1877-1977

One of the jobs I had to do, besides putting and graders' devil on the staff, was to... I cleaned one and then... One day not long after I started to get to the grating plant. I decided to climb the floor that apparently hadn't been cleaned for some considerable time.

"J.J." came along and said "how are you making out Vince?" I assured him that I thought I was beginning to see the floor. "J.J." laughed very heartily. He thought the remark pretty good and said:

Sometimes the gasoline engine, a piece of machinery would refuse to work, and the "Man" fix-it man had patiently worked for a certain length of time to get it going again, without results. Man would then stand back and come out dramatically then he would immediately start working. "See," he would say, "all it needed was a bit of coaxing."

On other occasions when my wife refused duty for me and seemed to be broken, I would say, "use a little oil" and use humor when that is all it took. How often since have I heard of the value of that remark and the actual need of oil in many life situations, applied at the right time, right place and in the right way.

Other things that sort of stick in my memory and come to mind now and then are, like the June 1941 "Mac" of four teenage boys who in the spring season of 1941 got together just before dark one evening and decided to initiate the newly built outdoor Pease Hotel swimming pool which had just been filled with water. Clothes were taken off near the road just out of the pool, nobody else seemed to be around and the four boys, no thought or time for bathing suits, up in the pool they went. They stood on the edge of the pool and looked at the chilly water, one soon jumped in. The rest quickly followed and across the pool they swam. "Mac" listened to the story and hardly said anything, but the next "Digby Courier" had a good story on the episode. The heading of the story went something like, "Four Boy Swims Officially Open Pease Hotel Swimming Pool." Who were the four? Many years later they are known as: the late Dr. Earl H. Anderson, veteran of two wars (second world and Korea), was awarded the Vietnam Cross; Sidney L. Smith, now prominent draughtsman for many years in Digby; Clayton D. Snow, Digby wholesale importer and bookshop; and myself.

As a young treasurer I used to like doing some writing about different events interesting to myself and mostly for myself. One day I was told to me how about writing your version of the story told about "The Marooning of Jerome". A fisherman and a crew of about two some what different fishermen of the main who was found marooned on a beach in some place on the French Shore of St. Mary's Bay, Duxbury County. When found this man's clothes had been cut out and his legs quite freshly amputated. He was surgically well dressed and bound. He was presumably left by some vessel here and one morning all for some mysterious reason.

"Jerome" appeared to have been a man of considerable social standing and, possibly, of considerable wealth. However, the only thing that could or would ever say after being asked for by some family in the Forest was something that sounded like "Oh, yes, I know either you'd not, or, would not, or, who he was or why he was left the way it was. And is, one of Dugies Court."

And, different ideas have been put forward years concerning this man. However, "Mr." was, I felt no urge to ask, different about this man. The man I have been very well explained to, and would and he was a sort of a

A small, dark boat is visible in the middle distance on the water. The background consists of a range of hills or mountains under a hazy sky. The overall tone is somber due to the monochrome palette.

The Town Plot is situated at the east of the township just within the entrance to Annapolis Basin, and extends miles from Annapolis Town, and six miles across land from the head of W. Mary's Bay. This land not only has water's edge, partly on level ground, and partly on the declivity of a modern hill, dry and pleasant, and having on an eastern aspect a view of the Annapolis Basin and its cultivated shores for twenty miles in extent, it terminates with the Fort and River's mouth at that name. It was secured by Loyalists from New York in 1782, the point of which went early to Britain, or, moving to other countries, left the shore

Cardoza Speaker At Bear River Firemen's Annual

Approximately 100 attended the annual Firemen's Banquet, Bear River, on Monday evening under the auspices of The Commissioners for the Bear River Fire Protection held at the I.O.O.F. Hall. In the picture, left to right, are: R. Parsons, Bear River, Chairman of the Commissioners; Allister Milner, Fire Chief, who presided at the banquet; Mrs. J. G. Veinot, Kentville; Mr. Veinot, who explained the insurance for firemen; Mrs. V. G. Cardoza, Digby; and Mr. Cardoza who was the guest speaker.

In paying tribute to all fire fighters, Mr. Cardoza in his address reminded the audience that volunteer firemen agree to risk life and limb in saving and protecting life and property. He pointed out the element of danger but referred to the extensive training which firemen receive today which fortunately lessens these hazards. He felt it is most important to get across to the ordinary citizens that they can play an important part in preventing fires and the injury and death to property. Volunteer firemen of today need to undertake special training, to build up the fire department with equipment and carry on an education program for community people so they can better avoid tragedies. Mr. Cardoza noted he also noted the community involvement by firemen and remarked on the success of the Bear River Cherry Carnival carried on by the firemen there. All these efforts which improve living conditions in a community help to prevent fire disasters, he remarked.

Mr. Cardoza drew attention to the Western Nova Scotia Fire Fighters Association which aid is assured in event of a major fire in any part of the Western end of Nova Scotia by trained firemen and while the whole area is covered by radio telephone. R. K. Purdy, secretary for the Bear River Commissioners for Fire Protection, reported on the work done at the fire

Shows Slides On Hospital Equipment

In his report he told of primary importance in operating of the equipment and in quality of medical care offered in the area by the completion and opening of the McCleave Medical Centre for the doctors and consultants. Dr. Lawley is president of the medical staff of the Digby General Hospital. Dr. J. R. McCleave is honorary Chief of Staff for life; Chief of Staff is Dr. D. E. Lewis; Vice-president is Dr. A. Samad and Secretary-treasurer is Dr. W. E. Spencer.

HOSPITAL BANK LOAN LIQUIDATED

A bank loan for the Digby General Hospital, originally in excess of $25,000 was liquidated in 1971 when the last $6000 of the loan was paid. Victor Thompson in presenting the financial statement at the annual meeting praised the co-operation and good administration for the second bank on which the hospital has been kept. Budget figures he said had been strictly adhered to. Total revenue for 1971 was $1,113,183 and operating expenses amounted to $1,066,141 giving a surplus of $27,042 for the year. The meeting was presided over by the president, F. C. Purdy, who, in his report, said the hospital operated for the most part at maximum capacity with patient loads of in excess of 45. During 1971, he said attention was directed to Special Care on the third floor, which has been performing essential service. The value of equipment purchased for the part was particularly within recent weeks. He said he also awarded a commendation from the Hospital Auxiliary for the staff in order to keep up the service. Mr. Purdy estimated that $25,000 to $30,000 should be spent annually.

Dr. D. E. Lewis, Chief of Staff in his report and also Mr. Purdy in his report brought out problems which they felt might arise from a proposed reorganization in the field of health care. The proposals were contained in a report distributed on an Integrated System of Hospital Facilities - Nova Scotia 1971. The reports by Dr. Lewis and Mr. Purdy were not approved by the principle of reorganization but were not hesitant to see any reorganization which might in any way downgrade the service of the Digby General Hospital and its diagnostic and treatment centre with 60 beds.

This, he said, should materially assist the isolated rural communities to secure and retain competent medical personnel.

Dr. Lewis reported that he had assisted the local hospital by hospital by voluntary nurses, stating that these organizations had contributed in excess of $25,000 of the year and he would of closely with Southern Mills which might destroy the hospital and the Annapolis General Hospital. McCleure Medical Centre Tremendous

Mr. Gray advises this newspaper

The McCleave Medical Centre is a tremendous effort on the part of a few. They deserve appreciation.

Something to think about. An ambulance service is a vital need.

Mr. Gray advises this newspaper

What is in the news for Education Week March 6 - 11? Well, the controversy over teachers salaries is one topic. Don't blame that on the Education Week Committee. Another topic in the news is "busing school children." While we do not want to be entirely unsympathetic with the teachers' angry question the subject of small children spending long hours on or waiting for school buses is one that has touched so much more. This is something which has been a concern of ourselves and many other people for as long as school buses have been in use. We do see some important "merit" in consolidating both school-bus service was not always one of them. It has its good points but it has its drawbacks in child fatigue and lessening of time with parents. What has the remedy? To go where we have removal and consolidation is necessary. We commend the New Scotia Federation of Home and School Associations for a very reading-a study on busing of 1,000 New Scotia school children, although a local initiative grant of over $11,000 should not cause too much sorrow on the part of N.S.F.H.S.A. in getting information they need on the way. Again we repeat, a study on the effect of little children on school requiring healthy, family life and school achievement in order.

Continuing Progress System is not the only progressive step in education. There are others of which space does not permit us to write but of which time should permit you to find out. In fact, we suggest with the Education Work Committee that it is time to put "U" back in Education. Education Week is for U.

Our mission to Trinity Anglican on Sunday afternoon was to see the Guides, Scouts, Brownies and Cubs conclude their special week with a church service. They made a fine showing as approximately 70 to 75 with their leaders marching to the front of that beautiful old place of worship. It was a marvellous spectacle to see the rector, Rev. Isaac Butler, leave the chancel and come to the people's area to be as one of those young people taking part in a special Service for Youth from the Anglican Prayer Book and to see and hear the rector impart simple — Humans were not the only ones disturbed by the fire which swept out Shorliffe's Grocery. Just like "And the cat came back" so the pet fish at a nearby doctor's office returned in time after the fire interruption. Lewis and once again to the office of DeMille Raymond, dental technician.

Giving credit where it is deserving, there was a good turnout this year for the Variety Concert. A good turn-out for the church service would have placed emphasis on one of the highest pursuits to place before these young, impressive minds. A leader's sense of values is fine. A parent's can be even greater in the eyes of the child.

Keep a coil of rope in the car in case of accident. If someone should fall in, lie flat on the ice; and if other rescuers are present, have them hold your ankles or skates while you extend your rope or reach. If the victim is far out on the ice, several rescuers may form a human chain to reach him. During the rescue, reassure the victim. Above all, don't panic.

When Demille called for fish food, the owners discovered what happened to the fish. Despite uneasy temperatures, all pet fish survived the ordeal and the only unusual episode was that one fish delivered babies during the sojourn.

We suspect then that Allan Denton, Little River, who was principle in a front page Courier story two weeks ago is on the same wave length with Joe. More power to you Joe on the hospital markers and the amber light for oil trucks. Haven't thought out the sound signals. By the way, speaking of signals, when the editor parks the car in her home driveway with lights burning there are three neighbors on Maiden Lane and three on Birch Street who, telephone a reminder. — It was really gratifying to have people call to commend us on our McCleave Medical Centre edition. A number said they were saving them among their treasures. While we appreciate the compliments, we must give credit where credit is due. Without the advertisers the issue could not have been the same. Without a loyal staff to put it through it could not have been accomplished.

— We draw attention to further congratulations this week on the McCleave Medical Centre.

Digby, Nova Scotia
February 19, 1972.

I sincerely hope you will allow me a little space in the current issue of your paper to draw attention to a great asset which I feel we, in this community, possess.

This asset to which I refer is the newly organized Digby High School Band. It was my privilege Sunday evening to hear this band at a concert in the Digby Baptist Church, and I was deeply impressed with the performance and with the attitude of the band members.

It seems to me that Mr. Scott, the bandmaster, and the members of the band deserve a great deal of com-commendation for the splendid job they are doing. They are at all times more than willing to donate their services to worthy causes, and their presence and performance at any program is one that adds immeasurably to that program.

Far too often people are prone to criticize and to "put down" what others are doing. Far too infrequently is credit given where credit is due. In the case of the Digby High School Band, I feel we should make certain that their work and their dedication receives the public recognition and praise it deserves.

It is my hope space will be found in the Digby Courier (which is also doing a great job for this area and its people), for this letter.- It is a sincere expression of appreciation to a worthwhile group and one which I feel should be given public circulation.

Sincerely yours,
Muriel Frankland

Oakdene School As

February meeting of the Oakdene Home and School Association of Bear River, was held on Monday, February 29th 1972. The meeting was well attended. Mrs. D. S. Brennan presided in the absence of the president and vice president. During the business meeting, a report was heard on the recent meeting of delegates from the home and School Association Board. It was voted to send a letter to "The Municipal School Board, urging that the recommendations of the fire marshal be complied with as soon as possible.

Following the business meeting the D. R. H. S. drama group presented their award "Upon A Playground". This was enjoyed by all and was generally felt that these young people and their producer were worthy of the congress award they recently won.

The March meeting, to be held on Monday, March 27th, will be "Open House", when the teachers will be in their classrooms from 7-9 p.m. to talk and discuss students

Digby Branch Victorian Order Nurses Expands

The Digby branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses has extended its coverage area to include all of Annapolis County. The branch first started to operate in 1921. Funds have been made available from the Municipality of Annapolis County and from the Town of Annapolis Royal for the expansion of the Digby service into that area.

The Digby nurse, Mrs. Diane Banks, will have an office in the new McCleave Medical Centre, on grounds near Digby General Hospital. It is understood that this space is donated by the Centre, and that the doctors at the Centre will make use of the nurse during morning hours, and that the local V.O.N. board of directors will be remunerated by the doctors for this time.

An answering service will be in effect in Annapolis County, with two new nurses backing up the calls. Calls will be taken at the Annapolis General Hospital and at Mountain Lea Lodge in Bridgetown. Work will be done in this area by Mrs. Mary Ann Langille, who will be qualified to answer questions and attend to general nursing needs as prescribed by the doctors. Another

Medical Centre Honors Dr. John R. McCleave

Dr. John R. McCleave, who was in 1971, chosen as Digby's "First Citizen of the Year", has been most active in health, education and community affairs within the town.

He served on the Digby Town Council, was chairman of the Digby Board of School Commissioners, first chairman of the Digby Regional High School Board and he played an important part in the establishment of the Digby Regional High School as it is now called. Dr. McCleave, through the years, has been active in V.O.N., Grace General Hospital, Grace United Church and the Digby Recreation Commission, of which he is presently chairman. He has served as president of the Digby Kiwanis Club, a member of the Digby Curling Club, The Pines Golf Club and the Digby Board of Trade. Dr. McCleave is Honorary Chief of Staff of the Digby General Hospital.

Message From Premier Rogan To F. C. Purdy

I was most pleased to learn that today the doors of the McCleave Medical Centre will be opened and would like to extend my warmest congratulations and good wishes to all those involved in making this project a reality.

Dr. J. R. McCleave has and will continue to contribute much to the community of Digby and surrounding area and I am indeed pleased to see the medical centre carrying his name.

Once again, my warmest good wishes to Dr. McCleave and those responsible for this very fine community effort.

Sincerely,
Premier Gerald A. Rogan

During last year of the new McCleave Medical Centre, Dr. J. R. McCleave (left), Mrs. Alfred Boulter and Mrs. E. J. Theriault (right) enjoy a cup of coffee.

The CFB Cornwallis Base Commander, Captain (N) H. R. Tilley, recently presented a certificate of appreciation, on behalf of the Nova Scotia Heart Foundation, to Mrs. Olive Cousineau, for the assistance given the Heart Fund in achieving their 1971 objectives.

pital beds and support from citizens of the area.

Dr. Lewis also noted the shared services with the Middleton and Annapolis hospitals and referred to the much needed services of the laboratory, blood bank, x-rays, surgical rooms and medical equipment, now in use at the Digby hospital.

The report of the Director of Nursing Miss Muriel Smith was given by the administrator, Ralph Stacey, who also in his report stated that the hospital had 2429 admissions for a total of 24,170 patient days; 292 newborns for a total of 1,291 newborn days and looked after 26,226 people through out-patients for laboratory tests, x-rays, physiotherapy, general treatments and emergencies. In addition to this they supplied and prepared the food for the Children's Home, as well as doing their laundry and are supplying 2 days a week physiotherapy to the Annapolis General Hospital.

Miss Smith's report showed 71 persons on the nursing staff of which over 25% are registered nurses but 67% should be registered nurses. There were 21 resignations in 1971 and 31 employed to take their places.

Mrs. Eli Comeau reporting for the Ladies Auxiliary revealed $8655 had been donated to the hospital in gifts and money. Eight of the Candy-stripes had worked 100 hours each.

Harry Titus gave the report for the Building and Grounds Committee and he spoke words of appreciation to George Humphrey who has retired and to Gordon Turnbull who has cared for the garden plots.

Trask and Mr. Trask at Yarmouth.

Mrs. Lee Trask is spending an indefinite time with Mrs. Reginald Trask.

Mrs. Elsie Gidney of Montreal visited her daughter Mrs. Douglas Trask and Mr. Trask recently.

The Little River W. M. S. met on Tuesday Feb. 14th at the home of Mrs. Annie Ingalls, known to most as (Aunt Annie). Due to the illness of the president, Mrs. Rupert Trask, the meeting was conducted by Mrs. Bernard Denington. Her programme was an outline on Bolivia such as climate etc. and the missionary agencies was by Mrs. Ralph Denton "The Marriage of the Aymara Indian Woman". The devotionals were by Mrs. Leonard Addington followed by a circle of prayer led by Mrs. Ansley Todd. Spiritual Life was by Mrs. Royce Elderkin.

A duet was sung by Mrs. Edward Addington and Mrs. Clifton Frost. A visitor to the meeting was Mrs. Stewart

Curry, Mink Cove. Following the meeting a Sing Song was held and enjoyed by Mrs. Ingalls who is a shut in.

Refreshments were served by the Cohassetes Mrs. Donald Todd, Mrs. Gregory Denton, Mrs. Ernest Frost, Mrs. Leonard Addington.

During the last week of January Aunt Annie celebrated her Birthday and the Little River Baptist Choir and other friends spent the evening with her when she enjoyed their singing.

IN MEMORIAM

PETERS - In loving memory of Ralph Peters, who was lost in the sinking of the
S. S. Noronic, March 3, 1947.
Sadly missed along life's way.
Quietly remembered every day.
No longer in our lives to share.
But in our hearts you are always there.
Lovingly remembered by his wife, brothers and sisters.
— 29:1p

MELANSON - In loving memory of Joseph E. Melanson who passed away March 2, 1971.
God looked around his garden
And found an empty space
He then looked down upon the earth
And saw a tired face.
He put his arms around you
And lifted you to rest.
To us he has not been gone
Nor has he travelled far.
He is just entered God's Eternal Home
And let the gates ajar.
— Always remembered by sisters, Stella, Jennie and Evelyn. — 29:1p

HILL - In loving memory of Linda M. Hill who passed away March 28, 1964.
There's always a dear face before us,
And a voice we will always remember.
Or a daughter we loved so well.
— Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by Momma Edith and Daddy John. — 29:1p

HAMILTON - In loving memory of a dear wife and mother Stella Hamilton, who passed away February 28, 1971.
One year has passed and gone
Since one we loved so well
cards.
With Jesus Christ to dwell.
The flowers we place on her grave
May wither and decay,
But the love for her who sleeps beneath Shall never fade away.
— Always remembered and sadly missed by husband
Paul and family. — 29:1p

BUOGLIES - I wish to thank all who visited me and those who sent flowers, cards and gifts, while I was a patient in the Digby General Hospital. Special thanks to Dr.
Lewis and nurses on the third floor for their kindness. —

HITTLE - I wish to express my sincere thanks to all my friends for candy and cards while a patient in Hospital.
Special thanks to Dr. Bro-nan and nurses on the second floor, also thanks to Mr. and Mrs. WEDD Forster for their kindness while I was in hospital. — Kenneth Hittle. — 29:1p

TIBBETTS - I wish to thank

MARRIAGES

Brown — Spurr

St. Matthews Anglican Church, Deep Brook was the scene of the marriage of Marjorie Elaine Spurr and Ronald John Brown. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Spurr, Deep Brook. The groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Brown of Dartmouth. Rev. Donald Sharp officiated at the double ring ceremony. Miss Garry Hickling was organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of imported silk, full bishop sleeves. Aids skirt with the gown intricately trimmed with chanel lace and pink ribbon pull through. A detachable chapel train snuggled with tulle and lace was held by a gold fabric bow at the waist. Her short bouffant veil of light-colored silk illusion tulle held a floral profile of organ petals and loops was adorned in seed pearls and the carried a cascade bouquet of red roses.

Miss Wanda Auld, Dartmouth was matron of honor. Miss Carolyn Cunningham of Dartmouth who was bridesmaid, both wore floor length crepe de chine in shades of peach and blue with matching bouquets.

William Pappas, of Dartmouth was best man. Winston DeLong, Annapolis Royal and Brian Trimmer, Bear River, were groomsmen.

The mother of the bride chose a frosted pink crinoline dress with matching accessories. The mother of the groom chose a turquoise wool dress with white accessories.

Reception followed at the Parish Hall, Mrs. Lester DeLong, aunt of the bride, provided the $3000 medical coverage was replaced by $2500 medical reimbursement and further outlined the three policies in most common use. Rev. George Bell told of the fire company which had been formed in his home area of Smith's Cove. He mentioned the equipment purchased which will save in time element if a fire breaks out in comparison with awaiting equipment from neighboring fire departments.

Inds — Andrews

Marriage of wide interest was solemnized by Rev. George Bell Smith's Cove, at his home when Mrs. Alice Andrews, North Rance, Digby Co., N.S., became the bride of Frank Innis, Hampton, N.B.

Attendants at the marriage were Mrs. Innis' daughter (Maxine) Mrs. Ivan Bain and Mr. Bain and Mrs. Innis' daughter, Elsie and son Allison.

The couple have returned from a trip to Bermuda and have taken up residence in Hampton.

Mrs. Innis had been for the past few years employed as stenographer with the Department of Public Welfare. Mr. Innis is a Regional Superintendent with the Veterans' Land Administration Property Division.

Mr. Milner reported the Cherry Carnival as being a wonderful success and a great tourist attraction. He reported a grant of $500 would be coming through the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade to aid in this tourist attraction, but that grant is a matching grant so that the local organization will have to spend an equal amount on promoting the attraction.

In his outline of the insurance covering the firemen Mr. Veinot said because of MSI coverage the $3000 medical coverage was replaced by $2500 medical reimbursement and further outlined the three policies in most common use. Rev. George Bell told of the fire company which had been formed in his home area of Smith's Cove. A program was arranged under Miss Nancy Lee and began with a song Brothers by Mrs. Cheryl Stevens, Miss Heather Hoare and Miss Mary Robertson. Dr. T. W. Hodgson asked the blessing and following the dinner readings were given by Mrs. MacLennan and Rev. Ronald Stevens. Mrs. Gerald Wilson and Norman Wright sang a duet, also Miss Nancy Rice and Dr. D. G. Black rendered a duet. Accompanied by Miss Rice on the guitar another song was sung by Cheryl Hoare and Mary.

As Clerk of the Session, Mr. Rice explained the reason for the dinner was to begin raising funds to liquidate a church debt within the next two years. Next month there is expected to be a bridge party in the church hall to raise funds and other social functions will follow. He explained weekly offering envelopes which will be over and above regular weekly envelope contributions. In his appeal he said that the government levies taxes but with the Lord there is no compulsion as He permits what each sees fit to give.

