

THE DIGBY COURIER

CENTENNIAL EDITION

SEPTEMBER 18, 1974

Welcome to the Digital DIGBY COURIER

1877-1978

100th Birthday

The hundredth anniversary of the Digby Weekly Courier has brought to mind some fond memories as contained in the following historical chapter of the writer. But first, I wish to congratulate the current editor of the Courier, Mrs. J.M. (Edith) Wallis, for a job well done over the years and still being well done, good service rendered with great fortitude.

According to any record, I have at hand, the Digby Courier, in one hundred years of publication, was controlled under the same family management for 42 years, 1931 to 1973, under the control of Wallis Print Limited. The late J.J. Wallis became editor of The Courier the second time, in 1929, and at the same time of the business, which he had been running for some years previously and which became Wallis Print Limited sometime between 1929 and 1931.

I well remember the last year of the twenties when I worked in the office of the son with the husband and father of the late J.J. Wallis, the Courier. Sometime in 1928 or early 1929, the late J.M. Wallis (Mac), son of "J.J." engaged me to work every day after school hours, Saturdays, and for some months after full time. The place of work was in the building of the present Digby town hall on First Avenue. J.J. Wallis then worked occasionally at the print shop but mostly across the street at the Courier office which was then located on land in the general area where The Royal Bank of Canada is now.

Wallis Job Print operated in 1929 with a staff of four consisting of J.J. Wallis, J.M. Wallis, Miss Eva Haynes, who later became Mrs. George Kicup, and myself. I was in the staff in early 1929.

Eva's job was in the left up-stairs. "J.J." occasionally printing plant but mostly at the Courier office. "Mac" worked nearly full time at all the different jobs at the Job Print, and I worked at various duties, most of the time being spent at operating printing presses.

We worked ten-hour days, six days a week. "J.J." and "Mac" sometimes worked overtime. I worked only the regular hours being paid a weekly wage which was comparatively good for those times and my lack of experience. I received four or five dollars a week for working after school hours to six o'clock and on Saturday all day, and nine dollars a week for full weeks after finishing school. A two or three dollar a week raise was offered to me in the fall of 1929 for me to stay on at printing, but I had made up my mind to enter a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, starting salary of $300. The bank salary figured out about the same per hour as for the printing job. Nevertheless, the congenial atmosphere of the printing plant those days, and, experience however short, were helpful and appreciated by me.

"J.J." was very jovial in his occasional trip to the Job Print and did considerable kidding all in good fun. "Mac" was a witty person who mixed in a good natured sarcasm now and then for one reason or another. Eva most always had good answers to all the kidding she was called upon to take, and, generally held her own in a quiet sort of way, always busy setting type. We four all got along very well indeed. However, I do remember that some days did seem long and weary because of the monotony of some repetitious jobs.

In spite of the great demand for printing those last boom days of the twenties, business generally being brisk, it looked to me that people had to work long and hard to make any decent profit. There was including treatment of the hands. However, nails and finger ends were used and I was soon back to work.

Now and then a printing job had a dose on parchment paper which required a special kind of printers' ink which smelled very bad those days. I always dreaded it when "Mac" would do that job on the largest press, in spite of the fact that we always opened an outside door to lessen the effects on the constitution.

One of the jobs I had to do, being the junior and printers' devil on the staff, was to clean up now and then. One day not long after I started my job at the printing plant, I decided to clean the floor that apparently hadn't been cleaned in some considerable time.

"J.J." came along and said, "how are you making out Vince?" I assured him that I thought I was beginning to see the floor. "J.J." laughed very heartily, he thought the remark pretty good and suitable.

Sometimes the gasoline engine or a piece of machinery would refuse to work, and after "Mac" the fix-it man had patiently worked for a certain length of time to get it going again, without results, "Mac" would then stand back and cuss quite strenuously, then he would immediately start working. "See," he would say, "all it needed was a bit of cussing."

On other occasions when some gadget refused duty for me and, seemed to be broken, "Mac" would say, "use a little oil," and sure enough, often that is all it took. How often since, have I thought of the value of that remark and the actual need of "oil" in many life situations, applied at the right time, right place and, in the right way.

Other things that sort of stick in my memory and come to mind now and then are, like the time I told "Mac" of four teenage boys who in the spring season of 1929 got together just before dark one evening and decided to initiate the newly built outdoor Pines Hotel swimming pool which had just been filled with water. Clothes were taken off near the road just east of the pool; nobody else seemed to be around except the four boys; no thought or time for bathing suits up to the pool they went. They stood on the edge of the pool and looked at the chilly water, one soon jumped in, the rest quickly followed and across the pool they swam. "Mac" listened to the story and hardly said anything, but the next "Digby Courier" had a good story on the episode. The heading of the story went something like, "Four Boy Scouts Officially Open Pines Hotel Swimming Pool." Who were the four? Many years later they are known as: the late Dr. Earl H. Anderson, veteran of two wars (second world and Korean), was awarded the Victoria Cross; Sidney L. Smith, now prominent druggist for many years in Digby; Clayton D. Snow, Digby wholesale lobster king merchant; and myself.

