1877-1977

One of the jobs I had to do, besides painting and grouting the floor, was to... I finished one and then... One day not long after I started to get to the grouting plant, I decided to clean the floor that apparently hadn't been cleaned in some considerable time.

"J.J." came along and said, "how are you making out Vince?" I assured him that I thought I was beginning to see the floor. "J.J." laughed very heartily. He thought the remark pretty good and whole.

Sometimes the gasoline engine is a piece of machinery would refuse to work, and the "blue" fix-it man had patiently worked for a great length of time to get it going again. Without making a sound, he would then stand back and come quite dramatically, then he would immediately start working. "See," he would say, "all it needed was a bit of coaxing."

On other occasions when my guests refused duty for me and seemed to be broken, I would say, "use a little oil" and sure enough after that is said, it took . . . They often since, have I heard of the value of that remark and the actual need of oil in many life situations, applied at the right time, right place and in the right way.

Other things that sort of stick in my memory and come to mind now and then are, like the June 1 I told "Mac" of four teenage boys who in the spring season of 1943 got together just before dark one evening and decided to mutilate the newly built outdoor Pease Hotel swimming pool which had just been filled with water. Clothes were taken off near the road just out of the pool, nobody else seemed to be around and the four boys, no thought or time for bathing suits, up in the pool they went. They stood on the edge of the pool and looked at the chilly water, one soon jumped in. The rest quickly followed and across the pool they swam. "Mac" listened to the story and hardly said anything, but the next "Digby Courier" had a good story on the episode. The heading of the story was something like, "Four Boy Swims Officially Open Pease Hotel Swimming Pool." Who were the four? Many years later they are known as: the late Dr. Earl H. Anderson, veteran of two wars (second world and Korean), was awarded the Vietnam Cross; Sidney L. Smith, now prominent draughtsman for many years in Digby; Clayton D. Snow, Digby wholesale importer and distributor; and myself.

As a young teenager I used to like doing some writing about different events interesting to myself, and mostly for myself. One day "Mac" said to me how about writing your version of the story told about "The Marooning of Jerome". I did it and read at least two somewhat different versions about the man who was found marooned on a beach in some point on the French Shore of St. Mary's Bay, Duffy County. When found this man's torso had been cut out and his legs quite freshly amputated, were surgically well dressed and bound. He was presumably left by some vessel before dawn one morning, all for some mysterious reason.

"Jimenez appeared to have been a man of considerable social standing and was probably of considerable wealth. However the social thing he could or would ever do after being wounded was for his young family in the French Alps. I saw something that sounded like that in the book, either he could not, or would not, or was not, who he was or why he was left there. It was, and is, one of Digne County, and different ideas have been put forward concerning this man. About 1900, 'Mac' was, I felt no surprise in saying, different about this man. The man I have been very well informed about, and people, and he was a man of people who lived where he lived."

From the files of the Chamber of January 22, 1967, the following account has been copied concerning Dugas:

Having a number of 66 newspapers killed and to be friends is a copy of the Saint John's Gazette of May, 1967, says the Tringham and among other advertisements contained in the issue before us is the one offering the house and furniture of Dwyer, and offering for sale certain lots in the town. In this area we are told the "sweeping" of Dwyer "retains" from the Out of Atlantic City appeared to the extremity of the province of Nova Scotia, and contains about 100,000 acres. The town plot is shown described.

The Town Plot is situated at the east of the township just within the entrance to Annapolis Bay, and twenty miles from Annapolis Town, and six miles distant from the head of H. Mary's Bay. This land, and not from the water's edge, partly is level ground, and partly on the declivity of a modern hill, dry and pleasant, and having on an eastern aspect a view of the Annapolis Bay, and its cultivated shores for twenty miles in extent, it terminates with the Fort and River's mouth at that name. It was secured by Leyden's tract, New York in 1643, the land of which went nearly to Britain, or, moving to other countries, left the shore free trade with the U.S.A., especially with the New England States. The question was then debated by some Digby High School students, one of which was J.J.'s daughter, Florence (now Mrs. Merwin of Tibert, Proport, Digby Co.). Some days after the debate a man from some part of Nova Scotia came to the printing shop looking for Florence, one of the successful debaters. I had the impression that this man was interested politically but, maybe I was wrong.

Well, I felt that I had learned considerable from my short experience at "The Wallis Job Print." I was learning to do beginner jobs, receiving some knowledge about things like embossing, stapling, perforating, counting, cutting and trimming paper stock, mixing inks for certain desired colors, and so forth. But, the only experience I had at setting type was just enough to make a "go," the printers name for a confused mess.

There was a taste of trying to work inside the plant. Work was a little less on a full day and so "Mac" said to me, "how about trying your hand at taking orders for petted personalized Christmas cards?" I tried it, made several calls around town, spent most of the time at one particular house, and much time and got an order, but Halifax Charmed With Australian Singer.

MISS EVA MYLOTT'S CONCERT AT THE ACADEMY WAS AN ARTISTIC TRIUMPH.

(Halifax Chronicle.)

"A night with artists," was the unanimous verdict on last night's concert at the Academy. Performers and programme alike were unusual. Miss Eva Mylott, the Australian contralto, possesses a smooth, rich, full and thoroughly trained voice, and was so much an artist that there was no effort to make the programme simply a vehicle for displaying technique.

From her first appearance in "In Questa Tomba" to the final encore "Home, Sweet Home," Miss Mylott sang with ease and feeling, interpreting with such intelligence that her audience felt at home with both singer and song. Miss Mylott has a striking stage presence and is an artist to her finger tips.

Perhaps the highest compliment an audience pays a singer is to demand an encore for the last number, Halifax is usually too busy getting ready for home, but Miss Mylott was twice recalled and no one regretted it after hearing her sing "Home Sweet Home."

An Juliet Walker Tompkins says, the the sentiment may be crude and painted in with a heavy brush, but after all it rings and finds its echo in every heart when well sung. Miss Mylott will be long remembered.

Miss Mylott will give a recital in the Bijou Theatre, Digby, tonight, the programme being as follows:—

1. "In Questa Tomba".....Hiltheen
2. "Mon Ours Sauvage".....Saint-Saens
3. "Humoresque".....Debussy
4. "Wedding Day".....Grieg
5. "The Early Morning".....Pee
6. "The Ballad of Kith".....Somerville
7. "The Ballad of Kith".....Somerville
8. "The Ballad of Kith".....Somerville

GOD SAVE THE KING

Married in Weymouth.

A pretty wedding took place in Weymouth North at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Grant, Wednesday, Sept. 24th, at 4.30 when their daughter Ellen (Ellie), was united in marriage to Mr. Wm. J. Martin, of East Jordan, Shelburne Co. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. E. DeWolf, of Margaretville, Annapolis Co. In the presence of about fifty invited guests. The wedding march was played by Mrs. D. Blackadar while the bride entered the parlor on the arm of her father, daintily gowned in white satin de chene, with pearl trimming, wore bridal veil and orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of white carnations and maiden hair fern. Miss Hilda Hogan acted as maid of honor and the Miss E. hel Grant, sister of the bride, as flower girl, carried a basket of sweet peas. They were both dressed in blue silk.

The parlor was beautifully decorated in honor of the happy event with autumn flowers and ferns.

The wedding gifts were numerous and costly, consisting of silverware, hand-painted china, linen, glass and checks, showing the esteem in which both bride and groom are held.

The groom's present to the bride was a beautiful set of Alaska Sable fur, and to the maid of honor gold pendant and chain, to the flower girl a dainty toilet set.

Immediately after the ceremony the wedding supper was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Martin left by auto for Digby and thence to St. John before leaving for their future home in East Jordan. We extend every good wish for the prosperity of the bride and groom, wishing them a long and happy wedded life.

The guests present from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Grant, Mr. F. Hall, Mrs. H. Foul, Miss Grant, Mrs. T. Stubbard and son Bowman, of Yarmouth; Mrs. Martin, Miss Margaret Comman, Mr. Chisholm, Bear River, and Mrs. Omer Denton, Little River, Digby Co.

A High Priced Entertainment.

"Don't you think one dollar is too much to pay to hear Eva Mylott? I can here a good singer for 25cts." Well that depends. Some singers are more expensive at 25cts. than Eva Mylott at one dollar. To pay $1.00 to hear in Digby a singer you would have to pay $2.00 or $3.00 to hear in the larger cities and one that may well be heard here, believe the public will soon be paying $5.00 to hear, is not expensive.

Minard's Liniment Cures Gout in Cows.

Flour trial is essential but— it is not your work!

Flour varies from time to time in baking quality. This is because wheat continually varies according to soil conditions, etc.

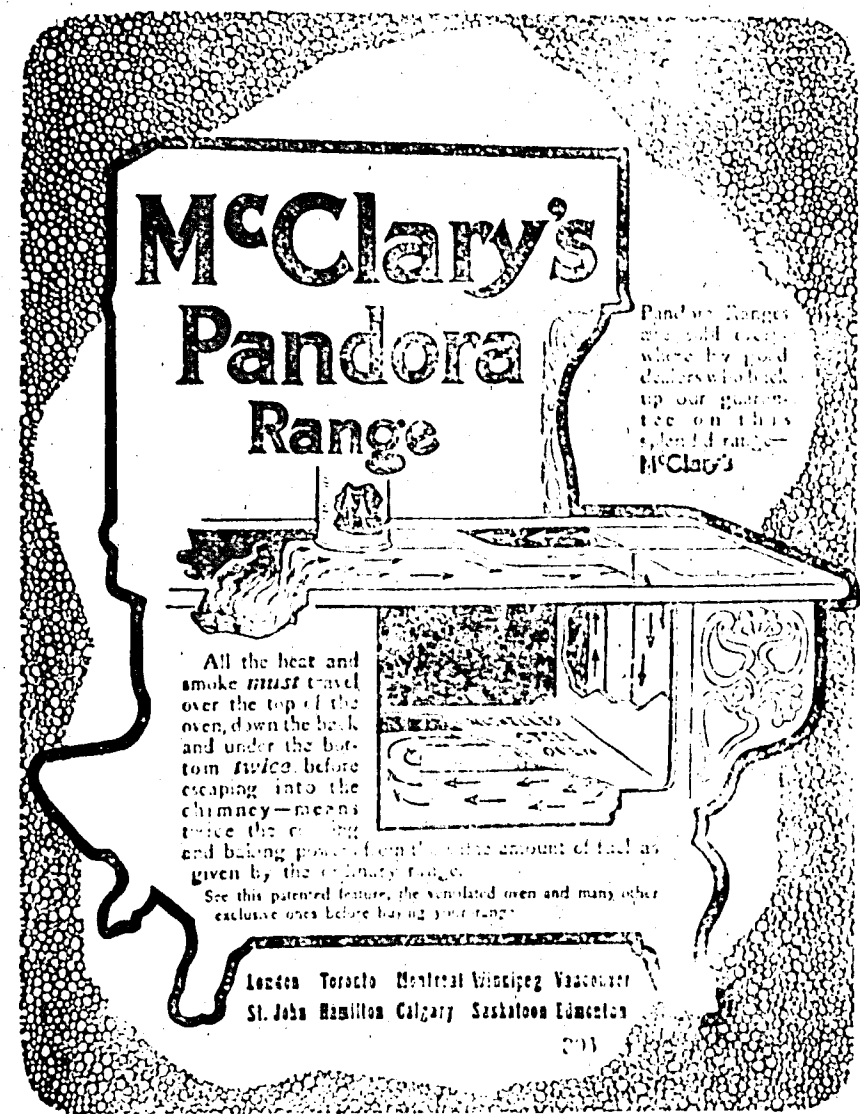

Therefore, if baking results are to be constantly high, baking tests are essential. It is unreasonable to expect you to make these tests at your expense.

PURITY

So from each shipment of wheat delivered at our mills we take a ten pound sample. This is ground into flour. Bread is baked from the flour. If this bread is high in quality and large in quantity, we use the shipment. Otherwise we sell it.

By simply asking for FLOUR bearing this name you can always be sure of more bread and better bread.

"More Bread and Better Bread" and "Better Pastry Too"

McClary's Pandora Range

All the heat and smoke must travel over the top of the oven, down the back and under the bottom before escaping into the chimney—means twice the cooking and baking power for the same amount of fuel as given by the ordinary range.

See this patented feature, the standard oven and many other exclusive ones before buying your range.

WOMEN CURED AT HOME

Women's disorders always yield from the very beginning of the treatment to the mild but effective action of Orange Lily. Within two or three days after commencing its use the improvement becomes noticeable, and this improvement continues until the patient is completely cured. Orange Lily is an applied or local treatment, and acts directly on the woman's organs, removing the congestion, toning and strengthening the nerves, and restoring perfect circulation in the diseased parts.

In order to convince all suffering women of the value of this remedy, will send a 3-cent box, enough for ten days' treatment, absolutely FREE to each lady sending me her address. MRS. FRANCES E. CURRAN, Windsor, Ont.

The Apple Maggot or Railroad Worm.

A short time ago I issued a note of warning against this pest but at that time the department here did not know of any infestation in the Annapolis fruit belt. Information had come to us of a reported outbreak around Jordantown but we could not locate it. All our men were very busy with the San Jose inspection and it did not seem advisable to interfere with that work. As soon as our men began inspection work west of Annapolis a careful look-out for this pest was maintained. In order to determine the presence of this pest every orchard had to be closely inspected and hundreds of apples had to be cut open in the summer. Mr. A. Kelsall's party was delegated to search the district west of Bear River and further east should the pest be found. Assisted by Mr. H. G. Payne the territory between Bear River on the east, and as far west as any infestation could be found, was closely inspected. As a result of this inspection Mr. Kelsall reports finding apple maggots generally distributed in the district from Bear River to about three miles west of Digby on the main Yarmouth road. The centre of the infestation is around Acadville where several badly infested orchards were found. Unfortunately, the maggot has been discovered quite abundantly in wild apple as well. The pest was found most prevalent in Rough Sweet, Gravensteins and Astrachans as well as the softer kinds of wild apples. A small infestation was found about a mile east of the Bear River Bridge, but none for several miles further east.

It would thus seem that the present outbreak is practically confined to the district from Bear River west to about three miles beyond Digby on the Yarmouth road. In order that the distribution of this pest be restricted as much as possible I am placing Mr. Kelsall in the infested district to give all necessary help and warn fruit growers of the necessity of active control measures. All dropped apples should be gathered every four or five days and fed or burned, not buried. Fruit growers should also closely inspect all wild apple trees and see that any infested fruit is destroyed. When in doubt write the department here and every effort will be made to aid in the work.

If the fruit growers in the infested district will see to it that all wind falls are destroyed by cooking or feeding within a few days after they have fallen it will mean a great reduction in the pest for the coming year. Next year all these orchards as well as wild apple trees should be carefully sprayed with lead arsenate just after the blossoms fall and then about two weeks later. These are the two regular codling moth sprays and in large commercial orchards in badly infested districts have proven successful in controlling this pest. However, full directions will be issued in the spring dealing with the necessary control measures.

At this time it may also be well to warn all buyers to avoid shipping fruit from the infested to infested districts for packing purposes. For in this way culls are so often thrown away and if the maggots are present in the fruit as they frequently are new outbreaks are bound to occur.

Six Masters.

The loss of the six masted schooner George W. Wells, of Boston, was a prominent topic of conversation in shipping circles. Her loss reduces to seven the number of six masted American schooners afloat to-day, the list comprising the Edward B. Winslow, Ruth E. Merrill, Addie M. Lawrence and Edward J. Lawrence of Portland, and the Eleanor A. Percy and W. Young of Bath. The Constable Transportation Co. of Boston, owner of the Wells, has been singularly unfortunate of late years, the fleet of about twenty five sailing vessels, mostly five and six masted, once owned having dwindled down to four, the survivors being the schooners Van Allen, Boughton, Marcus L. Urant, Margaret Haskell and Henry W. Crump. The company some years ago stopped adding to their fleet of sailing vessels, concluding to build steamers instead for the coal carrying trade. They have sold several of the fleet to other parties, but the largest number have been lost at sea.

Tragic Foe on Atlantic Ocean.

PASSENGER ON CAMPAÑA DROWNED BY SHARKS, PERHAPS.

A London cable says: A tragic scene was witnessed by the passengers of the Campania, which arrived at Queenstown yesterday. On the third day out a third class passenger, John Fagan, belonging to the County Mayo, jumped or fell overboard from the top deck. All the passengers were on deck at the time, when a cry of "Man overboard" was raised. The Campania's engines were at once stopped and a boat rowed quickly to aid the drowning man. The passengers, however, were hurried to see a number of sharks in the vicinity, and the fear is entertained that the unfortunate man was devoured, for by the time the boat had arrived at the spot where Fagan struck the water there was no trace of him. It is believed he was insane. The Campania proceeded after an hour's delay.

She Weighs 750 Lbs.

St. Lewis, Mo., Oct. 2.—Her husband, three others, two baggage men and a large freight truck were required to help the stoutest woman who ever passed through St. Louis to board a train here last night. She was Mrs. Lizzie Gion, and according to her husband, tips the beam at 750 pounds. The Gion came here from Cleveland, Ohio. They decided they had covered 9,000 miles in a vain search for a home, and Gion weighs less than 130 pounds. At the time of their marriage Mrs. Gion, who now is 57 years old, weighed 400 pounds, he said.

Four Brides-to-be Killed By Lightning.

BUDAPEST, Sept. 20.—Four girls, who were to become brides Sunday, were killed by lightning, near the village of Nagyvarad. The girls were picking flowers to decorate the church for the wedding. They were overtaken by a storm and took refuge in a grotto, where the lightning struck. The bodies were found in the wreckage late Sunday night.

A GREAT BELIEVER IN "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Well Known Ontario
Merchant Has Faith Because "Fruit-a-tives" Cured Him

MR. JAMES DOBSON

BROMPTON, ONT., MARCH 1st, 1912.

"Fruit-a-tives has made a complete cure in my case of Rheumatism, that had at least five years standing before I commenced the treatment. The trouble was principally in my right hip and shoulder, the pain from it was almost unendurable. Not being able to sleep on that side, if I chanced to turn on my right side while asleep, the pain would immediately awaken me. This kept up until I started taking 'Fruit-a-tives'. I started by taking one or two tablets with a large glass of water, in the morning before breakfast and experienced pronounced relief very shortly. After a continued treatment for about six months, I was cured and am now in first-class health. This, I attribute to my persistent use of 'Fruit-a-tives' and I heartily recommend your remedy to any Rheumatic sufferers."

FALLING HAIR

Many People Have a Simple Way of Stopping it—They Use Parisian Sage.

It was Dr. Sangerbon of Paris, who first discovered that dandruff and falling hair were caused by a microbe. And now that Parisian Sage, the remedy that kills the dandruff germ, is sold in every town in Canada, the people of this country have awakened to the fact that dandruff is unnecessary; that falling hair and itching scalp can be quickly stopped, and that the people who use Parisian Sage will never grow bald.

To every reader of the COURIER who wishes to eradicate offensive dandruff, stop falling hair and have an immaculate clean scalp, free from itching, H. E. Jones says he will sell Parisian Sage in a large fifty cent bottle with a guarantee to refund the money if not satisfied. It is an ideal, daintily perfumed hair dressing, free from grease and stickiness that will put life and beauty into dull faded hair and cause it to grow lustrous and luxuriant.

EVERYTHING FOR PICKLING AT THE "BIG STORE"

What is home without Pickles? Most housekeepers take to making pickles like ducks to water. It's almost second nature. There is not much use having the pickling art down to a fine point if you do not have the best quality vinegars and spices.

The "Big Store" has for years made a specialty of high quality materials for pickle makers. For instance:

Pickling Spices for 18c a pound, Tumeric for 20c a pound, Coriander Seed for 15c a pound, Curry Powder for 40c a pound, Mace for $1.00 a pound, Genuine English Malt Vinegar 50c a gallon, Genuine Apple Cider Vinegar 30c a gallon, White Wine and Malt Vinegar, Canadian manufacture for 30c a gallon. Freight paid on orders of $10 and over except when for Sugar. Flour and such heavy goods.

WILL YOU USE

U. M. C. Ammunition?

Why! Because you can shoot it all day and never feel the jar and can get as much game if not more. A dealer says use Dominion because it was practically the only ammunition used at the Guides' Meet here. That is very true, but why! because it was given to them. I shot it at the meet and must say I carried a swelled cheek and a black shoulder for some time.

A dealer saw one of our customers with a box of U. M. C. and said "I say they are a small load." "I say they are all wads." So for the sake of our customers we got one from Mr. Dealer and compared it with U. M. C. and the result is in our window. Judge for yourself.

We carry Dominion, Kynoch, Eley and U. M. C. Ammunition, but when I want a good day's shoot I use U. M. C.

You Know Us

We are in business right here where you live. You are an acquaintance, neighbor or a friend of ours. This money-back-if-not-satisfied offer should prove the sincerity of our claims.

When we say we believe we have the best laxative and back up our statement with our unqualified promise to return without question or formality the money paid us for it, if it does not prove entirely satisfactory to you, we believe we are entitled to your confidence.

Our business success and prestige depend upon your confidence in us. We know we must secure and hold your confidence in order to get and keep your patronage. Therefore, we would not dare make this offer if we were not positively certain that we can prove our claims for

Regal Orderlies

Our experience with them and the many reports we have received from those who have used them prove that they are really the most pleasing and satisfactory bowel remedy we know of.

Regal Orderlies taste like candy. They are soothing and easy in action. They don't cause griping, nausea, purging or excessive looseness, as do the usual physic or laxative. Regal Orderlies seem to act as a tonic-strengthening upon the nerves and muscles of the bowels. They promptly relieve constipation. They act to overcome the cause of constipation. They tend to eliminate the cause of sick headache, biliousness, bad breath, nervousness and other ills attendant upon inactive bowels.

Make Us Prove This

We want you to come to our store and get a package of Regal Orderlies. Use a few or use up the entire box. Then, if you are not entirely satisfied, come back and tell us and we will promptly return the money you paid us for them.

Don't you now believe that Regal Orderlies are worthy of a trial? Could any offer be more fair?

Try Them at Our Risk

We particularly recommend Regal Orderlies for children, aged persons and for delicate people. Regal Orderlies come in vest-pocket tin boxes, 12 tablets, 10c; 30 tablets, 25c; 80 tablets, 50c. Usual dose one tablet.

Life Indications on Mars.

Investigations recently conducted upon an elaborate scale at the great observatory of Flagstaff, Ariz., proved to the satisfaction of many astronomers that the network of canals on the planet Mars is evidence of mighty efforts of the part of the Martians to preserve the fast diminishing supply of water. The telescope has revealed that Mars is evidently a world of unusual beauty, but bearing signs of great age, a planet inhabited by intelligent beings, but a world which has reached the period when its seas have practically dried up. The heretofore startling claims of Prof. Percival Lowell, who was one of the first scientists to insist that Mars is the abode of a race of highly civilized people, are now being ably supported by Prof. James H. Worthington, another noted scientist, who says that there can no longer remain any doubt of the existence of canal builders on Mars. The same authority also declares that the construction of these canals is made comparatively easy because the Martians have no mountains to contend with.

In another section of his report on this interesting subject, Prof. Worthington says: "Assuming that the Martian atmosphere exerts a pressure of 2 1/2 inches of mercury upon the surface—and it can scarcely be greater for water would boil at a temperature of 111 degrees F. That the solar energy falling on Mars is certainly not less than that which heats the rocks of the Sahara to at least 130 degrees F., it is clear that evaporation is much more rapid there than here; and, consequently water travelling in an open channel would evaporate long before it reached the tropics of the planet, a journey which we know, occupies several weeks.

It is therefore probable that the water is called something akin to pipes, and this is rendered the more plausible by the fact that the water does not flow naturally but is driven, a conclusion to which the shape of the planet has led us." The professor further declares that, on account of the weakness of gravity on Mars, it is probable that, though water may be scarce, yet the commoner parts of the earth's atmosphere may be present there.

Among these gases are those which make life possible here namely: water vapor, oxygen, nitrogen and carbon dioxide. It appears therefore that we are justified in concluding that the atmosphere of Mars may be like our own, though less dense and that it is disappearing gradually.

Watch for the Eclipse

IT WILL COME IN 1991 AND WILL BE A REMARKABLE ONE.

For long distance predicting Professor David Todd of Amherst has made his mark, for he has expressed the opinion that on July 11, 1991, on the mountain peak of Popocatepetl or Orizaba, in Mexico, there will be a great gathering of astronomers and other scientists, possibly a greater gathering than any one of the sort ever taking place before that time, says the Saturday Evening Post.

He has determined that on that date there will be the finest eclipse of the sun ever known since eclipses were first predicted with certainty, and the peaks will be the choicest grand stand seats for the performance.

As eclipses are the only opportunities for studying certain qualities of the sun and sunlight and as the energy from the sun, which supports all life on earth, is arousing more and more study because of the possibilities for human progress it offers, he feels certain that in 1991 there will be even more interest in eclipses than there is at present.

Cheapest Place in the World.

"The cheapest place in the world is Antioch in Syria," says a returned traveller. "Being on the Mediterranean, the climate is just right in the colder months. I once passed a winter there and all it cost me was a pound a week, though I leased a fine house and kept three servants. For the house I paid twenty shillings a month rent, while the servants were satisfied with two shillings a week. Mutton cost three half pence a pound, eggs were a penny a dozen and chickens two pence half penny each. The finest of fresh fruit and vegetables (in February too!) were so cheap that they were not sold in quantity. You got all you wanted for so much per week. All I required for my house hold cost me one shilling weekly. An American resident of Antioch told me that he and his family lived comfortably on thirty five pounds a year."

Women and Poultry.

Miss Mabel Thomson, of St. John, has been presented by her father, Mr. Robert Thomson, of the great shipping and insurance firm of Wm. Thomson & Company, with a fine farm near Hampton, N. B., twenty three miles from St. John. Miss Thomson will conduct a poultry farm, beginning with between two and three thousand hens. Miss E. Harrison, who for some time conducted in Yorkshiro, England, a training farm for the instruction of women in dairy and poultry farming, will be Miss Thomson's superintendent, and the farm will be conducted on scientific principles. Miss Thomson, the proprietor, is well known in Canada, the United States and Great Britain as a golf champion.

Concrete is the cheapest building material

WHETHER for a silo, a mill-house, or a million bushel grain elevator, concrete is the most economical building material in use today.

Concrete never requires repairs, and the saving in repair-expense alone makes the greater economy of using concrete more apparent every day. The cost of other building materials is constantly increasing. The cost of concrete is being reduced.

Canada Cement

which Canadian farmers use, with their own sand, stone and gravel to make concrete, is the only ingredient you have to buy.

We have, by reason of our large output and scientific methods, been able to bring the price of "Canada" Cement so low that it is within the reach of everyone.

An increase in demand results in a greater economy of production, and when conditions have warranted it, we have, from time to time, shared this saving with the consumer by reducing the price of Canada Cement. This demand will continue to increase—as fast as farmers learn of concrete's superiority over other materials.

When you buy cement, see that you get "Canada" Cement; by so doing you will assure the complete success of all your concrete work. Send a post card for our book "What the Farmer Can do With Concrete." It is free.

There is a Canada Cement dealer in your neighborhood.

Synopsis of Coal Mining Regulations

COAL mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2,500 acres will be leased to one applicant. Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights apply for are situated. In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal subdivisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for must be sketched out by the applicant himself. Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the net marketable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton. The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of marketable coal mined and for the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year. The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $100 an acre. For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

WOMAN A GREAT SUFFERER

Tells How She Was Restored To Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Tilbury, Ont.—"I could praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound all around the world because it has done so much for me. For two years I was so run down that I was unable to do my work. I had female weakness and dreadful periodic pains, constipation and backache, but now I am well of all these things. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Liver Pills and Sanative Wash. I give you permission to publish this letter to help others. —Mrs. WILFRED MAR CHAND, Box 464, Tilbury, Ontario, Can.

Case of Mrs. Tully. Chicago, Ill.—"I take pleasure in writing to thank you for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered with such awful periodic pains, and had a displacement, and received no benefit from the doctors. I was advised to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and am now as well as ever." —Mrs. WILLIAM TULLY, 2522 Ogden Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

TWO KISSES.

Formerly railroad cars passing through tunnels were not lighted as they are now.

A number of episodes have been recorded of affectionate action in these dark holes in the ground, and kisses have been surreptitiously taken.

Leonard Starkweather, a young man of some twenty-one years, and proportionately inexperienced, took one of these kisses, and it led to no end of worry on his part. He finally paid the penalty.

He was travelling with Miss Gwendolyn Stewart, a young lady two years his junior. Miss Stewart had one of those complexions which can only be compared to a ripe peach of a light shade, a pale rose on ivory. Her lips were of that same shade of pink and quit tempting enough to cause any man to wreck himself to touch them with his own.

Starkweather had been introduced to her by a mutual friend before the train started and she had been put under his care. This rendered his act all the more dishonorable.

The better to cover his tracks, the kiss was stolen with malice aforethought. He told the young lady just before the train entered the long tunnel, the location of which he well knew, that he was going into the smoking car for a while to get a cigar.

Instead of doing so he went into the next car back, where he remained till the train shot under the hill. The young lady sat on the right of the car, the eighth seat from the rear. This he had carefully noted. Putting his hand on the back of every seat till he reached the eighth, he felt carefully till he had noted Miss Stewart's position, then quietly bent down and took the kiss.

A muffled cry was heard above the rattle of the train, but when the car shot out into the light there was no evidence of anything wrong. Starkweather had made good his escape and Miss Stewart was apparently endeavoring to regain her composure by fumbling with her handkerchief, which she was examining as though she had bought it at a bargain counter and doubted if she had not been sold as well as the linen.

Half an hour passed—quite enough to enable her to quiet down after the episode—when Mr. Starkweather returned to his seat beside her, bringing with him the odor of tobacco smoke. He was a trifle nervous, but felt relieved to find Miss Stewart quite composed. He expected that she would tell him of the outrage that had been inflicted upon her and ask him to take measures to discover the perpetrator. He was surprised that she didn't mention the matter and considered her reticence from doing so due to maidenly modesty.

But Miss Stewart's treatment of her escort was somewhat different from what it had been. An innocent freedom was replaced by a slight reserve. The ingenuousness, the confidence—call it what you will—of girlhood seemed to have departed from her. Occasionally Starkweather caught her looking up at him sideways with an expression that he could not fathom. He began to be troubled lest she had known or at least divined that he was the man who had inflicted her. But how could she have got any inkling of this? When he kissed her not a ray of light had penetrated the car. He had felt no touch. His face was smoothly shaven, so that no pointer could have been obtained from the character of a beard. No, it was simply impossible that she should have any evidence of having been kissed by him. This being the case, why should she have withdrawn that outspoken confidence with which she had treated him? And yet it was not a turning against him, it was rather like that contentment which comes between friends of different sexes when the man lets go friendship to grasp at love.

Starkweather looked upon a young girl as something too holy to be profaned. This is a characteristic of youth, and another is a great sensitivity to woman's treatment. His thought was to him like that of the Spartan boy who stole the wolf—not criminal so long as he was not found out. The way had the wolf under his coat and let it gnaw the flesh away rather than that it should be discovered. Starkweather began to believe that Miss Stewart knew that he had kissed her. Perhaps if he had been sure of this it would have been more tolerable than the uncertainty under which he suffered. The horrible situation! An innocent girl had been put under his care, and he had kissed her in a tunnel. Should she really know that he had so betrayed a trust possible before they parted she might resent the outrage as it deserved. The thought was maddening.

They arrived at their destination after dark. Starkweather saw the young lady to her home, leaving her at her door. In the light of a street lamp he stood, half expecting that she would give evidence of her scorn. Instead she turned up to him those lips that had tempted him. What did it mean? He didn't stop to ask. He kissed them.

"Did you know I kissed you in the tunnel?" he asked.

In reply she gave him his handkerchief with his initials on it, which she had pulled out of his pocket when the kiss was taken.

"Are we engaged?" she asked.

"Of course."

Foolish Mothers.

We know of a short sighted, indulgent mother, who, in her great love for her young daughter, is sacrificing ease, luxury, even health itself. They are people in moderate circumstances, and upon the mother has fallen the triple duties of seamstress, laundry woman and cook. What if her back did ache and her eyes grow dim, her daughter's clothing must be mended and tucked and trimmed until it was as fine as that of other girls, or a little finer if possible. What if her heart was failing from the heat and drudgery of the close kitchen, her daughter's dainty appetite must be gratified. And does she allow her daughter to share in this work? Does she teach her that the happiest household is one founded on the true communistic idea, where all share equally in the work and in the pleasure? No, her daughter's hands must be kept soft and white for the piano. They must do nothing coarser than the daintiest fancy work. And she must have plenty of outdoor exercises, that her complexion shall not lose its bloom. She must have recreation, too; and so, when there are concerts and lectures and entertainments, the daughter must always go, while the mother, whom they would so much benefit and rest, cannot spare the time, or else cannot afford to go.

And how has this course of training fitted the girl for her struggle with the world. It will not put her as her mother has done. On the contrary, there is a kind of envy or jealousy in struggling human nature, which makes it all the more harsh to one who has always been shielded from its battle. But if the mother love should still be spared for the protection of its object, in its blindness it has robbed that daughter of her most precious birthright—mother's companionship.

For this woman has no time left from her self imposed duties for the improvement of her mind. She seldom looks at a newspaper or a magazine; as for a book, she cannot remember the last one that she read! So, when the daughter has some across facts in her studies that are now and interesting to her, and would gladly have talked them over to her mother, she has found that her mother has either forgotten about them or else never heard of them, so she has gradually given up the attempt to talk on such subjects, for instead of entertaining her mother, she only seemed to weary and embarrass her. Their conversation, therefore, is limited to the most commonplace subjects, and the daughter seeks confidants among those who have time to become cultured and intelligent companions. Can you not, foolish mothers, for the evil thus presented, find a remedy?

A Profitable Subscriber.

A Western editor received the following letter: "Please send me a few copies of the paper that had the obituary and verses about the death of my child a week or so ago. Also publish the enclosed clipping about my niece's marriage. And I wish you would mention in your local columns, if it doesn't cost anything, that I have two bull calves to sell. Send me a couple of extra copies of the paper this week. As my subscription is out, please stop my paper. Times is too hard to waste money on news papers."

Westhaver to Westport, where the latter engaged a team and drove to Western light to visit his brother-in-law, Mr. Brad. Morrell, the popular keeper of the Brier Island fog alarm. The party was conveyed through Digby Neck by Harry Hersey and on Long Island by Mr. Edward Blackford. The entire trip, though a long one, proved very enjoyable.

SHIPPING AND FISHING

Schr. Annie arrived at Boston from Salmon River Oct. 3rd.

Schr. C. D. Pickles arrived at Gulfport from Savannah, Oct. 3rd.

Schr. Fairfield arrived at Cienfuegos from Weymouth Sept. 29th.

Capt. Joseph E. Snow's shipments this week: 200 boxes tinned haddies.

S. S. Pastores, Capt. H. A. Henshaw, arrived at New York from Colon, Sept. 29th.

Arrivals at the Nova Scotia Fish Company's: From boatmen, 10,200 lbs. of mixed fish; shipped 420 boxes of tinned haddies.

Schr. Dorothy M. Smart, Capt. William Snow, arrived here last night from the fishing grounds. She hails for 90,000 lbs. of mixed fish.

Schr. Rolfe and Levuka, which left here this week for Parraboro, have each been chartered by W. E. VanBlarcom to return to Digby with soft coal.

Steamer Bear River, which left Monday for St. John, took among other cargo from Digby, 56,000 staves that came in by rail from H. F. Warner's mill.

Patrol Boat A, in command of Capt. Hadley Blackford, made a record run from Tiverton to Digby during a fresh south-east breeze on Thursday of last week.

Arrivals at the Maritime Fish Corporation this week: Schr. Cora Gertie, 16,320 lbs. of haddock, 4,547 lbs. of hake, 2,975 lbs. of cod, and 155 lbs. of cusk, other sources, 40,850 lbs. of haddock.

Schooner Maple Leaf passed in Sunday from Windsor for Annapolis and the schooner J. L. Colwell, which passed in the same day from Boston for Annapolis, are chartered to load brick for the St. John sugar refineries.

Schr. Bobb, Captain Robinson, sailed Sunday for Boston, with wood shipped by H. Hicks, at Clementsport. She was caught by the tide while going out of Digby Gut and driven back and has since been anchored off Port Wade.

Mr. P. A. Theriault's new three-masted schooner was successfully launched at Belliveau's Cove last week. She will register two hundred tons and will be commanded by Capt. Theriault, late of the three-master Eddie Theriault, now owned in Halifax.

The tern schooner Lady of Avon, now at Annapolis loading lumber, goes to a port on the north side of Cuba. A. D. Mills and Son are supplying the cargo. This firm is also to load the tern schooner Catherine V. Mills, now due, with lumber for north side Cuba.

Besides the bark Calburga, which they have chartered to load a million feet of lumber at Digby for the River Platta, the firm of Clarke Bros., Bear River, have chartered the tern schooners Calia W., 353 tons, now at St. John, and Catharine, 250 tons, now at Bangor, to load lumber for Cienfuegos.

Schooner Onward, now loading piling at Port Wade for Boston, will lay up for the winter after she gets back from this trip. She has earned considerable money for Captain Johnson this year. Previous to going into the American trade last spring the Onward carried sand from Digby to Annapolis for ballast along the D. A. R.

The schooner Georgie Linwood, recently owned by Mr. Alden Elliott, of Tiverton, and sold recently to Chezzetcook, Halifax county parties for a freighter, was a former fisherman out of Digby and made considerable money for her owners, who sold her when they bought a larger vessel. The Linwood was one of the smartest sailers out of this port.

Fish receipts at Gloucester for the month of July, according to the Bureau of Fisheries were 3,989,594 pounds of fresh, representing in value $79,450 and 3,749,210 pounds of salt, valued at $150,388. Vessels and steamers landed 9,517,435 pounds of fresh fish, valued at $329,547, and 19,400 pounds of salt fish, valued at $576 at Boston, for the same length of time.

A St. John's, Nfld., despatch says: The schooners Mildred and Jean, which arrived Monday from Pernambuco, made unique round trips. They both left here July 19th, and reached Pernambuco within an hour of each other. They left for the home port the same day, and within a couple of hours of each sailing. They reached here in 25 days, the difference in the passages being about 15 minutes.

The following vessels have reported at the Digby Customs House since Oct. 2nd: Inward—Oct. 3rd, schr. Levuka, Ogilvie, Parraboro, N. S.; 6th, schr. Cora Gertie, Crocker, Freeport; 7th, schr. Rolfe, Rowe, Parraboro; 8th, schr. Dora, Canning, Sandy Cove; schr. Ariadne, Clifford, Annapolis. Outward—3rd, Schr. Levuka, Ogilvie, Annapolis; 6th, schr. Cora Gertie, Crocker, Freeport; schr. Dora, Canning, Annapolis; 8th, schr. Rolfe, Rowe, Parraboro, N. S.

Commodore Taylor, of the Atlantic Yacht Squadron, and party, who have been cruising in his beautiful yacht around the Maritime Provinces for the past month, sailed for New York this week. While in Nova Scotia they made headquarters at Halifax and made many friends while there. They seemed delighted with their cruise and hope to return next season. Mr. and Mrs. Callahan and her daughter, Miss Bryco-Gray, were of the party.

The schrs. Jennie B. Hodgdon and Flo F. Mader arrived in Boston on Friday, one day too soon to save $4,875 in duties on their fares. The former brought in a fare of 275,000 pounds, on which the duty was $2,062.50. The Mader brought 375,000 pounds, with $2,812.50 duty. These vessels belong to Lunenburg County, and had they remained out one day later, the fish would have been entitled to free entry. Of course the captains knew nothing of the change in the tariff, as they were direct from the Grand Banks.

The S. S. Prince Rupert, which arrived at New York some days ago, is still at Hoboken where she will undergo extensive alterations. The hold between decks which was always used for freight space, will be converted into a spacious and grand dining saloon and the galley will be shifted forward of the paddle boxes. The firemen's quarters will be shifted to where the galley is at present and the lower hold will be put in condition to accommodate second class passengers and will have an entrance where the officers' quarters are at present. The captain, first, second and third officers will have a new house immediately aft of the pilot house, while the chief, second mate and third engineers will be given new quarters just abaft the funnel and a wireless house on the same deck put further aft. There will be a separate galley in the crew's quarters forward. The full plans are not as yet completed and it is thought that the ship will be in New York for about three months.

Parker's Cove.

(October 3.)

Sorry to report Mr. Henry Sarty on the sick list.

Schr. Lloyd, Anderson, sailed for St. John Oct. 1st.

Mr. Fred Milner is home from Boston for a few days.

Mrs. W. H. Anderson has been visiting friends in Karsdale.

Miss Ellis, of Victoria Beach, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Wear.

Mr. Arthur Wear and Howard Clayton visited friends in Victoria Beach over Sunday.

Mrs. Bernard Longmire and baby were the guests of her mother, Mrs. May Rice last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bohaker, of Karsdale, visited Mrs. Bohaker and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Halliday over Sunday.

Schr. Ethel May, R. C. Hudson, sailed for Annapolis Royal Oct. 2nd with a load of fish for Mr. Percy Halliday, of Hillsburn.

A Wonderful Discovery.

An eminent scientist, the other day, gave his opinion that the most wonderful discovery of recent years was the discovery of Zam-Buk. Just think! As soon as a single thin layer of Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or a sore, such injury is insured against blood poisoning! Not one species of microbe has been found that Zam-Buk does not kill!

Then again. As soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a sore, or a cut, or to skin disease, it stops the smarting. That is why children are such friends of Zam-Buk. They care nothing for the science of the thing. All they know is that Zam-Buk stops their pain. Mothers should never forget this.

Again. As soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or to a diseased part, the cells beneath the skin's surface are so stimulated that new healthy tissue is quickly formed. This forming of fresh healthy tissue from below is Zam-Buk's secret of healing. The tissue thus formed is worked up to the surface and literally casts off the diseased tissue above it. This is why Zam-Buk cures are permanent.

Only the other day Mr. Marsh, of 101 Delorimier Ave., Montreal, called upon the "Zam-Buk" Company and told them that for over twenty-five years he had been a martyr to eczema. His hands were at one time so covered with sores that he had to sleep in gloves. Four years ago Zam-Buk was introduced to him, and in a few months it cured him. Today—over three years after his cure of a disease he had for twenty-five years—he is still cured, and has had no trace of any return of the eczema!

All druggists sell Zam-Buk at 50c. box, or we will send free trial box if you send this advertisement and a 1c. stamp (to pay return postage). Address Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CO., LIMITED.

Sirs,—I came across a bottle of your MINARD'S LINIMENT in the hands of one of the students at the University of Maryland, and he being so kind as to let me use it for a very bad sprain, which I obtained in training for foot races, and to say that it helped me would be putting it very mildly, and I therefore ask if you would let me know of one of your agents that is closest to Baltimore so that I may obtain some of it. Thanking you in advance I remain,

Yours truly,

Cause for Alarm

Loss of appetite or distress after eating—a symptom that should not be disregarded.

It is not what you eat but what you digest and assimilate that does you good. Some of the strongest, healthiest, persons are moderate eaters. Nothing will cause more trouble than a disordered stomach, and many people contract serious maladies through disregard or abuse of the stomach.

We urge all who suffer from indigestion, or dyspepsia, to try Resall Dyspepsia Tablets, with the understanding that we will refund the money paid us without question or formality, if after use you are not perfectly satisfied with results.

You can get Resall Dyspepsia Tablets at your druggist or by mail, and have got to hear of one who has not been benefited. We believe them to be without equal. They give prompt relief, aiding to neutralize acidity, stimulate flow of gastric juice, strengthen the digestive organs, and thus promote perfect nutrition and correct unhealthy symptoms. Three sizes, 25 cents, 50 cents, and $1.00.

You can buy Resall Dyspepsia Tablets in this community only at our store:

Town Council.

The Town Council met Sept. 23d at 8 p. m. Present His Worship the Mayor and Councillors Rice, Jordan, Shortliffe, Jones and Denton.

The minutes of the last meeting of the Council were read and approved.

The report of G. A. Vye, Superintendent of Streets and Water, was read as follows:

Digby, Sept. 23d, 1913.

To His Worship the Mayor and Council.

GENTLEMEN: I beg to submit the following report to Streets and Water.

Repairs were made on Harquette Hill and three new plank bridges put in on Bay road. Filled in five large washouts caused by recent rains and repairs made on sidewalks. One leaky standpipe repaired.

(Sgd.) G. A. VYE.

On motion the report was received and adopted.

The report of Dr. W. F. Read, Health Officer, was read as follows:

Digby, Sept. 1, 1913.

To His Worship the Mayor and Council.

I beg to submit my report as Health Officer for the quarter ending Sept. 1.

The usual routine work has been done chiefly in the matter of sewerage and repairs to same, disinfecting and clearing of offensive fecal and the general health has been remarkably well preserved.

(Sgd.) W. F. READ, Health Officer.

On motion the report was received and adopted.

A notice of an intended action against the town given by F. W. Nichols, solicitor of Mrs. Etta Warne, for damages for an alleged overflow of water on her land, was read.

This matter was discussed at length and finally it was moved by Councillors Shortliffe and Jones and carried that the notice lie on the table.

The following bills were read, viz:—

J. C. Hand-picker	$14.00
C. L. Woodworth	38.00
G. A. Vye	1.25
Sanderson & Duffin	10.75

Wm. W. Jones	1.00
W. W. Hayden	3.50
W. E. Vanillaroam	33.00
H. W. F. Read	12.00
Dr. W. F. Read	22.00
Maritime Tel. & Tel. Co.	2.25
Municipality of Annapolis	28.65
Industrious School Halls	40.00
Municipality of Digby	82.15
Town of Middleton	31.00
St. Paul Street	88.00

On motion of Councillors Rice and Shortliffe the bills were ordered to be paid.

Moved by Councillors Denton and Jones that the town render to Mr. Hardy Bent a bill of the cost of maintenance of his son at the Industrial School, Halifax, and request that he come forward and make arrangements for settlement.

The matter of water supply to the D. A. Ry. engines was again brought up and it was moved by Councillor Rice and carried that a new agreement be made with the D. A. Ry. to supply their engines with water for the sum of $250.00 a year, payable in advance under the same conditions as the former agreement.

On motion of Councillors Jordan and Shortliffe, it was resolved that Mr. H. W. Bowles, Chief of Police, be granted two weeks' vacation with the understanding that he pay his substitute for one week.

On motion of Councillors Denton and Shortliffe the Committee on Public Property was requested to notify the Superintendent of Streets to have the public slip taken up and stored and the Pavilion closed up for the year.

On motion of Councillors Jordan and Rice it was ordered that all taxes in arrears after Oct. 23d, without any exception whatever, be placed under warrant for collection.

On motion of Councillors Jones and Rice it was resolved that the necessary process be taken for the disposing of properties for the collection of all taxes on real estate in arrears for three years or upwards.

On motion of Councillors Denton and Jones the Clerk was instructed to write the Maritime Telegraph and Telephone Company for permission to put the fire alarm wires on their poles.

The matter of fire alarms was left in the hands of the Fire Committee to report at next meeting.

On motion the Council adjourned at 10:15 p. m.

The Meeting at Bay View.

Of all the meetings held this year under the auspices of the Digby Co. Farmers' Association, none were more successful than that which took place at Bay View on Saturday evening last. In spite of the inclemency of the weather there was a fair attendance and everyone present was thoroughly interested in the subject under discussion. Mr. Jefferson Justice, one of our summer tourists, was the chairman. This genial gentleman also gave an excellent speech, and did much to make the meeting a success. The other speakers of the evening were the Rev. Mr. Lindsay, Pastor of the Bay View Presbyterian church, Messrs. Edgar Warner, Chas. Adams, Maynard Turnbull, Hart Hayden, W. A. Bacon and others. After the meeting was over each one left the house feeling that a profitable evening had been spent. During our stay in Bay View we were very much impressed with the kind hospitality of its people.

A Reception.

On Wednesday evening, Oct. 1, at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vantassel, Mt. Pleasant, an at home reception was held in honor of the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Hillyard Barnes. At 7 o'clock 30 invited guests sat down to a dainty supper, after which phonographic music and games were enjoyed until 9:30 when ice cream and cake were served. All enjoyed a social chat, breaking up at a late hour, after having spent a very enjoyable time.

A Neat Little Income.

Mr. Alexander McKay, of Brighton, has just completed the gathering of his cranberries in a little secluded spot down in the lower part of his field and from considerable less than a quarter of an acre of ground he has picked twenty-two bushels and three pecks of cranberries. These berries are said to be of an excellent quality and find a ready market.

The question has been asked which is the most profitable a cranberry bog or a gold mine?

Wedding at North Range.

A very quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. Beechman Thelght, the bride's father, North Range, Digby, on the 23d ult. when their daughter Ada, was married to Frank Thelght, a very prominent butcher of the same place. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. H. McLeod.

Don't forget the regular meeting of the Western Nova Scotia Yacht Club in their rooms next Monday night.

TO BENEFIT OTHER SUFFERERS

You May Publish My Letter About "Fruit-a-lives"

Mr. Jones is proud to acknowledge the great debt of gratitude he owes "Fruit-a-lives". He is glad to have his letter published in order that other sufferers may be induced to try these wonderful tablets made of fruit juices.

SARNIA, ONT., Feb. 5th, 1911

"I have been a sufferer for the past 25 years with Constipation, Indigestion and Catarrh of the Stomach. I tried many remedies and many doctors, but derived no benefit whatever. Finally, I read an advertisement for 'Fruit-a-lives'. I decided to give 'Fruit-a-lives' a trial and they did exactly what was claimed for them. I have now taken them for some time and find they are the only remedy that does me good. I have recommended 'Fruit-a-lives' to a great many of my friends, and I cannot praise these fruit tablets too highly."

Must You Be Bald?

What have you done to stop your hair from falling? Have you tried Rexall "93" Hair Tonic? If not, we want you to try it at our risk.

If you have dandruff, if your hair is falling out and your scalp is not clean and healthy, if you use Rexall "93" Hair Tonic according to directions for thirty days, and at the end of that time you are not thoroughly satisfied with the results and will tell us so, we will immediately hand back your money. We won't ask you to promise anything. We won't even question you. We will take your word and return your money.

Doesn't it stand to reason that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic must be a mighty good remedy and have given great satisfaction to our customers if we endorse it like this? We know of no similar remedy that is as good. It is because of what Rexall "93" Hair Tonic has done for others that we back it with our own money.

Why suffer scalp and hair trouble or be bald, when Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will remove dandruff, make your scalp comfortable and healthy, promote hair growth and tend to prevent baldness—when we will pay for the treatment should it fail to please you?

We don't obligate you to anything. You simply buy the treatment; use it, and if not pleased, come back to us empty-handed—and we will hand back what you paid us. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00 a bottle. You can buy Rexall "93" Hair Tonic in this community only at our store:

WILL YOU USE

U. M. C. Ammunition?

Why? Because you can shoot it all day and never feel the jar and can get as much game if not more.
A dealer says use Dominion because it was practically the only ammunition used at the Guides' Meet here.
That is very true, but why? because it was given to them. I shot it at the meet and must say I carried a swelled cheek and a black shoulder for some time.

A dealer saw one of our customers with a box of U. M. C. and said
"I say they are a small load." "I

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of the Courier

SIR:—In looking over the last issue of your valuable paper, I became very much interested in a communication from Cape Breton, "A Great Need." His description of that long and almost unbroken line of settlement from Yarmouth to Digby (and of which Sam Sheik said was the longest-legged village that he knew of) was good, and justly portrayed the beauties of this charming section of country, and which only needs a modern line of travel to make it one of the first places in this loyal old province as a tourist resort. Affording innumerable places for summer homes, bringing rest and vigor to those whose lives are largely spent in the din and confusion of the city.

And whilst your correspondent is advocating a line of railway along and shore (which looks rather misty and far into the future) I, for one, would propose a tramway from Yarmouth to Digby and thence to Bear River.

That I believe would supply the "Great Need" now existing; more quickly accomplished, and at much less cost. I would suggest that "Booster Clubs," or Boards of Trade be organized all along the line, at as early a date as possible, and that soon after, a mass meeting be convened at some central place (say Weymouth) and there and then devise ways and means of bringing about the much needed line of travel.

An attempt was made, during the early summer, to establish a Board of Trade at Burton and Brighton; but for the want of united action nothing has been accomplished. I sincerely hope that an effort will be made to reorganize, feeling assured that good work can be done in this way and by unity of purpose. Now let us hear from others who are interested in the good and welfare of this beautiful section of country; over their own signature. Trusting that the "Great Need" will not end in mere talk or newspaper correspondence.

Yours for Progress,
WALLACE O. DENTON.
Boston, Digby Co., Oct. 1st, 1913.

Killed by a Corpse

An extraordinary occurrence at Corunna is reported by the Madrid correspondent of the Telegraph. In the upper story of a house in that town lay the dead body of an old woman. Suddenly the floor of the room collapsed, and the corpse fell on a group of men in the room below. One of the men died from the injuries caused by the falling corpse, and the others were severely hurt. A curious coincidence is that the man who was killed had gone to the house to present an outstanding account, not knowing that his debtor had died.

Belong to a Marine Family.

(Sackville Post.)
Captain Rupert Anderson, commander of a large steamer which plies along the Pacific coast of South America, has come home to Sackville for a vacation. The captain is a son of the late Captain George Anderson, a grandson of Captain Titus Anderson, a nephew of Captain Tom Anderson, and a brother of Captain Tesse and Captain Ernest Anderson.

Hint to Young Men

The young fellows who spend their time standing on street corners discussing the merits of prize fighters or trying which can whistle "rag time" the loudest, are not in the way of making any very deep footprints in the sands of time. The time will surely come when opportunity knocks at their door and they have not the equipment to "make good," when they will sorrow for chances lost in the days gone by.

Glass on Vessel Hulls.

To protect the bottoms of sea going vessels from marine growth an English man has invented a method for plating their hulls with glass, separated from the steel by a coating of wood pulp to act as a cushion and prevent the glass breaking when heat expands the steel.

A Ready Answer.

Seven year-old Peggy was drawing the picture of a house and finally announced it was completed. "But where are the chimneys?" she was asked. Not wishing to be found wanting, Peggy answered quickly: "Oh, this house is heated by radiators."

This Time He Didn't.

Small boy (handing druggist a half dollar). Five five-cent cigars, and give me the change.

Druggist.—But, Bob, your father always smokes 10-cent cigars.

(Well, he isn't going to this time.)

The Proper Head.

Husband (studying his wife's accounts). There are several items you haven't entered here: Doing up the furniture, your hairdresser, dentist, trip to the sea, for instance. Wife.—Oh, those all come under "repairs."

Teacher.—Mabel, in making your "A's" you have omitted something. What is it?

Little Mabel.—Oh, I forgot to put eyebrows over them.

Circus Paid

When a circus refused to pay its license to the city of Kenosha, Wis., Mayor Head rang in a fire alarm and turned the hose on the circus parade. The license was soon paid.

A Wise Cow.

A Holstein cow in Portland, Conn., was seen during the hot weather to pick up a large cornstalk, bend it, and use it to brush the flies from her back.

For Baking Success —This Oven Test

Success on some baking days can be expected no matter what flour you use. But constant success is rarer. It can be assured in only one way. The miller must select his wheat by oven test. So from each shipment of wheat we take ten pounds as a sample. We grind this into flour. Bread is baked from the flour. If this bread is high in quality, large in quantity, we use the shipment from which it came. Otherwise we sell it. Constant baking success comes as a matter of course from flour bearing this name.

Synopsis of Coal Mining Regulations

COAL mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 250 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal subdivisions, or sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be sketched out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns, accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever additional rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $100 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands in the Dominion.

N.B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

CEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for Break Water at Convent Cove, N. S." will be received at this office until 1:00 P. M. on Wednesday, October 16, 1913, for the construction of a Break Water at Convent Cove, Digby County, N. S. Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department and at the office of C. E. W. Dabell, Esq., District Engineer, Halifax, N. S., and on application to the Postmaster at Digby, N. S.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and sealed with their actual signatures, stating the name, residence and place of residence. In the case of the tender, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent deposit of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fails to complete the work contracted for. If the tender is not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
R. C. DESROCHES, Secretary.

Department of Public Works.

Ottawa, September 16, 1913.

Seal-papers will not be paid for this advertisement if they insert it without authority from the Department.

SYNOPSIS OF DOMINION LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family, aged 21 years or over, may apply for a lease of a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta.

The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of the intending homesteader.

Under 18 months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within five miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section along side his homestead. Price $200 per acre.

Duties: Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $100 per acre. Duties: Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $200.00.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

WOMAN IN TERRIBLE STATE

Finds Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cape Wolfe, Canada.—"Last March I was a complete wreck. I had given up all hope of getting better or living any length of time, as I was such a sufferer from female troubles. But I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today I am in good health and have a pair of twin boys two months old and growing finely. I surprised doctors and neighbors for they all know what a wreck I was.

"Now I am healthy, happy and hearty, and owe it all to Lydia E. Pinkham's remedies. You may publish this letter if you like. I think if more women used your remedies they would have better health."—Mrs. J. T. Cook, Lot No. 7, Cape Wolfe, P.E.I., Canada.

Because your case is a difficult one, and doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has remedied many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, and it may be exactly what you need.

The Pinkham record is a proud and peerless one. It is a record of constant victory over the obstinate ills of women—ills that deal out despair. It is an established fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored health to thousands of such suffering women. Why don't you try it if you need such a medicine?

Impressions of Yarmouth

(Written for the Courier)

There is a spot I've not forgot—
The old fort as soon as not?
Its fame—
You've been there, too
If so, you feel just as I do!
Its name—
Is Yarmouth.

Its chief ills
Are drafts and chills—
Up from the bay, down from the hills.
Perhaps you've heard its mournful sound
Perhaps you've felt its eddying round
Your knees—
At Yarmouth.

Then, there's the dirt
If each one must Consume a peck of old Earth's crust,
I'll swear—
Unless you're careful, what you're about,
And keep your mouth shut when you're out.
You'll eat it there—
At Yarmouth.

The women, too
Sure make me blue!
As homely as a cockade!
I fear—
That when I go to bed at night
I'll meet 'em in my dreams, and fight
Will end me here at Yarmouth.

I'm not a saint—
And Yarmouth ain't.
The sort of place that fancy'd point
To die in—
So if you're hopeful of heavenly bliss,
I'll give you some advice, it is this:
Don't try in—Yarmouth.

NOVA SCOTIA; A REVIEW.

(By Judge Savary in Canadian Magazine) (By permission)

The literary reputation of Mr. Beckles Willson, the author of the recently published book entitled "Nova Scotia, the land that has been passed over," is a guarantee that it is a volume worth reading for entertainment and instruction. In the latter particular, however, as we turn over its pages, we meet not a few disappointments. The book is written in an easy, flowing and agreeable style, with little or no affectation or mannerism, although what the author means by "fat" timbers in a house, we can only conjecture; while "heaps of closet room" reminds us of the language that Halliburton and Charles Farrar Brown impute to their Yankee characters.

Where the portrayal of present conditions in different sections of the Province is the result of personal observation, the book may impart to readers abroad much valuable knowledge on the present state and future prospects of the Province. His topical descriptions are graphic, and the illustrations add much to the value and attractiveness of the book.

It is refreshing to find the author calling the strain which connects the Bay of Fundy with Digby Basin by its right name, instead of that abominable Yankeeism, the gap.

It is where the author relies on second hand information that he sometimes fails egregiously. His statistics are voluminous and evidently compiled with great care and industry, but when he deals with the past and undertakes to discuss historical events, he is quite often fantastically, sometimes ludicrously, wrong. His explanation of the reason for the application to Nova Scotians of the sobriquet "Bluenose" is fanciful, although unquestionably original. He imagines that the Loyalists who came to Shelburne called themselves, or were called by their admirers, true Blues, in recognition of their incorruptible adherence to their principles, and that from this complimentary designation the name "Bluenose" developed, and was applied to the whole population of which he erroneously considers that these faithful people were the main source and origin.

He assumes the Shelburne Loyalists to have been progenitors of the great bulk of the English speaking people of the peninsula. Now there certainly was in the American Revolution a small Loyalist corps called the "Nassau Blues," probably from the color of their uniform, or of some portion of it, but they were too insignificant in numbers to transmit a distinctive appellation to Loyalists in the aggregate. In reality the name Bluenose was applied as a term of contempt by the Loyalists themselves to the pro-Loyalist settlers of Annapolis and King Counties in the days when social and political rivalry between these two classes was keen and bitter, but why the epithet was considered apt has not yet been explained. The leading Loyalists of Annapolis County came from New York, and New Jersey, and perhaps the term was applied by the people of the southern part of the more northern provinces before either of the migrations to Nova Scotia. Its extension to the whole population no doubt began in the United States. The term which the Loyalists applied in derision to their unsympathetic neighbors who constituted the large majority of the population of the country of their exile, their old antagonist in turn applied to them and those derided neighbors, indiscriminately. Very little account is taken by writers on the Loyalists of the considerable numbers of them, especially of the settlers at Shelburne who returned to the United States, when, after the lapse of a few years they could with any degree of safety do so. The author, as I have intimated, calls these founders of Shelburne the fathers of the English Canada of today; but what about the enterprising people, who, he tells us, were building vessels in Yarmouth in 1761, and the founders of Halifax under Cornwallis twelve years earlier still? The author is evidently altogether ignorant of the immense migration from Nova England which about 1759 began to reoccupy and reclaim the desolated regions formerly cultivated by the Acadians in the counties of Annapolis, Kings, Hants and Cumberland, for after mentioning the Scots, French and Germans, he tells us broadly that the rest of the white population is the fruit of the Loyalist immigration from (the United States of) America. The influence of the Loyalists on our society and institutions was strong and beneficent, and is felt in some direction today, but it was small in comparison with that of their largely more numerous predecessors in the settlement of the country.

From these early settlers and the earlier accretions to their numbers coming directly from the British Islands, have descended by far the larger number of our great public men, and builders of Nova Scotia, Tupper, T. C. Haliburton, the Archbishops, the Unions, Borden, while Johnston, Howe and Chief Justice Halliburton as brilliant sons of Loyalists are exceptions. Our author comments on the great numerical strength of the Loyalists, who are descended mainly from that early migration from Puritan New England, which he so strangely ignores, and are most numerous in the counties founded by these pioneers, from Hants to Yarmouth. Kings' College, Windsor, of Grand achievement, was the child of the Loyalists, while Acadia College, with its now far more extensive influence, was founded by descendants of the old settlers.

Speaking of the deportation of the Acadians, whose fate he justifies, but commiserates, he says that all who had taken the oath were safe in their homesteads, when every tyrant in the history of the province of the time of that event, must know that every Acadian homestead in the land, with every barn and outbuilding, was burned, lest it might afford shelter to some fugitive seeking escape from the absolutely indiscriminate proscription. And yet he professes to have read enough of Richard's Acadia to conclude that its author was the victim of hysteria and that his book is disfigured by its wealth of epithet and invective. One may agree with him in the latter opinion, and it is quite consistent to condemn any such blentish in a historian's style or diction and yet be utterly unable to refute any of his allegations or nullify any of his conclusions; and no one has yet attempted to impugn any of the authorities cited and commented on by Richard in support of his contentions, or show where he has garbled or distorted any original source of information. Parity and brilliancy of style and dignified moderation in language will not atone for errors of fact, nor ought the want of them to be allowed to shut the minds of the readers to the truth conveyed, and it must be admitted that the pill prescribed by Richard to the new school of writers on his subject is not sugar coated.

Notwithstanding the evidently strong anti Roman Catholic feeling of the author, he has good words to say for St. Francis Xavier's College in Antigonish, which certainly now takes high rank among the institutions for higher learning in Eastern Canada.

Perhaps the most grotesque assertion in the book before me, and the one most likely to give offence to his Roman Catholic readers, refers to a matter of less importance and more recent history. He tells us that a priest ministering to the Acadian French of Clareby threats and supplications succeeded in getting the route of the railway from Digby to Yarmouth diverted so as to cut out that entire community and leave them isolated between the railway and the Bay. It would almost look as if some heartless wag, suspecting in our author an Anglican, or hyper Anglican prejudice against French people and their priests, had attempted to successfully impose upon his credulity. I hardly know what he means by "primitive" as applied to the people of Clare; but if he could have visited that beautiful region and spent a few weeks among its genial and warm hearted people, he would have found that whatever their forefathers may have been a hundred years ago, those of the present day are equal to the average rural population in intelligence and enterprise, and superior in morals and in devotion to the religion they profess. He would have had nothing but good words for them.

The aim of the author was to commend the Province, its people and resources to the world, and while he exposes faults, they are of a minor order, and he discusses them more gently than English writers generally do, and he speaks graciously of individual unse who have greeted him with welcome and hospitality. The task of the critic is therefore an ungracious one. It would have been much more agreeable to say as the author in effect says of his subject, what the Roman poet said of the object of his voluptuous admiration, nil non habuisti ab illi.

LIFE SAVING STATION

New Building Recently Erected at Bay View.

FITTED WITH ALL MODERN CONVENIENCES MARINE RAILWAY OR HAULING SLIP EXTENDS TO LOW WATER. CONTRACTORS GAVE THE GOVERNMENT AN EXCELLENT JOB.

A COURIER representative recently visited the new life saving station at Bay View and was kindly shown around the premises by the genial coxswain, Capt. John W. Hayden.

This new building is 21x99 ft. with 23 ft. posts, and sets on a concrete foundation, the walls being 5 ft. high and 18 inches thick.

Going into the building through the large front doors we entered the boat room 21x10 ft.

Here is a track or slipway leading from low water mark for hauling up the life boat. Daring now moored off the station. It is securely built of heavy timber with a concrete pier at the outer end.

On the north side of the boat room are conveniently situated 10 lockers for the men's oil clothing and other equipment.

Back of the boat room is the engine and furnace room. This is fitted with a stationery gasoline engine and powerful winch for hauling up the boat.

The furnace is capable of heating

A Successful Freeport Boy.

LEWELLYN L. LENT HAS JUST COMPLETED AN $8,000 CONTRACT IN THE WEST.

A Freeport boy, Lewellyn L. Lent has just completed an $8,000 contract of a six mile sewer in the town of Charlottetown adjoining the famous Puget Sound navy yard and also the city of Bremerton, Washington. Mr. Lent has been complimented by the Mayor and head officials of the town on the systematic and complete way the work has been done. Ninety men were at work most of the time, under the supervision of his brother, P. F. Lent. Mr. Lent came to Bremerton six years ago with his wife and two sons. He has met with such good success that outside of the sewer work, he has a well stocked plumbing shop, which his youngest brother, A. J. Lent, is in charge of. He also owns an up-to-date seven room bungalow and several lots of land. Mr. Lent is noted for his enterprise and perseverance. Mr. L. L. Lent is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hanford Lent, formerly of Freeport, but now of Bremerton, Washington.

Opening off this large room is a balcony 12x10 ft. with a good roof. Flag balyards lead to this balcony from a pole above from which will be flown during fine weather the proper government flag designed especially for the life saving service.

Fresh air is supplied the upper story through especially designed roof ventilators manufactured from copper.

The whole building is shingled with clear cedar shingles, the best material obtainable.

The second floor is all hard wood. The first floor, in the boat room, is hard pine, the remainder concrete.

Water is supplied to the building from a reservoir 10x10 ft. with a wooden cistern. This is situated on Mr. Alex. Adams' property and is kept full from a natural spring in the hill side, and has sufficient elevation to throw a stream over the entire building from a near-by stand pipe.

With the exception of the reservoir and the leading of the water to the building, which was furnished under contract by Mr. Alex. Adams, of Bay View, the entire building, including the heating and plumbing, was built by contractor Messrs. M. C. Denton and M. A. Condon, of Digby, who certainly gave the government an excellent job, in several cases even better than the specifications called for. The foreman was Mr. Evan E. Dunn, of the Racquette, whose excellent workmanship is too well known for any special comment in these columns. He had with him several carpenters, who also gave the contractors good work.

The Inspector, Mr. W. H. Graham, who was appointed by the government, saw that the work was carried out in every way according to the specifications, and has since received several letters from the department expressing their entire satisfaction.

Mr. J. A. Legere, the resident engineer at Halifax, who was present when a COURIER representative visited the building, appeared to be well pleased with the work and spoke in the highest terms of the contractor, the Inspector, and the men.

The plumbing and heating plants, which consist of a furnace and 20 radiators, toilets and bath rooms as stated above, were furnished and installed by Mr. W. L. Holdsworth and staff, Digby, a well known plumber and Boston Schooner Sunk.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 6.—The loss of the Boston schooner, Frank B. Witherbee as the result of a collision with the steamer City of Atlanta off Cape Hatteras on Friday night, was announced in a radiogram from the steamer today. Captain B. Witherbee and the crew of seven men on the Witherbee were saved. The City of Atlanta, which was slightly damaged, is due to arrive here late today.

The Witherbee left Boston for Wiggins (S. C.) on Sept. 27. The City of Atlanta sailed from Savannah on Oct. 2, with a number of passengers and a considerable cargo.

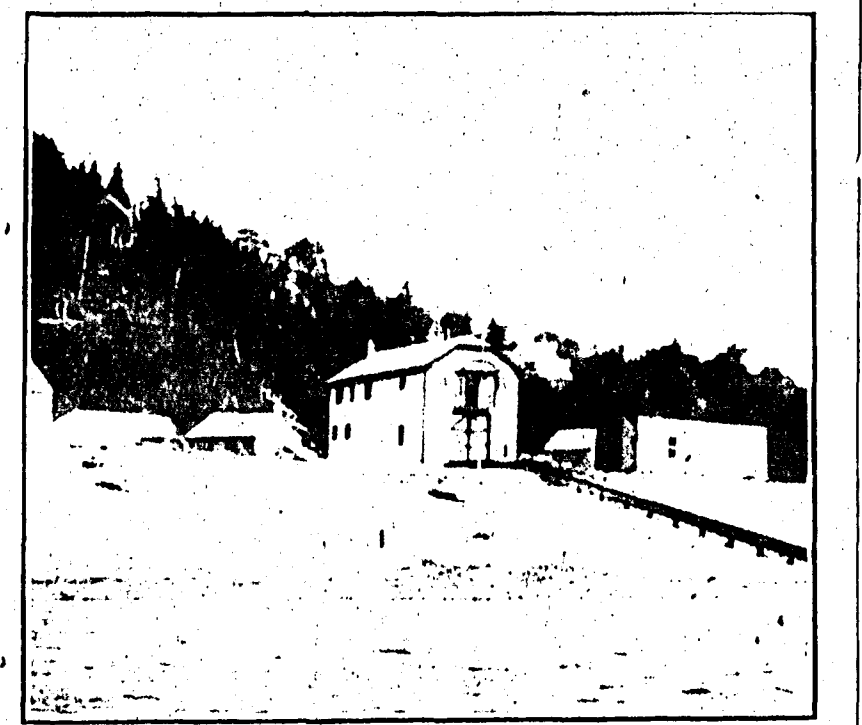

The Frank B. Witherbee was built at Phippsburg, Maine, in 1908, and was 41 tons net burden. She was valued at $30,000.

DIGBY WEEKLY COURIER

Digby, October 17, 1913.

Digby's Big Fish Supply.

A LONG SPILL OF CALM WEATHER IN THE BAY OF FUNDY.

For one whole week there was not a ripple on the waters of the Annapolis Basin and the usually turbulent Bay of Fundy, something never known before in the memory of the oldest mariner. Vessels, big and small, have been drifting about the bay at the mercy of the tides and the only craft able to get in and out of port were the steamers and auxiliaries. Half a dozen coasters engaged in the American trade were held up here for six days, detained through lack of wind necessary to safely take them out through the narrow Digby Gut. Three of the Digby fishing fleet were two days reaching home from the Lutter, usually a run of only five or six hours. Saturday, however, brought a "pufl" in from the Bay and four schooners, the Bobo, Helon, Onward and Emma E. Potter, to sea bound for American ports, while the fishermen Loran B. Snow, Captain Arthur Casey, Myrtle L. Captain Longmire, and Dorothy G. Snow, Captain Ansel Snow, came "flying" into port Sunday in the teeth of a stiff sou'easter, the three vessels spreading every stitch of canvas. The skippers were anxious to dock before the tide left their respective wharves and they went out.

The combined catch of the Loran B. Snow, Myrtle L. and Dorothy G. Snow, totals 225,000 pounds and with the trips brought in Friday by the Dorothy M. Smart, Captain William Snow; the Albert J. Lutz, Captain Arthur Longmire; the auxiliary Cora Gertie, Captain M. C. Crocker (on Sunday) and the boat fisherman, makes a total of 510,000 pounds of fresh fish landed here in three days. Thus the Digby market is glutted again and thousands of the neat little fifteen pound boxes of finnan haddies will be going forward to the Upper Provinces and western markets during the next ten days and to the cold storage plant in St. John for shipment later on when the demand again exceeds the supply.

Digby's Electric Light.

NOVA SCOTIA UTILITIES BOARD GRANTS HEARING TO COMPANY AND PUBLIC.

An interesting sitting of the Nova Scotia Board of Public Utilities represented by John U. Ross, R. T. McIlreath and P. H. Colpitt was held in the Court House Tuesday afternoon and was attended by many of the largest users of electricity in the town of Digby.

The meeting was to consider a schedule of rates to be filed with the board by the Digby Electric Light Company for the furnishing of electric current in the town of Digby. The board was addressed by Mayor Daley and son, proprietors of the plant, in the interest of an increased tariff, and by Mayor Short and other prominent citizens of the town in the interest of the consumers, the majority of whom were asking for motors and for an increased service, either an all night or 1 a. m. service, and a morning light from 6 a. m. to daylight.

Digby's electric light service has been a live subject of agitation for some time and after several public meetings held last winter the service was greatly improved. Within the past year or two several acetylene plants have been installed.

It is reported that the people of Smith's Cove are asking for electric lights to be installed in time for next summer's tourist business. We do not know whether current will be supplied from Digby or Bear River.

Moving to New Hampshire.

MR. AND MRS. B. W. COUSINS AND FAMILY LEFT DIGBY WEDNESDAY.

Their large circle of friends regret that Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Cousins and family are moving away from Digby and will in future reside in the United States, the town of their choice being Lebanon, N. H., where Mr. Cousins will engage in the retail fish business. They left Wednesday via Yarmouth, with their son Dalton and three daughters, Violet, Isabelle and Grace, their other three sons having previously moved away.

Mr. Cousins has spent almost his entire life time in his native town where he has served two terms on the Council, was a faithful member of Digby's old brass band, and was always ready to assist in any local entertainment, his stump speeches being far superior to anything ever heard in that line on a public stage in Digby.

Mrs. Cousins will be greatly missed in church and social circles and the departure of the family will also be much regretted. Miss Violet Cousins was the organist of the Digby Baptist church and her high class vocal solos will be missed in all the churches and in almost every public entertainment in our town.

The COURIER joins their many friends in wishing them every success in their new place of abode.

Victoria Rink.

The new annex, 90x100 feet, has been completed in the rear of Victoria Rink and the whole building is now a large one. A hauled ball net will be put in the annex until colder weather arrives when it will be made ready for ice skating. In the meantime roller skating will be carried on in the main building as usual. When the steady cold weather arrives the main and annex will be made one big floor and ice skating will be enjoyed for the first time in Digby on a large indoor rink.

The young folks are looking forward to some pleasant evenings and the proprietor, Mr. Walker, will do all in his power to give his patrons a good time. The programme at the rink for next Monday evening is a masquerade dance, the particulars of which appear in our advertising columns.

Important Public Works.

The dredging in the Racquette now being carried on by the government is one of the most important public works ever obtained by a federal representative from this county. This dredging is appreciated by every one interested in the fish business, or interested in the welfare of Digby as a seaport town. As a result of this dredging two of Digby's largest fishing vessels were able to discharge their fares in the Racquette during neap tides last week without any delay. When the work is completed all the vessels in the fleet will be able to reach their berths at neap tides and small boats will get in at low water.

OF A LOCAL NATURE

There will be no service at All Saints Church, U. S. way, next Sunday.

Fifty-years ago, Tuesday, Oct. 7th, Cape Breton Island was annexed to Nova Scotia.

A strawberry was picked by Mrs. Benjamin V. Vaneau Oct. 12th, in her own field at Mt. Pleasant.

Next Tuesday is nomination day for Municipal Councilors. Election takes place on Tuesday, Nov. 1th.

A number of the St. John pleasure yachts, belonging to the R. K. Y. C. were damaged in Tuesday's storm.

The initiatory degree will be conferred on several candidates in St. George lodge of Oddfellows to-night.

There will be seven reels of pictures in the Bijou Dream Theatre to-morrow night. Don't miss it. See adv. on 7th page.

Rev. A. H. McLeod will have service Sunday, Oct. 20th, at North Range 10:30; Plympton 3 p. m. and at Barton 7:30 p. m.

A heavy north easter caused a big sea along Digby's water front Tuesday morning. No serious damage however, occurred.

Mr. Roy Whynacht and Miss Violet Cousins sang a much appreciated duet in the Baptist church last Sunday evening.

The marriage of Prince Arthur of Connaught to the Duchess of Fife took place in London at the Royal Chapel, Wednesday.

There will be Methodist Missionary Thanksgiving service Sunday, the 19th, Brighton 11 a. m., North Range 2:45 and Weymouth 7 p. m.

Next Monday being Thanksgiving throughout Canada, all places of business in Digby will be closed and the day generally observed as usual.

Several of the friends of Miss Violet Cousins presented her with a gold bracelet Tuesday night on the eve of her departure for Lebanon, N. H.

Next Sunday being the day appointed by the General Synod as Children's Day, there will be a Children's Service at Holy Trinity Church at 2:45 p. m.

A harvest service was held in Grace Methodist church last Sunday evening. The pastor, Rev. L. Daniel, preached a very interesting and appropriate sermon. The church was tastefully decorated for the occasion and a special programme of music was rendered by the choir. The disagreeable weather somewhat reduced the size of the congregation.

Dominion Smashes Her Own Record.

BRITISH STEAMSHIP BETTERS HER PREVIOUS TIME FOR TRANS ATLANTIC PASSAGE.

(Philadelphia paper, Sept. 26th.)

With a new record for the voyage from Queenstown to the Delaware Breakwater to her credit, the British steamship Dominion in command of Captain Morehouse, docked at the Washington Avenue wharves shortly after noon yesterday, having made the passage in nine days, two hours and forty-one minutes. Although the Dominion was built sixteen years ago and has made 152 trips across the Atlantic, it was not until this voyage that she smashed her records. To celebrate the event a dinner was given in the captain's quarters to the ship's officials and a few friends. The Dominion had on board 210 cabin and 491 steerage passengers for Philadelphia. Fourteen cases of munitions developed on board during the voyage, the victims being all children. They were not allowed to land, and will be taken to the Philadelphia Hospital early today.

The unexpected arrival of the ship, which was not due until today, caused an unusually large number of steerage passengers to be temporarily detained, because their friends here, not aware of the arrival of the vessel, were not at the dock when their names were called by the officials. Many hearts were saddened when it became known that they would be detained at the Gloucester Immigration Station until their friends or relatives called for them.

Because of the impending general railroad strike in England, Captain Morehouse announced that the vessel would take on sufficient coal here for the round trip, his belief being that it will be impossible for a vessel to coal at a foreign port.

The passengers reported a pleasant voyage, with only one slight mishap. Shortly after sailing from Liverpool a valve controlling the rudder was damaged, causing a delay of about six hours.

The captain above referred to is Capt. W. A. Morehouse, son of Capt. J. H. Morehouse, of Sandy Cove, Digby County, who is climbing the ladder in the service of the Dominion White Star line. His friends in Sandy Cove, Digby and elsewhere who are watching his advancement with much interest, wish him continued success.

Married in Malden.

A quiet event took place at the Methodist parsonage, 190 Washington St., Malden, Oct. 14th, 1 p. m., when Miss Ada Clara Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Smith, of Biddeford, Maine, was united in marriage to Ralph B. Rice, both of Medford, Mass. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. L. M. Bugbee. The couple who were unattended left on the Merchants' Limited for New York, on a two weeks' honeymoon. The groom formerly resided in Digby where he has a host of friends who will join the Cortina in extending congratulations.

Fenian Bounty Claims.

DOMINION GOVERNMENT APPOINTS A BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS.

Mr. Jameson, M. P., who returned to Digby this week after a visit to his constituents on the St. Mary's Bay shore and Islands, was interviewed by the Courier regarding the Fenian Raid Veterans' bounty claims.

It is order to dispose of the large number of Nova Scotia claims as promptly as possible, the Dominion Government has appointed a Board of Commissioners, consisting of two officers of the militia department and a resident of the county in which the Board holds its sittings.

Mr. Wallace C. Denton, of Barton, and Mr. Adolph A. Theriault, Bellevue's Cove, have been named as the members of the Board for Digby and Clare municipalities respectively. The Board will probably hold two sessions one each at the court houses in Digby and Church Point.

The Board will receive evidence to show that the various regiments in Digby county turned out and were drilled in the spring of 1883, following the proclamation of the Governor, dated 17th of March, 1883.

A few of the members of each regiment will be required to establish this fact.

After the Board has completed the taking of evidence as stated, the individual claims of the veterans of the various regiments, will be dealt with by the Department.

Over five hundred claims, Mr. Jameson says, have so far been filed for Digby county. Any not yet made, should be forwarded as early as possible. The act of parliament authorizing them sets the limit of time for filing claims at Dec. 31st, 1913.