Mrs. D. G. Black thanked the dinner guests and those who assisted with the dinner.

Mr. Speaker:
First of all, I would like to congratulate you for the excellent job you have done since your appointment to your high office. You have shown good judgement and fairness along with a proper firmness which has won the respect and admiration of everyone in the House.
I would like, Mr. Speaker, to extend a very warm welcome to our new member from Kings' West. I can at-ready sense that he will carry out his new responsibilities well, and will be a credit to his people and to the party he represents.

Also, Mr. Speaker, I would like to welcome the new Member from Queens who sits on the opposite side of the House. My welcome to him may not appear as heated as the reception given by the Leader of the Opposition to our new Member from Kings' West, but nevertheless, it is sincere and heartfelt. I congratulate him on an excellent speech well delivered.

I want also, Mr. Speaker, to say that I am glad to be able to look over to my left and see the Deputy Speaker sitting in his seat looking hale and hearty and ready to carry on the duties so ably handled by this Honourable Member in the past.

Mr. Speaker, I want also to congratulate the four Members on this side of the House who have been promoted to Cabinet rank. I feel that these Honourable Members will acquit themselves with distinction in the handling of the affairs of their departments in this House and elsewhere.

Usually, I like to start off a speech with a political joke or two, but just a few days ago, I was told by a friend that there are no more political jokes in Nova Scotia. He said they were all elected to the Legislative Assembly in the October 13th election in 1970.

Although I know this man was speaking in fun, I also know that many a true word is spoken in jest, so I think we ought to conduct ourselves accordingly.
The devil didn't make me say this, but looking at the opposition did.

I feel that we have come a long way in the renaissance of Digby this year. With regard to this progress, I will attempt to name a few accomplishments.

First, I would like to thank the Minister of Highways and his department. Through their efforts, the Bear River bridge was started in 1971 and at this time, is well advanced in its construction.

This modern two-lane bridge is being built at a cost of over $3 million, and joins the constituencies of Digby and Annapolis West. Many of the workers on this job are from this area having been trained mainly on the site.

Surveys are also underway for a two-lane bridge in the Village of Weymouth, also for a larger crossing on the Sissiboo River which will be a connecting link in the highway system. Hopefully, a start will be made on these structures as soon as possible.

A new roll-on-roll-off ferry service was inaugurated by the Canadian Pacific Steamship Company this past summer. The new "Prince of Acadia" is making two return trips per day, and an improvement was made this week that the would be making three trips during the coming tourist season.

Hopefully, the tourist department will make sure all advertising put out by this department will carry this information.

This ship is flying between two $5 million terminals which were built by the federal government. Tourist centres into Digby were inaugurated by 1972 over the previous year.

A new tourist information bureau, built near the terminal, was officially opened by the minister of tourism. This bureau has an increased working staff, and is open longer hours to give service to the travelling public.

New pavement was laid on the newly constructed highway from the terminal to Joggins Bridge and a tender has been called for paving 3.1 miles from the Joggins Bridge to the Bear River bridge. The Minister of Highways and nounced yesterday that this contract is now let to Standish and Francis Martin. The amount of this contract is the sum of $171,120.

The Colliodon road was newly paved and much resurfacing has been done in other areas throughout the constituency. As well, the number of miles of sand-sealed highway was increased. I would certainly hope this is only the beginning of the biggest paving program in the history of my constituency.

I hope, Mr. Speaker, that while the opposition is slinging mud, the Minister of Highways is stringing the tar, and it is all headed for the highways in Digby County. I am also happy to mention that the ferry services to Long and Brice Islands are being upgraded. These improvements will be underway before April 1st.

Already, radio telephones have been installed on both ferries for safety reasons, and I hope these improvements are only the first step in improving transportation to these islands.

A new fish plant is being constructed on Long Island for the processing of food herring. A DNR grant helped make this possible.

Construction will commence shortly on a new motel, which is being built near the new ferry terminal. This will help alleviate the shortage of tourist accommodation brought about by the new ferry.

The government-owned Pines Hotel had an extremely successful year, and five cottages have been completely renovated, along with many new improvements to the hotel itself.

The new recreation complex at Weymouth Falls, which is a credit to this community and its citizens, was officially opened by the Premier.

SURGEON-IN-CHIEF DELIVERS SIX OF TWENTY-ONE

Dr. A. S. Melanson, a thirty-one year old Sudbury, Ontario, doctor who has recently been appointed surgeon-in-chief for Department of Gynaecology and Obstetrics, had the distinction of delivering six of the 21 New Year babies in Sudbury, two of them requiring caesarian section.

Dr. Melanson is a son of Mrs. Melanson and the late Dr. H. J. Melanson, Weymouth. Dr. Melanson, his wife, the former Irene Nadon, of Timmins, and their four children, moved to Sudbury a year ago and live on Barrydown Road. The children are Louise 6, Jules 5, Paul 3 and Eric 2.

As a boy, Dr. A. S. Melanson wanted to be a doctor and follow in the footsteps of his father. He studied and received his B.A. honor degree at St. Anne's College, Church Point, N. S., and then graduated with honors from the University of Ottawa in 1965. He did his residency in obstetrics and gynaecology at the University of Vermont, in Burlington, Vermont, and later specialized in obstetrics and gynaecology at New York Downstate Medical Centre, Brooklyn, New York.

The New Year baby arrivals began at 8:30 p.m. on New Year's Eve with the caesarian operation. At the General Hospital he delivered another baby around 1:30 New Year's morning, then another caesarian at 11:05, then at 3:30 p.m. another at Memorial Hospital, 9:30 p.m. another and at 12:30 p.m. another. Dr. Melanson had been used to visiting adventures in the field on obstetrics. While at the New York Downstate Medical Centre he gained international fame for an unusual delivery. A Puerto Rican woman, nearing her term of pregnancy, was standing at the window of a slum area on June 14, 1967. She was hit by a sniper's shot and the bullet penetrated the womb and lodged in the unborn baby's mouth. Dr. Melanson said, "He delivered the critically injured woman by caesarian section. Three days after the birth, the child passed the bullet intact from his bowel.

Both the mother and baby made a fine recovery, and Melanson's work was reported in the New York Times, and papers across the United States and Canada, and written up in the American Medical Journal. It was at this Centre where they delivered 7,200 babies a year.

Next to his work, Dr. Melanson has another love besides his wife — it's railroading! "When I want to relax after a tough time, I go down to the CPR or CNR yards and talk railroading with any old-timer I can find. Just to get up in that train, why golly, I feel absolutely on a cloud."

He's a "crone" with Edward J. Healey, area manager of Capreol's CNR offices. The two sit for hours "chatting about railroading."

Little Brook Student Gets Medal

Pelle Dennis Condon, one of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Condon, Little Brook, graduate of Clare District High School, now attending St. Mary's University, was winner of the 1971 Lieutenant - Governor's Medal for Digby County. The announcement was made along with that of other winners by Lieutenant - Governor Victor deB. Oland.

The medals for 1971 will be formally presented by the Lieutenant-Governor at a later date.

The silver medals are presented to students who attain the highest aggregate on the Grade XII Nova Scotia provincial examinations in mathematics, one science and one foreign language.

Does the fact that we're guaranteed twice as long, mean that we're twice as good?

We can't prove it, but one thing's sure: we're twice as confident.
Our warranty lasts for two years or 24,000 miles. Whichever comes first.*

Anybody else's warranty will have the notable exception of Rolls-Royce is good for only 12 months or 12,000 miles.
How can we do it? We're the only ones who have stuck with one car model for 24 years. Time enough to improve and refine it over 2,200 times.

*All of the terms of this warranty are clearly defined in the owner's manual and will be explained by any authorized Volkswagen dealer in Canada. Based on known models.

We pay a legion of inspectors to make sure nothing leaves our hands that shouldn't leave our hands.

And we're the only car makers with VW-Diagnosis, an electronic system that protects our cars after they leave our hands.

So while a Volkswagen may not be the lowest-priced economy car you can buy, once you check into what you get for what you pay, you'll find very few car companies who, in reality, end up with their prices lower.

And none who start out with their standards higher.

Halifax, Nova Scotia,
February 21, 1972.

As Minister of Public Health, I wish to congratulate the doctors of Digby on the opening of the McCleave Medical Centre.

The construction and opening of this Centre is noteworthy in that it was initiated and carried through by the doctors themselves.

The location of the Centre adjacent to the Digby General Hospital is an attempt by the doctors to provide a coordinated health service to the people of the Digby area and will result in a better coordinated service to all those requiring medical attention.

The cooperation displayed by the doctors, the Digby General Hospital and the community at large, is most commendable. The opening of this medical centre demonstrates the initiative and concern of the doctors of the Digby area in displaying leadership in the delivery of health services to their patients.

I offer the doctors associated with the McCleave Medical Centre my sincere congratulations.

ADELAIDE DANIELS

FAT CHILDHOOD ISN'T FUNNY

The day is past when it was considered cute for youngsters to be pudgy.

Today, nutritionists feel there's something wrong if a child is a fatty. And the possibilities for their life-long overweight, with its physical and emotional disadvantages, is something to make mothers stop and think.

If your child is one of a family of overweights, you need look no further for the cause of it. Obviously, something needs to be done about the family's diet.

If, on the other hand, one child is obese while the rest of the family enjoys normal weight, first stop blaming your doctor, to check the cause of it.

In a few rare cases the difficulty could be glandular and can be treated. If your child has developed a psychological problem that takes most of it over, this too can and should be handled.

Most of the time it's merely a question of bad eating habits. Don't waste money on dieting or programs of proper meal-portioning by your doctor. Overweight in children, especially during adolescence, can leave a life-long emotional scar.

Are you providing the recommended amounts of fruits, vegetables, protein foods and milk? If these are lacking in the diet, your child may compensate with too much carbohydrate. Failure to eat proper foods can result in an inner hunger that craves fattening snacks.

Another clue to your child's overweight may be a skipped or inadequate breakfast. A high percentage of children in Canada leave home without breakfast, and in many instances, eat a high-calorie, low-nutrition food such as cake, candies, pastries and pop.

Get your child up early enough for an adequate breakfast, even if it's a light one. Try him first with usual kind, carefully cooked. Provide a minimum of vitamin-rich juice, and cereal with milk — or a choice of eggs, bacon or fish with toast and a milk beverage. If your child is adamant in refusing breakfast, nutritionists say that you could try a hamburger, hot dog or bacon on a bun. Children's tummies will stand it, and it's good food at any time of day.

— ABOUT THIS AND THAT —

Regionalization For Hospitals & Health Services

Regionalization and co-ordination of hospitals, other health services and related services is the big topic since Health Minister, Honorable Scott MacNutt, met more than 400 members of hospital boards and news media in Halifax on Saturday afternoon. This meeting was a follow-up of a committee report on "An Integrated System of Hospital Facilities and Related Services" distributed for study in December 1971. While Boards from as far West as Yarmouth and East to Cape Breton entered the discussion and had their problems and questions answered, it was Digby County's participation and involvement which concerned us mostly as we listened to the plans being unfolded. (See front page story on entire meeting.)

May we at this time commend the Digby Hospital Board for having such a fine representation there and commend the Hon. Mr. MacNutt, a former Digby boy, for the manner in which he patiently dealt with every issue from around the province.

From the committee's report probably the most significant proposal to Digby County is the proposal for a Nursing Station in Freeport. This is a facility which Dr. Godbole has been advocating since he has been in Freeport. It is proposed to be a diagnostic and treatment centre with two observation and recovery beds. The report states, and we concur, that this would provide a badly needed service to the people on the islands and assist them in retaining a physician for longer periods. This definitely would be a step forward in health facilities for the islands.

According to the report as presented by Robert Knox of the Nova Scotia Health Council executive and Dr. Goss, chairman, the criteria for the proposed regions included population density, distance, regional and municipal developments, natural flow of traffic, existing hospital facilities and wishes of the people. However, other factors and patterns, not so well known to members of the committee, also enter the picture and could have its effect on the plans as proposed. The Minister is aware of this and fortunately advises flexibility enough to take these factors into consideration.

Digby has a unique situation. While the entire County flow of traffic possibly could tend toward Yarmouth, the East end of Digby County, the Islands and Digby town (particularly in health services) have a trend East to Digby, the Valley and Halifax. Digby and Valley hospital and health services have had strong associations for several years, using the same consultants for medical education services and other reasons. Recently the V.O.N. service in Digby has been extended to Annapolis County. Hospital referrals have been in Halifax direction invariably. Other considerations in the regional boundary, so far as Digby is concerned, are the fine facilities which have been built up at the Digby General Hospital such as those shown on screen by Dr. A. MacD. Lawley at the Digby General Hospital annual meeting.

While Digby has been proposed for regionalization with Yarmouth and Yarmouth being the regional hospital, it is found, when all facts are considered, the natural trend for Digby would seem to remain in the Valley direction.

Other areas have similar problems to Digby so it is doubtful whether the boundaries of regions will continue as proposed although the idea of regionalization of some nature and co-ordination of health services sounds like a progressive step.

One thing intrigued us as we listened to proceedings on Saturday. Physical fitness was mentioned as part of the program. We wonder if this program will eventually come out of education into the health program entirely. We liked Mr. MacNutt's reference to the World Health Organization's definition of Health, "A state of complete physical, mental and social well being, not merely the absence of disease or infirmity."

Worthy Recess

Like teachers, doctors, news people, road builders and other areas of life and occupation, members of the legislature are at times required to attend meetings or conferences. To do so is to make them more knowledgeable on how and what goes on. This is of benefit to the province or nation. While taxpayers would have their paid representatives in their places at all times, there are times when it is beneficial to the taxpayer that they be attending some important meeting or taking care of some otherwise important business. It was for the above reason that the Nova Scotia provincial legislature took a recess from Friday until Tuesday.

Hodge Podge

— "Definitely heart patients and accident cases have less chance of survival without ambulance service." That from one who knows.

— Way down there in Vernal, Utah, we see they are talking pollution problems. Another Wallis editor by the name of Jack has an editorial in The Vernal Express, so the pollution Cleanup Campaign is on all over the world. Jack says "The greatest stumbling block on the road to a solution of our environmental dilemma is the reluctance of the general public to face up to certain unpleasant, but unavoidable, choices." Evidently cost

One means of keeping the House functioning would have been a method of "pairing" when a member of the opposite side of the House would refrain from voting if their pairing partner had to be away. We are happy to know the legislative members have grown up even if other functions are so important to attend that the House had to recess. Can you imagine embarrassing that people get out to vote for their favorite candidate at election time and then the favorite candidate refrain from voting on the very issue, probably, for which he was elected.

— "Parent power in education is on the upswing" we read recently. As we write the Education Week has still not passed into oblivion and the Home and School meeting is still to come. We judge the truth of the statement when we see the results of the week.

— Home and School is public involvement. Are you involved?

Personal Items

Miss Jean Brittain was a weekend visitor in Halifax on Saturday.

Mrs. Ralph Stacey visited her parents in Halifax on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. V. G. Candora were visitors in Halifax over the weekend.

Little Tole, Griepskewski has returned home from the Digby General Hospital after having her legals removed.

Ray Wagner of Bear River spent a few days last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark and family.

A window at Rosen Thon spiker's office has a display of art work by the late Mrs. Bessie Clark, which will be there until March 10th.

Mrs. Gladys Clark left Halifax via Air Canada on Saturday for Toronto, where she will visit her family for an indefinite time.

Robert Spik, son Bob and Cheryl Thrus of Greenwood, visited last weekend with Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Huxley and family, of Fall River, Halifax County.

Mrs. Ritson (Maude) Longmire is spending her annual vacation in Clearwater, Florida, with a guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. Longmire, and Mrs. Longmire.

Mrs. J. M. Wallis was in Halifax during the weekend to attend a meeting with the Nova Scotia Hospital Board, called by the Minister of Health, Scott MacNutt, followed by 4 guests including:

Walter Johnson, of Mount Pleasant, who is visiting his family in Toronto and other parts of Ontario, was hospitalized in Toronto for some time. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson went to Ontario to visit in January and will return in April.

Baby Michael d'Amore, Brighton, spent the weekend with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gormaine, Mount Pleasant, while his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael d'Amore, spent the weekend visiting in Dartmouth.

Roger Johnson, Sackville, N.S., has the absolute right to badly cut all his fingers on his left hand while using a power saw. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, who built a new home in Sackville, were residents of Mount Pleasant in Digby County.

Mrs. Arnold Prime, Tiverton, has been a visitor of her brother, Albert Jefferson, and Mrs. Jefferson and family, of Digby, for the past few days during the recent passing of her mother, Mrs. Herbert Jefferson. She also visited her sister, Mrs. George Milburn and her aunt, Mrs. Cecelia Winchester.

Those from the Digby General Hospital Board who attended the meeting of the Ministry of Health, Scott MacNutt with N.S. Hospital Boards in Halifax on Saturday were Dr. D. E. Lewis, F. C. Purdy, Gordon Turnbull, Mr. A. J. Dillon, Victor Thompson, Ralph Stacey, Gerald Connelly, Joseph Little and MacLeod Rogers.

Notes from Bird Haven

Just twelve more days and Spring will be here officially. March came in like a lion so maybe it will go out like a lamb.

Anyone heard a babbling brook sound coming from a tree? It would be the courtship song of the Cow Bird. The male Cow Bird is rather pretty black with a brown head, the female is grey. These birds are lazy, sneaky birds. They do not build a nest for themselves, but lay their eggs in another bird's nest, often in a Yellow Warbler's. The Warbler finding a strange egg in her nest will try to throw it over the side or will build another floor to her nest, thus covering the intruder's egg, sometimes at the expense of her own egg. Naturally, when the eggs hatch the Cow Bird is much larger, demands more food and eventually crowds out the baby Warblers.

They are a fairly new bird for this section, having only been seen in large flocks the last twenty years or so. Before that a stray one would be classed as rare.

Speaking of rare birds, there is a flock of Bohemian Waxwings feeding on hawthorne berries in the south end of town. This bird is listed in "The Birds of Nova Scotia" by Dr. Tufts as being very rare, not too many records for N.S., although they have been seen in Halifax Co. several times. The first one I saw was having a drink in a ditch several years ago, then I had a pair in the yard for a short time. It nests in the northwestern region but wanders great distances, hence the name Bohemian.

The lovely Bald Eagle has been reported from the Shore Road again this year. It apparently has been coming to the same spot for several years. It is good to know there are a few of them left in the country. In the province of Nova Scotia it is illegal to kill or molest an eagle. This applies as well to the U.S.

A lovely Snow Goose was seen by friends passing through New Minas Sunday. These birds are seldom seen here but an odd one may join up with a flock of Canada Geese.

A flock of new birds to the section was reported last week. They appear very rare and are a greenish colour. Thought they might be Pine Grosbeaks. Will try and tell you what they are later.

Two more Mourning Doves have been reported in the town.

A lovely book at our library, "Now I Remember", an autobiography by Thornton Burgess, well worth reading.

Hope everyone is watching the T.V. Audubon pictures Sunday afternoons — they are lovely.

So long for this time.

The Bird Lady.

The Digby Courier, Digby, N.S.

Dear Editor,

Were you ever to a Tax Appeal Court? If not I would like to tell you what it is like.

They all sit around a long table. The Judge and secretary sit at one end, the "Red Guards" sit along one side and you on the other. Then the Judge swears you in. I don't know what far, you don't say anything and they won't let you ask any questions. It is like a Communist court.

The Judge asks you a list of stupid foolish questions about your house, brick, wood or straw, windows and doors one or more, basement, heating system, chimney, etc., etc.

While all this is going on the "Red Guards" just sit there and don't open their mouths. I did see one guard nudge the other when a fly landed on the Judge's hair. The Judge asked you if one of the guards if he wanted to ask me any questions. How can I, you asked them all. I had to make a quick reply to keep from laughing in his face. When he finished asking questions he didn't make any comments (whatsoever), just said next man please.

Would you say a judge is the right man for making adjustment on assessment (not for me).

I would say it's like a blind man. How can he make an adjustment sitting in a court room. He can't see the property. I would say an expert

Pickles, Pearls & Postcards

It has stormed all day. James, who had a dentist appointment this afternoon, rejoiced. He had been forewarned, hoping that the dentist might break his leg, or come down with mumps, but, considering that his last appointment had been cancelled because of the dentist's infected finger, that was too much to expect. As a more realistic second best, James prayed that the storm might grow worse, so we couldn't go. I had, in fact, already consulted with the milkman, who is an authority on such matters, and he advised me to stay home. However, with appointments being as hard as they are to get, when half an hour before our scheduled time, the storm showed no sign of getting worse, we left. As it happened, the weather cleared briefly while we were on our way, and our expedition turned out to be a pleasant outing. The weather was bright and clear between storms, the driving just bad enough to be adventurous, and the conversation ran that fascinating range of mother and son topics, from buried treasure, through stamp collecting, to submarines.

Maybe dentists hurt less now than they did a generation ago, or maybe children today are braver than they were then, or, perhaps, as I fondly suspect, my children just happen to be of perfect little when they go to the dentist. James is the only one who puts up any protestation at all, and his objections are usually limited to wishing drive, things to befall the good tooth doctor, a few half-hearted jokes, and a pretense of backing up as we walk down the hall to the dentist's office. Nevertheless, when we reach the fateful door, he goes in without a murmur. The other two, in fact, greet the dentist with a broad smile, and follow him, laughing and joking into that mysterious room filled with mirrors, dials, and shiny machinery. To someone who remembers screaming all the way to the dentist's office at their age, the sight of three children entering with no trepidation whatever, is, to say the least, awe inspiring.

We stopped on the way home to pick up some of that gourmet's delight, Kentucky fried chicken, for the kids' supper, because I was expecting company at that civilized time when all children are in bed, and I had no intention of preparing supper twice. The kids would consider the chicken a treat, and never realize they were being gulled.

The storm, which must have been expressing its approval of James getting his cavity filled, resumed its fury before we got home.

After the kids had eaten, while I was laying the dining table with my best china and silver, the guests called to cancel out because of the storm. I cooked the meal I was planning for them. We gorged ourselves alone on a Russian duck calipee hashish, which we first met and liked at the Russian Pavilion at Expo '67, lima beans, rice, and Dutch apple pie.

Now it is night. The children are at last in bed. It is still storming. The snow, which swirls in large damp flakes under the street lamps, spatters against the window, dissolving into watery globs, which slide down the pane, and collect in a translucent crescent at the bottom. I am sitting in front of the fireplace, catching the last smoky glow of a dying fire, which refuses to revive, even with the addition of three fresh logs. I am agreeably aware of the pleasant discomfort of having eaten too much. It is a cozy evening, conducive to writing columns, answering letters or packing a box for the Salvation Army from the outgrown clothes I weeded out of the kids' wardrobes during my closet cleaning efforts this morning.

