Town Council In Regular Session Monday Evening

Number of Important Matters Discussed And Report of Officials Read

The regular monthly meeting of the Digby Town Council was held in the Council Chambers on Monday evening last. His Worship Mayor E. DuVernet in the chair and all the Council members present with the exception of Coun. Holdsworth.

The minutes of the last regular meeting was read and on motion adopted, and a large number of bills read and ordered paid.

Supt. of Streets, W. W. Hayden, presented his report for the month of September. A number of improvements had been made at the reservoir, a new gate installed and the cement wall repaired; new roof placed on Town Hall and lower; new hydrant installed on Warwick Street; new main being erected on Church Street. The report was on motion of Coun. Anderson was adopted.

Health officer Dr. W. E. Read, in his quarterly report, showed that during the past three months the town has been free of any contagious disease.

A resolution was moved by Coun. Jordan, seconded by Coun. Peck, authorizing the Mayor and Town Clerk to sign the necessary documents to cover the usual overdraft at the Bank.

Just Talks--On Common Themes

On "The Latter Year"

I FIND the mornings cold and the mists hanging over the winding streams and the Basin, seeping up the interstices of the bridges and lying along the shore even after the heat of the sun has burned away the higher mist clouds. Sometimes the cloud stretches away meandering along like the smoke of a railroad train on a cloudless day.

We shall soon be taking a trip into the country to look with wonder on the pageant, that touches even the most insensitive of humans. For you hear them all planning "trips thru the mountains to see the autumn foliage." They are stirred—they know not how—by the glory of hills all painted in ochres and in pastels. They come home to fall of words to express the stirrings of deeps, primordial and often like the dregs of passion or of pain; muddy-like, in the bottom of their souls.

We shall go along, pushed day by day, by the relentless retirement of the sun, as the world tips on edge, age after age, in obedience to laws, that have no apparent kin to us, but which we are products rather than producers. Black willows will soon stand bare along the edges of the rivers. Balm of Gileads and a few "triumphant elms" will still hand out their dusky banners on the "outer walls of the latter year" as Thoreau puts it. Indian summer will put in leg-bail for the greasy old red-skins. And then after the harvests are gathered there is a stationary period, when as the Walden mystic again says, the year travels on a paved road.

We ought to pause a bit just now, and open the windows and doors in ourselves for the glories of the latter year. It is easy to put ourselves into closer harmony with nature at this season than at any other; for there is a peace in Nova Scotia in autumn that there is nowhere else in the world. Spring is tense, summer feverish and excited, autumn like the age of lovely characters, silent, no longer garrulous, peaceful and patient.

Is there not somewhere in my reading and in yours, something about the "deception of climate like that which pervades men." I recall something like this: "The downright cheer of Old England, struggling through its brogue, the stiletto-like affliction of Italy and France, with us are lacking." Like our climate, the sentiment of this province is changeable. Have climates this influence over human beings? What sober patience do we Nova Scotians imbibe from the latter year, with its still days; its long and reflective periods; its prevision into the death of the transitory grass. You will remember that Emerson says that the people take from the soil on which they are reared—the Nova Scotian getting something from the rough soil of our land, a certain fibre that they who are born on alluvial soils or in the tropics do not have. "I do not doubt," says Thoreau, "that the range of the thermometer invades the morals of a people. The Puritan element yet survives in our conservatism, even if there be gilding on the chain. Our great historian took the weight of his waistcoat before he went forth. A few years past, yonder breezy representative may have been an usher in a school. Where, perhaps, flagrant was taught."

Perhaps then we may be permitted to call your attention to immediate opportunities as you step to the back-door stoop of your home and look abroad over yellowing fields and to mountains swathed in an azure that cometh not at any other time or place in the world. You see ochrean tints, piled on high, and Botticelli blues in defiance of natural colors. The children playing at a schoolhouse a mile away are heard, along with the rattling of carts, the clanking of chains, the creaking of distant barn-yards; the multitude of radio-sounds from all around, sent over wave lengths attenuated and attenuated by some weariness of nature; getting ready for its vacation in the woods.

If maybe there be a little blue smoke down the horizon where some one is burning brush; if there be a faint smell of wood-smoke if there be trees in crimson, showing off deliberately, like a girl at her first party; if the pond be mirrored and the winds all be asleep, as tho the world were dreaming as dreams an old man in his chair—then you get the influences perhaps of the latter year in the Maritime Provinces.

We would like more of the world to come over and pass this rare period with us and sense it as it is—influential on the spiritual regeneration and powerful for the comfort of body and mind. This summer swarm of beach and hotel has "shifted gears" from high to low, back to second and to high again and so sped along. Yet they leave a great panorama behind—the best of the year in Nova Scotia—the latter year. They leave a mellowing arena of the gods. They leave a circle of the campfire of the muses and the decorators of Thine flame, dying low and painting hills and dales. They leave the warm woods, full of busy life, getting ready for winter. They leave the brooks singing their songs of autumn rains and swift passage to the seas. They leave the wonderful clouds and the blue skies of autumn, more than cobalt and finer than Italy. They leave septillions of red leaves, everyone of them straining for attention and asking us to "look at me. See what I have attained for you."

And leave them also a seat on a sun-warmed knoll or on a tree-stump, looking into aisles of forests, when and where they may attune themselves to the latter year; feel its philosophic low and get its tender teaching; drop into the step with nature; find a peace that knoweth not understanding and is better than medicine.

Here in the Maritime Provinces—here particularly in Nova Scotia of the latter year, now just on its verge. I hear the woods, calling; I hear the waters over the forest dunes. I see the mirrored ponds and the tall mountains with its sides painted in glory. But more than that I hear God speaking and telling me, that Earth is alive; all is alive; all is Life—no death anywhere; no revenge; all service; and all, the fulfilment of beauty as the leaf so happily tells and the latter year so deeply proves.

Horticultural Exhibition, Smith's Cove Saturday Last Was Much Appreciated

Women's Institute To Be Congratulated On Splendid Display

One of the finest exhibitions of native grown vegetables, fruit, etc., ever seen in Digby County, was on display in the Temperance Hall at Smith's Cove on Saturday last, and it is regrettable that a larger number of our citizens did not have an opportunity of viewing this splendid exhibition. Very few people in Digby knew anything about such exhibition being held within its borders, and the first intimation of such an affair came to The Courier office on Saturday afternoon, when a representative of this paper was asked to go to Smith's Cove and view the wonderful display.

The credit for holding the exhibition on Saturday last goes to the Smith's Cove Women's Institute, of which Mrs. George Austin is President. Early each spring the Institute distribute seeds of every description to the school children who are asked to prepare a garden and do the planting themselves, and each fall the result of their labor is placed on exhibition, and prizes are given by the Institute for the best display. This was the outcome of the exhibition held on Saturday last and the children deserve credit for the splendid showing.

Miss Cenith Thomas, who is convener of the Agricultural committee not only of the Smith's Cove Institute, but of the Provincial Committee, is a graduate of the Agricultural College, Truro, and it was through her efforts that the children became deeply interested in the movement for the first time. Miss Thomas has spent considerable time in this branch of the Institutes work, and her efforts have been amply repaid by the interest which the children have taken.

Harold Sully won first prize for best selection of leaves gathered, with Fred Smith 2nd.

The prize offered for a selection of native woods was won by Miss Edna Weir, a little girl eight years of age.

Clayton Woodman was the winner in the best selection of wild flowers, with Freda Roop, 2nd, Vernon McGregor, 3rd.

The wonderful display of flowers and potted plants on exhibition was arranged by Miss Inez Rice, and favorably commented upon by those who had the opportunity of attending.

Miss Thomas had on display a choice selection of moths, common beetles, beneficial insects and injurious insects, etc.

Among the numerous articles on display were some prepared by Mrs. Austin, who has been President of the local Institute for three successive years; as well as other articles prepared by different members of the Institute.

The display of Digby County apples deserves special mention, as well as the display of cabbage, cauliflower, potatoes, pumpkins, squash, etc.

A display of September cherries, picked by a little chap three years of age, brought forth considerable attention from the visitors.

On the whole, the exhibition was exceptionally good, and The Courier believes that this was only the beginning of a much larger exhibition next year. Digby County should fall in line and advertise her goods by holding or reviving the exhibition which had been held in this County in former years. The people are beginning to take greater interest in exhibits of this nature and we feel sure that such an affair, if placed in proper hands and advertised widely, would be of great benefit to this County and would be a financial success.

Hydro a Possibility In Near Future Declares Mayor E. DuVernet

Question Of New Oil Engine Discussed At Regular Meeting of Town Council Monday Evening But No Definite Action Taken

AFTER BEING ALLOWED to remain at a standstill during the past three months, the much talked off and discussed oil engine question, was again brought into the limelight on Monday evening when Coun. Peck took the matter up with Town Council. And from the opinion gathered by the remarks of those who took part in the discussion, no money will be spent this year in the purchase of a new electric light plant for Digby.

The service furnished by the steam plant this summer was the poorest in years, declared Coun. Peck, and now that things have quieted down he did not see why the wishes of a majority of the people could not be carried out. It was even necessary at times to phone the power station to have the juice turned on for the benefit of the summer hotels, declared the speaker, and the hotel men were getting so disgusted with the present state of affairs that they were contemplating purchasing Diesel plants if the town did not take some definite action by the end of the present year. There was no talk of hydro, and it looked to him as if hydro would never be developed at Bear River. The time has arrived to drive home the wedge and the Council should get together and decide the make of engine they intend purchasing and installing.

Coun. Jordan followed Coun. Peck in the discussion and declared a saving of $3,000 a year would ensue if an oil engine was purchased.

His Worship Mayor DuVernet upon rising said that he would like to give expression to his views on the oil engine question. At the Town meetings held last fall he was in record as being in favour of hydro if it were possible to get it, failing that, then he was strongly in favor of an oil engine. Two years ago when the Power Commission visited Digby they gave us to understand that the putting in of the Hydro Development at Bear River depended upon the operation of the Clarke Bros. pulp mill; during the oil engine discussions last autumn very few believed that this mill would ever run, but since then it had come to life and he was informed that it would soon be in operation. He had recently discussed the hydro question with the Manager of the pulp mill, also the Mayor of Yarmouth, and had written to the Power Commission. He had strong reasons to believe that the hydro electric development would start next summer, and in view of this possibility he did not think it right to go into any heavy expenditure for an oil engine at the present time. Hydro is the only salvation for Western Nova Scotia, declared His Worship. A delegation from the different towns and municipalities should be appointed to go to Halifax and make a drive for the development of Bear River. It would not be wise, declared the Mayor in answer to a question, Coun. Peck, to spend $12,000 for an auxiliary oil engine while the town owned the present steam plant.

Coun. Peck declared that Digby was the only town in the province which had shown no advancement in supplying electrical power for her citizens, but Coun. Aymar thought that the present system was very good.

Coun. Anderson did not think the people would stand for any extra expense if hydro was to be developed, and should the town at this date purchase an oil engine, and if hydro would be developed within four years, we would have three plants to look after with three different sinking funds. Coun. Anderson agreed with His Worship that a strong committee should be appointed from the different towns and municipalities, proceed to Halifax and force the government to show their hand.

Coun. Jordan remarked that Digby was in a worse position today than she was 27 years ago, when he came to this town. Every town in the Valley was moving ahead and Digby was at a standstill.

At this point His Worship told the Council that the reason why Digby was standing still and not progressing was due to the fact that her citizens were wasting their money in outside industries rather than putting their money into industries which could be established in our own town.

Chautauqua

A meeting of Chautauqua guarantors was held in the Town Hall on Saturday evening last. H. C. Dohoo advanced agent for the Swarthmore Association, was in attendance. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Chairman of Committees: R. C. Smallie.

Vice Chairman: C. H. Carby, Sec-Treas: Edmund Stratton, Chairman Advertising: Edmund Stratton, Chairman Tickets: J. J. Wallis, Chairman Hospitality: G. W. Whytman, Chairman Junior Chautauqua: Miss Adelaide Coggins.

Tickets are on sale at The Courier Office and can also be purchased from the guarantors at $2 for a season ticket for adults, and $1 for children. The season ticket entitles the holder to attend the six performances, for which a single admission of 75c is charged. The program offered this season is exceptionally good and the citizens of Digby are urged to purchase their tickets early so that the necessary guarantee of $425 may be secured before the opening date.

New Comet Found

A new comet, blazing across the sky two hours behind the sun, has been announced at the Harvard college observatory. It was discovered by the astronomer Finster of Bonn, Germany, on September 15, was observed a day late at Berlin, and second confirmation of it came from Lick Observatory today in word that it was observed there last night.

As comets, the new comet is a big one, being of the seventh magnitude, just short of being within the unaided vision of the eye. The reports indicated that it was growing brighter.

Are You Waiting For An Opportunity?

THOUSANDS OF YOUNG people today are looking for good chances, for something better, and some of them think they have very little to do with the opportunity except to grasp it when it comes. It doesn't matter who you are, who your ancestors may have been or who your people are, what school or college you may have attended, or who helps you, your best opportunity is in yourself, and happy is the person who can realize that fact and keep it in mind. History and the books on great men show us that, as a rule, the man unlocked the door of opportunity when a youth, making his upward fight largely by his own efforts. Most big men have risen from the ranks and some against great odds. What may be done for him by others is not so much in comparison to what he can do for himself. It does not matter so much about birth, about material wealth or "pull," or all of these—if you have not the qualities in you that make you able to stand on your own feet independent of props or crutches, you will surely never succeed. Crutches are intended for cripples, not for able bodied people; and who ever attempts to travel along the great pathway of life on mental crutches will not go very far, and will never succeed.

It has been said that opportunity comes to different people in different ways and some are not able to see or grasp it when it does come, not having prepared themselves. Others say that opportunity comes but once to every man—we hardly believe that is so, for though the same opportunity may come but once, there are opportunities within our reach almost every day. Are we preparing ourselves for them? Are we preparing our minds for the development of them after they are in our grasp? It's all in yourself.

The School Pupils

WHILE THE SUCCESS of the public schools depends in large measure on efficiency and inspiration on the part of the teachers and liberal support and encouragement from the parents, the biggest factor in all is the school pupils themselves. An ambitious young person will learn, even if the school building is antiquated, or the teacher is poorly prepared.

We rely on our teachers to wake up dull pupils and inspire them with determination to learn. We must all co-operate to that end, and the entire influence of the community should be brought to bear on these young people, to induce them to make the best of the splendid opportunities that are offered them.

Students who go through the schools in a half hearted way, repent bitterly afterward that they had not appreciated their chances. It is a source of lasting regret to them, and they realize a little later that opportunities missed in youth can never be enjoyed again.

These young people ought to realize how much is being done for them. The taxes for schools are very heavy. In most places, more is spent for this purpose than for any other object for which taxes are raised. Parents deny themselves luxuries and comforts, so that they can give their children a better opportunity than they had.

These days will quickly pass, and before they know it these students will be out in the world struggling for self support. They will have little energy left for self improvement. The time to fit themselves for success is now. If these opportunities slip by, and they fail to make favorable starts, it will be extremely difficult for them to recover the lost ground.

