Now and then a printing job had a page or two of parchment paper which smelled very bad some days. I always dreaded it when "Man" would take you to the largest press in spite of the fact he always opened an outside door to lessen the odors on the runabout.

One of the jobs I had to do, besides putting and graders' devil on the staff, was to... I cleaned one and then... One day not long after I started to get to the grating plant. I decided to climb the floor that apparently hadn't been cleaned for some considerable time.

"J.J." came along and said, "how are you making out Vince?" I assured him that I thought I was beginning to see the floor. "J.J." laughed very heartily. He thought the remark pretty good and whole.

Sometimes the gasoline engine, a piece of machinery would refuse to work, and the "Man" fix-it man had patiently worked for a certain length of time to get it going again, without results. Man would then stand back and come quite dramatically then he would immediately start working. "See," he would say, "all it needed was a bit of coaxing."

On other occasions when some group refused duty for the dead, seemed to be brokenhearted, I would say, "use a little oil" and sure enough, after that is said, "use a little oil" and sure enough, after that is said, it took. They often since, have I heard of the value of that remark and the actual need of oil in many life situations, applied at the right time, right place and in the right way.

Other things that sort of stick in my memory and come to mind now and then are, like the time I told "Mac" of four teenage boys who in the spring season of 1918 got together just before dark one evening and decided to mutilate the newly built outdoor Pease Hotel swimming pool which had just been filled with water. Clothes were taken off near the road just out of the pool, nobody else seemed to be around except the four boys, no thought or time for bathing suits, so in the pool they went. They stood on the edge of the pool and looked at the chilly water, one soon jumped in. The rest quickly followed and across the pool they swam. "Mac" listened to the story and hardly said anything, but the next "Digby Courier" had a good story on the episode. The heading of the story was something like, "Four Boy Swims Officially Open Pease Hotel Swimming Pool." Who were the four? Many years later they are known as: the late Dr. Carl H. Anderson, veteran of two wars, second world war and Korea; was awarded the Victoria Cross; Sidney L. Smith, now prominent draughtsman for many years in Digby; Clayton D. Snow, Digby wholesale butcher and himself.

As a young teenager I used to like doing some writing about different events interesting to myself, and mostly for myself. One day "Mac" said to me how about writing your version of the story told about "The Marooning of Jerome". I did it and read at least two somewhat different versions about the man who was found marooned on a beach in some point on the French Shore of St. Mary's Bay, Duffy County. When I read this man's tongue had been cut out and his legs quite freshly amputated. He was surprisingly well dressed and housed. He was presumably left by some vessel before dawn one morning, all for some mysterious reason.

"Jerome" appeared to have been a man of considerable social standing and, possibly, of considerable wealth. However, the woman could or would ever say after being told the story for by some family in the French about something that sounded like the story of either, you'd not, or would not, why he was who he was or why he was left the way it was. And, of course, of course, of course, and different ideas have been given for years concerning this man. However, "Miss" was, I felt, no more than a different about this man. The woman had been very well educated and had been and was a great deal of a

From the files of the Chamber of January 23, 1967, the following account has been copied concerning India in 1965:

Adding a number of 60 newspapers which sent it to be burned is a copy of the United States Gazette of 1845, 1846, says the Telegraph and among other advertisements contained in the issue before us is one describing the town and farming of Daply, and offering for sale certain lots in the town. In this area we are told the founding of Daply "results from the fact of Annapolis westward to the extremity of the province of Nova Scotia, and contains about 134,000 acres." The town plot is there described.

The Town Plot is situated at the east of the township just within the entrance to Annapolis Basin, and extends miles from Annapolis Town, and six miles across land from the head of W. Mary's Bay. This land not only has water's edge, partly on level ground, and partly on the declivity of a modern hill, dry and pleasant, and having on an eastern aspect a view of the Annapolis Basin and its cultivated shores for twenty miles in extent, it terminates with the Fort and River's mouth at that name. It was secured by Loyalists from New York in 1782, the point of which went early to Britain, or, moving to other countries, left the shore free trade with the U.S.A., especially with the New England States. The question was then debated by some Digby High School students, one of which was J.J.'s daughter, Florence (now Mrs. Abbott of Tibet, Connecticut, Digby Co.). Some days after the debate a man from some part of Nova Scotia came to the printing shop looking for Florence, one of the successful debaters. I had the impression that this man was interested politically but, maybe I was wrong.

Well, I felt that I had learned considerable from my short experience at "The Wallis Job Print." I was learning to do beginner jobs, receiving some knowledge about things like: embossing, stapling, perforating, counting, cutting and trimming paper stock, printing ink for certain desired values, and so forth, but, the only experience I had at setting type was just enough to make a "go", the printers name for a confused mess.

There was a taste of trying to do it all outside the plant. Work was a little slack one early fall day and so "Mac" said to me, "how about trying your hand at taking orders for petted personalized Christmas cards?" I tried it, made several calls around town, spent most of the time at one particular street town, got much closer and got an order, but

FIREMEN GET $2000 CHEQUE

One of the highlights of the annual Digby Volunteer Fire Department's banquet at the new fire hall, First Avenue, Saturday evening was the presentation to the Department of a $2000 cheque by the Digby Fire Department Auxiliary. The money will be used toward the purchase of new fire fighting equipment.

Another interesting feature was the presentation to three firemen of their veterans pins for sixteen years of continuous service. Recipients were Chief Vaughn VanTassell, Don Jayne and Charles Theriault. The presentations were made by Chief VanTassell and Joe Doucette.

Captain Godfrey Griffiths Number Two Company received this year's award for the annual hose laying contest. A plaque in the shape of a Maltese Cross will later be unveiled in memory of fireman. Hunt who was drowned a few months ago at Porter's Lake.

It was also announced that Miss Pamela Halliday, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Halliday, had in July been chosen as Digby Fire Prevention Queen.

The banquet was presided over by Everett Hall, president of the Digby Fire Department and Chief VanTassell. F.C. Purdy was guest speaker reminiscing on the humorous sides of life in the profession of school administration and commutation with the aid of slides on his recent trip to Russia.

Present at the banquet as special guests were Mayor Charles Haliburton and Councillor Guy VanTassell, chairman of the Town of Digby Fire Committee.

Fire Prevention Week began on Sunday with the Department called out to a house fire at George Haynes, Mount Pleasant. Damage was slight.

Activities planned for the week included the display in the window at Greenbergs down town; evacuation drills and inspection at school; display of equipment and films at the hall with tours; inspection at the Digby General Hospital and instruction on procedures in event of fire. Chief VanTassell gave much praise to Douglas VanTassell, chairman of Fire Prevention Week program on his thorough inspection of buildings in town and the confirmation sought by bringing in the Fire Marshall's advice.

Chief VanTassell highly recommended the use of fire extinguishers and smoke detectors, both of which are available through the Department.

Digby Water Commission Applies For 75 Percent Rate Increase

The Digby Water Commission was on Monday evening authorized by the Digby Town Council to apply to the Board of Public Utilities for a seventy-five percent increase in rates. The hearing will be held in Digby on October 14th. The last raise in rate was made in 1970, it was noted and this increased rate would carry without loss for but one year in 1977 and in 1978 there would again be a loss suffered. The Water Commission deficit, it was learned, is $85,000 of which more than $30,000 is from within five years. This rate was based on forty per cent increase in power and now there is a suggested increase of sixty five percent for the Commission to face. A sum of approximately $73,000 is still owing to the town.

George Churchill, president of the Digby Kinsmen Club addressed Town Council, requesting exemption of taxes on the Kinsmen Hall on Maiden Lane. Mr. Churchill said that $5,600 was spent on renovations, mostly raised by the Kinette Club. The hall, he said, has been used by teenagers and has been donated free of charge to community groups. The exemption requested was from December 31, 1975 and on an annual review basis. By regular motion of Councillor Eileen Chipman and Gordon Ellis, and passed, the request was tabled to be brought up under the new council.

Also tabled was the matter of garbage collection agreement renewal.

In reply to a request of CBC to purchase or lease land belonging to the town to erect transmitter equipment a decision was made by motion to grant a ten year lease on an area on the hill if it does not conflict with the local radio station and if it does then the South End property requested be leased at $500 per year.

Tabled was a letter from the directors of Tideview Terrace requesting a $10,000 grant from the town.

Bills for the month of September to the amount of $29,888.90 were approved for payment. Tenders on insurance and a truck purchase were opened with those accepted going to J. J. Brittain Ltd., and MacDonald Motors.

The report of Sgt. Thomas Barlow RCMP showed things coming back to normal with only one break and enter. There were 12 property damage reports, three traffic accidents and several disturbances. There were nine cases under the criminal code, 16 motor vehicle, six liquor control and three narcotics. One was sentenced to nine months in Kings County Correctional Centre. Sgt. Barlow reported a successful meeting of concerned citizens sponsored by the Digby Board of Trade and in which the RCMP was guest speaker on panelist.

It was decided to put up parking signs near the property of Ervin Everett as it is not the town's responsibility to extend culverts.

The superintendent of streets, Frank Robinson reported two trees having been moved, one on the property of Mrs. Hilda Webber and the other on the property occupied by Cpl. and Mrs. James Webb.

Six Contest Two Weymouth Seats

When nominations closed on Tuesday evening, six candidates names had been submitted to contest the two Weymouth seats in the October 19 election in the Municipality of the District of Digby. Nominations were filed on Tuesday for Arthur Rice and Walter MacAlpine, both reoffering and newcomers to municipal government, Grant Sabine, Bernard Manzer, Arnold Comeau and Mrs. Judy Melanson.

Mr. Rice was Deputy Warden for the Municipality and had served on most of the Council committees. Of these he felt the Welfare, Finance committee and School Board were challenges, though rewarding. He particularly mentioned negotiating with CUPE as a member of the School Board.

Mr. Rice is an ex-firechief, village commissioner, a post master of Tuscan Lodge and has been on Boards of Imperial Oil during his dealership of 25 years.

Presently he is chairman of the Imperial Oil Advisory Board for Atlantic Province.

The owner and operator of Riverside Motors, Mr. Rice is married. A son George is employed with his father at the garage. A married daughter, a daughter Cheryl in Grade XII and Stephen, Grade X and there are three grandchildren.

Walter MacAlpine, a service station operator, served for a full term of three years on the Municipal Council in which he was chairman of the Recreation Municipal Commission, was on the Board of Health, Welfare Committee and Joint Expenditures Committee.

Mr. MacAlpine was born in Hassetts, taking his elementary schooling in that village and returned to the Weymouth area after taking his mechanics apprenticeship with the department of Labor in Ontario.

Mr. MacAlpine is a member of Tuscan Lodge, Weymouth and is president of the Retail Gasoline Dealers Association in Digby and Annapolis area.

Mr. and Mrs. MacAlpine have five children, four in school and one preschooler.

Grant Sabine, Riverdale, successful milk rancher for 20 years and a direct distributor for Amway, has been interested in following the activities of Council for some years as applied to the growth and economic prosperity of the municipality.

Mr. Sabine said he would not run on any specific platform; he would just depend on his honesty and integrity and his ability to make the best decisions for the people he serves.

Mr. Sabine is much interested in Community Fire Protection and is working faithfully for his area's Volunteer Fire Department. He is active in church, being a member of the Board and a deacon.

Mr. Sabine is married to the former Miss Seretha Hurlburt R.N. of Carleton. They have two children, Twila, a grade nine student at Weymouth and Lowell in grade four.

Bernard Manzer is a retired school teacher, having completed 30 years teaching last year, but he still substitutes when a teacher is needed. He also is owner and operator of a laundramat in Weymouth.

Born in Weymouth and completing his high school in the area, Mr. Manzer holds university degrees from Acadia, a B.A. and a diploma in education. He taught in Barton, Annapolis Royal, Freeport, Yarmouth Consolidated High School, was principal at Port Williams and at the old Weymouth Academy and spent four years teaching in the Weymouth Consolidated School.

Change Name To CN Marine

Robert Bandeem, CN's president and chief executive officer, today launched CN Marine - the new name for one of the largest ship fleets operating in Canada - with a striking new logo that represents the bays, straits and inlets of Atlantic Canada.

First application of the logo is on the funnel of the Princess of Acadia, sailing between Saint John and Digby. Its use will soon be extended to other vessels in Atlantic service and to all aspects of their operation and marketing.

Bandeem made the announcement at Saint John's annual Port Day. He told the delegates that Transport Canada and CN are working toward a sound commercial footing for CN Marine because it is vital to the transportation infrastructure of Atlantic Canada.

"It is clear that CN Marine should have to bear the responsibilities of raising and planning the capital needs of the services as well as being concerned with operating costs," said Bandeem. Until now, the federal government has been responsible for funding the capital costs of ships and terminals.

He pointed out that the operation has two sources of revenue, fares and government subsidies, to meet the costs of the service. "The ratio between the two is quite properly a decision for the

BOUQUET FOR FIREMEN

In another space we have brought the attention of our readers to the fact that this is Fire Prevention Week. We have given some figures on the wanton destruction by fire and some suggestions on how to prevent fires.

In this space we want to give a bouquet to our firemen for all the work they do on our behalf, training for a dangerous job and participating in saving lives and property when actual fires or disasters occur. It is in this week, Fire Prevention Week, when the firemen are especially conscious of what is best for us in relation to fire prevention and they make every effort to educate us. It is only right that this newspaper and its readers return the compliment and give a bouquet to the firemen. They are only human and cannot guess our appreciation for a job well done. Let's say so.

When referring to firemen, we refer not only to the Digby Fire Department but to all the fire departments in the County and by the way, fortunately the County is pretty well covered from one end to another. Nor are we forgetting those who are working so diligently to provide facilities for fire fighting though not serving on a fire department. Without facilities the firemen could not give the same protection.

During Fire Prevention Week and after, talk fire protection, practice fire prevention, learn about overcoming fire hazards at home, at school and in the forest. Remember green forests mean clear water, pleasant countryside and available jobs.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor;

Thanks to Raymond Thurber, a commissioner of Freeport Village, Digby County, for his letter in September 30 issue of the Courier.

Mr. Thurber has truthfully and sensibly put forth some truth, and, nothing but the truth regarding the liquor question and the coming liquor plebiscite in District 4 of the municipality of the District of Digby. All people concerned should read his letter, and the "Fellowship of The Concerned" should be particularly interested.

A pamphlet on alcoholism

recently received contained the following words of Evangeline Booth of the Salvation Army, who, through her great organization, gathered up human wreckage from the skid rows of the world. "Drink (alcoholic beverages) has drained more blood, hung more crepes, sold more homes, plunged more people into bankruptcy, armed more villains, slain more children, snapped more wedding rings, defiled more innocence, blinded more eyes, twisted more limbs, dethroned more reason, wrecked more manhood, dishonored more womanhood, broken more hearts, driven more to suicide, and dug more graves, than any other poisonous scourge that ever swept its death-dealing waves across the world."

Remember, drunkenness tricked even Alexander the Great who conquered the world - he died in a drunken stupor.

It is stated in the above mentioned pamphlet that the crime rate in the U.S.A. has increased in exact ratio to mounting alcoholic consumption - think on this - who in their right mind, may I ask, wants such an increase from more and more liquor outlets? Vote NO, if you do not. In addition, what about the very serious Health and Welfare problems related to alcohol consumption?

I wish to submit that probably the worst trend of the alcohol question today is, the fact that some very worthy organizations are currently tying themselves in with liquor interests, holding their coats, so to speak, while many lives are in the process of being destroyed.

And, is it not grossly insulting to the human family, to express in any way, that people generally will not financially and otherwise sufficiently support good causes without catering to their lusts for financial gain? Is not promotion of liquor sales one of the worst ways to raise revenue?

The Digby Courier,
Water St.,
Digby, N.S.

Mrs. Edith Wallis, Editor:
Dear Madam:

Reference is made to a letter published in your paper under date of 30 September 1976 regarding a plebiscite to be held in the towns of Tiverton and Freeport N.S. on 12 October 1976.

Exceptions are taken to parts of this letter by the officers and members of Capriquet Branch No. 92, R.C.L. as follows: In the first paragraph it is stated that if approved the plebiscite in question would open the door for the establishment of additional Liquor outlets in these communities. Such is not the case. Application has been made by the Legion for a Club License, permitting only members of the Legion and one guest accompanied by that member would have access to the Legion Hall. These are the mandatory rules and regulations governing this type of License.

The request by the Legion for such a license is a matter of recognized legal procedure and is not FORCED on anyone.

Comment is made that the Legion of old is not the Legion of today but the Legion of today still represents all Canadian veterans and their allies and work for and support the honorable aims and objectives for the good and comfort of the community, its members and their families. Reference is made in the letter that this Branch is "managed and operated by outsiders" but the true fact is that those actively involved with the management and operation of the organization are residents and tax payers of the Islands.

The Commissioner has evidently not made an accurate study of the type and kind of Club license requested, for he believes that approval would place bars on every corner. This Branch of the Legion respectfully requests that he examine the Club Licenses in the following communities, Clementsport, Kentville, Weymouth, Meteghan, Saulinerville, Middleton, Kingston, Bridgewater and Berwick. These towns have not been beset with bars on every corner, have successfully operated for many years and the establishments and their members are respected and have the esteem of the majority of all their citizens.

The Legion wishes to reemphasize that we will not have an OPEN bar and to classify this activity with bootleggers is abhorrent to all our members. The Veterans Legions throughout the entire world are respected and their contributions to many charities, individuals, hospitals and institutions are a matter of record.

For these reasons Capriquet Br. No. 92 hopes for your support in the forthcoming Plebiscite.

Fraternalty yours,
Jack W. Tinker,
Chairman Coordinator of

The Digby Courier

Dear Editor;

I am sitting here looking at my last water bill. It's overdue. Haven't paid it yet but my conscience is bothering me and I know I have to pay it. I was taught to pay my bills promptly but I was also taught to get good value for my money and can not in truth say that about Digby's water.

It isn't fit to drink - we have carried ours from the spring for years!

It isn't fit to wash clothes in - all my sheets and pillow cases are ruined with ugly orange and yellow sneers and streaks - now it is even noticeable in the colored clothes!!

It isn't even fit to flush the toilet with as it leaves the bowl orange and brown and clings and clings. Even Javex has given up on it.

To-day I opened the Digby Courier and low and behold what did my eyes see? A notice that the Digby Water Commission is asking for an increase in rates on Thursday the 14th of October.

Doesn't anyone in Digby have horrible water like us? Doesn't anyone care?

Can't anything be done for better water in Digby?

Even an improvement in color if it can't be done to the taste.

What happened to Digby's artesian wells?

Can't they be used?

In all honesty my clothes look better before I wash them than they do after.

Signed:
Water Weary

SIX CONTEST TWO WEYMOUTH SEATS

presently he has time to devote to Municipal Council, a commodity which he lacked before retirement.

Mrs. Manzer was the former Miss Avis Cosman of Weymouth who has also been a school teacher for 25 years.

There are three children in the family, a teacher at Canning, a secretary in Weymouth and one school boy, age 11.

Born in Weymouth, Mrs. Melanson completed her schooling in Weymouth and took her nursing course at the Annapolis Regional Vocational School.

Mr. and Mrs. Melanson have four children; Theresa, 18 years; Stuart, 13; Patti, 11 and Joey 9.

and operator of the Goodwin Hotel in Weymouth. He was born in Weymouth and received his schooling there but later joined the armed forces in which he served for 22 years and had been stationed at Korea, Viet Nam, Cyprus and Germany. He retired as a Warrant Officer and in 1970 returned to Weymouth where he purchased the Goodwin Hotel.

Mr. Comeau is especially interested in programs for youth, particularly in the field of sports and is active in the Weymouth Legion's youth sports program. He wants to see things going in Weymouth and hopes to through Council.

Mr. and Mrs. Comeau have three children, a daughter, 13 and twin sons, 11 years.

Culloden district provides another interesting election poll where four candidates vie for the one seat. They are Eric Van Tassell, Mount Pleasant, who has already served a three year term; Arthur Johnson, Mount Pleasant; Mrs. Olive Hazelton, Lighthouse Road and Mrs. Joyce Hazel, Mount Pleasant.

Eric VanTassell has completed a three year term on the Digby Municipal Council for District number seven.

During his three years serving on the Council Mr. VanTassell was a member of the Airport Committee, the Tideview Terrace Committee, the Board of Health and the Hydro Committee.

A Digby County native, Mr. VanTassell was born at Mount Pleasant and received his schooling in Digby. He has been a successful construction worker, retiring four years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. VanTassell have three sons, all married, Robert (Dutch) in Whitehorse, a chief exploratory geologist, Rodney in construction work and Ray at South Dakota where he is continuing his studies in mining engineering.

Mr. Johnson was born in the Peggy's Cove area of Nova Scotia and came here in 1938 as a lad of 19 years. He went to work at cutting pulpwood for the Masons on what was known as the Henderson place. He was in war service for four years, worked at the H.T. Warne plant and at CFB Cornwallis. For the past 15 years, he has been in the carpenter trade and house construction business.

Mr. Johnson is married and there are six children, the youngest in Grade 12 at Digby Regional High School.

Mrs. Hazel was the former Joyce Carter, who completed high school here and was employed by the Royal Bank of Canada. She married Brian Hazel and they have three children Ann Marie 10, Steven 9 and Kevin 7. Recently Mr. and Mrs. Hazel have opened Chris' Take Out and Bake Shop at Conway. Mrs. Hazel has been interested in figure skating, minor hockey and the Digby County Pleasure Horse Club.

Mrs. Hazelton is a native of England who has lived here for the past twenty-six years. Presently Mrs. Hazelton is working at the Admiral Digby Library but has also worked as a receptionist in a doctor's office and has done nursing. Interested in children, Mrs. Hazelton has been active in Brownies, minor Hockey and the Digby Recreation Commission.

Captain and Mrs. Reginald (Olive) Hazelton moved from Digby Town to the Lighthouse Road where they had built a new home about a year ago. They have three children Wendy, with the R.C.M.P., Yarmouth; Vance and Derek at school.

Bear River will not see the 1976 municipal election go by without a degree of activity in that village on the Digby County side of the line.

Byard Marshall reoffered for nomination and Rubin Mervin will be his opposition.

Mr. Marshall served for two terms or six years and is willing to try three more. During the six years Mr. Marshall served on a number of committees with Welfare being his most active committee.

A brick layer by trade, Mr. Marshall is retired and feels he has time to devote to municipal work. Mr. Marshall is active on the Bear River Board of Trade and the Digby Fire Commissioners, had been active in Home and School and other areas of local education and has been an active church worker. There is a son, Frank, principal of the Oakdene School, Bear River, and a daughter, Judith, is married and lives in Ontario.

Two candidates will vie for the Bear River seat. Rubin Mervin has also signified his intention of running.

Mr. Mervin is well known in Bear River through the Bear River Agricultural Society and in the Digby County Exhibition Association of which he is president.

A contest will be held in Smith's Cove where L.E.R. Winchester, reoffering, will oppose Mrs. M.C. Gott.

Winchester has served for one three-year term representing the Smith's Cove district. In that time he has carried a number of heavy committees, being chairman of the Finance Committee, the Municipal Hydro Committee and the Board of Health. He was a member of the Joint Expenditures committee and of the Digby Municipal Airport Committee. The airport, he felt, was of prime importance.

A former councillor in the Smith's Cove district, Mrs. M.C. (Penny) Gott served on the Council of the Municipality of the District of Digby for 12 years.

Mrs. Gott is president of the Annapolis Basin Tourist and Recreation Council and has taken an active part in Town and Community affairs. She is owner and operator of the Hedley House, Smith's Cove.

Wilfred Swift, Westport, will be opposed in the October 19 election by Mrs. "Ricky" Robicheau of the same village.

Mr. Swift has served on the Council for 12 years, three of which were in the office of Warden of the municipality. For three years Mr. Swift had been Deputy Warden under Warden Ronald Morehouse.

Now 64 years of age, Mr. Swift was born and educated at Westport. During the war years he was employed in Saint John, N.B., building Corvettes, later he had experience in fishing and in 1951 came to the Co-Op where he is manager of the store and head of the Westport Co-Operative Society Ltd.

Mr. Swift is active in his own community where he was Past Deputy Grand of I.O.O.F. Lodge; member of the Masonic Lodge 65, the Baptist Church, the Freeport Legion, past president of Home and School, and trustee of school; is on the Building Committee for the Recreation Hall and is a member of the Westport Volunteer Fire Department.

Outside the village Mr. Swift, in relation to municipal work, is on the Executive of the Nova Scotia School Boards Association, chairman of the Municipal School Board, chairman of the Board of Directors for Tideview, on the Digby Hospital Board, Hydro, Welfare, Finance, Board of Health and the School Board Negotiating Committee. As warden he had been a member of all municipal committees.

Mr. Swift would like to see the projects now started to get finished and wants to do the best for his own village and the municipality as a whole. It was pleasing to him and showed a harmonious and satisfying situation, he remarked, when each incumbent re-offered to run again.

Mr. and Mrs. Swift have three children, one a student in school.

Mrs. Robicheau was born in Mymegen, Holland, was married in 1946 and came to Canada, just thirty years ago, in September 1946. Mr. and Mrs. Robicheau have a family of nine ranging from 14 years to 28 years, five of whom are at university or employed in satisfactory occupations. Four are at school or working in Westport where their father owns a general store and where Mrs. Robicheau has helped through the years.

Mrs. Robicheau, besides bringing up a large family, has been active in her adopted community, helping to reorganize the Westport Home and School and serving as its president. She has been involved in Continuing Education and has been interested in Mental Health and Multiculturalism.

It was late in the pre-election news when The Digby Courier was informed that Erwin Marshall, who had reoffered, was being opposed by two in the election race. His opponents are Lloyd Grant, Barton and Robert Morrissey.

Mr. Marshall was born in South Range and educated at the Digby Rural High School.

From 1950 to 1967, Mr. Marshall resided in Ontario, returning to the farm and woodlot. Realizing that farming required much capital, he went into contracting with his brother, Guy. For the past five years he has been employed at Wilson's Home Hardware where he is vice-president and general manager.

Mr. Marshall has served on the municipal Council, representing District 5, for six years. He was chairman of the airport committee for three years; the Digby County Power Board committee for 4 years and Welfare for two, as well as serving on each of the other committees.

Two important projects weigh heavily on Mr. Marshall. He feels that the Digby County Power Board issue should be solved in one way or another and creating a solid economic base for this area the airport should proceed. There has been too much money spent there for it to be neglected, he said.

Mrs. Marshall is from Ontario and their two children Carolyn, 16 and Susan 13, high school girls were born in Ontario. They moved to Nova Scotia in order to get out of the "rat race."

Lloyd Grant has lived all his life in Barton, where for 40 years he owned and operated a general store and took a general interest in community affairs. He considers it a duty to take

This long weekend could be your last weekend.

During the long weekends last year, 13 people were killed on Nova Scotia roads. Who killed them?

The biggest single cause of traffic accidents is inattention on the part of the driver.

It's a fact that about 50% of all traffic fatalities involve drinking drivers.

Not wearing seatbelts is another factor. During 1975, 26 people in Nova Scotia died when they were thrown from their vehicles. They were not wearing seatbelts.

Think about it. And realize that you just can't afford to relax until you get where you're going.

Highway Safety — it all depends on you!

IN MEMORIAM

COOK - In loving memory of my husband Curtis R. Cook who passed away Oct. 3rd, 1971.

To know him was to love him.
Both for family and friend,
And the sweetness of his memory
Time can never dim or end.
Always remembered and sadly missed by WIFE, MEDA. 9:11p

MELANSON - In loving memory of our son, Elden Melanson, who passed away October 6, 1974.

The blow was great, the shock severe,
We little thought the end was near,
And only those who have lost can tell
The pain of parting without farewell.

More each day we miss you,
Friends may think the wound is healed
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within our hearts concealed.

Always remembered by MOTHER AND FATHER AND BROTHER, ROBERT.

COOK - In loving memory of my dad, Curtis Cook, who passed away on October 3, 1971.

We do not need a special day,
To bring you to our mind,
For the days we do not think of you,
Are very hard to find,
If all this world were ours to give,
We'd give it, yes and more,
To see the face of Dad
Come smiling through the door.

Always remembered by DAUGHTER RUTH AND FAMILY. 9:11p

MARSHALL - In loving memory of a dear Mother, Gladys Annie, who passed away Oct. 14, 1968.

October comes with great regret
It brings back a day we shall never forget,
You fell asleep without goodbye,
But the memory of you will never die.

Always remembered by SON, MYRON AND FAMILY. 9:11p

IN MEMORIAM

ELLIOTT - In loving memory of our dear father, Austin Elliott who passed away, Oct. 11, 1971 and darling mother, Enola Elliott who passed away Nov. 18, 1967.

We who loved you, sadly miss you.
As it dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of you are ever near.

Lovingly remembered by DAUGHTERS, VERA AND FRED. 9:11p

TIDD - In loving memory of a dear husband Donald C. who passed away October, 3rd, 1969.

God gave me a wonderful husband,
To be partners for life as planned.
But we watched you leave us so suddenly,
We could not say good bye.
Though you have gone I must remain.
We will meet again and there shall life be everlasting.
Always loved and remembered by WIFE MYRTLE 9:11p

Junior Girls Basketball

Last Saturday Digby Regional High Junior Girls met Lockeport, last years Maritime champions. The Digby team surprised everyone by coming away with a 49-40 win.

The Digby team started fast with Cheryl Trask stealing the ball in the early seconds and going in for a layup. Digby jumped to a 6-0 lead before Lockeport started to come back. Lockeport led at the quarter 11-8. However in the second quarter Digby outscored the visitors 19-7.

The second half was well played with Lockeport twice coming within 3 points of Digby.

Lockeport demonstrated a control style of play, attacking the key with style. Digby, on the other hand, would counter attack with quick breaks.

Dianne Young of Lockeport, led in scoring with 22 points while Judy Kenley hit 17 for Digby. Kim Roy had 12 assists, for Digby. Darlene Haight and Judy Kenley had 7 rebounds each for Digby.

Hazardous Hole In One Pacifiers

The Department of Consumer and Corporate Affairs, today alerted consumers to the fact that some pacifiers sold under the Rigo "Hush-A-Bye" label could be a source of injury to babies.

At the time of purchase these pacifiers may not appear to violate current hazardous products regulations. Still, consumers report that sometimes the pacifier's nipple will break off at the mouth-guard after a period of use. In such cases, there is serious concern that the nipple could lodge in the back of an infant's throat and cause suffocation.

The manufacturer of Rigo Pacifiers is withdrawing the product from the market and the department is placing existing stocks under seizure through the powers of the Hazardous Products Act. Sales figures for this product indicate that many of these pacifiers could still be in the hands of children. Parents are strongly urged to examine very carefully any Rigo pacifier in their possession for evidence of cracks or breaks in the nipple at the shield end. When these defects are noticed, the pacifiers should be immediately discarded in the interest of child safety.

Glen Merritt struck an enviable position with golfers September 29 when he made a Hole In One at the Pines Golf Course. Using a 7 iron, the prized shot was made on No. 16, 130 yard hole. His companions were Lindon Garron, Barry Cummings and Hymie Webber.

The department is currently taking steps to revise hazardous products regulations in the area of pacifiers and more stringent requirements will be introduced in the near future.

Getting Rid Of Lawn Weeds

September is the ideal month to eradicate your lawn weeds. Thin and weedy turf is usually the result of poor maintenance practices or neglect. It can also be an indication that it is lacking adequate nutrients.

A dense healthy lawn will compete so strongly for water, light and nutrients, that weed seedlings cannot become established. Therefore, fertilize your lawn well to thicken existing grass. This should be carried out before trying to kill the weeds, or you will merely increase the amount of space for weed growth the following spring.

R.S. (Dick) Morton, horticulturist with the N.S. Department of Agriculture and Marketing, recommends gardeners use 2, 4-D to kill most weed. However, some weeds which are hard to kill, such as chickweed, will require mecoprop for effective control. Always make sure you follow the directions on the label when using herbicides.

Fall spraying has several advantages. Most cultivated plants in gardens and borders are less sensitive to sprays at this time than in the spring. However, it is still advisable to avoid herbicidal drift. Also, fall spraying ensures that your lawn will be free of dandelions the following spring.

For more information, request a copy of the publication "Lawn Care" from your local Agricultural Representative or from Mr. Morton at Box 550, Truro, N.S. B2N 5E3.

Escargots Harvested In Bay Of Fundy

HALIFAX, Canada (AP) - Fishermen here in Nova Scotia are renewing their interest in escargots - sea snails they once considered a nuisance.

The delicacy will be caught and processed for marketing in Canada and the United States by the end of this summer.

Michael Drebot, product development officer for Nova Scotia's provincial Department of Fisheries and coordinator of the project, said, "We should be able to sell all the escargots the fishermen can catch."

The province has spent much time and money in the last two years setting up large-scale production of sea snails, which previously had been discarded or destroyed by Nova Scotia fishermen.

elected representatives and not CN Marine," said Banded.

"The point I would stress, however, is that no transportation mode can be operated without cost. The money that does not come from one source has to come from the other - and the government's source is only as deep as the taxpayers' pockets," Banded said.

The prime objective of CN Marine, said the president will be to make the ferry and coastal services as cost-effective as possible.

In the three years, the division operated as East Coast Marine and Ferry Service, there were a number of initiatives to do just that. The use of charters is being fully exploited to reduce the long delays and capital costs involved in building ships only for peak traffic use.

New vessel types have been introduced to carry more traffic at less cost. To increase revenues, casinos have been installed on some vessels and mini-cruises have been marketed.

The division employs upwards of 37 vessels, some 5,400 people at peak periods, and carries two million passengers, 1.4 million tons of freight and 130,000 trucks in Atlantic Canada each year.

LOGO UNVEILED

A striking new logo that represents the straits, bays and inlets of Atlantic Canada has been unveiled for CN Marine, the new name for the East Coast Marine and Ferry Service. First application of the logo is on the funnel of the Princess of Acadia in Saint John-Digby service. Its application will be extended to other vessels in the Atlantic services and to other aspects of their operation and marketing.

CN Marine operates one of the largest ship fleets in Canada.

SIX CONTEST TWO WEYMOUTH SEATS

Interest in the municipality for decisions made in Council effect everyone. He feels that changes of any kind really need study before they are undertaken.

Mr. Grant and Mrs. Grant, the former Dorothy Hankinson, have two married daughters, Joan, Mrs. Richard Ellis and Dianne, Mrs. Allan Shortliffe.

Robert Morrissey, a single sixty year old farmer (in his own words, still hoping) is a life long resident of Gilbert Cove. He lives on the old homestead. He is interested in all community activities, lending a hand wherever possible. One of his aims is to find a practical way to counteract the high assessment in the municipality.

Drebot said escargots latch on to lobster traps and have been a nuisance to lobster fishermen. "Now, Nova Scotia has the opportunity to turn this bycatch into a profitable industry."

The government has been working on the project in conjunction with the Nova Scotia firms of O'Neil Fisheries Ltd., Digby and IMO Foods Ltd.

O'Neil will be responsible for steaming and processing while IMO will look after canning.

Unlike foreign imports, the snails marketed here will be thoroughly cleaned. Drebot said European snails are canned immediately after they're caught.

In addition to the sale of escargots as gourmet food, the government is considering the utilization of the smaller snails fully prepared with spices, butter and other additives.

The government also is looking at the sale of an escargot paste as a spread. From the Washington Post.

Interest in the project was initiated by a visit to a large Japanese processor of land snails about two years ago.

Cost will be the same as French and German escargots - between $5 and $6 per package of four and five-ounce containers.

More than 90 per cent of hotel operators and restaurateurs in the Halifax-Dartmouth area, who participated in a government promoted tasting session about a year ago, agreed the Nova Scotia snails were of premium quality, he said.

Most of the sea snails are being harvested in an area adjacent to Digby in the Bay of Fundy, but researchers have found they also can be fished along the southwestern shore from Digby to Yarmouth and along the Cape Breton shore.

Although the shellfish will be caught now as a by-product of the lobster fishery, the provincial government has developed a special trap for catching the escargots. It will be distributed to the fishermen later if market demand warrants accelerated catches.

Witnesses To Meet At Yarmouth

Jehovah's Witnesses from the local congregation will be attending the second of their bi-annual circuit conventions at the Dr. George A. Burridge Vocational School in Yarmouth during the weekend of October 9th and 10th.

Irvin McKenna, the presiding overseer, said "this two day seminar will primarily be to aid the delegates from nine congregations to gain information, through lectures and demonstrations, on how to study the bible, get the sense of it, and remember it, so that with accurate knowledge their door to door ministry will be one of reasoning on the word of God."

"These days with so much unrest and uncertainty between nations, management and labour", he added, "many more people are concerned about the outcome of the continuing problems and wondering what hope there is for a peaceful solution."

On Sunday, October 10th at 2:00 p.m. Arthur F. Wall, District Supervisor for the Witnesses, will present the answer to those thoughts in his public discourse entitled 'Keep Seeking God's Kingdom'.

THE ANTI-INFLATION PROGRAM

Where we are and where we're going.

1.

After one year, the anti inflation program is doing what it set out to do

The most important achievement has been the drop in the inflation rate. A year ago, consumer prices were rising at a rate of 10.6%. By August 1976, that rate of increase had dropped to 6.2%. This fall some unavoidable increases in energy costs and municipal taxes will affect the rate of inflation. In spite of this, the first year target of an inflation rate of no more than 8% will be met.

Increases in all forms of income--wages, salaries, fees, profits, dividends--are also being successfully restrained. On the average, prices have gone up less than wages this year. This means that most Canadians can cope a bit better, we have more buying power than we had before the program began.

The goal of the second year of the anti inflation program is to bring inflation down even further, to no more than 6%. This can be achieved only if increases in everything slow down together.

In our kind of market economy, prices have to be able to move up and down to some extent. But the anti-inflation program does put an effective restraint on prices by controlling profit margins. In the second year, the price and profit controls are being changed to make the rules simpler and to apply restraint more fairly among different companies. They also include important incentives to encourage the investments the country needs to make the economy grow and create new jobs for Canadians. New investment credits will make allowances for company profits re-invested to boost production and productivity.

In the area of wages and salaries, the second year Guidelines limit increases to 6% as a protection against price increases, with 2% more added as a share of national productivity.

This Guideline is designed to protect and improve the real income of working Canadians, while bringing down the rate of inflation.

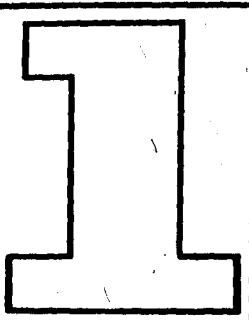

All governments are restraining their expenditures. The federal government is limiting growth in its own spending to keep it in line with the overall growth of the Canadian economy. This means that every day hard choices must be made to limit new programs and trim old ones. These choices are painful. But they have to be made if the government is to restrain its costs and avoid contributing to inflation.

Nobody likes controls. Not the people whose private decisions are affected by them. And not the governments that have to enforce them. But controls were and are needed, to bring inflation down and to assure a growing economy. The program will be terminated by the end of 1978. Until it is ended, the government is committed to making sure the controls work hard to bring about a continuing reduction in the rate of inflation.

Inflation has to be cut down to protect our personal buying power, our savings and pensions, and jobs for Canadians. If last year's spiral of rising prices and incomes had continued, Canadian-made products would soon be unable to compete in world markets. Imports could easily undercut goods produced and sold here at home. It's especially important for us to keep our prices and costs competitive with the United States, and on both counts the U.S. is still doing better than we are. Finally, inflation also hurts investment. And when investment goes down, unemployment goes up.

After a year of controls, inflation has come down. Progress has been made, in protecting Canadian jobs and improving Canada's well-being. The success of the anti-inflation program so far has depended a great deal on the co-operation of many Canadians. With continued co-operation, we can all look forward to sharing a more prosperous and growing economy.

WEDDINGS

WARNER - BLINN

The United Baptist Church, Digby, was the scene of a pretty summer wedding of July 24 when marriage vows were exchanged between Wanda Frances daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Blinn and James Alan, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Warner in a double ring ceremony performed by Rev. Murray Shaw. Miss Joanne Frankland was organist.

The bride entering the church on the arm of her father by whom she was given in marriage, was radiant in her gown of white satin with fitted bodice and full skirt trimmed with lace and pale blue ribbon, while the sleeves were full tulle trimmed with ribbon and lace to a wide satin cuff, her long train of white satin was attached at the waist. Her shoulder length veil of layered tulle was dotted with seed pearls attached to a winged white satin cap covered with seed pearls and velvet bow. She carried a cascade of red roses, white carnations and baby's breath.

The reception was held immediately after at the Royal Canadian Legion, where the best man proposed a toast to the bride and groom, and the groom responded. Mrs. John Sampson and Mrs. John Little, sisters of the bride served the bride's table.

The happy couple left on their honeymoon to the White Mountains in New Hampshire and other Eastern States. The bride wore a light blue pant suit with navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The groom wore a light blue sports coat with navy pants and navy shirt.

SYDNEY -- Dr. F.R. MacKinnon, Deputy Minister of Social Services, was elected President of the Vanier Institute of the Family today at its annual meeting at the College of Cape Breton.

A native of Woodfield, Pictou Co., Dr. MacKinnon is the first Nova Scotian to hold that post. His election is effective today.

He succeeds Dr. Andre Renaud who has accepted a senior position in the Commonwealth Association, London, England.

The Vanier Institute of the Family was first the concept of the late Governor General George Vanier and of Mrs.

Vanier. Its role, says Dr. MacKinnon, is to seek methods of coping with adverse affects on the family of contemporary changes in society. "These methods take the form of fact-finding surveys, seeking of solutions to social problems, official statements of concern and recommendations to government ... all with the institute's purpose of maintaining family solidarity in changing times".

Founding President of the Vanier Institute of the Family was the late, renowned neurosurgeon, Dr. Wilder Penfield. Succeeding presidents have been Mrs. Beryl Plumptre, Ottawa; Mrs. Mozah Zemans, Vancouver and Dr. Andre Renaud.

Dr. MacKinnon began his career in the Nova Scotia Government in 1937 at Truro.

From 1972 to 1974 he was national President of the Canadian Rehabilitation Council for the Disabled. He is now completing a three-year term as national President of the Canadian Bible Society.

Johnny scored his first goal in hockey last week, and Mary won a 4-H public speaking contest. Mrs. Jones took first place at the bridge party on Wednesday evening, and the Smith family entertained friends from Ontario for a few days.

There is only one source in any rural community where reliable information about such events can be gleaned. It is the weekly newspaper.

Few of the events are of earth-shattering significance. Certainly they are not likely to warrant the attention of the more 'immediate' branches of the news media such as radio, television, or the daily press, but to the people concerned, these occurrences are at least as important as any international, national or provincial event, from which they feel a sense of isolation and detachment.

It is, then, the local emphasis that gives the weekly newspaper in any community its greatest impact, for it speaks to the people about themselves, their neighbors, their community and their very existence.

In a highly rural area such as that served by the County Forty Mile Commentator, the weekly newspaper serves a number of highly relevant functions. The editorial page can be seen as the social conscience of the community. It chastises, it commends, it questions, it informs. # Message From the Fire Marshal Fires in Nova Scotia claimed a life every 10 days last year, and every death by fire occurred in the home. Fire Marshal Robert "Bob" Kerr said today in his annual Fire Prevention Week message to Nova Scotians. Nothing could more clearly point out, he said, "that fire prevention is most certainly a family affair."

The Fire Marshal's message, on the eve of Fire Prevention Week which runs this year from October 3-9, urged the observance of simple precautions and the exercise of common sense to eliminate avoidable fires.

"All the lives lost from fire causes, 37 in 1975, occurred in the home," he said. "Of the 2,203 fire occurrences in this province last year, 1,252 were dwelling fires. Most of those fires could have been avoided had we stopped for a moment and realized that we cannot regard fire safety as nonsense."

"We all seem to have the unfortunate habit of dismissing most fires as unavoidable, as accidents, or visitations of bad luck. We do not take the time in our daily routine to see what we are doing wrong or are neglecting to do that may cause a fire."

"Let's consider a few points for a moment."

"Are the electrical fuses in your panel the right size? Do you use gang plugs in wall outlets? Think of what can happen when circuits are overloaded. Are extension cords placed under rugs where they are subject to damage by being walked on and the insulation is being destroyed?"

"Is the heating equipment checked prior to the heating season? How close are the smoke pipes to combustible materials, are they deteriorated to the point where they need replacing?"

"How about flammable liquids, where do you keep unused paints and thinners, and the gasoline for the lawn mower? In far too many cases, gasoline is stored in glass or unapproved plastic containers in the basement. Did you know that gasoline properly mixed with air has the potential explosive force of dynamite, and that it can be ignited by an electric spark from a switch, furnace, motor or appliance, all found in our homes? Would you place dynamite in your home in such a way that it could be exploded by the act of turning on an electric light?"

"How many of us smoke in bed, or is smoking in bed strictly against the rule in your home? Are there plenty of large, deep and non-combustible ashtrays available for those who do smoke? Do you check upholstered chairs before you retire and is the contents of ashtrays kept separate from other combustible waste? Do you know that smoking materials caused almost 300 fires in Nova Scotia last year?"

"Are you prepared for an emergency? You plan your vacation months in advance but do you have an emergency evacuation plan worked out for the members of your family? Have you a second means of exit from every room in the home? Does your family rehearse this plan? Are you guilty of saying 'It can't happen to me'?" It can.

"The 2,203 fires in 1975, in this province, involved a greater number of people, leaving them homeless and in 16 cases childless. Are we going to stand by and watch 14,196,407 dollars going up in smoke again this year?"

"Fire Safety is everyone's business— including yours. Are you doing your part?"

"Fire. Do you really think it can't happen to you?"

What A Crime

The following article was taken from the National Fire Prevention Association's 1975-76 Fire Record. Batteries cost pennies - lives are priceless. Read on.

Inoperable Fire Detector; Three Die

At approximately 2:06 a.m., the Fire Department received an alarm for this single-family, split-level, wood-frame dwelling. Flames were showing from the entire front of the house when fire fighters arrived. Donning self-contained breathing apparatus, they entered the house with a 1½ inch hand line and found the bodies of the two parents and a five-year-old child in their upper level bedrooms. It appeared, from the position of the parents' bodies, that they had been overcome while trying to escape or summon assistance. The fire was contained to the living room area on the lower level. The victims died from asphyxiation caused by inhalation of carbon monoxide.

From the burn pattern in the living room, fire officials theorize that carelessly discarded smoking materials had ignited the living room couch.

At one time, this home had been equipped with an automatic, single-station, battery-operated smoke detector. The mounting bracket for the detector was found on the ceiling in the hallway outside the bedroom area. The smoke detector, however, had been removed and was found in a kitchen cabinet with worn-out batteries. When fire officials installed new batteries in the detector, it operated perfectly. This tragedy strongly emphasizes the need to maintain fire detection equipment in proper operating condition.

Fire Destroys Dream

What's in a dream? How much planning, toil and love can one put into a dream to see it grow and become a reality— only to see it destroyed by fire?

This is the tragedy a young couple faced after only two years in Canada. They arrived here from Chile in 1972 along with their dream.

They started a furniture-making business, specializing in the Spanish-styled product which is so popular.

The business grew and was about to expand when disaster struck.

The fire apparently started with a spark from a blowtorch. It spread throughout the building. By the time it ended, $23,000 damage had been done, and a dream had died.

Fuel Truck Blaze

Not all fire hazards are confined to houses or other buildings. Dry forests hold wellknown perils. But recently residents of a quiet area in a large city were shocked witnesses to a spectacular blaze in their own street.

It started with a truck-a FUEL truck.

The truck, loaded with 2,500 gallons of home heating oil, had sprung a leak in an oil line.

It exploded on a narrow street.

More than 1,000 onlookers

stood aghast as flames spread across the street to lawns and paint started to blister on nearby houses.

Firefighters laid down a water curtain at the same time as the source of the flames was deluged with foam. No houses were lost, but the truck was destroyed, lawns were destroyed, hydro lines were burned, windows were broken, housepaint was ruined.

Smoking

It's a famous line in countless articles about fire deaths: "Officials blamed careless smoking."

It has happened again and again this year. In one instance a couple fled their blazing home. They said later they were unaware they had left their tenant behind. The tenant died.

Fire department officials blamed the tragedy on careless smoking.

Fire Can Break Your Heart!

Do you really think it can't happen to you?

More than 2,000 reported fires exacted a terrible toll in Nova Scotia last year.

Thirty-seven people died in those fires, including 16 children. 91 others were injured.

No one knows the cost in human misery, but the monetary loss alone exceeded $14,000,000.

What caused those fires?

Smokers' carelessness, short circuits, faulty wiring, mishaps with fat, cooking oil and grease, defective and overheated chimneys, stacks and pipes, children playing with matches, defective oil heating appliances, arson and fires of undetermined origin... these were the most prominent fire causes in the year ended March 31, 1976. Generally speaking, these have been the major culprits down through the years.

The tragedy is that most of those fires could have been prevented if simple fire prevention practices had been observed.

Do yourself — and your neighbour — a favor. Talk to the fire prevention experts. Visit your local fire hall. Contact the Fire Marshal's Office.

Bone up on fire prevention. Make your emergency plans now. Fire safety is everyone's business.

Show that you care. Do your part.

Or do you really think it can't happen to you?

BEFORE THEY START

Clean Up Or Else -

Traditionally, basements are gathering places for a family's junk-old clothes, papers, half-empty paint cans along with oily rags. Traditionally, killer-fires start in basements where they can grow unnoticed. Firefighters rescued three screaming children from the second floor of a downtown rowhouse this spring. The children were trapped there as the house filled with flames and smoke. A neighbour described them as being "really freaked out" by the terrifying experience. The blaze started in the basement. It was virtually out of control before it was noticed. The fire occurred at night, and investigators wanted to know if the children-the youngest of whom was two years old-had been left unattended. The answer was "yes and no." The sitter had "just stepped out for a minute." This led the investigators to comment: "This just goes to show how important it is for adults in charge of small children to be on guard ALL THE TIME, not just some of the time."

Over 1 Million Acres Burned

OTTAWA- A total of 1,831 forest fires, affecting 1,141,000 acres were reported across Canada during the month of August, according to the Canadian Forestry Service. The acreage burned is almost three times that for the corresponding period of 1975, when a total of 1,557 fires were reported over 391,000 acres. Average figures for the same month over the past decade are 1,675 fires and 298,000 acres. For the period April 1st to August 31st, a total of 8,217 fires were reported this season, affecting 3,444,000 acres of forest. For the corresponding period last year, the figures were 9,546 fires and 2,131,000 acres. While the averages for the period over the past decade were 7,482 fires and 2,331,000 acres. These statistics are compiled monthly from April to October by Environment Canada's Forest Fire Research Institute in Ottawa.

Furnaces Need Special Care

better with periodic tune-ups," Mr. McIlroy says, "but it's amazing how many people neglect their furnaces. Yet, getting rid of the by-products of combustion which collect will keep both working more efficiently." A furnace loses efficiency as by-products of burning collect on surfaces meant to transfer heat or when too little or too much air enters the combustion chambers. Only a qualified serviceman can tell you whether your furnace is working efficiently, Mr. McIlroy says. A yearly tune-up will reduce your gas or oil consumption and save you money. The furnace should be cleaned and the burner adjusted if necessary. Repairs can also be done at this time.

Many people turn their thermostats down, switch off a few lights, and feel that they've done a lot to cut down on the cost of running a house. Not so, says Harry M. McIlroy, chief executive officer of the Nova Scotia Department of Consumer Affairs. There are many ways to whittle away at the cost of heating your home. One of the most important things you can do, especially at this time of the year, is to arrange for a furnace tune-up. "We all know a car will run

Everybody's Job - Fire Prevention

"Fire Prevention Week, October 3th to 9th, is set aside from the rest of the year to bring to the attention of the public the extent and underlying causes of preventable loss of life and property by fire," says provincial fire Marshal Robert Kerr, in his annual fire prevention week message. However, fire prevention is an on-going, around-the-clock, fifty-two weeks a year necessity and should be regarded as such. "Fire," contends Mr. Kerr, "is no respecter of persons. Over the past ten years 326 persons lost their lives in Nova Scotia due to fires- with no fewer than 44 lives having been lost in 1973 alone. "The tragedy of it all is that most of the fires which do occur, 1,804 last year, and which are responsible for such appalling property damages, ($13,000,000) are due to rank carelessness of one kind or another. "Most of these fires," he continued, "could have been prevented had we realized that we cannot regard fire safety as nonsense. Instead, it is an activity which must be carried out the year around, and carried out by all members of the family. "If a fire should occur in your home, get in touch with your fire department immediately. Delay in so doing may be disastrous.

Major Fire Causes

- Smokers' carelessness;
- Short circuits and faulty wiring;
- Defective and over-heated chimneys and stovepipes;
- Ignition of fat, grease or tar; and,
- Children playing with matches.

MAN AND TREES MEAN SO MUCH TO EACH OTHER THINK ABOUT IT

Regular maintenance of your furnace is also important, he says. Homeowners should check the furnace filters at least once a month. Dirty ones should be cleaned or replaced as necessary. The furnace has to work extra hard to push air through dirty filters, thus burning more fuel. Regular maintenance and an annual tune-up will keep your furnace running efficiently, Mr. McIlroy says, and reduce your fuel consumption 10 to 20 per cent. In these days of high fuel costs, that's a lot of money not to burn.

Cultural Awareness Day

Canadians of various ethnic groups and denominations gathered together in the Yarmouth Beacon Hill United Church on Saturday afternoon and evening, October 2.

This was arranged by the Yarmouth Arts Council and the Western Nova Multicultural Association.

The events started with a welcome address by Mrs. Freida Balser, president of W.N.M.A., followed by a few remarks on multiculturalism by the Master of Ceremonies Mr. Desire Boudreau.

Presentations followed by each ethnic group represented. The Jewish representatives, Mrs. Saul Gillis and Mrs. Morris Attis presented a brief portion of the Passover feast and explained what Passover meant to the Jews.

The second presentation came from Mr. Henry Knockwood of the N.S. MicMac Tribe on Indian Spirituality and way of life. This was followed by a few remarks from the representatives of the Lebanese population, Miss Fatima Jazey and Mr. Fred Emin.

Mr. Blair Boudreau representing the Acadians of Western Nova Scotia briefed the audience on the Migration of the Acadians from Grand Pre to Yarmouth County and the small islands off the coast. He delighted his listeners with some very interesting legends of that era.

Mr. Richard-Gordon Harris followed with his presentations on behalf of the Afro Canadians on the Ancient African Kingdoms. He spoke of the illustrious African past and its civilization, and its present search for historical and ethnic identity.

Mrs. R.E. Robicheau gave her presentation on behalf of the Canadian Dutch. She explained that although some things in culture and tradition were lost in Canada, many more were gained. The curator of the Yarmouth Museum, Mr. Eric Ruff representing the Anglo Saxon group, spoke on the shipping, trade and transportation in Yarmouth during the 17 and 18 hundred years between the American Eastern Seaboard and Southwestern Nova Scotia.

He was followed by Dr. Parkash who enlightened his listeners on some of the traditions of the East Indian peoples.

An ethnic dinner followed after which various dignitaries in the Multicultural Organization welcomed the delegates. Among these were Mr. George Bell, Mrs. Barbara Campbell, Dr. Tony Johnson and Mr. Greg Donavan; Director Atlantic Region, for the Department of Secretary of State. Entertainment for the public ended a very interesting and informative day.

Thanksgiving Weekend Fatality Forecast

The Canada Safety Council feels it may be somewhat optimistic when it says between 33 and 58 Canadians could become traffic fatalities over Thanksgiving Weekend (78 hours - 6 p.m. October 8th to midnight October 11th) because the average over the past few years has been 61 traffic deaths, and there were 59 fatalities last year.

Worst record ever was 1968, when 109 lost their lives on our highways and city streets.

Noting that the 1976 Labour Day weekend has the best traffic record since count had been kept, and that several other holidays have been below average, the Council says it does not yet know the cause - but is happy just the same with the results.

"We can't say whether or not Canadians are more safety conscious - although we'd like to think so" said P.J. Farmer, Executive Director of the Council, "but there could be many other factors besides the seat belt legislation in Ontario and Quebec, which alone must be having some considerable effect".

The Council warns drivers that they may possibly encounter icy spots on some Canadian roads, particularly early in the day and in shaded area. Vehicle occupants enjoying fall colours could slow or stop unexpectedly, and the Safety Council recommends special attention be paid to maintaining an adequate following distance of two seconds between vehicles. The Council calls that space the driver's 'Living Room'.

This is also a good time to think about preparing a vehicle for our special winter conditions - and having thought, to do something about it.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Howe

Marianne Manuge of Queen Elizabeth High School in Halifax, and Stephen Cole of Middleton Regional High School, winners of the Joseph Howe Oratorical Contest, holders of the title "Young Mr. and Mrs. Joe Howe 1976" strike an old-fashioned pose in the Red Room of Province House.

On Country Roads

As the cooler weather arrives, the country roads become more colourful every day. The dainty mauve asters line the roadways, as though they had been planted purposefully by someone who cared for the beauty of our lovely Nova Scotia. The Swamp Maples are changing to their startling shade of brilliant red. The Poplar and Birch are fading to soft transparent yellow and green. I am interested to see the many varieties of Golden Rod, and now they too are dying off. Have you ever smelled a sweeter fragrance in a wild flower than this common end of the summer flower? When the yellow has faded to grey brown, then watch for the dainty little yellow and green Warblers as they hover over the clumps feasting on the seeds. Just as I am writing this, one of these little birds flew against the window with a soft thud. He couldn't have hurt himself too much for he turned and flew a couple of yards to a hanging flower basket. There he sat for five minutes or so very quiet and still, barely moving. He is gone now I see. I wish him well and hope he is not suffering too much. The Black Alder or Winterberry is showing its tiny bright red berry again. I bring a few branches into the house and wish they would last on into the Christmas season.

Nominated In Annapolis County

The nomination for councillor in District 7 of the Municipality of Annapolis was filed by October 5 for Mrs. Shirley Williams, Bear River. Election for councillors is set for October 19th.

Mrs. Williams was born and educated in England and came to Canada 23 years ago. For the past eight years Mr. and Mrs. Williams have been residing in Bear River where her husband, Robert, formerly with the Canadian Armed Forces, is with the Coast Guard service.

Mrs. Williams has been active in the Bear River community being president of the Oakdene Home and School; secretary of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Bear River Legion; on the Board of Directors of the Bear River Planning and Development Association and active in church work. She has served on the Girl Guides for 17 years and continues to serve in provincial and Canada wide programs.

Oceanview Wesleyan Church Hosts Meet

by Mrs. Harry Adams

The Wesleyan Churches of the Atlantic District zone 4 were hosted by the Sanford Wesleyan Church during a recent three day quarterly meeting. Rev. Be. ram Hicks was the pastor of the hosting church.

The meeting began on Friday evening with Pastor Ervin Lively of the Havelock Church as the guest speaker for the zone Youth Rally. He addressed a large gathering of people, many of them members of the younger generation.

The quarterly business meeting was held on Saturday at 2:30 p.m. Reports were given from the various churches of the zone.

The services continued on Saturday evening with special music being supplied by the Yarmouth Church.

Mrs. Arnold Staires and her daughter sang a beautiful duet number and Miss Staires rendered a solo.

Pastor Richard Myers of the Liverpool Church rendered a solo entitled "God Will Take Care of You" and following his solo he addressed a large congregation on the Power of Prayer.

On Sunday morning following the Sunday School hour, the regular morning church service was conducted. Pastor of the Sandy Point and Ingamar Churches, David McElhinney, lead the singing.

The scripture lesson was Philippians, II: 1-18, read by Rev. Perry Ingersoll of the Port Maitland Church.

A solo "Something Worth Living For" was rendered by Mrs. Ronald Moorehouse of Sanford just previous to the morning message.

The pastor of the Digby Church, Rev. Walter Fernley, when addressing the congregation told the people present to be reflectors of Jesus Christ.

The Sunday afternoon service was a Love Feast and with a church filled to capacity Pastor David McElhinney of the Sandy Point and Ingamar Churches conducted a spirit filled service which consisted largely of singing songs of praise and giving testimonies.

The last service of the three day quarterly meetings was the Sunday evening service held at 7 p.m. on September 12th. The church was filled to capacity when Pastor Ervin Lively conducted the Song Service.

Mrs. Beatrice Trimper and Mrs. Carol Potter of the Digby Church rendered a duet entitled "If That Isn't Love".

Other special music for this service consisted of two solo numbers. The first was sung by Mr. Richard Owen and entitled "How Great Thou Art" and "He Signed My Pardon" was the other. Miss Angel Moorehouse, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Ronald Moorehouse of Sanford, gave this rendition accompanying herself with a guitar.

Pastor Kenneth Gavel of the Woods Harbour Wesleyan Church spoke on "Love for Jesus Christ". He said "We must persevere no matter what it costs and to persevere we must be strong."

The guests present for the three day quarterly meetings were entertained in the homes of the Sanford Wesleyan Church people. The zone churches were well represented and the pastors and the people of these various churches not only participated in the services, supplying good preaching and good singing, but enjoyed a time of friendship and fellowship.

Friends Of SOS Children's Villages Canada, Inc.

Is there anything sadder than a frightened, homeless child with no place to go? Wars, disasters, dissensions of all kinds around the world have left a trail of lost, abandoned children in their wake.

After the Second World War, desperate children struggling for survival drew the compassionate attention of Hermann Grmeiner of Austria (above). He conceived the idea of establishing Villages where children of various ages would grow up together under the care of a mother who would be "their" mother, in a home which would be "their" home.

Thirty years later, there are 118 SOS Children's Villages in 58 countries around the world housing some 15,000 children. The Villages are mainly supported by donations.

Mrs. Margaret Trudeau, above, with her specific interest in children, has consented to become active Honorary Patron of the Canadian Friends of SOS Children's Villages. Mr. Justice Emmett Hall is President. The Canadian organization, supporting a Village in Lagos where 46 children now live, is hoping to increase sponsorship and memberships so that more houses can be built in the village.

The first little boy to call the Village home was given up by his father who could no longer care for him after his mother died. His name, Mofoluwaso Olubanwo Okemakinde, means, "May God always take care of him, and may God help time take care of others."

Anyone interested in sponsoring a child, making a donation, becoming a member or seeking information, should contact Joseph Messner, National Director, Canadian Friend of SOS Children's Villages, Box 4117, Ottawa, Ontario K1S 5B1.

Town Council passed a resolution calling for immediate and decisive action to wipe out the use of punchboards in the Town of Digby. Storekeepers were being warned that if the boards were found in use in the stores, legal action would be taken. Use of punchboards was contrary to the Criminal Code and the Attorney General's Department had forwarded a letter stating the R.C.M.P. had been instructed to make a drive against their use.

Courts in Digby were dealing with a case of failing to file a statement to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board and alleged selling of a used car at a price over the W.P.T.B. ceiling price.

William Troop addressed Digby Town Council seeking $1000 remuneration to be divided amongst himself, G.L. Burnham and T. Matheson for a proper assessment job instead of the $300 they were presently receiving. Council did not grant the request on the grounds that unless there was a complete job done, confusion would result and the year's partial assessment might prejudice efforts for a complete revision another year.

Digby had something new by the copy in October 10, 1946 Courier, Digby had its first girl messenger. Miss Hazel Whitehead of Windsor was employed at the Canadian Pacific Telegraph office.

According to the files of 1946, the Amberman house at Granville Ferry must now be 74 years old. In the story of the thirty-eighth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John Amberman, their home, the oldest house in the province was 24 years. It had been built by the great-great-grandfather of Mr. Amberman.

The Digby Board of Trade was assured by W.L. Troop that the slogan "a rink for Digby" still held good and a rink would be built as soon as possible. With the shortage of building materials, it was well nigh impossible to build at that present time.

The location of the Provincial Government's Tourist Information Bureau in Digby was discussed by the Board of Trade. A petition asked Town Council to make a site available on the waterfront near the band stand but the meeting was informed that according to provisions made when the town took over certain properties in that district, no building could be erected there.

At the close of the business meeting, Mrs. Ronald Stevens was presented with a farewell gift. Mrs. Boyd Ellis made the presentation on behalf of Grace United Church Women, and the presentation was made in the form of an original poem.

It expressed appreciation of Mrs. Stevens' worthy and unflinching effort in every project undertaken. Mrs. Stevens is an accomplished needle woman and her culinary contributions have been most generous.

"The Soul Of A Child"

"The soul of a child is the loveliest flower that grows in the garden of God. Its climb is from weakness to knowledge and power, To the sky from the clay and the clod. To beauty and sweetness it grows under care. Neglected, 'tis ragged and wild. 'Tis a plant that is tender, but wondrously rare,

The sweet, wistful soul of a child.

Be Tender, O gardener, and give it its share of moisture, of warmth, and of light. A glad day will come when its bloom shall unfold, It will seem that an angel has smiled, reflecting a beauty and sweetness untold, In the sensitive soul of a child."

The Afterglow

By Bertha Cornwall Pearson

The sun spreads tangerine across the horizon, Creating a sky in brilliant glow. The tints Of orange, rose, and emerald blue emblazon Deeper in the richest glaze. It hints

Of china, newly fired, on which a design Is painted. It seems that etchings now appear As silhouettes and are forming line by line Imprinted memories to remain clear. The leaves stand out in clustered, fringed array, Presenting a lacy pattern. And now this image Against such brilliance creates a softened gray Embroidery embellished by enchanted flowerage. The deepest peace and serenity one will know Is often found in life's afterglow.

A Shakespearean Sonnet written by Mrs. Vaughn (Bertha) Pearson, Nashua, N.H., well known in Digby, which appeared in the Maine Writers' Conference Chapbook No. 18. Mrs. Pearson received two awards from the Maine Writers Conference and was on the staff as leader of the Poetry Inspiration Program. In the picture above are left to right Mr. Initski, Mr. Francis and Ronald VanTassell, treasurer, D.J.C.H.A.

The Digby Junior C. Hockey Association met in July and September when the following officers were elected: President, Mr. Initski; first vicepresident, Robert Morgan;

Deaconess Chaplain A Presbyterial Rally

Miss Helen MacDonald, deaconess Chaplain of the United Church of Canada, addressed the United Church Women who met in Digby on Wednesday for the Valley Presbyterial United Church Rally. Miss MacDonald visits outside United Church patients in the Victoria General Hospital, Isaac Walton Children's Hospital, Grace Maternity and Halifax City. Her visits do not take her to Abbe Lane nor Camp Hill.

A typical month of visiting Miss MacDonald said, was about 276 patients from outside the city of which about 30 would be from the Valley Presbytery. These would average 24 at the V.G.; four at the Children's Hospital, one at Grace Maternity and one at City Hospital. Walking the corridors visiting she said is demanding and draining but rewarding and to do it successfully you must want to do it and love to do it. There are no two days or two patients alike.

Miss MacDonald said her visits are secretive and confidential and must require sensitivity and delicacy. There are no hard and fast rules in her job. She counsels families, conducts services, speaks to audiences and visits patients.

Miss MacDonald reminded her audience that their practical service for Christ can be to those who are in poverty in the community, the lonely, the alcoholic and wherever there is need of help. Live with love, she said, means people who care and it is being harder today to find someone who cares.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Boyd Ellis, Digby, and thanked by Mrs. J.M. Wallis, Miss MacDonald is a woman of many experiences, having taken teacher's training and taught for two years; attended Maritime Business College and became a stenographer for 20 years and graduating from the Covenant College in Toronto, as deaconess in 1967. She was the first United Church deaconess to do chaplaincy work. Miss MacDonald realized that taking the deaconess course opened an entirely new career and there was a risk of uprooting but she felt she was led by God and she believed there was a vital place for women in the ministry. She knew there were lady chaplains in other places and she was desirous of fulltime service in hospitals.

The Presbyterial Rally on Wednesday began with registration at 10:15 by Mrs. Ellis and Mrs. Russell Harris.

A welcome was extended by Mrs. Benjamin Haight, president of the host U.C.W., Digby, followed by worship conducted by the Presbyterial president, Mrs. Foster Hall, Bear River, assisted by Miss June Schmidt and Mrs. Arnold Handspiker, Bear River. Organist was Mrs. Walter Lent, Bear River. The theme of the Rally was Living With Love.

Mrs. Hall gave a brief report stating that a letter had been received from the chaplain at Dalhousie University asking the U.C.W. to take responsibility of forwarding names of students from their area. The Combo publication had been replaced, according to Mrs. Hall's address, by Exchange. Area vice-presidents were requested to contribute copy for the Conference News Letter. Mrs. Hall's address gave highlights of the Maritime Conference U.C.W. executive meeting in Sussex, N.B. and gave suggestions for gifts of food and mittens now for the Halifax City Mission. She urged the women to take an interest in helping handicapped children.

Mrs. Hall's report also included information on the Atlantic Christian Training Centre at Tatamagouche and Mrs. Mable Spicer and Mrs. Judy Norton, Berwick, reviewed the program "Being and Doing" by means of a Bible study as followed at an ACTC conference.

Reports on the U.C.W. Cottage at Berwick Camp were presented by Miss Florence Ruggles Bridgetown, and Mrs. Kathy Smith, Middleton.

Mrs. Leone Hoyt, Wilmet, area vicepresident, presided over the afternoon session.

Mrs. Margaret Ellis, Sheffield Mills advised the Rally on Programming and Mrs. Esther Wollaver, Canning had charge of the literature display. Mrs. Ruth Baker, Morden, Annapolis County reported that Miss Jennie Donnelly of Lawrenceville, now attending Mount Allison University in Sackville, was recipient of the U.C.W. Scholarship.

The blessing at the noon luncheon and the benediction at the close of the Rally were given by the pastor of the church, Rev. Ronald Stevens.

By regular motion an Advance Poll for the October 19th, election was granted.

Councillor Eileen Chipman gave the Digby General Hospital Board report in which it was learned that the Digby Fire Department was willing to answer accident calls in event of there being no ambulance service. The hospital did not feel it had a responsibility regarding an ambulance service.

The need of chronic care beds was stressed by Mrs. Chipman's report, there being a missing care between hospital care and care received at Tideview.

Mrs. Chipman's report revealed that while it is hoped the pediatrics ward at the hospital will open the hospital is still in no position to do so.

One of the interests coming down through the Dakin family was music, with Fritz Dakin being adapted to band, orchestra, vocal and other musical outlets.

Editorials

IT IS UP TO YOU

It is now up to you, dear voters. Especially in the Municipality of the District of Digby there has been shown an exceptionally wide interest in the October 19 election. This should be good for the municipality should all those candidates whose names have been submitted been in absolute sincerity and earnestness in their decision to come forward. We have no reason to believe otherwise than that these are truly concerned persons who feel they have the time, the ability, the experience and the knowledge necessary for the responsible job they will be called upon to undertake if elected. A conscientious dedication to service and to the democratic purpose of Council is a prerequisite whether that Council be within the municipality or town.

Our congratulations go out to Stuart MacNaughton who has become Mayor of Digby by acclamation and to Councillors Mrs. Helen MacNeil, Parker Thurber and Richard Daley who have won seats by acclamation in the municipality.

Of the candidates contesting seats in the elections, some will be winners and some will be losers. The verdict is entirely in the hands of the voters. The voters, too, have a grave responsibility to vote for that person whom the voter honestly considers the most suitable for the job. All voters cannot have the same mind, or, at least, will not necessarily be of the same opinion.

The overall result of the election should however, be that which is best for the town or municipality. Voter, it is up to you. Let your conscience and your judgement be your best guide. Your civic duty is to vote and the "how" is up to you.

BLUENOSE MAGAZINE

A new magazine came to our desk. It was Volume 1, number 2 of the quarterly Bluenose Magazine of Downeast Canada published by Frances and Bill Crowell, Port Maitland. This magazine greatly impressed us with its short stories of much historical value.

There are many persons who probably would not write a complete book but who might have tales of importance pertaining to Nova Scotia's sea or land and her human or animal kind which should not be lost. Bluenose Magazine has made a good start along this path. We hope it will continue and that many of these stories will be preserved by finding their way into the magazine.

Well printed throughout, the magazine is attractive on cover and on inside pages. The content of Volume 1, number 2 is excellent. Keep up the good work of a magazine which is not only interesting but also fills a need.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

A word to Mr. Jack W. Tinker in regard to certain statements he made in his letter in Oct. 7th issue of the Courier.

Come now Mr. Tinker, let us reason together. If the plebescite being held Oct. 12 in your area has a yes majority, it will certainly open another door for the liquor interests, which, in turn, encourages other doors of like interest to be opened.

There is somewhat of a parallel to this case. Some years ago the Digby Board of Trade was approached to advocate a way to give first class tourist hotels and resorts the legal right to serve liquor by the glass in designated areas. Experience has shown that the result has gone far beyond what was originally proposed and advocated.

When it comes to "bars on every corner", this expression of course means that the liquor interest if given enough "rope", so to speak, they will open up the liquor traffic to saturation point. They very well have done so in France and, have already gone a long way down that road in the U.S.A. Should Canada follow? I think not! When it comes to club licenses and bootleggers, good information was presented before the sitting of the Royal Commission some years ago, on the question of possible relaxing of liquor laws in Nova Scotia. It was then told of great quantities of liquor supposedly consumed by a comparatively small club membership of one particular club. Have we not good reason to believe the same takes place in at least some other clubs?

I contend, as some others do, that money received from liquor sales and given to charities, individuals, hospitals, and institutions, no matter how good, is somewhat of a case of "robbing Peter to pay Paul", only in this case, Peter loses more than Paul gains - a fair number of official surveys have strongly indicated this to be the case.

Vincent Snow.

Hodge Podge

Now you are talking. If insurance companies pay for accidents on the grounds of wearing seatbelts or not, then just everybody will agree to wearing them. What a service insurance companies would be giving to humanity.

- We were on our way to Halifax over the Thanksgiving weekend, seatbelts tied up snugly. That's an idiot, said one of the passengers as a car raced by us near the Wildlife Park in Clements on a double line highway. "If he doesn't look out he'll be a dead idiot" came the next remark as the idiot passed the next car on the unbroken line. Then in one of the towns a car nosed ahead into a right hand traffic lane, two boys crossed the street by bracing against a moving car and a lady became indecisive in the middle of a cross walk. Fortunately no accidents occurred but even fastened seatbelts would not have prevented them.

- The colored leaves from Digby to Halifax were superb with Clementsport being one continuous blaze of glory. By Monday the spectacular colors had almost vanished

A little Jersey calf was born at the Atlantic Winter Fair in Halifax on Saturday. How accommodating can those animals get. Can you just imagine the wide eyed excitement for any little girl or boy who happened along. We've even known of adults reserving dates of visits on farms to correspond with expected births.

We like the title Patchwork Pieces. It gives such a wide scope. That is the title that Hannah Dale (pen name) is giving to the new column she is starting for The Digby Courier. Hannah Dale lives in the country and where can you find more scope for interesting anecdotes than in our spacious woodlands, in our fields, yes and maybe the barns. The probably are readers with children who never saw the bossy being milked much less to know anything else about our domesticated or farm or wild life in the open. We were pleased to see Patchwork Pieces mention last week about those mauve asters growing so profusely this Fall. She mentions other leaves and flowers and even birds but the birds, of course, is the prerogative of our Bird Lady. Hannah Dale is well used to city life, too, so, no doubt, we will be hearing about street car episodes and bus rides, night clubs and what not in the Patchwork Pieces column.

"Your Food Check Book"

A new publication prepared by the home economics division entitled "Your Food Check Book" is available now.

Purpose of the book is to assist food buyers plan their shopping lists so they can obtain the most value from their food dollars both from a nutritional and economic standpoint.

The department's home economics supervisor, Brenda Gorman, says that by using the book, food buyers will be able to plan their food purchases around five basic food groups - dairy products, fruits, vegetables, grains, meat and fish.

The planning guide contained in the book is based on Canada's Food Guide and other nutritional studies. Within a typical week, it is recommended that 24 per cent of the food budget be spent on meat, fish and poultry; 14 per cent on dairy products, 15 per cent on bread and cereals, 29 per cent on fruit and vegetables, seven per cent on fats and four per cent on other items.

Ms. Gorman says the value of the book is related to its weekly use as a food shopping guide. Through consistent use of the guide, it is felt that food buyers will be able to maintain a reasonable food budget and provide a good balance of nutritional foods. In addition to the weekly planning information "Your Food Check Book" contains a section on buying tips which should be of value to food shoppers in helping them make purchases.

The book was prepared as part of the home economic division's program "Your Money's Worth In Foods". It is available for $1 from either the Nova Scotia Government Bookstore, 1683 Barrington Street, Halifax (P.O.Box 637, Halifax). Or from the home economics division, extension branch, Department of Agriculture and Marketing P.O. Box 550, Truro.

Minister Praises Recreation Volunteers

Recreation Minister A. Garnet Brown this week saluted the work of tens of thousands of volunteers throughout Nova Scotia whose efforts have in large measure contributed to the development and implementation of Provincial Recreation Programs.

"I have nothing but praise for the people who use their leisure time to support community activities of all kinds," Mr. Brown said.

He also paid tribute to the work of the Halifax-Dartmouth volunteer week committee and said he would like to see its efforts spread throughout Nova Scotia.

Mr. Brown said Dr. John Savage, Dartmouth, who is chairman of the metro group was an "outstanding volunteer himself," and "I congratulate him and his group for the organization and preparation which goes into promoting volunteer week."

Mr. Brown said he attended the ceremony at Government House at which time five outstanding Nova Scotians were honored for their volunteer work in the community. He said: "the Nickerson family of Mount Edward Road, Dartmouth, also greatly impressed me for their work with a young handicapped boy. I congratulate all of these citizens and thank them sincerely for their contribution."

The minister said he was happy that his department had been able to assist in the work of the group and that he was prepared to discuss any proposals from other such organizations which would see the concept extended in other parts of the province. "The volunteer sector is the greatest resource this province has," Mr. Brown said and expressed concern about the many thousands of Nova Scotians "with tremendous talent and expertise" who were hesitant in coming forward to participate in community activities.

"We want to extend an invitation to them to participate."

Mr. Brown outlined a number of major projects sponsored by his department which could not have gotten off the ground without the

Presentation To Weymouth Bugler

At the meeting of the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 67, Weymouth, a plaque was presented to Nicholas Kozma Erjavec, son of Dr. and Mrs. Bogden Erjavec, in recognition of his eight years' voluntary service as Bugler for the Weymouth Legion. Nicholas has left for Acadia University.

Nicholas was only seven years old when he first played at the Remembrance Ceremony in Weymouth. But let Nicholas tell us himself:

"My Mother and I went to the funeral of a Veteran, and it was very sad until someone started to play a tape recording of The Last Post. The tape started to crack and hum and it was hard to tell what was being played. My Mother said to me 'You could make it sound much better than that recording.'

So I volunteered as the Weymouth Legion Bugler. They sent me to Col. Stanley Hallett who gave me a book so I could learn the Last Post. When I got my trumpet I had no one to teach me. In spite of my being only 7 I was accepted for two weeks' training at a Summer Camp in Tatamagouche.

The first time I was to play Taps at the Remembrance Ceremony here I was so scared my throat was tight. But I got through it and when I stopped, the 3 minutes' silence made me feel I had done o.k. and I relaxed. Suddenly a Veteran nudged me with his elbow and told me to play. It was a surprise to me as I didn't know that after the 3 minutes' silence Reveille should be played. Then the Veteran nudged me again, so I played the only other thing I knew and that was The Last Post.

After that I played every year for the Remembrance Day Service and for every veteran's funeral. This meant missing school at those times but my teachers and friends always helped me to catch up on my work.

I was proud to be the Legion bugler, even if sometimes it wasn't easy for me to play when I had known the Veteran who died. This was especially true when my neighbour, Mr. Thomas Comeau, passed away. Many times he was the one who picked me up to go to play for a funeral, and when the time came when it was his turn, I thought I couldn't finish playing.

All I regret is that I didn't play for Veteran Walter Krupinski, who wasn't only a brave soldier in the Second World War, but also my good fishing friend. Unfortunately I was not given the correct time of his funeral.

At the end of my interview I would like to thank the President of the Weymouth Legion Branch 67, Mr. Arnold Comeau, and the rest of the members for presenting me with this memorial plaque. It is something I'll treasure all my life."

hard work of the community volunteer.

He mentioned such projects as the Canada Summer and Winter Games series, the formation of the eight Nova Scotia Cultural Federations, the establishment of the Provincial Art Bank and the Art Gallery of Nova Scotia, Sport Nova Scotia, Project Coach, recreation for the handicapped, Community Recreation Programs, little red schoolhouse program, recreation programs for seniors.

"We are now about to launch a massive physical fitness program for all Nova Scotians and we know it will only be possible through our volunteers," he said.

A Nova Scotian Sabbath

By Bertha Cornwall Pearson

"Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy. Six days shalt thou labour, and do all thy work. But the seventh is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God...For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that in them is, and rested the seventh day; wherefore the Lord blessed the Sabbath day, and hallowed it." Exodus 20:8-11.

A little girl of yesteryear recalls how the Sabbath day was observed. Remembering the Sabbath day to keep it holy was a commandment she observed with joy, anticipation, and respect. It was on this day she attended the Grace Methodist Church and Sunday School in Digby, Nova Scotia. In Sunday School her teacher, Miss Edith Letney, showed large colored pictures on a turn over chart from which she taught the lesson. It was here that Caroline learned Bible stories and about God and Jesus. It was here she sang with the other children.

"When He cometh, when He cometh

To make up His jewels
All His Jewels, precious jewels
His loved and His own."

"Jesus bids us shine
With a pure clear light.
Like a little candle Burning in the night."

"Jesus loves me
This I know,
For the Bible Tells me so."

After dinner and a rest, Caroline gathered her books daughter Pam who is attending Acadia University, Wolfville, and son, Marty, attending Dalhousie University, Halifax.

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Perry returned home after a motor trip to P.E.I. and Port Felix, Guy. Co., also Saint John, N.B. They attended Mr. Perry's brother's wedding. Recent visitors of the Perrys were Mr. Willard Perry and wife, Mrs. Perry's niece of Newfoundland, now residing at Saint John, N.B.

Bing Dickie, Pop Hanson, Julie Bondie and Emily Abbott motored to South Milford and dined at the Circle Y Ranch Restaurant recently.

Bing Dickie, Pop Hanson, and Emily Abbot motored to Centreville and called on Mrs. Alma Melanson.

Recent guests of Mrs. Emily Abbot were Mrs. Grace Barton, Weymouth Mills, Mrs. Veve Cosman of Danvers, Mrs. Peter Gaudett and daughter of Moncton, N.B.

in her arms and went into the parlor. This was the best room in the house - always in order and with lovely furniture, pretty curtains, and heirloom paintings in it. Only on Sunday was Caroline allowed to be in it. On this day she must not play hard or rough games or be too noisy. But on this day she could do special things that she could do only on Sunday - the Sabbath day - like putting on a concert for the grown-ups. This required planning and a rehearsal. Little poems would be found in her books to be memorized and recited. A program would be lined up. When all was ready, Grandma Cornwall, Great Aunt Lizzie, and Great Grandma Fenwick would be called. Chairs would be arranged for the audience. Then, with a little curtsy, Caroline would recite; then her brother Paul would recite; and then her sister Harriet would tell a Bible story. They put on a long program which made everyone happy and proud.

The part Caroline loves to remember most was when Grandma played the organ that Grandpa Cornwall had made in his organ factory in London, England. It had his name right on it - G.W. Cornwall. In her dear, sweet voice Grandma sang, "Be not dismayed what ere betide-God will take care of you."

On each side of the organ were platforms on which

Thanksgiving Service Held

The annual Thanksgiving Service was held at the Smith's Cove Baptist Church on Sunday evening, October 10, with the pastor, Rev. Wallace H. Jordan, officiating.

The Church Choir presented the hymn, "My God, I Thank Thee." Ronald Harrison, pianist, accompanied the choir selection.

"Mandate for Gratitude" was the topic of the message given by the Pastor based on scripture as found in Colossians 3:1-17.

The sanctuary was beautifully decorated with fall leaves and the fruits of harvest. Deacon Robert Harrison presented the harvest yield, gifts from the congregation, to the Pastor during the service.

kerosene lamps were burning. Grandma pumped the pedals with her feet and held the notes from one chord to another.

A fireplace nearby added to the light and warmth of the occasion. The marble glistened under the mantlepiece showing a beautiful design. This was created in Italy and shipped especially to Canada when Great Grandpa Fenwick built the homestead in 1850. Love, warmth, pride, and happiness radiated in everyone's heart as well as in the room. The Lord's day - the Sabbath day - was a special time set aside from the other days to be observed and to be remembered with a different feeling. It was a day to be cherished - a deep down-inside time to be hallowed and to remain a blessing forever.

DUCK HUNTER'S DIARY

Whoever coined the phrase "crack of dawn" must have had inspiration from going down to the marsh on opening day of the duck season.

Out where I hunted, opening day began with the crash and crack of shotguns as hunters welcomed unsuspecting flights of ducks with countless salvos. The firing started well before the sun was fully up and if you didn't know hunting season was open you would've sworn war was under way.

I don't know how many ducks were bagged on the piece of dyke where I was, but hunters were grassing them everywhere. That is, everywhere but on our stubble. For the first time in many opening mornings I didn't fire a shot.

I didn't even get a chance to fire a shot. Which you would hardly believe if you could've counted all the ducks whizzing and wheeling around in the sky during the first few hours of daylight.

Opening day was as usual a blend of shotgun action and interesting events, some hilarious, some not. I enjoyed it even though I didn't take home as much as a feather. I kept a diary of opening morning happenings and the following are excerpts from it.

4:30 — Stumble around, wash sleep out of eyes and look outside. Cold and frosty. Starry sky promises a sunny day. Wonder what the ducks are doing at this ungodly hour.

5:00 — After breakfast call friends who say they'll pick me up in 15 minutes. Last minute check of gear. License, decoys packed, shell bag full, duck call in coat. Stuff extra shells in pockets, long range in left, short range in right. Looks like I have everything. Oops! Go downstairs and get shotgun.

5:15 — Friends arrive. One sticks head out window and greets me with raucous duck call. Stow gear and get in truck, leave for dykes.

5:45 — Out on dykeland stubble. Place decoys in field my companions have been scouting for two weeks. Thousands of ducks tending the stubble and others nearby every night. Cold on dykes this time of year. Hunting coat over light sweater and flannel shirt not enough to ward off October's early morning chill.

6:00 — We spread out along ditch in range of our two sets of decoys. Light breeze out of southwest and stars still burning brightly. We're far from being alone on the dyke. A continuous movement of vehicles on dyke roads and we hear hunters talking and trying out duck calls. Seems like an extra-busy opening day. Someone remarks that if ducks are as plentiful as hunters we should have a good day.

6:15 — More hunters drive out on dyke and we worry about where we're going to put everyone. Horns blowing, motors revving, ducks calls blatting and hunters talking and shouting. Hear two shots off towards pond in the north. Can't see the end of my shotgun barrel so I wonder what they're shooting at. Stars dimming and there are faint fingers of sunlight in eastern sky.

6:30 — Still a few sets of headlights burning on various parts of dyke but hunters have quieted down. Nearby cattle hunched up and tense, perhaps sensing what's to come. We get some action in our decoys. A truck bounced off the dyke road and drove through the stubble, just missing the decoys. Tires were tempting targets but not legal game.

7:00 — Now light enough to see ducks following river inland and circling other stubbles. Sporadic gunfire for last 15 to 20 minutes. You can follow flights of ducks up from salt water by the gunfire — first distant shots, then salvos close and closer until we see the flock of birds everyone has been potting at. No ducks into our decoys yet. Shots disturb a cock pheasant in nearby roost and it cackles in complaint. Hope it survives through the day.

7:15 — Discover our stubble is ringed with hunters all standing in the open. Plenty of ducks in air, but needless to say they avoid our stubble. We wonder if hunters standing on other side of stubble think our oversized decoys are scaring ducks away. We ask them to get down when ducks circle decoys but they ignore us.

8:00 — Ducks visible everywhere and some hunters got good shooting during past half hour. Only one duck braved the reception line formed up at far side of field and swung over decoys, staying high and out of range. Some hunters leaving.

8:15 — Still no shooting for us. Ducks trading back and forth, some geese flying Game wardens came to check guns and license. Only second time in 25 years of duck hunting I've seen wardens.

9:00 — Decide to call it quits. Gather up decoys and go back to vehicles. Discover friendly cows have broken tail light of truck and pushed in side of Bronco. Head for home to get Spaniel to try luck on partridge. Might make a pact with ducks. Will promise not to bother them if they promise not to get me up again at 4:30 in the morning.

HUNTERS SHOULD PROTEST

While Nova Scotia hunters were looking the other way, the government sneaked in another hefty increase in the license fees. Both the small game and big game licenses have been jacked up for the 1976-77 season by at least 40 percent.

If you haven't got around to buying a hunting license yet, you're in for a surprise. You'll find that the small game license has gone from $5 to $7, and the big game from $7 to $10.