Which shall I do first?

It is too much over and under. I need real estate agent could do a fair job without seeing the property if he could get all the information he wanted and come up with a close figure in a court room. As for an "old" Judge, sitting in a court room trying to make adjustments on the public's property, some property is assessed high and some too low.

I have discussed taxes with contractors and they, too, say experienced carpenters and

She also gave a brief outline of the meeting of hospital associations with Hon. Scott MacNutt held in Halifax on Saturday to discuss Integrated Health Services in Nova Scotia.

Councillor Charles McBride reported the Digby Fire Department answered four calls in February, all being out of town. The fire loss was $5,000.

Joseph Hallie brought up the question of authority in advising town workers. He felt the chairman of each committee should exercise this authority in his own field.

Councillor Gordon Ellis asked the relationship between the Digby Recreation Commission and the Town of Digby. He was informed that the Mayor and Deputy Mayor are always on the executive, the Recreation Commission has a separate financial account but it has no borrowing power on its own unless backed by the town or Department of Municipal Affairs.

Mr. Ellis noted that repairs to $5,000 were being made this year in the Forum and another year they would probably be 100% more. In January it was stated it was payable to the town but the Commission pays the premium. Presently, it was reported, there are seven men from the town and four from the municipality employed in the Forum.

Several letters were read at the meeting on Monday. One was from Miss Wanda Ellis, Acadaville, student at the Nova Scotia Teachers College, seeking information about the town. There was an invitation from the mayor of Quebec City for the Digby mayor to visit them. A letter from Miss Anne MacFarlane, head of a folk group, "Just Us", requesting to perform at the meeting on Monday.

on a show in Digby between June 26 to September 1, was referred to the Nova Scotia Council. A letter from Mrs. Sarah Stevens requested information about Bluffs who had lived in Digby.

C. C. MacInnis and Mrs. Patricia Smith were given permission to attend a conference to be held in Halifax April 21 and 22 which will deal with exceptional child care. Permission was also granted to Board members who wish to attend.

Permission was granted for the use of school facilities at designated times to the Nova Scotia Housing Commission for citizens meetings. Digby County Music Festival Committee for a program, the Digby Flower Show in August; Home and School meeting March 9 and Digby Hospital Board, February 24.

Motions were passed to purchase a get-together and a movie projector, the costs being in the vicinity of $1,025 and $750 respectively. Mrs. Hannah, teacher of the auxiliary class, was granted permission to take a group of 24 from Grades VIII and IX to visit CFB Greenwood in May.

APPEALS (Continued from page 1) Finance committee meeting is set for Saturday, March 17. The monthly finance committee report which was presented by Councillor Gordon Ellis and adopted showed bills amounting to $5,884.20 paid for the month. Outstanding bills were written off to the amount of $365.74. Authorization was given to pay the secretary $10 per meeting for the Planning Advisory Committee.

Councillor Gordon Ellis made a motion that Digby Councillors be paid $20 per meeting and the Mayor be paid $25 per meeting. It was noted that this transaction would have to be done by by-law. The Mayor advised Mr. Ellis that he should, together with the town solicitor, draw up a by-law to present, if he wished, but he, as Mayor, would not accept a fee for his services. He said he would turn the fee back to somebody or something if the by-law is passed.

Councillor Willard Kenney moved that enquiries be made into buying salt in bulk by train-car loads or truck loads. The motion was passed. The streets committee had reported that streets were salted 16 days in February and there was one heavy snow storm.

WORLD DAY (Continued from page 1) of intercession for Foreign Missions and others followed. The present World Day of Prayer sprang from these early beginnings, growing at first as a miracle. Services were held in Asia and missionaries and church women travelling abroad spread the Word and groups joined to gether until in 1927. The World Day of Prayer became the permanent name of the day.

The service this year was prepared with the cooperation of women of various European countries, East and West, under the auspices of the International Committee on the World Day of Prayer. The Women's Inter-Church Council of Canada, as well as sponsoring the World Day of Prayer, is responsible for distributing the offering. In 1971 there was $60,000 allocated to various institutions, organizations and societies in Canada and around the world with emphasis on Christian literature and educational projects.

NINE FROM (Continued from page 1) segments of the health profession at both the Federal and Provincial levels and including those involved in the operations of hospital services, physician services, Municipal Affairs, Public Welfare, Public Health, as well as those from the housing Agencies. The report has not been reviewed by government and does not necessarily represent government policy, it is understood, but the government had asked the Nova Scotia Council of Health to review the report and offer advice.

Mr. MacInnis said he was aware of the limitations of the present health care delivery system and aware that quality health care is not equally accessible to all people of Nova Scotia. He said he is aware that many areas do not have a sufficient supply of general practitioners and specialist services, and that the right sort of hospital bed is not always in the best location.

Many patients throughout the province are requesting admission to Halifax regional hospitals because they are unable to get their homes he said. This is causing overcrowding and delays in admitting patients from around the province and resulting in discharges being delayed, sometimes, unfortunately, much too late, he added. At the same time, there are hospitals throughout the province which are completely underused and many patients are in General Hospitals which could be cared for in more appropriate and less costly facilities, or even in their own homes. Mr. MacNutt told the audience.

He felt that if hospitals in certain areas of the province could be sufficiently improved, both in size and facilities, the day of patients entering the Halifax referral hospitals, which should be reserved for the referral of patients involved in major areas of treatment and diagnosis, such as neurosurgery, cardiovascular surgery, organ transplants, major cancer cases, and so on.

Together, therefore, the Minister told Board members we must search out ways, within the limitations of our financial resources, to reallocate and improve our manpower and facilities to make essential services more readily available to the people who need them. This will mean new approaches and new organizations, he admitted.

The overriding problem as the Minister saw it was finances and said that the total provincial expenditure on health is now approaching 140 million dollars per year. It has gone up 2 1/2 times in the last decade. Expenditures on general hospitals in Nova Scotia are increasing at a rate of 15% per year, yet the increase in our provincial health is only 1% of that, he remarked.

The Minister said this concept assumes that all health resources and programs, including doctors, hospitals, nurses and other health professions, be more closely associated than before. It also assumes that health programs which now function directly under the provincial government must relate directly to the activities of other health professionals within hospitals, and other centres where health care is provided. In order to achieve the goal of a coordinated health system, the council has recommended the principle of regionalization.

He went on to say that health services in this context includes preventive and curative services for physical and mental and public health, and may eventually include these environmental control programs which may require a slightly different type of organization. Consideration will also be given to methods of public health, departmental administration once the shape of the new health system becomes clear.

Persons referred to by Mr. MacNutt were shown by map with commentary by Mr. Knox. They included Westport, where Digby had been designated and also including Yarmouth, and Shelburne with Yarmouth the regional base; Central, Northern, Eastern and Cape Breton. The formidable Mr. MacNutt was cognizant of the trend of Digby traffic to the Valley area and expressed himself vividly on the matter. The regions have merely been proposed and will not be established without recognizing community needs and community wishes and habits. Traffic, however, he said, might change with establishing of regions. Appropriate guidelines will be provided to evaluate the needs of communities and give advice on the best methods and set-up to meet the needs. The regions proposed had been designed according to geography, population and different programs in relation to need and were varied in size.

The study committee's proposal, figured the Western region population to be 550,000 reducing to 527,000 in the year 1980 and the first time that it was less than 500,000, being an oil lamp with a red chimney and was a stationary beam.

The bell that was erected as a Centennial Bell at Digby was not the first bell used at Northern Point, but the second one that was placed on a cement block at the rear of the lighthouse and was rung by a protruding arm run from the shed and powered by a gasoline engine.

Two observations and recovery beds. Rowesway Hospital in Shelburne would continue as at present. With the proposed new set up Boards of hospitals will not confine their activity to the operation of an isolated hospital but extend their responsibilities more into the well being of a community in conjunction and co-operation with other communities in a particular region. Health Minister Scott MacNutt said on Saturday.

David Wilson, better known as "Duffer", is a Digby Regional High School student who takes complete charge of operating the new Fairchild Scan-graver, which does our pictures. David has been at the Digby Courier holidays and after school for nearly two years. David did the engraving for his picture above.

History Of Northern Point Lighthouse, Brier Island

The first lighthouse keeper at Northern Point Light was Charles Buchanan, who was born and lived all his life at the northern end of Brier Island. He tended the station faithfully for 40 years and during his stay there he was presented a long service medal from King George 6th.

One of the citizens, Harry McMorand, who lived at Northern Point in his earlier days, had said that at the time there was a fair size settlement on the Point. The first lighthouse was built in the year 1800 and the first time that it was lit was on Jan. 1, 1801, being an oil lamp with a red chimney and was a stationary beam.

The bell that was erected as a Centennial Bell at Digby was not the first bell used at Northern Point, but the second one that was placed on a cement block at the rear of the lighthouse and was rung by a protruding arm run from the shed and powered by a gasoline engine.

The original bell was small in size and was run by clock work and weights and was in use until 1865 as an auxiliary bell when power failed. It was run by a battery. The date on the inside of the small bell was 1862.

Up until the fall of 1947, there was no road that could travel, only a cart track or a narrow path. In that year Terrance Robitshaw with a team of oxen plowed the ground for the new road and was helped in this work by Harry Coggins and son James.

This new road was a much shorter way to Northern Point. In the summer of 1951 an extension well was drilled on the hill opposite the house. In 1948 in the month of December electricity was installed in the form of a horn was placed there and an electric lamp replaced the oil one.

There have been a number of light keepers in the first being Charles Buchanan from 1801 until his death in 1862. The old house was built a few years after the lighthouse and was there until May 1968, when upon completion of a new house and lighthouse they were demolished. The dwelling is a bungalow, the fog alarm and lighthouse are a combine structure, the light is still red but it is a flashing one instead of stationary.

Many are the changes in the past years. To one who spent a good part of his childhood at Northern Point, it was not a pleasant day to see the place of many memories being torn down, cast over the cliff and burned, but we have to go along with the changes in this modern world.

that Nova Scotia goes along with the World Health Organization's definition of the word Health "A state of complete physical, mental and social well being, not merely the absence of disease or infirmity".

E. B. Tufts Heads Red Cross Campaign

The Red Cross Campaign chairman for Digby is Ernest B. Tufts. James Beyer heads the entire Nova Scotia campaign, which is seeking $7,000.

What happens to Red Cross dollars? They help provide many services to people in Nova Scotia.

Blood Transfusion Services — Collects blood from voluntary donors, tests and distributes it, in the form of whole blood or blood derivatives to all hospitals in Nova Scotia. There is no charge to the patient.

Water Safety — Trains personnel in swimming, water safety and artificial respiration. Purpose of the program is to reduce suffering caused by drowning and water accidents and to encourage the development of local facilities and improvement of health through the promotion of these programs.

Disaster & Emergency Relief Services — In time of a major disaster, the Red Cross works with emergency measures, organization and the responsibilities of supplying emergency blood, registration and enquiry and providing volunteers to assist in other health and welfare needs.

Annapolis Municipality Has $44,000 Surplus

A surplus of $44,000 will be realized in the Annapolis Municipal general financial operations according to the report of the clerk-treasurer. Overall expenditures for the year reached the one and one-half million mark for the first time. The budget was closely adhered to in all phases. The surplus was mainly realized in the operation of the two homes and in the restricting of capital expenditures. Mountain Lea Lodge and the Home for Disabled operated at capacity, thus substantially reducing the Municipal contribution.

The purchase of an incinerator and the building of a two room extension on a school were not carried out.

Women's Work — Volunteers and groups are provided with material and patterns which are made up into clothing for victims of fire and other disasters in Nova Scotia.

Red Cross Youth — A program for youth carried on in the school. Funds raised by these members are used to help needy children at home and abroad. Senior Red Cross looks after the administrative costs of this program.

Care in the Home — Registered nurses on voluntary basis teach sickroom and emergency care to homemakers and others who are interested.

Homemaker Service — Organized to provide trained Red Cross workers to care for the children and run the home when the mother is ill and thus enable the father to continue working.

Sickroom Supplies — Without charge provides on temporary loan hospital beds, wheel chairs, crutches, sick-room bedside equipment, etc. Individuals convalescing at home may borrow this equipment for up to three months.

Enquiry Bureau — Traces individuals in times of disaster of those who have lost track with their relatives. Assistance is also given in reuniting separated families.

International Work — The program is carried out through the League of Red Cross Societies, with headquarters in Geneva. The League of Red Cross Societies co-ordinates relief on the international level to major disaster areas throughout the world and assists in the coordination of self-help programs in developing nations.

Veterans — The Red Cross Lodge operates at Camp Hill Hospital in Halifax, providing cafeteria and recreation for patients. There is an arts and crafts program for veterans, while volunteer workers continue hospital visiting established more than fifty years ago.

Services for Seniors — Red Cross senior and youth volunteers provide transportation and assistance to senior citizens whether handicapped, shut-in or just lonely. This new program in addition to providing help for younger people, also encourages self-help and community involvement of senior citizens.

Total Loans

$141 Million

The Honourable Jean Marchand, Minister of Regional Economic Expansion, has announced that the Federal Government has approved loans totalling $36,014,040 to seven provinces under the Federal Provincial Employment Loans Program, 1971.

Total loans made to the provinces under the program are now: Newfoundland, $6,624,616; Prince Edward Island, $2,800,800; Nova Scotia, $5,837,580; New Brunswick, $7,706,002; Quebec, $65,200,000; Ontario, $29,442,192; Manitoba, $5,000,000; Saskatchewan, $6,517,829; Alberta, $5,995,402; and British Columbia, $12,917,780. A balance of about $12 million remains to be approved for loans to the provinces. Quebec and Manitoba have already received their complete allocations.

Loans under the program are to help initiate additional job-creating capital projects across the country. Loan applications related to particular projects are submitted by the provinces and assessed by a Federal inter-departmental committee.

According to a Guidebook of Canada written back in 1894 by a German publisher, Karl Knipper, Digby was rated as a tourist potential. At least, it was included in the book.

This is what the guide had to say: Digby, "a popular little watering place on the Annapolis Basin with about 1,000 inhabitants and a long pier... Numerous excursions are made to Digby in the fruit season for the sale of cherries (July) while its sherrings, known as 'Digby Chickens', are famous throughout the Atlantic provinces."

On Dean's List

Four students from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick are included on the Dean's List of Bob Jones University, Greenville, South Carolina. Students listed carried at least a "B" average during the first semester. Bob Jones University, known as the "World's Most Unusual University," is a liberal arts, co-educational Christian institution. Over 4,500 students are enrolled from nearly every state and about 30 foreign countries and territories.

Included in Dean's List is Miss Judy Joanne Corkum, daughter of Mr. Mark P. Corkum, Saint John, N. B.; junior, College of Arts and Science. Miss Corkum is a niece of Mrs. J. M. Wallis, Digby, N. S.

Others are Robert James Gallant, Moncton, N. B.; sophomore, School of Religion; Miss Susan Edith O'Brien, Moncton, N. B.; freshman, School of Business Administration; and Miss Barbara Ann Ward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gifford Ward, Kingston, senior, School of Education.

Attention Deer Hunters

Lands and Forest Minister Benoit Comeau said the time has come to determine, once and for all, whether or not a close the deer hunting season in Nova Scotia. Mr. Comeau made the comment in moving a resolution calling on the legislature's select committee on lands and forests to hold public hearings to determine whether or not the present one month hunting season should be completely closed.

Mr. Comeau, in closing out debate on the resolution, said "if it can be arranged it would be a good idea to have meetings anywhere in the province where people can come and air their views." The present deer hunting season in the province is from Oct. 15 to Nov. 15.

Mrs. Stokoe

Adds U.C.W.

Mrs. John Stokoe, Bear River, area vice-president of the Valley Presbyterian United Church Women, was guest speaker at Grace United Church Women on Tuesday evening, February 28th. The topics discussed centred around acceptable ways of raising money for church, the drug situation, social activities and freedom of speech, especially in regard to church women.

Mrs. Stokoe reminded officers of church organizations of their duties and suggested involving young people such as C.G.I.T. in the U.C.W. as Junior U.C.W. The importance of concile and prompt reports of officers was emphasized.

Mrs. Stokoe's office expects in March when it is expected that Mrs. R. K. Purdy, Bear River, will succeed her in office.

The evening began with a devotion, led by Mrs. William Clayton on the theme "And Let Us Pray". Readers were Mrs. Jackie Turnbull, Mrs. Bryon Dwyer, Mrs. C. G. MacInnes, president, presided.

Refreshments were served by Unit 1 of Grace United Church Women, with Mrs. Donald Fleet, president.

To Address Co-op

Hon. Allan J. MacEachern, President of the Privy Council of Canada, will address the annual Meeting Banquet of Maritime Cooperative Services Limited, at Moncton, on Wednesday evening, March 22. The two-day annual meeting of the central co-operative will be attended by some 300 delegates and guests from all parts of the Atlantic Provinces.

Fishing in our area continues to be a big industry although the landings of some species have dropped considerably. This has been partly compensated for by rising prices.

Our greatest need at present is wharves and harbours for our fishermen. New and larger wharves are needed around the coast. The existing ones are, in most cases, in a deplorable state of repair.

Now, I know the building and maintenance of these structures is a federal responsibility, but Mr. Speaker, when these conditions adversely affect the fishermen in my constituency, then I consider it to be my responsibility.

Several months ago, five MLAs, two of which were cabinet ministers from Western Nova Scotia, went to Ottawa regarding this matter. I had the privilege of being with this group. We spent several hours with the Minister of Public Works, the Minister of Fisheries and the Honourable Alan MacEachern.

After some very frank discussions, I think we left very little doubt in their minds as to just what was needed by our fishermen, and I certainly hope that some very positive results from this trip will become evident in the very near future.

I was pleased to learn that the federal department of Fisheries is opening up a new fisheries information centre in Halifax.

During the years the foreign fishermen have been out (Please turn to page 10)

Probe Insecurity

A discussion series to explore the meaning behind and an approach to current in security in both family and national life began Saturday, March 4, at 7:30 at the Trinity Anglican, Digby, on Sunday afternoon, February 27, when Rev. Isaac Butler used a special Order of Service for the series.

"What we see," he said, "is crisis in population, pollution, crime, corruption, violence among nations and among individuals, materialism, and confusion among statesmen, devaluation not only of the dollar but of personal integrity in family relations. In short," he added, "it looks like the profile of a doomed generation. What can we do about it?"

The divorce rate has risen to the point where one marriage in three dissolves, Friedman reported. Fewer last longer than seven years.

"In the face of such conditions," the minister said, "young people have first turned away from religion, then finding only hollowness in substitutes, many have begun again to search for God. So we have the Jesus people, rock masses, and 'superstar' music. They are reaching out for life. What will they find? What is there to find?"

The question was explored Saturday night.

Guides, Scouts, Brownies, Cubs, Attend Church Service

Approximately 75 Guides, Scouts, Brownies, Cubs and their leaders attended a special church service at Trinity Anglican, Digby, on Sunday afternoon, February 27, when Rev. Isaac Butler used a special Order of Service for the series.

Scripture lessons were read by Mark Algee (Scout) and Lindi Handspiker (Guide). Different organizations repeated their Promise Prayers.

Mr. Butler opened his address, after extending a welcome, with stories comparing what would you do if you had a lot of money and "What Do You Do With The Money You Have?" His illustrations showed willingness to share what a person does not own, but reluctance to share what is owned. He urged the young people to do their best to help others and told them they had a part to play when no one else can do for them. Jesus, he said, gives help to a whole world to be done and this help can be obtained through prayer.

Mr. Butler presided at the organ and the senior choir was in attendance.

King James Version Quartet Here

The King James Version Quartet, Canada's outstanding Gospel Quartet, will present a concert in the Digby Baptist Church on Wednesday night, March 15.

The King James Version was formed in 1967 under the name of the Churchmen Quartet, and performed only on a part time basis mainly in churches and small concerts. In 1969 they were voted as the best Semi-Professional quartet in North America by the Gospel Music Association in Memphis, Tennessee. Encouraged greatly by both this award and by their ever-increasing concert engagements, the "Churchmen" became The King James Version and stepped into the full time singing ministry.

They became familiar faces on coast-to-coast TV as they made appearances on Country-time, Crossroads and The Tommy Hunter Show.

Paul Pumber, lead singer, came to Canada from his birthplace, Argentina, when he was two. Paul has proven to be a driving force in the group and he has backed up his singing ability with studies in voice, piano, violin and musical theory.

Ed Wideman, bass singer, makes his home in Richmond Hill, Ontario. After high school, Ed gained several years experience as a sound technician. Ed has supplemented his superb bass voice with training in piano, trumpet, theory and voice.

John Lindstrom, baritone, originated from Sweden and came to Toronto when he was five. After finishing high school, John began working on and has almost completed his Bachelor of Arts degree, majoring in Psychology. He finished years of study in piano, violin and theory at the Royal Conservatory of Music in Toronto and is presently studying orchestration with one of North America's most prominent instructors, Mr. Gordon Delmonico. John also does a great deal of the arranging for the group.

Les Kliever, tenor, went from his home in Chilliwack, B. C., to two years of study in Northwest Bible College in Edmonton. Over the past years Les has been deeply involved in singing groups and has extended his talents to song-writing and piano playing. The high notes belong to Les and he has developed a reputation for handling them with skill and precision.

Peter Kaups, pianist, was one of the originators of the group in '67.

MARRIAGES

Barton - King

St. Lawrence Church, Halifax, was the scene of the wedding of Mary A. King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence King, Cape Sable, to Ronald A. Barton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Barton, Digby. Their marriage was officiated by the Rev. Mr. J. J. Wallis, Digby. Also present were the bridesmaids, Miss Patsy Bouch, and the groomsmen, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wallis.

Given in marriage by Bradford Barton Jr., the bride wore a white lace floor length gown with train and a shoulder length tiered veil. She carried a bouquet of red roses. Miss Bridget Bailey, maid of honour, wore a turquoise tulle floor length gown in "A" line style with matching gloves in her hair. She carried a bouquet of white and turquoise carnations. The best man was Howard Crundie.

Bradley - Franklin
The Hill Grove United Baptist Church was the scene of a wedding on Friday evening, February 28th, when Rev. Ronald E. Robertson presided at the marriage ceremony which united in marriage Wanda Franklin, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Franklin, of Rhode Island, and Stephen Whitten Bradley, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bradley, of Warwick, Rhode Island.

To the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Mrs. Doris Renge, the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, by whom she was given in marriage. The bride wore a floor length dress of red velvet and her bridal corsage was of white carnations.

