CAPTAIN H. R. TILLY SEES NO CORNWALLIS BASE CLOSURE

Captain H. R. Tilly, in command of C.F.B. Cornwallis saw no reason to be alarmed because of the cuts in federal services which are taking place in the country. Captain Tilly was replying to questions submitted to him when being entertained at an informal reception held at the Digby Town Council chambers on Thursday by members of the council and their wives. He was confident C.F.B. Cornwallis would continue at no less level and maybe would be used more in the future than now.

All the Wrens take their basic training at Cornwallis, the captain said, whether they are French or English in training. The only remedy is to sell to make the entrant as comfortable as possible and it is too difficult to overcome, he said, the services were not too difficult from which to get out.

Speaking of the new uniforms, the Captain felt they were well accepted by the service men. The women's new uniforms are not ready to date.

Answering questions regarding Canada's submarine role, Captain Tilly said from the Maritime point of view there was no change in the role of the submarine. More emphasis is said to be being put on surveillance, he thought, and the North is being watched with more money and effort going into this area.

Speaking of the hydrofoil craft, Captain Tilly felt there were some possibilities and that Canada is leading the way in anti-submarine by hydrofoil.

In thanking the council for their kind invitation Captain Tilly remarked about the good relations which have always existed between Digby and Cornwallis. He said, he would welcome anything that could be done by Digby to help the recruits and help make them feel at home for many come from far away parts of Canada. He asked about dances and other entertainments for the recruits.

He told Mayor Glen Smith, who presided over the functions and extended greetings that he was pleased to offer the CFB Cornwallis facilities to the Digby Golf Club. He said he was pleased to see the Digby Golf Club. The golf club was in the area with emphasis on the new and modern Saint John's Digby project and the terminal and road construction in connection with the project.

Captain Tilly was born in Annapolis Royal where his mother, Mrs. Arthur Tilly, still resides. His wife is in Calgary. They have four children. Captain Tilly had served in Korea, spent three years in England, was on the Canadian West coast at Esquimalt, and was stationed in Ottawa, Toronto and Halifax.

Service at the reception were Mrs. Smith, wife of Mayor Smith; Mrs. Winchester, wife of Digby Mayor Paul Winchester and Mrs. Hall, wife of Councilor Charles Hall.

Form Swimming Pool Committee

There was not one dissenting voice at the meeting regarding the need of a pool or the wish to have a pool. There were various opinions as to the type of pool or complex required. Some had envisioned a plain and simple functional pool. Others had envisioned a more elaborate pool with a year round covered and heated pool. Still others had envisioned the purchasing of enough property to start a recreational complex for the town, with the pool as a time use. Others had visions of a year round covered and heated pool. Still others had envisioned the purchasing of enough property to start a recreational complex for the town, with the pool as a time use.

Representatives from the Digby Lions Club, which had looked into a swimming pool for Digby some years ago, had come to the meeting prepared with a design and prepared to answer questions. Their design showed a pool uncovered without heat or showers which would cost $25,000 approximately. With the extra facilities the cost would be in the vicinity of $50,000. Yearly operating expenses and salary for an attendant were also taken into consideration. Questions arose as to suitable locations for a high level pool, the use of new water or from the local supply and the cost of the pool.

Mayor Smith, thanked those who had come to the meeting, had spoken as frankly as they could and not the consideration of the project away to a good start.

The trophy consisting of a silver tuna figure on a mahogany base also displays two golfing figures. The valuable and much-sought-after prize was originally a donation from the Canadian Pacific Railway for tuna mauls and was passed on to the golfers when the CPR sold the hotel some years ago.

Digby Horticultural Project Future Unsure

The future of the 200 acre horticultural project for Digby Horticultural Project faces uncertainty with a 1969 operating loss of $25,000 and an operating agreement with the federal ARDA program for March 31st. It was in 1965 that the project was started on a five year basis and jointly between the federal and provincial governments. Under the ARDA agreement, Ottawa pays 50 per cent of the manager's salary and expenses, and the cost of hiring a bookkeeper and the provincial government pays other expenses.

M. E. Jamerson, Spring, was manager of the farm until he resigned in the Spring of 1969. Robert Deckman, a provincial agricultural representative operated the farm in the present year, taking it over under the shadow of most controversial past four years of the project having operated in deficit each year and because of help problems.

It is too difficult to overcome, he said, the services were not too difficult from which to get out.

Form Swimming Pool Committee

There was not one dissenting voice at the meeting regarding the need of a pool or the wish to have a pool. There were various opinions as to the type of pool or complex required. Some had envisioned a plain and simple functional pool. Others had envisioned a more elaborate pool with a year round covered and heated pool. Still others had envisioned the purchasing of enough property to start a recreational complex for the town, with the pool as a time use. Others had visions of a year round covered and heated pool. Still others had envisioned the purchasing of enough property to start a recreational complex for the town, with the pool as a time use.

Representatives from the Digby Lions Club, which had looked into a swimming pool for Digby some years ago, had come to the meeting prepared with a design and prepared to answer questions. Their design showed a pool uncovered without heat or showers which would cost $25,000 approximately. With the extra facilities the cost would be in the vicinity of $50,000. Yearly operating expenses and salary for an attendant were also taken into consideration. Questions arose as to suitable locations for a high level pool, the use of new water or from the local supply and the cost of the pool.

Mayor Smith, thanked those who had come to the meeting, had spoken as frankly as they could and not the consideration of the project away to a good start.

The trophy consisting of a silver tuna figure on a mahogany base also displays two golfing figures. The valuable and much-sought-after prize was originally a donation from the Canadian Pacific Railway for tuna mauls and was passed on to the golfers when the CPR sold the hotel some years ago.

About This and That

Next Week Fire Prevention Week

Next week, October 5-11, is Fire Prevention Week. But don't be mistaken, carelessness can cause fire before Sunday and when October 11 has gone by there will still be the necessity to prevent fire. Why? Because fire hurt.

Fire hurts when it causes death, fire hurts when it destroys property, whether that is at home, at business, on land, on sea, in forest or field. It hurts to be thrown out of work, to have industrial production halted because of fire.

Last year Nova Scotia had 2,092 fires with a total estimated property loss of $4,960,289. There were 19 deaths. All Canada had 63,617 fires with a loss in dollars and cents of $158,168,928 and a loss in precious lives of 647. Of these 282 were children. Totalling all of Canada's loss in 10 years gives property valued at $1,450,000,000 and lives which perished numbered 5,900. The injured were 21,000.

Taking into account the indirect economic factors - industrial production loss and job disruption - the real burden of fire of 10 years is reckoned at $7,000,000,000.

Is there any wonder, then, that stress on Fire Prevention is laid by observing one special week to encourage us to have people be aware of the danger of fire in each succeeding week?

Digby and area has been fortunate. But, let us give credit where it is due. Digby town has had an outstanding group of firemen, not only for fighting fires but for their interest in fire education. May we be so bold as to suggest that their enthusiasm has overflowed into the entire County. Their motto is Prevent Fires.

Swimming In The Winter

"Swimming in the summer, swimming in the winter, swimmer or no swimmer!" That's your business. It's your business if we're in the swim of planning before Christmas and if you are in the swim with the rest of us.

We draw your attention to a front page story which recounts what went on Tuesday night at a meeting about a swimming pool for Digby. A poll revealed not one dissenting voice. Unofficial poll among those outside the meeting would seem to favor a swimming pool for our Digby children. Practically every other town has one, all in varying degrees of quality and size but a swimming pool none-the-less. So the general consensus of opinion is that Digby should have a pool.

But, there is one thing to say we should have a pool and another to say the finished product. There's an awful lot of planning in between. This takes people. It takes ideas. It needs opinions.

A number of opinions were expressed at the meeting on Tuesday evening. A number of opinions have been expressed outside the meeting. Some have an idea that a bit of building, a bit of running water and a few simple accessories for little money will fill the bill. Some have an idea that a small well built, well kept pool for summer only and let the children skate in the winter should suffice. Others have the opinion that an olympic sized pool, covered and heated for summer and winter use by children and adults should be planned. Others have visions of something even more grandiose. Go all right, they advise, and plan a full (or nearly so) recreation complex.

These are some of the opinions. It is to be sent out for you to register your opinions but in the meantime we would be most happy to accommodate Letters To The Editor on the subject. From where you live do you favor a swimming pool in Digby? What benefits do you see in having a pool? What are your objections? How much can we afford to spend? How should the money be raised? What kind of pool do we need? Have you had any experience with swimming pools? What about the recreation complex?

According to the meeting on Tuesday evening there are tourist-type people interested in seeing our children grow with sound, healthy, active minds and bodies. Their interest should not be diminished with a shrug. Here is a time to act. Of course, there is no blame to careful thinking on the subject. This is exactly why we want to hear from you whether you are a resident, tourist, or an away-from-home person.

Hodge Podge

From a New York reader we get this interesting comment: "My admiration goes out to you, Mrs. Wallis, for having made the Courier into an unusually fine paper. So many interesting articles. I like your editorials so much. For some time I have been saying 'Coffee at Janes'. My friends enjoy reading it and I wouldn't mind it. Louise Daley's 'Bird Notes' are also saved. They are excellent."

Last week marked the official closing of golf at the Pines Course and this week marks the closing of Herb Warren's Golf Cossip column for the 1969 season. We want to say how much we have appreciated Herb's Golf Cossip. Many of our readers, especially the golfers, have spoken highly of the column and their remarks revealed that it was their favorite read.

To 10, 20 of our readers who write to be in British Columbia where wages are higher than in Nova Scotia's Digby County take note of this. A plumbing and heating man moved from B.C. here because he likes the slower pace. All is not gold that glitters.

When the Department of Education right from Halifax takes time out to write a letter of appreciation go a certain "well-written editorial" then we feel justified in putting ourselves on the back. Besides we had another more personal comment. See our wings sprouting? Don't clip them, anybody, we need them in our business.

— Goodness sakes. Thought a man always knew about these things. Roy Mallman, up there sitting in that Monitor office quotes The Digby Courier which suggested visiting of last excursion trips somewhere up the Annapolis River down to Digby. He had the audacity to add this comment: "The only problem would be how to get through or over the causeway." You mean to say those people who built the causeway didn't leave a draw-bridge section? Besides, Roy Mallman never heard of a perogay? Please, Roy, we don't think this subject needs any further expounding!

— What a noble useful use for the discarded Bonaventure. How simple to solve our problems if only the suggestion in jesture could be for real. Just place her straight across Petite Passage for a bridge. Think we can buy her for $1,000? Second West Coast Convention celebrates its 100th anniversary. Returns To New York

Mr. E. Weyhe, age 87 on Sunday, and Mrs. Weyhe left their Acadianville summer home on Tuesday headed for their home in New York. They were accompanied by their granddaughter, Debbie Denis of New York who came here to visit on Friday.

This is Mr. Weyhe's forty-fourth consecutive summer to come to Digby area. A dealer in books and art in New York, Mr. Weyhe enjoys coming to Nova Scotia where he revels in nature, growing vegetables, flowers, fruits, gathering mushrooms of which he can recognize numerous edible varieties, conversing with friends and other leisure occupations.

When leaving The Digby Courier on Monday, Mr. Weyhe, his granddaughter and the editor looked forward to Mr. Weyhe's 45th visit here that summer, although he did remark that his eyelight was not so good and it might prevent his coming. He proudly spoke of his many pleasures here and that his children and now his grandchildren were following the same course.

HORTICULTURAL

Local labor is available for harvesting; a processing facility must be available to any sizeable strawberry variety. Mr. Weyhe said the project has been the means of developing key growers in western Nova Scotia, who have adopted improved production practices, which will have a beneficial effect on the provincial strawberry industry. He said that the market potential for small fruit production has been established by the fact that in addition new techniques in production and marketing have been demonstrated and it has been established he said, that the outlook for small fruit production in western Nova Scotia has high potential.

All fruit sold on United States markets. Most of the fruit was sold in areas where Nova Scotia produce had not previously been marketed and is now interlarded with the local growers.

The future of the Digby project is uncertain but it is understood that the minister's department has plans to expand extension service in marketing Nova Scotia produce and the department will provide leadership and technical assistance to producers in production, transportation and marketing.

DIGBY COUNTY EXHIBITION

Gate receipts at the 1969 exhibition were between 70 and 75 per cent increase over 1968. Gate receipts were $1037, in 1967 there was no exhibition, in 1968 receipts were $1273 and in 1969 receipts were $1332.

Exhibition expenses were down somewhat in 1969 due to local volunteer help and a profit of $45 was made on the exhibition prize booklet. Advertisements are usually used to cover the expense of printing the entry information.

Additional land was bought this year for the Digby County Exhibition. Mr. Purdy in presenting the report took credit for the 1973 when the Hillsborough Agricultural Society, newly formed, secured a piece of land near the river on which to hold the first exhibition in the County. The present land, which is located on the north side of the highway, was bought three years ago in 1970. The land was purchased for $1000 and the buildings erected. In 1972 the New River Agricultural Society was formed and the exhibition which had been held on the river on the same year as a call club exhibition, taking on the same form in 1973. The land purchase this year was to make better parking area and provide grounds for the pleasure horse show.

A report on the Bear River Agricultural Society for the present year showed expenses practically equal to the receipts of $113 for 1968.

The annual meeting of the society is to be held on October 30. Names to the nominating committee to bring in a state of officers were Howard York, Leslie Wright and Mrs. Lawrence Darras.

Drive With Care

We passed through Oxford on the way, and saw a number of the college buildings. On the way home we passed through Banbury, and saw Banbury Cross, although it is not the one mentioned in the nursery rhyme. That

Editor's Note: On suggestion of the Coffee at Janes columnist, who with her husband, Dr. D. G. Garnham, is presently visiting in England, we are using extracts from her personal letter. We hope the travellers might also have an opportunity to visit Sherborne Castle in Dorset, the ancestral home of the Digby family and will tell us about it in some future Coffee at Janes.

We arrived here Tuesday morning after the two worst airplane flights I have ever had. We flew above the clouds from Fredericton to Montreal, then bumped down through a mountain of cumulus clouds, thudding down on the runway. We waited for over three hours at the Montreal airport before we boarded our B.O.A.C. plane.

We bumped back up through the clouds. I slept off and on for a couple of hours. Dan says he did not sleep at all.

We hit clouds again before we flew over Ireland. We did not see a bit of Ireland or England. We bumped down again, on instruments all the way, but at least we landed easier than in Montreal. It was fairly hair-raising. We drove into London on the bus, and slept all afternoon. We both needed it, it had been a rough trip.

We didn't do anything our first night in London - except walk for miles. I had an odd, new feeling about the place that I went not in a foreign city, I felt as if I had come back to a dear, familiar, friendly city which I love, at, indeed, I had.

On Wednesday we walked, and walked, and walked.

We walked along Holborn, and High Holborn Streets, across the Holborn Viaduct, to Old Bailey, and St. Paul's Cathedral, a distance, which I estimate from my map book to be about two miles.

We looked around St. Paul's, where I had been before.

We stopped for coffee and Danish pastry, then walked across Southwark Bridge, and around a number of unfamiliar streets on the south side of the river. Somehow or other we stumbled on Southwark Cathedral, which we visited. In case you don't know (which I did not) there has been a place of worship on that site for 1300 years. It is a fascinating, beautiful old church, quieter, and less mighty than St. Paul's.

By this time we had walked about five miles.

We walked back across London Bridge, to the "Monument," built by Christopher Wren to commemorate the great fire of London. It is exactly 202 feet from the point on Pudding Lane where the fire started. It is also 202 feet high, and you climb those 202 feet by a flight of 311 spiral stairs. We went up and came down.

Then we went to the Tower of London. We did not go into any of the buildings except the Jewel House. These are the real crown jewels, not replicas. There are diamonds as big as eggs, emeralds so big you could not put two on a teaspoon, and pearl earrings so big the queen cannot wear them. They are attached to the crown. The place is crawling with policemen "with ulcers," Dan says, shepherding people in, out and around the jewels.

We walked back to the south side across Tower Bridge, and on to London Bridge, where we got the underground back to the hotel.

We spent all day Friday shopping. We did not buy much, but we wandered Oxford Street, The Strand, New Bond Street, and several of the other big shopping streets. We went into a store called Wallis's, where all their clothing had the label Wallis's worn in them.

Saturday we went by bus to Stratford-upon-Avon. It was a marvellous trip. When we were here before, we saw two of three thatched houses, but they were so common we thought they must have largely disappeared. Up that way there are many thatched houses, and many genuine examples of Tudor and pre-Tudor architecture.

We crossed one bridge which had been built in 1492. We went to Anne Hathaway's cottage, but did not have time to go in. After that we went to Shakespeare's birthplace, which we did go through. It is a charming old house. It was a hundred years old before Shakespeare's father bought it, and the Shakespeares family used it until the 1700's, when it was bought by a butcher shop and an inn. In 1846 it was sold at auction. The new owners converted it into a museum, as it is now. There is plenty of documentary evidence that this is the actual home of the Shakespeares family.

We had dinner in an inn which dates from the same time as Shakespeare's house. It is a beautiful place. We went from the White Swan Inn to the Royal Shakespeare Theatre, where we watched The Merry Wives of Windsor. It was an altogether delightful performance. Every member of the cast, including the extras who did not say anything, produced small pearls of performance. They did not use a curtain, but changed the scenery in front of the audience. I have seen a number of plays done like this now. Somehow I find it a more effective method than using the curtain. I find myself more caught up in it, and inspired in the performance.

One modern play, one opera, one movie, and one Shakespeare play is a fair amount of theatre for four days. We passed through Oxford on the way, and saw a number of the college buildings. On the way home we passed through Banbury, and saw Banbury Cross, although it is not the one mentioned in the nursery rhyme. That

October 3, 1919

The Sunday School of Grace Methodist Church will observe the annual Rally Day next Sunday morning. The Officers, Teachers and Scholars are requested to meet in the hall at half past ten. The offering for the day will be for the General Board of Sunday Schools, which helps the poor scholars in getting support. Will the parents and friends of the school not only see that their children are present but also come themselves, and make it a Rally Day in more ways than one.

On Wednesday the 24th, as previously announced, the Convict of the Sacred Heart, at Meteham, celebrated its Golden Jubilee, that is the 50th year of its foundation.

Space does not permit a detailed account of four special Masses and dinner that were held to celebrate this occasion. A brief summary of the history of the institution to 1919 tells us that it was established in 1669 by the rector of the parish, Rev. James Duley. While awaiting the building of the Convict the first Sisters were lodged in a cottage (owned in 1919 by a Capt. James McNeil) and taught in the public schools. The Sisters took up occupancy in their new quarters immediately upon its completion in August 1874. Fire destroyed this building on the night of October 31, 1903. Ignacio Amiraui generously offered the use of his cottage near St. Peter, where they remained until 1908 when a new concrete building was completed.

The paper lists these successful students at the Convict in 1919: Grade IX: Juliette LeBlanc, Rebecca Gaudet, Grade IX: Angèle Robichaud, Gertrude Brownell, Marie Comeau, Grade IX: Celeste Comeau, Charlotte LeBlanc, Commercial: Catherine Doucet, Geraldine Comeau, Anne Robichaud. Certificates from Provincial Exams written at the Public School were awarded to Agnes Robichaud, Julie Deveau, George Maillet, Marie Rose Robichaud, Elsie Black and Caroline Melanson.

The paper concludes with this tribute: "To the beloved Sisters who so generously devoted themselves to the education of the young, we heartily wish success in their onerous task, and from the very depth of our hearts we will say, Ad Multos Annos."

BLOOD DONOR

Local appreciation of the group of 58 donors who travelled from Westport, Freeport and Trenton the evening of the Rally. Not only is it a considerable distance from "the Islands" and back, but at night the ferry does not carry them as there are no more problems. Twelve cars brought the donors to Digby and back again as far as East Ferry. There they had to leave their cars and they were met on the Trenton side of the passage by friends and donors who drove them to their various homes. The next morning the trip to East Ferry had to be repeated in order to pick up the cars left on the mainland. This incident showed a devotion to the cause of helping others which is probably unequalled at any other clinic in the country.

Mr. Thiffault also named other groups worthy of special mention, including the 50 member group who attended from the Bear River area, and the 22 members of the adult "Upgrading School" who accompanied Norman Wright to the clinic.

The Blood Donor Committee extended thanks to all those who assisted at the clinic, including the Digby Lions Club, who addressed cards to the donor panel; the Digby Lions Club who not only gave the use of their hall but also changed their meeting Thursday evening "Bingo" to accommodate the date of the clinic. The Digby High School boys who unloaded and set up the Red Cross equipment for the clinic; the "Venturer" Scouts who donated and loaded the equipment at the close of the clinic; also the Red Cross Branch where the donors who assisted with nursing services, refreshments and other duties.

Attendance at the clinic by area was as follows: Digby, 115; Bear River, 56; Trenton, 20; Westport, 24; Centerville, 11; Weymouth, 8; Smith's Cove, 7; Barton, 5; Little River, 3.

Today we went to Charlwell, Sir Winston Churchill's old home. It was beautiful. It was bought from Churchill by the National Trust in the 1950's, and the understanding that he could live there for the rest of his life, and then the house would be turned over to the public.

We went on to Haver Castle where Ann Bohn was born, and which was bought by the Astors around the end of the last century. We could not get in, because it had been so badly damaged by floods a year ago that they are still repairing it.

DON'T GIVE FIRE A PLACE TO START

Planning Fire Prevention Program

By Reginald Turnbull
Plans are almost complete by Digby Firemen for their annual Fire Prevention Week program which will get off at approximately 1:30 p.m. Sunday, October 5th when they will assemble with all equipment at the Fire Station and proceed to Conroy where they will meet a parade of equipment from other departments in the county. A combined parade of all equipment through the town will stop at the fire station for regrouping and all will proceed to Journey's Lake at Weymouth for a demonstration of equipment.

All departments in Digby County are expected to be taking part in this annual display of equipment used to remind the public of Fire Prevention and to start off the International Week followed by inspections, distribution of fire prevention materials and posters.

Particular interest is being given to electrical appliances, wiring and in specific, the fusing systems. Warning stickers have been provided by the Electric Service League of Nova Scotia for distribution and are to be used on electrical panels to warn the public not to use any fuse heavier than 15 amp for all normal usage.

The public are reminded that if they have any problems or want any assistance in eliminating fire hazards in their homes, the department are most willing to assist in any way to do so. The desire of Digby Fire Department is to stop fires before they start. It is the public that can help themselves to give themselves better protection.

B. Sarrette of St. Anne du Bois, N. S. Vice President; Mrs. M. L. Beveridge, Kemptville, N. S. as secretary.

The zone covers the area from Digby to Liverpool and will be known as Zone No. 1, Maritime branch, C.P.A. It was suggested that a meeting of this zone would be held in November.

SEES DISPARITY IN OWN PROVINCE

By Emanuel Adelaar
Changing conditions at an every increasing rate in the world today are creating new problems by the hour which do not only affect the world capitals and its politicians, economists and sociologists but, whether we believe it or not, affect all of us, even in these remote corners of our country and the province of N.S. These conditions create a strong challenge to our country's leaders and it should

Digby County Fireman Making Progress

By Reginald Turnbull
Fire Departments in Digby County have made excellent progress during the year and as members of the Western Nova Scotia Fireman's Association, Digby County Division, have received assistance in their many problems and have passed on ideas through regular meetings held every month when representatives of each department get together and discuss matters pertaining to each other and what can be done to improve matters.

All fire departments of the county are members of the Association and have made many improvements to their quarters, added equipment and held training classes, all of which are continuing regularly. Co-operation throughout the county is excellent.

The Western Nova Scotia Fireman's Association is three years old and during the life of the Association must be noted that has improved the fire services in each community. The main objectives of the Association are to conserve life and property from fire, promote the welfare of firemen as well as their safety, planning fire protection, planning mutual aid assistance, co-operation with government agencies.

Members of the Association include: Bear River, Smith's Cove, Barton-Brighton, Plympton-Gilbert's Cove, Weymouth, St. Bernard's, Little Brook, St. Stephen's, River and Tiverton. Regular meetings are held the last Tuesday of each month with the place of meeting alternating and being hosted by a different department each month. This means once a year when the cycle is repeated. Officers of the Association are Ray Thibault as Executive Director, Robert Doucet as Executive Director and Reg Turnbull Secretary-treasurer. The last meeting was presided over by the chief or his deputy or a designated member.

Married 55 Years

Observance of their fifty-fifth wedding anniversary was quietly celebrated by two couples of Smith's Cove this past week.

They have three daughters: Edna (Mrs. Garrett Adams), Frances (Mrs. Arthur Berry), both living in Smith's Cove, and Joan (Mrs. Ronald Stewart) who resides in Brockville, Ontario. They have six grandchildren.

One week later William Berry of Clementport and Edna Salls of Round Hill were married on September 30, 1914 at Round Hill. They have four children: Florence (Mrs. Scott McKay), Annapolis Royal, Arthur, Lawrence and Allen, all living in Smith's Cove. They have three grandchildren.

Notes from Bird Haven

Two very, very young men arrived at my door one day last week with a little bird they had taken from their cat. It turned out to be a White-throated Sparrow, one of my pet birds. Perhaps you have heard his sweet song, Canada, Canada, Canada or Sam-peep-a-dee. Perhaps you would like a few verses of a poem written by an aunt of mine many years ago.

SAM-PEEP-A-DEE
Sam-peep-a-dee - Sam-peep-a-dee
I'll sing a loving song of thee -
A song that would enchanting be Could I but sing as sweet as thee,
The little violet in the Spring.
Brought hope and joy and everything
We laughed and said in childish glee
We soon shall hear Sam-peep-a-dee.
One day upon the wooded hill
I sat and mused when all was still
A song came from some far off tree
It was thy song Sam-peep-a-dee.
At sunset in your quiet nest -
You rocked your little one to rest
Swayed gently by the evening breeze -
One, two, three, four, Sam-peep-a-dee.
Let prima donnas tune their throats
And sing with ease their high-pitched notes.
There's none that can compare with thee
My music bird Sam-peep-a-dee.
- The Bird Lady.

Tiverton Wharf Extension In Federal Plans

The Islands Fundy Board of Trade, ever alert and progressive in their outlook for the future, has been advised through the office of Hon. Arthur Laing, Federal Minister of Public Works that the proposed extension to the wharf at Tiverton will be included for consideration in the Department's future planning program.

The information addressed to the Hon. James M. Harkin, former Minister of Fisheries for Nova Scotia stated that it is extremely costly to provide adequate marine facilities for larger vessels and for this reason the Department (federal) intends to centralize wharf improvements at a few already developed locations. Included in the developments over the next few years

Lightkeepers For 65 Years

Many lightkeepers have been in the hands of families for more than 65 years. Often the responsibility is taken on by son from father and extends over many years. Not so frequently, however, has it been that the responsibility of keeper of the light is passed from father to the hand of a daughter. But, such was the case at the Gilbert Point Light, Gilbert Cove in Digby County. When William Melanson reached 70 years old in December, 1950, he gave up being keeper of the light. His daughter, Miss Louise Melanson, took over the duties in January, 1951, making 1960 to be the 65th year that the Gilbert Point Light is watched over by the Melanson family. How long her tenure of keeper of the light will remain seems to be the question. Miss Melanson (above) ponders as she stares into the quiet evening with her dog, Timmy, the collie at left and Bruce, the boxer at right. The light she keeps is seen above. Miss Melanson, who will be 58 years in March looks forward to more years at the Light for she knows no other home and has been trained to do little else.

Miss Melanson was born at the Light and was educated at the Gilbert Cove school until she received grade VIII education. It was 18 years ago in January since she took over the duties of light keeper but the life from 1931 on was nothing new to her. She knew all about using oil lamps and out door plumbing. Today there is still no T. V. to watch as most other people do. Miss Melanson does enjoy a battery-powered radio and likes most to listen to the Gospel songs and keep up with the news. She borrows books and subscribes to The Digby Courier from which she gleams first the home village news, then coffee at Jane's and thirty Bird Haven. "When you read coffee at Jane's," she remarks, "it is just like sitting there with her". These simple pleasures along with light keeping duties, her cooking and baking and entertaining visitors keeps Miss Melanson content to live on the Point in a light-house which in domestic terms consists of a kitchen, dining room, living room, pantry, three bedrooms and one "clothes press". She is a member of the Holy Cross Church at Plympton but confesses that she is not a regular attendant although the Lighthouse duties are not strenuous, there having been put in an unwatched light four years ago. This requires no polishing and lighting as the oil lamp of years before. Miss Melanson spent very few continuous weeks away from the Point since her birth. Homesickness always brought her back. Chinchilla Ranchers Meet At Rossway

On Saturday, September 27, Rank's Chinchilla Ranch was a grading centre for Western Nova Scotia chinchilla ranchers. The National Chinchilla Breeders of Canada official grader was Earl Knott of London, Ont. and was assisted by William Lake of Port Williams, Nova Scotia, secretary of the Provincial Association. Mr. Knott is National President of the organization.

Ranchers attended from Shelburne, Yarmouth, Halifax and Prince Edward Island as well as local ranchers.

The herd evaluation and "school" held at the ranch of Thurston Banks, Rossway, one of the most experienced ranchers, was one of several sponsored by the seiners.

When William Melanson, son of Charles Melanson and Jane Melanson of Gilbert Cove took over the Gilbert Point Light in August 1950, he needed other work to supplement his $25 a month salary at the Light. He did fishing, mail driving, cooking in log camps and other occupations to support his wife and family. His wife was the former Mary Gesner of Belle Isle. There were six children, Percy, now at Wilson's Beach, N. B.; Alma, New Minas; Joy, Edward, Gilbert Cove and Ivan who along with Miss Melanson makes the Light his home when not working in other parts. The father, William Melanson was drowned while setting lobster pots in August 1931 and is wife passed away two years later. Miss Melanson, though in easy reach of the village has kept rather lonely watch at the Light ever since.

Ralph Wright Presented With Medal

At the September 25th meeting of Zone No. 11 Royal Canadian Legion held at Weymouth, Ralph O. Wright was presented with the Past Zone Commander's Medal in recognition of his services to veterans while he held that office.

Zone Commander Eugene Finley commented, continuing "these registered animals will be kept for breeding stock, and their progeny should do much to improve the quality of their forefathers which enabled us to enjoy the privileges of our way of life. He read the inspiring prize-winning essay of last year's student essay contest.

The Ladies Auxiliaries of the Zone attended the meeting.

Dr. Finley estimated that good breeding stock would cost over $100 per animal with good registered stock going even higher, if it can be bought at all locally. However, some good registered (or tested) stock is available from Ontario.

Ltd. and has many employees in the Digby area under his jurisdiction. J. Allan Taylor, London, Ontario was elected president. Second vice-president is George Denvers, Quebec.

New Manager

RAY THIBAUZ, manager of the new Discount Food Warehouse with 30 years of retail experience, needs no introduction to the Digby public. Mr. Thibauz resides in Digby with his wife, Joan, and two children, Melissa and Allison.

No Check-Out Or Parcel Boys To Help

Again we have eliminated costly help by letting you parcel your order in boxes or bags available at the checkout and then it is your responsibility to carry your order to your car or place it back in our shopping cart and wheel it out to your car.

We would hope that shoppers would bring the cart back to the entrance, because if we have to hire help to gather carts from all over the parking lot it is going to cost money. Someone will have to do this job and this cost would be reflected in the cost of your groceries.

In Yarmouth the shoppers were taking their orders to the car and returning with the carts for them seemed to realize what was involved, they were interested in continued low wholesale prices.

If shoppers in Yarmouth can do it with a smile we are more than confident that the same will be evident in Digby, by the manager said.

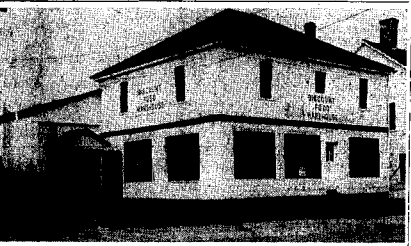

Chains Will Fight Back

When other Discount Food Warehouses were opened in other parts of Canada, it was found that the large chains were quick to "cover up" by reducing small proportions of their stock to meet the discount prices. It would not work here because there are thousands of items and the cutting of prices to meet discount food warehouses can only last a short while, because they are still faced with costly help,

Digby Number Six

Digby is the sixth location of discount food warehouse in Nova Scotia. It all started a year and a half ago in Yarmouth and hasn't looked back since, a company spokesman said.

Commenting on the success of the discount food warehouse stores the company spokesman said "with prices the way they are today people have to be interested in savings and they know the only way they can save is to give up some of the frills that they have been used to. This is exactly what they do when they shop at the discount food warehouse. They give a little to save a lot. Another big reason for success of discount food warehouse stores is the honesty between store and customer. What with no weekend specials or gimmicks to entice people to shop, the customer realizes that discount food warehouse depends entirely on their prices to keep people coming back. The shopper is our labour force and in turn get paid by saving 7 to 10% on their grocery needs."

Formerly Digby Motors Ltd. on Prince William St., the above concrete building is now the Discount Food Warehouse which opened its doors to the public yesterday. Customer entrance is at the large door to the left and a large parking area is a short distance to the right.

Simplicity is the keynote to Digby Discount Food Warehouse, according to the manager, Ray Thibauz. You never get "Something For Nothing," say the proprietors of the Warehouse. Somebody pays for all the fancy trimmings and the customer is the one to bear the brunt. Even services at the Warehouse are kept at a minimum and the customer walks on himself all the way from choosing the items to marking the proper price on the package before he pays at the counter.

Give-aways cost money, the manager claims, which cost, too, must be projected into the customer's price. So give-aways are rejected by the Warehouse, in favor of selling for less.

With Savings . . . BUYS TV SET — TAX FREE MONEY

Another ardent shopper in Yarmouth, N.S. (by the way they opened a very successful Discount Food Warehouse in Yarmouth, N.S. of this year) by the Discount Food Team from Halifax was singled out because of his appearance as a real sharp shopper, what with his shopping list in hand, pushing his cart down the wide aisles, making sure he wrote down the price he paid for each purchase both on the package he bought and on his shopping list.

Discount Food Warehouse: How do you like shopping in one of these discounters?

Shopper: Love it!

Discount Food Warehouse: Don't you find it takes time to price your purchases, because you own groceries, and take it out to the cart?

Shopper: It doesn't really take that much time and it's fun like a game with me. I've got the time, and I don't mind carrying my groceries out to the car. I'm saving money doing it.

Discount Food Warehouse: We notice that you are keeping tabs on what each purchase costs you by putting the figure beside the item you buy and this is one of the reasons we wanted to interview you because you gave us the appearance of being a real sharp buyer.

Shopper: I don't know how sharp a buyer I am but the reason I put the price I pay for goods at Discount Food Warehouse on my shopping list is because I will have to get the good lady at home

DIGBY DISCOUNT FOOD WAREHOUSE opened its doors at 10 a.m. October 1st as Digby's first Discount Food Store. A totally new insight for the food industry, which has been hit so hard with bad publicity, because of rising food costs, so much that the government has set up boards to inquire into rising costs.

Many of these costs are due to the extra frills that have crept into food merchandising. Each one of these frills costs the shopper money. Today modern supermarkets spend thousands of dollars on these frills and there is no way of knowing what the shopper is paying for this service and equipment.

Discount food warehouse has taken every opportunity to cut overhead. Our shelves are metal warehouse racks, not expensive supermarket shelves. We have just enough refrigerated cases to carry the necessary items and these are very plain, not elaborate decorated cases. Our walls are plain, our floor is cement, even our checkouts are made out of plywood. All of this done to reduce the overhead found in large supermarkets.

Our stock is placed on the shelves in the original cartons with only the top and front cut off, thus reducing our cost again. You supply the service, you price your own groceries, pack them and carry them to your car.

What does all this mean to you? It means that we can sell everyday grocery needs at much, much lower prices than that of the larger food chains.

"WAREHOUSE DIRECT PRICING METHOD"

Where to shop has become a confusing situation with the average people in the Digby area, but it won't be if you shop at Discount Food Warehouse. You will know you are getting "across the board" warehouse direct prices in every department of the store.

The average person has been confronted with various traffic stimulants. Give-aways, Big Advertising campaigns, via newspaper, radio, T.V. and flyers — all designed to entice you into the store. Keep in mind, however, that each and everyone of these approaches together with bigger and fancier stores all cost additional money. Somebody pays and it is always the customer. You never get "Something for Nothing."

Variety — You Bet! We've got what you need for all of your favourite food needs. By just shopping Discount Food Warehouse once, and making a cupboard comparison price check, with any other store, you will enjoy shopping and saving at Discount Food Warehouse.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS
Q. What customer services are provided?
A. Scarcely any. You mark your own purchases, take them to the checkout, wheel them to your car and return the cart.

Have you ever thought that these services add to your food bill? Remember — any type of service has to be paid for in higher prices!

Q. Are there any other ways a customer can help keep prices down?
A. Yes — a very costly part of store operation is the use of wrapping and bagging supplies. Some of course, have to be used, but if customers can do without unnecessary cartons to put their purchases in, they can materially help to reduce costs.

Q. Do I have to buy full cases?
A. No, buy any amount you want. Buy one item or a full case. All prices per item or per case are clearly marked.

TO DRAW YOU INTO THE STORE

NO STAMPS, NO GIMMICKS, NO LOSS LEADERS
Based on the theory that "You pay for what you are getting from," Discount Food Warehouse offers you no free stamps. It is estimated that it cost 2% to 2 1/2% to give away stamps! They don't have gimmicks or games for which you can win T.V.'s, or cars, nor do they use "Loss Leaders" in advertising to draw you into the market where you find higher prices.

Cats, T.V.'s, Stamp, Gimmicks and extensive advertising cost money. The shopper has to pay for this in the price she pays for her food.

Advertising is good if it tells a story or if it gives you a message, but if it is used to mislead you, to bait you into the market and then sock it to you, then it is money spent on the advertising. In plain English, the shopper of today is smart and is getting to realize where her money is going from the weekly pay cheque.

NO ADVERTISING OF SPECIALS

Discount Food Warehouse does not advertise weekly specials, because everything in the building is priced low every day.

Different times, manufacturers will have a product at a special price, and in such cases, warehouse discount foods will not be advertised. There is no need to wait until Thursday to do your shopping, matter of fact best the crowds, shop Monday or Tuesday.

No High-Priced Butchers — In New Operation

In a modern chain store of the size of Discount Food Warehouse Building, it is estimated that it would require at least (3) three to (5) five highly paid meat men.

At Discount Food Warehouse you will find 24 feet of only the basic meat items that can be handled easily without requiring all this high priced help and costly equipment.

Figure their salary at a minimum of $100.00 per week. That is $500.00 weekly or $20,000 in a year, and you, the shopping public, can see why the price of meat is so high. Add to this, tens of thousands of dollars the cost of meat cutting equipment for the back room.

We do have a meat clerk who has the responsibility of stocking the cabinets with merchandise and that is where the operation starts and ends at Discount Food Warehouse; very little cost involved.

History Of Discount Food Selling

Discount food selling started in the south western part of the United States three years ago. It became evident that most grocery stores were spending far too much money on keeping customers happy that in the end the customers turned of rate because of high food prices.

One group decided they would do something about it and built stores with only the necessities installed. They cut the labour by doing away with small services to the customer and ended up finding they could reduce the prices of their grocery products substantially. Discounting then spread across the United States and up into western Canada.

From western Canada it came right to Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, which was the first warehouse type discount food store in the Maritimes. It was a store out of Winnipeg, who had one and a half years later the sixth discount food warehouse opened in Digby, dedicated to selling lower food prices to the residents of the area.

The Cupboard

Discount food warehouse invites their customers to make a cupboard audit. The audit is a list of items in your cupboard. Buy an order at Discount Food Warehouse, take it home and compare the prices on the items in your cupboard. Make a proof of our low, low prices.

The light by which we see

In a dark room we see very little — though it may be full of beautiful things. Sometimes life itself seems dark, full of problems of every kind. But, just as a room can light up with the click of a switch, one's world can be brought into the light by God's love.

Neel D. Bryn-Jones, a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, will show how an understanding of God can enlighten one, help to free one from sickness and lack, and improve personal relationships.

Admission is free and everyone is welcome.

Adult Education Classes Formed

Registration for the adult education classes was held at the Weymouth Consolidated on Tuesday, Sept. 24th. Although registration at that time was a disappointment, many registrations have been entering during the past week, and it is sincerely hoped that many more will take the advantage of this opportunity to improve their education and enjoy working with other adults in this manner.

The class in accelerated education for grades 7 to 10 fell short of needed registration, and people who have not attended these grades are asked to think seriously about attending this class.

The following classes are also available to anyone interested: Tuesday — 6:30 Physical Education, Rene LeFort; 7:00 Second, Mrs. Betty Robichaud; 7:30 Conversational French.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Ann Marie Saulnier, was matron of honour, and the groom's sister-in-law, Mrs. Gustave Boudreau, St. Bernard, was bridesmaid. They were identified floor-length gowns of tulle, floor-length dresses with head pieces of chrysanthemums.

The groom attendants were his brother, Gustave Boudreau of St. Bernard and the bride's brother-in-law, Melbourn Saulnier, Weymouth. The ushers were Ashton Mullen, St. Bernard and Edmund Dupas, Beliveau Cove.

A reception followed at Pier Street, Church Point, when the toast to the bride was proposed by Omer Blais.

The groom's mother wore a blue knit dress and corsage of pink roses.

For her wedding trip to P.E.I. and the Cabot Trail, the bride chose a tangerine knit suit with black accessories.

The groom is a C.N.A. at Digby General Hospital and they will reside in Weymouth.

and lace neck line which were edged in lace, and a detachable train of bonded lace, edged in lace, accented the slim gown. Her hairdressing was a tress of sequins and pearls which held a four-tiered, white nylon, elbow-length veil. She carried a bouquet of orange delight roses.

The maid of honour, Miss Sharon Cousins, wore a floor length gown of orange, in peas de sole, styled with an empire waistline, A-line skirt and elbow-length sleeves, she carried a bouquet of yellow and orange carnations.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. John Hancock and the bridesmaids were John Hancock and Robert Taylor.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held for the guests in the Banquet Room, where Gordon MacKenzie was master of ceremonies.

The bride's table was decorated with a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with wedding bells. The guest book was attended by Miss Carol Smith.

The bride's mother wore a yellow empire styled dress with white lace coat and yellow trim; with matching flower hat. Her corsage was of orange carnations.

For the honeymoon trip to U.S.A. the bride wore a pink lace dress, matching hat and pink carnations, with white accessories.

PORK is on the move

The flood of applications for PORK (Parents of Rotten Kids), which was launched last week in this column, has not yet begun to give local postmen the blind staggers, but it will, it will.

In the meantime, I've received a letter from an Ontario woman, commenting on a previous column entitled, "The Kids Are Revolting." She certainly qualifies for PORK and is hereby accepted as a full-fledged member of this fledgling organization, with all the disadvantages and lack of privileges appertaining thereto.

The writer of myself must admit to being a parent of a 16-year-old daughter now living at home in Ontario. You describe, right in downtown Toronto, and I am helpless by law to interfere.

"Such is our society today that we have been forced to accept not only common-law living amongst adults (Ed note: I'm not against that), but also now with children of such an early age, I myself have felt no time to turn to an effort to help resolve the situation, by writing or contacting every available society from which workers to the Ikon John Yarmack, with the final realization that if I myself as a child is free from parental control and authority at 16.

"This same law, however, contradicts itself by not allowing me to marry until 18 without a parent's consent and signature... in B.C. the age limit for a child to break away from parental authority is 18." In short, Ontario laws are devised young people to, as we used to put it, living in sin.

She goes on "illegitimacy in an interview with a large daily newspaper, a professor of applied psychology made the following statement: 'The mother in the home today is an anachronism. The role of the housewife used to have dignity and respect. There is no need any more for a home manager.' Her remarks are more than a little offbeat.

I quite agree with you, dear lady, and with most of the other things you go on to say, tried four days of 'hitching in' recently. The only place there's no need for a home manager is in a pigeon.

My wife came home a day early and caught on cold. I.

