

Welcome to the Digital DIGBY COURIER

100th Birthday

The hundredth anniversary of the Digby Weekly Courier has brought to mind some fond memories as contained in the following historical chapter of the writer. But first, I wish to congratulate the current editor of the Courier, Mrs. J.M. (Edith) Wallis, for a job well done over the years and still being well done, good service rendered with great fortitude.

According to any record, I have at hand, the Digby Courier, in one hundred years of publication, was controlled under the same family management for 42 years, 1931 to 1973, under the control of Wallis Print Limited. The late J.J. Wallis became editor of The Courier the second time, in 1929, and at the same time of the business, which he had been running for some time previously and which became Wallis Print Limited sometime between 1929 and 1931.

I well remember the last year of the twenties when I worked in the office of the son with the husband and father of the late J.J. Wallis, the Courier. Sometime in 1928 or early 1929, the late J.M. Wallis (Mac), son of "J.J." engaged me to work every day after school hours, Saturdays, and for some months after finishing school. The place of work was in the building of the present Digby town hall on First Avenue. J.J. Wallis then worked occasionally at the print shop but mostly across the street at the Courier office which was then located on land in the general area where The Royal Bank of Canada is now.

Wallis Job Print operated in 1929 with a staff of four consisting of J.J. Wallis, J.M. Wallis, Miss Eva Haynes, who later became Mrs. George Kicup, and myself. I was engaged as a printer in the left Eva's job was to run the printing plant but mostly at the Courier office. "Mac" worked nearly full time at all the different jobs at the Job Print, and I worked at various duties, most of the time being spent at operating printing presses.

We worked ten-hour days, six days a week. "J.J." and "Mac" sometimes worked overtime. I worked only the regular hours being paid a weekly wage which was comparatively good for those times and my lack of experience. I received four or five dollars a week for working after school hours to six o'clock and on Saturday all day, and nine dollars a week for full weeks after finishing school. A two or three dollar a week raise was offered to me in the fall of 1929 for me to stay on at printing, but I had made up my mind to enter a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, starting salary of $300. The bank salary figured out about the same per hour as for the printing job. Nevertheless, the congenial atmosphere of the printing plant those days, and, experience however short, were helpful and appreciated by me.

"J.J." was very jovial in his occasional trip to the Job Print and did considerable kidding all in good fun. "Mac" was a witty person who mixed in a good natured sarcasm now and then for one reason or another. Eva most always had good answers to all the kidding she was called upon to take, and, generally held her own in a quiet sort of way, always busy setting type. We four all got along very well indeed. However, I do remember that some days did seem long and weary because of the monotony of some repetitious jobs.

In spite of the great demand for printing those last boom days of the twenties, business generally being brisk, it looked to me that people had to work long and hard to make any decent profit. There was including treatment of the hands. However, nails and finger ends were used and I was soon back to work.

Now and then a printing job had a dose on parchment paper which required a special kind of printers' ink which smelled very bad those days. I always dreaded it when "Mac" would do that job on the largest press, in spite of the fact that we always opened an outside door to lessen the effects on the constitution.

One of the jobs I had to do, being the junior and printers' devil on the staff, was to clean up now and then. One day not long after I started my job at the printing plant, I decided to clean the floor that apparently hadn't been cleaned in some considerable time.

"J.J." came along and said, "how are you making out Vince?" I assured him that I thought I was beginning to see the floor. "J.J." laughed very heartily, he thought the remark pretty good and suitable.

Sometimes the gasoline engine or a piece of machinery would refuse to work, and after "Mac" the fix-it man had patiently worked for a certain length of time to get it going again, without results, "Mac" would then stand back and cuss quite strenuously, then he would immediately start working. "See," he would say, "all it needed was a bit of cussing."

On other occasions when some gadget refused duty for me and, seemed to be broken, "Mac" would say, "use a little oil," and sure enough, often that is all it took. How often since, have I thought of the value of that remark and the actual need of "oil" in many life situations, applied at the right time, right place and, in the right way.

Other things that sort of stick in my memory and come to mind now and then are, like the time I told "Mac" of four teenage boys who in the spring season of 1929 got together just before dark one evening and decided to initiate the newly built outdoor Pines Hotel swimming pool which had just been filled with water. Clothes were taken off near the road just east of the pool; nobody else seemed to be around except the four boys; no thought or time for bathing suits up to the pool they went. They stood on the edge of the pool and looked at the chilly water, one soon jumped in, the rest quickly followed and across the pool they swam. "Mac" listened to the story and hardly said anything, but the next "Digby Courier" had a good story on the episode. The heading of the story went something like, "Four Boy Scouts Officially Open Pines Hotel Swimming Pool." Who were the four? Many years later they are known as: the late Dr. Earl H. Anderson, veteran of two wars (second world and Korean), was awarded the Victoria Cross; Sidney L. Smith, now prominent druggist for many years in Digby; Clayton D. Snow, Digby wholesale lobster king merchant; and myself.

As a young teenager I used to like doing some writing about different events interesting to myself and mostly for myself. One day "Mac" said to me "how about writing your version of the story told about 'The Marooning of Jerome'." I had heard and read at least two somewhat different stories about the man who was found marooned on a beach at some point on the French Shore of St. Mary's Bay, Digby County. When found this man's tongue had been cut out and his legs quite freshly amputated, were surgically well dressed and bound. He was presumably left by some vessel before dawn one morning, all for some mysterious reason.

"Jerome" appeared to have been a man of some considerable social standing and possibly of some considerable wealth. However the only thing the man could or would ever say after being found and cared for by some family in the French shore was, something that sounded like the word "Jerome". He either could not, or, would not, write anything about who he was or why he was left the way he was. Well, it was, and is, one of Digby County's mystery stories, and, different ideas have been expressed over the years concerning this man. However my response to "Mac" was, I felt no urge to write anything more or different about this man. The mystery seemed to have been very well explored in the mind of many people, and, he was a sort of curiosity for many people who visited where he lived for many years.

Three years later, I was quite a young man, and I was back in the street that I had lived on, and I was clanking my powered up car, and I was thinking of "Jerome", and as I remember it, I was thinking of "Jerome". "J.J." was noted for his sense of humor and his ability to make people laugh. One day in 1928 during the time Mr. Wallis was editor of the Scott Act (Prohibition Law) he was about and advocated by some people, and I was attending a boys' conference in the town of Digby.

Compiled by David Sanford

From the files of the Courier of January 23, 1867, the following account has been copied concerning Digby in 1800.

"Among a number of old newspapers kindly sent to us by friends is a copy of the Saint John Gazette of May, 1802, says the Telegraph and among other advertisements contained in the issue before us is one describing the town and township of Digby, and offering for sale certain lots in the town. In this area we are told the township of Digby extends from the Gulf of Annapolis westward to the extremity of the province of Nova Scotia, and contains about 130,900 acres." The town plot is thus described:

"The Town Plot is situated at the east of the township just within the entrance to Annapolis Basin, and twenty miles from Annapolis Town, and six miles across land from the head of St. Mary's Bay. This laid out from the water's edge, partly on level ground and partly on the declivity of a modern hill, dry and pleasant, and having with an eastern aspect, a view of the Annapolis Basin and its cultivated shores for twenty miles in where it terminates with the Fort and River's mouth of that name. It was settled by Loyalists from New York in 1783, the most of whom went early to farms, or, moving to older countries, left the whole free trade with the U.S.A., especially with the New England States. The question was then debated by some Digby High School students one of which was some Digby's daughter, Florence (now Mrs. Melvin O. Tibert, Freeport, Digby Co.) Some days after the debate a man from some part of Nova Scotia came to the printing shop looking for Florence, one of the successful debaters; I had the impression that this man was interested politically but, maybe I was wrong.

Well, I felt that I had learned considerable from my short experience at "The Wallis Job Print". I was learning to do beginner jobs, receiving some knowledge about things like: embossing, stapling, perforating, counting, cutting and trimming paper stock, mixing inks for certain desired colors, and so forth, but, the only experience I had at setting type was just enough to make a "pi", the printers name for a confused mess.

There was a taste of trying to sell job printing outside the plant. Work was a little slack one early fall day and so "Mac" said to me, "how about trying your hand at taking orders for printed personalized Christmas cards?" I tried it, made several calls around town, spent most of the time at one particular house, and got an order, but, it was much time and got an order, but,

CURRENT HISTORY AS IT IS BEING MADE IN THE WORLD TODAY

The provisional Government of the Irish Free State has just stepped into handsome new clothes. Heretofore it has been functioning in the old city hall, which was worn and patched to a degree unbecoming such a young Government. The new suit is a large, modern and beautiful stone building.

The new building is the final wing of the British Government about 1904 and intended to house the Government offices of the College of Science, the Department of Agriculture and the local boards. The provisional Government occupies part of the unit intended for agriculture and all the space that had been allotted to local boards.

The building will be one of the finest in Dublin. It is in the form of a hollow square, the facade broken by a row of columns in the center, revealing the large court, and an elaborate entrance on the further side.

One feature of the architecture may inspire gibes from the opponents of the treaty in the next meeting of the Dail Eireann. Inscribed in large characters over the entrance is the announcement that the building was begun in the reign of Edward VII. and completed in the reign of George V. The familiar monogram "G. R." (Georgius Rex) is repeated at intervals along the roof line.

Remnants of a wreck believed to date back to a Dutch-Spanish battle in 1641 have been brought to the surface by salvage workers in Lerwick harbor in England.

Four ancient cannon, each seven feet long with a three-inch bore, have been salvaged and these have been supplemented by massive oak timbers, which are in a good state of preservation.

It is believed that the wreck is that of a Dutch warship which, with three East Indians, was attacked by 10 armed ships off Dunkirk (then Spanish) in Bressay Sound, on June 13, 1641. After a fierce engagement, two of the Indians were sunk and the third escaped, while the Dutch warship was compelled to surrender.

Lieut. Colonel Amery, financial secretary to the Admiralty, recently stated in the House of Commons that while the future of Nelson's flagship Victory was still under consideration, she would probably not be maintained afloat again.

The Victory, which was for nearly 100 years the pride of Portsmouth harbor, was placed in dry dock at Portsmouth on January 12 in order that her hull might be thoroughly examined by experts.

Plans were prepared for building a steel cradle round her hull to preserve it immediately the admiralty's decision was given. It was thought that after the ships' timbers had once dried she would not be able to float again.

In a long statement, explaining the decisions and plans of last week's Near East Conference of Foreign

by the Canadian Forestry Association

Q. Our town is arranging to plant shade trees along several of the streets at the expense of the municipality. Is it considered good practice to plant only one variety of trees on a single street, or to mix the varieties to some extent?

A. By all means keep to one type of tree on each street. The most beautifully shaded street in the city of Ottawa has nothing but elm for its entire length. It is easy enough to spoil the appearance of a street by mixing such trees as mountain ash, birch, elm and others. Keep to the hardy and long lived tree such as the elm and Norway Maple.

Q. Where can I obtain information as to the planting of hedges, and the selection of material that will produce best results?

A. Write for a very informative booklet to W. T. Macoun, Dominion Horticulturist, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Q. As a newspaper editor how can I figure out how much newsprint is required to keep this paper supplied with newsprint for a year?

A. It takes one and a half cords of spruce or balsam wood to make one ton of newsprint. The average spruce found in Eastern Canada runs about six cords to the acre. You can easily calculate from this how many acres of timber must be cut each year to provide for your local circulation.

Q. Is it a fact or just somebody's guess that the timber supplies of the United States useful for the manufacture of newsprint paper are in danger of depletion?

A. It is a positive fact thoroughly well established from American sources. In at most, ten years, many of the great United States industries manufacturing paper for newsprint purposes will have to transfer to Quebec, Ontario or New Brunswick. If we are to benefit by the coming of these industries, which are great employers of labor and distributors of wealth, we must make sure that the present rate of forest fire destruction in Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick is cut down as far as is humanly possible. The forests coupled with the water powers of Eastern Canada are today the greatest industrial magnet that this country possesses.

Q. I have a brother a farmer in Western Ontario and his place contains much waste land which he would like to plant. Who can help me get such planting work under way?

A. In the first instance write to the Provincial Forester, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, who will be glad to advise you as to procedure and be able to supply you with sufficient tree stock from the Provincial Nursery. Keep also in touch with the Canadian Forestry Association, Ottawa. They will do everything possible to assist you.

Last Week In The Maritime Provinces

In the House of Assembly R. H. Graham, Liberal member for Pictou, protested against the Federal Government assuming too much oversight over the coal fields of Nova Scotia, and declared that if a Royal Commission were appointed to investigate the dispute between the British Empire Steel Corporation and the miners, it should be appointed by the Nova Scotia Government.

Ministers in Paris, Marquis Curzon, Secretary for Foreign Affairs, said in the House of Lords Thursday that the International Straits Commission would remain intact.

The Foreign Secretary added that all great powers, including the United States, had agreed to join, would be represented on the commission, as well as Russia, if she fulfilled the required conditions.

He said it was anticipated to invite Turkey to join the League of Nations when peace between Turkey and Greece had been ratified. He announced that the conditions arranged at Paris for the evacuation of Anatolia by Greece would be published as soon as the armistice had been accepted by both sides.

The Agamemnon, the latest of the British pre-dreadnought fleet in the navy list, will be commissioned at Portsmouth for a series of experiments in gunnery and bombs of a highly confidential nature. The vessel will be steered and controlled by radio, which will not be put out of action by the heavy concussion. Prince George, youngest son of the King, has been transferred from the battleship Iron Duke, stationed in the Mediterranean, to the Queen Elizabeth, flagship of the Atlantic fleet in home waters, which will soon carry out extensive maneuvers. Admiral Sir John de Robeck will soon take command of the Atlantic fleet. Admiral de Robeck is regarded as the coming man in the royal navy, which is believed to explain why Prince George is to go with him.

Nearly 10,000,000 war medals have been issued by the British and 1,500,000 more are to be issued, according to an announcement by Sir Laming Worthington Evans, Secretary of State for War, in the House of Commons. The war medals and victory medals are about equal in number, being slightly over 3,500,000 each. There have been 350,300 of 1914 star medals issued and 1,500,000 star medals for the first two years of service. The victory medal compares with the American service medal and has the same ribbons.

Lord Curzon said Constantinople would be evacuated as soon as possible after peace had been concluded, and that the Sultan would be allowed to maintain a limited force, sufficient for a seat of Government.

He said it was considered unjust and impracticable to ask Greece to evacuate the whole of Eastern Thrace in addition to Anatolia. Moreover, if the Greeks were asked to retire from Thrace, "we should be confronted with a direct refusal." And he added, he was unaware of any force in existence which would successfully expel him.

ment. He said the Provincial Department of Mines should have adequate information as to whether the miners were receiving a proper wage and one bearing a proper relation, to the price of coal.

Rev. A. S. Lewis, pastor of the First Baptist church at Regina, who was invited to become the pastor of the United Baptist church at Sydney, after the resignation of Rev. J. M. Gregg, has now accepted an invitation to assume the pastorate of Cameron Memorial church, a Baptist church, in Vancouver. Mr. Lewis is a native of Cumberland county. He was at one time pastor of the Baptist church at Yarmouth, and he also held pastorate in Aylesford, Bridgetown and Windsor. For several years he was minister of the First Baptist church at New Westminster, B. C.

Milton Boone, son of George Boone, of Ashland, is dead as the result of a mysterious illness which also afflicted his father, his younger brothers, Arthur and Irving, and his sister, Martha. The family had been drinking water from a well, into which, it is thought, surface water had flowed from a potato patch where paria green had been used to kill Colorado beetles. Milton was the first to become ill, being afflicted with severe dysentery and intense pain. The other members of the family became ill later, but all recovered. Milton Boone was 28 years of age.

A pleasant function took place at the home of Miles Wilson, Moncton, on Tuesday evening, when the members of the Insurance Executive Committee of the I. C. R. and P. E. I. Railways Relief and Insurance Association waited upon Mr. Wilson and presented him with an address, accompanied by an exquisite chony walking stick with solid gold handle suitably inscribed. At Moncton, in the office of the District Superintendent on Thursday, ex-Inspector J. A. Davidson was presented with a long service medal in recognition of his lengthy service with the I. C. R. and C. N. R.

Everett O'Connell, while engaged with Robert Washburn and Matthew Bowes in running a wild cat to earth at McAdam, some days ago, fell and broke his leg.

When Archie Forrest, formerly of Chatham, was given charge of the Mill Street branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia in St. John last April, a staff of three was conducting the business, and now Mr. Forrest has a staff of seven, so greatly has the business increased under his management.

A COMING EVENT

The Editor of the Courier

Will you kindly allow me to inform the public through your columns that the Historical Association of Annapolis Royal will hold its next quarterly meeting in King's College on Thursday evening, May 9th, and that Dr. J. C. Chénier, Webster of Shediac, N. B., will be present and give a lecture, illustrated by lantern slides, on General Wolfe, the hero of Louisbourg and Quebec.

Dr. Webster's lecture will embrace the whole career of James Wolfe—the early life, his activities as an officer in the Continental Wars, in England and Scotland and in Canada.

The slides used for the lecture, and which will be shown with Mr. King's powerful lantern, have been made chiefly from prints, etc., in Webster's possession, and fully illustrate the various phases of Wolfe's career. All the important sketches and paintings made of him, and the death scene at Quebec, are included. The important soldiers, sailors and statesmen who were associated with him will also be demonstrated, especially those who had to do with Nova Scotia.

Dr. Webster is the first to have got together such a collection for public exhibition, and we are fortunate indeed to secure an opportunity of seeing it here.

Ten cents admission will be charged, merely to cover the expenses, and it is hoped that everyone within reasonable distance of Annapolis will attend.

Note the date, Tuesday, May 9th, at 8 p. m.

LIVE STOCK MARKET IN FEBRUARY

There was a marked decline in the average prices of live stock in Canada in the month of February this year compared with the quotations for the same month last year, but there appears to have been, judging from the returns of the Dominion Live Stock Branch, to have been somewhat of a rush to market. At the five principal markets in the country, namely, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Calgary, and Edmonton, the receipts this year and last year, in February were respectively: cattle, 34,832 and 341,786; calves 9,250 and 6,016; hogs, 60,146 and 48,671 and sheep, 18,473 and 14,446 the larger number in each case being for this year. The average price for this year in prices per hundredweight for February compared with the same month last year at the five markets was: cattle $1.93; calves $2.30; hogs, $2.09, and sheep $1.65.

Missouri is to have a summer camp for girls in the heart of the picturesque Ozarks.

Philus Nadeau, $50; Joseph Butler, $50; Joseph Flirtote, $50. Last week Officer Stewart and Inspectors Quartermaster and Manderson made a seizure in Newcastle of home brew and part of a still, which will likely result in the conviction of Phillippe Galley and Annie Maloney. The inspectors also had three prohibition convictions in Newcastle last week.

PEEPS INTO OTHER LANDS

Digby and Its Chickens

(From Fiddlership, an English Magazine)

Romance has touched the pages of the history of Nova Scotia. The earlier name of that maritime province of Canada was Acadia, and it is under that poetic title that it figures so pathetically in Longfellow's "Evangeline." And, in the absence of more available description, the lines of that poem which are devoted to the charms of Grand-Pre may be transferred to Digby without much violence to truth.

In Old England little is known of Digby; in New England, the town is held in high repute for summer holidays. That is partly due to the beauty of its situation on the shores of Annapolis Basin. All around are wide pastures such as Evangeline knew, and ever and anon "sea-fogs" pitch their tents and "mists from the mighty Atlantic" hover over land and sea. But in summertime the wide expanse of Annapolis Basin is usually one vast mirror, the surface of which is broken merely by sailing vessels or by fleecy clouds. Though generally so placid, this inland sea can at times take on the massive swing of the tremendous tide of the Bay of Fundy, with which it is linked by the impressive channel known as Digby Gap.

But the chief interests of Digby is that the little town is so fine an example of that quiet living and patient labor which have contributed so much to the upbuilding and stability of the British Empire. One of its most profitable industries is the fishing and curing of those delicate herrings which are known throughout Canada and New England as "Digby Chickens." All around there are ample sheds for smoke drying, much of the curing is effected by exposure to the sun.

Nearly a century has passed since "Sam Slick" described the place in these words: "The town of Digby is situated on the gradual slope of a hill which commands a view of part of Granville and Clements, and the broad and handsome basin that receives the collected waters of Annapolis, Moose, and Bear rivers. This place, from its position at the entrance to the bay, is the shelter afforded to vessels navigating the Bay of Fundy, and the advantages it possesses for prosecuting the mackerel and cod fishery, must eventually be a place of considerable importance. It is peculiarly adapted to ship building, and the enterprise of its inhabitants has of late years been directed to this branch of business."

That anticipation has hardly been realized. The population grows but slowly, and the town is not deemed of sufficient importance to receive any separate mention in the Encyclopedia Britannica. Yet it is an ideal spot for those enamoured of the simple life. All around is a fine farming country, where, a decade ago, homesteads of about a hundred and fifty acres were being offered for less than 200 pounds.

Yet Nova Scotia is one of the oldest of British colonies. Last year was celebrated the third centenary of its inclusion within British

This Fruit Medicine Restores Health

The increase in the number of persons suffering from Nervousness is world-wide; due, in a measure, to the reaction following the war. Sleeplessness, Headaches, Mental Depression, Rheumatism, Nervous Dyspepsia, Bad Heart Action, are the results of a disturbed condition of the Nervous System.

The nerves and the blood are so intimately, so vitally, connected that the condition of one has to affect the condition of the other. If the blood is laden with impurities, it is impossible to have strong, steady nerves.

The first essential in treating nervous troubles is to purify and enrich the blood. This "FRUIT-A-TIVES" will do.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" stimulates the bowels, kidneys and skin and purifies the blood. "Fruit-a-tives" improves appetite and digestion and insures food being properly digested, thus enabling the blood to carry wholesome nourishment to build up the body, particularly the nerves.

Men and women who take "Fruit-a-tives" for some form of nervousness—because they cannot eat or sleep or work or enjoy life—say that this fruit medicine is simply marvellous in its action.

Quickest

BANQUET

A most unique and enjoyable affair was held on Friday evening, March 31st, in the vestry of the Baptist Church, when a banquet was given under the auspices of the B. Y. P. U. The room was tastefully decorated for the occasion, the tables set in the form of an open square, presenting a most pleasing appearance with their white cloths, and shining silver. Daffodil, yellow and white crepe paper had been used to decorate the pillars, and long strings of this ran through the centre of the tables, where potted plants were placed, the whole giving a very attractive look to the vestry.

At seven o'clock 65 members of the Union stood around the tables while the President, Mr. Gregg, read, God's Blessing on this Christian supper was served and a spirit of good fellowship prevailed all.

At the conclusion of the meal—the President, Mr. Gregg, read, God's Blessing on this Christian supper was served and a spirit of good fellowship prevailed all.

The following toasts were given:

"The King"—Proposed by their Toastmaster, responded by "God Save the King."

The B. Y. P. U.—Proposed by Paul Nichol, responded by Mrs. A. G. Mack, I. J. Dunn.

Our Schools.—Proposed by Mrs. Arthur G. Gregg, responded by Joseph Steadman, I. J. Dunn.

Our Guests.—Proposed by H. H. Condon, responded by Rev. R. S. Gregg.

Our Guest of Honor.—Proposed by M. B. Alexander, responded by Miss Lillian Cornwall.

Several of the speakers were making their first efforts along this line, and certainly deserve great credit for this splendid way in which they acquitted themselves. All showed careful thought and preparation of the various topics, and evidenced in their speeches a sincere desire to assist the work of the Union and Church in every possible way.

The B. Y. P. U. was called the preparatory school of the Church, and as such should be encouraged and have the hearty cooperation of all.

A pleasant surprise was given Miss Cornwall when a birthday cake, adorned with yellow and white papers, was placed before her, as a slight appreciation of the faithful work she had performed as a Group Leader of the Union.

The toast given by Mrs. Lillian Cornwall, followed by a reading by Miss Edna Peck.

Two songs were then sung by a chorus of the young people, which were joined in singing Auto Lang Syne. Just before leaving a hearty vote of thanks was presented to all those who had assisted in carrying through the work of the banquet, and this was responded to by an unanimous rising vote of thanks from the guests.

All those present were greatly pleased with the spirit and feeling of the banquet, and voted it a great factor in the future welfare of the Union.

Last Week In The Maritime Provinces

A delegation composed of Nova Scotia members of Parliament together with Mr. C. W. Anderson, M. P., for Guysboro waited on the Government Friday to discuss the question of securing better steamship accommodation for the Eastern ports. The Nova Scotia members present were Messrs. Kyle, Carroll, Duff, Chisholm and McIsaac, and the members of the Government who received them were Mr. Fielding, Mr. Robb and Mr. Kennedy. They asked that the Canadian Mariner, which has been lying idle at Halifax for some time past, be placed on the run from Eastern Nova Scotia ports to Boston to carry live lobsters and other fresh sea food and give the fishermen a fair rate on freight. If this is done it is considered that it will be a great advantage to the fishermen of the Eastern shore, who have felt the cost of transportation by rail to Yarmouth and boat to Boston very severely. Those in the Western part of the Province have been able to land live lobsters in Boston at a cost of three dollars per crate while those in the East have been paying about four times this amount.

The Bathurst Opera House was completely destroyed by fire early Friday morning, involving a loss of many thousands of dollars. The blaze, which is believed to have started about two o'clock, was well under way before being noticed and it was impossible to save the building. A barn nearby was badly burned on one side, but the firemen saved it from a total loss. The origin of the fire is unknown.

"A proposal is to be made to Parrsboro Board of trade, the town of Wolfville and the Provincial and Dominion Governments to give assistance in promoting an independent ferry service between Parrsboro and cross the Bay ports, furnishing accommodation for passenger, freight and automobile traffic on a scale which will fully accommodate the public and admit of widespread advertising of this route for summer travel between many points in New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Western Nova Scotia, to and fro, as well as New England traffic via Boston and Yarmouth."

A series of obstacles, the main one being lack of water power, has placed Clark Brothers, Ltd., of Bear River in difficulties from which they will apparently only extricate themselves by the issue of $600,000 of prior bonds, taking precedence over the two former bond issues of the company. Details of the situation are set forth in a circular which has been prepared by a bondholders' committee and which has been sent out to all bondholders, with the intimation that the latter must be prepared to yield something of their rights in several respects, otherwise the company may be in a serious predicament. The concessions proposed were discussed at a meeting of bondholders held in Toronto on March 8. The holders of the outstanding first mortgage serial bonds are asked to postpone maturities of their bonds for five years, and the holders of refunding bonds are asked to postpone the commencement of the sinking fund required by the trust deed, securing that issue, for five years. A twenty per cent. common stock bonus is offered bondholders if they assent to the above proposals. A meeting of the bondholders will be held in Toronto on April 25 to accept or reject the proposal.

A Nova Scotian may become Premier of Manitoba. ## KNOCKED BASEBALL FARTHER THAN RUTH Long Hits Of Years Ago Recalled In A Toronto Paper—Player 35 Years Ago Slammed The Sphere For 561 Feet.

Now that the hockey season is over it will soon be time to line up for baseball, and the fans are already beginning to talk and plan out an attractive programme for the coming summer operations. Percy Robinson, formerly of St. John, has an article in the Toronto Telegram in regard to the long hit of Babe Ruth of 470 feet in which reference is made to a number of old time cricket and ball players of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. This article will be of more than ordinary interest to many of our readers on account of the fact that one of the players in the game, staged in Halifax in 1887, was George Whitenett, now of Norton, Kings County, a well known and popular former resident of Sussex. George was the star catcher of the Nationals of St. John, for many years, and one of the best all round ball players in the province.

Percy Robinson's article in the Telegram is as follows: "The Philadelphia Sporting Times, over thirty years ago, records a hit by a Southern League player which put the 'Bambino's' performance completely in the shade. 'One of the long home run drives of Cartwright, the New Orleans slugger, has been measured,' said that paper; 'the ball fell in a swampy place, and from the spot where it lay to the home plate was found to be 187 yards six inches (or 557 feet.)' It is conceded that a baseball can be hit harder and thrown farther than a cricket ball. A cricket ball throw of 120 yards is pretty near a record. W. A. Henry, of Halifax, in his time one of Canada's greatest cricketers, has a record of 119 yards six inches, and it was considered noteworthy years ago that A. P. Cotterill, an English fast bowler, could throw 120 yards. But such old-time baseball players as Ed. Williamson, of Chicago and Ed. Crane of New York, could get nearer 130 yards."

"As to long drives at cricket, F. N. Thornton, of Middlesex, is credited with having hit the pavilion, 168 yards (504 feet) from the wicket. It would be interesting to know what distance George Whitenett, of St. John, and W. A. Henry, of Halifax, who thirty years ago were the fastest run-getters and greatest swipers in Canadian cricket, achieved in some of their hits. "In 1887 a big fellow named Jim Robinson pitched for the Nationals, of St. John, N. B., in a game against the Halifax Socials in the last named city. On coming to the plate his first name up, Robinson, who was very popular in Halifax, was presented with a bat by some of his admirers. He responded by sending the ball over the centre field, but very much in a skyward direction. "According to other members of the team who told the story, they were afterwards told that Robinson was a very slow runner, amble to first base and then stood on the sack and watched the ball, which was still soaring, while the entire Halifax outfield was careering to Already $30,000 has been subscribed by members of the lodges in the city. A prospectus recently issued bears an architect's drawing of the new building which will front on Barrington, will be incorporated with the present building and have a banquet hall opening on Granville street. The Barrington street frontage will contain a main entrance to the temple.