Do Loafers Die Young?

HARD WORK never killed any one," an old saying which has been handed down from generation to generation, is disproved by Dr. Raymond Paul, Professor of one of America's leading Universities.

It stands to reason. A machine is capable of just so much work before it becomes worn out. A machine lasts longer, if it is used only occasionally, than if it runs day after day.

And the body is a machine. Up to the age of 40, it appears very difficult to kill a man by physical hard work, occupational and industrial hazards being excluded from consideration. Dr. Paul reports.

But after 40, hard work begins to shorten life. That's why a man should make hay while the sun is in youth. The bulk of his hard effort should come before he leaves his thirties behind. At 40, it is not time to take a back seat. But it is time to play the game less strenuously, and to rest more. Whether or not a man is able to do so, depends to considerable extent on whether he wasted his twenties and frittered away his thirties.

Many doctors say the only men who live beyond 60 are those who cannot expect to accomplish much when they are 30 or older. Possibly this is true.

Two Residences Destroyed In Weymouth Fire Tuesday Night

Damage Is Estimated At $10,000—Western Union Official and Physician Lose Home—Blaze Menaces Other Property

FIRE OF UNKNOWN CAUSE, which started in a barn on the premises of Dr. A. F. Hogan, Weymouth, about 7 o'clock Tuesday evening, destroyed Dr. Hogan's residence, and the adjacent dwelling occupied by Mr. Allsopp, and owned by Mrs. Addie Moore, and with difficulty was prevented from spreading to other nearby buildings on the roofs of which embers were carried by the south east breeze which fanned the blaze. The loss is estimated at approximately $10,000, partially covered by insurance.

The Western Union Telegraph Co., of which Mr. Allsopp is local manager, is temporarily without quarters here as a result of the fire, the office having been in the ground floor of Dr. Hogan's property, which was situated just north of the D. A. R. track. Two other small buildings on Dr. Hogan's premises were also burned.

The fire apparently started in the hay mow of Dr. Hogan's barn, and was first observed while the doctor and his family were at supper. The alarm quickly spread and the townspeople flocked to the scene of the fire, but with the four ladders and fifty buckets, which constitute the town's fire fighting apparatus, they were unable to cope with the blaze, and appeals for additional ladders and buckets were flashed to Corberrie, Little Brook, Church Point, and intervening places, the inhabitants of which places promptly responded, and with the local fire fighters, worked like trojans to save as much surrounding property as possible, when it became apparent that the Hogan and Moore residences were doomed. Several incipient fires were damped by the activity of the volunteer bucket brigade but heroic efforts were required to save the house of Charles Johns, on the opposite side of the street and about a hundred feet away from the burning buildings.

The furniture in Mr. Allsopp's residence was saved and all of Dr. Hogan's furniture except the piano, was removed before the flames claimed the house. Besides the burned buildings, a considerable loss was inflicted on the individual property owners and the town by the destruction of a number of fine trees and some beautiful hedges.

of the actual accomplishments. But the efforts that flower into accomplishments can take place in early manhood.

The seed planted in the twenties and thirties sprouts in the forties and bears its best fruit in the fifties and later.

Hard work does not wear out a man as quickly when he works out doors, Dr. Pearl finds. This applies to men who do hard physical work indoors, quite as well as to men who work sitting in a chair or standing behind a counter.

The natural life is outdoors in the fresh air and sunshine. An indoor worker can get considerable of these in his spare moments, and they form the real fountain of youth.

Why Let the Editor Have All the Say

PEOPLE IN A COMMUNITY should not allow the editor of the local paper to have all 'the say' as to community work, improvements, regulations and restrictions as applied locally, or indeed on any live question. The editors' opinions and suggestions are often criticised severely enough in the little room back of the store, in the barber shops and in other places where men meet to talk over public questions.

If you have a better idea, a better plan than the editor why don't you get out with it. The editor will be glad to give you the space in his paper to express your ideas. He will even help you put your ideas in shape to be printed, and will welcome, rather than object to, your criticism and your better ideas. Now this is a privilege you don't get anywhere else. The pulpit may denounce and criticise, but you can't very well reply. But you can air your views through the local paper if they are worth anything, and there is nothing the editor will more gladly welcome than a friendly criticism of his views, the advancing of any new ideas, the suggestion of some new improvement. If you can't write, you can at least come in and let the editor know what you think. Try it. Exchange of thought is of great value. In this way you can help promote ideas that would improve community ideals and bring town and country into closer relationship.

Notes And Comment

On Thursday next Swarthmore Chautauqua is to commence a three days performance in Digby. Twenty citizens of the town have signed a contract, and are obliged to sell tickets to the value of $515.00 in order to meet expenses. Citizens are asked to purchase season tickets before the opening performance, as all monies collected at the door is the property of the Chautauqua management and does not apply toward the guarantee. The Courier believes that the town and country will be greatly benefited by the lectures and musical talent which is provided this year, and every effort should be made to attend the six performances. Tickets are selling at $2 for adults and $1 for children, which entitles the holder to attend the six performances. Single admission is 75c.

Back from Europe, a friend tells us he had to pay $30 a day for a room in a second-grade hotel in London. So it is easy to believe that Canadian and American tourists are leaving 300 million dollars over there this year, as experts claim. Three hundred thousand made the trip this summer. One big result is that foreign currencies have been propped up by the demand for foreign money.

Bear River--Digby Dist. Convention

On Monday afternoon and evening the Bear River District convention, under the auspices of Maritime Council of Religious Education was held in Grace Methodist Church Hall, Digby. The attendance was not as large as might be expected, but certainly far below what ought to have been possible in view of the supreme importance of the work under consideration. However, the Convention was really worth while, and those who were present will most surely be inspired to do bigger and better things in Sunday school work in the days to come.

At both afternoon and evening sessions the devotional exercises were in charge of Rev. W. H. Watts, while the President of the Convention, Rev. Mr. Gregg, of Bear River, presided at each session. The routine business of Minutes and Reports from the schools in the district was first attended to—and only five out of the ten minutes was then appointed, after which the meeting was passed over into the hands of Rev. H. Strothard, B.A., B.D., Field Secretary in Young People's Work for the Methodist Church in the Maritime Provinces. He had special reference to the Ten Point Standard for Sunday Schools, stressing particularly the necessary place of Teacher Training, the securing of a real worship period in connection with the opening of the Sunday School session, and the securing of decisions for Christ. A most helpful discussion was engaged in by the delegates present.

At the evening session there were two splendid addresses. The first, by Miss Wilson, returned Missionary from Bolivia, was a very stirring appeal for thoroughness and the most complete concentration on the part of all workers in the Sunday school. The speaker urged that there should be an earnest endeavor to relate at the least 75 per cent of our scholars to Jesus Christ, and to enlist their services for Christ's Kingdom. In a very fine passage the speaker argued that if instead of meeting to play "Bridge" the ladies of our churches meet to study Missions, a new day would arrive for the children who, although living in nominal Christian homes, are ignorant with regard to the things that matter most in human life and in human society.

The second speaker was Rev. Mr. Strothard. It is a strong address the speaker pleaded for a more concerted endeavor to understand the material which we find in the boys and girls of every Sunday School and to so select ourselves and our teaching that each scholar shall be reached and won and held to the Sunday School and to the church.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are:

President—Rev. Mr. Gregg of Bear River.

Vice-President—Rev. W. H. Watts.

Secretary-Treasurer—Rev. L. R. Nunn.

Obituary

WILLIAM NICHOLS

There passed away on Sept. 20 at the home of Edward Budd, Digby, William Nichols, at the age of 87 years. He leaves to mourn a wife, one daughter, two sons, Joseph of Arlington Mass., and Frank of Roseway, and six grandchildren. Deceased was a member of the Lower Roseway Baptist church for thirty-two years. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. L. R. Nunn, with interment in Digby cemetery.

HOWARD W. CORNING, M.L.A.

Howard W. Corning, of Yarmouth, aged 45, leader of the Conservative Opposition in the Nova Scotia Legislature, died in the Victoria Hospital, Fredericton, N.B., Monday morning. Mr. Corning's untimely death followed a two-weeks losing fight against the ravages of typhoid fever, with which he was stricken while visiting in the New Brunswick city. At his bedside, when the end came, were his wife and his sister, Mrs. Sanderson, of Yarmouth, both of whom had been in constant attendance since Mr. Corning was first stricken.

Mr. Corning was highly esteemed by all and his death will be keenly felt in this Province.

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Harrowsmith, Ontario.—"I took your medicine before my baby was born and it was a great help to me as I was very poorly until I started to take it. I just felt as though I was tired out all the time and would take weak, fainting spells. My nerves would bother me until I could get no rest, day or night. I was told by a friend to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I only took a few bottles and it helped me wonderfully. I would recommend it to any woman. I am doing what I can to publish this good medicine. I lend that little book you sent me to any one I can help. You can with the greatest pleasure use my name in regard to the Vegetable Compound if it will serve to help others."

MRS. HARVEY MILLIGAN, R. No. 2, Harrowsmith, Ontario.

In a recent canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over 100,000 replies were received and 99 out of every 100 said they had been helped by its use. This medicine is for sale by all druggists.

The Well Drillers Strike Water at Digby Station

FOURTEEN Thousand, four hundred gallons per day at a depth of 200 ft. That's what we have accomplished so far. The first 50 ft. is cased with a wrought iron pipe through soil, the remainder is through sandstone rock.

The water stands 15 ft. from the surface. The Railroad people desire yet more water so we're going deeper.

Perhaps you need a well and probably a supply of 500 gallons per day would take care of your requirements nicely. We have a lighter outfit coming into Digby this month, designed particularly for putting down wells for domestic purposes.

This outfit will sink a new well or deepen your present dug well much cheaper than you can do it by manual labor. Also the well will be a sanitary one when completed.

Now is your chance to get a good well at a reasonable figure. Come over to the job the next time you're in town and talk the matter over.

A New DIRECTORY

THE NEW ISSUE of the Telephone Directory for the Western District is in course of preparation and lists will be closed on October 10th.

The Directory serves our subscribers in "The Valley" (including Brooklyn, Clarksville, Hantsport and Windsor in Hants County) and in Digby, Lunenburg, Shelburne, Queens and Yarmouth Counties.

Persons who wish to become Telephone Subscribers at this time and Telephone Subscribers who want changes made in their listings are urged to send in their Orders to their Exchange Managers at once, and in all events not later than October 10th.

We cannot undertake to give effect in the new issue to Orders received after that date.

ADVERTISERS who wish to avail themselves of the opportunities for effective, yet low priced, publicity, afforded by use of space in the new issue are requested to call our nearest Business Office and a representative will be sent to attend to their wants.

Courier Letter Box

Under this head, The Courier will be pleased to publish communications on topics which may be signed by the writer.

St. Mary's Bay Railway Service

Editor Digby Courier,
Sir: Am writing a reply in answer to Nova Scotians letter of the 19 inst. There are two sides to every question, and the writer seems to be able to see only one side of it at present. If I am not mistaken there are no point between Weymouth and Digby along the St. Mary's Bay coast that the mail drivers have to go more than three or four miles to the various stations. On the other hand the mail drivers from the villages inland have anywhere from five to ten miles to drive, and of necessity the passengers and freight also.

The farmers inland have to live as well as those nearer to the shore, and if the D. A. R. moved the line nearer to the shore, it would be a greater hardship for those inland, and surely that is not necessary as things are today.

So far the shore villages have the advantage, both as regards the good roads and being nearer to the stations, so surely for the time being they should be content.

If there is any kick coming at all it should be from the villages inland to have a rural line run through closer to them to help make their living a little easier.

Clean Kidneys By Drinking Lots of Water

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys - If Bladder Bothers or Back Hurts

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. They are then overworked, get sluggish, clog up, and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and injury in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, dropsy, liver sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys are acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Epsom Salts from any good pharmacy take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may start at fine.

This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with a mild laxative, and has been used for years to rid the system of all impurities. It is longer irritative, than other purgative salts, and does not injure anyone.

It is a delicate effervescent, light water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clear, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Just Talks—On Common Themes

On "Our Limitations"

GENERALLY speaking, there is no obstacle to the realization of the dreams of any one of us except our own limitations. We are not being held back by anything in our form of government; or in the liberal party or the conservative party; nor can the progressive party send us along in the scale of things. Our comparative space will be circumscribed by our limitations. All of our troubles are comparative. There is not a person in Canada today who does not have more every day than the richest persons had in the old days.

Give us any sort of a government and some men will go ahead and some will stay behind and be disappointed no matter where we are compared with where our grandfathers were.

Now what is to be done with these persons with limitations. The truth is that the limitations are probably not actual. The person is lazy; or mentally indolent; or lacking in ambition. He can go along if he will only work as hard as the chap who surges to the front. These persons are one who learned a trade and does it exactly as he was taught when he was an apprentice. He never reads or studies. He would scorn mathematics; he would laugh at attending lectures on his craft; he would be damned if he would do a thing that would bring into the shop an economy or a speedier way of doing a job or show the slightest interest in special production. He says his boss would not give him the credit. Well, if one boss will not another may. He has the goods at any rate.

Any man who sees his limitations can beat them, if he wants to do it. I hear so many people say "I did not have any early education." Bosh! Who cares? All the world asks is what does he know and how does he know it? The limitations of one man are poor English; slovenliness of speech; or he uses double negatives and has a lot of words badly pronounced. What is to prevent him from overcoming this limitation? All he requires is a person of correct speech to devote six months to him and correct him when he commits his errors of speech.

There is a man in my home town who has a son who has been to a technical college. This man is himself a great man. I hardly know of a greater in his line. He knows vast numbers of things by having learned them when they were obstacles to his progress. He never went to school much. He took stock of his limitations and went out to beat them down.

Now it happens often that he and his son tackle the same problem. One of them does it by the rule of thumb, the other by his mathematics. They arrive at the same result. If it be the computation of a gear to drive a loom at a certain speed, the father does it his way; the son does it as he has learned, with pencil and paper. Both are correct.

Workmen respect such skill and knowledge—but there it is all at hand for them. I read about a great New York manufacturer who was an apprentice in a small machine shop, when apprentices went thru the usual hazing experiences from the journeymen. One evening as he was leaving the shop rather late, he chanced to see a workman grinding over a job he was doing—taking the brass-plate off a lathe on which this apprentice was himself to do some work the next day at screw-cutting. He had to cut a number of different threads and this plate carried the figures for the setting of the machine for the different screw-threads required.

He said nothing. That night he went back to the shop; calculated by mathematics which he had learned, the gears necessary for the certain screws that he was to cut and the next day set to work as the nothing had happened.

The crew gathered around to see his discomfiture. But nothing happened. He went right on cutting screws. He asked no questions and the smiles faded into wonder and it was believed to be one of the most wonderful of his. He gained great credit and was never again hazed. These men had never asked nor had they visioned any way to cut those threads except by reading from the brass-plate. They had never sensed that this was a limitation—a limitation that they should not know how the man who made the brass-plate discovered what the gears were. Here were limitations to be broken. And anyone of them could have learned it in a few months or have committed to memory the simple rules as did so many other old-timers, who broke the barriers and forged ahead outside of books.