While it's probably along the same line as trying to drop a goose with a pellet gun, hunters should protest the license hikes. At this time, with both governments making a big issue over price and wage controls, the license hike seems out of place. You could use words like unjustified, unfair and out of proportion to rising costs and probably be right.

While protests won't get the license hikes reduced, they'll at least let the government know you're around and kicking. Contact your MLA and tell him or her that you're unhappy with the hike. Write the minister of lands and forests. Tell him you don't like it. Ask that a detailed breakdown be released on how the hunting license money is being used.

If a miracle happens and you get the breakdown, you'd see that only a fraction of the license money is being put back into game management. Can you believe that it costs over a million dollars a year to manage our game population?

Yet in the 1976-77 season alone, the government will

Tour Of Fire Hall

One of the projects for Fire Prevention Week in Digby was a tour of the Fire Hall, films and demonstrations for Digby school students. Here Fire Chief, Vaughn VanTassell carries out the projects.

take in over one million dollars in license fees. Close to 80,000 hunters will buy the big game license this season and around 50,000 will buy the small game license. Multiply those figures by the license fees and see what we pay to hunt.

To be fair, let's look at what deer hunters have gotten for their license money in the past. First of all, the department of lands and forests has been giving away nice prizes to deer hunters in the last few seasons. We have a nifty "Jawbone Contest" that gives away a total of three prizes — a canoe, rifle and sleeping bag.

To qualify for the prizes you send in the front set of teeth from the lower jawbone of a deer — if you get one. The teeth are used, says a blurb from the department, to determine the age of the deer, its sex and so on. This info, in turn, is used to establish hunting regulations.

The department has been studying jawbones and other parts of deer for ages. So let's take a look at how this research has resulted in better game regulations.

First, they shortened the deer season in recent years. As a result of jawbone studies? Nope, the season was shortened because the deer herd was disappearing and thus the kill was falling rapidly, and hunters demanded that something be done.

The department gave in reluctantly after years of pressure from hunters and shortened the season. It was for political reasons only that the season was shortened. Certainly not for biological reasons even though there were biological reasons for doing so. And certainly not from the study of jawbones.

Second, they reduced the bag limit to one deer from two. The department was also reluctant to do this but public pressure forced the move. The department claimed it was unnecessary to change the bag limit even though the harvest was declining year after year. Once again public pressure not study brought about a major change in deer regulations.

Third, after years of wrangling, the department agreed to set a buck law in parts of the province. Another major change and not because the department read the future in jawbones. The buck law came about only after people like Danny Bower and members of the Yarmouth and Shelburne wildlife associations fought bitterly for it. The battle went on for years with the department resisting all the way.

From this you could assume that jawbone study is a waste of time and money. And it will continue to be a waste if regulation changes are made only when deer hunters demand the obvious. If the biologists have concrete evidence that jawbone study has contributed to meaningful deer regulation changes, they're invited to present it here in this column.

The jawbone study could be one way the department is wasting hunting license money. There undoubtedly are many other ways. Obviously, if some of the waste

After The Storm

("PEACE: BE STILL")

The distant sound of surf upon the shore
Accents the quiet calm that now prevails,
Where yesterday the tempest tore the air
And strong trees bowed before the shattering gale.
And when I see the land all fair again,
So beautiful, serene beneath the sun,
I feel again the wonder I have always known
At the splendid miracle of peace after the storm is done.

And shall my soul be thus renewed some day
When all life's devastating storms have passed away?

Speaker Demonstrated Hanging Mobiles

Mrs. Louise Stephen was hostess for the monthly meeting of the Admiral Digby Horticultural Society, at her home on the evening of October 6th. Twenty-seven members were present.

The meeting was chaired by the 1st Vice-President, Miss Mary Marshall who welcomed three visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harris and Mrs. Rae Gilliat, members of the Hill-N-Dale Garden Club, Bear River, N.S.

Several business matters were discussed concerning work carried on by committees. The geraniums in the street planters had been removed and stored for the winter and plans made for fall work to be done at areas under the supervision of Garden Club members.

A letter was read from Mrs. Kenneth Beckwith and family, expressing appreciation for a memorial tree and plaque, placed in the Loyalist Cemetery in memory of her late husband, who had been an active member with the organization.

Miss Mary Marshall gave an interesting report of the August Flower Show, saying there had been excellent publicity coverage which had greatly added to the success of the show. There had been more entries and exhibits and a greater variety of colorful specimens, with more prizes awarded.

The Pines Hotel award was won by Mrs. Hubert Warne and presented by the manager, Mr. Bradshaw.

The business meeting was adjourned and Miss Tupper introduced Mrs. Gilliat as in charge of the program for the evening.

Mrs. Gilliat gave a demonstration on making hanging mobiles with a base of hollowed small cones, filled with miniature cuttings of dried grasses, weeds, seed pods, flowers, both dried and artificial, which were dyed in various pastel shades. Handles, made from raffia and fine wire, were glued to each basket which had a base of floral clay to hold the flowers in place.

Miss Tupper thanked Mrs. Gilliat for presenting such an interesting and attractive program with a request that she visit the Garden Club again in the near future.

On behalf of the Garden Club, Miss Marshall thanked Mrs. Stephen for her hospitality. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Stephen assisted by Mrs. B. Ellis and Mrs. George Winfield.

Full and overflowing were the scallop boats which brought their catches to port at Digby last week.

To The Taxpayers of the Municipality of the District of Digby

Last spring, when it became apparent that considerable delay in striking a tax rate would be experienced due to the number of appeals (over 2000), your Council was put to the test of financing the operational expenses of the Municipality. On the recommendation of the finance committee, consisting of Councillors Winchester, Swift, Marshall, Rice and Daley, chaired by Councillor Win., the council appealed to you, the taxpayers, to pay 50 percent of your taxes on the basis of your 1975 taxes. This met with such a tremendous response from you that neither interim billing nor borrowing was necessary. This resulted in a lesser work load for the Municipal Office staff and no interest charges. Your splendid co-operation in this matter has not gone unheeded and it is with all sincerity that we wish to thank one and all taxpayers of this Municipality for the support given during this difficult period.

Yarmouth And Digby County Highway 101 To Open

A 16.2 mile section of highway 101 on Nova Scotia's South Western shore is now carrying its first traffic and will be officially opened to the travelling public on Tuesday, October 12 by Hon. J. Fraser Mooney, Minister of Highways.

The latest addition to the 100 highway series extends from the Town of Yarmouth to Woodvale in Digby County.

This major project of the Department of Highways commenced early in 1973 when the first contract was awarded to Tidewater Construction Company Limited for grading of a four mile stretch from Starr's Road in Yarmouth to the Tinkham Road. Another contractor involved in the project, Welton Construction, completed two sections of the new highway, a 3.4 mile stretch from the South Ohio River to the Killam Road and the 5.9 mile section from the Bartlett Road to Killam Brook.

Tidewater Construction was responsible for the interchange structure and ramps at Route 340 near Hebron in Yarmouth County covering a distance of three miles. Tidewater also carried out construction work of an underpass of the Dominion Atlantic Railways at the Granville Road and then completed stabilization of the entire 16.2 miles of highway. Total costs involved in the undertaking are in the order of $5.6 million.

In commenting on the opening of this new section of Highway 101, Mr. Mooney pointed out that it would greatly relieve the traffic flow on the old road facilitating speedy movement of goods in and out of the Yarmouth area. He also pointed out that the new section links up with Highway 103 which is now completed from the Town of Yarmouth to Argyle.

The Highways Minister said that on completion of both highways, 101 through the Annapolis Valley to Yarmouth and 103 along the South Shore, the distance from Halifax to Yarmouth would be approximately 200 miles by either route.

Working Poor - Hardest Hit

The Maritime School of Social Work objects to the Federal Anti-Inflation Board's control on wages because it in effect freezes an already inequitable situation. In 1974, the richest 20 per cent of Canadians got 48.1 per cent of the total income, while the bottom 20 per cent got only 2.6 per cent of the total Canadian income. Under the A.I.B. program, increases of up to $600.00 per year are permitted for the lower income groups, while those in the highest income bracket are allowed an increase of $2400.00 per year. The program does not make it legally binding upon employers to pay the working poor even such meager increases.

Further, the three major components of the Consumer Price Index, food prices, energy prices and the cost of land, are exempt from A.I.B. jurisdiction.

Those hardest hit by an income policy are the working poor who comprise more than 60 per cent of the families living in poverty. When organized labor gets little, the working poor get nothing. (Thus, while the School supports what the

C.L.C. is doing on October 14th, we call upon the labor movement to live up to its 1972 convention commitment to organize the rest of Canada's workers, especially the poor.

The maintenance staff at Dalhousie, for example, bargained in good faith and obtained increases which would keep a family's head above water. Their settlement, which would have lifted their wages from below the minimum wage, but would not have brought their hourly wages up to the Halifax poverty line for a family of four, was rolled back by the A.I.B.

Government fiscal restraints, brought in under the name of antiinflation, have eliminated or cut back many programs designed to help the most needy.

Swine Flu Not Contracted By Eating Pork

Some concern has been expressed by hog producers in the province over adverse publicity related to swine flu, Agriculture Minister Jack Hawkins said in a statement today.

Mr. Hawkins said swine flu is not contracted by people from eating pork as some people appear to believe and stated that it was unfortunate that the flu virus was so named.

Dr. Theodore Cooper, assistant secretary of Health for the U.S. Government, has reported that following intensive investigations, it has been determined that "people do not get flu from eating pork - people get the flu from other people."

Mr. Hawkins stated that in the United States the official term for the virus strain is a New Jersey 76, or Fort Dix flu.

Dr. A.R. Main, Provincial Veterinarian with the Department of Agriculture and Marketing, said he agreed with the findings of the United States public health authorities that there is no possibility of people contracting the flu from eating pork.

I would like to say to all who plan to vote for me, that I shall appreciate it, and I promise, if elected, to the Municipal Council,

I will do everything I can to serve your interests. I shall always be ready to hear any requests you may have.

For some time prior to taking up his new duties here, Mr. Brennan was employed in account management with F.H. Hayhurst Co., a Toronto advertising agency. He worked in marketing, merchandising and creative promotion phases of national brand food and toiletry accounts while with Hayhurst.

"Mr. Brennan's education, career background and knowledge of Nova Scotia will enable him to relate quickly to current marketing opportunities and problems of our province's multimillion dollar tourism industry," added Dr. DeLory. "This appointment," he continued,

NEWS AND VIEWS

Looking back over the summer, rain has fallen at least once a week in the past two months. As a result, water levels are good and the trout are well-fed, fat and sassy.

You really couldn't call it a good trout fisherman's summer though. Constant rain keeps plenty of fish food circulating. Every freshet washes in more food and trout have so much to choose from that anglers have less chance of catching them.

If anyone is interested in watching a Spaniel field trial, the Scotian Springer Club will be holding one at Kempton on September 24 and 25.

In the last four years, wildlife biologists of the department of lands and forests have been studying the possibility of growing wild rice on wetlands in the province. Since 1972 over 60 wild rice test plots have been planted. If the experiment is successful it could mean farmers will find a use for poorly drained dykelands.

This could prove to be beneficial in many ways. Wildlife biologist Fred Payne says that "more commercial wild rice operations would mean more marshes, more marshes means more wildlife habitat and more habitat means more wildlife."

Tobacco fiends will probably smile smugly and tell you they "knew it all the time" when they read this. Recent tests by a research lab in the States indicates that if you apply some modern insect repellents to a cigarette, cigar or pipe smoking angle, you almost double its effectiveness.

And it's more than just tobacco smoke, say researchers. Apparently something in tobacco and modern day repellents form a "chemical liaison" that really keeps biting bugs away. Now they're hoping to discover what it is and put it in a bottle.

As I hoped it would, my column on the Canning River dredging has stirred up some protest action. Shortly after the column appeared I got a call from a recreation group that said it was going to the department of environment to protest further dredging on the river.

Several other organizations have also indicated they would call for a study on the Canning River system and for public meetings to air the issue. I'll keep readers posted.

John Madson offered the following (slightly edited) thoughts in a recent Winchester newsletter:

"We have not outgrown hunting as we have so many other traditions. We still hunt because we are hungry - not just for meat, nor from bloodlust, but in a restless need to recapitulate our youth and reaffirm our basic freedoms. When the genuine need to hunt no longer exists, then hunting will no longer be a strong tradition."

"But that time has not yet come. An acceptable substitute tradition has not yet been developed, nor has our hunting evolved into something better. As an expression of free men rejoicing in landscapes worth being free in, hunting is still preferable to any nonconsumptive use of wildlife yet devised. It is still among the most cherished institutions and for generations it has represented the fruits of freedom to millions of people."

SMALL BUSINESS

Taxation is the price of government services and unless the price of them is controlled at least within the same limits as wages and salaries and profits, then everyone's disposable income is reduced.

Municipal property tax, sales taxes, gasoline taxes, customs and excise duties, income taxes - unless these are used to provide additional services, their imposition reduces our ability to buy other goods and services. If business profits are held back while income taxes on existing profit levels are increased, business income is reduced. The same with wages and salaries. Yet the tax effect is concealed by the device of excluding the cost of government services from the cost of living index which is used to measure inflation.

Protects Consumers From Unscrupulous Agents

With the average Canadian moving once in every five years, many Nova Scotians have had or will have business dealings with a real estate agent.

Whether buying or selling a property through a real estate firm, make sure the broker you're dealing with is licensed, says Harry M. McIlroy, chief executive officer of the N.S. Department of Consumer Affairs. All agents operating in the province are regulated by the N.S. Real Estate Brokers Licensing Act and must have a valid license and must be bonded to carry on business.

New licensing procedures and policies were adopted by the department last year, Mr. McIlroy says. A comprehensive prelicensing home study course is now a requirement that all agents must complete before they can be considered for licensing. They must then pass written exams supervised by the Consumer Affairs Department.

The course was prepared by the Nova Scotia Real Estate Association in conjunction with the superintendent of real estate for the province, Mr. McIlroy says, and has proven to be an asset not only for the industry in the province, but also for the consumer who now knows that he is dealing with a knowledgeable individual.

All real estate licenses expire at the end of June of each year and must be renewed by application to the superintendent of real estate. It is illegal for anyone to claim to be a real estate broker or salesman if he does not hold a valid license, says Mr. McIlroy. Licenses can be suspended or revoked when considered to be in the public interest.

In addition to a license, real estate brokers are required by law to maintain trust accounts in a chartered bank, loan or trust company for all money which comes into their hands in trust for clients. That money must be kept separate from that of the firm itself. They are also required to keep a sales record sheet and proper books and accounts. In the case of each transaction, the broker must record the nature of the trade, an exact description of the property involved, its selling price, the names of all parties involved, the amount of deposit received and its disbursement, and the amount of the commission charged or other remuneration, as well as the party paying it.

Money Well Spent

Money spent on furthering your education is money well spent, but watch out for correspondence courses that promise more than they can deliver.

The courses to be especially wary of, says Harry M. McIlroy, chief executive officer of the N.S. Consumer Affairs Department, are those which say or imply that a job is guaranteed once you complete the course. "Only employers can guarantee a job," Mr. McIlroy says. "A good commercial school which teaches the specific skills you are after and is in tune with the needs of employers, could be worth your investment of time and money. But unless the school is directly involved with an employer, it cannot guarantee you a job."

Extravagant claims of the success of its graduates, prospective earnings and demand for workers should also put you on your guard, as should any pressure to sign a contract quickly. Mr. McIlroy advises correspondence course students to take the following points into consideration before signing any contract.

are protected against unscrupulous real estate brokers and agents, Mr. McIlroy says, and should complain to the Consumer Affairs Department if they feel that they have been poorly treated in a transaction.

1. Make sure you understand the contract before you sign. Check with your lawyer or the Consumer Services Bureau if in doubt.

2. Check with the Department of Education to make sure that the school is accredited under the Trade Schools Regulation Act.

3. Find out if you will be eligible for any government aid at the school.

4. Will the courses qualify you for the job you want within a reasonable length of time?

5. Make sure the contract spells out everything including the cost of the course, how it is to be paid, and any promises made you by the salesman.

6. Does the school have a printed refund policy? Most good schools have a reasonable refund arrangement should the student drop out before completing the course. Some schools call for full payment whether you complete the course or not.

Should you find yourself in a home study or correspondence course that is not living up to its promises, Mr. McIlroy says, contact the Consumer Services Bureau nearest you.

Feeling listless? Out of sorts? Fight it! Take a walk.

Enjoys Nova Scotia

Following a convention of the Canadian Community Newspapers Association in Halifax in August, two post-convention trips were arranged for delegates. One was a four-day tour of Cape Breton and the other was a trip through the Annapolis Valley to Yarmouth, across to Bar Harbour, Maine where they were guests of the Maine Press Association, then on to Montreal by bus then home.

The bus load through the Valley stopped at Bridgetown Motor Hotel for lunch and were eloquent in their praise of the service of the motel staff and the beauty of the surrounding countryside. Following lunch they visited the Habitation and Fort Anne. Mr. and Mrs. Harold McConnell of Tilbury, Ont., came to Nova Scotia by car and spent five days travelling from Halifax down the South Shore and up to Digby. Following the tour, they devoted a full page of their Tilbury Times to a detailed description of their visit. Following are some excerpts:

there. They told of the efforts to reclaim the treasure, of a television probe in a waterfilled underground cavern which revealed two and maybe three metal-bound trunks, and also showed the shape of a human hand, thought to be that of a pirate killed and buried there, his soul left to protect the treasure.

Since 1795, man has searched for the elusive treasure, stymied by an engineering masterpiece that still holds the secret of the money pit. Seven million dollars has been spent and seven lives have been lost.

The engineering masterpiece, it has been said, is laid out like the sewers of Paris and Marseilles, but no one can find the key to unlock the secret. In Canada, a person can get a treasure trove license for $2 for two years and must do $100 worth of searching a year. No one yet has been able to claim the 90 per cent of the treasure. The Nova Scotia government will claim the other 10 per cent.

We travelled around Chester, a little town rich Americans love. They have provided recreation in the building of an arena, a yacht club, and a golf course to name a few. Residents of Chester can belong to all of these facilities for the annual fee of $36.

Then there was Lunenburg, a small community built on the side of a mountain, where all the streets are almost vertically up or down, and streets so narrow a bus has a hard time manoeuvring around corners.

Lunenburg is a ship-building community where Bluenose I and Bluenose II were built, and where the ship which was used in the recent movie production of Mutiny on the Bounty was also built. The ship St. Theresa remains tied up at the dock as a floating museum. And nearby is a warehouse also used as a museum, featuring tanks on view, filled with live creatures of the deep.

Speaking of the Bluenose, no trip to the east is complete unless you sail on the famous racing schooner. And son Terry and I fell in love with the sea as we sailed over glass-like water out from Halifax harbor.

Weaving our way through the country, we had a fish chowder lunch at an eating place in a building on stilts. The waitress said in the spring and fall, tide waters reach up and under the floor an unestimable height from the ocean floor. The structure must be of sturdy build for it looks like it has been standing on that ledge for many a year. I thought I would not like to be in the building on a stormy night with the waves smashing in. That the building was built in a cove might have been the safety measure.

We were told to visit the famous Yarmouth Lighthouse, but checking our time, decided to miss this one.

We were also told, "It is only 60 miles to Digby. It will take you an hour to get there as there is nothing to see in between."

Nothing to see! It took us all day to get to Digby.

We travelled by secondary roads, down and to the sea, talking to people, looking and snapping pictures.

Off the beaten track was Sandford, where we found one of the smallest draw bridges in the world. At first we were attracted by the scene of brightly-colored fishing boats tied up in a lagoon. Down we went to investigate and found a scene of grey, weathered lobster traps, complimented by grey, weathered fishing huts. The bright boats bobbed on the water, with reflections vying for attention and centre front, was a small drawbridge, its platforms extending skywards. There we found many shells which are found in and around lobster traps.

And there by golly, was the Santa Maria, its masts poking into the sky. Not a small replica, but a real, honest-to-goodness seaworthy boat. We found this at a shipbuilding centre. This industry makes replicas of famous boats to be used in Hollywood movie productions.

Onwards and up to the Bay of Fundy, we found St. Anne's Roman Catholic Church. It had five steeples, on the church and four on the adjoining college.

And further along we saw the cathedral-like St. Bernard's Roman Catholic Church. This parish was started in 1910 and Msgr. LeBlanc in 1947 started construction on the church. Another priest by name of LeBlanc finished the job.

We carried along and lo, right in the middle of the road, was a yoke of oxen hard at work. The mighty white and brown Acadians were drawing a load of firewood. Their owner, Simon Maillot of St. Alphonse had them clean and pretty, all decked out with red tassels. Much like our pony-pulling contest, Nova Scotians have ox-pulling contests and possibly these animals on the road were being trained for this purpose.

The closest oxen, showing his disdain for the photographer, started to relieve himself. I stood there, waiting for him to finish, talking to his owner. But the oxen didn't stop and kept right on flowing, and finally I had to give up and leave.

All through Nova Scotia we saw people painting their houses in colors of orange, green, yellow, blue red or tangerine, which presented bright spots on the scenery.

Eventually we got to Digby and found a cottage motel called Mountain Gap. With no trouble, we got a cottage right on the bank overlooking the Digby Gut. Imagine, no telephone, no television...just relaxation. We relaxed so much we stayed there the second night.

We went to Bear River where Mac's forefathers, United Empire Loyalists, had landed and settled when they fled the United States after the American Revolution.

As the story goes, the man of the McConnell house left Bear River and walked to southern Ontario and liked the area around what is now Port Burwell in Elgin County. He walked back, organized his family and others and returned

Two Day Weavers Conference

Weavers of Nova Scotia will be meeting in Halifax on the weekend of October 23 and 24 for the two day Provincial Weavers' Conference, sponsored by Nova Scotia Designer Craftsmen. The range of topics to be covered will interest weavers at all levels of proficiency, from the novice enthusiast to the most experienced craftsman. Some wellknown weavers in the province will be sharing their experience, and some interesting newcomers to the province will be introducing themselves and their work.

Among the topics to be discussed are Chemical Dyeing, Marketing, Business Practices, Judging, Consumer Protection, Finishing and Processing, and Portfolios. There will also be slide presentations and reports.

Schedules and further detailed information are available for anyone who wishes to attend. It is not necessary to be a member of any organized group.

naming the street where he pioneered Nova Scotia Street. On the banks of Lake Erie, the road still bears the same name.

We picked up two ladies at Canadian Forces Base Cornwallis, who we found sitting alongside the road. The young 17-year old girl, accompanied by her mother, had come to see her boyfriend graduate with the Canadian Armed Forces.

"Come along with us," we said and we took Pat and Gloria Stewart of R.R. 5 Trenton with us to visit the historical sites of Fort Anne at Annapolis Royal, a museum built in 1935, as is a reconstruction of officers' quarters originally built in 1679 and the Port Royal Habitation museum. Its history dates back to 1605 and was the earliest permanent settlement north of Florida.

St. Edwards-on-the-Hill Anglican Church at Clementsport saw its beginning at the coming of the United Empire Loyalists in 1784.

Beams at the church were hand hewn and lime for plaster was made by burning clam shells. Nails were hand wrought. The beams are held together by wooden spikes. The church is set true east and west and when the shadow of the cornice touches the round window in the church, it is exactly 12 noon.

Dropping them off in time for the girl to meet her boyfriend, we travelled to Bridgetown to visit publisher, Roy Mailman.

Noteworthy was the number of elm trees that lined the streets. "Something beautiful" as the Nova Scotians would say. And we ate as never before at a farm house called Continental Kitchen. A sign on the door said, "If you are in a hurry, go away, we don't serve meals that way". It was worth waiting for.

In the harbour of the Digby Gut could be seen a Spanish galleon. It was pretty as a picture, built "by a Frenchman up river". As it was only regulation size, a two-seater, the galleon looked a bit ridiculous when two men climbed aboard. Instantly the boat had too many sailors.

Homemaker's Corner

BY SUSAN HORNE

HOME ECONOMIST
DEPT. OF AGRICULTURE & MARKETING

BACK TO BASICS

It's time to get back to the basics of cooking and eating. Basic cooking means good wholesome food, prepared at home. With today's constantly rising prices the convenience foods which save so much time for working homemakers are fast becoming luxuries. Yet many of these basic foods can be prepared at home and stored on kitchen shelves, ready to use when needed. They can be assembled on short notice when unexpected guests arrive and they prove their value by adding basic unrefined nutrients to our diets.

Our great grandmothers were resourceful women who uprooted their families to begin new lives in the new world. They had to be clever with food in order to survive in the hostile wilderness. Their kitchens and utensils may have been primitive by our standards, but they fed their families good, wholesome and nutritious foods. They would have wondered at today's homemakers who make themselves helpless with packaged pie crusts, canned potato salads, and precooked rice, and who deem it a chore to simmer a good, nourishing soup all day long, thus depriving themselves of its aromatic pleasure. Good cooking was a way of life then, and it can be now.

This is why the cookbook, Back To Basics was developed. It includes old recipes adapted for today's homemaker. The recipes tested in this booklet have been selected for their wholesome and economical value as well as their ease of preparation. Once the basic recipe is prepared, endless variations are possible. A few variations are given here, but you can create your own to reflect your own particular tastes and preferences.

Directions are given for preparing a number of basic mixes designed for maximum storage. It's a good idea to label them with the name and date made.

Generally mixes using non-refrigerated type of shortening will last 6-8 weeks in tightly covered containers. Freeze mixes for longer periods of time.

Also included in the booklet are equivalents, a list of basic kitchen utensils, and a list of staples that you should have.

Here is a sample of some of the versatile recipes in the book:

A trip down the Digby Neck was slated but as this entailed crossing on two ferries which sailed at irregular periods, and we had reservations that night for the ferry to St. John, we did not travel to Whale's Back or to see the rocks at the very tip.

But we did see the damage of last February's storm, where a highway had been ripped out and large sailing boats had been whipped upland one quarter-of-a-mile to the tree line.

And we went to Sandy Cove where we had a good view of the fishing weirs, and the spectacular scenery. We looked for agates on the beach, but not really knowing what to look for, we then visited a little old lady, handy to the beach, who collected and sold agates.

Speaking of the weirs, we saw in the Digby paper where three porpoises had been caught in one. Young boys advised the authorities and two of the mammals were rescued and released. The third drowned.

That night the boat trip concluded our Nova Scotian trip and we arrived quite late at St. John, New Brunswick.

Our last visit in Canada enroute home via the States and the Thousand Island bridge, was a side trip to Black's Harbour, the site of the world's largest sardine industry. The community was interesting in that it is said the whole town is owned by the Conner family.

All the homes, of about six designs, are evidently company homes. The stores are Conner's, with one exception, the Royal Bank of Canada.

We picked up a piece of rock from the harbor there, just to say this was the last of the stopping places of a wonderful holiday trip.

That your contribution to the garbage along the road can also be hard on the pocketbook, as well as an eyesore. Section 156 (3) of the Motor Vehicle Regulations reads "no person shall throw or otherwise deposit from any vehicle on the highway any litter, refuse, garbage, rubbish or other matter."

Look at each piece of fluttering paper as a $50.00 bill, because that's just what it can cost you!

The Coronation Futurity Stakes

Sunday, October 17
5:30 p.m. on ATV
THE OLDEST, TOUGHEST AND RICHEST STAKES RACE IN CANADA
Host Fergie Oliver, with co-host Jim Coleman, a veteran sportsman, will be on hand to offer their expert comments along with Daryl Wells, Canada's voice of thoroughbred racing, for the live telecast of "The Coronation Futurity Stakes" from the mile and one-eighth dirt course at Woodbine.
Considered the oldest, toughest and certainly the richest stakes race for two year-olds foaled in Canada, "The Coronation Futurity Stakes" has in excess of 125 thousand dollars up for grabs, with a winner's share expected to be about 80 thousand dollars.
An extremely important race for two year-old thoroughbreds, "The Futurity Stakes" highlight the performance and standing of the horses as these are indications of future expectations for each of the thoroughbreds. Many winners of the Coronation have gone on to garner first place at the prestigious "Queen's Plate" in the following season.
Inaugurated in 1902, the race changed its format a number of times, each time improving the competition and demands placed upon the horses and jockeys until 1961. From that time to the present day it has maintained its format of being a mile and an eighth race on the dirt track.
Since 1944 nine winners of the Coronation have gone on to win "The Queen's Plate" and jockey Sandy Hawley, North America's leading race and money rider, has won four of the last five Coronation races.

Foster Home Care Up 50 Cents Per Day

The maintenance rates for children living in foster homes has been increased to $5.00 per day from $4.50.

The increase was announced by Social Services Minister, Bill MacEachern, and is retroactive to October 1st.

The new rates are for foster parents in the province who take children into their homes under the Department of Social Services' Child Welfare program, and includes a special placement service for mentally-retarded children.

The program applies to children who are wards of the province.

"Though we are well aware of the need for restraints in government spending," Mr. MacEachern said, "we concluded that the 50 cents a day increase for maintenance of foster children of the province is proper, in light of rising family living costs.

"Being a foster parent is more a labour of love than a money-making activity," Mr. MacEachern said. "We believe that foster parents who take wards into their homes and have them in their care 24 hours a day should have their basic expenses as close to being covered as possible."

The Minister paid tribute to the dedication of foster parents involved in the province's foster care program.

It was early in October when Captain Roy Connelly took over from Captain Andrew MacDonald as master of the S.S. Princess of Helene which crossed daily except Sunday from Saint John to Digby. Captain MacDonald retired after more than 45 years in the service of the Canadian Pacific Steamships. He had been captain of the Empress, Saint John-Digby and of the S.S. Yarmouth between Yarmouth and New York. Captain Connelly had been first mate under Captain MacDonald. John Goodwin, the second mate was promoted to first mate in Captain Connelly's place.

Fears that the CFB Cornwallis would close were high in Digby and area. The Courier wanted to know what would be the fate of the $14,000,000 construction as the largest naval base in the British Empire. Would it be left to vandals and weather? What about plumbing, wiring, electric fixtures, tiling, flooring, furniture and costly recreational materials. Any close down was vigorously protested by the Digby and Annapolis Boards of Trade, Town Councils and Legions.

The first missionary rally for the Maritimes to be held in keeping with the centennial of sending missionaries to foreign lands was held in the Baptist Church in Digby. It was an interdenominational rally. Mayor J.W. Merkel extended a welcome. A dinner was held, delegates addressed school pupils, the Women's Missionary Society held a meeting and a mass meeting was held in the evening.

The Digby General Hospital Board accepted the resignation of Miss Elsie Yetman R.N., superintendent at the hospital.

Burglars got away with $600 in a break at LeBlanc's General Store, Bellevue Cove.

Mr. and Mrs. Ormer Denton, Little River had on Thanksgiving Day new peas and little beets grown as a second crop in their garden.

Honored on Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Blinn, Plympton, on October 6th, celebrated their 34th wedding anniversary.

They were honored at a dinner Party at the Admiral Digby Inn by Mrs. Della Burns and Mrs. Esther Weaver, Weymouth North. In the evening they received a radio phone call from Tuck-Toy-AK-Tuck base North West Territories from their son Don who is employed as a Permedic with Arctic Exploration Services.

Our temperature here was much warmer, it was snowing there, he said, and lots of ice, also 5 hours difference in time zones.

Training Plan For Truck Drivers

The president of Commercial Safety College, Harry Marsh, Truro, Nova Scotia, has announced a new plan to develop more trained truck drivers for the transportation industry in Canada. He made the announcement coinciding with release of the statistics showing that the College, since its beginning 8 years ago has graduated, it's 7,000th truck driver student. The new plan will allow for young people who wish to become truck drivers to enroll in the school with a small down payment and complete their tuition fees when they are working as a driver.

According to Mr. Marsh the number of truck drivers required by various trucking fleets both in the Atlantic Provinces and other parts of Canada far exceeds the number of trained people ready to accept careers in that industry. In his statement Mr. Marsh explained that he was confident from the statistics of the College that students taking professional truck driver training found successful employment in the transportation industry. It seems logical Mr. Marsh added that our past statistics indicates that we should try to encourage more people to take training not only to fill the need for truck drivers for various trucking companies but also to continue to make the truck transport industry safe and reliable.

In demonstrating our good faith and confidence in the trucking industry Mr. Marsh went on, Commercial Safety College is prepared to assist students in arranging tuition by offering them a term payment plan. A first payment of one-third of the projected course cost is accepted at the time of enrollment and the balance is spread over 18 months commencing a month after completion of the training course. It is open to both men and women and the only requirement is that they have a valid drivers license, plus a mature and sincere desire to accept the responsibilities of a professional truck operator in the transport industry.

Commercial Safety College is Canada's largest Truck Driver Training Institution. Located about one hour drive from the Halifax International Airport. It consists of a 162 acre training site with a staff of 45 people and over 50 training vehicles. The course normally takes 6 weeks to complete, part of the time being spent in the classroom learning theory and laws of truck transportation and the remaining time of the course work on actual practical skills training both on the practise field and on rural, town and the Trans Canada highway. The course also includes training on pre-trip inspection and preventive maintenance methods of vehicle care.

For more information on the Commercial Safety College's new tuition time payment plan, for becoming a truck driver, write to Commercial Safety College, Box 848, Truro, Nova Scotia, Telephone: (902) 662-2190.

More Reliable

Methods

New and more reliable methods of evaluating pupil performance in Nova Scotia have been proposed by Education Minister Maynard MacAskill.

Dr. MacAskill made his proposals in a speech to the 40th annual convention of the Nova Scotia Federation of Home and School Associations at Riverton Saturday afternoon.

Following are excerpts from the Minister's speech: First, there is a widespread and growing fear that standards are declining.

Second, there is a suspicion that the best minds among our students are not being sufficiently challenged.

Third, there is a feeling that in our efforts to reduce the sense of pressure upon students we have perhaps created circumstances in which some students develop habits that reflect a certain lack of scrupulousness or even a slipshod attitude that whatever will serve is good enough.

We face the challenge of diagnosing our problems and in order to do this we must select the best evaluation techniques that we can find or develop and apply them, tempered by reason, experience and understanding. I am proposing the following steps, with a view to implementation during the next year or two: 1. We have, for the past three years administered standardized tests of achievement at the grade XII level. This year, for the first time, an appropriately modified version of these tests will be applied at the grade IX level. The tests measure performance in five fields: social studies, science, mathematics, reading and English. Our experience so far confirms the tests have validity. They should provide a reliable basis on which to form judgements of our success in enabling a majority of students to achieve a reasonable competence in the five measured fields. These judgements will enable us to provide boards and teachers with diagnosis of their students' needs, with a check on the effectiveness of programmes and methods and with a test of their own evaluative procedures. I have asked that we consider extension of suitably modified forms of these tests to the grade III and VI levels. If this proves practicable and desirable, as we believe it will, the tests will be given at these levels within two years. This will provide an evaluation and diagnosis at critical points as students progress through school. Placement and classification of students will continue to be done by local boards guided by evaluation, by principals and teachers who know the student. But we will have an objective, external point of reference, and a basis on which to publicize our achievements with confidence and to correct our deficiencies with speed and effectiveness. 2. I have also asked my department to develop plans for honours or distinction courses that may be available in academic subjects to students with additional interests or capacities who may wish to attempt them and who may want to seek some greater depth of understanding and some recognition of their effort. I am asking that a system of departmental tests be developed that, while not being based on any prescribed materials, will provide students who wish to attempt them with an opportunity to demonstrate their special competence and to receive a special certificate that would be issued by the Minister indicating that they have achieved honours of distinction level in a certain field or fields. I want to stress that the writing of the examination will be voluntary, and the results of the examination will in no way determine the student's normal accumulation of credits nor his or her acceptability into post-secondary programs. We are seeking a means of providing additional challenge to those who need it or are equipped for it and wish it and additional recognition for superior performance. The courses and examinations of which I am speaking, would be made available at the senior high school level only.

A new publication has been prepared by the home economics division of the Department of Agriculture and Marketing to assist food buyers plan their shopping lists so they can obtain the most value from their food dollars both from a nutritional and economic standpoint. Copies of the book are available from the Nova Scotia Government Bookstore, 1483 Barrington Street, Halifax (P.O. Box 637, Halifax), or from the home economics division, extension branch, Department of Agriculture and Marketing, P.O. Box 550, Truro. Looking over copies of the book are, left to right, Mrs. Norma Mosher, executive secretary of the Women's Institutes of Nova Scotia; Brenda Gorman, supervisor of home economics for the Department of Agriculture and Marketing; and Anne Campbell, a staff member of the home economics division.

3. Finally, we are also exploring means of providing boards, teachers, parents and the department with some reliable basis for assessing the performance of our various school systems.

I want to conclude by assuring you that we are not seeking a means to judge anyone. We are not seeking a means to predict the future.

I invite you as home and school associations, as citizens and as parents to join with us in discussing the best means of maintaining, of improving and of measuring standards and of guaranteeing to our students the very finest educational opportunity that the resources of Nova Scotia can provide.

PRESENT REASONS FOR 75% INCREASE IN WATER RATES

Members of Digby Town Council and the Digby Water Commission appeared before A.J. Meagher, Q.C., vice-chairman of the Board of Commissioners of Public Utilities of Nova Scotia and J.L. Harris a member of the Board, with documents prepared in request for an increase in water rates by seventy-five per cent.

Mayor Charles Haliburton introduced the delegation consisting of Duane Kenley, chairman of the Digby Water Commission; Kenneth Eavis town clerk and spokesman for the delegation (secretary treasurer for water commission); Robert Theriault, deputy town clerk and Kenneth Ilnitski, assistant superintendent of streets and water for the town of Digby.

One interested resident of the town attended the hearing by the Board of Commissioners of Public Utilities viz. Mrs. Eileen Chipman, First Avenue.

The resolution placed before the Board stated that a seventy-five per cent increase in the base consumption and public fire protection service rates would achieve a profit of $1443.00 for 1977 and a loss of $1955.00 in 1978. This is allowing for amortization of $52,914 in loans which have had no reduction since 1972. As well amortizing of principal addition in 1976 of $31,000.00 and taking into consideration a proposed additional loan of approximately $100,000 for the Victoria St. water main construction.

The present rates have been in effect, it was noted since 1970.

The information for the rate schedule and charges prepared by Mr. Eavis was adopted by Town Council for submission at a previous meeting and presented by Mr. Eavis. Mr. Eavis' calculations in part were based on percentages used to project expenses in expenses from 1969 to 1975; also forty per cent increase in power costs in 1977 as per correspondence H. R. Doane and Co. and a ten per cent increase in power costs for 1978 plus twelve per cent increase in wages.

Non operational expenses are estimated loan repayments of $1522 in 1977 and 1978 based on projected capital expenditures of $31,000 in 1976 and $96,000 in 1977 and repayments on existing loans.

Financial needs presented included Dec. 31, 75 accumulated revenue fund deficit of $85,531, increased by $30,443 since last studied; excess of gross expenses over revenue in the past five years, a result of insufficient net operating revenue. If rates continue there is expected a loss for Utility of $13,237 for 1976; $42,504 for 1977; and $42,857 for 1978. This would not include repayment of $73,252 due the Town of Digby.

In his short remarks at the opening of the hearing, Mayor Haliburton noted that the debt owing the town was not bearing interest. The tax payers of Digby are subsidizing the water meters which is unfair to the taxpayer.

Mr. Haliburton gave a short historical account of the Digby Water System and outlined some of the plans which could improve the quantity and quality of the water.

Plans got underway for the Digby Water System in 1894 and construction started in 1895. Mr. Haliburton traced events from the building of the quarry dam, the reservoir, the Mic Mac Brook development, the constructing of a direct line from reservoir to lake in 1928 and the 12 inch line run in 1948 from reservoir to town. Most lines had been built without plans and some locations of lines are completely forgotten. There is a great deal of lack of information. Three wells which had been built within the past few years have not produced properly. Work in general has been postponed because of lack of funds. Pipe lines are of various sizes, they are old and of corrosive materials.

The system is totally by gravity. There are no pumps.

Mr. Haliburton mentioned plans to bring a 12 inch line to run from Racquette Hill along Victoria St. back into town and produce a better quality of water by picking up dead end lines. Pressure is another area in which the Digby Water System should be improved, the mayor noted. Valves are not uniform. He also mentioned that the reservoir should be covered and not open to every contaminating influence. Mr. Haliburton said there is an overall general plan for improvements but there are increased costs each year.

In her presentation before Mr. Meagher and Mr. Harris, Mrs. Chipman expressed assurance that the majority of citizens regard the "unrealistic" increase in water rates requested with indignation and despair. Being the only citizen present, Mrs. Chipman felt that the hour of hearing and the total lack of previous knowledge of the business conducted by the Digby Water Commission contributed to the absence of many citizens.

Mrs. Chipman expressed concern in that information received at a rate payers meeting in January was that sewer service charges would be based on water rates though no mention was made at the time of water rate increases. She expressed concern that citizens are not informed on the dates of the Digby Water Commission meetings and she was surprised to have learned that Robert Morgan had resigned as chairman of the commission some months ago.

In conclusion, Mrs. Chipman from her typed text implored the Board of Commissioner of Public Utilities to consider the hardship the requested increase would impose upon the people of Digby. Mr. Meagher then asked Mrs. Chipman if she had heard their reasons for requesting the increase in the presentation made at the hearing.

Band Students Present $50

During the 1975-76 school term and the present term the Band has earned money supported by the public and the Band felt they should also contribute to community betterment. The musical cause at Tideview appealed to them.

Present with the students on Tuesday for the presentation was Donald Scott, the Band director.

About 32 are enrolled in the D.R.H.S.B. Band which is now preparing for their Christmas concert. If funds are available the Band hopes to exchange visits with an Ontario band.

Harold Emerson Red Cross President

Harold Emerson, BayView, was on Wednesday elected president of the Digby Branch Canadian Red Cross at the 37th annual meeting of the Branch held at the home of Miss Louise Daley, Queen St. Mr. Emerson succeeds Rev. Ronald Stevens, who leaves early in November for Shediak, N.B. where he will be in charge of the United Church of Canada pastorate there.

Other officers elected were: Honorary President, Dr. T.W. Hodgson; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. Allan Harris; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. H.M. Warne; Secretary, Mrs. Percy Robert and Treasurer, Mrs. J.J. Brittain.

Committees formed on Wednesday were: Awards, Mrs. H.M. Warne, Mrs. Oscar VanTassel and Mrs. Alan Stark; Blood Donor, Mr. E.B. Tufts; Emergency Aid, Mrs. George Winfield and Mrs. Clyde Bremner; Nursing Services, Mrs. Clayton Snow; Publicity, Mrs. H.M. Warne; Sickroom Loan, Mrs. George Winfield; Water Safety, R. MacLeod Rogers; Ways and Means (Tea Committee), Mrs. Allan Harris, Mrs. R.B. Lent, Mrs. G.R. Weir, Mrs. Loran Hayden, Women's Work, co-conveners, Mrs. H.W. Warne, Mrs. Alan Stark; Sewing, Mrs. Fred Daley; Knitting, Mrs. Percy Robert, Mrs. Daniel Comeau, Mrs. Wilfred Comeau; Quilting, Mrs. Allan Stark, Mrs. Blair Daley, Mrs. Elliott VanTassel, Mrs. Raymond Everett, Mrs. Burton Ellis; Red Cross Youth Liaison, Miss Lynda MacIntosh, Mr. Harold Emerson; Memorial Cards, Mrs. J.J. Brittain.

The treasurer's report was read by Mrs. Mary Robert, secretary, revealing receipts for the year to have been $780.03, expenses $652.28, leaving a balance of $127.75.

Mrs. H.M. Warne presented the report of the Women's Work Committee. The report noted the curtailment of work done in the 1975-76 year because of cancellation of meetings owing to the Court House not being available. Other reasons for a lessening of work accomplished was a natural result of the passage of time in an organization which was at its peak during the war years and has acquired few new workers in the meantime.

Shipments to Halifax Headquarters consisted in the year of eight girls' dresses, 18 sweaters, nine pairs booties, 178 diapers, 34 crib sheets, 50 flannelette blankets, 60 terry towels, 48 Afghans and five quilts. There were 2635 gauze wipes folded for Blood Transfusion Service.

In order to raise money to overcome inflation, the Digby Branch Canadian Red Cross raised $253.10 by the sale of a quilt the women made. Mrs. Edna Stark did the work on the quilt top. Proceeds went to the Emergency Fund of the Nova Scotia Division.

The report presented by Mrs. Warne thanked the workers for their assistance and the Municipal Council for the use of their rooms for meetings and working.

Mrs. George Winfield gave the report for the Emergency Aid and stated that the sick loan included nine walkers, 22 crutches, eight beds and eleven wheel chairs. The fund collected amounted to $102.

In the Ways and Means report by Mrs. Harris it was found the total receipts to be $221.19, disbursements 169.05, balance $42.14.

According to the report of Ernest Tufts of the Blood Donor Service and presented by Mrs. Warne, 555 donors had attended the two clinics held. It was proposed that a winter clinic would also help to bring up the supply of blood when greatly needed.

The financial campaign report from the chairman, Patrick Fletcher, presented by Mrs. Robert showed a gross amount collected of $2071.10.

A lengthy report of the Digby Swimming Pool prepared by John Rogers, director, was read for information of the Digby Branch Red Cross (For Swimming Pool report see other columns).

A vote of thanks was extended to the retiring president, Mr. Stevens, who also thanked the members for their co-operation through his term of presidency. The new president, Mr. Emerson expressed appreciation of the trust which the Red Cross Branch has put in him.

The Sick and Loan Committee were given authority to look into the conditions of the beds available and decide on disposals or retainables. Mrs. Warne and Miss Louise Daley were named to look into propositions regarding use of the Digby Fire Hall.

Mrs. Ronald Stevens and Mrs. Raymond Lent poured at the tea which followed the meeting.

Liquor Outlet Turned Down 255-166

Perhaps one of the greatest controversial issues ever to face residents of Long Island Digby Co., was the recent plebiscite regarding the request made by the Capriquet Branch No. 92 of the Royal Canadian Legion for a liquor outlet in their Legion hall at Freeport, N.S.

They had hoped to obtain a permanent Club license which would allow members of the Legion and a guest who might accompany the member to have access to the Legion hall.

To substantiate their request to acquire the club license, members in the area pointed out that liquor would be sold only to those present at the meeting, no one would be allowed to "take out" liquor, no one allowed enough liquor to become intoxicated, or if it should happen, another, sober comrade would operate his or her vehicle. They emphasized the points that they would not have an open bar and that no one is "forced" to drink the liquor.

In the recent plebiscite held at Freeport, 126 voted wet and 94 voted dry. A slim majority of 32 in favor of the Legion's request. At Tiverton where a similar plebiscite was held, 161 voted dry and 40 voted wet. The majority of 121 turned the tide.

Residents who were not in favor of the liquor outlet expressed their opinion that liquor is already too accessible in the Island area and that such an outlet as proposed by the Legion could prove damaging to the young people, in that their desire for liquor could be more easily satisfied.

One resident said, "my children are all grown up but I have grandchildren and I am concerned about other young people."

Others feel that the proposed outlet could lead to more consumption of liquor, and might even go so far as the creation of other, more extensive liquor outlets. Most residents agreed that to hinder or prevent additional liquor outlets in the area is to stop it before it gets started.

Ellis, MacNutt, Journey For Town Council Seats

Two hundred and ten votes cast in favor of Gordon Ellis at the polling station and Tuesday returned him to a seat on the Digby Town Council for another three year term after having served eight years.

Other winners of Digby Town Council seats on Tuesday were Robert MacNutt with 191 votes and Foster Journeay, 184. Henry Hubbard's count was 133.

Three hundred and sixty-one voted out of a possible more than 1500 eligible voters.

The two successful candidates, MacNutt and Journeay fill vacancies created at the close of the terms of William Reid and Reginald Hazelton.

Mayor Stuart MacNaughton, superintendent of the Digby County Power Board, took up the challenge of mayoralty by acclamation when there were no other nominations submitted in opposition.

Serving with Mayor MacNaughton are Councillors Philip Robertson, Mrs. Eileen Chipman and Guy VanTassel (terms unexpired), Ellis, MacNutt and Journeay.

Precautions For Hallowe'en

A letter from the Digby Detachment RCMP was read before the Digby Municipal School Board on Tuesday evening suggesting that it might be a sound precaution to keep the school buildings occupied on Hallowe'en night and thereby avoid destruction of property. The Board left the matter into the hands of the school supervisors.

By letter from Rogers and Outhouse, barristers, the municipal school board was advised that the residue of the estate of the late Miss Ruth Goodwin was to be held in trust fund for students.

A delegation was named on Tuesday evening to meet with educational authorities in Halifax regarding approval of the Board's capital expenditures. Some capital expenditures submitted to the Department of Education were approved while others were not.

Two parents addressed the Board on the matter of being able to enroll beginners in school before the day of their fifth birthday.

Swimming Pool Users Increased

A report from John Rogers, Director of the Digby Swimming Pool was read at the annual meeting of the Digby Red Cross on Wednesday and revealed that the overall usage of the pool had increased from the summer of 1975, when the pool was first opened, to the summer of 1976. John gave much credit to the use of a bus obtained through the Department of the Secretary of State Student Community Services grant which brought approximately 100 more students to take advantage of the water safety instructions.

John also felt that instruction had also improved because of the higher number and more qualified instructors available. The director, however, also revealed that public swimming was down in 1976 due, he felt, to the weather.

Among the extra activity at the Pool in 1976 was the Swim Team coached by Garnet Stacey and Linda Mackintosh; swimming for the disabled; Red Cross Boating Safety and Natal Day activities.

The report noted that a new chlorinator had been installed but no replacement equipment is anticipated for another year. An emergency kit, the report said, would be a good investment.

John's report had two suggestions. Since many children were bussed in from the Municipality there might be a possibility of getting a grant as from the town and

Digby Municipal Council Has Few Changes

When the Council of the Municipality of the District of Digby meets in session on Monday there will be a few changes in personnel to greet the audience. Tuesday's election throughout the municipality saw two districts completely changed in representation and one partly changed.

In District number one, Bear River, Rubin Mervin with 139 votes took the seat from Byard Marshall who had 70 votes.

District number 5, Plympton, gave the highest number of votes, 210, to Lloyd Grant of Barton, Robert Morrissey received 150 votes and Ervin Marshall 89 giving the seat to Grant.

In District number nine, Weymouth where former councillors were Arthur Rice and Walter MacAlpine, six voted for two seats. Voters returned MacAlpine with 360 votes and Grant Sabine of Riverdale with 304. Other votes cast were 160 for Rice, 138 for Arnold Comeau, 120 for Bernard Manzer and 31 for Mrs. Judy Melanson.

Councillors returned to their seats by Tuesday's vote were Wilfred Swift, Westport; Eric VanTassel, Culloden District 7 and L.E.R. Winchester, Smith's Cove, District 3, Smith's Cove and Conway.

In District 6, Swift votes numbered 104 while his opponent, Mrs. Ricki Robicheau scored 78. Mr. Winchester with 209 retained his seat against his opponent's, Mrs. M.C. Gott's 189 votes. District number seven dealt out the winning number of 176 votes to Eric VanTassel to retain his seat. Other votes in the district went to Mrs. Joyce Hazel, 84; Arthur Johnson, 68 and Mrs. Olive Hazelton, 63.

Those who retained municipal seats by acclamation were Mrs. Helen MacNeill, Marshalltown; Parker Thurber, Freeport and Richard Daley, Digby Neck.

$328,023 In Property Damages Since January 1, 1976

Cst. D.J. Crouse of Digby Highway Patrol, R.C.M.P., has recently advised this newspaper that as a result of motor vehicle accidents in the Digby Detachment Area to date this year a total of $328,023 in property damage has been incurred. This figure is an approximate one and is taken from the motor vehicle accident reports filed at the Digby Office. In addition to this figure there are the minor accidents under $200.00 damage which do not have to be reported.

This figure can and should be reduced said Cst. Crouse. Approximately 60 percent of all motor vehicle accidents are caused by impaired drivers. The Breathalyzer readings of these impaired drivers varies, but, are quite often in the low range. This can be attributed to the fact that people who are drinking quite often do not realize when they are impaired. The best method to avoid being charged with driving while impaired is to avoid drinking when we are drinking, the Constable continued. More important is the fact that your chances of survival are improved up to 165 times if you are involved in an accident, when not impaired, Constable Crouse further advised.

To date, this year, 66 persons have been charged with impaired driving and refusing the breathalyzer. These people in addition to the embarrassment of having to appear in court, must pay a fine and lose their driving licence for a period of six months, and their insurance rates rise considerably. The members of Digby Highway Patrol, would like to assist the public in reducing these figures and would welcome the opportunity to discuss this matter further with any interested citizens in the area. The R.C.M.P. officer offered.

Letters To The Editor

50th Anniversary

THE PEOPLE HAVE SPOKEN

The people have spoken in our small town of Digby and in each of the districts of the Municipality of Digby. While too small a percentage of eligible voters (maybe less than twenty-five per cent in town) turned out for one of the most democratic processes of our government system on the municipal level, nevertheless, the people have spoken. The verdict is as is.

Not all our councillors have experience behind them to draw upon when weighty matters raise their persistent heads. However, with normal intelligence, common sense and diligence on the part of the newly elected, ere long these people get to learn the run of the works and soon make their own contributions.

It is up to all the councillors, whether returned to office or newly chosen, to work earnestly for the general good of the Town or the municipality where they reside. We could not ask for total agreement on any issue, but we can ask for harmony to be a basic goal in any decision-making by councillors. Coupled with genuine earnestness, Council then should attain some lofty heights. But let us not think that we, the voters, or those who for one reason or another did not mark a ballot, have completed our responsibility now that election day is over. We have an obligation to these people whom we have voted in by dropping a ballot or because we didn't get around to dropping a ballot. They need our encouragement, they need our suggestions, they need our support, they need our presence. They need constructive criticism too, but only criticism that is constructive.

Why not make a point of learning more about the problems which face the people elected to govern our communities. Why not attend some of the meetings and learn first-hand about the obstacles which so often hamper the best laid plans. Why take the information second-hand when you can get it straight from the beginning. Attend the meetings, not so much to criticize as to help.

Dear Madam Editor:

A person would think these days by listening to the news media and reading some papers that the young generation are going to the dogs as fast as they can go and that they are a bunch of young rebels that no one can tame. That is the impression we get seeing that only the negative is played up and the other side is left alone.

I would like to flip the coin and tell the other side, to your readers. Last Friday I spent the day at the Digby High School on behalf of "Royal Canadian Legion" who have promoted a competition this year for the students to write an essay or poem on what Remembrance day means to them. Prizes $25. first; $15. second and $10. third. I was asked by the legion to present the subject to the school, so on Monday, Charley Francis and myself visited the Principal who was not only agreeable to it but enthusiastic and set up a date during the week, which was phoned in to me Thursday that Friday was to be my day.

I had written an essay of what Remembrance Day means to me and presented it as a sample, with the caution that it would mean something different to them and its what it means to them that counts with us.

I arrived at 0845 hrs and was welcomed by the Vice-Principal, and turned over to a teacher who took care of the arrangements. I presented the subject seven times to class groups of approximately 100 each.

I was greatly impressed with the clockwork precision of each detail of the days program, with the excellent behaviour of the students, their attentiveness, the enthusiastic applause and their interest in the subject, and the fact some stayed behind, asked about the war, the legion, three boys wanted to do some work for the Legion.

I found all the teachers most friendly, talkative and helpful, and though very tired, and with a migraine, because as one boy said, "Mr. Dexter I believe you are a bit nervous", (I was) it was one of the most sensational days I ever spent. I now know many things I never knew before, especially that the school teachers and other staff really earn their money, and I also know there is hope left in this world that this generation will come through in flying colours.

There is one thing I didn't find, though I looked hard; THE GENERATION GAP. Signed Eugene A. Dexter Digby Branch No. 20 Royal Canadian Legion.

VanTassel's moved to Digby in the 1780 or 90's. Since that time the VanTassel families have grown up and left Digby; returning to the U.S.A. and spread out across Canada.

I have presently in my possession two books, one on the Romer and Van Tassel family of Tarrytown, the other the Van Tassel families from 1630 to 1974. In the latter there are several lost lines that could be connected if I could get the support of some of the older families of Digby via way of old bibles, birth records, deaths, etc. It would be greatly appreciated if anyone is interested in helping with this research and have information including birth dates, date of marriage, to whom married, their children and present whereabouts. At the same time I would like to say hello to the people of Digby where I have fond memories of and often think about and was born and raised.

Mrs. Tufts Reports On Tourist Bureau

CORNWALLIS - The first meeting of the fall, and post-tourist season, for the Annapolis Basin Tourist and Recreation Council was held last Wednesday, October 13, at the Ward Room, CFB Cornwallis.

Over 30 Digby and area businessmen and interested individuals were present to review this year's tourist season activities and discuss future plans to promote both recreation and tourism for Digby and Annapolis Counties.

Succeeding the adoption of the previous meeting's minutes it was announced that a membership drive, headed by Lantz Woolaver, newly appointed chairman of the Membership Committee, is now underway.

The campaign was highly endorsed by those present including Digby Pine's manager, Victor Bradshaw who stressed that "an active membership is essential to maintaining a strong council". Individual memberships are five dollars per year, company membership is ten dollars.

The council also endorsed the historic restoration project now being investigated by the Town of Annapolis Royal. It was emphasized that such a project would be beneficial to both the recreation and tourist aspects of the region.

Hodge Podge

If anyone, for a moment thinks there has been a change in the Continuing Education personnel around here, just don't let it worry you. John Doucet is still the regional representative even though our issue of September 30 called him John Comeau. Of course, no one could mistake John Doucet in that lovely picture. Now, that picture could make up for the error. That expected reprimand might not even come. Oh, well, we almost had a young man on his way to Austria and not Acadia University in one issue. Not our mistake either. There it was as plain as day. Guess we can all have those slips-of-the-pen.

+ The joy of living then. Of course, we really do not know what it is like living in Prince Edward Island now but we can't imagine in comparison with the rest of the world that it is quite the same as in 1946. Thirty years ago P.E.I. had no unemployment and very little poverty. The divorce court had never held a session and only one divorce had been granted in 60 years. In the years from 1937 to 1946 there was not a single case of assault on a wife, indecent assault, desertion of family nor neglect of children. There were no highwaymen, no gangsters, no commercial vice, no real crime problems and no penitentiary. Thirteen policemen served 90,000 people.

Dear Sir:

In the time it takes to say this sentence, twelve children will be born in developing countries. Two will die within the year. Of the surviving ten, five will never set foot in a classroom and only two will complete the elementary grades.

This tragic situation may be very difficult for Canadians to visualize, but it is nonetheless a reality. And the Canadian public can do something to help remedy it by supporting the work of the United Nations Children's Fund. This is the time of year, as Hallowe'en draws near, that UNICEF Nova Scotia seeks support from the public-- children, students, housewives, businessmen and women.

When that friendly "Trick or Treater" knocks on your door on Hallowe'en night, clutching his orange and white UNICEF collection box, please contribute. The need is urgent. Thank you sincerely.

Scallop Day

Scallop Day 1976 was termed an "unqualified success" and the financial report revealed that $1,436 had been realized. No date for Scallop Day 1977 has yet been scheduled. All but $250 was transferred from the Scallop Day Fund to the General Fund by secretary-treasurer, Gary MacKenzie. The possibility of Day Trip

Program was discussed. Such a program, which could be instigated next year, would involve a series of day excursions for tourists by a synchronized bus tour which would include a number of motels, hotels, and trailer parks, as opposed to operating out of only one establishment.

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Golden years and golden memories belong to us this day, The years were shining gems because we were together, The memories are like scented flowers Shedding petals o'er our way, Their beauty tinting each and everyday. Then, as we walked the golden miles together We had so much love And shared so much of happiness That it seems like yesterday When I made you mine. It is here we made our home,

Where children came to bless To rise up and call us beloved parents Family and their friends. So to day, we look with shining eyes At a dream fulfilled, With hands entwined, we smile, Our hearts have known golden years.

Prior to the reception, Mrs. Evelyn Longmire, sister of Mr. Kaye entertained at a family luncheon party at her home in Hillsburn. Mr. and Mrs. Kaye were the honoured guests at this family celebration which was attended by twenty family members.

On Monday night, Sept. 20th the Eastern Star members, presented Mrs. Kaye with a lovely cake and a lead crystal vase in honor of her fiftieth wedding anniversary.

Following the ceremony everyone gathered at the groom's parents' home where his aunt, mother, and friends had spent many long hours preparing delicious treats. The living room was decorated with bows, bells, and streamers of pink and white to match the bridal table, which was centered by a two-tiered groom's cake and a three-tiered bride's cake. The bride's cake was made by Mrs. Reta Comeau, mother of the best man, and the groom's cake was made by Marion Potter of Clementsport.

The toast to the bride was made by the best man and responded to by the groom who added a special toast to his father, and to all who made their marriage start off with so many good wishes.

The happy couple received lovely gifts. They honeymooned at the Grand Hotel in Yarmouth and were chauffeured there royally in a beautifully decorated car driven by the best man, with a motorcycle escort in front. The car and motorcycle were decorated by the usher, best man, and sisters of the bride and groom. The bride and groom were greeted at the door by the hotel manager and escorted to their suite.

Welcome Pastor Rev. Dale Swartz

The annual Harvest Festival and Thanksgiving service of the Digby Church of God was held Sunday evening, October 10, followed by a fellowship hour in honor of their new pastor and his wife, Pastor and Mrs. Dale Swartz. The church was appropriately decorated with fall leaves for the occasion. Produce from the various members' gardens, along with other food items, were brought in appreciation of God's goodness, and were presented to the pastor during service by Mr. Charles Cook on behalf of the church.

Pastor and Mrs. Swartz arrived in Digby on October 4, to become the first permanent pastor of the church of God since the death of Pastor Raymond Brown in November 1974. During the nearly two years since Pastor Brown's death, the church has been served by interim pastors. Dennis Brown, son of the late Pastor Brown, served the church for six weeks before returning to college. Pastor and Mrs. Francis Burnett of Oregon, Illinois spent the year 1975 with the Digby church; followed by short terms of Pastor and Mrs. John Carr, Macomb, Illinois; Pastor V.E. Kirkpatrick, Oregon, Illinois; Pastor and Mrs. John Harp, Fonthill, Ont.; and Bro. Ralph Childs, Dayton, Ohio. Other guest ministers filled in for one or two Sundays, including a former pastor, John Denchfield, who had spent 9 years in Digby prior to the arrival of the Browns.

Pastor and Mrs. Dale Swartz moved to Digby from E. Peoria, Illinois, where Pastor Swartz served the East Peoria Community Church of God for four years. Pastor Swartz is a graduate of Oregon Bible College and spent one year in Tempe, Arizona, where he attended Arizona State University during a one year internship program as part of his training. After being a licensed minister of the Church of God for five years, Pastor Swartz recently became an Ordained Minister of the Church of God.

Pastor Dale comes from a sound Church of God family and was raised in North Olmsted, Ohio near Cleveland. His wife Cheryl, is the daughter of a Church of God minister and is from Burke, Virginia, just outside of Washington D.C.

Learn Of Senior Citizen Homes

Wednesday, October 6th the Women's Missionary Society of the Clementsport United Baptist Church, at Clementsport, met at the home of Mrs. Franklin Thompson with six members present.

The meeting opened with prayer and a Poem "For Blessings such as These" by the President, Mrs. Inez Barteaux. The Spiritual Life message was given by Mrs. Vergie Fountain, entitled "This Is God In Nature". The Devotional was presented by Mrs. Sable MacNitch, reading from Psalm 95, followed with Prayer. Plans were made for the annual Baptist Women's Day of Prayer in November. The lesson was given by the Vice-President, Mrs. Vergie Fountain. She chose as her topic, Senior Citizens in the different homes, at Beulah Garden Homes in Vancouver, Brandon, and Toronto, and how Baptist of the Atlantic Provinces serve Senior Citizens. The Baptist contribution to the community is in the operation of the homes, through a Board elected by the churches. It's members serve with devotion and personal care. A Baptist Minister is pastor to all who need his ministry. The quality of life in Beulah Homes is enriched by the tone set in the Christian Fellowship. Services are attended by people of every denomination and the congregation is organized, but as a Christian Fellowship. Beulah Garden is a beautiful place, with pleasant homes in a christian atmosphere. Each member was asked to write to some one they knew who was a shut-in or a Senior Citizen. A time of fellowship followed during which refreshments were served by Mrs. Franklin Thompson.

Wedding Bells

COTTREAU-ROBINSON

Holy Trinity Church on William Street in Yarmouth was the scene of a beautiful double-ring ceremony August 28, 1976 at 4pm as Wendy Marie Robinson, a daughter of Wendell and Anne Robinson of Smith's Cove and Dartmouth, became the lovely bride of George Richard Cottreau, Jr., eldest son of George and Dorothy Cottreau of Yarmouth.

The bride entered the church, which was tastefully decorated with beautiful fall flowers, to the strains of the wedding march on the arm of the groom's father; and was given in marriage by her mother. Her full length gown of sheer white silk organza over white nylon taffeta was empire-waist styled, with lace insert in the V-neckline and scalloped lace on the cuffs of her long slimline sleeves and hemline, matched her full length cape with train which was completely outlined in the scalloped lace. Her gown was made by the groom's aunt, Margaret Henderson of Yarmouth. The bride's bouquet was of the colonial style with white carnations dipped in blue and pink. She wore white shoes and gloves to complete her ensemble. She looked radiantly divine as she walked down the aisle to become Mrs. George Cottreau, Jr. The ceremony was performed by Reverend McAllister Scott Ellis.

She was attended by Miss Sherry Robinson, maid-of-honor and sister of the bride, Miss Peggy Robinson, bridesmaid and also sister of the bride, dressed in identical gowns of lustrous polyester knit with V-neck accented by white carnations dipped in blue. The V-neck melted into a set-in front waistband that tied in the back and extended to a soft, draped skirt with dramatic cape-style ruffled sleeves. They wore white gloves and shoes, and carried identical colonial bouquets of white and blue dipped carnations.

Misses Cindy and Mary Robinson, also sisters of the bride were her junior bridesmaids, dressed in identical gowns of pink swiss-dotted polyester sleeves, collars, and mock bolero, with pink polyester warp knit empire style gown with ruffled hemline. The long sleeves had flared cuffs trimmed in scalloped lace. They wore white gloves and shoes and had white carnations dipped in pink at their necklines. They both carried bouquets of gold marigolds, pink and rose dahlias with deep pink, dried daisies for accent: the flowers came from the garden of a dear friend of the bride, Mrs. Vera Langman of Smith's Cove.

Robert Comeau of Digby and Acadia University, fiance of the maid-of-honor, was best man; and Angus Bragg of East Waldec and Acadia University was the usher.

The groom was dressed in uniform-he is stationed aboard the HMS Margaree as a member of the Canadian Armed Forces.

For her daughter's wedding, the mother of the bride chose a floorlength gown of apricot polyester with collar and full-length pleated insert of apricot and white polka-dot jersey. Her corsage was of white carnations dipped in apricot coloring. She wore white shoes and gloves.

The groom's mother chose a full-length gown of the empire-waist style with full sleeves of light blue silk polyester. Her corsage was of white carnations.

The groom's grandmother, Mrs. Clara Coswan of Dawson Creek, B.C., wore printed-pink polyester knit; and his great-grandmother

Digby Loses To Lockeport

The Junior Girls Basketball team travelled to Lockeport this past Saturday. The team quickly fell behind in the score as the Digby team lacked the drive and hustle displayed two weeks earlier. By the half the score was 20-10 for Lockeport. In the second half Digby regained some of the hustle they had formally shown. The final score was 32-29 for Lockeport.

Dianne Young scored 22 of Lockeports 32 points while Karen Hattie scored 13 for Digby. Annette Peterson pulled in 10 rebounds for Lockeport while Darlene Haight pulled in for Digby. Pam Griffiths and Joanne Wilson each had 4 assists.

Dialogue On Drinking

Hon. William Gillis, acting Minister of Public Health, said today that the Province of Nova Scotia is pleased to participate with Health and Welfare Canada in the dialogue on drinking program announced yesterday by Hon. Marc Lalonde, Minister of National Health and Welfare.

Dr. Gillis is referring to Mr. Lalonde's comments regarding alcohol misuse as being a part of a life style, noted that in Nova Scotia the Department of Public Health through the commission on drug dependency was committing much of its resources to a similar program focusing on positive human growth and development through a human resources program.

The Minister stressed that through the commission on drug dependency program the citizens of the province were not only being made aware of the dangers of a life style which included the misuse of chemical substances as well as alcohol, but were also being offered the opportunity to participate in citizen advisory committees and programs of personal growth and development.

Dr. Gillis said that he hoped that all citizens of Nova Scotia would respond to the dialogue on drinking program by communicating with the commission on drug dependency and with Health and Welfare Canada. He noted that all correspondence received by the commission would be forwarded to Health and Welfare Canada in Ottawa.

Local and regional committees associated with the commission on drug dependency would be approaching their fellow citizens within their own communities to make them aware of the problems associated with the misuse of alcohol and with the alternatives available for creating a positive and healthy life style. Dr. Gillis said.

"Dialogue on drinking" is but a beginning of a concerted longterm shared effort on the part of all governments to help Canadians assume a greater responsibility for their good health and future, he added and said that he hoped Nova Scotians would participate in supporting the program in the enthusiastic manner for which Nova Scotians are known.

Hallowe'en

By Hannah Dale.

It's that time of the year again, when we can expect magic witches, ugly goblins and frightening ghosts to appear at our front door. Some of these creatures can be quite friendly and really nice if you treat them kindly.

What they really come for, is for popcorn, apples, candy and such like. So have a good supply on hand ready for them. Don't try to get too friendly though. They might turn on you, cast a bad spell, break your windows, or do some other dreadful thing. Usually a treat will satisfy them. They don't want to tell you what their name is either, so just go easy with them.

It may not be wise for me to be telling this, but we have a ghost who stays in the loft up over the shed. He is quite harmless and rarely gives us any trouble. It's only on Hallowe'en that he puts in an appearance. Just when its beginning to get dark, we find that he is outside, up on the roof of the house, swaying and dancing in the breeze. He is looking for the children - oops I mean witches goblins and more ghosts. He gives everyone a friendly smile and especially is pleased to see another ghost come along. He waves gaily, as though he had seen him in some far distant dusty past.

Sometime during the night he returns to loft, and stays there, minding his own business, until next Hallowe'en.

Students Informed On Engineering

The Association of Professional Engineers of Nova Scotia is presently organizing a speakers' bureau which will consist of a group of volunteer engineers from various fields of the engineering profession.

The Student Affairs Committee of the Association will have a group of speakers who will be available to speak to high school students and undergraduate students on the various aspects of the profession.

These short presentations will be given with emphasis on information and informality followed by a question and answer period as it is felt the student will respond with questions more freely if presentations are kept informal.

Presentations to the high school students would mainly outline the profession in general outlining opportunities available in the many fields of engineering. Those given to the university students would be more specific, dealing with technical matters, engineering management, or various aspects of professional life.

Personal appearances by representatives of a body generally has more impact and creates a better impression of an Association and has also proven to be more informative than the printed brochure.

Interested groups or student bodies should contact Stanley E. Gardiner, P. Eng. of the Students Affairs Committee through the provincial office of the Association of Professional Engineers of Nova Scotia, P.O. Box 129, Halifax.

To Speak On Transcendental Meditation

"Transcendental Meditation could improve the quality of life of every Nova Scotian" says Dr. Noah Clinch.

Dr. Clinch, who has been practicing TM himself for 6 years, is one of 115,000 Canadians, including 2,000 Nova Scotians, who endorse the TM program from their own personal experience.

"Stress is a major problem in modern life. 60 to 80 percent of us will die of stress diseases."

"Scientific research has verified that with 15-20 minutes of this simple, natural, meditation technique morning and evening, the system is freed of deep rooted stresses that prevent us from enjoying the fullest value of life."

"With regular meditation, however, students find that they get better grades and unfold their full mental potential, mothers at home are more patient and loving, retired people enjoy a fresh appreciation for life, business men make more money without worries and anxieties, family relationships deepen and become more rewarding."

"Whatever is the area in life, TM expands the awareness, sharpens mental abilities, and improves the health. Naturally life becomes more enjoyable and productive in every way."

Dr. Clinch emphasizes that TM is not a religion or any life style.

"TM is practiced successfully by religious as well as non-religious people. It is a technique-something we do. We add it on to our lives and whatever we are already doing, we can do better and enjoy it more."

Dr. Clinch received his Ph.D. in Biophysics and Physiology at the University College, London, England.

He was a scholarship student of Nobel Prize winner, A.V. Hill.

For the past 10 years, Dr. Clinch has been Associate Professor of Physiology at the Faculty of Medicine at the University of Alberta and University of Manitoba.

Where he conducted research and published extensively on muscle physiology.

Dr. Clinch has been residing at Parkers' Cove for the past year. He was introduced to TM through his wife, Jeanette, who is now a full time TM teacher.

The public talk will be given on Monday October 25, 7:30 p.m., Room 113 Digby High School.

Tourist Bureau

Council was informed on the operation of the Digby Town Tourist Bureau by Adie Tufts. She noted that approximately 4,000 people registered at the bureau this season, and she estimated that about that number again used the facilities but did not sign the register.

She felt that the bureau was not open for sufficient hours, and that it both opened too late during the day, and closed too early. This season the bureau was open from noon to six P.M. due to a ruling by the Digby Town Council, which oversees the operation, the bureau also did not remain open sufficient weeks to qualify for a Department of Tourism grant to subsidize the operation.

It was pointed out by ABTRC President Penny Gott that the town purchased the property for one dollar with the intention of stimulating tourism and that "since the municipality benefits at least as much from its presence as the town of Digby, a Joint Tourism Committee should be set up" to oversee the operation and off-set the expenses.

It was also announced that a number of ABTRC members will be attending a three day seminar in Halifax, November 3-5, sponsored by the Department of Tourism. Local motel, hotel, and gift shop operators have been requested to attend the workshop which is aimed at stimulating the American Tourist Trade in Nova Scotia.

The next general meeting of the Council has been scheduled for November 10, 8 P.M., at the Ward Room, CFB Cornwallis.

A fellowship supper was held at the Bethel Baptist Church at Ashmore on Ever since the Pony Express Ride people have been asking about the spotted horse ridden by our local riders.

The horses are Appaloosas named from the Palouse River Valley in what was once Washington Territory in the early days.

They go back much farther than that, to the drawings on caves made 180,000 years before Christ. They drew the Egyptian chariots, were ridden by the Greeks, the Turks, and painted on vases by artists of the earliest Chinese dynasties. They were used in Biblical times and were finally brought to the new world by the Spaniards who came in search of gold.

Some were traded or stolen by the Shoshone Indians who in turn traded them to the Nez Perce who at that time lived in the Palouse River Valley. The Nez Perce used selective breeding, culling out the poor mares and trading them to other tribes, gelding the poor stallions and breeding only the best until they had the most superior horses on the continent. It was during the Indian Wars that the American Cavalry found themselves quite literally driven into the dust by the superiority of the horses ridden by the Nez Perce. They decided the only way they could win was to kill off the horses which they did in one of the most inhumane massacres of all time.

Those that escaped were sold at auction and picked up by cavalrymen who had good reason to realize their worth.

Over the years they dwindled until there were only a handful. In 1937 one man, Claude Thompson of Oregon, set out to save the Appaloosa.

By careful breeding these lovely horses became more plentiful and the Foundation Book was opened in 1950 recognizing the Appaloosa as a breed of horse.

Many famous people rode Appaloosas. Buffalo Bill owned one, Will Rogers and Tom Mix, the silent screen idol, both rode Appaloosas. Today there are countless breeders in the United States

Saturday evening, with a good attendance. It was followed by a sing-song.

Mrs. Lou Shafstal and son, Greigg, of California are visiting with her sisters and brothers at the home of Mrs. Mel Barr and Mr. Barr and father, Mr. Stephen Ford.

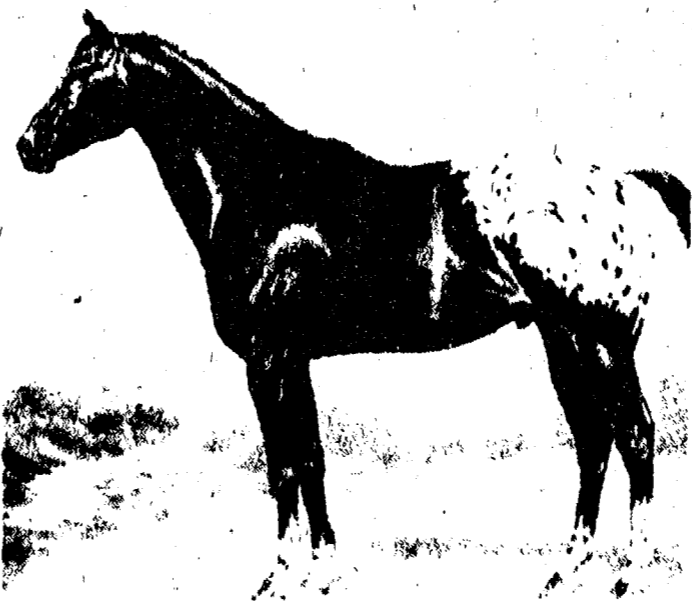

Michael Cosman of Halifax spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Cosman.

Drew Clements son of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Clements, returned to Truro after spending the summer with his grandmother, Mrs. Annie Langford.

Arthur Rice who is the chairman, attended the Atlantic Region Dealer Advisory Board of Imperial Oil held at St. John's, Newfoundland, this week.

Out of town guests who attended the Outhouse McCoullough wedding on Saturday evening were as follows: Mr. John McDonald and daughter Laurie; Mrs. Minnie Langille, Larry Armstrong, Paul Stevenson, Laura Young and Shelia Craigg of Charlottetown, P.E.I.; Mrs. Herb Greene and Canada. Burt Reynolds, on his ranch in Jupiter, Florida, raises racing Appaloosas. James Brolin, Dr. Kiley on the Marcus Welby Show, breeds them. Locally we have breeders of the spotted horse. Roy Robinson of the Double R Ranch in Avleford has shown many of his colts by High Tahitian locally, in the U.S. and in Ontario. Royal and Theta Woodworth of Granville Beach raise Appaloosas.

You will find Appaloosas on the race track, jumping in the show ring, in Pleasure, Stock, Trail and Reining classes as well as being ridden in the fields by children.

They are a very versatile horse. Each breed has its admirers but few breeders have as many surprises as does the Appaloosa breeder and not always happy surprises. You can breed a beautifully marked mare to an equally beautiful stallion and come up with a solid colt. But don't despair, colts can acquire colour up to five years later.

Appaloosas come in all patterns and coloured markings. Solid blacks, browns, whites and greys can have spots, patches blending into each other or what is called a solid blanket of a second colour covering the hips. An all white horse may have only a few dark hairs speckled over him or a brown horse may have pure white hips.

All Appaloosas have one thing in common, the white around the eye like a human, called the sclera and the

THE MISSIONS

The Bible study was conducted by Mrs. Marilyn Lewis. The beginning of a new series "The New Me" - "The Woman I Am". "As A Woman I Have Many Needs and Who Can Meet These Needs". The scripture was mainly taken from Psalms and Proverbs also Jeremiah.

Refreshments were served by the Committee in Charge. A guest was Mrs. Charles McNeil of Tiverton.

mottled skin around the eyes, nose and mouth called parti-colour. Many Appaloosas have what is known as a rat tail, being very thin and sparse. They all have striped hoofs.

Appaloosas have good dispositions as a rule and are easily handled. There are exceptions to this of course as there are to any breed. Our three local riders had very different horses. Donna Milne rode Calico Ice Cap, a small dainty horse, white with brown markings and tiny white tips on his ears.

This horse deserves a line or two. His former owners couldn't do a thing with him, he threw everyone who tried to ride him. Donna bought him and trained or re-trained him. This past week at the Atlantic Winter Fair, Donna placed third in a Pleasure Class with some of the Maritimes best riders and horses.

In a very difficult Trail Class she came fifth. Beth Woodworth rode Adam Fourmile. Despite the name, Adam is a lovely big mare with brown and white blended all over her. She has excellent manners and was an Iowa State Champion. Beth has only had Adam a short time. Theta Woodworth rode Patchy Fourmile III known as Charlie around the stables. Registered Appaloosas often carry the name of the line from which they are descended.

Charlie is a tall rangy horse, all white and completely covered with black spots. He is known as a leopard Appaloosa. Charlie has won many ribbons and trophies for Appy Valley Farm. The Woodworths have two lovely stallions. He's a Joker Too is black and white and has sired many lovely colts. Private Sparks is owned jointly by the Woodworths and the Branches of Bathurst N.B. Sparkie is a picture book stallion with a disposition any horseman might well envy. His colts will be coming along soon.

Appaloosas are an interesting breed, they can change from season to season or year to year so that your horse may look entirely different in a year, as spots appear or colours fade and blend.

When next you see a spotted horse, with mottled skin around the mouth and nose and white in his eyes and a tail that looks as if the rats had chewed it remember you are looking at one of the world's oldest breed of horses - the Appaloosa.

U.C.W. Honors Mrs. Stevens

Unit 1 of Grace United Church Women met in the lower lounge of Hill Side Apartments on Tuesday evening, October 12th, as guests of Mrs. Kenneth Beckwith and Mrs. Royd Ellis, the occasion being the annual birthday party of the Unit.

There were fifteen members present.

A birthday calendar constituted the first number on the program. Readings by Helen Steven Rice were presented by members. They related to each month of the year and were relevant to every season.

A message composed by Mrs. William Clayton and read by Mrs. Ronald Stevens prefaced the readings. Mrs. Clayton closed the birthday calendar with prayer.

Mrs. Boyd Ellis addressed Mrs. Ronald Stevens, using an original poem which stressed appreciation of the valuable contributions of Mrs. Stevens to the work of Grace United Church as a whole and to Unit 1 in particular, during the past six years.

Mrs. Bryson Denton, leader of the group, on behalf of Unit 1, presented a photograph to Mrs. Stevens. The gift, a picture in natural color, of the Digby water front, is the work of Bryson Denton.

Mrs. Stevens expressed appreciation and urged the members to go forward with their excellent program so ably led by Mrs. Bryson Denton.

Games were enjoyed and festivities of the evening concluded with refreshments, which included a delicious birthday cake made by Mrs. Frank Hand-spiker and decorated by Mrs. Bryson Denton. The cake was cut by Mrs. Ronald Stevens.

Everyone declared the evening a pleasant event but regret was voiced by those present that Mrs. Stevens will no longer be in Digby. Rev. Ronald Stevens and Mrs. Stevens leave on Nov. 1st to take up residence in Shediac, N.B., where Mr. Stevens will become pastor of the United Church of Canada in that town.

Good wishes of all follow this worthy couple who have indeed gone about doing good.

Following is the poem composed by Mrs. Ellis and read on behalf of the Unit to Mrs. Stevens:-

RAE

This evening we have words to say To one we've learned to treasure, We know the help you've given us Was in unstinted measure. One could not mention all the things Which you have given freely. Your busy hands have baked and sewed, We thank you most sincerely.

We could not ever have produced Results which we obtained Had you not helped and courage given High standards you maintained.

Our group has only praise to give To you so faithful ever, Your work and your encouragement We always shall remember. As you go on to other friends We know you will be blessed. And so farewell dear friend of ours May you know this world's best. We wish for you, love, joy and peace For you have passed each test

These are the hopes of Unit 1 Which you have served with zest.

Mary Ellis.

Church Celebrates 100th Anniversary

Following a week of special services with pastor Rev. John Kaulback and guest speaker Harold Duff of Thomaston, Maine, Sunday, October 10, was a red letter day in the history of the Little River, Digby County, United Baptist Church, when the 100th anniversary was celebrated.

The Annual Roll Call service was held in the afternoon, with the church clerk, Mrs. Gregory Denton calling the roll.

Following this a Fellowship Supper was served in the vestry by the church ladies. The highlight of this part of the celebration was a beautifully decorated anniversary cake made by Mrs. Edgar Frost and cut by Mrs. Stella Trask, Yarmouth, formerly of Little River, who was the oldest member present. Letters of congratulations were read by Rev. Mr. Kaulback.

At the evening service the history of the church, compiled and written by herself, was read by Mrs. Evelyn Denton, Halifax, widow of the late Rev. Harvey L. Denton, a native of Little River.

At one of the weekly services, Rev. C. L. Chute, Tiverton, a former pastor, was present and spoke, fondly reminiscing of his service and experiences during the thirteen years of his ministry on the field.

Special music at all services was provided by the Senior and Junior Choirs under the leadership of organists, Mrs. Bailey Gidney and Assistant, Mrs. Edgar Trask.

The church was tastefully decorated with fruits of the harvest. The church received a great blessing and spiritual uplift during this week of services.

Police Act Proclaimed

The province's new Police Act went into effect today and according to Attorney General Leonard L. Pace, "the people of Nova Scotia, particularly in municipalities having their own police forces, can look forward to a gradual improvement in the quality, effectiveness and efficiency of police forces."

The Police Act establishes the Nova Scotia Police Commission and deals with police forces in Nova Scotia.

Mr. Pace said the Police Commission is concerned with the prevention of crime and the preservation of peace and good order and the promotion of efficiency of police services in the Province.

The Commission's duties can be divided into two distinct divisions. The first is the upgrading of municipal police services in the Province, the co-ordination of municipal police forces, and the promotion of a better mutual understanding between the public and the police.

The second involves the hearings of appeals of members of police forces who have grievances, appeals of members of the public who have complaints against the police which have not been dealt with to their satisfaction, and inquiries relating to police services.

The commission is made up of a full time Chairman, Harry Porter and two part-time members, G.J. Mc-Connell and Colin Chisholm. The commission also has a full time executive director A.D. Wyatt, an inspector of the Halifax Police Department seconded for these duties.

Mr. Pace said the Police Act also deals with the Nova Scotia provincial police, municipal police forces and the appointment of special constables and by-law enforcement officers. For the foreseeable future provincial policing services for Nova Scotia will be provided by contract with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Three cities and 23 towns in the province provide their own municipal police forces, and the attorney general said the act is of particular concern to them. Each of them is required to appoint a board of police commissioners which will be responsible within the municipality for the administrative direction, organization and policy required to maintain an efficient and adequate police force. The attorney general will also appoint one member to each of these boards.

Mr. Pace also announced that regulations supplementing the Police Act will become effective with the proclamation of the act. These regulations establish a code of discipline for municipal police forces, an internal discipline procedure and a procedure for dealing with complaints by the public against members of police forces and about police services.

Regarding the code of discipline and the internal discipline procedure, each municipality with its own police force has an option. These matters can be dealt with by the regulations or, if it chooses to do so, a municipality can establish its own code of discipline and internal discipline procedure by by-laws.

In the matter of complaints, the attorney general outlined the five objectives of the procedure established by the Regulations. The first is that all citizen complaints against the police would be dealt with promptly, fairly, and in a uniform manner.

The second is that opportunities should be provided for citizens and constables to resolve differences amongst themselves without intervention from higher authorities.

The third is that there would be independent reviews of all complaints that cannot be informally resolved.

The fourth is that police officers must maintain a high standard of service to the public and be held accountable for any action which would be detrimental to the public or the police service.

The fifth and last objective is that police officers charged with a breach of internal discipline receive a fair hearing.

Mr. Pace said the details of the complaints procedure would be the subject of a separate announcement. The announcement in turn would be reproduced in pamphlet form and distributed to all concerned.

The Attorney General said the proclamation of the Police Act will be of considerable assistance in improving better selection procedures for recruiting police officers, improved training for recruits and serving officers, and a central authority, the Nova Scotia Police Commission, which will develop an ability to provide the best advice and assistance that is obtainable in Canada and elsewhere for municipal police forces.

The Attorney General explained that perhaps the most important matter which is established by the Police Act and its regulations is a uniform, comprehensive and fair way of dealing with public complaints against the police. This procedure will not only be fair to the citizen but also to the police officer involved. The intent being to put into effect the motto, "The public are the police and the police are the Public".

Special Meeting At Sunset Rebekah Lodge

"Compare yourselves to that famous sparrow", Rebekah lodge members were told recently, by guest speaker Sister Edna Cameron. The sparrow, on being laughed at for lying in the middle of the road with his poor spindly legs in the air, replied that the sky was going to fall. At this, his tormentor laughed even harder, asking if the sparrow thought his puny efforts would help. To this the dauntless sparrow replied "One does what one can!"

Mrs. Cameron Warden of the Rebekah Assembly, asked the lodge members to take this attitude in their charitable work, as they face a new year of challenges. The special motto for this year is "weary not in well doing", and Mrs. Cameron stressed perseverance in support of such special work as visual research and mobile units in Nova Scotia for testing children's eyes. She also stressed attracting younger people to Rebekah and following this, to listen to them, and give them responsibility and challenge.

Sunset Lodge received a compliment from the guest for their efforts in reaching out to the community in the past year, and wished a successful year to the new officers. In the financial report for the last six months, read by Sister Margaret Glavin, an impressive amount was shown to have been contributed to various charitable works. Thanks are also due to the people of Westport for their support of Rebekah projects.