Some time since the Courier published a list of the Digby county regiments and officers and now regiments same for the convenience of those interested:

PARALYSED AND COULD NOT WALK

"Fruit-a-lives" Completely Restored New Brunswick Merchant To Health.

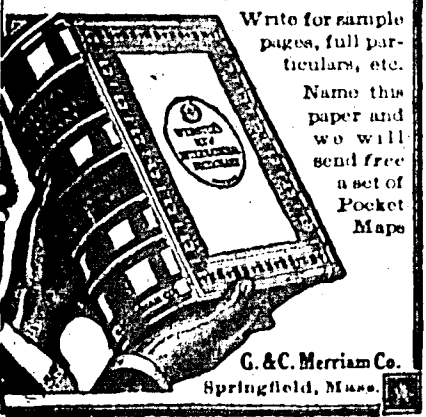

Bristol, N. B., July 25th, 1913.
"I am unable to say enough in favor of 'Fruit-a-lives' as it saved my life and restored me to health, when I had given up all hope and when the doctors had failed to do anything more for me. I had a stroke of Paralysis in March, 1910, and this left me unable to walk or help myself, and the Constipation of the bowels was terrible. Nothing did me any good and I was wretched in every way. Finally, I took 'Fruit-a-lives' for the Constipation, and it not only cured me of that trouble but gradually this fruit medicine toned up the nerves and actually cured the paralysis. Under the use of 'Fruit-a-lives', I grew stronger and stronger until all the palsy and weakness left me. I am now well again and attend my store every day and all day."

THE TOLL OF THE SEAS

The Courage of Warriors is Found Aboard Every Fishing Vessel Sailing out of Nova Scotia.

THE PRICE WE PAY IN LIVES—EVERYWHERE IS THE BANK FISHERMAN MENACED BY HARDSHIP AND DEATH WHICH HE FACES WITH A LID OF INDIFFERENCE.

By F. William Wallis in Canadian Magazine

On the night of Friday, March 15th, 1912, we were lying hove to on the northeastern edge of Brown's Bank, fifty miles to the southward of Cape Sable, Nova Scotia. The breeze came away from the southwest, and as the evening drew on it rose to a proper March gale, with the accompaniment of rain storms, sleet, and mountainous seas. Lying to under foresail and jumbo, our schooner performed some wonderful antics as she stag red and swopped over the roaring crests, and it soon became an impossibility to stand upon her decks or even sit on the cabin lockers. With these conditions existing, we returned into our bunks and read, smoked and slept.

At midnight, the wind and sea were so heavy that even hanging into a bunk was a task, while the vessel was pressed down with the weight of the wind in her canvas until the lee rail was under.

"Take in the jumbo!" cried the skipper, and, oiling up, we turned out on the rain and spray swept deck and tied the sail up, leaving the vessel under foresail only.

It was a wild night; dark as the inside of a boot, and a howling inferno of wind, spray and rain. The gale-whipped bank seas frothed and broke roaring in tons of white water around our little craft and the flying spume slashed the decks. Brer! It was no night for a promenade, so leaving the two watchmates to their chilly vigil, we went below and turned in again.

"Glad we're out here in this breeze," remarked a fisherman. "Wouldn't like to be pokin' around th' land 'n' night."

One vessel, however, had taken the risk and her name heads the list of the first disaster to the American fishing fleet of 1912. She was a Gloucester man, and The Daily Times of that famous New England fishing port, heads the list of Gloucester's toll with the loss of the Patrician.

"Schr. Patrician, one hundred and twenty-five tons gross, ninety-three tons net, built at Essex, 1905, employed in the western bank fishery, went ashore March 15th, near Shelbourne, N. S., while running for shelter in a heavy gale, the captain making a mistake in the lights. The captain and nine of the crew were drowned, the lost men being William Harding, master, 40 years, native of Pubnico, N. S., single; John and Albert Goodwin, 22 and 32 years, respectively, brothers, and natives of Bare Point, N. S., both single; Coleman Hopkins, 30 years, native of Wood's Harbor, N. S.; Joseph Nickerson, 30 years, native of Wood's Harbor, N. S.; Clarence Perry, 25 years, native of Shag Harbor, N. S.; Michael Jennings, 29 years, native of Newfoundland, married; Jos. Robicheau, 26 years, native of Sur et's Island, N. S., single; George Spark, 22 years, native of Bonavista, N. F., married; William Griel, 30 years, native of Shelbourne, N. S., married. Eleven of the crew were saved."

Ten men went to death that night, but the loss is not recorded in Canadian records, as the vessel was fishing and registered under the Stars and Stripes. Yet Gloucester's loss is Canada's loss, for it will be noticed that eight of the drowned were Canadians, and two were from the ancient colony of Newfoundland.

Looking over the list of the forty-five men who lost their lives while prosecuting their business in the Atlantic fisheries of the United States, we find that Nova Scotia and Newfoundland pay the heaviest toll.

Of the forty-five men who died or were lost from United States fishing vessels during 1912, it is interesting to note that twenty-six were natives of Nova Scotia, one hailed from Prince Edward Island, and eleven were natives of Newfoundland—a total of thirty-eight souls.

Whether they be American, or Canadian, Gloucester honors her dead, and the beautiful memorial service held there every summer is one of the most touching and impressive of ceremonies. It is held on a Sunday, and in addition to the inhabitants of the fishing town, there are hundreds of summer visitors and Boston residents who throng the hall or church in which the service is held. The roll of the dead is read out by either the mayor of the town or a prominent official, and when the exercises are over, the day is closed by a procession of children, who, laden with garlands and flowers, troop down to the water front and cast their floral tributes upon the waves.

Canada has her losses among the fishermen of her home fleet and the closing days of 1912 saw one of the worst mishaps which ever happened to Canadian fishermen. On the morning of December 23rd, the Digby fishing schooner Dorothy M. Smart was "pugging" off Yarmouth, while the crew dressed down their catch of fish. It was early morning, dark, and with a smooth sea and little wind. The men, scattered around the pens and dressing boards, were working in the light of kerosene flares, when suddenly, and without warning, the schooner was struck by a squall which drove her down until the whole lee deck went under and the mastsheads almost touched the water. All the men working to leeward were submerged, and when the vessel righted, it was found that five of the gang were gone. Dories were swung over, but one man only was found clinging to some wreckage. The others were drowned. Three days before this catastrophe, the writer was in company with the crew of this vessel, being unable to get off to his own schooner lying out in the harbor.

The method of fishing as prosecuted from the bank schooners is, to say the least, a very risky one, as the work of setting and hauling the lines is done from small sixteen foot to eighteen-foot boats known as dories. These dories are of a peculiar build, flat bottomed, deep sided and fitted with removable thwart to permit of them being "nested" one within the other upon the vessel's decks. A banker carries from six to ten of these dories if used for double trawling, with two men in each, and as many as fourteen, if employed in single dory trawling with one man to a dory. When the fishermen make their "set" with the long 2,100 foot lines equipped with 600 baited hooks, they leave the schooner in the dories, and scattered over the open waters of the bank they work their gear and capture the finny harvest of the sea.

It is in the dories that many men are lost—fourteen men having been drowned in 1912 by the swamping or capsizing of the small craft. Out on the open Atlantic, anywhere from twenty to one hundred and fifty miles from the nearest land, they are constantly exposed to the dangers of sudden squalls which may separate them from their schooner and ultimately roll them over in the rising sea. Fog is also responsible for the death of many men; the clammy, impenetrable bank mist which shuts down without a moment's warning and blots vessels and dories from each other's sight. Astray in the mist, the lost dorymen may pull aimlessly about looking for the schooner, until starvation or a cresting surge ends their futile search. Considering the number of men who do get astray from their schooners each year, it is wonderful that there is not a heavier toll, but often times, the lost men are picked up by other vessels, while others have been known to pull a hundred miles in off the bank to the nearest land. As an instance of the wonderful endurance possessed by fishermen, I will quote an incident which happened in April, 1912. The newspaper account read as follows:

"The Newfoundland fishing schooner Florence M., arrived at North Sydney yesterday with two fishermen who had strayed from their vessel on Quere bank during a thick fog. The men were in an open dory for fourteen days, and for nine days were hemmed in by ice. They had a little cake and some frozen water, which kept them from starving, but both suffered terribly from cold. Only steady exercise kept them from freezing to death, but one man's hands and feet were black from being frozen."

Just imagine it! Fourteen days adrift in a dory with but a mouthful of food and water daily, and in bitter, freezing weather! It is a thought which is well calculated to make the bravest shudder, yet our bank fishermen are constantly risking just such an experience.

In September, 1912, a thick fog had over fifty men astray from their vessels while fishing in the South Channel off Cape Cod, and though all were eventually picked up by one or other of the numerous vessels and steamers which ply in such frequented waters, yet many of the fishermen underwent trying experiences from cold and hunger. One man pulled to shore after having been two days and nights in the dory without food or water. Thirteen men were picked up by one vessel, while another came into port minus three quarters of her crew and with her flag at half mast, only to find the missing men awaiting her arrival.

Many men are lost overboard from the schooners themselves—principally while handling sail in a heavy breeze and sea. The vessels are but small craft, ranging from 60 to 120 tons, and though they are able, strong, and well ballasted, yet there are times when the utmost vigilance on the part of the crew is necessary to avoid being washed overboard. The hull of the schooner lies very low in the water and the rail is not over two feet high, and when a sea crashes aboard it is liable to sweep everything before it. While making a passage or lying to, there is not so much danger, as the men confine themselves to cabin and forecabin, leaving but the two watchmates on deck—one to the wheel and the other to lookout. If the vessel is shipping water, the wheelman lashes himself to the wheel box, and the lookout performs his duty for the vessel and himself.

Handling sail in a heavy wind and breaking sea, especially at night, is different. The men are intent upon the business of pulling or hauling, and in heaving in on a mainheet, the vessel will often ship a sea over her quarter and wash the whole gang to leeward, and sometimes, when the crowd have picked themselves up, a shipmate is found missing. Nightwork in reefing the mainsail and furling a jib has claimed many lives. It is impossible to tell when a sea is going to board, and the men on the bowsprit tussling with a jib, are often washed away when the schooner drives her bowsprit and bows under a surge, while those perched precariously on the end of the mainboom, struggling with a reef earring, are often washed off or precipitated into the water by the slatting of the sail.

It is a risky life, hazardous in summer, and doubly so in the winter, and especially when upon the wild waters of the North Atlantic off the Nova Scotia coast and in the Bay of Fundy. Our northern latitudes, untempered by the warming drift of the Gulf stream, offering nothing but bitter weather for the fishermen in the winter days. The demand for fish is greater than supply, and to satisfy the insistent call, our fishermen brave the weather and fare forth to battle with the spite of wind and sea; wrestling their finny spoil from the depths between the squalls.

Could you dwellers in inland cities who discuss the tasty cod steak, haddi but or other sea food upon your tables in the winter months but know what men have endured in order that you might eat thereof. Could you but experience the spite of a winter's gale, nights bitter with intense cold, whirling with shot like snow and hail, and thunderous with the howl of wind and crash of breaking seas. The tumbling, reeling schooners, lying to on the banks under scanty canvas, iceed up from rail to masthead, decks sealed with ice and dangerous with boarding seas, and men—young and old, respectable and educated, with wives, families, and pleasant homes—living this life in order that you may be supplied. Out in the dories in the lulls between the squalls, working all day under lowering skies in the reeling, rearing boats, tugging on trawl or handline, and working through the nights by the glare of kerosene flares. While the fishing is good, sleeping is forgotten, the men work day and night, returning to the schooner but to satisfy a wolfish hunger and pitch out their fish. Then, when the change comes with a leaden sky and lowering barometer, they return aboard and make sail for port on the wings of the storm. What a history can be written of these drives for market, the titanic struggles with rebellious canvas, the perilous maneuvering upon ice sealed, sea washed decks, and the iron nerve of the skippers who command.

It is only Nova Scotia and Newfoundland that can breed these men, and the Atlantic bank fishermen, whether sailing under the empire's ensign or the Stars and Bars, are reared in the brine washed villages which fringe our rugged eastern coasts. The sea gives nothing without exacting its toll, and in the payment of the tribute the sand of the shoal water is white with the bones of those who have paid with their lives.

Panama Canal Failure

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 16.—Speaking at the "Temple" from the text, "Clean hands and a pure heart" (Psalm 24:1, 5), Pastor Russell said:—God alone is the Judge of heart purity and clean hands. Human judgment is liable to error. Lack of charity is a oft branded good as evil—as dishonesty or carelessness. For instance, it is no fault of the able engineers that the Panama Canal will have an efficiency of only one fourth of its intention and capacity. The waters of Gatun Lake should have been sufficient to supply the locks, according to statistics. The fact that the rainfall has been decreasing during the past five years could not be foreseen by man any more than could the blessed increase of rain in Palestine. The world is in the midst of great climatic changes which, with the increase of knowledge God is pouring upon us, are preparations for Messiah's Kingdom.

Yet, when the facts reach the public, disappointment will lead some to charge that the needed additional hundreds of millions of dollars for pumps or additional dams was foreseen and is merely a graft—unclean hands and dishonest hearts.

Let us rather "render honor to whom honor is due," and ever through the greater temptations of our day and its better searchlights of publicity show impure hearts and unclean hands where unsuspected. While the Bible tells us that perfection will not be fully attained until the close of the Millennium, let us have confidence that even now there are thousands of pure hearts and clean hands. Loss of faith is one of the serious omens of our day, boding evil to our civilization.

PRESIDENT WILSON EXPLODES LATEST RUMOR IN PANAMA CANAL, BY WIRE FROM WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The monetary touch of a key by the president of the United States today sent a flash of electricity through a continuous telegraph and cable connection of 4,000 miles, setting off a gigantic blast of dynamite which exploded the Gambia dike, the last of the great physical barriers to water communication in the Panama canal.

It was an extraordinary feat of telegraphy, specially planned for the occasion. At precisely 2 o'clock this afternoon President Wilson, by simply closing a telegraph key at the White House, sent the current over land and under sea, and just a few seconds later came a message informing him that the explosion had been successful.

BOWSER'S COUGH.

Dr. McGillicuddy's Cure For It a Great Success.

MR. B. BURSTS INTO SONG.

Insists on Warbling About His Crow, After Which His Faithful Spouse With the Aid of a Policeman Puts the Sufferer to Bed.

By M. QUAD.
[Copyright, 1913, by Associated Literary Press.]

MR. BOWSER had had a cough for three or four days. It was no little cough, but it was a broad, deep cough that rivaled the Scotland lighthouse foghorn.

It was a cough that seemed to start way down to his toes and work upward on a slow scale. It groaned and grunted and rumbled as it worked.

It made his eyes bulge out and his ears work. What hair he had on his head stood up and his toes cracked.

That cough had set Mrs. Bowser's teeth on edge and made the cook think of rats gnawing a tile.

Mr. Bowser had coughed his cough on the street car and made a success of it. That is, the conductor had told him that if he did it again he would call a policeman, and an old party with a grouse had shrugged his shoulders and loudly remarked:

"I predicted earthquakes if Wilson was elected, and now we've got one!"

When he came home with his cough the other evening Mrs. Bowser was ready to say:

"I saw the doctor this afternoon about your cough."

"I didn't ask you to," was the reply. "But I was worried. He said those deep coughs should be attended to at once."

"And his fee will be $3!"

"But you'll get a prescription, won't you?"

"You needn't have worried. I've got the remedy right here. By morning the cough will have vanished."

"I'm so glad! What is it and where did you get it?"

"There it is," he said as he pulled a pint bottle from his pocket and held it up to view. "Dr. McGillicuddy has-pened in the office and heard me cough and went right out and had this put up for me."

Bowser Takes First Dose.

Mrs. Bowser wanted to ask if the doctor didn't charge $5 for his kindness; but, hoping it might be a cure, she said nothing. It was at the table after dinner that Mr. Bowser poured out half a glass of the remedy and threw back his head and downed it.

"Good lands!" gasped Mrs. Bowser. "The doctor told me to take liberal doses and often. He said you couldn't dilly dally with one of these earthquake coughs."

Twenty minutes later he began to look balmy.

Then he took dose No. 2.

Ten minutes after dose No. 2 he had the cat on his lap and was saying so was the best cat in all this world. He also whistled a jolly air.

"You must be feeling better," ventured Mrs. Bowser.

"You bet! No quack about Dr. McGillicuddy. He says to me, says he: 'Bowser, you are in a bad way, but I can cure you. Take this and take big doses and often.'"

"That's what he said, Mrs. Bowser, and it's time for another dose."

"Why, whizzer mizzer, my red toes?"

"You are intoxicated, sir!"

"No, Nix. Never intoxicated in my life. It's the cat that's intoxicated, but let'er rip and have a good time!"

And he leaned back and sang:

"Oh, I saw a crow upon a limb—
Upon a limb,
And I did cock my eye at him—
At he-at him!"

By a deft motion Mrs. Bowser took possession of the "dandyllion" cough cure, and then she turned to the clock on the mantel and whirled the hands around until they marked 11 o'clock.

Then she said:

"It's time we were in bed. The doctor must have told you to go to bed early."

Couldn't Leave His Crow.

"Yes, he did, but I can't go to bed and leave my crow, can I? That wouldn't be right. You've seen crows, haven't you?"

"I want you to go to bed, sir! Suppose a neighbor should call!"

"Mrs. Bowser, if nabor comes in I shall take him by 'er hand and ask him to listen while I shing:

"I shald to 'er crow, it looks like rain—
It looks like rain,
And that 'ere crow he says to me,
'You give me a pain.'"

"For heaven's sake, don't yell so loud!" cried Mrs. Bowser. "Do you want the cook to come up and see you in this condition and tell all the neighbors?"

"Can't a fellow have a cough?" he asked after thinking the matter over for a minute.

"Yes."

"Well, haven't I got a cough?"

"But the doctor played a trick on you. That was brandy you brought home. The doctor ought to be horse-whipped. If the minister of our church should call, and he may, what on earth could I say to him? Think of the situation, Mr. Bowser, and do as I ask you to."

"Don't you worry, Mrs. Bowser—don't you worry 'till I minister calls you run downstairs and leave him to me."

"Good heavens!"

"I'll answer bell and tell him to walk right in. If he asks fr you I'll tell him you've got a cough and are taking dose fr it. Then I'll entertain him wiz a shong. Ministers like to hear shongs, don't they? I'll shing him my crow shong, and I'll bet my hat he lifts 'er roof off lattin'. Ever hear zhat shong?"

Mrs. Bowser Walks the Floor.

Mrs. Bowser was walking the floor and wondering what to do and didn't answer.

After waiting a moment to draw a long breath and get a new brace for his toes, Mr. Bowser roared out:

"I asked that crow to have a nip—
To have a nip,
And he shays to me ash he comes down,
'Shay, let'er rip!'"

Mrs. Bowser grabbed him by both ears from behind and shook his head to and fro, but he went on with the last verse just the same:

"The crow and I went on 'er spree—
Went on 'er spree,
And we ripped up the dear old town—
Zhe crow and me."

This last verse was roared so loud that Mrs. Bowser walked down the hall and opened the front door. There was a policeman standing at the gate, and she beckoned to him.

"Is the cook drunk?" he asked as he came up the steps.

OLD PAP PINKHAM.

Sends President News About Doings in Jericho.

ANSWERS GRAVE CHARGES.

Still in Bed After Clearing Out Meeting in Eagle Hall, but Town is Now Quiet and Danger of Recall is Past. Reports He is in Full Control.

By M. QUAD.
[Copyright, 1913, by Associated Literary Press.]

MY DEAR MR. PRESIDENT—
It is far from my wish to add to your nightmares.

It looks to a man up a tree as if he could run the United States as slick as driving a hog along a turnpike, but after he takes hold he begins to wonder which suspender will break first.

He don't know which dog to kick at first and is as apt to be bitten by his own as the other fellow's.

The fact is there is a little trouble here in Jericho, and Mrs. Pinkham thinks you ought to be informed of it, so that if it becomes necessary to call out the federal troops you won't be taken by surprise.

Many a man has lost his woodchuck by not being ready to hit him over the head when he came out of his hole. I am in control of the situation just now, but if it grows worse I may telegraph you to send on a full chested colonel with a voice like the roar of a bull.

For reasons that will be given later on there has been forward to you the following fiendish and untruthful charges against me. When you have read them you will ask yourself, as I have done, "Is this America or Texas?"

Answers Grave Charge.

"Charge No. 1.—That Old Pap has fled to twenty-seven different Jerichos about getting them federal appointments and has therefore kept them hanging around with clean shirts on when they might have been enjoying themselves."

Answer.—I have simply promised to use my influence when the time came. It hasn't come yet. As I understand it and they don't, there are some 750,000 appointments to be made before Jericho is reached on the list. I take it that it is my duty to keep promising and thereby keep clean shirts on as many of our eminent citizens as possible.

"Charge No. 2.—That old Pap is believed to be a defaulter to the government to the amount of $300, and we demand that he be brought to book at once."

Answer.—Ten days ago, when I made my quarterly settlement with the postoffice department, I was 17 cents ahead of the game. I offered to trust Uncle Sam for the amount till next time, but the inspector insisted that such innocence and self abnegation as mine should be rewarded on the spot, and he gave me a due bill for the amount on a Washington clothing store. Thus my next summer's vest buttons are provided for and the enemy put to rout at the same time.

"Charge No. 3.—That Old Pap has persistently refused to lick on stamps for old Mrs. Goodhue, although aware of the fact that seven years ago she cut off half her tongue while trying to shave her chin with her husband's razor."

Answer.—It is true that the party named lost half her tongue in the manner named and is unable to lick on stamps or chew gum. Being of an independent nature, however, she has never asked me to do the licking. She has always brought a wet sponge along in her pocket to moisten the stamp.

"Charge No. 4.—That Old Pap willfully and maliciously broke up a Thursday evening prayer meeting at one of the churches six weeks ago and thereby brought the postoffice department into disrepute."

Answer.—On a certain Thursday some time since I asked all such Jerichos as I wanted jobs in the custom house at the port of New York to call at the postoffice at 8 o'clock that evening. I forgot that it was prayer meeting night, but had I remembered I should still have done as I did. As I look at it now, a new administration, just getting started and anxious to give everybody an office, should take the precedence over a prayer meeting every time. I expected about eight people to respond to my notice. The number that gathered was 708, and that included about 100 women. Was it my fault that they wanted office worse than prayer meeting?

Humiliated the Deacon.

"Charge No. 5.—That the next morning after Deacon Hastings had had a wrestle with a skunk he came into the postoffice to buy a stamp. Instead of kindly and courteously selling him one the aforesaid Old Pap drew a gun on him and ordered him out, greatly to his personal humiliation and the general injury to the postoffice department."

Answer.—I plead guilty. The affair happened as above. The deacon wasn't in the postoffice over twenty seconds, and yet it took $2 worth of disinfectants to get rid of the smell. As I understand it, we are to strive for a clean, pure administration and one without smells.

"Charge No. 6.—That the said Old Pap bent Moses Stevens out of $10 at poker and never put a cent of it in the contribution box."

Answer.—In his halcyon days Moses Stevens played poker with a lightning rod man and got scooped out of 98 cents. He took a resolve there and then never to fool with the game again, and he has stuck to it. If I should ask him to play a game and offer to start him off with four aces it would be no temptation to him.

"Charge No. 7.—That the said Old Pap has been heard to say that one year of Democratic administration would ruin the United States."

Answer.—Guilty as charged, but that was when I was a postmaster under Mr. Taft. Since I dropped over and became a postmaster under you, Mr. President, I have undergone a change of heart. I now think and say that it will be the best thing for the country if the Democrats hold the power for the next twenty years.

Winked at Woman.

"Charge No. 8.—That on a certain day and date last month the said Old Pap did wink at Silas Taylor's wife as she was buying a stamp and has persistently refused to apologize for the act up to date, thus to the great hurt of her feelings and the injury of the entire United States. If postmasters are permitted to wink at women who come in to transact official business the effect on the postal department can be easily figured. It is certain to cost it at least $5 a wink per year."

Answer.—Mrs. Silas Taylor, as everybody knows, is so nearsighted that she can't tell a bologna sausage from a dollar bill six inches from her nose. On various occasions she has hugged a mule, thinking it was Silas. Wink at her? My old hat! Wink at a woman with her eyes on me! Wait till you know her, and you will realize how absurd such a charge is and what an idiot I would be to run such a risk.

There are other charges, Mr. President, but all of them can be easily disproved. They are the work of Moses Schermernhorn, who thinks he ought to be postmaster in my place. He began his reign of terror early in March. It was 11 o'clock one night when I left the postoffice for home. An assassin struck me down with a club, and I lay unconscious for two hours. The tracks left by him in the light snow just fitted Moses' shoes.

Two weeks later, one night at midnight, while I was out looking for the family cat, some dastard fired a bullet through my hat. I charged Moses with it, and he made no denial.

Public Meeting Called.

A week ago he called a public meeting at Eagle hall and advertised that he would address the people and point out the mistakes you had already made. He would also advise the community as to the speediest way to get rid of me. Of course he meant a rope and a link.

Had I let such a meeting as that go on, Mr. President, every hogpen and hencoop in Jericho would have been in flames before midnight and by daylight there would have been a plot to tear us from our jobs at whatever cost of blood and treasure.

I drew a long breath.

I spat on my hands.

I drew my belt a notch tighter.

I bade Mrs. Pinkham an affectionate farewell.

Then I went down to Eagle hall and with a sled stake I cleared the place of the last man in just four minutes.

I am in bed, Mr. President, and may be for three or four days longer, but don't worry. Jericho is quiet, and there will be no recall. Go right ahead making history and leave the trifles to me.

OLD PAP PINKHAM.
(The Man on the Job).

Enaymark—You surprise me. Was it very serious?

Honker—I had a growth removed from my head.

Synopsis of Coal Mining Regulations

(1) All mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 250 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal subdivisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and sold, or consumed, or otherwise disposed of, during the year. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. C. COLEY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.
N.B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

SYNOPSIS OF DOMINION LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on receipt of a certificate by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within five miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister. In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt quarter section along side his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre.

Duties.—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-empt six months in each of three years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate the land and erect a house worth $300.00.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption entry for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

W. C. COLEY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.
N.B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

TENDERS FOR DREDGING.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and enclosed "Tender for Dredging, Glace Bay, N.S.," will be received until 1 P.M., on Thursday, October 23, 1913, for dredging required at Glace Bay, Nova Scotia. Tenders will not be considered unless made on the forms supplied, and signed with the actual signatures of tenders.

Combined specification and form of tender can be obtained on application to the Secretary of Public Works, Ottawa. Tenders must include the towing of the plant to and from the work. Dredges, etc., not owned and registered in Canada shall not be employed in the performance of the work contracted for. Contractors must be ready to begin work within thirty days after the date they have been notified of the acceptance of their tender.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honorable the Minister of Public Works, for five per cent (5 per cent) of the contract price, but no cheque to be for less than three hundred dollars, which will be forfeited if the person tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender is not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
R. C. DESROCHERS,
Secretary.

DRINKING FOR 24 YEARS

A Physical Wreck Cured by the Gatlin Treatment

A man who had been drinking steadily for 24 years, came to the Gatlin Institute for treatment. He was a physical wreck and was so extremely nervous that his hands were always shaking. The habit was broken, the nervousness disappeared, his health improved and he was even able to shave himself.

He left the Institute a new man, with confidence in himself, and no more desire for alcoholic drinks. The Gatlin Institute has effected the cure of many men when their friends thought them incurable. No case is too difficult for this treatment, even the most confirmed drunkards. Every privacy maintained, with private room and nurse in attendance.

This is the Original 3 Day Cure, and absolutely reliable. Cure is guaranteed under written contract to be satisfactory in every particular, or we refund the fee paid and the treatment costs nothing.

For the Home Treatment a trained nurse can be sent to administer treatment, if desired, within a reasonable radius, free of charge.

Write to-day for booklet and full particulars.

YUAN INSTALLED WITH GREAT POMP.

First President of the Chinese Republic Firm in the Saddle.

CHIEF OF PEKING MOUNTED POLICE CONFERRED TO BRING IN THE PLOT—NEW EMPEROR PROMISED MANY REFORMS, INCLUDING A SYSTEM OF TECHNICAL EDUCATION.

PEKING, Oct. 10.—Yuan Shih-kai was today inducted into the office of president of the Chinese republic, and the ceremony of inauguration was surrounded with eastern brilliance. It was attended by throngs of distinguished Chinese and foreign officials, diplomats and military officers, and took place in the interior of the Tai-Ho Palace, in which many of the Ming and Ching emperors had been crowned.

The choice of the place of inauguration was a further encroachment on the sacred precincts of the emperor within the Forbidden City. The southern half of this extensive enclosure was opened to the guests, who traveled hall after hall and court after court toward the present residence of the little deposed emperor.

A BRILLIANT CEREMONY. The ceremony was enacted in the vast building called the Tai-Ho Tien or Hall of Supreme Peace, which sits high up on terraces of marble and is decorated everywhere with dragons and imperial gold. It was here that the emperor formally received New Year's greetings from the Manchus and Suzerain princes.

The Chinese officials present, as well as the priests of the various religions, wore garments of colored silks of many hues, but the members of the Chinese parliament were dressed in western frock coats and silk hats, which they have adopted as their official costume. Many of the native Tatars, Tibet and Mongolia, and also some of the Chinese and Manchus appeared still to feel ill at ease in their sombre garb, which they have so recently chosen instead of their former flowing robes.

The chiefs of the foreign legation were seated in the front of the hall, and during the inauguration the brilliant uniforms of the military officers attached to the legations contrasted strongly with the black of the Chinese deputies.

Yuan Shih-kai wore a blue military uniform. He read his declarations which were tantamount to taking the oath of office from the dragon date of the emperor, over which republican flags had been draped.

After the delivery of the inaugural address, the president, surrounded by the members of the foreign legations, reviewed 10,000 troops, equipped in modern uniforms from the front of a pagoda of the Forbidden City, and it was remarked by all present how well the soldiers went through their exercises.

EXTENSIVE PRECAUTIONS. Extensive precautions, both police and military, had been taken for several days as it was feared that some Chinese rebels who had cut off their queues might obtain access to the ceremony, disguised as Japanese.

It was not possible for the authorities to limit the number of invitations sent to the Japanese legation, and for this reason it was decided to reduce the number all round.

In spite of these precautions it was found that the rebels had succeeded in winning the loyalty of the chief of the Peking mounted police. This was discovered in time, and he was arrested and confessed that he had been bribed to assassinate the president.

PRESIDENT'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS. President Yuan Shih-kai, in his inaugural address, avowed his intention of maintaining a firm and steady policy. He expressed the opinion that the first principle of government was a clear definition and promulgation of its legal systems and the establishment and maintenance of public order. After this, he said, in compliance with the requirements of time and circumstances efforts should be made to unite the people in their march along the path of progress.

The president admitted his preference for conservative rather than extreme radical methods, first, because he did not desire to risk the welfare of the people, and secondly, because he thought the ancient teachings and traditions of China should not be wholly swept away. He referred to the restrictions which had not allowed a free hand for the advance of the interests of the nation and asserted his intention of introducing reforms by one in the present conditions of China.

WANTS TECHNICAL EDUCATION. Yuan Shih-kai then emphasized the necessity of capital and education, especially of technical education—the former in order to promote China's industrial resources and the latter for the development of the natural assets of the nation. He likened China to a man who possessed buried treasures and complained of poverty.

The representatives of the foreign powers were then received by the president and on their behalf Louis Pastor, the Spanish minister and dean of the diplomatic corps, offered felicitations and expressed confidence that under Yuan Shih-kai's chief magistracy the cordiality of the relations between China and the foreign powers would increase. He said the strict observance of treaties and usages would not only guarantee the peace of China and the stability of the republic, but would assure to the country the development of its wealth to which end the foreign nations had an interest in contributing.

Yuan Shih-kai replied by expressing the friendly intentions of the Chinese government toward foreign interests, and declaring his sincere intention of observing all treaties, conventions and other engagements entered into by the former Manchus and provisional republican governments with foreign governments, and also of contracts duly concluded between former Chinese governments and foreign countries and individuals. He also said that all rights, privileges and immunities enjoyed by foreigners in China would be confirmed.

WILL YOU USE

U. M. C. Ammunition?

Why? Because you can shoot it all day and never feel the jar and can get as much game if not more. A dealer says use Dominion because it was practically the only ammunition used at the Guides' Meet here. That is very true, but why? because it was given to them. I shot it at the meet and must say I carried a swelled cheek and a black shoulder for some time.

A dealer saw one of our customers with a box of U. M. C. and said "I say they are all wads."

So for the sake of our customers we got one from Mr. Dealer and compared it with U. M. C. and the result is in our window. Judge for yourself.

135 Lives Lost By Burning of Steamer Volturino.

THE WORST MARINE DISASTER SINCE THE SINKING OF THE TITANIC—WIRELESS CALLS BRING PROMPT ASSISTANCE—HAD THE SEA BEEN SMOOTH ALL WOULD HAVE BEEN SAVED.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—Not since the Titanic sank has Europe been so thrilled as by a wireless message to day telling of the burning of the steamship Volturino in mid-Atlantic with a loss, so far as at present known, of 135 lives and the rescue of 521.

The survivors are now aboard a fleet of steamers surrounded by the Volturino's call for help, some of which are bound eastward and others westward.

The Volturino sailed from Rotterdam Oct. 2, for Halifax. According to the official statement, she carried 22 first-class passengers, 538 steerage and a crew numbering 96.

The rescue ships reached the scene of the disaster in plenty of time to have saved all, but for hours stood by the blazing vessel, impotent because of the storm to reach the agonized men, women and children crowding the after part of the ship and within a stone's throw.

THE CAPTAIN'S STORY.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Captain Francis Inch, of the Volturino, sent his story of the disaster by wireless tonight from the Kronland, on which he is being brought to this port, to the officers of the Uranium Line here, Captain Inch's narrative reads:

"At 6:55 a. m., October 9, 1913, latitude 49° 12' north, longitude 34° 51' west, fire was reported in hold No. 1 by chief officer. At 6:55 a. m., flames were burning through No. 1 hatch, setting fire to the foremast and all deck fittings. I slowed the ship down and kept her before the wind to enable us to put the steam extinguishers in operation, also three fire hoses from deck connections. The flames were gaining rapidly, reaching the height of the foremast light and imprisoning the watch below, who were burned to death in the foremast.

EXPLOSIONS DID GREAT DAMAGE.

"A series of explosions now occurred, wrecking the saloon and hospital amidships, the compass and steering gear being also damaged by the explosions. I gave order to get help by wireless as soon as the flames burst on the hatches.

"It seemingly being impossible to save the ship, I had boats provisioned and swung out. The ship was rolling heavily. Boats Nos. 13 and 5 were smashed, but No. 2 was lowered in the water with cabin passengers and stewards in charge of Chief Officer Miller. After this boat left the ship she capsized, throwing her occupants into the water. She afterwards righted herself and several of the crew got back into the boat, the chief officer being one of them. The No. 6 boat was lowered and got away safely, filled with steerage passengers in charge of Fourth Officer Langsell. The No. 7 boat on being lowered was caught under the stern of the ship, the boat being completely wrecked.

"Meanwhile the chief engineer, two seamen, and myself fought the fire and apparently subdued the flames. I gave orders to send no more boats away, as I had received word from the Carmania that she was hoping to be with us by 11 a. m. Lifeboats were served out and put on each passenger. The passengers now became calmer. Food was served out to them.

BURNERS AMAZE.

"At 9 a. m. the burner was found to be blazing. It being impossible to stop the fire in the bunker on account of gases the watertight doors were closed, and water poured down the No. 2 hatch on to the fire, but the fire was gaining all the time.

"At 11 a. m. the Carmania arrived lowered a boat, but could not reach the ship on account of high seas. Asked Carmania to look for the No. 2 boat. The steamship Sydney arrived and lowered boats, which could not reach us. At about 3 p. m. the Carmania returned and tried to reach the ship with life rafts, but all drifted passed out bow, too far away.

"Several steamers had arrived by dusk. The Kronland put over boats which made four attempts to come alongside, but were swept away each time.

"At 9:30 p. m. in the saloon and chart room were burning. The deck, bridge, and a before the funnel were blazing fiercely. Pumps and dynamo stopped for want of steam.

"Marconi operators worked with the accumulator until 11 p. m., when the magazine on the bridge blew up, carrying the aerial away.

"Several boats by this time were laying off the ship and induced passengers to jump and they were rescued by boats. At midnight the weather was overcast and squally. Operations were suspended, it being too dark for boats to see. The fire meanwhile worked through the women's steerage to the after end of the ship, but we kept knowledge of this from the passengers, who were quiet throughout the rest of the night.

"The chief engineer, the Marconi men, and seamen, and myself spent the night making small rafts in case the fire burned through the deck before daylight.

NO PANIC.

"At 5:15 a. m. the first boat arrived. Weather and sea having moderated, boats were enabled to come alongside ship, which enabled passengers to embark quickly. All the steamers around the ships sent boats. Now we were enabled to load three boats with passengers at once. The passengers left in a very orderly way and there was no panic, women breaking down and crying when help was alongside, and all were off the ship by 8 a. m., about 400 passengers. I searched the ship myself and found no one aboard, so decided to abandon her as the No. 3 hatch was well ashore by now, so with remainder of the crew embarked on the Kronland.

"Nothing at all has been heard of the two missing boats. Passing vessels were asked to keep a lookout for them.

"I wish to express my heartfelt thanks and gratitude to the captains of ships who stood by, also to the officers and crews who came to our assistance, for their bravery and endurance in their endeavor to come alongside the ship; also to the passengers of the Kronland for their kindness to the rescued."

Centerville.

I am informed that two weddings will take place in Centerville very soon. Miss Swift arrived home from Saskatchewan on Monday evening, 13th inst., having been visiting Mr. Swift, jr., since August.

We congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Titus on the birth of a daughter. We likewise congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Arch Hersey on the arrival of a son. There is still a small crowd of men employed on the new breakwater clearing up and securing the work for the winter. Mr. Everett Dickie is left in charge.

The steamship Mabel Reid arrived here 3rd inst., and left the same day for Annapolis with a number of workmen who have been employed on the new breakwater, where they will assist in the building of a new bridge.

As the fall fishery will be in full swing in a few weeks, it has been suggested that a sort of club house for the fishermen some where near the beach would be very convenient for the fishing fraternity. If such a place could be established where the fishermen could have their meals in comfort, either night or day, it would be a great boom to them, the expense might be defrayed by a small subscription.

Two individuals, said to hail from the other side of St. Mary's Bay, visited Centerville side on Monday evening 6th in a team. They were more or less intoxicated when they arrived. Rumor got about that they were peddling liquor. A crowd collected. It was found that they had two valises full of whiskey. The men were mobbed by the crowd. They lost their liquor and eventually took refuge in a hotel. Later in the evening some of the Hooligan element removed the carriage from the hotel premises and after some rather rough horse play the carriage was smashed. People who visit Centerville on legitimate business may be sure of a courteous and hospitable reception, but we do not want any liquor peddlers here. At the same time the conduct of the roughs who were the means of the carriage being broken up is to be condemned. I am pleased to say they did not belong to Centerville.

show that since the last convention held last fall at West Pubnico the association has obtained many new members in these two counties. On Sunday afternoon an open meeting was held in the Parish Hall where the people crowded in to hear the eloquent addresses given by the different speakers. President J. LeBlanc opened the meeting. Rev. Father Brack, being present, addressed the people and visitors. He welcomed the visitors with appropriate words and thanked the association for living so loyal to their society and also to the church. The meeting closed and the hall rang with three loud cheers for the Rev. Father, thanking him for his great interest and wishing him health and prosperity in every way.

SILVER WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. VanBlarcom Married Twenty-Five Years.

A LARGE NUMBER OF INVITED GUESTS WERE AT THEIR RESIDENCE SATURDAY NIGHT AND SPENT A PLEASANT EVENING—PRESENTED WITH SILVER TEA SERVICE AND MANY OTHER ARTICLES OF SILVERWARE.

A social event of more than ordinary interest took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. VanBlarcom, Monague street, last Saturday evening when a large number of invited guests were present at the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage. The interior of their neatly furnished home was very tastefully trimmed with potted plants, cut flowers, and other decorations. Mr. and Mrs. VanBlarcom besides receiving hearty congratulations from all present, are in receipt of many letters and telegrams from friends abroad.

During the evening Rev. L. Daniel, pastor of Grace Methodist church, presented the happy couple with a handsome silver tea service, imported especially for the occasion by a number of the guests who were there. Mr. VanBlarcom made a very appropriate reply and his remarks were listened to with much interest. Besides the silver tea service many other costly gifts of silverware were received, showed the high esteem in which "Mam" and "Papa" are held by their large circle of friends not only in Digby, but in various parts of Nova Scotia and the United States.

Later in the evening refreshments were served, vocal and instrumental music enjoyed, and certainly a very pleasant evening spent by all.

The following is reprinted from the COURIER OF OCT. 12th, 1888:

HYMNAL.

(Brighton correspondence.) This week we welcome to the matrimonial list our friends Mr. Wm. E. VanBlarcom, of Digby, and Miss Annie Marshall, the third daughter of Allen Marshall, Esq., of Brighton. The ceremony was performed in the Methodist church at 11 a. m., Thursday, the 11th inst., by the Rev. T. O. Hooper. A large audience than usually greets the minister on a rainy Sabbath morning was present, in fact nearly every available seat was occupied. The bride who looked charming, was given away by her father, and her sister, Miss Ada Marshall, acted as bridesmaid. Mr. Wayland VanBlarcom attended the groom. Flowers in rich profusion beautified the altar. The sun (of late so frequently obscured) shone forth brightly, the bride wore the traditional of Montgomery's aphorism, "Blessed is the bride whom the sun shines on." After the ceremony the bride and groom, accompanied by a large number of invited guests, repaired to Mr. Marshall's where a bountiful repast awaited them. A couple of hours happily spent in the reception of congenial friends, and then the bride and groom, attended by a company of friends and well wishes, left for Digby en route for Portland, Maine, whence they hope to return in the near future to take up their abode in Digby. We regret exceedingly the departure of Mrs. VanBlarcom from our midst and our best wishes for her and her husband's future happiness will follow them. The following is a list of presents to the bride: Parlor suit (complete), dinner set, tea set, gold watch and chain, silver dinner set, silver cake basket, one dozen silver knives, lamp, silk shawl, silver pickle stand, silver pig liver, one dozen silver forks, carving knife and fork, bread knife, one dozen silver spoons, silver table bell, cup and saucer, toilet set, paper weight, egg dish, silver breakfast raster, silver butter cooler, pair vases, silver napkin ring, amber glass butter dish and plate, silver butter knife, silver pickle stand, spicery, amber glass water pitcher, glass fruit dish, card receiver, amber glass plate and telly, silver salt dish, three toilet sets, plush handkerchief case, sugar bowl, spoon and cream pitcher on silver stand, table linen.

Among those above referred to who were present Saturday night were Mrs. VanBlarcom's mother, widow of the late Allen Marshall, of Brighton, and the bridesmaid, now Mrs. Charles Carv, of Digby.

Mr. and Mrs. VanBlarcom have three daughters and one grand son, all of whom were also present. One of the daughters is Mrs. Macdonald, wife of Mr. Robert Sutherland, manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia at Fairfield, N.B., whose little son's name is Gordon Stanley.

I. O. R. and C. P. R.

AGREEMENT ON SOLID TRAINS BETWEEN HALIFAX AND ST. JOHN.

OTTAWA, October 13.—Here is a summary of the tentative agreement made by the I. O. R. with the C. P. R. for hauling C. P. R. freight and passengers in solid trains to and from St. John and Halifax for the purpose of loading and unloading the C. P. R. and Allen mail ships.

The agreement applies to and from Halifax only in connection with freight and passenger traffic to the four steamers, the two Empresses and the Albatross and Colubian.

Freight handling, checking, car cleaning and accounting all to be done at expense of the C. P. R.

There will be allowed no greater earning power to the Intercolonial than that on any one C. P. R. train over the I. O. R. route, twelve cars to be the limit of any train.

The rates which the C. P. R. will pay the Intercolonial are:

Two dollars per head for first class passengers.

One dollar and fifty cents for second class.

Sixty cents a short ton on flour and grain.

Passenger baggage is to be carried free.

The C. P. R. is to pay elevator charges at Halifax, the same as are charged by elevators elsewhere.

Women Assailed London Physician

LONDON, Oct. 16.—Militant suffragettes today attacked severely mal-treated Dr. Francis Edward Ford, the Deputy Governor and Chief Medical Officer of the Holloway Jail, where so many of them have been imprisoned. Dr. Ford was walking along the street when he was assailed and he was heavily belehaved and abused before he was able to escape the women's furious hold of him and held him while a third beat him with a horse whip. The Suffragettes accused Dr. Ford of being responsible for the forcible feeding system which he denials.

DIGBY CO. EXHIBITION

The Best Ever Held in This Part of the Province.

THE CATTLE SHOW ON THE ATHLETIC GROUNDS AND THE EXHIBITION IN VICTORIA RINK LARGELY ATTENDED AND A BIG SUCCESS.

The Digby County Exhibition which opened in Digby at eleven o'clock last Friday morning, and continued until nine o'clock the same evening, was the biggest success of anything of a similar nature ever attempted in Digby. The attendance was large, and the show an excellent one in every department. Among the prominent agriculturists present were Professor Cumming, Principal of the Agricultural College, Samuel Moore, Seed Inspector; Mr. McKay, Provincial Dairy Superintendent; Prescott Blanchard, Truro, and W. H. Murray, Westville, Pictou County.

The Digby Athletic grounds were used for the live stock show. The horses, cattle, sheep, swine and poultry were without doubt the best ever seen in this part of the Province.

Inside of Victoria Rink the large throng of spectators were delighted with the exhibition of dairy products, grain and seeds, vegetables and roots, fruit, flowers, fine arts, bread and preserves, fancy work, domestic manufactures, wood manufactures, meat and fish, and a large assortment of miscellaneous articles.

Only three Digby firms obtained space, but we can assure our readers that they had excellent displays. They were R. Harvey & Co., millinery. Their booth was in charge of Miss Elsie Titus when a Cornish representative called. She was doing a good business, showing an up-to-date line of ladies' head wear and kept busy taking orders for various kinds of goods handled by this firm.

Next came Dakin Bros.' booth. Here was a full line of ranges, stoves, oil heaters and various kinds of kitchen furnishings. Mr. C. A. Dakin was in charge of this exhibit. He was circulating advertising literature, had a crowd of customers around him continually who were much interested in the merit of the goods displayed.

Next to this booth was an excellent exhibit of furniture from J. F. Rice's establishment on First Avenue. When the Cornish man called Mr. Owen Donnelly had charge of this booth. It was neatly and artistically arranged and was the means of several orders being placed for immediate and future delivery.

The only outside exhibitor to obtain space was the Amherst Piano Co., Ltd., who had a good display of musical instruments, and also furnished some excellent music. Their exhibit proved for them a financial success for they sold several pianos, talking machines and other musical instruments. In fact we believe they sold everything they had on exhibition and took several orders for duplicates.

Perhaps the most interesting booth in the whole building was that of the Nova Scotia Agricultural College where all kinds of information could be obtained of interest to farmers.

A portion of the building was devoted to roller skating, both in the afternoon and evening.

The attendance was between two and three thousand.

President John O. Turnbull, Vice President W. W. DeLong, secretary, treasurer, Frank W. Nichols, and the advisory committee, deserve a lot of credit for the big success of the whole affair.

These officials in an interview with the Courier said they wished to thank the press for the assistance rendered, and the kindness shown the Agricultural Society since its inception.

One of the busiest men during the whole show and for hours before it commenced, and for hours after it closed, was Mr. C. E. Walker, proprietor of Victoria Rink.

Four Hundred Men Perished.

MINE DISASTER GREATEST IN THE HISTORY OF SOUTH WALES.

CARDIFF, Wales, Oct. 15.—A disaster, possibly the greatest in the history of the South Wales coal fields, whose annals are bristling with terrible catastrophes, occurred yesterday through an explosion in the Universal Colliery near here. Shortly after the day shift of 931 men entered the mine a great explosion shattered the works.

During the day and the early part of the night about five hundred miners were brought to the surface alive. After midnight the rescuing parties began to get the fire under control, and at 2:30 o'clock this morning twenty more men were found alive at the bottom of the pit. This gave hope that others may be found, but there is still a probability that nearly 400 men perished. Including the bodies recovered and those killed at the pit head, the known death roll numbers sixteen. Doctors with oxygen and medicaments descended the shaft at an early hour this morning. A crowd of 40,000 distracted persons surrounded the pit head all night and another 5,000 waited for news at the Cardiff station.

October Fog in the Bay

There has never been as much fog in this vicinity during the month of October as at present. In conversation with Mr. Leo Ellis, keeper of Point Prim fog alarm, the Cornish learned that the whistle ran on Thursday and Friday of last week 38 hours without a stop. From the 4th to the 10th of October the whistle was in operation over 77 hours, the longest ever known in the month of October. During the entire month of October last year the whistle was used eight hours and twenty minutes.

Nova Scotia Temperance Alliance.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE DIGBY COUNTY BRANCH HELD AT WESTPORT.

The annual meeting of the Digby County branch of the Nova Scotia Temperance Alliance was held in the Baptist vestry at Westport on October 14th, at 2:30 p. m.

The President, Mr. G. I. Letteney, occupied the chair. Rev. Mr. MacKenzie, of Westport, led the prayers, the room being filled to its comfortable capacity with an attentive and interested audience.

It was moved and seconded that the officers of the Alliance be re-elected, and Mr. Glidden Campbell was appointed vice president, after which it was agreed by vote, that the executive committee for the ensuing year be, as follows:

Westport, J. G. Morrell.
Smith's Cove, A. W. Weir, and Isiah Wilson.
Havelock, S. P. Sabean.
Weymouth, Rev. Nightingale, Rev. M. Taylor and G. D. Campbell.
Acaciaville, W. W. DeLong.
Plympton, Rev. A. H. McCloud.
Dr. Harris and Alex. MacDonald.
Brighton, James Trevoxy.
Centerville, Capt. Robert Graham and Benjamin Robbins.
Meteghan, Mr. W. Comeau.
Culloden, John Ross.
Bear River, Harvey Chisholm.
Digby, Rev. L. Daniel, Rev. W. Driffield, R. C. Smallie.
Little River, Bowman Collins.
Rossyway, A. C. Sabean.
Sandy Cove, Rev. Joseph Hale.
Watson Saunders.
New Tasset, C. F. Sabean.
Salmon River, A. A. Deveau.
Beaver River, D. W. Corning.

It was moved and agreed by vote, that the following men be elected on the executive committee:

Tiverton, Wm. Cossaboom, Colin Pine.
Digby, Rev. J. D. Brehaut.
Little River, Rev. W. L. Kinley.
Freeport, Rev. A. H. Eaton.
Rev. Mr. MacKenzie moved that this alliance take steps to repeal the Scott Act and thereby bring in force the Nova Scotia Temperance Act.

It was seconded by Rev. Mr. Grant and passed by the meeting.

It was also moved and seconded, that this alliance request the clergy in the county to make a statement regarding the changing of the Scott Act to the Nova Scotia Temperance Act in the second Sunday of November as a measure for suppressing the liquor traffic, and urging that all temperance electors be urged to cast their ballot.

This alliance expresses appreciation of the action of the Municipal Council of Digby in appointing Mr. Bartlett, of Weymouth, to the Office of Scott Act Inspector, and assures Mr. Bartlett of our hearty support in the promotion of sobriety.

The alliance also expressed their appreciation in the work this inspector has done this summer in collecting nearly a thousand dollars worth of fines by prosecution of liquor dealers in and around Weymouth.

This session adjourned to meet in due form for public services at 8 o'clock.

A very large and representative gathering assembled in the hall for the evening meeting which was conducted by the President.

Addresses were delivered at the meeting by Rev. H. R. Carr, Rev. MacKenzie and the President, Mr. G. I. Letteney.

Rev. Mr. Grant gave a forceful and well rendered speech which lasted for one hour. He gave statistics showing the large amount of money spent on liquor in our country, and also ways and means of reducing this expenditure. He gave many striking examples of the evil effects of liquor used to excess.

The President read a letter and report from Mr. Lyman Bartlett and complimented the inspector for the persistent and able management of his official duties.

Kenneth A. Campbell also read a letter from G. D. Campbell addressed to the Association telling of his persistent efforts in suppressing the traffic among his employees and fellow laborers in his business, and of the importance and almost salvation of enterprises that would be ruined by the "Personal Use" protection of the present law so prolifically protective to blind tigers and the worst kind of secret traffic so much worse than even the open bar—as is the opinion of many temperance people who also

WALTER ROWAN LOST HIS LIFE IN OTTAWA RIVER.

While out fishing on Saturday morning, Mr. Walter Rowan, superintendent of the money order branch of the Post Office Department, Ottawa, lost his life near Jones' Island, opposite Rigand, on the Ottawa River. Mr. Rowan was well known in Ottawa aquatic circles, having been commander of the Ottawa Canoe Club, and the local representative of the Canadian Swimming Association. He was 60 years of age and was born at St. John, son of the late Mr. Archibald Rowan, a well-known St. John man. Mr. Rowan entered the civil service in 1874. He is survived by his wife and two married daughters. Mrs. Rowan was formerly Miss Dunham, of St. John, and had frequently visited Digby.

—Dominion Atlantic Railway Blue-nose trains, number 12 and 121, leaving Halifax at 10 a. m. and Yarmouth at 12:30 noon will be withdrawn for the season after Saturday, Oct. 11th, 1913. Gate car service will also be discontinued after this date.

CARD

To the Electors of Digby County.
GENTLEMEN—The time has come to select candidates for Councilors to look after our municipal affairs, of which I claim the most important, is the assessment. Now we are responsible for the Councilors we elect and they are responsible for the voters they represent. Therefore select men that will look sharp after the assessment roll, and see that it is equalized on a certain percentage basis, and not by a haphazard, disgraceful method as at present. Equal assessment means equal taxes, for high and low, rich and poor. Beware of office seekers and grafters, hiding under a political cloak. Wake up, Digby County, be strong and quit yourselves as men, and get out of the rut.

Yours for justice and equity,
JOHN ROSS,
Oct. 15th, 1913. C-21 Culloden.

A Consensus of Opinion on the Investment Outlook

It is our opinion, and, to the best of our knowledge, the opinion of the great majority of investment bankers, that the present is a particularly opportune time for the purchase of sound bonds and stocks.

Comparison of our October "Investment Offerings" with our issue of last March proves that today's prices offer yields ranging from an eighth to a full one per cent. higher than last Spring.

Therefore we unhesitatingly advise the investing public to take immediate advantage of our current favorable prices. To those who wish to act on this advice we'll gladly send particulars of a more convenient plan of payment than usual.

The Misses Bina and Vesta Vantassel and Mr. Martin Vantassel and Arthur Hersey, of Mount Pleasant, were guests at the Willow farm on Sunday.

Why He Was Lonesome.

'I should think, Tommy,' said his father, 'that you might find some boy to play with you. Now what's the matter with Johnny Jenkins and the little Dublin boy?'

'Pooh, why, they're a whole year younger than I am,' said Tommy, contemptuously, 'I couldn't play with them!'

'Well, there's Jack Spear and Willie Harlow. Won't they do?'

'Yes, but they're a year older than I am,' said Tommy, wistfully, 'so the mean things won't play with me!'

The Tale of a Secret.

It is doubtful whether the persons who asserted that secrets were made to tell, foresaw, even in his most cynical mood, anything like the following conversation in Das Echo.

'Lottie tells me that you told her the secret that I told you not to tell any one.'

'Oh, isn't she mean! I told her not to tell you that I told it to her.'

'Yes, I told her that I wouldn't tell you if she told me, so please don't tell her that I told you!'

A Ticklish Question.

'The aged lady next door had been quite ill, so one morning Willie's mother said to her small son.

'Willie, run over and see how old Mrs. Smith is this morning.'

'Willie departed, but in a few moments he came running back and said: 'She says it's none of your business.'

'Why, Willie!' exclaimed his mother, 'What did you ask her?'

'Just what you told me to,' said Willie. 'I said you wanted to know how old she was.'

The Situation.

The Minister—'Bear up, my man; you'll get over it, you'll marry again!'

Donald—'I'll have to; I've got a couple of hundred visiting cards with Mrs. Donald on 'em, and I'm not going to have 'em wasted.'

To Our Friends and Neighbors

You know us. You know we would not—that we could not afford to—go back on our word. Nor can you afford to ignore this money-back-if-not-satisfied offer on this splendid laxative.

We honestly believe we have the best bowel remedy ever made—the most pleasant to take, most permanently beneficial laxative for relief from the miseries and dangers arising from constipation.

We wouldn't say this if we didn't believe it to be true. We wouldn't risk our reputation by making such statements did we not feel sure you would find them true.

Our faith is built both on the knowledge of what Rexall Orderlies are made of and on observation of very many severe cases in which they have proven their merit.

Try them at Our Risk

If they do not abundantly prove their merit with you also—if you are not entirely satisfied with them—we will refund your money—and we will do that on your mere say-so. We don't ask you to risk a penny. Isn't that fair?

Just let the bowels fail in properly doing their work—just let their action be delayed and incomplete and the entire system and every other organ suffers. Wastes that should have been expelled remain to poison the system.

Headaches, biliousness, nervousness and other tormenting and serious ills are common when the bowels fail to act daily as nature intended. All this may be avoided, if you will accept our advice.

Rexall Orderlies

taste just like candy. They are soothing and easy in action. They do not cause griping, nausea, purging or excessive looseness. They tend to tone and strengthen intestinal nerves and muscles. They promptly relieve constipation, and help to permanently overcome it.

Rexall Orderlies promote better spirits and better health. In all of these things they are vastly superior to old-fashioned, harsh salts and other purgatives, which are not only unpleasant to take but which usually leave the bowels in worse condition than before. We heartily recommend Rexall Orderlies for children, aged and delicate persons.

Rexall Orderlies come in vest-pocket tin boxes. 12 tablets, 10c; 30 tablets, 25c; 60 tablets, 50c.

CAUTION: Please bear in mind that Rexall Orderlies are not sold by all druggists. You can buy Rexall Orderlies only at the Rexall Stores. You can buy Rexall Orderlies in this community only at our store:

"ORANGE LILY SAVED MY LIFE"

These words or expressions having the same meaning are contained in hundreds of the letters I have received during the past year. Many were from women who had suffered agonies from falling of womb; others from women who had escaped dangerous surgical operations, as the tumors and ulcers had been removed by the action of Orange Lily and others who had suffered from suppressed menstruation, leucorrhoea, painful periods, etc. For all these and the other troubles known in general as Women's Disorders, Orange Lily furnishes a positive, scientific, never-failing cure. It is applied direct to the suffering organs, and its operation is certain and beneficial. I hereby offer to send absolutely free, a box worth $5.00, sufficient for ten days' treatment, to every suffering woman who will write for it. Enclose 3 stamps. MRS. FRANCES E. FREE ADVICE TO SICK WOMEN

Thousands Have Been Helped By Common Sense Suggestions.

Women suffering from any form of female ills are invited to communicate promptly with the woman's private correspondence department of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established a confidential correspondence which has extended over many years and which has never been broken. Never have we published a testimonial or used a letter without the written consent of the writer, and never has the Company allowed these confidential letters to get out of their possession, as the hundreds of thousands of them in their files will attest.

Out of the vast volume of experience which they have to draw from, it is more than possible that they possess the very knowledge needed in your case. Nothing is asked in return except your good will, and their advice has helped thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. Address Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass.

Every woman ought to have Lydia E. Pinkham's 80-page Text Book. It is not a book for general distribution, as it is too expensive. It is free and only obtainable by mail. Write for it today.

The man who wins is an average man. Not built on any particular plan. Not blessed with any particular luck. Just ready and earnest and full of pluck.

When asked a question he does not "guess." He knows, and answers "No" or "Yes." When set a task the rest can't do. He buckles down till he puts it through.

Three things he learned that the man who tries. Finds fault in his employer's eye. That it pays to know more than one thing well. That it doesn't pay all he knows to tell.

So he works and waits, till one fine day. There's a better job with bigger pay. And the man who shirked whenever they could.

Are bossed by the man whose work was good. For the man who wins is the man who works. Who neither larks nor troubles shirks. Who uses his hands, his head, his eyes—The man who wins is the man who tries.

Parliament's Date.
Ottawa, October 23—January 15th or possibly the 8th, is now spoken of as the probable date for the opening of parliament. The exact date has not yet been determined by the cabinet and will not be for some time as it is customary to give only a month's notice. Meanwhile preparations are going ahead for the work of the session. The estimates are well advanced and will shortly be ready for revision by the cabinet council while other subjects of legislation, such as the consolidation of the railway, shipping and fisheries act and the regulation of trust companies are in preparation. When the session is called the government will be ready with all the items of its program.

Protecting The Public.
Safety first is an urgent consideration with the railways; but the Canadian Pacific Railway is losing no time in supplementing its protecting agencies, devised to reduce the danger of accident to a minimum, if not to eliminate them altogether. The company has made a vigorous commencement in the equipping of the system with an automatic electric block signal. This is somewhat similar to the ordinary semaphore, which is a white iron or wood standard, some twenty five feet high, with a painted cross arm for daylight purposes, and red, yellow and green lights for night use. The track is divided into blocks at the end of which is a signal. A train standing or running in given block, will set the signal in the block immediately behind it, against following trains—thus ensuring perfect safety from rear end collisions. This is the case in double track, but in a single track installation, the signals are so worked that a train in a block will set the signal against following and opposing trains—thus making itself immune from the danger of either head-on or rear-end collisions. The C. P. R. now has these signals operating on its lines between St. John and Mattawamkeag, Montreal and Vaudeuil, Montreal (Place Viger) and Ste. Therese; Rimford Junction and Sudbury; West Toronto, Bolton, Idlington and Streetsville Junction; Fort William and Molson, Stephen and Field (B. C.); Crow's Nest, McGillivray (B. C.)—the whole making a total of 638 miles.

The line between Montreal and Farnham is now being equipped as fast as the material can be put up.

Captain Inch Don't Steerage Yarn.
THE COMMANDER OF THE VOLTURNO AT NEW YORK, DEFENDS HIS OFFICERS AND MEN.

New York, October 16—Francis Inch, the boyish looking Briton who commanded the burned steamer Volturmo, came to port tonight, bringing with him eighty seven survivors, passengers and crew of his ill-starred vessel. His story of the disaster in which 136 lives were lost, had preceded him by wireless, but in a cabin on the Kronland, which brought him here, Inch told his tale in simply phrased and modestly spoken detail that described more vividly than the wireless could picture the panorama of the Volturmo's loss and the rescue of more than 500 of those who had on board.

Cowardice there was none on the Volturmo, either among officers or crew, Inch said. There was no rush of seamen which made it necessary for him to warn them back with his revolver. His only weapon he left in a drawer in his cabin, and it burned with the ship. And no one on board drew a revolver. These statements he intends should relate the stories told by steerage passengers who arrived yesterday on the Grosser Kurfurst.

The Volturmo's master, besides defending his own officers and men, said he had no criticism to make of the tactics of any of the boats that stood by.

CROWN PRINCE OPPOSED TO FATHER'S ARRANGEMENT WITH HIS SON IN LAW.

BERLIN, Oct. 23—The German crown prince recently sent a letter of protest to Imperial Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg against permission being given to Prince Ernest August of Cumberland, the husband of the crown prince's only sister, to occupy the throne of the Duchy of Brunswick without his express renunciation of his pretensions to the throne of Hanover.

This protest has proved unsuccessful for the imperial chancellor to day sent a long reply to the crown prince in which he justified the position taken up by the Prussian government.

At the same time the Prussian government today formulated a resolution for submission to the federal council of the German Empire revoking its decision of 1907 against any member of the House of Cumberland occupying the Dukedom of Brunswick.

The crown prince, by his action, has adopted an attitude of flat opposition to his father, the emperor, who has accepted Prince Ernest August of Cumberland's oath of allegiance and letters pledging himself not to support any measures to detach Hanover from Prussia as ample guarantees for the future.

The spectacle of an heir to the throne protesting in writing to the head of the government against a policy adopted by the sovereign has rarely occurred and the incident probably accounts for the absence on Oct. 3 of the crown prince from the review by Emperor William of the Hussar regiments at Dantzig, which the crown prince commands, and from the luncheon at which every other officer of the brigade was present. The situation possesses all the elements of a spectacular dynastic family quarrel, particularly as Princess Victoria Louise since her marriage to Prince Ernest August has adopted a more extreme position than her father.

He Was a Woman.
DIVINE, YOUNG BRIDE PARADED IN MEN'S CLOTHES.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 16th—For wearing men's clothing on the street while accompanying her husband on pastoral visits to the foreign labor quarter, V. June, 18 years old, the three months' bride of the Rev. Oscar V. June, of Granite City, has been arrested and will be tried on a charge of disorderly conduct. The case will come up before a police magistrate in Granite City.

Sergeant Smith, of the Granite City police force, went into a drug store last night and noticed a youth sitting at the soda counter lighting a cigarette. The young man's cheeks were rosy and beardless, his complexion matchless.

Something in the plumpness of the young man's figure, in the grace with which he lifted his cigarette to his lips, in the turn of his ankle as he carelessly threw one knee across the other, awakened the sergeant's suspicions. The policeman's questions readily elicited the fact that 'he' was a woman.

A Cold Honeymoon.
A newly married couple from Wilmington, Delaware, had, the Express says, the uncomfortable experience of losing all their money and spending part of their honeymoon journey in a refrigerating car. They boarded a train at Philadelphia secretly, and climbed on the roof of a car while it was standing at a siding. They opened the trapdoor in the roof, and the bridegroom lowered the bride into the car, jumped after her and closed the door. They then discovered that they were imprisoned with tons of ice. The train was a slow one, and took some time to cover fifty-eight miles to the first stopping place. There the couple shouted for help, and they were released almost frozen. The guard and the station staff had some difficulty in getting them out. The news of their plight led some sympathetic people on the station platform to subscribe for tickets to take them to their destination.

No Room for Dream.
'My dear,' said the young husband, 'did you speak to the milkman about there being no cream on the milk.'

'Yes, I told him about it this morning, and he has explained it satisfactorily. I think it is quite a credit to him, too.'

'What did he say?'

'He said that he always filled the jug so full there was no room on the top for the cream.'

Hints For Picklers.

In regard to spices for pickling, ginger is the most wholesome, cloves are the strongest, mace next, then allspice and cinnamon.

A good sweet pickle for most fruits is 1 qt. best vinegar, 5 lbs. coffee C, best brown, or good 'stirred' maple sugar, 1 lb. cinnamon and 2 oz. cloves, to 7 lbs. fruit. Boil and skim, pouring over fruit every third day for four times. The pickles should be examined frequently, and the syrup rescaled, if there are any signs of fermentation.

Scalding or parboiling articles to be pickled makes them absorb the vinegar more readily, but does not add to their crispness. Before putting them in vinegar, after parboiling, they should be cold and perfectly dry.

Always use strong vinegar, or the pickles and spiced things will be inapid. It should be scalding hot when poured over, as raw vinegar becomes rosy, and does not keep well. As heating weakens it, it should be very strong and poured over fruit as soon as it comes to the boiling point.

Use a wooden or silver spoon in preparing fruits in which vinegar is used.

Pears which are likely to harden, if placed at first in a thick syrup, should be cooked in a weak syrup until tender.

Cooking softens apples and peaches and if the sugar is strewn over them and they are left to stand for several hours or over night, the juice is extracted and the fruit hardened. Another good way of hardening is to cook in a good syrup a few minutes, then skim out the fruit and lay in the hot sun several hours. Place in cans and pour over the boiling syrup.

Long boiling destroys the natural flavor and darkens the fruit.

The Safety of Life at Sea.
OTTAWA, October 23—Alex. Johnston, deputy minister of marine and fisheries, has been appointed by the government to represent Canada at the international conference for safety of life at sea, to be held in London, Nov. 12, 1913. Mr. Johnston will sail from Canada on October 28th and will be invested with full powers to sign any convention which may be deemed necessary. This conference is one of great importance as the result of the investigations and inquiries consequent upon the Titanic disaster will be placed before the conference. The British board of trade it is understood, will have important proposals to make, as will the representatives of the other great shipping nations. It is probable that many of these proposals will be adopted by the government of Canada, acting in conjunction with the British board of trade.

No, He Wouldn't.

Schr. Mayfield Sunk at Annapolis.
CAPTAIN AND CREW HAD A CLOSE CALL.
—VESSEL LOADED WITH BRICK.

The schooner E. Mayfield, with a cargo of 80,000 brick for the St. John Sugar Refinery, lies at the bottom of the Annapolis river, submerged, twenty feet at low water. Captain Burton Merriman, who owned and sailed the schooner and his three young sons, who formed the crew, had a close call from watery graves, getting away in the boat as the vessel was going down. The youngest son, a mere boy, was snatched from his sleep in a bunk just in the nick of time. The Mayfield left the brick yards of the Nova Scotia Clay Works before daylight on Sunday morning, using only motor. The engine broke down and this left the vessel at the mercy of the swift current on the ebb tide. The Mayfield struck one of the new ice piers in the middle of the river, making a gaping hole in the hull, and after remaining afloat five minutes went to the bottom off Allen's Creek. The captain and crew lost all their belongings. Much sympathy is expressed for Captain Merriman, who was well known here and at all the Bay of Fundy ports. He is having loss of trouble this year. Recently he was the loser in a heavy law suit at Parrsboro, his home town, and his wife now lies at the point of death in Parrsboro. There is very little, if any, insurance on the vessel.

Changes in Dredging Work.

There has been a countermand of orders as regards the dredges Provincial No. 1 and Beacon Bar. The former had to be dismantled and leave Digby for St. John. The work of dismantling was completed and Captain McLeod, of the dredge, and Captain Gaudet, of the tug Eldred, took out clearance papers at the custom house on Saturday, when a wire was received ordering the Provincial to continue work here. The Beacon Bar was on her way to Digby from Prince Edward Island to relieve the Provincial and while at Weymouth Friday, the two tugs having put in for coal, the dredge received orders to proceed to St. Andrews, where the Irquois went from Digby. It is now presumed that the Irquois will be towed to St. John for the work intended to be done by the Provincial.

The latter resumed work in Digby Monday morning, and is now busily engaged widening the Racquette channel which she had already commenced at which we referred to in our last issue.

Death of Mrs. Mary D. Hilton.

Died at the Beverly hospital, Oct. 10, 1913, Mary D., widow of the late Edwin Hilton, aged 78 years, 1 month, 2 days. Her son and daughter, a former marriage service, Walter Parker, of Brantree, and Mrs. Sarah Dame, of Danvers, Mass. The deceased was the daughter of the late Jacob and Sarah Woodman, of Westville, Digby Co., where reside her two brothers, Robert and Thomas Woodman. Another brother is Ross Fanning Woodman, of Rosedale, N. S. The interment was at the Congregational church, North Beverly, on Sunday, Oct. 10th, where many relatives and friends gathered to pay their last respects. The Ladies Relief Corps, of which the departed was a valued member, took part in the services. Many beautiful floral offerings attested to the love and esteem in which the deceased was held in the community. The pall bearers were her four nephews, Clinton Hobbs, Fred S., George P. and Walter V. Woodman.

Digby to Vancouver.

RAY OF FUNDY STEAMSHIP TRANSFERRED FROM THE D. A. R. TO THE C. P. R.

All the employees on the Digby pier, from Steamship Agent McBride down, are now under the aegis of the division of the C. P. R. The Digby station does not come under this head, still being part of the D. A. R. system, but just the same Digby is the only Nova Scotia port directly linked up with the world's greatest railway system. It is now "Digby to Vancouver," instead of St. John to Vancouver. This change was brought about Saturday, when an express train from Boston, and the D. A. R. finished up their labors in making the necessary transfer of this end of the bay steamship service.

A Narrow Escape.

Mr. Alexander Adams, of Bay View, had a narrow escape from drowning last Monday. Leaving the spur pier in his motor boat about noon, during quite a heavy sea, the tow line on his tender parted. While endeavoring to again secure the small boat his large boat washed against the government pier with sufficient force to throw him overboard. As he went down he fortunately caught the anchor and with the rope attached, hauled himself back to the surface. He was considerably difficultly climbed into the small boat and afterwards into the larger one. The accident was witnessed by men on board the tug Schr. Celia F.

Bear River Closed.

The draw of the wooden bridge at the mouth of Bear River closed with repairs are being made to the bridge. The stern, Bear River, bound to St. John, had to have several feet cut off her stern Tuesday before she could get under at low tide. Vessels bound to that port will be obliged to have their cargoes lightened up and down the river and probably across the Basin to Digby for shipment until the draw can again be opened.

The Bear's Head Fog Alarm.

Messrs. M. C. Denton and M. A. Condon, of Digby, builders of the Bay View Life Saving station, have been awarded the contract to build the new fog alarm or whistle house at Bear's Head, on the west side of Petite Passage at the Bay of Fundy entrance. The building, we understand, will be very similar to the one at Point Prim. Mr. Denton went to Tiverton Wednesday afternoon, accompanied by a government engineer from Halifax.

Died in Sydney.

Mrs. Percy M. Bishop died in Sydney on Saturday after a long illness, leaving a husband and one child. The deceased was formerly Miss Helen Dumas, of Roop's Point, Digby county, and leaves a brother, Mr. Edwin A. Dumas, of that place.

OF A LOCAL NATURE

A conference of provincial premiers is to be held at Ottawa on Oct. 27th.

The First Degree will be conferred on several candidates in St. George Lodge of Oddfellows tonight.

Mr. John G. Vantassel has sold his property at Bay View to Mr. Elmer Hayden and will reside for the winter in Mrs. Syde's House on Carleton street.

Mr. Stanley Keen, care taker of the clock in the government building, says that it will be stopped for a few days during which it will be thoroughly cleaned and repaired.

Rev. J. D. Brebant will preach in Digby next Sunday, both morning and evening. Service will be held in the evening Thursday evening of next week instead of Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Wm. A. Bacon, of Hill Grove, has a hen's egg which is half yellow and half white, the two colors being evenly separated around the middle of the egg the entire circumference.

Bridgetown Monitor: Mr. J. E. Lloyd has sold out his grocery business to Mr. Lyman Outhouse of Tiverton, Digby County. Mr. Outhouse does not take possession until the first of the year.

Three new sleeping cars have recently been added to the rolling stock of the I. R. C. from Pullman Company, of the latest and most improved type. They bear the names of Shelburne, Rensselaer and Caledonia.

Married at Little River.

Our Little River correspondent writes: A very pretty wedding was solemnized in the Baptist church at Little River on Wednesday morning, Oct. 22nd, at 8:30, when Miss Bertha E. Denton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Denton, was united in marriage to Mr. George W. Eldridge, of Sandy Cove. Rev. R. B. Kinley, pastor of the Baptist church, performed the ceremony. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Bowman Collins and as the well known strains of Mendelssohn sounded, the bride entered the church, leaning on the arm of her brother, Mr. Clayton Denton. The bride, who was unattended, looking very pretty in a travelling suit of navy blue with hat to match, took her place beside the groom, under the canopy. The bride was wreathed with white and pink flowers, and the bride and groom were both decorated for the occasion with autumn leaves. After the ceremony the happy couple were conveyed by auto to the S. S. Sissiboo for Weymouth, amidst showers of confetti and good wishes for a long, happy and prosperous wedded life. They en route to Boston and New York where they will spend three weeks, after which they will be at home to their friends in Sandy Cove Nov. the 26th and 27th.

Rally Day.

Rally Day will be observed by the "Grace" Methodist Church Sunday School on Sunday at its regular session immediately after the close of the morning service in the church. A programme will be rendered entitled, "Our Sunday School Family." The superintendent desires that all the officers, teachers and scholars make an extra effort to be present on that occasion, and that also a very cordial invitation is extended to the parents of the scholars and their friends as well as all who are interested in the welfare of the school to be present. The offering for the day will be for the Sunday School and Extension Fund of the church, which is used to help the poor schools in getting their supplies. Last year the offering amounted to nearly eight dollars. This year it is hoped that this amount will not only be reached but exceeded.

Death of Mr. Robert Hains.

Freeport has again lost one of its most respected residents. Mr. Robert Hains passed away on Sunday night, Oct. 20th, at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. Fred Prime, in his eightieth year. He was a member of the Baptist church and will be greatly missed in the Westport Sunday school and also in the Westport Star Division of which he was a charter member and has always been a faithful worker. He leaves to mourn his loss three daughters and two sons, besides a large circle of relatives and friends. His funeral was conducted by Rev. F. H. Eaton, the Division walking in regular to the grave. His hope was like the morning star, bright and clear.

Brought Home For Interment.

The remains of Emma LaGere, who died at East Boston, Mass., on Wednesday, Oct. 15th, aged 55 years, arrived in Weymouth on Saturday morning and were forwarded to Little Brook, Digby Co., for burial. Her husband, Thomas LaGere, and two daughters accompanied the remains.

Bark Ethel Clarke arrived at Mobile from Barbados Monday.

Schr. Lillie E. McMahon is at Moteghan, loading piling for Boston.

Schr. C. D. Pickles sailed from Jacksonville for Havana Sunday.

Schr. Florence E. McMahon sailed from Boston for Weymouth Monday.

Schr. Lanthos, Capt. Teed, arrived in Yarmouth from St. Andrews Monday.

S. S. Tonadores, Capt. Porter, sailed last Saturday, 18th, from New York for Colon.

The fishing schooner Morning Star, Capt. Harry Ross, arrived in Boston Tuesday.

Arrivals at D. & O. Sproule's: 735 lbs. of salt fish; shipped to Boston, 20,150 lbs. of dried fish.

C. G. S. Curlew, Capt. Milne, arrived here Wednesday night and sailed again yesterday morning.

Bark Edna M. Smith, J. A. Road, master, bound from Digby to Buenos Ayres, was spoken Sept. 18, lat. 28, lon. 32 W.

Schr. Luella has been chartered to load hard coal at New York for Bridgeport at $1.75 and towage up river from Digby.

Capt. Joseph E. Snow's shipments: 1,000 boxes herring haddies; 100,000 lbs. dry fish; the latter to Vinal Haven via schr. Hains Bros.

As will be seen by our advertising columns, the scale of the wrecked material from the schr. Agnes Danahoe will take place at Point Prim next Thursday, Oct. 30th.

When the bark Calburga hove up her anchor on the ballast grounds yesterday morning, her chain became fouled with the ballast buoy and mooring which were brought to Digby.

Schr. Hains Bros., Capt. Hicks, which arrived here Monday from Westport, sailed last night for Vinal Haven, Maine, with a cargo of dried fish shipped by Capt. Joseph E. Snow.

The torn schr. Celia F., Capt. Godfrey, has completed her cargo of 355,019 ft. of lumber at Digby, was towed in the stream Wednesday afternoon and sailed this morning for Cienfuegos.

Arrivals at the Maritime Fish Corporation: Schr. Cora Gertie, 27,238 lbs. of haddock, 2,850 lbs. of cod, 3,765 lbs. of hake, 130 lbs. of cod; other murexes 100 lbs. of cod, 1,510 lbs. of haddock.

After having passed a successful examination before the Marine examiner, Capt. J. E. Murphy, at Yarmouth, Charles R. Teed, of Freeport, has been granted a Master's certificate of competency for steam coastwise.

Yarmouth Times: Six American fishing schooners—Ruth, Marion R. Turner, Rebecca, Angie B. Watson, W. M. Goodspeed and Helen B. Thomas, and the British schr. Dorothy M. Smart, Albert J. Lutz and Lydia May came into port Monday for shelter.

After securing bait at Grand Mannan, the fishing schooner Morning Star, Capt. Harry Ross, made one net, taking 15,000 pounds, when the vessel was compelled to run to Yarmouth on Friday for shelter. Several others of the local fleet put into Yarmouth same day.

Capt. Cardiff, master of the S. S. St. George, who arrived here Wednesday with a driver, was successful in securing two 1800 lb. davits, which were lost overboard from the George at the government pier the day before she went off the Digby-St. John route.

Norwegian stmr. Thelma, Capt. Jorgensen, arrived here Tuesday night from Jacksonville, Florida, with hard pine and cypress timber for Powers & Brewer, and is now discharging at the mouth of Bear River. Her cargo will be used in connection with the railway bridge.

A dispatch says: The cargo of coal on board the schooner Luella, stranded at Spencer's Island, was sold by auction for the benefit of the underwriters and all concerned, and was bought by Capt. Fred Ogilvie, master of the Luella, at $1.70 per ton. The vessel will be brought to Parrsboro when the cargo is discharged.

The C. G. S. Lady Laurier arrived here Saturday night and remained in port over Sunday. On Monday she landed supplies for the following lighthouses: Point Prim, Digby pier, Port Wado, Bear River, Victoria Beach, Shaffner's Point, Hog Island and Annapolis. The Lady Laurier will circuit the Bay of Fundy, afterwards returning to Halifax.

Schr. Maple Leaf, Capt. Baird, arrived here Saturday from St. John, with a cargo of Liverpool salt, brought out by the stmr. Manchester Shipper, and discharged the same for wholesale fish firms in the Racquette. From here the Maple Leaf went to Annapolis where she is loading brick for St. John to be used in the new building being erected for the St. John sugar refineries.