Our limitations are as we see them. Some are not worth tackling. Such as are near at hand may usually be beaten down, opening broader pastures of the mind and soul.

On Being Thrifty

IT IS OFTEN said of a person that he or she is thrifty. Immediately we think of that person who makes good use of money and material possessions.

But that does not by any means constitute all there is to thrift.

Conservation of our physical forces—health thrift is just as essential.

It has been computed that the time lost every year to the nation through sickness of its workers is three times greater than all of the working days gained annually through immigration.

Statisticians have not been able to check the dollars lost in wages annually because of sickness, but inasmuch as the wage loss from industrial accidents exceeds $1,000,000, the financial loss from sickness must be far in excess of that sum.

Even health thrift is related to financial thrift, because sickness causes loss of time, which is worth money.

Much ill health is the result of carelessness. Guard the reservoir of your physical strength as you would your home or your life's savings.

Men of strong vitality are tempted to overdo because they are by nature energetic. An outstanding American recently boasted that he works almost continuously, with the exception of about four hours each night when he sleeps.

There can be nothing but admiration for a man of this sort, but sooner or later nature will refuse to be abused. Collapse is inevitable and the man's usefulness will be over years before it would have been, had he observed temperate habits.

Mourned As Dead

THE PARENTS of Richard Loeb, sentenced with Nathan Leopold in Chicago to life imprisonment for the murder of little Robert Franks, are reported in news dispatches to mourn their son as dead.

He has gone from them forever. Though he does not suffer the physical pain or the horror of knowing that he must die on the gallows, this young intellectual faces a bleak life ahead.

But was not he—and Leopold too, practically dead so far as his parents were concerned before being arrested for the brutal slaying of an innocent boy?

Everyone sympathizes with these parents, and yet wonders if they really knew anything about their boys, who their associates were or how they spent their time.

But were the Loeb and Leopold parents vastly different from the average modern parents? How much time do they give to their children?

It's a dangerous system—raising children by proxy, and so many parents discover it too late, to their sorrow.

There are some things that money won't buy. There are some things that you can't employ other people to do.

There are some relationships in life that can't be evaded; they must be assumed or allowed to go by default.

All of the genius and wealth on earth can not provide a substitute for the responsibility of parents for their children.

If the press or social engagements or business crowds out the time to which children are entitled, the price can't be paid with money or position in life.

Community Success

SUCCESS HAS BEEN defined by a well known authority as the progressive realization of a worthy ideal.

This definition is in terms of individuals, but it can be applied equally as well to a business or a community.

It lays down the fixed principle that success is impossible without the element of a worthy ideal.

Therefore, communities that expect to be successful must have a worthy goal to which the energies of the people are directed.

Digby can expect to get ahead only by aspiring to achieve an aim that is within its reach, and by following a well defined program of action.

Nothing is impossible if the ideal is worthy and the people are "sold" on what they are attempting to do.

The residents of Digby can make the county renowned the world around.

They can also make it a community of homes where people really live and where children can be reared to become useful and valuable citizens.

Do the Girls Craft on the Young Men?

A YOUNG MAN contributes an article to one of the magazines in which he sets forth his experiences with several young ladies with whom he has been intimate. He found that his average trap door.

outlay for candy, picture shows, taxis and dinners amounted to a large sum. After several years of this sort of spending he came to the conclusion that keeping company with the average girl involved an outlay which the average young man could not finance and make progress in business. When he broached the question of marriage he was informed in a very firm manner that his prospects in life did not warrant such a sacrifice on the part of the young lady and that unless a near millionaire came along, single life was preferred by these girls. Now this young man claims that he has sworn off so far as the company of girls is concerned, that he is going to spend his evenings at the office endeavouring to learn more about the business, and incidentally save a score of dollars a week in the process. He has concluded that the girls of to-day are grafters, pure and simple, that they have made up their minds to show no mercy to the pocketbooks of the young men who associate with them and that they are devoid of any ambition except to have what they describe as "a good time" so long as they can find a victim who will provide the cash. The charge is a very broad one but it perhaps applies to a large extent to a considerable portion of young femininity to-day with the result that home-making has largely gone out of fashion, unless the man can command funds from his parents or is fortunate enough to make an early strike in business, a situation that is very infrequent.

Notes And Comment

Hello, Mars! The earth is talking—

Do your flappers bob their air?

Do your grandmas dance the Java?

Have you prohibition there?

One-piece bathing suits, high prices,

Ladies' knickers, near-jade beads,

Petting parties, jazz, sex novels,

Saxophones, weird, occult creeds?

Have you fluff female bandits?

Bootleggers and human tanks?

Booms and boosters, income taxes,

Autos that you start with cranks?

Free verse, soul-mates, hooch and flivvers,

Vamps and would-be movie stars?

No? Why then you must be heaven—

I am coming over, Mars.

If you have been wondering how the scientists are able to tell so much about conditions on Mars, here is a sample: The Lowell Observatory in Arizona recently found that the temperature on Mars is 48 degrees, instead of below zero, as had been supposed. This was learned by using the Coblentz radiometer, which is so delicate that it accurately measures the heat of a candle 100 miles away. Human brains that can make such a wonderful mechanism will not be balked at finding a way to communicate with the people on Mars, if any.

The public used to sneer and guffaw when imaginative scientists, far in advance of their time, suggested that people may live on Mars and other heavenly bodies besides the earth. Man's egotism, knowing no bounds, fancied that the stars and their satellites far off in space existed only as tiny spots of light for men to glance at when they felt it. Now we know that our world is, in the universe, less than a single drop of water in the ocean. With knowledge man becomes more humble.

Did you "catch" the new scientific theory about freakish weather this year? They figure that pockets or funnels suddenly open in our atmosphere, permitting rushing wedges of frigid polar air to sweep down on us from up north. The cold breaks thru just as a river thru a broken levee or dam. Then a funnel-shaped pocket suddenly closes up and days are warm again. The cause probably is connected with our sun, which for several years has been on the sick-list. Now it's convalescing after a period of giving off 5 per cent less than normal.

Many have long disbelieved in capital punishment. To others, arguments in its favor seem unanswerable, assuming that it is properly enforced. The sentence imposed by Caverly on the murderers of the Franks boy conclusively proves to the common sense of the people that they may not always depend on their courts properly to enforce it. That being so the death penalty should be abolished. Human life should not be trifled with, especially under the sanction of law.

Things do not always run true to precedent. A prodigal son, returning home in New York, failed to find a fatted calf awaiting him. There was a warrant out for the prodigal. His father, a plainclothesman, served the warrant—took him to jail. This is not without its note of tragedy. Can you imagine the mental and spiritual tortures this father went thru?

Weather experts are on the threshold of new discoveries in the domain of forecasting, predicts Marvin, who is head weatherman for the United States. The main obstacle is that weather involves so much of the unexpected, and that's something no one can anticipate. The human animal has to rely largely on precedent.

An Old Poem

The following poem was committed to memory by a 14 year old youth while setting up the type, in the printing office of the Free Press, formerly published at Bridgetown, in the year 1866. The Free Press was conducted by A. M. Gidney and Mr. Gidney was the Author of the lines:

Angus M. Gidney, Esq., former M. P. for Digby County and Ex collector of Customs at Digby is a nephew of the writer.

Were going to have a railroad,
The first sod had been turned;
Bring out your taller candles,
And let 'em all be burned.

Make a glorious illumination,
And let the grumblers see—
For if we're not a nation,
Why we're just a-going to be.

We'll bridge the Avon over
Were it broader than the sea,
In spite of all the farmers
We'll cross the Grand Fre.

We'll pass the folks at Wolfville,
Along the ringing rail,
We'll tap the rich Cornwallis,
And call at Kentville Jail.

Now quiet folks of Aylesford,
The time is drawing nigh,
Now, I beg you go and tell us
That the railroad's in your rye.

The pleasant shades of Wilmot Shall echo "all aboard,"
And the sleeping sons of Bridgetown
Shall startle at the word.

The ancient town, Annapolis,
With "Royal" title blest,
Again shall be metropolis
Of all the mighty west.

Away, away to Digby,
Along the ringing rail—
Away, away to Digby,
Through meadow and through vale.

Thither the course victorious,
Were the iron horse to be,
With half a dozen passengers
And half a chest of tea!

There stop that saucy scoundrel,
Who says it will not pay—
That there's not sufficient travelling
To run one coach a day—

For when we get the railroad
Securely in our grip
There's not a mother's son of us
But what will take a trip.

So now we've got the railroad,
The first sod has been turned;
Bring out your taller candles,
And let 'em all be burned.

Beats Electric or Gas
A new lamp that gives out an amazing brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been sent by the U.S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to all ordinary lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no poisonous gas, no glass, clean and safe. Burns 94 p.c. air and 6 p.c. common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, J. M. Johnson, 246 Orange St., W. Va., is offering to send a complete set of the above lamp and gas to any one who will send him a letter or card to GIVE ONE FREE to the first user. In the letter he will help him introduce the lamp to his friends and neighbors. Also ask him to explain how you can get the lamp, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

Poppy Day

The seasons of the year have rolled around until it is now approaching "Poppy Day." This year a more extensive campaign than ever is to be carried out in the sale of "The Flower of Remembrance" and every effort will be put forth to make "Poppy Day" a day of real thanksgiving. Think of the many good things which have happened to you since that eventful day, Nov. 11, 1918, for which you should be thankful. Then think of those who gave their all and today, lie in "Flanders Field" in order that you might enjoy all these things and live in peace. This is Their Day and must not be forgotten.

Then remember those who were a little more fortunate and have come back but not to their usual life of activity and usefulness as they are maimed and crippled for life. These are the men who left home and loved ones, perfect in their manhood and now have come back broken men, in body, but not in spirit, for they are working as best they may, to be, at least, practically self-supporting. The flower, which you will wear on Nov. 11th is being made by their hands in Camp Hill Hospital, Halifax.

When you buy your Poppy, remember you are honoring those who died and helping to make some man, not so fortunate as yourself, a self-supporting, self-respecting citizen. Boost Poppy Day.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK
When Mixed With Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre At Once

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea will restore its appearance a hundred-fold. Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it does not stain the hair brutally, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You maintain a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after a few applications or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

AGENTS WANTED
A "very" desirable of making from $10 to $20 weekly in spare time, without interfering with your regular occupation, and for further information, send for literature of the "Sage Tea" and "Sulphur Compound" to: W. H. Smith, 121 Prince Street, Montreal, Que.

The Well Drillers Strike Water at Digby Station

FOURTEEN Thousand, four hundred gallons per day at a depth of 200 ft. That's what we have accomplished so far. The first 50 ft. is cased with a wrought iron pipe through soil, the remainder is through sandstone rock.

The water stands 15 ft. from the surface. The Railroad people desire yet more water so we're going deeper.

Perhaps you need a well and probably a supply of 500 gallons per day would take care of your requirements nicely. We have a lighter outfit coming into Digby this month, designed particularly for putting down wells for domestic purposes.

This outfit will sink a new well or deepen your present dug well much cheaper than you can do it by manual labor. Also the well will be a sanitary one when completed.

Clean Kidneys By Drinking Lots of Water

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys If Bladder Bothers or Back Hurts

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then be set free. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts can not injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clear, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Mrs. L. H. Pother, and two children who have been visiting in Annapolis, have returned home.

Obituary

The many friends of Dr. Clarence Churchill learned with deep regret of his death which took place at his residence on Alma Street in the early hours of Wednesday. Some three months ago he succumbed while engaged to professional work at Lockeport suffered an attack of pneumonia. From this severe illness he made a complete recovery and his friends were glad to note how well he was looking. Seven days ago he was seized with severe pain in the chest and the attending physician diagnosed his case as a return of the dread pneumonia. With a weakened constitution owing to the previous illness Dr. Churchill was in no condition to fight off this more virulent attack and though putting up a brave fight for life, succumbed between one and two o'clock Wednesday morning.

The late Dr. Churchill was born in Yarmouth, October 4th, 1886 and would have been 38 years of age on Saturday (the day of his funeral). He was the son of the late W. Edgar Churchill; he attended the Yarmouth Academy and later entered Harvard University from which institution he graduated in 1907 with the degree of D. D. S. He practiced for a time in Yarmouth and then came to Halifax where he was regarded as an excellent workman in his chosen profession. Returning to Yarmouth he opened an office in the Canadian Bank of Commerce Building, he also carried on a practice in many of the South Shore towns and the news of his death was received with sincere sorrow by many who appreciated his kindly and courteous manner.

In his younger days Clarence was regarded as one of Yarmouth's best athletes and many will recall the fine work he did to uphold Yarmouth's honor in the hockey rink in January 1911 when he married the daughter of the late Harry Smith, Sheriff of Digby Co., by whom he is survived.

Cut down in the very midst of his manhood the passing of Dr. Churchill causes another break in the ranks of the men upon whom the public and professional life of Yarmouth must rely. The sincere regret of the community will go out to his young widow and her dear little daughter. As noted before Dr. Churchill is survived by his wife and daughter, also by his mother Mrs. Wm. Lloyd Porter, his sister Mrs. Stephen Killam, and by a half sister Miss Doris Porter, and a half brother Dr. Arthur Porter of Norfolk, Va.

The funeral will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from his late residence, Alma St. and will be conducted by Rev. D. R. Grant, assisted by Dr. A. M. Hill. The bearers will be Robert Middleton, M. C. Hemen, A. J. Cann, Jr., and Percy Carey.—Yarmouth Light.

Weymouth

(Crowded out of last issue)

Miss Bernard Oliver, R. N., who has been spending several weeks with her parents, Capt. and Mrs. Joseph Oliver, left on Wednesday for Boston to renew the practise of her profession.

Mrs. L. H. Pother, and two children who have been visiting in Annapolis, have returned home.

Miss Emma Doucette left on Wednesday for Lynn, Mass., where she will remain the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Thibault arrived Wednesday from Boston, and are spending a few days with relatives here.

Mrs. [Capt.] Leonard Melanson and Miss May Melanson of Gilberts Cove, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Oliver on Wednesday.

The Hensley Dramatic Club of Brighton presented a Grand Benefit Concert and Vaudeville, on Wednesday evening, in aid of the Digby Hospital, in Hanksinson Hall, to a crowded house of appreciation and interested people. The various members of the program, coupled with the vocal ability of the performers were splendidly received as testified by the well deserved applause. The tidy sum of $100.00 was realized.

Dr. Grace Rice arrived Friday from Halifax, for a brief visit to friends.

A number of townspeople motored to Corbierre on Friday evening, where an enjoyable supper was eaten and a pleasant evening spent at Camp Hatchoquithit, Lake Wentworth.

Miss Vior Corrie who has been attending the millinery openings in Boston and New York, returned Saturday, with a full line of the Fall styles.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Theriault and James R. Gaudet motored to Bear River Sunday.

An evening entertainment and social was held in Hanksinson Hall Saturday evening from 9 to 12. Music for the occasion was served by the Weymouth Orchestra, refreshments were served.

Nelson Rice, M. A. Ph. D. who has been spending part of his vacation with parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Rice, left on Saturday for Washington, D. C. to resume his position with the staff of the Catholic University.

