1877-1977

One of the jobs I had to do, besides painting and grouting the floor, was to... I finished one and then... One day not long after I started to get to the grouting plant, I decided to clean the floor that apparently hadn't been cleaned in some considerable time.

"J.J." came along and said, "how are you making out Vince?" I assured him that I thought I was beginning to see the floor. "J.J." laughed very heartily. He thought the remark pretty good and whole.

Sometimes the gasoline engine is a piece of machinery would refuse to work, and the "blue" fix-it man had patiently worked for a great length of time to get it going again. Without making a sound, he would then stand back and come quite dramatically, then he would immediately start working. "See," he would say, "all it needed was a bit of coaxing."

On other occasions when my spouse refused duty but the need seemed to be broken, I would say, "use a little oil" and sure enough after that is said, "use a little oil" and sure enough after that is said, it took. They often since, have I heard of the value of that remark and the actual need of oil in many life situations, applied at the right time, right place and in the right way.

Other things that sort of stick in my memory and come to mind now and then are, like the June 1 I told "Mac" of four teenage boys who in the spring season of 1943 got together just before dark one evening and decided to mutilate the newly built outdoor Pease Hotel swimming pool which had just been filled with water. Clothes were taken off near the road just out of the pool, nobody else seemed to be around and the four boys, no thought or time for bathing suits, up in the pool they went. They stood on the edge of the pool and looked at the chilly water, one soon jumped in. The rest quickly followed and across the pool they swam. "Mac" listened to the story and hardly said anything, but the next "Digby Courier" had a good story on the episode. The heading of the story was something like, "Four Boy Swims Officially Open Pease Hotel Swimming Pool." Who were the four? Many years later they are known as: the late Dr. Earl H. Anderson, veteran of two wars (second world and Korean), was awarded the Vietnam Cross; Sidney L. Smith, now prominent draughtsman for many years in Digby; Clayton D. Snow, Digby telephone installer and electrician; and myself.

As a young teenager I used to like doing some writing about different events interesting to myself, and mostly for myself. One day "Mac" said to me how about writing your version of the story told about "The Marooning of Jerome". I did it and read at least two somewhat different versions about the man who was found marooned on a beach in some point on the French Shore of St. Mary's Bay, Duffy County. When found this man's torso had been cut out and his legs quite freshly amputated, were surgically well dressed and bound. He was presumably left by some vessel before dawn one morning, all for some mysterious reason.

"Jimenez" appeared to have been a man of considerable social standing and considerable wealth. However the wealth could or would ever say after being heard for by some family in the French state something that seemed like the money either could not, or would not, be used who he was or why he was left there it was. And in one of Digne County and, different ideas have been put forward concerning this man. However "Mac" was, I felt no urge to write any different about this man. The fact that there have been very well known in many

Comment by David Sanford

The Town Plot is situated at the east of the township just within the entrance to Annapolis Basin, and extends miles from Annapolis Town, and six miles across land from the head of W. Mary's Bay. This land not only has water's edge, partly on level ground, and partly on the declivity of a modern hill, dry and pleasant, and having on an eastern aspect a view of the Annapolis Basin and its cultivated shores for twenty miles in extent, it terminates with the Fort and River's mouth at that name. It was secured by Loyalists from New York in 1782, the point of which went early to Britain, or, moving to other countries, left the shore

DOCTORS DID NOT HELP HER

But Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Mrs. Bradley's Health—Her Own Statement.

Winnipeg, Canada. — "Eleven years ago I went to the Victoria Hospital, Montreal, suffering with a growth. The doctors said it was a tumor and could not be removed as it would cause instant death. They found that my organs were affected, and said I could not live more than six months in the condition I was in. "After I came home I saw your advertisement in the paper, and commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it constantly for two years, and still take it at times, and both my husband and myself claim that it was the means of saving my life. I highly recommend it to suffering women." — Mrs. ORILLA BRADLEY, 284 Johnson Ave., Winnipeg, Manitoba, Can.

Fair Digby.

Fair Digby, gem of Evangeline land, is favored by nature on every hand. Flora holds revel in garden and glade. An abundance of trees give color and shade.

The orchards and byways yield plentiful store of luscious red cherries and berries galore. The angler and oarsman and hunter, their skill can exercise freely old moments to fill.

There's fish for the fisher and game for the sportsman and sailing of every sort; No need to be idle for anywhere. There's plenty of pasture for gallant and fair.

Here's a haven of rest where good fairies dwell, Who take you in hand and, under their spell, You forget all your troubles and travail of soul And take back the years that old Father time stole.

Pine needles fill your material wants, And lighten the charm of the fairy tale haunts Which enthrall you and lure you to stay on and on And will summon you back to their glamorous anon.

P. E. I. Foxes Worth Twice as Much As Others

OTTAWA, June 22.—That the foxes held in captivity in connection with the fur farming industry of Prince Edward Island alone are worth $15,186,158, is the information contained in a census department bulletin issued today. There are 3,130 foxes of all breeds, and the value of those animals is twice as great as that of all the horses, cattle, swine, sheep and poultry on the island.

Regularity of the bowels is an absolute necessity for good health. Unless the waste matter from the food which collects there is got rid of at least once a day, it decays and poisons the whole body, causing biliousness, indigestion and sick headaches. Salts and other harsh mineral purgatives irritate the delicate lining of the bowels. HAPPY CENTREVILLE Crowds Witness One of the Greatest Days in Its History.

A RELIGIOUS WAVE SWEEPS OVER ONE OF DIGBY COUNTY'S MOST THRIVING VILLAGES—METHODISTS AND BAPTISTS ADD MANY TO THEIR MEMBERSHIP ROLLS.

A correspondent writes the COURIER as follows: Centreville witnessed one of the happiest days, June 21st, that has ever been known in this vicinity. At 9.30 a. m. crowds gathered at the sea shore to witness the baptism of nine, baptized by Pastor Kinsman, and afterward received into the Baptist church. Following that, communion was held and the invitation was extended to all who loved the Lord Jesus. A great number stayed and all had a joyful time in the Lord. Again at 3 p. m. the Methodist church was filled to overflowing while Pastor Hale baptized and received eleven into that church; also communion was held and all were cordially invited to stay, and without a doubt the largest number that ever communed in either church was present. An elderly church member said afterward, that they were never present to such a heart felt communion. Love reigns in both churches. Surely God is gracious. The four weeks that Bros. Gibbons and Nelson have been labouring in our midst to win souls for Jesus Christ, have been happy ones. They have had hard battles to fight, but they took God at His word, and through His Spirit have won out victorious, and have not only won the souls of a great many, but have won the hearts of all.

Sunday evening was the closing service of their campaign, and the church was crowded. People were standing in the entry and elsewhere. Auto, buckboards and single teams from all the villages within fifteen miles were present, showing their appreciation and gratitude of what had been done. After service crowds gathered around the platform to bid these gentlemen good bye, and some felt so grateful for the help they had received that they gathered at their boarding place the next morning to thank them for what God had done for them and with tears streaming down their faces said that they were the happiest men and women in Centreville.

Although our little town feels empty without them, yet our hearts are full of love, so full that it cannot be expressed in words. In going away they leave behind them a far different place than the one they came to. Before they came to us Jesus Christ seemed to be the last one to talk about, but today He is the topic of Centreville. We know our pastor's hearts (Bro. Kinsman and Bro. Hale) must be overflowing with thankfulness to these brothers in the way they have laboured. They worked and prayed with a faithful and untiring zeal. They have won friends that will be friends indeed to them, and if ever God sees fit to permit them to come to us again they will always find a hearty welcome awaiting them. Although we cannot be with them in person our hearts are with them and their work, and our earnest prayers are that God will graciously bless them where ever they go.

Another correspondent writes: The United Evangelistic services, held in the Baptist church, Centreville, conducted by Messrs. Gibbons and Nelson, came to a close last Sunday evening. The services were continued for nearly five weeks.

Large congregations gathered on Sunday evenings. Preliminary prayer services were held in the Methodist church and on two or three occasions all day meetings for prayer were held in the same church. The Evangelists were supported not only by the pastors of the churches, Rev. Mr. Kinsman and Rev. Mr. Hale, but by a goodly band of devoted and earnest Christians men and women who had long been praying for an outpouring of the Holy Spirit.

Much good has been accomplished, wanderers have been brought back to the fold and quite a number have been converted. Twenty persons were received into the membership of the Baptist church and eleven into the Methodist church. There are others who will probably identify themselves with God's people. The communion services held in the Baptist church in the morning and in the Methodist church in the afternoon were memorable occasions. Denominational lines sank out of sight as the members of the two churches joined together in commemorating their Lord's death.

Mr. Gibbons and Mr. Nelson left on Monday morning carrying with them the prayers and good wishes for their future success of all the people with whom they had been labouring.

Amherst as A

Piano Building Centre

This is the first of a series of three or four advertisements which we intend publishing regarding Amherst as a Piano Building Centre and the factory of the Amherst Piano, Limited. These advertisements should prove of interest to every music lover.

As can be readily understood, it is absolutely necessary that the best quality of wood be used in the building of Pianos. Amherst Piano, Ltd., are particularly fortunate in their situation in this respect. Pine is the best that there is for the purpose of making the case, or ground work of a Piano. For backs the best possible wood is Birch. Amherst is situated in the very heart of a birch and pine district, and the best quality birch and pine can be delivered at the factory for about one-third the price that other factories are compelled to pay.

Veneers are imported through the English markets and Amherst is as near this market as any other factory. Direct steamers from England to Halifax, and thence by rail to Amherst, assures quick deliveries and low freight rates.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

THERE is only one woman who makes anything by resorting to tears, and she is the one who appeals to her average male acquaintance.

Even when a humorist dies it is hard to get his acquaintances to take him seriously.

A man is apt to think that well spent money is that that his wife didn't get.

Ever notice how smoothly things seem to run that have never had the benefit of your advice?

An empty head is seldom either heavy or stupid.

Having a good time is rather expensive when times are bad.

It is being a good fellow that tends to render him good for nothing.

The second time a man marries he can't plead either inexperience or illusion to account for it.

Anybody would like to be honest, but everybody makes it so hard for him.

There are plenty of us who have good principles that have no interest for us.

Some women find it so difficult to be pretty that it makes them cross all the time.

A hobo is a man who is too lazy to work and whose sense of fair play has caused him to give over caring much for the products of labor.

Saving Quality.

In trying patiently to climb the man need not be dense. Who doesn't think it is a crime to show some common sense. Who ventures in that way to plod. Although some folks may call him odd.

For common sense will pull him through. When genius calls for aid. It will assist him to pursue. His calling or his trade. And then the fickle ones will say he is not made of common clay.

Not making his achievements hum with clatter and display. But doing little things that come along from day to day. On duty striving to attend. And thus accomplishing his end.

Thus, to the very great surprise of those who love to knock. Above the level he will rise. And up will go his stock. And when returns begin to show they will declare, "I told you so."

Don't be afraid to lumber out. Your stock of common sense. When genius strikes its head in doubt. Just tell it to go hence. Depend on it through thick and thin. For in the long run it must win.

Strong on Utility.

"We ought to do something nice for Senator Jabbs after all he has done for the country."

"That's so. What would you suggest?"

"We might give him a loving cup."

"What is that good for?"

"It is fine to look at."

"I know, but couldn't we expand the idea and make it a bathtub?"

Getting Used to It.

"Why are you so disturbed?"

"I am in love."

"What?"

"Fact. And the first time too."

"Oh, just wait until you reach the stage of your second marriage and you will take it quite as a thing of course."

After, Not Before.

To lie in state is counted great. A special honor giving. And is for those, you may suppose, Who do not lie while living.

Insinuating.

"You tell everything you know." "I don't either."

"You do too."

"I don't talk as much as you do."

"No; you say very little."

Couldn't Be.

"I think Brown is out of his mind. Don't you?"

"No."

"He acts like it."

"That may be, but he never had a mind to get out of."

But There Was One.

"He is no fool."

"How do you know?"

"Cost me $25 to find it out."

"Well, he wasn't in that transaction."

Pendo.

Lives of great men all remind us That we, too, 'll be mowing on Where collectors cannot find us Nor berate us when we're gone.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

IF a man were born blind to annoyances and alive to opportunities what an irresistible chap he would be.

Nothing is more tiring than to discover that the other fellow has troubles too.

If you don't know just what your deserts are your neighbor can tell you.

Some people seem very much afraid that they will add to the stock of vanity of their friends if a commendable word is spoken.

The automobile that makes the most noise isn't the one that runs the furthest or costs the most.

The smile that won't come off is sometimes the one that is drawing a salary.

Most men are kind to their families when there's company.

If everybody were contented what would the politicians do for an issue.

Adversity has its uses, but we aren't alive to them when we are trying to cover 1910 expenses with a salary of the vintage of 1893.

It really never seems to occur to some people to make their best better.

What will be fashionable at Palm Beach this winter isn't especially interesting to the man who hasn't paid for last winter's coat.

A friend warns us to beware of grass widows, but then she is a maiden lady.

Many people who stand around waiting for an opportunity to work immediately get busy when they see it coming—and dodge.

Many a good fellow has started something only to be invited by the officer on the beat to see it through.

Their Favorite Fodder.

"How did it happen you weren't elected?"

"Too many voting cattle."

"They pastured on the long green, I suppose?"

"Yes; I couldn't have kept the pace had I been disposed."

"Now, if chickens could have voted?"

"How would that help?"

"You could have passed around the chicken feed."

Just Tolerated.

This is a wonderful world, but still—No one the fact disputes—We'll have to stick to it until We find a world that suits.

Disastrous.

"How did he happen to go to the wall?"

"By reason of his wife's economies."

"Economies! How is that?"

"She was always using $5 worth of new material to fix over a dollar's worth of old stuff and then treating herself to some wild extravagance because she had been so economical."

Shocking.

"Don't ask your husband so many questions, Jane."

"Why not, mamma?"

"It isn't wise."

"But he tells such funny little squibs."

"Yes, but he may tire of it and tell you the truth one of these times."

Ingenious.

"I hate him."

"Why?"

"He lies so about me."

"Who cares for lies, anyway?"

"But he is so clever about it. Every one he tells might be true."

The Difference.

"The fellow who expects what he most desires."

"And a pessimist?"

"Expects what he most fears."

Companionable.

The colors of the smoking car. Have not the scent of after.

That spreads its perfume sweet afar. Put, pray, what does that matter?

In it good fellowship indeed. Is found for one another.

The wealthy and the man in need. Mix here as man and brother.

Here men are neither bad nor good. It's just a common meeting.

Where friendliness is understood. Without a formal greeting.

Here ancient enemies may sink. Forgotten be, and often.

The fellow with a grouchy fink. May find his manner soften.

The match to light a pipe of clay. That ancient is and thencey.

Come from a shark across the way. That otherwhere in alchemy.

And if tobacco should be short. Most any one is willing.

To come across and be a sport. Just so a pipe needs filling.

The paper gladly he divides. And to a neighbor passes.

You know a man can't read both sides. With just one piece of glass.

The blind and low their wits unheath. To mingle in the joking.

For every one is underneath. The fellowship of smoking.

Thick, Soft, Fluffy, and no Dandruff—Use Parisian Sage.

If your hair is losing its natural color, coming out and splitting, or lacks that enviable new gloss and beauty, do not despair—pretty hair is largely a matter of care. If it is too thin, make it grow. If it is harsh and brittle, soften it up—lubricate it. If you have dandruff it is because the scalp is too dry and flakes off. Freshen up the scalp with Parisian Sage—all dandruff disappears, falling hair and itching head cease, your hair is doubly beautiful.

Parisian Sage, sold by H. E. Jones and at all drug counters, is just what you need—a large bottle costs but 50 cents. It surely makes the hair lustrous and seem twice as abundant. You cannot be disappointed in Parisian Sage.

An Armory For Digby

Interviewed in Halifax on Saturday it was suggested to Hon. Col. Sam Hughes, Minister of militia, that Yarmouth, Digby and Pictou want armories.

"Yes," said the minister, "and in due time those points will get them. That is the intention and when details can be arranged they will be built. My idea is to have many of these armories all over the country. They will be built primarily for the training of the militia, but will be available also for agricultural fairs or other public purpose of a useful character, thus serving a double mission and becoming in many ways a source of real benefit to the community."

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of the Courier:

DEAR SIR:—Regarding the letter in your issue of July 3 criticizing the brown tail moth work in and about Weymouth. Your correspondent, whom I have interviewed, does not know the brown tail moth when he sees it. He was mistaking the nests of American tent caterpillars which are very common this year in neglected orchards. The branch road to Mistake Settlement was thoroughly worked as was every other section in Digby county. The inspectors are very proud of the work which they have done in Weymouth in the past, reducing the number of nests from 1,600 in 1913 to about 500 in 1914. The statements made by your correspondent are incorrect throughout.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

DON'T let your temper run away with you lest the stern guardians of the public welfare send a policeman to bring you back.

A balloon is like a grocery store in this—it takes something besides faith in it to keep it up.

When you want to lose a friend ask his advice occasionally and then pointedly ignore it.

We sometimes think that happiness is merely a state of not having toothache.

Why is it that our friends remember and insist always before our faces all our fool acts and sedulously keep in the background our clever strokes?

We are invariably astonished to see how readily the other fellow swallows the pill when it is sugar coated.

What worries the small boy is he is so apt to get an appetite when he is such a long distance from the cooky jar.

Some brides buy their house furnishings on the installment plan, while others get theirs with soap wrappers—coupons.

We often forget to buy the things we really need, but never the things that we really desire.

If we took as good care of ourselves as we'd like the boss to take care of us it would help some too.

Security.
I smile at the approaching storm,
Its coming calmly note.
I know while I am keeping warm
It will not get my coat.
So at the crashing of its jaws
I most serenely grin
And shyly hug myself because My winter coat is in.

I do not fear the chilly breeze,
Its swift and sudden change,
While I am sitting at my ease
Heads by parlor range.
The weather maker may supply
The kind that haunts the pole
On chilly mornings. What care I
My bin is full of coal.

Oh, how complacent is the man
Who has a fixed estate,
Who doesn't have to scheme and plan
Nor sit at work's gate.
For him the cover is in bloom
Though out of doors is snow,
And there is sunshine in the room
If coal is down below.

But wait; I had not told it all.
There is a little more.
Outside I thought I heard a call
Is some one at the door?
There always is a flaw to find
In every ruby set,
And that recalls it to my mind—
The coal's not paid for yet!

Ready For a Plunge.
"How do you like the fashionable bath, Uncle John?"
"Why are the women only half dressed?"
"They are in the social swim."
"Oh, that is why they have on their bathing suits."

Belated Relief.

"Mister, I haven't eaten for three days."
"Men have lived thirty days without eating."
"But I can't do it."
"How do you know till you try?
Come back at the end of thirty days, and if you find you can't do it I will buy you a meal."

Expanded.
Sing a song of sixpence,
Oh, but that's too small
Of the dollar now we sing
If we sing at all.

Good Reason.
"Brown?"
"Yes?"
"Why are you wearing a last year's overcoat?"
"Because there's a next year's mortgage on my house."

Bait.
"He is a fortune hunter."
"What is he hunting with?"
"A left over title, an old house and a peck of brass chains."

That Kind Never Does.
"I don't believe in luck."
"I see you have always had good luck."

Alternative.
If life were love and love were life,
As poets say they are,
A man would have to have a wife
Or be a funeral star.

LIFE INSURANCE FOR YOUR HOUSE

A TREE often lives several hundred years. Nature has protected the wood by covering it with bark to shield it from the elements.

When trees are sawed into lumber, Nature's protection is lost. Therefore, the wood used in your house must be paint protected to insure it against wear and weather.

"100% Pure" Paint is a good life insurance policy on your house. It protects against decay—pays for itself, over and over again, in the repairs it saves—adds value and beauty to the building as well as long life to the wood.

Martin-Senour "100% Pure" Paint is what we recommend for all outside and inside painting. "100% Pure" is genuine White Lead, Oxide of Zinc, purest Colors, and Linseed Oil—ground to extreme fineness by powerful machinery—the combination of which produces a paint that is greatest in hiding, covering and wearing qualities—and makes it the cheapest to use as well as the most satisfactory.

Let us help you in selecting colors for your spring painting.

ONLY SIXTEEN, GIRL VERY SICK

Tells How She Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

New Orleans, La.—"I take pleasure in writing these lines to express my gratitude to you. I am only 16 years old and work in a tobacco factory. I have been a very sick girl but I have improved wonderfully since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am now looking fine and feeling a thousand times better."

—Miss AMELIA JAQUILLARD, 3961 Tchoupitoulas St., New Orleans, La.

St. Clair, Pa.—"My mother was alarmed because I was troubled with suppression and had pains in my back and side, and severe headaches. I had pimples on my face, my complexion was sallow, my sleep was disturbed, I had nervous spells, was very tired and had no ambition. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has worked like a charm in my case and has regulated me. I worked in a mill among hundreds of girls and have recommended your medicine to many of them."

—Miss ESTELLA MAGUIRE, 110 Thwing St., St. Clair, Pa.

There is nothing that teaches more than experience. Therefore, such letters from girls who have suffered and were restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be a lesson to others. The same remedy is within reach of all.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

The Summer Diarrhoea of Children.

(Issued by Department of Public Health, N. S.)

When the baby has loose green passages, it means that he is sick and needs medical attention. The disease may be mild at first and the baby often shows no other signs of illness than diarrhoea. There may be no fever. Such a baby often becomes dangerously ill in a short time. Send for a doctor.

Sixteen per cent. of the deaths during the first year, and thirteen per cent. of the deaths during the second year of life, in Nova Scotia, are due to infantile diarrhoea.

The simplest cases of vomiting and diarrhoea during the summer should not be neglected. Every such case should be treated as an emergency.

Stop the milk at once.
Give a teaspoonful of castor oil, and feed nothing but barley water until the child has been seen by a doctor.

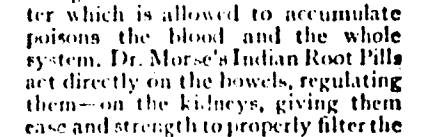

Do not give any cordial or teas or diarrhoea mixtures.
Never give any medicine other than castor oil to the baby except upon the doctor's orders.

If the baby has fever, it is ill and you should consult your physician immediately.

The Department of the Public Health, Nova Scotia, issues a pamphlet on the Care of the Baby, which may be had free upon application to the Provincial Health Officer, Halifax, or to any Medical Health Officer in the Province.

TALE OF A FOWLING PIECE.

(Written for the Courier.)

In the year 181—on July 15th, I was a very happy boy. On my twelfth birthday I had been presented with a small fowling piece which I had often envied and admired over my uncle's mantel piece. He informed me one day that he had obtained it from a pawn broker's shop at Liverpool, G. B.

My uncle was a retired sea captain and had made many deep water voyages in y olden days and how often he thrilled me as he told me of his visits to China and Australia, and of his encounters with pirates in the straits of Java and in the Chinese seas. In those days every ship carried what was called a long Tom and which they often had to use when beset by these corsairs and outlaws. But now he had settled down with a competence saved for his old days in his loved seaport village and was happy in telling of the reminiscences of the past. It was the happiest hour of the day when about eleven o'clock my mother would allow me to go over and call upon Uncle Zed. When the weather was fine I was always sure to find him on the verandah of his home, either reading the paper of the day before or some interesting book filled with tales of the ocean and the great world beyond.

"Now my boy," says he on this day, "I want to tell you how I became possessed of the little gun which I have seen you admire so often. Well one evening while the ship 'Emblem' of which I was then in command was lying in one of the docks of Liverpool and I was alone in my cabin poring over some accounts, I was somewhat startled to hear the sound of swift running footsteps over head and almost instantly the entrance by the door of a thin, attenuated young man. He was panting, and his voice trembled as he said, 'For God's sake hide me, Captain. I am innocent of any wrong doing, but I have not time to explain to you at this time, but, oh for the love of heaven and those whom you hold dear, do not allow me to be taken by those who seek me.'"

He had a hunted look in his face and reminded me of the look which one often sees in the eyes of the animal when pursued by its foe. There was not the vicious appearance of the criminal in his looks or actions. I had not much time for thought as I heard voices saying, 'He came this way, Sir. I seen him and he must be aboard of this ship somewhere. If so, we will soon have him.' Another voice returned, 'I saw at once that if I were to be any help that it must be done at once, so I said go in there and keep quiet, and at the same time opening the door of my sleeping room. He stepped inside my room. I told him to get into my berth, which he did. I pressed a spring and slowly the front of the upper berth dropped down covering and hiding him completely and leaving an upper berth exposed to view. When finishing my cabin I had this arrangement perfected by an ingenious young man in Clare. It was his own idea and I gave him the sum of ten pounds for the contrivance. Many a time afterwards when I had articles to keep from prying eyes it only became necessary for me to use the spring and everything was as safe as if in my own room at home. I had scarcely taken my seat again at the table and picked up my pencil when there was a tap at the cabin door. 'Come in,' I said, and the door opened and a policeman entered, followed by three evil looking dock loafers. In the evening these were generally kept out of the docks by the gates being closed, and only a small wicket or gate being left opened which was guarded by a watchman. However, at this time they were allowed to enter by the watchman at the solicitation of the lobby. I asked why I was honored by one of the city policeman and why this retinue of attendants. Had he come to arrest me, and if so on what charge. He smiled for an instant and remarked that he was in pursuit of a prisoner who escaped from him while in custody and on the way to the station where he was to give him in charge for stealing a ham from in front of a grocery store on Victory street. We were near the dock entrance at the time of escape and bolted in before the watchman could hinder. These wharf rats, he continued, were passing at the time and I called upon them to assist me in finding him. One of them, he continued, insisted that he saw him enter this door or at least he lost sight of him about that time. Well, I said, in a sharp voice and looking rather annoyed, if he entered that door he must be here still. There are the mates' rooms and here is mine, and I opened my door and bade the officer enter and convince himself whether the fugitive was in either my room or the mates. He entered, looked very carefully, even feeling behind the clothing hanging up, and then as carefully looked over the mates' rooms, but finding nothing said that the man must have been mistaken. The man said no, he was sure that he was not as the moon was shining and he plainly seen him disappear at the cabin door. I looking up smiled and observed to the officer that in all probability these fellows were pals of the thief and deliberately threw him off the scent on purpose while the criminal escaped. As the trio were a hard looking lot and would hardly bear close inspection, after a few moments he apparently was of the same opinion and asking my pardon for intruding upon my time he departed, taking the wharf rats with him.

I knew that it would be impossible for the man to leave the dock in the evening as the watchman would be on the lookout, and even the next day no doubt he would be in danger of arrest. I also saw that if caught on or near the ship that my position would be unenviable and I might be hauled before the magistrate for assisting a criminal to escape from an officer who was only performing his duty. After 10 o'clock I closed the shutter of my cabin window and entering my room, I soon raised the front of the berth to its accustomed place and bade the fugitive come forth which he promptly did. He commenced to thank me for protecting him, but I cut him short by demanding a lucid explanation of why he had been arrested. While the tears streamed down his face he confessed that the officer's story was true. That he did take the ham as represented but was forced to do it, to obtain food for his famishing wife and children. That for weeks he had tried for work, but without success. No one seemed to want him. The position for which he was best suited was as tutor for the children of some gentleman's family, but the shabbiness of his attire militated against him and at work that required strength and force no one would employ him. He was the youngest son of well to do parents who had given him an education, and when he was twenty two years of age, they had both died within a few weeks of each other. On settling up the estate there was a little left and each one had to make a start for himself. One had gone to America, one to Australia, while he had tried to get work at home. He had married and now had three children to look up to him for the necessities of life.

He had tried for work at the docks but his strength could not stand the hard labor required, so he was soon discharged. He had during the last few weeks pawned about everything that was of any value and after seeing his wife and family without food for three days he had resolved that even if he would get something even if he had to steal it. He did not think that in this world where there was plenty to eat that it would be wrong to take a little something to keep them from starving to death. He was willing to work, but no one would have his services. The result I had seen, I saw that the man was telling me the truth and I rang the bell for the steward, at the same time telling the man to step back into my room for a few moments and close the door. On the steward answering the bell I told him to bring me some cold meat, bread and hot coffee, as I would have something to eat before retiring for the night. The steward soon returned with a liberal repast. I told him I would not require his services again for the night and that he had better turn in and that the dishes could remain there until the morning. I called the man and placed him at the table and I do not think that I ever enjoyed watching a man eat as I did Henry Carson that night. The tears ran down his face, as he wished that his wife and children might be there to share with him the food they so much needed.

The mates being absent I told him to occupy the second mates' room for the night. The first mate had gone with a friend to stay the night whilst the second mate had gone for two days to visit his folks in Birmingham. I also told him to remain quiet until after the first mate had come and gone out to attend to his duties in taking account of the cargo that we were discharging at the time. Next morning I gave him his breakfast in his room and told him to remain where he was until I returned. I then went ashore and taking a bus proceeded to where he told me his family were rooming. It was a sad scene met my view. A fireless house and a famished family. I gave the wife a sovereign, after explaining in a few short sentences where her husband was, and told her to get something to eat and some coal and told the children that their father would be home soon and I left them as the mother was calling down blessings on my head. On my way back to the dock I stopped at a ready made clothing store and purchased a cap and rough ulster coat so that it might disguise the man when he went ashore. When I came aboard I told him what I had done and arrayed him in the coat I had brought, and put the cap on his head and then at a time when everyone was busy I saw him depart for his home. Before he left he put his hand in his pocket and producing a pawn ticket told me that it was for a gun which had been presented to him by the County Squire on his twenty first birthday. He had done the old squire a trifling service some years before in notifying him of one who was poisoning on his grounds. He said that the time for redeeming it would be up in a few days, and that it had cost twenty five pounds and was an elegant fowling piece. I forced two more sovereigns on him which he seemed very reluctant to take. I told him to call around on the morrow if he found no work and perhaps I might be of assistance to him. As soon as I saw his safe departure I proceeded to the pawn shop on Water street and presented my ticket and a sovereign on which the pawn broker handed me the gun which you have so much admired. The stock was beautifully inlaid with silver and the barrel was of the best silver steel and it was truly a fine fire arm. The man told me that I was just in time, that next day would have been too late. He offered me ten pounds for it, saying that he had been offered twelve pound ten for it by a gentleman who was looking at it only yesterday. I declined his liberal offer and took the gun as it was in its case and carried it aboard of the ship.

Now, my boy, you have the history of the gun which you have seen hanging over the mantle piece and which today, as it is your birthday, I am going to make you a present of and hope you will never forget its history. But before closing I would say that the man returned the next day and taking my consignee into my confidence he at once gave him a situation at his own home and at a good salary to teach his children. He had been looking for such a man for some time. Ten years afterwards being in Liverpool I called on James Whitney, the consignee, and asked him of the whereabouts of Henry Carson. He informed me that he had been sent for by the brother who went to Australia to take charge of his sheep ranch situated at a small place called Dorking about twenty miles from Sydney and Carson with his family had now been gone about two years and from a letter received shortly after his arrival we learned that his brother had amassed a fortune and being unmarried was in a position to help him and his children to a competence.

I thanked my uncle for both the story and the gun which I hope the reader will appreciate, that is the story.

Saint John Exhibition.
The dates of the Saint John Exhibition are from September 5th to 12th and from reports received from Exhibition Headquarters, this year's Fair promises to be especially interesting. All available space was spoken for and booked remarkably early and several applicants are now on the waiting list in the hope that readjustments can be made which will permit of giving them space. The demand has been so great, that not one foot in the use of anything which is not a bona fide exhibit with the sole exception of food concessions. It is the intention this year to concentrate all the amusements in the Midway and before the Grand Stand and to have these on an even better scale than heretofore, the main buildings being reserved so as to be truly representative of the manufacturers, farmers and business houses of the Maritime Provinces. From present forecasts the Exhibition will this year reflect in a comprehensive manner the optimism and progressive ness that has taken such strong hold during the last few years of the people in these provinces.

Saint John has a reputation to sustain with regard to its Exhibition and seems determined that the one to be held this year from September 5th to 12th will maintain this reputation.

Grand Religious Demonstration at St. Bernard's, Digby Co.

(Special to the Courier.)

A general wave of mirth and rejoicing seemed to have spread over the parish of St. Bernard's and Bellevue's Cove, Sunday, 5th inst. On that memorable day the sun rose bright, and nature seemed to have turned out all the resplendency of her charms and glory to enhance the festival. Early in the morning, from "La Pointe a Major," (the cradle of the revival of the French Acadians at St. Mary's Bay) clear up to Bellevue's Cove, was one continued string of flags and bunting. The colors of Albion intermingled with those of France and of the French Acadians were everywhere floating gaily to the breeze. The object of such rejoicings was the celebration of the first solemn High Mass of the Revd. Michel Doucet, ordained to the priesthood, by His Grace Mgr. Blanche at Church Point on the 29th ult. The Revd. Fr. Doucet is a son of Mr. Antoine Doucet and a great grandson of the late Major Doucet, of "La Pointe a Major," so called after the Major.

The parish church of St. Bernard's is after the old style, being the only one of remaining primitive churches built at St. Mary's Bay, the others having given places to richer and more imposing structures. Yet, the plainness of the building and the old style of the altars seem to lead a charm to the splendor of the imposing ceremonies. Indeed, at times, one would have thought himself in one of the cathedrals of the old world.

The altars had been tastefully and artistically decorated by the ladies of the parish with ferns and flowers intermingled with numerous tapers and candles. Above the main altar gaily reflected, what was once the pride of the parish, "La Fleur de St. Bernard," of historic memory. The impressiveness and solemnity of the ceremonies, the ministers of God vested in cloth of gold, all this pomp seemed to give a foretaste of Paradise. At ten o'clock, and at the joyful peal of the bell, the new elect of the Lord made his entrance processionally into the church, at the singing of the "Veni Creator." Then Mr. Willie Bellevue accompanied by two other young men of the parish advanced to the altar, and presented the young priest with an address expressing the joy and gratitude of all to see another of their number consecrated to God. At the same time a purse was also offered. Then began the solemn High Mass. The Revd. Fr. Doucet was the officiating priest, with Fr. Paulin, of St. Ann's College as Deacon and the Revd. Denis Comeau eccl. of Meteghan as Sub Deacon. The Revd. Fr. Morrell also of St. Ann's was Master of ceremony. In the sanctuary were also present the Revd. Fr. Melanson, rector of the parish, the Revd. Fr. Theriault, rector of Chateaucroix, Halifax Co., and the Revd. Ambroise Maillet eccl. of Salmon River. At the gospel the Revd. Fr. Paulin made a stirring and impressive sermon on the dignity of the priesthood, taking as his text, "Tu es sacerdos in eternum," "you are priest for all eternity." After Mass a crowd of invited guests made their way to the Glebe House, where the Revd. Fr. Melanson had prepared a banquet that could do honor to royalty. Over one hundred invited took place around the tables covered with the most delicious viands and pastries, and all the delicacies of the season. Nothing was spared to make everyone feel at home and comfortable. In the afternoon Revd. Fr. Theriault, rector of Pympton, arrived accompanied by his mother. At half past three, solemn vespers were chanted, (the Revd. Fr. Paulin presiding at the organ), followed by the solemn benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, and then the day of rejoicing was over, having passed as must pass all joys of this earth. The Revd. Fr. Doucet will be at Meteghan, Sunday 12 inst., where he will also officiate on Solemn High Mass. Your correspondent had the pleasure of visiting for the first time the little chapel erected at "La Pointe a Major" to mark the first French Acadian cemetery at St. Mary's Bay. He had also the pleasure of handling the sword of the old Major, as well as antique dishes over one hundred and fifty years old. These antique treasures are kept at the old mansion, now inhabited by Mr. Anthime Doucet, ex municipal Councillor. Your correspondent can not close this article without offering the Revd. Fr. Melanson and the other members of his household for the generous manner in which he was entertained. Also to the Revd. Fr. Doucet, to Mr. Anthime Doucet and family. His first visit to that historic spot will long linger in his memory, and will serve to demonstrate that the old Acadian hospitality still lingers in that spot dear to every Acadian heart.