The scarcity of icebergs abouts is a great handicap to fishermen, particularly the larger vessels of the Digby fleet. On Saturday the Loran B. Snow left port without a pound of ice aboard and Captain Casey intended going into an American port, probably Southwest Harbor, Me., for a supply. Captain Casey will come back to Grand Mannan for his bait before proceeding to the banks.

Two weeks out from Sydney, C. B., the bark Calburga, Capt. Lewis, said to be the largest wooden sailing vessel afloat, arrived off Point Prim Light Monday and was promptly reported to the Corrick by Mr. Lee Ellis, the popular light keeper. She was towed in the same evening by stmr. Granville and Valinda, and anchored on the ballast ground in time to escape Monday night's gale in the Bay. Yesterday morning she was docked at the government spur pier, Digby, by tug Eldred and Moto, where she will load 1,000,000 ft. of lumber for River Photo, S. A., shipped by Clarke Bros., Bear River.

The following vessels have reported at the Digby custom house since Oct. 17th: Inward—Oct. 20th, schr. Maple Leaf, Baird, St. John; 21st, schr. Rolfe, Rowe, Parrsboro; schr. Hains Bros., Haines, Westport; schr. Cora Gertie, Crocker, Freeport; 22nd, bark Calburga, Lewis, Bergen, Norway and Sydney, N. S. Outward—20th, schr. Maple Leaf, Baird, Annapolis; 21st, schr. Rolfe, Rowe, Annapolis; schr. Cora Gertie, Crocker, Freeport; schr. Celia F., Godfrey, Oloufuegon, Cuba, 355,019 ft. of lumber. In for harbor—22nd, Thelma, 847 tons, Jorgensen, Florida, for Bear River, N. S.

G. E. TORRIE,
Fishery Officer.CARD

To the Electors of Digby County.
Gentlemen:—The undersigned come to select candidates for Councilors to look after the Municipal affairs, of which I claim the most important, is the assessment. Now we are responsible for the Councilors we elect and they are responsible for the officers they appoint under them. Therefore let us elect men that will look sharp after the assessment, and see that it is equalized on a certain percentage base, and not by a haphazard, and let us elect a Police Officer. Royal assessment means equal taxes, for high and low, rich and poor. Beware of officer seekers and grafters, hiding under a political cloak. Wake up, Digby County, be strong and quit yourselves like men, and get out of the old rut.

Yours for justice and equity,
JOHN ROSS, Councillor.
Oct. 15th, 1913.

Oven-tested flour is for sale. Instead of buying ordinary flour you can buy flour whose baking ability has been proven in an oven.

A ten pound sample is taken from each shipment of wheat at the mill. This is ground into flour. The flour is baked into bread.

If this flour bakes into bread high in quality and large in quantity we keep the whole shipment of wheat and grind it. Otherwise we sell it.

More bread and better bread from this flour is a certainty!

Raw Furs.

HOW MANY BOYS EARN THEIR FIRST MONKEY IN CANADA.

"Over One Hundred Thousand ($100,000,000) Dollars is paid to the fur traders of Canada each year for raw furs," said Mr. John Hallam, the large Toronto fur dealer, "and many of these boys earn their first real money by setting out a line of traps and capturing the valuable fur bearing animals."

"Contrary to the popular impression, it is not necessary to go into the wilds in order to trap, as muskrats, mink, skunk, raccoon, ermine or white weasel and other valuable fur bearing animals are found throughout the farming communities of the Dominion, and it only remains for the observant active trapper to capture the same and turn their pelts into the big money that they bring on the market today."

"Not only does the following of the trap line well repay the boy for the time and energy expended, but it leads him to enjoy the healthy life of the open, and to become a lover of nature. It causes him to become observant and sharpens his wits, when he attempts to match his skill against the natural instinct and wariness of the wild animals, and offers an innocent safety valve to the natural exuberance inherent in every boy having good red blood coursing through his veins."

"It is not advisable or necessary to wait until the trapping season opens before locating places to set the traps, as a great deal of the preliminary work for a successful trapping season should be done now. Cuddles should be built, log runways constructed in places frequented by fur bearing animals and bait placed in the same, so that the animals will become accustomed to their presence and feed in the same before attempts are made to trap them. In passing through the woods and along the creeks and sand bars look for tracks and signs of the animals, note where they pass in their search for food, examine holes in the ground, and see if tracks do not lead into them with hair on the side of the hole showing that you have found the home of the skunk, a fur that shows increasing value and popularity on account of its black glossy appearance and good wearing qualities."

"As with a natural aversion to crossing travelled roads and prefer to pass under a bridge or culvert, all species of this description should be located and an old log or piece of plank placed on an angle against the side of the abutment under the bridge forming a tunnel or passageway, and every mink that passes that way will go through the tunnel you have made. Notice where a log lies across a stream, as land and even water animals will use it as a bridge in place of going through the water, and when properly placed there often brings good results."

"All these signs tell their tales to the experienced trapper, and if the boy is to make a success of trapping, he must learn to read these signs, which show him where to set his traps to make success assured."

"Good traps in good working condition are very essential for a successful season's trapping, as it is usually the best mink that escapes from a defective trap, so that before the season opens you should go over your traps carefully to see that the springs are in good condition, and that they work properly. The traps should then be baited in water with pine, spruce, hemlock, balsam boughs or with walnut hulls, and hung up to dry, as this will give the traps a dark coating, remove the oil, and keep them from rusting. Never put kerosene on your traps as the odor remains for a long time and will warn the animal of the presence of the traps and cause them to avoid being caught."

"The farm dog is a valuable animal in his place, but he should not be taken along when you go over your trap line, as mink and some other animals can scent a dog for several days afterward and will avoid the locality where their natural enemy has passed."

"Don't take a crowd with you when looking over the ground to make your sets, nor when you are going over your trap line. Trapping is best done alone or at most with one companion. Don't tell others where you have set your traps, or someone with a prevarious sense of honesty may remove your catch from the trap, even if he does not take the trap along with him for good measure."

"There is a right and a wrong way of setting traps, and you should obtain all the information on the subject possible, and then use your good common sense in determining just which set is the best under all the circumstances of the case, as one boy will catch twice as many fur bearing animals from his traps when they are set properly as will another who has set his traps carelessly and wrong. This means dollars, and it is advisable to think out the best sets for the different locations, so that when the season opens you know just what to do under all the circumstances of the case."

"These are only a few hints to the amateur trapper, we have received so many thousands of letters each season asking how, when and where to set traps, what bait to use, what the laws are concerning the time to trap fur bearing animals and other information concerning trapping, that for the benefit of the amateur and to give new ideas to the professional trapper, we have published both French and English editions of 'H. J. Allen's Trapping Guide' a book of 96 pages covering all of these points which we are mailing free to all interested in trapping, or in the raw fur industry, thus assisting in developing the great Canadian fur industry, and giving pointers to the farmer boy whereby he may derive both pleasure and profit from a life in the open."

Rev. Thos. B. Roy Accepts Call.

Fitchburg Item in Worcester Telegram: Rev. Thomas B. Roy, Cambridge, N. B., who was extended a call to the pastorate of Beth El Baptist church a week ago, announced his acceptance of the call at the services today. Rev. Mr. Roy plans to assume charge of the church at once. He is preparing to continue his theological studies at a school in Newton and will be at the church Sunday of each week. The pastorate has been vacant since the resignation of Rev. E. J. Allen in the spring. Rev. Mr. Roy preached at the church a week ago today, creating a favorable impression. The letter of acceptance which he sent today was received with much rejoicing by the parishioners.

[Rev. Mr. Roy was formerly pastor of the Digby Baptist church and has many friends here who wish him continued success.]

A MESSAGE FROM A WOMAN TO WOMEN"Every Woman Should Take 'Fruit-a-lives'"

LARKIN, ONT., MAY 12th, 1911

"Kindly publish this letter of mine if you think it will benefit other women who might be afflicted with the diseases I have had in the past, but am now, thanks to 'Fruit-a-lives', completely cured of. It is my firm belief that every woman should take 'Fruit-a-lives' if she wants to keep herself in good health."

Before taking 'Fruit-a-lives' I was constantly troubled with what is commonly known as 'Nerves' or severe Nervousness. This Nervousness brought on the most violent attacks of Sick Headache, for which I was constantly taking doctors' medicine without any permanent relief. Constipation was also a source of great trouble to me and for which the Doctors said 'I would have to take medicine all my life', but 'Fruit-a-lives' banished all these troubles and now I am a well woman!"

Mrs. FRED. GADKE.

WHY not give your lad the same training?

"When I was a growing lad, and came upon many words in my reading that I did not understand, my mother, instead of giving me the definition when I applied to her, uniformly sent me to the dictionary to learn it, and in this way I gradually learned many things besides the meaning of the individual word in question. Among other things, how to use a dictionary, and the great pleasure and advantage there might be in the use of the dictionary. Afterwards, when I went to the village school, my chief direction, after lessons were learned and before they were recited, was in turning over the pages of the 'Unabridged' of those days. Now the most modern Unabridged—the NEW INTERNATIONAL—gives me a pleasure of the same sort. So far as my knowledge extends, it is at present the best of the one-volume dictionaries, and quite sufficient for all ordinary use. Even those who possess the splendid dictionaries in several volumes will yet find it a great convenience to have this, which is so compact, so full, and so trustworthy as to leave, in most cases, little to be desired."—Albert S. Cook, Ph.D., LL.D., Professor of the English Language and Literature, Yale Univ. April 28, 1911.

WILL YOU USE

U. M. C. Ammunition?

Why? Because you can shoot it all day and never feel the jar and can get as much game if not more. A dealer says use Dominion because it was practically the only ammunition used at the Guides' Meet here. That is very true, but why? because it was given to them. I shot it at the meet and must say I carried a swelled cheek and a black shoulder for some time.

A dealer saw one of our customers with a box of U. M. C. and said "I say they are a small load." "I say they are all wads."

So for the sake of our customers we got one from Mr. Dealer and compared it with U. M. C. and the result is in our window. Judge for yourself.

We carry Dominion, Kynoch, Eley and U. M. C. Ammunition, but when I want a good day's shoot I use U. M. C.

A very pretty marriage took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Shortliffe, Oct. 14th, when their only daughter, Miss Eunice Shortliffe, was united in marriage to Mr. Millego Israel, of Freeport. The ceremony was performed by their pastor, Rev. F. H. Eaton. The bride and groom entered the parlor and stood under a very pretty arch, while the wedding march was being played by Mrs. C. M. Tibert. The bride was dressed in a traveling suit of navy blue cloth with hat to match. After congratulations, refreshments were served and a pleasant evening spent in music and games. The bride received many useful presents, including a nice piano case organ from her father.

Robert Grayson, Captain's lover — Paul Constan.

Col. LeNor — Chas. Palazzi.

Wood, a negro servant — Harry F. Brown.

Judge of the Police Court — H. Gordon.

SAFETY — EDWINA GREY.

Clara Day, an orphan — Little Lewis.

Mrs. Condit, the housekeeper — Emma Shaw.

Benjamin — Besie Lisle Campbell.

Synopsis: Act I—The Newbury. Act II—The Hidden Hand. Act III—The Attempted Abduction. Act IV—The Forced Marriage. Act V—The Discovery.

Tickets are now on sale at Holdsworth's drug store and should be purchased early as the best seats will soon be selected.

Everyone in Digby knows the style of play put on by Mr. Webber and his company. We give guarantee that the entertainment will be a good one.

As for the firemen, it is the duty of every ratepayer to assist them, for none of us know how soon we will require their assistance.

Mr. Webber and his company had a full house when they played "A Queen for a Day" in Digby Sept. 22nd and we hope the hall will again be filled next Monday night to witness "The Hidden Hand."

CORRESPONDENCE.

A Letter From Bloomfield, N. J.

To the Editor of the Courier

DEAR SIR:—Possibly your columns may not be so heavily burdened with letters from the world of the world as yours are, but I thought I would write you a few lines about the "St. George" withdrawal from the Bay of Fundy route and many other changes in evidence that spell the near approach of winter. So the changes go on each year and so smoothly the one follows the other that we can hardly realize that another year is rapidly drawing to a close. Up to a few days ago the weather here has been so summerlike that if the schools had not reopened, vacationists returning and winter places closed, we would have had little evidence of the fact that half of October has passed by.

Much interest was excited last week in the great base ball match between the Giants of New York and the Athletics of Philadelphia, resulting in a decisive victory for the Athletics. Large sums of money exchanged hands upon the result. The New York club was somewhat handicapped from the fact that some of its best players were physically unable to take part. The games were played alternately in New York and Philadelphia and in both cities intense interest was excited—thousands being in attendance.

In this town on Sunday, the 13th inst., we had a very interesting event. It is known as "The Holy Name parade." It was made up of members of the Holy Name Society connected with the Catholic churches in this and nearby towns. It is estimated that upwards of 5,000 took part in the parade which was led by M. M. Higgins, a very highly esteemed resident of this town. Close to him we observed P. J. Quinn, another prominent citizen. Six bands were in the procession which represented some of the leading citizens of the various towns and represented a striking appearance. Passing along the principal streets carrying banners and emblems they finally reached the reviewing stand located in front of the Sacred Heart Church which faces the public square known as "The Green." Here addresses were delivered by Monsignor O'Hare, of Brooklyn, and Joseph J. Cornwell, of Belleville. These addresses were of a very high order, breathing deep spiritual tone and no one could listen to the inspiring eloquence without feeling that it was good to be there. A benediction of the blessed sacrament concluded the exercises. An interesting feature was the singing of the hymns by a chorus of four hundred children. Rev. J. M. Sordella has been in charge of this parish for thirty-five years and the magnificent showing of last Sunday is striking evidence of his popularity and the great success that has attended his work.

I visited Eric Basin on Thursday and amongst the shipping there noticed the S. S. Boston receiving a new stern funnel and other repairs which, when completed, will make her the finest ship for the winter service between Yarmouth and Boston. The old Bay of Fundy steamer Prince Rupert is in Hoboken receiving extensive repairs and alterations before she takes up her new route.

The mayoralty election in New York is making waves and it is generally thought the result will be close. One of the merchant princes of New York, Benjamin Altman died last week leaving an estate of about forty million dollars. He had an art collection valued at over ten million dollars which he bequeathed to the city. He was never married and after giving liberally to many public institutions and to many of his relatives and employees, provided for carrying on the business the same as during his lifetime. But I must not trespass further upon your space.

Very sincerely,

Bloomfield, N. J., Oct. 17th, 1913.

The Little Brook Exhibition.

To the Editor of the Courier

DEAR SIR:—On the 10th September, 1913, we occurred in the history of the United Evangelical facts never to be forgotten. On that memorable day a people, peaceful and prosperous were dragged away from their happy homes and like the leaves of the forest scattered to the four winds of heaven, and who were the people? They were the ancestors of the French Acadians who now inhabit the district of Clare and the other French settlements of the province. The persecutors of our forefathers thought that the French Acadian race was forever annihilated in America. But Divine Providence had willed it otherwise. Our ancestors came back to their dear Acadia, settled along the shores of the beautiful St. Mary's Bay, and after a period of only one hundred and fifty-eight years, are now once more a thrifty and prosperous people. We, French Acadians are now the equals of the other races and are for the first time in the history of Clare, we have had our exhibition in the hall at Little Brook. There was exposed the different products of the present. Government officials were present and took interest in our exhibition. I now live in a French Acadian to be contented and happy. We have nothing in the annals of our history to make us blush. Our language is the one used in the Court of diplomacy, and is inscribed on the royal coat of arms. We then have no cause to blush if we use our own language whenever necessary. What surprised me was that in the prize-holders of the exhibition, not a word of French was to be found. Surely we cannot lay the blame on our English friends. No, on the contrary they helped us all they could. Why were not these prize lists printed in French? It would have demonstrated to the world at large that we were a nation proud of ourselves and of our language. It would have shown evidence that we are striving for the advancement of our race. Every day we hear, "Oh, we cannot have our rights, we are pressed upon by the English people." Not a bit of that instead of being pressed upon, our English friends are always ready to help us. It is true they will not say us that we must use our native tongue and in that course of action they are not to blame. The fault is not with our neighbors but with ourselves. I admire the English tongue, but I cannot that a French Acadian should learn the English language but should use his own tongue, whenever he can possibly do so.

I am yours, etc.,

ACADIAN.

Yr month papers please copy.

To the Editor of the Courier

DEAR SIR: In reading your paper I noticed a little item in Centerville news which I would like to correct about the Holligan crowd. The writer states that he is pleased to say that they did not belong to Centerville. He either was intoxicated or don't know what he is talking about. He would not have far to go to find out that they belonged right in his own place. As for myself I saw people there that I thought were dead 15 or 20 years ago, out with lanterns looking for the intoxicating drink. The writer did not state whether the fell men who were held up under a revolver the other night were outsiders or not. I think Mr. Writer has got all he can do to sweep his own doorway, and he won't have much time to bother with the Holligans as he calls his own crowd. Mr. Writer wants to be sure about things before he writes again.

Yours truly,

AN OUTSIDER

MOTHER! REGAL FLOUR DID IT!

Bread like Mother used to make—light, white and palatable—is easy if you use

REGAL FLOUR

Common sense tells you that it is a hopeless task trying to make good bread of inferior flour. You must have the right basis, or baking, day will only produce a batch of failures. Regal Flour is preferred by good housekeepers, everywhere, because its uniformly high quality is a known fact. Get a barrel of Regal from your grocer. If you don't find it all we claim, we'll refund your money.

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of the Courier
Sir.—Reading the interesting lines written by our progressive friend, Mr. Denton, it may be of some interest to note the following:
Right here on the Sissiboo River we have more hydraulic power than all the other rivers in Nova Scotia, excepting on Liverpool waters.
According to White Government Report on water powers of the Dominion, Sissiboo on conservative figures show 1150 horse power utilizing all the different falls, and only 2500 of this being developed for pulp mill, leaving 3550 h. p. now going to waste, enough electrical energy if developed to supply every house and home, as well as leaving a surplus electric railway and power for manufacturing plants in Digby county. A well known fact that this is the most economical and convenient power known.
A table of the following hydro electric plants in this province are:
Boar River, 25 h. p. 65 head, 80 h. p. developed Yarmouth, 310 " 30 " (abt) 300 "
Shelburne, 550 " 27 " 200 "
Liverpool, 1100 " 22 " 700 "
Milton, 350 " 10 " (abt) 150 "
Annapolis, 120 " 10 " 120 "
Bridgetown, 100 " 10 " 100 "
Sissiboo Falls, 1100 " 40 " 2000 " by old pulp mill
This is now abandoned. An ideal location for hydro plant and development could be increased to 3000 h. p. by 80 head.
The other power sites are at Weymouth Falls where there is now in active operation developing 2500 h. p., the other power sites being Bates Rock, Schooner Passage, Little Falls, Moose Falls and Blue Gundy, all within 10 miles distance from the town of Weymouth.
Now taking the last census returns, even with a population of more than 20,000, Antigonish, Guysboro, Hants and Richmond counties individually, Digby heads the list with 20,107 in 1911, but with 155 people less than in 1901. Why should this be? Ought it not to have been 500 or 1000 more?
This shows a number of our stalwart sons going West or "across the pond" (as the saying goes) to seek employment.
To keep our best blood at home we need more industry and development of our natural resources that the Atlantic has bestowed upon us.
Right here in this town, a furniture factory, boot and shoe, corn mill, machine shop, and many others could flourish to produce employment for our sons and help build up our country.
Ye men of Digby county our time has come. Gentlemen, the opportunity is here. Let's make the most of it, for the mutual benefit of everybody.
Your Boards of Trade are all right, your public meetings are likewise good, but I want a man as I haven't the time myself, that will step forward not afraid to tackle this problem, and promote such a worthy proposition.
Yours for business,
A. SCHUBERT,
Weymouth, N. S., Oct. 13th, 1913.

Girl's Wink Cost $20.
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—Because she winked at a girl friend in court today, Miss Laura Horron, champion woman tennis player of Stanford University, was fined $20 by Justice of the Peace H. W. Laupkin of Redwood City. She was charged with auto speeding. She said she was going only thirty five miles an hour. Then she winked at her friend and the fine followed promptly.
The Court, it was said, had read in the morning papers that a Pittsburgh magistrate yesterday fined a young washer $50 for having winked twice at a high school girl on the street. This was $25 a wink.

An Old Man.
Edward Munroe, an ex quartermaster of the United States Navy, recently attained the age of 101. Born in Nova Scotia on Sept. 3rd, 1809, he went to the United States when he was seven or eight years of age. He has a small pension for his services to the Republic, which in his younger days when he was in the navy, took the form of destroying pirates, who then swarmed in American waters, especially in the Gulf of Mexico. He was afterwards in the merchant service. He has never been married and has not a relative living.

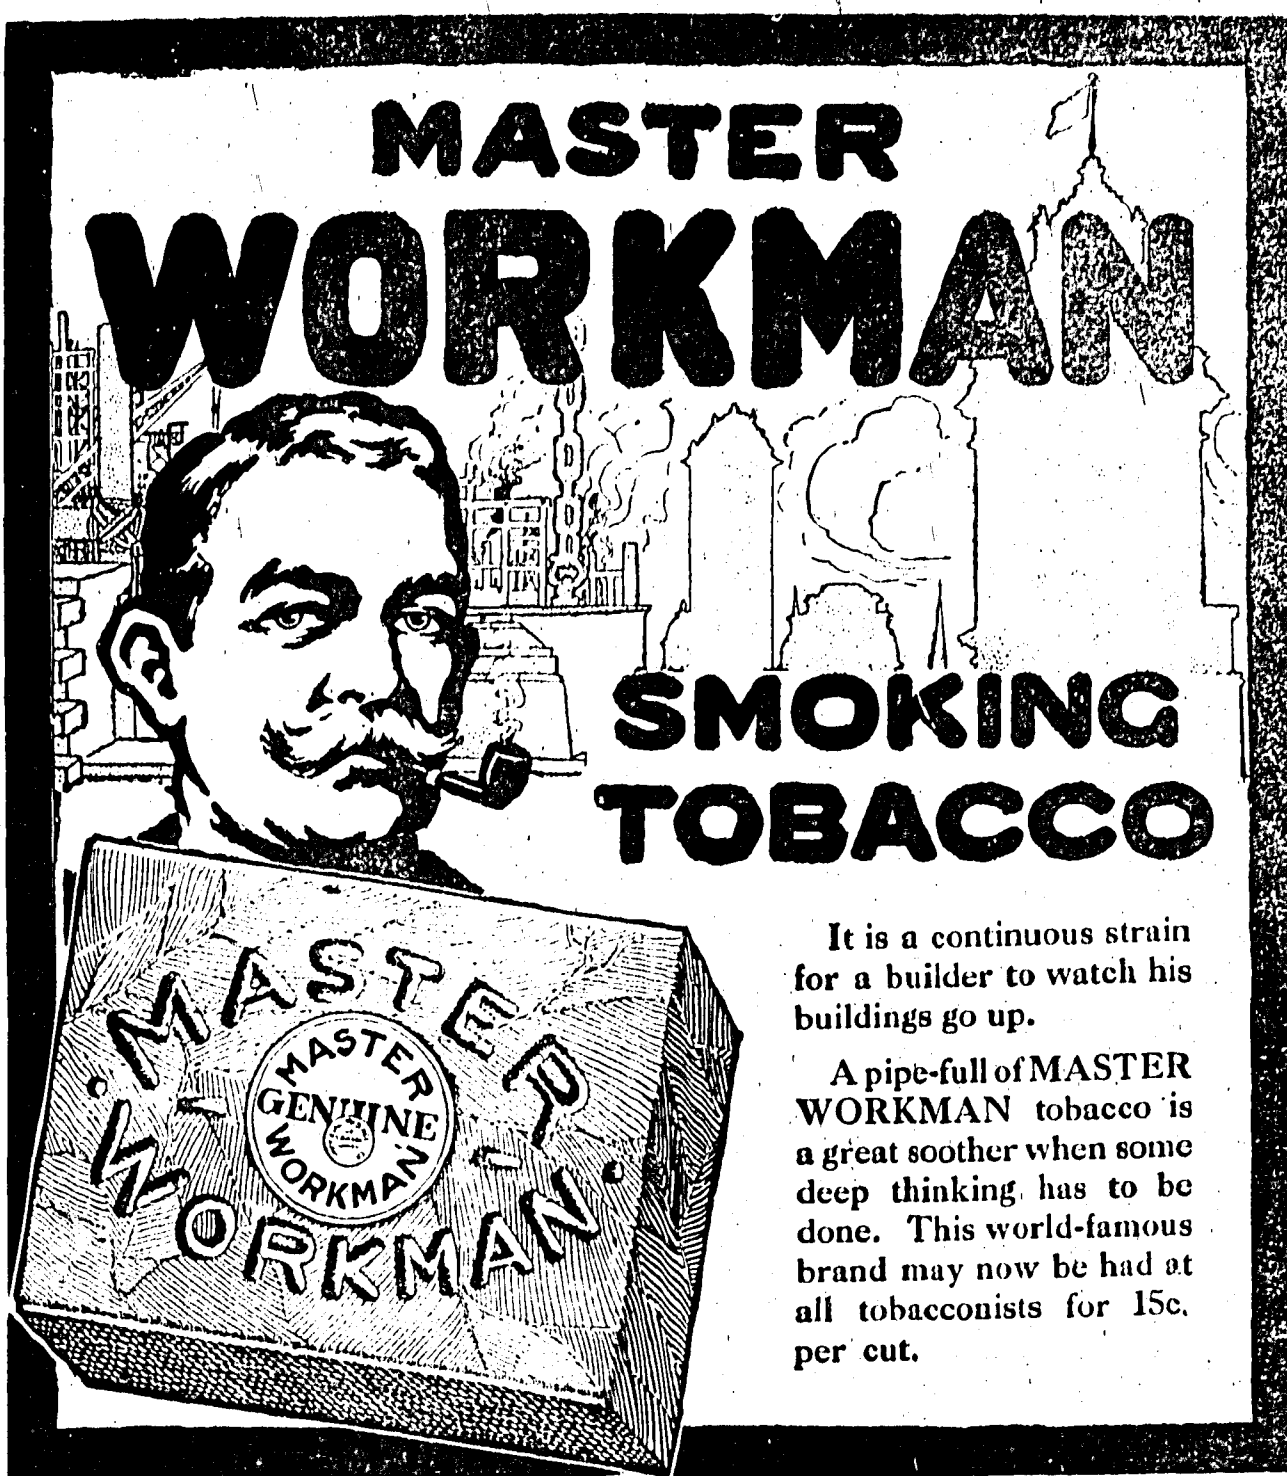

Came Down Like a Lady.
"Frances," said the little girl's mother, who was entertaining visitors, "you came down stairs so noisily that you could be heard all over the house. Now go back and come down stairs properly." Frances retired, and in a few moments re-entered the parlor.
"Did you hear me come down that time, mamma? No, my dear; that time you came down like a lady." "Yes, mamma," explained the child, "I slid down the banisters."

Another 'Willie' Story.
"In what zone do we live?" asked the teacher.
"The temper' zone," chanted the well-drilled class.
"Right. And what do we mean by 'temperate'?" Willie was answer.
"Temper'at is where it's freezin' cold half the time an' roasin' hot the other half the time."
If Willie wasn't sent to the head for that it wasn't because he didn't deserve the honor.

—Little Willie's sister was being baptized. Everything went well until Willie happened to catch a glimpse of the water in the font, when he peered about anxiously, and finally exclaimed in a piping voice, audible to the whole congregation—"Where's the soap?"

Willing to Find One
Mother—"Don't you think that a boy of your size could take the tacks out of this carpet if he wanted to?"
Small boy—"I guess so. Shall I go out and see if I can find a boy who wants to?"

12 Tumors Removed Without An Operation

Dear Mrs. Currah—I am enjoying better health than I have for eight years, and I think I am entirely cured. I have none of the old symptoms. I am very grateful for my present health and think (Orange Lily is the greatest treatment for women the world knows. It is used in my case caused 12 tumors or growths of some sort to be expelled. Some were as large as a hen's egg, and others smaller, down to the size of a walnut. You may use my case in your advertisement, for it is the solid truth, and you cannot describe all the good it has done for me. Mrs. Louise M. Holte-ridge.
This letter gives an indication of the positive benefits that always follow the use of Orange Lily. It is an applied treatment and comes in direct contact with the suffering organs. It produces results from womb, irregularities, leucorrhoea, etc.
I will send a sample box containing 10 days' treatment absolutely free to any suffering woman who has not yet tried it if she will send me her address. Enclose stamps and address MRS. FRANCES E. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

Synopsis of Coal Mining Regulations

(COAL mining rights of the Dominion, in Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1.00 per acre. Not more than 250 acres will be leased to one applicant.)

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights are to be leased.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by section, or legal subdivisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of fifteen cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns, accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.
N.B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

DIGBY WEEKLY COURIER

Digby, October 31, 1913

"The Hidden Hand."

H. PRICE WEBBER AND HIS BOSTON COMEDY COMPANY AGAIN PLAY TO A FULL HOUSE.

H. Price Webber and his Boston Comedy Co., who visited Digby a few weeks ago, played a return engagement to a full house in the Bijou theatre, Digby, last Monday evening, this time under the auspices of the Digby Fire Company. While Mr. Webber, as "Old Hurricane," and Mrs. Webber (Edwina Gray), as Capitola, were good, special mention should be made of Harry F. Brown, as "Wool," a negro servant. Mr. Brown, who has been with Mr. Webber for several years, is a general favorite with the Digby audience and the part allotted to him Monday night was acted the best of any he has yet put on in Digby and he has been seen here in many different plays. "Price's" local hits were the best yet and "brought down the house" every time. The company played "A Queen for a Day" to McLean Junction the following night and are now playing in Maine towns before going into the province of Quebec, where they play at Megantic next Wednesday and will continue their usual route in that province.

Hockenbush-Sabean Wedding.

(Salem, Mass. News.) A pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Sabean, 20 Pleasant street, Wednesday evening, Oct. 22nd, at 7:30, when their sister, Miss Etta E. Sabean, was married to Walter Hockenbush of 23 Hancock street.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Leon G. Miles in the presence of 30 invited guests. The wedding march was played by Miss Estelle D'Eremonet as the bride played the piano. The bride was daintily gowned in white messaline with lace trimmings and wore a veil caught up with lilies of the valley. Miss Mary Sabean, who acted as bridesmaid, was daintily gowned in pink messaline with lace trimmings. Each carried a handsome bouquet of carnations. William Goodridge acted as best man. Two brothers of the bride acted as ushers. The bride was given away by her brother, B. A. Sabean. The parlor was beautifully decorated by J. M. Ward & Co. Miss Marion Gilliland of Danvers was in charge of the guest book. Miss Etta E. Sabean and Miss Mary Sabean presided at the punch bowl. Dainty refreshments were served. The bride received many beautiful and valuable presents. Mr. and Mrs. Hockenbush left for a brief wedding trip with the best wishes of their friends for a happy and prosperous life.

Fire at Port Maitland.

A special telephone message to the COURIER Wednesday morning announced that a serious fire had broken out the previous evening during a severe thunder and lightning storm, resulting in a loss of about $50,000. The principal buildings destroyed were store, residence and warehouse, owned by J. D. Goudy; dwelling and store owned by W. S. Porter, the latter containing the telephone office. Mr. Porter had $1,200 insurance on the house, $400 on the store, $200 on the furniture, but nothing on the stock valued at $5,000. Mr. Goudy had $1,500 on the stock, $2,000 on the store. His loss will be $18,000.

To Begin Sentence This Week.

(St. John Telegraph.) Arthur Bent, whom Magistrate Ritchie sentenced on Friday afternoon to serve two years in Dorchester penitentiary for stealing from a passenger on the steamer St. George, where he was employed, will be taken to the penitentiary on Wednesday. Bent was employed on the St. George when one of the passengers mislaid her purse and fifteen dollars. Practically the whole amount was found on Bent. He was discharged and later when he was arrested for drunkenness, the charge of theft was placed against him. He pleaded guilty on Friday afternoon.

Death of R. D. Davison.

The sympathy of all newspaper men in Nova Scotia will go out to Mr. R. D. Davison, proprietor of the Wolfville Advertiser, and Mrs. Davison, in the loss of their son, Roy Douglas, aged 19 years, whose death occurred on Thursday last after an illness of a few weeks. Mr. Davison was taken ill several weeks ago and never improved. His father and mother, who were in Maine, chusetts, had to be sent for. Mr. Davison was highly esteemed by all who knew him.

The Fireman's Appreciation.

The officers and members of Digby's fire company greatly appreciate their portion of the receipts from last Monday evening's entertainment for their benefit, which was so well patronized. They wish to thank Mr. Webber, Mrs. Webber and members of the Boston Comedy Co., Mr. James F. Cripps, the popular manager of the Bijou theatre, the general public and all who assisted in making the affair such a big success.

Ice at Westport.

The owners of our fishing fleet and skippers will be pleased to learn that ice can be obtained at Westport from Mr. S. T. Payson. It is certainly a rare article this fall in this vicinity and our landers are being imported from Middleton and Springfield, Annapolis county, for some of our people, while others have been obliged to sail across the Bay and seek ice from dealers along the Maine coast.

Municipal Candidates.

Next Tuesday is election day for Municipal Councilors. Seven contests are on in the Municipality of Digby, and five in Clare. The names of the candidates appeared in our last issue with the exception of those for two districts in Clare which are as follows: No. 11, Morton G. A. Boudreau, carpenter, Clarendon; Thomas Gorman, machanic, Margham. No. 12, Salmon River, John F. Lathin, agent and Ivan Fisher, farmer, both of Salmon River.

Dominion Atlantic change of time.

Monday, November 3rd, Mail Express train for Yarmouth leaves Digby on and after that date at 1:55 p. m. P. GRIFFIN, General Manager.

OF A LOCAL NATURE

—Thursday, Nov. 27th, is Thanksgiving Day in the United States.

—Lake Frances, of Westville, picked a bouquet of Mayflowers last Friday.

—Mr. Wallace P. Wright has purchased the property of the late Jos. Urquhart, of Barton.

—The minutes of the regular October meeting of the town council, will appear in our next issue.

—A number of fortune tellers (2) who arrived here yesterday were kept in living by Chief of Police Bowles. They left town early in the afternoon.

—Friday's issue of the Yarmouth Times contains more rumours of increased railway and steamship service on the D. A. R. division of the C. P. R.

—The show coming here next Monday night is said to be one of the best on the road and has given excellent satisfaction in every town visited. See Bijou Dream Advertisement on the fifth page of today's COURIER.

—Mr. J. W. Merkel, baggage-master at the railway station in Digby, has been nominated in the Halifax Herald's contest, and it is hoped his friends will assist him in winning the automobile.

—The second degree will be conferred on several candidates in St. George's Lodge of Oddfellows' tonight. It is reported that a dozen members of the brethren will be present from Port Wade if the weather is favorable.

—Mr. J. F. Cripps, the enterprising manager of the Bijou Dream Theatre, is determined to give his patrons extra value for their money. His new piano recently purchased, together with a local orchestra he is forming, will enable Prof. Adams to give the public some excellent music.

A Narrow Escape.

FORMER WESTPORT RESIDENTS HAVE A HAZARDOUS EXPERIENCE IN THE DAY.

Frank Benson, of Seal Cove, Grand Manan; Willmott, Leonard and Gordon Benson, formerly of Westport, Nova Scotia, but now of Seal Cove, had a narrow escape on the night of Oct. 13th.

On the morning of the 13th (Monday) Benson, "Rock" and "Coug" started for Ganet Rock. Wind kept breezing but they arrived safely, landed 130 sacks gravel for the concrete work there and 60 kegs of water. The wind increasing to a fierce gale with rain, the Capt. thought it advisable to make Seal Cove before dark, so they started and when about one mile on their way the mast broke off to the deck, falling over the side. Capt. ordered the great cut clear, which was done with willing hands. The strange part of it is their engine stopped and they could not get her to go. So they drifted until they got the anchor out. Meanwhile Allen Wilson, the popular keeper of Ganet Rock, telephoned the news to relatives and friends who were very anxiously waiting their return. He also telephoned the life station. It was not fit for any boat to go out that night, but Capt. Harvey being a bold navigator with his crew started for the scene of the wreck which they reached about 8:30 Monday evening. He knew he could not get the boat out, with his own crew in that little boat they call a lifeboat. Something larger is needed for the perilous work the life savers have to do, so he took down a large anchor and hawser which were the only things that saved them that night. Then the lifeboat proceeded back to Seal Cove and the Capt. could get something larger to go out in. The Dreadnaught was tossed about until 12 o'clock when her own hawser cut off. This was a serious time, finding themselves drifting to the mercy of the waves which were not small ones by any means. On they drifted for two miles below Ganet Rock when the big anchor which the lifeboat brought, suddenly brought up. Here they lay on that dreadful sea until 3 o'clock on Tuesday.

Capt. Harvey secured the schr. Nellie Gaskill, of North Head, to go down to the scene. It was a very welcome sight when she showed up for their provisions were gone, having only taken enough for their dinner and supper on Monday. Word was sent to the mainland that the schooner had the crew safely which was welcome news to relatives and friends. With the gale so furious the schooner could not tow the boat in, so word was sent to St. John to send a tug at once. In short time the C. S. Aberdeen was on the spot, but dark coming on and the sea so high she could not get the boat until Wednesday. By morning the weather had moderated a little, so Capt. Harvey with his crew went on board the steamer and saved the boat. Great praise is due the Capt. and crew for their bravery in starting out that night, for they certainly risked their lives.

Married in Everett, Mass.

A very pretty wedding took place in Everett, Mass., on Oct. 15th, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Thompson, 20 Calhoun Ave., when their daughter Myra Pearl, was united in marriage to Arthur L. Spooner, of Orient Heights, East Boston.

The bride looked very sweet in her robe of white silk with veil and bouquet of bridal roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Edna, daintily gowned in lavender silk, with bouquet of violets. The wedding march was rendered by Mrs. Herbert Holmes, of East Boston, and to the bride.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. J. Hughes, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Everett. His usual befitting manner and deeply impressed all present. After the ceremony a dainty collation was served, consisting of pound cake made from a down east recipe with ice cream.

The invited guests were near relatives and friends of the bride and groom, many of them from the older old land of Evangeline, and the bride's former home.

The gifts, many and varied, were of silver, glass, china and fine linen, testifying to the popularity of the bridal couple.

Amid a shower of rice and confetti they were motored to North Station and boarded the train for Newford, where a cozy little flat had been fitted and furnished by the groom in readiness for his young wife. The best wishes of all their friends attend Mr. and Mrs. Spooner to their new home.

—A. J. Westhaver has been appointed local agent for Ungars' steam laundry, Halifax, and solicits business for the same. Satisfaction guaranteed.

—Prof. Brown, the chimney sweep, will be in Digby Nov. 23rd and 24th. Leave your orders at Turnbull & Co.'s.

The S. S. Boston will go to Philadelphia for a new shaft. It is expected that this ship will be ready for the Boston-Yarmouth winter service about the middle of November or a little later.

It is reported that the cargo of hard pine and cypress piling brought by the steamer Thelma from Florida to Digby has been refused by the consignees, Powers & Brower, contractors, as they claim that the material is not up to specifications.

Jones Brothers, of Weymouth, purchased the tern schooner Lillian Blauvelt, for $7,000. The registry port is to be changed to Bar Harbor. The Blauvelt was owned by John R. Blauvelt and was built at Methuen in 1902, registering 195 tons.

S. S. Pastores, Capt. H. A. Henshaw arrived at New York Tuesday from her regular southern route. The Pastores and her commander are certainly very popular with the travelling public which makes her a busy ship both on her northern and southern trips.

On account of the wet weather very little lumber is being put aboard the vessels now at this port loading for South American, West Indian and American ports. The South American cargoes have to be loaded in a dry condition, more so than the others.

Capt. L. W. Hines informed the Yarmouth Times that the crew of the schr. Morning Star, Capt. Harry Ross, of which he is managing owner, and which arrived in Boston last week, will share $70 each man, as a result of the vessel's first fishing trip under its new owners.

The addition of a large number of rooms in the steamer Prince George and Prince Arthur is contemplated by the Boston & Yarmouth S. S. Co., the work on the former being done in Philadelphia, where the ship is now, and on the Arthur at Bath, Me., says a report from Boston.

Schr. Dorothy M. Smart, Capt. William Snow, arrived here Saturday with 70,000 lbs. of mixed fish which were landed for the Maritime Fish Corporation. She was towed to the government pier by the tug Moto on Tuesday where she took on board her ice imported by rail from Middleton and sailed Wednesday morning.

Schr. Albert J. Lutz, Capt. Arthur Longmire, which landed 38,000 lbs. of mixed fish at Yarmouth, arrived here Monday night with the remainder of her cargo, 43,000 lbs., which were landed in the Racquette wharves for the Maritime Fish Corporation. She was towed to the government pier Wednesday by tug Moto for ice and got away yesterday morning.

Steamboat men report a close race in the Bay of Fundy last week between the steamers Bear River, Capt. Woodworth, and Valinda, Capt. Goff. The latter bound to Bridgetown, left St. John three miles ahead of the Bear River bound to Digby. Honors were in Captain Wood-worth's favor, for both boats came through Digby Gut with the Valinda leading by only a few yards.

Edwin Dukeshire, a sick seaman aboard the schooner Haina Bros., was sent to his home at Freeport on Saturday. Robert Henderson, steward of the dredge Provincial No. 1, suffered a slight stroke of paralysis a few days ago and left on Saturday for his home at Campbellville, accompanied by Capt. McLeod, of the dredge, the captain returning to Digby via S. S. Yarmouth Monday.

A Boston despatch says: Charges have been prepared against the captains of several schooners for neglecting to sound their bells in Boston harbor during the recent thick weather. The captains include Captains Wm. Connaught of the schooner C. T. W. from Plympton, N. S., and Captain Gorrill of the schooner Annie Lord from Parnboro. The federal government is investigating.

It was welcome news to Weymouth shipping circles when the C. P. R. made the announcement of the proposed abandonment of the present D. A. R. draw bridge at that place and of their intention to divert the track three miles farther up the river at a point which would do away with a draw in the new steel bridge, a much shorter structure than is going to span the Sissibou.

Steamer Volturno was still aloft and afloat on Oct. 14th, five days after flames broke out in her forward compartments, according to officers of the steamer St. Louis, which arrived at New York on Saturday. The St. Louis passed five miles north of what was left of the Volturno late Tuesday afternoon. The burning vessel had drifted about forty miles from the spot where she first caught fire.

The following vessels have reported at the Digby customs house since Oct. 23rd: Inward—24th, schr. Flora Condon, Mitchell, Eastport; 25th, schr. Britannia, Robinson, Annapolis; 27th, schr. Cora Gertie, Crocker, Freeport; schr. Dorothy M. Smart, Snow, fishing; 29th, schr. Catherine, Wilkie, Bangor, Me. Outward—27th, schr. Cora Gertie, Crocker, Freeport, N. S.; schr. Dorothy M. Smart, Snow, fishing.

Cora Gertie, 15,951 lbs. of haddock, 1,490 lbs. of hake, 362 lbs. of cod; schr. Dorothy M. Smart, 41,108 lbs. of haddock, 9,640 lbs. of cod, 141 lbs. of halibut; other sources, 325 lbs. of cod, 4,900 lbs. of haddock, 2,200 lbs. of hake.

The steamer Granville towed to sea Friday the tern schooner Lady of Avon, Captain Steele, from Annapolis, lumber laden for Havana. After dropping her tow off Digby light, the Granville sighted the three-master Katherine V. Mills, Captain John Berry, from New York, for Annapolis with hard coal, and took her in tow, coming in through Digby Gut against a strong ebb tide, and proceeding up river on the flood. Captain Berry reports a rough experience along the New England coast, and managed to get into Portland for shelter. On the 16th he passed Portland and next day, when off Saguin, took a heavy northeast gale, the worst he ever experienced. The vessel shipped tremendous seas, her waist being filled with water all the time. The deck was swept clean of everything movable, including water casks and her jibs and light sails were badly torn. About noon that day the captain put her under storm trysails, it being all she could carry, and headed for Portland, but it was not until late in the night that Captain Berry found his way into the harbor, it having been an exceedingly difficult job to navigate the Mills into port. She was two days coming down from Portland.

Master Earl Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, while at play Friday fell and cut his left hand on a piece of glass. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Centerville

Mr. Wm. Frost has just built to the order of Mr. Alf Lewis one of the finest fishing boats, it has been my privilege to inspect for a considerable time. The design and workmanship are certainly expert. The boat will be a very great acquisition to Centerville's already fine fleet of fishing boats. We understand Mr. Lewis intends naming his boat Nellie Secundres. This is a somewhat ambitious name but if she behaves as well in the sea as she looks on land she will deserve it. We congratulate the builder on his skill and trust that the luck of the owner in his new boat will be Nellie Secundres.
The three candidates for the post of councillors at the ensuing Municipal election have all visited Centerville during the last few days canvassing for votes. It is useless to wish them all success, but we hope that the best man will get elected. Apropos of the Municipal election, it seems almost inconceivable that there will not be a polling booth in Centerville and the local voters will have to journey to Sandy Cove to vote. This will practically mean disfranchisement to some of the voters. I understand that Councillor Gidney moved a resolution at a recent meeting of the Council in favor of establishing a polling booth in Centerville and later on with drew it. We wonder why he did so.

I must confess I was somewhat amused at the letter in your last week's issue signed "Outsider" correcting my report of what, if we take the letter literally, might be termed the Centerville resurrection. I wondered what became of all the liquor, on that occasion. I am no longer in doubt, for perhaps it would be more correct to call Mr. Outsider, Mr. Insider, as far as the liquor was concerned, hence his power of second sight or shall we say double sight. I was not on the scene on the night in question, Mr. Editor, I was at home doing what Mr. Outsider so kindly advised me to do, looking after my own door way—it was the door way of my barn. There had been some skunks around pattering Mr. Outsider's advice was good but a little belated. I am always careful and am always sure of the facts of the case of any news I may send to the Courier. The report was based on the evidence of several respectable and responsible witnesses of the occurrence. I have seen them since the appearance of the letter of Mr. Outsider. They all say they saw two persons in the carriage which was run into the ditch, upset and other wise ill used and none of the persons were Centerville people. So I feel that I can reiterate with the greatest propriety that I am pleased that those who broke the carriage were not Centerville people.

Deep Brook

Mr. Oscar McClelland, of Newton, spent a day here last week with relatives.
Mr. and Mrs. Charles North, of Boston, are guests of Mrs. D. McClelland, for a few weeks.
On Monday, Oct. 27th, the Deep Brook and Clementsport church met at Clementsport to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the church organization. The Pastor, Rev. John McFadden, arranged and carried out a very helpful service with the assistance of neighboring pastors. The afternoon was spent in roll call and business with a strong address by Rev. Mr. Allen, of Annapolis, in the New Testament church. A large number of members responded to their names, many letters of greeting were read from those who could not attend, also from former pastors. From 5:30 to 7:30 a social was held in the vestry with supper, after which a splendid address was listened to in the social life of the church by Rev. E. S. Cranford, of Bear River. At the evening service the church was filled, seven new members were received and a forceful address given by Rev. O. P. Brown, of Clementsport.

"ORANGE LILY SAVED MY LIFE"

These words or expressions have the same meaning as contained in hundreds of letters I have received during the past year. Many were from women who had suffered agonies from falling of womb, others from women who had escaped dangerous surgical operations as the tumor and uterus had been removed by the action of Orange Lily, and others who had suffered from suppressed menstruation, leucorrhoea, painful periods, etc. For all these and the other troubles known in general as Women's Disorders, Orange Lily furnishes a positive scientific, never-failing cure. It is applied direct to the suffering organ, and its operation is certain and beneficial. It is actually proven to men, hereby offer to send, absolutely free, a bottle worth $1.00, sufficient for ten days' treatment, to every suffering woman who will write for it. Make Us Prove It

We dare not exaggerate to you. We are dependent upon your patronage. To get it we must have your trust and confidence. We make the following statements with a full understanding of what they mean to us. You are safe when you believe in these statements.

For the Bowels

If you only knew as much as we and those who have used them know about Rexall Orderlies, you would be as enthusiastic about recommending them as we are. They taste just like candy. They act so easily and so pleasantly that the taking of them is a pleasure.

Even children like Rexall Orderlies, and you know that if a medicine appeals to a child, it will appeal to grown-ups.

Rexall Orderlies

help chase gloom, dispel blues and make you feel happy by their splendid tonic, cleansing and strengthening effect upon the bowels. — They act so free the system — and keep it free — from the distress and ill feeling that naturally result from irregular and inactive bowels.

Rexall Orderlies do this quietly, without griping or causing nausea, purging or excessive looseness. They act to overcome and remove the cause of bowel ills and in a short time usually make unnecessary the continued use of physics and purgatives, thus tending to stop such unhealthy habits as may have been formed.

Make us Prove This

We do not ask you to take our word for this. We want you to make us prove it, and at no cost to you.

Buy a box of Rexall Orderlies at our store. Use them once, or use up the whole box. Then, if you are not thoroughly satisfied, just come back empty handed and tell us. Without obligating you or questioning you we will return the money you paid us for them.

Doesn't that indicate that Rexall Orderlies are at least worthy of trial? Doesn't it prove our faith in them? Doesn't it merit your confidence? Could any offer be more fair to you?

We particularly recommend Rexall Orderlies for children, delicate and aged persons. Rexall Orderlies come in convenient vest-pocket size tin boxes. 12 tablets, 10c; 30 tablets, 25c; 60 tablets, 50c.

CAUTION: Please bear in mind that Rexall Orderlies are not sold by all drug stores. You can buy Rexall Orderlies only at the Rexall Stores.

Ladies benefit by this oven test—

It allows you to use less flour. For only flour that makes more bread and better bread in our oven test is offered you.

From each shipment of wheat delivered at our mills we take a ten pound sample. The sample is ground into flour in a tiny mill. The flour is baked into bread. If this bread is high in quality and large in quantity we use the shipment from which it came. Otherwise, we sell it.

So your benefit from flour bearing this name is sure.

NA-DRU-CO Tasteless Preparation of Cod Liver Oil

Prevents Sickness

Are you one of those thousands who, though apparently well, catch cold easily and often? It's a dangerous condition to tolerate, and one which you can easily prevent by taking two or three bottles of Na-DrU-Co Tasteless Preparation of Cod Liver Oil at once—this Fall.

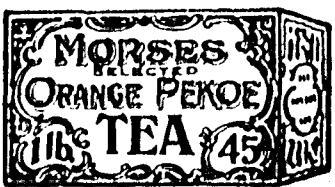

This pleasant-tasting food- tonic gives tone and vigor to the whole system, and so strengthens lungs and bronchial tubes that they readily throw off the colds which would otherwise take hold of you.

Restores Health

By virtue of its remarkable combination of curative and nutritive properties, Na-DrU-Co Tasteless Cod Liver Oil is one of the very best remedies known for chronic coughs and colds, tracheitis, asthma, and catarrh. It is also an excellent reconstructive tonic after fevers, and in diseases such as scurvy and rickets, which are due to constitutional weakness.

Prove its worth by getting a 50c. or $1.00 bottle from your Druggist.

Two Sunday Elections.

IN MEXICO THE PEOPLE TOOK LITTLE INTEREST AND IN ROME THEY PREFERRED TO GO ON SUNDAY EXCURSIONS.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 27.—At the close of the elections on Sunday the indications were that not sufficient votes had been cast to constitute a legal choice for the presidency to succeed General Victoriano Huerta. No official announcement was made tonight, but it was unofficially estimated, judging from the result in the capital, where it was expected the vote would be up to the average, that less than 10,000 of the 80,000 eligible voters in the Republic went to the polls. It would be no surprise if Congress, the members of which also were voted for today, declared the elections void when that body is organized and revises the returns.

The leaders of the Catholic party claimed a long lead; although they were unable to estimate the number of votes polled for their candidates, Federico Gamboa and General Escobar. If this claim is correct, it is generally thought that General Felix Diaz and Senor Requena ran second. The Liberal candidates, Manuel Calero and Flores Magon had no printed ticket at their polling places, their constituents being obliged to write their names in blank ballots.

President Huerta did not vote. He spent the day at his Popotla suburban home. Manuel Calero, the Liberal candidate, who was once ambassador at Washington, did not vote. Instead he took his family early in the day into the country.

Federico Gamboa, the candidate of the Catholic party, on the other hand cast his ballot for Senor Calero. Neither of these candidates cared to express an opinion as to whether a sufficient number of ballots had been deposited to make the election effective.

Few of those who went to the polls took the trouble to vote for either senators or deputies.

THE ELECTIONS IN ROME.

ROME, Oct. 27.—General elections were held throughout Italy Sunday. The disorders were not as grave as expected, although one person was killed and many were wounded. Numerous arrests were made in various quarters.

The balloting was light, because, on account of spring-like weather the people preferred to go on Sunday excursion rather than to the polls. Results of the elections are not definitely known, but the government is assured of a large majority.

Cotton Ship on Fire.

BRITISH FREIGHT STEAMER SOWWELL HAS TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE.

HALIFAX, Oct. 31.—The British freight steamer Sowwell, bound from Savannah for Havre, France, put in here today with her cargo of cotton on fire. On Friday morning when 380 miles southeast of Halifax, fire was discovered in fore hold. The fire had gained such headway that the deck was almost at white heat, but the engineers succeeded in cutting holes through which steam pipes were inserted.

There was a gale of wind blowing and quite a sea running, and the steering gear became disabled. The ship for a time being helpless. When the gear was got in shape again, Captain Evans headed the ship for Halifax. On arrival here a steam fire engine was put to work and the hold will be flooded.

The steamer has nearly 12,000 bales of cotton in her holds. She registers 2,432 tons and carries a crew of 20 men.

Gen. Booth Sails for America

LONDON, Oct. 25.—William Bramwell Booth, head of the Salvation Army, will sail for America today on board the Lusitania. It will be his first visit to the United States, where he expects to secure some American Salvationists as volunteers for China, where the work of the Salvation Army is to be vastly increased in the near future.

Claim Discovery of Small Island

The existence of a new island, sixteen miles E. N. E. of Sable Island, has been reported here by the American fishing schooner Lizzie Griffin, but no information on this subject has been received by the Marine and Fisheries Department yet, although they sent a wireless to the Superintendent of Sable Island for a report on the discovery. The sands around this spot are continually shifting. Much of Sable Island has been washed away at various periods, only to be cast up again at other points by the waves.

$10,000 Fire at Moncton.

MONCTON, Oct. 20.—Fire broke out this evening in the clothing store conducted by Harry Wilson, near the corner of Main and Botsford streets and did thousands of dollars of damage to his stock before being drowned out. Mr. Wilson estimates his damage at $10,000 with insurance $8,000. The building owned by F. G. Jones was damaged to the extent of about $1,000, the loss being covered by insurance. Other losses were slight. How the fire originated is a mystery.

Vice-Royal Party in Quebec.

QUEBEC, Oct. 20.—The Duke of Connaught, governor-general of Canada, accompanied by the duchess and Princess Patricia, arrived here at 12:30 o'clock yesterday morning on the Empress of Britain.

The Royal party was asleep when the Empress docked and remained on board until 9 o'clock the next morning, when they left for Ottawa on the royal special.

$35,000 For a School Teacher.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—A jury in the supreme court placed a value yesterday afternoon of $35,000 upon the affections of Miss Mary McIntyre, a Brooklyn school teacher. A verdict awarding her this sum was returned in her $150,000 suit against William Hughes, a manufacturer of paper boxes for alleged breach of promise to marry. Miss McIntyre is about 40 years old, Mr. Hughes 46.

Tomato Price Is Reduced.

TORONTO, Oct. 30.—The long tomato season and the abundance of the crop has caused the canneries to lower their prices 17 1/2 cents per dozen cans. This, however, will have little effect on the cost of living as the retail price will remain the same.

The Man Who Delivers the Goods

There's a man in the world who is never turned down; Wherever he chances to stray; He gets the glad hand in the populous town, Out where the farmers make hay; He's greeted with pleasure on deserts of sand, And deep in the aisles of the woods; Wherever he goes there's the welcoming hand— He's The Man Who Delivers the Goods. The failures of life sit around and complain: The Gods haven't treated them white; They've lost their umbrellas whenever there's rain, And they haven't their lanterns at night; Men tire of the failures who fill with their sighs The air of their own neighborhoods; There's a man who is treated with love-lighted eyes— He's The Man Who Delivers the Goods. One fellow is lazy and watches the clock, And waits for the whistle to blow; And one has a hammer with which he will knock, And one tells a story of woe; And one if requested to travel a mile, Will measure the perches and rods; But one does his stunt with a whistle or smile— He's The Man Who Delivers the Goods. One man is afraid that he'll labor too hard— The world isn't yearning for such; And one is alert, on his guard, Lest he put in a minute too much; And one has a grouch or a temper that's bad, And one is a creature of moods; So it's they for the joyous and rollicking lad— For We are the boys who deliver the Goods.

MARRIED FIFTY YEARS

Capt. and Mrs. John Bain Celebrate Their Golden Wedding.

FIFTY INVITED GUESTS AT THEIR HOME IN CULLODEN WEDNESDAY EVEN-ING—HAD A FAMILY OF THIRTEEN CHILDREN, NINE OF WHOM ARE LIVING—AGED COUPLE PRESENTED WITH A PURSE OF GOLD.

An event which does not occur in the history of every family took place at Culloeden Wednesday evening, Oct.
 29th, when Capt. and Mrs. John Bain celebrated their golden wedding. About fifty invited guests were present and after a sumptuous supper had been served, Mr. Harry Bain, their eldest son, with an appropriate address, presented the aged couple with a purse of fifty dollars in gold from their children and grand-children. After an interesting reply, "Blest be the Tie That Binds," was sung by all. This was followed by an enjoyable evening interspersed by games and music both vocal and instrumental. Refreshments were again served at a late hour, a feature of which, was a large cake

CAPT. AND MRS. BAIN containing fifty lighted candles. The children present were: Harry, Geo. and Willie.

Besides the extended best wishes from those who were there, letters were read from the children in the United States congratulating their parents on their long wedded life and wishing them many more years of continued happiness, at the same time extending regrets for not being present.
 Besides the purse a number of other presents were received, among which was a five dollar gold piece from Miss Emma Post, of Yarmouth, a former resident of Culloeden.

Mr. John Bain and Miss Mary E. Za-beth Middleton, both of Culloeden, were married at Digby, Oct. 29th, 1863, by Rev. James Spencer. The bride was Miss Sadie Spencer and the groom-man Mr. Adolphus Post, who was lost at sea from the ship W. H. Taylor 15 years ago.

Capt. John Bain, who is a son of the late John and Mehetable Bain, was born in Culloeden July 2nd, 1837, seventy-six years ago.

Mrs. Bain, who is a daughter of the late John and Matilda Middleton, was born in Culloeden Jan. 10th, 1814 and is therefore 89 years of age.

Capt. and Mrs. Bain are the parents of thirteen children, nine of whom are still living: Mr. Harry V. Bain, of Malden, Mass.; Mrs. Geo. Pyke, of Penobscot, Mass.; Willis R., at home;

George B., of Digby; Mrs. William Fraley, of Albany, N. Y.; Mrs. William Henderson, of Salem, Mass.; Milton J., of Gulliver's Cove, and Mrs. William McIntosh, of Dorchester, Mass. Mr. and Mrs. Bain also have nineteen grand children and four great grandchildren.

Capt. Bain's life has been mostly spent on the sea. For 30 years he sailed between St. John, Digby and Boston and other foreign ports. About ten years ago he retired and is now spending his remaining days at his home at Culloeden, where the aged couple have a host of friends who will join the COCHEN in wishing them many years of continued happiness and trust they will be spared to celebrate their diamond wedding ten years hence.

Do You Have Trouble Finding Cloth-

Synopsis of Coal Mining Regulations

COAL mining rights of the Dominion, in the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, are now being leased for a term of twenty-five years at an annual rental of $1 an acre.
 Not more than 2,500 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the mer-chantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY,
 Deputy Minister of the Interior.

The Latest Word about Amherst Pianos and Player Pianos

The past few months have been eventful for Amherst Pianos and Player Pianos. They were exhibited at all the Exhibitions, great and small, from Toronto to Yarmouth and everywhere they were the centre of attraction by those who know good workmanship, tone and other essential points in good pianos. Best of all, nothing but the most glowing terms of appreciation were expressed. Below are given two of the very latest marks of appreciation.

The Digby County Exhibition Committee says:

"We, the undersigned committee appointed as the executive of the Digby County fair to examine piano exhibits, report as follows: Award the gold medal to Amherst pianos. We consider them equal if not superior to any instruments we have ever seen and the Cremona Player pianos, in our judgment have no equal."

Miss Eva Mylott
the famous Australian Contralto, wrote on October 15th:

"How may I thank you for the splendid piano which my pianist and self used during my tour of the Maritime Provinces? The fine rich tone greatly supported my voice and my pianist, Miss Aiken, was delighted."

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of the Courier:
DEAR SIR,—To those who are receiving postal packages from foreign countries, who are ignorant of custom postal laws, I hereby quote the law.
1. In the case of post offices where customs ports or outposts are located, the customs parcel officer will attend daily, or more frequently if necessary, at the post office, liberating the non dutiable from the dutiable matter, and entering the latter in a well bound book which will be initialed by the postmaster before the dutiable packages are removed from post office.
2. It will no longer be necessary for postmasters to keep a record of ordinary packets transferred to customs or of back packets when received back from customs to be forwarded to other points. The record at the customs will suffice.

DIGBY WEEKLY COURIER

Digby, November 7, 1913

Public Works.

DIGBY COUNTY'S INTERESTING MEMORIAL RETURNED FROM OTTAWA SATURDAY.

O. Jameson, M. P., returned home from Ottawa last Saturday. He says that arrangements have been completed for the siting of the Board of Commissioners, regarding Penian Road Veterans' claims, in Digby Court House on Saturday, 8th inst., at 10 o'clock p. m., and the following Monday at Church Point Court House at 10 o'clock a. m. Evidence to show that the various regiments turned out under the proclamation of the Governor of Nova Scotia dated March 17th, 1860, will be laid before the Board by surviving militiamen.

Any persons having muster rolls or other documents of that occasion would confer a favour upon the Board by handing same to Wallace C. Denton, Burton, or A. A. Theriault, Belleville, N. S.

Plans are being prepared for Coldwell Cove and Freeport breakwaters, and for Ferry public landing.

A fog alarm station will be erected at Cape St. Mary's and the newly dredged channel at the entrance to Weymouth River will be defined by suitable buoys.

Fishermen's Race at Westport

One of the most exciting motor boat races ever held on our coast took place at Westport Wednesday afternoon. The first prize was a barrel of gasoline presented by Mr. S. T. Payson, president of the Inland S. S. Co., and one of Brier Island's prominent merchants. The distance was five miles. There were three entries which resulted as follows:

Titus Bros., boat, Westport, 30x7 with a 6 h. p. Fairbanks Morse motor; time 34 minutes and 10 seconds.

Chas. Webber's, Westport, 35x7, with 5 1/2 h. p. Lathrop motor; time 38:45.

Willie Stevens, Freeport, 37x7 1/2 with 7 1/2 h. p. Knox motor; time 38:50. This boat was stopped once during the race.

The official judges, or time keepers, were Edw. Coggins, S. T. Payson, Westport, and Clifford Crocker, Port Maitland.

This sporting event has created a big interest among the coast fishermen and it is said that, at Westport, won, boatmen from Freeport, Triveton, Whale Cove and Trout Cove are anxious to participate in the next race.

Married at Newport, Nants Co.

WASHINGTON-HAWKSWORTH A pleasant event took place at the home of Mr. Herbert Hawkesworth, the bride's brother, Newport, Nants county, Wednesday morning, Oct. 20th, when Mr. James William Warrington, of Digby, was united in marriage to Rebecca Elizabeth, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hawkesworth. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Percy M. Hartley, pastor of the Methodist church in the village. The bride, who was unattended, was prettily dressed in a plum-colored travelling suit with hat to match. After luncheon had been served the happy couple boarded the early train for Truro. After visiting several towns in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, including Moncton and St. John, they returned to Digby Tuesday and were conveyed by Hayden's automobile to the groom's home at Mount Pleasant, where the bride will be at home to her friends Thursday afternoon and evening, Nov. 13th. The COURIER extends best wishes. Among the out of town guests present at the wedding was the bride's sister, Miss G. O. Brewster, of Wolfboro, New Hampshire.

The O. P. R. Bridge at the Joggins.

It is evident that when the C. P. R. officials ordered the filling in of the D. A. R. bridge across the Big Joggins, Digby, they did not think they would be called upon to make a further outlay at this spot. Their fishermen and clam diggers represented to the federal authorities that the filling in was carrying the earth from the "fill in," polluting the water of the immediate vicinity and depositing it all over the clam flats and the complainants claimed that this means of livelihood would become a thing of the past in the very near future if the proper steps were not immediately taken to protect their interests. Mr. Jameson, M. P., brought this before the department. Engineer Miles was sent here in the interest of the public with the result that the federal government has ordered riprap work to be started immediately and built up to the height of high water mark on both sides of the embankment. It is said that this extra outlay will require about forty thousand yards of stone work.

The Bijou Dream Theatre.

The latest attraction at the Bijou Dream Theatre is an orchestra which is proving a great drawing card. Manager Cripps' business at Digby this year is far above the average. Last Monday night's extra attractions by Barnum & Reade's all star vaudeville show was well patronized. Barnum's miniature circus of trained dogs, cats and ponies being particularly good; also the comical sketches, violin music and dancing. To-morrow night, "The Regiment of Two" in two parts, is said to be worth going many miles to see. There are also many other excellent reels. See ad on the second page of today's COURIER. The entire programme for next week will be an extra attractive one.

Death of Capt. Brinton.

The death of Capt. Elias Brinton occurred at Bear River on Friday last at the age of sixty-six years. The deceased was born at Port Lorne, but for many years he has made Bear River his home, making out of that port in command of vessels for Clarke Bros. His remains were taken to Port Lorne, and burial took place there on Sunday afternoon.

A Painful Accident.

Mr. Edwin Beaman caught his hand on a circular saw being driven by a gasoline motor Tuesday and had his fingers badly cut. How he saved his entire hand is almost a miracle. We trust he will be favored by a speedy recovery.

Died in Yarmouth.

Mrs. Mary Madeline Ellis, wife of Charles H. Ellis, died on Saturday at her home on Main street, Yarmouth, aged 58 years. She was a native of Meteghan River, where the remains were taken Monday for interment.

OF A LOCAL NATURE

Rev. J. D. Brehaut will preach at Onlonon next Sunday afternoon at three o'clock.

Mr. Hugh McLean, Shore Road, picked a large bouquet of out of door roses Nov. 2nd.

The third degree will be conferred on several candidates in St. George Lodge of O. J. fellows tonight.

It turns from the Newfoundland general election show that the Morris government has been sustained by a good majority.

The ladies of the Digby Methodist church will hold their Xmas tea and fancy sale on Thursday, Dec. 18th, 1913. See posters later.

Several of the skippers and members of the crews of the various fishing vessels which were in Yarmouth Tuesday, went to their homes to vote in the Municipal elections.

Mass will be celebrated in St. Francis R. C. church, Bear River, next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and devotions at 7 p. m. There will also be mass in the same church every morning next week at 9 o'clock.

We regret that in making up our forms last Thursday night the St. John Business College advertisement and that of the New Jewelry Store were omitted from our columns. Both are regular advertisers and will be found in today's issue.

Schr. Theodore Roosevelt Ashore.

ONE OF THE GLOUCESTER FISHING FLEET A TOTAL LOSS AT TROUT COVE.

A special to the COURIER last Friday afternoon announced that the American schr. Theodore Roosevelt, Capt. James Bowie, was ashore at Trout Cove, just west of the Centreville breakwater.

It appears that the Roosevelt, was being towed out of Trout Cove on the eve of several fishing boats with gasoline motors when in some way the lines parted, allowing the vessel to ground on the rocks about two hours after high water.

Every effort was made at Digby, Bear River and Annapolis to obtain a tug to go to the vessel's assistance, but none were available. Arrangements were finally made with the tug Steadon, Capt. Byard Powell, then at Little River, but the increasing wind caused such a sea in the Bay that no boat could get there. At midnight the vessel was driven up to high water's mark and so badly damaged that all efforts to float her were abandoned.

The Roosevelt was on the Nova Scotia coast at the time loading with green salt cod for Davis Brothers of Gloucester, Mass. She had about 100,000 pounds in her hold, having taken on part of her cargo at Triveton, some more at Centreville and expected to complete her cargo at Digby Saturday.

The greater portion of her cargo was rescued with difficulty.

The stranded vessel measures 125,44 tons gross and 90,000 tons net, and was built at Gloucester in 1901. She is owned by Fred L. Davis and is insured by the Boston Insurance Company. Her cargo is also insured.

Six of the crew were sent to their homes at Gloucester, Wednesday, by V. B. Stewart, the American consular agent at this port. They went via St. John.

The wreck was sold at public auction yesterday afternoon for the benefit of all concerned and was purchased by Mr. Samuel Gidney, Dr. Frank Rice and Mr. A. Boutillier.

Information for Farmers.

REGARDING THE NEW UNITED STATES TARIFF.

We are in receipt of an eight page pamphlet issued by the Eastern Steamship Corporation for the Boston & Yarmouth S. S. Co., Ltd., giving very valuable information pertaining to the new United States Tariff.

The pamphlet details the new rates of duties, compared with the old, on various farm products, also rates of freight from all points throughout the Annapolis Valley and all the western counties of Nova Scotia to Boston.

But special features are a number of valuable suggestions in reference to the shipment of farm products, fruits and garden truck to the Commission Houses at Boston.

Every farmer and fruit grower should secure and obtain a copy, which can be secured free from Wm. German, Meteghan, or apply to Mr. Jones, railway agent of the Dominion Atlantic Railway at Digby.

The issuance of this interesting pamphlet shows the great interest taken by the Eastern Steamship Corporation in adding the farmers of the Maritime Provinces to take advantage of the new and very favorable conditions created by the new tariff, in opening up the markets of Boston and New England.

Drowning Accident in Bear River.

Our Bear River correspondent writes: A very sad drowning accident occurred on Thursday morning last week when Roy Williams Crosby, aged 19, youngest son of the late Roy Crosby of Bear River, lost his life about a quarter of a mile from his home.

In trying to reach his boat on a raft he slipped through and was drowned before help could reach him. The accident was witnessed by Mrs. Thomas Dugway and her son Edward, about 15 years from their home. Attempts were made to recover the body which was not found till 5 o'clock in the afternoon. The funeral took place on Saturday, Rev. Mr. Orlandi, of the Baptist church, officiating. He leaves besides his father, Weston Crosby, two sisters, Rhoda and Blanche, and a brother Valentine, who resides in the States. Flowers of the sort by the following friends: A cross of violets from the family, bouquets from Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Crosby, Miss May Donahue, Miss Hazel Frizzle, Mrs. C. D. Rice, Mrs. Leney Crosby, Mrs. Winchester, Mrs. Chas. Yeagrie and Mrs. Potter. Interment took place in Mount Hope cemetery.

Fatal Accident in Maine.

Leo L. Bahine, aged 42, a native of Corbair, Digby county, accidentally shot himself while gunning in the woods near Milo, Maine. The remains arrived here Friday and were forwarded to his former home, where his father was laid to rest only two months ago. The remains were accompanied by his brother George who was with him at the time of the accident. He had been a very good father. He was also survived by several brothers and sisters, among whom is Mrs. Douglas McAlpine, of Hasset's Village, near Weymouth.

Miss Susie Beaman left Tuesday for Sydney and Glace Bay to spend a few weeks with her sisters.

Dr. W. W. Patton, who formerly practised here, spent last Sunday in town, a guest at the Waverly.

Mr. Geo. W. Dakin, who now resides in Roxbury, Mass., is visiting friends on the Lighthouse Road, Digby.

Mr. Emmon Sproule arrived here this week from Todford Mines, P. Q., and left yesterday for Yarmouth.

Mr. Egbort Robertson, of St. John, is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Robertson, Queen street.

Capt. Arthur Longmire, of the schr. Albert J. Lutz, was in Digby Tuesday while his vessel was in Yarmouth.

Mr. Arthur Sweeney has returned from his vacation and has again taken up his duties as chief officer on the S. S. Yarmouth.

Mr. O. G. Byrne and sister Miss Alice, who spent the summer in Digby, returned to their home in Brooklyn, N. Y., Wednesday.

Miss Katie Dennison returned home Monday from Saskatoon. Her friends are pleased to learn she is much improved in health.

Mr. James Ellis, of the Maritime Fish Corporation, Digby, left Monday to visit the Canoe branch on business in connection with the company.

Mr. Alex. MacGregor, marine supervisor of the C. P. R., was a passenger to Yarmouth via Saturday's express.

Mr. William Hazleton, of Victoria Bridge, has returned home from a pleasant trip to Massachusetts, where he visited several members of his family.

Mrs. Giffins, wife of P. Giffins, general manager of the Dominion Atlantic Railway, Kentville (N. S.), is the guest of Mrs. J. A. Polkinghorne, at Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Hare with their family left Kentville this week for Digby where they will live in future, although Mr. Hare will still have his office in Kentville.

Miss Wilda Outhouse and Miss Hazel Smith, of Acadia University, returned to Wolfville Monday after a few days' enjoyable visit, guests of their friend, Miss Lois Porter, Kentville.

Mr. W. L. Holdsworth was in Clementsport this week installing two furnaces in the Methodist church in that village. He had with him Mr. F. H. Dakin, one of his regular staff of workmen.

Rev. J. D. Brehaut, the popular pastor of the Digby Baptist church, was a passenger via Saturday afternoon's west bound express, but returned in time to fill his Sunday appointments.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Churchill and a portion of their family have left Digby. We understand that Mr. and Mrs. Churchill are in the United States and that some of the family are in Westport.

Mr. Frederick William Wallace, the well known magazine writer of marine stories, arrived here Tuesday, via St. John, and will spend a few days in this vicinity. Mr. Wallace, who has many friends here, is very popular among the skippers and crew of Digby's fishing fleet.

James Pendrigh, who went as chief engineer of the steamer Prince Rupert from St. John to New York when she was taken there some weeks ago for some alterations, preparatory to taking up coast service in Cuban waters, is now chief engineer of the Yarmouth, relieving Mr. Kingston on Saturday.

Two Men Have Rough Experience in the Bay.

Two men from St. John had rather a rough and thrilling experience in the Bay of Fundy last week. They left St. John Friday morning in a double engine tug, going to the westward. They struck them in the afternoon and both engines gave out and the boat became unmanageable. After drifting for forty-eight hours they sighted the Nova Scotia north shore near Hampton on Sunday morning. A heavy gust of wind drove them into a small cove and the breakers. The boat was smashed to atoms but the willing hands on shore pulled the almost exhausted men from the surf. They were unable to walk and had to be assisted to a nearby house, where warm drink and clothing were supplied. The two men, Mr. Boddington and Mr. White, returned to St. John by steamer Valinda.

A Tin Wedding.

A number of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Jones' friends who remembered their Tuesday evening, Nov. 4th, when their tenth wedding anniversary called at their residence, Montague street, and gave them an unexpected shower of tin and other gifts. The event was certainly a pleasant one. Rev. Wm. Driffield, rector of Holy Trinity church, gave an address, reading an appropriate poem composed for the occasion. After Mr. Jones had made a very suitable reply the remainder of the evening was spent in cards. Refreshments were served. The COURIER joins their host of friends in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Jones many happy returns of Nov. 4th.

Schr. Onward sailed from Boston for Port Wade Nov. 1st.

D. & O. Sproule's shipments this week: 320 drums of dried fish.

Schooner Dora is chartered from Parrsboro to Digby with coal.

Bark Allanville arrived at Havanna from Weymouth Oct. 24th.

Schr. Princess, Capt. Everett, arrived at Brighton Sunday from Boston.

The schr. Souvenir, owned by Mr. L. H. Outhouse, of Triveton, is for sale.

Schr. Laura E. Melanson arrived at Boston from Weymouth, N. S., Oct. 31st.

Passed in Sunday schrs. Bobs and Emma Potter from Boston for Clementsport.

Schrs. Desrie, Capt. Adams, and O. T. W., Comeau, arrived at Plympton Saturday from Boston.

Schr. Eastern Light, Capt. Morse, was at Annapolis Friday discharging a cargo of fish from Grand Manan.

The tern schooner Nettle Shipman, with hard coal from New York for Annapolis, passed in Saturday.

Schr. Maple Leaf, Capt. Baird, which had been anchored off Digby with brick from Annapolis for St. John, sailed Monday.

Schooner Arthur J. Parker, in Sunday from Boston, takes lumber back to that port, shipped by Mr. H. H. Marshall, M. P. P.

Capt. Starrett, formerly master of the schooner Glenora, passed through Digby Saturday from St. John for his home in Port Lorne.

Repairs to the dredge Provincial No. 1 have been effected and she resumed operations around the Racquette wharves on Saturday.

Schr. Regina C., Capt. E. L. Comeau, from St. John for Meteghan, put in Digby last night for harbor after a rough trip in the Bay.

Aux. schr. Cora Gertie, Capt. M. G. Crocker, arrived here Tuesday with another load of fresh fish for the Maritime Fish Corporation.

S. S. Thelma, Capt. Jorgenson, arrived at Digby last night from Bear River, where she discharged a cargo of crosscut timber and hard pine.

Schr. Valdaire, Capt. Moore, sailed from Digby Tuesday morning for Rockland with staves, shipped by Clarke Bros. and the Bloomfield Lumber Co.

Schr. Nova from Boston for Bear River, passed in Friday, also tern schr. Lucille from Port Amboy with hard coal for W. E. VanBlarcom, Digby.

Schr. Catherine, Capt. Wilkie, has completed her cargo of lumber at Digby for Cienfuegos, and was towed in the stream last night by tug Muto.

A fire occurred on the S. S. Prince Arthur on her Friday night's trip between Boston and Yarmouth. It was extinguished without serious damage.

Arrivals at the Maritime Fish Corporation this week: Schr. Cora Gertie, 15,340 lbs. of haddock, 6,000 lbs. of cod, other sources, 20,870 lbs. of haddock.

The tern schooner Lucille, which arrived here Saturday with hard coal for Mr. W. E. VanBlarcom, is chartered to load lumber at Parrsboro for New York.

Schooner Sam Slick sailed Sunday for Annapolis to load for St. John and from there takes a general cargo to Parrsboro, where she loads coal for Wolfville.

The Boston Consumers' Fish Co., Yarmouth, has leased the Ryerson wharf property from Messrs. L. E. Baker & Co. and will carry on an extensive fresh fish business there.

Steamer Prince Arthur did not leave Yarmouth until 6 o'clock Sunday morning, owing to the gale and rough seas. The ship was arriving clean across the sound. She arrived at Boston at 10 o'clock Sunday night.

Yarmouth Herald: Our harbor appears more like the old days of shipping than it has for some years. Among the vessels unloading are: Albert J. Lutz, Marion E. Turner, Ruth and Morning Star, which are lying at Baker's wharf. We understand that the Consumers' Fish Co. has purchased the most of these vessels' catch.

The schooner Nova was the first vessel to reach Bear River in two weeks, navigation having been held up by the bridge operations at the mouth of the river. The Nova got through the bridges Sunday and after discharging a cargo of one thousand barrels of flour and meal for Messrs. Clarke Bros., will load piling for Boston.

An understanding has been arrived at between the consignors and the consignees of the steamer Thelma's cargo of hard pine, at Bear River, whereby the work of discharging the ship is now going on. It seems that representatives of shippers came from Boston and arranged with Powers & Brewer to accept that part of the cargo found in good condition.

The following vessels have reports at the Digby customs house since Oct. 30th: Inward—Oct. 31st, schr. Elie B. Nickerson, Morehouse, Annapolis; schr. Sam Slick, Newcomb, River Hobbart; Nov. 3rd, Arthur J. Parker, Smith, Lynn; Oct. 3rd, Lucille, Randall, Port Amboy; Oct. 3rd, Cora Gertie, Crocker, Ecoe port. Outward—Oct. 31st, schr. Elie B. Nickerson, Morehouse, Annapolis; Nov. 3rd, schr. Valdaire, Moore, Rockland, Mo. 11,100 bundles staves; Oct. 31st, Cora Gertie, Crocker, Freeport.

DAIRY REPORTS.

Overseer Juntson's reports from St. George, N. B.: Oct. 30th, four hundred hogheads bait; 31st, no bait at Letang, reported bait at St. John; Nov. 1st, about eight hogheads bait at Letang; 3rd, ten hogheads bait. Overseer Frazier reports from Woodwards Cove, N. B.: Oct. 30th, fifteen hundred barrels bait at Grand Harbor and Long Pond Bay; 31st, six hundred barrels bait at Grand Harbor and Long Pond Bay; Nov. 1st, two hundred and fifty barrels bait at Long Pond Bay; 4th, one hundred barrels bait at Grand Harbor and Long Pond Bay.

Overseer Brittain reports from St. John: Oct. 30th, herring in fair quantities at St. John, about 200 bbls.; 31st, herring in fair quantities at St. John, about 300 bbls.; Nov. 1st, five hundred and fifty barrels bait at St. John.

Yesterday was Price Webber's birthday. Last night he and his Boston Comedry Co. played "A Queen for a Day" to a full house in the Town Hall at Bury, Province of Quebec.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Of Interest to Lobster Fishermen.

To the Editor of the Courier.

Sir,—The fishermen will be interested to learn that the view of the recent approach of the lobster fishing season, on that portion of the coast west of Halifax the Minister of Marine and Fisheries has decided that no changes in the regulations governing the fishery will be made for the coming season.