Mr. J. J. Kinley, M. P., for Lunenburg County, Thursday gave notice to the House of Assembly that he would move a resolution relative to the Migratory Bird Act, suggesting that in view of the Federal Government by virtue of the Migratory Bird Treaty with the United States having acquired and assumed jurisdiction over Migratory Birds in the Province of Nova Scotia that the provisions of the Fish and Game Act of the Province relating to the protection of such birds as geese and duck and coots, should be repealed. The resolution also calls for a committee of the House of Commons to be appointed to review the regulations made by the Dominion Government under the treaty, for the purpose of recommending such changes as the conditions in Nova Scotia may require.

wants a distant point, where it might be supposed it would finally descend. The St. John players, conversed with laughter over the big pitcher's naive actions, kept yelling to him to go on, and he gently cantered to second and took another rest. It should be explained that the game was being played on the Polo grounds, on the enclosure of a half-mile running track, and there were no bleachers or other obstacles. Robinson, in a very leisurely fashion, made for third and home, and when he took his seat on the players' bench the ball had not been returned to the infield.

"There are today at least two living witnesses of this old time sporting event, Jas. W. Power, sporting editor of the Acadian Recorder, Halifax, and Thos. Bell, merchant, of St. John, N. B., who played first base and captained the Nationals. In the calm light of 35 years after, these competent judges may not recall it as such a wonderful performance, but at the time, and for a long time afterwards, it was talked of as a feat extraordinary."

St. John, the game referred to, 5 to 4.

The Socials were: Davison, P.; Grierson, C. H. Smith, 1b; Doble, 2b; Graham, 3b; Power, s.s.; McDonald, cf; Cover, 1.f.; W. Scriven, r.f.

The Nationals were: Robinson, Whitehead, Bell, Milligan, Warlock, F. White, Barker, Thompson and O. F. White, for the time being the writer cannot recall to mind.

Frank J. Power was the umpire.

Is Now a Healthy Boy

"From a puny, delicate child, my little Johnny has become a strong sturdy boy."

One mother writes:—"If you had seen my little Johnny four months ago and told me he would be so healthy now, I would never believe that he is the same boy. Then he weighed only 49 pounds. Today he weighs 90 pounds, almost double what he weighed four months ago. His trouble first started with a cold, which he never noticed because he was strong and like all boys of his age occasionally caught cold. After a while we began to notice that his cough was getting worse, that he was looking pale and losing weight. He seemed to be tired all the time, he had no energy. So my mother decided to try a medicine. Before he caught this cold he had no trouble with his lessons and remained at the head of his class without much study. But we began to notice change. He didn't seem to care whether he knew his lessons or not and nothing seemed to interest him. He coughed so much and so hard at times that his face would become purple and we thought he would surely burst a blood vessel. Medicines and rough mixtures didn't do him any good. Finally, in desperation and as a last resort, we tried Carnal. In a short time his cough had almost disappeared. His appetite was returning and he was beginning to take an interest in his studies. And thanks to Carnal, he has become as strong and healthy as he has ever been."

Carnal is sold by your druggist and if you can't find it, write to the company. They will try it, and if it doesn't do you any good, return the empty bottle and we will refund your money. — 1-122

VETERAN MARINER ON RECORD TRIP

In command of a veteran Nova Scotia master mariner, the oil tank steamer Montreuil, Captain James W. Abbott, arrived at Halifax Friday morning at four o'clock from Port Lobos with a cargo of crude oil which she discharged at Imperial in record time, sailing the same night for Texas City to return to Halifax with a similar cargo.

Captain Abbott first started his sea-faring life several years ago out of St. Mary's Bay, sailing from Barton, Digby County, his native place, in the West Indian trade. He has then a young mariner and as he grew to manhood secured command of the largest square-rigged sailing in those days out of St. John.

He was principally in the employ of William Thompson and Company, St. John, and at one time was in command of that firm's shipper, full-rigged ship Pavonia, and sailed her to the principal ports of the four oceans.

Captain Abbott's home is now in Vancouver, where four years ago he entered the employ of the steamship department of the Standard Oil Company. "His family now reside there. He only recently took command of the shipper, the steamer H. L. Grace, who was transferred this week at New York to the oil steamer J. A. Moffett, Jr. Captain Abbott's last command was the oil steamer John Worthington.

REMINISCENCES OF OLD DIGBY

The mention of silver dollars in my last story recalls the recollections of a story I heard some years ago in which silver dollars figured. It was during the last election the late John C. Wade ran in this town. He was running against the late Marshall Marshall Esq. when on top of the election the late John C. Wade and Mr. Speight was attacked for his money many years ago. As near as I can remember this is the story. In those days of wooden shanty dwellings, people going, and one on St. Mary's Bay about nine miles from Digby was known as Speight's. Mr. Speight was a large man, a stocky fellow, a St. John man, John Wisbart & Co. As usual when contractors have the vessels in frame they are entitled to a reward when the vessel is launched and on top sides on another payment. This was where Mr. Speight was at the time, and so to inform his people he was ready for a remittance and all hands were expecting their money and knew about the day it would be in Digby in care of the custom house. On the appointed day Mr. Speight saddled his horse and went to Digby where he got his money. Some in paper and some in gold and a lot in specie and small bills for convenience, as change was scarce there being no banks then. He had his stout canvas bag of coins slung across the saddle in front of him and with an old flint lock horse pistol which would weigh about 2 1/2 lbs. he mounted and was at the place pointed out to me on his way home at dark his horse walking leisurely at the halt when he started off on his journey. ## LOBSTER FISHERMEN!

In a few days our Lobster Season will open. We are still at our old stand, and expect to do business as usual.

We would like to make a few suggestions, and we think that most of the fishermen will agree with us, that lobsters in a great many cases are not handled as carefully as they might be, to the mutual benefit of the shipper and consumer.

As you know it is quite a common occurrence to crack the small thumb joint of the claw to keep the lobsters from biting each other. Don't do it! This practice is bad, as it bleeds them, and most of them are dead when they arrive in Boston. Those who plug their lobsters will tell you it pays them to do so.

Another bad practice—leaving lobsters in the sun and wind without being covered, as they are almost sure to go in a bad order. The better they are handled, the better satisfied you will be with your returns. It also pays to fill your crates, as the freight costs no more.

We aim to please our shippers, and will assure you when we put out good returns we feel as good as you do when you receive them.

We wish to thank all those who have shipped us in the past, and respectfully solicit a continuance of the same.

Shipping Cards and Tins sent on application.

with shipping companies to facilitate the emigration of persons who have obtained the department's diploma.

It is learned from high authority that negotiations are now going on between Ulster and the Free State, thus forming a united all Ireland front to the Republicans, who are equally enemies of both, and of the peace of Ireland. The Ulster leader's difficulty is in inducing their followers to accept such an agreement. They have been told for so many years that they would never join the home Irish Government, that it will now be difficult to persuade them that such a course would be in their best interests.

The British and French delegations to the Genoa conference are going to work together with a determination to make that gathering, which opened Monday, a success. Prime Minister Lloyd George of Great Britain said Friday, after an hour's talk with Premier Poincare. The two Premiers held their conversation in Mr. Lloyd George's sleeping car while his train for Italy was waiting at the Gare Du Nord and being switched over to the Mediterranean line. The British Premier appeared to be in the best of humor about this informal interview, which also was participated in by Louis Barthou, who will head the French delegation at the Genoa conference. Mr. Lloyd George said he was gratified over the prospects of something definite for the reconstruction of Europe coming out of the Genoa meeting.

BOUNTY ON PORCUPINES TO SAVE TREES.

On account of the large amount of damage being done in the woods by porcupine, I will personally pay a bounty of ten cents each for every porcupine killed during the month of April, 1922, anywhere within the Province of Nova Scotia. By actual count it has been found that a porcupine will destroy about 100 fully grown trees in a winter, so that the total loss from this animal runs into very large figures. Every fully grown tree that is saved is worth more for present needs than 100 seedlings planted though both are urgently needed.

No bounty will be paid after May first, on account of the added fire risk caused by having hunters in the woods after that date.

An extra cash bonus of one hundred dollars will be paid at the end of April to the one who actually kills the largest number during the month. In the event that two contestants should kill exactly the same number the bonus will be paid to the one who sent in the largest return early in the month before the female reproduces.

All that will be necessary will be to cut off the points and forward same by parcel post or express to me at Annapolis Royal, Nova Scotia, stating location where porcupines were killed and giving name and address of the sender, and a check for the bounty will be forwarded by return mail.

As porcupines are quite plentiful in many parts of Nova Scotia, hunters and a large number of the unemployed should make good wages out of this bounty and be at the same time saving their own or their neighbors' trees from destruction.

Porcupines cannot throw their quills. This is simply an old superstition; you have to come in actual contact with the animal before it can shed its quill. They are comparatively tame and can often be killed with a stick.

I intend renewing this offer in the fall after snow comes again.

REINDEER FOR CANADA'S NORTHLAND

The value of the reindeer to the native inhabitants of Labrador and Northern Canada generally has been built up efforts again being made to build up herds of these animals in the regions referred to. The Hudson's Bay Company has taken hold of the enterprise and recently landed 628 reindeer, most of them at Baffin Land some months ago. Because reindeer, in common with other animals, are liable to certain diseases, the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, through the Health of Animals Branch, has seen to it that the imported stock included only healthy specimens. The inspection of the animals was made by Dr. E. A. Watson, Chief Animal Pathologist, who was sent to Norway to examine the shipment before embarkation.

Some years ago importations were made by Dr. Grenfell in connection with his mission work in the Labrador. The herd prospered well while under the care of Lapp herders, but after the Lapps returned to their native land the animals became scattered and lost. Most of the 628 reindeer comprising the present shipment have been landed in good condition, and it is hoped that a beginning has been made in establishing a reindeer industry which may prove of great value to Canada.

CURRENT HISTORY AS IT IS BEING MADE IN THE WORLD TODAY

Sir Ross Smith, the Australian aviator, who with his brother, Sir Keith, had planned to start from Croydon, on April 25, for an attempted flight around the world, was killed when his plane crashed in a practice flight at Brookland, Thursday morning. Lieutenant Bennett, an engineer, who was planning to accompany Sir Ross and his brother on their around-the-world flight, also was killed. The machine which crashed was the one the Smiths intended to use in their flight. Captain Conkerrill, of the Vickers Company, had previously flown it for a half hour, then handing it over to Captain Smith. As the machine was approaching the airfield to land, it got into a spin and the fatal crash followed.

A London cable says:

Soon after the return of the Prince of Wales from his visit to India and Japan, his betrothal to Lady Mary Cambridge will be announced according to reliable information Friday. About the same time announcement will also be made of the engagement of the Duke of York to Lady Rachel Cavendish.

In view of the fact that the royal family never publicly discusses reports referring to it, it is impossible to obtain confirmation of the news from them.

Lady Mary Cambridge is a first cousin of the Prince. She is the elder daughter of the Marquis of Cambridge, who is Queen Mary's brother. She was born in 1897.

Lady Rachel Cavendish is the fourth daughter of the Duke of Devonshire, former governor-general of Canada.

Charges of human "butchery," made by Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, against General Semenov, Russian anti-Bolshevik leader, were testified to, on Wednesday, before the Senate Labor Committee, by two leaders of the United States Expeditionary Forces in Siberia. Brigadier-General W. S. Graves, commander, and Lieutenant-Colonel Charles H. Morrow, who gave instance after instance of murder, rape, and brutality which occurred during the period of American occupation of the region.

Called before the committee in an investigation which Chairman Borah hopes may lead to the deportation of General Semenov, now under arrest in a civil case in New York, the two army officers gave accounts of crimes, described as "unbelievable unless witnessed."

The Reparations Commission in Paris have adopted the text of a note to Germany informing her that the Commission's decisions of March 21, notably as regards payments to be made until May 31, are maintained, and that if Germany does not take necessary measures to put her finances in order the Commission will be obliged on May 31 to exact penalties.

Soviet Russia has been swept by a wave of street handbills, that rivals recent crime epidemics in the United States.

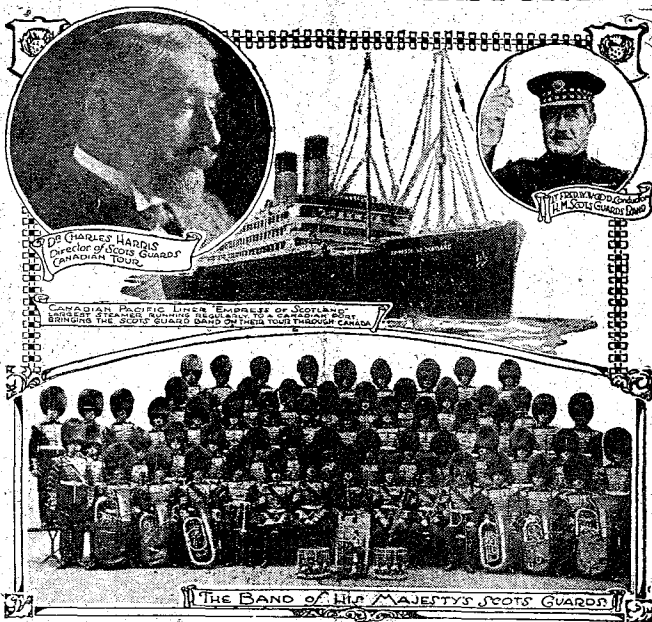

Until a few months ago, Moscow surprised foreign visitors by the safety of its streets, even late at night, but now is no safer than New York or Chicago, and the list of crimes is growing steadily, while Petrograd, Odessa, Kiev and other cities are reported to be even worse.

Hold-ups, burglaries, murders in the principal streets and battles with the Moscow police have occurred in such great numbers that the Moscow Soviet has decreed that immediate steps shall be taken to "liquidate" the situation.

"Liquidation" of such situations in Russia generally means shooting on sight of persons caught in the act of robberies, or speedy execution after conviction.

A BAND WITH A HISTORY

That splendid British regiment, the Scots Guards, as they are known today, looks back to the merry monarch, Charles I., as the chief author of its regimental being. In 1649 King Charles authorized the Marquis of Argyll to raise a regiment of 1,500 men to protect the recently planted Scottish colonists in Ireland. It was a fateful beginning. The regiment had its birth in a troublesome job, and has since then been engaged in the most important of the world's wars. Its history is the history of Britain's wars, and it is a long history, and a stirring history, for through all the almost 300 years that have since rolled by, it has been only now and then that the Scots Guards have languished at home in peaceful times. Their colors have flapped in the bullet-proof breeze of every century, from the days of the Stuarts, when Britain had a war, and as Kipling intimates, that's a long way if you go in the right direction. If they weren't with Wolfe at Quebec, it was because they were elsewhere engaged in quelling down the blessings of British civilization with daymare, bullet and bayonet, and altogether the Scots Guards has taken a giant part in Britain's big and apologetic task of making the world safe for democracy.

In the days before Charles and his jovial court, the hard fighting Scots were not popular in England. Their stout blows were usually directed too near home, and if they were to employ their talents to the full advantage it was necessary to go further abroad. Thus, we find a company of Scottish Guards upholding the national reputation at the court of the French King, Louis XI. When a Scottish King came to England, the Scots Guards followed, and most of them later found their way into Argyll's force, since when the regiment under one name or another has retained its identity, and had added to its standard the names of most of the historic battles of the British army as well as a cloud of others less well remembered. What the Scots Guards did in the Great War would take columns to tell. The list of their battles is too long to be quoted here. They were an important part of the ever-growing contingents. From 1914 to the end they saw it all. Again and again the Scots Guards came back from the front a battered remnant of what was once a regiment, and just as often they went back again, stepping blithely into the maelstrom of death and destruction to do or die according to the Scots Guard's standard. The regiment's decorations won during the war included 6 Victoria Crosses, 21 Distinguished Service Orders and 561 other rewards for gallantry.

It is the Scots Guards Band that Canadians are most particularly interested in at this time. They will tour Canada during the present summer, under the auspices of Canada's Great War Veterans, and Canadians will have an opportunity of hearing one of the world's finest bands in concert. This band is itself a century old, and critics say it has never before achieved the high level of musical reputation that it now has, under the leadership of Lieut. F. W. Wood, who has won an outstanding position among the world's great interpretative conductors.

This tour was arranged for the benefit of the Great War Veterans' Association, and its purpose is largely to direct attention to the fine work of the Association. An important feature of the tour is the fact that it is under the direction of Dr. Charles Harris, whose unrivaled experience in connection with the British Empire's most important musical undertakings is world-wide in its scope. The band will arrive in Canada about May 1, on the Canadian Pacific liner, "Empress of Scotland."

AGRICULTURE IN DIGBY COUNTY A CENTURY AGO

To the Editor of the Courier.

I read with a good deal of interest the publication of "The Letters of Agriola" in the Saturday Evening Record of this city. The letters were written over one hundred years ago by John Young, Secretary of the Provincial Agricultural Board, and at that time published.

In the portion printed in the issue of the Record on Saturday April 8th, 1922, a letter from William Muir, Secretary of the Digby Agricultural Society, is included and is printed below, it occurred to me the readers of the Courier would be interested. The William Muir referred to I think, lived on Carlton or King street, Digby, and apparently took a keen interest in the progress of farming in Digby.

I have no doubt that the Digby Central Agricultural Society is the successor of the society of which Mr. Muir was secretary over one hundred years ago. My father who for fifty years from 1855 was a member of the former society informed me of the above facts.

The letter published below is the one written by Mr. Muir in 1819.

E. HART NICHOLS,
Halifax, Apr. 10th, 1922.

Digby, May 7th, 1819.

To Agriola:—
Sir—I take the liberty of enclosing you an account of the establishment of an Agricultural Society in this place, so far back as the 16th January last, which ought to have been communicated to you before this period.

The principal reason of this delay was, that a gentleman, who had been chosen to an office, was not in the county at that time; and it was deemed necessary to wait his return, or answer to the letter sent him on his appointment.

I have also written the different committees by order of the society for information on the two following subjects, viz:

1. Does your district produce sufficient bread corn for its own consumption? If not, what proportion does the deficiency bear on an average of three years? And what are the causes thereof?

2. What is your mode of cultivation, with any other information on the subject of agriculture you may think proper to communicate? And what are the prevailing soils in your uplands, &c.?

I have been looking anxiously for answers from the different committees for some time past; but as yet have received none, with the exception of a letter from the vice-president, and one from Mr. Wm. Johnston an intelligent farmer residing in this township. After acknowledging in polite terms, the receipt of my letter, the vice-president says—"I have just time to write a few words. (He was setting off on a journey.) Indeed I see with pleasure the spirit of the country in following up the views of Agriola; and I am sincerely disposed to promote that spirit amongst the French people, and will give any information in my power for the purpose."

The soil in general on this peninsula is a good loam, with a mixture of gravel in some parts; in others, of large stones which obstruct the plough. Our method of tillage generally is one green, then one white crop, when we sow grass seed both on new and old land which holds in grass tolerably good.

Many of our farmers, particularly in Clare, laugh at the idea of being taught, so much are they wedded to old habits; however, I trust these will be convinced ere long, by the example and advice of their worthy pastor, that they have yet something to learn. When brought to this point, I am satisfied it will highly promote their true interests.

I am with much respect, your most obedient servant,

WILLIAM MUIR, Secretary.

Questions and Answers on Forestry

by the Canadian Forestry Association

Q. How much money is spent annually in Canada on forest protection equipment such as cones, motor launches, telephone lines and other materials needed for rapid transportation and communication?

A. As nearly as we can estimate $100,000. Ontario for example employs one thousand fire rangers and spends over $500,000 on the wages of these men and necessary fire detection and fire fighting equipment. British Columbia will spend $115,000 this year on forest protection equipment.

Q. Is the British Empire self-sustaining as regards its timber supply?

A. The Empire unquestionably owns sufficient timber resources to meet all requirements although Canada is the only part of the Empire having a considerable supply of coniferous wood, such as pine, spruce, fir and cedar. The fact is however, that the United Kingdom draws over 88 per cent of her timber in port from without the Empire. The three main sources of supply are Russia and Scandinavia, South West Europe and North America. Canada sells the United Kingdom only about ten to fifteen million dollars worth of timber annually. The reason for the preponderance of Russia and Scandinavia in the old Country is to be found in the much lower freight rates.

Q. Is the quantity of timber for lumber in Canada since 1912 increasing or decreasing?

A. We are cutting less timber for lumber purposes as time passes but the annual felling of pulp wood for the manufacture of paper is increasing rapidly, chiefly for the reason that supplies are being exhausted in the United States.

Q. I have read somewhere that the great forests of India are in control entirely of technical Forest Engineers and that while the cutting goes on at an enormous rate, the capital stock is not being impaired as time passes.

A. Your assumption is quite correct. The forest operations in India are wholly under the direction of trained forestry officers, graduates of British forestry schools. As a consequence the forest resources are not being impaired although cutting is allowed to proceed to amply meet the needs of the population. Furthermore the control of forest operations by foresters has made for the Government of India a profit of 773,000 pounds sterling per annum. India's forest management is generally regarded as the finest in the world.

There really was a ghost in Antigonish, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle declared in New York.

Then he elaborated on the report made by a psychic research expert after investigating queer doings at the home of Alex McDonald in Caledonia Mills, Antigonish County, N. S. The psychic research of Walter Price reported that the disturbances in McDonald's home were caused by Mary Ellen, his adopted daughter, during altered states of consciousness.

Mary Ellen was not the ghost but the medium of the ghost, which probably was that Sir Arthur be-

DROWNED IN WEST BRANCH

A very sad accident occurred here on Saturday afternoon, when Mrs. LeRoy Crandall (nee Eva Morine) who was out gathering mayflowers with a small party of friends strayed from her companions and was lost in the woods. A searching party was sent out at once, which early Sunday morning found Mrs. Crandall's body in the West Branch leading into the Bear River. Dr. A. B. Campbell was called and had the body removed to her home. An inquest was held during the morning, and the jurors brought in a verdict of accidental drowning. It appears that in trying to cross the stream to another road Mrs. Crandall must have fallen, striking her head on a rock, and have fallen into the river. The deceased was 55 years of age, and leaves a husband and little girl nearly three years old. The family have the deepest sympathy of the community. Interment was in Mount Hope cemetery on Tuesday.

BACK TO WORK AGAIN—

—quite rid of an obstinate wound or other disabling injury. Wouldn't it make any man feel thankful toward Zam-Buk? A box of this wonderful balm is to the wage earner, as good as any accident insurance policy. Cuts, wounds, burns and scalds can't leave or become inflamed or poisoned where antiseptic Zam-Buk is promptly applied.

—I was back at work in a week thanks to Zam-Buk, though the doctor was sure I would be laid off for a month," says Mr. H. Hogben, 365, Beverley St., Winnipeg.

—My hand caught in a revolving belt, and three fingers were badly mangled. After one week's use of Zam-Buk the wounds were well healed. It was worth three weeks' wages to me," Mr. C. Oakley, of Saskatoon, Sask., says.

—Down at the storeyard, I cut my leg badly. A doctor sewed up the wound and attended me for five weeks. It had cost me $40 when I determined to try Zam-Buk. In two weeks I don't even remember the limb's splendor."

Zam-Buk is equally valuable in eczema, acne, ringworm, hemorrhoids, abscesses, bad legs, etc. Purely herbal, it's a most wonderful skin remedy.

Obituary

ENA GOWER.

The death took place at Westport on Sunday, of Miss Ena, daughter of George Gower, of that place, after a very prolonged illness of tubercular trouble. The deceased was about 19 years of age and besides her father she leaves four brothers and three sisters.

MRS. HIRAM HARRIS. Matilda, widow of Hiram Harris, died at the home of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Charles Harris, at East Ferry, last Saturday, after an illness of but a week's duration. She was born in 1836 and thus had reached the somewhat advanced age of 85 years. She was married in 1864 to Miss Hattie Deane, of North Easton, Mass., and one daughter, Mrs. Andrew Paine, of Marblehead, Mass.

CHAS. R. NOWLAN.

Charles R. Nowlan died at Wolfville Tuesday. He had been ill for weeks, but seemed to be improving. He was born in Haverlock, Digby County, in 1860 and was married in 1884 to Miss Hattie Deane, of Grafton, Queen's county. For 17 years, Mr. and Mrs. Nowlan lived in New Tuxedo, where Mr. Nowlan held the office of Justice of the Peace, and a deacon in the church. At the time of his death he was town councillor for Wolfville. He is survived by his widow and two sons, George and Karl, and a daughter, Lois, a brother, Peter D. minister at Antigonish, a brother, Arthur, in Vermont, a sister, Mrs. Tedford, Melrose, Mass., and another sister, Mrs. Wm. Grant, Port Louis.

HOWARD M. TIBBETTS

Howard M. Tibbetts, Registrar of Dartmouth College for 20 years, died at Hanover, N. H. last Wednesday following several months' illness with Bright's disease.

Mr. Tibbetts was one of the best known college registrars in the country, largely through the marked efficiency of his system at Dartmouth during the past two decades. In that time the college has increased from 500 to 2100 in enrolment, and yet his policies have been maintained, being extended with each jump in the size of the student body.

He was born in Tiverton, Nova Scotia, in 1876 and was educated from Dartmouth in 1900. That same year he was appointed assistant to the dean, and in 1902 he became registrar of the college, one of the youngest men in the country to hold the position. He held the office until last December, when illness forced his retirement, and his assistant, Francis J. Neef, assumed his duties as acting registrar.

Mr. Tibbetts was a brother-in-law of President Ernest M. Hopkins. He is survived by his widow. The funeral was held Friday afternoon in Hanover.

Beaver River, Digby County, took place at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William A. Maxwell, East Boston, on Sunday. The deceased was 82 years of age and had always resided at Beaver River until about six months ago, when he went to Boston to make his home with his daughter. The deceased had been a sufferer from rheumatism for many years, but the direct cause of his passing away was due to apoplexy. Besides Mrs. Maxwell, Mr. Wyman leaves one other daughter, Miss Della, of Boston, both of whom accompanied the remains which arrived by the Prince George Tuesday morning and were interred at Port Maitland in the afternoon. Two sons, E. Newton and Albert N. Wyman, of Beaver River, also survive.

In its snowy jacket of white enamel, trimmed in burnished nickel, the Enterprise Monarch Range is the beauty spot of a woman's kitchen. A glance at it awakens her cooking instincts. Everything seems so easy.

ENTERPRISE MONARCH STEEL RANGE

And everything is easy. A wipe with a damp cloth cleans it, a turn of a handle increases or lessens the heat, it burns all fuels, the thermometer tells you just what is going on in the oven, your pie crusts come out golden brown, crisp and melting; your roast steaks with flavor and goodness.

LOBSTER FISHERMEN!

In a few days our Lobster Season will open. We are still at our old stand, and expect to do business as usual. We would like to make a few suggestions, and we think that most of the fishermen will agree with us, that lobsters in a great many cases are not handled as carefully as they might be—to the mutual benefit of the shippers and consignees. As you know it is quite a common occurrence to crack the small thin joint of the claw to keep the lobsters from biting each other. Don't do it; this practice is bad, as it breeds them, and most of them are dead when they arrive in Boston. Those who play their lobsters will tell you it pays them to do so. Another bad practice—leaving lobsters in the sun and wind without being covered; they are almost sure to go in bad order. The better they are handled, the better satisfied you will be with your returns. It also pays to fill your crates, as the freight costs no more. We aim to please our shippers, and will assure you when we put out good returns we feel as good as you do when you receive them. We wish to thank all those who have shipped us in the past, and respectfully solicit a continuance of the same. Shipping Cards and Tins sent on application.

Last Week in the Maritime Provinces

some power which was used by something malevolent outside herself.

Lorraine Nickerson, twenty five years of age, of Brass Hill, Shelburne county, was killed while hunting Tuesday when a porcupine discharged and the bullet pierced his breast.

Inspector Hartley, of Milton, visited Friday the residence of William Moran of Whitepoint Road, seizing a still, copper kettle, twelve gallons of mash and some finished product. The still and mash were turned over to the Customs official, Norman, being arrested and jailed. It is rumored that he was betrayed to the temperance authorities by one frequenting his house, and that operations had been carried on all winter. He will be arraigned for a hearing immediately.

