Scotia and Newfoundland, visited the Digby Branch from October 31st to November 4th. Miss Wall thought it possible for the Digby Branch to expand its services to other districts. The Nursing Committee, comprising Mrs. Charles Hersey, convener, Mrs. Paul Snow and Mrs. Mel Thurler, was appointed to consider this idea of expansion to see if it was feasible and to bring a report of their deductions at the next meeting.

Mrs. H. Olsen, convener of the Fund Raising Committee, gave a report of the rummage sale held at the Baptist Hall on October 21st. Miss Squance reported 98 home visits made for the month of October - 27 for nursing care to adult patients and 71 health instruction visits. The health instruction visits comprised 13 to pre-natal patients, 7 to post-natal patients, 37 to newborn infants, 5 to older infants and 9 to school children. 13 were admitted to the V.O.N. Order and 12 children were in attendance at the 4 child health conferences. 41½ hours were spent in school nursing when 4 classes of beginners were examined. Assistance was given at the first fall Immunization Clinic when 162 children received injections.

Contest Interest Grows

The Christmas Coloring Contest conducted by The Digby Courier shows growing interest each week. The past week brought in entries exceeding the previous two weeks. Noticeable also is the higher quality of workmanship shown each week by the contestants, making the task of the judges greater each week. The contest is open to all children of ages 6 to 10 inclusive and requires no buying or selling to enter. The contest is designed to give the children an interest in their local paper, a method to improve their skill and an interest in the coming Christmas time.

planting of the baskets next season and thus achieve its aim of beautifying Digby's business district. At the conclusion of the reports plans were made to use the basket standards for Christmas decorations, which would be erected under the convenership of Miss Louise Daley.

The Nominating Committee report, presented by Mrs. Fred May, brought in the following slate of officers and committees for the ensuing year:

Honorary President, John Russell; President, Mrs. H. A. Nichols; Vice-President, Mrs. H. M. Warner; Secretary, Mrs. Blanche Porter; Treasurer, Mrs. Dora Warner (all re-elected). Committee Chairmen: Admiral Digby Well Project, John Russell; Welcome Sign Project, Mrs. H. M. Warner; Cemetery Project, Wilfred Como; Hanging Baskets, Miss Louise Daley; Flower Show, Mrs. Ralph Wright; Ways & Means, Mrs. Daniel Comeau; Entertainment, Mrs. George Winfield; Program Bulletin, Mrs. Eva Wendell; Membership, Mrs. Alfred Kenney; Telephone, Miss Mildred Carty; Publicity, Mrs. H. M. Warner. Retiring Directors, Mrs. G. R. Weir and John Russell, were replaced by Miss Norma Morehouse and Kenneth Beckwith. Other Directors remaining for 1961 are Mrs. F. J. May, Mrs. F. A. Kenney, Wilfred Como, D. J. Comeau, Delbert Forrest and Mrs. C. M. Levy.

At the conclusion of the business session a social hour was enjoyed, Mrs. Levy being assisted with refreshments by co-hostesses Mrs. Russell and Miss Louise Daley.

Entertain For Supervisor

Mrs. Fritz Dakin and Mrs. Wilmot Christie entertained at a tea held at the home of Mrs. Dakin, Queen St., on Tuesday in honor of Miss Laura Wall, District Supervisor of the Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada. Above, back row, left to right are Miss Valerie Squance, Digby V.O.N.; Mrs. Christie, co-hostess and vice-president, Digby Association and Miss Wall.

To Hold Supper Meeting

At a meeting of the Men's Project Committee of the Baptist Church of Digby it was decided to hold a men's supper meeting in the church hall on Saturday evening, November 19. The supper will be prepared and served by members of the committee, with Mr. Burton Ellis in charge. The guest speaker for this occasion will be Dr. T. B. McDormand, Executive Vice-President of Acadia University. Various projects for the coming winter were discussed by the committee.

At the meeting of the Christian Youth Council of the church held last Sunday evening, encouraging reports of the youth work in the church were heard from leaders of the various groups. The newly formed Boy Scout group, under the leadership of Scoutmaster Donald Brown, has now a membership of 18 boys. The Council is also giving assistance in making arrangements for the annual Sunday School Christmas Concert to be held on Sunday evening, December 18th. The leader of the C.G.I.T. group reported that the annual C.G.I.T. Vesper Service would be held on Sunday evening, December 11th.

On Wednesday evening of this week an interesting Missionary meeting was held in the church hall under the auspices of the W.M.S. Miss Mildred Law, who is now on furlough, following her first term in India, was the speaker. A number of the young people of the congregation also attended the service.

The Baptist Youth Fellowship group of the Hill Grove church now has a membership of 20 young people, including nearly all of the young people in the community. A lively Halloween party was held recently.

Pre-nuptial Shower Held

The home of the Clifford Robbins, Smith's Cove, was the scene of a surprise pre-nuptial shower Wednesday night, in honor of Miss Alice Grey and her fiancé, Mr. Otis Robbins. The young couple received many lovely and useful gifts. Assisting them in opening the gifts was Mrs. Gerald Young. Thirty-five guests enjoyed a delightful evening and delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Arnold Purdy, Mrs. Walter Keizer, Mrs. Charles Kaulback and Mrs. Gerald Young. Little Brenda and Rosealin Young assisted.

Mayflowers In November

It's not roses in December in Digby County but mayflowers in November.

Mrs. Irwin Boudreau of Weymouth Mills, on Friday mailed to The Courier a lovely mayflower in full bloom which she picked on the river bank on November 2nd.

Another White Bird

A white bird resembling a blue jay, with the blue jay call, has been seen at the home of Weldon Trask, Sandy Cove. The only dark spot on this bird was on the breast.

Killed In Two Car Crash

Otis Ellis of Victoria Beach was almost instantly killed early Wednesday evening of last week in a two car collision at Marshalltown near the outskirts of Digby.

Seriously injured in the crash was James C. Tufts and his son, Ronald Tufts, of Weymouth Mills and Alton Munro of Victoria Beach.

The accident occurred shortly before six o'clock Wednesday evening. Both cars were almost completely demolished in the collision. Ronald Tufts was pinned in the wreckage of one of the cars and was extracted with great difficulty.

An inquest has been ordered into the fatality by Digby County coroner, C. C. Nichol. The coroner's jury convened following the accident and viewed the remains. They then adjourned pending recovery of the injured survivors.

Activities At Mission

On Saturday evening, October 29th, a delightful Halloween social time was enjoyed by sixty-one children and young people at Lighthouse Mission Church of God. Top prizes for costume went to Misses Marilyn Murphy and Jacqueline Robicheau. They were dressed as Bride and Groom.

Many of the traditional games were played as well as bobbing for apples, hunting peanuts and walking the ghost line. Mrs. Denchfield and Miss Frances Handspiker, playing the part of ghosts, provided 'scary' enjoyment for all.

Treats and refreshments were enjoyed.

On Saturday, November 12th, a special film concerning the use and misuse of alcohol will be shown by Mrs. Helena Comeau. The young people for this meeting are inviting the adults to join them.

Hold Induction Service

A number of ministers from Digby County met at the United Baptist Church, Westport, on Thursday evening for an induction service for Rev. Logan McLellan, who recently arrived to serve at this church.

The service was in charge of Rev. H. S. Hartlin, Digby. The induction scripture and prayer were given by Rev. Mr. Roger Weymouth; the induction oaths by Rev. Winchester of Barton, and Rev. McLellan, Little River. A solo was rendered by Mrs. Rose Morrell and organist was Mrs. Richard Welch. The induction sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. Ide-son, Freeport.

Words of welcome were also extended by Rev. Neil Burt, Westport, and Rev. J. W. Derby, Freeport.

Following the benediction the social committee served a lunch in the vestry and a social hour followed. A large number from Freeport attended.

Accident Claims Second Life

A two car collision at Marshalltown, near Digby, last Wednesday evening, claimed its second life Monday morning when 17 year old Ronald Philip Tufts, of Weymouth Mills, died in the Digby General Hospital of injuries sustained in the crash.

Otis Ellis, 48, of Victoria Beach, was killed almost instantly in the crash which occurred shortly before six o'clock last Wednesday evening.

Still in hospital suffering from injuries sustained in the accident is James Churchill Tufts, Alton Munro, of Victoria Beach, was released from hospital Sunday.

An inquest into the second death has been called. The coroner's jury viewed the body Monday evening and adjourned pending recovery of Mr. Tufts Sr. and Alton Munro. An inquest into the death of Ellis has also been adjourned pending their recovery.

Monday's death of Ronald Tufts marks the second time within a year tragedy has struck this family. A brother, Russell, was drowned earlier in the year at Grant Lake, New Canada, Lunenburg county.

Ronald Tufts is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Tufts; two brothers, Randolph and Roger, and three sisters, Rose, Irene and Ruby, all of Weymouth Mills.

Funeral service will be held from the United Church at Simpsons Corner, Lunenburg county, Thursday afternoon at two o'clock.

The meeting closed with the missionary benediction, after which refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. McDormand.

Next month the C.W.F. will meet with Mrs. Neil Burt.

Town To Ban Air Rifles

Town solicitor E. J. Theriault, Q.C., was asked at the regular monthly meeting of the Digby town council to prepare amendments to the town by-laws banning bee-bee guns and air rifles within the town and strengthening present provisions regarding fire crackers in Digby.

It was pointed out at the meeting that a great deal of damage is being done in the town, around the racquette. It has been found impossible to keep street lights operating as they have been shot out almost as quickly as they can be replaced. Windows in private homes in several sections of the town have also been smashed through use of these guns.

Under present regulations, it was stated, it is most difficult to cope with the problem of these guns as no regulations are contained in the by-laws concerning them. Present by-laws prohibit the discharge of firearms within the town and prosecutions can be entered in cases involving the use of 22 rifles.

In connection with firecrackers it was stated present regulations prohibit only the setting off of these and, in order to enforce the law, the culprit must be caught in the act. The proposed amendment will make it an offence to possess firecrackers.

Permission was given at the council session to D. C. Landers to construct a house on his property on Queen Street and to Charles Hall to build a warehouse and showroom addition to his present garage.

Carl A. Warner was appointed Deputy Town Clerk to succeed Mrs. Shirley Clayton who is leaving the employ of the town. At present Mr. Warner is employed as a bookkeeper with the Digby County Power Board.

A delegation from the Smith's Cove, Marshalltown area met with the council concerning provision of fire protection for an area outside the town limits. Members of the delegation were Robert Taylor, Paul Davidson and Lloyd MacNeill.

Mr. Taylor, who acted as spokesman for the delegation, stated meetings had been held with the municipal council concerning the setting up of a fire protection district and the levying of an assessment to cover costs of the provision of fire protection.

It would be necessary to determine, he stated, these costs and other details before the matter could be further pursued. He stated early action was asked as final proposals had to be submitted to the annual meeting of the municipal council in January.

After discussion it was decided to leave the matter with the fire committee of the town council to arrange a meeting between the executive of the fire department, the fire committee and the delegation to work out details.

It was announced by Miss Pearl Anderson, college registrar, Transylvania, the oldest college West of the Allegheny Mountains, is a small college dedicated to excellence in the liberal arts.

Mr. White, a junior majoring in philosophy, is a member of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity and is a member of the varsity soccer team.

To Sponsor Adult Education Classes

The November meeting of the Digby Neck Home & School Association was held on November 3rd in the school auditorium. The President, Mrs. Bernard Denton, presided at the meeting.

The association will again sponsor adult classes this year in typing, home nursing and sewing. Classes will begin after Christmas.

Mr. Keith Langille, Regional Adult Education Director, was guest speaker.

At the December meeting there will be a film on retarded children, when it is hoped to have a special speaker for this occasion.

Refreshments were served by the social convener, Mrs. Nelson Merritt.

Burtis Freeman Elected President

Burtis Freeman, of Lansdowne, was elected President of the Digby County Exhibition and Bear River Agricultural Society at the annual meeting, Bruce Road, of Bear River, was elected Vice President.

Elected Secretary-Treasurer was Chipman Chisholm, of Bear River. He succeeds Howard G. Yorke, who resigned after serving as Secretary-Treasurer for the past nine years.

Mr. Yorke, who is President of the Nova Scotia Exhibition Association, stated he regretted having to resign but pressure of his own farm work and his health would no longer allow him to carry on.

In reporting on the 1960 Digby County Exhibition, Mr. Yorke said it had been the most successful to date. Entries exceeded other years and a much larger prize list was presented. Despite increased expenses, he said, the exhibition ended with a surplus.

Reviewing the progress made by the exhibition over the past nine years, Mr. Yorke said two large barns had been moved to make room for a show ring at the exhibition park; two new steel barns had been built, as well as a new grandstand. Altogether, he said, some $9,000 had been spent for capital improvements at the exhibition site.

Elected as directors at the annual meeting were Burtis Freeman, Allister Milner, Ralph Pierce and Roy Alcorn.

March Of Dimes Aids Polio Victim

Donald Welch, seventeen year old son of Mrs. Pauline Graham, of Westport, who was stricken with polio while visiting relatives in Boston, will be brought to hospital in Halifax through the efforts of the Nova Scotia division of the March of Dimes, it was stated in Digby this week by Victor Cardoza, local director of the polio foundation.

Young Welch, who made the trip to Boston aboard Daniel Kenney's boat early in October, was taken ill there and has been in hospital for some time.

Arrangements were completed this week to transfer the boy to hospital in Halifax and Miss Patricia MacDonnell, nurse with the March of Dimes, will go to Boston to accompany him on the trip.

Tiverton Church Renovated

An ambitious program involving almost complete renovation of the United Baptist Church at Tiverton will mark its successful completion on November 29th when ceremonies will be held at the church to mark its re-dedication.

Quite some time ago the congregation of the church, which was built about 1867, decided that the building needed renovating and modernizing in order to properly meet the needs of the present day and a committee was organized to take charge of this.

Mr. Clifton Outhouse was elected treasurer of the building fund and to date five thousand dollars has been paid out on the rebuilding and renovating work and some two thousand dollars more is still to be spent. The work has been carried out on a "pay as you go" basis.

Some of the work carried out on the church has included raising the structure and putting a new concrete basement under it; installation of a new heating plant; refinishing the interior with mahogany panelboard; construction of a vestry in the new basement and the installation of memorial windows.

Response to the need for funds for the project has been excellent and has aided tremendously in the meeting of costs.

Invite Speaker

The regular meeting of the Smith's Cove Baptist W.M.S. was held on Thursday afternoon, November 3rd, at the home of the Misses Winchester.

The devotional was taken by Mrs. Langman and the program by Mrs. George Winchester. The topic was the miracle, "The Tempest".

It was decided to have the speaker, Miss Law, address a meeting on Thursday evening, November 10th.

Weymouth Man On T.V. Bounty Program

When the hull of the wooden ship "Bounty" slid down the ways at Smith and Rhuland's yards in Lunenburg, Nova Scotia shipwrights had again upheld their long and reputation as builders of fine ships.

The "Bounty" was built for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's Hollywood studios for the filming of "Mutiny on the Bounty" and to accomplish the building of this replica ship, the shipwrights were concerned with the most modern techniques of shipbuilding in order to build out a "Queen of the Seas".

CBC Television's "Bounty" worked eight months of overtime in filming the construction of "Building the Bounty" from the time the keel was laid through her sea trials, to power and sail to her berth from Lunenburg, Nova Scotia, where the actual "Bounty" of the sea sequences will be filmed by MGM camera crews.

"Building the Bounty" will be seen on CBC Television Sunday, November 12, at 8:00 p.m. AST. is a documentary which is almost synonymous with the story and way of life of the sea-faring village of Lunenburg, home port of Nova Scotia's famous "Bluenose".

The shipbuilding firm of Smith and Rhuland won the contract to build the "Bounty" over tenders submitted by MGM by yards in England, Europe, the United States and Japan. It probably will be the last time a square-rigged ship is ever built in Nova Scotia, and because of this, "Building the Bounty" has an ever greater significance as an historical record.

To accomplish the feat of producing a sailing ship of 200 years ago, exact in every detail, it was necessary to overcome many technical difficulties and problems. But when movie audiences watch the finished MGM film, there will be no tell-tale "slips" to date the "Bounty" as a 1960 ship.

Supervising the technicalities of "Building the Bounty" was MGM representative James Havens, who is a foremost director of sea sequences and who will direct all the "Bounty" sea action during the "Bounty" of the film off Tahiti. An interview with Mr. Havens will be seen on CBC's documentary, as will an interview with shipmaker Charlie Hobb, of Lunenburg. Viewers will enjoy seeing Mr. Hobb at work in the sail loft, shaping and sewing the "Bounty's" canvas. Viewers will also meet Fred Rhuland, whose firm has built the "Bounty" so successfully, and Nova Scotian Captain Ellsworth Cozins of Weymouth and Dartmouth who has signed on as master of the "Bounty".

Hi-Y Elects Slate

The "Del-Sigma" Girls' Hi-Y of the Digby Regional High School, under the leadership of Mrs. Wendell, held its first meeting on September 26. At this meeting the following officers were elected for the year:

President, Joan Hall; Vice President, Chris Davis; Treasurer, Joan Turbull; Secretary, Carolyn Murley.

The group at present is trying to raise money to support the "World Refugee Fund" by selling pens. The group has permission from the Town Council of Digby to sell the pens on November 18 and 19.

A report on the North Canadian National Hi-Y Assembly, which was held this August at Geneva Park, Ontario, was given by Joan Hall, the Digby representative.

Veterans Attend Church Service

Members of the Digby branch of the Canadian Legion and other local veterans attended divine service at Grace United Church Sunday morning.

Also in attendance at the service were members of the church Cub Pack and the CGIT. Special music for the service was rendered by the church choir, who also presented a special anthem for the occasion. The CGIT group also presented a vocal selection during the service.

A stirring sermon on the continuing need for sacrifice was delivered by the pastor, Rev. R. H. Hughes.

ABOUT THIS AND THAT

Remembrance Day

"Lord God of Hosts be with us yet, Lest we forget; lest we forget."

Friday, November 11, has been proclaimed a holiday by our officials. Throughout Canada schools will be recessed and normal activities will cease in order that citizens of this land might commemorate the victory of two world wars and to honor the men who so gallantly lost their lives that others might live.

With some, tomorrow will be a day of solemn reverence. With too many, tomorrow will be just what it was proclaimed a holiday. It will mean just another day of freedom from work, a day of revelry. The words of the hymn "Lord God of Hosts be with us yet, Lest we forget; lest we forget"; if thought of at all in the morning will have died as the last syllable is uttered, leaving the remainder of the day and evening for that which reveals nothing but forgetfulness.

The first Remembrance Day or Armistice Day was one when mankind, though filled with sorrow of loss, was also filled with joyous hope. People were filled with the hope that the cruelties and horrors of war were done away with forever. How mistaken we were. And how forgetful we were. Today we stand at an age when we are faced with the dread of another great onslaught of horrors not dreamed of in any previous wars.

In this year of 1960, then, what shall we make of Remembrance Day? Shall we make of it a holiday in the general sense of the word? Shall we make it a day of sentimental remembrance and leave it at that? Far be it. Never before have we been in greater need of a day of re-dedication. Never before have we been made so humbly conscious of the Power and Might which brought us the victories of the past. Never before have we been in so vital a need of imploring "Lord God of Hosts be with us yet, Lest we forget; lest we forget" — lest we forget that it was "not by might, nor by power, but by My Spirit, saith the Lord of Hosts."

Nomination Week

We again call attention of our town readers to the fact that Nomination Week for town councillors is November 15 to November 22. The councillors whose terms expire are Earl Van-Tassell, Irving McKenna and Mrs. Helen Anthony. Rumors have it that one of these councillors, at least, will re-offer. We also hear comments about an influential organization putting up a slate of candidates. If the rumors are correct, this is a sign of interest which is good for the town.

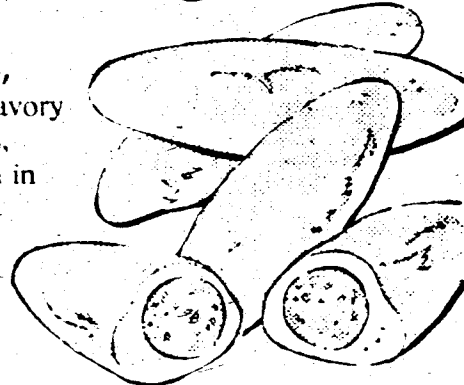

One of the main qualifications of a councillor is interest in the welfare of town citizens. An interest in making Digby the best and most prosperous place possible in which to live is vital for any councillor. To be a good councillor, he must be willing to sacrifice pleasures and self interest, to a certain degree, in order to attend to the affairs of the town. Often, the position of town councillor is a thankless job. This is not as it should be but human nature being as it is, a person who enters civic service of the kind must be prepared to serve for the sake of service and not for plaudits. While ability to express oneself well is an asset to a councillor, this qualification does not have to exceed all others in order to make a worthwhile councillor.

There are a number of persons in Digby who have the necessary qualifications to sit on the town council. We hope they will be sought out during the week of November 15 to 22 and give the people of the town an opportunity to express an opinion by vote in December.

A post nuptial reception was held in the Granville Ferry Community Hall on Saturday evening, October 29th, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. J. Stanley Power (Margaret Oliver), who were married recently.

Some sixty friends of the bride and groom gathered for the occasion and the evening was very pleasantly spent playing Bridge, Canasta, Rook, and Forty-fives. Annapolis County Council Meets

The Annapolis County Council of Home and School Association was held at Bear River in Oakdene School on Thursday afternoon. About 55 delegates attended.

The President, Mrs. Marshall Wheelhouse, presided at both sessions. Opening remarks were extended by Mr. H. G. Yorke.

The main theme of the afternoon session was a panel presentation on Charting Our Home and School Course in Annapolis County. This was chaired by Mrs. Jean Pell, of Bridgetown. The panel members consisted of conveners of various committees on the county executive, who each in turn presented the work they wished each local Association to undertake in the coming year. A panel interview followed with Mr. C. E. Edwards, Inspector of Schools for Digby and Annapolis Counties, as guest panelist. The topic for this was "Auxiliary Classes".

What are they? Should Home and School work toward their establishment in Annapolis County? Mr. Edwards stated there was a very definite need for this type of class not only in our own county but in all others as well. Also that there was a great opportunity for the Home and School Association to work towards helping to set up these classes in the schools.

Supper was served by the Ladies' Aid of the United Church. The evening session, under the direction of Mr. Tom Jones, dealt with the various aspects of a good program, and the question was asked, "What is Home and School About?" A panel, consisting of Mr. A. Comeau, Inspector of Schools for Clare and Argyle, Mrs. L. Cromwell, President of the Yarmouth Council, Mrs. Pell, Mrs. Wheelhouse and Dr. Dutcher, held an open question and discussion period. This proved both instructive and gave a chance for some lively discussion. The main decision was that more parents should be made to feel that they are needed in Home and School and that they should become better acquainted with the work of the Association and to acquire a better relationship between parent, teacher and child.

CNR SPECIAL'S CREW "MIGHTY SPECIAL", Transport Min-
centre, vice-president of Canadian National Railways Atlantic Region, synchronize watches with 87-year-old Jean Charles Blanchet, honorary conductor of the CNR Centenary Special at Riviere du Loup. The Special travelled the route of the first Grand Trunk low CNR, passenger train into the south shore St. Lawrence community on July 2, 1860, as part of celebrations marking the centenary. One hundred years ago it meant that Riviere du Loup was linked by rail with Montreal, Toronto and west. The Intercolonial Railway 16 years later put the town into the important east-west CNR rail network with Moncton, Saint John, Halifax and other points in the Maritimes. The Temiscouata Railway in 1889 linked Riviere du Loup with Edmundston and the National Transcontinental line from Moncton to Winnipeg. The ICR, Temiscouata and NTR today are all part of the vast CNR system,

Card of Thanks
HERSEY — I wish to thank everyone who was so nice to me, also those who sent cards, fruit, candy and flowers while I was a patient at the Digby General Hospital. Special thanks to the doctors, nurses and orderlies who were so nice and kind. I appreciate everything that was done for me. I could not get used any better wherever I went. I had the best of care and plenty to eat. Could not ask for a better place. The only thing I felt sorry for was Mr. Wells, because his well went dry. If anyone is ever sick the place to go is Digby Hospital. Thank you all. — Arthur Hersey. 11:1c

WE SALUTE

"Yes, I've been fifty years a Licensed Layreader, and fifty years associated with Sunday School work", is what L. V. Harris, Bear River, said to your enquiring editor when he interviewed him this Summer. Added to his work as Layreader and Sunday School teacher is more — much more for Mr. Harris has given a lifetime of service to the Church in whatever way his talents have been required. This service has been not only to the parish, but also he has served as a delegate to the Diocesan Synod for about twenty years.

Born at Annapolis Royal, he was confirmed in historic Saint Luke's Church by Bishop Courtney. In 1910, after a period of study at Halifax, he passed the examinations of the Nova Scotia Pharmaceutical Society and became a registered druggist, soon after moving to lovely Bear River. This 'Switzerland of Nova Scotia' has been his home ever since.

"I took my examinations for the Layreader's License", Mr. Harris says. "In 1910 when the Rev. Henry How was rector of Annapolis, my first License being granted July 8, 1910. I have held licenses under all the rectors of Clement parish since that time." It is interesting to note that of the four Licenses issued to Mr. Harris, two bear the signatures of Archbishops who became Primates of the Canadian Church. Mr. Harris laments the passing of the Young Men's Bible Class. "I look back with sincere appreciation", he says, "to my membership in classes conducted by Archdeacon Armistead, Rev. Mr. Bambrick, and the Rev. L. J. Donaldson. It is unfortunate that so many of our young men are growing up with little or no knowledge of the Bible."

Serving 67 years in the drug business where the hours are long has left Mr. Harris less free time than is the lot of most men. This has not, however, interfered with his work for his Church and parish, nor has it hindered him in pursuing his two hobbies, gardening and photography in both of which he excels.

L. V., as he is affectionately known near and far, has made a big and lasting contribution by personal example and good works, and the Diocesan Times is happy to say a word in praise of this quiet, unassuming and loyal servant of Christ and His Church. (L.W.M.) — From Diocesan Times.

Roll call was answered by health maxims. Tea was served by Mrs. Riley and Mrs. Morine to fifteen members.

THE HUNTERS

They got up at four o'clock. Ate their breakfast, had a talk. Took their guns and drove away. To the frost where they'd stay.

Left the car upon the road. Into the guns the shells they load.

They walked and walked until they found. A little spot of open ground.

They departed without a word. Not a sound could be heard. Then came a shot echoing clear. Crunch of bones, fall of deer.

There she lay a handsome doe. Weighing a hundred pounds or so. They put it in the storage hold. To save the meat for winter cold.

(This poem was written by Melvin Little, of Cape Breton, for Arthur Isles, Bear River, and Edgar Martin, of Cape Breton, while they were on a hunting trip. Melvin is sixteen years of age.)

Dr. Chute was a brother of Minard Chute, of Bear River, and many of his relatives live in this vicinity. Mrs. Chute was an American by birth but will be remembered by friends and relatives of her husband, since she made several trips here with him in the early days of their marriage.

YOUNG IDEAS
from Polly Ponder

Q: I'm inclined to be round-shouldered and would like to learn some exercises that would help me straighten up. Do you know of any?

A: Begin by walking around your bedroom with a book balanced on top of your head. Do this once a day, gradually increasing the number of times you are able to make a tour of the room without dropping the book. When you can stalk proudly from wall to wall five times without losing your balance, try putting an apple on it just to make the exercise a little more difficult - your stance a little straighter.

Stand ramrod straight with the back of your head, shoulder blades, hips, calves and heels pressed against the wall. Now, move away from it, holding the position when you walk.

Try to keep your spine rigid whenever you're sitting down, by pressing the small of your back against the chair. This may not feel as comfortable as slumping at first. But you'll soon discover it's a less tiring position than one that weighs heavily on the base of your spine - and it helps build straight shoulders, a more graceful carriage.

Obituary

Joseph P. Doucet

Joseph P. Doucet, aged 76 years, passed away at the home of his son, Benoit, at Church Point, during the night of Thursday, after an illness of three weeks in which he was bedridden. His passing was a great shock to his many friends in the community and throughout Clare.

Mr. Doucet was one time Professor of English and Mathematics at College St. Ann and had been retired due to ill health for a number of years. He underwent a serious operation at the V. G. Hospital in Halifax in recent years and he partly recovered his health. He was able to continue his insurance business on a smaller scale and appeared to be enjoying good health until three weeks ago when his health broke down.

He was one time president of the Municipal School Board and served in that capacity until his health prevented him from fulfilling this post, about ten years ago. He was a fluent speaker and took great interest in the educational system of the municipality, as well as the affairs of the community. He was not able to take active part in both educational and community affairs in late years but his interest was still there.

Association Head Explains

An explanation of a serious misunderstanding concerning activities of the Digby Neck Home & School Association has been issued by Mrs. Bernard Denton, president of the association.

Mrs. Denton stated this week a great deal of misunderstanding and misinformation has arisen concerning what was merely a suggestion made at an executive meeting of the association. This suggestion was to the effect that folk dancing might be included in a monthly entertainment program for the pre-teen students of the consolidated school at Sandy Cove.

No further action was taken by the association in the matter nor was the provision of an entertainment program for these students adopted as a part of the association's activity schedule.

Unfortunately, Mrs. Denton says, because of misunderstanding and misinformation a great hue and cry developed to the effect the association was going to sponsor dances at the school.

As a result of this petitions were circulated, resolutions passed by other organizations and a number of letters sent to the president of the association protesting the move.

At no time, Mrs. Denton says, did the Digby Neck Home & School Association intend to sponsor dances for the pupils of the school. No suggestion was ever made to this effect nor was the matter ever considered. The only thing that was done at all, she says, was that a single suggestion was put forward at an executive meeting that folk dancing might be included in a monthly program of entertainment for the youngsters.

Mrs. Denton says she is deeply concerned as to the effect this misunderstanding may have on the future of the association. The work of home and school is important in the community, she says, and a number of important projects are being considered for the year which will require the support and co-operation of the membership to be a success.

Party Enjoyed

A Halloween party was held at St. Theresa's church hall in Marshalltown on the 31st of October, given by Father LeBlanc and the ladies of the Catholic Association.

There were many useful gifts presented and games enjoyed. Father LeBlanc and The Ladies' Catholic Association expressed thanks to all the people who helped to make the party a success.

Prize winners for costumes were Lorie Doucette, Ronald Robicheau, Morin White, Timmy Robicheau and Jeanette Melanson.

To Sponsor Skating Club

The Church Point Men's Social Club will sponsor The Church Point Social Skating Club for the coming ice season. The newly organized skating club will hire ice time one evening a week for its members so that skating enthusiasts can skate freely on ice which is not over-crowded.

Dr. Louis J. Thibodeau has been elected president; J. Marcel Valotaire, local bank manager, was appointed vice-president, and Albert Comeau as secretary-treasurer of the skating club.

Ice is expected to be available in St. Ann's college arena within three weeks for ice skating purposes. In former years other skating clubs have been formed.

one club with headquarters at Meteghan River, which included skaters from the surrounding villages, and another club was formed at Church Point by another group other than the one which was recently organized.

In past years the skating clubs were made up of members numbering in the vicinity of 60 to 70, which made it ideal for pleasant skating, and also is more practical for those who are learning to skate.

With artificial ice available, it is possible to ice skate in any kind of weather. Before the advent of artificial ice, skating was at a premium and it could be participated in but very rarely. From December to April skaters are sure to have a keen ice surface which is taken advantage of by the people of Clare.

THE DIGBY COURIER

In The Council

Mayor: We will come to order and have the minutes of the last regular and any special meetings of Council.

Clerk: October 3rd, 1960. Clerk read minutes of this regular meeting. They were declared approved as read.

Mayor: Have we a motion giving those present permission to address Council? A motion was regularly moved and seconded giving those present permission to address Council. This motion was declared a vote.

R. L. Taylor: I would like to address Council. Your Worship, members of the Council and Clerk, Mr. Eaton, and Solicitor, Mr. Theriault, we, on behalf of Mr. McNeill and Mr. Davidson appreciate being given permission to address this Council on behalf of those in Districts for fire protection in the District within a seven mile radius. As many as 12 petitions were submitted to the Municipal Council signed by those interested within the seven mile radius of the Town Limit. Unfortunately, no action was taken by the Municipal Council. There are two things that might have happened; that they did not want to have anything to do with it; secondly, that it was not properly placed before the Council. Personally, I am inclined to think that the latter is the reason that the Municipality took no action. On October 6th there was a meeting of the interested parties living within the seven mile radius, met at a meeting which was attended by some members of the Municipal Council. At that time the members stated that they didn't have a legal authority to assess separately those... within a seven mile radius so much so that a motion was made and carried to set up an interview with Mr. Theriault to have him draw up legal papers. The Committee met with Mr. Theriault and on Wednesday we had another meeting here in Mr. Theriault's office. After considerable discussion which lasted about two or two and one-half hours... I was of the opinion that if more information could be obtained and given to the Council, I would not see why the Municipal Council did not grant our request. The Committee is here tonight to get permission from the Town Council together with the Fire Department to form the service in the establishment of certain boundaries. Take the rates and go over them and find out what the rate would be for those people living within a seven mile radius of the Town of Digby. Other matters, such as loss of wages to fishermen, nature of equipment, increase of equipment and... while attending fires. However, property loss within those districts meant that much less assessable property to the Municipality. Also we believe... the fact that the outlying districts give to the Town a considerable amount of business. I am not taking up any more time. I think I have taken up enough of your time. I call on Mr. Bent who is the chairman of the fire committee. He would represent the Fire Department and would endeavour tonight to give this Council something definite.

New Minister At Conway

Rev. W. P. Clayton arrived from Lucasville, Halifax Co., on Friday to reside in Conway, where he is minister of the Acaciaville African Baptist Church. Mr. Clayton succeeds Rev. M. L. Anderson, Yarmouth, who because of ill health will take charge of the Yarmouth area churches only. Mr. Anderson had served the Acaciaville church for over 40 years. During that time the church did not have a resident minister here.

Mr. Clayton was born in Hammonds Plains and received his higher education in Wolfville. He graduated from Horton Academy in 1948, from Acadia University with a Bachelor of Arts in 1952 and Bachelor of Divinity in 1954. He served with the R.H.R. Black Watch Regiment of the Canadian Army Overseas.

Rev. Mr. Clayton's pastorates have been Tracadie-Guysboro Field, Calvary Baptist, Saint John, N. B., and Lucasville. He is a past moderator of the African United Baptist Association of Nova Scotia.

With Mr. Clayton are his wife and two daughters, Joyce, 5 years, and Shelley, 2 years. Mrs. Clayton was the former A. Jean Jones, Halifax, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Jones. She is a graduate of Queen Elizabeth High School and is active in church work, having been president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, African United Baptist Association.

Given Surprise Birthday Party

Rufus R. W. Connor was guest of honour at a delightful surprise birthday party at his home last Friday evening. The occasion was his 82nd birthday. Earlier that evening Mr. Connor attended the annual Remembrance Day banquet at the Legion Hall. While he was away from home Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Turnbull and their daughter, Virginia, visited with Mrs. Connor, who has been ill for some time.

During the visit Miss Turnbull showed colour films of Digby, the Cabot Trail and the awarding of medals to Mr. Connor, and the divisions parade at HMCS Cornwallis.

When Mr. Connor arrived home later in the evening he was accompanied by a few comrades from the supper session who joined in singing Old Lang Syne. Mr. Connor then entered his home where he was the surprised recipient of congratulations on his 82nd birthday.

Miss Turnbull showed her navy films again and an enjoyable evening was spent.

Earlier in the evening a phone call was received from Mr. Connor's son, Rufus Jr., in Boston, when good wishes were also expressed by Mrs. Connor and Mr. Connor's grandson, Victor.

Woolaver: I would like to hear from the Fire Chief, Mr. Humphrey, to see if we have the... Mayor: I would think that we not want to go into the matter of the fire protection at the moment. These gentlemen are here from the outside district. The matter is whether or not our Fire Department can provide the service.

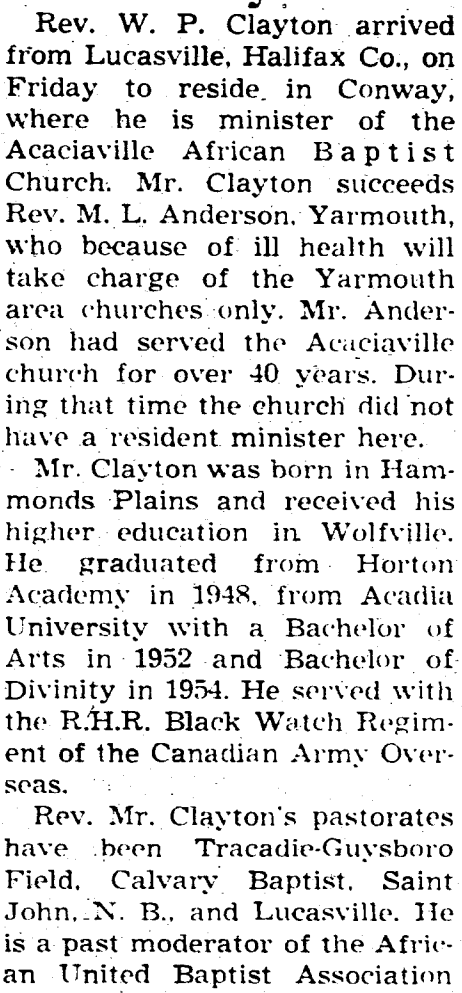

Woolaver: We might as well find out if we have got protection or not.

I would ask Mr. Humphrey to give us his idea if our fire equipment is good enough, if we have enough equipment. What is his idea on this.

Humphrey: We haven't got any too much equipment for the Town... Whether there is suitable equipment to go into the Municipality, I feel it should be more or less a tank truck, something to carry water. We only carry 300 gallons. It isn't too much. We can't carry water too far with the suction hose.

Bent: We haven't discussed it as to cost.

New School Blessed

The official opening and the blessing of Notre Dame school of St. Alphonse took place Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. Preceding the blessing, a benediction service was held at St. Alphonse church across the main highway from the school, with Rev. Maxime LeBlanc, former pastor of the parish, officiating, and assisted by Rev. Louis Comeau, also a former pastor of St. Alphonse, and Rev. Hector Melanson.

Rev. Maxime LeBlanc spoke to his congregation, stating that the church is always interested in the education of its flock. While he was pastor in the parish, plans had been formulated for the construction of a new school as soon as the necessary funds had been raised. A start had been made and a considerable sum raised when the education act was changed and altered the responsibilities for the construction of new schools from the school districts into the lap of the Municipality.