TO MANUFACTURE CASKETS AT Weymouth New Ferry Boat Will Be Ready

A new Nova Scotia company has been formed to manufacture a complete line of hand wood finished caskets at Weymouth, Nova Scotia for the Atlantic provinces market.

Formation of the new company, Atlantic Wood Products Limited, was jointly announced by Dieter Richter, president of the company and Morley G. Taylor, president of Industrial Estates Limited, Nova Scotia's Crown Development Corporation.

Atlantic Wood Products Limited will occupy the plant formerly leased by Rolland Industries Limited which ceased operations early this year.

The directors and principal shareholders of Atlantic Wood Products Limited are Mr. Richter, Harold Novotny and Hector Porter, a well known Halifax businessman. Mr. Richter and Mr. Novotny will be involved full-time with the company's operations. Both have had extensive experience in the wood working industry. Production is scheduled to begin in approximately one month. When the plant is in full production the company expects to employ about 36 people at the Weymouth plant, and will produce approximately 5,000 caskets a year.

In announcing the new company, Mr. Taylor said, "Industrial Estates Limited is pleased to be able to assist Atlantic Wood Products in the obtaining of the plant facilities at Weymouth. Indeed, we see the plant operation in order to provide employment and to strengthen economic activity in the Weymouth area. It is also encouraging to find businessmen within Nova Scotia, such as Mr. Porter, furthering industrial development in the province by investing in Nova Scotia's manufacturing industries."

Mr. Richter indicated that there is a growing demand in the Atlantic Region for the line of products to be manufactured at the Weymouth plant. He further stated that hardwood caskets were not now being manufactured in the region.

Mr. Richter said, "The plant facilities available at Weymouth are particularly suitable for the production needs of Atlantic Wood Products Limited. In addition, the area has a good labor force with a background in wood working. We are pleased that such a facility was readily available for us in Nova Scotia, and appreciate the cooperation we have received from I.E.L."

As time goes on, it is expected that the company will manufacture other wood products.

Mr. Richter was born in West Germany where he received his education and early experience in the woodworking and cabinet making industry. He and his family came to Canada in 1962, and since that time Mr. Richter has been involved in furniture manufacturing in Ontario, Nova Scotia and Quebec.

Mr. Richter, his wife and three children plan to take up permanent residence in the Weymouth area in the near future. As president of Atlantic Wood Products Limited, Mr. Richter will devote fulltime to the operations of the company. Mr. Novotny is single and has taken up residence in Weymouth, Nova Scotia in order to devote fulltime to Atlantic Wood Products Limited of which he is a director.

Woodlot Owners Plan to Organize

Nearly thirty woodlot owners from the Digby area of the county attended a meeting of the Digby Community Mental Health Centre Tuesday evening to discuss the feasibility of the setting up of a county woodlot owners' association.

Similar meetings have been held over the past several weeks in other sections of the county.

John MacLellan of the extension department of St. Francis Xavier University outlined the purposes of the meeting and told of organizational efforts on the part of woodlot owners in other parts of the province. He stated that to date 14 woodlot owners' associations had been established in Nova Scotia. These, he said, are any other formed will have direct representation on the provincial woodlot owners' organization.

In his remarks, Mr. MacLellan noted it had been a basic recommendation of the MacLellan Royal Commission that woodlot owners must be organized before many of their problems could be solved. He said the present woodlot owners' organizational program had been conceived by the Nova Scotia Federation of Agriculture and stated the extension department of St. Francis Xavier University had been engaged to provide the organizational and educational assistance to the woodlot owners.

The necessary financial assistance, he said, had been provided through ARDA by the federal and provincial governments.

Mr. MacLellan said the aim of the organizing program was to provide woodlot owners with a province-wide association with a capable leadership and strong supporting membership which would develop programs aimed at solving problems of the woodlot owners.

Documents Do Not Substantiate Claim

For the second successive Digby Town Council meeting, Jack Raymond from the South End of Town appeared before the regular council session demanding to be paid a sum of money which he claimed the town owes him for use of a roadway and for wages concerning dump care. After much heated argument intermingled with much restraint and effort to reason on the part of Mayor, solicitor and councillors, His Worship told Mr. Raymond that "if the town owes you, we want to pay but until some time has been established proof that the town owes you, we cannot pay you with public funds."

Mr. Raymond was determined to plead his case though often more inclined to threaten than pleading, while the solicitor and councillors attempted to explain that while no proof had yet been submitted by Mr. Raymond to substantiate his claim, he has accepted to the council through the solicitor. They urged him to present the documents he claims to have.

Prevent Household Fire!

FIRE HURTS
• Good housekeeping - don't litter basements or closets with oily rags, cardboard boxes or papers.
• In case of a kitchen grease fire, smother the flames with a lid, never water. Don't attempt to take the pan outside. The draft may blow the flame back at you and set your clothing afire.
• Don't hang clothes to dry near heating appliances or stoves.
• Use flame retardant decorations and decorating fabrics. Be especially careful at Christmas time.
• Teach your children the danger of matches. Keep matches out of their reach. Hire reliable babysitters and provide them with emergency instructions.
• Never leave your children alone.

IN MEMORIAM

MARSHALL - In loving memory of my mother, Gladys Annie, who passed away October 14, 1968.
What would we give if we could say,
"Hello Mum" in the same old way.
To hear your voice, to see you smile.
To sit and talk with you again.
Beautiful memories are all we have left.
Of a mother we loved and will never forget.
— Sadly missed and always remembered by son, Myron and family. 8:1c

DAKIN - In loving memory of a dear husband and father who passed away Oct. 5, 1965.
And a photo in a frame.
— Fondly remembered and sadly missed by wife Rose and family. 8:1c

SABINE - In loving memory of my mother, Della Sabine,
who passed away Oct. 5, 1965.
I lost a mother with a heart of gold,
Who meant more to me than wealth untold.
Without farewell she fell asleep.
With only memories for me to keep.
She was a mother so very rare Content in our home, she was always there.
The wound is deep, it will not heal.
Only those who have lost know how I feel.
There are others, yes I know
But she was mine and I loved her so.
God takes the best for reasons divine.
But memories will last till the end of time.
I mention your name and think of you often.
Ode Bless you dear mother,
You are never forgotten.
— Sadly missed by daughter,
Shirley. 8:1c

DALEY - In loving memory of a dear husband and father
who passed away Oct. 4, 1966.
An empty place on one can fill We miss you dear Dad and always will
Just a thought so very true
From us who thought the world of you.
— Sadly missed by his wife
and family. 8:1c

STARKE - We would like to

Mayor Smith reported, there was a fluctuation of power affecting the drilled wells but there had been no fault with the wells or pumps.

Mayor Smith referred to a letter from Charles Haliburton bringing to the attention of the council that sewage treatment plants can economically use time in clearing up pollution. Installation plants, the letter said, would be required for $2000 to $3000. The Mayor expressed appreciation for the interest shown by Mr. Haliburton.

Councillor Victor Haliday reporting for the School Board committee said the new school facilities were expected to be used beginning October 24. He reported a full staff of teachers with two standby teachers or assistants to the principals.

Councillor McBride reported that the fire department did not move a wheel from July 9 to August 31 because there were no calls. September saw four calls.

The police report revealed 18 complaints of which five required investigation. Twelve required court action. Seven were under the liquor control act, four motor vehicle and one criminal code. Fines collected $100. There were three motor vehicle violations and one truck stop which has not yet been found.

WOOLLOT OWNERS

The educational part of the program, he said, was simply discussion of the problems facing woodlot owners along with a study of their causes and effects. He said some time would be spent on this before the county or area association was actually formed. The purpose of this, he stated was to give the woodlot owners a chance to look at their particular problems and also to determine whether an association can be helpful in solving them. When the associations are established, he said, committees can be set up to carry on a more detailed study of the problems and also to recommend possible solutions to the provincial association. He noted the provincial association has set up committees to study a number of areas of interest. These include the Forest Improvement Act; forest taxation, pulpwood marketing, sawlogs, Christmas trees, woodlot consolidation.

Luck came twice each to Mrs. Ernest Doty, Shore Road, Digby, and to Israel Melanson, Plympton. Each were lucky when their names were drawn for moose hunting in 1968. Mrs. Doty's being the only woman in Digby County to be granted the license for 1968. They were twice lucky when each bagged a 900 lb. plus moose.

In the top picture is Mrs. Doty proudly displaying the 25 point, 51 inch spread (4 1/2 ft.) antlers.

Mr. and Mrs. Doty, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Heston and Cyril Wade started out on Monday for Mount Dennis, Cumberland County, to be there for the opening of the moose hunting season on Wednesday. They hunted on Wednesday and part of Thursday when Mrs. Doty brought the tall 900 lb. animal down as prey.

It is hard work, said her husband, cutting a road for miles to drag a moose out to the truck. He remarked about the kindness of the people there in helping to get the moose off the mountain.

Mrs. Doty has been hunting for the past 15 years and has been quite successful with deer. This is the first moose bagged by Mrs. Doty.

To the extreme right of the bottom picture is Israel Melanson, Plympton, who was in the woods near Tatamagouche only two hours on Wednesday when he captured the 900 lb. moose shown on the truck. His companion is Clifton Amelon, also of Plympton, who was shooting a moose.

He noted the power of any organization comes from three sources, strong leadership, large membership and sound finances. He said many organizations get their power from one or two of these and only a few have all three. After a thorough study by those present, who formed themselves into small groups for the purpose, it was decided to elect three representatives to county organizational committee which will meet to draw-up a proposed constitution and by laws and make further plans for organization on a county-wide basis. Named to this committee representing the Digby area were Lloyd Grant of Barton, H. M. Warner of Digby and Allan Thomas, North Bang.

Re LIQUOR PLEBISCITE in the WEYMOUTH AREA
Tuesday, Oct. 14

According to advice from the Returning Officer for the Plebiscite, all persons who were eligible to vote in the last Federal election are eligible to vote in this plebiscite.

The Liquor Plebiscite is not a "dry" versus "wet" contest. No one can truthfully say that our community is "dry" - far from it! Or, that any person cannot obtain enough liquor legally in the village of Weymouth.

If the vote goes "yes", you must know that sooner or later the liquor interests will find a way to establish a tavern in the area, and other outlets, thus drinking will increase to saturation point in a matter of time.

In order to maintain some reasonable and worthwhile control over the promotion of liquor sales and consumption, we, the people, must vote NO before saturation point is reached.

Let us be reminded that heavy community losses as a result from liquor consumption, are hidden in welfare costs, hospitalization, insurance losses of all kinds, penal costs, and in other ways.

All Social and Service Club members should know that liquor consumption does not strengthen homes, churches, and schools, but, on the contrary, it weakens the physical, spiritual, and moral resources of any people, and works against all safety programs, on the highway, in the home, in industry, and on the farm.

Mark X under NO if you are against more liquor outlets, and a "wetter" community.
(Sponsored by a committee of Weymouth area citizens)

ARE YOU IN FAVOUR OF THE SALE OF LIQUOR FOR CONSUMPTION ON PREMISES LICENSED BY THE LIQUOR LICENSE BOARD.

Our Weymouth Area Citizens' Committee is AGAINST more liquor outlets and it appeals to you to mark X under NO on Plebiscite Day.

LET US BE FAIR -

If you do not vote against the licensing of "Outlets" you should have no objection if one is opened near your church, your school, or your own home.

District Rally Meets At Saulnierville

The Digby District Rally of the Women's Institute "West of the Dugs", when a common-laborer, assisted by four charming "Dug" models, brought to the attention of the meeting the names of some very well known dogs who should be kept in the doghouse.

If this is not possible, a list of some talent rates a spot on the Ed Sullivan show. This, of course, was the "Just for Fun" part of the program. In more serious vein was the demonstration of Flower Arrangements, given by Mr. and Mrs. Stanton of Leblon.

Highlight reports showed that the past year had been a busy one for all branches, and the Provincial president in her talk challenged members to face up to responsibilities as W. I. members and be prepared to go out and recruit new members. Programs should be of such interest that they will want them to keep on.

A rating found a lot of W. I. members are like wheelbarrows, not good unless pushed; some are like canoes, need to be paddled; some are like kites, if a string isn't kept on them they fly away; some are like balloons, contented when petted; some are like footballs, you can't tell which way they will bounce; some are like trailers, have to be pulled; some are like neon lights, keep going on and off; and some, thank God, are like the North Star, there when you need them, dependable, ever loyal, and a guide to other people. The question was asked, "How about you?"

Presiding officer for the Rally was Mrs. Eleanor Elms, of Acadville, W. I. Officers elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Denis Stahler; Vice president, Mrs. Eva Cromwell; Secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Thelma Buckler.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bryden spent Thursday and Friday in Halifax.

Digby Radio Opens End Of November

The newest member of the Annapolis Valley Radio Network, CKDY Digby, is expected to be operational by the end of November. This was announced by Willard A. Bishop, managing director of the Evangelical Broadcasting Company, owners of the network.

Studios for CKDY are well underway and two of three towers have been erected. Transmitting facilities will be located at Mount Pleasant. A number of last minute difficulties concerning transmission facilities are now in the process of being eliminated. Mr. Bishop said, and it is now expected that the station will be on the air by the end of November. CKDY will operate at 1420 on the radio dial with a power of 1,000 watts day and night, and is expected to provide good service to the Digby area as well as the western sector of Annapolis County.

CKDY is the fifth station of the Annapolis Valley Radio Network. They also operate A.M. stations CKAD Middleton, CKEN Kentville, and CKAW Windsor, as well as CKWM, the FM voice of the Annapolis Valley.

Good News Singers In Digby

A large and appreciative audience was on hand to the Digby Baptist Church on Sunday night to enjoy the program of gospel music by the "Good News Singers" from Moncton, N.B.

The group is composed of four young men, Dave Storer, tenor and electric guitar; Gary Taylor, lead singer and accordion; Tom Weaves, and guitar; and Don Chisholm, baritone. These young men, two of whom at one time played in rock and roll bands, decided that they would dedicate their talents to the Lord's work. They purchased equipment, some $2,000 worth, bought a bus, and have gone to many areas presenting their testimony in word and song. They believe that their type of music has a direct appeal to young people, who are not reached by the more traditional type of church music and church service. Their appeal has been very dramatic and has been a source of deep challenge and inspiration to both young and old alike.

The Good News Singers have become noted for their enjoyment of good Christian music, and their deep sense of commitment. Included in their program on Sunday night were such numbers as "He Cared That Much For Me," "He Made It Just For Me," "I'm Feeling Mighty Fine," "Somebody Loves Me," "Never Turn Back," "I Want To Be Like You," and others. They also did two numbers on a lighter vein which drew enthusiastic applause, "Daddy Save 'Bass' and 'Preachin' Man."

Each of the young men gave his personal testimony, telling what Christ meant to him and how great a difference it had made in his life. A wonderful spirit was in evidence throughout the whole program, and people left deeply challenged by the singing and witness of these remarkable young men.

Following the program the group was entertained in the parish hall, and a further time of good fellowship and refreshment was enjoyed. Three of the boys spent the night with Rev. and Mrs. Donald Robertson; the fourth, whose wife was with him, stayed with Mrs. Margaret Wymann at the Corner House.

Mental Health Campaign Underway

The 1969 fund raising campaign of the Digby County Branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association is well underway. The minimum objective for the campaign this year has been set at $5,000 and campaign chairman is Dave Hatchford, who has succeeded Alvin Pettipas as branch treasurer.

In an ongoing plan for the campaign at a special meeting of the branch it was pointed out that the need for funds by the Digby County Branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association is even more urgent than in previous years. The year the department of health is requiring that local mental health centres submit a plan for the year of preventive services. In order to be effective and successful these programs will require a full measure of support, both financial and by personal involvement from the public of the areas served by the local mental health centres.

The Digby Community Mental Health Centre, which has long been a recognized responsibility of the Digby County Branch of C.M.H.A., is relying heavily on the local C.M.H.A. branch for support of specific preventive programs which it is planning to undertake. If this support is not forthcoming to make these programs possible, it is the campaign meeting.

The Nova Scotia Tourist Bureau in Digby closed to visitors yesterday after having visits during the 1969 season from twenty-three different countries of the world. Every country in Nova Scotia visited the bureau, every province in Canada, including Newfoundland, Yukon and the Northwest Territories, had tourists registered and every State of the U.S.A. is in the registration (including Hawaii).

The bureau opened May 15 with Mrs. Nancy Davidson and Mrs. Arthur Handspiker as attendants. While the number of cars coming via Prince of Wales and visiting the bureau was down slightly this summer, the number of visitors from the bus increased over 1968.

John MacIntyre of the Nova Scotia Tourist Bureau, Halifax, visited Digby on Tuesday.

Mrs. Murphy was notified of her appointment this week by W.O. 2 Hugh H. Hicks on behalf of the Cadets, officers and staff of the squadron. They told Mrs. Murphy that they honored her in this manner in appreciation of the way she treated them on the Princess of Acadia. The presentation of rank and certificate will be made in November at the Simonds High School when Mrs. Murphy will be introduced to the cadets and learn of their training.

Entertain At Shower
Mr. and Mrs. Parker Munter entertained recently at a post-nuptial shower held in honour of Mr. and Mrs. Smith Nickerson.

About forty people were present, and the happy couple were presented with a lovely platform rocker.

A letter was authorized to be sent from the Digby Board of Trade to the federal Minister of Public Works with a copy to go to Hon. Alan MacEwen, seeking information on Phase II of the wharf improvements. Phase I of the wharf has been completed for some time giving more parking space for the fishermen, but Phase II has not yet been started. It involves dredging the subject on Tuesday night, Emanuel Adelaar, Weymouth, a member of the Digby Board of Trade and a heavy pulp wood shipper through this port, reported to the Trade Board that he refuses to load a boat here anymore. He stated that the wharf is unsafe for such an operation.

Russell Stonehouse, president, presided at the meeting.

Glenn Conrad, manager of the Digby Airport, at Hill Grove, reported that 27 American planes had landed at the airport during the summer and approximately as many local area planes. Regular schedules were also maintained. President Stonehouse reported that the airport committee of the Annapolis Digby Basin Development Commission had written to the Digby Municipal Council requesting them to take over the airport so that certain benefits would be available but the council did not see fit to purchase the property. The Board of Trade felt this is an opportunity which should not be passed up in Digby. Other areas, the president said, were seeking such opportunities.

Ralph Geizer, manager of Island's Shoe Store, in Digby, appeared before the Digby Board of Trade requesting information on by-laws in the town respecting store hours. He was informed that Digby had no laws in relation to store hours. He advised the Board that he wanted to open his store on nights which were closed to Digby but did not want to run afoul of any town by-laws to the contrary.

C. D. Stone reported there was nothing new from the committee to contact the CBR on ferry rates, number of crossings per day by the new Digby-Saint John ferry and reservations on the ferry for the 1970 summer. He advised the Board that a meeting of the committee was being held on Tuesday at the time of the Board meeting. The Board had no further information on the direction the new road to the ferry would take in connecting with highway number 101. The Board had taken steps to make the provincial department of highways to run the road nearer to Digby town after having heard the proposal would cut off the town completely from the ferry traffic.

An invitation was extended to Board of Trade members to attend a meeting of the Annapolis Digby Basin Development Commission on October 22 at the Nova Scotia Research Foundation in Annapolis Royal when John Helliwell would be guest speaker.

It was announced that the annual meeting of APEC would be held in Halifax on October 25, 26 and 28. Two Board of Trade air flights were announced. The Annapolis Valley Affiliated Board of Trade flight 15 Digby land will be made May 16, 1970 and a flight from Halifax will go to Japan during the Expo Year there.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Robinson, of Minnesota, had requested information on Digby with prospects of moving here. Mr. Robinson is a plumber.

For to the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Board of Trade at $1.00 per member were authorized to be paid.

The opening ceremonies and extended a welcome.

The invocation was given by Bishop H. Waterman, R. Badger Powell, M.A., who represented the Nova Scotia Department of Education under whose auspices the library was made available, extended greetings on behalf of the department.

A basket of flowers was presented on behalf of the Weymouth Community Library. The Weymouth Library Association was represented by Mrs. Emanuel Adelaar, chairman, Mrs. Fred Shiner, secretary and Miss Ruth Goodwin, committee member.

Following the official opening the guests were taken on a tour of the building by Mrs. H. M. Warde and Miss Mary Marshall. Mrs. George Winch had charge of the guest book.

The lower floor where the books are kept consists of five rooms, including a children's room, a museum, a reading room, a kitchen or storeroom. The library rooms have red painted floors which blend with the pale green walls, white woodwork and red shelves. The first second floor rooms although not renovated to date, are expected to be made into a museum at a later date. It is hoped that a historical society might be formed which would look into the possibility of a museum. Also on the second floor are the wash rooms. There is an attic which can be used for storage if necessary.

The Digby Library Association moved from the Old Salvation Army Citadel on Main St. to its present quarters in former Woodrow House, Moncton, in the Fall of '68. The purchase price of the building and for renovations has been raised by donations and fund-raising activity by the association so far that the library is now left free of debt. It is worthy of note that this building was wiped off in six months.

At the afternoon tea which followed the tour, Mrs. Glen Smith and Mrs. John Nichols poured. Others who assisted were Mrs. Ronald VanFasselt, Mrs. Hyman Sutherland, Mrs. John Woolaver, Mrs. Charlie Horsey, Mrs. MacLeod Ross, Mrs. Webster Dunn, Mrs. D. E. Lewis and Mrs. E. H. Anderson. Mrs. Anderson was in charge of the tea assisted by Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Dunn. Flowers on the tea table were from Flowers by Gabrielle and Mrs. H. M. Warde arranged the other floral decorations.

Within the past few months the Digby Library has become a branch of the Western Counties Regional Library and will begin service under the regional set-up early in November. This will give users an opportunity to borrow books and magazines free of charge, request material not on the library shelves through a province-wide interlibrary loan service and make use of services (Please turn to page 6).

A basket of flowers was presented on behalf of the Weymouth Community Library. The Weymouth Library Association was represented by Mrs. Emanuel Adelaar, chairman, Mrs. Fred Shiner, secretary and Miss Ruth Goodwin, committee member.

Following the official opening the guests were taken on a tour of the building by Mrs. H. M. Warde and Miss Mary Marshall. Mrs. George Winch had charge of the guest book.

The lower floor where the books are kept consists of five rooms, including a children's room, a museum, a reading room, a kitchen or storeroom. The library rooms have red painted floors which blend with the pale green walls, white woodwork and red shelves. The first second floor rooms although not renovated to date, are expected to be made into a museum at a later date. It is hoped that a historical society might be formed which would look into the possibility of a museum. Also on the second floor are the wash rooms. There is an attic which can be used for storage if necessary.

Capt. Belliveau Appreciates Rita's Socks

Rita Sautier, Halifax, formerly Digby, showed herself a genuinely honest-to-goodness fan of the Montreal Canadiens when she knit a lovely pair of white dress socks for Captain Belliveau. Miss Sautier started the project when she heard the team was coming to Halifax.

Miss Sautier met the team and their captain, C.N.R. station in Halifax when she presented the gift. She also presented a letter and a photograph of herself. The gift was accepted with appreciation by the captain, while the team, including their coach, was being televised.

For the socks, Jean Belliveau sent Rita an autographed picture of himself, wrote a few lines in gratitude for the gift and expressed pleasure in meeting Miss Sautier.

Youth Fellowship Activities

The Baptist Youth Fellowship opened their fall activities with a Retreat at the Tom Sutherland cabin on Hagar's Lake. It was a lovely afternoon, and the group enjoyed the end-of-summer and bonding on the lake. Prior to supper, a lively discussion on the subject of "Teen-Age Morals" was conducted by the group's pastor, Rev. Donald Robertson.

A delicious supper was prepared and served by the girls in the group. Some of whom had baked cakes for the occasion. The whole venture proved to be worthwhile, and it was hoped to have another such retreat in the near future.

On September 4th, twelve of the young people journeyed to Waterville for a tour of the Kings County Hospital, a relatively new building, valued at $1,000,000, and the new modern in all of Canada.

The group was met by Rev. Dale McTavish, chaplain for the institution. Welcome and brief remarks were then issued for the group in the hospital cafeteria.

Following the meal, Mr. McTavish conducted the group on an extensive tour of the entire hospital. They visited patients' wards and centers for rehabilitation. Following the tour the film "How Are You?" was shown. This picture in cartoon form was an effective approach to the whole matter of emotional illness. Ample time was given for discussion.

Rev. Donald Robertson, on behalf of the group, thanked Rev. Dale McTavish for taking his time for this special tour, and the hospital for their kindness and hospitality. The group then left the home. (Please turn to page 6).

LIBRARY OPENED
vices such as reference service, story hours, book talks and book lists.

Included in the region are Yarmouth, Shelburne and Digby. Books in each library will be sorted and gradually built up and exchanged among all centres.

Bookmobile service will begin as soon as the vehicle is delivered, probably late February or early March. Anyone living in the area served by the Regional Library may use any branch or bookmobile.

By its very nature, Regional Library service is flexible and easily adapts to changing requirements. Open hours in the branches, for example, can easily be changed if a change would suit the convenience of most borrowers. New bookmobile stops can be added or the location and time of other stops changed if this would provide better service.

There is more to a library than the dispensing of books. Story hours, film shows, puppet shows and other programs that reach out into the community and show where the action is also a part of Regional Library service. While it is essential to begin slowly in introducing special services in a newly-established regional library, programs such as these will become an integral part of the library picture as soon as staff and book-stock permit.

Local people will be employed in the branch libraries. No experience will be required since on-the-job training will be provided by the professional staff who will administer the total library service.

The purpose of the library system is to bring improved library service to all the people in the region by strengthening local public libraries and extending quality library services. A constantly changing, active and exciting book collection is the first essential in achieving this goal. All books are selected for use, enjoyment, information, stimulation and controversy and any censorship pressures are very strongly resisted.

WOODLOT OWNERS STUDY TAX METHODS

The Forest Taxation Committee of the Nova Scotia Woodlot Owners' Association met recently in Truro with W. H. House, a consulting forester from New Hampshire, and a member of the committee that recommended the Yield Tax as a means of improving forest land taxation in that State.

The Yield Tax was introduced in New Hampshire in 1949 and was applied by separating the land and the trees growing on that land for taxation purposes. The land itself is assessed and taxed at usual rates but the tax on the timber is collected only when the trees are harvested. This system is based on a percentage of the stumpage value as determined by the assessor for the town or township. The assessor for the town or township introduces the Yield Tax into the annual tax roll.

However, rising land values and increasing assessments have virtually wiped out the advantage that the Yield Tax was intended to bring about. Now the owners of woodlots are little better off than before.

The Yield Tax was applied after a six month tax-exempt period which gave the owners of mature timber an opportunity to harvest their timber and escape paying the Yield Tax on top of the annual taxes that had been paid on both the land and timber while the trees were reaching maturity each year but the tax on the timber is collected only when the trees are harvested. This system is based on a percentage of the stumpage value as determined by the assessor for the town or township. The assessor for the town or township introduces the Yield Tax into the annual tax roll.

As a result of their thorough discussion, with Mr. House of the operation of the Yield Tax in New Hampshire over the past twenty years, the N. S. W. O. A. Taxation Committee were able to obtain much valuable information to assist in their study of the impact of taxes on the woodland of Nova Scotia.

According to Hector Hill of Truro, who is committee chairman, the purposes of their study is to find an acceptable alternative to the present method of taxing woodland; one that will be conducive to better forest management in the future, as well as easing the tax burden now being borne by the forest owners of Nova Scotia.

Once the Yield Tax was in operation, many townships found that they were receiving less revenue from this source than they had anticipated and it was necessary for the State to reimburse them for tax losses. At the present time, twenty-three townships are still receiving this assistance.

Some 140 are enrolled this year at St. Ann's. Dr. Beveridge made the suggestion for affiliation in his submission some time ago to the tribunal on higher education on behalf of the faculty. (Please turn to page 12)

Twilight Reverie

Twilight, trimmed her glowing lantern,
And in its golden lure
I walked in silence on the hill.
The world was hushed, cradled in
The wings of evening dark,
Tides through the misty curtain sky
I saw the slender fingers
Of the sun, hide her dazzling face.
Then fling her golden tresses
In wild disarray across
The blue horizon's edge.
Till spruces stood like sentinels,
Silent and still, etched in ebony
Against a hand-beyond starless
Deep coral shadows watching the night
Drift through the silent grasses
To muffled music of a mist-veiled stream.
Where a solitary loon's weird lonely call
Bids the day... farewell.

Served Purpose

During the months from the demolishing of the familiar ivy covered Digby Branch Bank of Nova Scotia to the occupation of the present new bank building some two weeks ago, the Digby Branch Bank of Nova Scotia operated from the Kerb Building on Digby's main street. Above is seen the premises which manager, Hyson Sutherland said was adequate for their needs and served well the purpose for which they had required it. It was one of the best temporary arrangements of any of their branches in Nova Scotia. But, said both L. R. Rhyno, accountant, and Mr. Sutherland, "it is a wonderful feeling to be in the new building, just like coming back home."

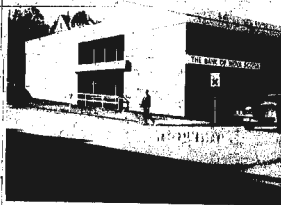

Best wishes for success to the Bank of Nova Scotia from

NEW DIGBY BRANCH BANK OF N. S. BUILDING

The new Bank of Nova Scotia officially opens in Digby on Wednesday when the public is invited to attend above to constructed of brick

C. A. Flower, Bauld & Mitchell
— ARCHITECTS —
Halifax, Nova Scotia

Hyson Sutherland, who saw the demolition of the ivy-covered Digby Branch Bank of Nova Scotia, also managed the affairs while in temporary quarters when the new Bank of Nova Scotia was being constructed, is seen above happily discussing with a client all the conveniences at the new bank which will be officially opened on Wednesday.

Born in Newcastle, N. B., Mr. Sutherland was educated at the Markins High School and entered the Bank of Nova Scotia in that same town to begin his career in 1948. Following his initial year with the bank in his home town he went to branches in Amherst, Oxford, Pictou, Kenville in Nova Scotia and to Saint John, N. B.

He first took the position of manager in the Bank of Nova Scotia, Caledonia Branch. From there he was transferred to Harbour Grace in Newfoundland, and came to Digby in February 1958.

Mr. Sutherland succeeded H. B. Warren at the bank here. It was during Mr. Warren's management that the Bank of Nova Scotia was convinced of the crowded quarters in Digby and set out to plan the new building which now graces the town.

During his year and a half in Digby, Mr. Sutherland has become active in the senior Boy Scouts, being advisor of the Fundy Ventures of Digby. He is on the Industrial Committee of the Digby Board of Trade and serves as treasurer with the Annapolis Basin-Digby Industrial Development Commission. He is a director of the Digby Library Association and is on the finance committee of the association. Formerly he had been a Y's Man and belonged to Lions.

Mr. Sutherland is a member of the Anglican Church and enjoys a game of golf for recreation.

Mrs. Sutherland, who has become active in Girl Guides and many other organizations in Digby, was the former Miss Ursula Flett, of Newcastle, N. B. Mr. and Mrs. Sutherland have two children: Tommy, age 15, and Patie, age 11.

Fifteen On Staff

Hyson Sutherland has been manager of the Digby Branch Bank of Nova Scotia for more than a year, having succeeded H. B. Warren. Besides Mr. Sutherland there are fourteen others employed at the bank. They are: L. R. Rhyno, accountant; W. I. MacMillan, Scotia Plan Lending Officer; Miss Virginia Turnbull, first assistant accountant; Mrs. Sally LaFleur, utility clerk; Mrs. Lynn Morrell, clerk typist; Mrs. Lorna Kullen, stenographer; Miss Debbie Ameron, Mrs. Jody Bluet, Mrs. Myrna Burns and Miss Esther Theriault, tellers; Mrs. Joyce Nesbitt, proof reader; Tony O'Neill and Wayne Hamilton, trainees; and Mrs. Gail Titus, ledger keeper.

Old Gives Way To New

The much admired ivy covered Bank of Nova Scotia building (above) which was constructed in the year 1899-1900 and extended in 1930 was demolished in the early Spring of the present year, making way for the presently new Bank of Nova Scotia, Digby Branch, which will be officially opened on Wednesday, October 22. The Digby Branch Bank of Nova Scotia had progressed and outgrown the old ivy covered building. Working quarters were just too small, said manager Hyson Sutherland.

Older residents of the town, however, remember an earlier Bank of Nova Scotia which was situated; it is understood, in the vicinity of the present Fashion Cleaners area. This bank had been used from the time the Digby Branch Bank of Nova Scotia had been established in Digby in the year 1899-1900.

It was during the management of H. B. Warren that a decision was made to demolish the second bank to prepare for the third Bank of Nova Scotia building in Digby.

The accident occurred near the Scallops Bowl around 11:30 o'clock, when Mr. Essex, alone in the car, it is understood, was proceeding toward his home in Digby. The car damaged beyond repair is said to have left the road, struck a culvert and smashed against a tree.

Two Fishermen Rescued

Two fishermen of Port Lorne, Nelson Banks and Mr. Bent, son of Sam Bent, were hoisted aboard a Canadian Forces helicopter Thursday from their 28 foot lobster boat which ran into difficulties in the Bay of Fundy.

The Air-Sea Rescue Centre at Halifax said tide and high winds prevented other vessels from going to the assistance of the boat.

A Labrador helicopter from 419 Rescue Squadron at Summerside, P.E.I., took the two men off the pitching vessel at Croix Cove.

They were flown to their home in Port Lorne, N.S.

Pennies For Starving Children

Pennies For Starving Children is the project which Grace United Church Explorers will conduct after school on October 30th and October 31st. The Pennies For Starving Children is the annual UNICEF campaign for funds to assist the needy carried on each Halloween.

The project is in charge of Mr. Cullen, Explorers leader is Mrs. Ted Essex.

Louis Gibeau, M.P., for South West Nova and George Lobos, M.L.A. Lunenburg County were the speakers at the annual meeting of the Annapolis West Progressive Conservative Association at the Community Centre, Annapolis Royal. The meeting was presided over by Kenneth Green.

Mr. Gibeau took issue with the recent government in Ottawa for its spending $47,000,000 on a Cultural Centre in Ottawa, one of many extravaganzas, as well as the fantastic cost of repairs to the "Bonaventure" (now to be taken out of service), while money is not available for a wharf in Annapolis Royal and fisherman in Delap's Cove are forced to take the freight of the channel for their boats into their own hands. He promised to do his best to see that they are recommended for the work they have done. He also condemned the present government in Ottawa for its lack of concern for the needs of the country, while giving priority to such things as legalizing homosexuality and relaxing the abortion laws, and pushing through the law concerning bilingualism.

Fourteen Ton Truck Hangs On Trees

A fourteen ton large rock hauling truck used by the Annapolis County Council on the Shore Road construction project went over the bank near Orin Park at Bay View on Monday evening around five o'clock.

It is understood the roadway gave away by a steep incline when the truck was negotiating to go near the edge. Fortunately the incline was in several stages so that the truck was halted in its descent on the second stage preventing it from going into the tide below.

The driver, Robert Pettipas, Deep Brook, who was still in the truck as it was halted on safety at nearly to 10 o'clock that night was uninjured. The truck had some damage.

The accident occurred a short distance on the Shore Road after leaving the Bay View village proper.

Sisters also attended including Sister Baptiste, Mrs. Saint Vincent who was at Meteghan for 49 years and is now 88 years of age.

The Sisters of Charity first arrived in Meteghan in 1880, when Reverend Father James Daly, parish priest, petitioned Mother Joseph Carroll, Superior General of the Sisters of Charity of Halifax, to send some Sisters to teach in the public schools of the parish. In answer to the request, three Sisters opened a mission in September of the same year. At first the Sisters lived in a house belonging to James McCarthy. Later they resided

Mr. and Mrs. Oakley Smith celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Wednesday evening October 15th at the home of their daughter and son in law, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Speights. Their son and daughter in law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Smith, Brackleyville, Ontario, arrived home for the special occasion. Friends and relatives gathered from near and far, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Robbins of Dartmouth; Mrs. Russell Woodman and her two daughters, Mrs. F. Mayne (of Wolfville); Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wilson and daughter, also Mrs. Avard Wilson (all of Lawrencetown). Others arrived from Yarmouth, Bear River, Deep Brook and Digby.

Mrs. Kenneth Smith was in charge of the guest book. Mrs. Dan Pollard, Brackleyville, in Ontario was in charge of the ladies wraps and attended the door.

Mrs. Gerald Young and Mrs. Gerald Thompson efficiently served the refreshments and replenished the tea cups. A beautifully trimmed three tier cake was on display and later served to the guests. The room was decorated with white and gold streamers and white tapers. Gifts of money and china were received. Mr. and Mrs. Smith received many well wishes and congratulations.

Mr. Lobos paid tribute to the fine leadership of N.S. premier, Mr. Smith and his predecessor, Mr. Stanfield. He spoke of the progress in industry and employment Nova Scotia has made under their leadership. Mr. Lobos himself a farmer, said that the so-called "Strawberry Farm" in Digby County, while coming under some adverse criticism, had nevertheless been of immeasurable service in many

In August of 1874 the Sisters moved into their new residence and opened a boarding school the same year.

In the evening of October 31, 1969, the Sisters suffered a great loss as the convent was totally destroyed by fire. Fortunately, no lives were lost. As usual the people of Meteghan were most hospitable and kind to the Sisters.

Mr. Ignace Amisault then offered a house, free of rent, where the Sisters and young sisters boarded for five years.

In the meantime, the parish priest, Right Reverend Mgr. A. B. Cote, was instrumental in having another building constructed on the same site.

On November 1, 1906, the Sisters gladly took possession of their new dwelling, which had been blessed the previous evening by Archbishop McCarly of Halifax.

On September 24, 1919, the Sisters celebrated the Golden Anniversary of their foundation.

For the occasion, a Solemn Mass was celebrated in the parish church and a banquet was held for the clergy and the Sisters of the neighbouring missions.

The Sacred Heart Academy closed in 1956 with the building of the Clare District High School at Meteghan River.

Sacred Heart Convent is still the residence of the Sisters of Charity who teach in the public schools in the area.

His reading is generally the newspapers and magazines. His daughter remarked "If I ever come home on Thursday without the Courier, his paper, I'll be in a bad way."

Eugene Outhouse

The years were recalled on the first salute, position of the Oath of Alliance and the singing of Canadian patriotic songs were observed in all or most of our Canadian schools. It would seem students and teachers during that period had a fuller realization of the fact that the flag represents the ideals and traditions of Canada and the Commonwealth, and also represents the life of Canadians, the unity of nations and is a symbol of freedom.

Also recalled was the fact that since the coming of Jacques Cartier and most of the immigrants who have come to Canada since they have helped to make Canada a nation which represents freedom and democratic government with equal rights, justice and liberty for all. Canada is also a beautiful country and a land of equal opportunities and where people are allowed to worship God in the religion of his choice.

Mr. Outhouse said he has been attempting to recruit the students here for their Canadian country and what it represents. He feels students should express their loyalty by revering the customs of the nation, the flag and singing national songs. He added, "Canada means so much to us we were willing to sacrifice our lives to maintain the peace and freedom of this great democratic Dominion of ours."

During the 14 months in the mountains Major Curujica was here, whose for Jugo lived in the mountains in the partisan in cave and under the hands of the people of the partisan forces.

"At this sorrowful moment of death when we are put before the eternal rest Major Curujica, a thoughtful, gentle father, firm and persistent friend, allowed to fight shoulder to shoulder with Tito's Partisan Liberation Army against the fascist invaders. It was Major Curujica to join you in this moment of grief and sorrow, who first boldly told the world on behalf of the Peoples of Yugoslavia."

The late Major Curujica was born in Digby, Nova Scotia, in 1894. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jones, K.C., and later moved to Bear River, N.S., where he attended "Oakden".

Therefore, the legend of Major Curujica, holder of the DCM and Bar, Order of the Partisan Star, Order of the Yugoslav Flag with Golden Wreath, will live in his loving heart of his loving people.

He then made his way to England where he joined the RAF and was sent to North Africa and Cyprus. After two years the British Army called him back and asked would he volunteer for special duty and command a training unit.

May 19, 1943 he parachuted into the mountains of Yugoslavia.

The Harvest

Take a look in your garden
At the harvest
That you've sown, all these years,
Does it give you cause for rejoicing
Or does it bring some tears?
You can't sow folly and reap wisdom,
Sow deception and keep a friend,
If you live in the midwinters of misery
Sunlight won't be around the bend.
You must sow with love and kindness,
And water it with your tears
That you shed for another's sorrow,
If it will come you, through the years.
You should share it with a neighbor,
Tend it with care each day.
For the Garden Of Life brings the harvest
That we find at the end of the way.
It is our most precious possession,
And as each of us should know
Life grants us only our portion,
We reap whatever we sow.

Letter To Digby Courier Assists Genealogist

The successful publication in 1968 of the JOHN SANFORD GENEALOGY, by Zema ("Jack") Sanford, of East Aurora, N.Y., might never have been achieved had it not been for a letter published in the DIGBY COURIER.

Through this letter, Mr. Sanford became acquainted with Mr. Douglas Woodward of New Jersey, who introduced him to the CHUTE GENEALOGY (1894), recently updated by Mr. George Chute, of Michigan. To the excellent start which William E. Chute had given on the history of the Sanford family, has been added the result of extensive research in Nova Scotia and the United States. Much of the study has been accomplished by correspondence, as Mr. Sanford's health did not permit him to travel. Over 10,000 letters were sent by Mr. Sanford to the numerous descendants of John Sanford, who came from England to Nova Scotia in 1631, and later became 5th President of the Rhode Island Colony.

"Jack" Sanford was born in Brooklyn, Kings Co., N.Y., son of Edward Pryor and Serena Edith (Minard) Sanford, daughter of Richard Harding and Rebecca (Potter) Sanford of Glenora, N.Y.

A second edition of Mr. Sanford's book has been printed this summer. Since the first printing, Mr. Sanford has sold his home in East Aurora, and now resides at 407 Wendy Way, Franklin, Pa., 15323. He is especially proud of his Williamson.

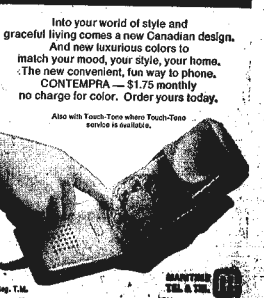

A special meeting of the Westport Sunset Rebekah Lodge was held in the L. O. O. F. Hall on Wednesday evening October 8, when they entertained special guest Margaret Cogswell, Orono, N.B., who is vice president of the Rebekah Assembly of Maritime Provinces. Sister Cogswell was making her official visit to different lodges. Two gifts were presented by several of the members, after which Sister Cogswell gave an interesting talk on Lodge work. She stated she was pleased to see so many young people who were joining the lodge and taking an interest in the work.

Following the meeting a lunch was served by the refreshment committee. Mr. Cogswell accompanied his wife to the meeting. They were overnight guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Williams.

W.C.S. Hi-lites

A busy year for W.C.S. students.

Students of Weymouth Consolidated High School are destined to have a busy year. Competition in Congress will stimulate students' activities in drama, debating, boys' and girls' athletics, home economics and year book production.

Last year the drama department had fifty-five active members. It appears that the number of students interested in stage productions will be greater this year.

Many teachers are showing their obligation to the school and students by serving as staff advisors to the various groups. Staff advisors for the different groups are: Shirley Baldwin, drama; Rene LeFort, athletics; Sandra Cook, Home Economics; Vernon Sabean and Peter Nordeen, debating and year book.

All of the school's extra activities will not be confined to competition. The student council under the advice of faculty adviser, Jürgen Hornburg and president of Student Council, Richard Connors, is developing a schedule of dances, parties and other activities for the school year.

The first big event will be a masquerade Halloween Party to be held in the school gymnasium on Friday night, October 21st. Prizes will be awarded for the best costumes, the funniest, most original, most beautiful, etc. Many other social activities are being organized.

Principal, Robert Baldwin believes that the school and churches can and must be the center for student social activities. "In communities where little or no recreational facilities are provided for our young people the school and churches have an obligation to meet this need."