As a young teenager I used to like doing some writing about different events interesting to myself and mostly for myself. One day "Mac" said to me "how about writing your version of the story told about 'The Marooning of Jerome'." I had heard and read at least two somewhat different stories about the man who was found marooned on a beach at some point on the French Shore of St. Mary's Bay, Digby County. When found this man's tongue had been cut out and his legs quite freshly amputated, were surgically well dressed and bound. He was presumably left by some vessel before dawn one morning, all for some mysterious reason.

"Jerome" appeared to have been a man of some considerable social standing and possibly of some considerable wealth. However the only thing the man could or would ever say after being found and cared for by some family in the French shore was, something that sounded like the word "Jerome". He either could not, or, would not, write anything about who he was or why he was left the way he was. Well, it was, and is, one of Digby County's mystery stories, and, different ideas have been expressed over the years concerning this man. However my response to "Mac" was, I felt no urge to write anything more or different about this man. The mystery seemed to have been very well explored in the mind of many people, and, he was a sort of curiosity for many people who visited where he lived for many years.

Three years later I was quite a bit older and was working in the street that I loved back and forth, led a boat clanking noise, powered by a small engine, and a "plur", and as I remember it, it was a "plur". "J.J." was noted for his sense of humor and his sense of humor.

Years ago, during the time Mr. Wallis was editor of the Scott Act (Prohibition Law) in the town of Digby, I attended a boys' conference in the town of Digby.

Digby 172 Years Ago

Compiled by David Sanford

From the files of the Courier of January 23, 1867, the following account has been copied concerning Digby in 1800.

"Among a number of old newspapers kindly sent to us by friends is a copy of the Saint John Gazette of May, 1802, says the Telegraph and among other advertisements contained in the issue before us is one describing the town and township of Digby, and offering for sale certain lots in the town. In this area we are told the township of Digby extends from the Gulf of Annapolis westward to the extremity of the province of Nova Scotia, and contains about 130,000 acres." The town plot is thus described:

"The Town Plot is situated at the east of the township just within the entrance to Annapolis Basin, and twenty miles from Annapolis Town, and six miles across land from the head of St. Mary's Bay. This laid out from the water's edge, partly on level ground and partly on the declivity of a modern hill, dry and pleasant, and having with an eastern aspect, a view of the Annapolis Basin and its cultivated shores for twenty miles in where it terminates with the Fort and River's mouth of that name. It was settled by Loyalists from New York in 1783, the most of whom went early to farms, or, moving to older countries, left the whole side to be bought proved by about who now reside detached, built dwellings with orchards, and some fishery and. It has communal parts of the communal provisions in a cheap, built readily to be from many circumstances, probability of place of some shipbuilding, the West India a cheap and of residence.

This advertisement, dated at Digby, December, 1802, were to be a No. 100.

free trade with the U.S.A., especially with the New England States. The question was then debated by some Digby High School students one of which was some Digby's daughter, Florence (now Mrs. Melvin O. Tibert, Freeport, Digby Co.) Some days after the debate a man from some part of Nova Scotia came to the printing shop looking for Florence, one of the successful debaters; I had the impression that this man was interested politically but, maybe I was wrong.

Well, I felt that I had learned considerable from my short experience at "The Wallis Job Print". I was learning to do beginner jobs, receiving some knowledge about things like: embossing, stapling, perforating, counting, cutting and trimming paper stock, mixing inks for certain desired colors, and so forth, but, the only experience I had at setting type was just enough to make a "pi", the printers name for a confused mess.

There was a taste of trying to sell job printing outside the plant. Work was a little slack one early fall day and so "Mac" said to me, "how about trying your hand at taking orders for printed personalized Christmas cards?" I tried it, made several calls around town, spent most of the time at one particular house, and got an order, but,

Mr. Editor: Ottawa July 1, 1894. You remarked in your issue of the 29th ult. that Mr. Brown voted with the Government for the last time as a member of the Legislature. I am sorry to hear of this.

Smith's Cove Fishings.

Mr. J. McNeill of Boston, in speaking of the summer months at Mr. James Smith's, Mr. McNeill returned home after only a few days' stay.

Metropolitan News.

For two weeks past a dense fog has prevailed here the greater part of the time. In this part of the country, vegetation is looking well, but not so well as in the West.

Westport Warnings.

"Perhaps some of your readers of the Courier will say that Westport has been in a state of weakness, caused by the damage to the wharves, owing to the late heavy rain."

Freepoint Fishings.

The weather here still continues foggy and dull. The fish are not so good as they were in the last week.

Local vs. City Trade.