The Banook Returns

MR. ROMANS AND GUESTS HAD A PLEASANT OUTING.

The cabin cruising yacht Banook, owned by Mr. W. M. Romans, of Bear River, which has done some real cruising in the past, returned Sunday afternoon from a very pleasant cruise along the South Shore to Halifax. She left Bear River, June 22nd, Digby, 26th; Yarmouth 27th; Lockport, 28th; Lunenburg, 29th; Mahone and Chester, 30th, arriving at Halifax July 1st.

The return trip was commenced from Halifax, July 4th; Bridgewater, July 5th; Lockport, July 6th and 7th; Shelburne, July 8th; Oakes Harbor, July 9th; Yarmouth, July 10th; Meteghan and Weymouth, July 11th and Digby and Bear River, July 12th, thus ending the entire cruise without a bit of motor trouble, although some of the gasoline purchased along the coast was indeed poor stuff and the prices were different in nearly every port. There was less than two hours sailing in fog during the entire trip and very little rough weather. The average speed was about 9 knots. Mr. Donaldson remained at Halifax and Miss E. J. MacDonald joined the party on the return cruise.

Yacht Comfort, of Boston, in Port.

The cabin cruising yacht Comfort, of the Dorchester, Mass., Yacht Club, arrived here Monday. This up-to-date cruiser, which was also in Digby last year, is owned by the Banks Bros., formerly of Windsor, N. S., but who have spent the greater portion of their life time in Massachusetts. She had on board the following yachtsmen: W. H. Banks, C. F. Banks, E. B. Banks and Edward Kerr. The Comfort sailed for Windsor Tuesday noon, accompanied by the Windsor yacht Zila and Iola, which had been here for more than a week and whose owners and guests were referred to in our last issue.

All three boats contained a very general crowd of yachtsmen who became very popular among the officers and members of the W. N. S. Y. C. all of whom will always find a hearty welcome at this port.

DROWNED AT BARTON OF A LOCAL NATURE

Small Boat, Over Loaded, Capsized and Only One Occupant Saved.

REGINALD MINER, AGED TWENTY-FOUR, LOST HIS LIFE IN ATTEMPTING TO SAVE HIS SIXTEEN YEAR OLD BROTHER CLAUDE—KINNETH PHRY SWAN ASHORE—NO BOAT AVAILABLE TO RENDER ASSISTANCE.

A double drowning accident took place at Barton about 5:30 Tuesday afternoon. Three young men, Kenneth Perry, of Barton, and Reginald and Claude Miner, of Bolyton street, Chestnut Hill, Mass., were out motor boating. When returning from the boat anchorage to Handford VanBlarcom's wharf in a small punt or tender, during a rough sea kicked up by a strong westerly breeze, the little craft, which was leaking and overloaded, sank and capsized throwing its occupants into the water. Young Perry swam ashore, but had no boat available to render assistance. He ran to Mr. VanBlarcom's store, the nearest building, which was some distance away, and reported the accident.

It appears that Reginald, who was a good swimmer, endeavored to rescue his brother, with the result that both were drowned.

Their bodies were recovered about 7:45 p. m. during the ebb tide and conveyed by J. P. Rice to his undertaking rooms in Digby.

An inquest was held before Coroner Daley Wednesday evening, the following being a copy of the verdict:

We, the jury empanelled to inquire into the drowning of the brothers, Reginald and Claude Miner, 24 and 16 years old respectively, at Barton on the 14th of July 1914, are of the opinion, after hearing the evidence, that the drowning was accidental, that the tender in which they endeavored to reach the shore was too small to carry three people in the rough water they had to contend with, and consequently it was a warning to others using small or insufficient tenders and over loading them.

Reginald H. Miner was 24 years of age and his brother, Claude, 16. They were the sons of the late Dr. Miner and were summering in Barton, their native village, accompanied by their widowed mother, Mrs. Emma Miner.

They are survived by their mother, three sisters, Gertrude, Mildred and Georgie, all of whom reside at 1202 Bolyton street, Chestnut Hill, Mass., and one brother Willis, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

The funeral takes place from their summer home at Barton Sunday afternoon at 2:30 with interment in the Barton cemetery. As Reginald H. was a member of an Oddfellows' lodge in Brooklyn, Mass., the services will be conducted by St. George Lodge of Oddfellows, who will meet in Union Hall, Barton, Sunday afternoon at 2:15. All visiting brethren are especially requested to attend.

Provincial Exhibition.

Departing from the usual custom of opening on Wednesday the Provincial Exhibition will open at Halifax on Saturday. This change has been made for two reasons, viz., in order to provide a circuit for exhibitors and to enable the majority of the exhibitors of live stock who claim the time that their exhibits have been kept at the fair was too long.

Preparations are now well under way and the prospects for a good show are assured. Many changes will be made in the manufacturing building and the agricultural building. The Dominion Experimental Farm will put on an educational and demonstration exhibit along the lines of field husbandry, chemistry, botany, horticulture, bee-keeping, etc., which should prove interesting to all engaged in agriculture.

The fisheries building has been taken in charge by the fisheries committee of the Board of Trade with Mr. F. W. Bissett as superintendent, and this means a successful show in this industry.

The amusement end will be changed somewhat from the past and the old "Fountain Show" will be transformed into a tent show consisting of animal acts, deep sea divers, motor drome, wild west and many other attractions.

The grand stand attractions will be of the very best obtainable, while the horse racing programme will be equal to any in the province.

The evening show will close with a splendid fireworks display put on by the reputable firm of the International Fireworks Co., Jersey City.

The "Ready Now."

[Yarmouth Times.]
The schooner "Ready Now," Captain Denton, arrived from Westport yesterday with 200 quintals of dry pollock. An amusing story—the truth of which we cannot vouch for—was told the Times this morning as to how this unusual name was adopted. Her owner, so the story goes, has always had a preference for American built vessels, and he purchased this schooner, then under another name, in Maine. He took her to St. Andrews to be registered and after picking out a number of names which were all rejected by the authorities on account of duplication, finally decided on Blackbird. He submitted this, only to be informed that that name was taken by another vessel. In high dudgeon he declared his intention of letting the vessel lay at the wharf and going home, leaving the officers to pick out a name for themselves. A little later they wrote him asking him if he was ready to receive a name. He replied on a postal, "Yes, ready now," and ever since then the vessel has been called "Ready Now."

Those present returned to their homes at a late hour wishing "Abbie" many happy birthdays.

ST. JEAN DE MATHA, JAN. 27th, 1914. "After suffering for a long time with Dyspepsia, I have been cured by 'Fruit-a-lives'. I suffered so much that I would not dare eat for I was afraid of dying. Five years ago, I received samples of 'Fruit-a-lives'. I did not wish to try them for I had little confidence in them but, seeing my husband's anxiety, I decided to do so and at once I felt relief. Then I sent for three boxes and I kept improving until I was cured. While sick, I lost several pounds, but after taking 'Fruit-a-lives', I quickly regained what I had lost. Now I eat, sleep and digest well—in a word, I am completely cured, thanks to 'Fruit-a-lives'."

Fact No. 2 Regarding Amherst Pianos Factory

The factory is built in accordance with the most modern plans and is 50x200 feet and is three stories high. The plant is so arranged that the piano starts at one end of the factory and is finished at the other end.

The power used by the factory is supplied at a very low rate by the Chignecto Power Company. This Company's plant is the only one in the world where the power is generated at the mouth of the pit. The power is transmitted directly to the factory where each machine is a separate unit, this does away with pulleys and straps.

An expert English Electric Engineer stated that the plant is the most economically placed he has ever seen in this country or Great Britain.

Saw Dust and the Migration of Fishes

To the Editor of the Courier:

SIR: Since the present government has been in power every effort has been made to stop saw dust and other rubbish from polluting the waters of the bay. Since last year we have seen herring, mackerel, shad and other fish plentiful in these waters, and that, at a season very much earlier than they used to be. Now, I would not like to mix up politics with these matters, but I am sure the policy of the government on that score has been alright for the fishermen. Honors should be given to those who merit them. That is why in your issue of the 3rd inst. I have seen an article in which I beg to differ from the opinion of the writer. Speaking about the plentifulness of fish in the Bay, the writer concludes, "The fishermen believe these good catches to be the result of Fishery Officer Torrie's effort in prohibiting saw dust from entering the bay via the numerous fresh water streams." Now, we do not for a moment want to lessen Officer Torrie's efforts in any way. If he has done anything and we are sure he has, toward stopping saw dust, yet in the district of Glace where the rivers and outlets are more numerous than in the district of Digby, Mr. Torrie has nothing whatever to do with the stopping of rubbish from the river. We have a Fishery Officer here in Glace, entirely independent of Mr. Torrie, who has always done his best to have the law enforced, and who has always been ready to act on the first advice. This officer is Fishery Officer Aymar, of Meteghan, and if the stopping of saw dust from the rivers has contributed to the present abundance of fish in the bay, he is to have the thanks of the fishermen of Glace. Mr. Aymar, although in being firm in having the law enforced, has still dealt with all concerned in a friendly and genial manner. That is why we could not see all the laurels go to one man, when the other merits an equal share and even more, as Mr. Aymar has more outlets to watch in his territory than has Mr. Torrie. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am yours sincerely,
FISHERMAN.

Meteghan, July 13th, 1914.

To the Editor of the Courier:

DEAR SIR:—To the stranger at Westport yesterday was presented, for the first time in its history, as far as your humble servant knoweth, the spectacle of an open and bold violation of the sanctity of the Lord's day. Men were to be seen setting their nets and catching herring for gain. From some of these nothing better could be expected, but for some of the men that were breaking not only the laws of God but the laws of our Country, it was not looked for. I would ask the magistrates, I would ask the deacons of the two churches, I would ask the better class of the community, are you going to allow this thing to continue? You noticed yesterday how quickly the younger ones patterned after their elders. These men should be notified at once what they should expect by a recurrence of this desecration of our day of rest. This thing tends to the moral degradation of the community as a whole, and not only the law breakers, but the law abiders have to suffer the stigma thus put upon our village. The men some of whom make the Sunday hideous with their drunken revelry, who pull their neighbors' lobster traps and who take every chance to get unobserved the property that belongs to the better class of our community. In every community such people exist but it has now reached to that stage that requires the strong hand of the law to reach out and teach the transgressors a lesson. In the years that are gone we had a few men who kept these evil deeds in fear. Is there not a man left to don the mantle of those brave men of old. I await the outcome.

Westport, July 13th, 1914.

To the Editor of the Courier:

DEAR SIR:—Allow me to express my appreciation of your editorial remarks as regards the motor boat in your last issue. You certainly put it plain, and clear to those who are daily using this boat in their business. I am convinced that if those who use the unmuffled motor fully understood the delicate membrane of the ear they would hasten to stop the noise and clatter that they are continually subjected to. In a few years, when they ascertain that they are beginning to be unable to hear distinctly, they will regret "when too late," that they did not use the muffler on their engines. And could they but realize what the continual noise of 80 to 100 boats commencing sometimes as early as 2 a. m., and continuing until 7 a. m. every morning means to those who are sick or unable to sleep, I am convinced that they would try to mitigate the nuisance as far as they were able. No doubt but that the day will come when legal restraint will be put upon them, but how much better to commence of their own accord and stop it. I do not myself believe that there is any appreciable speed gained by an unmuffled motor boat over the muffled ones.

E. C. BOWERS.

Westport, July 13th, 1914.

FALLING HAIR AND ITCHING SCALP

Needless - Use Parisian Sage.
Now that Parisian Sage can be had at our drug counter it is certainly needless to have thin, brittle, matted, falling or faded hair. No matter how unsightly the hair, how badly it is falling or how much dandruff, Parisian Sage is all that is needed. Frequent applications and well rubbed into the scalp will do wonders—it acts like magic. The hair falls out, is renewed and stimulated to grow new hair, itching scalp, dandruff and falling hair cease—your head feels fine. Best of all, the hair becomes soft, fluffy, abundant and radiant with life and beauty.
You will be surprised and delighted with Parisian Sage. Try at least one fifty-cent bottle from H. E. Jones, he will refund the purchase price if you are not satisfied.

THE most practical tanks, whether for water or sewage, are built of concrete. They never rust, rot, dry out or leak. They never need new hoops or paint. They last a lifetime and seldom require repairing, which makes them the cheapest tanks that can be built.

Clean, Sanitary Watering Troughs are just as necessary as the animals that drink from them. The farmer's best interests are being served when his stock is insured a plentiful supply of clear, clean water from a trough that is permanent and sanitary.

"What the Farmer can do with Concrete" is the name of a handsome free book that tells all about concrete tanks, watering troughs and other uses of concrete that will save every farmer many dollars. Write for it to-day.

CORRESPONDENCE.

The Late Edw. Cossaboom

To the Editor of the Courier:

DEAR SIR:—In your issue of the 3rd as regards the loss of diver's life on the Empress of Ireland, reference is made to his belonging in the Maritime provinces. I wish to say that Edward Cossaboom was born in Digby Co., the name of the village I have forgotten. There is left of the family three brothers and three sisters and a widowed mother. One sister and two brothers live with the mother, the remainder of family are married and all live on Grand Manan. The family moved here about twenty three years ago when the children were all small. Their father, whose name was Cornelius, worked a farm on Ross Island at the mouth of Grand Harbor. Later when the boys were grown they bought a home near this farm about a third of a mile from this Light House, where the widow now lives. Mr. Cossaboom having died some four years ago. Edward and I were chums at school when boys, and worked together after we became grown. I have been his tender when diving about Grand Manan, cleaning the bottom of wells.

He has been in the diving business for eight years, was thirty three years old. For the last three years he worked with a Wrecking Co. in Halifax. This spring he went with the New York people.

He was buried here on Sunday June 28th, by the Knights of Pythias. The largest procession of K. P.'s that has been seen here, led the largest funeral to date, which speaks for the high and good opinion the people of this place had of him.

The Cossaboom family are a very quiet people, respectable and industrious. Edward was a brave man in the diving suit, fear, he knew nothing about. He weighed 180 lbs., was a strong man, would stand erect with his diving suit on and walk the deck of a vessel before going down, when other divers are almost helpless, but with all his courage and strength he met a hard, sad death.

Yours respectfully,
HARRY E. McDOWELL.

SUFFERED

For Years, Restored To Health
by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Canadian women are continually writing us such letters as the two following, which are heartfelt expressions of gratitude for restored health:

Glanford Station, Ont.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and never found any medicine to compare with it. I had ulcers and falling of womb and doctors did me no good. I suffered dreadfully for years until I began taking your medicine. I also recommend it for nervousness and indigestion." — Mrs. HENRY CLARK, Glanford Station, Ont.

Chesterville, Ont.—"I heard your medicines highly praised, and a year ago I began taking them for falling of womb and ovarian trouble.

"My left side pained me all the time and just before my periods which were irregular and painful it would be worse. To sit down caused me pain and suffering and I would be so nervous sometimes that I could not bear to see any one or hear any one speak. Little specks would float before my eyes and I was always constipated.

"I cannot say too much for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, for there are no medicines like them. I have taken them and I recommend them to all women. You may publish this testimonial." Mrs. STEPHEN J. MARTIN, Chesterville, Ontario, Canada.

THE BIOGRAPHY OF

A FINNAN HADDIE.

(By Roy M. Whyte, in Canadian Fisherman for June)

Since I was taken from my native element I have been through various and thrilling experiences which have greatly changed my appearance, so that I do not in any way resemble my former self. In a vague manner I have followed the novel and, to me, most absurd operations to which I have been subjected. But at last I have a feeling that the end is near; for I am rapidly getting warmer and I know that my temperature must be much higher than it has ever been in the past. But, before I depart, I think a truthful account of what happened to me, since I was taken from my happy home in the cool waters of the Atlantic, might be welcomed by many, as there are approximately about three million similar experiences annually from the province of Nova Scotia.

I was lured into temptation one fine morning the last of February while leisurely swimming along over our favorite early spring haunts, known to the fishermen as "Brown's Bank," which is situated about fifty miles south of Cape Sable, N. S. My temptation came in the form of a strong appeal to my stomach, and feeling fairly hungry after making the migration from the shores of the Bay of Fundy to Brown's Bank, I made a vicious bite, at a most choice and harmless looking piece of herring, and immediately I realized that my doom was sealed, for I could not dislocate that fatal mouthful, nor tear myself away from the strong little thing that became fastened in my gills!

After tiring from my struggles for freedom, I could do nothing but hang there and await further developments. I had not waited long when I could feel myself being drawn to the surface of the water, and then I noticed that I was caught on a machine handled by a couple of those wonderful creatures called men. I afterwards heard them refer to the thing on which I was caught, as a "trawl." I was then tossed into their "dory" and found myself among a lot of other fish, most of which were haddock. I never felt lonelier after that, for I always had plenty of company until just a few minutes ago, when I was separated from my last few choice pals. They were very faithful pals too, for we all stuck together closer than brothers in our little fifteen pound box, in which we travelled from the western end of Nova Scotia to the city of Montreal.

It will be necessary for me to hurry this narrative, as my environment continues to grow hotter, and I am of the opinion that I am being cooked!

When I had the privilege of becoming one of the unfortunates which landed in the dory, it seemed to be well loaded and was therefore rowed about half a mile to the vessel, where these men had their headquarters. When we came up alongside the vessel I noticed that there were eight or nine other dories and that they all had caught full loads, so that altogether there must have been about six or seven thousand fish, which I think they considered a pretty good "set." We were then taken from the dories and tossed up on the deck of the vessel where we certainly received some severe treatment. Our boat being one of the last to arrive at the vessel's side, we landed on top of the pile of fish on deck and were therefore the first to be attended to by the bunch of men who gathered around us. I was suddenly grabbed by the head, my throat was quickly cut, my belly ripped open, and I was then passed along to the operating table to another fellow, who seemed to take pleasure in relieving me of my gills, entrails, etc., and even my heart, which, at least, I was pleased to note was thrown back to the happy waters. I was surprised that they did not behold us as but, we were allowed to retain our heads, so we were still able to think clearly. As soon as this carving was over we were dropped into the hold of the vessel, where we were carefully stowed in chopped ice. To keep us from slipping and sliding about the hold in rough weather and thereby injuring us and therefore endangering the vessel, we were fed in pens which held about a thousand fish each. I was buried in ice and other haddock were fed over me so that soon all was darkness. I could not accurately estimate the time we remained in the vessel's hold, but I don't think we could have been down there more than two or three days.

Our one hundred and fifty mile sail to market was uneventful so far as we in the hold were concerned. After fourteen hours of swift sailing, we could feel the vessel haul in to her wharf and make fast. We had to remain in our dark and chilly surroundings while the captain hustled to his prospective purchasers of the trip and proceed to give them a faithful account of the stormy weather, poor bait, hard luck fishing, etc., and, of course, the high price he expected to get for us poor, half frozen things in the hold. But in due time a price was evidently agreed upon for a faint ray of light suddenly came through the open hatch and we were soon being hoisted up in big baskets and carefully weighed in 200 pound lots on the wharf. We never had a chance to warm up, for we were immediately laid to rest again in more chopped ice.

Next day the monotony of this ice treatment came to an end; for we were taken from the ice to the "dressing room." Here the sharp knives again ripped us from our already mutilated bellies down to our very tails. Then, after the dark skin was removed from our napes and we were thoroughly washed, the most severe shock was at hand—we were suddenly hebeheaded and dropped into a tub of strong pickle! Our friends on Brown's bank would have been unable to recognize us could they have seen us from that moment, for we were as flat as flounders and of almost triangular shape. Still the end was not yet. After a two hours soaking in the brine we were strung out on long rods and hung over a hard wood fire, which was arranged so as to create a thick smoke. The smoke curled upwards and around us slowly until our remaining senses were unable to act, and soon we passed into a sort of smoky dream.

On our revival we happily found that the doors and ventilators of our smoke house had been "thrown open and the fresh air was again replacing the smoky atmosphere. This refreshed us somewhat, so we were again able to follow proceedings. We were carried out on rods and taken to the packing room and hung on the cooling racks for an hour or so. Then we were taken down and assorted and weighed and carefully packed in fifteen and thirty pound packages. Ours happened to be a fifteen pound box and contained three other haddies besides myself, all of which were selected, as I understood we were being packed under a very high class brand.

We were then treated to our first and only ride over the railroad and next morning, which was four days from the time we left Brown's Bank, we landed in the city of Montreal. Fish seemed to be in good demand at that time for we were not long displayed by one of the merchants when we were bought and sent to a swell restaurant.

Evidences now not only too plain, convince me that I have been cooked, for I am being carried on the installment plan, by pretty girls to a large and classic dining room, where, I am of the opinion I shall get mine. To confirm all this I have just noticed an item on the menu, reading: "Creamed Finnan Haddie."

But, thank goodness, I make a happy exit from this world, for I just heard my consumer remark: "What a very delicious morsel."

Saint John Exhibition.

The experimental farm system of Canada is co-operating this year in making the Agricultural Department of the Saint John exhibition a larger and more complete feature than has been the case for some years. Owing to the early dates on which the exhibition must be held in order to secure reasonable weather for those attending the display of agricultural products has during the last two or three exhibitions not been as comprehensive as the exhibition authorities would like but this year a special effort is being made and the Experimental Farm System will make an exhibit embracing the following departments:—

Animal husbandry, field husbandry, forage plant cereal, botanical, horticultural, poultry, chemical and bees.

This exhibit will be in charge of special officials and will be of a high educational value and of great interest to all classes whether farmers or not. It is also planned to supplement the value of the exhibit by literature especially prepared and also by special lectures to be delivered under the supervision of the Provincial Department of Agriculture. In these days it is the up-to-date and scientific farmer who produces the goods that command the best prices and these lectures will describe the latest and most effective ways of getting the desired results. Other features are also under contemplation which will indeed make the Saint John Exhibition of 1914 an Agricultural Exhibition in fact as well as in name. The dates are from Sept. 5th to 12th.

Bural Decease of Annapolis

The clergy of this Diocese met in chapter at Annapolis on Monday and Tuesday, July 20 and 21, under the presidency of the Rev. H. How, Rector of St. John's. The Bishop of King's College were welcome visitors. Messrs. Jones and Jeffery, lay readers, were also present.

A portion of the Greek Testament was, as usual, read and translated, followed by a critical and devotional paper on the passage read, by the Rev. W. S. H. Morris.

Other interesting and instructive papers included the following: "Non-Resistant Judgment," by the Rev. H. How; "The Eucharist," by the Rev. W. S. H. Morris; and "Confirmation," by the Rev. Dr. Hunt, of King's College, Windsor.

A long and instructive Conference was held, respecting the series of Parochial Missions to be held in every parish in the Diocese during the latter part of October. The Bishop informed the clergy as to the missioners who will visit each parish, and a discussion took place concerning the preparation for the mission.

On Tuesday at 8 a. m. the Holy Communion was celebrated and the sermon delivered was preached by the Bishop.

The Bishop administered the Rite of Confirmation on Monday evening at Christ Church, Lower Granville, and on Tuesday evening at St. Luke's Church, Annapolis Royal.

Death of Gilbert Ellis

Mr. Gilbert Ellis died at his home, Shore Road, at 4 o'clock Sunday morning after a lingering illness, and considerable suffering. He was 68 years of age. The deceased was well known in Digby and vicinity and also among our summer visitors as he had during the past few years carried out many sailing and fishing parties. He leaves a widow and three daughters, Mrs. Richard Dunn, Mrs. O. F. McBride and Mrs. A. J. Dillon, all of Digby. He is also survived by two brothers, James and David Ellis, both of whom reside on the Shore Road. His eldest brother, the veteran life keeper at Point Prim, died nearly two years ago.

The funeral, which was very largely attended, was held from his late home Sunday afternoon with interment in the Methodist cemetery, the services being conducted by Rev. Robt. McArthur, assisted by Rev. Mr. Lindsay. The pall bearers were Sheriff Smith, Capt. Howard Anderson and Ansel Snow, of Digby, and Mr. Carmen O'Dell, of Annapolis. The floral tributes were beautiful.

Another Visiting Yacht

The best equipped visiting yacht in Digby this season arrived here Tuesday morning from St. John and sailed again at 7 o'clock a. m. the following day. Her name is the Gertrude IV and she had on board beside her owner (Mr. Geo. W. Butts) and crew, Mrs. Butts and Miss A. Butler. The Gertrude IV, which is constructed of steel, is 94 ft. over all, 14 ft. beam, 5 ft. draft, was built in 1914 and is powered with two Standard gas engines and the necessary electric lighting and fittings. Mr. Butts is a member of the New York, Larchmont, Hunt, Kingston and Manhasset Bay Yacht Club and was commodore of the Huntington yacht club in 1908. The Gertrude IV being flag ship of that squadron the first season she was launched. Her owner expressed his appreciation of Digby harbor and our beautiful basin and regretted that his previous plans made his visit at this port a short one.

Ashore Near Freeport

SCHR. GRACE DARLING AND CARGO OF HARD COAL A TOTAL LOSS.

A special telephone message to the COURIER yesterday morning announced that the schr. Grace Darling, Capt. King, with hard coal from New York for Hains Bros., Freeport, was ashore on Dartmouth Point, at the St. Mary's Bay entrance to Grand Passage, near Pointe Island light.

The vessel struck late Wednesday night or early yesterday morning, filled with water and will probably prove a total loss. It is reported that vessel and cargo are partially insured. The Grace Darling was built at Lower Selmah, N. S., in 1901, was 82 ft. keel, 25 ft. beam, 8 ft. deep, registered 97 tons, hulled from Parrsboro and was at one time owned by Josiah Soley, of Economy, N. S.

Twenty-Five Years Ago Today

Twenty-five years ago today (July 24th) the str. Evangeline, in charge of Capt. Isaiah Robinson, towed to Digby from Annapolis two scows, one of which was the locomotive "Western" and the other the tender. This was at that time considered an up to date engine, manufactured at Portland, Maine, for the Western Counties Railway, now the D. A. R. The old "Western," for many years, did good service, but is now, we understand, "side tracked" in the Kentville yard. The night was a dark one, accompanied by thunder and lightning, but the trip between Annapolis and Digby was uneventful. We might also mention that the "Western" was in Digby on her 17th birthday in charge of Driver "Dan" Ashe, one of the most popular and efficient engineers on the road. Mr. Ashe now resides in Yarmouth.

Ladies' Day Cruise

THE WESTERN NOVA SCOTIA YACHT CLUB'S OUTING A BIG SUCCESS

The first regular "Ladies' Day Cruise" in the history of W. N. S. Y. C., an outing which in future will be a regular annual feature of the Club, took place last Friday afternoon, and in spite of the threatening weather and an occasional shower of rain, was certainly a big success.

Between seventy-five and a hundred availed themselves of the opportunity to enjoy a sail on the Basin and a picnic on shore.

The squadron got away about three o'clock and after making a run out in the Bay, turned off Point Prim and anchored off the Life Saving Station at Bay View.

Here luncheon was served on shore, which proved a very enjoyable event, every one present having a delightful time. It was here that Mr. W. J. Agate, the popular proprietor of the Waverly Hotel (in fact the only Digby hotel man who is a member of the Club), rendered valuable assistance which was much appreciated by the officers and members and their guests.

After supper the Bear River portion of the fleet and a couple of the Digby boat owners asked to be excused and sailed earlier than the remainder of the fleet, which returned to the club anchorage about 7.30 p. m.

The committee in charge, and all who were present, wish to thank Capt. John W. Haselden and his life saving crew, especially the steward, Mr. Edward Bremner, who did everything in their power to entertain the visitors, many of whom had never before been shown through the station.

The Club's next social event takes place a week from next Monday, Aug. 3rd, which includes the annual sail to Annapolis and dinner at the Queen Hotel, returning home the same evening.

Pictures of the start on Ladies' Day are for sale at Yates' Studio. The slides will be shown on the curtain at the Bijou Dream tonight and will no doubt draw a big audience.

The boys were laid in one grave alongside of their father, the late Dr. Miner whom we all knew so well. The flowers were lovely. The funeral was the largest ever seen in Barton. CORRESPONDENCE.

A Letter From Mr. Cripps.

To MY PATRONS.—It has been my good fortune to arrange a special engagement of the world's famous Contralto Eva Mylott, at the Digby Dream for one night, Saturday, August 1st, thus giving you an opportunity of again hearing this great artist who charmed our province by her noble singing and fascinating personality last fall.

Miss Mylott will be assisted by Master Oscar Wasserberger, the Austrian violinist, and Miss Rita Narelle, pianist, the combination being the strongest and most unique that has ever visited Nova Scotia.

Oscar Wasserberger, the well known mysterious 11 year old infant prodigy is an Austrian by birth and comes from a family of musicians. He is heir to a five thousand dollar Guarnerius violin presented him by a rich New Yorker at the age of ten for his wonderful playing of "Bruch's Concerto." For a boy of 11, Oscar has a wonderful repertoire, plays the concertos of the great composers, and has memorized the works that are found in the programmes of the great players of the day. Oscar stands foremost in the great rank of present violinists, is an accomplished technician, plays with soul and depth and always with impeccable intonation and style that is best described "Eclectic." He is a favored pupil of professor Phillip Michel.

Miss Rita Narelle, the accomplished pianist, who accompanies Miss Mylott on her tour, is a good medalist of the Royal College of Music, London. She is an Irish-Australian of much beauty. She captivates her audience the moment she enters upon the stage. She has played at the prominent Queen Hall, Concerts, England, and has toured Australia and America. For an artist so young Miss Narelle is a poet of the piano and plays with exquisite style.

At the prices I am advertising, the theater should be packed to the doors and I respectfully request those who intend favoring us with their presence to secure their seats in advance.

Thanking you for past support and hoping for a continuance of the same, I am,

Respectfully yours,
JAMES F. CRIPPS.

Warning.

To the Editor of the Courier:

DEAR SIR.—The short road between the Townsend Cottage and Bay View, is not safe to pass for teams or autos.

Recent rains, have washed away a tree, part of the road, at the chute near Bryant's turnout (so called because it was made by order of the late Miss Bryant).

It is at present very dangerous for any team or a serious accident may happen any time.

Pedestrians are also warned to be careful.

July 23rd, 1914.

Meeting of Digby County Baptists at Little River.

On Monday, July 13th, the Baptist churches of the County sent delegates to attend the quarterly meeting at Little River. The village looking at its best this time of the year, the weather being perfect, all conspired to make the quarterly meeting a success. On Monday evening two addresses were given. Rev. F. H. Eaton, of Freeport, spoke on the benefit to the home church coming from giving, and Rev. W. S. Tedford, of India, spoke on the needs of that country. On Tuesday morning the general business was transacted. Officers were elected for the coming year as follows: Rev. L. H. Crandall, president; Rev. H. L. Kinsman, vice president; Rev. F. H. Eaton, sec. treasurer.

A very favorable report was received from the various churches, telling of the work accomplished in the different corners of the County. In the afternoon an inspiring missionary meeting was held under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Union. The church was filled in the evening of Tuesday for the final meeting of the series. The principal address was delivered by Rev. L. H. Crandall, of Bear River, on "Our duty to the children of the next Generation."

The following resolution was adopted by the quarterly: "We, the members of the Digby County Baptist Quarterly Meeting in session, desire to place ourselves on record as strongly opposed to the growing evil of Sabbath breaking, as follows:—

Resolved: We as a denomination believe that Christianity requires that the seventh portion of our time be specially devoted to religion, and that all secular pursuits be laid aside on the Lord's day, and

Resolved: The Lord's day act of Canada makes it unlawful to do for gain, or employ any other person to do, on the Lord's day any work, business, or labor, and

Resolved: Our religion requires us to observe our Country's laws, and Resolved: We believe the due observance of the Lord's day is essential to the true development of Christian character, and the rising generation.

Therefore Resolved: That we urge upon our people the duty of keeping holy the Sabbath Day.

Fact No. 2 Regarding Amherst Pianos Factory

The factory is built in accordance with the most modern plans and is 50x200 feet and is three stories high. The plant is so arranged that the Piano starts at one end of the factory and is finished at the show room.

The power used by the factory is supplied at a very low rate by the Chignecto Power Company. This Company's plant is the only one in the world where the power is generated at the mouth of the pit. The power is transmitted direct to the factory where each machine is a separate unit, thus doing away with pulleys and straps.

An expert English Electrical Engineer stated that the plant is the most economically placed he has ever seen in this country or Great Britain.

WE would be dead willing to do any thing our friends want us to do if it involved neither trouble nor expense.

A judicious flatterer adds a spice of adverse criticism to his praise.

Some people can't be a success at anything, even at being a good failure.

Did you ever see a confirmed knocker who didn't get a rap every time he turned around?

Self confidence alone never moved any mountains.

You may be sorry you are alive, but don't let your next door neighbor guess the truth.

Some women just worry to keep in practice.

"What are you lying there on the ground for, young man?"

"I am taking the sun cure for a headache, father."

"Well, you get up and get to work or you will be taking the medicine from the toe of my boot in about a minute."

Know What They Deserved.

"Did the story end happily?"

"Sure. Everybody killed himself in the last chapter."

"Horrible!"

"You would say they got their just deserts if you had read the book."

Appropriate.

"Why do you bury yourself here?"

"Because I like it."

"Oh, I see."

"See what?"

"You are a dead one."

No Cause.

"My debts don't worry me."

"Why?"

"They spend all their energy upon my creditors."

Football.

If the kickoff is a pickoff.

How they tumble for the scramble.