Educational TV At W.C.S.

Weymouth Consolidated W.C.S. is taking advantage of educational television broadcasts. The Supervisor of Schools, William R. Spurr reports that students at most grade levels are being exposed to this media of educational instruction. Teachers are in co-operation with the broadcasts with their regular classroom instruction. In most areas of instruction this educational medium is proving to be very helpful in enriching subject matter and making it more meaningful. The school is equipped with a multi-purpose room. This room is constructed in such a way as to provide two separate rooms equipped with black out curtains. Two television sets may be used simultaneously as well as motion picture projectors and film strip projectors and overhead projectors. There are few periods in the school day when the audio-visual facilities are not in use. Later in the school year an in-service training program on the use of audio-visual equipment for teachers will be conducted by Robert Baldwin, principal of the school.

Bright Future for W.C.S. Grade XII Graduates

Robert Baldwin, principal of Weymouth Consolidated School, after having made a survey of last year's grade 12 students reveals that the school's record of providing students with the incentive to gain additional education is very gratifying. The survey shows that 11 are enrolled in colleges or universities, 2 are in army training, 2 are studying in technical or vocational schools, 1 is married and 3 are taking additional courses in the Weymouth school. All nineteen graduates are accounted for in the survey. This record speaks well for the students and teaching staff of the school.

Health & Safety

Mainly for Mothers

by Carol Hart

Read and Heed for Family Health

Suppose you and your friends tested about 5,000 rectal bags, developed and kept twice resulted from your efforts? You'd be pretty careful to write down the exact measurements, the timing and all the other elements of your perfect recipe to help others to use it, wouldn't you?

The label on your medicine container is just like that, precise. The Council on Family Health, a non-profit organization sponsored as a public service by leading members of the drug industry to promote home safety and family health.

The development of a medicine requires lots of "recipe testing" by a close-knit research and production team. It may include internists, physicians, bacteriologists, microbiologists, pharmacologists, mathematicians, engineers and many others.

As many as 100,000 substances may be tested in a year to produce 20 new medicines. When a compound is truly in reach, it is tested and retested. The manufacturers of the medicine are accurately measured tablets, capsules or other dose forms. The directions tell you how many tablets, capsules, or other dose forms to take.

Time to carefully read the label. You may find additional information which may be found either on the medicine container or as a package insert. If you read carefully, you will learn how often and how much medicine to use, whether it is for external or internal use, whether to take before or after meals, and any other directions. You will also learn about any special precautions you should take, and a description of what the medicine is intended to do.

Prescription medicines have the date they were written by the doctor and the name of the patient for whom the medicine was ordered. Such information helps you determine when a medicine should be discarded because of age, and reminds you that it should not be used for any other member of the family.

The soccer games that were supposed to be held last weekend were cancelled due to poor weather conditions. These games will probably be played at a later date.

The cross-country team made a good showing at the Provincial meet in Yarmouth last weekend. The total points of all the runners on the team gave them a second place.

The Amstel staff has already put out its first edition for this year. The editor is Jean Harrington and we are sure that with the help of the Provincial staff, this year's school paper will be a big success.

The Drama club is now in full swing and on the first day the sales were reported at over $1,500. We hope that the town will give us its full support on this project as the profit we make from it goes to running our students council.

Observes Reformation

Remembering the Reformation was the subject of Mr. R. H. Hughes sermon on Sunday morning at Grace United Church, Digby. He chose the text from John 14:6, "I Am The Way".

Reformation, Mr. Hughes said, is not a past event confined in history but a continuous experience. He said the same thing can happen to the church again today, or a transformation from a place of case and pleasure to a place of worship. Reformation, he told the audience, needs to be done differently today than in 1517. People he said are not afraid of God today or concerned about what happens after death. They are afraid of public opinion and they are inclined to lose God.

They are afraid of public opinion and they are inclined to lose God.

St. Martin Luther called a no-use on the church door inviting scholars of his day to consider with him 95 propositions. The church today can become cluttered with mechanical machinery and can lose Christ. Some things have to be discarded so that the true nature of Jesus can be seen, he said. Anything which gets in the way of Jesus Christ should be discarded and what constitutes to Him should be kept.

In the struggle for material things. A different approach must be made with the same old message, he said, and by word and example present Christ to the world.

Never enough time

Well, Thanksgiving has come and went, and here we are heading into dead-end November, and the further behind with everything than I was last June.

On the second day of July, I began cleaning up the basement. And I can prove it. There's still a terrible little heap of dirt, detergent and other basement garbage sitting there, proof positive that I got one corner swept out. It's in a direct line with the window, so that you have to walk around it every time. This creates some interesting comments.

My major project of the summer was to have been put down a new top on a little back porch, under which we put our garbage cans. There's an interesting little spot that I got one corner swept out. It's in a direct line with the window, so that you have to walk around it every time. This creates some interesting comments.

With winter coming on, both things are broken right off, and when you want to put something in the garbage can, you don't lift the lid. You lift eight two-by-fours, singly, pile them up, put the junk in, then replace them. It takes only about five minutes. And every time you go through the operation, it's raining.

Another plan was to rent a chain saw and cut up all the huge oak limbs piled along the fence, for use in the fireplace. They're still there. Speaking of fences, there was to be a new one this year. But I couldn't get at the old one because of all those oak limbs piled against it. Frustrating.

Then there was the hedge. I was going to tear it out and plant a new one. The old one was getting rotten in spots. It's still there.

I was going to play a lot of golf and get fit. I even asked my wife to join me, and paid her. I played about eight times, and got fit all right. I now fit size 32 pants instead of 31. But my wife had a premonition she'd be late on last week. Five holes, at $15 a hole. And the club is closed now.

With such an active, strenuous summer behind me, I was good to get back to the orderly job of teaching, where you have to do things, whether you feel like it or not. And ever since, I've been as only as a wolf with a toothache, because we have a new system. There's nothing wrong with the new system except that, like every other new system, it's heavy, compared to the old one, which was also heavy. As I prophesied a year ago, costs have increased to the point where I got into inefficiency.

It's something like the Book of Kings. Paperwork, books, and other things, at an alarming rate, and Committees being Committees like so many rabbits. (There's just my chance of ever getting anywhere in the profession.)

Thanksgiving I looked forward to a chance to get caught up on everything, get out in the open and visit, see the colors of fall, and forget about the system (after all, just a job of honest men trying to do a good job. No women, strangely enough).

So my daughter came home from first month of university: bewildered, full of hangovers about courses, and desperately lonely.

For the past two years, my most frequent comment to her was, "Now, you're in a reasonable hour." This time, we couldn't get her out of the house. On the Saturday, drove her downtown and said, "Get out of the car and go and see somebody." She was home in an hour.

And now it's the rainy leaves no one intended. I have ten maps, three elms, one maple, and a few other things. The maps come down like a shower of dandruff. Elms and maples, terrible down with malicious perversion. And the elms will still ever-die, else it's rained and the snow is falling, before they descend to contribute their own. Well, it is the only one we have. But I can tell you one thing. There'll be no more $5.00 phone bills for one month of wife-and-daughter talks about nothing.

federal and provincial grants to E.M.O. will be abandoned in April 1970 and the municipalities will have to find ways and means of financing their own operations. They urged the Digby Municipality to continue the work and mentioned the benefits of such an organization.

Also reporting to Council was Philip Dondale, director of assessment for Digby and also Annapolis Municipalities.

Councillor "Penny" Gott expressed a protesting voice against amalgamation of councils which she felt might be fine for urban areas but a real disadvantage in rural areas. There would be a dehumanization, she remarked, in favor of efficiency and economy.

Ryson Sutherland of the Bank of Nova Scotia congratulated the Digby Municipality on being able to operate during the year without having to borrow money. He expressed wishes for success in their deliberations at the Fall meeting.

A minute of silence was observed in memory of the late W. F. Connelley, who had served as a councillor.

Before the Monday afternoon meeting adjourned Councillor Gott referred to a recent report in the local newspaper which sounded as if the Digby Municipal Council simply "fiddled off" the idea of purchasing the Digby Air Strip at Hillgrove. Mrs. Gott distinctly noted that she was not blaming the newspaper for the story as it just reported the story as it occurred at the Digby Board of Trade meeting. Councillor Gott reminded councillors that they did try to negotiate with the owners of the airstrip but that council felt the amount of money was too much for the equity they had in it.

1970 for the summer tourists of that year.

Mr. Minnis informed his audience that the A.V.A.B.T. had been advised by Highway Minister Akerley that the department of highways is giving top priority to improving sections of highway in the Bear River, Clementsport and Annapolis Royal areas leading to the ferry terminal at Digby.

Transportation came high in the work of A.V.A.B.T. committees, he remarked and other active committees were tourism and industrial expansion.

He outlined other activities of the organization which serves a population of 110,000 in Western Nova Scotia.

Three new signs had been erected this year at Weymouth, Digby and a third presently being erected at Shubenacadie. The signs stress the Valley's "Evangeline Route."

He said a commercial operator and the department of transport are presently conducting a survey on the feasibility of opening a commercial air service from Greenwood.

Mr. Minnis said an "action seminar" was being organized for Valley boards of trade. This seminar is scheduled to be held in February. The semi-annual meeting of the affiliated board will be held at Mid-dicton, November 19th.

Those Doggone Dogs!

Anybody who has one of those doggone dogs has a valuable possession. They are expensive to purchase, eliminate dog tax at the Digby Municipality meeting on Tuesday was going to run high but after more than an hour and a half of valuable time deliberating on the doggone dogs the matter was tabled for further study on Tuesday afternoon.

Midford Rogers, the solicitor for the municipality appeared by request of the council to formulate some new by-laws. These included one regarding dogs. The council had in mind to impose higher license fees on dogs running at large or making a nuisance. The matter of collecting license fees posed one problem. The director of assessment for Digby-Annapolis, Philip Dondale, who appeared before council on Monday, it was reported on Tuesday, definitely stated that he would not put the dog tax on the assessment as the machinery was not set up to accommodate this. A special committee on by-laws consisting of Councillors Richmond Jozeneau, Mrs. "Penny" Gott and Gordon MacDonald had worked on by-laws and a fee with this in mind. During the council meeting it was brought to the attention of councillors that there was a Sheep Protection and Dog Regulation Act which required that if there is a by-law in the municipality then the assessor in every city or town or municipality shall enter on the assessment roll the owner of any dog. The duty was clear but as a practical matter there was difficulty for those not having the proper machinery set up.

Dogs, it was noted had become a problem and a forum for complaints, these being places in the municipality where people do not dare to walk by for fear a dog bite. It was stated. It was also noted that to have a dogcatcher for the whole municipality would cost considerable salary and travel costs. Dogs caught would be required to be fed and sheltered for 72 hours and if not picked up would have to be disposed of.

After more than an hour and a half of deliberation it was decided to table the item until further information from Mr. Dondale.

Weymouth Bank Nears Century Mark

The Weymouth branch Royal Bank of Canada will soon come to the century mark. Established in 1871, the bank is this year celebrating its 98th year.

The above information is gleaned from a booklet "The First Hundred Years", written by John R. Heron, now 73 years old and author of the Royal Bank Monthly Letter. The booklet commemorates the Royal Bank of Canada's 100th birthday, it having been born June 22, 1869, commenced business as a federally chartered bank on October 18 and directors were elected at their first general meeting in that year.

The Royal Bank of Canada really got its beginning with the formation of The Merchants Bank which began back in 1864 when on Monday, May 2, 1864, was opened the Bedford Row banking house. With Confederation came a change in the form of bank organization because the new Parliament of Canada took exclusive jurisdiction in all matters pertaining to banking.

Soon business increased and (Please turn to page 12)

Dondale. He mentioned that Weymouth wants an extension to its auditorium and it was suggested that a contingency fund of $50,000 should be also projected for a three year period for the municipal schools. This would be on a shereable basis.

Credit was given to Mr. Purdy for what he had done for the municipal schools, one instance being that of procuring children's playground equipment at Weymouth for $3000 instead of $5000 as had been ascribed. With this incentive the Kiwanis Club had taken up the project of supplying other equipment.

Councillor Hubert Shortliffe reported to Council on municipal welfare which in the Municipality of Digby amounted to $85,055 in the past year with a considerable rise in the budget figures for 1970.

Much dissatisfaction was expressed in the fact that members of the Welfare Committee do not have access to the names of persons on welfare. Access to the names, it was felt, would avoid discrepancies and save the people's tax money in many cases.

Minister of Trade and Industry, Hon. G. C. Roper, speaking at the expression, Nova Scotia Is Where The Action Is, and the title "Action and Challenge," and "Human Affairs and Community Events" in addressing the Nova Scotia Weekly Newspaper Association in Halifax on Friday. He remarked that action and challenge, and human affairs and community events are the central responsibility of each weekly editor in Nova Scotia and each member of the staff of the Department of Trade and Industry of Nova Scotia.

"Your vocation," he said, "is to relate and to interpret what is happening in your community in the whole spectrum of human affairs; the link of the Department of Trade and Industry is to promote the development of the economy of the province for the ultimate benefit of our people." "Your organization has a high responsibility to meet the challenge to improve the lot of every Nova Scotian."

Historically, Nova Scotia has provided men and women for leadership in the professions, in business, in industry and in government. I hope this will not change. But in recent years something new has been happening, and I am afraid some times that people are inclined to lose sight of this new and important aspect of our progress. We are attracting new people in the professions and other fields, the speaker said.

"Sometimes there is a thin line to draw between negative thinking and constructive criticism, the speaker continued and we need constructive thinking but we have proven that we cannot afford negative thinking. During the last few years in Nova Scotia we have seen exciting developments on the industrial scene. In the last 10 years we have been able to convince manufacturers from 10 other countries, as well as from other parts of Canada, that our pro-

Cranberry Sauce

Of Pies and of Puddings,
(If given the choice),
All this said, I would like,
And at Thanksgiving or Christmas,
If asked what I'd have -
I'd choose the Cranberry Sauce.

The Turkey, the fixin's - the Pickles and such,
The Turkey (of course) he's the "Boss"
But he don't seem so "Kingly"
(Or not quite so big) Without that - Cranberry Sauce.

A "Cab" of the Dressing, a "dab" of the squash
All this "dabbing" would seem as a loss,
If this "dabbing" would finally come to an end
Without a "dab" of that - Cranberry Sauce.

A Bowl of Enchantment, of sparkle and zest -
In glowing-red-sparkle - They shine,
With the promise of this, at the end of a Meal,
I'd gladly "Pass-up" the Wine.

So - If ever I go where the "Good" People go -
And as over the threshold, I cross -
The first thing I'll ask (before going inside)
If they have any - "Cranberry Sauce".

HOLD SUPPER AT DEEP BROOK

Recently at the Deep Brook Parish Hall, a supper was held by the Bible Society.

The ladies who managed the supper were members of the Anglican, Baptist and United Churches of Deep Brook and Glenora and Lawrence. The supper was a tremendous success. It was a tremendous sight to see these ladies of all denominations working so well together and happily for so good a cause.

Taking part also were sixteen members of the Bear River H.C. with eight young ladies acting as waitresses and five young gentlemen attending to the tea and coffee. This supper was the first of its kind ever to be held and was a tremendous success. After all expenses were accounted for (a cheque for $180 was sent to the Bible Society). Since thanks was extended to L. Sell, the Bear River H.C., all those who gave of any kind and last but by no means the least, those wonderful ladies of all denominations who gave time, labour and their happy selves to make this supper the success it turned out to be.

Smileys go visiting

This column is not going to have one theme, but several. Fair enough? I've just returned from an exhausting weekend, taught eight short-term periods of English and attended a department heads' meeting which ended by six p.m., with everybody snoring.

We went to visit our daughter, Mary, at university. A mistake, but you love them. First few weeks are hard enough, but when you add a tooth extraction, with complications, it's terrible.

Complicate that with loneliness and you have a pretty bad mix on your hands. Mary, isn't it kids spend years telling you how glad they'll be to get away from their rotten parents and the FREE. And a week later they're desperately homesick.

And then there was Dennis, the cab driver. Return and jolly. He talked steadily as we drove in circles and squares, looking for an address. When we finally found it, we realized we could have walked in half the time.

And Dennis, striking his forehead violently, remarked: "Gee, I shoulda known this place. I work right across the street here at de garage too nights a week."

Perhaps the highlight of the weekend was The Newyewds. We were coming down in the elevator on Sunday. A very large man, in his late fifties, and stoned to the eyeballs, joined us at the fifth floor. He was accompanied by a statue-sized blonde, in her early fifties. Also alone, but a lady. Couldn't say a word.

"Wants to meet the wife," he babbled deliriously, "just got married yesterday."

We were delighted at this manifestation that there was no race, creed, or age, and congratulated them heartily.

Read and Heed for Family Health

Suppose you and your friends tested about 4,000 recipe ingredients? And suppose one recipe resulted from your efforts? You'd be pretty careful to write down the exact measurements, the timing and all the other details of your perfect recipe to help others to use it, wouldn't you?

The label on your medicine container is just like that recipe; says the Council on Family Health, a non-profit organization sponsored by a public service by leading members of the drug industry to promote home safety and family health.

The development of a medicine requires lots of "recipe testing" by a chemistry, research and production team. It may include biologists, physicians, bacteriologists, microbiologists, pharmacologists, pathologists, engineers and many others.

As many as 100,000 substances may be tested in a year to produce 20 new medicines. When a compound is ready to reach you, it has been tested and retested. The manufacturer makes up the medicine in accurately measured tablets, capsules or other dose forms. The directions tell you how many tablets, capsules, spoonfuls or drops to use.

Take time to carefully read the label, and any additional information that may be found either on the medicine container or as a package insert. If you read carefully, you will learn how and how much medicine to use, how long to take it, whether it is internal use, whether to shake the medicine, and any other directions.

You will also learn about the special precautions you should take, and a description of what the medicine is intended to do.

Principles medicines have the date they were written by the doctor and the name of the patient for whom the medicine was ordered. Such information helps you determine when a medicine should be discarded because of age, and reminds you that it should not be used for any other number of the family.

Don't Hunt Alone

Mrs. Roy Haight, Rosway, would like to issue a warning to hunters not to hunt in the woods alone.

Her brother, Othmar Duke, went into the woods on Wednesday with his son and two neighbors. While there he became ill. After covering him with coats his son travelled a mile through the woods to his home for a sled, blankets and order an ambulance, which was waiting when they came out to the road with the ill man.

Mrs. Haight fears what might have happened if Mr. Duke had been alone.

GIFFORD LEWIS

areas and that is why the taxpayers pay and why we have governments.

Mr. Comau referred to the terrible neglect of wharves all the way from Cape Sable to Delap's Cove. Everywhere he visited, he remarked, he is told of repairs or additions needed. He mentioned, too, the Cape Sable had been told they could receive a new deep water harbor if they could decide where they wanted it.

Now, he remarked, there is no money for this type of project. He named the places on the French Shore, all of which needed better wharf facilities. The Neck and Ingham, all have the same problems with lack of wharf facilities. In Delap's Cove, he said the men had to dredge their own wharf at a cost of $2000.

People in Western Nova Scotia are not asking for "the moon," the speaker said, and went on to relate the thirteen millions spent on refitting the Bonaventure and have it scrapped, the jump from $ million to $6 million to build a hydrofoil and the jump from $8 million to $46 million for the art centre.

Speaking of the Nova Scotia government, Mr. Comau said it provides jobs and opportunities for Nova Scotians. Making sure that all live comfortably, is also a Stanfield priority but priorities of the Trudeau government are criminal Code, language bill and recognition of China and Vietnam. He noted the priorities of the Throne Speech as pollution, jointing age, wire tapping and restraint. Where are such priorities at cost of living, housing, unemployment and pensions, he remarked.

R. Baden Powell, M.L.A. was also a speaker at the P.C. meeting. Mr. Powell compared taxes in Nova Scotia to those in New Brunswick. According to income on a percentage basis, it is found that Nova Scotia had the lowest tax of all the provinces in Canada until the last rate increases. It now ranks fifth lowest.

Mr. Powell had high praise for Premier G. I. Smith and credited him with bringing up the regional disparity subject which led to concessions for those not so fortunate. He said a great harm is being done in this province by the opposition in attacking the integrity of the premier and the government. He deplored the false type of Liberal propaganda in preparation for the next election.

Mr. Powell enumerated many projects in Western Nova Scotia which were helped by the Smith government and remarked on the loans given to small industries through the provincial government.

REFORMATION

A congregational meeting was held on Wednesday evening when a pastoral relations committee consisting of Leigh Jayne, Jack Riley, Sherman Rice and Dr. D. G. Black, Mrs. A. Dillon and Mrs. Fred Fullerton were appointed in order to secure another minister for the church by June 30th, 1970.

Rev. R. H. Hughes will be retiring at that time and announced this in church on Sunday morning.

WEYMOUTH BANK

the bank spread out from Halifax to Pictou. In 1871 it branched still further to Antigonish, Bridgewater, Lunenburg, Truro and Weymouth and then into Sydney the following year. Not a single dollar had been lost by bad debts to this time according to Heron's booklet.

But all was not sweetness and light and by 1872 there had been some bad effects on the bank, including failure of fisheries and closing of stock exchange for a period. By 1882 conditions improved and the Merchants Bank, which weathered the storm, expanded from strictly Maritime into a Canadian institution.

In 1889 the bank started the Safety Deposit Boxes and a Savings Bank Department and by 1899 was again eager for expansion. By 1911 it had graduated into "an ideal of individual character" and changed its name to "The Royal Bank of Canada".

Mr. Heron's booklet takes The Royal Bank of Canada through both prosperity and war from 1909 to 1918 and again through the "ups and downs" of 1919-1928 and the troublesome years of 1929-1938.

Canada went through a decidedly era of prosperity from 1949 to 1958 and the bank adopted world interest. It experienced a distinguished decade of progress and change from 1959 to 1968.

Through all the hundred years The Royal Bank of Canada has shown its interest in humanity as well as finances. This was evident during Expo Year 1967 when it inaugurated an annual award consisting of a gold medal and a cash grant of $50,000 to honour a Canadian citizen or person domiciled in Canada whose outstanding achievement is of such importance that it is contributing to human welfare and the common good.

Keith Fevens and Tamara were dinner guests Thursday at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Ford.

School Business Occupies Councillors

School business occupied the Digby Municipal Council for most of the afternoon Friday when they reconvened to meet with P. C. Purdy, as perintendent of Digby area schools, in order to get further information on a proposed budget of $28,500 capital expenditure for Digby Regional High School equipment. The Municipality share was to be $19,500 of which the greater percentage could be expected to be returned from federal and provincial grants, leaving approximately $4,000 net cost to the municipality. Mr. Purdy also reported having agreed with the Digby Town Council whose share was figured at $6,500, most of which could be expected returned in grants. Because of new regulations the proposed expenditure had to be projected for three years. Failure to do this could require the municipality area to be faced with 100 per cent payment for their necessary expenditures. It was noted that the projected figure would be spent only if necessary and not without authority of the municipal school building committee consisting of Warden Ronald Marchese, Councillor Hubert Shortliffe and Councillor Aubrey Forest. After much deliberation a motion was passed giving authority to borrow $19,500 for capital expenditures for furnishing of the Digby Regional High School if required.

Mr. Purdy also told the councillors that the Department of Education and the Director of School Planning and Conveyance, as well as local education authorities, view with real concern the hearing situation at the Digby School Garage where primary and elementary school students board and disembark from the buses. The garage is in close proximity with the Digby Primary school. It was advised that the garage be torn down and relocated in the municipality. The matter was decided upon as an operation.

at expense under the foundation scale and was to be presented to the School Board for consideration on Friday evening. Estimated cost of a four bay construction is $20,000 with the net cost to the municipality of $10,000. (The building of the garage was approved at Friday night's Municipal School Board meeting).

Council was informed that new regulations had been issued from the Department of Education which required that the School Board appoint a person for supervision of loading and unloading school buses who is not a school bus driver and that a supervising schedule be set up for all buses from primary to grade XII.

Sewers Not Garbage Disposals

We have garbage disposals for such items as foodwaste, the expression of the Digby Town Council on Monday evening when the superintendent of streets, Frank Robinson, advised council of the foreign items which have plagued the sewer lines causing inconvenience and expense.

No action was taken on Monday night but careful consideration was given to charging up to the householders or residents the item of business or otherwise for the disposal of such a Home For Aged.

Letters were sent to the municipalities following the visit of Charles Vaughn, Halifax, to the Digby Town Council when he outlined procedures and terms relating to such a construction. The proposal by Mr. Vaughn was considered by councillors to be sound and not out of reach financially of the town. The proposition to the Digby and Clare municipalities was to associate with the town in construction and equipping or to give the town assurance of using the Home for their aged and infirm.

Town Keeping Within Budget

There was no place where the Town of Digby overextended its budget for 1969 to date, informed Mayor Glen Smith at the Town Council meeting on Monday night when the finance report was presented. Some expenses were down from the budget figures, some were close but none over the budgeted figure.

Mayor Smith cited a few examples which included Education budget $110,000 spent $91,600; sewers $9000, spent $7263 but the Third Avenue sewer bill has not been included in these expenditures to date; public works, budget $3500 spent $3400 with more than one month of winter to come in 1969, hospitalization of mental patients, budget $2500 spent $444.

Councillor Mrs. Ina Dillon reported a case load of eight on welfare with gross expenditures of $200 of which the town net share was $97.

A successful "Ladies Night" banquet was sponsored by the Digby Kiwanis Club Thursday at the Canadian Legion. Following the roast beef dinner the guests were officially welcomed by President Keith Raymond, who introduced the head table guests.

Keith Brattigan, who was in charge of the program, proceeded to the telling of humorous stories concerning various club members, who were required to pay a 25 cent fine. He was assisted in this "fun" part of the program by Graham Saunders.

The Kiwanis Lieutenant Governor, Alderman Hedy Iwan of Halifax, was introduced by Hubert Wayne. Mr. Iwan, a graduate of Dalhousie University, was introduced to the Department of National Defense as a Naval Constructor, a capacity he also served during the last war. He is serving his third term as Alderman of the City of Halifax and is a member of the Armada Kiwanis Club.

He was accompanied by his wife Christina. They have two daughters.

In a humorous, yet deeply challenging way, Mr. Iwan outlined the objectives of the International Federation of Police Chiefs, which was being emphasized as perhaps the outstanding need for service in the present world.

Mr. Iwan challenged (Please turn to page 6)

Most Quiet Halloween On Record

Digby experienced one of the most quiet Halloween's on record, according to the report to Digby Town Council of Police Chief, Webster Dunn. By formal motion the Mayor and town council expressed their appreciation and complimented the children for being such remarkably good citizens of the town. They remarked that Digby was most fortunate in having teenagers who conducted themselves with such fine conduct.

The police were also commended on the manner in which they had organized for the special Halloween occasion and had kept incidents under control. Their report showed few complaints entered because of Halloween and that one street sign and a post were the only items missing. They casually remarked that possibly a half dozen eggs and a few fire crackers had been fired. The police report contained compliments in favor of the Digby children and young people.

From the regular October report of the town police it was noted that no constable had been laid, of which ten required court action.

It was reported at the town council that no constable to replace the vacancy made by Michael Surrency's move to Lunenburg had been obtained to date. With the opening of the Digby Forum, the services of Stanley Vidio are also being limited for the winter months. The council is anxious to find a replacement so that there will be continuous eight hour shifts with the chief and Constable Perrier. Chief Dunn has also been looking for a replacement since the illness of Kingston Collins some twenty weeks ago. He will continue to do so and will give extra remuneration comparable to the job.

TRACTOR - TRAILER TRUCK RAMS HOUSE

The home, above, of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Peter, Smith's Cove was badly gutted on Saturday at 3:30 a.m. when a large tractor-trailer truck loaded with 5000 gallons of kerosene oil left the road and crashed into the house. Several thousands of dollars' damage to the house and truck is estimated. Driven by Marcel Romo, a 24-year-old of Timberley, Halifax County, the truck was en route from Halifax to Yarmouth. Mr. Bellmunt's hand was slightly injured. Sleeping in the house some forty to fifty feet from the highway were five members of the Porter family who escaped injury when the large truck came to rest inside their home as shown in the picture.

The Digby Fire Department was called in case fire started from the oil. R.C.M.P., Digby detachment came to the scene and removed the truck. The truck which landed on its side was not removed until late afternoon.

MINISTER SHOWS INTEREST IN DIGBY PROBLEMS

Hon. G. C. Hickey, Minister of Trade and Industry for Nova Scotia has given a sympathetic ear to the economic problems of Digby and surrounding area. This was revealed at Monday night's town council meeting when Mayor Glen Smith read a letter from the honorable minister and reported on a meeting with the minister. His letter revealed an interest in new industry for Digby and informed council that he had taken steps to see that Digby's potential was included in the despatcher barrow survey now underway.

Reporting on the tenders for Digby's low rental housing which were opened at Halifax it was found that each had been over the estimated cost. There is a possibility of a re-tender. It is also expected that tenders will soon be called for a Senior Citizens Home.

Permission was granted to L. M. Saunders Jewellers to remodel the front of the East Main building using aluminum and glass. The work will be done by Martin Comeau. Permission was also granted to the Pandy Restaurant to enlarge its building.

Digby Council went on record in supporting in principle the action of Yarmouth Town Council in protesting the proposed increase in rates by the Maritime Telephone and Telegraph Company. The Yarmouth Council sent their protest to the Board of Public Utilities and requested support from other towns and municipalities.

Mayor Glen Smith reported that he had "semi-complaints" about the poor reception from CJOH, Channel 6, television. The town clerk was advised to write to CJOH requesting an increase in power output.

The superintendent of Digby streets reported that the men had been replacing the screen and cleaning the bottom of the second reserve dam at July Lake. The gates were opened for ten days, this being the first time the dam had been drained since September 1951 and it had been more than six months since the town water supply had been renewed from the dam.

The "shape" of the water in Digby is excellent, was the remark.

Councillor Charles Hall requested that the danger of cars going into a sink seven foot ditch at the corner of Victoria and Carleton streets be rectified.

Mrs. Dillon gave the report for the Light committee. It was decided to replace an incandescent reflector light on Sydney St. near to Third Avenue with a fluorescent light. Mayor Glen Smith and Mrs. Dillon had attended the opening of the Regional Library at Yarmouth and reported on the same. The Mayor reiterated his congratulations to the Digby Library Association on the opening of the new building on Montague Row, stating that Digby was one of few towns owning their own library building. It was announced that the Digby Regional Library would be opened soon and that there were up-to-date books on the Yarmouth library shelves to be brought here.

It was decided to have Grant Mims of the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade to address the town council at its regular session on December 1st.

Monday's regular New Year's meeting the thought for his councillors to consider. There is that much business to be looked after in the town at present, he remarked. Actually, he said "we are meeting now almost twice a month to look after affairs". Things do not wait to be done, he continued, and there are items of business to be acted upon within days.

Light Up Early For Christmas

On request of down town residents, the Digby Town Council on Monday night decided to light up the Digby streets for Christmas by November 15th.

It was further decided that, as a town good-will gesture, people having a Christmas tree were to be given a bag of coal.

Because equipment had been used recently in a car accident

WHAT OF E.M.O. ?

The control committee will meet soon to discuss and make plans for the future of E.M.O., according to the report of Councillor Ina Dillon when she presented the matter before Digby Town Council on Monday night.

Because equipment had been used recently in a car accident and E.M.O. trained personnel were on hand at the accident. Mrs. Dillon reported. Fire fighting training and rescue work through E.M.O. is going on at Little Brook and Meteghan and one new person has enrolled in Digby. It was the opinion of Mrs. Dillon that it

About This and That Shall We Remember Them?

November 11 again comes around. Each year the local branch Royal Canadian Legion means of their program, draws the attention to the solemnity of the day. It reminds us of the things that have happened and that we may live.

Those who died, did so with the complete assurance that they were leaving this world as a much better place in which to live. The war they fought was to be a war to end all wars and bring peace to reign on the entire earth forever. We need only to listen to the news broadcasts and read the newspapers to know that this ideal has not been reached. Wars continue in other parts of the world which involve our own kin. Peace has not come to reign over the world because those who died in the war were for that purpose, and we blame those who died? Indeed not. Their finished job still remains a sacrifice for what they believed to be right.

There are many kinds of wars in the world today. There are little strifes and misunderstandings which are little wars breeding big wars. Wherever there is a lack of peace, there is the opposite war. And the fault lies not in the fact that "they" died in vain, but simply that those who live "live in vain". Whenever the hungry are left in hunger, whenever the highways are allowed to take their slaughter, whenever there exists neglect, greed, selfishness, discrimination, whether in individual lives, regions or nations, there is opened up a breeding place for some lack of peace, some type of war, big or small, here or there.

We shall remember them. We can't remember them in any sincerely as long as we ignore the very principles for which they died. Can we not make these words "We shall remember them" meaningful and sincere by trying in thought, word and action to live up to what they believed they died for. The dead cannot prevent another war. Only the living can. It is up to us. Shall we, then, in 1969, truly remember them?

— We Islanders are a unique people, said Eugene Outhouse in addressing an audience recently. We are the only people in the world who have to abide by a curfew. When midnight arrives you either stay on the island or you stay off it. There is no transportation after twelve o'clock.

— Twelve cents per mile the Municipal Councillors expect to be paid for travelling expenses when called to committee meetings. Petite Passage is a quarter mile wide, which will provide three cents for Curtis Prime and Eugene Outhouse, if their fare across the Passage is fifty cents more of us will envy them their profit on that stretch of their travels. How about Wilfred Swift who has two ferries to cross from Westport?

Ravi Shankar

Ravi Shankar (pictured here in rehearsal) commands great respect in his homeland and throughout the world as one of the leading sitar players of his day. He recently presented a lecture-recital for CBC radio that was recorded before an audience at MacMillan Theatre, University of Toronto, as part of the 1969 CBC Toronto Festival of Music. This recital was heard last month on the CBC.

The Knights of the Clare have purchased 400 pairs of eye glasses for the Clare Golf and Country Club near a break where they plan on building their clubhouse. Work has already commenced, announced president Gustave Thibodeau of Church Point.

A meeting was held on Monday, November 11 at the Little Brook Municipal Centre, with the following outside Knights present: Robert Deputy, Alex McDonald, Grand Knight, Edward Boudreau and Grand Knight, James J. Grafton, all of Yarmouth and other countries less fortunate than our own, said Mr. Thibodeau.

Bronze Medalion Swimming Course

A letter from Captain B. Guibault, C.P.R. Cornwallis was read at Digby Town Council on Monday night stating that the P.E. and P.T. bronze medalion swimming course would begin at the base on November 2, 1969. This course trains persons as life guards and Mayor Glen Smith remarked on the opportunity presented to have life guards prepared in case of Digby proceeding with a town swimming pool construction which had been proposed some weeks ago.

Applicants for the course at Cornwallis are to be 14 years or over, obtained their senior Red Cross awards, have a medical certificate and pay a fee of two dollars.

CFB Cornwallis would welcome applicants from Digby, Annapolis Royal and area, the letter stated.

Pictures Of Sir Admiral Robert Digby Presented

Two framed pictures of Sir Admiral Robert Digby, who brought the founding Loyalsists to Digby in 1783, were presented on Monday night to the Digby Town Council by Garfield Hayden, who suggested that one of them be hung in the newly opened Digby Library.

A letter was requested to be written to Mr. Hayden in appreciation of the gifts.

61 North St.,
Ches. Whitehall
England, Oct. 29th

The Digby Courier,
Dear Mrs. Wallis:

I very reluctantly have to ask you to cancel my subscription to the Courier, the delivery is so erratic that sometimes I get three papers in a week.

I took the matter up with the postal authorities here and they assured me that the papers were delivered the same day they arrived.

I am sorry to break the link and, will miss the home news especially the editorials and Coffee at Jack's which others here have enjoyed also.

Thanking you
Yours truly,
Frank Smith
Editors Note:

So sorry, Mr. Smith. The papers leave here each Thursday. Maybe we should take it up with Mr. Kierans.

Editor The Digby Courier,
Digby, N. S.

Dear Editor: Just 50 years ago this date, October 17th, 1919 I moved from Saint John, N. B. with my wife and son, Laurence to Digby to make my home. I was 31 years old and Laurence was 8 years old.

I entered the service of Bank of Nova Scotia in 1929 and has been with the Bank of Nova Scotia for 40 years this day. He worked for the bank in the following places: Digby, Bridgetown, Ottawa, Edmonton, Winnipeg, Dartmouth, St. John's, Newfoundland and was manager of a Calgary branch for a time. He is now in the General Office in Toronto.

His wife was Phyllis Dakin, daughter of Fritz Dakin, Digby. He has a sister, Frances Tupper (my daughter) who also lives in Toronto. He has no family. He also has a nephew, Laurie Tupper, and a great nephew, Sean Tupper who lives in Saint John, N. B.

I thought some of this might be good material at this time on the opening of the new bank here this morning. Having started his banking career in the old bank here 40 years ago and such a career with the Bank of Nova Scotia, I feel he will never regret and was always happy with this kind of work.

A. E. Dickson
Ontario, Oct. 29/69

Editor The Digby Courier,
To The Editor:

I have revisited Nova Scotia this past summer after being away for three years.

I would like to comment on the fact that Nova Scotia is definitely an "up and coming" province. Canada as a whole can be proud of claiming her.

While I enjoyed the quiet scenery which has lost none of its magnificence, it was my pleasure to be able to spend a day at Kedgie Park. One word and one alone can describe the work being done there... fabulous! To the workers, those who planned the project and all involved. BRAVO!

The rest areas where lunch tables are provided, change-houses, restrooms, and beaches. Splendid!

I agree with Hank Snow 100% as he sings "Nova Scotia is my sanctuary and I love it. To this I add "There's no place like home."

Comment from the friends from Ontario who enjoyed the trip with me, "If we had our ties in Ontario - we would certainly make this our home."

The Digby Courier,
To The Editor:

Now that Halloween is over and winter approaching I think of home and the stories we experienced when the ice would form in the Rappetoe and the fishing boats could not get out.

We often watched the fishermen trying to make shore.

Unemployment Insurance —Any Questions Please?

RE YOUR FORM IS 190 . . .

Q. Re your IS 190, "Any Comments?" I wanted to know why a benefit period cannot be extended one month for those who are involved in a layoff on the same date each year?

A. The Unemployment Insurance Act specifically limits a benefit period to 52 weeks, whether or not all the entitlements granted have been used. The Unemployment Insurance Commission cannot modify the terms or provisions of the Act. A benefit period can however be extended for other reasons such as illness, self-employment.

Q. Why do I have to serve two waiting periods in a year?

A. A waiting period is served once for each benefit period, unless the second benefit period starts immediately after the end of the first. In the latter case, the waiting period may be waived if the sum of excess earnings in the last two weeks of the old benefit period is less than the weekly rate of benefit.

Q. I was unemployed two weeks before I filed a claim. Why wasn't that time used for the waiting period?

A. A waiting period cannot be served prior to filing.

Q. Why to get my unemployment insurance money should I be available and ready to take a job now that I am retired? I worked long enough and feel I am entitled to it.

A. Unemployment Insurance benefits are only meant to assist you while you are seeking a job. The benefits are not meant to be a supplement to retirement pensions.

A THOUGHT STARTER

BY RONALD C. MACCORMACK
GOD'S RAIN

Who gets excited over a rainfall? Dull skies and falling water are an annoyance when you plan a picnic or want to put in a load of dry hay.

Recently, it was a privilege of mine to see and wonder at the earthly scorched desert of the Middle East and the Dead Sea. Long ago, as a boy in Saskatchewan, I recall how we would hopefully scan the sky for rain clouds which often never came. The thirsty fields of wheat would wilt for the want of a reasonable shower.

Rain is a symbol of blessing, because life depends upon it. Drought can be a mark of Divine judgement because it produces death and hunger. This happened in the time of wicked King Ahab in 1 Kings 18. Then when it seemed that life would perish, Elijah the Prophet prayed and there was a great rain.

The rain showed that God still lived. It showed also that there were people who could pray and get an answer.

The rain of God's love and blessing needs to fall upon our lives and Nations. It is a sign of ongoing existence and worthwhile living. Where there is spiritual dryness it must not continue. Hearts that are barren and unproductive need this sign of the favor of the omnipotent God. His falling rain is the rain which can make our lives blossom and prosper in the way that counts the most.

It is in the inner man where this heavenly rain is needed so desperately.

dragging their bodies and sometimes falling in. Those who, as the dried up worm and made her way up the hill, the going was rough! We could always look for some fresh halibut and enjoy a good fish chowder on a cold day. It's very hard to get good fish today and at such a terrific price.

I remember years ago, on a stormy night the D.A.R. shunting engines used to go down to the wharf to turn the ice engine stopped not far from our house and there was some commotion and men with lanterns going up the hill to Joe Raymond's house. My mother said, "There's been an accident," so she dressed up warm and made her way up the hill to find that Johnny Tebo the sectionman on his little tricycle had been hit by the engine and critically injured. Dr. Devereux was there, but nothing could be done, the engine was too great and Johnny passed away during the night. He knew my mother and called her name.

Johnny was greatly missed, he was a friend to everybody in the Rappetoe.

Notes from Bird Haven

Monday, October 13th, was a beautiful day and we set out for Monomel Bird Observatory overlooking Cape Cod Bay.

The eighteen acres of land with a quarter of a mile of shore front, also a beautiful old furnished home are the gift to the observatory by an interested bird lover.

On our arrival we were greeted by a Cedar Waxwing that has made the Sanctuary his home and refuses to leave. He even went to town in a car with one of the officials.

It being a holiday there, everything was set for a busy day. Twenty-five Japanese mist nets were set at strategic points and they were tended by people every twenty minutes.

A banding station was set up on the spacious patio with trained personnel to handle the birds as they were brought in in cotton bags.

Each bird was weighed, feathers were pushed back on top of head to see if the skull was hard or soft, soft in young birds, sex was established and they were examined for any kind of parasite. After all this was done and carefully recorded an aluminum band was placed on a leg and the bird was released.

While we were engaged in this work word came from another section that the sea birds were going by in great numbers and if we wanted to see them to come right over.

There we found more watchers settled for the day with binoculars and powerful spy glasses. Yes, the sea birds were going South alright, in one hour and a half eight thousand were registered. A slight always to be remembered. They were mostly Mergansers, Loons and a few Blue Herons. Some were flying high, others low over the water, but all in V-shape formation.

We returned to the banding station for lunch, then off again on the trails of the nets to start work all over again.

When we went home we took a Scarleat Tanager that had been taken injured to the station. He will live with my nephew who also has an injured Saw-whet Owl called So, What!

I was allowed to examine and register a bird which pleased me very much.

The Evening Grosbeaks arrived in my yard October 14th, also small flocks of Pine Grosbeaks. They are feeding on maple seeds at present.

Four Sparrows, White-throats, an Ovenbird and another Baltimore Oriole have arrived.

Several injured birds have been brought in lately by thoughtful children. Some have recovered - others have gone on to bird heaven.

Was alliteration a general fad of the era, or a particular fancy of the editor back in 1894? Plympton Pondings, Froastpot Flashes, Westport Wafflings! These are names that regularly headlined columns of oge notes. More? How about Bear River Breezes, Smithy Cove Stiflings and Now Tusket Topical

A 36-foot motor fishing boat owned by Gordon Banks, Clulodon fisherman, became a total loss during Friday morning's gale. Two other fishing boats were carried away by the storm, and a fisherman, Robert Hershey, washed overboard. Hershey managed to reach shore safely.

Four of the Clulodon fishing boats had been hauled up on the inside of the breakwater where it was thought they would be safe from the much prophesied hurricane, and except for a freak feature of the storm, the fishermen had taken wise precaution.

Shortly before noon a huge wave, resembling a tidal wave, swept over the breakwater and catching the four boats that had taken refuge inside. Owners of the craft, Robert Hershey, Gordon Banks, Arthur Hershey and Gordon McDonald fought to prevent their fishing boats from going adrift. Robert Hershey was carried overboard in his successful attempt to save his boat. The other three were carried out to sea in their fishing boats.