Immediately following the benediction services the entire congregation and clergy wended their way across the highway to the new school where an impressive ceremony took place. The blessing was officiated by Rev. Edward Theriault, of St. Alphonse parish. Mrs. Clarence Comeau officiated as master of ceremonies which took place in the spacious all-purpose room of the school. Present at the ceremonies were Rev. Maxime LeBlanc, of Bel Brook, Rev. Louis Comeau, of Salmon River, Rev. Hector Melanson, Meteghan, Rev. Edward Theriault, pastor of the parish, Albert P. Melanson, Church Point, Emile O. Theriault, Bellevue's Cove, Emile d'Entremont, Meteghan River, Willie Belliveau, Bellevue's Cove, J. Medrie Comeau, Municipal Clerk and secretary of the School Board, and Gustave A. Comeau, of Concession, representing the Municipal Council, and J. Alphonse Comeau, inspector of schools for Clare and Argyle, of Meteghan River.

The teaching personnel of the new school is: Mrs. Clarence Comeau, principal; Mrs. Elizabeth Comeau, Mrs. Anselme Devadey, Mrs. Saulnier and Mr. Geddy.

Inspector of schools, J. Alphonse Comeau, spoke a few words to the group and read a portion of Rev. Father Sullivan's report to the provincial department of education in 1906. Rev. Sullivan was pastor of Weymouth parish at the time and his report was given as a special visitor to the schools in Clare. A portion of his report of July 31st, 1906, read: "It is a pity that our Acadian people cannot be convinced of the advantages of consolidation of schools, as we have along the shores of St. Mary's Bay one of the best localities in the province to amalgamate many sections and conduct good, large, advanced schools in place of many small, miscellaneous, primary ones."

Thus the plans of Rev. Sullivan of 1906 are becoming to be realized over fifty years later. Also the dream of Rev. Maxime LeBlanc has been fulfilled. Mr. Alphonse Comeau

Liberal Women Meet

Mrs. Margaret Norrie, of Truro, president of the Liberal Women's Federation of Nova Scotia, and Mrs. Douglas Blair, of Ottawa, executive director of the National Liberal Women's Federation, were guest speakers at a Liberal Women's Rally held in the Lions Club hall here last week.

The meeting was presided over by Victor Cardoza, M.L.A. for the electoral district of Digby, who introduced the two speakers to the audience. In making the introductions Mr. Cardoza paid tribute to the work done by the ladies in this constituency in the last election campaign and in previous ones in which he had taken part. Without their aid, he said, the job would have been much more difficult.

In her remarks Mrs. Norrie stressed the need of strong women's organizations in every constituency and told of the work being accomplished for the Liberal party by women in various parts of Nova Scotia. She said she would be glad to assist in the organization of an association here and would welcome invitations to visit.

Mrs. Blair explained the work of the Liberal women's organization on the national level and said the efforts being carried on were fully integrated with the work of the other Liberal organizations such as the National Liberal Federation, the Young Liberals and University Liberal groups.

At the close of the meeting a unanimous resolution was passed that the annual meeting of the Digby Liberal association be asked to take steps toward the formation of a women's organization for the constituency.

named the prominent men who have been born in St. Alphonse and are now leading men in outside communities. These were: Alphonse Saulnier, inspector of schools in Richmond County; Rev. Henri Boudreau, principal of the Indian School; and Thomas Boudreau, vice-principal of one of the largest schools in the province.

The new school is a four-room school building with classrooms on the main floor with an all purpose room the size of two classrooms in the basement. The all purpose room is so constructed that additional classrooms can be made if necessary in the future. The Armstrong Brothers were the building contractors and the school was from plans obtained from the Department of Education, with several alterations. It is an up-to-date building with all modern facilities.

St. Alphonse is proud of its new school. It also has pupils from Maville and Cape St. Mary's, where the schools have been closed. One hundred and fifty-two pupils are enrolled this year, which is the first year of operation. Previously, the St. Alphonse pupils attended Meteghan and Saulnierville schools. The two schools in St. Alphonse were closed several years ago when teaching personnel were difficult to encourage to teach in the old one roomed school buildings which had outlived their usefulness.

Ship First Beef Cattle

History was made in Digby on Monday when the first car load of beef cattle ever to leave the county was shipped to the provincial abattoir in Halifax.

Shipment of the cattle, which came from the Digby area, was arranged through the Maple Leaf Agricultural Society at Conway.

Eighteen head were included in the shipment which is expected to be the first in a continuing effort in the Digby area.

Vandals Again Attack Church

Trinity Anglican Church, which has been the victim of two attacks by vandals, who did a great deal of damage to the vestry of the church, was hit again this week by vandals.

Wednesday afternoon the Rector of the church, Rev. James Pike, on entering the church found two of the leaded glass windows in the main entry smashed. A large stone was on the floor inside the vestibule.

This week's episode marks the third time in less than a year Trinity Church has been damaged.

Donations Reported

The Conway division of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Digby General Hospital reported at the auxiliary meeting this week that the sum of $54.25 had been raised through a pantry sale.

A donation of $25.00 towards expenses for upkeep of the room in the hospital sponsored by the Digby Fire Department, was also reported at the meeting.

Many lovely and useful gifts were brought to the meeting for the Stork Club. These gifts will be placed in the show case at the hospital for sale to aid in hospital work.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. E. B. Richardson, with a good attendance.

W.G.M. Visits Lodge

St. Mary's Chapter No. 33, Order of the Eastern Star, was honored on November 10, to have as guest, Mrs. Mildred Graham, Worthy Grand Matron of Parrsboro, Nova Scotia. In her outstanding address she stressed that harmony is a vital factor in these days of stress and conflict and that Peace would prevail in the world if all worked to that end.

Visitors and friends were present from Yarmouth, Bear River and Bridgetown. Mrs. Eva Wendall, Worthy Matron of St. Mary's Chapter, entertained members and special guests at a delightful Tea on Friday afternoon.

The evening was pleasantly spent in social conversation and Miss Margaret V. Rippey, of Annapolis Royal, showed most interesting colored slides. Some of the pictures were taken locally and others taken in various parts of Canada.

At the close of the evening Mr. Lloyd Hersey, on behalf of the staff of the Maritime Telephone Company Office at Annapolis Royal, of which Mrs. Riley is a member, presented the happy couple with a lovely silver flower basket. Mr. and Mrs. Riley also were the recipients of many lovely cards of congratulation on their anniversary and other gifts of silver.

The evening ended with the guests offering their best wishes to the bride and groom of 25 years for many more years of wedded happiness.

The past, the present and the future are really one, they are today. — Stowe.

Re-elected President

John R. Nichols, Digby barrister, was re-elected president of the Liberal Association of the electoral district of Digby at the annual meeting held in the Lion's Club hall Monday evening.

Other officers elected include George Wagner, Weymouth, 1st vice-president; Romaine Perry, Freeport, 2nd vice-president; Wellington Halliday, Digby, 3rd vice-president; Harold Jackson, Digby, secretary; Richard Warner, Digby, treasurer.

Elected to the executive committee were Dr. W. L. M. King, Weymouth; Basil Porter, Conway; Wilfred Miller, Lansdowne; Harry Saunders, Sandy Cove.

Three ladies were also elected to the executive. They were Mrs. Wilfred Miller, Lansdowne; Mrs. Darrell Lewis, Ross; and Miss Louise Daley, Digby.

Ward chairmen were re-elected with the addition of Fenwick Jeffrey, Sandy Cove, and Anthony Melanson, Plympton.

It was decided to organize a Liberal Women's Association for the constituency, with local units in the various polls.

Plans were also made for the organization of a Young Liberals Association. A meeting for this purpose will be held shortly to be addressed by the provincial president of the Young Liberal Federation of Nova Scotia.

Speaker at the annual meeting was Victor Cardoza, M.L.A. for the electoral district of Digby. Mr. Cardoza expressed his sincere thanks and appreciation to the organization for the support given in the provincial election. He also complimented the association on the forward steps taken at the annual meeting toward the organization of a Young Liberals and a Women's Association.

Mr. Cardoza stated he was looking forward to the legislative session when he would again have an opportunity to place before the legislature and the government the needs of this constituency. He said he had already drawn the government's attention by letter to the urgent need for a speed up on the work of replacing the Joggin Bridge and was pleased to see this work progressing at an accelerated pace.

He stated it would be only fair to point out the present government had made a start already on some of the recommendations which he had made concerning the electoral district of Digby during the 1956 session of the House of Assembly but stated a good deal more remained to be done.

Referring to unemployment and rising welfare costs in Digby municipality, Mr. Cardoza said these were two of the most pressing and important problems with which the government would have to deal and stated he would urge upon the government the need for action toward improving the economy of this area.

Couple Mark 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Riley, of Granville Ferry, were "at home" to their many friends on Saturday evening, November 12th, the occasion being their 25th wedding anniversary.

The rooms were tastefully trimmed with lovely fall flowers and the bride's table covered with a lace cloth was centered by a lovely silver wedding cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Riley were assisted in serving by his brother, Fred Riley, and sister-in-law, Mrs. Charles Riley, of Annapolis Royal.

The evening was pleasantly spent in social conversation and Miss Margaret V. Rippey, of Annapolis Royal, showed most interesting colored slides. Some of the pictures were taken locally and others taken in various parts of Canada.

At the close of the evening Mr. Lloyd Hersey, on behalf of the staff of the Maritime Telephone Company Office at Annapolis Royal, of which Mrs. Riley is a member, presented the happy couple with a lovely silver flower basket. Mr. and Mrs. Riley also were the recipients of many lovely cards of congratulation on their anniversary and other gifts of silver.

Little League

The newly formed Digby Hockey Little League Commission met on Sunday, November 13, to organize the league for the 1960-1961 season.

Due to an increase in registration it was decided to operate four three team leagues during the coming season.

For the small boys, up to nine years of age, it was decided to operate a new Paperweight League. The usual Pee Wee League will operate for the ten to twelve age group and the usual Bantam League will operate for the twelve to fourteen group. A new Midget League has been made up to cater to the boys over fourteen who wish to play hockey.

A new policy was adopted this year. For the Bantam and Midget Leagues, adult coaches will be used. For the Paperweight and Pee Wee Leagues, High School students will be used.

Coaches for the Midget League will be Mr. Bill McLeod, Mr. R. Morgan and Cpl. Bob Douglas, RCMP.

Coaches for the Bantam League will be Mr. H. Patterson, with two others to be appointed. High School Student coaches will be Tom Muise, Ian Anderson, Phillip Murley, Ronald VanTassell, Gary Winchester and Walter Murphy.

The league has been divided into a Farm System. Each Midget team has a Paperweight, a Pee Wee and a Bantam team in its organization. Players showing signs of being outclassed or greater ability will be moved up or down to the various clubs within the organization, the idea being to make sure every boy is playing hockey in a team best suited to his ability.

The hours will be as follows: Paperweight League - 8 a.m. to 9 a.m.

Remembrance Day Marked

A most impressive Act of Remembrance was held at the Capitol Theatre Friday morning as Digby paid its annual tribute to the war dead from the area.

As the names of the war dead were read from the book of remembrance by Melvin Nixon, chairman of the Remembrance Day committee, poppies were placed on a beautifully constructed replica of the cenotaph which centred the theatre stage.

The poppies in memory of the dead of the first world war were placed by George Cardoza, a veteran of the Boer war, and those in memory of the dead of the second world war were placed by Digby Legion president, Edward Murphy.

Following this a short address was given by Digby Mayor Victor Cardoza on the significance of remembrance. Mr. Cardoza pointed out that more was needed than the annual observance of remembrance day. He said constant thought should be given to the reasons for which the sacrifices of the two wars were made. These ideals, he said, must be kept before our people, not only by word but also in deed, so that the youth of today, particularly, might know of the principles for which their fathers fought and died and be prepared to keep them inviolate and strong.

R. O. Wright, zone commander of the Canadian Legion, spoke on the welfare and pension work being done by the Legion for veterans and the dependents of those who gave their lives.

Guest speaker was Eugene Outhouse, 2nd Vice President of the Nova Scotia Command of the Canadian Legion, who spoke on the history, aims and objects of the Canadian Legion and told of the program of work being carried out by the Legion, not only for veterans and their families, but also for the youth of Canada in physical fitness and through scholarship.

A report on the poppy campaign was given by Bernard O'Neill, chairman of the Legion poppy committee. Mr. O'Neill expressed thanks to the people of the community for their generous response with which, he said, the campaign could not have been a success.

Following the service at the theatre wreaths were laid at the Digby war memorial. The wreath of the Province of Nova Scotia was laid by Victor Cardoza, M.L.A., and Deputy Mayor Vernon L. Bent laid the town of Digby wreath. The Digby branch of the Canadian Legion's wreath was laid by President Edward Murphy. Wreaths were also laid in memory of those who gave their lives by family members and by members of the Digby branch of the Canadian Legion.

At the annual Remembrance Day banquet, sponsored by the Digby branch of the Legion and held Friday evening, Captain F. C. Frewer, CD, RCM, Commanding Officer of HMCS Cornwallis, was guest speaker.

Captain Frewer, in his address stated that Remembrance Day had a different significance for each individual. Memories evoked by the ceremonies of the day, he said, were different for each one but for everyone the day should have a deep and abiding impact.

He said he felt a great responsibility rested upon present day adults to keep alive the significance and purpose of a day of remembrance for the youth who, as years passed, were becoming further and further removed from the actual sacrifices and suffering recalled on November 11th.

Commenting upon differences in ideologies, Captain Frewer said he felt it significant that the Russians do not have a Remembrance Day but instead celebrate a Heroes Day during which they parade their military might.

ABOUT THIS AND THAT

Air Rifles And Such

Regardless of how disappointing it might be to some of the town boys who think the town council made a smart move last week when they voted to ban bee-bee guns and air rifles within the town. Like everything else which is abused, a stop must be called some time. No one can deny that the privilege of using these bee-bee guns and air rifles was abused when many street lights had to be replaced each week. Any parent would refuse to replace light bulbs in the home each week so that the youngsters could have the sport of destroying them. This gets to be expensive business for the town too.

But the worse, fortunately, did not happen. With such irresponsible persons carrying bee-bee guns, who knows when someone would suffer the loss of an eye? It has happened before and our memory serves us correctly, it happened just recently in Saint John, N. B. When young people are so irresponsible as to destroy property, it is wise to take action to prevent loss of persons facilities like sight.

One doctor a few years ago in caring for a young boy who had just lost an eye from the careless use of an air rifle said: "Air guns are criminal and should be banned. Over the years I've seen an average of one case a year of this type where a child has lost an eye or the use of it. The eye is a delicate structure and an ordinary 'BB' will do the job. It doesn't take much for a shot that would bounce off any other part of the body without harm would injure the eye."

Parents should thank the town council for the step they have taken before something more serious than lights are lost.

How To Milk The Government

In an earlier editorial we referred to the instance below. However, with the figures so carefully worked out from "The Pictou Advocate" we feel it will make interesting reading.

Cashing in on a loophole in the unemployment insurance regulations, a Winnipeg family recently earned $10,205 in a year while drawing unemployment benefits. And by repeating the dodge, the family hopes to get away with it a second year.

It is all perfectly legal.

Here's how it's done, as reported by the Winnipeg Tribune. The husband, an $85-a-week carpenter, was laid off in December, 1958, just as he bought a building lot and poured a concrete basement. His wife, a garment worker, stayed at her $36 a week job, while he signed for jobless pay, claiming a nine-year-old son as a dependent. He got $36 a week in benefits. This also entitled him to earn $18 a week as an "allowable" income and he promptly got a job for one day a week that paid $16.50.

He mortgaged the lot and built his own home with money he borrowed. He worked four days a week on his house a id one day a week in his carpenter's job.

Seven months later, while still "unemployed", he sold the house for a profit of $1,860. Then he promptly went back to work full time.

The family's 12-month income was: Salary, June to December, 1958, at $85 a week, $2,210; unemployment insurance benefits, December, 1958, to July, 1959, at $36 a week, $1,080; allowed income, $16.50 a day for the same period, $495; his wife's earnings, $36 a week, $1,500; profit on the house, $1,860. Total, $10,205 or $194 a week.

In January, 1960, he was laid off again. He got another one-day-a-week job, bought a second lot and has now almost completed another house.

There is no regulation to stop him. There is no law that requires an unemployed person to account for his spare-time.

A man out of work can build a house, rebuild automobiles, buy boats, buy second hand furniture and remodel it, to quote a line from the "trades" followed by many of Canada's unemployed, and sell those items after they return to work, at a profit and without violation of the law.

In this way their incomes soar over the $5,460 ceiling which no wage-earning Canadian is entitled to take part in the "10 plan."

Those children with air rifles, adults are not above abusing the law.

Christmas Buys Now While Prices Reduced

You mean to say you have not yet done your Christmas shopping from the wholesale catalogues? You mean to say you have not received a wholesale catalogue for reduced price Christmas buys from somewhere in Quebec or Ontario? Too bad. You are known it we might have loaned you one of those catalogues received and which found their way into the waste paper basket. We had probably more than ten for in most cases we had duplicates. — one to Wallis Print Ltd. and the other to The Digby Courier.

We have to give these wholesale houses a great deal of credit. For a good many years, now, they have caught on to the idea that "the early bird catches the worm." And they sure have been out early to catch the Christmas dollar. Catalogues came to our desk weeks ago and during the past week we still got them.

What we are afraid of is that some people will not check prices carefully, they probably will not go down town and get their Christmas shopping from the Digby, Weymouth, Bear River or their Island merchants and will be gullible enough to order from the catalogues at reduced prices. Most attractively displayed in the catalogues are items of jewellery, watches, clocks, electric appliances and many gift items that take the fancy of Christmas shoppers. And the prices are reduced in some cases almost fifty per cent according to their pages. However, if you check down town for the really correct original price of the items we think you will say "It pays to buy at home." Come on merchants, let the people know what you have to sell for Christmas. The early bird catches the worm.

Young Canada's Book Week

There are all sorts of weeks which are proposed to us but which we disregard because, to us, they lack merit. This week, November 15 to 22, is Young Canada's Book Week, something too important to overlook. Have you ever had a friend who did not make some impression on you? Who, did not influence you one way or the other, for good or ill? Well, books are friends. With the young people in particular they have a habit of leaving their influence. For that reason it is so important that young Canadians be directed in their choice of books. For that reason the best books must be made available to the young.

We would like to commend those in Weymouth and those in Sandy Cove who have recently made successful efforts in making worthwhile books available both to the adults and the young people. We would suggest that during Young Canada's Book Week would be an excellent time for donations of books to libraries throughout our County. A good book like food, clothing and friendship, are necessary to the lives of many people. A good book is educational, it provides enjoyment and passes with pleasure what could be lonely hours for both younger and older people. A book can, indeed, be a friend.

Scores Deterrents To Tourism

Public apathy, poor dining facilities and shoddy accommodations were scored as the greatest deterrents to fullest realization of the tourist industry in the Atlantic Provinces, J. C. McFarland, Public Relations Officer of the Atlantic Provinces Economic Council, said in Halifax recently.

Speaking at the annual dinner of the Innkeepers Guild of Nova Scotia, he stated:

"There is, on the part of too many of our two million people, a degree of unawareness, apathy, and downright ignorance concerning the tourist industry and its tremendous value to the economy of the Atlantic Provinces that I can only describe as appalling."

Turning to improvement of dining facilities, he remarked that he had heard Maritimers state that they could obtain better seafood properly served outside of the Atlantic Provinces.

"The average visitor to the Atlantic Provinces does not expect Waldorf service or cuisine, but surely he is entitled to a nourishing, tastefully prepared, well served meal—not a greasy, unattractive plateful of food served 45 minutes after it was ordered by an untrained, disinterested waitress."

In regard to accommodations, the speaker continued:

"We all know there are places that can be described as shoddy and rundown — I think it would be less than honest not to point out that there are many that just come up to par and no further."

He urged the members to carefully examine the quality of facilities and services provided in their own establishments to ensure that they compare favorably with the best that is available in Canada.

"I know that improvements cost money and that trained staff are hard to find," McFarland said, "but I suggest that it is money well spent because it will generate more business for you."

Urging more extensive use of the tools of marketing in the promotion of the industry because of the sharp increase in competition for the tourist dollar, the speaker advised smaller members of the hotel and motel industry to put together good promotional booklets and maintain direct mail promotional contact with past and prospective clients.

Personal selling is one of the most important of the tools of Debbie Selmes makes her first appearance as Poster Child for the 1960 campaign to raise funds for the fight against muscular dystrophy. Debbie is representative of the many thousands of children whose hopes for the future are dependent on the untiring efforts of medical research workers supported by a generous public. The campaign starts November 20. In Canada there are 20,000 victims of muscular dystrophy, two-thirds of whom are children. Muscular dystrophy is a wasting of leg, arm, shoulder and other voluntary muscles.

marketing at our disposal, a field in which the Atlantic Provinces fall short in comparison with the rest of Canada.

"I am convinced that the Atlantic region does not speak with a loud enough voice. We are a region of individuals, conservative by nature, but we must get off our 'soft sell' bugles if we are going to compete in a 'hard sell' world. We must let the world know that the Atlantic Provinces are the best vacation provinces in Canada," he said.

"It is not enough for the travel and the tourist bureau, the voluntary organizations, and people like yourselves to do all the work."

"It is the responsibility of every single person in the Atlantic region to become tourist conscious — to understand the fact that millions of dollars pumped annually by tourists into our economy will dwindle unless we all work at making the tourist welcome."

He respected the natural reluctance of many to boast of the great attractions of the region, but suggested that this

Quite a bit of indigestion is caused by people having to eat their words.

"shy reluctance to blow one's own horn" must be overcome if we want tourist dollars.

Lion Larry Powers, of Yarmouth, was guest speaker of the evening and he gave an illustration of how new members should be introduced to the club at the meetings. He showed the proper way and the improper way of making the new member welcome at the meetings. The talk was instructive and interesting.

King Lion Perry West, of Yarmouth, and King Lion Frank Jubb, of Meteghan, each spoke briefly on the work of their respective clubs.

HERE! THE TRUCKS THAT RIDE SMOOTHER, WORK HARDER, LAST LONGER!

Just a year ago, Chevy came up with a torsion bar independent front suspension and has already put some 300,000 Chevrolet trucks with it out on jobs.

The ride that results from Chevy's suspension design is making life a lot easier for drivers. (Just ask them!) It's taking better care of loads, the fragile kind that used to cost somebody money if they were bounced around. Chevy's ride also enables truck owners to revise their buying habits and work their trucks longer before they trade. This follows naturally. The trucks take less of a beating. There's less stress on sheet metal. Less abuse to tires. Less pounding to wear out parts before their time. The upshot of it is you either save money or earn more of it, or both. And you couldn't ask a truck to do more than that. See your dealer.

Marriage

MacKinnon — Height
Trinity Church, Digby, was the scene of a pretty autumn wedding when Rev. James Pike, in a double ring ceremony, united in marriage Edna Marjorie Height, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert White, of Digby, and John William MacKinnon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy MacKinnon, Sackville, N. B.
Miss Bonnie Wright, of Digby, rendered the nuptial music, and the soloist was Mrs. Gerald Wilson, of Digby.
The bride entered the church on the arm of her step-father, Herbert White, by whom she was given in marriage.

Her floor length gown was of white peau-de-soie and chantilly lace. The fitted torso featured a beaded lace scooped neckline, with long sleeves ending in points over the hands. Lace panels accented the bouffant skirt which was slightly entraine over hoop. Her elbow length veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a tiara of rhinestones and pan pearls. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls. She carried a cascade of red roses.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Robert Fabelle, and bridesmaid, Joan White, sisters of the bride, wore identical gowns of pale blue chiffon, head dress and mitts to match, and carried white carnations with a tint of blue. The little flower girl, Pamela Harris, cousin of the bride, looked adorable in a white satin dress with full skirt and trimmed with blue bows and carried a basket of pink sweetheart roses.

The groom was supported by his brother, Muir MacKinnon. The guests were ushered to their pews by friends of the groom.
The bride's mother, wore a sheath dress of winter white with green accessories and corsage of yellow roses. The groom's mother chose a navy suit, pale blue accessories, and wore a beige fur jacket and corsage of pink roses.
Following the ceremony a reception for 75 guests was held at the church hall, where the Ladies' Guild prepared delicious refreshments. They were served by relatives and friends of the Pouring were Mrs. Merrill Harris and Mrs. Keith Dunn, aunts of the bride.

The hall was tastefully decorated with streamers and wedding bells by Mrs. Ralph Wright, Digby.
For the trip around the Cabot Trail the bride chose a mocha sheath dress with matching Borg jacket, green accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.
On their return they will reside in Sackville, N. B., where the groom is employed with the Sackville Enterprise Foundry and the bride is on the nursing staff of the Sackville Memorial Hospital.
They were recipients of many lovely gifts.
Out of town guests were from Sackville, Halifax and Lunenburg.

THE TOWN COUNCIL —

there representing you people.
I presume Mr. Turnbull was there representing their Fire Department as their secretary and Mr. VanTassel, and at that time the Fire Department suggested that they would like to come out, that they felt embarrassed because they couldn't go out and they would like the situation cleared up. We talked over figures and they suggested $600. or $700. a total fee and they would buy additional equipment and use it for the Municipality and we could both benefit.

We went over it pretty thoroughly and then a second time we went over the same thing, and I couldn't see the use of it at that, the fact that this request should be put before this Council of the Town, the Council should act on it. That procedure would be best.

Mayor: Would you be prepared to recommend anything to the Council tonight?

Bent: Before we can bring anything concrete in, we have to find out something about the cost of what you people want or what the Municipal Council wants to pay.

Specific figures on how much would cost, how much by trip or by the year, either $75.00 or $100.00 or whatever. So far we haven't been able to put any
much other districts pay and the other districts that are similar to our situation. They charge $110.00 a trip. (Referring to a district in N. B. about the same size as this). It would take quite a bit of investigation.

Anthony: Could this be done in time to give the Municipal Council answers before they meet?

Mayor: How soon could your executive meet?

Woolaver: You would have to secure a definite figure. They would have to rate for it. They can't ask for 1, 2 or 3 possibilities then call another meeting to fix an amount, per year. They have to rate for that and they have to collect their taxes for that year.

Mayor: There are quite a number of problems connected with this situation that will have to be ironed out before a decision by this Council can be made. We have a motion that that matter be left with the Fire Committee and the executive of the Fire Department, if they will meet as quickly as possible together concerning the specific requests contained in Mr. Taylor's presentation. We could convene a special meeting as soon after that is done as possible to finalize the thing.
Is there any further discussion on this matter?

McKenna: If there is any new equipment to be bought, it would be necessary to call a ratepayers' meeting.

Taylor: I would like to mention for the benefit of those here, the plan was to get a fund built up for the Fire Department so they could buy a specific piece of equipment to be used only in those districts.

It is proposed that it will be a sum of say $600. or $700.
given to the Fire Department from the Municipality for the purpose of buying a specific piece of equipment.

Mayor: Is this over and above the amount of the annual figure.

Taylor: No.

Mayor: I see, yes.

Is there any further discussion.

Question: That the matter of provision of fire protection for outside areas as requested by the Committee be left with the Fire Committee and the executive of the Fire Department to report to Council.

Declared a vote.

Mayor: Well, gentlemen, I think Mr. Bent will see to it that a meeting is held just as quickly as possible. Perhaps it might be advisable to call one of these gentlemen in on our meeting if you require information from them that the Fire Department may not have.

Bent: I feel that some of you people should be at the meeting.

Taylor: I thank you very much for receiving this committee.

Mr. Snow: Your Worship, members of the Council. I thought I would come up and have a talk regarding a letter
I received in regard to repairing the fence and property between the Turnbull and Margolian buildings. The other matter was in regard to a retaining wall. I don't think that was contained in the letter but I heard it read tonight in the minutes. The thing that comes to mind first is that I understood that the fence was put there by the Town in the first place and as I remembered I have seen two or three years ago or not too long ago when the Town did take a piece out of the fence for the purpose of putting snow over the bank. It is of some importance to me, some considerable importance to know where my property is there. Where is the dividing line between Town property and my property because my deed reads . . . The same thing applies to the other property there.
I have no property there.
It makes quite a difference as to where one property butts into the other and you see one meets the other so it is relevant.

Your Turnbull property goes to the front also, not so many feet from the north side. The cutting line is . . . there. I would like to know where the dividing line is between the fence and my property or is it the exact dividing line. As far as the retaining wall is concerned, what is the question on that?

Mayor: Next to the Margolian or Troop property, approximately 8 or ten feet on the Snow property the wall is falling out on the bank and will finally undermine the sidewalk.

Snow: It is supposed to run pretty well up to that building.
It is supposed to be 2 or 3 feet of the Turnbull property and mine, supposed to be, that is, from the Turnbull building.

Mayor: How about the retaining wall? Is that on your property?

Snow: When I bought that property I suggested to Mr.
Troop that he take part of it but he didn't seem to be too interested in it. As far as the fence is concerned, the people sit on it and bang it about. That solves the problem about the fence. I don't know if it is yours or mine.

Woolaver: The Town should be interested in that fence. If that fence isn't there and any people, any person could fall off and . . .

Snow: There is no more reason to have a fence there than to have a fence between the Salvation Army and the band stand. The cars park there. In all of the years that there was never any fence there, there was never an accident. Is that facing your responsibility or is it not?

Is this on Town property or is it on my property.

The other question is the retaining wall.

Is it the concern of the Town or is it Mr. Troop's concern?

Mayor: How does Mr. Troop come in?

Snow: Someone said to me once that Mr. Troop was interested.

Anthony: Aren't you responsible for the retaining wall along there?

Mayor: It could wash away.
You have no interest in fencing it?

Snow: I would just as soon
see it taken down.

Woolaver: I think we actually should decide something on this . . .

Mayor: Have you anything in mind?

Snow: I would just as soon see it taken down. They sit on it at night.

Woolaver: Somebody should take some action on that before the sidewalk goes out and somebody falls down over the hill and lands on the bank.

That is what the Chief of Police brought to the Council two or three different times.

Chief: I didn't mean it was that bad at the present time.

Snow: If somebody on the committee would like to meet with me we could probably come to some agreement to fix it up.

Woolaver: Leave it to the Streets Committee to find out what is wrong pertaining to the retaining wall and to see what action is necessary to have it repaired.

Snow: I am willing to discuss it with the Committee. Look it over.

Mayor: Is there a second to Mr. Woolaver's motion?

Anthony: Except that they find out whose is whose.

Mayor: Is there a second to the motion?

Snow: There is another aspect to that motion.

Mayor: We have a motion,
Mr. Snow, that has not been seconded. The Council will discuss this motion. Mr. Snow, now we have a seconder.

Is there any further discussion on this motion.

Question: The Streets Committee meet with Mr. Snow in respect to the abutment repairs.

Snow: I heard you read there abutment repairs only.

Mayor: That was the motion.
It didn't have anything to do with the fence.

Snow: Is it in order to say something about that property in respect to assessment?

New Polio Vaccine Requires No Needle

A Public Health Nurse of Costa Rica's National Health Service administers oral vaccine against poliomyelitis to a child of one of the houses in her district. These new vaccines are made with attenuated or "tamed" strains of live rather than killed poliovirus and are taken by mouth and not by injection. They are usually given in the form of pills or in fruit-flavored syrups. Costa Rica is only one of several Latin American nations now using oral vaccine in campaigns against polio.

The Pan American Sanitary Bureau, operating arm of the Pan American Health Organization, and Regional Office for the Americas of the World Health Organization, assists the countries in combating this crippling disease.

Digby Driver In National

Three Maritime truck drivers with a combined record of over 20 years and one million miles of accident-free driving will represent the Maritime provinces at the annual National Truck Roadshow in Toronto, November 19th.

All three are 1960 champions of the Maritime Truck Roadshow sponsored by the Maritime Motor Transport Association at Amherst on September 17 last. Outstanding among the three is Richard Frederick Shaw, of Truro, N. S., a driver for Eastern Transport Ltd., who holds a 12-year, 700,000 mile accident-free record and three Maritime Roadshow championships. Driver Shaw won the single axle semi-trailer competition at Amherst in 1958, 1959 and 1960. He placed second in the National Roadshow in 1958.

Douglas Churchill Roy, also a resident of Truro and driver for Hartley's Petroleum Transport Ltd., Westfall, N. S., will compete in the tandem axle semi-trailer class as holder of the 1960 Maritime Championship. Driver Roy has a five-year, 350,000 mile accident-free record.

Youngest of the trio is Ronald Irwin Winchester of Digby, N. S., driver for Winchester's Transfer, with a four-year, 100,000 mile accident-free record. He will compete in the straight truck class as holder of the Maritime championship. The three drivers will be accompanied at the Roadshow by C. W. Moffatt, secretary-manager of the Maritime Motor Transport Association, Sackville, N. B.

Missionary Conducts Services

On October 31st and November 1st, in Little River Baptist Church, Rev. H. M. Percy, of the Sudan Interior Mission, conducted a series of missionary meetings on Africa.

Both Monday and Tuesday evenings Mr. Percy had meetings specially prepared for young folks, with two films, one "The Story of Ten Shillings" and the other, "Kent Academy", the story of a home for missionaries' children in Nigeria.

Tuesday afternoon Mr. Percy spoke to the WMS, who had invited ladies from East Ferry, Tidville, Sandy Cove and Centreville, on the cost of missionary work, and the cost of being a missionary.

Monday night the message was entitled "On Freedom's Road" and the pictures illustrated the terrific contrast between old and new Africa regarding education and spiritual light.

Tuesday night the message centred on the contrast between Sin and Leprosy, which was followed by a film showing the magnificent work being done in Nigeria for the lepers.

Smith's Cove H. & S. Meets

The regular monthly meeting of the Smith's Cove Consolidated Home and School Association was held at the school on the evening of Tuesday, November 8. President Joseph Steadman opened the meeting with the singing of "O Canada". Miss Isabel Sidey was at the piano.

This meeting was a proud occasion for the members of the association, as this piano which was recently installed, was the result of their untiring efforts and driving enthusiasm in fulfilling an educational need of their children. It took just five short weeks to fulfill this purpose.

Mrs. Tom Milner read the minutes of the last meeting. Roll was called, with 34 members in attendance. 4 guests were also present.

A very thorough report on the investigation of the purchase of materials for the making of playground equipment was given by Mr. Richard Turnbull. This project promises to be a success under the capable leadership of Mr. Turnbull.

It was voted and approved that a prize would be given at the end of the school year to a pupil in each grade who made the most progress during the year.

It was decided to hold a Christmas party at the December meeting.

Miss Isabel Sidey was nominated as health convener; Mrs. Thomas Francis as "Founder's Day" convener; and Mrs. Dorothy Porter as "Education Week" convener.

The attendance banner was won again this month by the teacher, Mrs. K. Daley, and pupils of Grade I.

Mrs. Harold Dunn, program chairman, gave a very interesting and informative talk on adult education. Mr. Joseph Steadman, president, introduced the guest speaker of the evening.

Rev. R. Knock Addresses Men

Over 45 men attended the Christian Men's Fellowship held at New Tusk Baptist Church. Devotional service was conducted by Arnold Marshall with prayers offered by Sydney Cromwell, Gordon Prime and Wilfred E. Cosman, and scripture reading by Henry Short-life.

Hymn sing was led by Glendon Barr and a special duet, "In Jesus", was rendered by Thurston Mullen and Mrs. Harvey Mullen, of New Tusk.

Jared Frankland presided at the meeting and minutes were read by Melbourne Barr.

Following the business session Gifford Lewis introduced the guest speaker, Rev. Ralph Knock, pastor of the United Church of Weymouth. Rev. Mr. Knock commented briefly on his recent visit to the Holy Land, after which he spoke on "Influence of the Church", using the text from I Corinthians, Chapter 16:8-9.

Rev. R. R. Winchester, of Barton, thanked the speaker for the inspiring message and later pronounced the benediction.

Next meeting will again be at the New Tusk Baptist Church during December when the Men's Choir will assist in the special services.

ing, Miss June Schmidt, of Bear River.

Miss Schmidt gave an illustrated talk on her last summer's tour (two months) in various places in Europe. The slides shown by her captivated the emotions of the audience. This talk was highly interesting and educational. A very hearty applause by the audience expressed appreciation. Mrs. Dorothy Porter, on behalf of the audience, expressed a vote of thanks to Miss Schmidt.

Refreshments were served by the Smith's Cove ladies.

The next meeting will be held on December 13.

Speaks On Book Week

Mr. Wilson Reece, Bear River, East, president of Clementsvale Home & School Association, conducted the regular meeting on Wednesday, November 9th. Opening prayers were led by Mr. Chappell. Treasurer's report showed proceeds of Rummage and Harvest Sale to be $40.55. Mrs. Keith Fraser, chairman of Adult Education Committee, asked that members discuss the possibility of sponsoring courses available through Adult Education Division. Program chairman, Mrs. Helen Trimper, asked that a member from each district be responsible for one number for a December program. Mr. Chappell, delegate, gave an excellent report of Fall County Council and from this a discussion arose regarding Auxiliary Classes. These are extra classes provided for the slow learners, below average pupils who need extra help by a specially trained, kind, sympathetic, and patient teacher. Conveners of School Education and Health, Mrs. Wendell Trimper and Mrs. Frank Rawding, respectively, with Mr. C. W. Hayes as chairman, were appointed to investigate the matter and report their findings to Home & School. Mr. Hayes suggested the necessary revision and modification of school exhibition list and a committee was formed.

Mrs. Trimper introduced Miss Dorothy McKay, Regional Librarian, who spoke in connection with "Young Canada's Book Week", November 15th to 22nd.

Miss McKay showed many sample books to meet requirements of all ages. She emphasized the importance of encouraging the children to take advantage of the wonderful service the bookmobile offers, presenting the very best in literature. Miss McKay explained as good health is needed for a healthy body, so the mind needs to be enriched with the knowledge found in good books.

Mrs. Robar, on behalf of the Home & School, thanked Miss McKay for her informative address, and the meeting adjourned for the social period, when refreshments were served by the Bear River East members.

Spring Again

Misses Jeanette Cornwall and Mary Hawkins, of Digby, wondered if they should get ready for Spring when they came across a field of daisies on November 12 near Jeanette's home. Proof of their find was a bunch of more than two dozen brought to The Digby Courier.

Then from Mrs. Earl C. Potter, Bear River East, was sent proof of ripe strawberries, strawberry blossoms and blue violets found on November 11.

On the Digby Neck Road this week were picked pussy willows in bloom by Kenneth Everett.

VOLUME LXXXVI, No. 13

Snow: Is it in order to say something about that property in respect to assessment?

Mayor: If you have anything to say about the assessment of that property, you have a limited time to make an appeal to the Council if you are not satisfied with the decision of the Appeal Court. The Appeal Court sat in February and there was a limited time given. You first make your appeal to the Appeal Court.

Snow: What about the matter of street lighting?

Mayor: Have you something to say about street lighting on Second Avenue?

McKenna: We investigated the Second Avenue situation. You have the same amount of lighting as King Street. The placement is almost identical.

Snow: My opinion is, to properly light the street, you would have to have one back of the Doiron property.

McKenna: You can't put extra lights.

Mayor: You mentioned also about the light in back of your property. Mr. McKenna explained that there are the same number of lights on that street as there are on King Street. The problem is of overhanging branches. The problem now is to find out who these trees belong to.