The fishermen are also informed that traps, or other lobster gear, will not be permitted to be placed on the fishing grounds before the morning of the opening day of the season.

I am, Respectfully yours, WARD FISHER, Inspector.

Gatlin 3 Day Liquor Treatment is Guaranteed

No matter what your opinion or prejudice may be, the fact remains that the Gatlin 3 Day Drink Treatment does the work. It thoroughly eliminates every vestige of the stored up alcoholic poison from the system in just 3 days, and leaves the patient in the condition he was in before taking his first drink.

The Result is Guaranteed at the End of Three Days or no Charge

Instead of taking a four or five weeks' course of hypodermic injections the worst cases are entirely restored to normal condition by the Gatlin Treatment in exactly 3 days. If, at the end of that time the results are not entirely satisfactory to the patient, the Treatment will not cost a cent. This Guarantee of satisfaction is backed by a responsible concern with large Capital.

The Gatlin Home Treatment is for those who cannot find it convenient to come to the Institute. Certificated Nurse can be sent within a reasonable distance without extra charge.

The "Never Fail" Oil and Gasoline Can

Will draw over a gallon a minute.
Will take all the oil out of the can.
Will run the oil from lamp back into can.

You have no oil valves or pump to get out of order, no faucet to leak and drip. You do not have that disagreeable odor of oil and gasoline in your rooms. You need not be afraid of an explosion. You do not have oil all over your hands, lamp and floor. Your oil and gasoline bills will be one third less when using one of these cans, as they are airtight, allowing no evaporation.

Take one home and use it for 90 days, if it is not the best you ever saw or used, bring it back and get your money. That's the way we sell it.

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of the Courier:

DEAR SIR:—I receive the COURIER Friday evening and look forward to its visit as an old friend bringing news from various parts of my native country. In looking over a late issue I noticed an article on "Fenian Family Names" so decided to furnish the COURIER with a list of those whom I can bring evidence to show turned out and drilled in 1860. "No. 2 Squad, No. 1 Company, 3rd regt., Digby, N. S. Militia had enrolled a list of 50 persons. The following are still living as far as I know, viz:

W. B. Sabean, B. Godett, Sears Mullen, Leon Babine, Geo. H. Sabean, Edgar B. Marr, Charles Green, Shuck Mullen, Stephen Melancon, Clement Babine, John Blinn, Alfred Mullen, Henry Mullen, Placide Godett, Benj. Sabean.

A singular coincidence is that Clement Babine, the eldest man at that time, (11 yrs) is still living. No. 6 Company with Jas. P. Nowlan Captain, consisted of 67 persons from the vicinity around Church Point where some still survive.

Old records show some were fined $2.00 for refusing to drill in 1865, but no collected. Again, comparing prices of that date with the present, is most interesting. I have before me a bill of $7.00 for flour bought of Jno. G. Hall & Co., Boston, costing $5.00 per bbl. there; meal $3.00; saleratus 11c. per lb.; matches 10c. per gross, cartage and wharfage added. Our money then was 40% premium and in 1865 25%.

1815-40 spruce boards were $5.00 per M at Yarmouth, and pine $3.50. In 1840 pine advanced to $7.00 and spruce fell to $4.00. Our beef was only worth 1c. per lb. here, and 5c. per lb. hind quarter.

While some bills were much lower mail service was also much slower. A letter in my possession was four days coming from Hants to Digby Co. in "eye olden time"; others I have were written before time of envelopes or postage stamps dated 1791. I have envelopes with Nova Scotia stamps before confederation.

The continued warm wet days did fair to make the present season a record breaker. Farmers, unable to get potatoes from old mother earth, brings a mournful cry from the consumer. In fact our grocery men are unable to keep a supply equal to demand with prospect of high prices.

Now, Mr. Editor, lest I weary you, I will thank you for your valuable space, wishing the COURIER continued success.

I remain yours truly,

O. R. NOWLAN,

Wolfville, N. S., Oct. 29th, 1913.

Provincial S. S. Convention at Amherst.

The 22nd Annual Convention of the Sunday School Association met at Amherst on October 22nd with over 200 delegates in attendance. Rev. F. McElfresh, representative of the International Sunday School Association, was present and was listened to with much interest. Other prominent speakers were, Revs. A. T. DeWolfe, D. D. Logan, Martin, of Manitoba, Ramsay and Dr. Brown, field secretary. The address of welcome was delivered by Rev. Wigle, pastor of the Methodist church at Amherst.

On Thursday afternoon denominational rallies were held in the respective churches, followed by a banquet in the Methodist church. Some of the business transacted was:—The closing of the financial year changed from Sept. 30 to Oct. 15, giving the S. S. and districts more time to pay their apportionment. The collections taken on Association Day (to be held some time in May) is to help pay out county apportionment. The apportionments of all counties were raised 15 p. c. making our apportionment $80.50 instead of $70. The fact was emphasized that all schools needed a competent leader, and that each school should have teachers studying the Teachers' Training Course. Teacher training and graded lessons were the two subjects thoroughly discussed at the meetings. It was indorsed that a Summer School be held at Berwick for eight days during the month of August to prepare teachers to be more competent in their work. The morning was to be devoted to Bible study, afternoon for recreation, evening for music, lectures, etc. We were pleased and proud to see that Digby ranked third among the banner counties. Special mention was made of the Banner Districts in N. S., one of these being the Weymouth and New Tuxford District. I wish to thank all schools and officers for their hearty co-operation in making Digby a Banner County and ask for their support and help during the coming year.

Five Men Killed and Ten Injured.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Oct. 25.—Five men were killed and two injured and one probably fatally, by a premature explosion of dynamite early today in the mines of the Piedmont Manganese Corporation, six miles east of here. Four of the killed were negroes.

Typhoid in Halifax.

Halifax has an epidemic of typhoid fever, the worst in fifty years. The hospital accommodations being overtaxed the City Home Cottage has been put into requisition.

25 Years Ago.

Digby had a slight shock of earthquake on Monday. It had rained for 14 hours and the quake was accompanied by a sound as of a heavy wagon on a rocky road.

—The other night in one of the Truro churches as the choir sang "Lead kindly Light" the electrical supply was cut off.

—San Francisco experienced a slight earthquake on Saturday morning. No serious damage was reported.

Prepare for the Worst.

"Doctor," said the young wife of the rich old miser, "how do you find my husband?"

"So much better, madam," replied the physician, "that I think he will recover to live many years."

She turned dandy pale and burst into tears.

"Alas!" she cried, "I felt instinctively that I must be prepared for the worst!"

—An ingenious Swiss has recently invented a clock that has no dial or hands. The mechanism is all concealed, but on pressing a button a photographic voice gives out the time that is actual to the very minute.

WOMEN CURED AT HOME

Women's disorders always yield from the very beginning of the treatment to the mild, but effective action of Orange Lily. Within two or three days after commencing the use the improvement becomes noticeable, and this improvement continues until the patient is completely cured. Orange Lily is an applied or local treatment, and acts directly on the woman's organs, removing the congestion, toning and strengthening the nerves, and restoring perfect circulation in the diseased parts. In order to convince all suffering women of the value of this remedy, I will send a 15-cent bottle for free treatment, absolutely FREE, on each day sending me the address. MRS. FRANCES E. CURHAM, Windsor, Ont.

Flour trial is essential but—it is not your work!

Flour varies from time to time in baking quality. This is because wheat continually varies according to soil conditions, etc.

Therefore, if baking results are to be constantly high, baking tests are essential. It is unreasonable to expect you to make these tests at your expense.

So from each shipment of wheat delivered at our mills we take a ten pound sample. This is ground into flour. Bread is baked from the flour. If this bread is high in quality and large in quantity, we use the shipment. Otherwise we sell it.

By simply asking for FLOUR bearing this name you can always be sure of more bread and better bread.

SYNOPSIS OF DOMINION LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Section—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within one mile of his homestead on a farm of at least 30 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister. In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt quarter section along side his homestead. Price $200 per acre. Ditties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has cashed his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $250 per acre. Ditties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

GIRL SUFFERED TERRIBLY

At Regular Intervals—Says
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured her.

Adrian, Texas.—"I take pleasure in adding my testimonial to the great list and hope that it will be of interest to suffering women. For four years I suffered untold agonies at regular intervals. Such pains and cramps, severe chills and sickness, stomach, then finally hemorrhages until I would be nearly blind. I had five doctors and none of them could do more than relieve me for a time. 'I saw your advertisement in a paper and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took seven boxes of it and used two bottles of the Sensitive Wash, and I am completely cured of my trouble. When I began taking the Compound I only weighed ninety-six pounds and now I weigh one hundred and twenty-six pounds. If anyone wishes to address me in person I will cheerfully answer all letters, as I cannot speak too highly of the 'Pinkham' remedies.'—Miss JESSIE MARSH, Adrian, Texas.

Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished are constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (containing) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

A Reply From Yarmouth.

We have received the following in reply to a summer tourist's "Impressions of Yarmouth," which appeared in the Courier of Oct. 17th:

That Digby correspondent

Must surely have been the "deer" getting together.

We judge by the Courier's news,

It is Yarmouth.

White-johnny, the off-spring

Of a silver-topped, slow-

Sees all things through blue glasses

With never a brighter glow

In Yarmouth.

Even nature's refreshing breeze

That bring us pure ozone,

Are called by the Digby blue bird,

Brackets—chills, or names of his own—

For Yarmouth.

Even to the prosaic beauty

Of Yarmouth's fair sex, he's blind;

Sure, the "green-eyed monster" is busy,

Producing a morbid mind

In Yarmouth.

Go to take a pill for the liver—

Change glasses from blue to white—

Then brighter will seem the prospect,

And day will emerge from night

When in Yarmouth.

Even should he die in Yarmouth—

And though he don't pass as a saint—

Yet have some hopes of the future.

Though at times, perhaps, very faint,

In Yarmouth.

Autumn.

Shamed by the thought of dismal days

When all the world seems gray with rain

Dance Nature strives to mend her ways.

Autumn is with us once again!

And glorious-tinted on every side

With fire and lavish hand are spread

Thill all the land should be supplied

With harmonies of gold and red.

With deep-tinted lips the children roam

Where ripened berries are displayed;

The traveller's joy, like tumbled foam,

Pours over the hedge its sweet cascade.

The chestnuts hang in clusters thick

And urgent youth with merry cry

Projects the devastating brick

Regardless of the passer-by!

The ploughman sings behind the plough,

Forgetful of the days of death;

The apple reddens on the bough,

The turnip fattens in the earth.

The sky is blue, the sun is kind,

A nature shows a smiling face

And in our hearts we find

The world a decent sort of place.

THE WORLD'S WORK DEPENDS ON THE WORLD'S DIGESTION

From the captain of industry to the humblest of men, the world's work depends upon the health of the digestive system. Backed by a good digestion, a man can give the best that is in him. When his stomach fails, he becomes a weakling.

To this loss of power no one need submit. Right habits of eating, drinking, sleeping and exercise, aided by Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets, will restore and maintain the full efficiency of the human mind and body.

Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets contain the active principles needed for the digestion of every kind of food. They go to the assistance of the weakened stomach, and enable the sufferer, right from the start, to assimilate and get the benefit of the food eaten. With this assistance, the digestive organs regain their tone, and soon the use of the tablets is no longer necessary.

Origin of the Red Deer in Nova Scotia.

(From the Halifax Chronicle)

To the Editor of the Chronicle:

Sir,—In order that all who care to know may be in possession of the facts of how, when and by whom the deer, now rapidly increasing in our forests where none were before, were secured, I must crave indulgence in space. To make it quite clear I must start at the beginning. The early days of February, 1883, found camped at the head of Moosehead Lake, W. S. Gilpin and the writer with two Indian guides on a hunting trip. I remember the date for on a fine Sunday morning I with my guide "Frank Peter" visited Round Bay Rock some ten miles South of our camp, and having brought a coal chisel with me from home for the purpose, cut my name and the year (J. D., 1883) on the south west side of this large granite rock five feet from the ground.

Coming from New Brunswick where deer are plenty it seemed strange there were none here where there were no wolves to destroy them, and during our leisure hours we talked the deer question over and over again and tried to think out the reason why. The absence of coar, everywhere so plentiful in New Brunswick and Maine, seemed to be at least one of the reasons most likely. We concluded to make enquiry of persons who knew more of their habits and needs and if satisfactory answers could be got, in the near future to try and get a herd from New Brunswick and try them here.

Mr. Gilpin's death in 1885 left me hunting alone generally, and nothing was done until January, 1893, on my return from a successful caribou hunt with two, which I found in good condition. I then decided that if these caribou could live and keep fat all winter on our bill of fare, other members of the deer family could also.

Two questions still remained to be settled, viz., what course would the Indians take? Would they encourage the venture, and could the deer be got? In regard to the Indians I went to the Reservation, interviewed the Chief, James Meuse and his control. I asked him to call his people together, lay the matter before them, and ask them to pledge themselves to protect the deer during the year they would be protected by law, &c., &c., and pointed out to them the benefit the deer would be to the tribe if successful—as the moose went out the deer would come in. He did so, and came to me with the unanimous pledge of "The Boys" as he was pleased to call his warriors. They would not shoot or molest them, and would do all they could to help along the venture as their share of the partnership, and I have no reason to doubt that they are still keeping their pledge right loyally.

This point being satisfactorily settled I wrote Mr. Blair, Provincial Secretary of New Brunswick, on the matter of getting a small herd of deer for Nova Scotia. He could not understand why we had none, but if I was serious, advised me to get my Government to make a request that something might be done. I at once went down to Halifax, saw Mr. Fielding, Provincial Secretary, laid my letter from Mr. Blair and my plans before him. He said "Better get the Nova Scotia Game Society to make a request of this Government to take up the matter with the New Brunswick Government and I will see what can be done." I saw Sydney Harrington, Chief Game Commissioner, who, though not very enthusiastic, intimating the scarcity of funds in the treasury of the Society, said: "Well, John, if you are serious, I know your determination and if we can get a few, we can get more later. I will make the request as soon as I can get the Council together." And he did, asking for 20 does and five bucks, as I suggested.

After waiting for some time I wrote to Mr. Blair and was informed that the request for deer was under consideration. Again during the summer I wrote, and about the middle of November I received the following permit:

COPY OF PERMIT

FREDERICTON, N. B., 13 Nov. 1893

John Daley, Esq.,

Digby, Nova Scotia.

Dear Sir:

You are hereby authorized to catch and take alive within the Province of New Brunswick (25) twenty five Red Deer and export the same to the Province of Nova Scotia.

Before doing so, however, you will be required to give notice in writing to the Chief Game Commissioner,

Edw. I. Wetmore, Esq., of St. John, of the counties in which you intend to hunt and catch said deer, and the names of the parties to be employed by you for that purpose, when he will issue an authority to the County Warden to allow you to prosecute such search. Any attempt to use the Permits for any other purpose than that intended will be immediately followed by their can cellation.

I have the honor to be,

Your obt. servant

L. J. Twiddle,

Surveyor General.

After complying with the conditions of the permit, the following advertisement appeared in the St. John Daily Telegraph:

"Wanted—Live Deer for Nova Scotia."

This brought correspondence from Woodstock, Edmundston, Bonny River and Tracadie, Siding. The first pair came from Bonny River, Charlotte County, about 1st February, 1894. I had a building prepared for them, where they could walk around, feed and rest for two or three days before taking their last drive of some twenty miles. On the way I stopped at the village of Bear River, where they were viewed by the people, and the Indians from the Reservation came down to look them over. The inspection lasted an hour and was greatly enjoyed, and much sympathy expressed. That was my object in taking them there. I then drove them out to the north side of Lake Jolly, turned them loose, and watched with much concern what they would do. After shaking them selves and looking over the situation they at once took to the bush ten yards away and commenced eating whatever they came to. That was most satisfactory to all present, and brought forth the toast, "Success to Daley's Deer," proposed by Barn Wade and seconded by Stanley Clarke, which was duly honored. They had come out with me from Bear River to see the deer let go.

The next lot came from Woodstock; two of them I sent to C. C. Richards, Yarmouth, suggesting placing them on exhibition for a few days at a fee of admission, and also that the people might view and admire them. This was done, and the sum of Fifteen Dollars collected, which, with Fifty more added by a few sportsmen who felt interested in the scheme, was sent to me to be credited to the Deer Fund. The balance of One Hundred Dollars was paid me by the Game Society. The total cost of the eleven at $15 each put out $165. It may be asked why I did not get more at that time, having a permit for twenty-five. You will notice by the permit that I had to get them from the Chief Game Commissioner. From the first he had placed an embargo on any being shipped by steamer to Nova Scotia with out his permission and inspection. About the middle of March there arrived a pair of does at St. John intended for me. The Chief was duly notified of their arrival. They were to be shipped the following day, the steamer only making two trips a week, on Wednesday and Saturday. Eight o'clock arrived but no Chief, so the crate was left on the wharf, and was still there when he arrived at eleven o'clock. Instead of notifying me of his shortcoming and what I wanted done with them, he ordered a truck and sent them out beyond the city limits and let them go free.

This called up some sharp correspondence and ended the getting of any more that season. He said that as chairman of the S. P. C. he felt he was justified in liberating them. I enquired if he intended practicing this same reasoning on the next circus that came to St. John for the benefit of the wild animals, but before the next circus came he had died and was buried. A successor was appointed from Musquash, N. B. This gentleman I met at the Dufferin Hotel by appointment, and after going over the deer story I found that he was unwilling to let us have any more. His 120 pounds avoirdupois was all opposition. No reason for it, as I offered him that he send men of his own selection to capture them for us, and I would pay all the bills, etc., etc.

Some eighteen months ago three or four deer were got by the Nova Scotia Guides' Association from the borders of Quebec and liberated in

DIGBY WEEKLY COURIER

Digby, November 14, 1913

The Fishing Business at Digby.

YARMOUTH WILL NOT CONTROL ALL THE FISHES FROM DIGBY VESSELS.

The new "source" of supply for the Boston fish market, the Consumers' Fish Company, created at Yarmouth and financed by American capital, may be able to dictate the market prices, but the impression made by Yarmouth papers that this concern would get all the fish caught by the Bay of Fundy fleet is beyond all reason as was evidenced along the Digby waterfront Monday when two of the big ones, the Loran B. Snow, Capt. Arthur Casey, and Dorothy M. Smart, Capt. William Snow, hauled into their berths and commenced landing their trips of mixed fish. The combined catch of these two vessels, 150,000 pounds, totaled more than all the trips bought up by the Yarmouth concern from the Digby vessels since they started business. With all due respect to Yarmouth's twenty thousand dollar Consumers' Fish Company, when it comes to the question of capital, we have right at home (and much of this is Digby money) the Maritime Fish Corporation, an all Canadian company of a million dollars capital, with Digby and Canoe as its main sources of supply, the head office in Montreal and agencies in the important trade centers in Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and in spite of the tariff previous to the Wilson law the products of the sea put up by the Maritime Fish Corporation found their way to the American markets of the middle west. Now that the Yankee concern is wide open the Maritime Fish Corporation and the other local firms are sure to share in the benefits to be derived therefrom, at the same time holding on to their Canadian markets.

The Loran B. Snow sold her trip of 70,000 pounds to Mr. Joseph E. Snow, and the Dorothy M. Smart, with 80,000, to the Maritime Fish Corporation. Of this the Snow had 37,000 pounds haddock and the Smart 15,000 pounds which will be smoked into flounders for the Canadian markets. The cod and cusk will be shipped fresh to the American markets.

The Bijou Dream.

DIGBY NOW HAS A GOOD ORCHESTRA WHICH PLAYS AT THE ABOVE THEATRE.

Those who have been asking for a band and orchestra in Digby, now have a chance to support an orchestra by attending the Bijou Dream Theatre Monday and Wednesday evenings. Mr. Cripps has organized this orchestra and is paying them for their services two nights per week, and will continue to do so as long as the extra business attracted by this music will warrant it, but of course cannot keep it going at a loss. So the success of the orchestra remains with the public. We think Mr. Cripps will continue to get big houses. The pictures which he is giving the public are superior to the ones usually seen at a theatre in a town of this size and with the excellent piano music Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights, and the orchestra Mondays and Wednesday nights, he should certainly be well patronized.

No Evidence of Fool Play.

Coroner Daley held an inquiry last Friday night into the death of a colored child, aged two and a half years, which died at its home in Acadiaville last week, whose death, it was said, occurred under suspicious circumstances. The following jury was empanelled: A. A. Shortt, (foreman), Michael Rogers, Beverly Cornwall, George Winfield, Herbert Threlkott, Charles Marshall, Angus McPherson, Charles Capt. Wm. Casey, Gilbert E. Hartt, Capt. Jacob Wyman and Sydney Dakin.

After several witnesses had been examined, including the mother of the dead child, the jury brought in a verdict that the death was caused by the inexperience of its mother in attending it and that there was no evidence of foul play.

Death of Mrs. Lucy McGregor.

Mrs. Lucy McGregor, wife of Nathaniel McGregor, night watchman on the steamer Yarmouth, died at her home in Digby at an early hour Tuesday morning after a short illness, aged 65 years. Before her last marriage she was the widow of the late Charles Borden. One child, and by her first marriage, Mrs. Nellie Borden-Godhead survives her. The deceased was a daughter of the late John Meade, of Digby, and leaves three sisters, Mrs. Mary Beaman, Mrs. Annie Beaman and Miss Lizzie Meade, all of whom reside here. During the past few years Mrs. McGregor has conducted a small grocery and fruit business on Water street. The funeral takes place Sunday with interment at the Westport (R. C.) cemetery. The services will be conducted by Rev. Father Grace.

Schr. Theodore Roosevelt Will Be Repaired.

Mr. W. A. Chute, the well known building mover, arrived here yesterday from Centerville and in an interview with the Courier says that the American schooner Theodore Roosevelt, ashore at Trout Cove, which was recently purchased at auction by Messrs. A. Boutiller and Samuel Gidney, will be repaired and made as good as new.

Mr. Chute has the contract to raise the vessel fourteen feet and move it in towards the shore sixty feet. He says that after she receives a new keel and her bilge has been repaired she will be as good as a new vessel, and that her present owners have certainly made a good investment.

Death of Mrs. Mary Ellis.

WIDOW OF THE LATE CAPT. WILLIAM E. ELLIS HAS PASSED AWAY.

Mrs. Mary Ellis, widow of the late Capt. Wm. E. Ellis, for more than 37 years, the faithful keeper of Point Prim Light, passed away at five o'clock Wednesday night at her home in Bay View in the 70th year of her age. She had been in poor health for several years, but her last sickness had continued her to her bed less than a week.

Mrs. Ellis, who was a daughter of the late David and Martha H. Nelson, was born in Ireland, moving to Digby with her parents more than 60 years ago.

She married Capt. William E. Ellis, who in March, 1875, took charge of Point Prim Light. His death occurred Dec. 14th, 1912.

Their total family consisted of fifteen, thirteen of whom are still living as follows: Seven sons, Leander, at Point Prim; William, Isaac and James, at Bay View; John and Marjorie in Boston, and Richard in Cape Breton; six daughters, Mrs. John Ross, of Collierville; Mrs. Norval Turnbull, Point Prim; Mrs. E. A. Robinson, Digby; Mrs. Samuel E. Wilson, Green Point; Mrs. Arthur Sals, Digby, and Mrs. C. L. Horton, of Dorchester, Mass.

She also leaves 32 grandchildren and 5 great grandchildren, and is also survived by two brothers, David Hazelt, of Digby, and William, of East Boston, the last of the entire family.

Mrs. Ellis was a member of the Digby Methodist church and highly respected by all who knew her and her circle of acquaintances was a large one. The funeral will take place from her late home at one o'clock tomorrow afternoon with interment in Bay View beside the remains of her late husband. The services will be conducted by Rev. Leander Daniel, pastor of Grace Methodist church, assisted by Rev. Mr. Lindsey, pastor of the Bay View Presbyterian church.

Great sympathy is extended to the members of the large family who have been bereaved of a father, whose honorable record was unsurpassed, and an affectionate and faithful mother, within a year, whose guidance was a feature of their lives.

Wedding Bells at Deep Brook.

(Special to the Courier.) WILSON - PAYSON.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Payson at Deep Brook was the scene of a very happy wedding on Wednesday morning, the 12th inst. The bride, Annie Laura, was then united in holy matrimony to Mr. Louis Bardwell Wilson, of Belknap Falls, late of Vermont, U. S. A. The rite was performed by Rev. J. Lockward, the rector of the parish, in the presence of several near relatives of the happy contracting parties. The bride was led into the room by a sister of the groom, the bride and groom, and their present and rejoicing friends sat down to a very bountiful wedding breakfast. During the discussion of this part of the happy event, there was a continual flow of anecdote and humor, in which the rector dared to take a part. Among the relatives present were Mr. and Mrs. Carole A. Moore, of Belknap Falls, Vermont, the bride being a sister of the groom. The bride had with her an aunt from Weymouth, Mrs. Dahlgreen, and other relatives. After breakfast, the bride and groom, attended by Mr. and Mrs. Moore, were driven to Digby in an automobile, there to take the steamer for St. John; and after two or three days in St. John, will take the train for their delightful home at Belknap Falls. They have taken away with them the very warmest wishes of many friends.

A Wonderful Discovery.

An eminent scientist, the other day, gave his opinion that the most wonderful discovery of recent years was the discovery of Zam Buk. Just think! As soon as a single thin layer of Zam Buk is applied to a wound or a sore, such injury is insured against blood poisoning! Not one species of microbe has been found that Zam Buk does not kill!

Then again, As soon as Zam Buk is applied to a sore, or a cut, or to skin disease, it stops the smarting. That is why children are such friends of Zam Buk. They care nothing for the science of the thing. All they know is that Zam Buk stops their pain. Mothers should never forget this.

Again, As soon as Zam Buk is applied to a wound or to a diseased part, the cells beneath the skin's surface are so stimulated that new healthy tissue is quickly formed. This formation of fresh healthy tissue from below is Zam Buk's secret of healing. The tissue thus formed is worked up to the surface and literally casts off the diseased tissue above it. This is why Zam Buk cures are permanent.

Only the other day Mr. Marsh, of 101 Dolorimier Ave., Montreal, called upon the Zam Buk Co. and told them that for over twenty five years he had been a martyr to eczema. His hands were at one time so covered with sores that he had to sleep in gloves. Four years ago Zam Buk was introduced to him, and in a few months it cured him. Today—over three years after his cure of a disease he had for twenty five years—he is still cured, and has had no trace of any return of the eczema!

All druggists sell Zam Buk at 50c. box, or we will send free trial box if you send this advertisement and a 1c. stamp (to pay return postage). Address Zam Buk Co., Toronto.

On Nov. 1st, a Rural Mail Route, was established from Deep Brook Post Office to Victoria Bridge, with Mr. Loran Adams as mail courier. This is a great convenience to the people on this route and we know that Mr. Adams will give good satisfaction to the patrons thereof.

Centerville.

Through a printer's error, the name of Mr. Alf Lewis's new boat was given as Nellie Secundus. It should have been Nulli Secundus, a Latin phrase, meaning second to none, a name given by King Edward to one of his most famous racehorses.

On Wednesday, Oct. 29th, at the residence of her brother, Fred Dakin, Utah Viola Dakin, youngest daughter, of the late J. Dakin and Mrs. Alice Dakin, was united in matrimony to Lemuel Raymond, son of Mr. Elijah Raymond, of Centerville. The bride looked very pretty in a white silk striped voile dress and wreath of lilacs of the valley. She was unattended.

The nuptial knot was tied by the Rev. Mr. Kinsman, Baptist minister, Ross way. After the ceremony a reception was held which was numerously attended by friends and relatives of the happy pair. The presents were many and valuable. The Countess joins the many friends of the bride and groom in best wishes for their happiness and prosperity.

At the Methodist church, Centerville, on Tuesday, Nov. 4th, Stella, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Rowlett, Bay View Farm, Centerville, was united in holy matrimony to Orrie W. Speights, son of the late Mr. C. Speights and Mrs. Speights, of Centerville. The church was prettily decorated for the occasion. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, beautifully played by Miss S. Morehouse and was attired in a navy serge suit, faced with ivory satin and hat of ivory plush. The ceremony was impressively performed by Rev. Mr. Hale. A reception was afterwards held at the home of the bride's parents, and was numerously attended. The presents were numerous, valuable and useful. The Countess joins the friends of the bride and bridegroom in best wishes for their future happiness and welfare.

We beg to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Byron Prime on the birth of a daughter.

TEN INCHES OF SNOW AT PITTSBURG, AND WIRE COMMUNICATION CUT OFF.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 9.—Crippling transportation facilities and prostrating wire communication over a wide area, an extraordinary snow, sleet and wind storm visited this section of the country today and continues tonight. During the day ten inches of snow fell, four inches more than ever falling during any November since 1888. The barometer registered 29.04, or about one inch below normal, and this incident of the storm is viewed as remarkable by the local officials of the United States weather bureau. Throughout the day the wind from the northwest blew forty miles an hour, while the temperature dropped from 18 to 23 degrees in less than fifteen hours.

Preceded by heavy rains Friday and Saturday, snow began falling at three o'clock this morning. Within a few hours the wires, poles and trees were sagging under the heavy weight of wet snow. Before noon railroads, trolley lines and vehicular traffic were battling with the elements in an effort to continue operations. Toward evening the thermometer tumbled rapidly and the water and snow froze. This condition practically demoralized telephone lines.

Shortly after noon the Western Union Telegraph Company reported all wires down to New York, Columbus and Cleveland. The Postal Telegraph Company was tied up by the storm to all points from here. Telephone wires to the outside were useless. Tonight the Western Union succeeded in making up a wire circuit to the principal cities east of Pittsburgh and west to Chicago and Louisville. But one wire, however, was working to Cleveland.

Later in the night this failed, cutting the Ohio city off from all outside communications. The Postal Company was unable to reach New York, Baltimore, Washington and Cleveland from here tonight, but one wire was working between Pittsburgh and Columbus.

Nearly Ran on New Island.

CHANGE IN OCEAN BOTTOM ALMOST RESULTED IN A WRECK.

MONTREAL, November 8.—Captain Macell, of the Direct Line Serrana, just in from the West Indies, reports having narrowly escaped running foul of Canada's new sand island, thirty miles northeast of Sable Island. The Serrana ran into a heavy fog as she approached Sable Island, always given a wide berth by mariners because of its notorious reputation. Soundings were taken showing only twenty fathoms of water where charts called for sixty.

Attracted at this discovery Captain Macell, steering further to the eastward, examined his compass, worked back on his charts but was unable to figure out the phenomenon, being sure that he had followed the prescribed course clear of Sable Island.

Continued soundings were taken showing only thirty-five fathoms where the ocean should have been unfathomable, or nearly so. Considerable relief came to the captain and crew when the coast of Cape Breton Island was sighted. However, it was not until he reached Montreal and read of the discovery of the new island that the mystery of the discrepancies in soundings was cleared up.

Anniversary of Boston's Big Fire.
BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 8.—To many old residents of Boston to-morrow will be a day of great significance, because it will be the forty-first anniversary of the biggest fire in the city's history, when eight hundred buildings occupied by one thousand business concerns in the heart of the city were burned with a loss of about $70,000,000 and causing the death of eleven people and injuries to many others.

The fire started at 7:30 o'clock on the evening of November 9, 1872, in the heart of the wholesale business section. The conflagration raged until the following afternoon. Fifty cities and towns of New England rushed men and apparatus to aid the Boston firemen, but the assistance was of little avail because the water supply failed at a critical moment. As a result of the fire loss twenty leading fire insurance companies went into bankruptcy.

Sowed Man's Ear to Its Place.
MONTREAL, Nov. 11.—When Joseph Romane was taken to the Western Hospital in the ambulance yesterday afternoon, he carried with him his right ear wrapped in a pocket handkerchief. Shortly after his admission to the institution, when the doctors found that the loss of an ear was the only injury sustained in his fall from a scaffold, they sewed the member to its accustomed place at the side of his head and they anticipated that the ear will be as good as new. The ear was cut cleanly from the head when Romane, in his fall, struck a guy wire.

The Newfoundland Elections.
St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 8.—With only one election district unreported, the Conservative victory, under the premiership of Sir Edward Morris, has been obtained. 21 of the 30 seats in the colonial house of assembly, and 11 have been won by the supporters of Sir Robert Bond, opposition leader and former premier. Returns from Fortune Bay district, received today, show that Mr. Emerson, a Moravian, has been elected by a majority of 135.

Pope's Gardener Tries Suicide.
ROME, Nov. 8.—The Pope was greatly distressed today when he was informed that the aged gardener at the Vatican, Antolini, had attempted to commit suicide. Antolini threw himself from a wall thirty feet high. He was taken to a hospital in a dying condition. It was learned that the man was in financial difficulties, as his wages as gardener were small.

Losses on Maine Potato Crop.
BANGOR, Me., Nov. 12.—Losses totaling from $500,000 to $1,000,000 are estimated to have been caused to the potato growers of Maine by rains and frost. In consequence, the supply, it is said, will be smaller and the price much higher than was expected early in the season.

Wild Women at It Again.
LONDON, Eng., Nov. 12.—Suffragists made another demonstration today at the service at St. Paul's. At intervals they kept singing "God save Annie Kenney and Sylvia Pankhurst, who are being persecuted for conscience sake."

STRONGLY ADVISES "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

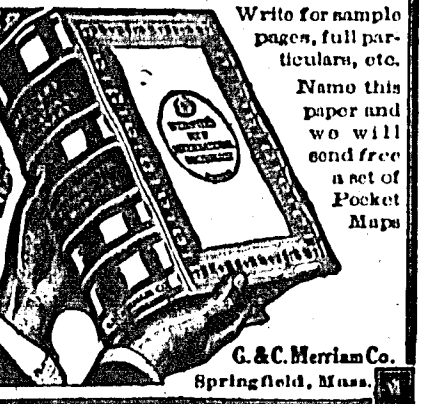

Because They Cured Him, And They Will Cure You

WALKERTON, ONT., May 9th, 1911.
"I have been in Walkerton in business for a good many years and many of my townsmen know that my health, for long periods was precarious. My trouble was extreme Nervousness, brought on by indigestion and dyspepsia, from which I suffered in the most severe form. It was so bad that I could not sleep before about four in the morning. I noticed one of your published testimonials of how someone had used 'Fruit-a-tives' for similar trouble and asked Mr. Hunter, my druggist, his opinion on the matter and he advised their use. I immediately procured several boxes and I am pleased to say that I now enjoy splendid health and could not possibly feel better. I can eat with every degree of satisfaction and sleep without an effort. I strongly advise anyone suffering from like complaints, to commence using 'Fruit-a-tives'. ALIX. McCARTER.

HOT WATER BOTTLES

We have just opened our Fall and Winter stock of Hot Water Bottles and Fountain Syringes both Plain and Combination; also a fresh lot of Ice Caps, Invalid Cushions, Rubber Gloves, etc.

We should like to have the pleasure of showing you these goods as we feel confident that the inspection would be very greatly to your advantage, especially in the examination of our guaranteed lines.

We are, as usual, specializing in prescription dispensing, as well as the compounding of household receipts and veterinary formulas.

Freeport Deaths.

[Special correspondence to the Courier.]
SHANNON NASH

On Tuesday morning, Nov. 11th, came a despatch from Boston, bringing tidings of the death of Shannon Nash, son of Mrs. J. M. Fung, and one of Freeport's most promising young men. Just nineteen, on the verge of a useful, prosperous life, his death came with the force of a shock to the mother and two brothers anxiously waiting to hear the results of an operation, from which they hoped Shannon would recover his health.

He had been sick six months, with a trouble in his head, which gradually deprived him of sight. Twice he went to Boston for medical treatment, and as a last chance an operation was attempted. The trouble however was too near the brain and death resulted.

His funeral on Sunday was largely attended, the boys of his S. S. class following him as mourners—he was beloved by them all.

The music at the funeral consisted of a double quartet, made up of girls and boys who were his intimate friends. The floral offerings were very beautiful, a large wreath being sent by the teacher and boys of his class.

His boy friends also made his grave a bower of green and flowers, and in many ways, by their kind attention, showed their love and sympathy.

His was a splendid character, always cheerful even in sickness, and he will long be missed among the young people, and by all who knew him.

He is survived by his mother, four brothers and four sisters, most of whom reside in the U. S., and who so lovingly cared for him, as he was treated by a specialist in Boston, and to whom his death was a terrible disappointment.

JAMES PERRY.
At Freeport, on the evening of Nov. 11th, Mr. James Perry died, aged 71 years. Mr. Perry's death was not unexpected, although his last illness was but for a few weeks. About ten years ago he sustained an injury to his knee, which resulted in making him partially a cripple, and from which he was a great sufferer.

He was the last of a large family and was a life long resident of Freeport. He was a member of the Freeport Baptist Church, and in years of health, an active worker, and for a long time a member of the choir.

He was a man with many friends, respected by old and young. He leaves a widow, three daughters and five sons who mourn the loss of a loving husband and father. His funeral on Sunday was largely attended.

Will Save Gasoline

Capt. E. Linde, late of the Swedish navy, was in Digby this week introducing the Bolinder marine oil engines which are proving very interesting to the fishermen along the coast. These motors are run on crude oil worth four or five cents per gallon, without any batteries or other electrical gear. The machines are bound to become popular considering the high price of gasoline. Capt. Linde, who is at present in Lunenburg, is the right man for the business. He made many friends while in Digby and Port Wade, and when his men arrive with demonstrating engines we believe they will soon be in as much demand in this country as they are now in Sweden where they are manufactured.

Bear River.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Clarke went to St. John last Thursday.

Miss Lydia Rice left on Saturday for Boston, where she will spend the winter.

Miss Bertha Rice entertained a number of friends at her home on Wednesday evening.

Miss Lizzie Moore left on Wednesday for Boston and New York where she will spend the winter.

A lecture on the Bible will be delivered in St. John's church, Bear River, on Monday evening, Nov. 17th, commencing at 7.30 p. m. Subject: The Christians' Bible; (1) Whence we get it, and (2) How we get it.

Oil and Gasoline Can

Will draw over a gallon a minute.
Will take all the oil out of the can.
Will run the oil from lamp back into can.

You have no oil valves or pump to get out of order, no faucet to leak and drip. You do not have that disagreeable odor of oil and gasoline in your rooms. You need not be afraid of an explosion. You do not have oil all over your hands, lamp and floor. Your oil and gasoline bills will be one third less when using one of these cans, as they are airtight, allowing no evaporation.

Take one home and use it for 90 days, if it is not the best you ever saw or used, bring it back and get your money. That's the way we sell it.

25th Anniversary.

A SUCCESSFUL CHURCH ENTERTAINMENT IN PROVIDENCE.

The quinquagesimal birthday of the Church of the Blessed Sacrament, Providence, R. I., was celebrated Sunday, Oct. 10th, by a solemn high mass at 11 o'clock, with Rev. Joseph H. McMahon, of New York, celebrant and preacher, assisted by the pastor, the Rev. William I. Simmons, and curates Rev. Edward O'Donnell and Rev. Charles J. Cunningham. At this mass there was used for the first time a very handsome and costly bronze crystal monstrance, designed by Von Lass Berg of New York.

The base of the receptacle, or expository, in which the consecrated host is shown to the worshippers, is of bronze and the stem is of old ivory. On either side the column are figures of St. John and the Virgin Mary, while medallions of the three other evangelists, Matthew, Mark and Luke, appear in the base in bronze and blue enamel. The stem is surmounted by a sunburst of gold and crystal.

The spiritual choir of the church which is composed of 50 men and boys with Prof. Victor Hammerel, choir-master, gave a concert in the evening at 8 o'clock. The musical programme which was specially arranged by Prof. Hammerel follows:

PROGRAMME.
Chorus—"Praise the Lord".....Bandegger
Soprano Solo—"The Garden of Eden".....Hartono Solo
MR. JOSEPH OWENS
Chorus—"The Lost Chord".....Sir A. Sullivan

Men's Chorus (with Tenor Solo).....W. G. W. Gounod
"Grand Chorus—"Tantum Ergo".....F. Hammerel
Chorus—"Laudate Dominum" Gregorian (Pseudo Bordon)
Recessional—"Marche Pontificale" Chorus Gounod
MR. VICTOR HAMMEREL, Organist and Choir-master.

The Rev. Father Simmons is well known in Digby as a guest of the Myrtle House for a number of seasons and for his services in St. Patrick's Church. During Father Simmons' stay in Digby each summer he celebrated mass regularly on Sunday and holy days in the little church on the hill.

Scott Act vs. Nova Scotia Temperance Act.

The Nova Scotia Temperance Alliance is endeavoring to have the Scott Act repealed and have the Nova Scotia Temperance Act in force throughout the province. The Alliance has issued the following circular, showing the advantages of the N. S. Temperance Act:

ALL ALCOHOLIC DRINKS PROHIBITED.
1.—The prohibition of the sale or keeping for sale of all drinkable liquids containing alcohol. Various kinds of beer with a light percentage of alcohol, very injurious to the system, are being legally sold in Scott Act counties. The N. S. T. Act prohibits the sale of such drinks.

JAIL PENALTY AFTER ONE FIRST OFFENCE.
2.—The jail penalty must be imposed after the first offence. The Inspector is liable to a penalty of $200 if he does not regularly proceed from first to second or subsequent offence. This provision does away with the system in many municipalities of confining law breakers to obtain revenue rather than to suppress the traffic.

NO "PRIVILEGE" PROVISION.
3.—Under the amended Scott Act liquor can be legally shipped by Halifax dealers for Personal Use into Scott Act counties. Halifax is thus the Provincial bar-room for Scott Act counties. But liquor cannot be legally shipped by Halifax dealers into Nova Scotia Temperance counties. The penalty for a first offence, $100.00 second, $200.00 third and each subsequent offence.

RAPE-OF-ARRESTING OF COURT RECORDS.
4.—Magistrates must send to the County Prothonotary a certificate of each conviction and such certificate in all proceedings upon an information where a previous conviction is charged, is sufficient evidence of such previous conviction. The provision in the N. S. Temperance Act means the safeguarding of papers absolutely necessary for efficient enforcement.

LESS DIFFICULTY IN MAKING LIQUOR SEIZURES.
5.—Any Inspector or police officer may at any time without warrant enter and search premises where he believes liquor is kept for sale or disposal contrary to the provisions of the Act, and seize any liquor unlawfully kept. Under the Scott Act the officer requires a search warrant and it can be executed only between 9 a. m. and 9 p. m.

DISPOSAL OF ILLEGAL LIQUOR.
6.—Any Inspector or Constable may without warrant seize and remove liquor he finds in transit in any vehicle or at any wharf, warehouse or other place. The Scott Act is ineffective where liquor is in actual transportation in a truck or wagon within a municipality, and in all seizures the Scott Act officer must have a warrant. If it appears to the magistrate that such liquor was consigned to some person in a fictitious name, or was shipped as other goods, or was covered or concealed in such a manner as would probably render discovery more difficult it is Prima Facie evidence of violation.

LIQUOR VEHICLES MAY BE SEARCHED.
7.—Any person who may be suspected of selling liquor from or keeping for illegal sale in his pockets or from or in any vehicle, may himself or himself and his vehicle, be searched, and if any liquor be found he may be arrested.

CLUBS CAN BE DISCLOSED.
8.—Under the amended Scott Act clubs are common. The N. S. T. Act prohibits such places. The keeping or having in any house or building or in any room or place occupied or controlled by any incorporated or unincorporated society, association or club or any member or members thereof or by any person of any liquor is a violation of the Act.

The Editor's Efforts Appreciated (?)
After an editor of a local paper published a piece of poetry to oblige a subscriber, the poetry being of no local interest, he received the following letter:

"Thank you very much for publishing my poetry. Well I have decided to discontinue the paper. There seems nothing much to interest me of late, in the paper, and I will close up for a year at least. Thanking you for favors in the past,
I remain
Yours truly,
P. B.—I am owing you nothing, I paid last year in advance."

Death of Sarah J. Brayley.

The death took place in St. John, on Sunday morning, after an illness of several months, borne with great Christian fortitude, of Sarah J., widow of Wm. Brayley. The deceased, who was a daughter of the late Robert and Sarah Morlat, was born in London, England, but came to this country when quite young. W. H. Brayley, of Brayley's Theatres, is a son of the late Mrs. Brayley.

DIGBY WEEKLY COURIER

Digby, November 21, 1913

Deepening of the Raquette.

Despatches to some of the provincial papers this week stated that dredging at the Raquette here had been discontinued for the season, and the dredge removed to St. John. This is not so. What happened is that the dredge engaged on the work, Provincial No. 1, broke her crane, her owners despatched the tug Lord Boreford to tow her to St. John for repairs, proposing to substitute another dredge later on. The dredging in the Raquette is peculiarly difficult and slow work; two contractors in the past had fallen down on the job; the fall is a bad time to move dredges in the Bay of Fundy, and Mr. J. Meson, M. P., did not favour the removal of dredge Provincial No. 1 until the other two had been replaced and prepared to go on with the work. The contractors were seemingly determined to remove the plant, the M. P. was quite as determined they should not, until her place was taken by another. The Minister of Public Works, who was in Halifax and within reach by telephone, agreed with the contractor for the country, the contractors decided they could remove the broken crane to St. John repair and return it by the tug Boreford. This they did, and the deepening of the Raquette is again going along first class.

Death of Mrs. Osgood Bell.

Mrs. Mary H. wife of Mr. Osgood Bell, died at her home in South Range, last Sunday after more than a year's illness, aged 63 years. She leaves an aged husband but no family. Mrs. Bell was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cook, of North Range, and is survived by one sister, Mrs. Charles Bell, of Digby. The deceased was a member of the Baptist church, and a great worker in the cause of Christianity, and her place will be hard to fill in the community in which she resided. Her circle of friends was a large one. Great sympathy is extended to the lonely husband, who mourns the loss of an affectionate wife. The funeral was held from her late home Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with interment in the Baptist cemetery at South Range, the services being conducted by Rev. A. H. McLeod, pastor of the St. Mary's Bay Baptist church. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Cook and their entire family, with the exception of their son, were at this funeral, not knowing that he at that time had met with the fatal accident which is reported to today's Courier.

The Bijou Dream.

In the feature subject at this theatre Saturday evening, Nov. 22nd (the title of which alone gives one a thrill), "The Lion Tamer's Revenge," the Chinese people have a new release that is bound to create a great furor in the moving picture field. The circus scenes in "A Lion Tamer's Revenge" will form a series of thrilling spectacles, apart from the culminating tragedy, for the Lion tamer is seen dominating fully twenty Barbary lions in the arena, being assisted by a lady as fearless as he. The story of the film is much too long for our limited space and we can only say: See the feature. Five other reels will be shown and the program for the evening will be one of the best ever shown in Digby. We predict a packed house Saturday night with standing room at a premium early in the evening.

Mrs. Ellis' Funeral.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary Ellis, whose death we announced in our last issue, was held from her late home at Bay View Saturday afternoon at 1:30 and was largely attended. After a prayer and hymn at the house services were held at the Bay View Presbyterian church and at the grave by Rev. L. Daniel, pastor of Grace Methodist church, Digby, assisted by Rev. Mr. Lindsey, pastor of the Bay View Presbyterian church. The pall bearers being Capt. Geo. Post, Augustus Turnbull, Alexander Adams and James Hayden, Jr. The floral tributes were beautiful, showing the high esteem in which the deceased was held by her large circle of friends.

Wedding at Freeport.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Moore, when their only son, Mr. Edwin Moore, was united in marriage to Miss Hattie Langthorne, of Yarmouth, Nov. 19th, 1913. The wedding march was rendered by Miss Florence Stevens. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. H. Eaton. After the ceremony refreshments were served. Mr. Albert Perry acted as best man, and Miss Lexie Campbell as bridesmaid. The gifts, many and varied, were of china, silver, pearl, glass and linen. The gift from the groom to the bride was a black picture hat and a large diamond ring. The groom's gown was of coffee crepe material. She wore a black picture hat and carried a white ivory prayer book. The bridesmaid was given in Alice Bell, crepe de chene, with a black picture hat and carried a white ivory prayer book. A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, 220 State street, followed by a reception at which there were many guests from the city and out of town. The bride and groom were the recipients of many beautiful and substantial gifts, the bride receiving a cash gift of $50 in gold. Among the presents were cut-glass and silverware, linen, pictures and other useful and ornamental articles. After a wedding trip they will reside at Weymouth during the winter and in the spring will go to live in Augusta, Me., where the groom is engaged in the lumber business. The bride has been a clerk in McCallum's store the past eight years and was very popular.

Death of Mrs. Emeline Surotte.

The death occurred at Ed Brook on Oct. 31st, of Mrs. Emeline Surotte, widow of Denis Surotte, aged 85 years. She was a native of Salmon River, Digby Co., and was a faithful member of St. Ann's Society. She leaves seven children, three sons and four daughters: Louis, living in Haverhill, Mass.; Melbourn, in Ed Brook, and William, at home; Mrs. E. A. Townsend, Haverhill, Mass.; Sister M. Justine, St. Patrick's Convent, South Lawrence, Mass.; Mrs. Joseph Bouquet and Mrs. Jeremiah Surotte, of Ed Brook. The burial took place on Nov. 2nd at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, which was very largely attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Carby Surprised.

A pleasant event took place at the new residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carby, Queen street, Tuesday evening, when more than fifty of their friends called at their home in the form of a surprise party or "house warming" and presented them with an expensive clock and a silver pudding dish. The presentation was made by Rev. Leander Daniel and an appropriate reply by Mr. Carby. All present spent a very enjoyable evening.

Masonry at Freeport.

Our correspondent informs us on an occasion of more than passing interest occurred last Friday evening at the Masonic Hall in Freeport, when the Very Worshipful Brother S. A. Keen, of Digby, delivered before that body an interesting and instructive address, after which a collation was served. The storm passing, many of the brethren from attending whom otherwise would have been present, but we understand, nevertheless, a very pleasant and enjoyable evening was spent.

Fatally Injured.

ELKANAH COOK, OF NORTH RANGE, CRUSHED BY LOCOMOTIVE TUESDAY AFTERNOON, DIED AT MIDNIGHT.

A fatal accident occurred on the D. A. R. division of the O. P. R. at North Range Tuesday afternoon. While the Nova Scotia Construction Co.'s working train, in charge of Conductor Geo. Balkham and Driver Charles Marshall, was backing, a shovelman, named Elkanah Cook was caught beneath the driving wheels and badly crushed. He was rushed to Digby via special train which arrived here at 4.45, and taken to Joseph Raymond's where Dr. Reid and DuVernet gave him the best of medical aid, everything being done that was possible to save his life but the injured man passed away at midnight and his remains were removed to J. E. Hice's undertaking rooms the following morning. Conductor Daley after making inquiry into the cause of the death, considered an inquest unnecessary.

The deceased, who was aged nineteen years and six months, was the only son of Ex-Councillor Thomas W. Cook, Esq., of North Range. He was a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters, belonged to a good family and bore an excellent reputation, being considered one of the best young men in the community in which he resided.

He is survived by his parents and five sisters, Mrs. Bruce Cook, of North Range, Mrs. William Macdonald, of Massachusetts, the Misses Hattie, Birdie and Jennie at home. Great sympathy is extended to the whole family, but especially to the bereaved parents. His aged father arrived in Digby as soon as he could get here Tuesday night and was with his boy until the end. An uncle of the deceased, Mr. Cornelius Cook, of North Range, accompanied the injured man to Digby on the special train and was also with him when he died. Another uncle, the late L. Bickford Cook, was killed in a similar way at Greenville Ferry, on the Halifax & South Western Railway less than two years ago.

The remains of the late Elkanah Cook were conveyed to North Range via yesterday's express. The funeral will take place from his late home at that village at 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon with interment in the Baptist cemetery. The service will be conducted by Rev. A. H. McLeod.

The officers and members of Court Bay View, C. O. F., will attend the funeral. All members of the above Court and visiting Foresters are especially requested to meet at the North Range Baptist church at 2 o'clock sharp.

Walsh-Melanson Wedding.

(Northampton, Mass., paper.)
Miss Elizabeth B. Walsh, daughter of Mrs. Nellie A. Walsh, of State street, was married this morning to Chester J. Melanson, of Weymouth, Nova Scotia, the ceremony being performed by St. Mary's church in the presence of a large number of friends. Rev. John Kenny officiating. Miss Louise Walsh, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Francis Walsh, brother of the bride, was best man. The bride's gown was of coffee crepe material. She wore a black picture hat and carried a white ivory prayer book. The bridesmaid was given in Alice Bell, crepe de chene, with a black picture hat and carried a white ivory prayer book. A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, 220 State street, followed by a reception at which there were many guests from the city and out of town. The bride and groom were the recipients of many beautiful and substantial gifts, the bride receiving a cash gift of $50 in gold. Among the presents were cut-glass and silverware, linen, pictures and other useful and ornamental articles. After a wedding trip they will reside at Weymouth during the winter and in the spring will go to live in Augusta, Me., where the groom is engaged in the lumber business. The bride has been a clerk in McCallum's store the past eight years and was very popular.

Unveiling a Tablet

The Nova Scotia Historical Society on Thursday last unveiled a tablet in the Round church, Halifax, to the memory of Col. J. F. W. Desbarres, a most distinguished officer in the early life of this Province. The memorial is affixed to the north wall of the church, immediately above his grave in the crypt. The ceremony was simple and impressive. President Archdeacon Armstrong presided and graphically described the great services of the deceased, followed by an address by Mr. James A. Macdonald. The inscription is as follows:
Col. Joseph Frederick Wallis Desbarres
Cartographer, Engineer, Administrator
Who served in this Province as Captain of
The Royal American Regiment of Foot
From distinction at Louisbourg 1758
Aldershot Camp to General Wolfe 1759
Surveyor General of the North Atlantic Coast
Preceptor of Capt. Cook the circumnavigator
At the Battle of the Atlantic 1812
Founder of Digby, C. B. I. Bay, Cape
Breton and Prince Edward Island
Buried beneath this Church, Nov. 1, 1821
At the reputed age of 63 years.

Mr. A. E. Wall and daughters, Robena and Catherine, were passengers to Windsor Monday, where the latter, although but eight years old, delighted the audience with her piano solos at a musical and literary entertainment held in that town Tuesday evening.

Yarmouth Times: John Hanson, for several years a chief steward on the D. A. R. steamers, left for St. John on Monday and will, it is said, fill a similar position on the C. P. R. St. George, which is going from St. John to a port in the United States for an extensive overhauling and important additions to her machinery.

Kentville Advertiser: Mr. Garnet Benson, of Bear River, has accepted a position in the grocery department of Lamont and Steadman's Red Store. Mr. Benson is a most competent salesman, having had eight years' experience in this line in Bear River, and four years in St. John, and will be a decided acquisition to the Red Store.

—According to latest reports from Europe, the fashion for Dark Red Fox has apparently collapsed. Values are likely to be lower again in January for all furs.

—Marjorie Marshall picked a buttercup Wednesday, which is a good illustration of our mild weather.

Schr. Annie arrived at Boston from Salmon River Saturday.
The schooner Eddie Theriault is due at Yarmouth with salt.

Schr. O. W. Mills arrived at Mobile from Puerto Padre Nov. 16th.
Schr. Vera B. Roberts arrived in Boston from Clementonport Monday.
Capt. Joseph E. Snow's shipments this week were: 285 boxes of finnan haddies.
Schr. Lloyd from Granville Ferry for St. John with fish and fish oil, sailed Sunday.
Schr. Hains Bros., Capt. Hicks, arrived at Yarmouth from Wilson's Beach Monday.
Schr. Morning Star, Capt. Harry Russ, cleared from Yarmouth for the fishing grounds Saturday.

The Norwegian bark Valdivia, 825 tons, is chartered to load lumber at Weymouth for South America.

Schr. Dora, Capt. Canning, is loading a cargo of soft coal at Parrsboro for W. E. VanBlarcom, Digby.

Steamer Centerville came in from Trout Cove Tuesday with a shipment of finnan haddies for Montreal and Hamilton.

Schr. Myrtle, Capt. Longmire, arrived yesterday with 25,000 lbs. mixed fish, purchased by Capt. Joseph E. Snow.

Schr. Catherine, Capt. Wilkie, has been chartered by W. E. VanBlarcom to load hard coal at New York for Digby.

Benjamin Belliveau & Co., are laying a keel at Belliveau's Cove, for a new vessel of 200 tons to be launched during the summer.

Schr. Arthur J. Parker, Capt. Smith, sailed from Digby Wednesday with lumber for Boston, shipped by H. H. Marshall, M. P. P.

Schr. Dora, Capt. Canning, which arrived here Friday night for a harbor, bound to St. John with brick from Annapolis, sailed Sunday.

Yarmouth Daily Post: Schooner Albert J. Lutz arrived Tuesday night with a fare of 40,000 lbs. of mixed fish. The fare was sold in Yarmouth.

The American two-masted schooner Franconia, from Annapolis for Salem, I. C., with lumber, came into port Saturday for a harbor and sailed Sunday.

Schr. Loran B. Snow, Capt. Arthur Casey, arrived here Wednesday night with another good fare of 16 h haddock, having been out less than a week.

Arrivals at D. & O. Sproule's this week: From Yarmouth, 44,760 lbs. of mixed fish; from Boston, 8,513 lbs. of mixed fish; shipped 141 boxes of finnan haddies.

The overturned unknown vessel wrecked in the storm on Lake Huron has been identified by divers to be the Charles S. Price, and two bodies of her crew have been recovered.

Schrs. Hazelwood, Capt. Small, and Eddie Nickerson, Capt. Morchouse, sailed from Digby Tuesday. The former for Yarmouth and the latter for Trout Cove to load fish for Annapolis.

The American schr. Elmo M. Morrissey, Capt. William Hyder, which has been chartered to carry a cargo of pickled fish from Digby to Gloucester, is at the Raquette, about ready for sea.

The auxiliary schooner Cassio Belle, Capt. Cheney, left Monday for St. Mary's Bay on another buying trip, after landing 16,000 pounds of fresh haddock for the Maritime Fish Corporation.

Arrivals at the Maritime Fish Corporation this week: Schr. Cora Gortie, 47,924 lbs. of haddock, 9,111 lbs. of hake; other sources, 971 lbs. of cod, 25,179 lbs. of haddock and 19,708 lbs. of hake.

Good catches of mackerel continue in St. Mary's Bay when weather permits. Boatmen off Weymouth averaged 3,000 to a boat on Wednesday and off Belliveau's Cove, boats caught from 900 to 1,000.

Yarmouth Herald says: The demands for larger steamers are increasing every day, as the present one cannot carry all the freight offered. Larger boats cannot be placed on this route unless dredging is carried on.

Fourteen sailors from the wrecked United States schooner Diana which was recently wrecked on the Nova Scotia coast, arrived in Yarmouth on Saturday and were forwarded to Boston by Vice-Consul Waller.

The new schooner Alvina Theriault, 199 tons, recently launched at Belliveau's Cove, left last port Nov. 5th in ballast for Sydney, to load coal for Newfoundland, where she will take in a cargo of dry fish for Brazil.

St. Mary's Bay fishermen report the best catches known for years. This is due, it is thought, to the prohibiting of saw dust from being floated down the tributaries into the Bay, a work which is being carefully attended to by Fishery officer Torrie.

With lumber from his Digby County mills, Mr. D. R. Saunders, of Yarmouth, is to load for the River Platte, two Norwegian barks, the Stat, 131 tons, and the Paposo, 900 tons. Both vessels are now on their way to Yarmouth, where they will take in their cargo.

The British schooner Florence E. Melanson, which arrived at Portland Sunday from Boston, was benched on the flats at South Portland to locate and stop a leak which had just started before she reached Portland. Repairs were effected and she proceeded for St. John, N. B.

Strmr. Centerville, Capt. Graham, which arrived here Monday night with a quantity of pickled fish from the wrecked schr. Roosevelt for shipment to Gloucester via the American schr. Elmo M. Morrissey, also visited Bear River and sailed Wednesday night for Centerville with Mr. W. A. Chute and his wrecking gear for raising the schr. Theodore Roosevelt, ashore at Trout Cove.

The two government steamers in port last week were the Aberdeen and Curlew. They both sailed again on Friday. The Aberdeen came over from Grand Manan and had Commander Thompson aboard. While here he made an official inspection of Digby's new life saving station at Bay View. The Curlew came over from St. John and proceeded to the Yarmouth coast on fishery protection service.

Yarmouth Times: The steamer Hugh D. left here on Friday morning for Clark's Harbor where she took on a cargo of 750 quintals of dry and pickled fish for Vinal Haven. She arrived at the latter port Saturday night and arrived back here today at noon. This is the first cargo of dry fish which has ever gone to the United States in one of our local tow-boats. To-morrow the Hugh D. will go to Meteghan for a cargo of ice—a commodity which is very scarce in Yarmouth at present.

The Collas, Jones, Whitman Company, of Halifax, with branches at Annapolis and other places where they have a patent process for the further curing of dry fish for the Brazilian market, are buying up large quantities of fish along the Digby County coast. All the shipments go from the branch depots direct to Halifax, packed in "drums," and then aboard vessels for Brazil. Several thousand quintals have already been landed at Annapolis this fall by small vessels from Yarmouth, Freeport, Westport and other places in Digby County.

The following vessels have reported at the Digby customs house since Nov. 14th: Inward—Nov. 15th, S. S. Lord Boreford, Robinson, St. John; 17th, schr. Cassio Belle, Cheney, Little River; 18th, S. S. Lord Boreford, Robinson, St. John; 19th, S. S. Centerville, Graham, Bear River. Outward—15th, S. S. Lord Boreford, Robinson, St. John; 17th, schr. Cassio Belle, Cheney, Little River; 18th, S. S. Lord Boreford, Robinson, St. John; 19th, schr. Arthur J. Parker, Smith, Boston, 160,000 M. ft. lumber; S. S. Centerville, Graham, Sandy Cove.

Tug Lord Boreford arrived here Friday night from St. John to tow that port Dredge Provincial No. 1. The order afterwards was changed and the dredge will remain here to finish her work in the Raquette. The Boreford returned to St. John Sunday with a portion of the Provincial's machinery for repairs. The Boreford arrived from St. John at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning with the machinery for the dredge and while hauling the same, the pilot house of the St. John tug Eudred was somewhat damaged. The Boreford sailed again at 10 o'clock the same morning for St. John.

Tuesday's Gloucester Times says: The biggest haddock catch brought in by a schooner yesterday came aboard the only Nova Scotia owned and manned boat running from the local grounds into T. H. Hays, formerly owned by a Gloucester firm, but sold to Nova Scotia parties following a wreck on the Cape Shore. She made her first trip to T. H. Hays immediately after the passage of the new tariff bill. It is expected that numerous other boats owned and manned by Nova Scotians will soon be running into the dock.

Tuesday's Yarmouth Herald reports the arrivals at the Consumers' fish wharf for Wednesday and Saturday as follows: Schr. Dorothy Snow, Capt. Ansel Snow, 12,000 lbs. haddock, 2,300 lbs. cod, 500 lbs. cusk and 700 lbs. hake. Schr. J. W. Parker, Capt. Taff, 8,000 lbs. haddock shipped to Boston. Schr. Albert J. Lutz, Capt. Arthur Longmire, 16,000 lbs. haddock. Schr. Morris P. Perry, Capt. Simms, 13,000 lbs. mixed fish. Schr. Gladys Thorburn, Capt. C. H. Hines, 1,000 lbs. haddock, 600 lbs. cod, 300 lbs. cusk. Schr. Dorothy G. Snow, Capt. Ansel Snow, arrived yesterday with 45,000 lbs. mixed fish. Schr. Lydia May, Capt. Penny, arrived to day with 10,000 lbs. fresh fish.

The carload of canned finnan haddies, reported in the St. John press as being taken out of the cold storage plant in that city and dumped, was put up by a Digby County packer but not by any of the Digby town firms. The lot consisted of seven hundred cases or 33,600 cans and the total loss to the packer amounts to three thousand dollars. It is alleged that the packer was the victim of unscrupulous work by one or more of his employees and if the details were published would make interesting matter for the press. The integrity of the packer cannot be questioned and his decision to dump the whole shipment rather than put any part of the goods on the market, is in keeping with his standing as a citizen and business man.

Yarmouth Times: The Digby fishing schooner Dorothy G. Snow is in port with a fare consisting of 20,000 pounds of haddock, 20,000 pounds of cusk and 6,000 pounds of cod. The fare was sold to J. W. Sproule, a wide awake Digby business man who has seen the possibilities in the fresh fish business in Yarmouth and has got in on the ground floor by leasing a part of H. & N. B. Lewis wharf, at South End. During the past week the schooner Lyvinia E., Capt. Doucette, and the schooner Nora, Capt. Doucette, arrived at Salmon River, Digby county, the former with 46,600 pounds mixed fish, and the latter with 18,000.

The schooner Columbia, Capt. Murphy, also arrived at Publicus with 37,000 pounds. The schooner Alice M. Guthrie, Capt. Guthrie, at Yarmouth, last Saturday, had 2,000 pounds.

BAIT REPORTS.

The "Never Fail" Oil and Gasoline Can

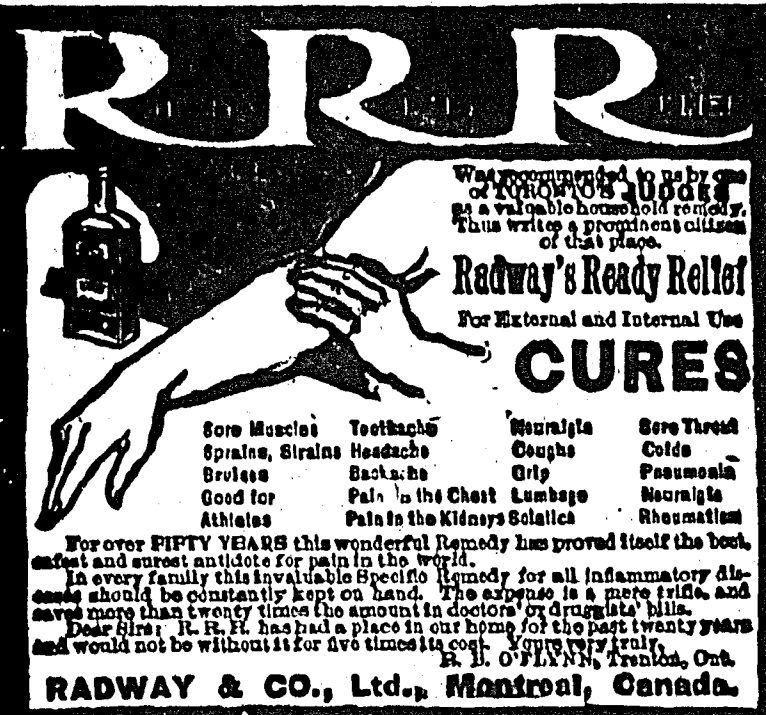

Will draw over a gallon a minute.
Will take all the oil out of the can.
Will run the oil from lamp back into can.

You have no oil valves or pump to get out of order, no faucet to leak and drip. You do not have that disagreeable odor of oil and gasoline in your rooms. You need not be afraid of an explosion. You do not have oil all over your hands, lamp and floor. Your oil and gasoline bills will be one third less when using one of these cans, as they are airtight, allowing no evaporation.

Take one home and use it for 90 days. It is not the best you ever saw or used, bring it back and get your money. That's the way we sell it.

LAKES BLIZZARD COSTS 167 LIVES

Greatest Disaster Ever in History of Great Lakes

TEN FREIGHTERS LOST WITH ALL HANDS—TWENTY ONE OTHERS WRECKED BUT CREWS SAVED—LARGEST DEATH TOLL ON LAKE HURON—SHORES STREWN WITH DEAD.

Toronto, Nov. 15.—That a total of at least ten vessels and 167 lives were lost in the great blizzard that enveloped the great lakes from Sunday until Tuesday is indicated in the compilation today of reports received from various points on the lakes.

In addition, twenty one other vessels were partially or wholly destroyed, their crews escaping.

The list of lost vessels and their dead is as follows:
John A. McGean, of Cleveland, crew of 28, lost somewhere off Sarnia (Ont.), in Lake Huron.

Charles S. Price, of Cleveland, crew of 28, sunk off Goderich (Ont.), in Lake Huron.

James S. Carruthers, of Toronto, crew of 26, wreckage washed ashore at Grand Bend (Ont.), on Lake Huron. Regina, of Toronto, crew of 20, capsized in Lake Huron.

Wexford, of Toronto, crew of 20, believed to have possibly collided with Regina and sunk in Lake Huron.

Leifield, Sault Ste. Marie, (Ont.), crew of 15, wrecked on Angus Island, Lake Superior.

Plymouth, Menominee (Mich.), crew of seven, sunk off St. Martins Island, Lake Michigan.

Lightship No. 28, crew of six, sunk off Buffalo, in Lake Erie.

M. F. Butlers, Milwaukee, crew of 15, believed foundered in Lake Superior.

William Nottingham, Cleveland, three of crew of 25 missing, wrecked near Sand Island, Lake Superior.

The list shows that Lake Huron exacted the heaviest toll of all the lakes.

Vessel owners' financial losses probably approximate $3,000,000.

Only three large vessels are still unaccounted for—the Hydrex and Argus or the Rick & Mathers Company, Cleveland, and the Isaac M. Scott of M. A. Hanna & Company, Cleveland.

MORE DISASTERS FEARED.

Each hour today added to the toll of disasters which occurred on Lake Huron during last Sunday's storm, and tonight the end was not in sight. Bodies of sailors of five and perhaps six vessels were found on the shore of the lake; wreckage from two other boats, still missing, was cast up by the sea, and no trace had been secured of two vessels or their crews totalling more than forty men.

Never in the history of Michigan's maritime existence has Lake Huron been the scene of such a succession of catastrophes.

Conservative estimates of the loss of life fix the total at 160 at least. The damage to vessels and cargo will be several millions of dollars.

Lying in various morgues along the Canadian shore are bodies of sailors of the steamers James Carruthers, Regina, John A. McGean, Wexford, and Charles S. Price. It is practically certain these vessels went down with all on board. There are a number of bodies unidentified. Perhaps these were of sailors on the unidentified freighter which lies bottomside up in Lake Huron, thirteen miles north of here. Many still think she is the Regina, others still cling to the theory that she collided with the Regina and the latter sank.

TWO MORE FREIGHTERS MISSING.

Wreckage of the steamers Argus and Hydrex has been cast ashore. Neither of these boats has been heard from since the storm swept the lakes. The freighters Isaac M. Scott and Midland Queen are also missing. Marine men said today that there was a possibility of one or both of these boats being safe. None of their wreckage has been found; no bodies of their sailors have been washed ashore.

This afternoon word was received from Capt. Eli, of the tug Sarnia City, that he had sighted the wreck of an unidentified steamer while his tug was passing Port Austin. She is believed to be a total loss. She may be one of the boats already reported missing.

Fog and heavy sea today prevented marine men from making a fourth attempt to learn the name of the overturned freighter which, tossing helplessly in a rough sea, has become a serious menace to navigation. A tug with a diver aboard will go out to her tomorrow morning if the weather permits.

Greatest among today's tragedies was the confirmation of the loss of the steamer John A. McGean, a 432 foot freighter. Twenty eight bodies of her crew have been washed ashore. All are in morgues. Several have not been positively identified.

LOST WITH 30 MEN

Marquette, Mich., Nov. 15.—Thirty lives are reported to have been lost in the wreck of the steamer Henry B. Smith, of Cleveland, in Lake Superior, near this city. One body has been washed ashore, and the ship's name was obtained from wreckage picked up on the beach. The Smith is owned by the Hawgood Avery Transit Line.

Mail Order Houses Buy Newspapers

[From the Dry Goods Review.]

The big department stores continue to extend their interests in or control of the daily newspapers in Toronto, Montreal, and Winnipeg. A large interest in, if not the control of, another Toronto daily has just been acquired. This makes three dailies in Toronto in which these mail order houses are financially interested. In Montreal it came out in legal proceedings recently that one of the oldest daily papers there passed some months ago into the hands of the chief owner of a rising mail order house which aims to monopolize the trade in Eastern Canada. There are now nine dailies in Toronto, Montreal and Winnipeg, which are known to be owned, or controlled by, the big store and financial interests, and while posing as the mediums of public opinion are the organs of these interests. The trade of these houses has grown enormously in these cities where these dailies circulate, but in the other cities and smaller places where there are good local newspapers, they have not made the same gains, because the local newspapers are well edited and loyal to their merchants and refuse to carry the advertising of the big city store. The only way in which the big dailies can make headway is by cutting their prices. They get $3 to $5 a year in Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg, but sell in other cities at 50c to $1 a year. This does not pay for the white paper on which these newspapers are printed, but the heavy deficits are made up by subsidies through big advertising contracts and in other ways, and by the low postal rates. The merchants and newspapers outside of these three big centres should get together and insist that no newspaper should have the privilege of the mails which has a lower subscription price outside than in the centre in which it is published or which sells at less than the cost of the paper used.

During the past few weeks several serious fires, quite apart from those on board the Volturino and Templemore, have taken place and some heavy claims resulted. In these fires on cargo boats, the centres of danger very largely have been the coal bunkers, inflammable cargo and electrical installations. Cotton is particularly liable to take fire, and last year there were thirty-one outbreaks on vessels laden with American cotton, over 24,000 bales being damaged by fire and water.

A correspondent writes: October 31st, the young people of Freeport held a "Masquerade Ball" in the temperance hall which was largely attended. There were many costly costumes, a number of these representing the many different nations of the world, such as Canada, China, Japan, Scotland, etc. At the head was a bride and groom leading the many different dances and games of the evening. A very pleasant evening was spent in all 1046 p. m., after which they were called to order and prizes were given for the best ladies' and gentlemen's costumes. Also two booby prizes were awarded. Refreshments were served, the groom acting as steward and the two Pink Ladies acting as waitresses. This being over, a good program was enjoyed, consisting of songs and music. The "Bucket Ball" girl acting as pianist. The two Pink Ladies sang a song entitled "Down in The Old Meadow Lane". A male quartet sang and recited pieces to represent their many different costumes. The hall was nicely decorated and the lamps shaded. All present spent a good time. It was the best "Masquerade Ball" ever given in Freeport.

Train Wreck

FEAR CRAZED PASSENGERS STRIPPED IN FRONT OF FLYING FREIGHT.

WOOSTER, Ohio, Nov. 13.—Three persons were killed and a dozen injured, one probably fatally, when the east-bound Pennsylvania train, No. 17, was wrecked near here tonight. The passenger train was derailed, falling on another track in the path of a freight train, and the second accident caused the fatalities.

The engine and tender and baggage cars leaped the track under the viaduct, where the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad crosses the Pennsylvania, four miles east of here. The panic-stricken passengers rushed out of the train into the path of a west-bound freight train, and two of them were killed. Engineer C. M. Crease, of Allegheny, Pa., was so severely scalped that it is feared he may die. Fireman Gascoigne, of Allegheny, and Express Messenger, Demarest, of Mansfield, Ohio, also were seriously injured, but both will recover.

The greater part of the passengers who had crowded out on the track in the freight train's path, leaped into the creek at the foot of the embankment and escaped. B. L. Hawk, of Canton, a travelling salesman, stood at the exit of one coach and fought back the passengers who tried to get out, probably saving the lives of many of them.

Boy Was too Prompt.

The doctor was called in to treat the spoiled child of the family. The mother left the room for a moment and returned to find both patient and doctor angry. When she had escorted the physician to the door she explained to the boy that the doctor had said that he had been very rude.

"Oh, mamma," cried the child pettishly, "he's just an old fogey. He got mad because I put out my tongue without being told."

Security of Life at Sea.

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE DISCUSSES THE QUESTION OF FIRE ON SHIPBOARD.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The International Conference for the greater security of life and property at sea, opened here this week, and the Merchant Shipping Advisory Committee of the Board of Trade has been conducting an investigation into the question of better protection against fire on shipboard. This committee began its work with admission that the present safeguards are inadequate and that the members feel that it will be difficult to suggest a remedy.

A short time ago the Liverpool Underwriters' Association reported that in spite of all efforts to ascertain the reasons for the outbreak of fires on shipboard very little progress had been made.

During the past few weeks several serious fires, quite apart from those on board the Volturino and Templemore, have taken place and some heavy claims resulted. In these fires on cargo boats, the centres of danger very largely have been the coal bunkers, inflammable cargo and electrical installations. New Postal Rules.

INFORMATION REGARDING USE OF STAMPS SOLD FOR CHARITABLE PURPOSES.

OTTAWA, Nov. 10.—The Post office department in the quarterly supplement states that the department cannot permit the affixing on the face of address side of letters or other mail matter of stamps issued in the interest of charitable institutions, but there is no objection to such stamps being placed on the back of letters or other mail matter as stickers, provided they do not resemble postage in form and design and do not bear numerals or indications of value.

Letters or other mail matter stamps other than postage stamps on the face will be returned to the sender as violating the postal regulations.

It is also announced that the Mexican post office has informed the postal union that the arms of any kind and parts of arms and ammunition are prohibited when addressed to dealers or individuals either native or foreign. The importation of such articles is permitted only when authorized by the minister of war and if they are intended for the auxiliary troops or police.

The warning to postmasters against the transmission of foreign lottery correspondence is repeated. A similar warning applies to circulars advertising racing sweepstakes.

The department calls attention to section 50 of the officials' guide providing that pages containing advertisements must be of the same size as the other pages of a publication, and states that in future postage at the rate of two cents per pound is to be collected on newspapers and periodicals in which double page advertisements are inserted.

FALLING HAIR

Many People Have a Simple Way of Stopping It—They Use Parisian Sage.

It was Dr. Sangerbon, of Paris, who first discovered that dandruff and falling hair were caused by a microbe. And now that Parisian Sage, the remedy that kills the dandruff germ, is sold in every town in Canada, the people of this country have awakened to the fact that dandruff is unnecessary; that falling hair and itching scalp can be quickly stopped, and that the people who use Parisian Sage will never grow bald.

To every reader of the COURIER who wishes to eradicate offensive dandruff, stop falling hair and have an immaculate clean scalp, free from itchingness, Dr. E. Jones says he will sell Parisian Sage in a large fifty cent bottle with a guarantee to refund the money if not satisfied. It is an ideal, dandruff-destroying hair dressing, free from grease and stickiness that will put life and beauty into dull faded hair and cause it to grow lustrous and luxuriant.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try It! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a 25 cent bottle of Dandruff.

If you care for heavy hair that glitters with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Dandruff. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have too heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scrub rubs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and it not only overcomes it but produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots furnish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Dandruff from any drug store and just try it.

RHEUMATISM KEPT HIM IN BED

Suffered Tortures Until "Fruit-a-lives" Cured Him

McMILLAN'S CORNER, ONT.
 "My remedy, 'Fruit-a-lives' is a perfect panacea for Rheumatism. For years, I suffered distressing pain from Sciatica or Sciatic Rheumatism, being laid up several times a year for days at a time. I went to different doctors who told me there was no use doing anything—it would pass away. They gave me mustard plasters and other remedies that did no good. Plasters took no effect on me—except to blister me and make raw spots. I took many advertised remedies without benefit, but fortunately, about two years ago, I got 'Fruit-a-lives' and they cured me.

Since then, I take 'Fruit-a-lives' occasionally and keep free of pain. I am satisfied 'Fruit-a-lives' cured me of Rheumatism and they will cure anyone who takes them as directed. If this letter would be of value to you, publish it." JOHN B. McDONALD.

Indeed, this letter is of value to us and to the thousands of sufferers from Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago and Neuralgia. It points the way to a certain cure. See a box, 6 for $2.50 retail size, etc. At dealers or from Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

WHY not give your lad the same training?

"When I was a growing lad, and came upon many words in my reading that I did not understand, my mother, instead of giving me the definition when I applied to her, uniformly sent me to the dictionary to learn it, and in this way I gradually learned many things besides the meaning of the individual word in question—among other things, how to use a dictionary, and the great pleasure and advantage there might be in the use of the dictionary. Afterwards, when I went to the village school, my chief diversion, after lessons were learned and before they were recited, was in turning over the pages of the 'Unabridged' of those days. Now the most modern Unabridged—THE NEW INTERNATIONAL—gives me a pleasure of the same sort. So far as my knowledge extends, it is at present the best of the one-volume dictionaries, and quite sufficient for all ordinary uses. Even those who possess the splendid dictionaries in several volumes will yet find it a great convenience to have this, which is so compact, so full, and so trustworthy as to leave no room for doubt. Little to be desired."—Albert S. Cook, Ph.D., LL.D., Professor of the English Language and Literature, Yale Univ. April 23, 1911.

THE RED WIND.

The July day drew to its sultry end. The sagbrush stretched to the horizon, a crisp gray-brown expanse of dry herbage from which the sun had drained every drop of moisture.

Hester Moore, standing in the doorway of the ranch house, scanned the prairie from under the arch of her bent head. The sun was setting, a great ball of fire dropping below the sky line.

"Hester," came her father's voice from the house. "It's getting cooler, isn't it, dear?"

"Just a little, father," she said gently. She went into a room where he was stretched on a wicker couch before an open window, his broken leg propped stiffly on a pillow. She took down the sheet that hung before the window and dipped it once more in a pail of water, wrung it lightly and returned it to the window.

The injured man stirred beneath the grateful coolness. "That feels good, Hester," he murmured. "If I hadn't had the ill luck to step into the gopher hole we might have had a little run up into the hills for a spell, at least until this blistering weather is over."

