ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION TO FATHER PENNY

It was with deepest regret that the bodies of Digby and vicinity heard last week Rev. Father Penny was to be transferred to Halifax. Last Sunday evening after Benediction Father Penny was presented with an address and purse of gold from his parishioners. Mr. Cornwell read the address which voiced the sentiments of all in expressing the departure of Father Penny. During his short stay he had educated himself to each and every one of his duties and they felt his most charge was assured of a most devoted and true spiritual adviser. The true type of a priest. They hoped, too, the time was not far distant when he would be again in their midst.

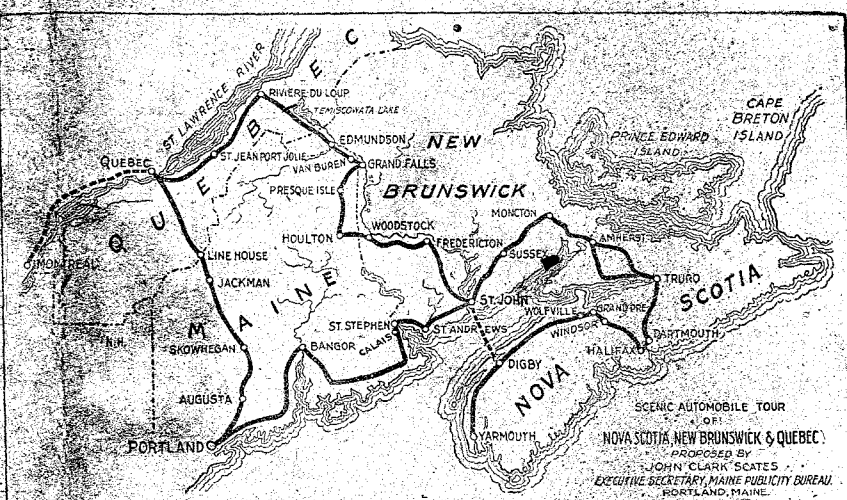

Father Penny was greatly moved by the thoughtfulness of a few well chosen words thanked his people for their kindness and expressions of affection and loyalty. He assured them that his work among them was over a source of happiness and that his prayers and thoughts for his people of Digby would never be forgotten. With the money Father Penny intended to purchase a gold watch suitably engraved, and which will always be carried by him and cherished as a reminder of his devoted friends.

A WEYMOUTH BEAR STORY

George O. Hankins, E. R. Gaudet, and Thomas J. Watson, of Digby, returned Saturday from a hunting trip to Cumberland Lake, at the head of the St. Lawrence River. The trip was most successful and they returned with a number of deer and a few well chosen words thanked his people for their kindness and expressions of affection and loyalty. He assured them that his work among them was over a source of happiness and that his prayers and thoughts for his people of Digby would never be forgotten. With the money Father Penny intended to purchase a gold watch suitably engraved, and which will always be carried by him and cherished as a reminder of his devoted friends.

Good Auto Roads Should Induce Tourist Travel

The following article is from John C. Scates, Executive Secretary of the State of Maine, Publicity Bureau, Portland.

Mr. Scates is thoroughly familiar with the tourist conditions throughout America and the Canadian Provinces, having followed the development of this business in California, Florida, New England, and he sees its possibilities in the Maritime Provinces and Quebec. One thing that he considers absolutely essential to the development of the business is the improvement of the roads and proper route maps, showing the people where to go and how to get there over the best roads. He considers that the Maritime Provinces and Quebec have a wonderful possibility if properly developed.

In a letter to the "COURIER" he says: "I noticed by recent returns compiled by your Canadian Department of Customs that 611,265 automobiles entered Canada the present calendar year for touring purposes compared with 93,000 for the previous calendar year. The Department estimates that the tourists left $108,000,000 in Canada during this time. How much more could be made in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick if only 2,019 cars entered these two Provinces. Why is this? Simply because the American automobile tourist knows absolutely nothing about the routes and road conditions or hotel accommodations in these Provinces and Eastern Quebec. I saw a letter the other day from one of the best information bureaus in the States advising a tourist not to take the road from Quebec to Halifax via Riviere du Loup, Edmundston, Houlton, Woodstock, Fredericton, St. John, Moncton and Truro, as the route beyond Quebec, yet the same information Bureau was thoroughly informed on every inch of the road to Quebec via Vermont and Maine, and to Montreal and Toronto via the different New York points. The writer knows that the roads along this route are in very good condition, but very few American tourists know anything about them. There is a growing desire on the part of many to tour the Maritime Provinces and the first of the season the State of Maine Publicity Bureau routed many parties down to St. John and Halifax, but the condition of the detour west of St. John was very discouraging.

Happily, however, I understand that by next year that the road will be completed and the construction work going on between St. John and Woodstock will also be nearly completed. If either individuals, municipalities or the Provinces themselves would publish a good map as indicated by me above and expend a few thousand dollars in advertising in the Boston and New York papers and supply the different tourist bureaus in the States with an adequate supply, the country soon would be overrun with tourists, for truly you have an interesting country.

This tour should start in at Portland, continuing to Bangor, St. Stephens, St. Andrews, St. John across the Bay of Fundy to Digby and continuing down through the valley via Wolfville and Grand Falls to Halifax. A side trip should be made to Moncton, New Brunswick, from Halifax continue to Truro, Amherst, Moncton, St. John, Fredericton, Woodstock, and then cross the American side at Houlton and continue on the American side to Grand Falls, N. B.

From Woodstock I have indicated the route on the American side from Moncton to Edmundston and then to Houlton. This side is in good condition and it will undoubtedly be some years before the highway on the Canadian side can be placed in as good a condition as it is on the American. The automobile tourist will go where the roads are good, but it is utterly impossible to get them to go over highways which have not been materially improved.

Then it should return to the American side at Van Buren, following up the banks of the St. John to Madawaska, where the new international bridge has been erected to Edmundston, then to Riviere du Loup by Temiscouata Lakes, and from Riviere du Loup to Quebec, and from Quebec to the Chaleur River and cross over to the American side again and down through Jackman and through the central portion of Maine back to Portland. This tour comprises approximately 1600 miles.

The Grand Tre Country in Nova Scotia made numerous "Longfellow's Excursion" would draw like a mighty magnet, and everyone would be delighted with the drive along the beautiful St. John to Woodstock, and then there is the wonderful gorge and waterfall at Grand Falls, N. B. on the upper St. John, second only to Niagara.

The beautiful Temiscouata Lake, between Edmundston and Riviere du Loup, is one of the most beautiful lakes in the eastern country. The route from Riviere du Loup to Quebec is through a rugged country, but the drive along the old French customs of two centuries ago with proper effort and time can be made on the most regular basis on the western continent. It is a beautiful and interesting drive.

It might be necessary to some extent to change the proposed tour, somewhat, owing to recent road improvements, but the general direction should be followed. Other roads that connect with the tour might probably be indicated by lighter lines. To those who are not familiar with the automobile tourist, a map indicating a route in one province would be sufficient to attract all the automobile tourists. It was felt that that they want a continuous route indicated and especially is this true when they are exploring a new and largely unknown country, and they also have an assurance of returning over the same route. For the automobile tourist, a road map of the Maritime Provinces and Eastern Quebec is absolutely necessary for them to come either through Maine or through Quebec.

I am also confident that the State of Maine Publicity Bureau will, upon information being furnished by the country, would gladly cooperate with any effort that might be made by the people of the Maritime Provinces and Eastern Quebec to develop the section as a tourist resort.

ANNAPOLIS EXHIBITION A GOOD ONE

The Three Colonies exhibition held at Annapolis last week is said to have been one of the most successful exhibitions held in Nova Scotia since 1906. The exhibits were well filled and the trade stands were very attractive. The attendance was good and the management was excellent. The first day by the Annapolis band and the second by the Yarmouth band and the third by the Digby band. The exhibits were those of A. M. King & Son, Allen & McCann Dominion Experimental Farm, and the Entomological Branch of Department of Agriculture.

A. M. King & Son had a wonderful booth with the best seed corn for which a $10 cash prize was awarded. The prize-winning weighed 52 lbs. was grown by Glen Dargie. The second prize was a splendid specimen of clothing and trunks and bags decorated with commercial signs, all of which were made in Canada.

Allen & McCann had a booth with an attractive display of goods furnished by Chas. Dargie. It was visited by a Canadian Bank of Montreal branch. The Dominion Experimental Farm had a very interesting display of plants, having a fine show of vegetables and fruits.

Another very important exhibit of the Entomological Branch of the Department of Agriculture showing fine collections of insects, plants, and birds.

There were also specimens of apples showing the injury done by the Green Apple Bury, Rosy2aphis, Tussock Moth, Green fruit worm, Codling moth and others.

In the school department of the exhibition there was some very interesting work by the pupils of different towns and villages. One thing that attracted attention in this section was a pasteboard model of the Grandville Bridge, built on a scale of 1-4 inch to the foot, the bridge itself is 136 ft. long, this model was built by Fletcher Payne and Kenzie Payne, of Grandville Ferry, ages 13 and 11 years.

Fletcher Payne also had a fine collection of butterflies and moths on exhibition. The school pupils had some fine examples of cooking and fancy work. The Manual Training departments of Annapolis Royal and Digby schools had some fine pieces of work.

The vegetable and fruits exhibits were excellent. In Chatham, of Fruit Agriculture College says that this was the finest showing of fruits and vegetables he has seen in any exhibition, having none of the usual display of apples, pears, etc.

In the poultry contests the horses, pulled over $400 his rock while the oxen hauled 350 lbs.

With its five million other printed volumes, the British Museum Library can claim the distinction of being the largest in the world, so far as the number of its books is concerned. More than sixty million volumes have been called into requisition to accommodate them.

The first glass mirrors were made in Venice in 1300.

Headache

Recurring headaches usually come from an exhaustion of the nervous system, and they do not disappear until the vigor of the nerve cells is restored by such upbuilding treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Temporary relief by use of powders is often obtained at an enormous expense to the nervous system and the general health.

Get the nerves right and the headaches will not return.

Mrs. W. J. Pearce, Nttn St. Cobourg, Ont., writes:

"My system became run-down and I suffered greatly with pain in my head. This was so severe that I would have to hold a cloth tightly over my head so that I could get my work done. A friend advised me to use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after taking a few bottles I found quite an improvement in my condition. I continued using them until I had taken about seven boxes and they strengthened and built up my system splendidly, completely relieving the pain in my head."

IF YOU could Visit our Mills—

VISITORS to the Quaker Mills no longer marvel at the exclusive flavour, texture and goodness of all things baked with Quaker Flour. They see for themselves the infinite care with which Canada's finest wheat is treated from the berry to the sack.

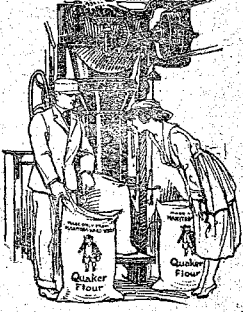

They see how thoroughly the grain is selected and cleaned—how gradually and finely it is milled—to produce a perfect flour. They see how Quaker Quality is ever maintained, by constant vigilance and hourly tests in the process of milling—by an actual baking of bread from each day's flour. Quaker Flour must take up the Quaker standard before it can leave the Quaker Mill.

They realize why no other flour can equal "Quaker." Try it for your next baking.

Why Is Royal Yeast Better Than Any Other Yeast?

"Possibly you have asked yourself this very question, and may, or may not, have answered it to your own satisfaction.

Bread made with ordinary yeast may approximate bread made with Royal Yeast in general appearance, but in reality the actual food content and the assimilating qualities of bread made with Royal Yeast are much greater, irrespective of whether the flour is made from hard or soft wheat.

Royal Yeast Cakes are manufactured in accordance with a fixed scientific principle, and in such a way as to preclude any possible variation, as is frequently the case in ordinary yeast. Each cake is wrapped separately by machinery in wax paper, and sealed, making them practically air-tight. This means they will keep fresh much longer, and prevents the possibility of dirt or dust coming in contact with them even after the package has been opened. Royal Yeast Cakes have been the standard Yeast of Canada for over 50 years, which fact in itself is a guarantee of their superior quality and reliability.

Keswick, Saskatchewan.—"My mother has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and upon learning of my troubles, advised me to try it, as I seemed all run down after the birth of my child, and had some of those 'water' pains which are not to be had by any medicine. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I feel like a new woman. I am able to do all my household work and am much better in every way. I am willing for you to use my letter as a testimonial for the recommendation of your medicine."—Mrs. Lillian Nelson, Keswick, Saskatchewan.

Owing to the increased number of members, it is found necessary to have two masses every Sunday at St. Anne's church, Blainville—Low Mass at 10 and High Mass at 11 a. m. For some time both parishes have been looked after by Rev. Father Coman, who has found that the work requires assistance, and after consultation with the Lord Bishop of Calgary, it was decided that an assistant would be sent him. The new priest will shortly arrive to take up his work.

A pretty marriage was solemnized at St. Bernard's church, St. Bernard's, last week, the contracting parties being Mrs. Mary Rose Gaudet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Gaudet, St. Bernard's and Miss Rose Gaudet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gaudet, St. Bernard's.

The bride was becomingly dressed in a wedding suit of navy blue with picture hat to match.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Alberta Gaudet. The groom was ably supported by Willis Gaudet, a brother of the bride. The marriage was performed by the groom's brother, Rev. Emile Bournet of East Pubnico, who also officiated at the nuptial Mass which followed.

After the marriage the happy couple repaired to the home of the bride's parents, where a short honeymoon was spent after which the couple returned to St. Bernard's, where they remained until Saturday, leaving for their future home in Boston.

Mrs. Bournet spent some few years in the U. S. and arrived home this summer for her vacation. The happy couple took with them an abundance of wishes for a happy married life from a large acquaintance of friends. They were the recipients of many useful presents, testimony of the high esteem in which they are held by a large host of friends. Outside people who attended the wedding were the groom's mother, Mrs. Bournet and his sister, Miss Louise Bournet.

Mother Says it Saved Her Life

"My mother is firmly convinced that Tanlac saved my life and I don't doubt myself but what that is true." This statement was given out for publication a few days ago, by Miss Mary Anderson, a popular young lady residing at 100-12 Argyle St., Halifax, Nova Scotia.

"About a year ago I caught a cold, which I neglected until I was forced to take to my bed where I had to remain for three weeks. When I got up I could hardly stand alone and would stay awake all night long coughing. I had no appetite and could not regain my strength.

"I had my things ready and the time set to go to a sanatorium when my mother, who was almost frantic over my condition, brought me a bottle of Tanlac. So I stayed home and began taking the Tanlac, and when the third bottle was gone I felt so much better I knew I was getting well. I was almost a skeptic when I started taking Tanlac, but now I am rounded out and feel as strong as I ever did. Tanlac made such a wonderful change in me that my friends could hardly believe I was the same one who had been so sick. My mother praises Tanlac to everybody on account of what it has done for me."

Tanlac is sold by all good drug-gists.

DIGBY - NOVA SCOTIA

"St. John" Was Name of First Steamboat on the Digby Route

Dr. W. O. Raymond in St. John Telegraph

The beginning of steamboat navigation in America was in 1807, when Robert Fulton built a small boat to ply on the Hudson between New York and Albany, the engines of which were made by Boulton & Watt, of Birmingham. About seven years later a company was incorporated in New Brunswick to operate a steamboat on the River St. John. In the year 1816 the first steamboat was placed in the river. The boat was named the General Smyth, as a compliment to General George Stacey Smyth, who was then administrator of the government, in the absence of Governor Carleton in England.

An advertisement in the St. John Gazette of this date informs the public that: "The steamer General Smyth—Captain James Segee—will commence running on the 18th day of May, 1816, between St. John and Fredericton, leaving Indian town on Monday at 7 p. m., and Fredericton on Fridays. Fare, cabin passage 1 lb. 2s. 6d., with two meals; forward passengers, 17s.; children under twelve years, 15s. Passengers are allowed 50 lbs. of baggage; dogs 3s. each; no other four-footed animal admitted on board."

The members of the incorporated steamboat company were Hugh Johnson, John Ward, Peter Fraser, James Fraser, L. Donaldson, Robert Smith and J. C. F. Bremner.

The number of round trips per week was soon afterwards increased to two, leaving St. John on Mondays and Thursdays and Fredericton on Wednesdays and Saturdays. The steamer General Smyth seemed to meet a long felt want, and in 1821 another boat, the John Ward, was placed on the route. In 1825 there followed the St. George, which had the distinction of a copper boiler. Her master in 1829 was Captain Magee. This boat at that time made only one trip a week, leaving St. John on Saturday for Fredericton, and returning on Monday.

The steamboat service was soon extended from St. John to Boston, and to Digby, Annapolis and Windsor. The steamer Tom Thumb went on the American route in 1824, and the American Eagle at a later date. A sailing packet, owned by Noah Disbrow, was the pioneer vessel in the New York route. The first steamer on the Digby route was called the St. John, and used both sails and steam. She was placed on the route about 1824.

The communication gradually improved as time went on. In 1837 the steamers Adelaide and Admiral furnished communication twice a week with Boston, leaving St. John on Mondays and Thursdays, and they practically provided the only means by which that place was then to be reached. The Maid of Erin, a steamer owned by John Walker, plied between St. John, Digby and Annapolis, leaving on Monday at 8 o'clock a. m., returning to St. John the same evening, and sailing for Dorchester, Hillsboro and the Bend (Moncton) every Tuesday and Friday evening. The Creole, a steamer that had quite a history, sailed between St. John and Windsor twice a week, and persons going to Halifax were obliged to travel by the Creole.

A name now appears in the history of the evolution of the steamboat, worthy of greater honor than it has yet received and claims our attention here.

Andrew Tibbitts, with his wife—whose maiden name was McFarlane—settled in Canning, Queens county, in 1817, where his children Hannah, Elizabeth, Henry M. and Benjamin Tibbitts were born. His house having been destroyed by fire, Mr. Tibbitts moved to Grand Lake in 1822, removing eight years later to Fredericton. Young Benjamin Tibbitts was something of an artist and a mechanical genius. After attending school four years in Fredericton, he was apprenticed to Mr. Robertson, a watchmaker in Woodstock. The latter old gentleman I knew well in my young days. Tibbitts soon began to construct miniature engines, and having served an apprenticeship of several years in various workshops and foundries, he at length succeeded in perfecting his long cherished scheme of combining the high and low pressures of steam. As he lacked the means to build the engine he had designed, Thomas Dickard, a well-to-do citizen of Fredericton, came to his assistance. They built the steamer Reindeer at the mouth of the Nashua river. She was launched in the spring of 1836, and amid the doubts of friends and the ridicule of enemies. She was a particular graver, craft and according to her admirers, "walked the waters like a thing of life." She was placed on the route between Fredericton and Grand Falls, being the first steamboat to run above Woodstock. It was found that she made the run from Fredericton to Woodstock on four cords of wood against nine cords consumed by the other steamboats. This was due to the combined high and low pressure engines. She was easily the fastest boat on the Upper St. John. Her first trip to Grand Falls was welcomed with great rejoicings. In honor of the event the Woodstock bridge band was aboard the boat and discoursed excellent music on the way. The steamer was acclaimed at every village and at Andover (then called Tobique), the father of the community, old Mr. Ned Beveridge, nailed on the front of the pilot house a pair of caribou antlers which remained there for years.