Mr. and Mrs. William Mulcahy who have been spending their vacations with the former's mother, Mrs. E. H. Mulcahy, left on Saturday for their home in London, N. H.

Messrs Pius and Joseph Doucette who have been spending a few days with relatives in Belliveau Cove and Weymouth, returned to Boston on Saturday.

Mrs. Shea who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Boudreau, Harlem, left Saturday for her home in the U. S.

Mrs. Katie Mullen, returned Monday to Augusta, Me., after having spent her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mullen, Harlem.

The fire which destroyed Dr. A. F. Hogan's fine residence and adjoining property was the most disastrous that has visited our town for some years. Several nearby residences were burned by flying embers which were quickly put out by the large number of volunteers firefighters from the place itself, and outlying districts to which word had been sent for help. The beautiful floral decorations around the Monument, hedges and ornamental trees were scorched.

NERVES AND FAINTING SPELLS

Sent Woman to Bed. Great Change After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sarnia, Ontario.—"After my girls were born I was a wreck. My nerves were too terrible for words and I simply could not stand or walk without pains. I suffered with fainting spells until I was no longer any good for my household duties and had to take to my bed. The doctor said I should have an operation, but I was not in a fit condition at that time. My neighbor said, 'Why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' I am sure it will do you good and will save those doctor's bills. So I was advised by my husband to try it after I told him about it. I am very thankful to say that I was soon able to take a few boarders for a while as rooms were scarce at that time. My baby is 17 months old now and I have not yet had an operation, thanks to your medicine. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to a few people I know and have told them the good it has done me. I know I feel and look a different woman than I did a few months ago and I certainly would not be without a bottle of your medicine in the house. You can use this letter as you see fit, as I should be only too glad for those suffering as I have to know what it has done for me."—Mrs. Emma G. MacGee, R. R. No. 2, Sarnia, Ontario. A recent canvas of women users of the Vegetable Compound report 88 out of 100 received beneficial results. This is a remarkable proof of its merit. C

For driving a car while intoxicated in Summerside a resident of that vicinity was given the minimum penalty of seven days imprisonment without the option of a fine, his car license to be revoked.

Mr. and Mrs. William Mulcahy who have been spending their vacations with the former's mother, Mrs. E. H. Mulcahy, left on Saturday for their home in London, N. H.

Bear River East

Among the recent guests at Vine Cottage were: Mrs. VanBurskirk's cousin, Miss Ada Woodbury, of Annapolis Royal; Miss Mabel Kniffin of Bear River; Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kennedy of New Brunswick; Mrs. Alden Chute and daughter, Margaret of Clementsvalle.

The people who attended the Bear River East Union Church on Sunday evening were very pleasantly surprised to find very neat book racks had been placed on the back of each seat. The work was done by Mr. Wallace Jefferson and Gordon Ruggles and we wish to thank them through the Courier for the nice gift which was much needed to keep the hymnals in good condition.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Charles VanBurskirk and daughter, Lucie, Miss Lennie MacNeill, Miss Margaret Chute of Clementsvalle, and Ralph Gillis of Paradise, were guests of Harry E. Balcorn of Paradise, on a motor trip to Mr. VanBurskirk's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Will Mallette, South Range. Miss MacNeill also visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus MacNeill, North Range.

Mr. and Mrs. Hantford Long entertained their young friends with a corn boil and dance on Friday evening. All report a pleasant time.

Mrs. Helen Jefferson returned on Friday from a visit to her sister, Mrs. Forman Wright.

Gordon Ruggles went to Boston last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jefferson and infant son, spent the week-end at Round Hill the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Tupper.

Miss Lillian Robar and party of friends from Bay View, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Robar on Sunday of last week.

"Tired and Worried Nervous and Despondent"

Mrs. M. Chevalier, Belle River, Ont., writes: "For eight years I suffered from despondency and nervousness. Sometimes I could not sleep at night for worrying and the next day I would be so tired that my work was a burden to me. I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and can say I am now entirely relieved of the nervousness from which I used to suffer, and things do not worry me as they used to." "Dr. Chase's Ointment also relieved me of eczema on my arms, which had bothered me for three years. My house is never without Dr. Chase's Medicines."

Just Talks--On Common Themes

On "How These Themes Happened to be Written"

"OUR STOCK in life, our real estate, is that amount of thought which we have had and which we have thought out."

This is what a great philosopher said fifty years ago and it has so much truth in it that I would like to spread it; anticipating only so much response to it as comes from thinking about it.

"The ground we have thus created is thus pasturage for our thoughts," adds he. "Let this sink in and, fancying a fertile field of your own cultivation, let your thought feed on it. If one has the wealth of Croesus, his aims must still be the same; his means of hitting them must still be the same."

"The art of life is to do something—not having anything to do," which is especially applicable to persons who do not have to earn a living.

"I mind me of a woman who is able to do nothing so far as material affairs are concerned and who is missing life, because she does nothing at all. A little dabbling in music and a little in bridge and ma jong will not avail.

A few months ago, we talked and it was suggested that she interest herself in self-improvement of thought. Take up thinking as a serious effort. So few try it. Thoreau says: "Improve the suggestion of each object, however humble, however slight and transient the provocation what else is there to be improved? You might try a thousand themes before you find the right one; as nature makes a thousand acorns to get an oak."

I believe that if my friend would take any common weed and think about it, she would find herself thinking about all of the Universe. The same laws make the violet as make the stars. We were riding in a railroad train and there were rambling stone walls. Begin with a stone-wall; it never ends as a subject of thought. There are worlds in it: atoms in it; laws in it; humanity in it; work in it; wisdom in it; Divinity in it. All simple things attach themselves together to inspire study and thought. "As I walk," says Thoreau, "I am intoxicated with the slight spicy odor of hickory buds and the bruised bark of the black birch and, in the fall, with the pennyroyal. I feel my Maker blessing me."

You go to books ordinarily to inspire thought. You are stealing others' thinking; taking a ride in another's go cart. It gets one there; but not so wisely as on shanks' mare; with health seeping in and elasticity of mental muscles improved; and mental stamina increased. Books are there to answer questions of fact. I would like to get you to go abroad and ponder in the fields and study, and by beginning with the present—rather than the past—project yourself into the future.

This woman would find bodily health as well as mental and spiritual gain in seeking the common things. They do not overpower one like majestic principles and profound facts. "None but the kind gods can make me sane," said Thoreau, who found his philosophy in quiet contemplation of nature. And strangely the philosopher has been constantly appreciating in power. His very simplicity gains in strength and beauty through the years, while some others such as great metaphysicians are not so likely to endure.

Occasionally someone has asked how I happened to write these Common Themes in a newspaper. Mostly it was for relief from the toil of the day. They were intended to appoint a meeting-place for everyday people to talk all sorts of things based on familiar topics. It has been noted that the world is coming more and more away from the exaggerated theme as a starting point to the evolution of the commoner thing into a Theme. It is so in music—witness Debussy and others. Patient philosophers who have endured, have done the same thru the ages and people yet read them; such as Ben Franklin and Socrates. The work put into this column is all in the spaces of the week—open spaces—when one may wander in fancy in fields, in crowds of people, down streams; over mountains; amid books; into adventure with first-principles.

A Wife's Privilege

It is generally recognized that wives may go through their husband's pockets whenever they please. Sometimes it serves a very useful purpose. This was brought to our attention the other day when a lady called to pay up her husband's subscription to this paper, which was considerably in arrears. She had no idea that it was so far back until she found a bill in her husband's pocket. She promptly called and paid the amount. We would that all wives were so sensitive to the over-ights of their lesser halves.

Good Program At Chautauqua Performances

Lecture and Program Enjoyed By All Who Attended

The Swarthmore Chautauqua presented their three day program to a Digby audience on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week, and was greatly enjoyed. The program this season was above the average and gave to those who attended a time of enjoyment which will be remembered for some time.

There were some unique minor features making a handsomely given aid of a cello hour, giving a pleasing feminine quality of tone, and whistling by one of the Festival Ladies Quintet, and bird imitation by Emerson Winters Co., all of which was exquisite. We are sure those whistling girls will never fulfil the old prophecy.

Mr. Pearson's address on Thursday evening kept the audience on the qui vive—with laughter and applause.

It was a stream of wit and humor, and sound ethics on "World Building" the building of one's own mental, moral and spiritual world.

On Friday we were entertained by a quintette, including one lady of Hawaiian Singers and players with their native instruments, which was something new, and very enjoyable.

The abandon and evident enjoyment of the performers themselves entertained the audience, and their singing and the liveliness and harmony of their instrumental music was thoroughly enjoyed.

The feature of the evening was an address by Mr. Evans, overflowing with humor and eloquent appreciation of some "Uncrowned Kings."

Chautauqua afternoon, the Junior League, our boys and girls, under the direction of Miss Renault, gave their part of the entertainment in a very creditable manner, followed by the performance of Emerson Winters Co.—which included the exquisite bird imitation.

The evening was given to the three act play "The Bubble," which was finely acted and brought rounds of applause and laughter; being made by every other part of the audience.

Altogether the three days' performance was a worth while treat—bringing into a quiet and retired community a breath from outside and a taste of what is being done in other places for the mental, moral and social training and uplift of the people; and enabling us to touch hands and hearts with our neighbors across the border, and across the sea.

We have kind remembrances of the performers, who were here. They are a worthy class of people, and we look forward to the coming of Chautauqua again next year—and hope to be here to see it, and trust our young people of all ages will cherish this spirit of youth and beauty, and give the Chautauqua due credit for the effort to promote it and keep the world young and spiritual in the midst of all its amazing progress and absorbing materialistic energy.

Obituary

JOHN SEARS MCNEILL.
The community of Barton, was saddened by the death of one of its most respected citizens in the person of John Sears McNeill, who died at his home at Thursday. Mr. McNeill was born June 15th, 1829. He always took a keen interest in the affairs and held a good many public offices in his lifetime. He leaves his wife and three children, viz. George R. McNeill, Barton; Mrs. N. Raynold, Vancouver; He is also survived by nine grand-children and a number of great-grand-children.

The funeral took place Saturday afternoon Rev. A. Pentz, pastor of the Methodist church officiating.

LOVETT J. WINCHESTER

"The news of the sudden death of Lovett J. Winchester, Monday morning, was learned with deep regret. Mr. Winchester was 37 years and 10 months old. He was a veteran of the great world war, having enlisted in 1915. He served with the 112th, and was later transferred to the 97th Battalion. In 1917 he was invalided home, having had a severe attack of pneumonia at the S. S. Sanatorium, Kentville, for three years at different periods, being there the past year until September when he was sent to the S. S. Sanatorium, Halloway, and had obtained a four-days pass to spend the week-end with his family at Kentville, and was thus enabled to be with his family when the end came so unexpectedly.

Deceased was a member in high standing of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, Bear River, and of the Masonic Lodge, Digby, and a member of Halloway, N. S. O. E., and Kentville Lodge A. F. & M. An employee of the railway for seventeen years, and Proprietor of the Winchester Hotel, Digby, for ten years he was widely known and highly esteemed. His genial, good comradeship, and open-hearted generosity and kindly nature made him a general favorite, and a host of friends sincerely mourn his passing. Three years ago the family moved to Kentville from Digby for the health of Mr. Winchester's health, and have since resided there. He is survived by a wife and five children, the youngest being 2 years old; Edith, Raymond, Verge, Lovel and Paul; also his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Winchester, Halloway, N. S., and one sister Lillian, of the Western Union Telegraph Office, Digby.

Thinks We Should Advertise

(Annapolis Speculator).
A gentleman who has been sojourning in Digby the past few years writes to the Speculator as follows:

I wonder how the tourist business prospered in Annapolis this year. I hear some complaint here, but it was the best season I ever had in business. I fear our people don't realize the tremendous efforts being made by every other part of the United States and Canada to draw the highly profitable tourist traffic. Of course their big advertising draws trade away from us, and our only salvation would seem to be to multiply the extent of our own advertising—multiply it many times. We have the goods, but the world doesn't know it. I have met many people lately who scarcely knew there was such a thing as the Annapolis Basin until they landed near it by chance. We must be very poor advertisers compared with other resorts. Some times I feel we look on ourselves with a smug complacency, feeling assured that the world certainly must know our beautiful country to be the finest in the world. What conceit! The world knows little and cares less about Nova Scotia. It's up to us to tell them, and then, keep on pounding the idea into their skulls by a tremendous effort of continuous advertising on a big scale. It will pay.

Parker's Cove

Service in the Methodist Church on Sunday at 8 o'clock by the Rev. R. Thomas. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Halliday, Clifford and Marjorie, visited Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hudson of Granville Centre very recently.

Mrs. Annie Early has gone to Maine to remain the winter months with her daughter, Mrs. Alice Whyte.

The concert at the home Mr. and Mrs. Austin Weir and family of Granville Ferry, and Mr. Martin of Ellensburg.

Mrs. R. E. Hudson returned from Adcock's last week, after having a very pleasant visit with her mother and other friends.

Mrs. Fred Minard and party of friends, from Kempt, Queens county, spent Sunday here, guests of Mrs. Janet Minard.

Britishers Are Discouraged By Obstacles Met In U. S. Quota Law

Prefer Remaining Here to Crossing the International Border

The operation of the new quota law of the United States, having an effect upon immigration to Canada according to reports to the Immigration Department. Heretofore British subjects resident in Canada for a certain period have not been subject to the restrictions and experience demonstrations that many who came to this country ostensibly with the purpose of remaining, soon pulled up stakes and moved to the States. The new regulations limiting immigration to the United States to a certain specified quota of population of any particular nationality, is found to operate not only as an obstacle to migration of Britishers from Canada, but as a discouragement.

The same effect is reported to the department as regards outgoing Canadians. In addition to the ordinary head tax of $8 they now have to contribute $10 as a consular fee for the certification of their entry to the States, and this is found to act as an impediment. The identification exacted of tourists to the States is also an obstacle to traffic in that direction. Although generally speaking, Canada and Canadians are not aimed at in the restrictive provisions of the American immigration laws, the experience shows a lessening movement in that direction from all the provinces and, particularly, a tendency to hold in Canada immigrants whose ultimate design was to go into the States by the back door of this Dominion.

Makes 'Em Feel Important

NOTHING is quite as pleasing as the feeling that we're indispensable—or, at least, that we're needed. It is almost pathetic how the individual man strives to convince himself and others that he is of extreme importance in the great scheme of things.

This feeling of importance is one of the chief influences that animate men to struggle for success, wealth and power.

Whenever you try to figure out a man's motive for doing so-and-so, and fail, it is a pretty safe bet that he has acted under the spur of his vanity.

Human life is self-preservation, reproduction, assistance to others, self-improvement and—vanity.

Much of the real satisfaction of life is in the delusion of self-importance. It begins with the lad marching proudly as general of a squad armed with broomsticks. So on, to the general with folded arms contemplating his armies in battle, the owner proudly pondering his bit of wealth and property, the magnate marveling at the industry he has built up—(with the aid of others, of course, tho it may not occur to him).

Admittedly, we're all important, even tho not all important. Each has his function, as surely as every individual bee has his destined work in the hive and every ant in the hill.