"Never mind, father. If you hadn't broken your leg you know you would not have taken a vacation. Perhaps you will get rested now," smiled Hester, fanning him gently.

"Perhaps. Where is Henderson?"

"He went to look up the herd. I may as well tell you now, dad—and Hester's eyes clouded with anxiety—"that the herd has been missing since Monday, and Mr. Henderson is afraid that Dixon and his gang have rustled them."

Mr. Moore struggled to sit up, groaned and sank again upon his pillow. "Confound it all, Hester, why did it happen at this time, when I am on my back and can't stir a step?"

"Because you are helpless, I suppose. If you had been as active as usual I hardly think that Dixon would have dared to steal them."

"What is that, Hester? Mr. Moore sniffed the air suspiciously and tried to look through the screened door, but it was out of his range of vision."

Hester went to the door, looked out and came hurriedly back. "Fires at Alkali," she said briefly. "They seem to be coming this way, but the wind is south and—"

There came a rap at the kitchen door. Hester answered it, leaving her remark unfinished.

Two Indian women sat on the door step, their blankets sagging from their bent shoulders. Their black eyes were mutely appealing.

"Well, Annie, how?" said Hester pleasantly.

"Bread, meat, drink!" uttered Annie gutturally.

"Of course," Hester went to the pantry and prepared several large sandwiches for the two women. She poured two great glasses of lemonade and carried the whole to the doorstep. The women fell upon it ravenously. When it had disappeared Annie lifted her eyes to those of the pretty white girl.

"Fortune!" she muttered.

"Again?" laughed Hester. "Why, Annie, you tell my fortune every time you come! The last time you promised me a husband and a bag of gold, and I haven't seen a sign of them yet."

"On the way," muttered Annie, snatching at Hester's brown little hand and scanning the palm closely. "He rides before the red wind. He brings peace and plenty. The lost cattle come home, and the maiden marries her lover."

"How lovely!" mocked Hester.

"And my father? What of him?"

"He runs away on another man's legs," she said gloomily, and, beckoning her stolid companion to follow, she grunted farewell and went, wearily up the trail toward the reservation.

The two Indians paused on a knoll and looked away into the west, where a dark cloud marked the horizon. Annie stretched out a lean arm and pointed, and Frightened Pawn threw up her hands and went waiting out of sight.

"They look like two old priestesses performing some horrid rite," shuddered Hester as she looked the door and went back to her father.

"There is danger, Hester!" he asked anxiously.

"The same sort that we always encounter at this season," the girl said calmly. "Remember, every season since we have lived here we have feared the grass fire, and so far it has never come!"

"It has never come so close before. Alkali is only twenty miles away, and the smoke is driving this way."

"I know it, but it may shift." Hester's voice betrayed a strained note that her father was quick to catch.

"What can we do, dad? Have you made any preparations in case it does come?" he asked, quickly.

"Oh yes, dad! There isn't much we can do, you know! I've had the hay wagon bedded with blankets and supplied with food and water for a week past. Every portable treasure is ready to be dropped in at the last moment. I have nipped old Benny along so that he will be able to pull the wagon when the time comes, if it does."

"Where are the other horses, your own little herd?" he demanded sharply.

"Gone—stolen," she murmured hopelessly, and he swore harshly.

Hester went into the kitchen to prepare the evening meal. Now and then she paused before the open door to look searchingly into the dusk that was creeping fast over the land. The smoke was growing thicker, and she noticed with a start of terror that the sky was obscured.

Something brushed Hester's face. She caught it in her hand and found it was a charred clinder.

She darted into the house and lighted a lamp.

"The fire has come, father," she said calmly. "I will get the wagon ready and back it to the door. I think I can transfer you from the couch to the wagon."

"Very well, dear, wheel me to the door and give me two cans. Have you got your mother's picture?"

"Safe, father, and all your papers and plans and books and clothes. Perhaps the house will be spared after all. These adobe walls ought not to burn."

"Ah!" he cried sharply and pointed away to the southwest, where a long, lurid line was creeping across the width of the prairie. Henderson's place was to the east of it. Perhaps his men would start a back fire and head it off.

"Back fire, Hester," he ordered, and the girl flew to a place beyond the corral where earlier in the day Dick Henderson had plowed a wide furrow of fresh earth around the homestead.

She touched a match to the tinder dry grass on the far side of the furrow. It blazed up and ran in licking leaps up and down the edge of the fresh earth; then it reached out red tongues of flame, and a broad blanket of fire went out to meet that other red fire from the southwest.

Back she went to the house and tried to lift her father to the wagon. Once, twice, she exerted all her strength, but he was a heavy man, and now his weight was inert. "Leave me here and go, dear," he begged.

"Never!" she said scornfully, pausing for breath.

In that instant a bunch of cattle ran snorting past the house and startled the restless Benny to action. Without warning he dashed away to safety, dragging the loaded wagon in his wake, leaving Hester and her father to the fate of the red wind behind.

Hester's face went down into her palms. "Oh, father!" she cried pitifully, but his gaze was bent upon her tenderly.

"It will come out all right, daughter," he said gravely. "Hang wet sheets to the windows and doors. Close the doors and we will take our chances here."

Nearer the two lines of fire crept. When they met there was a leaping wall of flame thirty feet high, and the dried happened. A flying cinder drifted across the furrow and ignited the dry grass of the corral. There was a lurid flare of light, and the chickens in the houses quaked noisily.

In a few moments the wooden doors and window frames would be ablaze and the contents of the house would follow. Hester was thankful that the artesian well had been piped to the kitchen. She flew to it and pumped pail after pail of water and had them in readiness. She filled wash boilers and tubs and gave her father a long handled dipper so that he might help.

Then it was that there came a thunder of horses' hoofs outside and men's voices shouting. Hester flung open the door, and Dick Henderson staggered in. "You are here!" he cried breathlessly. "I hoped you had gone!"

Hester explained.

"Get on Dipsey, Hester, and ride for your life. I will bring your father, and the boys will fight the fire."

Without a word Hester obeyed the young man. Dick Henderson had always been a good neighbor, and he had not failed them in their greatest need. Then Dick lifted Mr. Moore in his strong arms and carried him out to where a man offered a horse and helped the two on its back. Then away they went before the red wind that Indian Annie predicted.

Miles away in a little canyon Hester found refuge beside the sagacious Benny, who had arrived there safely with his load. Later, when Dick Henderson came with his unconscious burden, the two worked together to make the injured man comfortable.

"You have done so much for me," said Hester gratefully when he told her that the fire had broken up Dixon's gang and that the stolen cattle had been driven to a safe place, while the rustlers had escaped over the border.

"Because I love you, Hester," he blurted out suddenly, and then, over-

His Explanation.

Young Harold was late in attendance for Sunday school, and the minister inquired the cause.

"I was going fishing, but father wouldn't let me," announced the lad.

"That's the right kind of a father to have," replied the reverend gentleman. "Did he explain the reason why he wouldn't let you go?"

"Yes, sir. He said there wasn't bait enough for two."

"Nights of Gladness"

Every now and then a popular song or instrumental piece rushes over the country like an inundation, sweeping all before it. It is not always easy to determine just what it is that strikes the popular fancy, but in "Nights of Gladness," recently issued by J. W. Stern & Co., New York, which has set two counties singing and dancing, there can be no doubt that its success is due to the real merit of the composition.

There is an irresistible swing to this new Boston Waltz. From the first bar to the last there is a dash and go and bang that compels attention, eyes sparkle and bodies sway to the tune of its lively melodies.

Throughout the country, at the cabarets and restaurants, at the vaudeville and in fact wherever music is heard this piece will be found on the program.

Its engaging dancing qualities have commanded immediate recognition and it has been selected as the standard Valse Boston at all the fashionable dances of Newport, Narragansett Pier, Deal Beach and other famous resorts.

come by his shyness, he hurried away to the mouth of the canyon to view the progress of the fire.

After awhile, when he could report that the worst was over and that they might return to the ranch, he went back to Hester, who had made a little fire of sticks in the dry bed of the creek and was cooking supper.

"What are you smiling at?" he asked sheepishly.

"At Indian Annie's prophecy," said Hester demurely. "She came tonight and said that my lover would ride before the red wind and that he would bring peace and plenty: the lost cattle would come home and father would run away on another man's legs."

Dick Henderson shifted uneasily. "Did she say or—that you—or—I—what did she say, Hester?"

"She said the maiden married her lover," whispered Hester.

"Will she?" whispered Dick.

"Of course just to make the prophecy come true," was Hester's answer.

The Maple Sugar Industry

It may surprise many to learn that the maple sugar and syrup crop in Canada is worth about two million dollars per year. In the Province of Quebec the industry has maintained a strong foothold, more especially in those counties that contain more or less rough and rocky land. In Ontario it also bulks large, and in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia considerable quantities of sugar and syrup are made each spring.

During recent years the industry has shown signs of decline, and in order to encourage its improvement the Hon. Martin Burrell, Minister of Agriculture, has authorized the preparation of a bulletin which should give it considerable support.

One cause of the decline is given as the poor quality of much of the goods made. On the authority of extensive dealers it is estimated that fully sixty per cent of maple products do not grade above No. 4, and that this vast amount has to be sold for not more than half the price per pound of No. 1 goods, of which about 10 per cent is made. On this account it is pointed out in the bulletin that makers are losing each year on quality alone, fully one million dollars.

The bulletin goes fully into the subject of syrup and sugar making, describing clearly the necessary equipment and its operation, and gives useful information on marketing. An interesting section describes the making of maple vinegar and the collection and preparation of sugar sand which constitute two valuable by-products of sugar making.

The work, which is from the pen of Mr. J. B. Spencer, B. S. A., Editor of the Publications Branch, is gotten up in very attractive form, containing many beautiful illustrations portraying sugar making scenes, ancient and modern. To show the appearance of sugar and syrup of different grades, plates of samples of each are presented in natural colors. This work, which is designated "The Sugar making Industry in Canada," will be sent free to those who apply for it (mentioning the COURIER) to the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa.

When he had repeated his reassurer answer twice the taps ceased. It was as if the sender was listening.

"Coming—coming! Where—are—you! What—is—the—matter?" he asked three times before he got the response.

"Next door. Help—Ned Follansbee—help!" It stopped abruptly, and there was silence after that, and he could not get any response to his repeated calls.

"What an idiot I am," he muttered at last, tossing aside the hairbrush.

"Any other man would have jumped at once to relieve the danger." He dived into a few clothes, stepped to the window and looked out.

Next to his window was the window of the room in the adjoining house. It was perhaps four feet distant. By straining out over his own sill he could discern a crack of light under the drawn shade that flapped to and fro in the breeze.

The sidewalk was forty feet below, and the sills were narrow and scarcely afforded a foothold. Ned's brain was flapping rapidly.

He slipped a revolver into his pocket and left his room, closing the door softly. The hall lay in darkness where at its end a window opening upon the roof of the extension beneath showed an oblong of grayish light.

Follansbee raised the window and got out on the roof, closing the sash behind him. It was the work of an instant to step to the rear hall window of the adjoining house and, finding it wide open to the night, to step noiselessly within.

Here in the hall of a strange house, where if he was discovered, he could be apprehended as an unlawful intruder, Ned Follansbee paused to take stock of his surroundings. At the end of the hall was the pale outline of a white painted door. At right angles to it was another door, and from under this door there showed a thin streak of light.

That strange room must be the one from which the strange message had proceeded.

He stepped to the door and rapped sharply.

There came a startled exclamation and then heavy steps across the floor. An enormously fat man clad in trousers and waistcoat blinked sleepily at him.

"Well," he snarled, "who are you, and what do you want?"

"What's the trouble?" demanded Follansbee.

"Trouble? There's no trouble that I know of, except what your making yourself! Say, what are you doing here anyway?" he added suspiciously.

Follansbee glanced past him into the room, where there was a glimpse of a typewriting machine and scattered sheets of manuscript.

"I occupy the adjoining room in the next house," explained Follansbee at last. "A few minutes ago I was awakened by what I thought was a telephone message—sure I read the message right—calling for help."

The fat man threw back his head

BEYOND THE WALL.

Follansbee sat up in bed and listened sharply. To his room on the third floor front of the boarding house the noises of the street came up clearly—the staccato clasp clasp of hoofs on the asphalt, the whining alarm of an automobile siren and the hollow sound of voices as late revelers passed under his window.

The sound that had roused him had been another, an unfamiliar sound, in that place and at such an hour. His watch showed it to be half past 2.

Tap, tap, tap—silence. Tap, tap, tap—silence.

There it was plainly now—dots and dashes. It sounded oddly like a telegraph key.

Follansbee got up and pressed his ear against the wall and listened intently, spelling out the words with growing excitement as he grasped their sense.

It was the first time he had taken a message since he had left his station with the P. L. and Q. road to become a newspaper reporter.

The last message he had sent over the wire had been to the operator at the next station. Helen Dunham at High Crossing. He had proposed marriage, and Helen had refused him, gently as one may by dot and dash. There was another man—she had been engaged a long time—she thought he knew—she was sorry.

Follansbee had told her not to worry, that it was all right. But if over she was in trouble and he could do anything for her she was to call upon him at once. Would she promise!

She would, and she did. That was two years ago. For all Ned Follansbee knew Helen was married and settled down with the man she had promised to marry.

High Crossing was 2,000 miles from New York city, and in spite of this he was listening to a message. If not from Helen Dunham, from whom was it? What was she saying!

"Ned Follansbee—Ned Follansbee—I need your help—help—help!"

Over and over again he heard the message until suddenly it dawned on him with sickening conviction: that it was a real message, a message from beyond the wall. If that was so, then Helen Dunham was there, next door, and in grave trouble.

He picked up his hairbrush and rapped on an answer in the same code. The raps on his wall sounded muffled and not as distinct as the ones that were coming to him with such terrifying regularity.

When he had repeated his reassurer answer twice the taps ceased. It was as if the sender was listening.

"Coming—coming! Where—are—you! What—is—the—matter?" he asked three times before he got the response.

"Next door. Help—Ned Follansbee—help!" It stopped abruptly, and there was silence after that, and he could not get any response to his repeated calls.

The fat man threw back his head and laughed noisily. "Come in," he chuckled hoarsely. "This is the best ever," he added as he closed the door and pushed a rocking chair toward his midnight visitor. "Sit down. Have a smoke?" He offered a cigar case, but Follansbee shook his head impatiently.

"Tell me about it," he said.

The man's face grew sober as he settled himself into a chair before the battered machine. "I'll tell you a story," he said grimly, his broad eyes fixed on Follansbee's face. "I'm a telegraph operator, and several years ago I was stationed at a little place called Feneby, between High Crossing and Placerville.

"The operator at High Crossing was a girl. I was gone on her, and we were engaged to be married. Oh, I wasn't as fat as I am now!" he said plaintively. "I was good looking and some favorite with the girls."

"At Placerville there was another operator, a man named Follansbee—Ned Follansbee. I never saw him but he fell in love with my girl, and I heard him ask her over the wire. Of course she told him she was promised, and then he told her if she was ever in trouble, why, just to call on him. Her usual popular price melodrama style, eh?" He smiled unpleasantly, but a spasm of pain crossed his fat countenance. Follansbee stared at him fascinated.

"Follansbee went away—New York or somewhere—dropped out of sight. My girl got gloomy and at the last minute threw me over; said she liked the other fellow best after all. She went to Chicago, and I plugged there at Feneby till I nearly went crazy when I came to New York."

"I got to thinking about my trouble up here in this room, and I couldn't get that Follansbee out of my head. I wanted to show him up. He made a lot of trouble. So I sat down and wrote a story—a dandy good story—about the girl and Follansbee, and I put his message into—about her calling him if she needed him!"

"Then I fixed it up so that she would call the hero by wire, and I made up a message. You heard me ticking it off here on the machine just for

Phone 115-2 J. F. RICE, First Ave.*Millions Will be Paid to Saw Fur Shippers This Winter.

A. B. Shubert, of Chicago, said to be the largest house in the world, dealing exclusively in American Raw Furs, in a letter to the COURIER says in part as follows:

"Furs are extremely fashionable and a woman's wardrobe is not complete without one or more sets of furs. Even in mild climates, there are large quantities of fur overcoats being sold to gentlemen."

The present prices of American raw furs, as compared with the prices of a few years ago, make pleasant reading for the old trapper and collector, but to the tenderfoot in the fur game it seems like an impossible story and if the 'old timers' didn't know the facts to be true, they would say, 'tell it to the marines.' Why it was only a few years ago that one could buy all the muskrats in Western Canada at 6 cents apiece, and they sold as low as 4 cents. Winter and spring collections last season brought 45 cents to 60 cents. The entire collection of Northern Mink could be bought at $1.50 and $2.00 for No. 1 large prime skins. Now, they sell at $5.00 to $8.00. The best Lynx sold in C. M. Lampson & Co.'s Sale in London, England at $3.50. Last season $18.00 to $25.00 was paid for them. Marten that we now pay $7.00 for, sold for $2.00. The best dark fisher that North America ever produced could be bought for $12.00. Last season $30.00 was paid for the large dark skins. The best collection of Red Fox was sold for $2.00 average. Today the same collection would bring $7.00. White Weasel we paid nothing for, because there was no market for them. Today they bring 75 cents to $1.50. Otter, one could buy the best the earth produced at $5.00 and $6.00. Today we pay $20.00 to $30.00 inland caught skins. Would you think it possible to buy the best Silver Fox that was ever trapped for $85.00? That was the price. It takes a small fortune to buy it now. The cause of this tremendous advance in the value of North American Raw Furs, is the keen competition created by the well known circular houses. Years ago the country dealers and large Eastern dealers had it all their own way. Furs were bought at any old price. One would think that this wonderful advance in value would drive the consumer of furs out of the market and prohibit the sale of manufactured goods. Possibly it will in the future, but up to the present time the consumer seems to like it. The trapper must be paid for the hardship he endures, and if 'Shubert' made the fur market, furs would be much higher, as the average trapper does not get the collection he did years ago. How long the demand will last no one can tell. If he could, he would be a wise man and could give Solomon cards and spades and beat him to it at the guessing game.

Japanese Battleship to Mexico.

GROWING CONVICTION NOW THAT JAPAN IS WORKING ON NEW POLICY.

TOKIO, Nov. 17.—There is a growing conviction here that the despatch of the Japanese armoured cruiser Izumo to Mexican waters means the inauguration of new policies by the Japanese empire, namely, the affirmation of Japan's prerogatives as one of the great powers to participate in questions involving the powers, whether in the east or the west. The sending of the cruiser to Mexico is pleasing to these Japanese who pretend that Japan is backward in claiming her rightful place in the council of nations.

The importance that Japan attaches to the despatch of the cruiser is evidenced by the official conferences concerning the plan. Baron Makino, the foreign minister, went to the Nagoya manoeuvres to submit the proposal to the Emperor and afterwards His Majesty received Captain Moriyma and Vice Captain Macuda, of the Izumo in farewell addresses.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Asserting that the Japanese government had faithfully lived up to its treaty obligations by keeping its coolie labor from American shores, former President Taft, in address before the National Geographic Society tonight, declared the United States government must keep faith with Japan by not discriminating against its people.

Before a distinguished gathering of scientists and government officials the former president scouted the probability of war between Japan and the United States, saying that it was the last thing the statesmen of Japan wanted.

When Middle Names Were Banned

People have not always been allowed the pleasure of having as many names as they wish; indeed, 400 years ago not even a middle name was allowed in England. It was illegal. The old English law was definite and admitted of no infraction of its ruling. The only exception made to this iron old regulation was in the case of persons of royal rank. If they really wished it they could boast a middle name, but was to the person of ordinary rank who was sufficiently unwise or obstinate to insist on having more than two appellations.

For the first offence he would very likely be tied to a whipping post and severely lashed. For a second offence he would endure some lasting punishment.

MARRIED IN YARMOUTH UNDER DIFFICULTIES.

(Friday's Yarmouth Times.)

A young man from Maine arrived at one of Yarmouth county's rural villages a few days where he was to wed one of the country's fairest daughters. Arrangements were made with the clergyman of the village to perform the ceremony on a certain evening. Everything was complete and the wedding party about ready. Much to the consternation of all concerned the officiating clergyman failed to meet his appointment and in due time it was learned that he had left that morning on a business trip to Halifax. The wedding was accordingly postponed until the following day when the young couple with a number of friends came to Yarmouth with the hope of having the nuptials carried out at a friend's home at Yarmouth North. Telephones were brought into requisition and one of our local clergy men was called but he had, that morning, gone to Woods Harbor. Another was called but he was on a similar mission. A third was telephoned for and he was in Halifax. A fourth was also out of town. The fifth had a very important engagement at 2 o'clock, the hour set for the marriage, and could not possibly attend. The young couple were about giving up in despair when the wires were again started and the sixth minister was asked. This one could perform the ceremony at 1 o'clock if they were willing. Fearing that they would be unable to get another it was decided to have the marriage take place at one o'clock and the clergyman engaged. On his arrival at the house another obstacle was starting the interested party in the face. The groom had secured a marriage license, as the law calls for, in Maine but was not aware that another would have to be obtained here. Again a telephone was brought into use and it was found that the issuer of licenses at the post office would be leaving the office in about fifteen minutes and would not be in again for two or three hours. With only fifteen minutes at their disposal an auto was obtained and a wild rush made for the post office where the necessary papers were secured. In the meantime the officiating clergy man and another of the party were obliged to postpone an engagement for half an hour. The ceremony was finally carried out, however, and the young couple left by steamer that afternoon for their home in Maine.

Toronto Boy Kills Another.

TORONTO, Nov. 16.—Thomas Price, of 53 Duchess street, died in the Western Hospital as the result of a play battle between four young boys using real rifles Saturday afternoon near Port Credit.

Cecil Babcock is being held by the police on a charge of having inflicted the wound. The two boys, both seven years old, went out to Port Credit with 22 calibre rifles to shoot birds with two companions. Finally they began firing at each other. Price was struck in the forehead by a bullet. The other two are being held pending developments.

Arrived in Time to Attend His Own Funeral.

HAMILTON MAN, SUPPOSED LOST IN LAKE DISASTER, STARTLES FAMILY AROUND BODY THEY THOUGHT HIS.

HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 19.—To walk into his home, where the members of his family were gathered about a casket that was supposed to contain his dead body, which had been cast up by the waters of Lake Huron, following the storm of last week, was the remarkable experience of John Thompson, 422 North John street, this evening.

On Monday Thomas Thompson received a message from his daughter at Sarnia that her brother, John, was aboard the steamer James Caruthers when it sank last week on Lake Huron. He at once left for Goderich, where a number of bodies from the Caruthers had been washed ashore, and were in the morgue. He reached that place late at night, and was at once shown a number of bodies that lay there awaiting identification. He noticed that the toes on the foot of one of the corpses were crossed, as were his son's, and decided to further examine it. On the arm was a tattoo mark with the initials "J. T." This was identical with one on his son's arm. On the nose was a mark similar to one his son bore, and besides this there was a similarity in the teeth. Lastly there was on the leg of the corpse a scar from a burn similar to a mark on his son's.

With so many remarkable marks of resemblance, in addition to the appearance of the body, both in statue and features, he was convinced that it was his son.

Mr. Thompson made arrangements for the conveyance of the body to this city, and it arrived yesterday. After being prepared for burial it was taken home, and arrangements were made for its burial tomorrow morning.

About 3 o'clock this evening, John Thompson walked into his home after having read that he was dead, and looked at the remains that were supposed to be his.

The son informed the members of his family that he had read while in Toronto that he was reported dead, and did not reach this city until today. He explained that he did not sail on the Caruthers, but left here on the Canada, which he left when she reached the Welland canal.

The remains brought from Goderich were removed to undertaking rooms and will likely be sent back to Goderich for identification.

Distribution of Seed. Grain and Potatoes.

FROM THE DOMINION EXPERIMENTAL FARMS, 1913-1914.

By instructions of the Hon. Minister of Agriculture a distribution of superior sorts of grain and potatoes will be made during the coming winter and spring to Canadian farmers. The samples for general distribution will consist of spring wheat (5 lbs.), white oats, (4 lbs.), barley (5 lbs.), and field peas (5 lbs.). These will be sent out from Ottawa. A distribution of potatoes (in 3 lb. samples), will be carried on from several of the experimental farms, the Central Farm at Ottawa supplying only the provinces of Ontario and Quebec. All samples will be sent free, by mail.

Applicants must give particulars in regard to the soil on their farms, and some account of their experience with such kinds of grain (or potatoes) as they have grown, so that a promising sort for their conditions may be selected.

Each application must be separate and must be signed by the applicant. Only one sample of grain and one of potatoes can be sent to each farm. Applications on any kind of printed form cannot be accepted. If two or more samples are asked for in the same letter only one will be sent.

As the supply of seed is limited, farmers are advised to apply early; but the applications will not necessarily be filled in the exact order in which they are received. Preference will always be given to the most thoughtful and explicit requests. Applications received after the end of January will probably be too late.

All applications for grain (and applications for potatoes) should be addressed to the Dominion Cerealist, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Such applications require no postage. If otherwise addressed delay and disappointment may occur.

Applications for potatoes, from farmers in any other province should be addressed (postage prepaid) to the Superintendent of the nearest Branch Experimental Farm in that province.

J. H. GIBBARD, Director, Dominion Experimental Farms.

Another Fire on the Ocean.

YOKOHAMA, Nov. 19.—A wireless message received from the Japanese steamer Sado Maru from Seattle, Nov. 4, says the cargo in No. 4 hold is on fire. The steamer is expected to reach this port November 22.

Sufragette Fights With Flour.

ATTACKS JOHN REDMOND AND MRS. REDMOND ON THAIN.

NEWCASTLE, England, Nov. 15.—John Redmond, the Irish leader, and his wife, were attacked by a suffragette today while on board a train at Durham. The suffragette entered the compartment where Mr. and Mrs. Redmond were seated and after declaring that the Irish leader had not done enough for the women of Ireland, struck him on the head, and Mrs. Redmond on the back. She then scattered the contents of a bag of flour over Mr. and Mrs. Redmond. A train attendant forcibly ejected the woman from the train, and handed her over to the police.

Mr. Redmond, in a speech delivered in the House of Commons last evening, there was no demand, however, extravagant or unreasonable that might be put forth on behalf of the Ulster Unionists which the Nationalists would not be ready to consider, so long as it was consistent with the principle of national self government for Ireland. If the opponents to home rule remained adamant and would agree to no reasonable settlement, Mr. Redmond besought the country not to slam the doors in the face of Ireland "because of fear of fanatics or the bludgeons of bullies."

Digby Chickens in Poultry Yard.

THE FUNNY MISTAKE MADE BY THE CANADIAN TRADE COMMISSIONER AT GLASGOW.

OTTAWA, Nov. 20.—"What is a Digby chicken?" A trade commissioner in Great Britain has views upon the subject and has succeeded in slipping them into the weekly report of the trade and commerce department. That publication, which of late has been greatly expanded and improved, prints the following paragraph sent from Glasgow by J. E. Roe, for some years trade commissioner in Great Britain:—

"Some years ago, an extensive trade in 'Digby chickens' was transacted with Nova Scotia, but apparently it has for some reason ceased. Inquiries made among poultry dealers reveal a desire to receive quotations from Canadian exporters. It is forward to this office in time for the Christmas trade they will be placed before probable purchasers. Turkey are desired chiefly."

Southern Strike is Serious.

RAILWAY DIFFICULTY WILL CAUSE MILLIONS OF DOLLARS LOSS TO SUGAR AND RICE PRODUCERS.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 14.—Except for two transcontinental passenger trains arriving and one leaving here today, traffic on the Southern Railway in Louisiana is tied up by the strike of engineers and trainmen. An embargo has been placed on freight trains, and all passenger trains but the two through trains have been cancelled indefinitely.

With the loss of millions of dollars of sugar and rice producers of Louisiana in the face because of the strike, business men here today through a committee sent a long message to President Wilson appealing to him personally to intervene to help settle the strike and learned with pleasure that Assistant Commissioner Langgar was coming.

Nova Scotian Killed by Train.

NORTH BAY, Ont., Nov. 19.—The coroner's jury today, in the case of S. M. Archibald, of Brentwood, N. S., who was killed at North Bay station Monday evening, returned a verdict of death resulting from a train striking him as he stepped in front of an express train. The coroner's theory of the tragedy is that Archibald was standing too close to the train and the glare of the headlights confused and blinded him so that he stepped by mistake in the wrong direction, which landed him directly in front of the train.

Another Steamer on Fire.

BRITISH BATTLESHIP SAVED HER PASSENGERS AND CREW.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—The British battleship, Iron Duke, effected a timely rescue of the thirty passengers and crew of the Steamer Scotedye while the steamer was burning in the English Channel early today. The battleship Channel early today. The steamer bound from Mediterranean for Sunderland ports caught fire off the Isle of Wight, shortly after midnight. The blaze started in a deck cargo of grass and spread so rapidly through this inflammable matter that the crew was unable to stay its progress and it attacked the ship's bridge and a number of life boats which were destroyed.

Owing to the heavy sea it was impossible to launch the few remaining life boats. The panic-stricken passengers and the crew were forced to retire to the stern of the steamer.

The battleship Iron Duke was fortunately carrying out trials in the Channel during the night and when the steamer was sighted sailors from the warship put off in boats to the rescue.

The forepart of the steamer was a mass of flames when the boats reached the scene, and the helpless persons aboard were huddled together aft.

The Iron Duke played her search lights upon the stern of the doomed ship while the rescue crew took all hands safely off.

Big Strike at St. Petersburg.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 19.—A general strike of factory hands in St. Petersburg and throughout northern Russia started today, 65,000 laying down their tools this morning.

The movement is a protest by the workmen against the trial of some employees of the Buchow works on a charge of illegally quitting their employment. The proceedings against them opened in the district court here today.

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of the Courier.

Sir,—In your last issue a somewhat lengthy letter from Major Daley's pen appeared, having reference to my story of the deer told at the Guides' Tournament in the Bijou Dream last August. What I said upon that occasion was true, many times to the wit of 1881. Curran O'Dell (now Game Inspector) Gilbert Hills and the writer accompanied by James Mulse, (Chief of the Micmacs) Louis Luxy and Noel Leque as guides, were returning from a successful caribou hunt near the Boundary River, and stopping at Sixth Lake camp for the night we there met Capt. John Daley, (now Major) with his guide John Louie. The year previous Mr. O'Dell and myself had hunted deer in New Brunswick with my old friend and guide, Thomas Sullivan, of Bonny River. While hunting near McDougal Lake upon this trip we made a study of the habits of the New Brunswick deer and came to the conclusion that the forest was not a proper place for these animals, and we determined then and there to try and arrange with the powers that be to have some of these deer brought across the Bay to our shores. It was in Sixth Lake camp, upon the occasion of which I write, that I reached the subject of the deer to Major Daley and asked him to give us his aid and as I said at the Guides' Meet, all honor to him, he fell in with our scheme and put his shoulder to the wheel, wrote the provincial government and had them secure the permission from the New Brunswick Legislature. I wrote my friend, Tom Sullivan, of Bonny River, aforesaid, and the undertaker got the deer, as he had promised, when the snow became deep enough to snow shoe them down. The first shipment soon arrived, and in fact the most of the deer came from him. Some were taken to Lake Jolly by the Major's team and some by mine. Sullivan wrote me that the deer were well settled and the deer could run away from him and his men, but that if I would send him over a couple of my fox hounds he would soon get the balance allowed by our permit. Consequently I expressed the desire to him. All went well until a pair of dogs were delivered at the Major's place. They were badly bitten by the hounds and the 12 O'Clock man, Wetmore, ordered them set free and our permit was cancelled. The balance of the deer, which we got quite recently, came, as the Major says, through the efforts of the Nova Scotia Guides Association. I intimated at the Guides' meeting that great credit was due Major Daley for his efforts, but I now say he must take it all himself. My idea was pretty well thrashed out by Mr. O'Dell and myself with the help of Thomas Sullivan before we ever mentioned it to the Major. However, the main thing to be thankful for is the fact that we have the deer with us in ever increasing numbers. Only a few days ago it was my good fortune to see two does and to note their perfect condition.

The last part of the Major's letter looks like a joke, and yet I must suppose that he is in earnest. Surely he does not take the credit for stocking our waters with salmon. It may be a cruel joke on the Major, but I must tell him that the fish which were shipped to him from the hatchery and which he thought to you for food and for sale, were in truth ordinary brook trout, but then the Major does not know much about salmon, never having cast a line for one—all the ever caught were on a silver hook.

White fish, the next in order in the Major's letter, are no good as game fish, and the few he put into Porter's Lake disappeared completely, not one of his progeny having ever been seen since. The Black Bass he writes of were put in Lakeside, near Sandy Cove, four of them, and they, like the White Fish, have never come to light, although the Major saw fit to change the name of Lakeside to Daley's Lake in honor to himself and the four little fish. For the benefit of all lovers of the game and of the country and province will the Major tell us what a salmon trout is, and where he ever saw one?

If the Major was surprised at my story of the deer, I was not much surprised at his, knowing his love of notoriety so well. Really, the most surprising thing of all is that the Major did not name the Boundary River, Daley's Boundary River, but in bold letters, after having taken the trouble to carry a chisel and hammer all the way from Digby to cut his name thereon, and our deer, Daley's Deer, and also change the name Porter's Lake to one more suggestive of himself.

In conclusion, Mr. Editor, we have no Land Locked Salmon, White Fish, Bass or Salmon Trout (if), but we have the deer. Let the Province, the Government of Nova Scotia to open the season for deer shooting in the autumn of 1915, and I trust in December of that year to hang a fat haunch of venison up for Christmas, which will in a great measure supply the place of our vanished caribou.

H. A. P. SMITH, Provincial Game Warden.

Digby, Nov. 17, 1913.

The Bijou Dream Theatre.

"So high as a tree aspires to grow, so high will it find an atmosphere suited to it."

Read the above line over again and then just stop and think—let it work down deep in your brain and after you have fully realized what it means, let me say to you:

"THAT LINE IS MY MOTIVATION."

Without that thought I would be as a ship without a sail. A man, if he pulls himself together, is able to steer the ship of life and dominate the rudder but it takes motive power to make the ship advance, and that little line is what helps me.

THAT THOUGHT IS WHAT MAKES CRIPPS WIN.

Some people say: "Cripps, you're too much of an idealist, and ideals are expensive." Are they right? I firmly contend that they are not. Did you ever know a man who put all his time and thoughts to doing things right to lose in the end? There are many things that I do in the interests of my patrons which I need not do and perhaps if I never did them they wouldn't be missed. For instance, take the way I have improved the "Bijou Dream."

I never heard of any great amount of hue or cry being raised before I conceived the idea of spending a little money to make the patrons of a picture theatre comfortable. But, after I improved the conditions how many, many ladies said: "MR. CRIPPS, YOUR BIJOU DREAM THEATRE IS SO ENJOYABLE COZY."

THE WHOLE TRUTH OF THE MATTER IS THIS:

In every trade, business or profession you will find a representative person; that man excels; and it is the thought that makes him stand out pre-eminently in his class. To be a leader in any line requires thought, deep thought, and thought causes worry, and worry causes loss of hair, and therefore I say to you: "THE LOSS OF HAIR TELLS THE STORY."

Some men devote a few hours a day to studying your wants, but the man who lies awake nights figuring out an advantage for you is the man who wins out in the long run. I worry over every detail of my performances, and one of my greatest thoughts is to secure pictures which will be particularly suited to my patronage.

To bring the whole thing to an end I now request all the stay-at-homes to at least support the Orchestra on Monday and Wednesday evenings. I will take care of the other nights. Will you lose a good thing for the sake of just ten or fifteen cents? The Orchestra expects bumper houses on their nights and they will give you bumper music.

WHY KEEP ON COUGHING?

Here is A Remedy That Will Stop It

Do you realize the danger in a neglected cough? Then why don't you get rid of it? Yes, you can shake it off, even though it has stuck to you for a long time. If you go about it right.

Keep out in the fresh air as much as you can, build up your strength with plenty of wholesome food, and take Na-Dru-Co Syrup of Linseed, Licorice and Chlorodyne.

This reliable household remedy has broken up thousands of hacking, persistent coughs, which were just as troublesome as yours, and what it has done for many others it will do for you.

Na-Dru-Co Syrup of Linseed, Licorice and Chlorodyne contains absolutely no harmful drugs, and so can be given safely to children, as well as adults. Your physician or druggist can confirm this statement, for we are ready to send them on request a complete list of all the ingredients.

For Baking Success —This Oven Test

Success on some baking days can be expected no matter what flour you use. But constant success is rarer. It can be assured in only one way. The miller must select his wheat by oven test. So from each shipment of wheat we take ten pounds as a sample. We grind this into flour. Bread is baked from the flour. If this bread is high in quality, large in quantity, we use the shipment from which it came. Otherwise we sell it. Constant baking success comes as a matter of course from flour bearing this name

Rev. F. H. Eaton entertained a few friends to a clam supper in the parsonage, Friday evening, Nov. 7th. All report a pleasant time.

The members of the Masonic lodge, clothed in regalia, marched to church Sunday morning, Nov. 2, and listened to an able discourse given by Rev. F. H. Eaton.

The Ladies' Industrial Society has started again and is now doing good work. This society and the B. P. Y. U. intend having the church lighted by gasoline in the near future.

SOUTH END.

Mrs. Herbert Campbell visited friends at Tiverton last week.

Schr. L. M. Ellis, Capt. Geo. Lent, is loading dry fish for St. John.

Mrs. Horace Thurber was a passenger on the John L. Canna to St. John Friday, Nov. 7th.

Mr. Dexter Stevens, who has been living in St. John for the past year, was home for a few days last week.

Mrs. Moses Solloves has gone to Boston to undergo an operation. Her many friends wish her every success.

Mr. George Perry, of Lynn, Mass., was called home on account of his father's death; also Mr. Lloyd Perry, of St. John.

At the home of the groom's parents, Freeport, November 6th, by Rev. F. H. Eaton, Mr. Edwin Moore to Miss Hattie Langham, of Yarmouth N. S.

We are sorry to chronicle the death of Mr. James Perry which took place at his home, Nov. 4, aged 74 years. He was a much respected citizen and a member of the Baptist church. He leaves to mourn, a widow, four sons and three daughters.

Central Grove

Mr. Frank Goff is visiting relatives in Boston.

Mr. Alfred Pyne has gone to Boston for medical treatment.

Mrs. Jennie Powell has gone to Freeport to spend the winter.

Mrs. Edith Outhouse, of Freeport, spent last week with friends in the Centre.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Pottingill, of N. H., are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Delaney.

Miss Jane Shaw is spending this week with her niece, Mrs. Marie Outhouse, at Tiverton.

The young folks held a pie social in the hall Tuesday evening, 11th. Proceeds for church purposes.

Mrs. W. Outhouse and Elsie, of Tiverton, spent a few days last week with friends in Central Grove.

Mr. E. B. and Mr. J. W. Tibert and Mr. C. M. Tibert attended the funeral at Freeport, Sunday, Nov. 10th.

Mrs. Herbert Wade, of N. Y., who has been spending the summer with her mother, Mrs. Charles Shaw, returned home Saturday.

Marshalltown.

Mrs. Alfred Seely is visiting friends in Bear River.

Sorry to report that Mr. Alfred Abbott had the misfortune of losing a horse.

Mrs. Archie Koon, of Westville, has been visiting her brother, Mr. Wilbur Clements.

Mr. Lloyd Wright, of Princetown, has been visiting his friend, Miss Annie Seely.

Mr. Ellis B. Cosman, of Danvers, has been visiting his friend, Miss Augustus Seely.

Mr. Alfred Abbott has purchased a valuable horse from Mr. William Cossaboon, Smith's Cove.

Mr. Herman Steele, accompanied by his sister, Miss Sadie, of Auburn, Me., have been visiting friends in Marshalltown.

Miss Augusta Seely, one of Marshalltown's most popular young ladies, has returned to her school in Wrentham, Mass.

Little River.

Miss Mildred Denton has returned from Boston.

Miss Muriel Denton went to Weymouth Monday.

Mr. Lylin Denton came home from Rosaway last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Trask have returned from St. John.

Miss Evelyn Cornwall, of Granville, has returned home and will spend the winter with Mrs. Harding Denton.

Capt. Guthrie has moved into his new house which he recently purchased at auction, the William Frost property.

Mrs. Lloyd Denton and baby spent a week with her mother, Mrs. Wm. Denton, returning to her home at Westport Tuesday.

We congratulate Mr. Hugh Collins on obtaining his engineering papers. He is now engaged on the Sissiboo.

Mrs. Collins will remain here.

Little Miss Leona Trask picked a strawberry blossom last week and presented it to the correspondent. We are certainly having spring weather.

We are sorry to report that Miss Marion Trask, who left this year to attend Acadia Seminary, has had to give it up and return home on account of ill health.

The young folks met at Miss Cora Morehouse's hall on Nov. 10th. The usual pranks were indulged in as to the prospect of their future life. We understand that several of our fair young ladies were doomed for an old maid with a share of poverty. We extend hearty congratulations and if the season rolls around again and they have not entered matrimonial bliss, we advise them to try their luck again.

Parker's Cove.

Miss Bessie Campbell went to Digby the 10th.

Mr. Rolin Robinson is building a new barn.

Mrs. Winnie Hardwick, of Bellisle, has been visiting relatives here.

Schr. Lloyd, Capt. W. H. Anderson, sailed for Annapolis Royal the 9th with a load of dry fish.

Mrs. John Hamilton was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Hamilton, of Litchfield, last Sunday.

There was service in the Methodist church on Sunday at half past two by the Rev. M. Davis.

Mr. Adelbert Hudson has gone to Springfield to engage in the lumber woods there for Davison & Co.

Mr. David Milner on Wednesday killed an 18 months old pig which when dressed tipped the scales at 516 lbs.

The Messrs. Cora and Abbie Longmire, of Hillsburn, called on their aunt, Mrs. David Milner, on Saturday the 8th.

Mr. Carmen Milner paid his father Thomas a flying visit on the 9th and returned to Digby the 10th. He is engaged in the fishing business here.

Mrs. Stanley McCaul, of Victoria Beach, was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Manassah Weir, a few days last week. Quite a number of men are at work repairing the covering of the east breakwater. The work is in charge of Percy Robinson.

A Boy's Composition On Girls.

Girls are just birds, with two wings and two legs, that look like claws. They are jealous and witty creatures, and only happy when lighting on someone and scratching their eyes out.

These pretty sky larks, all bill and claws, and with no more sense than a fly, delight in lighting in the trees and in ditches, making all sorts of noises to attract fellows' attention, and then run away.

And these gallant young larks generally wait until church is in and then march in showing their new coats and feathers and pass remarks on the people that sit ahead of them.

Girls are queer tools, they get rusty, their necks get stiff, their eyes stationery, and cannot see the fellows when they lift their hats, so they lift them to the air.

The girls are the stuff women are made of. Not women but wives, for some wives are not worthy to be called women. But like girls there has to be some exceptions.

Who does not like to skylark about the streets, and not afraid to go to church, in proper time for fear they will not show their feathers?—That's the girl for me. PARKPORT.

He Counted.

'Go and see if there are any crows in that field of corn,' said the farmer to his hired hand.

The boy presently came back with the news that he had counted 64.

'Did you drive them away?' asked the farmer.

'No, sir,' replied the boy, 'I thought they were all yours.'

NA-DRU-CO Tasteless Preparation of Cod Liver Oil

Prevents Sickness Restores Health

Are you one of those thousands who, though apparently well, catch cold easily and often? It's a dangerous condition to tolerate, and one which you can easily prevent by taking two or three bottles of NA-DRU-CO Tasteless Preparation of Cod Liver Oil at once—this Fall.

This pleasant-tasting food-tonic gives tone and vigor to the whole system, and so strengthens lungs and bronchial tubes that they readily throw off the colds which would otherwise take hold of you.

By virtue of its remarkable combination of curative and nutritive properties, NA-DRU-CO Tasteless Cod Liver Oil is one of the very best remedies known for chronic coughs and colds, bronchitis, asthma and catarrh. It is also an excellent reconstructive tonic after fever, and in diseases such as scrofula and rickets, which are due to constitutional weakness.

Prove its worth by getting a 50c. or $1.00 bottle from your Druggist. 311

"ORANGE LILY SAVED MY LIFE"

These words or expressions having the same meaning are contained in hundreds of the letters I have received during the past year. Many were from women who had suffered agonies from falling of womb, others from women who had escaped dangerous surgical operations, as the tumors and ulcers had been removed by the action of Orange Lily and others who had suffered from flu, and menstruation, leucorrhoea, painful periods, etc. For all these and the other troubles known in general as Women's Disorders, Orange Lily furnishes a positive scientific, never-failing cure. It is the only medicine that actually proves its merit. I hereby offer to send absolutely free, a bottle worth 50c., sufficient for ten days' treatment, to every suffering woman who will write for it. Enclose 2 stamps, MRS. FRANCES M. Synopsis of Coal Mining Regulations

COAL mining rights of the Dominion, in Yukon Territory, the North-west Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 250 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal subdivisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. COLEY, Deputy Minister of the Interior. N.B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for. 2-251

SYNOPSIS OF DOMINION LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta.
The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years.
A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.
In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may preempt quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $300 per acre.
Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or preempt six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.
A homesteader who has held his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $100 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $200.00.

Photographs.
Let's sit awhile tonight and talk about the things we did
When down-up in your back you wore your braids, and I was just a kid.
Oh, we were very clever then, there is no doubt of that;
I had my first long trousers on, and you pinned up your hair.
Do you remember now the night in eighteen eighty-three
When I gave you my photograph and you gave yours to me?

Do you remember now the time the album you got out
And showed me all your relatives, the lean ones and the stout.
And how I tried by best to steal that awful one of you?
That showed you from your buttoned shoes up to your pigtail, too?
I covered and pleaded, till you said, "Oh, that one I'd resign."
You'd some day give your photograph to me if I'd give mine.

The next day at the gallery a youth with plastered hair Arrived, decked in his Sunday clothes, all brushed and pressed with care.
The corner of a handkerchief from out his pocket showed,
And in the sunlight of the room his cuffs and collar glowed.
A youth who wondered if the thought to gildy-moon occurs
That often men buy photographs to give for one of these.

At last I got that wondrous print, that scream of red and white,
And carried it with youthful pride to you that very night.
And then you showed it to your pa who handled me this way:
"It's wonderful how hand-me pictures make a lovely chap!"
Then by the clock upon the shelf 'twas placed for all to see,
And when I started home you gave your photograph to me.

And that was thirty years ago, and here we all tonight,
But few hairs left upon my head, and those few turning white.
Since then we've had our share of smiles and shed our share of tears
As hand in hand we've wandered down the lanes of love and years.
And still our hearts are beating as they did in eighty-three
When I gave you my photograph, and you gave yours to me.

Mr. J. Seward, Bramptonville, Que., writes:
"Two weeks ago I took a severe cold which settled on my lungs and my chest was very sore, breathing tight and severe hacking cough. I was feeling miserable.
I bought a bottle of Na-Dru-Co Syrup of Linseed, Licorice and Chloroform and after a few doses I felt great relief and I went into a sound sleep, a thing I was not able to do for some nights. Next day I was able to be around again, and before completing the bottle, felt as well as ever. It is a fine cough and cold cure."

THE WISE FOOL.

There goes the fool of the family," growled old Simon Webb as he returned the salutation of a young man on the sidewalk.

Dorothy flushed deeply, and her pretty head turned a little aside.
"Why do you call Bob Quincy that, father?" she asked.

"Because he is one," asserted Simon, with more asperity than the occasion demanded, for the Quincy's were not related to him. The only bond between the two families was the long existing partnership between the respective heads. "Look at him, Dorothy! The eldest of four boys, every man jack of 'em has branched out in business for himself except Bob, and he's content to clerk in our offices—clerk it, mind you, for he's too woolly headed to assume an executive position. What do you think of that, eh?"

"I think it must please Mr. Quincy to have one of his sons remain in the business," remarked Dorothy firmly.

"Humph! The business has done mighty well so far without assistance from any of the youngsters. Tom and Dick have gone into the automobile business, as you know, and Frank is junior partner in the house of Heller & Co. Here's Bob, who has been still our offices for twelve years, still pegging away as head bookkeeper. He ought to have pushed his way to the fore. If he'd had any ginger in him, by George, he'd have elbowed his father out of the place. It makes me nervous to see such a dead one a round."

"Why, father," cried his daughter, with some indignation, "I don't think it's right to call Bob a fool just because he hasn't pushed his father out of business. It seems to me that he is very considerate and—"

"Bah!" roared Simon Webb rudely, and, with a saucy upward tilt of her chin, Dorothy turned her face away and apparently became absorbed in the passing crowd as seen from their handsome motorcar.

That evening after dinner Dorothy was called into her father's library.

"Close the door, Dorothy," said Mr.
Webb, with an austere smile.

"What is it, father?" asked the girl.
"Sit down, my dear; here, close to my desk. I have had a singular experience today, Dorothy!" He looked keenly at her over his spectacles.

Dorothy was fairly puzzled. "And you want to tell me about it, dad?"

"Yes. You recollect we were speaking about the Quincy boys today, eh?"
She nodded carelessly. "What about them?"

"You've never told me they were attentive to you," he suddenly accused her.

For a moment she was disconcerted.
"You never asked me anything about it," she answered quietly.

Simon Webb threw back his head and laughed heartily. "My own daughter!" he chuckled. "Glad you didn't slip over it; I detect a simpering miss. Then you knew the Quincy boys were in love with you!"

He fired the question suddenly at her.
"No, I didn't," she replied honestly.

"What did you think they were doing around here, then? Coming to see your mother—or me, eh?"

"I knew they came to see me. Why, father, you know we've always been friends with the Quincy's, and the boys are more like cousins than anything else," said Dorothy warmly.

"And now they crave a closer relationship, eh?"

"You are joking, father. What do you mean? Her face was very pale and her voice was unsteady as she rose to her feet and stood beside him.

"I mean that three of the Quincy boys have each written me a letter asking permission to pay his addresses to you. What do you think of that in this land of the free and home of the brave, eh? I thought the present custom was to ask the girl first and then announce the result to paternal families."

"Well!" asked Dorothy.

"It so happened that I found all three letters in this evening's mail.
What started the boys off I don't know, unless you met them somewhere last night and flirted outrageously with all of them. Is that so?"

"I met all of them at the Toles, and I danced with each one," said Dorothy evenly.

"Well," said Mr. Webb, tapping his communications, "what shall I tell them? Suppose I say that there is a letter from Tom Quincy?"

"Tom!" repeated Dorothy, with an incredulous smile. "Why, dad, Tom Quincy is a mere baby."

"H-h! We won't rob the cradle, then! Exit Master Tom!" Simon Webb flung the letter aside and slapped a second one at his daughter. Dorothy gave a gasp, and, as if smitten with surprise. As she made a gesture of impatience her father spoke once more:
"Suppose I ask, How about Dick, eh?"

A likely young fellow, smart as a trap, inherits $25,000 from his godfather and bound to make a bowling success of whatever he undertakes."

Dorothy shook her head. "I like Dick, too."

"Skiddoo!" ejaculated her father, sending the second letter after the first. "I feel like an auctioneer, Dorothy, offering these chips to you. Now or mind, here goes. How about Frank?"

The girl's breath suddenly left her lips in a little gasp, and she leaned against the desk as if for support.

"Frank!" she asked after a little while. "I'm sorry, father, for I believe he is your favorite, but I think I like Frank least of all."

"Very well, my dear," he said gently, laying the third letter aside. "Shall I tell them that they may come to you for their answers or what?"

"I don't know what to say, father.
I'll feel brighter in the morning. You know I was dancing all night."

"Plenty of time, dear. Run off to bed now and get some beauty sleep—not that you need any!"

She bent suddenly and kissed him ere she fled from the room, but she left something on his cheek which Simon Webb angrily brushed aside, and then he lifted his voice and called names for five straight minutes. At last he paused for breath and roared down the group photograph showing the office force of Quincy & Webb.

In the foreground was the form of a finely put together, good looking young man. Dark of feature, with clear, straightforward eyes, there was a purposeful look to the whole face. It lacked the strained expression beget-ten of the tearing, hurrying race for money. Bob Quincy might be the slowcoach of the family, but he was,
by no means the fool that Simon Webb had called him. There was a quiet, masterful air about him which Simon had never been able to overcome, and yet the younger man had never been lacking in respect to either of the heads of the house.

"The fool of the family," ejaculated
Simon bitterly as he struck the picture a smart tap with his hand finger—"a blind fool. What is he thinking of?
And she—I wish I could forget how my little girl looked when she found he wasn't one of the three!" He turned and flung the picture into the fire.

"Like a boy's love," said Simon bitterly. "Why couldn't it have been one of the others, eh?"

One morning a week later, when
Mr. Webb reached his office, he was requested to step into the private room of the senior partner. There he found Mr. Quincy and his eldest son. Bob was wearing his old alpaca office coat, and a pen was stuck behind his ear.
He placed a chair for Mr. Webb and withdrew into the background.

"You'll be surprised at my news, Webb," began Mr. Quincy ponderously.
"It's rather a sudden decision. You see, my doctor says if I don't get out of business of my own accord I'll drop out anyway, so I've concluded to withdraw and let Bob take my place."

"Bob!" ejaculated Simon Webb con-temptuously. He turned around and cast a withering glance over the stalwart form of the new member of the firm. "What does Bob know about the business except to oversee the trial balances, eh?"

Mr. Quincy's huge bulk of flesh quivered with silent laughter. "You don't know Bob, Mr. Webb. Just give him a chance. I'll back him against any fellow I know, or you know either, to win out."

"What about the other three boys,
Tom, Dick and Frank?" sputtered Webb tactlessly, but Quincy only smiled broadly at the suggestion.

"Skyrockets, all three of them," he said seriously. "Take my word, Webb,
I know what I'm talking about. Bob's been holding back from taking an authoritative position because he feels that the old man's entitled to all the glory he has earned in the past.
He's told me that if he had his way there'd be only one Quincy so long as I chose to remain in the business, but don't forget for one minute that Bob knows the business. Now, let's talk it over amicably."

"Let her go," said Webb grudgingly, Bob Quincy came forward and joined the conference. At the end of an hour Simon Webb had changed his mind regarding Bob Quincy. In fact, he had difficulty to keep out of his tel-lows eyes the admiration he felt for the clean cut, clever man of business. This fool of the family had proved to be "He's another kind of a fool just the same," he told himself savagely, but he was doomed to change his opinion about him at once.

"I've got to go down and see my daughter off; she's sailing for Bermuda at 10 o'clock," he said, rising suddenly and jamming on his hat.

Bob Quincy was on his feet in an instant, tearing off the alpaca coat, flinging aside the pen behind his ear, no longer a quiet, capable man of affairs, but a hot, tempestuous youth, awake to a great truth which has suddenly been revealed to him.

"What steamer?" he demanded authoritatively.

"The Annah," replied Simon meekly, grasping his cane and opening the door.

But Bob Quincy was ahead of him.
He had dashed out and returned shrugging himself into his coat, his hat on wrong side before, his eyes blazing with excitement.

"I've got to see her before she goes,"
he said impatiently, "if you'll let me pass, sir!"

"See who?" asked his father and Simon mechanically.

"Why, Dorothy. I'll tell you about it when I come back," he tossed over his shoulder and was gone.

Simon Webb sank back in a chair and removed his hat. "They won't want me," he said smilingly. Then he added, with a twinkle in his eyes
"He didn't ask my permission, William, I suppose he'll ask it afterward, eh?"

"Surest thing," grinned back his partner. "I asked the girl first, and then told her father I wanted her.
What did you do, Simon?"

"Same thing," confessed Simon
Webb, "and I have a feeling that Bob Quincy's off the same piece. You know, I've always called that boy a fool. Well, William, I've come to believe he's the wisest fool I ever met."

The Sardine Season.
FISH HAVE BEEN SCARCER AND THE PACK AWAY BELOW THE AVERAGE.
(St. Croix Courier.)
An Eastport writer says: Veteran cannermen of sardines in this section of the coast, state that the pack of sardines of Maine for this season will fall short more than one half of the former seasons, or that not more than forty per cent of last year's canning output will be put up before the close of the season, on Dec. 1st. It is stated here that the pack will not figure over 800,000 cases and it is easily remembered, when more than 2,000,000 cases were canned in former seasons, but this has been an "off" season for the supplies of fish about Passamaquoddy Bay and the Bay of Fundy.
During the past week the prices for a hoghead of herring fresh from the weirs jumped to $24.50 in this section the highest price paid for many years but even then they are in demand by some late packers who wish to clean up all the tin cans now on hand, before the close of next week. In one of the largest factories here nearly one hundred hogheads of fish were received Saturday, at the above price, but the fish were of excellent size for canning, and from twenty two to twenty four cases, of 100 cans each, are packed from each hoghead, making approximately 2,300 cases, worth $3.50 a case at the list price available, so that this big day's work in one canning plant would mean a value of about $8,000 in sardines ready for early shipment.

Teaching a Teacher.
It was an arduous task for the teacher to drum into her youthful pupils the principles of arithmetic.
"Now, listen," she said. "In order to subtract, things have to be in the same denomination. This is what I mean. Now, you couldn't take three apples from four peaches, nor eight marbles from four buttons. It must be three apples from four apples, and so on. Do you understand?"
The majority seemed to grasp the idea. One little youngster in the class raised a timid hand.
"Please, teacher," he inquired,
"couldn't you take three quarts of milk from two cows?"

A Mere Scrawl.
"As a matter of fact," said Mr.
Cumrox rather testily, "the value of this picture depends on the signature of the old master."
"I must admit it."
"Well, my signature is just as valuable as his and it doesn't take me anything like as long to write a check as it took him to paint a picture!"

Allan's May Out Portland.
UNLESS THE LONGSHOREMEN OF THAT CITY MODERATE THEIR DEMANDS
MONTREAL, Nov. 27—Andrew A.
Allan, of the Allan Line, issued a statement today in which he intimated that unless the longshoremen at Portland, Maine, moderate their demands, Portland will be out of the itinerary of the company's Glasgow-Portland-Boston service. Hugh Allan, of London, has already been advised to make preparations for the withdrawal of all Allan liners from Portland, should such action become necessary. The Portland longshoremen demand 35 cents an hour for handling general cargo and 40 cents for handling coal. They have been offered 3

Another Fatal Accident.

HARRY RIPPY FELL FROM VICTORIA BRIDGE—HIS BODY WAS RECOVERED

A special telephone message to the Couriers Saturday night announced a fatal accident at Victoria Bridge at the mouth of Bear River. Harry Rippy, electrician, fell from the top of the bridge into the river at about 7:30 p. m. and was drowned. The sad affair cast a gloom over the various foremen and working men who are employed in the construction of the new bridge, on which his business was to furnish light for the night crew.

A diver and crowd of men worked faithfully until they recovered the body at about 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. An inquest was held before Coroner Lovett and a verdict of accidental drowning returned by the jury. The remains were taken to Annapolis Monday night and the funeral, which took place there on Tuesday, was largely attended. Interment in Woodlawn cemetery.

The deceased, who was single, was the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rippy, of Annapolis, was 25 years of age and leaves behind his parents, two brothers and four sisters. His father is electrician for the town of Annapolis and one of his brothers is manager of Mr. Cripps' theatre in Annapolis.

A Serious Affair.

DOUGLAS VANTASSELL'S ARM BROKEN, THE RESULT OF A SMART (?) TRICK.

Someone wishing to play a trick on another, placed a rope across the side walk on the west side of Montague St. Sunday night with the result that Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Vantasell, an employee on the COGNAC, who was walking along quietly, caught his foot in the rope and falling, broke his right arm in two places. The breaks were bad ones and the boy suffered a lot of pain until Dr. DuVerne set the bones. He is now able to be around but it will be a long time before he will again be able to resume his work either in the COGNAC's press or composing rooms.

No arrests have been made, but we understand that those who were responsible for the affair have agreed to pay the doctor's bill and the boy's expenses while he is unable to work. The young man is receiving the sympathy of the general public in such an unfortunate accident.

Wedding at Port Wade.

A happy event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Hayes, Port Wade, Wednesday evening, when their daughter, Miss Helen Hayes, was united in marriage to Mr. H. H. Snow, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Snow. The interior of the house was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the bride couple standing under a floral arch. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Davis, pastor of the Granville Ferry Methodist church, in the presence of about sixty guests. The bride, who was prettily dressed in white veil, wore a bridal veil, carried a bouquet, and was attended by Miss Estella Ryder, who was dressed in blue crepe-de-chine. The groom was supported by Mr. Roy McGrath. The wedding gifts, which were numerous, consisted of silverware, glassware and linen. The happy couple were conveyed to their new home at Port Wade, followed by the best wishes of a host of friends.

Death of Mrs. Angus Campbell.

Mary Loe, wife of Mr. Angus Campbell, died at her home in Digby early Sunday morning, aged 41 years. The deceased had been in poor health for some time, but had only been seriously ill since last Wednesday. Mrs. Campbell leaves a husband and one daughter, Hattie. She is also survived by her aged parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ansley Tidd, and one brother and two sisters, Henry D. Tidd, Mrs. Hattie Barker and Mrs. Joseph Morehouse, all of Tidville.

The body was conveyed to Little River, Digby Neck, via Weymouth, Monday afternoon. The funeral took place Tuesday, with interment in the Little River cemetery. The services being conducted by Rev. Mr. McKinley, pastor of the Little River Baptist church, of which denomination the deceased was a member. Great sympathy is extended to Mr. Campbell and his daughter, in their sad bereavement.

Death of Mrs. Elizabeth Reed.

Mrs. Elizabeth Reed, died at Rosway Sunday night, aged 80 years and 9 months. She leaves no family, their only son having died twenty years ago. She is survived by five brothers and one sister—George Nichols, New Brunswick; Charles Nichols, of New Brunswick; John Nichols, of New Brunswick; Deep Brook; Henry Nichols, Bridge town; and Mrs. John Leary, Coni Mines, Queens county (N. B.).

The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon with interment at Rosway. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Kinman, pastor of the Rosway Baptist church, of which the deceased was a member.

The Brig Marie Celeste Mystery.

Tuesday's St. John Standard contained a long story, entitled "The True Solution of the Mystery of the Brig Marie Celeste," which was evidently written by a person whose knowledge of the facts were somewhat limited, and to a sailor man who is familiar with the story, leaves the whole affair as much a mystery as ever. Every four or five years this story is put before the public by some newspaper or magazine, always different but never correct.

Death of E. W. Spencer.

On Nov. 19, Edward W. Spencer, of Everett, Mass., died at his late residence, 113 Union Street. Mr. Spencer had been engaged in the box manufacturing business for many years, having been foreman for an extended period at Everett & McManus in their plant at Chelsea, Mass., the largest box making establishment in the United States.

Funeral services were conducted at the home of the deceased by the Rev. Dr. A. Judson Hughes, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Everett. The beautiful home was filled to overflowing with sympathetic relatives and friends, coming from different parts of New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut and New York, being the largest private funeral conducted in Everett for many years, besides numbers of telegrams and letters coming from different parts of United States and Canada. The floral tributes were magnificent, a beautiful altar from the broken hearted widow; a beautiful wreath and star in magnificent standing pieces on a pedestal of banked flowers and bearing a wreath raised nearly five feet high, given by the firm of Atwood & McManus and employees who attended the funeral, proving the high esteem in which the deceased was held, besides numberless other beautiful tributes.

Interment took place at Taunton, Mass., a large number of relatives and friends accompanying the remains by train there, the birth place of the deceased. He was buried beside his father in the family lot in Mayflower Hill cemetery.

Mr. W. E. Spencer married Oct. 27, 1885, Miss Ella B. Keane, daughter of C. A. Keane, formerly of Port Wade, Anna, Co. now of Everett, Mass., and had visited Port Wade and Digby several times with Mrs. Spencer, his last visit being in 1912.

Mr. Spencer was a man of sterling qualities and was held in the highest esteem by all who knew him. He was forty-two years of age.

"The Mills of the Gods."

We would feel that we committed an offense if we failed to impress on the general public the importance of being present at the Bijou Theatre to witness the new picture, a picture in three reels, entitled "The Mills of the Gods." It contains all the dramatic power conceivable, provides an unsurpassed and most convincing entertainment that will keep an audience on the quiver of intensity and expectancy throughout its running. It portrays the two extremes of humanity—Lorenzo, the polished villain, who appears alternately as Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, persecutes all who stand in his way. He is a modern libertine who uses his money to gain his own ends and satisfy his own desires. The scenes of riot, the destruction of homes, the burning buildings, and even the taking of life he incites to accomplish his purpose, arouse our deepest indignation. This, however, does not go on forever. He is at last caught in his own trap, between the upper and the nether stones of retribution and justice. The Mills of the Gods grind slowly but they grind exceeding small. Those whom he has persecuted with his unrelenting venom are delivered from his grasp, peace and happiness is restored to them, and he is despatched to his doom by all common sense.

There will be four other reels making a total of seven.

Tag Day in Bear River.

Our correspondent writes: It is proposed to have a Tag Day on Saturday, Dec. 6th, in order to raise the amount necessary to pay the rent of Evangeline Rink for the coming winter. Several boys will be out with tags on the above date and it is hoped they will meet with a generous response from the public in general. Please bear in mind that each tag is worth ten cents and if you wish to give more than ten cents see that you receive a tag for every ten cents you give. For further particulars see posters.

Wedding at Yarmouth.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at Yarmouth on Wednesday evening, Nov. 19, at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen E. Outhouse, when their daughter, Miss Annie Burpee, was united in marriage to Mr. Heber J. Outhouse. The happy couple entered the parlor to the strains of "Dream of Heaven" march played by their sister-in-law, Mrs. Ruel Outhouse, and stood under an arch of evergreen and fern. The parlor was beautifully decorated with flowers and potted plants by friends and relatives of the bride. The bride, who was unattended, looked very nice in her handsome dress of white silk.

They received many warm and useful presents from friends at Yarmouth and Berlin, N. H., where the bride has made her home during the past year and won many friends. The bride's wedding suit was brown whipcord with hat to match. After the ceremony refreshments were served by her friends. Mr. and Mrs. Outhouse are now enjoying a honeymoon built a few months ago. Their friends both here and abroad wish them many years of happy wedded life.

Yarmouth Times: Ice is the big bear at the present time. It is a most necessary article and exceedingly difficult to get. Mr. Drew, at Bay View, had a small quantity on hand which the "Consumer" obtained. The little steamer Madeline brought in twenty tons from after another cargo. The increasing fish business is going to make a big demand for ice next year and the ice dealers are preparing to meet it.

The following vessels have reported at the Digby customs house since Nov. 21st: Inward—Nov. 22nd, S. S. Centerville, Graham, Sandy Cove; 24th, schr. Valdaire, Moore, Bear River; 24th, schr. Edie B. Nickerson, Morehouse, Annapolis; 27th, S. S. Bear River, Woodworth, St. John. Outward—Nov. 22nd, schr. Edie M. Morrisey, Baxter, Gloucester; 23rd, 601 lbs. salt fish; 22nd, S. S. Centerville, Graham, Sandy Cove; 24th, Edie B. Nickerson, Morehouse, Annapolis; 25th, schr. Valdaire, Moore, Rockport, Mo., 350 M staves; 27th, S. S. Bear River, Woodworth, Bear River. In for harbor—20th, Schr. Maple Leaf, Baird, Annapolis for St. John.

The schooner Edie Thierault, Capt. Blinn, arrived at Yarmouth Friday morning after a stormy passage of 23 days from Turks Island with salt for Parker, Evans, Ltd. The schooner put to sea on the afternoon of Oct. 28th and the same evening carried away her fore rigging. The passage was a succession of gales and her rigging and sails suffered considerable damage. All her jobs and masts were carried away on the trip. She was forced to run to the eastward in the Gulf Stream a distance of 400 miles under bare poles. On Monday last as she was approaching this coast, at five o'clock in the morning, which was dark and hazy, she passed within a few feet of a wreck which is a dangerous obstruction to navigation. The mate says it was either a small vessel bottom up or a part of a large vessel. The cook, who has been going to sea for 48 years, says it is the worst trip he ever saw and he would rather go through a shipwreck than experience another trip like it.

Married at Deep Brook. RNFIFIN-WEIR.

On Wednesday evening, Nov. 10, a very pleasant event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Minard Weir, Deep Brook, N. S., when their eldest daughter, Letitia Grace, was united in marriage to Mr. William Roy Kniffin, of Bear River, Rev. John S. McFadden, pastor of the Deep Brook Baptist church, officiating. To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march rendered by Mrs. Robert Kelley, the bridegroom entered the parlor and stood beneath a canopy of white flowers, the bride, who was prettily attired in a gown of embroidered voile, with veil and orange blossoms, was given in marriage by her father, and attended by her sister Vera and Idella Davis, as flower girls. At the conclusion of the ceremony, congratulations having been extended, a delectable luncheon was served to about fifty invited guests, also to an equal number of serenaders, who had gathered outside for a good time. After some flash-light pictures had been taken by Mr. Dorcy Jack of Bear River, the company broke up with best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Kniffin for a long and prosperous wedded life. The bride received many beautiful and useful gifts, consisting of cut-glass, furniture, silver and linen, also quite a sum of money in cash and checks.

Mr. and Mrs. Kniffin will be "At Home" to their friends Wednesday afternoon, also Thursday afternoon and evening, Dec. 3rd and 4th, at their residence, Bear River, N. S.

Married in Peckskill, N. Y.

HOLMES-WADE.

The Peckskill Daily Union, of a recent date devotes a column in describing a pretty wedding, which took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wade, who reside in that city, when their daughter, Miss Adeline Estella, was married to Mr. Damon Harold Holmes.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was attired in white satin trimmed with shantung, and the bridesmaid wore a gown of lavender silk trimmed with chiffon.

Both the bride and groom are well known in Peckskill, are members of the South street M. E. church and are foremost in many departments of the church work and are equally well known and popular in many other circles in the village.

The happy couple received many handsome and costly presents, coupled with the good wishes of their many friends and admirers.

They left for New York city soon after the nuptials had been celebrated and from there will journey to the western part of the State for their honeymoon.

Mr. Wade was born in Digby, and the bride in Turin. Both have relatives in Digby county, among whom is Mr. W. O. Barnaby, formerly of Waterford, Digby Neck.

Public Building at Bear River.

Mr. G. W. Dawson, of the public works department, Ottawa, accompanied by C. Jamieson, M. P., was in Bear River a few days ago selecting a site for the proposed public building in the town. The location recommended by Mr. Jamieson is the corner of Main street and River road. The property is owned by Mr. J. Arthur Rice, and is not at present occupied, the building having been burned sometime since. Mr. Dawson thought the site very suitable. The lot borders on the river and Mr. Jamieson has asked the department to have the foundation properly tested before making a purchase. A public building on the corner in question would very much improve the appearance of the business street of our sister town.

BEAR RIVER, N. S.

Meteghan.

Mr. Ron Aymar is working in the lumber business at Meteghan. Miss Isabella Mallet and Mrs. James McCaulley, of Mavillette, were in town Monday.

Councillor Pothier, of Salmon River, was at the Bay View Hotel with your correspondent Sunday, 23rd inst. Miss Isabella Robichau, teacher at Salmonville Station, spent Sunday with her friend, Miss Rosie German, at the Bay View Hotel.

Capt. Colin Thompson's schooner, of Westport, came off Robichau Bros. marine slip thoroughly renovated. She sailed Friday to return to Westport.

Mr. and Mrs. Eliseo C. Deveau, of Salmon River, paid a visit to his father-in-law, Mr. James Saulnier, Meteghan River, Friday, returning back Monday, 24th inst.

The marriage is announced of Mr. Edmund Robichau, son of the Hon. H. M. Robichau M. L. O., of Meteghan, to Miss Lottie Surette, trained nurse, daughter of Mr. Benj. Surette, of Hecanoga.

Mr. Joseph Deveau found a strawberry blossom and two strawberries as large as peas, in his pasture last week. He has also peas which have remained in the ground after the harvest which have grown up again and are now in full bloom.

Mr. Leo Gaudet was united in marriage to Mrs. Françoise Gaudet Tuesday, Nov. 18th. The groom was attended by Mr. Philip Robichau and the bride by Miss Charlotte LeBlanc. Joy and prosperity through life are the sincere wishes of their many friends.

J. A. Grierson, E. q., of Weymouth Bridge, was here last week in the interest of the breakwater at Comeau's Cove. The work will begin in the early spring. Mr. Jameson deserves great credit for his efforts to provide the fishermen of Comeau's Cove with a breakwater.

Dr. MacDonald, it seems, is increasing his practice. He is busy night and day. His kind and gentlemanly manner endears him to all. Dr. MacDonald, since his arrival in Meteghan, has shown himself an able and skillful doctor, very charitable to the poor, and we wish him continued success.

Your correspondent had the pleasure of visiting Miss May Melanson's school at St. Martin's last week. The section is not very large there, being only 30 pupils on the register. But the attendance is good and the way Miss Melanson went through her over-seeing duties, repeating and explaining, showed her to be a teacher well fitted and trained for the profession. Miss Melanson is a native of Meteghan.

It is with pleasure that we see the popularity of the "Digby Weekly Courier" expanding more and more. A new correspondent at Meteghan Centre makes the paper of interest to the inhabitants of that vicinity. All those small bits of news may seem of little importance to those at home, but they are a mine of pleasure to those abroad who are always anxious to hear from their friends and their native place. The Courier is a well printed, clean paper, devoid of politics and well deserves the support of the people of Digby as well as the other parts of Digby county.

(From another Correspondent)
Mr. Charles Vye, clerk in the I. C. R. department, Moncton, N. B., spent last week with his son, Dr. T. H. MacDonald.

Mr. W. V. T. Young, general manager of the Frost & Wood farming implements, was at the Royal Hotel, Saturday and returned Tuesday.

Rev. Fr. Hamelin, of Amiraute Hills, and his brother-in-law, Dr. A. R. Melanson, of Eel Brook, passed through here via auto, last week.

Our butter factory realized during the past season from June to November, five months, about $3,500.00 to the farmers of this place. It is certainly a good beginning.

Mr. J. A. Harding, of Baltimore, is placing the grinding gears in Mr. Eliseo Robichau's flour mill at Meteghan Centre. Everything will be ready in about two weeks.

During the past two weeks Rev. Fr. Cote performed two marriages: William Comeau to Miss Thiasse Amiraute, and Leo Gaudet to Mrs. Françoise Deveau, relict of the late Mark Deveau.

Last Friday death entered the home of Mr. Leander Comeau, Meteghan River, when his eldest son, Ulysse, aged 16 years, passed away after a few months of that cruel disease consumption. Having been a devoted student at St. Ann's college he was obliged through ill health to cancel a bright future. The funeral services were held at Stella Maris church, Meteghan, by Rev. Fr. Cote, Sunday morning at about 9 o'clock amid a large gathering of relatives and friends. To the bereaved family we extend our sincere sympathies. May his soul rest with the Lord.

Smith's Cove.

Mr. Harry Buckner arrived from Boston on Saturday.

Mrs. Warlock, of St. John, is visiting Miss Addie Cumming.

Dr. Harris, of Barton, who is health officer for Digby Co., was in town last week inspecting the school building.

Mrs. Allen Perry gave a "candy pull" Nov. 11th, to a number of her friends. A good time was enjoyed by all.

Rev. F. H. Eaton and Mr. Bernie Blackford attended the Outhouse and Outhouse wedding at Tiverton, Nov. 19th.

Mr. St. Claire Bates left last week for Grand Manan, in the interest of the lobster business for T. W. Brooks, Boston.

Rev. J. D. Brehaut, of Digby, preached here Sunday morning and evening to a large congregation. Text in the morning, Romans 1:16; evening, Isaiah 53:5. Rev. F. H. Eaton preached at Digby.

Salmon River.

Councillor Ivan Pothier spent Sunday at Church Point, the guest of Mr. William LeBlanc.

Rev. Fr. Bacq, with Rev. Fr. Joseph from Rest Pubnico, drove one day last week to Rev. Fr. Cote's, of Meteghan, on a visiting tour.

Mr. Aniline Deveau, of this place, and Mr. Valore Deveau, of Mavillette, arrived in their respective homes last week from New York after a few years' absence.

Mr. Edmund Robichaud, son of Hon. H. D. Robichaud, M. C. L., Meteghan, was united in matrimony Wednesday, to Miss Lottie Surette, trained nurse, of Hecanoga. Our best congratulations.

Congratulations to Mr. Harley Deveau, commercial agent, son of our well known merchant, Mr. Raymond Deveau, of Mavillette, was married Monday to Miss Marie Thibault, daughter of Cyriac Thibault and a sister of the late Lawyer H. Thibault, of this place.

Church Point.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Theriault, of Bellevue's Cove, on the arrival of a daughter on the 20th inst, being their fourth one.

Mr. Charles Comeau, brother to J. W. Comeau, arrived home at Comeauville last Friday from Carquet, New Brunswick, where he carries a large fishing business around Chaleur Bay.

We understand that mackerel had been quite plentiful in St. Mary's Bay for a few days last week. Cod and haddock fishing is good also as reported by fishermen from New Edinburgh.

The marriage of Mr. Fidile LeBlanc and Miss Mary Ann Thibodeau was performed by Rev. Fr. Blonde, P. P., Tuesday last week. After the ceremony they were driven in an auto by Mr. Pius LeBlanc to St. Bernard, where they had dinner with the groom's father, Mr. Aug. LeBlanc. They came back for tea with bride's father and spent the evening in their home here. They had a large number of presents.

Weymouth North.

Mr. Clifford Cornwall left for Chicago last week.

Mrs. Hamilton Mullen returned on Saturday from Lynn, Mass.

Miss Jessie Kemp is at home from a month's visit in St. John.

Zam-Buk in the Home.

READ HOW USEFUL IT PROVED IN THESE WIDELY DIFFERENT CASES

Zam-Buk's strongest point is its effectiveness in all kinds of skin diseases and injuries. Just note how excellent these persons proved it in widely different directions.

SORE HEEL.—Mrs. C. A. Campbell, of Powassan, Ont., writes: "One of my heels was very badly blistered by a pair of new shoes, and the poisonous dye from my stocking got into it, and made a bad sore. For a week I could not put on a shoe, and I suffered great pain. I applied Zam-Buk, and in a few days it drew the poison out and healed the wound."

BAD CUT.—Mrs. J. Virgint, of Oronodaga, Ont., writes: "I sustained a bad cut which I sustained. I was hurrying across my yard one day when I slipped and fell heavily, my knee striking a sharp stone. At the moment I did not realize how bad I was hurt, but I found I had a bad cut about two inches long, very jagged and very deep. We bathed the cut and applied Zam-Buk. This stopped the smarting very quickly, and in a few days it had healed the wound completely. For cuts and bruises Zam-Buk is a splendid remedy."

ECZEMA CURED.—Mrs. Antoine Armand, of Maximville, P. E. I., writes: "I can highly recommend Zam-Buk to any person suffering from eczema. I had this disease and was under doctor's treatment for two years, without any good result. I then tried Zam-Buk and in the end it cured me. Zam-Buk is just as good for piles, blood poison, festering sores, pimples, eruptions, cuts, burns, bruises and all skin injuries and diseases. 50c. box all drug stores and stores, or post free for price Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Try Zam-Buk Soap, 25c. tablet."

MINARD'S LINIMENT CO., LIMITED.
GENTLEMEN.—In July 1905 I was thrown from a road machine, injuring my hip and back badly and was obliged to use a crutch for 14 months. In Sept. 1906 Mr. Wm. Outridge of Lechute urged me to try MINARD'S LINIMENT, which I did with the most satisfactory results and today I am as well as ever in my life.

Yours sincerely,
MATTHEW BAINES.

Weymouth.

Dr. A. F. Hogan left on Saturday for a brief visit to Boston to join Mrs. Hogan and little daughter. They expect to return this week.

The boys' life and drum band is being reorganized, and before long the members will be prepared to assist in the musical entertainments.

Several young friends of Mr. Harold A. Blackadar assembled at his home on Saturday evening and gave him a surprise party, it being his birthday. Mr. Blackadar was presented with a mantle clock and a scarf pin.

The Campbell Lumber Co.'s pulp mill at Weymouth Falls has been running on full time for some months past, and if, as is its custom, manufacturing pulp of a fine grade of quality. This is the greatest asset Weymouth possesses in the line of industries.

St. Thomas' Guild held a sale of fancy and useful articles in Oddfellows' Hall on Wednesday of last week, and realized a goodly sum of money therefrom. During the evening an interesting program was given, the chief features being selections by the Weymouth orchestra and vocal selections by Miss Gwen McCormack.

Two young men from the Agricultural College, Truro, were in town over Sunday, guests at the Goodwin Hotel. They are inspecting the orchards and neighboring hard wood trees in search of brown tail moth nests. They are of the opinion that these pests are under check here, although eighty nests were found at Weymouth Mills.

During the past year good progress has been made in erecting the Church of England building at Weymouth Falls. When completed, the people of that communion in that locality will have a pretty and attractive church. The land upon which it is situated, including a burial ground, was a gift from our generous citizen, Mr. G. D. Campbell.

The latest rumor in connection with the proposed change in the location of the railroad favors the chances of a change. Conjecture is rife as to the outcome of the extensive surveys held by O. P. R. officials this autumn. The amount of permanent work done by the company of late upon the present line did not confirm the opinions of those who gave credence to the rumors of a change. This belief was further shaken when it was reported that the proposed route was two miles or more longer than the present one, and cuts through some of the most valuable property in the town.