REINDEER VS. FOREST QUEEN

In order to decide the question which was the fastest boat on the river the Forest Queen—the speediest of the fast boats—was challenged by the Reindeer to a trial of speed. Accordingly on Monday, May 6, 1850, at 6 a. m., the boats left Fredericton for Woodstock, distant sixty-two miles. The water was high—the current running at about eight miles an hour. The Reindeer performed the passage in eight hours, being the quickest upward run that had till then been made between Fredericton and Woodstock, beating her opponent by some forty or fifty minutes.

The Fredericton Amaranth remembers: "It is asserted by those on board the Forest Queen that she was delayed some twenty minutes to adjust her machinery. The Amaranth congratulates the public on the acquisition of two boats of such speed, built in the county of York. Mr. Benjamin Tibbitts, the inventor and builder of the Reindeer's engines, the high and low pressure combined, by which a saving of steam is effected, will be highly gratified when he learns of the success of his efforts."

The Reindeer was rebuilt in 1862 and her name changed to the Antelope, a still faster boat. Her rival, the Tobique, of the People's Line, decided to try conclusions as to speed. The Tobique was a stern-wheeler of light draft of water and powerful engines. The boats left Fredericton at 6 a. m., the Antelope arriving at Woodstock about forty minutes in advance of her rival at 1.30, returning to Fredericton the same afternoon accomplishing the round trip inside of twelve hours, a feat that will probably never again be equalled. The Tobique also made the round trip in one day, returning the same afternoon (an hour or two later) to Fredericton.

The (then) novel idea of a combined high-and-low pressure engine introduced by Benjamin Tibbitts on the Reindeer has since been adopted by all the great steamship engine builders of the world, and has recently been applied to heavy freight locomotives. Like many inventors, Benjamin Tibbitts profited little by the success of the idea of which he was the originator.

The engines of the Reindeer were until a few years ago, still in use in the tug-boat Admiral and are perhaps still in existence.

I have pleasant boyish recollections of the days when they propelled me in various journeys up and down my native river, on the banks of which I was born in 1853.

RAFTING ON THE ST. JOHN.

The most prosperous days for steamboats on the St. John were those when the lumber trade was at its best. In the spring-time, sixty or seventy years ago, as many as fifty to 100 rafts of timber or logs might be counted descending the river in a day. When the water was high and the days long, rafts were commonly run by an experienced hand from Tobique to Springhill (a little above Fredericton), "between daylight and dark." The experienced raftsmen always preferred a raft of black birch timber. To us boys its appearance was unimpressive, as contrasted with the fine European pine raft which stood well out on the water while the heavy black birch seemed almost waterlogged and was scarcely sufficiently above the surface of the water to expose dry feet. An old raftsmen let us into the secret by informing me that the birch raft, being much heavier than the pine, would run

DIGBY BOY NEW PASTOR IN BROOKLYN

The Courier has received through T. D. Burreham a copy of the church calendar of the Brooklyn Baptist Temple, of October list. This was the first Sunday for the new pastor, Rev. Robert LeRoy Dakin, a son of the late W. M. B. and Mrs. Dakin of Castville. There were thirty candidates for the pastorate of this large Church and the position carries with it salary of $10,000. The church's welcome was as follows:

"The officers and members of the Brooklyn Baptist Temple desire to welcome you in such a manner that there will be no doubt in your mind of our love and united prayers for you. We pray that this day's union will stretch on through the years and be one of great fruitfulness. When Christ, to which you have been called, as under shepherd, has had a remarkable history and will, in a very short time, celebrate the anniversary of its one hundredth anniversary. It has had for its pastors men who have been noted not only for their zeal and ability in preaching the Gospel of the Son of God, but for endeavoring to win the masses to believe in and follow Him. They have also been outstanding leaders of the Baptist Denomination. "Our knowledge of the work you have done in the past, and the high ability you have gained for the Master warrant our belief that with the added opportunities which this new location have furnished us, the Brooklyn Baptist Temple, under your leadership, is destined to see greater and more glorious victories than even those which have crowned its efforts in the past. "In the name of our Lord and this great Church we bid you and Mrs. Dakin and the family a most hearty welcome and may you have great joy as you dwell among us."

THE POSTMASTER AT SMITH'S COVE

(Written by Hilda.)
The postmaster at Smith's Cove, Digby County, Robert Austin, is a son of the late John Austin, a native of Morayshire, Scotland, who came out to this country in 1836. John Austin was the man who made Digby famous for its tinan haddies, being the first to cure them in this country. Robert Austin is also born in Scotland followed the sea for twenty-five years and then went into the banking business. In 1883 he married Catherine, daughter of Robert Postmaster at Smith's Cove, who was the first postmaster of that village. Mr. Austin has five children living.

As Smith's Cove is a popular summer resort, about sixty families are served in the winter season and about one hundred families in the summer. There are two deliveries of mail per day. The postmaster, carrying the mail to and from the railway station.

down to Springhill in perhaps a couple of hours less than the previous raft for the same reason that a heavily loaded car will run down a grade faster than a light one.

In those days the raftsmen almost always wore red flannel shirts, and as the deck of the steamboat was often empty, they thronged with them on their return trip up the river, when viewed from a little distance they resembled a regiment of British troops.

The raftsmen tied up their rafts at Springhill, the "head of the tide," where in the olden days, there were a number of taverns bearing Benjamin Tibbitts' sign, as "Rest and Be Thankful," "Dew-drop Inn," etc., which were frequented by the raftsmen. Here the men awaited the steamboat in the morning. The interval, needless to say, was not usually spent in total abstinence, nor the day of "prohibition" was not yet.

The large number of returning raftsmen, who were usually waiting at Springhill for a passage up the river served to stimulate the rival steamboats in a desperate endeavor to reach the place first. They were not allowed to cast off their lines till the Cathedral clock struck 6 a. m.

A FATAL ACCIDENT.

One morning in the early days of June, 1850, three rival boats lay at their several wharves ready to start for Woodstock and with full heads of steam on. Two of these, the James D. Pierce and the Ben Beveridge, were at the middle landing, and the other, the Reindeer, at the lower landing. The boat east off their lines at the same moment, and as a large number of raft men were to embark at Springhill there was every prospect of a very exciting race. At Government House Point the Reindeer was passing the Ben Beveridge, both at full speed, when the boiler of the latter boat exploded. The Beveridge was blown to the water's edge and the human killed outright. Many of the passengers were thrown violently into the water. The passengers of the Reindeer, who were gathered at the rail watching the race with the keenest interest, were of course, badly frightened but escaped injury.

I REMEMBER—

while waiting for the boat the other day I was watching the carpenter who was repairing the ship. He was using the chalk line, broad axe and adze and it brought to my mind the shipbuilding days of long ago. There were then three yards in Digby and each one employing a lot of men. I have seen two vessels on the stocks, in each yard at the same time. I remember one time they had a ship built all up in Raymond's yard and it had a great gale of wind which blew it down. When a mess it made! We used to have a townball on Montague about the old fairview. It hung in a frame and was used to be taken down and set up again. I remember watching a launching in Jones' yard and the ways parted and let the ship drop through about half way down. She was there for some time. They had quite a time to get her off.

A letter signed "A Voter" sent in to the Courier contains certain accusations against a candidate for the Municipal Council which, if true, should certainly be made public. The letter is signed "John Bailey" and is not to show where it came from, as it is not dated and even the postmark is illegible. Before publishing such a letter, we want more information, including the names of all parties concerned, and the published signature must be the real name of the writer and not "A Voter."

Mr. Watts will conduct service at Pleasant this (Friday) evening at 7:45. An interesting part of the service at Mt. Pleasant last Friday evening was the presentation of a purse of money to Rev. W. H. The presentation was made by John C. Handspiker, who delivered an address in a very graceful manner to which Mr. Watts suitably responded.

An order issued at Windsor, Ont., on Saturday prohibits the acceptance of United States money at the Post Office at that city even at a discount. According to postmaster Joseph P. The Detroit Post Office for a long time has declined to accept Canadian money regardless of the condition of the exchange market. Windsor Postal authorities now find themselves in the same position.

Thirty plates have been removed from the bottom near the bow of the steamer Empress, which is in drydock, at Halifax, for repairs. Only one plate was fractured but others were loosened and required to be taken off in order to make the job complete. About half the plates were removed will be put back in position again. The contract for repairing the ship calls for completion by Nov. 7 and while she is in drydock, the Empress will be given a thorough overhauling, including installation of wireless equipment.

USING THE NEWSPAPERS

C. H. Sawie, editor of the Ontario Herald, says that a newspaper, whether weekly or a daily, is regarded as the one institution in the world which continues to draw news from Heaven and thus exists purely for philanthropic purposes.

Owners of newspapers discovered some years ago that the crop of manna was a failure and that there was no seed for further sowing. In other words the press was so put in the brown-stew class. In recent years the press has endeavored to impress upon the public the difference between advertising and news. Some success has been achieved, but nothing like general success.

Every person, every business and every institution loves publicity favorable, but there are countless thousands who still ask for free publicity. The general public cannot conceive the number of requests for free advertising that the weekly press receives each week, not only from local sources, but from governments, political parties, manufacturers, corporations of all kinds, most have no advertising budget. The press asks only for fair consideration. When money is to be made through advertising, the press is entitled to be paid for its services.

There are two classes of free advertising seekers, viz., the possessors or representatives of wealth who figure that their own estimate of their own importance will outweigh the press, the most that is the timid who have no faith in themselves, ideas, wares or products but hope to ride in the expense of somebody else. Both classes are unding the press is no longer conducted without a cost system. The fair, square, open and aboveboard advertising is a business and there are certain things money is needed for, such as wages, overhead, living expenses, and then of course there is the paper itself. Yet many had an idea the press lived by good deeds alone. The Herald tells you that running a paper is no Garden of Eden existence.

And so does The Courier.

SMITH'S COVE

Mrs. J. S. Shoenberger has gone to Massachusetts to spend the winter.

Mrs. Elsie Sturge has sold her residence here. Mr. Thompson, of Moncton, is the purchaser. Although regretting very much the removal of Mrs. Sturge from our midst, yet she is a warm welcome to new neighbors.

Mrs. Hazel Snow spent the week-end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Snow, at their home on the farm near the Normal College, Truro, and is now engaged in teaching at Port Lorne, Annapolis Co.

On the 14th, Home Division Sons of Temperance celebrated the 80th anniversary of the founding of the Order in North America. At 10 o'clock a goodly number of the members gathered at the Temperance Hall, and forming in procession in full regalia, marched to the United Baptist Church, where seats had been reserved for them, and where a large gathering listened to a very interesting Temperance address by the new pastor, Rev. Mr. Little.

There has been quite a boom in building here this season. Spurgeon Weir, who recently sold his house and part of his large farm, is putting up a new residence. Arthur Corwell is also erecting another fine residence on his property. George Spidley has built a very attractive cottage home adjoining his hotel property. A very neat little home has been built near the Bear River station by Mr. McKinnon. Mr. Thornton has finished a new bungalow on his property, and has already started on a second. A new summer residence has been built on the Lagan property.

W. B. Snow has recently returned from a five months trip to Eastern Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island in connection with his labors as co-pastor for the Canadian Bible Society. During this trip he travelled more than twenty-five miles by water, and visited 2,779 families, and leaving behind him those homes about four thousand copies of the Scriptures. He will spend a little time at his home here, and then take up work in Western Nova Scotia. Mr. Snow has spent more than twenty-five years in Bible College work in Eastern Canada and the New England States, and for some years past has been on the staff of Rev. Dr. Cooper, of Toronto, the General Secretary of the Canadian Bible Society of the British and Foreign Bible Society.

Mrs. Chester Woodman (who so recently met with the sad loss of her husband) will travel with two small children, for a few days ago for the United States, where she planned to sail for her former home in Scotland.

You Need More Than A Laxative

To correct constipation, all organs of digestion and elimination should be helped. Try NR and see how much better you feel.

NR Today—Keeps the Doctor Away

To live and be healthy, your body must be kept in perfect condition. It is not enough to eat good food, extract all the nourishment from it and promptly throw out the waste that is left. This is accomplished by the processes of digestion, assimilation and elimination. The work of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels is to do the work properly. If any of these organs fail, the body is in danger. A laxative will give you a false sense of relief, but it does not correct the condition. It only gives you a few hours of comfort, but the constipation returns. If you are used to taking a laxative, you know that you are not taking the time to correct the condition. If you stick to any one laxative, you are not to be thorough in the work all the time. That can do you a lot of harm. Stop doing yourself with such things. Buy Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and see how much better you feel. It is not a laxative, it is a medicine. It corrects the condition that causes constipation and gives you real, lasting benefit to improve your digestion and assimilation, give you a good healthy appetite, regulate your liver and bowels, tone up kidney, and give you a good clean body. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is not harsh; it is mild, easy, pleasant in action, and it is thorough and sure. By its action on the digestive organs it promotes assimilation, which means extraction of all nourishment from your food. Nature's Remedy gives you strength, energy, better blood, and a healthy liver. It is a medicine that is stirring your lazy liver. NR sends out the intestine, improving internal circulation. Laxative by itself encourages more vigorous blood and kidney action. NR drives poisonous impurities out of and cleans up your body. Try Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and see how much better you feel. Culloden Election

ON MY NOMINATION PAPER are the signatures of ratepayers from every section of the district of Culloden. It is the largest signed nomination in the history of the district and carries the assurance that the people wish to elect me their representative in the Municipal Council. No ring, no clique, no one man or group of little men have had anything to do with my nomination. An investigation of my record will convince you that I possess every qualification necessary. Please remember there are conditions confronting Culloden and Digby county which makes this election more than of ordinary importance. During the next few years there will arise occasions that will test the courage and the knowledge of the new council, and you will agree with me that the present burden of taxation can only be lessened by the application of tried business principles to the conduct of municipal affairs. I believe wholeheartedly and absolutely in all of the people and I wish to assure you that when you vote for Hillman, you are voting for Culloden and justice for all.

Respectfully,
JAS. F. HILLMAN

THE QUAKER PRODUCTS.

Upwards of a million dollars is spent annually in advertising the products of the Quaker Mills. The Quaker Mills are the finest and most modern in the world. Their goods are sold in all civilized countries of the globe. Over 50,000 cars are utilized annually to distribute their products. The harvest from 1,000,000 acres is used each year for the manufacture of Quaker Oats alone. Laid end to end the packages of Quaker Oats sold each year would extend through the centre of the earth and project into space 5,000 miles beyond. The wonderful increase in flour sales and the world wide distribution of the various products manufactured by this company is a tribute to their Quaker, which depicts "Simple Homestead".

In 1916 their fine mill at Peterborough, Ontario was burned and was immediately replaced by what is considered the finest and most modern flour and cereal mill in America.

Visitors to Peterborough are cordially invited to call on them and see for themselves why Quaker Mills products are so popular.

Wedding Bells

An event of much interest took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jones, Methuen, Mass., on Tuesday morning, Oct. 10th, when Mrs. Jones' sister, Mrs. Margaret Clark, became the wife of Burpee Marshall of South Range, Digby County, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Marshall of that place. Rev. Arthur Jones, of Digby, officiated. Only the near relatives of both parties were present. The bride looked stunning in a gown of navy blue crepe metror with delicate trimmings and unattended. Immediately after the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's traveling suit was of new grey cloth with large black hat of pan velvet. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome wrist watch. A reception was held Wednesday evening at South Range at the home of the groom's parents, where quite a number gathered to welcome and extend congratulations to the newlyweds. The many gifts, mostly of silver, were beautiful and costly testifying to the popularity of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall on their return will for the present reside in Brookline, Mass.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Patrick's Church on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock when Rev. Father Samuels united in marriage Viola Maund, daughter of William Winchester, to Frederick James DeLaney, Miss Florence DeLaney, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid, and Mr. Melanson, cousin of the groom, acted as best man. The bride wore a very becoming navy blue tailored suit, gray hat and brown fur and carried a white prayer book. Mrs. Leon Eldridge, president of the church, gave the benediction. The ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents. A full choir was in attendance and during the ceremony Miss Agate and Mrs. Eldridge sang "O Promise me". The church was decorated by the bride's many friends, with autumn leaves and an abundance of flowers. The happy couple immediately after the ceremony motored to Weymouth, returning to Digby for lunch and then left on the S. S. Aragon for St. John. From there they will continue to Boston and New Hampshire, and after spending three weeks away will return to Digby to reside on Warwick Street. Many beautiful gifts were received by the bride, including cut glass and silver. On Thursday last week a surprise party was given at the home of the bride's parents. The party was very successful and when she received many useful and pretty gifts.

Obituary

At an early hour Monday morning of last week the angel of death entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Duke, who had been ill for some time. He was taken to his home in Yarmouth on Wednesday accompanied by his daughter, E. H. Nichols. Mr. Duke was a native of St. John, N.S., and had been in Yarmouth for several months. He was a very kind and amiable man, and was much missed by his school companions at Smith's Cove where he formerly lived. The funeral which was largely attended was held at his late home, Conway, on Thursday and conducted by Rev. J. H. Copeland of Weymouth. The hymns sung at the service were chosen by the deceased, and was expressive of his hope for a bright future. The community expressed their sympathy for the family.

Douglas Brown, a well known resident of North End St. John, passed away this week in the Hospital, after an illness of ten weeks. He had been in failing health for some time and it was decided that an operation was necessary. He was successful and until a week ago he seemed to be improving, but a change for the worse set in and death resulted. He was seventy years of age and he was born in St. John. For sixty years he conducted a shoe and repair shop in the West End. He is survived by six sons: John in San Francisco; Douglas R. of Newcastle; N. B. Rev. Chester N. of Biddeford; E. J. Leonard, Charles E. and William of St. John; also two daughters, Mrs. Geo. Higgins and Mrs. E. J. Haines of St. John.