The Rev. Edward Henry Ball, one of the oldest of the Anglican Clergy in the Diocese of Nova Scotia, passed away Friday morning at Chester, where he has been living for the past year. About a year ago, after a ministry of fifty-five years, he retired from all active work and with his wife, who was Miss Hamilton of Manchester, N.S., removed to Chester to spend the remaining days of his life. He was in his 79th year and was born in England. The Rev. Edward Henry Ball was educated for the sacred ministry at St. Augustine's College, Canterbury, which College he entered in 1863. He was ordained Deacon in 1866 and Priest in 1867 by the late Bishop Binney. He was incumbent of Mulgrave from 1866-69; Port Hill, P. R. I. 1869-74; Mahone Bay 1874-1875 Curate of St. Luke's pro-Cathedral 1875-76; Priest-in-charge Spring Hill 1876-82; Holy Trinity, Tangier 1882-95; St. Stephen's, Chester, 1895-96; Rector of Westville, N. ## AGRICULTURE IN DIGBY COUNTY A CENTURY AGO

(Concluded.)
A meeting of the inhabitants of the western district of the county of Annapolis was held at the Session House in the town of Digby, on Saturday, the 16th January, when a society entitled the Digby Agricultural Society was established, and the following officers elected, viz.

President—Reverend Roger Veits.
Vice-President—Reverend John M. Segogue.
Secretary—Mr. William Muir.
Treasurer—Mr. David Rutherford.

COMMITTEES.
Town of Digby and its vicinity—Elkanah Morton, Esq., Mr. John F. Hughes, Mr. James Reid.
Digby Neck or Peninsula—John Morehouse, Esq., Mr. Wm. Johnston, Mr. Wm. Sanders, Mr. Ezra Hammond.
St. Mary's Bay and Sissabou—

Cereno U. Jones, Esq., Capt. John Cossman, Mr. Ambrose Haight.
Township of Clare—Charles McCarter, Esq., Samuel Campbell, Esq., Lt. Col. Saml. Douset, Capt. Samuel White.

Lower District of Clements—Capt. Edward Dunn, Capt. Henry Oaks, Mr. John Tulis.
The meeting was numerous and respectable.

WILLIAM MUIR, Secretary.
Digby, 7th May, 1819.
REMARKS.

This letter from Digby, announcing the establishment of an agricultural society as far back as the 19th January last, and of which no previous intelligence had been conveyed, affected me with a good deal of surprise; and I have no doubt, will so affect the public. This concealment has been unfortunate in a double light; inasmuch as it has unnecessarily delayed the opening of a correspondence with the Provincial Board; and has shut out its own members from participating in the full benefits of the legislative grant. A share too of the potato seed, which weighed from 42 to 43 lbs. per bushel, and which have been distributed among the societies known to exist, might have been restored in some measure, the quality of that useful grain in the western districts of Annapolis.

In every other point of view the communication is satisfactory; and atones for its late appearance by the richness and variety of its information. The general style of culture there is the same which prevails universally throughout the province—a green crop of potatoes or now and then of turnips, followed by a white one; and both concluded by a long interval of grass and pasture. This system accounts for the deficiency of corn in reference to the consumption and for the predominance of weeds in old land. Every field fit for cultivation, is not appropriated more than once in every 8 or 9 years for raising grain, of which two parts is oats that are never ground into meal for domestic use, and are moreover so much degenerated as to be totally unworthy of reproduction. From these various views it may be justly estimated, that not above one in every twelve arable acres is destined yearly for bread corn; and that the districts contentedly submit to purchase their bread from the States, rather than exert themselves to enliven and invigorate their own husbandry. Perhaps too, they believe that our climate and soil are unpropitious; and that nature, not ignorance, has cursed us with poverty. At all events it is plain, that the French population in particular are too wise to be taught; and that they have carried the system of agriculture to such an exalted and enviable pitch, that they would laugh to scorn any officious instructor who should presume to question their management, or dare to prescribe rules of improvement. From such a hopeful generation much may be expected; more especially as they have carried the matter so far already, as to raise a third of their own bread, and advance the weight of oats to 28 lbs. per bushel. These facts ought to sound in their ears like the thunders of a wrathful Providence, and are infallible indications that they have violated the laws of God and Nature. In the bleak and barren Peninsula of Halifax, oats this last season were raised weighing 44 lbs., and if the present spirit which animates our farmers fails not asleep, all the wretched and miserable trash of light oats shall be swept from the Province, and potato, Angus and Friesland, substituted in their room. Next to wheat, oats hold a second rank in the scale of bread corn, and they will be found the best and surest friend of Nova Scotia in her present circumstances, unless we are disposed to condemn the blessing and perpetuate our own degradation.

Mr. Johnston, who in that neighbourhood is accounted a most skilful and industrious farmer, asks of Agricola information with regard to the best mode of extirpating the nettle, with which his old lands are overrun. As the evil of which he complains is not confined to his farm, but spreads over a large portion of our arable land, I shall give him a public in place of a private answer. It is told of

F. LANSDOWNE BELYEA GIVES ADDRESS ON FEDERAL TAXATION

F. Lansdowne Belyea, chartered accountant of Moncton, was the guest and speaker at a largely attended banquet held by the Commercial Club of Amherst a few days ago.

Mr. Belyea gave an interesting and instructive address, choosing as his subject "Federal Taxation with Special Reference to the Income Tax." The speaker outlined the history of direct and special taxation in Canada from 1915 onward and in passing touched on Special War Revenue Act of 1915, the Business Profits Tax Act of 1916, the Luxury Tax, the Sales and Manufacturers' Taxes, and finally dwelt upon the numerous important phases of the Income War Tax Act of 1917 and its amendments.

Relative to the Business Profits Tax Act it was explained that this had been exclusively a tax levied upon what was deemed the excess profits of those engaged in business, with some exceptions; certain graded percentages of earnings upon invested capital were allowed as exemptions before the taxes applied. This was an attempt by statutory enactment to recover some of the aforementioned profits to the Government exchequer. The calculation of this tax was based upon a profit earning exemption, allowance of certain percentages on the amount of invested surplus and all profits above these exemptions were subject to certain tax rates.

This particular tax applied to wartime industrial activities better than in times of peace and was of necessity inelastic and not adapted to changing conditions; certain important circumstances bearing upon the relation of capital requirements in divergent lines could not be taken into account and some inequality in taxation was the result.

A certain advantage adhered to watered stock investments which had existed previously to the Act and the tax often bore more heavily upon those whose liabilities were great than upon their more fortunate competitors.

However this tax has served a useful purpose and a very satisfactory amount of revenue has been collected to date at small expense; with the waning of larger profits and depression in the times, conditions became so changed that the Act was finally repealed as at Dec. 31st, 1920.

It would be well for business men to remember that the Business Profits Tax and Income Tax Acts were two separate and distinct entities and that they ran side by side through the years 1917, 1918, 1919, 1920; whichever yielded the greater amount of revenue could be applied by the government, but not both.

TAX UPON INCOME.

In dealing with the Income War Tax Act Mr. Belyea explained that this was a tax upon the income, inuring to unmarried persons in the Dominion of Canada, exceeding $1,000, and exceeding $2,000.00 in the case of married men. Corporations were allowed an exemption of $2,000.00 and paid 10 per cent. upon the excess income over this figure and an additional surtax of 5 per cent. upon the total of this normal tax if their income was over $5,000.00 in all.

From his experience as an income tax practitioner the speaker cited many special and interesting cases and after explaining the purpose and filling-in of the various forms, answered all questions and gave advice as to the statutory exemptions, the penalties that might be incurred and how to proceed in case of refunds or adjustments became necessary.

The administration, application and practice of this Act were then thoroughly reviewed by Mr. Belyea, he outlining the organization of the Ottawa and district offices.

He strongly advised his hearers to co-operate in every way possible and the department and officials would hasten to meet them halfway on any reasonable ground; the policy of the staff administering this law up to the present had been to enlist the co-operation of all responsible people on a basis of mutual trust and equity. The difficulties with which officials were beset were many and varied and it was unfair to misjudge the administrators if any isolated case of apparent injustice had taken place or if it appeared that the man next door had escaped taxation for a time.

An honest and thorough effort was being made to build up an accurate and complete tax-roll and system of collection which would be very difficult to evade in the future, so that the interests of honorable tax-payers were thus protected; in cases where some tax-payers had proceeded on an assumption of mutual distrust of the department and a no information plan, travelling inspectors had been appointed to look into these matters; in no case had the tax-payer who made an honest attempt to furnish full information, anything to fear.

The speaker was not contending that all the conditions surrounding the administration of this tax were ideal, but that the organization was now functioning on a practical, fair and workable basis that would bring justice to no one, wonderful progress had been made in a few years in dealing with an absolutely new subject and source of Federal Revenue.

COMMENTS ON OFFICIALS' WORK.

In concluding Mr. Belyea paid a tribute to the just and equitable administration of the various acts by the Commissioner of Taxation, Mr. Broadner and his departmental assistants in both the Business Profits and Income Tax Departments and including the District Inspectors and their staffs. He said that to work with these officials at Ottawa or in the provinces was a very satisfactory experience; courtesy and fair treatment were extended on every hand; the tax-payer could al-

Should Be Taught In School

Well it is not so very long ago when we had good times say the Warton Echo. Ten dollar bills were thick. Even last summer, with a few whizzing by every minute, one would not have supposed that we were on the brink of an economic depression, something that gives us longer and more severe pains than the colic. Now, just scratch your head and wonder if a lot of this could have been avoided. When girls were making from five to ten dollars per day in munition plants, what did they do with the money? No one had ever heard of $5 wages or silk hose before that date. When wages was $4 to $5 a day for unskilled labor, what was done with the money? When hops sold at $24 per cent, butter at 55 cents per pound, cows at $15, ewes at $24 and wool at $1 per pound, what was done with the money? Spent, sure thing. That is a good thing for business, but remember you can't have your loaf and eat it. "Water split on the ground and be gathered up again." Hard times you bet, and you know the cause of the whole thing. What needs to be taught in our schools is thrift, frugality, economy. This will do the scholars far more benefit in life than a lot of the Tom Fool stuff that has been tacked on to the public school curriculum. What should be preached in the pulpits is, thrift, frugality and economy. This will do the people more good than a talk about the Jews. Hard times, yes, and they are not over, but a check was needed. Perhaps if we would stop groaning, we could learn a lesson. Perhaps when the sun of prosperity shall shine again, we shall be thankful. At all events, this such the thumb period is needed. "Just we forget, lest we forget."

Watchful waiting may be all right; we wouldn't say. But this policy of watchful waiting which some people pursue, is fierce.

DIGBY ELECTRIC LIGHT

A special meeting of the town council was held on Wednesday afternoon to consider the best method for the council to operate the electric plant and the council has decided to operate the plant on their own. The council has received a proposition from H. W. W. to provide fuel and engineer for one year at a cost which appeared to the committee to be very satisfactory, and the council has decided to accept the offer of Mr. W. for one year, and the council was empowered to draw up a contract, safeguarding the interests of the town, and at the same time securing a better light service than has before existed, inasmuch as an all-night service will be given during the weeks of heavy tourist business, and a 12-hour service for the remainder of the year.

Mr. W. has had a long experience in operating power plants and the committee felt that in securing his assistance in the running of the light they were freeing themselves from a burden by permitting him to assume the responsibility. N. S. Banks, of Lawrenceville, who has had four years experience in electrical line work, interior wiring and superintendence was appointed electrician. The plant will be thoroughly overhauled and the line put in good condition as soon as the town takes possession, and the council expressed the hope that the days of very heavy cost for light were past, and confidently expect a larger number of electricity consumers. The all-night service during the summer will be a great boon to hotel proprietors and summer visitors.

THE CONTRACT
 Mr. W. proposes to the town of Digby the following as a basis of agreement for twelve calendar months viz. from the first day of June, 1922 to the 31st day of May 1923:

1. For the sum of $5,400 payable at the rate of $450 per month to supply all necessary FUEL to provide STEAM to run the Electric Light plant during the year.
2. To supply to the town of Digby for ten weeks between the dates of June 1st and Sept. 15th at the discretion of the Committee of Management, a 12 o'clock service during the remainder of the year.
3. To provide a competent ENGINEER to maintain a sufficient head of Steam to ensure a STANDARD LIGHT.
4. To supply necessary OIL and WASTE for the ordinary use in connection with the ENGINE.
5. To be responsible for ordinary REPAIRS and TENDERS and RUNNERS, and NOT TO INCLUDE BREAKAGE OR REPAIRS WHICH WILL BE AT A COST IN EXCESS OF $5.00 (five dollars).
6. To provide a SPARE BELT for the main drive during the time the contract shall be in force.

There are two kinds of things upon which you can make no permanent impression—adultery and wealth. And there are minds of these orders.

The Bridgetown Larrigan factory has shut down for an indefinite period throwing about forty men out of employment. Manager Mackenzie says that business conditions generally, and the lumber trade being hard hit, slackened the demand of the output of the factory which necessitated the closing.

With a catch of over 90,000 pelts, the Newfoundland sealing fleet has concluded its fishing season and is returning to port. The catches of the ships are as follows: Viking 14,700, Terra Nova 11,000, Arctic 15,200, Eagle 14,000, Neptune 14,200, Seal 2,200, Ranger 4,250, Sagona 8,900.

A total of 542 settlers came to this province last year, according to the statement of $181,056, according to a statement by Premier Murray in the Provincial Legislature. Of these settlers, 11,000 are farmers or laborers, who planned to buy farms in the province in the future after working for a while on the land.

With the shipment of 1,117,010 barrels and 6,494 boxes of apples from the port of Halifax during the present season, Nova Scotia has enjoyed one of the most prosperous years in the history of her fruit industry. Most of this fruit was grown and packed in the province. Nearly the entire shipments were to the British Isles.

The Digby County Baptist quarterly meetings open next Monday evening in the church at Hillgrove and continue throughout Tuesday. The opening sermon will be preached by Rev. W. A. Snelling of Truro. All the services are open to all who care to come. Special evangelistic services will continue through the week.

The benefit dance and card party for the Digby Hockey Club, given in the Bigby Dream on Wednesday evening was one of the most successful functions of the kind held here for some time. The chairmen were Mrs. J. Jones and Mrs. Kirkpatrick, and Mrs. H. F. Williams, superintended the refreshments. Music was furnished by the Digby Orchestra.

The members of the club are grateful for the assistance given them.

A game reserve to extend from St. John to the St. Croix river and to comprise between 300,000 and 400,000 acres is proposed. This section is plentifully stocked with game and is intersected from the sea by six rivers and innumerable small streams and lakes in which fish abound. The Province Government has promised favorable consideration of the scheme, and it is believed that if carried out, the game reserve should be of great attraction for tourist travel and be of value to the city and province both.

His Honour, Judge Grierson, has filed a lengthy decision in the case of the King vs. Cyril Raymond, dismissing the application of C. A. Jordan, Agent of the E. P. C. to have the appeal from the decision of James A. Taylor, Stipendiary Magistrate, set down for trial in the County Court. The main ground of the Judge's decision is that the Appellant should have furnished security to abide the judgment of the Court, on the appeal, and as no security was given, the appeal was not perfected, and therefore, cannot be tried.

A meeting of the Council of the Board of Trade was held on Wednesday afternoon to consider the proposed International Motor Boat race scheduled to take place on Annapolis Basin some time during the summer. As Annapolis Royal is so deeply interested in the matter as Digby it was thought advisable to hold a joint meeting before anything definite could be decided upon and a committee consisting of H. B. Short, F. L. Anderson, T. E. G. Lynch, C. E. Harris, P. W. Holdsworth, and P. W. Nichols was appointed to meet a similar committee from the ancient capital.

The clergy and synod representatives of the Rural Deanery of Annapolis held a special meeting at Granville Ferry on Monday last, for the purpose of electing a representative on the Board of Governors of the University of King's College, Weymouth. The speaker in general discussion of college affairs, Geo. A. Hawkesworth, of Annapolis Royal, was unanimously elected. The meeting also passed a vote of sympathy with the family of the late H. L. Jones, Esq., who had been Deanery representative for many years.

WHO SPILLED THE BEANS?

To the Editor of the Courier:

SIR.—I named Annapolis Basin as the most eligible sheet of water for the motor fish boats race which I have been promoting for the last three months. The contest was to be between the shore boats of Nova Scotia and those of Maine. The idea was warmly hailed in the United States, and soon gained wide publicity. New York motor boat clubs got interested. With the exception of Digby and Annapolis, the western counties journals were coldly indifferent, and one paper gave out a false impression of the intended function. The two towns named above fully realized the importance of such a match, not only as of local interest, but as counting for the whole province. They were making ready when Eastport entered appearance for Quoddy Bay, or somewhere around there. Someone forged my name to a letter in The Eastport "Sentinel", and now a state of uncertainty prevails. Your readers should know this fact.

M. H. NICKERSON.

Riding a prize Shetland pony, Jean Elmer Woodbury, a 5 year-old miss, appeared as the youngest exhibitor in the San Francisco horse show.

PLANTING THE FLOWER GARDEN

(Experimental Farm Note.)

The annual delight to flower lovers of planting the garden is about to be experienced as spring is here. Often the desire to plant, however, is so strong that certain kinds are set out in the garden long before they should be with the result that many plants are ruined by late spring frosts. There is no advantage, and great dangers in planting geraniums, for instance, before the last week of May, and tender plants are almost certain to be killed.

In planting the flower garden it should always be kept in mind that green grass is one of the most pleasing sights about a garden as flowers without grass to set them off make a frame. The flower garden then should be so planned that the grass will not be much cut up by flower beds. See that the places for flowers are along the boundaries, in corners, or close to the house, leaving as much grass as possible in an unbroken area.

All herbaceous perennials that are going to be planted this spring should be set out as soon as possible now as the more growth they have made before planting the less satisfactory will be the results the first year.

Roses should be planted as early

by the Canadian Forestry Association

Q. Our local branch of the Daughters of the Empire are arranging to plant a "Road of Remembrance" to commemorate the valor of our soldier dead. Where can we find out how to proceed, what trees to select, how to plant them and care for them? Mistakes in such matters are costly and discouraging.

A. The Canadian Forestry Association is now sponsoring the Roads of Remembrance idea and will be glad to give every practical help to local societies in all parts of Canada. A special booklet describing the tree planting process with graphic illustrations is being prepared by the Association and will be sent to all societies who apply to them at 224 Jackson Building, Ottawa.

Q. Can you give me any information as to the cost of trees when as possible, and if the plants seem dry when they arrive print severely and bury them in moist soil for a couple of days before planting.

Some of the hardiest annual flowers, the seed of which can be planted outside early in May, are Sweet Alyssum, Calceolias, Candytuft, Calendula or Pot Marigold, Delphinium, Eschscholtzia, Poppy, Phlox, Drummondia, Virginian Stocks, and Verbena, while for best results Sweet Peas should be planted as soon as the ground is dry enough, but good success will be obtained in an average year even if there is delay in planting for a few weeks. Annuals that are affected by very little frost should not be planted before the latter part of May as, in addition to their probability being killed by frost, these tender things do not succeed well until the temperature of the soil is fairly high. This applies also to such tender plants as Cannas and Dahlias. Gladioli may be planted any time in May.

In planting the flower garden it is very desirable to plan it in such a way that there will be a succession of bloom from early in the spring until late in the autumn. Care should be taken also to arrange the plants in such a way that there will be pleasing blending or contrasts in colours and that the lower growing plants will be in the foreground, or, at least, not hidden by the stronger and taller ones.

for municipal purposes for road planting?

A. The Ontario Department of Highways which is doing a great deal of tree planting along the roads tells us that the average cost per tree is $1.25. This includes all replacements, and every operation from and including purchase, digging, transporting, planting, staking and mulching.

It is further stated that the average cost of maintaining trees along the Ontario provincial highway is about 50 cents per tree per year for two years. This covers cost of watering and cultivation. During the third and later years the trees are usually sufficiently established to care for themselves. During the first and second years four to five applications of water may be necessary. The total cost to Ontario of establishing a healthy tree along the highway is just $2.25 including everything.

Q. Has the United States suffered as much by forest fire losses as has Canada?

A. Probably more. Much of Canada's forest area has escaped because of its remoteness from human beings who after all, are the chief cause of forest fires. At present the United States has 81 million acres of absolute desert due entirely to forest fires which killed both the timber and the soil. There are in addition 300 million acres of scrub woods, extremely poor in quality, which are reproducing meagrely and cannot be used for agriculture as the land is too thin. This is the price of human-set forest fires. Canada has paid her full share, for we have about three quarters of a million square miles on which the timber has been killed by fire. That area is mostly non agricultural.

The St. John's Times prints an article from the Maritime Merchant on the subject of advertising ourselves in New England. Discussing this subject as a business proposition the Merchant points out what it is these provinces have to offer and why it should appeal to the prospective tourist. There are not only scenery, climate, game and fish, but natural resources which would appeal to men with capital to invest. Cases might be cited where tourists became investors, and the effort to get them on the ground is well worth while because of that possibility as well as for the sake of money they would spend as mere visitors. Mr. L. B. Knight told a St. John's audience recently about the $40,000,000 annually spent by visitors in the state of Maine and we have all that Maine can offer with the exception of hotel accommodation. The Merchant is right in his contention that the provinces should be interested in this matter. Now that the development of hydro-electric energy has begun, the development of natural resources and the expansion of small industries should be much more attractive to the investor, and suffer because of a lack of capital for that purpose. We should capitalize our scenery and climate and get more American money. Canada imports almost twice as much from the United States as she sells to that country. Why not sell them our scenery and climate, our good roads and all we have that gives pleasure to a tourist; and at the same time interest them in our undeveloped resources, our advantages for export trade to all parts of the Empire, and other features which should appeal to an alert business man with money to invest.

"Surely!" says the Merchant, "it ought to be worth the expenditure of a few thousand dollars a year on the part of each of our Maritime province governments to at least experiment with a proposition of this sort." We may add that it would be worth while for the cities and towns to make a contribution for the same purpose. The provinces are getting back by degrees to normal conditions. In these provinces a great need is more capital. There is an abundance of it over the border. As a plain business proposition a vigorous advertising policy is most desirable. There are so many provincialists, or sons and daughters of provincialists, in the New England states that the appeal would not be entirely to strangers.

Leaving port a few days later the Clarke L. Corkum was back in port on April 27 with another fare which brought in a stock of $5,936.88 and gave the crew the share of $151.08, making a total stock for the thirty-four days from March 24 until April 27, including travel in port of $20,444.88 and a share of $461.08 per man. That stock and shares places Capt. Snow and the Clarke L. Corkum as the highlanders of the Yarmouth fresh fish fleet and it is questionable if that record can be equalled by another vessel out of any of the Provincial fishing ports. And it is doubtful if there are any out of Boston or Gloucester, Mass., that produce such figures for the same length of time. Another very important feature of the figures is the fact that those fares were caught only a few miles from Yarmouth, brought into this port, landed, packed and were en route to the United States markets, and the schooner again on her way to the Banks, possibly in less time than it takes the Boston or Gloucester vessels to get from the fishing grounds to the United States ports.

Miss Belle Kearney, who is fighting for the United States senatorial nomination in Mississippi, has established her campaign headquarters in Jackson, with Mrs. John Clark in general charge.

When pins were invented in the fourteenth century, the maker was allowed only to sell them on the first two days of January, and upon these days women flocked to buy them. They were so expensive that then it was the custom to give as a present a certain sum of money to be used as pin-money. Hence and term.

THE CORKUM IS HALIBUT HIGH-LINER

(Yarmouth Telegram)

The Gloucester schooner Acusha Captain Iver Carlson, has done well on her last two trips in the fresh halibut fishery, stocking the sum of $12,530. The craft left Gloucester March 27 and was at Yarmouth on April 13. She left there the following day and was back again at Portland, May 2. The crew shared $302 as their part of the proceeds. Schooner Joire, Captain Wallace Bruce, halibuting, stocked $4750 and the share was $105.

The foregoing is good work: both on the part of the vessel and skipper, but for a record, the Telegram feels that Capt. Carlson and Capt. Wallace will have to do their best to Capt. Snow of the schr. Clarke L. Corkum, of Digby, and fresh fishing out of Yarmouth. On March 24 the schooner left Shelburne, light, for the halibut grounds. On March 31 the vessel arrived in Yarmouth and landed a fare of halibut and mixed fish, which gave her a stock of $8,300 and the crew shared $156.00. The vessel sailed on another trip from Yarmouth on April 4, but returned just six days later, April 10, and brought in a fare, which stocked $6,200 and the crew shared $154.00.

Leaving port a few days later the Clarke L. Corkum was back in port on April 27 with another fare which brought in a stock of $5,936.88 and gave the crew the share of $151.08, making a total stock for the thirty-four days from March 24 until April 27, including travel in port of $20,444.88 and a share of $461.08 per man. That stock and shares places Capt. Snow and the Clarke L. Corkum as the highlanders of the Yarmouth fresh fish fleet and it is questionable if that record can be equalled by another vessel out of any of the Provincial fishing ports. And it is doubtful if there are any out of Boston or Gloucester, Mass., that produce such figures for the same length of time. Another very important feature of the figures is the fact that those fares were caught only a few miles from Yarmouth, brought into this port, landed, packed and were en route to the United States markets, and the schooner again on her way to the Banks, possibly in less time than it takes the Boston or Gloucester vessels to get from the fishing grounds to the United States ports.

Miss Belle Kearney, who is fighting for the United States senatorial nomination in Mississippi, has established her campaign headquarters in Jackson, with Mrs. John Clark in general charge.

When pins were invented in the fourteenth century, the maker was allowed only to sell them on the first two days of January, and upon these days women flocked to buy them. They were so expensive that then it was the custom to give as a present a certain sum of money to be used as pin-money. Hence and term.

STEAMSHIP LUXURY COMPLETE

The steamship Majestic of the White Star Line, which has just sailed from Southampton on her first voyage across the Atlantic, is the largest ship in the world, both in lines and tonnage. Her length of 956 feet makes her 6 feet longer than the Leviathan and her tonnage is 1,700 greater than that of the Leviathan.

The most remarkable thing about this new giant is, however, is something that is negative. According to the dispatches from the other side, the Majestic, which is the first great passenger steamship built since the end of the war, offers little new in luxury. She has everything that the imagination and ingenuity of man can provide for the seagoer, but no great innovation can be inventoried. Suites, de luxe, swimming pools, gymnasiums—all these she has, but all these are familiar to the traveler who has used any one of the finest half dozen of the liners.

Has the inventiveness of the steamship designer come to the end of the road? If there were anything new the Majestic would wear it, for in her are the British pride of ownership and the German pride of workmanship; for the Majestic, when her keel was laid, eight years ago was intended to be the Bismarck. A ship like this boasts everything in the way of comfort and pleasure that its size permits, nothing seems lacking except a regulation baseball field and golf links.

Speed used to be constantly improving quality of ocean steamers, but the builders cannot hope to get much more out of the engines of the floating hotels than the twenty-five knots shown by the Majestic in her trials. For speed we look to the airplanes; the Santa Maria roared up from Havana to New York the other day in seventeen and a half hours, which is three or four times as fast as any steamship could make the journey.

And, after all, even if it could be done, what would be the joy of steaming to Europe in a day or two? Nobody can learn shuffleboard thoroughly in such a short time.

There is a theory among some small people that, instead of tramping themselves to grow up to the world's requirements, these ought to be cut down to fit them.

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT NOVA SCOTIA

There is one spot in Nova Scotia where you can lie on the ground with your head in one county, your feet in a second, your right arm stretching into a third and your left arm into a fourth.

If you take the map of our province you will see the junction of Halifax, Guysboro, Colchester and Pictou Counties. The boundary lines of all four intersect about two miles due west of Tralgar, on the St. Mary's River.

This is the only place in Nova Scotia where this can be done although there are several places where you can stand with one foot in one county, the other in a second and have your shadow fall in a third.

The nearest approach to the first instance is at the junction of Shelburne, Yarmouth and Digby Counties, just north of Roseway Lake; the fourth county line in this case is just four miles from the intersection of the other three.

Cumberland is bordered by only one Nova Scotian county, Colchester. The Northumberland Straits and the Bay of Fundy are its northern and southern boundaries respectively while on the west it "abuts" on New Brunswick.

Halifax County has the greatest area, with Richmond the smallest. The island of Boularderie in the Bras d'Or Lakes is divided between Cape Breton county and Victoria. A line drawn due west from Halifax would run through the town of Digby so that, strange as it may sound, Annapolis Royal and all other Valley towns are actually north of the capital city.

There are less than eight miles of railway in Guysboro County.

MONUMENT TO SKEPTIC.

Many years ago in Darlington township, Jim Hughes, aged 14, and Kit Mitchell, aged 24, decided that they were skeptics. They had been attacked by the preachers from the pulpit and they were not to be won by the words of the church. This year, Dr. James L. Hughes, of Toronto, wrote a monument to the memory of his gallant friend. Many chapters of the feud and friendship had been written in the intervening years.

Young Hughes became one of the most famous educators of Canada, while the older man was forced out of work with the church. Both of them in later life discovered that they were not heretics or infidels after all. The last time I saw him said Dr. Hughes, "I was weeping. 'Kit told me that a preacher named Rev. James Graham had recently shattered his infidel arguments. Wrong preaching started us into skepticism; this preaching brought him back. And I was able to tell him that my faith had been restored a few months before by the preaching of Rev. George Lawrence.'"