Arthur Hershey and Gordon McDonald managed to start their engines and were able to get their boats away from the rocks before any damage was done. Gordon Banks couldn't get his engine started. His boat was carried on the rocks and became a total loss. He was taken off by McDonald.

Five Attend Volleyball Players Camp

Recently, junior volleyball players from across the province gathered in Greenwood to attend the second Nova Scotia volleyball players' camp.

The first such camp was held this year the 17th, 18th and 19th of October, and because of its overwhelming response another similar camp was held two weeks later.

The camp was under the close supervision of coach, Jan Pross, Dalhousie University varsity volleyball coach, one coach of the world champion Czechoslovak National volleyball team, and advisor to the Nova Scotia Volleyball Association and William White, president of the association.

The camp was attended by four W.C.I.F.S. students: George Bright, Susan Gaudet, Michael Belliveau and Martin Adelstein. They were also accompanied at the camp by physical education instructor, Rene LeFort.

The eleven hours which were spent in seemingly endless drills and new techniques all contributed in molding better players and encouraging a new concept with boys and girls, that is, volleyball is not only a recreational sport but a competitive and demanding one.

This enjoyable weekend which was spent among volleyball enthusiasts from all parts of Nova Scotia was made possible by the generous financial assistance of the Canadian Legion, Weymouth Branch
No. 67.

The Digby District Hockey League was officially formed last Thursday evening at the forum with Arthur Everett heading up the league for the 1989-1990 season. Mr. Everett has had previous experience as president of this league last several years ago and the league this year is most for-the most important post.

The league will play a 30 game schedule this season starting November 11th. Practices are being held this week at the Forum for each team making ready for the season's opener next week. This season there will be four teams operating in the league as it was last year, Knights of Columbus, Digby Generals, Conway Combines and Weymouth.

At last week's meeting it was decided amongst those present that each team may sign sixteen players, and each player must play at least five games throughout the season. The deadline for signing was set for December 15th and no extension will be made on this date. Each team will pay $2.00 towards the paying of the referees at the beginning of the season and if possible after the league opens underway financially it may be able to pay the officials out of their funds at the sea-

Legionaires' day off

There's nothing more boring than sitting around all day, day after day, doing nothing but waiting for the day when the war will end. That's what the Legionaires' day off is all about.

This year, it was asked to speak at two different B. M. E. banquets. It was unable to accept either and was genuinely sorry about that. There's nothing like a crowd of old fellows telling their heads off on Remembrance Day.

Don't think it is as a crowd of middle-aged and elderly men sitting around all day, day after day, doing nothing but waiting for the day when the war will end. That's what the Legionaires' day off is all about.

Oh, they do that, but it takes place in the morning, at 11 a.m., when the guns stopped firing in World War I and the stunned survivors looked at each other and every man alive could scarcely believe it.

And there's nothing lugubrious or morose about the ceremony. There's a certain pride as the elders step out in their remembrance uniforms and as they march they are quick march. There's a poignancy as the colors dip and the Last Post sounds.

And off they swing, proud once more, and ready to get down to the serious business of Remembrance Day. Back at the Legion Hall.

A few of the smart ones, the timid ones, and the well-to-do ones go home for lunch, but most of the old fellows have planned to make a day of it, even though they might need flannel from the morning.

I don't mean it's a fluke. Far from it. But it is a fluke of the day that is fluke, a once-a-year get-together where you can recall old stories with fresh memory, and launch a hot and re-creative, fragmentary, the feeling that you're 20 again, or 30, or 40.

Psychologists, veteran's wives, and other good fellows will look down their noses at this whole thing.

IN MEMORIAM

JOHNSON - In memory of a loving husband, father and grandfather, Horace Johnson who passed away November 11, 1961.

You have gone across the river, To the shore of evergreen, How I often long to see you, But the river lies between.

Jesus met you by the river, Gently took you by the hand, Did you come and live forever, When the roll is called up yonder.

And this life on earth is over, There we'll meet you some glad morning, Over on that golden shore.

His wife Dorothy, daughters Anna and Ina and son, Robert also granddaughters, Judith, Joan and Janice and grandsons, Ronald and Stanley.

OUTHOUSE - In loving memory of my dear mother, Mary Outhouse, who passed away November 2, 1969. One year has passed since you left us dear mother.

Our memories are still with you, And there is no suffering there. Sadly missed and always remembered by Mrs. Gerald Titus, Mr. Titus and three grandchildren.

SIMMS - In loving memory of a dear husband and father who died four years ago, November 5th.

Though the stars are gleaming, On a lonely silent grave, Eternal rest grant O Lord, And perpetual light shine upon him.

Always remembered and sadly missed by wife Lenore and family.

Over the sand and hallowed sleep, Where the one we loved lies sleeping, Who will never be forgotten.

And perpetual light shine upon him. Always remembered and sadly missed by wife Lenore and family.

Over the sand and hallowed sleep, Where the one we loved lies sleeping, Who will never be forgotten.

YES, VIRGINIA, that is a boat sailing over the highway. It's a common sight on the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel. Key segments in the 17.6 mile-long superstructure, spanning the waters between the Delmarva Peninsula and Virginia Beach, are two tunnels that carry automobiles under the bay's shipping channels. Standing on one of the four main-made islands, which anchor the tunnels, this tiny traveler trains her sights on a passing freighter. Two bridges and a trestle roadway high above water level complete the engineering wonder.

Temperate weather through the fall and winter makes the Bridge-Tunnel route ideal for motorists driving north or south.

Hear Church History At Roll Call

The annual roll call service of the Westport United Baptist Church was held on Sunday evening, October 19th, with a good attendance.

Rev. George Sharpe, interim pastor of the church, conducted the service. Rev. Ronald MacLean, a former pastor of the church and now pastor of the Hantsport church, read the scripture and gave the sermon of the evening.

The choir, under direction of Mrs. Richard Welch, organist, rendered two special extended their left hand as a token of friendship. When Lord Baden-Powell heard this story he adopted the left hand of friendship for the Scouts and Guides of the world who try to show that they are unafraid and willing to offer themselves without protection of a shield in all their good deeds.

Why Scouts And Guides Shake Hands With Left Hand

The story goes that two African tribes were always at war. After losing many men on both sides the two chiefs decided to call a truce. They arranged to meet in a clearing, bringing no weapons with them. But neither chief trusted the other. When they arrived at the clearing the two chiefs faced each other — both with weapons in their right hands and protective shields in the left. As they advanced to make peace both threw down their shields and musical selections, and Miss Edith Ingersoll sang a solo.

The roll was called by Mrs. Albert Bailey, clerk of the church, and responses were read by assistant clerk, Miss Myrna Garon.

History of the church from 1848 to 1969, written by Mrs. Albert Bailey, was read by Mrs. Myrtle Poole.

During Rev. T. W. Howard's ministry here he had written the previous history of the church from 1809, at which time it was organized, to 1947.

A vote of thanks was given Mrs. Bailey for her compilation of this history.

Rev. George Sharpe pronounced the benediction.

A Matter Of Service

Long years ago I learned the meaning of service, said Councillor Eugene Outhouse, and it continues with me. Mr. Outhouse's statement referred to his war service and he related it to his service as a councillor for the Municipality of the District of Digby. I came on the council, he remarked, by request of the late William Cossaboom and have never considered anything else but a service to my community and municipality. Wilfred Westcott of Westport expressed similar sentiments at the meeting of the Municipality of the District of Digby when a motion presented by Councillor "Penny" Goff, seconded by Councillor Walter Wood would have requested a raise for each councillor by a sum of $150 per year. The motion of motion for the particular item of business had previously been given by Councillor Richmond Journey of Weymouth, head of a committee to arrange certain changes in the by-laws for the municipality.

The matter eventually concluded with a request for remuneration of $400 per year and $200 expenses a year for warden and councillors, this keeping the total remuneration at the same level as previous but shifting the proportion for the expense account. The warden is also entitled to certain expenses regarding his particular office. Traveling expenses to committee meeting of twelve cents per mile was also to be written in to the by-laws.

projected budgets had a deadline of October 31. According to the report given at the recent council session of the Municipality of the District of Digby the provision of expenditure in the proposed budget for the DRHS capital expenditures was 70% municipality amounting to $19,950 and the Town of Digby 30% or $5,950 for a total of $25,900. This amount, it is expected will be substantially offset by federal and provincial grants. Minutes of the "overtime" meetings or special meetings were passed on Monday night along with minutes of the October regular meeting.

Councillor Victor Halliday, town representative was unable to attend the last regular meeting of the Digby Regional High School-Board so had no school board report to present on Monday evening.

In the absence of Councillor Gordon Ellis, there was no report from the Digby General Hospital Board. By motion of council, Mr. Ellis' absence was excused.

WHAT OF E.M.O.?

The future of E.M.O. after April 1st, 1970 will depend entirely on the towns and municipalities Mrs. Dillon informed council, since the federal and provincial participation will be withdrawn on that date. In the present set-up, when the grants are withdrawn, there will not be enough money available for a full time director and the upkeep of the office.

W.I. To Study Status Of Widows

A study will be undertaken on the Status of Widows in Nova Scotia. This study was introduced this year by the Kings East District Women's Institute and will be the district continues to look into the problems of widows at the municipal level. WINS has appointed Mrs. Eric Meek, Co-ordinator of Agriculture, Canning, Mrs. Claude Spence, Elderhouse, Health and Welfare; Mrs. Eva Crenwell, Conway, Digby County, Co-ordinator of Legislation and Citizenship, to look into the matter at the provincial level. Mrs. Eleanor Kenna, Upper Church Street, a member of the district committee, will be invited to work on the provincial committee so as work of these two committees may be co-ordinated.

This was decided when members of the Provincial Executive of the Women's Institutes of Nova Scotia met this week at the Nova Scotia Agricultural College, Truro after dark when walking on the highway.

ence Crowell, Kemptville, York County.

The Executive agreed to endorse the Slow Moving Vehicle emblem which is being used throughout Canada and the United States to warn motorists that they are approaching a slow moving vehicle. It is for use on the rear of vehicles which are designed to travel at speeds of less than 25 miles per hour on public roads. In the shape of a triangle, the bright orange in the center of the emblem is highly visible in the daylight and at night the reflective red border of the emblem glows brilliantly in the path of approaching auto headlights. By supporting this emblem and its use, it is hoped that more people will become aware that such a sign does exist and encourage people, especially farmers, who use slow moving vehicles on the highway to place these emblems on these vehicles. Promotion of this project will be undertaken by Mrs. Meek.

Mrs. Spence reported that members of the Provincial Executive are still purchasing "Reflexo Tags" and giving these to the young children in their communities to wear. Local judging has been completed and judging is now being done on the provincial level.

Women's Institutes of Nova Scotia will award three scholarships in 1970. A $200 Scholarship will be given to a student entering Nova Scotia Teachers College, taking teacher training, as well as a $300 University Home Economics Scholarship. For the first time, a $300 Entrance Scholarship will be awarded to the son or daughter of a W.I. member. Students entering any Maritime University or college studying toward a degree will be eligible, if their mother belongs to a W.I. branch in the province.

Mrs. Charles Best, Cambridge, 2nd Vice-President, and a member of the Provincial Rural Beautification Committee, reported that 373 entries were received this year, 100 more than last year. Local judging has been completed and judging is now being done on the provincial level.

Pollution will be a program topic for the coming year and Mrs. Meek is stressing that members study the problem of pollution in their own communities. The Co-ordinator of Home Economics, Mrs. Dale Jollymore, of Brule, will implement a program on Consumer Education.

Lions Sponsor Successful Hallowe'en Party

Behaviour of the children themselves and splendid organization by police have been two factors credited with a most quiet and enjoyable 1969 Hallowe'en in Digby. Coupled with this and high in merit for contribution to the good behaviour was the Lions party for the children when approximately 40 attended. Above are some of the prize winning costumes. Winners were Timmie Bates, David Grasso, Cheryl Speichs, Joyce Dennison, Susan Dennison, Lloyd Denton, Victor Kynock, Robbie Kynock, Sharon Kynock, Jocelyne LeBlanc, Myra Miller and Charlene Miller. The program was in charge of John Walker, assisted by Arthur Everett, Donald MacBeath, Norris Gillespie, Fred Bates, Victor Kynock, Arthur Thomas, Robert Ellis and Father LeBlanc. Treats were served for the four hundred children, after which a parade of costumes for judging was held. The party was from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. and included every age from three and four years up.

Amanda Cromwell Sings With Team

Miss Amanda Cromwell, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Cromwell, Conway, a student at Moncton Bible School has been touring with a music group from the school and sang at Port Wade, Victoria Beach and Granville Ferry over the weekend. Miss Cromwell, well known in Digby and vicinity because of her exceptionally fine lyrical voice is taking a church secretarial course and studying voice.

Hallowe'en At House Of Roth

The House of Roth Hallowe'en Party saw many unique costumes, that defied recognition. At the regular Club dance, prizes were awarded to the following: Most original, Robert and Irene Potts, who were completely unknown until the unmasking. Irene was dressed as a crumpled little old man with a cane, and her sister during the Grand March were worthy of Broadway. Mr. Potts appeared dressed as Jacques Chassis, with a like mask and hairdo. Seal Campaign By Mail

For the first time in its long history the Digby Branch of the Tuberculosis Association will conduct its annual T. B. Christmas Seal campaign this year entirely by mail. Difficulties in arranging for the usual house to house canvass for contributions for the seals which have been sent out by mail each year has resulted in the decision to carry out the T. B. Christmas Seal campaign this year totally by mail. Digby has been for quite a number of years the only community in the province making a personal solicitation for contributions for seals. The per capita return from the T. B. Seals in Digby has been about the highest in the province for the last several years.

Members of the local branch of the T. B. Association are concerned this year about the returns for the seals. It is felt many former contributors may expect canvassers will call for their donation and may delay or even neglect to make their contribution. This year the seals are being mailed out in return envelopes bearing the address of the local branch of the T. B. Association. The branch is hopeful that all those who receive the familiar T. B. Seals through the mail will make their contribution for these seals by using the addressed return envelope in which they receive the seals.

CLARE BOARD OF TRADE SCORES NEGLECT OF WHARF

William Shakespeare, manager of the Nova Scotia Board of Insurance Underwriters, was guest speaker at the Clare Chamber of Commerce meeting held at the Little Brook courthouse on Monday, October 27th. He spoke on car insurance in general. Paul Gurnea, president occupied the chair for the evening. Mr. Shakespeare explained briefly how the rate of insurance was calculated which in general relates to the costs of accidents and the amounts received for premiums. He showed the percentage of accidents per 100 automobiles on the road in several classes. In the general class, pleasure driving only, it was shown that 7.5 accidents occurred and for those who drove cars to their work the figure was 11.0. In the sixteen year old class and youth, for those who drove their parents cars there were 12.0 accidents. In the same class for youths who owned their own cars the figure jumped to 25.2 and costs of accidents was $672.00. When the younger persons got married the accident figure was cut to 12.0 and costs were $535.00. Another interesting factor was that those who followed the high school drivers course, the 25.2 figure was cut in half and violations decreased considerably. This speaks well for the high school drivers course. Mr. Shakespeare stated that we are getting 8% more cars on the road each year. In comparing rates with other provinces, one must also note the number of vehicles on the road for each particular province in relation to accidents. Another factor is the road conditions. For example, the prairie provinces have roads which are straighter due to terrain. It was shown that Alberta percentage of claims frequency per 100 was 4.2. Halifax 10.0; the Nova Scotia (farmer 4.0; Montreal 17.0; Toronto 12.0; Boston 22.0 and Los Angeles 24.0. Accidents in cities, though more frequent, are of less cost than those in the rural areas and this is due mainly to lower speed limits in the cities. Accidents which occur at high rates of speed naturally will cause more damage, and claims would be higher. There are less persons killed in accidents to cars in the cities due to the speed factor, stated Mr. Shakespeare. Great concern regarding the Sackville wharf was expressed by the members. It is now nearly three years since a winter storm damaged the wharf and to date nothing has been done to put the wharf in proper condition. Nearly the entire wharf has been freed off with high portions of four tonping nantelant. The storm of three years ago tossed the high twelve ton slabs which were bolted to the wharf blocks, into the air by the pounding surf leaving gaping holes. The wharf was constructed in blocks, bolted interior with chambers with large circular holes on the bay side of the wharf. These large holes for the purpose of letting the heavy swell enter the chamber and supposedly serving as a buffer to the next wave but it did not work out that way. Although some larger fishing boats may be moored at the wharf, it can only now be used for that purpose. No fish can be discharged extensively from the wharf. The Chamber (Please turn to page 12)

Their complete sacrifice, not to abuse,
but to use,
For the good of Mankind.
I was born for a cause,
That all men might praise,

That self must be lost,
Never counting the cost,
of devotion.
I speak to the world,
Tattered flag now unfurled
Of true service for others,
That all men may be brothers.

WOODLOT OWNERS ORGANIZE

A number of woodlot owners meetings have been held in Digby, Yarmouth, and Shelburne Counties during the past month. The purpose of these meetings is to bring woodlot owners and others interested in the Forest Industry together to establish Woodlot Owners Associations in the area.

Well over 100 men attended three local meetings in Digby County. An explanation of the organizational program was given along with a summary of activities in other parts of the province. The woodlot owners were then asked for their opinions on qualifications for membership, means of financing, and objectives of the future Association. Also discussed were pulpwood price increases in the province of Quebec since marketing organization was established in that province. All meetings were very successful with very good discussion and interest displayed by everyone present.

At each meeting three men were appointed to a constitution committee. This committee met on October 28th and drew up a proposed constitution for the Association. This contains a statement of the Association's objectives; regulations covering meetings, elections, voting methods, etc.; the method of electing directors and officers etc. Early in November a second series of local meetings will be held at which the objectives and benefits of a Woodlot Owners Association will be discussed in more detail. Finally, Organizational meetings will be held at which the constitution will be submitted to the woodlot owners for final approval. Approval will be by majority vote after any necessary explanations or changes are made. This meeting will also formally establish the Digby County Woodlot Owners Association. All woodlot owners in the County will then be invited to become members. (Please turn to page 12)

Hallowe'en In Weymouth

The streets and yards in and around Weymouth were nearly void of trick or treaters and pranksters after 8:00 p.m. on Hallowe'en night. There were very few instances of vandalism and destruction in the area.

During the entire week prior to Hallowe'en night the public address system in the Weymouth school blared out "spooky" notes of squeaking chairs, creaking doors, and the like.

At 8:00 p.m. the first instance of a "ghost" was reported. It was a "ghost" of a kind of a different kind. It was a "ghost" of a kind of a different kind.

Attend Deaconry A.C.W.

Two members and two visitors from Weymouth attended the A.C.W. of the Annapolis Deaconry Annual meeting in Holy Trinity Hall, Middleton, Wednesday, October 28th. The meeting was presided by a Communion service at 10 a.m. in the church. The celebrant was Reverend A. G. Peters of Annapolis Royal, formerly of Weymouth, assisted by the Rev. R. Walsh of Round Hill.

The preacher, Rev. A. Pitcair, was of the Parish of St. James, Bridgetown. His theme was "Seeing Jesus in This Modern Life." He said he felt that the present church was in the death throes and cannot be brought to life in its present form. Jesus said, "I am God in the flesh, willing before you." God and man became one person and that one is Jesus Christ, who came to be a sacrifice for the sins of men. Jesus said, "You will see the Son of man glorified. If you want to walk in the light, you must walk in the light of my teaching."

Jesus at present is spoken of as a "good man", a "humanist", or even, by some, as spoken of as a "good-god", and has been likened unto a figure in a colored window, a bit of tinted at Christmas.

The church was meant to be a great voice, preaching the gospel.

W. R. Spurr, Supervisor of Schools, finally eliminating Dracula. Dracula was carried off the gymnasium in a "ghost" of a kind of a different kind.

Freeport

Mr. and Mrs. Rawleigh Nichols have returned to their home in Niagara Falls, N. Y. They were accompanied as far as Toronto, Ont. by Mrs. Clara Perry, who will be spending the winter with her daughter Sandra, Mrs. Derek Cook, Mr. Cook and family at Toronto.

We, today, are afraid to use the word, "conversion". The Bible says, "except you be converted as a child..." St. Augustine, John Wesley, and others were Great Converts. Conversion simply means a "TURN AROUND". Leave the World... See Jesus!

We have only a pleasant agnosticism in our church today. If we were blessed with the risen power of Christ, the Church should not be in trouble at the present time.

The Rev. Pitcair spoke of woe's role in the life of Jesus: at and following the crucifixion and in ministering to him during his life. Woe was the church's must talk to their Bishops and Priests, and to help restore the church to its former place of great influence.

After a fine dinner, prepared and served by the ladies of Holy Trinity, the members of the A.C.W. answered the roll call by parishes. An offering was taken for the Anglican, African World Missionary Fund.

The Rev. Walsh spoke of St. Ann's Camp (Avon Deanery) for 70 young persons. $25.00 was donated to this project by the A.C.W. Mr. Walsh introduced the Deaconry President, Mrs. Wynne, who pointed with pride to the fact that "Our constitution of the A.C.W. included any Christian woman, whether or not she be an Anglican." She further pointed out that the A.C.W. is the only church organization which is nation-wide.

At the close of the meeting was voted to have the next Deaconry meeting at Annapolis Royal, the 2nd Tuesday of November, at 7:30 p.m.

Decide On "Continuing Education"

The monthly Home and School meeting of the Islands Home and School Association was held in the auditorium of the school at Freeport on October 21st. John Doucet, District representative of the Continuing Education plan, who was to have been guest speaker for the evening did not arrive due to previous engagements. About 30 people attended the meeting expecting Mr. Doucet to be there, to explain the Adult Education Program.

In spite of not knowing if the grant was forthcoming or not, the Home and School decided to hold the evening classes the following Monday night.

After the business meeting a film was shown and refreshments served at the end of the evening. At the next meeting we are in hopes of having Mr. Edward of Miramichi, Yarmouth, to demonstrate cake decorating. The meeting will be held at his convenience.

Hallowe'en At Island Schools

Hallowe'en was a very busy day at the schools as "tricks" besides the lessons were in order. All the school children as well as the teachers and their school pictures taken.

In the afternoon the annual Hallowe'en School Parade took place in the auditorium. Most of the children from the Elementary school donned masks and costumes and paraded before the rest of the school. A good assortment of "witches", "goblins", "hippies" and what have you were on display. The judges, Mrs. Hopper, Miss Connell and Mr. Vassan, finally decided that a Robot (Karey Young), "Two heads are better than one" with Jeff Thorne and Randy Elliott, "Frankenstein" (Brenda Nickerson), "Tramp" (Perry Gidley) were the prize winners. The rest of the youngsters received either a lollipop or a balloon.

Mr. Edwards, School Inspector, was on hand that day also and viewed the parade.

At the school, a person or persons broke in through a washroom window, upset the chairs and desks, broke fire alarm boxes so that all the alarms were on, threw eggs on a classroom wall and called through the back door which and "trick" and having their usual fun. Later on the "trick" however, the older, so called "young ladies and gentlemen" were not as well behaved as they should have been. Quite a bit of mischief was done about the area with such things as road blocks, towing cars, breaking fences, moving the bus shelter, throwing Connor Bros. fish boxes on the beach, writing on MacIntyre's old storage tank and putting blacking on the brightly bricking off to name a few of the things done.

The R.C.M.P. were called in to investigate the break in.

Start Adult Education Classes

The Typing class, under the direction of Mrs. Joanne Elliott, or the Woodworking class with Herbert Thurber as instructor.

At the close of the classes on Monday evening, everyone seemed happy with what they were undertaking and it is hoped that all the "pupils" will really study their homework and get "A's" in their subject at the close of the seasons class.

The same evening the Adult Education Club had their first "tea" for the season in the school auditorium. Quite a few members were in attendance.

Think And Act Remembrance In Positive

Using the three colors in the Remembrance Day poppy, Rev. George Morris developed his theme on thinking positively and not negatively on Remembrance. He was addressing the annual Remembrance Day banquet sponsored by the Digby Branch Canadian Legion, 4000 Shore Road, and held at the Legion Headquarters, 4000 Shore Road.

Both the green and red of the Remembrance Day poppy are signs of life, the speaker said. The old is cast off in nature and the green blossoms forth; the red is blood continually circulating as the mainstay of the body. Between these two colors of life there is the black patch representing the dark years through which the countess have gone and which took the lives of men, women and children.

Mr. Morris told his listeners to act positively as well as think positively by helping in the community and employing the lives of those who died to make the community a better place to live. The enemy also died fighting for what he thought was right. This difference of opinion causes war, he said, and it is the duty of those who live to help his fellowmen to eliminate this difference of opinion and to do away with the black patch of war.

Mr. Morris was introduced by Charles Hall and thanked by Thomas Cleveland. President John (Jack) Nichols presided at the function.

An interesting part of the program was the presentation to the Legion of a $4200 cheque on behalf of the Legion Auxiliary. The presentation was made to Mr. Nichols by Mrs. Evelyn Kennedy, president of the Auxiliary. Mr. Nichols extended thanks to the auxiliary for the cheque and for their assistance throughout the year.

Mr. Nichols also extended thanks to Mr. Cleveland and others whose efforts made it possible to purchase the $20,000 Legion Hall on Shore Road seven years ago and which debt has now been reduced to $8,000.

His Worship Mayor Glen Smith extended congratulations to the Legion on their work and for the true Remembrance Day program. He particularly mentioned the service of the Salvation Army Citadel on Sunday when Captain Lawlor gave an exceptionally fine address expressing the views of youth and what Remembrance Day means to the youth of today. Appreciation was extended to David Daley who for the seventeenth consecutive year, has donated the Last Post.

at the Digby Remembrance Day service at the cenotaph.

Day service at the cenotaph and who has trained the Lions Drum and Bagpipe Band which led the 1969 Remembrance Day parade. Mr. Daley gave the salute when the veterans, led by the band and carried in the parade, marched. Prayer was given by Mr. Nichols.

year-old handkerchiefs were asked in such a short time and wreaths were placed in memory of the war dead at the cenotaph on behalf of the Province of Nova Scotia; by Mayor Glen Smith on behalf of the town; Thomas Cleveland for the Legion and Mrs. Evelyn Kennedy for the Legion Auxiliary. Mrs. Walter Vidale held a wreath in memory of her two sons and other personal wreaths were laid. The Bell of Honor was read by Mr. Nichols.

Lloyd Hicks was parade marshal on Sunday when the veterans marched to the Salvation Army Citadel for the Remembrance Day service.

NEW SCHOOL BUS REGULATIONS

A news release from the Nova Scotia Teachers' Union states that new regulations under the Motor Vehicle Act have resulted in demands upon teachers in some areas of the province to accept additional supervisory duties, involving the directing of loading and unloading, etc. While these new regulations do not in themselves direct teachers to perform the additional supervision, in some areas School Boards directly or indirectly have pressured teachers to carry out these additional duties the release indicates.

Highway inspectors in some instances have been visiting schools to outline these additional duties.

Teachers already perform a large number of tasks of a non-professional nature, and believe that their time can be more efficiently used in tasks directly related to their professional responsibilities.

In response to demands by teachers from all areas of Nova Scotia, NSTU representatives have been negotiating for many weeks with Department of Education officials for a satisfactory solution to problems caused by new regulations concerning school bus supervision.

In some cases teachers have accepted these extra responsibilities only for a limited time in order to enable School Boards to find another way to carry out regulations imposed by the Motor Vehicle Act.

After many discussions over the past two months, one involving the Board of Public Utilities, the Department of Education apparently designed a proposal to solve the problem. It involves a shunting arrangement with the School Boards, but this proposal apparently has not been approved, the release said.

Minor Hockey News

By: Wayne Snow

Minor Hockey in Digby got off to a fine start Saturday afternoon with over 100 spectators showing up for the games. This was a most encouraging outlook for those of the Minor Hockey organization who work so hard each year to organize this most important league.

Oil Kings Begin Drills

Last year's Maritime Junior "C" champion, Digby Jr. Oil Kings began month long season last week with a practice on Sunday evening with approximately fifteen players in attendance. The Oil Kings are in need of several more players and anyone interested in trying out for the squad are asked to attend the next practice. Every player is welcome to try out for this team but is asked to attend practice in full gear.

The new coach this season for the Kings is Charlie Murphy who has offered his services to all his important positions. Mr. Murphy himself plays hockey in the Digby District League, but in a practice this week led and enforced official regulations in his leg. In the actual ice activities for almost a month, Mr. Murphy has now put the Oil Kings team through practice from behind the bench. It is hoped Digby can become a contender again this season in provincial hockey, but several vacancies are open on the team for new players at five or six of last year's team have moved from town.

Let's Reminisce

November 9, 1894 -

The files of '94 indicate that Digby was a thriving seaport in those days of wooden ships and iron men. Weekly reports of ship arrivals and departures remind us that much general merchandise arrived by the waterways, passenger service plied to and from Saint John and New England from here, fishing boats landed their catches, and packers exported them cured. Victoria Beach even reported a successful sealing operation. But storms took a heavy toll of life and property on the sea. In one issue, following severe weather, three appeared accounts of four separate marine misfortunes in this area.

"The storm of Monday night and Tuesday was a most unusual one. Wind, rain, snow, a well-chopped harbor, heavy sea outside, disagreeable on sea or on land, overhead or underfoot. No harm was done in the harbour, but at Smith's Cove the schooner Marie Delphine, coal laden from Parrsboro to Weymouth, Capt. Ogilvie, met with serious disaster. She put into the Basin at 4 o'clock Tuesday morning but mistaking her course in the storm grounded at Smith's Cove where she now lies. Her cargo will probably be discharged."

(The next week's issue tells us "At the auction at Smith's Cove on Monday, James Main purchased the hull and rigging of the Marie Delphine for the sum of $80. Mr. Main and Capt. H. B. Allen purchased the cargo of coal at private sale. The wreck will probably be brought to Digby at an early date."

"The schooner Giza, Captain McClellan, from Miramichi for Port Greville, Cumberland County, with a cargo of hay, went ashore about two miles above Margareville Tuesday morning after having had a terrible experience in the Bay during the previous night in which she had foremast carried away, steering gear destroyed, and otherwise rendered completely helpless. The crew, who barely escaped with their lives, consisted of the Captain, Alex Collins and Abraham McCully."

(Subsequent report: "The schooner Giza which went ashore at Margareville during the storm of last week is rapidly going to pieces and will doubtless become a total loss. Tuesday word was sent to Windsor to have the Sova proceed at once to the wreck to take off the cargo of hay."

"The schooner J. W. Fahey lying at Port George was badly tossed about by the tremendous waves which broke over and against the breakwater at that place, and suffered the loss of her rudder."

"Schooner Annie May, Capt. Hatfield, of Port Greville for Port Williams for Boston, lumber laden, went ashore about 3 miles east of Digby Gut on Tuesday at 4 p.m. and became a total wreck."

The vessel was caught in Monday's gale, and for a time stood up against the terrific sea of the Bay of Fundy, but in the evening her sails were blown away, and the vessel becoming unmanageable, it was decided to put her ashore before night shut down. The main mast went by the board killing one of her crew. Shortly after she was driven on the rocks and the deckload swept away, carrying with it the bodies of two more of her crew. Capt. Hatfield stood by his vessel as long as possible, holding to the wheel though the seas were breaking over him, but seeing the last of his men washed away, he leaped himself to the main gaff and was washed ashore, sustaining severe injuries."

He wandered through the woods and finally reached the house of James White at Victoria Beach, where he was kindly cared for."

lation of our inland waterways as well. "And while the three speech," he said, "indicates the objective is to construct one million new homes, as a solution to the housing problem, there doesn't seem to be any definite measure designed to combat the rising costs of homes."

According to the Member of Parliament for South Western Nova, the government had better come up with some positive policy in the next session, because Progressive Conservative M.P.s are in no frame of mind to endorse any policy by the government. "I must congratulate the government for the least attempt to save money," he said, "but it must remember to justify its action in terms of priorities. So far, of the people."

Demonstrates Christmas Decorations

Mrs. M. Frankland, president, presided over the monthly meeting of the Adm. Digby Horticultural Society, held at the home of Mrs. P. Robert, November 5th. Twenty were in attendance and three new members. Mrs. A. Robinson, Mrs. S. McNaughton and Mrs. Dorey were welcomed.

Miss Mary Marshall gave the secretary's report and in the absence of Miss D. Warrne the treasurer's report was given by Mrs. P. Robert.

It was reported a district meeting was held on October 20th at the home of Mrs. H. Warrne and a new system for future meetings was planned with emphasis on workshops, special speakers, slides to be shown and various activities to be carried out.

At this meeting Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harris, Hill-Dale Garden Club, Bear River, were guests and Mr. Harris gave a report on the annual meeting of the N. S. Association of Garden Clubs held July in Dominion, N. S. Mr. Harris commented on the discussions that had taken place and showed slides of flower shows and garden scenes and made suggestions as to the use of more slides, giving information on planning and classification.

Mrs. Frankland adjourned the November meeting and Mrs. C. Levy gave an interesting demonstration on Christmas decorations, gift wrapping and arrangements, showing what could be done with artificial materials and greenery. Miss M. Tupper thanked Mrs. Levy on behalf of the club members.

The December meeting will be a social occasion, held at the Baptist Church Hall on December 3rd, with a suitable Christmas program.

Members are asked to provide arrangements and decorations in keeping with the holiday season and entries for mantle, coffee table, dining table, wall and door hangings will be judged by balloting. Also it was requested that each member make a small Christmas display which could be given to a shut-in or an ill person. It is hoped that during the summer season it will be possible to provide flowers from the various gardens for shut-ins.

A penny sale will also be held at the December meeting.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Robert assisted by Mrs. William Suteff, Miss L. Daley and Miss M. Tupper.

Unemployment Insurance - Any Questions Please?

AM I ENTITLED TO SOME COMPENSATION?

Q. I have paid unemployment insurance contributions regularly from August 1941 to 1967. However, from the middle of July 1967 until recently I was working for the Quebec Lands and Forests Department, which does not participate in the Unemployment Insurance Plan.

I have been unemployed since the middle of February 1969, and I wonder if I am entitled to some compensation, in view of the contributions I paid previously?

A. Since you were employed for some time in employment that was not insurable, you may apply for an extension of the qualifying periods.

However, you must supply the UIC, with a document certifying that your employment was not insurable.

The contributions paid for a period equal to the duration of your employment by the Lands and Forests Department but not exceeding the 208 weeks prior to the filing of your application for benefit could then be taken into account.

If you succeed in establishing a benefit period and are not otherwise liable to disqualification, you could then be paid benefit.

Trinidad Night

Last Sunday evening a number of the Senior Baptist Youth Fellowship gathered in the parsonage for a special "Trinidad" night. Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Boodonough were special guests. The Boodonoughs were both born in Trinidad, coming to Digby some seven years ago. Mr. Boodonough is presently on the staff of the Digby Regional High School.

The evening began with the showing of three "home movie" reels of Trinidad which showed various aspects of life on the island such as Carnival Time, when parades, dancing, band playing, competitions, "tambo" demonstrations etc. are carried on for a continuous non-stop marathon 48 hours. Following this the young people asked many questions concerning life in Trinidad, the religion of the people, their cultural background, their employment, and questions pertaining to politics, industry, tourism, climate and food.

To supplement the discussion, the Boodonoughs had brought with them a number of curios, such as a painted face carved from a whole coconut, Trinidad souvenirs, a supply of Trinidad candy (which was distributed and quickly demolished) and a collection of Trinidadian pictures, booklets, travel folders and colorful maps which depicted all the various things of Trinidad. They also brought a selection of records of the very famous Trinidad calypso and steel band music. These records formed a realistic "background setting" for the entire evening.

The occasion also being the birthday of the hostess, Calrice Robertson, the guests were served punch, bowls full of ice cream, and of course, birthday cake. The group responded graciously, even to the singing of "Happy Birthday," Verna Hamm and Carolyn Messon, nurses at the Digby General Hospital, served the refreshments.

After an enjoyable time of eating and a great deal of talking, the group gathered near the piano for a time of singing which included everything from Christmas music and carols to folk music. Tentative plans were laid for a future West Indian night which would feature an evening meal of Trinidadian food especially prepared by Mrs. Boodonough, color slides of which Mr. Boodonough is expected to bring from Trinidad, and of course a "limbo" contest, but with the "flaming bar" depicted in the evening's film and not with the expectation that any in the group would break the record of limboing under a broom six inches above the floor.

Entered Items In Antique And Art Show

Invited by the Ada Zeb-herman Chapter of the Nova Scotia Women's Organization for Rehabilitation through Training, Mrs. Maxine Connell, Conway, right, entered approximately three hundred articles in the Antique and Art Show and Sale held at the Trade Mart Building at Scotia Station, Halifax, on October 25 and 26.

What pleased Mrs. Connell most was the fact that people were learning of the many crafts which are made in Digby County. People were simply amazed, said Maxine, in an interview with The Digby Courier.

Mrs. Connell, who runs a boutique in Conway, displayed at the ART show many items made by Digby people and carries a further quantity at the boutique. Among those items which received attention at Halifax was the silver Bluebonnet II made by the Digby Crafts Group. This was greatly admired by the Bluebonnet captain, Captain Ellisworth Coggins, formerly of Weymouth, and Mrs. Coggins. This group also entered silver and gold jewelry.

Among other items displayed at Halifax or found at the boutique are hardwood sherman models made by Herman Shaw, Westport, from remnants of ships wrecked off Brier and Long Islands. There are wood carvings by Bernard Sullivan, Digby, Newton Lewis, Weymouth, and miniature scallop draggers by Calvin VanTassell, Digby. Among the displays by ladies were neckties by Mrs. C. M. Levy who also had a special Victorian piece with blending of several colors; quilts by Mrs. Earl Marshall, South Range, and Mrs. Celeste Robinson, Conway, and rugs by Mrs. Victor Doly, Weymouth, one of which took second prize at the the Canadian National Exhibition. Also displayed were paintings by local artists, one of whom is Mrs. Connell herself. Besides painting, Mrs. Connell also excels in woodcarving and pottery. She often uses her talent in making figures and jewelry from dogwood. In the picture can be seen two of her paintings and a piece of her driftwood sculpture "Two". Mrs. Connell did murals for the Children's Home in Digby and for the Digby Library. One of the contributors to Mrs. Connell's store of paintings is Owen Young, Bay View, who is most adept in water colors.

Attracted to the booth at Scotia Square which contained articles especially typical of the Digby area were persons from the Nova Scotia Adult Education department and teachers from the Nova Scotia College of Art. It was while Maxine attended the College of Art that a design she created was chosen for the plaque placed in the administration building of the Angus L. Macdonald Bridge.

Mrs. Connell has much creative ability and strongly urges others to reflect their own experiences and feelings rather than to do copy work. She advocates handicrafts of any kind for the therapeutic effects in losing oneself in such creative activity. Besides she has many other talents besides handicraft and uses these in service to her community and church. Besides she takes care of her home and family who also did a special Victorian piece with blending of several colors; quilts by Mrs. Earl Marshall, South Range, and Mrs. Celeste Robinson, Conway, and rugs by Mrs. Victor Doly, Weymouth, one of which took second prize at the ada Centennial project, but her main purpose is to see the development improve and increase handicraft production which is really representative of the area. Mrs. Connell, however, is not oblivious to the importance of handicraft to the tourist and to the economy of the area. Through the handicraft can also be preserved historical and cultural aspects of the Digby County communities.

While in Halifax for the display Mrs. Connell was guest at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Dunsmuir.

Speaking of the ART which sponsored Mrs. Connell's display at Halifax, it was learned that there are 600 O.R.T. training installations in 22 different countries. Their schools teach 70 different trades to over 50,000 persons annually who are handicapped physically.

First Graduates Of A.R.V.S.

Carl L. Bruce, Chairman of the Annapolis Regional Vocational School Board, officiated recently in a graduating ceremony when four students of the Beauty Culture course completed their training. Before an assembly of students and teaching staff, he presented the certificates and expressed good wishes for successful careers to Valerie Hudson, Parker's Cove, Gail Penny, Annapolis Royal, Wanita Robinson, Young's Cove and Carolyn Williams, Middleton.

This ceremony marked the occasion for the first students to graduate from the school since its opening in September, 1968. Usually students graduate only after a two-year period of training. Due to special circumstances, these students of Beauty Culture were able to complete the necessary 1200 hours required for certification under the Nova Scotia Hairdressers Association in less than two year period.

The enrolment of the school prior to the graduation of the four students was 350.

Correction
We take it all back. Usually we report birthdays of persons 90 years old and over. When Mrs. Irene Glavin, Westport, was reported as an octogenarian having had a birthday we took for granted she was 80. We are still so wise as to what birthday she celebrated between 80 and 90 but she had a birthday and according to the account does her own housework and travels considerably. We apologize. (Editor).

Poetry Corner

The Bees Know

Across the clover-frothed meadow,
The golden bees do hum;
Gathering nectar for the winter,
Which so soon must come.

How can they know, it's coming?
What would tell them so?
They know summer's almost over,
They know the warmth must go.

All winter they will huddle
Close in their honeyed-hive,
Awaiting another summer
When clover again will thrive.

VEHICLE REGISTRATIONS EXTENDED

A three month extension of Nova Scotia's 1969 passenger vehicle registrations to March 31, 1970 was announced recently by Highway Minister Hon. I. W. Akerley.

Vehicle registrations expire each year on December 31, and a period of grace for renewal of licenses may be granted by the Minister of Highways at his discretion.

This year for the first time vehicle registrations were made available to the public effective November 1st instead of the usual December 20th date and a shorter grace period had been anticipated.

With the increasing number of motor vehicles in the province, the Registry of Motor Vehicles has been striving to facilitate the registration of more than a quarter million vehicles by extending the period in which permits can be obtained. Various steps have been taken to provide more efficient vehicle registration including computerized handling of licensing, the distribution of renewal notices to license holders, promotion of a "register by mail" campaign and now the issuing of permits at an earlier time.

Expiry date of commercial vehicle registration plates also occurs on December 31, and as in the past will be extended by a one month grace period to January 31, 1970.

Marriage

Monk - Comeau

A nuptial mass was celebrated in Saint Patrick's Church, Digby, N. S., uniting in marriage Carol Youngs Comeau and Patrick Maurice Monk. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilfred Comeau, Digby, and the groom is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Monk of Halifax. Father Albert LeBlanc officiated at the double ring ceremony and Miss Lynn Theriault was organist. Altar boys were Bobby Comeau, the bride's brother and Timmy Crowley, nephew of the groom.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore an original floor length sheath of double crepe with empire waistline featuring a lace bodice and matching train which fell from the waist. A pearl train held in place her illusion tulle veil which was trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses.

Leading the bridal party to the altar were the bride's niece, Miss Debbie Topping, as flower girl and the groom's nephew, Master Peter O'Leary as ring bearer. Mrs. Jack Topping was her sister's matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Marlene Comeau, sister of the bride and Miss Ellen Monk, sister of the groom. The attendants' gown styled the same as the bride's with the matron of honour and the flower girl wearing orange ice bonded crepe and the bridesmaids wearing ocean blue, all with matching lace headpieces. The senior attendants carried nosegay bouquets to match their gowns and the flower girl carried a dainty basket of orange ice and white mums.

Eric MacDonald, Halifax, was best man. Ushers were Allan Grono and Douglas Hickey.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Comeau chose a jade green coat and dress ensemble with brown accessories and a white corage. Mrs. Monk wore a blue two piece suit with a metallic belt, black accessories and a white corage.

Following the ceremony a reception for 125 guests was

Clare Arts Council On The Move

The move was shown and many fine comments were heard from visitors to the exhibition.

Much work can be accomplished by the Arts Council, stated Walter Comeau recently, and president Norman Polster of Meteghan aims to make 1970 one of the Council's best years. Interest for the various tastes, both for young and older persons, will be planned.

Some members have made known that projects they wish to take part in and one of these is "pottery" and a workshop will be organized by the council to fill the need for such a course. A pottery course was held last winter and much interest in this craft was shown by a good number of persons. Painting has been one of the most in-

Broccoli is a glamorous vegetable with an exotic name and an Italian background. However, for all its continental savoir-faire and costly looks, it's modestly priced, easy to prepare and lends a gourmet flair to cookery.