Snow: I don't think it will solve the problem.

Mayor: Not all of the problem, but part of it.

Snow: Some of the neighbors have been complaining. It didn't bother me. (Snow mentioned something about the town water.)

Mayor: So far as water is concerned, that is the concern of the Water Commission, not the Town Council.

Business Arising From The Minutes:

Re: Fire Siren Alarm — Mayor: It was left with the Fire and Police Committee to have a meeting with the Telephone Company. These are minutes of that meeting. Perhaps we could have those minutes read. (Minutes of this meeting were read.)

Bent: We are still trying to locate these places to put these extensions. It is kind of difficult.

Mayor: It just points up the fact that we have been fortunate to have the telephone operator sound our fire alarm for us without any effort or worry on our part. It shows that it is not too simple a matter but it is in hand.

Re: Municipal Refresher Course —

Clerk: I attended the course. The course was not only very interesting but very profitable and there were several Government Department people who gave papers. (Clerk went on to give more details of the meeting.)

Mayor: We must move on to the accounts for payment.

Re: Accounts For Payment —

These accounts were read by the Clerk.

McKenna: I move they be paid.

Anthony: I second it.

Mayor: Are there any questions from Councillors not on the Financial Committee?

Hearing no questions, are you ready for the question?

Question: The bills as read be paid.

Declared a vote.

Reports of Committees:

Fire & Sewer Committee —

Bent: There were two fires in October. There was a truck (?) damaged and there was a fire under the fireplace at Dr. Black's. No damage, either one.

Sewer — They flushed out the sewer on front street recently. There have been the ordinary things but nothing of importance.

Mayor: Is someone else on the Streets Committee prepared to report?

Police Report —

Woolaver: Summary of police duties for the month of October. A total of 14 complaints were received. Eight required some field investigation. All, except one, have been terminated to the satisfaction of those concerned. As a result of investigation, five cases warranted court action. All of these have been disposed of before the court. One of these cases was under the Motor Vehicle Act, two under the Nova Scotia Liquor Act, one under the Criminal Act. There were three motor vehicle accidents.

Hallowe'en night was what one might expect. (Mentioned windows broken, traffic signs torn down.)

Mayor: Are there any questions on this report.

Mrs. H. M. Warne gave the report for the Work Committee. She told how the Digby Branch Red Cross shared in World Refugee Year by helping to provide Nova Scotia's extra 300 quilts and 250 layettes. Besides disaster supplies were sent to many parts of the world and Digby had a share in these. Being more specific to the Digby Branch, Mrs. Warne said that over 700 articles had been made in the past year besides 5,000 gauze wipes. Fifty of these articles were quilts and 34 baby blankets. It was of interest to note, said Mrs. Warne, that in 1960 the total number of quilts made by the Digby Branch Red Cross since its beginning had passed the 2,000 mark. With those given for local disaster relief the number would probably reach 2,500.

Special mention was made by Mrs. Warne of Mrs. Oscar VanTassell, who had, during the past year, produced 300 sewn articles and 24 pairs men's knitted socks. Mrs. Loran Hayden had knitted 100 articles. Miss Grace Chisholm was also given special mention and Miss Nellie Amero was mentioned for doing 3,000 gauze wipes in the past year.

Reports were given by Mrs. George Winfield for the Disaster Relief and Sick Room Equipment. Over 2,000 pieces of used clothing and 9 quilts were given to needy persons. Mrs. Winfield made a request for Christmas toys. Mrs. Lent made the report for the Ways and Means.

Robert Bearne, of the Health and Welfare Committee of the Digby Lions Club, reported 303 pints of blood donated. He presented J. J. Brittain with a citation in recognition of his donations of 20 pints of blood.

On behalf the Digby Branch, Mrs. R. B. Lent presented Dr. Hodgson with a gift in appreciation of 21 years service to the branch as President. Mrs. H. M. Warne, on behalf the Nova Scotia Division Red Cross, presented Dr. Hodgson with a citation in recognition of his many services. Dr. Hodgson was the first and continuous President of the Digby Branch since its conception at beginning World War II. He was recognized for his work with

Publishers And Editors Meet

Ralph Morton, of Dartmouth Free Press, was elected President of the Nova Scotia Weekly Newspapers Association at the annual meeting held at the Nova Scotian Hotel, Halifax, on Friday and Saturday. Mr. Morton succeeds Frank Burns, of Kentville. Other officers are T. A. M. Kirk, Yarmouth, Vice President; Jack Albon, Springhill, Secretary-Treasurer. The executive consists of Charles Albon, Springhill, Malcolm Harlowe, Bridgewater, Frank Nicholas, Shelburne, Harry Sutherland, New Glasgow, and Mrs. J. M. Wallis, Digby.

Plans were made to entertain the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association in Halifax in August 1961. Frank Burns was named chairman of the program committee and a committee to entertain the convention ladies was named to consist of Mrs. Morton, Dartmouth, Mrs. Wallis, Digby, Mrs. George Murray, Pictou and Mrs. Jack Albon, Springhill.

On Friday morning the editors made business calls in the city on clients or potential clients.

The noon hour luncheon was tendered by the Department of Trade and Industry when Hon. G. I. Smith, Minister of Highways for Nova Scotia, was guest speaker. By means of a chart Mr. Smith analyzed the condition of Nova Scotia roads today and set forth aims which he personally would like to see undertaken in the next five years as a minimum satisfactory program. He emphasized that his program as outlined was not what the government had decided to do for their decision has not been made but that it was his own personal views. Mr. Smith said "We have 15,250 miles of road in the province. Today, a total of 3,150 are paved, 7,100 are simply gravel and another 5,000 have no grading surface on them at all except the mud that was cast up on them from the ditches on the side of the road."

The speaker said there was a change of emphasis on roads in the past years. In the years 1933 to 1956 there was a total of some 2,000 miles of road paved in Nova Scotia, of which 1,400 miles were trunk road and 620 county road. In the last four years he said 1,152 miles had been paved and of that almost 900 were county roads and only 153 were trunk roads. 96 miles were Trans-Canada. The emphasis was on the secondary or county road. One of the big questions, Mr. Smith said, is where the emphasis must lie in the immediate future. To understand the problem facing the province more clearly, Mr. Smith used the chart method to present figures showing the trend of road usage, the trend of population increase in certain areas, and justification for men of British submarine based as HMCS Cornwallis during the war; chairman of the co-ordinating committee of the Red Cross Lodge at Cornwallis Veterans Affairs Hospital; Division Red Cross Executive member and later Honorary Vice President and Chairman of the Awards Committee.

Dr. Hodgson made a suitable reply to his recognitions, expressing his pleasure in having part in such valuable work and solicited assistance for his successor in office and for the work of the Red Cross in general.

Warne (right), convener of the work committee, presented Dr. Hodgson with a citation from the Nova Scotia Division of the Canadian Red Cross.

School Boards Reject Request

Salary increase proposals and a proposal involving accumulative sick leave, presented by the Digby local of the Nova Scotia Teachers' Union, have been rejected by the Digby Regional High School Board, the Digby Municipal School Board and the Town of Digby School Commissioners.

The union proposals were presented to a joint meeting of the three boards. At a later meeting this week the boards decided to reject the proposals. No counter proposals were made by the boards to the union.

It is understood the salary increase proposals made by the union would mean a total salary increase over the present 1961-62 scale to the two boards of $60,613.00. Increase for the county schools would be $34,930.50. For the Digby primary elementary schools the increase would be $8,935.00 and for the Digby Regional High School it would be $14,747.50. The total increase for the town school system would be $23,682.50.

Under the present scale the total of teachers' salaries for the municipality for 1961-62 would be $151,772.50. The union proposed scale would increase this to $188,702.50. In the Digby Regional High School the 1961-62 total under the present scale would be $110,772.00. The union scale would raise this to $125,519.50. For the Digby primary elementary school the 1961-62 total present scale would be $53,220.00 and the union proposed scale would raise this to $62,155.00.

On a division of costs between the town and municipality, the union proposals would mean an increase for 1961-62 of $52,905.50 to the municipality of Digby and an increase of $7,707.50 to the town of Digby. This would mean an increase of 54 cents on the hundred dollars of assessment in the municipality and an increase of 20.2 cents on the $100 of assessment in the town, it was stated at the meeting.

The proposal regarding accumulative sick leave would provide for the accumulation of up to 190 days from sick leave not used during active teaching years. It would also provide that the plan be retroactive, either to the date when the 190 days have been accumulated or to the time when the teacher joined the staff of any school within the jurisdiction of the three boards.

Following the supper, Mr. Chester Levy led the men in a sing-song. The pastor, Rev. H. S. Hartin, introduced the guest speaker for the occasion, Dr. T. E. McDormand, Executive Vice-President of Acadia University. Dr. McDormand, who is a native of Bear River, spoke briefly of some phases of the progress of the University, and then gave a highly interesting account of his trip last summer to South America during which he attended the meetings of the Baptist World Alliance at Rio de Janeiro. His address was vividly illustrated by a collection of colored slides showing persons and scenes taken on his trip.

Mr. E. Scott Eaton thanked the speaker for his informative talk and expressed the hope that Dr. McDormand might make a

ABOUT THIS AND THAT

Almost Parallel

The cause of many highway accidents can be put down to carelessness. The cause of many hunting accidents can also be put down to carelessness.

Highway accidents have undoubtedly increased because there are many more cars on the road and many more persons are driving the cars. The cause of hunting accidents can probably also be attributed to the fact that more hunters are attempting to enjoy the sport of the woods whether they are capable of handling a gun or not.

The careless driver on the highway is a menace to the public. He is a menace to the pedestrian and to occupants of other vehicles. Hunters have been known to not only mistake other hunters but they have been known to endanger the lives of passengers on trains, passengers in cars or the person taking a casual stroll through nature's green mantle.

Seldom has a driver of a vehicle gone out with deliberate intent to kill or injure. The same can be said of the hunter. Somewhere ignorance or carelessness has been the underlying factor of most of the highway and hunting accidents. We, therefore, wonder whether a hunter in order to get a permit to enjoy his favorite sport should not undergo a similar test or examination to that of the person seeking a driving license. At least the effort in obtaining a license would make the hunter more mindful of the dangers of handling guns and ammunition.

The hunting season, while well along without mishap in our County for the present year, has still plenty of time to take its toll. We therefore re-write the following sensible rules for the hunter's benefit —

Always treat every gun with as much respect as if it was loaded. Carry it unloaded, in a case, to the shooting area. Be sure the barrel and action are free of obstructions, and that you have the proper-sized ammunition. Carry the gun in the woods so that if you stumble you can control the direction of the muzzle. In any event, keep the "safety" on until you are ready to fire. Never climb a tree or clamber through a fence or jump a ditch with a loaded gun. Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot. Never fire a rifle at a flat hard surface or the surface of water, for fear of the bullet ricocheting. Avoid alcoholic drinks before and during the hunt.

And most important of all, be certain what you are shooting at before you pull the trigger — never fire at a dark shadowy form on the ground or up a tree, and never fire in the direction of a sound in the woods, even if you have seen a deer there only a moment before.

Take extra special care in identifying a target beyond question toward the end of a day's hunting — because physical and nervous tiredness, plus the hour-long straining of eyesight, can cause the eyes to play wishful tricks that will make almost any clump of bushes — or even a human — look like a deer.

What To Do

With Highway Safety Week coming up in the first part of December rules for safe driving will be set forth in these columns and in many others. We can only hope the weeks until then will be safe, and that week and the weeks after also will be safe. But just in case there are accidents and somebody arrives on the scene, what are they supposed to do? We have often wondered how many people know what to do or have even been concerned about procedure in such a case. Many of us have encountered accidents while driving along and have thanked our lucky stars that things were under control when we arrived on the scene.

But just suppose that you, dear reader, were the first to arrive? What would be the correct thing to do?

Your first impulse is to run to the car and start hauling people out. Don't, we are told. You may do more harm than good. Park your car far enough away to protect it, and then take a second to think. It is often more important to protect the scene of the accident than to go immediately to the injured. Flag down the first cars travelling in both directions and have them slow down the on-coming traffic.

As soon as you reach the wreck, turn off the ignition to prevent fire. Fire in wiring usually begins smoldering under the hood or dashboard. Don't let this panic you into moving the injured. Disconnect the battery, locate the fire and attack it with a fire extinguisher, dirt or a blanket.

If the victims are hurt, leave them in their car until the trained help comes. Don't move them in any way and if they are lying on the road, leave them there and take steps to guard them from traffic. Call passing cars and send them in opposite directions to find telephones and call the police.

While waiting for the ambulance, if you are skilled in first aid you may render assistance. If you are not, you can put coats or blankets over the victims to keep them warm, and without tugging or moving the victims, loosen belts or collars to help them breathe easily. Send someone to find boards on which trained first aiders can carry the injured if an ambulance fails to arrive. If possible, locate a truck on which they may be carried if quick transportation is needed. And assure the victims that help is coming.

Fishing In Nova Scotia

(Other features to follow)

In its own quiet way, the Nova Scotia commercial fishing industry has been undergoing some outstanding changes and expansion in the past few years.

Fish landings in Nova Scotia have steadily increased over the years and the value of the fishing industry — always an important segment of the province's economy — has been boosted to new heights.

The favorable climate in which the industry finds itself has been created largely by the fishermen and fish processors themselves.

Successful fishermen are combining fishing skill with sound business practices to increase their catches and profit. The fish processors are employing modern methods to produce their products economically and to expand their markets, thus complementing the cycle of supply and demand.

In certain fields the fishermen and processors have been greatly aided by the fisheries division of the Nova Scotia department of trade and industry.

The fisheries division has been working closely with fishermen in efforts to increase catches by adopting new fishing methods and improving old ones. Fishermen themselves have become more efficient through training programs offered by the division, and through financial assistance from the division for boats and equipment. The division also assists fish processors through loans.

Without loans from the division, many of the boats now turning in profits would never have been built and many fish plants, which provide markets for the fish and employment for hundreds, would never have reached present production rates.

The fisheries division has on its staff men who can offer technical advice and who have first hand knowledge of the fishermen's problems. Many persons employed by the division have had experience at sea. The director of the division, Brian Meagher, worked as a commercial fisherman in his youth.

In keeping pace with the changing times, some of the older methods of fishing have disappeared, some new methods have been introduced and improvements have been made on old methods still in use.

The day of longlining is almost over in Nova Scotia due to the contrariness of fish which are refusing to take baited hooks. The versatile longliners, however, are not being tossed on the scrap heap.

More and more longliners are being converted to carry out Danish seining, a method of fishing introduced in Nova Scotia by the fisheries division in co-operation with fishermen, to fill the gap that would have been left by the disappearance of the longliner.

Barely out of the experimental stage, Danish seining has proved itself twice as successful as longlining and to date there are 42 Danish seiners — many of them converted longliners — in the Nova Scotia fleet.

A big problem facing fishermen and experts today concerns the size of fishing boats. The trend has been to larger vessels and the question is what's going to happen now? Is it feasible to build bigger boats, and if so, how big?

The men in the industry have taken the initiative in looking for an answer to these questions. Convinced that large boats are needed to step up production, they have been placing orders for ships more than 100 feet in length to fish out on the banks.

As an indication of what has been happening in the fishing industry, landings have increased from 380,162,000 pounds in 1948 to 424,606,000 pounds in 1959. Landed value of the fish has jumped from $19,070,000 in 1948 to $27,129,000 in 1959.

In 1948 there were 14,915 fishermen working out of Nova Scotia in 5,669 vessels, not including sail and row boats. In 1957, the latest year for which there are figures, 15,265 fishermen were sailing out of Nova Scotia in 5,811 boats, not including sail and row boats.

Question: The report of the Police Committee be received. Declared a vote.

Report of Streets Committee — Councillor VanTassell is not here.

McKenna: Neither of us have a report.

Report of Relief Committee — Anthony: Eight families received financial relief to the amount of $316.30. I move the adoption of this report.

Mayor: Any further discussion of Mrs. Anthony's report. Are you ready for the question?

The report of the Relief Committee be received. Declared a vote.

Relief Accounts: Read by Clerk.

Mayor: Will someone move that these be paid.

Regularly moved and seconded that these be paid.

Any discussion of the Relief Accounts?

Question: The Relief Accounts be paid as read. Declared a vote.

Other Committees — License Committee: Woolaver: There is nothing to report.

Health Report — Clerk: I have a report dated November 1, 60 on water and milk and everything satisfactory throughout.

Building Permits: R. D. Landers and J. C. Hall.

Mayor: What is your pleasure Council with respect to first that of Mr. David Landers?

Anthony: I move that permission be granted to Mr. Landers according to plans and specifications. Seconded.

Mayor: Is there any discussion?

Question: As stated. Declared a vote.

Mayor: Now, the request of Mr. Charles Hall. Is there a mover and seconder.

Woolaver: I move that Mr. Hall, where he has his building pretty well completed, should have a permit to build.

Mayor: Regularly moved and seconded that the request of J. C. Hall be granted.

Mayor: I might say that this request has been here quite some considerable time. It is dated October 18th.

Question: As stated. Declared a vote.

Correspondence: Clerk: There is the usual letter that they send out for the Town to advise of any events that are taking place.

Mayor: Perhaps this could be drawn to the attention of the Board of Trade.

Is that satisfactory to the Council?

Mayor: We have correspondence from Charles W. Thompson. He has a motorized snow plow with 26,000 miles previously used at Yarmouth, for $2,200.00.

The letter could be turned

THE — Digby Courier

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1960

over to the Streets and Public Properties Committee for investigation if they so desire.

Civil Defence: Mayor reported on conference at Annapolis.

Clerk: This letter is addressed to the Town Council of Digby.

Clerk read letter from Girls Hi-Y of Digby Regional High School requesting permission to sell ball point pens to the public to support the World Refugee Fund. The letter was signed by Carolyn Murley.

Mayor: What is your decision in respect to this matter? The purpose is to raise money for the World Refugee Fund.

Anthony: I move that the Girls Hi-Y of the Digby Regional High School be given permission to sell ball point pens to aid the World Refugee Fund on November 18th and 19th.

Question: As stated. Declared a vote.

New Business: Clerk: The first item of new business is that of Charles Hersey, power pole, Queen St.

Mr. Hersey explained to me there is a power pole in the front of his driveway in front of his garage. He has spoken to the Power Board and they agreed that something should be done about it. He wondered if it be brought to the attention of the Town Council perhaps some action could be taken on it.

McKenna: He built that house there about four years ago.

Mayor: Could perhaps this matter be left with the Electric Light Committee to deal with? Perhaps we could have a motion.

Anthony: I would move that the matter be turned over to the Light Committee to deal with it.

Woolaver: I second it.

Mayor: Any discussion? Question: As stated. Declared a vote.

Re: The "Cornwallis Cafe" outside porch — Mayor: Mr. Wong came to me the other day and asked if he could have permission to put a small outside porch on his building for the winter.

Marriage

Franklin — Jefferson

A pretty fall wedding took place at Hill Grove Baptist Church Tuesday, November 1st, at 7:30 p.m., when Eva Marilyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Jefferson, Rossway, became the bride of Harold Philip Franklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Franklin Sr., of Hill Grove.

The bride looked lovely as she entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore a floor length gown of all white nylon net and lace over rayon taffeta with matching long sleeves which came to a point at the wrist. Her finger tip veil was of nylon tulle with lace edging and halo of simulated pearls and iridescent sequins. Her only ornament was an engraved heart shaped locket, gift of the groom. She carried a semi-cascade of sweetheart roses on white satin streamers.

The bride was attended by her sisters, Mrs. Carl Franklin and Mrs. John George as matrons of honour. Mrs. Franklin wore a ballerina length dress of blue nylon tulle with matching stole and headpiece. She carried a nosegay of pink and white mums. Mrs. George was dressed in a ballerina length dress of peach nylon tulle and matching headpiece. Her nosegay was of yellow and white mums.

The groom was attended by his brother, Carl Franklin. Ushers were Thomas Franklin Jr., brother of the groom, and Willard Jefferson, cousin of the bride.

The double ring ceremony, performed by Rev. H. S. Hartlin, took place under an arch of evergreen, trimmed with white bells and streamers, with baskets of flowers on either side.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. John Nichols, aunt of the groom, and little Wendy Franklin sang "O Promise Me" and "The Wedding Prayer".

Following the ceremony a reception for over one hundred guests was held at the Church Hall, which was tastefully decorated for the occasion. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered, pillared wedding cake, flanked on either side by tall white candles in silver holders. Following the tradition cut by the bride and groom the wedding cake was cut for serving by Mrs. Eldon Wynn and Mrs. Orbin Minard. Rev. H. S. Hartlin proposed the toast to the bride, which was appropriately responded to by the groom. Mrs. Joseph Jefferson, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. John Nichols, aunt of the groom, poured. Those serving were friends of the bride and groom.

The mother of the bride wore a champagne sheath dress of embroidered rayon bengaline with portrait collared jacket and matching accessories. She wore a corsage of pink carnations.

The mother of the groom was dressed in blue taffeta with all-over hand-painted design. She wore matching accessories and her corsage was of red carnations.

For travelling the bride wore a two-piece green wool suit with beige accessories.

The bride's gift to the groom was an engraved sterling silver bracelet. Gifts were also presented to the attendants, ushers, organist and soloist.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. John George and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert George, Jr., Miss Jean Cook, Mr. John Sturrock, of Halifax; Mr. and Mrs. James Franklin and Douglas, of the Northwest Territories; Mrs. Cora Foley, of Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Wynn and family and Mrs. Fred Wynn, of New Germany; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Franklin Jr. and family, of Greenwood.

A medal was sent to Mr. Connor by the Royal Navy, commending him for his long years of service in the cause for Temperance. As well as being the recipient of his service medal he was appointed Scout Master by the late Baden Powell, while aboard the HMS Suffolk at Malta, in the year 1906.

It is under their auspices that this special meeting was held.

Furthermore, Mr. Connor was instrumental in getting the Royal Naval Orphanage established at Stoke. He is also a Free Mason and is the oldest living blue jacket having joined the Royal Navy August 1, 1896.

He was promoted to Petty Officer first class, and was presented with the King Edward Coronation Medallion on May 2, 1902.

His experiences since that time have been many and varied. During the First World War he served in a number of ways as follows: HMS Temeraire, Impregnable, Vivid Carysport, again on the Vivid, then the Hibernia flag ship and later landed in a hospital in Chatham. From there he was invalided home in 1917.

The Most Worthy Patriarch stated, on presenting additional medals that, quote, After such distinguished and eventful career, all of which I have not given you. I feel that as a member of the Sons of Temperance, I am deeply grateful in having this opportunity to bring such an honor to our order by presenting to you, Mr. Connor, now retired Master at Arms, Royal Navy, the following awards: The Fidelity Star, The Three Year Star and the Victory Medal. This last Medal carries with it a bar for the first 10 years and one for every succeeding 5, until to night we have the pleasure of presenting to you 11 bars, end of quote.

In Memoriam

BUDD — In loving memory of mother and dad, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Budd, Seabrook, who passed away Jan. 4, 1955 and Nov. 30, 1955.

One by one they go before us. They are fading like the dew. But we know they're watching over us.

They, the good, the fair, the true.

They are watching for us only. Where no pain can ever mar. Dear ones, who left us lonely. Watch us through the gates afar.

There a father, there a mother. Gone within those gates afar. — Always loved and remembered by daughter, Bertie Budd. 13:1c

BUDD — In loving memory of our dear parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elisha K. Budd, Seabrook, who passed away Jan. 4, 1955 and Nov. 30, 1955.

Remembrance is a golden chain. Death tries to break but all in vain.

To have, to love and then to part. Is the greatest sorrow of our hearts.

A beautiful memory of them so dear. We cherish still with love sincere.

A day that comes with sad regret. To ones that we will never forget.

We miss their love, their cheery ways. With them we spent our happiest days.

In memory we see them just the same. As long as we live we will cherish their names.

Looking back with tenderness. As down life's path we tread. We bless the years we had with them.

And leave the rest to God. — Always loved and remembered by their six sons and four daughters. 13:1c expenditures. Mr. Smith brought to the attention of the audience the narrow bridges which needed to be replaced, not only on county roads but on the trunk roads themselves, where there are still 60 such bridges. Then, he said, we are now running into something which until recently did not assume large proportions, that is the need of repaving the roads which were first laid down. The ordinary life of a road is 20 years, he said. But you cannot ignore the county roads even if they have low traffic volume as the people who live on them have a right to attention in this matter.

The program which Mr. Smith outlined as satisfactory was for a five year period and would cost roughly $85,000,000. That is expenditure at the rate of $17,000,000 a year or $3,000,000 a year more than has been spent. In Mr. Smith's closing words, "Do you want more roads at the expense of paying more taxes, or is it better to put up with the rate of improvement which you have had over the last four years and leave the sources of revenue as they are? I ask you to keep in mind that it costs money to build roads and you and I and all the citizens of Nova Scotia are the

Ecker — Moore

On November 12 St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church, Digby, was the scene of a pretty wedding when Paula Christine, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Moore (Sr.), of Deep Brook, became the bride of Robert George, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis George Ecker, of Digby.

Rev. Luc Gaudett solemnized the double ring ceremony. The organist was Mrs. Eric Adams, of Deep Brook. The bridesmaid was Miss Betty Ecker (sister of the groom). Best man was Lawrence Comeau, of RCAF, Greenwood.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street length brocaded satin dress, fashioned with long sleeves and scoop neckline. Her shoulder veil was of white illusion attached to a pearl studded tiara, and she carried an arm bouquet of pink sensation roses.

Donald Ecker (brother of the groom) and Gerry Connelly, were altar boys.

Douglas Doucette and Joseph Ameriault were the ushers. Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church hall. The groom's father proposed the toast to the bride. Mrs. James Earl, of St. Margaret's Bay, poured. Mrs. Charles Mason and Miss Sandra Adams served the guests. Miss Margaret Mason, Halifax, was in charge of the guest book.

Later, the couple left via Princess Helene for Boston and New York.

For travelling the bride wore a light blue dress with black accessories. Her corsage was of pink and white mums.

On their return they will reside in Halifax, where the groom is draughtsman at H.M.C. Dockyard.

Obituaries

Clarence Augustus Sabean.

The community of South Range, N. S., was shocked and saddened on Friday, November 11, to learn of the sudden passing of Clarence Augustus Sabean at his home here. He was 70 years of age.

Mr. Sabean was the son of the late Benjamin and Eliza (Haight) Sabean and was born at South Range where he spent his entire life. Mr. Sabean, who for many years was engaged in the logging business, was widely known throughout the province. Being of a kind and jovial nature, always ready to lend a helping hand to others, he leaves a host of friends to whom he was known as Gus.

He was a faithful member of the South Range Church of Christ Disciples where he served for a number of years as elder and Sunday School superintendent.

bean formerly of Weymouth, N.S., one son Lawrence, South Range; two daughters (Myrtle) Mrs. Louis Wilson, Conway, and Mildred at home; seven grandchildren and two great grandchildren. Also surviving are a brother, Isaiah Sabean, North Bend, Wash., two sisters, Mrs. Hantford Marshall, Barton and Mrs. Harry C. Lewis, Weymouth North, as well as several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held in the South Range Church of Christ on Monday, November 14, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Lorne Nethercott, assisted by Rev. J. W. Derby, Freeport, and Rev. Wm. Fermer, Bear River, N. S.

Hymns sung were "The End of the Way", by the choir, a duet, "Take My Hand, Blessed Lord", by Mrs. Ralph MacNeil and Hubert Shortliffe, while as a conclusion to his words of comfort Mr. and Mrs. Nethercott sang "How Great Thou Art", a favorite of the deceased.

Pall bearers were six nephews, Gilbert, Eli and Arnold Marshall, Glidden and Donald Lewis, and Darrell Porter.

Interment was in the South Range cemetery. Floral tributes were many and beautiful.

Mrs. Burton Shortliffe

The death occurred at her home in Central Grove, Digby County, on November 15, of Annie, wife of Burton Shortliffe. Born 70 years ago, she was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Delaney. She lived her entire life in this village where for many years she was Postmistress, retiring only six weeks ago. Although in failing health her death came as a shock to her many friends.

She was a devoted member and former Clerk of the Central Grove Baptist Church, and until her death, treasurer of the Sunday School. She was also a member of the WMS and Freeport Rebekah Lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Shortliffe had planned to celebrate the 50th anniversary of their wedding on November 23.

Survivors are her husband; an only son, Ivan, a member of the staff of The Chronicle-Herald, Halifax; one sister, Helen (Mrs. Dalton Stevens), Port Maitland, Yarmouth County; one brother, Llewellyn, White Head, Grand Manan, N. B., and five grandchildren. Harold, Ruth, Margaret, David and Nancy Shortliffe, Halifax.

The largely attended funeral was held from the Central Grove Baptist Church, with Rev. Mr. Ideson and the Rebekah Lodge conducting. Favorite hymns of the deceased, "How Great Thou Art" and "Beyond The Sunset" were rendered by the Freeport Choir. Floral pieces were many and beautiful testifying to the esteem in which the deceased was held. Interment was in the Central Grove Cemetery.

When you bake at home, try these tender, puffy braided rolls — with the sophisticated accent of toasted seeds. Try them soon! And for finest results always use Fleischmann's Yeast.

RICH SEED BRAIDS

1. Scald $\frac{1}{2}$ c. milk. Cool to lukewarm.
2. Meantime, measure into small bowl $\frac{1}{2}$ c. lukewarm water. Stir in 1 tsp. granulated sugar. Sprinkle with contents of 1 envelope Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast or 1 cake Fleischmann's compressed yeast, crumbled. Let stand 10 mins. THEN stir well.
3. Cream $\frac{1}{2}$ c. butter or Blue Bonnet Margarine. Gradually blend in $\frac{1}{2}$ c. granulated sugar, $\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. salt. Add and beat in, one at a time 2 eggs, 1 egg white. Stir in dissolved yeast, lukewarm milk and 2 c. once-sifted all-purpose flour. Beat until smooth and elastic. Work in an additional $\frac{2}{3}$ c. (about) once-sifted all-purpose flour.
4. Turn out on floured board; knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl. Grease top. Cover. Let rise in warm place free from draft, until doubled in bulk — about $1\frac{1}{4}$ hrs.
5. Punch down dough. Turn out on floured board; knead until smooth. Divide into 2 equal portions. Shape into rolls 9" long; cut into 9 slices. Divide each slice into 3 pieces; roll each piece into a 5" rope. Braid 3 ropes together to make each bun; seal ends. Arrange, well apart, on greased cookie sheets. Grease tops. Cover with towel. Let rise until doubled — about 40 minutes. Brush with a mixture of 1 egg yolk and 1 tbsp. water; sprinkle with caraway, poppy or sesame seeds. Bake in moderately hot oven, 375°, 12 to 15 minutes. Yield: 1 1/2 dozen braids.

Says Minas Ferry Forgotten

D. F. Archibald, chairman of the Minas Basin Ferry Committee of the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade, told the semi-annual meeting of the boards last Wednesday that he was "discouraged and bitter" with respect to progress being made toward establishing the ferry service.

The whole thing has possibly been pigeon-holed in Ottawa and "may remain there forever," he said. "Apparently no one in Ottawa thought it had anything to do with getting re-elected."

It would appear the people in Ottawa "don't give a hoot" about the economic wellbeing of western Nova Scotia, Mr. Archibald said.

He said although AVAET had been working on a number of major projects for the past five or six years they were getting nowhere. He suggested that a list be made of these projects and a decision made to concentrate on one of them until it had been completed.

He said an engineering survey had shown the Minas ferry project to be a sound one both from an engineering standpoint and economically. Only a small annual subsidy would be required.

In answer to questions, Mr. Archibald said it would be less than useless to work for a ferry service subject to tides. The proposed ferry service, he said, would almost have a year-round operation.

Concluding, he said that unless there was a change in the present attitude he would make no more reports. He said, however, that the province's attitude toward the ferry service was good, and a proposal had been made to Ottawa that the province supply the boat and subsidy with the federal government building the wharf.

Clarence Thompson, valley truck fleet operator, said AVAET should urge additional ferry service from Yarmouth to Bar Harbor and stress the importance of the establishment of a new ferry service for transport and railway cars from Digby to Saint John without delay.

He said the Bluenose trips should be increased to at least five a week during the winter. A hardship was being worked on western Nova Scotia industry through the reduction of the number of transport trucks being carried on the ferry to 9 from 12.

Speaking of the Minas Basin ferry, Mr. Thompson disagreed with the AVAET stand on its importance and said the matter should be dropped.

He said that the provincial government should be urged instead to spend the money on improvement to the valley road from Halifax to Wolfville and build a new road from Windsor to Truro through Maitland, thus cutting 26 miles off the present route.

Such expenditure, he said, would be revenue-producing and would not entail continuing subsidy. This highway, he said, would serve not only the valley but also the South Shore.

J. C. McCuaig, manager of the Dominion Atlantic Railway, said the last survey regarding the Digby to Saint John ferry now had been completed. Problems of engineering, except that of securing a suitable boat and determining the Nova Scotia terminus, are resolved.

The results of further study in connection with the ship and terminus will reveal the economic feasibility of establishing the freight car ferry.

A resolution urging the early paving of the remaining section of Route 8 from Annapolis to Maitland Bridge, introduced by the Annapolis Board of Trade, was passed unanimously.

A resolution urging expanded and improved winter service on the Yarmouth-Bar Harbor ferry was also passed unanimously.

The meeting also endorsed a resolution urging that local boards press their town councils to adopt Daylight Saving Time to conform with the national defence establishments in the valley.

The meeting was chaired by AVAET chairman, A. L. Robinson, of Digby, and was held in the recreation centre at HMCS Cornwallis.

Body Found At Hillsburn

The badly decomposed body of an unidentified woman was found on the Bay of Fundy shore at Hillsburn on Sunday by Merland Halliday, of that village.

According to reports, the body, which was reduced to almost a skeleton, was that of a woman five feet in height. The upper jaw contained no teeth.

Clothing discovered near the body included part of a black crepe dress adorned with black beads, pieces of a silk stocking, a garter belt and a black loafer shoe. Also found was a gold wedding ring.

Efforts are underway to determine the identity of the body and provincial government pathologists are examining the remains.

Murder Charge Is Laid

A charge of murder has been laid against Antoine Comeau, of Meteghan, following the discovery of the gun shot riddled body of Joseph Henry Robicheau, also of Meteghan, at Bear Cove Saturday afternoon.

Preliminary hearing into the charge will be held at Little Brook on Friday.

Robicheau was the object of an intensive search after he was reported missing last week. Fears of foul play were voiced following the discovery of blood stains in a hunting camp for which Robicheau and Comeau were reported heading when he was last seen on November 14th.

Both men had been in Ontario for some time and returned to Meteghan to go hunting from Robicheau's camp. They left the home of Robicheau's brother on the evening of November 14th and nothing further was heard of Robicheau until his body was found at Bear Cove Saturday.

In the meantime Comeau had been reportedly seen driving Robicheau's car around the district. The car was later found abandoned in Yarmouth. Comeau was later arrested and charged with the theft of a shotgun, the property of Robicheau's brother.

He was found guilty of the charge in magistrate's court in Little Brook and lodged in the county jail in Digby pending sentence.

Digby Firm Loses Appeal

An appeal from the Digby lobster firm of C. D. Snow Co. Ltd. for $35,000 damages from a Liberian freighter on grounds that oil from the ship killed some 35,000 lobsters was rejected on Monday by the Supreme Court of Canada. The damage claim was made up of a $25,000 claim for the loss of the live lobsters and $10,000 for loss of business.

The Supreme Court upheld a decision given by Nova Scotia Chief Justice J. L. Isley, made public on November 9, 1959, after the case was heard in Digby. Justice Isley ruled no proof had been submitted that oil from the Liberian ship was responsible.

Mr. Justice Isley assessed Mr. Snow's damages at $22,245. The amount was not questioned by the owners of the freighter Maria Luisa, but Mr. Snow appealed to the higher court for greater damages. Mr. Justice Isley found no evidence that the Maria Luisa was responsible and dismissed the case.

The Snow company claimed that oil killed lobsters while they were stored in underwater pounds in the harbour at Digby in June, 1957. At the time the firm had 70,000 pounds of live lobsters in the pound and approximately half of them died.

The Liberian freighter, Maria Luisa, arrived in Digby June 6th, after taking on fuel oil in Saint John, and remained in port here until June 14th while loading pitpots.

On June 13-14, a large quantity of "black, oily substance" was noticed on the surface of the harbour, said the evidence, but officers of the ship denied that any oil had been discharged from the ship.

The supreme court upheld Mr. Justice Isley's view that the plaintiff failed to establish that the Maria Luisa was the only source from which the oil might have come.

Coroner's Jury Blames Driver

A coroner's jury inquiring into the death of Otis Ellis, 48, of Victoria Beach, who died in a car accident on November 2nd, at Marshalltown, near Digby, Monday night brought in a verdict placing full responsibility on the driver of the vehicle, Alton Munroe, also of Victoria Beach.

The jury's verdict, which was presented by the foreman, Carl E. Seeley, read "We find that Otis Ellis came to his death in an automobile accident at Marshalltown, Digby County, Nova Scotia, on November 2nd, 1960, in a vehicle driven by Alton Munroe while under the influence of liquor. We hereby place Alton Munroe fully responsible."

The accident which claimed the life of Otis Ellis also took another life when Ronald Tufts, 17 year old son of James C. Tufts, of Weymouth Mills, passed away in the Digby General Hospital on November 7th from injuries received in the crash. Young Tufts was a passenger in his father's car when this car and the one driven by Munroe met head on at Marshalltown. The senior Tufts is still a hospital patient in Digby as a result of the accident.

Dr. D. G. Black stated in evidence at the inquest Monday evening that Otis Ellis died from suffocation. This resulted from lacerations and contusions inside his mouth and a broken jaw. He said when he examined Ellis the deceased was lying on his back across the backs of the front seats of the Munroe car.

Donald d'Ambrose, service station operator at Brighton, about a mile and a half from the accident scene, told of Munroe and Ellis being at his station shortly before the accident. He told of an altercation he had with Munroe and of an effort he had made to have someone else drive Munroe's car to Digby. He said Munroe stated no one was going to drive his car and then drove off. He stated he had known Munroe and Ellis when he had worked at Lake Louise.

Alton Munroe, who was given the protection of the court by coroner C. C. Nichol, stated he and Ellis had left Victoria Beach at either one or two o'clock on the day of the accident and had gone directly to the service station at Brighton. He said he did not remember anything that happened after leaving the service station until he woke up in the hospital in Digby. He said he and Ellis had two bottles of wine and that he had consumed about half of one bottle. He stated he had driven the car and said he did not know if Ellis knew how to drive a car.

Urge Chignecto & Fundy Service

A resolution urging that steps be taken to provide an adequate and efficient transportation system between Digby and Saint John was passed at the annual meeting of the Progressive Conservative Association for the Electoral District of Digby on Tuesday evening. In presenting the resolution Dr. D. E. Lewis said that transportation between Digby and Saint John has been a paramount problem for years, specifically to Digby, but also to the whole Annapolis Valley. He said an adequate and efficient service is needed for the transportation of goods and also for the maintenance and enlarging of the tourist industry in the area.