Mr. Richard Wenas, friend of the bride, was master of honor, and she wore a floor length dress of purple fuchsia crepe, with a corsage of yellow carnations. The groom, Albert Potlitz, of Warwick, Rhode Island, was best man, and Rodney Franklin, brother of the bride, and Robert Galt, cousin of the bride, were ushers.

During the signing of the register the organ played "I'll Walk Beside You". Following the ceremony the couple received the good wishes of their friends who were in attendance at the church, and then proceeded to the home of the bride's parents, where a family reception was held. Receiving guests at the bride's home were: the mother of the bride, Mrs. Wanda Franklin, and the groom, Mr. Stephen Bradley.

The bride has been employed in Halifax for the past two years and the groom has just completed four years of service in the Canadian Armed Forces.

Statement By Minister Of Education On Teacher's Salaries

From recent conversations and discussions, from letters received and from local newspaper reports, I have found that many people do not have a clear picture as to the amounts of teacher's salaries and how they are calculated. Now is the time, therefore, to set out just how much is involved in the total increases for the current year that will result from the normal increases and the 5 per cent guideline increase that has been approved by the Provincial Government. I should like in a brief statement to provide some clarification.

In the first place, it needs to be understood that there is a province-wide standard scale of salaries in which the Provincial Government shares for the payment of teachers. For teachers holding the teacher's certificate of Class 5, which is the certificate held by the current largest group of teachers, the salary under the current scale begins at $8,600 and increases automatically each year in 10 steps, so that the maximum salary in the 11th year, becomes $10,000.

For the highest class of teachers, the maximum salary is $13,000 which increases to $13,300 in the 11th year of service. Graduates of the Nova Scotia Teachers College, which provides a two-year training course, receive a teacher's certificate of Class 3 and a beginning salary of $5,250. This class reaches the maximum salary in the 10th year of teaching at $7,350.

These two elements, type of qualification and length of service, determine the level of a teacher's salary. Substantial additional amounts are provided for the salaries of school supervisory staff and certain specialist personnel, the superintendents and principals of schools, and supervisors of curriculum and guidance supervisory personnel.

Approximately half of the teachers now employed in our schools are eligible for a normal annual increase next year because of the fact that they will have one more year of service. Many of these teachers will also qualify for an additional increment because they will have raised their class of teachers' certificate through further study. Also, teachers who can no longer qualify for service increments will nevertheless gain increased salaries next year as a result of improved qualifications.

It is clear that the great majority of our teachers will receive salary increases in the normal course of events next year.

As a matter of fact, there are only 32 teachers at present employed in the public schools who are not in a position under the present salary structure to raise their qualifications and thus obtain a higher salary, without inclusion of the so-called 5 per cent increase.

I should perhaps point out that it is possible to incur additional education and training during the summertime.

A few examples of the automatic increases may be of interest. A teacher with the lowest class of certificate receives an increase of $275 a year until the end of the fifth year of teaching. One with the certificate of Class 5 receives an increase of $400 a year until the end of the 11th year. Those holding certificates of Classes 6, 7 and 8 receive $450 additional each year until the end of the 11th year. As for increments due to reclassification to a higher certificate, a teacher entering the fifth year of service receives an increase of $1,000 in addition to the service increment. This would result in a total increase of $1,400.

A teacher in the 8th year of teaching who goes from Class 3 to Class 4 would qualify for a total increase of $1,300. Without any special increase.

Bishop - Goodall
On February 5, 1972, one of the largest weddings ever held at the C.F.B. Air Force Base, Ottawa, took place at which Miss Teresa Evelyn Goodall, of that city, became the bride of Haldenbury Bishop, of Weymouth Falls.

Mr. Barry Bishop, mother of the groom, attended the wedding as well as her three daughters and four sons, all of whom officiated in the ceremony.

The bride, gowned in a white satin, floor length dress, carrying a bouquet of orange, white and yellow roses, wore a head dress of the same colors.

Her maid of honor was in pale green and carried white flowers; the bridesmaid's dress was of rose pink, with blending accessories.

The mother of the bride, Mrs. Edward Goodall, wore a white costume with silver shoes, a pink rose corsage and a pearl necklace.

Mr. and Mrs. Bishop, the groom's mother, was seated in a pale blue lace suit and wore a corsage of white trimmed in blue and matching hat.

The bride and groom greeted their many friends following the wedding service at a reception held in the Uplands Air Force Base Club. Mr. and Mrs. Haldenbury Bishop left for Europe after the ceremony.

Promoted To Sergeant's Rank

Master Corporal R. J. (Bob) Anagnost of Annapolis Royal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Anagnost, Granville Ferry will be promoted to the rank of sergeant effective March 1.

Sgt. Anagnost is a structural technician and is employed as building inspector with the base construction engineering section at CFB Cornwallis.

He joined the Canadian army at Halifax in 1954 and underwent training with the Royal Canadian Engineers in Cornwallis, B.C. Prior to coming to Cornwallis he served tours in Germany, Patagonia, and Gagetown, and his wife Lorraine, and their children, Dennis, 18, Norman, 15, and Andy, 11, live in Annapolis Royal.

He has been suggested that there has been a lack of recognition with the teachers. However, I have met most of the Nova Scotia Teachers Union and I am meeting again with them on Thursday at this week to discuss salaries and related matter.

Mr. Anagnost is a member of the Nova Scotia Teachers' Union, Nova Scotia Teachers' Association and the Union of Nova Scotia Municipalities as well as the Department of Education, recommended that the amount of 4 1/2 per cent be added to the scale of payment to municipalities in grants from the Provincial Government for 1972.

However, after discussions, as Minister of Education I raised this amount to 5 per cent. This represents an increase of more than 10 per cent, and provides an additional $800,000 over and above the amount currently paid. It is not a fruitless result from negotiation, I don't know what is.

The financial position of the Province is well known to its citizens. If teachers' salaries were to be raised beyond the level now authorized by the Government, we would increase the deficit of the Province and thus go further into debt, or we would have to increase taxes. I want to know the feeling of our people on this matter, and I would welcome expression of points of view by the public.

Our teachers are in a position to gain even greater pay through a salary increase. I am sure that the Government would like to know the feeling of our people on this matter, and I would welcome expression of points of view by the public.

BREAKFAST CAN HELP YOU LOSE WEIGHT

The trouble with breakfast is that most people aren't eating it. Nutritionists say that 50 per cent of Canadians skip breakfast. It's the most important meal of the day — even to fat people, who are surprised to learn that it can actually help them back to a normal weight.

Whether you are thin or overweight, breakfast should provide you with at least a fourth of your day's protein, minerals and vitamins. Without it, you're unlikely to get your full complement of those important nutrients for the day.

Just as serious, is the fact that skipped breakfast results in poor concentration during the morning, afternoon drowsiness, and the danger on both counts of consuming high-calorie snacks. A high-calorie snack that destroys the value of your hard-working weight control programme.

If you are trying to lose weight, you will find it less difficult if you start with a simple but adequate breakfast such as fresh fruit or juice, a poached egg, a slice of whole-wheat bread and skim milk.

Such a breakfast is within the limits of a sound weight watching programme, yet provides enough nourishment to see you alertly through the morning.

When you get up in the morning, you have been without food for at least seven — and more likely, 10 or 11 hours. The body's supply of glucose or blood sugar, essential to the functioning of the brain and central nervous system, is at its lowest ebb for the day.

Doctors tell us that unless the body is freshly primed with the carbohydrates and proteins, you tend to become increasingly nervous and inefficient as the morning wears on.

A light but nourishing breakfast spreads its influence over the entire morning, and keeps you from being hungry by 11 o'clock, or starved by lunchtime.

This is why breakfast can actually help overweight men and women to grow slimmer. And remember, a high-calorie breakfast you are on your way to a happier, more efficient day.

D.R.H.S. Student Accepted To SMU Hockey Camp

Vernon Simms, a grade XII student at Digby Regional High School, and a member of the D.R.H.S. Royals, has been accepted to a three day hockey camp at St. Mary's University, March 13, 14 and 15.

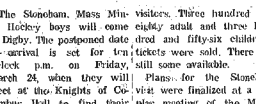

Vernon will be one of approximately forty students attending the three day clinic from outside the Halifax area.

The purposes of the camp are: (1) to expose selected high school players to university level and university coaching; (2) improve the player's skills in hockey and (3) to serve as a pilot project in hopes of promoting additional athletic programs on such a joint high school-university basis.

This is the first time a project of this nature has been introduced in Nova Scotia.

Stoneham Minors Will Arrive March 24

The Stoneham, Mass. Minors, three hundred and fifty-six children's hockey boys will come to Digby. The postponed date of arrival is set for Friday, March 24, when they will meet at the Knights of Columbus Hall to find their hosts and hostesses.

On Saturday evening, the 25th, the Stoneham parents and parents of the Digby Minor Hockey boys as well as paid-up members of the Minor Hockey League will be welcomed at a social hour.

The games between Digby and Stoneham will take place on Sunday, March 26. The Digby Regional High School Band, the Majorettes and the Majorettes and the Majorettes will be on hand to show appreciation and welcome to the Stoneham visitors.

KCA DOWNS DRHS 7-1

On Friday, November 3rd, KCA motored to Digby for the first game of a two game total goal series.

The first period of play was completely dominated by the KCA team and they started off with a 3-0 lead.

In the second period Digby fought a losing battle as they dominated the play but on numerous breakaways were stopped by KCA's superb goaltending.

The third period saw Digby continue to put forth every effort possible to get back into the game. However, they were unable to break the shutout until late in the period.

J. Moore led the KCA attack with 4 goals while B. Cochrane, A. Pope and K. F. Miller each added singletons. C. Burton scored the lone Digby marker.

KCA OUSTS DRHS

On Saturday, March 4th, the Royals visited Kentville to play the second game of the two game total goal series. KCA completely dominated the game and went on to win 14-4. Cochrane of the KCA team was the standout as he collected 10 points in the two game series.

ANNAPOLIS VALLEY WESTERN CONGRESS CHAMPIONS

The DRHS Royals have completed a very successful season. They have only played together for two years. Last year they lost more games than they won. However, this year they were CONGRESS CHAMPIONS and advanced to the district finals before being defeated by KCA last weekend. The overall picture for the season is as follows:

The Royals would like to take this opportunity to thank those who so faithfully supported them throughout the season. Also those who so faithfully gave up their time to help with transportation and attendance and support at their away games—both cheerleaders and fans.

The Royals' success this year was a combined effort of the players and fans. DRHS will now play several exhibition games, so it is possible to come and see them.

Forest Lands Are Yours In Winter Too! For decades the public recreation areas in the northern part of Canada have been with recreation seekers in summer, but largely they have been vast solitude "recreational wastelands" in a sense in winter.

Now snowmobiling, unlike anything before it, has opened up millions of acres of public lands to winter enjoyment by the real owners, the citizens of the U.S. and Canada. Included in the U.S. are national, state, county and municipal forests and parks, and their counterparts in Canada, its provinces and smaller governmental units.

And, according to the recreational experts of Mexico snowmobilers, probably never before has there been such a perfect meeting of interests, on the part of recreation seekers and the government's government-employed managers of these public lands.

The result has been the enthusiastic construction of thousands of miles of marked public trails, specifically for snowmobiling. It is also the case for summer hiking, horseback riding, cross-country skiing, and other warm weather forms of public recreation.

An initial, almost visionary reaction to snowmobiling on the part of the public land managers has made possible this vast expansion of public lands utilization by the people. The managers recognized, in the view of the majority, and only the snowmobile's potential for public recreation—and also how these existing little machines could benefit the economies of their region.

Now, for recreation seekers, there's not only a thrilling new winter sport, but also ideal places to enjoy it.

It is high time we were taking a more scientific approach to our fishing problems, and I feel quite sure that this new office will help to fill this much needed service.

I would like to suggest again this year that the idea of building a marina, and also a marlinland, a place where marlin porpoises would be a tremendous drawing card, and a point of interest to native and tourists alike.

Mr. Speaker, in reading the daily paper, it appears that the Honourable Leader of the Opposition, in his haste to spread his prophecy of doom, is trying to be in at least six or seven places at one and the same time.

He reminds me of a story told by Bob Hope about his brother that played a musical instrument called a falsetto. It was a wind instrument 20 feet long and could only be played by blowing both ends at the same time.

It is also saying that the use of the Nova Scotia Power Commission helicopter by the Premier is a terrible thing.

Most corporations of any note actually supply their president and board members with executive jets to expedite their travelling from place to place.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Salmon moved to Middleton on Sunday.

Mr. Roland Romard, Yarmouth is spending several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Marshall.

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Marshall and girls were Sunday visitors of the former's mother, Mrs. David Marshall.

Belish Zayze has returned home from the hospital much improved in health.

If the Honourable Leader of the Opposition had his way he would have the Premier travelling the province on roller skates. This, apparently, is his idea of thinking big.

I must say, the opposition is conservative — but not progressive.

I would like to direct the following remarks through you, Mr. Speaker, to the Minister of Highways.

On many occasions, while driving along the highways, I have encountered dangerous situations in which other motorists could have been involved because of slack tires, malfunctioning lights and other mechanical problems with their cars of which they are unaware.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wright, Sackville, were Friday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ebl.

Last year my wife and I, on a vacation trip outside Nova Scotia, visited several hotels and motels, and during our stay in these establishments made a few observations.

Some of these establishments seemed very cold and clinical... upon arrival at the front office, you felt as though you were being smothered. I almost expected the nearest bell boy to come up and stick a thermometer in my mouth.

One hotel, in particular, had a very elaborate brochure which tried to say how his pitiable place was. I was so glad to have read this brochure as I would never have guessed it.

Over the years, it has been so much different in Nova Scotia and long live that difference.

We have been noted for our genuine hospitality to the general public... let us never in our haste to modernize our accommodations, forget this fact.

Thousands of square yards of wall-to-wall carpeting can never replace a hearty greeting or a warm and friendly smile.

This is not a job for the Department of Tourism alone... rather, every Nova Scotian can contribute to our tourism effort by simply being friendly and helpful to any tourist that he may come into contact with.

Hospitality and friendship are the trademarks of Nova Scotia, and it is up to every citizen to maintain this proud tradition.

TEACHERS PROTEST AGAINST GOVERNMENT — NOT AGAINST SCHOOL BOARDS

The overall protest by Nova Scotia teachers is against the government and not against local school boards. It was emphasized by a panel of teachers who placed their case before parents and others who attended the Digby District Home and School Association meeting on Wednesday evening of last week.

On the panel were Jack Riley, Rupert Haley, William Paton, Mrs. Helen Matheson and Larry Hicks. They were introduced by William Troupe, vice-president of the H. & S. Association, and the pleasure of Bruce Davy, president.

The teachers' protest arose from dissatisfaction with the action of Hon. Peter Nicholson, Minister of Education, in placing a ceiling of five per cent increase on the foundation scale for teachers' salaries. The teachers claimed that the salaries of teachers in Nova Scotia were the lowest in Canada. The lowest paid in Nova Scotia was $10,000 and in New Brunswick it was $10,000. The average salary in the Digby area it was thought to be $10,000 with the highest $13,000.

There are high school teachers with B.A. and B.Ed. degrees who take home pay after deductions amounts to $4,000. It was pointed out by the audience that the average wage earner has to face the same situation regarding take-home pay and teachers work 200 days a year in comparison to other people who have to work 300 days a year. The teachers retorted that it was that two and three hours a day in the summer are spent in preparation for the coming year or by upgrading qualifications and keeping abreast of developments at summer school. They also referred to the extra curricular activities for students in which teachers participate.

Mr. Troupe, at the outset of the meeting, welcomed those present and remarked that since teachers had purposely absented themselves from Wednesday's meeting and the attendance in general was low then it should follow that it is the teachers who are supporting Home and School and not the parents.

A questionnaire sent out by the Nova Scotia Home and School Associations on the issue of school children was discussed in relation to the long hours children spent away from home, waiting for buses, dangers on the highways for bus students and for bus drivers. The questionnaires were directed to H. & S. executives, bus drivers and parents. The Lighthouse Road situation in Digby was mentioned where children on one side of the road use the bus while those on the opposite side are obliged to walk, yet it is the same distance to school.

The matter of crosswalks for school children was again discussed and the committee consisting of Gerald Dunn, Rupert Haley and Carl Saultier requested to take a new look at the feasibility of paving of crosswalks in areas where there are no sidewalks provided. It was reported that the Senior Citizens and the RCMP had been willing to cooperate in providing protection at the crosswalks if instituted.

According to information received from Gerald Dunn, president NSTU, on Tuesday that the provincial cabinet had decided to regain firm on the five per cent guideline increase in teachers salaries. The talks between the Premier, Hon. Peter Nicholson and Mr. Bartheaux had produced no change.

EXTEND V.O.N. BOARD

The Board of Victorian Order of Nurses, Digby Branch, was extended at the annual meeting on Tuesday to include members from Middleton to Weymouth. Above chatting over a cup of tea following the meeting are, left to right: Mrs. John Englehart, Digby, newly elected secretary; Mrs. Leonard Balfuse, Annapolis Royal; Mrs. J. W. Christie, Digby, who retired from the office of secretary after twelve years service and Mrs. MacLeod Rogers, newly elected second vice-president.

Other officers included: Mrs. Charles Halliburton, re-elected president; J. J. Brittain, vice president; treasurer; J. J. Brittain.

Stewart MacNaughton, re-elected. On the Board besides the above are Mrs. H. R. Bishop; Mrs. Harold Emerson, Bay View; Mrs. A. MacL. Lawley; Dr. J. R. McElvaine, Mrs. Earl Spencer, Mrs. Ralph Stacey, Mrs. Harold Stevens, Victor Thompson, Norman Kennedy of Digby; Dr. Sheehy, Middleton; Mrs. David Graham, Bridgetown; Mrs. Josephine Washer, Annapolis Royal; Mrs. Lewis Mills, Granville Centre; James Kearns, Annapolis Royal; Mrs. Leonard Balfuse, Annapolis Royal; Lawrence Snell, Deep Brook and second vice-president.

Other officers included: Mrs. Charles Halliburton, re-elected president; J. J. Brittain, vice president; treasurer; J. J. Brittain.

V.O.N. Supervisor Addresses Board

Mrs. Marlene Grantham, provincial supervisor of VON, was the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Digby Local Association held at Trinity Church hall on Tuesday. The meeting was presided over by the president, Charles Halliburton.

Mrs. Grantham said that Digby was one of the fastest developing VON organizations in the province as she referred to the extending of the Digby Branch to include most of Annapolis County and also referring to the part-time service given by the nurse at the McGee Medical Centre.

Digby is only the second place in Canada where a service such as the Centre has been tried. The other was Vancouver, B.C.

At the Centre, Mrs. Grantham said, the nurse will be interviewing and counselling patients and simple tests. She felt this new program was both a generous offer as well as a forward look on the part of the doctors. She visualized (Please turn to page 4)

Small Businesses Topic Of Meeting

John Doucet, Regional Representative of Continuing Education in Nova Scotia, has announced a Small Business Management promotion evening to be held at the meeting room at the Digby Regional High School, March 21, at 8 p.m. Films will be shown and an opportunity presented to ask relevant questions about the program as it applies to Digby County.

Present will be Dr. Oliver Allison Bishop and Fred Barrett, Bridgetown. Representatives from Annapolis County are also invited.

Entertains Doctors

Myke and Mrs. Alfred Boultier, entertained at luncheon on Tuesday in honor of doctors who were in Digby in the interest of the Crippled Children's program sponsored by the Digby Kiwanis Club. Rev. Donald Robertson, who is chairman of the Digby program, presided over the function.

Among those present were Dr. Barrie Coward, special pediatrician; Dr. Brown, orthopedic; Dr. Torrance Gillespie, whose specialty is cystic fibrosis; Dr. Noel Bristol. Also present was Mrs. Secretary, Miss Helen Miller, Halifax.

BOARD SEES NEED FOR WEYMOUTH SCHOOL ADDITION

Emmanuel Adelaar, of Weymouth, who presided at the meeting of the Digby Municipal School Board on Tuesday evening in the absence of the chairman, Mrs. M. P. Goss, expressed deep disappointment that nothing seems to be progressing in favor of the addition to the Weymouth school, which was requested. Mr. Adelaar reported that a brief had been presented to the Minister of Education in Halifax and the plans were at that time for the department to send someone to Weymouth to look over the situation.

Mr. Adelaar said they felt eight additional classrooms were needed to accommodate the program which should be carried on in Weymouth in order to provide the proper type of education suitable for all the children attending the school. Required would be two labs, two industrial arts, two business education, one house hold science and one home making. He needed to drop the guidance area and add a multi-purpose room. C. E. Edwards, inspector of schools, said he had a phone call from the chief inspector of schools, George MacKenzie, in reference to a meeting regarding Weymouth School. Mr. Edwards felt that some test study proposal for capital expenditure should be forwarded to the Department of Education, but this had not been done. It was recalled that while the school board approved of the addition to the school, the Digby Municipal Council had turned down the proposition. However, Ronald Morehouse reminded the Board that an amount of $180,000 (the Board's share much less) was put into the 1971-72 capital estimates set by the department last year for an addition to the Weymouth school. The matter will be investigated further by the Board and by the Council.

No Teacher

According to the reports of supervisors C. MacKenzie, Digby, and Keith Munner, in a Consolidated School, there have been no resignations of teachers so far in the schools on the Islands or Barren, Smith's Cove and Digby Neck for the 1972-73 term.

Mr. Munner's report to the Digby Municipal School Board on Tuesday evening did say that teachers were negotiating with other school boards.

In Smith's Cove, Mrs. Lynn Noridine is substituting for Miss Marie Morehouse, who is out on sick leave and in Barton Mrs. Winifred Prime is substituting for Mrs. Marilyn Brenner.

By motion it was decided to install a phone in the Weymouth school garage. The request was made by the bus supervisor, Roger Hankinson, who was present at the meeting.

Mrs. DeLong, of Weymouth, requested to retire from teaching at Christmas time 1972. The Board saw no objection to granting the request for that particular time.

Mr. MacKenzie reported that Frank Lewis, the janitor at Weymouth, had been requested to retire from teaching at Christmas time 1972. The Board saw no objection to granting the request for that particular time.

Hold Over Auction Articles

The monthly meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Digby General Hospital was held in the cafeteria with 13 members present.

The first vice-president, Mrs. William Reid, presided over the meeting.

The Treasurer reported a bank balance as at February 28, 1972, of $537.60.

A letter was read by the secretary from the nominating committee submitting the name of Mrs. Ralph Stacey as second vice-president. Being no further nominations, Mrs. Stacey was declared second vice-president.