New officers were installed by Westport's own Sister Norma Morehouse, who is District Deputy President, this year. Assisted by her Deputy Marshall Sister Inez Moore, and her other officers, Sister Norma installed the following: Diane Titus - Noble Grand, Mary Graham - Vice Grand, Carol Welch - Rec. Secretary, and Margaret Glavin - Fin. Secretary. Sister Norma herself will be treasurer. As the new Noble Grand, Sister Diane Titus, took over her duties, she appointed the remainder of her officers and had gifts of appreciation presented to Sisters Norma Morehouse and Edna Cameron.

Sister Cameron also awarded certificates to three members who qualified in unwritten work of the Lodge - Sisters Diane Titus, Mary Graham and Carol Welch.

Following Mrs. Cameron's encouraging talk, all the members, thanks to the excellent efforts of the refreshment committee, were treated to a salad supper, and returned home satisfied if a little uncomfortable from over-partaking.

Library At Sandy Cove 40 Years Old

The Eldridge Memorial Library, Sandy Cove, has just ended its 40th season. It opened on May 6th, 1936, as the SANDY COVE PUBLIC LIBRARY, largely as the result of the efforts of Miss Emily Taylor, a librarian and a summer visitor from Pennsylvania for many years. Later the name was changed to honor Mrs. Amasa Eldridge.

A public meeting was held in the library on August 24th, 1976, when a gift from Mr. and Mrs. Wyman Bristol, of Cape May, N.J., was received. The Bristols occupied their Mount Shubel cottage in Sandy Cove every summer for nearly 25 years.

Mr. Bristol was a photographer of note, and they donated to the Library about 600 slides, and two albums of post-cards and pictures, taken between 1940 and 1960. They represent a pictorial record of Sandy Cove, its surroundings, and flora and fauna, the weir fishing and fishermen, the local families and their children, and other interesting events, which will be invaluable in years to come.

It is hoped that a Slide Show can be given next summer as a means of raising money for the Library whose sole support depends on voluntary contributions.

The South Western Nova Progressive Conservative Association has announced that JACK HORNER, M.P. (CROWFOOT) will be guest speaker at a P.C. Rally to be held in Digby on Oct. 21 in the Legion Hall, Digby.

Mr. Horner has been a P.C. member of Parliament for over 17 years and is one of the most outspoken members in Parliament.

During those 17 years, he has been Chairman of the Commons Transportation Committee and has served on various committees, such as the House of Commons Committees on Agriculture, Banking and Finance and Defence. He has also served with Mr. Stanfield's Shadow Cabinet in the positions of critic on Agriculture, Transportation and the Canadian Wheat Board.

Mr. Horner is presently Transportation critic in Mr. Clark's caucus. His most recent effort was put forward in the House of Commons as a retentionist for capital punishment.

In February, Mr. Horner offered as a leadership candidate at the P.C. Leadership Convention. Although he was not successful, Mr. Horner offered a good 4th place showing. It is generally agreed by many in the party that Mr.

Horner will hold a notable post in the Conservative Party gains power in the next Federal Election.

In private life, Mr. Horner and his family own and operate a large ranch in Alberta. It is interesting for Nova Scotians to note that the name of Mr. Horner's constituency when he first ran for office was "Acadia". He was only 30 years old when he first became a Member of Parliament.

Homemaker's Corner

BY SUSAN HORNE

HOME ECONOMIST
DEPT. OF AGRICULTURE & MARKETING
YOUR FOOD CHECK BOOK

Are you concerned about how much you are spending each week on groceries, but have never kept track of the amounts. Well, the Home Economics Division has developed a new publication to help you do just that.

This Food Check Book has been designed with you in mind. Use it weekly and it will work for you.

It will fit in your purse or pocket, it is small enough to hold in your hand at the store, and is complete with buying tips and cost per serving information.

Regularly used, it will make it easier for you to plan your weekly shopping lists so that you will buy only what you need for the best economy and nutrition.

The book is broken down into four sections for convenience. Section I - includes Canada's Food Guide. And the opposite page is listed serving suggestions for each of the food groups.

For example in the milk group 8 oz. of cottage cheese or yogurt, or 1 ounce of cheddar cheese, or 2 ounces of process cheese can be used in place of 1 cup of milk. Section II - includes weekly shopping lists which are set up to include the Food Prices Review Board recommendations of how your food dollar should be spent for a nutritious diet.

24 per cent of one dollar on meat
29 per cent on fruits and vegetables
15 per cent on breads and cereals
14 per cent on milk and dairy
7 per cent on fats
11 per cent on other which includes staples (such as flour, molasses, etc.)
Section III - includes buying tips on each of the five food groups.

Buying tips include such information as:
Buy in season. Fresh products have the best prices and quality in peak season. The season starts early with fresh fruit; rhubarb is first, followed by strawberries, sweet cherries, raspberries, black berries, and apricots. Later summer fruits include blueberries, peaches, plums, cantaloupe, pears, grapes and apples.

Prices of fresh, frozen and canned vegetables vary in price throughout the year. Compare the costs of these various forms to see which is more economical.

There are two main types of cereals available on the market, whole grain cereals and refined. Whole grain cereals contain the entire kernel of grain. They are an excellent source of starch and vegetable protein. Whole grain cereals contain significant amounts of thiamine, riboflavin, niacin and some iron. Refined cereals are highly processed. They contain the "indosperm" of the kernel. The "germ" area has been removed during processing. The germ area contains the B Vitamins. Some of these cereals have vitamins replaced that were removed during milling. Check the labels to see if the cereals are fortified.

Milk is available in many forms on the market. Compare cost per serving to see which is more economical.

Buy meat according to cost per serving, not cost per pound. Meat with an excess amount of bone, fat, gristle can be expensive because this is all inedible, yet is included in the price.

Section IV - includes cost per serving information. In order to determine exactly what the food is costing you. You must consider cost per serving rather than cost per pound. This is a simple formula to try on some of your food items.

Inside the covers are pockets to keep your grocery slips.

Used regularly, this booklet can be an effective tool in controlling your food spending, and maintaining a nutritious diet.

If you would like a copy of "Your Food Check Book" send $1.00 to me, Susan Horne, Home Economist, N.S., Dept. of Agriculture and Marketing, Research Station, Kentville, N.S. and I will forward a copy to you.

Celebrates 50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. George Wagner of Weymouth celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Wednesday, October 6th 1976, held at the basement of the Weymouth Church of Christ.

Mr. and Mrs. Wagner were married October 6, 1926 at the home of the bride's parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. George Hankinson, which was beautifully decorated by her aunt, the late Mrs. Fred Hankinson.

Rev. A.G. Pentz of the Weymouth United Church officiated at the ceremony.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Clara Johnson, and the best man was Scot Hankinson, brother of the bride. The ring bearer was Ken Hankinson, brother

Among those attending the anniversary celebration from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hankinson of Middleton; Mr. and Mrs. David Armstrong, Granville Beach; Mrs. Esther Hickson, and Mrs. France Manning of Watertown, Mass.

At the celebration the room was beautifully decorated and a three tier wedding cake with an ornamant of 50 topped the festive cake centered the table. Artt Rice, son-in-law, was master of ceremonies and gave the toast, congratulating them and

Laubach Literacy Workshop

Sponsored by the Continuing Education program of the Nova Scotia Department of Education and by the Digby Mental Health Association, a Laubach Literacy Workshop will be held at Hope Fellowship Centre at Conway on Friday, October 22 (7 p.m. to 10 p.m.) and Saturday, October 23 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Essentially Laubach is a method of teaching illiterates to read through a course especially designed by Dr. Frank Laubach, a missionary, for this purpose.

The course is of ten hours duration, and volunteers completing it instruct an adult on a one-to-one basis, one or two hours a week. Statistics indicate that there are between 30,000 -40,000 functional illiterates in Nova Scotia and 4,000 to 6,000 illiterates, some of them in the Digby area.

The workshop on Friday and Saturday is to instruct volunteer teacher-aides how to use the Each One Teach One Laubach method so that they in turn can impart information with ease to illiterates or newcomers to the area.

A number of volunteers have taken up the challenge but, it is understood, others can be accommodated at the workshop on Friday and Saturday. For further information, call Continuing Education Program at 742-3244 or Rev. George Bell at 245-4662.

It is expected that Mrs. Thelma Blinn, Atlantic Regional Chairperson for the World Literacy of Canada, Halifax, will be on hand for the workshop. In September Mrs. Blinn addressed a group in Digby on the functional illiteracy in Nova Scotia and the Laubach method of overcoming the handicap.

Mrs. Blinn said that the Literacy program not only teaches the person to read but makes the person feel more a part of the community, to be able to communicate.

It is considered that more than eight years of educational attainment is necessary for functional literacy in this technological society. Incredible as it may seem, many adults in local communities cannot read or write so that often they cannot read want ads for jobs, work contracts or labor laws, Mrs. Blinn said. The functionally illiterate cannot read housing or other legal agreements; they cannot read labels on food items, let alone the cooking directions; they cannot read the directions- or the warnings- on medicine bottles and other danger-laden containers; they cannot read road signs or maps or street addresses.

The tutor meets privately with the student for two hours a week. Tutoring can take place in the day, or in the evening, according to the convenience of both.

Lessons are interesting because they are prepared for adults, and because the work is done on a one-to-one basis the student can proceed at his, or her, own rate.

There is no charge. Tutors work as volunteers, and texts are provided by the Continuing Education Program of the Department of Education.

The non-reader can be sure that everything will be treated with strict confidence. No one but the student and the tutor need know about the sessions.

SAMMY SEAGULL SAYS.

BE WISE USE TRASH CANS.

Wake up Canada there's no free lunch

Once upon a time there was a Little Red Rooster who scratched about and uncovered some grains of wheat. He called his barnyard neighbours and said "If we work together and plant this wheat, we will have a lot of bread to eat. Who will help me plant the wheat?"

"Not I," said the Cow. "Not I," said the Duck. "Not I," said the Goose. "Then I will," said the Little Red Rooster and he did.

After the wheat started growing, the ground turned dry and there was no rain in sight. "Who will help me water the wheat?" said the Little Red Rooster.

"Not I," said the Cow. "I'd lose my workman's compensation," said the Pig. "Equal rights," said the Goose. "Then I will," said the Little Red Rooster and he did.

The wheat grew tall and ripened into golden grain. "Who will help me reap the wheat?" asked the Little Red Rooster.

"I'm waiting for a guaranteed annual wage," said the Cow. "Not I," said the Duck. "Out of my classification," said the Pig. "Not I," said the Goose. "Then I will," said the Little Red Rooster and he did.

When it came time to grind the flour, "Not I," said the Cow. "I'd lose my unemployment insurance," said the Duck.

When it came time to bake the bread, "That's overtime for me," said the Cow. "I'm a dropout and never learned how," said the Duck. "I'd lose my welfare benefits," said the Pig. "I'm the only one helping, that's discrimination," said the Goose.

"Then I will," said the Little Red Rooster and he did. He baked five loaves of fine bread and held them up for his neighbours to see.

"I want some," said the Cow. "I want some," said the Duck. "I want some," said the Pig. "I demand my share," said the Goose.

"No," said the Little Red Rooster. "I can rest for awhile and eat five loaves myself."

"Excess profits," cried the Cow. "Capitalist leech," screamed the Duck. "Company funk," quipped the Pig. "Equal rights," screamed the Goose. And they hurriedly painted picket signs and marched around the Little Red Rooster, singing, "We shall overcome." And they did.

For when the Farmer came to investigate the commotion, he said, "You must not be greedy, Little Red Rooster. Look at the oppressed Cow. Look at the disadvantaged Duck. Look at the underprivileged Pig. Look at the less fortunate Goose. You are guilty of making second-class citizens of them."

"But-but-but I earned the bread," protested the Little Red Rooster.

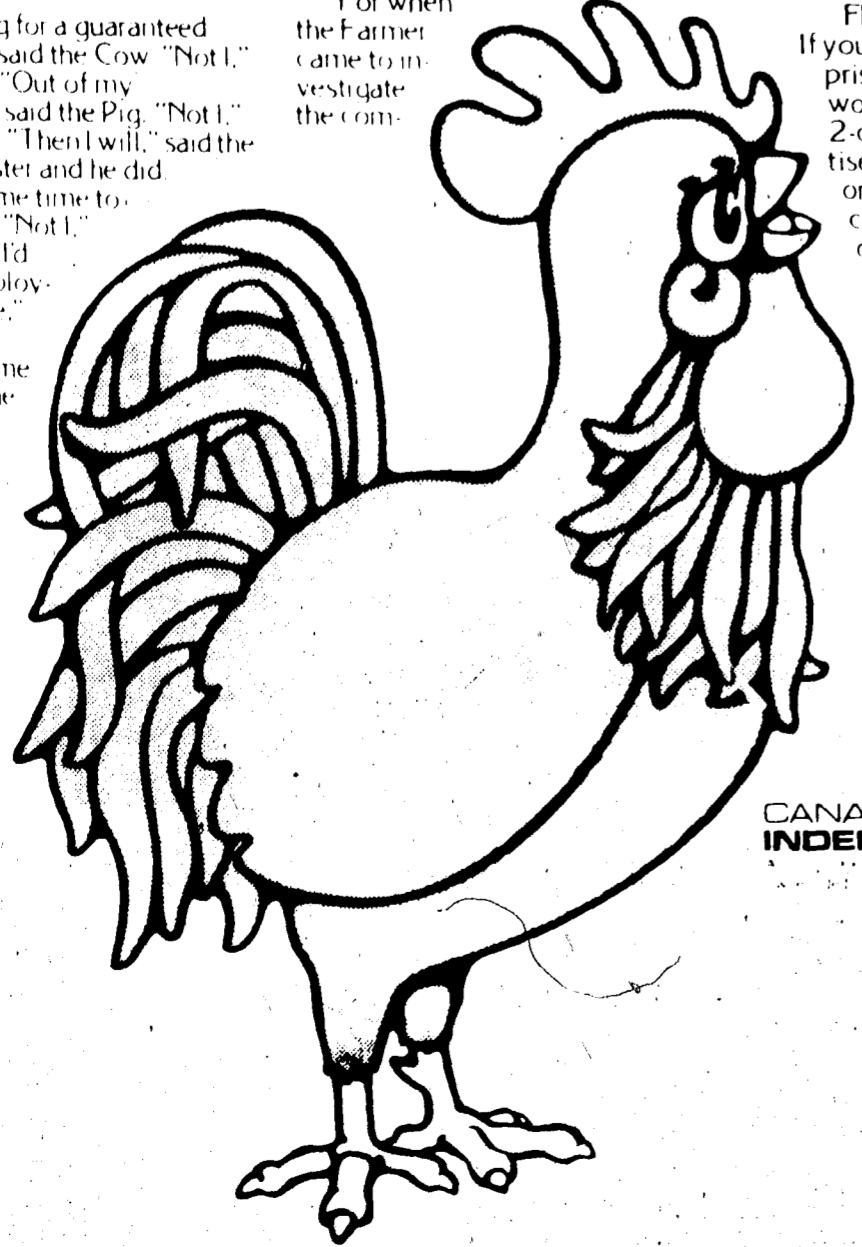

"Exactly," the wise Farmer said. "That is the wonderful free enterprise system, anybody in the barnyard can earn as much as he wants. You should be happy to have all this freedom. In other barnyards, you would have to give all your loaves to the Farmer. Here you give four loaves to your suffering neighbours."

And they lived happily ever after. Including the Little Red Rooster, who smiled and crowed, "I am grateful, I am grateful."

But his neighbours wondered why he never baked any more bread.

Bird Haven

A Rare Visitor

A rare visitor has been around the garden for a couple of days, a male Scarlet tanager, in his winter plumage, which is greenish yellow with striking jet black wings.

In summer he would be scarlet with the black wings. The female is greenish yellow all year with not so black wings.

They should be well on their way South by this time.

I was speaking this morning about not having seen a mocking bird this year, well one just arrived and picked at a bunch of grapes at the feeding station.

I have caught several of these birds over the years but only after it was very cold and food was scarce, hope this one continues on his way south.

A tragedy struck this morning at Bird Haven. One of the beautiful Rose breasted grosbeaks escaped while I was changing the tree in his cage and struck a window. He had already struck a window in Bear River but had recovered except for flying.

The second one is very lonely and is not eating well but hope he will.

They were so contented and tame.

That was only the second loss I have had through an accident over the years. The first was an Oriole that drowned in a gold fish bowl.

Lots of robins around clearing up the hawthorn berries. Don't ever plant a hawthorn tree near a door step, mine was planted years before the door step was built.

Several pairs of Hermit thrushes around and a few myrtle warblers but most of the little warblers have left.

The chick-a-dees are feeding on the suet every day and a few white throated sparrows are here and will be all winter.

It is a little early to fill the feeders with food but not too early to make your chick-a-dee pudding which will be appreciated by lots of birds when cold weather really comes.

A robin has just been brought in shot with a pellet gun. How could any one do that. Why not practice on tin cans instead of beautiful birds. He has since died. So long-The Bird Lady.

Reflecting To 1946

The editorial column in The Digby Courier of October 19, 1946, remarked on the activity and improvement of late in the District of Clare. Numerous small businesses had sprung up and the older ones enlarged. Premises had improved and lumber mills and woodworking mills were operating to capacity. Clare Shipbuilding Ltd., was again getting back into business after the lull.

The Digby General Hospital Board reported that the remaining debt of $3,250 on the Nurses Residence had been paid off.

Parker Moore, mate, Weymouth North, his brothers Captain Louis Moore, chief engineer, Gerald Moore and Reginald Walker were on their way home after their vessel was stranded off Jeremi, Haiti for 83 days. In the banana trade between Haiti and Miami, Florida, the vessel, Zoarces was driven ashore by storm. Supplies were running out so that the crew survived on bananas, biscuits and coffee.

Navy Week was being celebrated in Digby jointly by the Navy League and the Sea Cadet Corps. The Sea Cadets were trained not only in seamanship, physical culture, nautical lore but also in citizenship. Development of character was primary concern and with incorporating the program with that of the school, a balanced training was received and lessons in sportsmanship and community living stressed.

Rev. R.S. Dunn was inducted on October 15 into the Deep Brook, Smith's Cove, Clementsport Circuit of the Baptist Church.

Pastor And Choir
Visit Tideview

Sunday evening, Oct. 10th at 6:30 p.m. Rev. Ronald Stevens, pastor of Grace United Church, Digby, conducted a Thanksgiving Service for the benefit of the resident guests, at Tideview Terrace. Mr. Stevens was accompanied by members of the Church Choir. Several members of the congregation of Grace United Church were also present.

Mrs. Gerald Wilson and Norman Wright rendered three vocal duets. They were accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Elton Arnold. The music was enjoyed by everyone.

Mr. Stevens read Psalm 34 and offered a prayer of thanksgiving.

A message pertinent to this scripture reading was presented by Mr. Stevens. He urged his listeners to give thanks at all times. The speaker reminded his audience that far too many of the blessings daily bestowed upon people at God's hands are often taken for granted and that we forget to return thanks as did the nine lepers who were made whole by the Lord. Only the 10th came again to give thanks. God is ever present to guide His children and to deliver them out of all their distresses. Mr. Stevens said, "We are promised strength for each day if we boldly approach the throne of grace in faith, believing that surely underneath are the Everlasting Arms, ever ready and willing to bear us up and to keep us from falling."

Mr. Stevens pronounced the benediction.

Following the service at Tideview Mr. Stevens, with the choir and guests, were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Troupe Jr.

Singing with Mrs. Elton Arnold accompanist at the piano, was enjoyed as is always true when people who like to sing meet together.

Mr. Jack Ritcey, President of the choir, presented Mr. and Mrs. Stevens with a parting gift on behalf of the choir.

Mr. Stevens has been a faithful attendant during weekly choir practises during the six years of his pastorate at Grace United Church. Both Mr. and Mrs. Stevens have, through their untiring efforts, endeared

Mr. Stevens voiced his thanks for the gift and his pleasure in working with the choir.

Mr. Ritcey also presented a gift in appreciation to Norman D. Wright, who for many years has been a member of the choir. He has given fully of his time and talent to every phase of the work of Grace United Church. Mr. Wright has been a splendid example of Christianity in action. He has been a great help in guiding the youth of the church both by precept and example, showing by word and deed that our God is able. Mr. and Mrs. Wright have left Digby, briefly and, will be warmly welcomed when they return.

Mr. Wright, in his inimitable manner expressed his appreciation and assured the choir that he would return as often as possible and hoped to be home permanently in the not too distant future.

Mrs. Wallis attained national status in the area of Women's Church work. She is a Life member of Grace United Church Women and she had been President of the N.S. Weekly Newspapers Association.

Nova Scotia Autumn

There is nothing so enchanting as a Nova Scotia day, where the beeches glow and the maples flame, along each roadside way. The distant hills are beckoning me, their home a fairyland, where the swish of wings on a sun-crowned cloud, are to me an Autumn band.

There is nothing so inviting as our Nova Scotia land, let me learn to treasure beauty, let me hold it in my hand. Too soon will Autumn vanish, too soon it will pass by, So let's make our memory pictures, that is ... You and I.

Total $686,062.35. Overpayment $3487.93; Nova Scotia Power Commission $2823.11; fire service $33,432.00; garbage $31,558.77.

Councillor Winchester explained the situation at Tideview Terrace and the reason for the forgiveness of $10,000 which Tideview owes the municipality. The $10,000 was loaned to Tideview to get it started, to pay the staff, etc. In order to get a financial standing to put them in a position to expand and pay its way, the forgiveness request was made. Three towns and three municipalities are involved. The municipality did not endorse a resolution from the city of Sydney which asked each municipal unit to request the Nova Scotia Power Corporation that domestic customers of electricity billing be assured or guaranteed against disconnection under special conditions as (1) no seriously ill customer may be disconnected due to financial circumstances (2) any person carrying out a disconnection must advise a responsible adult in the household first and (3) when customers cannot pay his or her account in full, his power shall not be disconnected if they are trying to make reasonable attempts to meet obligations.

The Council did endorse a resolution from the Yarmouth County Tourist Association requesting a second ship between Bar Harbour and Yarmouth.

Council moved to share in costs with other area units involved, in legal fees encountered should the Kings County Correctional Centre take action regarding arrears alleged to be outstanding against these units. A copy of the letter is to go to the Attorney General's Department.

Circular letters distributed by the Digby County Ambulance Service came under discussion with the general opinion being that the residents of the Municipality should be made aware that the Digby County Ambulance Service is not a responsibility of the municipality and that it is a matter between the Provincial Government, the Nova Scotia Ambulance Association and the Digby County Ambulance Service.

Mrs. Grant Sabine Chosen Liberal President

The Digby County Liberal Association has a new president - Mrs. Grant Sabine of Riverdale, replacing retiring president Emmanuel Adalaar.

Other officers selected during Monday night's meeting at the Digby Legion hall were Joe Hattie, first vice-president; Mrs. Raymond Robicheaud of Westport, second vice-president; Helen Matheson, secretary and MacLeod Rogers Treasurer.

Committee chairmen include: Publicity and public relations - Murray Baxter Sr.; Special Events - Hubert Thomas, Freeport; Youth activities, David Banks, Bear River and Murray Baxter Jr., Digby; Honorable officer - Mrs. E.J. Theriault, Digby.

Platform guests for the large turnout crowd were Municipal Affairs Minister Glen Bagnell, Joe Casey, Kings West MLA; Frank Bezanon, the new and past president, and secretary Helen Matheson.

AIRPORT

In addressing the audience, Joe Casey emphasized the potential of the Digby Municipal Airport. He praised the foresight of the municipal council for purchasing it and lauded the federal, provincial and municipal government for their co-operation in the $600,000 improvement program.

Mr. Casey noted that E.P.A., in its application for a license to serve Digby on a daily basis, is offering to a twin otter aircraft which has a capacity of 19 passengers. If business warrants, a larger plane would be used.

The Digby member also mentioned other possible benefits of the airport - such as flying fish to market. He said a flying association has already made reservations to fly here and stay at the Pines.

In his annual roundup, Mr. Casey said efforts are being made to get more public housing. "There's no reason why we can't get it here." On tourism, he noted visitor numbers were down somewhat for various reasons (Olympics, Bicentennial etc.) but not down as far as some other parts of the province.

Casey praised the work of the Annapolis Basin Tourist and Recreation Council which, he said, is doing an excellent job in promoting the area.

He remarked on the part played by him the provincial government in ensuring compensation for uninsured losses after the February 2nd storm.

KNOCKS NDP

After recounting some other activities, Mr. Casey launched an attack on the NDP. Before the NDP came to power in B.C. two years ago, British Columbia was one of the most prosperous provinces in Canada, he said, but "now they're almost in as bad shape as New York" - to give everyone something with no one paying for it. "That just doesn't work."

A sardine factory and particle board are still being worked for, according to Mr. Casey. "We haven't given up yet."

The Municipal affairs minister also levelled a blow at the N.D.P. and foresaw a 2-way battle shaping up N.D.P. - P.C.

Mr. Bagnell praised retiring association

1977 School Budget Up By $97,505

The Town of Digby Elementary School system budget for 1977 approved by the Digby Board of School Commissioners on Monday evening took a jump of $97,505 over the budget of 1976. Total budget approved for 1977 was $544,980 as against $447,475 for 1976. Gross expenditures in the budget reached $959,506 for 1977 and $739,315 for 1976. Deleting from the gross, the D.R.H.S. tuition of $414,525 and $291,840 leaves the total expenditures estimated for the Urban Board to be $544,980 in 1977 and $447,475 in 1976. The greatest increase in budgeted expense comes from teachers' salaries, rising from $349,385 in 1976 to $425,165 in 1977, an increase of $75,780. The budget as presented designated those expenses paid by the province, shared by province and Board and those paid entirely by the Board.

The secretary of the Board of School Commissioners presented the Nova Scotia Teachers Union contract to Board. This was approved and signed as presented.

Board member, Mrs. Eileen Chipman asked for the latest information on the amalgamation of school boards in the area. The secretary advised that there had been no correspondence. He noted that three areas of the province had amalgamated boards and the general impression was that in some places there were increased costs and in others not.

The question of uniform payment for attending school board meetings came up. By regular motion and passed the members of the Board of School Commissioners will be paid the same as the Digby Municipal School Board and the Digby Regional High School Board members for every meeting attended as well as mileage for outside of town.

A letter from the Department of Public Health advised that the Queen Street School was in a favorable condition, with the corrections having been made.

Sister Walsh reported that the students of St. Patrick's School had purchased drapes for two rooms with their "Potato Chip Fund". The Board decided to budget $600 for additional drapes for the school.

Mention was made that C. E. Edwards, Inspector of Schools was retiring and a party was to be held in his honor November 17 at 7:30 p.m. at the Annapolis - Digby Vocational School.

Permission was granted to Jack Ritcey, supervisor of curriculum to attend a Nova Scotia Teachers Union Conference in Halifax on October 29 and 30 and a Department of Education Conference at Tatamagouche on November 2-4.

Mrs. Frank Robinson, principal of the Queen Street School reported on the Friday afternoon activity program of bowling, crafts and other activities and their plans for producing a newspaper.

C.C. MacInnis, superintendent reported the 1975-76 enrollment to have been 590 and for the 1976-77 term it is 580.

Sister Walsh reported that playground repairs had been made at St. Patrick's by help of the Knights of Columbus. The Mount St. School exit was approved by the Fire Marshal.

Nova Scotia School Board Association fees had increased to $1200. In 1975 they were $250. The fee is based on $1000 per School Board and thirty-five cents per student.

Mr. McInnis reported that Mrs. Dunphy had been substituting for Mrs. Anne Kaye who had been ill.

As Monday evening was the last meeting at which Reginald Hazelton would be presiding as chairman, he expressed his thanks to the Board and the teachers for their co-operation.

To Open Memorial Room At The Library

The Admiral Digby Library and Historical Society will mark its tenth year by opening the Joyce Anderson Memorial Room. The late Mrs. Anderson was one of the founders of the Admiral Digby Library and Historical Society and had given many hours of personal contribution to its assured success.

The room expected to be opened on December 4, 1976, will be on the second floor of the Admiral Digby Library and will be in the nature of a museum. It is hoped that the Joyce Anderson Memorial Room will be the first of several rooms for museum purpose at the Library.

Horner Cites Ways Government Can Help Energy Resources

Jack Horner, M.P. for Crowfoot, Alta., said in his speech on Thursday evening to a large group at the P.C. Rally in Digby, that his dream of a national power grid, government ownership of all railway, beds and electric railroad tracks, would be the makings of a more efficient transportation system, in light of increasing energy costs. In this system, almost anyone could obtain a license to run a train on them. He cited several instances in which the federal government could assist the provinces in developing energy resources, including nuclear energy. In return, he suggested the recipient province could be required to provide a percentage of its production to the national power grid, thereby keeping many resources needs within its own boundaries, and our energy crisis could be greatly reduced.

Mr. Horner arrived in Yarmouth Thursday noon, and spoke with a very enthusiastic group then, continuing through Clare, where his reception at College Ste. Anne was beyond all expectations. In the evening he attended the P.C. Rally at the Legion Hall in Digby, and was received by a standing ovation as he entered the hall.

On the platform with Mr. Horner was Dr. Julien Comeau, president of the SouthWest Nova P.C. Association, who chaired the meeting. John Comeau of Digby President of the Digby P.C. Association, Dr. Gerald Sheehy MLA for Annapolis East, John Buchanan, Leader of the Provincial Progressive Conservative Party, Charles Haliburton and Owen Hankinson.

Gerald Sheehy, in his address, said that he was soon to be a member of South West Nova, and would be the only P.C. member in this riding. He said his priorities would be the completion of Highway 101, which, if it is kept at the present rate of growth of 6 miles per year by the present government, would take 57 years before it is completed. He introduced John Buchanan, as a dedicated individual to the P.C. party, saying that his

SAFETY AT HALLOWE'EN

It won't be long now until your local streets will be taken over by witches, goblins and ghosts ringing doorbells and knocking on doors.

The Nova Scotia Department of Consumer Affairs wants this Halloween to be a thrilling one for your youngsters, not a nightmare. A few basic, common sense steps that all parents can take will ensure that your children enjoy their day to the fullest.

First, says Harry M. McIlroy, the department's chief executive officer, make sure that your child can see. Rather than a mask, use make-up to disguise the child's face. It's cheaper and safer. Use cream under the make-up to protect the child's sensitive skin and to make washing up easier.

If you do buy a mask, make sure that the child can see and breathe. The mask should fit properly without sliding down the face. There should be large holes, not just slits, for the eyes and nose, he says.

Dress the child in old clothing rather than expensive paper costumes, Mr. McIlroy suggests. Make sure the clothing is a light colour or attach fluorescent tape to the costume. If you decide to buy a costume, make sure it is fluorescent to let oncoming motorists see your child. And make sure that the child can walk in his costume. Don't make it so long that he will trip over it.

An adult should accompany young children, Mr. McIlroy advises. Older children going out alone should have a route assigned to them and a time to be back.

Remind children of the basic traffic rules. This is an exciting night for them and a gentle reminder will help keep them alert. Motorists should also exercise extra caution that night.

Lastly, have your children bring their "loot" home before eating any of it, Mr. McIlroy says. Then, inspect each item carefully for foreign objects. It's the only way to be absolutely certain that your child won't be the victim of someone's prank.

CHRISTMAS SEAL CAMPAIGN READY TO GO

According to word from Ralph E.J. Ricketts, executive director of the Nova Scotia Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, the Christmas Seal Campaign has for its kickoff date, Monday, November 1, 1976. Early? No. Here is a medium through which people can express the genuine spirit of Christmas by bringing comfort, happiness and joy to those who are anxious with cares or who have unfortunate illnesses to combat. Now is the time, before the Christmas budget has been otherwise depleted on non-essentials, to lay aside for the purchase of Christmas Seals.

What does your Christmas Seal donation do? Christmas Seal dollars go to research, medical and public health education and community programs to prevent and control lung disease. Christmas Seal programs are also developed and promoted to reduce cigarette smoking among Canadians, protect the rights of the non-smoker and to fight air pollution.

There is more time lost from work by Canadians suffering from lung diseases and other respiratory disorders than any other major group of diseases. Emphysema and chronic bronchitis are the fastest growing diseases in Canada. 2,750 Canadians died from bronchitis and emphysema in 1974; while patients with bronchitis and emphysema spent nearly 600,000 patient days in Canadian hospitals in 1973. It costs Canada millions of dollars yearly in terms of medical costs, lost income, and time lost from work and school.

On the executive of the N.S.T. and R.D.A., we note the name of Judge John R. Nichols of Digby as vice-president. Judge Nichols makes us feel a little nearer to the N.S.T. and R.D.A. but the entire executive is depending on contributions being made as generously as possible to further the work of the organization.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Of 62 municipal units, in Nova Scotia the town of Digby held the distinction of occupying a place among the top ten highest tax rates in 1976. Added to this, the town council remained unyielding at any suggestion of an increase in the present unrealistic 2 per cent discount, which would encourage early payment and result in less interim financing from banks to keep the town operating.

In 1974, on motion of Councillors Robertson and Ellis, the penalty for overdue accounts was increased from 10 per cent to 14 per cent, where it has remained ever since. Elsewhere in the province 10 per cent seems to be the average penalty rate on overdue accounts, with a few reaching a peak of 12 per cent - while 5 per cent is the discount figure for early payment, adopted by many of the municipal units.

Another area of finance which I have opposed in the town council is the PROPERTY TRANSFER TAX. All who have bought or sold property during the past three years are aware of this tax, approved by the province in 1968 and adopted in Digby in 1973, with the support of two of our present councillors, Robertson and Ellis. No deed can be recorded unless it bears a certificate signed by the clerk, stating that the tax has been paid in full, or stating that no tax is payable. Further, the buyer must file with the town clerk, the names of the parties, the location of the property, SALE PRICE OF THE PROPERTY, with full details, including the amount of any lien or encumbrance. The minimal yearly revenue, between $5,000 and $6,000, from this tax cannot possibly justify such an exercise in "snoocracy".

president Adelaar as one of the finest men I ever knew "I predicted this retirement is just a phase of your career."

The Minister then went on to affirm his confidence in the leadership of premier General Regan. Commenting on increasing power rates Mr. Bagnell told of several projects being undertaken, such as two-to generate electricity from waste wood, and find other sources of economically valuable coal.

The minister said the scientific report on Fundy tidal power is scheduled for release in February "The prospect for Tidal Power is greater than at any other time," he said.

In spite of energy costs, Mr. Bagnell noted that residential consumers - unless using electrical heat are still paying less than $1 per day for electricity. The Minister said price and wage controls are working and consumer income is buying more these days.

There were some complaints about municipal taxation 2-years ago, he said, but with a doubled budget, the province has been able to help with programs and relieve taxes.

He noted the government intends to deal with the problem of farm land with water frontage being assessed for its potential recreation uses.

ADELAAR

Emmanuel Adelaar, in his address, said the question of most importance is that of National Unity. Only the Liberals, he said, can ensure the 10 provinces stay united.

HORNER CITES WAYS GOVERNMENT CAN HELP ENERGY RESOURCES.

main object in life is helping the everyday people, the ordinary workman and small business man.

Mr. Buchanan, said that the Canadian people had although last January, when I made a second attempt to have it eliminated, the (then) clerk Pitman, put forth a strong appeal to retain the tax, claiming it to be "a form of revenue that the town of Digby cannot afford to lose". (At the same time, Canpol Fisheries had (and still has) an outstanding tax bill for 1975 comparable with a year's revenue from the property transfer tax, but which Council has shown little concern about the town of Digby losing.)

Digby County Council which adopted the transfer tax in 1973, decided in its wisdom, to abolish it in 1975. It is time the town took similar action on this discriminatory and controversial invasion of privacy.

Will the Digby Town Council move into more efficient and realistic planning in 1977? With the addition of two new councillors, a new mayor and a new town clerk - coupled with a measure of loyalty and responsibility to the public interest, this could and should become a reality. Time will tell.

Eileen Chipman
Councillor
Town of Digby

"been taken" by the present government of Canada. He said that they had been given a mandate to do certain things, and this mandate has not been fulfilled. Regan had said recently that Nova Scotia was definitely not involved in any energy crisis, that there would be NO power increase for at least fifteen months, after the government took over the Power Co. He would put a freeze on fuel and gas, there would be no price or wage controls in Nova Scotia. Today, said John Buchanan - gas has increased to well over 90 cents a gallon, in some places, over $1.00 a gal. Fuel oil, in the province has the second highest heating fuel bills in Canada. Nova Scotia is paying the 2nd highest in light bills, and will certainly be the highest commercial in Canada if this 65 per cent increase goes through.

Taxes have increased, instead of being reduced, as the Prime Minister promised. Nova Scotia has the highest level of unemployment in 30 years. Anti-inflation, he said, applies only to the people not to the government. Mr. Buchanan said that we must insure, to the best of our ability, that the Progressive Conservatives spend their money to benefit the people of Nova Scotia.

Owen Hankinson, introduced Jack Horner, saying that Mr. Horner was elected to Parliament at the age of 30, and has won seven consecutive elections. He has been on Parliament Hill representing his constituency of Crowfoot for 18 years. Mr. Horner, he said, came from a staunch Conservative home, where at one time, there were four members of his family on Parliament Hill. He said Mr. Horner was a very outspoken, aggressive man, in his private business and political life. He is an intelligent logical thinking man, loyal to his family, his party and his country. He is dedicated to those things he feels best for his country, and will go to great lengths to pursue his ideals.

Mr. Horner said there is a new mood in the Conservative Party, a mood of openness in Caucus, expressing keen desire to service, to move ahead, work together and show responsibility. Pierre Trudeau and the Liberal party he said, are concerned about themselves - not the people. Trudeau is bankrupt of new ideas. With this period of high inflation, people are afraid of what tomorrow will bring. Liberals have short-term policies enough to get them from one campaign to another.

Mr. Horner said that he is proud of the Conservative deep concern about Canada - and that Joe Clark has done exceptionally well, trying to understand the needs of the people throughout Canada. He said the Pierre Trudeau has become unpopular because of many things, but has demonstrated to all Canadians of his insensitivity to people - he has left so many questions unanswered and has not replied to such serious questions, as the transportation at Yarmouth, the fisheries industry, etc. He says that Canada has the 7th largest trade deficit in the world - we educate our young people - but there is no work for them when they complete their education.

He stated that 85 per cent of our electricity is produced from foreign oil. We are being forced to put too much money in foreign countries. Our transportation uses 50 per cent of oil - Mr. Horner said we should be looking for a transportation system that uses other forms of energy. We should create systems that allow for the greatest competition, in order to keep our prices down. Central ownership of anything tends to raise rates and cost. Mr. Horner urged all Conservatives to prepare now for the future of a greater Canada.

Charles Haliburton thanked Jack Horner, and

Woman Named Deputy Warden

For the first time in its history the Council of the Municipality of the District of Digby has a woman as Deputy Warden. Councillor Helen MacNeill was on Monday, by regular motion named Deputy Warden by her fellow councillors at the first meeting of the newly elected council.

said how times have changed in just a few years. He said that a few years ago, everyone knew that Canada was the best country in the world - we did not have riches, but we earned our living, we lived well - people shared, people worked. Today the government has become greedy, and cannot put their minds to the problems of the people. They want headlines, they want wealth - but none of their policies last.

A lively question period followed the talks, and coffee and doughnuts were served, as more questions, were put to the political members.

Mrs. MacNeill is not new to the Digby municipal business having already served six years on Council and beginning her third three-year term. During this time Mrs. MacNeill has assumed many responsible positions. She had been chairman of the Veterinary Board; chairman of the welfare committee, is now vice-chairman of the E.M.O.; a member of the Digby Regional High School Board; member of the Digby Municipal Board; Hospital Board; Arbitration Committee; By-laws; Law Amendments; Jury List and had been on the Digby General Hospital Finance Committee for the past three years.

Mrs. MacNeill was born in Weymouth, daughter of Jess Dalgren and Mabel (Dalgren) Amro and moved to Digby at an early age. She was educated at Digby, graduating from the Digby Business College in 1944.

Mrs. MacNeill's first husband was Roy Robinson. There are five children Mary-Helen, Hamlin and Jennifer, married; Scott at Vocational School and Jeremiah at home. Mrs. MacNeill's second husband is retired Warrant Officer, Kenneth MacNeill.

Mrs. MacNeill carries on mixed farming at her Marshalltown property, specializing in cattle raising and strawberry growing.

Besides her farming and municipal duties Deputy Warden MacNeill has found time to be president of the Ladies Auxiliary of Digby Branch Legion No. 20 on two different occasions, has been a worker in church organizations, a charter member of the Marshalltown Historical Society and to be a member of the Digby County Agricultural Society.

CARDS OF THANKS

SULLIVAN - My only previous experience in any hospital was a 28 day confinement in an isolation ward in a scarlet fever unit of a Military Hospital during the war. The nurses were male attendants, their hands were rough, their voices were gruff and their regulations were tough. I came away with the impression that a hospital was a place where people were tucked away to die. After spending a couple of weeks in the Intensive Care Unit and a few days in the Surgery Ward of the Digby Hospital I can only say I thought I had died and gone to Heaven. With the tender care and attention I received from Mrs. Stanton and her staff of angelic Nurses I must say "Thank you all from the bottom of my heart."

Also to Dr. Denton Jr. and Dr. Denton Sr., I repeat "Thank you" for the care and attention I received at your hand, to the people who sent cards (100 in all) and to those who sent flowers and to those who called or visited. It really touched me to think that so many people cared. May the good Lord Bless you all - LEROY SULLIVAN. 12:11p

WAGNER - We would like to thank God for sparing our lives to celebrate our 50th Wedding Anniversary. He has been so wonderful to both of us and blessed us in many ways. To our wonderful daughter Geraldine, son-in-law Arthur, who made it possible for us to celebrate this important event. We truly appreciate their thoughtfulness and are very grateful for everything that they have done.

To Brenda and Rae for the wonderful corsages bestowed upon us make us think back on our Wedding Day. Thanks to our relatives and friends who came to celebrate our Anniversary and the lovely gifts. Would especially like to mention my older sister, Esther Hickson, her friend and our friend France Manning from U.S.A. and the two talented musicians, Mrs. Ralph Jarvis, Mr. Vernon Sabean who rendered beautiful selections, solos and instrumental music.

We are very grateful and appreciate your kindness. Thanks so much. God Bless You All. MARGARET AND GEORGE WAGNER 11p

The host Digby Club have arranged a buffet dinner at 7:00 p.m. for the Kinsmen and Kinettes from all Clubs in the Zone. Zone 2 encompasses the western portion of Nova Scotia including the Halifax Metro area. A good turnout is expected.

Arriving from Truro where he is scheduled to speak to the Kinsmen of Zone 3 at a noon luncheon, Mr. Boddy will be accompanied by District 7 Coordinator Dave Dickson. Also in attendance will be Zone 2 Deputy Governor Jack Buntain and his Zone Executive.

Mr. Boddy, 35, of Woodstock, Ontario was elected 56th National President of the Association of Kinsmen Clubs in September. An eleven year Kinsmen veteran, he has served his local area as Club President, Deputy Governor, and Governor. Nationally, Mr. Boddy has served as Association Treasurer 1973-74 and National Vice-President in 1975-76.

His visit to Digby is part of a five day swing through the Atlantic Provinces enabling him to visit the six zones in District 7. He hopes to meet Kinsmen across Canada and intends to complete similar trips throughout the other six Districts in the country.

On Saturday, Mr. Boddy will catch the early morning ferry to Saint John to meet Kinsmen from New Brunswick.

Wedding Bells

ROBICHEAU - LENT
A pretty summer wedding was solemnized at the East Baptist Church, Lynn, Massachusetts on Sunday, June 6, when Joyceann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan Lent of Lynn, Massachusetts, was united in marriage to Walter John Robicheau Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Robicheau Sr., of Weymouth North. The bride, given in marriage by her parents, was lovely in her floor length gown of white silk organza and Venice lace, with high neckline and sheer yoke, A-line skirt, flowing to a chapel length train. Details of lace appliques enhanced the bodice, and front of the gown, on the full bishop sleeves, and edging to the hemline, and thru to the train. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Matron of honour was Mrs. Laurel Lent, sister-in-law of the bride, attired in a long gown of yellow flowered polyester made with scoop neckline and long puffed sleeves. Her bouquet was yellow roses.

The best man was David Lent, brother of the bride. He and the groom wore matching royal blue leisure suits with a white carnation lapel boutonniere.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Ronald W. Ekerholm of Lynn, Massachusetts.

Following the ceremony the reception was held at the bride's parents home. Their wedding cake was blue and white roses with their names written in blue on the top tier. Yellow and white streamers and wedding bells decorated the house.

For her going away suit the bride wore a polyester blue colored pant suit with white accessories. Her corsage was a white carnation.

Friends and relatives drove the happy couple to Logan Airport Boston, Mass., where they flew to Montreal and then on to Vancouver, B.C. They spent three weeks visiting Walter's sister, Theresa and family in North Vancouver.

Bear River Couple Honoured On Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Bell Jr. opened their home on the evening of September 20 to about forty relatives and neighbours of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Porter, for a party given in honour of their twenty-fifth anniversary.

The party was planned by sisters-in-law, Mrs. Elmer Porter and Mrs. Harold Porter, and Mrs. Earl Porter's sister, Mrs. Des Cooper, Prineedale.

Jane Porter, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Porter, was in charge of the guest book. A poem, portraying the courtship and married life of this popular Christian couple, was composed and read by Isabell Sidey. ## Halloween Night

Digby Detachment R.C.M. POLICE

As that night of nights draws near, the R.C.M.P. in Digby are preparing for extra patrols in all areas of the county and in the town of Digby. All members of the detachment will be working and all cars will be on the road. The police are expecting trouble on two nights, Saturday and Sunday and have laid on extra patrols to cover both nights.

The major problem on Halloween Night is the unnecessary vandalism caused most by not so young Halloweeners. In the early part of the evening the younger set are out trick or treating and motorists are asked to use extreme caution in areas where kids are gathering and walking along the road. Parents are urged to dress their children in articles of clothing that can be seen easily at night to avoid accidents. Later in the evening and in the early morning hours the real unnecessary vandalism usually occurs and it will be this problem that police are concentrating on.

This year volunteer fire departments in all parts of the area have generously consented to give their time to assist the police in preventing vandalism. Fire department volunteers will be travelling with the police and RCMP members will be manning fire department vehicles along with department volunteers. This will mean many extra "patrol" vehicles will be on the road watching for trouble areas and spotting vandalism.

Property owners are asked to take extra precautions to protect their properties and to call police as quickly as possible when problems appear. With the extra patrols and fire department volunteers and the cooperation of property owners vandalism and disturbances could be significantly reduced.

When fourteen others gathered at the new Digby Municipal Airport at Hill Grove on Sunday to attempt flying lessons, Duane Kenley, Digby, could look on with pride that he had his Private Pilot's license. Not only was Mr. Kenley proud to have obtained his license but he especially boasted in the fact that he was the first student to solo on the new Municipality of Digby Airport and the first to get his Private Pilots license there.

Duane and his wife, the former Dorothy Deveau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Deveau, Digby, live on Prince William Street where they operate the Paint Spot. They have five children, Del, Dean, Kim, Tom and Judy.

As a local business man, Mr. Kenley is active and interested in many town affairs, having recently been named chairman of the Digby Water Commission.

Mr. Kenley has a Cessna 172 aircraft based at the Digby Municipal Airport and it was this he used over the past weekend, accompanied by Joe Casey M.L.A. in joining the search for a local fisherman who was missing from his boat in a heavy storm.

An active member of the Digby Flying Club, he received his instruction from Art Quinn (retired) former Chief Flight Instructor at Greenwood, N.S. and his ground school training under Louis Wyles, Hill Grove, in Adult Education at the Digby Regional High School. The craft is available, it is understood, for private pilot instruction.

BUSY DAY AT DIGBY MUNICIPAL AIRPORT

President of the Digby Flying Club in his Cessna 172 Aircraft flew some of the students presently commencing their Ground School at the Digby Regional High School—Dr. Calvin Rice, Thomas O'Neil and his wife Vivian O'Neil and Arthur Burke. The flight introduced them to the wonderful world of flying for the first time.

Kenley's plane G-DDK had been up early Sunday morning with Joseph Casey, M.L.A. and Del Kenley searching for Ed Murphy of Bayview believed lost at sea. C-GDDK was no sooner airborne when Eddie Peck flew in from Bear River, with his brother, in his Piper J-3 a forty year old plane built in 1936. Eddie Peck took some of the students and visitors for a trip including Owen Hankinson of Weymouth who is presently completing his training at the Yarmouth Flying Club.

Many visitors including Mrs. Edith Wallis, Editor of the Digby Courier, turned up at the Digby airport and received flights with Eddie Peck or Mr. Kenley and obtained hot coffee and cookies at the small club house on the airport site served by Kiki Nichols, the Second Vice President of the Digby Club.

The activity at the Digby Municipal Airport points out the use being made of the airstrip, and the need for lights, all weather maintenance such as snow plowing, a manned ground to air radio, as well as proper toilets, seating and storage facilities for the present visitors and air traffic. When Eastern Provincial Airways receives their licence from the Air Transport Board, Digby Municipal Airport should be properly equipped to handle the increased traffic.

The Ground School, a prerequisite in the training of future pilots introduced the students to the basic techniques of flying, and how and why a plane flies. It is held every Thursday night at Room 113 at the new wing of the Digby Regional High School under the auspices of Mr. Rupert Healey and the Adult Education Branch of the Province of Nova Scotia. Art Quinn formerly Chief Flying Instructor at Greenwood Flying Club, now retired in Annapolis County, has consented to assist the Club with the Flight Instruction which is held in conjunction with the Ground School. It is expected he will have the assistance of trained Aircraft Personnel from C.F.B. Greenwood in the important lectures on navigation, meteorology and airmanship during the Ground School.

All persons interested in wonderful world of Flying are welcome Thursday night at 7:30 to meet Art Quinn and the students and ask any questions.

Shoot And Trap License Needed

Nova Scotian hunters need a license to shoot or trap a squirrel.

The same applies to raccoons, bobcats and skunks.

The furbearer license is now required before you can hunt or possess animals valuable for their fur. The license is available to residents only for a fee of $10.

A spokesman for the Department of Lands and Forests warned that raccoons, bobcats, skunks and squirrels used to be hunted year round, but can now be hunted only between November 1 and March 15. The hunter must have a furbearer license before the animals can be taken.

The new legislation is designed to improve the furbearer management program of the Department. The major change is the introduction of a furbearer license which will identify all persons harvesting our furbearer resource.

With some bobcat skins valued over $200 each at last year's fur sales, it is important to keep track of how many animals are taken and where they are taken so the resource is not over-exploited. With information from the licensees, furtakers and biologists can make better decisions about seasons and bag limits.

In past years, raccoons, skunks, bobcats and foxes were often shot by hunters because the animals were considered a pest or a danger to livestock. Increased knowledge has shown their value in controlling serious pests like mice and insects.

If too many foxes or raccoons are shot or trapped the farmer may experience increased pest problems. The harvest of predators should be closely watched to maintain the balance between too many and too few.

Furbearer Licenses are only available from the Lands and Forests Office in the forestry district in which you reside.

Talk About Co-operative Sales

The Clare Arts Council held a regular meeting at Ste Anne's college on Monday, October 20th with a very good attendance of persons interested in various arts and crafts. President Emile Melanson presided.

Discussion of the forming a co-operative for sales of crafts took place. In general it related to all small outlets presently existing and those other outlets that could be opened in the new year, especially during the summer months. Further study will be made to find out if it would be feasible to form a co-operative or not.

In relating what the association has done in the past year, Mrs. Clarize Comeau, chairman, stated that a very successful ballet dancing classes were held in the college gymnasium during the Acadian Festival with Adolphe Robicheau as instructor. Mr. Robicheau is a famous Acadian dancer who has established a dancing school in Boston, Mass. Approximately 12 young pupils under 15 years of age followed the course. Most of these students had already followed ballet dancing in courses given by Mrs. Peters of Digby. Mr. Robicheau's course was more advanced.

The Clare Arts Council organized an exhibition of Arts and Crafts in the former school building in Church Point and although it was on a smaller scale than the preceding year, nevertheless it was a successful one. Many visitors to the area visited the exhibition as also did many local people. The exhibition in 1976 was mainly to show what the Acadian people can do in line of crafts, stated Mrs. Catherine Melanson who assisted in the presentation of the exhibition.

Mr. Jalois vice-president of Ste Anne's college spoke briefly. He mentioned that workshops would be organized at Ste Anne's in co-operation with the Arts Council if and when it is known what the people are interested in, as far as crafts are concerned. These could be held during weekends, if so desired, stated Mr. Jalois. He listed the following crafts that could be interesting: oil painting, music, photography, pottery, arts history, dancing, encounter of L'Alliance Chorale (Choral Alliances).

The art council presented several grants to the Regional band at Ste Anne's and also procured a grant to assist in paying the Co-ordinator of Cultural programmes salary.

Rev. Maurice LeBlanc of Ste Anne's college staff outlined the schedule of programs of the Jeunesse Musical who will present 4 programs, the St. Mary's Bay chorale group and the College's regional band will present a concert on December 5th; Nov. 20, Toronto Ballet; folk singers will be visiting the area. The Christmas program of December 5th will include two other choral groups.

On November 7th, an all week exhibition of oil paintings of Nadine Boudreau one of Clares artists and of her class members who held oil painting classes under the guidance of Nadine. The exhibition will be held at Ste Anne's college at Church Point.

The arts council presented a grant to the Clare Regional band to enable four or six members of the band, youthful members only, to attend a music seminar at Sackville, N.B. A request by Rev. Maurice LeBlanc, leader of the regional band for a similar grant from the Arts Council for the summer of 1977.

First Annual College Sainte-Anne Road Race

A road race will be sponsored by College Sainte-Anne of Church Point on October 31st. This race will be the first of an annual event to be promoted by this small university. Hopefully the race will be well attended and will consequently boost the sport of cross-country running and road racing in the province. Sport Nova Scotia has already sanctioned the event and Richard Munro, Track and Field co-ordinator, is pleased to promote the annual race with the College's effort. Following the intercollegiate and provincial high school championships on October 23rd, the race should be well attended, and may very well be the last long distance race of the season.

The race program will consist of three divisions: Senior and intercollegiate, open to any runner in Nova Scotia; intermediate (17 and under), open to any runner from Annapolis, Digby and Yarmouth Counties; and a junior division (14 and under) open to any runner from the Digby and Yarmouth Counties.

The senior and intermediate runners will race over a course of approximately 4½ miles in length following the coast, trails and roads, while the junior runners will try their feet at a 1½ mile distance over trails and roads.

There will be individual scrolls given out to every runner to commemorate the initiation of the race, and prizes to the first three runners to cross the finish

Fellowship Breakfast

The men of the Deep Brook United Baptist Pastorate and surrounding areas participated in Baptist Men's Sunday breakfast meeting held at the Deep Brook Parish Hall on Sunday morning, October 24. Breakfast was served by the "chefs" of the Pastorate to over fifty men present.

Following the breakfast, a hymn sing and testimony session was led by L.E.R. Winchester with Rev. Paul Legge, Clementsvalle, as accordion accompanist. Rev. Wallace H. Jordan, pastor of the Deep Brook Pastorate, introduced Hugh Willett of Parker's Cove, president of the Men's Group of the Annapolis-Digby Baptist Association.

Mr. Willett spoke of the men's work and then introduced Loyal Brace of CFB Moncton, N.B., the guest speaker.

Mr. Brace, in his challenging message to the men, spoke of the areas of service for Christian men within the churches and communities. He emphasized that in serving, they should show the joy of the Christian life and work. Also, he stated, not to underestimate their abilities. He illustrated this point by mentioning Moses and his excuses regarding his ability for leadership and of how God promised that He would supply all his needs. This, Mr. Brace reminded the men, is true today, that God will supply all their needs in whatever area of service He calls them to do in the local church and community.

It's criminal the way some people drink and drive.

Most people in this country drink and drive. You are probably one of them.

If you're like most others, you stay within what you think is the legal limit when you're driving. Or you don't drink. The legal limit and the breathalyzer laws to enforce it are there for a very good reason. They are there to help stop the impaired drivers from driving, and penalize them if necessary.

Alcohol is associated with approximately 40% of all traffic deaths.

Yet, there may have been times when you were impaired without knowing it. So, you'd had only a few drinks; but it takes only a few. You're still impaired. If you're taking a prescription, or something you bought in a drugstore for an ache or pain, the combined effect with alcohol could impair your driving ability considerably. You know you can't be too careful.

However, there are some people who don't seem to care.

In fact, they think disregarding the law is something to be proud of. "You should have seen me last night. I was so drunk. I couldn't walk, I had to drive." The tragedy is that persons who have said that, could have killed themselves and others; yet their friends thought it was funny. Instead of laughing at that kind of behaviour, it's time to speak out against it. Support tough laws.

Tell people who have been drinking not to drive.

Talk to your friends about the dangers of impaired driving. Say: "No thanks, I'm driving." "Talk doesn't do much", you say. Well, the fact is, it's our social attitudes and passiveness that help cause the problems. By talking about them you'll help focus attention on the issues. Your attitude and your ideas for action are important.

It isn't easy. Some people just don't like being told.

But, if you have the courage of your convictions, others will too. If you're not sure what to say, cut this out and talk about it with someone else. "Dialogue on drinking" is a program to help you talk about the problems. If you have any specific comments, we'd like to hear from you. We believe that if enough people talk about the problems, we're that much closer to solving them.

Security.
Income. And flexibility.
No wonder they're Canada's most popular investment.

For over 30 years Canada Savings Bonds have been the most popular investment in Canada. Literally millions of Canadians have used Canada Savings Bonds as a way to build a solid financial base. They're simple, straightforward and easy to understand. They're a great way to save. Here's why.

Security.

Canada Savings Bonds are secure because they're backed by all the resources of Canada.

Income.

They pay good income, an average annual interest to maturity in 1985 of 9.13%. Each $100 bond begins with $8.50 interest the first year and then pays $9.25 interest for each of the remaining 8 years.

Flexibility.

They're flexible, because you can buy Canada Savings Bonds in various denominations, for cash or on instalments wherever you bank or invest. And they're cashable anytime, at their full face value plus earned interest. This year, the purchase limit has been set at $15,000.

Two Kinds.

A. Fully registered bonds. These bonds are registered as to both principal and interest. The interest is sent to you automatically by cheque each year on November 1st. They are available in denominations of $500, $1,000 and $5,000.

B. Coupon bonds. These bonds are registered as to principal and have annual interest coupons payable to bearer. They are available in denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1,000 and $5,000.

Tiverton

(Mrs. John P. Outhouse)

WIVES PLAY HOOKEY—
8 A.M. AND AN OPEN ROAD AHEAD.

What do fishermen's wives do while their spouses are plying their trade? They usually spend most of the day doing household chores, marketing and preparing a good wholesome meal for their husbands to enjoy after the long, hard day. However, occasionally they play "Hookey." At least, that is what Mrs. Nellie Robbins and Mrs. Lillian Prime, Tiverton, whose husbands are fishing partners, did recently. The two simply took the day off and had an enjoyable time—just the two of them.

Mrs. Prime said they caught the 8 a.m. ferry at Tiverton and drove along until they reached Mochele. Here they stopped to call on Mrs. Melzema Barteaux (formerly, Melzema Small, native of Central Grove). Their next stop was Lawrenceville to have a check-up job done on the car, and they were off again.

Their next stop was Bridgewater where they mostly "windowshopped" through all three shopping malls in the area. They called on Mr. Murray Romkey during their stay there.

The trip to the area and meeting folks there was a new experience for Mrs. Robbins, and according to Mrs. Prime she thoroughly enjoyed it.

The two ladies left Bridgewater at 4:00 p.m.

Mrs. Prime recalled they had a mixture of weather, rain, a bit of sunshine, even snow, but nothing marred the pleasures of the day. They took cameras with them so they will have pictures to help preserve memories of their enjoyable day.

Most people will agree that the prevailing season is a most picturesque time to play hookey for a day. Well, anyway that's what Mrs. Prime and Mrs. Robbins thought.

Freeport

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Thurber, Kingston, N.S., accompanied by Mrs. Nonie Sollows, Vancouver, arrived in Freeport on Sunday and attended the memorial service for the late Merrill Sollows on Wednesday. Mrs. Sollows returned with them on Friday to start her flight back to Vancouver. While here they were guests of Miss Eleanor and Mrs. Carol Thurber.

Rev. and Mrs. Walter Ideson celebrated their silver wedding anniversary on Saturday with an open house in the afternoon and evening. Many friends dropped in to wish them well and they were the recipients of many cards, gifts and money. Mr. and Mrs. Ideson came here from Albert, N.B., about eighteen years ago and Rev. Ideson was pastor of the Baptist field here until five years ago when they purchased a home and retired. Although at 87 years old and unable to attend church services often, Mr. Ideson is still interested in all the church activities and his beautiful singing voice still rings clear and true when he does get out.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Campbell, accompanied by Mrs. Blanche Thurber motored to Mass., on Saturday, to spend some time with friends and relatives there.

Mr. and Mrs. Allison Morehouse visited their son, Michael and his new bride at Liverpool, N.S., on the weekend.

Miss Eleanor Thurber is spending some time with her sister, Nora, in St. John, and Mr. Ellis.

Glendon and Alan Moore were in Halifax over the weekend visiting their brother, Clifton, who has been in the Victoria General Hospital since Oct. 2nd. Clifton was driving a fork lift when it went out of control and upset on him. Another forklift had to be used to move the machine from his body before he could be removed from under it. He received many injuries and will be in hospital for some time but the doctors have every hope for his complete recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Frankie Gillis took young Frankie to Halifax on Wednesday for medical treatment and all three returned on the same day.

Several boats from the lobster fishing fleet went to Grand Manan last week for lobster bait. They encountered rough weather and were storm-stayed a couple of days, returning Sunday night, without any bait.

Tiddville

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Stanton spent Sunday afternoon with the latter's sister, Mrs. Ashton Lewis, Seawall.

Miss Patricia Sullivan spent Thanksgiving weekend with her sister, Mrs. Joe Gallant, Dartmouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Garry Revels and children, Lower Sackville spent Thanksgiving with the latter's mother, Mrs. Rose Frost.

Mr. and Mrs. Orland Guier, Central Grove, visited the latter's sister, Mrs. Elmer Frost.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gosson and children of Rossway were dinner guests of the former's mother, Mrs. Wilfred Sullivan.

Rev. and Mrs. Eldon Jagoe, Oxford, N.S., who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Lovett Theriault and other friends have returned to their home. They are celebrating their 38th wedding anniversary. A surprise party was held at the Pentecostal church in honor of Rev. and Mrs. Jagoe.

Sandy Cove

(Gloria Trask)

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Bishop have received word of the birth of a grand-daughter at Arlington, Va., to Mr. and Mrs. George Bishop.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Morehouse who were married on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Batson, Bridgetown, spent Sunday with their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jeffrey.

Mr. and Mrs. Steven Wilson and daughter, Fletcher's Lake, were weekend guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Trask. Mrs. Wilson and Amanda will visit for a week with her parents.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Franklin who were recently married.

Mrs. Jack Morehouse spent a few days last week with her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Outhouse and family, Lower Sackville.

The congregation of Zion United Church met at the home of Mrs. Ernest McCullough after service on Sunday to honor Rev. and Mrs. Stevens who are leaving this field. Mr. Victor Titus presented a purse of money and Mrs. Jack Morehouse presented one of her paintings.

Mr. Stevens expressed their thanks and afternoon tea was served by Miss Elizabeth McCullough, Mrs. Lauriston Tidd, Mrs. Victor Titus and Mrs. Weldon Trask.

More Than Fifty Rescued
In Two Years

The volunteer members of ground search and rescue teams drew the praise of Environment Minister John Hawkins during the weekend for the manner in which they give freely of their time to assist in locating persons lost in the woods.

Addressing a ground search and rescue seminar at Camp Debert arranged by Nova Scotia Emergency Measures Organization, Mr. Hawkins said the provincial government is placing increasing emphasis on the ground search and rescue program. The program was inaugurated in 1973 to provide trained and organized personnel to reduce fatalities in the woods.

Mr. Hawkins, the minister-in-charge of EMO, said the 16 ground search and rescue teams represent approximately 800 volunteers across the province. More than 50 representatives of the teams attended the seminar.

In the last two years the teams have rescued more than 50 persons who have

Pantry Sale Brings $123

Featured in the sale which was held in the church vestry was rolls, pickles, fancy breads, jellies, jams, cranberries, squash, bread, cakes and other sweets. Approximately $123 was derived from the event.

Story Of Gavel

It was no ordinary gavel with which W. M. Cameron, opened Tuscan Lodge No. 111 F. and A.M. on October 12, 1976; but one made from a special telephone pole by P. M. Clifton Keating of Forest Hill Lodge No. 206 (New Jersey) F. and A.M., who was made a M.M. on April 3, 1924.

To get back to the gavel let our thoughts go to the early 1800's when a chestnut seedling started to sprout. Nature, being what she is, permitted this seedling to grow into a very large tree, approximately 75 feet high and 5 feet in circumference.

In the 1880's, this tree was felled and shaped into a pole and in 1889 was set in Glen Avenue, Millburn, New Jersey. It supported cross arms of open copper wire voice circuits which originated in New York City and extended to Chicago.

During 1913, Alexander Graham Bell and Theodore Newton Vail envisioned and ordered this voice circuit to the West coast. This extension took two years to complete over plains and mountains. In 1915, Alexander Graham Bell's dream became a reality. It was over this voice circuit and this particular piece of chestnut pole that the first transcontinental telephone call was made from New York to San Francisco.

After serving the telephone industry for over 64 years, this pole was removed. A telephone engineer, realizing the historical value of this event, salvaged the better part of it, and thus our gavel was made possible.

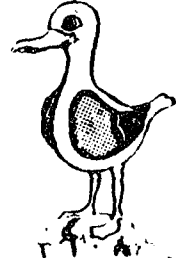

Brother Keating started working for the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company in June, 1928 and remained with them as an outside plant engineer until his retirement in July, 1965. He started woodturning in high school, stopped it for a few years, but soon the craving came again. Now he does a lot of playing with his wood lathe turning out various wood products. When I was in Morristown, recently, I prevailed upon my old friend and school mate to give me this gavel for old time's sake, and for a unique gift to hand down to Tuscan Lodge No. 111.

XXXXXXXXXX

Although Dr. Bell was born in Scotland (Edinburgh), March 3, 1897, he died in Nova Scotia on August 2, 1922. Theodore Newton Vail was an American capitalist, born in Ohio, July 16, 1845 and died April 16, 1928; was educated at Morristown Academy in New Jersey; and became President of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. in 1897.

become lost in the woods. In many instances the persons rescued have been children and elderly persons.

The minister said the timing of the seminar at Camp Debert is appropriate, since during the Fall hunting season the search and rescue teams are often called upon to look for inexperienced hunters who become lost.

EMO is the government agency responsible for coordinating the ground search and rescue program, and training is provided by EMO, the Department of Lands and Forests and the RCMP.

An annual grant of $200 is provided each team by EMO to help defray training and equipment costs.

The minister noted the close co-operation that exists between EMO and the RCMP. The latter is the agency responsible for missing persons. Through EMO and the search and rescue teams, trained personnel are made available to work with the RCMP in conducting the searches.

Assistance in training and operations is also provided by the Department of Lands and Forests. Both Lands and Forests and RCMP provide tracking dogs for searches. In a number of communities, including Digby, Waverley, Musquodoboit Harbour, Tatamagouche and Bridgewater, the search and rescue teams are associated with the volunteer fire departments, and "this is a very useful and commendable association," said Mr. Hawkins.

During the afternoon part of the seminar a demonstration of the various steps employed in a search, including the use of a RCMP tracking dog, was carried out by the Waverley team. Members of the search and rescue teams receive training in such subjects as map reading, compass, legal aspects of searches, survival, and search methods. A 32-page search and rescue manual was produced by EMO in co-operation with Lands and Forests and is used by the teams.

At present search and rescue teams are located in Sydney, Cheticamp, Liverpool, St. Peters, New Glasgow, Truro, Tatamagouche, Springhill, Digby, Windsor, West Dalhousie, Bridgewater, Waterville, Waverley, Musquodoboit Harbour, and Sheet Harbour.

Supreme Court Dismisses Crown's Appeal

The appeal division of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia has dismissed an appeal by the federal Crown against the sentence imposed on seven Shelburne County fishermen by provincial magistrate Phillip Woolaver.

At a June sitting of Provincial Magistrate's Court in Shelburne, Judge Woolaver fined Gerald Hemeon, Harley Dedrick, Delbert Bower, George Rennehan, Neil Nickerson, Clayton Quinlan and Allan Dedrick, $400 each after they pleaded guilty to a charge of fishing with hook and line in a portion of the Northwest Atlantic contrary to Northwest Atlantic Fisheries Regulations.

But, at the same time, Judge Woolaver refused to order forfeitures of the catch of fish in addition to the fine.

In its appeal, the crown argued the trial judge committed an error in law by failure to give sufficient consideration to the principle of deterrence in refusing to order forfeiture of the fish catch.

In his decision, however, Mr. Justice Thomas H. Coffin said the vital issue which emerged on the hearing was whether the question is one of law alone.

Mr. Justice Coffin said it appears the crown was complaining of the inadequacy of the sentence, and as such, did that raise a question of law alone.

He said it was his opinion the case did not raise the law question and as a result the appeal division was without jurisdiction to deal with it.

His decision was concurred in by Mr. Justice A. Gordon Cooper and Angus L. MacDonald.

Lester L. Clements acted on behalf of the crown in its appeal, while Gregory Warner represented the respondents.

Further Art Of Choral Music

The Nova Scotia Choral Federation will hold a public meeting for people interested in all aspects of Choral music on Wednesday, November 3 at 7:30 p.m. at the College Sainte-Anne.

The Nova Scotia Choral Federation (NSCF), funded by the Provincial Department of Recreation is an organization through which choirs in Nova Scotia may find a common purpose and identity in the promotion of the art of Choral music.

The purpose of the November 3 meeting is to explain the goals and projects developed by the Federation, and to receive ideas and suggestions for ways the NSCF can be of real assistance to Digby and Yarmouth county choirs.

"This is not just paper-work", says NSCF Executive Director, Janet Hull. "We hope to make plans for concrete action if people want it. Our goal is to encourage high standards of artistic attainment among singers and directors of every kind of choir. You cannot do that with just a list and a promise."

The NSCF has several services available upon request to individuals or choirs who pay the $5 annual membership fee. These

Women Hold Thanksgiving Meeting

On Tuesday evening the United Church Women, Bear River, met with Mrs. Foster Hall at her new home on the Bell Road.

Thanksgiving was the subject of both the worship service and the program, which included music and readings.

At the business meeting it was reported that more than a dozen cartons of good used clothing had been sent to the Brunswick Street Mission, also a pound of used stamps to the Leprosy Mission. Several members reported on the interesting and successful conference held in Digby recently.

A pleasant social hour was enjoyed during which time refreshments were served.

services include a lending library of a variety of choral music, workshops tailored to the specific needs of individual choirs, and assistance with choir exchanges, performances.

The Federation's work is as a catalyst to help choirs help themselves, rather than as a money-granting body.

Also attending the meeting at the College Sainte-Anne will be Father Maurice LeBlanc, a member of the planning committee which formed the Federation.

Father LeBlanc and Miss Hull encourage all members and plan for better choral music.

Bayview

The Mysteries of the Sea are great and the mysteries of the sea are many. The Village of Bay View was deeply shocked and much saddened when Mr. Edward Murphy, assistant Lighthouse keeper of Point Prim was reported missing this past week.

Mr. Murphy went to pull lobster traps and was last seen on Friday afternoon approximately 10 miles from Delaps Cove, where his badly demolished boat was located on Saturday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Adams have been recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Jennex of Port Wade.

Mr. and Mrs. Jennex have recently moved there from Dartmouth N.S. They are now both retired. Mrs. Jennex served the Post Office Dept. for 32 years and Mr. Jennex was employed at the dock yard for a long period of time. They now own the home formerly owned by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parks, Port Wade.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Burns have recently returned from a two week vacation period to another province.

May we extend well wishes to Mr. Kenneth Erwin who is presently a patient in the V.G. Hospital, Halifax.

Mr. Everett Ritcey has now returned home after spending the Thanksgiving Holidays with his son, Gordon Ritcey of Ottawa, Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Adams spent the 1st weekend of October near Truro, where they visited with their son, Master John Adams who is presently attending The Nova Scotia Youth Training Centre, Truro. They stayed at Steviacke River Park while in the area.

On behalf of the congregation a purse was presented to Mr. Stevens by Mr. V. C. Titus.

Reflecting To 1946

Apparently the Fall of 1946 was dry. Dry for weeks, so the news said and farmers were transporting water at the end of October for miles. There were fears that a heavy freeze up might come which would be unfortunate. The town water supply was low, it being only 14 inches over the intake pipe at Lily Lake. The water was badly discolored (does that sound familiar?) with silt and foreign matter. Boat building in Weymouth had to be dispensed with for a short time because of water shortage. Electric energy was effected by the shortage. Power from the Nova Scotia Power Commission at Mersey River had to be fed into the Digby County Power lines by the sub-station at Hill Grove.

Home and School was organized at Westport with Hubert Peters, president; Miss Anderson, vice-president; Mrs. Margaret Pierce, secretary and Mrs. Harold Denton, treasurer. Professor Loran DeWolfe and Miss Dora Baker were speakers.

The October 31, 1946 issue of the Digby Courier was looking forward to a tuna canning industry to spring up down the Neck and use made of tuna catching sport to attract tourists. Tuna seemed to be plentiful in the St. Mary's Bay, along the Neck and Islands. Many were caught in weirs. A picture in the news showed a 500 lb tuna caught by Jack Morehouse, Percy Harris and Hugh Morehouse of Sandy Cove and Owen Ingils of Grand Manan, N.B.

A statement made by J.J. Wallis, in addressing the Digby Kiwanians on the history of Yarmouth shipping, was that at one time Yarmouth owned more shipping, than any other port of its size in the world.

expressed their appreciation for these gifts.

After a pleasant social hour refreshments were served by the hostesses assisted by Mrs. Weldon Trask, Mrs. L. Tidd and Mrs. V. C. Titus.

COUNCILLORS TAKE OATH OF OFFICE

Mayor Stewart MacNaughton, and councillors Gordon Ellis, Robert MacNutt and Foster Journey were ceremoniously sworn into office during Monday night's Digby Town Council session.

Justices of the peace presiding at the ceremony were Roscoe Handspiker and Dr. G. Turnbull. Former Mayor Charles Hailburton was on hand to pass over the chain of office to Mr. MacNaughton.

In a brief address after assuming the Chair, Mr. MacNaughton welcomed the successful election candidates; noted that meetings would be conducted according to parliamentary procedures; expressed hope "disheartening situation" at town hall could be improved; and said an 11 p.m. meeting curfew would be enforced. Its an "exercise in futility" to sit longer than three hours, he said.

After the swearing in ceremony was over, an election was held for Deputy-Mayor. Phillip Robertson will continue in that capacity.

In other council business, Wayne Hanson appeared to request that a proposed Pizza Delight location in Conway be hooked to the town sewer. The question was left for investigation.

In the RCMP report, NCO Thomas Barlow reported fairly quiet Hallowe'en with no serious incidents. He noted six breaks had occurred during October with little stolen. In one case a large quantity of scallops was taken in one break which resulted in two persons being charged.

The NCO said winter parking regulations would come into effect on December 1. Notice to the public will be given via two successive newspaper ads.

PRISON COSTS
Council decided it would be willing to participate financially, on a per capita basis with other units involved, in Yarmouth's legal battle against payment of debts to the Kings County Correctional Centre.

The town of Digby's debt to the same institution has now reached $27,766.24.

Council has offered either of two pieces of land for lease to the CBC in reply to that company's request for land to purchase. The latest letter from CBC state it had taken out an option on a piece of land from Hyrec.

In the Hospital Board report, Councillor Chipman noted the Pediatrics Ward of the Digby General hospital is to be re-opened.

A letter of resignation from the town bookkeeper was read. Coun. Chipman wants discussion before another is advertised for since "we may be over-staffed."

AMBULANCE

In the Hospital Board report, Coun. Chipman noted the Digby representative at a Health Services Commission and Social Services Department meeting in Halifax, was asked if the Digby board would be interested in running an ambulance service should the John Gray operation cease.

In such a case the board would be guaranteed that no capital would be required or losses suffered at the board's expense.

"The government has been considering putting ambulance service under control of hospitals and would use this area as a pilot project," the report read.

CARDOZA

Golden Wedding Anniversary

An enjoyable evening was had when about forty guests gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Boudreau to help them celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Boudreau were married at Plympton Church on October 19, 1926, by the Rev. Father Adolph LeBlanc. Their sponsors were the late Mrs. Alma Welch and Mr. Clifford Amaro.

They have three sons, Charles, living at Weymouth; Roy at home, and Vernon in Toronto. They received a phone call from Vernon on Tuesday night.

Father Rene LeBlanc called at their home and said an anniversary Mass for While about 30 complaints came into the Royal Canadian Mounted Police headquarters in Digby on Saturday evening, Hallowe'en pranks were slight, at a minimum of no serious consequence. Road blocks had been built by logs and other materials in some areas, an old barn was set on fire at Riverdale and a fire was started on the Bear River bridge in that village. R.C.M.P. were high in their praise for assistance them and presented them with a gold plaque.

Mr. and Mrs. Boudreau received many gifts including china, gold cream and pitcher sets, two monograms with the Family Tree on one and their name and wedding date on the other, also a sum of money.

The decorated wedding cake was presented to them by their niece, Jennie Handspiker, of Digby.

The evening was spent by playing cards, Rawpter pie and refreshments were served.

This was the seventh one of Mrs. Boudreau's family to have celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary.

Hallowe'en Quiet

accorded them, for the C.B. radio operators and the Digby Fire Department all of whom kept up a strict patrol throughout the Hallowe'en observance. One street light was reported broken at Freeport.

In Town the annual Lions Club Hallowe'en Party kept some six hundred to seven hundred kids off the streets. Goodies and prizes were given out and games were arranged.

In charge of the party was Jack Walker of the Digby Lions. Patrick Fletcher is president and judges were Mrs. Doris Brown, Digby and Mrs. Rose MacIntyre, Charlottetown, P.E.I.

Hallowe'en passed orderly and quietly in the Tiverton area, Saturday. Young trick or treaters, that is, ghosts, goblins and other "weird" characters, knocking on doors, were made welcome by the occupants and treats that had been carefully (in some cases, "lovingly") stored in readiness for the event, were deposited in containers held by the youngsters.

The trouble-free and orderly manner in which the event was observed could very well be attributed to a member of the R.C.M.P. of Digby. He and Mr. Arden Greenlaw and Mr. Alvin Outhouse kept close surveillance in the area. The officer "checked out" a number of young people.

His presence in the area was greatly appreciated.

Robert Theriault Elected Warden

Robert Theriault, representative of the Meteghan area, has been elected warden of the district of Clare. The selection came during a special Clare municipal council session.

Mr. Theriault, an engineer at College St. Anne, succeeds former warden Omer Blinn who was defeated in the October municipal elections. The new deputy warden is Walter N. Gaudet, Jr., serving his first term on council.

Mr. Gaudet represents the Concession area.

In other council action, representatives were ad-

School Budget $1,307,000 Approved

An operating budget for the year 1976-77 of $1,307,000 was approved for the Digby Regional High School at the DRHS Board meeting on Monday evening. This is an increase of $300,000 over the previous year, approximately $200,000 representing an increase in teachers' salaries and fringe benefits. The budget must meet with the approval of the Department of Education before it is finally passed.

The Board on Monday presided over by Captain Reginald Hazelton also moved to include a budget of $6,250 for a reading specialist in the Junior High School for the year 1977-78.

Eva Cromwell Re-elected President At 50th Annual Meeting

On October 4, 1976, the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Digby General Hospital held their 50th Annual Meeting, in the Hospital Board Room.

Present were 25 ladies, including four new members. Guest speaker for the evening was Mr. Boucher from C.A.R.S., who showed a film "Arthritis is Never Hopeless", followed by a brief discussion period.

During the past year the Auxiliary has purchased for the hospital a gastroscope, a coat rack for physiotherapy, and a video-tape cassette player. A kettle was purchased for the Nurses' Residence. No bursaries were awarded this year because no applications were received.

Mrs. Eva Cromwell has started her second term as President of the Auxiliary, with other officers as follows: 1st Vice-President - Fran Stacey; 2nd Vice-President - Diane Banks; Secretary -

Jan Gordon; Treasurer - Karly Denton; Canteen Manager - Beatrice Height and Board Member - Celeste Hall.

The members thanked Mabel and Joe Hattie, Vernon Adams, and Marge Sabean for their help during the year. Thanks is also extended to the afternoon and evening volunteers, many of whom do double duty when necessary.

The winner of the Infant Quilt raffled was Elsie Newell, and winner of the doll and wardrobe was Mrs. William Stoddart. Before Christmas another doll with wardrobe will be raffled. The clothing for both dolls was made and donated by member Diane Banks.

For those interested in membership in this worthwhile organization, Auxiliary meetings are held the first Monday of each month in the Hospital Board Room at 8 p.m.

Jean Page Heads Literacy Council

A two-day Literacy Workshop closed in Digby on recently by organizing a Digby - Annapolis Literacy Council headed by Ms. Jean Page as chairperson. Other officers elected were Ms. Karen Moore, secretary - treasurer; tutor contacts, Ms. Beryl Henderson and supply officer Ms. Hilda Mullen.

The workshop which began on Friday evening stressed the need of more volunteer tutors and because there actually are many in the area who can profit by the Literacy program, they are also looking for learners. Contacts can be made at the Digby Mental Health phone 245-4709 or Rev. John Stokoe 467-3554.

The method of teaching used for the literacy program is known as the Laubach training course, devised by Dr. Frank Laubach, a missionary, and is on the method of Each One Teach One. The program in Digby is sponsored by the Continuing Education Division of the Department of Education and the Digby Mental Health Association. Mrs. Thelma Blinn, Eastern Regional chairperson of World Literacy, Canada, has been in town giving guidance and information on the program.

There is no charge for the service of the Literacy program. Text books are provided free. A volunteer, especially trained in the Laubach method of teaching adults to read will work with the student privately, usually in the volunteer's own home.

There are more than 44,000 functional illiterates in Nova Scotia with varied reasons for the handicap such as limited ability, under-achievement and ineffectual instruction.

Encyclopedia For Tideview

Mrs. John Englehart, Digby, has recently donated to Tideview Terrace a set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Tideview Terrace, Digby. The donation was made possible through the World Book of Canada, Ltd., for which Mrs. Englehart is area manager. Mrs. Englehart received the honor of making the presentation in her area because she had reached a certain sales goal.

In accepting the gift, Tideview administrator, Russell Stonehouse, expressed appreciation for the gift and also for the fact that people in the community are interested in the welfare of those living at Tideview. It means much, he said, to guests and staff alike.

The $6,250 represents the 1977 portion of the year's salary. This also is subject to the approval of the Department of Education.

Contracts with the Nova Scotia Teacher's Union and C.U.P.E. were accepted.

Bills amounting to $8860.50 for September were passed for payment. Also a motion was passed to pay to the Annapolis Digby Physical Education Association an amount of $104.60 being the 1976 annual dues.

Superintendent C.C. MacInnis reported an enrollment of 943 at the Digby Regional High School for 1976-77. This is an increase of 25. Mr. MacInnis presented the Board with an enrollment graph which indicates an increase for the next few years.

Say Farewell To The Stevens

Grace United Church congregation, Digby, said farewell on Sunday morning to their pastor, Rev. Ronald Stevens and Mrs. Stevens by gathering at the church hall following the morning worship for a social hour. Rev. Mr. Stevens and Mrs. Stevens left on Monday to take up their new pastorate at Shediac, N.B.

For his farewell sermon, Mr. Stevens used the text from Second Corinthians 13-11 "Finally, brethren, farewell" and the senior choir under direction of Mrs. Elton Arnold sang "All Will Be Well".

C.C. MacInnis paid tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Stevens at the social hour, thanking them for their leadership within the church sphere but also noting that both "Ron and Rae", took an active part in the entire community through the Bible Society, Red Cross, service clubs and boards. The role of a citizen for Mrs. Stevens spread through the entire community and on every age level through her services in women's and girls' organizations of the church and through Tideview Terrace.

Mr. MacInnis expressed appreciation to Mr. Stevens in his presentation of sermons, their content, his method and his sincerity and dignity. He said Mr. Stevens lent encouragement and his services were always able to rejuvenate the church attendant to meet the challenge of the week ahead and return to perspective. He especially mentioned the part played by Mrs. Stevens in taking her place at the door each Sunday to greet the people before they returned to their homes.

Following Mr. MacInnis' tribute, Mrs. Frank Wilson of the Bay View Church presented Mr. Stevens with a sum of money; Mrs. D. G. Black, as a member of Grace United Session presented Mrs. Stevens with a framed Bryson Denton photograph of the Princess of Acadia going out through the Gap and Norman Wright, presented Mr. Stevens with an envelope of money from the congregation. The U.C.W. catered for the social hour.

The congregation at Sandy Cove presented gifts to Rev. and Mrs. Stevens at a social hour on the previous Sunday.

Editorials

50 YEARS OF DEDICATED SERVICE

—The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Digby General Hospital has just completed its fiftieth year of service to the hospital and community.

—This organization has seen service in three Digby hospitals. The first hospital was what is now known as Brad's Store; the second, is what is known as the old Digby General Hospital and was built in 1931. The present Digby General Hospital was built in 1965.

—This group of hospital minded ladies has contributed well over One Hundred Thousand Dollars towards hospital care and equipment. This is a considerable amount of money and represents many hours of time and effort. Funds have been raised through Hospital Fairs, teas, suppers and through the Ladies Auxiliary Canteen opened in 1965.

—The first hospital fair was held in the old Victoria Rink in 1928. The first president was Mrs. James Merkel.

—This organization formed the very popular Candy Strippers (girls from 15 to 18 years of age) who do volunteer work on the wards from 4 to 6 p.m.

—We, the press and citizens of the area express our gratitude to the Ladies Auxiliary Digby General Hospital for a job well done, and wish them many more years of success.

Hodge Podge

— "Women's Physical Education begins". So read the advertisement. Well, if that's the kind of class wanted, how else can you expect to express it. Just watch out for Human Rights. No discrimination, you know. Or, is it O.K. to discriminate against men?

— Bill Smiley and me. The last red glow of the ultra violet ray for relieving the arthritis ache in the knee was disappearing when we picked up the Bill Smiley column in another weekly. Of course, if there is anything that can dispense with an arthritic pain more readily than a chuckle from reading Bill Smiley's column then you let us know. So we read right to the last paragraph which said "For two weeks I've been wearing a magnetic bracelet which is supposed to relieve my arthritis." Bill Smiley and this editor have a lot in common such as arthritic aches and copper bracelets. Must see Bill. The government might give us an L.I.P. grant to investigate and research on some of these arthritis cures. Of course, as far as the copper bracelets are concerned ours are beautiful filigree work, fit to wear to a Queen's ball. We don't want to lose them. And Bill Smiley has a prejudice to begin with. We detected that from his next few lines which read "I'd have been just as far ahead to stick an onion in my ear and go out and swing, by the tail, a dead cat at the moon like Huck Finn." We could research on behalf all those people who are wearing magnetic bracelets and been trying to persuade us to wear ours too. Of course, there are remedies, so called, upon remedies which would need to be researched, like, the man whose arthritis was cured by drinking pineapple juice everyday, by using one vitamin or another or a diet of honey mixed with vinegar. Arthritis has something to say about the use of tea and coffee, oranges and grape fruits and lemon juice according to the lay person. It's anybody's guess. You can blame it on the weather. The soundest advice we seemed to get was from our son-in-law. His advice was "sell your house on Birch St. and buy one in Bermuda." That coming from the proper professional direction looked genuine and soundly put. Our disillusionment came with the postscript "so I can come down to visit you." Afterall, whose arthritis are we curing!! Until we're offered an L.I.P. grant, Bill, you had better keep up your column and we'll stick to Hodge Podge." Of the thousands of people with arthritis, each seems to have his own pet layman's cure.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

As I have mentioned in these columns before, I have been concerned since the beginning of my term in office about the unusually high tax rate imposed upon Digby ratepayers since the completion of the former Mayor Smith's term, and also about the low discount rate of 2 percent for early payment and the unusually high penalty of 14 per cent on overdue tax accounts.

At Monday night's council meeting I brought forth a motion to increase the discount to 5 percent and to lower the penalty rate to 12 percent, in keeping with towns and municipalities in other parts of the province. For the third time since this was introduced in 1975, "Finance Minister" Ellis adamantly opposed the motion, and as usual, was wholeheartedly supported in his protest by Councillor Robertson. Ellis pointed out that his finance committee, VanTassel, Robertson and Ellis, had decided earlier in the evening that there should be no change. The Mayor suggested that the subject might be raised again before the deadline for assessment notices. The motion was lost, with Ellis, VanTassel and Robertson voting "nay" and Mayor MacNaughton casting his vote in their support.