To the mother of common sense.

Brain and muscle in a tussle.

All in action and distraction.

None and neither come together.

That's some showing. Glads to crumble.

As they tumble. Oh, what slaughter!

Quick, bring water! Loose his sweater. Now he's better.

See him rally. For the rally. Finger broken. But unspoken. Is complaining. He is straining. For a final. At the apex of the foam. Happy omen. (Oh, the wonder!) Cut his letters. Wildly shouting. "Keep them dead!" "Fine and dandy!" "You're the ready!" "All together. Chase the foe!" "Through their line!" "Make them sign up for a part in Kindergarten!" All is ended. Tunes unended. Need attention. But why mention? Now the victory! Now she licked 'em.

AILING WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Mrs. Doucette Tells of her Distressing Symptoms During Change of Life and How She Found Relief.

Belleville, Nova Scotia, Can.—"Three years ago I was suffering badly with what the doctors called Change of Life. I was so bad that I had to stay in bed. Some friends told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped me from the first. It is the only medicine I took that did help me and I recommend it. You don't know how thankful and grateful I am. I give you permission to publish what your good medicine has done for me." Mrs. SIMON DOUCETTE, Belleville, Yarmouth Co., Nova Scotia, Canada.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dizziness, and fainting, and sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude, and dizziness, are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period in life when woman's great change may be expected.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound invigorates and strengthens the female organism and builds up the weakened nervous system. It has carried many women safely through this crisis.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Joys.
You needn't be rich to be happy. There are joys for the poorest of fellows. If only he'll think them worth while. There are blue skies and sunshine plenty. And blossoms for all to behold. And always the bright day-outnumber The dark and the cheerless and cold.

Sweet sleep's not a gift of the wealthy. And love's not alone for the great; For men to grow old and successful It isn't joy's custom to wait. The poorest of all has his blessing— His richer companions may crave; And many a man who has riches Goes sorrowing on to the grave. You'll never be happy tomorrow If you are not happy today. If you are not doing the joys that are present And sighing for joys far away. The rose will not bloom any fairer. In the glorious years that may be, Great riches won't sweeten its fragrance Nor help you its beauty to see.

Today is the time to make merry. 'Tis folly for fortune to wait; You'll not find the skies any bluer If ever you come to be great. You'll not find your joys any brighter. No matter what fortune you win; Make the most of life's sunshine this minute. Tomorrow's too late to begin.

It leads to indigestion, biliousness, impure blood, bad complexion, sick headache, and is one of the most frequent causes of appendicitis. To neglect it is slow suicide. It is related that one candidate in the election had a bunch of plump and pleasing girls canvassing the old men for him. A blooming typewriter ham, moff of 19 called at the residence of one old chap, and the door was answered by a sour faced elderly dame. "Does Mr. Smith live here?" asked the young thing. "He does," replied the griffin. "Can I see him?" "You can't." "Could you tell me what party he belongs to?" "I am the party he belongs to," and the door was slammed.

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of the Courier:
Spread of the Truth.

To the Editor of the Courier:
DEAR SIR:—The light is breaking. There has been a wonderful change in medical opinion as to the medicinal or food value of alcohol in the last twenty years. Twenty years ago it was almost universally used in pneumonia, diphtheria, fevers and all debilitating diseases. Now we know that instead of helping a patient over a danger spot, it lessens his chance of recovery.

In my judgment, the greatest medical discovery in recent times is the fact that alcohol, whether in the form of beer, wine or spirits, lessens the power of the body to defend itself against the germs of disease.

Truth makes very slowly against ignorance and prejudice but truth always prevails and when that truth permeates the public mind, we will have a healthier, happier and more prosperous people.

Some time ago I went to a hospital and investigated the amount of alcoholic liquors given per patient, and I found that the quantity was just about one sixth of that which had been given ten years ago. Recent investigations in the hospitals of old London show that there also the amount of intoxicating liquors prescribed has fallen off wonderfully. Surely the truth is spreading and so we take courage and do our best to hasten that glad day when the poisoning of the innocents shall cease.

By the word innocents, I mean the babe that it is poisoned before it is born so that it is handicapped all its life with weakness of mind and body and often something worse than weakness. The young man who takes his first drink is generally innocent of the wrong he is doing himself and his country. If he knew the truth, he would not touch it on any account. Then the hostess who entertains her guests with drink is generally innocent of the harm she is doing.

The great need of the people is knowledge of the truth and we plead that everyone who knows the truth will do what he or she can to spread it.

Sunken Empress Turning Over.
NORTH NOW WITHIN 35 FEET OF WATER'S SURFACE

OTTAWA, July 24—The broken body of the Empress of Ireland will not be at rest in her watery grave in the St. Lawrence, for the wreck is turning over from her original position in the bed of the river. The ship has been lying on her side in the position in which she foundered after the Storstad had ripped her open amidships.

The Marine Department has been notified that her position is changing. She appears to be slowly slanting up, and the department is advised that the tops of her masts are already within thirty five feet of the surface of the river.

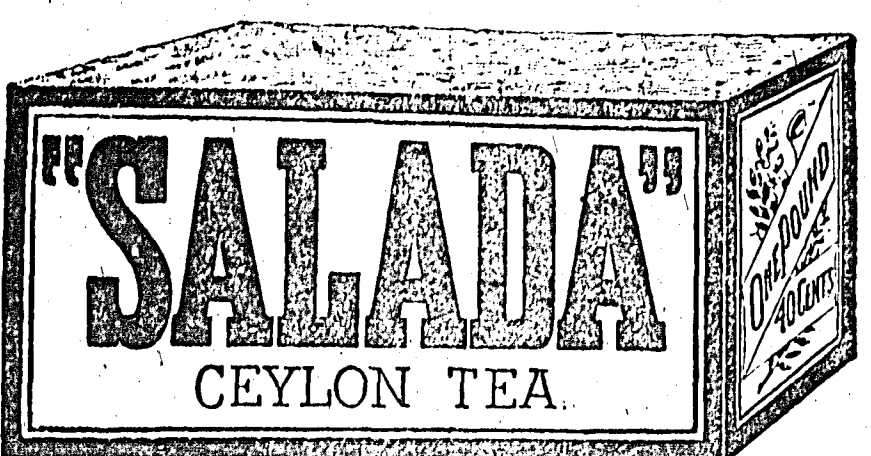

The movement of the wreck thus creates a possible danger to navigation, and the department of marine and fisheries issued instructions today that the masts would be blown out of her by dynamite. Officials here do not know what is bringing about the change in the position of the wreck, but it is surmised that the salvage operations and the strong current at the bottom of the river may have combined to turn the ship over.

New Wireless For Cape Race.
OTTAWA, July 23rd—The government is erecting a new wireless station at Cape Race which will practically double the present radius of the station and make Cape Race the first point of land communication for all vessels sailing from or to North Atlantic ports. The new equipment will have a radius of at least five hundred miles instead of the present distance of three hundred miles. Even with the comparative limited radius of the present station news of almost all the Atlantic wrecks are now picked up by the Government operators at Cape Race. The new towers will be ready for operation next month.

Stole American Rollo.
DUMFRIES, Scotland, July 24—David Graham Carmichael, a silk importer, of New York city, today pleaded guilty before the county court judge at Ayr to the theft of a brass handle from an antique bureau in Robert Burns' cottage in Ayr. He was fined $125.

An attorney who represented Carmichael stated that the accused was the worse for drink when he took the article as a souvenir.

More Plague Victims.
NEW ORLEANS, July 23—Bubonic plague claimed its fourth death victim here today. The death occurred at the same address of which Helen Sorrell, aged 10, developed the disease last Saturday and the victim was the child's grandmother, Regina Schmidt, aged 73.

Saturday's Sailing Race.

Saturday's Swampscott sailing day race, under the auspices of the W. N. S. Y. C., opened the series for this season which had been delayed two weeks on account of unfavorable weather. The afternoon was a delightful one with just enough wind to make the event an interesting one. The preparatory signal was hoisted at 3:15 and the starting gun at 3:20 announced that the race was on. The following boats, all owned by Americans summering at Harbor View, or Argonaut Knoll, Smith's Cove, crossed the line:

No. 1. Percy Howe

No. 2. Raymond Shipman
No. 3. Chas. F. Chase
No. 4. Geo. Chard

The course was a triangular one, the first leg of which was a run to leeward. The boats made a pretty run to the Bear Island buoy, two of them turning almost exactly at the same time and the others at less than a minute apart. The heat to the westward was soon accomplished and the reach from Hardy's Point home was quickly sailed, the boats finishing in the following order:

No. 5. time, 1:31.00

No. 6. 1:04.00
No. 7. 1:00.00
No. 8. several minutes later.

The points were won as follows: Shipman, 4; Chard, 2; Howe, 1; Chase, 1.

The next race takes place tomorrow afternoon and it is hoped the weather will again be suitable for this interesting event. Five boats will probably take part in tomorrow's race.

"Meet Me at Saint John"

"Meet me at the Saint John Exhibition" is one of the most popular expressions heard in the lower provinces at the present time. All the space in the big Industrial Building and in the Agricultural Hall has been taken and the entries in the other Departments are coming in fast. The big midway will surely be a revelation in the amusement line as the entire midway privileges have been sold to a New York concern. Saint John will surely sustain its reputation for its fairs.

RINGS OF AIR.

How to Blow Out a Lighted Candle Twelve Feet Away.

The distance from which an average man can blow out a candle rarely exceeds three feet. If he is an adept at blowing smoke rings, however, a candle may be extinguished at twelve feet. Of course the smoke isn't necessary. An ordinary air ring will do and has the added advantage of being invisible. Simply pucker the mouth as you would to blow a smoke ring and expel air in a quick, sharp manner. It takes a good deal of practice to do it.

An easier way to show the effect if one is doubtful is to place a sheet of cloth or canvas over the open side of a box otherwise closed, making a small, round hole in another side. Then tap in a sharp manner on the canvas and invisible air rings will be produced. If the hole is pointed at a person's face and the rings are made he will feel them as they strike his face. Only a few trials are necessary to extinguish a candle at twelve feet. To render the rings visible a smudge may be burned in the box, or a small dish of ammonia may be placed side by side with a small dish of hydrochloric acid, the combined fumes of these liquids making a dense smoke.

The explanation why one can put out the candle at twelve feet is that the energy of expulsion is conserved and practically all retained in the smoke ring, while a simple blowing has to set in motion a whole stream of air and is therefore wasteful. —Chicago Record-Herald.

BOTH SIGNED THE NOTE.

A Financial Formality That Puzzled Both Clay and Webster.

The men in official Washington seem to have less of a halo about them than in the good old days, when the towering form of Webster or Henry Clay would attract more attention on Pennsylvania avenue than a brass band or a tango dancer in 1914. In a bank the other day I saw a note indorsed jointly by Henry Clay and Daniel Webster. The story is told that Clay asked Webster to indorse a note with him for $500.

"All right," said the studious and thoughtful Webster, "I'll do so, Clay, if you'll make it $1,000 and give me half." Clay agreed to the compact, and the two set out for Banker Riggs, signed the note with due solemnity and secured the proceeds. As they swung across the threshold out again on the avenue and divided the money Webster in his ponderous voice remarked to Clay, "Henry, why do you suppose Mr. Riggs wanted our names on that note?"

"It baffles me, Daniel," responded Clay. "Perhaps he desired some moment to hand down to posterity, for I cannot at this moment conceive how it is going to be paid for the present generation."

The canceled note is today a valued souvenir, worth many times its face, because of the illustrious signers.—Joe Mitchell Chapple in National Magazine.

Twain's Rate.

Mark Twain went to just one automobile show in his life. He went with a Detroit friend. After he had been shown the cars and other sights the friend said: "Come on over here. The greatest salesman in the automobile business is working, and I want you to hear him."

They went to a place where the salesman was talking to a possible customer about the merits of his car. He was rattling outward so fast that Twain gasped.

"Sakes alive," said Twain in his slowest drawl, "if my publishers ever heard me talk as fast as that man does they wouldn't pay me 80 cents a word or even 2 cents. They'd make me produce words about a hundred for a nickel." —Saturday Evening Post.

Scandal.

How is it that the evil which men say spreads so widely and lasts so long, while our good, kind words don't seem somehow to take root and bear blossom? Is it that in the stony hearts of mankind these pretty flowers can't find a place to grow? Certain it is that scandal is good brisk talk, whereas praise of one's neighbor is by no means lively hearing. An acquaintance grumbled, scolded, deviled and served with mustard and cayenne pepper excites the appetite, whereas a slice of cold friend with currant jelly is but a sickly, unrelaxing meat.—Thackeray.

Well Acquainted.

An American girl was taking a Liverpool girl home to the States with her and toward the end of the journey remarked: "It is delightful to feel that one is so near home. We ought to sight Sandy Hook this afternoon."

"Shall we?" exclaimed her friend.

"That will be nice. Don't tell me which one he is. I can always pick a Scotsman out of a crowd." —Chief Steward.

Strong Presumption.

Lawyer—You say that the defendant ran his automobile into the show window of a millinery store; but that doesn't show he was intoxicated, does it? Officer—Well, no; but when I arrested him he was trying on the hat! —New York Globe.

A Hard Case.

"His wife earns her own money." "Indeed! I did not know she was employed." "Oh, yes; hard at it all the time." "What does she do?" "Works him to give up." —New York Journal.

Wait is a hard word to the hungry.—German Proverb.

ROBBING THE COAL PILE.

Smoke That Goes Up the Chimney is Fuel Thrown Away.

For the benefit of any one who may not see the analogy between a robbed coal pile and a smoking chimney it may be briefly and simply explained.

The visible part in smoke is nearly all carbon, either as soot or clinder, and carbon is the principal combustible part of coal—i. e., the useful part, the part capable of yielding heat. Carbon completely burned forms an invisible gas, carbon dioxide; therefore when over the gases from a stack show black they contain carbon, which indicates that complete combustion has not taken place in the boiler furnace.

In other words, all of the available heat in the coal has not been realized. It is the same as though the corresponding part of the coal fed into the furnace had been thrown away, for, although it has been thrown away up the stack beyond recovery. Is this, then, so very different from robbing the coal pile?

The owner who through ignorance allows conditions to exist which are not favorable to the most economical operation of his boiler furnaces, although he is unwittingly robbing himself, is nevertheless stealing from his own coal pile.—Power.

CURIOUS PIPEFISH.

The Males Have Pockets In Which They Carry Their Young.

The kangaroo has always seemed to have the monopoly of that convenient way of carrying its babies in a pouch, but it has been discovered that a fish has the same useful receptacle, which it uses for the same purpose. The pipefish, as it is called from the length of its jaws, has a pocket on the under side of its body nearly half its length. It is found in the male species only and is the only part of its body which is unprotected by large flat plates, which take the place of scales in its protective armor.

If a pipefish is taken from the water and its little ones shaken out of the pouch back into the water they always seem either unable or disinclined to run away. But if the father is placed in the water again all the small fish immediately swim back into the pouch. These curious little creatures have prehensile tails, which they use to hold on to the seaweed to protect themselves from being carried away by the tide. The pipefish is a foot in length and an inch in thickness. But, unlike the eel, it has a very long jaw and the peculiar defensive armor already mentioned.—New York Sun.

Facts Versus Fancies.

Richard Lo Gallienne was sympathizing with a young writer whose book of poetry had been refused by twelve publishers.

"Real lovers of poetry," said Mr. Lo Gallienne, "are unfortunately becoming rare. Too many people nowadays are like the judge."

"This judge was recommended by a poetic friend to read Shelley. The great man of the law said he supposed he ought to read a little poetry, and, having heard so much of Shelley, he would try him."

"And what do you think of it?" said his friend to the judge after he had waded through a few pages of "Epipsychidion." "Isn't it beautiful?"

"Well, well, oh, yes. I darest it," said the judge. "But what I want to know is when are we going to get at the facts?" —Washington Star.

The Supreme Court.

The supreme court of the United States is supposed to be strictly non-political, free from all parties and above all parties. It was designed by the fathers of the constitution to act as the "governor," or "flywheel," of our system of government, maintaining justice and right in the midst of the wrangling factions and clashing interests. According to the theory, the supreme court is to know nothing but the constitution and the laws that are made in pursuance thereof and in every matter that is brought up before it to hold the balance even, regardless of everything else.—New York American.

A Golf Outrage.

The Earl of Wemyss was on a five golf course on one occasion accompanied by an old caddy. His lordship got his ball on one occasion so near the hole that to play it was, as it appeared to him, superfluous. So he simply tipped it in with the toe of his boot.

The caddy revolted instantly, threw down the clubs and looked horrified. When he found words to speak it was to say, "Hang it, me lord, gowf's gowf!"

Her Goodness.

Bridley—My wife is a very good cook. Wise—Got out! Her mother told me she was just taking her first lessons when you married her. Bridley—Exactly. She was good enough not to continue her lessons on me.—Philadelphia Press.

Not to Blame.

"My dear, there's too much caloric in this soup."

"There! I told the cook you would rather have it seasoned with parsley." —Baltimore American.

Smartness.

When people who think they are smart meet people whom they recognize as smarter than themselves they call them "disagreeable." —Detroit News.

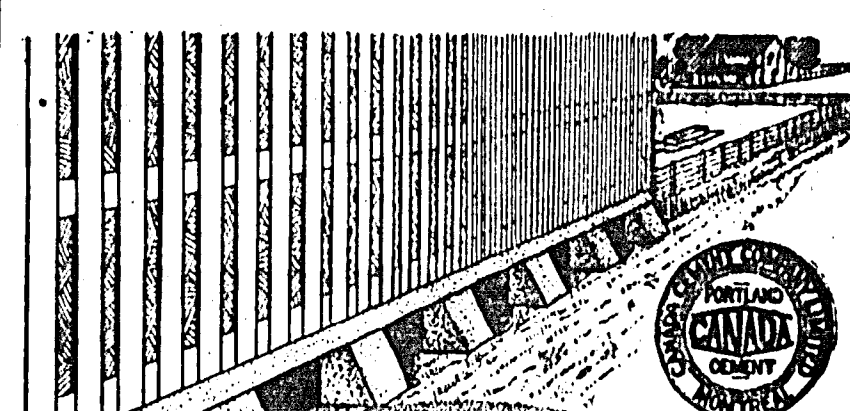

The thoughts of his heart, there's no the wealth of a man.—Burns's Bay.

Why is it that the tenderest feet must tread the roughest road?
Why is it that the weakest back must carry the heaviest load?
While the feet that are surest and truest have the smoothest path to go,
And the back that is straightest and strongest has never a burden to know.
Why is it that the brightest eyes are the ones soon dim with tears?
Why is it that the lightest heart must ache for years?
While the eyes that are hardest and coldest shed never a single tear.
And the heart that is smallest and meanest has never an ache to fear.
Why is it that those who are saddest have always the gayest laugh?
Why is it that those who need not have always the "biggest" laugh?
While those who have never a sorrow have seldom a smile to give,
And those who want just a little must strive and struggle to live.
Why is it that the noblest thoughts are the ones that are never expressed?
Why is it that the grandest deeds are the ones that are never confessed?
While the thoughts that are like all others are the ones we always tell
And the deeds that are worth little praise are the ones that are published well.
Why is it that the sweetest smile has for its sister a sigh?
Why is it that the strongest love is the love we always pass by?
While the smile that is cold and indifferent is the smile for which we pray,
And the love we kneel to and worship is only common clay.
Why is it that the friends we trust are the ones that always betray?
Why is it that the lips we wish to kiss are the lips so far away.
While close by our side, if we knew it, is a friend who loyal would be,
And the lips we might have kissed are the lips we never see.
Why is it that the things we can have are the things we always refuse?
Why is it that none of us lead the lives if we could we would choose?
The things that we all can have are the things we always have,
And life seems never complete, no matter how long we wait.

Deafness Cannot be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, it causes a humming sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous lining.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular.

DIGBY WEEKLY COURIER

Digby, August 7, 1914

—European powers are now at war. News from the front is eagerly sought for. It is the subject of conversation over the entire civilized world. Great Britain declared war on Germany Tuesday night, and fighting has already commenced. How long this war will last nobody knows, but we trust it will be a short one. The COURIER, being a weekly publication, it is impossible for us to devote as much space to it as a daily paper. We will, however, publish a synopsis of the week's events.

A Serious Affair.

SOMEONE ENDEAVORED TO BURN DAKIN BROS. HARDWARE ESTABLISHMENT.

Mr. Woodford Connell, night operator at Digby's telephone exchange, and Mr. George German saved Digby from a big conflagration last Monday night. It appears that some one (and we regret to state anyone would be bad enough to do it) placed a bunch of oakum, saturated with kerosene oil, under Dakin Bros. hardware and lighted the same about 11:45 Monday night. The blaze was fortunately discovered by the above young men who were at the telephone office just across the street and who with great promptness extinguished the fire before any damage was done to the building.

A message was sent to Chief Police Bowles who was soon on the scene. No arrests have yet been made. This is the most serious matter that has happened in the history of Digby and it is up to the authorities to make a thorough investigation.

If Dakin Bros. establishment had been burned, it would have been a disaster. The Yacht Club building, owned by Mr. Daley, Mrs. Daley's building containing his electric light office and Yates' studio and J. L. Peters' carpet store would have been destroyed.

The wind was easterly at the time and it is doubtful if the buildings on the other side of the street could have been saved, all of which are within a few feet of each other.

Public opinion is very much aroused over this affair and all the merchants and other business men of the town will probably hold a public meeting within the next few days to ascertain what steps will be taken towards a thorough investigation.

In the meantime Chief Police Bowles is gathering the evidence, and the town and the town has placed on an additional night watchman who patrols the principal business section.

Visiting Yachts in Port

Last Sunday morning the Boston yacht Comfort, of the Dorchester, Mass., Yacht Club, sailed from Digby for her home port via Yarmouth. She was accompanied several miles down the Bay by the Oakeside, flagship of the local club. The Comfort had on board, besides her owners, Messrs. W. H. Banks and C. F. Banks, Mr. L. N. Geldert, of Boston, a well known newspaper man, and Mr. George W. Graham, of Windsor, the well known commercial traveller. Their visit at this port was a pleasant one and we trust they will favor Digby with a call during next season's cruise.

Sunday afternoon the New York steam yacht Kefton arrived here from Bar Harbor via St. John. This yacht has visited Digby several times with her owner Mr. Roswell Eldridge, but this season she is chartered by Mr. W. C. Ladd, of New York, who had with him Mrs. Ladd and Miss Lewis. The Kefton carries a crew of 20 men and is commanded by Capt. J. W. Stafford, who has with him as chief officer, Mr. Roy W. Spinnery, of Argyle, N. S. Mr. Spinnery made many friends during his short stay in Digby. He is an experienced yachtsman and has visited many parts of the world on some of New York's largest cruisers. The Kefton is a well equipped steam yacht, 100 ft. long, 20 ft. beam with a draft of 8 ft. 6 in. Her owner greatly appreciated the use of the W. N. S. Y. C's. landing slip while in port. She sailed again at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning.

South End Lawn Tennis & Quilt Club

The attractive grounds of the South End Lawn Tennis Club will be thrown open to the public on Saturday afternoon next when tea will be served by the ladies, and all who wish may enjoy a game of tennis, quilts or croquet on payment of a small fee. It is hoped that a large number will avail themselves of the privilege of attending on Saturday afternoon, and thus help to swell the funds of the Tennis Club, which are somewhat low at the present time on account of the large expenditure this summer. Admission to grounds and tea 25c.

Another Good Entertainment For Digby

Sgt. Stasio Berini and Mde. Louise Tozier Berini will give a musical entertainment in the Bijou Dram Theatre, Digby, Tuesday evening, August 18th. These artists of international fame, sing in big cities only, but spend their summers in Bear River, a few miles from Digby. They have consented to give an entertainment here on the 18th and should be greeted with a full house as our town people must be interested in a musical event of this nature.

Services at the Disciples' Church.

Services will be conducted every Lord's Day this month by Rev. E. B. Barnes, of Richmond, Kentucky. On Sunday morning he will speak on "Heaven" and in the evening on "The Modern Revolt Against the Church." This revolt is expressed in such books as "The Inside of the Cup," "That Printer of Udell's," "The Calling of Daniel" and "The Call of the Lilies." This will be a frank discussion of the present status of the church, and all are cordially invited. Hours of service 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

Sixty Years a Queen.

THIS PRODUCTION IN SEVEN ACTS WILL BE SHOWN IN THE BIJOU DRAM THEATRE TONIGHT.

To the generation of to-day Victoria's serene reign has passed into history. There are, however, many yet living in this country, as well as abroad, who had the rare privilege of seeing the face of Her Majesty, and almost as many heard her voice.

This great film of "Sixty Years a Queen" now gives to those who have neither seen nor heard the Royal Sovereign, an opportunity to be brought to closer knowledge of some of Her noble deeds.

The management of the New Gallery, Knema, in London, England, where this impressive pictorial was first presented, was hesitant in announcing the premiere of the work because it realized, in a measure, the magnitude of the subject, and the impossibility of encompassing, within the limit of a two hour exhibition, all the many stirring episodes that marked the reign of Her Majesty.

It was not a question with the London management what to include in the pictures, but what to eliminate for lack of room in the film, for the Queen's life so teemed with incidents that are graven in the world's memory. Victoria lived for her country. By her life she showed the world the true meaning of feminine greatness.

The Yarmouth-Boston Service.

The British steamers Prince George and Prince Arthur have been withdrawn from the Boston Yarmouth route and the American steamers North Star and Governor Cobb have been put in their place. Mr. C. C. Jones, the railway station agent at Digby, informs the COURIER that his company will take care of all the travel over that route, and that the tourists need have no uneasiness about provision being made for their return home at the end of their vacation.

Saturday Night's Entertainment.

Miss Eva Mylott, the world famous Australian contralto, assisted by Oscar Wassenberg, Austrian violinist, and Miss Rita Narelle, Australian pianist, give the best musical entertainment of the season in the Bijou Dram Theatre last Saturday night. Nearly every number on the program was encored, and the audience was delighted with the entire evening's performance. Miss Mylott is assured of a big audience during her future visits to our town.

LOUR LODGE BURNED

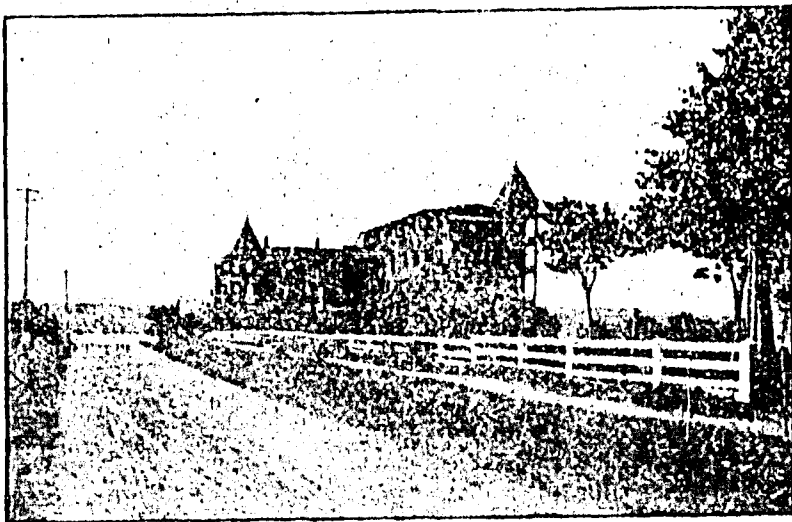

One of Digby's Largest and Best Known Summer Hotels Totally Destroyed.

LOSS OF PROPERTY AND BUSINESS ESTIMATED AT $80,000—PARTIALLY INSURED—SEVERAL OF THE OCCUPANTS HAD NARROW ESCAPES—SOME OF THE GUESTS LOST THEIR CLOTHING, MONEY AND VALUABLE JEWELRY.

In the height of the tourist season, Lour Lodge, one of Digby's largest and best known summer hotels, was totally destroyed by fire last Sunday afternoon.

One hundred and fifty American guests had been served with dinner, the help had finished eating and the hard coal fire in the big hotel range had been banked, when suddenly, without any warning, the stove exploded, sending smoke and flames to the ceiling.

Quicker than it can be told the whole building was a mass of flames. An alarm was rung in, the firemen responded promptly and did extra good work, for notwithstanding the strong south west wind which prevailed the fire was confined to the building in which it started. It was indeed marvellous that surrounding cottages, some of which were but a few feet away, were saved, although some of them were on fire from the outside several times. The firemen were greatly praised by the American guests and all who witnessed the good work. All the occupants got out with safety, but several of them had narrow escapes.

It is said that 185 people were in the building and on the piazzas when the fire broke out, and had it been at night a different story might have been told. Very little of the contents of the building could be saved the fire spread so rapidly.

Many of the guests lost their trunks, jewelry and large sums of money. Mr. George R. McNeill, proprietor of the Pines Hotel, offered accommodation free of charge to those who were turned out. Others were also made from private residences and owners of summer cottages, and by phone from Smith's Cove.

Mr. Aubrey Brown, the proprietor of the hotel, was able, however, to accommodate the majority of them in his surrounding cottages, where they were made very comfortable. He is now carrying on his business in the annex on the east side of the street and cottages above referred to.

The loss is estimated at $80,000, partially covered by insurance. Mr. Brown was out driving when the fire started, but soon returned. Mrs. Brown was at home. Both lost all their clothing and personal effects. The loss of this popular hotel is keenly felt by the entire town. We understand, however, that it is Mr. Brown's intention to rebuild and have it ready for next season.

216,000 Fords in Nine Months.

Three years ago if you had told anyone that a single automobile company would build more than two hundred thousand automobiles in a year that person would have thought that probably you were harmless but ought not to be allowed to run at large as you might suddenly become violent. But the Ford organization has done far better than that. The two hundred thousand this year. The Ford Motor Co. and its Canadian factories together built and sold two hundred and sixteen thousand, seven hundred and thirty-one cars from Oct. 1, 1913 up to July 1, 1914.

In other words, an average of better than twenty-four thousand Fords have been built and sold every month for the first nine months of the company's third year.

Last year's production of Fords was about one hundred and ninety thousand cars. This mark was passed by this year's production in the middle of May.

It is almost impossible to conceive of two hundred thousand automobiles being by one company, one really grasp what this huge figure means.

If all the Fords built and sold so far this year were placed in line a half-mile apart, they would reach around the world four times.

If the entire population of the cities of Montreal and Toronto wanted to hold a joint picnic, the Fords built this year could easily take all the people to the picnic grounds in one trip or this year's Fords could carry at one trip nearly half of all the men that fought in the American civil war.

S. A. LETTENY

Bear River

The village of Bear River is situated on the northwest of Nova Scotia, about ten miles from the town of Digby and sixteen from Annapolis. It is partly in Digby and partly in Annapolis County, the river bearing the same name as the village forms the boundary line between the two Counties and is crossed by a short iron bridge. This narrow winding river flowing in a northwesterly direction is about four and a half miles in length.

The river was first explored by Simon Inbert in January, 1813. He was bringing supplies to the French at Annapolis and on account of a severe storm was forced to take shelter in the lee of what is now known as Bear Island. After the storm had abated he discovered near there the mouth of a small river to which he returned after having delivered his cargo. He explored the river as far as the meeting of its two branches now known as the "Head of the Tide." The river was afterwards called Bear River and the village which sprang up along its banks was also known as Bear River.

As Bear River is surrounded by hills the streets are quite irregular. There are eight different roads terminating at or near the "Bridge." The streets are very good. The side walks are made of wood and have to be repaired frequently.

There are many splendid residences about Bear River. The best is the center is near the bridge. There are eight stores, two of which are situated at the "Head of the Tide" two Doctors' offices, a customs office, two blacksmith shops, a plumber and tinmiths' shop, a jewelry and repair shop, a meat market, a telegraph office, one drug store, several warehouses, photographers studio, a Chinese laundry, a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, two shoe makers' shops, two tailor shops and two hotels. Also at the Head of the Tide a lumber and saw mill, a threshing mill and the granite works.

This part of the Province is well suited to agriculture and there are many nice farms near the village. Much lumber, piling and cordwood is hauled here and shipped to various places. Most of the lumber is shipped to Cuba and South America. Nearly five million feet of lumber is exported every year both to home and English markets. Many boxes of cherries are also shipped every summer as Bear River is famed for its delicious cherries. The principal exports are lumber, apples, vegetables and dairy produce. The annual value is about $125,000.

In 1892 the Agricultural Society erected a nice Exhibition Building. Exhibitions are held here quite often and are largely attended. The ground floor is used as a skating rink during the winter months.

For a number of years a small steamer, the "Bear River," has made a weekly trip to Digby and St. John. This is a great convenience to the people.

In 1893 an electric light plant was opened at the Head of the Tide. The village is quite well lighted but a few more street lights would be much appreciated.

There are two livery stables and the mail is carried daily by coaches to and from Bear River station, a distance of four and a half miles.

The academy known as "Oakdene," situated on the Annapolis side of the river, is one of the finest in the country. There is a yearly enrolment of two hundred and forty. The boys take much pride in the Cadet Corps and some intend competing for a free trip to England. We trust some will be successful.

The townhall is on the third floor of the Academy.

The population is estimated about eleven hundred and represents five denominations—Baptists, Methodists, Adventists, Episcopalians, and Roman Catholics, each having a very nice church. The Catholic Chapel is situated on the Indian reserve, a short distance from Bear River.

For a small village Bear River possesses many attractions. No doubt the chief one is its beautiful scenery which can be obtained from the surrounding hills. The river has been called the "Rhine of Nova Scotia" and truly deserves the name. Nothing is more enchanting than a sail down the river on a moonlight evening or when the sun is just sinking to rest behind the hills, making the river appear like a sheet of gold.

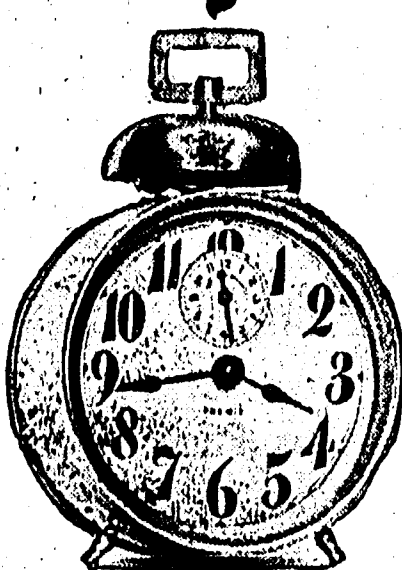

The village has received such names as the Switzerland of Nova Scotia and the Jewel of Nova Scotia as it is nestled so closely between the hills and all around in every direction are unexpected bits of scenery which will be indelibly stamped on the memory of the observer—Mildred P. Robbins—Oakdene School

EUROPEAN WAR NEWS

Britain Declared War Against Germany
Tuesday Night

"CAPTURE OR DESTROY THE ENEMY'S SHIPS," IS KING GEORGE'S KING-ING ORDER TO BRITISH FLEET—GERMANS BEATEN IN THE FIRST REAL BATTLE IN CLASH WITH BELGIANS.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—Immediately after midnight, King George sent a personal message to the entire British fleet now sailing against the German armada, cleared for action. It read:

"I have every confidence that the British fleet will revive the old glories of the navy. I am sure that the navy will again shield Britain in this hour of trial. It will prove the bulwark of the empire."