Eugene Outhouse, Tiverton, presented a resolution in support of constructing the Chignecto Canal. He stated the canal would be of direct advantage to Nova Scotia and New Brunswick and particularly to the ports on the Bay of Fundy. He urged that both the Nova Scotia government and the Canadian government give fullest support to the development of this project.

Another resolution passed at Tuesday night's meeting was one made by Mrs. Harold Nichols re-affirming confidence in the governments of Canada and Nova Scotia and in their leaders. Prime Minister John Diefenbaker and Premier Robert Stanfield. Also included in the resolution was an affirmation of confidence in Hon. George Nowlan, Minister of National Revenue.

Hon. George Nowlan was guest speaker and dealt with the unemployment situation. He said there are more Nova Scotians working in Nova Scotia on the 29th day of November, 1960, than there have ever been working on the 29th day of November before. He said there are 200,000 more Canadians working today than ever before and there are more wages paid out to Canadians in Canada than ever before. More money is deposited in banks than ever before. He admitted that the unemployment was also higher. But, he continued, where there was 35 percent of Canadian labor employed on farms before the war, today, with the mechanized system there is only 12 percent on farms. Much more produce is raised and sold he continued, but the automation in machine use is taking the place of ten men.

Then, the wartime population increase has caught up with us which leaves more to be unemployed, the speaker stated. Continuing on the employment situation, Mr. Nowlan said that more exports went to Great Britain in 1959 than ever before in history and 1960 saw more exports to that country than 1959. The economy of the country is expanding, actually mushrooming, but we do have unemployment, said the speaker. He followed this by the remark that a line must be drawn between those unemployed and those drawing unemployment insurance. He assured his audience that the parliamentary session is now dealing with the situation but also assured the audience that parliament was not called in emergency but the regular session was called to deal with inherited crisis. Mr. Nowlan emphasized the necessity of training in order to obtain and retain jobs in this age of mechanics and motivation. Many of the unemployed, he said, are without training and skill. The government, he said, is taking steps to provide training.

The Hon. Mr. Nowlan spoke of the tremendous expansion in housing and of the government assistance to small businesses, enabling them to compete with the larger companies. Through loans to purchase equipment, materials and make improvements the employment situation is indirectly assisted.

Another reason for unemployment, said Mr. Nowlan, was our geographical location. This has always added to winter unemployment but this is being overcome to some extent by encouraging people to carry on building in winter time. He also spoke of the opportunity of Maritimeers, if they will make use of it, in the opening of the North country.

In commenting on the American controlled companies in Canada, the Hon. Mr. Nowlan said we welcome the capital but we want to see Canadians in control. Canadians becoming executives and Canadians given the jobs. It is necessary for Canada to know what goes on in Canada and know for instance the amount of money

Residents Protest Lack Of Service

A wholesale cancellation of newspapers and periodicals is underway by the residents of Central Grove on Long Island in Digby County because of lack of any postal service for the village.

The Central Grove post office was closed on September 30th when the postmistress, Mrs. Burton Shortliffe, who has since passed away, gave up the position.

Assurance was given at that time, it is understood, that a rural route would be established to service the some twenty householders in the community and a portion of the village of Tiverton about seven miles away.

Despite repeated appeals by residents of Central Grove, however, no route has yet been established and no tenders have been called for the route.

Mrs. Horace Johnson, a resident of Central Grove, stated she had received a letter from the postal department in Ottawa stating that tenders would be called and the service established by November 11th. So far nothing has come of this, however, Mrs. Johnson says.

In order to get their mail the residents of Central Grove have to travel seven miles to the post office at Tiverton or pay to have someone deliver it. This is most inconvenient and expensive, they state, and are therefore cancelling subscriptions to newspapers and periodicals which they say are received too late to be any longer interesting.

Wins Bass Trophy

Ronald Hood, of Bear River, was recently awarded a beautiful trophy for the largest entered striped bass caught in 1960 on rod and reel.

The trophy, known as the "Annapolis County Striper Trophy", was presented by the Bridgetown Jewelry and China Ltd. It is most attractive in design with a walnut base, topped with oak on which is centered a gilded striped bass, flanked on each side by gilded figures of fishermen. The trophy was made in Bridgetown and the mountings are native wood.

Mr. Hood's winning striper was caught off his own property on the Bear River from a spot known locally as Hood's Rock. It weighed 31 pounds and its length was 43 inches with a girth of 24 inches. The winning fish was caught on September 4th.

Within that same week Mr. Hood caught two other big bass from the same spot. They weighed 17 and 27 pounds respectively.

Woolaver: He spoke to me about it. It is a porch that would be just bolted. I don't think it would interfere with the sidewalk. It is to protect against all weather conditions, etc.

Woolaver: I think it should be granted.

Woolaver: I make a motion that he be given permission to put a porch on for the winter months.

Mayor: Any further discussion on this?

Solicitor: Could this motion say providing it does not interfere with the sidewalk? I think you should get a written request on it.

Mayor: Could the permission be granted subject to the receipt of a written request?

Mayor: Any further discussion?

Question: As stated. Declared a vote.
Re: Transfer taxi license Bellevue to Anderson —
Read transfer signed by Bellevue.

McKenna: Is transfer of taxi licenses permissible?

Solicitor: If he surrenders his license then it makes one more license available for someone else. Even if it doesn't say so, it is not transferable.

Solicitor: Nobody has the sale right to license.

Mayor: It would appear that taxi licenses are not transferable. The procedure would be that Bellevue would relinquish his license and then the Committee could grant it or not.

Solicitor: There should be a letter to Mr. Anderson that he should apply in proper manner when and if...

Mayor: The motion is that a letter be written to Mr. Bellevue to surrender his license to the Town Clerk and that Mr. Anderson may then apply in the proper manner.

McKenna: It should also state, too, that it does not necessarily mean that the license would be granted.

Question: Ask him to surrender his taxi license to the Town Clerk and that Mr. Anderson be advised that he should apply for a taxi license in the proper manner.

Mayor: You have heard the motion. Was there a second?

Question: As stated. Declared a vote.

Mayor: There is a Wilbur Goodwin who is taxing, who has a taxi insignia on the roof of his car and to my knowledge has no license.

Woolaver: It permits him to bring people into town but not to pick people up in town.

Woolaver: The only way a member of the License Committee has to control the number of taxis in the town is by co-operation with the Police Department and up until this meeting we had no word from the Police Department that there is a taxi operating in the Town of Digby that doesn't have a license. Until the License Committee has a complaint from the Chief of Police or one of the policemen, there is nothing much that the License Committee could do about this.

Mayor: Have either of the police not reported to you as Chairman of the License Committee?

Woolaver: One of the special policemen reported it to me.

Mayor: What did you do about it?

Woolaver: I said that I would have the Chief of Police to investigate.

It is a very hard thing to pin down just exactly what a taxi driver consists of.

Mayor: Would you take it Councilor that a taxi parked in a section of the street reserved for taxis and bearing on its roof insignia that it was a taxi to be fairly good evidence that it was a taxi.

Woolaver: I am not qualified to take upon myself the police duties of the town.

Mayor: As chairman of the License Committee didn't you know that 16 taxis now in the town and there is a request by another person for a taxi license above and beyond that.

Woolaver: I have not seen it nor had any iron complaint that has been. I don't think you can convict a man.

Woolaver: Previous to this, the Clerk and Chief of Police have taken these people to court in the Town of Digby and the court has thrown it out.

Bent: It is hard to get the right grounds to convict him on.

Woolaver: I don't keep track of how many taxis operate in the Town of Digby. Some people say there are sixteen. I can't say that.

Bent: Isn't there some way that we can find out?

Anthony: I think we should find out.

Dunn: There is no question. I believe the man is taxing. I have seen him pick up. I don't know of others. There might be some others, I don't know. I didn't know if it was Goodwin but I can get his name, but Hersey, I think that is his name.

(Greenlaw)

He has one taxi license and two cars. She drives one and he drives another.

Woolaver: What we are going to do, what I figured we would do is when the new License Committee is set up, when we discuss this it seemed to me to be a very formality of getting a license. It is carried on exactly the same as other years. When these licenses expire it would be up to the town to make it more strict to get a license.

Mayor: It seems that if the by law is not present it is not much use at all if people are going to set up in areas restricted for taxis.

McKenna: I see one one day driving quite a good car and then the next day quite a poor one.

Mayor: They have to have a red sticker with all the details.

McKenna (?): When they get

Mayor: All particulars, including the red sticker.

McKenna: In that case then somebody else couldn't drive a taxi for you.

Mayor: Yes, if he has a certificate or badge of permission, issued by the town.

Mayor: This matter of Goodwin was brought to my attention in great length by persons known to the Chairman of the License Committee. I phoned the Town Clerk and asked him if a taxi license had been issued to this man. I asked if he had presented any request for a license and I was told he had presented no request for a license. It was the job of the License Committee to see to it.

McKenna: At that time he was driving this Mr. Bellevue's car.

Mayor: The reason I brought this subject up tonight was this very fact.

Woolaver: The only thing I could do as Chairman of the License Committee is ask the Chief of Police or Police Department to investigate this case before next council and take whatever action is necessary to see that this man doesn't operate a taxi.

Ask these questions when you're buying a truck:

What's the best size for a truck? A truck should only be as big as the job it has to do. Any bigger and delivery costs skyrocket. The Volkswagen truck doesn't waste an inch or an ounce on useless space. It carries a full 170 cubic feet of load and has near perfect weight-to-payload ratio.

What's the most economical truck to run? The one that delivers the most goods for the lowest cost. Volkswagen's delivery van has a far greater capacity than a standard half-ton truck yet it costs much less to run. No other truck can say this.

Which truck is easiest to load? The truck that's all doors—Volkswagen. The VW is the only truck with side and rear doors as standard equipment. You can walk right in through the double side doors from the curb, or load and unload through the rear door. Delivery time is cut down.

What's the best 'engineered' truck? The one with the most sensible design. The Volkswagen delivery van has an all-steel, all-welded unitized body that provides extra strength without excess weight. The air cooled engine makes maximum use of aluminum and magnesium alloys and weighs only 198 lbs. Weight is evenly distributed throughout the truck. The driver up front, the engine in the rear and the load where it should be, cradled between the axles.

Which truck has the best Service Plan? Volkswagen by far. When you buy a VW truck you get a 6 month, or 6,000 mile, parts and labour warranty. You also get a service book that starts you off with two free inspections and then provides for preventive maintenance on a planned basis for the life of the vehicle.

the answer's a Volkswagen.

ABOUT THIS AND THAT

Apathy In Civic Affairs

The fact that only one name was submitted during nomination week to fill three vacancies on the town council because of apathy in civic affairs is an unhealthy attitude toward civic affairs in Digby. When civic offices are filled by acclamation there is evidence of an apathy in civic affairs which should be of concern to all citizens. Of greater concern should be the fact that only one nomination was forthcoming last week to fill three vacancies.

One reason for so few persons offering to sit on the town council is probably the fact that citizens show so little appreciation for the services of the councillors. Citizens in general forget that town fathers must assume great responsibility and do a great deal of work in keeping town affairs in order. While others are enjoying recreation or pleasure it is often that the town councillors have to attend council meetings or committee meetings to deal with town affairs. Personal sacrifice in time and money is often necessary. For this reason it is sometimes considered more sensible to share the responsibility among more of the citizens although it is a blessing to find capable persons who are willing to give of their experience in continuous service for the welfare of the town. Digby has had many such able councillors in the past and on the present council there are those who have given years in such service.

Not everybody is exactly suited to the task of sitting on town councils but there are plenty who are suited to the task. A basic requisite, of course, is the inclination to serve and that is shown with every letter a capital. Another requisite is ability. Capabilities will vary from person to person but there are many communities in a town council requiring a variety of abilities to handle them. To do a good job on any and all committees would be ideal but there are those more adept to some responsibilities than to others. We are sure there are many capable men in the town of Digby to serve on some committees if not on all. What seems to be the greatest handicap in Digby is to find the people who really have the time to devote to town affairs. In many cases personal business demands most of the working hours with little time for leisure. To serve on the town council then requires time to devote to business or time required for rest and recreation. Again, we submit that there should be people willing to share in the responsibility of town government. It is a necessary thing. Someone must do it. How about considering a share in the responsibility?

Safe Driving Week

Safe Driving Week, which began today, December 1, asks not for pennies, dimes or dollars. Safe Driving Week asks only for common sense. Ira G. Needles, Kitchener, Ontario, chairman of the Canadian Highway Safety Council, says that common sense is all anyone needs to keep from killing and being killed in traffic. "Without it," he said, "the loss of human life on the highway by motorist and pedestrian will continue to exceed that of any war between nations."

Safe Driving Week has come at an opportune time for Nova Scotia. The months of October and November have been especially shameful in the number of accidents recorded in the province. Safe Driving Week, we hope, will turn the careless and reckless trend to one of responsibility behind the wheel. In most cases, the accidents have been caused by human faults, such as high speed, inattention to the business of driving, lack of courtesy or similar irresponsibility which can be termed just plain lack of common sense. Safe Driving Week can do much to instill common sense into the operation of motor vehicles on the highway but the common sense must be continued throughout the other fifty-one weeks for best results.

Safe Driving Week has come at an opportune time when the hazards of winter driving are about to descend upon us. Here again, just plain common sense will advise the motorist that special care must be taken to avoid accidents on slippery roads. Common sense will urge the motorist to study the best way of handling a vehicle when icy road conditions exist.

Safe Driving Week is not designed for the driver alone. Safe Driving Week has also in it a caution for the pedestrian. Carelessness, stubbornness and independence are little comfort to the maimed or the bereaved. They are less comforting to the conscientious driver who through no fault of his own has killed or injured the careless pedestrian. Especially must pedestrians be careful at night when driving conditions are not the best. One particular circumstance comes to our minds and is one which plagues every night driver. It is the inability to see pedestrians on the highway when the motorist is faced with on-coming traffic. We would especially remind pedestrians of this and ask their cooperation with the motorist in wearing some identification at night or leaving the pavement to the motorist.

Make every week safe driving week but let us make a good start this present Safe Driving Week.

Christmas T.B. Seals

This week saw the T.B. Christmas seals in the mails and finding their way into Digby homes. After so many years it has become almost a habit for some people to purchase the seals. But, but not, it is necessary to remind people that these seals perform the same function today that they did years ago and it is still important that buyers continue.

True, T.B. is not the killer it used to be, and T.B. hospital beds are not in the same demand as ten years ago. There is, however, a need for continued battle against the disease. A let-up would be a backward step in fighting the disease.

We are told that there are 9,000 patients being treated for T.B. in Canada today. Two-thirds or more are new cases and the remainder are relapses. There is still need to buy the Christmas seals to help wipe out the remaining cases and prevent new cases.

Besides fighting the disease and preventing cases, there is always rehabilitation to be considered. Research, too, needs to be continued. Canada has taken, in the past, T.B. refugee patients. Our continued assistance toward those people, their relatives and friends, would not be amiss. It is one way to see that the true Christmas spirit prevails. Could there be a better way?

Missionary Addresses Group

Miss Mildred Law, missionary on furlough from Bobbili, India, was guest speaker at the November meeting of the North Atlantic Baptist W.M.S. held on Thursday evening at the church.

Miss Law, dressed in Indian costume, and introduced by Mrs. J. V. Andrews, gave an interesting talk on her work in the mission field. Following her message a number of colored slides dealing with mission work in India, were shown by the pastor, Rev. R. R. Winchester.

Guests from Weymouth North and Ashmore were welcomed by Mrs. Winchester. Mrs. Rodgerson welcomed Miss Law on behalf of the Weymouth group.

During the service three beautiful musical numbers were heard — a solo by Mrs. Rice Kinney, "Stranger of Galilee"; duet, Mrs. Florence Bacon and Mrs. Ralph McNeill; and a duet by the pastor and Mrs. Winchester.

After the service the group was invited to the home of Mrs. Andrews where refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

Cribbage And Pool Wins

Last week's cribbage tournament at the Church Point Social Club saw a tie with partners George M. Thibodeau and Gustave Thibodeau tying Arcade LeBlanc and Dr. Louis Thibodeau with 8 points each.

The standings in the third week of a four week tournament are: Camille Blinn and George M. Thibodeau, 21 points; Capt. Charles Burke and Arcade LeBlanc with 20 points each; Arcade Belliveau and Dr. Louis Thibodeau, 18 points each; and Ernest F. LeBlanc and Emile W. LeBlanc with 17 points.

Although partners are chosen for each game they change at each match night with each individual receiving scores made. At this point of the series it is a coincidence that all leaders are tied with one other player. Next week's play will decide the winner.

Last week's pool tournament, which is held every Friday evening at the Church Point Social Club, showed Albert J. Melanson the winner with 85 points out of a possible 90. Runner-up was Albert P. Melanson with 73 points and Henry J. Melanson and Nil Melanson were tied with 62 points each.

It is a coincidence that all the winners were Melansons in this particular series, but none of them are related to one another.

Digby Store Marks Milestone

One of Digby's pioneer food stores marks this week fifty years of continuous service to the buying public of this area from the one stand.

Shortliffe's Grocery Ltd., which this week is holding a fiftieth anniversary food sale, has been in business in the present building since the late A. A. Shortliffe, founder of the business, built the structure in 1910.

Mr. Shortliffe, a native of South Range, first started in the grocery, flour and feed business in Digby a number of years before he built the present store. At one time he operated a store in the building now occupied by the Acadia Lines terminal and later in the building that was located on the site of the present Levy Drug Store.

Mr. Shortliffe was not only a successful business man but he was also community minded and served as a councillor and a mayor of the town, as well as on a number of civic and community organizations.

Following his death in 1944, the business was operated as a partnership between R. W. Marshall, for many years associated with Mr. Shortliffe in the store, and Miss Bessie Hooper, a step daughter of Mr. Shortliffe.

In 1950 the business was incorporated and, since Miss Hooper's death in 1959, has been operated by Mr. Marshall.

Over the years the operators of the store have kept abreast of modern trends in food merchandising and in 1959 a full scale modernization program was carried out.

Shortliffe's Grocery Ltd. is now one of Digby's most modern and enterprising food stores, featuring an up-to-date produce department where farm produce is kept garden fresh under controlled temperature and moisture conditions and a fully modern meat department with deep freeze, cold storage and cooler facilities. In the main store groceries and specialty items are most attractively displayed on easy-to-reach shelves. Displays are so arranged as to permit easy self service for the customer.

Miss Faye Marshall has returned to Saint John General Hospital after visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Marshall and family, Barton.

URGE SERVICE

Another speaker for the evening was Hon. Dr. George Burridge, M.L.A., Yarmouth. Mr. Burridge dealt briefly with the coal situation in Cape Breton, the current highway study and hospitalization in Nova Scotia. He stressed the consideration of care for the mentally ill which is being undertaken by Nova Scotia government and regarding general hospitalization he said there are now 750 new beds being constructed and 1637 in the planning stage, making a total of 2,387. Where there were only 3,400 beds in the province this represents an increase of seventy percent.

In highways, Mr. Burridge said that while secondary roads would not be neglected, it looked as if emphasis at present would have to be put on trunk roads and bridges in the province.

The speakers were thanked by Dr. G. V. Turnbull. The meeting was presided over by E. Keith Potter, who gave a welcome to guest speakers and introduced each.

Dr. D. E. Lewis presented the slate of officers for the coming year.

To Dedicate New Addition

The congregation of the South Range Church of Christ has recently completed a new addition to their building. A room 26' x 18' has been added to the back of the church for Sunday School purposes.

By the use of a removable partition, two classes will have adequate space for their exercises. The room will be used for Young People's work besides a fellowship room for all departments of the congregation.

The work went forward under the direction of Mr. Warren Haight, assisted by Mr. Lawrence Sabean and Mr. Vernon Marshall. Mr. Arnold Marshall, chairman of the building committee, was on the job regularly and volunteer labour helped greatly.

The men of the congregation donated material and time in sawing of the lumber. With the money that the congregation raised, together with the material donated, there is only a small portion to be raised in order to completely pay the cost of the building, it is understood.

A Dedication Service will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. Lorne B. Nethercott, on Tuesday evening, December 6, at 8:00 p.m., when the public is invited to attend. Following the service refreshments will be served by the ladies, and an opportunity given to see the new addition.

In The Council

Mayor: We had completed the motion with respect to Belliveau's car and this was a matter brought up following that.

Re: Lynn Saunders - Ditch. Mayor: Could this matter be taken up by the Streets Committee.

McKenna: There is a foot path right through there now.

Mayor: It is a street but it has never been officially opened.

Could this matter be left with Councillor VanTassel.

Have we a motion to leave this matter with the Streets Committee to look into this matter and deal with it.

Anthony: I move that.

Mayor: Is there any further discussion?

Question: As stated. Declared a vote.

Re: Deputy Town Clerk.

Mayor: As you know an ad was carried in the paper for the position of Deputy Town Clerk. Mrs. Clayton has signified her desire to leave. Perhaps we could have the applications read.

As I understand it, the Deputy Town Clerk is appointed by the Town Clerk with the concurrence of the Town Council.

(3 applications were read)

Mayor: What is your pleasure then.

Further discussion.

Woolaver: I would like to move that Carl Warner be appointed.

Anthony: I would second that.

Mayor: The Council concurs in the appointment of Carl Warner as Deputy Town Clerk, effective when?

Mayor: The motion is that the Council concur in the appointment of Carl Warner at a salary of $60.00 per week, duties to commence as early as possible.

Is there any further discussion on this?

Question: As stated.

Declared a vote.

Re: Remembrance Holiday.

Mayor: It has already been held as a holiday to my knowledge.

What is your pleasure.

Anthony: I think we should have a holiday.

McKenna: We should leave it to the Mayor to decide.

Mayor: Is Council then of the opinion that it should be a holiday.

McKenna: I am for sure.

Mayor: Will Council then make a motion that the Mayor declare it a holiday.

Moved by Anthony, seconded by McKenna.

Question: November 11th be declared a holiday in the Town of Digby.

Declared a vote.

Mayor: That completes the written agenda.

Report of Disaster Relief Digby Branch, Red Cross Society

During the year we have given out 2,000 articles of clothing and helped fifty needy families in Plympton, Barton, Marshalltown, Conway, Joggin Bridge, North Range, Gulliver's Cove, Digby and one or more requests from Weymouth, which is outside our district.

Four families that were burned out were supplied with shoes, dresses, underclothing and bedding. A request from Weymouth for victims of a fire was also responded to and two adults and a 7-month old baby supplied with clothing.

Nine quilts were given out during the year, as well as bedding supplied to an elderly lady of 83, which included 1 pair sheets, 1 pair heavy blankets, 1 pair pillow cases and 1 quilt.

Eight layettes have been supplied, one by request from the V.O.N., also 1 dozen diapers, two to the Digby General Hospital and others to Digby and outside districts.

A crippled boy was supplied with clothing; a deaf and dumb child clothed to enable him to attend school in Halifax and a dressing gown given to a young man entering the San.

Mrs. Comeau and I would like to thank everyone, both in town and from the outside communities, who have been so kind in supplying us with clothing, sweaters, etc., and those who have made up our nighties, shirts and diapers. Again we thank the outside communities for making up our disaster kits and supplying us with articles for kits for fire victims.

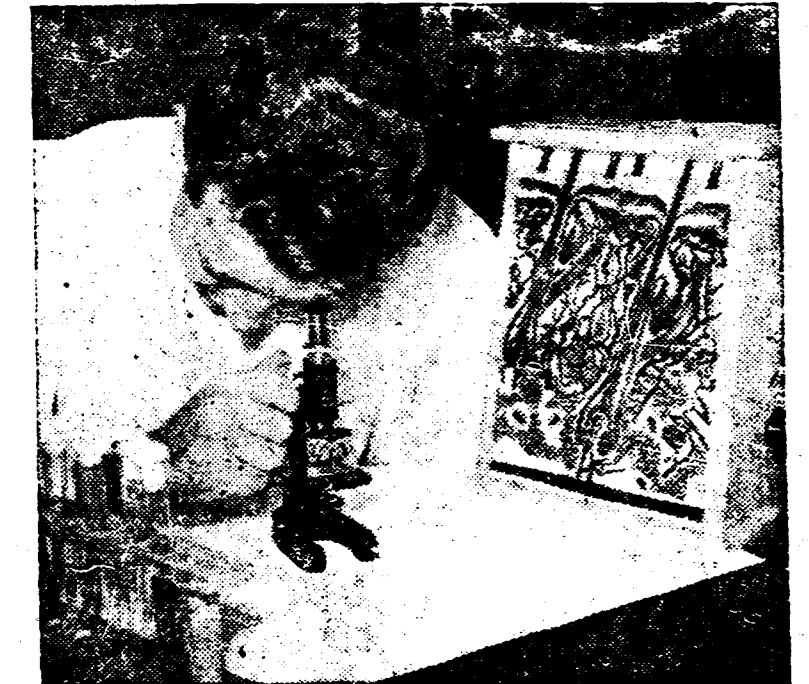

We would make a request for any toys, dolls, books, or any articles we could use in our Christmas boxes. If you will call us we will see that they are picked up, or you may send them to the Court House.

(Sgd.) Alice Winfield.

Can Baldness Be Cured?

Hair Research says "No!" Once a man is slick bald there is nothing known to science that will restore his hair.

What Causes Baldness?

As outlined by the Hair Research manager, there are four general reasons why a man's (or woman's) hair fails to keep on growing.

Much baldness can be the result of local scalp disorders. Most common of these are dandruff (three varieties), poor blood circulation in the scalp, and excessively dry or oily hair. Most balding men suffer from a combination of such disorders. All of them can be corrected by appropriate methods.

Is Baldness Hereditary?

Some people inherit a type of scalp structure that makes them especially subject to baldness. This accounts for the popular notion that baldness runs in families. But any such inherited weakness can be overcome by, firstly, doing something about it at an early stage, by making your scalp healthy and keeping it healthy.

Physiology. Some baldness is caused by systemic diseases and pathological conditions that cannot be helped by any scalp authority. Hair Research Advisers will not attempt to help these hopeless cases. They are rare, however, and together account for a small percent of human baldness.

What Can Be Done? There is no magic formula or "cure-all." Results are achieved by adapting a programme to the condition of each individual scalp. On the basis of analysis we work out a special home programme for you. The balding man's problem is not losing hair but growing hair, and you can't stop a healthy scalp from growing hair.

Offers Free Interview. If you are accepted for our programme, and co-operate, we guarantee you'll be satisfied with the results.

Go up to Hair Research Services at the Salvia House and have a free visit. Hours are 12:00 noon until 9:00 p.m.

DIGBY RESIDENTS!

The Hair Research Advisor will be in your area on the following date. All interviews are private and without obligation and no appointment is necessary. That's Saturday ONLY, December 3, 1960, at the Salvia House in Digby, N. S.

W.M.S. Has Public Meeting

The Women's Missionary Society at Centreville had an open meeting on Saturday evening, November 12, at the Baptist Church when it was privileged to hear a missionary, Miss Mildred Law, who is home on furlough. Miss Law was principal of the Girls' Boarding School at Bobbili, India, and gave a very interesting account of some of her experiences.

The meeting was conducted by the President, Mrs. Roy Cameron. The scripture was read by Mrs. Willie Titus and prayer was offered by Mrs. John Tibbetts. A solo, "Jesus Is Always There", was rendered by Mrs. Loran Shaw.

At the meeting Mrs. Roy Cameron presented a gift of money from the W.M.S. to Mrs. John Tibbetts, who had moved to Bear River. Mrs. Tibbetts expressed her thanks.

The service closed with hymn "Jesus Shall Reign" and benediction by Deacon Loran Shaw.

They have taken up residence in the home formerly owned by the late Henry Marshall.

Mrs. Fred Height, who has been quite ill for the past few weeks, is making a good recovery and is able to be around again.

Miss Marion Bacon of Saint John, spent last week at her old home. Accompanying her were her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Helton Rafuse of Young's Cove.

Bobbie Killam of the RCAF who has been home on leave for a couple of weeks, has returned to duty at the Air Training Base at Banff, Alta.

Entertains W.M.S.

The November meeting of the Centreville U.B.W.M.U. met at the home of Mrs. Fred Dakin on Monday evening, November 14, with the President Mrs. Ray Cameron presiding.

The devotional was given by Mrs. Cann and was entitled "The Spiritual Appetite". The Spiritual Life convener Mrs. Cameron gave the message, "Bible Reading and Thoughtfulness".

During the business periods it was decided to send a food parcel to a missionary family in India and also that work would be done regarding White Cross supplies.

The program convener, Mrs. Keith Raymond, introduced the program by giving a report of what had been accomplished on four stations in Angola. Others taking part were Mrs. Loran Titus, who had a review of the missionaries in Angola and at which station they were located; Mrs. Roy Cameron read of the two new recruits for Angola; Mrs. Willie Titus read "Africans at Church" and Mrs. Ronald Morehouse read "Africa Today".

DIGBY, NOVA SCOTIA

In The Council

The Mayor called the meeting to order, asking the Clerk to read the minutes of the last regular and any special meetings.

Clerk read the minutes of the last regular meeting on November 7th.

Mayor: Are there any errors or omissions? Hearing none, I declare them approved as read.

May we have a motion giving permission to anyone present wishing to address Council.

McKenna: I move that permission be given to anyone present wishing to address Council.

Declared a vote.

Goodwin: I assume you all know what I am here for tonight. It is about what I read in the Courier last week about my taxi license. As you all know I haven't done anything out of the way. I had one of the councillors buy me a car and give me permission.

Mayor: Who was that Councillor?

Goodwin: Councillor Woolaver.

I took my money and went up to Lawyer Woolaver to apply for my taxi license. At the time, my insurance hadn't come through. He told me to wait until my insurance came through. I waited. I was in the taxi business just about an hour when I had the cops on me, not one but two. I sent them to Councillor Woolaver. What I am coming to, I was in the taxi business before and as you all know I was into a car accident and therefore I had to give it up. When I came back I tried to get a taxi license. There is no other work that I can do. Yet you have taxi drivers here that are not even Canadian citizens. They are permitted to have a taxi license. They are driving taxi in the summer months and then in the winter they go to the States. You have another taxi driver here who goes to the States, him and his wife, a couple times in the summer months. While I was laid up I had a tax bill due to $12.00 and some cents. It was sent to me eight or nine times. It was also registered and I couldn't pay it. When I came out of the hospital I even took the last cent I had to pay it. I am trying to get a taxi license and yet you people refuse to let me.

Goodwin: Councillor Woolaver is the one who told me to take it up to Lawyer Woolaver.

Mayor: By making application in the proper manner I am sure that the License Committee will consider it in the same manner as they consider other applications. Then if you qualify by the requirements of the by laws and if the number of taxi licenses issued is not more than the number allowed for the year, I feel that your application would receive consideration.

Goodwin: Tell me this, why a certain taxi driver in this town hasn't been licensed for a couple of years. He has a job. He is able to work. He taxis weekends. Cops are right there with him. They see him every weekend. They don't do anything about this chap. I am crippled and trying to make a living.

Mayor: Have you drawn this matter to the attention of the police?

Goodwin: I haven't. Others have and Mr. Woolaver has spoken about it himself.

Mayor: As the chairman of the License Committee then he would be in the best position to see that the by laws of the town at least are adhered to.

I would suggest that if you wish a taxi license that you apply in the proper manner.

Mayor: The application, together with the money, insurance papers, a certificate that your vehicle is in good condition, etc. Those are to be filed with the Town Clerk, then the License Committee will make a decision.

Goodwin: When does the license expire?

Mayor: At the end of April, I believe.

Goodwin: Therefore, if I was to pay the $25.00 now to taxi from now to March, I would just be able to taxi from now to March.

Mayor: You would have to pay the full fee and also you must remember also that the

Agree To Fire Protection

The Digby town council at their December meeting expressed willingness to enter into an agreement to provide fire protection to the rural areas around the town for an annual fee of $700. This fee would be subject to revision yearly, based on the previous year's fire experience.

The action by the council followed meetings with a committee representing the rural areas concerned, the Digby fire department and the fire committee of the council to deal with the request from the outside areas for fire protection.

It is understood the matter must now go before the municipal council to have the fire protection district defined and legal provision made for a fire tax levy.

Approval was also given at the Digby town council meeting to amendments to the town by laws prohibiting the discharge of firearms, including air rifles, within the town and also prohibiting the sale, possession and use of fire crackers in Digby.

Discussion was had concerning winter works. Mayor Cardoza reported he had wired Hon. G. C. Nowlan urging construction of the proposed RCMP building for Digby for which land had been purchased some time ago. He said he had also discussed with the chairman of the town water commission the possibility of work at the lake to improve water storage facilities there. A meeting on this would be held this week, he said.

Authority was given the assessor to send circular letters to those in the town claiming widow's exemption, providing the letter contained a declaration to be completed before a justice of the peace or commissioner concerning income.

The Council decided to declare Monday, December 26th, a civic holiday in Digby.

Following the historical part of the programme a hymn sung was enjoyed. The books used for the occasion were those presented to the Division by Mr. Newman Raymond, of Virginia, who has since passed away. Mr. Raymond was a friend of the Order. The following were read congratulating Home Division on its 100th birthday: a telegram from Markland District Division of Yarmouth County, N. S.; a letter from Sis. Elizabeth Killam, of Milton Division, Milton, Yarmouth Co.; and a letter from Sis. Margaret Allen, Recording Scribe, of Milton Division. Congratulations have also been received since from Sis. Florence Payne, of Mayflower Division, Halifax.

A piano solo was given by Sis. Mrs. Frances Wallis, which was followed by the presentation of the anniversary cake by Sis. Helena Comeau. The cake was made and decorated by Sis. Comeau. High School students at Weymouth Consolidated School enjoyed a talk given to them on Wednesday afternoon, November 30, by Mr. B. M. MacArthur, area organizer of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

Mr. MacArthur outlined the various phases of the institute's work. In a question period that followed the talk the students asked many questions and were interested in eye defects, a watch for use by blind people and Braille reading matter.

Celebrates 100th Anniversary

On the evening of November 22nd the 100th anniversary of Home Division, No. 169, Sons of Temperance, Smith's Cove, was celebrated in the Temperance Hall.

The anniversary service opened by the singing of the hymn "To The Work". The Worthy Patriarch, Sis. Ruth Walker, extended a cordial welcome to those present, including former members of our own and neighboring Divisions, including the Boreans Youth Fellowship from the Church of God, Digby, members of the Baptist Young People's Union of Smith's Cove, and others.

Congratulations were extended to the three jewel members present, namely, Mrs. Mary Snow who has been a member of the Order for more than 61 years; Sis. Mrs. Frances J. Wallis for about 56 years; and Sis. Blanche Woodman for more than 50 years. Mr. Almon J. Cornwall, of Digby, was present and stated that he joined Home Division in 1902 but, having spent some years in the U.S.A., his membership has not been continuous. Mrs. Aileen Woodman was also present. She joined Home Division more than 50 years ago. Although she has not continued her membership at all times, we know she is still a friend of the Order. It was fine to see these and other veterans of the Order and the youth groups joining together to make a successful evening. Every effort needs both the mature experience of the older ones as well as the vigor of youth, and in the fine old Order of the Sons of Temperance we find folk of all ages working shoulder to shoulder.

The meeting was then passed over to the Master of Ceremonies for the evening, Bro. Clayton Woodman. The minutes of the first meeting of Home Division, December 5th, 1860, were read by the Assistant Recording Scribe, Sis. Hazel M. Clayton, who also gave some of Grafton Outhouse has been awarded the mail contract for the village of Grafton Grove on Long Island, Digby Co. Central Grove will now have a rural route box service. Tiverton #1 instead of the post office service of previous years. The service includes the western section of the village of Tiverton, making enough box holders to establish such service for the communities.

Outhouse Gets Mail Contract

Previous to the rural service the Central Grove Post Office was managed by Mrs. Burton Shortliffe of that village. The office was closed on September 30, due to ill health of the late Mrs. Shortliffe and in respect to the wishes of the residents steps were immediately taken by the postal service to establish a rural route for the villagers. According to official reports, tenders were placed in the usual manner and in good time for establishing the service. The latter statement was made to the press because earlier reports had indicated that tenders had not been called to a certain date.

Marriage

Joudrey — Saunders

The marriage of Miss Audrey Bernice Saunders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ian Saunders, Hanwell Road, Fredericton, and Lorimer Rayburn Joudrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Joudrey, Smith's Cove, Digby Co., was solemnized at St. Anne's Parish Church with Venerable Archdeacon A. S. Coster officiating. Bouquets of white chrysanthemums decorated the altar together with tall lighted ivory tapers. The guest pews were marked with white wedding bells tied with pale green satin bows. The church organist, J. O. Manchip, played the nuptial music. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Cedric Munn as matron of honor, and Miss Joyce Roberts as bridesmaids. James Boland acted as best man for the bridegroom and the ushers were Donald Hazelton and Carl Saunders, brother of the bride.

The bride wore a slipper-length gown of imported white peau de soie on classic Princess lines. The Sweetheart neckline of lace was encrusted with pearls and sequins, forming a deep V in the back. A narrow band of the same ornamentation outlined the waistline and quins and small bows formed back interest to the tuffant skirt which swept into a chapel train. Her elbow length veil of tulle illusion fell gracefully from a lace Juliet cap. Her only jewelry was a pair of cultured pearl earrings and she carried a cascade of white gladioli entwined with stephanotis and greenery.

The bridal attendants wore identical gowns of moss green nylon printed with deeper green flowers and gold leaves styled with Empire bodices and full skirts of unpressed pleats. Their headresses were beige velvet bows and velvet leaves with circular face veils. They wore short beige gloves and beige pumps. They carried cascade bouquets of white shasta daisies with pale green centres tied with yellow net ribbon.

The bride's mother wore an Aljean fitted wool suit of chocolate brown with a green hat and Russian squirrel cape. Yellow roses with bronze ribbon formed her corsage. The bride's grandmother wore a black suit with a white satin hat with feather trim. She wore a corsage of pink carnations. The bridegroom's parents were unable to attend the wedding.

A reception was held in St. Anne's Parish Church Hall, which was catered to by the Monday Evening Branch of the Women's Auxiliary. The toast to the bride was proposed by the Rev. A. S. Coster, and responded to by the bridegroom.

The guest book was circulated by Miss Joan Saunders, a cousin of the bride. Miss Anna Robinson, R.N., Miss Yvonne Smith, R.N., and Miss Carol firing of air rifles and mentioned that we could do nothing about the train whistles.

Clerk read the by law prohib-

Mayor: Is there a motion that Chapter 19 of the by law

The Police committee.

Mayor: Has anybody the Police committee report?

Clerk: We have a report from the Chief. There was a total of twelve complaints received durrequired some field investigaterminated to the satisfaction of persons concerned. Three cases warranted court action.

All were under the Criminal

Mayflowers For

Hold Annual Game Meet

The Clare Fish & Game Association held its annual banquet at the Riverside Inn at Meteghan River with Mr. Clarence Mason, Director of Conservation of the Department of Lands and Forests of the province of Nova Scotia as guest speaker.