Ironically, isn't it, that in 1976 Council approved $756,500.00 in exemptions to social clubs and corporations, and a few years previous, Chairman Ellis was one of the few who zealously attempted to exempt developers of the shopping centre to the tune of $75,000.

Once again, ratepayers, you are the losers to the chosen few - unless of course, you can expect a miracle. Eileen Chipman

Gideons Hold Special Service

On Sunday afternoon a number of members from the Gideon Digby-Annapolis Camp met for a service at the River-View Manor in Annapolis Royal. The service was opened with a hymn sing. Two special numbers were rendered, a solo by Lawrence Henshaw, "The Wonder Of It All" and a duet by Carole Potter and Bea Trimmer, "There Is A River", accompanied at the piano by Carlene Porter.

The president, Allen Potter, told of the work of the Gideons and gave a brief talk and time of sharing on what John 10:1-5 meant to them. The service was closed with a hymn and a closing prayer by Donald Trimmer. A brief visit was made to the various apartments.

A Thought Starter

By Ronald C. McCormack
A TALE OF TWO HOUSES

How important is the Bible?

The heeding of it is the difference between wisdom and foolishness.

Christ told the familiar story of the two builders in Matthew 7:24-27 to demonstrate the ways of right and wrong.

"Whosoever heareth these sayings of mine (the Bible) and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, who built his house on a rock". The storms could not knock it down. The rock held.

Those who will not pay attention to the authority and direction of the Word of God, are compared here to the man who built his house on the shifting sand. The storms came on this house. The whole structure collapsed in a dreadful fall.

The lesson here is about life. The rock is the Person and Word of Christ.

Those who build on this rock will survive the storms of stress, doubt, sickness and even death. Building on the sand of human effort and human thinking may appear at first to be quite adequate. In the end this will come to destruction.

Only the inner Presence of God can make us see the difference.

Who will heed?

The Price Of Peace

What is the Price of Peace? It's cost is high. It encompasses many things, Courage to fight for the right, Dedication to a cause for others, Companionship with all men, Sacrifice, devoted to the purpose of keeping it secure. It is giving, serving, suffering.

Peace does not come without it's price.

It is not free,

The price of Peace is high.

HAMILTON - RYAN

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ryan, Conway, was the scene of a pretty summer wedding when their elder daughter, Wendy Edith became the bride of Mr. Andrew Earl Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hamilton, Litchfield, Annapolis County.

Lic. David Keith, friend of the bride and groom officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Ivan Dobson, Sackville, N.B., aunt of the bride, was the organist.

The double living rooms were decorated with paper wedding bells, white tapers, and vases of roses and baby's breath. Baskets of white and yellow snapdragons and baby's breath flanked the fireplace. The bride, given in marriage by her parents, was charming in a floor length gown of white dotted swiss, featuring a square neckline, gored skirt, and long full sleeves, gathered at the cuff. Lace accented the bodice, midriff, and neckline. The elbow length veil of nylon tulle, trimmed in lace matching that of the gown, was held by a tiara of satin and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

Miss Paula Ryan, sister of the bride, was maid of honour. Her floor length gown in pastel shades of mint green and yellow polyester featured a highline bodice, long bell sleeves and slightly gathered skirt with flounce. She carried a nosegay of yellow daisies and baby's breath.

Mr. Michael Longmire, friend of the groom, was best man. Mitchell and Jeffrey Ryan, brothers of the bride, attended the door.

The mother of the bride wore a floor length gown of floral polyester chiffon in shades of mauve and white. Her corsage was of ivory roses. The groom's mother chose a floor length gown of orange ice polyester double knit with a corsage of orange ice roses.

The bride's paternal grandmother, Mrs. Allan Ryan, Newcastle, New Brunswick was also in attendance. She wore a royal blue dress with a corsage of yellow roses.

The bride's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stephens, Sackville, New Brunswick also attended. Mrs. Stephens wore a floor length gown of blue floral polyester with a

The Liverpool United Baptist Church was the scene of a lovely late summer wedding on September 11, 1976 at 4 p.m. when Glenna Mary Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Robertson of Port Joli and Michael Ruben, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allison Morehouse of Freeport exchanged marriage vows. Rev. Charles Freaque officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The altar was adorned with standards of yellow and white daisies entwined with coral baby's breath and bows of autumn shades. A silver candelabra was lit before the altar for the "Ceremony of the Candles." The guest pews were marked with a single bell and ribbon of autumn shades.

Mrs. Eric Berriman presided at the organ. The soloist, Miss Susan Whynot, rendered, "I Love You Truly," when the bride and groom came before the altar and "Hear Us, O Father," during the signing of the register.

The bride given in marriage by her father and mother, looked radiant in a traditional floor length gown of white nylon over taffeta. The empire styled bodice featured rows of embroidered lace and a stand up V-neck of nylon ruffle. The long sheer sleeves were gathered on a wide cuff. The floor length veil was held in place by a Juliette cap of embroidered miniature and white daisies. She carried an arm bouquet of sonia roses and baby's breath with a white bow and streamers with sonia rose buds attached.

Mrs. John Bolivar, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore an empire styled, floor length gown of coral sueded satin with cape sleeves. Mrs. Harold Leslie, friend of the bride and Mrs. Raymond Graham, sister of the groom were bridesmaids. They wore gowns identical to the corsage of yellow sweetheart roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held. Mrs. Lendal Hamilton, Litchfield, aunt of the groom, and Mrs. Alan More, Dartmouth, cousin of the bride, poured. Serving were Miss Marion Dobson, Sackville, N.B., Miss Colleen Estabrooks, Halifax, cousins of the bride, and Miss Elaine Hersey, Digby, friend of the bride. ## there's no free lunch

Once upon a time there was a Little Red Rooster who scratched about and uncovered some grains of wheat. He called his barnyard neighbours and said: "If we work together and plant this wheat, we will have some fine bread to eat. Who will help me plant the wheat?"

"Not I," said the Cow. "Not I," said the Duck. "Not I," said the Goose. "Then I will," said the Little Red Rooster and he did.

After the wheat started growing, the ground turned dry and there was no rain in sight. "Who will help me water the wheat?" said the Little Red Rooster.

"Not I," said the Cow. "I'd lose my workman's compensation," said the Pig. "Equal rights," said the Goose. "Then I will," said the Little Red Rooster and he did.

The wheat grew tall and ripened into golden grain. "Who will help me reap the wheat?" asked the Little Red Rooster.

"I'm waiting for a guaranteed annual wage," said the Cow. "Not I," said the Duck. "Out of my classification," said the Pig. "Not I," said the Goose. "Then I will," said the Little Red Rooster and he did.

When it came time to grind the flour, "Not I," said the Cow. "I'd lose my unemployment insurance," said the Duck.

When it came time to bake the bread, "That's overtime for me," said the Cow. "I'm a dropout and never learned how," said the Duck. "I'd lose my welfare benefits," said the Pig. "If I'm the only one helping, that's discrimination," said the Goose.

"Then I will," said the Little Red Rooster and he did. He baked five loaves of fine bread and held them up for his neighbours to see.

"I want some," said the Cow. "I want some," said the Duck. "I want some," said the Pig. "I demand my share," said the Goose.

"No," said the Little Red Rooster. "I can rest for awhile and eat five loaves myself."

"Excess profits," cried the Cow. "Capitalist leech," screamed the Duck. "Company link," grunted the Pig. "Equal rights," screamed the Goose. And they hurriedly painted picket signs and marched around the Little Red Rooster, singing, "We shall overcome." And they did.

For when the Farmer came to investigate the corn-motion, he said, "You must not be greedy, Little Red Rooster. Look at the oppressed Cow. Look at the disadvantaged Duck. Look at the underprivileged Pig. Look at the less fortunate Goose. You are guilty of making second-class citizens of them."

"But-but-but I earned the bread," protested the Little Red Rooster.

"Exactly," the wise Farmer said. "That is the wonderful free enterprise system; anybody in the barnyard can earn as much as he wants. You should be happy to have all this freedom. In other barnyards, you would have to give all your loaves to the Farmer. Here you give four loaves to your suffering neighbours."

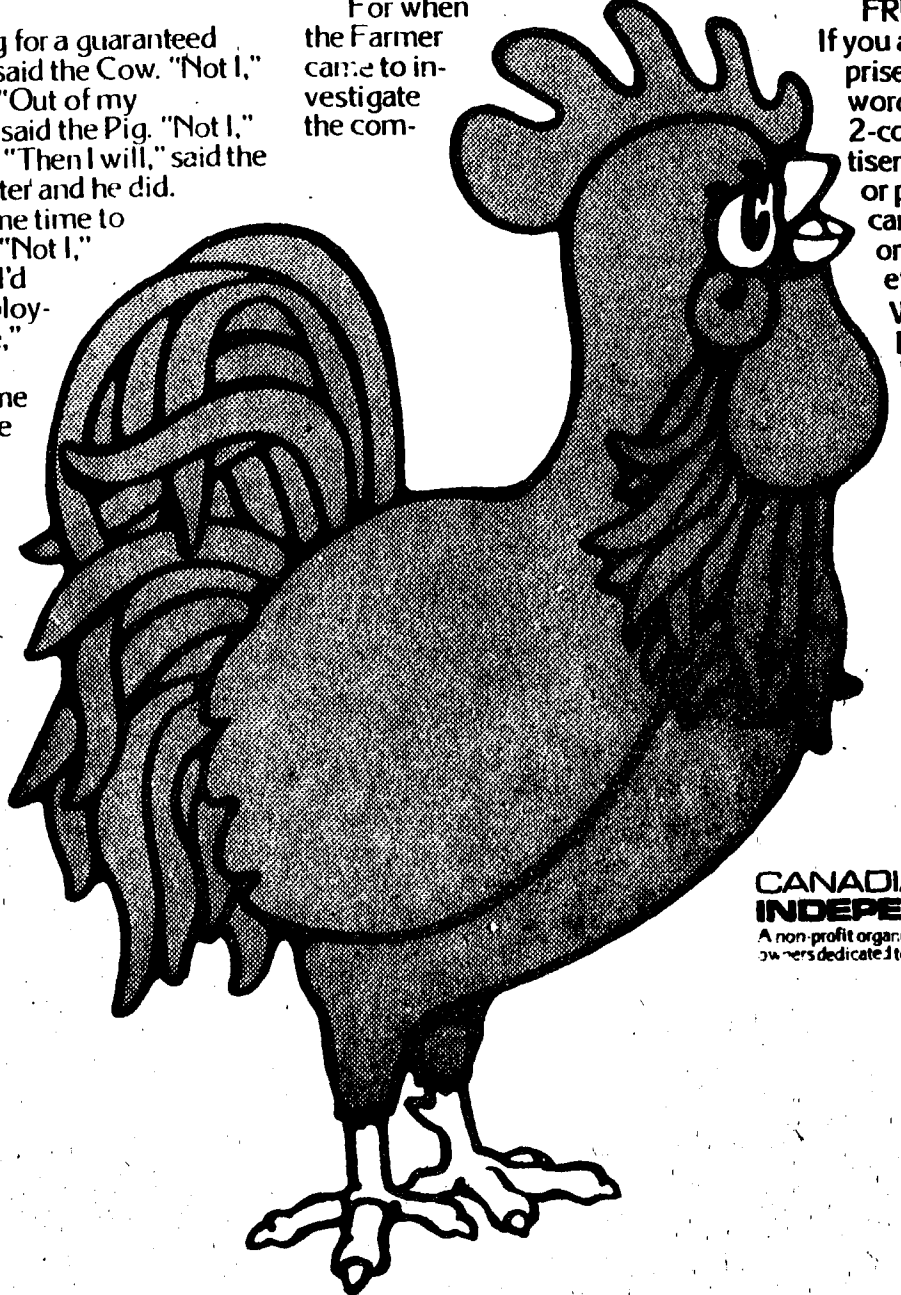

And they lived happily ever after. Including the Little Red Rooster, who smiled and crowed, "I am grateful, I am grateful."

But his neighbours wondered why he never baked any more bread.

IN MEMORIAM

WOOD - In memory of Dear Mum who left me November 5, 1972.

Life's Voyage

As the ships that pass in mid ocean
Far from the quiet shore,
They sail for a moment together
Then part to meet no more.
So are our meetings and partings
But when life's voyage is over,
May we all meet in that quiet harbour
Where our partings are no more.
Ever remembered, ever loved.
By DAUGHTER CONNIE. 13:1ip

HEWITT - In loving memory of a dear husband and Father, who passed away, November 6, 1975.

So often we look at your picture
Smiling you seem to say
Don't Cry! I am only sleeping.
We'll be together again someday,
Home in the beautiful hill of God,
By the valley blessed so fair,
Someday when life is over,
With joy we'll meet you there.

Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by WIFE ERNESTINE and SON PHILIP. 13:1ip

Legionaires Begin Play

Between 35 and 40 hopefuls have been hard at work at the Digby Forum trying out for the newly formed Digby Legionaires Junior C Hockey Team. To date some eight practices have been held and the team has been cut to 23 players. However, all positions on the team are still open and will remain the same until signing date which is late December.

Coach Paul VanTassel is very pleased with the team's performance so far and thinks the Legionaires will be highly competitive in Provincial Junior C playdowns next Spring. The team applied for membership in the Atlantic Junior C Hockey League this year but were refused admission due to travelling distances so instead have joined an intermediate league comprised of Cornwallis, Bridgetown and Ste. Anne's College. After competing in this league the team will then enter the provincial Junior C playdowns.

The newly formed Digby Legionaires hockey team is fully sponsored by Digby Branch No. 20, Royal Canadian Legion and is coached by Paul VanTassel assisted by Donnie Hattie. Trainer is Billy Nickerson. On the executive is president, Ken Ilitski; vice president, Bob Morgan; secretary, Irene Hattie, treasurer, Ron VanTassel. Vic Kynock is the team manager and equipment manager is Mike Greenlaw.

The Legionaires' first game of the season is an exhibition match against Ste. Anne's College at the Digby Forum on Sunday November 7th at 3:45 p.m. On the following Thursday, November 11th, the Legionaires will play their second exhibition game at the Digby Forum when they meet West Kings High School, which is one of the top rated high school teams in the province. Game time is set for 8:15 p.m.

As well as playing in the intermediate league, the Legionaires plan to play some of the better high school and Junior C teams in the province during the coming season.

A welcome addition to the Digby Legionaires is Robert Dugas, a Digby native who played several games with the Montreal Junior Canadiens and their farm team this season. Robert plans to play this year with the Legionaires before returning next season to the Canadians organization.

League play commences the week of November 15th. The Legionaires will play their home games at the Digby Forum each Thursday evening at 8:15 with two Sunday games being played each month at 3:45 p.m.

Trip To Remember

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Robicheau, Weymouth, newly-weds, have recorded their tour on their honeymoon trip West so that it can always be referred to as years go by. They saw many parks, 300, and walked to beaches and down town shopping. One Sunday they took a ride with Theresa and family to Blaine, Washington, where the Peace Arch stands dividing U.S. and Canada. The next day they visited the famous Grouse Mountain, which had over six feet of snow on the top, and the top is 5200 feet high. A skyride takes you up. One weekend they took the ferry over to Vancouver Island in Victoria, B.C. They spent three hours watching a killer whale show, the biggest in the world, in which the whale actually spit at the audience. Went on a tour of the city on a horsedrawn buggy. Saw the Parliament Building, the B.C. Provincial Museum, the world's tallest totem pole, 127 ft. and 7 in. dedicated in 1956, saw the plaque of Marilyn Bell made because of her swim from Port Angeles, Washington over to Victoria, B.C., who became the first woman and first Canadian to swim Juan De Fuca Strait - 17 miles in 18 hours when she was only 20 years of age.

They also walked across the famous Capilano Suspension Bridge which is only supported by cables at each end. Looking down is the ever-rushing Capilano River. The bridge is 230 ft. high and 450 ft. long, made of wood. On Friday, June 25, they left Vancouver by bus to begin their seven day tour of the Canadian Rockies. Went on the new Trans-Canada highway which costs one million dollars a mile. Went through the famous Roger's Pass, Yoho National Park, Banff National Park on the border of B.C. and Alberta, where they saw a young black bear on the side of the highway. Stayed at the beautiful hotel overlooking Lake Louise. As soon as they got their bags up to their room, they took a walk around the lake and it was raining, they climbed a mountain and when they got to the top it was snowing and they saw a couple of garbage bags in the snow so instead of walking down the mountain they slid down on the garbage bags! The next day they took a 3 1/2 hour tour of the area - saw beautiful Emerald Lake, Takakkaw Falls, Moraine Lake and Valley of the Ten Peaks, named because of the ten mountains, in the background, Mount Babel where climbers from all over the world come just to climb this mountain and also saw a dozen elk and mountain sheep. Took off to Jasper, Alberta the next day. Stopped at the Columbia Icefields and went on a guided tour by snowmobile. The thickness of the glacier starts at 600 ft. and goes as far down as 3,000 ft. thick. There were half dozen ewes. Went on a guided tour of Jasper and visited the popular Jasper Park Lodge where famous people stay when they come to Jasper. It's about $125 to stay one night. Left Jasper and made their way on to Banff and just before reaching the town ran into a snow storm, you couldn't see a foot in front of you and the ground was just covered in a matter of minutes, this was the 30th of June. Went on the Banff Gondola, took a guided tour of the town, visited a wax museum, which is the largest in Canada and saw the very famous Banff Springs Hotel. Left Banff that night for Calgary, which ended their tour. Left the next day by bus to Winnipeg. Shopped around all day and left Winnipeg 10:00 that night by train. They were held up in Armstrong, Ontario for 3 1/2 hours because of an earlier train wreck in which 20 cars went off the track. They arrived in Montreal 7 1/2 hours late. They were on the train two nights and two days. Stayed in Montreal six hours and left on the next train to Halifax 11:30 p.m. They were on the train a night and a day. They took the train the next morning from Halifax and arrived at their final destination in Weymouth at 12:30 p.m. and so ending their fabulous 4 1/2 week honeymoon. They have a mind full of memories and eyes full of beautiful scenery and 380 pictures to remember it by.

Mental Health's Community Home Placement Program

Work in the community is becoming the new focus of Mental Health Services. The treatment needs of people experiencing mental health problems are being looked after more and more in the community. And the involvement of the community has advantages over restricting mental health services to the hospital.

The Digby-Annapolis Mental Health Centre is attempting to increase the use of the resources and people of the community in providing services. The importance of community resources can be seen in the Community Home Placement Program recently being initiated by the Mental Health Centre. The goal of the program is to find homes throughout Digby and Annapolis Counties, and the District of Clare for the placement of persons who have been receiving mental health services. The community home setting will be used when the intensive treatment services of the hospital are not needed or no longer necessary.

The Community Home Placement Program will provide an alternative setting to the hospital for mental health care. The period of hospitalization can be shortened when homes are available in the community. When problems are caused by a stressful home situation, a community home provides the opportunity for a "healthy break" for a short period and thereby possibly avoid the need for hospitalization. The community program will also be valuable for young people who are having problems due to a poor home life and in need of healthy, supportive home environment.

The Community Home Placement Program also makes it possible for continuous treatment for persons needing mental health services. The need for admission to a hospital where they are not familiar with a person's home and family situation can be prevented. Because home placements could be available in the same area where the person has been living, the disruption of the person's life is reduced to a minimum and his surroundings remain as familiar as possible.

The Digby-Annapolis Mental Health Centre is now looking for individuals who are willing to make their home available as a community home placement for persons who require follow-up mental health care. Homes are needed to provide both long and short term care for single adults. Homes are also needed for youth who need an improved family environment.

The Mental Health Centre's team of professional staff including a Psychiatrist, Psychologists, Social Workers and Community Mental Health Nurse are available to discuss with people interested in what would be involved in making their home available for community placements. Ongoing supervision and consultation are provided by members of the professional staff while someone is placed in a community home. The Department of Social Services provide reasonable rates to cover the extra costs and time involved in making a home available for a community placement.

Mental Health problems exist in every community. It is the community itself which can be most effective in providing for the mental health needs of its residents. Involvement in the Community Home Placement Program is an opportunity to contribute to the growth and development of the whole community, yourself and someone else.

Ballet Ys Of Canada At The College Sainte-Anne

On Monday, November 8, in the College Sainte Anne gymnasium, the Ballet Ys of Canada, a Toronto ballet company, will give a performance at eight o'clock.

In 1971 the company was founded under the name of "Looking Glass Dance Company". The first contract was an extensive tour of more than 130 communities for "Prologue To The Performing Arts". This program catered to young audiences providing imaginative entertainment and creative stimulation.

In 1975 the company re-organized its focus and changed its name to Ballet Ys. "Ys", from a Celtic legend, means "of the Times". The name describes the company's style - ballet of the times. The dancers train in classical ballet and use this technique as a basis for interpretation of contemporary choreography. The style is therefore a unique blend of the classical and the modern. Our activities are aimed at developing the excellence of Canadian artists in dance, choreography, music and design. The Directors wanted to provide a "Dancer's company" where dancers and choreographers could expand into more contemporary areas.

In 1975 the company opened its new season in Ottawa at the National Arts Centre, toured in Ontario and held residency at the Shaw Festival. In 1976 Ballet Ys will be touring across the entire country.

Ballet Ys consists of six dancers plus staff, including a stage manager and technician. The company travels with its own dance flooring and complete sound, lighting and dinner system. These can be adapted to existing facilities, enabling the company to take productions to smaller communities.

Needless to say that an evening with the Ballet Ys will be an exciting one. Tickets available at the door the night of the performance will sell $3.00 for adults and $2.00 for students.

Weir Herring Fishery Study Released

By Stephen Hawboldt

DIGBY - At a spring public meeting in Digby, a consultant's report on the Digby - St. Mary's Bay weir herring fishery was released by area MLA Joe Casey. The consultant, Professor R.A. French of the Economics Department of Acadia University, reviewed the local weir herring fishing industry in 1973.

In the French report, weir fishermen complained of a lack of a handy, ready market for their catch; severe financial problems if only one poor marketing year is experienced; an absence of local ice making facilities; that the price paid area weir fishermen is often below the price paid to New Brunswick fishermen; and - lastly, under prevailing legislation no alternate market exists for the catch which is not suitable for sardine processing.

Sardine processors, according to the French report, face a slightly different set of problems. As the local catch is often of an inferior quality due to softness, red feed and sizing, the processors complained that the yield of finished product from the Digby - St. Mary's Bay herring is 20 percent - 30 percent below herring from other sources. American processors complained that on occasion their carriers, upon arrival to this area, have been unable to secure a cargo.

In an effort to overcome the problems experienced by both the weir fishermen and the processors, Professor French recommended:

"The placement of pounds on the weirs," To permit the catch to naturally expel their food thereby overcoming the problem of red feed.

"The relocation of certain weirs." Primarily those weirs adjacent to sources of warm water, such as rivers, thereby correcting the problem of softness.

"Improved transportation methods; Such as brailing rather than pumping the catch into the carriers, and other improvements to reduce the time lapse from the weir to the processing plant.

"The establishment of ice making facilities at Digby or nearby."

"Revisions in the legislation to permit changes of a licensee's location."

"That fishermen be informed in writing by all processors of the price being offered prior to the loading of the catch."

"The setting up of a sardine processing facility on the Nova Scotia side of the Bay of Fundy."

Subsequent to that public meeting, Joe Casey MLA revealed in an interview this week that efforts to attract a sardine processor to the Digby area are continuing. Three or four potential processors have been contacted to date. Mr. Casey indicated that meetings are scheduled next week with an out of the country processor to discuss the possibility of establishing a local facility. Although Mr. Casey was not at liberty to release details at this point in time, it was learnt that this processor has access to world markets under an internationally known brand name.

Although the French report made recommendations regarding measures that could be taken to improve the quality of the local catch, progress on these has been spotty at best.

Federal fisheries officials report that legislation governing the relocation of weirs is unchanged from the time that the French report was prepared. In addition, Professor French's recommendations on pounds and brailing have substantially passed unnoticed. Ice making facilities are, however, available from Casey Fisheries at Digby. C. Mullen, Jr., a Digby area weir fisherman, reported in an interview that any problems in the quality of the catch are due primarily to the six hour voyage from the Nova Scotia weir to the New Brunswick processing plant. Mr. Mullen felt that if the herring could be canned within an hour or two of being caught, then potential problems associated with red feed and softness would not effect processing due to the freshness of the catch at the time it is canned. A Digby area sardine processing facility would permit this.

The quality problems, rather due to red feed and softness or to the six hour trip across the Bay, must be addressed if a successful sardine processing facility is to be established. If the quality problems are as indicated by Professor French, then all his recommendations must be investigated. If, on the other hand, problems of quality are due to the six hour voyage across the Bay, then a Digby area processor would be a benefit to both the weir fishermen and the local residents. It would seem that an additional priority should be to investigate these charges of inferior quality to ascertain their validity and, if found true, the causes isolated, and corrective action initiated.

Datsun's rust buster.

Datsun's F-10 uses a special new metal that fights rust.

The new F-10 is built with the latest anti-rust techniques and materials. It starts, even before the car is built, with Zincrometal, a corrosion resistant metal. We use it in critical places where rust is apt to strike, like rocker panels and suspension members. Then, as the F-10 is assembled, we go on to apply rust-preventative compounds and water resistant sealers to more parts of the car than you may have imagined. Rust-proof plastic liners in the front wheel wells add even more protection. When we're through, the F-10 has one of Canada's most up-to-date and comprehensive rust protection treatments, and it's all included in the price of every F-10.

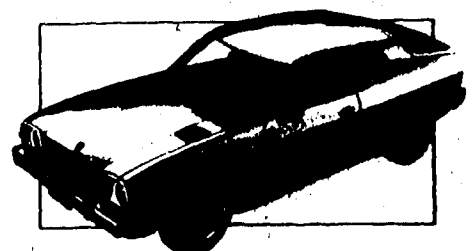

Advanced anti-corrosion treatments are just the least visible of the many extra-value features Datsun builds into the F-10. Even the lowest-priced 2-door Sedan comes with over $500 worth of standard features for which you have to pay extra on many cars in the F-10's price range.

Every F-10 - Sedan, Wagon and Hatchback - comes fully equipped with rear window defogger, tinted glass, carpeting, chrome window trim, console with package tray, wheel covers, heavy-duty battery, bumper over-riders, flow-through ventilation, and acoustical insulation to cut down road and engine noise.

All F-10 models have front wheel drive for better traction and safer handling. The rally-proven 1.4 litre engine is mounted sideways on a long 94" wheelbase to give you plenty of room inside. And according to 1976 E.P.A. tests, you can expect up to 40 m.p.g. in combined highway/city driving, depending on the way you drive.

See the remarkable new F-10 at a Datsun dealer soon. It's all at its extra value. The F-10 is still priced with the lowest priced cars in Canada.

The Spider

I was cutting up green tomatoes for pickles one day last week, and felt something tickle on my bare arm, and a large black spider fell into the sink. All spiders are large black and horrible to me. He walked around the sink for a while but seemed to have difficulty when he got himself into a few detergent suds. With a fork I steered him out of the suds, but the foolish fellow would just wander back in again. Eventually it got too much for him. He lay still and looked half drowned and lifeless. Suddenly he reared his hind end up and appeared to go into contortions. This is the end I thought, so again, using the fork I lifted him out of the sink and dropped him on a piece of newspaper to dry out. And completely forgot about him. Didn't remember him next morning either, until I saw him walking across the kitchen floor, big and horrible as ever. So what did I do? I stepped on him! I guess that proves a spider just can't win. Not around my house he can't anyway. Perhaps it shows you can't trust anybody these days!

PERISHABLE NUTRIENTS

Fruits and vegetables make up two Food Groups of Canada's Food Guide, and are necessary for good nutrition. They are low in calories, yet contain vitamins, minerals and fiber.

Their contribution of valuable nutrients to the diet is very important. Almost all of the vitamin C we require comes from fruits and vegetables, almost half the vitamin A, as well as major contributions of iron, thiamine, niacin, phosphorus, riboflavin and protein.

Fruits and vegetables also contain many trace minerals and are good contributors of bulk for digestion, and in the raw state are good tooth cleaners.

Cooking vegetables only until they are tender is the best way to insure peak flavor, color, texture and food value. Vegetables cooked whole in their skins, such as potatoes, retain more nutritive value. If you are peeling vegetables, try to make the peeling as thin as possible as most of the nutrients are stored just next to the peeling. The less water used in cooking the more nutrients retained. Spinach and other greens, for example, can be cooked

My Strange Visitor

I had gone out for a few minutes and did not lock my back door. When I arrived back and opened the door what do you suppose greeted me? A gull was sitting on the mat just inside. Fortunately he had just sat there or there might have been sad effects in the house.

I picked him up and sat him on the lawn and in a few minutes he took off. The last I saw of him he was heading for the Racquette. He must have been stunned.

Still have two Hermit thrushes outside eating the eunomys berries. There are enough berries to last them all winter but do hope they go South.

Another female Baltimore Oriole has been seen in the north end of town.

Have any of you seen the influx of Blue Heron? They are all over the waterfront at low tide. One ardent birder counted ninety from the Joggin to the Racquette.

These birds are summer visitors leaving about the last of October, wintering in northern U.S.A. and central America.

These long legged birds build their rough nests in tall spruce trees around lakes coming to the salt water late in the summer. They feed on small fish. They are a beautiful sight silhouetted against a sunset.

Several robins have been brought in by small children lately, some of them had walked some distance to bring their little birds. This pleases me greatly to see the children appreciating our bird life.

Saw the first evening grosbeak at noon one day. He stayed only a few minutes and was off. He must have been a scout looking for handouts of sunflower seeds. No doubt more will show up when the snow comes. Lots of maple seeds for them at present.

So long

only in the water clinging to their leaves from washing if placed in a pan with a tight fitting lid and cooked over low heat. This will minimize the loss of vitamins and minerals. Food should be served immediately if at all possible because flavor and nutritive value will be lost simply from letting it stand.

Considering their importance to the diet and health fruits and vegetables tend to be easy to prepare, most can be eaten "as is" or with a minimum of fuss and bother. This is especially true of fruit, but also true of many vegetables. Imagine how bland and flat your daily meals would be if they were confined to meats, breads and cereals.

Vegetables in the raw form are similarly important and easy to prepare. Sliced or chopped into a salad, they provide a variety of nutrients. Other vegetables boiled or baked are also easily prepared and contribute to our daily health. There is practically no limit to the degree of appealing arrangements possible preparing fruits and vegetables in the form of sauces or elaborate dishes. Their versatility allows fruits and vegetables to add color, variety and taste to your diet.

When shopping for produce make sure you are getting high quality produce. This will mean more nutrients per dollar. Once you bring the produce home there are ways to prevent more nutrient loss.

The enemies of nutrients in produce generally are time, heat, enzyme activity, micro-organisms, water soaking, damage to cell structure, oxidation, light in some cases and excessive dryness.

Factors you can control to make sure nutrients are retained include, gentle handling to prevent bruising, early consumption, storing at proper temperature and humidity avoidance of soaking produce in water, use liquids for sauces and gravies that vegetables are cooked in.

Vitamin C is soluble in water and is also lost during exposure to air. This loss can be speeded up by heat as well. To cut down on vitamin C loss, store produce in the refrigerator, cook for as short a period of time as possible, avoid keeping food hot and exposure to air for long periods of time.

One important point to remember that retention of nutrients in fruits and vegetables also means the best color, flavor aroma, and texture. The same conditions that retain freshness also retain vitamin content.

A Thought Starter

By Rev. Ronald C. MacCormack

WHAT HAPPENS?

What happens when God is allowed to take over in any of our lives?

For some, nothing, because there is no surrender, and no incoming power.

Those who honestly face need, confess and seek forgiveness find deliverance and new power.

Some no longer have the chip on their shoulder, no more inner bitterness toward the world around, and no show-off-ism. This is a point worth reaching.

Some are "anti" everything and everyone. They are always negative, pessimistic and go out of their way to see evil in every situation. They find evil joy in being against, and are ready to fight at a moment's notice.

Some are forever afraid, even afraid of problems which have never happened. They worry night and day and seem to feel that there is some sin in feeling right about things.

Still others are always self-conscious, timid and easily hurt. They seem to be standing around waiting for some offense to come to them, then keep their morbid mood as a part of life's structure.

If life is dark and miserable, even not worth the struggle, then God can give the Light. Jesus said, "I am the light of the World." When this light gets turned on in us, the difference is great.

CTV FEATURE FILM- The Great Waldo Pepper: In the days following WWI, ace pilots hooked on the exhilaration of flight, earned a precarious airborne living by barnstorming- hopping from Mid-western town to town selling awe-struck farmers the 'ride of their lives'. Robert Redford stars as one such flying daredevil, in a film which captures the intensely personal experience of flying, its peculiar code of ethics, and the tragedy it often invites. Also starring Bo Svenson, Susan Sarandon, Edward Herrmann, Bo Brundin and Margot Kidder.

Quite a number of witches, goblins, clowns and various other characters were out on Saturday night for their annual Trick-Treat time... and, by the evidence of their loot, they were covering a good many homes in their trek. On Wednesday night, October 27, our District 8 Fire Commission held its meeting at the Fire Hall. Fourteen were present.

Let's all remember to support these meetings which are for the benefit each and every home in the District. Next meeting will be in January.

How do you tell the age of a deer? Right. You count the number of growth rings in the teeth. From the age of the deer, the sex, and the location of the kill, wildlife biologists are able to determine much about the deer population. Among other things, this information is used in establishing hunting regulations. Help us to help you. Enter the Jawbone Contest. Simply take the front set of teeth in the lower jawbone (cleaned, please) of the deer you kill, and take it to any Lands & Forests Office. Contest closes 4:30 p.m. December 6, 1976. # Drinking.

If we don't talk about the problem we'll never start to solve it.

If you're like most people, you think the drinking problem in this country has nothing to do with you.

We asked people what they thought about the problem. Here are a few replies. The drinking problem is "that guy across the street who drives home from work loaded out of his mind". It's "those reckless teenagers drinking every night". "Isn't that about alcoholics?" Well, the drinking problem is about all those people and more.

It has everything to do with you, even though you're not a problem drinker, or even a drinker.

That "guy across the street" could be driving home when you are. Approximately 40% of all traffic deaths in this country are associated with alcohol. That "reckless teenager" could be your child. That "alcoholic" could be your mother, or father, or brother, or sister, or whatever... the point is that there are too many PEOPLE who drink dangerously.

"There's not much I can do," you say.

Talking about the problem is not an answer, but it's a start. Talk to the guy across the street, to your teenagers about drinking habits. Tell your friends when you think they've had enough to drink. If you speak in support of responsible use, you will encourage others to do the same as you do - if you are responsible.

'Dialogue On Drinking' is a program to help you do something.

Talk about drinking problems. If you're not sure what to say, cut this out and think about it. If you have any specific comments, we'd like to hear from you. We believe that if people talk about the problems we're that much closer to solving them.

Digby's Old Garrison House

The Digby Courier is grateful to Leslie Crumbaker of Needham, Mass., for the following item of historical value.

THE TOTTEN RECTORY
William Hecht, Commissary for the Loyalist settlers of Digby, lived in a garrison house built in 1740. Its heavy-timbered walls were pierced for gun-ports. A room, once occupied by The Duke of Kent while on a visit from Halifax, was known as "The Prince's Room."

After the death of William, the house passed to his daughter Agnes, who married Colonel Hatfield and had one child that died in infancy. When Agnes died, Miss Nancy Totten, an old friend of William, moved in and would not be removed. On her death, Miss Totten willed the house and other property to the Anglican Church which set the place up as a Rectory. This building burned September, 1890.

Reflecting To 1946

Digby Town Council in early November 1946 decided at regular sessions to issue debenture worth $5000 for capital Expenditures for the Electric Hydro System.

A resolution was passed asking the Department of Municipal Affairs for permission to borrow $2000 to purchase the Gus VanTassell property at Lily Lake. The town would then own all lands on the watershed draining into the lake which supplied the Town's water.

Another item of business at the Council Chambers was about the problem of motorists not observing safety lanes and parking regulations.

Over $3000 had been collected or pledged for an Outpost Hospital for the Islands to serve its 1600 residents. The Red Cross had been obliging in supplying bedding and furniture. Eight hospital beds, it was felt, would be sufficient accommodation. Plans were to purchase a house or other building. As the Islands was accommodated, patients had to cross two ferries and 30 miles of unpaved roads to get to the Digby General Hospital.

Fisheries Officer Moves, Fisheries Office Stays

Rumors going the rounds over the weekend prompted The Digby Courier to look into the possibility that the Digby Fisheries office might eventually be moved to Yarmouth where a recent building has been established.

Miss Coleen Campbell, M.P. for South West Nova in a message from Ottawa on Monday assured that this was a brand new job to which Fisheries Officer, Glen Smith has been promoted in Yarmouth.

Chief Fisheries Officer Glen Smith, leaves the Digby office on November 15 when he will take a senior Man's course for two months in preparation for his position of area manager. Mr. Smith says that while an office will be provided for him in Yarmouth, his work will be chiefly done in the sub-offices as Digby, Shelburne, Lunenburg, etc. Mr. Smith said his territory will cover all the area from Halifax West, including the South Shore. A successor for Mr. Smith, he felt, could come from any of this area or other area and there might be a possibility of such a man going to the Yarmouth office. It is a part of the decentralization process and would not effect more than one man and one girl from the office. There will be six area managers admitted in Nova Scotia. Mr. Smith, feels there is little difficulty in living in Digby and commuting to Yarmouth.

Presently there are approximately ten employed at the Digby Fisheries Office.

Donates $100 To Curling

"Pop" Hanson, Digby's grand senior citizen curler, supports his pet sport not only by playing and attending all the games, competitive and otherwise, but he adds to the financial coffers so that curling doesn't become a once-upon-a-time game in Digby. At the last monthly meeting of the Digby Curling Club, "Pop" Hanson, well past his ninetieth year presented the Club with a donation of $100.

President of the Digby Curling Club is Charles Haliburton. Committee chairpersons appointed at the last meeting were match, Clifford Durkee; ice, Mayor Stuart MacNaughton and membership, Hymie Webber. An express wish for more members was made.

Plans for the near future in Curling in Digby are Open House, November 13; Instructional Curling, November 15-18 for beginners and official Opening Bonspiel, November 19-20.

Buy A Bike-Give A Hike On Life

In the month of November the Digby Kinsmen will take up one of their special projects in aid of Cystic Fibrosis sufferers. Digby Kinsmen are preparing for a special day at the Evangeline Shopping Mall on November 27th when people will be asked to assist in the purchase of a bike "to give a hike in life".

Chairman of the committee for the Cystic Fibrosis project is Brian Coker. Others on the committee are Arthur Surrette and Gary Schrader.

The December project for Digby Kinsmen is assistance to the Christmas Daddies and in February they have Heritage Day.

Veterans Worship At Wesleyan Church

Francis Adams

On Sunday November 7, at 11 a.m. the Annual Remembrance Day Church Service was held at the Digby Wesleyan Church.

The Pastor of the Church, Rev. Walter Fernley, extended a special welcome to Mr. Joseph Casey MLA and to Miss Coline Campbell M.P. for the constituency of Southwestern Nova who were present to represent the Government. He extended a word of welcome to the Local Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion and the Auxiliary members saying he was happy to have them present. Having served over five years in the Royal Canadian Airforce during World War II the pastor told the congregation that he was a veteran also.

The service opened with the hymn "My Jesus I Love Thee". The song service was led by Robert Wilson with Miss Tanya Trimmer presiding at the Piano and following the presentation of the offering Mr. David Wilson rendered a solo. His message in song was entitled "He Touched Me."

Eugene Dexter of the Royal Canadian Legion read the Scripture Lesson which was taken from Saint John Chapter XV.

Mr. David Wilson pleaded those present with a solo number entitled "Lovest Thou Me". The congregational number sung just previous to the message was one of the old familiar hymns "The Old Rugged Cross."

The Pastor of the Church and Veteran of World War II addressed the special gathering. He spoke on "Loving and Living" and told his congregation that they were somebody. He also said "You do not begin to live until you begin to love" He remarked it was hard to put love into action and in loving a person you must care for them. He also said, "In Loving you die and Jesus loved us and died for us."

There were many guests present for the special church service held in commemoration of the Veterans who had gone before.

The service ended with the singing of hymn "Abide With Me."

During the service the Canadian Flag and the Royal Canadian Legion Flag were both on display in the front of the church.

Former Digby Boy Basketball President

Richard Wenaus of Greenwood, formerly of Digby, was elected President of Basketball Nova Scotia at the Association's Annual Meeting last weekend in Halifax.

Wenaus succeeds Gordon Hamlin, who has served seven years as head of the group. However, Hamlin was elected to the Board of Directors along with Ian MacMillan of Windsor, Dwight Jones of Amherst, Brian Ferguson, Ralph Cooley and Nancy Knowlton, all of Halifax, and Kent Balish of Lockport.

The meeting approved in principal a report from the Implementation Committee for basketball improvement, the main points of which were: the appointment of regional directors for basketball and the need for community involvement in the sport.

Doucetteville Youth Loses Life

Alfred Joseph Amaro, of Doucetteville, was killed Saturday afternoon when the bicycle he was riding was in collision with a car.

Digby RCMP reported the accident occurred when the victim turned left into the path of a car, driven by Bradford John Amaro, who was in the process of passing the cyclist.

The victim died at the scene. Born in Digby, he was a son of Joseph and Marguerite (Deveau) Amaro.

Surviving besides his parents are five brothers: Carmen, of South Range, Vinal, Charles, Richard, Ronnie, at home; six sisters: Violet (Mrs. Walter Doucet), Dartmouth; Shirley (Mrs. Wesley Pinch), South Range; Mary, Jean, Marlene, and Melinda, all at home.

Parker Thurber, President Fishermen's Association

(November 1) The first meeting of the Islands Inshore Fishermen's Association was held in the Community Hall at Freeport, N.S. recently. The meeting was chaired by Parker Thurber. Members of the three fishing communities attended.

Election of officers was held and some of the problems of Inshore Fishermen were discussed. Officers elected were: Parker Thurber - President;

Arthur Titus - Vice President; James Thurber - Secretary; Bradford Perry - Treasurer.

Heading the Fishermen's Association is Arden Greenlaw of Tiverton. He, with several other men from various other localities, just completed a four week training course pertaining to fishing and fishermen. With the successful completion of the course which involved a two-week training period at Halifax and a two-week training period at Moncton, N.B., Mr. Greenlaw was appointed Community Service Officer for the Islands. It is understood his services will be applied to the Islands only.

Mr. Greenlaw is one of two lobster buyers in the Tiverton area. Because of his interest and close association with the fishermen of the areas, it is felt that he is better able to represent the fishermen and their interests.

The meetings of the Association will be held each month. This will afford the fishermen of the areas an opportunity to bring their problems, if any, out in the open for discussion, for assistance in overcoming their problems, and for questions and answers in areas relative to fishing and fishermen.

Mr. Greenlaw who is married and has two young sons, is the first Community Services Officer ever appointed, expressly for the Islands area and the Islands Inshore Fishermen's Association is the first of its kind ever to be held on the Island.

L.I.P. Grant Approved

"Bingo as usual" will not be the order of the day until the heating system is installed at the Firehall on Digby Neck. The Commission would like to report that heat will be available soon, but engineer reports and materials will dictate the when.

The Commission has been informed, by Miss Coline Campbell, that the L.I.P. grant has been approved. The amount quoted is approximately one-half of the amount requested, but will be used to advantage. Much volunteer work has been done, but this can only be on weekends, and folks want to use the hall. Work will proceed on a daily basis once the L.I.P. monies come thru.

The Ladies Auxiliary has made plans for cabinets for the kitchen area. Everyone is contributing their 'bit' and soon all will be ready for occupancy.

Proudly Displays Trophies

Above Gaston Comeau proudly displays a few of the 4H trophies he won at the 1976 Digby County Exhibition. Gaston was chosen Top Judge, top in crafts, homemaking, wood woodworking, string art, macaroni and salt art. He won the judge's grand prize.

With Gaston is his mother, Mrs. Catherine Comeau, who is leader of the Meteghan group 4H where Gaston learns his skills.

Rash Of Breaks

Following the quiet Hallowe'en, the past weekend failed to live up to its reputation and saw a series of breaks. Breaks occurred at the Co-Op store at Conway, Thursday evening where two guns were stolen; at Par-Dak; Weymouth Motors, Conway. Charges have been laid against one person. Digby R.C.M.P. are investigating.

Remembrance Day

Injured In Chase

Three men were injured in a high speed chase between a car and an R.C.M.P. cruiser around 1:00 a.m. Friday morning.

The car was extensively damaged when it hit a telephone pole on the Annapolis Causeway, causing a power failure in the area. The men were taken to the Annapolis General Hospital with undetermined injuries, and two later released. Paul Hersey, Digby Neck, driver of the vehicle, was taken to the Victoria General Hospital by ambulance Friday afternoon.

Passengers in the car were Michael Cowan, Digby and Jim Hanson, Kingston. The case is under investigation by the Digby Detachment R.C.M.P.

Driver of the car was Bradford John Amaro, age 26, Plympton, and with him was Malcolm Joseph Stark who had injuries. The bicyclist was 18 years. The accident occurred on Saturday at 2:05 p.m. R.C.M.P., Digby Detachment are investigating.

HOW DEEP IS YOUR CONCERN?

For some six years now the Association for the Mentally Retarded, Digby Branch has been active but struggling to bring to our Mentally Handicapped young adults and children some form of purpose in their lives, through education, activities, (social and otherwise).

Although most citizens appear sympathetic to the cause, only a few have actually given of themselves to make these people more accepted as part of this community.

For over two years an Activity Centre has been operating in Conway where seven young adults have received training which has prepared them to live a life more fully and thereby prepare them to face the difficulties which they have to meet in their everyday living in our type of society. They have enjoyed it and the parents will agree. I am sure, that they have developed a great deal in their everyday activities. These people are not a menace to society. Rather they bring to society a great deal of love and if given a chance it is amazing what they can accomplish.

There are problems to keep an activity centre going, it takes concerned people. People who are concerned enough to sacrifice of their time, energy, talents, etc. to help those who are less fortunate. Have we such concerned, understanding people in this community? Sure we have.

To prove your concern, how about attending a meeting of the Digby Branch to be held in Conway at the Activity Centre on Tuesday, November 23, at 8:00 p.m. You are needed. Will you offer your support?

The Association is also concerned about the mentally retarded school age children who are at home, frustrated because society offers them nothing. Yet, they have the same right as you and I. At this meeting we hope to hear what our School Board has done about facilities for these children.

These people mentioned above need our support. As concerned citizens will we help? Let us see the proof on November 23rd.

Training Course

The Nova Scotia Department of Fisheries is introducing a training course in "Business Practices for Fishermen", said Hon. Dan Reid, M.D., Minister of Fisheries.

The Nova Scotia Department of Fisheries has developed this course in response to a demand from the fishing communities for this type of training. It's aim is to assist fishermen and their wives to learn the skills necessary to keep records so that they can manage their operations with greater proficiency.

"An independent fisherman is operating his own business. Unless he runs it as a business, he will have a difficult time knowing how he stands financially," Dr. Reid said.

"This business practices course has been designed for both the fisherman and his wife. Behind most successful fishermen is someone keeping an accurate set of records, often his wife."

The two week course includes 70 hours of instruction and practice. It outlines how to make and record capital expenditures such as the purchase of a boat and fishing equipment; how to insure a boat and equipment; information on business organization, such as single proprietorships, partnerships, and limited companies; how to maintain records and complete forms relating to income tax, pension plans and unemployment insurance; and also the day-to-day recording of catches and sales.

A "Record Book for Fishermen" will be made available to those taking the training which will cover the fisherman's complete operation on an annual basis.

The course will be provided at various fishing communities throughout the province through the Department's Outports Training Program and those wishing to participate should contact the Department's Fisheries Representative in their area or their local Canada Manpower Centre.

The Cost Of Tranquility

Canadians live in a world of constant social change and technological advance. Over the past quarter-century, many have come to accept the idea of chemical relief from the stresses and strains of modern living.

Perhaps we have gone too far with our "pill for every ill" philosophy, and the time has come to examine our routine reliance on chemical remedies. Coping with everyday life without a "chemical crutch" is necessary and desirable for good health and mental maturity.

Evidence of our over-dependence on chemical cure-alls can be seen in the growing misuse of the class of drugs referred to as tranquilizers, or anxiety-relief agents.

WHAT ARE TRANQUILIZERS?

Tranquilizers are drugs which act on a person's emotional state, calming him without affecting his consciousness or thought processes. They are used extensively to treat emotional disorders characterized by excessive anxiety and tension. Tranquilizers concern us because they are subject to abuse and can cause both physical and psychological dependence when used for too long a period of time, or in doses exceeding the prescribed dosage.

HOW DO TRANQUILIZERS WORK?

In normal doses, they usually relieve abnormal tension and anxiety. Many tranquilizers also are used to treat convulsive disorders and withdrawal symptoms of alcohol dependence.

Common products in the tranquilizer market include diazepam (Valium, Vivol), chlorthalidone (Librium, Protensin, Solium, Via-Quil), meprobamate (Equanil, Miltown), oxazepam (Serax), and clorazepate (Tranxene).

WHO CONTROLS TRANQUILIZERS?

In Canada, the manufacture and distribution of tranquilizers are controlled by the Health Protection Branch of Health and Welfare Canada, through administration of the Food and Drugs Act and Regulations.

Tranquilizers, which come in a variety of dosage forms including tablets, capsules, syrups, and solutions for injection) may be sold only upon written or verbal prescription by a licenced physician.

ARE THERE SIDE EFFECTS?

As with any other drug, some individuals may experience undesirable side effects when using tranquilizers. Drowsiness is the most commonly reported side effect, and it may be especially dangerous to people who drive or operate machinery while using tranquilizers. Other possible adverse reactions include dizziness, depression, rashes and nausea. Combining tranquilizers with other drugs may potentiate or interfere with the actions of the tranquilizers. Most tranquilizer poisonings involve excessive use of other drugs or alcohol. Because it has been well documented that an individual's tolerance for alcohol decreases when a tranquilizer is taken concurrently, persons taking tranquilizers should never consume alcohol at the same time.

Tranquilizers and TRANQUILIZERS AND WOMEN OF CHILD-BEARING AGE

Tranquilizers should not be used during pregnancy, particularly during the first three months, unless in the opinion of your physician the potential benefits outweigh the possible hazards to the fetus. If you are using a tranquilizer and become or intend to become pregnant, consult your physician.

HAZARDS OF TRANQUILIZER MISUSE

The rising popularity of tranquilizers is disturbing. Since their introduction in the 1950's, these products have become the most widely prescribed group of drugs in Canada today, as well as a leading cause of poisoning (as reported to Canada's Poison Control Centres). Statistics show that enough tranquilizers are sold in this country every year to keep over a quarter of a million Canadians in a constant state of "tranquility".

Since the use of tranquilizers is so prevalent, it's important for consumers to be aware of the hazards involved with tranquilizer misuse. The most common hazard is psychological dependence. It is present when you feel you need tranquilizers just to get through the day. Relying on tranquilizers as an all-purpose answer to everyday problems is a dangerous habit to get into.

A less common though more serious problem is physical dependence. With the regular use of prescribed tranquilizers, your body develops a tolerance, so that you may be tempted to increase the daily dosage to maintain the desired effect. Never exceed the dosage prescribed by your physician.

WHAT'S THE SOLUTION TO TRANQUILIZER MISUSE?

Let's take steps to cut down on tranquilizer misuse by reducing reliance on drugs. Most of life's problems can be solved without resorting to chemical intervention. Stop and think about it.

WHAT'S YOUR DRUG DEPENDENCY POTENTIAL?

Check your attitudes towards drug use in general and tranquilizers in particular by answering the following questions:

Do I reach for a tranquilizer every time anxiety, nervousness, or tension appear?

Do I ignore instructions about the maximum number of tablets or capsules that may be taken at any one time, or during one day, and often exceed this recommended limit?

Do I pressure my physician for a tranquilizer prescription to relieve nervous tension, insomnia, or other indefinite symptoms when I know that my problems are personal rather than medical?

Do I request renewal of my prescription beyond the period for which my physician strictly recommended I use the tranquilizer?

Is my medicine shelf a mini-drugstore of prescriptions or over-the-counter medications for "nerves", sleeplessness, tension, aches and pains?

Do I feel cheated if I leave my physician's office without a prescription after each and every visit?

If the answer is "yes" to most of these questions, you may have crossed the line from occasional, justified use of drugs to excessive

It's Only A Cut

How many times have you heard that? "It's only a cut... nothing serious."

Generally speaking, people don't die from cuts. They can hurt. They can let dirt past the barrier the skin normally provides. They can become poisoned. Cuts can be an inconvenience, because we cannot use a finger, thumb, hand, etc., at least temporarily. But, people don't die from them.

Unless of course it is a real serious cut, such as through a major vein or artery- and in the home it is quite easy to convince ourselves that those kind of cuts only happen in the industrial setting. Not to the child that finds a razor blade. Not to the amateur in his home basement workshop, using an unfamiliar power tool.

Not to the woman trying to reliance on chemical crutches.

Watch out for the danger signs and avoid the pitfalls of overuse and misuse of drugs. Remember, the cost of chemically-induced tranquility can be high.

slice through a particularly tough roast of beef, with a bone in it!

O.K. that's right. Cuts are more often an inconvenience than anything... but still, the Canada Safety Council is in the business of trying to suggest ways that accidents can be prevented. All accidents... nicks in the finger, or a major injury with an electric saw. Especially accidents to those neither old nor mature enough to make their own judgements.

Think. Most injury-prevention ideas in the home are basic common sense. A young child doesn't always have it, so adults have to do the thinking for their children.

If you are a parent, have you ever taken a first aid course to know what to do, just in case an accident DOES occur- despite all precautions?- Canada Safety Council, Vol. XX, No. 10

Church Celebrated 117th Anniversary

The Westport Church of Christ celebrated its 117th anniversary on Sunday, October 31st. It was in 1859 that Elder Garrety came from Milton, Queens Co., to organize the church. He and Elder Crawford and others travelled many times to Westport until it was able to carry on alone.

The present minister is Rev. Charles MacNeill who was in charge of the service. Special music was brought by Mr. John Outhouse of the Tiverton Christian Church and guest speaker was Mr.

Dolan Garron who has recently moved here from U.S.A.

Mrs. Stanley Moore, clerk of the church, read the roll and those present responded.

The responses from absent members were read by Mrs. Sidney Morehouse. Out of town visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Winford Garron, Mrs. Art Fields, Mrs. Edna Gower, Rev. J. W. Derby, Digby area, Mrs. Percy Thurber, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Thimot, Mrs. Douglas Thurber, Freeport.

Today box is also present in the Sunday School. Here, members observing a birthday places a penny for each year according to his or her age.

Avoid Waste Of Human Potential

Human rights should be a priority concern in the same way as fiscal policy, restraints and other important issues in municipal affairs, George F. McCurdy said today at a conference of municipal finance officers.

The director of the N.S. Human Rights Commission told the officers meeting at Chateau Halifax that people are thinking more seriously today about the waste of human potential and the high cost of prejudice and discrimination to our communities and society when people are unemployed or underemployed because of factors other than their skills.

"This is a waste of manpower that we cannot afford," Mr. McCurdy said. "The community is not as rich as it might be if all members in it could contribute according to their individual potential."

The problem of prejudice and discrimination has been pervasive and costly, he said, "and we have not mounted programs in our country on a social scale equal to the dimensions of the problem. If we are to bridge all of the barriers which prevent understanding and respect for the dignity and rights of all, the overwhelming majority of Canadians and Nova Scotians must be committed to bring practice in line with our preaching."

Minorities are haunted by the history of society preaching equality on one hand and practising

Strike And Lockout

Direct time loss from work stoppages due to strikes and lockouts amounted to 1,330,020 man-days in July, Labour Canada reported today. The number of stoppages was 197 and the number of workers involved was 79,058. The comparative figures for June were 238 stoppages, 190,197 workers and 1,183,060 man-days.

In relation to total estimated working time of nonagricultural paid workers in July, time lost represented 71 man-days per 10,000 man-days worked. The time lost in July includes twelve stoppages under federal jurisdiction. These involved 2,152 workers and accounted for 21,120 man-days (or two percent of all time lost).

Twenty-two of the work stoppages in effect in July involved 500 or more workers. Nine of these were in Manufacturing, four in the Service industry, three each in Construction, Transportation and Utilities, and Mining. Together these 22 large stoppages accounted for 78 percent of the time lost in July.

many affirmative action programs in employment, education and housing, to engender respect for these rights, to tackle social and economic problems in their racial manifestations," he said.

Calling on the municipal finance officers to involve themselves in affirmative action programs in their communities, Mr. McCurdy said they had an opportunity to leave behind them an indelible mark in the area of human rights progress in the province and in Canada.

IN MEMORIAM

COOK - In loving memory of our dear little son and brother, Kenny, whose birthday is on November 11th and who passed away on June 4, 1970.

There's nothing so treasured and nothing so rare As the love a son, a mother and father can share. This love that we share doesn't need to be spoken, It's a wonderful bond and can never be broken. Kenny was a son we were proud to own; How much we miss him can never be shown. The heartaches in this world are many But to lose our darling Kenny was the greatest of any. You gave us so much happiness, Then came the sorrow and pain. Now all we have are memories To help us through the years. Take our Kenny in your arms, dear Lord, Hold him with loving care; Make up for this life he missed on earth And all that was unfair. If God would grant us just one wish And make that wish come true, We would ask with all our hearts For yesterday and you. Now we pray for strength and courage To face the pain we bear. We know God will always treasure him Our son we loved so dear. Sadly missed every day, but too dearly loved to ever be forgotten. Love MUMMY, DADDY, BROTHER KEVIN AND SISTER WENDY. 14:1ip

Digby Junior Girls Defeat West Kings

On October 29, Digby Junior girls of D.R.H.S. met and defeated West Kings by a 58-27 score. This was the first time that Digby had ever defeated West Kings in girls basketball. Digby held a 15 to 12 lead by the end of the first quarter. Janet Wilson was the spark for the Digby team in the first quarter scoring 8 of the Digby points. Kim Roy broke the game wide open in the second quarter scoring 12 of Digby's 19 points while West Kings replied with only 4 points.

The second half saw Digby continue the pressure scoring 24 more points to West Kings 11. At times Digby resorted to playing players that are basically new to the team such as Kelley Sweeney, Kathleen O'Neil and Kathy Naylor.

Donna Hillier led the West Kings team with 12 points. Digby was led by Kim Roy who scored 16 points. Pam Griffiths had 9 assists for Digby and Darlen pulled in 9 rebounds for the winners. Digby has now played 5 games for the season and there have been 4 different players who have led the team in those games. Kim Roy has twice been top scorer in games for Digby, while Karen Hattie, Joanne Wilson and Judy Keney were top scorers in the other three games.

Digby will play two games this Saturday at 11:00. Games will start at 11:00.

These two teams have been playing exciting hockey since the season commenced and with the exception of this week all games have been extremely close low scoring contests. Credit for the closeness of the games goes to a great extent to two fine young goal tenders in Richard McVeigh (Cats) and Keith McKintosh (Tigers). This division is again hoping to arrange an interlocking schedule with Cornwallis which last year proved very competitive and enjoyable for all concerned. Come to the rink and see the boys in action. You'll be glad you did and so will they.

Junior Girls Basketball

Digby Junior Girls Basketball team played two games this past Saturday. The opponents were West Kings. Digby boosted its season record to 6 wins and 1 loss by defeating West Kings twice. The first game saw 9 different Digby girls score points as they took a 58-21 victory. Kim Roy had 14 points; Cheryl Trask had 12 and Judy Kenley had 10, for the winners. Cheryl Trask had 10 assists. Susan McClary pulled in 13 rebounds. The game also featured the improved play of Kathy Naylor.

It was also welcomed to see the coming to life of the teams top scorer last year, Cheryl Trask. Those who watched the game felt that the two games were her best this year. Another return to form was made by Pam Locke, who played excellent ball.

The Digby team took the second game by a 57-20 score. This game featured the outstanding play of Kim Roy who counted for 18 points. Again the scoring was divided among a number of players; 10 members hit the hoop for points, Karen Hattie and Cheryl Trask both had 6 assists. The top rebounders were Karen Hattie with 12 and Kim Roy with 11. The two games featured something that has been lacking on the team, that being rebounding by the centers. Both Karen Hattie and Kim Roy rebounded in a fashion that will add greatly to Digby's overall strength. The games also demonstrated the improvement of a systematic attack which up to now had been lacking. The coach feels that the combination of a systematic attack and a fast break, which was the teams usual manner of attack, will deepen the overall power and make the team more effective.

Annual Meeting - Federation Of Agriculture

Malcolm Justason, President of the Digby County Federation of Agriculture, announced on Monday that the annual meeting of the Federation would be held Thursday, November 18, at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall, Weymouth. Registration will be at 7:00 p.m. with program at 7:30 p.m.

In making the announcement, Mr. Justason stated that a completely new approach on the meeting this year will be the theme "Farm and Home Safety". This is the first time that any farm Federation has featured such a meeting on farm safety. Mr. Donald Gunn, Supervisor of Agricultural Engineering with the Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture and Marketing, Truro, will be the program chairman.

Mr. Gunn is the chairman of the Department Safety Committee and Mr. Justason feels that farm organizations should be doing all they can in promoting farm safety. Last year, eight Nova Scotia farmers died from farm accidents, mainly by tractor roll-over. Many other farm people received injuries from all kinds of farm related accidents. A short business meeting will be held with the major part of the program being at 8:00 p.m.

Marshall Kaiser from the Co-op Fire Insurance Company, Moncton, will discuss fire safety on farm and home. He will have models of buildings on hand showing unsafe wiring, fuse Gerry Townsend, Assistant Professor of Agricultural Engineering at the N.S. Agricultural College, Truro, will be presenting topics on machinery and woodlot safety.

Mr. Townsend will have films on "Accidents Are Seldom Accidents" and "Chain Saw Safety". Bob's Saw Shop, Conway, will be demonstrating the new safety mechanism on chain saws as well as safety chains now used on power saws.

Mrs. Arnold Prime and Mrs. Nellie Robbins made a business trip to Lawrencetown, and also visited Mrs. Bent.

Digbyites and tourists for some years. It is the home of Dennis (Dennie) and Rhoda Belliveau. The real attraction and the "pride and joy" of the Belliveau's is their profuse rose garden. According to Mr. Belliveau, there are 350 rose bushes of all descriptions planted in that small acreage. Order and beauty, however, are well preserved despite the fact that 350 rose bushes are a lot of bushes, especially when Mr. Belliveau can claim some "stalks" as long as 20 feet.

The rose bushes at Dennie and Rhoda's home have little respect for time if they want to extend their beauty and fragrance further. Presently, in November, there are small open roses in white, pink and red and a plentiful supply of buds in the various shades and varieties.

Reflecting To 1946

The Digby Board of Trade, November, 1946, went on record as favoring the erection of a bridge across Petite Passage from East Ferry to Tiverton. The $300,000 which was proposed for improving approaches to the ferries was considered a "drop in the bucket" and the Board stated that no system of ferries was adequate with the tide and weather conditions with which the Passage was faced. Ferries, it was said in 1946, operated actually only four months of the year and hardly ever after dark.

The resolution forwarded by the Trade Board to the federal and provincial governments emphasized that adequate transportation facilities across Petite Passage are an absolute necessity to the economic life of that section of the province. The resolution requested a toll bridge.

The Board of Trade made plans to incorporate a company to own and operate a proposed link. M. S. Leonard, although having advocated (because of time factor) to use the Nova Scotia Company's Act for incorporation, now felt time was not so necessary and the Private Bill method would be better. By this method everyone in town and county would be eligible to serve on the directorate and donations would come within provision of Income Tax Act.

In the Pi Line comments, we note, that all employees at H. T. Warne Ltd. pooled together to make a donation to the Lloyd Jordan family who had lost their complete possessions by fire. There were also comments on the wallet containing $50 which had been returned to William Barton. "There are nice people in this old town of ours" says the Courier back in 1946. We can still say the same in 1976 even though we fear that crimes and misdemeanors are increasing.

How To Conserve Energy

More than 50 were at the Digby Branch Canadian Legion Hall in Digby on Wednesday evening to hear Miss Chris Epplett and George Matheson of the Energy Conservation Team of the Federal Department of Energy and Mines and Resources inform about conserving energy.

Master of Ceremonies for the meeting was R. MacLeod Rogers and the meeting was sponsored by various organizations of the town. The meeting began with a conservation film to arouse interest and then dealt with a general conversation on energy waste and how to conserve. Sixty per cent of our energy comes from oil, the speakers said, 15 percent from hydro and twenty-five per cent from coal but Nova Scotia coal is limited. Insulating, they said, can save fifty per cent in energy bills, however, Miss Epplett said that the purpose would be defeated if the savings were not put back into energy conservation. Speaking of waste energy, the team said Canada uses more energy per person than any other country in the world.

With the general idea that insulating homes was the real answer to cutting down energy consumption, the team jointly informed the audience on different methods and different materials for insulating and about guarding against errors in workmanship. Much literature was distributed to support the arguments set forth by the Energy Conservation team. Demonstrations of homes by means of slides resulted in a clearer understanding of the process by those present and engendered many intelligent questions and informative answers.

Much emphasis was put on methods of getting rid of moisture problems especially in using the "foamed in" type of in-

Service In Appreciation Senior Citizens

Rev. Foster Hall, Bear River, was special speaker on Sunday evening when the Digby Baptist Church held a service of worship in appreciation of senior citizens and the contribution they had made to church, community and family life.

Special among the guests was Charles Lambertson, Tideview Terrace, who was 94 years old on Sunday. Until a few months ago when Mr. Lambertson suffered a fall, he had lived alone at his home in Barton where he continued to do the gardening and other chores and made his regular visits by bus to the Town of Digby. Mr. Lambertson was given a birthday cake with a king's crown at a social hour following the worship. Attending with Mr. Lambertson were his daughter, Mrs. Jean Adshade and his sister, Miss Minnie Lambertson.

The entire service was presided over by Mrs. Olive Pearce who is employed at the Tideview Terrace. J. J. Brittain led a hymn sing with Mrs. Daneen Robbins, organist. Mrs. Minnie Clayton and Rev. Murray Shaw, pastor of the church rendered two duets, "How Great Thou Art", and "Beyond The Sunset" and the full choir was in attendance.

Drawing attention to the special work the senior citizens had done in church life in earlier years, Mrs. Pearce asked those who had been ministers and ministers wives to rise, deacons, heads of organizations and various categories of work in the church after which the choir sang a song of thankfulness.

Mr. Hall took as his topic from Psalm 32 "I was once young but now I am old". He looked back to the years when an older person was always referred to as "poor old" because he had reached the limit of his physical ability but in the past ten or 15 years there has been a change and many doors that were once closed are now open in care and concern for the aged.

Mr. Foster reminded his audience that all must come to learn to accept the limitations of life and come to terms with our mortality, all in the same loving hand of God. He counted the senior citizens to be rich in understanding of one another's needs. When the drive and impulse is over and loneliness becomes a problem there can be remembered the sharing, encouragement, interest and concern as part of the web of humanity and realize the assurance, through the lessons of life, of the faithfulness of God.

Closing prayer was by Rev. W. J. Derby, guest at Tideview Terrace.

The offering was received by Harold VanTassell and Cecil Cosman.

Firemen Deliver Water

Fires were at a minimum in Digby during the past weekend but firemen were on duty and doing their usual acts of kindness to make life comfortable for all residents. Once again the lead seal of the newly installed 12 inch water main broke at Racquette Hill and Digby Firemen delivered water to those homes and businesses finding themselves under insufficient pressure to continue the flow of town water.

Swine Flu Shots Begin

The first stage of the Nova Scotia program to immunize residents against influenza will begin this week.

Health Minister Maynard MacAskill said today that supplies of the vaccine have begun to arrive in the province and are being distributed to the eight public health units.

Dr. MacAskill said Nova Scotia has determined to continue on the course of action that had been decided upon last summer. This is the program that was first recommended by the National Advisory Committee on immunization agents early in the year, and reconfirmed at their October 26th meeting.

There are two types of vaccines that will be available in Nova Scotia, Dr. MacAskill said. A bivalent vaccine containing a -New Jersey-'76 (popularly known as swine flu) and a -Victoria-'75 strains. The second is a monovalent vaccine containing the a -New Jersey-'76 strain only.

The Health Minister said the bivalent vaccine will be offered to all people over the age of 65, as well as chronically ill adults 20 years and over.

The early deliveries of the bivalent vaccine will be offered to people in institutions such as nursing homes, and those infirmed at home over the age of 65. Health unit directors have set up the mechanics to visit institutions involved and the vaccine will be administered by department of Public Health Staff.

In order to determine the classifications considered chronically ill, Dr. MacAskill said he has appointed a task force under the chairmanship of Dr. Rudy Ozere, Professor of Pediatrics at Izaak Walton Killam Hospital for children. The task force will consist of Clinicians representing specialties and general practice.

The list of chronic illnesses will be specific, and will be widely advertised, Dr. MacAskill said.

The monovalent vaccine is not expected to arrive in sufficient quantities for mass public clinics for several weeks. This vaccine is to be available for people between the ages of 20 and 50. Dr. MacAskill said details of those clinics will be announced at a later time. There will also be further detailed information released by the health units on public clinics for those who are over the age of 65, and desire to receive the bivalent vaccine.

The Minister has sent a letter to all doctors in the province outlining details of the first phase of the immunization program. Administration of the program, and all doses of the vaccine, will be handled by Public Health Staff.

At the moment, the Minister said there are no definite plans to administer the vaccine to those under the age of 20. However, by the end of December clinical trials on children will be available and a decision will be made at that time.

He also noted that it is more than a program to protect against the popularly known swine flu. It is also to provide protection for that area of the population most at risk against what is perceived as a more likely occurrence, A-Victoria-'75 strain influenza.

REMEMBRANCE DAY BANQUET AT DIGBY

by Frances Adams

The Royal Canadian Legion Hall was the scene of the Annual Remembrance Day Banquet on Thursday November 11th. Veterans, Ladies Auxiliary and Associate members gathered, making a total of about 200 people present.

The centerpiece on the head table was a beautiful arrangement of flowers in gold tones and gold colored candles also graced the table. The color gold was used to commemorate the golden anniversary of the Royal Canadian Legion which had been so widely celebrated during the present year.

A dinner was enjoyed by the many folks present previous to which Padre Eugene Dexter offered Grace.

During the evening Charles Francis, President of the Legion introduced the other 12 people who were seated at the head table with him. They were: Opposition Leader, John Buchanan; Joseph Casey, M.L.A. Digby; Mayor Stuart MacNaughton; 1st Vice President- Willie Dakin; Mayor of Digby, Mr. Charles Hilburton; Legion Padre, Mr. Eugene Dexter; Mrs. Linda LeBlanc- President of Ladies Auxiliary of Legion; Mrs. Joseph Casey; Mrs. Eugene Dexter; Mrs. Stuart MacNaughton; Mrs. Charles Francis and Mrs. Willie Dakin.

John Buchanan, Provincial Leader of the Opposition, was guest speaker for the evening. When addressing the large gathering he said many Canadians are concerned at the number of people who do not recognize Remembrance Day and honor those who paid the supreme sacrifice. He told the Legion members and others present, "It is your responsibility to observe and Remember Remembrance Day."

Mr. Buchanan reminded those present that in this year 1976 the Royal Canadian Legion celebrated its 50th anniversary.

In two world wars over 100,000 young Canadians died to preserve basic freedom and Mr. Buchanan said the Legion must be a strong organization in the future to protect this basic freedom. Ernest Tufts thanked Mr. Buchanan for his fine address.

A number of brief speeches were given. These included an address by Joseph Casey M.L.A. who said "We have fought and we have won many wars." Greetings from the town of Digby, were brought by the newly elected Mayor Stuart MacNaughton. Charles Hilburton, the ex-Mayor of Digby and Mr. Charles Francis, President of the Legion, both gave short addresses.

Mrs. Linda LeBlanc, President of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Legion made a few presentations. Three of these presentations were the presentation of pins. Mrs. Helen MacNeil received her 25 year pin and both Mrs. Emile Abbott and Mrs. Kay Outhouse received 20 year pins.

Charles Francis received a cheque for $1000.00 which was made to the Legion from the Ladies Auxiliary of the Legion. This presentation was made by the President, Mrs. Linda LeBlanc.

The Banquet was followed by a dance bringing to a close Remembrance Day 1976. Remembrance Day, a day to observe and remember those who made the Supreme Sacrifice that we might be free.

Digby Board Of Trade Meets

TRANSPORTATION, TRAFFIC RATES, TOURIST PROMOTION ON AGENDA

The Digby and Area Board of Trade met in regular monthly session, Tuesday evening, November 9th with seven members present. The President, Ernest Ryan, called the meeting to order. Minutes of the previous meeting were not available and the regular secretary had moved away from the Digby Area. Vincent Snow was appointed secretary pro tem for the November 9 meeting.

The President commented on the public meeting, sponsored by the Board, held at the Court House September 14 with Sgt. Thomas Barlow NCO, Digby R.C.M.P. Detachment. More than a hundred persons attended the public meeting which resulted in a strong expression of public opinion against the general conduct of affairs at municipal court under the present magistrate. As a result the Board held a meeting immediately following the public meeting and decided to write a letter to the Attorney General of Nova Scotia asking assistance to solve this important problem. A copy of the letter was read to the November 9 meeting. On question the President said the letter was dated October 28th and mailed on or about October 30th.

After presenting an agenda, the president left to attend another meeting whereupon the first vice president, Willard Kinney, took the chair. Mr. Kinney advised those present that thought should be given to appointment of officers for the coming year and that whoever becomes president, he or she, should be a person who is more available than himself (who is first vice president) to receive calls regarding Board of Trade and Community matters.

A letter from the Yarmouth County Tourist Association, dated October 6, was read, asking support of a resolution re getting a second ferry ship from Yarmouth to the U.S.A. It was moved by Harold Riley, seconded by Gordon Marshall and passed to endorse the Yarmouth resolution.

Correspondence and literature from the Institute of Cultural Affairs regarding a possible community forum called "Community Forum (Canada)" were presented. This was briefly discussed and shelved for the present.

A letter from the Community Services Committee, Digby Regional High School was read. It had to do with extracurricular activities, giving volunteer service to any interested person, industry or business. The program in question started Tuesday, October 12, continuing on every other Tuesday, and ending December 14. Letter was adopted as information for any interested person or group.

Next was a letter dated October 28, from J. V. Clyne, Chairman of Selection Committee of the Royal Bank of Canada Award of $50,000 offered in 1977 to an outstanding Canadian or a person domiciled in Canada who has made a major contribution to human welfare and the common good. No suggestions were forthcoming and the letter was received as information.

Then a letter dated September 28, 1976, from Roger Cameron, manager of Public Relations CN Marine was read, and a copy of Remarks by Robert A. Bandeen, President and Chief Executive Officer of Canadian National at Port Days, Saint John, N.B., 28 September 1976, was presented, and told about new beginnings of ferry service management between Digby and Saint John. Letter and literature were received as information.

Before leaving the meeting, President Ernest Ryan posed the question, what should be done regarding a rumor of increase in ferry rates next spring. Nothing was decided about this except to think about it.

Harold Riley was appointed Board representative to the Annapolis Basin Tourism and Recreation Council. It was asked that more Board of Trade members consider attending town council meetings occasionally.

Suggestions were made that time at the town Information Bureau be increased during tourist season and grounds in the area be developed for leisure and recreation. Paving and fencing the area were mentioned and it was further suggested that a letter be written to council urging action on the various suggestions. Question to be finalized next meeting.

The question of serious occasional breakage on the main water line in the Racquette area was discussed, to be further discussed for possible solution and action by water and town authorities. Other questions discussed were: traffic hazard at Racquette intersection; lack of traffic lights between shopping centre area and Warwick Street, especially during tourist season.

There was considerable discussion for promotion for a second ferry ship between Digby, N.S. and Welshpool, Campbell Island, N.B. Mr. Arthur Robinson, Transportation Committee Chairman, strongly suggested that the present time was opportune for such promotion, whereas the need for a second ship was here and the very thorough Margison 1966 report gave highest priority for such a service from Digby to Welshpool.

Meeting adjourned until November 30.

The meeting of the College is a Memorial to Sir Aubrey Lewis, former Professor of Psychiatry at London University and head of the Maudsley Hospital, and a great advocate of social psychiatry.

Dr. Leighton's lecture is titled "The Survey Method in Psychiatric Epidemiology" and will deal with the utilization of surveys in the study of psychiatric epidemiology. Dr. Leighton is among the pioneers in this field and has been responsible for mental health research activities in a number of areas - in Canada, the United States, Nigeria and elsewhere.

Another of the lecturers at the quarterly meeting of the Royal College of Psychiatrists in London this week is Dr. K. Rawnsley, Dean of the Royal College of Psychiatrists. Professor Rawnsley's subject is "The College and the Training of Psychiatrists". Dr. Rawnsley was in Digby in 1965 and spent some time here with staff members of the Digby Mental Health Centre as part of his training in research and social psychiatry. The Maudsley Hospital in London is noted as a training and research centre for psychiatric medicine.

Dinner Held Honouring Judge Victor Cardoza

A more than capacity crowd gathered in the dining room of the Fundy Restaurant here last Friday evening for the Testimonial Dinner honouring Judge Victor Cardoza. Sponsored jointly by the Digby-Annapolis Mental Health Service Board and the Digby Branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association, the occasion was a tribute to the leadership and involvement of Judge Cardoza in the work of the Board and the Association for more than 25 years. It also marked his leadership in the formation of other programs to meet the needs of such groups as the elderly and the isolated. Guests were present from Halifax, Yarmouth, Windsor, as well as the local and Valley area.

Master of Ceremonies for the event was Mr. Joe Grandy of the Department of Public Health. In his opening remarks Mr. Grandy briefly outlined the career of the guest of honour, not only in mental health work but also in civic affairs, the provincial legislature and in other fields. He noted Judge Cardoza had been active in a wide range of programs beneficial to people, not only locally, but also in a much wider sphere. As one highly respected for his services, Mr. Cardoza had in recent years, the Master of Ceremonies said, been honoured by presentations of awards and by being accorded honorary positions in many organizations. Mr. Grandy also paid tribute to Mrs. Cardoza who, he said, must certainly have made many sacrifices in order for her husband to participate so fully in so many volunteer efforts.

The invocation at the dinner was given by Rev. Isaac Butler. Among those at the head table paying tribute to the guest of honour were Mr. Donald Burgoyne, President of the Annapolis County Mental Health Association; Mr. J. Roy McIsaac, Chairman, Digby-Annapolis Mental Health Service Board; Mr. Vernon Weasel, President of the Digby Mental Health Association; Mrs. Diane Belliveau, representing the Clare Mental Health Association; Dr. M. A. Khalik-Kareemi, Medical Director, Mental Health Centre; Mr. Andrew Crook, Executive Director, Mental Health Nova Scotia; Miss Coline Campbell, M.P., South Western Nova; Joseph H. Casey, Digby M.L.A.. All the speakers commented on the leadership demonstrated by the guest of honour and most voiced many of their remarks in the style of the "roast" made popular in recent television tributes.

In response to the presentations and letters Judge Cardoza thanked all of those responsible for the evening and for the tributes extended. He said he had thoroughly enjoyed his involvement in the many programs over the years and felt this should constitute in itself ample reward. He also reminded the audience much yet remained to be done and cited the development of a pre-retirement program as an example.

At the close of the evening the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Father Maillet.

Dr. A. H. Leighton presented Judge Cardoza on behalf of the assemblage with a plaque commemorating his years of service on the Digby-Annapolis Mental Health Service Board. The inscription on the plaque reads in part, "Victor George Cardoza was a member of this Board initiated in 1956. He has given 20 years of continuous service and has been an unfailing source of strength to us as the staff. His leadership provided us with guidance, creativity and foresightedness. We were proud to be his associates, and proud to have seen his mental health work expand to the entire province and to the whole of Canada."

Dr. Philip Carter, President of Mental Health Nova Scotia, also presented a similar plaque. The inscription on this plaque, which will be placed in the mental health centre, reads, "Judge Victor George Cardoza" his original and creative work in the prevention of mental illness inspired the founding of the programme we proudly call Cardoza Youth Services - Digby-Annapolis Mental Health Service Board."

During the evening's program Mr. Grandy also read many letters received from such personages as the Lieutenant Governor, Honourable Garnet Brown, Minister of Recreation, and others regretting their inability to attend and paying tribute to the guest of honour.

In response to the presentations and letters Judge Cardoza thanked all of those responsible for the evening and for the tributes extended. He said he had thoroughly enjoyed his involvement in the many programs over the years and felt this should constitute in itself ample reward. He also reminded the audience much yet remained to be done and cited the development of a pre-retirement program as an example.

At the close of the evening the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Father Maillet.

DINNER FOR THE JUDGE

Yes, Friday evening, we believe, saw one of the finest testimonial dinners put on in Digby or around. They, friends and associates, put on a dinner in honor of the Judge. Maybe that is a bit misleading, as Victor G. Cardoza on Friday evening was reaping the credits and applause of appreciation for long years before he became a Judge of the Canadian Citizenship Court. Cardoza is well deserving of the honor bestowed upon him, an honor which could have been bestowed on Victor long ago if he had not always been so busy at seeing that someone else was being thoughtfully and rightfully given some appreciation for their achievements or services.

Victor's life from High School on (and we expect in school years also) was one of service. Take any department you wish to think about, church, school, health, service clubs, civic councils, organizations of many kinds, provincial politics and Canadian wide efforts, the now Judge Victor G. Cardoza, was right there behind many of the decisions and progresses. One would need volumes to justly write on his many concerns for people in so many walks and stations of life.

The tribute to Victor on Friday evening was meaningful. It was deserving and we congratulate those who grasped the opportunity to give friends and citizens an opportunity to express themselves in like manner. Having been chosen a Citizen of the Year by Digby residents in 1975 was fitting so the dinner provides the icing on the cake and coming from an even wider scope. The Mental Health Associations deserve credit in their leadership in this connection.

Dinner for the Judge, Yes, dinner for the Judge. That was no signal of retirement for Victor nor would Vic be the type to grasp the opportunity. Judge Victor Cardoza, if our guess is right, will still be in there pitching when the call of aid to mankind is continually heard as ever before.

UNITED, NOT DIVIDED

The last two or three weeks have seen new councillors or returned councillors take their places around the Council table of the Municipality of the District of Digby and the Council table of the Town of Digby. A big start into the administering by either of these Councils was made when the committees for the year ahead had been named from among their numbers.

Each committee has a job of its own to do. Each committee has its own particular responsibility but there is always a thought which must be kept in mind; that is that a united council can accomplish more than a divided one. By that we do not mean that each and every councillor around the table must have the one and same mind. They can have difference of opinions which can in time be thought out and ironed out by the whole council. Hopefully the people in the town or municipality can, with a sense of security and stability put their trust in the Council they elected. Families, organizations or councils which do not display a spirit of togetherness certainly cannot engender much trust and security into the people they serve or tend to protect.

Most people are well enough aware of the democratic process of our councils in which the majority rules and would like to continue being governed by that process rather than feel the insecurity of division within the ranks. There seems to be every indication that both our warden in the municipality and the mayor of our town are doing their duty in trying to work under this democratic system. All they need is co-operation from their councillors. In most cases they have it.

Difference of opinion, yes. Divided impression, no. Residents, be they tax payers or not need the security of a stable and secure government to make a happy and prosperous community. It can be. United we stand. Divided, we fall.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sirs:

The Royal Canadian Legion Branch No. 20 deeply regrets that it was not possible to announce a Winner in the Essay contest concerning Remembrance Day and finish the judging in time for November 11, 1976.

There were so many fine essays turned in that we were not able to find enough judges, so that a fair assessment could be made in the time we had available to us.

The essays will be judged as soon as possible and the results phoned in first to the Junior-Senior High School of Digby and then forwarded to the media.

Yours very truly
Eugene A. Dexter
Padre: Branch No. 20
Royal Canadian Legion

Tide View Terrace
Nov. 7th, 1976

Dear Mrs. Wallis:

I thank God that he has spared me to celebrate another Birthday and to all kind friends who so thoughtfully remembered me with cards and gifts, I am truly thankful. I can only say May God Bless You All.

G. E. Lambertson

PS. Mr. Lambertson at 94 years did the composition and writing for the letter above showing the faculties with which he is endowed at the grand age of 94.

Dear Mrs. Wallis:
I am a parent with children in the elementary and high school.

I also am in favour of students of all ages being reprimanded. But, for classroom teachers or principal to use obscene language, cursing and name calling when correcting a student for a minor offense is certainly displaying a very low standard for classroom teacher or principal. I can see a great requirement for a superior over teachers and principals.
An interested parent.

Hodge Podge

Paving and repairing part of the old D.A.R. railway line from First Avenue to the wharf doesn't look much like taking up that unused portion of the C.P.R. railway as suggested by the Digby Board of Trade. There must be some reason for keeping an idle piece of line. Certainly, it is not to improve vehicular traffic in Jew Cove.

Places Wreath For 52 Years

An Armistice Service was held at the "Centaph", Little River, N.S. in memory of those that made the supreme sacrifice for King and Country.

The Service was led by Rev. John Kaulback and started with "O Canada", followed by Prayer and Psalm 46. Two minutes of silence was observed.

The Memorial Wreath was then placed by Rupert K. Trask, Veteran of World War I. This has been his fifty-second time of placing the Wreath and he has always taken care of and planned a service at the Little River Centaph.

Mr. Kaulback gave an inspiring message impressing upon the people the meaning of Armistice and also giving honor to the Lord who gave the supreme sacrifice that we might inherit "Eternal Life".

Service was closed with "God Save The Queen".

Delayed Mental Health Legislation

Discouraging Matter

Mental Health legislation in the province of Nova Scotia will come under attack at the Annual conference of mental health-Nova Scotia to be held in Truro Friday November 19.

Mr. John Mroz, Chairman of the Association's Legislative Committee stated the Association and other professional groups have been frustrated in their attempts over the past few years to get new legislation introduced in the House of Assembly "even though the need for new legislation has been acknowledged by all parties."

Mr. Mroz stated the Association was encouraged several years ago when it was informed that Mental Health officials in the Department of Public Health had been directed to draft new legislation and that these officials sought the advice and counsel of professional and citizen groups throughout Canada. The hope was that Nova Scotia would have the most modern legislation in the country and indeed that would have been the case had the legislation been introduced when their examination was completed.

Now that circumstances have changed the other provinces have passed new legislation and we are once again at the end of the line. The difficulties are compounded now because we are faced with a new pattern of service delivery and the present legislative regulations would appear to be in conflict with this new pattern.

Mr. Mroz emphasized the workshop session, running a full day would examine such matter as admission procedures, review procedures, rights of patients, competency and consent to treatment and management of patients' estates. The main objective of the session however, is to inform those in attendance with what's wrong with the present legislation, what's required in new legislation and more particularly, recommending a course of Seventeen members and guests responded to the Roll Call with a scripture verse containing the word "Peace". It was decided to send Christmas gifts to the Miller Hospital, Kentville as in previous years. Prayer by Mrs. Debbie Hapeman closed the meeting.

Institutes To Discuss Task Force For Women

The Women's Institutes of Nova Scotia will be hosting six one-day sessions in various locations of the province next month to discuss with its membership the report of the Nova Task Force on the Status of Woman.

These sessions, with the theme "Herself - Review for Action", have been planned to acquaint the W.I. membership with the Task Force report, entitled "Herself", and the recommendations included in it. The report was released last March and W.I.N.S. is concerned that very little has been heard of it since that time. The sessions have been designed to get the reaction of the W.I. members to the recommendations so that W.I.N.S. can then give support to the recommendations favoured by the membership and can plan a course of action to help get them implemented.

All M.L.A.'s in the province are being invited to attend one session to give the W.I. members an opportunity to discuss the

Bird Haven Notes

Nothing very startling to tell you about this week. A beautiful red bird was seen at the Queen St. park sight on several occasions. If it is all red it would be a male Cardinal, if it has black wings it is a Scarlet Tanager. So far I have had no luck in seeing it, but will keep trying.

Had a dear little Myrtle Warbler brought in by a young lady. She had picked it up on front street. No doubt it had hit a window. She thought it was cold. We put it in a small cage and in half an hour it was swinging away on the swing. Next morning I took it out doors and off it went, no doubt happy to be in the great outdoors again.

These little birds can be easily identified by the bright yellow spot at the base of the tail. They are summer birds but a few do stay in the winter feeding on Bayberries and Poison Ivy berries.

Have had four Robins brought to me inside of three days, crippled from pellet guns.

If children have to be given these things they should be taught how to use them. Not to shoot at protected birds and people's windows. As a matter of fact it is against the law to fire them inside town limits.

My winter feeding station is all set up, lobster crate in place with food inside, thus keeping the pigeons out. The small birds are able to go through the slats to feed.