This was the first message sent to the fleet since it cleared from Plymouth harbor and sailed to the secret rendezvous in the North Sea. Ever since the wireless has been silent. No word was permitted to go forth until to night, when the signal for the most tremendous naval battle ever fought spluttered out through the darkness from the great naval wireless station.

CAUSE OF THE WAR
LONDON, Aug. 4.—The British foreign office has issued the following statement:

"Owing to the summary rejection by the German Government of request made by His Britannic Majesty's Government that the neutrality of Belgium should be respected, His Majesty's Government has declared to the German Government that a state of war exists between Great Britain and Germany from 11 o'clock p. m., August 4."

SUMMARY OF WAR FEATURES.

Germany, in pushing its advance through Belgium, has met with strong opposition around Liege, where the Belgian forces, according to official advices reaching Brussels, have repulsed the German army of the Meuse under General Von Emmich. The Germans are reported to have lost several thousand in killed and wounded.

Field Marshal Kitchener has been appointed Secretary of State for War in the British cabinet, and will have under his direction the military campaign against Germany.

The French troops have joined the Belgians in opposing the progress of Germany through Belgium, and it is reported that possibly Great Britain may send reinforcements.

The President of the United States has proffered his services as mediator to the European nations at war.

Both at St. Petersburg and Berlin the German and Russian embassies respectively have been attacked by mobs.

The capture of a number of German steamers by the British is reported, and the British cruiser Amphion has sunk the Hamburg American line steamer Koenigin Luise, recently converted into a mine layer.

Russian frontier patrols have penetrated ten miles into Germany.

Trawlers returning from the North Sea bring word that no hostile warships were to be seen.

Four German cruisers have been sunk or captured to date, three in the Mediterranean and one in the North Sea.

Germany is reported to have sent an ultimatum to Italy, serving notice that she must assist the Triple Alliance or be attacked by it at once.

THE FIRST DAY

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The first day of the war for Great Britain has been a day of suspense and rumormongering. Every half hour a fresh "extra" was shouted through the streets with some startling rumor. The sum total of the rumors was that cannonading has been heard off all the coasts of Europe.

The nation's mind and heart are with the fleet; also it is proud in its confidence, and everyone awaits a bulletin of a great battle.

The first fruits of the war are several German vessels brought into harbor by British cruisers, and others impounded in port. This was the day—only news so far as British naval and military operations were concerned.

The vote of $500,000,000 for war purposes, and the appointment of Field Marshal Earl Kitchener as Secretary for War were two government measures of the greatest importance.

GERMANS CLASH WITH BELGIANS.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 5.—The Germans, completely repulsed, have been unable to renew their attack on Liege.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 5.—Several thousand dead and wounded in the toll paid by the German army for its attack on Liege. The Belgians made a heroic defence repulsing the Germans after heavy and continuous fighting.

The fortified position of Liege had to support on Wednesday the general shock of the German attack. The Belgian forts resisted the advance of effectively and did not suffer. One Belgian squadron attacked and drove back six German squadrons.

Eight hundred wounded Germans are being transferred to the city of Liege, where they will be cared for.

Prior to the attack on Liege, General Von Emmich, commanding the German army of the Meuse, issued a proclamation calling for an open road through Belgium for the advance of his forces and suggesting that prudence would show it to be the duty of the Belgian people to accede to this, in order to avoid the horrors of war.

The Germans committed outrages against the civil population of the town of Vise, eight miles northeast of Liege, burning the city and shooting many of the residents.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 5 (via London).—The Belgian war office announced to night that fierce fighting had occurred in the environs of Liege and that so far as the Belgians were concerned, the situation is excellent.

"The Germans," the announcement says, "were driven back by an heroic attack made by a Belgian mixed brigade, which had already earned for itself the highest honors."

GERMAN CRUISER TAKEN IN NORTH SEA.
LONDON, Aug. 5.—The French embassy tonight announced that France has captured another German cruiser. It is believed that the French fleet cut off one of the German North Sea scout cruisers and forced it to surrender.

COWED THE CHINESE.

The "Foreign Devil" Used a College Yell as a Battle Cry.

On board a launch on which I was sailing up the Yangtze river were about thirty Chinese soldiers of such a ragged appearance as to excite my suspicions, but fortunately without their rifles. As evening of the first day came on they crowded around the small deck house and demanded of the native agent to know what the "foreign devil" was doing here. Now, I had been cleaning and oiling the various parts of my sample machine gun during the day.

Before nightfall I drew the blinds of the deckhouse and, quickly assembling the gun, slipped in a loaded belt. I now told the agent, who was white with fear, to tell these fellows that this "foreign devil" "belong crazy" and also "hun lehl" (very fierce) and as a sort of warning to "keep off the grass" I opened the door and let off a string of about fifty shots into the air, at the same time giving the Yale college yell, which was the loudest warcry I could think of at the moment.

Whether it was the information imparted by the agent, Chen, the shots or the Yale cheer I cannot say, but all hands crowded to the other end of the launch and remained at a respectful distance until Nanchung was reached, to the great amusement of the Chinese captain and engineer, who, however, had deemed it good policy to allow the passengers to settle their own disputes without interference. This incident is pleasant to remember, but at the time I was badly scared.—From "Drumming Revolutionary China," by Bartlett G. Young, in World's Work.

ORIGIN OF BANK CHECKS.

Dense London Fogs, It is Said, Forced Their Introduction.

It is claimed that the business world owes the idea of the bank check to nothing else than London's fogs.

These fogs are sometimes of such a density that the pedestrian can see but a few feet ahead of him. Something over a hundred years ago, it is said, the attacks of thieves and highwaymen in the British capital upon bank messengers and tradesmen going through the streets to settle their bills became so frequent in times of heavy fog as seriously to interfere with the conduct of London's business.

It was easy for the thief to ambush his victim, club him into insensibility, rob him and then disappear into the murky atmosphere, with little likelihood of apprehension or identification or that passersby would witness the commission of the crime or be of any assistance in the chase.

In these circumstances bankers, tradesmen and others set their wits to working, with the result that the bank check was devised for the payment of debts. Soon the highwaymen found that a few pieces of paper were all the booty they were likely to get from a "holdup" of even a wealthy tradesman. Accordingly the activities of the daylight robbers soon came to an end, but the convenience of the bank check proved so great that it survived not only in London, but was adopted throughout the civilized world.—Washington Star.

Raw Sponges.

To persons who know sponges only as they appear ready for sale and use the animal as it comes from the sea would be unrecognizable. It is a solid looking, rather slimy, fleshy body, varying in color from light grayish yellow through a range of browns to black and in form it is cup shaped, spheroidal or cake shaped, according to the species, its age or the environment in which it grew. In general, in appearance and consistency and the manner in which it cuts with a knife, a living sheep's wool sponge is not unlike a piece of beef liver perforated with holes and canals. The sponge of the markets is merely the skeleton, the supporting framework which gives strength and form to the soft, gelatinous tissue of the living animal.

Imaginary Whys of Celibacy.

Curious how when a man remains a bachelor people will speculate concerning his celibate state:
"Well, he has had an unfortunate affair some time or other. No man as attractive as he has gone this long without a tender memory to accompany him."

Of a woman:
"Funny she never married. Now, you'd think she'd be attractive to the men, wouldn't you?"—New York Sun.

Good News For Papa.

"Paw!"
"Well?"
"When I promise to marry him do you want him to come and ask your consent?"

"No, not my consent, but I would like to have him trot in and tell me the good news. I sort of feel like I needed cheering up."—Houston Post.

Suddenly Tired.

"Good gracious, what a sight you are! What have you been doing?"
"The barber had just intimated me when some one came in and told him that he had won the big prize in a lottery and he retired at once."—Ellegende Blatter.

Hard Luck.

Hard luck is when a man who does not like oysters eats one for politeness, discovers a $100 pearl and then keeps on eating them indefinitely to find another.—Chicago News.

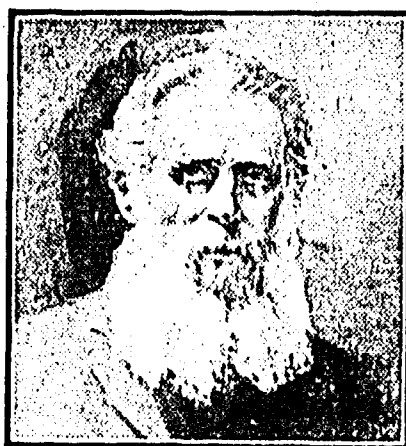

Men had not a hammer to begin, not a syllabled articulation. They had it all to make—and they made it.—Carlyle.

Fact No. 3 Regarding Amherst Pianos Factory

The Great Varnish plant, which very few factories possess, is giving splendid results. The Company has a double Emerson dry-kiln, which is the best dry-kiln in the world. Amherst Pianos, Limited factory possesses all the very latest automatic machines, placing it in the forefront as one of the best equipped plants that money can produce.

In view of the splendid situation and equipment of the Amherst Pianos, Limited factory, the fact that the superintendent and other important experts have spent their lives in the manufacture of Pianos or their part-whose achievements qualify them as being equal to the leading experts in the manufacture of Pianos, we feel that we are justified in saying that Pianos can be built in the Maritime Provinces the equal of the best made anywhere.

Amherst is situated in the centre of the Maritime Provinces and for this reason is ideally situated for shipping purposes.

WOMAN SUFFERED TEN YEARS

From Female Ills—Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Belleville, N.S., Canada.—"I doctored for ten years for female troubles and did not get well. I read in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. I wrote now to tell you that I am cured. You can publish my letter as a testimonial."

—Mrs. SUZANNE BAHNE, Belleville, Nova Scotia, Canada.

Another Woman Recovers.

Auburn, N. Y.—"I suffered for nervousness for ten years, and had such organic pains that sometimes I would lie in bed four days at a time, could not eat or sleep and did not want anyone to talk to me or bother me at all. Sometimes I would suffer for seven hours at a time. Different doctors did the best they could for me until four months ago I began giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and now I am in good health."

—Mrs. WILLIAM H. GILL, No. 15 Pleasant Street, Auburn, New York.

The above are only two of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which show clearly what great things Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound does for those who suffer from woman's ills.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Married in Quincey, Mass.

QUINCEY, July 30.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. William Prime of Beacon street was the scene of a quiet but very pretty wedding last evening when Miss Gertrude E. Prime became the wife of Mr. Colin Cathill of Florida. The house was beautifully decorated with roses and carnations. The ceremony was performed in the parlor, the bride standing under a huge wedding bell suspended from a beautiful floral arch.

Rev. James Matheson officiated, the simple ring service being used. The bride who was given in marriage by Wm Prime, looked lovely in white satin and lace. She wore a simple wreath which has adorned four generations of brides. The bride's only attendant was Miss Eunice Tibert of Dorchester. Miss Tibert wore helen pink crepe de chine and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Harry Prime of Brookline, acted as best man.

Mendelssohn's program of wedding music was played by Miss Helen Connor who was handsomely attired in white silk gown. Immediately after the ceremony the couple held a reception to the guests, being assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Wm Prime and the attendants. Mrs. Prime wore white embroidered linen. The ushers were Messrs. Harold and Robert Prime.

Mr. and Mrs. Cathill will spend their honeymoon with the bride's parents at Freeport, Nova Scotia, after which they will go to Florida where the groom has prepared a splendid new home. The bride is one of the most popular girls of the Point district and during the past three years has been housekeeper at the Fore River Variety Store. Mr. and Mrs. Cathill have a host of Quincey friends who wish them well.

Mail Order Houses Tend to Depreciate Values in Town and County.

Hans Garbus, of Iowa, writes to Atkinson's Farm Journal, Philadelphia, as follows:

"We farmers need awakening to the fact that we have unfortunately reached the period where the slow German farmers that had to be shown, and I am now giving my experience that others may profit, for knowledge at the school of experience is more expensive now than ten years ago. I began my farm career. I had an old team and $50. Our furniture was mostly home made—chairs, cupboards and lounge made from dry goods boxes, neatly covered with 10 cent crotonno by my girl wife. We rented 80 acres. Being a boy of good habits I got all needed machinery and groceries of our home merchants on credit, until full crops were sold. The first year was a wet season and I didn't make enough to pay creditors. I went to each on date of promise and explained conditions, paying as much to each as possible, and they all carried the balance over another year. They continued to accommodate me until I was able to buy a 10 acre piece of my own.

As soon as I owned these few acres the mail order houses began sending me catalogues, and gradually I began sending my loose change to them, letting my accounts stand in my home town, where I had gotten my accommodation when I needed it.

We then had one of the thriftiest little villages in the state—good line of business in all branches, merchants who were willing to help an honest fellow over a bad year, and a town full of people who came twice a week to trade and visit. Our little country town supported a library, high school, band, ball team, and we had big celebrations every year. A farm near a live town soon doubles in value. I sold my 10 acres at a big advantage, and bought an 80, gradually adding to it until I had 200 acres of the best land in Iowa. I then felt no need of asking favors, and found it easy to patronize the mail order agents that came almost weekly to our door. I regret to say that I was the first in the county to make up a neighborhood bill and send it to a mail order house. Though we got bit once in a while, we got in the habit of sending away for stuff.

Gradually our merchants lessened their stock of goods—for lack of patronage. Finally we began to realize that when we needed a bolt quickly for machinery, or clothing for sickness or death, we had to wait and send away for it, which wasn't so pleasant. One by one our merchants moved to places where they were appreciated, and men of less energy moved in. Gradually our town has gone down; our business houses are "tacky" in appearance, a number are empty, our schools, churches and walks are going down, we have no band, no library, no ball team. There is no business done in the town, and there fore no taxes to keep things up. Hotel is closed, for lack of travel. Go down to the depot when the freight pulls in and you see the sequel in mail-order packages.

Nine years ago my farm was worth $195 an acre; today I'd have a hard matter to sell it at $167 an acre. It is "too far from a live town"—so every farmer has said that wants to buy. He wants a place near schools and churches, where his children can have advantages. I have awakened to the fact that in helping to pull the town down, it has cost me $5,000 in nine years. Like the majority of farmers, I didn't figure far enough ahead.

This sort of business means the doing away of country towns. What will it mean to farmers to have only a few large cities at a distance of 500 or 1000 miles? What are we going to do with our children, who are demanding even better advantages than we had?

DIGBY WEEKLY COURIER

Digby, August 14, 1914

THE WAR

The long predicted war which was to involve all the great nations and change the map of Europe, has come at last, and affords a curious commentary on the peace congresses and arbitration treaties of the last few years. Man is a fighting animal and human nature must be changed before wars will cease.

The Balkans, the seat of the last great war, is where the present one originated. Serbia and Austria fell out and set the ball rolling. Russia came to the assistance of Serbia and Germany stepped in to help Austria. France and England had an agreement with Russia that each was to help the other if it should be necessary, and thus five of the greatest nations in the world are at war with each other. Belgium is a small Kingdom wedged between France and Germany. It is one of the small neutral states, and its independence was guaranteed by the great powers, of which the principal one was Great Britain. Germany in order to get a short cut through to France, is marching her armies through Belgium. This the Belgians are trying to prevent, and one of the first battles of the war has been fought on their territory and the Germans beaten. Great Britain in carrying out her pledges has come to her assistance and a British army of 100,000 men is now in Belgium for the purpose of helping her and keeping back the Germans. Now the call to arms is ringing through Canada and everywhere over the wide spread British empire. In her hour of need the children of the old mother are rallying to her help. Everywhere from India to Australia and wherever there is a land under British rule, no matter what the creed or nationality, all are ready to help. It speaks volumes for the justice and liberality of her government.

In Ireland, Nationalists and Ulster men are volunteering to fight side by side, even the suffragettes have agreed for a time to lay aside their fight for the suffrage and behave themselves. Greeks and Turks have united for the common good, and even Irishmen in the United States, are volunteering their services. All that are British born are sensible of their duty to the empire at this critical time when the black shadow of war is cast every where. Once again Britain is standing forth to defend the liberties of Europe, and to preserve for all peoples their freedom and right to self government. The German Emperor has made himself the enemy of mankind. The deposition of the whole Hohen zollern dynasty would be the greatest blessing to Germany, for we believe this whole mad and reckless race for world wide dominion and power, is foreign to the instincts and wishes of the German people. There can be but one end to this strife, however long or short may be its continuance, Britain and her allies will finally triumph. The whole continent in the wars of Napoleon, dashed itself in vain against Britain. The greatest calamity the world could experience would be her defeat. She must finally triumph, though untold suffering and blood shed may go before.

In the proud words of the British premier: "No people has ever undertaken a war with clearer conscience and a more profound conviction, for we are fighting for a principle on which the civilization of the world depends. It is therefore our duty, and everyone's duty, to give England our loyal and hearty support, and in this I am sure our people will not fail, for both religion and love of country demand it at our hands."

"Sixty Years a Queen"

Mr. M. B. Leavitt, one of the pioneer showmen in this country, is now in the moving picture business. He has the exclusive right for the maritime provinces to present that valuable series of pictures entitled "Sixty Years a Queen," which were exhibited to full houses in Digby on Friday and Saturday evenings and which were much appreciated by those who were there.

Mr. Leavitt is meeting with a big success in the various towns visited and we can assure our readers that the pictures he is showing deserve the patronage of the public everywhere. He is under a tremendous expense, but informs us that he is "making good."

Accident at Weymouth.

Three cars loaded with earth, at the construction of the new bridge at Weymouth went over the end of the temporary trestle on Friday last. There were six men on the cars, who were carried down with them. Two of the men were severely injured that they were placed on board of the Bluebonnet train on Saturday and taken to the Halifax Hospital. One of the injured men was an Italian and the other a Nova Scotian, named Eisenhauer.

ON THE TRACK.

TRAFFIC BLOCKED—SIX TRAINS AT DIGBY WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

As the suburban train was passing over the "points" a few yards north of Digby station Wednesday morning on her arrival from Annapolis the locomotive, tender and the forward trucks of a box car left the rails. Mr. Simon Riley, the suburban's faithful driver, stopped the train at once so that very little damage was done to the road bed.

An auxiliary train was promptly despatched from Kentville, but it was about four o'clock in the afternoon before the locomotive was again on the track and regular traffic resumed.

In the meantime the east and west bound express and Bluebonnet trains were held up at Digby, which, with the suburban and auxiliary, totalled six trains with their locomotives and crews.

The work of replacing the engine and cars on the rails was witnessed by hundreds of our summer visitors and townspeople.

Deafness Cannot be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When the tube is inflamed, it cannot do its duty. When it cannot do its duty it has no circulation of blood and therefore no hearing. It is not a matter of time, but of degree. If you have a ringing sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface of the tube.

We will give One Hundred Dollars, for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

HOW TO GET STRENGTH

after any sickness is purely a matter of nourishment, whether the attack was an ordinary cold or severe illness; the weakened forces cannot repulse disease germs, and this is why a relapse is so often fatal or why chronic weakness often follows sickness.

Restoring strength to millions of people for forty years has proven the real need for taking Scott's Emulsion after any sickness; nothing equals it—nothing compares with it. Its pure, medicinal nourishment, free from alcohol or opiates, promptly creates rich blood, strengthens the nerves and lungs to avert tuberculosis.

THE EUROPEAN WAR

German Advance in Force Has Begun.

GERMAN TROOPS IN HEART OF BELGIUM IN MARCH FROM NORTH OF LIEGE. BRITISH CRUISERS SCOURING ATLANTIC "TO KEEP GERMANS BUSY". —OCEAN LINES CLERK.

The German army is advancing into the heart of Belgium. The forces which have been investing Liege have moved to the north and a new army has taken their place.

Brussels reports that the French and British allied forces are concentrated at various important points in Belgium, and are prepared to check a German advance. The occupation of Brussels by the Germans unless checked by the allied armies is foretold.

From Berlin, German successes are announced at Moulhansen and Lige, with the taking of many French towns and the clearing of German territory of the French. A special cable says that news of German successes is being manufactured from an official source.

Fighting continues around Tientsin and other Belgian towns, and struggle for the possession of the great forts has recommenced.

The British war office information cable says that the majority of the sixty six German army corps have been located, and that the mass of the German troops are concentrated between Liege and Luxembourg.

In their endeavor to keep the steam routes clear on the Atlantic, the British admiralty and the French government have sent out cruisers and merchant vessels to search for German craft.

An important development in the situation is the preparations which the Austrian ambassador is making for his immediate departure from London.

A London despatch says that between Great Britain and Austria is to be declared.

That no important engagement has occurred between the French and Germans is indicated by an official announcement issued by the French war office that up to Wednesday noon there had been no encounter between the respective forces, except at outposts.

Later, however, Paris reported that bombardment by the Germans of an important town of Pont-A-Mousin in the department of Meurthe-et-Moselle had commenced. The town is twenty miles from Nancy and six miles south southwest of Metz, as the birthplace of Marguerite of France, wife of Henry VI of England. The Russians are mining Vladivostok harbor.

The combined Montenegrin and Serbian invasion of Bosnia has begun. The Serbian general, Jankovitch, was commander of the Serbian corps at Prizrend in the Balkans.

Since George, of Serbia, is reported to have been wounded while watching the Austrian bombardment of the city.

THE KING'S OFFER
LONDON, Aug. 13, 2:55 a. m.—King George has offered Balmoral Castle as a hospital for wounded soldiers.

AMERICAN AMBASSADOR LEAVING GREAT BRITAIN

LONDON, Aug. 12, 11:45 p. m.—Arrangements have been made for the departure tomorrow of the Austrian ambassador, Count Dietrich, who has been in England for ten years, as secretary, minister ambassador respectively, and who is one of the most intimate friends of the British royal family.

THEY TOO BUSY TO DO MISCHIEF

LONDON, Aug. 12, 7:07 p. m.—The ally has sent out cruisers which ply the Atlantic for the purpose of detecting trade routes. The French navy also has sent out warships to search for German cruisers known in the Atlantic.

The enemy's ships," says the official report, "will be hunted continually throughout some time more elapsing before they are run down, and will be too busy to do much mischief. A number of fast merchant vessels are armed at British arsenals and are patrolling the routes and clearing German commerce from the British coast. With every day that British control of trade routes grows stronger, in the North Sea, the Germans have scattered indiscriminately and where the formidable operations of the war are proceeding, the admiralty has no assurance.

The 11th the Digby team played a beautiful game and defeated the 10th of L. Digby played a sharp game, also defeated the 10th of L. Digby for Digby, pulled off a double play unassisted, that the 10th of L. Digby team, pitched a good game for the 11th. The boys are certainly big of better support than they received so far this summer from their people.

American will play Digby a game next Monday.

A Pleasant Outing.

THE WESTERN NOVA SCOTIA YACHT CLUB'S ANNUAL CRUISE AND DINNER AT ANAPOLIS ROYAL.

The annual cruise of the Western Nova Scotia Yacht Club was held last Monday afternoon. The squadron left Digby at 3:40. At Goat Island buoy the sailing, plops Molle and Argonaut were blown in low by motor boats, there being no wind.

The fleet anchored at Annapolis a few minutes after six o'clock and the guests were soon on enjoying a walk through the town.

SOUP
FISH
Boiled Fresh Salmon
Sliced Cucumbers
MEATS
Roast Spring Chicken
Prime Rib of Beef
ENTREES
Banana Fritters
Lemon Sauce VEGETABLES

Native Peas
Sliced Beets
PASTRY
Apple Pie
Coconut Cream Pie
Holland Pie
English Plum Pudding
Brandy Sauce
Canadian Cheese and Crackers

Tea and Coffee
Cigars

After cigars had been lighted the following toasts were proposed and responded to, Commodore Dunham filling the duties of toast master:

The King, proposed by the Commodore and responded to by the entire party singing the National Anthem.

The Town of Annapolis Royal, proposed by Ex-Mayor J. L. Peters, of Digby, (Mayor Short being unable to be present on the cruise) and responded to by Mayor A. L. of Annapolis.

Our Harbor View Membership, proposed by P. W. Holdsworth, Secy. of the W. N. S. Y. C., and responded to by Commodore Frank B. Witherbee, of the Harbor View Racing Association, and Rymond Shipman, of the same organization.

The Commodore read a letter from L. de V. Chipman, editor of the Annapolis Spectator, who was unable to attend. The press was therefore not responded to.

The Ladies was proposed by A. A. Shortliffe and responded to by H. E. Jones.

Our hostess was proposed by W. J. Agate, who referred to the splendid way in which the Club had been entertained at the Queen, the excellent menu, and the prompt manner in which it had been served.

In Mayor A. L.'s address he referred to the good feeling existing between the two towns, brought about largely by visits of this nature, the old time rivalry now being forgotten. He said, among other things, that Digby had one of the best harbors in the world, our Basin was a valuable asset and that the yacht club had done much to attract tourists towards the water front.

This was recognized by our merchants and our most enterprising citizens, hence the club's large membership, which we are pleased to state is continually increasing.

By a resolution at the Queen Hotel it was decided to leave the Annapolis anchorage at 10:30 for Digby.

The sloop Argonaut remained in port over night. Rear Commodore Clipp and Secy. Holdsworth, in their motor yachts, Phoebe and Pinetree, took the sloop Molle in tow for Smith's Cove. Mr. Tupper, of the Frances, (formerly the L. L. M.) sailed for Bear Island where we understand he had some friends waiting for him. The other boats proceeded for Digby.

The sail down the river was a pleasant one and the lights on the boats presented an attractive appearance until Goat Island buoy was passed after which the remainder of the run was made in a dense fog. The boats which were bound to Digby direct, arrived between 12 and 1 o'clock; those bound to Smith's Cove, left the Molle at the anchorage off Argonaut Knoll, arriving at Digby between 2 and 3 a. m.

All who availed themselves of this pleasant trip had a delightful outing. This is the last scheduled club event of the season, with the exception of the sailing dory races which take place every Saturday afternoon during the month of August.

Was It Worth the Effort?

70,000 BUSHELS OF WHEAT TO BE SHIPPED FOR BRITISH ARMY, DESTROYED BY FIRE IN ST. JOHN.

The big L. C. R. elevator off Mill street was totally destroyed by fire at an early hour yesterday morning at a loss of approximately $250,000 on the building and equipment along with 70,000 bushels of wheat stored there recently for shipment to England for the use of British army, adding about $60,000 more to the loss.

In addition to this loss, which is suspected resulted from incendiary by sympathizers of hostile countries in Europe or perhaps by an immediate enemy, the freight shed belonging to the L. C. R. close at hand was completely destroyed with all its contents—amounting about $25,000 in ashes.

Three L. C. R. freight cars on the rails between the elevator and the L. C. R. station were burned completely and Pullman and passenger cars on a quarter a mile away in the yard were partly burned and scorched—losses about $15,000.

The L. C. R. train was badly damaged. The roof caught fire in a very few minutes after the flames burst from the elevator and was badly damaged to the extent probably of $2,000, making a total loss of nearly $400,000.

Only the favorable climatic conditions which aided the firemen, prevented the destruction of that whole district of the city.

Mr. Alvin Donnell presented us with an egg this week which measures 9 1/2 x 8 1/2 inches in circumference. It was laid by one of L. B. Eldridge's Brown Leghorns and is the largest egg we have ever seen up to the present date.

DUCKING A SCOLD.

Punishment a Long Tongue Used to Win in Old England.

It is interesting in these days of woman's rights and woman's progress to confound a picture of a "ducking" as practiced in England at the end of the eighteenth century.

When the "scold" had been properly tried and convicted she was escorted by a crowd of her neighbors—in fact, by the whole village—to the nearest pond, and the greener and slimmer the pond the better. A long plank was produced, at one end of which was the ducking stool, and in this the screaming, struggling victim was securely pinioned.

The chair end of the plank was then pushed far over the edge of the pond, and at a signal it was tilted deep into the green ooze until the scold was completely immersed.

When the dripping, half-drowned woman was raised to the surface again to the jeers and laughter of the onlookers it can be imagined that her tongue wagged to some purpose. After a second dose she emerged more subdued, and after a third or fourth she was as penitent a woman as the village contained and was allowed to proceed home, a sadder and wiser woman until the next time.—London Tit-Bits.

RENTED SCENERY.

It Was a Parisian's Idea, and It Served the Thrifty Peasants.

M. Georges Moreau one beautiful day, in the course of a walk at Villiers-Saint-Benoist, greatly admired three magnificent oaks which towered from the edge of a field.

"You'll not see 'em much more, citizen," growled the owner of the land. "They make too much shade. I'm going to cut them down."

"What a sacrifice! Cut down those magnificent trees! Better rent them to me."

"What'll you do with them?" "I shall look at them as I pass by. Will you give to me for 15 francs a year the right to admire them?"

"Agreed! It's only a Parisian who could have such a funny idea!" The story spread abroad, and now whenever M. Moreau takes a walk in that district the peasants hail him with: "Hey, citizen, will you rent those trees there of me? If not I'll cut 'em down. Yes or no? One, two, three?"

M. Moreau yields and pays to save the lives of the trees that delight his view. The little birds would be ungrateful did they not salute with their most harmonious roundels the preserver of their nests.—Cris de Paris.

Uncovered by the Wind.

"In the year 1793," says an old chronicler, "the waters of the Ile de la Plaine were forced in the month of April by a most violent current of wind to the distance of two leagues, so that the neighboring plains were entirely inundated, and the bed of the stream was left dry. A number of ships which had been sunk in the river for upward of thirty years were uncovered and, among others, an English vessel which was cast away in 1702. Several persons repaired to the bed of the river, on which they could walk without wetting their feet, and returned laden with silver and other riches, which had been long buried under the water. The phenomenon obtained for three days at the end of which the wind ceased, and the water returned with great violence to its native bed."

A Good House.

Mrs. Allen was entertaining a caller one afternoon not long ago and was enthusiastically explaining the many advantages of concrete hollow block construction, of which the walls of her new home were built.

"The air spaces in the walls afford insulation against heat in summer and cold in winter," said Mrs. Allen. "And not only that, but such walls afford ventilation and insure a more healthful house."

The visitor nodded approval and paused reflectively for a moment, then replied: "Well, our frame house must be quite as well built. Every night we lock the cat in the cellar and have to let her out of the attic in the morning!"—Detroit Free Press.

Saving Trouble.

When Bobbie went to see his grandmother he was much interested in whatever went on in the kitchen. One day she said to him: "I'm going to make you a nice little pie in a sauce, all for yourself. Don't you think I'm pretty good to take so much trouble?" Bobbie pondered. "Grandma," he said at length, "mother told me not to be a bother, and if it's going to be any trouble you can just as well make my pie regular size."—Exchange.

His Distinction.

"William, are you ever going to get matters so arranged that we can afford to have an automobile?" "I don't expect that we can ever afford one, but I hope to get matters so arranged within a few months that we can have one."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Between Girls.

Lou: I saw Ethel yesterday, and we had the loveliest confidential chat together. Lucy: I thought so. She wouldn't speak to me today.—Judge.

Safe.

"Why do you always carry your umbrella even when it is not raining?" "So some one else won't carry it when it is raining."—Houston Post.

There is no substitute for thoroughgoing, ardent and sincere earnestness.

—Dickens.

DIGBY, NOVA SCOTIA, FRIDAY, AUGUST 21, 1914

VOL. XII, No. 1

Synopsis of Coal Mining Regulations

COAL mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty years at an annual rental of $1.00 per acre. Not more than 2,000 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

The surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal subdivisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights, and the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 per acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. V. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

FARMER'S WIFE

ALMOST A WRECK

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Her Own Story.

London, Ont.—"I am a farmer's wife and a very busy woman. Last summer I was taken with severe pains in my back so bad that I could not get up or scarcely move without pain, and my periods were painful. My husband called in a good doctor and I was under his care for some time, but he did me little or no good.

One day a friend of mine told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she had been greatly helped by it. I began taking it and soon got well, and my periods became normal again. Since then I have had perfect health. In fact I have never felt so well in my life. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine many women need. If you think this letter will help other women please publish it."—Mrs. K. C. YOUNG, Tumbler's Corner, London, Ontario, Canada.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read, and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Obliging Neighbors.
(Written for the Courier.)

I once was quite wealthy and lived at my ease in a beautiful house surrounded by trees. Where servants and handmaids came at my call.

But when I came when I went to the wall. And now I'll relate—though it be in deep sorrow—Of neighbors who came to me asking to borrow.

They borrowed my wagons and harrows and plows. They borrowed my oxen and horses and cows; My sheep next they borrowed which furnished my yarn.

And then went the hay that was stored in the barn. They borrowed my woodpile and then went the axes. Then asked for the money I'd saved for my taxes.

They borrowed my hens—left me scarcely an egg. Then asked for the loan of my poor wooden leg. They borrowed potatoes and flour and matches. Saws, hammers and files and all my door-latches.

And when all was gone, not a thing left to sell. Believe me they wanted to borrow my well. And if I dared ask for return of my goods. They quietly told me to take to the woods.

The Yarmouth Herald's Birthday
We congratulate the Yarmouth Herald on passing its eighty-second birthday, having been established Aug. 9th, 1832. There is but one older paper in the Maritime Provinces—The Halifax Acadian Recorder. The Herald has had two editors and proprietors, the late Alexander Lawson, who occupied the editorial chair for more than sixty years, and his son, Mr. J. Murray Lawson, the present editor. The Herald is one of our most valued exchanges. Its news is reliable and its mechanical appearance the best that paper, type, ink and presses can produce. The superintendent of its mechanical department, Mr. C. G. Pollard, has spent a life time in the Herald office and understands the printing business from A to Z. We wish our contemporary continued success.

Trained Nurses Volunteer
The following is a list of members of the Nova Scotia Graduate Nurses Association who have volunteered for hospital duty in the war and whose names will be duly forwarded by Miss Violet Kirke, first vice president of the Canadian Association. Other names have also been received and are now being considered:

Miss Rose Young, Musquodoboit.
Frances Rice, Weymouth.
Katherine Graham, Halifax.
B. T. Meagher, Halifax.
Mabel Matthews, Halifax.
Vera McNeil, Halifax.

Arrived Too Late.
The Yarmouth Herald says: The H. & S. W. train was about entering its station yard yesterday afternoon just as the steamer North Star was leaving her wharf for Boston, consequently about 100 passengers were compelled to remain over until to-day.