On the other hand the advantages of a long high grade and not requiring so long a bridge to span the Sissiboo river, and eliminating the "draw" in a new bridge, are factors not to be overlooked by any means. It appears that it had been the company's intention to erect a new steel bridge across the river, this summer, fifty feet below the present structure, but as nothing has yet been done towards its erection, the belief is substantiated that the above proposals have received serious consideration. Naturally a definite announcement is being looked forward to with interest.

"MY ONLY MEDICINE"

Says Mrs. Corbett, Are "Fruit-a-lives"
"They Keep Me In Perfect Health"

Mrs. ANNIE A. CORBETT

AVON, ONT., May 14th, 1913.
"I have used 'Fruit-a-lives' for indig-estation and Constipation with most excellent results, and they continue to be my only medicine. I am highly pleased with 'Fruit-a-lives' and am not ashamed to have the facts published to the world. When I first started, about six years ago, to use them, I took four for a dose, but I cured myself of the above troubles and gradually reduced the dose to one tablet at night.
Before taking 'Fruit-a-lives' I took salts and other pills but the treatment was too harsh. I thought I might as well suffer from the disease as from these treatments.
Finally, I saw 'Fruit-a-lives' advertised with a letter in which someone recommended them very highly, so I tried them. The results were more than satisfactory and I have no hesitation in recommending them to any other person.
They have done me a world of good. I get satisfaction from them, and that is quite a lot". ANNIE A. CORBETT.

PAIN IN MY BACK IS ALL GONE

Since I Got a Box of Gin Pills

CHURCH ST., CORNWALLIS, N. S.
January 23rd,

"About a year ago, I was suffering so much with a dreadful lame back and hips, that I could not stand up straight.
I was informed by a friend about GIN PILLS. I got a box. It helped me immediately. I have taken about twelve boxes and the pains in my back and hips are all gone. I cannot speak too highly of the wonderful effects of your GIN PILLS."

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING
Save your Hair! Get a 25 cent bottle of Dandruff right now—Also stops itching scalp.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.
There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Dandruff tonic—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Dandruff from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Dandruff. Save your hair! Try it!

HAD DELIRIUM TREMENS

Cured of Drink Habit in 3 Days by Gatlin Treatment

A person who was constantly affected by strong drink became so serious that delirium tremens developed and in this state was taken to the Gatlin Institute for their Liquor Habit Cure.

Although this was a difficult case the patient was satisfactorily cured of the Drink Habit in 3 days.

Every day most difficult cases are being sent out from the Institute with no more desire for drink than when the first glass was taken.

All cases of Drink Habit with its outcomes of nervous breakdown, Insomnia, emaciation, etc., are cured and health and strength are restored, nerves steadied, brain cleared, sleep and appetite regained and happiness in the home follows.

The Gatlin Home Treatment is for those who cannot find it convenient to come to the Institute. Certified Nurse can be sent within a reasonable distance without extra charge.

Write today for booklet and full particulars sent free.

The "Never Fail" Oil and Gasoline Can

Will draw over a gallon a minute.

Will take all the oil out of the can.

Will run the oil from lamp back into can.

You have no oil valves or pump to get out of order, no faucet to leak and drip. You do not have that disagreeable odor of oil and gasoline in your rooms. You need not be afraid of an explosion. You do not have oil all over your hands, lamp and floor. Your oil and gasoline bills will be one third less when using one of these cans, as they are airtight, allowing no evaporation.

Take one home and use it for 30 days, if it is not the best you ever saw or used, bring it back and get your money. That's the way we sell it.

Turtles Hibernate in The Winter

Don't be a Turtle

Webster defines Hibernation as follows: "To pass the winter in close quarters; to be in a torpid or lethargic state."
The TURTLE hibernates. It sees no beauty of the winter months and buries itself until the warm sunshine of the spring appears.
The approach of winter prompts the management of this theatre to run this "Ad." with a purpose in view. We fear you might be like the torpid turtle and stay too close to your fireside these winter nights; hence the mission of this "Ad." Just a reminder lest you fall into the winter habits of the TURTLE.
Let's not "beat around the bush"—the point we are striving to make plain is this—We need the money—and if you spend the winter nights at home—well what's the answer?

We are asking for your money, and in return will strive to give you all that is good in pictures. To make it worth your while to visit the Bijou Dream this winter, we will show a cracker-jack line of pictures and give you some of the best music you have ever heard.

SO PLEASE DON'T BE A TURTLE.
P. S.—We'll keep you warm.

Synopsal of Coal Mining Regulations

COAL mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, in Yukon Territory, the North-west Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2,500 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal subdivisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

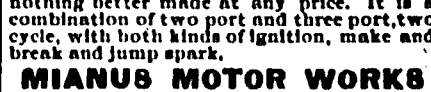

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $100 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

12 Tumors Removed Without An Operation

Dear Mrs. Currah—I am enjoying better health than I have for eight years, and I think I am entirely cured. I have none of the old symptoms. I am very grateful for my present health, and think Orange Lily is the greatest treatment for women the world knows. Its use in my case caused 12 tumors or growths of some sort to be expelled. Some were as large as a hen's egg, and others smaller, down to the size of a walnut. You may use my case in your advertisement, for it is the solid truth, and you cannot describe all the good it has done for me. Mrs. Louise M. Bolteridge.

This letter gives an indication of the positive benefits that always follow the use of Orange Lily. It is an applied treatment and comes in direct contact with the suffering organs. It produces results from the start in all cases of women's disorders, including painful periods, falling womb, irregularities, leucorrhoea, etc.

I will send a sample box containing 10 days' treatment absolutely free to any suffering woman who has not yet tried it. If she will send me her address. Enclose a stamp and address MRS. FRANCES E. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

Water Power Shall Be the People's.
CONTROL OF THIS UTILITY IN PRIVATE HANDS IN THE UNITED STATES IS SWIFTLY INCREASING.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Monopolistic control of water power in private hands was denounced, with a declaration that no water power rights owned by the public ever should be removed from public ownership, by the National Conservation Congress, which adjourned here late today.

The climax of the water power fight which had agitated the Congress for several days, came after the committee on resolutions, to which had been referred divergent reports from the waterways committee, submitted that the matter had been taken from its hands by action of the convention yesterday, in adopting general principles upon which the waterways committee agreed. No mention of the majority or minority reports, which differed as to the state and federal control of water power projects was made in the resolutions committee's report to the convention.

When the report had been read Clifford Pinchot, former chief forester of the United States, and father of the minority waterways report in the Congress, moved an amendment to the resolutions report, a declaration of principles on waterways control, similar to the ideas in the minority report signed by himself, former Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, and Joseph N. Teal, of Oregon. This amendment was adopted by a vote of 317 to 96, after one offered by Representative Burnett, of Alabama which injected into the resolution the matter of state control of waterways project had been defeated 378 to 132.

The Pinchot amendment, approved after a stormy session, during which repeated attempts were made to adjourn by some southern and western delegates declared that monopolistic control of water power in private hands was swiftly increasing in the United States.

Str. Bridgeport Gone to Bottom.
WRECKAGE OF STEAMER PICKED UP ON NEWFOUNDLAND COAST.

OTTAWA, Nov. 21.—Word has been received here from Newfoundland, in response to an inquiry from the marine department, which seems to confirm the general belief that the coal steamer Bridgeport has gone down. The deputy minister of marine at St. John's (Nfld.), wired this afternoon telling of the finding of wreckage along the Newfoundland coast. The despatch reads:

"Just received wire from Lunenburg stating six or seven steamer hatch pieces picked up since Sunday. Reported a life buoy picked up at Dantsic. Have requested customs officer at Lunenburg to obtain full particulars. Will wire upon receipt of same."

Word has also come from Quebec that Captain Pelletier of the government steamer Montcalm, which has just arrived there, left Sydney only a few hours before the Bridgeport. He was sailing into the gulf when the western gale became so violent that he had to put back for shelter to Aspy Bay, Cape Breton. While lying in there the Bridgeport passed him the next day at noon heavily loaded with coal and struggling hard with the raging storm as it entered the Gulf. That was the last seen of the ill fated vessel.

When the Montcalm ventured out, she got only as far as Bird Rock when she again had to seek the shelter of the Magdalen Islands, and remain there three days with the anchors dragging much of the time, so violent was the gale. Later she was able to continue her trip west.

Premier Going to Washington

OTTAWA, Nov. 24.—Premier Borden has arranged to stop in Washington next month on his way back to Ottawa from Hot Springs, Va.

The Premier will meet both President Wilson and British Ambassador, Sir Cecil Spring Rice, and will confer with them on several matters affecting Canada's relations with the United States. These include questions of power and navigation development on the St. Lawrence River and other boundary waters, and the proposed joint fisheries regulations.

Mr. Borden will probably spend several days in Washington.

Messina Wreckage Yields $137,000.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Messina, which was wrecked by an earthquake in 1908, proves to be the wealthiest city in Italy except Rome. It is estimated that more than $137,000,000 of treasure has been recovered from the wreckage.

Was Deaf and Dumb?

A Truro lady heard a knock at her door recently. It was not convenient for her to respond, so she called out: "Go around to the side door." She found a melancholy looking man there who handed her a card soliciting aid and stating that the bearer was deaf and dumb. She didn't contribute.

TUMOR IN THE STOMACH
Completely Removed When She Took "Fruit-a-lives"
NEWBURY, ONT., April 4th, 1913.
"Some years ago, I was sick in bed, and thought I was going to die. I had a growth in my stomach, which the doctors said was a tumor and they said that the only thing to do was to go to the hospital and have the tumor cut out. I dreaded an operation although both doctors said it was the only cure. I said I would die before being operated on. At this time, my mother in Alvinson sent me some "Fruit-a-lives" and induced me to try them as she had heard of another woman who had been cured of a similar growth in the stomach by taking "Fruit-a-lives".
To please my mother, I began to take "Fruit-a-lives" with the happy result that they cured me. I have not been to see a doctor since and my health is first class.
I recommend "Fruit-a-lives" every time I get a chance and I will be glad to have you publish this letter as some other woman may now be a sufferer from the same trouble and "Fruit-a-lives" will cure her." Mrs. A. McFARLAND.

Casualty List in United States.
THOUSANDS OF PERSONS WERE KILLED AND INJURED IN THREE MONTHS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—The Interstate Commerce Commission's accident bulletin issued for the quarter ending June 30, 1913, shows that as compared with the returns of the corresponding quarter of 1912 there was a total increase of 140 in the number of persons killed. There was an increase of 124 in the number of train accidents. Defective railway and defective equipment together caused more than 69 per cent of all derailments reported, 15.16 per cent being caused by broken rails.

The total number of casualties in all classes of accidents incident to railroading during the quarter was 2,535 killed, and 49,911 injured. Of these totals 2,256 were killed and 15,868 injured in other than train accidents, including accidents to employees while at work, to passengers getting on or off cars, and to trespassers. The total number of collisions and derailments reported for the quarter was 3,596, of which 118 collisions and 202 derailments affected passenger trains. The financial damage caused by the accidents was $3,734,289, a material increase over the returns of the corresponding quarter of 1912.

Steamer Champlain Towed Back
SMOKE STACK KNOCKED OVER BY STORM IN THE DAY.

[Friday's St. John Globe.]
The steamer Champlain, in charge of Captain Weston, left here Thursday afternoon for Meteghan, N. S., where she is to undergo extensive repairs to the hull. When she had gone down the Bay about twenty miles the sea became so rough that considerable difficulty was experienced in navigating the steamer, and the captain was at a loss whether to proceed or return to port and wait until calmer weather. A short time later the steamer began to be buffeted about by the wind and waves and to make matters worse the smokestack keeled over and tore its way through the railing. There was considerable confusion for some time, but the captain, who was ably assisted by Captain C. McLean, succeeded in turning the boat and returning to port. This morning she was taken through the Falls and tied up to her wharf at Indian town, where the smokestack will be replaced and the damaged woodwork repaired. When the repairs are completed the captain will make another attempt to cross the Bay.

One On the Clergyman.
A clergyman was being shaved by a barber who had evidently become unnerved by the previous night's dissipation. Finally he cut the clergyman's chin. The latter looked up at the artist reproachfully, and said: "You see, my man, what comes of hard drinking." "Yes, sir," replied the barber consolingly, it makes the skin tender."

What Ears Are.
"Mamma," said little Harry, who was being given a bath, "I know what ears are."
"What are they, Harry," she asked.
"They are little waste baskets to catch cinders and dust in."

—Extravagant people will be sending their friends eggs as Christmas presents this year.

New York Letter.
THE YOUTHFUL MAYOR ENJOYS A SOUTHERN TRIP.—S. S. PRINCE REPORTED.
DEAR MR. EDITOR.—This will remind you that the COURIER is never forgotten and its weekly budget of news received with peculiar interest. Perhaps a few paragraphs concerning passing events in this country may be of interest to some of your readers.
The great International Horse Show, which has been on in Madison Square Garden, New York, for the past week has been the all absorbing topic with a large number. This is more than a display of magnificent horses and wonderful horsemanship. That alone would make it worth going a long distance to see. Besides these interesting features it is under the patronage of the most millionaire class and hence fashion in all its varied forms is present. Alfred G. Vanderbilt is president and the four hundred generally occupy their boxes making the scene one of dazzling splendor. Great Britain, France, Spain, Belgium, Norway and Canada were represented with their finest horses, whilst the various parts of the United States sent the best they had. Hon. Clifford Sifton, of Ottawa, and Capt. W. T. Rodden, of Montreal, contributed some magnificent horses and won a number of important prizes. They certainly did work that was a source of pride to the many Canadians present. The only horses that broke even with them in the jumping contest, in my mind, were those from France. Ladies were much in evidence in both the carriage and saddle contests.

Mayor elect Mitchell, wife, and a party of friends left New York on the 12th via United Fruit Co's S. S. Zeepaar for a trip to the Canal Zone. At Kingston, Ja., they stopped off for a couple of days and then embarked on the S. S. Tenadores of the same line to complete the voyage to the Canal and return to New York. He cables back from Panama that his trip so far had been a delightful one. He is a young man, only 35 years old, his wife only 24 and looks exactly like his pictures as they have appeared in the papers. Says he will return fully recuperated from the exhausting affects of his arduous campaign. He has certainly been a child of fortune for a young man looking forward with hope that his administration of the affairs of the great city of New York may give evidence that his good luck has not deserted him. An idea of the magnitude of the great office he is elected to occupy may be understood when we say that the appointments to office he will make January 1st, when he enters upon his duties, aggregate the sum of five million dollars in salaries and the expenditures under his control exceed two hundred millions annually. His term of office extends four years from New Year's Day. Ex Gov. Sulzer, whom Tammany deposed from the Governorship of New York state, has accepted a very profitable offer to go on a lecture tour and has already addressed several audiences. As he is a capital speaker and a master of sarcasm, Charlie Murphy's ears will no doubt be kept warm.

The whole country is just now interested in the marriage of Miss Jessie Wilson, daughter of the President to Mr. Francis B. Sayre which event took place in the White House Nov. 25th. The wedding cake made by Mme. Blanche in New York, was shipped Monday to Washington. For the information of any interested brides, who may read their lines who wish to excel this function, I may say that the cake weighed 3,000 lbs., was twenty-two inches in diameter and with its vase topped with white orchids was nearly three feet high. Mme. Blanche accompanied it to Washington and did not let it pass out of her control. It was placed on the table in the White House. The wedding presents were very costly, numerous and beautiful as would obviously be the case, estimated value being $100,000. Mr. Sayre has accepted a position in Williams College, Williamstown, Mass., in which town they will reside.
I notice the St. John Reporter, formerly on the Bay of Fundy, scheduled to make regular trips from Saint John, Cuba, and Colon, via Kingston, Jamaica. Her internal arrangement has been completely changed to suit her new service. She runs in connection with the Cuban railroad.
The weather all last week was unusually mild with temperatures, sometimes reaching 70 degrees. On Sunday it fell to 40 degrees so that shipping was held up at the entrance of New York harbor. In this town the lawns are as green as in summer. I am somewhat colder to-day and still feel conditions promised.
Thursday was Thanksgiving Day here and the American people beside rendering thanks to Providence for the many blessings of the past year, suddenly take into account gastronomical considerations to a large extent judging from the tons of turkeys arriving during the past week from the West.

Mrs. Pankhurst has returned from the West and addressed a meeting in Carnegie Hall, New York, Monday night and is booked to sail for England this week. She has not given expression to any of her militant methods so far in this country, but is in a very acute controversy with Anthony Comstock regarding the sale of her daughter's book which Comstock has prohibited being sold in New York.
Pardon me for using so much space.
Very sincerely,
P.
Bloomfield, N. J., Nov. 29th, 1913.

HIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD
Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender Little Stomach, liver and bowels.
Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhoea, full of colic, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste and undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

THE HIGH CALLING of Motherhood demands the utmost precaution in maintaining health at high efficiency. It is doubly important and nothing in the world is so useful as Scott's Emulsion, good cheer and sunshine. Scott's Emulsion makes the blood rich and pure. It contains the vital flesh-building and bone-building properties and insures abundant nourishment. It strengthens the nerves and creates energy and vitality during this period. Expectant and nursing mothers always need Scott's Emulsion. YOUR DRUGGIST HAS IT 12-1

Town Council.
The Town Council met at 8 p. m., Nov. 24th, at the Council Chamber, present H. S. Worship the Mayor and Councillors Jones, Jordan, Rice and Warner.
The minutes of the last meeting of the Council were read and approved. The report of G. A. Vye, Supt. of Streets and Water, was read as follows:
Digby, Nov. 24th, 1913.
To His Worship the Mayor and Council:
GENTLEMEN.—I beg to submit the following report to Streets and Water.
The dead leaves were removed from the streets, the Racquette bridge gravelled and all the T. C. P. cross drains flushed out. Also general repairs after rain.
Two new service systems put in, one on First Avenue for Mrs. E. Calder, and one on Montague Street for Mrs. M. Forsyth. Repaired the two inch pipe leading to Court Ward. The hydrant at corner of Montague and Mount Streets was taken up and now bushing and valve put in.
G. A. Vye,
Superintendent.

On motion of Councillors Jordan and Rice the report was received and adopted.
The report of Dr. W. F. Read, Health Officer, was read as follows:
To His Worship the Mayor and Councillors of the Town of Digby:
I beg to submit the following report as Health Officer for the quarter ending November 30th, 1913.
A few cases of measles have been reported. This may become serious among the school children unless parents are careful to keep all children in school and at home for at least two weeks after full recovery.
The serious complications of this disease are catarrhal conditions of the bronchi, middle ear and eyes, as well as providing ground for the invasion of tuberculosis.
Inspection of the school house shows marked improvement in the rooms provided with hard wood floors the past summer and it is hoped that no great time will elapse before the other rooms are similarly finished.
I wish to call your special attention to the condition of the toilet room provided for the girls.
It is unsanitary, dark and wholly unfit for the purpose intended. Some of the traps won't flush. The odor is very unpleasant and only goes away when the wind blows.
I would recommend that the present room be done away with, and a new room be provided at the corner of the school house, be obtained, secured and made sanitary by automatic or efficient flushings, cement floors, etc., and that this be done as soon as possible, not later than the Xmas holidays. The expense would be small and the need is very urgent.
Respectfully,
W. F. Read,
Health Officer.

On motion of Councillors Rice and Jordan the report was referred to the School Board.
Mr. B. H. Havey appeared before the Council on behalf of Mrs. M. L. Oliver. He stated that the estate of M. L. Oliver, deceased, was in arrears for taxes for three years. Through an error of the assessors the property had been assessed to the estate of M. L. Oliver instead of to Mrs. Oliver to whom the property had been sold by her late husband and consequently the widow had not been allowed the exemption allowed by law to widows. He asked the Council to allow Mrs. Oliver the exemption allowed by law for the last three years and he would see that the amount of taxes due, less the exemption, would be paid.
On motion of Councillors Jordan and Rice Mrs. Oliver was allowed an exemption of $100.00 a year on the assessment for the years the taxes were unpaid and the amount of taxes due on the exemption deducted from the amount of taxes due.
The following bills were reported up by the Finance Committee and ordered to be paid:
A. D. Daley.....$ 7.50
Digby King.....$ 5.00
H. W. Bowles.....$ 3.00
Dr. W. F. Read.....$ 2.00
Wm. Kaler.....$ 4.00
H. Mueller Mar's.....$ 2.50
G. H. Holdsworth.....$ 1.75
W. E. VanHartson.....$ 1.15
H. L. Dennison.....$ 13.91
Maritime Tel. & Tel. Co.....$ 2.25
John Bates.....$ 6.00
H. A. Abrahamson.....$ 41.50
John Daley.....$ 97.70
Pay Roll, Streets and Water.....$ 145.00

Bill of Dr. W. F. Read for $100.00 professional services to family of Edw. Campbell, was on motion of Councillor Jones and Jordan allowed to stand over till the next meeting of the Council.
The Clerk reported that he had been served with a writ of summons in the case of Edw. Warner against the Town of Digby for damages for wrongfully constructing a dam on King street thereby causing water to flow on and over plaintiff's land.
After considerable discussion it was on motion of Councillors Warner and Rice ordered that a special meeting of the Council be held on Thursday evening, the 27th inst., to decide what action should be taken by the Council in regard to said action.
On motion the Council adjourned at 10:30 p. m.

Yesterday's Wedding

AYMAR—TITUS

A large crowd gathered in the Digby Baptist church yesterday morning to witness the marriage of Stanley Smith Aymar, of the firm of J. O. Mills, general dry goodsman and gent's furnisher, Sydney, N. S., to Miss Estella Lillian, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Titus. The ceremony was performed at 11.15 a. m., by the Rev. J. D. Brohaut, pastor of the church, the ring service being used. The bride, who was unattended, was prettily dressed in a navy blue travelling suit with green hat. The wedding march was nicely rendered by Prof. Joseph Adams, of the Bijou Dream theatre, the church being appropriately trimmed for the occasion. The bridal party was conveyed to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Sullivan, Birch street, for luncheon, previous to boarding the east bound express en route to Sydney where they will reside. A large number of friends gathered at the station where the happy couple were showered with rice and confetti. The Countess joins both the bride and groom's host of friends in extending congratulations and best wishes.

Reopening of Holy Trinity Church Grandville Ferry.

This church, which has been for some time in a rather dilapidated condition, was reopened last Sunday after extensive repairs and alterations. The whole structure has been put in thorough repair, a new tower and chancel have been added, a new bell hung, and the pews and interior wood work have been replaced by modern ones. New windows have been inserted and a floor ceiling roof has been put into position.

The reopening services took place at 8.30, 11, 3 and 7. The Rev. H. How, Rural Dean, celebrated the Holy Communion at the early service, and preached at Morning Prayer. The Rev. W. Driffield assisted at the morning services, and was the preacher in the afternoon and evening. The church had crowded congregations all day, a large number crossing from Annapolis in the afternoon. The day's offertories amounted to about $80.00. The rector, Rev. C. W. Neish, and his congregation are to be congratulated on the enterprise and faithful work which have been manifested in this undertaking.

Death of James Farnham.

James Farnham died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles Van Ness, Monday morning, aged 88 years. In the days of the old wooden ship building, Mr. Farnham was a well known caulker, but had not been actively engaged for a number of years. He leaves two sons and two daughters: C. E. Farnham, of St. John; T. S. Farnham, of Jamaica Plain, Mass.; Mrs. Chas. Vantassel, of Digby, and Alva in Boston. He is also survived by one brother and two sisters: Mr. William Farnham, of St. John; Mrs. Richard J. Thorne, of Digby, and Mrs. Fraser Dakin, of Weymouth. The funeral took place on Wednesday, with interment in the Episcopal cemetery. The service at the house was conducted by Rev. J. D. Brohaut, and at the grave by Rev. William Driffield. Among those out of town, who attended the funeral, were T. S. Farnham, of Jamaica Plain, and Chas. Farnham, jr., of St. John.

Annapolis Line.

OUR SISTER TOWN WILL HAVE AN ALL NIGHT TELEPHONE SERVICE

Through the energy displayed by a few phone holders, Annapolis Royal will shortly enjoy an all night telephone service.

The Company's men are now in that town installing the new instruments secured by a house to house canvass carried on by the committee, placed in charge by the Board of Trade, and it is expected the new service will go into effect on Monday next.

We are sure Annapolis will find the all night service a great benefit, and should appreciate the work of the committee that were able to bring the matter to a successful conclusion.

Beware of Bad Express Checks.

A number of Dominion Express checks have been stolen from an office of the company at Heister, Ont., and it is, of course, quite possible that they may be found in circulation in the maritime provinces. In an interview with Mr. O. O. Jones, the company's popular and efficient agent here, we learn that the stolen ones are series Z, Nos. 795042 to 49; A. A. from 213000 to 28, and 213331 to 99. If any of these show up for payment in the Banks or other places of business, the company requests a refusal of payment, and that they be turned in to the nearest Dominion Express office, or sent to Mr. Jones at Digby, who will give the matter his prompt attention.

The Youth's Companion Calendar for 1914.

The publishers of The Youth's Companion will, as always at this season, present to every subscriber whose subscription is paid for 1914, a calendar for the new year. It is a gem of calendar-making. The decorative mounting is rich, but it is subordinated to the main purpose to produce a calendar that is useful.

OF A LOCAL NATURE

The first real snow storm of the season occurred yesterday.

There are 400 cases of whooping cough in Woodstock, N. B., at present.

Victoria Park is being made ready for ice skating.

Mr. Oren Zigler, of South Range, picked a bouquet of May flowers Saturday.

Several interesting games of basketball took place at Victoria Park last week.

The first degree will be conferred on a candidate in St. George Lodge of Oddfellows tonight.

It is reported that Mrs. John Jacob Astor will marry the designer of Mr. W. L. Holdsworth's power boat "Viper."

The Digby branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, has our thanks for a very handsome calendar received this week.

A private dance took place in the Oddfellows hall last night. All who were present spent a very enjoyable evening.

The ladies of Holy Trinity church will hold their annual Xmas sale and tea, Wednesday, Dec. 10th. See poster later.

Mr. William Foley, of Salmon River, Digby Co., has been gazetted a Sundry Magistrate for the Municipality of Clare.

The public are notified that letters mailed, bearing Christmas stamps on the face of the letter will not be delivered. By order of the Postmaster General.

Mrs. C. A. Abbott's sewing circle, "The Willing Workers" gave an excellent entertainment in the Methodist hall Monday evening, which was largely attended.

The Baraca and Philathea classes of the Digby Baptist Sunday School, held a social in their hall Tuesday evening, which proved one of the most enjoyable entertainments ever given under the auspices of the class. The attendance was large and all who were present report a good time.

Special Meeting Town Council.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held at the Council Chamber, November 27, at 8 p. m.

Present: His Worship the Mayor and Councillors Jones, Jordan, Rice, Shortliffe and Warner.

His Worship stated that the meeting had been called to determine what action should be taken by the Town in reference to a writ of summons which had been issued by Mr. E. E. Warner against the Town of Digby for damages for wrongfully constructing a dam on the east side of King street in the Town of Digby thereby causing the water to flow on and over the Plainfield land.

On motion of Councillors Shortliffe and Jones the Town Solicitor was instructed to enter an appearance to the writ of summons on behalf of the Town of Digby, Nem. Con.

The Council then adjourned.

Extra Train Service.

A SPECIAL GUARANTEED BY ANNA POLIS MERCHANTS FOR SATURDAY, DEC. 20th.

Through the efforts of the Annapolis Royal Board of Trade, the merchants of that town have guaranteed the D. A. R. an amount sufficient to give them special train service for Saturday, Dec. 20th.

This service will enable shoppers to go to Annapolis by Express or Suburban on that date, inspect the offerings made by the merchants of that town and return the same evening to their homes by train, leaving Annapolis at 9 p. m.

This effort on the part of Annapolis merchants will be greatly appreciated by the residents of Clementsport, Deep Brook, Bear River and Smith's Cove.

Fashionable Wedding at Hecanooaga.

Our Meteghan correspondent writes: Wednesday morning, 28th ult., Mr. Edmund Robicheau, son of the Hon. H. M. Robicheau, M. L. C., was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Miss Lottie Surroette, of Hecanooaga, trained nurse and graduate of 1000 class of the Victoria General Hospital, Halifax. The ceremony was a simple one, only a few intimate relatives and friends were present. The Rev. F. Bracy officiated and celebrated High Mass. The bride was attended by Miss Marie Robicheau and the groom by Mr. Edmund Robicheau. They received numerous and costly presents. To the newly married couple we extend our sincere wishes of prosperity and peace in their journey through life.

Baptist Quarterly at Little River.

Tuesday, 9.30 a. m., devotional service; Rev. L. H. Kinman; 10 a. m., business of the district—appointing of officers.

Tuesday, 2.30 p. m., devotional service; Rev. L. D. Harvey; paper, Rev. John McFadden; discussion.

Tuesday, 7.30 p. m., praise service; Rev. R. B. Kinley. Missions will be presented by different speakers.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When the tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. The inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be restored, forever. Also cured of Catarrh of the Throat, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Digby and St. John.

The project of running a ferry service across the Bay of Fundy, between Digby and St. John, and which has been under consideration by the Canadian Pacific Railway, has been dropped and instead the steamship service, linking up the company's rail on both sides of the bay, is to be still further improved next year. This is the substance of a statement handed out by Mr. McNicholl, the vice-president and general manager of the Canadian Pacific railway.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mr. O. W. Mulso was a passenger from St. John Saturday.

Miss Estella Cummings, of Middleton, is visiting in Digby.

Mr. B. B. Hardwick, of Pyle's Pearl, arrived in Yarmouth by Saturday's train. He spent Sunday with relatives at Beaver River and left for Annapolis by Monday's train. This is Mr. Hardwick's 42nd year with Pearl, and he has probably covered more territory in that time than any other traveller.

T. Russell S. Smith, of Halifax, formerly with the Boston and Maine, with office in the North Station, Boston, is now with the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, of Canada, and is now known as one of the most reliable automobile tire experts in the Maritime provinces.

Mr. Smith was in Digby Friday, among the guests at Eaton's hotel.

Married at Little River.

MORRIS—THANK.

On Thursday evening, Nov. 27th, at 7.30 o'clock a very pleasant event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Burwell Trank, Little River, N. S., when their daughter Lois Ellene, was united in marriage to Mr. Bernand L. Morehouse, Rev. R. B. Kinley, pastor of the Little River Baptist Church, officiating. To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, nicely rendered by the bride's cousin, Mrs. Harold Cheney, the bride party entered the parlor and stood beneath an arch of evergreen, beautifully decorated with ferns and flowers. The interior of the house being artistically decorated for the occasion. The bride, who was attired in a gown of white Duchesse Mousseline silk with pearl trimmings, veil and orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and maiden hair fern, was attended by her sister, Miss Lizzie Trank, who wore an old rose silk. The groom was supported by the bride's brother, Mr. Lloyd Trank. At the conclusion of the ceremony, congratulations having been extended, a dainty luncheon was served to about eighty-five invited guests. The happy couple received many handsome and costly presents, coupled with the good wishes of their many friends and admirers. The groom's gift to the bride being a substantial check.

New Government Cruiser.

OTTAWA, Dec. 3.—Word has been received by the customs department that the new fast cruiser which is being built for the service will be launched at Southampton on Dec. 11. Mrs. G. H. Peley will christen the cruiser, to be called Margaret, the Christian name of the Duchess of Connaught. The cruiser is under contract to be delivered at Halifax at the end of the year. It is a steel twin screw boat and will be used for patrol service in the Gulf. It is very fast and thoroughly modern, and will be armed with two six-pound quick firing guns. There has been a great deal of smuggling and poaching in the Gulf, which it is expected the new boat will put an end to.

Tug Eldred left for St. John Monday, and her place here towing mud scows has been taken by the tug Victoria.

D. & O. Sproule's arrivals this week: From Boston, 4,390 lbs. of mixed fish; shipped 468 boxes of finnan haddies.

Schr. Valdaro, Capt. Moore, sailed Friday with staves for Rockport, Me., shipped by the Bloomfield Lumber Company.

Arrivals at the Nova Scotia Fish Company's wharf: from Boston, 10,000 lbs. of mixed fish; shipped 650 boxes of finnan haddies.

Barb Calurga, Capt. Smith, completed her cargo of lumber at Digby for Buenos Ayres, and hauled out into the stream last night.

Schr. Oora Gertie, Capt. M. G. Crocker, arrived here yesterday afternoon with a load of fresh fish for the Maritime Fish Corporation.

Arrivals at the Maritime Fish Corporation this week: Schr. Oora Gertie, 35, 461 lbs. of haddock, 4,320 lbs. of hake; other sources, 2,572 lbs. of cod, 21,280 lbs. of haddock, 11,376 lbs. of hake.

Fish arrivals at Yarmouth Tuesday: Schr. Albert J. Lutz, Capt. Arthur Longmire, with 7,500 haddock; 5,000 mixed fish. Schr. Myrtle L., Capt. Roy Longmire, with 3,000 haddock; 2,500 mixed fish.

The turn schooner Eddie Thorla is due from Yarmouth to load lumber for Clonferges. She goes to Bear River first to take in part cargo from Clark Bros., and then comes to Digby to finish from the Bloomfield Lumber Company.

The St. John three master Minerva arrived here on Sunday from Hall's Harbor to finish loading staves for Trinidad.

Captain Forsythe reports the St. John's three masted Lavinia sailed from Hall's Harbor on Friday with potatoes for Havana.

Arrivals at Joseph E. Snow's this week: From Boston, 1,690 lbs. of haddock, 1,245 lbs. of hake, 660 lbs. of cod; shipped 678 boxes of finnan haddies, 178 boxes of fillets, 600 lbs. of fresh haddock, 11,500 lbs. of salt haddock and 4,000 lbs. of silvers.

With her cargo of sixty thousand brick still aboard, the schooner E. Mayfield, which sank in the Annapolis River, several weeks ago, after striking one of the ice piers, has been successfully raised from the river bottom and taken far enough ashore to allow the discharging of the cargo.

The raising of the vessel was a difficult task undertaken by E. H. Reid, the contractor for the ice piers. Two previous attempts failed, but he was not the kind of man to give up as he is used to discouragements of this nature in his extensive contracts.

The following vessels have reported at the Digby Customs house since Nov. 28th: Inward—Dec. 1st, schr. Minerva, Forsyth, Hall's Harbor; Dec. 1st, S. S. Victoria, Livingston, St. John; 2nd, schr. Oora Gertie, Crocker, Freeport; schr. Elsie B. Nickerson, Morehouse, Annapolis; schr. Rose W., Greenboro, Lubec, Me. Outward—Nov. 29th, S. S. Eldred, Russell, St. John, N. B.; Dec. 2nd, schr. Oora Gertie, Crocker, Freeport; schr. Elsie B. Nickerson, Morehouse, Annapolis; 3rd, schr. Minerva, Forsyth, La Bra, Trinidad, 700,000 barrel staves. In for harbor—Schr. Lucella, Scott, Bridgetown for Port Groville; schr. Emma E. Potter, Annapolis for St. John.

DAIT REPORTS.

Overseer Farrier reports from Woodward's Cove, N. B.: Nov. 27th, three hundred and fifty barrels bait at Grand Harbor; 28th, five hundred barrels bait at Long Pond Bay; 29th, sixteen hundred barrels bait at Long Pond Bay; Dec. 1st, one thousand barrels bait at Grand Harbor and Long Pond Bay; 2nd, five hundred barrels bait at Woodward's Cove, Grand Harbor and Long Pond Bay; 3rd, four hundred barrels bait at Grand Harbor and Long Pond Bay.

Overseer Justason reports from St. George, N. B.: No bait available Nov. 27th, 28th, 29th; Dec. 1st, 2nd and 3rd.

A False Report.

JEWELS STOLEN WHILE GIFTS OF THE ROYAL HIGHNESS TO A BRITISH OFFICER.

OTTAWA, Dec. 2.—An official denial of the burglary of Clarence House, London, W., the residence of the Duke of Connaught, was made at Government House this evening by M. J. Farquhar, military secretary. "There is absolutely no foundation for the report," said M. J. Farquhar.

From cables received today it appears that among other things found in the possession of London burglars recently there had been articles bearing the crest of the royal governor-general. This led to the belief that the London residence of his royal highness had been burglarized. It is known that Clarence House contains priceless treasures and naturally considerable alarm was felt on receipt of the reports.

The explanation offered is that the articles which were found were presented made by the Duke of Connaught to an officer in the British army, and of which he had been robbed.

Wedding Balls.

A very pretty home wedding took place at Annapolis, on Wednesday, Dec. 3rd, at 10.30 a. m., when Geneva May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Goudy H. Nichols, was united in the holy bonds of wedlock to Ralph Waldo Emerson Marshall, of Marshalltown, Digby Co.

The happy couple entered the parlor, which was tastefully decorated with overgrown and potted plants, to the strains of Sousa's Military wedding march, played by Maj. D. O. McKay. The bride, who looked charming, was dressed in white brocaded mesaline silk, and carried a large bouquet of white chrysanthemums. She was attended by her little sisters, Susie and Alice, as flower girls. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Wm. Driffield, Rector of Holy Trinity Church, Digby, and St. Paul's Chapel, Marshalltown, of which the bride is a member, in the presence of sixty invited guests, friends and relatives of the contracting parties. After the ceremony a sumptuous luncheon was served, followed by an hour of pleasant conversation and music. The wedding party was then driven to the steamer Yarmouth, by W. W. Hayden's auto, en route for St. John, where they will spend a short honeymoon, after which they will reside at the home of the groom, Marshalltown.

The presents, which consisted of silverware, cut glass, linen, etc., were costly and numerous, being ample testimony of the high esteem and popularity of the happy couple. The Countess extends best wishes.

Death at Westport.

Nov. 29th, aged 27 years, Mrs. Chas. Pugh, jr., and infant child passed peacefully away under extremely sad circumstances. All that medical skill could do to save life was done, but without avail. Dr. Bishop summoned Dr. Rice, of Sandy Cove, and Dr. Hallett, of Weymouth, and they came as fast as auto and motor boat could bring them, but in the early hours of morning they passed to that bourne from which no traveller ever returns. Hers was the flower of a blameless life. Her maiden name was Mary Uly Hicks, the second daughter of Capt. Stewart and Lena Hicks.

The wife carried the sad message, so unexpected, to the father in his little vessel on the New Brunswick shore and to the elder daughter, Miss Blanche, who was teaching in the public schools of Halifax city. They came home to witness the remains laid away in the silent city of the dead. The whole circumstances were very sad. We feel that we can render not only our own sympathy, but that of the whole community to these stricken ones and to the almost heart broken husband for the great loss he has sustained after two short years of happiness with one who was very dear to him. May the kind Father support them in this hour of trial.

Deep Brook.

(From Another Correspondent.)

Miss Lottie Sulis returned home from Wolfville last week.

Mr. C. V. Heushaw returned Saturday from a visit at Yarmouth.

Misses Josie Barteaux and Josephine Sulis, of Bear River, spent Sunday at their homes here.

Mrs. Garnet Benson left yesterday for Kentville, where she expects to reside in the future, as Mr. Benson has accepted a position in that town. We are very sorry to lose the young people from our midst, but wish them every success in their new home.

A very successful pie social for the benefit of St. Matthew's church was held in Union Hall on Thursday last, when we understand the sum of $50.00 was realized. The members interested in the work of the church certainly appreciate the interest shown and by the large number present it was easily seen that many were interested in a good cause.

CLARKE BROS.

GRAND OPENING OF

December 9th and Following Days

"Life has no nobler pleasure than that of Friendship." At the end of the busy year full of effort and struggle comes the season when we forget the trials and welcome the opportunities—when we count our friends and find them many—when we choose for them remembrances (not because of their cost but because of the pleasure they will bring), when we realize to the full that life is worth living, because for once it is unselfish.

"The Worries of the Season"

If our store may play its part during the trying days that lie between now and Christmas Eve; if it may lighten the strain of your purse (for everybody's is too small at such a time); if by good service and splendid assortment for your choosing it may help to keep the puzzle wrinkles from your forehead, it will have done all we have hoped and planned to have it do. We have given very careful thought to things useful and appropriate for presentation, and our stock of Goods bought specially for the Holiday Gift Season affords a wide choice. The list below does not represent all of what we have on our Counters but we trust its suggestions may prove helpful to you.

Fancy and Useful

We have purchased many Novelties in fancy and useful things for Christmas Gifts including Mirrors, Manicure Sets, Photo Frames, Leather Hand Bags, Brush and Comb Sets, Clocks, Jewel Cases, Music Rolls, Cigar Cases, Travelling Cases, Brass Novelties, etc., etc. Many other articles that space does not permit us here to mention.

Gifts for Women

Had you thought of a Dress Pattern for Christmas? Such a practical gift as this would be welcomed surely and then it would serve to remind the one who wears it of the giver. We offer you from now until Christmas a Special Cash Discount of ten per cent. on all Dress Goods purchases. Among the multitude of things she needs, likes and would appreciate are Fancy Neckwear, Handkerchiefs, Table Linens, Napkins, Towels, Gloves, Boots and Shoes, Rubber Footwear, Rain Coats, Coat Sweaters, Winter Jackets, Umbrellas, Fancy Linens, etc., etc.

SPECIAL DISCOUNT SALE

Women's and Children's Jackets

From now until Christmas we offer you a Special Cash Discount of twenty per cent. on all Women's and Children's Jackets you purchase.

Gifts for Men

There are many nice appropriate things to give a man and yet when one sits down alone to think of something suitable it is not an easy task. What to give father, brother, husband, son or friend can be found in our store. Neckwear, Gloves, Boots and Shoes, Rubber Footwear, Handkerchiefs, Suspenders, Hosiery, Coat Sweaters, Hats, Caps, Mufflers, Overcoats, Suits, Underwear.

We offer you a Special Cash Discount of ten per cent. on all purchases of Men's and Boys' Overcoats and Suits from now until Christmas.

Xmas Cards

We have them in endless variety, little remembrances of the Season such as everybody is looking for. 12c per dozen.

BIBLES

You will find at our counters just the style and type you need. Prices: 50c to $2.50 each.

BOOKS

A good book for the boy or the girl is the choicest of gifts. We invite you to our Book Department.

Holiday Stationery

Why not give Stationery? There is one pleasant task to remember about a gift of good Stationery—whenever it needs it or will need it. It seems but fair that a hint be dropped now of the choice assortment of box papers which we are showing, put up in Holly and other Xmas designs for the Christmas trade. The styles and qualities of papers are of a high grade and the packets are of such an attractive character as to be useful for many purposes after the paper has been used. Prices: 15c to $2.75 per box.

Fountain Pens

Why not give a real good Fountain Pen? Buy the best, as a poor Pen is a poor remembrance. We sell WATERMAN'S IDEAL PENS, and they are fully guaranteed. Prices: $1.25 to $5.00.

Silverware and Cut Glass

Among the prettiest Novelties for Christmas giving there are many dainty things in Silverware and Cut Glass, which not only add attractiveness to the table but in themselves are serviceable. We invite your inspection when visiting our store.

Christmas Jewelry

Our assortment consists of Lockets and Chains, Beauty Pins, Rings, Scarf Pins, Cuff and Collar Buttons, Watches, Watch Poles, Brooches, Veil Pins, Hat Pins, etc., etc.

Dress Suit Cases

Dress Suit Cases, that men and women who are going away for Christmas will want for their own use. They are also most useful for those who wish to give them as holiday presents. We invite you to see our display. Prices: $1.35 to $5.00 each.

Men's House Coats

Christmas Stocks are ready. Many of them through special purchasing and special care in manufacture, are not only distinctive in character but very much under the usual prices. These you will find on the centre counter to the right, as you enter our store. Prices: $4.50 to $7.00 each.

PERFUMES

We carry all the popular and most asked for Perfumes put up in Xmas boxes for Gift purposes. Prices: 15c to $1.75 per bottle.

Christmas Candies

"The Sweetest Gift of all." Nothing makes a more acceptable Christmas remembrance than a box of Ganong's Chocolates. These Chocolates are known to every one as being the standard of purity and excellence. Packed in attractive packages, two, one and one-half pounds. 30c to $1.00 per box. In our Candy department we have a complete line of "Ganong's." We are selling regular twenty cent Chocolates for 12 1/2c per pound. Three pounds Mixed Candy for 25c.

Fruits, Nuts and Raisins

We have purchased large quantities of Oranges, Grapes, Figs, Nuts, Raisins, which will be sold at small profits and which will give long life to your Dollar.

Ten Cent Counter

Don't fail to visit this Counter. Many articles on this Counter are worth twice what we ask for them.

Final Word

Buying early is an immense advantage. In the first place it is possible to make much better selections as the stock is more complete. In the second place you have more leisure and can take your time in buying. We are always pleased to put away Goods selected early and deliver them at any time you desire.

Soliciting your Holiday trade and wishing you a MERRY XMAS, We are,
Yours very truly,

LATEST IMPORTANT SUBURBAN NEWS

Picked up by Correspondents in Digby County and Elsewhere

A Synopsis of What is Going on Every Week in Our Neighboring Villages

Meteghan.

Mr. Bernie Gaudet was up to Digby last week.

Mr. Max B. Saulnier is at home from Pembroke.

Mr. Nicholas Maillet, of Mavillette, was in town Monday.

Mr. Peter H. McLannan, of Lake Doucet, was in town Saturday.

The sch. Rogie C. Capt. Sullivan, left Monday morning for St. John.

Mrs. Philip Thibodeau is visiting her sister, Mrs. Joseph H. Doveau, of Mavillette.

Miss Regina Comeau and Miss Pauline Dugas are home from Weymouth for a few weeks.

Mrs. Jacques Babine and family left last week for St. John where they intend to pass the winter.

Mrs. Philomine Comeau arrived Saturday from Eel Brook, Yarmouth Co., where she had been visiting her daughter.

Mr. Dosite Saulnier and his son Edmund returned last week from St. John where they had been for a part of the summer.

Mr. Denis and Basile Comeau, of Saint-Jovite Station, were with your correspondent at Mr. Ben. H. LeBlanc's Sunday evening.

Quite a commotion at Meteghan Centre when a moose was seen crossing the street and grazing in the fields near the shore. After having taken a small of the salt water he turned back to the woods.

Mrs. Basile B. Robichau, who had been almost at death's door is completely recovered. The case was a very serious one and reflects great tact on the part of Dr. Mac Donald, the attending physician.

Mr. Edward V. Comeau, son of Capt. Vincent Comeau, arrived last week from the United States to visit his relatives and friends after an absence of eleven years. Mr. Comeau is a first class carpenter and is working for a company whose work extends as far south as the West Indies.

Those who were entitled to the Fenian Raid Bounty have received notices that their claims will soon be paid. This will do a great deal of good and will put some money in the pockets. Mr. Jameson must be given the credit of having personally attended to the matter, so that every veteran of '66, now alive, should receive their dues.

A night school has been opened by your correspondent and Mr. Frank German with an attendance of 25, which promises to soon increase to 50 or more. Monday night being inauguration night, A. F. Hache was present and made a lengthy address to the members of the school. He pointed out and clearly defined the necessity of instruction in every branch of life. The long winter nights could be turned to profit. The work is not undertaken to make money but to be of some use to the public in general. During the Christmas holidays a concert will be given for the benefit of the school.

Mrs. Louis B. Robichau, Miss Francis Walsh, Mrs. Maggie Doveau, Mrs. Julius Doveau and son, Mr. Walter Doveau, attended the funeral of their brother, Mr. Thomas Walsh, at Plympton Sunday afternoon. The late Mr. Walsh was born at Plympton but was residing at Salem, Mass. A first class house carpenter by trade. About four weeks ago he got badly hurt and finally succumbed to his injuries. He leaves a wife and four children. The funeral was largely attended. The Foresters, to which Society he belonged, attended in a body, marching in procession before the hearse. Interment was made in the cemetery of the church of the Holy Cross by the Rev. Fr. Thibault, P. P. To the members of the bereaved family we offer our most sincere sympathies in their affliction. May his soul rest at peace with the Lord.

Deep Brook.

The Deep Brook Dorcas Society will hold their third annual Christmas sale and supper at Union Hall on Wednesday evening, Dec. 10th. Supper 25c. Everybody come and help to make this sale a grand success.

On Wednesday morning at eleven o'clock the Smith's Cove Baptist church was the scene of a very pretty wedding when Edward J. Payson and Bessie May Weir were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John McFadden pastor of the church. The single ring service being used. The wedding march was played by Miss Frances Austin. After a breakfast at Mr. Austin's, the bride and groom left by auto for Digby where they took the boat for St. John where they expect to spend the winter. They have left many friends who wish them many years of happy wedded life.

Westport.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Bowers returned on the 26th ult. from Boston where they have been enjoying a well earned two weeks' vacation. They report the short time they were away almost unexampled weather for November. The electric fans were being used in the restaurants and the doors were open as in the summer time. Did not go to put on rain coats or heavy coats at any time during their stay in the city.

Daily can be seen Capt. Jas. A. Moore with his ox Napoleon, doing the trucking business of the village. Like his great namesake, Napoleon has a will of his own, and often he takes it into his head that he has stood long enough and then he starts for home, frantically followed by his master with his avardoups of 225 pounds and his scanty locks flowing in the wind as he vainly attempts to stop him in his homeward race.

During the last two weeks the terrible sound of the motor boat can be heard as early as 3 a. m. wending its way to the fishing grounds for an early set of the trawl. One would think that an attempt would be made to muffle the loud discordant noise, but no, an insane idea exists that the unmuffled boat will go faster. All rot. Twenty years from now, each fisherman will have to have a megaphone and an ear trumpet attached to his side, as by that time, the ear drum will be so shattered that they will all be deaf or approaching it. Why will persons not take care of their senses so useful to them in this life of ours.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CO., LIMITED.

GENTLEMEN,—Last winter I received great benefit from the use of MINARD'S LINIMENT in a severe attack of La Grippe, and I have frequently proved it to be very effective in cases of inflammation.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

The Feet.
Pumice stone used frequently keeps the skin of the feet smooth. It is especially necessary on the heel and on the ball of the foot, where the weight of the body rests in walking. Never cut the toe nails too short, as they are more likely to become ingrown. And file them smooth with sandpaper, so they will not catch and pull the threads of your stockings.

SCRAMBLE FOR A SUPPER.

Dainty Methods of French Salons
When Free Meals Are Served.
Describing the supper arrangements made for French legislators during late sittings in the Palais Bourbon, the Paris Liberte says:

"At the appointed time the marble tables in the restaurant are covered with plates of larded veal, saveloys, cold ham, salad containing little cubes of Gruyere cheese and baskets of bread. As soon as the chamber gets wind of these preparations a general exodus takes place, and the member addressing the house is left to address his successor, the president, the members, reporters and other melancholy officials.

"It is not exactly a stately banquet that the legislators sit down to. There are no knives, no forks and in the place of plates just a few saucers. The members first fling themselves upon the bread baskets and pick the nicest looking pieces; then, making free use of their elbows toward the veal, the saveloys or the ham, seize a slice in their fingers, put it on the bread, keep it there with the thumb, while they squeeze their way out of the press and devour their spoil.

"Such manners take us back to far-off prehistoric days, when our ancestors ate on the floor of their caverns. But it is just this return to the simplicity of nature that exercises such a healing effect on party animosity. The legislator who has, by a series of subtle maneuvers, secured a bottle of wine shares it with his thirsty neighbors.

"It has been noticed that the deputies from rural districts usually carry a pocketknife, which they lend to their town colleagues. This, too, makes for harmony and the healing up of strife."

A SLEEPY HOLLOW LANDMARK.

Passing of Treaty Tree Under Which Washington Irving Wrote.

Washington Irving's great treaty tree at Sleepy Hollow, in the Phillips Manor section, lost its last three leaves recently. Tourists and visitors have noted with much concern for over a year that it was dying. It is twenty feet in circumference at its base. It had bravely withstood the disease that has destroyed most of the chestnut trees throughout the east, and it is probably the last to die in the Sleepy Hollow and Tarrytown sections.

This monarch of the forest is known in history as the tree under which the last treaty was made between the whites and Wapamunqu Indians. Under its romantic shade also Irving wrote his famous "The Headless Horseman," with scenes laid at Phillips Manor.

Although the treaty tree is practically dead, it will not be felled and destroyed like hundreds of its fellows there. It is to be preserved, and long trailing flowering vines have been planted about its base to cover it completely in the future. It stands almost in the center of the Phillips Manor property, close to the Hudson river, in full view from Broadway or the old Albany post road.—Tarrytown News.

Our Latest Battleship.

No. 39, the latest battleship to be built for the United States navy, is to be constructed at the New York navy yard, Brooklyn. Sister to the Pennsylvania, she will be the largest and most powerful battleship under construction. The particulars are: Length, 608 feet; beam, 97 feet; displacement on trial, 31,400 tons. She will have a belt of armor fourteen inches thick and eighteen inches on the turrets, in which will be carried twelve fourteen-inch guns. The complement will number 1,100 officers and men, and the ship will cost complete $10,000,000.

Fireproof Railway Cars.

In testing out the steel car with a view to proving its indestructibility by fire a railroad company placed in one of this type 200 pounds of shavings and wood saturated with oil, set fire to it and allowed the mass to burn itself out. The paint and upholstery were destroyed, but no damage was done to the car as a structural whole. At present 2,872 steel passenger cars are in service on this one system, and this is about one half of the total of steel passenger cars in service in the United States.

For Walking on Water.

A shoe factory of a novel kind has been working near Berlin for some time past. The "shoes" made will not run much risk of being worn out on pavements or country roads, for they are solely intended for the purpose of walking on water. That these "hydro-shoes" are of a certain practical value is shown by the fact that the Prussian minister of war has placed an order with the enterprising firm. Tests are to be made by a number of soldiers of the engineer regiments.

To prevent disease— resist disease germs

SMALLPOX is prevented by vaccination — the injection of vaccine.
DIPHTHERIA is prevented by the injection of anti-toxin.

These enable the body to produce substances which prevent the growth of smallpox and diphtheria germs in the blood.

There are many other diseases, nearly, if not quite as dangerous, and far more common — typhoid fever, the grippe, bronchitis, pneumonia, catarrh, rheumatism, and a score of others — that can be prevented less painfully and more easily by making the body strong to resist germ infection.

Rexall

Olive Oil Emulsion (With Hypophosphites)

Is designed for the prevention as well as the relief of disease — by enabling the body to overcome the germs. It, at the same time, strengthens and tones the nerves, nourishes the blood, puts the entire system into a proper healthy condition to combat and successfully resist disease.

Every person not in perfect health has incipient germs of some distressing ailment in his or her system.

Cold weather, over-work, excesses of any kind, are liable to bring about just the conditions under which those latent disease germs will get the upper hand, and put you on your back "down sick."

You who are run-down, tired-out, nervous —
You who, though not sick enough to give up, still don't feel good! —

You who are apparently well, and want to stay well —
Take home a bottle of Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion today, and use it as a means to get well and keep well.

Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion is a real nerve-food tonic.

In this it is different from most other so-called "tonics" which either have no food value and do nothing more than temporarily stimulate you, leaving you in a worse condition than before or, having food value, still

LINCOLN NO. 2

The Case of Prue and the Gawk of a Bean Pole Lawyer.

By GRANT LESTER.

For a good many years people had said that Farmer Johnson's wife was head of his house and that he was a great encumbrance to her. They had a farm just outside a thriving town, and had it been left to the wife there were many promising speculations she would have entered into. She was simply a farm wife, but when it came to outside matters the husband would take no risks. When his death finally took place people looked to see Aunt Betty, as she was called, though only forty years old, carry out some of her ideas and make things hum. They were not disappointed. She went into strawberries and made money; she went into the dairy business and made money; she went into poultry and made money. It was said that there were not half a dozen men in the county who had her business sense.

Aunt Betty had a daughter nineteen years old, by name Prue. Prue did not run to business. She was simply a sweet tempered and lovable girl, who attended school in town in the winter and helped about the housework in summer. Up to the time of the father's death the mother had not "suffered aspirations" regarding Prue's future. It was tacitly understood that she would marry some young farmer and settle down to the humdrum life. But after the mother had become a business woman there were other plans for the girl. She was to be educated in music and other arts and made a lady of.

Just how Prue Johnson and Darius Livingstone first met is of no great consequence. He was twenty-two and had graduated as a lawyer and settled in the town. He was a slab sided young man, tall and angular and ungainly. There were a few people who said that he might know more than he showed, but the majority were of the opinion that he didn't know whether potatoes grew in the ground or on trees. If Prue held with the majority it was rather singular that the young lawyer should have come driving out to the farm one June day to inquire for her. She was upstairs at the time, and it was her mother who received him. At the first glance she thought him the homeliest young man she had ever seen. After the second she took him for some peddler of music and went upstairs and said to Prue:

"There's a bean pole downstairs asking for you. I never saw such a gawk. He says his name is Livingstone. He's enough to scare a setting hen off the nest. Did you ever hear of any such fellow?"

"Why, ma, he's a lawyer in town, and we have met three or four times," replied Prue as her face flushed scarlet.

"A lawyer—humpf! If you was to put a club in his hand he wouldn't know enough to pound sand. What's he here for?"

"Why—why, he said he might call some day. I don't see why you call him homely. I've heard lots of folks say that he reminded them of Abraham Lincoln."

The mother sniffed her contempt and turned away. Prue went down and received her caller, and though Mrs. Johnson was rather busy around the house and yard, she saw and heard enough to satisfy her that the young man was "interested." He remained for an hour or so and then left, and while his back was yet in sight Prue was properly warned.

"I shall have to have a son-in-law some day," added the mother, "but I want one whose looks won't sour all the milk and who knows a cabbage head from an old gander. Lawyer! Lawyer! Why, the poorest lawyer we've got in town would make your young man look like a bobtailed wood chuck if they had a case in court."

Prue ran away without talking back, and things quieted down for a week. Then the mother came home from town one afternoon to blurt out:

"Do you know what I heard this afternoon? At least half a dozen people told me that you and that scurrow young lawyer were in love."

"Oh, mamma!"

"You needn't 'Oh, mamma!' me. If you're fallen in love with any such man I'm ashamed of you. Why, that red headed, cross eyed Sue Williams wouldn't look at him."

"We are not in love," stoutly protested Prue.

"Then what are you looking so red for?"

"Because—because we are simply friends. That is, he's awfully smart when you come to talk with him. I've been reading the life of Lincoln, and it's wonderful how much alike they are."

"Wonderful bosh! Abe Lincoln was smarter'n a whip on a lawyer."

"But Darius is going to be if he ever gets a case."

"Ever get a case? I'd like to know who'd trust him with a case!"

The young man called again in about a week, ostensibly to make inquiries concerning the strawberry pact, and, while Mrs. Johnson didn't order him off the farm, she gave him what she called a chilling reception. The fact that he didn't seem at all put out aggravated her, and but for a business engagement taking up her attention she would have had much to say to Prue. Four days later she came into the house to say:

"Well, when I dreamed of black hogs one night last week I knew that trouble would come. I've got a lawsuit on hand. It seems that those three cows I bought over in Delevan last week had a chattel mortgage on them. The holder of it wants $80 from me. I must either pay or be sued. I told him to sue us soon as he pleased, and he'll probably summon me tomorrow."

"And you'll have to have a lawyer?"

"Of course. I'm going to drive into town to see Lawyer Parsons."

"But why not give Mr. Livingstone the case?"

"Prue Johnson, do you take me for an idiot?" exclaimed the mother in astonishment. "Do you think I want to lose $80 and costs, besides $10 more for a lawyer? Folks around here think I'm a pretty smart woman, and I don't want to be made a laughingstock of. That bean pole of a young man would not know enough to cross examine an old cow."

Lawyer Parsons, who was the leading member of the bar in the town, was retained, and the expected summons was served next day. A week later the suit came on. During the interval young Livingstone drove out to the Johnson farm. Miss Prue had gone to town to do some shopping, and the mother was blunt and brusque. The budding attorney almost offered his services in the coming suit, and the look he received in reply lingered with him for many hours. When Prue got home she was told that there had got to be a stop to this sort of thing, but when she burst into tears and said she could not help it her mother was reasonably enough to reply that maybe she could not.

The girl went to town with the mother on the day of the suit. In the courtroom a shock of surprise awaited her. Darius Livingstone appeared as counsel for the complainant. Yes, he was there in all his dignity, and he didn't seem a bit frightened that it was his first case and that he was matched against one of the oldest and smartest lawyers in the county. He nodded to Prue and would have done the same to her mother or had she not just then been engaged in whispering to her daughter.

"Prue Johnson, look over there! As true as you live your bean pole of a young man is going to take the case against me! That's another specimen of his cheek. You wait, however. When Parsons gets through with him there'll be only a grease spot left."

Surprise after surprise was the order of the day. The plaintiff really had a chattel mortgage on the cows. They had been driven away and sold. In buying them Mrs. Johnson had taken the seller's word. Her lawyer argued that this was customary, but "bean pole" brought in six witnesses to prove to the contrary. Mrs. Johnson was made to admit that she was a business woman and that she had never bought even a chicken without being guaranteed. A dozen errors were made in her case, and before it was concluded Mr. Parsons was made to look extremely foolish. The jury gave a verdict for the plaintiff, and Prue shed tears beneath her veil and realized that she would see no more of Lincoln No. 2. She was in despair when her mother walked up to the young attorney and held out her hand, saying:

"Sir, I am a blunt and plain spoken woman. You are lop shouldered and shabbid, you are as homely as a hedgehog in March, but you are a talker and are certain to make a good lawyer. If I ever have a son-in-law I hope he'll be one of the profession. No, don't make any excuses. You had a right to take the other side, and I hold no grudge against you. If you want to know how good cheese is made come out to the farm."

Mr. Livingstone did want to know. He had always been curious about it. He took early advantage of her offer, and, at last reports he and Miss Prue had decided to go south on their wedding tour.

Welding Copper.

A process of welding copper with the oxyacetylene flame has been developed by a German inventor. He has found it necessary to use larger torches than for iron welding, but in general the process is similar, except that he employs a liquid welding paste and a special copper welding wire. The process has been used for welding copper plates up to an inch in thickness. The process is being used in the principal copper works in Germany with great success.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Rest.

Bodily rest can only be achieved by having the muscles completely relaxed. The ordinary sitting position in a chair is not sufficient, as the lower extremities are still more or less rigid. The chair should be an easy one, with an extension or a footstool to support the lower limbs just a trifle below the level of the body. A better rest can be had, however, by lying full length on a couch or bed with the arms and legs sprawling in the manner adopted by the tramp when he takes a sleep by the wayside. This attitude assures ease, if not elegance. And it does more than relax the limbs, for it gives repose to the heart as well. When the body is in this position the heart beats more slowly than when we are standing, walking or even sitting.

Turtles Hibernate in The Winter

Don't be a Turtle

Webster defines Hibernation as follows: "To pass the winter in close quarters; to be in a torpid or lethargic state."

The TURTLE hibernates. It sees no beauty of the winter months and buries itself until the warm sunshine of the spring appears.

The approach of winter prompts the management of this theatre to run this "Ad." with a purpose in view. We fear you might be like the torpid turtle and stay too close to your furs these winter nights; hence the mission of this "Ad." is just a reminder lest you fall into the winter habits of the TURTLE.

Let's not "bent around the bush"—the point we are striving to make plain is this—We need the money—and if you spend the winter nights at home—well what's the answer?

We are asking for your money, and in return will strive to give you all that is good in pictures. To make it worth your while to visit the Bijou Dream this winter we will show a cracker-jack line of pictures and give you some of the best music you have ever heard.

SO PLEASE DON'T BE A TURTLE.
P. S.—We'll keep you warm.

FALLING HAIR

Many People Have a Simple Way of Stopping it—They Use Parisian Sage.

It was Dr. Sangerbon, of Paris, who first discovered that dandruff and falling hair were caused by a microbe.

And now that Parisian Sage, the remedy that kills the dandruff germ, is sold in every town in Canada, the people have awakened to the fact that dandruff is unnecessary; that falling hair and itching scalp can be quickly stopped, and that the people who use Parisian Sage will never grow bald.

To every reader of the COURIER who wishes to eradicate offensive dandruff, stop falling hair and have an immaculate clean scalp, free from itching, H. E. Jones says he will sell Parisian Sage in a large fifty cent bottle with a guarantee to refund the money if not satisfied. It is an ideal, dainty perfume hair dressing, free from grease and stickiness that will put life and beauty into dull faded hair and cause it to grow lustrous and luxuriant.

"MANOS"

Self-Filling Fountain Pen

(Made in Austria)

Price $1.00

Everybody who writes will appreciate the handy "MANOS" Self-Filling Pen. It doesn't merely look fine—though the "MANOS" is hard to beat in that particular; it does away with the old time bother of filling with a filler, which so often resulted in staining everything nearby. The comfort alone gained by using a pen that never leaks, spurts or falters, one that can be carried with you and used wherever you happen to be, is worth many, many times the price of the "MANOS" Self-Filler.

Each put up in a neat box with directions for filling and sent postpaid to you for the above price.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a 25 cent bottle of Dandoline.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life, has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Dandoline. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a 25-cent bottle of Dandoline's Dandoline from any drug store and just try it.

HACKING COUGH OF TWO MONTHS STANDING

Cured by Na-Dru-Co Syrup of Linseed, Licorice and Chlorodyne

You know how hard it is to get rid of a cough that has hung on for even two weeks, let alone two months. So you will appreciate what Na-Dru-Co Syrup of Linseed, Licorice and Chlorodyne did for Mr. Patrick Holland, of East Baltic, P. E. I. He says:

"I suffered from a hacking cough for over two months. I tried several remedies, but they failed to cure me. At last I tried Na-Dru-Co Syrup of Linseed, Licorice and Chlorodyne, and got such relief that I tried more, and after using three bottles was absolutely cured."

The unique, scientific combination of three such reliable remedies makes Na-Dru-Co Syrup of Linseed, Licorice and Chlorodyne the best preparation that has ever been offered for all sorts of colds and coughs. Get a 25 or 50c bottle from your Druggist and see for yourself how effective it is. National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited.

AGGRESSIVE BASEBALL.

McGraw's Scheme is Go as Far as You Can on Every Play.

Writing on taking a chance versus playing it safe in baseball, Hugh B. Fullerton in the American Magazine says:

"It remained for the New York Giants to develop the 'take a chance' style to its highest form since the days of the old Baltimore team. Probably no man understands or realizes the weaknesses and strengths of the Giants as well as does the little general who leads them. He knows that to win a championship the team must score many runs; must, in fact, score an abnormal number. He knows that speed was the chief asset of the team and that to win he must utilize the best asset to the limit. The object of having fast men on the bases is not so much to have them steal as it is to force the other team to throw the ball and throw it quickly. One moment of demoralization of a defensive team is enough to lose a game. McGraw's aim was to make opposing teams beat themselves by hurrying their plays. He reverted to the Baltimore system of ignoring the number of times a runner is caught trying to steal, provided some one steals or takes an extra base at the critical moment."

"Get on! Get a base on balls; get hit; get anything, but get on. And once on, run! Go as far as you can on every play."

"That, in brief, sums up McGraw's system of attack, and its success has been demonstrated. While no official statistics are to be had, I believe the Giants are caught stealing much more frequently than are the runners of any other team. But they lead in stolen bases, and their running netted two pennants. In one game that I watched five Giants tried to steal against Archer. The Chicago crowd went wild as Archer threw all five out, one after another, as fast as they started. The sixth reached first and started without hesitating. Archer threw wild. The runner raced on to third, scored on a fly ball and eventually New York won the game by one run."

TRANSFORMING A CITY.

Progress Rio de Janeiro Has Made in the Past Few Years.

Within fifteen years Rio de Janeiro has been transformed. Up to that time the city had taken little advantage of its wonderful natural location. The streets were narrow, with rough pavements and open, noisome sewers. As the city is almost under the equator the death rate under such conditions was high.

A decade or so ago Brazil, under the leadership of Dr. Muller and others, began her awakening. Her statesmen realized her tremendous resources and knew that capital and immigration could make her one of the great nations of the world. With that motive, therefore, the work of improving Rio de Janeiro began. Eventually the improvements cost $200,000,000.

The city now gives an imposing impression of wealth and prosperity. It has a growing millionaire colony and is gradually coming into its own as a mecca for tourists. The city's water front, many miles long, which formerly was a fever swamp, has become one of the most magnificent boulevards on earth, thoroughly protected from the bay. It is a winding double drive of macadam, separated by lawns and groves of royal palms, while there are walks for pedestrians along the water's edge.—Argonaut.

One of Miss Keller's Gifts.

Many persons in an assemblage recently addressed by Miss Helen Keller unveiled that this distinguished deaf and blind woman hailed in her remarks and acknowledged applause at the proper moment, just as if she had been in full possession of her hearing. Miss Macy, the devoted instructor of Miss Keller, was approached by several after the meeting had adjourned, and she was requested to explain the "mystery." "Very simple," she laughed. "Notice of the applause was carried to Miss Keller by the vibrations that she felt through her soft soled shoes while standing on the platform."—Boston Post.

Clocks Run by Air.

Two Austrian watchmakers have built a clock which receives its motive power from a current of air blowing upon a turbine shaped wheel. The clock is so simply built that the current of air produced by a stove or kitchen range is sufficient to make it go. The air is brought to the clock by a pipe fixed upon the wall. A very strong current is reduced by a certain clever contrivance which regulates the speed of the works. This clock serves at the same time as a ventilator.

Interest by Mechanism.

A Hungarian citizen has invented an instrument which shows instantly the amount of interest due on any given sum for any period at any given rate of interest. The instrument, which is made in the size and shape of a watch, has a very simple construction, and all that is necessary to operate it is to place the hands in the proper position on the dial and the exact amount of interest in each case is indicated on the face.

Up to Date Grandma.

Grandma used to be an old lady who would throw a shawl over her shoulders and sit in a rocker and knit stockings all day. But nowadays she puts on a neat dress, worth of prepared chalk, a straight front and a tight hobble and follows the crowd. Cincinnati Enquirer.

DIGBY WEEKLY COURIER

Digby, December 12 1913

Schr. Britannia Deserted in Bay of Fundy.

Schr. Britannia, Capt. Harry Ring, sailed for Grand Manan, Wednesday noon for bait. Ten tulleis of Gulliver's Cove the rudder gave way. The Capt. and crew of five, gathered up all their belongings and intended taking to their boats, but the schr. Clarence Traham, Capt. Traham, took them on board. They came in through Digby Gut about six o'clock.

The Britannia is owned by Mr. David Sproule, of Digby, and is equipped with a 10 h. p. Hartford engine in good condition. The Capt. is not insured.

The Govt. steamer Aberdeen, which was at Westport, went out to hunt for her and also the life saving boat, of Bay View.

A special telephone message to the COMMISSIONER from Mr. Leander Ellis, light keeper at Point Prim, yesterday noon, said that the stmr. Granville picked up the Britannia several miles off shore and towed her to Digby. The Govt. steamer Aberdeen, which had been in that vicinity left for the westward.

The life boat Daring, Capt. John W. Hayden, which went out looking for the schooner returned in the afternoon.

Tiverton Family Moves to Bridge-town.

Our Tiverton correspondent writes: Mr. L. H. Outhouse, one of Tiverton's merchants, who has carried on a successful business there for over twenty years, has purchased the store formerly owned by Mr. J. E. Lloyd, at Bridge-town, N. S., and with his family moved to that town on Thursday, Nov. 27. Mr. and Mrs. Outhouse will be greatly missed in Tiverton, where they took a deep interest in church work. In Sunday School, Mr. Outhouse was an earnest worker and under his care the Sunday School has progressed satisfactorily, he being the Supt. for many years, and the members regret to part with him.

In the Ladies' Auxiliary Mission work, of which Mrs. Outhouse was Recording Scribe for some time, she was a faithful and devoted worker, and her friends here were very sorry to lose her. While we regret their departure we wish them continued success and happiness in their new home.

Honors for Maritime Province Men.

The following were elected as corresponding members of the New England Historic Genealogical Society at the meeting held on the evening of Tuesday 3d instant at the Society's hall in Boston:

Ven. Archdeacon William O. Raymond, L. D. S., St. John's, N. B.
David Russell J. D., St. John's, N. B.
To the great grief of his friends and all interested in the history and literature of the Maritime Provinces, Mr. Jack died on Monday the 2d inst. at a health resort in the State of New York.

Wedding Reception.

Mrs. Robert Marshall, of Marshall town, was hostess on Saturday evening, the 6th inst., at a reception held at her home in honor of her son Mr. Ralph W. Marshall and his young bride, who had returned home from their wedding trip on that date. The guests, who numbered fifty, were received by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Marshall. The program of music was especially interesting. Later in the evening the young men came and fired several rounds of ammunition, and then were invited in, after which a delectable collation was served to all present. The party left for their homes at a late hour, not forgetting the pleasant evening spent by all.

Married in Truro.

McLEAN-McLEAN.

A quiet, but very pretty wedding took place at the Methodist parsonage, Truro, Dec. 4th, when Hugh McLean, of Digby, was united in marriage to Margaret McLean, of River Dennis, Cape Breton. Rev. Jas. Sturhead, pastor of Pleasant Street church, officiated. The bride was dressed in white with a bridal veil. The happy couple left for Digby Friday morning, the bride's travelling suit being of navy blue with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. McLean will reside at their residence, Shore Road.

Bank Manager Shot By Burglar.

Mr. Arnold, Manager of the Bank of Montreal, Plum Cauter, Man., who was shot by a burglar who robbed the bank, was a grand nephew of the celebrated Sir Fenwick Williams, his father, O. R. Arnold, being the nephew of Sir Fenwick's mother, who was Susan, O. R. Arnold's mother was the sister of General Williams. On the Arnold side the murdered man was related to Ever Tarnbull and the children of the late Geo. A. Turnbull, of Bay View.

Bijou Dream Theatre.

Mr. James F. Cripps, the popular manager of the Bijou Dream, has secured the rights to the big "Red feature," "The Battle of Waterloo." This feature is one of the greatest sensations in the moving picture field. The prices of admission and date will be announced later. Mr. Cripps was compelled to pay premium of $200 for the use of this feature.

—Miss M. A. Robertson, returned missionary from Japan, will give an address at the public service in the Methodist Church on Sunday evening. Miss Robertson has spent twenty-two years in Japan and is well acquainted with the language and customs of that interesting country.

Wedding and Church Reception.

[From a Waltham Subscriber.] A brilliant church wedding took place last evening at the First Parish Unitarian church, when Miss Elsie Sanderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander T. Sanderson of Crescent street, became the bride of Whittemore Childs Archibald.

In the auditorium of the church were representatives of many of Waltham's oldest families when the wedding party entered the church to the strains of the wedding march from the "Queen of Sheba," rendered by the church organist, Mrs. Stella Burnham Kenyon.

Rev. Joseph P. McCarthy performed the ceremony, using the single ring service, and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Ruth Fleming attended the bridesmaids, and carried the bouquet. The bridesmaids were Misses Winifred and Florence Archibald, while Miss Evelyn Dickey was the little flower girl. Elmo O'Hara was the best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors, when the guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Archibald assisted by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander T. Sanderson and Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Archibald.

The guests were presented by the following ushers:—Melvin Sanderson, Tpt. H. a brother of the bride, Herbert Archibald, Massachusetts Agricultural College, brother of the groom, Joseph Rutter, Tufts 'H. Robert Savory, Harvard, William Hill, Harvard, and Dwight O'Hara.

Refreshments were served by the following young ladies, friends of the bride:—Miss Edith Totter, Miss Margaret Warren, Miss Helen Thibodeau, Miss Gertrude Hope and Miss Lila Soddard. An informal dance followed the reception, Herbert Archibald and Robert Savory presiding at the piano.

The bride was dressed in white, charmingly trimmed with duchesse lace and white chiffon roses. Her veil was arranged with billows of the valley and she carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor was in Nile green crepe meteor veiled in white, chiffon and carried pink sweet peas, while the bridesmaids were in yellow messaline under chiffon and carried pom-pom chrysanthemums. The little flower girl was in white with pink ribbons and from her basket scattered rose petals before the bride. The bride's mother wore chameleon chameuse trimmed with princess lace and the groom's mother was in gray silk.

The decorations in the church were artistic, tasteful and consisted of pine, fir and white birch trees which formed an attractive background for the service. The reception room was decorated with ferns and palms. The decorations were the work of Elliott O'Hara and Miss Lila Soddard, both of whom are students of Eric Paper's Art School.

At the close of the reception Mr. and Mrs. Archibald left on a wedding trip. They will make their home for the present in Berlin, N. H., where Mr. Archibald is engaged in looking after work for the firm of Sawyer & Moulton, construction engineers of Portland, with which firm he is associated.

Mrs. Archibald is an accomplished musician and is well known in musical circles as well as in this city. Many beautiful gifts were received from friends in the office of Joseph Worcester, engineer. The bride wore a valuable pearl pin, a gift from friends. The bridegroom's gifts to his ushers were handsome cuff links.

Friends were present from Lexington, Abbot, Dorchester, Roxbury, New, Boston and Hartford, Conn. [Mr. Alexander T. Sanderson is the eldest son of the late Capt. Samuel Sanderson of Waterford, Digby Co.]

The Meeting at Culloden.

All the farmers' meetings held during the present year have been unusually interesting, and the one which took place at Culloden on Saturday evening last was no exception. The night was perfect with a bright moon shining. When the speakers arrived at the schoolhouse they found the place comfortably warmed and well lighted, and filled with a good number of interested farmers. The speakers were well received and the Post of order prevailed. Capt. Geo. Post was the chairman. Co-operation was one of the chief subjects discussed but several other questions such as stock raising, dairying, gardening etc. were talked upon. The meeting adjourned at ten o'clock everyone leaving the house well satisfied with results. The farmers of Culloden are a fine lot of industrious fellows.

An Exciting Race.

A special message from Yarmouth says: The schooner Dorothy G. Snow, Capt. Ansel Snow, arrived here Wednesday with 11,000 pounds of fish. While coming in the American schooner Ruth was noticed coming up behind. There had been a lot of talk through the Fall, of the sailing qualities of the Ruth, and on this occasion her crew, as they passed the Snow, commenced to make joking remarks. Capt. Snow, seeing the probabilities of an interesting race, put the Dorothy to a good sailing trim for the twenty five mile stretch to Yarmouth.

From that on the Ruth kept falling behind and when the Snow rounded Bunker Island, the Ruth was a good mile and a half in the rear. The Ruth is supposed to be one of the fastest vessels out of Boston, but she would have to go some to overtake some of our Nova Scotia vessels.

The Dorothy so'd her fare, got 3.75 for haddock. The fare was the result of one bet.

SHIPPING AND FISHING

Schr. Klondyke sailed from Boston for Parrsboro last Saturday.

Schr. Rosalie, Capt. Bulliveau, sailed from Bermuda, Nov. 27th.

Gloucester Daily Times: Schr. Mizpah sailed from Boston for Digby.

Schr. Eddie Thorvald, Capt. Blinn, sailed for Bear River Wednesday.

Schr. Bruno P. Pondleton, from Weymouth arrived at Rockland, Me., Dec. 8th.

Schr. Lillian Blauvelt, Capt. Bonna-fant, arrived at Weymouth from Boston last Saturday.

Bark Calburg, although ready for sea for several days, bound to Buenos Ayres, is still in port.

Schr. Mount Hope, Capt. Warren, arrived at Weymouth, N. S., from Calais, Maine, Wednesday.

Schr. Edie M. Morrissey, Capt. Ryder, arrived at Gloucester, Dec. 4th and having discharged her cargo of salt fish, is loading with salt for Digby.

The schooner Forest Maid, from Beaver River, N. B., arrived here Saturday to load fish skins for Vital Haven, Me., from the Maritime Fish Corporation.

Schr. Emma Potter arrived Sunday in St. John from Annapolis with a cargo of bricks, having been held up at Digby for sometime waiting for a favorable wind.

Schooner Cora Gertie from Freeport, with 40,000 pounds fresh haddock, and schooner Cassie Belle, with 28,000 pounds from Little River, loaded their cargoes for the Maritime Fish Corporation.

The river steamer Champlain sailed from St. John on Sunday morning for Moteghan, to undergo complete repairs. Owing to the storm, she harbored at Westport before reaching Moteghan.

The tern schooner Eddie Thorvald, arrived Sunday and is to load lumber here and at Bear River for Barbados. Capt. Blinn reports being detained at Yarmouth for ten days waiting for a favorable wind to run up the bay.

The tern schooner Minola, loaded with staves for Trinidad, was towed to sea Sunday morning by the tug Victoria. Captain Forester must have had a good run out of the bay as there was a fair, stiff breeze all day and throughout the night.

The tug Victoria went outside Sunday and met the tug Lord Beresford, which came across from St. John with a large mud scow to be used in the dredging operations here. The Victoria took the scow in tow and the Beresford returned to St. John.

The cargo of bricks aboard the schooner E. Mayfield, of Parrsboro, before reported sunk in the Annapolis River, and afterwards raised, is about all discharged. Captain Merriam will have his vessel repaired and again put in commission in the coal carrying trade.

Arrivals at the Maritime Fish Corporation this week: Schr. Cora Gertie, 33,073 lbs. of haddock; 6,206 lbs. of hake; schr. Cassie Belle, 17,377 lbs. of haddock; 7,429 lbs. of hake, 681 lbs. of cod; other sources, 24,700 lbs. of haddock, 21,610 lbs. of hake and 726 lbs. of cod.

The million feet or more of lumber which Clarke Brothers, of Bear River, have cut along the Minas Basin will not be shipped to South America until the opening of navigation in the spring. Then the lumber will be lightered to Hantsport, where the vessel will take it aboard.