Broccoli travels mainly from California and Arizona, but also from Texas, New Jersey, Oregon and others. It should be refrigerated until used. Delicious hot or cold, select deep green stalks that are tender and firm with compact buds. A good source of vitamins A and C. Broccoli with Swiss Lemon Sauce is a superb way to prepare this nutritious vegetable.

1 bunch broccoli (app. 2 lbs.) Few grains pepper
2 tbs. butter or margarine 1/4 cup milk
2 tbs. flour 1/2 cup grated Swiss cheese
1/2 teaspoon salt 2 tbs. fresh lemon juice

"Cook broccoli, covered, in small amount of boiling salted water until tender (about 10 minutes). Drain if necessary. Meanwhile, melt butter or margarine; blend in flour, salt and pepper. Gradually stir in milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture reaches boiling point. Stir in cheese and lemon juice. Cook, stirring constantly, just until cheese is melted. Serve over broccoli. Makes about 6 servings.

How To Market Scallops

Thanks to Captain J. I. MacPherson, Smith's Cove, for the clipping on Tommy Rae and his scallop business as recorded in The Sunday Post in Scotland. Digby County readers (Where Scallops Is King) will enjoy the article — although, as Capt. MacPherson commented "doubt if Digby even in the height of the season does as well as the man in the article who employs 50 men ashore alone." (Editor)

Two years ago Tommy Rae (54), lived in a council house in Port Bannatyne, near Bournemouth. Now he has a seven-roomed house with all mod. con. at 21 Marine Place, Rothsay, and two cars. He's managing director of a firm with a weekly turnover of 10,000 pounds.

Thanks to shell-fish called scallops.

He became a scallop fisherman when he left school.

THE Digby Courier THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1963

and down the West Coast.

Scallops are shaped like the Shell petrol sign. They lie around the coasts in water as much as thirty fathoms deep.

It's no easy job fishing them out.

A cone shaped net is trailed from the stern of the ship.

It swallows everything in its path. It's not the first time Tommy's hauled up a live mine.

He sent his catches to Bill, Hingate's fish market in London.

It was a fair, but precarious living.

One month he'd have his wages, then for months nothing.

Then two years ago he had an idea.

He heard the French regard scallops as a delicacy.

But because they'd practically exhausted the scallop beds around their own shores, they were having to import them.

He realized, he was sailing on top of a gold mine. All he needed was someone to tap it in a big way.

He took the plunge.

He sold his boat and bought provisions in Rothsay as a processing plant for scallop meat.

He hired boats to dredge up scallops for him.

To his surprise the boats brought in over a ton of scallops a week.

Tommy's three workers, and his two sons couldn't cope.

He took on more men.

Orders started to pour in from Belgium, France, Holland and even the U.S.A.

The secret of his rapid success was his insistence that orders be dealt with at top speed.

He thought nothing of sending urgent orders by air.

Once a French firm sent an S.O.S. for fresh scallops.

Tommy sent them off to Abbotsinch from Rothsay at 4.30 on Thursday morning.

They were at Le Bourget Airport, Paris, at 1 o'clock that very afternoon.

This sort of efficiency paid dividends.

The French firm gave him an order for a ton of scallop meat every week.

Tommy wasn't satisfied. He found more markets and sub-contracted more boats.

Today he's got 17 boats looking for scallops from Skye to the Mull of Kintyre.

Four are kept in the Clyde waters, dredging continuously.

His most ingenious idea is the installation of ship-to-shore radio telephones in each boat.

Whenever one has a full load, the skipper radios his exact position, and how far away he is from the nearest port.

Tommy then sends a lorry to meet the boat, and bring the load back to his plant.

It's like this that he has made him the scallop king in Europe.

In his first year his turnover was more than £35,000.

Now he has a second factory, with £15,000 of new equipment.

The old factory's still going strong, and he's having big storage plants built at Port Bannatyne to handle other types of shellfish.

The new factory with a conveyor-belt system is the most modern in the country.

Tommy now also makes money out of the shells themselves.

Instead of throwing them out, they're cleaned, dried and packed into cartons.

They're selling well at home and abroad as ornaments, ash-trays or dishes.

No Holidays

Today he employs over fifty men on shore and ninety at sea.

His accountants say they've never seen a business grow so quickly.

What does he think of his new-found wealth?

He says it doesn't bother him. He plugs most of his profits back into the business, anyway.

His happiness is in seeing his business grow. He doesn't take holidays, just business trips to the Continent.

He's off this week on a four week order-finding tour of France, Belgium and Holland.

NEW HOUSE DESIGN — In this 3-bedroom brick veneer bungalow the Architect, Ed. B. Dunlop, of Toronto, has combined simplicity of design with convenience in layout.

The living room faces the rear garden. The kitchen, with space for dining, overlooks the street and is close to the front door. The entrance from the garden at the back of the house is at ground level thus keeping the distance down to the basement or up to the bathroom at a minimum. The house is designed so that a future washroom may be installed in the basement under the present ground floor bathroom. Other facilities in the basement include a combined furnace room and workshop, a storage room which leads into a laundry, and an unfinished playroom area under the two right-hand side bedrooms. For best lighting the black end gable-wall should face north.

The floor area is 1,145 square feet; the exterior dimensions are 44 feet eight inches by 27 feet. Working drawings of this house, known as Design 2300, are available from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost. The same house, but with a frame exterior is available as Design 279.

Acaciaville Ratepayers Vote In Favor Of Fire Protection

After several months of preliminary work by the residents of Conway and Acaciaville and several meetings, regarding fire protection, a ratepayers meeting was called Thursday evening at the Acaciaville Community Centre. Chairman of the meeting, Mr. Beris Miller read a proposed protection in fire from Digby Fire Department which covered the area of Conway not presently covered, Acaciaville, Hill Grove and Marshalltown on which the protection areas were generally defined. Costs to be charged were considered for the whole area or each individual area.

Chief Arthur Handsaker along with Secretary of Digby Fire Department were asked to be present to give information, to those attending the meeting. They were given an opportunity to discuss the proposal and protection. Previous to this Secretary Reg Turnbull had spent considerable time working out details and contacting the selector for the Municipality and the Town of Digby to assure that all proceedings were in order.

At the last meeting of the Acaciaville Betterment Association, representatives from all the other areas were present and felt that the ratepayers of Hill Grove, Conway and Marshalltown should be given the same opportunity to discuss fire protection. This

The people of this area are to be commented on their action in realizing what fire protection means to them. Also included in such fire services is rescue work for which the Digby Department have a well organized rescue squad, organized a few years ago through

The Man In The Moon

The man in the moon had a smile on his face
When a spaceship arrived at his door.
A man stepped out and with pickaxe and spade
Started digging the earth from his floor.

What are you doing the kind moon said,
Just what are you digging for?
Some of your soil, the spaceman replied.
For our scientist to explore.

Did you bring some of the soil from your earth
For our scientist to explore, asked the moon.
Oh, no, the spaceman replied with a grin,
It's out of the question you see,
Our soil is expensive and quite out of reach,
In fact, it's really "Sky High".

Woodlot Owners Meet And Plan Program

Another series of woodlot owners meetings was held in Digby County during the second week of November. These meetings are being held as part of an AIBMA program to organize the woodlot owners of the province.

The woodlot owners discussed and gave opinions on what they expect the future Digby Association to do for them. The marketing board system was discussed as a possible means of gaining some control over the marketing of pulpwood. This system has been very successful in improving prices in the Province of Quebec.

Another point of interest for many woodlot owners was the possibility of improving the Christmas Tree industry in the county. Many admitted (Please turn to page 12)

PRE-CHRISTMAS SALE

Biggest Ever

Everything in stock has been drastically reduced until November 29th.

You will have to drop in and see these fantastic prices yourself.

See You at HALL'S.

Who needs it?

The Volkswagen Squareback Sedan is in a class by itself. It's sort of half way between a sedan and a station wagon. It was designed for people who are sort of half way between a sedan and a station wagon.

Fold down the Volkswagen Squareback's rear seat and you've got 42 cubic feet of space in the back. (Half the size of an average station wagon, but twice the size of an average sedan.)

And because it's a Volkswagen, underneath all that cargo area is what makes the car go: an air-cooled engine. So up front, where most car makers put the engine, you can put another couple of suitcases.

Also because it's a Volkswagen, it gets around 27 miles to a gallon of gas. And gets into tight parking space easily.

(All the room is tucked away inside, not jacked onto the outside.)

So when you think about it, maybe what you need is a small station wagon all the time, instead of a big station wagon some of the time.

Because the big problems with big station wagons are all the biggies that come with them.

Like big gas bills. And big repair bills. And big insurance bills.

And who needs that?

People who want room on the inside, not on the outside.

People who have better things to carry than car payments.

They sometimes need a station wagon. But they don't need one badly enough to spend $4,000 on something so big it comes with its own echo.

People who like this idea but hate the way it looks.

The Volkswagen Squareback Sedan.

With close to 300 VW dealers across Canada, there's bound to be one close by you.

Students Learn Sales Pitch

Jim Ring of Dartmouth, in association with the Canadian Perfect School Plan, in connection with the magazine selling campaign being carried on by school students in various areas, visited Islands Consolidated School at Freetown, recently.

The purpose of his visit was to organize a student magazine subscription selling campaign. In spending an hour with the student council of which Billy Meron of Freetown is president, Mr. Ring and he hoped to arouse enthusiasm among the students regarding the campaign. He told the council members they would also receive fifty percent profit of the money derived from selling subscriptions to various magazines sold by the students. "In addition," the speaker added, "the campaign is competitive. The class in the school which sells the greatest number of subscriptions during the 10-day campaign will receive a stuffed animal. The progress of each room is to be broadcast over the P.A. system."

K. Muncey, supervising principal of the school commented on Mr. Ring's interesting and unique approach to the student body in attracting their attention to the campaign. By humorous anecdotes Mr. Ring explained the "sales pitch" in selling subscriptions.

To highlight the interview, Mr. Ring presented a piece of birthday cake to each of the three students to observe their birthday during the month of November. The three, G. Lee Outhouse, Tiverton grade six, who was born 12, November 22, Freetown grade eleven student Michael Morchouse who will be 17, November 10th and Freetown grade eight student who will be 16 during the month, kept the others in gales of laughter and their endeavors to extinguish the flames of the candles. Said Mr. Ring, "I don't be afraid to eat the cake, it's good. I made it myself and the pan is still smiling!"

Following this, order forms and compiled list of various magazines were distributed to the students for canvassing purposes.

WOODLOT OWNERS

that they knew very little about the cultivation and management of balsam fir for Christmas Tree production. At the same time they realized that good quality trees must be produced in order to obtain top prices. They suggested that, after it is established, ed, the County association should sponsor field days to inform interested people on these matters. Extension Foresters could be invited to demonstrate the best methods of Christmas Tree management and provide information on present prices. This would also help the foresters who have large areas to cover in their work and are unable to advise everyone individually.

The views expressed by the woodlot owners will be useful in developing the policy of the new Association. It will likely become affiliated with the Provincial Woodlot Owners Association and co-operate with other affiliated county associations in an effort to improve conditions for the small woodlot owner.

A provisional Board of Directors was also elected at the first meetings. These men will become the official directors of the Association after its constitution is approved at an organizational meeting that will be held within the next two weeks. The following are the names and addresses of men elected to the provisional board: Lloyd Grant, Barton; Harold Silenus Jr., RR 2, Digby; Adolphe Vanhook, RR 1, Barton; Edgar N. Mullen, RR 2, Weymouth; Hanford Lewis, RR 3, Weymouth; Edgar Sabine, RR 4, Weymouth; Leo O. Saulnier, Little Brook; Leonard Bonfres, RR 1, Church Point; and Dennis Coomes, RR 1, Meteghan.

These men are willing to do their best to make this Association a success, but they need the support of every woodlot owner in the County. You can show your support by attending the organizational meeting which will be advertised in this paper.

About This and That To Hold Memorial Service

A lifetime of suffering, borne with incomparable courage, came finally to an end for Thomas G. A. Cumming, of Smith's Cove, when he passed away at Villa St. Joseph-Du-Lac, in Yarmouth, last Saturday, at the age of 79.

A truly remarkable man, who despite his own suffering, was able to bring enjoyment, hope and courage to a wide circle of people through the medium of his poetry, written under the penname of "Tap-A-Long", Tom Cumming will be long remembered for his quiet humour, his unassuming manner and his great concern for others.

A memorial service for this kindly man will be held in the Smith's Cove Baptist Church on Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

A detailed obituary will appear in the next issue of the Courier.

Discrimination—Sure Is

The future economy of the islands depends on a bridge or causeway. So said Eugene Outhouse at the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade seminar. Though he disliked the word discrimination and its connotations, he felt as Nova Scotia citizens, the islands people were being discriminated against in the absence of permanent crossing over Pettit Passage. Eugene is ready to settle for a bridge since it has been practically stated that the thought of harbour-bridge-causeway complex is out. A resolution to this effect was passed at the AVABT.

Mr. Outhouse had the backing of AVABT and we are sure there would be few dissenting voices on the score from the entire Valley to the most westerly point in Nova Scotia.

We add whatever impact we might have to Eugene's resolution. Like the Dartmouth-Halifax bridge, the Canso causeway and like many other crossings, their worth is seen only after they have been constructed and in use.

Our dreams of Long Island with a linking bridge are great. Think of the economy use in the fishing and tourist industry. It would pay off for any government to connect the beautiful islands with Nova Scotia mainland so that visitors could more readily go on and go off the land and transportation of produce would be easier.

He Was A Wise Man

The late Hon. George Nowlan sat in The Digby Courier office chatting and bringing us up to date on what was going on in Ottawa. At the time it seemed strange to us. We couldn't believe it. It was quite a number of years ago. Here he was saying "If they'd only tackle some urgent problems like pollution. Why, our rivers are something drastic." Yes, it was strange, at that time to hear that pollution was such an urgent matter. We thought he had been wrong. We hadn't given it that much thought. We're now in papers, on radio and T.V., now, emphasizing the dangers of pollution and can realize what a wise man the Hon. George was and how far ahead of his time he was.

There are others today who do not realize the problem of pollution or who do not stop to think about it. There are rivers and lakes which are prohibited for swimming, there are closed areas for shellfish; there are restrictions on water used for processing fish and other problems relating to pollution.

The cost in fighting pollution is enormous. It is mandatory that new industries establishing in Nova Scotia provide for the pollution problem and old industries which are offending must also try to rectify the situation. Homes and cabins and tourist and recreation centres all add their share of waste to the water resources. It is something to think about. Further than this there is land and air pollution.

One organization which is giving serious thought to the matter is the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade. It is such an organization like this which can help to educate the people to the broad problem of pollution and to spearhead action. Their recommendation was to have the provincial and federal government assume the responsibility for pollution control and with the high cost to overburdened municipalities and businesses this is probably the best answer to the problem.

Professional Tips To Aid Home Nurse

Achoo... school. The season for sneezes, coughs, sniffles, fevers and influenza is here, and with it mother the cook, laundress, shopper and housecleaner takes on the additional role of home nurse.

Most mothers plan a routine to fit sick days into family life. This relieves some of the extra strain illness in the home brings to them and other family members.

The drug industry sponsored Council on Family Health in Canada says you can save yourself worry and extra steps by making out a work plan. Write down what needs to be done for the patient, the home and the rest of the family, then fit them together so everything can be accomplished.

The Council says little children get into accidents when they are hungry or insufficiently supervised, so regular meal-times must be maintained. Make sure your children are in a safe play area while you are in the patient's room.

And there's more to being a good home nurse than knowing how to give medicine properly.

A cheerful attitude and pleasant atmosphere in the home are also important aids to recovery, says the Council, a non-profit public service organization, which promotes family health and safety.

Here are some professional guides to help you think like a nurse:

Wash your hands whenever you do anything for the patient, and again after your task is completed.

Keep bed linens free from wrinkles and crumbs, which can cause discomfort and bedsores.

Be careful not to shake dust or lint into the air of the room when changing bed linens. And use a damp cloth when cleaning the sickroom... dust can be discomforting to a sick person.

If the patient is a small child or helpless adult, place chairs against the side of the bed to prevent the patient from rolling over the side.

If there is no regular bed table for serving meals, adjust an ironing board so one end projects over the bed.

Try to make trays neat, attractive, colorful when preparing & serving meals.

Change the patient's position frequently to avoid continuous pressure on any skin area, and if the pressure of covers bothers the patient, use a rolled-up blanket or pillow at the foot to lift the weight.

Ventilate the room, but make sure the patient is not in a draft. Let out stale air and let in fresh air by opening the window from the top and bottom. If there is no screen to protect the patient from insects, place chairs between the bed and the window and cover the chairs with blankets.

The Council also advises mother to urge the family to keep noise to a minimum, because ill persons are unusually sensitive to noise.

Let's Reminisce

The years change many things, but some of our worries about what might befall us, and thoughts for a better tomorrow carry on for decades upon decades.

If you think "whiplash" worries are a fad of the 1960's, look back to 1894 when sudden rail stop precipitated this comment:

"It has been asserted that when a railroad express train stops very suddenly the passengers suffer in the same degree as though they had fallen from a third story window. The Pittsburgh Dispatch is authority for this statement. As the majority of persons who have fallen from third story windows have been killed, it is impossible to secure their testimony on the subject and generally stopped train passengers refuse to make the test."

With only minor changes, you might still hear expressed the same unfulfilled wishes from 1919 and 1944 respectively.

"The Courier would like to see postage rate on a letter come back to 2 cents and postcards a cent. The increase is a tax particularly on business people who are paying a good share into the exchequer with the extra postage and the war tax in bank checks, drafts, etc. Uncle Sam has reverted to the 2 cent rate and now sends his mail the whole length of Canada while we have 3 cents tacked on for a letter carried a mile. It's not a righteous piece of business."

"It's a favorite practice with housewives and with a good many other folk as well nowadays to discuss the sort of people we don't want around when the war ends.

There's the plumber, for example, who promises faithfully to come tomorrow to fix that leak in the bathroom, and who finally turns up a fortnight later to tell you that a whole new piping system will have to be installed.

There's the woman who comes by the day, arriving at 10 a.m. and leaving around 3:45 p.m. with a good bit out for lunch, who isn't too agreeable about it, either.

The two clerks who stand gossiping and primping while the harried customer waits and fumes aren't particularly popular. They, too, can be quite readily dispensed with and nobody will particularly mind. Discussing dates may be fun, but it isn't the sort of fun a funning customer who has spent half a day trying to find something is apt to appreciate.

Then there's the fellow who comes around to do some little repair jobs that need attending to. He takes his good old time, ends up by making a mess of it, and then wanders off with the job half done just in time for his boss to send you a fancy bill.

Letter to the Editor

Nov. 19, 1969
Digby, N.S.
Editor The Digby Courier,
Digby, N.S.

Dear Editor:

Lately every time I pick up The Courier I read that "Digby is a good place to live." I agree 100% — If you are under 65 — have your health and an income of some sort. But what of the aged who are in their 60's and 80's who need nursing care and the not so aged who are crippled and have been bed patients for years?

Is Digby a "good place" for them to live? Not — there is nothing in Digby for our less fortunate citizens. You can't get an invalid or an elderly person who needs nursing care. Digby has a "Nursing Home" but it has to give up her Nursing Home, due to her own house. I have seen 14 or more of these unfortunate being moved to places as far away as Colchester, Kentville, Yarmouth, Bridgetown and Annapolis. Some of them have been literally ill for days, from having to make such long trips away from family and friends and new adjustments.

I have just returned from taking my own sister to a good as Keestville. It is a beautiful Nursing Home, but I can't say it's better than so far away... One just can't drop in for a chat and a cheery word every day when it comes to a distance of 80 miles or so one way.

Yes, Digby is a "good place to live" for the fortunate! Where is Digby's Nursing Home? Why can't we keep these "unfortunate" in our own jurisdiction and make "Digby a good place to live" for them also? Mrs. Harry Barnham

Coffee at Janes

The little girls, ranging in age from about eight down, had finished their lively step-dancing routine. For a brief moment, while the record player was silent, they struggled aimlessly about the floor of the Cross Creek school gymnasium.

The blonde instructress clapped her hands. "Now children," she shouted above the girlhood din, "you have all done so well, let us see what your mothers can do!" Joan Gallagher!

The little girls filed to the chairs which line the gym walls. They watched impassively as Joan walked to the centre of the gym floor. Joan looked around the circle of steady young eyes, and then at the rest of us mothers, who were leaning at various unbecoming angles, against the wall, near the gym door. We smiled our weak encouragement. I bit my lip, and hoped the instructress would not call us in alphabetical-order. That would make me the next one up.

The instructress started the record player, and Joan, who is just about the best dancer among us, went into her routine, to some lively country fiddle music.

About a year ago the Cross Creek Recreation Council engaged two professional step-dancers to give lessons at the Cross Creek School. Naturally, in an area where the only music teacher has more pupils than she can handle, and where the nearest dancing school of any kind is thirty miles away, all the dotting mothers within a radius of about ten miles flocked to the school, towing a string of dimpled darlings, who they fancied to be the Shirley Temples of the 1970's.

Because we came from relatively long distances, we mothers found ourselves waiting for our children, rather than driving home, and going back again. Naturally, we tried to sit in on the classes while we waited. This distracted the kids, and annoyed the teachers.

The teachers, at first, tried to relegate us to the school kitchen, but they and the kids knew perfectly well that we were spying through the serving window between the kitchen and the gym. After several weeks of this, the instructresses, in self-defence, devised a sort of reverse on the old adage "If you can't lick 'em, join 'em." They could not lick us, so they let us join them. For nothing.

And that is why every Saturday finds a bunch of plump, mostly over thirty, matrons, gamely puffing their way through some reel by Don Messer, or the Country Lumberjacks, or somebody, while our daughters go through the same routines, and finish as fresh as if they had never danced a step in their lives.

"Anybody else?" called the instructress.

She had not called the names in alphabetical order, and she had left me out completely. I tried to slip unnoticed behind the door.

"You forgot Mummy!" shouted my helpful six year old.

So, like all the other kids taking step-dancing lessons, I made my way to the middle of the floor, where I stumbled, clumsily, to the strains of Don Messer's fiddle.

N.H.L. Stars Appointed

ship by rail from Bayonne, New Jersey.

In those days, Mr. Adams said, the personnel of the boat changed with the government, and he was relieved of his post during such a change after serving for 10 years. It is the last surviving member of the original crew.

Mr. Adams, after leaving the Life Saving Station, continued in the tourist business and in the fishing industry for a number of years.

In recent years Mr. Adams has been living with his son, Capt. Harry V. Adams, and family. He has two grandchildren, Mrs. Reginald Brenner, of Westport, N. S., and Master John Adams, age six, of Bay View. He also has two great grandchildren.

One of Digby's oldest known citizens, Mr. Adams celebrated his 95th birthday on Thursday, November 20th.

Weatherwise, he said his first birthdays. He said he was born on a stormy day and that most of his birthdays were stormy ones.

Recalling a birthday party at the Lighthouse last year, he said the night was truly a wild one.

Mr. Adams was the recipient of a beautiful decorated birthday cake presented to him by his good neighbour, Mrs. Eugene Burns, of the Harbour Bakery. He received a number of other birthday remembrances including cards,
candy and flowers. He was also visited by a number of friends on that day who came to extend birthday wishes.

He enjoys hearing the radio
and likes to receive any news.
Tradition still seems to survive. Mr. Adams' son, Harry Verdun Adams, joined the crew of the Life Saving Station about 24 years ago. Over 20 years ago he took charge of the Bay View Lifeboat and today he is still coxswain in charge of the station.

By comparison, in the whole of 1968, the projects approved under the development incentive program numbered 86 and the estimated jobs to be created were 5,530. The regional distribution of the projects approved so far in 1968 is as follows: Atlantic
8,935; Quebec 4,906; Ontario
1,497; West 2,639.

Much discussion on the Bay of Fundy transportation area followed the report of C. D.
Snow, Digby, Mr. Snow said that good ferry service from Digby to Saint John is not at all that is essential. Good highways, too, are necessary. He expected that tenders for the bridge across Bear River would be called early in the year. Air transportation in the bridge over Petite Passage were discussed following Mr.
Snow's report.

Later, Eugene Outhouse, Tiverton, presented a resolution which requested the federal government to build a bridge across Petite Passage and stating that the economy of the islands depended on a permanent crossing. He raised various points in which the islands people were discriminated against as Nova Scotia citizens.

Other resolutions dealt with deep water, Digby-Saint John Ferry, tourist advertising and pollution control. By resolution the AVAIST will recommend that provincial and federal governments take responsibility for pollution control. The organization has requested that more of the Provincial resolution be be focused on the Valley, especially on the autumn session. The deep water resolution requested federal authorities to have a survey of Digby harbour conducted.

The resolution regarding the Digby-Saint John Ferry stated that the service is essential to trade and industry in Western Nova Scotia and essential to the travelling public; and whereas two trips a day is essential to provide necessary service; and the rate charged should not exceed more than half the rate that is charged for the government owned service from Yarmouth to Bar Harbour, then if the CPR is not prepared to provide such a service, a request to the Federal Government must be made to provide such a service for the area.

J. M. Larabee, treasurer, reported an operating surplus of $805.75 for the year ending September 30, 1968. Operating budget was $14,983.

Program Creates New Jobs
The federal government's regional development program is creating new employment four times as fast as it did in 1967.

This is shown by figures released today by the Honourable Jean Marchand, Minister of Regional Economic Expansion.

So far this year, from January to mid November Mr. Marchand's department has approved 278 development incentives for firms intending to establish new plants or expand in the slow growth regions of Canada. The estimated permanent employment that will result, when the new plants and expansions come into operation, is 17,838 new jobs. This rate of activity is a number of other birthday
remembrances including cards,
candy and flowers. He was also visited by a number of friends on that day who came to extend birthday wishes.

He enjoys hearing the radio

vive. Mr. Adams' son, Harry

Honor Saultnierville Fish Plant Operator

Bernadine J. Comeau, Saultnierville, successful fish plant operator, was honored at a testimonial dinner held in his honor at the Bluefin Restaurant at Meteghan on Wednesday evening, at which over 140 friends attended. Mr. Brian Meagher, deputy minister of fisheries, was guest speaker.

Mr. Comeau was selected as man-of-the-year by the Meteghan Lions Club for Clare, which is a municipality in the county of Digby, and is currently president of the Lean Board. He is also a member of the International Commission for Northwest Atlantic Fisheries.

Brian Meagher, deputy minister of fisheries, spoke briefly on the fishing industry in general. This area receives most of its livelihood from the sea, said Mr. Meagher, and it is a fleet of twenty fish draggers that is the main industry of the area. Science is turning to the sea for food, unpolished water for mankind.

Great improvements have been made in recent years in the fishing industry, said Mr. Meagher, and greater improvements will be made in the future. The sea offers mankind many things and covers a very large portion of the earth, and offers food for mankind which will meet its needs for many years to come.

Japan is a great fishing nation, said Mr. Meagher, and the fish that they eat is in a raw state. The per capita catch of fish in Japan surpasses all other nations and they are expanding their sea farming activities as they do not catch enough fish nearby to meet the demand for fish in that country.

Following his discharge from the armed forces of World War II, he started a herring company at Saultnierville. In 1966 he purchased the first scallop dragger fisherman from a Clare fishing port. Success followed and today the firm of Comeau Sea Foods Ltd., of Saultnierville, operates a fleet of twenty fish draggers from 60 to 100 feet in length. The company also could take in the majority of a fish parking plant, a lobster fishermen. Digby County landed over 22% of fish landed in Nova Scotia and is in second place for landed fish in the province, said Mr. Meagher.

Among the immediate family at the testimonial dinner for Mr. Comeau were noted: Sister Rose Camilla and Sister Marie Alfreda, Mrs. Al. Edouard Comeau, R.N., Mrs. Edouard (Marie) LeBlanc, Mrs. Clarence Comeau, Mrs. (Dr.) Julius Comeau, brothers and sisters and his son Marcel, and others who graced the head table were: Mrs. Felix Huchard, pastor of Saultnierville parish, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Babin, Mr. and Mrs. Emile Belliveau, King Lion of the Meteghan Lions Club, Benoit Comeau, M.L.A. for Clare, Mr. and Mrs. Brian Meagher, Dr. Julius Comeau, Edouard LeBlanc and parents of Mr. Comeau, Leona and Fred Comeau.

Officially representing the Saultnierville Club, Mr. and Mrs. Steve LeBlanc, the Clare Chamber of Commerce, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Comeau, and the Knights of Columbus, Gustave Thibodeau.

Observe Prayer Day

"Let us Rise Up and Build" Jeremiah 2:18 was the theme of the Baptist Women's day of prayer observed in the Westport church hall on November 4th.

Following the call to worship by Mrs. Lawrence Shaw, the scripture psalm 51:10-19 was read by Mrs. Harold Denton, followed by the hymn "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind" Mrs. Shaw, leader, read the message prepared by Mrs. Edgar Bates, President of the Women's Division of the Baptist World Alliance.

The hymn "Open My Eyes That I May See" was the theme song and a verse of this hymn was sung between readings, the readers were Mrs. Earl Webber, Mrs. Wickerson Leat, Mrs. Richard Welch, Mrs. George Kenney, Mrs. George Sharpe, Mrs. Willie Poole, Mrs. Albert Bailey and Mrs. Fred Denton. Mrs. Bailey accompanied the piano by Mrs. Welch sang beautifully, "Take My Life and Let Me Be". The offering was received by Mrs. Clyde Titus. Mrs. Shaw explained the use of the offering and its purpose which is taken for the week and outreach of the North American Baptist Women's Union and the Women's Department of the Baptist World Alliance.

The service closed by singing "Sweet Hour of Prayer". Mrs. Richard Welch was pianist. Benediction by Mrs. Shaw.

Immediately following the service the regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society was held and was opened by the hymn "I Am Praying". Scripture psalm 32 was read in union. The roll call was read and was followed by portions of scripture. Spiritual Life lesson was presented by Mrs. Willie Poole. The secretary, Mrs. George Kenney read minutes of last meeting, no new business. The White Cross conveyor reported that the required articles for a box going to India had been received and the box would be on its way shortly.

A report of the W.B.W.M. Convention was given by Mrs. Poole who with Mrs. Bernard Bowers and Mrs. Albert Moore attended the sessions in Waltham. The circle of prayer was observed with several members leading.

The meeting closed with hymn "I Know Whom I Have Believed" followed by the reading in union of the covenant and Misspach prayer.

Poetry Corner

It's Freedom To Me

The road is long away from home
All in multitude looks lone.
The faces are strange along the way
On such an immaculately sunny day.
The trees stand tall beside the road
Holding knowledge within their fold.
The clouds are thick and widely spread out
But to me hold uncertainty and doubt.

The sky is beautifully blue with different shades
But farther we go it seems to fade.
The churches all proudly stand tall and straight
But not as my own church holding my own faith.

Along our way we always go
To see what nature has to show
But in the deepest part of me I shyly moan
Because these sights, to me, are not my own.

But wait! I hear a sound, it's faint but real
I smell a scent it makes me feel
I see a bird, a gull I know!
Happiness is near, I feel the flow.

My doubts came true, what joyous bliss
At last I've found the warmth of a salty kiss.
I've found my sister, two hours lost
A fortune too great for human cost.

The trees are nice, so is the veil, the sky of blue
As is everything that's strange and new.
The brooks hold charm with sounds of white
But, to me, nothing can match the light.

Of a lively, and understanding mystical sea
It's love, it's warmth, it's freedom to me.

A certified florist in the United States, Mrs. Cameron has established a name in this area for originality in flower arrangements. The present shop which she has opened for the Christmas season contains many one of a kind gifts and articles, as well as some antiques and unusual Christmas decorations, trees, cards, wreaths and swags, as well as table center pieces and the like.

There is an air of holiday cheer in the shop and our guests called kitchen, as shoppers gathered around the table for a cup of coffee and a cookie while purchases are being wrapped. Many come just to browse and have a sniff of that particular season and others (wrecked by the uncertainty of just what to give that particular person) are happily guided to the perfect solution.

Roll Call At Weymouth Church

The annual Roll Call service for the Weymouth Church of Christ was held November 13th at 7:30 p.m. The congregation was led in a hymn sung by Gifford Lewis.

Following the scripture reading, taken from 2 Chronicles 7:11-16, Miss Valerie Penny, a student from Maritime Christian College, sang, "Lord, Send Me" Albert Jones led in prayer.

The roll was called by Wilfred Connin and responses were read by Harry Lewis.

A quietest composed of Howard Wagner and his four daughters, Norma, Regina, Rachel and Sandra sang, "The Land Where We'll Never Grow Old" in dedication to the memory of Mrs. Nancy Gove.

Following the announcements and offering, the choir, accompanied by Mrs. Frank Lewis sang "In the Service of the Master."

Ledie Jones, instructor at Maritime Christian College, was guest speaker. He based his thoughts on the words of God, "If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways, then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land."

Mr. Jones reminded the assembly that, like Israel of old, Christians are called by His name.

Like Israel there are certain requirements which we must meet if we expect God's blessing.

Mrs. Jones accompanied her husband, along with four college students, Bonnie Jones, Betty Ann McNell, Valerie Penny and Floyd Oile.

A THOUGHT STARTER

BY RONALD C. MACCORMACK
AN UP-TO-DATE PARABLE

A certain member of a fine church went down to visit with his neighbor, and unfolded the following table of complaint. Said this member, in a tone which was somewhat prickly, "My church is always asking for something. They are forever after me, for my money, my time and my interest." "In fact," said he, "Everytime I turn around my church is holding out its hand for something." This poor man thought himself to be pitted, and went looking for other shoulders to cry upon.

Replied the neighbor who had been doing the thinking, "I once had a little boy. He was a fine lad, and I loved him very much. He was always needing things such as money, attention, and love. Then one day he took sick with an incurable illness. Finally, he wanted away and died, and you know he hasn't asked me for anything since, but O how I wish he were alive and needing me still."

"You see," went on this heart broken neighbor to his complaining friend, "Your church is like that; it is alive and needs. If it were a dead church it might never ask you for anything. So, be thankful you are a part of a live church, and not a dead one. You are fortunate. You are fortunate that it hasn't on to go on needing, and doing and asking."

This certain complaining member roared off in his powered car, back to his split-level, tree-shaded, modern house with more food for thought than he had received for many a day.

Parables have a way of making a man mighty uncomfortable. We hope this one may have hit its mark.

Unemployment Insurance - Any Questions Please?

WHAT ABOUT CASUAL WORK?

I am a carpenter and have just finished doing some repair work for a farmer on his house and other farm buildings. When I finished the job I asked for my insurance book and stamps. The farmer told me he could not give me stamps for the time I spent working on the house. Is this right?

A. Yes. The Unemployment Insurance Act excepts employment of a casual nature other than for the purpose of the employer's trade or business. So all employments of a non-conflicting nature in connection with the construction, repair or renovation of the employer's own home are non-insurable.

Q. I am claiming Unemployment Insurance Benefits. Jobs have been extremely hard to find. Is it in order for me to go back to school until such time as the job situation eases?

A. There is a provision in the Unemployment Insurance Act for payment of benefit to those who have been directed by an officer of the Unemployment Insurance Commission to attend a training course. You should approach your area Commission office for such authorization. As the Unemployment Insurance Commission works closely with Canada Manpower Centres in this matter, you should also consult your Manpower Centre. You will not be eligible for Unemployment Insurance payments, if the Manpower Department pays you a training allowance.

DIGBY TOWN COUNCIL PROTESTS WHARF SITUATION

An announcement at Digby Town Council on Monday night met with angry protests. The Smith said that the wharf had come from the federal Department of Transport and that the cancellation of all shipping from the wharf was the government's fault. The council members were ordered to be sent to Arthur Lang, Minister of Public Works Mr. Jamieson, Hon. A. MacEachern Prime Minister, Pierre Elliott Trudeau and a copy to go to Premier G. J. Smith. Other telegrams from organizations and individuals have also been sent to government officials. It is understood.

Town Council felt that this closure of the wharf would severely hit the economy of the region and an all-out effort should be made to bring this fact to the attention of those responsible for the decision. The announcement stated that further investigation of the wharf had revealed extensive pile damage under a section of the spur and all which has been barricaded for some time pending repairs and that extensive temporary repairs are now considered so extensive that they cannot be justified. If the complete reconstruction of the spur is approved for 1970-71.

Though the Department of Public Works was aware of the condition of the wharf, mon-

Princess of Acadia this winter which would have a detrimental effect on shipping fish and other produce. It would affect passenger transportation if people were not sure of making connections with trains.

Another thought which arose on Monday night was the effect on the fishing boats in the harbour. It was stated that if the corner of the wharf goes down there would be no shelter for boats, it would be difficult to get boats out from the debris and it would be a mess to clean up.

At present, it is understood, the wharf is closed except for 30 feet width for traffic to go through.

It was decided that the matter should not be dropped with one telegram or letter but that continual and personal telegrams and letters should be directed to those responsible.

Council Upholds Union Protest

Digby Town Council went on record on Monday night in support of the Maritime Union of Canada (MUC) on their stand in protesting threatened cancellation of C.P.R. passenger service in the Annapolis Valley.

The letter to the Town Council from George R. Gaudet, Legal Representative was also sent to the Prime Minister of Canada, Leaders of the Opposition, Premier of Nova Scotia, Local Members of the Legislature, Municipal governments and all interested organizations.

Noting the recent abandonment of passenger service by Canadian National in Western Nova Scotia, the letter stated that the D.A.R. is the only rail passenger service left in an area with no other means of transportation very objectionable because of physical disabilities, i.e. veterans and others travelling to hospitals, etc.

They ask that contact be made with various representatives by phone or letter from the Municipal to the Federal level and protest most vehemently this latest attempt to cripple the economy of the province. If passenger service goes it will only be a matter of time and complete abandonment will be next, said the letter.

As shown working on the job, they wondered why people patrize the service at all. "It seems everything possible is being done to discourage us," said the letter. "We are of the firm opinion that a program of better connections at Windsor, opening of stations on weekends, proper advertising, etc., would result in such an increase of patronage that more equipment would be needed to handle the increase. However, a company that will abandon the most lucrative territory in Canada to its competitor, that is between Toronto and Montreal is not likely to try to retain business in an area with no other means of transportation forced to do so by government measures."

The Town Council not only supported the Union in their plea but will also form their own resolution of protest to forward to the Transport Commission. The Council also supported a similar resolution from Yarmouth.

The question was asked what will people gain? East or West do after leaving the boat if the passenger service is cancelled? It was readily noted that passenger service with the D.A.R. was not a paying proposition but if the public wanted the service they must be prepared to pay for it in cash.

It was generally thought that an upgrading of service would help the passenger situation.

Mr. Cardeza, president of the Digby County branch, Canadian Mental Health Association, made his remarks in an address to the banquet session of a mental health conference of the provincial division of CMHA at the Citadel Inn in Halifax.

There is a need for greater co-ordination of all services to people in need, it is to be the only worthwhile progress in the fight against mental illness, said in the promotion of mental health, Victor Cardeza, Digby said at a meeting of the Canadian Mental Health Association held at the Citadel Inn in Halifax.

MIMMS ASKS $600 GRANT FOR AVABT

A grant of $600 from the Town of Digby on behalf of the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade was requested at the Town Council meeting on Monday when the executive secretary of the A.V.A.B.T., Grand Mimms and the president, Edwin Elliott addressed Council.

Mr. Mimms reviewed the activities of the A.V.A.B.T. for the past year including projects with tourism, industrial development, fisheries and transportation. Regarding the Digby-Saint John ferry service, Mr. Mimms said "You can see there has been a lot of work done on the ferry service and that we have not sat back on our laurels. We are still extremely concerned about the rate structure for the ferry. These must be competitive so that the way we are an advantage in using the ferry and reminded the Council that St. Martin's Island last November that the Federal Government will take action if the rates are not competitive. He said that it is known many firms are watching this development and some could be enticed to either change their present operations or others could be enticed to open up in the Valley."

Mr. Mimms reviewed the stages of progress with building the boat and stated that if Stelco of Canada had not gone on strike in August, the ferry would have gone into service in June 1970, starting with two round trips per day. With the strike settled, the ferry is likely to be in operation next year, he continued.

Speaking of the roads which are necessary to be improved for the new ferry service Mr. Mimms asked "Can you see 45 foot long trailers, loaded to capacity, inching their way around Bear River, Clements-Port, and over the way bridge at Annapolis Royal? (Please turn to page 6)

Large Potential Needed For Two Trips

Edwin Elliott, president of the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade told Digby Town Council on Monday night that it is the potential of industrial shipping which will determine the number of trips per day the new Digby-Saint John ferry will make. He cannot rely on tourism to achieve the amount of transportation necessary and every effort should be made to get the shipping potential high enough.

Mr. Elliott also referred to the rate structure for transportation across the Bay. It is important to get on the New Brunswick roads via Digby by boat, he said, in order to utilize the most economical mode of travel to markets in Montreal, North Eastern States, etc.

WANT TO CLOSE 20-MILE MISSING LINK

The Digby Town Council on Monday night went on record as requesting Hon. I. W. Akerley, Minister of Highways in Nova Scotia, to give consideration to opening the Digby-Shelburne road. He stated that there is only a twenty mile stretch which is the "missing link" in a direct road from Shelburne to Digby. Granted, he remarked, it is barely more than a trail at present but with the road opened there could be two trips a day made by truck

Port Of Entry On The Missing List

That Digby is not mentioned on the Kodjinkodj Park brochure was considered a serious error by Digby Mayor and Town Council. Digby is 35 miles from the park, closer than any other town in the park region, said the councilors, yet Digby is the only town missing from the list of those indicating their distance from the Kodjinkodj Park.

The Council on Monday night decided to write a letter to the Department of Resources and Development expressing displeasure about the matter and requesting that Digby be included in the next brochure.

Lions Little Leaguers Win Trophy

Lions Little Leaguers Win Trophy

The banquet was presided over by Donald Brown, umpire, in the absence of Robert McVeigh. Mr. Brown commended the work of Mr. McVeigh, through whom he said, the Little League is carried on. Seated at the head table were His Worship Mayor Glen Smith, Gerald Campbell, coach, Ken Skinner, Merchants Team Coach, Bernard O'Neill, umpire; Mr. Kennedy; Ted Nicholson, Mr. Brown and Mr. Marshall.

In addressing the ball players, His Worship emphasized the importance of being a good sport, playing a good game and when coming into adulthood they would be Class A citizens of the town.

Mr. Campbell expressed keen disappointment in the fact that the Legion team did not make the playoffs. He remarked "The Legion team didn't lose a game all season, yet you couldn't get a team for the league playoffs. Only 22 out of 55 attended the banquet. Scattered at the head table were His Worship Mayor Glen Smith, Gerald Campbell, coach, Ken Skinner, Merchants Team Coach, Bernard O'Neill, umpire; Mr. Kennedy; Ted Nicholson, Mr. Brown and Mr. Marshall.

Optimistic About Senior Citizens Home

The tenders were opened in Halifax for the construction of a 21 unit Senior Citizens Home in Digby. Mayor Glen Smith and Town Clerk Jack Whaley were present. There were four tenders submitted for Digby. It is understood, out of the twelve tenders for the various homes being contemplated for the province. Final decision on the tender ranging from $230,000 to $265,000 will be made by the Central Mortgage and Housing and will come from Ottawa. This was revealed by a report to Town Council on Monday evening.

Charles Vaughn of the Metropolitan Development Ltd. was in touch with the town people for a home for a Home For Aged in Digby.

Tenders for the 12 units Low Rental Housing in Digby were more than the estimated cost. This requires some paring of facilities to meet the tendered price if Ottawa will approve of the pricing. Various Digby Mayor Glen Smith at the regular Council meeting such as the town bearing the cost of installing services to the main corridor to about 2 yards of the housing project. Any outlay, it was felt, would be reflected in taxes.

R. Baden Powell, M.L.A., Pictou, Eric Balcom, Wolfville and Mayor Glen Smith are on a committee to make recommendations for four persons to be on a committee to take charge of the Low Rental Housing in Digby town.