The Mocking bird is still with me and is boss of the eunomys tree. It chases all the Starlings away but hasn't the courage to tackle a Blue Jay.

So long
The Bird Lady.

Junior Girls Basketball

Judy Kenley of Digby Regional High School Junior Girls Basketball team scores 2 points with a jump shot, against West Kings.

The Junior Girls Basketball Team played 2 games on the weekend. In the first game Digby travelled to St. Anne du Rousseau to play a senior girls team. The team played excellent ball in the first quarter taking a 14-0 lead. From that point on the game turned into nothing short of football. The Digby team coasted to a 34-19 win.

This is the first time the team has tried to play a senior team. Digby was led by Judy Kenley who scored 12 points. Top rebounder was Darlene Haight with 9. Pam Locke and Cheryl Trask both had 5 assists.

On Sunday Digby hosted Middleton. Digby seemed to leave team play at home as they trailed by 2 points at the half. They pulled out the game 39-24. If it was not for the shooting of Kim Roy the team would have had a tough time winning. She scored 23 of Digby's 39 points. Susan McClary and Kim Roy each had 8 rebounds. Janet Wilson had 6 points. The teams next games are on Saturday when they play both Lockeport and Shelburne.

Community Home Placement Program

Work in the community is becoming the new focus of Mental Health Services. The treatment needs of people experiencing mental health problems are being looked after more and more in the community. And the involvement of the community has advantages over restricting mental health services to the hospital.

The Digby-Annapolis Mental Health Centre is attempting to increase the use of the resources and people of the community in providing services. The importance of community resources can be seen in the Community Home Placement Program recently being initiated by the Mental Health Centre. The goal of the program is to find homes throughout Digby and Annapolis Counties, and the District of Clare for the placement of persons who have been receiving mental health services. The community home setting will be used when the intensive treatment services of the hospital are not needed or no longer necessary.

The Community Home Placement Program will provide an alternative setting to the hospital for mental health care. The period of hospitalization can be shortened when homes are available in the community. When problems are caused by a stressful home situation, a community home provides the opportunity for a "healthy break" for a short period and thereby possibly avoid the need for hospitalization. The community program will also be valuable for young people who are having problems due to a poor home life and in need of healthy, supportive home environment.

The Community Home Placement Program also makes it possible for continuous treatment for persons needing mental health services. The need for admission to a hospital where they are not familiar with a person's home and family situation can be prevented. Because home placements could be available in the same area where the person has been living, the disruption of the person's life is reduced to a minimum and his surroundings remain as familiar as possible.

The Digby-Annapolis Mental Health Centre is now looking for individuals who are willing to make their home available as a community home placement for persons who require follow-up mental health care. Homes are needed to provide both long and short term care for single adults. Homes are also needed for youth who need an improved family environment. The Mental Health Centre's team of professional staff including a Psychiatrist, Psychologists, Social Workers and Community Mental Health Nurse are available to discuss with people interested in what would be involved in making their home available for community placements. Ongoing supervision and consultation are provided by members of the professional staff while someone is placed in a community home. The Department of Social Services provide reasonable rates to cover the extra costs and time involved in making a home available for a community placement.

Mental Health problems exist in every community. It is the community itself which can be most effective in providing for the mental health needs of its residents. Involvement in the Community Home Placement Program is an opportunity to contribute to the growth and development of the whole community, yourself and someone else.

Homemaker's Corner

BY SUSAN HORNE

HOME ECONOMIST
DEPT. OF AGRICULTURE & MARKETING
CRANBERRIES

These red, tart berries are commonly linked with festive occasions. Just saying the word cranberry and we tend to think of the traditional way of serving a beautiful turkey dinner, enhanced with the bright red cranberry sauce.

Cranberries are being grown commercially in Nova Scotia, so it is not an uncommon sight to see Nova Scotia Cranberries featured at local retail outlets.

Long before white man discovered cranberries, they were already playing an important part in everyday life here. For instance, Indians often used the tangy cranberries to "perk up" their foods. They served dishes such as "pemmican cakes" which were made of dried deer meat and meal. Indians also adopted the versatile cranberry for other uses. They used cranberry dressings for treating wounds, and used cranberries as a dye for their blankets and rugs.

When the Pilgrims came to America, they soon began to create their own ways of fixing cranberries for the trade. They made them into sauces, bubbling tarts and cranberry nogs.

Early American sailors found the cranberries good for their health. The berries were stored in barrels of cold water and served regularly to crews at sea in order to provide Vitamin C and ward off scurvy.

Fresh cranberries are available on the market during the fall and winter months. Cranberries vary in size, shape and color, according to the variety. They may be bell shaped, round or oval, large or small, and vary in color from bright red to dark crimson.

When buying fresh cranberries look for those that are plump, and dry to ensure freshness, and firm with high lustre to indicate ripeness. One pound of fresh cranberries makes approximately 3-3½ cups of sauce.

To store cranberries at home, first remove any decayed or poor quality berries and store in a plastic bag in the refrigerator. Freezing can be a quick way of preserving cranberries. Remove stems and leaves. Pack in plastic freezer bags and pop them into the freezer.

If you prefer jellied cranberry sauce to whole cranberry sauce, this can be made quite easily.

Jellied Cranberry Sauce
2 cups water
4 cups fresh cranberries
2 cups sugar

Cook cranberries in water until the skins pop, strain; add the sugar; boil 10-15 minutes. Pour into your favourite mold. Chill until set. Unmold to serve, or for future use store in moisture, vapor-proof containers in the freezer.

Try this family favourite square recipe.
Cranberry Squares
½ cup soft butter
1 cup sifted all purpose flour
2 tablespoons icing sugar

2 eggs
1 cup white sugar
1 third cup all purpose flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon almond flavoring one third cup chopped raisins
½ cup dessicated coconut
½ cup chopped almonds, or Brazil nuts two-third cup whole cranberry sauce

Mix the first three ingredients together and spread in the bottom of a greased 8-inch square pan. Beat eggs thoroughly and add sugar, sifted dry ingredients and flavoring. Stir in remaining ingredients and spread mixture evenly over the crust.

Bake at 350 degrees F for 40 minutes. Cool and top with lemon flavored butter icing.

Break For Taxpayers Defeated

A motion to increase the discount available to taxpayers who pay their bill early, from 2-5 per cent, and reduce the penalty for late payments, from 14-12 per cent, was defeated at Monday's town council vote by one vote.

The motion was introduced by Coun. Eileen Chipman who cited examples of discounts and penalties used in other municipalities in the province.

The six councillors split evenly on the motion. Couns. Chipman, Robert MacNutt and Foster Journeay in favour; Couns. Gordon Ellis, Philip Robertson, and Guy VanTassel against.

Mayor Stewart MacNaughton cast the deciding vote against the motion explaining he did not have sufficient information to vote in favour of such a move.

Coun. Ellis spoke against the motion stating that at the previously lower penalty, taxpayers were using the town as a finance company - withholding tax money instead of borrowing.

The management gave an afternoon social for the staff, several of whom are from this community.

Mrs. Adolph Melanson and children left via Air Canada for Winnipeg, where her husband is employed. Good luck is extended to them.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Ralph Jarvis and family in the loss of Mr. Ralph Jarvis. Also to Mrs. Rester Gaudet and Mr. Hoppe on the sudden passing of Amelia Hoppe, also sympathy to the family of Alfred Amero, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Amero of Doucetteville, who was fatally injured in a car accident.

Planning Big Advancement In Annapolis Basin Area Tourism

Big changes may be coming for tourism in the Annapolis Basin area during the next two or three years. That was the basic message brought forth during a meeting of the Annapolis Basin Tourist and Recreational Council Wednesday night at the Wardroom, Cornwallis.

The Annapolis Basin area has been designated as Nova Scotia's first Tourist Destination Area by Nova Scotia's Minister of Tourism, the Honourable Maurice DeLory. This was announced in Halifax on November 4th at a meeting attended by hotel and motel operators from all around the province. The Tourist Destination Area idea is an intensification of the Department of Tourism's interest in a specific locality, and the Annapolis Basin area project is a pilot project.

The plan may involve the spending of large sums of money in this area, depending upon the plans brought forth by the local tourist council, popularly known as ABTRC. The membership of ABTRC is made up of tourist oriented business persons, craftspersons and interested citizens from Weymouth, Digby, Annapolis, Bridgetown and the smaller towns and countryside near these centres. ABTRC is headed up by Mrs. Marion (Penny) Gott, Smith's Cove.

Forty-six ABTRC members were present at the Wednesday night meeting, at which two major items of business were undertaken. A working group was organized to sit down and plan with the provincial government the needs of tourism in the area. It was stressed at the meeting by Pines Resort Hotel Manager, Vice Bradshaw, that the tourist destination area plans would be those developed by the local organization, ABTRC.

These plans may involve the creation of day trips, the building of a marina, the building of a marine museum, or any other idea that the planning group's members consider necessary. This planning group will be meeting with Nova Scotia Department of Tourism planner, Rick Young, for preliminary talks later in the month.

The second working group will be concerned solely with the planning of day trips for the next tourist season and is headed up by Annapolis businessman, Kip McKague. Day trips involve the organization of wellplanned, well-advertised excursions for tourists in the Annapolis Basin area. The day trip program could also involve the construction of an attraction felt to be lacking.

The next meeting of the Annapolis Basin Tourist and Recreational Council is Wednesday, December 8th, at 8:00 p.m., at the Wardroom, Cornwallis Armed Forces Base. The meeting is open to the public, although to become a voting ABTRC member costs you $5.00 for an individual membership and $10.00 for a business membership. ABTRC operates without a government grant and relies on membership dues and revenues from its summertime Scallop Day to keep going.

Another highlight in last week's meeting was a renewed relationship between ABTRC and the Boards of Trade. Digby Board of Trade members attended and contributed to the meeting, while earlier in the week ABTRC members had attended a conference of the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade in Greenwood.

Answers To Canada Pension Questions Coming

During a recent interview, Mr. Pierre Croteau, Field Officer for Canada Pension Plan, advised he received many queries indicating many people are not fully aware of the benefits available to them under the Canada Pension Plan.

Such questions as the following are often asked:

(a) I am presently receiving a disability pension and wish to know if I have to apply for my retirement pension prior to age 65 as I understand the disability ceases at that time.

(b) I became 65 in December 1975, but have been retired since June, 1975.

Will I be eligible for a retirement pension the month following my 65th birthday or the month following my retirement? I have not applied for a retirement pension as of today.

(c) I am not a Canadian citizen but have contributed to Canada Pension Plan from 1970 to 1975. Will I be eligible for a retirement pension when I reach age 65 even though I am not residing in Canada?

(d) When I receive my retirement pension from the Canada Pension Plan, how long will it continue and does the amount remain constant? (e) I am a 25 year old female who has paid into the Canada Pension Plan for six years and plan to be married and may not return to the labour market in the future. Is there any way I can have my contributions returned to me?

(f) What is the maximum amount of the death benefit in 1976?

(g) What is the amount of the orphan's benefit? Who received the payment of the orphan's benefit?

The Kiwanis Club, Kinsman Club and Board of Trade have agreed to co-sponsor a public meeting and invite Mr. Croteau to discuss the many changes which have taken place since 1975 and to answer queries. (See ad elsewhere in this paper).

Thought Starter

By Rev. R.C. MacCormack
THERE MUST BE AN ANSWERS

Are things the way they ought to be?

In moments of serious self examination most of us become aware of defeat, and inner distress.

However, pride tells us never to admit weakness, inner guilt and need. Grin and bear it, is the old adage. It seems somehow beneath us to acknowledge that efforts of self improvement have not always brought inner peace.

The older we become the less able we seem to be in meeting fear and upsets. There must be an answer to internal hurts, and personal powerlessness.

It is God, in His fullness and living Presence. Where is He? Not in outer space, or attending to the cries of other people only. He is personal, when we receive Him by faith in Jesus Christ.

He makes His home in our inner being. None of the new fangled false religions can do the job of satisfying which the Lord can do. His grace and love alone will meet our desperate needs.

This is an unbeatable fact. He is not out there, but rather in me.

We live, then, by the energy of the living Christ Who has shown us the father. He understands and cares.

Yes, even SANTA agrees...

Cancer Society Reviews Education

Members of the Executive of Weymouth and District Unit of Canadian Cancer Society met at the home of Mrs. E.A. Fergusson.

Considerable discussion took place re the Education program in our area and where improvements could be made to inform more people. Education is defined as follows: to disseminate knowledge on the subject of cancer, and in Nova Scotia this has meant school programmes in the form of book cover, essay and poster contests. Information on hazards of smoking and special films for men and women. Many pamphlets are distributed, posters, calendars and displays at fairs and exhibits.

Through its generous donations to the Canadian Cancer Society the Canadian public has clearly demonstrated its strong desire to expand Cancer Research.

The "In Memoriam" Fund is another way of helping, as a donation given in remembrance of a friend or loved one is set aside and used only for Research.

Mrs. Bert Potter, Plympton, is the Chairperson for In Memoriam Fund in the District with Representatives in each area on the committee.

Dr. Pierre Denois, France, President of the International Union Against Cancer in a recent address at Toronto stated, while not underestimating the need for continued Research, which

On October 28th, at 7 p.m. John Cook of Gilbert Cove celebrated his 72nd birthday at the Digby General Hospital in the T.V. Room.

Members of the staff who were on duty also joined in on the celebration. He was presented with two beautiful birthday cakes made in the shape of a Bible. He presented the nurses and staff with a lovely heart shaped cake in appreciation of their wonderful care and thoughtfulness of him during his stay there. The three cakes were made by Mr. Herbie Robicheau of Ashmore.

Mr. Cook is a well known and respected citizen of the community of Gilbert Cove and surrounding areas. He served the public for 21 years as a road foreman, then retired, did farming since. In fact he had a nice garden planted when he was taken is an investment for the future, a major task for the Union is to think of the present in terms of the millions of people who are at risk throughout the world. The key to more successful, earlier detection and prevention is to increase public awareness of the cancer problem. Much of this depends on adequate health education. Are you taking good care of yourself? Have you had a check-up lately? Early detection with you and your doctor with his illness. He and Mrs. Sias are known to be more than charitable in all ways.

The kids especially liked the big treats at Hallowe'en and still got them this year.

Mr. Cook thanked the friends for visiting him, and sending cards; get well wishes, phone calls inquiring about him. Mrs. Sias appreciated the reception that his friends gave him on his birthday.

All hope for many more happy birthdays for Mr. Cook and a continuous recovery and to see him home soon.

Remembrance At Westport

For the first time since the Westport Church of Christ was organized in 1859 was a Memorial Remembrance Day service held in this church. On Thursday Nov. 11th the residents of Westport, Freeport and Tiverton gathered to attend the service. The Legion Chaplain, Edward Donovan, led the service, after the opening Psalm 144 was read responsively by the chaplain and congregation. The first lesson Ecclesiastes 3:1-8 was read by Rev. Charles MacNeill and the second lesson Romans 8:31 to end of chapter was read by Mr. Donovan, who also said prayers for Queen and family, Prayer for Peace, Canadian Armed Forces, and Remembrance Day Prayer.

The message was given by Rev. Charles MacNeill and he read first seven verses of the 20th Psalm, the theme being to remember the name of our Lord. He spoke about how some put their trust in chariots and horses and others put their trust in the Lord, and likened this to Goliath and David. Goliath was with the Philistine army with great strength behind him and David alone and with trust in his Lord went out to meet the enemy with only a sling shot and a stone and he came away victorious. The Chaplain gave the benediction after which the president of the Legion, Comrade Alan Stokes, spoke about the service and what it means, and read a list of those who had purchased wreaths and sprays in remembrance of those who gave the supreme sacrifice in war of 1914-1918, 1939-1945, to the Korean War and all other wars.

Westport purchased these memorials: R.C. Legion No. 92, Church of Christ, Rebekah Lodge, R.E. Robicheau Ltd.-in memory of Eugene Frost, D.B. Kenney, Village of Westport, Morin who had it cut and served with the refreshments.

Student Council of I.C.S., C.C.G. 102, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Gower in memory of their son, Murray.

Freeport: Capreque Legion No. 92, Ladies' Auxiliary, Connor Bros, Chipewawa Lodge, Masonic Lodge, Freeport Riteway, MacIntyre Store, Edward Donovan, Mrs. Theresa Nichols, Bank of Nova Scotia, Mrs. Jean Franklin in memory of husband Bill, Dr. Alan Stokes in memory of fallen school friends, Sidney Hooper in memory of brother Ralph. Tiverton: Rainbow Lodge, Tiverton Fire Dept., Small Bros., Church of Christ, United Baptist Church, Shirley Elliott, Chester Outhouse, Gorham Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Outhouse in memory of son Lloyd.

Mr. Donovan in speaking of the dedication of these memorials said these are the outward signs but our inward thoughts come from the heart and to remember those who gave their lives for us, also to remember the comrades living and to remember our Lord.

The groups who marched in a body for the occasion were Sunset Rebekah Lodge, Ladies' Auxiliary of Canadian Legion, and members of Legion No. 92. Mrs. Jean Franklin was organist and there was a mixed choir from all three villages.

Dr. A. K. Stokes read a list of those who lost their lives in war of 1914-1918 - Charles Hersey, Noble Lewis, S. Welton Thurber, Horace Blackford, Melbourn Titus, Boyd Wyman, Ernest Shortliffe, Hamilton Elliott, Stephen Southern and Edgar Payson. Those who were lost during the 1939-1945 war were David Perry, Hamilton Prime, Paul Nichols, Eugene Frost, Douglas Kelley, Lawrence Frost, Glendon Farnsworth, Lloyd Outhouse, Murray Gower.

Following the service there was to be a short service at the cenotaph in Freeport and at Tiverton to lay wreaths and remembrances there. A pot luck supper was served at the Legion Hall in Freeport for those who wished to attend.

CAMPBELL AND CASEY HAVE FULL BAG OF SUGGESTIONS

JOE CASEY

COLINE CAMPBELL

Miss Coline Campbell M.P. for South Western Nova and Joe Casey M.L.A. for Digby, each left the November meeting of the council of the Municipality of the District of Digby on Monday with a full bag of suggestions to take back to their respective governments, each suggestion designed to improve the economy of this area, some of tremendous challenge.

The first topic discussed with Mr. Casey at the afternoon session and actually suggested by representative himself, was the possibility of gasifications of wood under intense heat.

This was related to the waste wood from mills such as Lewis Lumber Company, Weymouth and other waste wood. The possibility of such an industry in the area will be discussed with council if plans materialize to have officials from the Department of Environment and Development meet with council at an agreed time.

Estimated cost of such a plan for power production is approximately three hundred thousand dollars and while a survey at one time did not warrant such an investment, the rapid increase of fuel and power costs now changes the picture.

Another discussion which is in the planning for the council and Departmental Official is the feasibility of power generation from the Sissiboo River. Councillor L. E. R. Winchester introduced this subject by stating that he feels the Sissiboo Development is more feasible than the Wreck Cove project now in process in the Province. As with the gasification of waste wood, it was considered that while capital costs might have been too high to warrant such a project in surveys of years ago, the energy crisis has brought about a balancing figure.

Another important subject to be raised was that of Housing under various opportunities presented by the government. The council was incensed with the fact that a news coverage had represented Mr. Casey as saying that the Municipality of the District of Digby Council was not interested in the Housing project. Councillors felt that it had given the people of the municipality a false impression of council while facts were that the council of the Municipality of Digby had made application more than a year ago for a Low Rental Housing and to date they have no reply to the application.

Mr. Casey assured council that he did not feel the Municipality was disinterested in Housing and felt he must have been misquoted by some news media.

Mr. Casey informed council on the neighbourhood project and the availability of $1000.00 to be borrowed under C.N.H.C. for repairs to houses. This is open to those with incomes less than $7000. dollars per year. $3500 of that borrowed can be forgiven.

Other subjects discussed with the M.L.A. were pollution and sewer problems in the Municipality. Councillor Winchester felt the sewer problems would have to be considered before Housing.

Councillor Eric VanTassell invited members of the council to a meeting he was having with Mayor Stuart MacNaughton, Town Councillor Gordon Ellis and W. H. Horner Association regarding sewerage at Mount Pleasant and the Lighthouse Road.

Digby Man Guest Speaker

Bradford Barton Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Barton Sr., Jordantown, president of the Black Education Association and vice-principal of Graham Creighton High School near Halifax, was guest speaker in Truro on Wednesday at a conference on human rights. The conference organized by the Human Rights Commission and the Colchester East Hants Amalgamated School Boards.

Mr. Barton in referring to topic of human rights, said that before any real change in society can take place, people must be willing to change their attitudes, their prejudices and their discriminatory tactics.

He said schools need to start human rights education on a regular basis because "human rights is not a one-day thing but a continuous daily behavior." Children must learn about their origin, customs and heritage, and minority children especially must be aware that their cultures are rich and have contributed to the development of the present-day society, Mr. Barton said.

Questioning whether the French Acadian child, the Indian child or the black child is learning about their heritages in school, Mr. Barton said professionals of each race should be working within the multicultural environment so minority children could have someone with whom they could relate.

He said members of minorities who want to help the human rights cause can "stop looking for sympathy and get off their butts and show people they are a proud and capable minority determined to better themselves and their fellow man."

Student panelists Vera Knockwood, Ardith Jordan and Leslie Hiltz addressed the conference on human rights as they relate to Indians, blacks and women.

Another guest speaker was Dr. W.A. MacKay, chairman of Human Rights Commission. He said that none of the commission's activities were more important than the work it was trying to do in the province's schools. He encouraged all students to participate in the conference to insure it would make a difference "not just for one day, but for all of the school year."

Airport Takes Spotlight

Digby Municipal Airport, Sissiboo Hydro, Housing and Fundy Power took up most of the discussion period on Monday when Miss Coline Campbell M.P. for South Western Nova visited the council of the Municipality of the District of Digby. Of these the Airport took prominence.

Councillor L. E. R. Winchester expressed the gratefulness of the Municipality for what the Federal Government had done for the Airport but, he asked, why is the second stage so long coming? What is the good of 3000 feet of runway without facilities, he queried. What we need out there he said are hangars, repair space, washing, accommodation for trainees and such.

He advised Miss Campbell that the convention of the Canadian Owners and Flyers Association intends to meet here, bringing approximately 100 planes but there are no facilities at the airport to accommodate them. The airport he said is important in every aspect of industry, recreation, transportation, and economy. He told of visions of combining the Airport and an industrial park but their hands are tied. Already, he said, they have lost one industry by the hold-up in obtaining facilities for the Digby Municipal Airport.

Every phase of the economy is affected, Mr. Winchester said, including tourism and fishing. A survey of fish dealers has been made and it is found that frozen and fresh fish would be available for shipping by air.

The Digby Municipal Airport, councillor Winchester said, would mean money for the area not only the Municipality but for the town of Digby also.

It has been noted that the Digby Airport had received $600,000 from government sources but the federal member enthusiastically dropped the council's ideas in her bag of suggestions to place before the proper minister on her return to Ottawa. Miss Campbell also offered to endeavour to arrange meetings with advisors of various government departments such as Transportation, Housing, Energy, etc. and the Municipal Council.

Opens Joyce Anderson Memorial Room

The Admiral Digby Library and Historical Society will mark its tenth anniversary on Saturday, December 4th at two o'clock p.m. by opening a room dedicated to the memory of Mrs. Joyce Anderson, Digby.

Mrs. Anderson was one of the original founders of the library and was an ardent worker, serving as treasurer and sharing responsibilities on committees. Present for the official opening will be the late Mrs. Anderson's two children, Dr. Ian Anderson, Digby and Mrs. Leslie McKillup of Lake Echo, Halifax County.

It was in 1966 that a small group of people banded together to form the Library Association. In 1968 the Association was able to secure the building on Montague Row which continues to serve as a library.

By 1972 the name of the Association was changed with the addition of the Historical Society and with the intentions of the building to house a museum. The first room to open as a museum area is that to be opened December 4th as the Joyce Anderson Memorial Room.

In reviewing the programs of the Admiral Digby Library and Historical Society, the executive decided to steer the programs toward benefit for local people. The first of these programs was held on Tuesday evening when Miss Gertrude Melanson, a Grade XIII student at D.R.H.S. gave a talk on caning chairs and arranged a display of old chairs for those attending. Also a film on Pioneer Life was shown.

The next meeting will be on December 17th when Judge Victor G. Cardozo will give a talk on "Christmas Past". A display of old Christmas decorations and cards will be on hand and people attending are inviting people to add to the evening's exhibit.

Happy Birthday and Best Wishes rang out at the meeting of the Council of the Municipality of the District of Digby on Monday, the special recipient of all the kind expressions being Councillor Parker Thurber of Freeport.

Though taken by surprise, Councillor Thurber appropriately responded in memorized for the occasion.

On Sunday evening Elaine Handspiker gave a black light drawing depicting the Second Return of Christ. She was accompanied by Doris Brown who sang "What If This Were The Day?"

Yarmouth-Portland Run To Resume

The CN ferry Marine Cruiser is expected to begin operating between Yarmouth and Portland, Me., by the end of the month, Transport Minister Otto Lang said Friday.

He told Coline Campbell (L-South Western Nova) during the daily Commons question period that the necessary approval for landing at Portland was expected to be granted soon.

Mr. Lang said that was the last remaining formal step necessary before the Marine Cruiser, which has been undergoing modifications at St. John's, Nfld., went into operation.

The minister said the crew of the MV Bluenose would operate the Marine Cruiser. Lion Ferry abandoned the Yarmouth - Portland run at the end of October.

The meeting was presided over by George Barton, vice-chairman. No representative had been appointed to date to take the place of Reginald Hazelton whose term expired following the Digby Town election.

Dunphy were given permission to be absent from school for two days to accompany students on an educational tour to Europe.

Rupert Haley, administrator, gave a report of progress for the Continuing Education program in Digby. C.C. MacInnis, Donald Ross and Richard Saulnier were asked to discuss with departmental officials, the possibility of a French lab in school.

REMEMBER THAT THEY DIED, REMEMBER THAT THEY LIVE.

How well did we remember the war dead and injured on November 11th, Remembrance Day? Some will say "We paid deepest respect and homage, we marched, we had silence, we laid wreaths, we dined, we had addresses" And here we all agree. Duties were well carried out, in rain, snow or sunshine. The war dead were well remembered and that is good. We need a day like Remembrance Day to reflect both with thankfulness for many mercies as well as to honor the memory of those who paid the supreme sacrifice.

We contend, however, that the question really asking how well we remembered the war dead and injured cannot rightly be answered so soon after Remembrance Day. Our remembrance of their sacrifice can only be measured accordingly as we remember those who today live. What was it for which the service men fought? A better world, a better society, a lasting peace? From Remembrance Day on to Remembrance Day in 1977, our observance of Remembrance Day 1976 will be as effective as our service to mankind, our example of the good life which we set before others. Our sincere observance of Remembrance Day will help those young people to realize the meaning of Remembrance Day. So often we hear "the young people are not concerned." That could be true. Are adults concerned, really?

BACK TO THE LITTLE MAN

As we listen to politicians from the federal government talking these days about the necessity for more attention and encouragement for the small business and industrial operations, our minds are turned back to a man in the Nova Scotia Legislature some few years ago. The late R. Baden Powell, while a member of the House, frequently expressed to us his concern that not enough was being done to help the small business operator and the small industry, here and there which was providing employment for people in communities. He was concerned that all effort went into the larger establishments and the little man was neglected. Ofttimes these businesses could not stem the tide and one after another the small business went under and more and more people were forced on unemployment.

So often rules and regulations are passed by those who are far removed from the situation. This was and is one of the difficulties with small businesses today. Rules and regulations handed down regarding filling of forms, for instance, might not effect the big corporations but could become a financial drain for the small man with his small business. It is with a sense of satisfaction that we learn our government authorities are paying attention to this problem and that they are seeing that the sum total of small businesses can do much for easing unemployment and give a lift to the economy. Back to the little man on the family size business is a good thought and deserves boosting.

SAFE DRIVING WEEK 1976

If you are one of the thousands of Canadians who drove to work this morning on congested roads or streets, you made the most important decisions of your day. Some of those decisions may well have made the difference between life and death for yourself or for others. Did you really think about them or were they made by instinct alone? Were you qualified to make them at all?

As drivers we face the constant necessity of making a series of vital decisions that affect the well-being of ourselves and others. We are responsible for their results. Thus it is our duty to keep our driving habits and skills under constant review so that the driving choices we make will be those of a responsible and concerned safety conscious citizen. Safe Driving Week, sponsored annually by the Canada Safety Council from December 1st to 7th, provides a special opportunity for us to think about our driving and pedestrian habits and responsibilities. It is a time to resolve to improve our skills and to conduct ourselves in the traffic environment so that we will contribute to its safety rather than to its risk. We must resolve to exercise prudence and caution in our driving so that we may contribute to a reduction of vehicle accidents, injuries and deaths. It is really a

Just when we felt it was time to issue a warning "Conserve energy this Christmas" we see that our good hearted, advertising conscious government comes up with a Boston Tree Party (not to be confused with a Boston Tea Party!). A 50 foot tree goes to Boston and will be covered with 20,000 light bulbs. It will be lighted too, mind you! We are not knocking the friendship or publicity stunt, we are just trying to reconcile it with Conservation in general.

A column of interest to many of our readers has begun in this issue of The Digby Courier. It is on Unemployment Insurance. Several interesting questions have already been asked the Unemployment Insurance Commission through this first insertion. Your questions can be answered and other people receive the same information at the same time if you write to the address given at the end of the column. Have you any problems? Have you any criticisms? Others, too, might need the same information.

As we reported in our columns a couple weeks ago, in 1946 the Digby Board of Trade was recommending a bridge across Petite Passage. We see thirty years later that John M. Buchanan, Leader of the N.S. Opposition, is again advocating a bridge for Petite. His letter to that effect to Hon. J.F. Mooney, Minister of Highways, appears in this issue. While the self propelled ferries have been an improvement over Petite Passage transportation of thirty years ago, a bridge is a subject still worthy of consideration. The province is encouraging a greater numbers of tourists, how many of these can be lured to the Islands? What are the possibilities for a bigger and better fishing industry and associate plants when all the fishing boundary problems are resolved?

If we judge by the three fine, mature pieces of poetry relating to Remembrance Day appearing in today's issue of The Digby Courier we can full heartily believe Chaplain Eugene Dexter of the Digby Legion that there were so many fine essays turned in that they were not able to find enough judges to have the judging done before November 11.

Letter From Leader Of Opposition To Minister Of Highways

Dear Mr. Minister:

Over the past number of years I have received numerous complaints about the ferry service in the Digby Neck area. The vessel between Tiverton and East Ferry breaks down very often and on a few occasions has broken down in mid-stream. This of course, as you are aware, could be very dangerous and end up with tragic results in view of the strong tides and currents in that area.

People in this area would like to have a one-half hour schedule, but apparently the engine on the vessels providing the service is inferior and would not withstand the extra trips. I wish to compliment the captains who operate these vessels on their competence and ability in view of the problems which I know they must encounter.

In the year 1976, it is ridiculous that this area is not serviced by a bridge.

The Government of Nova Scotia seems to be able to find money for many projects which are not beneficial, but when it comes to something as vitally important as a transportation link between the Digby Neck Islands, money just is not available. It seems to me that every effort should have been made and should now be made to build a bridge between East Ferry and Tiverton. The present service is inadequate and not much better than that provided thirty years ago.

I urge you to up-grade the ferry service and change the schedule to provide a one-half hour service. This, I would hope, would be only an interim measure while a bridge is under construction.

Yours very truly,
John M. Buchanan, Leader,
Progressive Conservative Party of Nova Scotia

matter of practicing good citizenship.

Safe Driving Week will be successful again this year if it is given the support of all drivers. We must improve our accident record. The present cost in lives and suffering must not be maintained. Improve your skills by taking a Defensive Driving Course, wear your safety belts, slow down and obey the rules. Be concerned.

Please give Safe Driving Week your full support.

Pamela Applejohn Poem Wins First Prize

The poem of Miss Pamela Applejohn of the Digby Regional High School was chosen first place by the judges for the Digby Branch Canadian Legion which sponsored the competition. The poem titled "The Day War Came To Talk" follows.

THE DAY WAR CAME TO TALK

It was a beautiful day and I was looking out at the bay
I remember him clearly, coming up the walk it was the day War came to talk

He told us nothing else could be done and when he left, he took my Husband and Son
He took them away to France to fight
That day my eyes lost their light

They were killed in that faraway land now my heart beats with the band as Remembrance day brings it all back to me of how happy a memory can be

Love and happiness were stolen from me to set this land of ours free
What can replace the emptiness inside and the hurt that shows in my eyes

They set aside a day to remember when German soldiers finally surrendered and give out poppies of blood red to signify the men who are dead

I do thank them for setting aside such a day and every night for the dead men I pray because it means something really special to me
God Bless Canada, may it always be free Composed by Pamela Applejohn.

SECOND PRIZE

MEMORIES

It's been almost ten years since he's been gone:
He just wanted to show me how brave he could be;
We kissed and bade farewell one sad morning at dawn but he thought he'd be coming back home to me

I worried as I prayed for him day after day
In a dream, I envisioned he was dead in a field
I found it was true in a painful way
His Sergeant gave me a letter which is still sealed

His memories are held very close to my heart
I have often recalled the day that he left
In his grave, lies a very brave man, JOHN CART
For letting him go, I will always regret

Remembrance day is when we Honor the Men,
Who fought for our Country and would do it again Composed by Shelley Fletcher.

THIRD PRIZE

REMEMBERING

Remembrance Day is the saddest day
We should all go to the Church and Pray, Remembering the Men who have fought and all the sorrow it has brought
When the Families go to visit the grave, they will know their Son was very brave

It must be difficult; to be able to hear the firing of a Gun, and think you may be losing your only Son
It must be sad: For a Mother getting a letter and reading the part,
That says "Mum, You will always remain in my heart"

It must be heart warming: To think that now the Men are free and remember the way it used to be All the Men who have gone above will always know that they were loved.
Composed by Leta Barton.

Meeting of Digby and Area Board of Trade Tuesday, November 30, 7:30 p.m. Town Hall

All interested and concerned persons are welcome to attend for comments and discussion of any public question allowed by Board of Trade Constitution and Chairman of Meeting.

One important question concerning all citizens is:
More and better means for transportation of people and products. Is not the time opportune to again advocate the establishment of the previously advocated second ferry service from Digby, N.S. to Welshpool, Campobello Island, N.B. Such service was given top priority ten years ago by the then government appointed consulting Professional Engineers, namely: A.D. Margison and Associates Ltd.

Other important public questions are on the Agenda.

What about Wage and Price Controls at this point in time?

LETTER

Editor
Digby Courier

The season of "Peace and Goodwill to all men" is coming closer. The Christmas catalogue is out. Look on page 241 and see the marvelous playhouse and the three little children enjoying their make believe war. For only $16.99 your little boys or girls, too, can pretend to be real soldiers using this neat toy.

Like the crazed looking soldier throwing his handgrenade, they now can pretend to kill or destroy.

Even better, they can pretend to be the one with the Flamethrower. If you remember the news reports from Vietnam and the agony and despair of the mother carrying her burned child in her arms, you can tell your child what a neat job the flamethrowers did on him!

If you think your child is not seeing enough violence around him or on television be sure to get him this great "toy" for Christmas!

H. B. Robicheau (Mrs. R.)

NOTICE

The Municipal Council is concerned that the citizens of the Municipality of the District of Digby feel Council has a financial responsibility to keep the Digby County Ambulance Service in operation. This may be due to name association, or simply the fact that the service operates in the Municipality. However, this is not the case.

The Digby County Ambulance is operated under contract between the Ambulance Operator, the Nova Scotia Ambulance Operators Association, and the Province of Nova Scotia. The Municipality is not a party to this agreement in any manner. This type of contract is standard across the province.

The Municipality, however, did subsidize the Ambulance Service in the amount of $14,000.00 less recoveries from the Town of Digby and the Operator of approximately $2,800.00, leaving the contribution by the Municipality approximately $11,200.00.

This contribution was made not out of contractual obligation but to attempt to retain an Ambulance Service for the benefit of the citizens of the Municipality.

BROWN - In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Gordon L. Brown, who passed away November 27, 1966.

The golden gates stood open

Ten years ago today

You quietly slipped away.

God knew that you were weary

The hill too steep to climb

So he gently took your hand in his and whispered "Peace be thine".

Lord, put your arms around him

And keep him in your care

Make up for all he suffered

And all that was unfair.

You gave us years of happiness

Then came sorrow and tears

When we had to part with the one

We loved with all our hearts.

We love you and we miss you

You're in our thoughts each day

May God grant you peace and love

Till we meet again some day.

Missionary Convention

Featuring India And South Africa

By Frances Adams

The Digby Wesleyan Church held special services this past weekend November 20 thru 22nd. The services in the interest of missions featured Pakistan and South Africa.

The Services which began on Saturday evening November 20th consisted mostly of two films. The film shown on India was entitled "The Bold Young Believers". This was followed by a film on Africa which told the story of a young boy. It showed how his life was influenced by the Christian Belief of his mother and the none Christian Belief of his father.

The new Sunday School Bus made its first trip on Sunday A.M. The record attendance of 93 was almost reached with 92 being present and following the Sunday School Hour the Morning Church Service was conducted by the Pastor.

During the evening Church Service the Pastor spoke on Pakistan. He showed slides which were taken during a visit he made several years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jang Bahadur and son Bobby of Pakistan were the guests present for the special services along with a Retired Military Officer of India, Lt. Col. Barkat Masik Khokhar. The highlight of the four services held during the 1st part of the convention was to have the guests present to participate in the services.

Speaking briefly in the Sunday School Hour the retired Military Officer Lt. Col. Barkat Masik Khokhar said "Be Cool and Calm in Christ".

Mr. Bahadur, one of the best or better known drum players of his native country, played the drums for the four services and was accompanied by his son on the tambourine. The guests rendered one or more songs for each service in their native tongue.

It is interesting to note that the two drums used were not exactly the same size or shape. To play these drums Mr. Bahadur used only his fingers. In India drums are called Tabla. The song books used by the guests are unlike ours since they read from right to left but regardless of the language the word Hallelujah! is the same the world over.

On behalf of the W.M.S., Mrs. Bahadur was presented with a gift. The presentation was made by Mrs. Allen Potter.

Curios, pictures and maps were on display on Sunday in the front of the Church. Mrs. Bahadur and other guests told something about the items displayed.

To conclude this part of the missionary services the guests who have been residing in Canada for the past eight years answered the questions which had been directed to them. They talked some about their native country.

Mr. Bahadur has a father living in Pakistan and he said he expected to visit that country next month.

The people present for the evening service not only received a stick of India Incense but must now also have a greater knowledge of the far Eastern Countries of India and Pakistan.

On Monday evening November 22nd the interesting and inspirational missionary convention continued with Rev. Glendon Keirstead and Mrs. Keirstead as guest speakers. Rev. Keirstead is presently pastoring a church at Fort Fairfield, Maine. The Scripture lesson was taken from the last part of the 28th Chapter of Matthew.

Rev. Lively of the Havelock Wesleyan Church offered prayer and the congregation present sang hymn 185 Rescue the Perishing.

Mrs. Keirstead in her talk told about her love for Jesus Christ and her love for the Mission field of South Africa.

Mrs. Allen Potter made a presentation to Mrs. Keirstead on behalf of the W.M.S. following the offering.

Rev. Keirstead gave four reasons when he was talking why we should be interested in missions. One of these reasons being when we stop evangelizing the church starts dying.

Rev. Keirstead showed slides of South Africa which included a visit to a Zulu tribe, flowers, animals and a Christian marriage in Africa. Homes of the African people and some of the Pastors and people who have been interested in the African people.

The guest speaker said "We are all Missionaries". We can begin in our Local Community to win others to Christ. Do not leave it all to the Pastor."

The service concluded with a question period in which Rev. Keirstead answered the questions which were directed to him.

The members of the Havelock Wesleyan Church were present to participate in the service which brought to a conclusion the series of Missionary Services which were closed with prayer offered by Rev. Douglas Hapeman, Pastor of the Bear River Baptist Church.

Attend To Car Rustproofing

Winter driving conditions can take a toll on most cars and many Nova Scotians are looking at rustproofing in an effort to keep damage to a minimum.

Despite the claims of many manufacturers that rustproofing will keep your car looking new for years, complaints to the N.S. Department of Consumer Affairs indicate otherwise, says the department's chief executive officer, Harry M. McIlroy.

Most manufacturers guarantee their rustproofing process for five years against rusting from inside surfaces, he says. But before car owners are lulled into a false sense of security, they should carefully check all the provisions of the guarantee.

For instance, many manufacturers require that you be the original owner of the car and bring the car in for periodic checks for premature rusting. This must be done at your expense.

In addition, there are obligations which your dealer must fulfill. He must register your car with the manufacturer of the rustproofing solution and pay a fee which you have already paid either directly or indirectly. Failure to meet these obligations and others, may void any future claims you may have against the manufacturer, Mr. McIlroy says.

The durability of rustproofing depends on the quality of the workmanship rather than the quantity of the solution used, he says. For that reason, it is very important to find a reputable dealer, rather than rely on the firm from which you bought your car and the dealer that it uses. Costs vary considerably from dealer to dealer so shop around. Ask the dealer about the costs of his product and the method of application. Most rustproofing jobs take four to six hours to complete and use four to six gallons of rust-inhibiting solution. Check the costs accordingly.

Check the warranty carefully and ask the dealer about previous complaints from customers. This will give you an idea of the quality of the service. Ask for names of previous customers, Mr. McIlroy suggests, those whose cars have been rustproofed for some time. They'll be in a better position to tell you whether they are satisfied with the rustproofing they received.

A case can be made for rustproofing your car, Mr. McIlroy says, but whether you get value for your money depends on the cost, including a guarantee, should be examined closely to make sure the manufacturer and the dealer can, and will, stand behind what they sell.

SERPICO - This action-drama series, premiering this fall on CTV, stars David Birney as a tough, honest New York cop willing to risk all and ready to blow the whistle on anyone.

Another Look
At The Unemployment Insurance Commission

QUESTION: I am an employer with 11 employees working for me eight months out of every year. Since I have to pay the employer's share of Unemployment Insurance premiums, I am also interested in protecting my investment. Could you please tell me what I can do, as an employer, in order to assure proper use of the Unemployment Insurance fund?

ANSWER: To ensure that only deserving persons receive benefits you should:

1. Assure that the reason for separation is accurately entered on the Record of Employment;
2. List all your vacancies with your local Canada Manpower Centre;
3. Advise either UIC or CMC when a person fails to appear for an interview or fails to accept a reasonable offer of employment from you. In the case that some of your former employees refuse to work part-time or full-time, please fill out the form "Notification of Job Refusal."

QUESTION: I am a female and have been claiming benefits for the past months. I will be married in the near future; should I sign my report forms with my married name?

ANSWER: If a woman marries while claiming benefits, she should inform the Unemployment Insurance Office immediately, giving her married name and any change of address. She should also apply for a new Social Insurance Card, which will show the change of name. The Social Insurance Number itself will not change. Application kits for a new SIN card can be obtained at any Post Office, Canada Manpower and Unemployment Insurance offices.

QUESTION: I have been out of work for 9 weeks and so far I have not been able to find even a part-time job. I'm considering going out of town for a week or so in order to look for a job. Do I need to contact your office before leaving?

ANSWER: Before you leave your area of residence, contact both your Unemployment Insurance and Canada Manpower offices to make arrangements so that you may be contacted if an opportunity for employment arises. If these arrangements have not been made, you will be considered out of the area and not available for work, and you could lose your right to Unemployment Insurance benefits.

QUESTION: At the end of the year, will I be sent a statement showing how much I received in Unemployment Insurance Benefits for Income Tax purposes?

ANSWER: Yes. A form T4U is sent automatically to anyone who has received benefits during the year. This is mailed prior to the time that you must file your Income Tax Return.

QUESTION: Can I work part-time and still be entitled to UI benefits?

ANSWER: After your waiting period has been served, you may earn up to 25 percent of your full benefit rate (before deductions), through part-time, casual, or temporary work. Any earnings over 25 percent will be deducted dollar for dollar from your benefit payment. NOTE: You must report your gross earnings at all times.

Anyone having questions they would like answered in this column should direct enquiries to P.O.Box 249, Yarmouth, N.S. Attention: D. Doucet.

One Lemon, Two Pies

The dwarf lemon tree of Mrs. Louis Darres, Bear River, had several blossoms on it in February - Only one blossom formed a lemon. It took all this time until now to grow and ripen.

On November 12, when picked, it weighed 11 ozs. and measured 10 1/2 x 11 1/2 inches. "I am sure - being such a large lemon it will make two large pies," said Mrs. Darres. The tree is blossoming again so she hopes it will have another lemon or more on it. If it does the fruit will be ripe next September, she claims.

Tomorrow?

That's the day
you were going to start exercising, remember?

APPLIANCE EFFICIENCY

These days there is a tremendous concern about the cost of energy, and also how we can reduce our energy consumption. One way is use your appliances efficiently, that is, getting the benefit out of the kitchen appliances without using more energy than you need.

The following information will provide suggestions to help control your energy costs in the kitchen. When it comes time to replace old appliances, remember to shop carefully. Buy a size appliance that will specifically suit your family's needs. You should buy an appliance with only the features that you require. Add only the accessories you can afford and those that will make the appliance more useful to you. Appliances will be more efficient and consume less energy if they are cleaned and maintained properly. Putting off needed repairs can cause increased energy consumption. Small appliances such as toasters, electric skillets, and the electric kettle generally use less energy than a range or oven would for specialized jobs. Some of these appliances also double as serving dishes and therefore cut down on dish-washing, and that saves hot water. Heat producing appliances, all those with elements draw more current than a motor driven appliance such as a standing mixer. An electric oven draws current only about one-third of each hour it is used. The rest of the time it coasts on stored heat because it is insulated on all six sides. Due to this stored heat, cooking in the oven can be more economical than cooking on top of the range, if you use it to cook several foods at one time. If the cooking surfaces of pots and pans are clean, there will be a better heat transfer both on top of the range and inside the oven. A point to consider - not all oven cooked foods require a preheated oven. When recipes call for a preheated oven, don't turn it on too far in advance - usually 10-15 minutes will do. Setting the oven temperature higher than required won't make the oven heat up more quickly. Oven racks should be arranged before preheating the oven. Food should never be placed on the oven floor, always use an oven rack. For oven meals, generally meat dishes and vegetables are placed on the lower oven rack, desserts and quick breads on the top oven rack. Foods that require longer cooking go on the lower rack. Place the foods requiring attention more frequently on the front of the racks in the oven. Choose cooking utensils that fit the range surface elements properly, pots and pans with straight sides, flat bottoms and tightly fitting lids make the best use of heat. The refrigerator and freezer operate at peak efficiency when filled to capacity but not overfilled. To avoid damage to the unit do not place the freezer or refrigerator in a room not heated in the winter, these appliances operate best at room temperature. Below 40 degrees F efficiency is reduced. To freeze foods quickly the packages should be placed against the walls or shelves of the freezer one layer deep. When frozen they may be packed more tightly. These are only a few ideas to keep in mind, and are pertinent today for each one of us, at times when we are trying to reduce our energy consumption. The Nova Scotia Power Corporation has more information such as this, which you will find extremely worthwhile. It is available by writing to: Ms. Mary Smith, Home Economist, P.O. Box 910, Halifax, N.S.

Cheryl Trask of Digby drives the key for 2 points against West Kings in a Junior Girls Basketball game.

Digby Makes Comeback

On November 20, the Digby Junior Girls Basketball team travelled to Shelburne for two games. In the first game Digby took on the home team from Shelburne. The game proved to be no contest as the Digby team coasted to a 69-21 win. The Digby team was led by its two centers, Karen Hattie who scored 11 points and Kim Roy who hit for 14 points. Susan McClary had 6 rebounds and Darlene Haight had 5. Cheryl Trask had 8 assists.

The second game brought together two of the top teams in the Province, Lockport, last years Maritime Champions, and Digby. The teams had met twice prior to this meeting. Digby had defeated Lockport, 49-40, in Digby, while suffering defeat in Lockport 32-29. The teams, who had never met prior to this season, have built quite a rivalry over their 1st two meetings.

The game featured a slow start by Digby, as Lockport jumped to an early 12-0 lead. Digby, who had just played Shelburne, seemed to have trouble adjusting from an easy opponent to a more difficult one. From the start of the second quarter to the half Digby matched Lockport shot for shot, but still found themselves trailing by 11 at the half (21-10).

In the second half Digby started to control the game. They outscored Lockport 16-12 in the third quarter. They continued the pressure in the 4th quarter hitting for 14 points while holding Lockport to 5 points. Digby then ran the clock for a 40-38 win.

Kim Roy and Judy Kenley both scored 10 points. Cheryl Trask again had 8 assists. Darlene Haight brought down 12 rebounds. In fact, the rebounding of Darlene Haight and Susan McClary helped to hold Digby in the game during the 2nd and 3rd quarters enabling the Digby shooters the time needed to regroup and fashion their spectacular comeback.

Opening Tournament

The Digby Junior Girls Basketball Team will officially open their season this weekend as they host their first tournament. West Kings, a major basketball school, will participate along with Shelburne. Both teams have traditionally been at or near the top of their respective Congresses.

Lawrencetown will also participate in the tournament. Lawrencetown has won the Digby-Annapolis congress 6 years in a row. Games will start at 9:30 Saturday morning.

Annual Meeting Of The Digby County Federation Of Agriculture

Only two resolutions went before the Digby County Federation of Agriculture's annual meeting at the Legion Hall in Weymouth, but both dealt with issues of concern to all farmers—electricity costs and an amendment to the Capital Grant program.

The theme of the year's meeting held this past Thursday, was farm safety. Over 100 county farmers crowded the hall for the evening's program.

Both resolutions were given unanimous approval and will be presented for consideration to the provincial agricultural federation's annual meeting in December.

The first resolution requests the provincial body to negotiate with the Nova Scotia Power Corporation for the lowest of forthcoming rate increases. The corporation is seeking increases in the 65 percent range.

The second resolution requests that the agricultural representative in consultation with the specialists, be authorized to make capital grant approvals.

A shot was fired at Clare Hydro during discussions when secretary treasurer Stanley Boudreau said "mismanagement" is one of the reasons Clare has the second highest electricity rates in the province.

In other business activities, Wayne Comeau, Stanley Boudreau, and LeRoy Warner were named federation directors; Stanley Boudreau and Malcolm Justason were named delegates to the provincial federation's annual meeting and Annie Dennison was appointed auditor for the coming year.

Door prize winners were Ivan Blinn of Saulnierville, prize donated by Bob's Saw Shop, Digby; Glenda Doucet, Comeauville, prize by Weymouth Supplies Ltd.; Chipman Chisholm, Bear River, prize by Safety Supply Co., Halifax; Gabriel Comeau, Saulnierville, prize by N.S. Department of Agriculture and Marketing.

Several speakers remarked on the large turnout during safety talks later in the evening. Afterwards Agricultural Representative Bruce Gilliat commented: "We're very happy with the response. We had everybody's attention, there's no question about that."

The relatively short business meeting was followed by the safety program. This included films and several addresses.

Speakers included Marshall Kaiser on home safety; Donald Gunn on personal safety on the farm and in the home; Gerry Townsend on Machinery and Woodlot safety on the farm; and display of power saw safety equipment by Bob Gates.

Refreshments were served at a mid-meeting break by Home Economist Susan Horne, and Annie Dennison of the agriculture office in Weymouth.

Second row: Mrs. Lucie Comeau, Saulnierville Station and Mrs. Catherine Pothier, Grosses Coques.

All are members of the Clare Senior Citizens Club, New Horizons, of Comeauville and all had a birthday during the month of October. A birthday cake helped to make the celebration at the club's activity centre in Comeauville more enjoyable.

Clare Senior Citizens Have Active Program

The Clare Senior Citizens Club, New Horizons, celebrated birthdays of members that occurred during the month of October last on the last Tuesday of the month. The following were on hand to celebrate: Mrs. Therese Thibodeau, Church Point, Mrs. Euphrasie LeBlanc, St. Bernard; Mrs. Lucie LeBlanc, Little Brook, Mrs. Lucie Comeau, Saulnierville Station and Mrs. Catherine Pothier, Grosses Coques. A birthday cake was on hand to help celebrate the birthdays.

The club continued its regular Tuesday evening card party, which is open to the public and on Thursday afternoon which is for the members of the club. This a weekly program which is continuing through each month on a regular basis. A change of the Tuesday's card parties has been made for the month of November and on until spring, with games being played starting at 1 p.m. instead of 7:30 as previously. The change is made every year due to the fact that it gets dark earlier in the evening and many senior citizens do not like to drive when the weather is so unpredictable in the late fall and winter months.

A pate-a-la-rapure is on the menu for the last Tuesday of the month supper which will be on November 30th. A card party will take place as usual at 1 p.m. and at 5 o'clock the kitchen committee will serve a meal.

The president of the club, Mr. Delphis Comeau of Comeauville, is pleased with the weekly turnout at the card parties. Over fifty members are on hand each week. In other years the number dropped from a high of 75 to 60 in the summer months to 35 and 40. Several new members have joined the club, which is encouraging.

The members have been busy winterizing the centre as late fall and winter sees lots of wind blowing from across St. Mary's Bay and works its way into every little crack left unchecked. Storm windows are being manufactured to be placed on several windows which have no storm windows. These storm windows are put up on the inside, due to extreme height of the building. The building is kept comfortable so the members can enjoy themselves in comfort.

Two electric clocks have been donated by 2 members of the club and these have been placed in the two downstairs rooms where the majority of members play at card games. Members have been very generous in assisting in raising funds to pay for regular expenses to operate the club. Many craft items have been made at home during the ladies spare time. The club has craft materials on hand in their craft cupboard from which the ladies may obtain material to work with. They prefer to work at crafts in their home as they have spare time on their hands during the day between housework.

Plans are being formulated for a Christmas dinner in the third week of December along with a Christmas tree. The meal will be free to the members and is one way to say thank you for all the generous work given to the club.

Upgrading Police Forces

The primary role of Nova Scotia's new Police Commission is to upgrade municipal police forces throughout the province. At the same time, the Commission will help to create better public understanding of and appreciation for law enforcement officers, says Commission Chairman Harry A. Porter.

In an address to the Lunenburg Board of Trade tonight, Mr. Porter said "a top priority (of the commission) is the establishment of a standard training program for all municipal police officers."

"This will involve a training program for the selection and basic training of recruits, the upgrading of the training of police officers and in particular those who are selected for promotion to higher rank. Specialist training is and will always be important for those who are selected for specialist duties," Mr. Porter said.

The chairman said his assessment of the present and future needs of municipal police forces is based on visits to and discussions with police chiefs, law enforcement officers and municipal officials in various parts of the province.

Mr. Porter said that in the past, when viewed province-wide, the selection and training of municipal police officers has been haphazard. In most municipalities no criteria or standards were applied.

"Today's police officer, to be effective, must receive training in a broad range of subjects including an understanding of the moral, social, political and legal framework of society; an understanding of the community, its values, aspirations, difficulties, and resources, and the ability to understand and communicate with the people they serve—in addition to technical knowledge and competence of the highest order," he explained.

Mr. Porter said there is much to be done in the whole sphere of the education and training of police officers and the Police Commission will be directly involved.

Another area of primary importance to the commission, Mr. Porter said, involves public awareness of the police role and police priorities in the community.

"There is...a very real need to have an open and public discussion of the police role in every community. This role will vary from community to community. But it should be established through open debate because only in this way can the people of the community as a whole realize what the police do for them," he said.

Quoting Sir Robert Peel, Mr. Porter reminded his audience that "the public are the police and the police are the public."

He concluded by saying the police, in being responsible to the community in carrying out their duties, must be recognized as an integral part of the community. All members of the community have a responsibility to assist their police force in carrying out assigned tasks. "This is a challenge for all of us..."

The Police Act, establishing the Police Commission, was proclaimed Oct. 15. The Commission, located in the Joseph Howe Building, Hollis Street, Halifax, consists of three members and an executive director. In addition to Mr. Porter the other two members of the commission, both part-time, are Halifax lawyer Gerald McConnell and Colin Chisholm, mayor of Antigonish. Inspector Arthur Wyatt is seconded from the Halifax Police Department to serve as executive director.

At present the commission is producing two publications relating to its areas of responsibilities and activities.

The first publication, a handbook for members of police forces, deals with the regulations issued to supplement the Police Act. It contains a standard code of discipline, an internal discipline procedure for the police force, and a procedure for members of the public to use when they have complaints about the police. The second publication, a folder, for the general public, will outline in layman's terms the new complaints procedure.

C. E. Edwards Testimonial Dinner

Friends by the hundreds, teachers, educationalists, fellow (retired) inspectors, school board representatives and citizens of the area packed the Cafeteria-Auditorium of the Annapolis Regional Vocational School on Wednesday Evening, November 17 to honour Clifford E. Edwards on the eve of his retirement as Inspector of Schools for Annapolis and Digby Counties.

Accompanied by his wife Marguerite, - the star that first brought him to the Bridgetown area, and who was the daughter of the previous Inspector, the much respected Mayhew C. Foster, - Clifford received greetings, testimonials and gifts in appreciation for the 46 and more years of devoted service to the schools, teachers and pupils. It would appear that in "Cliff's" philosophy, devotion and love for the children came first; help and encouragement for the teachers next; with schools and guidance for school administrators not far behind.

The highlight of the evening was "Cliff's" thank you in which he revealed much of his philosophy and how it had worked for him and those he served in the 46 years of service.

The program was chaired by Carl L. Bruce, Chairman of the Vocational School Board, and who later in the program presented Clifford with a plaque on behalf of the Board.

Following Grace by the Rev. George Allen, pastor of the Bridgetown Baptist Parish, entertainment was provided by the Middleton Regional High School Band under the direction of Bandmaster M. W. Harvey followed by a fun presentation of modern? orchestra by the Vocational School staff.

Mr. Edwards received official greetings from the Provincial Inspection Services, by Mr. George W. MacKenzie, now retired; from the Digby Local Branch of the Teachers Union by Mr. Barry Jennings, president; and from Mr. Lockhart Ferguson on behalf of the Bridgetown Curling Club of which Mr. Edwards is now President and was formerly Secty-Treasurer.

service to the schools of the area were presented by Mr. C. William Smith, Assistant Chief Director of Education for the Nova Scotia Department of Education; by Mr. Warren Miller, Warden of Annapolis County on behalf of the School Boards of Annapolis and Digby Counties; by Mr. Roy McIsaac, Mayor of Bridgetown, on behalf of the Retired Teachers Association; by Mr. Arthur Marshall, president, and on behalf of the Annapolis Local of the Nova Scotia Teachers Union; and a Testimonial "Roast" from a co-Inspector and old friend now retired, Mr. Murray Campbell of the Windsor area.

It is also worthy to note that besides Mr. Murray, three other now retired co-workers and close friends of Mr. Edwards were present. Mr. Alphonse Comeau, Clare-Argyle areas; Mr. Tom Sullivan, Sydney; and Mr. Chester LeGrow, Liverpool. In addition to the gift already noted as presented by Carl Bruce, Mr. Arthur Barteaux, on behalf of the Annapolis County Municipal School Boards, presented a portrait painted by Mrs. Barbara Dorey of Clifford himself, which was a complete surprise to him.

Mrs. Nita Irvine, on behalf of the Annapolis Local of the N.S.T.U. presented Mr. Edwards with two peach trees for his garden, and Art Work done by the children of the Lawrencetown School.

The peach trees were especially representative of remarks that were included in most of the Testimonial addresses, which nearly all referred to Mr. Edwards' garden and his love for gardening.

Miss Alice Verran on behalf of the friends, presented Mrs. Edwards with flowers following which Mr. Bill Sweet on the same behalf presented Mr. Edwards with a Movie Camera already loaded with a film taken during the entire evening proceedings.

The evening closed with Cliff's "Thank You" already mentioned as the highlight of the evening.

My husband had gone hunting and I was washing the kitchen floor. Queer noises started coming from the back porch. Faint but nevertheless quite noticable. Definitely not my imagination!

Swish, swish, click, swish, clack, swish. What in the world could that be? Cautiously I opened the door and looked around. There over in the far corner was a big black bird fluttering against the window glass and trying desperately to get out. "How in the world did you get in here?" No answer.

"Well you had better find your way back out again."

I went back to the unpleasant job of washing the floor. Five minutes later I heard more strange sounds of clatters and bumps. Again I went to the door and there he was in another window fluttering fiercely against the glass.

"Watch out there! You are going to knock my antique bottles onto the floor. Of course you're scared. So am I. I don't like birds flying around in my house."

I realized I was going to have to catch him and put him out doors. I had half a notion to get a hat on my head, so if he flew at me and landed on my head, he wouldn't get his claws caught in my hair. Horrible thought! Maybe I should put my oven mitts on, so he wouldn't hurt me if he pecked at my hands! How foolish to be frightened of a big black bird. O yes! I did remember to open the outside door before I got hold of him. But just as I got my hands on him, the door blew shut, with a loud bang. He was more frightened now, and beat his wings frantically. I had to open the door again but this time I used the hoe to prop it open.

Once more I got my hands on him and lifted him carefully off the window sill amid the clutter of bottles, and carried him over to the doorway. The moment he saw the great outdoors, away he flew making a bee line for the woods across the road. I wonder if he told his friends of his frightening experience.

As I write this I'm wondering why I didn't think to open the door, and let him find his own way out.

Tiverton Has New Fog Alarm

The Department of Transport, Saint John, N.B., recently installed a new fog horn alarm at Boar's Head, Tiverton.

No more will the bass tones of the original fog alarm be heard booming out its welcomed warning and comforting sense of direction and sense of bearings to fishermen and other sea travellers.

Since 1860 when the fog alarm system was established at Boar's Head, mariners have listened for and depended upon the deep tones of the alarm - 3 blasts every minute - reverberating over the expanse of the ocean warning them to be wary of the passage shoals and rocky coastline.

With the installation of the new fog alarm system, mariners must have their hearing senses alert for a new sound - a near tenor tone - the same three blasts every minute, but a more treble pitch.

The tone of the new system does not carry as well overland as did the original horn. Though it has not been initiated to dense fog and snow as yet, it is felt, however, that it will play its role satisfactorily.

The first major change in Boar's Head fog alarm system came in 1957 when the Department of Transport, Saint John, sent their Mr. Benson to the area to transfer the system from oil and manually operations to hydro-electricity operation.

During early 1970's both the alarm and the light began operations on the "electric eye" system. Among early operators of the fog alarm and the lighthouse operations at Boar's Head were late brothers, Harry and Frank Ruggles, Earl Leeman veteran of the first World War who is now retired and lives with his family in the village. His assistant at that time was Murray Outhouse, veteran of the second World War who is at present the lightkeeper and his temporary assistant is Kingsley Leeman, who is replacing Frank Thomas, who is recovering from a recent illness.

PRETENDING NOT ENOUGH

Life is not an act of make-believe, nor the putting on of appropriate airs.

There are those who believe that Christianity is real, while others only pretend that they believe it. Those who just pretend are the ones who are not likely to survive the stress of sorrow or opposition.

Faith in God must show in the outside, but it must not be just show. Spurgeon, the preacher, said: "When you see a man with a great deal of religion displayed in his shop window, you may depend upon it he keeps a very small stock of it within."

An honest man doesn't keep boasting about his honesty; he goes ahead and lives it. A pure person will live his holiness, while a hypocrite or a pretender may try to prove that he is something that he is not.

The most miserable occupation in the world is that of trying to act like a Christian when one is not. The real thing is a lift not a drag. Christ came to bring inner peace not inner struggle and conflict. No man can be at peace when he has a troubled conscience.

Someone said, "I am going to live right if it kills me." Living the Christian life never killed anyone, but trying to live like a Christian when one is not can be deadening.

Even a good life, apart from the reality and power of God, is a life already doomed to defeat.

Reflecting To 1946

Lobster season was about to open in the Digby area, November 28. All along the Digby Neck and down the St. Mary's Bay share thousands of lobster pots of many kinds could be seen and freshly painted wooden buoys were evident. A serious shortage of rope, however, prevailed.

Weather was most unseasonable and roses were blooming.

A sixty foot whale had come ashore at Sloan's Cove on the Fundy shore and was being made into whale oil supposed to be worth about $800. Horace Johnson and his partner of Lower Granville had rigged up a boiler for extracting the oil.

Rev. George Bell of Temple Baptist Church, Yarmouth, was guest speaker when the Digby Kiwanis Club visited the Yarmouth Club. Hubert Warne, president of the Digby Club also spoke.

One of the most exciting news stories of November 1946 was the consideration by the provincial government to purchase HMCS Cornwallis property in Deep Brook for the purpose of establishing a hotel on the Annapolis Basin site.

In the event of such a purchase - a way to dispose of 100 buildings of fireproof finish, located on the 800 acres of land would have to be found. Considered to be the most modern, complete and efficient project of its kind in the world, H.M.C.S. Cornwallis graduated thousands of ratings and officers. (Note- Many have received basic training at CFB Cornwallis since 1946 to today, 1976). Estimated cost for establishing HMCS Cornwallis was $14,000,000. It was built on a mammoth scale with a water supply system big enough for a small city, a coal dump storing 20,000 tons, a gun battery of the longest in the world, its five acre parade ground standing 6000 men. It had its own post office, hospital, bank, spur railway siding etc. Total cost of the land was in the vicinity of $52,000. The property had been chosen as a permanent estate of a multimillionaire, E.P. Morse. His 375 acres were purchased for $26,000. The residence, which had not been finished at the time of his death, was remodelled as an officer's wardroom; the farm house was converted as the captain's house; the garage, which originally cost $22,000 was made over into a fire hall and offices. (Note- In intervening years the provincial government has purchased and operates the Pines Hotel on the Shore Road, Digby while the Department of Defence continues with CFB Cornwallis.)

Teenagers Take Advantage of Defensive Driving Course

A record number of Bear River and Area residents took advantage of a Defensive Driving Course held recently at Oakdene. This course was instructed by Mr. Wilf Morin, Safety Education Officer with the Department of Highways. A total of 57 persons were awarded Defensive Driving Cards at the close of the four-week - 2 hours session - course which consisted of films and lectures regarding safety in the operation of motor vehicles.

One feature of this particular course which Mr. Morin pointed out to the group was the cost. The minimum charge of $2.00 required by the Department of Highways was the total cost per person. This course, which Mr. Morin said would cost $15.00 to anyone taking it in Halifax, was sponsored by the Community School of Bear River and Area and was offered as a public service.

Another notable feature was that over one-half of the class were teenagers.

Anyone interested in other courses, please contact Jean C. Marshall, Co-ordinator of the Community School of Bear River and Area, 467-3752. Many courses can be arranged if the public are interested.

SEEK RAISE - ONE CENT PER KWHR

A hearing before the Board of Commissioners of Public Utilities was held in Digby on Monday when the Municipality of the District of Digby applied for approval of an amendment to its schedule of rates and regulations for the sale of electrical energy. The proposal made to the Board of Commissioners was an increase of one cent per kilowatt hour in all energy charges such as domestic two wire service, three wire service, commercial lighting service and alternating current power general use service.

Appearing officially at the hearing were Charles Haliburton, Municipal solicitor; Mayor Stuart MacNaughton, superintendent of the Digby County Power Board of which the municipality is an owner with Digby Town, Weymouth Village and Clare Municipality; Milton Atkinson, accountant at D.C.P.B. and Councillor L.E.R. Winchester, past chairperson for the Municipality of the District of Digby Hydro committee.

Prepared statements of revenue and expenditures by Mr. Atkinson were placed before the Commissioners revealing total revenue in 1974 to be $4317.43; $594,661 in 1975 and $731,400 for 1976 using actual existing rates and projected figures. Expenditures shown were $409,531 for 1974; $587,743 for 1975 and $781,250 actual and projected for 1976. Balances showed a profit

$22,212 in 1974; $6,918 profit in 1975 and a loss of $49,850 in 1976. The projected balance for 1977 using the one cent per kwhr requested revealed an operating profit of $117,950.

Mr. MacNaughton in his presentation asked that the request become effective as soon as possible.

It was noted that the increase requested covered all energy except street lighting which had its last increase in price in November 1975.

On question by the Board of Commissioners of the Public Utilities for Nova Scotia, it was noted that no major expenses are anticipated in the near future. Various aspects causing reduction of profits were noted such as increase in wages, line losses, scattered transformers and transportation. Another matter mentioned was the proposed Nova Scotia Power Corporation rates, which according to news media appears to be raising. The approximately 23.9 per cent increase to customers covers losses experienced and provides for capital expenditure.

Councillor L.E.R. Winchester gave a review of circumstances of DCPB for the past few years and the reason for the municipal hydro committee to arise at the figures excluding street lighting. Expediency and ease of transaction entered into the picture to a degree although it is considered that the hearing is too late to make any 1976 recovery. Hopefully the adjustments can be ready for a January 1, 1977 effectiveness.

Seek Forgiveness Of Taxes

Councillor Walter MacAlpine and Councillor Grant Sabine by motion interceded for the Weymouth Kiwanis Club to have the taxes on their swimming area property forgiven. They made a motion to rescind a motion in March of 1976 which expressed Council's decision not to forgive the taxes "now or in the future." Their motion to rescind was defeated at the regular November meeting of the Council of the Municipality of the District of Digby on Monday, Nov. 22.

Miss Coline Campbell, M.P. for South Western Nova and Joe Casey M.L.A. were present and discussed several important and interesting subjects, the one which was spotlighted being that of the Digby Municipal Airport and the delay in providing necessary facilities there.

Council showed appreciation for the $600,000 grant from government but felt that a 3000 ft. runway was not much good without hangars, lights and other proper facilities.

Miss Campbell promised to bring this matter before the minister of transport in Ottawa and hoped to arrange meetings on transportation, energy and housing.

In the matter of housing Miss Campbell advised on the government's concern in providing Senior Citizen housing programs, Extended Care programs to reduce the cost of hospital care and Low Rental provisions.

Dealing with hydro power and sources of energy, Miss Campbell was approached on the possible use of the Sissiboo waters and Petite Passage. It was observed that while Minas Basin and Passamaquoddy Bay were mentioned as possible energy producers, these areas around Digby had not been surveyed. Councillor Parker Thurber brought to Miss Campbell's attention that tides here were high, some 29 feet, and Petite Passage had only a few minutes slack tide in a day. He also suggested a causeway and tidal power combination might be worked.

In the case of Sissiboo hydro, it was noted that the generating plant at Sissiboo is presently operating at only sixty-one per cent capacity and it is believed there is more power to be generated from Sissiboo than from Wreck Cove.

Miss Campbell will arrange to have departmental engineers to meet with the Digby Municipal Council on the matter of hydro and tidal power.

The subject of unemployment was raised and the effect the 13 weeks waiting period might have on municipal welfare costs. The abuse of U.I. and the advantages taken of the program came in for much comment. Grants in lieu of taxes and garnishing were discussed.

Miss Campbell was introduced by Councillor Helen MacNeil who had invited the member to attend and thanked by Mrs. MacNeil. Deputy Warden MacNeil opened Monday's Council session by prayer and Warden Swift presided at the session.

The subject of prominence with councillors in discussion with Mr. Casey was the possibility of having more power generated at the Sissiboo River in Digby County. Mr. Casey also presented the matter of gasification of wood to provide a small industry in the Weymouth area in the light of energy production.

After discussion on speed zones, particularly in the Smith's Cove area from the railway crossing to the Jogglin and the Jogglin to Lansdowne, a motion was made by Councillor Winchester and seconded by Councillor MacNeil and passed that a letter be sent to the Department of Highways requesting a survey of the speed limit in the area and also request a crosswalk in Conway. The fact of the speed limit being 50 miles per hour in Nova Scotia unless posted at 60 miles an hour was confirmed by Mr. Casey.

A motion by Councillor VanTassel to have lights on the Shore Road from the wharf to the N.S. Tourist Bureau did not draw a seconder and was defeated.

Successful Craft Show At St. Mary's

"An overwhelming success" best describes the 1st Annual St. Mary's University Christmas Craft Show and Sale which was held in Halifax this weekend past. Organizers of the show, Mike and Donna Susnick of Bear River N.S. as well as the 102 craftsmen and craftswomen are to be congratulated for putting on what has been described as the finest show of its kind seen in this area.

Supported by the Bear River Artisans Guild, in conjunction with the Annapolis Basin Tourist and Recreation Council, represented by Mr. Lance Woolaver, this show, billed more as a craft "event" than a simple show, surprised and pleased nearly 7,000 interested viewers and shoppers, anxious to embark on their holiday shopping spree.

Many local craftspeople were afforded the opportunity to display their hand work in an effort to gain more public exposure and increase the demand in this expanding craft trade. T-Shirts were printed for the show by Screen-Tex Designs, a local firm to advertise the show in a novel way.

This successful event received much publicity from the media before the opening of the show on Friday morning drawing a considerable crowd to the opening remarks and ribbon cutting ceremony. After His Worship, Mayor Edmund Morris of Halifax cut the red ribbon to officially open the show, the mood of the theatre auditorium settled to a comfortable and pleasing one, encouraging spectators to make three or four trips around the displays to see everything. Jewellery, leather goods, candle works, screen printing, painting, photography, and wood-working are but a few of the eye pleasing displays that were available for the public's inspection.

So successful was the show, that some craftspeople were virtually wiped clean of the items they brought in for sale and display. Many of the exhibitors are anxiously looking forward to participating in next year's 2nd Annual St. Mary's University Christmas Craft Show and Sale.

Pottier Receives Award

On November 26, 1976, Manager of Canada Manpower Centre Branch Office, Digby, was presented a certificate for excellent and exceptional service to the Public Service of Canada along with a Special Merit Award. The Presentation was made at Government House, Halifax, by Lieutenant Governor Clarence Gosse. Mr. Pottier was one of five employees of the Department of Manpower and Immigration in Nova Scotia to receive an award at the Presentation.

Following service in the RCAF overseas, Mr. Pottier joined the Public Service of Canada as a clerk in December 1945. He was then employed by the UIC-NES in Yarmouth. In 1966 he transferred to the Department of Manpower and Immigration and in May 1968 he moved to Digby as officer-in-charge of the Digby C.M.C. Branch, being made Manager in 1973. Digby is a Branch Office of Yarmouth C.M. Centre.

Safe Driving Week, December 1 - 7

Let's Stretch That Week Into A Year

JUST IN TIME

Here's a drive belt, discovered just in time, that soon would have given its owner a problem or two. Cracked and glazed, the belt had been slipping on its pulley; soon would have broken, causing failure of the power steering, alternator, air conditioner or cooling system. Car Care Council suggests you check your car's drive belts and do it frequently hereafter.

Nine Hour Christmas Daddies Show On CKDY

Things are in readiness for the 7th annual CKDY Christmas Daddies Show on Sunday, December 5. The marathon nine-hour broadcast over Digby Radio Station CKDY gets underway at noon at the multipurpose room of Digby Regional High School. There will be a limited number of seats available to spectators free of charge. This year children twelve years and under must be accompanied by a responsible adult. Those attending are requested to enter and leave through the rear entrance. No other door will be open. CKDY station manager, Leigh Everett, who coordinates and directs the show, said over 200 behind-the-scenes volunteers and another 200 entertainers will be available to raise funds for the "Digby Christmas Daddies Fund Committee", a volunteer group comprising both private and public care-giving agencies in Digby and Annapolis counties. Since 1970 the CKDY Christmas Daddies have raised more than $57-thousand, assisting hundreds of needy families at Christmas time, and to date all money pledged has been received. The bulk of funds are spent in the area between Lawrencetown and Weymouth, with all money returning to work in the county from which it was pledged. Last year's total exceeded $14-thousand. Donations are tax deductible.

Telephone lines will be available to take pledges, and a gigantic array of Annapolis Valley talent is scheduled to perform. Included will be individual acts, dancers, school and church choruses, rhythm bands and cheerleaders, with back-up music by Bonded Stock, a well-known local orchestra. Community-spirited people from all walks of life have again pledged support to CKDY in this exciting part of the Christmas season, fast becoming a tradition.

1977 memberships in the Digby County Exhibition Society were available at a cost of $2.00. Anyone wishing to purchase a 1977 membership in the Digby County Exhibition Society, please contact Mary Darris today by writing to Bear River Digby County, N.S. or telephoning 467-3500.

expressed his appreciation for the work that Mrs. Darris had done for the Exhibition over the years. "We are sure Mary will help us out during Exhibition."

A general business meeting followed with a wrap up of the years activities. It is reported that a prize list revising committee made up of Steven Wright, Jack Harris, Perry Freeman, Otis Robbins and the Chairman of all the entry Committees were meeting to look over the present prize lists.

At the close of the meeting,

Local Physician Receives Fellowship In Surgery

Dr. Stephen J. Katz, a member of the Digby Medical Group Practice and a staff member of the Digby General and Annapolis General Hospitals, has recently been awarded His Fellowship from the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons. Early in December, Dr. Katz will be writing the examination for admission to the American College of Surgeons.

Dr. Katz came to Digby in July and was appointed to the staff of the Digby General Hospital effective August first at which time he joined the Digby Medical Group Practice with his office located in the McCleave Medical Centre. He is an American by birth, born in New Jersey, N.Y. Dr. Katz received his medical training at Dalhousie University School of Medicine, graduating in 1968. Following graduation he was a surgical resident at Mount Sinai Hospital, New York, for a period of one year. He then served with the United States Public Health Services for two years in Oklahoma where he was in General Medical Practice, specializing in Obstetrics, Gynecology and General Surgery. Later he carried on a family medical practice in Waltham, Mass., for some two years. This was followed by a three year residency in surgery at Boston University and a two year period as a research fellow at the same university. With his residency requirements completed in June 1976, he moved with his wife and family of five children to Nova Scotia preparatory to joining the staff of the McCleave Medical Centre.

Staff members of the McCleave Medical Centre offered congratulations to Dr. Katz upon his successful completion of the requirements for admission as a Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Kinsmen Launch Cystic Fibrosis Drive

His Worship Mayor Stuart MacNaughton on Tuesday helped the Digby Kinsmen Club to launch their drive to aid in the research on cystic fibrosis. Throughout Canada there are some 378 Kinsmen Clubs plus nearly the same number of Kinette Clubs which are taking on the special project of fighting cystic fibrosis through the Canadian Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Another feature important to the Kinsmen besides raising funds to aid in the research on cystic fibrosis is the opportunity afforded at the time of their campaign to educate people on the disease, the progress made and the possibilities open to cystic fibrosis patients. According to Brian Coker, Smith's Cove, chairman of the Digby Kinsmen C.F. drive, people are not aware of the number of C.F. sufferers in our own area. Club president, George Churchill, in stressing the need for generous donations to their campaign and for publicizing their work, remarked on the importance of the local level support and education.

Dr. Gullison Attends New Horizons

November was a busy month at the Digby New Horizons. The Christmas sale of crafts and home baking proved successful with well over five hundred dollars being realized. The Centre was decorated for the Yuletide Season with coffee and home made doughnuts served.

On November 12th a party was held for the "newly weds" Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Robbins - both members of the New Horizons. The afternoon was spent in the showing of a couple of films and socializing after which refreshments were served and a gift from the club members presented to the couple, who fittingly responded with thanks.

On November 25th seven delegates went to Comeauville, where a Leadership Day was held by the Continuing Education Programme for the eleven New Horizon Clubs in Digby and Yarmouth Counties.

Also on the 25th the birthday party was held with thirty-six members attending. Six were present whose birthdays occurred in November. Dr. Ben Gullison, retired missionary from India and now living in Vancouver who was present and introduced to the gathering by the president. Dr. Gullison spoke briefly to the group on "Operation Eyesight Universal," which gives free treatment and care in restoring eyesight to the poor and destitute of India and other countries.

SHARE YOUR CHRISTMAS DOLLAR

With whom shall we share our Christmas dollar? Without a waver our answer should be with those in need, with those who need most. Definitely that is what Christmas is all about.

About this time of the year, however, people begin spending money, buying gifts for family and friends whether those family members are underprivileged, of moderate means in the well-to-do bracket. Our remarks are directed presently to these people. We want to remind them that mutual prosperity comes from working together. The community or town depends on the support of its people for growth. If you uphold your town by sustaining it, it is a fact that you help both yourself and your community. This Christmas share your dollars with the merchants and businesses which have an interest in your community. If you fail to do this your town or community suffers a needless lack rather than prosperity of advantage both to it and you.

Few of our citizens are without a certain amount of civic pride. We by no means suggest spending beyond means for Christmas but where legitimate spending occurs it could reflect that civic pride and help your community to progress through sharing of your Christmas Dollar with your "home town builders."

YOUR CAR KEY KEY TO SAFETY

Drivers should think of the car key as "their key to safety", according to the Canada Safety Council.

In bringing the 1976 version of "Safe Driving Week" to the attention of Canadian drivers, the Council suggests that the key to safety is in the hands of each individual at the wheel of a powered vehicle. Before placing the key in the ignition, a driver should know beyond any doubt that the vehicle is in a safe condition to drive... that brakes, steering, lights, etc. all work properly.

The driver must also be certain beyond doubt that he or she is in a fit medical and mental condition to drive, and it is in the latter category that many tragedies originate.

All too often, a driver may be responding to pressures that have nothing to do with driving a car. It may be the loss of a job, fight with a spouse or lover, or worry over a sick loved one. Each reduces a driver's ability to think quickly and clearly, and to react promptly to sudden situations.

Most drivers can remember some such situation: one arrives at a point with a sudden realization that nothing is remembered about the past mile or so. We have driven by instinct, one eye on the road, but mental attention somewhere else entirely.

It is a form of impairment that no breathalyzer will ever measure. No one can take such a driver off the road except himself. Until he hits something!

CHRISTMAS DADDIES BRINGS JOY TO THE WORLD

Sunday will be a busy day in Digby. It is surprising how many, but, somewhere in this issue of The Digby Courier, we can read about the number of persons there will be working to bring the Christmas Daddies show to a successful conclusion. Add to these all the persons and hours of work which have brought the annual affair to this stage in 1976. And don't forget that there are hours of thought and personpower still to be donated before December 25 arrives.

Yes, the great Christmas Daddies show to be staged at the Multi-purpose Room at the Digby Regional High School on Sunday is indeed a big undertaking possibly with a dual purpose. It presents an opportunity for many to bring joy to the world who might not otherwise express themselves so. Admittedly, the Christmas Daddies world is confined to the small area of Digby and Annapolis Counties but it is joy to the world non-the-less.

Hundreds of people will be fed on Christmas Day who might, by no fault of their own otherwise, be deprived on Christmas Day. There are those who will look at unemployment and welfare and ask "Why the need?" but we only repeat "through no fault of their own."

Besides through generous donations, joy is spread in the program itself. Instrumental and vocal music in the program declares the Christmas message and gives delight to many of the radio listeners or those present in the audience. Those who perform are also given an opportunity to express their Christmas joy through the program.

Without forgetting the day (Sunday) as a holy day, the Christmas Daddies show gives many persons in the two counties the opportunity to enjoy a day of fellowship together.

Let us remember that those out-front at Christmas Daddies and those using back scene talents all serve to bring Joy To The World, to the people who need it most.

Hodge Podge

HODGE PODGE

According to what we heard, a lot of people followed that recipe for pumpkin pie in The Digby Courier and liked it. We were proud to get the comments and pass them on to the Homemaker's Corner columnist. Nothing like a small town newspaper to be read from front page to back.

HODGE PODGE

Some things we do not know about storing fruit and vegetables can be found in the Farm News of Nova Scotia. Some kinds of fruit and vegetables have harmful effects on other kinds when they are stored together. This effect can range from barely noticeable to disastrous. Ripening fruit give off ethylene gas which speeds ripening of other fruit, causes loss of green color in peppers, cucumbers and squash, yellowing and loss of leaves for leafy vegetables and nursery stock, and bitterness in carrots. The greatest losses we have seen is the loss of leaves or breaking away from the core in cabbages stored with apples, or where serious rot is occurring. Bitterness in carrots is not a serious problem because it disappears at room temperatures. Onions, squash, potatoes should be stored separately: celery should not be stored with onions or carrots; root crops should not be stored with fruit or leafy vegetables; cabbage and other leafy vegetables should not be stored with most fruit; apples and pears should not be stored with celery, cabbage, green vegetables, carrots, turnips, potatoes or onions; deciduous fruit can be stored together if they have the same temperature requirements. If only a small quantity of the offending product is present in the storage area it may have no effect on the susceptible product present in large volumes.

How convenient, yea, really a necessity to have an airport near Digby. Georges Cormier, marketing manager for the Corporation Pizza Delight Corporation chartered a plane at Moncton and arrived at the Municipality of Digby Airport in Hill Grove one hour later. To travel otherwise would have used approximately six and a half hours. Add to that the return trip and you save a lot of hours.

Letters

To The Editor

Dear Madam:

It is indeed a sad state of affairs when the natural rights of any individual are imperiled. This is precisely the case at Digby Regional High School. Nearly every great philosopher has at one time stated in his writings that every individual has a natural right to liberty, freedom, and equality. Can this not also be applicable in the school system?

Previous to this year, we, as students of D.R.H.S. have had a fair say in the running of affairs which concern us, no matter how trivial they may have seemed. Now, we are expected to abandon these rights in order to comply to the wishes of the principal. The "Activity Afternoon" policy, for one, is most distressing. Originally, the policy was intended to enable out-of-town students to participate in extra-curricular activities. Previously, they had been unable to due to transportation difficulties. Certainly, it is a good plan. We were then informed that each and every student was to participate in an activity. Fine. But some people just are not joiners! To be made to participate just serves to drive these people further into their shells. The "jig ratio" has increased since the plan was initiated, possibly due to this very fact.

The policy of recognizing outstanding students by the principal through progress reports is a very degrading one, both for the "outstanding" students and for those who are not considered so. The outstanding students are subject to the jealousy of the other students, as they are suddenly recognized for everything they do, while the others are degraded for not being "outstanding". Perhaps a better policy would be to recognize those who have improved their academic standing.

(Incidentally, we are no longer recognized as "students." We are now "pupils." The Oxford English Dictionary defines the word as "child under guardianship.")

If school is a preparation point for adulthood, then can we not be given some say in the policies initiated in the system? Or are we to learn to accept everything one person tells us, without questioning? Are we to be robbed of our rights as human beings, or are we really sub-humans, as the students are led to believe? A Concerned Student, ex... "PUPIL"

Re-Paul Morehouse

Dear Sir:

Pertaining to the rejection of tender submitted by Mr. Paul Morehouse for mail collection and delivery on Digby Neck and Long Island and Briar Island in September, 1976.

I am directed by the members of the Royal Canadian Legion, Carleton Place Branch No. 92, Freeport, Digby Co., N.S., to write to you to voice our collective complaint at a system of tendering which results in Mr. Paul Morehouse losing his position as the mail carrier serving Digby Neck, Long Island and Briar Island.

How can your Department justify at a time of rapid inflation accepting a lower tender than that of Mr. Paul Morehouse. Putting aside the historical connection of the Morehouse family with mail, freight and passengers to these islands.

We deplore a system that can result in injustice such as this. It is the feeling of the members of this Legion that you have unfairly used the power of a Dept. of government to bring about a lowering of the standard of living of your servant. Your department could easily have calculated that after all expenses were paid the tender submitted by Mr. Morehouse would have resulted in a bare subsistence income which might be in fact, be below the so called poverty level, which has been established statistically.

We would further observe that your rather narrow and departmental decision will probably increase the total government cost rather than decrease it.

Mr. Paul Morehouse is now in a situation where no other employment is available to him, he will, therefore, have to have recourse to welfare or some form of provincial government assistance which will wipe out completely any slight monetary advantage gained by the acceptance of this lower tender.

The Editor

Dear Mrs. Wallis:

I was interested last week to read in your paper a letter from a parent concerning the use of obscene language, cursing, and name calling by some teachers and principals. I assume the author of the letter was referring to the Digby Regional High School, as I myself have been very alarmed over the stories coming home about this very thing in recent weeks.

I have also talked to other parents who have been concerned and angered over this and other highly questionable practices within the Junior High School, if the stories being brought home by some students are to be believed.

If these stories have any basis in fact, then I suggest the administration of that school leaves much to be desired.

An Editorial For Universal Bible

Sunday, December 5th, 1976

By Dr. Kenneth G. McMillan, General Secretary, Canadian Bible Society, 1835 Yonge Street, Toronto, Ontario M4S 1Y1 (482-3081)

The year the earth was shaken. That may be how history will view 1976.

Earthquakes brought sudden destruction and death to China, Italy, Guatemala, and the Philippines. Seismologists were quick to point out that the number of tremors was normal for any year. The quakes, however, had occurred in densely populated areas and thereby attracted attention in exacting a heavy toll in human lives.

Those devastating visitations have been grim reminders to man that the fragile planet on which he lives is subject to mighty forces which he does not control.

The world was also shaken in 1976 by political tremors which might have far-reaching implications. The death of Chairman Mao in China sent reverberations through that land, and the rest of the world nervously watches the aftermath.