The schooner Neva arrived Saturday night from Boston, and Monday was towed by the Mote to Bear River. She is to lay up for the winter, during which time she is to undergo extensive repairs—practically to be rebuilt. Captain Anthony has had a very successful season in the American trade for his employers, Clarke Brothers, the owners of the Neva.

St. John Standard: H. B. Short, of Digby, managing director of the Maritime Fish Corporation, was in the city this week. Speaking of the fisheries Mr. Short said that in Nova Scotia the fishermen this year had done well and that the outlook for the winter was promising. November was a good month for fishing, the fleet of vessels out of Digby had done well.

The schr. Wanita, Captain McComber, from St. John with a full cargo of merchandise for Economy, was driven ashore at Economy Sunday night and was badly strained. The cargo has been discharged in a somewhat damaged condition and the vessel will be repaired. The Wanita was built at Granville 18 years ago and is 42 tons register, and is owned by R. P. Soley, of Economy.

The tug Reliable, from Pictou for St. John, put to Digby late Tuesday afternoon, after a trying experience coming up the bay. Steamers Cranville and Bear River, for St. John, were here for harbor, and the tug Hilda M., from Hantsport, came in on Sunday night. The Reliable started for St. John Tuesday morning but put back on account of the heavy sea outside.

Three schooners which have been harboring here some days went to sea Sunday. They were the Luella, in ballast from Bridgetown for Port George; Vera B. Roberts, with wood and piling, from Clements for Boston, and the Emma E. Potter, with 100,000 brick, from Annapolis for St. John. The Luella was towed out by the Victoria, while the other two went out under sail.

Yarmouth Times: A few of the local fishing vessels which had hauled up to the wharves today to discharge. There were not very many faves and what there were were small. The Dorothy M. Smart had 8,000 pounds, the Myrtle L., 7,000 and the Albert J. Lutz, 7,000. The schooner Morning Star had about 7,000 which will likely be shipped. The Star was baiting up this morning with herring bait from the Lookport cold storage.

Yesterday's St. John Standard: The Canadian schooner Bonnie, bound from Boston for Pictou, N. S., with grain and flour, dragged her anchors and went ashore here on Monday in the heavy gale at Bass Harbor, Me. She pounded heavily and sprung a leak and in half an hour and full of water. She will probably have to lighten a part of her cargo before she can be pulled off. The Bonnie is owned by William Warner, of Pictou, Digby Co., who left for Bass Harbor on Wednesday. The vessel is valued at $2,000 with no insurance. Her cargo was insured.

The following vessels have reported at the Digby custom house since Dec. 4th: Inward—Dec. 6th, schr. Cora Gertie, Crocker, Freeport; 8th, schr. Forest Maid, Bradford, Eastport; 8th, schr. Cassie Belle, Chancy, Little River. Outward—Dec. 6th, schr. Cora Gertie, Crocker, Freeport; 6th, Barque Calburg, Lewis, Rosairo, 1120149 m. ft. lumber; schr. Britannia, Ring, fishing; schr. Cassie Belle, Chancy, Little River; 6th, schr. Forest Maid, Bradford, South Cove, for harbor—8th, S. S. Granville, Collins, Annapolis for St. John. 8th, S. S. Holbrook, McLean, Chatham for St. John, N. B.

Died in Yarmouth.

[Yarmouth Times.]

Mrs. Jovite Amrault, of Saint-Jovite, died here under peculiar and circumstances early Sunday morning. Mrs. Amrault, who was 61 years old, had been ailing for some time, and an operation was decided upon. To that end it was decided to bring her to the hospital here. This was done on Saturday, an auto being secured to convey her. She arrived at the hospital at midnight, but the journey had so exhausted her that an operation was out of the question. She was made as comfortable as possible but passed away at three o'clock Sunday morning. The remains were sent home for interment.

Death of Charles Fairweather.

Thursday's St. John Telegraph says: General regret was expressed in Moncton Wednesday over the death of Charles Fairweather, a well known citizen and an employee of the Moncton Tramway, Electricity and Gas Company. He had been enjoying excellent health until Monday, Dec. 1st, when he was taken suddenly ill while at work. Paralysis developed and his death occurred this morning. Mr. Fairweather was sixty-one years of age, a native of Belleville, Kings county. He is survived by his wife and four children.

[The deceased was a cousin of Mr. W. Fairweather, of Digby.]

This Girl Did Everything Backwards.

HER HEART AND BRAIN WERE DIS PLACED.

LONDON, Dec. 8. A puzzling problem of abnormality in a girl, who insisted on doing everything backwards, among other things writing from right to left, has been solved by Birmingham physicians. An examination by the X rays has revealed the fact that her heart is on the right side, and some of her other organs, including the brain, are also displaced. The case is regarded as one of the most curious of the few who write upside down and write in that fashion. The latter came to light about two weeks ago.

CLARKE BROS.

GRAND OPENING OF

December 9th and Following Days

"Life has no nobler pleasure than that of Friendship." At the end of the busy year full of effort and struggle comes the season when we forget the trials and welcome the opportunities—when we count our friends and find them many—when we choose for them remembrances (not because of their cost but because of the pleasure they bring), when we realize to the full that life is worth living, because for once it is unselfish.

"The Worries of the Season"

If our store may play its part during the trying days that lie between now and Christmas Eve; if it may lighten the strain of your purse (for everybody's is too small) at such a time; if by good service and splendid assortment for your choosing it may help to keep the puzzle wrinkles from your forehead, it will have done all we have hoped and planned to have it do. We have given very careful thought to things useful and appropriate for presentation, and our stock of Goods bought specially for the Holiday Gift Season affords a wide choice. The list below does not represent all of what we have on our Counters but we trust its suggestions may prove helpful to you.

Fancy and Useful

We have purchased many Novelties in fancy and useful things for Christmas Gifts including Mirrors, Manicure Sets, Photo Frames, Leather Hand Bags, Brush and Comb Sets, Clocks, Jewel Cases, Music Rolls, Cigar Cases, Travelling Cases, Brass Novelties, etc., etc. Many other articles that space does not permit us here to mention.

Gifts for Women

Had you thought of a Dress Pattern for Christmas? Such a practical gift as this would be welcomed surely and then it would serve to remind the one who wears it of the giver. We offer you from now until Christmas a Special Cash Discount of ten per cent. on all Dress Goods purchases. Among the multitude of things she needs, likes and would appreciate are: Fancy Neckwear, Handkerchiefs, Table Linens, Napkins, Towels, Gloves, Boots and Shoes, Rubber Footwear, Rain Coats, Coat Sweaters, Winter Jackets, Umbrellas, Fancy Linens, etc., etc.

SPECIAL DISCOUNT SALE

Women's and Children's Jackets

From now until Christmas we offer you a Special Cash Discount of twenty per cent. on all Women's and Children's Jackets you purchase.

Gifts for Men

There are many nice appropriate things to give a man and yet when one sits down alone to think of something suitable it is not an easy task. What to give father, brother, husband, son or friend can be found in our store. Neckwear, Gloves, Boots and Shoes, Rubber Footwear, Handkerchiefs, Suspenders, Hosiery, Coat Sweaters, Hats, Caps, Mufflers, Overcoats, Suits, Underwear.

BOOKS

A good book for the boy or the girl is the choicest of gifts. We invite you to our Book Department.

Holiday Stationery

Why not give Stationery? There is one pleasant fact to remember about a gift of good Stationery—whenever receives it needs it or will need it. It seems but fair that a hint be dropped now of the choice assortment of box papers which we are showing, put up in Holly and other Xmas designs for the Christmas trade. The styles and qualities of papers are of a high grade and the packets are of such an attractive character as to be useful for many purposes after the paper has been used. Prices: 15c to $2.75 per box.

Fountain Pens

Why not give a real good Fountain Pen? Buy the best, as a poor pen is a poor remembrance. We sell WATERMAN'S IDEAL PENS, and they are fully guaranteed. Prices: $1.25 to $5.00.

Silverware and Cut Glass

Among the prettiest Novelties for Christmas giving there are many dainty things in Silverware and Cut Glass, which not only add attractiveness to the table but in themselves are serviceable. We invite your inspection when visiting our store.

Christmas Jewelry

Our assortment consists of Lockets and Chains, Beauty Pins, Rings, Scarf Pins, Cuff and Collar Buttons, Watches, Watch Fobs, Brooches, Veil Pins, Hat Pins, etc., etc.

Dress Suit Cases

Dress Suit Cases, that men and women who are going away for Christmas will want for their own use. They are also most useful for those who wish to give them as holiday presents. We invite you to see our display. Prices: $1.35 to $5.00 each.

Men's House Coats

Christmas Stocks are ready. Many of them through special purchasing and special care in manufacture, are not only distinctive in character but very much under the usual prices. These you will find on the centre counter to the right, as you enter our store. Prices: 24.50 to $7.00 each.

PERFUMES

We carry all the popular and most asked for Perfumes put up in Xmas boxes for Gift purposes. Prices: 15c to $1.75 per bottle.

Christmas Candies

"The Sweetest Gift of all." Nothing makes a more acceptable Christmas remembrance than a box of Ganong's Chocolates. These Chocolates are known to every one as being the standard of purity and excellence. Packed in attractive packages, two, one and one-half pounds. 30c to $1.00 per box.

In our Candy department we have a complete line of "Ganong's." We are selling regular twenty cent Chocolates for 12 1/2c per pound. Three pounds Mixed Candy for 25c.

Fruits, Nuts and Raisins

We have purchased large quantities of Oranges, Grapes, Figs, Nuts, Raisins, which will be sold at small profits and which will give long life to your Dollar.

Ten Cent Counter

Don't fail to visit this Counter. Many articles on this Counter are worth twice what we ask for them.

Final Word

Buying early is an immense advantage. In the first place it is possible to make much better selections as the stock is more complete. In the second place you have more leisure and can take your time in buying. We are always pleased to put away Goods selected early and deliver them at any time you desire.

Soliciting your Holiday trade and wishing you a MERRY XMAS. We are, Yours very truly, Sorry to report Mrs. Ellard Stanton in very poor health.

Mrs. Oscar Trask spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. D. Stanton.

In Monday's breeze, Mr. Heli Stanton had the misfortune of losing his motor boat.

Mr. Daniel M. Frost spent Sunday with his family. He is engaged at Centerville in boat building.

On Thursday evening, Dec. 4th, at the groom's residence, East Ferry, a very pretty wedding took place, when Mr. Truman Raymond and Daisy Belle, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel M. Frost, Tiddville, were united in the holy bonds of wedlock.

By R. B. Kinley, pastor of Little River church. The happy couple entered the parlor to the strains of the wedding march, Dreams of Heaven, nicely rendered by the bride's cousin, Miss Annie Frost, and stood under an arch of evergreen and white ribbon. The bride, who was attired in white satin and lace trimmings, with bridal veil and orange blossoms, carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. She was attended by the little Misses Nina and Ada Stanton, as flower girls. At the conclusion of the ceremony, and after congratulations a very dainty repast was served to about ninety invited guests. They received many costly and useful presents, such as silverware, glassware, linen, pearl and furniture. The bride's travelling suit was of Copenhagen shirtdress, with hat of white silk plush with tips to match. The happy couple will be at home to their friends after Dec. 12th.

Wedding at Smith's Cove

PAYSON—WEIR.

On Wednesday morning, Nov. 20th, at eleven o'clock, the Baptist church at Smith's Cove was the scene of a very interesting ceremony, when the Rev. John McFadden united in marriage Miss Bessie M. Weir, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Weir, and grand daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Robert Austin, and Mr. Edward J. Payson, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Payson, of Deep Brook.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Catherine Weir, and entered the church on the arm of her father, to the strains of Lohengrin wedding march played by Miss Frances Austin. The groom was supported by Mr. Arch Adams, of Deep Brook.

The bride was prettily attired in white silk with satin trimmings and wore the conventional bridal veil and carried a bouquet of bride's roses and carnations.

The church was very tastefully decorated for the occasion by friends of the bride. The ushers were Messrs. Clarence Myers, Alonzo Myers, Earl Conabachin and McArthur Morgan. After the ceremony, the bride and guests to the number of thirty-five, returned to the residence of Capt. and Mrs. Robert Austin, where the bride and groom received the congratulations of their friends, and luncheon was served, after which, Mr. and Mrs. Payson, amid showers of rice and confetti were conveyed to Digby by Mr. W. Hayden's automobile, to take the steamer Yarmouth for St. John, N. B., where they will reside for the next few months.

HANS THE COBBLER

The German Tailor Tells Him How to Get Business.

BARGAIN SALE SIGN OUT.

Unfortunately Plan Leads to Consequences Entirely Unforeseen by the Trustful Hans—Cement Patches at Half Price Prove His Undoing.

By M. QUAD.

[Copyright, 1913, by Associated Literary Press.]

IT was dot leetle Sherman tailor dot did it. He was in America a good many years, and he thinks he knows it all.

"I don't happen to have some work, and I sit on my bench thinking I was gone by some poorhouse, when dot tailor blows in like he owns some earth and looks at me like I was a dodo."

"Vell?" I says after a minute.

"Didn't I told you so when you first come from Sherman?"

"But I vhasent dead yet."

"Not quite mype, but it vhas shust like I pellet it would be, and you vhas

"I VHAS ALWAYS ON DER LOOKOUT FOR BARGAINS."

going py der poorhouse. Dear me, but what a poor peesness man you vhas!"

"But if some work don't come py my shop how can I do peesness?" I says.

"My dear Hans," he goes on mit oil on his tongue, "der great secret of peesness was to make peesness come to you. Look at my case. When I start out for myself I don't haf but two patches and a pair of trousers. If I wait for peesness I vhas a bankrupt man. Do I wait? Not mooch. I bustle I make der pooble come and buy, and poety soon I haf coats and vests for sale, and dot banana man next door takes off his hat to me."

"Vell, I like to hustle too."

How to Hustle.

"Den I vill show you how. Don't you read dose advertisements in der papers? Don't you see about spring stocks, selling off to make room, great reductions, great bargains, unparalleled advantages and all dot? Man, vhas you plind?"

"But dose vhas dry goods," I says.

"It vhas no deference. Don't you pellet der peoples vhasnt bargains in shoes and cement patches ash vell ash in towels and stockings? It vhas all bargains, bargains, bargains. Look at me. I haf some signs in my window dot I clean and press a pair of trousers for der next thirty days for 15 cents. You shust get up and hustle for peesness."

Vell, he vhas some Sherman mans and haf made a success, and I pellet in him, don't I? I shust think about it for awhile and I tell my wife we shust hustle, and I make a sign dot reads:

"Tremendous Spring Bargains Ash Softer Vhas Pefero Price of Cement Patches Cut In Two to Make Some Room For Shoe Pegs. Come In Pefero For Vhas Too Late." Py golly, but dot sign pleases me, and I hang her oop in der window and rub my hands like dis. It don't seem ten minutes before an old man comes in and says:

"Hey, cobbler, but I see you vhas oop mit der times. No moss vhas on your back. Dot vhas right. Don't let der big stores draw your customers avhny. I pellet I vill take advantage of dot occasion to get a cement patch on my shoe for seven and a half cents. Put her right on, and your money vhas ready."

Beginning of Trouble.

"But cement patches vhas feefteen cents," I says.

"Oh, no! Feefteen cents vhas old prices. Dot sign says you haf cut prices in two. You can't work some gum games on me!"

"But don't you understand?" I says.

"Dot my sign vhas a draw? If I put on a cement patch for seven and a half cents I shall charge you forty cents for a lift on your heel!"

"Cobbler," says dot old man as he looks down on me, "you vhas some swindlers. It vhas false pretenses. I like to put a lift on both your heels and somewhere else peudes for notting at all!"

I try to argue mit him, but he calls me names and don't let me talk, and when he goes out he says he vill tell everybody dot I vhas a scoundrel. I vhas discouraged then a woman comes in mit an old shoe dot has twelf holes in it.

"Good morning, cobbler," she says.

"I vhas waiting for a spring bargain, and now she vhas come. Twelf holes and twelf cement patches, and I gif you 90 cents. I like dot shoe by 7 o'clock, so I can see my sister married."

"But don't you understand?" I says.

"Of course I do. You like to get in ten barrels of shoe pegs, and so you cut der price of cement patches in two to make room. It vhas ash plain as der logs on a horse. Seven o'clock, remember!"

Old Price Still Stands.

"But cement patches vhas feefteen cents."

"Not so. Don't you pellet I can read? It vhas half price, der same as a coon-skin muff."

"Don't you read of some tremendous bargains in der papers?" I says.

"Of course I do. I vhas always on der lookout for bargains."

"Und when you got py dot store do you find dose bargains? Of course not. It vhas a draw. All der bargains vhas shust sold out, and you buy some co-serts at $2."

"Not a bit of it!" she says ash she makes her arms go around. "When I go for bargains I get 'em or somebody don't haf no hair left! I like to see myself pay $2 for a corset then dey vhas cut down to 63 cents to make room for matting and oilcloth. Vill you put on dose patches or shall I break down dot stovepipe and make you tired?"

She vhas some dangerous woman, and if she makes a row I vhas arrested. I must put on dose patches or she vill make troubles, and I work hard all day to get dot shoe ready. It vhas all cement patches, and I pellet I lose half a dollar py it. I shall take dot sign down early in der morning, but before I haf my breakfast somebody thumps on der door, and when it vhas open more ash ten men vhas in, and each one says:

"Cobbler, you may put a half price patch on dis shoe."

"But it vhas no half price," I says.

Warned Against Tricks.

"Don't talk to us. Half price vhas seven and a half cents. We vhas come in before it vhas too late, and don't you try some tricks on us!"

"Shentlemen, listen to me," I says, while my wife weeps and der baby squalls. If somebody likes to make room for tinware, do you get a necktie for 10 cents? Of course not. When you go down to buy you find der ten cent ties all gone, but some fine ones left at seventy-five. It vhas shust like dot mit cement patches. I like to make room for shoe pegs, but der seven and a half patches vhas all gone."

"You vhas was some swindlers!"

"You vhas some liars!"

"You vhas some cheats!"

Dose men call me more ash one booned names, and dey shump around till I don't pellet I vhas alive two minutes more. I try to explain how she vhas, and I vhas talking arbay when dot fat policeman come in and calls out:

"Now, py Jupiter, but what vhas all dis row about?"

Sign Was Still Up.

"Look at dot sign!" says a man.

"Yes, I see dot sign. It vhas bargains and spring booms and prices cut in two. Come in before she vhas too late."

"But she vhas too late already," I says.

"Oh, she vhas? Maybe you vhas mistook. She may be too late for me to come in for patches, but she vhasn't too late for you to come out and let me play mit you! Cobbler, come forth!"

"Dis vhas my busy day."

But he took me py der neck and vhas me out, and he bangs me up py der wall ten times and leafe me like a dead man. When I can crawl in I lock der door and takes dot sign down and goes to bed, and when dot little tailor comes and knocks on der door and likes to know if I can lend him two booned dollars' profit I groan and weep and tell him to raus mit him.

This Beautiful Hair

Is like what you want your hair to be—

Lustrous, bright and glossy; soft, silky and wavy.

To have beautiful hair like this, use

HARMONY HAIR BEAUTIFIER

It's just what its name implies—just to make the hair glossy, and lustrous, and more beautiful—just to make it easier to dress, and more natural to fall easily and gracefully into the wavy lines and folds of the coiffure, just to give that delightful fresh and cool effect, and leave a lingering, delicate, elusive perfume.

Will not change or darken the color of the hair. Contains no oil; therefore, cannot leave the hair sticky or stringy.

Very pleasant to use, very easy to apply—simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it.

To thoroughly clean your hair and scalp, use

Harmony Shampoo

A liquid shampoo to keep the hair clean, soft, smooth and beautiful. It gives an instantaneous rich, foaming lather, penetrating to every part of the hair and scalp. It is washed off just as quickly, the entire operation taking only a few moments.

It leaves no lumps or stickiness.

—Just a refreshing sense of cool, sweet cleanliness.

—Just a dainty, pleasant and clean fragrance.

Both in odd-shaped ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops.

Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00; Harmony Shampoo, 50c.

Both guaranteed to please you, or your money back.

Sold only by the more than 7300 Rexall Stores—The World's Greatest Drug Stores—and made in our own big Toronto Laboratories, where all the delightful HARMONY, VIOLET DULCE and BOUQUET JEANICE Perfumes and Toilet Preparations are made.

A SURPRISE SANTA CLAUS

AROLD! Harold
Barton! called Sally's voice from the kitchen door. "Father says be sure to close and lock."

"Oh, I know
all about it," called Harold from the barn door. "Don't bother your head about me." He turned his back and stalked into the barn, carrying a big basket filled with holly, fir boughs and mistletoe. Harold was to dress the Christmas tree and decorate the barn, for the tree was too large for the house, and the barn, which was well built,
had been fitted up with stoves.

Harold and Bert Fenn put the last touches to the decorations and the tree just as the supper bell rang the day before Christmas. Dinner was early, as some cousins were to come in the evening and they had to be met at the station four miles away.

The Bentons lived on the edge of a town at the foot of a thickly wooded mountain that sheltered many a wild animal and often human beings almost as wild.

The cousins came and soon were safely tucked away in the beds and on the sofas that were not used by the uncles and aunts, and all was quiet.

Two persons were not asleep, though. Sally was thinking: "I wonder if Harold did lock the barn up well —with all our beautiful presents there.
Suppose some of the woods tramps should break in. Oh, dear, I wish morning were here!"

Harold also, rolled up on a mattress on the garret floor, remembered that, although he had locked the large doors, he had not thought about the little door, and he could not remember whether it was fastened.

Morning dawned bright and crisp.
Harold helped the gardener build the fire in the stoves in the barn and then waited impatiently for Uncle John, who had promised to act as Santa Claus and who could not get there until the last moment. The train arrived without Uncle John, and the smaller children were beginning to fret at the delay. So it was finally decided that they would have to do without a Santa Claus, for Uncle John had always taken that part, and no one could be persuaded to take his place.

The candles were lighted, and the family and guests trooped over to the barn. Such cries of surprise and delight there were when the big tree stood before them in a blaze of glory!
When the "ohs" and "ahs" had died away, a little, Harold started to make an apology for the absence of Santa.

"Santa Claus was detained," he began, when a whistling sound and then a tinkling noise like sleighbells came from the tree.
He stopped in astonishment. Every one else heard the noise, too, and thirty-
two pairs of eyes were turned toward the tree.
Certainly something was moving in the tree.
The branches toward the center
shook, though no one touched the tree, and as every one watched breathlessly the branches parted, and the queerest little figure you ever saw pushed its way out and stood on a limb, bowing politely right and left. It was about two feet high, with long flowing white beard and hair and dressed just as you always expect to see Santa Claus.

The children looked up in open-mouthed astonishment, Harold among them, and the grownups, with puzzled expressions, were trying to solve the mystery when another sharp little whistle was heard, and the tiny Santa Claus, using his hands and feet with much skill, climbed down a branch or
two. In so doing he turned his back and showed a long brown tail beneath his coat.

Then there was a shout of laughter,
with clapping of hands, and the children fairly danced with joy as the small Santa Claus, sitting demurely on a branch, took hold of a very pretty pink and white dolly and, after examining her wax face closely, kissed her lovingly. At this there was a louder roar of laughter, in the midst of which
a gruff voice called out:

"Here, you beggar! Let it alone!"
This voice came from the hayloft,
and when the thirty-two pairs of eyes turned immediately to see who spoke they saw two pairs of legs hanging over the edge of the loft and two bearded faces peering down.

The two bearded men came down,
one swinging from the beam and the other climbing down the ladder. Harold, with an exclamation of delight, lunged both arms about the most hay-
seedy looking one.

They every one exclaimed, "Why,
Uncle John!" And Uncle John laughingly explained that he and a friend,
whom he introduced as Mr. Whitman, had arrived on the midnight train and as they did not wish to disturb the family, had tried the barn doors. Then they had decided upon this surprise.

"And the Santa Claus monkey is himself a present for you, Harold, to remind you to lock doors," said Uncle
John, with a twinkle in his eye.

A KIND FAMILY'S CHRISTMAS GIFT

ONCE, long ago, in the mountains of southern France, there lived a poor
but honest family of a father, mother and two children. The father was named Adam and the mother
Hannah. The son,
Peter, was twelve years of age, and the daughter, Esther, was only nine.

Father Adam was an honest, hard-working man. On the steep sides of the mountains he kept his sheep and a cow, and in a little valley that lay between the mountains Mother, Hannah made a garden, filling the soil by her own hands, with the aid of a few simple gardening tools. And her son Peter gave her what assistance a boy of his years could give. Esther kept the little thatched cottage tidy and clean, preparing the meals for the three workers who were out of doors most of the day and who came in at night from their toll very, very tired.

But they never grumbled at their lot, for they had hopes that Fortune would smile on them some time. And she did —in the form of a fairy.

One morning the day before Christmas Father Adam and family sat around their plain wooden table eating mush and milk. Adam spoke.

"Tis the holy time of Christmas, mother," he said, "and we should do an act of charity toward some one poorer than ourselves, even though it should be giving over and over so small a gift. The Lord gave his life for sufferers in his name on the day of his Nativity. What say you, mother?"

"You are right," agreed Mother Hannah. "There is the Widow David, who stands in great need. She has two children, and the wolves got among her sheep and killed three of the finest.
She is trying hard to keep her children and herself. What say you to our sending her a bag of wheat and a small cheese?"

"Very good, mother," agreed Father Adam. "And as I shall have to watch the sheep and cow either Peter or Esther shall take the wheat and cheese to Widow David's cot."

"I'll go," offered Esther, "for Peter and mother are digging up the ground for the planting of vines in the spring."
So it was agreed that Esther should take the dogcart and make the journey over the mountain to the cottage of the Widow David. As soon as breakfast was over Esther tidied up the house and placed the noon meal—a loaf of bread, a jug of homemade wine and a small cheese—on the table.

"Mother and Peter will be hungry after the forenoon spent in the garden," she said. "Poor father always carries his bread and cheese in his pocket and eats as he herds the sheep."
"Now, before going I shall fix the fire to hold till noonday; otherwise the house will be cold on mother's and Peter's return."

So saying, Esther picked up a huge log that lay beside the fireplace. "Ah, this is the log father said should burn our Christmas eve fire. It will soon be Christmas eve, and I'll throw the log on the flame and have the house cheery on the return of the dear ones."

But just as Esther was lifting one end of the heavy log—the Yule log—a flash of light leaped from the farther end and caused Esther to close her eyes.
When she opened them again there before her stood a fairy. "Ah! I have come to bring you some Christmas cheer," said the fairy. "Your parents are good and deserving folk. They were robbing their harder to help the needy widow. So here is a bit of good fortune for you and yours. Little helpful maid. Take it for yourselves and for those about you who are in need." Then, before Esther could reply, the fairy had disappeared, leaving on the hearth a bag of gold.

The little girl ran out and called in her parents and brother. When the father looked into the big bag of gold he said that there was enough there to keep them all in comfort for the rest of their lives and with which to help their less fortunate neighbors as well.

And you may be sure there was a merry Christmas for the family, with many good wishes for the kind fairy

NO ACCOUNTING FOR SANTA CLAUS

THE twins were deep in the mysteries of mincemaking under the direction of the faithful Dinah.
Maud stood on a chair chopping
beef and apples
in a huge wooden bowl; Marian sorted raisins and citron at a side table; Dinah stirred some savory mess that cooked. So busy were they that the stealthy entrance of Wilbur was not noticed until his excited face peered over Maud's shoulder. With a startled scream she dropped her chopper: "Go away, you horrid boy! We're too busy to bother with your pranks."

"Indeed, I'm not up to any pranks at all," he began in an aggrieved tone.
"I've just seen something that makes me so excited!"

"Don't keep us in suspense!" came in curt accents from the side table.

"I've discovered all sorts of odd shaped bundles in the storeroom closet!"
he exclaimed impressively. The twins gasped, and Dinah spoke crossly. "And

THE TRIO REVEALED IN THE SHINING MASSES.

what was you doin' in dat closet? Chil-den ain't got no call to meddle in what daden concern 'em, now!"

But neither of the three was to be put off thus. "How many were there?"
asked Marian. "Did you peek in 'em?"
queried Maud. Then Marian's sense of humor came to the rescue. "It really doesn't matter," she said. "They are evidently meant to be secrets. Perhaps Santa Claus is concerned in them."

"But," began the boy hesitatingly,
"it makes me doubt if Santa Claus really exists to see all these things beforehand. Do you think there is such a person?"

"Well, Wilbur Pennington, of all silly questions! Doesn't he always fill our stockings and bring us a tree? Doesn't he always get the notes we put in the fireplace for him and give us everything we write for? Haven't we been told loads of times about his reindeer and sled and workshop at the north pole and his jolly face and all the rest of it?" These questions were fired at him in a volley by both twins.

"Well, I don't care," he answered doggedly. "The fellows in school laughed at me when I spoke of him the other day, and it does seem queer how he can do all the things he does."

"Go 'way, chille!" ejaculated Dinah.
"Dere's let ob t'ings dat's past our understandin'." Does we know how do blessed sun kin shine ober do whole country at once? Does we know how do wind blows an'
do waves come rollin' widout ceasin'? We needn't care how Santa Claus gets roun' do way he
do. I disremem-ber do time when he forgot me.
Ever since I was a little pickaninny berfo' do war he's bring me gifts. Old missus used to 'low him to set up do tree in do big mansion an' leave do darkies' girls 'long wid do white folks' Go 'way, chille! Don't you try to make me believe dere ain't no Santa Claus, 'cause dere jest nacherally has to be one." And Dinah stirred violently to ease her injured feelings.

"Of course dere is a Santa Claus," said Marian, coming to her rescue.
"You see, Wilbur, it's just this way.
There is no doubt of the love and care that give such joy to boys and girls at this happy time—the love that grati-fies their dearest wishes and takes into account all their efforts to do what is right, even though the results often look like failure."

"It really doesn't matter by what name we call this love. If we're told it is Santa Claus, why, then, we ought to agree to accept the old fellow, with all his delightful traditions and novel ways of doing kindnesses. It's really the spirit of Santa Claus that makes Christmas the happiest day in the whole year. So I, for one, am not going to deny the dear fellow's existence. Come out and explore the snow-drifts till the sun goes down. Maybe we'll discover the north pole."

And the trio revelled in the shining masses until the shadows of darkness enveloped the sunlight, much as their doubts of Santa Claus had been swallowed in the depths of trusting love.

HAIR HINTS

Worthy the Attention of People Who Wish to Preserve the Hair.

Always have your own brush and comb at home or at hair dresser's.
Never use a brush or comb found in public places. They are usually covered with dandruff germs.

Wash your hair brush weekly with soap and warm water to which may be added an antiseptic.

Shampoo the hair every week or so with pure soap and water.
Use Parisian Sage every day, rubbing thoroughly into the scalp.

Parisian Sage, which comes in a large 50-cent bottle, is guaranteed by H. E. Jones to destroy dandruff germs and abolish dandruff—to stop hair from falling and scalp from itching, or in any trifling.

To put life and beauty into dull-dry or faded hair and make it soft and fluffy surely use Parisian Sage—it is one of the quickest acting hair tonics known.

"MANOS"

Self-Filling Fountain Pen

(Made in Austria)

Price $1.00

Everybody who writes will appreciate the handy "MANOS" Self-Filling Pen. It doesn't merely look fine—though the "MANOS" is hard to beat in that particular; it does away with the old time bother of filling with a filler, which so often resulted in staining everything nearby. The comfort alone gained by using a pen that never leaks, spurts or falters, one that can be carried with you and used wherever you happen to be, is worth many, many times the price of the "MANOS" Self-Filler.

Each put up in a neat box with directions for filling and sent postpaid to you for the above price.

QUEER FIGURE PUSH-ED OUT.

one watched breathlessly the branches
parted, and the queerest little figure
you ever saw pushed its way out and stood on a limb, bowing politely right and left. It was about two feet high,
with long flowing white beard and hair and dressed just as you always expect to see Santa Claus.

The children looked up in open-mouthed astonishment, Harold among them, and the grownups, with puzzled expressions, were trying to solve the mystery when another sharp little whistle was heard, and the tiny Santa Claus, using his hands and feet with much skill, climbed down a branch or
two. In so doing he turned his back and showed a long brown tail beneath
his coat.

Then there was a shout of laughter,
with clapping of hands, and the children fairly danced with joy as the small Santa Claus, sitting demurely on a branch, took hold of a very pretty pink and white dolly and, after examining her wax face closely, kissed her lovingly. At this there was a louder roar of laughter, in the midst of which
a gruff voice called out:

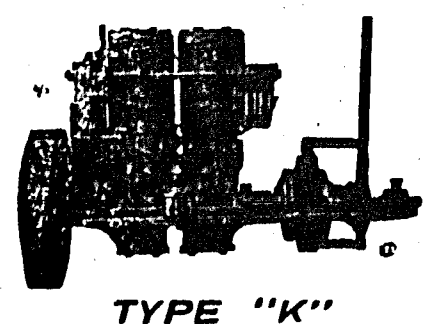

"Here, you beggar! Let it alone!"
This voice came from the hayloft,
and when the thirty-two pairs of eyes turned immediately to see who spoke
they saw two pairs of legs hanging over the edge of the loft and two bearded faces peering down.

The two bearded men came down,
one swinging from the beam and the other climbing down the ladder. Harold, with an exclamation of delight,
lunged both arms about the most hay-
seedy looking one.

They every one exclaimed, "Why,
Uncle John!" And Uncle John laughingly explained that he and a friend,
whom he introduced as Mr. Whitman,
had arrived on the midnight train and
as they did not wish to disturb the family, had tried the barn doors. Then they had decided upon this surprise.

"And the Santa Claus monkey is himself a present for you, Harold, to remind you to lock doors," said Uncle
John, with a twinkle in his eye.

Mrs. Martha Munro Celebrates Her 80th Birthday.

A number of the ladies of Westport met at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Kent, on Monday evening, Dec. 1st, to commemorate the 80th anniversary of the birth of her aunt, Mrs. Martha Munro, which occurred on the previous day. The occasion was a highly enjoyable one, and was interspersed with music and anecdotes of former days. A large cake illuminated with candles and the figure 80 was a conspicuous attraction. Mrs. Munro is a daughter of the late Capt. J. and Mrs. Harris, who were both well advanced in years at the time of their demise, he being in his 97th year and would not reach the century mark but for an accident which occurred a short time previously. Her mother was a daughter of Moses Morrell, one of the Loyalists who left the State of Maine during the Revolutionary period and settled in Nova Scotia. He was a near relative of Benjamin Morrell, the eminent Maine statesman. Her father came from Chebogue, Yarmouth Co., and followed the sea for his profession, he having charge for many years of vessels voyaging to and from the West Indies when Westport was the centre of a large shipping fleet. He also was engaged quite largely at one time in the whaling industry at Westport. Capt. Harris was a man of great physical and mental activities as also a great reader and student. His mind was a great storehouse of historic lore.

Mrs. Munro therefore may, we trust, look forward to many years yet in a cosy corner in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kent. She married in early life George Munro, who was the school teacher at Westport for many years and is well remembered by our older inhabitants as faithful and painstaking and was one who saw that the parents money was not wasted in idleness. This was the time before the free school came into operation. Teaching not agreeing with him, the couple moved to Kingston where he engaged in farming. This was about 1861. There she resided until the decease of her husband, when she returned to Westport on or about the year 1880. In the meantime, they having no children of their own, they adopted a young girl Eleanor O'Goggin, who had lately lost her mother. Her father was still alive, and at his decease the home which they now occupy came into her possession. The young lady also having married, now resides under the same roof with her aunt, Mrs. Munro. Happiness and comfort is their lot.

Mrs. Munro is a faithful member of the Baptist Church and the Ladies Aid Society, and when the weather is at all favourable her place is always filled at both. She is of a kind, genial disposition, an honored member of our community, and we trust will be spared for many years yet as an honored guest in the Kent household. The following lines were read at her centenary:

Four score of years mark thy advent to earth,
First felt the kiss of mother love at birth;
Those fields and woods you roamed in childhood's day
Yet later years these scenes have been your home,
Where you'll abide until you're called to come.

Martha, thy name, brings memories sweet to me
Of Christ, and those loved ones at Bethany
From Judah's hills, when weary and oppressed
Some hours of rest we found for thee and I
And then to show His love and power to save,
He raised thee from the dead, and thou art free.

Although thou art beyond the allotted age,
As given by Israel's King in sacred page,
Yet still a further gift we'd crave for thee
From Him who reigns before Time and Space
We'd a kiss from Him, if such be thy desire,
The age attained on earth by thy dear sire.

And when at last these birthday ends and cease,
May you lie down content in perfect peace;
Assured that He will give thee welcome rest
Will take thee home to be divinely blest,
To meet with all the loved who've gone before,
And live and dwell with Christ for ever more.

—Cant.

Opening of St. Mary's Bay Flour Mill at Meteghan Centre.

(Special to the Courier.)

Tuesday, Dec. 2nd was a day of unusual interest for the inhabitants of Meteghan Centre, and of the entire district of Clare. A year or two ago Mr. Euseb Robichau, an enterprising young man of Meteghan Centre, seeing the almost complete depletion of our forests, and the lack of interest in the fishing industry, resolved to try and encourage the people to turn their attention to their farms. So he began to encourage the culture of winter wheat and with the assistance of compatriots, and at the price of innumerable sacrifices, he set to work to build a flour mill. He put up a building 30x40, three stories high and set out to order the necessary machinery for grinding grain of all sorts. The machinery was ordered from Sprout & Waldron, Moncton, P. A., and a week or two ago, Mr. J. H. Hartley, of Baltimore, Md., was sent out by the company to install the plant and put everything in readiness to grind. On Tuesday, everything being completed, your correspondent was asked to attend to the first operation of the mill. The plant was set in motion by Mr. Hartley, and five barrels of good, pure and wholesome flour were made. Quite a crowd witnessed the operation, among which was Mr. J. P. Robichau, a venerable gentleman of over four score years and father of Mr. Euseb Robichau. Every part of the machinery worked perfectly. Three grades of flour can be produced. Your correspondent would suggest to Mr. Robichau to name the patent flour "Euseb-gelene." The plant can also grind corn, oats, peas, etc. The town of Meteghan has now ample means to progress. It now remains with the farmers and leading men to make the thing a success. It has been amply demonstrated that the culture of winter wheat can be effectually and successfully carried on here. This flour mill should be a new inducement to work with energy at the realization of the Bay shore tramway line. Such a thing is of so much importance that it must be kept agitated until it is realized.

Fatally Shot at Lambert Lake. Me.

Mr. Edward Harding, who was fatally shot at Lambert Lake, Me., on the 23rd November, belonged to Ritchfield, Yarmouth Co., and not to Ritchfield, N. B., as before reported. The remains arrived at his former home on Thursday, Nov. 28th. He leaves a widow and six children; also one brother, Mr. Edward Harding, of Plympton, Digby Co., and one sister, Mrs. Archibald Sweeney, of Carleton Place. He was a devoted member of the U. B. church at Forest Glen, and will be long missed in the community. Rev. Mr. Duiker, of Kempt officiated at the funeral, the interment being made in Forest Glen cemetery.

POLLUTED WATER.

Cheap and Simple Method by Which It May Be Purified.

The best thing to do with polluted water is to keep it out of your mouth and wait until you can get some pure water. Of course a man might starve to death in some places following that advice, so here is the next best thing to do. Disinfect the dangerous water. Here is the way to do it.

Dissolve a teaspoonful of chloride of lime in a cupful of water, making sure that all lumps are thoroughly broken up, then add three more cupfuls of water. Stir the mixture well and allow to stand for a few seconds in order that any solid particles may settle.

This mixture, if kept in a tightly stoppered bottle, may be used for four or five days, when a new solution should be prepared. Add one teaspoonful of this milky looking solution to each two gallons of water to be purified and stir thoroughly in order that the weak chlorine solution will come in contact with all the bacteria which may be present. Allow this to stand for ten minutes. This will give approximately one-half part of free chlorine to 1,000,000 parts of water and will effectually destroy all typhoid and colon bacilli or other disease germs in the water. The water will be without taste or odor, and the trace of free chlorine will rapidly disappear. This method is one which is now recommended in the health literature of the country.

Water so disinfected is not dangerous so far as the chloride of lime is concerned if allowed to stand for ten or fifteen minutes after applying. The chief danger is that not enough disinfectant will be applied to render the water safe in all instances.

HUMAN HEREDITY.

It is Confined, So It Is Asserted, to a Likeness to Parents.

There are few subjects on which so much "scientific" nonsense is talked and written as on heredity. Not very much is known of it as regards plants, less of animals and almost nothing as regards humanity. To read books on heredity, especially those of the Eugenic society, is to read a mass of suppositions and hazardous inductions where most of the facts are negative and only the exceptions are positive.

The very meaning of "hereditary" is not understood. If any quality is truly hereditary then it is always hereditary. It never occurs except as the result of heredity, and it is constant—that is to say, it invariably follows. But there is no quality of which this can be said. That genius is not hereditary is known. Even talent is not. Nor is any aptitude. A lawyer's son more often wants to be a soldier or an artist than a lawyer, notwithstanding the environment, and it is so with most professions. The exceptions seem to be due to training and influence, not to hereditary transmission.

A superficial likeness to parents seems hereditary, but that is all that we can assert, and that outward likeness by no means infers an inward likeness. There is nothing so easy and nothing so fatal as this tendency to attribute to heredity what is due to training or want of training. It excuses supineness in governments and professions.—H. Fielding Hall in Atlantic Monthly.

Thin Cutting.

When Irvin Cobb, the writer, was on the World he attended a ball game at the Polo grounds. The yard was packed. Just before the game Harry Stevens, who had the refreshment privilege, strolled by the press box and called out to a group of which Cobb was a member:

"Great crowd, eh, boys? I'll bet there's 6,000 more people here than they expected. I guess that means I'll have to go in and prepare about 4,000 more ham sandwiches."

"Well," remarked Cobb, "that will pretty nearly necessitate the cutting of another ham, won't it, Harry?"—Everybody's.

Green Liquid Soap.

Green liquid soap, which is recommended by skin specialists for fine skins or for those which have the pores extended, can be made at home. Take equal parts of glycerin, water, alcohol and green castile soap. Shake the soap into the water and stir over the fire until the mixture is smooth. Add the glycerin and lastly, after the kettle is removed from the fire, the alcohol. Add a tablespoonful of eau de cologne, if perfume is desired.

Antiquity of Leather.

Leather was early known in Egypt and Greece and things of manufactured hides were used for ropes, harness and the like by ancient nations. The Gordian knot was made of leather things. A leather cannon was made at Edinburgh, fired three times and found useful in 1778.—Kansas City Times.

His Job.

Hall—What are you doing now?
Gail—Oh, I'm making a house to house canvass to ascertain why people don't want to buy a new patent clothes wringer.—Chicago News.

Dad's Excuse.

"Papa, why don't you dress as well as other men do?"
"Because, pet, you insist on dressing better than any other girl does."—Chicago Tribune.

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of the Courier

Sir: A few weeks since I noticed in your columns a report that the O. P. R. contemplated the demolition of the present draw bridge over the St. John's River at Weymouth, and the erection of a new bridge further up the river and without a draw. This revived in my memory an interesting discussion as to the location of this bridge when the road was in course of construction. Mr. Vernon Smith, O. E., who was at first engaged, had a great horror of a curve on a railway bridge, and laid out a line which starting three or four miles to the eastward would cross the river straight at an angle with the traffic bridge, and he denounced in the strongest terms the change made by Mr. Plunkett. Meanwhile, the Holmes-Thompson Government, acting on a resolution of the Assembly, appointed a commission of expert engineers to examine and report as to how the whole work was being done. This commission was headed by Mr. Odell, a very able and experienced engineer and they reported that the location of the bridge as then proposed on its present site was the most objectionable feature of the whole line, involving as it did, a reverse curve. However, it was later allowed, probably for the sake of placing the station where it would accommodate a larger business traffic.

Tiverton.

Miss Lillian Clifford has returned home from Freeport.

Mr. Norman Outhouse and family have moved in their new home.

Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair Walker have returned home from Yarmouth.

Mr. John Fisher and Small Bros. have a large supply of Christmas goods.

Mr. Joseph Ossinger and son Hubert, have returned home from Grand Manan.

Mrs. Harvard Outhouse, who has been on the sick list, we are pleased to report much better.

Another aged and respected citizen, Mr. John Clifford, sr., has passed away. The deceased had been ill for some time, and suffered much. He was a member of the Christian Church for many years, a regular attendant, always at his post ready to do his duty, until overtaken by sickness. In politics he was a Liberal. He leaves to mourn their loss, a widow, three sons, Capt. John Clifford, jr., Messrs. Byron and Thomas Clifford, three daughters, Mrs. Henry Outhouse, Mrs. Wesley Leeman and Mrs. Auden Small, all of Tiverton, and one sister, Miss Nellie Clifford, U. S. Funeral took place from his late home, Friday, Nov. 28th. Rev. F. Eaton attended the services. We extend sympathy to the mourning ones.

Cleaning Chamols.

To clean chamols skin use warm water, soap and a little soda, rubbing the soap well in. Washing in plain water will harden it.

Use of a Silk Handkerchief

Nothing polishes both antique and modern furniture better than an old silk handkerchief; not only is there no fluff as there is with a cotton duster, but there is virtue in the silk. In these days of the banishment of tablecloths the surface of a highly polished table requires great care, but if once a month it is rubbed with a damp cloth or and then polished with an old silk handkerchief it becomes a sheet of brilliancy and looks delightful.

Sufferers from neuralgia say that a fit of pain comes on in the head great relief is afforded by the application of a silk handkerchief knotted up into a cap. The handkerchief not only keeps away draughts, but imparts a peculiar comfort and ease to the head.

Express Co.'s Manager at Yarmouth Promoted.

YARMOUTH, Dec. 5.—L. C. Goodge, the local manager of the Dominion Express Company, is being heartily congratulated on his promotion to the position of chief clerk in the superintendent's office at St. John.

Mr. Goodge has been here a little over a year, having succeeded the late Andrew Stoves. He will assume his new duties shortly after the first of the new year. It is understood that Mr. Goodge will be succeeded here by Robert Campbell, at present in the company's office at Halifax.

A Wise Dog

In Nettleton, Kan., there is a dog which meets the two daily mail trains, catches the mail pouch which is thrown from them, and carries it to the store where his owner is postmistress. He pays no attention to the other trains which pass through, and seems to understand the whistle of the mail train.

25 Years Ago

[From the Yarmouth Times File.]
Yarmouth railway magnates visited Digby and favored the Jordanville route of the W. O. R. with a branch into Digby and were using their influence with the surveyors. The Digby people thought they could locate their own end of the road—and they did.

Spots on China

The beauty of old china is often destroyed by broken spots which appear on the surface. An effective way to remove these is to bury the dish in the earth, covering it completely. The darker spots require more time to remove than the lighter ones. This method will not harm the most delicate china.

A Barron Shore

A small boy was sitting on his father's knee watching his mother as she painfully went through the very delicate operation of doing her hair in that most becoming wave effect. "No waves for you, pa," said the infant philosopher as he fondly polished his father's bald head, "you're all beach."

Arranging For the Future

The little girl objected, quite naturally, to wearing her oldest sister's outgrown clothes. One day, in protesting while being dressed with such a garment, she exclaimed: "It's real mean, and when I get married, I'm going to have my youngest child first, so that she won't have to wear her sister's old clothes."

When to Thank

"I suppose you feel very thankful to Santa Claus for providing you with such a fine turkey?" said the minister to Uncle 'Lijah's little boy. "No, sah," replied the pious boy. "Uncle told this child to be thankful to Farmer Green for leavin' his hen house done on de jar."

—The month of November is said to be the mildest in 20 years. But little rain and no snow, and flowers and berries common to midsummer weather have been picked in many places. Cattle and sheep have been able to secure much to eat outdoors, while grass is still green on the lawns and cultivated spots.

Milking Contest

At a dairy show being held in Chicago, Ill., there is to be a milking contest exclusively for the leading milk dealers of the United States and Canada, of whom nine have entered. The prizes in order are a leather medal, a glass of fresh milk and a glass of buttermilk.

Synopsis of Coal Mining Regulations

COAL mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, in the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty years at an annual rental of $1 per acre. Not more than 250 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights are applied for, or to the Minister of the Interior.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal subdivisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $1000 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. COLE, Deputy Minister of the Interior.

WOMEN CURED AT HOME

Women's disorders always yield from the very beginning of the treatment to the mild, but effective, action of Orange Lily. Within two or three days after commencing its use the improvement becomes noticeable, and this improvement continues until the patient is completely cured. Orange Lily is an applied or local treatment, and acts directly on the woman's organs, removing the congestion, toning and strengthening the nerves, and restoring perfect circulation in the diseased parts. In order to convince all suffering women of the value of this remedy, I will send a 50-cent box, enough for ten days' treatment, absolutely FREE to each lady sending me her address. Mrs. FRANCES E. DIGBY WEEKLY COURIER

Digby, December 10, 1913

Notice to Advertisers

Owing to next Thursday being a holiday, copy for change of advertisements must reach us Tuesday noon in order to be inserted in our issue of Dec. 20. Copy reaching us later than Tuesday noon will be placed on file without any comment and will appear in our issue of Jan. 2nd 1914. This notice is positive.

—AGAIN 'tis Christmas; hallowed, venerable, and always welcome. How much has been said and written concerning it. All Christendom observes it. Throughout the British empire financial institutions are closed, parliament is prorogued, and Santa Claus reigns king. It is the day of all days to the children. The day to which all the other days lead up, and although the toys get broken and the gifts lose their value, it will come again with the pleasure of the past. But the pity is, that as we get older we lose the taste for simple pleasures and others less harmless and much less innocent take their places.

Christmas has always been strongly festive and only slightly religious. A very few, remembering the Great Sacrifice it commemorates, go to church, but everybody feasts, and many find in it an excuse for doing very much worse. This is an age of travel and on board ships and on the land there is a large percentage of human beings who must spend the festive season away from their homes. For these it is a sorry Christmas, but tends to a deeper appreciation of the home and fireside. The thousands in our Western country will turn with yearning hearts to the homes they have left, for which the brighter outlook and happier conditions under which they live, in this land of promise scarcely compensates them. For these, Christmas is hardly Christmas, there is much of secret sorrow and longings for the old home, "be it ever so homely."

But whatever we do, or wherever we are, don't let us forget our poorer neighbors, most of us expect to have a better dinner than usual on that day, but there are some whose meal will be a scanty one. Look them up; and your own table will be blessed if you have helped to fill that of your poorer neighbor.

Golden Wedding at St. Pleasant.

JOHN AND HARRIETT WARRINGTON HAVE BEEN MARRIED FIFTY YEARS.

Another event of more than ordinary interest occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Warrington, St. Pleasant, Tuesday evening when the aged couple celebrated their fiftieth anniversary of their marriage, known as the golden wedding. A large number of invited guests were present from Digby and elsewhere, all of whom spent a very pleasant evening. Their friends presented them with a purse of gold, the presentation speech being made by Rev. Leander Daniel, the popular pastor of Grace Methodist church. After an appropriate reply refreshments were served and music enjoyed until a late hour.

Both are natives of St. Pleasant. Mr. John Warrington is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Warrington, and Mrs. Harriett Warrington is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Stark. Fifty years ago they were united in marriage by the Rev. James Taylor, pastor of the Digby Methodist church, of which denomination both are valuable members and regular attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Warrington's large circle of relatives and friends will join the Countess in extending hearty congratulations and best wishes for many happy returns of Dec. 10.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Warrington's three children were christened by Rev. Mr. Daniel at the above golden wedding.

Aid to the Poor.

The annual Christmas tree and entertainment for the inmates of the County Institution will be held this year at the Alma House on Wednesday, Dec. 24th. It is earnestly hoped that there may be a very generous and general response to this worthy cause this year, and it is desired that the Christmas season be made as bright as possible for those who are so unfortunate. Kindly help out in the good work by responding early. Contributions may be left with Mr. Daley.

A Gentle Reminder

We always regret to have to call our delinquent subscribers' attention to the date labels on their papers, but it appears that if something were not done many of these accounts would continue forward on the payment. If you owe the Courier anything, please pay it. We do not want to leave these small amounts for collection. Hundreds of them added together make a large amount. Let us hear from you within the next two weeks.

The Bijou Dream Theatre.

The special attraction for next Monday, Dec. 22nd, is "The Battle of Waterloo" in four acts. These are the same pictures which were recently shown at the "Imperial." St. John's Manager Clippes says, "no matter how bad the weather, don't miss this show." First time at Nova Scotia. Admission: Adults 25c, children 15c.

—Silver Plated Tea Spoons, $2.00 per dozen at Keen's Jewelry Store.

OF A LOCAL NATURE

—The stores around town will be open next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday evenings.

—As a result of COUNTRESS advertising the Gem Novelty Co. was obliged to import another large order of fountain pens.

—There will be special Christmas music in the Methodist church next Sunday under the leadership of P. J. LeBlanc.

—Services will be held at Holy Trinity Church at 8 and 11 on Christmas Day. Also at St. Paul's Chapel, Marshalltown, at 3 o'clock.

—A cantata entitled, "Santa Claus Patterns," will be held in Union Hall, Barton, Tuesday evening, Dec. 23, for the benefit of the hall.

—Next Sunday morning the pastor of the Baptist church will preach a missionary sermon. Christmas service in the evening with special music.

—John F. LeBlanc, of Salmon River, Digby Co., has been appointed wharfinger of the Government wharf at this place, instead of John M. Doyeau, resigned.

—The ladies of the Digby Baptist church realized $107.00 at their Christmas tree and fancy sale Tuesday night, which proved a very pleasant entertainment.

—Xmas concert will be held in Bay View Presbyterian church on Friday, Dec. 13. Admission 25c adults, 15c children; doors open at 7.30. An enjoyable evening is promised.

—The window decorations around town are extra good. Our merchants take a deep interest in Christmas advertising and deserve all the patronage that can be given them.

—A special train leaves Annapolis tomorrow night, Dec. 20th, at 9 o'clock for Digby, which enables people along the line to spend the afternoon in our sister town, returning home the same evening.

—Rev. J. W. O'Brien, Methodist minister at Hantsport, has accepted an invitation to Bear River, to take effect in June, 1914. Rev. Alban Daniel has been invited to succeed him at Hantsport.

—Among the successful candidates at a qualifying examination for the outside division of the civil service held at different centres throughout the Dominion in November, was Mr. Harry B. Daley, of Yarmouth.

Married in Beverly.

BUTTRICK—TAYLOR.

Beverly, Massachusetts paper contains the following:—William Henry Buttrick, superintendent of a shoe factory in Beverly, and Miss Annie Elizabeth Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Taylor, of Yarmouth, a well known native of this city, were married last evening, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Silas L. Morse, pastor of the Mt. Washington church, at his home, 7 Bartlett street. The couple was unattended.

The bride is an esteemed member of the Mt. Washington Baptist church and a teacher in its Sunday school. She was during the ceremony a dress of new mahogany shade, with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Buttrick have gone to Bangor, Me., on their wedding trip and upon their return they will reside at 50 Cabot street, Beverly.

Birthday Party at Westport.

E. C. Bowers, Ex. M. P., was surprised on Monday evening, the 15th inst., by having a number of friends come in to congratulate him on the anniversary of his 68th birthday. Although Mr. Bowers has been an invalid for the last three years, yet he preserves his bright genial manner, and his cheerfulness is an example to all who visit him. Mrs. Bowers being such an agreeable hostess, a very pleasant evening was spent in conversation, music, and looking over the numerous birthday postals which came from friends both far and near. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening by the light of many candles which surrounded the elaborate "birthday cake." A gramophone selection "God be with you till we meet again," was a fitting close to this pleasant gathering.

COM.

"The Holy City."

SCORED GREAT SUCCESS UNDER DIRECTION OF SIGNOR STASSIO BRINI.

The Gaitersville, Florida, Daily Sun, of Sunday, Dec. 7th, contains a two column article in reference to a beautiful musical entertainment under the direction of Signor Stassio Brini, ably assisted by Madame Brini. This gentleman and lady spent the summer in Bear River, and their ability as musicians is not only known to our local readers but is of international fame. They are spending the winter in Florida and their many friends here eagerly look forward to their return next season.

$5,000 Sydney Fire.

SYDNEY, Dec. 17.—Fire occurred this afternoon in the basement of the new Redden block on Charlotte street. The fire was confined to the basement in which it originated and nearly all the damage was caused by water and smoke.

Messrs. Redden's shoe store and A. H. Mann, jeweler, are the occupants of the building and they with Messrs. McCurdy's dry goods store had stock damaged amounting to about $5,000.

Calendars.

We have received useful and pretty calendars this week from the following firms:—Canada Cement Co., Montreal; A. W. Allen & Son, proprietors of the Valley Planning Mills, Middleton, N. S.; N. H. Phinney & Co., 43 years in the music business, Lawrenceville, N. S.; and Federal Life Assurance Co. of Canada, E. E. Burnham, agent, Digby.

Tiverton House Closed.

Our Tiverton correspondent writes that Mrs. Hyron Outchoung requests us to state that her home will not be open again to the public. Travellers will therefore take notice that they will not be accommodated.

25 Years Ago.

[From the Yarmouth Times Files.] Robert Adams and George Small, of Broad Cove, Digby County, were drowned on Dec. 10, while fishing. It was supposed that their boat upset.

Mr. Norris Margeson, the well known and popular D. A. R. conductor, is enjoying a month's vacation, a portion of which will be spent in Montreal. His place on one of the express trains is being filled by Conductor "Win" Conrad, who is also very popular with the travelling public.

Attempt to Wreck G. T. R. Train.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Dec. 17.—A mysterious attempt was made to wreck No. 91, a heavy G. T. R. passenger freight, half mile east of New Sarnia, about eight miles from here, at midnight last night. There is a bridge 125 feet high over Catfish creek at that point, and the track had been undermined and ties taken out at a point six feet from the approach to the bridge. Two new ties had been placed with their ends under the rails, the other end sticking up together between the rails in such a way that the west-bound freight would be derailed. No. 91 was late and No. 14, east bound, was given right of way, and striking the obstruction from the opposite direction to what the would be wreckers intended, the engine was not derailed, but came to a stop. There is no trouble on the road, and no suspicion as to the identity of the perpetrators is entertained. Detectives are working on the case.

Bishop LeBlanc's Anniversary.

His lordship the Right Reverend Edward Alfred LeBlanc, D. D., celebrated on last Wednesday, December 10th, the anniversary day of his consecration. Bishop LeBlanc was consecrated as the fifth bishop of the diocese of St. John on December 10th, 1912, by His Excellency Archbishop Stepien, apostolic delegate to Canada, the assisting consecrators being Archbishop McCarthy, of Halifax, and Archbishop Levesque, of Montreal. The bishop spent his anniversary day at home, and many called at the palace to offer congratulations and to wish his lordship many years in his present exalted office.

Xmas Gifts for Men.

The trend of Christmas giving this year is more in favor of useful articles. There are few gifts men like better than a fine necktie or muffler. A necktie of ties and mufflers much different from the ordinary may be found at Hart's, more elegant than are usually imported. Prices 25, 70c, mufflers 50c to $3.25; neckties with ties to match $2.50 to $1.25. G. E. Hart, Phone 81.

SHIPPING AND FISHING

Schr. Edna V. Pickles sailed from Mobile for Matanzas, Dec. 13th.

Schr. M. E. Eldridge sailed from Vineyard Haven for Digby Wednesday.

Schr. Catherine, Capt. Wilkie, sailed from New York for Digby Monday.

The American schooner Mount Hope and Susie H. Davidson are loading pulp at Weymouth for American ports.

The schooner Emma E. Potter, which passed in Saturday from St. John, went to Clementsport to lay up for the winter.

Schooner Forest Maid, of Beaver Harbor, hence for Trout Cove to finish loading for Vinal Haven, passed out Wednesday.

D. & O. Sproule's arrivals this week: 500 lbs. of mixed fish from Boston; shipped 52 boxes of Boston haddocks and 25 drums of dried fish.

As will be seen by our advertising columns the S. S. Westport, of the Inland S. S. Co., will not make her regular trip to St. John next week.

Yarmouth Times: William Conroy, one of the crew of the schooner Dorothy G. Snow, was taken to the marine hospital yesterday suffering from blood poisoning.

Overseer Justason reports from St. George, N. B.: No bait available from Dec. 13th, to date. Overseer Frazier from Woodward's Cove reports the same.

Schr. Elmo M. Morrissey, Capt. Ryder, which left Gloucester last Friday, arrived in Port Wade Sunday and at Digby Monday with salt for the Maritime Fish Corporation.

Bark Calburga, Capt. Lewis, was towed to sea Wednesday noon, by tug Victoria with lumber from Digby for Buenos Ayres shipped by Clarke Bros. and the Bloomfield Lumber Co.

Schr. Mercader, which arrived here Sunday with wood and piling from Clementsport for Boston, sailed Tuesday. She will probably go into winter quarters at Clementsport on her return.

The American schooner Premier, Capt. Morrissey, while being hauled out on the marine railway, Yarmouth, fell over on her beam ends. The full extent of the damage has not been ascertained.

The schooner Valdear, which arrived on Saturday from Rockland in ballast, proceeded to Bear River on Monday to load wood and piling for Boston. This will be her last trip of the season. She will come back to Bear River to lay up until spring.

The tug Hilda M., of Hantsport, has been chartered by the New York Foundation and Construction Company, the new contractors for the completion of the new steel railway bridge across Bear River, and has arrived here to take up the towing work.

Arrivals at the Maritime Fish Corporation this week: Schr. Cora Gortie, 15, 600 lbs. of haddock, 2,540 lbs. of hake, schr. L. C. M., 3,155 lbs. of haddock, 3,365 lbs. of hake; other sources, 4,440 lbs. of haddock, 1,260 lbs. of hake and 625 lbs. of cod.

Mr. W. A. Chute, Bear River's well known building and vessel mover, returned Saturday from Trout Cove, where he was successful in raising and moving away from the tide, the wrecked American schooner Theodore Roosevelt, where she will remain until March, after which she will be repaired and made as good as new.

The following vessels have reported at the Digby customs house since Dec. 12th: Inward Dec. 13th, Schr. Valdear, Moore, Rockport, Me.; 15th, schr. Cora Gortie, Crocker, Freeport; schr. Elmo M. Morrissey, Baxter, Gloucester; 17th, schr. Dora, Oanning, Passabook, N. S. Outward—Dec. 15th, schr. Valdear, Moore, Bear River; schr. Cora Gortie, Crocker, Freeport.

A Yarmouth despatch of Dec. 17th says: The first shipment of live lobsters for the season was made today. It was not so large as expected considering that since the season opened on Monday, the fishermen have been favored with fine weather. It consisted of about 180 crates. The exact figures will not be made up before tomorrow. They should fetch a good price.

Tuesday's Yarmouth Times: The government fisheries patrol Nelson, Captain Wrayton, arrived in port today on route to Digby. They report that today and yesterday hundreds of fishing boats are out setting lobster pots. Yesterday the Nelson was in Goose Bay, just below Argyle, where she found eight crates, containing upwards of twelve hundred lobsters, which were liberated. The man had been fishing all the fall and storing his catch. Up to Saturday the law had been well observed. On Saturday fishermen commenced to put traps out and on Sunday the Nelson out away three hundred traps between Pubnico Point and John's Island.

MYSTERY OF SIGHT

Most Wonderful and Inexplicable of All Our Senses.

LIMITS OF THE HUMAN VISION.

There Are Colors All About Us That the Eye Cannot See, as We Cannot Distinguish Beyond the Extremes of the Spectrum Red and Violet.

No two persons see precisely alike any more than any two persons hear precisely the same. The differences in these perceptions are due to the wide disparities not only in the organs of vision and hearing, but also to the differences in mental makeup of the individuals.

There are more unexplained problems as to sight than any other sense. It is the most wonderful and at the same time the most inexplicable sense that we possess. Every school child is taught that we see because rays of light reach the retina of the eye after passing through the transparent cornea, that curved surface which is in direct contact with the external air, the aqueous or watery humor, and the crystalline and vitreous humors.

The eye is thus made up of three separate lenses, through which the light passes before reaching the retina. When observed from outside it is plain that all the images appear to be reversed in the eye. We see everything upside down, but in some way this reversal is corrected, so that things appear to us as they should, though this simple point has not yet been explained by the most advanced science.

But the eye sees not only images and light; it also distinguishes color. And here is one of the greatest problems with which the eye has to deal. The white light of a ray of sunshine is divided by a prism into all of the colors from red to violet, and it is one of the greatest triumphs of modern optics to have proved that what we call color is nothing but the speed with which some parts of the ray of sunshine strike upon the retina.

The eye can perceive waves striking it as low as red and as high as violet, but there are many rays both above and below the red and violet, the extremes of the spectrum, as they are called. The human eye cannot perceive these because the lengths of the waves or the frequency with which they strike upon the retina are too great or too small for the human organ. Yet they are most important, exerting a great influence upon human beings.

The ultra violet rays are known now by their chemical action and are termed chemical rays, while the infra red rays are heat rays and are known as such. So it is evident that there is much that the eye does not or cannot see, even with all the mechanical aids which have been provided in telescope, microscope, etc.

What really carries the message of vision to the brain center of vision, which is at the back of the head, is the optic nerve, and the fact that if you have a pain in the back of the head it is probably due to eye strain is admitted by all physicians. If you feel that strain and headache located at the occiput the first thing to do is to consult an oculist and get the glasses which will correct the error of vision which may be wrong in any number of ways. Either there may be a defect in some one of the lenses or the nerve may have become weakened or the muscles of accommodation by which the eye is focused may be wrong. The last is probably the commonest of troubles and may be easily corrected if promptly taken in hand by an expert.

Cross eyes are only defects of muscular control, and the latest researches point to the necessity for correcting this defect as promptly as possible. Many parents make the fatal mistake of not calling in the specialist even when they notice that an infant "crosses the eyes." But it is in the early stages that this trouble may be best corrected; otherwise the muscles become fixed in their error and the defect is permanent.

It is never too early to put glasses upon the child who requires them. It is often too late to save the child from permanent injury of the most beautiful, most expressive and most useful organ—New York World.

Marks of Social Distinction.
"The Huggles," said Sherlock Holmes, "are very popular with the wealthy classes."

"How do you know?" I queried, confident of a brilliant answer.

"Because there are so many grease spots on the pavement in front of their house."

"I don't see the point," said I.

"You auto," said Sherlock—Newark News.

GRAND OPENING OF

HOLIDAY GOODS

December 9th and Following Days

"Life has no nobler pleasure than that of Friendship." At the end of the busy year full of effort and struggle comes the season when we forget the trials and welcome the opportunities—when we count our friends and find them many—when we choose for them remembrances (not because of their cost but because of the pleasure they will bring), when we realize to the full that life is worth living, because for once it is unselfish.

"The Worries of the Season"

If our store may play its part during the trying days that lie between now and Christmas Eve; if it may lighten the strain of your purse (for everybody's is too small at such a time); if by good service and splendid assortment for your choosing it may help to keep the puzzle wrinkles from your forehead, it will have done all we have hoped and planned to have it do. We have given very careful thought to things useful and appropriate for presentation, and our stock of Goods bought specially for the Holiday Gift Season affords a wide choice. The list below does not represent all of what we have on our counters but we trust its suggestions may prove helpful to you.

Fancy and Useful

We have purchased many Novelties in fancy and useful things for Christmas Gifts including Mirrors, Manicure Sets, Photo Frames, Leather Hand Bags, Brush and Comb Sets, Clocks, Jewel Cases, Music Rolls, Cigar Cases, Travelling Cases, Brass Novelties, etc., etc. Many other articles that space does not permit us here to mention.

Gifts for Women

Had you thought of a Dress Pattern for Christmas? Such a practical gift as this would be welcomed surely and then it would serve to remind the one who wears it of the giver. We offer you from now until Christmas a Special Cash Discount of ten per cent. on all Dress Goods purchases. SANTA MAKES A TRIAL TRIP

SANTA PEERED INTO HOUSES.

It was a week until Christmas. Santa Claus went all over his work-rooms. All the toys were done and everything in place. "The reindeer are in such fine shape and anxious for exercise I think I'll take them out for a trial run today," said he.

So saying, Santa hurried to his stables. There the reindeer were showing their impatience to be out in the open, and Santa gave orders to his stable elves to hitch up the steeds to the sleigh, as he meant to give the good animals a little exercise.

"They need a race now and then," he said. "Otherwise they'd get stiff kneed and would feel clumsy when trying to gallop over shifting clouds and ragged treetops and uneven roofs."

After the ride of several hours Santa cried out to his reindeer: "Now to earth, my good fellows. And don't lag. We must be there just as the dark is falling over the land. If we wait till the moon comes out we'll be seen, and that would never do."

As the darkness settled over the land old Santa dropped from a fleecy cloud to the top of a tall church steeple. There he got out of his sleigh, told his reindeer not to move from that steeple and made his descent to the roof of a convenient house. And past the windows of hundreds of homes he darted, peeping into them and counting the new faces he saw for the first time.

"Lots of new little ones," he said to himself, smiling. "God bless them all. Well, they keep me busy throughout the year. And they are increasing so rapidly that I'll have to take several hundred assistants next year."

Then Santa returned to the high church steeple, and as he was getting into his sleigh the aged bell ringer, accompanied by his grandson of ten, came out of the church with a lantern in his hand. The little grandson looked up and cried out to his grandfather: "Oh, lookie, grandpa, there in the sky! It's Santa Claus and his reindeer. See them flying! Oh, now they are gone—clean through that white cloud over the church. Oh, grandpa, did you see them?"

"No, my son, and neither did you. Your mind is so full of Christmas just now that you see things mentally. You just imagined that Santa and his reindeer were over the church. Why, it wants a whole week before Christmas, sonny, and Santa never comes (ill) Christmas eve. Come along and don't imagine things like that any more."

And the aged bell ringer swung his lantern and led the way along the snow covered path to his home, his little grandson, Sammy, following. But in Sammy's heart was a feeling that he had not imagined seeing Santa. He felt the thing had been real. "He was just peeping round to see where the good children live and getting acquainted with the chimneys," said Sammy to himself. "But grandpa is too old to understand. He hasn't cared about Santa for many, many years. But I do, oh, I do! And how I should love to slip away up into the church tonight and visit Santa's realm! But that would be impossible. It is not intended for boys to get off the earth, so Santa comes to them."

Just then Sammy's grandmother opened the kitchen door for them, and as Sammy entered the good old lady stooped and kissed him, saying: "I just had a letter from your cousins, Mabel and Ted, saying they were coming to spend Christmas with us and that they had written Santa Claus of the change of their address so that he could fetch their gifts here—along with yours. Bless the dears!"

And Sammy knew that Santa would do as his cousins asked him to, although grandpa laughed at the idea and said: "That is nonsense, good wife. Children should not believe such silly things." But Sammy knew a thing or two that grandpa did not know.

BEAR RIVER DRUG STORE, L. V. HARRIS, Prop.
BEAR RIVER, N. S.

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of the Courier:

Sir,—Major Daley and myself are certainly furnishing lots of manuscript for your paper these days, and after writing and re-writing for two weeks the former has quite outdone himself in Volume of copy for last week's Courier, so far as good, but after all has to be disappointed and my former statements viz. That in 1893 Carman O'Dell, Gilbert Ellis, and the writer returning from a successful hunt near the Boundary Rock met Major Daley and guide at Sixth Lake. I said a successful hunt, as we had shot during the week, a bull moose, and two caribou (one a buck) which you men, who hunted as sportsmen, did not "game hog" me, then and would be now considered a successful trip. At the guides meet the only mention I made of the late W. S. Gilpin was to say that Major Daley, W. S. Gilpin Carman O'Dell and myself were about the only men hunting caribou in my recollection in this part of the Province. I know full well when Mr. Gilpin died and never during his lifetime did we discuss the subject of deer for N. S. I much regret that the Major did not bear his name mentioned that night, for I knew he was present and therefore to please him spoke his name loudly, giving him his full title. Every one of the large audience present who heard my remarks will remember I said these words, "Major Daley all honor to him, put his shoulder to the wheel, secured the permit, and helped in every way possible to forward the good work." I considered then, and I consider now, that I gave the Major all the credit due him, yes, and a little more. All the Major's talk of how the deer were caught by Sullivan, and how it was certain officials were sore on him, is purely, and simply, his imagination, and therefore calls for no comment from me. I may say right here, that no finer example of sportsman lives in these Provinces than T. A. Sullivan (Licensed Guide) of Bonny River. The Major grows sentimental (can you imagine it?) when he speaks of the shooting of deer. I would like to know why they were imported if not to be hunted, when they become numerous enough, subject to proper restrictions, and the same as they are in every country, where they exist, and like any other game animal. Just here, Mr. Editor, I should like to tell a little story, although a poor spinner of yarns. However, this one being absolutely true, it may interest some of your readers. Well, within the memory of the residents of Digby Neck it happened that a little two year old Cow Moose swam across St. Marys Bay and made her home in a thick spruce swamp near Sandy Cove. She found there browse to her liking, and began to feel quite at home, although within the sounds of the habitations of men. Towards spring the snow fell and piled deep upon the ground, followed by rain, and frost, forming a heavy cutting crust. One day some men looking for stray sheep started the little cow from her "yard" and at once the news spread that a real live moose was on Digby Neck. Unhappily for the little cow a mighty hunter living in Digby, (he still lives there, but hunts no more) heard the news, and at once organized an expedition with deadly intent against the little stranger, who had dared to make her home so near him. Borrowing two vicious moose dogs (half mastiff half bull) and defying the law, he and his companions stowed the dogs away beneath the seat of their sleigh, and started forth with for Sandy Cove, being there met by two men, who had been keeping watch as to where the little cow was "feeding". I am pleased to relate these sports did not kill the little animal, for following the shore where the crust was melted by the salt sea she outstripped her pursuers, leaving both dogs and men far behind, whereupon the former in their disappointment and fury at not being able to pull down their game, fell upon each other, and tore and rent themselves. Now, Mr. Editor, the Major's memory is wonderfully retentive that he can recall every word of various conversations which he says took place 20 years ago, will be think just a second and try and remember the names of the members of the above hunting party, was he there with his rifle? and who laid the dogs on the cow's track in the snow and the snow? Shall Mr. Editor the Major must have forgotten this incident, or never would write in a sentimental strain and assume a lofty attitude where big game is the issue under discussion. Following down his lengthy epistle I find nothing more worthy of replying to, oh, yes, here is something funny, about people not being able to stand upon their feet and see straight at all times, well did ever a man throw open his guard so completely at the mercy of his opponent? It is certainly the chance for a finish, but I forbear, because almost every one in Digby County knows why the Major is living in such ill-rent circumstances at the present time, and also that his electric power house was not always used by him to distribute light and comfort to the homes of this town.

This Mr. Editor ends the discussion of the deer so far as I am concerned, and I think I have shown how the animal came here and that they cost the Major nothing, although I give him great credit as I said at the Guides meet last summer for his efforts in this behalf. When I speak of "our deer" I do so of course as Nova Scotians, for these valuable addition to our game animals belong to the Province as a whole, and not to any individual. If in our remarks relative to each other the Major and myself have said some pretty sharp things, I feel so far as I am concerned, that I can in all sincerity and good feeling wish him the compliments of the approaching festive season.

I am Sir,

Yours truly,
H. A. P. SMITH.

P.S. The Major did not tell us where he planted the salmon trout? Digby, N. S., Dec. 10th, 1913.

To the Editor of the Courier
Digby, N. S.

Sir—I have read the letters in your paper by Major Daley and Sheriff Smith, in reference to deer in Western Nova Scotia.

Until Major Daley's last letter appeared I did not intend to take any part in this discussion, but owing to a few errors I beg a short space in which to correct the same.

As you have already learned from these letters a great deal seems to centre on the conversation which took place at Sixth Lake camp. Sheriff Smith has already stated the names of the parties who were at the camp, the night in question. Before reaching Sixth Lake camp we met Major Daley on Sixth Lake stream and learned that he had killed two caribou. On comparing notes we discovered that the two caribou we had killed were of the same herd. Sheriff Smith, Gilbert Ellis and myself began shooting at what we judged to be three hundred yards. The Sheriff got a snipe horned bull and I shot at one of the largest in the herd, which proved to be a cow with a fine small set of horns. That night after we had got boards from the hotel and built extra berths for increase the sleeping accommodations, which were very limited, I remember quite well Major Daley saying:— "Caribou you have very pretty little head and I wish mine had as nice horns." I have since learned that only a very small percentage of cow caribou have horns. I am very proud of being the possessor of one.

I also remember the Major telling us that night that he had shot twenty-eight moose, one of which he killed at Seventh or Eighth Lake. Considering the small number of moose in the country at that time it was unusual to get one so handy. The deer were discussed as it was a subject uppermost in the minds of Sheriff Smith and myself at that time and the Major appeared to be very much interested. At no time do I remember the name of the late Mr. W. S. Gilpin being mentioned in connection with the deer. In reference to my trip to New Brunswick with Sheriff Smith would say:—the only time I was ever at Bonny River was in the Autumn and I am positive there was not any snow on the ground during my stay there. While at Bonny River I talked the deer question with Thos. Sullivan, but more particularly with Thos. Lee, who was my guide on the trip. In the course of our hunt we covered considerable territory and noted the habits of the deer. I asked Lee if cedar was a necessary part of their diet, and learned from him that only when snow-bound would a deer resort to cedar for food, and returned home satisfied that deer would thrive in Nova Scotia, which time has proved to be the case. The deer, which were imported into this province some years ago, seemed to be doing fairly well, but was in need of new blood. I was successful in getting Roy S. Kelley, Secretary of the Guides Association, interested and as a result six deer were procured from New Brunswick. Three came to Annapolis and the other three were sent to Yarmouth, one of which died. We did not know at this time that deer were coming to Nova Scotia of their own accord, as I have it from Mr. J. H. Yoomans of Cumberland county, a licensed guide and one of the best moose callers in the Province, that deer are coming into Nova Scotia by the millions and by swimming across at the head of the bay.

The question may arise to some why we have not had deer years ago in Nova Scotia. An article in Carleton's State of Maine Sportsman's Journal, says:—"That one hundred years ago there was not a deer north of the Penobscot River." The deer we have in Nova Scotia is it quite apparent that these animals are finding their way north.

The opening of the season in 1915 will greatly depend on the increase during the next year, so it stands all apartments and parties interested to see that these animals are properly protected. This can be done by promptly reporting all violations to me and any information will be considered strictly confidential.

Yours very truly,
O'DELL,
Provincial Game Inspector,
Annapolis Royal, Dec. 9, 1913.

THE WAY TO PREVENT COLD WEATHER DISEASES

There would be lots less sickness during cold weather if folks would only take ordinary common-sense precautions against it. When you hear there is small-pox around, you don't lose much time in getting your family vaccinated. But lots of you do not use the same good sense in preventing colds, the grippe, bronchitis, pneumonia, typhoid fever, rheumatism and other diseases, some of them very serious and dangerous, and some of which nearly every member of your family is almost certain to suffer from before winter is over unless some medicine is taken to build up the body and put it in perfect order before cold weather sets in.

Vaccination prevents the growth of germs of small-pox in the blood, and puts the system into a proper healthy condition to resist small-pox. Re-xall Olive Oil Emulsion is designed as an aid to prevent as well as relieve disease. It strengthens the body to overcome the germs and helps to put the system into the right condition to resist disease. It contains the four Hypophosphites recommended by physicians to tone the nerves and blood, in combination with purest Olive Oil, to nourish and strengthen them.

You who are weak and run-down, and you who are apparently well now, but are liable to suffer from various cold weather ailments, use Re-xall Olive Oil Emulsion to get and keep well and strong. For the tired-out, run-down, nervous, emaciated or debilitated—the convalescing—growing children—aged people—it is a sensible aid to renewed strength, better spirits, glowing health.

Re-xall Olive Oil Emulsion—king of the celebrated Re-xall Remedies—is for freedom from sickness of you and your family. Pleasant-tasting, containing no alcohol or dangerous drugs, you'll be as enthusiastic about it as we are when you have noted its strengthening, invigorating, building up, disease-preventing effects. If it does not help you, your money will be given back to you without question. Sold in this community only at our store. The Re-xall drug store—one of more than 7,000 leading drug stores in the United States, Canada and Great Britain.—P. W. Holdsworth, Digby; Ryan & Blackadar, Weymouth.

Farmer's Short Course

The short course in Agriculture and its sciences to be given at the Nova Scotia Agricultural College in 1919, promises to be the most comprehensive and interesting in the history of the institution. The course is designed for farmers, farmer's sons, wives and daughters and every branch of the daily work and routine of farm life is carefully treated and discussed. Practical demonstration, illustrated lectures and animated discussions are the means adopted to make the sessions attractive without text book tutoring. No branch is neglected and the student is granted the option of choosing those studies which most interest him. The short course lasts for ten days, from January 6th to 16th, and is absolutely free in every particular to those who care to participate in its benefits. During the past it has drawn from all points of the Maritime Provinces large numbers of enthusiastic students, and the aim of the Department is to still further enlarge the scope of the work and increase the attendance. Of those who have attended it is safe to say that in every instance they have expressed appreciation of the benefits received and of the treatment accorded them by the staff of skilled instructors in attendance.

The regular teaching staff of the College and farm is augmented for this short course by the best men that can be procured from the leading agricultural colleges and departments, both Federal and Provincial, of Canada. These men invariably are at the top of their profession and men who have given a life study to the subjects they will have under review. Every facility will be afforded them of laying before the classes to the best advantage the results of their practice and search.