The feeling of importance often becomes an obsession that we are indispensable. Then it's time to "get the gate."

The supreme tragedy of growing old is not in the loss of youthful vigor and beauty, but in the gradual realization that one is no longer of much importance. Comes the day when we realize that our work is about finished—that we are being gently escorted to a back seat, to be a "rail bird" or "wall flower."

Then we live only in memory.

To old persons, few things are more jubilating than to be made to feel that they are important—needed. Old men are eager to talk by the hour, explaining how things should be done. Old women crave to be summoned to the sick-bed and other emergencies.

Young men and women, if you have aged parents, nothing can make them happier than to fall back on them for counsel and assistance. The fires of life will leap into temporary flame when they feel their importance, fast flitting, again is within their grasp. Play on this craving, to make them happy.

A Living Death

A MAN serving a life sentence died at an average of 10 years after the penitentiary gates clang behind him. So claims Warden Whitman of Joliet, Ill., prison.

He predicts: "If Leopold and Loeb are alive 20 years from now, they will have accomplished the miraculous."

How many readers would prefer the death penalty to life imprisonment? Monotony is about the worst thing in life. The worst is loss of life. That is, on the basis of physical predicaments, not including catastrophes of the emotions.

The tiger in his circus menagerie cage has it easy compared with the cell inmate who has no hope of release.

Unlike the tiger, the man has the power to think, which intensifies the incarceration.

Days in the prison workshop; nights in a cramped barred cell. This is not life. It is a living death.

People who are against capital punishment put forward many logical, emotional and otherwise convincing arguments.

It is, admittedly, barbaric for the government to take human life. An interesting debate could be arranged, as to whether it isn't even more barbaric and cruel to lock a man up until death releases him.

Small wonder, the average life of a "life" is only ten years. Existence is monotonous enough, at times, even when we have our freedom. On the other hand, there is no such thing as real freedom.

We are all prisoners serving a life sentence imposed by customs, regulations, the system of economics and the inexorable laws of nature.

The problem of getting enough to eat and to clothe, warm and shelter ourselves is a life sentence in itself for the average person.

We boast of freedom. But the only liberty we have is political. Industry, customs and superstition still have us jailed. Their slave-master power is, unfortunately, slipping, tho very slowly.

Pessimists In the Majority

IT'S A SAD commentary on our boasted civilization that the pessimist is often right. The reason is self-evident. He's in the majority and most people think as he does.

He says that we are headed for perdition—and perhaps he's right again.

Man's a land animal, but he's getting away from the land as fast as he can. And every time he gets very far away it means trouble.

Modern man refuses to walk. His preference is to ride on wheels and everyone who can, does.

When he rides he can't digest his food and there follows a long line of bodily ills that makes him inefficient.

He has his golf, you say, to get the needed exercise. But, answers the pessimist, we can't use all the land for golf courses because some of it has to be used to produce food. Right again.

Who's going to raise the food, if everybody moves to large centers of population? The majority of the people live in towns and cities.

And here's where the pessimist smiles—a rare thing—but he does.

You will have to admit that the optimist does have a difficult part—people leaving the land and those who remain, have automobiles in their garages and radios in their homes to hook them up with, and bring them under the influence of crowd life, excitement and nervous stimulation.

But the optimist can keep on smiling and hoping that it will all turn out for the best.

It's Being Done

WE ARE told that Adam and Eve were garbed in a single fig leaf, but that was custom with them and the demands of modesty were satisfied.

From the days of the fig leaf down through the centuries to the cumbersome and trailing skirts and long hair each successive step has been taken through innovation and eventually sanctioned by custom.

"It's being done," is the refuge of those who take up a new style, and in time it is accepted as correct.

The trailing skirt was both unsanitary and a nuisance, and in time was properly discarded. Custom popularized the move.

Bibbed hair is passing through much the same stage as the abbreviated skirt did. At first, the woman who permitted her hair to be shorn was subjected to criticism. Now she does it without fear of unfavorable comment.

"It's being done."

Women have more freedom of action as time goes on. Each change is accompanied by a wagging of tongues and some harsh things are said. But time soon reduces a fad to a custom and it is regarded as proper.

The tendency of the age is simplicity in dress, discarding everything that does not add to comfort and protect health, so long as it is not in conflict with the accepted ideas of modesty.

We will never return to the fig leaf age, but there are probably many more shocks in store for those who try to prescribe the confines of woman's mode of dressing.

If "it's being done," that is enough and custom promptly puts an end to adverse criticism.

A Challenge

A HOG is a hog today, just as he was a thousand years ago. If a human being can not profit by experience of others and help to make this world a little better place in which to live, he might as well be a hog.

This is the challenge of E. K. Hall, in charge of personal and public relations of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, to every individual who reads it.

To profit by experience of others is to profit by their mistakes as well as their achievements.

The successes of others we should emulate; their failures we should avoid.

Yet this trait which distinguishes men from hogs is not very often operative. It is restrained and submerged in the rush for profit and pleasure.

Everyone has seen the dismal failure of lives that are ruled by greed, yet how few profit by their mistakes?

The greed that does not allow any time or effort for unselfish public service for the good of all, but is all centered in self—that is the type of greed that holds back communities and prevents them from making the progress they should.

Shall the challenge be accepted or passed by unanswered? Are we as a people no better than the hog, or will we profit by the experience of placing self above service and failure?

Notes And Comment

Annoyed and unable to sleep because of the clatter and hum of high-power airplanes flying over his home, an Englishman went to court about it. The magistrate sympathizes, but says nothing can be done. Give us a few million airplanes in use, and we'll have some choice problems in noise, danger from wrecks overhead and trash tossed overboard by flying joyriders. Wise communities are looking ahead, planning traffic regulations for the air. Remember, the law is usually 10 years behind problems.

We worship heroes as of old. Walter Johnson takes the place of America's once beloved "Matty." The world has always worshipped winners. Carlyle wrote about Heroes and Hero Worship. The power to get over, is what makes nations and great men. A president of the United States gives a silver cup to a young base-ball manager. And ninety-nine per cent of America are pleased that the Giants did not win. They have been heroes so long that fickle folk want another.

The arctic regions used to have a warm, mild climate. Fossils proving this were brought back by Explorer MacMillan. When the weather experts claim the climate doesn't change, they really mean "that changes so extremely slowly that it takes thousands of years to observe any difference. The change seems to be taking place faster of late years. Many parts central and Northern Canada report that "quer walters" have nearly exterminated field mice and squirrel

Young Boy Shot Dead at Bridge-town.

John Whynot, a boy of about twelve years of age, was shot on a Tuesday night at Bridgetown, by a shot gun in the hands of Earle Sabane, another young boy of that town. The two boys had just got out of school and went to the home of the Sabane's boy to get the gun. The boy's mother, not wanting him to take the gun, tried to prevent him. The Whynot boy then took the gun and together they ran to a pasture, a distance beyond the house.

The Whynot boy took the first shot then handed the re-loaded gun to the Sabane's boy. It is understood that the latter was about to lay down the gun when it accidentally discharged, making a large hole in the Whynot boy's head. Frightened by what happened he immediately ran home and told his parents about it.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed With Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre At Once

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold. Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it deters the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. Nor must a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

Here and There

Tourist business throughout Canada has been remarkably productive this year and it is estimated that its total value for the Dominion will exceed $100,000,000. This places the tourist traffic high among Canada's industries.

The "Princess Kathleen," one of the two fine steamers under construction for the Canadian Pacific Railway's British Columbia coastal service, was launched at Glasgow, Scotland, on September 27th. Lady Mount Stephen, widow of Lord Mount Stephen, former president of the company, performed the launching ceremony.

As an indication of how plentiful wild game has become of recent years in the Province of Quebec comes a report from Montreal, which records the recent appearance of a full-grown bull moose in Rosemount, a suburb of the city. It is thought to have strayed into the neighborhood from the forest to the north. The animal was quite tame and was easily captured.

The Duke of Alba, who, with other Spanish grandees, recently completed an extensive tour of Canada, purchased a number of very valuable furs for gifts to be presented to his friends, including the King and Queen of Spain. The furs were acquired while the Duke was sojourning at Banff, the popular mountain resort on the Canadian Pacific main line.

So greatly has the turkey industry grown in Saskatchewan that marketing pools have now been arranged by the Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture and the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association for the marketing of both dressed and live turkeys this fall. Inspectors will be furnished for grading and giving killing and dressing demonstrations.

So heavy was the movement of grain from the lakes to the port of Montreal recently that serious congestion was feared. The storage capacity of the port is 10,100,000 bushels and the grain in sight was greatly in excess of this figure. But skillful handling quickly reduced the amount in hand to 7,056,442 bushels, relieving the situation completely. No further possibility of congestion is anticipated.

It is expected that before the season closes, the work of rock-blasting the main lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway in the Quebec District between Montreal and Ottawa, Montreal and Toronto and Montreal and Quebec will be completed. The latter section requires only a few miles to be finished, while the other portions of line referred to have already been finished. As a result, the Canadian Pacific will have in these lines a road-bed which is not excelled by any other on this continent.

Have a Public Spirit Boost Local Development

Share in the Profits

LET'S capitalize our romantic history, enchanting scenery, and many attractions. Let's turn transient "tourists" into permanent "summer residents." We can do it, Atlantic City, with no natural attraction, has ten million.

WE HOLD half mile sandy beach, magnificent Hotel site, and nearly one thousand choicest Cottage Lots overlooking the Basin. Easy access by motor, rail or water.

WE PROPOSE Summer Hotel-Cottage Colony Development on large scale. That means dollars for you and your district.

Development Capital available, but depends upon fair show of local interest. Show that you want this summer city and we can get the money. We wait for YOU—NOW.

To stimulate interest WE OFFER, to each of the first 200 to write us, ONE full sized Cottage Lot. THE LOT IS ABSOLUTELY FREE. We furnish Blueprint, Certified Title and Warranty Deed.

We ask you to pay only our trifling charges incidental to transfer. When 100 Lots are taken, yours will have doubled in value. WE GUARANTEE that 150 will be taken or no allotment made. That protects you.

This is frankly a "publicity stunt" but it is your opportunity nevertheless. We arouse interest, get our development capital, and the tract increases in value. You get the Lot. We all profit on development.

Several Lots already taken. Show your interest in local welfare. Do it now. Inquiries welcomed. Mention this paper.

Here and There

Moose hunting opened in the Province of Quebec on September 10th. Indications are that an unusually large number of hunters will invade the woods this fall and the rush for licenses is well under way.

Edward A. Fasterson, mining engineer of London, England, visiting Nova Scotia, states that the mineral resources of that province are practically lying dormant and that with proper development along scientific lines, mining could be advanced to first place in the province's industries.

Calgary, Alta., is planning an artificial ice rink, because of the prevalence of chills in the winter, but the project will not be carried out in time for the coming season. Calgary had to abandon its scheme for an annual winter carnival because it could not count on weather that was cold enough or snow.

The members of the band of the famous Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry were among the passengers sailing for England aboard the Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of France" on September 10th. Transformation for the better wrought among the Eskimos in the last 25 years is almost unbelievable, as Bishop H. O. Stringer, of the Anglican diocese of the Yukon, reported on a recent visit to Edmonton, Alta. The Bishop attributes this improvement to the influence of the missionaries and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

The "Calgary process," the newest method of oil refining, was examined with interest by the members of the British Association for the Advancement of Science during their recent visit to Calgary, Alta. This process has become world-famous ever since the experiments conducted at the local Imperial oil refinery proved so successful.

Thousands of Belgians are waiting to cross the Atlantic to Canada as soon as the Dominion can assimilate them, it is reported by authorities in touch with the situation. Belgium's interest in Canada is further evidenced by the visit to the Dominion of Louis Strauss, veteran member of the diplomatic corps and member of the Belgian Parliament for Antwerp, who, as guest of E. W. Beatty, Chairman and President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, is touring the country studying economic conditions with a view to stimulating Belgium immigration.

Mrs. E. B. Tibert spent a couple of days last week with her brother, C. G. Robbins at Rosway.

Clean Kidneys By Drinking Lots of Water

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys If Bladder Bothers or Bags Hurts

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy's take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts can not injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 p.c. AIR

Beats Electric or Gas.

A new lamp that gives out an aluminous brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U.S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to all ordinary lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, its simple clean and safe. Burns 94 p.c. air and 6 p.c. common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, J. M. Johnson, 236 Craig St. W., Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on ten days' FREE trial, or even to GIVE ONE FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

The Well Drillers Strike Water at Digby Station

FOURTEEN Thousand, four hundred gallons per day at a depth of 200 ft. That's what we have accomplished so far. The first 50 ft. is cased with a wrought iron pipe through soil, the remainder is through sandstone rock.

The water stands 15 ft. from the surface. The broad people desire yet more water so we're going per.

Perhaps you need a well and probably a supply of 100 gallons per day would take care of your requirements nicely. We have a lighter outfit coming into Digby this month, designed particularly for putting down wells for domestic purposes.

This outfit will sink a new well or deepen your present dug well much cheaper than you can do it by manual labor. Also the well will be a sanitary one when completed.

Now is your chance to get a good well at a reasonable figure. Come over to the job the next time in town and talk the matter over.

AFTER having enjoyed about as much privacy as the prince has been sending to it the best stock he could secure in Great Britain, and every year he sells at auction the surplus animals for the benefit of live stock breeders in the western provinces. The Earl of Minto, who has a big ranch near-by, does the same thing. Also, King George loans the prince some of his best animals for the stud.

"It's a neighborly kind of thing," said one of the members of the Alberta Shorthorn Breeders' Association. "When he comes out here we don't chase him as they do in other places. We just let him ride, and next there isn't a thing about ranching he doesn't want to know. His ranch is no fad. He is running it for the benefit of Canada first, and second for the purpose of making the 'E. P. Ranch' a business venture, just as any level-headed man would do. When he is on the ranch he wears a 'ten gallon hat,' the same as all of the cowboys, and he does his work daily like any other ranch hand. ## Obituary

MISS LENNETTA PRIME
Many people throughout Nova Scotia and the Eastern United States as well as Western Canada will learn with regret the death of Miss Lennetta Prime, who occurred on Monday evening at her reed dence, in the 66th, year of her age. The late "Miss Prime" as she was lovingly called by the hundreds of young children who received the first rudiments of education from her during a period of 43 years, had not been in the best of health for some time. About a year ago her health began to fail, but she continued her life's work until shortly before the close of the last school year, when owing to failing health she was obliged to relinquish her duties of primary teacher of the Weymouth School. Her condition gradually grew worse and death relieved her sufferings. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. George McDonald, of Plymouth. The funeral will take place on Thursday. Deceased has taught in the Weymouth School the greater part of her long active teaching career, first in the old school house, by St. Thomas' church and in the new school building. Possessed of a rare gift to instill into the minds of her charges, the young children, the first lessons of the school curriculum, an amiable disposition and strength of character. She has given freely and fully of her time and gifts to her hundreds upon hundreds of young children, who, at one time went on, have become men and women, professional as well as business and above all home builders, who have taken up their duties of life in many parts of the country. Regret of her passing will be keenly felt by all who knew her, and loved her, no one can take her place in the hearts and minds of those who passed from primer to higher grades, no one can mould the character and impart knowledge in the quiet manner of her who has left this vale of tears to receive her reward in the next world. Much sympathy is felt for the deceased's place, Mrs. Florio McDonald, who is filled with her aunt for the past twelve years.