Mr. Mason stated that 11,500 pheasants were released in the province during 1960. These pheasants were raised chiefly for hunters and not necessarily for reproduction purposes. It is not believed that reproduction of these birds would work out in our climate as the survival rate of our winters would not be too good due to scarcity of feed.

It is believed that pheasants released to fend for themselves would possibly survive in sufficient numbers if the necessary feed was available to them. In most winters when heavy snows cover the feed, the feed is not to be found in sufficient quantity to feed too great a number of birds. With mechanization of farms, less grain are grown and thus less feed is available for the birds.

Speaking on the deer situation in Western Nova Scotia,
Mr. Mason stated that the deer herd in this part of the province is rather low. The white tailed deer was introduced in the province in 1894, when 9 deer were liberated. Those responsible for introducing deer were Harry Smith and Major Daley, of Digby, and Bill Annis, of Yarmouth County. The cost of the deer was $162.00. In 1908, five more deer were liberated and it is from the deer liberated in the two years mentioned that the present deer population of Nova Scotia originated. There were no deer in the province prior to 1894. Since 1916 over a million have been killed.

As the deer moved eastward they multiplied beyond the point where the land could provide sufficient feed and this caused a decrease in the herd. When the deer population is too high, the feeding grounds become destroyed and it would take a generation to reproduce the necessary food.

It is estimated that 150,000 people participate in sport fishing in the fresh waters of the province. Rearing ponds for fish are expected to be established in various sections of the province in the near future. At Medway rearing pond, 350,000 salmon have been reared to replenish the rivers of the province where these fish will be available for the fishermen.

Conservation, said Mr. Mason, is living in harmony with nature. We must take more from nature than we can give.

Dr. Philip LeBlanc, of Little Brook, thanked Mr. Mason for his informative talk on conservation and statistics regarding fishing and hunting. Hunting and fishing, stated Dr. LeBlanc, are beneficial to ailing people.
It is relaxing and this is good for certain ailing persons. One forgets the ills and worries of the business world when you take up the fishing rod or the hunting rifle to wander into the woods and streams.

A special films of "West Key West" was shown to the group, which showed sports fishing and skin diving in waters around Florida.

Birthday Get-Together

On December 2nd, 1960, Mrs.
Fred Haight, of Hill Grove, and Mrs. Gertrude White, of South
Range, spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Hantford Marshall, of Barton, the occasion being a "three-way" birthday celebration, which has come to be an annual event. Mrs. Haight's seventieth natal day was on December 2nd, her niece's, Mrs.
White, was on December 3rd, and Mr. Marshall's eightieth was near at hand. A very happy day was enjoyed by all three celebrants, and each received many fine gifts.

Mrs. Haight is the mother of 13 children, living, and has 23 grandchildren. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Eliab Van Buskirk, of 1960.

Bloomfield, and is two days older than Win Gidney, who is mentioned elsewhere as having received birthday honors. It is interesting to note that Mrs.
Haight was the sister of Mr.
Gidney's first wife, nee Nell Van Buskirk, and that "Sade's" and "Win's" mothers were step-sisters, who grew up in the same home with a mere six months difference in their ages.

Marriages

Downie — Ellis

A lovely fall wedding was solemnized at Holy Trinity Anglican Church, Granville Ferry, on Saturday, November 12th, at 3 o'clock, when Janet (Jane) Mae, youngest daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Odber C. Ellis, Granville Ferry, was united in marriage to A. B. Harold Arnold (Ron) Downie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Downie, of Montreal. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. W. E. Jefferson in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends of the bridal couple. The church was decorated for the occasion with lovely fall flowers and the guest pews were marked with mauve chrysanthemums and satin ribbon.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was a picture of loveliness in her ballerina length wedding gown of lace and net over satin. The fitted bodice of lace was fashioned with square neckline and long sleeves and was beautifully embroidered with sequins and pearls. The skirt was bouffant style and her shoulder length veil of tulle illusion fell from a crown of orange blossoms made of pearls. She carried a white Bible adorned with three red roses and white streamers and red rosebuds.

Mrs. Ralph Jones (Madelyn Ellis), sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Donna Shaw, of Halifax, and Miss Beverly Spurr, of Annapolis Royal. All three wore gowns of pink net over taffeta with matching jackets and carried colonial bouquets of carnations and mums. Sheila and Sandra Cummings, adorable twin daughters of Mr.

and Mrs. Barrie Cummings, of Annapolis Royal, were the flower girls dressed in pink nylon. All of the bride's attendants wore tiaras of rhinestones.

L.S. Ralph Jones, brother-in-law of the bride, was best man and ushers were Jack Ellis, of Stellarton, and Philip Ellis, of Halifax, both brothers of the bride.

Mrs. Laurie Walker played the nuptial music and Mrs. Chester A. Nauss sang "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Ellis chose a dress of pale aqua crepe. She wore black accessories, a gray fur stole, and a corsage of pink mums.

The mother of the groom was dressed in Queen's blue lace over taffeta, a white stole, black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Two grandmothers of the bride were present at the wedding: Mrs. Elma Ellis, of Litchfield, and Mrs. Lloyd Dixon, of West Paradise.

Following the ceremony at the church a reception for some 100 guests was held at Chez Leo's Restaurant, Annapolis Royal.

The guest book was in charge of Miss Doris Campbell, of Halifax.

Rev. W. E. Jefferson proposed the toast to the young couple, which was responded to by the groom.

Telegrams of congratulation were read by the best man from the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Whitlock (Pat Ellis) and family, of Moose Jaw, Sask., and the groom's father, sister and grandparents in Montreal.

Following the reception the bride and groom left for Yarmouth, leaving the following day by plane for Boston and their honeymoon is being spent with the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ellis, of South Weymouth, Mass.

For travelling the bride wore a suit of mauve jersey with hat to match, brown accessories and a crown muskrat jacket. She wore a corsage of roses and the groom's gift, a single strand of pearls with matching earrings. Many friends join in wishing the popular young couple every happiness in their wedded life.

Melanson — Melanson

A pretty wedding was solemnized recently at Holy Cross Church, Plympton, when Ruby, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hantford Melanson, was united in marriage to Reginald Melanson, only son of the late Maynard Melanson, and Mrs. Melanson, of Plympton Station.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Ronald, wore a bridal gown of nylon net and lace. The bodice top, which was embroidered with sequins and pearls fastened at the back with self-covered buttons and loops. The bouffant skirt of nylon net was finished with lace panels at back and front. Her shoulder length veil was held up by a crown of pearls. Her bouquet was of red roses.

Mrs. Eldridge Melanson, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honour. She was gowned in yellow nylon net and lace, with matching bolero. The bouffant skirt was covered with tiers of lace and net. She wore a matching headdress and carried a bouquet of yellow flowers.

Best man was Eldridge Melanson, brother of the groom.

Rev. Father Raoul Deveau officiated.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for about 50 guests. Mr. and Mrs. Melanson were recipients of lovely gifts.

After a short honeymoon trip they returned to Plympton, where they will reside.

ABOUT THIS AND THAT

Consider The Positive

Unemployment and abuses of unemployment insurance benefits are subjects on which we have frequently written. No one would want to minimize the seriousness of unemployment and least of all would we at this office. But in thinking of unemployment we have been as guilty as any in emphasizing the negative and omitting the positive in dealing with the subject. Consciously or unconsciously, we have coupled the unemployment situation, more or less, with a lessening of economy in the country. It was refreshing, to recently hear a minister of the government release facts and figures stating that more Nova Scotians are working today than ever before; more people working in Canada than ever before; more wages paid; more money deposited in banks; more produce raised than ever before and to some countries more exports than ever before from Canada. These facts in no way ease the anxiety and discouragement of those who are earnestly seeking employment, nor is it solving the problem of dwindling unemployment insurance funds being paid to the unemployed. The facts do reveal progress made and renew hopes that the unemployment caused by the age of mechanism and the increased rate of population during the past years will eventually be overcome.

The same speaker mentioned about opportunities for the Maritimes to supply goods to the opening North. We recalled at the time a news article in the Chronicle-Herald in September or early October which read:

"Operators of the Halifax to Goose Bay cargo shipping service are reported 'very disappointed' at the small quantity of Maritime products lined up for the last sailing of the year to Goose Bay, jumping off place for various northern centres. The ship is due to sail October 8.

"The service was established last year, after long negotiations between the Atlantic Provinces Economic Council and the Newfoundland-Canada Steamship Company, to enable Maritime producers to move their goods to northern customers without the added expense of rail hauls to Quebec or Montreal first."

We could not help wonder whether we are trying to help ourselves or if we are a people who have become dependent on government hand-outs.

Christmas Cards

This is the time of the year when Christmas cards are being sent to friends practically all over the world. In looking over the cards from 1959 we noted one from Wandlyn Motels in Fredericton. A fine gesture to past patrons and one which could do much to boost business for that particular motel and the tourist industry in general. Another we set aside was one from Central Motors. It makes a useful decoration for under the 1959 Christmas tree. Another we would not destroy was a Christmas card from Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Robinson in Washington, D. C., and was a beautifully bound booklet style card containing the Christmas prayer of Rev. Peter Marshall. Then there are always the individually hand done cards which mean so much.

Christmas greetings come in many forms — the Christmas cards with beautiful designs and short messages and those with many lines of poetry. There are letters, too, with Christmas messages. One of these messages, in the form of a 1959 bulletin from Canada Trust, is worth repeating here — a word of hope.

Harmony in music brings inner warmth, a feeling of good order and a sense of well-being.

Discord results from a lack of clear thinking, ill-chosen companion notes and the superficial use of rules.

Life is similar to music. Our thoughts, our companionships, our ways of living — bring harmony or discord.

When so much discord seems evident among the nations of the world, Christmas brings a renewed challenge and an opportunity to replace discord with harmony in the hearts of all people. For the angels sang on that first Christmas, 'Peace on earth, good will toward men.'

The words of an old Chinese proverb seem more significant today than ever before:

If there is righteousness in the heart there will be beauty in the character.

If there is beauty in the character there will be harmony in the home.

If there is harmony in the home there will be order in the nation.

If there is order in the nation there will be peace in the world.

Television — Good Or Evil

Much has been said in magazines, on television panels and elsewhere about the impact of television programmes on the youthful mind and there is no doubt that since television penetrates or intrudes itself into the living-rooms of most North American homes, it can be a great force for good or evil. To ignore this fact is merely to prove oneself guilty of irresponsibility.

When one sits in a single night through four successive westerns, replete with gunplay, hangings and murders, for adults it is merely a matter of a couple of hours wasted which could have been used to better advantage reading a good book or doing something to advance the interests of the community. A continuous diet of this television drivel does little to ameliorate the intellectual indolence which is too often characteristic of the humans who make up modern society.

But when children are exposed to a continuous glorification of violence, gangsterism and gunplay, it becomes a serious matter; and vice, even when the vicious commonly come to a bad end, too often seem may come to be regarded as commonplace as to be considered of little significance one way or the other. One may share with Alexander Pope the observation that it may be indeed first endured, then pitied and then embraced — at least by some whose mental stability is less than it ought to be. How to sift the wheat from the chaff, the junk from the useful in television programmes is indeed a serious problem. It is considered very smart to blame parents for allowing their children to listen to a silly or dangerous programme. But surely there is a responsibility on some higher authority to see that morally bad programmes are not foisted on the public. After all, parents are not always gifted with the wisdom of a Solon. The remedy — a Will Hayes for television, perhaps. — It seemed to be a useful device in the Motion Picture Industry some years ago and since the motion picture industry only acted when forced to act by public opinion, so may it be with television. The cynical action of some television panelists toward the question will only call public attention to a problem which needs constructive action. — Health News Service.

A Motorist's Prayer

Printed in a bulletin of Wesley United Church, Fort William, Ontario)

Lord, impress upon me the great responsibility that is mine as I take the wheel of my automobile. As I need Thy guidance in all things, so especially do I when I have life and death in my hands.

"Give me always a deep reverence for and a desire to protect human life. When I would be careless, remind me of homes where there is sorrow and loneliness, of the hospitals where broken, suffering bodies lie in anguish because someone forgot.

"Write indelibly on my conscience that each time I take the wheel of my car I am a potential murderer; that in a few careless moments I could be face to face with dire tragedy for my own family as well as for others.

"Give me grace to practice the Christian virtues of patience and thoughtfulness at all times. Help me to show the same courtesy and kindness to other motorists that I want to expect from them.

"When others exceed the speed limit or otherwise break the law, let me not be tempted to do the same. Forgive my stupidity if ever I think it is permissible to violate traffic laws so long as I do not get caught.

"Remind me often that I am responsible to Thee as well as to the state to obey the ordinance of the highway, and that when I do not, I sin against Thee as well as against my fellow men, even though nobody else may be watching and no accident may result.

"Lord, grant me control of my car and of myself at all times. Help me to live lawfully and peaceably, to save life and not destroy it; and so by example lead others to do the same. Amen."

P.O. Announces New Stamps

The subjects of four new postage stamps to be issued in 1961 were announced today by the Postmaster General, the Hon. William Hamilton. The stamps will be issued before the 1st July, 1961. All will be of the five cent denomination.

The first issue, to be released on the 8th February, will be a tribute to the development of Canada's Northland and the increasing activity there in recent years.

On the 10th March, a new stamp will be issued to commemorate the centennial of the birth of Emily Pauline Johnson, Indian poetess. Miss Johnson, a Mohawk, was born, according to most authorities, on the 10th March, 1861, at Chiefswood on the Six Nation Indian Reservation in Ontario. She died on the 7th March, 1913, at Vancouver after making a unique contribution to Canadian letters.

In keeping with tradition, the late Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, a former Prime Minister of Canada, will be remembered in a special issue which will be released on the 19th April. Mr. Meighen served two terms as Prime Minister from the 10th July, 1920 to the 2th December, 1921 and from the 19th June, 1926 to the 25th September, 1926. Mr. Meighen died at Toronto on August 6th, 1960.

The 10th Anniversary of the Colombo Plan will be marked by a special stamp to be issued on the 28th June, in time for the official Colombo Plan Anniversary to be celebrated on the 1st July. Canada has participated actively and substantially in both the fields of capital and technical assistance to fellow Commonwealth countries and, more recently, to other countries under the terms of the Colombo Plan.

has plans for other issues which will appear in the latter part of the year, and these will be announced as soon as the subjects have been confirmed.

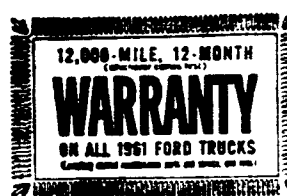

Since the end of World War II more than 450,000,000 people living in countries within the British Commonwealth have assumed complete independence.

Similar stories have been told before and subscriptions go to Africa, India and other countries.

Obituary

Mrs. Frank Sabean

The community of New Tuskett and surrounding area was saddened on Saturday, Nov. 26 by the death of Alice Matilda Sabean, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Eldon Ford. She was the daughter of the late David and Elsie DeLong, and was born in Kempton, Queens County, 84 years ago. In 1895 she married Charles Franklin Sabean, who predeceased her in March 1959. They lived all their married life in New Tuskett. In her younger days she was very active in church work.

Surviving are two daughters, Helen (Mrs. Eldon Ford), of New Tuskett, and Bessie (Mrs. Geo. Thornton) of Waltham, Mass.; three sons, Kenneth, of New Tuskett, Ernest of Hanover, Mass., and Dwight, of Yarmouth; one sister, Mrs. C. F. Dodge of Newcastle, Mass. She is the only surviving member of a family of thirteen.

The remains rested at Nicholl's Funeral Home until Tuesday and funeral services were held at New Tuskett United Baptist Church with Rev. A. Rogerson officiating. Hymns sung by the choir were "Safe in the Arms of Jesus", "Abide With Me", and "Jesus Saviour, Pilot Me". Pallbearers were Wallace and Edsel Mullen and Earl and Donald Mullen. Floral offerings were lovely.

HOLD SHOWER AT GRANVILLE FERRY

Miss Helen M. Gillatt and Mr. Lionel Kennedy of Sheffield Mills, King's Co., whose marriage takes place in the Granville Ferry United Church on Saturday afternoon, December 3rd, were honored on Saturday evening, Nov. 26th, when friends of the popular young couple gathered in the vestry of the United Church and tendered the bride and groom-to-be a pre-nuptial shower. F. L. Fields on behalf of those present, presented Helen and Lionel with numerous attractively wrapped gifts which they were assisted in opening by Miss Donna Meisner and Miss Gloria Bower. After the gifts had been admired and the couple had expressed their thanks and appreciation a jolly sing song was enjoyed with Miss Myra Mills at the piano. Prepares Toys For Christmas

Mrs. R. B. Lent, the recently elected President of the Digby Red Cross, presided at the December business meeting of the Branch, which was held last week at the Court House. Mrs. Lent was congratulated on her new office by the Honorary President, Dr. T. W. Hodgson, who took his place in the audience for the first time in twenty-one years, and also gave the report of the Sickroom Loan Committee, of which he is now a member.

Mrs. J. J. Brittain, Assistant Secretary-Treasurer, acted in the absence of the Secretary, Mrs. Elton Arnold. In addition to the Treasurer's report, given by Mrs. B. H. Ruggles, the report of the Ways and Means Committee, prepared by Mrs. Ralph Berwick, showed proceeds of $47.25 from the sale of aprons and $16.25 from the special Tea held in connection with the November Annual Meeting. Proceeds from regular weekly Ten Cent Teas had also amounted to approximately $8.00.

The report of the Women's Work Committee, presented by Mrs. H. M. Warne, showed a shipment of 216 finished articles, plus 4,000 gauze wipes for the Blood Transfusion Service, forwarded to headquarters since the Annual Meeting. This included 10 quilts, 7 baby blankets, and over 150 other articles for the layettes, the balance consisting of children's knitting and men's socks.

Mrs. George Winfield, in reporting on the local Disaster Relief work of the Branch, stated that two layettes had been given out and three families with 5 children each had been outfitted with second-hand clothing during the past month. Also, one school child, reported by her teacher to be inadequately dressed, had been supplied with additional clothing. The committee had purchased 16 dolls which were being dressed in preparation for Christmas welfare boxes, and used toys were being renovated for the same purpose. Mrs. Winfield gratefully acknowledged donations of toys from Mrs. Clayton Snow, Mrs. Victor Cardozo, Mrs. Garnet Neville, and several anonymous donors, also from the T. Eaton Company. Several articles, including 5 baby gowns, 6 pairs of booties, and one jacket had been contributed by the Women's Work Committee for welfare work.

At the conclusion of the business session a Ten Cent Tea was served by the committee members, Mrs. Alfred Marshall and Mrs. G. R. Weir.

The Birthday Of The King

The annual Christmas Pageant will be presented in the Weymouth Church of Christ (Disciples) on Sunday evening, December 18, at 7:30 p.m. This is the story of the birth of the King.

The pageant, which is entitled "The Birthday of the King", will be one hour in length and will take the place of the regular "Silent Night" service as he anticipates the coming of the Prince of Peace. He converses with boys playing at shepherds (Dale Sabean, Bruce Hankinson, Patrick Lewis). Two Roman soldiers (Lester Barr, Mel Barr) show their authority as they interrupt these boys at play. An angel (Mrs. Grant Sabean) appears unto Simeon.

The second scene is a modern day parallel of the first scene, featuring a young boy (Mark Nethercott) with his guns, bow and arrows, playing Indian. He, with his grandfather (Albert Jones) hear the Christmas story on radio which has been taped prior to the concert by the choir with Jared Frankland as Pastor. This service impresses the young Indian as he hears about the Prince of Peace.

The third scene is in the stable at Bethlehem with the actors with representatives of the choir (Donna Wagner, Stewart Lewis, Mrs. W. Cosman, Clyde Cosman) gathering around the manger bed with Mr. and Mrs. C. Barr portraying Joseph and Mary, to

Storm Paralyzes Digby Area

A crippling snow storm accompanied by gale force winds on Monday tied up traffic in the whole eastern seaboard.

Digby was caught in the storm and for a time roads in the area were completely blocked with the heavy, drifting snow. Schools were closed shortly after ten o'clock Monday morning and busses started to transport pupils to their homes. Schools in the district did not re-open until Wednesday morning due to snow conditions.

The C.P.S. Princess Helene was forced to anchor in the lee of the north mountain off Port Wade overnight. About one hundred passengers were on board, including sixty-five naval new entries. During the long hours of waiting until the ship was able to dock here at 8:30 Tuesday morning, the passengers whiled away their time singing, playing cards and talking. Some even managed to get some sleep. The women passengers, seven in number, paid tribute to the work of Mrs. Jennie Beckwith, veteran stewardess aboard the Helene, who, they said, did everything possible to make them comfortable.

Society Has Holiday Program

A record attendance and abundant evidence of the Christmas spirit combined to produce the year's most outstanding meeting of the Admiral Digby Horticultural Society, held last week at the home of Miss Mildred Cart. Christmas was indeed in the air as soon as the members arrived and were greeted by the magnificent display of poinsettia plants which almost filled one end of the room with the brilliant red of some twenty blooms well worthy of a professional florist. These had been home grown by the hostess and were the conversation-piece of the evening, besides providing the subject for several colour-films used by the camera fans present.

The holiday mood prevailed throughout the meeting, limiting the business to brief reports, the most important of which was that presented by Miss Louise Daley, chairman of the Flower Basket Committee, stating that sprays of pine, waterproof poinsettias and red ribbon had been made up by her committee for decorating the basket standards along the business district of Water St. These would be put up for the holiday season, after which it was hoped to save the poinsettias for future use, leaving the pine for winter decoration. Miss Daley extended special thanks to Heinrich Mangels for providing the pine for this purpose, and to the other members of the committee for their assistance with the project.

Mrs. Eva Wendell had prepared her usual interesting garden Bulletin, and announced that a Question Box would be provided in the New Year so that members could submit their problems, also topics that they wish taken up in future bulletins and programs.

Following these business matters, the meeting adjourned for the thorough enjoyment of the members' contribution to the program — a large display of table, wall and mantle arrangements for the Christmas season which were filling long tables, overflowing to the floor, and hanging from the chandeliers in a festive assortment of wreaths, candles, evergreens and glitter. Prizes had been donated to provide a competition in these entries, and the President, Mrs. H. A. Nichols, appointed the following judges: Miss Edith Lynch, Mrs. M. P. Pott, and Mrs. Howell, of Stockton-on-Tees, England, who was a guest at the meeting. After a difficult task of comparing the relative merits of the many artistic pieces, the prizes were awarded as follows: Wall Arrangement (Evergreen and Cone Wreath), Mrs. Eva Wendell; Mantle Arrangement (Low Bowl of Greens and Miniature Ornaments), Mrs. Louise Stephen; Table Arrangement (Evergreens with Red Candles and Apples), Mrs. H. M. Warne; Honorable Mention (Hand-loomed Christmas stocking with Honorary and Mrs. G. R. Weir.

After extending a hearty vote of thanks to Miss Cart and her assistants, an invitation was accepted to hold the January

Replica

The clipper ship "Ryan" was towed out of the port of Boston in 1924 to be used as a barge in Philadelphia, Pa. Today she is no more, yet her memory lives because Arthur Delaney, of Wolfboro for two and a half years spent most of his spare time reproducing her graceful lines and towering masts. The reproduction is exact to the smallest detail and it is easy to imagine her racing with the wind on the oceans of the world.

Mr. Delaney followed the sea for 35 years after becoming a lobster and haddock fisherman with his father on the Bay of Fundy when he was 9 years old. During this time he shipped on coastwise schooners and made his final trip on the L. K. S. Hopper built in Stockton Springs, Maine.

Mr. Delaney came to Wolfboro in 1956 and has been employed since that time as boat-builder at Northeast Marina.

Mr. Delaney is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Byron Delaney, Central Grove, N. S.

Celebrates 92nd Anniversary

Mrs. L. H. Morse, centre above, was guest of honor at a dinner held at the home of Mrs. Eva Wendell, Montague Row, Digby, on Saturday. The occasion was Mrs. Morse's 92nd birthday. Mrs. Wendell entertained six at the dinner including Mrs. W. H. Farnham, left above, who celebrated her 90th birthday during the past summer. On the right is Miss Edith Mullen. Other guests were Miss Dora Wayne, Mrs. Otis Bell, Mrs. Mary Thompson and Miss Grace Hicks. An attractive birthday cake and a Christmas table centre gave the occasion the season's festive note as well as a birthday celebration.

Christmas Party On Tuesday

The annual Community Christmas Party will be held at the Digby Forum again this year. Date of the party is Tuesday, December 20th.

Activities are expected to get underway at the Forum on Tuesday at 1:45 p.m. when, through the kind cooperation of Captain F. C. Frewer, of HMCS Cornwallis, the band from the naval base and a covey of sea-going clowns will entertain the youngsters.

Santa Claus is expected to arrive at the Forum shortly after two o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. After his arrival and introduction to the audience he will distribute goodies to the youngsters.

Following his visit at the Forum it is expected Santa will pay a visit to the Digby hospital to distribute goodies to the youngsters who are patients there.

Letter to the Editor

Digby, N. S.
12 Dec. '60.

The Editor,
Digby Courier,
Digby, N. S.

Dear Madam,
You are no doubt aware that the Digby Lions Club is finalizing plans for a decorating contest in the Digby town area, for this Christmas season.

It has been decided that three prizes will be awarded for the three best decorated homes in the area. The prizes will be Silver plated Rose bowls of different sizes, for each of the three winners. The cups are to be engraved, and will become permanent possessions of the individual prize winners.

The date of the actual judging, and the judges, has, as yet, to be decided. However it is hoped to judge the contest area (see advertisement in this issue) between Christmas and New Year's Eve. The contest is in helping the Digby Lions Club to promote this Yuletide contest, in the Digby Town area.

Yours truly,

W.M.S. MEET AT PORT WADE

The Baptist W.M.S. met on Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Arch McGrath. The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Gerald Hudson, and members of the society had Christmas readings. Carols were sung and prayer was given by Mrs. John MacLeod. The evening was spent by everyone receiving a gift from a prettily decorated Christmas tree. Several ladies of the community joined the meeting as guests. Delicious refreshments were served by the society. A pleasant evening was enjoyed by all. The theme was "Keep Christ in Christmas".

CORRECTION

Sorry the name of Mrs. Edmund Guier, Port Maitland, who was a step-daughter, was inadvertently omitted in obituary of Mrs. Myrtle Clifford last week. Also a nephew, Mr. Robert Ruggles.

Urge Farmers Buy Locally

Digby county farmers were urged by the directors of the Digby County Federation of Agriculture to make sure there are no bred beef heifers available locally before participating in orders for carload lots from the west.

It was pointed out at the directors meeting that bred beef heifers are available from the west and farmers in the Digby area wishing to purchase have been advised to contact Roger Freeman of Lansdowne. For the Clare area John Saulnier, of Saulnierville, is secretary of the shipping club.

The meeting decided to further pursue the project of having local agricultural societies organize as districts of the county federation. It was pointed out these could include the Maple Leaf, a district organization covering Weymouth, Gilbert's Cove and Plympton; the Bear River society and a district for the Neck and Islands. In Clare three districts were suggested.

Delegates were appointed by the meeting to the provincial federation annual session in Truro. These were Arthur McKay, Elizabeth Chisholm, Marie Frances Comeau, J. R. Deveau and Edmund Read. John Saulnier, Burtis Freeman and H. M. Warne were named alternates.

ELECT MISSIONARY OFFICERS

The Baptist Women's Alliance World Day of Prayer service of the Weymouth Women's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. Willard Kenney, Ashmore, Dec. 6. The theme, Jesus Shall Reign, was used throughout the service with all members taking part in either scripture reading or prayer.

Officers appointed for the coming year were: president, Mrs. A. M. Rogerson; vice-president, Mrs. M. Z. Sutherland; Potvin, MacCallum 2. M. VanTassel.

overnight visitors last week of Mrs. J. M. Wallis.

Ralph Dunn, Lansdowne, left on Saturday to spend the winter with his son, Henry, in Hamilton, Ont.

Miss Mable Holdsworth returned home after visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Marvin White at Halifax and in Truro, where she attended the Nickerson-Lewis wedding.

Mrs. Elizabeth Russell returned from a pleasant vacation to Connecticut, U.S.A., with friends. She also visited Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island and New York State.

The staff and manager of the Fundy Restaurant presented Joanna Goodwin with a lovely birthday cake at a staff meeting on December 5, where she was elected new president of their staff organization. Arrangements were made for their annual Christmas party which is to be held this Saturday night.

Town To Play Santa Claus

Car drivers who come to the main business section of Digby to do their Christmas shopping will receive an early gift from the town of Digby in the form of free parking from December 16th to December 26th inclusive.

During that period the parking meters will be hooded and people who park their cars along the metered area will not be required to put money in the meters.

Town authorities are hopeful that the merchants and business people of the town will respect the reasons for which this gesture is being made and will not take over the free parking that is being provided for shoppers by using it for their own vehicles.

ham Mullen of Brighton, Digby County, as a result of an accident while working in the woods in New Brunswick.

It is understood Mullen died while on the way to hospital in Augusta on Saturday.

A veteran of World War Two during which he served overseas with the Royal Canadian Artillery, Mullen had worked in several parts of the eastern United States and Canada since the war as a woodsman. He was unmarried.

He is survived by his father and four sisters, Barbara (Mrs. Ralph Height) Brighton; Kathleen (Mrs. Al Nohn), Halifax; Mary (Mrs. Claude O'Neill) Barton, and Marian (Mrs. Oscar Foster) Bloomfield. A brother, William, was killed while serving with the RCAF and a sister, Hilda, also predeceased him.

The body which is resting at the Jayne Funeral Home in Digby will be taken to the United Church in Brighton where the funeral service will be held at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Interment will be in the Barton cemetery.

Fire Strikes During Storm

Prompt action by the Digby fire department prevented the spread of what might have been a most disastrous fire during the severe snow storm and gale on Monday.

The fire broke out about mid-morning in a three-story building belonging to the Maritime National Fish Corp., next to the warehouse of Digby Home Furnishings Ltd. at the Racquette.

Within minutes of being noticed the fire had burst through the roof and walls of the building and was being fanned by the gale force winds. Fears were expressed the nearby warehouse would be destroyed and that the fire might even be spread further by the wind.

The arrival of the fire department and their quick action in getting hoses on the fire soon had it under control, however, and in less than an hour it was pronounced completely out. The building was badly gutted by the blaze, which is reported to have started from a chimney.

Here From Norway

Miss Kari Bernsten arrived in Halifax by plane from Norway on Friday and is spending three weeks in Digby visiting her uncles, Captain S. Bernsten of San Francisco and Reidar Bernsten, Digby, at the home of Mrs. Douglas Syda on Birch Street.

Miss Bernsten is a second year student at the University of Oslo, Norway, and is majoring in languages. She is working toward a degree comparable to an M.A. in Nova Scotia and will take up the teaching profession in her native country when she has finished a six year course. In view of her teaching career Miss Bernsten is greatly interested in learning about the system of education in Nova Scotia. She found a ready informant in the former Nova Scotia Minister of Education, Hon. M. S. Leonard who also told her of his interesting school teaching experiences in the province.

Miss Bernsten arrived in Nova Scotia in time to experience the province's worst in winter weather but is not phased by the wind and snow which she says is similar to the northern part of Norway. The scenery, too, she finds very home-like except she adds, "We have high mountains."

Miss Bernsten's most profound impression during her first few days in the province was the friendliness of the people of Nova Scotia. She exclaimed that she had never met people who were so hospitable and friendly and marvelled at the many invitations for entertainment she had received so soon after arrival in the town of Digby.

Feasting Important To World Observance Of New Year

Gregorian Calendar Unified Our Timekeeping

Feasting is as important a part of a New Year celebration as of Thanksgiving, with a good meal on the first day of the year symbolizing that there will be plenty throughout the days ahead.

The New Year's day banquet differs as one travels around the world. An important dish among the Spaniards is sopa, rice cooked with olive oil, tomatoes, vegetables and meat particles. Africans partake of cous-cous, which is composed of wheat grains, lamb and vegetables. Pickled greens, raw fish, roast bird and shrimp fritters are menu headlines in Japan, with pickled chrysanthemum petals considered a special delicacy. The Swedes temper their feasts with a special drink called glögg which is a claret wine sweetened with sugar and flavored with almonds, raisins, dried orange peel, cinnamon, cloves and cardamom. It is usually set aside before serving.

Feasts in England and Western Europe are similar to our American menus, chief difference being in the choice of side dishes. Turkey, duck or goose make the popular roast in England and in France. Latin countries bedeck their holiday fowl with truffles, chestnuts and olives and one might find snails on the menu in France.

Every year about this time we hear the same story: Christmas is too commercial. It is getting too commercial. Last year, in fact, some grown-ups rebelled and said because Christmas is getting "so commercial" they intended to tell their children that there was no Santa Claus.

Like little Virginia O'Hanlon, who wrote the famous "Is there a Santa" letter to the editor of the New York Sun, children are very easily disillusioned. But like Virginia, they need only reassurance from someone they believe in to sustain their wonderful belief. It is entirely wrong for us to shatter their dreams.

Christmas is commercial in some aspects. Thousands of people earn a livelihood working the year around in toy shops or factories which produce Christmas specialties. This in itself does not make Christmas "too commercial" for toymakers have produced Christmas novelties for hundreds and hundreds of years. In there are little Virginnias.

Let's face it—there are no easy New Year resolutions. With each new year, man makes all kinds of promises to himself and to others. And each year these same promises and resolutions fall by the wayside even before the NEW year's off the incoming year.

There is no easy resolution, for no resolution is worth the making unless it corrects a fault or curbs a bad habit. Something must be sacrificed if a resolution is to be worth while.

The chief reason most resolutions are never kept is because they were impractical to begin with. This year, 1955, we might all resolve that we will make no foolish resolutions that we shall not be able to keep.

With the world situation being what it is at the present time, we might all do well to settle on one single resolution—the will to work together for the achievement of a world peace. If we do this, and each live up to our individual responsibilities in regard to the achievement of such a high ideal, no other resolutions will be required.

LAURETTE

LAURETTE was dining alone in her apartment, while outside the tempo of a New Year's Eve celebration grew in intensity.

It was quiet, sitting there by candlelight, a beautiful moment to reflect back over the 12 months just ending—except that tonight was so crucial! Tonight the vigil would end, the problem would resolve itself. But which way?

It was a strange thing they had done. Just a year ago tonight, while all New York was going mad welcoming the New Year with raucous gaiety, they had been sitting in this very room—yes, Harry over there in the big arm chair and she, Laurette, in the very chair she occupied at this moment. "Laurette," he used to call her, not "Laurette," the name everyone else used, but "Laurette," the convenient abbreviation he had invented.

"I'm a failure, Laurie," he had said. "Five years on the same job with nothing to show for it, a thinning head of hair and an almost empty bank account."

Laurette remembered how she had tried to comfort him, and then the bombshell:

"No, honey," he had said flatly. "It's no use. We can't be married, for I'd merely be fastening a millstone around your neck. I'm leaving—leaving you right now!"

She had cried, protested, and then he had agreed to make a game of it. His parting words, still vivid, were:

"If you'll wait a year, Laurie, dear—a year from tonight. If I've succeeded, if I've made something of myself by then, I'll be back. A year from tonight. If not, well, you'll never see me again."

She still remembered the firm set of his shoulders as he walked out the door that night, bound he knew not where.

She remembered the questions their friends had asked. Where was Harry? Away on a long trip, she had replied, at first. Then she had ceased to offer excuses, and of course the friends stopped asking questions.

Only once had there been word of him, and then only very indistinct news.

I saw him getting into a cab on Market street, Bill Collins had told her upon returning, on a trip to San Francisco. "At least I think it was Harry. Saw him only an instant, though, and I couldn't be sure."

Midnight came, and the noise reached a mighty crescendo.

So tonight she was waiting. On God and she and Harry knew how important was this New Year's Eve. Bill Collins had asked her out for the evening but she said, no, she wasn't feeling well and would stay home. Then he asked if he might drop around to her apartment and she had said, yes. Bill had given her a puzzled look, but only God and she and Harry knew.

Laurette washed the dinner dishes, brushed her hair and straightened up the living room, because Harry used to enjoy singing in front of the hearth with his pipe.

At eleven o'clock there was a knock at the door, and Laurette's lady next door, pausing long enough to extend the inevitable "Happy New Year!"

"What's happy about it?" Laurette wanted to ask her.

She picked up a book and tried to read, but it was no use. Midnight came, and outside the noise reached a mighty crescendo. At that moment Laurette suddenly realized that Harry had failed her; New Year's Eve was over, and he hadn't kept the rendezvous!

Then the telephone jangled and Laurette leaped to answer.

"San Francisco calling Miss Windsor," said the operator. Then a long silence, while Laurette held her breath. Hadn't Bill thought he'd seen Harry in San Francisco? Finally, the operator came back. "I'm sorry, Miss Windsor, but our lines have apparently gone over, and he hasn't kept the rendezvous!"

Then Laurette had an idea. "Operator," she asked, "was that call addressed just to Miss Windsor?"

"Wasn't there a first name?"

"Why, I guess so," came the reply. "Yes, here it is—to Miss Laurie, Laurette Windsor. That's you, isn't it?"

"That's it!" Laurette shouted gleefully. "But only one person in the world ever called me that!"

Turkey Dinner

Planning a turkey dinner for Christmas? If you are, and you want to be sure it's a "good" bird when you place it on the festive table, then follow these tips in preparing that important part of your holiday meal.

Be sure all wing-tip feathers are removed. They may be pulled out easily by pressing the skin between the feathers down to the tips of the quill with the forefingers of one hand and pulling the feathers straight out with the other.

The drum stick can also be greatly improved by pulling with a pair of pliers as many of the nine heavy tendons in each leg as possible.

Singe your bird the easy way. Put a few teaspoons of rubbing alcohol in a jar lid, light, then rotate the turkey slowly over the flame. The bird should then be washed with soap in lukewarm water, using a scrub brush, then rinsed in clear water and dried.

Don't stuff the turkey until just before putting it into the oven. Three skewers should be used before closing the cavity and a large square knot tied after each skewer so the lacing won't tighten. If there is not sufficient opening to let off steam, the dressing will get soggy.

In roasting the turkey, you'll find that the wing-tips can be brought over the back and tied to make a "rack" on which the bird will rest in the roaster.

The first Christmas cards were mailed in 1846 by Henry Cole, an Englishman. The cards depicted a Victorian family assembled at the festive board and bore the now-famous greeting: "A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to you."

Old Superstitions About Eating Of Mince Pies

Many writers say the mince pie originated in Germany, while others claim that its beginning is lost in the annals of history. Nonetheless, it was an essential part of the Yuletide celebration in early England.

Old superstitions held that any person refusing to eat mince pie would be unlucky for the coming year. Should he accept the invitation, and partake of mince pie during the holiday season, he would have the same number of happy months during the year as the number of houses at which he ate mince pie.