Mrs. Ina Dillon reported on E.M.O. and said that all equipment was currently being checked to see if it is in good condition. It was questioned whether or not the equipment might have to be replaced if the government bowed out of E.M.O.

Four calls were made in Noember by the Digby Fire Department. Two in town, one at Smith's Cove and one at Marshalltown.

Credit was given to the firm for their good record work and also for the splendid service at any of the firm's services.

A request to Hon. I. W. Akerley to have a licensing bureau in town for the Dept. of Highways was not granted.

It was mentioned that Digby was ahead of the Valley towns in the Commission for Light and Decorating. It was suggested that the Merchants Association might take on this project in future years. Some 20 dozen light bulbs, starters and sockets had been missing from the previous year. A report by Frank Robinson, superintendent of the streets revealed both water wells were being used and everything was satisfactory. A new screen was put on the lower dam and the gates closed which gives access to water which has not been used since 1902.

While Town Cites Digby was welcomed to town there was concern that there were layoffs and retirements causing hardship to employees.

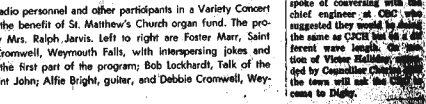

DIGBY RELIEF COMMITTEE NO NAMES PROBLEM

Members on the Digby Welfare and Relief Committee had no problem in securing the names of persons on relief, if necessary to have them Mayor Glen Smith was told on Monday night by the town representative, Councillor Ina Dillon. Mrs. Dillon was replying to a question asked by Mayor who has heard discussions on this subject in other towns and municipalities. All matters are discussed privately. Mrs. Dillon said, and it has been found that the representatives from the town can be of much assistance in just dispensing of welfare benefits.

The case listed in November was six at a total cost of $440 and not to the town of $110.

A letter had been received by the Welfare Committee from the Nova Scotia Licensed Embalmers which advised that present contracts would terminate December 31, 1969 and the new contract of January 1, 1970 will take effect.

The Licensed Embalmers and Funeral Directors Association informed the Welfare Department that after January 1, 1970 funerals for wel-

Speaks In Halifax On Mental Health

Victor Cardeza

There is a need for greater co-ordination of all services to people in need, it is to be the only worthwhile progress in the fight against mental illness, said in the promotion of mental health, Victor Cardeza, Digby said at a meeting of the Canadian Mental Health Association held at the Citadel Inn in Halifax.

Mr. Cardeza, president of the Digby County branch, Canadian Mental Health Association, made his remarks in an address to the banquet session of a mental health conference of the provincial division of CMHA at the Citadel Inn in Halifax.

He spoke of impressions gained when he travelled in Great Britain some time ago and visited a number of mental health community care projects in that country.

Mr. Cardeza said that while he was impressed with the variety of programs aimed at coping with problems created through mental illness and the promotion of mental health, he discovered little co-ordination of these programs.

He said a lesson could be learned which could be applied in Nova Scotia.

There are many organizations working to provide services to those in need here," he said, "but not enough progress has been made to bring all these services together in a united approach."

He said a mental health association and other agencies in the field should become more closely involved with other agencies so as to develop programs aimed at providing total service to those in need regardless of cause.

Rev. G. P. Pritchard, Bridgewater, conference chairman, said government, provincial or federal, cannot substitute for the personal care we provide patients in and out of hospital.

T.V. To Cover Digby And Yarmouth

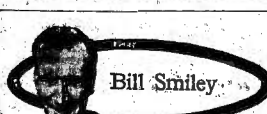

Complaints made at the November meeting of the Digby Town Council regarding the poor TV coverage of the station in a request to the station to tune up the service. It is the intention of the station to put in four filters in order to clear up the overflow from the new station in Saint John, N.B.

CJCH also revealed plans have Channel Six stepped up in 1970 with the central point in Saint John, where a 100,000 watt power station would be installed to completely cover Western Nova Scotia.

It was also learned that radio station CKDY would be opened in Digby just before Christmas.

Mayor Glen Smith also spoke of covering with the chief engineer of CJCH in suggested they would be looking the same as CJCH but in a different format. A representative of Weymouth Falls, moved by Councillor Cardeza, the town will suit the CJCH to Digby.

Bill Smiley

They earn their keep

This column is dedicated to my namesake, Bill Smiley, a high school principal in Saskatchewan. He doesn't even read my column, but he has a friendly letter and it's nice to hear from you, Cousin Bill.

Recently, she forced him to listen as she read a column in which I buried a dart into the raw hides of school administrators. It made him write, but it was a friendly letter and it's nice to hear from you, Cousin Bill.

He must be a cousin. The Smiley, five brothers of them, came out from Ireland during one of the periodic potato famines and with the skill and foresight that has always characterized the name, chose some of the most fertile lands in Canada as a place to strike it rich.

The crops were mainly stored, with occasional bonanza of boulders. Most of them had enough Irish wit to get out and move West, but my grandfather, with his kids and his wife, stuck it out and the old family farm is still there in Pontiac, Quebec, pushing up its annual crop of millwheat, burdock and fieldstone.

Cousin Bill must be a descendant of one of the Smileys who went West and starved during the Depression, instead of staying home and almost starving.

We've just contact completely. But I did meet a chap, Bill Smiley, directly ahead of me in a line-up on a ship company contract home, who turned out to be a son of my father's first cousin, who went West. Isn't this fascinating?

However, this is not a family history, though I know you're intrigued. It is a heart-felt expression of sympathy for high school principals, like Cousin Bill.

A high school principal is usually a normal human being (though not always) who is caught, not between two

This program was started as a result of the efforts of the Nova Scotia Federation of Agriculture and is being carried out by the Extension Department of St. Francis Xavier University.

The main item of business of the organizational program addressed the meeting briefly. He told the woodlot owners that their Association should not sit back and wait for something to happen. Instead it must take aggressive steps to obtain its objectives. He as-

Recently Married

Bolstad — Robicheau

The marriage of Riki Bolstad, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Robicheau, Westport, N.S., to Donald Alfred Bolstad, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Bolstad, Nassau, N.P. Bismarck, was solemnized in Westport Baptist Church, with Rev. George Sharpe officiating at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Albert Bailey was organist.

The bride given in marriage by her father, wore a minidown of white velvet with empire waist and high round neckline. Bodice and cuffs were of nylon lace. She carried a bouquet of red carnations. Flower girls were Ruth Ellen and Joyce, sisters of the bride, wearing identical dresses of blue and green velvet, each carrying a basket of white and high round neckline. Ring bearer was the bride's youngest brother, John, wearing a green velvet suit.

will be hard enough on the blood pressure of local drivers who know the situation, but what about the tourists who will be caught in this traffic snarl? The Provincial Government has been aware of this, and the AVABT have held meetings, submitted briefs, written letters, run up long distance charges trying to get action on the projects. "Mr. Almerly," he said, "shares our concern and agrees that this is top priority in the province, but it boils down to one thing, money." Mr. Minns stated there has been no cost sharing agreement between the Federal and Provincial Governments, and with the tight money policy of the present Federal government, it will likely be in 1970 before any such agreement is made. Halifax is just as anxious as we are to see what Ottawa is going to offer.

Mr. Minns referred to the St. Mary's Bay fishing problem which the AVABT tried to help solve and the work done on the Petite Passage crossing project.

The mother of the bride chose for her daughter's wedding a red suit, black accessories, wearing a corsage of white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception and dance was held at the I.O.O.F. Hall. At the reception telegrams read by the best men were from Chillsack, B. C.; Winnipeg, Manitoba; Montreal, Quebec; Toronto, Ont.; Yarmouth, N.S.; and Nassau, N.P. Rahman. The couple left later for their short honeymoon in Nova Scotia, and plans are to live in Barbados for a time.

Halliday Reports On Bus Supervision

The report of Councilor Victor Halliday was adopted at the Digby Town Council on Monday night when he reported on the recent Municipal School Board meeting. Councilor Halliday is the town's representative on the Board.

Mr. Halliday reported that bus drivers may now be employed to supervise the loading and unloading of school buses, providing they are not driving a bus at the time of supervising. Wages for the supervision is to be not more than $6 per day. It was estimated that the extra cost to Digby County would be $20,000 per school year.

The supervision of school buses became an issue in Digby after the new provincial law required supervision of loading and unloading school buses from primary to High School. While primary and elementary teachers in Digby schools had supervised the buses, the High School Teachers had not done so until the present year. They refused to do so with a deadline in November.

Walkathon At Clare

A Walkathon from Westmouth Consolidated School to St. Ann's campus grounds at Church Point, a distance of approximately 10 miles is being organized for Saturday, December 6, by Les Dames Patronesses de la C. J. A. The walkathon will raise funds to operate the summer camp at La Colonne de la Jeunesse Academics (C.J.A.) at Lac Victor at Conception. This is the first walkathon for Clare.

Ginger Ale Bottles, Juice Cans, Catalogues

For the second consecutive Town Council meeting it was emphasized by Mayor and councillors that storm drains are not places for garbage. Pointing out that some of this garbage could cost the town $1500 by having drain overflows with such articles as ginger ale bottles, large juice cans and catalogues plugging the drain.

Mayor Smith said that there is contemplated new side walks in 1970 but there is no point to it if they have to be dug up for articles deposited in the sewer pipes.

It was felt that much of the problem was created by the children and the councillors were hopeful that the assistance of the schools might be obtained to curb the practice. Mayor Smith said he hoped to make an annual visit to the school and would stress good citizenship. It was hoped that the children might be persuaded to remove articles from drains when they are spotted. Deputy Mayor Paul Winchester reported that all dirt streets had been graded.

The matter of a raise for workmen was tabled.

While some people use colored artificial light for Christmas, Morris Lowe, Deep Brook, has his own variety of Christmas lighting in December. It is nothing less than a June bug which was seen on the window at his home just prior to the weekend weather.

Drive Carefully!

Young People Enjoy West Indian Dinner

A large group of young people crowded into the Baptist church on Sunday night to prepare for a special West Indian dinner. While the boys watched T.V. the girls, under the capable leadership of Nellie Boodoosingh, assembled and cooked the ingredients for the supper. The menu included rice, chicken, curry, eggplant and West Indian pancakes. Eventually the assembled group saw the completed dinner steaming on the table. In cafeteria style, each helped himself to the various dishes and the lunch, then sat around the living room to devour the meal. Ice-cream was served to top off the meal and, for some, to the effects of the curry.

Following the meal a ten-minute movie was shown in Trinidad. The film had been taken by a friend of the Boodoosinghs, and depicted very clearly aspects of the island as the sugar cane in growth, the harvesting of "pitch", fishing, the animals and reptiles of Trinidad, and points of beauty and interest.

After lively conversation and good fun, the boys lived in a limbo contest, with high-odds honors going to Larry Boodoosingh and Dwight Frankland. This event provided the spectators with lots of good laughs.

Three cheers were given the chief cook of the evening, Nellie Boodoosingh, for her vital part in making the evening a success. Appreciation was also extended to Clyne Boodoosingh for his help and for providing the most interesting movie and comments. The young people left having had a delightful, interesting and fun-filled evening. The girls left with a newly-acquired knowledge of West Indian cooking, the boys (especially Mr. Robertson) were left with a few stiff joints and the sure knowledge that doing the limbo won't quite as easy as it looked. More practice, men!

100th Year Anniversary

Edon's has been celebrating its 100th year in serving the public in the sale of merchandise. To commemorate the event, Edon's had a history written from the beginning of the company to the present time. The volume was written by William Stevenson.

Mayor Glen Smith displayed a volume of the anniversary number at Town Council on Monday evening. It had been presented to him at his home, King St., by Miss Margaret Murphy, Managress at the Digby branch of the T. Eaton Company.

Mayor Smith remarked on the interesting material in the book and expressed appreciation to Miss Murphy on behalf of the town.

Freak Lobster

Scott Kinney of Ashmore, a lobster fisherman for 33 years brought to The Digby Courier on Tuesday a freak lobster so far as the color of his shell was concerned. Instead of the healthy dark green of a usual lobster, this particular lobster had green claws and green legs but the entire part of the body otherwise was an ashen orange shade with the under part almost white. The lobster was about 12 inches in length.

Of all the time fishing, Mr. Kinney said he had never seen a lobster like it before. This particular lobster was caught off Gilbert's Cove in St. Mary's Bay on Monday.

ed knowledge of West Indian cooking, the boys (especially Mr. Robertson) were left with a few stiff joints and the sure knowledge that doing the limbo won't quite as easy as it looked. More practice, men!

Singers At Baptist Church

The Envoy, a trio from Rockaway, New Jersey will present a program of America's favorite hymns, gospel songs and spirituals at the Digby Baptist Church on Tuesday.

The Envoy, all accomplished musicians from nationally known singing groups, travel 70,000 miles a year in their personalized greyhound type bus. Their travels have taken them to forty states and to some of the largest churches and auditoriums throughout Canada and Newfoundland. They have taken to thousands in Constitution Hall, Washington, D. C. and the Farm Show Arena, Harrisburg, Pa.

In addition to their personal appearances, often the Envoy are heard on National radio or seen on T.V. They have recorded a number of long play albums, their latest being a family album, recorded by the members of their families.

The Envoy personnel include Don Sturms, manager and lead singer; Dallas Henry, pianist and baritone; and Ron Kelly, Tenor. The new sound of this combined talent will vary from the well known hymns found in most church hymnbooks to the new creation that depicts the anxiety of our age.

Rev. Donald Robertson cordially invites all to hear the Envoy sing the songs that have stirred the hearts of thousands.

News conference concerning the annual meeting of the Francophone Federation of Nova Scotia held this weekend at St. Mary's University.

The annual meeting proved to be a necessary fact finding and policy making tool in the organization of a truly representative provincial association and the scattered francophone population of Nova Scotia.

During the weekend representatives of 31 French speaking associations from across our province and representing every walk of life and age groups, have strengthened our organization by implementing a two year plan. This plan, one of preparation, study and social animation.

Because our people are scattered into little pockets across our province it will be necessary for the next two years to organize workshops in order to find out the interest, the goals and the needs of our population and then to set up long term policies concerning every aspect of society (culture, economics, etc.).

In the past we have been too quiet and have not participated enough in the construction of our nation as a group. English speaking Nova Scotians in general when they speak of Canadian unity they forget that in their own province there are many French speaking people and tend to speak of unity with Quebec and the rest of Canada neglecting a very present and living people with a long history here in Nova Scotia.

One reason for this is that our people have the impression of isolation, stemming from a geographical situation. The people of Pictou living 500 miles from the people of Chatham do not feel a part of one ethnique group. Not knowing what the others think, we have often been left in the background in the economic, political and cultural life of Nova Scotia.

Like the fishermen from Petit de Grat, a delegate to our Congress held here in Halifax, said that he had been to other Congresses but this one he said, "this is us." He felt very much a part of one ethnique group capable and wanting to participate in the construction of our province and our nation.

We find that the French speaking Nova Scotian want to be Nova Scotians and are very proud of this fact. And even though our communities often don't present a French Canadian image they are still very proud of their heritage and inevitably feel more at ease within their culture than another.

Language is a means to an end. We don't develop the French language within our communities for the sake of language but rather to develop along Nova Scotians. We think that neglecting our heritage is a negative attitude.

Our people while discussing different problems for example can more fully contribute to explain and to remedy these problems in their own language. The French language and culture in other words, is us and this has to be developed. We strongly believe that strengthening the French fact in Nova Scotia will without a doubt strengthen our province.

Premier Smith said that Nova Scotians could contribute a lot to the nation's unity. This is one way, and maybe the most pressing need of today.

The Federal government has the same attitude. We are losing ground and fast. Out of 97,850 Nova Scotians of French origin, only 41,500 speak French. (47.2%). And we realize if we are to make any progress, understanding from English speaking Nova Scotians the official language is needed.

In the next two years we hope to find out the reaction, the ideas of the English speaking Nova Scotians by organizing workshops in different predominantly English speaking milieu.

Service Held

A memorial service was held for the late Tom Cumming on Sunday afternoon, November 30, at the South's United Baptist Church. Rev. Charles Milbury, pastor, officiated. The service with scripture and prayer.

The senior choir of the church sang "Fight the Good Fight," accompanied by Miss Linda Winchester, organist.

Rev. Dr. T. W. Hodson, retired United Church minister of Digby, spoke of his friendship of thirty-five years with Tom Cumming and read several passages of scripture.

Following the message, the choir sang, "In the Sweet By and By." The service concluded with the benediction by Rev. Milbury.

Charlie Brown, Snoopy, Freda, Linus and a host of other characters, led by C. E. Edwards, Inspector of Schools, Annapolis-Cornwallis; Jack Riffey, Principal, Digby Regional High School; George Foynt, Supervisor of Audio-Visual Instruction, Department of Education.

N. S. EDUCATORS VISIT ONTARIO SCHOOLS

A party of Nova Scotia educators, led by C. E. Edwards, Inspector of Schools, Annapolis-Cornwallis; Jack Riffey, Principal, Digby Regional High School; George Foynt, Supervisor of Audio-Visual Instruction, Department of Education.

The week's program of classroom visitation has been arranged by the Ontario Department of Education under the direction of W. G. Mitchell, Assistant Superintendent of Screen Education, who will accompany the group. Schools visited will include schools of Metro Toronto, North York and Niagara.

At its simplest, screen education can be defined as "teaching children in relation to the screen." It takes into consideration the language of the screen and is a means of educating young people, taking the screen language into account in the same way as the English language in traditional education.

The educators who are participating in this tour recognize that today our children are literally swimming in an electronic culture with little if any guidance in understanding the media. Every time a child views a film or a television program there is instant feedback. Through the study of the media children become aware that they not only have bodies but emotions as well. They learn to discover themselves, so to speak and to discover their strengths and weaknesses. The entire program centers around the emotional development of youth.

Courses in screen education were offered this year for the first time in the N. S. Summer School with an enrolment of eighteen.

Mr. Steele's two daughters, Mrs. Donald Mullen and Mrs. Lindsay Ford were co-hostesses for the occasion, and among those present were his five grandchildren: Dwight, Dwayne and David Mullen; Rachel and Edwin Ford.

Mr. Steele was the recipient of many cards and gifts, as well as presented with two birthday cakes, one by his daughters and one by Mr. and Mrs. W. P. McLaughlin. He was assisted in opening his gifts by his grandchildren.

Prior to refreshments, Mr. Merle Zimmerman offered prayer.

Those assisting in serving were Carol and Lucille Seaborn, Winifred Prime, Leola Lewis, Eileen Wagner, Winnie Marshall and Ellis Barr.

Choir To Sing

The Little River choir will present a Christmas Cantata at the Waterford Baptist Church on December 20, Sunday afternoon. The title will be "The Gospel Song of Christmas" narrated by Mrs. Stanley Denton.

A Christmas Cantata will also be held in the Little River Church Sunday evening, December 14th.

Poetry Corner

"In writing up the program for the Music and Talent Night at the Digby Baptist Church on Sunday night, Nov. 23, I inadvertently omitted a moving recital of the poem 'The Touch of the Master's Hand' by Miss Alice Hapless. In order that even more might share in the inspiration of this poem, I would like to have it printed." D. F. Robertson

The Touch Of The Master's Hand

'Twas battered and scarred, and the auctioneer, Though it scarcely worth his while To waste much time on the old violin, But held it up with a smile:

"What an I bidden, good folks," he cried, "What'll start the bidding for me?"

"A dollar, a dollar," then, "Two!" "Only two?" Two dollars, and who'll make it three? Three dollars, once; three dollars, twice; Going for three—" But no,

From the room, far back, a gray-haired man Came forward and picked up the bow; Then, tipping the dust from the old violin, And lightning the loose strings,

He played a melody pure and sweet As a caroling angel sings:

The music ceased, and the auctioneer, With a voice that was quiet and low, Said: "What am I bid for the old violin?"

And he held it up with the bow, "Two thousand dollars, and who'll make it two? A thousand And who'll make it three?

Three thousand, once; three thousand, twice, And going, and gone," said he. The people cheered, but none of them cried, "We do not quite understand!"

What changed its worth? Swift came the reply: "The touch of a master's hand."

And many a man with life out of tune, And battered and scarred with sin, Is auctioned cheap to the thoughtless crowd, Much like the old violin,

A "mess of pottage," a glass of wine; A game — and he travels on, He is "going" once, and "going" twice, He is "going" and almost "gone."

But the Master comes, and the foolish crowd Never can quite understand The worth of a soul and the change that's wrought By the touch of the Master's hand.

—Myra Brooks Welch

Mrs. W.C.H.S. Activities

Weymouth School is now making her existence recognized in the sports world at Student Congress. Weymouth is registered as a "B" school at Congress since the total enrollment of similar schools is less than 250. Schools with a higher enrollment are considered "A" schools and may enter both "A" and "B" teams in Congress competitions.

The first sports activity which Weymouth indulged in was the cross country run Weymouth School participated in four teams, the first being held at Weymouth with the W.C.H.S. team running against the team from Clare.

The second meet was held at Clare District High School and included the Clare, Weymouth and Digby teams. The third meet was a Congress competition.

After the Christmas break the basketball will be in full swing. In previous years a students at Weymouth have shown a great interest in basketball and it is anticipated that the same feeling will follow through this year as well.

If enough enthusiasm is generated by the student body, there is a possibility that a gymnastic club will be organized as well as a hockey team. Since Weymouth School is only now testing her wings as far as sports activities are concerned, it remains to be seen how much will be accomplished during this school session.

We are very pleased with her progress thus far and will continue to work as a body in an effort to develop the sports program at W.C.H.S.

Opposition Attacks Bill

Bill C-7, which is presently being discussed in the House of Commons, is under attack by Opposition MPs.

The bill suggests that capital expenditures not exceeding $20,700,000 during the 1968 calendar year be authorized to the CNR. Much of this has already been spent.

The bill also makes provision for the CNR to borrow $19,000,000 to finance all branch line construction. It provides the government with the authority to grant temporary loans to the CNR and to Air Canada in order to meet deficits in operating revenues up to June 30, 1970. If these loans cannot be repaid, it is possible to write them off.

through an appropriation of Parliament.

For the first time in many years this sort of bill has been met with much attention and opposition.

It is opposed because of the CNR and CPR's recent application to cancel some of their passenger services. Cancellation includes the Vancouver to Halifax run on both shores.

Some years ago Parliament authorized a bill granting coverage of up to 80 per cent of losses incurred on a particular route. It seems very strange that the railways are not able to provide service when coverage of losses is guaranteed in this way.

The original mandate of the railways in 1961 was to provide service to the Canadian public in return for lands granted. The railways, unfortunately, have yet to meet this obligation 88 years later.

In this year of 1968 and in the future, the demand for public rather than private modes of transportation will increase. One of the reasons for this is that the automobile is becoming very dangerous as our highways become more congested.

Therefore it is not good enough as we move into the 70's to accept the present railway system or the standards by which it is being operated.

In this age of technology new ways can and must be devised so that the railways are able to operate on a more efficient basis in all ways. Proper handling of finances and of service would demolish deficits and make the system much more attractive to the public.

It is time once again for the people to react.

Identifies Sparrow

Early in the spring, Benoit Stuart, Church Point found a dead song sparrow on the main highway in front of his home which apparently had been struck by a car. The sparrow carried a band with the following number 106170635.

Just recently Mr. Stuart received information from the Bird Band Laboratory, Migration Bird Populations Station of Laurel, Maryland, U.S.A.

It is reported that the Song Sparrow was banded near Centreville, Mass. by G. F. Fernandez. The certificate of appreciation sent to Mr. Stuart states: "This certificate is awarded in appreciation of the report of Bird Band number 106170635 etc. The Bird Banding Laboratory will notify the bander that you indicated the band number was obtained, Church Point, N. S. 04/05/68. The news of the dead Song Sparrow appeared in the Vanguard sometime in April or May of this year.

The article was noticed by someone interested in wildlife and Mr. Stuart was contacted and told where to send the band found on the dead sparrow. The answer to where the sparrow was banded has finally been solved!

DIGBY WHARF GETTING EMERGENCY TEMPORARY REPAIRS

After telegrams from the Digby Board of Trade, the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Board of Trade, Digby Town Council and others to Hon. Arthur Laing, Minister of Public Works and Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau, word has been received that emergency temporary repairs will be made to the spur pier at the government wharf in Digby. This information was released at the Digby Board of Trade on Tuesday evening. The telegrams had followed word received here from the Department of Transport that they recommended cancelling all shipping from a barricaded portion of the spur and all it was felt that extensive pier damage was present and extensive enough so that they could not be justified if the complete reconstruction of the spur is approved for 1970/71.

It was understood from the Board of Trade meeting that supplies had already arrived for the emergency repairs which will enable shipping from the wharf.

The repairs will provide a by-pass around the dangerous ly damaged section of the pier. It is understood plans to reconstruct the entire spur pier notwithstanding will not be hindered or altered because of the construction of a by-pass which is being built to meet an emergency situation.

Expressions of joy were made at the Board meeting regarding the "change of heart" emergency repair news. The pier is used for shipments of pulpwood and lumber, which, if cancelled, would effect the economy of the area severely.

Other telegrams issued by the Board of Trade were directed to the Prime Minister dealing with using the new wharf at Digby for the terminal of a new ferry from New England rather than spending upwards of $2,000,000 to upgrade the old harbour and one to Hon. C. C. R. R. Nova Scotia Minister of Public and Industrial Development regarding competition against boats here in the field of coast-to-coast ferry service between Yarmouth and Portland, Maine. Regarding the construction of a crossing over Bear River, Dave Irvine reported he had contacted government officials from what he could learn the decision is for a bridge instead of a causeway, and tenders would be called in the Spring for the bridge construction.

Charles Halbertson suggested the Digby signs outside of town be taken down for the winter or give them a coating of protection against the winter weather. It was noted that the signs were mounted for permanency with pairs three feet deep and bolted signs.

Richard Levy, vice president who presided on Tuesday in the absence of President Russell Stoeness, reported on a meeting of the Annapolis District Board of Trade which was attended by the Hon. J. H. CFB Cornwallis was present speaker. He said Captain T. Levy was most interested in the housing situation since he anticipates more staff at Cornwallis. He also spoke of vacant buildings at Cornwallis. The establishment was built, for 10,000 personnel, at present there are 1200 and in the summer the number is about 2500. C. D. Shaw reported on resolutions played before the AFA, IT by the Digby resolution committee dealing with service and rates regarding the

How Can They Know?

Reading CNR releases and hearing reports and reading CNR news stories would lead us to think one thing: Both rail lines want to know how much the people of Canada want rail passenger service. On the Valley line, we are convinced the railway officials would like an expression of opinion, too. Do the people want the rail service enough to pay for their voices against discontinuance?

Really and truly, now, how can they find out what we want unless we tell them? If enough people call for the service, we are of the opinion we'll get it. It needs not two-eyes to see that the passenger service isn't a paying proposition but if enough people call for the service there will be government subsidy. (See the article by Carl Helmsom in this issue). Of course, we must be willing to pay for the service through taxation.

The Town Fathers, the Boards of Trade and the Unions as a group might shout but it takes the voices of little people, lots and lots of them, to make an impression.

Save the railway passenger service. Maybe with the winter storms upon us we'll see the value of the rail for safe and comfortable transportation and "get with it." How can they know unless we tell them?

Musical Program, Syllabus, Arts & Crafts

'Music Week simply went by us unnoticed. It was November 23 to 30. Actually, if it hadn't been for the most delightful musical program at the Digby Baptist Church, on Sunday night we might have forgotten the dates entirely.

The women's chorus from Yarmouth, known as the Scotian Chorus, was really delightful, inspiring and educational. Even their beautiful songs, with long white gloves added charm, if added charm to their musically talented voices was possible. Digby owes a debt of gratitude to the Yarmouth ladies for making us richer in musical culture by their coming. Besides to the singers, we feel a vote of thanks from the entire community should go to Rev. Donald Robertson of the Digby Baptist Church for his great interest in music culture and the many opportunities he presents for Digby to hear good music from outsiders and home-town talent. In passing, we might also commend him on his excellent outlook in encouraging talent and spreading "good news" in song.

There are various ways of enjoying music. One is to just sit and listen and absorb the culture. Many like it that way. We are glad to see this so well provided, particularly in the Christmas season. Another means of enjoyment is to participate in or present musical renditions. We are reminded of the latter, especially this week, on receiving the Digby County Music Festival syllabus. Those who promote this means of musical culture, also, deserve our commendation.

And to we celebrate Music Week at the Digby Church in December instead of November and do our little part in promoting a love for good music by youth and adult alike. (Grant you, musical tastes are different).

While we are mindful of the musical art, another form of art also comes to our minds. Prior to the chorus on Sunday evening we visited the Arts and Crafts exhibit at CFB Cornwallis on Sunday. A debt of gratitude is owed to Mrs. D. Hendry of CFB Cornwallis for arranging the weekend fine exhibit of arts and crafts at the Base. Of course, the Base, itself, has facilities for such an exhibit and we can be thankful that the captain is kind to lend the facilities.

As the news story indicates, there was a variety in arts and crafts, there was a large number of exhibitors, some having one talent and others more. By arranging the exhibit, Mrs. Hendry has done much to foster this important part of community life and we are bold enough to suggest promoting arts and crafts to aid in tourism.

To spell it out plainly - we are suggesting that an exhibit (one or more) of this nature at CFB Cornwallis in summer would be a great attraction to tourists and a valuable promotion to tourism.

The Canadian Family Tree

The Canadian Family Tree, a 354 page book compiled by the Citizenship Branch of the Canadian Department of the Secretary of State, has come to our desk. It was written, or compiled, so far as it could be, in 1967, Canada's Centennial Year.

The Canadian Family Tree is one of the books which have come to our desk that we value most. It is just what the name implies, the story of each race and nationality which makes up this great Canada of ours. When one considers that the number of races or nationalities included is almost fifty we have to wonder why there should be any English-French controversy whether language-wise or otherwise. (We will confess that when it came to the Belyukynians we had to look twice. Shame, shame on us, we had never heard of them!) In most cases, the people who came to Canada seeking opportunity and a new homeland. What did the "founding races" come for except just that? All have participated in Canada's economic, social and cultural development through the years.

The Canadian Family Tree was completed for 1967 but actually the Canadian Family Tree is one of few books which cannot have the word "final" to sum it up. There are always more people and more contributions for the second volume of The Canadian Family Tree and hopefully on-and-on as a united Canada.

We hope, if they do not have it already, that the Digby County libraries will obtain copies from the Department of Citizenship at 1737 Barrington St., Halifax. If every Canadian had the book they would see what it meant to be a Canadian or part of multi-race Canada. We might suggest another chapter but The Canadian Family Tree as it is makes an ideal Canadian study history book, one much superior to a chronology of war dates. The Canadian Family Tree gives a sense of building and not tearing down. Isn't that what we need?

Hodge Podge

So far in November and December 1969, The Digby Courier has added more than 100 new subscribers to its list. Wayne Snow, who has been on the staff of The Digby Courier for a number of years, will be taking over the news desk. We are happy to announce that atment at The Digby Courier as soon as he is able to train a new linotype operator to take his place.

Hurry, hurry, hurry. With a bit of exaggeration "every small town in Nova Scotia is pressing some sort of aid for an airport.

Digby Local Union Supports Resolutions

(Carl Helmsom, Local Chairman)

As you are aware when reading the December 4th issue of The Digby Courier, front page, heading "Council Upholds Union Protest", we the employees of the Canadian Pacific Railway, employed at Digby, Wharfedale and members of the Brotherhood of Railway, Airline and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees, local, Basin Lodge #224 on 24th St. on go on picket lines on the Town Council and the United Transportation Union Local 504, Kentville, in their efforts. The Canadian Pacific Railway has filed 18 applications covering all of its passenger train operation except commuter services, asking to be relieved of the burden of uncompetitive passenger train services either by authority to discontinue them, or if the Canadian Transport Commission determines they should be continued through the payment of compensation for losses. The Halifax-Yarmouth passenger train operation is one of the 18 applications for discontinuance of service. The National Transportation Act in 1967 set out a process whereby, during the period of declining subsidies, the railway would be relieved of uncompetitive passenger service and branch lines, with specific compensation for any they are ordered to continue operating in the public interest; therefore, it is the expressed hope that every citizen you will impress upon their respective members the necessity of a rail passenger service Halifax-Yarmouth and industrial letters to Members of Parliament may bear fruit, as the people of this area and the Annapolis Valley will be affected by the discontinuance of this service. You will appreciate that to invite views and obtain views are different policies and I respectfully suggest that our people in the area that will be affected by discontinuance of service should be alerted to the idea that their best interest will be served by them joining together and associating themselves with all concerned at the moment of application, and to vote to discontinue this service. The purpose of this editorial is to impress upon each respective citizen the necessity of all concerned hearing in their minds as to the economy and development of the eastern Nova Scotia.

Letters To The Editor

R.R. 2, Digby, N.S. December 6, 1969

The Digby Courier, Digby, N.S. Dear Mrs. Wallis:

I had intended to write to you before this with my feelings about the unsatisfactory situation at the school. However, I was given the impression that the problem was an internal one and I decided things could not be so bad as they seemed. I have now found out that not only is the situation bad, but it is even worse than I feared.

My points are: 1. All school board meetings should be opened to the public. If our school is good enough to keep the school going, why are our business considered so secret that we are not able to cope with the education of our children? It is an insult to our intelligence, especially when we know the general make up of the school. I am not an expert on education as a general rule, but I am a parent and I can see the situation.

The secrecy surrounding all the business which goes on at school board meetings makes for a sick society in Digby. Rumours fly, and no-one knows the truth. We are not allowed to make our own decision on the rights and wrongs of any given situation.

2. It is right that our children should be attending a school where the teachers are hired and fired with such speed that the place is so unstable that we could easily see some of the kids adversely affected. The place is so unstable that we could easily see some of the kids adversely affected. The place is so unstable that we could easily see some of the kids adversely affected.

Marriage

Obituary

A pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Andrew's United Church last Sunday, November 9, at eight o'clock when Beverly Bertha Frost, daughter of Earl E. Frost of Little River, Digby County and the late Mrs. Frost, exchanged the sacred marriage vows with Eric Alan O'Brien, son of Mrs. Bertha O'Brien, 444 Prince Street.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Ronald Dempsey, minister of the church. Mrs. D. E. MacPhee played the nuptial music on the piano.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, dressed charmingly in her street length dress of white and silver rayon tulle, with matching long sleeves and long length veil held in place by a crown of pearls. Her hair was styled in a short, wavy bob and she carried a nosegay of red roses.

They were attended by the groom's brother, Don O'Brien and his wife of Dartmouth. Mrs. O'Brien was attired in a cream colored crepe dress, with a matching jacket and gold slippers. Her flowers were a nosegay of pink carnations and white gladioli.

Following the ceremony there was a reception at the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. Bertha O'Brien, 444 Prince Street, for 25 guests. The room was decorated with red and white streamers.

The bride's table was covered with a white linen cloth and placed with the four tier cake, topped with white wedding bells.

Mrs. O'Brien, mother of the groom, wore a pink lace piece dress, with a corsage of pink roses.

A buffet lunch was enjoyed.

Mrs. Marshall MacLellan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melba Barrett, Truro, acted as the groom's second.

Messages of congratulations were received from the groom's sister and husband, Captain and Mrs. Ted Taylor of the Williams Air Force Base, Ontario, and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ken O'Brien of Toronto.

Mr. Carl O'Brien, the groom's brother, and his wife, Mrs. O'Brien, of the Maritime Hotel, Digby, were the hosts.

Out of town guests were from Little River, Watford, Digby County; Bridgetown, Wolfville, Halifax, Sherbrooke, and Truro.

Following a brief wedding trip to Halifax and Dartmouth the happy couple have taken up residence at 444 Prince Street, Truro. The groom is on the staff of the Brookfield Creamery Limited.

Hold Unique Fishermen's Service

An impressive service, dedicated especially to fishermen was presented by Rev. W. Nelson in the United Baptist Church, Tuesday, Sunday evening.

Mr. Nelson's theme, "Great Is Thy Faithfulness," was chosen from his text found in Lamentations 3:23 which he felt held special significance for fishermen. He said God has brought fishermen through storms, hardships and risks peculiar to the lives of fishermen and that He will continue to do so.

The speaker pointed out that the seven of the twelve disciples who were chosen to be apostles were fishermen and that He will continue to do so.

business, and back to the negotiation, the classroom or the street?

The answer, I think, is an equivocal "Yes." We are to have the thing. That's the only way in which we can maintain one of our few great in Canadian traditions:
reading the "Thi." We have forever two things in addition since pleasure days, "Thi" and "Thi", and we are glad to stop now.

Spreading the "Thi" is not without its merits, provided it is done with tact and timing, a witness.

On Friday night we were supposed to go to the annual of the thing. Every town has one. Five percent of the men and to go, and 100 percent (the women). It's a chance for them to wear their wig make a man spring for a masking new dress, and discuss for the next week what ridiculous things the other men were wearing.

After waiting and waiting for about three days, I was looking forward to it as one might look forward to the annual. So, I was I then even the thought of having to change my shoes made me feel lame.

That was had enough. But somehow I'd been dressed into having an after-dinner party with 30 people grilling and drink. I didn't see how I could get through it alive.

Yes, Virginia there is a Santa Claus. To my delight my horse my wife woke up Friday morning looking and singing and as for the "Thi" I I'd spread her the "Thi." She sang on the afternoon hoping for a miracle recovery, but then had to lie in the towel and cancel everything.

That probably saved my life and about $100 as the "Thi" can't be all bad.

Alcoholics Need Family Counselling

You are not getting at the root of the problems by a fine or jail term, said Miss Margaret Tupper, Public Health Nurse, who addressed the Digby Alcoholics Research Foundation on Wednesday.

The greatest need is Family Counselling, Miss Tupper ventured.

Miss Tupper's address dealt with the approach to the alcoholic problem in nursing. Often a neighbor will refer the nurse to a problem case, or to a child who is not doing well in school, bottles lying around and men home from work intoxicated are ways in which the nurse can be informed of a drinking problem.

"One of the familiar results of a drinking problem," Miss Tupper said, "is 'shortness of money to work with' but she also indicated the detrimental effects otherwise to the life of the child. Of course, Miss Tupper said, there are other family problems besides drinking but a certain percentage are caused from drink."

In a drinking family Miss Tupper said the children are poorly nourished, they do not achieve, they are aggressive and pushed around. The family is often isolated in the community, neighbours become critical and there is generally a going "home to mother."

Attending the meeting was Mr. Fitzpatrick with the Alcoholics Research Foundation in Nova Scotia who also spoke at the Upgrading Classes at the Digby Regional High School on Wednesday evening.

V. G. Cardozo, who chaired the afternoon meeting, led a discussion on counselling for family problems.

Bible Students Conduct Service

Students from Bethany Bible College, Sussex, N. B. presented a musical recital in the Baptist Church hall, Westport on Saturday evening, November 29th. They were accompanied by their music professor, Mr. J. Charles Mealy who was pianist.

Those heard in quartette, trio and in solo were Elaine Alward, Manford Bronson, Eddie Bridgman and Fred Francis. The college representative, Mr. Fancyl read a portion of the 2nd chapter of St. Luke's gospel.

Rev. George Sharpe welcomed the students and gave a short talk. David Ingersoll in his message based his theme on Isaiah 64:8. The young men are all first and third year Bible students at Bethany.

FISHERMEN'S SERVICE

(Continued from page 2) ciples which Jesus chose to assist Him in His Christian mission during His earthly sojourn were fishermen. He also commented on the fact there are twenty-three references pertaining to fishermen, nets, etc. contained in the Bible.

As an added significant feature of the service, two hymns "Sailing On," arranged for the choir and "The Chalice" for a duet, were beautifully sung. Both hymns, according to Mrs. Grafton Outhouse, church member, were composed by Leonard Wilcox, a seventy year old fisherman of Seal Cove, Grand Manan. Said Mrs. Outhouse, "He sent the hymns over here to be sung in our church. He wished to learn people's opinion regarding the hymns. Everyone liked them, they found very impressive."

For the service, and in keeping with the theme, the table in the church was beautifully decorated with lobsters, nets, buoys, salt pillock and other items associated with fishing.

MELANSON - In loving memory of a dear son Alvie Omer Barry who passed away December 3, 1967.

Two long and lonely years have passed Since our great sorrow fell The shock that we received that night

No one can ever tell, God gave us strength to meet it, And courage to bear the blow. But what it meant to lose you

No one will ever know. Sadly missed by mother, sister, brothers and uncle Charlie Melanson. 171c

WESTCOTT - In loving memory of Mrs. Wilfred Westcott who passed away Dec. 13, 1969.

NEWELL - In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Ralph who lost his life in a highway accident, December 19, 1965.

Our hearts still ache with sadness. Secret tears still flow, What it means to lose you, Who will ever know.

When we are sad and lonely And everything goes wrong, We seem to hear you whisper "Cheer up and carry on, Ed."

Each time we see your photos You seem to smile and say, "Don't cry, I'm only sleeping. We'll meet again some day."

Always remembered and loved by Mom, Dad and brothers, Ernest and Philip. 171c

We lost a mother with a heart of gold, Who meant more to us than wealth untold.

With only memories for all in need. She was a mother so very rare Content in our home, she was always there.

The wound is deep, it will not heal. Only those who have lost know how we feel.

There are others, yes we know But she was ours and we loved her so.

God takes the best for reasons divine. But memories will last till the end of time.

We revere your name and think of you often God Bless you dear mother, You are never forgotten.

Winner in Annapolis County was Sharon Elizabeth Brooks, CFB Cornwallis who graduated from Annapolis Regional Academy.

The announcement was made this week by His Honor Lt. Gov. Victor deB. Oland.

This year for the first time since the medals were initiated in 1965, they are awarded on the results of grade 12, rather than grade 11 provincial examinations. The change has been made because the writing of the provincial examinations of grade 11 became optional this year. Winners of medals in grade 11 in 1968 were not eligible for similar awards this year.

REVIEW DEVELOPMENT PASTURE LAND

A comprehensive review of the development of the Digby Cooperative Pasture was given by the president of the pasture group, Graham Saunders, at the annual meeting held at the Digby Community Mental Health Centre.

In his report Graham noted that exploratory meetings with regard to the development of a cooperative pasture had first been held in 1964. After a number of these meetings, at which a full study of the organization of cooperative pastures had been undertaken, formal steps were taken to establish the Digby Cooperative Pasture Ltd. in 1965.

Mr. Saunders stated in the presentation of the report that the 300 acre pasture properly acquired by the group each year since its establishment in 1965. Only 25 head of cattle were pastured in the first year of operation, he said. This year the number had increased to 85 and it was hoped to further increase the number to 125 next year.

In addition to increasing the number of cattle pastured, Mr. Saunders said, the pasture group had also cleared and lined and fertilized pasture land and fenced the outcrop area. At present negotiations are underway to add some sixty acres of marshland to the pasture acreage. This addition will mean that more than one hundred acres of cleared pasture land will be available in the 300 acre pasture area.

Mr. Saunders said the pasture group was appreciative of the assistance received from the provincial department of agriculture and financial help received through ARDA. This, he said, had amounted to some 12,000 over the past four years. ARDA assistance would end, he stated, in the spring of 1970 and from then on the pasture group would be on its own. He said he felt confident the operation would continue to succeed.

He noted the group planned to add a breeding service to its program next year and said the next five years of operation would be vital to the whole program.

Leo Cox, supervisor of community pastures for the province, told the meeting he was tremendously impressed with their enthusiasm. He complimented them on the success to date and said they had done an excellent job in developing the pasture. He said the land is now getting in good condition and with the addition of extra cleared land the operation would expand. He recommended the adoption of rules and regulations governing use and operation of the pasture to avoid conflict.

In his remarks Mr. Cox paid tribute to the chairman and officers of the community pasture co-op. The leadership given by the group, he said, was vital to its success. He noted that although ARDA assistance would cease in March, the group was to be congratulated for their success to date. He noted that time taken in the beginning to thoroughly familiarize the members with the pasture program had been valuable.

pasture could still be supplied very cheaply. Allen Thomas, Arthur Gates and Adolbert VanBuskirk were appointed a committee to review by-laws and regulations and to bring in a state of affairs. William LeFort, county agricultural representative, followed the meeting he would gladly assist the committee in their work. Mr. LeFort commented that the pasture group on their success to date. He noted that time taken in the beginning to thoroughly familiarize the members with the pasture program had been valuable.