It is reported that the money order business in Canada has been suspended with the United Kingdom and foreign countries through the United Kingdom as well as all other countries in Europe, until rates of exchange are on a permanent basis.

A NEAT JOB

"Mr. Birkstead," said my friend Mrs. Iddleson, "I am very much worried about my son."

"What's the trouble?" I asked.

"He is infatuated with a girl I do not like."

"Have you grounds for detesting her?"

"There is nothing in her. She's vain, selfish and altogether unlovely. How she has captured Jimmie I can't imagine."

Since I was not interested in Jimmie the information did not especially move me. But I was interested in his mother, who was a widow. Indeed, I had intentions with reference to Mrs. Iddleson and wished I could make her think me as fine a man as this girl had succeeded in making Jim think her a fine woman.

I wonder how she did it!

"Now, I know that you, a novelist," continued Mrs. Iddleson, "are one of the inventive kind with plenty of ingenuity and can bring about some situation between Jimmie and this girl to make her appear to him as she appears to any one who sees her through eyes not distorted by the imagination."

"Who is she?" I asked.

"Julia Hinton."

"How can I know her?"

"Jimmie tells me that she is going this summer to Arlington Beach. Why can't you go there too for your vacation?"

"I can."

"On one condition—that if I succeed you will find some other literary man to invent a scheme whereby I may be made to look better in your eyes than I am."

I can vouch for the fact though I do not expect to be believed, that a widow is capable of blushing, for I detected a faint reddening as she replied, with a bit of blarney: "You don't need that. Every one knows how clever you are, and I am sure you will succeed in saving my boy."

"If I succeed in showing him the girl exactly as she is I am sure you would not ask me to misrepresent her."

"Certainly not."

I had achieved some recognition on the part of the reading public and was known as an author at the hotel where I stayed the same in which Miss Hinton stayed and my literary reputation—for good work or bad as the case may be—made me something of a lion.

While at the beach I was sending my publisher copy every week except the first. On my return in September I read the final plate proofs of my story and the book was issued before Christmas.

Soon after its publication I was invited to dine at Mrs. Iddleson's. Jim was present and received me somewhat coolly. We had not been long at the table before the subject of my novel was broached. Mrs. Iddleson said some very nice things about it. Jim said nothing till his mother reproached him for being so impolite as not to say something favorable to the author about his work.

I protested. That's where we authors have a hard time," I said. "People say complimentary things to you about our work, but we get no real criticism—that which of all things we need most."

"Well," said Jim, "I have a personal bone to pick with the author in this case. Several things I said were put in the story word for word. 'You are right,' I replied, 'Edmond Scarle is a picture of yourself.'"

I saw his face light with pleasure. "Do you really mean that?" he asked. "Scarle is a splendid fellow."

"Why do you consider him such?"

"I don't know."

"It is because you see him as he is—a real living person. You are taken out of yourself to look at yourself."

"But there is one thing about me in the story I don't like. What an ass Scarle was to fall in love with that silly girl."

"The girl was a real character, too."

"What, that thing!"

"What don't you like about her?"

"She hasn't any sense."

DIGBY WEEKLY COURIER
Digby, August 21, 1914

OUR FORTIETH BIRTHDAY.

The COURIER is forty years old and with today's issue we commence our forty first volume. The present editor has been on duty twenty six years, during which time the paper has grown from a small four page weekly with a small circulation, to its present size with a large circulation as any country weekly in the Maritime Provinces. Letters from hundreds of subscribers in various parts of the world, show that our efforts are appreciated. We will in future, as in the past, endeavor to give our subscribers, advertisers and patrons of our job department as good a service as possible. We take this opportunity of thanking our many friends for their generous support and trust that the good feeling which exists between the COURIER and its thousands of readers will long continue.

Sergeant Major Marshall Leaves For The Front.

PRESENTED WITH A PURSE OF GOLD BY CITIZENS WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

Battery Sergeant Major Nelson Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Marshall, who volunteered for overseas service, was presented with a purse of $50.00 in gold by the citizens of Digby in the Town Hall Wednesday night, the presentation being made by Mayor Short followed by speeches from H. L. Denison, K. C., Conn. H. T. Warr, Maj. D. O. McKay and others.

Loss of the Sloop Clara A. Benner.

The sloop Clara A. Benner, owned and commanded by Capt. Melanson, of Lower Grandville, went ashore on Monday morning and became a total loss, together with her cargo of salt, from St. John for the Maritime Fish Corporation, Digby. We understand that the cargo was insured but there was no insurance on the vessel. Capt. Melanson, who is a very careful navigator, attributes the accident to a defective compass, which was probably attracted by the Benner's two gasoline engines, both of which were running when the schooner struck the ledge.

The Clara A. Benner was an old American fisherman, having been built in Friendship, Maine, in 1897, and was still noted for her fast sailing. She was 60 feet long, 20 feet beam, 7 feet deep, registered 37 tons, and was at one time owned by Miss Blanche McGee, of Back Bay, N. B.

Bridgetown Excursion to Digby

(Bridgetown Monitor)

The excursion down the river to Digby on Monday last by S. S. Valinda proved quite as enjoyable as promised. The weather was simply ideal for such an outing, and the Bridgetown Band, which was in attendance, added greatly to the enjoyment of the trip. The boat touched at Port Wade and Annapolis, going on to Digby, leaving passengers at both places, some of whom returned to Bridgetown by automobile. The Cemetery Company wish to thank the Band (who gave their services gratuitously) and the many others who helped in making this excursion a success and contributing thereby something in the vicinity of $50 toward the Cemetery Fund.

Tuesday Night's Entertainment.

The best musical event of the season was the song recital in the Bijou Theatre last Tuesday evening. The program was most excellent, and the audience present consisted principally of summer visitors and River people, all of whom were delighted with the manner in which the programme was rendered. Every number was encored and the audience seemed to regret when the recital was over. Both Signor and Mme. Berini are, without doubt, the best in their profession and are greeted with tremendous houses in the big cities in which they sing.

Fire at Saultville.

Two children set fire to James Thimot's barn at Saultville, at 8:30 Tuesday morning. It was soon totally destroyed, together with its contents, including fifteen tons of hay, and a new $200 hay presser. The flames spread to the house, which was also destroyed. The furniture, doors and windows were saved.

Death at Marshalltown.

William Apt, aged 70 years, died suddenly at the home of his son, Reuben, at Marshalltown, Wednesday evening. Mr. Apt is survived by a widow, six sons and three daughters, with the exception of Reuben, all of whom are in the United States. The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

No Halifax Exhibition This Year.

Owing to present war conditions, the risk of transportation being held up, the widespread financial and industrial conditions resulting in the withdrawal of exhibitors; and the limitation that part of the plant may be required for war purposes, the commission have decided not to hold any Exhibition at Halifax this year.

Base Ball Notes.

Digby was defeated Monday afternoon by the Americans to the tune of 12 to 0. Errors played a leading part in the downfall of Digby. They did not play their usual snappy fielding game, but showed improvement at the bat. The Americans played a good all round game and won out.

—The following new teachers have been engaged for the coming term at the Digby Academy: Elva N. Kedy, of Bridgewater; Gertrude Robertson, of Digby; and Florence Simpson, of Tupperville. The latter taught school in Digby several years ago and has many friends here who will welcome her return.

Saturday's Sailing Race.

The Swampscott sailing dories from Harbor View, belonging to the Western Nova Scotia Yacht Club, had another good race last Saturday afternoon.

The preparatory signal was hoisted at 4:00 and the starting signal at 4:15. The following are the owners and numbers of the boats which crossed the line:

- No. 1 Percy Howe.
- No. 3 Frank B. Witherbee.
- No. 5 Raymond Shipman.
- No. 6 Charles Chase.
- No. 7 John B. Lord.
- No. 8 Geo. Chard.

A strong breeze from the south-west caused the owners to put a single reef in their main sails. The run to the Bear Island buoy was to leeward, some of the boats carrying their main boom to port, others to starboard. No. 7 got a bad start. The main and jib sheets got away from the helmsman as he was ready to cross the line. The time that he lost was not made up but he continued around the course.

Mr. Shipman, as usual, was doing good. No. 5, until more than half way to the first buoy, a sea suddenly carried away his rudder and tiller. This was greatly regretted by all. Capt. Danforth, in his yacht Alton, which was accompanying the little races, picked up the rudder without the tiller. Mr. Shipman was unable to again enter the contest.

The boats turned the Bear Island buoy close together and now came the heat to windward to the "Point" buoy. No. 7 stood up in the Cove and followed the Joggins shore while the other boats stood out in the rough water and got more wind. The "Point" buoy was finally turned and the "close haul" to the finish was certainly a pretty one, some of the boats being less than half a length apart.

The finish was as follows:

- No. 1 Howe 4:25.45
- No. 3 Witherbee 4:35.55
- No. 5 Shipman 4:50.00
- No. 6 Chase 4:57.10
- No. 7 Lord did not finish

No. 7, at 5:40.00, was just at the finish line when her sheets were started and she squared away for Harbor View with the remainder of the fleet which had completed the course.

The total points are Shipman, 7; Chard, 2; Howe, 6; Witherbee, 3; Chase, 2; Lord, 1. The latter, however, we regret has not as yet joined the club and the point therefore cannot count towards the trophy.

Maritime Funeral Directors' Association.

Mr. J. F. Rice, Digby's well known embalmer and funeral director, returned home Saturday from Moncton, N. B., where he attended a very successful meeting of the Maritime Funeral Directors' Association, at which Professor Lena R. Simons, of Syracuse, N. Y., was lecturer and demonstrator. Joseph Spenser, of Halifax, was elected President of the Maritime Association; Mr. J. F. Rice, of Digby, was elected President for Nova Scotia and F. L. Tuttle, of Moncton, President for New Brunswick.

Death at Deep Brook.

There passed away at Deep Brook on Monday of last week, after a lingering illness, which she bore with Christian fortitude, Mrs. David Lent, at the advanced age of 90 years. The C. P. R. flyer, St. George, under command of Capt. Cardiff, arrived at the Digby pier for St. John yesterday afternoon with her burgeo on her foremast up side down and flying a few feet below the truck. This kicked up quite a sensation among the people on the wharf. While the passengers were being landed some one evidently drew an officer's attention to the flag and it was immediately lowered and turned right side up, thus showing the carelessness too often displayed in the proper use of bunting.

Saint John Exhibition

Late advice from the management of the Saint John Exhibition are to the effect that everything is proceeding satisfactorily and that the show will be held from September 5th to the 12th as planned. The fact that the Nova Scotia Provincial Exhibition has been called off will make the Saint John Show more than ever the chief attraction of the season. While the conditions occasioned by the war have caused one or two exhibitors to withdraw, owing to the fact that it is impossible for them to get some special goods from Europe, their places have quickly been taken by firms anxious to avail themselves of this opportunity and others still remain on the "waiting list." Word has been received from the amusement men in New York that everything in this department will be carried out according to contract, in fact every department of the exhibition will be complete and as far as known satisfactory under the circumstances.

The various transportation companies will have their cheap rates ready for publication in a day or two, whereof information may be obtained from the Station Agent.

The Hospital Ship Fund.

LYNCH—I have your telegram and think you have done marvellously well and I want to thank you personally and all your helpers who have so generously given to this out pouring of Canadian women toward our mother country in her need. Will you please thank all who worked with you in my behalf. Really the response has been wonderful. It was always expected by the Scotians to do so nobly and she has certainly justified her reputation. With kindest regards and many thanks.

Sincerely yours, BERTHA MACGREGOR

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, it has a tendency to close, and hearing is lost. Unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Since cases of deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.

Mr. George LeBlanc and Mr. Jesse O. Deveau, of Salmon River, were in town last Monday.

Miss Isabelle Maillet, of Maville, returned Friday after a week's visit at Little Brook and vicinity.

The Misses Aglae and Marie Ann Belliveau, of Belliveau's Cove, were the guests of Mrs. Amy Dugas last week.

Schr. Mina Gorman, Capt. Gorman, will leave this week for St. Paul Island, O. B. She will take a load of framing and lumber for the life saving station to be erected there by Mr. Sifford Robichau, of Meteghan Centre, under contract of the federal government.

The little boy of Mr. Frank P. Deveau, of Meteghan River, who about three months ago had been so badly hurt by a loaded cart passing over his leg and arm, is able to go about with the aid of a crutch, evidently Dr. MacDonald has performed a great feat of surgical skill.

Mrs. Martin Thibodeau died Wednesday, the 12th inst., after a lingering illness, at the age of 68 years. She had been for sometime suffering with heart trouble, at times enduring excruciating pains. Funeral took place Friday morning. She belonged to the Society of the Ladies of St. Ann.

Your correspondent here and Mr. Ulysse Comeau, were at the Riverside Hotel, Meteghan River, Sunday evening. The hotel has been highly patronized by American tourists and others. And well they may for visitors at the Riverside will always find the best of accommodation and also one of the best tables in any hotel along St. Mary's Bay.

THE EUROPEAN WAR

British Hold Up Many Germans at Port Said

"COLOSSAL FLEET" OF MERCHANTMEN UNDER SEIZURE AND MANY GERMAN AND AUSTRIAN OFFICERS UNDER ARREST—FIRST ROUND NOT YET BEGUN AND BRITISH SHOULD NOT THINK THAT GERMANS ARE ALREADY DEFEATED.

MILAN, Aug. 18.—A cable despatch received here from Port Said, says: "There is an unprecedented state of affairs here, through traffic in the Suez canal having practically ceased. The port is crammed with ships of all nations. Captains are afraid to proceed."

"Besides there is a colossal fleet of German merchantmen under seizure. They have been deprived of the central pieces of their engines likewise of their wireless installations. The whole of Germany's sea commerce with Australia, Asia and East Africa, is absolutely paralyzed and the only vessels passing through the canal are those flying the Italian flag. These are besieged by hordes of foreigners anxious to get away from Egypt among them many German and Austrian officers, who have been arrested by the British authorities while attempting under disguise to get away."

"All public services are under military control and all banks closed. Telegrams from Cairo and Alexandria are subjected to a triple censorship. Rigid vigilance is exercised over the native population to prevent any nationalist rising."

LONDON, Aug. 18.—The Chronicle takes the occasion of the announcement of the British expeditionary force to reduce to their true proportions the engagements so far fought.

"It says: 'It is a great misfortune that a large section of the British public are getting the impression that the Germans are already beaten. This impression is quite premature. The military calculation at the outset of the war was that Germany would probably win the first ground, but that if our nation and France could go on after that without panic, they would, with Russian assistance pull her down. This is still probable. The calculation is that the first round has not yet been fought. It has not even begun. There has so far only been sparring.'"

The Chronicle's editorial, referring to the official publication of the news of the landing of the British expeditionary force on French soil says: "The announcement shows that under Kitchener's direction the nation is now in a position to assert what influence its small but highly trained army can have on the military fortunes of war. It does not show more nor should it at this stage, when all must still be in secrecy in preparation for the great blows which have not yet been struck."

LONDON WITHOUT DEFINITE NEWS OF ANY BATTLE

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Up to midnight, London has been as completely without any definite news as to what has happened today in Belgium, where, according to a despatch filed at Brussels Tuesday night a fierce battle was proceeding, as the British capital was of news that the Napoleonic forces had been crumpled on the field of Waterloo until days later, when the tidings of Wellington's victory were brought by sailing boats from the continent and from Dover by courier to the capital.

There has been a practical stoppage of all war news today. Early editions of the afternoon papers were issued soon after the last editions of the morning papers had been run off.

They proclaimed with startling posters that the big battle so long awaited had begun or that a general German advance had been ordered, or whatever the ingenuity of the printer could devise as a sensational interpretation of one or two scrawpy messages issued by agencies.

"New Waterloo Began" was one announcement. So far as it is possible to draw conclusions from the meagre indications available it looks as if the Germans were pushing forward upon Antwerp in an endeavor to insert a wedge between that fortress and the Belgian field army for if the Belgian field army could be cut off from its support its regular garrison might prove inadequate to defend it. The screen which has been drawn over some operations makes it impossible to hazard a guess in what direction they have been sent.

Despatches received by London papers from Boulogne today speak of many arrivals by transport but these despatches possibly have been held up by censorship.

TOLL FOR THE BRAVE, THE BRAVE THAT ARE NO MORE

LONDON, Aug. 19, 4.08 p. m.—The official information bureau has issued an interesting account of the sinking of the British cruiser Amphion by a mine in the North Sea, which was first reported last week.

After describing how the Amphion and the third destroyer flotilla had proceeded to carry out a prearranged plan of search the report continues as follows:

"A trawler informed them that she had seen a suspicious ship throwing things overboard. Shortly afterwards the German mine layer Koenigin Luise was sighted steering east. Four destroys gave chase, and in about an hour's time she was rounded up and sunk.

STRUCK EARLY IN MORNING
"After picking up the survivors of the German ship the plan of search was carried out without incident until 3.30 in the morning. At this hour, as the Amphion on her return course was near the scene of the operations of the Koenigin Luise, her course was altered to avoid the danger zone. This was successful until 6.30 a. m., at which hour the Amphion struck a mine."

"A streak of flame instantly engulfed the bridge. The captain was rendered insensible and fell to the fore and aft bridge. As soon as the captain recovered consciousness he rang to the engine room to stop the engines, which were still going at revolutions for twenty knots.

"As all the forward part of the Amphion was on fire, it was found impossible to reach the bridge or flood the magazine. The ship's back appeared to be broken, and she was already settling down by the bows. All efforts, therefore, were directed to placing the wounded in places of safety in case of an explosion, and in getting the cruiser in tow by the stern."

"By the time the destroyers had closed in, it was clearly time to abandon the ship. The men fell in for this purpose with the same composure that had marked their behavior throughout. "All was done without hurry or confusion, and twenty minutes after the cruiser struck the mine, the men, the officers and lastly the captain, had left the ship."

SECOND EXPLOSION
"Three minutes after the captain had left another explosion occurred. This enveloped and blew up the entire forepart of the vessel. The effect of this showed the Amphion must have struck a second mine, which exploded the fore magazine. Debris falling from a great height struck the rescue boats and the destroyers, and one of the Amphion's shells burst on the deck of one of the destroyers, killing two Englishmen and one German prisoner.

"The after part of the Amphion then began to settle quickly until its foremost section was on the bottom, and the whole after part was inclined to an angle of forty five degrees. In another quarter of an hour this also had disappeared.

"Captain Fox, of the Amphion, speaks in highest terms of the behavior of his officers and men throughout. Every order was promptly obeyed, without confusion or perturbation."

Pope Pius Died Yesterday Morning

RELIEF THAT GRIEF OVER THE RUSSIAN WAR HAD NOT BEEN HASTENED BY HIS END

ROME, Aug. 20.—Pope Pius died at 1.20 this morning. He had been ill for several days, but alarming symptoms did not develop until Wednesday morning.

Throughout the day Doctors Marchiafava and Annici devoted the utmost energies to stimulating their patient and keeping him alive. The cardinals were notified of the pope's grave condition and some of them, who entered the sick room, describe the impressive and heart rending scenes, especially when the pontiff, rousing himself from time to time, spoke. Once he said:

"In ancient times, the pope by a word might have stayed the slaughter but now he is impotent."

Prayers were said by thousands and the bells of the churches sounded when the sacrament was exposed upon all the altars.

When the court learned of the pope's condition there was the deepest concern. King Victor Emmanuel personally informed Queen Helena, and the news was communicated to the Queen Mother.

Extremeunction was administered by Mgr. Saspini sacristan to his holiness, amid a most touching scene.

The pope's last illness began almost coincidentally with the great war in Europe. Those close to him believe that grief over the situation brought on the final crisis, and so overwhelmed him that he was unable, in his 80th year, to withstand still another attack of his old enemy, gouty catarrh.

His health had been the pontiff's lot for many years, and intermittently the attacks have been so serious that the world was prepared several times to hear of his passing. During the summer there had been numerous denials from the Vatican that his indisposition was serious.

As late as Aug. 10 last upon the occasion of the eleventh anniversary of his coronation, Pope Pius granted numerous audiences. Two days later it became known that he had cancelled practically all engagements. His attendants reported that he was unable to work, and that he sat listless and silent, for hours, evidently brooding over the great clash of arms in Europe.

Friday's Cricket Game.

DIGBY DEFEATED WEYMOUTH AT DIGBY FRIDAY.

A match game was played between the above teams at the Digby Athletic grounds on Friday, Aug. 14th, resulting in a win for Digby by 8 wickets. The Weymouth boys arrived by auto mobiles resplendent in their new uniforms, white with red border. As the cars dashed up to the gate of the athletic grounds, your reporter could not keep from smiling as he thought how times have changed since he played with the old Digby eleven. The early morning start for Weymouth on the old coach (Stalling's) and the long tiresome drive of 22 miles came rushing back to memory, and then the return at night. There are a few of us old timers left yet who will recall the torch light procession when we had won. A cricket match used to be an event and everybody attended the game. Very different from the interest taken now in these days of base ball and moving pictures. Surely "those were the happy days."

Weymouth brought a strong side to Digby last Friday but our boys certainly out bowled and out batted them. Weymouth went to bat first, Jones and J. McNeill facing the bowling of Dakin and Weir. The play was slow, the bowling being very accurate. Weir with his graceful delivery and deceptive pace was right at top form, and from one of his long ball balls McNeill soon fell a victim, being clean bowled for a duck. Jones was bowled by Dakin after scoring 3, amid great rejoicing of the few Digby spectators present. "There goes Weymouth's hope," I heard a resident of that town say. This was certainly a fine start for Digby as Jones is probably the finest batter in the provinces. H. Halliwell had scored three when he was run out. This score then standing 3 wickets down for 3. A. Ruggles came next (a son of the old time cricketer, Norman Ruggles by the way). From the first the bowling from each end worried him and he soon fell a victim, also to Dakin after having scored 2. Campbell followed and after having hit out 1 ball in good style was caught by Drummond, bowled Weir. Dr. Halliwell then came in and did the best batting for his side of the match. One very fine drive of his reaching the boundary fence, straight over the bowler's head, for which the doctor was loudly applauded by all present. He hit up 9 before being dismissed by a very smart catch by Raymond at point. Dr. Hogan then took up the task, but was almost immediately bowled by Weir for a duck's egg. C. Oliver following, after having made 3 he was caught by Raymond, bowled Dakin.

"The Cat" making one of his circus catches. J. B. McNeill played steadily for 2. M. Oliver being run out for 1. Filleul (son of Henry, the old time heavy hitter), the last man, fell to Dakin being clean bowled without scoring. There were 9 byes and 1 wide, score for Weymouth, first innings, 36.

Digby started their first innings with Drummond and Cohoon facing the bowling of Jones and Campbell. Drummond fell to a break of Jones, middle wicket, after having hit up 3. Cohoon soon succumbed to Campbell, clean bowled after just saving his duck, score reading 2 for 3. Titus followed and it was a treat to see this old Digby boy batting again. His batting was very fine, the ball always hugging the ground in correct style. He has been playing with the Everett (Mass.) team and certainly has retained his form. I believe he is the best batter we ever had in Digby eleven.

He reached double figure before being caught in the slips by Jones by a lightning catch. It was hard luck, Kinman was caught and bowled Jones off a full pitch. Roy did not seem to know what to do with it and hit it straight back to the bowler, he failed to score. Tupper followed Kinman and was bowled Jones third ball for a duck. Dakin batted well for his 8, making a couple of nice drives. He was clean bowled by Campbell. Weir then fell to Campbell after scoring a single. German was out for 1, caught Campbell, bowled Jones. Raymond was given out L. B. W. on a very doubtful decision after adding 1 to the score. Barr followed and after playing carefully hit a boundary and almost immediately another, tying the score again after. He was bowled Jones after having contributed a priceless 7. C. Allen was the not out man with 1 to his credit. Byes 4, wides 1; total 39.

Weymouth's second innings was almost a repetition of their first, not a man of the eleven reaching double figures. Jones was again bowled by Dakin after having scored 7; Halliwell was out for a duck, bowled Dakin. J. McNeill was run out for 1. Ruggles was caught Drummond, bowled Dakin. Campbell and McNeill were both stumped by the wicket keeper Tupper, who was very quick behind the stumps. Halliwell was clean bowled by Weir after adding 4 to the score. Hogan played too far back and his wicket after making 3. C. Oliver was bowled Weir for a duck. M. Oliver got 1 run and was then caught by Barr, off Dakin. Filleul being the not out man. Byes 3; Total for the innings 32.

Digby were left with only 30 to make to win. Titus and Drummond starting the innings, Drummond was quickly run out for 0. Cohoon was bowled Campbell for 1. Kinman fell to Ruggles after contributing 3. Tupper played well for 4 and then was bowled Campbell. Dakin hitting the winning run. Titus' score was 20 made by faultless cricket. His cutting and driving being very fine; one drive going over the fence, Digby thus winning the game by eight wickets to spare.

The next game in the League is between St. John and Digby at St. John. If Digby wins (which on form she ought to) the deciding game for the championship for the Bay of Fundy Cricket League will be between Digby and Weymouth. The Weymouth boys were entertained while here at The Pines and motored home in the evening. Following is the score:

Canadian Forestry Convention Postponed Indefinitely
Owing to the fact that the President and Directors of the Canadian Forestry Association have, after the most careful consideration, decided to cancel the arrangements for the Forestry Convention which was to be held in Halifax, Sept. 1st to 4th, 1914, and to postpone the Convention indefinitely. Whatever it is decided to do in the future, due notice will be given thereof to the members and all others concerned.

Attention is particularly directed to the fact that all railway arrangements as published have been cancelled, and that anyone going to Halifax within the stated dates will have to pay full fare back to starting point. All persons reading this notice are requested to make it known to any others who they know were preparing to go to Halifax.

Seventy Years Ago.
"Occasional" in Saturday's Halifax Recorder.
Seventy years ago, when Robinson's circus performed yesterday, there was a circus performance. Fuller's circus and menagerie came to Halifax. They were to have given a show at Bay's field, but the owners wanted no touch with the military authorities, as the Commonwealth was solely under their control then, and got permission to perform there. After this exhibition (which was not a patch on the present, except in the number of animals), they left by way of Annapolis, and took the steamer British Tar for St. John, N. B. On the voyage the vessel caught fire, and the whole affair—horses, animals and work—was a portable Mrs. Jarley's establishment—were destroyed or engulfed in the Bay of Fundy.

Uncle Sam to Buy Ships.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 10.—President Wilson today approved a plan to have the government buy a number of ships to be used in taking American foodstuffs abroad. It was tentatively agreed that an appropriation of $25,000,000 would be asked of congress for the purchase of the ships.

Port Wade.
Wm. John and wife returned to Boston last week.
Miss Hattie Benjamin, of Wolfville, is visiting her friend, Miss Lena Kears. Master Frank Wood, of Annapolis Royal, is spending a few days with relatives here.

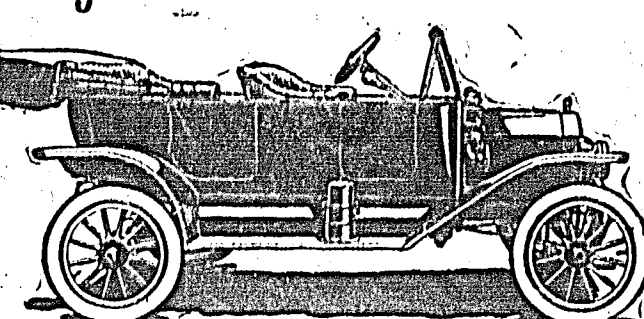

Sgt. Onward, Johnson, arrived in port from Boston on the 12th and will load hard wood at Goat Island.
Miss May Gilmer, of New York, and Mrs. Bello Hiltz, of Boston, are spending a few weeks with their sister, Mrs. Lena Covert and also at the home of their brother, Capt. Wm. Ryder.

The "Schneefels," a German liner, running from Ceylon to Boston, is reported to be chartered by the British. The "SALADA" Tea Co. will be greatly embarrassed by this as they had a large quantity of tea on her. It may be remarked that German liners have been doing a big share of the tea carrying trade between Ceylon and America.

STEVENSON'S LAMENT.

A Book He Couldn't Read and the Kind of Story He Wanted.

This, from the "Letters of R. L.
Stevenson," shows his aversion to reading one of his own books and the kind of story for which he yearned:

"To W. L. Henley: I send you a book which (or I am mistaken) will please you—it pleased me. But I do desire a book of adventure—a romance—and no man will get or write me one. Dumas
I have read and read too often;
Scott, too, and I am short. I want to hear swords clash. I want a book to begin in a good way—a book, I guess, like "Treasure Island," alas, which I have never read and cannot, though I live to be ninety. I would that some one else had written it! By all that I can learn it is the very book for my complaint. I like the way I hear it opens, and they tell me John Silver is good fun. And to me it is and must ever be a dream unrealized, a book unwritten. Oh, my sighings after romance or even Skeltery, and oh, the weary age which will produce me nothing!"

"Chapter I.—The night was dark and cloudy, the ways foul. The single horseman, cloaked and booted, who pursued his way across Wiltshire common, had not met a traveler when the sound of wheels—

"Chapter II.—"Yes, sir," said the old pilot, who must have dropped into the bay a little afore dawn. A queer craft she looks."

"She shows no colors," returned the young gentleman musingly.

"They're no-lowering of a quarter boat, Mr. Mark," resumed the old salt.
"Vo shall soon know more of her."

"Aye," replied the young gentleman called Mark, and here, Mr. Scudrift, comes your sweet daughter, Nancy, tripping down the cliff."

"God bless her kind heart, sir!" ejaculated old Scudrift.

"Chapter I.—The notary, Jean Rossignol, had been summoned to the top of a great house in the Isle St.
Louis to make a will, and now, his duties finished, wrapped in a warm roquelet and with a lantern swinging from one hand, he issued from the mansion on his homeward way. Little did he think what strange adventures were to befall him!"

That is how stories should begin.
And I am offered husks instead.

What should be:
The Filibuster's Cache,
Jerry Abernaw,
Blood Money, a Tale.

What is:
Aunt Anne's Tea Cozy,
Mickey's Niece,
Society, a Novel.

R. L. S.

Lincoln's Life Line.
When former Senator Blackburn was a very young man he practiced law for a time in Chicago.

One day in the fifties he was engaged in a case against one of the big lawyers of the city. Blackburn was in straits. He floundered a bit, and a tall, homely man who was reading a newspaper near him gave him a hint. He floundered again, and the tall man gave him another hint.

Then the opposing lawyer jumped up.

"If your honor please," he shouted,
"I desire to inquire whether Abraham Lincoln is an attorney of record in this case?"

"I'll answer that," said Mr. Lincoln, the future president. "I am not, but I am too soft hearted to sit here and watch this young man overboard without throwing him a plank!"—Saturday Evening Post.

Peeling Onions For a Living.
The profession of onion peeling is not one that obtains much notice, yet there are at least 600 women in the east end of London earning their living by removing onion skins. With practice they can make 4 or 5 shillings per day. Often they have been peeling since childhood, daughters succeeding mothers. It is not a profession you can learn in one lesson, for the skin must be removed by hand or the onion
"julees" and is no use for pickling.
The onions are always peeled in water.
This is not to save the eyes of the peeler, but is done to keep the onion white.—London Express.

They All Think That.
"There goes a man who is sure I'm not doing my duty to my family."
"One of your neighbors?"
"No."
"Evidently a friend of an intimate friend of yours?"
"Wrong again. Not even an acquaintance."
"Who is he, then?"
"A life insurance agent."—Detroit Free Press.

The Thunder.
"Say, mamma," queried the small son of a local labor leader, "is it the thunder that strikes or the lightning?"
"The lightning, dear," was the reply.
"Oh, well," replied the youngster, "I suppose the thunder doesn't belong to the union."—Chicago News.

Not Very Far.
"Here's a dollar back that I marked and put into circulation only day before yesterday. Surprising, eh?"
"Oh, I don't know. A dollar doesn't go very far these days."—Judge.

Real Unhappiness.
Still-hap—What's the matter, old man? You look unhappy. Cynicus—I am. I'm almost as unhappy as a woman with a secret that nobody wants to know.—London Telegraph.

Make clean work and leave no tags.
Allow no delays when you are at a thing; do it and be done with it.—Professor Blackie.

READ THIS LETTER

Superintendent of Sunday School in Toronto Tells How He Cured Himself of Chronic Rheumatism After Suffering for Years.

55 DOVERCOURT ROAD, Oct. 1st, 1913.

"For a long time, I have thought of writing you regarding what I term a most remarkable cure effected by your remedy 'Fruit-a-tives'. I suffered from rheumatism, especially in my hands.
I have spent a lot of money without any good results. I have taken 'Fruita-tives' for 18 months now, and am pleased to tell you that I am cured.
All the enlargement has not left my hands and perhaps never will, but the soreness is all gone and I can do any kind of work. I have gained 35 pounds in 18 months."

R. A. WAUGH

Rheumatism is no longer the dreaded disease it once was. Rheumatism is no longer one of the "incurable diseases". "Fruit-a-tives" has proved its marvellous powers over Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago, Influenza, and all such diseases which arise from some derangement of stomach, bowels, kidneys or skin.

Synopsis of Coal Mining Regulations

COAL mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2,500 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal subdivisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. COLEY, Deputy Minister of the Interior. N.B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

Is Kaiser Crazy?

Is the Kaiser crazy? That is the question being asked on every hand. Here is some evidence from his own lips.

Extract from speech made by the Kaiser at the unveiling of the monument of William I, on August 31, 1897:

"My Grandfather, the great and glorious ruler, issued from his residence in Coblenz, and ascended the throne as the chosen instrument of the Lord; indeed, he justly regarded himself as such. For all of us, but more particularly for his Princes, he has again lifted up on high an adamant sword, Kingship by Divine Grace."

The above is taken from "Kaiser's Speeches" by Wolf von Schierbrand.

MONTECALMAN'S VERSES.

That same week A. M. R. Gordon, a Montreal newspaper man, wrote the verses that became so famous and almost caused war between Germany and the United States when a naval officer of the latter country recited them at a naval banquet:

"KAISER AND CO"; OR "HOCH DEH KAISER."

Being Wilhelm der Grosser's estimate of himself and Partner, translated from the original Hoch deutsch.

HE HELPED THE DEAD

"Father," said Dorothy Vicos, "I have more confidence in your judgment than my own or that of any one else, and I am going to submit a case to you. John and Edgar Walcott have both been making love to me, and each wishes me to be his sweetheart. Neither has yet accomplished anything toward founding a home, and a marriage with either for some time to come is not to be considered. But both are young and I believe will in time take their places among fairly successful men. I am willing to engage myself to one of them, I confess, because, living in this quiet place, I may not have a better opportunity. John is the more liable to win success. He is, I admit, rather selfish and prone to look out for his own interests. Edgar, I fear, may not get on. He is kindly and generous. You know, dear father, that I am a very practical girl, and it seems to me that generosity and success are incompatible. Nevertheless I like Edgar better than John. Now what do you advise?"