Dr. Hughes went on to tell how he had also unveiled a monument to the Presbyterian minister, Lawrence, to whom he owed his faith. Now he wished to do the same for that upright man, idol of all boys, prince of teachers, Christopher Mitchell. He did not mourn his friend's death so much as the fact that for long years mistaken preachers had kept "Kit" from becoming a great leader of boys. He could rejoice that a kinder gospel was now being preached and that preachers could take part in the ceremony.

The monument is in place in the Hampton cemetery and will be maintained by popular subscription, so that when the time of the preachers and the youths is forgotten, the memory of the great kind man will remain in the community he loved so well.

The Next Great War.

That the year 1921 will see the outbreak of a world war, which in ferocity and in the deadly engines of death, will surpass the Great War that broke out in 1914, is a prophecy made by Peter Wright, a councillor of the Seamen's and Firemen's Union of New Bedford, and the second outstanding figure in British labor circles. Apart from his prominence as a leader of thought in the British Isles, Mr. Wright is widely known throughout the Dominion as an advocate of the labor principle of the League of Nations.

"At the most we have but ten years of peace ahead of us," Mr. Wright said, "and in that time we must prepare to face the worst of all wars known to history. Even now political forces are coalescing which in the end will bring Germany, Russia and Japan into a triple alliance that will open a new era of strife. Do not believe that we can prevent this war, do what we will; but we can be in a position to meet it and to protect ourselves when it comes. But will we do this? Frankly, I doubt it."

Among the many things that Mr. Wright learned during his last trip to Germany was the fact that German diplomacy is already working to make this dream alliance of the future a hard and solid fact. He does not believe that the Germans will have difficulty in accomplishing their desire. Since the days of Peter the Great German domination of the heart of Russia has been the rule rather than the exception. It was only when the last world war broke out that the latter occurred; then, Mr. Wright says, it was a political expediency rather than a natural inclination.

The Best Things About Love.

You never believe that anyone ever loved just as you do. You want to tell him everything you have ever thought, or said, or done.

You are sure that every other woman is anxious to take him from you. You cannot imagine life without him.

You resent any criticism of him from other people of his mother because she knew him first.

You count a day blank in which you do not see him.

You are sure that if you marry him earth will be better than any poet's paradise.

You would rather live in one room with him than in a palace with anyone else.

If you fail to feel like eight of these nine things, including the last—don't marry him.

Change Your Eyebrows?

"Do you like your eyebrows? If you don't you may now have them changed."

Eyebrow transformation is as painful as it is novel. But it is the latest beauty craze among certain women, chiefly cinema actresses.

How is it done? First of all the shape of the face is taken into consideration, the eyes are measured for correct setting, with regard to great or prominence, and operations are begun.

The correct shape of the brow is pencilled, and the surplus hairs are "plucked out."

A beauty expert declares it is "just as easy as plucking a fowl."

Enough's Enough.

One of Constance Herreschoff's "Three initiation poems," which won second prize in a recent contest, was called "Greenwich Love." It ran like this:

Take it from me.
Be free.
Be a bumble-bee.
Sip here.
Sip there.
Without a care.
Hearts are tough.
Treat 'em rough.
Enough's enough.

A PIONEER JUDGE.

Some Examples of the Wit of Sir Matthew Begbie.

Stories of pioneer days in British Columbia are told with gusto by George Ham in his recent book of reminiscences. He had some typical anecdotes of a Canadian pioneer who ought to be widely known, and that he is, namely, Sir-Matthew Begbie.

"In the days of the Cariboo gold rush, sixty thousand miners, adventurers, and all the riff-raff that follow in the wake of a great mining excitement, came to the Cariboo country in Central British Columbia. The Canadian Pacific Railway had not been built in those days, and the Argonauts crowded in overland through the Yellowhead Pass, and down the Fraser to Quesnel, or from Victoria to Yale by steamer, thence on foot, horseback, stage, or any other way, up the Cariboo Road."

"Barkerville became a larger city than Victoria, the seat of Government, 500 miles away. Yet with all this rabble of people, rough and ready, law-abiding men, drawn from every quarter of the globe, Cariboo was maintained as an orderly safe district through the efforts of one man, Sir-Matthew Begbie, who was judge and various other officials all in one. He had an iron hand, and put fear into the hearts of those of lawless tendencies. On one occasion he had convicted and fined a malefactor for not being on foot, horseback, stage, or any other way, up the Cariboo Road."

"Barkerville became a larger city than Victoria, the seat of Government, 500 miles away. Yet with all this rabble of people, rough and ready, law-abiding men, drawn from every quarter of the globe, Cariboo was maintained as an orderly safe district through the efforts of one man, Sir-Matthew Begbie, who was judge and various other officials all in one. He had an iron hand, and put fear into the hearts of those of lawless tendencies. On one occasion he had convicted and fined a malefactor for not being on foot, horseback, stage, or any other way, up the Cariboo Road."

"That's dead easy," apparently said the culprit, "I've got that right here in my hip pocket. At least—and six months in jail. Have you got that in your hip pocket, too?" came the ready amendment to the sentence, the vindictive dignity of the court and proclaiming to all and sundry that a British court of justice, even though held under a tree, was not to be trifled with.

This story has been told and retold, credited to magistrates and judges, mostly in the Southern States, but it really happened in Sir-Matthew Begbie's court in Cariboo in the early '70s. At least one man is living to-day who was present on the occasion, and that is Col. Robert Stevenson, the pioneer prospector of Similkameen, B.C.

Several other characteristic stories of Sir-Matthew Begbie are told by the Reanimator. A sandbagger who was haled before him for assault and battery, and who spat out the evidence was pretty clear, was found "not guilty by the jury" to the judge's utter disgust. In disposing of the case, he said to the prisoner: "You are guilty, and I know you are guilty, but this precious jury have said you are not. You are free—free to go out and sand-bag every blessed jurymen that comes your way."

Another story illustrating Judge Begbie's ready resourcefulness and sense of justice, combined with a contempt for precedent, was a case where two partners in the ownership of a mining claim quarrelled and then had a dispute over the division of their ground. After listening to all the tall-awaring and contradictory evidence, Judge Begbie stopped the trial, and turning to the litigants said: "You, Jones, and Brown, are agreed that you want to divide the ground."

"Yes, sir."

"But you can't agree on how the lines are to be run?"

"No, sir."

"Very well, Jones, you go out to the ground and run a line dividing the way you think that it should be divided."

"Yes, sir," responded the exultant Jones.

"And Brown—"

"Yes, sir."

"To-morrow, you go out and take your choice of the two halves as Jones divides it."

Probably not since the days of Solomon has a legal dispute been more equitably or effectively settled than was that by Judge Begbie—an Englishman just out from the Old Country in a wild frontier mining camp.

The Perfect Wife.

There are, it used to be said, three things which a good wife should resemble, and yet those three things she should not resemble.

She should be like a town clock—keep time and regularly. She should not be like a town clock—speak so loud that all the town may hear her.

She should be like a snail—patient, and keep within her own house. She should not be like a snail—carry all she has upon her back.

She should be like an echo—speak when spoken to. She should not be like an echo—determined always to have the last word.

Needless to add, no modern man would be bold enough to utter such similes as these. They date back to early Victorian days.

Neighborhood Economy.

Little girl, to Scotch housewife—"Please, m'm, may I have a cent me to see if you would lend her your beef bone to make broth with?"

"Well, my lassie, I cannae jist do that. Ye see, we made both of 'em on Tuesday, and we lent it to Mrs. McAllister to have some soup on Wednesday, and we be using it the day for stockie-leekie omelette, but ye may get a boiling of it of Friday, for Mrs. Jamieson has the promise of it the morn for some nice strengthening soup for her man's an invalid."

Model School Regulations.

Little girl—"If I were a teacher, I'd make everybody behave."

Another—"How would you accomplish that?"

Little girl—"Very easily. When girls were bad I'd tell them they didn't look pretty when little boys were bad I'd make them sit with the girls, and when big boys were bad I wouldn't let them sit with the girls."

Is Now a Healthy Boy

"From a puny, delicate child, my little Johnny has become a strong sturdy boy."

One mother writes—"If you had seen my little Johnny four months ago and you were to see him today, you would never believe that he is the same boy. Then he weighed only 38 pounds. Today he weighs 90 pounds, almost double what he weighed four months ago. His trouble first started with a cold, which we never noticed because he was strong and like all boys of his age occasionally gets cold. After a while we began to notice that his cough, instead of getting better, was getting worse, that he was looking pale and losing weight. He seemed to be tired all the time, had no energy to do anything. Before he caught this cold, he had no trouble with his lessons and remained at the head of his class without much study. But we began to notice a change. He didn't seem to care whether he knew his lessons or not and nothing seemed to interest him. He coughed so much and so hard at times that his face would become purple and we thought he would surely burst a blood vessel. Medicines and cough mixtures did not do him any good. Finally, in desperation and as a last resort, we tried Carnol. In a short time his cough had almost disappeared. His appetite was returning and he was beginning to take an interest in his studies. And, thanks to Carnol, he has become as strong and healthy as he has ever been."

Carnol is sold by your druggist and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it has not done you any good, return the empty bottle and he will refund your money.

New Proof of Paige Speed Power Endurance

Paige 6-66 Daytona Model Travels 10 Miles at Rate of 93.2 Miles Per Hour

The Paige 6-66 Daytona Model is the holder of all world's stock chassis speedway records from 5 to 100 miles. But now this record-breaking car has further demonstrated its ability.

Piloted by Earl Cooper, the Paige, in an unofficial exhibition run against time, covered 10 miles in 6 minutes and 26 1/2 seconds at the San Carlos, California track, on Sunday April 16th. It thus travelled at the terrific speed of 93 1/2 miles per hour for the ten miles.

The official record for the distance, held by this same stock chassis is 6:31.48, or 91 1/2 miles per hour. It was made at the Uniontown Speedway a year ago.

Thus, once again, the Paige in the most spectacular manner has demonstrated its power and endurance.

The Paige 6-66 is the Master of the Highway.

Local and General

W. A. Chute, the old Commodore, building mover, has been called to Kentville to make arrangements to move the Methodist church and a large dwelling for Mr. Masters. During the spring Mr. Chute has moved four buildings, one in Paradise, N. S.; one in Annapolis; one in Deep Brook, and one out of Bear River. He has also been asked to move a large warehouse from Little River, Digby Co., across St. Mary's Bay to New Edinburgh. May 1st brings moving day to many, and it is well to know that we have in our midst one who can so ably assist in this strenuous labor.

An ice-cream parlor has been opened by Stewart Dargie in the building owned by Mrs. E. Rice. Mr. Dargie purchases his ice cream in Halifax.

St. John's Guild met at the home of Mrs. Wm. Dunlop on Thursday afternoon. The Methodist Aid Society met at the home of Mrs. Harry Anthony on Wednesday afternoon.

The Baptist Ladies Circle met at the home of Mrs. Elmer on Tuesday evening. The merchants will close their stores at 12.30 a. m. on each Wednesday beginning from May 31st and not at 1 o'clock, as stated in last week's paper.

Nabeham Chute, one of our older residents passed away on Wednesday, May 10, after an illness of many months. The annual Oddfellows sermon was preached in the Baptist Church, by Rev. R. S. Gregg, on Sunday evening, to a large congregation. A great many Oddfellows and Rebekahs were present, having marched in a body from their lodge room in Oakdene School.

Special Services were held Sunday in the Baptist Church, it being Mother's Day. In the morning a very appropriate sermon was preached by the pastor the Rev. R. S. Gregg, on "Honoring our Mother and Father." The choir was made up of male voices, a quartette entitled "Tell Mother I'll be There" was well rendered by K. Anthony, L. Chute, M. B. Alexander and H. Cunningham. In the evening a splendid sermon on "Brotherhood" was given by the Rev. R. S. Gregg and Rebekah Lodge which attended the church in a body. The singing was also well rendered, the quartette being entitled "There is a Land" sung by Mrs. Litchfield, Ralph Purdy, Kenneth Anthony, and M. B. Alexander.

The B. Y. T. U. was held on Friday evening under the leadership of Group B, Miss Mildred Harris.

BASEBALL

The season opened with practice on the ball grounds on Monday evening. The work done on the field has been a great improvement and will result in much faster ball than was possible last season. An enthusiastic crowd turned out to practice and some excellent new material was in evidence. A sufficient number of last year's team are still here to afford the nucleus for a strong team this season. Some new equipment has been added and the boys are now pretty well provided with the necessities. A little later stockings will have to be provided to complete the uniforms and also regulation shoes.

The entrance of the local team into the Valley League has evidently stimulated the players and has also strengthened the support given by the local citizens.

CLEAN UP DAY

Everyone is requested to remember Clean-up Day which is to be observed on May 24th. Special attention will be given to improving the appearance of West of Brook Glen. Give a few hours of your time in an unselfish effort to assist in beautifying your town. Shovels, rakes and wheelbarrows will be the most useful implements you can bring. At four o'clock the ladies will refreshen you with hot tea and refreshment.

TENNIS

It is anticipated that the Club Court will be ready for play on Saturday afternoon, May 20th and the Secretary will make payment of dues before that date so that a full list of members can be posted at the Court.

Obituary

MRS. SAMUEL SNELL.
On Sunday, May 14th Mrs. Sarah Morine Snell passed peacefully to her eternal reward at the age of 70 years. She was a life long resident of Bear River and most highly esteemed. Her husband, Samuel Snell, was a poor health for a number of years, and for the past year almost helpless. She was tenderly cared for and comforted during her declining years. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. R. S. Gregg pastor of the Baptist Church of which she was a member, on Tuesday afternoon, and was highly attended. Mr. Gregg read the 14 Chapter of John and read his remarks on verses 1-3. "Let not your heart be troubled, ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you, and if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself, that where I am, there ye may be also." The choir rendered appropriate music, the hymns, were "In the Sweet By and By," "Does Jesus Care" and "We shall walk the Realm of Glory." The pall bearers were O. A. Elmer, George Langley, Joseph Langley, and Boyce Rice. The floral tributes were many and beautiful, a casket from husband and son Howard, a wreath of Easter lilies and roses from the eldest grandson Lawrence, a cross of may-bowers and evergreen from Mr. and Mrs. Burton Morine, a wreath of myrtle from Mrs. John Curtis, a spray of mayflowers and evergreen from their only brother James. She leaves to mourners her husband, one son Howard E. Snell, one daughter, Mrs. Clarence Goodier one brother James Morine, all of Bear River and four grandsons. Interment at Mt. Hope Cemetery.

Purity Ice Cream Made Without Air

When you preserve peaches you shut the air out to keep the flavor in. So it should be with ice cream—air contaminates, air soils, air steals away the flavor.

That's why Purity Ice Cream is made without air. It's carbonated by the new Heath Process—and comes to you cleaner, creamier, colder.

A revelation in ice cream—tell your dealer you want to enjoy it.

Offsetting Competition

The thing for the merchants of this community to do in their own interests is to advertise faithfully, and to make their printed announcements interesting and helpful to those whose trade and favor are desired.

The serious competitors of the retailers of this community are the big stores of the big cities—those that send out catalogues and have mail-order departments.

The poorest way to offset this competition is for our local merchants to remain silent. For them not to "speak up" is to give the mail-order houses a better chance to get business from this community.

A WORD TO THE PUBLIC

When you send your money out of this community you enrich the great shops and impoverish this community. Strengthen—not weaken—the merchants of this community. It will all be returned to you in the form of better service and better values.

BAD YEAR IN FISHING INDUSTRY

Halibut Trade Alone Showed Any Degree of Success.

Boston Post—May 10-1922

The Boston Fish Bureau made public yesterday its 47th annual report, which has to do with the activities of the trade in 1921. The year was a trying one for the industry owing to the general disarrangement of business caused by the collapse of the war boom, but conditions are gradually returning to normal.

MACKEREL FISHERY POOR
The mackerel fishery, usually considered the barometer of the fish trade, was the poorest on record; in fact of the different branches of the industry, the halibut fishery alone showed any degree of success. One great drawback is declared to be the high cost of transportation and the United States Fisheries Association is working on the problem, with the prospect of lower rates.

During the year 97,927,365 pounds of groundfish were received here, the receipts including 55,220,576 lbs. haddock, 2,230,915 lbs. cod, 2,959,902 pounds hake, 3,808,468 pounds halibut, 2,718,216 pounds pollock and 891,288 pounds cusk. This total compares with 105,363,031 pounds for 1920, which was the banner year. Last year however was the best since 1911 in point of receipts, with the exception of 1920.

SWORDFISH RECEIPTS DECLINED

The mackerel-seiners had a poor season and the netters had only a fair success, due mainly to unfavorable weather. The Helen, Captain John Matheson, landed the season's first catch at New York, April 7. The Thelma, with Captain "Marty" Welch in command brought the first Cape Shore catch of 50,000 pounds to Boston on May 31.

The swordfish receipts declined, which the number brought by steamer from Nova Scotia increased. Schooner Actor, arriving June 30 with 37 fish, was the first arrival of the season. The halibut fleet numbered 26 sail, the largest for many years.

FROZEN FISH HOLDINGS.

The frozen fish holdings on Jan. 15, 1922 according to the government report were 48,133,000 pounds, as compared with 53,851,000 pounds on the same date the previous year. Only half the steam trawler fleet was in commission last year, even when they operated under a reduced schedule of wages. An innovation in the ground fishery was the schooner, Blanche Ring, operating a small otter trawl instead of the line.

HER AILMENTS ALL GONE NOW

Mrs. Sherman Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lake, Michigan.—"About one year ago I suffered with irregularity and weakness, and at times was obliged to stay off my feet. I doctored with our family physician, and he finally said he could not understand my case, so I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After I had taken the first bottle I could see I was getting better. I took several more bottles of the Vegetable Compound and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and I am entirely cured of my ailment. You may publish this letter if you like." Mrs. MARY SHERMAN, Route 2, Lake, Mich.

There is one fact women should consider and that is this. Women suffer from irregularities and various forms of weakness. They try this and that doctor, as well as different medicines. Finally they take Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound, and Mrs. Sherman's experience is simply another case showing the merit of this well-known medicine.

If your family physician fails to help you and the same old troubles persist, why isn't it reasonable to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

IS NOTHING IMPOSSIBLE?

When fire can now be kept burning under water, one is almost tempted to say that nothing is impossible. Up to the present, one would have been apt to say that even if life depended upon it, such a miracle as keeping fire burning under water was impossible. Yet it has just been done under the water of New York Harbor. Near Staten Island, a thirty-six inch steel water pipe on the floor of the ocean was smashed by a dredge. It had to be cut away. Divers came up out of the muddy depths and reported that the water immediately extinguished their steel-cutting acetylene torches. But an "under-water fire chisel" has been developed by a company that salvages submarine wrecks. This chisel was brought into play. As it burns, it generates a gas which forces the water on all sides, leaving an open or hollow space for the flame. This is scientific magic. If the inventor had lived five hundred years ago, his exhibition would have made even kings kneel to him in superstitious terror.

Speaking of scientific magic it may be recalled that Archimedes, who discovered the principle of the fulcrum, said he could move the earth if some one gave him a fulcrum, a long enough lever and something away from the earth to stand on. Nothing was impossible to Archimedes. Yet, if he had been asked to weigh the earth, he probably would have said it couldn't be done unless he had a big enough pair of scales and a star to rest them on. Modern scientists, with a delicate mechanism which measures the attractive power of lead and other elements, have discovered that the earth is about six times as heavy as an equivalent bulk of water. Thus the earth has been accurately weighed—found to tip the scales at 6,000 billions of tons.

NOVA SCOTIA

By Henry K. Wickstead

The most easterly point on the C. N. R., and the most easterly point, the "Ultima Thule" of the Dominion is the peninsula on which the site of the ancient fortress of Louisbourg and the modern city of Sydney are situated on the island of Cape Breton. This easterly position led to its being probably the first landfall of Cabot, in 1497, only 5 years after Columbus, and Cabot was thus, after the Norsemen, the first to land on the North American continent. The voyage of Columbus took that mariner only to the Bahamas. Cabot, like Columbus, was a Genoese by birth, but afterwards attained citizenship of Venice, so that, although Cabot sailed from Bristol, and was financed by British merchants and encouraged by Henry VII himself, he was not a British subject. In 1501 Corto-Real, a Portuguese sailor, landed on the coast somewhere in Nova Scotia as it would appear from his description. Verrano from France, and Gomez from Spain, in 1524, both added something to the world's knowledge of the coast, Gomez having sailed through the Gulf of Canso, and, in 1534, Jacques Cartier landed on what is supposed to be the north cape of Prince Edward Island, or, as it was first named St. Jean. By right of the discoveries of Verrano and Cartier, France laid claim to all the territory north of Spanish influence, including New England and Acadia, but it was not until the beginning of the 17th century that any real attempt at colonization was made, and this was in Acadia. In 1604 two ships cleared from Havre de Grace, and among their passengers the now familiar names of DeMonts and Champlain appear. The expedition rounded Cape Sable, entered the Bay of Fundy, and from it, Annapolis Basin, which Champlain called Port Royal, and Jean de Biencourt was created by DeMonts Seigneur of Port Royal. The expedition crossed to Passamaquoddy Bay and wintered there, but in the spring the embryo settlement was abandoned and a return was made to Port Royal and a settlement started there. Another member of the expedition was Louis Hebert the same Hebert who afterwards became the first farmer of the province of Quebec, as he already had been in Nova Scotia.

In 1611 came the Jesuits, Biard and Masse, but, two years later, the colony was wiped out by a privateering craft from the English colony of Virginia and its occupants were driven into the woods to live with the Indians. One of these, Latour, later built a fort at what is still called Port Latour near Cape Sable, which, as the only stronghold in Acadia made him, virtually, the ruler of Acadia, but in 1628, while returning from France with supplies and ammunition, he was taken prisoner by Kirke and carried to England, where he made an alliance with the English, and Sir William Alexander, who, about the same time, had founded a Scotch Settlement in Acadia, and his son was made Baronets of Nova Scotia. Latour was evidently an accomplished diplomat and appropriately named. He could turn round corners very sharply. In 1632 Acadia was restored to France by treaty, and in French hands the British fleet gathered by Cardinal Richelieu, who sent out Razilly as Lieutenant-general of Acadia, and to take over the territory from the Scotch. Razilly brought with him from France 300 settlers. He made La Have near the present town of Lunenburg his headquarters, but he died in 1635, having appointed Sieur d'Aulnay Charnisay his successor. Charnisay removed his headquarters to Port Royal, and so came into collision with Latour, who had turned another corner and established him self at what is now St. John with a commission from the King giving him jurisdiction over the whole of Acadia of which this was originally part. Naturally there was trouble between the two distinguished Frenchmen. A reference to the King again led to a division of jurisdiction by an imaginary line up the Bay of Fundy, but this did not end the row. Charnisay undermined Latour at court and then attacked and captured his fort. St. John in his absence from home. Latour was impoverished and driven into exile in 1645. Charnisay remained master of the situation, but died in 1650. A year later Latour, junior, appeared on the scene with a brand-new patent from the King of France, and fortified himself by marrying Charnisay's ever-widened when 3 years later, in 1654, the country again became British he made still another turn, made himself solid with them as his father had done and remained in peaceable possession of Port St. John until his death in 1666. Surely no stranger romance was ever written than this. In 1667 Acadia, again became French, and remained so, administered from Quebec, for some 40 years, during which it had chequered career, first of peaceful development and then of raids and fights between French, English and Indians.

By 1710 the population had grown to be more than 2000, most of whom were descendants of the people brought over by Razilly and Charnisay, and they were typical French Canadians as we know them in Quebec. Thrifty and frugal, handy at a dozen trades, enter by turn, farmers, shopkeepers, lumbermen, fishermen and weavers, inhabiting self-contained little hamlets such as those which still exist in the outlying parishes of Quebec, loyal to their religion, and not altogether ignorant or illiterate. That this settlement of the country made any progress at all in the face of all this turmoil and fighting, neglect by home governments, and constant change of ownership, is remarkable, and attests the richness of natural resources and the intense love of home of the Acadian French. It testifies too, to the readiness of the French to make friends with the native Indians, who were almost invariably their allies. The Scotch Settlement already mentioned did not live to 1710, but came to the cessation of France, in 1632, most of them went home again. In 1654 another British fleet appeared in Annapolis Basin and demanded the surrender of Port Royal in the name of Oliver Cromwell. Acadia was nominally British again, but few English settlers came in. England's hold was not very firm. The accession of King William heralded another Anglo-French war, and, in 1690, Phips appeared with a New England fleet, carried off the governor and garrison of Port Royal to Boston, and then went to take Quebec. Almost immediately after he had gone, a French relief expedition hauled down the British flag, hoisted the French one and crossed over to St. John. Peace came again in 1697, but, in 1702, Queen Anne declared war against France, and then went to take Quebec. ## One More Old Custom Going

During the session of the Nova Scotia Legislature just closed, an act was adopted providing that after Jan. 1, 1923, all traffic on the highways and streets of the province should drive to the right. By an act adopted by the New Brunswick Legislature the change from the present practice of driving to the left will take place in that province at the same time.

With the abandonment of the drive to the left rule in the Maritimes, one more old world custom will disappear from this continent, a custom laid down from the days when the horsemen rode around in armour and kept fellow wayfarers on their right so as to be better able to guard against surprises.

THE BALL FIELD

The splendid new ball field which has been laid out this season by the Digby Amateur Athletic Association is now all most ready for use. The field is situated on Warwick street, the main thoroughfare leading into the town from the surrounding country. It is a large field, and was part of the town "park" laid out some years ago but which has been allowed to revert to the land. The clearing of this field was a big job. Trees of considerable size had grown up as well as a great deal of small vegetation. Aubrey Brown, proprietor of Lou's Lodge, volunteered to superintend the work of clearing and getting it ready for the boys, and to his untiring efforts is due this splendid field. Axes, dynamite and plows have been used and the field has been leveled and graded. All that is now required is a little more raking to make it fit for play. It will be seeded to grass a little later.

According to a discovery made recently in the archives of the Robleian Library at Oxford, the credit of the first Masonic service held in a church, belongs far as records go, to America. Certainly the United States can claim the honor of publication of the first Masonic sermon which was preached at Boston on Wednesday, Dec. 27, 1749 in Christ's Church, the preacher being the Rev. Charles Brockwell.

The Digby sch. Clarke L. Cuckum, Capt. Ansel Snow, previously reported at Yarmouth stocked $5,119 and her crew shared $114.54 per man. The vessel was chartered at stock price March 24, at $25.56 per white crew in that time have made a total share of $315.62, which we do not believe has been equalled by any vessel in the same period of time. Fresh fishing this season either out of Provincial or New England States ports.

All that stands between us and a boat trip is a few weeks.

The pastor who preached on modern women's dress very appropriately took his text from Revelations.

As the present state of Tangle sales, it is estimated the grand total will reach 24,000,000 bottles at the end of the present year. W. A. Fisher, who has been in the business for 12 years, told us that he would not take $1,000 for what that wonderful Tangle medicine has done for me," said Mrs. Mattie Lyles of Lexington, Kentucky. Sold by F. W. Holdsworth.

There will be Church of England service in Sandy Cove on Tuesday, 30th May at 7.30 p. m. Holy communion at 8 a. m. After service a meeting will be held to discuss matters connected with the welfare of the congregation.

Although a powerful reconstructive tonic, Tangle contains no harmful ingredients, minerals or opiates, which are so often found in other medicines. It is therefore safe to take by delicate children with splendid results. P. W. Holdsworth.

In the Anglican and Catholic churches, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week were observed as rogation days, days of prayer that the seed soon may yield about next harvest. Special prayer was said in the churches for the blessing of the seeds.

The steamer Madeline A. made her first appearance here this week on a new service which is inaugurating between this port and Port Maitland, Cape St. Mary and Wedgeport. The steamer, which is in charge of Captain Surrette is twenty-seven tons net register and is owned in Wedgeport—St. John Telegraph.

Mr. Fraser, of North Sydney, delighted the members of the Baptist congregation on Sunday morning by a display of his unusual musical talent, both vocal and instrumental. In the offertory he discovered amazing resources of harmony in the church organ and at the close of the service he sang a grand and stirring baritone solo, "Prepare Ye the Way of the Lord."

Eighteen dogs from the Maritime Provinces at the Montreal Dog Show have accounted for twenty-five first, fifteen specials and three winners, according to a telegram from W. W. Lacey, vice-president of the Fredericton Kennel Club, who is attending the show. Twelve dogs from New Brunswick including Nora Blair, owned by P. Grace of Fredericton, six Kingstons owned by Mrs. Margeson, of Nova Scotia, topped that breed.

The Annual Roll of the Hillgrove church will be held on Thursday, June 1st. An old fashioned conference meeting will be held in the afternoon at three o'clock, after which supper will be served in the hall. Another meeting will be held in the evening at which an inspirational address will be given. The offering of the day will be toward the church's allotment for Convention Fund. All members and friends are cordially invited to join in the exercises of the day. Hospitality will be extended to those who come from outside the community.

Funeral services in connection with the death of Charles Balser were held in the Hillgrove church on Tuesday afternoon of last week. A very large number of friends were present to pay tribute to the young man's Christian character and gave a comforting address on "The Things That Are Unseen." The choir sang suitable hymns and Rev. J. H. Copeland sang a solo, "Does Jesus Care?" The deepest sympathy of the entire community goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Balser and the members of their family in their great sorrow.