Truth Is Sometimes Stranger Than Fiction

There has come to light a wonderful case of restoration to health, at Lakeside corner, N. B. The particulars were first given out Feb. 3, 1881, and are as follows: Mrs. R. Upton, of that place, had five or six a month and sometimes fifteen a day, for five or six years. Five physicians treated her for her child trouble.

In the spring of '34 she commenced the "Grader's Syrup." Since then she has had no symptoms of the her general health has wonderfully improved and she eats anything.

ten years, and I know the above statements to be true in every particular."

Your health may demand the use of Foster's Syrup

High Heels.

It has been stated that a young lady went one day to an oculist with

The oculist looked at her with his professional wisdom, asking her various questions, and then suddenly ly amazed her by asking her to aid him out her foot. The foot, in its padded boot, with a wicked little high heel, was thrust forth. The doctor eyed it a moment with a stolid face.

"Go home," he said, "and take off those heels; keep them off for a month and then come to me again, and we'll see how the eyes are."

In a month the eyes were well.

and the young lady learned by her experience, and a little wise talk home near she had come to having no oyoa at all. It seems to show that there is a possibility that with that instrument of torture constantly at work in the center of the foot, where are many delicate nerves of the body, there must presently come danger.

Wrecked by a Woman.

A man came into the waiting room of the depot, making his way on a pair of crutches. His feet dragged, his spine was out of plumb, and a glance was sufficient to show that he was a hopeless cripple. Made everybody contributed as he passed the hat, but down by the door he struck a hunchbacked man with a long nose, who sharply replied:

"I don't know whether you are deserving or not. I don't believe in this giving money to everybody who

"I never touch a drop ma'am," he humbly replied.

"But you use tobacco?"

"No, ma'am."

"And you don't gamble or bet on horse races or indulge in wine sipping?"

"Nothing of the sort, ma'am."

"Then you didn't eat drink and

"Nothing of that sort happened to me," he sadly replied. "I was reduced to my present situation on account of love. In fact, I was wrecked by a young woman."

"You don't say!" she gasped, while a number of us crowded closer.

"That is so, ma'am, and the saddest of all is her ingratitude. We were engaged to be married. She weighed 200 pounds! She said she loved me as she had never loved before, and I believed in her."

"And she gave you the mittens and you jumped off the barn," said the woman.

"No, ma'am. I went up to Chicago and was gone a week. When I returned I hastened to her father's house. She was delighted to see me, and without finding the plank which had been missing, she precipitately told herself—

"Plank! Plank! What did you want of a plank?"

"Why, ma'am, we always put the

"Do you mean that she bounced down on your lap?" demanded the woman, as her sharp nose seemed to grow sharper.

"No sir, I don't," she replied as her eyes fluttered and her breath came back. I did think I'd give you a penny, but I won't do it. And a young man who gets smashed to pieces in any such way as that needn't come within a rod of me and if I ever lay eyes on that brazen-faced girl I'll give her such a piece of my mind that her hair will stand up for three months afterwards. Good night, good night, good night."

REV. W. A. NEWCOMBE, The Times, London, writes in referring to the article when in Nova Scotia a year ago, a package of K. D. D. was given me. I cheerfully acknowledge that the most of the remedy during the trouble was very marked and prompt, as well as cheap.

The antecedents of the artistic rattles used in our orchestras was a gourd with half a dozen pebbles in it.

It turns out one sick to hear so much talk about Boots and Shoes by those <sup>who are ready</sup> who sell them. They have Boots on the brain And they verily believe theirs are the best, for it is possible for one to believe such things whether it is a fact or not. Well, now, without saying much about it, LETTENEY'S have a VERY, VERY Large Stock of Boots for Men, Women and Children. The very best make in Canada and at prices too low to mention.

Call and see.

One of the most common causes of failure in long-distance riding is the lack of proper conditioning and health care. Horses are apt to be overworked and underfed, leading to a gradual decline in health and stamina. One fruitful source of information is the "Horse Care" section in The Horse magazine. In this section, the editor, Dr. John W. Forrester, Jr., provides a wealth of information on horse care, including articles on nutrition, health care, and training. The editor also provides a list of recommended books and articles on horse care. The editor's advice is to "keep your horse in good health and condition, and you will be able to ride him for many years to come."

A Darling Train Robbery Nearly Frustrated.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—A special from Gurnee, Ill., says: The Colorado and Utah express, carrying mail, money and passengers, was held up by robbers on the Gurnee branch of the Chicago and North Western railway, about 10 miles from Gurnee, on Sunday morning, Sept. 15. The train was nearly a shower of bullets and bullets.

It is said that twelve men in the surrounding woods, while many others were on the train, fired a volley of bullets, which were scattered all over the train.

They were no doubt able to train robbery and the train was nearly a shower of bullets and bullets.

At Gurnee, the train was nearly a shower of bullets and bullets.