CROMWELL WINS TROPHY SECOND YEAR

R. Baden Powell, Digby M.L.A., presented the M. E. Jamerson Trophy, signifying top honours in the home gardening contest sponsored by the Weymouth Falls Community Council, to Nelson Cromwell at the second annual award night program in the Weymouth Falls area centre. The presentation by Mr. Powell marks the second successive year the Jamerson trophy has been won by Nelson Cromwell.

Ralph Morehouse, regional supervisor for the Department of Agriculture, presented the second place award, the Jones Bottling Trophy, to Harold Cromwell. Third place award, the Weymouth Motors Cup, was presented to Elmer Jarvis by Mr. Morehouse.

In an address following the presentation of the awards Mr. Morehouse, who was introduced to the gathering by S. E. Boney, social development officer of the Department of Welfare, congratulated the community council for sponsoring the gardening contest. He pointed out the benefits of raising foodstuffs, both for home consumption and for sale. He noted that during depression years it had been people who lived on the land and near the sea and who could supplement a meagre cash income with foodstuffs gathered from the soil and the sea who had suffered less hardship in these years.

After the presentation of the agricultural awards the newly elected executive officers of the Weymouth Falls Youth Club were installed into office by Robert Baldwin, principal of the Weymouth Consolidated School. Mr. Baldwin called upon the new officers to provide sound leadership and be called upon the members of the club to support their elected leaders.

Installed into office by Mr. Baldwin were Colbert Jarvis, President; Stephen Jarvis, Vice President; Melita Jarvis, Secretary and Henry Bishop, Treasurer.

Miss Joan Hattie, supervisor of social development and rehabilitation for the Department of Welfare, who was introduced to the meeting by Victor Cardozo of Digby, spoke of the great progress made by the people of Weymouth Falls in the past two years.

In her remarks Miss Hattie listed some of the recent accomplishments which she said had been made possible by the efforts of the Community Council. These included, she said, the cleaning and beautifying of the cemetery; organization of Boy Scouts; provision of the area centre for youth to use; the renovation and restoration of the community centre building and the holding of a summer bazaar.

Miss Hattie said she was impressed also with the plans of the community council for the future. She noted that these included construction of an outdoor skating rink, building of a playground and building of a community library. She said she had greatly enjoyed her association with some of the young people from the community when they had visited and made a tour of Halifax.

MRS. JARVIS ORGANIZES PROGRAM

Mrs. Ralph Jarvis, left in the picture was the spearhead for a Variety Concert at Weymouth Falls on Thursday evening which raised $226 for the St. Matthew's Church organ fund. More than 300 attended the program when special guests were Bob Luckhurst, Miss Kay Ramsey, Darrell Dawes, Stewart Hogan and Foster Mar of CPBC radio station in Saint John, N. B. In the picture next to Mrs. Jarvis is Mr. Hogan and right is Mr. Felix Ducrest, Weymouth, at whose home the four were entertained before going to the Goodwin Hotel. Mrs. Jarvis, welcomed the guests and patrons of the show and then called on R. Baden Powell to convey greetings. Mr. Powell also thanked the guests, performers and audience at the close of the program and made special mention of the 50th anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Cromwell. He especially mentioned the case with which the Weymouth Falls people put on a program with the store of talent.

The second part of the program was a sing-song on hymns with special numbers and conducted by Cyril Middleton, Weymouth.

Mr. Lockhardt thanked the Weymouth Falls people for inviting the CPBC people and expressed the hope to be back (Please turn to page 10)

Confirmation Service At Digby

On Sunday, November 23, The Right Reverend George F. Arnold, Bishop Suffragan of Nova Scotia, visited the parishes of Digby-Weymouth to administer the Sacrament of Confirmation to 25 young people and one adult.

The candidates, representing the Digby and Weymouth parishes, gathered at Trinity Anglican Church at 10:00 a.m. and after the opening hymn were presented to the Bishop for confirmation. During this service, the scriptures were read by the rector, Rev. George Morris. Each candidate was confirmed by name. Immediately following this service there was a celebration of the Holy Eucharist by the Rector, and Bishop Arnold gave the address. Addressing himself to the whole congregation and particularly the newly confirmed members, the bishop stressed the importance of the difference between just being a member of the church, and being a disciple of the church. The first did not really commit a person, but the second of these, that of discipleship really committed a person to work and do that work to the best of his ability.

A total of one hundred fifty persons were present to hear his address, and to join in the singing which was led by the choir of all the parishes of the area. Mrs. Kenneth Han Kinson, organist of St. Peter's Parish at Weymouth was the special organist for the service which ended with the congregational singing of the hymn-Saviour, Thy Dying Love Thou Givest Me.

Poetry Corner

Unknown To The Next

A father beside his child is big
A mother beside her love is small
The world beside God is but a speck
Good beside evil is the strong hand.
Man is, but a creation from dust!
A package made of good and bad seeds
A mixed bundle of both right and wrong
A grown mind searching for the lost half
Woman is both tenderness and pain
Strong hatefulness and destroying faith
Woman is the weak receiving part
The dreams and nightmares of growing life
Children are the products of two halves
They're the hopes and fears of coming times
They're the teachers unknown by man
They're the right innocent way of life
Man, woman, and the part of two Each a live world unknown to the next
Each too blinded by his own to see
That the other has the part he lacks.

Plan To Attend Minor Hockey This Saturday

A THOUGHT STARTER

BY RONALD C. MACCORMACK

The landscape is a blaze of whiteness in the winter sun. City streets are lined with piles of snow. Traffic is confused. Some folks consider this the best season; to others it is the worst.

The white blanket is a teacher of several lessons. Broken dead foliage is covered from view. Pot holes, cracked pavement and other unsightly conditions are out of sight.

Life, stained and wrecked by sin, needs such a covering before God is able to look upon us and to receive us into His presence. His unending grace is the blanket we need. The Prophet Isaiah puts it beautifully, "Though your sins be as scarlet they shall be as white as snow." Snow was the whitest thing he knew. It is the symbol of purity and wholeness.

Some have never found this covering for their broken lives. It comes not like the snow with the vagaries of the weather, but by asking for it of Him Who can supply richly.

What can cover the social evils: racial bigotry, international stress, alcoholism, broken homes and human suffering? The grace of God is the answer. What can erase doubts and inner fears? God can do it. What can bring those who reject the Saviour, to want Him and His gift of Life? Heaven's answer is the only one.

Just because CBC radio personalities are heard rather than seen doesn't mean they're unattractive. Take the foursome pictured here, for example. The radiant smile of Juliette is already known to many; she's a regular on the Toronto edition on After Noon. The young man next to her is John Kasner, the bright new host of the Saturday teen show, Action Set. Behind him is part and petite Helen Hutchison, a well come addition to the weekday series Matinee. Beside her is Clyde Gilmour of the longtime program favorite just turned 13, Gilmour's Albums. A talented group — and good looking, too!

already in crisis proportions. He said a casual study had revealed there are in excess of forty organizations and agencies providing services of various types in the town of Digby. This number becomes doubled with the addition of the county area.

Dr. R. A. Armstrong, executive director of the Digby community mental health centre, pointed out that there are three levels of prevention: treating people already ill, searching for and finding people who are in the early stages of illness and who can benefit from treatment, and the treatment or guidance of people who are not yet ill who are under some kind of stress. This stress, he said, need not be psychological but can be financial, educational, social or from some other cause. He said there are many crises in life and listed some examples such as birth, beginning school, entering college, the first job, marriage, death. All of these events in the life of a person produce stress and in great crisis situations in which man needs help it is to successfully deal with it.

Referring to housing, Dr. Armstrong said of the families studied 20% had very poor housing and 6% lived in housing that could be considered dangerous. 10% of the housing was poor and 10% adequate. In the matter of health, he said 26% had severe acute or chronic health problems. Nineteen persons had either been psychotic or were under treatment for psychotic conditions and of the 200 individuals in the families studied, 31 were suffering from some form of mental illness.

vince, Dr. Armstrong said, in that we have a system of ten community mental health centres across the province, providing the best coverage of any area in North America. Even so, he said, the problems of maintaining mental health are vast. While there is a need to deal with the individual on a face to face basis, there is also need to deal with communities and populations.

Dr. Armstrong said that a year ago the community mental health centre in cooperation with the departments of health and welfare had conducted a study of a random sample of 51 multi-problem families. This study had revealed, he said, the extent of the problems faced by these families and the multiplicity of the problems. He said some 25% were living on some form of social assistance; 12% were in receipt of disability allowance; 10% were supported by families; 12% had only casual labour and another 12% seasonal; 10% were supported by families; 4% had no support and 12% were at the managerial or skilled level. Referring to housing, Dr. Armstrong said of the families studied 20% had very poor housing and 6% lived in housing that could be considered dangerous. 10% of the housing was poor and 10% adequate. In the matter of health, he said 26% had severe acute or chronic health problems. Nineteen persons had either been psychotic or were under treatment for psychotic conditions and of the 200 individuals in the families studied, 31 were suffering from some form of mental illness.

Dr. Armstrong also reviewed percentage figures for the families studied as these related to educational status, persons in maintaining households and relationships within families. He also noted difficulties experienced by the families in relation to the communities in which they lived.

The variety of difficulties suffered by the multi-problem families studied, Dr. Armstrong said, added up to a pretty dreadful situation. It also pointed up the need for the involvement of many agencies in dealing with these problems. Unfortunately, he said, the people most deprived are the least likely to seek out help. This is one of the reasons why help for crisis situations must be made readily attainable.

Dr. Armstrong said the mental health agencies do not want to replace other organizations but feel strongly the need for coordination of all services and the provision of a place where all these could be brought together. He said he viewed the mental health organizations as one of two of the spokes in a wheel involving all community service organizations. At the centre of this wheel, he said, would be a community services centre backed up by a council composed of professional and lay people from all the agencies.

Speaking of the community services centre, Dr. Armstrong said he saw such a centre not only as a place where people could go for help in any crisis but also as a place where social activities for the elderly could be held; where patients of their families could get together in a social atmosphere. He said he saw it also as a place where youngsters of their families could get together in a social atmosphere. Notes from Bird Haven

Returning home one afternoon, as I opened the door I was greeted by a loud Quack, Quack. There in the porch was a large multicoloured duck — no note attached, so I had no idea who had brought him.

I put him in a large box with a dish of water and fed him some bread. He would eat anything, even my fingers.

He had a few ruffled feathers and a few spots of blood on his head. I decided he had been caught by some animal.

I went through every bird book trying to find out what kind of a duck he was, but to no avail.

In the morning I had a phone call from the hydro boys, saying they rescued it from a dog on King Street.

I couldn't think of anyone in that section who kept ducks. After many calls to Digby Neck station, trying to find the owner, I finally called the town road men for help. Sure enough, they knew who kept ducks. He belonged to a resident on Victoria Street. That afternoon he was returned to his rightful owner.

Several days after I answered the phone, a male voice said, "You got my duck?" to which I replied, No.

Two casualties at Bird Haven last week. My third Oriole died. She apparently had been living on meager rations for some time as she was very thin. The second was a Robin brought in with a broken leg and badly mauled. Although he was fed lots of worms he just couldn't make it.

Lois of birds in the yard today. Still one Oriole in the North end of town not caught.

Visited my squirrel friends in Brighton yesterday. The squirrels were having their breakfast. Five dear little chickadees came to my hand and actually took shelled peanuts from my mouth. Shows what can be done by having a little patience.

The annual Christmas bird count is scheduled for December 20th to January 1st. This is done all over North America each year. More about this later.

A little thought for Christmas time:

God bless the little things this Christmastide

All the little wild things that live outside.

Little cold robins and rabbits in the snow.

Give them good faring and a warm place to go.

All the little young things for his sake who died,

Who was a little thing at Christmastide.

Merry Christmas to all from the Birds at Bird Haven.

FLASH! — Just caught another Oriole, but there is still another one out there.

ANOTHER FLASH — A North End Oriole caught on Tuesday afternoon.

In all, 60 adults will write the battery of five tests to qualify for certificates at any of these four levels — 9, 10, 11 and 12. A few of the candidates are from Yarmouth Co. but the majority are from the Clare area. Only 12 candidates are from the Municipality of Digby.

It is recognized that many of the adults who did not finish high school may have acquired, through formal or informal education experiences, an educational maturity at or above the high school level. These tests are designed to help determine the level.

Any interested persons may receive further details from their local evening course administrator or by contacting Mr. Deane at the Provincial Building in Yarmouth.

CHRISTMAS

at future meetings, a representative from the town council would be invited to attend.

The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. P. Robert, as assistant treasurer and plans were made to purchase part for the benches used in summer at the garden area, near the Admiral Digby well. Mrs. Frankland adjourned future members.

Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford A. Robbins, of South's Cove, were honored by their children as they held an "At Home" on Saturday afternoon and evening, December 13th. Over one hundred friends, neighbors and relatives called throughout the day.

Guests were greeted by a granddaughter of the couple, Miss Jo Anne Robbins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glendon Robbins, who was in charge of their supper.

Miss Roselyn Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Young, and grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robbins, was in charge of the guest book, which was signed in gold ink. The golden theme was carried throughout the house with streamers ascending from the table to the center light and a large gold bell which hung above the three-tiered wedding cake topped by gold bells. Gold center and holders also adorned the table. The honorees were seated in decorated chairs as they received their guests.

Refreshments were served throughout the day by their daughters and daughters-in-law, assisted by members of the Ladies Auxiliary of the South's Cove Baptist Church.

The honorees received many lovely gifts, bouquets, and a gold money tree from their children and grandchildren. There was also a money tree from members of the community. A letter from Premier G. I. Smith and a framed certificate from the Province of Nova Scotia was also received by Mr. and Mrs. Robbins.

During the evening hour Pastor Charles Milbury, of the Smith's Cove Baptist Church, spoke eloquently of the bride and groom of fifty years. He told of Clifford Robbins' membership of over fifty years in the church and church choir, as a member of the Boards of Deacons and Trustees through out these years, and of being a member of the men's choir formerly led by Rev. George Brydon. Mr. Milbury continued that he had known the Robbins for only about four years, but of how they have become a source of inspiration to him during this time. He spoke of God's blessing them with seven children and their families and closed with prayer.

Mrs. Robbins responded by thanking the Pastor and all of their many friends who had come to honor them, and especially thanked their children, grandchildren and great grandchildren. She also spoke of their blessings in their daughters and son-in-law who complete the family. Clifford Robbins, native of Bear River who moved to Smith's Cove at the age of 18 years, later married Edna Rice, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Rice of Lunenburg, at the home of the bride on the Sigsbee Road on December 16, 1919. The late Rev. F. H. Bone, then pastor of the Bear River Baptist Church, performed the ceremony. Joseph Harris, of Bear River and now in Washington state, was organist. Bestman for Mr. Robbins was the late Fred Rice of Bear River.

Mr. Robbins brought his bride to the home of his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Robbins, in Smith's Cove where they lived until this past year when they moved into their new home just above the old one in the Cove. They both became members of the Baptist Church shortly afterwards.

Mr. and Mrs. Robbins have four daughters and three sons: Muriel (Mrs. William Porter), Halifax; Kathleen (Mrs. Gerald Young), Smith's Cove; Nancy (Mrs. Russell Taylor), Truro; Sheila (Mrs. Kimber), Halifax; Chesley, Glendon and Otis, all of Smith's Cove. They have twenty-two grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Smith's Cove
Mr. and Mrs. Ted Sanford of Halifax were recent guests of Mrs. Sanford's sister, Mrs. "Bess" Winchester, and Mrs. "Bess" Winchester, and Mrs. "Bess" Winchester. Friends and neighbors helped Bob M. Winchester celebrate his birthday on Sunday evening. Among those present

Second place was won by Port Maitland, Yarmouth County. In a straight community improvement appearance of property, first place was won by Lynn's Brook, Pictou County and second place, by Frenchville, Cape Breton.

The two first prizes are $200.00 each and the second is $100.00 each. Mrs. John Daniels, and her committee: Mrs. G. A. Beg and Mrs. Alex Keith have the century farm history nearly finalized for the prize. She urged all members to see how many would be required for each county. This will be a book containing the histories of the century farms in Nova Scotia from 1807 to 1907.

Boat Towed To Port

The Bay View lifeboat was called out shortly before 8 o'clock Sunday morning to assist a fishing boat near shore at Turner's Eddy on the west side of Digby Gut entrance. The 39 foot Cape Island boat, "Barbara and Lorna" Captain Percy Apt and Percy Haynes had been enroute to sea trawls on the low tide in the Bay of Fundy when their propeller became entangled in some floating nylon rope. The northerly wind drove the boat nearer shore where the crew anchored until assisted. The lifeboat towed the fishing boat to their home port at Victoria Beach.

Yuletide

Bright was that star of the long ago,
 That shone o'er the Judean hills;
 That beckoned wise men from afar,
 And all men of good will.

O Yuletide, blessed Yuletide...
 How yonder star doth shine,
 O'er all the world this blessed night,
 To cheer your heart and mine!

Can such a beam, so pure and holy
 In incandescent light to earth, and sea,
 The need of men and nations,
 In their extremity

In that lowly manger at Bethlehem,
 Where the hope of the world was born;
 God's richest blessing to the world He gave
 On that first Christmas morn!

Did He not give that star to guide,
 For all mankind to see;
 That all might know His saving grace,
 Through the Christ of Calvary?

Eternity still marches on,
 The handwriting is on the wall;
 With the ineffable shape of things to come,
 God stands over all!

Holds Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of St. Anne's Guild, of Smith's Cove met at the home of Mrs. Clara Perry in Conway on Monday evening, December 8th.

The meeting opened with prayers by President Clara Perry followed by the minutes of the last meeting delivered by secretary, Jo Curry, and the treasurer's report by Penny Goff.

It was decided to give the Sunday School children their party on December 28th at 7 p.m. Many items of interest were discussed. Mrs. Goff was disturbed about the night drivers who refuse to dim lights only one out of ten do so, and expressed this as a shocking fact since bright lights could be the cause of a serious accident.

Following the regular business an election of officers for 1970 was held. Clara Perry was re-elected as president. Wendy James, vice president; Ann Robinson, secretary and News Correspondent; Penny Goff, re-elected treasurer; Frances Rudolph, re-elected as card convener, and Jo Curry, in charge of devotions, Mabel Turned, honorary president. The meeting ended with prayers by president hostess, Clara Perry, followed by refreshments served by the hostess.

Help From Canada

Marie Paces, a nine-year-old Bellevue girl has been "financially adopted" by the people of Chatham, New Brunswick, with proceeds from their recent "Wine for Welfare" sale. She is the first child in Digby to be adopted through Foster Parents Plan, which has just extended its operations to the South American country. Marie lives with her parents and two young sisters in a one-room mud hut in a slightly shakier area of La Paz, the capital of Bolivia. They have been helped by the Canadian people who took the above picture. Marie is a small, but sturdy, girl with long wavy brown hair and blue eyes. She is going to her first grade class at school. She is typical of the many children in the underdeveloped Third World who need help only from the people of the First World. (New Brunswick Foster Parents Plan, 1200 Stanley St., Montreal 166)

Jailer 45 Years

Alpheo T. Comeau of Little Brook was presented with a silver tray in appreciation of his faithful services as jailer for the Municipality of Clare in Digby County for 45 years. The presentation was during the monthly session of the Municipal Council by warden Bernard LeBlanc on behalf of the councillors.

Mr. Comeau was appointed jailer on November 18, 1924 by Sheriff Bishop of Digby. He was a farmer and later also sold meat from house to house for 20 years. He served under four Municipal Clerks, Anselme Comeau, Isaac LeBlanc, and others.

Active Board Of Trade Man Passes

Funeral services were held Sunday for Bennett W. Iner at St. George's Anglican Church, Moncton, N. B. Born in Halifax, he was the son of the late Oswald and Cecile Maude (Williams) Iner.

Mr. Iner, 55, vice-president and general manager of the Moncton Publishing Co., died at his home in Moncton Friday.

Mr. Iner was vice-president for New Brunswick of the Atlantic Provinces Economic Council, a past president of the Maritime Provinces Board of Trade which brought him to the Valley area during his term of office; a director of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and a director of The Canadian Press, the national news gathering cooperative.

Surviving are his wife the former Elizabeth Oakes; two daughters, Joanne Elizabeth (Mrs. W. J. Lane), Dark Cove, New Brunswick; and one son, Andrew, Waterloo, Ontario.

Camille Comeau, the present Clerk, T. Melville Comeau. The largest number of prisoners held during any one year during his 45 years as jailer was 65.

In the early days, box stoves in each cell which burned wood, were the mode of heating. Box stoves also heated the court room in the same building and the jailer's bedroom.

Six prisoners escaped during the time Mr. Comeau was jailer but their freedom was of short duration.

Most frequent sentences served by the prisoners were for intoxication or infraction of the liquor law or bootlegging. Two murderers were held in the jail until their cases came to trial.

Mr. Comeau believes the municipal building is over 65 years, that is the main problem because an addition to the building was made some years ago.

It has been several years since the jail was officially used as such. Prisoners now are confined to the Digby jail which now serves the entire county. It is expected that the single cell soon will disappear with remodeling of the Municipal building.

Robins And Caterpillars

It was on December 11, near the Scallop Bowl in Conway that Freeman Wilson saw a nice brown, furry caterpillar crawl on the ground. The Digby Courier saw proof of the little creature. Although like good old Santa, "all covered with fur from the top of his hat to the tip of his toes" this caterpillar is a little more out of season than Santa.

Mrs. Harold Small on Sydney St., Digby, called the Courier on Friday to report she had seen a robin in her back yard that day.

This quarter's somewhat sober appearance belies the fact that they are four of the funniest people in Canadian radio. Peter Cullen, Ted Zeigler, Barrie Baldaro and Joan Stuart (clockwise) comprise the cast of Funny You Should Say That, CBC radio's rib-tickling comedy show, heard Sundays at 5:03 p.m. EST. Described as "a kind of updated Spring Thaw out of The Goon Show" by laugh-in with overtones of 'Playboy', Funny You Should Say That also features singer Sheila Graham and the Tony Chappell Orchestra.

Tomorrow's Hope

Man has reached new heights in 1969 by taking his first tentative steps on the surface of the moon. He has opened new vistas and new promise for the future through his energy and imagination. Back on old lady earth however, man in his automobile has progressed at a less promising pace. In his unthinking haste he at times tends to destroy the very environment and society he has worked so diligently to create. With good grace he will slow down in 1970 and enjoy that which he has created. (Nova Scotia Highway Department)

Youth Service At Digby Baptist

Last Sunday morning was observed as youth Sunday in the Digby Baptist Church. The members of the Senior Youth Fellowship took the various parts of the service: Responsive reading - Stella Robertson; Scripture - Robert MacCarlie; Prayer - Dwight Frankland; Children's Story - Andreane Pratt.

The guest singers for the day were Ian Richardson of Halifax and Sylvia Dukeshire of Bear River, who sang four religious folkstyle duets to regular accompaniment. Ian, in addition, did a solo number to organ accompaniment. "Follow Me" and "At The End of the Road."

The sermon, given by the pastor, was based around Jesus' parable of the pearl of great price, and the merchant who was willing to sell everything that he had in order to purchase it.

What Does Public Think?

Applications by Canadian railways to abandon certain passenger services are not about to be decided, but only the initial step which must be taken "so that the people of Canada can decide exactly how much passenger service they want, and how much they are prepared to pay for it."

This was one of the points made by J. W. C. Macbougall, vice-president of Canadian National, when he delivered a wide-ranging address on railway policies to the Montreal Board of Trade recently.

He spoke on the population density factors and increasing labor costs which pushed the expenditures on passenger trains up at a faster rate than ed with the celebration of Holy Communion.

Ian and Sylvia were guests of the Robertsons for the noon meal.

revenue could be increased, and on the competition of air travel over long distances. He went on:

"Canada will continue to have a passenger train service if the country is prepared to contribute directly to the cost as they do in the case of highways and airports. It has been realized that it is no longer fair to expect freight shippers who use railways to contribute through higher rates to losses on passenger trains. No one expects truckers to maintain non-profitable bus operations over their routes, in order to serve a public demand."

Mr. Macbougall went on to say that when Canadian National got rid of loss-making passenger services for which there was no public need it could think of equipping its remaining services with new lightweight equipment which could be supported by the tariff offering.

Hon. Don Jamieson, Minister of Transport, replying to a question from Louis B. Cullen, member of the House of Commons, advised that the gross collections for the year 1969-70 at Digby for wharfage fees was $30,351.84.

Another letter from Mr. Jamieson acknowledged information from Mr. Comeau in which Mr. Comeau indicated full support of numerous representations rejecting the application of C.P. Rail to discontinue railway passenger service between Halifax and Yarmouth, N. S.

Mr. Jamieson directed that the representation be brought to the attention of the appropriate officials for their careful consideration when dealing with the C.P.R.'s application for discontinuance.

MINNIS ASKS PERTINENT QUESTIONS RE CROSSING

Grant Minnis, executive secretary of the AVABT, has asked John Mullaly, Executive Assistant to the federal Minister of Fisheries, some pertinent questions regarding a crossing for Petite Passage. It all followed a resolution placed by Eugene Outhouse, Tiverton, on behalf of the Fishery Board. Trade at the semi-annual meeting of the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade and a further meeting of the Family Board at Freeport.

Mr. Minnis stated in a letter to Mr. Mullaly that while information in his file reveals a number of bridges are possible from an engineering standpoint and there are estimated costs for each type (which rise in cost every month of waiting) the economists do not give any comparative figures nor take into consideration other potentials for the region such as tourism, recreation, salt water fishing, etc. The questions asked by Mr. Minnis were (a) What percentage of the total N. S. fish landings come from this area? (b) Information is that from January to October 1969 21% of the total N. S. fish landings came from Digby Neck and Islands. (c) Landings of the area against P.E.I.'s landings?

Mr. Minnis also forwarded the resolution passed at the AVABT semi-annual to Hon.

I.W. Aikley and asked that over the past twenty years, this project has been passed back and forth between the Province and Federal Governments, the point in question being whether it was to be a bridge and thereby elevated as a highway extension or whether or not it was a causeway, thereby creating a safe harbour.

He said the fishing community of Digby Neck and the islands, with some justification, that they are being ignored and forgotten and as pointed out in the resolution, there are few, if any, communities in Nova Scotia who have a curfew imposed upon them every day in the year.

Wants South Western Nova Scotia Included In Growth Centre

A reply from Hon. Jean Marchand, Minister of Regional Economic Expansion, to Louis B. Comeau, M.P. on December 15th promised serious consideration to Mr. Comeau in his recommendation that South Western Nova Scotia be included in a growth centre.

In his letter to Hon. Mr. Marchand, Mr. Comeau said that during the past year South Western Nova Scotia has faced many setbacks in the area of economic expansion. Many of the post offices have either been closed or are in the process of being closed, he said and the railways are considering cancellation of passenger services. Air Canada has suggested that their Yarmouth operation be removed to Miramichi. In addition to this, the Department of Public Works seems to be cutting back on many projects for amenity reasons.

Mr. Comeau felt that the area has potential that is not being properly explored and he said he feels that the area could experience a tremendous growth in the tourist industry. Though other smaller industries could be induced to settle in the area, it seems highly unlikely that this will take place with the removal of the aforementioned basic services, Mr. Comeau argued.

The people too must be considered, Mr. Comeau said, and added that residents have no choice but to find employment elsewhere in order to enjoy the basic necessities of life which he said citizens of this country consider a right.

WARDEN OF DIGBY COUNTY QUESTIONS "DEMOCRACY" UNDER AMALGAMATION

(Pictou Advocate) When Premier G. F. Smith conducted a press conference in New Glasgow a few weeks ago, he was asked about amalgamation.

Mr. Smith regretted that there was not more enthusiasm for amalgamation but he suggested it would be advanced in certain areas. One mentioned was the Canso Causeway area.

Referring to Pictou County, the Premier suggested the four upper towns, New Glasgow, Stellarton, Trenton and Westville, would benefit from amalgamation.

Not all parts of Nova Scotia are happy about forms of amalgamation that have been introduced to date. The Annapolis-Digby area, for example, is one case in point. The Warden of Digby County has complained to the Minister of Municipal Affairs regarding the Regional Assessment Committee. His letter says:

"We are writing you in your capacity as Minister of Municipal Affairs seeking redress in what, in our opinion, is an intolerable situation."

"What possible chance does a wardens of a small municipality have to exercise his vote in a meaningful way on a committee composed of four members and two wardens with three mayors and one warden of the larger municipal unit?"

Amalgamation seems to suit the provincial authorities as long as there are no complaints. However, when complaints are made by a larger municipality the provincial authorities often buckle under and enter to the largest municipality.

For example, one recent report, the Jones Report for regional development, was made for the Halifax area. Halifax was not satisfied with the recommendations and thus little or nothing is being done to implement the recommendations.

There are indications that some smaller municipalities are beginning to stand up for themselves. They notice that when the bigger municipalities swing their weight the authorities at Halifax back down.

Christmas In The Churches

Grace United, Digby

Both senior and junior choirs of Grace United Church, Digby, provided the Christmas music on Sunday morning. The senior choir rendered the anthems, Norwegian Carol, Nowell, the junior choir sang We Would See Jesus and the C.G.I.T. choir sang O Holy Night. The senior and junior choirs rendered Star Of The East. The choir was under the direction of Mrs. R. H. Hughes, Mrs. Bryson Denton, and Mr. Norman Wright.

Organists were Mrs. Maxine Bain, North Range, and Miss Nancy Lee Rice, Digby.

Rev. R. H. Hughes preached on the three essentials of the Christmas story, viz, the star, the angels and the Child. The star was given to those who were seeking the light (the wise men); the angels came to those working in the dark (the shepherds) and the Child came to those living in the dark to dispel the darkness.

He related the Christmas story of old to modern day. The Grace United church was fittingly adorned for the festive season by the C.G.I.T. girls under the direction of Mrs. Bryson Denton, Mrs. R. H. Hughes and Mrs. Donald Plett.

A Christmas Eve Vesper Service will be conducted at Grace United on Wednesday evening under the auspices of the United Church Women.

C.G.I.T. — Under the direction of Mrs. Bryson Denton and Mrs. R. H. Hughes, the C.G.I.T. Vesper Service was held on Sunday evening at Grace United Church, Digby. Miss Heather Halliday, president, welcomed the audience and Miss Deirdre Dalrymple was leader. Miss Nancy Lee Rice presided at the piano and accompanied Miss Halliday in the special number Let There Be Peace On Earth. Misses Phyllis Essex and Nancy Lee Rice took the special parts in the chorus The Song of the Shepherds (17th Century German melody). Another special number by the C.G.I.T. choir was the Negro Spiritual, The Baby Boy.

Christmas concert, in charge of the program was a committee chaired by Mrs. Oakley Turnbull, assisted by Mrs. William Clayton and Mrs. Donald MacDonald.

The concert opened with prayer by Rev. R. H. Hughes and by Greg MacDonald giving the Christmas Welcome after the chorus "Joy To The World". The Christmas Story was told by Margaret Cullen, and recitations were given by Ruth Bremner, Billy Troupe and Joy Flood.

A piano solo was rendered by Miss Joy King and two recorder pupils of Miss Nancy Lee Rice, played Silent Night. They were Mark Milne and Douglas Wilson.

A psalm, Hearts Gifts, was presented by Mrs. Turnbull and Joy Flood.

bull's class and the Story of Silent Night by the class of Miss Heather Halliday (C.G.I.T.).

The junior choir sang 'Tis Love Makes Our Christmas.

Exercises were presented by the classes of Miss Sandra Turnbull and Mrs. Clayton. Janet Creelman and Cheryl Bane; Mrs. MacDonald's class; Vincent Snook's class; and Milton Aikman's class.

Girls Bring Cheer To Five Families

Girls from the Baptist C.G.T. group bring cheer to five families this year at Christmas time. The families are of all races, colors and creeds and one of the families includes twelve children.

The girls are under the direction of Miss Dianne Faulstich, former Victorian Order Nurse, now with the Department of Public Health.

The girls have been enthusiastically knitting socks, making bedding and clothing, buying groceries since November. Their gifts included watches, sweaters, jewellery, skates, dolls, cosmetics and many things which bring pleasure to adults and children.

The Baptist Junior C.G.T. under Miss Charlotte Delaney has also packed boxes for Christmas.

Highlight of the Fundy Folkers Square Dance Christmas party held at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Digby, on Thursday evening was the presentation to Mrs. Dorothy Smythe, superintendent of the Children's Home, with gifts for the children of the Home.

The presentation was made by the president, Chipman Chisholm on behalf of the club. The gifts were left with warden to Mrs. Smythe as Mr. Smythe's gift.

In her acceptance of the gifts, Mrs. Smythe extended an invitation to all the square dancers to visit the Home and told many thrilling stories about the progress of the children.

Guests were present from Annapolis-Digby, Paradise, Greenwood, Island of Robb and others, among them being the Kingston prosident, Stan Sleppings and Mrs. Sleppings.

A buffet supper was served after which the remaining food was given to the Children's Home.

On Wednesday evening a group of Fundy Folkers held a Round Dance at the Parish Hall, Deep Brook when Ken and Donna Gibson, Greenwood, were the featured dancers.

Dr. F. G. Morehouse, Sandy Cove, Digby County, among others, received his Fifty Year Jewel recently, having been an active member of the Masonic Order for a period of fifty years. He is a member of Saint Andrew's Lodge, A.F. & A.M. No. 1, G.N.S. Halifax, N.S.

Dr. Morehouse also celebrated his 80th birthday very recently. We wish him many happy returns.

Middleton Seeks Apple Blossom Festival

Traditionally the Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival had been centred in Kentville until last year when the university town of Wolfville staged the children's parade and grand street parade for the first time and the Sunday service was moved from the Grand Pre National Park, outside Wolfville, to Fort Anne at Annapolis Royal. The town of Middleton, CFB Greenwood and the village of Kingston will make a bid for the 38 year old festival for 1970, it is understood.

The proposal suggests that convocation ceremonies for Queen's University in Wolfville in recent years, take place in Greenwood this year along with one or two of the three festival dances. It is also proposed that the parade be held in the Middleton Greenwood, Kingston area in 1970.

Mayor Dr. J. R. Kerr of Annapolis Royal said he hoped the Sunday service would be held in Annapolis again this year. Mayor Eric Nutt, Wolfville, and Mayor Glenora Smith of Digby both said their councils had not yet considered the 1970 festival.

The festival committee meeting was presided over by the president, Alex Buchanan.

About This and That

A Lot Of Christmas Issues

The next issue of The Digby Courier which comes off the press will be dated January 1, 1970. Can you imagine, the first issue of The Digby Courier came out way back in 1874? That makes the newspaper fully 95 years old or in other words this issue, our special 1969 Christmas issue is Volume CV No. 12. That makes a lot of Christmas issues since 1874 and has afforded The Digby Courier (or earlier The Digby Weekly Courier) editors many opportunities to write their advertisers, readers and correspondents a Merry Christmas. That is exactly what we want to do now, to wish all these and our staff, too, a special Merry Christmas, 1969 and a special forward look into a happy and prosperous year 1970. An editor and publisher, no matter how you look at it, is still only one person and it takes the cooperation of advertisers, readers, correspondents and the entire staff to make the newspaper worthy and a success.

Many changes have taken place in the old newspaper office since 1874. Personnel has changed (even to the present year) but we shall not at this supposed-to-be-joyous season of the year go into any "in memoriams". It is far more to the point to continue in 1970 with a brave, new and bright outlook and with the clear conscience that, as meagre as it might be, The Digby Courier and managers have served and stuck by each and every one of its servants as best it could under circumstances, whether those be death or otherwise, severed connections. The Digby Courier, as far back as we can recall, has had a policy to live and let live. We hope to continue.

Besides personnel, there have been other changes in The Digby Courier or Willis Print Ltd. which has been publishing The Digby Courier for many years. All the changes have been for the better. New machinery has been added. In fact, as we write these lines a brand new Heidelberg (press) is on its way from Montreal to us. This is for our commercial printing department which we find as necessary to the support of the newspaper as we find the newspaper necessary to the support of the printing department. Some few years ago we installed a newspaper press which served our purpose although not by any means new. It was debatable at the time whether or not to go into an expensive letter-press machine. Several companies had been suggesting to us that we could save money by having them print our newspaper by offset method which was coming into vogue. To be factual, we did have the Kentville Publishing Company do three issues for us while we changed presses and the process was not too undesirable as far as we were concerned. There were a few considerations. To continue after three weeks would have meant putting money into a suitable transportation vehicle and it would have been sending Digby money out of the place (something which our mayors and councillors and even merchants frown upon). Instead of supporting twelve to thirteen families or workers we could have got by with fewer numbers. There are serious considerations for the conscientiously civic minded. We might add that we were offered (gratis except freight) a fifteen year old letter-press machine from friends in Connecticut who went off and we reluctantly turned down the offer because of several indications since so many of our contemporaries less civic minded than ourselves, were advising us that they also were finding it convenient to have their newspapers printed in other shops by the offset method.

So who knows what might happen in the next 95 years! The "editor" has even started looking in the mirror to detect any "tired, haggard, oldish look" considering the offers to buy "you" out. One was a real temptation except that it was a half-way measure and it didn't need a Philadelphia lawyer to see that it was going to leave us with a printing plant minus the support of a newspaper to meet the commitments for a twelve force staff, town taxes and other obligations. We were tempted further to put ultimatums aside, to either go out whole hog or remain as we are for the present to give ourselves time to think. So here we are still with you and depending on your support for your hometown newspaper and your home Digby County.

May you have a Joyous, Happy and Beautiful Christmas and a Prosperous and Happy New Year.

Edith M. Wallis,
Editor.

Holiday Season Hazards

Canadians preparing for Christmas should pay particular attention to the tree and lighting, the Canada Safety Council says in a holiday message.

To keep the tree from becoming dangerously dry, it should be stood in a pail of water. The tree should be located away from fireplaces and heaters and be so situated that it does not block exits needed in an emergency.

Last year's lights should be checked carefully for cracks and breaks because they tend to deteriorate during storage, P. G. McLaren, General Manager of the Canada Safety Council's public section, warns.

Highly conducting tinsel should not be hung on the tree near electrical outlets. Householders planning extra fancy outside holiday lighting should have the wiring checked by a qualified expert, Mr. McLaren says.

Wrapping strewn around the living room constitutes another fire hazard and should be removed soon after the gifts are opened.

At the risk of sounding negative on such a festive occasion, the Council says parents should cut down the traffic in the kitchen when the bird and other delicacies are being prepared. A painful scald is much more negative.

Make sure the only casualty during the holiday season is the turkey, Mr. McLaren said, wishing everyone a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year on behalf of the Canada Safety Council.

P.S.: Christmas Is About Christ

by Bernice Wiebe

Mennonite Radio Mission Sorry about that! Hope I won't spoil your anticipations. Maybe I oughtn't to bring it up, but somehow I feel compelled.

You have seen Santa Claus? You have listened to all the carols at least one million times? You have belittled Rudolph's nose? You have heard the "Silver Bells"? This year, you even bought one of those beautiful, scintillating trees.

The gifts are piled high in the corner? Your freezer is jammed with goodies? The house is lit up with extra kilowatt-power?

Your bank-account has felt the pinch and the wallet contains many bills — but few of them are money?

Yesterday you got cross with your parents or your children?

The routine is the same, he hum — is there anything new about Christmas?

Sometimes, after you have finished a letter, you remember something important that must be added. You quickly put down a P.S. (postscript) and add this detail. I wonder if most of us don't need a P.S. in our Christmas-thoughts.

Just in case you've forgotten, that's the name of the game. All the paraphernalia, Santa and his reindeer, the bells, the carols, the gifts and the goodies, will be very new or exciting if we forget their real meaning.

The Christmas Carol: "With all the 'blings' that are added to Christmas it is often difficult to keep from thinking that the whole idea is a masterpiece."

But there is a consolation: "Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today, and forever."

Hebrews 13:8 (NRS) This doesn't mean that Jesus is old-fashioned or that anything is unchristian. It does mean that Jesus Christ is a permanent feature.

I would suggest that he is the same in three ways: (a) in simplicity: Christmas is mainly a story of simple events among simple people. A baby is born, shepherds are tending sheep, a poor couple stays in a stable.

(b) in doctrine: The angelic message proclaimed Jesus to be the Saviour of the world. Today, Jesus still comes to seek and to save the lost. He still calls sinners to repentance and faith. He still wants to fill us with power from God.

(c) in victory: When God became flesh in Jesus Christ, he sealed the fate of evil. God gave his son to win the world. The angels sang "glory." Anna and Simon paid their respects to the deliverer. The Wise Men came and paid homage. John the Baptist announced him.

Jesus was the Victor then and he is Victor now! He remains forever.

So, if your Christmas has the makings of a "drag", perhaps you need to take the P.S. seriously. Peek up into the heavens. God is waiting to visit you. This Christmas could be the most exciting time of your life. Not sorry about that!

Let's Reminisce

(From the Files of The Digby Courier)

December 1919 —

A little book bound in red morocco holds the kernel of the children's celebration the world over of Christmas. To look at it no one would dream its hidden words are even now vibrating in the hearts of countless children, yet the charm its bright covers embarks is perennial. It is the manuscript of the famous children's classic, "A Visit from St. Nicholas," written by Clement C. Moore almost a hundred years ago, and dedicated to his own children in particular, and, as it has since proved, to childhood the world over.

The lines were written as a Christmas gift for the author's two young daughters nearly a century ago, but it has since become a progressive gift to countless other girls and boys. Accompanying the original manuscript when it was presented to the society by T. W. Moore, a relative some fifty years ago, is a letter in which the writer tells how the verses came to be written and how it happened that they were eventually published.

Mr. Moore lived at the time in a handsome home overlooking the Hudson, at Ninth Avenue and Twenty-third Street. Then Chelsea, like Greenwich Village, formerly south, was quite remote from the city. Each was largely populated by the Dutch settlers from New Amsterdam. Living near his country seat was a portly, rubicund Dutchman, who suggested to him the idea of making Saint Nicholas the hero of a Christmas story for his children.

It was, however, with no thought of its ever being published that Mr. Moore wrote the poem, but the lines were copied by a relative of the author in her album. From it another copy was made by a friend of hers from Troy. Some time later, much to the surprise of Mr. Moore, it was for the first time published in a newspaper. By such small chance was this choice little poem saved for posterity.

In those days there was no such celebration of Christmas as is now the case, but Mr. Moore, having absorbed the ancient traditions of his Dutch neighbors, wove them into the poem for his children. He did more than that, for he built up around the central thought an interpretation which has gradually come to be our own. As someone has so aptly said, it has become so much part and parcel of our literature that it seldom occurs to people that it ever had an author. Since for nearly a hundred years American children have been fed on it, it has now become theirs in very truth.

Love Is Born

A pine-scented church,
Soft as a dove,
A child's angelic face,
Sang a song of love,
The Christ Child's birth,
When He came to dwell,
With man on earth.
A father's presence
Un-noticed there,
With head bowed down
In humble prayer.
A cold heart ennobled
By holy years
Melted by love
Love kindled that day
By angel fire,
Found a faith re-born
By the Christmas choir.

Christmas Flowers In Our Hearts!

(Farm News)

In these days of population and social pressure explosions it is remarkably difficult, even for those of us who have lived through most of the past half century of enlightenment, to easily accept what is happening to the Good World.

If in the modern past of urgency, one is able to step long enough to ponder such matters, Christmas, despite its seeming commercialization, is the one institution for good which has seemed to resist most successfully the onslaught of cynical change which seems to be relentlessly eroding the sound base of our Christian culture.

Strangely enough, it may be that regrettable (!) commercialization has helped to sustain this Holy institution in an era which excites and even fosters increasing immorality with the insidiously defuncting title of the "new morality".