It is announced in British naval circles that the fast cruiser Centurion, which was in Digby harbor for several days last year, will shortly be shipped in the country, as a development in the programme of weeding out vessels to reduce the strength to that agreed upon at the Washington Conference. The Centurion still lies on this side of the Atlantic, but will leave Halifax soon for her final voyage. She has been spending several days in Boston harbor and left that port on Friday for the Nova Scotia capital.

The officers and men were entertained during their entire stay in Boston. They made many friends during their stay in Digby where they were also entertained. It will be of interest to the Nova Scotia farmers whose hay crop was short last year to learn that United States hay shippers are looking for a market for their hay in the Cuban market to Canada because of the enterprise of Canadian commercial agents, excellent steamship service to the island from good ports and high freight rates in the republic. As in the case of the potato trade, Canada is likely to be the dominating country shipping hay to the gem of the Antilles. Congressman Newton—he comes from Missouri—in a recent speech in congress advocating development of interior water ways, said that transportation in the United States is the worst that anywhere in the world. He said that haymen there were fast losing the trade with Cuba.

In Digby County as far west as Whippoor's Point, lobster fishing is being permitted up to June 24th. Nothing under 9 inches can be taken in this district.

Mrs. (Dr.) Timpany will give an address on "The Future of the Church" at the Roll Call Service in the Hill Grove Church next Tuesday evening. Mrs. Timpany has a complete mastery of her subject and is a fluent and logical speaker. This will be a rare opportunity to hear present day conditions in India, the Chinese problem, the Russian Revolution, and the discussion from the viewpoint of Christian statesmanship.

GET FORECASTS BY WIRELESS

Kansas Agricultural College Makes Arrangement to Furnish Forecasts With Weather Probabilities.

The Kansas Agricultural college has announced that it will furnish the weather forecasts to every Kansas farmer by wireless telegraph. The farmer will be required to install an amateur wireless set with which to receive the forecasts. These sets cost about $35 each and can be operated by any person. They cannot be used for sending messages for any considerable distances but they will receive the powerful messages of the big plants. The forecasts are to be sent out at 9:35 each morning under a standard code and on the wave length of 375 meters, short enough for any amateur set to take. This wave length is also long enough and the college plant is powerful enough so that the message will reach every point in the state. The forecast will be sent at the rate of 18 words a minute and then at 10 words a minute. The service is to be given free to every farmer, high school, or to any other person or institution having a wireless set. The high schools in the state are to be asked to distribute the forecast to the banks and stores and to the telephone companies. The knowledge of the probable weather is of considerable importance to farmers during the harvest and haying season, and to stockmen during the winter, for they can make preparations for feeding and sheltering stock upon knowing of an approaching storm.

PLAN MORE-OSTRICH PLUMES

South African Ralers of the Birds Believe They Can Largely Increase the Supply.

An effort is being made by South African ostrich farmers to increase the plumage quills of ostriches, and Professor Davenport believes this can be done by as much as 25 per cent, but W. P. Fyfe, the great English naturalist, is skeptical.

The number of plumes from each wing averages 36, and occasionally runs as high as 42 in the South African species and 50 in the North African. The latter is the larger bird and its bones are denser. The Grootfontein School of Agriculture is trying by proper mating to breed a race of 42 plume birds.

Professor Fyfe writes in the Illustrated London News that the ancestor of the ostrich undoubtedly possessed the power of flight, when the wing quills of the hand numbered 18, while the secondary feathers, attached along the forearm, probably did not exceed 23. This was the original inheritance and it can never be increased, especially now that the whole wing has degenerated into a mere wreck of its original self.

There are now about 1,000,000 birds on the African ostrich farms, and the value of their exported feathers is about $15,000,000.

Overcoming Plant Disease

Announcement by scientists at Cambridge University that it is now possible to breed disease-proof plants, following a long series of immunizing tests applied to grains, potatoes and other growths, ought to shed a ray of light upon the world sorely vexed by food problems.

Potato disease alone has cost this country untold millions of dollars. If this one article of food could be protected against the destructive fungi that attack it so persistently, a solid food basis would be assured. As it is, potatoes, which should be the cheapest and most plentiful food, now succumb to moderate prices to prices that are absurdly high.

The checking of plant diseases is second only in importance to overcoming the diseases that attack humanity. At the time of food scarcity any progress that can be made toward conserving the world's crops will be doubly a blessing.—New York Tribune.

League Covenant in Esperanto

In the case of most international conventions a version in one language, customarily French, is taken as the original text. The treaty of Versailles, however, stipulates that the French and English texts shall have equal authority. But a perfectly equivalent translation of anything more complex than the multiplication table is impossible and already controversies have arisen over supposed discrepancies in the two versions. So the Esperantists of Paris have published their "Kontrakto de la Ligo de Nacioj" with the suggestion that by making Esperanto the official language of the league all disputes would be avoided.—Independent, New York.

Electricity in East Prussia

According to press reports from Königsberg, the provincial board has approved a plan for the uniform supply of electric power for the province of East Prussia. The plan is a rather ambitious one, the completion of which will require ten years, will, through the development of water power, insure East Prussia's electrical supply independently of the coal question.

Airplanes for Sighting Fish

Airplanes which were used to spot submarines may now be employed to sight schools of fish. The method has been employed off Toulon, France, with success. An airplane discovered a big bank of fluke and immediately gave the signal to some submarines, which hastened to the spot and made a great catch.

Eastern Standard Time, daily, running 38 hours between Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver, also reaching Winnipeg in 41, Regina in 51 and Calgary in 65 hours.

Of all this fleet of trains the TRANS CANADA is the "Premier Train."

FRIGHTENED!

"Every morning I woke up, I felt that something terrible was going to happen."

Writes Mrs. M. and she goes on to say, "I wonder if any other woman ever had such fits of depression as I had for over a year. I was so utterly pessimistic that if it had not been for my children, I believe I would have put an end to my life. Every day and every night was a nightmare. I dreaded going to bed because I lay awake most of the night. When I did sleep, I had the most dreadful dreams. I couldn't rest. I was completely run down—nothing interested me, nothing appealed to me. I consulted several doctors. They prescribed different remedies to build me up but these preparations didn't do me any good. Doctors told me I had a nervous breakdown. I was tired all the time. I felt every day that my strength was gradually leaving me. The least little exertion left me thoroughly tired out. I knew I was gradually wasting away. I felt I was going to die and I was so thoroughly miserable that I did not care whether I lived or not. (And then I heard about Carrol and what a fine tonic it was. At first I refused to take it. I was sure it wouldn't do me any good. Finally I did try it with the most wonderful results. I am well and happy every minute of the day now. I feel hearty and sleep soundly. My friends won't believe that Carrol alone has done this for me. I am never depressed now and every day is a day of joy. What Carrol has done for me it will do for you."

Carrol is sold by your druggist and if you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle and he will refund your money.

STANDARD THE WORLD NEEDS

High Moral Example Set by Robert Louis Stevenson Well Worth Living Up To.

Robert Louis Stevenson, refusing to take all that was offered him for a poem he did not think his best, wrote: "I do not live much to food and honor, but I will not willfully turn my back on both."

In the modest words lies deep the only standard by which a man can hope to satisfy himself with his life. It is a standard the world today sorely needs. We hear of unrest and strife here. Why not, with so many men and women trying to live up to a standard set by someone else? If they succeed there is no happiness in it, for it has no sanction from their own hearts.

The man we count successful in material affairs and expect to find happy is never one who has reached a certain place. But when a man has set a mark for himself in possessions and has kept that mark in view until he reached it, we call him successful. It may have been a $10,000 home; it may have been one million dollars. But it was his own goal.

It is not less true of his inner life. We do not expect much of a man who has set a goal for himself in right and wrong. And he cannot claim any right to contentment. If his only moral standard is the law, he earns only the minimum of satisfaction. Stevenson, however, never thought he had earned it, is a thousand times more to be envied than the man who takes a hundred or a million dollars he has not earned, because no law will punish him.—Milwaukee Journal.

GREAT TRUTH SIMPLY TOLD

Warning Here to Those Who Neglect to Set Down Their Priceless Discoveries.

A noted author in the Saturday Post writes: "The commonest sign of fatigue is found in feeling of weariness."

There are times when we are almost led into believing that this is true. Equivocal and ambiguous as the statement may seem, at the first reading, it becomes clearer when read over four or five times. In fact, we don't know when the proposition has been stated with more clarity, after one masters the language in which it is couched.

Have you not often read things and said to yourself: "How often I have thought that yearning. Why did I not put it down in imperishable words?"

It is so with this. Doubtless, in your humble way you have often thought that your weariness was a sign of fatigue. At those times you thought a living truth, but did you write and tell some magazine of your priceless discovery? No. You allowed somebody to come along, perhaps years after, and do it.

The moral is that when you think a great thought, put it down on paper at once. Even if you do put it away somewhere and forget it, posterity may find it.

Now, many times in our career we have had feelings of weariness. Some of our friends have been misguided enough to attribute it to laziness—an awful word, particularly among friends. But, when we were weary, it was not laziness that ailed us. It was fatigue.

And we never knew the truth until we read the magazine article mentioned. We have been mistaken for years by a wrong idea.—Exchange.

It is the PREST-O-PLATES in PREST-O-LITE Batteries that Give Longer Life and More "Pep"

THE life of a battery depends upon the plates. That is why Prest-O-Lite, when it set out to make the Automobile Battery better, began with the plates.

Always a maker of a better plate, it turned its scientific skill and research to improving it and produced Prest-O-Lite Plates—the long-lasting Plate.

Here is a battery plate as different from ordinary plates as gold is from gilt. Unusual hardness combined with a peculiar porosity gives it unrivaled durability.

This explains its ready reserve power in biting zero weather and its great non-buckling strength that resists overheating in summer.

That is why the Prest-O-Lite Battery outlives an ordinary battery and why it is the best all-weather battery

Drive around to the local Prest-O-Lite Service Station and ask about a Prest-O-Lite for your car.

Bargain-Hunters

In this community are hundreds of individuals and families on the watch for an advertisement which will offer them what they want at an advantageous price.

Call them bargain-hunters if you will, but there is nothing wrong in waiting for a bargain, especially when the seller is anxious to sell at a reduced price.

One family wants a new carpet—the need is not urgent. Another family is looking forward to buying dining-room furniture—it may not be for a twelve month.

One man is thinking of buying himself a watch. One woman a shopping bag; another an umbrella.

All can be made to buy earlier—by advertising.

A NOTE TO MERCHANTS

Stimulate business by the offer of some slow-moving lines at special prices. Brighten up business by advertising some desirable goods at reduced prices. Make advertising banish dull business. Often you can tempt the buyer who is biding his or her time, to buy from you—at a time of your naming.

preyed on the enemy's commerce. I have even heard it whispered that on one or two occasions they overstepped the pale of international law, and carried on their operations after peace had been declared, but news travelled slowly to ships at sea in those days, and, of course, this must have been due to inadvertence and the absence of a Marconi apparatus.

From 1812 to 1867, the confederation year, Nova Scotia's history has been one of peaceful development. Agriculture has flourished along the Fundy shores and the northern coast. Mining commenced in Pictou and Springhill and later in Cape Breton which was brought in the province in 1820. As in England, the production of coal led to the smelting of iron and in the first place the iron ore came from the coal measures. Later, when a larger supply became necessary, it has been brought in from Newfoundland and from Cuba by sea. Lumbering has been carried on to some extent and Nova Scotia spruce which has supplied so many ships' spars, has also supplied deals and later pulpwood. But the distinctive calling of the Nova Scotian, that which has made the "Blue-nose" famous the world over, is that of the sea and sailing, just as it is that which has made England, Nova Scotia has produced sailors second to none in the world, and this is not only the finest body of sailors but perhaps the last. I am using the term sailor as distinguished from that of "seaman" as applying only to the man who handles a vessel propelled by canvas and sails, who can knot and splice, hand red and steer a sailing vessel. The Nova Scotian builds his own ships as well as sails them. In 1864, 300 were built, but the advent of the iron and steel ship caused a decline in the industry, and few large ones are launched from the yards; but the ability to build has not diminished and within the last few weeks the "Blue-nose" has demonstrated that Nova Scotian fishing schooners and crews are at least equal in speed to any in the world. The fishermen of the Grand Banks are about the last craft in the world of any size, to adhere to the sail as a driven power, and the evolution of the modern schooner is a most interesting study. The older craft show the lines and rig of the French similar to those of the lower St. Lawrence and perhaps the handiest and ablest of sailing craft. Taking to sea with two men and a boy and poking along with a cargo of local produce from port to port in all weathers, and whether hove to in a gale, or heavy fog or running off the wind, with the mainsail furled always safe and comparatively dry and comfortable, but the "bank fishermen" needed something more than this. He must not only keep the sea in all weathers but when his catch was complete he must make the 500 mile run to port in the shortest possible time in order to secure his market.

On the "banks" he met the Gloucester fishermen, most of whom were maritimers, and often sailed home along side them, and the models of these had been influenced by the schooner yachts of New York and Boston, then the fastest in the world. The Nova Scotian in his turn was influenced. The models became cleaner and sharper lines. Later the races for the American cup and the various developed the yachts still more, and the straight keels and plumb stern posts and "knuckle" at the stem gave way to the cutaway forefoot and shortened keel. The rig changed from the nearly equal fore and mainsail to the mid-ship mainmast, shortened foremast, much shortened bowsprit and immensely long mainboom, necessitating a strong and active crew, but this the banker always has. The "Blue-nose" and her type are probably the fastest merchant craft of their size afloat and can drive off with a quartering gale at 16 knots an hour, but they are a "specialized" craft and do it at some risk to themselves and their crews which calling demands, and they are among the most beautiful craft afloat, but it will be remembered that last year's cup-winner "Esperanto," founded off Sable Island, while dozens of the older craft were probably making good weather hove-to under short canvas.

The steam trawler and auxiliary small craft are making their appearance in considerable numbers about the coast, but the banker still adheres to sail and wooden construction. Nova Scotia will take to steel ship building; it is in the nature of things that she should, but the advent of power is perhaps not so near or so certain. The banker often wants all the storage space she has and ice and salt rather than coal or gasoline and oily engines as shipmates for her fish. These are not calm latitudes, and in any sort of breeze 8 to 12 knots is an ordinary speed. Even in a gale of headwind the tramp steamer can not get on her feet. I have, within the last few months, been brought to a practical standstill for 24 hours in one of these. Only in a calm or very narrow channel is the schooner at a disadvantage and one wonders whether under these circumstances the wholesale turn-over to steam is justifiable in the Merchant Marine and whether the ideal cargo carrier for long voyages, especially in trade wind latitudes, is not the auxiliary with enough power to develop 4 or 5 knots and twist hard into port and out again and through calm streaks. The burning of coal for 1000 miles, through the trade wind belt, seems almost as wasteful of fuel and the cargo space which it occupies, as was the beating of the American clipper for days around the Horn, or of the flying Dutchman around Agulhas, or Coleridge's "Painted ship upon a painted ocean" of human time and energy.

The confederation brought in a new era for Nova Scotia and her statesmen especially Sir Charles Tupper and Joseph Howe played a prominent part in the negotiations. The Intercolonial was built as part of the understanding and connected Halifax with the system of Upper and Lower Canada at Riverview, Loup. The Truro Pictou branch was extended to Port Mulgrave and later by means of a ferry to the Sydney in Cape Breton, and this, rather remote island was introduced to the world as an important part of the province. Still later the Halifax and South-western connected the southern coast towns of Yarmouth, Shelburne, Lockeport, Liverpool, Bridgewater, Lunenburg and Chester with the Capital. All these are now incorporated in the Canadian National System. Halifax became the winter port of Canada in command with St. John and independent of the American outlet at Portland.

Simultaneously, Nova Scotian public men became a factor in Canadian politics and the names of Tupper, Thomas, Fielding, Borden and Murray almost as familiar in Ottawa as in their own province.

To the tourist Nova Scotia is a region of intense interest. There are the mementoes of the history which I have briefly sketched from the runic characters left by the Vikings nearly 1000 years ago to the present day, and there are the natural features and scenery, the unique tides of the Bay of Fundy and the "bore" or tidal wave of the Petitcodiac River, the famous Annapolis Valley with its orchards, the village of Grand Pre, and the town and basin of Annapolis and their traditions and peaceful scenery; Digby the Queen of Canadian watering places and on the Atlantic coast the succession of bays and firths running far inland and making Shelburne, Liverpool, Chester and St. Margaret's Bay among the most attractive summer resorts in the world. There is the town of Lunenburg with its fishing fleet of beautiful schooners and Halifax with its fortifications, its quaint old fashioned buildings and its wonderful harbor and ocean terminals and almost of shipping. There are the salmons of the Medway and the trout of almost all the smaller streams, and the sea fishing and bathing at every village along the coast.

Just as interesting and perhaps even more beautiful is the island of Cape Breton. Leaving Halifax, the railway line runs along the northwest arm and the Bedford River, there it crosses the backbone of Nova Scotia to Grand Lake and follows the Shubenacadie River, Truro. Then we turn from north to east, cross the Cobequid hills and into New Glasgow with its industries, then on through a beautiful cultivated and wooded country through Antigonish and over a rougher and more rocky summit with intermittent views of the great expanse of the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the Strait of Canso to Port Mulgrave. Here we cross on a great ferry to the Island at Point Tupper and soon afterwards we are out on the shores of the famous Bras D'Or Lake which we cross at the Grand Narrows and so in early evening to Sydney. The summer climate of Nova Scotia is one of the most delightful in the world and this railway trip is one of the pleasantest to be had anywhere in eastern Canada. At Sydney the iron, steel and coal industries and the ruins of the great fortress of Louisbourg are all within reach, and a little steamer will take the tourist around to Bras D'Or Lake and through it to Baddeck and Wycombe. If he is enterprising and wishes to see and study people as well as places there is a delightful drive to be taken across the island from Wycombe through Little River along the shores of Lake Ainslie and down the valley of the Margaree Harbor, a drive of entrancing loveliness. Then he may turn northward along the coast through a settlement of Acadian French to Cheticamp and if it is a Sunday he may see the women going to Mass in a quaint head-dress of their Breton ancestors, and it is a week day, he may see them working in the fields while their lords and masters are busy at their fishing and their nets and boats for Acadians are fishermen first and farmers afterwards. He will find them the most polite and courteous of peoples. At Cheticamp the carboniferous formation of the south end of the island gives way to the archaic rocks, and the coast stretches away in bold bluffs and mountains to the North Cape, and mountains to the Margaree. He will find himself among the Highland Scotch settlers, and while there are many among the Acadians who talk nothing but French there are some here who speak nothing but the Gaelic. Both races live alongside one another and peace and unity and their hospitality is almost boundless, but the Nova Scotian is tempered with thrift. He may drive on down the west coast, sometimes high up on the precipitous slopes of a bold headland with the sea fretting and gnawing at its foot, and on through a bit of woodland and out on to grass upland dotted with grazing sheep. He will pass picturesque farmhouses, sometimes with their roofs tied down by iron rods, and with occasional gnarled and twisted spruce trees testifying to the fury of winter gales; and always he will find the same kindly, simple, intelligent people. Three hours from Margaree will bring him to the rather ugly town of Inverness with a coal mine and railway terminus, but with a magnificent outlook over the gulf, and the railway will take him in 3 or 4 hours back to Point Tupper and through the Scotch Settlements of Atholville, Mabou, Glace Bay, Port Hood, Creignish and Port Hastings.

It was such a trip as this that my daughter and I took in late August and the memory of it is with us yet. And yet there is another mental picture of a wild autumn gale with a heavy surf raging in on a beach of shingle, of a sail away in the offing getting nearer and resolving itself into a brigantine in distress, of her coming ashore and the crew crouching under the bulwarks as the sea broke over her, of our efforts to get a line aboard and the rescue of a woman and of the crew. They are two widely contrasting pictures, the one of beauty and peace and sunny skies and delicious languorous air. The other of warring elements, angry seas, and a cruel ocean—chasing a helpless vessel and her crew into a corner and trying to annihilate them. Both are vivid, both are beautiful in their own way and they are typical of Cape Breton climate at its best and at its worst, in summer softness and beauty and in winter fury and madness.

But it is perhaps the last which I like the best, for while it is summer which ripens Cape Breton's crops and brings the mackerel inshore, it is the terrible winter which develops the men and the most valuable product of Nova Scotia as of old Scotia, the greatest of her resources is not the fisheries or the coal mines but men which she has reared and sent abroad.

PLAN ORGANIZING CANADIAN CLUB

(Lynn Telegram.) Few people in Lynn realize that of the thousands that make up the population of Lynn, that Canada has a far larger representation than any other country.

Attorney Medley T. Holdsworth, who is a Canadian by birth, has looked up the statistics in this matter and finds, according to the bureau of census of the United States, in their 14th bulletin, 1920, that there are more than 10,000 native born Canadians in Lynn and that if you include the sons and daughters and husbands and wives of these Canadians, you have nearly one fourth of the population of Lynn.

According to the census bureau's report of 1920, Ward 1 has 341 native born Canadians; Ward 2, 692; Ward 3, 1099; Ward 4, 1950; Ward 5, 2191; Ward 6, 2112; Ward 7, 540; and Saugus has 967. These figures do not include English or Scotch.

Essex county has 40,895 Canadians and in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts we have 262,022 who are Canadian born.

A great part of these Canadians are naturalized citizens and voters in the United States.

Mr. Holdsworth's object in looking up the statistics in reference to the Canadians is for the purpose of forming a Greater Lynn Canadian Club, modeled somewhat after the organizations of the New Hampshire club and the Maine club as citizens of many of the different states and countries in Lynn have organizations, with the exception of the Canadians, who, while they far out number all others, have never formed themselves into an organization. This would include Saugus, Swampscott, Nahant, Marblehead and Lynnfield.

In outlining the proposition Mr. Holdsworth stated that it would be more of a social organization that would meet possibly once a month during the winter months in some hall in the city, where they would have some prominent Canadians to speak to them on matters of interest and possibly have a social or dance at times. There would be no regular dues, except possibly the payment of $1 per year per family for the

Q. Is there such a thing as a scientific fire finder used in Canadian forestry services for the detection of forest fires from lookout towers?

A. In several parts of the Dominion our government forest services utilize what is called the Osborne forest fire finder. This is a most interesting device mounted in lookout towers whereby the ranger in charge can quickly and exactly locate from a whiff of smoke on the horizon the position of the fire and with that knowledge can direct his men where to go. The fire finder cannot be described in much detail but roughly consists of a metal disc on which is mounted a map of the district. The lookout station represents the centre of the disc. By swinging the disc so that the fighting device is leveled directly on the fire, the observer is able to fix the location of the trouble with precision and then proceeds to telephone to the rangers nearest the fire giving them instructions where to go.

Q. How much of Canada's forest is denuded each year for the manufacture of pulp and paper?

A. About four million cords are cut each year in this country, valued at the rough at forty-five million dollars and from which pulp and paper products are produced to the value of over two hundred million dollars. More than ninety per cent of these values is furnished by the wood of four kinds of which spruce is chief.

Q. Is there any reliable information as to how much of our Dominion forests has been sacrificed to forest fires in the past century?

A. Dr. C. D. Howe, head of the Forest School of the University of Toronto, estimates that from one half to two-thirds of the forested area of Canada, or, in other words, around one million square miles has been burned within the past 55 years. Dr. Howe further estimates that the forest areas have been denuded of the larger-sized timbers that today less than twelve per cent of the land area of the country contains timber of the size demanded by a modern lumber mill.

Dr. Howe's comment as to the effect of forest fires is highly interesting. He says that of the million square miles of our forest inheritance that has been devastated by fire, much has been burned not only once but two, three and even half a dozen times. These repeated fires on the same area render abortive Nature's attempt to reclothe the old burns with commercial valuable trees. Whole townships that once supported magnificent forests of pine or spruce are now, because of repeated burning, covered with worthless brush or trees of no market value.

Q. I have heard of a number of women's societies interested in promoting Roads of Remembrance as memorials to the soldier dead. Where can we get information as to how to proceed with such Roads of Remembrance?

A. Canadian Forestry Association is prepared to help any organization with shade tree planting as war memorial. Address the Association at Ottawa.

DIFFERENCE BETWEEN STRAWBERRIES

(Experimental Farm Notes)

A cosmopolitan fruit, Citrus fruit can only be grown towards the tropics; peaches require special regions and sheltered valleys; apple trees are seldom seen below the Dixie line, but the luscious strawberry does well from Hudson Bay to Southern Florida, from Cape Breton to Vancouver Island. It is truly a cosmopolitan fruit and one which may be enjoyed by the farmer, even by the cottager with a moderate size back yard, as well as by the millionaire.

Various are the varieties. There are varieties of strawberries to suit practically every taste; every region, even every soil. The fruit may have quite acid to very sweet, light rose to deep red, small to extremely large, soft and excellent in flavour to firm and poor in quality, with flowers imperfect or perfect, resistant to disease or an easy prey to it, strong plant producer or the reverse, adapted to light or to heavy soils.

What is the best variety? There is no best variety of strawberry, as one who has adopted to the needs or the fancy of a particular might not suit his neighbor. The main thing is for one to choose a variety which will have the greatest number of qualities required in the special circumstance. Moreover, it should be remembered that none have all or nearly all the good points.

Considering yield. Extensive trials have been made at the Cap Rouge Experimental Station since 1914 inclusively and results demonstrate that there is a vast difference between varieties of strawberries as far as yield is concerned. Average shows that for three years sample produced at the rate of 5099 pounds of fruit per acre whilst Ruby gave only 2558; for four years, Bisset 7181 and 3 W's 5733; for five years, Greenville 7726 and Win. Belt 4539; for six years, Concordia 8330 and Haverhill 3220; for seven years, Dunlap 7362 and Nettie 4292.

Choosing a variety. Before choosing a variety, farmers should either get plants from a nearby grower who makes a success with strawberries, or apply for information to the Division of Horticulture of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, to the nearest College of Agriculture, or to the Superintendent of the Experimental Farm covering the district. All these parties are completely disinterested and will furnish good advice for the asking.

Suggestions. It is suggested that a perfect variety should always be chosen as there are any amount amongst them to suit all tastes, localities, and conditions. For Central Quebec, Dunlap, sometimes known as Senator Dunlap, is the one which will give best satisfaction, in general. If a very early kind is desired, Excelsior may be planted, but it is a low yielding and poor quality.

A man in Rockland, Maine, who said he was up against it, applied to the town fathers for aid. They asked him if he would work on the roads, and when he jumped at the chance, he was given a letter to the Highway Surveyor, Andrew Shanahan who said he would put him to work right away, when the man asked him if there was a place nearby where he might park his car, as it was nearly new and he didn't want to leave it out in the sun.

According to the New York Transit Commission's programme for new subways, calling for an expenditure of approximately $218,000,000 for construction and about $100,000,000 for equipment, there will be 22.5 miles of new subways built with 84.20 miles of track. The engineers estimate that it will take about five years to complete the work, and New York will not be finished even then.

When Captain Frederick Ockers and a crew of the Rosella were deep-sea scallop fishing ten miles off the Jersey Coast they brought up a water-soaked old leather wallet. Inside the wallet they found sixty two dollars in bills in fairly good condition. Captain Ockers divided his "treasure" among the members of the crew.

There were 213,000 motor vehicles traced out in the factories of the United States during April, turning the average life of a car to be seven years and that there are now about nine million cars in the United States, it would require an output of 107,000 a month to replace cars scrapped.

Canada's most Popular Car The Chevrolet 490

PUBLIC favor changes when reasons for a change are obvious. Public opinion as to the most popular car of the future is changing.

Users of low-priced motor transportation are demanding completely equipped automobiles, modern in every respect, with nothing left to buy but the license plate. The new Superior Chevrolet is fully equipped, including modern 3 speed forward and reverse, sliding gear transmission, standard service and hand brakes, electric starter, demountable rims, water and oil pumps and speedometer. In addition to completeness, buyers insist on real economy in four important essentials. They demand low initial cost; low gasoline consumption; low repair costs; and long life. The new Chevrolet excels in these particulars. Twenty-five to thirty miles on a gallon of gasoline is not uncommon. It excels in oil economy as well. Repair costs are low, because every Chevrolet part is built to give long life under hard conditions.

You owe it to yourself to examine the new Chevrolet, the car which is establishing a new standard and has become Canada's most popular car.

What Shall We Do With Them?

"The children should be kept off the streets." The children, can't be kept off the streets. Which is right? Or is neither? Is there no other solution for what is coming to be a menace and a problem even in our small town. The fact that children are persons and citizens is being insisted on by Social Service workers, who are giving special help to the child problem. The children must be considered. They are entitled to fresh air, exercise and play, as well as to food, sanitary housing and schooling. Where are they all to get them if they are driven off the street?

And now are parents to stand up and down the street, and worry as to their safety, if they read every few days of a child being killed, or worse, maimed for life by some careless or reckless car driver? Of course the child is often usually to blame. But what can a parent do, for that matter, to know about "right of way" and "safety first," and even when they do know, they don't think.