Mrs. Ina Dillon is in charge of the Ladies Auxiliary Tag Day, to be held on the 30th and 31st of March. The secretary was asked to send a thank you note to Miss Marjorie McCormick conveying the auxiliary's appreciation and thanks to Miss McCormick who generously donated a hand made tufted bedspread to be sold on tickets, the proceeds for the Ladies Auxiliary of the Digby General Hospital.

The vice-president presiding was disappointed to see such a small turnout of members for the annual auction, which had been such a big success in the past. It was decided to keep the articles, other than the food that was on hand, until a future date. Mrs. Allan Harris did a fine job of auctioning the food that was brought in for the auction, and the sum of $40.00 was turned over to the treasurer.

All members are asked to make a special effort to attend the April meeting, at which time it is hoped to have Dr. A. MacL. Lawley show slides of recently purchased equipment at the Digby General Hospital.

Lunch was served to the ladies by Mrs. Herbert Warren and Mrs. William Kinney.

Dr. C. Gosse To Address Mental Health Annual

Dr. Clarence Gosse, Halifax, will be guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Nova Scotia Health Council, which is presently occupied with the Integrated Health Plans for the annual services proposed for the province with Hon. Scott MacNeill as health minister.

Reports of officers and committee members will be given at the annual meeting and the new officers will be presented by the nominating committee. In the discussion Mr. Ed (Please turn to page 4)

OPENS ART EXHIBIT

Louis R. Comeau, president of College St. Anne, Church Point, officially opened the week long exhibition of cartoons, oil paintings and wall hangings, sponsored by the Digby Arts Council. The college is aware that the social cultural life in the Municipality of Digby is not what it should be.

This exhibition is interesting and I hope fulfills a need in the community. It will, I am sure, give a life and I hope will develop a liking for art work amongst the people who normally are not interested in the arts, said Mr. Comeau. The college can offer you a variety of such works of art. I can assure you that we will do something to improve the cultural program by having our artists expand such as the theatre and music, as well as those mentioned above.

Reports of officers and committee members will be given at the annual meeting and the new officers will be presented by the nominating committee. In the discussion Mr. Ed (Please turn to page 4)

NEW RATE SET FOR RATEPAYERS MEETING

The ratepayers meeting called by the Digby Town Council for March 20 to obtain permission to borrow $500,000 has been postponed to April 17. In the meantime it is understood further grants will be sought in aid of the proposed project.

The meeting which was called for the multi-purpose room at the DRHS was to seek permission to borrow the $500,000 for the purpose of constructing a pollution control system in town. Grants of approximately $373,000; $90,000 and $36,000 from various sources will be applied against the $500,000, as well as any additional grants which might be utilized.

SIXTEEN YEAR OLD DROWNS

Henry Albert Milbury, Litchfield, Annapolis County, a crew member of the scallop dragger Colville Bay, lost his life by drowning near Digby on Friday afternoon. The young lad was pulled overboard when he became tangled in the drag which was being cleaned following the shucking of the scallops. He was the son of Arnold M. Milbury, of Litchfield, Annapolis County, and a member of a large family.

Mrs. Stevens Conducts Prayer Service

Mrs. Ronald Stevens conducted the postponed World Day of Prayer Service held at Grace United Church, Digby on Friday evening and explained various aspects of the service.

Leaders of the various em (Please turn to page 6)

Miss Lilla Gladys Wong, Digby, age 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Wong, High St., was among those students graduating from the Victoria General Hospital on February 23. Miss Wong was successful also in passing the exam for Registered Nurse in Nova Scotia.

Form Kinette Club

The newly formed Kinmen Club of Digby has finished its first money raising project, the raffle of a five band radio which was won by Mrs. Elsie Llewellyn, of Middleton, R.R. No. 3. The draw was made by Leigh Everett of the local radio station. The project allowed the club to pay off its pledge of $100.00 to the Christmas Daddies. The club thanked all who supported them by the buying of tickets.

Miss Wong was in the summer of 1971 chosen as Digby's Princess for the Annapolis Valley Apple Blossom Festival and has on many occasions and at many functions since been a valued and capable representative of the club.

Before entering the V. G. Hospital for nurse's training, in 1969, Miss Wong had completed business course under Sister O'Keefe at the Digby Regional High School. Her early school years were at St. Patrick's convent, Digby.

Miss Wong, always intelligent and versatile in her activities, had become well known in Digby and vicinity for her figure skating ability and her singing voice.

Attempt To Resolve Bus Situations

The Bay View school bus situation has been resolved satisfactorily, C. E. Edwards, Inspector of Schools, was advised.

Another Assistant Needed

Another assistant is needed in the Digby Department of Health office, according to a report issued recently from the office of the Director of the Western Health Unit, Dr. V. K. Blodgett.

Presently there are nine Public Health Nurses and four Certified Nurses Assistants on the staff of the Western Health Unit. One nurse in Clare resigned, leaving one P.H.N. and one C.N.A. in that area. Formerly a C.N.A. from Clare worked at Digby but this is not satisfactory coverage for the present time, it is understood.

Many fine paintings by professionals and amateurs were on display in the main corridor of the college. (Melancon Photo)

McCourt Wins V.O.N. Bonspiel

The annual V. O. N. Bonspiel was held at the Digby Curling Club on March 10th and 11th. Play began on Friday evening with eighteen teams entered. At the end of Round Three, on Saturday, total points determined team positions for the playoffs. The top four teams played off for the Lynch Trophy with a team consisting of Brian McCourt, skip; Mrs. Gerald Wilson, mate; Miss Dawn Smith, second and Douglas Wilson, lead, emerging victorious. They earned this championship by upsetting last year's champions, the Bob Morgan team consisting of Vera Morgan, mate; John Morgan, second; and Patty Morgan, lead.

Playoffs were also carried off in the other sections. Consolation Winners were skip, Donald Black; mate, Barry Shaw; second, Tom Lawley; lead, A. Santal. A team skipped by Vernon Wessell won the Cry Baby Section. Other team members were Flo Grimmer, mate; Doug Grimmer, second; and Marjorie Mackay, lead. The Cliff Durkee team successfully defended their championship in the "Sad Sack" Section. On this team, with Durkee, were Tom and Ellen Cleveland and Yvonne Durkee.

An excellent supper was served on Saturday by the V.O.N. ladies under the chairmanship of Mrs. MacLeod Rogers. Prizes were presented at the completion of play, by Charles Halliburton, President of the Digby Branch of the V.O.N. Much of the success of this bonspiel was due to the cooperation of the curlers and to the news media for their excellent coverage.

It would be very pleasant for information I could get — as to have a start on the families. Please let me know soon.

Sincerely,
Sarah B. Steeves

Islands School Goes In For Sports

The first sports bonspiel for the Islands Consolidated School will be held in May 1972, according to the report of supervisor, Keith Chappell, presented to the Digby Municipal School Board on Tuesday evening. The students of the school have raised $100 for trophies. Mr. Chappell said that three years ago there were no organized sports in the Islands school and now there is soccer, basketball, volleyball, participation in hockey. Mr. Chappell said there is now an application in to the Upper Peninsula for Youth program to establish a community centre for sports.

Mr. Chappell also reported the Islands students are sponsoring a Defensive Driving Course. Visits had been made to the school by a representative of the Department of Highway Safety Division and Media Percy of the Department of Law Enforcement had given a talk at the school.

Mr. Chappell said they were looking forward to the visit of the Supervisor of Curriculum, Keith Chappell.

Mr. Chappell said that 20 men on the Islands are employed in the Winter Works program and it is hoped the project might take in some school landscaping and the filling in of a well behind the school.

DRIVE CAREFULLY!

Choosing The Snowmobile For You
In the early days of snowmobiles for recreation it was enough just to own a machine, without giving much thought to getting the exact right machine for their own individual or family type of winter fun. Now, however, with the greater sophistication of machines (and buyers) most new owners are carefully analyzing and seeking out exactly what they want in a snowmobile. As an aid to this selection process, the recreation experts at Mercury snowmobiles suggest that anyone buying a snowmobile should follow these steps before purchase:

Basic Use: Will the machine be used for trail riding, racing, winter farm or ranch work, hunting, etc., or what combination of activities. Careful here will indicate choice of a regular or sled track machine and help determine engine type and horsepower.

Drivers: If women and/or children will be driving the snowmobile, will they be able to handle the larger, heavier sled track machine?

Other factors to consider: include engine comfort, ease of starting, ease of maintenance, and value of accessories such as extra tracks and skis.

DIGBY PEE WEES LODGE PROTEST

At press time no word had been received on the outcome of a protest lodged by the Digby Pee Wee League concerning the second game of a two-game total goal series for the Zone 1 championship. The game was played against Western Shore at Chester on Sunday. The protest was based on alleged irregularities perpetrated by officials during the game. Digby won the first game 32 to 2 before a large turnout at the D-By Forum on Saturday, and lost by a 4-1 margin at Chester.

CLARE SPORTS SCENE

AS SEEN BY A. P. Melanson

Moletegan Bantams of the Clare Bantam League won the right to meet Church Point in the finals by defeating Concession 4 - 2 in the third of a best two of three series. Moletegan took a 3-2 lead in the first period while the second period went scoreless and they scored the only goal of the third period to clinch the game.

Marcel d'Entremont scored a Yvon LeBlanc and Eric Robichaud each scored singles for the winners, while Paul Gaudet scored both of Concession's goals.

A goal by Kevin Flynn gave the Church Point Pee Wees a 1-0 win over Moletegan in the first game of the best two of three games in winter sport. Following two such outings held recently on Saturday nights, refreshments were served by Mrs. Janet Wilson to bring these skidooning parties to a conclusion.

Guy LeBlanc scored a hat-trick and Garry Thibault a single to defeat Saint John 4-3 in the second game.

Mrs. Daniel Cronin, Karsak, celebrated her 92nd birthday on February 20th, but she is 92 years of age. Celebrating his birthday on the same day was her son, John Cronin. Mrs. Cronin had many callers to help her celebrate.

Congratulations go to Mrs. Carey Henshaw, Bear River, who celebrated her 91st birthday recently.

Miss Jane Wisdom, of the Senior Citizens Apartments, Digby, celebrated her 90th birthday recently.

Enter Poster Expo 72

The school classes of Miss Gail Henry, Clements Consolidated School and of Gordon Kinney, Islands Consolidated School will possibly attend the Poster Expo 72, it is understood. According to Collis Stuart, National Animator (English), these classes have requested one of the Poster Expo 72 kits.

The Poster Expo 72 is a co-operative venture of Anglican, Lutheran, Presbyterian, Roman Catholic and United Churches in Canada.

Successful In R. N. Exams

Among those from Digby County who were successful in obtaining passes in their Registered Nurses examinations were Rachel M. Doucet, Bellevue Cove; Celine M. LeBlanc, Weymouth; John E. McCullough, Digby and Lita Wong, Digby.

Sergeant Bradford A. (Jack) Fleming, of Upper Port Latour, Shelburne County, N. S., and son of Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Fleming Sr., Seal Island, Yarmouth County, N. S., has retired from the Canadian Armed Forces after 21 years of continuous service. In 1969 he was posted to CFB Cornwallis where he has been employed in the National Survival Training Section at CFB. During his time at Cornwallis he was active in community affairs, enjoying bowling and swimming, as well as being a softball coach.

ADELAIDE DANIELS SAYS

HELP YOUR TEENAGER LOSE WEIGHT

If your teenagers have a weight problem, they've probably tried everything by now — exercise, miracle diets, crash diets, fast diets, starvation diets, diet pills, in other words they've run the gamut and nothing has seemed to work — at least not for long!

These reducing schemes probably all appeared to be giving promising results at first but then something happened along the way and the whole idea collapsed. The trouble with almost all reducing schemes is that they cannot do the one thing that is really effective. They cannot permanently change bad eating habits.

To be fat is to eat! This is "it". Slim boys and girls in movies, television and fashion magazines are idolized and imitated. Teenagers who are plump often become the butt of cruel jokes by the "in" group.

The overweight teen loses pride in personal appearance. Those snappy young styles are not usually made for big girls. Boys, too, have difficulty finding anything useful in clothing that is not belted slacks. The fat teen soon learns to loathe the sight of himself.

A fat girl will avoid mirrors and try to put her appearance out of her mind as it is to say, "If I don't see myself, nobody else will." And the fat teen often adopts a slinking posture with hunched shoulders. For the overweight boy or girl, a normal social life begins to seem like an impossible dream.

Mothers can help their teenagers lose weight — the secret lies in knowing how to use food properly to help their children grow and lose weight at the same time without having to live through the embarrassment of always being on some kind of diet. You can instill good eating habits without making weight reduction a nagging burden.

One of the first jobs is to make yourself aware of just how serious the problem overweight can be for a teen. My experience has shown that more than 25 per cent of teenagers weigh 20 pounds more than is considered healthy for their age, height, and type of build.

When you think of the enormous problems that adolescents have anyway and consider how many of them are also burdened with unhealthy fat, then you realize how much misery excess weight causes.

And remember, a teenager is more sensitive to what is happening than an adult. Still insecure and still struggling for self definition and independence, the teenager has, at best, an inferior feeling toward parents and discipline. You will have to keep this in mind as you begin a positive weight reduction programme.

ONE ALBERT ST. HALIFAX, NOVA SCOTIA

Tommy Is Timmy

Deformation and courage are vital in becoming a champion, and it is often a long, lonely climb to reach the top. Tommy Davies of Eastern Passageway, Nova Scotia, "Timmy" for 1972, is a cool champion.

Although Tommy has been confined to a wheelchair since the age of three, he has shown great interest in all activities which normally concern boys of his age.

Although he does not play basketball himself, he belongs to a Little League Baseball Team and, proudly wearing his team's sweater and cap, attends all games. He is very interested in hockey, and his favorite team is the Boston Bruins and Bobby Orr his favorite hockey star. For the past three years he has belonged to the cub pack at the Shearwater, and participates in all their activities, even attending cub camp.

In 1971 he won a trophy for a walkathon to raise funds for the Atlantic Association, District 13, which was held in the Dartmouth area, when two friends pulled his wheelchair a distance of 16 miles. Tommy is an ardent fisherman and is very interested in stock raising. Reading, art, and making of puppets are some of his favorite forms of relaxation for more quiet moments at home. Tommy does very well with his school work and is presently attending Tallahassee School, where he is in Grade 5.

Tommy, acting as "Timmy" representing all handicapped children in Nova Scotia, will present the first Easter Seal for 1972 to Lieutenant Governor Victor B. Oland at the Halifax Rotary Club at the Hotel Nova Scotia, on Tuesday, February 20th.

The annual Easter Seal Campaign gets underway following the luncheon meeting and will continue to April 2, 1972. The campaign conducted by 35 service clubs in association with the Nova Scotia Society for the Care of Crippled Children, will have hundreds of volunteers working diligently during this period, giving tangible evidence of their concern and desire to provide for the many needs of handicapped children.

Served 65 Years As Lodge Member

On Friday evening, March 3, the anniversary supper of Junonia Lodge, No. 81, Westport, a Veterans Life Membership was presented to Brother Willard McDermott, having served 65 years as a member. He was initiated into Junonia Lodge on the 4th day of April, 1907, at Westport, N.S.

Mr. McDermott is 88 years old and is next to the oldest member in the Lodge.

Notre Grand Douglas Delany presented the certificate.

$130 Gift Surprises Doogie

Frank Doogie, of Conway whose home was gutted by fire in the Fall of 1971, was taken completely by surprise recently when Gerry Campbell, president of the Digby Branch Royal Canadian Legion No. 20, presented him with $130.

Accompanying Mr. Campbell was the treasurer, Gert Melton, and the presentation was made in Mr. Doogie's trailer in front of his former home. The money was raised by one of the regular bingo games.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade and children were away at the time.

HARRIS ADDRESSES HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY

Miss Louise Daley was hostess for the monthly meeting of the Adm. Digby Horticultural Society at her home on March 1st. Miss M. Tupper, president, welcomed the guest speaker, Jack Harris, and Mrs. Harris, Bear River.

Reports were given by the various committees. Miss Daley stating that arrangements had been made to have the sign and name containers at the Park painted.

Miss Tupper was authorized to arrange for the painting and lettering of signs at the Old Loyalist Cemetery, the Adm. Digby Well and the well at the Park. The possibility of replacing the benches at the Park with a better quality was also discussed.

Mr. Speaker, last year when this House of Assembly was in session, the supply debate, we were discussing the diminishing supply of fresh water along the eastern seaboard of the United States.

At that time, I jokingly mentioned that we should consider towing icebergs down the supply route. Because of the large supply of the purest fresh water in the world.

Since that time, Memorial University in Newfoundland has received a grant to prove it was possible to tow icebergs. It was considered that it would be necessary to do this in order to keep them from damaging the offshore oil wells which could cause a disastrous oil spill.

It appears they have proved their point and feel that it can be done successfully. Last summer I was interviewed by "Globe" by Mr. Rube Hornstein, and the more we talked, the more probable the idea appeared to be.

I understood that iceberg ice is being flown from Newfoundland to New York City and is finding a ready market in the health stores in that city.

Just recently a report appeared in the local paper stating that the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization has predicted a serious water shortage within the next thirty years.

The organization even suggested a proposal to relocate the entire world population as a result of these predictions. I think it is time we should consider the long term possibilities that might open up in this area. That is, towing icebergs to this market.

It is my feeling that Nova Scotia is in the enviable position of having an abundance of fresh water which not only is important to domestic consumption and tourism, but is a key factor in industrial development.

We should look upon our fresh water supply as another of our great natural resources. We speak in terms of supplying our neighbours in the north with oil, gas and electrical energy... why not include water in the form of ice (as in icebergs) as part of a package deal?

Mr. Speaker, I am very glad that the Bluenose II now belongs to the people of Nova Scotia. I realize that the cost of restoring this vessel to sea-going condition could be quite an expensive undertaking, but I also realize that our investment to date in the Bluenose II represents only a very minimal sum.

The generosity of a noted Nova Scotian family has made it possible for the people of this province to own a replica of our most famous schooner, but it is up to us to make certain that the best possible use of this gift is made.

Nova Scotia made one tragic mistake by not keeping the original Bluenose for posterity. I hope we will never repeat this error by also abandoning her replica.

The original Bluenose, and her many noted sisters, represented an era of sail when scamen from Nova Scotia were known and highly regarded in all parts of the world.

We need to recall this era, and Mrs. P. Davidson to select pleasure in producing beautiful rose gardens. At the close of the business, Mr. Harris will be replaced later.

Miss Tupper spoke of efforts to have a survey made of town trees, including elm inspection, with further recommendations to be considered in "Tree Service".

Mrs. A. L. Robinson, Ways and Means, reported that the support of money sale held at the February meeting were most successful.

Plans for the annual Flower Show in August are well under way and a committee of Mrs. Daley, Mrs. William Reid and Miss Mary Marshall to meet with Mrs. H. Warren.

Mr. Harris explained the development of the types of roses and the distinction between the several varieties. Club members held a questionnaire during the past year in which they had been asked to suggest roses for planting. The roses which were most popular were the 'Queen of England', 'The Bluenose', 'The Bluenose II', 'The Bluenose III', 'The Bluenose IV', 'The Bluenose V', 'The Bluenose VI', 'The Bluenose VII', 'The BEAUSÉJOUR — This new hotel now being built as part of a major downtown redevelopment in Sorel, N.B. will be known as the Hotel Beauséjour, it was announced by Norman J. Macdonald, chairman and president of Canadian National, which will operate it, and Gilbert Finn, president of Assumption Mutual Life Insurance, the company carrying out the development project. The 20-story hotel will have 212 air-conditioned guest rooms, a suite of public rooms to house conference equipment, a swimming pool, dining rooms, cocktail lounge and a restaurant which will include 20-story office tower. The name was chosen, Mr. Macdonald said, to reflect local history and tradition. Port Beauséjour is an 18th century fortification 30 miles from Montserrat which was captured in turn by French and English.

has also been prepared that would feature the Blueson. In the past years literally thousands of films have been made extolling the opening of the west, but I can only bring to mind one film . . . "Cowboys Courageous" . . . that tells of pioneering days in the mining industry on the eastern frontier . . . this was an American film that featured fish out of the port of Gloucester.

A film on the bank fishing with the Blueson II playing a leading role, and with a story of the heroism, tragedy and self-sacrifice that were so much a part of the lives of the bank fishermen, their wives and loved ones, would bring untold millions in publicity to this province, and indeed to all the eastern seaboard.

The romance and tragedy of the sea, as portrayed by such a film, would be an irresistible drawing card to thousands. Having said all this, I hasten to acknowledge that all good things must be paid for. This suggestion in this regard is the formation of a Crown Corporation with shares available to the general public.

My suggestion in this regard is the formation of a Crown Corporation with shares available to the general public. Maybe some of the funds required could be raised through a March of Dimes . . . Blueson Dimes . . . headed up by public spirited youngsters.

In this connection, it occurs to me that our youngsters ran quickly rectify the batting averages and scoring points of all the baseball and hockey greats.

This, Mr. Speaker, is good, but hardly any of these same youngsters know port from starboard, or a maul from a forest.

A campaign such as I have suggested could orient their thinking seaward, and might interest them in becoming involved in such healthful activities as sailing and a maritime career.

Further revenues in support of Blueson II could be derived through sailing charters from tourists and Nova Scotians. The government of Nova Scotia could also charter the vessel when her services are required as an ambassador of goodwill for this province.

Mr. Speaker, I want to say that while it is vitally important to the economic development of this province to attract large labour intensive, low pollution type industries from outside, we must not overlook homegrown businessmen and would-be-businessmen.

Throughout this province, there are countless small businesses which have been the backbone of our economy for many years.

Several of these businesses have been passed on to young generations, full of good ideas and ambitions, but sometimes short on cash. I think it only prudent that these small businessmen be given every opportunity to expand or develop new business, all of which create gainful employment.

This would not only encourage the small operator and create employment, but it would have a very positive effect in eliminating the brain drain problem which our province has suffered from for so many years.

Why not make our people successful at home instead of having them go to the United States, or Ontario, where so many have contributed mightily to the business communities of these areas.

To this end, I feel we have started off on the right foot with the establishment last year of a small business financing division of Industrial Estates Limited, which I understand has assisted nine small Nova Scotia firms to date.

With respect to the price of pulpwood sold in my constituency, I fully believe that the primary producers must, in some way, receive an increase in the price they get for a cord of pulpwood. I understand that the government is, at this time, considering several alternative ways of achieving this end and, I hope, a definite decision on this matter will be made before this House prorogues.

I know the mark of a good speaker is to stop talking before the audience stops listening. I feel that I have already far exceeded this limit.