BRUTAL MURDER OF AGED MAN

Thomas Berry, an aged bachelor, living alone on his farm at Guinea, a mile and a half from Clementsfort, has been murdered. The crime was discovered Sunday morning but the deed was evidently committed between the dark of Thursday night and daylight Saturday morning. All evidence points to a crime of the most deliberate nature, and as ghastly as any recorded in this country. A mystery as impenetrable as the darkness of the night in which the deed was done enshrouds the slayer of Thomas Berry. Even the time it was committed is in doubt, and there is the most general suspicion as to motive—that of theft. All that is known is that some time between dark Thursday night, and ten o'clock Saturday morning, Thomas Berry was hacked to death by an axe in the hands of some unknown person or persons. His body was found face down lying in a pool of blood on his kitchen floor, his arms outstretched beyond his head, his head smashed and the left side of his face broken and crushed, his back and shoulders bruised and blood soaked and his hands, the palms down as his arms were stretched out eaten by the rats. This latter would indicate that he had been dead many hours, in fact that evidence alone supports what the neighbors believe, that Thomas Berry came to his death during the long dark hours of Thursday night. That through the storm of Friday, when the snow fell, it fell as a shroud for the dead man lying in the kitchen of his humble home, while the rats gnawed at his flesh that the activities of Saturday and his neighbors going to and fro did not disturb Thomas Berry and the lowering of the hungry cattle in his barn on Saturday night did not arouse the old man who used to feed and stall them every evening.

FOUGHT FOR HIS LIFE.
But he was not an unconsenting victim of his death. There are many signs in the kitchen of the farm house that the four men died in a desperate effort to save his life. Whoever the murderer or murderers were must have found their aged victim a vigorous antagonist, for all about the kitchen, from the doorway where it is evident he was first attacked, to every corner of the room, there are signs of the titanic struggle for life and death—and death conquered—in the end.

Thomas Berry was last seen alive about six o'clock Thursday evening, so far as any one has yet come forward to tell. He had been into Clementsfort to make one or two purchases, and with the team of oxen left there for Guinea about five-thirty. Guinea is a small farm hamlet lying off the road which leads up the course of the moose River. It consists of half a dozen or more of scattered farm houses. One near from Clementsfort, live Mr. Boudreau and Simon Frok. Mr. Berry stopped about six o'clock to talk with these men, and after a few minutes started up his oxen and disappeared in the darkness of the unlighted country road. That was the last seen of Thomas Berry, except by the one who murdered him. Friday was a day of storm, early but almost unrelenting snowfall kept the farmers within their premises. No one was seen moving around Thomas Berry's place, but that was not unusual, the bachelor was a retiring man and few people ever called, and he seldom went elsewhere. The darkness of another night settled over the farm.

SAW BODY ON THE FLOOR.
Evidence of Mrs. Edmund Berry, sister-in-law of the murdered man, living on the opposite side of the road, given at the Coroner's inquest intimates that she might have seen a light in the farm-house Friday evening. She was not sure however for she, like many others, gave little thought to the lonely old man Saturday night. The neighboring farmers, busy with their own interests and cares and duties, paid no attention to the Thomas Berry place. Perhaps he may have gone away early in the morning, and may not be back until late tonight, and the first they thought, Saturday night, and the farmers and farmer's wives, weary with their week's work, were early asleep.

During the night, members of the Edmund Berry household were sometime awakened by the howling and stamping of cattle in the barn of Thomas Berry on the opposite side of the road, but they slept again. In the morning, however, the noise of the cattle continued, and Mrs. Berry going out to the same locality as to her brother-in-law's house. There was no smoke from the chimney. "Why, I come to think of it, I do not believe I saw any smoke there yesterday," she pondered. "I wonder if Thomas would be ill and while thinking of this, a veiled colored man passed up the road—Leander Guy, a cobbler by trade, living in Clementsfort, but a frequent visitor to the countryside. Mrs. Edmund Berry hailed him and asked him if he would go to Thomas Berry's house, for she feared something might have happened to the old man."

Guy went across the road, and looking into the window of the bedroom, which is on the ground level, the house being a humble one storey farm cottage, he did not see anything of the inmate. Going around to the back door of the house he looked through the window and saw the body of a man lying in a pool of blood. He rushed back to Mrs. Berry, who by this time was joined by her husband and called out what he found. Mr. Berry then accompanied the negro back to the house, and kept the same until eight o'clock. They did not enter the house then, but drove immediately to Clementsfort and reported the murder to Magistrate Forbes Tupper.

WHOLE COUNTRYSIDE AROUSED.

Magistrate Tupper, in turn advised Dr. Braine, of Annapolis-Royal, the Coroner, and they together went to Guinea. By this time the whole countryside was aroused, and neighbors were standing around, peering into the windows of the dead man's house, and talking in subdued whispers as the pall of the awful tragedy came over them. No one entered the house. Coroner Braine accompanied a jury, and in the morning sent to Bear River for Drs. Campbell and Macdon to hold an inquest. The inquest of the Coroner was held on Thursday morning, and came to his death at the hands of some person or persons unknown.

The autopsy suggested that Mr. Berry had died about thirty-six hours before, setting the time of death from noon Sunday, "all it were so," the neighbors say, "then Mr. Berry was murdered about 12 o'clock on Friday night, or after midnight Saturday morning." This they say would not be consistent with his well-known habits of retiring early. The doctors say that it requires forty-eight hours for rigor mortis to be complete, and after it has set in following death, and rigor mortis was still evident in Thomas Berry's body when examined by them this morning.

WHEN WAS HE MURDERED

To get a mental picture of the tragedy one must fix in their mind some hour when Thomas Berry was murdered. For the purpose it might be said that the crime was committed soon after Mr. Berry arrived home from Clementsfort last Thursday evening. When in Clementsfort he had visited the Post Office and received a post card, and then at the station where the post office is located, the delivery of a plough which had been sent to him. This plough point was found behind the door of his kitchen, where he evidently placed it when he entered the house Thursday night, and neighbors who knew him best, say that Mr. Berry would not have allowed that plough point to remain in his kitchen overnight, but would have immediately fixed it to his plough to see if it suited him.

The card which he received at the Post Office, and which was from the firm from whom he had purchased the plough point, advised him they had shipped it in the care of the Postmaster and general merchant at Clementsfort. The card was found on the corner of the kitchen table, where neighbors say that he must have placed it when he came in—another evidence they say that he was murdered Thursday night.

Owing to the petty thieving of which he had been a victim, Mr. Berry was very careful about locking the door of his house. The kitchen opened into a small porch at the back of the house, and this porch opened out of doors. He had a padlock which he used for the locking of the kitchen door either inside or out. When he was away it was on the outside of the door, when he put it on the inside. On investigation of the scene of the murder this padlock was found hanging on the hazy on the outside of the door indicating that Mr. Berry must have had time to adjust the lock, or he intended going out again and left it remain. His overcoat was found over the back of a chair.

DETECTIVE AT THE SCENE.

Referring again to the time of death there are two other factors to be considered or dismissed. One is the body of the victim. There was little to be contributed to the time of his death by the condition of the bed, for it was seldom made up, and the fact that it was in a disturbed condition this morning would not indicate that he had slept in it Friday night for it had probably not been made up for several days at least.

The other factor is the clothing the victim was wearing at the time he was killed. He had taken off his overcoat and laid it on a chair, but was otherwise fully dressed, and had on heavy lumberman's boots.

After the Coroner and jury had viewed the remains of the victim and the scene of the crime, the body was removed to Edmund Berry's house on the other side

BIRDS INCREASED IN CANADA

With few exceptions migratory game fowl have increased to a marked degree in Canada during the last season according to reports received by Commissioner J. B. Harkin, of the Canadian National Parks from migratory bird officers and wardens all over the Dominion. In the east owing to the heavy rainfall and late breeding season certain species did not hatch with as great success as in previous years, but the western province reports increase in practically all species. All remarkable feature of the census being taken of the increase of bird life under the Migratory Birds Convention Act is the widespread increase in Black ducks. All over the Dominion there appear to be unprecedented numbers of these birds and in some sections of New Brunswick especially they are reported to have appeared in exceptional flocks on the rivers and inland retreats. Cormorants, gulls, terns, cranes, Canada geese, brant and plovers have all shown marked increases while in certain sections Elder duck have returned to breeding grounds heretofore abandoned. Nova Scotia also reports an increase in its waterfowl, although the heavy rains in certain sections caused the loss of many eggs and young. However, in other parts large broods were successfully reared, one duck being noticed with as many as twenty-four ducklings. A similar increase is reported from Prince Edward Island. In Quebec the Elder ducks did not do well, in many localities no broods being raised owing to the unreasonable weather. However all other species of waterfowl hatched successfully. In Ontario, as well as in the other eastern provinces, shorebirds are scarce. Black ducks, mallards, green-winged teals, mergansers, loons and wood ducks have been seen in large numbers. All through the west migratory birds show an increase, with the waterfowl leading the way. In Manitoba mallards and black ducks are abundant, while in Saskatchewan geese have been seen in large numbers. Alberta's wild fowl is expected to report a good season.

CELLAR WINTERING THE STORAGE OF VEGETABLES

(Experimental Farm Note.)
In all parts of Canada there is a need for protection from the wind and cold during the winter months. There are two methods by which this protection can be supplied; either by packing the colonies in special outside wintering cases or by placing them in a cellar. Although cellar wintering is gaining in popularity, cellar wintering will give excellent results in any part of Canada where the conditions in the cellar are such that they will prevent the need from wearing themselves out with too much activity; and is advisable in the more northern localities where the winter weather is usually very severe. The cellar for bees, no matter whether it is built especially for the purpose or partitioned off from the cellar beneath the beekeeper's residence, should be one that is well insulated against the variations of the outside temperature and also be maintained at a temperature of about 48° F. throughout the winter. It should also be dry in order that there is no condensation of moisture at any time and fitted so that it can be ventilated when necessary. Bees to be wintered in the cellar will require less stores than those wintered outside but these stores must be of the best, containing as little indigestible matter as possible or the bees may die of dysentery before the spring. Clover honey or sugar syrup is the best food for cellar wintered bees. The bees should be brought into the cellar immediately after the last cleansing flight which is usually about the first week in November. It is far better to put the bees in a week or two before the last opportunity of a flight than to leave them exposed to the cold that is not followed by a cleansing flight. If the temperature is sufficiently low there will be no need for closing the hive entrances when bringing them in. The hives should be carried as carefully as possible, with little disturbance to the bees and they should be placed in empty hive bodies or other stands of similar size in tiers of four high. The covers of the hives need not be removed. The entrances should be left open full width but if there is a danger from mice getting into the hive the entrance may be covered with screening with 3 inch mesh. No white light should be given in the cellar. Dead bees may be cleaned up from the floor at intervals but there must not be any disturbance to the colonies at any time. If the cellar is properly constructed the bees will require no further attention during the winter.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one effective remedy, and that is CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MEDICINE. It is a constitutional remedy, and it is the only one that can be placed at regular intervals of about four feet to prevent possible high temperature and consequent wrinkling in the pile. Two five-pipet boards for two of the sides should be used in the cellar. Dead bees may be cleaned up from the floor at intervals but there must not be any disturbance to the colonies at any time. If the cellar is properly constructed the bees will require no further attention during the winter.

(Experimental Farm Note.)
The storage of vegetables is not satisfactory in a great many cellars, because the temperature is kept too high. There is a natural desire to keep the cellar warm, of course, because this materially aids in maintaining comfortable rooms above. The warm cellar, however, particularly if the floor is of cement, has a dry atmosphere which is detrimental to the storage of vegetables. On the other hand, if the cellar is warm and moist, growth and rotting are more likely to take place. The dry, warm cellar is favorable to the storage of squash and pumpkins only and not suitable for vegetables other than these. Temperature is really the prime factor in the successful storage of vegetables. A temperature slightly above freezing will carry all vegetables in fresh condition for the longest period and with the minimum of loss. It is wise to have the vegetable storage room separate from the main cellar. This room should have connections with the outside through which a free circulation of outside air may be maintained, probably by an open cellar screened with cotton wool to be quite satisfactory until cold weather sets in, when, of course, additional protection would be necessary. A glass window hinged on the inside is closed after the first of December whenever necessary to prevent too low a temperature, the cotton cloth still remaining on the outside for use in warm weather. Such a plan has been followed by the writer in storing the home supply of vegetables and has given every satisfaction. The larger the quantity of vegetables the better the ventilation required. With a large quantity it is better to have separate openings for the cool air inlet and the warm air outlet, one at a greater height than the other, thus facilitating the circulation of the air. If the cellar is such that wilting of the vegetables is likely to take place because of the dryness of the air, protection of the produce by sawdust may be given them. There is little danger of wilting if a free circulation of outside air, thus keeping up the humidity, is maintained.

(Experimental Farm Note.)
For onion and cabbage storage nothing seems to be as suitable as slat-bottomed shelves, one foot deep for onions and two feet for cabbage, placing about ten inches of onions or two rows of cabbage to a shelf. Celery demands a cool and moderately dry atmosphere for best storage. The roots should be covered with damp sand and the whole so arranged that the sand may be watered occasionally in order to keep the plants from wilting. Four bunches together may be placed upright in a row, with sand covering the roots, and a space a foot wide left between the bunches and the next row. This space affords a suitable path for watering. In no case should water be poured on the plants as dampness on the foliage favors the development of rot. Good circulation of air is important in order to prevent dampness on the foliage. An earth floor is much better for celery than a cement one, consequently a cement floor should be covered to a greater depth with earth before putting these vegetables thereon. A small patch of paraffin should be left in the ground for spring use. These should be dug as soon as the frost is out and stored in a cool cellar with a covering of sawdust or sand. Leeks may be stored in the same way as celery. A patch of this should be left for spring use. It should be dug early and stored in a cool cellar in damp sand in the same manner as advised for storing celery in the fall.

ABAY OF FUNDY TREASURE STORY

Wreck of Vessel with "Gold"
Curious stories are told among the sailors and fishermen of the Bay of Fundy concerning wrecks and the loss of precious treasure carried in their cargo. A favorite tale told by the fishermen of Digby Neck, Nova Scotia, is one relating to the big Hiram, which was wrecked at Trout Cove, January 13, 1817, sailing from Bermuda to New York. A portion of the cargo carried by the big Hiram consisted of English and Spanish gold coin—the profit from several years trading in the West Indies. When the vessel struck, the captain and the crew saw their opportunity to swim ashore. The sailors sprang into the water and with little difficulty made shore and safety, but the captain, filled with the lust for gold, tied a heavy sack containing the gold coins to his waist. The weight of the coin dragged him down into the depths of the sea as he made his attempt to reach shore, and he perished. The little cove at this time boasted one humble fisherman's home, which hospitably opened its doors to the wrecked sailor. In the days that followed the fisherman's family diligently searched the waters and the rocks of the cove, and with their treasure trove in their salvaging of gold coin. Tradition tells that the salvagers, hoarding their booty, secretly moved away from the cove, and with their treasure invested in a fertile farm. Fishermen of Centerville, Digby Neck, told today how a treasure of English and Spanish gold coin still lies below low tide at Trout Cove, and within a few years one of the oldest legends of the province is being discovered among the rocks two gold pieces, which he treasures as rare souvenirs.

ASHORE IN BRIER ISLAND.

Schooner Eskimo went ashore on Briar Island last week and was badly damaged, according to a dispatch received here Friday night from the underwriters by Capt. A. J. Mulcahy of St. John, who has lost her deck, masts, running rigging and part of her sails. Capt. Mulcahy went to Briar Island the first of the week to look the vessel over. The cargo is insured. The Eskimo was on her way from Bay of Fundy port to the United States with lumber at the time of the grounding.

Mrs. Susan Craigie, of Norway, Me., conducted a class in comforters at the Methodist Episcopal Church. She has been an instructor for 65 years.

With eight inch pieces of laths spaced one inch apart for the other two sides, make a fine ventilating shaft for a root pipe. This shaft is placed on end resting on the floor, the warm air flows readily to it and escapes thereby. Bins four feet wide made of five or six inch boards spaced one inch apart and nailed to each side of the upright studding will serve the same purpose and in addition will separate the various lots. For onion and cabbage storage nothing seems to be as suitable as slat-bottomed shelves, one foot deep for onions and two feet for cabbage, placing about ten inches of onions or two rows of cabbage to a shelf. Celery demands a cool and moderately dry atmosphere for best storage. SEE THAT YOU USE PROPER POSTAGE STAMPS

Post Office authorities find that quite a proportion of our letters addressed to Great Britain and Ireland are sent without sufficient postage in postage stamps. Now, if such letters have not enough postage on them it means that twice the missing amount has to be collected from those to whom the letters are addressed, when they are delivered in the other country, and complaint is frequently made to the Post Office Department that our Canadian people do not seem to know the right amount of postage to put on their letters, and the people making the complaint state that they are taxed for our ignorance. It is highly desirable that they should have no further excuse to reproach Canadians on this score, and that by the exercise of a little more care on the part of those who have been causing the trouble, all ground for irritation and unpleasantness of this kind may be avoided. As most people are aware, the rate of postage on letters mailed in Canada for points in Great Britain, Ireland, France and Mexico is three cents for the first ounce and two cents for each additional ounce. For letters mailed in the United States, or any other part of the British Empire, Newfoundland, New Zealand, Australia, South Africa, etc., is four cents for the first ounce, and three cents for each additional ounce, and for letters to all other countries the rate is ten cents for the first ounce, and five cents for each additional ounce. As stated above, it is in compliance with letters from Great Britain and other parts of the Empire, and for foreign countries, that trouble is experienced.

SCHOONER RUBY SOLD TO PARTIES IN CLARK'S HAR.

Schooner Ruby is at Ingonport discharging a cargo of lumber from Belliveau's Cove. Leaving the Digby county port in command of her former owner, Captain William Burns, of St. John, the vessel put out to Yarmouth. As previously announced, this vessel was under option to Captain B. C. Newell and others of Clark's Harbor. On arrival in Yarmouth, Captain Burns was met by Captain Newell, who purchased the Ruby and cargo outright, assuming immediate control and command of the vessel, after the necessary customs requirements, re-transfer, etc., had been made out and signed. Captain Newell took his crew with him to Yarmouth, where he is engaged to part and after discharging the lumber cargo he will keep the vessel busy in the eastward trade. When acquired by Captain Burns a year ago from Captain (N. B.) parties, the schooner was fitted with twin 16 h. p. motors which gave the vessel good speed and made her a very convenient craft for any trade. She is 53 tons net.

MINERALS AND MINING INDUSTRIES

Canada possesses wonderful assets in her mineral resources, and her development with contributions to a large measure to the prosperity of the country. The success attending the opening of the mines in Northern Ontario, British Columbia, and the work done in Manitoba has awakened public interest in the great possibilities of the future. To convey some idea to the public at large, of the importance of our mines, the varied character of our mineral deposits and the remarkable possibilities of our undeveloped areas the Department of Resources of the Canadian National Railways, Toronto, has issued a pamphlet on "Mineral and Mining Industries" dealing with the physical features of the country, the various mining areas and the metallic and non-metallic minerals contained in the various provinces. One of the instructive and interesting features of this work is that it gives information as to the many applications in the industries and arts. It also gives reference to various publications of the Department of Mines, both Dominion and Provincial, bearing upon the subject.