LEANDER BLINN

The death of Leander Blinn, of St. Bernard's, occurred at his late residence on Monday the 13th inst, following a lengthy illness. Deceased was 64 years of age, and was born in the town of St. Dennis, of St. Bernard's, Rogers of Weymouth, R. I., Nelson, of East Boston, Mass., and Boston, two daughters, Mrs. Leo, Comau, of Quebec, Mass., and Miss Celeste Blinn, at home. Three brothers, Edward, of Saint-Jovite, Joseph, of Lynn, Mass., and Frank, of Fall River, also survive. The funeral will be held at St. Bernard's on Thursday with burial in the R. I. Cemetery.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies Are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and brittle, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe. Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by bringing at any drug store a bottle of Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

New Pipe Organ Dedicated At Baptist Church Last Thursday

Choir Of Sixty Voices Render In Superb Style Two Wonderful Oratorio Choruses
—Large Audience Present

A notable event in the musical history of Digby occurred on Thursday night of last week when the new Cassavant pipe organ was formally opened and dedicated at the Baptist Church. The audience room was filled to capacity, and the entire program was most delightfully and artistically rendered. After appropriate opening remarks by Rev. E. S. Mason, General Superintendent of Baptist Convention, Jas. Brydon of Kentville who presided at the organ, rendered selections carefully prepared to illustrate the tone quality of the various stops and the full power of the organ. A remarkable feature of the evening was the great choir of sixty good singers, from all parts of the surrounding country, who cordially gave their talent and diligent practice to make this a memorable occasion. Their rendition of those wonderful oratorio choruses from Haydn's "Creation" and Handel's "Messiah" directed by Alfred Boden would have done credit to a large city oratorio society. Two male voice quartets were given in superb style as only such rare voices can produce. The quartet consisted of Messrs. Morehouse, Dakin, Deaton and Warrington. At the close Rev. Mr. Mason spoke of the chorus, and the organist in terms of the highest praise and requested a repetition of "The Heavens are Telling" which was cheerfully given with even better effect than the first rendition. On the whole it was a musical "landmark" for Digby.

After the concert, the director in a neat and complimentary speech, presented the accompanist, Miss Edrie Titus, with a book of organ music which had been specially ordered from a London music house. Mr. Boden stated that he could not have accomplished such results with the chorus had it not been for the capable and painstaking assistance of the accompanist. Mr. Boden is a musician trained in the old English schools which put thoroughness first. He was a member of the Stoke-on-Trent Philharmonic and the North Staffordshire Festival choirs, and a medalist in Theory and Practice at the Normal College, London.

Miss Titus is well known in Digby as a diligent worker, always reliable, and enthusiastic in everything musical. As organist of the Baptist church for several years, she is entitled to the honor of presiding at the new organ and will spare neither time nor effort to qualify herself for the difficult position.

The pastor, Rev. L. E. Nunnis is to be congratulated. For foresight, enthusiasm, and earnest effort, in which Mrs. Nunnis actively co-operated, he won the support of all progressive church members, and the result is a neat and powerful religious influence upon the social life of the entire community.

The time has come when thinking men realize that their church is, in a certain sense, a competitor of the "movies," "petting parties" and auto "week ends," and if it is to be kept alive the church must offer attractions to the young which will offset the trivial (and often fatal) frivolities that seduce the rising generation—temptations and opportunities not dreamed of a few years ago, and which most of us blindly ignore. The musical influence of the Baptist church in Digby can be made a potent factor in moulding young ideas.

Modern youth scoffs at the past decade because it had no radio, and modern youth is just beginning to discover that jazz is only a temporary craze fast dying out, while the surpassing magnificence of the "Hallelujah Chorus" and "The Heavens are Telling" has kept those compositions on classical programs for more than a hundred years; yet, the former has been sung by every great chorus of every nation on the globe for one hundred and eighty-two years, and still remains marvellously fresh and beautiful, while we tire of present day "popular" music in ten weeks. Some of Mr. Brydon's organ selections were written seventy years ago, and Emerson who composed "Star of Descending Night" was born over a hundred years ago, and this male quartet has been continuously sung for the last seventy-five years and yet what could be more delightful than that quartet? There is something peculiarly pleasing in a combination of male voices which appeals to musical and unmusical people alike, and many Digby people will recall with pleasure the extraordinary productions of high class music by twenty male voices of the Digby choir.

There is an organization which the world has destroyed as it did many greater things. As to the organ itself, it is beautifully voiced and the mechanical contrivance assist the organist are quite up-to-date. Instead of the old fashioned stops which had to be pulled or pushed by hand, this organ has small, convenient, located "tipping tablets" which throw on or off a set of pipes by a mere touch of the finger. A pipe organ of this nature really consists of three separate organs which may be "coupled" by a simple contrivance so that in playing one organ another organ co-operates with it. The pedal organ has only one set of pipes of its own, and these have a very deep fundamental bass voice, but it may be coupled with either of the upper organs and thus sound the tones controlled by the "manuals" or keyboards played by the fingers above. The pedals consist of black and white keys like the manuals, but large enough and so far apart that the organist's toe and heel may depress them the same as fingers on the manual. In this organ the upper manual controls the "Swell Organ" with four different stops or voices while the manual just below controls the other stops on the "Great Organ." Some large organs have five manuals, or "banks of keys" with a hun-

Fine Prospects For Large Settlement In Nova Scotia

C. P. R. Has Promising Colonization Scheme For Maxwelton District

Prospects for the development of the Maxwelton area, and the settlement of a large number of families, bona fide farmers, are, the Canadian Pacific Railway Development engineer has recently gone over the district, which was thoroughly surveyed about two years ago by engineers from the Department of the Interior. It is now said that options on much of the land have been taken, and the Canadian Pacific Railway are prepared to go forward with a thorough and complete colonization scheme as soon as the Provincial Government build several short stretches of highway so as to open up the district to the railway, the main trunk highway and the coast.

It has been estimated that the section over which the Railway company is now looking will easily take two hundred families. The land is very fertile, free of rocks, and excellently adapted for dairying, small fruit raising, sheep breeding and other branches of agriculture. Market opportunities are good. The C. P. R. propose to sub divide the lands into farms and then sell them on very easy terms; giving a liberal margin of time before any payments are required in order to afford the best possible opportunity to the farmer to get established before he feels the financial requirements.

Construction was commenced last year on a short stretch of road, but that is not yet complete, as soon as roads have opened up the country and settlement is promised according to impressions gained from the C. P. R. officials who have just been over the district.

ded and more stops. The skill and good taste of an organist are shown by his ability to use just the right stop for each particular phrase and thus give the effect intended by the composer. Piano practice is essential and fundamental, but a pianist who has mastered scales, arpeggios and octaves might become a very tiresome organist if he fails to master "registration" (the variation of stops) and "expression" in which the very soul of music lies. The mechanical operation of a pipe organ is simplicity itself; it is something like this—the organist sets himself on the bench, turns over some music, taps two or three little ivory tilting tablets, throws on the electric motor, or signals the poor fellow behind the scenes who pumps by hand at 50c per hour. Then when the pressure gauge indicates that the motor is functioning (or that the man behind the scenes is still able to jump up and down), the organist presses some keys, the key pushes the "sticker," the "sticker" raises further end of "backfall" which pulls the "pull-down," and the "pull-down" in turn pulls down the "pallet," which allows the wind to rush into the pipe starting the vibration of a column of air causing sound waves to fall upon the ear—there! just like that! It's so simple!

Freeport

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Campbell and Miss Louisa Campbell, who have been visiting the latter parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Campbell, have returned to Malden, Mass.

Herman Nichols is home from the West where he spent the summer months. Mrs. Richard Hines, of Carlton; Mrs. Osborne Whitehouse and friend Mrs. Annie, of Brazil Lake, are the guests of Mrs. Edgar Whitford for a few days.

Miss Cornelia Stevens spent the week-end with friends at Westport.

Mrs. Ernest Raymond, of Centreville, spent Friday night with Mrs. Charles Teed, returning home Saturday morning. Capt. Charles Teed has recently set up a grocery store which is quite an addition to the town. We wish him success.

A number of young people met at the home of Cornelia Stevens on the 13th, the occasion being her 17th birthday. A very pleasant evening was spent with music and games, refreshments were served. She received a number of nice presents.

Frank Teed has purchased a new horse from parties in Meteghan.

Mrs. Burke, who has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Fred Brooks has returned to her home in St. John.

Announcements have been received here of the marriage of Clarence Campbell, of Prince Rupert, B. C. and Miss Bertha Mason, of Boston. The marriage took place Sept. 22nd in Suite 8, Clapp Building, Rev. J. J. Southworth officiated. The bride looked charming in silver-grey satin crepe with pearl trimmings. Her bridesmaid, Miss Deane Bishop was dressed in wine colored satin. The best man was Guy Campbell, brother of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell have the best wishes of a large number of friends. The bride is a graduate nurse of Boston while the groom is a native of Freeport, Nova Scotia. They will reside in Prince Rupert.

Mrs. George Baid of Digby, spent last week with her sister, Mrs. Lizette Hanks.

Just Talks—On Common Themes

On "Bothering About Little Things"

WHY is it that some people do not seem to break down under the severest of strains?

There was Mr. Gladstone, the great Premier, who lived to advanced age and dealt with enormous problems to the last.

He understood the relative importance of these things. Thus he could do a thousand task without killing himself.

John Adams, late in life, reluctantly said that Ben Franklin could do so much great work, because he refused to get excited about little things. While Adams who never was a great man, was constantly at work, debating everything, talking on everything, dealing with a thousand problems; Franklin sat in a chair dozing, apparently half asleep; saying little yet Franklin was appointed on every important committee, entrusted with every great mission. Adams despised Franklin's seeming indifference to the thousand things that excited him. But Franklin said, "The wheel of the cart makes the most noise."

George Washington was like Franklin, able to distinguish between things worth fretting over and things not worth fretting over. He knew the important from the unimportant. He could sleep at an opportune moment. He was able to thus decide momentous questions placidly. Napoleon let his marshals fight the battles; he did the thinking on big campaigns. He paid little attention to details but had good men do it. If you notice that George M. Cohan's press agent said about his management of theatrical ventures covering millions of dollars. "Use your own judgment; don't bother me. I look for results." And he went on building plays, rehearsing plays, developing his vision and his courage. He is the most wonderful man in his line in the world—a genius of his kind, in understanding popular taste.

Someone must look to details. Yes. Someone who is a detail-person. There are many such. General Managers should have such persons under them. They themselves should see what is needed as did Napoleon. Their thinking should be like Franklin's.

If the General Manager tries to do everything; pay too much attention to trifles and pursue them all day long exactly as he would pursue his main project, then he will be lost. He will be chasing butterflies off the road, killing harmless bugs in the highway; instead of marching on and on.

I cannot forget the story of the "Man Who Could Be It." He entered a business where a man had died. The man who had died had always made for the business $500,000 a year. That was satisfactory. He insisted on that result. He got it. He had men under him who had vast authority. They were figured by results. The man who made his big selling contracts had the pleasure of seeing his name on the dotted line as a representative of the company. The shop man ran the shop. The superintendent was boss. Everyone absolutely controlled his department. The manager figured on results and executed them. He could play golf and smile at the sound of his smooth running machine. The noise was the worst with him. He was not noisy. He only held the power of a critic and a Manager.

The successor to this man was different. He would not permit a shop superintendent to install a machine, that was HIS job. He was "IT." He had to have his fingers in everything, his voice in everything, his say-so in everything. Result—loss of initiative by his superintendents and selling forces. Result—also; vexing mountains of troubles. Details on details. He broke down; the business dropped off in profits; he went to a sanitarium and the end was disaster.

The thing is then—judgment of the important and the unimportant. Often a little thing is important. It may show a sign that feeds be considered. Straws show which way the wind blows. That is a gift of great executives. A great general noticed a certain movement among troops across the No Man's Land. It indicated loss of supplies; shortage of food. It won the battle.

The art of yielding on little things for a greater is often impossible for some persons. They run by rules. Rules are made to be broken only by the Manager; he can do it for a greater gain. The art of forgetting small incidents not liable to happen again is a gift also.

Business talks that aggrandize system forget that system is to operate uselessly or else it is not system. It is not more loose-leaf books; it is less loose-leaf books. A good housewife runs a quiet house. She does not have her cooking dishes in the parlor. She has a system that runs like a good automobile, with a soft purr.

Don't get enmeshed in details. Size up your problems. Else you will break down, even though you have strength of Atlas.

Potato Balls: What Has Become Of Them?

Mr. and Mrs. O. Woodman spent Sunday with Mr. Woodman's father, Hugh Blackford.

Elmer Floyd and family have moved into A. Jefferson's house on the hill.

Editor of The Courier:

To awaken interest I will give a dollar for a good fine one, of good large size so as to be sure of the Potato Seed.

Yes, just such a one as we boys used to buy at one another—many a one have I judged or "checked" from where Tom would send them thick and fast from the end of a pointed stick, potato balls by the thousands.

For the first and best—or rather the best first one—I mean the best really ripe with good black seed—in them that will sprout for the first of the experiment I will give five dollars. Because if we don't look out and keep on planting sprouts there will be no more seed.

To say any under 12 who will send the "Counter" the best reason, the best essay on the disappearance or disuse (perhaps it may be abuse) of the potato ball, I will give another dollar.

The boy or girl who endures of any one who will give her or him the best information—is of course as admirable as a competitor—only the name of the informant must also be quoted.

Then may follow, should I succeed in getting a young class "keen as mustard" for the fun. We may start and go on and enquire—why the seedless apple, orange, pineapple, banana etc. etc.—Boys, it will be rare sport, so come on.

Black Cats

Carload lots of hay and oats are stored for the horses in Moir's stables. To keep rats and mice away cats are necessary. These are all black and match the black horses in Moir's deliveries.

Practically all the fifty horses are Black Beauties. Mostly they are pure black Percherons, but one of the black ones is of registered Cylindradale pedigree.

Frank Boutiller, noted horseman, takes a loving pride in the selection and care of these horses and sees that the men clean harness and wagons daily so that all teams will stay spotless.

No driver ever has to touch a horse.

Believing What You Hear

THIS controversy between religion and science, about the theory of evolution, simmers down to the problem of how much one is willing to accept "on faith."

The scientists claim that religion is based on faith rather than proper facts.

But does it ever occur to these scientists that at least 95 per cent of their scientific knowledge is also based on faith?

For instance, every scientist will take oath that the skull of a creature known as the Java Ape Man, supposed to be half a million or so years old, exists—having been reconstructed from fragments. But how many scientists have actually seen this skull? Belief in this skull is entirely a matter of faith—credulously accepting the word of others.

We're all like the scientists, in that 95 per cent of what we "know" is accepted on faith alone. How do you know that there's a country called China? Were you ever there to see with your own eyes? Most of us have never seen China, but we believe in it.