Christmas Was Once A Movable Feast

Christmas was once like Easter in that it was a movable feast, celebrated on a different date each year.

St. Cyril, bishop of Jerusalem, is responsible for establishment of the universal date we celebrate today. In 337 A.D., with the permission of Pope Julius I, St. Cyril appointed a commission to determine, if possible, the precise date of Christ's nativity. The theologians of the Church finally agreed upon December 25, and since the year 354 this date has been celebrated.

'NIGHT BEFORE XMAS
Dr. Clement Clarke Moore was ashamed of his famous poem, "Night Before Christmas" and would not acknowledge that he wrote it for more than 20 years.

The Puritan government of England outlawed Christmas in 1643. With the restoration of the Stuarts, Christmas customs and traditions were revived, but Christmas never regained its former prestige in England.

HOLIDAY at HOME

IT WAS three nights before Christmas and Margaret was packing to go home. Contrary to traditional sentiment, she was not happy about it, for she had planned to stay in New York with Ralph. With considerable forethought she had even planned the day; church in the morning, Christmas dinner with Amy and Bill, a walk down Fifth avenue at twilight, a snack of supper, and the theater.

But Ralph had been invited to a "swell house party in Philadelphia." Margaret slammed down the top of her suitcase. She could have borne up under a Christmas with a lonely mother or an unwedded sister. "What about me?" she had longed to cry out, but she had, instead, smiled and said that it was just too marvelous, wondering meanwhile if Mr. Johnson would let her have an extra day off. Ralph had only to go to Philadelphia, two hours away, while she had no one within 500 miles!

Several hours later she stood on the porch of a white frame house.

Now she was ready, bag in hand, for the midnight train. As she started for the taxi, she smoothed her black tailored woolen frock over her slim hips. If New York hadn't been particularly kind to her, it had at least taught her how to dress.

She couldn't sleep on the train. Closing her eyes, she saw the cluttered desk which she had left at Roswell's Advertising Agency, and Mr. Johnson's kindly face which he had told her to go home for Christmas. She saw Ralph's desk in the manager's office, Ralph dancing in Philadelphia, Ralph opening Christmas gifts, and just Ralph, with whom she would never again share good times.

There was a three-hour wait for the local train at Pittsburgh, but Margaret was too tired and depressed to leave the station. After buying a magazine featuring an article on men, and an astrological delineation of her birthsign, she settled herself into the practical task of trying to determine her future in this most unpredictable world. Several hours later, not much wiser but much more weary, she stood on the porch of a white frame house.

The door opened and Margaret blinked. "I want!" shouted Ralph triumphantly. "She came on the midnight train!" Mrs. Brown rushed out to the hallway and embraced her daughter in an ample, motherly embrace. "Margaret! Why child, you're a sight! Your face is as black as coal!" Margaret withdrew herself from her mother's arms and looked at the two of them evenly. "Well, it isn't asking too much, just what is this? Not a weekend in Philadelphia, I believe?"

Ralph took her bag and magazine and helped her out of her coat. "Don't be like that, Margaret. I bet your mother a box of candy against a mince pie that you'd come down on the midnight train!" And what, exactly, are you doing here?" "Margaret!" chided her mother. "I invited myself. A surprise for you, and then I wanted to talk to your Dad about something." Ralph was awkwardly turning the magazine in his hands. "Jumping fishes!" he exclaimed. "Look at the little red book!" He opened it to a center page and read: "The natives of this sign are more than likely to have short tempers." "Give it to me!"

Ralph held it tentatively out of reach and Margaret stamped her foot. "Ralph Wells," she said, "I come home for a rest and the first thing you do is make fun of me. If I have a complete breakdown it's your fault. Give me that book!" "There, there," comforted her mother. "You go upstairs and get washed. You'll feel better." Margaret started up the stairs, then turned in sudden remembrance. "Are you staying over Christmas?" she asked Ralph. "I had expected to."

"You might as well. There's a dance Christmas Eve."

At the top of the steps she turned again. "And don't forget, half of that pie is mine. After all, I did the coming home!"

"Okay."

"She's tickled to death to see you," whispered Mother Brown cautiously. She patted his arm, and Ralph understood.

Christmas Scene: St. Francis Set The Stage

Did you ever wonder about the origin of the custom of displaying the Christ Child in the crib at Christmas time? These displays have become increasingly popular, so that this Christmas we find manger scenes in churches, store windows, even in outdoor locations.

Credited with the idea of the first display is St. Francis of Assisi, who is reported to have said to one of his followers: "I wish to celebrate Holy Christmas night with you. In the woods near the cloister you will find a cave where we shall arrange a manger filled with hay. We shall have an ox and an ass just as at Bethlehem. I wish to see how poor and miserable the Infant Saviour became for us."

This was in the small village of Grecio, in Italy, in the year 1200. St. Francis and his followers celebrated mass at the cave and sang hymns in honor of the Christ Child.

"I am sorry, Mary. They tell stable, a bright new star with the me they have no room." In the distance angels were heard in a great psalm: "Glory in the highest, And on earth, peace to men of good will."

The population of Bethlehem was more than double, the descendants of David, having come to register as ordered by Herod. The journey of a group of Magi, wise men of had been a particularly tiresome Persia. They have followed the one for Mary. The quietness of the brightness of the star in search stable and the small amount of gifts of precious gold warmth it provided was indeed welcomed by both She and Joseph.

Near the hour of midnight, the swaddling clothes, a manger for darkened sky came to life with a his throne, they find the Christ light of ethereal beauty, above the Child

Christmas is for the YOUNG

Christmas is for the young! belongs to the young because these How many times do we hear grown-ups make this statement? Much too often.

Christmas belongs to all of us, o share, to take part in the celebration of the birth of the Saviour, the greatest event in the history of the world.

It seems to some that Christmas will then be young at heart.

For a true Christmas we need only renew our faith in the Saviour born at Christmas time. We, too, it seems to some that Christmas will then be young at heart.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1960

By Dorothy Boys Kilian

THE TELEPHONE rang just as

Chris Jackson had climbed up on the stool to put the silver star on the very tip-top of the fragrant green fur tree.

"It's for you, Chris," Karen said

a moment later. Some strange man.

"They told me here at the drug store," a voice came to him over the wire, "that you might be able to fix up my car. Something's gone seriously wrong with the clutch, and my wife and I are on the way to Detroit for the holidays."

"I'm sorry, Sir, but we don't have night service at my garage.

We're all locked up for the night, and my assistant has gone out of town."

"Can't you come down yourself?" the voice persisted.

"Tell you what," Chris suggested. "There's a train through here at 10:00, and it's only an hour's run to Detroit. Why don't you take it on to the city and leave your car here. I'll get it at first thing the morning after Christmas, and you can get someone to drive you down for it then."

"The hitch is," the stranger replied, "that we've got a new bicycle and a lot of other unwrapped gifts for our grandchildren crammed into the back seat. In fact, we're playing Santa, and we've simply got to get that stuff under their tree tonight."

Chris glanced into the living room and saw Karen holding the star, confidently waiting for him to return to their trimming party.

He was about to say into the phone, "Maybe someday you'll have a garage with all the latest and best," Mr. Baxter said.

"I simply can't make it,"

when a vision of those unknown children in Detroit crowded into his mind. When a little fellow is expecting to see a shiny new bicycle under the tree... and then it isn't there.

A Finished Task

An hour and a half later he straightened up beside the gleaming black Cadillac, wiped his greasy hands on an old rag and said, "There you are, Mr. Baxter.

You'll get that bicycle delivered in plenty of time now."

"Yes, if I can pry my wife loose from your house," the portly gentleman's eyes twinkled. "When I left there a few minutes ago, she and your Karen were in the midst of the coziest coffee huddle you ever saw. It certainly was nice of you to send us up there to wait."

"Oh, well, it was too cold in this garage tonight to have you people stand around for a couple of hours," Chris said diffidently.

"Maybe some day you'll have a garage with all the latest and best," Mr. Baxter smiled. "Like warm waiting rooms and 24 hour service."

Chris sighed. "I'm just getting started, you know, and of course there's another older garage already established in the village."

"I know there is," Mr. Baxter looked grim. "As a matter of fact,

I called them first, and they wouldn't open up tonight for love or money. The owner was having a party or something and just couldn't be bothered."

"Well, you know how it is,"

Chris murmured.

A Good Return

"I know how you are," the gentleman said firmly. "And because of that I also know what I'm going to do. Here's my card."

Chris looked at the white slip and let out a low whistle. "State

Auto Club, Harold F. Baxter, 1st

Vice President."

"We've been wondering about the advisability of designating an official garage for the Club in this vicinity, now that the new road goes through here," Mr. Baxter went on. "And after tonight, I know we need one."

Chris couldn't help gasping.

"You mean—?"

"Yes, I mean you," Mr. Baxter said. "It's dependable people like you we want on our books. And I'm certainly going to recommend your company for the position."

Chris grinned. "My company is just me and a part time assistant right now, but with the advertising your outfit will give us,

Letter to the Editor

15 Lee Crescent,
Edinburgh 15, Scotland,
November 22, 1960.

Dear Friends in Digby County:

I am writing to you now from the church in Edinburgh where I am serving as assistant. Since Christmas will soon be here you may like to hear about our visit to Bethlehem last June.

From the Chapel of the Ascension on the Mount of Olives we could see Bethlehem about five miles away. Then one day we drove there to see the holy places.

"She brought forth her first-born son," and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn."

We know by reading Luke's Gospel that our Lord was born in a place where animals were kept. That would quite possibly mean a shelter with a roof, or a hollow place in the rock. There are many caves. One of these caves has been pointed out from an early time as the actual place where Jesus was born.

We entered by a dimly lit passage with steps going down. One can only reach the passage through a very low door. A story about this entrance door is that it was made low to prevent the Crusaders riding their horses through it into the sacred place. But each person who wants to see the birthplace of Christ can only do so by bending first, which seems proper.

The inn, which had no room for Joseph and Mary, has of course disappeared long ago. The Church of the Nativity was built over the cave in the 4th Century. More highly ornamented than necessary the holy place still inspires Christians of different faiths with the simple grandeur of the birth of Christ. We lingered at the spot for a good number of minutes and as we did in most holy places, joined in a service of prayer and meditation. Here we stood where God had chosen to make himself known to the world. Here Christ was born, a child known only to the humble and the meek.

The Church of the Nativity is built in the Greek style, with a dozen marble columns along each side. The floor was made over since the original church was built, but a few square feet in the new floor can be lifted to show the beautiful old mosaic below. Mosaic is stones placed close together and held with concrete material. The design in mosaic shows flowers and animals as well as figures from the Bible.

Outside, in the sunlight again, we seemed to be in the past and the present at the same time. White-walled buildings with deep doorways might have been the same in Bible times. Some shops are quite modern with large front windows. Donkeys scramble along the streets with their heavy loads. Brightly coloured Eastern cloth-goods and carved wooden figures to appeal to a modern tourist are in the shops and markets.

Before leaving Bethlehem we stopped to see the Shepherds' Fields. They are only a mile from the centre of town and are not used by shepherds now. At this time of year the fields are crowded with people from many countries. On a still night we can imagine the angel telling "tidings of great joy for all people," and across a valley we see the roofs of the little town where was born "a Saviour Christ the Lord."

In the afternoon of our first day in Jerusalem we went to the places where Jesus probably was during his last days there. The "Via Dolorosa" is a route as near as possible to the one along which our Lord carried His cross. It is from Pilate's judgment-seat to the place where tradition says he was crucified. The 19th chapter of John's Gospel says that Pilate brought Jesus forth and sat down in the judgment-seat in a place that is called The Pavement. There is a piece of Roman pavement discovered in 1931 that is very likely that place. Roman paving-stones were about three feet square. Some of these are ridged as if intended for horses and chariots to pass over them. But most of this pavement has been worn quite smooth by human feet. Some of the stones have triangular and stars marked on them; these were used in games which Roman soldiers played while waiting for a prisoner to be handed over to them. One day the prisoner that they saw being tried was wearing a crown of thorns!

The excavations in 1931 also uncovered a Roman archway over what had been a street. It is believed that this archway is where Pilate brought Jesus out to the people and said to them "Behold the man!" (John 19:5). These words in Latin "Ecce Homo" have given the name to the Convent built over the Pavement and the archway, "Ecce Homo Convent".

From Ecce Homo the Via Dolorosa, or "Way of Sorrow," is through narrow streets, up steps, around sharp turns, to the Church of the Holy Sepulchre. There are sounds on every side of us, men calling what they have to sell, a radio blaring Arab music, Muslims reciting their prayers, children crowding everywhere. Here and there are men sitting down at some gambling-game and older ones smoking their hubbly-bubble pipes. On Good Friday every year a procession passes along the Via Dolorosa, the men carrying a heavy cross. When Jesus carried his cross along that route there was probably the same confusion in the streets that we find now. The Church of the Holy Sepulchre is built where tradition says the crucifixion took place. The three crosses were placed outside the city walls. We find the Church of the Holy Sepulchre inside the walls now because later walls have been built which enclose more space than the old ones did. The rock-face of the hill is exposed on the inside of the Church. In this a place is shown to us where the cross was erected and also where the earthquake on Good Friday split the rock. The tomb, also inside the Church, can be entered by only three people at one time. A slab of marble, which occupies half of the space in the tomb, is where our Lord's body was laid by Joseph of Arimathea and his friends. It seems almost too perfect.

Now as Christmas comes again I send you greetings from the old land and wish you all the best during the year to come.

Sincerely yours,
Bruce D. MacMartin.

HOPE THAT SUSTAINS THE WORLD... If there is anything more touching and inspiring than the sight of a little boy or girl waiting patiently for the arrival of his beloved Santa Claus, the world has yet to produce it. With boundless hope, after hanging up his stocking, he finally goes to bed, knowing as surely as he knows his own mother and father, that the Giftbringer will have been there when he awakens.

Christmas Card Idea Originated By Englishman

Christmas cards are so much a part of the modern Yule season that one seldom stops to wonder how the idea originated and by whom.

This simple idea of wishing your friends a Merry Christmas brought honor and knighthood to the originator, Henry Cole, a middleclass Englishman.

Cole mailed his cards on a December day in 1846. The cards depicted a Victorian family assembled at the festive board and the traditional Christmas custom of giving to the poor. They also bore the now-classic greeting: "A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to you."

He had a thousand of the cards struck off by a lithograph. They were such a success that plain Henry Cole subsequently became Sir Henry Cole.

The cards we send today, however, are far cry from those mailed by Cole. The cards you send and receive this year will be designed by famous names in contemporary art.

An American shopping for cards this year may select scenes painted by such famous people as Winston Churchill, Britain's prime minister and famed amateur artist, and Grandma Moses, one of America's most famous artists.

The demand for cards is so great that many companies spend their entire time in designing and producing them for the holiday season.

Most Beloved Carol Is 'Silent Night'

The most beloved carol of the many that are sung in all parts of the world is "Silent Night" that simple and tender German song.

Its origin was unknown for many years. Recent research, however, disclosed that it was written by Joseph Mohr, an assistant priest in Oberndorf in South Germany. The melody was composed by a schoolmaster, Franz Gruber.

The poet and the composer were part of the choir that sang the carol for the first time on Christmas Eve in the Oberndorf church in 1818.

The night it was sung the small church's organ was out of order and the choir sang to the accompaniment of a guitar.

Since then the carol has been sung to the tune of almost every musical instrument in the world and in the languages of nearly all men.

That Reindeer Is Becoming a Tradition

That reindeer is becoming American tradition.

Once upon a time there was a reindeer with a built-in flashlight bulb for a nose. You know, Rudolph, the red-nosed reindeer.

From a small beginning in 1938, the little animal with the built-in beacon has become as familiar as Humpty-Dumpty and Cinderella to youngsters everywhere.

First invented as a sales giveaway promotion for Montgomery Ward by Robert L. May, Rudolph was featured in many free booklet before he became associated with Christmas. Songwriter Johnny Marks liked the title "Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer," so he wrote a song about it. He was so sure he had a success that he started his own Publishing company, using "Rudolph" as his first release. Gene Autry made the initial recording, and that one record sold 2,000,000 copies.

Last year, there were 16 different recordings of the song for sale, ranging from boogie-woogie by Sugar Chile Robinson to Birt Crawford and cowboy singers.

Joseph Proved His Love for Mary, Mother of Jesus

Joseph, the bible relates, had to prove his faith in and love for Mary before they were married. It is one of the great love stories of all times.

When Joseph thought of Mary, he forgot the difference in their ages; she was the girl he had waited for, his beloved. They were espoused—or, as we would say, engaged—which was almost as official as being married. His heart soared on wings of the approaching wedding day, and then...

What Mary insisted had come to pass, simply could not be! Joseph wanted desperately to believe Mary, but such things just didn't happen, and if they did, they happened to somebody else.

Much as he loved Mary, Joseph was a righteous and God-fearing man and while he couldn't even think of making her a public example, he had just about made up his mind to put her away privately.

That is, he thought he had made up his mind. In his heart, he knew he couldn't; what would become of her... of her child...

Then one night, after he had exhausted himself with tortured thinking, he fell asleep and the angel of the Lord appeared to him in a dream, saying:

"Fear not," the angel spoke up to Joseph.

"Fear not," the angel had declared unto Mary.

"Fear not," the angel spoke unto the shepherds of Bethlehem.

"Joseph, thou son of David, fear not..."

And when Joseph awoke, he did as the angel had bidden him, and took Mary as his lawful and cherished wife.

The demand for cards is so great that many companies spend their entire time in designing and producing them for the holiday season.

The birth of the Saviour was the greatest event in the history of the world. In spite of all the backslidings, Christian peoples have pressed forward steadily.

However vicious and corrupt the world today is far better than the world of pagan times; familiarity with the cross and crucifixion has abolished legal tortures and much cruelty—and, if given a chance, might shame us into banishing the curse of international viciousness for the sake of Him who became the Saviour of Man kind.

Puritans Outlawed Yule as Frivolous

The Puritan government of England outlawed Christmas in 1643.

With the restoration of the Stuart Christmas customs and traditions were revived, but Christmas never regained its former prestige in England.

It is observed religiously in the churches and as a day for family unions and social gatherings, in contrast to the lavish feasting and riotous merry-making of old times.

Merry-making and gift-giving came in for their share, however, on December 26 which is Boxing Day. The origin of Boxing Day indicates Christmas and can be traced to the custom of gift-giving during the Roman festival of Saturnalia.

In Christian liturgy December 21 is observed as the feast of St. Stephen, the first Christian martyr and during the centuries when journeymen and apprentices were in the habit of levying upon their masters' customers, "Christmas Boxes" were collected on St. Stephen's day.

The Christmas Story...

On that night many years ago, as white stars glittered and angels' voices rang out triumphantly to proclaim his coming, there was born unto mankind, a Saviour. Humble shepherds, gathered in the fields tending their flocks, heard the message and came in haste to visit the babe lying in a manger, and they were filled with joy.

Far to the East, the Wise Men saw the great Star of Bethlehem and they followed it to where the Young Child was, bringing rare and precious gifts in their adoration.

Across the ages, the ever-wonderful story of the birth of Christ inspires mankind with a feeling of new hope. Today, in the spirit of the Holy Season, it is for us to rededicate ourselves to His teachings and humbly pray that the ideal of brotherhood will light the way to a lasting peace in this troubled world.

Let us rejoice in the true meaning of Christmas with sincere reverence and harken to the words of the angel, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

I'll Be Home For Christmas

(Mrs. John P. Outhouse, Tiverton.)

Now remember, darling, if you do not get a letter from me, I'll be home for Christmas, promised Steve, as he held Marie, his wife, close to him on the station platform, that gray November day.

As Steve kissed Marie, the conductor's voice called out, "All aboard," and then Steve was gone, striding down the platform, to disappear up the steps of the train.

Marie stood, a forlorn little figure, crying alone on the deserted platform. She watched the train as it slowly gathered speed, to finally disappear, swallowed up in the distance, leaving nothing but the faint echo of the rhythmic clickety-clack of the wheels - on the track, and the low mournful wail of the whistle.

Blindly she walked the quarter mile to their little house. She went in and stood by the window.

"It's all your fault!" she cried, shaking her fists at the back field. "If you had yielded the crops that you should have, Steve would not be going away!"

She buried her face in her hands then, and cried long hard sobs that came from the very bottom of her heart and shook her whole body.

Yes, she and Steve had been married a year ago, when Steve had been released from the Army. Now when their first crop had failed, he had decided that he was not cut out for a farmer, he would have to go to Montreal to try to find work. He was sure he could get work as an accountant, or perhaps as a reporter.

"Marie, are you there?" Mrs. Burke, Marie's mother, opened the door, and took the sobbing girl in her arms.

"There, there," soothed Mrs. Burke. "Steve will be back soon. He won't stay away from you very long. Does he know about the baby?"

"No," sobbed Marie. "He was so worried and upset about things as they are, that I was afraid it would upset him even more if he knew that there was a baby coming in six months."

Mrs. Burke did not scold her daughter, instead, she said, "Well you will have a big surprise for him when he comes home at Christmas. Now dear, I think we had better be getting home. I have to get dinner started. You know how furious your father gets when his meals are not ready when he gets in."

Marie went through the house locking doors, and making sure the windows were fastened down securely.

Finally she was sure she had taken care of everything, and that nothing or no one could disturb neither the inside, or the outside of the house.

"Good-bye, little house," she cried silently to herself as she locked the storm door. Then she and her mother were speeding down the highway.

Marie had promised Steve that she would not stay alone, that she would stay with her mother and dad, who lived about a mile from them.

It was three days after Steve had gone that Marie received a telegram from him. It said, "ARRIVED SAFELY IN MONTREAL STOP ALL MY LOVE STEVE".

At first when Steve did not write, Marie told herself that he must still be looking for work and did not have time to write. But when Christmas came and went and she did not hear from him, and he did not come home, she knew that something must be wrong. Could he be sick? Had he been hurt? Could he have become the victim of amnesia? A thousand questions poured through her mind. The long nights became almost unbearable. Sometimes she would awaken from hideous nightmares in which Steve was being held by a mob of cutthroats who were about to kill him, or that he was lying dead on the train tracks, having been run over by the train, then sleep would not come for the remainder of the night.

Finally, the doctor told Marie that she would just have to try to stop worrying so much, because of the effect it was having on her own health, as well as that of the baby.

"You must think of other things," he told her. "Think about your baby, make plans for him. Go shopping, buy clothes for him. Talk with other expectant mothers. You could read books on Child Care so you will know and understand how to care for the scullawag when he arrives."

"I'll try," smiled Marie.

"That's my girl," answered the doctor.

So, after following the doctor's advice, and with a bit of help from the medicine he had given her, Marie gave birth to two healthy, bouncing babies, a boy and a girl, in July.

"If only your daddy were here to see you," said Marie as she bathed them for the first time, on the kitchen table.

But the time went on. Summer was over, and fall had come, then Christmas again, but still no word from Steve.

When the twins, Mary and Steve, were one year old, Marie took them and moved back into their own house. Now she was so busy with the care of the children, that she had less time to worry about Steve.

Almost before Marie realized it, the twins were five years old, and this was their first year in school. They were practising for a Christmas concert, and they were very excited.

"Mommie, Mommie," Mary called excitedly, on the afternoon of December the third, as she ran breathlessly into the kitchen. "Guess what, I am to be Mary, the Mother of Jesus, in the Christmas Pageant, and Stevie is to be one of the shepherds."

"Oh, that's wonderful," exclaimed Marie, looking down into Mary's dark eyes that were dancing with excitement. "We will have to go to grandmother's after supper, she will help us with the costumes."

So they had gone to grandmother's after supper, and in no time Mary had a costume that Mary herself might have worn those long, long years ago, and Stevie could easily have passed as a shepherd tending his sheep.

A hush fell over the crowded school room as in the background, childish voices rose loud and clear, singing "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks By Night". Then the voices grew softer as one of the pupils stepped out from the group and in a voice that was hushed, yet clear enough to reach even the most remote corner of the room, began to read the aged Christmas Story of Jesus' birth, which is recorded in the second chapter of Luke.

"She brought forth her first born Son, and wrapped Him in swaddling clothes and laid Him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the inn." There was Mary kneeling beside the manger, that was holding the new born "baby". "Oh," thought Marie to herself as she felt tears stinging her eyelids, "Mary looks almost like an Angel herself, with the halo above her shiny black head, and her adoring little face as she looks at the baby."

"And there were also shepherds abiding in the same country keeping watch over their flocks by night," continued the young reader.

Marie smiled to herself seeing Stevie up on the stage, standing so straight and tall like his dad.

"Stevie would be so proud of you, thought Marie to herself. Soon the concert was over, the costumes taken off and in their place, the children were being bundled into thick woolen mittens and caps, and coats.

"Right pretty little girl you have there," said one of the neighbours. Marie smiled at him. She knew her Mary was a pretty little girl.

The sky was sprinkled with millions of bright glittering stars, and the moon made a shining silvery path for Marie and the children as they walked home. The snow made a crunchy noise under their feet.

"I bet it was just like this the night Jesus was born," said Stevie as they were going up to the house.

"Except there was no snow," reminded Marie.

Marie got the children unbundled and into their pyjamas. After they had eaten cookies and milk Marie heard their prayers and tucked them into bed. She returned downstairs to fix the fire so it would burn all night. Suddenly there was a knock at the door.

"Now who on earth could that be this time of night," thought Marie to herself as she went to open the door.

A stranger, a young man, rather shabbily dressed, stood there.

"How do you do," said the stranger, not removing his hat. "I wonder if I could come in for a few minutes to get warm?" he inquired.

"Of course," answered Mary, full of pity for the young man. He came in and Marie pulled the rocking chair nearer the stove for him to sit in, while she put some fresh coffee in the pot to brew.

"Do you stay here alone," asked the young man.

"No," smiled Marie. "I have two children."

"Then you are married. Is your husband not home?" asked the young man after a few minutes of silence.

"My husband went away before the children were born," answered Marie, gripping the edge of the chair. She found that just the mere mention of Steve brought all the memories of him flooding over her, leaving her weak and trembling.

"Are you married?" Marie asked.

"Yes, I too was married once but because of my foolish, stubborn pride, I lost my wife."

"How terrible!" sympathized Marie.

"Well, I must be going," said the young man getting up to go. Seeing Mary's doll lying on the cot, he picked it up. After looking at it for several minutes, he put it down again, very gently. He seemed reluctant to leave the cozy kitchen. Marie felt so sorry for the young man.

"Well, thank you very much for letting me come in, Marie, and for the coffee."

Marie was fixing the fire and was not looking at him when she answered, "You are very good," when it suddenly dawned on her that he had called her by name.

"You know my name," she asked, glancing at him. He had removed his hat for the first time since he had entered the house.

"Oh, Marie, can you forgive a husband's foolish pride and take him back again?"

"Stevie!" cried Marie, as with one rush they were sobbing in each others arms.

There were so many questions to ask, and so much to talk over, but that could come later. After all, they had a whole lifetime ahead of them.

With their arms around each other, they went to the foot of the stairs where Marie called the children. "Mary, Stevie, Daddy has come home for Christmas!"

Rise, happy morn, rise, holy morn.
Draw forth the cheerful day from night.
O, Father, touch the east and light
The light that shone when Hope was born.

— Tennyson.

LET YOUR JEWELLER BE YOUR GUIDE.

December is a month for giving and receiving. In traffic, if you give consideration to other drivers, you'll receive added years of safe driving.

If you're a driver planning to attend a holiday party, remember this: that last "one for the road" can mean two for the hospital. Stop and think a bit before getting behind the wheel of your car. Alcohol and holiday traffic are a deadly combination. Don't take them both on at once.

Traffic accidents rise sharply during the Christmas and New Years season — and one big reason is — the driver under the influence of alcohol. Being the life of the party can be the death of you. Remember, alcohol and accidents do mix — and the result is often fatal.

Mistletoe Once Symbol Of Evil

The mistletoe, once a weapon of death, later became to be considered as a magical medicine, is now a universal symbol of love and peace.

It was with a mistletoe arrow (according to Norse mythology) that Loki killed Balder, the sun god, after Balder's mother had obtained a promise from all living things, other than the mistletoe, that they would not harm him. Balder was restored to life and it was ruled by the gods that the mistletoe would never again be used to do harm.

Ancient Europeans considered the mistletoe a magical medicine. They carried it about with them for health and luck, and believed it a cure for ulcers and epilepsy as well as a charm promoting fertility.

The present day custom of giving a kiss of love or peace beneath the mistletoe, although a relatively modern one, is derived from the fact that down through the centuries the mistletoe has been recognized throughout the whole world as a symbol of lasting peace.

Gift-Giving Custom In Ancient England

One of the most plausible versions of the origin of the custom of giving gifts at Christmas time is the one saying it began in England.

In the days of the knights, it was custom to hang kissing rings in the great halls. These rings were decorated with mistletoe and beneath them would meet the young knights and ladies, each bringing Christmas roses to their secret love.

As times changed, so did customs, and roses gave way for other personal gifts at Christmas time.

It Can Be Wished In Many Languages

"Happy New Year!"
As the year rolls westward from the Admiralty's date line, these words will ring out in many languages.

Should you be in gay Pares, the greeting you'd hear would be "Bonne Annee!" Down in sunny Italy, they say "Buon Capod'Anno!" which doesn't sound too different. In Spain, it's "Feliz Año Nuevo!"

If you have relatives or friends in Germany, they may write, "Ein Glueckliches Neues Jahr." If so they wish you a Happy New Year. The Swedish and Norse greetings are different from the ones above although they are almost the same. The Swedes say, "Godt Nytt Ar," and the Norse, "Godt Nytt Aar." Any way you hear it, though, it seems the same. The three words mean not only Happy New Year but imply best wishes for all the days ahead.

Your Christmas Fireside Can Be Bright With Color

If you wish to get as much "color" as possible in your Christmas observance, here's a novel idea.

Pine cones, small kindling or chips can be so treated as to give off colored flames when burned in the fireplace. Dipped or soaked in a solution of various salts of certain metals, cones or chips will burn with a distinctive color. Cones will not readily absorb water, so salts must be suspended in a solution of turpentine.

Compounds which produce specific colors when burned are: Red—strontium chloride; green—barium chloride; blue-green—copper oxide or copper sulfate; orange—calcium chloride; lavender—potassium chloride; and yellow—sodium chloride.

A second method—if only cones are to be used—is to dip the cones in paraffin and before the paraffin hardens sprinkle with the following chemicals for desired color effect: Green—copper sulfate; red—strontium nitrate; orange—calcium nitrate; and yellow—sodium chloride.

New Year Gatherings Are Ancient Tradition

Gathering with family and friends to celebrate the New Year is a custom older than when the date January 1 became accepted as the first day of the year.

Watching the old year out and the new year in is one of the oldest and most universal of all celebrations. The ancient Romans got together, although they celebrated the New Year in the spring, to wish each other health, wealth and happiness in the days ahead.

And, long before this time, the Vikings built huge fires at the turn of the year to propitiate their fierce Norse gods.

It Cost Him His Son

I should like to remind the readers how great was God's gift to men.
In these days, when scientists are contemplating making an attempt to reach the celestial worlds we are all aware of the distance involved and the majesty of God's work of creation. Yet, God had but to speak to make the universe. When He made the way of redemption it cost Him so much more. It cost the Gift of His Son. That is why Christmas means so much to those who know Him as their Saviour.—W.W.B.

CHRISTMAS SUPERSTITIONS

There is a Scottish belief that to be born on Christmas is to have the power to see spirits and even to command them. Sir Walter Scott says that the Spaniards attributed the haggard and downcast looks of Phillip II to the terrible visions he was able to see because he was born on Christmas.

French peasants believe that babies born on Christmas have the gift of prophecy.
 In Silesia a baby born on Christmas will either become a lawyer or a thief.

In Middle Europe it is said that if a baby is born at sermon time Christmas Eve, someone in the house will die within the year.

English mothers used to take sick babies to the door Christmas Eve midnight. Mary was expected to pass with the Christ Child. If the baby recovered, it was a sign that it had been touched by Christ, with healing fingers, and if it died, the Christ Child had called the baby to be His playmate in heaven.

Do not use candles on the tree or nearby where there is any chance for an open flame to contact the tree or combustibles piled beneath the tree.

Marriage

Harper — Francis
 A very pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Matthew's Church, Weymouth Falls, on Saturday evening, Dec. 17th, when Vivian Francis, foster daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Jarvis, became the bride of James W. Harper, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Harper of Limestone, Maine.
 The bride looked lovely in a street length gown of white brocade satin. The bodice was a fitted, long torso style, with a full skirt falling from the hips. The sleeves were three-quarter length, and she wore a shoulder length veil, and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses.
 The bridesmaid, Joanne Bailey, looked charming in a white and yellow nylon dress with a white headpiece. She carried a bouquet of white roses.
 Gifford Jarvis was best man. The single ring ceremony was performed by Rev. E. C. Irwin, rector of the church, and the wedding music was rendered by St. Matthew's choir, with Mrs. Beulah Jarvis, organist.
 Following the service a reception was held in St. Matthew's Hall, to about 80 guests.
 Mr. and Mrs. Harper left on Monday for Limestone, Maine where Mr. Harper is stationed with the U. S. Air Force.

In the last few years it has become more and more popular to decorate doors and doorways with bells and tree ornaments instead of the conventional wreath.
 Your door and window frames can be made bright and cheerful by framing them with ribbon and sprigs of holly. You can hang the ribbon in festoons across the curtains and tie at the sides in wide sash bows for colorful effect.

The winner of the turkey, raffled by the Weymouth Fire Department, was Mel Barr.
 Delia Gaudet of Hecanooga visited Mr. and Mrs. Felix LeBlanc last week. At the same home were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Theriault of Meteghan Centre.
 Two Christmas Concerts were held at Weymouth Consolidated High School this week. One on Friday evening, presented by grades 4, 5 and 6 and the other on Tuesday afternoon by grades primary, 1 and 2 and 3. Both concerts were a huge success. A committee was appointed by the Home and School to assist the teachers in any way in preparing the concerts.

SYMPHER — In loving memory of our precious father, Scott Symphe, who passed away Dec. 23, 1958.
 If I could have one wish come true, I'd wish, dear Dad, I still had you. Others have lost their dads, I know, But you were mine and I loved you so. As long as I live I will always be glad That out of this world I had you for a dad.
 — Always loved and remembered by his daughter, Frances, and son-in-law, Earl. 17:15

THERIAULT — In loving memory of Herbert Joseph Theriault who passed suddenly away in December, 1956. The month of December comes with regret. It brings back a day we shall never forget. You went away without a goodbye. But memories of you will never die. He left us suddenly, his thoughts untold. But he left a memory we are proud to hold. Quickly and quietly came the call. His death was a shock to all. Time takes away the edge of grief. But memory turns back every leaf.
 — Always remembered by his son, Richard, daughter-in-law, Myrna, and granddaughter, Vida Theriault of Lockeport. 17:15

HALL — In memory of John Irving Hall who passed away December 20, 1959. I think of him in silence His name I oft recall. There is nothing left to answer But his picture on the wall.
 — Loved and remembered by Rena Gosson. 17:15

ABOUT THIS AND THAT

Christmas Lives On

In a few more days Christmas will be here. Lavish preparations have already been made. Lights are gleaming from store windows and homes calling attention to the observance of the great day. Decorated trees adorn the best room in many homes. Gifts are already wrapped to grace the mantles and shelves with exciting curiosity for young and old. Everybody seems to have taken on a gay holiday and festive mood. But this is but the superficial side of the Christmas observance. All of these can be cast aside, laid away or thrown out with the wrapping papers and colored ribbons when the Christmas Day has gone by. With the ascending of the superficial will be heard from many quarters a sigh of relief that now it is all over for another year.

But what of the real meaning of Christmas? Surpassing the glitter and holidaying there is a deeper and more abiding observance to Christmas. This is when time is taken to meditate upon the great reality — Christ, the Lord, is born to bring to all mankind peace, goodwill and the promise of salvation. This is the real Christmas message. This observance of Christmas will remain in hearts of men for the remainder of day, this observance of Christmas lives on forever.

Each in his own heart must choose his way of celebrating Christmas in 1960. The superficial has its place but alone it is worthless and meaningless. To realize the full meaning of Christmas, the one which keeps the Christmas spirit living on, we must take time to worship the Manger Babe, who gave Himself for mankind.

Pride In Our Town

The Digby Lions Club is to be commended for its effort in developing interest in Christmas decorating for the homes in Digby by offering prizes. We know of a particular town on the South Shore of Nova Scotia where emphasis has been put on decorating stores and business houses to attract people to the town for shopping. Stores remain open every night during the month of December to the 25th so that people can come from miles around to see the glamor of the lights and decorations and shop at the same time.

Driving for long distances to see Christmas decorations is not unusual. There is something fascinating about the brilliance and show. Beautiful scenes depicting the Christmas story always bring admiration. If these decorations are in the homes they, too, attract people to town and the Lions Club is assisting business as well as developing Christmas artistic beauty and promoting the Christmas observance.

There is one keen disappointment in respect to the Christmas decorating. Already this year thieves and vandals have been snatching the Christmas light bulbs from outdoor decorations. If the bulbs were being used it would even be better than having them scattered to the four winds just for sheer devilry. But this seems to be the mode of vandalism at Christmas time in Digby. One does have to wonder what sort of a mind is within the same framework that conveys the bulb snatching hands. What is the pride that ought to be shown in the town instead of a matter of destructive negligence. These are the people who do not will grow up to say, "Why doesn't Digby have some industry?" Remember, you must show a pride in your own town before there is any hope of attracting others to it.

We appeal to parents. Give the Lions Club a chance to put on these project of Christmas decorating. Talk to the young people about the pride they should have in making Digby attractive. People cannot or will not continue to decorate if they are forced to the expense of bulb replacement every other day. Let's help make Digby a really attractive town this Christmas.

Message From The Nova Scotia Highway Safety Council

The Nova Scotia Highway Safety Council again is urging business and industry to "dry up" the Christmas office party.

Figures prove, says the Council, "that the early hours of the Christmas holiday are the most dangerous. And many of these highway accidents can be traced back to the office party and its flowing bowl."

Again this year the Council is asking business and industrial concerns to take a long, hard look at their office parties and either keep the cork in the bottle or eliminate the parties.

The effort to remove highball hilarity from office parties is a part of the campaign the Council is waging to hold down the year-end accident toll, traditionally the heaviest of the year.

The Council asks for the active support not only of business and industry, but of religious leaders of all faiths, public officials, traffic police and civic groups in a united effort to hold down the usual year-end surge of accidents.

The Council emphasizes it has no desire to dampen the traditional Christmas spirit.