At the College, new buildings have been added that greatly facilitate the work of the classes, the laboratories, class rooms, farm and stable equipment are all in the best of order. The increased accommodation will relieve the crush of former years and make possible the carrying on of courses in every subject in which instruction is sought.

The list of subjects treated is a long one, covering the whole field, and embracing Animal Husbandry; Field Husbandry; Farm Drainage, Manures and Fertilizers; Gardening and Orchard; Insect and Plant Diseases; Veterinary Science; Poultry; Dairying; Bee Culture; Agricultural Bacteriology; Chemistry of the Soil; Road making, and a special short course for ladies, embracing all that pertains to home life on the farm and its surroundings.

Who among the farmers is not interested in improving conditions upon the farm? Here at an idle time of the year when it is most easy for the farmer to spare a week from his home activities, is offered the opportunity of meeting in free discussion with his brother farmers from all parts of the Province, and together study what is best fitted for their general needs. We trust that a large number from this locality will take advantage of the short course prepared for next month, at Truro. A postal address to Principal M. Cunningham, Truro, Nova Scotia, will bring circulars and minute information respecting the course.

Why the Youth's Companion Should Be in Every Family.

Because it is unusual, and no other source can supply the same kind of reading. The fact and fiction are novel, and every line is fit to read aloud. A year of The Youth's Companion as it is to day is of inexhaustible entertainment and benefit to the family. In quantity, it provides more than any other American monthly periodical—and is the more appreciated because it comes fifty two times a year instead of twelve.

The Companion as it is to day, enlarged, and broadened in scope, including the Family Page, the Boys' Page, and the Girls' Page as departments, with eight splendid serials and 250 shorter stories, its accurate and impartial editorials, Science and Current Events, makes a volume of matter that touches every genuine interest of the family.

So carefully is it edited, so varied is its contents, that a family would be well supplied with entertaining fiction, up to date information and wholesome fun, if no other periodical entered the home.

If you are not familiar with The Companion as it is to day, let us send you sample copies containing chapters from Frank Lillie Pollock's great Canadian serial, "The Timber Treasure," and the Announcement for 1914.

New subscribers who send $2.25 for the fifty two issues of 1914 will receive free the remaining issues of 1913, and a copy of The Companion Practical Home Calendar in addition.

A LOVELY FACE—

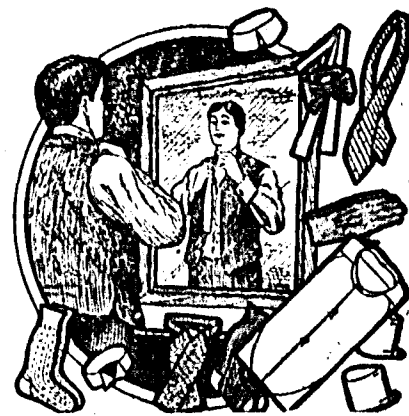

BUT UGLY HAIR

If you often see an other wise lovely face spoiled by homely hair—a face that would be most charmingly beautiful if he only had prettier hair. What a pity!—and how foolish! Because that ugly hair, stringy, dull, lifeless-looking though it may be, can be made as glossy, soft, silky and beautiful as the heart could desire if only taken proper care of.

Harmony Hair Beautifier is just what it is named—a hair beautifier. It is not a hair dye or hair oil—it is just a dainty, rose-perfumed liquid dressing to give the hair its natural gloss and brightness, its natural wave, softness, and its natural rich beauty. Very easy to apply—simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it. It contains no oil, and will not change the color of the hair, nor darken gray hair.

To keep your hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure liquid shampoo gives an instantaneous rich lather that immediately penetrates to every part of hair and scalp, insuring a quick and thorough cleansing. Washed off just as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Contains nothing that can burn the hair; leaves no harshness or stickiness—just a sweet-smelling cleanliness.

Both preparations come in odd-shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Sold in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store—one of the more than 7,000 leading drug stores of the United States, Canada and Great Britain, which own the big Harmony laboratories, Toronto, where the celebrated Harmony Perfumes and Toilet Preparations are made—P. A REAL PRESENT FOR CHRISTMAS

CHRISTMAS DAY had dawned as clear and sparkling as all such days should. To be sure, in the sunny southland there was no snow, and the children had to content themselves with a visit from Santa Claus in a very up to date aeroplane, but this did not matter. Even the humble cabin home of Thomas Jefferson had not been passed by, and the delighted faces of the little colored children testified that the dear saint's gifts had exceeded their wildest expectations.

Now came the most important question of the day. Everybody knows that Christmas dinner is very different from any other meal and must be planned for accordingly. But it happened that these small brothers and sisters of Thomas Jefferson, who was not very big himself, must be left to his care today, while his mammy went to the big house and helped get ready for the company. Thomas Jefferson was allowed to go along with his mammy, for he was to bring back a basket filled with dinner for himself and the others. So he walked with her very happily.

At the house pretty Miss Clarissa saw that the basket was filled.

Thomas Jefferson fairly staggered under the weight of his basket when he at last turned off to the woods. As he went he heard Miss Clarissa's sweet voice ring out in a Christmas carol and looking back, caught sight of her seated at the piano beneath a great bunch of holly and mistletoe. These were the words he heard her sing: "And pray a glad some Christmas for all good Christian men!" It was an old carol, and Thomas Jefferson had never given much thought to the meaning of it before, but now as he walked along with so many good things the little fellow felt so grateful that he longed to share his blessings with some one less fortunate. The words seemed deserted, however, and Thomas Jefferson reached his cabin without meeting any one.

The children crowded about him eagerly, and all could hardly wait until he had opened the basket, spread the cloth and dished the dinner. Thomas Jefferson was most particular as to how he did this. Each plate must contain an exact share of the good things. Just so much turkey, just so much sauce, just so many vegetables. All were beginning with great enjoyment when a knock came at the door.

"I'll see who 'tis," said Thomas Jefferson. "You children just go right along with yo' dinner."

It was a very ragged boy that stood in the doorway of the kitchen. Miserably poor and hungry he looked, and Thomas Jefferson's heart went out to him.

"If you would please give me a bit to eat," he said, "I will be very grateful. I have come a long way and have still a good way to go."

Thomas Jefferson hesitated. His mammy did not approve of giving to tramps. He had no right to give her food away. Then he thought of the dinner on his plate. That was his own without any doubt. He returned to the table, the words of the carol still ringing in his head. The children were too busy to notice that he took the plate from the table and returned with it empty. Then he set about helping the pudding. When one is very hungry and has one's mouth set for turkey and substantial good things, even delicious plum pudding does not quite satisfy. But Thomas Jefferson, remembering the carol, tried to imagine that he felt quite full. He did feel very glad to have helped some one on this glad day and so played with the new games all afternoon with a right good will.

MISS CLARISSA SAW THAT THE BASKET WAS FILLED.

But the amount of corn bread and bacon he devoured at supper time made his mammy exclaim, "Well, it do beat all, Thomas Jefferson, how much boys can eat after all that Christmas dinner!"

Xmas Bargains!

AT CONDON'S

A bargain to be a bargain must be given on goods in season. For instance a straw hat is not much of a bargain in winter if it is sold at a low price. People don't want goods out of season, so we have decided on Tuesday of next week to be our bargain day for Xmas goods. Believe me we are going to say something just to stir up things. We will sell girls' sleds, regular 75c and $1.00 at 50 and 75c; Boys' sleds, at 40, 60, 80 and $1.00.

Skates, good solid steel hockey, at a snap price of 25c per pair; nickel plated at 75c. We dare not tell you the regular price of these.

Ladies' hand bags, balance of our stock regular up to $2.75, Tuesday's bargain 87c. Regular up to $4.50, Tuesday's bargain $1.98. A few good common hair brushes at 9c.

Mail orders will be filled only on receipt of cash, also sufficient to cover mail charges. Any over will be promptly returned.

A few specials from our harness dept. Horse blankets marked close with 10 per cent off; all other lines horse goods at similar discounts.

Kynoch shot gun shells, every one guaranteed, money refunded if not satisfactory. Special for Tuesday 43c per box of 25 shells.

POPPY FIELDS OF PERSIA.

Tapping the Plants to Gather the Pearl Like Drops of Juice.

Round about Shiraz, as far as Ispahan, southward to the country of the date palm, a great deal of opium is grown, and several thousand chests are shipped from Shiraz to China and various other large centers of the trade every season. The collecting of the opium juice begins in June, when the flowers having faded and the leaves fallen, the poppy heads are ready to be bled. When the sun stands low on the western horizon the men with the tools start their work, making one or two incisions in the fleshy green skin of the heads on the side toward the setting sun. During the cool night hours the brown, strong smelling viscous juice oozes out and collects in pearl-like drops on the surface of the seed vessel.

Before the rising sun gains sufficient power to dry or crystallize the sticky substance the gathering is in full swing. Stepping carefully from plant to plant, the men gather the opium on the broad blades of their crescent shaped collecting knives, which have an upturned back about an inch high to prevent the juice from dropping off. As soon as a knife is full it is handed to the owner of the field or his foreman, who stands among the collectors to see that none of the precious drops are hidden away by the workers to increase their daily wages. As soon as the morning work is over the fields are deserted until the afternoon, when new incisions have to be made. Each plant is tapped twice, and a large poppy head gives from twenty to thirty grains of opium.—Christian Herald.

LOOKS LIKE A SEA OF ICE.

Curious Lake of Soda in the Wilds of East Africa.

Lake Magadi, in British East Africa, is famous for its vast deposits of soda. Until recently few people have seen its shores, for it lies in the midst of a barren arid waterless district, but the railway that was started a few years ago by an English company opens the way for travelers to this curious natural phenomenon. A recent visitor describes it in the London Field.

Ordinarily it looks as if it had frozen and as if snow had then fallen upon it, partially thawed and frozen again. The temperature gives the lie to this appearance of roughened ice, for the heat is extreme and at midday almost unbearable. The soda burns the feet even through a boot, and the sharp, projecting spikes, which resemble hoar frost, will pierce any except the thickest sole. After the rains there is a layer of water over the greater part of the lake, which turns a lovely pink color. By moonlight the scene is weirdly beautiful.

The lake contains at least 200,000,000 tons of crystalline substance, composed almost equally of carbonate and bicarbonate of soda. Surface and underground streams of saturated soda liquor continually feed it. The present supply of soda is enormous, and as fast as it is removed a new surface, formed from the "mother liquor" beneath, replaces it. Natives have collected soda from the same spot year after year without making the slightest difference in the abundance of the supply.

Pithy Summing Up.

The late Mayor Gaynor of New York, as all the world knows from his letters, was a subtle critic, and at a luncheon at the Century club, discussing a novelist who had begun well, but had degenerated into the lowest type of "best seller," Mayor Gaynor said:

"This scribbler's whole biography could be put into two questions and answers thus:

"How did he commence writing?"
"With a wealth of thought."
"And how has he continued?"
"With a thought of wealth."—Washington Star.

Upsetting the Salt Cup.

In some parts of the world, particularly in Germany, it is still believed that the upsetting of the salt cellar is the direct act of Satan—"the peace disturber." And the habit of trying to avert any catastrophe which may happen by tossing a little of the salt over the shoulder is due to the belief that by so doing one bids the invisible Satan in the eye, which temporarily, at least, prevents his doing further mischief.

Their Attachment.

"Do animals possess the sentiment of affection?" asked the school teacher of the little girl.

"Yeth, ma'am; almost always."
"Good," said the teacher, "and now," turning to a little boy, "tell me what animal has the greatest natural fondness for man."

The small boy considered carefully and finally answered, "Woman."—Ladies Home Journal.

Birds and Cyclones.

It has been suggested that birds habitually make use of storms in traveling from one part of their range to another. It is pointed out that if a bird cannot find a shelter it must be more comfortable on the wing than on the ground during a storm, because in the fierce gale it flies in a moving medium, like a swimmer in a strongly flowing river.—Harper's Weekly.

No Use For One.

"What literary did you take on your European trip?"

"John wouldn't let me take one at all. You see, he's crowned the ocean before, and he said it was foolish to fill our trunk with a lot of things we'd never use."—Detroit Free Press.

CONSIDER THE CAT.

The Only Animal Man Has Never Been Able to Conquer.

There is just one animal man has never conquered, never can conquer. Centuries ago every other beast became the slave of man or else fled far from human habitation. One and one only refused to flee or to submit.

The horse, the dog, the cow, the sheep, the goat, the pig—all came into camp thousands of years ago. They have ever since worked for man or fed him, or both. They have been his unquestioned and unquestioning slaves. The elephant, too, has become a servant as have other jungle lords.

The lion, the tiger, the wolf, the bear, and such other savage beasts as have not yielded service to man have slunk away in terror from the path of civilization, and are killed on sight. But one single animal claims man's protection, shares his food and hearth, wanders at will and unmolested through human haunts, and does absolutely no work in return; obeys no orders, and does not even serve as food or clothing.

This only exception to a world of servants and of scared enemies is the domestic cat.

Think it over. The cat will not work. It will not guard your home. Its flesh and fur serve no use. Its one useful act is the catching of mice and rats. And these it slays and eats because it wants to; not to help out its owner. For example, it does not bring its captured prey to its owner to eat. Nor will it hunt rodents unless it happens to feel like doing so.

The cat won't work. It won't even learn tricks unless it happens to want to. And no one can punish or torture it into learning any trick it doesn't want to learn.

That is why there are almost no trick cats in animal shows and why the few that are there do such very simple tricks. A dog can be tortured into doing tricks. A cat can't.

When some animals became man's slaves and others fled from him, the cat did neither. It simply took all the favors and advantages man had to offer, and refused to do one flick of work in exchange. Beat a dog and he will fawn on you. Beat a cat and it will attack you and then desert you. You can't conquer the cat. You can't make it work.—New York World.

English Weights and Measures.

Other things besides fish have their own peculiar measures. Gunpowder, raisins and butter are sold by the barrel, but the weight varies. A barrel of powder weighs 100 pounds, of raisins 112 pounds, of butter 224 pounds. You can also buy butter by the firkin of fifty-six pounds, while a firkin of soft soap is sixty-three pounds. "Stones" are not always the same. A stone of glass is five pounds; a "customary stone" is eight pounds, the "legal stone" fourteen pounds. A "fodder of lead" depends upon where you buy it. In London or Hull you will get only nineteen and a half hundredweight, in Newcastle they will give you twenty-one and a half hundredweight and in Derby twenty-two and a half.—London Globe.

Look For the Pearl.

Do you know that perhaps within a stone's throw of your suburban home pearls may be found? Sara Savage Miller has an article in Suburban Life on "Fresh Water Pearl Fishing." She says that almost every stream and pond throughout the United States contains one or more varieties of mussels in which pearls are found and tells of a carpenter of Interson, N. J., who found a magnificent pink pearl weighing ninety-three grains in the waters of Notch Brook. It was bought by Tiffany & Co. for $1,500 and later was sold to the Empress Eugenie. Since then it has been known as the famous Queen pearl.

He That Keeps His Lawn Well.

Show me the man whose lawn is in good condition year by year and I will show you one whose wife did well to let him.

For let me tell you, friends and fellow travelers to the tomb, there are more sticks and bones, clothespins and crooked wires upon a lawn, Horatio, than are dreamt of in our philosophy. And he that cheerfully endures the slams upon the broad basket that the lawn mower hurls him when its cutters clog possesses more than Christian fortitude. It mounts up to fifty-five.—Eugene Wood in Everybody's Magazine.

Locating the Bar.

A grimy looking stranger entered a hotel. "Where's the bar?" he asked of Pat, who was standing at the door. "What kind of bar?" asked the latter.

"Why, refreshment bar, of course! What do you suppose I meant?"
"Well," drawled Pat, with a twinkle, "I didn't know but you might mean a bar of soap."—London Answers.

Keep Tennis Balls Dry.

Tennis balls can be preserved in usable shape for an indefinite length of time if they are kept absolutely dry. They lose their resiliency and become "dead" before they are worn out for the reason that dampness decomposes the rubber.—Popular Mechanics.

The Hard Knocks.

"This old world at best is only an anvil and life a sort of Phalanx blacksmith, that, with varying blows, strikes us into form. The blow that hurts us most may shape us best."

The head, like the stomach, is most easily infected with poison when it is empty.—Jenn Paul Richter.

Parker's Cove.

We have had no winter as yet. Bait is so hard to get this fall that the fisher folk are not meeting with very good success.

The young people are planning a concert for next Tuesday evening. We hope it will be a success.

Mrs. Georgiana Graham, of Lake Brook, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Rice, this week.

Mrs. Edward Hudson, of Hillsburn, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Milner, on Monday last.

Christmas is drawing near. We wish all the Courier readers a Merry Xmas and a Prosperous New Year.

Mr. Nelson Lutz, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Anderson the past week, has returned to his home in Boston.

R. E. Martell, Dr. of Optics and Refractionist, called on different families here last week and met with success in leaving several pairs of glasses.

Mr. Clifford Rice has sold out his interest in the lively business to his partner, Mr. Ralph Chisholm, and has purchased a yoke of oxen and gone in the woods logging.

Lower Granville.

Capt. S. V. Melanson's trade has increased to a large extent.

Miss Sarah Manning came on Monday to visit her aunts, Mrs. Elliott and Miss Betts.

Harry Anthony's Christmas decorations in his store are about completed and far exceed any other previous year.

Philip Roblee and his sister Alice went to Lawrenceville on Friday to attend the funeral of their grand mother, Mrs. Isaiah Wallace, which took place on Saturday.

Mr. John Bohaker, who was born and brought up in this place, and many can remember him at one time living in Bear River, moving from there to the United States, has proved himself to be a successful citizen, being recently elected Alderman of ward No. 6 in the city of Newburyport where he resides, by a majority of 1902. We always like to hear of the success of our fellow citizens where ever they are.

Bear River.

Mr. Alex. Binning, representing Manchester, Robertson & Allison Co. of St. John, was in town last week.

All the business places of the town are fully stocked with Christmas goods and are making excellent displays. The stores will be open every evening up to Christmas.

The ladies of the Methodist Church held a most successful Measuring Social in the vestry of the church on Monday evening. The sum of about $30.00 was realized.

Mr. Young, who has been spending some months with his brother in law, Mr. Francis, left on Wednesday of last week for St. John, where he sailed on the Tunisian for England.

The scholars of Oakden School gave a concert in Oakden Hall on Thursday, which was much enjoyed by those present. An admission fee of 10 cents was charged, the proceeds to be used for school purposes.

Deep Brook.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Ditmars are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son.

Mr. John Ditmars left on Saturday for Boston, where he expects to spend the winter.

Mrs. Roberts, of Boston, is visiting her parents for a few weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Purdy.

Miss Minnie McLelland, of Boston, is spending the Christmas holidays with her mother, Mrs. David McLelland.

The Dorcas Society held their third Christmas sale on Wednesday, Dec. 10th. A large number attended and a successful evening is reported.

We are glad to report Mr. George Pinkney getting along comfortably after the serious injury he received in falling from the Bear River bridge.

Mrs. Ernest Purdy arrived on Saturday last from Boston where she has been receiving medical treatment. We were pleased to see her so improved in health.

The superintendent with a number of teachers from the Sunday School here attended the County Convention at Clements on Monday. A splendid address was listened to in the evening, from Dr. Brown in the Zurich Convention at Switzerland.

Central Grove.

Miss Blanch Gaire is visiting friends at Freeport.

Mrs. Frank Goff and children have gone to Somerville to spend the winter.

Mr. E. B. Tibert and Mr. Burton Shortliff went to Weymouth Monday on the S. S. Westport.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Tibert, who has been spending the summer in Boston, returned home the 3rd.

Mrs. Ralph Outhouse and Mrs. Judson Robbins, of Tiverton, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Powell.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Denton and little son Raymond, and sister Mrs. Arthur Powell, spent the 14th, guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Tibert.

An Arab Honeymoon.

For several days after the wedding the Arab bride and bridegroom are supposed not to leave their room. The bride may see none of her own family and only the women folk of her husband, who wait on her. She remains in all her wedding finery and paint and does absolutely nothing. The bridegroom generally slips out at night after three days and sees a few friends privately, but he persistently hides from his wife's family, and should he by accident meet his father in law before the seven days are over he turns his back and draws his burnoose, or haik, over his face. This is their view of a honeymoon, and they grow as weary of it as any European couple do of their enforced continental tour.

Minard's Liniment Cures Gargot in Cows.

Strange, If True, Story From Paris.

PARIS, Dec. 18.—Replying to various questions by means of pictures and messages in written characters appearing on her skin is the amazing faculty which has been developed by a 12 year old child residing in the village of Bussus-Bussuel, near Abbeville. Medical men and other scientists throughout France are interesting themselves in the case and all of them so far have confessed themselves puzzled to account for the girl's strange power. The inexplicable phenomenon which first manifested themselves during the past summer, have since been repeated with constantly increased distinctness. The first of the series of pictures was a ladder which was vividly outlined on the girl's arm. Then followed the representations of a tree, a dog, and after intervals of several days, a horse and other animals.

These were followed by messages to different inhabitants of the village, such as "Fedora will not come this morning," "Victor is sure to be taken for a recruit," and many similar statements, imprinted, some on the girl's arms, others on her chest, her shoulders, or her left and right thighs.

This strange faculty as though not sufficiently mysterious in itself, was later on followed by the even more astounding one of divination. An instance of the possession of this gift, attested by numerous intelligent witnesses, is furnished by a newspaper representative.

The visitor asked the girl if she could tell his Christian name. After a quarter of an hour's silence the girl exclaimed: "Yes here it is!"

Exposing her leg, there was seen, just above the knee joint, a number of minute markings. These quickly took shape, and in the space of a few seconds there appeared in well formed letters, the name "Henri." This inscription, before it had time to fade away, as they all do after a short space, was duly photographed.

Physicians who have examined the girl pronounce her a perfectly normal child, showing no trace of neurasthenia or of abnormal development.

Safety at Sea.

LONDON, Dec. 18.—The delegates from the United States to the International conference on safety of life at sea, declare that they have very nearly reached the limit of their patience. Several of them today openly expressed dissatisfaction with what they regard as the unnecessary protraction of the deliberations, and their views are largely shared by the Canadian and Australian delegates. Since the opening meeting of the conference at the Foreign Office on Nov. 12, there has been no plenary session, and the work of the sectional committees among which the delegates of the twelve nations represented in divided has been on a dilatory basis.

There seems little prospect of the full conference meeting again till after the holidays. The opinion is spreading that when the decisions of the conference have been reached and published they will be so bound with red tape that they will not be agreeable to those who are looking for radical provisions to be made for the safety of ships and their human freight. King George is to receive all the delegates at Buckingham Palace, on Friday.

Picked Up at Sea.

FRENCH VESSEL RESCUED THEM 1,000 MILES OFF COAST OF CHILE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 17.—Given up for lost, the crew of the dismantled and abandoned steel ship Dalgona, owned in London, are on their way to Dover aboard the French ship Loire, which picked them up October 9th, a thousand miles off the coast of Chile. Captain Jibster and three of his men are dead. How they perished the news that reached here today did not tell.

First word of the loss of the Dalgona, which carried a crew of about thirty, reached here on December 10, when the French bark Mario anchored. Captain Morice, of the Mario, sighted the Dalgona 1,200 miles off the coast of Chile on October 28, rolling her keel out of water with her rigging out and her masts gone. Two of the ship's small boats were gone. The others swung on the davits.

Now comes word that the Loire picked up the officers and crew, and on December 9th spoke some unknown steamship which flashed the news of the rescue broadcast.

Big Salvo of Ammunition.

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—Ten thousand rounds of revolver cartridges, hidden under an anchor chain of the steamer Allemania, were seized by customs inspectors here this afternoon. The Allemania reached New York on Monday from Hayti and Columbian ports, and the ammunition was found then, but not until the vessel was placed in dry dock could the ten ton chain be removed.

The inspectors believe the cartridges were taken on her intended for use in Hayti, but that the persons who placed them on the ship could not get at them when Hayti was reached. The cartridges had been heavily pounded by the chain, but none had exploded. Similar shipments of cartridges were found recently aboard two other ships about to sail for the West Indies, and were confiscated.

If a Boy Only Know.

If a boy only knew how his inner life shows in his outward bearing, this would be a stimulus to good, honest, straightforward living and thinking.

The difference in carriage, address and facial expression of a boy when he is trying to live an honest and useful life, as compared to when he is leading a lazy, dishonest, insincere life is most noticeable. True, there are few boys who can play a part for any considerable time.

All boys appreciate and long for approval and praise. If they could only realize that it is useless to expect this unless they really deserve it! They are often deceitful in particular cases and at particular times, but the cases are rare when a lad deceives many people as to the course of his life. His usual tone of thought and aim, his likes and dislikes—in fact, the general nature of his inner life, which is real his life—are known to all who have to do with him.

I recently observed a boy who has of late been aiming at better things, honestly trying to do much better; his whole bearing, his tone and in fact, when he speaks to me, seem so much more gentlemanly and sincere. And similarly when a lad gets careless and reckless and unmanly in his conduct, one may trace it to the letting down of his ambitions and aims. If lads could see themselves, it would be a remarkable help to their conduct.

Save your Hair! Get a 25 cent bottle of Dandruff right now—Also stops itching scalp.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scourge. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Dandruff comb—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Dandruff from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Dandruff comb. Have your hair! Try it!

OUR ELECTRIC LIGHT.

Decision By the Public Utilities Commission.

DIGBY WILL HAVE AN ALL NIGHT SERVICE DURING THE SUMMER MONTHS—BETTER STREET LIGHTING—CONSUMERS WILL BE SUPPLIED WITH METERS.

The Digby Electric company may increase its rates in order that a fair return may be made on the capital invested, but the company must give an improved service. Such is the point of the decision filed by the public utilities commission. The evidence in this case was heard some months ago at a session of the board held in Digby.

THE DECISION OF THE BOARD.
The decision in full is as follows: This matter comes before the board upon the application of the company for the approval by the board of a schedule of rates filed on September 15th, 1913, pursuant to the provisions of the Public Utilities act.

As required by an order of the board, the company filed a balance sheet for the year ended December 31st, 1912, and also a statement showing the receipts and expenditures of the company during the preceding seven years. The company of its own motion, also filed a comparative statement of the increased cost of operation and of the income of the company, upon which the claim for a new schedule of rates was based.

As required by the provisions of the Public Utilities act, the board ordered a public hearing to be held at Digby on Oct. 14th, 1913, which sitting, after being duly advertised, were held pursuant to the notice, John Daley appearing for the Digby Electric Light company, and the mayor, town clerk and several other citizens also being heard.

The statement made by Mr. Daley at the hearing was to the effect that the plant had been in operation for a period of twenty-one years and that while coal and other items of expense had largely increased during the last few years, no corresponding increase had been made in the rates to meet this increased expenditure. On behalf of the company it was further alleged that the present income of the company was not sufficient to meet operating expenses of the company and provide for interest on the money invested in the plant or depreciation.

THE IMPROVEMENTS ASKED FOR.

It was stated by the mayor and others that the service provided was not adequate and the following improvements in the service were asked for:

First: That the lighting period be extended from midnight to one a. m. throughout the year.

Second: That during the tourist season, from June 15th to September 15th each year, an all night service should be provided.

Third: That an early morning service, from six o'clock to sunrise, should be furnished from October to March in each year, and Fourth: That a metered service should be furnished.

With reference to the claim of the company regarding the expense of operation, etc., the board made an examination of the plant and accounts of the company and found:

First: That the plant has been practically renewed within the past nine years and has ample capacity for the needs of the community it serves and is economically operated.

Second: That it is in a condition to give reasonably good service.

Third: That the company has been furnishing service for the most part on a flat rate basis at a cost to the consumer of from $3.85 to $8.32 per light per year for lighting through a sixteen candle power or 40 Watt basis per carbon and tungsten lamps respectively.

On the few services metered a rate of 12 cts. per kilowatt hour is charged, with an additional $2 per year meter rental. The result of the flat rate method of charging tends to lead the consumer, who wishes to economize, to install as few lamps as possible and thus deprives him of the convenience of a light in the various rooms of his house and at the same time encourages a wasteful use of the connected load with a resultant high operating cost.

This fact is well illustrated in the case under consideration where twenty-two per cent of the total consumers have but one light each installed.

The investigation made by the board clearly shows that the income is insufficient to properly provide for legitimate expenses including interest and depreciation on the fair valuation of the plant.

GOOD SERVICE IS OBLIGATORY.
With reference to the claims made by the mayor and citizens on behalf of the consumers, the board is of the opinion that it is the duty of every public utility to furnish the best possible service consistent with a fair remuneration, and in view of the expressed willingness on the part of the citizens to pay a fair rate for an improved service, the additional service should be given, except the morning service from six a. m. to sunrise, which will depend on the demand as shown by the kilowatt output record by the switchboard meter. This service only would be in operation at the time of year when the company's plant closes down at one a. m. and therefore it would be necessary to start the fires up again sometime before six o'clock for the purpose of getting up steam and to bank the fires again after daylight. The added cost of operation for this short run will be considerable, and therefore it is necessary that there should be a considerable demand for current to justify it.

With regard to a metered service, the board has no hesitation in endorsing the principle of paying for the service in proportion to the use made of it and the request of the mayor and others for such a service must be accorded to by the company.

In this connection it may be pointed out:

First: As the installation of meters will require an increased capital expenditure and also add to the cost of operation, the earnings of the company will require to be greater than in the past, i. e., either more of the company's product must be sold or a higher rate must be charged for the present output.

Second: Under the Public Utilities act any increased earnings of the plant over and above that required to meet running expenses and provide for interest and depreciation, must result in a lowering of the rate.

Third: That due to the fixed charges that are practically constant at all loads, the cost of production in a plant of this kind depends to a considerable extent on the amount of current produced.

The importance to the consumer of a liberal use of the product of the utility company will therefore be apparent if the new rating is to be maintained or lowered in the future.

BETTER LAMPS FOR STREET LIGHTING.

The board is of the opinion that the street lighting should be improved by substituting 40 Watt tungsten lamps for the present 16 c. p. carbon lamps, the cost to the town being increased only to correspond with the extended service and the additional cost of the lamps.

Under the existing circumstances the board is of the opinion that a base rate of 18 cents per K. W. H., with an increasing scale of discounts to the larger consumers may fairly be adopted.

The discounts will be as follows:

On amounts up to $3.43 12 1/2 p. c.
On amounts from $3.43 to $11.68 15 p. c.
On amounts exceeding $11.68 20 p. c.

On short term contracts, i. e., on contracts for less than one year, the rate shall be 20 cents per K. W. H., the discounts to be allowed to be the same as above.

No bill for electric current will be rendered for less than the minimum monthly charge of $1.15.

All bills must be rendered on or before and are to be payable on the first day of each month for the current consumed during the preceding month and the above discounts will only be allowed on bills paid on or before the tenth day of the month on which they become payable.

The following rules and regulations are to govern the company and its subscribers:

The company shall have the right to discontinue the service if the bill remains unpaid on the 12th of the month for the preceding month's supply.

The company shall have free access to the premises at all reasonable hours for the purpose of examining the meters, lamps, wires or other appliances, or for the removal of the meter, or for the discontinuance of the service.

If the meter from any cause does not properly register, then the probable amount of current consumed shall be estimated on the basis of a corresponding month of the next preceding year, or, if not available, the preceding month of the current year.

When required, each applicant for service shall deposit with the company a sum equal to approximately two months' supply. The amount of deposit to be held by the company as security for the payment of its bills. Interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum shall be paid on all such deposits and when the consumer ceases to use the supply and pays all bills, the deposit shall be returned with interest.

STREET LIGHTING AND ITS REGULATIONS.
The board has carefully calculated the cost of furnishing the street-lighting service asked for by the mayor and others at the public hearing based on a minimum of fifty 40 Watt tungsten lamps and on such minimum basis the rate will be $13.75 net per lamp per year.

The hours for the street lighting service will be as follows:
From the usual starting time in the afternoon to one o'clock a. m. each day in the year.
All night service from the 1st of July to the 15th of September.

Service from six o'clock a. m. to sunrise October 1st to March 1st. The service stated in the last clause to be conditional on a load of not less than 10 K. W. in excess of dead load as shown by the station instruments.

If the service from six o'clock to sunrise is discontinued the rate will be $12.50 net per lamp per year. If the town authorities request that this morning service be discontinued, the company will be then at liberty to close down its plant at one o'clock a. m. each morning, except during the period that all night service is required to be provided.

An order may issue accordingly.
Dated at Halifax, Dec. 16th, A. D. 1913.

Compass is Seriously Affected.

BY PROXIMITY OF MAGNETIC POLE, WHILE NAVIGATING HUDSON BAY.

OTTAWA, Dec. 18.—As an aid to navigators of Hudson Bay and Straits who find their compasses seriously affected by the proximity of the Magnetic Pole, the Department of Naval Service will at an early date publish the result of investigations which have been carried on for some time past. A magnetic chart will also be published giving carefully worked out tables of the deviations to which the compass is subjected at various points in the Bay.

The nearness of the Magnetic Pole causes the compass to play strange antics, which are to say the least disconcerting to navigators, especially in foggy or stormy weather, when everything depends on the compass for guidance. In one part of the Bay the needle is actually dead, and swings free in others. It causes the navigator to travel landward if its motions are followed. All these deviations have been carefully worked out, and it is believed that a knowledge of these, made possible by the possession of the chart, will almost entirely obviate the present difficulties under which navigators labor.

Travel Will be Safer.
UNIFORM REGULATIONS TO BE ESTABLISHED AND VEXATIOUS DELAYS AVOIDED.

MONTREAL, Dec. 24.—A London cable to the Star says: Mr. Alexander Johnston, deputy minister of marine, now attending the International Life Saving Conference here, informs your representative that two results will follow the deliberations, which are expected to end about the middle of January.

Rev. Eaton, Laura Francis, Florence Sulis, Mary Perry, Churchill Blackford, Hallett Stephenson, Hilda Blackford.

Death of Mrs. Simeon J. Sulis.

Mrs. Elizabeth M., wife of Mr. Simeon J. Sulis, died at her home in Smith's Cove, on Sunday, 21st inst., aged 57 years. The deceased had been ill for several years. She was one of the most highly respected residents of Smith's Cove and was beloved by a large circle of friends. Her death will be greatly missed in the community in which she resided. Besides a grief-stricken husband she leaves one son and two daughters: Mr. Arthur D. Sulis, of the firm of H. W. & Co., Digby; Mrs. Ralph Gossard, of Smith's Cove; and Miss Nellie at home. She is also survived by two brothers, Capt. John Winchester, of Woburn, Mass., and Mr. Edward Winchester, of Victoria, B.C.

Death of Mrs. Viola C. Cousins.

Mrs. Viola C. Cousins died of heart failure at a sanatorium in New Hampsh. Saturday night, aged 21 years. The deceased was a daughter of the late Capt. and Mrs. John Stuart Hayden, of Port Wade, and was survived by one sister, Miss Hilda Hayden, of Lynn, and a half brother, Mr. John H. Hayden, of the same city, who accompanied the remains, and a half sister, Mrs. William Emery, of Victoria Beach. The body arrived here via Wednesday's express and was forwarded to Port Wade via the ferry boat, where the funeral took place the afternoon following, with interment in the family lot in the Baptist cemetery, the services being conducted by Rev. Mr. Cornish, pastor of the Port Wade Baptist church. The COURIER extends its deepest sympathy to the large circle of bereaved relatives and friends.

Married at Port Wade.

Our correspondent writes: The marriage of Mr. Harry Reynolds, of Parraboro, Ont., to Miss Elizabeth J. Chute, of Port Wade, took place at the Baptist Church Tuesday morning, 23rd, at 10 o'clock. The bride was given away by Rev. Maynard Brown. The knot was tied by Rev. C. Cornish. The bride was becomingly attired in a travelling suit of gray, with hat to match and carried a shower bouquet. The church was beautifully trimmed for the occasion with white ornamental paper and evergreen. At the conclusion of the ceremony, the bride and groom were conveyed to Grandville Ferry amid showers of rice and the good wishes of the large circle of friends present, boarding the train at Annapolis for Parraboro, where they will make a short visit before returning to Port Wade.

The Christmas War Cry.

The officers in charge of the Salvation Army in Digby, have the editor's thanks for a copy of the Christmas number of the War Cry, published at Toronto, which is now in its 31st year. The engraving and press work could not be better in a work of this kind, and the reading matter is excellent. We trust that the officers will be successful in selling a copy in every home in Digby, thus helping along the good work in which they are engaged.

Bijou Dream Theatre.

Those who have seen, in other towns, moving pictures of the "Battle of Waterloo," say it is the best thing ever attempted in that line. Manager Cripps will put this picture, consisting of five thousand feet of section, before the public in Digby next Wednesday night, Dec. 26th, and will no doubt have a full house. No one can afford to miss it.

Calendars.

We have received handsome calendars this week from W. L. Holdsworth, plumber and heater, Digby; Fraser, Thornton & Company, Olivine Emulsion, Cookshire, Quebec; Charles Leary, grocer, fruit and confectionary, Weymouth; Maritime Fish Corporation, wholesale fish dealers, Digby.

Salvation Army.

There will be a light lunch served at the Salvation Army Hall on the evening of the 31st Dec. from 10 to 11 o'clock. Lunch 10 cents. Watch night services as usual at 11 o'clock. All are welcome.

A large number of young folks spent Christmas at their former homes in Digby while others spent the day out of town.

OF A LOCAL NATURE

The second degree will be conferred on a candidate at St. George Lodge of Odd Fellows tonight.

We wish to call attention to Major Daley's advertisement to electric meters, which appears in today's COURIER.

The Digby schools closed Friday morning for the Christmas holidays and the teachers left for their various homes to enjoy their short rest.

The ladies of the Digby Methodist church held a successful tea and sale Thursday evening, Dec. 18th, at which the sum of $147.00 was realized.

Yesterday being Christmas the Couriers office was closed. The forms brought for press Wednesday night, all late news was crowded out of this issue.

There will be a meeting of the stockholders in Union Hall, Barton, Saturday evening at 7:30, to elect officers, etc. A full attendance is requested.

Mr. James M. Power, liquor dealer, Halifax, has our thanks for an interesting booklet issued annually entitled, "The World's Annual Sporting Records."

Owing to the heavy travel a special passenger train preceded the express from Halifax Wednesday. The express from Yarmouth was several hours late, missing connection with the S. S. Yarmouth for St. John, which sailed on time.

A very successful children's concert under the excellent direction of Mrs. Hallow Speights, was held in Union Hall, Barton, Tuesday evening. The proceeds amounted to $33.00, which will be devoted to the debt on the hall.

Mr. N. W. Hogg, principal of the Digby Academy, was presented with a beautiful Oudefellow's watch charm by his pupils when the school closed for the Christmas holidays. The other teachers were also remembered by many appropriate gifts.

While Digby's Christmas business was fully up to the average, the merchants would have had bigger sales if we had been favored with good sleighing, which always brightens the Christmas trade. Wednesday's easterly gale accompanied by rain made shopping disagreeable.

A Successful Canadian Fish Corporation

HEAD OFFICE MONTREAL, FACTORIES AT DIGBY AND CANNO.

[From Daily News.]

Among the important business concerns of this country is the well known Maritime Fish Corporation, Limited, which has its chief office in Montreal, and branch offices and factories in Digby and Canno, Nova Scotia.

The Maritime Fish Corporation, Limited, do a tremendous business preparing for the market and distributing their many kinds of sea foods.

Their factories and facilities at their Nova Scotia branches are up to date and of the highest class. Thousands of tons of prime fish are taken from the sea waters around old Nova Scotia's coasts each year, and are shipped away fresh or are kept in cold storage, or canned, salted, smoked, pickled or dried by the most scientific and modern ways.

This big firm are liberal users of pointers and do extensive advertising. They use as catch lines, such phrases as "the best flavored fish are caught on the coast of Nova Scotia" and "Atlantic Sea Foods." These mottoes attract the attention of the buying public and give to the fish caught near our shores a value and importance over all fish from other waters, which they timely meet.

The Maritime Fish Corporation, Ltd., issued for 1914 an attractive calendar, a feature of it is a photo engraving of the Dorothy M. Smart, one of the clipper fishing schooners owned by this corporation. This fine vessel was built at Shelburne, N. S., by the well known McGill Ship Builders and her sails and rigging were provided by the skilled mill maker and ship fitter, Mr. Frank F. Hunter, of Shelburne.

These fine calendars were manufactured by the N. W. Pat. Co., Ltd., Toronto, N. S.

In Memory of Dr. R. H. Fitz.

LEADERS IN SCIENCE OF SOBERLY EULOGIES HIS WORK.

Noted educators and medical men last evening paid their tribute to the memory of Dr. Reginald Hober Fitz, professor emeritus of the theory and practice of physics at Harvard Medical School, and the man who first placed scientific operations upon a scientific basis and gave to the medical world the means of battling against the disease. Dr. Fitz died at the Corey Hill Hospital Sept. 30.

EULOGIES ON WORK.

Before a gathering that taxed the capacity of the amphitheatre in the Harvard Medical School, eulogies that dealt with the great achievements of Dr. Fitz and touched upon his sterling personal qualities, were delivered by Dr. Charles W. Eliot, W. W. Keen, professor emeritus of surgery in the J. H. P. Medical College in Philadelphia; Henry P. Walcott, chairman of the State Board of Health and chairman of the board of trustees of the Massachusetts General Hospital; William S. Thayer, professor of clinical medicine, Johns Hopkins University; and William T. Councilman, professor of pathological anatomy, Harvard University.

The assembly at the memorial exercises was largely composed of medical practitioners, and in the gathering were to be seen men recognized as leaders in the profession. Professors and instructors in the Harvard Medical School, as well as students at that institution, were also there to show their esteem for the renowned physician.

Owing to the unavoidable absence of President Lowell of Harvard, the meeting was presided over by Dr. E. J. Bradford, dean of the Medical School.

Dr. Charles W. Eliot said: "Dr. Fitz was an admirable student and teacher of clinical medicine and a sagacious and skilful practitioner; but the most noticeable and most durable work of his life was his large contribution to the better conduct of medical education and the advancement of the medical profession through his services to the Harvard faculty of medicine."

[The above is reprinted from a Boston paper. Mr. James Speights, of Barton, Digby county, had charge of Dr. Fitz's eulogy, Winchester, Mass., for more than ten years.]

Another Accident at North Range.

TWO BOYS OF CONSIDERABLE AGE DROWNED TUESDAY NIGHT.

We regret to have to chronicle another fatal accident at North Range, news of which reached the Couriers early Wednesday morning. Francis, aged thirteen and Reuben aged ten, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Cook, left their home at North Range about two o'clock Tuesday afternoon to go skating. As they did not return as soon as expected a searching party was formed. The boys were tracked to a meadow and thence to Andrews Lake, which is a sheet of water a mile long and about one half mile wide.

At a place known as the Rips the boys' tracks were lost. Searching was continued by the light of lanterns, but was finally given up, until the following morning.

The ice being thin a boat was obtained from Leonard Comen and the searching continued with grapplings. The body of Francis was rescued about noon, and Reuben's about twenty minutes later.

They were found with their skates on, fully clothed including caps. The bodies were removed to the home of their grief-stricken parents, where they were viewed by Dr. W. C. Harris, of Barton, who reported their accidental drowning to Osmore Daley, at Digby. The latter decided, after hearing the doctor's story, that no inquest was necessary.

They were bright little fellows and very popular in their native village. The funeral taken place tomorrow afternoon at one o'clock, with interment in the Methodist cemetery at North Range. The services will be conducted by Rev. A. H. MacLeod, pastor of the St. Mary's Bay Baptist church.

An uncle was recently killed on the Halifax and South Western Railway and their cousin was killed on the Dominion Atlantic Railway a month ago.

North Range has no telephone connection. It is ten miles west of Digby on the D. A. R. and two miles east of the telephone line along St. Mary's Bay.

The parents and family have the sympathy of a large circle of friends in their sad bereavement just at a time when many are enjoying the festive season.

SHIPPING AND FISHING

Schr. Lillian Glover arrived at Boothbay Harbor from Weymouth Tuesday.

Schr. Rolfe, Capt. Rowe, arrived at Windsor from Parraboro, Dec. 19th.

Schr. Bessie, Capt. Adams, has gone into winter quarters at Speights' wharf, Barton.

Schr. Myrtle L., Capt. Roy Casey, arrived here Monday and sold her fare to Capt. Joseph E. Snow.

A large whale came to the surface several times near Port Wade breakwater Tuesday morning.

Fishery Officers from Woodward's Cove, N. B. and St. George, N. B., report no bait available during the present week.

Arrivals at D. & O. Sproule's this week: From boatman 4,236 lbs. of mixed fish; shipped 264 boxes of finnan haddies.

Schr. Albert J. Lutz, Capt. Arthur Longmore, landed in Yarmouth Tuesday, 8,000 lbs. of haddock, 2,000 lbs. of cod, 1,000 lbs. of mixed fish.

Schr. Loran B. Snow, Capt. Arthur Casey, arrived here Sunday, having sold her fare in Yarmouth. She will probably be ready to sail again tomorrow.

Schr. B. B. Harkwick sailed Saturday from Plymouth for Boston, her cargo being shipped by her owners, Capt. O. T. Warner and son, H. W. B. Warner.

Schr. Dorothy M. Smart, Capt. William Snow, arrived here Tuesday night with 50,000 lbs. of fresh fish, which were purchased by the Maritime Fish Corporation.

One hundred dollars has been paid the steamer Granville for her claim for picking up and towing in the ten ton fishing schooner Britannia, before reported adrift in the Bay.

Arrivals at Joseph E. Snow's this week: Schr. Myrtle L., 10,000 lbs. of mixed fish; shipped 125 boxes of finnan haddies, 75 boxes of fillets and 340 quintals of dried fish.

Torn schooner Catherine, Capt. Wilken, docked at Turnbull & Company's wharf Tuesday night, where she is discharging a cargo of hard coal from Newark, N. J., for W. E. VanBlarcom.

Schr. Dorothy G. Snow landed 30,000 lbs. of fresh fish in Yarmouth Tuesday. Her popular skipper, Capt. Axel Snow, arrived here via Wednesday's express to spend Christmas at his home in Digby.

Arrivals at the Maritime Fish Corporation this week: Schr. Cora Gerrie, 65,238 lbs. of haddock, 3,743 lbs. of hake; other sources, 9,350 lbs. of haddock, 5,700 lbs. of hake and 2,097 lbs. of cod.

Schooner Victoria from Bridgewater for New York, experienced a violent northwest gale on Dec. 8th in the Bay of Fundy; had entire deckload of lumber washed overboard; no material damage was done to the vessel.

The Norton Griffith Company's dredge Leonfield sank in the channel enroute to Courtney Bay at 8:11 o'clock Tuesday morning. She exploded so suddenly that the crew had just time to board hopper scow No. 64 before the dredge went down.

The following vessels have reported at the Digby customs house since Dec. 19th: Inward—20th, schr. Cora Gerrie, Crocker, Freeport; 23rd, schr. Catherine, Wilkie, Newark, N. J.; schr. Loran B. Snow, Casey, Yarmouth; S. S. Leader, Belyea, St. John. Outward—20th, schr. Cora Gerrie, Crocker, Freeport; S. S. Victoria, Livingston, St. Andrews; 23rd, schr. Eddie Theriault, Sabesan, Trinidad, 100 m. ft. lumber.

Mr. R. S. Orchard, purser on the river steamer Champlain, arrived in St. John on Saturday from Meteghan, N. S., where the steamer is being repaired. Regarding the trip across the Bay, made recently in a heavy storm, he said that the steamer acted well, and she made out all right until they arrived at Briar Island. There, however, they experienced considerable difficulty keeping her tied up to the wharf, as the seas were running high. He said that work on the steamer is progressing favorably.

Big Robbery in St. John.

CASH AND JEWELLERY VALUED AT $500 STOLEN FROM FORMER LIEUT. GOVERNOR TWREDDIE.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Dec. 21—Jewels worth between $100 and $500 and nearly fifty dollars in cash were stolen from the apartment of ex-Lieutenant Governor Lemuel J. Tweddle, at the Royal Hotel sometime on Monday night and the robber has not yet been located. The jewels and money were in a handbag in a trunk. While Mr. and Mrs. Tweddle were attending the Opera House the room was entered by someone who had a key or who picked the lock. The trunk was piled open and the articles taken. The same afternoon the room was entered presumably by the same person and a box of cigars was stolen. The matter was not reported, however, until after the night robbery.

The police, who are working on the case, kept the matter quiet but it leaked out today, and the story was confirmed by Mr. Tweddle at his home in Chatham tonight.

Fresh Fish at Yarmouth.

[Friday's Yarmouth Telegram]

Arrivals on Wednesday—Schr. Loran B. Snow, 27,000 lbs.; Dorothy G. Snow, 12,000 lbs.; Myrtle L., 11,000 lbs. The Loran B. and Myrtle sailed to F. W. Sproule and the Dorothy to the Consumers' Fish Co.

The American schooner Morning Star with 20,000 lbs.; Ruth, 5,000; Argie B. Watson, 17,000 and Morris H. Perry, 7,000, came in the same day. These were all landed, ice and forwarded to Boston the same day.

The Atlantic schooner Pontiac came in with 35,000 lbs.; which will take home direct after making another set or two.

Arrivals this morning—Schr. Ruth, Capt. Devine, 10,000 lbs. mixed fish, Schr. Morning Star, Capt. Harry Rees, 8,000 lbs. mixed fish.

Schr. Dorothy G. Snow, 7,000 haddock, 3,000 mixed fish.

A Good Class of Immigrants

COMMISSIONER LAMB, OF THE SALVATION ARMY, LONDON, ENGLAND, VISITS THE MARITIME PROVINCES IN CONNECTION WITH THE IMMIGRATION MATTERS.

Commissioner Lamb, Chief Immigration Officer of the Salvation Army, London, England, has just completed a tour in Canada. While on this side he visited the Maritime Provinces and interviewed various Government officials and also Major Jennings, Immigration Officer of the Salvation Army for the Maritime Provinces, on immigration matters.

Commissioner Lamb comes to this country every fall to get an idea of the demands for farm laborers and domestics needed for the following spring and summer. This gives him practically year ground to work upon in deciding the number and class of settlers to send out.

Busign Wright of the Salvation Immigration Office, Halifax, who has considerable knowledge of the conditions of the maritime provinces, is at present in the old country giving lectures of their advantages, also in interviewing suitable men and women with a view to getting them to settle in these provinces.

Application forms for help, or any information needed regarding new settlers, will be gladly given by Major Jennings at Box 462, Halifax, N. S.

GOOD NEWS FOR THE GIRL WITH UGLY HAIR

Don't mourn over it! Don't envy others because they have beautiful hair. Begin right now to give proper, intelligent care and attention to your hair—and then let others envy you. Use Harmony Hair Beautifier, a delectable liquid hair dressing that is just what it is named—a hair beautifier. To make the hair glossy, soft and silky—make it easier to put up in smooth, wavy folds, and "stay put"—to restore to your hair the well-groomed appearance you wish it to have—to overcome the unpleasant, oily odor of the hair and leave instead a delightful, dainty, fresh rose fragrance—Harmony Hair Beautifier will please you, or your money back. Very easy to apply—simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it. Contains no oils; will not change the color of the hair, nor darken gray hair.

To keep hair and scalp dandruff free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure liquid shampoo gives a rich lather, that immediately penetrates to every part of hair and scalp, insuring a quick, thorough cleansing. Washed off as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Can't beat the hair leaves no harshness or stickiness—just a sweet cleanliness.

Both preparations come in old-fashioned, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Sold in this community only at our store—The Royal Store—one of the more than 7,000 leading drug stores of the United States, Canada and Great Britain, which own the big Harmony Laboratories, Toronto, where the celebrated Harmony Perfumes and Toilet Preparations are made. CHRISTMAS ANNOUNCEMENT

We are fully prepared to fill your requirements for Christmas Gifts by having carefully selected such a large variety of useful articles, as will strongly appeal to intending buyers. We suggest a few things from our large stock that will make most appropriate as well as Useful Gifts.

For Your Lady Friends

We have handsome Silk and Vellie Waists from $1.90 to $5.50 each in the newest designs.

Gloves lined and unlined from $1.00 to $1.50 per pair, large range of colors and qualities.

Greetings!

The Old Year with its failures and successes; its hopes and disappointments, lies behind us, leaving with us its heritage of experience and the great lessons that are not taught in schools and that can only be learned by living; the lesson that for the true heart and the strong hand there is no such word as fail and that the years are not lost but are as stepping stones, leading us continually upward to a broader and truer conception of life and its meaning. So that, although we know not the end, yet we look forward with courage confident that all is well with the world.

A good beginning is half the battle, therefore, we say to all; Meet the New Year in the true New Year spirit; the spirit of hopefulness, of good will to all, of courage and the determination to make the coming year better than any that has gone before.

On looking back over the past year, one thing impresses us; the debt we owe to our many friends and customers, for the support which they have given us, for their appreciation of our efforts to serve them in accordance with the "Golden Rule." We make this acknowledgement to all, and to all we give hearty Greetings and our Best Wishes for a Prosperous and Happy New Year.

Sincerely yours,

Clarke Bros.

ARIZONA KICKLETS

PRESENT AT DOG FIGHT.

But Only in His Private Capacity, He Avers—Advises Theatrical Company About to Visit Givendad Gulch—Unwise William Wise.

By M. QUAD.
(Copyright, 1913, by Associated Literary Press.)

OUR esteemed contemporary has a column article this week pitching into us because we attended the dog fight at the rink last Saturday evening. Yes, we were there, and we are happy to say that we had $10 on the winning dog.

We did not attend the scene as the editor of the Kicker, as mayor or as postmaster, but as a private citizen. As editor and proprietor of a newspaper we are expected to take a drink with the boys and sit down to a game of poker now and then, but as mayor and postmaster we are obliged to assume and preserve a certain dignity.

This the boys perfectly understand and take in a good natured way. Those who saw us at the dog fight understood that we had left our dignity of position behind us for an hour and had come to see the fracas the same as any other individual in the audience.

Making a Hit.

The manager of a theatrical company in Chicago who had evidently heard of this town and of the ad-

WILLIAM WAS WONDERING WHERE HE WAS AT.

tures of various combinations visiting us writes to inquire just what sort of play will take best with our people. We take pleasure in answering him that he will be sure to make a hit and a barrel of money with "The Merchant of Venice."

It must not be put on as in the east, however. Venice and the merchant will be all O. K. for about ten minutes. Then there should be five minute clog dancing and singing, after that more Venice, then a fight with Indians or the rescue of a beautiful maiden from a bloody pirate.

Don't stick too close to Venice. Our people want a mixture. There will be no objection to rigging in a scene from "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in one of the acts nor the gravelling scene in "Hamlet" in another, but there must be a dance or an abduction between them.

Such managers as have taken our fatherly advice regarding this matter have pleased our people and gone away with a hat full of money, while those who have been stiff necked have left town on foot or died of starvation in the woods.

Fair Warning to All.

The panes of glass which were shot out of the city hall windows by Colonel Early's cowboys one day last week have been restored, and his honor the mayor (who is himself) hereby gives fair warning to all cowboys, teamsters or any other class—that the next man who pops at those windows will find somebody popping away at him. We don't object to the boys having fun and indulging in pistol practice to their hearts' content, but a line must be drawn somewhere, and we draw it at public property.

The front doors of the hall are provided with iron knobs. Any critter sober enough to shoot can stand and bang away at those knobs by the hour and no one will disturb him, but the windows are a different thing.

Copies of this notice will be sent to all ranches for twenty miles around, and we hope the warning conveyed will be heard by all.

A Base Canard.

The story floating around town to the effect that Captain Kennedy, an late arrival from the east, was a horse thief who had to cut sticks from Indiana is a base canard and should be trampled on by every respectable person. The other day when the captain came to this office to subscribe for the Kicker he referred to the scandal and produced documents to prove his character.

Instead of stealing a horse, he drove off and sold three cows which he supposed belonged to an estate in which he had an interest. He was not chased out of the state; but, being all ready to go, he happened to take a train just ahead of the sheriff. He didn't come here as a skunk from justice, but to see if the pure air wouldn't help his catarrh.

He will remain for several weeks yet unless the Indiana officers come along and get his identity mixed up, and we bespeak for him the courtesy and good will of all our people.

The day he arrived in town he was asked to subscribe to the miserable apology issued by the bowlegged critter down the street, and his refusal to do so probably set this vile calumny afloat. We are glad that it is in our power to put this matter right with the public.

Not Any In Ours.

While on a business trip to Florence last week we had the privilege of a close inspection of a vehicle called a bicycle. This was the first time we ever saw one, except at a distance. After we had finished our inspection the owner showed us how the old thing worked and suggested that we try it.

We had never met with anything on wheels which we could not get on to and stay as long as we pleased, and it was with a great deal of self confidence that we tackled that bike. We know how we got on, but as to how we got off will ever be a puzzle to us. We can't make out whether the thing bucked with us or ran away, but when we came to we had a scalp wound five inches long, our nose was badly varped and we had a mouthful of dirt and grass to chew on.

Some men might have tried it again, but we didn't. When we want anything more in that line, we'll get it in the way of a stampeding herd of steers, or try a timber slide down a mountain. Our friendly feelings for the bikist will undergo no change, but as for the critter itself, we warn it that our guns are loaded and we shall take all precautions to protect ourselves.

Unwise William Wise.

Colonel Sinclair's wagon train arrived from the railroad Wednesday afternoon, and at about 4 o'clock his honor (who is himself) received word from a mule whacker named William Wise that he proposed to capture the town at 6 o'clock. Mr. Wise hadn't allowed for any change in Givendad Gulch in the last five years.

He figured that things were just as they used to be, when a lone duffer could ride into town with a boot, shoot right and left with a yell, and in the course of five minutes have the streets to himself and something to brag about for the rest of his life. We were ready, in company with the city marshal, at 5:55.

At exactly 6 o'clock William Wise came down the river road like a cyclone, hair flying, a gun in either hand and a warwhoop on the end of his tongue. At 6:05 his cayuse was dead in the road and William was in the town lockup and wondering where he was at.

Next morning he was fined $15 and his guns were confiscated, and when he walked off he kept looking behind him and trying to unke out low things had happened that way. Any other duffer who feels like capturing the town is invited to communicate with us by mail or personal interview.

Reforming a Road Agent.

In returning from the Red valley the other afternoon we were stopped at Buckshot creek by an ugly faced critter who commanded us to shell out. As he had the drop on us we handed over our personal effects with promptness and dispatch. He was about to ride away when we proposed a game of poker, and the idea struck him favorably.

The two of us sat down on the grass and started in, and at the end of forty minutes we had won back our valuables and had him dead broke. On the last hand out we held only a pair of kings, and we knew from the run of the cards that he had a full house with ace high, and yet we bluffed him out of his horse and guns.

He was a mean looking cuss, and he had no scruples about robbing us, but he was a man of his word. He made no kick about being cleaned out, and there was something like a tear in his eyes as he asked us if we knew where he could strike a job at $1 a day. We don't see how he can get another start in the highway robbery business this fall, and we have considerable hopes that being cleaned out will lead to his reformation and salvation.

A Public Retraction.

The policy of the Kicker since the first issue has been to state things fairly and truthfully, and whenever we have discovered later that a published item has done any one injustice we have not been slow to follow it with an explanation perfectly satisfactory to the party aggrieved.

Last week we had a local item to the effect that some miserable wretch had robbed Major Smith's closetline of four shirts, and we indulged in the hope that he would speedily be caught and given a dance on the head of a barrel.

It seems that we were mistaken, and the major feels that he has been placed in a false position to the public. The fact is, as he wishes us to state, he does not own four shirts, but only two, and neither of these is a white one. They were old blue flannel shirts, much the worse for wear. What was really stolen was a Navajo blanket, and we are glad to make this retraction and set the major right before this community.

A Success.

Mrs. Scando—Was your house party a success?
Mrs. Conitrycot—Yes, indeed. There wasn't one of them who wasn't engaged the first week, and there wasn't two of them who wouldn't speak to each other the second.—Puck.

FOOTBALL MAKING

Work That Requires Powerful Hands and Arms.

THE PIGSKIN IDEA IS WRONG.

That Brand of Hide to Never Used, the Finest Balls Taking Calf or Cow Skin and the Cheaper Grades Sheepskin. The Bladders Are Made of Rubber.

That phrase so much used in the football season, "chasing the pigskin," involves a popular error. The football is not made of pigskin, but of the hide of the calf or cow and for the cheaper variety the skin of the sheep. Footballs of the ordinary grade are made in this country, but some of the finest, sold to those who are not particular about price, are imported from England, where the industry was an old one before it was started in America.

The making of a football is almost entirely a male industry. The only share that women have in the work is seen when one first enters a football factory. At long tables girls sit pasting linings on sections of the footballs cut in another part of the factory. It is work that a girl is particularly fitted for, as the linings must be carefully fastened to the rough leather and smoothed until there is not a sign of a bubble or rough place on the surface of the lining.

The first step in the making of a football is to select the leather. Only the best of pigskin is used, and each skin is carefully gone over for defects before being cut into the necessary sections. This is done by machinery, and the sections are then sent to the room in which the girls are at work for the lining to be pasted on.

Then the lined sections are sent to the sewing room and the linings are stitched together, bringing the outer covering of the football into position for the final stitching. This is done by a machine that turns the footballs out stitched in the seams but wrong side out. They must then be turned right side out, a job that is left to men who do nothing else all day long but reverse the leather covers by hand, a work that requires great strength and endurance and gives the workers a prodigious amount of pulling power in the muscles of the arms and hands.

When the cover is pulled right side out the outer part of the football is finished ready for the inflation. The bladder is inserted and blown up, and the ball is then stamped on a hot press and worked up until the surface is perfectly smooth and free from rough spots. The ball is then deflated and placed aside for shipment.

Balls intended for the soccer game or for basket ball are also made in the way described. A new idea recently applied to the making of the football is to provide a ball suited to the rough treatment inseparable from play on the stone flagged or asphalted pavement of the school playground. It was found that the finely finished football intended for use on a grass covered field could not stand the hard usage received during practice in the school yard, and a football was therefore devised especially for this rough work, with the seams stitched on the outside instead of the inside. Sewing the seams from the outside provided a ridge that protects the ball when kicked and bounced in a paved court and makes the cost of the footballs used in a season somewhat less than when the finely finished oval of the gridiron grounds is used.

The origin of the term "kicking the pigskin" was explained by one of the authorities in this way: "Years ago, when the game was in its early stages in England, the inflation was done by means of a bladder of a pig. In those old days the skin of the pig was actually subjected to the indignity of being propelled high in the air by the toe of a football player, but as the bladder is no longer used the term has ceased to apply.

The bladders are now made of the best Para rubber. The regulation football weighs from thirteen and a quarter to fourteen ounces. The soccer ball weighs from thirteen to fifteen ounces. One cannot definitely predict the life of a football, but the makers say the hardest kicking should fall to retire the ball in less than two years.

It may not be generally known that football has a patron saint. In 1820 a boy named Hugh had the misfortune to kick a football through a window in the house of a neighbor, who became so incensed at the damage done that he stabbed the boy to death. The populace avenged the boy's death by killing his slayer and then exalted the name of the unfortunate boy by calling him "Saint Hugh."—New York Sun.

Saving Himself.
Murphy was assistant cook on board a "trooper" ship bound for India. The first morning he forgot to wash the boiler out after breakfast. Consequently there were ten leaves on the surface of the soup when dinner was served. To clear himself of blame he went to the respective messes and said: "If you find any lay leaves in the soup you'll know it's mint."—London Globe.

A Disadvantage.

IF YOUR CHILD IS CROSS, FEVERISH, CONSTIPATED

Look Mother! If tongue is coated, cleanse little bowels with "California Syrup of Figs."

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Johns and daughter Lizzie will spend the coming week in Bridgetown and vicinity.

Before we write again for our several locations, we will pass through the festive season of Christmas and we take this opportunity of wishing our friends, the correspondents, the editor and staff of the COURIER and all concerned a happy and joyous Christmas tide.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Watson Anthony on Saturday evening, 20th, was the scene of a pretty event, when a very pleasant surprise was given Miss Lizzie Chute and Mr. Harry Reynolds, with a linen and china shower. 55 of Port Wade's citizens and friends of the above couple greeted them as they entered the door. A reading was given by Mrs. Ed. Keane appropriate to the occasion. A quartette of young ladies sang some pleasing songs, with Miss Mildred Keane as organist, after which refreshments of a choice variety was served, games, chesses and every thing to make up a happy occasion were indulged in and at the close the addressing of Dinah, showing the beautiful presents of linen and china, attested to the popularity of Miss Lizzie and her choice.

Miss Porter left for her home in Yarmouth on Friday. Miss Isley went to Berwick, Miss Jackson to Lawrencetown and Miss MacMortery to Margareville to spend the holidays.

Motogan River.

Denis Comeau, son of Saraphin J. Comeau, died last Friday after a long and suffering illness.

Schr. Regine C. has arrived from St. John and will sail again for the same place after Christmas.

On account of mild weather the quantity of spruce lumber here is very small in comparison to previous years.

Mr. Vaughan, the bank manager of this branch, is going to spend Christmas with his family and relatives in Halifax.

Mr. Agapite H. Comeau has bought a large quantity of spruce piling lately. It seems that piling is in good demand at present.

It is estimated that seven hundred bushels of winter wheat have been sown in Clare this fall and, supposing it will yield next year on an average of ten bushels to one, our new flour mill will have to grind seven thousand bushels at least next fall. The St. Mary's Flour Mill and the Clare Creamery are two industries which will be of great benefit for the farmers of Clare and the promoters deserve much credit.

St. Pleasant.

Miss Grace McKay is spending her Christmas holidays in Sandy Cove.

Mr. Martin Baine, of St. John, is visiting his father, Mr. Harry Baine.

Miss Gertrude Daley spent Christmas with her friend, Mr. Byron Trask, Little River.

Mr. Benedict Vantassel and two sons, Augustus and Martin, were in St. John last week and purchased a very nice span of horses.

Eight Year Old Girl Delivered by Mail.

New Lexington, Ohio.—When the mail arrived here one morning recently post office employees were surprised to find in it an eight year old girl bearing a tag which had been placed on her by New York immigration officials, reading as follows: "This child, Julia Kohan, is going to her father, John Kohan, box 117, R. F. D. No. 4, New Lexington, Ohio."

After a breakfast supplied by the postmaster, the child was taken in care of a rural delivery carrier to the home of her father, who lives six miles south of here. The trip of 7300 miles from Bavaria was made by her alone.

Canada's Fenian Raid Veterans THE PENSION LIST FOR SURVIVORS THAT OF UNITED STATES.

OTTAWA, Dec. 21.—The number of warrants issued by the Department of Militia for Fenian Raid bounties of $100 each now totals 15,000. There are almost as many more applications for bounties still to be passed upon. The original estimate of the number of men who were actually called out for service was approximately 10,000. Canada's experience with the pension list for Fenian Raid veterans of the United States when it comes to the survival of war veterans, and the constant turning up of new ones.

Limit of Tonnage in Coal Trade.

OTTAWA, Dec. 21.—An order-in-Council has been passed amending the present regulations in regard to the coal-trading privileges accorded Norwegian and Swedish vessels on the Atlantic Coast in connection with the coal-carrying trade. The new order provides that steamships of not less than 2000 gross tons burden from Norway, Sweden, Austria, Hungary and Japan shall be given coasting trade privileges between any port in Nova Scotia, and any port in Quebec.

TRUNKS OF ELEPHANTS.

They Serve Many Purposes and Take the Place of Hands.

Elephants are interesting because they have such varied feelings, such a wide range of intelligent appreciation. Doubtless this is in part due to the possession in the trunk of an organ the development of which has itself permitted development of brain power. Very great brain power could not have been developed as an accompaniment merely of hoofs; hands, however imperfect, were necessary or something else that would serve as a partial substitute for hands.

By watching a herd of elephants any one can speedily see the large range of uses to which the trunk is put and the large range of needs and emotions which it develops and satisfies. During courtship the bull and cow caress one another with their trunks. Elephants are very curious, and the trunks are used to test every object which arouses their curiosity. The cow is constantly fondling and guiding the calf with her trunk. The trunk is used to gather every species of food and to draw water. It is used to spurt dust or water over the body. It is used to test rotten and dangerous ground. It is in constant use to try the wind so as to guard against the approach of any foe.

As one watches the great beasts the trunks continually appear in the air above them, uncurling, twisting, feeling each breath of air. Now and then a great ear is flapped. Now and then the weight of the body is slightly shifted from one colossal leg to another. The huge beasts are rarely entirely motionless for any length of time. Nor are they long silent, for aside from subdued squeaks or growls and occasional shrill calls there are queer internal rumblings. Their eyes are very bad. Like the rhino, they can only see as a very nearsighted man sees. At a distance of eighty yards or so, when in my dull colored hunting clothes, I could walk slowly toward them or shift my position without fear of discovery.—Theodore Roosevelt in Scribner's Magazine.

PILGRIMS IN INDIA.

They Travel Packed in Trains Like Sardines in a Box.

Of course pilgrims in India usually travel third class, and the best of such accommodations makes no provision for comfort. Most of the carriages are divided into small cubicles, with long, narrow wooden benches running along the two sides. There is no convenience of any kind, and the travelers are packed into the compartment like so many sardines in a tin.

On festive occasions, when Hindus journey by the hundred thousand to the sacred spots, it is a sight worth traveling many miles to see a pilgrim train bound for some shrine on the Ganges. When it stops at a wayside station scores of intending passengers try to force their way into the already closely packed third class carriages by battering down the locked doors or even endeavoring to crawl through the windows over the heads and shoulders of the occupants. The police use their batons freely to drive the invaders away, but usually a few manage to evade the constables and secure a foothold on the train.

Sometimes the authorities are compelled to carry passengers in open trucks. They plant themselves in the bottom of these cars and remain there, exposed to the inclemencies of the weather, for ten, twenty, thirty, forty hours at a stretch, one treading on the toes of the other—fretful babies crying, men and women grumbling—until the end of the journey is reached.—Wide World Magazine.

Education and Suicide.

The American Practitioner declares that suicide increases with education and civilization and adds: "It has been said that the spread of the alphabet is coincident with that of self murder. The savage rarely takes his own life. In Italy, Russia and Spain, where the standard of education is low, the worst suicides on the continent of Europe occur, while in France and Germany, where the people are more sensitive and refined and where the standard of education is higher, the percentage is much increased."

How the End Will Come.

The professor of natural phenomena had acquired a gasoline car. "The day is coming," he said to his class a few weeks later, "when the tire will sag and punctures pierce the inner tube and the casing blister—and then this old earth of ours will have a blowout that may shake the dog star from its kennel and hurl the dipper to kingdom come!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

In possible.

Exo—What ridiculous, impossible things these fashion plates are! Mrs. Exo—I know they used to be, but today many of them are engraved from photographs. Exo—Well, this one can't be. Here are two women going in opposite directions, both with brand new gowns on and neither looking back at the other.—Boston Transcript.

Parental Effort.

"What are you working so hard for?" "I want to provide for my boy's future," replied Farmer Cornstossel. "I want to lay by enough wealth so that I can leave Josh this farm for a golf course!"—Washington Star.

Education is all right. It does not alter the nature of the wood that is under it. It only improves its appearance a little.—Stanhope.

Agricultural Short Course.

At the short course in Agriculture to be given at the Provincial Farm at Truro, from January 6th to 16th, many subjects vitally important to the farmers of this province will be under treatment that cannot fail to be of much interest and value. Take, for instance, the subject of dairying.

Agricultural experts all agree Nova Scotia is a great dairy country and consider that if only the farms of the Province were stocked with the right kind of cows, properly housed and cared for, the production could be increased many fold. The average cow in Nova Scotia produces 1,200 qts. equal to 3,000 lbs. per annum, and the average farmer considers that he has a good cow when she will produce one pound of butter per day when fresh.

It would be worth a great deal to the farmers of Nova Scotia to go to the Short Course at Truro if for nothing else than to see some of the famous cows of that institution producing from 20 to 30 qts of milk per day, 10,000 to 18,000 lbs. of milk per year, and two to four pounds of butter per day. There is a two year old Holstein heifer bred on the farm that has just produced under an official test 183 lbs. of butter in a week and 393 lbs. of milk in seven days.

J. M. Trueman, who will have charge of Animal Husbandry, assisted by several experts, will treat in detail with the different breeds of dairy cattle. This will be done with lectures, illustrated with stereoscopic views in the evening in the large hall, and during the day sessions by stock judging competitions in the live stock pavilion. The animals of the farm will be shown and critically examined, as well as many high class animals brought in from leading dairy farms adjacent to the College farm. The breeds which will come under review will be Holsteins, Ayrshires, Jerseys, Guernseys and the milking or dual purpose Shorthorns. Special attention is being given on the farm to the dual purpose cow, as it is by many conceded to be the ideal farm animal, coupling as it does both the advantages of milk and beef.

The special work of the dairy will also be extensively taken up. Mr. W. A. McKay, dairy instructor on the farm, C. W. McDougall, Dairy Supt., N. B., and Mrs. Laura Rose Stephens, of Huntingdon, Que., will have charge of the course in dairying and are fully competent to deal with the different phases of the subject, such as butter making, milk testing, cream gathering and the home manufacture of all sorts of cheeses.

To supplement this branch of farming attention will be given to approved feeds for dairy cattle so as to obtain the best results, as well as the growing of special feeding crops and soils. So interesting will this section of the studies be made this year that an extra effort is being made to induce the farmers of Nova Scotia to attend the short course and take advantage of this free educational campaign. Every branch of farm life is so closely dealt with at these unique and comprehensive short courses, and every farmer who possibly can do so should make an effort to attend. The school is absolutely free, and an inquiry addressed to Principal M. Canting, Truro, will bring full details.

DON'T DOPE WITH ALCOHOLIC "TONICS"

This is honest advice for you who are run down and sick—don't dope with alcoholic "tonics." We're backing this advice with our personal guarantee of satisfaction to you, or your money back.

There are a lot of so-called "tonics" on the market that do not depend for their short-lived popularity on any real merit they possess, but upon the fact that the alcohol in most of them and the dangerous or habit-forming drugs in some of them give a few moments

LIFE THREATENED BY KIDNEY DISEASE

His Health in A Terrible State Until He Took "Fruit-a-Lives"

B. A. KELLY, Esq.

MAGNANVILLE, ONT., Aug. 20th, 1913.

"About two years ago, I found my health in a very bad state. My kidneys were not doing their work, and I was all down in condition. I felt the need of some good remedy, and having seen 'Fruit-a-Lives' advertised, I decided to try them. Their effect I found more than satisfactory. Their action was mild and the result all that could be expected. My kidneys resumed their normal action after I had taken upwards of a dozen boxes and I regained my old-time vitality. Today, I am as well as ever, the best health I have ever had."

B. A. KELLY

"Fruit-a-Lives" is the greatest Kidney remedy in the world. It acts on the bowels and the skin as well as the kidneys and thereby soothes and cures any Kidney soreness.

"Fruit-a-Lives" is sold by all dealers at 60c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c, or will be sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-Lives Limited, Ottawa.

Are you one of those to whom every meal is another source of suffering?

Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets will help your disordered stomach to digest any reasonable meals, and will soon restore it to such perfect condition that you'll never feel that you have a stomach. Take one after each meal. 50c. a Box at your Druggist's. Made by the National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited.

THE OUTCAST PARENT.

The Whole World's Chilly and All Because of Willie.

YOU meet him in the Forest, you meet him in the town, and, feeling at your sores, you long to knock him down. You have a wish to take him across your knees and break him, to him in knots and shake him and bash him on the crown.

You meet him in the taxi, you meet him in the jail; he holds you with his was eyes and tries to tell his tale, but ere he gets to speaking you flee, profanely shrieking, some quiet refuge-seeking where he can't hit your trail. You meet him in the hallway and in the changing mart, and everywhere and always he breaks your loving heart. In vain you try to crush him, in vain you "plish" and "tush" him, in vain you strive to hush him and beg him to depart.

It is his wild endeavor (and will be till he's dead) to tell you of the clever, bright things his Willie said—his sweet, precocious Willie, who drives the whole world silly. He'll tell you, willily, till you are seeing red.

"At breakfast time this morning," the outcast parent sighs, "without a bit of warning, my Willie up and cries"—But ere he can unravel the tale you hit the gravel, with frantic speed you travel, in which you're surely wise.

All rough and dark and hilly the outcast parent's road. His yavins of little Willie he scarcely can unload, for people turn their faces and hit the higher places when with his tales he chases forth from his grim abode.

So total is his blindness he does not understand why there's no human kindness for him in all the land. He wonders why we shun him, and show desire to gun him and sometimes try to stun him with words that should be cannon.

He finds the whole world chilly, and still he tries to tell the things that little Willie gets off so passing well. His game's not worth the candle; we hold him as a vandal and wildly yearn to handle an old time chestnut bell—Walt Mason in Judge.

His Wish.

He had a faraway look. It was evident that he was the proprietor of an assortment of large dapper gray thoughts. "What are you thinking of?" his wife asked.

"I'm just wishing," he replied. "What are you wishing?" she demanded, for, as has been indicated, she was a woman.

"I'm wishing I were as great and wise and good and rich as you think I ought to be if I expect to be worthy of you"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Stage Novelty.

"Want time in vaudeville, eh? Are you a baseball player?"

"No."

"Shoot somebody?"

"Never."

"What are you, then?"

"Merely an actor."

"An actor, eh? Well, I don't know. Actors are unusual in vaudeville, but the very novelty of the thing might make it a go."—Pittsburgh Post.

Har, Har!

"What are you grinning about?" asked Mrs. Gabb.

"At a department in this magazine headed 'Woman's Talk,'" replied Mr. Gabb.

"Well, what's funny about that?" demanded Mrs. Gabb.

"There is only a column of it," grinned Mr. Gabb.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

DO YOU KNOW HER?

BECAUSE her sex was feminine and bore the title "wife." She thought the Lord had misconceived the purpose of her life. Her limited environment perplexed her more and more.

She wouldn't wash the dishes, and she wouldn't make a bed. Because such coarse and common work would spoil her hands, she said. Although her husband's income and his business too, were slack.

She wouldn't do the weekly wash, because it hurt her back. She didn't care for children. "They are nuisances," said she. "They make an awful lot of work, so none of them for me."

The training of an infant mind would surely interfere With her ambitious visions of a notable career.

She garbed herself most modestly in all the latest fashions. The while her husband sacrificed and slaved to pay her bills. She wondered why on earth she ever wed the stupid dolt.

For there she sensed a larger field brim full of strange delights. A hundred worlds to conquer when the women got their "rights." A second Joan of Arc was she who couldn't take a cake, But who could marshal armies when her country was at stake.

The neighbors from her gossip had a respite of surcease While from the stump she advocated universal peace. With eloquence her soul was fired. The women folk went wild. To hear one tell of children's wrongs who never had a child.

She spoke of loving sacrifice, of work she would perform. Whose husband scarcely ever ate a supper that was warm. She guaranteed to rid the earth of all its present ills. And what became of hubby? Why, he went on paying bills.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Appearances Deceive.

A man lay groaning and writhing by the roadside when up dashed a policeman and proceeded to investigate, but all he could get out of the sufferer was:

"I ate one, too; I ate one, too," and he was puzzled, but not for long. "Poison!" was his diagnosis, and, mindful of his training, he at once procured an antidote, which simply electrified the recipient.

Between convulsions he managed to ask the reason for such treatment, and on his being told and asked what it was he had eaten he became more abusive.

"What did I eat?" yelled he. "Why, you idiot, 'I 812' is the number of the car that knocked me down!"—London Exchange.

Mrs. Stubbs—The one back in the woodshed.—Punch.

Great Invention.

"Noddies is the latest man I know. He has an invention fixed so that by merely pulling a wire to bed he can light the fire; but that doesn't seem to improve matters."

"Why not?"

"He's too lazy to pull the wire."—Spokesman-Review.

Sure Proof.

"How can a girl be sure that a young man loves her?"

"Oh, there are reliable signs. Now, my beau stands for my father's state stories and even for an occasional touch."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"ORANGE LILY SAVED MY LIFE"

These words or expressions having the same meaning are contained in hundreds of the letters I have received during the past year. Many were from women who had suffered agonies from falling of womb; others from women who had escaped dangerous surgical operations, as the tumors and ulcers had been removed by the action of Orange Lily and others who had suffered from suppressed menstruation, leucorrhea, painful periods, etc. For all these and the other troubles known in general as Women's Disorders, Orange Lily furnishes a positive, scientific, never-failing cure. It is applied direct to the suffering organs, and its operation is certain and beneficial. A trial actually proves its merit. I hereby offer to send absolutely free, a box worth $1.00, sufficient for ten days' treatment, to every suffering woman who will write for it. Enclose 3 stamps. MRS. FRANCES E. Synopsis of Coal Mining Regulations

(COAL mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 250 acres will be leased to one applicant.)

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights are applied for are situated. In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal subdivisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be sketched out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $3 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the net, charitable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

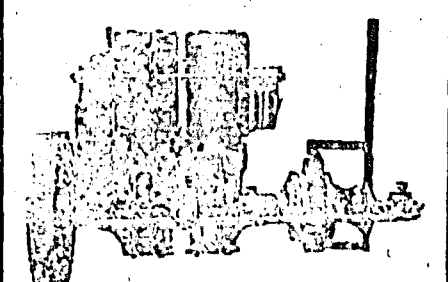

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and for the royalty due. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

D. J. COOK, Deputy Minister of the Interior, N.B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.