AN EDITORS INVOICE.

A weekly paper is the property of the community in which it is published, and not an organ in which one or two men stir their views. Everyone has or should have, a kind of proprietary interest in it—a personal interest, for often it tells of that which vitally affects you, according to the Calpeper (Va) Star. Very true, but right underneath this notice we glimpse the following from the Milton (N. D.) Globe which both urban and rural editors can recognize as a warning. Maurice, slip in another reel! An editor once kept track of his profits and losses during the year and gives an inventory of his liabilities there at the end of twelve months of the ups and downs in the following manner: Been lashed 2 times. Trained the public 2 times. Told lies 2 times. Sold newspapers 42 times. Been roasted 11 times. Washed others 52 times. Washed others 52 times. Mistaken for a pariah 6 times. Mistaken for a preacher 11 times. Got whipped 1 times. Whipped others 9. Cash on hand at beginning $147. Cash on hand at ending 13c. (Florida Times-Union) Prisoners in the Washenau County Jail in Ann Arbor, Michigan, gained weight during the last year, and made that coat eight cents each. Several cases were cited by the sheriff where long-term prisoners had gained as much as 30 pounds.

Digby, November 3rd, 1922

When one picks a snake in alcohol it becomes a specimen—a horrible one; the same thing is equally true of man when he picks himself in alcohol.

Church Sympathy.

Rev. F. McCavoy, well known in Digby, addressing a labor meeting in Glace Bay, assured working men that the church sympathizes with them. Sympathy from where? The source is right and proper if deserved. But sympathy which goes no farther than mere expressions of sentiment is not worth very much whether it is deserved or not.

The church has tremendous opportunity to serve labor. It stands for justice and righteousness. It can insist on fair play and the square deal, but in so doing must not compromise itself, rather bring mind to comprehend and conscience to recognize what is just and what is righteous. The church cannot "water" without destroying its power for good. When the church becomes incapable of good its mission on earth is ended.

The mission of the church is to serve—to serve here and now. The greater the need of its service the greater its obligation. Yet the source must never be given as Christ gave—not to increase self-power or self-aggrandizement, but to benefit those needing service. Christ taught that it is more blessed to give than to receive. Human expression has proven that he who would live must give life to others—that is, contentment and happiness—the left hand not knowing what the right hand is doing.

Indeed the church must render practical, material service to justify its existence. It must serve even the least of men to serve its founder. Real help and genuine assistance, is needed by millions of people who labor and whose desperate problems solved unaided, are almost certain to involve the welfare of all. Let the church do its duty, and society will soon gain greater stability and tranquility.

We often make the mistake of keeping and coddling our pleasant enemy, and casting out our honest and truthful friend.

Satan Finds Some Mischief Still.

The church that neglects its young peoples societies is like the home that neglects the children. The church members and the ministers who are so busy caring for the interest of the adult members as to have no time to attend to the growing members of the flock are like parents who have so many social duties that they are compelled to leave their children to care for themselves and like Topsy they "just grow up." The future church and the future home in either case show a similar fate. None of the town churches are at present putting themselves to any trouble in carrying out young peoples work, and it is regrettable. We understand that in one or two cases it has been put up to the governing bodies—which by the way are made up of people who have forgotten they were once young—but the almighty dollar has been held so close to their eyes that they have not seen the young folks behind it.

If you're never impolite to people, you'll come day have to outdo your politeness to them when you want a favor.

Time Something Was Done.

For some months this town has been going from bad to worse as far as booze conditions are concerned. It is notorious that there are a number of booze joints in town the owners of which are growing rich from their illicit traffic, and surely evidence could be obtained sufficient to convict. This week we have heard the names of five young boys from 15 to 17 years who have been ensnared in one of these joints and who have, in common language, "got full" on several occasions. Come, gentlemen of the town council, do something.

A friend is one who, in silence, knows what you are thinking, though he may not know what you are thinking about.

Nowadays farmers rarely pack the biggest apples in the top of the barrel. They "grade" apples, getting higher prices for the larger ones—setting an example to sellers of all products desiring large profits. "Business is business" has a new meaning.

On Tuesday evening the officers and teachers of Grace Methodist Sunday School made a surprise visit to the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Turnbull to honor to their son Milton who is leaving town for Washington this week. A most enjoyable evening was spent and interesting and amusing games were indulged in. Later in the evening the Rev. W. H. Wallis called the company to order and presented a very fine club bag to Milton Turnbull on behalf of his fellow officers and teachers. In making the presentation Mr. Wallis intended to do three things. First to express appreciation of the faithful and efficient service rendered as Sunday School Secretary for several years. Second to wish him God's speed and every success in the completion of his studies. Third to always remind him of his friends who would be thinking of him and wishing the best for him in every way. Mr. Turnbull who was completely taken by surprise, bestly responded. Mr. Smith of St. John's N. B. then made a few very splendid remarks, after which refreshments were served. Our friend Milton will we hope always have pleasant recollections of Hallowe'en 1922.

AN OPEN LETTER TO PARENTS

To the parents of Digby:
Do you know that many young boys were seen on the streets of our pretty little town on Hallowe'en night actually making amusements games? Do you know where your own boy was that evening and many other evenings of late? Do you know where he goes and what he does every evening? Is there any real good place of amusement for your boy if he goes out at night? Is there any place in town that you would wish to find your boy tonight, if so take a look and see if he is there. Somebody's boys are getting into mischief—somebody's boys are getting dirty and it is just what that one of those boys is your boy. Entertain him at home or go out with him and you may still be able to save him from the evils of the streets.

Hoping this may warn the unwary.
The Mother of One.
(Referring to the above letter the Courier has been told the names of six young boys who were more or less under the influence of liquor Tuesday night. The parents of several of them are Op-dressed people who would be suffering agonies of heart and mind if they knew that their boy was among them—Editor Courier.)

LAST NIGHT'S CONCERT

The concert in the Methodist Hall last evening was, if possible a greater success than the one last given by Miss Phillips. Every number was so well rendered that to name any one specially as best were impossible. The orchestra started off with a swing and its various selections were unusually fine. Mrs. W. N. Allan's (of Yarmouth) readings were perhaps the most genuine treat of the evening owing to her unimpeachable style and personality and her generosity in responding to the repeated clamorous applause.

The various songs given by L. E. Potter, of Weymouth, displayed his fine voice to advantage and were received with much enthusiasm by the audience. The male quartette received with their usual well rendered selections. Misses Ruth Snow and Margaret Handspiker played a very pleasing piano duet, while the vocal duet by the Misses Mahel and Frances Phillips at the close of the program was in itself worth many times the admission fee and much gratitude is due them for such a splendid entertainment.

Automobile Owners, Attention!

HAVE you thought about that overhauling your car needs during the winter months to put it in proper condition for next summer's work?

The time is drawing near. Meanwhile we want to tell you we are better prepared; than ever to do your repairs quickly, permanently, and at least possible cost to the owner. Above all, our work is guaranteed when done on our principles. There is also a new flat rate system enforced by the manufacturers by which all Chevrolet repairs have fixed charges thereby preventing owners from being overcharged.

Please give us the opportunity to quote you our new rate per hour for overhauling work, and to give you our estimate on work you may have.

Our line of work includes Boring and Reaming Cylinders, Fitting various Oversize Parts, Making Tops and Painting Running Gear.

We appreciate your patronage during the past months.

Yours truly

CHANGE CAME FROM "DRECO"

Halifax fisherman is free of stomach trouble giving all credit to new Herbal Remedy.

Many remarkable reports have been received concerning the great success of "Dreco." Among others, Mr. Joe Sampson, living at 35 Upper Water Street Halifax has sent us the following signed statement for publication:

"I have suffered for a long time with my stomach. Was always dizzy and felt tired all the time. I was subject to dizzy spells. I had pains in my side. I was so nervous at times I had to go home from work."

"I spent a lot of money on pills and medicine, but one bottle of Dreco has proven that it is the one medicine for me. I do not take pills any more and I am not bothered with gas in my stomach. I want all my friends to know what a fine medicine Dreco is so that they can take it too."

The above statement tells its own story more than anything else. After much experimenting with different kinds of medicine, good, bad and indifferent, this fisherman says he found one medicine that had real virtue.

"Dreco" the medicine which wins such high praise from Mr. Sampson is a herbal compound made from roots, herbs, barks and leaves of the field. It is safe and pleasant to take.

THE PUBLISHERS' RESPONSIBILITY.

More and more difficult every day is the choice of good reading—the kind that nourishes the young and refines the old. One way to avoid mistakes is to choose the book or periodical that stands for something—that is not overvaluing supply, the sensational and silly. The Youth's Companion has always been published by men who felt a keen responsibility to their readers, and they have held steadfast to one purpose—to familiarize Companion readers with the best things in the world, and by means of original articles and stories to illustrate the truth that the practice of the old, homey virtues brings the greatest satisfaction in life. Try it for a year and see—

The 52 issues of 1923 will be crowded with serial stories, short stories, editorials, poetry, facts and fun. Subscribe now and receive:

ROD AND GUN

Sportsmen and lovers of the outdoors ought to find a lot of solid pleasure in the pages of the November issue of Rod and Gun in Canada. The usual collection of stories, articles and features is not only extensive and generous, as usual, but it is of particularly high quality as well. Raymond Thompson is the author of a thrilling tale, entitled, "The Scourge of God," while "Madagascar" is a charmingly illustrated article that is full of interest. The departments are all instructive and well-balanced. A feature is a complete table of the trapping laws of the provinces of the dominion, while the Trap Line Department, edited by M. U. Bates, offers a wealth of valuable information which the trapper will not want to miss.

Rod and Gun in Canada is published monthly at Woodstock, Ontario by W. J. Taylor, Limited.

Here is a wrinkle for a tea maker. Measure out less when you use Mores than you were doing when you used other teas. The point is, Mores's tea, good, makes more cups to the pound. Good tea too, is Mores's the best you can get in any part of the world.

A plan is being considered in Detroit, Mich., which will enable that city to test the mentality of prospective automobile drivers.

Steam

He Could Hardly Swing A Sledge Says Knickle. LEGAL WEIGHTS FOR SALE OF PRODUCE

"Four bottles of Tanlac, put me in such fine shape I can do a hard day's work and still feel fresh at quitting time," declared Ernest Knickle, a well-known young blacksmith residing at Pelham street, Lunenburg, N. S.

"I suffered terribly from stomach trouble and was so badly run down and weak that sometimes it was almost more than I could do to swing my sledge. I would have such awful pains in the pit of my stomach after eating that it would almost double me up like a horse shoe, and my food felt like a lump of iron in my stomach. Gas bloated me up terribly and I would be dreadfully nauseated. I couldn't sleep well, lost my appetite entirely and got in mighty bad shape all around."

"A lady who had been sick in bed before she took Tanlac was telling our neighbors what a grand medicine it was, so I thought I would give it a trial. Well, it simply did me of all my troubles, and you can bet that if I ever get back in that condition Tanlac is the first thing I'll go after."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Two elderly sisters, of Augusta, Me., have $2,500 that they knew nothing about. Forty years ago they made a small deposit in one of the local banks and then forgot the bank-book. A friend helping them on their accounts has found the bank-book.

Provided that when any of the foregoing vegetables are offered for sale with top leaves attached, the commonly termed by the trade "green vegetables," or when potatoes are sold or offered for sale by the closed barrel, this section shall not apply to same.

DIGBY NOVA SCOTIA

A LETTER FROM MR. HATT

Dear Digby Friends, especially the Guides and Scouts. This is the first opportunity I have had to write. My life in Toronto thus far has been a very busy one, as I shall explain.

I was deeply touched by the send off the boys and girls gave us. I miss them very much. When I see Guides and Scouts in this city, as I often do, I feel that I would like to get close to them, but they do not know me as my own boys and girls knew me and I pass on a bit lonely in the crowd around me.

Frank Mayor and his mother gave me a delightful surprise visit a couple of weeks ago. They were getting ready for Muskoka where they will spend the winter, all but Ted. A few days ago Ted dropped into my office. I'll say I was some glad to see his sunny old head. The Methodist General Conference met in this city and the Conference Church was near my office. Rev. Mr. Croft came to see me. One Sunday I saw Rev. Mr. Barrett of Liverpool come into the Church to attend a service. I was to hear one of our strong preachers, Dr. John McNeil—and I gave him quite a surprise by slipping into the seat alongside of him.

To go back to our trip here. We all travelled in comfort and arrived safely and on time. We had only two days to get settled before we had to get into harness. We are living at 139 Alberta Avenue, a quiet and pretty part of the city. I have been exceedingly busy at the Book Room, getting acquainted with the routine and making such changes as seemed necessary.

Last week the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec met in Toronto, with a very large attendance, many of my old McMaster chums and friends were there and some whose friendship dated from my attendance at Worcester Academy over thirty years ago. I also met friends who had come from the far West. You may be sure this was all very delightful for me. Sometimes one will say "I heard you preach in Vancouver," and another will say "I heard you in Nova Scotia." Thus I have some old friends whose acquaintance I made here some from North East and West. Yet we often think of the dear Digby friends and long to see you all again.

I am wonderfully interested in all I read about the work of the Scouts. Perhaps I couldn't read behind and under and above and behind the lines in that account of the night at Culloden. The memories of a first night out are very vivid with me. Perhaps I was a bit too lenient and too ready to forgive misdeeds, yet if my errors as Scoutmaster were chiefly on that side I can be easily forgiven as I forgive. I trust that the new Scoutmaster will have the cooperation of the scouts and the confidence of their parents in all his efforts to discipline and train his troops.

I cannot close without a word regarding those whose faces we will see no more in this world. So many have gone. My sympathies go out to those who mourn and I pray that they may be comforted.

There are many other things that I might right about but I must not make this letter too long. If this one proves of interest I may write again. If any of our Digby friends are in Toronto we would like them to look us up. I met Mr. Crowe recently, picking him out in a crowded congregation. It is good to meet new people, but after all, "old friends are best."

Sincerely yours,

D. E. HATT,

223 Church St. Toronto, Ont.

NOTHING PROVED QUITE SO GOOD

Halifax Stevedore had Rheumatism for months.

Dreco Helped Him Wonderfully.

Since the introduction of Dreco in Nova Scotia never a day passes but someone comes in and speaks in the highest terms about it. Only a few days ago the following statement for publication was handed the Dreco expert.

Mr. A. Harris, 60 years old—stevedore, living at 142 Grafton Street Halifax, N. S. says:—
"I have lived all my life in this city and am well known on the waterfront. For the last eight months I have suffered terribly from Rheumatism in my shoulder. The Rheumatism was so painful I couldn't raise my left arm up above my head. But today is the first time I have really felt my old self, thanks to Dreco. After the first bottle I felt a change taking place and I am glad to recommend it to all my friends on the waterfront."
Dreco is made from the juices and extracts of many different herbs, barks, roots and leaves which act on the vital organs to restore them to perfect health and activity. It is excellent for aged persons.

Dreco is sold in Digby by P. W. Holdsworth and by good drug stores everywhere.

The bodies of two men and a woman were discovered at Rochester, New York, Monday, in an undertaker's rough box in the attic of a building in the downtown section there. The box was covered with dust and from all appearances had been stored in the place for several years. The discovery was made by workmen, who pried off the lid and then ran for help. The bodies were well preserved. The skeleton of a cat was found alongside the coffin. Police said the woman's body bore marks which indicated an assault or an operation.

DEAD TRAMP IDENTIFIED AS HALIFAX MAN

That the dead tramp discovered in an outhouse of the Weymouth North School was a resident of Halifax and was on his way to the West in search of employment, was the belief expressed by relatives in Halifax. The dead man hitherto unrecognized, is now believed to have been John Lowe who lived at 824 St. John Avenue in the Relief Houses on the Commons. Lowe came to Halifax some three years ago and formerly worked at Nolan's Stables on Queen Street. Those who knew him said that he was a hardworking industrious man, one of those caught in the depression and hard times, and was unable to earn sufficient money to support his wife and family of seven children who are destitute today.

Lowe was a Boer and during the South African War was one of those taken prisoner by the English. He was sent in company with other prisoners to Bermuda. After the war the rest of the prisoners were returned to their native land but through some mischance Lowe remained in Bermuda. He married an English girl there, a Miss Ethel Munroe. Three years ago the family went to Halifax. They were living on the exhibition grounds when they lost all their possessions and clothing in a fire and barely escaped with their lives.

Lowe sought work everywhere; he was industrious and honest but work was hard to get and when obtained was of an intermittent character. He did not speak a great deal of English and the largest salary he ever earned was $15.00 a week. His children range in age from 1 year to 13 years. It was impossible to supply them with food and clothing and pay the rent of the poor little home they occupied. Lowe had heard a great deal of the West and he began the long tramp with rosy dreams of his wife and family joining him in a kinder place than Halifax had proved. As he could not write English there was little possibility of his family hearing from him for some time.

The news that a man wearing such clothes as Lowe wore when he left home, was wanted in connection with the Berry murder, came as a shock to the waiting family. The next day word of the finding of a dead tramp's body in Weymouth North, came, if possible, as a more severe shock. Mrs. Lowe recognized the description of the unidentified man as fitting her husband; she also recognized the description of the clothing as fitting his. That the dead man was exonerated from all connection with the Berry murder mystery was no surprise to his wife, she had been confident that he could have no connection with such an affair.

The man's connection with the Berry murder was formed when a woman resident on North Range reported that following the crime a man had called at her farm and asked for food. His face was swollen and his wrists bore marks. He acted peculiarly. Detective Kennedy followed up the story, which came to an end the next morning when the body of the tramp was discovered in the outhouse of the school at Weymouth North. The man had died of pneumonia, which accounted for his swollen face, the coroner stated. He had some food with him. The weather, however, was cold, and Lowe—if it was

Lowe, had apparently fallen into a spring, as well as his clothes were wet when he was recovered. His rosy dreams of the West died in the little building near the school, when death claimed him in the night. Detective Kennedy was satisfied that the dead man had nothing to do with the Berry murder.

SOMETHING NEW AT HALIFAX

The G. W. V. A. are staging an innovation at Halifax during the week of November 13th-15th, in the shape of an "Ideal Home" Exhibition to be held in the Armouries.

Merchants featuring "home furnishings, etc.," are co-operating to make the exhibit an unqualified success. The Amusement-loving public are not overlooked, as there will be Radio-concerts broadcasted from the Armouries. N. Y. and a "Midway" of many attractions. Valuable door prizes are given away in connection with the general admission tickets.

These "veterans" are certainly a wide-awake and up-to-date in their method of helping us back to normal business and should be given every encouragement. All honor to them.

Halifax Woman Tells Of Big Change.