Faith in the word of others makes us believe nearly everything we class as knowledge. Studying chemistry, we are told that water is a combination of hydrogen and oxygen—and we accept this as true, on faith.

Scientists "swore by" the authenticity of the Cardiff giant—believed in it, many of them, because they had faith in it—until the giant was exposed as a "planted" hoax of P. T. Barnum.

The world is so big that a man travelling constantly for 100 years would see only a small fraction of the whole before he died. With this handicap, it's quite natural that nearly all our knowledge is accepted on the basis of faith.

Faith is one of the mightiest forces in life.

It is just as much present in science as in religion.

All theories are eventually proved false—from Columbus knocking out the scientific theory that the earth was flat, to Einstein proving that parallel lines DO meet if indefinitely prolonged. The history of science is a history of exploded convictions—shattered faiths.

Your Eyes

A MONTREAL reporter finds that a fourth of the people who pass him on the streets wear spectacles. Disregarding the myth that the average of intelligence and culture is higher in Montreal than in other cities, it's reasonable to assume that Montrealers don't use their eyes any more than other metropolitans. And, accordingly, that the Montrealists hold good approximately for the whole country.

One person in every four wears glasses.

Probably half the people who really need glasses wear them.

Net result: One Canadian in every two has defective eyesight.

Are we becoming a country with bad eyes? No other conclusion is plausible when you contemplate the increasing number who have to wear spectacles.

There are causes for this:

Our generation uses its eyes while working much more than the old-timers who worked largely with their hands. The army of clerical employees has become a bewildering multitude, straining their optics. Manufacturing has shifted from the crude to the delicate and skilled, with further strain on sight.

The average Canadian reads more in a day than his great-grandfather in a month.

The growing army of people with defective vision is creating serious problems. One of these is the driving of an auto by eyesight weak and treacherous.

The day is coming when applicants for driving licenses will have to pass examinations for vision as well as sanity and good judgment.

Another form of sand in the gears is the clerical error caused by "poor eyes."

There's a scientific theory that nature gives us what we need and takes it away when no longer necessary. This theory seemed to have slipped a cog in the matter of eye-sight to fit modern needs. The more we need, the worse it gets.

A Blow For the Kiss

NO LONGER can there be any doubt about Russia. It has a destructive government, speaking after the manner of men.

The Soviets haven't done so very much constructive work but they have gone into the abolishing business on a considerable scale. They have barred independent thought, repudiated the obligations of man to man, condemned money, kiboshed religion, confronted the reliable Santa Claus with the "no-trespassing" sign and now they have set a stern, unyielding jaw against the well-known human kiss. That, it will be admitted, caps the climax.

The time dates from the beginning of things. Despite the claim of cold, unfeeling experts that it is nothing more or less than a deliberate or an impulsive swap of some several hundreds of microbes that park within the lips and in the shade of the tongue. It has survived all attacks and oozed and smacked its way thru the centuries.

It is an institution, succulent but portentous. It is an expression of a human purpose, a human desire, a human love, or a human passion. It is ingrowing and outbursting, and ever has been and ever will be, world without end.

Those Russians have overreached themselves entirely. It may be possible for them to tear down religious fabrics and civic structures, no matter how long standing or of what stability, but they must fail utterly in this latest effort to establish a restrictive law.

The human kiss is a human confessional whose powers of suction are far too great and adhesive to admit of being torn asunder, lip and tongue, by any system of government man may erect. We hope for soviet success based on human kindness.

Exit—Mr. Barnjum

MR. F. J. D. Barnjum, who has been more or less in the public eye for several years in connection with his campaign for forest conservation, has announced in letters already published in some of the Upper Province newspapers that he does not propose any longer to be a "lone crusader" in the interests of forest preservation and that, discouraged and no doubt disgusted with the response given to his arguments and propositions, he will shake the dust of his native land from his feet and locate in another country.

In doing so Mr. Barnjum does not hesitate to give his reasons. He is not satisfied with the ways of politicians. In this he is not alone because many people do not see eye to eye either with the representatives they assisted in choosing or with those whom they had no part in selecting. At the same time they realize probably that we cannot see all alike; that opinions must differ so long as the world is a world; and that because one does not hold the same views as his neighbor that is no real reason why he should exile himself from the country in which he was born. Quite recently a neighbor told us that after some miscreants had robbed him of several barrels of his finest apples he felt like taking an axe and going out and chopping down the trees. The feeling may have been natural, but its existence was brief. Sober second thought told him that "cutting off his nose to spite his face" would probably give satisfaction to those who had pilfered from his preserves. Therefore Mr. Barnjum should realize that even if he leaves Canada in a discontented mood it will simply cause a ripple and people will wonder why he was so foolish as not to remain and do all that he could in the way of propaganda, as he started out, to bring about those desirable reforms in forest management that he thinks are so necessary to the welfare of the country. Mr. Barnjum held strong views and took a determined stand with regard to the Federal Government placing an export embargo upon all pulpwood cut in the country. He was not alone in his views. There are thousands who think the same as he does—that the Government should use an iron hand and prevent the owners of woodland capable of producing pulpwood from shipping it across the line to the United States, no matter what price they get. Mr. Barnjum, however, forgets that this is not Russia; that we cannot be so autocratic as to say to private owners of woodland what they shall do with their pulpwood. Some of the provincial governments had the same views as Mr. Barnjum, even before he began to raise his voice on behalf of our forest lands, and while some prevented exporting from Crown Lands, are content to wait for a reasonable period and see if it is desirable in the interests of everybody that no pulpwood shall be sent from all the provinces to the United States pulp mills. Mr. Barnjum is not willing to be patient. He is imbued with the idea that Americans and politicians and exploiters are running and ruining Canada today and that this combination is too strong for the people at present to cope with. Such an idea is amusing. We hope we are still in control of Canadian affairs and that the will of the people will prevail no matter what are the wishes of politicians or American exploiters. If we agreed with Mr. Barnjum that improvement in our administration and in our government cannot be brought about by the people when they will it, then there would be ground for serious thought and we might well despair of the future, but we have a splendid country and usually a pretty good government. Our people are energetic, they have brains and are resourceful, never failing to tackle any problem that comes up, whether it be one of government or of business.

Everybody must regret the decision arrived at by Mr. Barnjum to abandon his native country and seek a foothold in another land. His efforts to give the people a wider acquaintance with the forest wealth and to impress upon them the necessity of caring for it, preventing waste by fire and waste by recklessness have appealed to many thoughtful people. Propaganda such as that always has a good effect, but when a man deserts the field of propaganda for that of administration and endeavors to set himself up as the sole authority upon methods to be followed, he is very apt to encounter opposition. This is exactly what Mr. Barnjum did. It is very evident that he could not brook any course being followed but that which he himself thought was right. All of us cannot be in the autocratic class; that privilege is only given to a very few. We must respect the views of those who have as good a right to them as we have and if they are in the majority, we must bow to the will of the greater number.—Ex.

A Digby County woman suggests that if a youth of sixteen is competent to run an automobile his health will not be greatly impaired if he is made to go out and hoe potatoes.

Acting Sec'y April to Oct. 1924.

Do Your Children Grow
Fast Enough?

Are They Sturdy, Healthy, and Strong, or Pale,
Weak and Run Down?

Growing children need a great deal of food, and sometimes they will not eat the kind of food that they need for strength, then they become thin, pale, and run down.

Condition of under-nourishment can be corrected by taking Father John's Medicine, which does contain just the food elements such children need, and that is why so many children gain weight while they are taking this old-fashioned family medicine.

Father John's Medicine is an expertly blended preparation of cod liver oil with other ingredients in such a way that its medicinal action is easily taken up by those who are weakened and run down. Your friends and neighbors know its value. Thousands of mothers depend upon it to keep their children well and strong.

Vote of Thanks
The members of The Digby Baptist Church and congregation wish to extend a vote of thanks to all those who assisted at the dedication service of their new Pipe Organ, especially to L. Bryson of Kentville for the Organ Regatta; A. Boden, director, and the choir of sixty voices. That this be acknowledged by the Press and recorded in the Church Records.

On behalf of the church,
M. C. DENTON, Clerk.

For the love of Digby I read AMERICANADIAN Co's ad, and write them at Box 15, Yarmouth.

Weddings

MERRITT—BROMLEY

Miss Antoinette Cecilia Merritt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin B. Merritt, of Dorchester, became the bride of Everett Bromley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bromley, of Melrose, on Tuesday evening, October 16.

The ceremony took place in the First Baptist church in Dorchester, and was performed by Rev. Wallace C. Simpson, of Lowell, Mass., a former pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. Robert L. Webb, D. D., pastor of the church.

The wedding music was played by E. A. Hoffman, organist of the First Congregational church of Malden.

The bride is a graduate of the Girls Latin school, class of 1919 and '21, Lasell class of 1922.

The groom is a thriving young business man in Boston; Secretary of the New England Stationers Association; and well known in musical circles in Melrose and elsewhere and was in service during the World War.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore white chiffon trimmed with chantilly lace and velvet, with full court train; her veil, trimmed with lace was held in place with a wreath of orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of white sweet peas and Lily of the Valley.

The maid of honor, Miss Elsie A. Terhune, of New York, a Lasell graduate, wore a crystal beaded old blue georgette gown, and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

The bridesmaids, Miss Ruth D. Hayden of Ventnor City, N. J.; Miss Brenda M. Copeland, of Rochester, N. H.; Lasell graduate, Miss Muriel P. Kinney of Bear River, N. S., cousin of the bride; Miss Evelyn M. Goudy and Miss Isabelle Eubank, of Boston, wore georgette and pastel shades of orchid, peach and Nile green and carried bouquets of roses and blue larkspur.

The little flower girl, Phyllis Sampson, daughter of the officiating minister, was dressed in pink crepe de chene, and carried a basket of pink roses, scattering rose petals in the path of the bride.

Malcolm B. Varney of Cambridge, was best man, and the ushers were Victor G. Lovejoy, of Paul Park, Maurice E. Goudy and C. Edward Cobleigh, Jr., of Melrose, and Paul F. and Joseph G. Howland of Somerville.

A wedding reception was held in the vestry of the church immediately following the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Bromley will make a trip via auto to New York, Ventnor City, N. J., Washington, D. C., and Virginia Hot Springs. After their return they will make their home in Belmont.

The bride is a niece of the late Mrs. Antoinette Wyman, of Digby, and of H. R. Kinney of Bear River; also a granddaughter of the late John Kinney, of Weymouth, N. S.

BOWE—MACPHERSON

An attractive wedding took place at the Park Avenue Methodist parsonage on Wednesday evening, Oct. 23, when Margaret C. MacPherson, daughter of Mrs. Thomas MacPherson, of Calcutta, India, and George L. Bowe, eldest son of Andrew Bowe, of Rosville, Nova Scotia, were united in marriage in the presence of a number of friends.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George B. Heath.

The bride was attired in a dainty white crepe de chine dress, carrying a bouquet of white carnations and maiden hair. Her bridesmaid, Lennie M. Balcom, wore a honey-dew chiffon dress with a bouquet of pink carnations. The groom was attended by the brother of the bride, who acted as best man. A reception followed given at the home of friends of the bride. Many beautiful gifts were received.

New Radio Service

The agricultural knowledge slowly gathered by devoted masters of the world's oldest science will be made available to the farmers of Eastern Canada by means of an arrangement just entered into between MacDonald Agricultural College, St. Ann's and Marconi radio station CFCF.

If a farmer has a problem which needs solution, or is anxious to have advice upon some phase of his work, it will only be necessary to write to Marconi station CFCF, Montreal and the matter will be turned over to the college for attention.

The replies to the enquiries thus received will be broadcasted, together with the enquiry, from station CFCF during the Monday and Friday evening broadcasts at an hour which will be published later. In this way not only the original enquirer, but other farmers who possess radio sets will benefit from the advice given out from the college.

This new step forward in radio service was made possible through the whole hearted co-operation of Professor F. C. Harrison, principal of MacDonald College, who is offered to assist in every way to make the scheme a success.

Grief Of A Secretary

(By One)

The following lament was printed in a recent issue of the "HUB," Boston Rotary's paper, and is considered good enough for production.

If the secretary writes a letter, it is too long.
If he sends a postal, it is too short.

If he issues a pamphlet, he's a spend-thrift.
If he doesn't, he's stingy.

If he attends a committee meeting he is putting in
If he stays away he is a shirker.

If the attendance at a luncheon is slim he should have called the members up.
If he does call them, he is a pest.

If he duns a member for his dues, he is insulting.
If he does not collect he is lazy.

If a meeting is a howling success, the Program Committee is praised.
If it's a failure, the secretary is to blame.

If he asks for advice, he is incompetent and if he does not, he is bull-headed.
Asks to advise.
Dust to dust.
If the others won't do it.
The secretary must.

Sometime At Eve

Sometime at eve, when the tide is low,
I shall slip my moorings and sail away,
With no response to a friendly hail,
In the silent hush of the twilight pale.

When the night stoops down to embrace the day,
And the voices call in the water's flow,
Sometime at eve, when the water is low,
I shall slip my moorings and sail away.

Through purple shadows that darkly trail,
O'er the ebbing tide of the unknown sea,
And a ripple of waters to tell the tale,
Of a lonely voyager, sailing away.

To mystic isles, where at anchor lay,
The craft of those who have sailed before,
O'er the unknown sea to the unknown shore;

A few who have watched me sail away,
Will miss my craft from the busy bay;
Some friendly bark that were anchored near,
Some loving souls that my heart held dear.

But I shall have peacefully found my sail,
In mooring sheltered from storm and gale,
And greeting the friends who have sailed before,

Nervous Breakdown Relieved

Toronto, Ontario.—"It is pretty hard to explain my feelings in nervous troubles. I felt low spirited, and pains in my head and eyes, always crying, and did not want to go anywhere. I do knitting and fancy work, and I would get irritable after a few minutes of work. I have been in Canada five years and have been this way ever since I came. I am taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I sleep better and it seems to make me sane and I must say I am feeling more jolly. ## Say It Now

It has been aptly said that life is like a bank. It will not honor drafts upon its treasury until after deposits have been made. One can make many different kinds of deposits in life's treasury, but surely none that pays richer dividends than that suggested in the following verse:

If with pleasure you are viewing
Any work a man is doing
Tell him now.

Don't withhold your approbation
Till the person makes oration.
And he lies with snowy lies on his brow

For no matter how you shout it,
He won't really care a whit about it.
He won't really know how many tears drop

You have shed
If you think some praise is due him,
Now's the time to give it to him

For he can't read his tombstone

Canada's National Song

A Canadian writer has been telling recently, how "Canada's national song," "The Maple Leaf," came to be written. The composer Alexander Muir, who was also the author of the words, was walking one day in his garden, when a leaf fell on his coat. Despite his brushing of it, the leaf stuck to his coat, a fact which led him to think of the lines he afterwards wrote. And when they were written, he went to a music store to look for music likely to fit them, but could not find any, so he sat down and wrote his own tune to them. The song became popular at once and has remained so.