DIGBY TOWN TAX RATE $2.15

At a special meeting of Digby Town Council on Tuesday evening the tax rate for Digby was set at $2.15 per hundred dollars assessment. The total assessment of the town after appeals was $13,158,000. The amount to be raised by taxation in 1972 is $282,950. Revenue from other sources than taxation is estimated at $123,000, making the total budget for the year approximately $405,950.

The assessment in 1971 was $7,100,000; with rate of taxation $3.85.

Among the items in the budget were $140,000 for education, $92,000 for fiscal services, $50,000 for public works, $45,000 protection, $37,000 public health and welfare and $27,000 general, civic, government costs.

The meeting, presided over by Mayor Glen Smith, took councillors into the wee hours of the morning.

Easter Monday was declared a holiday at Tuesday's special meeting.

Digby Kinsmen Make Presentation

A cheque for one hundred dollars, representing a pledge made by the Digby Kinsmen's Club to the Christmas Daddies Fund Committee, was presented to Victor Cardozo, fund committee secretary, by Kin Jack Whalley at a dinner meeting of the club Tuesday evening.

In responding to the presentation, Mr. Cardozo gave a review of efforts to effect a greater coordination of welfare services in the Digby area.

One of the first efforts to effect this coordination, he said, occurred back in 1955 when Dr. Alexander H. Leibton, then a member of the Undersupported Children Committee of the Digby Kiwanis Club, convened a meeting of representatives of a number of local care giving organizations to discuss and take action to deal with the matter.

Among the groups represented at this meeting in 1955 were the Digby Mental Health Association represented by Mr. Cardozo, the president, the Digby Branch of the Red Cross Society, the Digby Regional Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion, the Y.O.N., Department of Public Welfare, the Health Department, Salvation Army and the Kiwanis Club. Referring to the minutes of the meeting in 1955, Mr. Cardozo said many of the matters, resources available for welfare and the conclusions reached were very similar to need for a clearing house and the concerns and decisions of a central source for provision of some of the resources to setting up last year of the meet.

Amblance Gets $2,000 Subsidy For Year

The Council of the Municipality of the District of Digby on Tuesday evening in special session voted to pay the Digby County Ambulance Service $2,000 subsidy from January 1, 1972, to December 31st, 1972. The motion had a rider that should the Digby County Ambulance Service on an strike the subsidy would be withdrawn.

John Gray, proprietor of the ambulance service, told of his difficulty in operating the ambulance service under his present financial circumstances and informed council that he has now started to hold an ambulance and should this prove profitable he would then not find the subsidy necessary.

The council decided also to terminate the subsidy at such time that the construction of ambulances by Mr. Gray during the year would not be financially successful. Mr. Gray had informed the municipality and town that unless he could get a subsidy he would have to withdraw one ambulance service March 31st and the other two at the end of June 1972. It was unanimous that an (Please turn to page 5)

Digby Strawberry Farm Being Sold

According to reports from various angles, and more specifically from Dr. William Gillis, Minister of Agriculture in Nova Scotia, the provincial government will soon call for tenders to finally dispose of the Digby strawberry farm.

The farm in question is at Seabrook, approximately three miles from Digby, on the Digby Neck Road.

Dr. Gillis indicated the Government will sell the land outright with future development of the site to be completely out of the government's hands. The call for tenders brings to a climax a situation that has provided opposition members with fire in the Nova Scotia legislature almost since the project's inception.

It is estimated the project to be abandoned has cost Nova Scotia close to $1 million.

The government-sponsored scheme began as a pilot project in the hopes that land in the Digby area could be successfully farmed and the

Praises Supervisor's Work

In his report to the annual session of the Annapolis Municipal Council, C. E. Edwards, Inspector of Digby-Annapolis Schools, commented on the contribution which Keith Chappell, supervisor of curriculum, had made to the educational program of Annapolis County. Much development of the program, he said, can be attributed to his contribution.

Mr. Edwards noted with pleasure that Mr. Chappell would be with Annapolis County full time in 1972/73, but also felt that this was a great loss to Digby which was interested in education in Digby town and municipal schools.

Mr. Edwards said that one of the greatest needs of our schools today is that of "specialist" supervision — the employment of professionally trained people like Mr. Chappell, who are curriculum specialists, whose sole concern is the improvement of education in the classroom. This improvement can best be accomplished by the Curriculum Specialist working with the classroom teacher, by his insistence on effective planning on the part of the teacher, by ensuring that no part of the curriculum is overlooked, and by ensuring that the teaching methods used are compatible with modern philosophy. In my judgment the supervisory function in education should be totally separate from that of administration. Professional supervision is a full time job and a most important one if we are to get returns commensurate with our investment in education.

For the past two years Mr. Chappell has been supervisor of curriculum half-time in Digby County and half-time in Annapolis County. He is married to the former Miss H. B. Ruth Wallis and they reside in the former Bishop H. B. Cove. Their children are Kim, age 10; Andrea, 9; and Michele, 6.

Stoneham Arrives Friday

Stoneham vs. Digby Minor Hockey games which were scheduled for February 20th and had to be cancelled due to weather conditions, will be played Sunday, March 26. Games start at 1 p.m. and all tickets previously purchased will be honored. Additional tickets may be purchased at the Forum.

Stoneham players and parents will arrive Friday night at 10 p.m. and will be met at the Knights of Columbus Hall by officials of the Digby Minor Hockey League. Saturday will be a free day for the Stoneham boys.

Takes Similar Action

The Digby Municipal School Board took similar action to that of the Digby Regional High School Board in relation to preparedness should the teachers in the Digby area schools stage a slow-down in protest to the government's refusal to raise teachers' salaries above the five per cent increase. Both school boards invested authority for a close-down of school in the school superintendents. The DRHS Board gave verbal authority to the school superintendents to close down the schools with the DRHS Board.

DRHS Board Takes No Immediate Action

Following a discussion on the action of the Digby Regional High School Board on Monday evening did not want this and should such a move had not had any indication that the teachers in the Digby system will strike or carry out a slow-down or work-to-rule because of the unsettled salary question with the government. They felt that the Digby teachers did not want this and should such a move eventually occur, the Board felt the supervisor could handle the situation and get in immediate touch with the Board. The Board also felt that they were protected by a local contract with teachers which would become void if not adhered to. Some fear of inconvenience to his students was expressed should there be curtailment of teachers' services but in general it was felt this would be no worse than inconvenience on a stormy day when children are late returned home early by school bus.

FERRY SERVICE TO ISLANDS IMPROVED

Joseph H. Casey, Digby M.L.A., stated last week he had been advised by the Minister of Highways, the Hon. Garret Brown, that modification of the ferry service from the mainland to Long Island is at present underway to make this service self-propelled.

In addition to the improvement to the service between the mainland and Long Island, an extension to the operating hours of the Department of Highways ferry service between Long Island and Brion Island has also been effected. Twenty-four hour ferry service for both vehicles and passengers travelling between East Ferry and Tiverton is expected to commence April 1st, said Mr. Brown. At the present time the service for vehicle traffic is restricted to the hours between dawn and dusk.

Refitting of the 51 x 23 foot Petite Passage Ferry will be completed by the Department of Highways by the end of the month. The ferry will then be placed in service to ensure compliance with all safety standards.

Mr. Brown also announced improved service to commence April 1 on the Grand Passage Ferry, connecting Freeport and Westport in Digby County. The ferry will now offer 24 hour service to passengers and down to dark service for vehicles. Present schedule is 7 a.m. until dark for vehicles and 7 a.m. until midnight for passengers.

Upgrading of the Petite and Grand Passage Ferries served by the Department of Highways is a major project of the government. The ferry will now offer 24 hour service to passengers and down to dark service for vehicles. Present schedule is 7 a.m. until dark for vehicles and 7 a.m. until midnight for passengers.

Other distinguished guests present were Past Grand Matron Annie Horton, and Past Grand Patron Douglas Horton, both of Yarmouth, Past Grand Patron Floyd Smith of Lawrencetown, Grand Sentinel William Rose of Kentville, Worthy Matron Vera Paul and Worthy Patron Kenneth Paul of Cherry Blossom Chapter, Bear River, Worthy Matron Lillian Wilson, Worthy Matron Elizabeth Nickerson, of Halifax.

Weymouth Community Council Honors Ralph Jarvis

Ralph Jarvis, Weymouth Bel, was on Friday evening, March 23, honored when the Weymouth Community Council, of which he is president, tendered him a dinner at the Weymouth Falls Centre. The cup was presented to Ralph Jarvis, president 1949-1972, Weymouth Falls Community Council for outstanding service to the community. The 550 bill Mr. Jarvis donated Smith's Cove. A toast to the Weymouth Falls Community Council was proposed by Mr. Jarvis and Mr. Jarvis said Queen Elizabeth II by Mr. Jarvis said.

Ralph Jarvis, Weymouth Falls, president of the Weymouth Falls Community Council, was on Friday evening tendered a dinner in his honor by the Council. He was presented with a silver engraved cup and a $50 bill. The latter he turned back to the Council to help pay a $1200 debt on the Weymouth Falls Recreation Centre furnace. Left to right are the honored Mr. Jarvis; Mrs. George Bell, Smith's Cove, a head table guest and Elmer Jarvis, the oldest active member of the Council, who presented the gifts. The turning back of the gift brought many words of admiration about Mr. Jarvis and the wonderful gesture.

College Ste. Anne Gets $89,000 Grant

College Ste. Anne, Church Point, has received a federal grant of $89,000 to establish a language training centre.

The announcement was made by the Hon. Allan MacEachern, Minister of Education, and the Hon. Peter Nicholson, Nova Scotia's Minister of Education. College Ste. Anne was the first institution in Canada to respond to an announcement by Secretary of State, Gerard Pelletier that federal funds had been allocated to construct or improve one such centre per province. The grant will be used to expand present facilities, enlarge the staff, enrich the library and other teaching resources. It is hoped that when the centre is completed College Ste. Anne can be of assistance to Armed Forces personnel and employees of public service who wish to study French.

At the present time 100 teachers are enrolled in even-

Total bills amounting to $5210.56 for the month of February were passed. These included an amount of $435 for two band instruments and music.

Questioned about the Common Room success, Jack Bilcey, principal, reported there were a few areas of concern. One of these had been a problem with students skipping classes, responsibility for keeping the room clean and difficulty with some young people not in school coming to the Common Room. There are a number of people, he said, trying to make it work and he would like to give it an opportunity to do so. Some noise is carried to other rooms. (Please turn to page 2)

Winter Brings A Bore
For The Seaside
It's an open secret that the deep, snowy shores of the northern seaside have been awakened by the mind-boggling amount of snow.
Not so well recognized is the winter "boom" of unimagined economic proportions arising from these same little snow machines.
According to the watchful experts at Mercury sawmills, U.S. and Canadian manufacturers shipped a record 585,000 snowmelters last winter, resulting in retail sales approximately $60 million.
Two immediately obvious economic benefits are the sale of new snowmelters, and the increase in the sale of fuel oil in the snowbelt, and the increase in the sale of food delivered and consumed. Local garden and plant stores have mobile trailers in the same area.
That's just the obvious part.
Even more startling is the impact of snowmelters on the economy with huge purchases of lubricants, spark plugs and other parts, and as much as $100 million extra gallons of gasoline for the estimated 1-million machines on the continent.
Add to this the purchases of special winter clothing (much of it ever more fashionable and expensive), trailers, tools and equipment, and the snowmelter industry, unprecedented winter occupancy of northern hotels and resorts, and the consumption of food by the snowmelter and you have the ingredients of a new, multi-million-dollar $1.5-billion economic boom in the snowbelt.

Protest Disallowed

A telegram received by the Digby Minor Hockey Association yesterday stated that the protest lodged by Digby Pee Wee Hockey against the results of a game played at Chester on March 12 against Western Digby was disallowed. The protest was filed with the Digby Minor Hockey Association on March 13 and was only heard from the Digby Minor Hockey Association on March 14.

Charles Murphy, manager of the Digby Red Wings, stated that plans to appeal the decision depend on the contents of the follow up letter from Mr. MacDonald.

St. Patrick's Dance

On Thursday, March 18th, the Parish Folkies held a successful St. Patrick's dance at the Knights of Columbus Hall with approximately 75 dancers in attendance. Guest caterer for the evening was Don Haley of the Berwick Hotel and House. Dancing was enjoyed by couples from Yarmouth to Berwick. Special prizes were won by Karl and Helen Ellis of the Champlain Steepers and Howard McPhee of the Nixon Promoters.

After the dance refreshments were served, including two St. Patrick's Day cakes made by the president's wife, Jean Potter.

High Tides And Wind

While spray charging over the breakwater at Seawall, on Saturday noon almost totally obscured both the breakwater and the wooded hills at times as tides rose to meet and in some sections flooded the highway before approaching the Seawall. Men and trucks were busy securing equipment from tide and wind.

ARRA Students Protest

Nearly 200 students at Annapolis Royal Regional Academy took a short vacation from classes Wednesday in support of a fellow student, who they say was "Suspended from classes" because he threw a piece of paper out the window.

School officials stated that although the student had been showing insubordination towards the teachers, he had not been suspended.

Delivers First Rock In Bonspiel

At the Shamrock Bonspiel, held at CPJ Cornwallis this past weekend, Lt. Col. Simpson, acting Base Commander, opened the three day event with a draw to the four-foot.

6 terrifying questions to ask a small-car salesman.

1. How much?
Broce yourself.
It may cost you several hundred dollars more than you think.
Because on top of the inevitable sales taxes and delivery charges, wait the inevitable optional charges.
That's where you can really throw your money around.
On an electronic telescoping antenna, peek-a-boo headlights, or a sports console.
Even more bizarre is the new small car that offers optional power equipment.
A small car is supposed to be easy to drive.
So what's it doing with power steering and power brakes?
Instead of all that mechanical power, you'll need a little will power.
To keep from being fast-talked into a lot of things you don't need.

2. What improvements were made this year?
If a car maker's serious about making his car better each year, he'll make it better each year.
With improvements that are meaningful. And not just cosmetic.
Of course, if the car's a first edition, it won't have any improvements.
In which case you should do some soul searching before you buy it.
Because it takes years of refining to work the bugs out of a car. You don't really want a car to work its bugs out on you. Do you?

3. How long does it take to replace a fender?
Depends on which small car you buy. Buy one that changes its looks every year and it will probably take longer to repair the body.
Because dealers can't stock all the parts for cars that get an annual face-lift.

4. Can I talk with the Service Manager?
Hardly anyone ever asks this one. But why not?
You might save yourself a lot of grief. And money.
So ask him what kind of service schedule he has for your car. What kind of diagnostic service? What does it cost?
When you buy a new car, don't let the showroom in front dazzle you.
Better you be impressed by the showroom in back. The service department.

5. How long is the warranty?
One of the best questions you can ask.
You see, how long a car manufacturer's willing to repair or replace major parts at his expense, tells you something about him. How good he thinks his car is.
If he feels it's sturdy and dependable, he'll give you a generous warranty.
Something better than the usual 12,000 miles/12 months, whichever comes first.
But if he doesn't give you better than that for even that, ask another question.
"Why?"

6. What can I sell it for?
The resale value of a car is a tip-off on what people think about it.
If the car's been a loser over the years, with heavy repair bills, you'll probably take a beating when you unload it.
If the car depreciates drastically the minute you buy it, you're losing money even before you drive it home.
Selling high.
Good luck.

Winter Brings A Bore
For The Seaside
It's an open secret that the deep, snowy shores of the northern seaside have been awakened by the mind-boggling amount of snow.
Not so well recognized is the winter "boom" of unimagined economic proportions arising from these same little snow machines.
According to the watchful experts at Mercury sawmills, U.S. and Canadian manufacturers shipped a record 585,000 snowmelters last winter, resulting in retail sales approximately $60 million.
Two immediately obvious economic benefits are the sale of new snowmelters, and the increase in the sale of fuel oil in the snowbelt, and the increase in the sale of food delivered and consumed. Local garden and plant stores have mobile trailers in the same area.
That's just the obvious part. Even more startling is the impact of snowmelters on the economy with huge purchases of lubricants, spark plugs and other parts, and as much as $100 million extra gallons of gasoline for the estimated 1-million machines on the continent.
Add to this the purchases of special winter clothing (much of it ever more fashionable and expensive), trailers, tools and equipment, and the snowmelter industry, unprecedented winter occupancy of northern hotels and resorts, and the consumption of food by the snowmelter and you have the ingredients of a new, multi-million-dollar $1.5-billion economic boom in the snowbelt.

REFINERY IN TRANSIT — Although it bears some resemblance to an old-fashioned steam locomotive, this 10-ton ship is in fact Canadian-built equipment for a modern sugar refinery in South America. On its way through the port of Saint John to Buenos Aires, Argentina, the ship is just one example of the extra large loads Canadian National handles regularly through the year-round east coast ports of Canada.

ambulance service was a necessity but, because money was not available for a private enterprise, Mr. Gray was commended for his excellent service and especially for the fact that he refused to go on strike when the Nova Scotia Ambulance Association did so. Mr. Gray's request to be supported by a petition signed by citizens of Smith's Cove. He has approached Annapolis County Council and intends to approach the Municipality of Digby for assistance. Digby town council at its last regular meeting voted $50 per week subsidy for a year. Another matter dealt with at the special meeting had to do with proposed amendments to the Digby County Power Board Act whereby the Board would be composed of five members instead of four as previously. These would consist of one representative from Digby municipality, Digby town and the Village of Weymouth plus one without voting powers named by the four. The other proposed amendment had to do with a request for borrowing authority up to $75,000. It was found necessary to have the council could approve and since the Digby County Power Board operated well through the year, the council did not approve of the fifth man. It was suggested that if expert advice is needed on the services of such should be hired.

The meeting was presided over by Warden Ronald Morehouse who announced that it looked hopeful for Weymouth to have the additional classrooms to the school which are badly needed.

Oscar Nomination For NFB

"Evolution," a fast moving and imaginative animated film from the National Film Board, has been nominated for an Oscar in the Animated Short Subjects category. Directed and produced by Mike Mills, this 10-minute film has already taken awards at Annapolis and Granville and at the Canadian Film Awards in Toronto. As well it has been honoured in six other international non-competitive film festivals. Mills' film is an explanation of Evolution that is far more imaginative and much more entertaining than the cold theories of Darwin. The facts are still all there, only the species have been changed.

Rev. and Mrs. R. R. Winchester of Digby spent the weekend at their home in Bear River.

Dr. and Mrs. D. S. Brennan and two sons have returned home after a holiday spent in Orlando, Florida.

Misses Nora Brennan, Shirley Wade, Paula Rose and Martin Porter, who were among the group of students who enjoyed the tour of Lennox, Ontario, returned, accompanied by the Dept. of Education, have returned home.

Mrs. Pauline Miller spent a day in Halifax visiting Mrs. and Mrs. Warren Wagner.

Mrs. Laurie Thomas, both and Judy Woodworth were recent guests of Mrs. Ivan Woodworth and Mrs. Mrs. Audrey Darves.

Mrs. and Mrs. Ivan Woodworth entertained at the dinner hour on Tuesday evening in honor of Mrs. Ellen Darnley who was celebrating his 90th birthday. All the family was present and a very jolly time was enjoyed.

Frank MacNeil, who is attending Acadia University, spent the weekend with his family in Bear River.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Schell Cheley were guests on Friday of their daughter, Mrs. William Coleman and Mr. Coleman, Bridgetown.

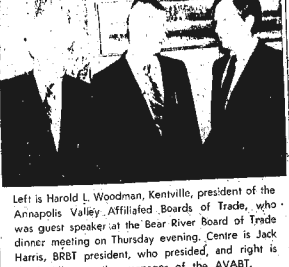

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Robar of Clamague visited Mrs. Joseph Langley on Saturday. Milton Morgan spent Monday in Halifax, where he received medical attention.

Donald Durney, a recent guest of his parents, Mrs. and Mrs. Lawrence Darves.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Mayo were there last week where they will spend some time visiting friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Dunn and Cindy spent several days last week visiting in Halifax.

Rev. and Mrs. John Bartol were in town Monday and Tuesday visiting friends in town, returning to home in Halifax on Wednesday.

Speaks At Bear River On Bear River Planning Trade Board Committee

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Reid left on Saturday for Bermuda, where they will be holidaying for the next few weeks.

Mrs. John Bathman and family of Nova Scotia were guests of Mrs. Elsie Henshaw, who has been visiting Mrs. Anne Allison at Angley Home, Bear River, on Friday evening.

Children Art Centre Planned

Bear River will have a Children's Art Centre in the summer of 1972, if the opportunities for youth project suggested by Gene Sampson and Mrs. Geraldine Bluggerman is approved. Above front, left to right, are Debbie LeFargy, Mrs. Bluggerman and Carol Boak. Rear are Mr. Shanon and Raymond LeBlanc.

Harold Woodman, president of the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade, saw a resurgence in the organization in the past year. He made this remark at a dinner meeting of the Bear River Board of Trade where he was guest speaker on Thursday evening. Sustained memberships have reached 2000 and regular memberships are coming in better than before. Two things Mr. Woodman said account for this, the inauguration of the new sales John Digby ferry service and the dedication of the new bridge, including Lloyd Hill, to the work.

PERSONAL ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Robinson and daughter, Mrs. Robinson in Halifax last week.

Mayor and Mrs. Glen Smith were in Halifax last week to attend a meeting called by the Department of Fisheries.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Chast, of Halifax, spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Joseph Theriault.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Sarra, of Canning, visited Mrs. Joe Theriault and family on Sunday.

Harold Theriault, who has spent the past two weeks with his mother, Mrs. Joseph Theriault, has returned to Lunenburg.

Bear River Woman Passes

Mrs. Herman S. Harris, 87, of Kenville and formerly of Bear River, died Tuesday in Kenville.

Born in Brighton, Digby County, she was the former Abbie Maude Hazleton, daughter of the late Joshua and Jane (Hankinson) Hazleton. Her husband predeceased her. She was a life member of the United Baptist Women's Missionary Union at Bear River.

She is survived by four daughters, Beulah (Mrs. Vernon Tremblay), Dorchester, N. B.; Mrs. Helen Sutherland Halifax; Pauline, Middleton; Margie (Mrs. Leland O. Chisholm), Bear River; one son, Reginald, Middleton; one sister, Beulah (Mrs. Harry Coleman), Brighton; one brother, Herbert, Bear River; and four grandchildren.

She was predeceased by two sons, Conrad and Johnson.

The body is at the Warren T. Roper Funeral Home, Middleton. Funeral service will be held Friday at 2 p.m. in Bear River Baptist Church with Rev. A. Schweitzer officiating. Burial will be in Mt. Hope cemetery, Bear River.