At this time of year it somehow or other helps to find a simple story which rekindles anew the true spirit of the celebration of the Nativity of Jesus Christ.

Perhaps many may know this story, but in all our lifetime of reading we have never heard before the lovely story of the Christmas flower, the Poinsettia, passed on to us by R. S. "Dick" Morton, landscape specialist, with the title of the Holy Night.

This touching Christmas legend comes out of Mexico, the birth place of beautiful crimson Poinsettia, where it is known in Spanish as the Flor de Noche Buena (the Flower of the Holy Night).

The legend tells of the little Mexican girl Pepita who had no money to buy a gift to

A few weeks ago, as I mentioned in a previous column, I informed my Sunday School class, with some pride in my own great knowledge, that Saint Luke was a doctor.

"Well — er — uh — they cured people!" I stammered, in an attempt to cover up the fact that I had never thought about it.

Since then, I have looked up everything I could find about first century doctors.

Saint Paul is supposed to have died some time between 62 and 65 A.D., so it is reasonable to assume that his friend, Luke, lived around that time.

According to the information I have, if you had been Saint Luke's patient in, say, 45 A.D., you would have had a pretty good doctor. By that time, for instance, your doctor could have performed a good many complicated surgical procedures, with such cleanliness that there would have been a minimum danger of infection. Had you needed it, he could have amputated a limb, and could have probably fitted you with an artificial one. He would have washed your wounds out with boiled water or wine. Certain types of brain surgery had, by Saint Luke's time, already been performed for centuries. Undoubtedly the object of such operations was to release the evil spirits which dwell in the brain, but the operation would have been done with skill, and, probably with good, though perhaps accidental, results.

Your doctor's fees, in the year 45, and his code of ethics, would have been fixed by law. He would have learned his art under apprenticeship to a physician, and, perhaps, have attended some sort of college where a number of teachers would have instructed him by the discussion method. During his studies, he would have read the major medical texts of the time, those written by Hippocrates, four centuries before him.

If any of your doctor's teachers had come from China or India, or if he had travelled to those countries, he might have known as much about the circulation of the blood, and the function of the heart as William Harvey was to discover sixteen centuries later. Greek, Roman, and Hebrew doctors of the first century A.D. certainly practiced better hygiene and preventive medicine than was practiced in Europe, for instance, at the time of Florence Nightingale. Doctors were, in those days, already aware of certain connections between diseases and the natural world. They knew there was a connection between malaria and the mosquito, and that the plague occurred when there were large numbers of rats about.

When you went to your doctor, in the year 45, he might well have a medical record, not unlike the records of a modern doctor, of your illnesses and those of your family. He would have noticed, and probably have recorded, any predisposition in your family to certain diseases, such as chest conditions, and he would have cautioned you, before you left, that a weakness in any organ could affect the health of the whole body.

Like doctors of today, your doctor in the first century would rather have you healthy than make you healthy. He would have tried to maintain and build his patient's health through proper hygiene, diet, and exercise, resorting to treatment only if symptoms persisted, or were acute enough to warrant it.

He would have believed that disease resulted from an imbalance of the four bodily humors — blood, phlegm, black bile, and yellow bile, which he would believe, were glandular secretions. A little later, another great physician, Galen, would postulate the theory that these humors governed people's personalities, a theory which would have led out of favor until the 1800s. We still use the word "humors", meaning mood, and we still, occasionally, refer to active people as sanguine, passive people as phlegmatic, those with a quick temper as being choleric, and sad people as melancholic.

Like to the infant Jesus when she went to the church on Christmas Eve.

She walked sorrowfully to the church on the Holy Night with her older cousin Pedro, who had a fine candle as a gift. They passed other worshippers on their way, each carrying flowers or some other gift. Pedro tried to console his little cousin, telling her that any humble gift given with love would be beautiful in His eyes.

Utterly dejected, little Pepita hastily gathered an armful of dusty weeds from the roadside and carried them humbly into the church. Trembling with grief and sorrow over her humble, ragged gift she walked to the altar, already richly laden with the lovely gifts of the other worshippers.

With tears of love and devotion in her big brown eyes Pepita reverently laid her bouquet of straggly weeds at the feet of the Christ Child.

Suddenly through her tears she saw her bunch of insignificant weeds burst into a glory of crimson beauty that outshone all the other flowers and gifts.

They say that was the moment when the Flower of the Holy Night, the Poinsettia, was born.

Perhaps too, our simple or even expensive gifts, blossoming into love, beauty and new understanding beyond our comprehension in the hearts of our loved ones and friends — and after all within our hearts is the eternal sanctum of the Holy Jesus.

Home For Christmas

There's a solemn hush on the world to-night,
And the stars are bright and still,
While a silver light gleams blue and white,
On a distant snow-clad hill.

While the candle glow in the windows know
I take my sentimental journey home,
As they glimmer bright with a shimmering light,
So I feel I am not alone.

Then I think of the Christ Child long ago,
On the day of His wondrous birth,
With no place at all but a manger stall,
To welcome Him here on earth.

And a tenderness warms my happy heart,
All this love that is my own,
Just a little while a glad mother's smile,
In that precious place called Home.

Book On N. S. Economics Released

The sixth edition of 'Nova Scotia-An Economic Profile,' containing a comprehensive description of all phases of the province's economic development has been released. Trade and Industry Minister G. C. Riley announced recently.

The newest issue of the biennial publication, produced by the Economics and Development Division of the Department of Trade and Industry, is illustrated by graphs, charts and maps and statistical tables.

Mr. Riley said the 1969 issue "places greater emphasis on interpretation and an indication of trends evident in resource development, manufacturing, investment, construction, transportation trade and tourism."

The publication is intended to provide factual information particularly aimed at out-of-province enquiries from individuals and companies interested in locating industry in the province. It also serves as a reference source summarizing latest available statistics for all sectors of the economy.

Vincent Melanson Honored

Vincent F. Melanson, manager of the Clare electrical distribution system, was honored by the Municipal Council of Clare recently at the Riverside Inn at Meteghan River at a banquet. Warden Bernard LeBlanc presented Mr. Melanson with a plaque and scroll in appreciation of thirty-five years of service to the municipality.

The immediate family of Mr. Melanson attended as well as his brothers and sisters with their wives and husbands respectively. The employees of the hydro system also were present. Mr. McNaughton, Superintendent of the Digby County Power Board and Stan Hallett of Weymouth, of the Digby County Power Board also were present. Warden LeBlanc gave a brief account of the history of the electrical distribution system of Clare before the presentation. It was in 1928 that the municipality of Clare first received electrical power.

When Vincent was an appointed manager of the system on June 1st, 1934 there were 207 customers purchasing electrical power and in 1969 this had increased to 2,600.

Gifts For Mental Home

On Monday evening, the Christian Women's Fellowship of the Westport Church of Christ met in the vestry for their annual Christmas party. Mrs. Albert Welch led the devotional in keeping with the season, with each present reading a poem about Christmas.

After the service, gifts were placed under a decorated tree, which later were sent to Canadian Mental Health Association in Dartmouth to be distributed in Mental Hospitals to patients.

During the evening games were played, quizzes and card playing were enjoyed. Before leaving refreshments were served by a few of the members.

As each one entered, gifts also consuming large quantities of electricity and more homes having been added as noted in another paragraph and more electrical equipment used in the home. More people are living electrically than in 1934.

The main power lines have been sectionalized and this was able to take place by the co-operation of the Digby County Power Board by construction of a second line a short distance from the shore of St. Mary's Bay which was protected by the forest through which the new line was built. This enabled the electrical distribution system to cut out sections that service became disrupted without affecting other parts of the line.

Salt spray from the bay caused considerable trouble with the power lines and disruption of power was quite prevalent, even though it was for a short duration due to the deterring and remedying of the nature by the working crew of the system.

It is very difficult to fight the elements of the weather. Warden LeBlanc stated that Mr. Melanson had reported at the St. Mary's school and continued with four years of college at St. Ann's College in Church Point.

With fish plants operating in Clare which use large quantities of electricity to operate and which is essential for the efficient operation due to cold storage plants and coolers, disruption of power can cause severe damage to fish and financially speaking also.

An incident occurred in Meteghan several years ago when a certain man wishing to celebrate the arrival of the New Year ventured out on his door step with his high powered rifle with the intention of shooting in the air. He placed the rifle at his hip, aimed skyward and pulled the trigger.

Accidentally hit one of the electrical wires which hit another live wire blacking out the area.

That part was amusing as far as it went, but the part that was not so amusing was the part where the maintenance crew were called out at midnight or a short time thereafter to repair the damage. It was four o'clock before the crew were able to have the line completely operating again.

Vincent was born on October 10, 1901 at Church Point the son of William Melanson and Marie LeBlanc, both of Church Point. He completed his public school education at the St. Mary's school and continued with four years of college at St. Ann's College in Church Point.

He then was employed at the Royal Bank of Canada at Church Point in 1919 and later was transferred to the Wolfville branch. He finally resigned his position from the bank and went to Digby where he was employed by the late Harry Gossel who operated an automobile sales office in Digby.

It was in 1921 that the Annapolis Valley Hockey League was organized and Mr. Melanson was one of the organizers representing Digby. The league was made up of Digby, Wolfville, Windsor and Canning and the western section was made up of Middleton, Bridgetown, Annapolis and Digby.

Digby was a hockey town in those days and Vincent played good hockey. He was a very good skater, excellent stick-handler and could score his share of goals. He had in his possession of an amateur card No. 1066 for the year 1923 from the Maritime Province Branch of Amateur Athletic Union of Canada.

A meeting of representatives was held on Friday, December 5th in Halifax. Some of the topics selected for emphasis throughout Education Week this coming year, the following received high priority by Committee members present: Amalgamation, Teacher Education, Use and Abuse of Drugs, Family Life Education, Disadvantaged segments in our society, etc. In addition, the poverty stricken, etc.

Consideration is being given to an appropriate theme for Education Week, 1970.

Class Meets

Thursday evening, December 18th, the International Bible Class met at the home of Mrs. Beatrice Condon, Bay View with eleven members in attendance.

The meeting was opened with a devotional period under the direction of Mrs. Boyd Haynes which consisted of the scripture lesson which was taken from the 15th chapter of Corinthians.

Mrs. Muriel Frankland read an article entitled "Found At The Post." This was centered around doing God's work and being willing to do it. A second article was read by Mrs. Haynes which had much the same meaning. A prayer by Mrs. Nellie Haines brought this period to a close.

The lesson for the evening was taken from the 5th Chapter of Matthew and was on the Beatitudes. The 16th, 17th and 18th verses were discussed under the direction of Mrs. Carmen Frankland, the groups leader. "The Preservation of Faith" was the title of the discussion period.

Some of the worthy and worthwhile causes for the group under this year's discussion of these things: 1. Visited shut-ins at Hubley's Nursing Home, Bear River; 2. Visited the Jail; 3. Donations of money to sick children and donations of flowers to sick adults were made. These donations were made to people representing various denominations. 4. Five dollars was donated to the Canadian Bible Society and $20 was donated to a needy family to supply the children with clothing for Christmas. One hundred cloth bibles were made by the group members and donated to the Children's Home. Muriel Frankland and Zelma Turnbull supplied the refreshments for the evening.

The Wonders Of Christmas

There was deep, symbolic silence, In the world on that first Christmas, Its profoundness blending clearly, With the angels glorious song.

There was warmth and deepest reverence, And the light of tender loving in a mother's gentle eyes.

There was faith and hope and wonder, In a child's soft kiss at bedtime, And in parents tender glances, As they kneel in adoration By a humble manger bed.

There was giving, loving, sharing, As the wisest learned softly, Following the path of starglight, To find the Holy Child of God.

There is warmth and love and magic, In a child's soft kiss at bedtime, And in parents tender glances, As they watch their sleeping child.

Unwed Mother's Happiest Christmas

This is the onliest good Christmas.

In these words a 16-year-old girl expressed her thanks to the staff at one of The Salvation Army's homes for unwed mothers. Barbara was the oldest of eight children. Her mother had died some years ago and her father had abandoned his family. She had lived in several foster homes and in her search for the affection that had been denied her, had become pregnant. She was spending the holiday in The Salvation Army home for Unwed Mothers, but what might have been a dismal occasion had become one of new hope.

Coming into the dining room on Christmas morning, she had found a full stocking hanging from her chair. After breakfast, there was Christmas worship, carol singing and finally Santa's arrival. As the gifts were presented, she kept her eyes fixed on them on her lap.

Suddenly she stood up, and, in faltering tones, said, "I hope it is alright for me to do this. I mean I hope it is alright for me to say to all of you that this is the onliest Christmas I have really ever had. It is the onliest good Christmas. I thought the good breakfast and Christmas stocking was all, but now we have so much more. I can't make a speech very well, but it is all in my heart and I just had to say 'thank you'."

The first Sunday of the new year found Barbara kneeling after chapel service and seeking salvation.

In a most difficult time, she had found people who cared and a faith to sustain her.

Most of the girls in The Salvation Army's homes for unwed mothers and housewives, like Barbara, little more than children themselves, Christmas is an especially hard time for many, as they feel shut out from the festivities enjoyed by the rest of the world. The holiday's emphasis on childhood may intensify their guilt and anxieties about the babies they are in bear. Because of this, the staff at each home makes special efforts to bring Christmas cheer to the girls. Preparations for the holiday begin early and continue for days, to offset as much as possible the feelings of sadness and loneliness. Making decorations, trimming the tree, carol singing, a special dinner and a holiday program, etc., all help, but most important of all is the personal attention and sincere acceptance given to each girl.

Throughout the year, The Salvation Army, through its homes for unwed mothers, provides a haven for girls like Barbara. In addition to food, shelter and excellent medical care, they receive understanding guidance to help them prepare for the best possible fu-

What's Wrong With The World?

N. S. Highway Safety Council

"What's wrong with the world?" Many people ask this question, according to the Nova Scotia Highway Safety Council.

"I'll tell you what's wrong with the world. It's simple. It's for themselves and their babies."

In providing a cheerful Christmas for those in need not only unwed mothers, but homeless men, families, hospital patients, elderly folk, The Salvation Army kindles a light of faith and hope that brightens the new year.

Merry Christmas To You From Us!

depressingly simple. I don't use the seat belts in my car. That's what's wrong with the world. One could write a hundred books on the subject and the core of the trouble would still remain. I don't use the seat belts in my car.

All cars should have seat belts. The cost is small and the protection great. But I have never used them, not once. On short trips I feel it doesn't pay to bother. On long trips I want to feel unconfined. On medium trips, well, I just don't.

I have enough sense to have seat belts in my car. Every little scream in my brain tells me that nobody should drive anywhere without using them.

But my brain does not guide me when I climb into the car. I am guided (or mis-guided, instead) by a vague complex of feelings I do not fully understand or at all control. I'm led by apathy, intolerance and a curious kind of fear - the fear that if I acknowledge the danger of driving a car using the belts - may provoke the fates into causing an accident.

And is this not a true representation of the world itself? Doesn't the human race have too little intelligence and the might to create a world of peace and prosperity? Doesn't everybody everywhere on the earth want fundamentally the same goals?

But we do not use the intelligence we have. In 3,300 years of civilization there have been 8,000 'peace treaties', each designed to prevent war - and each has lasted an average of two years. All except maniacs want peace; but we will not wear the safety belts that can prevent war.

What's wrong with the world is lying right in my car. Immaculate, unused and well-

We Need Christmas To Come

by: Roland K. McCormick
"Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord has made known unto us." — Luke 2:15.

We need Christmas to come. It makes the cash registers ring, and is great for business. It puts stars into the eyes of little children, and songs of joy and peace fill the air. It gives a lift to our church services, and fills a few of the empty pews. Above all, it makes us think of those who are not as fortunate as we are, and people everywhere work to bring a little joy into the lives of their neighbors.

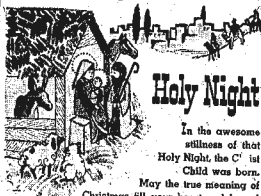

But there is another reason we need Christmas to come, a reason that is greater than any of these. Compare the world of Christ's time with ours and you will see what we mean.

It was a hard world into which Christ was born, a world filled with war, bloodshed, suffering, sorrow, heartache and misery. Demonstrations and revolt were crushed without mercy, and pessimism and despair filled men's hearts.

Tell such a world Christ came. The birth of a baby is always a wonderful event, but never was a child welcomed quite like this: prophets foretold his coming, angels sang his praises to the shepherds, and hailed him as the Saviour; wise men came from afar guided

Reclamation Project Finished

An experimental land reclamation project begun only last spring has resulted in 400 acres of highly productive land being made available to farmers in the Bellefleur area of Annapolis County, according to an announcement made recently by the Honorable Harvey A. Veniot, Minister of Agriculture and Marketing.

"The Department is pleased with the results of the reclamation project and with the Department personnel who accomplished the job in a few months," Mr. Veniot said.

"The area is referred to locally, and by our people as the 'Bellefleur Marsh' . . . it is a part of the land bordering on the river above the Annapolis River Dam.

"This section of the Marsh has not been farmed since the early 1940's when an abutment was washed out and the tidal waters of the river flooded the area.

"When the dam was built the water receded but by then the small lots, lack of access roads, drainage and multiple ownership made it impossible to farm the area under modern practices.

"Tenure, or ownership, was perhaps the biggest problem, along with the need for developing capital. There were 64 separate lots owned by 55 individuals, many of whom had died, or were no longer active farmers, and some owners no longer lived in the area," the Minister said.

Despite the problems created by previous flooding and multiple ownership, the land was believed too productive to be left idle. A former County Agricultural Representative, M. G. Fuller, proved this point when he successfully grew grain and legume crops on a small acreage.

Mr. Veniot said the subject of reclaiming valuable agricultural lands is continually under consideration by his Department. When it was recommended that the Bellefleur Marsh be reclaimed as a pilot project, he was pleased to ap-

There were two major considerations involved in undertaking the project: first, how to finance it . . . and even more important, how to acquire the land to the satisfaction of a large majority of the owners.

It was decided to finance the project under the ARDA program for land consolidation. This meant a joint Federal-Provincial program with joint approval of the proposed development plan.

To make sure of owner satisfaction with the acquisition and mutual agreements, were arrived at before any action was taken," the Minister said.

Asked what would now be done with the land, Mr. Veniot said: "It will be leased back to local farmers at $10 per acre for a five year period. Former owners were given first choice rights to take up these leases," he said, continuing, "Six of the former owners took up leases on 320

"Canada is in the throes of a triple epidemic—drug addiction, alcoholism and crime." In his Christmas message to the people of Canada, Commissioner Clarence D. Wiseman, National Commissioner states that this triple epidemic is fostered by the prevailing climate of permissiveness that scoffs at restraint and discipline and holds decency in slight regard. "The day has come for Christians to be vocal, to stop sitting on the fence or vital issues, to speak up even if in the minority. The Commissioner states that this is exactly what God did at Christmas. He came down from Heaven, as it were, into the midst of the human muddle, to identify Himself with man's struggle for decency, and to show through the life and sacrifice of Jesus the way of Salvation. There are two major defects in modern thinking, the Commissioner Wiseman also challenges—Salvationists particularly to get into the places where people are with the Christian witness, which involves not only testimony to the second major defect is the worship of material things. Anything that cannot be seen, felt, measured, or predicted is not worthy of human consideration. Thus spiritual values are ruled out altogether, and man becomes imprisoned within the walls of his own limited senses. This is the way to pygmy living and stunted souls. Commissioner Wiseman also challenges—Salvationists particularly to get into the places where people are with the Christian witness, which involves not only testimony to

Christmas can be a joyous time of year. It can cause happy wonder to shine in the eyes of a little boy or girl. It can bring great joy into a child's life. It can awaken faith. But unfortunately for some children, Christmas this year may be a disappointment. It may be looking in store windows at toys their parents can't afford to buy, or suffering for lack of adequate clothing or simply experiencing a feeling of utter loneliness. This need not be; for The Salvation Army, on your behalf reaches out to such children and makes possible for their religious faith, but practical expression of their Christmas love, and their sense of responsibility for the well-being of the whole world.

or years to travel in Canadian north in old days. An Indian would carry the novice to the end of his journey, then sell it to the next traveller heading in direction of address.

Yes, The Salvation Army knows many, many troubled people, both young and old. It tries to make Christmas happy and meaningful by providing friendship and material assistance for the less fortunate in communities all across Canada, fathers who will spend this Christmas behind prison bars, for mothers whose children lie ill and cold in suburban dwellings, for painridden hospitalised veterans, for many needy youngsters who know little of comfort and joy. The Salvation Army has been spreading joy and happiness at Christmas time all through the year for more than a century, and it plans to keep on doing it.

Peace On Earth

Mrs. John P. Osthorne
 Jacob, bachelor farmer, gazout the window. In the west December sky was brilliant at four o'clock. On the clouds massing about the setting sun were reflected different hues. Just over the hill he could distinguish a bit of the roof outlining his brother, Hal's house. From its chinney the smoke spiralled up straight in the cool, frosty air.

 Last year this scene would have filled Jacob's heart with deep contentment. He could have said with complete knowledge there is a God; why do

 peace of mind. "The heavens declare the glory of God the firmament sheweth His handiwork." And with Christmas
 work. And with Christmas
 so near, Jacob had felt more joyful, the "special" feeling associated only with Christmas
 pervaded his mind and heart.
 Standing there now, Jacob
 felt no elation. The serenity
 of the scene before him was lost to him. Christmas held no special significance.

"What has happened to your me?" Jacob pondered. "I have said with complete knowledge there is a God; why do
 peace of mind. "The heavens
 declare the glory of God the firmament sheweth His handi-
 work." And with Christmas
 work. And with Christmas
 so near, Jacob had felt more joyful, the "special" feeling
 associated only with Christmas
 pervaded his mind and heart.
 Standing there now, Jacob
 felt no elation. The serenity
 of the scene before him was lost to him. Christmas held no
 special significance.

the difference between a cow and a bear? Jacob exclaimed.
 "I'm sorry, Jacob. I know there is no excuse for Jacob carelessness. I pulled the trip-per without investigating first.
 I'll pay you what it's worth, that's the least I can do."
 "What's it worth? How can you possibly pay for all the milk and cream she could give and the money for the beef when I butcher her?" Jacob had railed at Hal.

Hal backed away from Jacob's wrath and trudged off with bowed head. He had never returned, and Jacob had never gone to Hal's home.
 "Of course I forgive him even though I've never told him. No one holds a grudge forever," Jacob consoled himself. Yet, there seemed to be an unpenetrable barrier inhis mind and heart that held out the peace of mind he was seeking.

Christmas Sunday dawned clear. Jacob attended church but sat quietly, not really paying attention to the service.
 Lately, he had felt Rev. Norton's discourses were dull and uninteresting. To days sermons seemed no exception, he felt.
 Rev. Norton, in his sermon, took his congregation back to Bethlehem to the night of Jesus birth. He recalled the wonder and fear experienced by the shepherds that Holy night, and how, through love for God and faith in Him they followed the star that guided them to the manger where the young child lay. He told how the Wise men travelled many miles from the east to worship the Christ

Child and to present rare gifts to Him.
 Though Jacob knew the Christmas story he had never before grown tired of hearing it repeated. Now he found it wearisome.

Rev. Norton continued "The message I would like to leave with you is found in Luke 2, verse 14 - "Peace, good will toward men." You will note the text says toward not "among".
 This means though we sin and God, He does not despise us, come short of the Glory of but desires reconciliation. His attitude toward us is that of peace and good will.

In turn, we cannot know peace of mind or peace on earth unless we come to Him in the same attitude. Only when we show love and bear good will toward God and our neighbor as ourselves, can we hope to achieve peace of heart.

Jacob was listening intently now. "Christmas is a time of peace," Rev. Norton continued.
 "God's peace offering to us was in the form of His Son, Jesus Christ, and our peace offering to Him is going to Him with a humble and confident spirit and accepting His Son as our Saviour."

Suddenly Jacob found the answer to his problem. He knew what he must do to clear the path leading to the peace of mind he was seeking. He would go to Hal to seek forgiveness for his foolish reaction and cutting rebuke toward Hal for shooting the little black bear.

The barrier was lifting from his heart. Jacob stood and sang lustily with the congregation:
 "Hark the herald angels sing,
 Glory to the New Born King.
 Peace on earth and every mind,
 God and sinners reconciled!"
 "Behold how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity" (Psalm 133) thought Jacob.

VINCENT MELANSON
In 1923 Vincent decided to go to Boston to win his fortune and fame. He was employed by the National Shavemat Bank of Boston, Mass., where he later became in charge of foreign exchange division. Due to failing health, Mr. Melanson was obliged to give up banking on the advice of his doctor and take more manual jobs. It was at that time he decided to return to his home town after four years in the States.

He took up electrical work and was an electrician. He took two courses in advance electricity from the N. S. Technical College, department of correspondence studies in advanced mathematics. His first big job was wiring the college of St. Ann's the year that the electrical power invaded the Clare area. He previously had worked at the Melanah Shipyard doing the electrical work on boats under construction, some of which eventually were used in the run runner days during prohibition.

He was appointed councillor to fill an unexpected term of Omer Hume of Grosvenor Co. who passed away suddenly in 1932. He was appointed as member of the Digby County Power Board and served as treasurer for the same board. He has been chairman of the Digby County Power Board since 1939, first president of the Church Point Mens Social Club which he served for ten years; was the second president of the Clare Board of Trade; was president and one of the organizers of the Clare Mutual Fire Insurance Company; was president of the Church Point Home and School Association; one of the organizers of the Church Point Fire Department, now the Little Brook Fire Department; vice president of Leas Amis du College; is a third degree Knight of Columbus and a member of the Columbus Club of Clare.

Letter to the Editor

December 18/48

The Editor,
The Digby Courier,
Digby, Nova Scotia
Dear Mr. Editor:
The members of APEC, like other Canadians, are currently most interested in learning the full implications of the government's recently introduced White Paper on Tax Reform. Of particular concern are the likely effects the proposed changes may have on the course of business activity in Atlantic Canada and on the state of overall economic development in this region.

Toward this need our Government has established a special committee to study the proposals and determine their probable impact. They will be submitting a report to the APEC staff and to the public in the near future.

In addition, I have written all members of APEC inviting them to assist the committee with suggestions and views as to the specific effects the proposed legislation may have on their businesses and investment plans. Indeed, we would welcome such assistance from all persons living or doing business in the Atlantic Provinces, whether APEC members or not, for we wish to receive, and cherish every, as many viewpoints as possible.

Since I believe the matter to be so very important, I felt I might take the liberty of writing to you to explain the Council's concern and proposed action. Please feel free to publish this letter if you wish, or to refer to its contents in special articles or editorial comment. We will appreciate any help you can offer by urging readers to give the matter serious consideration and share with us their thoughts and opinions.

Sincerely,

which we have lost faith in the goodness of mankind, and the ability of man to make the world a utopia.

We need Christmas to come that may lead us to look beyond man to God for help. We need to be moved by the message of Christmas that we may look to God for a purpose in life, a reason for living, a standard to guide our life by, and hope for tomorrow. Unbelief is popular these days, but man is in need of religion. We need Christmas to come to quicken our faith, lighten our hearts, and bring meaning into our lives. "No car may bear his coming: But in this world of sin, Where meek souls will receive 'Him still'— The dear Christ enters in."

Grated it is not as wonderful as the ones which the government has built in other villages no larger than this. But it has an attractive finish on the outside and is beautifully finished on the inside, spacious and warm.

This is what I call progress and isn't it progress that the world is striving for?

A year ago a petition went out from Little River to the "powers that be" because there were rumours that we were to have rural delivery. Every one who signed the petition got an individual letter from Mr. M.P. stating that this would not be so. Now we have been told that possibly in six months we will have the rural route system.

Again I say we want progress and rural route delivery is not progress.

Yes, we are proud of the one Mrs. Edgar Frost had built, but why can't we go further and have a beautiful brick one as other small villages have? We pay Federal taxes and are rightly obliged to have one. Maybe Mr. M.P. will read this letter and start working for us, even if it is just to save the newly built Post Office we now have.

Yours Sincerely,

WEYMOUTH BOY WINS THE DIGBY COURIER COLORING CONTEST

Stuart Melanson, six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Melanson, Weymouth, has won the Digby Courier Christmas Coloring contest. Stuart receives ten dollars as a prize, plus one year subscription to The Digby Courier for his "Mom and Dad".

Second prize winner who has received five dollars and a Courier subscription is Bruce LeBlanc, age 11 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benoit LeBlanc, Shore Road, Digby. The third prize of $2.00 went to the Islands, having been won by little Miss Angela Elliott, age 5 years, of Weymouth. Angela also receives a subscription to The Digby Courier for her "Mom and Dad".

The judges, under Mrs. Ina Dillon, gave honorable mention to little Miss Joan Mahar of Chatham, N. B. Joan's age is four years.

One hundred and eighty-five boys and girls entered The Digby Courier 1969 Coloring Contest, seventy-five more than those who entered the 1968 contest. This made 1309 or more pieces for the judges to scrutinize. The decision of the chief judge was final with no interference from the sponsors. According to Mrs. Dillon, the submissions were of excellent quality, which made their decision difficult to make.

Entries were received from Ontario, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. In Nova Scotia most entries came from Digby town, the Islands, Weymouth, Amqui County, Halifax, Dartmouth and Truro.

Traditions and customs are subject to the changing times. Yet, amid the laughter and festivities, whatever customs are, however gifts are exchanged, there remains forever unaffected the simple story of the birth at Bethlehem. This is the story of Christmas — an event which took place nearly 2000 years ago, the birth of a Redeemer and the promise of eternal salvation.

Through centuries of translation, of telling and re-telling the meaning of Christmas remains simple and universal. Christmas is the birthday of every man.

Mission Band Program Held

The Christmas program of the Mission Band of the Smith's Cove United Baptist Church was held on Sunday, December 14th following the Sunday School hour.

The singing of "Joy to the World" opened the program, followed by the prophetic message of Isaiah in chapter nine read by Miss Sue Winchester. "For unto us a child is born"

Cuthbert Welsh read the minutes of the previous meeting.

Miss Winchester spoke briefly on the meaning of Christmas and the gifts given and received relating it to the gifts of the Wisemen.

Following the offering of love gifts, taken up by Ron Harrison, the members sang, "The Lord's My Shepherd."

The American Negro spiritual "Go Tell It on the Mountains" was sung by Geraldine Porter and Wanda Tibbitts.

At the close of the program all sang "Hark! the Herald Angels Sing" followed by prayer offered by Cuthbert Welsh.

He Invented Toys

Sir Isaac Newton, England physicist, mathematician, philosopher greeted his first Christmas, and his first day, in Lincolnshire, England in 1642. Frail and sickly as a youth he devoted many lonely hours to inventing and making Christmas toys.

Source Of Song

Among the well-loved Christmas hymns is "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear." The words to this one were written by a Unitarian minister of Weston, Mass., named Edmund H. Sears. Just about a hundred years ago, says the Book of Knowledge.

One melody for this hymn was composed by a Detroit journalist and editor; another melody was adapted from an old British folk tune by a composer better known for his long string of light-hearted operetta hits. This was Sir Arthur Sullivan of the team of Gilbert and Sullivan.

To Honor St. Basil

Since the herald angels sang bringing "glad tidings of great joy" to shepherds watching their flocks, the people of many lands have contributed to the history of Christmas hymns and carols.

In the fourth century, St. Basil the Great of Greece emerged victorious in his struggle for Christianity with the Byzantine Emperor Julian. To

Cards Tell Of Changes

The tradition of exchanging Christmas cards is a charming part of the joyous holiday, and it has a history of its own.

One of the most interesting parts of that history is the way that greetings cards serve to record changing social customs, manners and fashions through the years, points out Miss Esther Mooney, curator of the Norcross, Inc., greeting card collection.

For instance, an English card of 1862 shows the formality existing between parents and children during the Victorian era. Here, a little girl kneels solemnly at her mother's knee, sedately offering her a Christmas bouquet with the wish, "May your life be a Merry Christmas."

Modern cards take a livelier, more light-hearted approach. Even earlier, greeting cards began to reflect an easier sort of filial relationship. Declares a 1908 card, "I cheer & a Merry Christmas and you, Dad!"

A special poem or carol was sung in his honor. The first day of the New Year is still celebrated as St.

Yule Music Blends Joy, Reverence

Across the centuries man has looked to music to express his happy feelings at Christmas time.

From the medieval "Hail Mary, full of grace" and "Merry-go-round, Merry-go-round" to the modern "White Christmas" and "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer," songs have been a favorite part of Christmas celebrations.

In the tradition of Christmas music, there are simple carols, blending reverence with quiet joy. Martin Luther's "Away in a Manger" for instance, or the mid-nineteenth century hymn, "Come, Come, Let Us Adore Him," or the modern "Rudolph" and "Frosty the Snowman."

There are merry songs, celebrating the jolly mood of the Yuletide, such as the time-honored "Deck the Halls," or the modern "Rudolph" and "Frosty the Snowman."

Famous People Call Yule Their Birthday

A young farmer's wife in England gave birth to a son in 1662. In 1821, a baby girl was born in the Massachusetts village of Oxford. In 1865, the wife of a militant Christian crusader gave birth to her fourth daughter. And in 1883, in Paris, an artist's model bore a baby boy.

What did these four births have in common? In each case the child was born on Christmas Day, and grew up to become a famous person. According to the Book of Knowledge, these well-known "Christmas babies" were Clara Barton, Evangeline Booth, Maurice Utrille and Sir Isaac Newton.

The World's Oldest Christmas

by: Frances Howard

There is no part of the New World where Christmas has been celebrated so long and so continuously as in Quebec. In the Jesuit Relations one finds this memorable account of how French Canada's pioneer settlement celebrated the Feast Day:

"1845, December 25. The first bell was rung at eleven o'clock, the second a little before the half-hour, and immediately after we began to sing two carols, 'Venez, Mon Dieu' and 'Chantons Noël'."

We finished carols a little before midnight, and proceeded without delay to the "Te Deum"; and a little after this was done we fired off a canon for the midnight signal, and Mass began."

Founder Of A
Yule Charity

by: F. Howard

A Danish postal clerk was apparently thinking of somebody besides himself in the Christmas season of 1903. As Rinar Holst was sorting a huge pile of holiday mail, he had a sudden inspiration. Into his imagination there flashed a picture of all those letters and packages carrying a special Yuletide seal, which could be sold to raise money for poor children sick with tuberculosis.

He told others of his idea.

SANTA SPOTS
Santa has many homes away from home and among them is a building in the foothills of Vermont's Green Mountains where each holiday season Santa is on hand to greet folks in the local community. The building is set amid pine trees at Putney, Vermont and identified by large letters "S.C." on the chimney.

and immediately they became enthusiastic. Denmark's leading citizens backed it up and King Christian gave it his official endorsement. In 1904, the first year the Christmas seal appeared more than four million were sold. A total of $41,000 was raised for the aid of young tuberculosis victims.

From Denmark, the plan spread to Sweden and Norway

In Salvation Army

Born on Christmas Day in 1853, Evangeline Booth was the fourth daughter of the Salvation Army founder, William Booth. By the age of 23, she was head of the Salvation Army in London, and in 1904 she took over operations for the entire United States.

During World War I, the Salvation Army leaders under her justification spent Christmas - as well as many other days - ministering to the needs of American doughboys in France. The word "doughboy" stems from the celebrated Salvation Army doughnut, the World War I staple.

Mistletoe Tradition Changed

Today, mistletoe is brought into the house for use as a holiday decoration. Often, it is strategically placed, because it provides the privilege of a kiss from many pretty young ladies who happen to stand beneath it.

There's nothing new about this kissing tradition, except one thing. There was a time when it was required a berry of mistletoe be kissed beneath the mistletoe. When the berries were gone, so, too, was the kissing privilege.

Composers Inspired

Famous composers have found in Christmas inspiration for some of their most renowned music. At Christmas, and Easter, too, people gather to hear performances of Handel's "Messiah," Bach's "Christmas Oratorio" and Berlioz's "L'Enfance du Christ" are other examples of "serious" music often specially performed at Christmas.

Twentieth century composers, too, have written music around Christmas themes. Probably the most familiar example is Menotti's "Amahl and the Night Visitors," an opera commissioned for television annually. Fingerg's "Christmas Cantata" and Britten's "Ceremony of Carols" are other notable examples.

Lighting Up

Since the Star shone on Bethlehem, lights have been a part of Christmas celebrations. Today, candlelight services are traditionally held by many churches at Christmas.

Something unique in the way of Christmas lights are the "luminarias" used to decorate the city of Albuquerque, N. M. at Christmastime.

Outlining the borders of streets, sidewalks, yards and even the roof of homes, the luminarias shine everywhere. Made of paper bags, weighted down with sand and lighted from within by a candle, thousands of luminarias all over the city offer a soft light.

THE LIGHTS OF CHRISTMAS

When they turn on the lights of Christmas, When they set every branch aglow, When the silver bells ring through the darkness, Sweet carols of long ago, Songs of that holy Christmas And a Babe in a manger-bed, When they turn on the lights of Christmas, They shine o'er His lovely head.

When they turn on the lights of Christmas, The stars of Heaven seem near, Leaning toward earth, to listen To the laughter and the cheer, Wise Men of today gaze upward And follow the Eastern Star, When they turn on the lights of Christmas It is Christmas wherever you are.

Mrs. P. Ellis, 15 Marion Place, Everett, Mass.

In Tudor Times

In England during Tudor times, Christmas celebrations began on All Saint's Day, November 1, and continued until Candlemas, on February 2. "The Lord of Misrule" acted as master of ceremonies at the Yuletide festivities.

Much of the music for all this merrymaking was extemporaneous. Many songs were passed on by word of mouth from generation to generation - songs such as "The Boon's Head Carol," referring to the "boon" or pig which was traditional at the Yuletide feast, and "The First Nowell."

History Or Myth - Which Is Which?

It has been proved time and time again that much of what we call myth is based on actual history.

One famous example is that of Heinrich Schliemann, the amateur archaeologist who discovered the site of the ancient city of Troy by using Homer's "Iliad" as a guide.

But how much of what we believe to be history is actually myth — things that never happened?

For that matter, how much of history is what historian Daniel J. Boorstin calls "pseudo-events" things that actually happened but were essentially phony? A stage-managed "confrontation" between demonstrators and the police with the alerted press looking on falls in the pseudo-event category.

The questions are provoked by three recent items in the news.

On is the announcement by New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art that its famous bronze statue of a horse, once believed to be a superb example of Greek sculpture dating from about 400 B. C., is actually a forgery made in this century.

The horse is still a superb example of art, but it is no longer "real" in the sense we thought it was.

The second is a story from France about some documents which have come to light that indicate that Joan of Arc was never burned at the stake. Moreover, she was not a peasant girl but a noblewoman, who married one Robert den Ardenne and lived happily ever after.

According to the last living descendant of the family, the

According to the last living descendant of the family, the

stakebearing legend "was a big publicity stunt, one of the earliest in France's history," and was devised to serve political ends.

Finally, in London the other day, thousands of dollars worth of fake first editions of famous books, printed by a book dealer named Thomas Wise in the late 19th century, were auctioned off to eager buyers at Sotheby's.

Not only have the forgeries attained historical value in their own right, but a counterfeit of one of Thomas' fakes actually sold for more than the "genuine" fake.

All of which brings to mind the brilliant idea of an Englishman about a hundred years ago and what has to be the greatest forgery of all.

Seeking to reconcile the thespian controversy between the evolutionists and the anti-evolutionists, zoologist J. Gosse claimed both were right.

The earth was indeed created with a navel but never had a mother, as the earth was created with a past that never happened.

So what's the moral? Perhaps, that "history" at any given moment is pretty much the creation of the present, and that men will go on discovering it and rediscovering it, making it and remaking it in the same groping way they always have.

It is, after all, the only history we've got.

If You Drive This Holiday Season, Don't Drink!

ed in six days in 4004 B.C., as the fundamentalists believe. And yes, the newly discovered geological and paleontological evidence that pointed to a far older age was quite correct.

How could this be? Because God had created the world with a built-in history. The marks left by glaciers, the fossils of extinct types of animals and men, all the evidence that the world out its life forms had gone through a long process of change and evolution was quite real — and quite fake. Just as Adam was created with a navel but never had a mother, as the earth was created with a past that never happened.

So what's the moral? Perhaps, that "history" at any given moment is pretty much the creation of the present, and that men will go on discovering it and rediscovering it, making it and remaking it in the same groping way they always have.

If You Drive This Holiday Season, Don't Drink!

There's one day in the year when language has no barriers. On that day, if you were walking down the street in Vienna, you'd be greeted, "Froliche Weihnachten!" In Paris, people would smile at you and say, "Joyeux Noel!" In Stockholm, you'd be flung the hearty salutation, "God Jul!" While down in Rio de Janeiro you'd be greeted, "Feliz Natal!"

In Rome, the happy cry passed along is "Buon Natale!" In Copenhagen, it's "Glaedelig Jul!" and in Rotterdam, it's "Hartelijk Kerstgroeten!" In Helsinki, the joyous crowds hail each other with "Hans joulunauhe!" while in Seattle they say, "Felices Pascuas!"

Yet, all these exchanges create no confusion of tongues. On one day in the year December 25 the meaning stays the same. Speech is reduced to a common denominator — in the world's universal state of glee: "Merry Christmas!"

One Christmas-born child had little cheer in his life, on withdrawal, not only in childhood but in his adult life. This hood but throughout his life was the French painter, Maurice Utrillo, born on December 25, 1883.

Message Of Christmas Lives Anew

"And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said to one another, let us now go even unto Bethlehem and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known to us. And they came with haste, and found Mary, and Joseph, and the Babe lying in a manger." — Luke 2:15-16.

Thus, in the New Testament Luke tells the story of humble shepherds watching in the fields — shepherds to whom the herald angels brought "good tidings of great joy," that they might seek and find the Infant Saviour. In still another Biblical account of the Nativity, Matthew writes of the Wise Men, who followed a Star of Bethlehem.

And when they were come into the house, they saw the young Child with Mary His Mother, and fell down, and worshipped Him. And . . . they presented unto him gifts, gold and frankincense, and myrrh." — Matthew 2:11.

At Christmas, as Christians everywhere celebrate the birth of Christ in church and home devotions, the story of the Nativity is told and retold — but it never grows old. Always the well-remembered words of two of his disciples, Matthew and Luke seem to resound with renewed meaning and inspiration, bringing to all some measure of that awe and wonder experienced by the shepherds and the wise men long ago.

And now, as then, the supreme, the all-absorbing moment in the sacred story is that moment of the manger when first "they saw the young Child with Mary His mother."

In the miracle of the manger, in the Madonna and Child, mankind sees an ever-present reminder of the love of God, the glory and promise of Christmas. Each year, as Christmas returns in heart and spirit to Bethlehem and the manger, the joyous message lives anew, in cities, churches and homes, as manger scenes symbolize once again the birth of a holy Child.

The treasured tradition of recreating the manger has a long and notable history. The first crèche or crib, scholars say, was erected by St. Francis of Assisi and his brethren, in the tiny Italian village of Croccio in 1223.

As the people of the town gathered about the manger, the first Christmas cards were sent — joyous songs in honor of the Saviour's birth. St. Francis felt that, through the manger scene and the choir

Candles In Welcoming New Mexico

by F. Howard

In New Mexico, the ancient Yuletide custom of Luminarias — the lighting of the candles — has been observed for centuries. If a stranger should travel up and down the Rio Grande valley on the day before Christmas, he will see many residents filling paper bags with sand. By Christmas Eve, they are all in place set up on the edge of the flat, topped roofs or on the porch railings, and in every one a candle will be glowing. According to ancient Spanish custom, these tapers are lighted in the early dusk. By this rite, these people honor an old, old tradition that was observed in Spain long before the white man came to the New World.

The prevailing belief, so faithfully cherished, is that if Mary the mother scene, holly, carols and minstrel, among others. Thus, it is interesting to note that, for some reason, the robin was often used as an illustration on cards of the Victorian era.

Today, there are many symbols we associate with Christmas — the tree, the Star of Bethlehem, tinsel, tree lights, the manger scene, holly, carols and minstrel, among others.