Developments in southern Africa have resembled a slight tremor that may herald a more cataclysmic upheaval.

Natural disasters and social or political upheavals create a sense of uneasiness and foreboding. In such a time, people understandably long for a sense of stability.

In the past, that sense of stability was found in a religious faith. People responded to the most terrifying experiences in the sturdy conviction expressed thousands of years earlier by a Bible writer:

God is our shelter and strength, always ready to help in times of trouble.
So we will not be afraid, even if the earth is shaken and mountains fall into the ocean depths;
even if the seas roar and rage,
and the hills are shaken by the violence...
The Lord Almighty is with us;
the God of Jacob is our refuge.
(Psalms 46:1-3,7, Good News Bible)

Evidence mounts that modern man is returning to the recognition of his need for a source of stability outside of himself. That quest has led to a renewed interest in the Book which has provided assurance and answers to past generations.

Significantly there appeared in the year the earth was shaken a new translation of the Bible that expresses the message of that timeless volume in everyday language. Response to that new version, the Good News Bible, demonstrates that modern man has a longing for certainty in the midst of unsettling events in an uncertain world.

That renewed interest in the Bible will be interpreted by some as an unhealthy retreat from life. Possibly, for some, it will indeed be a form of escapism. For many, however, it is a normal, healthy recognition of a deep source of stability in a time when the earth is shaking.

CKDY

Sunday morning Church Service comes to you this week from Valley Pentecostal Church, Granville, December 5.

Sunday of November.

Rev. Mr. Blinn is a French Catholic now following the Wesleyan faith. He started Home Mission work about four years ago called "Missions Unlimited". He said there were 300,000 people in the homeland, some of whom never heard the gospel before. He travels widely in lumber corporations in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and along the coast of Maine bringing the gospel to many who would never otherwise hear it.

During the morning church service, Robert Wilson led the song service.

The guest speaker, who makes his headquarters in or near Fairfield, Maine, told those present to "Hold to the Faith". He said little is much if God is in it and assured the congregation that God's resources were full.

Rev. Mr. Blinn participated not only in the morning church service but also in the Sunday School hour held just previously. On both occasions he sang solo numbers and accompanied himself on the guitar and mouth organ. He said he depended a great deal in his Ministry on his instruments.

Later in the day, Rev. Blinn was guest speaker at Lansdowne and in the evening at Bear River Baptist Church.

While in the area Rev. Blinn, a home missionary, held other services and visited with many of his friends. He was born only twelve miles from Digby.

Honored On 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Thibreau of North Range received many lovely and useful gifts including a well laden "money tree" at a party given in their honour on Monday evening, November 22, at the Church Hall. The occasion was the 25th anniversary of their wedding.

The bride's table was decorated with wedding bells and streamers, centered with an anniversary cake made in the shape of the number "25", by the groom's sister, Mrs. Gerald Wagner, of Barton and appropriately decorated by Mrs. Mary Amoro of Plympton.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Gerald Wagner and responded to with hearty applause.

The evening was spent in playing games and friendly chatting. Following the buffet lunch served to about fifty relatives and friends, the couple opened the gifts and thanked their guests for making their twenty-fifth anniversary such a pleasant occasion.

A humorous story composed by a friend at the reception 25 years ago, in which those present supplied the adjectives, was read by Mrs. Clement Silver by request of the bride and brought many chuckles as well as pleasant memories. Mrs. Thibreau is the former Alva Gidney a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gidney of Rossway; Mr. Thibreau is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Thibreau of North Range. They were married on November 22, 1951, at the Digby Baptist Church by Rev. E.C. Churchill. Attending was the groom's nephew, Stanley White and Ruth Wentzel, niece of the bride.

Congratulations and all good wishes for many more years of happiness together are extended by a host of friends.

Legionaires Take Pair From Bridgetown

Steve Saulnier with four goals and three assists paced the Digby Legionaires to a 12-6 victory over the Bridgetown Hawks at Bridgetown on Tuesday, November 23rd. Other marksmen for the Digby club were Peck, who chipped in with three goals and one assist, and Morgan, Hopkins, Maynard, Robinson, and Oliver with one each.

Junior Girls Basketball League

The junior Girls Basketball League will officially open this weekend with a tournament in Digby. The league is set up this year so that there will be two tournaments, one at the beginning and the other at the end of the schedule. Between the tournaments there will be home and home series with teams who do not meet in the tournaments. The tournaments were arranged so that teams who are at the extremes of the valley would not have to make several expensive trips in the round robin. The League will include West Kings.

1. West Kings - A traditionally strong Basketball school. 2. Middleton - Another top basketball team and who are expected to be one of the top teams. 3. Lawrencetown - last years league champions and congress champions. 4. Digby - A team that is considered the team to beat. 5. Bridgetown - This is their first year and therefore they are expected to improve as the season goes on. 6. Weymouth - This is their first year but they are expected to be competitive. 7. Freeport - This team is expected to be competitive especially in their own gym.

Legionaires Down Collegians 8 - 3

The Digby Legionaires extended their unbeaten string to five games by downing College Ste. Anne 8-3 in a Western Valley Hockey League game at Church Point on Sunday. Although the Collegians were beaten by five goals they showed a marked improvement in their play and now that they have ice in their own rink on which to practice show signs of becoming a much more competitive team. No score sheet was available at press time.

Following Sunday's game the league standings were as follows:
P W L T PTS
Digby 5 4 0 1 9
B'Town 4 2 2 0 4
Corn. 2 0 1 1 1
Ste.A. 3 0 3 0 0
TONIGHT - at 8:15 Digby Legionaires go against Cornwallis Cougars at the Digby Forum in what promises to be one of the best games of the season. In their last outing these two teams played to a 4 - 4 tie.

Kings, Shelburne and St. Anne du Rousseau. St. Anne du Rousseau replaced Lawrencetown, who could not attend because of the illness of their coach.

The first game of the round robin saw Digby meet St. Anne du Rousseau. The game turned into a one sided affair as Digby rolled up the score to a 79-2 score. The outstanding feature of the game was the excellent play of Digby's third string. Such players as Kathy Naylor, with 7 points, Kathy Troupe, with 8 points, and Debbie Pyne with 7 points. Top scorer in the game was Erin Gardner with 23 points for Digby. Kathy Naylor had 6 assists, while Erin Gardiner also had 15 rebounds.

The second game brought together West Kings and Shelburne. This game proved to be the most exciting of the Tournament, as both teams exchanged the lead several times, before Shelburne finally won the game 32-28. Becky Scott led Shelburne with 10 points while Donna Hillier had 11 for the West Kings team. Top rebounder was Christine Hughes of West Kings.

The third game saw Digby down the West Kings team by a 63 to 28 score. Kim Roy led the Digby attack with 20 points, while Christine Hughes had 14 for West Kings. Cheryl Trask had 10 assists. Darlene Haight and Judy Kenley of Digby each had 10 rebounds while Christine Hughes had a like number for West Kings.

The fourth and fifth games were repeats of the first games only with Shelburne first and then West Kings rolling easily over the Team from St. Anne du Rousseau. Shelburne took an easy 40-11 win with Cheryl Boudreau scoring 12 points. West Kings quickly followed with a 64-10 win over St. Anne du Rousseau. Betty Blinn led the West Kings team with 18 points. Charleen Armstrong led the St. Anne du Rousseau team with 8 points.

The final game brought together Shelburne and Digby for the Trophy. Both teams had gone through the tournament with a 2-0 record. Digby hit early with Kim Roy and Judy Kenley hitting for 10 and 8 points respectively in the first quarter. Digby ended the first quarter with an amazing 25-2 lead. Shelburne seemed to regain its poise in the 2nd quarter and held Digby to just 3 points while scoring 10 themselves. In the third quarter Digby hit for 18 points to Shelburne's 9, to end any chance Shelburne might have had for a comeback. The final quarter saw Digby run up the score with 24 points to Shelburne's 8. The final score was 70 to 30. Top scorer was Judy Kenley with 19 points. Judy Kenley also led in rebounds with 12. Karen Hattie led in assists with 7. Top scorer for Shelburne was Angela Sonnichsen with 16 points. Kim Roy was voted by the coaches as the outstanding player in the tournament while the coaches voted Erin Gardiner as outstanding Defensive player.

Digby's next game is 6:00 p.m. on Friday against Liverpool. This will be the first meeting of these two teams.

Digby has also started a program of naming the outstanding defensive player of each game. They will also select three stars of the game.

The outstanding defensive player of the game against St. Anne du Rousseau was Kathy Naylor. The player selected for the West Kings game was Pam Griffiths. The player selected for the Shelburne game was Cheryl Trask.

Christmas Trees

Three steps to safe enjoyment of a natural tree:
 -Don't purchase a tree that has dried out. Test wigs and needles to see if they are not brittle.

-Store tree outdoors until used. If stored indoors, re-cut butt and keep immersed in water.

-When tree is erected, re-cut butt diagonally. Stand tree in water and maintain water supply.

-Use only CSA Certified lighting sets and only non-flammable decorations.

-Use of fire-retardant chemical spray on your tree is no substitute for butt immersion, and is not recommended.

Do not allow the tree to block access to doors or windows in the event of fire.

-Some plastic trees are flammable, other artificial trees are fireproof.

-Set up tree away from drapes and from heat sources such as fireplaces, TV sets or radiators.

THREE NEW BUSINESSES OPEN

Riverside Electronics Opens

Pizza Delight Opens

A Pizza Delight which has the appearance of a delight to many, had its grand opening at Conway on Saturday, December 4. The location is near the Weymouth Motors Service Station, Conway, in what was at one time generally referred to as the "Hollow". Pizza Delight Corporation occupies the rounded roof building formerly occupied by the Marshall's Take-Out Service.

The Pizza Delight Corporation have made the interior of the building attractive with chocolate brown carpeting as floor covering and also corresponding carpeting as wall covering. Tiffany lamps give an added glow and make a delightful setting for those who occupy the seats accommodating twenty.

Pizza Delight at Conway, under the management of Wayne Hanson, provides a sit-down service, a take-out service and what is a delight to many persons, a delivery service. Delivery boxes are specially designed to keep the Pizza hot in delivery, equal to a six foot underground heat retaining on one hour.

A most interesting feature at the Pizza Delight at Conway is that the bricked in ovens are observable from the counter and can be watched by patrons of Pizza Delight.

Pizza Delight is a corporation known throughout Canada from St. John's, Newfoundland to Vancouver, B.C. The head office is in Moncton, N.B. It is the largest chain of its kind in Canada and Digby is the newest link in the pizza chain, which has grown to more than 100 locations.

Wayne Hanson takes over the management of Pizza Delight with experience in many fields. Wayne is known mostly in Digby where he had been employed for eight years at the Digby Pines.

Born in Saint John, N.B., Mr. Hanson completed his elementary education there and after attending Grade X at Saint John Vocational School he finished a course in Military engineering at Chilliwack, B.C. His next move was a course in bookkeeping and accounting. Without a doubt, Wayne says, work experience supercedes formal schooling in seeking a goal.

Mr. Hanson with his wife and children have been residing in Doucetteville, Digby County since his move across the Bay. The children, all of school age, attend Weymouth Consolidated School.

Pizza Delight is a fresh daily product made from quality-controlled ingredients like Canadian cheese; their special dough; Burn's bacon and pepperoni; and a secret sauce, all cooked to specifications in the oven mentioned above. It's ready in ten minutes.

During Grand Opening a free Pizza Delight T-Shirt is available while the supply lasts.

Bear River Home Furnishings Ltd., operated by Bob and Gertrude Benson for some twelve years in downtown Bear River has undergone some changes. Bear River Home Furnishings has moved to the "Red Barn" behind and to the left of the former building while the familiar Bear River Home Furnishings will be occupied by the Riverside Electronics Ltd.

At the "Red Barn", the Bear River Home Furnishings Ltd. will continue their complete line of carpets and accessories with installation services; complete line of wall papers and the Benjamin Moore paints.

Continuation of the plumbing, heating and electrical services will be carried on with provision for a modern supply of light fixtures.

Moto-Ski parts and accessories will be carried as well as snowmobile clothing.

The second and third floors of the "Red Barn" will be thrown open to make room for the ever expanding business. Stocks will contain more variety and even better prices than before are expected to be offered.

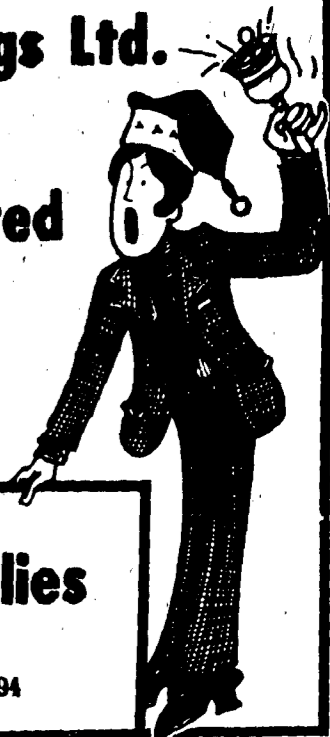

Bob and Gertrude Benson have always lived in Bear River, where they grew up and later enjoyed the pleasure of conducting their continuously expanding business. They have one son Peter. Both Mr. and Mrs.

Benson have given of their years to community efforts. Their lives having been attuned to needs of humanity, they could always be found donating where the need was most. Nor would they forget obligations to other life besides the human.

Take for instance bird life. The pigeons which had nested in the Red Barn are continuing to have nesting provision, it is understood.

After graduating from Digby Regional High School, Robert Benson worked for two years as clerk at the Rexall Drug Store in Digby. He also graduated from the New Brunswick Technical Institute at Moncton as a qualified radio and T.V. Technician in 1958. He then became manager of the radio and T.V. department of the Bear River branch of Digby Home Furnishings and in 1961 became manager of the complete store. In 1964 the purchase of the branch of Digby Home Furnishings was made and the name changed to Bear River Home Furnishings.

Tourism Workshop

Tourism Is Big Business

Halifax— "Let's face it—we're not creating vacations just because we are friendly and love company up here in Nova Scotia; Tourism is big business," Hon. Maurice E. DeLory, Minister of Tourism said in a keynote address tonight before 200 travel industry operators attending a tourism workshop at Hotel Nova Scotian.

"Tourism is the third biggest business in Nova Scotia, providing $300 million in revenues, directly and indirectly employing thousands of people—including virtually every one of us here," Dr. DeLory added.

"The 'good old days', when one could just hang out a sign and get set for an influx of and family.

Mrs. Earnestine Hewitt has closed her home for the winter and is now visiting with her sister Mrs. Ray Finigan and Mr. Finigan.

William Morrell, P.E.I. has been visiting with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Morrell.

Dr. Blair MacNeill, Guelph, Ont. and his sister Mrs. Venna Veinotte and her daughter, Dena, Dartmouth N.S., visited with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alton MacNeill. They were on hand to help their mother, Mrs. Violet MacNeill, celebrate her 80th birthday.

On that occasion many friends and other relatives called to wish her a "Happy Birthday". We also wish her the same and many more years of good health and happiness.

tourists are gone. Since tourism is big business, it's the best reason to get on with the business of improving the industry in Nova Scotia."

Theme of the workshop which started tonight and runs through Friday, is "Tourism: Tomorrow". Travel industry consultants and experts will lead seminars and discussion groups. The workshop is to look at the state of the travel industry and its future.

Among other speakers at the three-day sessions will be Premier Gerald A. Regan and Tom Fletcher, Assistant Deputy Minister of tourism, Department of Trade, Industry and Commerce, Ottawa.

Dr. DeLory told his audience that the province's Department of Tourism is changing from information and service orientation to that of marketing. Information centres in Toronto, Montreal, New York and Portland, Me., are being transformed into marketing centres to sell Nova Scotia as a travel destination, though information requests will continue to be serviced.

"Rather than waiting for customers to come in off the street, we're going out to corner them in their own offices," the Minister continued. The province's advertising will reflect this more aggressive marketing policy.

Bluenose II will be an important part of the province's tourism, marketing plan in the coming year.

"We are also undertaking a study of the price competitiveness of the travel industry in Nova Scotia and what may be required to make the industry more competitive in our markets," Dr. DeLory said. "Tourists still want to travel, but as inexpensively as possible. The increase in recreational vehicles, tent trailers, air charters and coach tours can be attributed in part to an attempt to lower the cost of travel."

He noted that other than promoting Nova Scotia to the rest of Canada, the United States and parts of western Europe "we will also be selling Nova Scotia to the toughest market of all—to Nova Scotians." Advertising and promotion campaigns are being prepared to boost residents' travel within the province.

Dr. DeLory said that Nova Scotia's travel season should be year round and "not something to be crammed into July and August." On the whole this year, the province did well. Over-all decline was about three per cent, "a much envied figure when compared to some other familiar destinations." During October, known in Nova Scotia tourism as a slow "shoulder month", travel figures were up significantly.

Leadership Day By New Horizons

A New Horizons club leadership day was held at the Clare Senior Citizens Club (New Horizons) activity centre in Comeauville on Thursday, November 25th with eleven New Horizons club in attendance. The leadership day program was sponsored by the Continuing Education branch of the Department of Education of the province under the leadership of representative of the area Mr. Jean R. Doucet and assisted by Don Burgoyne of Lawrencetown.

The eleven clubs participating were: East Pubnico, West Pubnico, Wedgeport, Yarmouth and Port Maitland in Yarmouth County and Digby, Weymouth, Clare Senior Citizens club, New Horizons, New Tusket, Meteghan and Salmon River in Digby County. Ten members of the officers and directors of each club were invited to attend and in most cases these numbers were adhered to but a couple of clubs sent a lesser number.

The Clare Senior Citizens Club activity centre was selected to hold the Leadership Day by Mr. Jean R. Doucet due to available space to contain over 100 persons in the regular main floor. The centre is a former four classroom building and suited the purpose for dividing discussion groups comfortably.

The main theme of the Leadership Day was to explain the necessity of organizing a council of New Horizons Club in south-western Nova Scotia covering Yarmouth and Digby Counties. The majority of clubs appeared to be in favor of such a council but in some cases the delegate or delegates would not commit their club until the matter was brought to their attention and approved. The organizing of councils of New Horizons club is the trend as noted in the daily papers. Benefits can be obtained more easily if New Horizons Club form a Council which would unite all

New Horizons clubs in the two counties.

The audience was divided into six groups for the discussion groups with a representative of each club forming one group. The main discussion topics were: "You and Your Club", "You and Your Responsibility", "You and Other Clubs" and "You and Continuing Education", "Priorities and or Concern".

In the "You and Continuing Education" discussion in which each group brought in a list of four items that they were most interested in, a vote was taken (standing vote) of each item presented by the various groups and these are the ones selected as having priority: "More singing at get togethers", "courses, including crafts"; "films", "meeting other clubs".

Lunch was served at noon and closing dinner at 5:30 p.m. were held at the Clare Columbus Club hall also in Comeauville but a short distance from where the Leadership Day was held. Mr. Jean R. Doucet, regional representative of Continuing Education told the group that he was very pleased with the delegates of the clubs represented at the leadership day and the way that they followed the discussion groups. Also the comradery of members of each club during the day. He presented an album of Edith Butler, Acadian folklore songs to the president of the Clare Senior Citizens Club, Mr. Delphis Comeau, Comeauville for the hospitality of the club and the use of the activity centre for the leadership day. Activities at the centre commenced at 9:30 a.m. and terminated at 5 p.m.

Many friendships were renewed between clubs as most of the clubs had visited one another during the last two years. New Tusket is a newly organized New Horizons club with their activity centre being held in the Community Hall.

ACCURACY PAYS OFF

This time of year the grocery bill tends to be a bit higher than usual. Careful shopping doesn't eliminate this additional expense, because we are buying "extras". Many of you are picking up supplies so that you can get your Christmas baking underway before the rush comes.

Since this is an additional expense, you should exercise precision when it comes to annual Christmas Sale, baked goods, needlecraft, white elephant table and garage sale all combined with afternoon "teas" helped to make it very profitable for all the hard working ladies of the group in raising money for their organization. Next Saturday the ladies of the Legion Auxiliary will be holding their Bazaar and Sale at the Legion Hall. It is hoped that this will also be successful.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Crocker and family have moved around the cove and are now living in the house owned by Dr. Robert Melanson's family. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thomas have moved from Boars Head Light back to their own home at Freeport where the Crockers had been living for some time. We are glad to welcome them back to Freeport again.

Miss Kim Elliott and friend, Halifax, visited her mother Mrs. Linda Elliott over the week end. Kim is attending Mount St. Vincent College.

Thanks to Mrs. Florrie Tibert for doing the Freeport news while we were unable to do so due to illnesses and deaths in the family. Call 839-2747 anytime again with your news.

baking, so that there will not be any disappointments. Here are some common cooking mistakes that you should be aware of and try to avoid.

Misunderstood cooking terms - "Folding" is a gentle motion used when combining fruit into a loaf batter for example. This gentle action is required so that the air already incorporated into the batter is not disturbed. "Beating" is a more vigorous motion used to incorporate air into a product.

Not preparing ingredients in advance - Chop, cut and measure ingredients before you start to mix. For example if you had to take time to prepare the fruit after a batter was made up, the volume of your cake might not be as high as you expected, because the baking powder has already started to work even before the batter was put into the pans.

Inaccurate measuring techniques - Standard measuring cups and spoons are not the same size as your tableware. If you are using a metric recipe then the measuring equipment should be metric also.

Substituting key ingredients - Substitutions should not be made unless extremely necessary. Recipes are a balance of ingredients and a substitution could upset this balance.

Changing pan sizes - Using the wrong size pans can cause underbaking or overbaking of cakes or quick breads. Also, food may run over or not rise to the top of the pan.

Adding ingredients in improper order or at unspecified times - Milk in a caramel candy recipe can curdle if it is added too soon or too quickly. A thin lemon pie filling can result from adding lemon juice cooking rather than after.

Incorrect oven temperature - An oven that is too high a temperature can cause peaked cakes. The surface of the cake could crack also, because the high temperature causes a crust to form and since the cake is still rising, the surface will break. Too low a temperature will result in cakes with lower volume, or products that will not brown well.

Not checking for doneness - Since there is a variation in every oven and surface unit, it is important to check to see if the product is cooked. A cake should have left the sides of the pan, spring back when you press your finger lightly on the surface, and a toothpick should come out clean when inserted in the centre.

Unreliable recipes - It is important to use a tested recipe. Check to make sure the method is clear, and complete, as well as accurate measurements given.

Not reading the recipe before cooking - Place often start cooking without reading the recipe all the way through, only to find they are missing a key ingredient or utensil. Read the recipe, collect the ingredients, then start cooking.

Here is a favorite recipe that you might like to try for the Holiday season.

JEWELL'D FRUIT BARS
1 package butterscotch chips
1/2 cup butter or margarine

1/2 cup dark brown sugar
1 1/2 cups all purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped toasted almonds
1/2 cup mixed candied fruit
1/2 cup currants
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 tablespoon grated orange rind

In a double boiler, over hot (not boiling) water, melt butterscotch chips, butter or margarine with brown sugar. Remove from heat. Stir to mix well. Combine flour, baking powder and salt, stirring gently to blend. Stir into butterscotch mixture. Spread batter evenly in a greased 13x9x2-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees F for 20 minutes and remove from oven.

Meanwhile, combine almonds, candied fruit, currants, eggs and grated orange rind. Spread mixture evenly over hot cookie dough. Return to oven and bake at 350 degrees F for 20 minutes. Cool in pan. Cut into 2 x 1 inch bars. Makes about 4 1/2 doz.

Family Film
To Be Shown

TIME TO RUN, a film that is a mixture of problems and solutions, will be shown at the Smith's Cove Baptist Church on Saturday, December 4. The feature filmed in Eastmancolor by World Wide Pictures, will be shown at 7:30 p.m. A free-will offering will be received.

Filmed on location in the Southern California area, TIME TO RUN is the story of Warren Cole, a hard driving success-oriented industrial and scientific engineer who, because of over-involvement with his work, has failed to communicate with his wife Fran, or their son Jeff.

TIME TO RUN allows the viewer to become involved on any one or more of the three different levels. Viewed purely as entertainment, it's the suspenseful story of Jeff's attempts at sabotage in the nuclear generating plant conceived, designed and managed by his father. Jeff strongly feels that the plant is a threat to the environment, and he puts his feelings in action.

Viewed on an emotional level, TIME TO RUN is the deeply moving drama of the conflicts that are tearing a family apart - conflicts that develop between husband and wife, and between father and son. In an attempt to find freedom from the ever-growing hostilities, Jeff takes to the road, hoping to discover some meaning in his confused life.

Approached from a religious perspective, TIME TO RUN is also a story of friction between Jeff and his girlfriend, Michelle. Michelle has discovered a spiritual dimension in her life, and this aspect is very confusing to Jeff, who has little time for "a God who would allow war, hatred, and suffering on earth." But his life is shattered by an avalanche of personal problems, and he finds himself at a Jesus people gathering with Michelle, where he glimpses the possibility of a new life-style based on love and understanding.

TIME TO RUN is a film that can help strengthen love relationships between people. It's a film that was made for families to see - together.

Christmas Choir And Band Concert
At Sainte-Anne

Sunday, December 5, in St. Bernard's church and Sunday, December 12, in St. Peter's church in West Pubnico will be presented a series of two Christmas concerts with three choirs of the area, "La Chorale de la baie Ste-Marie", "Les chanteurs de la Baronnie" and "La Musica de Wedgeport". It must be mentioned that this is the first time in south-western Nova Scotia such a large number of musicians will perform together.

The selections in the program will be chosen from the Christmas Carols repertory. For the first part of the concert, each group will present five numbers. "The Chorale de la Baie Ste-Marie", under the direction of Rev. Maurice LeBlanc, will open the concert. The "Chanteurs de la Baronnie" will follow, conducted by Mr. Paul Saulnier. Then will be heard the young choir, "La Musica de Wedgeport" conducted by Rev. Guy Legere. "The Fanfare Regionale de Clare" will conclude the first half of the program.

The second part of the program will first group the three choirs together which will sing "White Christmas" and "Noel, c'est l'amour" (Christmas is Love). Then the "Fanfare Regionale de Clare" and the organ will join the choirs to perform "The Christmas Story", a selection of ten Christmas Carols with narration, which had much success last year.

These evening concerts are surely an occasion for an interesting outing for the family, something one must not miss. Both concerts will begin at eight o'clock. Admission: $1.50 for adults, .75 cents for students.

WELSHPOOL FERRY STUDY REVIVED

The time is presently opportune to revive the study made ten years ago regarding a ferry service from East Ferry to Welshpool, Campobello Island, N.B., said Vincent Snow as he introduced the subject at a regular meeting of the Digby Board of Trade on Tuesday. The study known as the Margeson Report was made by government sponsorship. The result of findings were that a ferry between these two ports could make two round trips per day and it had appeared to be the most logical solution to the ferry problems at that time. The Bluenose, however, was placed on the Yarmouth-Maine run and the Welshpool idea receded into the background. The Digby Board felt these facts about the study should again be raised and placed before government. They felt confident that support would come from the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade and since it would provide the shortest and most economical route the South Shore trucks would make good use of such a run. Docking facilities in Digby are another asset for making Digby to Welshpool a feasible proposition at this time.

The president of the Digby Board of Trade, Ernest Ryan, was requested to contact A.L. Robinson, chairman of the Board's transportation committee to go ahead with promotion of the project and also to suggest that the Town be asked to leave not one stone unturned in its pursuit.

Hearing rumours that ferry rates were going to be raised, the Board decided to petition C.N. Marine to reduce rates on the Princess of Acadia to be comparable to other rates. The Board will get in touch with Miss Coline Campbell M.P. and Joe Casey M.L.A.

The "what was termed ridiculous price of $16" as passenger fare on the D.A.R. came in for comment also. Anxious to see liaison between the Digby Regional High School the Board will request the school to take out Board of Trade membership and have someone, student or teacher to represent them at each Board meeting.

It was also suggested that since the Town Council would soon be making up its budget and town tax exemption the Town Council should be invited in to discuss exemptions. Another subject for discussion, they felt to be how the sewage project is to be paid for. Yet another suggestion was to have a delegation from the Board of Trade to attend the Digby Water Commission meetings regarding the many breaks in the waterline at the Racquette. The Board members noted that the CPR tracks at Jew Cove were not being used and it might be possible that these could be taken up to provide better traffic accommodation there.

Mr. Snow expressed gratitude to members of the Civic Committee, Gordon Marshall and Harold Riley for their service on that committee and their influence in obtaining a major and councillors candidates for the election. He also paid tribute to Charles Haliburton in serving the town as mayor in 1975-76.

Named on the nominating committee to bring in a proposed state of officers for the 1977 Board of Trade were Gordon Marshall, Vincent Snow and Rene Richard. The annual meeting is to be held in January. The executive will make arrangements.

Christmas Daddies Program Raises $13,825

Thirteen thousand eight hundred and twenty five dollars was the amount raised for needy families in Digby and Annapolis Counties when the Christmas Daddies program on Radio Station CKDY came to a close on Sunday evening. This was in the vicinity of $1500 less than that raised in the same time in the year 1975.

The program began at twelve o'clock noon with Miss Joanne Frankland singing "Touch a Child." From there the anchor desk and Bonded Stock music with Christine Van Tassell feature took over to 12.25 when Miss Margo Levy delighted the audience with Christmas numbers. Dr. Gerald Sheehy M.L.A. Annapolis reflected on the Christmas Daddies shows in the area beginning in 1970 when approximately $5,700 was raised and in 1975 when the sum raised amounted to more than $14,000. To the end of 1975, he remarked some $57,000 had been raised through Digby and Annapolis Christmas Daddies to bring Christmas Cheer to those in need.

Judge V.G. Cardoza extended greetings and mentioned the first year of the Christmas Daddies program when their expectations were to raise $1000 and they reached the surprising sum of $5,700.

Others who addressed the capacity audience at the Multi-purpose room at the Digby Regional High School and the radio audience were Miss Coline Campbell, M.P., South West Nova; Joe Casey, M.L.A., Digby; John Johnson, president of Family and Children Services of Annapolis County; Wilfred Swift, Warden of the Municipality of the District of Digby; Colonel Fox, commander at CFB Cornwallis; Mayor Roy MacIsaac of Bridgetown, who brought along a donation from the Bridgetown Coffee Club and Cyril Reddy, District Supervisor Social Services, Digby. The program continued in interesting fashion throughout the afternoon and evening with Cheer Leaders manned by Miss Heather Hoare arousing a special interest in telephone calls and pledge desks.

Other soloists on the program or those who participated several times were Miss Levy, Nelson Norwood, Norman Mumroe, Reggie Taylor, Nevin Gaudet, Neil Gaudet, Susan Grant, Eva Messenger, Dalli Sanford, Janet Durkee, Miss Barbara Fickes and Miss Heather Fickes gave piano duets and vocal duets were heard from Donna and Alice Sealey. Other members were presented by Grade I, St. Patrick's School Lansdowne Children's Choir; Smith's Cove Ladies Quartette; Two-Counties Bank; Parker's Cove School; Granville Consolidated School; Lower Granville Baptist Youth Choir; Clementsvale School, Clements Consolidated School; Oakdene School Fred Bailey B and Grade 3, St. Patrick's vocal chorus.

A visit and selections from Father Albani D'Entremont were enjoyed and by special request the Digby Detachment R.C.M.P. rendered a couple numbers.

The House of Roth Black Light Dancers brought the warning that Christmas Daddies program on CKDY was coming to a close for 1976.

Before John Banks closed the program with prayer and Miss Frankland expressed "Thank You" sentiments in song, special thanks were extended to Leigh Everett and all the volunteers. (Miss Grace Pulsifer was again in charge of the Happiness Tree which saw 60 pairs of mittens especially knit by Miss Louise Daley. Contributions of mittens and chair backs by Mrs. Alice Barrett, age 95 years, were also made. Those who provided food for workers or for sale were commended.

A Christmas Santa in ceramics was donated by Mrs. Brenda MacLeave and a lighted tree in ceramics was donated by B and B. Ceramics.

Daughter And Son Officially Open Memorial Room

In a brief ceremony on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, Mrs. Leslie McKillop of Lake Echo, Halifax County and Dr. Ian H. Anderson, Digby, cut the ribbon officially opening the Joyce Anderson room in memory of their mother at Admiral Digby Library and Museum.

The program began with prayer of dedication by Reverend Michael Boyd of Trinity Anglican Church, Digby and Judge John R. Nichols, president of the Admiral Digby Library and Historical Society. Judge Nichols paid special tribute to the memory of Mrs. Anderson and felt the building would not be there if it had not been for the arduous work of Mrs. Anderson. Mr. Nichols introduced several special guests who came to participate in the program.

Deputy Mayor Philip Robertson extended a welcome from the town and those expressing appreciation in present were Miss Kincaide, Yarmouth, Western Nova Scotia Library; Lawrence LeMont, Western Counties Regional Library; Miss Coline Campbell M.P. and Joe Casey, M.L.A. All expressing the fitting tribute to the late Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. McKillop and Dr. Anderson thanked the Historical Society and others for their kind words and the fine tribute to their mother. They felt it had been a joy for her to participate. Among relatives attending were Mr. McKillop; the late Mrs. Anderson's sister, Mrs. Alice Christie of Amherst; her brother Bob Atherton and Mrs. Atherton, Kingston; Dr. Thomas Rogers, Yarmouth.

Mrs. Anderson's husband, the late Dr. E.H. Anderson carried on a medical practice in war forces when he was killed. He was a son of Mrs. Frank Anderson, Queen St., Digby, and the late Mr. Anderson, a former mayor of the town.

The room officially opened in memory of Joyce Anderson on Saturday, in many respects dated back to Christmases past with a tree decorated in popcorn, home made ornaments and Christmas remembrances of the nineteenth century. Christmas post cards of many years were displayed as were also postcards of the town which revealed its growth. Mrs. Fred May was the donor of the cards in memory of her husband.

The room on Saturday bearing a memorial brass plaque on the door, was prepared for the special opening day by Mrs. MacLeod Rogers. Barry Jennings had also prepared a room with many museum pieces which he not only gleaned from surrounding areas but also from his private collection. These included furniture, books, pictures and other items. Another room displays a spinning wheel, book cases, records etc. A notice at the door asks for more book cases, more pine tables, more chairs, books, old records and genealogies.

The hallway to the second floor museum contains a model of a brigantine donated by Mrs. Penelope Bradford, Weymouth North.

Princess Of Acadia Travel Slightly Down

CN Marine will carry its two millionth passenger this year shortly before Christmas.

A total of 1,955,270 passengers have used one of the six services operated by CN Marine in the eleven months so far since January 1, 1978.

Based on an average transport of 2,225 passengers per day, the 44,730th passenger carried to reach the two-million mark should come on or about December 20.

Projections indicate that slightly in excess of two million passengers will be carried this year as compared with the 2.3 million who used the services in 1975.

All of the major services operated by CN Marine showed a decline last month in passengers and autos carried with the exception of the Yarmouth-Bar Harbor service which terminated operation for the winter late last month.

While the number of passengers and automobiles carried declined, the number of tractor trailers and trucks transported went up 3.5 per cent from 12,875 to 13,330.

A total of 1,196 passengers were carried on the Yarmouth-Bar Harbor crossing last month compared to 1,030 for the same 30 days last year for a percentage increase of 16.1. The number of passenger automobiles transported also rose from 392 to 464 for a percentage increase of 18.4.

The number of passengers carried on the crossing between North Sydney, N.S., and Port aux Basques, Nfld., decreased from 9,045 last year to 8,038 for a drop of 11.1 per cent while the number of autos transported went down from 1,956 to 1,796 for a decrease of 8.1 per cent.

A total of 55,474 passengers were carried on the Prince Edward Island service last month as compared to 75,272 for the same month last year for a drop of 26.2 per cent. The number of autos transported went down from 25,867 to 19,262 for a drop of 25.5 per cent.

The number of passengers carried on the Digby-Saint John service dropped slightly from 6,171 last year to 5,685 for a percentage decrease of 7.9 while the autos transported fell from 1,342 to 1,316 for a drop of 1.9 per cent.

Seventy-eight passengers and 25 autos were transported on the Yarmouth-Portland service during the first two days of operation last month.

Fifty Turn Out For Sewer Project Meeting

Fifty or more from Mount Pleasant and the Lighthouse Road turned out on Thursday evening at the Digby Court House to discuss the possibility of the homes in this area entering the Town of Digby Sewer System. The meeting was presided over and called by Municipal Councillor Eric Van Tassell, District number seven who said he had by request made a survey of the people which showed that 22 were in favor of such a move and 16 were against on the Lighthouse Road. Four had not been contacted. A similar situation appeared at Mount Pleasant although more were not in favor but 15 had not been contacted. On the strength of this Councillor Van Tassell called the discussion meeting.

Mr. Van Tassell introduced those at the table who had come to supply information. They were Dr. V.K. Rideout, M.D. Director of Western Health Unit; Mark Durkee, Public Health Inspector and Mr. Horener of W.N. Horner Associates. ## Digby Board Of Trade Still Awaits

Attorney General's Reply

A letter written by the Digby Board of Trade to the Attorney General's Department had not received a reply by Tuesday evening November 30, when the Board met in regular session at the Town Hall. The letter was written by President Ernest Ryan on October 28 and mailed about October 30. The letter had reference to a public meeting sponsored by the Digby Board of Trade with Sgt. Thomas Barlow, R.C.M.P. as guest speaker, the outcome of the meeting being that the public expressed dissatisfaction with sentences passed by local magistrate in many of the court cases. This they felt to be detrimental to curbing crime and the letter requested the Attorney General's Department to solve the problem.

Members of the Digby Board of Trade attending the November 30 meeting felt that the people who attended the public meeting in October would be looking for a reply. The president was asked to send the department a copy of the letter if a reply does not come soon. The matter of delay in a reply would be brought up to Joe Casey M.L.A., by the president, it was decided. Discussion also led to duties of the R.C.M.P. at the Evangeline Mall premises. On suggestion of Vincent Snow the Board decided the Civic Committee contact the Town Police Committee on the matter and further suggested that the Board of Trade provide a forum for town discussion on the subject with Councillor Eileen Chipman and Councillor Foster Journeay present. Mrs. Chipman informed the Board that a new RCMP contract must be approved between the provincial, local Town and R.C.M.P. and this has not been renewed since March.

Dr. Gullison Addresses Lions

Dr. Ben Gullison, retired Baptist missionary from India addresses several organizations in Digby on his recent visit here including the Digby Baptist Women's Missionary Society, the Digby Horizons and the Lions. Dr. Gullison and Lions have much in common as Lions have an eyesight project for a number of years. They collect glasses which are under proper supervision distributed to persons who cannot afford to care for their own eye needs.

Dr. Gullison had a long and worthwhile mission in India which led to what is known as Operation Eyesight Universal.

Over 30 years ago, Dr. R. Ben Gullison, a Canadian Medical Doctor started a Mission Hospital in Sompeta, India. It is known as the ArogyaVaram Eye Hospital with the following people in charge:

Dr. J. A. Coapullai, D.O.M.S., F.I.C.S., Z.O., Superintendent.

Dr. (Mrs.) J. A. Coapullai, B.A., M.B.B.S., Resident Medical Officer.

Since 1947 when Dr. John and Mrs. Annmu Coapullai joined the hospital 60,000 ophthalmic operations of all kinds, have been performed in this little 120 bed hospital. The hospital lies in an area in which live 200,000 curable blind.

Recognizing the financial need, a handful of Calgary businessmen started "Operation Eyesight" in 1963. Each one pledged the other, he would pay for one cataract operation each year for a blind and penniless East Indian. This handful of men has grown into hundreds living in many towns and cities across Canada. (Still other supporters live in the U.S.A., U.K., and other countries around the world.)

Many different faiths are represented: Anglican, Baptist, Church of the Nazarene, Evangelical, Jewish, Lutheran, Menonite, Methodist, Pentecostal, Presbyterian, Quaker, Roman Catholic, Sikh, United Church of Canada and many others.

BUY NOW! PAY LATER!

Don't get so caught up in the Christmas spirit that you end up paying for Christmas gifts next year.

Control the urge to splurge and spend your money wisely to get the most out of it, says the Nova Scotia Department of Consumer Affairs. You'll spend less in the long run if you manage your money carefully right from the start.

The Department's chief executive officer, Harry M. McIlroy, passes on 14 shopping tips to keep in mind while you're battling the holiday shopping crowds.

- DON'T:
- Spend your dollars wisely.
  - Decide what you want to buy and buy only what you can honestly afford.
  - Buy from reliable, reputable merchants.
  - Budget all year for Christmas spending.
  - If you're buying on credit, ask yourself if the gift is worth the worry of paying for it later.
  - Know exactly what the article is costing in dollars and cents, with all carrying charges included.
  - Check store policy regarding refunds and exchanges before you buy.
  - Keep all sales slips as proof of purchase in case an exchange becomes necessary.

DON'T:

- Sign a contract without reading it carefully first.
- Accept merchandise on approval. The receipt you sign may be a sales contract.
- Get caught up in the Christmas rush and buy in haste.
- Fall prey to the smooth-talking salesman with the wonderful product and easy payment plan.
- Be misled by "special" sale tickets, free gifts or other inducements.
- Be fooled by misleading claims in a guarantee or warranty.

The wise shopper, Mr. McIlroy says, is the one who will enjoy Christmas to its fullest.

Hodge Podge

This sounds like a funny one but actually that is what we have recorded in The Digby Courier of December 12, 1946. The clergy of one of the Courier's reporters was asked to have the reporter expelled from church because of his newspaper activities. Evidently the internal employee friction at one of our public establishments cleared up in time. But why should a reporter be expelled from a church for printing the truth in a newspaper?

We presume Council back in 1921 had problems. We read in the Back To 1921 Column in the December, 12, 1946 issue of the Courier that C.A. Jordan Calls on Council to Resign; C.A. Jordan was present at Council meeting and objected to the presence of the Councillors as a Council. He called on them individually and as a body to resign and not operate as a council until a town meeting had been called. No action was taken.

Several New England friends have sent us the picture from The Boston Globe of Jon Oikle, Digby, unloading 2000 Christmas trees at Faneuil Hall Market.

Maraschino cherries. How pretty they look, heard, number 4 red food coloring has been banned in the U.S. Some of you are probably asking what does this mean to us? Well, this Christmas season will probably be the last time we will see the red maraschino cherry. The companies are able to sell all of their back supplies and after that there will be no more produced. Possibly they will replace the number 4 red but all of this will take time and in the meantime we will have to get use to Christmas baking with green cherries. So we are told by Susan Horne, Home Economist.

You probably heard that work on the East walls of parliament buildings in Ottawa are being repaired. Coline Campbell, M.P. was surprised to see two newspapers of 1919, the Yarmouth Light and Annapolis Spectator, were used for packing. Oh, well, could be we'd find this humble newscarrier, The Digby Courier, safely tucked away in the archives of that esteemed place.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Mrs. Wallis:

I wish to reply to the two letters published in the December 2, 1976 issue of The Digby Courier.

To the "Concerned Student" I would like to suggest that it is high time we knew the names of "outstanding students." Too often our newspaper columns are devoted to the activities of juvenile delinquents because information about the achievements of law-abiding students is not forthcoming. To eliminate "the policy of recognizing outstanding pupils by the principal through progress reports" because of the jealousy of students who are not willing to make a similar effort to study and learn, and of the jealousy of their parents who are not prepared to make available to their children a quiet place to study or to exert their parental prerogatives to see that their children discipline themselves to study and to develop habits of industry and self-control which can only benefit them in later life, is to penalize those students and parents who realize that the school is a microcosm - "a little community" from which students depart to the macrocosm of adult life in a democratic society; where effort is rewarded. I do agree that those who improve their academic standing from term to term should also be recognized, but not at the expense of recognition of the superior students who are also making good use of their potential.

To the "Concerned Citizen" I would suggest that the "stories brought home by some students," should be thoroughly investigated to see whether alleged remarks and practices are reported "out of context" which, when done, does distort the truth. If, in fact, these stories are accurate, then you as a ratepayer have access to the respective School Boards controlling the administration of the various schools in the Digby Sub-System, of which Mr. C.C. MacInnes is the Supervisor.

In my professional relationships, I have found him sympathetic and fair, and I have no reason to believe he would not lend an attentive ear to a parent, as well. As far as my experience is concerned, this is true of all the administrative personnel of the Digby Regional High School. There is a Code of Ethics which the Nova Scotia Teachers Union expects all teachers to accept and practice, and I am sure they would wish to know if it is being violated in a particular instance.

Let us all - parents, citizens, teachers and students - work together so that the fair name of the Digby-Regional High School will not be further blemished.

Yours truly,
F. Beryl Henderson

SEWER PROJECT

that the town has nothing to offer the area for they do not know if it will work in town (Digby town now is engaged in a sewer project) and another didn't know whether the Town wants the area to Piggy Back on their sewer system. Mr. Van Tassel, from the beginning assured the town councillors present and the people that the Lighthouse Road and Mount Pleasant were not asking for a free ride.

Dr. Rideout explained the situation with the environment in the areas as the soil is not conducive to septic tank usage. He said that there is sewage running in ditches which is not healthy for the children. It was up to the people he said, if they decide to clean up the environment and he would be happy to see a sewage system installed while the machinery is near at hand. He hoped that the town would co-operate.

Mr. Horner, in his address took the audience back to 1972 when they were retained by the Municipality of the District of Digby to make a pollution study, paid by the Nova Scotia Department of Environment. A further study included Digby Town. They identified those places which needed most attention and more study numbering about 10. They used maps, photographs and other means to study the necessary collection system, pumping and disposal. The Town of Digby then retained the Horners for a system designed for entering Digby North to Digby South. Mr. Horner explained the gravity sewer system which would be used from the Mount Pleasant and Lighthouse Road areas and gave figures he had established to cover capital costs of construction.

sewage treatment facility $3,000 and sewage collection system $205,000 for a total of $208,000. Grants and tax rebates against these were figured from the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation for collection system $14,000, treatment $1,000. From the Nova Scotia Department of Environment, collection system $34,000, treatment facility $1,000 and estimated tax rebates $10,000. This makes a total of taxes and rebates of $60,000. The net amount to be financed then is $208,000 less $60,000 or $148,000. From this is to be deducted $44,000 CMHC Loan making the remainder of $104,000 to be financed. Estimated annual cost shown in Mr. Horner's figures were amortization of CMHC Loan, $5,000; amortization of other financing $12,000; less annual cost sharing under municipal services $13,000; net annual amortization cost $4,000; maintenance and operating cost $2,000. The total estimated annual cost resulting $6,000 or an estimated annual cost per

Robert F. Weary Gets Bowaters Appointment

Bowaters-Mersey Paper Mill, Brooklyn, Queens Co., announced the election of Robert F. Weary as president and general manager of their operations following promotion of current president D. Wallace Clark as president and general manager of Bowater Newfoundland Limited, Corner Brook.

Both appointments are effective February 1, 1977. Mr. Clark will also become president of the Bowater Power Company Limited at Deer Lake, Nfld., on the same date.

The elections resulted from the retirement of J. Hartness Beardsley who presently holds the two Newfoundland posts.

Mr. Weary, a Halifax native, is a son of Mrs. Victor Thompson, Digby. He obtained a chemical engineering degree from Nova Scotia Technical College, became assistant general manager of the Mersey operations in 1973 following various managerial positions in Newfoundland and Connecticut with the parent Bowater company.

Both Bowaters officials have played active roles in community development and organizations serving on hospital boards, Boy Scout associations and industrial commissions.

Class Supports Nyoman

Ladies of the Philathea Class of the Baptist Church, Bear River, entertained the ladies of the other churches of the community on November 18 when more than fifty were present.

A short letter from the Class's foster child's parents was read. The Class began supporting Nyoman Narya, age four, as a project in April of 1976.

The evening was spent by contests, readings, games, duets, skits and monologues. Refreshments were served.

single family dwelling (89 units) of $67.41.

No definite plans came out of the Thursday meeting and some confusion was felt by the Lighthouse Road and Mount Pleasant people regarding the attitude of the Town Council as mentioned by Councillor Eric Van-Tassel and also the fact that Town Councillor Gordon Ellis estimated the Digby cost per single family unit to be $150 as expressed by him at the meeting and the Horner estimate was so vastly below that figure. The consensus was that the people concerned should get together and further determine operating costs etc. and ask Councillor Ellis to explain how his figure of $150 was determined.

Vic Bradshaw Treasurer

Newly-elected President of the Innkeepers Guild of Nova Scotia, Allan F. Bruce, of Truro, heads a spirited organization which has nearly doubled its membership in the past eight months.

Election of the new slate of officers and regional directors representing all eight tourist regions of the province took place during the Guild's annual meetings at Halifax last week (November 29-December 1).

We watched you suffer,
We saw you cry,
All we could do was just stand by,
When you passed away we suffered too,
To see what you went through.
Softly the leaves of memories fall
Gently we gather and treasure them all.
Unseen, unheard, you are always near Still loved, still missed and very dear.
Dearly loved and sadly missed by CHILDREN - VIOLA AND LEWIS; GRANDCHILDREN RODNEY AND MYRNA. 18:1ip.

Nova Scotia's seven diploma schools of nursing must be doing something right, because the results of the latest examinations to qualify their graduates as registered nurses, show that the Nova Scotia nurses surpassed the national average in all subjects. 5,618 graduates across Canada wrote the examinations.
Nova Scotia is the only province in Canada where the diploma program for nurses is totally hospital based. In other provinces this type of nursing education takes place in community colleges, as, for example, in the Ontario and Quebec CEGEPS.

Another Look At The U.I.C. PERSONALS

QUESTION: What are the services which are offered by the Unemployment Insurance Commission and who can benefit from these services?

ANSWER:

For the claimant - The Unemployment Insurance Commission recognizes the claimant must be treated as an individual, and to that end, our staff is properly trained. Our commitment is to strive for ways that will serve you better.

Claimants can now file their claims in person at the District Office and a decision will be made on the spot, so that by the time they leave they will know if they qualify, what their benefit rate will be and approximately when to expect their first cheque. Claimants applying for benefits by mail will also be advised of their rights and obligations as well as the terms and conditions to be eligible for benefits. This information will be mailed to them so they benefit from the full service which is available from the Unemployment Insurance District Office.

For the employer - The Unemployment Insurance Commission is very concerned in keeping employers informed of all aspects of the UI Act and of any changes in legislation which occur. Staff members are available to inform employers of their rights and obligations, and in particular, to advise them of procedures governing the new Record of Employment. The UIC will aid those who need help completing any paperwork pertaining to UI and will check to see if there are people on claim whose skills may be needed by an employer. Those people would be referred to the employer through Canada Manpower. UIC speakers will give lectures and conduct seminars as requested by employers.

For the employed contributor - For this majority group, the Commission is constantly striving to ensure that the fund is being administered in a responsible way, so that it serves those who have legitimate claims to the fund and identifies those who would abuse or misuse it.

Responsible handling of the fund is the chief way in which the UIC may ensure the confidence of the contributor.

Government Measures To Reduce Unemployment

Additional government measures to reduce unemployment were announced today by Bud Cullen, Minister responsible for the Department of Manpower and Immigration and the Unemployment Insurance Commission. The new measures include:

- Doubling of this year's Local Initiatives Program (L.I.P.) from $100 million to $200 million.
- The provision of $50 million for federal labour-intensive projects in areas of high unemployment.
- A decrease of nine per cent in the Unemployment Insurance premium rates for employers and workers.

Mr. Cullen stated that the new measures would be taken within the government's existing expenditure ceilings.

The new measures follow an earlier announcement of major government programs designed to reduce unemployment. These measures include:

- a $40 million increase for occupational training, bringing the total for the year to $522 million and enabling the training this year of more than 305,000 Canadians;
- expansion of the Canada Manpower Mobility Program in 1976-77 to $13.7 million, enabling permanent relocation of 15,000 families and other mobility grants to some 40-45,000 workers.

The expanded L.I.P. program will create a total of 248,000 man-months of employment for an estimated 47,000 workers. The additional funding will be directed solely to areas where unemployment exceeds seven per cent and it will have a significant impact in such areas. A special effort will be made in the expanded program to reduce youth unemployment.

Mr. Cullen emphasized that this expanded program is intended to reduce unemployment in the winter months. In April the government's announced employment strategy will take effect with a package of programs costing $358 million in 1977-78 and benefitting 135,000 participants.

Of these programs, a $200 million Canada Works Program will create 61,000 jobs and will sustain and expand the job creation levels built up under L.I.P.

The $50 million fund for federal labour-intensive projects will be administered by the Treasury Board. Funds will be provided to departments for projects such as:

- repairs and maintenance in National Parks
- construction and maintenance of small craft harbours
- fisheries management projects.

Mr. Cullen stated that he was announcing the U.I. premium rate change at this time because it too had an economic and employment-generating effect.

"The current premium rate for employees will be reduced from $1.65 per $100 insured earnings to $1.50. At the same time the employer rate will be reduced from $2.31 to $2.10 per $100 insured earnings.

The nine per cent reduction in premium rates will result in Canadian employers and workers paying over $250 million less in U.I. premiums than would otherwise be the case. Such a reduction has obvious economic significance in terms of increased purchasing power and its stimulative impact will help to create jobs.

The lower insurance rates will begin January 1, 1977 when the maximum insurable earnings will be increased from $200 to $220 per week. In effect, this will mean maximum employee and employer premiums will remain at $3.30 and $4.62 respectively.

Mr. Cullen said that the premium reduction has added significance since it takes effect January 1, 1977, at the same time the automatic indexing of the personal income tax system will increase both personal exemptions and tax brackets by 8.6 per cent for the 1977 taxation year. This indexing results in a reduction of taxes payable of $950 million in the 1977 taxation year.

Better administration of Unemployment Insurance, harmonization of the activities of the Department of Manpower and Immigration and the Unemployment Insurance Commission, and earlier legislative amendments have resulted in savings in Unemployment Insurance costs. These savings have facilitated both a reduction in premiums for the private sector and the use of government funds for more productive purposes.

The U.I. deficit has also been eliminated.

The use of U.I. savings for job creation is an integral part of the employment strategy announced in the last budget by the Minister of Finance in which the government indicated its intention to re-orient expenditures in the employment field towards more productive purposes.

Further amendments to the U.I. Act to be introduced in this session of Parliament will enhance this strategy.

"The government is concerned about unemployment in all its forms in all parts of Canada," said Mr. Cullen. "We have programs in place and planned which will help to reduce the effects of unemployment by creating jobs, and we are doing our best to fund them by changing our expenditure priorities rather than by expanding over-all government expenditures.

"The government is continuing to analyse unemployment both nationally and regionally," Mr. Cullen said, "and we are reviewing the possible employment-generating effects of all federal government programs with a view to strengthening their effects between now and

J. Alphonse Deveau Elected Historical Society President

At the annual meeting of La Societe Historique Acadienne de la baie Ste Marie (Acadian Historical Society of St. Mary's Bay) elected the following officers, President, J. The finance committee is made up of the following: Albert P. Melanson, Norman Pothier, Meteghan and Philippe Comeau, Church Point. Chairman of the publicity committee, Rev. Louis Comeau; chairman of the recruiting committee, Andre Turbide, Comeauville; Hospitality committee, Mrs. Louis R. Comeau, Mrs. Pierre Alphonse Belliveau; Historical Sites, Kenneth Gaudet.

Smith's Cove (Phyllis S. Winchester)

VANDALISM has reared its ugly head in our area through the destructive use of guns by youth. Two of our churches have suffered broken windows. Replacement of panes is difficult, for both churches can not replace with like glass. Parents-do you know what your child is doing with your guns when you are not around? Are your firearms under lock and key? Windows can be replaced with one type or other of glass, but a human life cannot and, there is always the possibility of this happening when there is improper use of firearms!

April when the $358 million employment strategy, which I announced in the Throne Speech debate, will begin."

Harold Robicheau of Meteghan had been invited to show his rare photos of the past of the various villages in Clare. The photo were in albums especially for the district of Clare. Members were able to glance through the several albums that Mr. Robicheau had on display, following the regular meeting. Many old homes and businesses establishments of olden time no longer exists and new buildings have taken their place. Many photos of people of the early 1900's were also shown and the genealogy of the Robicheau family along with some photos of the families.

Rev. Nil Theriault, native of Belliveau Cove and presently of Yarmouth explained briefly a proposed tour being arranged to visit Louisiana where some Acadians have settled through the years, descendants of the deposed Acadians of 1755 of Grand Pre. The exchange voyage will take place during the March break to enable teachers or students to participate in the tour. Places to be visited are, New Orleans, Lafayette, Saint-Martinville, Baton Rouge, Church Point, Lake Charles and Crowley.

The society is one year old and now that the organizational problems are over, the new term should see more action by the society take place. Several historical sites are badly in need of repairs. These are the First Acadian Cemetery at Major's Point in Belliveau Cove - Grosses Coques area and the memorial cross near the former Etienne Comeau's home in the village of Grosses Coques. The chapel at the cemetery site is badly in need of repairs and the memorial cross requires some repairs of its concrete base which has large cracks which could cause extensive damage to the stone cross by frost and freezing ice.

The society has met with some difficulty at Major's Point as the rights to the land where the cemetery exists are not clear-cut at the moment. A chapel was built on the site during the reign of Rev. Alphonse Parker, pastor of St. Bernard parish in the village of the same name who served in 1888. A chapel has existed on this plot of land along with a large wooden cross since that date and religious services were held in the month of May for many years in the chapel by various pastors of the parish.

The cemetery plot was selected by Rev. Bailly, a missionary who visited the area in 1769, a year after the first Acadian Settler arrived in 1768 with his wife Marie-Joseph and young daughter Isobel.

Projects will be selected according to priorities, following the termination of the unfinished business of 1976, re the two historical sites mentioned above.

4-H'ers Receive Awards

The five Royal Bank of Canada branches in Digby County made presentations of engraved silver water pitchers to five outstanding 4-H members in Digby, on November 25, 1976.

The presentations were made at the Agricultural Office in Weymouth headed by the Weymouth Branch Manager, Mr. Fred Ross. In opening remarks to the group gathered for the evening, Mr. Ross said that he was happy that the banks had been asked to make this presentation to the young people. He felt he spoke for all the managers, that the Bank always liked to support a youth program like 4-H.

Presentations were made to the top 4-H member in each project on that member's total year's work. A member from each project, such as woodworking, light horse, and crafts was chosen and this 4-H member was outstanding from all other members in the project from the whole County.

Presentations were as follows:

(1) Jeannine Comeau, Top Homemaking member from the St. Bernard 4-H Club. The silver pitcher was presented by Hubert Comeau, accountant, on behalf of the Meteghan Branch of the Royal Bank of Canada.

(2) Gaston Comeau, Top Craft member from the Les 4-H Acadians, Meteghan Centre 4-H Club. The presentation was made by Roy Surette, Manager of the Church Point Branch.

(3) Conrad Doucet, Top Woodworking member from St. Bernard 4-H Club. Fred Ross, Weymouth Branch Manager made the presentations.

(4) Michael Wright, Top Foods member from the 4-H Dudes, Brighton, received a silver water pitcher donated by the Digby Branch of the Royal Bank of Canada. Mr. George Purvis from the District Office, Royal Bank of Canada, Halifax, made the presentation on behalf of the manager Mr. Jim Gillis, who was unable to attend.

(5) Stanley Wiles, Top

Light Horse member from the Bear River Trail Blazers 4-H Club. The presentation was made by Mr. George Purvis, Royal Bank Halifax, on behalf of the Bear River Branch manager, Mr. Bill Cox, who was unable to attend.

Ms. Glenda Doucet, President, thanked Mr. Ross and the Royal Bank of Canada for their kind and generous donation of such beautiful awards for Digby County 4-H'ers.

Bruce Gilliatt, Digby County Agricultural Representative, said that he was happy and very much pleased that Fred Ross and the Royal Bank of Canada had seen fit to support the 4-

H program. He felt the 4-H program was one of the best youth programs we have today. The Royal Bank had indicated that this would be an annual presentation event and the support the Bank was giving Digby County agriculture was really appreciated by every organization in the County.

Three Steps To Safe Enjoyment Of A Natural Tree

- Don't purchase a tree that has dried out. Test twigs and needles to see if they are not brittle.

- Store tree outdoors until used. If stored indoors, re-cut butt and keep immersed in water.

- When tree is erected, re-cut butt diagonally. Stand tree in water and maintain water supply.

Never decorate a tree with candles.

Use of fire-retardant chemical spray on your tree is no substitute for butt immersion, and is not recommended.

Do not allow the tree to block access to doors or windows in the event of fire.

Some plastic trees are flammable, other artificial trees are fireproof.

Set up tree away from drapes and from heat sources such as fireplaces, TV sets or radiators.

Use only CSA Certified lighting sets and only non-flammable decorations.

Remove tree from the house as soon as possible after the Christmas celebrations.

Switch off tree lights at bedtime or when leaving the house.

Declare the tree a no-smoking area and keep matches out of the hands of children.

Do not allow cotton batten, discarded gift wrappings, or other combustible material under the tree.

Don't use electric toys outside the home where they might come in contact with wet or damp grass, rain or snow.

Scallop Fishery

Licensing Policy

The "limited entry" licensing policy for the Nova Scotia offshore scallop fleet and the Bay of Fundy scallop fishery was clarified today by Mr. H. Douglas Johnston, Director General of Fisheries Management, Maritimes Region, Department of Fisheries and the Environment.

In reviewing the policy, Mr. Johnston noted:

"It is unfortunate that the number of participants in any fishery must be limited; however, in order to assure the future of our fishery

The Annual Christmas sale and tea will be held in the Bear River Centre on Saturday December 11. A wide variety of Craft goods and Christmas Ceramics will be available and tea served for busy shoppers. The Centre will be open from 2 p.m.

The Christmas Party, linked with a special musical evening, featuring the Centre Choral group will take place on Monday evening, the 20th of December. All members and friends of the Centre are invited. The members send their Christmas greetings to all, thankful for a happy year of fellowship in the many activities that make up their programme.

resources, every effort must be made to strike a reasonable balance between the number of vessels participating in a fishery and the fish stocks available for that fishery."

Controls on fishing effort (the number of vessels in the fishery) exist in all the important fisheries off Canada's East Coast. In the scallop fishery the number of licensed vessels is restricted in two areas: 1) the offshore fishery which involves large vessels operating on George's and Brown's Banks and 2) the Bay of Fundy fishery which consists of smaller vessels operating in the Bay of Fundy, its approaches, and on Brown's Bank.

Participation in the offshore scallop fishery is limited to the number of vessels which were licensed in the fishery in 1973. Only these vessels or replacements for these vessels may take part in the offshore fishery. The transfer of licenses and the replacement of vessels within this fishery are subject to certain restrictions, and information on these restrictions is available at any office of the Fisheries and Marine Service of the Department of Fisheries and the Environment.

With respect to the Bay of Fundy scallop fishery, participation is restricted to those vessels which were licensed in the fishery in September 1972, or replacements for these vessels. This fishery is made up of the fleet which fish the scallop stocks located off the Nova Scotia Coast of the Bay of Fundy, off South West Nova Scotia and on Brown's Bank. Again, there are certain restrictions on the replacement of vessels as well as the transfer of licenses between vessels.

These include: (a) a limitation on the overall length of replacement vessels; (b) a restriction on the splitting of licenses where a vessel holds more than one license in limited entry fisheries.

The small inshore vessels fishing on the New Brunswick side of the Bay of Fundy are licensed to fish only on that side of the Bay. These licenses are not transferrable to vessels wishing to fish off Nova Scotia.

Mr. Johnston advised all persons contemplating the transfer of licenses or the replacement of vessels within the scallop fishery to visit the local fishery officer to obtain more detailed information concerning any restrictions which might apply.

Mr. Johnston indicated that two Committees, the Offshore Scallop Advisory Committee and the Bay of Fundy Scallop Advisory Committee, had recently been formed. These Committees, which are comprised of fishermen, vessel operators, processors and provincial and federal government representatives, will review and submit recommendations concerning management policy for these fisheries.

Digby Slaughters Lawrencetown 104-9

Lawrencetown, last years league and congress champions, ran into a finely tuned team on Saturday in Valley Junior Girls League play. Lawrencetown who has won Congress the last 6 years in a row seemed to be unprepared for the powerful scoring team from Digby. Digby hit early and fast in the first quarter as Judy Kenley led the attack with 10 points. At the end of the quarter the Digby Dragons had built up a 26-0 lead. Erin Gardner led the second quarter attack as Digby increased their lead to 42-3. Digby did not let up in the third quarter as Kim Roy hit for 20 points to lead a 38 point Digby attack. The fourth quarter saw Janet Wilson lead the attack with 8 points as Lawrencetown seemed confused and disorganized by the speed and aggressiveness of the Digby team. "Shell-shocked" was the term the Lawrencetown coach used.

Top scorers for Digby were Kim Roy with 28, Judy Kenley with 16, and Darlene Haight with 14. Top assists were Pam Griffiths with 10, Cheryl Trask and Judy Kenley with 9. Top rebounders were Darlene Haight with 13, Erin Gardner and Judy Kenley with 9 each. Top defensive player was shared between Cheryl Trask and Erin Gardner.

HOW THE GRINCH STOLE CHRISTMAS

Thursday, December 16 7:30 p.m.

The Grinch Is Back!

The Grinch is back. That small-minded, miserly creature that out-Scooges even Scrooge has returned as determined as ever to rid the year of Christmas in the animated holiday special that springs to life from the fabled world of Dr. Seuss. It's "How The Grinch Stole Christmas", colourcasting on the ATV Television Network. Some attribute the Grinch's meanness to tight shoes and others claim his heart is two sizes too small but whatever the reason, the nasty, green, beastly, Grinch has plans to erase the holiday from the tiny hamlet of Whoville. On Christmas Eve, aided by his trusty dog Max, the Grinch steals everything - the toys, presents, trees and even the decorations - from the happy Whos. He and Max then retire to their mountain hideaway to await their anguished cries of the Whos but the results of his diabolical scheme prove very surprising. The saga of this crotchety Seussian creature is narrated by the late Boris Karloff, who is also heard as the voice of the Grinch and other principal characters.

The High Way To Die

Thursday, December 16 10:30 p.m.

Combinations of alcohol and drugs, whether tranquilizers, antihistamines or marijuana, have long been suspected by medical science to cause impairment to the driving skills of motorists. CTV's award-winning Producer

Jack McGaw and his research team, backed by the assistance of the National Research Council, the Addiction Research Foundation and Nucro-Technics Ltd., a chemical research lab, have recorded and documented the frightening facts of the serious co-relationships of these substances in "The High Way To Die", retelecasting Thursday, December 16, 10:30 pm on the ATV Television Network.

Eight volunteers, two female and six male university students, were chosen from the Ottawa area to act as guinea pigs in the experiment. During five days of testing and filming, each volunteer had one dry run through an experimental eight mile course with speeds up to 60 MPH and subsequently drove the same course under the influence of one or more of the drugs or a placebo.

"The data on drugs and alcohol is already there," said Producer McGaw, "but we didn't know what certain combinations would do."

Holiday Fare

Entertain sometime this holiday season with a buffet featuring Seafood in a beautiful chafing dish. Lift the lid of the dish and delight in the aroma of delicious lobster, rosy shrimp, crab meat and delicate mushrooms floating in a savory sauce heightened in flavor with seasoned salt and nutmeg. Seasoned salt has become a staple in our spice cupboard. It adds so much intriguing flavor to casseroles, stews, soups, sauces, meats, poultry and fish. It is a blend of salt and as many as seventeen spices and herbs. Use it as you would regular salt in hot entrees.

A harmonious complement to any seafood dish is our Herbed Rice. It may be baked in the oven or cooked on top of the range. It is spiked with Oregano, the herb that adds the continental touch to Italian dishes. Marjoram may be substituted for Oregano.

Refreshing relishes of crisp carrot curls, radish roses, cherry tomatoes and strips of celery complete this appetizing buffet picture.

Seafood for the Chafing Dish (6 servings)

Double or triple this recipe as desired.

- 2 cups medium cream sauce
- 1 teaspoon seasoned salt
- 1 tablespoon instant chopped onion
- 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1/4 cup dry sherry
- 1/4 cup pimiento strips
- 1/2 lb. button mushrooms

OR

- 10 oz. can mushrooms
- 2 tablespoons margarine
- 1 can (4 1/2 oz. to 6 1/4 oz.) shrimp
- 1 can (5 oz. to 6 oz.) crab meat
- 1 can (5 oz.) lobster
- Green onion tops

Make sauce in medium size saucepan using seasoned salt instead of ordinary salt. Add next 5 ingredients. Sauté mushroom caps gently in margarine for 5 minutes. Add to sauce along with seafood — be sure there are no pieces of shell in crab meat. Transfer to chafing dish or serving casserole and sprinkle with green onion tops. Heat to bubbling and ladle over Herbed Rice to serve.

Herbed Rice

(6 servings)

- 1 1/2 cups chicken bouillon (use bouillon cubes)
- 2 cups packaged pre-cooked rice
- 1 teaspoon instant chopped onion
- 1 teaspoon celery seed or flakes
- 1 teaspoon parsley flakes
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon oregano or marjoram
- 1 tablespoon margarine

Measure broth and add water to make 2 cups. Combine all ingredients in a shallow quart casserole. Cover. Bake in a moderate oven of 350 F. until all liquid is absorbed — about 20 minutes. Use to accompany creamed dishes such as our Seafood for the Chafing Dish.

How to cut the high cost of garbage

the garbage book

HOW TO SAVE ENERGY AND MONEY BY THROWING OUT LESS

Each one of us discards an average of 4 pounds of garbage a day — 1,500 pounds a year. That's energy we're throwing away! By avoiding unnecessary products, and reusing and recycling the rest of them, we can save a tremendous amount of energy for Canada. And money for ourselves.

The Garbage Book shows you how to reduce your garbage. It's new and free. Separate chapters deal with packaging, consumer products, food waste, yard waste, composting and setting up a recycling program in your community.

Metropolitan Life Warns Against False Sense Of Security

Although the development of effective vaccines has reduced the occurrence of diseases as diphtheria, pertussis, tetanus, and polio to a fraction of their former magnitude, the levels of immunization have declined to a point where possible outbreaks of these diseases once again pose a threat to Canada's health, says Metropolitan Life.

To help prevent such outbreaks, Metropolitan's Health and Welfare Division announced it is offering to the public a 12 page booklet on immunization, free of charge. It explains the importance of early immunizations and give a suggested schedule. A comprehensive chart details information on the communicable diseases of childhood. Space for keeping children's immunization records is included.

Although protection against diphtheria, tetanus, and pertussis is recommended during the first year of life, it is estimated only three quarters of the children in the 1-4 age group have been immunized. The level of protection against polio has been decreasing for the past 10 years. It is estimated that only about two-thirds of the children under age 15 are protected against polio. One of the main benefits of a high level of immunization is known as "herd immunity," which means that children who have not been immunized are protected against catching a disease because nearly everyone around them has been vaccinated. When the level of immunization declines to any great extent, herd immunity loses its effectiveness.

Diphtheria occurs predominantly among unimmunized children under 15 years of age but is often found among adults in population groups whose immunization was neglected. Diphtheria incidence decreased from 421 cases in 1950 to 51 cases in 1965. From 1965 to 1974, incidence rates fluctuated, but, by 1974, diphtheria incidence was rising once again, with 173 reported cases in that year. There has been an increase in the proportion of diphtheria cases among adults. In 1960, 60 per cent of the cases occurred among children under 15 years of age, and 21 per cent were among adults 25 years of age and over. In 1974 about 58 per cent of the reported diphtheria cases were in the under 15 age group, while 29 per cent were in the older group. This increase among adults was due presumably to a rise in the number of susceptible people at these ages who came in contact with children harboring the diphtheria bacillus. Mortality from diphtheria reached its lowest point in 1974, with five deaths, a decline from the 52 deaths recorded in 1950. The decline in mortality has been due to prevention through immunization, as well as to the antitoxin and antibiotics used in treatment and for protection after exposure.

In 1974, 1,579 cases of pertussis (whooping cough), which resulted in 2 deaths, were reported in Canada. This represented a tremendous drop from the 12,182 cases and 306 deaths in 1950. The incidence of whooping cough is highest under 7 years of age and can be a serious medical problem.

Tetanus occurs worldwide and affects all ages. The tetanus bacillus can be introduced into the body during injury, usually in a wound that punctures the skin and is contaminated with soil, street dust, or animal feces (particularly of horses). As a preventive measure, babies are given a series of injections—usually in a triple DTP vaccine that immunizes against diphtheria, tetanus, and pertussis simultaneously. Booster shots are usually given before a child's entry into school or in the event of contaminated injury.

Poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) is an acute viral disease that is spread by contact with infected people. The severity of the illness may range from slight infection to paralytic disease. The fatality rate for paralytic cases varies from 2 to 10 per cent in epidemics and increases markedly with age. Although polio can attack persons of any age, children and adolescents are its chief victims. The disease, which struck thousands of children in the 1950's and left many of them permanently paralyzed, is now completely preventable with vaccine.

In the early fifties, polio cases in Canada averaged 3,870 cases a year, with the incidence reaching a high of 8,734 in 1953. After the introduction of the Salk vaccine in 1955 and of the Sabin vaccine in 1962, the incidence of polio declined sharply. Since 1965, there have been fewer than 10 polio cases a year; in 1974 the

It's Shocking!

It's the sudden shocks that can kill us - like crashing through ice into freezing waters. Surprise, fright, panic - they all cause a momentary feeling of shock. But the real shock is the sudden rise in blood pressure that can cause heart failure or ruptured blood vessels. The Red Cross Water Safety Service warns you that thin ice is a thin line between life and death.

When venturing out on ice-covered waters, there are five things to remember:

1. Check for danger
2. Be prepared for danger
3. Know how to save yourself
4. Know how to rescue others
5. Don't go out alone!

Check the weather. Temperature changes, rain and sun all affect the solidity of ice. Check the ice colour. Dark, discoloured or cloudy ice or bubbles under the surface spell trouble. Check the ice itself. Even cut a hole through and test its depth. If it's four inches thick (10 cm), you can risk skating, but six inches dropped to three cases. Mortality from polio has also shown a marked reduction - from 494 deaths in 1953 to one in 1974. In the 1952 and 1953 peak years, polio claimed 805 lives.

According to Metropolitan's statisticians, the years of success with vaccines and the comparatively low incidence of these diseases have given parents a false sense of security. Many young parents have no direct knowledge of the potentially serious complications of the infectious diseases of childhood and do not realize the importance of immunization. The booklet, Memo to Parents About Immunization, is available at the insurer's local offices, or by writing to the Health and Welfare Division, Metropolitan Life, 99 Bank Street, Ottawa, Ontario, K1P 5A3.

inches (15 cm.) is better. For snowmobiling, a minimum of eight inches (20 cm.) is necessary, for snowmobiles are land vehicles. For cross-country skiers, the long way round is safer.

Be prepared. Carry a stick or pole or sturdy tree branch or make sure one is handy. And never go out on the ice alone. Walk at least 10 yards apart on ice that you are not familiar with.

If you land in cold water, try not to panic. Turn in the direction of the shore. Grasp the ice ahead of you and kick your legs out behind you so your body is horizontal, then slide or roll forward onto the ice. Don't stand, until the ice is thick enough to bear your whole weight.

If someone else falls through the ice, shout continuously and loudly that help is on the way. Tell him to grab for an ice edge and kick his feet while you offer assistance. Lie flat on the ice and extend a long pole, a tree branch, or even a hockey stick ahead of you. Crawl forward till he grabs the other end of the stick, then crawl backwards, pulling him and the stick with you. Do not stand until you are safe. If you must leave shore to reach a victim, tie a rope around your waist and have someone on shore hold it, or anchor it to a rock or tree.

After ice immersion, get warm and dry immediately. If you're not sure the ice is safe, keep off. The Red Cross Water Safety Service reminds you that thin ice is the thin line between life and death.

Many Hear Missionary Dr. Ben Gullison

About fourteen Baptist Women's Missionary Societies from the Digby area accepted invitations from the Eleanor Timpany W.M.S., Digby to attend their Crusade meeting on Thursday evening and hear Dr. Ben Gullison tell of his work in India and particularly of the organization "Operation Eyesight Universal" which was founded in India during his mission service there.

Operation Eyesight Universal has grown to serve in other areas besides in India, such as Germany, Pakistan, Nepal, Bangladesh and in areas where there are destitute people in need of having their eyesight restored such as in the Third World countries. There is no regard for race, color or class in the work of Operation Eyesight Universal when the needy one is found, Dr. Gullison advised.

Dr. Gullison traced the growth of the Eyesight Universal which got its beginning at a Baptist hospital in India where patients came from 700 miles and where 10 different languages were used and Operation Eyesight Universal is registered in Ottawa as a charitable fund and such organizations as Lions whose priority project is eyeglasses have been generous to Dr. Gullison's cause. Ten dollars, he said, and the Grace of God can restore the eyesight of a person in India who has lost his sight by cataracts. This, he noted, too, was not in India an older persons disease but also a condition which attacks children and young people.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sinclair, Argyle Head, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bunker.

Dr. Gullison is a native Nova Scotian though he had been out of Canada for more than 50 years. Mrs. Gullison is New Brunswick born. Dr. Gullison showed slides on Thursday evening which took the audience to the mission field and work of his parents who had also been missionaries in India. The slides covered Dr. Gullison's own work in various hospitals and Operation Eyesight Universal camps, their return visits to India which showed the progress of the eyesight work and other healings and acts of mercy. Dr. and Mrs. Gullison are now retired in Vancouver.

Dr. Gullison was introduced by Mrs. Alice Westcott, a long time friend of the Gullisons. Guests were welcomed by the president, Mrs. Kay Kenney, who thanked Dr. Gullison and who presided at the evening's meeting. A special welcome to societies and visitors was given by Mrs. Grace Vincent and roll was called by Mrs. Amelia Whalley.

Special music was rendered by Miss Jean Brittain and Rev. Murray Shaw in duets and by Mrs. Minnie Clayton and Robert Wilson in a duet. The devotional was led by Mrs. Judi Page and Mrs. Emma Shaw. Rev. Mr. Shaw pronounced the benediction and members and guests were invited to meet Dr. Gullison at a social hour in the hall.

XMAS TURKEY

Soon the time will be here to pick up your turkey for the festive season. When you are trying to decide how large a turkey you require, a general rule of thumb, is to allow 1/2 pound per person.

Turkey must be graded for sale in retail stores in most major cities in Canada, as well as for interprovincial and export trade. A different color tag designates each grade. Turkeys must also be marked as "young" or "mature". The latter requires longer, slower cooking, to ensure that the meat will be tender.

Turkey is graded on the following standards:

- 1) Conformation - presence of deformities that affect appearance or normal distribution of flesh; for example a crooked keel bone.
- 2) Flesh - distribution and amounts on the carcass.
- 3) Fat covering - distribution and amounts in specific areas.
- 4) Dressing - presence of defects such as discoloration, tears, pin feathers, bruises or other blemishes.

Grades that appear on the market are as follows:

Canada Grade Special (Purple Tag). Any poultry bearing this tag are near perfect specimens, the finest quality produced.

Canada Grade A (Red Tag). This quality is most commonly available on the retail market. Poultry in this category will be formed normally, well fattened and fleshed. It may have a slightly crooked keel bone, minor discolorations, and a few pin feathers and short tears in the skin.

Canada Grade B (Blue Tag). Formed normally but may have a slightly crooked keel bone. Not as well fleshed and fattened as Canada Grade A birds. A few short skin tears, minor discolorations and pin feathers that do not seriously detract from the appearance of the bird are allowed.

Canada Grade Utility (Blue Tag). Must at least qualify for Canada Grade B, but one or more parts of the bird may be missing.

Canada Grade C (Yellow Tag). Fairly well fleshed. May have large skin tears, pin feathers and prominent discolorations.

To thaw turkey quickly, thaw at room temperature in original unopened bag. Poke 3 or 4 small holes in the bottom of the bag. Allow approximately 1 hour per pound. When the bird is pliable, remove from the freezer bag and take giblets, neck out of cavities. Rinse with cold water and dry thoroughly. Cover and complete thawing in the refrigerator.

A slower method of thawing is to thaw in the refrigerator. Allow 5 hours per pound.

Turkey is perishable and should be used within 2 days once it has thawed out.

When stuffing a turkey, sprinkle neck and body cavity with salt. Pack the dressing in loosely to give a nice rounded appearance but allow room for the dressing to expand. If the dressing is packed too tightly, it will not cook evenly.

If you are cooking a turkey at a low temperature (200 degrees F - 250 degrees F) it should not be stuffed because the length of time required for heat to penetrate center of dressing with the resulting danger of possible off-flavors or food spoilage organisms developing.

For more information on turkey, write for the free booklet "Cooking Canada's Turkey", c/o Susan Horne, Research Station, Kentville, N.S.

TOWN GRANTS WIDOWS TAX EXEMPTIONS ON $4000

A resolution at Monday nights Town Council meeting in Digby exempted from taxes, pursuant to Section 112A of the Towns Act, in the amount of $4000 to every person assessed with respect to taxable property in town who is a widow or widower; sixty-five years of age or over or the head of a single parent family supporting a dependent. Exemption, it was explained is only to persons whose total income from all sources for the preceding year is less than $4000. A copy of the resolution was forwarded to the Municipal Affairs Department.

A motion made by Councillor Eileen Chipman, seconded by Councillor Foster Journeay to increase the discount on a ratepayers taxes from two percent to five percent for prompt payment was declared by the mayor to be illegal as it had previously been dealt with.

By regular motion Tideview Terrace was forgiven a $10,000 debt it owed the Town.

The Digby Elementary School capital budget for 1977 of $18,345 was approved by regular motion.

Councillor Guy VanTassell presented the accounts payable for the month of November amounting to $24,508. These were approved.

A note was made that the Town of Digby had not paid its grant of $660 to the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade. Approved for payment was made.

Kenneth Eavis, town

clerk, reported that an insurance survey had been made of all town trucks, buildings, schools etc. All are to be re-assessed and consideration given to the type of coverage needed.

In the report of the Social Service it was learned the cost to the town for November was $2017.95. Of this $1564.20 was for Homes for Special Care.

Fire Leaves Five Homeless

Five became homeless on Thursday evening when fire broke out at the apartment house on Warwick Street known back through the years and with note as the Myrtle House. Two apartments were gutted and one suffered water damage as the fire blazed in the cold windy night. There are ten apartments in the building.

The fire began at 6:50 p.m., starting in the annex by the use of a torch to thaw open pipes. Firemen continued to fight until 12 p.m. Damage to the building was estimated at $26,000. Fire Chief Vaughn VanTassell said that they ran into some problem with false walls and ceilings which detained their activity.

Those homeless were a woman and two children and two other adults. Tenants were able to move back in their apartments in the morning.

Mr. VanTassell was most appreciative of the neighbours, the Auxiliary and all who helped by serving coffee or other necessities for the victims and the firemen.

Six More Taxis To Operate In Digby

Providing they meet all the requirements six more taxis will have licenses to operate in Digby. Digby Town Council on Monday evening approved the recommendation to that effect after Mrs. Eileen Chipman, license committee chairman, said she had complaints about the present taxis that they do not have a night telephone answering service; there is alleged variation in fares; no display of rates in the car; untidy operators and alleged instances of discourtesy. Two taxis appear to be driving in defiance of the by-law which requires a taxi at night to have a lighted taxi sign on the exterior of the car.

Carl Neimeyer, building inspector, reported three applications had been received in November. One was for new construction of $2,500 and the other alterations to the amount of $3,900. It was decided that applications for commercial building permits should be brought before Council as well as the inspector.

Permission to build a hot dog stand on King St. and Church St. Corner opposite the Digby Forum was not granted to Manfred Steimecke.

Traffic hazard featured in the decision and the Digby Regional High School nutritious cafeteria program was also considered in safeguarding health.

The police report given by Councillor Chipman showed that the dog catcher service has still not proved satisfactory.

Mrs. Chipman reported that the Garbage Collection Committee met on November 17 to discuss garbage disposal services with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Thomas of the Digby Salvage and Disposal Company.

The Company's proposal was presented and approved at a meeting of full council on November 18. The town will pay to the company an annual fee of $6,440, and for those who prefer to deliver their own garbage, the company has agreed to place a container inside the gate, for use during both open and closed hours. This will eliminate driving to various burning locations. For those who prefer household pickups, the rate will remain at forty cents per week, while commercial pickups will be negotiated with the customer. There is no charge to residents of the town who deliver their own garbage.

Digby Water Rates Take Hike

Having placed their request before the Board of Public Utilities early in the Fall of 1976, the Digby Water Commission has been granted approval to the proposed increase in rates and have notified the water users in this regard. The report of the Water Commission was presented at the regular town council meeting on Monday evening. For metered services the basic monthly rate for various size pipes run from $3.67 to $37.33. Consumption rates are for the first 5000 gallons a month the rate is 64 cents per 1000 gallons; for 995,000; for the next 995,000 gallons per month, 32 cents and for all additional consumption per month, 21 cents.

Twenty-seven thousand is to be paid to the Digby Water Commission each year by the Town of Digby for Public Fire Protection Services.

Unmetered services are $4.60 per month.

A report on the Town of Digby Electric Light service for 1976 was given with a comparative report from 1975. Total Revenue for the period 1976 was $428,168, total expenditures $412,559, balance $15,208. In 1975 the revenue was $316,191, expenditures $315,100 and a gain of $1,011. Total capital expenditures were estimated at $22,208.

Clare Senior Citizens Enjoy Social Events

Birthdays which fell during the month of November were celebrated at the activity centre of the Clare Senior Citizens Club, New Horizons on the last Tuesday of the month: left to right: Mrs. Mary Dugas and Mrs. Vitaline Dugas both of Grosses Coques; Mrs. Irene Comeau, Comeauville; John Surette, Lower Saulnierville; Adolphe d'Entremont, Meteghan River and Neil Saulnier of Meteghan. A supper was served by the kitchen committee of the Clare Senior Citizens Club, New Horizons, on November 30th, the last Tuesday of the month, when the famous Acadian dish, pate-a-lapure was served to 80 members and friends at the activity centre in Comeauville. Birthdays of those whose birthday fell during the month of November were celebrated with a special birthday cake on hand.

Those who celebrated birthdays were: Mrs. Mary Dugas and Mrs. Vitaline Dugas both of Grosses Coques; Mrs. Irene Comeau, Comeauville; Adolphe d'Entremont, Meteghan River; John Surette of Lower Saulnierville and Neil Saulnier of Meteghan.

A card party preceded the supper, the latter being served at 5 p.m. The card party commenced at 1 o'clock. Usually a supper is held on the last Tuesday of the month. The December supper will be cancelled because a Christmas supper for members will be held on Tuesday December 14th instead. Only card parties on Tuesday afternoons will be held during Christmas Eve and New Year's week.

Several ladies were busy making woolen poodles up until recently and fifteen were made and sold as fast as they could make them. The poodles in most cases were bought for Christmas presents. Due to Christmas being right around the corner, work on crafts has been eased off until after the New Year. A bed quilt is being quilted at the moment and will be completed sometime in January. The bingos will be cancelled for the winter months and is expected to be resumed on a larger scale in the spring. They were organized principally for entertainment purposes for those who do not play cards but due to uncertainty of the weather and with aged persons not liking to drive after dark, they have been cancelled.

A Christmas tree will be decorated for the Christmas supper of December 14th, with presents brought in by the members placed under the tree for distribution later in the day. The Christmas supper is free for members and is a "Thank you" by the club for all those who have helped the club in one or more ways during the past year.

The Town of Digby will establish four new crosswalks on Warwick Street. This decision was made at Monday nights meeting of the Town Council following the report on streets given by Deputy Mayor Philip Robertson. The locations will be at the corner of Warwick and King, the District of Clare; this will include tourism, transportation and the retaining of the good relationship with all levels of municipal, provincial and federal governments. One of the major activities which will face Mr. Smaale in his new job will be tourism.

Herb Smaale was born in London, Ontario in 1928 and enlisted in the R.C.A.F. in 1946. He eventually became a Colonel and a Base Commander of C.F. B. Council decided to dispense with parking meter fines from December 13 to December 25 as a gesture of good-will to shoppers. The suggestion was made by Councillor Chipman. Webster Dunn, in his report, revealed that 85 parking tickets were issued in November, 72 collected and two cancelled. Fines collected amounted to $639.73.

From the report of Sgt. T.E. Barlow, R.C.M.P., it was revealed that during the month of November there were 5 assault cases, 2 break and enters, both of a minor nature, 8 damage to property cases, 3 thefts under $200, 2 thefts of vehicles, 3 distur-

Vandalism Persists

Vandals were making their rounds in Digby over the weekend when Irving Service Station and across the street Gulf Service Station near highway number 101 and the Conway intersection were broken into. Fifty dollars was stolen at the Irving Station. At Gulf there was damage done, broken windows and small quantity of cigarettes and doughnuts taken.

In town the same weekend saw vandalism hit the Harbour Bakery when vandals entered by a small rear window and destroyed many products.