Church Group Meets

The Palour and Shanties Group of the Bear River United Baptist Church met in the church vestry on Monday evening.

There were thirty-six in attendance. President Everett McCormick opened the meeting and welcomed the visitors.

Among them were Rev. and Mrs. Charles Millbury, Deep Brook; Rev. and Mrs. Miller, Clementville; Rev. and Mrs. R. Winchester, Digby; and Rev. and Mrs. John Bartol.

Rev. Mr. Miller gave the devotional talk and Rev. and Mrs. Charles Millbury had charge of the program and gave for the evening.

Refreshments were served by the committee in charge.

Mr. Woodman reminisced on his youthful connections with Bear River, one of the greatest tourist attractions in the province and known as the Switzerland of Nova Scotia. He recalled several personalities in the past including Dr. Louis John Lovitt after whom he had been given the name Lovitt. Others mentioned were Elmer and Watson Fox, public and school teachers.

Mr. Woodman reviewed the history of AVATB which came into being, bearing in mind the fact that the chief inspirations was to have the narrow gravel road from Digby to the Digby Neck. It was 26 years ago and presently the AVATB is fighting for a better ferry service with ultimately a permanent crossing in mind.

Mr. Woodman remarked on the important place that tourism is taking in Nova Scotia and of the opening of new roads and a camp area. He felt the province was badly in need of more good eating places and he was greatly concerned about the lack of good highways. He said it is impossible to achieve the best tourist industry without good highways.

Mr. Woodman was introduced by Jack Harris, president and thanked by William Cox. Other present from the AVATB were executive manager, Lloyd Hill; Clarence Thompson on transportation to assist the company.

The project ran into financial problems and on June 7, 1971, the government was obliged to make good $64,000 bank guarantee which had been extorted about a year earlier to assist the company in operating expenses.

Finally, Seabrook Farms was unable to come up with $2,800 rental commitment for leased land and buildings and the latest news is that the Digby Horticultural Project will terminate within the next few weeks when Dr. Gillis falls tenders.

TAKES SIMILAR

(Continued from page 1) passing a motion (see story elsewhere) on Monday evening and the Digby Municipal School Board in special session on Tuesday evening made a formal motion, moved by Mrs. Helen Robinson, seconded by Parker Thibault. In case of a slow-down by teachers, the motion gave the supervisory authority to assess the situation and dismiss pupils in any classroom not functioning to full efficiency or dismiss for the day all pupils in his school if in his discretion he deems it necessary due to inefficiency in the classrooms of the schools. Any such action shall be taken by the supervisor within three hours of opening of school on any given day.

In case of a slow-down eventually it was felt the Board had legal authority to close the school and fail to pay the teacher according to the Education Act but each individual classroom would have to be assessed unless notified by the representative of the Teachers Union that a full slow-down was being carried out.

Mr. Thibault felt that in the islands schools few, if any, teachers were inclined to take any action, in fact, most seemed to be opposed to such methods.

In the absence of the chairman, Mrs. M. P. Gott, by illness, and the vice-chairman, Emmanuel Adelaar, who is overseas, Warden Ronald Morehouse was elected to preside at Tuesday's meeting.

One other matter came up at the special session, the resignation of Keith Chappell as supervisor of curriculum, effective at the close of the present term, was accepted with regret. For two years Mr. Chappell had divided his time between Digby area and Annapolis County schools and resigned to give full time to his services in the Digby Annapolis County. Mr. Morehouse said he was deeply sorry to hear of Mr. Chappell's decision, for he was much appreciated in Digby municipality schools and had done an excellent job. That he is highly respected in his field of work, Mr. Morehouse said, is proven by the fact that Annapolis County has recalled his services there a full time. The Board passed a motion that a letter of appreciation go out to Mr. Chappell for his services in the Digby municipality.

The government then gave $80,000 in provincial credit to a newly formed Nova Scotia strawberry known as Seabrook Farms Ltd. which was established to grow vegetables. The firm's initial equity investment in share capital was $40 plus a nominal sum for plant seedlings and some supplies, according to the most recent provincial report of Auditor General A. W. Sarpy.

The land, buildings, machine and equipment were less cost to the new company.

The project ran into financial problems and on June 7, 1971, the government was obliged to make good $64,000 bank guarantee which had been extorted about a year earlier to assist the company in operating expenses.

Finally, Seabrook Farms was unable to come up with $2,800 rental commitment for leased land and buildings and the latest news is that the Digby Horticultural Project will terminate within the next few weeks when Dr. Gillis falls tenders.

Casey Wants Assured Access To Water

Joe Casey, Digby M.L.A., gave notice that he will be moving a resolution in the provincial legislature calling on the "proper authorities" to ensure that the public has access to waters surrounding the province.

The preamble to Mr. Casey's proposed resolution says large tracts of lands adjacent to tidal waters are privately owned. This meant that some fishermen were unable to gain access to the waters, as were members of the public who were seeking recreation.

The resolution would call on legislature members to view the situation "with alarm" and agree that it was "contrary to the public interest."

At a fisheries committee meeting where the declining haddock fishing was discussed, Mr. Casey explained the operation of the new Canadian Atlantic Fisheries Information Service (CAFIS) with a control centre in Halifax. The centre enrolls fishermen on a voluntary basis and participating vessels exchange information on fishing conditions and catches through the control centre.

"If the fish are going to be caught," said Mr. Casey, "this new control centre should help to see our fellows get a bigger share. CAFIS may be our only salvation."

Problems in cod, herring and lobster fishing also came up. Greg Collis, provincial chief conservation officer, said his enforcement problems "are not with the foreigners, as far as the regulations are concerned—they're with the Canadians and Americans. The Russians obey the rules and regulations to a 'T'."

In response to questions on how a lobsterman is to protect his traps when a storm is forecast on a Sunday, Mr. Collis said it is always possible to get permission from the fisheries officer in the area to move traps to a sheltered area.

Mr. Casey said: "But where are you going to get a fisheries officer on a Saturday night to get permission to go out on Sunday, if you see a gale coming?" Officers can't work all day, every day, he said.

COMMUNITY CENTRE RENOVATED

Through the Local Initiative Program the Acaciaville Community Centre has been renovated and painted and they installed an oil furnace in the building and built cupboards in the kitchen. The Youth Group has been active for a period of one month, due to the work being carried on at the present time.

Ralph Jarvis, president, reported that through this program Saint Matthews Anglican Church has been paneled and a start is being made on repairing houses in the community.

The basement floor has been broken up and ground dug ten inches for installation of drainage tile which has been laid and made ready for a new cement floor.

Earth was removed from under the old section of the building 24' x 14' x 6' deep to provide space for repairs to floor, support post and installation of a furnace. Electric lights and outlets have also been installed in the basement. The basement size 40' x 24' will be used as a games room and other activities for the young people.

Other community improvements completed under this programme consist of renovations to several homes, cutting of bushes and undergrowth in the community and church cemetery. Work is now underway in renovation to church buildings.

Bingo is held weekly in the Centre by the Community Association, but other activities have been curtailed due to renovations being done to the building.

At Weymouth Falls the Winter Work Program was started in December and has had as high as twenty-nine people employed at one time.

A road has been made from the main road up to where the community plans to build a trailer court. The grounds for this court is about two-

Kentville Captures Shamrock

The Shamrock Bonspiel has come and gone at CFB Cornwallis, and, as promised, produced excellent curling. Lt. Col. Simpson, acting as Base Commander, opened the three day event Friday afternoon with a draw to the four-foot. Then the curling went into high gear till late Sunday afternoon. Winners of the Olands "A" rink was a Kentville rink skipped by Alan Marshall. Alan defeated a Middleton rink skipped by John Nelly 11-3 in the last game. Third place in the Olands "A" rink went to the Fulton Rink of Digby, and fourth to the Larry Bulmer rink from Barraco. Cornwallis rinks dominated the Acadian Distillers' "C" event. Left to right above are: Ted Miller, Phil Whynott, Ralph Stacey and Bill Hovey.

Honored On Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Haight were pleasantly surprised on Saturday evening, March 4th, when a number of relatives and friends from North Range gathered at their home in Brighton, the occasion being their thirtieth wedding anniversary.

During the evening, which was spent in playing games and friendly chatting, a serving tray and other gifts were presented to the happy bride and groom of thirty years, as well as many expressions of congratulations.

Mrs. Haight was the former Miss Desse Cook, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Cook, of North Range. They were married at the Baptist congregation, Brighton, by the late Rev. F. E. Rupp. Mrs. F. E. Rupp and Miss Verlet Cook at many come forward for the attendants.

New members this year were Sophie Denton, of Sharon, who was unable to attend due to weather conditions; George Saunders, parents of the group this year to also when they built a house at North Range until recently, by the Oulifans.

The Singing Galileans

The Singing Galileans, a group of talented, young people from Saint John, N.B., once again thrilled congregations of local churches as they presented three services in the area, over the weekend of March 11-12.

Saturday evening they presented a concert at the first Baptist Church of Digby, Rev. Donald Robertson, pastor.

Sunday morning they conducted the service at the Smith's Cove United Baptist Church, Rev. Charles M. Milroy, pastor.

The concluding service was held at the St. Clementine Church, Digby, on Sunday afternoon, March 12th. The service was an overflowing one, with many people present. The service was conducted by the Rev. Charles M. Milroy, pastor. The service was a very successful one, and the group was well received by the congregation.

Fundy Enters Buck-A-Cup Campaign

Fundy Restaurant Ltd. entered the Canada-wide Buck-A-Cup Campaign to provide funds to benefit 80,000 crippled children across Canada. The campaign closes March 29. The campaign, which opened March 29, is sponsored by the Canadian Restaurant Association.

The idea is that those who purchase a Buck-A-Cup button for $1.00 are entitled to as many free cups of coffee or tea as they wish on March 29, so long as they are wearing the Buck-A-Cup button. To date the Fundy Restaurant has sold over 300 buttons with one waitress topping the others by 20 sales. Next in line was one who sold 60 buttons. The waitresses at the restaurant were among the first to purchase the buttons. By March 29, it is expected the Fundy will have to serve 500 free cups of tea or coffee.

William Troupe Jr., proprietor of the restaurant, was a guest at the Digby Kiwanis Club recently when he presented the Canada-wide campaign idea to Kiwanis, as sponsor Crippled Children's Fund.

Entire funds are for the crippled children's work.

NEW HOUSE DESIGN
The larger family will appreciate the luxury of this new, two-story house, designed by architect G. E. Harker of Vancouver.

The main bedroom, which features the luxury of its own fireplace and balcony, is well separated from the children's bedrooms. A kitchen-family room, directly accessible from the carport, is also well separated from the living room.

Ample space is provided in the basement for a recreation room, workroom, storage and laundry. The exterior is simple yet attractive. The best lighting will be obtained if the front entrance faces north.

The floor area is 1,050 square feet, excluding the carport, and the exterior dimensions are 36 feet six inches by 28 feet four inches. Working drawings for this house, known as Design 614, can be obtained from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at a moderate cost.

ADELAIDE DANIELS SAYS

BE THIN AND WIN

Fashion experts predict that the shape of things to come is already here and that the swinging sixties have given way to the style of the "skinny" seventies.

A new "be thin and win" way of life is arising alongside the medical prognosis for a Fat Society. Experts say that the shape to come is not to be permanently and healthily acquired by intermittent crash diets or exercise binges. A basic change in eating habits is now becoming a part of the new life style.

The cue card for this new way of life accentuates the word Enjoy! Delicious food is more in evidence and plays a more important role than ever before.

With increased leisure time for recreation and social activities, tempting treats are always in the eye and more often in the mouth. Which is as it should be for a skinny eater.

For the fatty, the new skinny look can be attained without deprivation and hunger pangs. All manner of meals from a simple breakfast to a vegetable feast on Easter Sunday can be prepared healthily, deliciously, nutritionally, without an overload of unneeded and unwanted calories.

With a sensible weight reduction programme, you discover how to enjoy good food while your scales and disposition remain in serene balance — without greasy fryings, drenching, heavy dressings and gooey sweets.

A new style of eating says goodbye to vegetables swimming in butter, instead it greets a variety of herbs and spices available for adding interesting new flavours to everything from asparagus to zucchini. No more crisp greens from the garden weighted down by city dressings. Lemon juice along with vinegar and chopped fresh herbs add new zest to the salad.

Forget about heavy gravies, thick with flour and pan grease drowning out the natural flavour of succulent cuts of meat and fowl. Try chicken tossed with orange juice and herbs scrumptious with rice.

Yeast simmered in a little bouillon with lemon slices instead of saturated with bread crumbs and flour to prove what a truly tasty treat it is.

Be prepared for an awakening of taste buds long dormant from heavily-laden cookery, as you eat shrimp, crabmeat or lobster.

And finally — without regret — good-bye forever to tormenting diets and wardrobe adjustments. It is the "skinny look" way of eating and living from now on!

Receives Dominion Life Certificates

MARRIAGES

Harman — Purdy
Mr. Harry Preece, Rector of St. John the Divine Anglican Church, Miramichi, officiated at the wedding of Evelyn Jane Purdy, daughter of F. Courtney Purdy and the late Bernice M. Purdy to William A. Harman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Harman, of Ottawa on Saturday, March 11, 1972. The church organist played the wedding music.

Arrangements of single yellow daisies with darker yellow pompoms and golden privet were used as decorations.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white faille princess gown, headed bodice with a curved lace neckline with the least fullness of the skirt falling in a short train. Her shoulder length veil of tulle illusion was held by a tiny tulle cap with bow. She wore a pearl necklace, gift of the groom, and carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and yellow daisies with sprig of To and from the church, the bride wore over her wedding gown a white wool full length cape with hood, both lined with gold silk.

Mrs. John Meyer, a friend of the bride, matron of honor, was in a floor length blue and white print georgette skirt out to Mrs. Nellie Graham on the lawn of her daughter, (Mary) Mrs. Guy Outhouse.

Robert Graham of Windsor, Ontario, is a guest of his mother. He as well as others of the family, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Graham, Sussex N.B. and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McCraft were home to attend the funeral of their sister.

Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Hicks were their daughters and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Birtaux of Queen'sport and their granddaughter, Mrs. John Burdette of Deep Brook.

Sunday visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wagner and children and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Chalmers of Cornwallis.

An enjoyable evening was spent recently in the apartments where Reginald Turnbull and Miss Marjory Taylor showed interesting films of Spring in British Columbia, scenes of Nova Scotia and the annual march of the Loyal R.C.M.P.s. Everyone had a great evening and thanked them for showing the films. The ladies served lunch to end a perfect evening.

Sunday visitors to the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Marshall were Mr. and Mrs. Lindy Malson and family, Black Rock and Mr. Russell Lantz, Ayfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Roman, Halifax spent the weekend with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Marshall.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wright, Wolfville were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wright.

Several people from the community attended the 39th Wedding Anniversary in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Marshall on Saturday evening.

Notes from Bird Haven

SPRING

Kurrah! Spring has sprung, but where have my birds gone?

Where I had been feeding them all winter became a lake in the flood and when they landed expecting to find solid ground under them, they instead had a bath. Then came the Ice Age and on landing they slid in all directions. Finally they gave up and all left me, with the exception of my Chickadees. They still come to the hanging feeders.

Now is the time to watch out for the Red Winged Blackbirds with the bright red bases on their wings. You will find them around the edges of ponds where old cat tail stalks are still standing.

Then will come our Robins and our beloved Song Sparrows. If you have any apples left, rotten or otherwise, put them out for them. They will appreciate them. Feed is pretty scarce when they first arrive from the warm south. Watch out, too, for the Purple Finches. They should be along any time, although some have spent the winter here.

I am disappointed no reports of the Jovely Snowy Owls here this winter, although there have been several rights in the city of Saint John. The Owls are our earliest nesting birds, laying their eggs early in April.

I wonder if Gulls are colour blind. Have been feeding them all winter and yesterday I threw out some scraps of chocolate cake. They watched me from the chimney next door but made no move to come down. Other times they were down before I had the door shut. It was not until I put out some white bread tid-bits the sparrows from the chimney next door came to be joined by several others. Everything was cleaned up in no time.

Now is the time to clean up your Swallow houses or make new ones. Swallow houses should be 5 x 5 inches, on the floor, 6 inches deep with an opening 4 inches from the floor. Hang this about 6 feet from the ground out of reach from cats.

If you put up a shelf under the eaves of your barn or garage this would be a big help to the Barn Swallows as they do not nest in houses. They will more than repay you by the number of mosquitoes they clean up around your place!

So long.

The Bird Lady.

electric heating... your second biggest welcome home

Come home to electric heat and you come home to real comfort. Because electric heating gives you the big advantage of room-by-room temperature control. Each room is heated evenly with no cold spots, no overheating, no wasted fuel dollars. And electric heating is clean. Every bit as clean as electric lighting. And there's no space wasted on things like a furnace and fuel tank. All in all, electric heating makes for a happy family. And that's your first biggest welcome home.

Span Of 90 Years

A visitor of Mrs. Jared (Effie) Banks to help her celebrate her 90th birthday on Monday was her youngest great-granddaughter, six-month-old Lisa Elaine, Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Ross, Seabrook, Digby Co. Mrs. Banks was the former Effie Daley, born March 27, 1882, at Culloden, to Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Daley. After her marriage to Jared Banks they lived at Roseway and then to Seabrook and for the past seven years since her husband's death with her daughter, Mrs. John Ross (Kathleen), and Mr. Ross. (Please turn to page 2)

$1,250,000 SHOPPING MALL FOR DIGBY

M. L. Bernstein, President, cleared.

The enclosed air-conditioned mall, when completed will cover an area of approximately two acres of selling space under one roof and will bring to the area a new concept in pleasant shopping environment for the people. The air-conditioned mall area will become the hub of the whole community with five square acres available for various churches, charitable clubs, etc., and can hold different functions such as a party, sales, art show and other community projects.

"A shopping centre," said Mr. Bernstein, "is not only a place for people to shop, but an industry. Indeed, it is a large industry creating many new jobs. This shopping centre will provide 20 new jobs during peak seasons." Describing the Digby Centre, Mr. Bernstein said, "it is to be located on approximately an eight-acre site with adequate parking for 200 cars."

On motion of Councillor of MacDonald Motors Ltd., Joseph, seconded by Mr. Robinson and Mr. Nick, presented a resolution that a permit was granted to the Digby Shopping Mall, enclosed mall design. The Mayor (Glen Smith) emphasized at a special Digby town council session on Tuesday that the shopping centre would be established without charge of the town. The company the benefit of tax incentives represented at the special and he estimated the tax revenue would be about $20,000.

Mr. Robinson and Mr. Nick said the shopping centre would get the same cooperation as any other business. He thanked Mr. Robinson for bringing the business to town and hoped the storekeepers in town would get more business because of it. He felt if this had not been to town merchants would be hurt by a shopping centre out of town.

New Look At Digby Forum

Other additions of great convenience to hockey players are the newly installed showers in both the visitors' room and the home-players' room. The visitors rooms made larger by means of moving the canteen are about 350 sq. ft. A completely newly shingled roof seems to be required. Also in the project have been new piping system from the compressor room feeding plant to the ice surface, hme tank and time clock. The new installed freezing system put in last summer had free labor donated from all over Digby municipality, it was learned.

Lynn On T.V.

Miss Lynn Nicholson, of Granville Centre and Digby, will be appearing on C.H.S.J. Channel 4 and CHPT Channel 11 on Country Time at 11:30 p.m. on Saturday, April 1st. She will be presenting two songs. One of which will be "Welcome to Digby Town."

Gets Two Years

Donald Patrick Amero, Plympton was on Tuesday sentenced to two years in Dorchester Penitentiary by County Court Judge Hansen. Amero was charged with attempted rape on a twelve-year old girl. He pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of indecent assault.

He was represented by James Outhouse and John Nichols was crown prosecutor.

Form Health Planning Council

Peter Mosher of Kentville was elected chairman of the newly formed Annapolis Valley Mental Health Planning Council. Other officers elected were: Victor Gordon, Digby, Vice Chairman, and Fred Barroth, Bridgetown, Secretary. The Council has been formed to plan greater coordination of mental health services in the Valley and to determine ways and means of providing mental health services within Annapolis County.

Celebrates 97th. Birthday

Prof. Jean Alphonse Benoit, M.A., Sydney, celebrated his 97th birthday March 10, 1972. He was born in 1874 in D'Escoque, a village near Arichat, C.B., the son of Henri and Belvina Benoit. His father was a great French patriot before him and Prof. Benoit followed in his footsteps organizing bilingual classes at Normal College after teaching hours, as the subjects taught there were physics and physical geography. Prof. Benoit was instrumented in an "Acadian Conference" held in Halifax in 1922, which it was resolved that French readers should be provided for students in grades 14 of the provinces bi-lingual schools.

two sons, Paul and David, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Locke over the weekend. Head of the Stoneham group was Walter Hunt. The orchestra supplying the music consisted of Mrs. Marjorie Burton, CFB Cornwallis; Doris Burton; George Cawley and James Sanford.

Digby Regional High School Band, Orest Loewler, Digby Majorities, along with one of the largest crowds in the history of the Digby Forum gave the Stoneham and Digby Pee Wee a rousing reception on Sunday afternoon when the teams played two fine exhibition games.

PLAN FIVE YEAR BUDGET

At a special meeting of the Digby Town Council on Tuesday evening the council worked on a projected five year budget. Two other items of business were also on the agenda for the evening, viz. request for permission for a shopping centre to be built in Digby and consideration of a grant to the Carpenter's Friends.

(See other column for shopping centre story). Mayor Glen Smith drew attention to the expansion of Alcan Fisheries in Digby to include a food herring processing plant in addition to the present business. This would employ fifteen to twenty more workers. Permission for the extension was granted at the last Council meeting.

The five year projected budget was worked on for a guideline for the Department of Municipal Affairs and RCMP. The request of $200 to the Carpenter's Friends to assist them in carrying on their work had been neglected at the budget meeting. By regular motion the matter will be looked into by the finance committee, who will bring in a recommendation to determine whether funds are available.

Churches Combine For Good Friday Service

The Anglican, Baptist, Catholic, United and Salvation Army Churches of Digby will combine for a joint Good Friday Service to be held in the Digby Baptist Church this Friday night at 7:30.

Thirteen men from the churches will represent Christ and the disciples and will be seated around the table on the platform. A narrator will explain the various foods on the table which had particular meaning for the Jews at the Feast of the Passover. The disciples will join in the Jewish psalms or Hallel. The events not portrayed by them will be depicted in color on a screen behind them and explained by the narrator.

Special music will be provided by a combined choir under the direction of Herbert Warren. Anna Vassilios, a Greek singer, will sing "The Last Supper" and "The Agony in the Garden." The choir will be assisted by the choir of the Salvation Army will bring a Good Friday meditation.