Would it be asking too much that those too young for school should be kept off the streets, unless in charge of some one, during school hours—the busiest hours of the day for traffic? And, that on all streets, except those specified as business thoroughfares, the children should have the "right of way," that all traffic would look out for them from 5 to 8 p. m. This would be a concession and compromise that would be at least worth trying.

If, in addition, all drivers would be specially careful during school hours before and after school hours, when so many children play the streets, and will of course play by the way, they could do so with the minimum of danger. There will always be some danger but all adults owe it to children to minimize it by all means.

It is expecting too much that all drivers should exercise special care, at least where there are children in sight, and that all children should be warned and trained in home and school not to take chances, and not to expect or count on drivers slowing up to allow them to get out of the way. There are a good many children who do this, and who very saucily hold up a car by seeing how long they can linger in front without being run over. It is so easy for them to get out of the way that their refusal to do so is most annoying and to most careful and considerate drivers.

Careful drivers on all frequented streets will drive at a pace that will permit of their stopping in the length of their car, or less; those who are not careful should be required to do so. The street must be made safer for children and should be as safe as possible for all.

FATAL ACCIDENT AT WEYMOUTH

A very sad and distressing accident, with probable fatal result, occurred at the plant of the Biscuit Pulp & Paper Co. at Weymouth, on Thursday morning at 11 o'clock, when T. J. Crabbe, an employee of the company was run over and seriously injured by a passing motor car. The accident occurred while Crabbe was engaged in blocking a car which was being driven down a slanting siding that runs from the main spur to the pulp shed at the mill. The car, which was driven by a young man, was caught beneath the wheels which ran over his right arm and right leg, badly crushing both limbs, besides severely injuring the unfortunate victim in other places. Dr. E. J. Elderkin was hurriedly summoned but upon arrival he found the serious condition of the injured man at once telephoned Dr. E. O. Halliwell who was soon on the scene of the accident. After a consultation the doctors decided to remove the injured man at once to the Weymouth Hospital. A rush call was sent to Yarmouth for the hospital motor ambulance which arrived about 3 o'clock the following morning and which brought Dr. Farnish. Young Crabbe was taken to the hospital on the last of May for a distance of 30 miles leaving at about 3.30 a. m. Dr. E. O. Halliwell accompanied the injured man to Yarmouth, where on early Wednesday morning it was found necessary to amputate both leg and arm. The accident occurred at the same place where Merrill Cook was killed last December. This makes the third serious accident in the last six months at the pulp mill. Young Crabbe was a popular chap with his fellow workmen and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Crabbe. Late reports from the Weymouth Hospital state Crabbe is in a very precarious condition and the chances of pulling through are slim. Rev. J. D. Connor was also summoned and administered the last sacrament of the church. Ralph Cook was also at work on the same car as Crabbe.

Since the above was written word has been received that Crabbe passed away at 6.45 p. m. His father and mother arrived on the afternoon train and were with him when he died. The remains arrived on Thursday morning express with burial, possibly on Friday, Mulgrave.

THE LATE REV. EBEN E. ENGLAND

The Rev. Eben E. England was suddenly translated from earth to heaven, whilst attending Prayer Service in Grace Methodist Church, Digby on Wednesday evening, May 24th, 1922.

Mr. England was born at Blackford, Nfld., June 13th, 1845, and was a member of the Methodist Church in Digby. He was a candidate for the Ministry of the Methodist Church in the Nova Scotia Conference, June 1871, having been duly recommended by the O. O. B. of Grace Methodist Church, Digby, at that time. He was ordained at the same place, and served the church with distinction and success on the following circuits: Bridgewater, Weymouth, St. Lawrence, St. John, Shubenacadie, Holytown, Pictou, Springhill, Pictou, Berwick, Springhill, 2nd term, Yarmouth, St. John, St. Lawrence, 2nd term, Hantsport and Port Greville.

In 1913 he became a supernumerary minister and took up his residence in Wolfville, his wife's home town. It was at Wolfville that his great sorrow came to him, the loss of his wife, and the subsequent break up of the home. For a time he resided in Montreal, but later came to reside in Digby, and since 1918 made his home in this town.

The surviving members of the family are a sister, Miss Annie England, of the Old Ladies Home, Halifax, one son, Harry, assistant superintendent of the Protestant Board of School Commissioners, Montreal, one daughter, Jean L., who is superintendent of the Hospital for the Ruptured and Crippled of New York City.

In the passing of Mr. England the Nova Scotia Conference has lost one of its outstanding ministers. Mr. England was one of God's true gentlemen. He was a man of deep piety, and intense earnestness. As a preacher he won for himself a high place in the esteem of his brethren in the ministry as well as in the warm affection and appreciation of his hearers wherever he went.

The funeral service conducted in Grace Methodist church on Friday evening, the 26th of May, was largely attended and evidenced the high esteem in which he was held by the people of this community. Eight of his brother ministers in the Annapolis District were present, and St. George Lodge of Oddfellows attended in a body. The service was in charge of the deceased's pastor, Rev. H. H. Watts. Prayer was offered by Revs Mack and Patterson and addresses were delivered by Rev. C. A. Munroe, Chairman of District, and Rev. W. H. Langille, a life long friend. Miss Mabel Phillips sang the "Homeland" most fittingly.

The interment was at Wolfville where the following clergymen assisted in the simple but impressive service at the grave: Rev. Geo. W. Whitman, Chaplain of Windsor District, Rev. D. B. Hemmison, pastor of Wolfville Methodist church, and Rev. J. Astbury a life long comrade in the ministry.

The roof was burned through and the upper part of the house suffered considerably. The loss is covered by insurance. Tomorrow (Saturday) is the King's Birthday and by proclamation, a public holiday. If it were kept tomorrow it would be more in the breach than in the observance and so the merchants have decided to open all day and close on Monday instead. Shoppers from outside the town will please take notice.

Woodman's new garage was opened last week. It is a very attractive building, constructed of brick, but finished with stucco inside and out except on the front, which is partly brick. The northwest corner has been fitted up into an up-to-date bar, shop which will be occupied by Leigh Peck and the southwestern corner is the office and show room.

Yesterday morning just a few minutes after the east-bound express pulled out the shingles on the roof of A. J. West-haver's barn were discovered to be on fire, caught presumably from a spark from the passing train. The alarm was given and the flames extinguished but not before a large portion of the roof had been so badly damaged that quite extensive repairs will have to be made.

TOWN COUNCIL

The regular monthly meeting of the town council was held on Monday evening and all the council was present except Coun. Troop.

The monthly report of the superintendent of streets and water showed that a large amount of repair work had been done to the streets; also that the town had caused considerable damage to the gate well in the main dam of the reservoir requiring an expenditure of $40 for repairs.

The report was received and adopted. The report of the medical health officer for the month of May, April and May was read. It showed that during these three months there had been a number of cases of contagious diseases in town.

Six cases of chicken pox had been reported, many not reported; three cases of scarlet fever, three cases pneumonia, one case measles and four cases tuberculosis.

The report also showed that in many places there was a lack of attention about keeping the property clean. The sewers had been examined and found faulty in almost every case.

The clerk was instructed to write the owners of the sewers instructing them to have them attended to.

It was ordered that the dump at the Bonnette be closed from June 2 until October.

A number of truckmen were present and were permitted to address the council in reference to the motion made at the last meeting which tended to reduce the price of trucking.

After a long discussion a slight decrease was made in the wording but the price of trucking remains at the old figure.

It was decided to supply the residents of the "Hill" with water the same as last year, namely through surface pipes which will be allowed to remain as long as there is no danger of frost.

Complaints of cattle being allowed to graze on the streets were received from several citizens and the pound keeper has been instructed to impound all cattle so found. The ever recurring trouble of hogs also came up and owners will be told to keep their hatched property on their own premises.

The following bills were read and ordered to be paid:

Mar. Tel. and Tel. Co. $ 5.55
Daleys Electric Light $119.28

TEA SHORTAGE—HIGHER PRICES.

In 1920, so much more tea was produced than required throughout the world, that the market dropped to a very low level. The situation was so serious for the growers that they agreed to reduce their production 20 per cent during 1921.

Consumption, which has increased tremendously, and the production of tea being curtailed, has resulted in the highest prices for tea in years. The recent reduction of four pence per pound on tea in England has further stimulated consumption, which means that even higher prices may soon be expected.

Obituary

GERTRUDE COUSINS

Word has been received of the death of Gertrude, the ten-year-old daughter of Capt. H. P. Cousins, now of Shelburne, but formerly of Digby. The little one died in Shelburne after quite a lengthy illness. Mrs. Cousins is seriously ill at the time of writing. Her husband has not yet been informed of the death of her daughter.

BALES CAGED 8 YEARS: JABBER-LIKE ANIMALS

A tenement near Cornwallis St. Halifax. Two innocent little girls, Katie and Margaret Boones, jailed up in a room for so many years, by callous parents they never learned to talk, play, be loved and go to school like our little ones.

Till one day the S. P. C. found them, unkept, unkempt, snapping at food like animals, uttering gibberish and entering each other, shattered in from the growing world outside.

Today you'll find them bright and sparkling under the guiding hands of the ladies of St. Joseph's Orphanage. Katie, now twelve, is nursed back from mental and social starvation and is entering grade four. Margaret, the elder, too far gone to take to books, is an expert in domestic science and one of the finest bread makers in Halifax.

Scores of heart aching cases yearly cry out to the ladies of St. Joseph's but doubly overcrowded "Hospice" has been criss in vain. Next week, however, it is hoped to raise $25,000 to add a wing to this edifice that cost the province nothing and yet for seventy years has quietly gone on, rescuing orphaned infants.

What you give will gain a harvest of lives through the year.

SUFFERED SO MUCH HER HAIR TURNED GREY

Winnipeg Woman Became a Child From Stomach Trouble. Is now Picture of Health and Has Gained 15 Pounds.

"I never would have believed any medicine could bring about such a change as Tanlac has done in my life," said Harry Gray, of 126 Bryce St., Winnipeg, Manitoba.

For many years my wife suffered from stomach trouble and bilious attacks which, of late, were so violent that she had to go to bed for two or three days at a time. She could hardly eat anything and got to be very thin and as weak as a child. She had such terrible headaches and suffered so dreadfully that though still a young woman, her hair had turned gray.

"But the way Tanlac has helped her is remarkable. Why she is like a new woman. She has a splendid appetite and has no trouble with her digestion, bilious attacks or headaches. She has gained fifteen pounds in weight and is the picture of health. We both think Tanlac is the finest medicine in the world."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

PLAN ORGANIZING CANADIAN CLUB

purpose of paying the expenses of a hall rental, etc.

Such an organization, when formed, would seek to foster in the minds of its members a spirit of loyalty to the flag of the United States, and giving their undivided support to the government of their adopted country and to help in every way along the lines of naturalization and registration.

To advocate more amicable business and social relations between the United States and Canada, and to aid and encourage all that would make for peace and good will between the people of this country and the people of Canada, as well as all other nations of the earth.

To entertain at all times visit known Canadians, who might visit Lynn or vicinity.

To assist those Canadians who come to Greater Lynn to secure profitable employment and to tender them hospitality and advice on all matters while they are strangers in a strange land.

To promote the individual prosperity of the members of the organization by cultivating a spirit of helpfulness in their several vocations and by the influence of the organization to assist the different members in their honorable ambition for any advancement they might entertain.

To offset, as far as possible, the disabilities under which its members are necessarily placed as newcomers in an old and settled community without having the advantage of any business associations or family ties.

To stand at all times for good citizenship and to take, both as an organization and as individuals, a full share in the civic life and progress of Greater Lynn.

Those interested in the organization will, between now and September, secure names and addresses, place of birth, of as many Canadians as whom they know in Lynn as possible members. These names will be indexed and kept and some time in September a meeting of Lynn Canadians will be called in one of the halls of Lynn for the purpose of perfecting the organization and electing officers. Names and addresses may be sent to Room 30, Team Bldg., Lynn.

Lynn has a great number of prominent citizens who are Canadians and many of whom are interested in the formation of a Greater Lynn Canadian club.

TUBERCULIN TESTING FOR CITIES AND TOWNS

A discussion which took place recently in the House of Commons revealed the fact that the cities and towns of Canada do not take advantage, to the extent they should, of the opportunity offered by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, to have the herds supplying milk or cream tested for tuberculosis by officials of the Health of Animals Branch. By order-in-council, passed in April, 1917, it is provided that, on application to the Veterinary Director-General, any city or town can secure this service on condition that the dairies supplying the milk or cream are licensed and conform to the standard. It is further understood that, two years after the first test, the sale of unpasteurized milk or cream in the applying city or town shall be prohibited, unless the veterinary inspector can certify that the dairy herds contain no reactors and are free from tuberculosis. These conditions being agreed to, an inspector all the herds will be sent to test the cows furnishing milk and cream to the city or town concerned.

CANADIAN AGRICULTURAL RETURNS, 1922

Farmers throughout Canada are reminded that this month (June) the Dominion and Provincial Governments will make their annual collection of the areas sown to field crops and of the numbers of farm animals alive on the farm. For this purpose, following plans which have been in annual operation since 1918, a simple cardboard schedule, with instructions signed jointly by the Dominion Statistician and the Deputy Minister or other officer of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, will be issued to as many farmers as can possibly be reached through the agency of the teachers and children of the rural schools. The returns received, when compiled, will form the basis for the estimation by provinces of the areas sown for 1921 to the principal field crops and the numbers of farm animals alive on the farm at the date of enumeration on or about the 15th of June.

The returns thus requested by the Dominion and Provincial Governments are intended solely for the purpose of estimating agricultural and live stock production first in the interests of the general body of Canadian farmers; secondly for the information and guidance of other interests allied to and dependent upon agriculture (interests represented by statesmen, economists, bankers, grain dealers, transportation agents and others); and thirdly for reporting to the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome (to which Canada is an adhering country) in return for reports on the production of other countries and of world totals which influence prices, and consequently affect the interests of Canada, now the third largest wheat-growing and the second largest wheat exporting country in the world.

Farmers who do not receive the cardboard schedules for returning their acreages sown and their numbers of farm live stock by the middle of June should make immediate application for same to either the school teacher of their local school district, or the Department of Agriculture of their province (in Quebec the Bureau of Statistics at Quebec), or the Dominion Statistician at Ottawa. Positive assurance is given by the Dominion and Provincial Governments that the returns asked for are not used in any way for purposes of taxation. Only totals are used for the purposes of estimation, and all individual returns are kept inviolably secret. In cases where farmers may prefer to do so, the returns may be mailed free under seal direct to the Dominion Statistician at Ottawa, no postage stamps being necessary.

Mrs. Marna G. Palmater, treasurer of a New York city trust company, has planned a department for women which is said to be the most attractive of any now maintained by a bank in the United States. In addition to an attendant to dispense information and aid women in banking, there is a maid in constant attendance.

The consumption of cigarettes in the United States is now about three and a half times as great as it was before the war. The number of cigarettes smoked in the United States during the year has now passed the total of 50,000,000,000.

FREE SEED TESTS

An Important Privilege Restored by the Dominion Minister of Agriculture.

Farmers and seed merchants will be gratified to hear that the Dominion Minister of Agriculture, Hon. W. R. Motherwell, has determined to restore the privilege of having seed tested at the government laboratories free of charge to the extent of ten samples from each applicant. This free privilege covers a period extending from the first day of May in one year to the last day of January in the succeeding year. During the months of February, March and April a fee of fifty cents for each test will continue to be made owing to the congestion that usually occurs at that period due to the testing of trade samples, and samples submitted by Seed Inspectors under the Seed Control Act.

While the free privilege is open to all the vitality of seed can be readily ascertained by farmers and others by planting a hundred or two hundred grains in a flower pot or box of soil, which is kept moist, but not wet, and the pot or box placed in a sunny window, but not subjected to either excessive heat or cold.

Laboratories for seed investigation, conducted by the Seed Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, are established at Ottawa, Winnipeg and Calgary; but there are also district inspectors having headquarters at Truro, N.S., for the Maritime Provinces, at Quebec City for Quebec Province, and at Toronto for Western Ontario; Ottawa serves for Eastern Ontario, Saskatchewan and Alberta and British Columbia.

THE PESTILENT MOSQUITO

A Campaign of Investigation Being Carried on in the Fraser River Valley,
B. C.

The Entomological Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture is conducting investigations in British Columbia in connection with the mosquito. Of course the first proceeding in this task of combating this pest is to locate the breeding grounds; and in this work the branch has received much assistance from the Canadian Air Board. What has been accomplished in locating breeding areas by means of the camera and the aeroplane is detailed in an article in the May-June number of The Agricultural Gazette of Canada.

So far, the Lower Fraser Valley of British Columbia constitutes the region in which the campaign has been mainly carried on. The investigation, which embraces 2,000 square miles of affected territory, was started in 1919. The first season an automobile was employed in a scouting expedition to ascertain the mosquito fauna of the district. The second season was devoted to a study of the factors determining mosquito abundance, for this purpose a motor-boat and canoe were utilized to penetrate the huge cottonwood flood swamps which are the main breeding places. In 1921 the mapping of the breeding places

Songs of Summer

By Bliss' Carmen

Soft is the wind over Grand Pre'
Stirring the heads of the grasses,
Sweet is the breath of the orchards
White with their apple blow.

There at their infinite business
Of measuring time forever,
Murmuring songs of the sea,
The great tides come and go.

Over the dikes and the uplands
Wander the great cloud shadows,
Strange as the passing of sorrow,
Solemn, impalpable, slow.

For spreading her old enchantment
Of tender, ineffable wonder,
Summer is there in the Northland,
How should my heart not know!

CANADA LOSING HER PREMIER POSITION

In Export of Dairy Products.

Canada during the past twelve months has imported nearly as much butter directly and indirectly from New Zealand more particularly—as she exported last year to Great Britain, according to Mr. A. W. Grant, prominent Montreal butter and cheese exporter, who returned home after a five weeks visit in England, on the White Star Dominion liner Canada, which docked at Montreal at 6.30 p. m. Monday night. Mr. Grant went on to say that New Zealand is now exporting more cheese to Great Britain than Canada is, although Canadian cheese is preferred as regards quality. Regarding the proposed Canadian Government compulsory inspection of cheese intended for exports, Mr. Grant stated that the Liverpool trade has passed resolution against such an action and he is of the opinion that other primary markets will follow suit. The consensus of opinion in

INSANE INMATE OF POOR-HOUSE IS STRANGLED BY TWO OTHERS

Boyd Pendleton, a young man of 25 years, who has been confined in the county poor-house for several years among the harmless insane, is dead through strangulation and two other inmates of the same ward, Blanchard Tidd, of Petite Passage, and Harry Smith, of Marshalltown, both insane, have admitted the deed and are now being held subject to the finding of the Attorney-General.

Boyd Pendleton was found dead in his bed on Friday morning, by W. H. Thomas, the keeper of the almshouse. Mr. Thomas came to town to secure a burial permit, which he did on the arrival of the steamer Empress from St. John, on which the visiting physician was a passenger, returning from the health congress. Later in the day Mr. Thomas found evidence that the death had not been from natural causes, and on making enquiries, found cause to believe that the man had been strangled. Later he secured an admission from Tidd, who, had, in the meantime, escaped from the institution, but had been overtaken and brought back.

Mr. Thomas at once reported his findings to the authorities, and Saturday afternoon an inquest was held before Coroner John Daley with the following jury:
Charles E. Seelye, Willis M. Tibbets, Joseph W. O'Neil, Reuben A. Thomas, Abbot, Joshua B. Drew, Nathan K. Seelye, Vernon E. Marshall, Alfred Abbott, Stephen Marshall, (Foreman) Otis C. Bell and John Ryan.

The evidence of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas and of Dr. Read, who examined the body, was taken. That of keeper Thomas, showed that when he first commenced to question the inmates of the ward, Tidd had hanged himself with Harry Smith's brace. Mr. Thomas, however, was not satisfied with this and finally secured the admission from Tidd that he had strangled Pendleton on his bed while Smith had held his legs. This evidence was corroborated by Mrs. Thomas, and also by Dr. Read, who secured a similar statement from Tidd Saturday morning.

In view of the evidence, the following verdict was brought in: "We the jury empanelled on the death of Boyd Pendleton, find that he came to his death by strangulation at the hands of Blanchard Tidd and Harry Smith, and we recommend that Tidd be examined by an alienist and that the two of them be confined in the asylum for the criminally insane."

PROHIBITION'S GREATEST ALLY

Will prohibition—real prohibition—ever become effective in North America? Yes, it will. By what agency?

Two men riding in a subway car in New York City flourished a quart bottle of whisky and offered each passenger on the car all he could drink for 50 cents. The two bootleggers landed in court when they started a general fight because not one man would sample their wares, analysis of which showed it to be the best whisky obtainable from bonded warehouses.

There were two men set down among thirsty companions, offering these companions all they could drink at pre-war prices, and yet couldn't even give a drop of the stuff away. What is the answer? Fear of law alcohol. And it is the rapidly spreading fear of "rotgut" booze, concocted from wood alcohol, fusel oil, and a few other ingredients which tend to populate cemeteries, that is doing more to make the country dry than all the prohibition officers combined. Bootleggers, serving poison, are enforcing prohibition automatically, just as the abuse of the saloon by many owners hastened the prohibition movement by at least two generations.

A RECORD FOR LONGEVITY.

The parents of A. G. McKenzie, 82 years old, who lives in Oregon County, Mo., celebrated their one hundredth wedding anniversary in Scotland, their native land, a few days ago. The father is 122 and the mother 119 years old. McKenzie says he is the youngest son of seven in the family and that all of the brothers are alive. They certainly grow 'em tough on the other side of the pond.

It's The Repeat Order That Certifies the Quality

Mr. Fotheringham representing Willard's Chocolates had in March last a successful experience of the use of our Long Distance Lines as a sales medium; he sold on that occasion a large quantity of goods, in a short time, at an extremely low cost.

Encouraged by that result he put the Long Distance Telephone under requisition in a similar way on May 27th.

On that date he made 24 calls to various points in the Province. Of these, 16 resulted in sales. The value of the sales was $2004.25, and the cost of the calls was $24.96, or about 1.14 per cent. on the price of the goods.

These are eloquent facts!

OUR GOLDEN NUGGET.

Home-life.

The home-life should be a harmonious one without one jarring note, day after day. The home, no matter how humble it is, how plain, how small, should be the dearest spot on earth to each member of the family.

Fads Of A Day.

Especially had its day, and simple life, spelling is passing, only a few publishers employing it. Vertical writing did a lot of damage to penmanship, and yielded to a modified slant. The "cubists" struggled for a time, but at last insisted that nature should decide. Ragtime gave place to "jazz" which quickly proved that real music is not necessarily noise. Whatever the insane proposition, science triumphs in the end.

Yet these fads of a day serve a good purpose. They may be the novelty attract for the moment, but in the end emphasize the fact that customs long established cannot easily be changed, and that in art the purest models are those created by the Maker of all things. With each passing fad there is something gained, after all, and whatever is lost is not worth saving. The last of the survival of the fittest holds.

Many a self-made man forgets that he had the free service of the best consulting architect and engineer in the world—his wife.

The Poor House Tragedy.

The Halifax Herald editorially says: The unfortunate occurrence at the Digby county poor house where one of the harmless insane was killed by two other insane inmates during the night, raises the question as to careful and proper supervision on the part of the authorities. That a man thus murdered in his bed in the ward during the night and no discovery made until breakfast time next morning is rather a disquieting fact. Should insane persons be left together all night without oversight? Does anyone know just when persons considered harmless insane may become actually dangerous? This tragic incident would indicate not. There ought to be a night attendant in a ward of that kind.

One pull doesn't make a haul, one punch a knockout, nor one push an open door.

BASEBALL

The baseball game between the Weymouths and the Digbys, which was the most interesting game of the season so far, although it resulted in a defeat for the home team by a score of 16-17. The game had run ten innings, the score being tied at the ninth inning. The feature of the game was a triple play by the Weymouth team which won the game for them. As both teams have now gone each to their credit, the play-off will take place in the near future on some neutral ground.

An interesting but very one-sided game was played between the sub-juniors of Digby and the sub-juniors of Annapolis Royal on the Digby grounds last Saturday. (Incidentally it was the first match played on the new athletic field.) The Digbys won by 23-3. The sub-junior team of Digby is one which shows excellent promise. There are some cooking good players on it and they will be heard from in the junior and senior leagues in the valley before many years.

THE D. A. A.

A special meeting of the Digby Amateur Athletic Association was held in the town hall on Monday evening. A few more bills amounting to $35.00 for work on the grounds were ordered paid which clears the indebtedness on the grounds to date. Posts have been set for the fence and it is estimated that the lumber and labour for the fence and grand stand will amount to $200. As the funds on hand are running a little low, owing to the expenditure on the grounds it was thought best to attempt to augment them by a dance to be given on the first available date and a committee consisting of Messrs. Morse, Reid and Hall was appointed to make arrangements. J. J. Wallis and William Westhead were appointed as delegates to attend the Junior League meeting to be held in Bridgeport tomorrow (Saturday) after which a meeting adjourned until next Tuesday evening at eight o'clock when it will meet to receive further reports from the finance and other committees and the delegates.

TO PREACH AT WETMOUTH FALLS.

The Rev. W. Constantine Perry, of Halifax, pastor of the Windsor Plains Baptist Church, will be the preacher at Weymouth Falls next Sunday. Mr. Perry has been asked by the Weymouth Falls Church to give a part of his time to that field, but he has not yet fully decided.

Local and General

This is really the good old summer time. The Methodist tea and sale will be held on Wednesday, July 26. There is a stamp tax on cheques, drafts and overdrafts, but deposit slips are still free. Even miles can't kick while they are pulling. A scholar can't pull while they are kicking.

Rev. D. E. Hatt will hold service in the School House, Mt. Pleasant, on Friday evening of next week. The steamer Francis Boutiller left Halifax Friday afternoon for Boston with 500 barrels of mackerel. With 2,000 cases of liquor the Meteghan schooner Lucille P. sailed from St. John on Friday for St. Pierre.

Self-control is a simple matter of looking in the early strawberries over and then ordering a pound of prunes. Balfour Specht's mill at Barton finished its season's operations on Tuesday. It has had a cut of about $8,000.

The Pines Hotel, opened for the season yesterday. All the summer hotels, except the Manhattan, are now open.

The Norwegian steamer Thomas Hjalund sailed at midnight Friday for Great Britain with a full cargo of pulp. A pantry sale in the interest of the Baptist church will be held in J. L. Peter's carpet rooms tomorrow from 2 to 5 o'clock.

MORSE'S SELECTED ORANGE PEKOE is a tea that is rich, strong, fragrant and delicious—it has every quality that ensures a perfect cup of tea.

The Western Baptist Association, comprising the Counties Digby, Annapolis and Lunenburg, is meeting this week from Thursday to Sunday in Bridgewater. To play square and without deceit, to win fairly and without recourse, to lose honourably and without bitterness—these are the things worth while in amateur sport.

The old British frigate Macedonian captured by the Americans off the Cape Cod coast in the year of 1812 was burned at City Island, N. Y., on Friday. It had been converted into a floating museum and was a landmark at the resort.

Rev. J. D. Spidell of Liverpool will preach in the Baptist Church next Sunday at eleven and seven thirty and on Hillgrove at three o'clock. Mr. Spidell is an unusually interesting and forceful speaker and should have a large hearing.

A large quantity of old bones, the perfume from which permeating the air around the wharf and station, reminds one of—well, not of a rose garden anyway, have been landed here this week and are destined for the fertilizer works at Windsor.

Man is a queer proposition remarks the Haver Post. He will go clear through the roof if the central gear does not give him his round, and yet he will sit hour after hour in the boiling sun, with the mosquitoes eating him up, vainly hoping some little fish will come along and take a chance at his back. "That business is slowly but surely adjusting itself to the lower plane, is indicated in most instances being received. Although orders are smaller than would be wished, they are more numerous and there is plenty of evidence that trade is emerging from the depression."

The weekly trade report of the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association says: A baptismal service was held on Sunday afternoon at one o'clock in the church of the Joggan near the residence of Clarence Rupp. Four candidates were baptized and three others were received at a service held in the Church at three o'clock. A large congregation was present including a number of Mr. Pleasant, Smith's Cove and elsewhere.

Two new appointments to the teaching staff of Acadia have been made. Norman McLeod Rogers, B. A. Litt., B. C. L., Rhodes Scholar now at Oxford, has been appointed instructor in history and will take up his duties in the fall. Professor R. F. Bowen, Ph. D., formerly of Syracuse University, has been appointed professor of French in place of Professor Conant, resigned. Prof. Bowen is a graduate of Harvard and a Ph. D. from Cornell.

The eleventh annual Missionary Summer Conference is announced to be held in Wolfville, July 18 to 22. The conference is inter-denominational and the leaders from different churches will be present to conduct study classes and give addresses on various phases of missions and work. This will afford opportunity for an ideal vacation which will minister both to the health and profit of all those who obtain from denominational secretaries or local pastors of the different churches.