"The 'flu' pulled me down to where I was almost a skeleton and left me in such a miserable state of health that life seemed hardly worth living. My circulation was so weak that my limbs, hands and feet were actually blue. I could not keep a bite of solid food on my stomach and for a while mouth the only nourishment I could take was a small quantity of milk.

"Words can't describe how I suffered from indigestion. At times my heart would almost stand still and I simply had to fight for breath, and I had such bad dizzy spells that I could not see.

"Something seemed to keep telling me that if I would take Laxol I would get better and that is just what happened. For I had not taken more than three doses until I began to feel stronger. After finishing my sixth bottle I was eating just everything I wanted and found I had gained more than thirty pounds in weight. I can now do all my housework and look after the children and still feel as fresh at the end of the day as when I start in the morning.

"The above statement was made recently by Mrs. George Shearer, 263 Chebucto Road, Halifax, N. S. Laxol is sold by all good druggists.

Rice Fields of Japan

It would be with great surprise that most Canadians learned that, taken the world over, rice is a more important food product than wheat. Nevertheless, the statement is true. Asia's teeming millions consume more rice than other people do wheat. Therefore, Japan, as the world's greatest rice producing country is to millions of Asiatics the world's granary.

But Japan is a small country; it has to do its farming in an intensive way, every acre of its soil must be put to use, and every available unit of its millions of man, woman and child power must work to keep the land productive. That is why rice is the actual work in the rice fields is done by girls, girls who smile and chatter as though everlastingly wading in the glorified mud puddles of rice fields were a jollification rather than a labor.

But the smile is characteristic of the Japanese, working or playing. It is a national trait. During most of the year Japan is a smiling land, and no doubt the people come by their propensities honestly enough. Rice is grown in the water-covered fields. If the water isn't there in the first place it has to be pumped up by curious little water tread wheels of gramin power. These are always worked by men because it is one of the easiest jobs on the rice farm. After the fields are covered by about a foot of dirty water they are ploughed. This is also a man's job, and a man usually does it, probably because the ox that draws the plow needs that kind of talking. Then the girls step in

(1) The harvest time when the whole family goes in the fields to help either in the crop. The water has been allowed to run off the fields and the straw is cut close to the ground.
(2) They clean the grain with heavy fans and a bright smile.
(3) The young rice shoots are planted by hand by girls who wade in the water, muddy water that covers the field.
(4) The water wheel that floods the rice fields.
(5) The primitive rice mill.

—half way to their knees they go into the mud and water and by hand they plant the thousands of little rice plants that go to make up a field and through the succeeding months of the year they cultivate the water covered fields with hoes that seem too big for the little hands that hold them. The grain ripens to harvest, and the fields are drained off, and after the men have cut it down with scythes the girls and children again take up their labors. Threshing is a primitive operation. PROGRESS OF PROHIBITION

Results in Nova Scotia.

Attempts are being made to show that there is more drunkenness in the Province since 1916 when Halifax was brought under prohibition. Criminal statistics give no support for this contention. Last year there was committed to our jails for drunkenness 2156 persons, while the yearly average for the previous four years was 2750, and the yearly average for the four years previous to 1916 was 3763, that is—comparing the license and prohibition periods there was an annual average decrease of 1013 under prohibition. Again, there were committed to our jails for all offences last year 5572, while the yearly average for the previous four years was 5899 and the yearly average for the four years previous to 1916 was 6952. Comparing the license and prohibition periods there was an annual average decrease in convictions for all offences of 1053 under prohibition. The records of the City prison, Halifax, show that during the last six years of license there were committed to the City Prison for drunkenness 1918 persons and for the first six years of prohibition 372. During the license period for all offences there were committed 2730 persons and during the prohibition period 957.

Business men, employers of labor, social workers, clergymen of all denominations, bear testimony to the moral and economic value of prohibition.

In some municipalities the law is not well enforced, but steadily increasing temperance sentiment will compel negligent officials to do their duty, or, compel their removal from office.

Notwithstanding the liquor propaganda for the sale of beer and wine the prohibition law will remain on the Statutes and be strengthened.

At next session of the House of Assembly the Government will be asked to improve the Act by Amendments, (1) to remedy abuses in the giving of prescriptions and certificates for liquor, (2) to provide that the Board of Vendor Commissioners in Halifax refuse to fill orders for excessive or unreasonable quantities.

With these and other necessary Amendments and the appointment of a sufficient number of Government Inspectors to ensure proper oversight and enforcement of the Act, conditions will be greatly improved.

CELEBRATED WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

A very pleasing event took place at Southville, Monday evening November 13th. The occasion was the thirtieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Comeau. Their residence was handsomely decorated for the event. Beside the immediate members of the family there were present, Mrs. Ann Walsh of Weymouth, Mr. and Mrs. John S. LeBlanc and Mr. and Mrs. John Lovett of Ohio. All of Mr. and Mrs. Comeau's children, except three were present. The day was spent receiving congratulations from the residents of Southville, who called to pay their respects to the celebrants and their pearl anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Comeau carried practically all of their wedding life at Southville and the hospitality of their home is known far and wide. They were the recipients of many costly presents from a number of their friends who were unable, owing to the distance, to attend the celebration, and who sent their best wishes to the celebrants for many more years of life, spent in the performance of their duties and for the furtherance of the great virtue of helping the needy and comforting the afflicted. Rev. J. D. Comeau, P. P. of St. Joseph's Church, who is also the spiritual father of the mission of Southville, was invited to be present, but owing to the devotion of the Party Hours being held at St. Bernard's he was unable to attend.

John P. Murray Is Enthused Over Result

"Before I had finished my first bottle of Tanlac I was beginning to feel fine, and was praising it so highly that I guess everybody in my family was using it," declared John P. Murray, well known wheelwright of 940 Prince St. Truro, N. S. "I hadn't been feeling just right for a long time, wasn't downright sick, but getting so I'd be just about all fagged out after a big day's work. My stomach began to go back on me too, and I was bothered with constipation all the time. My food soured on my stomach, and I was badly distressed with gas. "I was in an awful run-down condition when a friend of mine who was taking Tanlac for the backache told me all about it. I started taking it. I can say it has built me right up. I can do the biggest day's work and still feel fresh at quitting time. My stomach is perfectly sound, I have a fine appetite and am simply in fine shape all around. I am glad to recommend Tanlac to anybody looking for a stomach medicine." Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Catarrahal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is a new, simple, constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRHAL MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy. Catarrahal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound of imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation be removed, your hearing may be destroyed forever. HALL'S CATARRHAL MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surface of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and restoring normal conditions. Circulars free. All Druggists. E. A. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

The Old Favorite

Is Just As Popular As Ever

And Just as Effective in Relieving Coughs, Colds, Croup and Bronchitis

For over a quarter of a century Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has been the favorite treatment for coughs and colds.

It is still growing in favor, for the simple reason that it can be depended on as a positive relief for Croup, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough and Asthma.

Bronchitis

Mr. J. Penrose, 207 Oak St., Toronto, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled with bronchitis and had a very bad cough. I had the cough so long I was becoming afraid of other developments. I tried all kinds of cough remedies without relief. I saw Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine advertised and tried a bottle. I was greatly surprised at the relief I got from the Linseed and Turpentine. I bought five more bottles and was completely relieved."

Severe Cold

Mr. Lloyd Ballen, Sunnybrook Farm, Pownall, Ont., writes:—"After I got over the 'flu' last winter, I took a very severe cold. I tried several kinds of cough medicines, but none of them gave me relief and I began to fear it would turn to something more serious. One day, however, I picked up a copy of Dr. Chase's Almanac and saw your Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine advertised. I got one bottle immediately, which completely relieved me."

Local and Personal

The supper held by the local branch of the G. W. V. A. in Hanksin's hall, last night, Saturday, the 11th, attracted the handsome sum of $77.00. Despite the inclement and rainy weather a good sized crowd attended. The members of the local branch are thankful to the good people of Weymouth for their support. The Weymouth branch held a supper last year and it was later decided to make the event an annual one. It is regretted the weather was so stormy, as otherwise a much larger crowd would have been present.

The death occurred early Monday morning of Mrs. Agnes Payson, wife of the late Randolph Payson, after an illness of several weeks duration. The late Mrs. Payson has been residing with her daughter, Mrs. Crosby for several years until the death of the latter about a year ago. She then returned to Weymouth from Haverhill, Mass., and since then she has been living with her son Randolph on the old homestead. Deceased had been a sufferer from cardiac trouble for some years, this with dropsy being the ultimate cause of her death. Mrs. Payson was born in Haverhill about 65 years ago. She possessed many fine qualities of heart and mind, which endeared her to all with whom she came in contact. Her husband predeceased her about fourteen years ago. Besides her son, Randolph, she leaves another son, George, at present living on the Pacific Coast, to mourn the loss of a loving mother. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at 1:30, with services at the house, which were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Young. The burial was in the cemetery. "Blessed Sleep."

The death occurred Wednesday morning at three o'clock, after a short illness, of William H. Moore. The late Mr. Moore was around the town, Saturday, apparently well and hearty. He was stricken Sunday with a cold which quickly developed in pneumonia, which caused his death early Wednesday morning. Besides his wife he leaves two sister, Mrs. John McDonald and Mrs. Levenia Goodwin both of this place, to mourn their loss. Mr. Moore would have been 80 years of age, next March had he lived till then. For many years he was engaged in the blacksmith trade with his father, the late William Moore. His illness compelled him to retire some years ago. Of late years he has been working at his old trade with Ernest Brooks. The late Mr. Moore was one of the land marks of the town. A splendid type of a man, he made many friends during the long span of his life. He was possessed of many fine qualities of mind and heart that endeared him to a host of friends who will learn with genuine regret of his sudden and untimely passing. The town was shocked this morning when the people had learned he passed away. Dr. E. O. Hallett was in attendance during his illness but despite all that medical science could do he passed away as above stated. Many are the expressions heard about the town at his passing. Always ready to help the poor and friendless, he was cheerful and constantly wore a smile of happiness. Deceased was a liberal in politics and a staunch Anglican in religion.

The supper in aid of St. Joseph's Church fund, which was held on Tuesday last week in Hanksin's new hall was a wonderful success, in fact the amount added to the fund, far exceeding the most sanguine expectations. The hall was lastly decorated for the occasion by the ladies of the committee in charge of the supper. Two great tables, with a seating capacity of 72 were got in readiness in early hours of the afternoon. All kinds of good things were placed on tables, including fine delicious salads and specialities of cake. A large quantity of chicken and cold meats donated by the parishioners, who also donated the things that helped make the supper so tempting, served to fill up the finer part of two hundred and fifty were left and there was an abundance of everything for everybody. Supper was served at five o'clock and lasted two hours and a half. Besides the large number of people from the Bridge and nearby hamlets, there were several people from Belliveau's Cove, St. Bernard's and Digby. One and all voiced the same expression, "it was a splendid supper." It is the first supper Joseph's has held in years and it was certainly wonderfully successful. Not only was the supper patronized by the members of St. Joseph's church, but a very large number of other denominations were present, lending their aid to the success of the affair. Besides the supper proper, there were other things that materially helped to swell the amount taken in at the tables. There were grab bags, which brought in $15.00, the fortune telling doll, which provided a large amount of amusement and provoked much laughter on the part of the guests. The total amount, after the supper, cakes, pie and other things that were left were sold at auction, and a tidy little sum was added to the total. Every thing that was present had a thoroughly good time. The pastor of St. Joseph's church, well as the members of the church, and greatly e-aid with the success of the supper and desire to proffer their thanks to all who helped make the night so successful. They desire especially to thank George O. Hanksin, the owner of the hall, who so kindly gave the use of the hall for the occasion, free of charge. The kindness of Mr. Hanksin will not be forgotten nor unappreciated. They are also to thank Max Aschew who generously donated the plates cups and saucers for the supper and R. J. Taylor, for the loan of his beautiful lantern. The most successful ever held in the town, the sum of $182 was made clear of expenses. Miss Margie Doucette was in charge of the fortune telling doll and the Misses Rosalie Comeau and Alice Amireault of the grab bags. Miss Estelle Comeau and Agla Belliveau had charge of the candy table. During the supper Mrs. D. Rice, her sister, Miss Eunice Melanson and Mrs. Dr. J. W. "I Wonder How She Does It!"

"Her husband makes no more money than mine, but her children are always better dressed and every time we meet she seems to have something different on, while I have to keep wearing the same old thing."

And here's the whole explanation: the woman with such a plentiful supply of pretty clothes made them herself, with little effort, at small expense.

You see she had mastered by mail in her spare time the dressmaking Course issued by the N. S. Technical College. And so she is not only able to make her clothes money go twice as far, she is ready, if necessary, to make a splendid outfit for herself.

Quit Laxatives; Purges; Try NR

(NR Tonight—Tomorrow Feel Right)

It is a mistake to continually dose yourself with so-called laxative pills, cathartics and force bowel action. It weakens the bowels and liver and makes constant dosing necessary. Why don't you begin right today to overcome your constipation and get your system in such shape that daily purging will be unnecessary? You can do so if you get a box of Nature's Remedy (NR) Tablets. It is a mild, gentle, non-harmful, and gives the bowels a thorough cleansing out. This accomplished you will not have to take any more pills. It is the best, lowest medicine that you can use and costs only 50¢ per box, containing enough to last twenty-five days. Nature's Remedy (NR) Tablets is sold everywhere and recommended by your druggist.

HALLOWE'EN ENTERTAINMENT

Under the direction of Mrs. S. A. Spurr and Mrs. J. F. McClelland the young ladies of Deep Brook held a very pleasant entertainment on Wednesday evening November 1st. They were assisted by Miss Gertrude Curtes and Neva Masters, of Digby; Mrs. Charles Stronach, Miss Vera Bartheaux and Miss Ruggles, of Clements.

A comedy in two acts "Patsy" was given. The parts were well chosen and all did credit to themselves. Pauline Spurr was especially good taking the part of "Patsy" the Irish maid.

PROGRAMME.
Piano Solo—Miss Gertrude Curtes
Duet—Mrs. Stronach and Miss Bartheaux
Solo—Miss Vera Masters
Duet—Misses Bartheaux and Ruggles
"Patsy"—Cast of Characters.
Aunt Lu—Mrs. J. F. McClelland.
Nita Farrell—Miss Mildred Crosby.
Ruth Fielding—Bertha Lent.
"Patsy"—Irish Maid—Pauline Spurr.
Miss Williams—Insurance Agent.

The hall was filled to capacity and $15 was realized for the piano fund. The committee in charge deeply appreciate the interest in friends from Digby, Smith's Cove and Clementsport in making the evening so successful.

Now, it is proposed to construct a new thoroughfare for highway traffic between Maine and Quebec by the way of the Rangely Lakes region, making a new short cut from Montreal to the Maine seacoast.

At Westfield, Mass. snowwhite owls have started their southern migration to warmer climates at an earlier period than usual, indicating a long, hard winter, according to weather observers.

ARMISTICE MEMORIAL SERVICE AT BEAR RIVER

On Sunday morning, a memorial service was held in the Bear River Baptist church all denominations uniting for the purpose of paying tribute to the memory of our brave boys who fell in the late war, honoring those who bore their part in the titanic struggle, yet returned alive to friends and loved ones, and giving thanks to God that Canada is no longer scourged by war.

The church was filled to capacity with a congregation of about 100 persons. They were all dressed in their best, and the service, which was held in the morning, was a most impressive one. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers and flags, and was flooded with the bright sunshine of a perfect autumn morning, while the glowing scarlet emblematic poppies worn by practically all the congregation gave a note of color and beauty all through the auditorium.

Our local War Veterans, the majority in uniforms, which had seen service overseas, gathered at their hall previous to the service, and marched first to the cemetery decorating the grave of Private Fred Kennedy, the only Canadian who had been laid to rest there, since returning from active service, and in so doing, memorializing all their comrades whose graves were in other places. On conclusion of this decoration service, they marched directly to the church, and as they entered the front seats reserved for them, many in the audience visioned the dear dead khaki clad forms of loved ones who were comrades with them when they marched away, but who today sleep beneath the poppies "In Flanders Fields."

It was a most solemn and impressive service, and the united choirs rendered beautiful and appropriate music, and special mention should be made of a quartet by Mrs. Litchfield, Mrs. R. Purdy, Messrs. Alexander and K. Anthony.

Those who attended the service will long remember the three remarkably fine and impressive addresses given by Rev. C. Mack (Methodist), Rev. R. S. Grogan (Baptist), and Rev. A. W. L. Smith (Anglican), each speaker taking a special phase of Armistice Day memorial service. The reconstruction period, which his present day aspects, was ably handled by Rev. C. Mack, the first speaker, Rev. R. S. Grogan who followed brought home forcibly our debt of gratitude to those who had sacrificed so much to make our country safe from the ravages of the German Hun, and Rev. A. W. L. Smith closed the programme of addresses with a fine delineation of the character possible for all to achieve, using the necessity of our lagging in preserving national character and a high order of citizenship to which we should be striving.

The room was tastefully decorated with beech and maple leaves. The only light was numerous pumpkin lanterns, which made the room very weird. Much credit due both teacher and pupils. After the entertainment, teacher and pupils with pumpkin lanterns called at the different houses of the section. A very enjoyable evening was spent.

"HAD A NARROW ESCAPE"

"I never realized until a few months ago how risky it is to neglect a cold in the chest. I have always had such good health, that a cold either in the head or chest while unpleasant, has not given me any worry. Outside an occasional cold, I had never known what it was to be laid up even for a day in all my life, until last December. One afternoon I got a chill and no matter how close I got to the stove, I couldn't seem to get warm. My chest was followed by a cold in my chest. As usual I neglected it and it kept getting worse and worse. Finally I was laid up to bed and send for the doctor. His examination showed that I had pneumonia and a bad case at that. By careful nursing on the part of my husband, my children and my friends, I managed to pull through, but the doctor told me I had a narrow shave. And here's where my troubles began. While I was now out of danger, I was anything but well. I was still very weak from the effects of the pneumonia. Although I had a lot of life and energy before my sickness, I was now worn out and tired all the time. I slept fairly well, but because I was exhausted, I put my sleep didn't refresh me because, while I appeared to be asleep, I was conscious most of the time of what was going around me. While I was getting stronger, I was getting discouraged as nothing I took seemed to do me any good. I wonder if Cornal wouldn't build you up, a friend said one day. It did me a world of good. I was completely run down and you can see for yourself how well I look today. Why don't you try it? Thanks to this friend's advice I am in perfect health again, as healthy and as full of life and vitality as I have ever been."

Cornal is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any harm, then the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money. 9-622 Sold by H. H. Jones and P. W. Hads-worth.

Railway News

Winnipeg, Man.—Since the commencement of the crop year up to Oct. 1st, $5,695,574 bushels of wheat have been marketed by the Canadian Pacific Railway western lines, it is the largest amount of wheat marketed recently. During the same period the company handled 12,229,772 bushels of coarse grain and for the same period last year 56,154,115 bushels of wheat were marketed as well as 6,940,688 bushels of coarse grain. Total cash received for wheat amounted to $2,773 as against last year figures of $8,257.