Local Supports Provincial Teachers

According to Rupert Halsey, spokesman for the Digby Local Teachers Union, the Digby teachers on Tuesday evening gave their support to the union of their colleagues at the Council of the Nova Scotia Teachers Union, which they supported the N.S.T.U. president, Dr. John Macdonald, in his role of representing the teachers in extra curricular at school.

— ABOUT THIS AND THAT —

Easter Is Life

By: Ronald C. MacCormack

Here and there one finds those who keep Easter, but overlook its meaning. This is a little like waving the flag without believing in your country.

On a bright Sunday morning, in the Spring of the year A.D. 33, two lonely women tearfully made their way to a tomb just outside the North wall of Jerusalem. Here, on the previous Friday had been sealed the body of One who had captured their fullest loyalty. On arrival, they were startled to learn that Christ had risen. The tomb was empty. An angel, speaking for the Almighty declared, "He is not here, for He is risen". We have been privileged to visit this tomb in the garden, near Calvary, on two occasions.

Quickly, the good news was passed along, and mankind realized that death was not final. Here were life and victory under seemingly impossible circumstances.

The scientist is baffled by this message of the bodily resurrection. The unbeliever is scornful. The faithful find hope and reality, for here is the long-sought answer to death.

The risen Jesus appeared to the disciples and challenged them. "Be not afraid, to tell my brethren". Modern disciples likewise must rise above fear and doubt, and make it their business to tell the news of life to all.

Jesus lives today. This is important, for "if Christ be not raised, your faith is vain". I Cor. 15:17. Further, "if you and I believe, then God will redeem my soul from the power of the grave". Ps. 49:15.

He blunders badly, who misses the message of Easter.

Forum Gets A Face Lift

Wasn't it nice to have the Forum face-lift advanced as much as possible by the time the Stoneham Minor Hockey friends made their visit over the weekend. What a change to see the clean, newly carpeted dressing rooms, and lavatories complete with new fixtures. While the Minors were probably not so much interested in the new carpeting, where grown-up hockey players in particular will find the newly installed showers a great convenience.

The general appearance of the dressing room, showers and home rooms, the canteen, the corridors and the Forum in general is an asset to the town and a boost to the morale of those who attend or, perform there. The conveniences in relocating of the canteen and enlarging some rooms must be noted as well as repairing and re-doing the floors with concrete. The work which is being presently done and what already has been accomplished will preserve the recreational structure and keep it in operation for the benefit of children, youth and adults for some time to come.

Much of the work at the Forum is being done under the Winter Works program and is supplying employment as well as achieving necessary renovations. We definitely, too, want to commend all those who have so generously given of their time and substance for the Forum project all through the past year. They have been most generous.

Faith In Our Youth

It is a boost to anybody's spirit to see the fine calibre of children and young people evolving in a generation that has been reared so much with the expression "What's this younger generation coming to?" Of course, we always had and always will have that minority of trouble makers, but a little more emphasis on the positive and less on the negative might be effective in the better.

For instance, on Saturday morning the 4th Digby Cub Pack visited the Digby Courier as well as some of the Stoneham Minor Hockey boys. It was a delight to see the interested, enthusiastic, happy faces of these children and to admire their splendid behavior right down to Michael McCafferty's polite "thank you speech" when the tour was over.

Then on Sunday we had the privilege of hearing youth sing in one of our local churches when you really had to marvel at the interpretation and splendid renditions. The Digby Regional High School

Hodge Podge

It was suggested that presentations at the Digby Forum should be made at a place where the people on the grandstand can see the performance. You take it from there.

"This is bible day". That's a favorite expression in an institution in Digby, we understand. Do you know what day that is? Thursday, the day The Digby Courier comes out. Even we won't give ourselves that much credit but we appreciate the sentiments from others, especially since they are Bible, with a capital B) readers.

It always amazes us how institutions and private prisons from the most amazing places hear about Baden Powell's book "Scrapbook of Digby Town and Municipality".

Don't blame us for the remark.

We just read it in Communiqué, "Kojima National Park is known for its lakes, its streams, its scenery and during the late spring and early summer for its fish". Of course, the Communiqué says people are affected more by the thought of getting ticks than actually having them. They really aren't uncon-

Letters To The Editor

Editor Digby Courier

Dear Mrs. Wallis:

On behalf of the Digby Minor Hockey Association I would like through your paper to thank all those people who made our Digby-Stoneham hockey games a success.

Many people contributed to the programme including Mr. Don Scott with the Digby Regional High School Band; Mrs. Wyan Melnikov with the Choroleders; Mrs. Don MacDonnell; Miss Sue Nade and Mrs. Don Hudson with the Majorettes; the Knights of Columbus, CKDY Indian, the Digby Fire Department, and of course The Digby Courier; the referees for the games, Paul VanTassel, Harold Riley and Randy Barr; Digby Casting Club; Mike Gregory and Rex Martin; Digby RCMP; and the management of the Digby Forum.

We also would like to thank all the hockey fans for supporting us in such large numbers Sunday afternoon.

Sincerely,
Reginald Haxton,
Pres. DMHA.

Mrs. Edith Wallis
Digby, N.S.

Dear Mrs. Wallis:

Being unable to attend any of the meetings in regards to the new Sewer System, or as it is presently called Pollution Control, I have arrived at this decision from information received from people who have attended the meetings.

I have been told that Mayor South stated, at one of these meetings, that new construction in the Town would have to be kept at a minimum until the sewer system had been installed or major improvements have been made to the old one.

Now it our Mayor and Town Council have decided that new construction must be kept at a minimum with our present sewer system, how can they grant a building permit for a $1,250,000 construction project if they are not sure of approval from the ratepayers for the borrowing of enough money to install the new sewer system, unless they are quite certain of the outcome of the ratepayers' meeting. Do the Mayor and Councilors know something that the taxpayers in town should know? Are they going to get approval for the borrowing of money for Pollution Control or are they hoping only the people that can afford it will go to the meetings.

As for the new Pollution Control System, why should the people of Digby go head over heels in debt to clean up a small section of beach along Annapolis Basin, when this section of beach is being repolished by Annapolis, Cornwallis and all areas in between.

I think it is time for the people in Digby to wake up and speak up. If they don't want to go in debt for a new sewer system, they should say so.

But, one thing was missing. The signature. We must have it for our own protection before printing but Disgusted and Concerned is all that is necessary for the paper.

As a girl, Mrs. Banks was a waitress in hotels and spent six years in the U.S.A. and in Digby at the work.

Mrs. Banks sees many changes since the home and even days of her youth. Sometimes she went to Digby from Colwood by horse and wagon and often walked the way to the new school. The first car the family had was a Ford in 1928. There were two churches to attend in Colwood, Methodist and Baptist.

Mrs. Banks keeps active and on Sunday visited her brother, William David. Her pastime is to read the N.S. Listener to radio, doing dishes, caring for her own room and mending. CELEBRATES Prof. Benoit (from page 1) in 1963 and in the provincial exams of that year he obtained his Scientific A certificate.

At Dalhousie he was awarded a Sir William Young Scholarship which granted free tuition throughout his undergraduate years.

In April 1965, he attended Normal College and he soon qualified for an academic teacher's licence.

The following September he was appointed Principal of Clare Co. Academy, Church Point, which was affiliated with St. Anne's College. He taught mathematics, science and physical geography for next four years.

That fall he resumed his studies at Dalhousie and in the Spring of 1966 he received his B.A. with honours in mathematics and physics.

In September 1966 he joined the staff at the Normal College in Truro and stayed until 1968 when he was appointed Inspector of Schools for Richmond and South Inverness Counties. He then lived in Arichat and retired in 1971.

Prof. Benoit married in 1962 to Marie Helene Comeau of Saint-Jovite, who predeceased him over 40 years ago. In 1967 he married a second time to a widow, Mrs. Mary Ascoia, living in Sydney.

Two years ago Prof. Benoit sold his home in Arichat and is now settled at MacCallister Guest Home, Sydney, N.S., where he lives quietly, but enjoys many hours reading.

Prof. Benoit has a family of five children, the oldest, Clotilde, living in Digby, widow of the late Senator E. J. MacCallister. Two sons, René and Edouard, live in New York City and operate their own

One little Virginian girl saw a killy advertised in The Digby Courier and felt she just had to send and get it. Well, we'll say this, where can you get better advertising for Digby's tourist industry than in Grades I to XII. But you some kids are persuasive enough to have Mom and Dad vacation where The Digby Courier leads.

Which all reminds us of a letter we got asking prices for advertising and subscriptions. The U.S.A. family wants to spend the summer here and is looking for rentals.

School problems, teacher problems, student problems all over the province, some none too far away. Others are as far away as Chester, N.S., to the South; Cape Breton to the East and as far West almost as you can get. See where Education Minister Peter Nicholson is ordering a survey to evaluate the program in schools under the jurisdiction of the municipal school board at Chester. Well, Chester isn't so far away that we can't relate it if we want to.

On the subject of educational problems someone came up with one history and one health fact learned in school. History repeats itself and disease can spread.

Inhumanity

One day a crown,
The next a cross,
No love for Him,
No thought of loss.

One day daylong,
The next denied,
Betrayed by a friend,
Displeased.

One day He lived,
The next He died,
To save our souls,
He's crucified.

Man still strives to judge
His fellow man,
Thus adds more nails
To a gentle hand.

Freeport Improvement Program Employing Nineteen

By Cliff Tinker

With no more than three weeks of work completed, The Freeport Improvement Association is making rapid headway for the overall betterment of its community.

The Local Initiative Program, under the Department of Manpower and Immigration and sponsored by the Association, has received a grant of nine thousand dollars. This, at present, is providing employment for nineteen men, who might otherwise be unemployed for the winter months.

The Freeport Improvement Association is undergoing similar transformations. The 1000' and community hall is in the process of having its floor sanded and ceiling painted.

At present preparations are being made for the reconstruction of a dam and the clearing of timber and shrubbery along "the brook". In this effort it is hoped to provide skating, fishing and boating, as new forms of recreation in the months to follow.

Not only are tangible results evident in Freeport but a weekly payroll in excess of $1,000 stimulates the Island's economy and adds a happy atmosphere to community life.

The Freeport Improvement Association is directed by an advisory board of responsible citizens. With their direction and the cooperation of the entire community the program arises do not keep up with the times by wearing past suits. Success.

Snowmobiling For City Folks? You Bet!

Teenagers that snowmobile for popularity first found in rural areas, some observers have noted if snowmobiling really is expected for city folks. Well, even for the few who can afford to take in the winter or hardy souls who ski, for many metropolitan residents winter traditionally is the time to "take up" looks and TV and long lists of dreaming of spring.

Now, to answer the question, the snowmobile is changing all that for many city dwellers. According to the recreation experts at Mercury snowmobiles, these swift snow machines may be even more appealing to city people than rural residents because — like boats in the summer — snowmobiles provide a fun reason to get away from "city rigors."

Most cities on the snowmobile fringes are only an hour or so south from prime snowmobiling areas. And even with a compact car, one or two snowmobiles can be trailer easily from city to countryside for a weekend of fun in the fresh, crisp air.

For those not willing to buy a machine—at least until they enjoy one—many former summer resorts now are all-season facilities, offering snowmobile rentals at reasonable rates. Moreover, many enlightened city officials, recognizing the need for all-season urban recreation, are opening local parks and golf courses to the machines. (It's virtually impossible for snowmobiles to damage greens if there is 4-inches or more of snow.)

It's snowmobiling for city folks? In city or out, you bet it is.

Stoneham -vs- Digby

The first game of the day saw the Stoneham Pee Wee C team down Digby by a score of 4 - 2 in a fast crowd pleaser. Stoneham outplayed the Digby squad and held a 1 - 0 lead at the end of the first period. Only the outstanding goal tending of Robert Croteau in the Digby net kept the score from being much higher. In the second period, Stoneham again carried the play and went ahead 2 - 0. At the 17:00 minute mark the Digby team snatched back with two quick goals to tie the score 2 - 2. Play was even for the remainder of the period. The third period saw the two teams play evenly until the 10:45 mark when Stoneham scored on a penalty shot. This play seemed to fire up the Stoneham team and they scored again at the 14:45 mark and went on to win the game 4 - 2.

Markmen for the Stoneham team were Billy McDonough with 2, and Robert Santoro and Jim Treney with one each.

To Raise Funds For Red Wings

Captain: Wally Halliday, trainer: Lyle Dugas and team manager: "Charlie" Murphy of the Digby Pee Wee Red Wings have announced that they plan to have several fund-raising projects to raise money for team jackets for the Digby team in recognition of the fine showing the team made in the AHA play.

The Digby team defeated Yarmouth and Cornwallis in singletons. Digby goals were scored by Locke and LeBlanc.

In the second game of the afternoon the Digby Pee Wee B team downed Stoneham by a score of 6 - 3. The Digby team came out strong and were holding a 4 - 1 lead at the end of the first period. Again goal tending was the name of the game as Mike Banks played out-landing for Stoneham.

The second period saw both teams each score two goals as play settled down. Soro at the end of the second period was 6 - 3 in favor of Digby and remained that way during the third period.

Randy Oliver played an outstanding game for Digby as he scored a hat trick. Barry McEwen also played a strong game as he scored twice while Robert Dugals added Digby's other tally. Stoneham's other tally was scored by two while Marty Jordan added a single.

Goals for the 4th Digby Pack were scored by Mark McLarnan (5) and John Barr (1). Scorers for the 2nd Digby Pack were Mike Nichols (2) and Timmy Boodoosings (1).

Plan Four Day Exhibition

Digby County Exhibition will again be held for four days in 1972, with tentative dates August 22 to 25. These plans were made on Tuesday evening at a regular meeting when Percy Freeman reported on a different idea which was materieling for entertainment at the exhibition. A pipe band with drums will perform on Saturday afternoon and give a concert Saturday evening. The neighbourhood kids from the Valley are expected to perform and the Height family will also be featured. Many other entertainment numbers are being kept up and the program will include an amateur pancake cook off. The first day of the exhibition will again be 4 1/2 Day.

The meeting presided over by Jewell Lefroy Warner made plans for considerable improvements to the buildings and grounds. A permanent sign with lighting will be displayed on the front of the main building, new stairs and platform of the main building and dining hall; new road leading to the parking lot, new electric wiring and fences. Already much work has been done with bushes on the property out and burned. The vegetable display area in 1972 will be increased to extend around the whole wall in the main building.

Mrs. Mary Daves, secretary, expressed appreciation to those who offered assistance and reminded people that those who could not give physical assistance could give donations.

Mr. and Mrs. Warner and Mrs. Daves left Sunday for Halifax to attend the annual meeting of the Nova Scotia Association of Exhibitions.

Bear River Brownies News

First of all we'd like to welcome the four new Brownies to our pack. Tim Jefferson, Clara and Christine Harlow, and Sharon Andrews. Also a big welcome to our Snowy Owl Mrs. Ashby.

Last month the Brownies of Cornwallis invited us to a skating party. Two Brownies, Truly Gilliam and Carol Dorey earned their skates by skating.

During the week, Truly Owl and Brown Owl managed to stay up on their skates. Surprise!

Since Brownies started last fall 28 badges have been earned. Well done girls!

Even though the Thinking Day party had to be postponed because of weather, we did manage to hold it on the Friday. The birthday cake made and decorated by Truly Owl was an added treat.

On Feb. 20th the church parade held at the Advent Church was well attended.

Rev. Shaw delivered a message of interest to both Brownies and parents.

A few golden hand Brownies have started their badge work for the four inch square. Keep at it girls.

Brownies, that seems to be it for this report. Watch the news for future reports.

Gets 20 - Year Pin

On Thursday, March 23rd, The Ladies Auxiliary of the Royal Canadian Legion of Bear River held their annual banquet at the Cornwallis Cafe, Digby. There were 16 members and one visitor in attendance. After the banquet, the party motored back to Bear River to attend the regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary. During the meeting the Treasurer Mrs. Gladys Wheelhouse presented Mrs. Thelma Jefferson with her 20 year pin. Mrs. Jefferson thanked the members. Following the meeting refreshments were served by the committee in charge. A birthday cake was also served which was donated by Mrs. Caroline Lent.

Wins Fancy Dress Prize

Miss Paula Rose, Bear River, received the prize among twenty entrants for the best fancy dress costume at a contest held on-board ship while enroute home from the Mediterranean with the students Newford cruise.

Miss Rose also entered a concert on the trip when she rendered vocal selections "The More I See You" and "Baggie Taggie Gypsies".

Miss Rose found the trip educational and adventuresome. One of the highlights was the visit to Venice where the song "Raindrops Keep Falling On My Head" became almost a means of communication.

Here Miss Rose, Sandra Dakin, Thelma Cromwell and Linda Dunn took a ride in a gondola. Miss Rose also enjoyed meals.

She did little gift buying but a special one greatly admired by her grandmother was the marble statue of a child in Athens and purchased in Pireneport.

Rejoice Together in Church This Easter

SING HALLELUIA! CHRIST IS REBORN THIS SEASON

The glory of Easter... the story of our Christ's rebirth. It is a true love story, one that will live forever. Sing words of praise and earnest devotion, this Eastertide, and keep them soulfully meaningful throughout the year. With adoration and jubilation in our hearts, and sincere prayers of thankfulness, let us celebrate the most joyful time of the year together. A blessed Easter to all mankind. May it be a time for brother love, peace and celebration.

Rejoice... it's

TIPS FOR THE IMPULSIVE EATER

There is so much said about the compulsive eater—the person who finds any and every occasion to indulge in excess. But there is another type of eater that I call the "impulsive eater".

This speed demon wolfed down food indiscriminately while doing battle with his own built-in safety device, the time factor.

If you are an "impulsive eater", slowing down is the first step to slimness. Think first, eat later. If you plan your meals and adhere to the plan there is no room for errors.

Do yourself a favor by having all the food on the table at mealtime; you will not be tempted to return to the kitchen for extras.

Outwit morning snack-eating at the office. A too little, too early breakfast invites mid-morning pilfering when the coffee wagon comes around. Take time to eat a balanced breakfast.

Another tip—avoid afternoon larders with a pick-me-up of bouillon, salad, a gelatin dessert, not beverage or fruit.

Solve the boob-tube dilemma! If television is making you appetite-addictive, be ready with a heaping bowl of munchables such as celery, raw radishes, cauliflowerettes or dried green pepper.

Living with a "skinny" family can present a problem. Don't feed your family what you would like to eat because you wind up eating it—after all, skinny people are just born weight watchers and haven't the temptations you have.

Sleep walking may have headed you in the wrong direction. Try loosening the light bulb in your refrigerator before bedtime. By the time you stop to wonder what's wrong, you may be happily headed back to dreamland, still on your weight watching program. If hunger persists, have a tall glass of diet pop and back to bed.

Taking time to think helps to remove impulsive eating urges. And remember there may be a reason but never an excuse, so weight a minute!

(Adelaide Daniels is Manager of Weight Watchers (Atlantic Limited).)

BURNING PERMITS REQUIRED

Residents of the province are reminded that burning permits are required during the fire season, under provisions of the Lands and Forests Act.

Pertinent sections of the Act state that "no person shall light a fire or start a fire on land within a wood, forest or forest area, or within 1,000 feet of same, during the fire season unless he has leave of the Chief Ranger or Sub-ranger."

For the purpose of this section, the Act also states that "fire season" means the period between the first day of April and the 15th day of October in each year in the counties of Queens, Shelburne, Yarmouth, Digby and Annapolis. In all other counties "fire season" means the period between the 15th day of April and the 15th day of October in each year.

"Leave" or "leave in writing" means a permit in the form prescribed by the Minister.

For information on obtaining burning permits contact your nearest office of the Department of Lands & Forests.

Nova Scotia Department of Lands and Forests

Hon. Benoit Comeau

R. H. Burgess

Deputy Minister

- NOTICE -

The following fire prevention by-law has been adopted by the Digby Municipal Council and was unanimously approved by the Council:

1. Except as hereinafter provided, no person shall at any time within the Municipality of the District of Digby in the County of Digby light, ignite, or start or allow or cause to be lighted, ignited or started a fire of any kind whatsoever in the open air before the hour of 5:00 P. M.

2. The provisions in Subsection 1 above shall not apply during the period April 1st to October 15th in any year to areas within sixty rods of any woods or to any other areas within the said Municipality dealt with pursuant to the provisions of the Lands and Forests Act.

3. The provisions in Subsection 1 above shall not apply to any fire lighted, ignited or started in a non-combustible container used for the burning of any rubbish, nor to small, confined fires used to cook food in grills or barbecues.

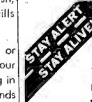

4. Persons wishing to light, ignite, or start or allow or cause to be lighted, ignited or started before the hour of 5:00 P. M. a fire for the purpose of land clearing in an area not covered by the provisions of the Lands and Forests Act, shall apply for leave in writing from the Municipal Clerk.

And further resolved that the said by-law be published in the weeklies circulating in the County.

The main purpose of the above by-law is to prevent the irresponsible lighting of grass fires, which are of considerable nuisance to the volunteer firemen.

Permits may be obtained from the Municipal Office, Court House, Digby.

W. L. McMillan,
Municipal Clerk.

Palm Sunday In Weymouth

St. Peter's Parish congregation in Weymouth, was joined by a special service on Palm Sunday morning, when the combined group of eighteen members of the Anglican-United Sunday School children sang three hymns: Lord of the Dance by Sydney Carter (with Miss Ann Powell as soloist).

"Come, My Brothers" "They'll Know We Are Christians by Our Love" . . . Peter's chorale.

Mrs. Douglas Anthony, Mrs. Harlow Pollock, Mrs. Ralph Williams, Mrs. Mimi Bishop and Miss Margo Williams, by their work and fine spirit, had made the devotion one to be remembered, and the accompaniment on guitar by Allan Bright, was suitable background for the fine tone and diction of the young singers.

The Reverend Isaac Butler, pastor of St. Peter's, in his sermon to the children, spoke of the many ways that "salute" or "talents" might be shared by the young participants, and gave two instances in the Bible where this had been graphically demonstrated.

"One division of the leaves and fishes by the young led to the multitude of those gathering to hear Our Lord (John 6:9) ; and the action of the Good Samaritan (in Luke 10:30-37) (who, on finding a man fallen among thieves, stopping him of his journey, leaving him half dead, took him to an inn after binding his wounds and gave the host two Roman pence) which, he explained, might in our day be the equivalent of about four dollars. Mr. Butler pointed out that the children of the choir had also shared their 'talents' as had those in the Bible, by 'singing on broadcastly on this Palm Sunday morning."

John Jones, teacher of the Intermediate made photographs and tape recordings of the children's program.