"I would not think of advising you, my child," replied the father, "but I will make some statements bearing on the case. Success comes in different ways. Probably the man who looks out for his own interests and hoards is the most likely to get rich. But a kind hearted, generous man will make friends, and friends are valuable. 'Why not send these two young men out into the world, promising that they may return, say, in five years, and take the one who has achieved the greater success? It will be a fine stimulus for them and may be the means of making a career for both. Besides it will give us an opportunity to test the two methods—selfishness and generosity."

Dorothy acted on her father's advice and told the young men, who were brothers, to go out into the world and return on that day five years hence, when she would betroth herself to the one who had been more successful. On the surface, at least, the fact that they both wanted the same girl had made no difference in their brotherly love, and they agreed to go together. It was at a time when gold was being discovered in Colorado, and the brothers concluded that they would go there and seek for the wherewithal to enable one of them to marry Dorothy. "If we make a strike," said John, "we can return without waiting for the five years to pass and claim the prize."

They entered the gold country, and with pick and shovel began to dig. Whenever they got discouraged they heard of some lucky stumbler who had made a fortune in a hole in the ground, and they would go on digging. There was but one trouble between them. They had been given a certain amount of money by their father to hold in common while they were prospecting. Whenever they met any one out at the elbow or hungry or otherwise impoverished, Edgar would insist on giving him something from their treasury. To this John objected, but as Edgar kept on insisting on helping every one he met John at last made a division of what was left and told his brother that if he wished to ruin himself he might do so; he (John) washed his hands of the matter.

They continued to dig, hoping every day to strike something that would at least add to their fund which was getting low. Edgar's share was so reduced that there was but a few silver pieces left.

One afternoon, having abandoned a hole in which they had been digging, and with their tools on their shoulders they were walking toward another location where they had heard gold had been found, they came to the dead body of a man who, judging from the pick and shovel beside him, had been a prospector. He was very much emaciated, and as he had no marks of violence on him it appeared that he had sunk from exhaustion.

"Poor fellow!" exclaimed Edgar. "Very likely," said John "he died of starvation. He should be a warning to you, Edgar, not to be wasting your money on every beggar who comes along."

"Let's bury him," said Edgar. "Bury him! Why should we waste our time at that?" said John impatiently. "Come on!"

"He may have a wife, a mother, a sister, possibly a sweetheart, who some day will be glad to know that he received decent sepulchre."

"Edgar," cried John angrily, "you're a fool! I'm worn out with you. Stay here if you like and bury the man. I'm going on."

He walked away, expecting his brother would follow him. But he did not. Edgar began to dig a grave and John passed out of sight. That was the last time they met until the five years that they were to remain on trail were up.

On the date appointed John Walcott who had left off prospecting and opened a small store stocked with goods for miners, reaping thereby a small fortune, returned to his home to put in his claim for Dorothy's hand. He found her married to his brother Edgar and living in fine style.

"How did you do it Edgar?" asked John, astonished.

"You remember the dead man I buried? Well in digging his grave I struck one of the best paying mines in Colorado."

A MISTAKEN IDEA

There are some people who still resort to drugged pills or alcoholic syrups to overcome colds, nervousness or general debility, and who know that the pure, unadulterated nourishment in Scott's Emulsion is infinitely better, but refrain from taking it because they fear it may lead to excessive fat or obesity.

This is a mistaken idea, because Scott's Emulsion first strengthens the body before making flesh. Its blood-forming properties aid nature to throw off sickness by building health from its very source, and flesh is formed only by its continued use. Liquid alcohol substitutes for SCOTT'S.

From the Instructions of Frederick the Great to his Nephew and Successor.

As it has been agreed among men that to cheat our fellow creatures is a base and criminal act, it has been necessary to find a world that might modify the idea; and the world policy has been sanctioned to that end. In all probability this world was selected only for sovereigns because they cannot really be called rogues or rascals. However that may be here is what I think of policy. I mean by the word policy, that we must always try to dupe other people; that is the means, not of getting the advantage, but of remaining on an equal footing; for be sure that all governments in the world have the same end in view. This principle being laid down do not be ashamed of making interested alliances from which you yourself can derive the whole advantage. Do not make the foolish mistake of not breaking them when you believe that your interests require it, and above all up hold the following maxim: That to despoil your neighbors is to deprive them of the means of injuring you. Policy, properly speaking, establishes and perpetuates kingdoms; and, consequently, my dear nephew, policy should be well comprehended, conceived and understood with regard to great interests. To this end we are going to divide it into 'statesmanship and private policy. The former concerns only the higher interests of the kingdom; the latter is for the use of the monarch.

The Milkman.

The milkman goes his weary way before the rising of the sun; he earns a hundred bones a day, and often takes in less than one. While lucky people snore and drowse, and bask in dreams of rare delight, he takes a stool and milks his cows, about the middle of the night. If you have milked an old red cow, humped or a big six gallon pail, and had her sweat you on the brow with seven feet of burly tail, you'll know the milkman ought to get a plunk for every pint he sells; he earns his pay in blood and sweat, and sorrow in his bosom dwells. As thru the city street he goes, he has to sound his brazen gong, and people wake up from their doze, and curse him as he goes along. He has to stagger thru the snow when others stay at home and snore; and thru the rain he has to go, to take the cow juice to his door.

Thru storm and flood and sun and rain, the milkman goes upon the jump, and all his customers complain, and make allusions to his pump. Because one milkman milks the creek, instead of milking spotted cows, against the whole brave tribe we kick, and stir up everlasting rows. Yet patiently they go their way, distributing their health full juice, and what they do not get in pay, they have to take out in abuse.

Regular Service via Yarmouth Line Being Maintained.

The steamers "Prince George" and "Prince Arthur" are punctually maintaining regular schedule between Yarmouth and Boston on the Yarmouth line, and this will be gratifying news to our readers who are contemplating going to, or returning from, the States.

The Port of Yarmouth is no way interfered with, and the fact that it offers the shortest water route to Boston, makes this line a great favorite with the travelling public.

Steamers leave Yarmouth every day except Sunday (running time only about fifteen hours from Yarmouth to Boston), thus affording an exceptionally frequent and quick service.

For all information, stateroom reservations, etc., communicate with the Company's Agent, Mr. A. E. Williams, at Yarmouth, N. S.

A representative of the company informs us that the British Consul, at Boston, has assured Mr. Calvin Austin, President of the company, that the Atlantic is clear and perfectly safe for British and American steam ships.

Better Company Elsewhere

A Sunday school teacher was questioning her class of boys on the strength of their desires for righteousness.

"All those who wish to go to heaven," she said, "please stand."

All got to their feet but one small boy.

"Why, Johnny," exclaimed the shocked teacher, "do you mean to say that you don't want to go to heaven?"

"No, ma'am," replied Johnny promptly. "Not if that lot is going."

War and Drink

To the Editor of the Courier:

DEAR SIR: Whether in war or in single combat the use of alcohol in some form used to be almost universal; but, not today, as the following excerpt from the Mail and Empire demonstrates.

"It used to be the custom on British ships of war to serve out a double ration of rum when the ships were going into action. This practice has long been done away with, and when there is fighting to be done, neither officers or men are allowed a drink of anything but oatmeal water. It is too well recognized that a modern man of war is too complicated a piece of machinery to be risked in the hands of a man whose pulse has been quickened by alcohol. The modern conning-tower has its walls literally covered with electric switches and buttons. To press the wrong one at a

—A number of our fishermen using motor boats without mufflers inform us they are already beginning to get deaf. Some of them are unable to hear fog whistles and other means of assistance to navigation. Others are unable to hear over the telephone and are therefore severely handicapped in the important matter of bait reports, to say nothing about the inconvenience they experience in attending meetings, etc., while on shore. The time is surely coming when no one will attempt to run a motor boat without a muffler and the majority will use an underwater exhaust. What is five minutes' speed in a day's work compared to the loss of acute hearing. Fellow boatmen, consider this carefully and install a muffler before it is too late.

Another Visiting Yacht.

The sailing sloop Arethusa arrived here Tuesday night from Marblehead, Mass., via Maine ports, and sailed again early Thursday morning for her return trip. The Arethusa is a well-furnished trawl cabin sloop 23 ft. over all, 24 ft. water line, 8 ft. beam with a draft of 5 ft. 6 in. She was designed and built by Wilbur A. Morse in Friendship, Maine, in 1908 and is registered at North Haven, Maine. She had on board her owner, Mr. Harold Peters, of East Forest Hills, Mass., who is a member of the Corinthian Yacht Club, of Marblehead, and a pretty barge was at her most head, and his friend Mr. O. N. Little, a member of the American Yacht Club, of Newburyport, Mass. Both were enthusiastic yachtsmen, very pleasant to meet. They greatly appreciated the use of the W. N. S. Y. Funeral of the Late Wilbur Apt.

The funeral of the late Wilbur Apt., a notice of whose death appeared in our last issue, took place from his late home in Marblehead last Saturday afternoon and was largely attended. We can certainly recommend it to our readers. Messrs. S. Kerr & Son, the proprietors, take a personal interest in the students and as it has often been said, "to insure a successful career attend the St. John Business College." We wish it continued success.

The Bijou Dream Theatre

The Bijou Dream theatre was well filled Tuesday night to witness the five reel subject entitled, "A Lady of Quality." It was without doubt one of the best pictures ever shown in Digby. Next Tuesday's feature, however, promises to surpass any programme shown by Mr. Frisbie. It is entitled "The Girl of the Storm" and should be witnessed by a large audience. Mr. Frisbie is sparing no expense to entertain his patrons and by the size of the audiences his efforts are certainly appreciated. Read his big advertisement on the fifth page of today's COURIER.

Saturday's Sailing Race.

Last Saturday afternoon was not a good racing day for sail boats. At 2:30 there was not enough wind for the Harbor View boats to reach Digby. The Oakesella picked them up in various places on the Basin and towed them to Digby, presenting a pretty picture as she arrived at the starting line with eight boats in tow, including Mr. Shipman's sailing yacht and tender. At 4:32 the preparatory flag was hoisted and the starting signal at 4:37. The following boats crossed the line: No. 1 Howe, 5:17.40; 3 Frank B. Witherbee, 5:17.40; 5 Raymond Shipman, 5:17.40; 6 Charles Chase, 5:17.40; 8 G. Chard, 5:17.40. The boat race to the Island buoy was made in a very light breeze, at times being almost a drifting match, some of the boats being tumbled very close together. The buoy was turned as follows: No. 1 Howe, 5:17.40; 3 Frank B. Witherbee, 5:17.40; 5 Raymond Shipman, 5:17.40; 6 Charles Chase, 5:17.40; 8 G. Chard, 5:17.40.

For a few minutes after the buoy was turned the wind completely died out and Chard drifted to leeward with the ebb tide, and finally gave up the race just as a good breeze struck the remainder of the fleet which at times was quite fresh and afterwards gradually became lighter. The "Point" buoy was turned as follows: No. 1 Howe, 5:17.40; 3 Frank B. Witherbee, 5:17.40; 5 Raymond Shipman, 5:17.40; 6 Charles Chase, 5:17.40; 8 G. Chard, 5:17.40.

All four boats were obliged to make several tacks to reach the finish but turned the home buoy in the same order as at the "Point." The total points are Howe 10; Shipman 9; Chard 8; Witherbee 4. Chase 1. The last race of the series takes place tomorrow if the weather is favorable, and the cup will be presented tomorrow night for the season of 1914.

Base Ball at Digby.

THE FINAL GAME WON BY THE AMERICANS WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

The final game of the series between the Digby base ball team and Americans was played on Wednesday afternoon at the D. A. A. grounds. From the start the game was one of the most exciting. The score was close until the fourth inning, when the locals forged ahead by four runs. Things looked gloomy for the Americans at that time, when they rallied in the fifth by terrific batting and scored five runs, leading by one run. From that time on many interesting plays were put up by both teams. The fielding of the Digby team at this period took a brace and held the strong American aggregation scoreless until the eighth inning when they sent two men across the rubber giving themselves a lead of three runs.

Excitement ran high in the ninth inning when the locals were led by Dick Dakin, Mearns and VanTassel piled the sphere for long hits scoring two runs. With the bases full and none out only the superb fielding of the American champions prevented the locals from pulling defeat into victory.

Bishop as slab artist for the locals was opposed by Boylston for the Americans. Shreve and Mearns were on the receiving end. Rosenfelt held down the initial sack in line style but was a little weak on fly balls. Townsend covered himself with glory at the first station handling everything that came his way in perfect style. Nothing could get by Frispi, a member of last year's Harvard team, while Walker seemed up to any hard slams.

Shreve and Mearns were both unfortunately injured early in the game. Dakin played third in grand style and shot them over to first with great precision. Eldridge took several good throws from the plate and got his man each time. The fielders played errorless ball. One hard fly was gathered in by the right fielder, a fine robbery. Boylston of a hit.

The features of the game were the batting and fielding of Dick Dakin, Walker, Mearns and VanTassel for the locals while the entire infield of the American team played real champs.

She was wrecked at Trout Cove last November and was purchased at auction by A. Bouillier, of Centerville, and Samuel Gidney, of Mink Cove, who employed W. A. Chute, of Bear River, to raise her from the tide and place her in safe quarters for repairs. She was made as good as new by Hillarian S. Dovesau, of Meteghan, was launched in July and brought to Digby on Wednesday as stated above, where she is receiving a new set of sails manufactured by J. O. Dakin. The Lila G. Bouillier is one hundred and twenty five tons and now flies the British flag. A Courier reporter was shown through the vessel on her arrival to this port. Her cabins and entire accommodations for her crew of 25 men are as good as ever seen at this port and have already attracted a lot of attention. Capt. A large picnic party from Bay View located on the grounds of James H. Thorne on Friday, and after an enjoyable outing returned in the evening.

The Baptist and Episcopal Sunday Schools, of this place, united in a picnic on Goat Island on Tuesday. The weather was perfect and the happy company enjoyed the outing immensely.

Dr. Bogart very kindly conveyed the party to the island in his spacious motor boat and spared no pains to make the trip, which was greatly enjoyed, a most agreeable one. Various games amused the young folks, after which a bountiful collation was served followed by toasts in which Dr. Bogart, Rev. Mr. McWilliams and E. H. Porter took part.

The doctor gave a most patriotic and inspiring address upon England's position in the great European war. At the close the company joined in singing God Save the King. All were safely landed near their homes at 8 o'clock in the evening, all voting it to be the best Sunday School picnic they ever attended.

Races, games and other amusements were enjoyed by all. The day closed with a standing vote of thanks to the genial Dr. and many sincere wishes for repetition of the outing another year, followed by the singing of the National Anthem.

This is to certify that I have used MINARD'S Liniment in my family for years, and consider it the best liniment on the market. I have found it excellent for horse flesh.

Haying is about over in this vicinity. Harvesting of grain is next in order. Oats will be above the average. Barley and oat straw is quite heavy. Very little buckwheat is raised here. The growing of this splendid grain should be encouraged.

War prices are on here to some extent. We are only getting 12 lbs. sugar for $1.00 and 60c. per lb. for Cr. Tartar. We are of the opinion that this is a little previous. I suppose the dealers want to improve the time, as the general opinion is that the war can't last long.

Successful Event at Weymouth North

(Special to the Courier.) Our summer residents, from across the border, are certainly setting the pace for others to follow. Some people have been known to climb high and dangerous cliffs to cut out their stone to be seen by future generations of ambitious climbers, but here, at Weymouth North, are ladies who have engraved their names on human hearts and on the walls of sacred buildings. They have quite unconsciously written their names in letters of gold that will be seen and honored when they shall have passed away from the scene of this life.

Mrs. Owen Oakes and Miss Annie Oakes, of Boston, Mass., who own handsome and very cozy summer residences by the salt water and in the midst of the most beautiful natural scenery, held an ice cream social on the afternoon and evening of the 22nd inst. The proceeds to go towards paying for repairs on the Baptist church. The spacious veranda of the cottage, owned by Miss Oakes, was profusely decorated with flowers and brilliantly illuminated by Chinese lanterns.

Mrs. Oakes is a lady of very rare ability in entertaining; her business-like method in carrying out the sales were perfect. The whole affair was a great success both socially and financially. The result of the sales was $841.05.

To the ladies, including Mrs. Hobart, guest of Miss Oakes, and all who gave so liberally and worked so hard to make such a good and profitable time, we take off our hat and say—Thank you.

TWO WOMEN

SAVED FROM OPERATIONS

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Their Own Stories Here Told.

Edmonton, Alberta, Can. — "I think it is no more than right for me to thank you for what your kind advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have done for me.

"When I wrote to you some time ago I was a very sick woman suffering from female troubles. I had organic inflammation and could not stand or walk any distance. At last I was confined to my bed, and the doctor said I would have to go through an operation, but this I refused to do. A friend advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now, after using three bottles of it, I feel like a new woman. I most heartily recommend your medicine to all women who suffer with female troubles. I have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills, and think they are fine. I will never be without the medicine in the house."—Mrs. FRANK EMBLEY, 903 Columbia Avenue, Edmonton, Alberta.

The Other Case.

Beatrice, Neb. — "Just after my marriage my left side began to pain me and the pain got so severe at times that I suffered terribly with it. I visited three doctors and each one wanted to operate on me but I would not consent to an operation. I heard of the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was doing for others and I used several bottles of it with the result that I haven't been bothered with my side since then. I am in good health and I have two little girls."—Mrs. R. B. CHILD, Beatrice, Neb.

England! the Anchor of the World

Oh England! glorious England! the anchor of the world!

Amid the crash of shattered thrones, of realms to ruins hurled,

Firm in the loyal chivalry unto itself be true, serene, and tranquil in thy might—to succor or subdue.

And nations round thee honor thee where'er thy flag is unfurled!

Our homes, our altar, and our King—oh, hallowed words and dear!

And well beloved by British hearts to every British ear.

There shall be music in the sound, as sweetly to the sky:

Our God's triumphant word! True: Fuzzebow's gathering cry:

Hear where'er o'er bark can call, or ocean's waves be curd!

The faith of loyal England! the anchor of the world!

Oh England! glorious England! my own beloved!

Still shalt thou reign the ocean king, the olive in thy hand.

The dove that 'mid the ocean seath can yet unsullied bear

Peace to the gathered nations—thine own serene and fair.

If firm thy loyal children guard thy lion flag unfurled,

The Bulwarks of Britannia's might—the anchor of the world!

Why He Was in Doubt

The Sunday school teacher had explained the familiar Bible story at length and then asked Tommy if he expected to be among the sheep or among the goats.

"I dunno," said Tommy doubtfully.

"How's a fellow to tell when his Paw calls him a lamb an' his Paw says he's a pesky kid?"

Always the Same.

It was little Hester's first year in school. The spelling lesson was being reviewed, and the teacher asked Hester how she would spell the word "bird."

"Just the same today as we did yesterday," she promptly answered.

A GHOST PILOT.

Tom Singleton, to use a homely expression, was a boating incubator. He spent all his vacations on Casco bay, on the Maine coast. There is something more in that than handling a boat, and that is handling what the boat is liable to bring up against. The waters are literally full of rocks.

Tom early fell in with a fisherman named Wilkins—Captain Wilkins he was called, as all men who sail their own boats in that region are—who took a fancy to the youngster because they both loved the water. Wilkins usually went out after dark, set his nets and returned about sunrise the next morning. Tom was so in love with the water that he would go out with the captain one or two nights in the week. That's what made the captain love Tom. Both were awed by the solemn grandeur of the starry dome above them. Both loved the mystical moonlight—so Tom named it—and when they got caught in a rising wind and all was black about and above them, if there was not a pleasure in it there was a pleasure in getting ashore and in the memory of it.

But there was one weather condition that appalled Tom, and it was this: that caused him to confine his excursions alone to short sails in fair weather—he dreaded a fog.

And why shouldn't he? Often when the sun shone brightly on a partly sub merged rock and the foam of a gigantic wave breaking over it he would exclaim "Just think of running on to that on a dark night or in a fog!" And the captain would say, "I've been sailing in this bay for thirty years in dark nights, in foggy nights, in all kinds of nights, and I never struck one of 'em yet."

"I dunno. Reckon I do it as you get out of bed in the middle of the night and go down stairs for a drink of water or something, with out a light."

One day when the two were sailing together Tom said that so long as he lived he would spend all vacations on Casco bay and if he grew rich he would spend the whole of each season there.

"I won't be with you when you're running your own yacht, Tommy," said the captain, "but if you ever get in a bad fix I'll help you out."

"What after your dead?"

No one dies. We simply change conditions; we don't need legs and boats and such like."

When the mackerel became so scarce that it didn't pay two captains to go out nights he and Tom would cruise about among the beautiful islands of the bay, living aboard the boat. They had butterfish for breakfast, cod or lobster or clam for dinner and mackerel for supper. And as for sleeping when at anchor in a cove, with the wavelets soothing them to slumber against the side of the boat, they kept awake only because it was so delightful.

Well, the day came when Tom Singleton was able to keep a small yacht of his own and spend the greater part of the summer cruising in her. He took her to Casco bay—he owned a cottage on Bailey's island—and enjoyed sailing to his heart's content.

But, though he knew a great deal more about navigating a boat than when a youngster, he was not up to the rocky bottom of Casco bay. More over he didn't have Captain Wilkins to rely on, for the captain's old bulk was buried in the cemetery on the highest part of Orr's island, where one can see the ocean in many different parts. So Singleton was obliged to sail his own boat, confining himself to fair weather.

But if the yachtsman could tell about what the weather would be he couldn't predict freedom from fog. The coast of Maine is nearly as bad for fogs as the banks of Newfoundland. They come suddenly and sometimes they stay a long while.

One bright morning Singleton started with his wife and children and a few friends from Bailey's island for Popham beach. They had made the voyage outward and were returning past Seguin light when a fog bank came rolling in from the eastward and enveloped them. Singleton could steer only by compass, and what is compass steering on the coast of Maine? The fog was heavy and promised to be of long duration.

Tom heard a wail of waters to port. He knew the sound and steered just in time to avoid one of the big submerged rocks of that part of the bay. The party passed a couple of hours in terror; then it began to grow dark.

The women and children were mostly in the cabin or on the forward deck. Tom had the tiller. He began to feel a resistance when he turned it and, this continuing he yielded to the force. He heard waters surging to port and starboard, but seemed to pass by some unseen seamanship, between or around all dangers. He let go of the tiller and it moved not by the waves but apparently by the unseen force.

What was Tom's astonishment at last to find himself in the narrow channel cut between Orr's and Bailey's islands and going through safely. When he got out into the sound the fog suddenly vanished and he was enabled to steer for the dock.

No one can convince Tom Singleton that a spirit hand was not on the tiller during that perilous voyage. And he remembers Captain Wilkins' words: "If you ever get a bad in fix I'll help you out."

Fire at Deep Brook

COLONIAL ARMS HOTEL DESTROYED
EARLY WEDNESDAY MORNING.

Fire which is said to have caught from the kitchen, was discovered in the interior of Colonial Arms, a summer hotel at Deep Brook, Annapolis county, at 12.30 Wednesday morning. The whole building was soon a mass of flames and was totally destroyed long before daylight.

A portion of the furniture was saved including the piano and a quantity of silverware.

The loss is estimated at $50,000. The loss is covered by insurance. The Colonial Arms was erected by its present proprietor, Capt. J. D. Spurr, a few years ago. This is said to have been an off season and that less than 20 guests were in the hotel at the time of the disaster, all of whom were in bed, but escaped unhurt. A few trunks were lost, but most of the guests saved their clothing and jewelry.

The loss of the hotel will be keenly felt in the village which is quite a popular summer resort, many of the smaller houses there having a very successful season.

We have been unable to get an interview with the proprietor, to ascertain if he intends to rebuild.

Yesterday's Halifax Chronicle says:

The loss is estimated at about $50,000 and the insurance was $20,000 on the building and $30,000 on the furnishings, carried by the following Halifax firms: Saunders & Duffus, A. J. Bell & Co., W. R. MacLennan, A. M. Jack & Son, Curran, Hart & Co., Thompson and Adams.

The Late Archie Lord

The South Adlon notes in the Bangor Daily News contains further particulars of the accident which caused the death of the late Archie Lord, formerly of Little River, whose obituary appeared in our last issue. It appears that Mr. Lord was instantly killed by the premature explosion of dynamite. He and John Davis were out near Salmon Rock after pollock but were in separate boats and as the engines were both in motion he could not hear the peculiar hiss of the fuse until it was too late. Mr. Davis succeeded in overtaking the boat and getting her under control and with the assistance of two other men who were near by towed the boat into the harbor. Mr. Gordon Chandler was called but deemed an inquest unnecessary. The body was taken in charge by undertaker, F. E. Wass and properly prepared for burial. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon. The beautiful flowers which entirely covered the casket were silent witnesses of Archie's friends. The deceased was a member of the Knights of Pythias and the officers and members of the lodge were in attendance at his funeral.

Another Fire.

What nearly became a serious blaze occurred in the dining room of Bent's Restaurant, Water street, yesterday morning. While the proprietor, Mr. Vernon Bent, was filling the tea and coffee heater with gasoline it became ignited with the burners and was soon in a fierce blaze. With great presence of mind a stream from a small garden hose soon extinguished the fire. An alarm was rung in and the department promptly responded but their services were not required. Mr. Bent's arm was badly burned and considerable damage done to the interior of the adjoining rooms, portieres, etc., being totally destroyed.

Yarmouth Man in Paris.

The following was written on a post card from Mr. George N. Crosby, of Port Maitland, who was at the time in Paris:

"Hell is let loose in this city. The people are crazy for war. The army and navy are in the whole city is disorganized. About 10,000 tourists are stranded on account of money. The money is all locked up and they won't take the paper money. We can't get away; no trains, no money we can use."

Under date of August 28th we received a card from Mr. Crosby, Brooklyn, N. Y. He was then enroute to Port Maitland.

South End Lawn Tennis & Quoit Club.

The last regular tea of the season will be held on Saturday afternoon on the Club grounds. As last Saturday's tea had to be postponed on account of the weather, it is hoped a large number of the members will be present on this occasion. The tea will be in charge of the following committee: Mrs. J. F. Rice, Mrs. Moody, Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. DuVernoy, Miss Vivian Rice, Miss Carolyn Viets, Miss Una Thomson, Mr. Hopkins, Mr. Egbert Robertson and Mr. A. E. Titus.

Fire at the South End.

An alarm was rung in about 7 o'clock Wednesday morning for a fire in an annex to the South End Grocery caused by the explosion of an acetylene gas tank. Mr. Osborne Turnbull threw the tank out doors saving the building from catching on fire, but was quite badly burned about his face and arms. Mr. H. G. Turnbull, proprietor of the establishment, who also assisted in putting out the fire, had one of his arms slightly turned.

Special Train Service, Withdrawn

The special train service which has been operated Tuesday and Saturday evenings during the summer season between Annapolis Royal and Digby has been withdrawn for the season, Tuesday evening being the last trip. This service has been a great convenience to all residing west of Annapolis and many summer visitors between Annapolis and Digby have found it of advantage in visiting the two towns.

A remarkable driving accident happened on Water street Monday afternoon. Mr. Edgar Warner's horse and carriage went off the bank between J. L. Peters and A. J. Westhaver's stores and neither horse, carriage nor harness were injured. Mrs. Warner and daughter Bessie were about to get in the carriage when the accident occurred.

Saturday's Sailing Race.

TROPHY WON BY PERCY HOWE'S BOAT
SAILED BY DR. WHITE, A MEMBER OF THE EASTERN YACHT CLUB.

Saturday afternoon's sailing dory race closed the series of 1914 races held under the auspices of the Western Nova Scotia Yacht Club. There was, as usual this season, no wind until late in the afternoon when a breeze from the southeast was sufficient to start the boats in a down pour of rain which wet the occupants, all of whom were sporty enough to finish notwithstanding the cold disagreeable weather.

The preparatory signal was hoisted at 4.30 and start made at 4.35, the following boats crossing the line:

No. 1, Percy Howe sailed by Dr. White.

" 3, Frank B. Witherbee.

" 5, Raymond Shipman.

" 6, Charles Chaso.

" 8, George Chard.

Good time was made around the entire course, the winning boat finishing in less than an hour. The home buoy was reached as follows:

No. 1, Howe 52.15

" 3, Shipman 54.30

" 5, Witherbee 54.50

" 6, Chaso 54.50

" 8, Chard 54.50

The points for the series tallied as follows:

Howe 14, Shipman 11; Chard 9; Witherbee 5; Chaso 4.

At 7.30 the Oakesells sailed from Digby for Harbor View with the sailing committee, Commodore O. S. Dunham, Vice Commodore Howard Anderson, J. O. Dakin and trophy on board. The storm continued to increase and the sail over and return was a disagreeable one, but was enjoyed by the enthusiastic yachtsmen who were there. The trophy was presented to Dr. White, Mr. Howe's representative. It will remain in Mr. Howe's possession until July 1915.

County Court.

On Tuesday, the 1st inst., the September term of the County Court opened at the Court House in Digby. Judge Pelton presiding. Barristers present: Mr. Dennison, K. C.; Mr. Jones, K. C.; Mr. Grierson, Mr. E. H. Nichols, Mr. F. W. Nichols.

Two appeal matters in Probate Court were first heard and disposed of. Only one entry on County Court docket, that of Holdsworth vs. Ross, which was set out of Court.

On Wednesday, 2nd, the County Judge's Criminal Court opened and heard the case of The King against Harold Thorpe and Charles Louie alias Earl McLellan, for entering and stealing from a dwelling house. Upon being arraigned they pleaded guilty, and were sentenced. Thorpe to three years in penitentiary at Dorchester, N. B.; Louie (being under 16 years of age) to three years at Industrial School, Halifax.

The King and George Raymond (not a Digby resident) for stealing from Lour Lodge at time of fire. Tried and prisoner discharged.

Then adjourned.

Death of Miss Agnes Conwell.

After an illness of less than a week, Miss Sarah Agnes Conwell died at her home, Prince William street, last night, aged 60 years. Her death has cast a gloom over the suddenly bereaved relatives and a large circle of friends. She was a devout member of the Roman Catholic church, a great christian worker and had been the means of greatly building up the Catholic denomination in this town. Her place in St. Patrick's church will be a difficult one to fill. She was very kind to those in need and took a deep interest in everything that was for the good of the community.

Miss Conwell is survived by three sisters and one brother: Rev. Mother Conwell, of Sacred Heart Convent, Halifax; Madame Susan, of the Convent of the Sacred Heart, Rochester, N. Y., and Eleanor and Frank at home; one niece, Sister Emanuel, of Roxbury, Mass. Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

Base Ball at Digby.

On Labor Day the Digby base ball team will play the Kentville boys who claim the championship of Nova Scotia, not having lost a game this season. A double header for one price of admission, 25 cents. Digby will have the strongest team on the field that they have had this season, and will be out for both games. Don't miss it.

It seems that dog fish are raising havoc with the fishermen. Indeed, the bay is alive with the post. Trawls, nets, etc., are full of the brutes. However what is so troublesome and onerous to the fishermen is proving a boon to the farmers, in the shape of fine compost which will bring back a surplus of farming produce. Just what we need in the present crisis.

What almost proved a sad case of drowning occurred Monday morning, 31st inst. While Mr. Eddie Robicheau and his two little boys were out taking in their nets, the boat capsized throwing the three into the water. Not losing for an instant his presence of mind, Mr. Robicheau managed to get his boys from under the boat and placed them on the stern. He took off his boots but could not get on the boat himself. Happily he was seen from the shore and other boats went to his assistance.

When almost all the nations of Europe are engaged in one of the most terrible wars that has ever been witnessed, the Canadian nation has a duty to fulfil toward itself as well as toward the mother country. All in regretting the awful calamities brought about by this war and in aiding the mother land as much as we can, let us have also a thought for the advancement of the Canadian people. The great problem before us today is the situation of a country, who has made large importations of goods and all of a sudden to see those same importations cancelled. The European countries to our manufacturers have disappeared till the end of the war. Let us then give the advantage of the situation to the Canadian manufacturers. The immediate effect of this war was to paralyze business. The effect to follow will be to stimulate our trade if we keep cool, and if we encourage our national industries. Because Europe is engaged in a deadly struggle is no reason for crawling into a hole and remaining quiet until it is blown over. Now is the time to be up and make business, and all to do their share in booming trade, and in the end they will never regret it.

Increasing Grain Production.

Many farmers, when urged to try growing fall wheat, have excused themselves on the plea that it did not pay; but it is likely for the next year or two, there will be ready sale at good prices for every bushel of wheat grown in Canada. Every farmer should endeavour to increase his production of grain next year by putting into use every acre capable of producing it.

There are hundreds of acres in Central and Eastern Canada that would successfully grow fall wheat. By preparing the land immediately, a great number of farmers could sow at least a few acres each this fall. No risk is being taken in so doing, as the extra cultivation for the fall wheat would increase the yield of a spring sown crop in the event of the wheat being winter killed. The land would need only to be disked or cultivated to prepare it for spring grain.

The grain production can also be increased by ploughing up the old unproductive meadows at once and sowing to grain in the spring. They should be ploughed shallow NOW and packed and disked and kept worked until autumn, when they should be thoroughly ploughed again, ready to be worked early next spring. The importance of ploughing the land for next spring's crop early this summer, and keeping it worked during the autumn cannot be too strongly emphasized. Those who are now practicing a systematic rotation might profitably increase the grain crop area next year, and to those who are following the old meadow plan of farming, a better opportunity was never offered to a systematic rotation by breaking up the old sod and putting in grain. It will pay to make use of every acre possible in producing grain, as it is sure to be needed.

Town Council.

The Town Council met August 31st, at 8 p. m. Present: His Worship the Mayor and Councillors, Troop, Wightman, Winchester, Rice and Jordan.

The minutes of the last meeting of the Council were read and approved. His Worship made a fitting reference to the present European War. He said there would no doubt be cases of hardship and distress arise and that the Council should be in a position to grant relief when necessary. He advised every one to exercise prudence and to be as economical as possible. He thought employers of labor should keep their employees at labor wherever possible so that there should be as few as possible out of employment.

Mrs. Stanley Aymar asked the Council to grant a reduction in her taxes as her property in her opinion was too highly assessed. The Council declined to grant her request.

Mr. F. W. Nicholas appeared on behalf of Mrs. Isabella Brown and asked for a remission of a portion of her taxes on Lour Lodge on the ground that the property had been burned and she had suffered serious loss thereby. He thought a reduction of $30.00 on the hotel and $30.00 on the personal property destroyed should be made and asked for such reduction.