Rufus Utley, an aged resident of the Masonic Home, Windsor, had a very narrow escape at Middleton Thursday from serious or fatal injury. Mr. Utley was enroute to Yarmouth for the celebration, and, for a minute or two, left the train, when it stopped at that place. The stay at that point was shorter than the aged gentleman realized, and when the train started he was obliged to run in order to catch it. He succeeded in grasping the hand rail of the car, but missed his footing and fell between the car and the station platform. Before he could be released from his perilous position, he was dragged several feet, when men on the platform succeeded in pulling him on to the platform. None of the train crew saw the accident. Mr. Utley at one time conducted a tailoring establishment at Westport.

B. L. Comeau left yesterday for a trip to Digby to visit his parents. Mr. Comeau suffered the loss of all his barber shop equipment and supplies by a fire which originated in the "Brook's Block" in April last. His property was covered by a fire insurance policy for $350 issued in the Home Underwriters Agency, of which Douglas Rogers Co., Ltd. of Amherst, N. S., is general agent for Nova Scotia. Proof of loss was prepared by an adjuster, but has not been submitted to Mr. Comeau for execution. The Company intimating that if the assured would consent to accept the loss on the face of the policy, it would endeavour to arrange settlement. Mr. Comeau, however, who has been delayed here for some weeks awaiting payment for his loss, has placed the claim in the hands of his Solicitors, with instructions to prepare and file proof of loss, and to take necessary steps unless payment is made in due course—Times Herald Advance.

OUR NORTHERN NEIGHBOR

In the last ten years the population of Canada increased at a little higher rate than the population of the United States. The Canadian census, showed a population of 8,772,631 as against 7,206,643 in 1911—an increase of slightly more than twenty per cent.

The movement of population during the decade was a movement westward and as the recent elections showed, has greatly increased the political power of the provinces in the extreme west. Of the million and a half increase in the population the provinces west of Ontario contributed more than 650,000. The two central provinces of Quebec and Ontario not far from one sixth. In New Brunswick and Nova Scotia the increase was negligible, and Prince Edward Island suffered a loss of a few thousand.

Canadians have reasons to be proud of their gain in numbers, in wealth and in enterprise; but they have still more reason to be proud of what they are. Their land is a broad and glorious heritage, abounding in mineral resources and producing wonderful crops from vast regions of great fertility. Politically they are as free as they wish to be, for they prefer their British connection to the complete independence that they might have for the mere asking. They are at peace with the world; for they have only one neighbor, and that one is absolutely friendly, overflowing with good wishes and rejoicing at every advance in Canadian prosperity—Youths Companion.

BRONCHIAL ASTHMA

Relieved by "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

MRS. PENNINGTON
NEW ROCKLAND, P.Q.

"In 1919, I was taken with Bronchial Asthma and no one knows what I suffered with it during the winter. I began having Choking Spells—gasping for breath and could not speak. I would have one of these bad spells in the evening, one during the night, and one in the morning. The doctor said he could do nothing for me.

"In the spring of 1920, I started taking 'Fruit-a-tives' and in a few days the choking spells stopped, and I have had none since May 7th, 1922. I have so wanted to tell other sufferers who have the same trouble about 'Fruit-a-tives' for I know how they must suffer.

Some thought the Asthma would come back on me as winter came on but it has not, thanks to 'Fruit-a-tives'. Mrs. J. M. PENNINGTON.

A NEW INDUSTRY FOR BEAR RIVER

Tucked away between high hills—which in some places would be called mountains—and less than a mile from the pretty town of Bear River lies the little valley farm of Mr. F. B. Dunn.

Close beside the West Branch of the river from which the town takes its name, with a nice commodious house with all the modern improvements, and a good orchard, this farm makes a delightful place to live and enjoy life.

Being of a practical turn of mind however, and having lately become interested in farming, Mr. Dunn, together with Mr. Theibert Rice and Son have made a heavy investment in Silver-black foxes of the best breeding in the country, and intend prosecuting the business on a large scale. They have already fourteen foxes and have fitted up a first class ranch for their accommodation. Mr. Dunn, as rancher, has been visited by several fox farmers who tell him that he has one of the best locations for business they have ever seen. As the experimental stage of this work is now past, and the care and handling of foxes is a practical knowledge, we expect to see this venture prove a pronounced success—Here's hoping.

NEW I. O. O. F. HALL

We are happy to record that the Odd-fellows have commenced to build their hall. The foundation is completed and the body of the building up, boarded in and floor laid.

In size it is 45 ft. by 70 ft. with annex 12 1/2 by 18 ft. Basement under whole of main building. The Bear River branch of the Royal Bank of Canada will occupy a part of the first floor. Another part will be fitted up for a first class store and the remainder will be used for a banquet hall. The upper floor will be the Lodge and preparation rooms, where Oddfellows hope to entertain their visiting brethren in the near future. Some time in July next they will hold a cherry carny where the corner stone will be laid. The hall will be presented by G. M. Craig will be laid, and a day of great pleasure and profit is anticipated.

BEAR RIVER METHODIST CHURCH HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING.

A meeting of unusual interest was held Friday evening in the Methodist Church Bear River, when the congregation assembled in the vestry to hear reports of the various departments of the church work for the ecclesiastical year which ended May 31st.

The chair was occupied by the pastor, Rev. Carl Mack, B. D., who opened the meeting with devotional exercises, after which reports were heard as follows:—Sunday School—Rev. E. Tupoe, Supr.; Epworth League—Muriel Purdy, W. M. S. Auxiliary—Mrs. Robert Benson, Pres.; Ladies Aid Society—Miss Florence Vroom, Pres.; Quarterly Official Board—A. E. Marshall, Treasurer. These reports were brief and of a very encouraging nature, showing that good work had been done in all church activities. The Treasurer's report showed that the financial demands for all church purposes had been raised. The pastor gave a short address dealing with the year's work just closed. He said it had been a great pleasure to him to co-operate with the officials and congregations to church membership. Reference was made to the active church workers who are at present laid aside by illness and tender words of sympathy expressed regarding them; also to the loss by death of one member and three removals by letter. A very pleasant social hour was then enjoyed and delicious refreshments served by the ladies.

The church is now undergoing extensive inside repairs. No service will be held next Sunday, the pastor being absent at the Conference sessions which are being held at Sydney this week. The following Sunday services will be held in the vestry. On Sunday, July 2nd, the church will be re-opened, when services will be held as usual, and will be of an interesting character.

The June bug spread his wings abroad and hummed a merry tune.
"The bride's all right," he said, "But The Biggest Bug in June."

Rural Route No. 1, Macdowdle, Quebec. The Minard's Liniment People.

Sirs—I feel that I should be doing a wrong if I neglected to write you. I have had four tumors growing on my head for years. I had them cut off by a surgeon about fifteen years ago but they grew again till about three months ago I had one as large and shaped like a lady's thimble on the very place where my hair should be parted. And it was getting so embarrassing in public that it was a constant worry to me. About three months ago I got a bottle of your liniment for no other purpose and saw on the label good fortune. Well I tried it and kept at it for exactly two months, with the result that it has entirely removed all trace of the tumor, and were it not that they had been cut off fifteen years ago, no mark would be seen. I have not been asked for this testimonial and you can use it as you see fit.

(Signed) FRED C. ROBINSON.
P. S.—I am a farmer and intend using MINARD'S LINIMENT on a mare for a strained tendon, and am hoping for some results.

Now is the time to secure a supply of the poison needed by gardeners and farmers to head off possible losses from insect pests. Cutworms, cabbage root maggot, wire worms, potato bugs, etc., exact a heavy toll year by year from valuable crops. If a supply of poisons is on hand for dealing with these at the first favorable moment, expense, labor and losses are greatly lessened.

MRS. STOCKALL GAINS 12 POUNDS AND FEELS FINE

Halifax Resident Is Overjoyed at Remarkable Restoration After Eight Years of Suffering—
Gives Tanlac Full Credit.

"I am perfectly delighted with the results I have obtained from Tanlac. My general health has not been better in years," said Mrs. Blanche Stockall, 50 1-2 Oxford St., Halifax, N.S.

"For the past seven or eight years I have been in a dreadfully run-down condition. I had an extremely poor appetite and never relished anything I ate, and always suffered from a distressing nauseated feeling after every meal. To make matters worse, every day I would have a blinding headache and was so nervous I was almost a wreck.

"Tanalac has given me a keen appetite and put my stomach in such good condition that nothing disagrees with me now. I have gained twelve pounds in weight and feel fine all the time."

SLUMS IN THE COUNTRY

Children Discovered Starving
by E. H. Blois.

Never in a life time of slum searching has E. H. Blois discovered anything to equal the sordid degradation of a "home" on Surot's Island, Yarmouth County.

In his capacity as Provincial Superintendent of Homes for Neglected Children, he visited the place and found three children, left in care of an anathematic mother, literally dying a slow death from starvation.

One has been sent to the Blind School the other two to St. Joseph's Orphanage, Halifax, an institution that has been a refuge to the forlorn children of the Province for decades. And never in the 73 years of its history has it made a public appeal for funds until now when it is driven by the necessity of enlarging its buildings or shutting its doors on the homeless of the Province. $125,000 is necessary and is being sought. Can people will take their part in the collection now to take place on a Province wide basis for a Province wide purpose.

CAMPERS GUILTY OF KILLING THE FOREST

Apropos of the wholesale destruction of forest areas already this year by careless campers and other users of the woods, the Canadian Forestry Association puts this query to every Canadian lover of outdoors:

Horses couldn't drag you to a hunting trip in a treeless wilderness; a fishing trip by a treeless stream; or camping out in a treeless valley.

Isn't it about true that the call of Outdoors is the call of Trees? The hospitality of Nature means little to any man except when associated with living trees.

Last summer hundreds of parties of campers struck an unfair blow at the rights and privileges and of fellow campers. Fellow sportsmen and nature-lovers by starting at least 2500 damaging forest fires.

Camp fires that were not put out, matches and smokes thoughtlessly thrown on the inflammable "floor" of the woods, these personal acts killed the camping, fishing and hunting in many thousands of square miles of Canada's forest.

Don't be a kill-joy. The forest is made for the fellow who follows after you.

Enjoy the woods! There's nothing to fear except fire. And mighty few fires except what you start.

Mrs. Charlotte Marshall is visiting friends in this place.

Ronald Piers and Edwin White called on friends in Havelock recently.

"During the past few weeks many sportsmen have been in this vicinity enjoying a few days fishing."

"Doctor, if there is anything the matter with me don't frighten me but to death by giving it a long and scientific name. Just tell me what it is in plain English. 'Well, sir, to be frank, you are lousy.' 'Thank you, doctor. Now tell me the scientific name for it, I've got to report to the mission.'"

Questions and Answers on Forestry

by the Canadian Forestry Association

Q. Has the forest fire menace been as serious this year as last?

A. Fully as serious up to June 15th the date of writing. More than sixty fires were burning in Quebec at one time just a few days ago. The chief causes were trappers, smokers and fishermen. Camp fires have already got in much deadly work. An unextinguished camp fire is about the worst menace to the forests of Canada that has yet been found.

Q. Much is being published in the papers advocating an embargo on shipments of unmanufactured pulp wood by Canadian farmers to United States mills. What is the real meaning of this?

A. The advocates of the embargo claim that one million cords of raw wood shipped out of Canada, (chiefly Quebec) each year are keeping alive a number of United States mills which otherwise would transfer their industries and their pay-list to Canada. They claim that this drain on Canada's forests, with relatively little profit to the country is weakening the support of our present and potential pulp, paper and lumber industries and that in the national interest it should be stopped.

Q. Will the reductions in the Dominion Air Board appropriations this year cut off the aerial forest patrols which they started two years ago?

A. We understand that there will be fully as much flying work in forest fire detection and photographic survey this year as last. The Ontario Government has arranged to carry on considerable aerial work on its own behalf through a commercial seaplane company. The work of the Air Board was invaluable to the development of forestry work throughout Canada and now with reduced appropriations commercial companies are taking up contracts with governments and pulp and paper corporations.

Q. I have undertaken to organize a Memorial Tree Planting campaign on behalf of our chapter of the Daughters of the Empire. How can I find out what trees to plant, and how to care for them?

A. The Canadian Forestry Association, Ottawa, has undertaken to supply free instruction to all organizations willing to plant Memorial trees for Canada's soldiers.

DIGBY.

I spent three hours in Digby. I will remember the lay. The white sails gliding through the Gap for strange lands far away; The heavenly waters stretching by many a purple slope The tide from out of Funchy, quiet of foot as hope.

I will remember Digby, where the streets are steep and still; And placid eyes look on the world, as it passes by, up hill; And the churches look on the sea, as all good churches should. To keep a hint in the eyes and ears of the heart and the voice of God. I will remember the apple tree on the hill above the town. Where a vagabond stretched his lazy limbs and wrote these verses down. But the things I shall best remember are the windy white fancies I shared as I lay in the blueberry patch and fed on blueberries.

RASPBERRIES

(Experimental Farm Note)

At this season of the year, continuous cultivation of the raspberry plantation should be practised, at least, up until the time the ripe fruit is hanging on the canes.

During this season of the year some attention will need to be paid to insect control, occasionally the raspberry sawfly will cause considerable damage to the foliage and when noticed can be controlled by the use of arsenical sprays, such as arsenate of lead or arsenate of lime, used at the rate of two pounds of the powdered form to forty gallons of water, and sprayed on the bushes. A couple of thorough sprayings will generally suffice to control this pest.

Every year there are numerous requests from growers, asking why the tips of their young canes are wilting. Upon close examination it will be seen that the cane has been girdled at the point where it has commenced to wilt. This is the work of the raspberry cane borer, and when this wilting is first noticed is the time to institute control. Cut well below the wilted portion and destroy the cut portion. If these are not removed the young larvae, hatching from the eggs laid in the girdle, will work down the cane and practically destroy it.

As soon as the fruiting season is over remove the old canes by cutting them off close to the ground, and destroy them. This gives the new canes a better chance and assists in insect and pest control.

NEW MINISTERS FOR NOVA SCOTIA CHURCHES

Methodist Conference Announces Several Changes in the Stationing List.

Three veterans of the Great War, George Rackham, M. A. B. D. Amherst; John W. Bent, M. A. B. D. River Hebert, and Norman Coll, Sydney Mines, were on Sunday ordained ministers of the Methodist church at a special service of the Nova Scotia conference in session at Sydney.

The session was conducted by President Rev. J. W. McConnell, Halifax, assisted by Dr. W. H. Hearty, Rev. J. Neave, Rev. C. E. Crowell and Rev. F. E. Barrett. Rev. R. J. Simon Toronto, preached the ordination sermon.

Every Protestant pulpit in the city and district was filled by visiting ministers of the conference. By a vote of 42 to 30 the conference on Saturday turned down a proposal brought in by a Liverpool district to amalgamate the Wesleyan, the organ of Methodism in the Maritime Provinces, with The Christian Guardian, the Ontario publication of the church.

The Ministerial Division, elected as alternate delegates to the general conference, Rev. A. S. Rogers, Rev. A. F. Armistage and Rev. Dr. Johnson.

The stationing of ministers for the coming year has now been completed, the original draft of stations having been amended to allow for the following changes:

Rev. Mr. Coll to Port Hawkesbury instead of Weymouth.

Rev. L. Daniel to Pugwash.

Rev. A. Mitchell to Southampton; and Rev. C. L. Gesner to Port George, a three cornered shift in Cumberland.

FORMATION OF CANADIAN CLUB FAVORED

Atty. Medley T. Holdsworth, of Lynn, (who is a Digby boy, son of Lemuel C. Holdsworth) spoke Friday evening before 200 members of Camp Parker, Canadian Volunteers of the World War and their friends urging the formation of a Canadian club in Lynn.

"The best sort of a Canadian organization in Greater Lynn," Atty. Holdsworth said, "would be one to be formed along the lines of the Main club, which would meet once a month, have some prominent speaker address them, especially visiting Canadians, and have social or dances at times. There would be no dues except possibly $1 a year to defray the expenses of hall rent and speakers. In this way the Canadians of Greater Lynn would get acquainted and would know the many citizens of Lynn who are Canadian born."

"It would be an organization in which there would be no distinction as to politics, race or religion, but which all Canadians and sons and

The station of Cape North in the Sydney District to be filled by summer supply.

Rev. A. Rogers, Amherst, will succeed Rev. C. Crowell here 1923.

The final business session of the conference takes place Monday morning with adjournment early in the afternoon.

PALESTINE

England has a difficult situation to deal with in Palestine. The Jew is claiming a home in the Holy Land, so is the Arab.

In a recent letter a prominent Jew says:—"Palestine is not a possession of the British Empire, but has been entrusted to the administration of the British Government upon the distinct understanding that a Jewish national home is established there." We are led to ask who imposed this understanding upon Great Britain? Did France or Italy or the United States? Was there such an understanding between Great Britain and the Allies when she took over the administration of that land? We think not. If Palestine does not belong to Great Britain how could she herself promise the Jews a home. If the country had no people in it she might do so. This Jewish writer is very careful to point out that the Palestinian Christians are in the minority, only 11 per cent of the population, but he makes no reference to the fact that the Jews are very much in the minority as compared with the Arabs.

This Jew objects to Christians ruling because they are in the minority and yet it wishes to see the Jews ruling although they are in the minority when compared with the Arabs and this is the very point daughters of Canadians could join and work together, not only for a Greater Lynn, but to foster in the minds of all Canadians who have come here a greater loyalty to the flag of the United States, and to give their support in every way to the government of their adopted country.

"It would help in every way to have Canadians who have come here become naturalized citizens; to have impressed upon them that the money they may make here should be spent making these United States a greater country and should not be sent to other countries. The club shall advocate at all times close business and social relations between the United States and Canada, and oppose with all its force all propaganda that is being put out seeking to draw United States in war with other people of the English speaking world."

"When Thomas F. Porter, a Canadian, was mayor of Lynn, nearly every city office was a Canadian. This included the postmaster, city solicitor, claim agent, chairman of the board of assessors, two representatives and many members of the city council."

NEARLY CRAZY WITH PAINS IN BACK

Read How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Mrs. Becroft

Hamilton, Ontario.—"I have suffered for three years from a female trouble and consequent weakness, pain and irregularity which kept me in bed four or five days each week. I nearly went crazy with pains in my back and for about a week at a time I could not do my work. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the Hamilton Spectator and I took it. Now I have no pain and am quite regular unless I overwork or stay on my feet from early morning until late at night. I keep house and do all my own work without any trouble. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to several friends."—Mrs. Emily Becroft, 16 Douglas St., Hamilton, Ontario.

For nearly fifty years women have been telling how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored their health when suffering with female ills. This accounts for the enormous demand for it from coast to coast.

If you are troubled with any ailment peculiar to women why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? It has helped others, let it help you.

The future of Palestine is a great question of great interest and importance. We doubt not that it will be worked out in the right way for God rules, but what will take place before the right is worked out?—Ed.

STRAWBERRIES

(Experimental Farm Note)

With the strawberry season full upon him it is a good time now for the grower to note the adaptation of the variety or varieties he is growing to his conditions. Due consideration must be given to (1) yield, (2) size of fruit, (3) shipping ability, (4) quality and (5) any special feature. To select a variety solely on the merits of its yielding ability is poor practice. It must be a good shipper, palatable, of good size and if it can, in addition, be recommended to the consumer as an exceptionally good eating berry, so much the better.

The consumption of strawberries can be largely increased if growers will carefully select their varieties and give to the consuming public that which they require. The grower catering to a local market could overlook shipping ability somewhat and stress quality of size, or preferably both. For instance, Senator Dunlop is one of our best quality berries, but not a very good shipper for distant markets, whereas Glen Mary is a better shipper, but perhaps not quite so high in quality, although good enough in that respect. Portia, a new introduction of the Horticultural Division, Experimental Farm, has the serious fault of being imperfect in seed, but is an excellent shipper, high in quality and the best of canners, an excellent example of a berry suitable for the grower who can cater to a discriminating market, where the consumers appreciate a berry combining table and canning qualities. Not only do varieties differ in these respects, but also in their adaptability to soils and localities.

On heavy land in a comparatively moist, cool climate the Senator Dunlop will do much better than on light soils in a hot and dry locality. In the latter case Parson Beauty or Pocomoke give better results, so that the successful grower must be on the lookout for newer sorts, which might possibly fit in to his market requirements or his soil requirements just a little better than the kinds he is growing.

that a clever Arab writer makes: The population of Palestine is about 600,000 of whom 60,000 are Jews and the rest Moslems and Christian Arabs. That is 60,000 wish to rule 740,000. The wish is very Jewish in its character. If that Jewish writer had been far seeing he would have been silent concerning the minority. We fail to see that it is any more legitimate for a Jewish minority to rule than for that duty to be fulfilled by a Christian minority. The Arab writer says, "where is the sense and the justice of giving one tenth of the population priority over the bulk?" We can see the sense and the justice if the Jews alone had the intelligence and the ability to rule, but it is not so. This Arab writer states that the Jews in their eagerness to over-whelm the Arabs with numbers have sent thousands of undesirable to Palestine, hundreds of whom are advocates of communistic ideas. He further states that they are unfriendly towards other people, that they are clannish and selfish, that the immoral practices of the young men and women are a crying insult to the high sense of decency of the Moslem Arab.

We hope for the sake of the Jews in Palestine and for the sake of the Holy Land itself that this charge is false or at least very much exaggerated.

Just what England will do, situated as she is between two antagonists who hate each other, remains to be seen.

The Arabs wish that the local national government, control immigration. That would be all right if justice were enacted, but has England any certainty that with that power, the half or more than the half of the Jews who desire to make a home in Palestine, would not be shut out?

The future of Palestine is a great question of great interest and importance. We doubt not that it will be worked out in the right way for God rules, but what will take place before the right is worked out?—Ed.

The picking up brush of the Vacuette rotates in a direction opposite to the motion of the sweeper and for picking up cannot be beaten. Test any electric sweeper by putting scraps of paper on the floor and see if it will pick them up. The Vacuette does it, and on a carpet, rug or mat, will do it much easier. ## When Out

Picnicking

(The Elmira street.)
Now that the picnic season has arrived and many in this locality are heading them to woodlands green, perhaps a little sermon is in order.
Do you know that in 1921, in the near vicinity of picnic spots, there were left scattered tin cans, paper plates and paper cups amounting to the billions, to say nothing of pop bottles, water-melon rinds and other equally charming additions to the landscape.

The story is told of one man, however, who appreciates nature as she is and should be, for after a picnic, he carefully picked up all the scraps and burned them, then buried the tin cans, leaving the place as beautiful when the party left as when they had arrived. Another member of the party joshed him about being "stuffy." His reply is worth repeating: "I don't like to throw garbage on God's front lawn."

Think it over the next time you go picnicking.

daughters, viz: Mrs. Frank Shaw, Miss
Albert Dakin and Miss Helen at home

Cassner in Massachusetts. She was a woman very highly respected, and her

RESTER GAUDET

Fatrien Gaudet, of Concession, Digby
Co., took place at the Yarmouth Hospital an illness of a few days previously. He was taken ill on the 17th inst. and on Sunday was rushed to the above institution, where he underwent a most severe operation, but expired, and was relieved him and he passed away shortly after.

vived by his father and two brothers.

cession on Sunday evening where the

ALEXANDER McINNIS.

Alexander McInnis, one of Parrsboro's most honored citizens, passed away at his residence, Sunday evening at the age of 71 years. He was born in Sydney, and was of Scottish descent. For 27 years he held the position of engineer in the employ of the Dominion Atlantic Railway, 24 of which was in the Minas district.
After an injury, he retired about two years ago. He is survived by his widow, who was Miss Catherine Corbett of Barra Head, C. B., and four sons, John and Joseph, of Boston, Walter of Newark, N. J., and Allan of Parrsboro.
(Mr. McInnis was a member of the crew of the S.S. "Evangeline" which ran between Digby and Annapolis before the "Evangeline" was finished, and was well and favorably known by many of the older residents.)

EVA MIRIAM ELLIS.

The people of Bay View and community were saddened on Saturday evening,
June 17th when it became known that Eva Miriam Ellis had passed away at the age of twenty-two years. Miss Ellis had lived with her parents continuously, except for one year, which was spent in St.
John, N. B. Two years ago the deceased fell a victim to tuberculosis, and since then life had been one constant battle against the assaults of that disease, to which at last she succumbed on Saturday morning.

On Wednesday a short service was conducted at the home of the deceased's parents, after which a public funeral service was conducted in the Bay View Church by Rev. W. H. Watts.The large audience assembled for the service indicated the esteem in which Miss Ellis had been held by the people of the community generally. There were a very many who were present the religious experience of more than ordinary significance which came to Miss Ellis two days before her death, she gave them a new view of death, had given them a new understanding of the reality of the religion of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. So that the service was not so much one of sadness, but was rather one of rejoicing, that such an abundant existence had been given to one so young.The only really pathetic feature about the service was the absence of the father and brother, both of whom are away from home on a fishing vessel and with whom he was impossible to reach.There remains to mourn their loss, the father and mother, Mrs. and Mrs. William Ellis, one brother, Mr. and Mrs. James Ellis, Mrs. Everett C. Wagon, and three daughters, Misses and Myrtle and Ruby. The funeral service was very touching and beautiful.

I'm So Tired

Fatigue is the result of poisons in the blood. So when the kidneys fail to purify the blood one of the first indications is unusual and persistent tired feelings and pains in the back.

Neglected kidney troubles lead to years of suffering from rheumatism or develop into such fatal ailments as Bright's disease.

The kidney action is promptly corrected by use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, the best known regulator of kidneys, liver and bowels.

Mrs. John Ireland, R.R. No. 2, King, Ont., writes:

"I was a great sufferer from severe headaches and bilious spells. I tried a number of remedies without obtaining any benefit until I was advised to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. These completely relieved me and made me like a new person. I am very grateful to Dr. Chase's medicines for what they have done for me, and you may use my letter for the benefit of others."

NOT "MUCH" RIVER

Historic Thames Not Imposing to Americans.

Captain Seth Bullock's Humorous Anecdote Matched by Comment Made by New England Traveler on Famous Stream.

When Capt. Seth Bullock, pioneer trader and long-time sheriff of South Dakota, was invited to join him in London, one of the reasons for the invitation was that after his strenuous African and Egyptian expeditions and in the midst of his scarcely less strenuous social and political career in England, "the colonel said he needed some fellow over there that could help him laugh," so Captain Bullock related, "and I was elected."

"Upon my arrival, seeing that the colonel was being overworked by his many official engagements of state, he continued in a conversation which Mr. Travers D. Carman recently reported to the Outlook, 'I decided that he needed relaxation with some plain chaps he didn't have to bother about, so I walked him over the Thames river bridge. The river was at extremely low tide, and knowing that the Thames was to an Englishman what the Mississippi or the Hudson is to an American, I valued until a particularly naughty-looking Englishman with a carefully adjusted monocle approached, and, without an inkling to the colonel of what I intended, asked if he could tell me the name of the creek.' The plying, patient and bored way in which the Englishman replied, 'That, my good fellow, is our river Thames,' served its purpose, and kept the colonel chuckling at intervals for the remainder of the day.'

A New England traveler a few years ago with a party of tourists had the pleasure of hearing a comment on the not-always-impressive Thames, uttered in all sincerity by an Englishman who had been on the land of far-stretching prairies and the vast Mississippi. He had inherited a fortune, and to please his young bride had consented to a honeymoon trip abroad. Europe, he admitted, had in some respects exceeded his expectations, but in others it was distinctly unsatisfactory. This river Thames, now—

"Lizzie," he demanded, turning to his wife, "you sure this is the Thames?"

Lizzie was sure.

"The Magna Charta Thames" he pursued insistently.

Lizzie's guide book was in her hand, and she was sure of that, too.

"Well," mused her husband in a meditative drawl, "if us Americans had signed the Declaration of Independence in Dan Skinner's meadow, say, or some such handy stretch of land along Skunk creek, maybe for the sake of history, we'd have named the creek over and turned it into a river. Maybe 'twould have been the river Skunk, or something. I guess it must have happened that way with the Brits here. If it wasn't for history, Lizzie, I'd bet this creek would be a creek!"

THE TROUBLESHOOTER, 22.

The permanent teeth, 22 in number, appear between the ages of six to twenty-five years, more or less. The last to be cut are the wisdom teeth, in about 47 per cent of adults, one or all four may never develop. An unerupted tooth is an abscess at the root of the tooth. It is caused by neglect of a decayed tooth. When the cavity extends too near the nerve in the center of the tooth, the nerve becomes inflamed and toothache is the result. Thus the nerve and the decayed material in the pulp cavity causes an abscess at the tip of the root in the jaw bone. This may produce a gum boil or break through on the face, causing a scar. It may produce serious results, as damage to the bone, blood poisoning, anemia, kidney trouble, heart trouble, rheumatism or other troubles depending upon the part of the body affected by the poison absorbed.

BAGDAD'S CHANGE OF DRESS.