Visit Human Rights Office

Above is David States, commissioner of Human Rights for Western Nova Scotia division and the secretary, Miss Charlene Theriault. The territory takes in Digby, Windsor and Bridgewater. Though Human Rights Day on Thursday was not favored by weather, several called on Mr. States and Miss Theriault at the Digby office to learn more about the duties under the Human Rights Act. Coffee was served to the visitors.

The Human Rights Act is a statute of the Nova Scotia Legislature that prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, colour, creed, religion, ethnic or national origin. Responsible for the enforcement and administration of the Act is what is known as the Commission. It is here where the duties of Mr. States lie and anyone feeling discriminated against should contact the Commission office.

Complaints might be in the area of employment, housing or accommodation.

Mr. States, in explaining his duties said that the complaint is investigated and he will attempt to conciliate the dispute and to arrive at an amicable settlement to satisfy all parties. However, if this is not possible the dispute is taken further to a Board of Inquiry on hearing. The Act provides for prosecution of those who violate its provisions or for failure to comply with an Order made pursuant to the Act.

Mr. States, who has been in Digby since August 1976 has been busy with Human Rights education for the people, especially through the high schools. They investigate informal complaints and do their best to solve issues. In no case do they send people away without endeavouring to do something to help. They cannot, however, give out funds. They keep in contact with their clients. "Services at Digby become more in demand all the time which probably proves that people are becoming more aware of the services," said Mr. States. Twenty years ago the United Nations signed the Bill of Rights but many were not aware of what Human Rights entailed.

David States is a Nova Scotian from the Newport area where he was born and educated in elementary grades. His higher education was at St. Mary's University where Sociology was his major in an Arts course. Following his university years he worked in Halifax, taught upgrading classes and was employed in recreation in his home community.

Editorials

As might be expected C. E. Edwards, our retired Digby-Annapolis school inspector, closed his last newsletter to the teachers with the following words:

"If a child lives with criticism, He learns to condemn.
If a child lives with hostility, He learns to fight.
If a child lives with ridicule, He learns to be shy.
If a child lives with shame, He learns to feel guilty.
If a child lives with tolerance, He learns to be patient.
If a child lives with encouragement, He learns confidence.

If a child lives with praise, He learns to appreciate.
If a child lives with fairness, He learns justice.
If a child lives with security, He learns to have faith.
If a child lives with approval, He learns to like himself.
If a child lives with acceptance and friendship, He learns to find love in the world."

These words contain a lot of wisdom and truth and can be directed to parents, teachers, leaders and adults in general. Since the newsletter is principally directed to teachers we particularly mention them in these lines. There was a day we think, when teachers might have been much more conscious of setting an example or living a life, the pattern from which a child could definitely aspire to things of high standards. True, we still do, or hope to, have teachers in schools who feel their own lives are important for the proper direction of children. There does seem, in reading the news, however, that there is a general let down of standards in all levels of society, including that what we so long considered the lofty teaching element.

Certainly the life of Mr. Edwards has been guided by the words of those two verses above. Many school children have lived worthwhile lives by living with praise in his presence, by living with fairness, by living in his security, by his encouragement and approval and by knowing there was a hand of friendship.

May C. E. Edwards have an enjoyable retirement and may the verses he selected above for his newsletter make its impression on those to whom they are directed.

Hodge Podge

A note from one news correspondent this week said "You know I still find writing for The Digby Courier as exciting as it was when I started." Could it mean that she realizes she is doing a worthwhile community service. The news of today continues to be valuable way into the future.

Most of us like to add our own personal note to our Christmas cards but sometimes it is impossible for the sake of time. However, the very fact that the card is sent proves that relatives and friends are being thought of.

Nothing like blowing our own horn but we do like our subscribers to know that we appreciate those nice compliments about The Digby Courier. For instance from New Hampshire "The day of arrival of the paper is one of the brightest of the week for me. Seems like a letter from home.

What's the price of hay. That's an idea to combat inflation. Heard the other day that with ox bile injections and swine flue inoculations, humans should soon be able to get along on hay.

One cannot help but feel depressed. Quoting from a highly respectable person "Ten years ago when we came here Digby was a nice quiet place in which to live".

To The Editor

Dear Editor:
We speak for more than just ourselves, I'm sure, when we say that most hearty congratulations and sincere thanks are due the Digby Fire Dept., for their performance of duties in containing the severe fire at the Old Myrtle House building southeast wing, within that wing, under most severe winter conditions, on Thursday night of this week. With minus -15 degrees C temperatures and a very strong N.W. wind sweeping the areas the water turning to ice practically on contact, made the situation most

The following is the text of the tribute paid to Clifford E. Edwards at a testimonial dinner, sponsored by his colleagues of the Inspection Services Division, held in the Lord Nelson Hotel, Halifax, on November 9, 1976.

Clifford Edwards was born in Arichat, Richmond County, where he completed his elementary and high school education.

Following graduation, Cliff wrote the Bank Examinations in anticipation of entering a career in the financial world. However, this was not to be. Instead of awaiting employment in the banking field, Cliff attended the summer session held at that time in the Truro Provincial Normal School, and received his Temporary C License. He then entered the teaching profession.

Cliff combined his teaching career and his academic and professional training and received his B.A. from Acadia University in 1939.

In 1945 he received his M.A. in French from McGill University.

Cliff also pursued post graduate studies in the field of Educational Administration at Columbia University, attending five summer sessions, beginning in 1949, and building up credits towards his Doctoral Degree. Final arrangements to complete his doctoral program, unfortunately, had to be cancelled because of serious illness in the family.

As one reviews his academic and professional training it becomes obvious that Cliff is a firm proponent of the concept that one never stops learning and that education is a continuous process. The record shows that he attended a total of twenty summer schools.

Cliff began his teaching career at Sandy Cove, Digby County, where he taught for two years. Then on to Round Hill, Annapolis County for three years; Principal at River Hebert, Cumberland County for two years; French teacher at Horton Academy for two years; Principal Bridgetown, two years; Principal, Shelburne Academy, three years; Principal, Middleton, three years.

In 1947 he joined the Department of Education as the first Regional Representative of the Adult Education Division, serving the area of Western Nova Scotia for five years.

It was with great reluctance that he left this position which he dearly loved and enjoyed, to join the Inspection Services Division in 1952 as Inspector of Schools for Annapolis County, with his jurisdiction increased to include bance complaints, 3 drug cases and 6 property damage accidents. There has been a rash of window breaking complaints in the north end of Water Street area. The incidents are occurring during the early morning hours and are still under investigation according to Sgt. Barlow.

During November one person was sentenced to a 30 day term in the Halifax Correctional Center and two were sentenced to a 30 day term in the Kings County Correctional Center.

Cst. Cogle who has been on town duties for the past 14 months has been transferred to the rural detachment, he has been replaced by Cst. D. Shiers.

Frank Robinson, superintendent of streets sewer and water gave a detailed report of all the work done in November and advised the town used 19,576,900 gallons of water in November. The assistant superintendent, went into the financial angle of streets sewer and water. Costs in November for streets were wages $3841, equipment $2,254, material $4344. Total $10,440. Sewer costs were $405 wages, $327 equipment. Total $732. The costs for water were wages $2,405, $1,446 and $970. Total $4,822. Grand total costs $15,995.

Council approved of drafting equipment valued $467 for drawing up plans for water and sewer systems.

The Council approved the purchase of a half-ton truck from the MacDonald Motor Company.

The cost of the Western Nova Scotia Regional Library was reported to be increased by 17.4 percent. Digby shares with other municipal units in these costs.

Vincent Snow was granted permission to address Council. He represented the Digby Board of Trade and expressed appreciation of the Board for the Town's membership and that the Town is represented at the meetings. He suggested that the town and Board might sponsor citizens meetings on the subject of town financing and how to pay for the sewer system.

Approval was given to the engaging of Glendon Wagner to replace Steve Gibson as a member of the town work crew.

Mrs. Joan E. Everett, Smith's Cove, and Mrs. Mary Sperlins were accepted for the office. Two office personnel are leaving.

Councillor Guy VanTassel reported 99 fire calls for the year. In November there were nine. Of these, five were in Digby and one each in Marshalltown, Conway, Mount Pleasant and Shore Road.

hazardous, especially on ladders. A six-hours-plus battle under these conditions more than proved the calibre and mettle of the five fire fighters we have here in Digby town, and this neighborhood is most grateful for its "blue-ribbon" performance that night."

Citation To Clifford E. Edwards

Digby County in 1960.

In summary, then, his career in the public education sector of our Province encompassed a period of forty-six years of continuous service — seventeen years as a teacher and administrator, and twenty-nine years with the Department of Education.

During his professional career, Cliff held many important offices and was associated with programs which resulted in major changes in the field of education.

For example, he was selected to visit the Kindersley District of Saskatchewan to make an on the spot examination of Continuous Progress which was operational in that Province at that time. He made a thorough study of the new development and reported his findings and observations at one of our Inspectors' Conferences upon his return. He followed this up by further reports and speaking engagements at various centres throughout our Province and that of Prince Edward Island.

Cliff was extremely active in the Home and School Movement both at the Provincial and National levels. He developed expertise in the Audio-Visual section, which won him national recognition. He was a member of the CEA — CBC Advisory Committee where he served out a nine year term as a specialist in Educational Television, using the schools in his Inspectorate as a laboratory for experimental work. Again, within the CEA he was a member of the National Film Board Advisory Council for another nine years term, specializing in Films and Film Strips for schools, again using his Inspectorate as a base for experimentation.

These offices and his recognized expertise and competence in these fields resulted in his being selected to represent Canada at the UNESCO International Conference held in Oslo in 1962, dealing with the topic of Television Teaching. An outgrowth of this experience led to his interest and involvement in Screen Education which again brought him national acclaim.

In 1968 Cliff again represented Canada at the UNESCO Conference in Vienna, held to consider Screen Education.

Cliff held a variety of offices in both the Provincial and National Federations of Home and School Associations, including that of Eastern Vice-President of the Canadian Federation. The Canadian Federation conferred Honorary Life Membership on Cliff in 1967.

He published a number of articles on various aspects of the Visual Arts.

In 1973 The Canadian Home and School Federation called Mr. Edwards back into service as Chairman of the Federation's Media Committee — a position he continues to hold.

Again in 1973 Cliff received the Edpress of America Award as a result of the article 'Media in Education—Essays in Picture and Sound', which appeared in the N.S.T.U. publication, Nova Scotia Teacher. This article was judged by the Educational Press of America to be the most outstanding contribution for the year 1972. Cliff received this DISTINGUISHED ACHIEVEMENT AWARD for "Excellence in Educational Journalism."

Cliff was a recipient of Nova Scotia's Bicentenary Medal (1958) "in appreciation of services rendered" and of Canada's Centennial Medal (1967) "in recognition of valuable services to the nation".

Another of Cliff's special interests lies in the area of Values Education, which he believes in deeply, and has spoken and written on the subject on various occasions.

During his career, Cliff has put forth a significant effort in promoting Bilingualism in Canada through the medium of our schools, being an advocate of the teaching of French on a voluntary basis, beginning with the Primary grades.

He is a member of the Board of Governors of St. Anne's University, Church Point, where undoubtedly he is making a valuable contribution as a result of his extensive background of experience in education.

Having adequately dealt with Cliff, the professional educator, and with due regard to the element of time, it is now appropriate to dwell briefly on Cliff, the man.

It goes without saying that a man brings more than his academic and professional competence to the job — more importantly he brings himself — his personality, his values and beliefs.

Cliff is an out-going individual, sensitive to the dignity of the human person.

He regarded his position in the field of educator as a serious challenge, ever striding to improve his professional competence and render a high quality of service at all times.

He always exhibited extreme loyalty to the Department, his superiors and his colleagues, was completely dedicated to his job, and cheerfully accepted the responsibilities and duties assigned to him.

Cliff had two major things going for him, first he was born a Cape Bretoner, and second, but of equal merit and significance, he was fortunate in the selection of a life partner, in the person of his charming wife, Marguerite. They have two children, both married, and three grandchildren.

There is no question of rating Cliff's career as a most successful one, and I am sure he would be the first to admit that such was made possible, in no small measure, by the support and encouragement he received from his wife.

It is not possible, and I assume not expected, that I should attempt to cover all aspects of Cliff's career. No doubt I have omitted things that should have been mentioned. However, I consider it a great honor to have been selected to speak these words of tribute to our retiring colleague, and even though they may prove to be inadequate, I can assure him they are sincere, and I trust they express, to a reasonable degree, the sentiments of those I represent.

Before closing, I am compelled to make mention of two things dear to Cliff's heart, first his garden, to which he attributes his youthful outlook and vigour, and second, somewhat unrealated, his strong feelings about the portrayal of violence on T.V. I am quite confident that upon retirement he will pursue both these items with his characteristic vigour and enthusiasm.

May I then, on behalf of those assembled, thank you Cliff for your forty-six years of dedicated service to public education in the Province of Nova Scotia, and for your cooperation and kindness to us, your colleagues.

May the years of retirement for you and your good wife be rewarding, pleasant, and long lasting.

George Lent, Dean

Christmas Melody

Let me sing a song of Christmas,
And what it ought to be,
It is giving, loving, sharing,
Not for just yourself and me.
But for others not so fortunate,
Who have little they can share,
Christmas is for helping others,
And we ought to care.

Let me sing a song for children,
Happy sleigh bells, silver bells,
All the presents and their wrappings,
All this joy the season tells.
Spicy cooking in the kitchen,
Fragrant smell of spruce and pine,
All these lovely things are Christmas,
They are yours and they are mine.

Let me sing a song of Christmas,
It's true meaning and it's worth,
Of the birthday of the Christ Child,
Who came here to live on earth.
Sing of angels, shepherds, wisemen,
Let all voices praise and sing,
For the special theme of Christmas,
Is the birthday of the King.

Christmas Is A Star

Christmas is a Star,
Shining in the blue heavens of the year,
Soft and silvery,
Warm and wonderful,
Bright and beautiful.

It reaches out lifting up the earth, in it's strong but gentle hand,
Raising it up, where man may find his Destiny.
With it's warm and pointed fingers it touches us with love and brotherhood.
It sprinkles stardust in the eyes of children
And joy in the hearts of all. There, it reveals a sacred meaning,
The beginning of a love, so great,
So enduring that it encompasses all the world.
It shines forever, lighting candles on the altars of time.
It's light never dims and never dies,
All man need do is seek it's reflection and he will find it in the heart,
That is as open and receptive as the Manger of Bethlehem.

IN MEMORIAM

PYNE - In loving memory of my dear brother George who passed away Dec. 18, 1958.
George you did a million little things,
That made me proud of you,
Your cheerful and loving personality
Made each day a pleasure to live through.
I cannot explain to others
The heartaches I held inside
And on some certain days
The tears I tried to hide.
I watched you suffer
Heard you sigh,
And all I could do
Was just stand by.
And when the sad end came,
I suffered too
Because George you didn't deserve
What you went through.
God saw you getting weary
So He took you home at rest,
God's garden must be beautiful,
For He only takes the best.
If tears could build a stairway,
And heartaches make a lane,
I'd walk a path to Heaven
To bring you back again.
Sadly missed and always remembered by BROTHERS HARRY, BEN, AND SISTER FAY. 19:1ip

Sammy

Seagull

To Clean

Environment

Sammy Seagull will be cleaning up the Province again this spring, with the help of the provincial Department of the Environment and the Women's Institutes of Nova Scotia, Environment Minister Vincent MacLean announced today.

"We at the department have been very pleased with the positive feedback on last year's campaign, particularly from students. Certainly, as a practical and lasting experience in environmental appreciation, it seems to have been very worthwhile." Mr. MacLean said.

Executive Secretary of the Women's Institutes, Mrs. Norma Mosher agreed with the Minister's statement, and suggested that organizers of the Clean-Up expect this year's campaign to be even more successful. "With the experience gained last year, our clean-up committee is able to plan much more effectively. We have also extended the clean-up period from last year's two days to a full week from April 30 through May 7.

Initial planning for the 1977 campaign has been started by the Women's Institute Committee and a co-ordinator from the Department of the Environment. Provincial organization will begin early in the new year, and support will again be solicited from other community and environmental organizations.

While local groups are being encouraged to participate in any way they choose, it is hoped that the concentration of effort will be on recreational areas not already serviced by municipal or provincial agencies.

Admiral Digby Horticultural Society

Conducts Annual Christmas Show

The annual Christmas Show of the Admiral Digby Horticultural Society was held on Wednesday evening, December 1st, at Trinity Parish Hall, Digby, which was attractively decorated for the occasion. In addition to this, the many entries in the eight categories contributed greatly toward the festive appearance.

In the absence of the President, Donald White, Miss Mary Marshall, 1st Vice-President, welcomed the members and non-member guests. The Club was pleased to have six members from the Weymouth Garden Club in attendance, as well as several other non-members in all forty-three people enjoyed the show.

Thanks were expressed to Miss Marjory Tupper for her work as program co-ordinator, also to Trinity Church for the use of the Parish Hall, as well as to the Hospitality Committee.

Mention was made of the fact that the Club does not hold monthly meetings during the winter months, except for the Directors and Planning Committees. Therefore, the next regular meeting will be held the first week in March.

It was explained that the arrangements would be voted on by ballots being marked by members and guests for their choice in each category, after which a counting would be made to determine the winners. This was done by three members, Mrs. Margaret Robinson, Mrs. Peggy Wentzell and Miss Verna Hanf. Miss Marjorie LeBlanc then announced the results.

It was regretted that there could be no special section for Junior entries. However, one young school girl, Mary Matheson, did make two interesting arrangements, which were accepted as noncompetitive and were admired by the viewers. One represented a village scene, replete with small coloured lights, and the other was a large gold decorated star, for wall or door hanging, well made and attractive.

Another non-competitive area was the Shut-Ins table. These arrangements will be distributed to the Children's Home in the near future, including the donation of a lovely poinsettia plant.

An arrangement that attracted much attention from all members was entered by Mrs. Mildred Beckwith and won First Prize for Living Room. It was made up of Helleborus, or commonly known as "Christmas Rose", which has a very white beautiful blossom with contrastingly dark green leaves and stem, and must be a hardy plant to be blooming in this area at this time of year.

Another outstandingly beautiful Christmas arrangement was made by Mrs. Margaret Robinson and won 2nd prize for Mantel.

Following is a list of prize winners:

LIVING ROOM
1st Mildred Beckwith

The Christmas
Mosaic
In Canada

by Mary Jo Zucchero

Christmas is a delightfully predictable festival in Canada. Each year families gather together to eat the same food, follow the same rituals and experience the same joy as they ate, followed and experienced the previous year. But that does not mean the traditions of Christmas are without variety.

Canadians trace their heritage to every corner of the globe, and many of their celebrations at Christmas reflect the origins of their forefathers.

The Canadian frontier is revived in the festivities of the Metis, a people of French-Canadian and Indian heritage. Groups in northern Canada still make the buffalo the centre of their Christmas celebrations.

The evening of Dec. 24 kicks off a party that might last as long as two weeks. Sometimes there is a church ceremony, but always there is a large family gathering. Men take their guns into open fields and fire them to signal the beginning of the season.

Gifts are exchanged around the fire, and family members wear their finest clothes - including Metis sashes and moccasins.

The traditional feast is a reminder of Christmases past, and only the best will do. The most tender part of the buffalo is served, together with wild deer and moose meat. Berries, potatoes and wild rice complement the meat dishes.

When appetites are satisfied, singing, fiddling and dancing go on through the night, often taking the form of contests. Those who have enough energy, can go horse riding the following day-until the celebrations resume in the evening.

Christmas in French-Canadian homes is also based on the traditions of early settlers. Preparations begin weeks, or even months, in advance.

On Christmas Eve the mother puts the final touches on the meal, while the older children set up a nativity scene, or creche - usually under the tree. About 11 p.m. the younger children are awakened, and the family attends midnight mass together.

The reveillon or Christmas feast is set out about 2 a.m. It is a joyous family reunion, with numerous relatives sharing the fun and food. The reveillon must surpass all other special meals, and nothing is spared.

Delicacies include tourtières, or meat pies, turkey, vegetables, potatoes, and fruit cake or a Christmas log (a special cake) for dessert. Wines are poured freely for young and old.

After supper, gifts are exchanged and carols are sung around the tree. Party games and dancing often treats that are there for the eating.

The Christmas feast includes goose or duck, a roast pig, sauerkraut and potato dumplings. Desserts are sure to satisfy any sweet tooth - Black Forest cake, Christmas raisin loaf, and special cookies baked a month in advance. Each child is given a colorful plate of goodies to nibble during the day.

Estonian customs have also been transported to Canadian soil, and are shared with the immediate family.

Church services begin the celebration on Christmas Eve, and during this time Santa arranges gifts under the tree.

Feasting begins about 8 p.m. Blood sausage is served with pork roast, sauerkraut and various types of rye and other breads. The hearty farm fare includes root vegetables like beets and carrots, and dill pickles. Dessert is a dried fruit compote, and the traditional vodka is served throughout the meal.

The children's favorite time, however, is after dinner when a family member dresses up as Santa and distributes gifts. Each child recites an Estonian poem or sings a song, memorized painstakingly weeks before Christmas.

Dec. 25 is a quiet day, set aside for visiting friends and enjoying leftovers from the Christmas Eve feast.

Canada's Dutch immigrants spend the Yuletide season quietly. Gifts are exchanged about two weeks earlier on St. Nicholas Day, Dec. 6. This is a children's holiday, and they still hang their stockings "by the chimney with care."

St. Nick was a third century bishop known for his generosity. English colonists in New York eventually adapted his name to Santa Claus.

Christmas Day is spent with the family. In accordance with Canadian customs, turkey and vegetables are usually prepared for dinner.

Colorful Polish and Ukrainian customs have also found their way to Canada. On Dec. 6 St. Nick leaves each child a present under his pillow.

Polish festivities begin Christmas Eve when the first star appears in the sky. With that, the Christmas feast is under way.

A blessed host of unleavened bread is shared among family members, and good wishes are exchanged. The white tablecloth covers a layer of hay, reminding everyone of Jesus' birth in a manger.

Since no one should be alone at Christmas, an extra place is set at the table. Legend says that any weary traveller could stop by and feel welcome at once. A figure of the Christ child is somewhere on the table, sometimes in the centre-piece.

The dinner itself is a hearty one. Traditionally there were 12 courses, representing the 12 apostles. Borsch, a beet soup, begins the meatless supper. This is followed by jellied fish and "pierogi" - dumplings stuffed with potatoes and cheese or cabbage. Fancy cakes and sweets complete

Lodge Meets

An emergent meeting of "The Keith Lodge No. 16" was held on Sunday a.m. at 9:45 when the master informed the brethren that the Lodge was going to celebrate Saint John's Day as guests of the Bear River United Baptist Church.

Doug Hapeman, who spoke on the brotherhood of man, emphasizing where a brother should share with those who are in need of food, and compassion and help in any way possible to make the world a better place in which to live.

The service also took the form of a Christmas service with the singing of familiar carols.

After church the brethren returned to the Lodge Hall, where the Lodge closed in peace, love and harmony.

Rev. Mr. Hapeman's address was appreciated by the brethren, and gave them much food for thought.

Three Legged Rabbit Caught

Dead or alive, a malformed rabbit gets the sympathy of ten year olds. Above Miss Heather MacCullough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson MacCullough, Water St., Digby, holds a rabbit caught in her father's snares on Lighthouse Road. The poor little rabbit was obliged to make its way through life on three legs. The rabbit had not been hurt, it just never had the fourth leg. Only one leg in front bore the rabbit weight.

Cross Country Skiers

All persons in the town and district interested in the very popular sport of cross country skiing are invited to attend a meeting to be held at the Annapolis West Educational Centre on Thursday evening January 6th at 7:30 p.m. The purpose of the meeting is to see if there sufficient interest to form a club. The chief purpose of such a club would be to plan outings for the beginner and more experienced skiers along the numerous and excellent wood trails that the area is so fortunate to have. Cross country skiing has been a very popular sport in Europe for many years. The same enthusiasm is beginning to develop in Canada from coast to coast as clubs are being organized and new cross country trails are being developed. Scandinavians as well as other Europeans owe a good deal of their vitality and good health to cross country skiing and other winter sports. This is a sport for all ages so if you are interested attend this meeting and learn more about the fun in this sport and location of good trails from Messers Harold McCormick and M.G. Butler, two experienced skiers.

Digby Junior Girls Win Horton Invitational

The Digby Junior Girls Basketball team played in Horton on Saturday in Horton's Invitational Tournament. In the single elimination Mahone Bay defeated Horton A team 34-21 in the first game. The game placed Mahone Bay, one of the provinces more powerful teams, into the finals.

In the second game Digby defeated Horton B 53-5. The game was no contest as Digby played most of the game with its third string. Kim Roy led the team with 12 points. Kathy O'Neil and Susan McClary each had 6 assists. Top rebounders were Erin Gardner and Kathy O'Neil with 6 each. Outstanding defensive player was Susan Marshall.

The consolation game was won by Horton A over Horton B by a 35-21 score.

The championship game brought two of the more powerful teams in the Province together. The first quarter saw the bigger team from Mahone Bay dominate the game. They jumped to a 13-5 lead early in the 2nd quarter. Digby seemed confused by a defense that was similar to their own. Digby made several costly errors that caused baskets against them. Digby also, seemed to have trouble hitting as they missed several easy baskets.

In the second quarter Digby regained its composure as Darlene Haight and Susan McClary started to dominate the rebounds.

Both girls demonstrated for the second time this year their ability to hold Digby in the game. A few weeks earlier Digby ran into a first quarter outburst by Lockeport as they fell behind 12-0. But they came back mainly because of the steady rebounding of the above two girls. This game was similar as the two girls came into the game with the score 13-5 in favor of Mahone Bay. Darlene Haight scored 7 points to lead Digby back so that they led at the half 16-13.

The second half saw Digby dominate the game as their big scorers got untracked. Judy Kenley and Kim Roy both scored 10 points to lead a 36 Digby onslaught as the Dragons won easily by a 48-27 score.

Top scorer was Darlene Haight with 11. She was also top rebounder with 13. Judy Kenley led in assists with 6. Outstanding defensive player was Darlene Haight.

This new year-round program is designed to get needed work done by people not employed in the private sector.

Canada Works will accept applications from groups and organizations including private businesses who wish to develop, sponsor and administer worthwhile community projects. Funds will mainly be allocated to areas of high unemployment and projects will be tailored to special employment needs of your local community.

Think about your projects now! Early in the new year, your local Canada Manpower Centre will have application forms for the Canada Works "Guide to Applicants," with full details on the program. Canada Works for your community. Make your worthwhile projects work next year!

A second program is for students. Young Canada Works will create jobs for more than 20,000 students next summer. The emphasis will be on projects of solid community value. It has many of the same features as the year-round program, except projects will be limited to 14 weeks during the summer months.

At the same time, Young Canada Works will enable students to gain valuable work experience and test their career aspirations.

Like Canada Works, your Canada Manpower Centre will have application forms and a Young Canada Works "Guide to Applicants" early in the new year.

Do You Buy On Credit?

If you are buying on credit, the threat of repossession is a real one and consumers should be aware of their rights in such instances.

Repossession by creditors is usually a last resort as the resale value of articles repossessed usually covers only a small percentage of the total amount owing.

Whether you purchase goods on a conditional sales contract or borrow money secured by a chattel mortgage, contact a loans or credit manager as soon as you find difficulty in keeping up your obligations, says the Nova Scotia Department of Consumer Affairs. If the problem is a temporary one, you may be able to find a solution other than repossession to help you over the hurdle.

However, if repossession is the only alternative, the Department's Chief Executive Officer, Harry M. McIlroy suggests that you consider voluntary repossession thus avoiding possible legal action by the creditor. Any major defects on the item should be noted on the receipt for your protection.

Another possibility, says Mr. McIlroy, is to request that the registered lien be lifted on the item so that you can sell it privately. In this case, he suggests that the sale be completed at the office of the loans or credit manager and the total proceeds applied directly to the outstanding debt.

The important thing to keep in mind, Mr. McIlroy says, is that goods purchased on credit and money loaned are usually secured by conditional sales contracts and chattel mortgages respectively. This means that the buyer may not sell or dispose of the articles covered by these documents unless the lien holder is aware and authorizes them to be sold. If there is an unauthorized sale of these items, the seller may be liable to legal action.

When an item is repossessed on a registered conditional sales contract, Mr. McIlroy says, it must be retained by the creditor for twenty days during which time you have an opportunity to redeem it by paying the outstanding balance owed as well as the expenses involved in taking the item and storing it. If it is not based on optimum designs. Improvement of design is being undertaken in second stage work now in progress. Lower predicted costs for tidal energy are to be expected, and in fact are being realized.

"Work to date has concentrated on the simpler types of tidal plant, operated solely as energy producers," Premier Regan said. "Retiming of the output from such plant is to be considered in the near future. Until this aspect is evaluated one cannot draw conclusions as to the ability of tidal plants to compete with nuclear generation, or to supplement it. "However the past history and future prospects for fuel costs make it possible to view tidal plants as an attractive alternative to thermal generation, whether fuelled by coal or oil.

"The need to export any part of the energy from a tidal plant cannot be estimated until the possibilities of retiming the energy have been explored."

The sites recommended for further study are located in Shepody Bay, Cumberland Basin and Minas Basin. Consideration of all three sites in the second phase of the program would involve expenditures now estimated at about $9 millions. The work would consist principally of engineering design, foundation testing, and environmental investigations.

"Based on results to date we in Nova Scotia are encouraged, and anxious to press forward with this work as quickly as possible," Premier Regan said.

New Fish Outlet

Joe Casey of Casey Fisheries, Victoria Beach and Digby, has announced that a new kind of fish market is in the advanced planning stages.

The new outlet, which will occupy the former Datsun dealership at Granville, will specialize in the marketing of fresh fish and cooked ground and shell fish. The public will be able to purchase fresh lobster, clams, or ground fish, and all the necessary supplies to cook the "catch" in special bar-b-que pits that are to be erected on the site. A picnic site will be provided for the customers.

The market will also wholesale, semi-retail and retail the fish to the travelling public. Although the new market will encourage the tourist to stop and enjoy fresh Nova Scotia catch, the outlet will remain open year around.

As the necessary equipment is now being purchased, Mr. Casey expects the new market will open its doors in one to two months. A name for the outlet has not yet been chosen.

This latest Casey enterprise is expected to create three to four new full time positions.

not redeemed, it can be sold by the creditor.

If the price of the item is over thirty dollars and the creditor intends the debtor to pay the difference between the amount outstanding and whatever the item sells for, the goods cannot be sold until the debtor receives notice in writing of the sale, Mr. McIlroy says. This notice should contain a brief description of the item repossessed, and itemized statement of the account, demand for payment in full before a specified date, and a statement to the effect that the item will be sold by private sale or public auction, if payment is not received by that date. This notice should be delivered to the debtor in person or by registered mail, says Mr. McIlroy.

Tidal Power Prospects Encouraging

Premier Gerald A. Regan said today that prospects for developing Tidal Power are encouraging.

In a statement issued following a meeting of the Nova Scotia Tidal Power Corporation on Friday, the Premier said that a preliminary report on stage one studies, received by the Bay of Fundy Tidal Power Review Board, indicates that Tidal Power will be economically feasible under a range of circumstances. These relate to future escalation on fuel costs. A break-even between thermal and tidal generation is indicated at fuel escalation rates of less than two per cent per year.

The Stage 1 work was concerned mainly with site selection, and the costs were Tiresome Trouble!

"Every year tens of thousands of tires, costing consumers millions of dollars are junked and replaced long before they should have worn out."
So said Marsh W. Roth, veteran of thirty one years in the tire industry with B.F. Goodrich Canada Ltd., addressing the 8th Annual conference of the Canada Safety Council Traffic section in Ottawa.
Mr. Roth said much of the problem related to excessive wear stems from abuse during the tire's lifetime, and he offered 12 tips for longer (and of course, safer) tire life:
--Buy a good pressure gauge - incorrect pressure costs miles of tirewear.
--Check pressures when cold, not after driving, preferably every week.
--On a long trip, add about 4 pounds pressure, keeping within limits.
--If you bleed air out of tires when hot they will be under-inflated when they cool by about 4 to 8 pounds.
--If one tire takes more air than others, fill it up to correct pressure, but check again soon. Loss of air may be first indicator of a leak, bent rim, or cracked valve stem. Prompt repair could save the tire.
--When buying a new set of tires to replace old one, a few cents extra for new valve stems is a worthwhile investment.
--When checking pressures, check the spare, too.
--Rotate tires every 6,000 miles following manual instructions. Examine tires whilst off the vehicle.
--Make a habit of visual inspections. You can't spot trouble unless you look at tread, shoulders and sidewalls.
--Keep tires away from curbs, which can be murder on tires.
--Learn to recognize the "feel" of tires when driving - e.g. the pull during braking due to an incorrect pressure, or a thump-thump indicating a flat spot on the tire or high

Clementsport Legion
A regular meeting of Clementsport Branch No. 122, Royal Canadian Legion was held in the Legion Hall on Tuesday evening, 9 November, at 8:30 p.m. There were seventeen ordinary members and three Associate members present. During the silence the name of Com. Douglas Fox was remembered, he having passed on since last Legion met.
Three applications for Ordinary Membership and one Associate Membership were read and approved. Comrade Past President Walter Robar installed Associate Member Comrade Glenn Hall to Branch No. 122.
Dominion Command advised they were protesting the move by the Federal Government to move the D.V.A. to P.E.I. As it is now they have a very close association with this Department with regarding to Veterans Pensions, etc. and the move would widen the gap and put the Dominion Command in an isolated position.
The following slate of officers for Branch No. 122, for the year 1977 was brought in by the Chairman of the Nominating Committee, Com. Walter Robar. As there were no nominations from the floor the slate was accepted. President: Charles Long; 1st Vice: Mason Wamboldt; 2nd Vice: Walter Robar; Secretary: James Sanford; Treasurer: John Bateman; Sgt.-at Arms: Elmore Long. No one has been found to take the duties of Service Officer. It is hoped this position will be filled by next meeting.

Let Us Keep The Spirit Long
We come again to the holy season of Christmas. This most important day for Christianity comes to Canadians with the closing of a year-long national holiday. This Christmas we should know and share the true spirit of this holiday. Christ was born in Bethlehem centuries ago, to live a life of highest example and dedication, to die upon a cross at Calvary so that all mankind may seek eternal peace through the example of that "One Solitary Life." Christmas reminds us of the potential godness and greatness of mankind. In the spirit of Christmas are the ideals of the Master, and these ideals represent the master plan for a world that knows love, justice and freedom in full abundance.

Buy Now! Pay Later!
Don't get so caught up in the Christmas spirit that you end up paying for Christmas gifts next year.
Control the urge to splurge and spend your money wisely to get the most out of it, says the Nova Scotia Department of Consumer Affairs. You'll spend less in the long run if you manage your money carefully right from the start.
The Department's chief executive officer, Harry M. McIlroy, passes on 14 shopping tips to keep in mind while you're battling the holiday shopping crowds.
DO:
- Spend your dollars wisely.
- Decide what you want to buy and buy only what you can honestly afford.
- Buy from reliable, reputable merchants.
- Budget all year for Christmas spending.
- If you're buying on credit, ask yourself if the gift is worth the worry of paying for it later.
- Know exactly what the article is costing in dollars and cents, with all carrying charges included.
- Check store policy regarding refunds and exchanges before you buy.
- Keep all sales slips as proof of purchase in case an exchange becomes necessary.
DON'T:
- Sign a contract without reading it carefully first.
- Accept merchandise on approval. The receipt you sign may be a sales contract.
- Get caught up in the Christmas rush and buy in haste.
- Fall prey to the smooth-talking salesman with the wonderful product and easy payment plan.
- Be misled by "special" sale tickets, free gifts or other inducements.

W5: Children's Hospital

Sunday, December 19
10:00-11:00 pm EST

Award-Winning CTV Special
Through the eyes of a five-year-old heart patient, Terri-Anne Verbeke, CTV's "W5" presents the repeat telecast of the award-winning special "Children's Hospital", a one-hour report that documents the real-life dramatic events that occur every day in Toronto's Hospital for sick children.

An Emmy-award nominee, "Children's Hospital" is also the winner of the Bronze Medal, Best Educational TV Program at the International Film and Television Festival of New York.

"Children's Hospital", directed by Pat Corbett, examines the working relationships between medical technicians, specialists, staff and patients. The entire healing process is examined from the first contact in counselling through treatment, post-operative and home-care follow-up. The film crew also had full access to areas normally segregated from the press.

Terri-Anne Verbeke, diagnosed as having a hole in her heart - an atrial septal

The Legend Of The Christmas Messenger

Wednesday, Dec. 22 - 7:00 pm

Legend says that every Christmas the Angel, who appeared to the shepherds grazing their sheep near Bethlehem, returns to earth. He comes to listen to those carols echoing his ages-old message of the birth of the Christ-child.

Thus the scene is set for the repeat presentation of "The Legend of the Christmas Messenger" a defect - is followed through her treatment, including the open-heart surgery needed to allow her to live normally.

Part of the filming included several days in the emergency ward where a two-week-old battered baby is received and treated by dedicated nurses and doctors until the crisis point is passed.

half-hour special appealing to all the family, telecasting Wednesday, December 22, 7:00-7:30 pm EST on the ATV Television Network.

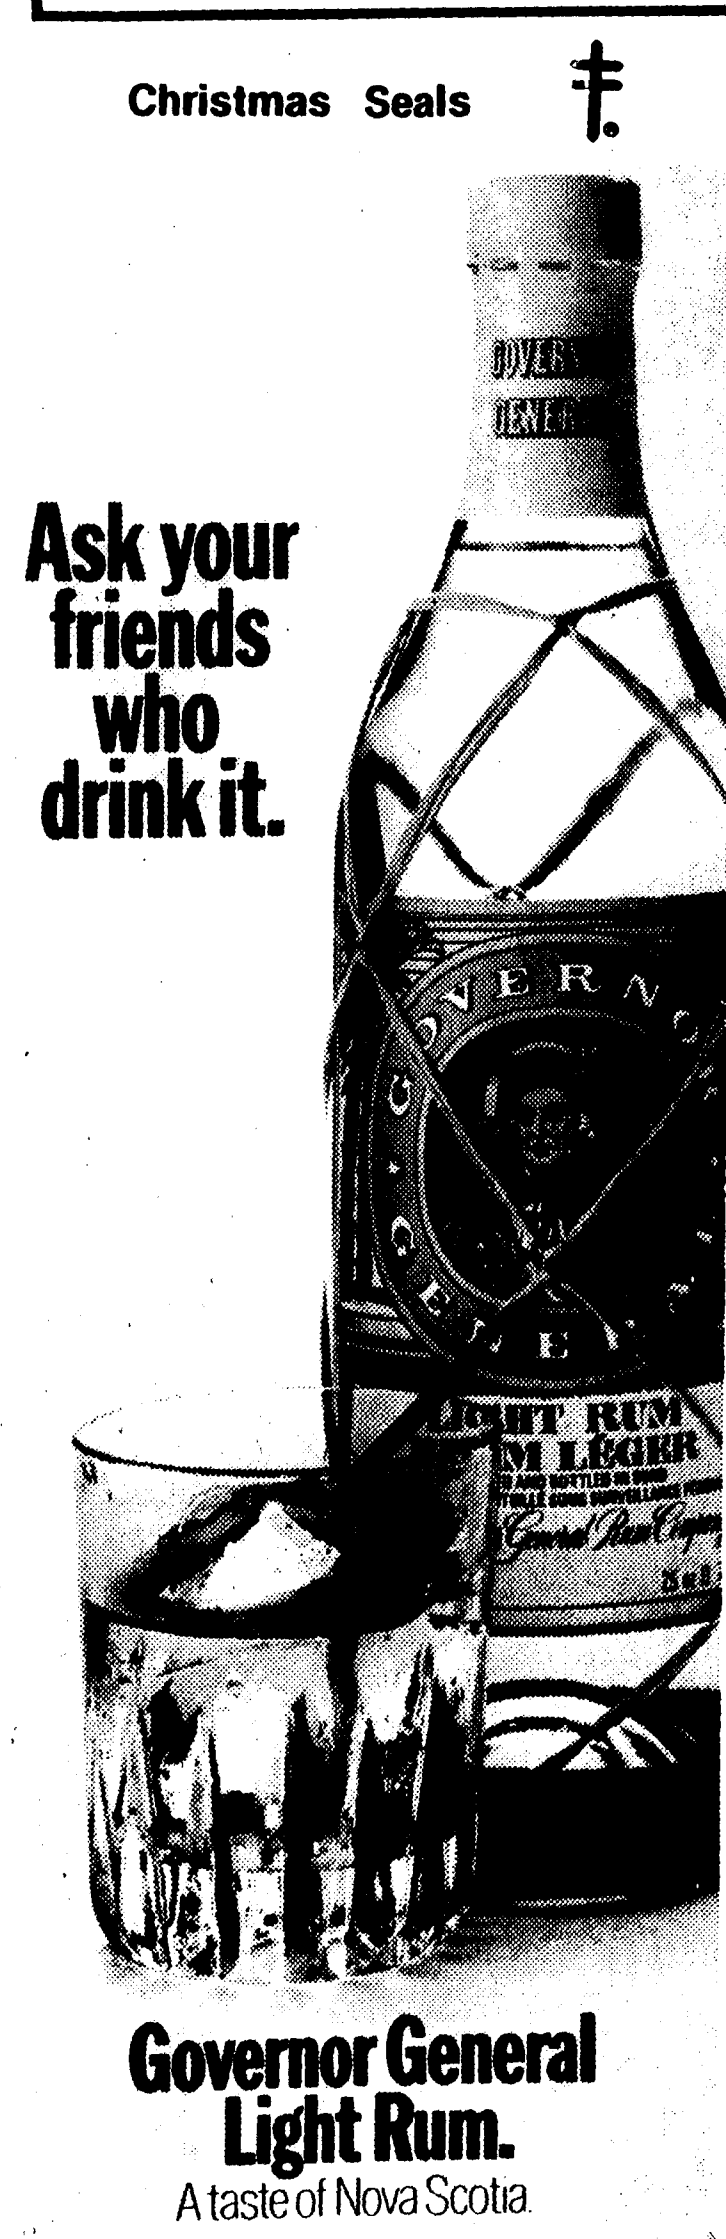

A young boy remembers the previous Christmas Eve when, unintentionally, he disturbs a stranger listening to the carol singers in the street. The stranger, it seemed, has been waiting for the boy and together they follow the singing children through the village.

During this evening, the carols took on far more meaning for the boy than they ever had before. When the time came to part he almost missed the stranger's true identity.

This special, which combines live action and animated sequences, includes five Yuletide carols.

Proper Preparation Needed

The quality of life for the aged, in institutions and in the community, could be improved if those who care for them are properly prepared to do so, says the Registered Nurses Association of Nova Scotia, in a Position Paper concerning Personnel Required to Meet the Needs of the Aged.

This position paper is part of a continuing program by the nursing association, to improve care for the aged in Nova Scotia. It was prepared by the Special Committee, appointed by the RNANS Executive, to study the needs of the aged. In 1974, the RNANS presented a Brief to Government on the Health Needs of the Aged, together with Standards of Nursing for Nursing Homes, which recommended legislation and machinery for implementing and enforcing mandatory standards of nursing care in nursing home, and the initiating of an insured Home Care program.

The present Position Paper observes that if aged persons have health problems which necessitate nursing care, whether in their own home, or in an institution, this care should be given by registered nurses or certified nursing assistants. While recognizing that there are many needs of the aged which can be met by homemakers and or personal care workers, the nursing association is concerned about the varying quality of courses to prepare this type of personnel and the proliferation of un-coordinated training programs.

The position paper states that the practice of permitting personal care workers to perform beyond their preparation is unsafe for the aged, and presents a legal hazard for both employer and employee.

As a result of these concerns, the Registered Nurses Association believes that there is a need for the appointment of an individual or a group to study the needs for homemaker services for the aged, and that there should be collaboration with existing services to develop a coordinated plan, organized on a regional basis, with regional directors.

A further recommendation is that the Associated Homes for Special Care establish a uniform program for preparing personal care workers, which would be conducted by registered nurses, only in those regional institutions approved by the Associated Homes, in accordance with carefully selected criteria. The position paper concludes with the observation that there is a need for designation of responsible persons at the regional level, who could seek out and refer those aged persons requiring nursing, personal care, and or homemaker services, as well as advocacy services, and such miscellaneous services as housecleaning, general maintenance, such as clearing snow, lawn mowing, etc.

Guidelines for Homemakers for the Aged and for Personal Care Workers, are included with the Position Paper.

Bible Class Christmas Party At Basinview

The members of the Interdenominational Bible Study Class met at Basinview apartments on Tuesday evening December 7th to hold a Christmas Party.

The wet windy weather outside did not dampen the spirits of the class members and guests who assembled for a time of Christmas Christian Fellowship in the attractively decorated lounge.

The colored lights and other decorations added much to the Christmas atmosphere of the evening which began with the singing of the traditional carols Joy to the World and Silent Night and included O Come All Ye Faithful.

The leader of the Interdenominational Bible Study Class, Mrs. Carman Frankland, read a portion of the Christmas Story taken from Luke Chapter II.

"O Holy Night," a duet number was beautifully rendered by Mrs. Doris Brown and Miss Joanne Frankland.

Mrs. Boyd Ellis gave two Christmas readings, the first was entitled "Gifts for Christmas". It named firm faith, courage, joy, love and peace and said all five gifts should have room under the Christmas tree.

Her 2nd reading was "Christmas Greetings". These two Christmas readings were followed by two others given by Mrs. Harry Adams. The first "Just a Symbol" told that the lighted candle in the window was a symbol of Christ who came to bless the earth while the second was an entirely different type of one called "My Christmas Cards".

By request and following in the steps of previous years, Mrs. Boyd Haynes gave one of her beautiful Christmas readings, entitled "Christmas all year Through", from memory. Without this reading which is a favorite of so many, this annual Christmas Christian Fellowship program would not have been complete.

Mrs. Eunice Pearson and Tommy, her well known puppet, told a Christmas Story.

Miss Elaine Handspiker delighted those present with one of her Black Light Chalk Drawings of the Hills of old Judea, and in keeping with the Christmas drawing, Mrs. Doris Brown rendered a solo number entitled, "King of Kings and Lord of Lords."

During the Devotional period the leader of the group Mrs. Frankland said, "Christmas of itself is a man made fantasy. It is you and I who put into the Christmas Story whatever of the power it possesses by virtue of the Spirit of God. Christmas is the celebration of that babe's birth but it is significant only as you and I live a life of love for God and man.

The group present was told that "Christmas was God's love and that at this season of the year love is shown by everyone". They were also told that "Christmas is music".

To close the appropriate and inspiring devotional message the leader said that if you know the Christ of Christmas you can have peace, joy and love abiding within.

Mrs. Doris Brown and Miss Joanne Frankland, sang a duet number entitled "My Redemption Draweth Nigh."

Previous to the closing prayer offered by Mrs. Leta Handspiker, Jeannie Brown, age 11 and Nancy, age 8, sang a duet. The Brown sisters are the youngest daughters of Mrs. Doris Brown.

During the evening Miss Joanne Frankland presided at the piano.

It is interesting to note that the Interdenominational Bible Study Class expects to celebrate its tenth Anniversary in the middle of September in the forth coming New Year, 1977.

It is of further interest to note that some of the members presently attending have been for over nine years studying God's word, together and enjoying the Christian fellowship of the Bible Study Class which is still composed of a number of its charter members.

To conclude this Annual Christmas Party the Class members served refreshments from the festive board.

Former North Range Woman Honored

(From Bridgeport Sunday Post)

Fifty years of steadfast service to the community went unrewarded until last Wednesday afternoon when assistant town clerk Lillian Wright Hendrick was finally recognized for her worth as an unsung and public spirited "heroine" and she was given a surprise reception in the council chambers of City Hall.

The reception was attended, not alone by her colleagues in City Hall but by the myriad of friends she made in her half a century of serving the public with a willingness that has not abated over the years.

ASA GIFT, in which many of her admirers each played a part, "Lil" was presented with a dainty gold wrist watch, which included several diamonds, a fitting reminder for her of the esteem with which she is regarded.

To give a real significance to the occasion, Mayor LeRoy Sullivan. Mrs. MacDonald who has spent the past week with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan, returned home with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Mullen spent a few days recently with their daughter and husband Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thompson in Fredericton.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ford and family (Jonathan and David) Martock spent the weekend at the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Ford. They were dinner guests Sunday at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Prime.

Messrs Arthur Prime and Gordon Gray of Pleasant Valley were callers Sunday afternoon at the home of the formers Grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Ford.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hurlburt of Pleasant Valley and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Searle of Windsor were visitors Sunday afternoon and evening of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Sullivan.

Mrs. Stillman Harding is spending an indefinite time with her daughter Mrs. Ivan Prime and Mr. Prime.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Saulnier and family of Kingston were visitors Sunday afternoon at the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Saulnier.

Mrs. Bernard Goudey was a visitor over the week end at the home of her son Robert and Gale Goudey in Halifax.

Mrs. Donald Mullen and sons Dwight, Dwayne and David were visitors Sunday evening of her parents Mr. and Mrs. William Steele, also callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Ford, Southville.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Ford were Sunday evening visitors at the home of their son Lindsay and Mrs. Ford, Southville.

Jennie F. Cave presented Mrs. Hendrick with an inscribed proclamation, embossed with the official seal of the city, which set Oct. 13 as "Lillian Wright Hendrick Day", the exact date she entered the city's employ as a clerk typist in the Town Clerk's office.

The proclamation in part, faithful to her character, stated, "thoughtful consideration for others is further borne out by her office trademark, her never empty candy dish." It was also written "through all these years 'Lil' has endeared herself to both her fellow workers and the general public by her gentle cooperation and consideration."

FORTY-FOUR YEARS AGO Mrs. Hendrick was elevated to the post of assistant town clerk, and to date has faithfully recorded the vital statistics and land records of residents with a care and concern as if they were her own.

By her exemplary conduct she has done her part to give the city a good name. This occurs when the average resident, who otherwise has no experience with City hall matters, visits the Office of the Town Clerk, to obtain a copy of a birth certificate, a marriage or dog license, a fishing license or to file a real estate deed. All receive the same amiable treatment from this gracious woman whose only aim is to please the public for whom she works.

Lawyers whose use Lil's hall of records, constantly are not characteristically a sentimental lot, but made plain last Wednesday their genuine respect and affection for the much loved assistant town clerk by attending in large numbers.

FIFTY YEARS SPENT in one job has not decreased her devotion to duty. Her admirers will be glad to learn Mrs. Hendrick has not thought of retiring, especially since she is holding down the office responsibilities while Town Clerk Mabel G. Ireland is recuperating from a long illness.

Generally, an employee is not honored until his or her retirement. Not so, in the case of Lil Hendrick. Her 50th anniversary as a city employee was an occasion for those who know her best to afford her the honors she so justly deserved.

All who know her will concur with the portion of the Mayor's proclamation which calls upon Lil's co-workers and numerous other area residents to wish her many more years of health and happiness in service to the community.

Mrs. Lillian Hendrick is a daughter of the late George and Bertha (Haight) Wright and is well known in North Range and surrounding areas. Her parents were originally from North Range and the family spent many summer vacations here. Mrs. Sherman Thurber is her only surviving aunt. Mrs. Florence Bacon of Barton is a cousin as are Mrs. Harold Spencer and Carl Wright. Mrs. Don McCallough of South Range and Scott Haight. For many summers she with Mr. Hendrick, spent her vacation with Mrs. Earl Haight and Mr. Haight of Hill Grove also with her uncle the late Fred Haight and other members of his family.

Crazy Glue Explodes

Eddy Hankinson, Weymouth, had a narrow escape from possible blindness last week when a tube of Crazy glue which he was working broke, and exploded in his face. Fortunately his glasses caught a good deal of the glue saving his eyes. He was sent to the Digby Hospital where he was treated. His eye glasses will have to be replaced.

SALT STILL PREVENTS SPOILING

Most serious people are concerned about the moral conditions of our society. I, for one, am very concerned that the lives of teenagers are threatened by the illicit marketing of drugs. I am concerned when I observe that many young people are using cigarettes. For it occurs to me that smoking tobacco can be a psychological stepping stone toward smoking marijuana and then, in turn, can lead to the use of still more harmful drugs. It appears that many fine attractive lives are being attacked and enslaved by one of these habit forming things which people of all ages so readily use. My question is "why?"

Why are adults, especially those who are parents, so casual about even attempting to deal with these problems? It is my personal belief, and I believe I share it with many other Christian folk, that we face a crisis today unequalled in the history of civilization. It has now become imperative, not optional, that our society experience a change for the better. If something is not done soon to give moral fibre to our society so that it can again stand for the dignity and worth of the individual and against everything that threatens that dignity and value, the end result will be devastating to say the least. This is not the statement of one alarmist. It is to point up an immense problem that faces us right where we are. It may be that the reason more is not said about it is that very few are convinced a remedy exists.

In the nineteenth century Bishop J. C. Ryle of Liverpool, England, looked back at the century that preceded him. He commented that a great change for the better had overcome England which no well informed person would ever attempt to deny. One may ask, but by what agency was this change effected? Bishop Ryle said "the government of the country can lay no credit for the change. Morality cannot be legislated into being. People were never yet made good by acts of parliament....nor yet did the change come from the Church of England, as a body. The leaders of that venerable communion were utterly unequal to their times....nor yet did the change come from the dissenters (fundamentalist groups in rebellion against the established Church) for they were content with their hardly won triumphs and seemed to rest on their oars and forget the vital principles of their forefathers". What then were the forces that turned away the tendency toward decay and revolution in the eighteenth century? The same commentator says it was a few men who believed the message of the Bible and desired to see men saved. It is reported that only 2½ percent of the population of England were converted by the Evangelical efforts of such men as Wesley, Whitfield and Newton, but during the 50 years of their ministry the face of England was changed as that handful became "THE SALT OF THE EARTH". The slave trade was dropped, four out of every five taverns were closed for lack of business, social reforms were instituted. Similar things could happen again. But we are looking for "salt". Jesus said of Christians "you are the salt of the Earth". That means they are people who prevent spoiling.

Travel Association To Be Formed

The first organizational meeting of the Travel Industry Association of Nova Scotia, attended by industry representatives of this area, has been instructed to bring in a constitution and by-laws for a planned January meeting which will see a slate of officers elected.

Meeting in Halifax were 13 organizations representing food and accommodation services, gasoline retailing, beverage room operations, gift shops, and regional tourist groups.

Co-chairmen during the early stages are Gordon Stewart of the Teazer Gift Shop at Mahone Bay, and Ralph Fiske, owner of the Fiske Group of motor hotels in Stellarton, Port Hastings, and Halifax. Mr. Fiske was recently elected Vice President of the Innkeepers Guild of Nova Scotia, one of the major groups supporting the new TIANS organization.

A spokesman for the new association said its objective will be to provide a unified voice for the visitor industry in Nova Scotia and to introduce self-improvement in areas where the industry's reputation seems to be faltering.

The 13 groups represented are the Campground Owners Association of Nova Scotia; the Nova Scotia division of the Canadian Restaurant Association; the Innkeepers Guild of Nova Scotia; the Retail Gasoline Dealers Association of Nova Scotia; the Tavern and Beverage Room Operators Association; The Cape Breton Tourist Association; The Eastern Shore Tourist Association; The Pictou County Tourist Association; The Tourist Council of Central Nova Scotia; The Annapolis Valley Affiliated Board of Trade; the South Shore Tourist Association;

The Yarmouth County Tourist Association; and The Halifax Visitors and Convention Bureau.

Mr. Fiske said more than 20,000 employees in Nova Scotia's third largest would be represented by the association.

The next meeting will be January 20th, 1977.

Candle Associated With Superstition

Candles, once man's source of light, today are purely decorative. Traditionally associated with religious worship, candles also have long been associated with superstitions.

Among them, for instance, the belief that a blue flame from a candle indicates there is a ghost in the house and that a spark emitted from the Candle means the person nearest the flame will soon receive an important letter.

New Book Of Maps For Nova Scotia

A new book of Maps of Nova Scotia, a valuable reference for the location of roads, new highways, lakes and streams, provincial campgrounds, landing strips and other information, has been produced by Nova Scotia Communications and Information Centre in co-operation with the Department of Lands and Forests and the Department of Mines and is now available from the Provincial Government Bookstore at $3.00 a copy.

The book divides the province into 45 different sectors with a 10 inch x 10½ inch map for each sector. Spot elevations are shown in metres. Each sector map is further broken down into 25 grids as an aid to pin-point locations and will provide a valuable service in the fighting of forest fires. A key to the map sections is provided.

The book replaces that originally published in 1954 by the Provincial Department of Mines.

The Nova Scotia Government Bookstore also has responsibility for sale of topographic maps of the province, formerly handled by the now closed Federal Government Bookstore. These individual maps are available in two sizes, according to the area mapped. The sizes are 22½ x 29 inches and 25½ x 36 inches. The smaller size can be provided with a protective lamination by the Bookstore, if required, at a small extra cost. In addition, the store will continue to handle geological and mineral maps of the Province.

Pioneer Girls
Stage Rock-A-Thon

(L-R): Laurie Gray, Linda Savary and Freda Gray, all of Conway; Karen Jackson, Cheryl Robbins, Smith's Cove; in back- Heather Abbott, Smith's Cove.

The Pioneer Girls of the Smith's Cove Baptist Church held a 12-hour Rock-A-Thon on Saturday, November 20, in the Vestry of the church. Twenty girls and their leaders, Mrs. Diane Brinton, Mrs. Marilyn Robinson and Mrs. Bessie Height arrived at 8:30 a.m. with chairs, eats and other paraphernalia for comfort and interest during the hours ahead. Short official breaks were allowed each hour for the contestants.

While rocking, some read, listened to transistor radios via ear plugs, sang choruses with ukelele strumming in the background, and one industrious girl continued her Christmas project of making pot holders.

Why all this rocking? To raise funds through pledges received from sponsors solicited by each girl, for the literature, craft work, awards and other materials used in the work carried out each week by the group.

Pioneer Girls is a non-denominational organization, Bible-oriented, to bring Christ into every phase of a girl's life.

Tax Exemption Provisions In A Nutshell

The Department of Municipal Affairs is reminding taxpayers of the March, 1976 amendments to the Assessment Act wherein provision was made to allow councils to grant tax exemptions on property owned by certain classes of persons. The exemptions are available to persons whose incomes are below a certain level. That income level is to be determined by the council of the city, town or municipality.

The new provision means that councils should set an amount of exemption from taxation by resolution. The resolution will set out three guidelines: the amount of the exemption, the classes of people eligible, and the income limit.

Under the old legislation, widows, deserted wives, unmarried women and persons 65 years of age or over who had incomes below $3,500, could be eligible for exemption from assessment upon a certain value of property. The new system replaces the assessment exemption with a tax exemption.

The new legislation provides that a city, town, or municipal council may, by resolution, grant an exemption from taxation on property owned by a person who is a widow or a widower. It could also apply to a person who is 65 years of age or over, or to a person who is the head of a single parent family supporting a dependent within the meaning of the Canada Income Tax Act.

Property owners who feel they qualify for the exemption should direct their enquiries to city, town or municipal clerks.

The new legislation offers councils the opportunity to tailor the special relief provisions to the needs of their particular municipality, instead of having uniform restrictions apply. The Department is pleased to note that many councils have already passed their tax exemption resolutions, and several have applied criteria well-suited to their particular circumstances.

Moods

Maybe I am prejudiced —
Maybe I am feeling sad —
Maybe I am feeling good —
Maybe, feeling bad,
But, whatever mood I'm in
I'll continue on my way
Thankful that I am here,
If just for to-day.

Maybe I am happy —
Maybe I'm feeling blue —
Maybe I am feeling sorry for myself —
Maybe I'm feeling sorry for you —
Maybe I'm pensive, remembering the past,
But whatever mood I'm in
I'm sure it will not last.

If I didn't have these doubts and fears,
And I didn't have a promise,
If I didn't feel another's pain
And I didn't have my own,
What would I do
To pass the time of dawn?
It would be like a record sticking
And not moving on.

"The Cricket" Instant Hit

By far the best remembered work of Charles Dickens is "The Christmas Carol" - but such was not the case during his lifetime.

In 1845 Dickens penned "The Cricket on the Hearth", a touching story of a father's attempts to shield his blind daughter from the realities of life. Shortly after it appeared in print more than a dozen theatres in London were presenting dramatic versions of "The Cricket."

Another Look At The Unemployment Insurance Commission

QUESTION: I'm living 25 miles from the nearest Canada Manpower Centre and 60 miles from the Unemployment Insurance Office. Could you please send me an application kit or tell me where I can obtain one.

ANSWER: Unemployment Insurance Application kits are available at most Post Offices, and all UIC or CMC offices.

QUESTION: What are the general requirements in order to qualify for benefits?

ANSWER: If you have worked in insurable employment and your earnings are interrupted, you have the right to apply for benefits. The UI Act requires that a person have at least eight insured weeks during the last 52 week period to be eligible for regular benefits. A minimum of 20 insured weeks during the last 52 weeks or since the beginning of your last claim, whichever is the shorter, is required to be eligible for sickness, maternity, or retirement benefits.

QUESTION: I have been advised that my claim has run out. Is there an extension I can apply for?

ANSWER: There is no extension. When you have exhausted your benefit period, you must again fulfill the qualifying conditions. This means that you must be out of work for 7 or more consecutive days, and you must have worked a minimum of eight insured weeks.

QUESTION: I will be out of work in four weeks and my employer has advised me that I'll be receiving one week vacation pay upon separation. How will this effect the starting date of my claim?

ANSWER: Holiday pay is considered to be earnings under the Unemployment Insurance Act. While you are in receipt of earnings, you cannot have an interruption of earnings. Therefore, holiday pay must be used up before an Unemployment Insurance benefit commencement date for your claim can be established. Holiday pay is allocated to the days or weeks immediately following your date of unemployment. For example: -

Date of lay off - 11 Sept 1976

Holiday pay received upon lay off - $150.00

Regular weekly gross pay - $150.00

In this example, the holiday pay would be allocated as earnings to the period Sept. 12 to Sept. 18.

The effective date of your claim would be 19 Sept 1976, instead of 12 Sept 1976.

on this committee. The objectives being:

- 1) the organization of a mechanism for the diffusion of the culture and for the exchange of information
- 2) to study the possibility of forming a self-sufficient cultural cooperative group on the Atlantic scale.

There were 10 different workshops at the conference where these themes were studied: regional preoccupations, cultural policies, technical information, publicity, cultural animation, organization of regional concerts, communication and mass media, evaluation of the Council of the Popular Arts, information of the National Film Office, on exhibitions, on theatre, and a "coaching" workshop.

All the workshops mentioned above were very informative; the delegates voted to repeat similar experiences in their own regions.

Eight Acadian artists coming from the three Maritime provinces participated in the coaching workshop: Doris Comeau, Baie Ste-Marie, N.S.; Jean-L. Belliveau, Baie Ste-Marie, N.S.; Robert Arseneault, Abram's Village, P.E.I.; Denis Losier, Moncton, N.B.; Roseline Blanchard, Dieppe, N.B.; Jean-Claude Arseneault, Tracadie, N.B.; Marie-Paule Martin,

Re-Elected Fire Chief

The annual meeting of the Digby Neck Volunteer Fire Department was held at the Digby Neck Firehall.

Election of officers was held and Reg Comeau was returned to office as Fire Chief. Others elected were Assistant Fire Chiefs, Austin Denton and Russell McCullough; Captains, Rodney O'Neil, Douglas Brown, Alvin Titus and Garfield Trask, Sr.; Lieutenants, Chester Denton, Wilfred Titus, Steve Morehouse and Lawrence O'Neil. Secretary-Treasurer, John Jago.

Drivers for the department are Garfield Trask, Jr., David Russell, Lewis Frost, Lawrence O'Neil and Emerson Carty.

Plans for the new year were made and much discussion was held regarding the new building. It is hoped that the heat will be installed in time for the Firemen and friends to have a New Year's Eve dance. If held, it will be a couples only affair with Country and Western music and a mid-night buffet. Much credit is given to the volunteers who have given of their time to help on the new building.

The annual ratepayers meeting will be held on Thursday, Dec. 16.

Fredericton, N.B.; and also Louis d'Amour, Kedgwick, N.B.

After following the coaching sessions for a week with Mr. Lucien Gagnon from Montreal, Quebec, these artists organized a "spectacle Acadien" for the public at the "Centre Culturel de Moncton", on Saturday, December 4th.

Mr. Gagnon succeeded in presenting a real "Spectacle de l'Acadie" by getting out the authentic characteristics of these artists.

Bird Haven

All are safely gathered in three Baltimore orioles caught in fifteen minutes.

While having my breakfast by the window, looked out and there was a beautiful male on the tray, then a female joined him and still another female.

I put the cage on the tray and in less than five minutes I had a female. I took her out and put her in the cage with grosbeak and a male oriole that had been brought in a few days previous from Smith's Cove. As soon as she was put in the cage the male burst into full song.

When the second female joined the first one, the song was repeated, finally the male joined them and both males sang a full song. They were saying thank you for saving them from the cold. They couldn't possibly survive during the winter without suitable food to keep up their body heat.

Since these ones were caught another female has arrived but so far has not been caught owing the boss mocking bird. By the way, a second mocky has arrived and such a bird fight took place when he arrived. The first one even chases the bluejays, but not the little sparrows.

Canadians swallow thousands of doses of medicine each year. Many of these are over-the-counter items such as cough remedies, antacids, laxatives and headache tablets.

Play it safe with these readily-available medicines: - Always read the label and follow directions carefully - Avoid frequent use and see your doctor if symptoms persist - Keep all medicines safely out of reach of children.

A little yellow throat was brought in but did not survive. It was nothing but bones and feathers. It should have been in Florida.

A fox sparrow has joined the flocks of white throated sparrows out doors and feeds regularly in the lobster pot.

Ten kinds of birds feeding outside, four kinds of sparrows, chick-a-dees, grosbeaks, bluejays, grackles, starlings, mocky and the ever present pigeons.

Most of the 17,000 registered Snowmobile operators in Nova Scotia know the law and obey it. They realize that the province's Snow Vehicle Regulations are designed to protect them and at the same time protect the rights, safety, and privileges of others.

Here are some of the basic rules the Snow Vehicles Act provides:

Every snowmobile must be registered with the Registry of Motor Vehicles and must display proof of such registration.

No one under the age of twelve years is permitted to operate a snowmobile except when supervised and directed by a person over the age of sixteen years.

Snowmobiles operating at night must display both front and rear lights, visible up to 300 feet in front of the vehicle and 200 feet to the rear of the vehicle.

VIOLATORS ARE CAUGHT:

During the 1975-76 season there were 197 convictions for violations of the Snow Vehicles Act. Snowmobile operators may be prosecuted for chasing or pursuing game or animals; for trespassing on posted private property; operating without due care and attention or without reasonable consideration for property or other persons including their passengers. It is also unlawful to drive at excessive speed having regard to conditions or when ability is adversely affected by alcohol. REMEMBER, an impaired snowmobile operator also faces the possibility of losing his license to drive his automobile.

Snowmobiles are PERMITTED to drive across a highway provided it is not a "controlled access highway" and for this purpose an operator MUST possess a valid driver's license. The vehicle MUST be stopped before crossing at a place where there is an unobstructed view along the highway for a distance of 500 feet in each direction. Crossing MUST be undertaken without passengers; at an angle approximately 90 degrees and only when it is SAFE to do so.

Snow vehicles may be driven on roads NOT NORMALLY maintained by snow removal equipment outside boundaries of a city, town or village. For this purpose only snowmobiles may be driven at the side of the highway immediately adjacent the point of loading or unloading.

Last year there were FOUR fatal snowmobile accidents on or beside Nova Scotia Highways. SNOWMOBILING IS RECREATION — LET'S KEEP IT SAFE.

Nova Scotia Nurses Surpass

Nova Scotia's seven diploma schools of nursing latest examinations results to qualify their graduates as registered nurses, show that the Nova Scotia nurses surpassed the national average in all subjects. 5,618 graduates across Canada wrote the examinations.

Nova Scotia is the only province in Canada where the diploma program for nurses is totally hospital based. In other provinces this type of nursing education takes place in community colleges.

The Registered Nurses Association of Nova Scotia has the statutory responsibility for nursing education in this province. The Association is actively involved in the development of curriculum and the approval and evaluation of schools of nursing.

It administers the registration exams for graduates of Nova Scotia schools and for those applicants from outside the province they are required to write all or some of the examinations in order to meet the professional standards for registration in Nova Scotia.

The Registered Nurses Association of Nova Scotia, which now numbers more than 6,000 currently registered nurses in its membership, has the distinction of being the first such organization in Canada to have nursing legislation passed which instituted examinations for registration of nurses. This legislation was passed by the government of Nova Scotia in 1910.

Energy Crisis Crucial Turning Point

"The energy crisis represents a crucial turning point that has economic, political, social and psychological dimensions and as Canadians we have been abruptly brought face to face with the knowledge that we are no longer independent of other nations for our energy needs," Harry Flemming, energy conservation co-ordinator for the provincial government, said recently.

In an address to the Amherst Rotary Club, Mr. Flemming said that as Nova Scotians, "our overwhelming dependence on foreign oil threatens living standards that are low by any Canadian test and forces us to turn once again, cap in hand, to Ottawa for assistance."

"At a time when most wages and profits are being controlled, we see energy prices increasing at rates that seem both uncontrolled and uncontrollable," he said.

"While crisis was not too strong a word to describe our situation, if by crisis we mean something that passes with time, then its status changes and it becomes an enduring challenge," Mr. Flemming said.

The energy conservation co-ordinator said he believed that the stranglehold the Organization of Petroleum Exporting countries had on Canada could be broken.

"There will be, we trust, new oil and gas discoveries in the North and off our coasts. We are committed to use much more Nova Scotia coal and the search for new, exploitable coal deposits

An announcement by the provincial government through the latest issue of the Royal Gazette made known that Westport had become an incorporate village. There was a population of 461 and the area comprised all of Brier Island. A plebiscite in April scored 80 in favor of incorporation and five against. The government named C. Bernard Bowser, Jesse Peters and Lawrence Shaw as Commissioners. Their immediate objective was installation of street lights but the commission also had authority over streets, water, police and fire.

At a special Digby Town Council meeting the amount of $7500 was voted to be moved from the accrued surplus to the town's sinking fund account. This it was reasoned would reduce carrying charges on outstanding indebtedness of the town and place the town in a better position with trust companies and investment houses in event of future borrowing. Town bonded indebtedness at the beginning of the year was $54,422.02. Total paid during the year, including the $7,500 was $10,397. The payment of cost of the emergency abutment cost at the Shore Road was taken from the surplus account. Town finances were in good shape.

The first meeting of the newly formed Home and School Association at Grosses Coques was on December 18.

Digby and Weymouth Canadian Girls In Training were having their special Christmas programs. (Where are they in 1976?)

See where you could get gift stationary at Connell's for 25 cents a box. However, it could be bought from 25 cents a box to $5.75 a box.

For weeks a fight went on between the bookkeeper and nurses at the Digby General Hospital according to the Courier. (From here we'll leave it buried.)

There was a shortage of Couriers at Westport. They were bought up rapidly so the people could send them to friends to advise them of the shortening shortage and their wait for three hours at the store when the Standard Coaster from Saint John arrived.

And how about the issue of December 19, 1946? Well truthfully, we took a preview and found little but Christmas filler. In the light of news we found one obituary, one wedding and personal news from Freeport and Church Point. Next issue we'll probably open the 1947 file.

goes on. We will make better use of the waste and surplus wood we have in the province. We fervently hope - I think we can now say we expect - that it will prove economic to develop the tides of the Bay of Fundy.

"In future years the cost of capturing wind and solar energy should come down, at least in relative terms. The political and financial barriers to using surplus hydro power from Newfoundland and Labrador may be resolved."

Mr. Flemming said that regardless of all these probabilities and possibilities we have entered a lengthy process in which low energy prices can no longer be taken for granted. "None of the alternatives to OPEC oil will be cheap. The cost of getting ever-larger supplies will simply be greater than the alternatives of reducing requirements or of improving efficiency -- than, in a word conservation," he stated.

The energy conservation co-ordinator said we will only emerge from our crisis mentality when more people know more of the facts - "getting out the facts therefore, is the first responsibility of government, in my view. Unfortunately, there is a good deal of misinformation about these days, a lot of it based on false hopes".

As examples Mr. Flemming cited the notion that solar energy was a realistic, immediate answer to our problems and the prevailing misconception that our energy problems are electric power problems.

While he acknowledged that the latter misconception was understandable because of publicity power rates have recently received, he noted that even if the public utilities board grants the increases requested by the power corporation, the average Nova Scotia family will still be spending about one-third more for gasoline and nearly 15 per cent more for fuel oil that it does for electricity. Moreover, he said, only ten percent of the end use of energy in Nova Scotia is in the form of electricity.

Mr. Flemming said that a greater perspective on the problem is seen when it is discovered that by early next year the average Halifax family will be spending just over six per cent of its total income on energy, about 75 percent of what it will spend on tobacco, alcohol and recreation.

"And we might get a clearer view on the future if we can get the past in better perspective. It has become a cliché to say that the days of cheap and plentiful energy are gone forever and if we are going to remain affluent, we must reduce waste", he said.

The energy conservation co-ordinator said that of the available alternatives only coal offers a quick and sizable alternative. He referred to the power corporation's call for the construction of 600 megawatts of coal-fired power by 1984 which represents more than 40 percent of the province's present installed capacity.

Mr. Flemming said that we must learn to live with the fact that there is nothing

Environmental Education Kits

Environmental education was the theme when Environment Minister Vincent J. MacLean introduced the province's Environmental Education Kit.

Developed under the authority of the Committee of Environment Ministers, Council of Maritime Premiers, the kit is being made available to Grade Six teachers through the Nova Scotia Department of the Environment.

The kit builds up the basic idea of natural food chains to develop the concepts of ecological balance; adaption of living things to their habitat; prey-predator relationships and the interdependence of creatures within the environment.

Perhaps most important is the concept of mankind's role as a part of the natural environment, as well as a force upon it. The guide for teachers includes suggested lesson plans and activities for an eight-day teaching unit.

Mr. MacLean expressed satisfaction with the teacher-developed kit, entitled "Food Chains", and hoped that teachers would make use of it as a valuable learning experience for their students.

Explaining the reason for the production of the kits, Mr. MacLean said, "We cannot expect that young people will automatically become concerned about the preservation of our environment because teachers and government tell them they should be."

any of us, including politicians and scientists, can do to bring down energy prices, short of reshuffling the game called subsidies. "The best we can do is loosen the grip that OPEC has on us and develop indigenous sources that will provide some assurance of long-term price stability. And that would be no mean accomplishment. It would mean the saving of billions of dollars in foreign exchange and the creation of thousands of jobs for Nova Scotians. And it could mean the development of new technology which we could market around the world."

The energy conservation co-ordinator said that conservation has great - and largely unexplored - implications for public policy and while "it would be wrong to expect Canadians to stop asking what their country can do for them, it's not too much to hope that they will also ask what they can do for themselves".

CHRISTMAS SEAL CAMPAIGN DOWN BY 23 PERCENT

Word from the Nova Scotia Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association reports that the Christmas Seal Campaign for 1976 is down by a whopping 23 percent. Of their objective of $175,000 to date $121,000 has been received.

The N.S.T. & R.D.A. is asking those who have received the envelopes of seals to make the contributions early. Some of the programs carried on by the Christmas Seal dollars are: Health Education (Emphysema, Chronic Bronchitis, Asthma, Tuberculosis, and other respiratory diseases to medical schools, schools of nursing, school of respiratory technology, general public, departments of public health).

The association carries on a strong program in anti-smoking and offers literature, films and assistance to hospitals, schools and general public.

Scholarships to chosen physiotherapist, third year medical student, respiratory technologist, private physician for continuing medical education in respiratory disease; production of health education aids catalogue for schools throughout Nova Scotia; yearly grant to Dalhousie School of Medicine for provision of visiting professor in respiratory disease on cooperative basis; tuberculin, time tests to private physicians on request, free of charge, as a Christmas Seal Service; grant to International Union Against Tuberculosis to assist developing countries in continuing battle against Tuberculosis; five percent campaign funds yearly go to national research in respiratory disease and a grant to enable asthmatic children to attend Summer Camp at Tidnish.

All memorial funds received are placed in Research Fund for local projects in this province.

Power, gasification of coal, etc., will no doubt come into their own in the future. However, let us also start some smaller projects which will produce more immediate results.

It is far better to light a candle than to curse the darkness.

Neglected And Isolated

To the Editor;

In the past few days we have, as you know, experienced a very heavy snowstorm - the result being, we on the Islands were caught without a snowplow. This should have been taken care of no later than Nov. 1st. This negligence, due to the Department of Highways, is shocking to say the least.

One of our citizens put in a call to Digby. A plow did arrive but did a very poor job. Why can't we have facilities here on the Islands that are dependable - no sand spreader, it has to be put on by men with shovels, hit and miss, the best they can do under the circumstances.

We have been without mail for two days. This would not have happened if Mr. Morehouse had been operating. Our present mail carrier stays overnight in Westport which is very inconvenient as the mail could be brought to Freeport by Ferry in the morning and picked up as it was before the changeover.

I feel that this has been a very serious situation as our doctor could not come if called due to blocked roads - as, also, the hydro repairmen could not get out, some people were without power.

I hope that some action will be taken in this regard before another storm hits us, as we are isolated in many ways.

An Islander

Wanted: War Brides

With a view to publication, I am in the process of collecting material related to the experiences of overseas wives of Second World War Canadian servicemen. One of this group of immigrants myself, I am hoping to contact women who came to Canada from Britain, Holland, Belgium or France.

If any of your war bride readers have interesting stories to tell of the 1940's and since I should be very pleased to hear from them with their personal accounts, or about their clubs.

Information from people connected with the transportation of war brides and children, would also be appreciated.

I shall be happy to answer any inquiries.

I thank you.

And To The Concert We Went ....

The following letter was written to Mrs. Minnie Mullen in 1967 by a grateful student whom she taught in 1913 at Cedar Lake, Yarmouth Co. Its proud possessor is Harriette Sabean of Weymouth, daughter of Mrs. Mullen who was born and raised in Danvers and lived much of her life in Hassett, Digby Co.

My Dear 1913 School Teacher:

I suppose it is nostalgia, a feeling from the past. But ever since I met you there in my old home on Sunday, you and the year we spent studying with you, visits at our home, my mother and father, and the various functions in the village that year - all are very much in my mind. So - may I write you?

Foremost comes our Christmas concert - that great event I had just got to mention on Sunday when somehow, Jake Porter (who never existed) got into the conversation, and we never wandered back into our concert.

I think without exaggeration, it was the best Christmas concert ever put on in our village. I remember the weeks of preparation; everyone knew their parts, no one had to be prompted. (Who so brave as to not know their "piece" at Miss Lewis's concert?) We decorated the old schoolroom until it was beautiful; you had the ideas, you had the materials to work with, and I think we were willing and happy helpers.

We made many paper roses, pink and white. We made endless yards of chains, red and green. Windows were all surrounded, each one, with thick spruce or fir, then the roses stuck in them; chains looped from the ceiling. Boys went and returned with armloads of the brush, and when we finished near the last day before the concert, our room was a bower to behold; I recall how I loved to sit there while school was in and just look at the (to me) beauty. We practiced long and well, often after school I believe, for our lessons never suffered or lagged; and I can remember walking home through the swampland when the December dusk was falling, the few stars coming out, and the snow crunching under my feet; Mother and home were at the end of the journey and a good supper; it was a happy period.

I remember I had the entire concert by heart. I had never heard of an understudy then, but I'm sure if anyone had fallen by the wayside, I could have stepped up and parroted all the words letter perfect, anyway. Lillian Porter's recitation was the longest and most ambitious; it was one of those tear-producing tales in long verse of poor children out in the cold and storm, Christmas lights of the city, not even food enough to eat - but then a miracle comes; maybe it was about "Poor Little TIM". Anyway, I would recite it to myself nights after getting in bed, along with the rest of the program. Essie's specialty was a song; I envied her ability to sing a solo, for alas, I could not sing. Her piece was "Jolly Old Saint Nicholas" and you had helped her rearrange the words (and we all thought that a brilliant stroke indeed) to go this way:

"Sadie wants a pair of skates, Lil-yun wants a dolly; Leta wants a story book, she thinks dolls are folly..."

I think I had a recitation, but that now I do not recall, but I do well recall what I liked best of all: Stanley Porter and I had a dialogue, and the name was "Sister Susie's Sweetheart"... Stanley told the silly things sweethearts did and we discussed the pros and cons, but Stanley said they brought candy to their sweethearts, and that pretty well won me over. I remember my closing lines as I last faced the audience was: "so I guess I'll have a sweetheart some day - don't you think so folks?"... And we had a drill. Do you remember that? Never had Cedar Lake seen a drill, and there we were, all dressed up, and going through that drill with the precision of clock work...

The big night came. A bath in the tub in front of the fireplace, that was the preliminary, and I finally was dressed - in my best summer white dress. I imagine there were big hair ribbons too, but the thrill of wearing that loved dress there in December. And to the concert we went... I remember the room was full, everyone had come. And another high point I recall for me was seeing the lighted kerosene lamps in the schoolroom; there they were, probably brought down from the church, but at each window and making the room, with its lovely greenery and colorful decorations, more like fairyland than ever... So the concert came at last. All went through their parts beautifully. We all were stars that evening... A loaded tree was there waiting; but before that came, there was something very special. At the end of the concert, Teacher was going to give a reading...

Sheread beautifully. I had listened raptly at other times, at the church hall, Impromptu, I recall once after having been urged by the gathering, you gave an exciting story in verse, something about a railroad and runaway train, - and I think the climax was: "I was really at home in my bed, not asleep at the switch"...

Back to the concert. You came out on the platform and you recited "The Dukite Snake". And I'm sure not one in that audience but what as they followed the story, felt chills down their back and their hair stand on end... It was a dramatic performance. I looked at Teacher steadily. She looked lovely to me. Your hair was beautifully brown and curly; you wore a white dress with pink ribbons. There was pink ribbon around the high neck; the sleeves were elbow but big and full, and drawn in with pink ribbon. A tiny waist and a quite full skirt, with an extra wide full flounce around the bottom (floor length of course), and pink ribbon was run around the top of that flounce. We were proud of our teacher indeed that night. She had made us all do so well, and then had done so well herself...

Now this I think is my most cherished memory of your year with us. I want to add, too, that you did something that year that no teacher I ever went to did before or since: You gave every child in your room a gift, all different, something selected personal and for just that particular child. That was the big surprise off that tree: every child got a lovely gift from teacher. Mine was a white pearl necklace. Had it been made of real pearls it wouldn't have meant any more to me... And we had the usual candy bags from teacher too.

My ramblings must cease. This is 1967, and duty lies all around me, calling lustily that I get to work. But I felt impelled to take time out to talk to you. I think it was that, meeting you unexpectedly in what was my old home, I sensed at once the feeling you had toward the dear old house and the life you had known in it, that bridged the years and took us both back. I had the feeling of being at home again, and I am sure mother and father were very near. They both thought so much of you, and admired your abilities greatly.

This does not even require an answer. I wanted to finish our thoughts and so put them on paper. Thank you for coming. I am so glad I saw you. I shall think of you, and know a bit of the burden you are bearing in seeing some of your children so seriously ill. All I can say as I close my note, is repeat the lines of the song I had sung in Aunt Hattie Wetmore's living room year's ago - "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

With Love,
Sabra Wetmore Ellis.

More Funds For Creation Of Jobs

Increases to 18 Job Creation projects in the Federal constituency of South Western Nova were announced today by J.P. LeBlanc, Director Manpower, Nova Scotia.

Mr. LeBlanc said the projects will receive an additional federal contribution of $168,000. The increase represents 42 more jobs and 1022 man-weeks of employment.

The total amount of federal funds involved to date is now $617,809.

These funds have allowed 36 community-oriented projects to sponsor 242 jobs and 3,884 man-weeks of work for the South Western Nova riding.

Mr. LeBlanc explained "that during the approval process detailed consultations are carried out between Manpower and Immigration and various Constituency Advisory Groups (CAGs) throughout Nova Scotia. These CAGs are made up of private citizens appointed by the Member of Parliament for the particular federal riding."

Mr. LeBlanc said the additional funding was made possible when the federal government announced they were giving Nova Scotia an extra $6.3 million for the Job Creation projects.

The federal government, through Manpower and Immigration, has now invested $10,047,000 in Nova Scotia this winter as part of its Job Creation Program effort.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

"Better To Light A Candle Than Curse The Darkness"

Mr. L. F. Kirkpatrick
President and General Manager
Nova Scotia Power Corporation
Halifax, Nova Scotia

Dear Mr. Kirkpatrick:

I would like to bring to your attention two matters in my constituency which are of most vital concern to my constituents and myself.

1. For some time I have been urging the installation of a Generating Plant which would use wood as its chief source of fuel supply.

We have three large mills as well as several smaller ones. They at the moment are unable to utilize their sawdust, bark and planer shavings; in fact these products create a disposal problem.

In this day of costly kilowatts, it seems wasteful indeed not to utilize them. The mills in question would be able to use much of the energy produced. The balance could be sold to the Digby County Power Board.

If these smaller operations prove successful, then it would seem quite logical that mobile chippers could be used to follow up the woods operations using limbs, tops and unmarketable trees. This would thereby increase the output of power.

I realize that feasibility studies are being carried out at the present time, but I urge you to make a definite move to get some of these ideas into production. Hopefully this could be started in the Digby area.

2. I understand that when the Sissibo River Power project was built that all of the power potential was not utilized, this is of course according to my information.

Apparently at the time the project was being constructed, it was not economically feasible to wring the last drop of energy out of this power source. This was due mainly to the availability of a very low price oil supply.

In view of the rapid price increases in the world oil supply, I would urge your company to re-evaluate the possibilities of this source.

A third source of power although not in my constituency is the Annapolis River Causeway.

I grieve each time I pass over this structure and see all of this tidal power going to waste.

Far better we do a pilot project on the side rather than build a model in some research office. At least when it is completed we would be producing a quantity of much needed electricity.

I went on record in my reply to the Speech from the Throne Debate last March asking that this be done.

I know that when your people are dealing in vast quantities of power these projects seem infinitesimal indeed. However, I think it is a definite step in the right direction. These are the kind of ideas that my constituents and myself can relate to. I well know that Tidal

Baptist Christmas Program

The December meeting of the "Muriel Bent" Women's Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. Evelyn Winchester on December 2nd. The home was beautifully decorated for the Christmas season. Gifts were brought by each member for patients in the Miller Hospital, Kentville.

The devotional was led by Mrs. Carlene Porter on "The Name of Jesus". Several members took part and the scripture Matthew 1:18-25 was read responsively. The hymn "There's Something About That Name" was sung accompanied by Mrs. Winchester at the organ. Mrs. Debbie Hapeman read about the power in the name of Jesus, with the organ playing softly in the background.

Thirteen members and one visitor responded to Roll Call with a Bible verse containing the word "gift".

After the usual business, a report was given on the recent Annapolis-Digby Association held in Lawrencetown.

Mrs. Joyce Porter read the report of the nominating committee for the new officers for 1977.

Annual Christmas Concert

On Sunday evening, youngsters and Juniors combined their talents to present the annual Christmas Concert.

With the minister, Charles MacNeil as M.C. for the event, and Mrs. Robert Ruggles as organist, the program got underway with a welcome recitation by Melissa Outhouse of the Primary Dept. A play, narrated by Mrs. Gail Sallows, "Christmas In The Stable," told of three animals who witnessed the birth of Jesus, the visit of the shepherds, the three Wise Men and the Drummer Boy. The Baptist Young Peoples' choir sang "Away In A Manger". Four girls of the choir sang "Winds Through The Autumn Leaves". Three boys presented a reading and a song, "Jesus Loves Me." A group of singers of the Christian Church sang "Hear The Bells" and "Ring The Bells." Pre-school and primary tots sang "Happy Birthday (to Jesus)". The three boys and girl of Junior class presented Old Testament prophecies regarding Jesus birth, life, love and death and their fulfillment in the New Testament. Nine members of the I.A.H. club sang "The Story That Never Grows Old." The program closed with members of both Sunday Schools, United Baptist and the Christian, singing "O Little Town of Bethlehem" and "Silent Night", with recitations by Darren Bates and Bruce Guler.

Mr. McNeil in closing commented on the beautifully trimmed Christmas tree with gifts beneath it. He said to think of the fact that Jesus is the Tree of life who distributes wonderful gifts to all who will go to Him.

Merry Christmas "Courier" Staff and everybody!

IN MEMORIAM

TIDD - In loving memory of our dear son, Bradford Tidd, who passed away December 20, 1966.

He is gone but not forgotten
And, as dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of him are always near.

Days of sadness will come o'er us
Many think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies in the heart concealed.

Always remembered by
MOM AND DAD. 20:1ic

TIDD - In loving memory of a dear brother, Bradford Tidd who passed away December 20, 1966.

Those whom we love go out of sight,
But never out of mind;
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind.

Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just in all his days,
Sincere and true in heart and mind,
Beautiful memories he left behind.

Always remembered by

IN MEMORIAM

STEWART - In loving memory of Iris Yvonne Stewart who lost her life in a car accident on December 24, 1966.

Today I walked in to the flower shop
My tears began to flow
Remembering past years at Christmas time
When to the shop I'd go for flowers for her grave.

Our daughter Iris left us
Ten years ago today
We thought we could not live without her, but time heals most the pain.

Till Christmas rolls around once more
And we remember again.
Our sweet and loving daughter
Who never will come home.

We'll always miss you Iris
An empty spot remains May God bless and keep you

Until we meet again.
Lovingly remembered by her parents MR. AND MRS.

MERRITT - In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Kenneth L. Merritt who passed away December 25th, 1966.

Time cannot erase a loving face or mend a broken heart,
Time cannot stay the fallen tears that grief and sorrow start,
Time cannot fill the vacant chair that holds an empty space,
Time cannot make our home
the same without you in your place.

Lovingly remembered by

IN MEMORIAM

THERIAULT - In memory of our dear daughter, Faye, who's life suddenly ended on December 23, 1971, aged 14 years.

In the glory of youth you were taken When many things were planned,
No wonder our hearts were broken,
It was something we could not understand.

Our hearts still ache with sadness,
Our secret tears still flow,
What it meant to lose you,
dear,

No one will ever know.
The kindness of your nature,
The sunshine of your smile,
Are the things we still remember

Church Point Stone Holds Much History

By Albert Melanson

The large, flat stone, shown above is situated in front of the church in Church Point, Clare. It is a historical reminder of the time when Clare, Digby County, was once called "La Ville Francaise".

On the rock is an engraving in Latin done by Rev. Jean Mande Sigogne, first resident priest to serve Acadians in this region. He served the parish, the first to be established in the area by him (St. Mary's Parish) from 1799 to 1844.

The message on the flat stone in English is: "On June 3rd 1803 Mgr. Denaut landed on these shores where no other bishop had visited before and he spent 3 days on episcopal business". This large stone was originally on the site of where the first church was built in Church Point in 1786 by Rev. Bourg on his third visit to these shores as missionary. It was moved to its present site near the present church several years ago, when a chapel which existed near the site of the first church burned to the ground.

The visit of Mgr. Denaut is mentioned in the history of the Acadians of Clare where he had been called upon to settle a dispute of boundaries of lands which had become dangerous and court action was threatened by the two disputing groups.

The first grants of land was made in 1769 to Amable Richard, Casimir LeBlanc, Jean-baptist Lanoue, Etienne Thibodeau in Church Point which extended from the shores of St. Mary's bay to a point in what is now called Concession, east of the village of Church Point on the Patrice Road.

Another grant was made to Francois (a Meza) Comeau and 69 other Acadians which consisted of 21,300 acres of land which extended from Concession, St. Joseph, Lower Concession, Saulnierville Station, Bangor and Meteghan Station.

It is between these two groups with lands in Concession and Church Point the dispute as to where their respective boundaries were. It is from this dispute that the "Ligne de l'Eveque" came to be known as to where the boundaries of these lands were. It was Mgr. Denaut who met with the two groups to hear their story.

Following the explanations given by the two groups Mgr. Denaut took his walking cane, pushed into the ground and stated "this is where the boundary line shall be. Everyone was satisfied with the verdict given by Mgr. Denaut.

The Patrice Road, which leads easterly from Church Point's main Highway No. 1 to the villages of Concession, St. Joseph and Corberrie the latter being 12 miles from the village of Church Point. The road got its name from the fact that a plot of land was granted originally to Amable Richard at Church Point, starting on the shores of St. Mary's Bay and extending to the village of Concession. This land was later sold to Charles (Castin) Thibodeau and inherited by his son Patrice.

At the easterly extremity of Patrice Thibodeau's land, the highway takes a right angle turn to the right (when travelling to Concession) continues on for a short spell, following the boundaries of properties formerly owned by the Francois Maza Comeau's group, then turns easterly at a sharp angle to continue on to Concession village and on to Corberrie. This spot where the highway takes a sharp turn to the right and returns a short distance further on to its original easterly direction once more is called "la ligne de l'evêque" is named whenever land in that area is spoken of by the Acadian woodsmen. The village of Concession received its name because in the french language "Concession" means a privilege and the word "Concessions" was given to lands granted in the area.

Plastic Christmas Trees Can Be Fire Hazard

Watch that plastic Christmas tree! It may be a fire hazard. Some artificial trees, those made entirely of soft plastic, will burn, dripping flaming plastic on Christmas wrappings and other flammable materials.

On the other hand, if simple precautions are taken to keep it fresh, a natural tree presents very little danger. A fresh tree will not burn even if one applies a blowtorch to it. Fresh trees actually consist of 50 percent water and, stood with their butts in water, will continue to absorb moisture. Even trees that are partially dried will regain their freshness when stood in water. These are some of the results of a recent study on balsam fir Christmas trees by the Canadian Forestry Service at Fredericton.

One of the problems solved by the Canadian Forestry Service study was how to detect those balsam fir trees that, even though they look green and fresh, are too dry to absorb moisture and therefore are potential fire hazards.

After experimenting on over 100 trees, a very simple test was devised. Actually it is the same test a housewife makes when she buys lettuce. Fresh lettuce is full of moisture; it is crisp and breaks easily. Lettuce that has wilted is limp and pliable. It is the same with fir needles. When fresh needles are bent double and then straightened under slight pressure they break and exude moisture. Drying needles are pliable and will not break. When selecting your Christmas trees, test 10 needles. If one or more breaks, the tree will refreshen if stood in water. If none breaks, chances are that the tree is too dry to absorb moisture and is a potential fire hazard. The test can also be used as a continuing check on the tree once it is set up in the house.

Natural Christmas trees should always be placed in water preferably after making a fresh cut on the butt. If not placed in water, the average balsam fir Christmas tree will become dangerously dry after about 10 days at household temperatures. Once the needles are wilted there is no simple check on the dryness of such trees. However, a small portion of the foliage can be removed from the tree each day or two, taken to a safe place and held over a lighted match. If the foliage continues to burn after the match has gone out, the tree is a fire hazard. An obvious precaution with any Christmas tree, natural or artificial, is to keep the area surrounding the tree free from flammable materials.

Always read manufacturer's instructions carefully and follow them to the letter.

Don't use electric toys outside the home where they might come in contact with wet or damp grass, rain or snow.

Keep hands and feet away from moving parts in snow throwers.

When decorating your tree or house, be careful on ladders.

The original name of the village of Church Point was "Chicaben" which is a Micmac word meaning "where wild potatoes are found". The government gave it the name of Port Acadie and at that time the Acadians were calling it le Pointe de l'Eglise (the understood-point of land where the church is built) and the name Port Acadie gradually was forgotten. It was in 1860 that the name of Port Acadie was given to the village of Church Point.

The large memorial stone is approximately six feet long and rests on two other stones in the church yard of the present St. Mary's Church. It is of historical value to the Acadians.

Town Applying For N.I.P. Funds

Digby Town Council has decided to approach the Nova Scotia Housing Authority to have an N.I.P. (Neighbourhood Improvement Program) area declared here. Should the request be approved, government money could be obtained for an improvement program in the form of a grant and low-interest loan.

The town is applying for assistance in the area of $100,000. Possible uses include assistance to residents for home repairs, improvement of town facilities, streets, recreational facilities, breastwork, etc. Council would have one year to come up with the project plans and three years to implement them. In the case of loans to residents for home improvements, the town would be held responsible for unpaid debts.

This item on Thursday's council agenda was almost bypassed since it hadn't been dealt with in time to meet the time limit for applications. However, Coun. Robert MacNutt urged that the matter be brought to the table regardless.

In other business, a letter was read from the department of highways re. the installation of lights on Victoria Street, advising that the department will pay 100 per cent of the cost. Mayor MacNaughton advised that the matter had been satisfactorily looked after.

Permission was given to The Pines to hold trap and skeet shooting events on a portion of their property within the town boundary. The request from The Pines was accompanied by a letter from the RCMP which termed the area in question "safe" for such events.

Pierre Comeau Gets Appointment

Meteghan River native Pierre A. Comeau has been named Director of the Field Services Branch, the largest unit of the federal Department of Fisheries in the Maritimes.

One of Mr. Comeau's chief functions will be to assist fishermen, processors and the general public in contacting the Fisheries Management sector of the department. This is the first of several similar appointments to be made by H. Douglas Johnston, Director-General of the Maritimes Region.

The Field Services Branch comprises the Conservation and Protection Division, Inspection Division and Fishing Vessel Insurance Program. The majority of Mr. Comeau's staff is located outside the Halifax-Dartmouth area, but he makes his headquarters in the Hollis Building in Halifax.

Mr. Comeau, a native of Meteghan River, Nova Scotia, is 35 years of age and was appointed to his present position this September after one year as Acting Director. Prior to September of 1975, he was manager of Small Craft Harbours Branch, in which position he was appointed in January, 1974.

He received his Bachelor of Civil Engineering degree from the Nova Scotia Technical College, Halifax, in 1962, and prior to joining the federal Fisheries Service served with the federal Department of Public Works for five years in duties connected with marine building design and construction. Mr. Comeau also held engineering positions with construction firms in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Newfoundland before joining the federal Government Service.

Mr. Comeau is married to the former Genevieve Locke of Belle Island, Newfoundland. They have three children, two girls and one boy, and reside in Dartmouth.

In naming Mr. Comeau Director of Field Services, Mr. Johnston added that Directors of other services will be named subsequently in order to provide a more immediate information avenue on particular federal fishery matters.

Friday's snowstorm made driving fairly tricky in Digby on Saturday as cold temperatures and drifting persisted. But that didn't stop the Christmas shoppers from rushing downtown to tie up loose ends. Stuck cars and weary pushers were the order of the day.

Snow, High Tides Plague Area

Old Man Winter showed little mercy toward Digby County on Friday as one of the heaviest snowfalls in recent years brought regional transportation to a near-standstill.

Several inches of snow had already fallen as motorists made their way through drifting snow to get to work. Those who made it to Digby early Friday morning found themselves without power several hours.

The driving snow also managed to disrupt bus and rail traffic as moving from one place to another became increasingly treacherous.

In spite of poor road conditions Friday and much of Saturday, Digby RCMP report that no serious accidents occurred.

The District of Clare was one of the hardest hit areas of the province. Here schools remained closed on Monday with superintendent Maurice Belliveau reporting about 50 per cent of roads uncleared.

HIGH TIDES

By Tuesday, much of the snow-clearing task had been completed, but mother nature had another surprise in store. Under mild weather and some rain, tides in the Bay of Fundy rose to one of their highest levels of the season causing problems for some merchants in downtown Digby and other low-lying areas.

Furnace repairmen were kept busy Tuesday as water put a number of furnaces out of order.

Allied Furnishings Ltd. in Digby suffered considerable loss as water flooded into its storage room and service department. An estimated 15 inches of water damaged some stock including 30-40 mattresses.

Pilot Tourism Project Progressing

A tourism promotional project which could result in capital investment in the millions of dollars over the next four years, is being developed by the Annapolis Basin Tourist and Recreation Council in co-operation with the department of tourism.

The program, a pilot attempt which other areas of the province will be watching closely, could provide a big economic boom to the Annapolis Basin area.

Included in the program is a plan which will hopefully encourage visitors to stay in the area at least a day longer than usual (day-trips).

The five day-trip areas being looked at are: 1. Digby Neck and the Islands; 2. Weymouth to the French Shore; 3. Bridgetown and area; 4. around Annapolis Royal and out to Victoria Beach; 5. A triangular trip around Bear River, Smiths Cove and Digby. Kejinkujik National Park provides a ready-made day-trip destination.

A Planning committee of the ABTRC has already prepared reports on each of the day-trip destination areas and the department of tourism is now in the process of reproducing them.

The committee is also working on the possibility of establishing youth hostels at Brier Island, Digby and Annapolis Royal for bicyclists.

A major publicity campaign will accompany the day-trip scheme. Promotional material will be widely distributed inside and outside the destination area.

Proposal To Be Drafted On Town Hall Issue

Should we get a new town hall or fix up the old one?

Digby's "million dollar question" was brought up again during Thursday night's Town Council meeting - but, as yet, the question remains unanswered.

The eventual direction council will take may soon be known, however Mayor Stewart MacNaughton and Town Clerk Ken Eavis were authorized to investigate the possibilities and prepare a proposal on the matter.

Discussion started on this topic when Mr. Eavis remarked on the poor condition of the town hall's floors. The Mayor then attacked the electric wiring as being "out of this world. If they plug in a tea kettle the whole building goes into darkness."

The town clerk added that the elderly have trouble getting up to the office and "could very well trip and fall downstairs." And you can't plug a vacuum in or the fuses will blow, he added.

Coun. Guy VanTassel said anything spent on the present building is a waste of money. He termed the situation "unsafe" and said the town is very fortunate to have a staff working under the existing conditions.

Coun. Eileen Chipman noted that Digby has the "worst town hall in Nova Scotia."

The town has $15,000 included in this year's budget as a start on a new town hall project. At the time the money was laid aside, consideration was being given to erecting a modular building behind the existing Town Hall. The old building would be torn down to make parking space.

In other council business, a letter was read from the Loyalist Day Parade committee thanking the town for its participation this past summer.

A letter was received from Thomas Shows requesting permission to set up some equipment for Natal Day 1977. The town will leave the decisions on location etc., up to a sponsors body.

A letter was received on behalf of two residents of First Avenue who want a Chestnut tree removed. This matter was left for the superintendent to look into.

Vandalism

Vandals struck three times in the Digby area during the past week with the worst damage occurring at the Barton Fire Hall. The other two places victimized were the Conway Co-op and Superior Propane.

Damage to the fire hall included broken windows, damage to a fire truck and to some equipment. At the Co-op, vandals broke through a back door and stole a shotgun; while at Superior Propane, someone broke in a door, damaged a filing cabinet and stole a small calculator.

Winter Works

A clean-up of various public roads in Digby County will be undertaken as a winter works project, the Department of Lands and Forests has announced.

This project, along with the clearing of Crown Land, boundary lines, is expected to employ an extra five men during the winter months.

Among projects lined up for Annapolis County are construction of nature trails at the Upper Clements Wildlife Park, removal of trees infested with Dutch Elm Disease in rural areas, clearing of right-of-ways for forest access roads and clean-up of local beaches.

Merchants Sponsor Christmas Party

On Saturday, December 18th, the Downtown Merchants of Digby treated the children to a Christmas Party. The party was held at the Water Street Deli and approximately 375 children were treated to hot dogs, pop, and a gift from Santa. Santa (Frank Handspiker) Clowns, Glen Adams, Rod Adams, Webb Miller, and Eleanor McBurney delighted the small fry. Other Santa helpers were John Milburn, Gary Smith, Chris Miller, Cari Goulet and Robert Goulet. The treats and gifts for the party were generously supplied by the downtown merchants.

June Schmidt Honoured

Saturday was a memorable occasion for June Schmidt, Bear River. This was a day of "thank-yous" for a lady who has been regularly volunteering her time to youngsters at the Children's Training Centre for the past 10 years.

Miss Schmidt was presented with a plaque by the Department of Social Services and flowers by the Children's Home youngsters. Dignitaries present included Joe Casey, MLA; Coline Campbell, MP; Judge Victor Cardoza; and James MacIsaac, director of social services to the mentally retarded.

Ten years ago, Miss Schmidt, a retired school teacher, used to visit the youngsters on a daily basis for her music and story hours. Now she drops in each Wednesday to carry on the tradition.

A familiar couple of youngsters around the Digby Courier office is the Brown family, consisting of eleven-year-old Jeanie and eight-year-old Nancy. The Browns have established themselves as faithful newspaper vendors at the Basinview Apartments.

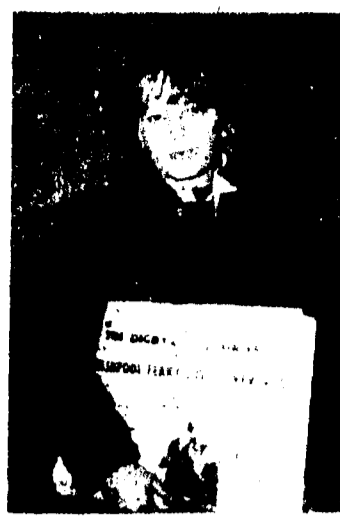

Jeanie got started in the business nearly two years ago; her young sister has been helping out for the past year.

The Browns are musicians all. Both have been studying the piano and accordion for the past several years. But when it comes to pastimes, the two differ somewhat. Whereas Nancy enjoys cooking, Jeanie takes delight in a good game of baseball.

Both youngsters manage to save part of their Digby Courier earnings for special occasions like Christmas.

Jeanie is a Grade 5 student at St. Pat's school; Nancy is in grade 2 at Digby Elementary.

Rock Facing Project At Marshland

The Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture and Marketing has awarded a contract for rock-facing work to be undertaken at the St. Mary's Bay marshland.

Modern Construction Ltd. of Lower Sackville has received a contract valued at $77,800 for rock facing for the marshland dyke. The dyke had been almost totally rebuilt last summer after a February 2 storm caused serious damage there and threatened the marshland's continued existence.

The work is expected to begin as soon as the marshland has frozen sufficiently to support heavy equipment. Work is expected to be finished by the end of February.

The project is being undertaken under the terms of

Watson Peck In Order of Canada

Sixty-four new appointments to the Order of Canada were announced on Friday by Rt. Hon. Jules Léger, Governor General and Principle Companion of the order. Among the recipients is Bear River resident Watson Peck.

The Order of Canada was created in 1967 to recognize outstanding achievement and merit in every major field of endeavor. The decorations will be presented to the recipients at an investiture which will be held later at Government House.

Appointments are made by the Governor General with approval of the Queen who is Sovereign of the order. The Governor General is assisted by the Advisory Council.

Watson Peck was born in 1916 in Bear River, Nova Scotia. Throughout his life, he has participated in the development of the youth of Nova Scotia, primarily in the areas of sport and sportsmanship. He both organized and participated in regional sports events since the early 1930's where he began his road to fame at the annual guides meet at Lake Williams, Queen's County, Nova Scotia.

Mr. Peck has for years been the prime star at water sports at various carnivals, such as the Bear River Cherry Carnival, throughout the Province of Nova Scotia; other Atlantic Provinces, and the New England States. His most recent outstanding athletic achievement was as a member of the Nova Scotia team during Canada's Centennial great canoe races on the Fraser River and the St. Lawrence.

Mr. Peck, over the years, has consistently, and is still, carrying off the major share of the prizes. According to a Government House communique he exemplifies the best of Nova Scotia manhood. The principles of proper diet and physical fitness have been a fine example to Canadian youth.

The physical stamina of this man is legend in Nova Scotia. His popularity and the many contributions to outdoor activities, his sportsmanship, successful efforts to involve the youth of our province in clean, outdoor living and enjoyment, is such that it is well respected by the inhabitants of Nova Scotia.

Toll Free Inquiries For MSI

Nova Scotia Medical Services Insurance (MSI) will provide a toll-free service for MSI inquiries in the South Shore, Yarmouth and Valley areas when the MSI branch offices in Bridgewater, Yarmouth and Kentville are closed.

Nova Scotia residents in need of assistance or information regarding their medical insurance can use the toll-free number 1-429-8880 to speak directly with the MSI office in Halifax. MSI said the closings will take by December 31st. The three employees involved have been offered alternative employment within the MSI organization.

Maritime Medical Care Incorporated, a private, non-profit organization, which is the administrator of MSI, said the offices had been busy during the introduction of new programs but this activity had not been sustained. Substantial savings will result with the introduction of the toll-free telephone line and this new service will be equally effective in providing service to residents.

After the prayer of Induction by Rev. R.R. Winchester, Rev. Murray Shaw of Digby beautifully rendered a solo "Trust in the Lord".

Old Age Security Pensions Payments Rise In January

OTTAWA - Increases in the Old Age Security pension, Guaranteed Income Supplement and Spouse's Allowance, effective in January 1977, were announced by Health and Welfare Minister Marc Lalonde.

Increases in Old Age Security pension and Guaranteed Income Supplement payments represent the thirteenth quarterly escalation based on the cost of living, as provided for in the Old Age Security Act.

The new monthly total at the single rate for persons receiving both the basic Old Age Security pension and maximum Guaranteed Income Supplement will be $240.47.

For a married couple, both pensioners, the combination of the basic pension and maximum supplement will provide a payment of $458.74 for the couple monthly.

The basic Old Age Security pension will rise in January to $141.34 from the present $139.39.

The Guaranteed Income Supplement is paid to pen-

Parks Canada Program Ensures Winter Jobs

The extension of the federal parks winter employment program will provide 220 jobs from a budget of $900,000 until the end of March in Nova Scotia a Parks Canada spokesman said in Halifax this week.

Due to high unemployment existing in Cape Breton, a significant portion of the jobs will be created in the agency's establishments on the island, including the Cape Breton Highlands National Park, the Alexander Graham Bell National Historic Park and the Fortress Louisbourg National Historic Park.

However, the program will include the Kejimikujik National Park on the South Shore and Fort Anne and the Port Royal Habitation in the Valley.

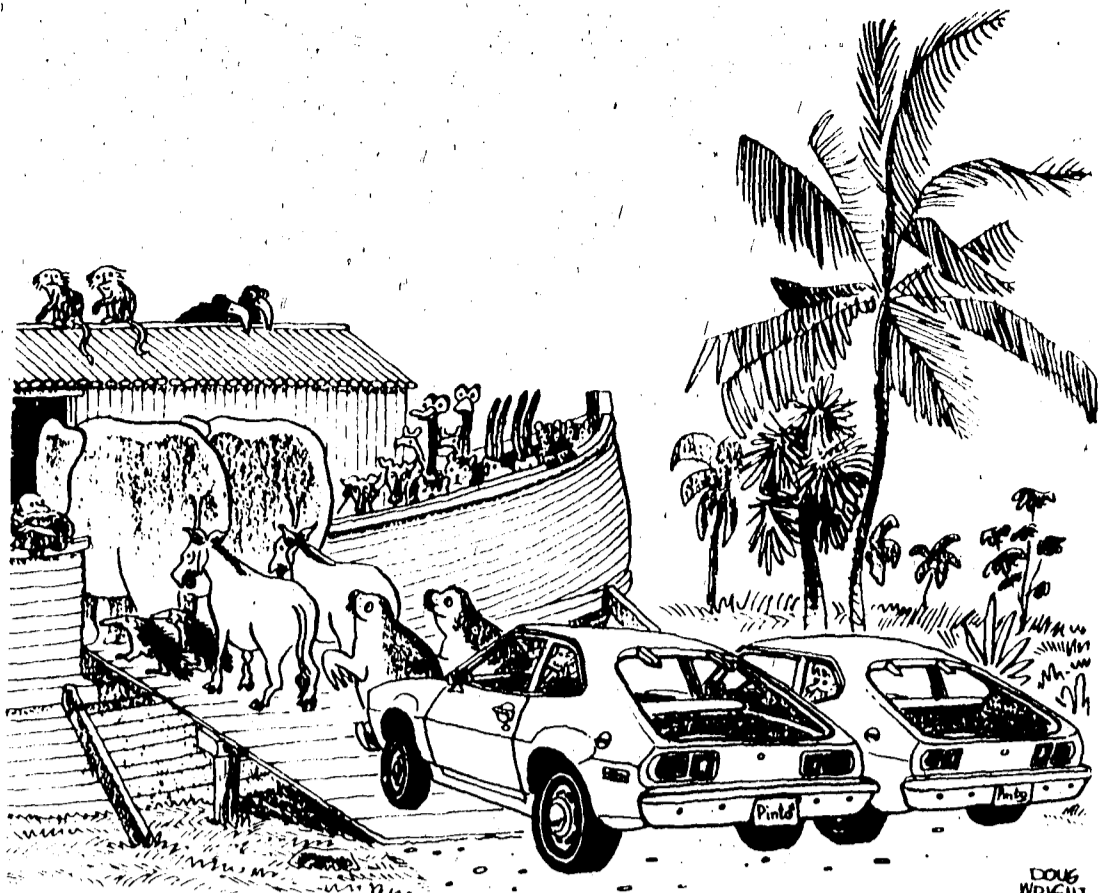

The Park Canada spokesman emphasized that the majority of the jobs to be created from the extension of the program will involve the extension of existing employment for persons already working in the parks. However, there might be a few new positions created.

The extension of employment at the Nova Scotia sites was part of a $2.8 million program announced last week in Ottawa by Parks Canada.

The department said 430 sioners whose income, apart from the Old Age Security pension, is limited. The amount of the supplement varies in relation to the amount of income.

The maximum Guaranteed Income Supplement for a single person, or a married person whose spouse is not a pensioner and is not receiving a Spouse's Allowance, will go up in January to $99.13 from its current $97.76. The maximum supplement for a married couple, both pensioners, will increase to

Gymnastics

Clinic

Planned

A Level I Gymnastics Coaching Clinic will be held at Acadia University on the week-end of January 14, 15 and 16. This clinic will be conducted by the Nova Scotia Gymnastics Association in cooperation with Acadia University, Department of Physical Education and Recreation and the Kings County Amalgamated School Board. The clinic will start on Friday night with a three hour session in the classroom followed by six hour sessions in the gym on Saturday and Sunday.

The course is being given in response to the request of teachers in the area who wish to upgrade their knowledge and abilities in the field of gymnastics, a sport popularized by the Montreal Olympics. Basic skills will be emphasized as well as coaching and safety aspects of the sport. Candidates need not be skilled gymnasts.

Since a maximum of forty will be accepted in this clinic, candidates are asked to pre-register by calling the Teachers' Centre at New Minas (678-8522). A fee will be charged to cover costs of running the clinic but payment will not be required until the first day.

Parents and others interested in getting involved in the sport are invited to take part. Participants will receive a Level I coaching certificate in the sport of gymnastics.

The above game was an exhibition contest staged because weather conditions did not permit travel to and from Cornwallis for the regular league games. The weather also reduced the team Rosters greatly with the Tigers playing with seven members while the Cats had only six - plenty of ice time was had by all.

The Cornwallis Leafs and Bruins exhibition game could not be played as neither team had sufficient players to carry on a game.

Officers Installed At Clementsport Legion

The regular monthly meeting of Clementsport Branch No. 122, Royal Canadian Legion was held in the Legion Hall at Clementsport on Tuesday evening 14 December. A very small number of members was present. This was very disappointing as over three hundred notices had been sent out. Apparently few members have any interest in the affairs of the Branch. Zone Commander Les Whalley was guest and present to install the new officers for 1977.

One application for membership was approved and Com George Durling was installed as a regular member by Zone Cdr. Whalley. Two applications for transfer to the Branch were approved. Minutes of last regular and executive meetings were read and approved.

Zone Commander Whalley took the Chair and installed the following Officers of the Branch and Auxiliary for the year 1977: Sgt-at-Arms: Elmore Long (Jean Milner absent); Secretary: James Sandford and Violet Wilson; Treasurer: John Bateman and Bertha Haviland; Service Officer for Branch: Roy Dukeshire; 1st and 2nd Vice Presidents: Mason Wamboldt and Walter Robar (Patricia Wright and Vera Perkins absent); President: Charles Long and Mary Billard.

Com Bateman explained to the meeting the financial position of the Branch and the proposed budget for the year 1977. The new budget was adopted along with increased prices for dues, dances and canteen services.

Tenders to be called for accounting, cleaning services and snow removal for the coming year.

At Happy Hour on Friday evening, 26 November, a birthday party was held in the Haviland Room to honour Bertha Haviland. Approximately sixty people signed the guest book. Bertha was presented with a potted azalea and a beautifully decorated birthday cake. After the presentation lunch was served. Assisting were Phillis Allen and Marion Potter. Bertha has given a great deal of her time and energy to assist the Branch and Auxiliary in its many functions. The Branch wishes Bertha many more Happy Birthdays.

Patchwork Pieces*Remembering

by Hannah Dale

Christmas! A time of intermingled joy, happiness, sadness, and deep feelings. Funny times, tragic times, sad times, glad times. Do we all look back to past Christmases? I think we do. So many strong feelings, so many memories. I remember one Christmas when I was about 7 years old. We went to visit relatives. My cousins and I discovered that we all had been learning to sing "Away in a Manger". So we lined up in a row and started to sing together. But somehow we couldn't get singing right at all. We made several attempts and our aunts and mothers and older cousins stood around trying to help. What was the matter? Eventually we found we were singing two different tunes!

One Christmas I received an Eaton Beauty doll. I can still feel the thrill as I lifted it out of the box. Its long perfect curls, the lovely china face, eyes that opened and closed, and real eyelashes. Kid body. It seems strange now to think that the doll was stark naked.

One thing I miss at this Christmas season here in Nova Scotia, is the beautifully decorated windows in Eatons and Simpsons. Animated figures of all kinds fill the windows of both stores on Yonge and Queen Streets. And the crowds that gather to sing Christmas carols before the store opens each morning before Christmas. But wherever I live Christmas time to me means Jesus Christ, whether it's here or in Toronto.

The following poem was written by E. Hasty, and taken from "Songs and Solos" hymn book: Jesus, My Saviour, to Bethlehem came, Born in a manger to sorrow and shame;

Oh, it was wonderful - blest be His name!
Seeking for me, for me!

Jesus, my Saviour, on Calvary's tree,
Paid the great debt, and my soul He set free;
Oh, it was wonderful - how could it be?
Dying for me, for me!

Jesus, my Saviour, shall come from on high -
Sweet is the promise as weary years fly;
Oh, I shall see Him descend from the sky,
Coming for me, for me.

Digby is one of several towns in Nova Scotia which will have revised assessment figures in effect for 1977. Reassessment procedures are well underway here and the results should be known by the end of January.

By 1968, all 65 municipal units in the province will be reassessed to the same market value standards.

Assessment in the municipal district of Digby went into effect last year with assessed property values rising by over 300 percent. However, the residential tax rate took a plunge from $3 general to $85 residential and $1.25 commercial.

Other towns which will have reassessments effective for 1977 are Annapolis Royal, Bridgetown, Antigonish, Dominion, New Waterford, Stewiacke, Kentville, Bridgewater and Liverpool.

Rural municipalities in this category include Antigonish, Cumberland, West Hants, Pictou, Shelburne and Argyle. The city of Sydney is also included.

Since responsibility for assessments throughout Nova Scotia has come under the Department of Municipal Affairs, 17 municipal units have had all their properties reassessed.

The Assessment Division instituted its program on Jan. 1 to bring property values across the province up to market value standards. The objective is to have every property in Nova Scotia assessed uniformly.

Property values will continue to be upgraded every three years thereafter to market value standards on a uniform basis.

During 1976 and 17 municipal units were reassessed effective for 1977.

Officials of the Assessment Division point out that the increases in assessment reflect the increase in property values since the last reassessment, which may have been up to seven years ago, and not just increases in property values since the previous year.

The tax rate in the various municipal units will be adjusted according to their budget requirements and the increase in assessment values. A large increase in assessment is normally accompanied by a substantial decrease in the tax rate.

Frequent reassessment programs through the province eliminate inequities that build up within the system since the last reassessment.

Upgrading property assessments within municipal units also provides the property owner with the benefit of comparing his assessment to market values, making it easier to determine whether or not there is an error in his assessment. The property owner may also compare his assessment with other similar properties to determine if his assessment is fair and equitable.

Municipal councils must determine budget requirements and set tax rates. They are responsible for the total property tax burden. The assessor's function is to distribute the total tax burden among all ratepayers according to the value of each property in the towns, cities and rural municipalities.

Wishes for a speedy recovery are extended to Wilfred Clifford and Joseph ("Joey") Outhouse, patients in Digby General Hospital.

Mr. Hartford Thurber of Baddeck, Cape Breton, recently visited his mother, Mrs. Gertrude Thurber. She accompanied her son to Baddeck where she expects to spend Christmas Holidays. She is also visiting her daughter, Mrs. Charles Finigan and family in that area.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Outhouse of Trenton, Ontario, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Outhouse and family of Lower Sackville, recently visited their mother, Mrs. Evelyn Outhouse.

Sandy Cove

(Gloria Trask)

Bruce Tidd and Douglas Johnson, who are attending Dalhousie University, Halifax, are spending the Christmas Holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Tidd and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jeffrey and Michael left on Saturday to spend the Christmas Holidays with their son Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Jeffrey and family in London, Ontario. They were accompanied by Mr. Jeffrey's mother, Mrs. Spurgeon Jeffrey who will visit with her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. K.L. Trask, London.

Gary Johnson, Winnipeg, Manitoba, is spending some time with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Johnson.

Severe Storm Hits Island

The snow storm on Friday sure caught the Islands unaware. We all woke up to wind and snow drifts. No snow plow to clear the roads so traffic, school etc., all came to a stop. Most everyone, to put it mildly, was very upset to think the plow for the Islands hadn't been brought here yet. A small plow came through from Digby Friday evening and made a track which soon blustered back in. The Dr. was called up the Island and had to walk when his car became stuck and also shovel to reach his patient and return home. Saturday night the snow plow for the Island arrived following cars, trucks that were snowed under along the road and allowing traffic to resume. The Christmas dance scheduled for the school was held as planned but at a later time.

The Band couldn't get through and start playing until about 11 p.m. A large number of those attending the dance had to wade through snow in the roads to reach the school as it was so late before the road was cleared.

May we wish you all a "Merry Christmas" and a "Happy New Year" from Freeport.

By Sunday, following Friday's storm, Tiverton was gradually working its way out from under one of the heaviest snow falls in quite a number of years.

Mr. Murray Outhouse with his jeep with the snowplow attachment was in great demand, from 6:15 A.M. on Saturday. Residents who could not begin to shovel the tremendous accumulation of the white stuff from their lanes asked him for a helping hand. He was busy all day. The snowplow which had been undergoing a check-up and repairs returned late Saturday and was busy about all night and Sunday.

Tiddville

Fred Stanton arrived home by Ambulance from I.W.K. Hospital, Halifax. He has been hospitalized for eight months, he has to return to the Hospital in six weeks time.

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year Fred.

Mrs. Melby Spicer and son Ronald of Beaver Harbour, spent the weekend with her sister, Mrs. Elmer Frost and family.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thibault son Darren of Ashmore, spent Sunday with the latter's brother, Robert Burns and Mrs. Burns and family.

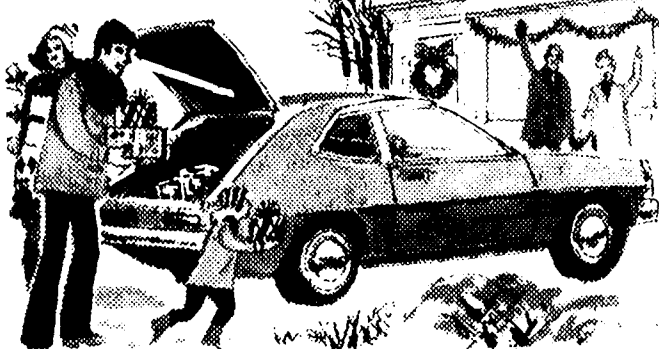

clearing roads.

At time of writing no mail has been delivered to the Island since Thursday. So far as can be determined, only one happy incident has resulted from the storm - the cancellation of school on Friday.

Santa Claus was escorted through Tiverton on Sunday with the sounds of sirens of the Freeport Ambulance, Freeport fire truck and Digby R.C.M.P. who headed the line-up. Santa, comfortable in a station wagon waved and smiled to youngsters along the way.

Santa Claus paid a visit to Tiverton Sunday School following classes on Sunday.

Merry Christmas

Belliveau Motors Ltd.

Belliveau's Cove, N.S.

With a smile the jolly old fellow distributed gifts, candy and oranges as well as Christmas wishes to youngsters and adults.

Santa Attends Christmas Party

Carpiquet Branch No. 92, Royal Canadian Legion and Ladies' Auxiliary held their annual Christmas Party in the Freeport Legion Hall for the children on the "Islands" on Sunday. It was well attended and there were approximately 115 bags of candies and other treats distributed to children nine years of age and under.

The Legion would like to thank the ladies of the Auxiliary for their valuable work, also special thanks to Comrade Frank Thomas for his special contribution, to Comrade Rita Tibert for her help, and a thank you to the R.C.M.P. Detachment in Digby for supplying a car and representatives.

Santa was met at the ferry in Tiverton and escorted to the Legion Hall by several cars, including the Freeport Fire Engine, an R.C.M.P. car, and a nicely decorated MacIntyre's Ambulance and others. We appreciate their efforts.

Special thanks to little Julie Farnsworth who led the singing of Christmas songs for Santa.

Many of the parents have expressed their appreciation to the Legion for being considerate of children at this time and for the second year, Carpiquet Branch No. 92 has gladly done so.

Christmas Bazaar

The Legion Ladies Auxiliary held their annual Christmas Bazaar and tea last Saturday afternoon. This event was well attended and most every thing was sold. Over $300.00 was realized from this event. At their business meeting the new slate of officers for the new year were installed and past presidents pins presented to Marion Patterson and Virginia Crocker.

The ladies decided to make a donation of $200.00 to Mrs. Rowena Warren and children who lost all their possessions in the recent apartment house fire in Digby. Also the ladies contributed to a collection along with Legion members for the Warren's and Miss Cindy Thimot who also lost belongings in the same fire.

Donations of clothing, bedding and house hold articles were brought in to the Legion Hall on Wednesday to be given to these people also.

Mr. Frank Fennassy who has been substituting in Mrs. Tivetta Outhouse's classroom has returned to Halifax and Mrs. Theresa Nickerson is now acting as substitute teacher.

Glad to see Mildred Bates at home after her stay at the Digby Hospital. Hope you keep improving Mildred.

Capt Glidden Thurber has closed his home here and gone to Saint John to spend the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore spent a recent weekend with their daughter, Mrs. Marie Stark and Karleen in the Weymouth area.

Mr. Bernard Manzer, Weymouth has been at the I.C.S. several times lately substituting for teachers who were ill.

Mr. Malcom Stevens and son Mr. Robert Stevens and friend Miss Penny Reid, Dartmouth, spent the weekend visiting with his mother Mrs. Lila Stevens at the home of sister, Mrs. Vera Crocker and Mr. Crocker.

Proper Share Of Catch For Inshore Lobster Fishermen

Miss Coline Campbell (South Western Nova): Mr. Speaker, I have a supplementary question for the minister. In light of the small lobster catches by the inshore lobster fishermen since the start of the season last week in South Western Nova and the fact that the inshore fishermen feel that there is a relationship between the small catches and the unregulated offshore lobster fishing catches, and since the offshore lobster fishery is to be looked at again to see what the effect on the inshore lobster fishery would be, would the minister now consider looking into the matter to see whether something cannot be done to ensure that the inshore lobster fishermen's fears are being taken into consideration?

Mr. Speaker: Order please. That is a very clear cut representation to the minister as opposed to being a question.

Floyd Cosman of North Range, were Saturday, December 11th visitors to New Minas.

Miss Beulah Minard of Digby and Mr. Chester Shears of CFB Cornwallis, were Sunday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Orbin Minard.

The nightmare is about to begin!

WEDDINGS

THIBAUT-KING

A lovely late summer wedding was solemnized between Janice Mary King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon King, Doucetteville and Randy Angus Thibault, son of Mrs. Geneva White and the late Gardie Thibault, Plympton on September 11, 1976.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Rene LeBlanc at the Sacred Heart Mission Church, Doucetteville. The organist was Mrs. Clifford Doucette, Plympton and soloist was Mrs. Brenda Weir, Digby who sang "The Wedding Song" and "Let It Be".

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Larry King, looked lovely in a gown of white acrylic knit. The gown was styled with an empire waist, long sleeves and a train that flowed from her shoulders. Her floor length veil was held by a Juliet Crystal Crown. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

The maid of honor was Miss Gail King, sister of the bride. She wore a floor length gown of turquoise interlock knit. She carried a Since last weeks report the third female oriole has been caught and has settled in with the other four.

A gentleman arrived at the door the day before the heavy storm with his hands carefully cupped over a lovely Hermit thrush.

He had found it half frozen in a snow bank at the mall. It was put in the big kitchen cage and in no time it was eating and seems very much at home. He will be released in the Spring.

Sunday morning a call from Weymouth asking how to catch an Oriole that was feeding at a station and looking a little worse for nosegay of tinted carnations and chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids, Miss Nancy Melanson, cousin of the bride and Mrs. Linda Thibault, wore gowns of satin with an overlay of georgette in multi-colored flowers. They carried nosegays of tinted carnations and chrysanthemums.

The best man was Ricky Thibault, brother of the groom. The ushers were Roger Thibault, Doucetteville and Carl Doucette, Halifax.

The bride's mother wore a street length gown of pink and wore a matching corsage. The groom's mother chose a gown of green floral design and wore a green tipped corsage.

A reception was held at the Canadian Legion Hall, Weymouth, where approximately 150 guests were served to a buffet styled luncheon.

The toast to the bride was given by the bestman, and responded by the groom who thanked Mr. and Mrs. King for their lovely daughter.

The three tier wedding cake was cut in the traditional manner and served to the guests by the bride and groom.

A dance was held following the reception at the Legion Hall with music by the Stereo-Tones.

The happy couple motored to P.E.I. on their Honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Thibault will reside in New Glasgow, where the groom is employed with Warren Maritime Construction Co., as a heavy-duty mechanic.

The couple drove right up and collected my cage, they could not stay anytime because they were anxious to catch her before dark.

Sure enough inside of forty minutes after hanging out the cage Mrs. Oriole was safely housed for the winter and is joining the other five in my cage and they will all be released in the Spring wearing their little silver bracelets.

Thanks to these kind people who saved the lives of two of our loveliest birds.

CAROL OF THE BIRDS

Whence comes the wish of wings afar

Following straight the Noel star?

Birds from the woods in wondrous flight, Bethlehem seek, this holy night.

Blackbirds then raised their sweetest notes

Warbled the linnets tuneful throats!

Pigeons all cooed, "row-cou, row-cou",

Larks sang with joy "ti-ro-li-row."

Angels and Shepherds, birds of the sky

A joyous Christmas to all from the birds at Bird Haven.

Editorials

HAPPY NEW YEAR

As we close the year 1976 with this December 30 issue of The Digby Courier and begin afresh in the next issue, the first issue of 1977, we should be using this space for assessing last year's achievements or problems and devising a prospectus for 1977 in the area. Instead of looking back through this column, we have however, chosen to, as oft before, give you a pictorial review of the year. Our chief purpose in this space is to extend to our many readers our best wishes for a happy, happy New Year and we do just that.

Even the Pictorial Review cannot cover all the news which appeared in The Digby Courier in 1976. There are those stories which are even more important but which had no picture accompanying their insertions. Some pictures could have been mislaid or returned to the owner and therefore did not find their way into the Pictorial Review. Some we might just have accidentally overlooked. There is still time to review them, if need be.

Probably the most important news story in The Digby Courier in 1976 was that of the Ground Hog Day Storm. The sad part of many of the newspaper's best stories are often sad experiences for many readers and their friends. We, however, have no other choice but to use the bitter with the sweet and we offer no apology for our tendency toward the sweet. There is sound psychology in certain aspects of that tendency. By the way one amazing thing about the Ground Hog Day storm was that there was no loss of life. We give thanks for that.

We note that at New Year of 1976, there was much talk of small industry coming to Digby. To date, soon 1977 New Year, we note there is still talk and little action. Our readers might like to express themselves on that situation, but, of course, let us not forget to give credit for the progress with the Digby Municipal Airport. Some pushing on the completion of that project might be the biggest boost to small industry in Digby and around.

What are the prospects for the future? What are our aims and goals for 1977. What do we need most? What should we aim for first? And speaking of our ambitions, we note that a decision on a new Town Hall or not is on the minds of the town councillors. Has it been on the minds of our readers? When did you last visit the Town Hall or look it over carefully on the exterior? Are you proud of it? Is it safe? You can write us about that as well as about other improvements to look forward to in 1977. We'll be expecting to hear from you.

Good health brings happiness. We wish you that for 1977. Prosperity brings happiness. We wish you that. Peace and good community living and working means happiness. We wish you that in 1977. Indeed, it is up to each of us to make it so.

Happy New Year.

ARTICLE A REMINDER (contributed)

The article in last week's issue headed, "Merchants Sponsor Christmas Party", served as a reminder of similar parties held in Digby commencing nearly thirty years ago.

Without wishing to detract at all from the excellent effort sponsored this year by the Downtown Digby Merchants, it is of interest to recall those parties of years ago.

Dating back to 1948, the community Christmas parties were sponsored by local merchants and business houses. At the time such a party was considered unique and Digby received a good deal of newspaper and radio publicity and local merchants many compliments for their generosity in sponsoring such a party for the youngsters.

In 1948 the Courier records that "over 1,000 children from the whole Digby area gathered here on Wednesday, December 22nd., for the community Christmas party sponsored by the merchants, business men and people of the town". The party began in the afternoon with a free matinee, provided by the management of the Capitol Theatre. In the evening a community carol sing was held around the town Christmas tree, followed by a visit from Santa Claus who distributed candies and oranges.

Following his visit to the community Christmas tree, Santa visited the Digby Hospital where he distributed goodies to the patients. The carol singing at the tree in 1948 was led by Gerald Goudwin and the combined choirs of the Digby churches, accompanied by the Salvation Army Band. The whole program was later broadcast over CFBC.

The Courier, in commenting on the Christmas party, noted, "Yesterday's community Christmas party was a shining example of the worth of whole-hearted cooperation in community projects by the townspeople. Through the work of a committee made up of representatives of all the organizations in Digby, backed by the full cooperation of the townspeople, merchants and businessmen, the party was made a success, and it is hoped it will become an annual affair in Digby".

The community Christmas party did continue for a good many years, and it was in later years held in the Digby Forum. It is of interest to note that the "second annual" party was held on December 23, 1949. Like the first, it included a free matinee for the kiddies, carol singing, the tree and the visit from Santa.

Chairman for the 1948 party was the late Eugene Handsaker. He was succeeded the following year, after he had left for Yarmouth, by the late Edgar Chan, with Elton Arnold as secretary-treasurer. Members of the Y's Men's and Kiwanis Clubs were in charge of soliciting goodies for distribution at the 1949 party and the Digby Legion was responsible for collection. Rev. E.C. Churchill led the community carol singing, accompanied by the Salvation Army band with the combined choirs of the town churches. In charge of packaging the Christmas treats were Mrs. D.J. Daley, Mrs. J. Rosenthal and Mrs. J.R. McCleave.

By 1951 the party, due to inclement weather and the numbers of children involved, had been moved to the Digby Forum. It was reported that the 1949 party, "despite a torrential downpour of rain" had attracted "literally thousands of youngsters with their parents". The Courier, reporting on the 1951 party, said, "A capacity crowd of children and adults jammed the Digby Forum last Friday evening for the annual Community Christmas Party and the visit of Santa Claus."

The community Christmas Party continued as an annual event until at least 1960 and was held at the Forum each year. In later years the matinee was dropped and more attention given to entertainment at the forum on the day of the party. A parade was also featured with HMCS Cornwallis providing both entertainment and entries for the parade.

THE BEST TO JACK BRAYLEY

After more than twenty years being a radio Neighbourly News commentator, Jack Brayley deserves a retirement to his farm in Wallace, N.S. We wish him the very best and hope his retirement years will be peaceful and full of good health.

With all those years of listening to comment by Jack from the Atlantic Community Newspapers, we must admit there is a sadness about Jack leaving the post. We certainly hope that we will still run across Jack and his good wife in some part of this province at some newspaper meeting around the country.

Our sincere thanks go to Jack for his past boosting community newspapers, one of which was our own Digby Courier. We appreciate every mention we received, the last one being Mrs. Gilbert Hubley's 95th birthday and the item on Jack's last program.

While we shall miss Jack, we welcome the new commentator for Neighbourly News, Graham Allen. We ask our readers to listen to his Sunday morning broadcast.

Hodge Podge

Read a small book during the holidays, some of our silly laws which are still on the books or city statutes. When the laws were made, must have been some reason behind them. In cases, the law has outgrown its purpose. One mentioned was a bylaw in the town of Gloucester: "Anyone riding a bicycle in the town of Gloucester in the dark has to have a kerosene lantern in the front view." If the trend back to the bicycle continues, and Gloucester does not change its bylaw, there might be a lot of lanterns (kerosene) needed to keep within the law. There is one law in Halifax which says that it is illegal to swear while standing in the doorway. Another law prohibits washing windows after seven a.m. or before

25,000 Tons Quarry For St. Mary's Bay Dyke

Some 21,500 tons of rock will be placed at the sites for $53,310.

The Windsor area a total of approximately 30,000 tons of rock will be required with contract being awarded to a local contractor. Contracting firm of Bedford for the work in Cumberland County. Mr. Barker has been contracted to supply the rock for dykes in the area.

Mr. Barker said that while the projects are carried out in the winter months primarily to take advantage of frozen ground conditions for off-road hauling, they also provide welcome work for contractors and truckers during a slack time of year.

Work will begin immediately in the new year with completion expected by the end of February, Mr. Hawkins said.

SIDS Number One Killer

Christopher was all tucked in for the night. He had had a good bottle.

Finally, he fell asleep. The next morning when father went in to check on Christopher, he was dead. Cause of death? Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS) or crib death.

Little Christopher lived in DeKalb. He died two months ago at age two months. He is one of seven infants who have died of SIDS in DeKalb County between 1970-1975. During those years, 17 infants between the age of one month and one year have died from causes not related to birth problems. SIDS was the number one killer of these babies.

Nationwide, eight to ten thousand infants in this age group die yearly from SIDS. The typical age of death is from 2 to 4 months. From 90 to 95 per cent of these children die during sleep. Most of the deaths are silent, and most happen in winter or early spring. It occurs in all parts of the world and has been documented as far back as Biblical times.

Christopher's case is typical — a normal, healthy infant put down for a nap or for bedtime. The parents, babysitter, or a relative check on him later and find him dead. The most an autopsy reveals is minor swelling of the upper respiratory tract, but not severe enough to cause death. Many times the autopsy reveals no evidence of illness.

SIDS is a definite medical condition, but no cause has yet been found. Research has proven that death is not the keynote of the disease. The main buildings of the house seemed to be Christmas lighting. There was a light on which was not lit. It seems to have the lighting. The lights seem to be near by. It is about homemade. The idea that so many "homemade" things are made.

General and Digby. As previously mentioned as previous. Conservation.

SIDS is a definite medical condition, but no cause has yet been found. Research has proven that death is not due to suffocation, to vomiting, to breast milk or bottle milk, to milk allergy, or to changes in modern life (smoking, birth control pills, water fluoridation). It is not the result of parent neglect or abuse.

It is unpredictable and unpreventable.

The most recent theory states that SIDS is probably a combination of several things happening at exactly the same moment. Two of these are a short period of not breathing, combined with a partial closure of the windpipe. Infants normally have short periods of not breathing during sleep, but their brain tells them to start again. For some reason this doesn't happen in SIDS victims.

There are many other theories, but this one seems to be the most promising. But...it is still just a theory, and nothing definite has been proven.

Parents, too, are victims of SIDS. They are often blamed by relatives and friends for neglect of some kind. Even after the initial shock and numbness has worn off, the grief lingers. Memories. A thoughtless or innocent remark.

During this time parents need someone — a sympathetic, non-judgemental listener...someone who understands SIDS.

Do you know about SIDS? Three organizations involved in this research and in education are The National Foundation for Sudden Infant Death, The International Guild for Infant Survival and The Andrew Menchell Infant Survival Foundation. Information is also available from the Loyola University School of Medicine in Maywood, Ill.

There will be a panel discussion about SIDS on July 22 at 6:30 p.m. on Community Cable 8. Why not learn the facts now, before you are faced with a tragic SIDS death in your own or a friend's family?

The Christmas Season in the Post Christian Era

The Church used to say "Let's put Christ back in Christmas". That was when we hardly realized what was happening as each December brought new currents of commercialism and secular trends. The person for whom December 25th was once celebrated was pushed more and more to the background. But now the Church is faced with a more clear cut issue for which we rejoice. The question has become for a few Christians "Can we leave Christ in Christmas?" Perhaps the season should now be given over to the secular world and thus allow it to revert to the pre-Christian Winter Solstice which the date once represented.

Let's face it. This is a post Christian culture. No longer should we expect worship to be even nominally expressed except by those who believe. This is a much better situation than when the lines were blurred and everyone claimed the title of Christian regardless of whether or not they had entered into a believing experience. It is no secret today that some Canadians follow the teachings and disciplines of Buddha. Various forms of Eastern religion and meditation are being practised quite parallel to the life of the Church.

She is survived by a daughter Gloria (Mrs. C. Willis Mullen), Weymouth; three sons, Roy D., Ronald G., Donald P., all of Dartmouth; 10 grandchildren.

She was predeceased by a brother Ellsworth and a sister Susie (Mrs. G. L. Coggins).

The body was at Weymouth Funeral Home. Funeral service was at the funeral home at 2:30 p.m., Wednesday. Burial was in Riverside cemetery.

finally overcome by love and understanding.

"Time To Run" is a film that can strengthen love relationships between people.

A real treat is in store for all those that attend the showing of this great film, in Eastman Colour, at the Wesleyan Church, Victoria Street, Digby, N.S., Sunday Jan. 2nd at 7 pm.

Produced as a film depicting a mixture of problems and solutions "Time To Run" appeals to all age groups.

As entertainment it is a story of a son's attempt to sabotage a nuclear generating plant conceived and designed by his father.

As viewed on an emotional level, "Time To Run" is the deeply moving drama of the conflicts that are tearing apart families.

Approached from a Religious angle, "Time To Run" is also a story of friction between Jeff and his girl friend, friction which is

Christmas In The Churches

Winnipeg, Manitoba, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Rice, Lighthouse Road sang an Irish Christmas Carol. Miss Heather Hoare and Miss Karen Trask sang as a duet "What Child Is This".

Dr. Corston took as his text "and the shepherds returned glorifying God".

The closing prayer was Christmas Blessing by the group in choral.

NEW JOBS FROM COMMUNITY PROJECTS. THINK ABOUT IT.

Canada Works is a new job creation program that will be launched in January.

This new year-round program is designed to get needed work done by people not employed in the private sector.

Canada Works will accept applications from groups and organizations including private businesses who wish to develop, sponsor and administer worthwhile community projects. Funds will mainly be allocated to areas of high unemployment and projects will be tailored to special employment needs of your local community.

Canada Works will generate employment for more than 60,000 Canadians who are presently unemployed. Applications will be considered twice a year - in Winter and Summer.

Think about your projects now! Early in the new year, your local Canada Manpower Centre will have application forms and a Canada Works "Guide to Applicants," with full details on the program. Canada Works for your community. Make your worthwhile projects work next year!

A second program is for students. Young Canada Works will create jobs for more than 20,000 students next summer. The emphasis will be on projects of solid community value. It has many of the same features as the year-round program, except projects will be limited to 14 weeks during the summer months.

At the same time, Young Canada Works will enable students to gain valuable work experience and test their career aspirations.

Like Canada Works, your Canada Manpower Centre will have application forms and a Young Canada Works "Guide to Applicants" early in the new year.

So, think about what your organization would like to do for students. Young Canada Works for students in your community.

IN MEMORIAM

AMERO - In loving memory of a dear son, Edward Amero, who died March 9, 1976.

Those whom we love go out of sight,
But never out of mind;
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind.
Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just in all his days,
Sincere and true in heart and mind,
Beautiful memories he left behind.
Always remembered by MOTHER. 21:1ip

ORDE - In loving memory of our Dear Sister Beatrice Orde who passed away January 5, 1973.

Sweet are the memories that never fade
Of one we loved but could not save.
Always so good, unselfish and kind,
What a beautiful memory she left behind.
God saw you getting weary
And did what he thought best,
He came and stood beside you,
And whispered, come to rest,

He knew that you were suffering,
That the hills were hard to climb,
So he closed your weary eyelids
And whispered, peace be thine
She sleeps in God's beautiful garden,
Sheltered from sorrow and pain
And when life's journey is over,
We know we shall meet her again.
Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by her SISTER IVY AND BROTHERS HARRY AND BEN. 21:1ip

THIBAULT - In memory of my aunt Annie, who passed away Dec. 30, 1975.
A tribute of love and remembrance
Of an aunt who was one of the best.
May the joys she missed on life's highway
Be found in God's garden of rest.
Always remembered by ELEANOR. 21:1ip

Dragons Win Four More Games

The Digby Junior Girls Basketball team played four games since the last newspaper report.

On December 19th, Digby played a league game against Freeport. The game started slow as Freeport kept the high scoring Dragons from penetrating their defense. At the end of the 1st half Digby held on to a 14-6 lead. The Freeport defense cracked in the second half as the Dragons coasted to an easy 53-12 victory. Kim Roy scored 16 points for the Dragons while Erin Gardiner pulled in 9 rebounds. The outstanding defensive player was Pam Griffiths.

On the same day the Digby Junior girls took on a senior team from Freeport. The Digby Dragons came away with a 49-26 win. Kim Roy led the Digby attack with 14 points.

Top rebounders were Darlene Haight and Judy Kenley with 9 each. Cheryl Trask led in assists with 8. Outstanding defensive player was Erin Gardiner.

The third game was against Lawrencetown on December 23. Digby, going with its third string, seemed to have trouble scoring points in the 1st quarter. However, they soon got untracked and scored 24 points to Lawrencetown's 3 in the second quarter.

The second half belonged to the Dragons as they scored 32 points to Lawrencetown's 10. The final score was 62-24.

Top scorer was Judy Kenley with 24 points. Kathy O'Neil led in assists with 6. Top rebounder was Susan McClary with 12. Most valuable defensive player was Erin Gardiner.

The fourth game saw the league leading team from the Yarmouth league, Argyle, meet the league leading team from the

The Toasting Tradition

The origin of the toasting tradition is lost somewhere in antiquity, although we do know the source of the word "toast".

In ancient times it was custom for the host to pour drinks for himself and his guest, then pour some of the guest's portion into his own cup to show his good faith and trust. This, simply, because in those times the quickest and most effective method of disposing of a foe or an adversary was to invite him over for a cup of poisoned wine.

"Toasting" began during the time of the Stuarts in England. Morsels of bread were toasted over fire, then dropped into cups of wine or liquor. The dripping pieces were eaten then each "drank one's toast". Thus "toast" came to mean raising the cup in good faith and cheer. The "broken glass" toast, or the custom of breaking the glass after the toast is made originated with the English practice of drinking a toast to the queen and throwing the glass into the fireplace. We can only speculate that breaking the glass prevented the possibility of some "unlucky" person spoiling the toast by drinking from the same glass.

Always read manufacturer's instructions carefully and follow them to the letter.

Don't use electric toys outside the home where they might come in contact with wet or damp grass, rain or snow.

Keep hands and feet away from moving parts in snow throwers.

Don't place immersible appliances in dishwasher or oven. The heat may destroy watertight seal.

When decorating your tree or house, be careful on ladders.

Canada Safety Council BLOOD-ALCOHOL CHART

For Use BEFORE Drinking

ALCOHOL WILL AFFECT YOUR DRIVING ABILITY

The PERCENT of alcohol in a person's blood is a guide to how much your driving may be impaired. To estimate the percent of alcohol in the blood, follow these directions:

1. COUNT YOUR DRINKS (1 drink equals 1½ oz. spirits or 3 oz. of wine or 12 oz. of beer).
2. Refer to the BLOOD ALCOHOL CHART on the opposite page. Under the number of drinks and opposite your body weight, find the percent of blood alcohol listed.
3. Subtract from this number the percent of alcohol burned up in your body during the time elapsed since your first drink.

Hours since first drink

	1	2	3	4	5	6
Subtract from blood alcohol	.015	.030	.045	.060	.075	.090

Example—
150 lb. man, 4 drinks in 3 hours = .116 minus .045 = .071%
150 lb. man, 6 drinks in 4 hours = .174 minus .060 = .114%

BLOOD-ALCOHOL CHART

Showing estimated % of alcohol in the blood by number of drinks in relation to body weight. (1 drink equalling 1½ oz. of rum, rye, scotch, brandy, gin, vodka, etc.; 1 12-oz. bottle of normal strength beer; or 3 oz. of fortified wine or 5 oz. of table wine.) Count 1 drink of over-proof rum as 2 drinks.

National Parks Ready For Winter Visitors

Warren Allmand, Minister responsible for Parks Canada, has announced that facilities have been made ready for an expected two million winter visitors to Canada's 28 National Parks.

Mr. Allmand added that, "All of the National Parks are open year round and winter visitors can enjoy many activities including camping and skiing."

Cross-country skiing and snowshoeing, two activities which can be enjoyed by people of all ages, offer an occasion for families to visit the National Parks together. Trails for cross-country skiing and snowshoeing are maintained in 22 National Parks. Many parks conduct guided hikes varying in duration from one hour to overnight.

In the National Parks where snowmobiling is permitted, visitors must register with the park office before setting out and must follow the designated trails. Offenders are subject to fines. Some National Parks offer guided tours on snowmobile.

In the Atlantic Provinces, facilities are maintained in each of the seven National Parks for winter camping, cross-country skiing, snowshoeing and snowmobiling. In Quebec, Forillon National Park offers cross-country skiing, snowshoeing and snowmobiling, while La Mauricie has camping facilities as well as trails for cross-country skiing and snowshoeing.

In Ontario, Georgian Bay Islands, St. Lawrence Islands and Point Pelee National Parks have marked trails for cross-country skiing and snowshoeing. Winter camping sites are open in Point Pelee and Georgian Bay Islands National Parks. There are snowmobile trails in St. Lawrence Islands and Georgian Bay Islands.

Riding Mountain National Park in Manitoba offers cross-country skiing, snowshoeing, snowmobiling and winter camping while Prince Albert National Park in Saskatchewan has cross-country trails for skiing and snowshoeing.

In Alberta and British Columbia all National Parks except Pacific Rim have designated trails for cross-country skiing and snowshoeing. Snowmobiling is permitted in Banff, Jasper, Yoho, Waterton Lakes and Mount Revelstoke National Parks. All of the National Parks in Alberta and British Columbia, with the exception of Mount Revelstoke, have designated winter camping areas.

The list of other winter activities is as long as the visitor's imagination: tobogganing, skating, ice fishing and even swimming at the hot springs pools in Banff and Kootenay, which are open year round.

Downhill skiing has always been a popular sport in Canada's Western National Parks where spectacular ski centres in Banff, Jasper and Riding Mountain National Parks offer challenging slopes for the beginner or expert.

Prospective campers should note that food, clothing and equipment requirements for winter camping are quite different from those in summer. Before setting out on a winter trip, campers should check with the park superintendent to make sure they have all the necessary supplies.

Many animals, such as bears and chipmunks, hibernate during the winter months while others are out looking for food. Snowshoers and cross-country skiers can observe the winter activities of such animals as moose and snowshoe hares. Even if no animals are seen, visitors can try to identify the animals by the tracks left in the snow.

Summer is the traditional visitor season in the National Parks, but more and more people are enjoying the parks year round. Mr. Allmand noted that some two million people visited the National Parks between December 1, 1975 and March 31, 1976.

Information about the National Parks of Canada can be obtained by writing to Don Wilson, Parks Canada, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0H4 or to Parks Canada's regional offices in Halifax, Quebec City, Cornwall, Winnipeg, and Calgary.

QUESTION BOX

Q. Does switching lights on and off use more energy than leaving a light burning?

A. No. The "surge" of energy needed to turn lights on is equivalent to only seconds of lighting time.

Q. How much energy do you save when you lower the thermostat?

A. Each degree you lower your thermostat reduces fuel consumption by about two per cent. This means that if your annual fuel consumption is 2000 gallons you would save approximately 120 gallons a year if you lowered the thermostat by just three degrees.

Q. Do fluorescent lamps use the same amount of energy as incandescent lamps?

A. No, much less. A fluorescent lamp gives over five times as much light as an incandescent lamp using the same amount of energy.

Q. What has speed got to do with using gas in a car?

A. Air resistance at 75 mph is twice the resistance at 60 m.p.h. thus requiring more energy — more gas — to propel the car.

Swine Flu Vaccines Temporarily Suspended

Nova Scotia will follow most of the recommendations of the federal advisory committee on immunization agents in the Swine Flu immunization program.

Health Minister Dr. Maynard MacAskill said that he has temporarily suspended the administration of the flu vaccine to the over 65 age group of the program. This is the use of the bi-valent vaccine for A-New Jersey 76 or swine flu and A-Victoria 75 influenza.

Dr. MacAskill said that part of the program designed for those considered chronically ill will be carried out as originally planned and will be starting shortly.

The administration of the mono-valent vaccine for the 20 to 50 age group will not begin until the situation in the United States is cleared up, Dr. MacAskill said.

Dr. MacAskill said there are major differences in the administration of the program in Nova Scotia and in the United States where the total program has been people found suffering from a condition as Guillain-Barre Syndrome, a condition that results in paralysis temporarily in the patient, had received the vaccine for Swine Flu.

Major differences pointed out by the Health Minister include the cast that mass immunization in the U.S. has been by gun, unlike Canada—the Canadian vaccine is from a different supplier and there have been no cases of the syndrome reported in Canada.

Dr. MacAskill said although there has been absolutely no connection proven between the vaccine and the incidence of Guillain-Barre Syndrome in the U.S. it is better to suspend some phases of the program until the results of the testing in the United States are known.

No Leap Year

Again Until 1980

Because 1976 was, 1977 is not a Leap Year. We won't have another Leap Year until 1980. Leap years come every four years, except for the years which number a century, as 2000 will be.

Leap years are determined by dividing the year by four, except for those numbering centuries, but they must be divisible by four after the ciphers have been removed.

If you have forgotten, Leap Years are necessary to keep the Georgian calendar in tune with the solar year, which actually consists of 365 days, 5 hours, 48 minutes and 46 seconds. Leap Years use up those extra hours, keeping the Georgian calendar accurate, which it will remain until 2500 A.D.

From the very first minute of the New Year, may all life's good things be yours. A thousand thanks for your patronage.

L.I.P. Grant Makes Restoration Possible

The securing of a federal government LIP grant has made possible a project to restore, beautify and preserve one of the most historic burial grounds in Digby, the resting place for many of the town's earliest Loyalist settlers.

The grant, announced some time ago by Miss Coline Campbell, M.P. for Southwestern Nova, will be used by the corporation of Trinity Church in Digby to restore the church yard burial ground, locate and repair many of the monuments damaged and lost over the years, re-fence the grounds and do other work of restoration and repair to the parish church and other historic church grounds in the parish.

Trinity churchyard in Digby is actually the oldest church burial ground in the community. Its existence is first officially mentioned in a letter from the church Wardens and Vestry to "His Excellency John Parr, Esq., Lieutenant Governor of His Majesty, Province of Nova Scotia and its dependencies."

The letter, dated July 13, 1787, states in part "...And they also beg leave to inform your Excellency that there is likewise in the Town of Digby a square of land that is allotted for Church ground which is now occupied for a burying ground, and where we intend to build our Church". A description of the land, contained in the letter, indicates the total plot was the square, bounded on the west by King Street, the east by Queen, the south by Mount and the north by Church Street, "containing seven acres and a half". Much of the original plot was later used for such public buildings as the Court House and Jail, the original Digby Academy and its successor, with only a small portion, surrounding the church being kept as a burial ground.

Records show that the cornerstone of the original Trinity Church was laid by Rt. Rev. Charles Inglis, Lord Bishop of Nova Scotia, on July 30, 1788. Bishop Inglis also consecrated the church and its surrounding cemetery on that date. In September of 1790 the vestry wrote the Bishop informing him among other things that "...the yard cannot be enclosed this year." First service in the church itself was held on January 16, 1791.

In September, 1800, the church made an agreement with a James Reid regarding the church land. The Vestry minutes for September 2, 1800, record that "... And it was also agreed that Mr. James Reid shall take possession and have the use of the land whereon Trinity Church stands, called Public Ground (here follows a description of the land) for the space of 15 years unmolested by the Rector, Church Wardens and Vestry, in consideration whereof he is to put it all around in good fence and at the expiration of the said 15 years he shall leave it in good fence, that part of it intended for the churchyard or burying ground may be fenced off from the said land in such manner as the Rector, Wardens and Vestry shall think fit and when convenient for them so to do, being one acre or thereabouts, and in case any part of the said land may be wanted for any public buildings within the said terms of 15 years the said James Reid shall give up such part as may be so wanting immediately without any consideration whatsoever."

The church by 1804 had decided to fence off the burial ground and the minutes of September 25, 1804 record that, "The sum of 20 pounds out of church revenue to be laid out for the purpose of enclosing the burial ground around the church and digging a trench around enclosure and Isaac Bonnell and Captain John Hill be commissioners for carrying the same into effect." In 1819 the Vestry determined that "no ground within the limits of the church yard be broken without the consent of the Rector and one or more of the Parish Wardens". It was also noted that "Mr Hughes and Mr. Rutherford be a committee to lay out the Ground and draw a plan of the same."

It is unfortunate that no record of the plan that was ordered drawn is available. One of the tasks of the LIP restoration project will be to attempt to locate memorial stones that have been broken or overgrown and restore these so that a more complete accounting of those buried in the old churchyard can be made. It is of interest to note that the Mr. Rutherford who with Mr. Hughes was to make the plan was no doubt the same Rutherford whose family cemetery on Warwick Street, well known as the "Loyalist Cemetery", has been so well cared for by the Admiral Digby Horticultural Society.

Several entries in the early minute book of Trinity Church, referring to the churchyard cemetery shed further light on the concerns which the church had with regard to this graveyard. In minutes of April 30, 1821 the following resolution appears, "Resolved that after this time the Saxton shall not take more fees than the following for digging a Grave between the 1st day of May and the 1st day of November - 7 shillings; also for digging a Grave between the 1st day of November and the first day of May - ten shillings; for tolling the 2-6, for inviting the friends of the deceased 2-6".

It is evident from the early records that the church authorities had almost as much trouble in keeping the fencing of the church yard in good repair as have their present day counterparts. In minutes of April 10, 1837 this resolution appears, "Resolved that the Church Wardens do proceed with the repairing the church yard fence and other repairs that may be necessary to the church, according to their best judgment and so the church funds will admit."

In much later years a fine iron picket fence was placed around part of the churchyard, complete with ornate gates and granite gate posts. Over the years since this was done, however, much of the fence has had to be replaced, the gate removed as well as some of the posts. Part of the restoration project includes fencing the rear and north sides of the yard.

While it is hoped the LIP project will help provide more detail on the resting places of Digby's earliest Loyalist settlers who are buried in Trinity church yard, many grave sites still retain their ancient markers. From these it is learned that among those buried in Trinity are many notables of Digby's earliest days.

The first Rector of Trinity Parish, Rev. Roger Viets, who died August 15, 1811, was buried in the church yard cemetery, no stone marks his resting place but a plaque was placed many years later in the sanctuary of the present Trinity Church close to the site of his grave.

Col. David Fanning, noted cavalry ranger who was taken prisoner 36 times by the American rebels and who after the peace of 1783 removed to New Brunswick, coming to Bay View in 1790, is also among those buried in Trinity church yard. His death occurred in 1825. The family of the late Harry O. Turnbull are descendants of Col. Fanning.

Among others who are buried in the church yard cemetery is Thomas Gilbert, son of Major Thomas Gilbert. This young man, who died at the age of 27, inaugurated many businesses along St. Mary's Bay, built vessels and carried on an export-import business in his brief but successful career. His grandfather, Col. Thomas Gilbert; his father, Major Thomas Gilbert, and their families established the settlement now known as Gilbert's Cove and developed it into a thriving community. All of the family but Thomas removed to New Brunswick to settle there in late 1784. Thomas died in 1793. The grandfather, Col. Thomas Gilbert, died in New Brunswick in 1797. His property in Gilbert's Cove was left to the family.

Still another notable buried in Trinity church yard is Elkanah Morton, born in Cornwallis Township in 1761. He joined the militia at the age of 15 and lost his leg through the accidental discharge of a pistol in the hands of Lieut Governor Mariot Arbuthnot at a military review. He was later in trade in New Brunswick and in 1802 came to Digby at the request of Governor Wentworth where he was appointed Justice of the Peace, later holding other important, though poorly paid, official positions. He died at age 67 in 1848.

Space will not permit a recounting of all the early Loyalist settlers who were laid to rest in Trinity churchyard. Unfortunately, also, no real record of the burials in the church yard exists beyond the Parish Notitia of Trinity's first Rector and this does not make clear that all the burials recorded were actually in that cemetery, although this was most likely the case except where burials of persons outside the actual Digby area are recorded. In the early days of the settlement, especially in the area outside the boundaries of the community, many families buried their dead in family plots on their own land. In later years those cemeteries which were continued bore the names of the prominent families buried there.

It is hoped that the work being undertaken on Trinity churchyard through the LIP grant will result in a restoration and discovery of many of the markers long since covered over or broken so that a more complete list of those buried in the church yard can be developed. This is important, not only from a historical and sentimental point of view but also as a part of the restoration of the links which bind many people, long departed from this community or never here, to their Loyalist ancestors. Many people who visit Digby each summer spend hours in Trinity church yard searching, often in vain, for traces of those of their kin who settled here so long ago.

Hill Grove Digby Flying Club Assists Municipal Airport

Tuesday night, the general membership of the Hill Grove Digby Flying Club approved the actions of the Board of Directors in the purchase of a 40 x 10 mobile home to be used as lecture rooms, office and a visitors area at the Digby Municipal Airport at Hill Grove. Sherwood "Sonny" Barr, the President, had negotiated the acquisition of the unit, which will be placed on the property adjacent to the taxi way at the airport, as soon as weather permits and necessary documentations have been completed.

The new club rooms will assist in the flying training that have been started through the adult education branch of the Department of Education, and will provide facilities on a temporary basis until a more permanent type structure is erected. It is anticipated proper toilet facilities will be hooked up this spring to provide a necessary service to the many visitors flying to this area.

A letter from the airport committee of the Municipal Council of Digby indicated that the Council had approved the earlier request made by the Hill Grove Digby Flying Club for the installation of the Trailer, plain lean to's, and gasoline tanks. The Club undertook to assist in the snow removal which has been a difficult endeavour during this past week. Some portions of the letter from the airport committee required clarification and a special committee of the flying club has been set up to meet with the airport committee and the council.

A motion of Matthew Erjavec of Weymouth, the Hill Grove Digby Flying Club approved associate memberships in the amount of $20.00 per year which would enable those persons not actively engaged in flying to enjoy the facilities of the club and assist the flying club in promotion of all aspects of aviation in the Digby and Annapolis Basin area.

A membership committee was set up to canvass the entire area for active and associate membership under the chairmanship of president, Sonny Barr.

Reference was made to the prompt action taken by the Honourable Garnet Brown, Minister of Recreation, enquiring from the Honourable Allan MacEachen, concerning the further development of lights, radio, weather information and similar necessary requirements for a proper airport, and to ensure that the convention in June 1977 of the Canadian owners and Pilots Association at the Digby Pines is properly provided for. It is anticipated that approximately 100 small air craft from all Canada and the Eastern United States will be in attendance for the three day affair, with the additional requirements for facilities for the families of the pilots in the excellent tourist accommodations in this area.

1977 Fishing Plans For Atlantic Groundfish Fleet

OTTAWA- For the first time, an overall management scheme will in 1977 control fleet deployment and resource exploitation in Atlantic Canada's most important fishery, the Hon. Romeo LeBlanc, Minister of Fisheries and the Environment, said.

Announcement of the plan for the Atlantic groundfish fishery follows three months of intensive consultations with representatives of fishermen's organizations, fishing companies, and the five Atlantic provinces. The plan aims to avoid conflicts between local and mobile fleets over scarce fishery resources, to ensure rebuilding of depleted fish stocks, and to stretch out available resources to keep the groundfish industry working all year long.

(Groundfish are cod, redfish, flounders and similar "whitefish" species which feed near the ocean bottom. With more than 20,000 fishermen and 12,000 plant workers, the groundfish industry is the biggest employer in the Atlantic coast fisheries.)

"For 1977, the major impact of the 200-mile fishing zone will appear in the reduced foreign catch," Mr. LeBlanc said. "For the important groundfish species, their catch will be one-third what it was two years ago; in waters off the Maritimes, their groundfish fishing will stop almost completely. Now that the fish are under our control, I'm determined that we manage our own fishery wisely."

Canada's 1976 catch of groundfish totals more than that of 1975, and slightly higher quotas for 1977 could allow a further increase. However, most of this increase will have to come from waters further north or further offshore where the Canadian fleet has not traditionally fished. In nearby waters such as the Scotian Shelf (off Nova Scotia) and the Gulf of St. Lawrence, there are serious scarcities, and the possibility of severe damage to fish stocks if catches are not restricted. Cod and redfish in the Gulf of St. Lawrence in particular could decline permanently if over-exploited.

"The intermediate and small boats, more than 10,000 of them have only limited range," Mr. LeBlanc said. "The duty and opportunity of going farther afield will fall mainly to the large trawler fleet of 160 or so vessels. We will provide special assistance for vessels to exploit northern fisheries in 1977."

The Newfoundland, Maritimes and Quebec Regional Offices of the Fisheries and Marine Service are releasing today to fishermen and processors detailed information on the main elements of the 1977 fishing plan.

"We will discuss the working of the overall management scheme at regular intervals with fishermen's and processors' representatives, and adjust it if necessary," Mr. LeBlanc said. "I want to underline the importance I attach to strict enforcement of management policies. The quotas, mesh-size, and by-catch regulations to be detailed can rebuild the stocks of fish for all Canadian fishermen. Those who commit any violation will do so on pain of suspension of their fishing licences."

Neck Project Gets Additional L.I.P. Grants

The annual ratepayers meeting, held at the Digby Neck Firehall, was sparsely attended but all agreed that it was a good building and had great potential.

Councillor Richard Daley was the officer-in-charge for the election of the Digby Neck Fire Commission. The Nominating Committee report was presented by the Chairman, Alvin Titus.

Recommended for office were the following, President-Sidney Westcott, 1st Vice-President-Frank Titus, 2nd Vice-President-Douglas Brown, Secretary-Treasurer-Ruth Jago, 1st Director-Virginia Shaw, 2nd Director-Garfield Trask, Sr., 3rd Director-Ralph Johnson. Since there were no nominations from the floor, the above were returned to office. Councillor Daley commended the Commissioners on their work and their willingness to proceed. Sidney Westcott replied, for the officers, and stated that they would do their best to carry on for the community. Reports of the previous year were given and approved.

Since the meeting the Commission has been notified that the L.I.P. grant has received additional monies. Now the job is to get additional monies for materials. At this writing it appears that the firemen and friends will be able to attend a New Year's Eve dance at the firehall. Music will be furnished by the "Sam Whiskies" and the Ladies

Approves Route

It has been learned that Digby has been named as one of the points for air service by Atlantic Central Airways of Saint John. This decision was announced recently in Ottawa by the Air Transport committee and the Canadian Transport Commission. Atlantic Central have been granted a license to operate passenger, freight and mail service to air terminals at Moncton, Digby, Grand Falls and Chilo. This license is dependent upon the reinstatement of Atlantic Central service to Saint John, Fredericton, Bathurst, and Bangor.

Auxiliary will serve a midnite buffet.

The Community is most grateful to Gerald and Allen Walker for plowing the firehall driveway and lot during the recent snowstorm. This was a real community service.

"Chook" Smith Night

Carl (Chook) Smith, Windsor, N.S., was honored in that town on December 11 by a "Chook" Smith Night attended by more than 80 hockey players, officials and fans.

Carl or Chook, by which he is generally addressed, was honored for his contribution both to hockey and to his community. He is known in Digby and area, not only by seeing his name in hockey copy but he is also a brother-in-law of J.J. Britain, Birch St. in Digby where he has visited and lived for some time, making friends of the residents.

The occasion was held at the Hants County Arena, Windsor and gifts of appreciation were given to the noted hockey player of 30 years by the Windsor Legionnaires hockey team, the Lions Club, the Greenwood Bombers hockey team, the City of Windsor and the Windsor Referees Association. Mrs. Smith was presented with a bouquet of flowers by Julie Frank. Bob Higgins was master of ceremonies.

"Chook" Smith is a native of Windsor who started to play senior hockey at the age of 16. He was selected as one of the Maple Leafs to play on the Valley All-Star team which played the New York Rangers in Wolfville. "Chook" was captain of the Leafs during the big years and led the team to the Maritime Championships.

Six hundred and six points were collected by Chook in his first 18 years and 400 in the past 12 seasons. He won the scoring title three years.

Jack Brayley Honored

Jack Brayley, Atlantic Bureau Chief of the Canadian Press for the past 30 years, was honored by a group of his "news contact" friends in government at a complimentary luncheon yesterday on the eve of his retirement from CP. Mr. Brayley, a well known conservationist, is shown here being presented by Premier Gerald A. Regan with a photograph of cormorants nesting in Pictou Harbour, on behalf of the Provincial Government. Firstfoot

We call it visiting on New Year's Eve. In Scotland it was known as Hogmanay or "firstfooting".

Friends brought symbolic offerings when they came to call. A piece of coal symbolized the wish for "a warm house"; an evergreen bough said "may you have a long life", and a loaf of bread expressed the wish for "a full larder".

After the exchange of gifts, the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and a Scottish reel or two. A late supper usually consisted of meat pies, scones, Scottish pancakes eaten with butter and jam, ginger wine or port.

Sod Turned For Forest Environment Centre

Construction will soon start on a Forest Environment Centre at Shubenacadie.

Hon. Vincent J. MacLean, minister of Lands and Forests, officiated at a sod-turning ceremony. The new centre will be located close to the Shubenacadie Wildlife Park, an attraction operated by Lands and Forests which draws more than 250,000 visitors a year.

"The Forests Environment Centre will be developed by the Department of Lands and Forests over the next few years," said Mr. MacLean. "Located near the Shubenacadie Wildlife Park, it will be able to take advantage of the large visiting audience."

"Our concepts of forest use have changed from a single fibre-oriented viewpoint to one of multiple forest resource use. It is no longer acceptable to deny public use of forest lands for reasonable recreational purposes and, as a consequence, the Department is now directing its planning efforts in a more comprehensive manner to include forest fibre utilization, recreational pursuits, and wildlife management."

"This broad concept has come to be universally accepted in principle but it needs to be demonstrated to which make up the total amount to which social assistance recipients are entitled. This increase, Mr. MacEachern said, will be based on the cost of living increase since July.

The minimum wage-based adjustment on over-all benefits means that the maximum payment to, for example, a single disabled person, will increase from the present $242 a month to $267. By the same token, the maximum benefit for a widow with three children goes from $379 a month to $417.

While all persons receiving provincial assistance will qualify for an increase, Mr. MacEachern said, the increase in the maximum benefit will affect only those who are receiving the current maximum.

In the case of cost of living-related adjustments in individual budgetary items such as food and clothing, the increases will average approximately four percent.

For example, the room and board allowance will increase from $125 to $129 per month.

The benefits will affect 10,000 individuals and 7,400 families with children. The total cost to the province will be $1.7 million for the 1977 calendar year.

Mr. MacEachern said he was pleased that despite restraints in government spending, it has been possible to obtain improved benefits for residents of the provinces who are not in a position to provide for their own needs and are particularly vulnerable to increased living costs.

Community Party Held

On Monday evening, December 20th, the annual Community Party was held in the Hill Grove Baptist Church Hall. The program was in charge of the Lavinia Wilson W.M.S. led by the president, Mrs. Benjamin Marshall Sr., and opened with the singing of several Christmas carols, after which a welcome was extended to all present by Mrs. Orbin Minard.

Rev. Murray Shaw and Mrs. Minard sang the carols "Silent Night" and "There's a Song in the Air" as a duet with guitar accompaniment by Rev. Shaw.

The Scripture from Matthew 2:1-16 was read by Mrs. Benjamin K. Marshall and prayer was given by Mrs. Lloyd MacNeill.

Miss Carol Marshall showed a film entitled "The Art of Giving", after which Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Murley acted on behalf of Santa to distribute the gifts from the prettily decorated Christmas tree to each one present.

A social period with refreshments completed a pleasant evening for all in attendance.

A cold wind and frozen ground didn't stop Hon. Vincent J. MacLean, minister of Lands and Forests, from turning the sod for the new Forest Environment Centre at Shubenacadie. At the ceremony are, from left, Hon. John Hawkins, minister of Agriculture and Marketing; Mr. MacLean; Dr. G. W. I. Creighton, former deputy minister of Lands and Forests. The Forest Environment Centre will include displays that show the many uses of the forest resource in wood supply, wildlife management, water table maintenance and recreation.

the public as an actuality. For this reason, it is proposed that an interpretation centre open to all visitors, be developed at Shubenacadie," said Mr. MacLean. A concept of a Forest Environment Centre has been prepared in which resource use will be interpreted by means of illustration and displays. This interpretation will bring to the public the significance and necessity of viewing our forest resources as an entity and the need for integrated land use.

It will be an education centre which will further the popularity and usefulness of the Shubenacadie Wildlife Park and compliment the adjoining picnic park which has been developed over the past few years. The design will relate to our native woods and the cost will be modest in relation to the benefit over future years.

Fire Damages Home

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Bretam Purba, Joggin Bridge, was damaged by fire on Monday morning when the Digby Volunteer Fire Department and the Smith's Cove Department was called to extinguish a fire which began in the basement. Firemen fought the blaze for two and one quarter hours. Smoke and water damage resulted to the first floor. The fire is under investigation.

The Digby Fire Department was called out early on Monday 12:30 a.m. because a hydro line was blocking highway traffic at Conway.

On Monday evening at about 7:30 the Digby Fire Department was called to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Winning Wong when a pair of mittens hung close to the fireplace to dry, caught on fire. The fire was extinguished before the firemen arrived but nothing remained of the mittens but a charred mass.

Reassessment Program For 1977

Since January 1, 1976 the responsibilities of all assessment regions in the Province of Nova Scotia have come under the direct control of the Assessment Division of the Department of Municipal Affairs. The Assessment Division has instituted a program that will bring property values in all municipal units across the Province up to market value standards. The objective is to have every property in Nova Scotia assessed uniformly. Property values will continue to be upgraded every three years thereafter to market value standards on a uniform basis.

During 1976 seventeen municipal units have been reassessed effective for 1977.

Among these are the Municipality of the District of Digby and the town of Middleton, two of the six municipal units comprising the Annapolis-Digby Assessment Region. Officials of the Assessment Division point out that the increases in assessment reflect the increase in property values since the last reassessment, which may have been up to eight years ago, and not just increases in property values since the previous year. The tax rate in the various municipal units will be adjusted according to their budget requirements and the increase in assessment values. A large increase in assessment is normally accompanied by a substantial decrease in the tax rate.

Towns that will have reassessments effective for 1977 will be Annapolis Royal, Bridgetown, Digby, Antigonish, Dominion, New Waterford, Stewiacke, Kentville, Bridgewater and Liverpool.

Rural Municipalities with reassessments effective for 1977 will be Antigonish, Cumberland, West Hants, Pictou, Shelburne and Argyle. The City of Sidney will also have a reassessment for 1977.

The remaining units will be reassessed to the same market value standards effective for 1978.

Frequent reassessment programs throughout the Province eliminate inequities that build up within the system since the last reassessment.

Upgrading property assessments within municipal units also provides the property owner with the benefit of comparing his assessment to market values, making it easier to determine whether or not there is an error in his assessment. The property owner may also compare his assessment with other similar properties to determine if his assessment is fair and equitable.

Municipal councils must determine budget requirements and set tax rates. They are responsible for the total property tax burden. Municipal councils may, by by-law, grant exemptions for widows and persons over sixty five. These are tax exemptions rather than exemptions from assessment. The assessors' function is to distribute the total tax burden among all ratepayers according to the value of each property in the towns, cities and rural municipalities.

Increases in provincial social assistance benefits for the blind and disabled, widows and deserted mothers and a range of other recipients, were announced today by Social Services Minister Bill MacEachern. The increases, which will become effective Jan. 1, will affect 17,400 Nova Scotians, including 7,400 families. The increases will go to disabled persons, including disabled heads of families, widowed, divorced, deserted or unmarried mothers, unemployed women between the ages of 60 and 65 who are single or widowed, and foster parents of children who are not wards of the province or children's aid societies.

Mr. MacEachern said the

increases will take two forms and will relate to both changes in the cost of living and in the minimum wage.

The maximum benefits to which recipients in particular categories are eligible will be adjusted upwards in line with the 10 per cent increase in the minimum wage which goes into effect Jan. 1. The increase in these benefits will amount to 10 per cent as well.

The provincial government announced earlier that the minimum wage would increase from $2.50 an hour to $2.75 an hour on this date.

There will also be an increase in the individual budgetary items such as food, clothing, and shelter

Brig-General Ruggles, her grand daughters were Angelina, Mrs. Harry Abbott; and Mabel, Mrs. Will Chesley, both of whom resided many years in Bridgetown. The children of the Abbott family were well-known, and Mrs. Shirley Taylor, a great-grand daughter of Eliza lives on Church Street, today.