There is every indication that the volume of travel to Europe during November and December will this year be heavy. It is already apparent that the number of those who intend spending Christmas in the Old Country will be unusually large, and the Canadian Pacific Railway is making special arrangements to accommodate the traffic. A special through train will be run from Winnipeg to the steamer "Montclair," sailing from St. John, N.B., on December 12, and through tourist trains will run from Edmonton, Calgary, Saskatoon, Regina and other western points to catch either C. P. R. sailings from St. John, thus giving a through service from these cities to the Old Country.

Bay Island.—The Canadian Pacific Railway Company has a gang of men at work here on the improvement to their pumping plant and when completed there will be quite an improvement to the volume of water that can be pumped from the river. The work includes the putting in of a new boiler and pump at the river, so that they can use natural gas as well as gasoline, and thus be sure of fuel at all times for pumping, and does away with water trouble and having engines run for water. It also increases the service here and practically does away with supply at other points.

R. K. Miles, division engineer, has charge of the work and has a crew of eighteen men working with him under Foreman W. J. Oliver. It will take at least three weeks for the work to be completed. When finished they will be able to fill the present water tank, which holds 16,000 barrels, in three hours. When it is considered that there will be at least twelve to sixteen trains daily taking water here it means there must be a supply of it on hand at all times. This new installation will meet the requirements.

Winnipeg.—Western Canada's export business in fruit, potatoes and other lines of produce has developed to such proportions that exporters are now arranging to establish big collecting warehouses in Winnipeg and other cities of the prairie provinces. The Canadian Pacific has granted special storage in transit privileges at Winnipeg, Regina, Moose Jaw, Lethbridge and Calgary on carload shipments of apples in boxes originating in British Columbia.

Under the new arrangement the shipper has the privilege of holding his produce in Winnipeg or any of the other western cities named for a period of six months and then on reshipment he gets the advantage of the through rate.

St. John, N.B.—The prize awards to section foremen on the New Brunswick district of the C. P. R. for the best sections of rails, road-bed, etc., have been announced recently by General Superintendent J. M. Woodman. His prize of $50 for the second best went to N. Mason on the Shogomoc sub-division. The first prize of $100, given by Mr. J. J. Scully, was announced a few days ago. Of third prizes of $25 each, one went to Robert L. Boyles of Brownville, and one to W. E. Nason, on section 11, on the Shogomoc sub-division. The best of roadmaster prizes of $10, the sub-division and the winners, follow:

FATHER CAN NOW LACE HIS BOOTS

Mary Sweet, a Resident of Halifax, Says Everyone Should Know About Drecto.

Gave Her Father Prompt Relief From Rheumatism and Stomach Trouble.

There is not a remedy on the market today having such a reputation as Drecto for its power to overcome rheumatism, stomach, bowel, kidney and bladder trouble.

Mary Sweet, 12 Yukon St. Halifax, N. S., writes: "For a long time my father has suffered from rheumatism. Every joint and muscle in his body ached. His feet would swell so badly it was impossible for him to get his boots on. He also had stomach, liver and kidney trouble. Gas would form after meals and he complained of having pains across his back, also dizzy spells and bad taste in his mouth in the mornings. His bowels were never regular as he always had to be taking something."

"My friends induced him to try Drecto. Now my father is quite regular. The swelling in his feet has gone, so that he can now put his boots on without any trouble. His stomach, liver and kidneys are in much better shape. There are no pains in his joints and muscles."

"He has only taken one bottle as yet, but he fully intends to complete the treatment, as the results are wonderful and we have noticed a big improvement in him. We would not hesitate to recommend Drecto to anyone, as we are thankful for what it has done for him in so short a time."

Drecto is being specially introduced in Digby by P. W. Holdsworth, and is sold by good drug stores everywhere.

Kootenay Indians Baseball Champions.

The Kootenay Indians who played such a prominent part in the pageant arranged in connection with the David Thompson Memorial celebrations at Lake Windermere, B.C., are not only expert riders and canoeists, but have recently taken to baseball with wonderful enthusiasm. At the Lake Windermere District Fall Fair they played against a white team for the silver cup offered by Randolph Bruce, a local mine owner, winning it with a score of seven to five. The accompanying photographs show the team in their day clothes, and in their baseball rig-out. The team is captained by Dominick Nicholas, who is seen standing immediately behind the cup, and is supported by Martin Smith, Conrad Short, Christopher Joseph, Frank Whitehead, Noah Alpine, Gabriel Paul, Joseph Eugene, and Jerome Joseph. The Kootenays are one of the healthiest and most athletic tribes of Indians in America, the records of David Thompson over a hundred years ago intimating that they have always been a fine upstanding set of men. In the old days they were famous hunters, but now they spend more of their time farming, and are adept in the use of irrigation. During the pageant they appeared in wonderfully fine costumes, rich in blues and purples, and harmonious reds, making a display which greatly impressed their white brethren. Every Kootenay Indian is a born horseman or horsewoman, and the horses they breed are of fine quality.

THE IDEALS OF A GREAT JOURNAL.

From the day of its inception fifty years ago the aim of its publishers has been to make of the Weekly Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal a great paper, securing for it fame and character, so that it would be looked upon as a national journal for Canada, a paper of instruction and pleasure, but not just a money-making organ. As a matter of fact, there has been no such thing as a money-making organ in the history of the press. The only reason why the Weekly Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal are so successful is because they are so good. Their subscription price is only $2.00 per year.

Says It Changed Her Whole Life

People who have suffered until they have become discouraged and out of heart, should profit by the experience of Mrs. Lydia J. Lovelace, Market street, Liverpool, Nova Scotia.

"I have had rheumatism all my life," she said, and have spent hundreds of dollars with very little result until I began taking Tanlac. When I began taking the medicine every joint in my body ached and my fingers were so swollen and painful I could not even wring out a dish cloth. My arms were swollen all up in great knots and my feet were so swollen I could not get my shoes on. Even my shoulders and the back of my head pained me and I could not get any ease or rest in bed. I simply had to give up trying to do my housework.

"My whole system was run down and I felt discouraged and depressed, because I saw little chance of ever being any better. I felt such good results from my first bottle of Tanlac that I kept buying bottle after bottle until I have now taken two. My rheumatism is gone and my whole life is changed. I eat good, get plenty of good sound sleep, and enjoy living. I have told lots of people what Tanlac has done for me and will always praise it."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Since I have taken it I have been able to do all my own work and I also know friends who have found it good. You can use these facts as a testimonial."

What Does Your Car Cost You?

Ever figured out what it costs in the course of a year for repairs and maintenance? And how quickly your car is going to the junkyard?

Some men have done it—and got scared.

Whatever the expense you can reduce it; whatever the life of your car you can double it if you master the working of your car from the ground-up, from the inside out.

The Gasoline Automobiles Course of the N.S. Technical College gives you this information by mail in 10 easy lessons, at less than cost ($6 in fact). The cost will be repaid in the repair bills you save, the time you save studying (spare hours in your home) by the breakdowns on the road and the delays in the garage that you will avoid.

Wedding Bells

MUISE-ALLEN

At eleven o'clock on Wednesday morning, Rev. W. H. Watts united in marriage Viola Esther Allen and Eugene Henry Muike. The bride who was unattended, entered the church with her mother, Mrs. Doucette and looked very pretty in a navy blue serge tailored suit, with hat to match. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The bride and groom stood under an arch of evergreen, which was decorated with white chrysanthemums. The front of the church was also prettily decorated with potted plants and ferns. Mr. and Mrs. Muike left by S. S. Express for St. John, and on their return will make their home in Digby, where Mr. Muike is in business. The bride has many friends here and is an active member of Zelma Rebecca Lodge. She was the recipient of many beautiful gifts from relatives, friends, Zelma Rebecca Lodge and Grace Methodist Sunday School.

Obituary

David R. McClelland, aged 70 years, of Deep Brook, passed away Friday morning at the Victoria General Hospital. He was born in Weymouth 57 years ago and was educated in the public school. He then went to Boston and took a course in college. Mr. Wilson has been for a number of years an earnest and successful lecturer through the Western States, under the auspices of the I. O. O. F. He was also a member of the Knights of Shivalia and Loyal Order of Moose. The funeral service was in charge of Moose Lodge No. 315, St. Joseph, Missouri. He was a man of high ideals and sterling character and his genial personality won for him many warm friends. He was married in 1900 to Miss Minnie A. Harris, of Detroit, and is survived by a daughter, Florida, married in the South; his father, of East Princeton, Mass., and a half-sister, Mrs. H. E. Kent, of Weymouth, Mass.

The sad news of the death of the General Public Hospital, St. John, Nov. 20th, of Gertrude wife of Whitfield Oudehouse, was a great shock to her many relatives and friends. She was taken ill about ten days ago. Dr. Weir was called and advised her to leave at once for the Hospital. On Tuesday Nov. 14, she was accompanied to St. John by her husband, where she was operated on, and a large tumor removed. All went well and she was gaining new strength each day until at day-break on Sunday morning she passed quietly away. Her body was brought to her home at Tiverton, for burial. Her husband, who remained with her during her stay in the Hospital, and accompanied the body home, was met at East Ferry by a number of Oddfellows, who with words of sympathy and willing hands made her brothers grief less to bear. Mrs. Oudehouse was the eldest daughter of Mrs. Ella Harris, at East Ferry, and 31 years of age. Since going to Tiverton as a bride a few years ago, she has made many friends who regret to learn of her death. Left to mourn are a sorrowing husband, a mother, Mrs. Ella Harris. Two brothers, Harry and Arthur Harris, one sister, Mrs. Archibald Greenlaw. Tiverton. Funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon from the Christian church of which she was a member.

Listen!

Have you heard about Peps? Peps is a scientific preparation put up in a bottle form, which provides an entirely new and effective treatment for coughs, colds, chest and throat troubles.

Peps contain certain medicinal ingredients, which, when placed upon the tongue, immediately turn into vapor, and are breathed down the air passages to the lungs. On their journey, they soothe the inflamed and irritated membranes of the bronchial tubes, the delicate walls of the air passages, and finally enter and carry relief and healing to the lungs.

In a word, while no liquid or solid can get to the lungs and air passages, these Peps must get there direct, and at once commence healing.

FREE TRIAL Cut out this article, write across it the name and date of this paper, and mail it (with 1c stamp to pay return postage) to Peps Co., Toronto. A free trial packet will then be sent you. All druggists and stores sell Peps, 50c. box.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Gertrude, wife of Whitfield Oudehouse, who passed to the Great Beyond Nov. 20th, 1922.

Again the chain that binds us together is broken. Again our hearts are deep in mourning. Words at this time are poor and things should be said to express to the mourning ones our sympathy we should but fail.

The reason why we cannot tell, But Jesus doth all things well. She has crossed the Great Divide into that land where there is no pain, no sickness, no death. Her going away has broken another link in our Bible Class, and there is now a void, that to one who can feel, while her death came as a shock to us, it came to her as a revelation of glory. What seems hard for us now to bear, will in the future show us that to one who can feel, while her death came as a shock to us, it came to her as a revelation of glory.

Just when the night had changed to day, When daylight's gleam sent forth its ray, The weary spirit took its flight, Exchanging earth for realms of light.

She bid no one a last farewell, She said good-bye to none, The heavenly gates swung open, A loving voice said, Come.

Tis hard to lose you Gertrude dear, But God who knoweth best, Held wide his loving arms and said, Come, unto me and rest.

Links in our chain are broken, Friends from our Class have gone, But the broken chain will be whole again When the day of Christ shall dawn.

KERR'S BUSINESS COLLEGE SOLD TO THE MODERN

The St. John Business College - Kerr's - on November 1 passed under the successful management of the Modern Business College, Ltd., Corner Mill & Union Sts. St. John, N. B.

The Modern College has met with wonderful success and this year it is enjoying the biggest business in its history. Mr. Geo. J. Smith, the President, has engaged additional staff and purchased new equipment. The combined schools will be conducted in the same thorough manner that caused the Modern to become the largest business training institution in New Brunswick within two years after being established.

Mr. Smith states that, owing to the very large enrollment of the combined schools, it is necessary to conduct the two schools in their respective buildings. The Commercial Department, with Mr. A. P. Lumsden in charge, is located in the present premises of the St. John Business College, while the Stenographic Department is conducted at the Corner of Mill & Union Streets St. John N. B.

On account of its thorough and practical work, the Modern College is very firmly established and the management is to be commended for its progressive policies. With the acquisition of the St. John Business College and the new equipment purchased, it will be one of the largest and best equipped schools in Canada.

It will be a cause of much satisfaction to the friends and students of the St. John Business College that their fortunes have been passed into such capable hands.

Germany rushes to the cables to tell the world that a German woman in a diller had been up in the air five minutes. Gracious, says the Frederick Capital, "we have women in Frederick that can go up in the air and stay much longer than that without any mechanical want- ever."

Coughing is bad

—it aggravates the irritation besides spreading infection. Few coughs persist after the first dose of Mathieu's Syrup—relief is always felt at once. Few prescriptions are as effective for coughs and colds. 4-222

If your child is feverish and your head, back and limbs ache, Mathieu's Nutrient Powders will relieve the pain, sleep the fever and help a natural, refreshing sleep, 35c. a box.

GIVES DRECO TO HER HUSBAND

Employee of Brightwood Golf Club Found Wonderful Relief for Weak Kidneys, Backache and Constipation.

Is Sure It Will Help Others.

The great herbal remedy, Dreco, which was recently introduced in Digby is growing daily in popularity. Many local people have written, giving testimony to the fact that Dreco has brought them comfort and health when many other medicines have failed. A recent signed statement for publication is as follows:

"My husband, who is employed by the Brightwood Golf Club, has suffered for a long time with stomach, kidney and liver trouble, says Mrs. Lillie Heimes, 60 Rose Street Dartmouth, N. S. He was a martyr to constipation and I think it was the real cause of all his trouble. His food always seemed to sour in his stomach. Gas would form and finally he lost his appetite and complained of pains in his back and dizzy spells. He was always tired when he got up in the morning for he didn't sleep well.

He has taken two bottles of Dreco and the results are wonderful. A big improvement is very noticeable. He has gained in weight and the pains in his back are gone. His bowels act regular and he has a wonderful appetite and sleeps fine. He is no longer troubled with dizzy spells or gas in his stomach. I gladly recommend Dreco to anyone, as we think it is a wonderful medicine.

Dreco is made of the juices and extracts of many herbal plants which act on the kidneys, bladder, stomach and blood and corrects many troubles such as gas in the stomach, constipation, weakness, poor appetite, nervousness, headaches, biliousness, catarrh, rheumatism and such blood disorders as eczema, pimples, blotches, boils and eruptions. The first bottle usually shows splendid results.

Dreco is being specially introduced in Digby by P. W. Holdsworth and is sold by good drug stores everywhere.

ISLAND RESIDENTS HEAR LECTURE ON CANCER

Cancer week was observed on Long Island last week at a public meeting held in Freeport at which Dr. Wede was the lecturer. No meetings were held at Westport, Tiverton or Central Grove and in consequence the Medical Association has requested the Council to publish the lecture. The lecture was held at Westport, Tiverton or Central Grove and in consequence the Medical Association has requested the Council to publish the lecture. The lecture was held at Westport, Tiverton or Central Grove and in consequence the Medical Association has requested the Council to publish the lecture.

Most of us understand how greatly the mortality from Tuberculosis has been reduced by the education of the public. It has been carried on during the last twenty years. It is almost superfluous now to tell anyone that fresh air and sufficient food are necessary to prevent Tuberculosis, as a result of this campaign. We are in hopes that a similar one may reduce the death rate from Cancer to the same degree. Some authorities believe that three-quarters of the deaths from Cancer might be averted if the general public were familiar with the early signs of it. Cancer, in its beginnings is practically always local, so theoretically, at least, it is curable. The difficulty is to get people to come for diagnosis and treatment as sufficiently early date.

There are several reasons why people who have had Cancer delayed too long. One reason is that they do not think it possible that such trivial signs and symptoms could lead to a disease like Cancer. Some have the idea that it is hereditary and do not wish to admit any hereditary taint in the family. False modesty holds others back, because they dread an examination or dread to tell anyone of what they notice wrong. The great cause to my mind is the idea that the pain in the early stages, this being almost always a late symptom. If a Cancer grew as much pain as a boil in its early stages there would be many more lives saved.

People are not familiar with the early signs. A little knowledge is sometimes a dangerous thing, but in this case it is essential. Cancer is one of the most important causes of death throughout the world. It attacks with equal frequency men and women, and is the cause of death in one of the five or six diseases, that cause a mortality lower than heart disease only. Its occurrence is increasing at the rate of about 1 1/2 per cent. per annum. 95 per cent. of the cases occur over 35 years of age, hence has come the term Cancer Age—from about 35 to 40 years onward. It affects every organ; but variably.

"From Pain to Ease with T.R.C.'s." THOUSANDS of Canadians have tried T.R.C.'s and found they do drive out rheumatism, and all similar pains. T.R.C.'s reach the seat of pain, for their medicinal power is carried in the blood. $1.00 at your druggist's. Free sample Templeton Co., Toronto. Canada's Standard Remedy for Pain. Sold by H. E. Jones Digby.

Stomach and liver about 40 per cent., female reproductive organs 15 per cent., breast 9 per cent., mouth and tongue 5 per cent., pericardium and intestines about 15 per cent. The other 17 per cent. is divided among the other organs. It affects especially adult women. One female death past the age of forty out of every eight is from Cancer, and one male death in thirteen past 40. As we see from these percentages it affects particularly the organs of generation and the breast where it can be the most easily cured if taken early.

It is quite a difficult matter to explain to you just what a Cancer is and how it starts; but I am going to try to do it now. To do this we will have to go back to the very beginning of our origin. All human life originates from a single ovum or egg-cell. A cell is a minute portion of living substance or protoplasm, which is sometimes enclosed by a cell-membrane and always contains a vesicle which is known as the nucleus.

As these cells grow older they change their size and shape and rate of growth until we reach adult life, changing from blastodermic to adult cells. We would compare a cell to an egg. The yolk is the nucleus, the white the protoplasm and the cell-membrane (if any) the membrane which surrounds an egg. The only difference would be that an egg is millions of times larger than a body-cell.

As I said before we all originated from an egg-cell. This cell at first divides into two similar cells, these two into four, these into eight and so on, and while they are multiplying they are growing so that each new cell is almost as large as the one from which it originates.