Moved by Councillors Rice and Wightman that the sum of $125.00 be remitted from the amount of Mrs. Isabella Brown's taxes for the present year provided that the Council can legally grant such reduction. Carried.

H. L. Dennison presented his report of the Convention of N. S. Municipalities at Amherst.

On motion of Councillors Rice and Winchester the report was received. Report of G. A. Vye, Supt. of Streets and Water, was read as follows:

Digby, N. S., Aug. 31st, 1914.

To His Worship the Mayor and Council: GENTLEMEN,—I beg to submit the following report to Streets and Water.

Extensive repairs have been made on the following streets, North Water St., Prince William, Sydney, Church, Mount, Warwick and St. Mary's Streets, also First and Second Avenues.

One new service system put in for Mr. L. Handspiker. Three heavy standpipes and Watering Tank repaired.

(Sgd.) G. A. Vye.

On motion of Councillors Rice and Winchester the report was received and adopted.

Report of E. DuVernet, M. D., Health Officer was read as follows:

Digby, Aug. 31st, 1914.

To the Mayor and Town Councillors of Digby: GENTLEMEN,—I beg to report that the sanitary regulations recommended in my last report and endorsed by the Board of Health have been carried out. Early in the month of June scarlet fever broke out in the South End and an epidemic was narrowly averted as some of the cases were of such a mild nature that physicians were not called and consequently no precautions taken. When the disease was discovered strict quarantine regulations were enforced and two rooms in the Academy fumigated.

A number of complaints of unsanitary conditions have been received and attended to. (Sgd.) E. DuVernet, M. D., Health Officer.

On motion of Councillors Rice and Winchester the report was received and adopted.

The Clerk read the decision of the Board of Public Utilities re discontinuance of the all-night electric light service.

The following bills were read and on motion ordered to be paid:

William Tebo.....	$ 1.50
Wallace Clark.....	1.50

His Worship stated that he had attended a meeting of the Fire Co. and they had made a number of complaints to him which he stated to the Council and he thought they should be attended to.

On motion of Councillors Troop and Rice the matter of the complaints of the Fire Co. were referred to the Fire Committee to take action at once and to see that the Fire Company's quarters were made neat and clean and necessary additions be made to keep them clean so that the Fire Co. will be satisfied.

On motion of Councillors Jordan and Troop the Fire Co. was granted permission to add five men to their Company so as to make the number of firemen 25 instead of 20 as at present. The Council adjourned at 11:30 p. m.

Tea Embargo Removed Price Drops Five Cents.

HALADA TEA COMPANY ANNOUNCES REDUCTION—WILL BUY BACK TEA FROM WHOLESALE.

The Halada Tea Company announced Tuesday that they had reduced the price of their tea five cents a pound. They make the following announcement:

The embargo on tea has been definitely removed in England, and however temporary this may be, we have taken advantage of it to immediately reduce our prices five cents per pound. This is in spite of the fact that war risk insurance and freights are still abnormally high, and that no shipments have yet been made from Ceylon or India.

All these conditions leave the tea situation, while relieved somewhat from last week, still in very difficult condition and it is impossible to see a week ahead.

We are undertaking to take back all the tea we shipped last week from the grocer, and pay him for it exactly what he paid. The cost of this is very large, but we know this is the only way in which the interests of both the consumer and the grocer can be safeguarded.

Synopsis of Coal Mining Regulations

COAL mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2,500 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights are applied for.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal subdivisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be stated out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty will be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

SUFFERED EVERYTHING

For Years, Restored To Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Canadian women are continually writing us such letters as the two following, which are heartfelt expressions of gratitude for restored health:

Glanford Station, Ont.—“I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and never found any medicine to compare with it. I had ulcers and falling of womb and doctors did me no good. I suffered dreadfully for years until I began taking your medicine. I also recommend it for nervousness and indigestion.” — Mrs. HENRY CLARK, Glanford Station, Ont.

Chesterville, Ont.—“I heard your medicines highly praised, and a year ago I began taking them for falling of womb and ovarian trouble.

“My left side pained me all the time and just before my periods which were irregular and painful it would be worse. To sit down caused me pain and suffering and I would be so nervous sometimes that I could not hear to see any one or hear any one speak. Little specks would float before my eyes and I was always constipated.

“I cannot say too much for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, for there are no medicines like them. I have taken them and I recommend them to all women. You may publish this testimonial.” — Mrs. STEPHEN J. MARTIN, Chesterville, Ontario, Canada.

Harrah For Britain!

Harrah, Harrah, for George the Fifth! Harrah for Britain's King.

An empire grand doth to him bring. We homage to him bring.

Harrah, Harrah, for Britain's sons! Harrah for George the Fifth!

That well loved flag—St. George's cross—Where find a nobler sign?

Canadians and Britains both In Britain by the sea, Beneath that flag that stirs their blood They soon will fighting be.

With French and Belgians they'll unite To clear that neutral soil Of the vast host by Kaiser sent; Thus help his plans to foil.

Though German arms go seldom back, Though German arms are strong, We trust they'll meet their Waterloo Before the month is gone.

The allied troops will vex him West The Russian hordes are East With Japan after Klanchian Will make him think at least!

Where are his mighty ships of war? His cruisers of the sea! All bottled up by Britain's fleet As safe as they can be.

Australia sends her steel clad ships New Zealand sends her And Canada a million bags Of flour to help out.

One hundred thousand tons of coal From Seattle by the sea And cheese by car loads from Quebec And apples from B. C.

The question asked—will that be all? Then comes the answer grand, One hundred thousand gallant men Will help the mother land.

From all the various haunts of men The lions whine come forth From East and West you hear their growl And from the frozen North

On Heligoland they meet once more To seek that blood stained land As they have done in years ago At duty's stern command.

The battle ground of Europe's fends For full the month and years Where empires fell midst blood and lust Oh God, the groans and tears.

With England, Belgium and Japan And France and Russia too, With Serbia and her sister state, And what may Italy do!

A great array against the league Of Austro-German power These two'll look back when they made war And curse the luckless hour.

Ere war has closed proud Austria Will lose her vast estate With none to pity or delay Her well deserved fate.

Alas—Lorraine to France will turn The Kaiser humbled be Because he claimed diviner power Than God's own majesty.

They felt indemnity must pay Before they're granted peace The Kaiser then will be disposed The German empire cease.

Are there not Frobenius and Blake's And Nelson's by the score And Wellingtons and Marlborough's too As in those days of yore?

Yes, we will find the British race Will be as brave as then Shall not the self same heritage Bring forth the self same men?

Oh, God our help in ages past Be thou our savior now For thou dost bear the nations up And all to thee must bow.

Look down in thy compassion, Lord, And cause this war to cease Stretch forth thy hand in thine own way And bring an endless peace.

is an enemy within the camp. It will undermine the strongest constitution and ruin the most vigorous health.

It leads to indigestion, biliousness, impure blood, bad complexion, sick headaches, and is one of the most frequent causes of appendicitis.

To neglect it is slow suicide. Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills positively cure Constipation. They are entirely vegetable in composition and do not sicken, weaken or gripe. Preserve your health by taking

WEALTH OF HAIR

Parisian Sage Makes Thin Lifeless Hair Soft and Abundant

Beautiful hair, thick, soft, fluffy, lustrous, and free from dandruff, is one of woman's greatest charms, yet so many have striven, thin and lifeless hair and think there is no remedy. Pretty hair is largely a matter of care.

Frequent applications of Parisian Sage will rub into the scalp in all that is needed—it acts like glycerine. Try it tonight—you will really be surprised with the result. Not only will the hair become soft, fluffy, radiant with life and really doubly beautiful, but all dandruff disappears, falling hair and itching scalp cease—your head feels fine.

All druggists sell a large bottle of Parisian Sage for fifty cents. Get it from H. E. Jones, he will refund the money if you are not satisfied.

We venture to predict that it will be both scarce and high this fall. Those men who now see far enough ahead to purchase their bait when they can get it, will next winter be termed lucky.

Is that the right designation? The discerning person who notes the great destruction of the immature herring going on continually must surely come to the conclusion that one day there will be an end to the herring fishing in our bays.

Canoes a Busy Place
AN EVENTFUL MONTH IN THE HISTORY OF A QUIET TOWN IN TIMES OF PEACE.

(From the Canoe News.)

The story of the happenings of Canoe during the past few weeks will be interesting history a few years hence. War news and warlike preparations have caused more excitement and interest in Canoe than most places outside of Halifax and Sydney where troops have been placed. The importance of maintaining cable communication between the continents is the cause of the placing of soldiers and guns at Canoe. In view of the familiarity of the majority of the citizens with militia, it cannot be wondered that intense interest and excitement was manifested. Events took place so rapidly that each day for many days in succession furnished fresh cause for excitement.

The first intimation that Canoe was to play an important part in warlike preparation was a communication received by the Mayor on July 31st, from the officer commanding the division at Halifax, that the steamer "Stanley," with a detachment of officers and men from the Royal Canadian Regiment would arrive that evening.

The "Stanley" arrived off the harbor on scheduled time, but thick fog prevented her landing that evening. On Saturday morning, August 1st, those early about Whitman's wharf found the unusual sight of soldiers with ammunition and baggage landing and stacking their guns. Everything was awaiting for some hours. Teams were engaged in distributing baggage, ammunition, etc., at different points which had previously been selected.

The detachment was in charge of Captain H. P. Langford, who made his headquarters at Hazel Hill. Before the end of the day, soldiers were stationed at the following points: Western Union Cable Office, Canoe Commercial Cable Office, Hazel Hill; Walsh's Point and False Cove, Dover; Fox Island and Glasgow Head.

On Monday, 3d inst., Colonel F. H. O'Leary arrived on military business. On Tuesday, censorship of cables began under the direction of Colonel O'Leary, of Halifax, as Chief Censor.

Wednesday, the following: Censors began their work at the cable offices. At the Western Union—O. H. Whitman, T. B. Hambling, George W. Hart and George Self. At the Commercial Cable Office—E. C. Whitman; Capt. Black, of Wolfville; Major C. O. Hart, of Montreal; and Mr. Keith, of Halifax.

The steamer Robert G. Canoe on her arrival from Mulgrave landed two carloads of ammunition, which was stored in the rink. About noon on Thursday, the steamer Jacouns, of the Black Diamond Line, arrived off the harbor and was piloted in to Whitman's wharf by Captain George Walsh.

This steamer brought 60 men of the 9th Argyll Highlanders of Inverness; and 60 men of the 3rd Charlottetown Artillery, with horses and heavy guns. The landing and placing of these, occasioned intense interest and excitement. The crowds were kept in check and controlled on the wharf by a contingent of the Royal Canadian Regiment and the afternoon was practically a holiday for the citizens of the town. The main body of the new arrivals pitched their tents in Simon George's field in the rear of his house, while the ridge of the hill in the rear of Alex. Horton's, formerly Jarius Arrowsmith's house was selected for the mounting of the big guns. On Friday the two heavy guns were taken up Canoe Hill and along the ridge to their positions on Artillery Hill, which is the official name given to the position. A company of men was also stationed at the upper end of the Tittle pitching their tents near the Tittle School House.

Many exciting incidents have also taken place since the arrival of the troops in Canoe. Heated and persistent reports that German warships were hovering about the Nova Scotia coast kept everybody on the alert.

One night about ten o'clock, a ship was reported off Dover Bay, throwing her search lights along the coast and on the land towards Hazel Hill. The alarm was given and some people were awakened from sleep by the thundering of the heavy artillery weapons hurling ammunition from the rink to Hazel Hill.

Another cause for excitement was the arrest of a supposed spy at New Harbor by constables. He was brought to Captain Langford, at Hazel Hill, who had him confined in the town lock-up. After careful examination into his history, the suspected man was given his liberty.

With the prospect of a long stay in Canoe, the different tents are being fitted with floors, and sheds for the horses have been erected. Soldiers have ceased to be a curiosity and are being kindly treated by all.

The Digby Courier has just entered upon the 41st year of its journalistic life. Not only Digby town, but the whole country is well looked after; and the weekly reading of this bright paper is the history of that country for the last seven days.

Editor, O. S. Dunham, has steered this vessel on the sea of journalism with great success for 20 years, and we hope he may have even a more prosperous voyage for the next quarter of a century.

Last week the Digby Courier entered upon its fortieth year. During the past 20 years Editor Dunham has been associated with the Courier and has had the satisfaction of seeing it grow from a small four page to a large six page. It is now one of our best exchanges in the province and we hope it will be a valuable addition to the Canadian press.

German Lose Hope of Winning Paris and Retire Before Attack of Allied Army

BRITISH CROSS MARNE RIVER AND FORCE GERMAN BACK FOR DISTANCE OF TWENTY FIVE MILES—FRENCH ALSO WIN SUCCESSES AND SITUATION IS SATISFACTORY—RUSSIANS MEETING WITH SUCCESS IN AUSTRIAN CAMPAIGN—SOME VALUABLE CAPTURES ON SEA.

Latest official reports from the French government indicate that the offensive tactics undertaken in the last day or two by the allied armies have had the effect of forcing the Germans back at various points in the battle line, which extends from a few miles east of Paris to Verdun, a distance of about two hundred miles.

Bordeaux reports officially that the British army has crossed the River Marne, and that the Germans have fallen back twenty five miles. The efforts of the Germans to break the French lines on the Ourcq river are likewise officially reported to have failed.

Seemingly the Germans are short of ammunition at the front, and are having difficulty in provisioning, and the French war department officially announced, "that on the whole the Germans appear to be beginning a movement of retreat."

The Russian and Austrian arms continue to oppose each other in a long drawn out engagement in the Lugin district, Russian Poland. An official statement, issued at Petrograd, declares that both Austrian and German troops have been dislodged from their positions in that section, and retired towards the south.

C. battlefield in France is that which Napoleon fought in 1814, and the center, Paris covers the left wing, Chalons the center and Verdun the right, while mobile columns of troops are ready to join in the fighting wherever the line is threatened.

Vitry Le Francois and Montmirail seem to be the points of the chief engagements, and there the carnage has been the heaviest. The Allies aim at preventing the German turning movement, with a mass of troops composed of many army corps.

King George has addressed a message to the British dominions and colonies, in which he protests that the war was not of Great Britain's seeking and expresses his warmest thanks for the assistance rendered by them.

Maubeuge, a French fortress, has fallen into the hands of the Germans, and according to the report the Germans took forty thousand prisoners and four hundred guns.

The British official press bureau announces the wreck of the White Star liner Oceanic. Officers and crew were saved.

68 Germans Captured.

BRITISH WARSHIP HOLDS UP SPANISH LINER OFF HALIFAX WITH MEN ON BOARD.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 8.—In high hopes that they would soon rejoin their colors, sixty eight German army reservists, four or five of whom were officers, sailed from New York on Sunday aboard the Spanish mail steamer Montserrat, bound eventually for Genoa. They were confident that the combination of a Spanish ship bound for an Italian port would land them safely in Europe, but tonight they are behind the massive stone walls of the military prison on Melville Island, and there they seem fated to remain until the end of the war.

Early yesterday morning when the watch officers on the Montserrat sighted the grim black hull of H. M. S. Glory, one of the British squadron patrolling the western ocean, and in response to a gay colored hoist soon after flattered out on the battleship's foreyard, the Montserrat hove to for an examination, which soon showed that there would be hostile combatants on board her. The Glory ordered the Montserrat to proceed in company to Halifax where the two ships arrived this afternoon.

Captain Pablo Ferrer, commander of the Montserrat, will lodge a formal protest with the local authorities to-morrow, chiefly to protect his ship from legal action from the seized passengers.

FEARED BATTLE ABOARD.

The chief feature of the Montserrat's detention was the overwhelming joy which it caused to over a hundred French reservists, who also were on board the Montserrat. Indeed, the Montserrat was hardly a happy ship from the time she left New York. Her officers, secretly, felt somewhat relieved when the Glory appeared on the scene and sent a party of bluejackets on board to guard the Germans, for they feared that the two contingents would not wait until they reached the continent to start hostilities.

Naturally there was much French enthusiasm when the Glory's tars, armed to the teeth, came aboard, and loud were the demonstrations in favor of "Le Entente Cordiale."

Arriving off the examination battery this afternoon, the Montserrat was turned over to that service. The Glory's men returned on board, and a prize crew from H. M. S. Lancaster, the only warship in port whose crew were not busy coaling, replaced them and took the Montserrat up to her anchorage, where the military intelligence authorities took control. They made a thorough examination of the Montserrat's passengers and decided to hold sixty eight of them. This party were taken off in the military duty boat, in charge of a guard from the Royal Canadian Regiment, and were taken to Melville Island.

My DEAR MRS. LOVETT,—I would like to send you a line of personal thanks for the splendid work Bear River did for the Hospital Ship. We hope to close our fund to-morrow, and publish it possible, in the Halifax papers the whole amount collected. Possibly you have seen in the papers that the British Admiralty think the money collected can be used to better advantage in the Hospital at Portsmouth, where the sick and wounded are being brought. Of course we want it to do the most good and they ought to know. I am sure, like every other place, you found the people eager to give.

Please convey to your collectors my personal thanks.

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of the Courier:

Sir,—By written direction of Rev. Geo. P. Bryant, of Wolfville, N. S., Provincial Superintendent of Temperance Department in the Nova Scotia and Brunswick Sunday School Association, dated August 29th, 1914, I forward herewith a resolution adopted by the summer session in Berwick, and thereby ordered to be transmitted to every newspaper in the jurisdiction through the Provincial and County Superintendents of its Temperance Department, for publication in their respective journals immediately after receipt.

"Thanking you in advance for this solicited favor, on behalf of the Provincial authority before named, in haste, Yours in the work,

IRVING W. WILSON,

Digby County Superintendent.

COPY OF THE RESOLUTION.

Resolved,—That we recommend to all our Sunday schools, faithfulness and diligence in such use of the Temperance lessons as shall educate every member for total abstinence, the destruction of the liquor traffic, the exaltation of the pure and profane habits, and the surrender of every self indulgence, which inspires or destroys the power to render service to God and to man."

BATES—COVERT.

The Maiden Evening Times of Friday says: The home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Covert, 58 Hancock st., was the scene of a very brilliant event last evening, when their daughter, Mildred Wade Covert, was united in marriage to Edward Raymond Bates, of St. John, N. B.

The house was very prettily decorated with potted plants and flowers and the nuptial knot was tied beneath a bower of wild flowers. Rev. G. Edgar Folk, pastor of the Robinson Methodist church, officiated and the singleing service was used.

The maid of honor was Miss Marjorie Jean Burbank of this city, a school chum of the bride, and the best man was John St. Bates, of St. John, N. B., a brother of the groom. The ushers were J. M. Bates, Wm. F. Covert of Rochester, N. Y. and C. Chase Covert, of this city.

The bride was beautifully gowned in Duchess silk with a huge bodice and train and she carried a shower bouquet of orchids and ferns. The maid of honor was attended in yellow chiffon, trimmed with chintilly lace and she carried tea roses.

The bride's gift to her maid of honor was a handsome platinum ring set with a small diamond.

From eight to ten a reception was held and the happy couple were assisted in receiving by the bride's parents and by Mrs. Edw. Bates, mother of the groom. Music was furnished by an orchestra and a caterer's supper was served.

The bride, who is well known and very popular about this section, is a graduate of Miss Ryder's school in Medford and also of the Netherwood school, Rutheasy, N. B.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Bates, of St. John, and is engaged in the contracting business.

After an extended wedding trip through the provinces, they will make their home at St. John, N. B.

Surprise and Shower.

It was a right, jolly company of fourteen young women that assembled at the home of Miss Hazel Purdy on Monday evening, Sept. 7th.

The occasion was in the form of a surprise and "shower" to Miss May Woodworth, who is soon to become Mrs. Roy Miller. The plans of the young ladies succeeded admirably, and a most jovial time was spent. After the greetings were over, and Miss Woodworth could regain something of her usual composure, she was requested to follow certain songs that were trailed and trained all over the spacious rooms. Here and there she discovered articles that were neatly tucked away awaiting her coming. Each of these articles was accompanied by an original, appropriate poem, or rhyme.

Needless to say, the wit and humor of these caused not a little interest and mirth. One of the biggest hits was a song to be sung to the tune of the old college song "Hail-a-gig, gig, and away we go." All joined heartily in this. Very dainty, appetizing refreshments were then served, and sincere and hearty wishes were "showered" upon the popular young "bride-to-be," and the fond good nights were said.

The gratitude and appreciation of the company were extended to their genial hostess, Mrs. Corrado Purdy, for her aid, and kindness in opening up her home for this enjoyable event.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circular and testimonials.

DICKIE—STARR.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at Fort Massey church, Halifax, Tuesday morning at eight o'clock, when Jenn Cunard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Starr, of New York, was united in marriage to Walter Reginald Dickie, M. D., son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Dickie, of Halifax, formerly of New Brunswick.

The bride was becomingly attired in a travelling suit of gold colored dove-tail, with black velvet hat, and carried a bridal bouquet of white roses and lily of the valley, and was given away by her cousin, Rev. A. W. L. Smith.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. W. Ross, of Fort Massey church.

After the ceremony Dr. and Mrs. Dickie left by the Bluebonnet on a trip through the Annapolis Valley and will later take up their residence at Barton, Digby county, where Dr. Dickie is practicing medicine.

The bride was the recipient of many valuable gifts, consisting of silver, cut glass and checks.

FIGHT IN NORTH NOT TAKE

Only Desperation Will Cause Admiral Von Tirpitz to Join Battle With the British.

AS long as the German fleet is "in being," it is a menace to England. To risk its destruction by a fleet nearly twice its size would obviously be foolhardy. There are three conceivable situations which may draw the Germans out. Should the English, in an effort to force matters or in its desire to co-operate with Russia in the Baltic, be willing to divide their fleet by keeping half in the North Sea and sending the other half around the Danish peninsula, the Germans, thus offered an equal combat, might issue forth from either end of the Kiel canal. If the Mediterranean is cleared, and the French navy, or a major portion of it, is released to the support of the British in the North Sea, the latter would then have a fleet which, roughly speaking, could be divided in two and either half be about the equal of the German fleet as a whole. But such a move on the part of the British only needs to be described to be dismissed. Admiral Jellicoe will not divide his fleet so as to give the Germans an even chance of winning one section of it and more than a chance of slipping past the British lines one or two fast cruisers which could terrorize British shipping until their coal ran short. No advantage in the Baltic could be worth such a risk. On the other hand, with the present possibilities of patrol and blockade, the British fleet can probably keep the Germans effectively bottled up, the British dreadnoughts being outnumbered by their scouts whenever the Germans threaten to come out. This apparently means a protracted stalemate with the Germans occasionally making sorties in the hope of inflicting injury on a section of the British fleet, but withdrawing before superior force and not risking a general engagement. This was the situation at Port Arthur between Russian and Japanese until the fortress was threatened by land. In short, it is likely to be a long campaign of harassment, the Germans hoping that by mines and torpedoes they can pick off a British dreadnought now and then.

If the war on land should be long drawn out, and Germany should find herself slowly worn down through lack of overseas communication and the means of obtaining supplies, the Kaiser's fleet might be driven at the British in the desperate hope that superior gunnery and handling might overcome the British superiority of weight and numbers. The third situation which might force the Germans out in the possibility of the Kiel canal being captured by a land attack. We may wait long for the "big" naval battle that in reality must be a general engagement between the fleets and not a mere skirmish.

Admiral Sir George Callaghan, who was in command of the British fleet, and who is now second in command to Sir John R. Jellicoe, is one of the best known flag officers in the navy. His name came before the world when he commanded the Naval Brigade detached from the China coast to the relief of the foreign legations at Peking at the time of the Boxer troubles. He has always been considered an authority on gunnery, and on that account chiefly was appointed naval adviser to the Inspector-General of Fortifications. During the interval great progress was made in the modernization of the coast defences of Great Britain and Ireland. Sir George is an Irishman by birth, of mixed Irish and English descent, was born in County Cork, and is 62 years of age. He entered the navy as a midshipman, and attained the rank of captain in 1894, commanding in turn the Hermione, Edinburgh, Caesar, and Prince of Wales, all well known and important ships. He was a naval A. D. C. to King Edward VII., was rear admiral in the Channel fleet, and has commanded the fifth cruiser squadron. He was second in command of the Mediterranean fleet from 1908 until 1910, and commanded the 2nd division of the home fleet in 1910 and 1911, being appointed commander-in-chief of the home fleet the latter year. Sir George is a Grand Officer of the Legion of Honor of France.

When the history of Germany's mighty naval development comes to be written one name will stand out in bold relief—von Tirpitz. To this giant, fork-bearded sailor-statesman, a magnificent specimen of Teutonic physique of the old school, must fall the lion's share of the credit for the persistent aggressiveness with which the Fatherland has rushed to front rank as a sea power. He is the real creator of the Kaiser's fleet.

"Tirpitz the Eternal," they call him in Berlin. For nearly 15 years he has been unbrokenly at the helm. No other German Minister but Hansack ever survived the vicissitudes of politics. Long Imperial Chancellors have come and gone. War Ministers, Foreign Secretaries, Chancellors of the Exchequer, Home Secretaries, and Postmasters-General have appeared and disappeared by the half dozen.

Von Tirpitz is suave and frankness incarnate. In a recent interview he confessed unreservedly that his idea of German sea power was that the Fatherland must prepare itself as soon as possible to throw decisive weight into the political scales wherever its vital interests were concerned.

Specifically, he favored the two-to-three standard as the only goal compatible with German necessities, as far as Great Britain was concerned. He believed that the possession of a fleet two-thirds as powerful in offensive units as the British navy would effectually prevent combined Anglo-French military operations against Germany, besides making naval warfare, in the spirit of the Fleet Law's preamble, a grave risk for Britain.

He believed religiously in the invincible superiority of the German guns—that they would decide the issue to Germany's far outshining glory on the day when the Kaiser's Trafalgar was to be fought and won.

The French navy is under the supreme command of Admiral de la Peyrière, and on him rests the fate of the Triple Entente in the Mediterranean. Acknowledged both at home and abroad as the most distinguished officer of the French navy, he has both in his capacity as chief of the Admiralty staff and as Minister of Marine, completely reorganized that service, eliminating the dead wood, abolishing hundreds of almost incredible abuses, consigning to the scrap heap battleships and cruisers that were out of date and paying particular attention to the development of submarine navigation.

His popularity among all grades of the service is very great, and when ADMIRAL VON TIRPITZ.

Minister of Marine he still further enhanced it on one occasion by an exhibition of personal pluck thoroughly in keeping with his character and antecedents. Learning that in consequence of the number of disastrous explosions in connection with the handling of the charges of the big guns, the sailors and officers had become convinced that it was almost as dangerous to stand behind the gun or anywhere near its breech as at its muzzle, he hastened to Toulon, went on board one of the battleships there, and made a point of standing in the immediate proximity of the breech of the gun so that if there had been any explosion he would have been the very first to be blown into eternity.

WOMAN'S BEST MEDICINE

Mrs. Kelly Advises all Women to Take "Fruit-a-Tives"

HAGERSVILLE, ONT., AUG. 26th, 1913.

"I can highly recommend 'Fruit-a-tives' because they did me an awful lot of good and I cannot speak too highly about them. About four years ago, I commenced taking 'Fruit-a-tives' for a general break-down and they did me a world of good. We bought a good many dollars' worth, but it was money well spent because they did all that we claim for them. Their action is so pleasant, compared with other laxatives, that I found only pleasure, as well as health, in taking them. They seemed to me to be particularly suited to women, on account of their mild and gentle action, and I trust that some other women may start taking 'Fruit-a-tives' after reading my letter, and if they do, I am satisfied the results will be the same as in my own case."

Mrs. W. N. KELLY

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 5c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c, or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her Life and Sanity.

Shamrock, N.S.—"I feel it my duty to tell the public the condition of my health before using your medicine. I had falling, inflammation, female weakness, pains in both sides, backaches and bearing down pains, was short of memory, nervous, impatient, passed sleepless nights, and had neither strength nor energy. There was always a fear and dread in my mind. I had cold, nervous, weak spells, hot flashes over my body. I had a place in my right side that was so sore that I could hardly bear the weight of my clothes. I tried medicines and doctors, but they did me little good, and I never expected to get out again. I got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and I certainly would have been in grave or in an asylum if your medicine had not saved me. But now I can work all day, sleep well at night, eat anything I want, have no hot flashes or weak, nervous spells. All pains, aches, fears and dreads are gone, my house, children and husband are no longer neglected, as I am almost entirely free of the bad symptoms I had before taking your remedies, and all is pleasure and happiness in my home."

The Bravest Home.

The maid who binds her warrior's sash
With smile that will her pain disperse.
The white beneath her drooping lash
One starry tear-drop hangs and trembles.

Though heaven alone records the tear,
And fathoms never know her story,
Her heart has shed a drop as dear
As e'er bedewed the field of glory.

The wife who glads her husband's sword,
Mid little ones who weep or wonder,
And bravely speaks the cheering word,
What though her heart be rent asunder.

Doomed nightly in her dreams to hear
The bolts of death around him rattle,
How shed as sacred blood as e'er
Was poured upon the field of battle!

The mother who conceals her grief
While to her breast her son she presses,
Then breathes a few brave words and brief,
Kissing the patriot brow she blesses.

With no one but her secret God
To know the pain that weighs upon her,
Sheds holy blood as e'er the sod
Received on Freedom's field of honor!

It doesn't seem possible that unlo about to die on a boundless ocean too wrought upon to give my address

AN INSTRUMENT OF PROVIDENCE.

I was walking on the beach, watching the waves come rolling in before a gale and throwing up driftwood when a bottle was tossed at my feet. I extracted a paper from it on which was written:

"We are going to pieces, whoever gets this go to Norman D. Carlisle and tell him he will find my will in my desk in secret drawer."

This was all—no date, no signature, no address as to where Norman D. Carlisle would be found.

That night I went to bed thinking about the message. Suppose it was genuine. Somebody was enjoying property that belonged to another. But it seemed to me that it was genuine. The writer would have given at least the city in which the person for whom it was intended lived. If the perpetrator was doing the thing for sport or to pass the time or because he hadn't any more sense he would have given it.

Any more perhaps that's just what he wouldn't do. He might not like to particularize. On the other hand, a man who is about to be dumped into a roaring ocean might leave something out that he should have put in.

I was impelled to find Norman D. Carlisle. I didn't wish to engage in looking for a needle in a haystack, but I couldn't resist the feeling that it was my bounden duty to do so. There were then some 80,000,000 people in the United States alone, the name was Anglo Saxon, and the person might be somewhere in the great British countries. Nevertheless when I found that I couldn't let the matter alone I went into it methodically.

I put a personal advertisement in one newspaper in every city in the United States whose inhabitants numbered 500,000 or over for the said Norman D. Carlisle. I received several replies.

signed Norman D. Carlisle, the middle name usually differing. I wrote each of them asking if he had lost a relative at sea, but they all answered in the negative—that is so far as they knew.

After six months I put in another advertisement for Mr. Carlisle and received a reply from A. Norman D. Carlisle living in a town of about 50,000 people. He had seen the ad. while in the city where it had been inserted. I asked him if he had lost a relative at sea, and he replied "No." I dropped the matter so far as he was concerned, but later he wrote me that he was a lawyer and had a client who had sailed from Rio de Janeiro in a vessel that was catalogued among missing ships.

After some correspondence he sent me a check for expenses and I went to see him. He made an engagement for me to meet a lady in his office, and I was introduced to Miss Edith Parks, twenty-one years old and comely. She appeared to be a lady but was shabbily dressed. I was informed that her uncle had been lost on the missing vessel from Rio. I brought out the paper I had found, which she saw it she said she believed that it had been written by her uncle. Some of his letters were produced, and all doubt was removed. The message, though scrawled hastily in a trembling hand, was found to correspond with the uncle's writing.

I was then told that Miss Parks had been brought up by this uncle, who was wealthy, he being unmarried and without children. After he had been declared legally dead the courts had set about administering his estate and had already found forty persons who were heirs at law.

Since Mr. Weatherby, the man who had been shipwrecked, had given Miss Parks to understand that she was to be his heir it was likely that the will mentioned in the message gave his property to her. But the desk—where was it? Mr. Weatherby's furniture had been sold a year before. Who had bought the desk? No one could tell. Since I had gone so far in the matter I did not propose to be beaten now.

Advertising having failed, I advertised for the person who had bought a desk at the sale of the effects of Cyrus Weatherby. In due time I received a reply from the purchaser. I wrote him that a niece of the deceased wished to redeem it and asked him to fix a price. He said he would sell it for $100. Miss Parks had no money to pay for it so I mailed the man a check for the amount. The desk was sent to me and taking it into a cellar, I chopped it into kindling wood. Among the rubbish lay the papers in a secret drawer and taking this up I found one marked "Last and Will Testament of Cyrus Blake Weatherby." I read it and found that he left all his property to his beloved niece Edith Parks.

That same evening I called on Miss Parks with the will that changed her condition from poverty to wealth. She sat like a statue staring at the paper as though she were looking through it rather than at it. I asked her what she was thinking about, but she did not hear me. I repeated the question, and, apparently awakening from a dream, she said:

"It doesn't seem possible that unlo about to die on a boundless ocean too wrought upon to give my address

THE "GENTLEMAN CORPORAL"

They were going to take a ride to the foot hills and back—Captain Oline and the colonel's daughter. That meant a gallop of thirty miles.

"Not an Indian has been seen this side of the range for four months," said the captain as he talked over the proposed ride with the colonel, "and the trip is perfectly safe. I will do all an escort from my own company, but it will be only for appearance sake."

"Yes it will be safe, and May will enjoy the gallop," said the colonel, and no more was said about it.

At sunrise all were ready to set forth. As the girl stood on the veranda waiting for her horse six of the men of a troop came riding up under the command of Corporal Haynes. They halted thirty feet away, and as she looked over their heads she gave a start of surprise, and a flush over spread her face.

Next moment her cheeks went white and she gasped as if choked for breath. The corporal's hand slowly lifted, and his head was uncovered for an instant, and Private Harkins whispered to Private O'Brien:

"And did you see that, Jim? By smoke, if that corporal and the colonel's daughter haven't met before then I don't know a jackrabbit from a long drink of whiskey!"

"And the corporal isn't a bit easy in his mind," added the other.

It all took place in a minute, and then Captain Oline rode up, followed by the girl's horse.

The two riders went galloping away, followed at a distance of 100 yards by the escort. Now and then the pace was slackened down a bit to breathe the horses, but no halt was made until the Devil's brain was reached. The escort halted forty yards from the riders, and the men sat about on the rocks. Meanwhile Corporal Haynes climbed to the top of a great boulder and surveyed the country about with his keen eyes. It was three-quarters of an hour before he came down and said:

"Men see to your arms and lie close. I'm going up to report to the captain."