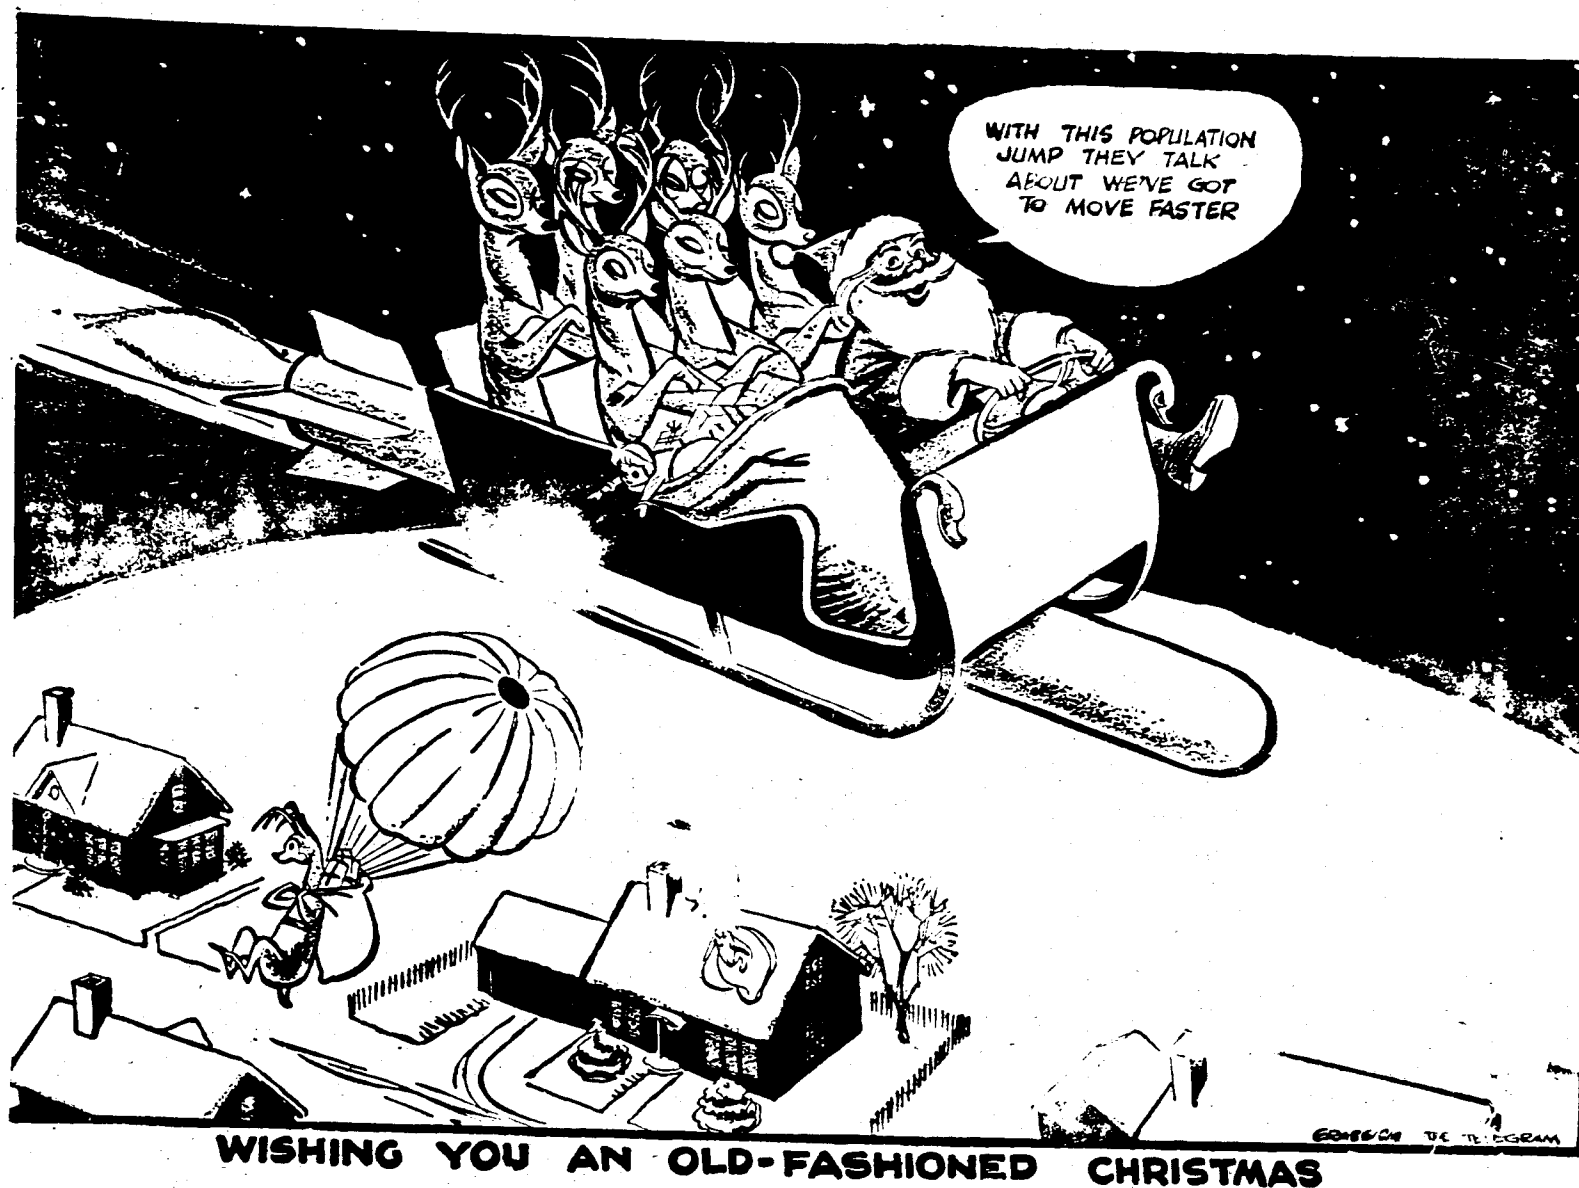

"On the contrary," it says, "we are trying to eliminate the sources of highway accidents — accidents which can completely ruin Christmas for anyone they touch."

"There is no surer way to make a mockery of Merry Christmas than to have an accident."

Churches and synagogues are urged to influence their members to keep the threat of drinking drivers to a minimum over the Christmas holiday season.

"Drinking and driving," the Council points out, "are a lethal combination — not only at Christmas parties, but any time anywhere."

"Let's make our holiday toast this year, 'None for the road'."

Report From Parliament Hill

Honourable G. C. Nowlan

December 19, 1960.

Parliament has been working steadily away during the past week and I am quite certain that when the time for the Christmas adjournment comes, on the late afternoon or evening of December 21st, it will have accomplished more during this period of sitting than any other similar Parliament has ever done in Canada's history.

One of the principle matters under consideration this week is a Bill whereby the Government of Canada will increase substantially its contributions to Provincial Governments to enable these Governments to develop much more widely than heretofore facilities for technical training. I am not now referring to engineering schools, but schools available for mechanics and tradesmen to learn skills which unfortunately many of our people apparently do not possess. This is an age of automation, an age of skills, and when one studies the figures of our unemployed, one is shocked to find that the great majority of the men presently unemployed have no special skills or training whatsoever. In other words, they fall largely within a category of what is known as "day labour". This is a situation which must be rectified. The Government is under no illusion that this will provide an immediate solution to our unemployment problem. This is a long term matter and we are embarking on it in that way.

The legislation, when enacted, will provide facilities, not only for young men and women presently attending high schools and vocational training schools, but will also provide training for those who have left school, and who wish to return. For either short term or long term instruction. At the present moment, as we all know, there are unfortunately in Canada many unemployed men and women. Of course, unemployment is to some extent a technical term. For instance, a few years ago when the fishermen stopped fishing, they simply came ashore and lived in their homes until the next fishing season opened. Now, due to unemployment insurance, once they come ashore, they become "unemployed". Regardless of the number of unemployed, the sad fact remains that there are many, many vacancies and openings in Canadian industries today for men of special skills and training in industry and we have not the men available in Canada to fill these openings. Employers are looking to immigrants from Europe to meet these needs, and this is a situation which cannot longer be tolerated.

Another matter of interest, outside of Parliament itself, has been the arrival here of the Cuban Trade Mission. That may have caused some raised eyebrows in certain quarters, although I do not think it has been misunderstood whatsoever in Washington. Our trade relations with Cuba are normal. It has been reported that the Cuban Mission has been looking for special concessions, loans, etc. If so, they were bound to be disappointed. But if that was in the back of their minds, they certainly succeeded in burying it very carefully. All they wanted to do here is buy Canadian goods for which they are prepared to pay cash. Providing these do not include strategic material, or goods imported surreptitiously from the United States, then we have no objection whatsoever to their carrying out their mission. The fact that the Cuban Government may or may not be partially Communist dominated is not an issue. As a matter of fact, the outstanding Communist Government of all — Russia — has a trade agreement with Canada which has been re-negotiated on several occasions, and was again signed last year.

Another matter which has incurred some publicity has been the increase of taxation on automobiles. This has been misrepresented deliberately, to some extent, and has been the matter also of propaganda on behalf of our sales dealers who wish to increase their sales. The storm has now blown over. The increased taxes went into effect on December 1st. This was a routine procedure on the part of the Department of National Revenue which has under review at all times discounts granted in countries of origin. You will understand that our whole Customs Law is based on the "fair market value in country of origin". We are, of course, referring now to free economies and not state controlled countries. At one time, the British producer granted substantial discounts to car dealers and we followed the same discounts here. Gradually, during the years, these discounts apparently have been reduced. It finally became a matter of criticism and complaint on the part of Canadian producers, and when we investigated the matter, we found that we were not carrying out the law and our discounts were all out of line. We accordingly adjusted them in keeping with the fair market value in the country of origin. If the British producers raise their discounts, we will raise ours accordingly. The greatly increased cost has proved to be a figment of the imagination. In this connection it must be remembered that the British car comes in duty free. All it pays is sales and excise tax which amounts to 17½ per cent. All European cars, of course, have to pay the sales and excise tax, and they also have to pay a duty of 17½ per cent. In other words, the price on the European cars should have doubled over that of the British car, according to the propaganda which one heard. The facts are that the Volkswagen has increased across the board from the Atlantic to the Pacific, fifty dollars. In other words, on the basis, the comparable British car should have increased twenty-five dollars. The Renault car, however, made in France, has had no increase whatsoever. Similarly with the Simca, imported by the Chrysler Corporation. Similarly with all Ford products. None of these have had any price increase whatsoever.

Mr. and Mrs. David Long-

Some dealers reaped a harvest for a few days in making quick sales in anticipation of substantial car increases. Perhaps they will find it more difficult to sell to the same customer in the future.

The Christmas Atmosphere

This is that big season of the year when mysterious packages are brought from their hiding places, in an atmosphere of expectancy. A flood of fancy cards arrives in the mail from far places, from folks, some of whom have been slightly forgotten for twelve long months. The shopping centers swarm with last minute customers bent upon securing just anything to cover the code of Christmas gift-giving.

Amid the evergreen and the confusion, the true meaning of Christmas too often lies deeply buried. The sparkling colorfully lighted trees, the rich food, and the gaiety must not crowd out the reality of the Christ-Child.

He is no myth. He is not a character lost in the oblivion of ancient history. He is a living factor to be taken into account 1960 years after His coming. The masses celebrate, but often they may not know of the gift of inner power which this manger Child offered to a floundering fear-ridden world.

The Christ of Christmas will bring peace, perhaps not to the unbelieving world, but at least to the individual who will pause and look up. The Christmas experience is not complete until the Divine declaration becomes a personal hope.

Obituaries

Miss Edith F. Hughes

Miss Edith Frances Hughes, one of the last remaining descendants of a pioneer Digby family, passed away Friday after a lengthy illness. She was 79 years of age.

Born in Digby, Miss Hughes was the daughter of the late Charles and Ella (Ruddock) Hughes. A very religious and devout person, she served for many years with the late Rev. Sister Catherine, daughter of Rev. Dr. Ambrose, long time rector of Trinity parish in Digby, and St. Michael and All Angels Home in Philadelphia. She returned to Digby following her retirement.

Following her return to Digby Miss Hughes took an active part in the work of Trinity parish, particularly in the altar guild. Through her efforts and devotion a systematic method of caring for and storing altar linens, liturgical hangings and clerical vestments was developed in Trinity parish church. Until illness no longer permitted her to, Miss Hughes cared for the communion vessels and altar linens of the church and often spent long hours in the church making sure all necessary preparations for services had been completed.

She is survived by one brother, Kenneth, in Victoria, B. C. A cousin, Captain Harry Hughes of Victoria, also survives.

Funeral service was held from Trinity Anglican church, Digby, at two o'clock Sunday afternoon. Interment was in the family lot, Forest Hill cemetery. Rev. James Pike, parish rector, officiated.

A Light In Darkness

By Rev. Zeidman

The coming of Christ was a demonstration of God's infinite love to mankind by the giving of His only begotten Son, that all who accept Him might have everlasting life. It was as Paul expressed it, God's "unspeakable gift." This great event of Christmas was foretold by the prophet Isaiah: "The people that walked in darkness have seen a great Light: They that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the Light shined."

This Light is also referred to by the prophet as "The glory of the Lord," which is to be revealed to all mankind. That is why the angels on that first blessed night cried, "Peace on earth; goodwill toward men." The Prince of Peace, throughout the ages, has brought peace that passeth all understanding to those who believe in the Babe of Bethlehem. It is a peace the world cannot give.

In the Christmas story, Jesus, Mary and Joseph were strangers and refugees in Egypt, where they fled from the cruel despot, King Herod. Let us at this time, when so many strangers and refugees are coming to Canada, extend a hand of fellowship to them.

T.C. — Temperature Changes — can have a profound effect on driver's chances of getting through a winter safely, says the Nova Scotia Highway Safety Council. Tests have shown that ice is much more slippery when the temperature is near the melting point than when it's near zero. Automobile stopping distances on ice under near-melting conditions are more than twice as long as on ice during near-zero weather, when not using tire chains.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

a STRING of LIGHTS

By Don Wheeler

WE WERE in a dust covered box that sat in the corner of Mr. Barker's attic. All through the year no one ever bothered about us, but now, at Christmas time, we know that once again we would be the center of attraction. Grumbling and grunting, Mr. Barker lifted our box into his arms and started down the attic stairs.

Being a rather plump fellow with a stomach that protruded so far he could see his feet, he was, I regret to say, somewhat clumsy. About half way down the stairs he stumbled and our box went tumbling down the stairs. I was uninjured, but I'm afraid some of my friends suffered from the fall. A few minutes later we were all unpacked and laid on the huge dining room table.

"Well now, let's see, John," said Mrs. Barker. "We can use this string of lights, and this string of lights, oh we don't want to use this old string again, John! They've been around here for years. Throw them out in the trash with these other things that were broken when you fell."

I was shocked! For years I had been used to decorate the Barker's Christmas tree, and now, simply because I was getting a little old, they were throwing me out! It is true that my popularity with the Barkers had declined through the years. When I was new I was used at the top, but each year

About halfway down the stairs he stumbled and our box went tumbling down the stairs.

I seemed to find myself placed lower and lower on the tree.

Unwanted Home

My friends, most of them broken in tiny pieces, and myself were cast upon the trash pile in the alley. I felt sorry for them. They had many years of use ahead of them had Mr. Barker been more careful, but now they could never be used again. But what of me? I wasn't broken; only a little old.

For two days I lay on the trash pile with my broken friends, and then, on the third day, a small child, who seemed to be searching the trash cans in the alley to see if he could find something of value, came upon me. With a cry of delight he gathered me into his tiny hands and scampered out of the alley and to the edge of the small town, where he lived in a broken down little old house.

How glad were his brothers and sisters when they saw me! That evening they trimmed their tiny tree. It was scarcely three feet tall, and I was the principle item of decoration. One of my lights was placed at the top of the tree and the rest were wound in and about from top to bottom. Then the tree was placed in the front window and for the first time in my life I was given the task of lighting an entire tree.

That evening it snowed and snowed and the wind whistled harshly about the corners of the house. I was glad that I was in a warm house instead of being on the trash pile in the alley.

A Visitor Comes

Suddenly there was a loud rap on the door. When Mr. Cullen opened it I heard a man's voice ask, "Have you seen the Granger boy? He was out playing this afternoon and hasn't come home yet. We think he's become lost in the storm. The whole town is out looking for him. Would you like to help Mr. Cullen?"

Mr. Cullen quickly put on his coat and scarf and followed the man into the dark cold night. They had been gone only about twenty minutes when again there was a knocking at the door. When Mrs. Cullen opened it, in stepped a tall man, carrying a boy in his arms. The boy's ears and nose were blue from the cold, and his teeth chattered.

"Mrs. Cullen," said the man, "this is Tommy Granger. I'd like to leave him here while I go tell his parents we've found him and send word to the others to stop searching. It's no wonder he was lost in a storm like this. I was almost lost myself until I saw the light from your tree in the window."

How proud I was when I heard those words. My lights seemed to brighten and shine as they had never done before, especially the one at the very top of the tree.

Make Greetings Real

By Rev. H. J. Simpson

For many years the familiar phrase, "A Merry Christmas", has served to convey the best wishes that one heart can have for another. It will never wear out because the wishes rest on the only true foundation for human happiness, Jesus is the beginning and the fulfilment of all our joys, and He abides forever the same.

Our greetings must not become a meaningless litany of words. They must mean Christ and His salvation. They must mean that we, too, go along with the shepherds to Bethlehem to worship at the manger crib, to receive Him into our hearts.

They must mean that we and our friends are to walk in the brightness of His rising — even as did those dignified seekers who came out of the east bearing gifts. Surely these are harbingers of the coming day when all earth's wise men shall bow the knee before the King of Kings and Lord of Lords.

There are so many ways by which we may crowd our seasonal greetings with new and more blessed meaning. Let us study them and so use them that this Christmas shall be happier and brighter than ever.

About This and That

Seats Filled At Last

After the third try the seats of the town council are filled. We still feel that townspeople in general are lacking in civic interest when no election needs to be called. Vice versa, we also feel that elections tend to create more civic interest. We do feel that our three councillors elected by acclamation are well chosen despite the fact that much persuasion was needed to convince these people that their services to the town were necessary.

Mrs. Helen Anthony is serving her second term. Mrs. Anthony has given fine service on the council for the past two years and has certainly put a great deal of time and thought into her special job of town welfare. As should be known, the taxes paid by Digby citizens cannot be scattered hither and thither to underserving persons. It has been the job of Mrs. Anthony to determine who in the town has been deserving of welfare. This is no easy task but one which Mrs. Anthony has done nobly.

Both Earl Morrell and Bruce Baxter are well known in the town and have the abilities to make wise decisions on matters of importance to all the Digby residents. Their quiet business-like personalities are assets for the tremendous job of handling town affairs. Both are capable of expressing opinions and uttering sound judgments when called upon to give expression on matters concerning town affairs.

Again we plead to the town people to become interested in town affairs in the general running of the town. Attend a few council meetings and see what transpires each month. It is easy to become alert to any contentious or specific issue but there is much to be learned about the general running of town affairs. For example, how many people would realize that the removal of snow in town after the last heavy fall early in December might cost the town around one thousand dollars? The same people who say "Why isn't the snow removed in front of my house?" are probably the same people who say, "Why do I have to pay such high taxes?" How many people study the balance sheet and budget of the town? It can be at your disposal if you wish to obtain it.

We extend congratulations to the incoming councillors and we feel they too, would appreciate the constructive interest of their fellow citizens in the task they have set themselves to do. We also extend congratulations to the retiring councillors in "a task well done." The further services of these people would certainly have been appreciated but we also believe in sharing the responsibility of town affairs among more of the towns able citizens and business men.

Holiday visitors at the home of Mrs. J. M. Wallis were her daughters, Mrs. D. G. Garnham and Mrs. K. H. Chappell, and Mr. Chappell, Dartmouth.

Rev. Capt. Desmond McConnell, B.A., B.D., Galetown, N.B., were holiday visitors of Mrs. McConnell's parents, Rev. and Mrs. H. R. Hughes.

Report From Parliament Hill

December 19, 1960

This week the House of Commons took a historic step with respect to the Divorce Law which heretofore has applied in the Provinces of Quebec and Newfoundland. It happened so quickly that most Members were not aware of what had transpired until it was all done, and certainly the Members of the Press Gallery were the most surprised of all.

I think most of my readers are conversant with the problem. Under the British North America Act, the Parliament of Canada is given exclusive jurisdiction with respect to the law concerning divorce. As a matter of practice, the Parliament of Canada has never enacted any general divorce law. The reason is fairly obvious. Divorce is a problem which involves great moral and religious questions, on which very strong feelings are held by all individual Members. Some are bitterly opposed, some would like the divorce laws enlarged, some would like to have at least the minimum divorce law which presently prevails in many Provinces. Why does it prevail in certain Provinces and not in others? The answer lies in constitutional law. As I said, the Federal Government has the power to enact the Divorce Law. Each Province has the right to set up a divorce court to administer that law. In the absence of the enactment of a divorce law by the Parliament of Canada, the Provinces can adopt the divorce law of England as it prevailed at the time of Confederation. Nova Scotia had adopted a Divorce Law many years before Confederation, the then English Act, and as a result our Divorce Courts recognize cruelty, as well as adultery. In any event, all of the Provinces except Quebec and Newfoundland have Divorce Courts administering the law as it was at a certain time in the United Kingdom. But the residents of Quebec and Newfoundland, being deprived of a Divorce Court, have adopted the proper constitutional practice of coming to the Parliament of Canada and asking for a special Act dissolving their own particular marriage. Hence, Mary Doe would petition the Parliament of Canada to enact legislation granting her a divorce. This is introduced into the Senate and is considered there. Now there are many wise cracks and jokes made about the Senate. Certainly, however, they do not apply to the Divorce procedure in that place. The Senate has had to deal with hundreds of divorces each year and the number is increasing. Formerly they had one committee dealing with divorce. Last year they had to divide the Committee in two so that virtually two divorce courts were sitting almost every day of the week. And I can assure my readers that this Divorce Committee administers the law just as strictly as does any Divorce Court in any Province where they exist. Lawyers appear in their gowns, the witnesses are sworn, strict Court procedure is followed. That is of the business of the Senate.

Gives Report On Radio

While visiting in Saint John, N. B., last week, Miss Verileia Ellis, Digby, was a guest at radio station CHSJ and gave the report of the Digby High School Hit Parade. Verileia has been accustomed to giving the report by telephone from her home on Wednesday afternoons, so the broadcast from CHSJ was a new experience. Verileia said Mr. Wayne Moore treated her wonderfully and made her feel comfortable and "at home" to give her broadcast. She was particularly thrilled to be the first school reporter to be introduced on the program as well as to take part in some of the announcements. She was most interested in watching procedures of the announcers getting their programs lined up and hopes that she will be able to accept an invitation to visit the station at a future date.

Earlier in the year a contract was awarded to the Robb Engineering firm of Amheyst for the steel substructure and this work was finished before the expiration of the completion date.

The Kenney Construction Co. will begin the work on the new contract immediately and the completion date set for it is June 15th, 1961.

The Joggin Bridge project will be entirely finished, with the exception of the paving, upon the completion of the work covered by this contract.

Carols By Candlelight

In The African Bush

By: DIANE OLIVER

One December day in 1937, a young man in Melbourne, Australia, had just said good night to his children after having a fine romp and playing a game of Santa Claus with them. It was Christmas Eve, and from the radio came the strains of carols.

The young man went to the window to draw the curtains in the fading light. He stood there quite still, his attention arrested by what he saw across the way.

A Poignant Picture

In a window stood an old lady, holding in one hand a lighted candle and in the other an open book. She was singing a Christmas carol. The candlelight softly illuminated her face and greying hair, framed in its boudoir cap tied under her chin. Joy was reflected there in the soft golden halo.

She was quite unaware of being observed, and sang with rapt attention and happiness. It was then that a great idea was born in the young man's mind, the idea of an open-air festival combining candles with carols, under the stars of Christmas Eve.

The originator of the idea could not have guessed that, ten years later, "Carols by Candlelight" would have become a national institution, and that in Melbourne alone three hundred thousand people would be taking part. Among the visitors were a man and woman from Johannesburg, South Africa. They found Melbourne agog with excitement and anticipation. White candles in gaily-coloured candlesticks had been sold for weeks beforehand. The couple determined that South Africa, too, should share this wonderful spiritual experience which they had enjoyed. They returned to start the custom, which has since spread far and wide.

I had the good fortune, last year, to be visiting my son in Northern Rhodesia, in the Copper Belt country, where the townships lie long distances apart. The magic of Christmas was with us, and everything was being done to capture it, in spite of the fact that it was summertime there.

"Carols by Candlelight" had found its way among us. The festival was being organized in Nkana, a town thirty miles away across the African Bush. The sports-ground of the Rhokana Club was to be used, where, the previous Christmas two thousand people had gathered. That year many more were anticipated, and covered seating accommodation in stands around the grounds were provided.

People came from far and near in their thousands - mothers, fathers, and children of all ages. Leaving our car we made our way to the entrance, where programmes and candlesticks complete with candles were being sold for half a crown. The proceeds would be given to the fund for the Northern Rhodesian Association for the Blind.

United Effort

Once we had found seats with our two-year-old, a rustle of anticipation arose. There were the massed choirs of the Anglicans, the Roman Catholics, the Non-conformists and the Dutch Reformed Churches to lead the singing; there was the Rhokana African Band to play. It was thrilling to know and feel that here in Africa all Christians had made this combined effort for the great Christmas festival.

The band struck up, illuminated by searchlights, and the chorus sang "Glory to God in the Highest". Then Father Christmas paid us a visit. A fanfare of trumpets announced his arrival, and a great cheer went up from the children as he drove his sleigh round the giant Christmas tree and lit it up, then wished all boys and girls season's greetings, with the aid of loud-speakers, and departed to the singing of "Jingle Bells". I can still recapture the thrill of those moments.

A Mass of Light

Next came the candle-lighting ceremony. From each end of the field, hundreds of candles lit up one at a time from each other, until there was a fairytale of twinkling lights.

Then came more carols. "O, Come All Ye Faithful" and "Hark The Herald Angels Sing".

Next, children of the convent school sang "Oh, Little Town of Bethlehem", and children of the African school sang carols in their own language. Tableaux were beautifully staged by children of the Frederick Knapp School.

Finally came a carol for the children to sing - "Away In A Manger" - and "The Hallelujah Chorus" when all the people stood, to complete a great and wonderful spiritual experience.

REDUCE CHRISTMAS HAZARDS

To avoid tragic Christmas accidents in the home, the Fire Protection Institute issues these precautionary tips:

—Use a flame-proof compound to spray wreaths and other pine decorations.

—Use materials which are marked flameproof for tree trimmings and home decorations if they are obtainable.

—Inspect Christmas tree lights and repair frayed wires or loose sockets.

—Never leave Christmas tree lights burning unless someone is around.

—Never throw gifts near an open fire or flickering flame. Dispose of paper and other inflammable wrappings immediately.

Drivers who are "on the defensive" are likely to get through the hazardous winter season without an accident, says the Nova Scotia Highway Safety Council. Stopping distance is lengthened considerably for vehicles being operated over slippery road surfaces. The most important rule is SLOW DOWN. Even with the real help provided by tire chains, the luxury of speed should be dispensed with on snow or ice.

Sandy Cove

Mr. and Mrs. Spurgeon Jeffrey spent the weekend with their son, Victor, and Mrs. Jeffrey, Digby.

Mr. Jack Batson and son, Bill, were Sunday guests of Mr. Batson's daughter, Mrs. Frank Jeffrey, Mr. Jeffrey, and family.

Mrs. R. W. Sypher left on Wednesday to spend an indefinite time with her daughter, Mrs. C. Sparks, Mr. Sparks and family in Halifax.

Miss Dianne Trask, Halifax, is spending her Christmas vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Trask and family.

A Problem Resolved

By Don Wheeler

TYLER TURNABOUT placed a tray of sandwiches on the buffet in the dining room and hurried to the front door to welcome the first of his New Year's Eve party guests.

"Well, Tyler," said Robert Benson, ushering in his wife. "Don't tell me we're the first to arrive? I thought the Harrisons would be here at least."

"Nope, not them," said Tyler with a good-natured sneer. "They live right next door, but they're sure to be the last."

The Bensons seated themselves in the living room while their host went into the kitchen to assist Mrs. Turnabout in putting the final touches to the party preparations. The minutes ticked by and the guests drifted in, until at last they were all there, even the Harrisons from next door.

"Look here, Turnabout," said Tom Harrison as he planted his left foot squarely on the middle of the piano bench. "This is the time of year for making resolutions. I've made a few myself and I'd like to know if you've done the same."

"Me? Made any resolutions? I hadn't given it a thought, Tom, old boy."

"Well I have," said Harrison, lifting his foot in the air and bringing it down on the piano bench with a thud. Mrs. Turnabout

"You'll never stick to it, turnabout," he said.

scowled from across the room, so Harrison retreated from the piano bench and leaned against the wall nearby, pausing only to grab up a cup of coffee from an end table as he did so.

Bob Benson, who had caught the opening of the conversation, moved along with him. He was aware of the friendly arguments the two neighbors had indulged in over a period of several years. He knew a trap was being set for Tyler Turnabout.

"Well, Tom, let's hear some of your New Year's resolutions," said Benson, pulling up a chair.

He Tells All

"I've resolved," said Harrison, looking at Tyler, "to figure out some way to keep your dog out of my flower bed this spring. Further, I've resolved to figure a plan which will make you cut your share of the grass between our houses—by the way, you still have my lawn mower from last summer—a plan that will make you shovel your share of the snow off the front walk." Harrison gulped some of his coffee and continued, "A plan that will keep the branches of your apple tree from hanging over into my back yard, and a plan that will keep you from using my garbage can when yours is full."

Harrison indicated a full garbage can by raising both hands above his head and as a result his coffee cup crashed against the wall and fell to the floor.

Harrison apologized for the action Mr. Turnabout seemed unconcerned.

Most of the other conversation in the room had ceased and the others had gathered around the two smiling. The clock on the mantle showed that it would be a New Year in five minutes.

An Easy Solution

"Tell you what I'll do, Tom," said Tyler, "I'll make a resolution that guarantees you won't be bothered by any of these things this year."

"You'll never stick to it, Turnabout!"

"I guarantee it," said Tyler with a broad grin.

"All right, Turnabout. You make that resolution if you keep it, and I know you won't for just three months. I'll cut your grass for the rest of the summer. If you don't, then you cut mine. Agreed?"

"Agreed," replied Turnabout with an even broader grin.

"Let's shake hands on it before the New Year, just to make it legal," said Harrison.

The New Year arrived with horn blowing, hand shaking, and kissing of wives and then Tyler turned to Harrison and said, "By the way, Tom, I guess I should have told you before, we've sold our house. We'll be moving to the other side of town in a week. So when you come to cut my grass this spring, don't forget to bring your lawn mower with you; I don't have one you know."

Pumping your brakes will give you better steering control when braking on ice or slippery snow. The Nova Scotia Highway Safety Council urges drivers to "pump" rather than slam on the brakes. This will give short intervals of maximum braking separated by short intervals of effective steering while wheels are still rolling.

It's Said — It is bad luck to sew on Christmas or to decorate an upper room.

Season Greenery Will Make Home Echo Xmas Spirit

Did you ever notice that the prettiest homes around the community at Christmas are the ones decorated liberally with the green things of the season? Their festive appearance is obtained easily with proper display of such things as evergreens, berries, seed pods, and pine cones.

These simple decorations are readily available to most everyone at no cost and to use an old expression: "The woods are full of them."

A trip into the country to gather them can also be turned into a pleasant excursion for the whole family and a brief rest period from the "getting ready" for Christmas company parties and holiday affairs.

One word of caution, however: Don't let trees or bushes. Prune carefully when selecting your evergreens.

The Christmas tree — whether large or small—should be the center of the decoration. Place your tree in front of a window, so that its bright, cheerful glow can be seen from within and without. Decorate the tree with balls of red, silver, blue and green, strands of popcorn and various decorations that are saved from year to year.

Be sure to hang a rope of evergreens, a spray or wreath on your front door—these signify to many who pass your home that you are celebrating this joyous season.

A rope of evergreens requires approximately four or five yards of rope. The place you plan to use it will determine the exact length. Next, you'll need several short lengths of wire, short sprays of evergreen, balls, bows, red berries or bells. Place a bunch of evergreen against the rope and faster.

In place with the wire, repeat until the rope has been completely covered. The rope may be draped over the door frame, mantel, or along the stair rail. Pick out other spots where additional decorations like berries, balls or bells will add to the effectiveness of over-all appearance.

Legend Says Christmas Trees Came From Egypt
Legend has it that the Christmas tree originated in Egypt, where the first trees used were palm trees.

The Germans brought the tree to America, however, as they also introduced it to England. The German Prince Albert, consort of Queen Victoria, introduced the first tree into England when he had tree for his young daughter.

Martin Luther is said to have brought the first Christmas tree indoors for decoration early in the 16th century.

When you fasten ornaments on your tree this year you will be commemorating a centuries-old Arabian legend that relates to plants blossomed and flowered at trees miraculously were ripened on the eve of the first Christmas.

SEASONS GREETINGS.

SANTA HAS MANY NAMES
There are nearly as many names for Santa Claus as there are good wishes. Father Christmas, Kris Kringle, and St. Nicholas are some of the names of this jolly, bearded, red-robed and white-mocked old man who brings children and adults alike the joy of the Christmas season and appearance of Santa Claus were originated by an artist, Thomas Nash, who drew a picture of St. Nicholas to illustrate Dr. Moore's poem "St. Nicholas".

Getting the "feel" of the road is extremely important for safe winter driving, advises the Nova Scotia Highway Safety Council. Try your brakes or gently press your accelerator while driving slowly, traffic and highway conditions permitting. Then adjust your speed to road and weather conditions.

This is the month of holiday parties, planned to end the year 1960 with gaiety. The Nova Scotia Highway Safety Council urges all party-goers to drive safely. Careless driving may lead to loss of one's license in injury or death in case of an accident.

Why He Works

Casualty I asked a man with a great deal of money why he continues to work. "Why do you keep going under such pressure?" I asked. "When you could afford to jump in your car and go touring to Mexico or wherever? You've got it made... so why keep slugging?"

We had been having coffee in a Main Street restaurant and his car was parked across the street. "Come for a ride," he said, "and I'll show you why I keep slugging."

Well, to make a long story short, we toured the better suburbs of the city, and he pointed out to me no less than ten very nice homes. In front of some there was evidence of youngsters at play; others had the second car in the driveway — all looked neat and prosperous.

In every one of these homes lived the family of an employee of one or another of my friend's various companies. We then took a trip to the less posh area of town, and he pointed to places where men who worked for him were living. Not in poverty by any means, but in far less comfortable quarters than the others.

"When every person who works for me lives in a darn fine house in a good section of the city, I'll feel I can stop slugging," he told me. "I am sure as the devil not working for myself any more; I've got all the money I'll ever need, and I don't spend much anyhow."

"I think I believe you," I said. "But millions wouldn't. If I wrote you up in my column, at least twenty readers I know would write sarcastic letters to the editors claiming Ambrose Hills had gone soft in the head."

"You try writing me up in your column," he said, "and I'll blacken one of your brown eyes for you."

I have written him up anyhow. I believe every single word he said. If that is soft-headed, okay. I am going soft. I only wish there were more people working hard so that others might benefit, because that is always the result of hard work. There is nothing in the world to share unless it is first produced, and it takes work to increase production.

O, LITTLE TOWN

O little town of Bethlehem.

How still we see thee lie.

Above thy deep and dreamless sleep

The silent stars go by.

Yet in thy dark street shineth

The everlasting light:

The hopes and fears of all the years

Are met in thee tonight.

How silently, how silently,

The wondrous gift is given:

So God imparts to human hearts

The blessings of His heaven.

No ear may hear His coming,

But in this world of sin,

Where meek souls will receive

Him, still

The dear Christ enters in.

Fish Plant Expanded

Fourteen years ago two brothers from the French Shore community of Saulnierville, bordering St. Mary's Bay, decided to open a fish plant.

Full of ambition, they erected a smoke house, a small wooden building to work in and they bought a truck. By the time they were ready to go into operation the two brothers came face to face with a rather unsettling fact — they had no money left with which to buy fish.

From this inauspicious start, Comeau's Sea Foods Ltd., owned by Bernardin and Clarence Comeau, has developed into a thriving organization that is one of the major employers in the area.

The original one-room plant and small smoke house have been expanded so the company now includes: two smoke houses; a one-storey building and a two-storey building for processing herring; a modern scallop packing plant equipped with plate freezer room, cold storage plant, holding rooms, ice making and storage rooms; three other buildings for various types of storage and four trucks.

Under the management of Bernardin and the assistance of the Fishermen's Loan Board, the company has built up a fleet of four 65-foot scallop groundfish draggers, owned on a partnership basis with fishermen.

This year's forecast production includes 13,000 barrels of fresh herring, which will yield 3,600 barrels of processed herring; 12,000 ten-pound boxes of boneless herring along with kippered herring. The plant will also process 1,500,000 pounds of scallops and will handle a quantity of dry pollock.

In the peak of the summer, more than 70 persons were on the payroll not including the 17 men attached to the draggers. Plant manager, Bernardin Comeau, said with his plant and a number of other industries in the area, there was no reason for any able man in the area to be jobless. It is one of the main reasons why young people in the area are not forced outside to find jobs, he said.

Without the plant, he added, fishing carried out at Saulnierville would probably be on a smaller scale than at present.

The company is also providing an important service by filling a large gap in the supply of bait for lobstermen. To date 130,000 pounds of large herring have been frozen and stored at the plant for use by lobster fishermen.

Expansion of the Comeau plant to its present size has not been without difficulty.

Because of poor docking facilities, lobstermen have been forced to use the harbor at nearby Meteghan. When the tide is out at Saulnierville any ships tied at the dock are left high and dry. Consequently, herring boats are delayed off the wharf until the tide is high when they can come in and unload.

During the warm summers, scallop boats have been forced to dock at Meteghan at night, when the temperature is cool for unloading, so the catch can be trucked to the packing and cooling room before there is a danger of it becoming spoiled.

A public works program is slated to improve the harbor and provide a basin by the wharf which, when the tide is low, will retain enough water to keep docked ships afloat.

The department of highways is preparing to pave the road from the highway to the wharf. The plant last year handled more than 20 per cent of Nova Scotia's scallop production. The scallops are packed and frozen, while herring brought to the plant are either vinegar cured (marinated), smoked or else frozen to be used as bait. The groundfish are sold to packers.

About 90 per cent of the fish processed at the plant is exported to markets in the United States.

The company owned boats which fish for scallops in the summer and groundfish in the

New Shipping Method Tried

An experimental shipment of frozen fish from Vancouver to Montreal using liquid nitrogen as a refrigerant was proclaimed a success after the shipment arrived at Canadian Pacific's Place Viger freight terminal, Montreal.

The inventor of the new process, which employs the introduction of liquid nitrogen into the railway car after loading, Willard L. Morrison, of New York, was gratified to see that after almost seven days in transit across the continent, the temperature in the car registered a frosty 52 degrees below zero. Temperature inside the car when it left Vancouver was 100 degrees below zero.