These cells become arranged in three layers, the whole being known as the blastoderm. These layers are known as the mesoderm, ectoderm and endoderm, and become gradually differentiated until at birth the mesoderm has become the muscles, bones and connective tissues of the body, the ectoderm is become the nervous system, the skin, hair, teeth, the linings of the mouth and nose and the linings of the digestive tract and the endoderm has become the lining of the alimentary or food canal and the glands connected therewith, all except the mouth.

A malignant tumor arising from the cells of the ectoderm and endoderm is called a carcinoma, one arising from the cells of the mesoderm a sarcoma.

Next we come to a definition of tumors in general. A tumor is a local overgrowth forming a lump of new tissue, more or less sharply demarcated from the surrounding normal tissue and subsisting on its own blood supply to the organism. In other words it is a purposeless lump, made up of cells.

Some tumors are surrounded by a capsule, others are not. A tumor is made up of cells. When these cells are like the ordinary adult cells we have an innocent tumor, e.g., a fatty tumor or an innocent tumor of the breast.

When these cells differ in character from the ones from which they originated we have a malignant growth or cancer. A malignant tumor has a tendency to grow slowly, it is encapsulated, it does not have any secondary growths in other parts of the body, and causes no trouble unless it interferes with function by its weight or pressure. The term is rather misleading as no tumor is really innocent in the true sense of the word and any innocent tumor may become malignant e.g., by irritation.

A malignant tumor is a term applied to one which grows rapidly, is not encapsulated, but burrows into the tissues, gives rise to secondary growths in other parts of the body, and produces general ill-health, besides causing disability from pressure.

These tumors are made up of cells, but in a malignant tumor or cancer we have the following difference from normal cells:

1. The rapid multiplication of the cells at the expense of normal ones. The cells are embryonic or blastodermic and grow at the rate of blastodermic growth.

2. The cells are carried away together and easily get loosened away to other parts of the body.

3. When a secondary growth does occur in another part of the body we know it to be such because the cells are cherty of the parent growth.

4. The cells have a tendency to degenerate.

5. They are very easily invaded by bacteria or germs which give rise to many of the worst symptoms.

We know that these cells do multiply to form new growths, but none has been able to find a cause that will fit every case, except some form of irritation.

When we have been compared to guests who come to eat with their relatives. First they eat all the food and then they begin to eat the furniture.

Cancer is not a germ disease, and is not contagious, so one need never be afraid of working around a cancer patient on that account. No doctor or nurse has ever caught cancer, although thousands of operations have been performed on it.

It is natural that they should employ ordinary cleanliness in looking after a fatal case of cancer, as the germ of boils and abscesses may exist on a cancer, though not causing it.

There are no such things as cancer houses. There may be houses that have been occupied now by old people and now by young ones, and of course there would probably be more cases of cancer in these houses because the old people have had cancer.

Cancer villages are spoken of, but the same thing applies to them. Many of the houses people live in have had cancer cases in them.

Cancer is not hereditary, or at least, it is not proven so by statistics. The laws of chance may cause two or three cases in a family.

It is found to be increasing more in the internal organs than externally, probably because of the fact that the internal organs are not so easily examined.

Many cases were undoubtedly overlooked in former years that would now be diagnosed.

Some of the conditions which have been found to pre-dispose to cancer are the following:

1. Pigmented (brown or black) moles which are irritated and made to bleed often become cancerous.

2. It sometimes follows on the scar of an old burn.

3. A chronic ulcer found to be a very favorable soil for the growth of cancer, e.g., in the stomach.

4. Smokers are found to have cancer of the lungs more often than good smokers.

5. A chronic inflammation of the bowel may lead to it, for example, chronic hemorrhoids or dysentery.

All these factors prepare the soil for it. Once the growth starts the cells multiply without any further irritation.

CANCER OF THE SKIN. This is known as an epithelioma. It is generally found in men and half the cases are found to have the growth on the face. It generally comes on after the age of 40. It is so inidious that it is generally hard to remember just when it began; but the first thing noticed is a small round or flat topped growth. Sooner or later a scab forms on this, similar to one on a cold sore. This scab may be knocked off by accident and another one forms, perhaps a little larger. This may be repeated several times before one suspects it is aroused.

It may grow on and from exuberant granulations like those of the familiar proud flesh.

Generally there are no secondary growths unless it is initiated by the cancerous cells. There is only one treatment and that is early and complete excision.

To fool with cancer patients is to court disaster. It may be necessary to treat it with the X-rays or radium if on the eyelid to avoid pulling downward of the lid.

Sometimes these follow a mole that has been treated by a "beauty specialist". The mole is only partly removed and the scar causes a constant itching at the remainder until finally an epithelioma starts.

Cancer of the lip-much always occurs on the lower one, generally in a man past 30. It begins as a small painless surface sore with a scab on it much like a cold sore. When the scab comes off we find a small crack left. It may be a discharge or bleeding. A new scab forms and the crack becomes deeper and deeper.

Later on we get secondary growths in the glands under the chin, particularly if the growth is initiated by such things as cancerous teeth. The only treatment is far from yield constantly good results is excision.

Cancer of the tongue starts in the same way as on the lip. It is generally on the front end at the edge, and may be caused by a jagged tooth.

Cancer of the stomach causes nearly one-quarter of the deaths due to cancer. It is most frequent with advancing years.

The stomach is rendered more susceptible to it by the abuse of tea, alcohol, spices and tobacco. Some of the symptoms are a slight pain or distress after eating, a change in the desire for food, for example, a lack of desire for meat, flatulence, nausea and vomiting.

The vomited matter may be streaked with blood or blood may be passed by the bowels and change the color of the motions.

Later, on there is wasting and general weakness, with an increase in the size of the stomach. Any case of stomach trouble, that doesn't promptly respond to medical treatment, the patient be over 40, should be the subject of careful stomach analysis and X-ray examination, as these cases are hopeless if kept too long.

When we have the bowels, we get two forms according to the situation. High up in the bowel it generally surrounds the bowel, lower down it is at one side, generally the left one. The chief symptoms are obstinate and increasing constipation, particularly in one over 40. There may be a passage of blood and mucus, but one should not wait for this before undergoing an examination. Some old people think it is natural that they should employ ordinary cleanliness in looking after a fatal case of cancer, as the germ of boils and abscesses may exist on a cancer, though not causing it.

There are no such things as cancer houses. There may be houses that have been occupied now by old people and now by young ones, and of course there would probably be more cases of cancer in these houses because the old people have had cancer.

Cancer villages are spoken of, but the same thing applies to them. Many of the houses people live in have had cancer cases in them.

Cancer is not hereditary, or at least, it is not proven so by statistics. The laws of chance may cause two or three cases in a family.

It is found to be increasing more in the internal organs than externally, probably because of the fact that the internal organs are not so easily examined.

Many cases were undoubtedly overlooked in former years that would now be diagnosed.

Some of the conditions which have been found to pre-dispose to cancer are the following:

1. Pigmented (brown or black) moles which are irritated and made to bleed often become cancerous.

2. It sometimes follows on the scar of an old burn.

3. A chronic ulcer found to be a very favorable soil for the growth of cancer, e.g., in the stomach.

4. Smokers are found to have cancer of the lungs more often than good smokers.

5. A chronic inflammation of the bowel may lead to it, for example, chronic hemorrhoids or dysentery.

All these factors prepare the soil for it. Once the growth starts the cells multiply without any further irritation.

CANCER OF THE SKIN. This is known as an epithelioma. It is generally found in men and half the cases are found to have the growth on the face. It generally comes on after the age of 40. It is so inidious that it is generally hard to remember just when it began; but the first thing noticed is a small round or flat topped growth. Sooner or later a scab forms on this, similar to one on a cold sore. This scab may be knocked off by accident and another one forms, perhaps a little larger. This may be repeated several times before one suspects it is aroused.

It may grow on and from exuberant granulations like those of the familiar proud flesh.

Generally there are no secondary growths unless it is initiated by the cancerous cells. There is only one treatment and that is early and complete excision.

MR. THOMAS
REPLIES TO
MR. HILLMAN

To the Editor of the Courier.

SIR:—I, with a great number of your readers, was somewhat amused, but our amusement was not unmixed with that of indignation and disgust, feeling upon reading the last episode from the pen of the would-be councillor from Colliodon District.

What a pity the practice still prevails in our country that in order for one to get elected to almost any position he is allowed to depend on the votes of others, and is not allowed to elect only those who are his great friends of good repute and whose names are known to all. It is a pity that some position, other than to stay at home, years ago, I got almost elected to the position of councillor, but I was not elected. I was not elected. I was not elected.

There will be a Christmas tree at the Alms House, Marshalltown, for the inmates of the home on the twenty-third of Dec. Anyone having anything to give please leave it at Mr. Shortliffe's store, Digby—W. H. Thomas, Supt.

Mr. Dexter who had the misfortune to break his leg some time ago, is not as yet able to attend to his office work and today he leaves for New York on a trip to be gone about a week. His absence by that time to be able to again attend to regular duties.

Every business man who expects public patronage should ask for it through an advertisement in the local paper. People have been educated to read advertisements, and naturally they expect better service from a merchant who asks for their trade than one who doesn't.

People sometimes wonder why they find MORSE'S SELECTED ORANGE PEKOE so much superior to all other teas. The reason is that it is a blend of the finest teas of the finest gardens in India and Ceylon. It is almost impossible to match the combination that you find in MORSE'S SELECTED ORANGE PEKOE.

On Monday Sheriff Smith received from Allan Moses, of North Head, Grand Manan, a letter stating that the smallest known variety of the owl family with the exception of the Sawtooth. The Richardson owl is a rare bird and is found in one of the few places where they nest. It is not migratory and makes a great house pet.

Grand Manan visitors to St. John report that John Webster of Digby county almost lost his life off that island a few days ago when he fell from the steamer "Aurora" Capt. Jordan, of C. R. Sweeney & Co., which was dragging for scallops. The steamer was in rough water, and it was only due to the quick action of Capt. Jordan, who jumped overboard and rescued him, as he was going down for the third time, that Webster was saved. Webster was taken ashore and recuperated.

During the past month three more scallop beds have been discovered in the Bay of Fundy by Patrol Boat A, Capt. Baker. The first is at Morrell's Ledge off Freeport; the second inland Northwest Ledge off Brier Island, and the third reported yesterday from a mile off Bogart's Brook, Annapolis county, which is about a mile above Digby Gut. The latter bed lies east and west. All the beds are good ones and there will be good fishing for some time to come. The bed recently discovered at Centreville has proved to be a big one.

The funeral of John Lowe, found dead at Weymouth some weeks ago, whose body was recently exhumed and identified by his widow, took place Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Snow's mortuary chapel to Camp Hill cemetery, Halifax. Service was conducted at the chapel by Rev. Mr. MacIntosh and the members of the Unemployed Workmen's Association attended in a body. C. A. Jordan supervised the exhumation of the body this week.

Remember that thousands of other people are mailing an unusual number of letters and parcels, too, at this season, and if they pile up together the last few days, it is impossible to get everything handled and delivered on time, and somebody is bound to be disappointed. Mail early, and see that your friends get your Christmas greetings before the New Year's festivities are over. Parcels should in all cases be securely packed so as to preserve the contents from loss or damage. It is permissible to write the words "Don't Open Until Christmas" on parcels.

THE NOVA SCOTIA TEMPERANCE ACT

To the Editor of the Courier:
 Sir:—In your issue of December 1st, special reference was made to two features of the N. S. T. Act. First the prohibitory character of the measure was emphasized. Second reference was also made to certain special provisions made whereby liquor can be secured legally, for strictly medicinal, sacramental purposes, also for the purpose of trade or manufacture.

Reference is now made to new provisions respecting vendors who are appointed by the town council or municipality to sell liquor under the conditions already referred to. It should be noticed that when a town or municipality appoints a vendor he has the exclusive right to fill prescriptions of the act as follows in this connection: "No chemist, physician or druggist shall keep for sale or sell in any quantity for which a vendor has been appointed under the provisions of this act, except as otherwise provided by this act, provided however that any chemist, physician or druggist may keep for the purpose of compounding medicines, rum, brandy, whisky, gin or wine in quantities not exceeding one gallon in the case of each such liquor." From the provisions already referred to it can be easily seen that if all the citizens will combine and guarantee concerted action the evils of intemperance can be fully removed from our town and community.

Yours truly,
 W. H. WATTS,
 President of Digby County Sanitary Committee.
 Digby, N. S., Dec. 13th, 1922.

The shipbuilding industry of Shelburne was getting back to normal conditions. There were three vessels now building in the yards, and two more contracted for.

Mr. Ainslow McKay launched a very fine schooner on Friday, and the prospects were exceedingly bright for continuance of the industry for months ahead.

A Christmas Concert of a unique feature given in the Acadiaville African Baptist church by school children and adults on Tuesday evening (December 21st), at 7.45. If you wish to enjoy yourself come and see the little folks perform under their leader and teacher, Admission 15c. If stormy come the next two evenings.

Rain showers and sunshines are needed to produce the quality of tea, and the country of the world in which both of these are found in just the right quantity is the district of Assam in India. This is the district in which J. D. Morahan secures their supplies of those juicy teas which have made MORSE'S the favorite among tea drinkers.

MORSE'S is more of a rich juicy tea.

A subscriber writes the Courier as follows: "While watching the S. Keyingham docking on Sunday evening I was thinking how fortunate we were in having tea and a ship of the Keyingham partly loaded could dock without the assistance of a tug with the tide at almost two hours ebb. And now that the addition to the spur pier is nearly completed we are in a position to load most any sized ship."

The steamer Keyingham, Capt. Elliott arrived last Sunday from Gaspe Quebec, to complete her cargo of pulp for St. Louis du Rhone, south of France. She had on 2700 tons loaded at Gaspe, from the Chandler mills, and is taking on 2700 tons more at this port from the Sissiboo mills at Weymouth. The next steamer scheduled is the Damara, Capt. Finnie, which is due here in about a month. Capt. Elliott of the Keyingham is very much pleased with the addition to the spur, which he agitated when here a year ago.

While the steamer Keyingham was underway from Gaspe, England to Gaspe, with a cargo of coal off the Straits of Belle Isle, she heard the S. O. S. call from the Norwegian steamer Nordfeld, also outward bound to the same port with coal, saying she was sinking fast and asking for help. The Keyingham was unable just then to proceed as she was having difficulties herself in a blizzard, but after the weather cleared she started for the rescue, only to find that a Dutch steamer had arrived an hour previous. After exchanging messages for an hour the Keyingham proceeded on the Norwegian said he required no assistance. The Nordfeld has since become a total wreck on the Flower Ledge, Straits of Belle Isle.

LAST OF THE "TWELVE DAYS"

Epiphany, Originally, Was Celebrated Rather Than Christmas, According to Some Authorities.

EPHANY is the last day of the "Twelve Days" of which Christmas is the first. Authorities on this subject tell us that originally it was Epiphany which was celebrated rather than Christmas. It was the baptism of Jesus (or the spiritual birth) which interested the early church fathers rather than Christmas (or the physical birth). In some circles in early Christianity the baptism appears to have been looked upon as the true birth of Christ, the moment when, filled by the spirit, He became the Son of God. For some time the two feasts were celebrated together on January 6. Gradually the western church began to stress the physical birth, and eventually the two events were celebrated separately, December 25 being fixed upon as the date for the Nativity. In the East the celebration of the two events continued for some time after the separate feast of Christmas had been instituted. The Church of Jerusalem stood out until the seventh century, refusing to adopt the new feast. The Armenian church knows nothing of December 25, and still celebrates the Nativity with the Epiphany in January. Epiphany is a greater festival in the Greek church than Christmas.

Such in bare outline is the story of the spread of Christmas as a separate festival.

THE GIFTS OF THE SEASON

Christmas Customs, Wrapped in Dim Traditions, Bright With Happiness and Beauty.

APART from the presents wrapped in crackling white tissue paper, bright with scarlet ribbons that will be put into eager hands from Christmas trees, there are countless other gifts of the season, writes Elizabeth R. Kingsley in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. These come wrapped in the dim traditions of hundreds and thousands of years, they have traveled from far away countries, they are bright with the happiness and beauty of long ago Christmas—they are our Christmas customs.

Christmas carols have come to us from the Holy Land itself, the Christmas tree from the East via Germany. Santa Claus has come from Holland on the reindeer loaned him in the Far North, our stockings hung first in the chimneys of France and Belgium; even the Christmas cards with their cheery greetings have crossed the ocean from England. Perhaps the only purely American product is the Christmas turkey.

The First Christmas Card.

The exchange of greeting cards, though now such a recognized part of Christmaseve ceremonial, is a custom of quite recent origin. The honor of its invention is claimed by three men, all famous in other connections, Rev. Edward Bradley (better known as Outthorpe Bede, author of "Verdant Green"), J. C. Horsley, R. A., and Miss W. C. T. Dobson. R. A. Outthorpe Bede had a card printed from his own design for circulation in 1845, and two years later his printers, a Newcastle firm, put a number of cards on the market. About the same time, in 1847, J. C. Horsley designed a card for Sir Henry Cope of Summerville Printing House, Old Bond Street. The subject was a typical scene of feasting and jollity. One thousand copies were printed and one of the few survivors sold a few years since for £50. According to some authorities Mr. Dobson was really the first in the field—Westminster Gazette.

WHAT DID SHE MEAN

Tom—I'm going away Christmas. Alice—Is that so? Won't that be nice?

Old-Fashioned Doughnuts.

One pint of sugar, one-half cupful of butter, two eggs, one pint of fresh milk, one teaspoonful of soda dissolved in hot water, half a teaspoonful each of salt, nutmeg and cinnamon, flour enough to make a stiff dough. Stand in a cool place 24 hours, then roll out and fry. The dough will keep a week and a few can be fried every day if one likes them fresh from the pan.

Prompt Settlement.

"Indeed, Cousin Jack, we owe you a great deal for helping to decorate the room for our Christmas party." "Then, as you acknowledge the debt, come over here under the mistletoe and let me collect some of the over-head charges."

For Youngsters.

Youngsters enjoy working with colored beads and for them a gift of a box of assorted colored glass beads is quite appropriate. These beads are used for kindergarten work and are quite inexpensive.

Transformations of pure white hair much in demand among society women at present cost up to $100.

GIFTS OUT OF THE ORDINARY

Frying-Pan for Queen Victoria—Man Gives Wife Five Pounds to Buy Washstand.

THE king of Siam used to send Queen Victoria a very curious gift every Christmas. It may have been "want of imagination, or he may have heard that the frying-pan was the curse of the English cook, and thought they must want constantly renewing. Whatever the reason, her majesty received a silver frying-pan as regularly as Christmas came round. Thomas Carlyle once quite forgot to buy a Christmas gift for his wife. There is nothing unique about this. Other men have done the same. Not to have anything particularly generous in it, he made up for his neglect to remember the day. He wrote the following letter:

"The property of a washstand to the best of all women. Blessings on her bonnie face, and be it ever blithesome as it is dear, blithe or not."
 —T. Carlyle. December 26, 1860.