"Did I call you?" he harshly asked as the corporal came to a halt and saluted.

"No, Sir," was the reply, "but I thought it best to tell you that I have made out Indians beyond the basin to the north."

"It's all nonsense."

"But there are Indians skulking about, sir," persisted the corporal.

"Go back to your men!" was the sultry reply.

When he had reached the troopers he quietly said:

"Men I have been up to the captain to report that there is a band of at least fifty Indians skulking down this way from Red Bird pass. They have seen us, and they are after us. We've got good cover, and we can stand 'em off for the day."

"But when night comes!" asked one of the men, though without a tremor in his tones.

"Get quietly ready," was the reply. Meanwhile there was an argument between the captain and the colonel's daughter. He sought to assure her that nothing had been seen and that there was not the slightest danger; but, to his annoyance, she persisted in believing that there must be good grounds for the corporal's report. This annoyance made him delay matters, and nearly half an hour had passed, and it was very much against the grain when he shouted for the soldier to approach and sneeringly added:

"Well, corporal, isn't it about time your Indians showed up?"

We shall hear from them in ten minutes," was the reply, "but if we mounted now and rode fast we would find the way open," said the corporal with downcast eyes.

"Back you imprudent vagabond!" thundered the captain with outstretched arms. "I'll break you for this the minute we get back!"

The corporal turned his gaze on the girl for a few fleeting seconds; then his head and shoulders drooped in a helpless way, and he saluted his officer and retired.

Bang, bang, bang, went the carbines of the troopers, and the corporal came running up the hill to seize and drag the officer under shelter and to say to the girl:

"You must crouch down here and remain quiet. They can't get you till they have killed the last one of us!"

By and by she missed the reports of the carbines and the sound of foot steps echoed in her ears.

"Come!" said the corporal as he lifted her up.

"Oh, Robert, and have you beaten them off?" she exclaimed.

"No, my men are all dead, and the Indians will rush us in a minute."

"And we—us?"

He put his arms around her waist and assisted her to the rock, on which were the remains of her breakfast. The steaming, heaving, mysterious lake was thirty feet beneath them.

THE EUROPEAN WAR

It is reported that they have cut the Germans' line of communication—the enemy's troops believed to be wearing out.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The correspondent of the Daily Telegraph in France, describing the turn of the tide in favor of the Allied forces says:

"From trustworthy sources it is reported that we have already cut part of the German line of communication in the east, and it seems highly probable that we shall soon be able to drive them back upon their ammunition and supply column."

"At the same time one cannot withhold a tribute of admiration to the extraordinary and efficient way in which the German cavalry played their part. It now seems certain that the German advance, which so scared us last week, was the throwing forward of a screen of cavalry to mask the enemy's flanking movement eastward, and that they had no present intention of investing Paris."

MYSTERY OF THE CAMPAIGN.

"While the great battle is raging to the eastward of Paris the western region of France is gradually being relieved of Germans. They have been seen as far west and south as Gisors, nineteen miles south of Beauvais, but they are now eighty miles from Gisors, and how they have been driven to evacuate this region so rapidly is one of the mysteries of the real campaign, which is being partly reviewed by the official despatches."

THE SITUATION MORE REASSURING.

BORDEAUX, Sept. 12.—The military correspondent of the Temps considers the situation from the standpoint of the Allies more than reassuring. The German offensive has not only been stopped, he says, but they are being driven back all along the front. Their troops are wearing out.

"The too numerous German artillery remains," he adds, "but their infantry is insufficient for an attack with the necessary energy."

"Their long line of communication through Belgium makes the movement of supplies difficult and they are probably marching eastward with the object of establishing another base to the southeast of the Meuse which would connect also with their forces in Lorraine and on the Rhine. In that direction, however, they have no railroad at their disposal, all the lines being either covered by the forts of Charlemont and Montedry, or destroyed."

PARIS, Sept. 12.—A despatch to the Temps from San Sebastian, says:

"The paucity of war news from French sources is causing the Spanish press to be inundated with so-called German official communications, with the result that France, little by little, is losing what small influence she possessed. The Foreign Ministry gives out to the newspapers accounts of German successes in France, although the Minister is careful to say that they are of German origin, but the fact that they are communicated to the Foreign Office stamps them with a certain authenticity."

TURKEY PAVING THE WAY TO WAR.

A Washington despatch says: Turkey formally notified the United States and the nations of the world today that she had abrogated the series of conventions, treaties and privileges, originating as early as the thirteenth century, whereby foreigners in the Ottoman Empire have been exempt from local jurisdiction in civil and criminal cases. Foreign subjects no longer will enjoy what is known as extra territorial rights through which they have been tried by their own judges, diplomatic representatives or consuls.

This practice Turkey has removed by a stroke of the pen. Her purpose, it is declared, is to assert her independence and free herself from the domination of the Great Powers.

Upon the rights revoked has rested the legal status of foreign missionaries in Turkey, permitting them to maintain churches, hospitals and schools in religious freedom.

"The removal of every kind of privileges enjoyed by the Powers in excess of what the general principles of international law allow, is the meaning of this step."

A Rustem Bey, Turkish Ambassador to the United States, declared tonight, "this war is Turkey's opportunity."

No intimation was given by the Ambassador as to whether the action foreshadowed war on Great Britain, without whose consent in the past no such radical action would have been attempted.

Among diplomats of the Allied Powers, however, the belief prevailed tonight that Turkey was appealing to the nationalistic sentiment of her people, and was ready to seize upon any difficulties that may arise with Great Britain as a pretext to declare war.

THE "GENTLEMAN CORPORAL"

Catholics and Prohibition.

To the Editor of the Courier:

DEAR SIR,—Roman Catholics have recently held a convention in Niagara Falls for the purpose of discussing how best to make united warfare against the liquor traffic. That is most encouraging as in the past our Catholic brethren have not been as active in their opposition to the liquor traffic as the Protestants. They admit that themselves and are determined to lay behind no longer.

The call to this convention reads in part as follows: "The life of the liquor traffic is in the balance, and it behooves the many Catholics who are opposed to the saloon to form organizations of their own or to affiliate their efforts with the existing organizations pledged to the overthrow of the liquor traffic which is erecting its last and most formidable ramparts where Catholics are most numerous. Already the many Catholics engaged in the notorious business which fosters what Pope Pius X calls 'the terrible scourge, the deadly evil, sowing so much shame among the faithful' constitutes a mighty hindrance to the physical, intellectual and moral progress of the American people in general and of our poor immigrants in particular."

"Therefore we the undersigned, impelled by the urgent appeal of the Third Plenary Council of Baltimore to 'all Catholics engaged in the sale of alcoholic beverages to quit that dangerous business' invite all Catholics who favor the removal of the saloon to meet in Conference, in Niagara Falls."

It should be remembered that in the Province of Quebec there are 904 municipalities under prohibition and only 286 under license. Judging the future by the past the downfall of this dreadful business is near at hand.

There is more Catharism in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven contrary to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Cathartic Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Great Britain May Blockade the North Sea.

LONDON, September 12.—There is a general discussion in London of the possibility that England may close the North Sea, blockading it completely, if the trouble with floating mines continues.

The Government's position is that the shipping of neutral nations is in great danger because of German mines. England has repeatedly stated that she will not resort to these mines. After the mine sweepers free the North Sea of the obstructions, however, naval strategists advise the exclusion of vessels which might plant more mines. Such action would limit the commerce of Holland, Denmark, Norway and Sweden, cutting off Germany's source of food supply.

The British officials say there is abundant evidence that mine layers have operated under neutral flags, and that it is the intention to keep the strictest watch over all craft in the North Sea.

St. Joseph, Louis, July 14, 1903. MINARD'S LINIMENT CO., LIMITED.

GENTLEMEN,—I was badly kicked by my horse last May and after using several preparations on my leg nothing was doing. My leg was black as jet. I was laid up in bed for a fortnight and could not walk. After using three bottles of your MINARD'S LINIMENT I was perfectly cured, so that I could start on the road.

Britain Is Determined to Crush Germany.

A Washington despatch says: There is no present prospect of peace in Europe through the efforts of diplomacy. President Wilson himself set at rest today rumors that peace measures were in the making, by revealing that no intimation had been conveyed to him officially, from any quarter, of a readiness on the part of one or more of the belligerents to talk peace. The day's developments emphasized that Great Britain, France and Russia were grimly determined to make no peace until they had decisively beaten Germany and Austria. Great Britain's position was explained in detail at London by Sir Edward Grey to Ambassador Page, who made a long report to President Wilson. The British Foreign Secretary declared England had not sought war, but since it was forced on her, she was irrevocably bent on crushing forever the dangers of German militarism to the world.

Digby, September 18, 1914

PATRIOTIC MEETING—AN ENTHUSIASTIC AUDIENCE IN THE COURT HOUSE LAST NIGHT.

An enthusiastic audience was present in the Court House last night to hear an explanation of and to assist in collecting a large amount in Digby to add to the Canadian Patriotic Fund.

Mayor H. B. Short was appointed chairman of Digby's executive and Rev. Wm. Driffield secretary.

The room was suitably trimmed with bunting and many ladies were present. After Rev. Mr. Driffield had thoroughly explained the object of the meeting appropriate speeches were made by several of the gentlemen who were there.

The following collectors were appointed:

North—F. W. Nichols, F. L. Anderson, O. S. Dunham.

Center—H. L. Deane, W. E. VanBlarcom, Dr. DeVeret.

South—Dr. W. F. Read, H. E. Jones, T. E. G. Lynch.

All the speakers of the evening expressed the hope that the citizens of Digby would give liberally and that everyone would give promptly. Nobody in town can refuse. Everyone can give something.

The collectors will meet at the Town Hall at eight o'clock to-night to make arrangements for the campaign which must necessarily be a short but a successful one. Digby must do her best.

Warden C. H. Purdy, of Bear River, and Conn. J. A. Grierson, of Weymouth, will organize a body of collectors for the Municipality of Digby and a similar work will be carried on in the Municipality of Clare.

All the ladies of the various churches are especially requested to meet in the Town Hall next Monday evening at 8 o'clock to arrange for the Red Cross work which can be carried on in their homes and many useful articles shipped to the soldiers on the battle field. The hall should be filled next Monday night.

Digby's Fresh Fish Industry.

ENGLISH STEAM TRAWLER ST. LEONARD
NOW RUNNING TO THIS PORT.

That Digby's fresh fish industry is to be prosecuted on a larger scale this fall and winter than heretofore is evidenced by the fact that the big steel steam trawler St. Leonard from Grimsby, England, will run her trips to this port where they will be purchased by the Maritime Fish Corporation, of Montreal, Digby's largest wholesale fish firm.

With Digby's big fleet of sailing craft now fishing to the westward Digby's water front will take on more than usual activity when the fleet begins to land their fares of fresh haddock and other mixed fish.

The St. Leonard landed her first fare at this port Monday night and the rapidity and carelessness with which her large cargo of fresh fish was handled attracted the attention of many spectators.

Everything aboard this big steel steamer points towards cleanliness. When her shipment of ice went on board Wednesday and she went to sea the same evening she was as clean as if she had never caught a fish.

The St. Leonard is commanded by Capt. Myhr, who has with him first and second officers, two engineers, steward, cook, firemen, deck hands, etc., his entire crew consisting of 11 men.

Shipments of fresh fish from the St. Leonard's trip were sent forward at once by the Maritime Fish Corporation to the upper provinces, while the portion of her cargo which was smoked and made into the choicest kind of haddock haddies went forward the following day.

We understand that the St. Leonard will make weekly trips to this port for the present and later will land her fare twice per week.

Men Who Made America.

SIR WILLIAM JOHNSON TAMED THE DREADED IROQUOIS AND SAVED THE CONTINENT TO THE RULE OF THE WHITE RACE.

(By Rev. Thomas B. Gregory.)
The many descendants of the noted Sir William Johnson in Lower Canada and elsewhere in Nova Scotia will be interested in the following story reprinted from the New York Journal:

Among "The Men Who Made America" we must not forget to reckon Sir William Johnson, the slick-tongued, strong-willed Irishman who tamed the dreaded Iroquois, wheedled them into friendship with the English colonists, and so saved this great continent to the rule of the race whose descendants were to become the people of the United States.

William Johnson was born in the county of Meath, Ireland, in the year 1715.

As young men have been doing ever since young men have existed, Johnson fell in love, and it happened to him as it has happened to many another wooer, that the "course of true love" did not run smooth.

The black-haired, blue-eyed beauty whose charms had enmeshed him did not return his affection—in fact rejected him in the rudest sort of a way, and Johnson found himself at the very bottom of the pit of despondency.

CONVINCED HIMSELF IT WAS BETTER TO DIE THAN TO LIVE.

Like Jonah of old, he declared, "It is better for me to die than to live," and he actually made all the arrangements for lifting against himself the hand of self-destruction.

But the disconsolate young man was intended for a nobler end than that of filling a suicide's grave. His uncle, Sir Peter Warren, owned large tracts of land in the Mohawk Valley, this State, and thinking to cure his nephew of his love-sickness, and at the same time to make him of some use in the world, he sent him to live with his big estates in the New World.

The vessel bearing Johnson and his fortunes entered New York harbor on the twenty-first day of February, 1738, and at the age of twenty-three the young man who was later on to become the king of diplomats, astute statesman, and one of the greatest of the masters of men, landed at the Battery, looked about himself for a brief spell, and headed himself for the Land of the Iroquois.

The cold-blooded realism of the American wilderness knocked a good share of the sentiment out of Johnson's soul, and if he ever lost any more sleep over the "girl he left behind him," there is no record of it.

Johnson had other and sterner things to think of, and cutting himself loose from the visions of "love's young dream," he applied himself vigorously to the matter of fact tasks that confronted him there in the forest.

He had scarcely planted himself in the Mohawk region when it became clear to all that his influence was going to be tremendous, and that it was going to be in the right direction, BECAUSE HIS IMMEDIATELY OF THE DREADED IROQUOIS.

Among the Red Men he became at once a king. By the magical power of his personality he made them both love and fear him. Their trust in him was perfect. His great common sense, from will and unflinching justice made him the "Great Father" to thousands of savages over whom, up to that time, no other man, white or red, had been able to exert the least control.

The value of the wonderful power that Johnson had over the Indians was demonstrated during the life and death struggle between England and France for supremacy on this continent. By keeping the powerful "Six Nations" steadfast in their support of the English cause Johnson practically saved the day.

The strategic importance of the State of New York in the great war game was immense, and it was Johnson's diplomacy in preserving that importance for the English that finally turned the scale.

The greatest of our American historians have reached the conclusion that, had the terrible Iroquois confederacy been against the English it would have probably meant French victory.

HIS FRIENDSHIP FOR THE IROQUOIS WAS HIS MASTER STROKE.

And right here comes in the significance of Johnson's work, for if the French had succeeded in the mighty duel there would have been no English rule, and therefore, no United States of America as we know it today.

Johnson died in 1774, in his fifty-ninth year, rich and full of honor, having done his full share toward the making of our nation. Our debt to him is simply incalculable, and we can never be grateful enough to the lassie who gave him the mitten and thus opened the way for his coming to America.

Pathfinder Blown up by a Submarine

A London despatch says: The British cruiser Pathfinder, which was sunk in the North Sea with a loss of 216 lives, was blown up by a German submarine.

This was revealed this afternoon when the Government Press Bureau issued the following statement: "The destruction of the Pathfinder was due to an attack by a submarine, and not a floating mine as originally believed."

Court Martial for Mine Lays.
A London despatch says: In the House of Lords Baron Winborne announced on behalf of the Admiralty that any person caught laying mines under a neutral flag will be court martialled.

The Earl of Camperdown, formerly Lord of the Admiralty, characterized the alleged placing of mines in commercial routes by Germany as "indiscriminate murder."

THE BLOOD IS THE STREAM OF LIFE

Pure Blood Is Absolutely Necessary To Health

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" PURIFIES

These Wonderful Tablets, Made of Fruit Juices, Are The Best Of All Tonics To Purify And Enrich The Blood.

Pure, rich blood can flow only in a clean body. Now, a clean body is one in which the waste matter is regularly and naturally eliminated from the system. The blood cannot be pure when the skin action is weak, when the stomach does not digest the food properly, when the bowels do not move regularly, when the kidneys are strained or overworked.

Pure blood is the result of perfect health and harmony of stomach, liver, bowels, kidneys and skin.

"Fruit-a-tives," by their wonderful action on all these organs, keeps the whole system as clean as Nature intended our bodies to be clean.

"Fruit-a-tives" tones up, invigorates, strengthens, purifies, cleans and gives pure, rich, clean blood that is, in truth, the stream of life.

"Fruit-a-tives" is sold by all dealers at 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50 trial size 25c. or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Alles Pushing Back Kaiser's Line
From Noyon to Metz.

BRITISH CAPTURE TWO BATTORIES AND TWO HUNDRED PRISONERS IN TWO DAY'S FIGHTING AND ARE STILL PRESSING GERMAN RIGHT WING IN FRONT WHILE FRENCH ARMY FROM AMIENS HARRASSES FLANK.

The German and allied armies are facing each other on a long, slightly curved line, stretching from Noyon, in the west, to the Argonne Forest, on the east, and thence across the Meuse to the southeast, in the direction of the German fortress of Metz, a distance of nearly two hundred miles.

Rearguard actions have been fought during the past two days, with the Germans disputing every inch of territory, until their armies should again get into position to oppose the allies. All reports indicate that these actions have been severe, but they are considered of minor importance, in comparison with the great battle of the Marne, and the new battle which is now threatened.

Regarding the present operations, the official statement issued by the French government is of the most meagre character. General head quarters at the front has sent to Paris no new details of the late fighting, and the Paris officials draw no inference, for publication at least, from the course of events in the battle, which has lasted several days. It is stated, however, that the allies have not weakened on any position.

The British official press bureau quotes Russian official sources as authority for the statement that the route of the Austrian army in Galicia is complete. The Austrians are estimated to have lost 250,000 men in killed and wounded, and 100,000 men and 400 guns captured. In this communication the failure of the German effort to save the Austrian army is noted and the Germans are said to have lost many pieces of siege and other artillery.

The Russian General Rennenkampf, who is conducting operations in East Prussia, has recently found himself in a dangerous position, and has fallen back to Russian fortresses on the Russian frontier. The Germans, under Gen. Von Hindenburg, are reported to be following up their advantage, with the hope of dealing the Russians a heavy blow before they can be reinforced.

Sir Maurice De Bunsen, recently British ambassador at Vienna, in a report dealing with the rupture of diplomatic relations with Austria, declares that Austria and Russia had about reached an agreement on the Austro-Serbian dispute, when the matter became one of discussion between Germany and Russia, and on July 31st Germany sent an ultimatum to St. Petersburg and Paris, following this quickly with a declaration of war on the two countries.

BRITISH SUBMARINE DESTROYS GERMAN CRUISER

LONDON, Sept. 16, 9:40 p. m.—The admiralty announces that submarine E9, Lieut. Commander Horton, has returned safely after having torpedoed a German cruiser six miles south of Heligoland.

It is believed the cruiser was the Hela.

HARWICK, England, via London,
Sept. 16, 11:55 p. m.—The submarine boat E9, which sank the German cruiser Hela off Heligoland Sunday morning, arrived here today and was cheered by the crews of the warships as she entered the harbor.

The submarine fired two torpedoes at the Hela, one striking her bow and the other hitting her amidships. The cruiser immediately burst into flames.
A number of German merchant ships which were in the neighborhood went to the Hela's assistance, and it is believed that a majority of her crew were saved. The Hela sank within an hour after being hit.

BURNING THE GERMAN DEAD

Paris correspondent writes:—I have just returned from the great battle fields along the Marne, where the scenes of horror and devastation in what a few days ago were waving wheat fields are too horrible to contemplate.

The trenches are full of dead Germans and the magazines of their rifles are still full of ammunition. Many are not even wounded. They appear to have been killed by the concussion of the French guns. The fact that the Germans lie dead in their own trenches shows the desperate nature of the French charges.

Enormous losses have been suffered by the Prussians, whose Imperial Guard was almost annihilated. In their hurried flight the Germans abandoned many wagons full of valuable stores. German horses lie dead in thousands along the route of retreat.

Two thousand navies have been sent from Paris to bury the German dead and the work already has occupied two days. Many of the navies were so overcome that they were unable to continue their work.

Many convoys of German prisoners and depressed and starving wounded are being sent to various places in France. They all praise the wonderful humanity of the British troops and are furious against the Kaiser and his officers. Many prisoners, they say, were shot in the back by their own officers.

Married in Edmonton.

MISS HARRIETT HOLDSWORTH OF DIG-BY WEDS. REV. D. R. SHARPE OF CALGARY.

(From the Edmonton Journal)

An interesting wedding took place last evening at 8 o'clock in the First Baptist church when Miss Harriett
Holdsworth, a sister of Mrs. Aubrey Fullerton was married to Rev. Doris Robinson Sharpe, M. A., B. D., pastor of Olivet Baptist church, Calgary. The ceremony being performed by Rev. P.
W. Patterson.

The bride who was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. Fullerton, wore ivory satin veiled in white tulle and rose point lace, and embroidered with seed pearls. She carried a shower bou-quet of bridal roses and white sweet peas and wore a full length tulle veil caught with spray of orange blossoms.

Mrs. Fullerton, the bride's sister, attended as matron of honor, wearing ivory duchess satin veiled with emboidered tulle mounted on delicate green chiarouse and large black hat. She carried pink roses and pink sweet peas.

The groom was attended by Charles Grant, K. C., and the ushers were Mr.
Oscar Howard and Mr. W. H. Appleton.
Miss Pansy Kempe officiated at the organ and played wedding music during the signing of the register.

After the ceremony the bridal party and a few guests retired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fullerton, Villa Avenue, where the wedding breakfast was served, the house throughout a bower of the late summer flowers, roses, asters and sweet peas with a mingling of green in every room.

In the dining room, the table was centered with the tall wedding cake, above which a floral ball of similar was suspended, and with ribbons, streamers, white roses and sweet peas completed the table decorations. Before the cutting of the cake, by the bride, the Rev. Mr.
Patterson proposed the toast to the bride, which was ably responded to by the bridegroom.

The guests were Rev. Mr. and Mrs. M. S.
Patterson, Rev. Mr. and Mrs. McGill,
Dr. and Mrs. Sheldon, Mr. and Mrs. James
Macdonald, Mr. and Mrs. Freeman,
Mr. and Mrs. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Frank
Dunlap, Charles Grant, K. C., Mr. and Mrs. Rae, Mr. and Mrs. Wright
(Calgary), Mr. Howard, Mr. Appleton,
Miss Kempe, and the assistants.
Miss Lavinia Wilson, Miss Mary Young and Miss Maud Bentley.

After the toasts and the reception were over, the bride retired to change for the wedding journey, and from the lounge, thence her bouquet which was caught by Miss Kempe.

Mr. and Mrs. Sharpe left on the night train for Calgary, going on to Emerald Lake in the mountains, where the honeymoon will be spent, later returning to reside in Calgary. Mrs. Sharpe travelled in a plum color tailored serge with velvet hat, the coat opening over a white chiarouse blouse draped in tulle.

(The bride is a sister of Mr. P. W.
Holdsworth, one of Digby's well known druggists.)

Four Hurt in Auto Accident

THREE ARE IN HOSPITAL WITH SEVERE INJURIES

Two master plumbers and two plumber's supplies men of Greater Boston, on their way home from a meeting of Master Plumbers' Association at the Fenwick Inn, Middleton, figured in a serious automobile accident about 7:20 o'clock p. m., when the machine in which they were riding skidded near the State bathhouse on the Nahant road, crashed into a telephone pole and threw out the occupants.

THREE AT HOSPITAL.

Walter Farnham of Sawinut avenue,
Boston, salesman for the International Plumber Company, sustained three fractured ribs, a severe laceration at the back of the head and several cuts about the face. He was taken to the Lynn hospital, where his condition is reported as serious.

Robert L. Baker of 18 Isburg road, Marblehead, employed as salesman by the Richmond L. Haydon Company, Boston, who operated the machine, sustained several bruises and a severe shaking up. He was taken to the Lynn hospital.

F. K. Tobin, of 118 Franklin street, Lynn, was hurled through the wind shield of the automobile and received several cuts about the face and hands.
A passing automobile took him to treatment to the office of Dr. A. Holt, Lynn.

Charles A. Phillips, Nahant road, sustained a compound fracture of the right arm and was taken to the Lynn hospital by a passing auto.

The men had attended the meeting of the Master Plumbers' Association at the Fenwick Inn in the afternoon and were returning to their homes.
Baker, the chauffeur, was taking Philip-ps to his home in Nahant. The automobile was going down Traffic road, which runs from Lynn beach to Nahant, and had reached about 200 feet beyond the Nahant bath house when the machine skidded and crashed into a pole.

(The above is interpreted from a recent issue of the Boston Post.)

Mr. F. K. Tobin above referred to is a former resident of Digby. He received five cuts on the head; left arm and hand cut, and also right shoulder and hip badly, besides the many fractures and lacerations. He many friends wish him a speedy recovery.—Ed.
COURIER.

Another Auto Accident.

What might have proved a serious if not fatal accident occurred near An-tigon on Monday evening as A. M. King was returning from the celebration at Bridgetown in his automobile, accompanied by his wife and two youngest children. After passing Round Hill, the steering gear gave way and he was unable to control the machine, which skidded over the road, overturned, and the occupants in the gutter at the roadside.
Fortunately they escaped with bruises and a shock. It was a most miraculous escape. The auto was considerably damaged and broken up.

Death of Mrs. Wm. Prime

The death took place at her home in Weymouth, on Wednesday morning at about 9 o'clock, of Mrs. Wm. Prime, at the advanced age of nearly 85 years.
For many years Mrs. Prime had been in failing health, being compelled to keep to her bed since February. On Friday she suffered an attack of heart and gradually lost strength until the end came on Wednesday. The deceased is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Geo. McDonald, of Plymouth, and Miss Lenette, who for many years has tenderly cared for her mother. The funeral took place on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

BEAR RIVER DRUG STORE, L. V. HARRIS, Prop.

BEAR RIVER, N. S.

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of the Courier

Sir—At a meeting of the Provincial Executive of the National Patriotic Fund it was suggested as most desirable that every person and family, even in the remote districts of the province, should have an opportunity of contributing to the fund designed to provide for the needs of dependent soldiers of those on active service in Canada or abroad. A thorough canvass of all sections of the municipalities in Nova Scotia may not be immediately practicable, but it is possible for all to give promptly something if the various county municipalities contribute an amount, payments to be spread over a period of two years. The sum of $25,000 might be raised, and no excessive burden imposed on anyone.
The county of York, Ontario, has contributed $20,000 in this way. As only twenty per cent of the total subscription is to be asked for immediately, and 20 per cent in March next, but very little would be required before legislation is passed confirming any such resolution of the council. The executive committee desire to throw out this suggestion to the wardens and councillors of municipalities that their views may be ascertained and acted upon wherever approved.

ARTHUR S. BAINSTAD, Secretary.

Saunders, who passed peacefully away on Monday after an illness of about 5 weeks. Deceased was 69 yrs of age and leaves to mourn his loss a sorrowing widow and two daughters, Mrs.

War Has Cemented the Factions Which Divided the Russians

"It is impossible to relate a tithe of the amazing things that have happened in Russia during the last ten days," says a letter to The Daily Chronicle, written in St. Petersburg on Aug. 12. It continues:—
"Russia is not recognizable, or, rather, that haunting beauty of Russia which those of us who live here groupingly and often sadly feel and love, has suddenly shone forth radiantly from out of the heavy clouds of failure and defeat that have hidden it for so many years.
"Russia is full of moral energy. She has never displayed it with the same vigor as now at any period of her history. Russia feels herself for once to be morally in the right.
"Russia's internal condition was deplorable," says the correspondent. "The Poles, Finns and Jews were embittered by the Government's policy of oppression. Douma was divided and helpless. Strikes were spreading. There were serious riots in St. Petersburg."

The writer adds: "Few Russians wanted to fight for the sake of Serbia, but when it became clear that the Austrian move was only the prelude to a German attack on an apparently helpless and demoralized Russia, the feeling changed in an instant.
"The general mobilization made all Russia realize the situation. The peasants, the workmen and the strikers of the week before; clerks, students, teachers and lawyers—all dropped their work without a murmur and joined the ranks.
"I had half expected mobilization riots in the country districts like those which occurred during the Japanese war, but friends from the south, the west and the east declare that all Russia is as one man. Everywhere the people are going to war 'to die for our country,' as the peasants say.

"The drink shops were closed and all went soberly and sternly, expecting no easy victories and prepared for a long and hard struggle.
"For the first time in its reign the Russian Emperor is cut off now from those German influences that egged him on so continually to ruinous action. His Majesty came out on the balcony of his palace to greet an immense throng of people.
"The Douma gave stirring expression to the nation's feeling. The fanatical reactionary Poulshkevitch actually shook hands with his bitter enemy, the Cader Leader Miloukov. Representatives of various nationalities, the Poles, the Lithuanians, the Russians, the Russian-Germans, and, most striking of all, the Jews, stood up and declared what they had suffered they would lay aside their grievances in this hour of great trial and fight side by side with the Russian people. Many deputies were moved to tears.

"Will the Government be capable of seizing this splendid opportunity for making a permanent peace with all its peoples?"
Indians Want to Go.
Chief Jacobs of Barnia, chief of the grand council of all the chiefs of the Indian tribes of Ontario, has written to Duncan Campbell Scott, superintendent of Indian affairs, stating that he and all the chiefs under him are prepared to assist Canada in every way possible to take her part in the service of the empire. He offers to raise a fighting force if necessary. Chief Jacobs is an Iroquois.

There are many Indians in the Canadian militia and at Brantford there is a company composed entirely of and officered by Indians. The Blood Indians of Southern Alberta have subscribed one thousand dollars for Canada's war fund and also offer to supply fighting men if wanted. These communications have been handed Col. Hughes.

Canada's Submarines.
Interesting facts concerning the submarines purchased by the Canadian Government were contained in an order-in-council tabled in the Commons during its brief session. The submarines were originally for the Chilean Government. The cost of the two was $1,050,000 and the expenditure is covered by Governor-General's warrant. The displacement of each is 213 tons, length 144 feet and 152 feet respectively, beam 16 feet and speed 13 knots.

Ships Taken Total 200.
The London Daily Express estimates that the large number of German vessels captured at sea by the British, French and Russian warships total 200, with a tonnage of 300,000 tons and a value of $300,000,000. The paper says that there are still remaining at sea about 600 German ships liable to capture at any moment. These have a total tonnage of 2,000,000 tons and a value of $700,000,000. These latter include 155 Hamburg-American vessels, 120 North German Lloyd, 65 Hansa, 45 German-Australians, 45 Hamburg-South American, 45 German-Levant, 30 German-American petroleum and 35 Woermann.

May Reach $150,000.
While committees of the Hospital Ship funds are asked to close their funds at their own discretion, for the benefit of distant places where collections are still actively being made for this purpose, the general fund will not be closed till early in September. Contributions to date show with "Flag Day" a total of $137,680.70, so it may reach the splendid sum of half over what was the original amount aimed at.

"Hecy" For the Troops.
A despatch to Reuters Telegram Company from Paris says: "The state tobacco factories are working day and night in order to supply the needs of the army. Large quantities of Virginia tobacco will be imported, especially for the use of British troops on the Continent."

GERMANY'S GIBRALTAR.

British Fleet Will Find Heligoland a Hard Nut to Crack.

The eyes of the naval experts of the world are centered upon the Island of Heligoland, Germany's Gibraltar, in the North Sea.

It is the general opinion among them that the German squadrons will not attempt an open engagement with the British fleet in the North Sea, but will remain in the safe haven of the Kiel Canal, secure behind the chain of coast defences, of which Heligoland is the principal link.

In 1890 Great Britain bartered Heligoland for a portion of German territory in East Africa. To-day Great Britain finds the island the key to the impregnable wall of redoubts, which protects Germany's North Sea coast line, the Kiel Canal and the approaches to Hamburg and Bremen.

Within a comparatively small compass Germany has there several important mercantile and naval harbors, most of them fortresses believed to be invulnerable to attack.

Had the island not existed and it were possible to construct a fortress at a point which would prove most formidable against attack in the North Sea, Germany could not have chosen a more advantageous location.

But 40 miles distant from the mouths of the Elbe and the Weser, Heligoland, on three sides, rises nearly perpendicularly from the sea to a height of 150 feet. Its rugged, overhanging, natural walls are fortified and protected to a degree which has no parallel save possibly Britain's Gibraltar or Russia's Cronstadt.

A large section of the rocky plateau has been made to conceal guns in armored turrets, great coast weapons on disappearing mountings and a formidable array of rapid fire guns. Hewn out of the solid rock are ammunition magazines and bombproof shelters, and the entire scheme of fortification is so ingeniously engineered as to be, from without, completely invisible as well as invincible.

The island is also a mighty naval station and is also provided with disappearing batteries for aeroplanes and accommodation for dirigible balloons. In the event of a concerted attack, the British squadrons would be shelled by invisible guns protected by the stoutest armor and concerted, the artillerymen being practically immune from danger. The elevation of the batteries makes possible the direction of a plunging fire which would prove destructive to war vessels protected by the most approved types of armor.

It is held by the German army authorities that the guns could annihilate the strongest fleet of battle craft at long range.

Within the fortress is a supply of reserve provisions sufficient for three months, and a full complement of seamen gunners and artillerymen for the garrison.

The island at one time belonged to Denmark, being taken from the Danes by the British in 1807. Heligoland remained a British possession until 1890, when it was ceded to Germany.

The Horror of War.
Hugh Sutherland, director of the Canadian Northern Railroad, has reached home from Bohemia with his nerves somewhat shattered by the arduous journey and the first sight of the horrors of war.

"At a small station near Prague I noticed confusion among the soldiers training," he said. "I then saw four Serbs struggling violently against being forced to proceed with their Austrian regiment to fight their fellow Slavs on the Russian frontier. The officer commanding issued a few crisp commands and immediately the wretched four were led away a short distance, lined up, and shot to death in plain sight of myself and everybody on the train. The women screamed and fainted, and a terrible uproar ensued, in the midst of which the train was ordered to proceed.

"I was obliged to change from one train to another ten times on Thursday night, traveling to Belgium through Germany, owing to the sudden embarkation of troops, necessitating the turning out of all regular passengers. I passed through a thousand miles of lands rich with harvest, but no body was working in the fields except here and there a few women and children. The crops are in beautiful condition, but impossible to save them now. This loss is terrific."

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.