The highly perishable cargo, 49,215 pounds of fresh frozen fish, including salmon and halibut, was received at Vancouver. When loaded onto the railway refrigerator car it measured 10 degrees below zero. Liquid nitrogen was added to bring the temperature down to 100 degrees below. In transit, with no servicing required, the shipment gained only 48 degrees of heat and was in prime condition on arrival.

A team of experts was on hand at Place Viger to check temperature readings when the car arrived. Average temperature inside the car, recorded by thermocouple devices, was 52.1 degrees Fahrenheit, while the temperature of the fish registered 4.5 degrees lower.

Among advantages of the "liquefreez" process noted by the experts, representing Federal and Provincial Departments of Fisheries, International Equipment Company and Canadian Pacific Railway, were the facts that the car needed no "icing" or other servicing en route, there was no need for extra artificial refrigerants, and there was no loss of freshness or flavor to the shipment.

New Film Available

A new Nova Scotia Film Bureau presentation entitled "Nova Scotia Saga", produced by Mrs. Margaret Perry, director of motion pictures for the Nova Scotia Information Service, and narrated by Lloyd McGinnis, CBC-Halifax television personality, is now available for distribution.

The film delighted a distinguished audience at its first showing at Province House, Halifax, where guests included Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Plow, government and civic officials and members of the press. It was shown at the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Board of Trade semi-annual meeting held at HMCS Cornwallis.

An excellent catalogue of the province's many attractions, the film takes the viewer on a tour of Nova Scotia's historic places and monuments. It shows the province's industries and introduces the Nova Scotian people, charming and full of zest for living, often adhering to the songs, customs and speech of their ancestors.

"Nova Scotia Saga" is available from the Nova Scotia Travel Bureau, Provincial Building, Halifax.

"NISSON" VISITS DANISH CHILDREN

The Danish children do not have a Santa Claus, but instead a Christmas brownie, called "Nisson", a little old man with a long grey beard who, supposedly, lives under the ground.

The chief features of a Danish Christmas dinner are roast goose, rice and apple fritters.

Then the storks have left their nests in autumn, boatloads of coarse brown crockery in the shape of little pigs with a slit in the back, are brought to Denmark and bought by the children. They are savings banks into which the children drop their pennies. The image is not broken until Christmas time.

Atlantic Fisheries

"The fishing industry on the Atlantic Coast of Canada has not made as much progress as it could have and should have."

This statement is by C. J. Morrow, President, National Sea Products Ltd., Halifax, in an article in the current issue of "Canadian Fisherman".

Pointing out that Canada has a unique opportunity to benefit from a growing North American market for fishery products, Mr. Morrow suggests that both Government and industry need to look at the industry's problems more realistically.

"I have pointed out that we have a big market at our door. The fish are in our waters, large quantities of them are caught by foreigners and in some cases taken to Europe processed and then shipped to this continent. We, in this area, can increase our production and sales if we go about it intelligently. Increased production will mean increased employment and new wealth. Capital is needed to bring these things about."

"We have to choose between going along as we are — building yearly a small number of boats less efficient than our competitors and mostly for replacement, or we can be courageous and lay plans for the sound expansion of our Fishing Industry with modern equipment and capture a larger share of that huge market that is at our door and which can be ours if we are in a position to service it."

"Government can create the climate to encourage the necessary investment by legislation to make it possible to acquire trawlers and other implements of production at the lowest possible cost. This can be done by, among other things, instituting a system of Investment Allowances which would apply to trawlers built either in Canadian yards or in foreign yards, with the addition of a subsidy for trawlers regardless of size, built in Canadian yards."

"Our Governments, past and present, when thinking of a trawler building program for this country, have always thought of Canadian-built ships. This is a worthy thought, but it is not getting us anywhere. The opportunity is here for us to increase employment and bring additional millions of dollars of new wealth each year to these Atlantic Provinces. It would certainly be desirable to build trawlers in Canadian yards, but if by doing so we are not able to compete in selling our fish with other countries, increased taxes."

Teach the children early self-government, and teach them nothing that is wrong. Mary Baker Eddy.

there will be very few trawlers built. I am referring chiefly to large steel trawlers. There will, in my opinion, be a place for smaller wooden draggers for a long time to come.

"It seems to me to be only common sense for us in Canada to spend $300,000 or $400,000 abroad if, by doing so, we are going to increase our wealth by four or five million dollars in the ten succeeding years."

"It also seems to me to be common sense and good business for our Government to encourage this sort of thing. They can do so without costing out to increase employment and investment Allowances on trawlers, regardless of where built, and if we increase our wealth in this area, as I predict we will, it will not cost the Government anything; quite the contrary, they will benefit through increased taxes."

Collect Insurance In Style

When it comes to collecting unemployment insurance benefits, some residents of Canada's Capital like to do it in style. That seems to be the view of O. L. Boudreau, manager of the unemployment insurance office in Ottawa, who says that a "few" of the recipients of unemployment insurance use taxicabs to travel to the place where they pick up their cheques. Incidents like this make ordinary taxpayers wonder how much the beneficiaries of unemployment insurance really need the money.

On Spadina Avenue, Toronto, there is a regular taxi stand at the building where unemployment insurance payments are made. However, there usually are no taxis awaiting the "clients" of the Rev. Morris Zeidman of the Scott Mission farther up the street. (The Letter Review)

WORLD'S MOST MODERN — First car smashing through a huge paper barrier to mark the opening of Canadian National Railways' new $15 million Moncton Yard signifies a bigger "breakthrough" to Canada's rail transportation industry and a new deal for Atlantic Canada. President Donald Gordon drives the last spike, completing the nation's first automatic classification yard. Working in coordination with a new CN yard to be opened at Montreal next spring, he said it would cut in half the running time of Canadian National freight trains between the Atlantic Provinces and Central Canada. Lt. Gov. J. L. O'Brien and Provincial Secretary L. G. Des Brisay hailed the yard as evidence of the CN's faith in the future of the area and good news to producers and consumers, both so vitally dependent on speedy, economical transportation. Mexican Custom Will Brighten Christmas Party

If you're planning a Christmas party for the kiddies why not brighten up the affair the Mexican way? Make plans for a "pinata" and we promise it will be the high spot of the gathering.

Widely used in Mexico throughout the year, the pinata is busiest at Christmas time, during the Mexican Christmas Festival which lasts 21 days. It is constructed of thin, fragile clay, filled with sweetmeats and trinkets, then suspended from the ceiling as a form of decoration.

Sometimes during the gathering, each of the guests is blindfolded and given a stick which is brandished in the air until the pinata is shattered and the delicious contents pour forth.

Saint Nicholas Was Bishop Of Myra

Saint Nicholas lived some 1600 years ago in Turkey where he was for 17 years Bishop of Myra. Today, the place is known as Demre, the province of Antalya—where his church may still be found and one may yet hear of the generous acts which made his life a great legend and gave him the "Santa Claus" character we all know today.

It is said that Saint Nicholas, a man of great virtue and piety, became the patron saint of boys when he restored to life the son of a rich Asiatic, who had been murdered by a robber-keeper while they were enroute to school at Athens. It is said that he was warned of the crime in a dream but was unable to reach the inn through the door. He restored the boy to life through prayer and the murderer confessed his crime.

Christmas Rose Is Hallowed By Legend

The delicate beauty of the Christmas-rose (helleborus niger) is hallowed by legend. A poor shepherd girl, the story goes, wept bitterly as she watched the Wise Men on their way to the Christ Child bearing rich gifts when she had nothing. An angel appeared upon learning the reason for the girl's distress, the angel caused the ground to be carpeted with shining white flowers. The young shepherdess gathered some blossoms. When she presented her gift, the infant smiled and as his fingers touched the white flowers the petals became tinged with pink.

Hawaiian Christmas Is Elaborate Affair

Although many Hawaiians have seen the only as "tropical Christmas" refrigerators, the trees and the Islanders for Christmas decorations are painted, where to straighten now.

Christmas dinner is an elaborate affair, enjoyed in the privacy of the home behind locked doors and drawn blinds. Any open-house hospitality is an economic impossibility. If the shades are not pulled, and the doors not locked, names about be invaded by hordes of strangers all expecting food and drink.

Gift giving is the order of the day as everyone exchanges inexpensive presents. Even the servants in hotels expect and receive gifts from their hosts.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

By Shirley Sargent

RALPH RANSOME, a forceful-looking, dark-haired man of about fifty, left the office early Christmas Eve. There was no use staying, he reflected almost bitterly, the office staff had been having a Christmas party since noon on company time. His family accused him of not having any Christmas spirit. Well, the office staff had too much of it.

The daily decorated streets were lighted as he walked along the downtown area. Hurling crowds seemed to be in a gay mood. Ralph remembered the Christmas of his own youth. He lived on a ranch with four other brothers and an aunt, two fatherless sisters and his parents. With that many mouths to feed, they were lucky to find a dime, an orange, nuts and a hand-knit pair of socks in their stockings. Now it was vastly different, Ralph thought. Christmas was commercial and presents elaborate, often useless. Molly, his wife, bought the gifts for their three children. A less brilliantly lighted store window attracted him. Sports equipment was exhibited. Ralph remembered his boy's shout of pleasure last Christmas when he had opened something he wanted particularly. "Gee, dad, how did you know? Just exactly what I wanted."

He felt excited. This was fun. And challenging, too.

And Ralph had to say, in honesty, "Thank you mother, son, I just work here."

Julie, his nineteen-year-old, had burst out, "Oh, daddy, it just isn't any fun when you don't take part. You don't even know what you're giving us."

After All, He Paid
Well, who paid for it? Ralph thought now. So long as they got what they wanted, but did they? Maybe Julie and Jim had been trying to show him that they wanted something from him. Something he picked out. Ralph thought again of his boyhood presents that had been made especially for him. Why, he realized, that was what made them special.

The children were right then. All he did was pay for the gifts. This year he could pay double and take a chance that he would choose things they liked. It was supposed to be the thought, not the gift that counted anyway. Why, last Christmas it was that Jim had given him that awful pipe rack. But Ralph had accepted it with pleasure and still displayed it in a prominent place because Jim had worked hard to make something he could use.

And the ill-fitting, hand-knit socks from Martha. Those gifts had meant more to him than any store-wrapped package could. He turned and hurried into the store.

Getting The Spirit

Ralph shopped carefully among the jostling crowds. He thought carefully as to whether the gift would be practical or not, appreciated or not. Molly was first and that was easy for Ralph. He knew she had what she wanted. The children were harder. Julie was in college. She had everything. No, wait. She loved music, the type Ralph had no patience for. A Brahms symphony wasn't entirely practical, but he knew it would be appreciated.

He felt excited. This was fun. Challenging too. Out the shoppers' faces reflected his own growing excitement. Next, year, he vowed, he and Molly would shop together. He backed to the camera department. Martha, their seven-year-old, was a photography fan. He bought several rolls of film and a "How To" book. Then, Jim the boy lacked coordination, yet loved sports. A basketball and a punching bag. That ought to do it.

Later, as he let himself in the house, Ralph could hardly wait to see their faces tomorrow. But he didn't need to wait. As he placed the packages around the tree, Julie's delighted squeal brought the rest of the family in. When he turned around, he met four pairs of shining eyes that expressed their affection more clearly in words.

"Gee, dad," Jim sputtered, "you finally got the Christmas spirit!"

Ralph smiled back at them warmly. "Guess it's catching, and neurable."

Double Santa Claus

By Royce Fields

AS WAS his custom during Christmas week of each year, George Brandon leaned against a pillar in the toy department of the big store, and watched the kiddies. Whenever, with a particularly hungry look, a child picked up a toy or eyed one longingly, George raised his hand. This was a signal to the clerk that the price of the toy was on him.

George was no millionaire. It was just that, not having folks of his own to buy Christmas presents for, he spent his gift money on the kids. It gave him a satisfaction to see their faces light up.

A girl had entered the store and was standing by a pillar near the one George was propped against. He had noticed her, with more than casual interest, when she came in. She had a complexion that was the clearest he had ever seen and, although he couldn't see them at that distance, he would have bet she had blue eyes. Her hair was shining blonde.

When George turned his attention back to the toy counter, a little girl, wearing neat but worn clothing, was eyeing a doll almost as large as herself. He raised his hand. With a slightly bewildered expression, the clerk picked up two dolls, wrapped them, and handed them to the child.

The actions of the clerk puzzled George. He was certain he had only signaled once.

George turned his head to look at the blonde girl again.

The girl caught him staring at her and she smiled. A very nice smile. George would have liked to have a smile like that, just for himself, every day. With an effort he brought his gaze back to the toy counter.

A small boy was wistfully looking at a train. George could picture the kid at home on the floor, playing with it. It would be nice to have a boy like that assemble the toy. He raised his hand.

This time the clerk seemed more puzzled than ever. He started to reach for the train, then instead, he motioned for George to come to the counter. George had been about to go over, anyway, to see what was behind the man's strange actions.

"Do you know that blonde girl standing over there by the pillar?" the clerk asked him.

"No," George told him, "but I'd sure like to. Why?"

"Did you notice I gave the little girl two dolls, when you signaled?"

"Why yes," George answered him, "and I wondered about it. However, I figured you knew the child and she probably had a sister. You thought she should have a doll too."

"No, that wasn't the reason," the toy salesman motioned to the blonde girl. She had been watching them with interest and at the clerk's wave, she came over.

"Miss Marvin," the man behind the counter introduced her, "this is George Brandon. I think all nice people, such as you two, should know each other."

The girl extended her hand eagerly and George took it just as quickly. He saw that he would have won his bet—her eyes were the bluest of the blue!

"Say, what's going on here?" The small boy had turned away from the gleaming train and was looking at the trio wonderingly.

"I'll second the boy's question," George said. "Just what is going on here?"

The salesman laughed. "The reason I thought you two ought to get together, is that you're giving me signals on the same kids."

"You see," he told George, "Miss Marvin made the same arrangement this year, in regards to giving the kids toys, that you've been making for years!"

One Christmas, a few years later, Joan Brandon said to her husband, "Remember the Christmas we met, George?"

"Of course," he answered, "I'll never forget it. Why?"

"Well," she laughed, "I'd seen you in the store the previous Christmas and it took me a year to figure out that scheme to meet you. One little girl got a doll! Christmas out of it anyway!"

Masquerade

By John Scott Douglas

AGGIE GARRETT, their hostess, shouted. "Quiet, quiet, you slowpokes, snake charmers, pirates, dancing girls and frontier gamblers! Gather 'round, while the men draw their partners."

Costumed guests in domino half-masks circled Aggie, and a clown drew a slip from her Mexican sombrero. His glance swept the smiling group of masked girls until it reached one in Egyptian costume. "You're mine, Cleopatra!" he exclaimed, laughing.

A big, rugged-jawed man dressed as a pirate was next. After scanning the girls, he yelled indignantly. "Who's run off with Bo-Peep?" "Oh, Captain Kidd!" Aggie cried. "She came late and hasn't come down yet. Maybe you'd better draw another slip."

"Not me!" said the big pirate gaily. "I'm partial to shepherdesses."

He walked into the hall and then stopped suddenly. Descending the stairs was Bo-Peep, crook in hand. Small and shapely, with ash-blond hair, she had a pert nose and through her brief green mask peered two startled blue eyes.

"Does that costume express your personality, Captain Kidd?"

"What a lovely Bo-Peep," he said. "It seems we're partners again."

"Does that costume express your personality, Captain Kidd?"

"My wife Judy thought so," he said wryly. "But I haven't seen her for millions of years. Or maybe three months separation from her just seems that long. In truth, Bo-Peep, this was the last costume left that would fit me. So many New Year parties, you know."

The girl hesitated. "Separations aren't just hard for men, Captain Kidd. It seems ages since I last saw my husband Bill."

"Have you tried calling him?" "After the cruel things he said during our last quarrel? Certainly not! I have my pride!"

"Me, too," he said. "But let's not talk of such unpleasant things tonight. Shall we be smart and modern? Take things in our stride?"

"Naturally, I hardly think of Bill any more."

"Nor do I ever think of Judy. Not over a hundred times a day, anyhow. Well, at least we have something in common, Bo-Peep?"

"Haven't we, Captain Kidd? Isn't Aggie calling us to dinner?"

He joined the line of men forming at the buffet, and returned with two plates which he carried to a secluded hall alcove.

THEIR EYES MET, and then they started eating, saving little until they finished, just as the carpets were being rolled up and the phonograph began playing.

"May I have the first dance, Bo-Peep?" he asked quietly.

Someone walked up when the music stopped, to ask her for a dance. They didn't dance together again until a few minutes short of midnight, when Captain Kidd cut in. He guided the girl into the hall and then they separated and walked side by side to the alcove window.

Moments later there were gay shouts of "Happy New Year!" as the next room, punctuated by the banging of the piano. Outside and noble horns made an incessant din, church bells rang forth their mellow chimes, and a distant street screamed.

They looked out at the unbroken carpet of snow for several moments. Hastily, then, they looked at one another.

"We ought to make resolutions, Bo-Peep," he said.

"I've made one, she whispered. 'No more foolish false pride! I'll let my heartache and loneliness go!' Her voice broke; she drew a quick, shaken breath and quavered. "Oh, I can't be smart and modern and take it in my stride any longer, Captain Kidd!"

Gently he drew her into his arms and raised her mask. Their lips met in a long, lingering kiss. Neither saw I, Judy."

Holiday Buffet

It's time for tinsel and bells, gifts and heavenly kitchen smells. To enjoy the season to its fullest, plan your culinary strategy well in advance. Buy a larger turkey than usual, then you can use the leftovers in many interesting ways. In a few minutes, put together any one of the greatest and easiest casseroles. One of the greatest and easiest casseroles is Turkey Paprika using condensed cream of mushroom soup as the delicious sauce. It's quickly baked and just the thing for a spur-of-the-moment party or a hasty family meal during busy holiday time.

Accompany the Turkey Paprika with a salad of avocado and tomato wedges tossed with crisp greens. Try a dressing made with three parts oil to one part lemon juice, seasoned to taste with oregano. For dessert, spoon mashed, barely thawed frozen strawberries over vanilla ice cream.

TURKEY PAPIKA
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (10 fluid ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup
1/2 cup sour cream
2 cups cooked noodles (3 to 4 ounces uncooked)
1 cup diced cooked turkey
1/4 teaspoon paprika
Cook green pepper and onion butter until tender. In a 1-quart casserole blend soup and sour cream, stir in remaining ingredients. Bake in a 350° F. oven for 30 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

BEANS 'N' EGGS GO TOGETHER
Three cheers for the holidays. But along with the holidays you have snappy weather, vigorous outdoor activities and lusty appetites. Prescription: Place 1 can (15-ounce size) beans and pork with tomato sauce in a shallow baking dish. Cut 2 slices of bacon in half and lay over top of beans. Bake in a 375° F. oven for 15 minutes. Remove from the oven. Break 4 eggs and slip each gently onto the beans. Return to the oven and bake 10 minutes longer or until whites are firm. Makes 4 servings. This is good with a grapefruit and orange salad for Sunday night supper.

POTAGE NOEL
When the family comes in frosty and cold from ice skating, here is a heart-warming fare to serve from a steaming hot tureen in front of the fire. Combine the following: 1 can (10 fluid ounces) condensed cream of celery soup, 1 can (10 1/2 fluid ounces) condensed chicken gumbo soup, 1 can (10 1/2 fluid ounces) onion soup, 2 soup cans milk, 1 (10-ounce) frozen succotash, 1 cup diced cooked turkey, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1/4 teaspoon thyme. Cook (about 20 minutes) stirring often. Makes 6 servings. Serve the potage with green salad and squares of cornbread. For dessert: crunchy, juicy, red apples.

King Richard's Christmas Feasts

Once upon a medieval Yuletide, King Richard III of England celebrated at Litchfield—and during the festivities 2,000 oxen and 200 tons of wine were consumed.

Of course, the feudal set-up provided the great lords with the wherewithal for magnificence—the lords received gifts from their tenants and kings received gifts from their nobles; and the graduated scale for giving and receiving was as well ascertained as the quiddam honorarium of any barrister or physician.

Queen Elizabeth received a large part of her wardrobe as gifts from her courtiers, and if the quality or quantity was not satisfactory, the donors were unceremoniously informed of the situation.

When Henry III entertained a thousand knights, peers, and assorted nobles who came to attend the Yuletide marriage of the Princess Margaret, his majesty received a royal Christmas gift of 2,700 pounds, plus 600 fat oxen from the Archbishop of York.

With similar assistance, whether exhorting or given in the spirit of generosity appropriate to the season, his majesty could well afford to give Christmas feasts for the poor like the one given in Westminster Hall in 1248, which lasted a week.

Striving to outdo his predecessors and give his successors something to shoot at, Henry VIII kept one Yuletide at which the cost of gold cloth that was used amount to 600 pounds alone. He had tents erected and artificial gardens plotted within the spacious hall of his palace. Knights came out of the tents to joust in tournaments and fantastically dressed dancers, covered from head to foot with gay ribbon streamers, emerged from the gardens to entertain the guests.

Preparation for the feasting on such occasions is perfectly appalling to epicures of the 20th century—and can only be vaguely comprehended by considering that Richard II normally employed 2,000 cooks to prepare food for the 10,000 persons who dined—irrespective of special feasting—at his expense every day.

Letters to 'Santa Claus' Come From World Over

Postoffice officials in Santa Claus, Ind., are accustomed to overloaded sacks of mail during the pre-Christmas rush. Senders want their cards and gifts stamped with the famous Santa Claus postmark, plus thousands of wistful letters addressed in childish scrawl to "Santa Claus, Santa Claus, Ind."

And then there is the annual crop of "Santa Claus" letters written by youngsters in far away places who haven't heard about Santa's permanent address in Indiana, U.S.A. At least a dozen versions of the time honored note-in-the-bottle story find their way into metropolitan newspapers every year.

The notes, sealed in small bottles and securely tied to Christmas trees, are discovered by Christmas tree dealers, housewives, and even enlisted men at naval centers and military barracks: they come from places like Renous, a village in New Brunswick, Canada, boasting a total population of 85 inhabitants.

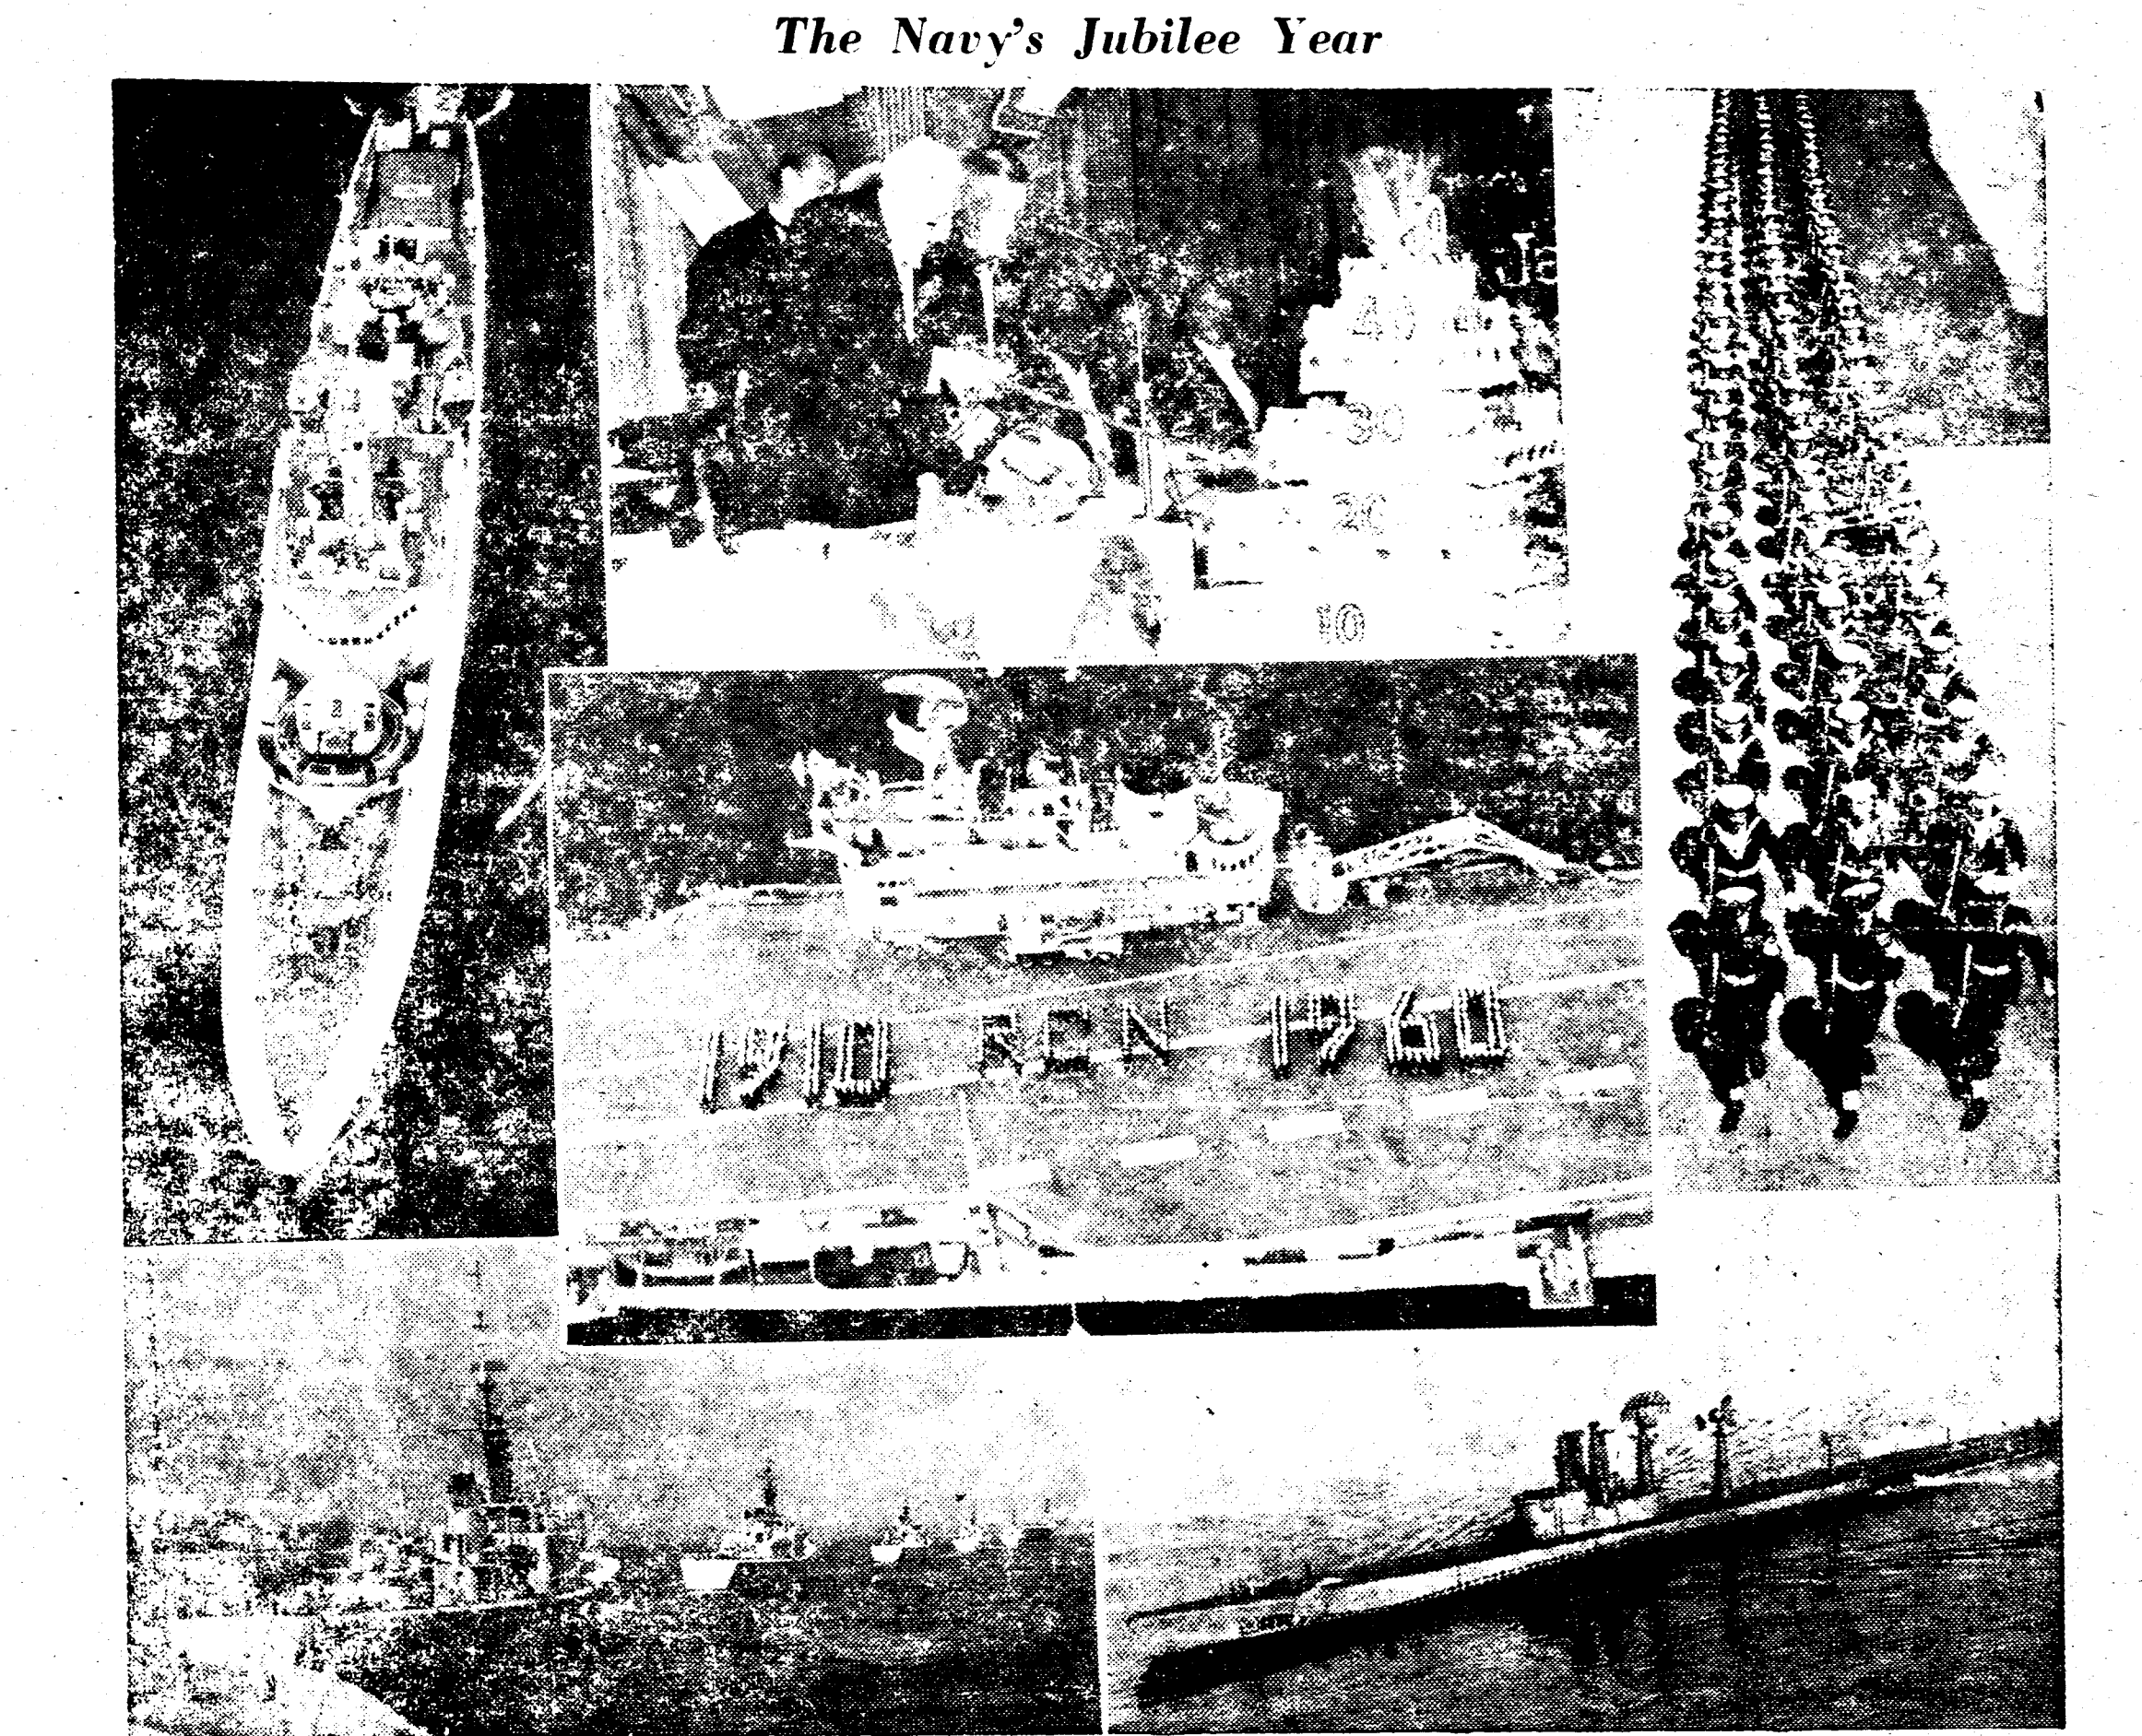

The notes range from the wistful to the desperate, requesting such things as a mamma doll, a sled, a sweater, or a pair of over shoes.

SEASON'S GREETINGS

The Royal Canadian Navy celebrated its 50th anniversary in 1960, and by a happy coincidence, the jubilee came when the Navy's strength in ships and men was at a peacetime peak. SANTA COMES TO AMERICA

Just like most everyone else Saint Nick prospered after he came to America.

In Europe, before he reached these shores, Saint Nick was a tall angular man who rode a bony gray mare. He hadn't been in America long, however, before he had a new name, a new face, figure and a new and better mode of transportation.

The early English settlers in this country started Santa's "new look" process. They adopted the legend as a figure from the Dutch, but couldn't pronounce "Saint Nicklaus." The best they could do was "Santa Kalout," which was corrupted to "Santa Claus."

In 1809, Washington Irving in his "Knickerbocker's History of New York," changed Santa's physical appearance by describing him as a jolly fellow with a broad-brimmed hat and huge britches. He also taught St. Nick to smoke a pipe, and traded his bay burner for a wagon.

Clement Moore in his famous poem, "The Visit From Saint Nicholas," went even further. He gave Saint Nick a sleigh, twinkling eyes, cheeks like roses, nose like a cherry and a round little belly.

Future writers may try to trade Prancer and Dancer off for a jet ship and trim down Santa's waist line. It will be a tough job, for, though he isn't streamlined, Santa pleases the young folks and that's mighty important.

CHRISTMAS IS WHAT YOU MAKE IT

Be it ever so humble, it can still be a Merry Christmas. Abundance of love and gaiety the spirit of sharing — is what counts.

No money for gifts? Wrap up a dozen delicious cookies, a loaf of home-made bread, jars of pickles or fruit. Pack a box with holly, give wreaths of cedar and Oregon grape or a Christmas tree from your own woodland. Put a lovely fern in rich leaf mould, give rooted slips from favorite plants, envelopes of garden seeds you've saved. Rosy cheeked apples or nuts from your own trees will always be welcomed. And you'll think of many more "costless gifts" when you get started.

But if you haven't even any of these from which to give, there's still laughter, warm greetings, a hearty handshake. Tangible or intangible — it's the thought behind it that counts.

CHRISTMAS BOXES OLD CUSTOM
Christmas boxes for the poor did not originate in America. They date back to the days of the ancient Romans who held a yearly feast in honor of Saturn. At these feasts, presents were boxed and distributed to the poor. This practice has been carried on through the years and has become an important part of Christmas in this country. The plan has been developed and enlarged by religions, civic and other organizations in order to bring some happiness to hundreds of thousands who would otherwise be overlooked at Christmastime.

In many overseas countries gifts are distributed on a day before or after Christmas, a day known as Boxing Day. In these countries Boxing Day is a legal holiday.

confronted with the problem of considering each divorce individually, which if it did would preclude it from considering any other business, or on the alternative, passing them almost en masse, assuming that the Senate has done its work well. However, some Members have objected to the House of Commons treating these matters so casually. Last year we had a virtual filibuster on Divorce Bills for months. In fact, everyone was tired and sick of the business, but no one knew exactly what to do about it. Time and time again, bills have been introduced by Private Members, but all have fallen by the wayside. It must be remembered that after the first two or three weeks of the session, Private Members are only allowed two hours a week for consideration of legislation which they have introduced. Under the rules, if a Bill is not passed by the end of that hour, it goes to the bottom of the Order Paper. Very rarely indeed would it be heard of again during that session. Therefore, all that was necessary to prevent the passing of a Bill was to have two or three Members get up and talk possibly for it, and possibly against it. In any event the result was the same. At the end of the hour the Bill had languished on the vine, and was through for that session. Early this session, a Toronto Member, Mr. M. D. Morton, introduced a Bill in the House declaring in effect that the Senate should have exclusive jurisdiction to pass these Divorce Bills without reference to the House of Commons. No one thought for a moment that the Bill would be adopted. Feelings were strong enough, it was presumed, that someone would talk for it, and somebody else would talk against it, and the Bill would die. However, apparently this session everyone had agreed something should be done about this problem. Therefore, when Mr. Morton moved his Bill on Friday, and spoke but for two or three minutes, everyone else followed suit. Inside of half an hour the Bill had second reading. Consent was given to immediately consider it in committee, and within a very few minutes it had been passed out of the committee. Then consent was given to third reading, and as a result, about forty-seven or forty-eight minutes after the Bill had first been considered by the House of Commons, it had been enacted by that House. It now has to go, of course, to the Senate for approval. But Senators state that there is no question but what they will approve the Bill as well.

If that happens, and the Bill receives Royal Assent, an historic milestone will have been passed by the Parliament of Canada. Divorces will have been treated with some dignity and scrupulous attention in the Senate, and will not have become a political football, a travesty of Parliamentary procedure in the House of Commons. In retrospect, it may appear to be very simple and our grandchildren will wonder why it was not done before. The fact remains that it took ninety-three years to have this adopted by the House of Commons, and presumably adopted by the Parliament of Canada as a whole.

That was the most interesting development of the week, although, of course, Parliament itself is making substantial progress with respect to legislation, and there were other interesting matters occurring on Parliament Hill, such as the March of the unemployed from Windsor, Ontario, and the conferences taking place with respect to the Nova Scotia coal industry. Space does not permit to deal with either at the moment.

On Tuesday night comes down the Supplementary Budget, and on Wednesday the House adjourns for the Christmas recess. Cabinet has been working steadily on the budget for many days, and everyone is anxiously awaiting the results of those deliberations.

Children need love, especially when they do not deserve it. Harold S. Hulbert.