The great man did really give his wife five pounds, which to buy the promised washstand, at which he no doubt, washed quite as often as she did. But that's a man all over.

UNDER THE MISTLETOE SPRIG

Punishment Meted Out by Oxfordshire Maids to Men Who Refused to Obey Commands.

IN SOME places in Oxfordshire, every maid-servant had the privilege and frequently exercised it, of decorating a man for his breeches. The next day they could be seen nailed to the gate of the highway. But a severe punishment thus was sometimes meted out to him; he was deprived of the privilege of the mistletoe.

The first maid to pass under this greenery on Christmas day was sure to be married within the year, and equally sure of being kissed—for that was the penalty, if it can be called such, to be paid by any maid who passed under it. After each offense a berry was plucked, while the privilege was supposed to end with the last berry.

"Christmas Past."

IT WAS indeed a "gracious" Christmas, as we read of the revels and ceremonies and foolish beliefs of Christmas Past, we might regret what we have lost in this year. It was indeed a "gracious" Christmas, as we read of the revels and ceremonies and foolish beliefs of Christmas Past, we might regret what we have lost in this year. It was indeed a "gracious" Christmas, as we read of the revels and ceremonies and foolish beliefs of Christmas Past, we might regret what we have lost in this year.

The Great Giver.

Christmas is the birthday of Jesus, we never gave the world a dollar, and bestowed upon mankind no other material gift. "He curved no statue, painted no picture, wrote no poem, composed no song, fashioned no piece of jewelry, built no altar, founded no city, erected no triumphal arch; but He stands in history as the Great Giver." Such as He had He gave: the sympathetic hand, the gentile mind, the generous heart, the courageous spirit, which all worked together to build up out of the human the divine. The Father gave us His Son; then He gave His Son; now He offers His Spirit—Adapted.

Sweet Sauces.

It is usual in England to serve what American housewives call "soft sauce" with the Christmas plum pudding, but the delicious "hard sauce" which we ourselves affect make a nice change. Soft sauces take the form of a thin hot custard, which will be the more creamy if a few spoonfuls of condensed milk are stirred in after the custard is made in the ordinary way. Another favorite sauce is made by adding sugar to melted butter.

AS USUAL

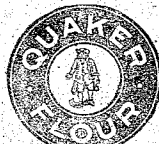

"I suppose you've finished your Christmas shopping?" "Yes, and I finished me."

The Portable Lamp.

The cheapest and most generally useful electric appliance and at the same time the most seldom taken advantage of in the ordinary household is the portable lamp. This simply consists of a few yards of flexible insulated wire, at one end of which is fixed an ordinary plug to screw into a wall or chandelier socket and at the other a lamp socket. The cost is very little.

"I Was a Fright!"

"Nothing I Could Take Made Me Any Fatter."

"Up to the time I was seventeen years old, I believe that I was the most miserable and unhappy girl that ever lived. Honestly, I was a sight. I was the most ungainly-looking creature you ever saw. I was thin and scrawny—straight up and down. My height was five feet nine inches and I weighed exactly ninety-one and three-quarter pounds. No matter what kind of clothes I put on, I looked like a fright. I was clumsy and awkward. I used to stand before the glass and study my features. I found I had a good nose, good eyes and a good mouth, but my cheeks were sunken and my face looked like a skull with a piece of parchment stretched over it. But nothing could do or take made me any fatter. Men rarely even glanced at me. When they did, they merely gave me a casual, amused or pitying look—an expression which I can remember as 'why is a being like that allowed to live?' I used to lie awake at night for hours at a time wondering why there were so many beautiful girls in the world and I was so hideous."

I met a friend of mine one day, Elsie W. and I hardly knew her. While she had never been as thin as I was, a year or more ago she ran me a close second, but when I met her she had taken on flesh and had developed into a fine handsome girl with one of the prettiest figures I had ever seen. I asked her what had caused the big change. She said, "Carol. She told me she had been taking it regularly from the first week of August if she had begun to put on flesh. I was so encouraged by what she said that I couldn't get to the drugist fast enough. I bought a bottle and since then I have been taking it regularly. It has made the greatest change in me you ever saw. I now weigh 160 pounds and all my friends tell me what a wonderful figure I have and I know that I am 'thinner'."

Carol is sold by your drugist, and if you can conscientiously say after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund you money.

A Holiday Romance

By T. B. ALDERSON

Two feet deep of snow. Why, it's a regular Christmas gift for me!" observed Rolfe Darion, looking hopefully at the night sky. He had just awoken from a night of profound slumber and glanced out through the street window of the callow wanderer who had no other home.

"If I can only get a snow shower," he observed, "I will see to it that your meals and lodging are well provided for over Christmas."

"Thank you, my friend!" murmured the other gratefully. "You have been very kind to me," and Darion left him with a genial good-bye and started forth for a day of hard, earnest work.

Darion was passing some cottages adjoining one another when the door of the nearest one was opened and a pleasant faced lady beckoned to him.

"You look as if you were seeking work," she said. "Would you clean off this sidewalk and a path to the coal shed for half a dollar?"

"You must come in and share our lunch, if you will," invited the young lady, glancing to glance through the window he noticed in the next yard a young girl battling with the heavy snow of a fall broom.

"She doesn't make much progress," he observed to his hostess. "If you could lend me your broom, I will soon have it finished and the house for her."

"I found an old broom for her," she said. "I will give it to you for nothing. You needn't worry about it," she declared lightly. "It will make me feel the better for doing a little act of kindness, so near to Christmas."

Hanging Up the Stocking

Time-Honored Christmas Custom Dates Back to the Days of St. Nicholas of Padua.

FROM Italy comes the legend from which we are supposed to get the time-honored custom of hanging up the Christmas stocking.

Good old St. Nicholas of Padua used to throw long knitted purses tied at both ends, into the open windows of the very poor people. These purses were made of yarn not unlike a foot-stocking. Finally it became the custom of the people to hang them outside of their window on the night before Christmas, so that St. Nicholas could put a gift into them as he passed by.

It is the La Petit Jean that brings gifts to the French children at Christmas time. He is a little boy, and he is sure to find something in the wooden shoe of the child if it is left at the door.

Something in the shoe of one who has been naughty.

To the French, Christmas is the great time for greens. Everywhere one sees the brilliant poinsettia flower displayed. The houses are filled with mistletoe and holly, and half the fun of Christmas consists in getting the greens and decorating the houses.

The Hodening Horse. ABOUT the middle of the Nineteenth-century it was the custom in Kent for the male farm-servants to go on Christmas eve and hang the house with the hodenning horse, which was a imitation of a horse's head, life size and made of wood, and fastened on a stick about the length of a broom handle.

Wandering Jews Christmas. There was a common belief in some countries that the spirits of the lost had rest on Christmas night, and that when the hour comes that ushers in the holy season, the wandering Jew is seen in the shape of a beggar, and the returned face glides in the direction of Jerusalem where he struck the Saviour in the time of his trial.

Celery Soup. Take the coarse outer stalks of a bunch of celery and scrub them well. Cut into small pieces, cover with cold water, and boil for an hour in an uncovered saucepan. Drain and save the water. Mash the celery through a colander, return to water and boil for ten minutes. To each cupful of celery water add a cupful of hot milk, two level tablespoons of butter and one level tablespoonful of corn rubbed together. Season with salt and pepper. Sprinkle chopped parsley over the top of each bowl and serve with croutons.

A Yuletide Reunion

By CECILIE LANGDON

MADGE ALLISON was seated in the front part of the vacant store on Broad street, where for two weeks she had been the active director of a public movement for preparing a suitable and joyous holiday for the young children of the poor district of Charlton.

Sufficient had been donated to give comfort and pleasure to the little ones and now the grand work was going on to make up wreaths and other trimmings for the workmen's hall, where Santa Claus was to distribute his gifts.

It pleased her sympathetic heart to see how anxious her little pensioners were to make up the evergreen wreaths she directed them. The willing and excited helpers chattered and laughed and sang and comprised a noisy brood. Then there was a sudden lull.

"Someone is peeping in at us," announced one of the girls. "Why, Miss Allison," volunteered the eldest of her assistants, "it is Vance Dacre!"

Miss Allison turned her face away. It had grown very white, almost frightened, and her eyes had grown strained. Vance Dacre had come back! Two years had passed since she had seen him or had even heard of him. She was greatly shaken, gathered up the decorations and said as gently as she could:

"Children, we have two more days to work, and there are things I must attend to this afternoon, so we will defer further work until tomorrow."

As her willing helpers trooped away, she sat alone in the room thinking, wondering, and of Vance Dacre all the while. The door opened and Vance Dacre entered the room.

"I had to come, I hope you will forgive the intrusion," and then he paused, for she had hurried to her feet and advanced with smiling face and extended hand. "Surely everyone of your good friends will be glad to welcome you back home," she said.

MAKE MERRY ON CHRISTMAS

Calabrian Minstrels of Rome, With Silvan Pipes, Started Celebration Ten Days in Advance.

CHRISTMAS used to be celebrated in which by the arrival of Calabrian minstrels with their silvan pipes ten days before Christmas. In every street of the historic city they would play their wild, plaintive music before the shrines of the Madonna.

The music of chiming bells before Christmas the day of Christmas in the Philippines the day of Christmas is ushered in by ringing of bells in scores of church towers, calling the people to service. In the dark they flock to the churches to the familiar notes of the "Adagio Paganini."

QUEER WAYS OF MISTLETOE Popular Christmas Green Fastens Its Roots on Study Trees and Relieves Nourishment.

THE mistletoe is really a parasite. Instead of being a healthy tree itself, it fastens its roots upon the sturdy oak and gum trees, and even depends on others to live.

Has the Real Spirit. Has the real Christmas spirit been laid upon its bier by a lot of old fogies who have lived too long to taste the thrill of the holy and mistletoe; whose spectacles and whiskers have dimmed their eyes from the kingdom of pure delight where the children wander; and whose dyspeptic spirits have been warped with acid bitterness until they can no longer feel the sweet joy of Christmas cheer?

WORRIED "Jim didn't call last night." "He didn't. What's the matter?" "We don't know whether he's ill or just dodging Christmas present."

Star of Bethlehem in Holland. In Holland the harbinger of Christmas is a large illuminated star which is carried through the streets, dark, dusk, across, shining upon the crowd of people and significant of the star which once guided the three wise men of the East. The young men who carry the star through the streets gather round it for the poor from the crowds who come out to watch for it. After this they betake themselves to the burghmaster of the town, who, according to custom, is bound to see the star down to a splendid meal. This is a very great institution in many Dutch towns.

Sauce For Plum Pudding. Serve foamy sauce with plum pudding. To make it cream together one-half cupful of butter, one cupful of powdered sugar; add gradually one well-beaten egg and one-half teaspoonful of vanilla. Beat thoroughly in a double boiler, beating it thoroughly all the while.

Kissing Time and Christmas Time

By GENEVIEVE ULMAR

"WELL," Mrs. Nancy Blair uttered the word in a profound gasp of bewilderment. For the first time in twenty years her husband, Alvin, had kissed her.

"Kissing time!" he soliloquized, and aptly, it transpired. "I couldn't help it. Please dear, seemed to prize that first token of romance of the dull plodding years."

Alvin hummed an old love song that took him back to the early days of courtship, and he slipped up the horses as he peered through the leafless trees of a grove near the road. Then he chuckled as he caught sight of a slim, girlish figure and a companion. She was Lucella Morse, the daughter of a merchant, and beside her was his own handsome, stalwart son, Noble Blair. They stood near together, fairly face to face, and their attitude betokened acknowledged lovers.

Peered Through the Leafless Trees. Then, conversing with Marty Remick, and then he kissed her. Alvin thought of how his wife had feared that the holiday, depending on the weather, would leave for his home in the next county.

He will stay and they will marry. "He will stay and they will marry," declared Alvin, "and I will be glad to let them have the little cottage, for it is the first time since I have been married that I have seen a young couple so happy."

THE MEANING OF CHRISTMAS

Vice President Coolidge Places Construction on the Greatest Event in Human History.

CHRISTMAS has but one meaning—the Nativity. To be lighted to see the true meaning of the event, the Nativity, the justice, but also the mercy, the helping hand of God. This, the greatest event in human history, has a spiritual meaning. The Saviour came to minister to the spiritual nature of man. He showed the true glory and importance of man—and helping man showed the duty of helping and being helped.

GUIDES BABE OF BETHLEHEM Lighted Candle in Window on Christmas Eve Will Bring Happiness, as Old Tradition.

AN OLD tradition has it that a lighted candle set in a window on Christmas eve will guide the Babe of Bethlehem to your home. That you may bring your happiness. In some countries it has long been the custom to light a candle on Christmas, and John H. Steadman of Rochester, N. Y., has originated a movement to spread it in this country.

The Tree Things of Life. We stand tonight at another fullness of life; perhaps it is a fullness in which material things, the man-made things, bulk largest. Perhaps it is a time in which confidence in the human spirit is most conspicuous and the divine. It is becoming increasingly evident that there must speedily come to men the vision of life and real values as they find their inner worth and interpretation of their lives.

Christmas-Cookies. Cream together two cupfuls brown sugar and one-half cupful butter. Add one well-beaten egg, eight tablespoons sugar and one-half cupful milk. Add one-half cupful soda dissolved in one-half cupful boiling water, one teaspoonful cinnamon, 2½ cupfuls rolled oats, two cupfuls flour. Mix all together and bake in a tin for an hour, then drop a teaspoonful at a time on greased tin. Press a fat raisin on the top of each and bake in a moderate oven. This amount makes about four dozen cookies.

Holiday Prodigals

By Walter Joseph Delaney

CHRISTMAS! Shortest of all the year, outside the home of Seth and Esther Marvin at Easton, and in blank surprise those estimable persons came to the porch and viewed Uncle Gregory departing. To the fence was tied the fattest, sleekest calf they had ever seen.

Where are you going? Inquired Mr. Marvin, staring vaguely. "I'm off for Christmas, old fellow! I'll be over later; good bye till then and Merry Christmas!"

Over to the woods. I'm going to get some evergreen and holly. It is as well to be prepared for a surprise. "But the fall has been so long, the three sons of the worthy couple had left home secretly one night after writing a note, honest and respectful, announcing that they had heard of positions in a distant factory and had taken a mortgage on the home and hard times were distressing the dear old father they felt it their duty to do something toward the family support."

But the fattest calf for the prodigals? he queried chuckling. "Be assured, my dear boy, by the way, I had an hour later in Uncle Gregory blossomed forth in his most felicitous style. He handed a folded leaf looking document to Mrs. Marvin.

What is this, Uncle Gregory?" she inquired. "Release of the mortgage these dear lads hoped to pay through their own exertions, but they are only boys, if you read this, and the task was too heavy for them. I have a plan. I consider you a good investment and I have donated what will take you through college and prepare you for battling with the world. Well, declared Mr. Marvin and there was a catch in his throat.

As to Mrs. Marvin, she came up to the old man and placed her loving arm about his neck and kissed him fervently. "It is a beautiful surprise, indeed," voiced Mr. Marvin. "Blessings come thickly when we need them."

And the three charming girls were for kissing their mother and their father. "Christmas," he exclaimed, with a chuckle for the three lovely girls who sat close to their admiring lover, who felt that the Christmas bells were ringing in his heart to celebrate their Christmas happiness.

"Prodigals returned!" murmured Uncle Gregory truly, "but practical ones. Dear old fellow, this is the year to be home smiling through his happy tears, and singing the refrain of a happy, merry old Christmas song."

XMAS GREETING

The Women's Institute Publicity Committee with the closing of the year 1922, extends the Season's Greetings to the readers of this page conducted under its auspices. They wish to make the plea, that Bear River citizens, both at home and abroad, assist them more fully in 1923 to make this page of greater interest and to supplement their efforts to keep our town "Alive in the realms of Printer's Ink."

A dearth of news often faces the committee and it is not easy to make this page attractive. There is no lack of brainy men and women in our town, and may we ask that they make some effort by contributing articles relating to the town's business and social life, back up the Institute. Publicity Committee's efforts to remind the outside world that Bear River is in existence.

Let us have faith in our town's possibilities—let us not be "knockers" but "boosters"—let us tell the world, that nestled down among our picturesque hills, is one of the most beautifully situated and naturally endowed towns on God's fair earth, surrounded by fine farming and lumbering districts and endowed with immense undeveloped Hydro resources. Let us believe there is a prosperous future, and as "Faith without works is dead" let us as citizens of our town make individual effort to bring renewed prosperity and progress.

A RECORD.

Henry M. Romans aged 9 1/2, son of W. M. Romans of the Royal Bank, Bear River, is one of our coming shots. His record is four partings in four shots, and to wind off with a wood cock in the wing, making five straight. Is this not a record for a boy of his years to be shooting on the wing? He used his father's gauge which is still a little large for him to handle.

Obituary

The sudden death of Frank Alcorn on Wednesday morning December 13th, greatly shocked the community of Bear River and vicinity. Mr. Alcorn, having been a life long resident, and a member of a highly respected family, for many years connected with the farming and lumbering industries in Digby County.

Leaving his home at Millford Center in apparently good health, yet before reaching the town, he succumbed by the "Death Angel". Mr. Alcorn had been seen to fall from his carriage and was already dead when reached. Not a struggle showed on his placid face, and death must have come as gently as a cat's paw.

Funeral services were held at his home Millford Center Saturday afternoon by Rev. Mr. Mack and Rev. Mr. Gregg. Beautiful and appropriate music was rendered by the Methodist Choir. The house crowded with relatives, neighbors and a large number of towns folk testified to the place Mr. Alcorn held in the community life. He leaves a wife formerly Miss Leah Morgan, two sons, Bernard and Roy and two daughters, all at home.

Mr. Alcorn was the son of Thomas Alcorn, an Englishman, who was one of the pioneer settlers of Millford Center. He leaves a large number of Brothers and sisters to mourn his passing, the sisters being Mrs. Thaddeus Harris, Mrs. Albert Yarrick and the brothers William, Leigh, Benjamin, Charles and Rubeen Alcorn all of Bear River, N. S.

STORY SERMON.

On Sunday evening Dec. 24th, in the Methodist church, Rev. C. M. Mack will deliver a story sermon entitled, "The First Christmas Tree" by Henry Van Dyke. This fascinating story shows how a famous English Prince carried Christianity to Central Russia; overthrew many pagan rites, saved a child from being sacrificed, and dropped down the mighty oak that was regarded as the dwelling place of this cruel deity and gathered the people around a decorated fir—the first Christmas tree.

FOURTEEN HUNDRED BUSHELS OF MANGELS PER ACRE.

Come to the Short Course at the Nova Scotia Agricultural College, Jan. 3rd to 12th, and find out how they raised the 1400 tons of mangels and what became of them.