The war has wrought a wonderful change in the people of Bagdad, not the least of which is their change of dress, according to the Times of India, which says: "In Bagdad today the young bloods are showing a desire to adopt European dress. We cannot imagine why anyone should want to discard the picturesque Arab head-dress in exchange for a billycock hat, but there is no accounting for taste. Resher at getting rid of Turkish headgear had presumably to be celebrated in some way or other, and the acquisition of a new suit of clothes, even if they are ready-made reach-me-downs, is undoubtedly an event which would appeal to the out of Bagdad who, like him all over the world, wants to be unlike his elders."

Australia's Oil.

While Australia is offering a bonus of $10,000 for the discovery of commercial oil in the Commonwealth, New South Wales is likely to absorb all the oil for some time, according to the verdict of G. D. Meudell, a Victorian oil expert who has been touring in western Australia. He found, he says, that the leading companies are so heavily committed in Mexico that Australia's bonus is not attractive. The British and Australian governments, however, have agreed to test thoroughly former German New Guinea and Papua for oil-bearing territory.

FACTS OF THE CASE ARE TOLD BY MERCHANT

In Misery for Six Years From Stomach Trouble Until Tanlac Brought Him Perfect Health, Says Halifax Business Man.

"I want to recommend Tanlac for it is the direct cause of my being in better health today than for years," said Elijah N. Thomas, merchandise dealer for eighteen years or more in Lower Sackville, Halifax N. S.

"For six years I had a bad form of stomach trouble. My appetite was so poor that many times I got up from the table without eating. When I did eat anything I had awful cramping pains and gas formed which caused my heart to palpitate so I could hardly breathe. I lost weight gradually, lost much sleep, and my condition was so bad I can hardly describe it."

"The first bottle of Tanlac didn't seem to help me, but Mrs. Thomas reminded me my case was of long standing, and I tried a second bottle and began to get better. Now all my troubles are gone. I think Tanlac is a grand medicine."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

BERNARD M. IS PURCHASED BY DIGBY PARTIES

Former Coastal Freighter Will be Brought North After Service in Southern Waters.

The steamer Bernard M., which for the past six months has been engaged in the coastwise trade along the Jamaican coast in the West Indies, has been purchased by Captain Bernard M. Melanson of Gilbert's Cove, Digby County and his brother, Capt. C. E. Melanson of Digby.

Will leave this week for the South to bring the steamer to Digby County port.

Since the launching of this well known steamer from the yard of Captain Hilaire T. LeBlanc, at Wedgeport, where in 1919 the ship was built for the Wedgeport Steam Trawling Co., Limited, there has been quite a history associated with the career of the vessel. After launching the steamer was taken to Yarmouth and engaged by the new Burrill Johnson Iron Co., Ltd., and at a great cost was at the same time very fully equipped with a modern steam trawler. In that capacity under the command of Capt. Clayton Morrisset, the Bernard M. made one trip. When she returned to port and after laying up for some weeks, Captain LeBlanc took the craft back to Wedgeport and fitted her for the coastwise or freight business. As a freight boat he sent the steamer in cargo of Captain Everett Nickerson, of Port Clyde, to Parrsboro, but only once for coal. Some weeks after that he endeavored to establish a steamship line between Yarmouth and Halifax, stopping at intermediate ports and which he carried on for several trips.

Last November Capt. J. S. Kinney, of Yarmouth, purchased the steamer and immediately effected a charter for the ship with the United Fruit Co., which concern required such a vessel for service to be established along the coast of Jamaica to connect with the company's large ships of the Boston and New York service. At that time the Bernard M. was sent to one of New York's large shipbuilding plants and her entire hull was rebuilt and strengthened with copper. Other important work done on the ship converted her into a very modernly equipped freighter. After going south and the route was established, the business grew so rapidly that the Bernard M. could not accommodate it and a larger ship was necessary, consequently the Fruit Company offered the steamer for immediate sale. Capt. Melanson seeing an opportunity for a purchase at a very convenient figure went to Boston and closed the deal.

Questions and Answers on Forestry

by the Canadian Forestry Association

Q. Can you give me some information as to how many trees are distributed to the prairie farmers each year from the Dominion Government Nursery Station at Indian Head, Sask?

A. The average number of applicants for young trees from the Indian Head Station of the Dominion Government is 8,000 and from three to five million seedlings and clippings are sent out annually to prairie farmers. The average number per applicant was about 800 last year.

Q. Is there any service open to the ordinary citizen by which he can promote forest conservation?

A. By all means the foremost service that the ordinary citizen can do for the forests of Canada is to prevent forest fires. As compared with our annual forest fire damage any conceivable governmental effort at restoration by tree planting appears trivial. For example, one forest fire this year started by a cigarette carelessly thrown away destroyed 25 million feet of pine in one district. We are destroying our forests at least four times as fast as nature at best can restore them and if we include forest fire damage we are probably killing off our forests each year ten or fifteen times faster than the natural regrowth. As a matter of saving our industries and retaining our forest inheritance, the business of forest fire prevention outranks every other public concern.

Q. How do the forest resources of Canada compare with those of other parts of the British Empire?

A. Canada is the only part of the British Empire containing a really large stock of coniferous timber. This classification refers to such woods as pine, spruce, fir, hemlock, etc. of the cone-bearing trees. Australia and New Zealand and South Africa are wood-importing countries. The British Isles themselves contain a smaller proportion of timber growing land than any other part of Europe except Portugal. The pine, spruce and fir forests of this Dominion, therefore, represent the only reliable source of commercial timber within the Empire.

THE WORLD'S BEST LOVE STORY

The willow-pattern design unites the whole world in admiration of a china which was very old when England began to drink the golden liquor of the East.

In those days the willow-pattern was all the vogue, and Oliver Goldsmith captured the tea-drinking belles by recounting to them, with many elegances of fancy, the sad story of its quaint Chinese design. I will in my own ornamental way, tell again the story of the willow-pattern plate, since many who have heard it taken and again have for gotten it.

Let me take the old plate in my hand and decipher its simple picture. To the right is a lordly mandarin's country house. It is two storeys high to show the rank and magnificence of its possessor. In the foreground is a pavilion, in the background an orange tree, and to the right of the pavilion a peach tree in full bloom. The land around the lordly treasure house and the artistic pavilion is enclosed by an elegant wooden fence.

It has taken us some time to get on with the geography of the simple story, but our object is almost achieved when we reach the bridge at the end of which is the humbly illustrious willow-tree, on which the whole pattern and the entire tale hangs.

At the other side of the bridge is the gardener's cottage. It is a lowly abode, so poor and neglected that the grounds around it are totally uncultivated. The only green thing in the vicinity is a small fir-tree in the background.

At the top of the pattern scheme, on the left-hand side, is an island with a cottage. The grounds, a portion of which has been reclaimed from the waters are highly cultivated. The two birds in the little landscape are, of course, turtle-doves. The three figures on the bridge are the haughty mandarin's lovely daughter, with a distaff, nearest the cottage; the fond, true lover, with a boat in the middle, and the cruel mandarin, with a whip, next to the willow-tree.

This is the scenario of the tragedy. Now we come to the action. The mandarin, whom we will call Ho Hi, had an only daughter named Li-Chi, who, romantically and illicitly fell in love with Chang, a poor young man, who lived in the island home portrayed on the top of the pattern, and who had been her formidable father's private secretary.

That arrogant big-wig heard them one day pledging their vows of love under the orange-tree, and forbade the unequal match. The lovers, however, were not impressed by his worldly arguments. They contrived to elope, and found a place of hiding in the gardener's cottage. From it they made their escape in a boat to the island home of the Chinese Romeo. In a terrible fit of temper the cruel mandarin pursued them with a dangerous looking whip. It was the wretched mandarin's uncharitable intention to beat his daughter and son-in-law to death.

At this critical juncture the gods of old China rewarded the loving fidelity of Li-Chi and her adoring bridegroom, Chang, by changing them into turtle-doves.

The picture is called the Willow Pattern not only because it tells this pitiful and charming story of love in distress, but because the legend was a fact some thousands of years ago, and the dangerous elopement occurred "when the willow began to shed its leaves."

I think this is one of the finest stories in the world, and all the manufactures of china-were think the same, since, whatever their special modern designs, they have all a tender feeling for the willow-pattern plate.

THE IDEAL NEWSPAPER

A newspaper publisher, wishing to please his readers, asked for suggestions.

"How can I make the ideal newspaper?" he inquired.

"Cut out the crimes, murders, the sensational divorce case reports," said nice people.

"Cut out the accidents, the railway and steamship disasters," said the people who "couldn't bear" such things.

"Cut out the politics," said the old-fashioned woman. "I don't understand it, and haven't time for it."

"Cut out the League of Nations and all that heavy stuff," yawned the flappers of both sexes. "What is it all about anyway?"

"Cut out the so-called funny pictures," said the careful mother. "Such pictures aren't funny, and they are bad, very bad, for children."

"Cut out the ponderous editorials," snapped the man who merely scans the headlines. "Nobody reads 'em nowadays."

"Cut out the woman's page," said the female with the strong mind. "It is mushy, trashy, trivial; an insult to our sex."

"Cut out sports and theatres," said the intellectual. "Both are bad influences, and both have received altogether too much notice."

"Cut out," began another and still another, but the publisher beat them to it.

"Stop all of you," he cried.

"On second thought, I have decided to cut out myself. It is no use trying to publish the ideal newspaper until I come across the ideal reader."—Leslie's Weekly.

THE GIRLS' GO-TO-DAY.

"I love your eyes, your cheeks so fair,"
I said to pretty Bess,
"I don't like your shade of hair."
She said, "It does not match my dress."

I tried that line on Flossie, too.
I said, "I love your auburn tresses."
She said, "I don't believe you do."
I think it's just my knee-length dresses."

In sad despair I turned to Kate.
I tried her with the same old way.
She said, "My boy, you're slightly late—
I suppose it's my wedding day."

Then happily one day I found Myself the heir to riches great.
Just after this good news got round,
I got a telegram from Kate.

She said, "There never was a chap
Who would compare with you, dear
Bob."

I proudly answered, "Take a nap,
Dear girl, I've decided to my job."
Then Flossie tried a come-back bold:
"Oh, Bob, they say the Royal's gay."

I said in haughty accents cold,
"Be on your way, child, on your way."
Bess telephoned a while ago.
Something about some class dance.

I said, "Those dances bore me so;
Besides, I have to press my pants."
Oh, sweet was my revenge, I guess,
But I must go; it's getting late.

I got a late tonight with Bess:
"To-morrow, Flossie, next night, Kate, I'll be there."

PATHETIC PLIGHT OF CHILDREN

The father of Billie and Dickie Flinn, Halifax, died when the children were three and five years old. They began a bitter battle on the part of the children's mother to save them from starvation.

The struggle was only partly successful as far as the children were concerned and it killed the mother. The children when found were emaciated, stunted, and physically half starved.

They were taken to St. Joseph's Orphanage Halifax where they are slowly struggling back to their child heritage.

One of them is in grade four, the other grade six.

St. Joseph's Orphanage has been saving little weeps like these for 73 years without once having made a public appeal for support. But now it is impossible to carry on because of competition by children in the orphanage occupying space intended only for 73. Some of the facts set out in the advertisement are in the issue established that it is a public duty for the Province to come to the rescue, not of St. Joseph's Orphanage alone, but of the orphan children it will be compelled to close its doors on, its buildings are not extended.

HOW TO DESTROY CUTWORMS.

Cutworms are a terror to the farmer and gardener today. They cut off all kinds of garden plants but are particularly destructive to beets, carrots, cabbage and onions. This pest lies just beneath the surface of the soil during the day and at night comes out and does its work.

The Remedy.
Take a heaping tablespoonful of Paris Green to a bucketful of shorts or middie-ings. Stir the poison in 3 pints of water, then pour in the feed mixing thoroughly. Have the bait just moist enough to crumble as it handles better than to have it too wet. You may have to add a little more water, or you may need a little more feed to get it just right. Sow the mixture broadcast over the affected area just before night. The cutworms will turn out and eat the bait and die.

I have used this remedy for twenty years with complete success.

SKIN'S COVE

The humorous play, entitled "A Ladies Aid Business Meeting," at Mohawk Crossroads," was presented by the Women's Institute on Friday evening, 3d, with great success. The house was filled to its capacity with a most appreciative and responsive audience. The unique and old fashioned costumes representing the mid-Victorian era, along with "Crossroads" business methods called forth continuous laughter and applause. The play was concluded by old song selections which were sweetly and attractively rendered. The finale was the appearance of Misses who, in their picturesque costumes adorned with beads and feathers and with the shyness of the Indian maiden, sang a number of songs, pretty and fascinating, filled with the magic charm so typical of Indian life. The entire cast of twenty six reappeared on the stage for the National Anthem.

SLIMPSES OF HUMAN NATURE

Much That is Interesting to Students of Mankind Revealed by Income Tax Returns.

"The proper study of mankind is man," wrote Alexander Pope, the English poet. "Were Pope living today he would turn to the crowded bank or lawyer's office, where income tax returns are filed out, remarks the Baltimore Sun.

There was the young couple, for example, who made a goodly income last year by doing without a house. They figured the boom in real estate could be turned to good account by them while they were young and able to endure inconveniences. And they bought a little house and moved into it. Within three weeks they had sold it at an advanced price. They then bought another house and sold it shortly thereafter. They did not live in any one house more than six weeks and, while living in it, the husband scrubbed and whitewashed. It was hard work, to be sure, but at the end of the year they had $3,000 profit.

There was the young conductor, whose income last year was $1,875, and who was bemusing the fact that he wasn't married. "You're in luck," said the income tax clerk. "It would be tough to be married in these days of the high cost of living on an income of $1,875."

The smooth-faced, red-checked young conductor did not see it that way. When he had finished his walk of whistling in plaintive fashion, "Come, I will be married."

One found honesty, too, in people in whom it was least expected. There was the racetrack follower, for example, who admitted that he made his living by betting on the horses. He figured he lost that he had made $5 a week and the income tax clerk elided out the return that way. The next morning he was back again.

"I think I've made a mistake in my return," he said. "I believe I should have done it this way." He showed the revised figures to the clerk, by which his weekly income was in the neighborhood of $75 a week.

One poker player frankly admitted, he had made $900 at the game last year, and the amount was shown in his return, while a fashionably-dressed woman whose income ran into the thousands claimed a loss of $4,000 for money lost at a friend's when pressed for details regarding the transaction she blurted out: "Oh, that's not necessary—I put it in that way last year."

The Uncertain Eppelin.

With 30 passengers occupying its comfortable cabin the big German Zeppelin Bodensee sank toward its landing field near Berlin. The regular trip from Friedrichshafen had been without incident. Then, says Popular Mechanics Magazine, everything went wrong. Unexpected air currents dashed the ship against the earth, broke the cabin windows, dented the engines and put out the lights. A slide put drove the craft into the crowd of onlookers and killed one person and maimed five others. More bumps followed as the captain tried vainly to get his mooring lines to the hunger crew below. Then an upward current seized the great ship and carried it high into the air. Meanwhile the terrified passengers were huddled in the cabin half frozen. After a time the mechanics succeeded in repairing the engines, and finally, near midnight, the ship was brought safely to earth in a grove of stunted fir trees in the Herf mountains.

Change of Job for Crab.

Land crabs have been at one task for many years, and a Senegalese soldier, while serving in France, thinks that the time has arrived to relieve them of the monotony of their present calling. He has planned out a new home and a new activity for them by setting them to work as scavengers. The crabs were lodged in large cages of wire twillwork and to the ever-tiring crabs, being freed, quickly devour the garbage, their natural, home-loving disposition making them quickly return to their domiciles. Thus, not only clean streets, but a considerable saving of money would be effected by the employment of these unpaid street cleaners; but what if they struck against the proposition?

Profitable Evening.

"What sort of an entertainment is on hand for tonight?" inquired a guest. "I have been overhearing bits of animated conversation about it but do not exactly understand the nature of it—some kind of a contest, isn't it?" "Eh-yah," replied the landlord of the Petunia tavern. "The owners of all the oila boards in town will be at the 9 p. m. house, and this evening. The general public will assemble. For 25 cents each corner will be entitled to one message from a Hindoo, Bakimo, Digger Injun, or somebody, on the other shore—or five messages for $1—and a prize of $5 will be given to the person receiving the silliest communication."—Kansas City Star.

MR. EDWARDS
 MAPLEHURST FARM, HILLHOUSE, P.Q.
 "I am in my 78th year. About 25 years ago, I began to have trouble with my stomach. One doctor said I had Cancer; another said, Ulcer of the stomach; another, Gall Stones; others, Ulcers of the Liver and inflammation of the Gall Bladder."

Three years ago, I consulted one of the best specialists in Montreal. He said I must go to the hospital, have an Ulcer cut out of my stomach and gall stones removed. I was then 74 years old. I said "NO." Then, I began to take "Fruit-A-Tives." I found they helped me a lot, and I still take them occasionally, and I am so much better that my old friends often ask me what I have done to myself to look so well. I am gaining in weight and enjoying life very much."

CLEANING BLACK SILK.

A black silk skirt badly soiled by mud was cleaned with hot coffee and every stain removed.

The coffee was first strained through muslin to remove all sediment, then freely applied to the spots and rubbed in vigorously. The coffee should be sponged lightly with it, allowed to become partially dry and ironed on the wrong side. This treatment does not make silk stiff or shiny but causes it to look fresh and new.

Ice cream is good, strawberries good. But tell me, what is better? You ever knew so rich a treat. As these two served together.

RED CROSS TO QUIT EUROPEAN FIELD.

Announcement was made Saturday by the American Red Cross that after eight years of relief operations on behalf of victims of the world war the Red Cross was withdrawing from the European field on June 30, except for Junior Red Cross projects in the Herf mountains.

A statement prepared by Dr. Albert R. Hill, vice chairman in charge of foreign operations who has just returned from Europe, was furnished by the Red Cross in connection with its announcement. This statement reviews the present relief situation in Europe and explains the work of the winding up Red Cross work overseas.

"The casual observer of conditions in Europe," says Dr. Ross, "is inclined to believe that they have become normal and that there is practically no more suffering than in America. This judgment is superficial and incorrect, but not more so than the opposite judgment formed by Americans at home from reading the news despatches about fluctuations in foreign exchange."

"Outside Russia there is now abundance of food and a reasonable supply of clothing available for those who can pay the price, and the exchange situation has little bearing on the ability to pay on the part of the great majority. Those most seriously affected by the low exchange value of local paper money are the classes living on fixed salaries, pensions, interest on land and real property, etc., and these classes will not seek the aid of foreign relief organizations. Only local charitable organizations can solve the remaining relief problems of Eastern and Southeastern Europe."

Melon-Growing in the Okanagan

There is a certain market-gardener at Summerland, a little settlement on the shores of the Okanagan Lake in British Columbia, who has made his den across famous "The Goodies" for cantaloupes, egg-plants and peppers. He has five acres of cantaloupes from which last season he shipped 1,200 crates averaging $100 gross per crate.

They are grown on the usual "hill" system 5 x 10 ft. apart and well-rotted mixed farmyard manure is applied in the spring. Great care is taken when irrigating the melons as they won't stand being chilled.

The grower's "long rule" is serving his own seed and he has bred distinct strains of peppers, cucumbers and melons. The "Goodies" cantaloupe is improving every year.

The seed is sown under glass in mid-April and is transplanted twice before being set out in the field between the 5th and 10th of June. It is then ready to fruit at the end of August.

Egg-plants and peppers are profitable, too, in a small way, and about 10 acres of the first, and 10 acres of the latter is grown and shipped weekly to certain stores in to localities that have acquired a taste for these dainties.

From 12 acres of early slicing-cucumbers the grower makes at least $3 pickings in the season, taking from 110-125 boxes at each picking. These average a clear profit of 50 cents per box, the prices varying from 60 cents up to $2.00 according to season.

Another highly profitable line followed by the same grower is early lettuce under glass. Last Christmas I saw one of the greenhouses (18 x 40) full of lettuce for the Christmas trade around Summerland and about $150.00 of it and this will command a sure and steady market. Mr. G. W.

SPLENDID MUSICAL CONCERT

Annapolis Band Under Leadership of Paul Yates Gives Best Concert of the Season.
(Middleton Outlook)
The Annapolis Concert Band was here last Wednesday night and under the leadership of Paul Yates gave a splendid musical entertainment in the Middleton Rink. All those who attended were highly pleased with every number and showed their appreciation by repeated applause. The programme opened with "O Canada" and the first strain was so evident that the music was heard from the back of the hall. The band consisted of about thirty pieces, well balanced to give the best that is to be had in band music. The band was headed as a musical organization of rare ability and we are sure those who had the pleasure of listening will agree that "Old Town" should be very proud indeed of its band.

The programme, which consisted of twelve numbers was carried out in full, with the exception of two numbers, which could not be given owing to the unavoidable absence of one of the artists. These were, however, substituted by other selections.
Mr. Paul Yates, the energetic conductor of the band, has spent a great deal of time perfecting the band and his performance given here, he must surely feel that his labors have been well repaid. Every player has become a real artist and the band as a whole is a credit to the confidence and together they make a band equal to any in the province.

The Middleton Concert Band usually pleases the audience with its singing. The instrumental quartette members of the band were well received, likewise the concert solo by our popular band master, Harley P. Reah.
Usually when a body of musicians like the Annapolis Band come to a town for their own personal benefit. In this particular instance, the motive was far from a selfish one. The members coming all the way from Annapolis for the express purpose of assisting the local band to get on a more substantial basis. Consequently the band was a great help to the local band. Some day let's hope, we can reciprocate.

Mr. Yates has just been engaged for his 4th year with the Annapolis Band at a salary of $1000.00.

TOPIARY REVIVES IN ENGLAND

Tree Shaped as Peacocks Are Old Curiousities, and Many Others Are Being Formed.
Travelers on the great highway which leads through Staines by the Belford church can see two splendid trees cunningly trained, and clipped to represent peacocks, which stand on either side of the highway. They are large trees, aged, and how many years of care and skill with the pruning knife they stand for none can tell. These are, perhaps, the most familiar examples of the topiary art near the metropolis, but in formal gardens of many stately old country houses their like may be seen in abundance. They are accepted as curiosities, survivals of times past when men and more leisure on their hands than today.

The shaping of living trees into birds and beasts of prey, into spirals, figures, cannon balls, and any other fancy shapes still exists as a British industry. In the Royal Kew nurseries, close by Richmond town, is the largest collection of topiary in the world—nearly 3,000 trees, each one of them trained to some animal or bird, or architectural form. The work has been done in this open studio, and it has required exemplary patience. The trouble about establishing a formal garden in years past has been that you do not live to see it. The most generation may enjoy it; but with forms that take 40 or 50, even in some cases 90, years to bring to maturity, it is only the grandchildren who can hope to know the full perfection.—London Daily Telegraph.

HALL OF FAME FOR TREES
Many Historic Personalities Have Been Nominated for a Place in Institution.
"The great Tree on Boston Common" and "The Green Tree Hotel" at Le Claire, Ia., the most famous tree on the Mississippi river, have been nominated for a place in the "Hall of Fame for Trees," being compiled by the American Forestry association.

The great tree on Boston Common was blown down in a storm February 22, 1835, and the stump of the tree in which the colonists gathered around the tree and started for Lexington to give battle to the British.
The Green Tree Hotel at Le Claire is a relic of the continental of the year in which the colonists gathered around the tree and started for Lexington to give battle to the British.

Other nominations for the hall of fame include the De Soto Oak at Tampa, Fla., from which De Soto started for the Mississippi and the oak tree at the corner of the City County, Virginia, the largest and oldest tree in the state; the two oaks at Marlinton, W. Va., marked in 1751 by General Lewis; the tallest tree in the Balkans, which was nominated by the Red Cross, which had headquarters near it during the war.

Importance of Music.
What an empty place the world would be without music! It is the life of the soul. Ever since the creation birds have been pouring forth their song of cheer.
The art of music has progressed to a remarkable degree. Heretofore people have always regarded this art as a luxury, but the recent war has shown us most emphatically that it is a necessity. "Music is the medicine of the mind." It has been said that music is the most powerful of all the arts. It has a wonderful effect on shell-shocked men who served in the war.

Patriotism and music combine; but so do religion and music. Does not music have a religious character? There since the creation birds have been pouring forth their song of cheer.

Nothing So "Cheap" as That.
A gentleman with a high-sounding French name has opened up the most exclusive jewelry store in town at Fifth Avenue. Not a single article of jewelry is on display and nothing is sold. The man has a fine stock of more like members of parliament in their frock coats and white shirts. They wear silk hats and do not work. A lady went into the store recently and got an unusual ring. She showed her one for $18,000. "Oh," she said, "I only want to spend $1,000." There was an awkward pause and the clerk finally said: "Well, I am sorry, but I cannot sell it for that price. You might get it further down the avenue at Blunk's"—and he named one of the oldest and best jewelry establishments in New York. It is the same old story. The man is paid to designate a 5-and-10-cent store.

Dutch East Indies.
Since 1915, the first year for which complete statistics for imports of conserved fish into the Dutch East Indies are available, the United States has had a fair share of the market. Before the war practically all the salmon came from the Pacific coast, and in closed seasons, when the salmon were scarce, the United States was also brought from the United States.

Those Girls.
Agnes—But how to the world did you get him to propose?
Ethel—Oh, easily enough. I told him that you were crazy about him and he said that it was long ago.—Boston Transcript.

Donkey Cows "Ha-Ha."
I was strolling along a shady lane with the girl of my choice. On the other side of the fence was a donkey. In a pasture, I hardly noticed him, for I was trying to forget my proper position. Just then, however, he came into my acquaintance and along the highway a short distance from us, and knowing they must have noticed his endeavoring manner, he began to trot. I became embarrassed. However, I managed to blurt out a proposal of marriage; whereupon the donkey, standing there so dejectedly, suddenly woke up enough to raise his head and look at me. I was surprised to find that he was still near enough to hear it. To cap the climax, the girl also gave me the ha-ha.—Exchange.

Began to Battle in April, 1918.
American combat divisions were in battle in Europe for 200 days; from the twenty-fifth of April, 1918, when the first regular division, after long training in quiet sectors, was sent to the front on the Picardy front, until the signing of the armistice. During these 200 days they were engaged in 13 major operations, of which 11 were joint enterprises with the French, British and Italians, and two were distinctly American.

ALASKAN TRANSPORT SYSTEM SUPPLIES 15

Miles of Territory and Does Excellent Work.
O. P. Gaustad of Fairbanks, Alaska, is owner and operator of the "farthest north" railway in the world. His railroad "system" consists of 15 miles of wooden rails that stretch between the head of navigation on the Tolovana river to the river above. There are large trees, aged, and how many years of care and skill with the pruning knife they stand for none can tell. These are, perhaps, the most familiar examples of the topiary art near the metropolis, but in formal gardens of many stately old country houses their like may be seen in abundance. They are accepted as curiosities, survivals of times past when men and more leisure on their hands than today.

"I have a sawmill half way between the Tolovana places and the head of navigation on the river," he said recently in Los Angeles. "For two years I have operated the railroad to haul logs to my mill, and from there to haul the sawed lumber to the mills. The track is 15 miles long and is of wooden rail. The motor car is, of course, equipped with flanged wheels, and hauls a little train of three cars behind it."

In this fashion I have hauled loads as high as six tons. In addition to the lumber I haul all supplies from the head of navigation on the river to the mills, and get $30 a ton for transporting them. Sometimes I make eight or more trips a day. The most covered over 6,000 miles in the course of the season.

"The war brought great hardship to the gold miners of Alaska, for, owing to the depreciation of the dollar, their gold is worth but little more than what it was five years ago. Consequently many of the mines are shut down, for the producers figure it is not worth while to pay export taxes on the basis to mine gold worth only half price."

"Few people realize the immense distances in Alaska. From my railroad, for example, it is 1,000 miles to Sitka, by way of the Yukon river. The gasoline I burn in my car costs me 85 cents a gallon."—From the Pacific Commercial Advertiser.

Queer War Money.
Some very odd kinds of money were brought into circulation during the war, owing to the scarcity of copper and nickel. Germany issued hundreds of millions of marks of paper money, and in Austria printed paper money of the smallest value ever known, representing one-fifth of a cent. Even more curious was the pasted-on money issued in some of the German-occupied cities in France. It was in denominations up to five francs, and was of different colors and shapes—square, round, octagonal, oval and diamond. This "money" was guaranteed by the local municipality, and was good only for use in transaction with merchants of the town where it was issued.

No Birthday Anniversary.
It is possible for a baby born this year never again to have a birthday. For this is leap year, and a baby born on the right spot at the right time must certainly have no birthdays to keep. This has actually happened to a baby who was born during the voyage from Yokohama to San Francisco on the last day of February, 1904. It is well known that in order to make the actual number of sunrise and sunset experienced during a voyage around the world correspond with the calendar an extra day must be interpolated on "leap" years, according to the direction traveled. This adjustment is made at the moment of crossing the one hundred and eightieth meridian, which runs to the west of the Bering point between Japan and California.

And a baby born on February 29 must be content to do without birthdays, unless he or she should happen to be on a summer tour at the same time in some future leap year, which would be a rather odd improbability.—Manchester Guardian.