Adapted

Despite the terrific cold on Mars, at least two forms of earth life could exist there. One is "evergreen" vegetation. The other is the slimy trout, which always lives in water at a temperature of 33 degrees.

Furthermore, nature adapts all life to its environment. Or life adapts itself, if you prefer. Variety gets otherwise, but there may be special forms of life on Mars that couldn't exist under similar conditions on earth.

Passing Up A Half Million

(Atlantic Fishermen)

The calling off of the 1924 International Fishermen's Races is but another instance of the shortsightedness of the fish industry of this country and of Canada.

It is almost unbelievable that an industry, whose chief needs is the stimulation of consumption of its product, can sit back supinely and permit such a publicity-getter as the fishermen's races to be "called off," apparently for no sufficient reason.

At the recent Atlantic City convention emphasis was rightly placed on the need of creating a greater market—the use of publicity and advertising. The problem was the raising of the necessary funds to carry out such a policy.

Yet, the fishermen's race which, in previous years, has commanded literally hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of good front-page fish advertising space in the public press annually, is allowed to be "called off," just because a tough loser lost his head.

It's a crying shame to permit such a valuable institution to be manhandled. The game ought to be bigger than any individual. If necessary get a Judge Landis or a Will Hayes—someone with horse sense and a firm hand—to run the races. Put the event on a foolproof basis. Any such expense would be more than justified.

If you doubt it, ask any publicity expert what value the fishermen's races are to the fish industry. Then you'll begin to realize what you are passing up—passing up needlessly.

The Coming Eclipse

Our readers will be more or less interested in the total eclipse of the sun which is to be visible in this district. This eclipse is timed to take place between 9.05 and 9.06 on the morning of January 24, 1925, and it will last for about a minute and a half. At the instant of totality Digby and district will be immediately plunged into total darkness, just as if night had suddenly come. As soon as the moon has passed over and the time of totality has been completed, daylight will come back just as instantaneously. If the sky is clear on that day, the people of this district will have the opportunity of witnessing a sight which has not been visible in this district for five hundred years, and will not be visible again for five hundred more years.

WILL HYDRO BE DEVELOPED?

Town Makes Application to Government For 65,000 k. w. hours Yearly

Letter From Chief Engineer of Power Commission Received

"Resolved, that the Town of Digby apply to the Nova Scotia Power Commission for the supply of a minimum of 65,000 k. w. hours of electrical energy at 23c per k. w. hour as per estimate of the Chief Engineer as outlined in letter of 29 Nov., 1924."

The above resolution was passed at the regular meeting of the Town Council which was held in the Council Chambers on Monday evening last. His Worship, Mayor E. DuVernet, opened the discussion and declared that previous to the last meeting of the Council he had written a letter to the chairman of the Hydro Commission at Halifax, asking for some definite information on the proposed hydro development in Western Nova Scotia. A few days ago a reply was received from the Chief Engineer of the Nova Scotia Power Commission as follows:

Halifax, N. S.,
October 17th, 1924.

DEAR SIR:—
Your letter of September 29th as regards power development at Bear River will be brought to the attention of the Commission at an early date.
I may say, however, that it is not the policy of the Commission to undertake power developing until contracts are in hand with municipalities or others warranting the proposed development from an economic standpoint. Development, therefore, does not depend so much on the intention of the Commission as on the development of circumstances which in the judgment of the Commission justify the development.

It does appear, as you suggest, that circumstances favorable to a hydro electric undertaking in the Western part of the Province are developing. We have been more or less in close touch with recent developments in connection with the Pulp mill at Bear River. We have, however, had no recent information other than that which you give in regard to the Yarmouth situation.

This whole matter would be materially advanced if the Town Council of Digby would resolve to advise the Commission that the Council is prepared to contract with the Commission for a supply of power on the basis of the estimates submitted in November, 1922, and under the terms of the Power Commission Act. Similar action on the part of the Town of Yarmouth would still more materially advance the proposed development in view of the relatively much larger amount of power consumed by the pulp mill than the past history of the Pulp Mill at Bear River, this situation is a somewhat difficult one, and the Commission would hardly be justified in undertaking a development to supply this mill with power until doubt as to the continuous operation of this mill over a term of years is dispelled so far as is reasonably possible.

In order to assist you in this matter, draft terms and conditions such as the Commission would expect to be incorporated in a contract between the Commission and the town of Digby, and such as are incorporated in contracts which the Commission has in effect, are enclosed.

Yours very truly,
K. H. SMITH,
Chief Engineer, Nova Scotia
Power Commission.

During the past week Town Clerk Boden, who had been spending his vacation in Halifax, was asked to interview the Power Commission. After considerable trouble the Clerk was successful in getting in touch with members of the Commission and the information received was along the lines as outlined in the above letter.

After receiving this letter His Worship wrote Capt. J. E. Kinney, Mayor of Yarmouth, enclosing the letter received, and stating that "from the letter it would appear that unless we get busy and put in a demand for power that they will not do anything of their own accord and in taking this stand they are, from a business point of view, right. I hope that you will take the matter up vigorously in Yarmouth along the lines indicated. I feel that hydro development can be made a reality if we all get together and work, and when accomplished will be of untold benefit to Western Nova Scotia." Major Kinney replied stating "that at the first convenient opportunity I will acquaint our council in committee with the contents, etc., and then advise you the general attitude in connection therewith."

Town Clerk Boden, according to information received at Halifax, stated that in the near future Nova Scotia would be brought under one hydro system, and the whole of the province would be supplied with electric current. Mr. Boden prepared the following which was read to the Council:

In view of the proposal to enter into an agreement with the Nova Scotia Power Commission for the supply of Hydro Electric Power for the Town of Digby a few facts are presented.

The income for the year 1923 for Light and supplies was $10,318.81. The income for the 10 months ending 30 Sept. 1923 was $8,620.40, and for the 10 months ending October 1924, $9,969.28, being an increase of $1,348.88, showing that there is not much difference between the two years.

The amount of current generated during for the past 3 years is as follows:—
for 1921—46,160 kw hours
1923—57,810

The cost of running the plant for 1923 and all expenses excluding supplies was $10,839.40.

The Nova Scotia Power Commission offer to supply power based on a minimum consumption of 65,000 kw hours at 2.3c per kw.

The estimated cost of the year's supply at this rate which is considerably more than any previous year would be, $1,500. The sinking fund charge would be $40. The debenture interest charges $60. Administration expenses and Insurance etc. say 600. Salary of Electrician 1,200. Charge of wiring incidental to all-day power say 1,000.

Making a total for the first year of $5,900.

Nova Scotia In The Limelight

We really believe that finally the day is dawning in Nova Scotia. We are about ready to begin to be jealous of the good repute of the climate, the enterprise, the ambitions, the education and the good name of Nova Scotia. Some of our people are almost ready to fight for her against aspirations and ridicule.

During the past two weeks a series of letters have been appearing in the Montreal Herald dealing with Maritime Rights, and the writers seem to delight in holding this province up as "the horrible example." To quote the words of one writer, "Maritime Righters were slobbering over themselves in eulogizing a worthy citizen because he championed their secession chatter. That being so why not go after the slobberers on the argument and not snip so viciously at what they said about the late Mr. Corning."

The Courier has faith in Nova Scotia, despite the talk of chronic kickers. Our forests—such as are left are growing crops. Every tree is now counted. Someone knows that as well as the gardener knows his summer plants. Every bounding water all that roars away, white and foaming with its rainbow arching thru the sunlight, is estimated in kilowatts. And the time is coming when these beautiful falls will be used to advantage.

Why is it that for the time to come when she will be in a position to furnish citizens with a 24 hour electric service. And it seems at the present time as if hydro is our only salvation.

We do not intend to ask for extravagant and ridiculous boosting of Nova Scotia and Digby County. All we need is to spread the truth and limit the spread of truth. If we can stop other provinces from lying about Nova Scotia we can attend to the matter. We prefer the Florida policy—"all reasonable lying done on the premises. Nova Scotia people do not know sufficient about Nova Scotia. They are beginning to learn since the automobile has taken them into Nova Scotia wonderland.

We are going to have $50,000 for advertising Nova Scotia and if we don't get it from the Legislature and the Municipalities we want it. We want book etc newspaper advertising abroad. We have been too private. We want publicity. A chap in a western town was changing his shirt and so he pulled down the curtain of his room in a cow-town hotel. Immediately came the crash of shotguns and the shatter of bullets, tearing down his window curtains. And then came

Resolution Passed Asking Provincial Gov't For Return Of License Fees

Return Taxes To Be Used In Improving Highways

At Monday night's meeting of the Town Council a letter was read from the Council of North Sydney asking concurrence in a resolution that town had passed asking that some share of the Motor Vehicle Tax be given to the towns instead of having it go to the provincial government and also that a share of the road tax be paid by the towns to the provincial government. The Mayor expressed himself in favor of this.

Coun. Jordan said that the resolution expressed his views and he moved, seconded by Coun. Beck, that the following resolution submitted by the Town of North Sydney be passed which was carried unanimously.

At a meeting of the Town Council of North Sydney held on June 20 1924 it was unanimously decided to adopt the following Resolution:

That this Town Council of North Sydney desires to protest to the Local Government at Halifax against the policy at present pursued by the provincial government of collecting all license fees from motor vehicles owned in the various incorporated Towns and Cities, and the diverting of such fees to the Provincial Treasury thereby depriving said towns of revenue which is urgently required and should be available for street repair and maintenance in said Towns and Cities.

AND FURTHERMORE RESOLVED that this Town Council is of the opinion that in view of present depressed conditions obtaining in the various incorporated Towns of the Province the time has arrived when the whole or part of such motor vehicle license fees should be rebated to the various Towns and Cities in the Province.

AND FURTHERMORE RESOLVED that whereas each incorporated Town and City in the Province is assessed at the rate of $100.00 of Annual Provincial Tax, to the Province of Nova Scotia and known as the Provincial Highway Tax, this Town Council is of the opinion that the whole or part of such tax collected should be applied by the Provincial Highway Board to the repair and maintenance of those streets in the incorporated Towns and Cities which are used as the connecting links between different portions of the improved highways outside the said Towns and Cities.

AND WHEREAS there are a number of said Towns in the Provinces situated similarly as North Sydney in these respects

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Mayor and Town Clerk be authorized to instruct to communicate to the Mayor of other Towns and Cities on this subject, and to request them to adopt a Resolution in the terms of this Resolution in respect of such tax.

AND WHEREAS it may be necessary that some changes be made in the Legislation under which said Board is acting.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Mayor and Town Clerk suggest to the Mayors of other Towns, if necessary, that a Resolution be sent to Halifax in respect of such legislation.

a delegation of "leading citizens" who invaded his room; pointed to the drawn curtains and asked "why is all this damned privacy?"

We Nova Scotia folks, will do better when we begin to tell the world what we have for attractions; for special farming opportunities; how we lead in

On "A Day of Memories"

YOU will buy a poppy—of course—on Nov. 11, Armistice Day. This year, as to former years, the proceeds go to soldiers who are blind, lame and unable to work. There are many of them, and during the year making poppies, which are sold throughout Canada. Last year, in a certain Canadian city, I saw the boys and girls filling automobiles, standing in the streets, soliciting your attention—selling poppies for men who sacrificed all in order that you may live in peace and comfort. It looked good to see a city all redheaded with the tiny bouquet in the hand. It was a disgrace almost, not to wear one. We expect to see this town and county abloom on Nov. 11. Every citizen who has a spark of red blood in his veins should be glad of the opportunity to assist his fallen brother.

It seems almost like a dream to go back to that midsummer season eleven years ago, when the German troops were marching on little Belgium. We know that despite the present abasement of German arms, then Germany was proud, able, dominant; prepared. Its marvelous feats of reducing the forts in Belgium, hitherto considered impregnable to cannon, struck terror to our very souls. We stood in imagination at the shore on the Atlantic, watching the victorious eagles of Germany, coming with battleship and flying squadrons to raid our own shores; march with triumph across our cities and into our peaceful towns under helmets that had never shadowed victorious locs.

We had little thought at first except for ourselves—say what we may, all of us.

We immediately got into that War. We sent boys here and there by land and by sea. They were to stay a grand army that lay in trenches before Paris, which once fallen would mean the eventual end of our civilization as they esteemed it. They did their part; we had a marvelous day of reconstruction in November, 1918, and then the return amid peacetime of song and rain of flowers for the first troops to come, and then silence and nothing said and no thought of those poor chaps who kept to the last in the service, came home singly, to find no hands at the railway stations; no welcome from the Mayors of the towns; no bouquets—nothing but a casual inquiry, "Where YOU been all this time. I have not seen you for a couple of years." They returned to find business gone and other people dead; the ones who were on their uppers when the soldier left, hiding around and looking superciliously out from the plate glass windows of limousines.

We left a lot of boys "over there." And that is not all. The toughest thing is the boys who died while in training, from mere illness contracted while in this same service. No glamour about the lads who died this way. No glamour, indeed—but pathos, service, sacrifice. Nobody thought of poppy fields waving red-bloomed in Champagne country or at Chateau Thierry. We forgot; we forgot. We require so much sentiment to make us remember. This is why memorials are essential. Widowed mothers' the lad in different parts of the country, just as they do the lad who may be the unknown soldier, brought from a French hillside.

They sleep in death all over—the same—all willing to go—all feeling cheated when some who had volunteered for France were kept in our own training camps. The dead left many children. Three generations are in memorials and on land and sea they are awaiting the call. Women do not forget the cherished dead; who died for the cause. It is for the living to regenerate by their deeds the service that they volunteered. We are asked to buy a poppy, to make a speech; to give a bit for the comfort of the sustenance of these families.

Forget everything but this—you may shrivel or you may expand your own soul by your willingness; by your giving as the cause may be. YOU will not be able to keep your money. The future of the country lies in the keeping of the boys and girls of today. This day of memories, Tuesday, November 11, and the Memorial Day to come, are for these especially. As we do unto these, we do it for those who are dead in the service of our country.

Peps provide the best and hardest means of getting rid of Fall colds quickly and surely. Neglect adds to your troubles later on, most possibly in the shape of a bad dose of bronchial catarrh that lingers through the winter.

The first sign of hoarseness or throat irritation is evidence that you need Peps. Dissolve one or two of these pleasant infection-killing tablets in the mouth right away. Breathe deeply into throat and lungs the powerful healing and germicidal Peps medicine gives off in the form of fumes. These cut the phlegm, soothe and purify the tender air-passages and destroy harmful germs that start trouble in throat and lungs.

Peps remove the cause of coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis, etc. By invigorating and fortifying the entire breathing system Peps give valuable resistance against weather dangers.

"Child's Eyelids Inflamed Stuck Together and Bleed"

Mr. E. F. Kimball, Entwistle, Alta., writes: "Our little girl from birth was troubled with inflamed eyelids and in spite of several remedies, grew worse until at the age of six months her eyes could not be opened after sleeping without bleeding, a waxy discharge sticking the lids together and adhering with great tenacity. The child's grandmothers were consulted by mail, and both responded with a little sample box of Dr. Chase's Ointment. These were used as directed; and lasted until we could obtain a further supply from Edmonton. Improvement was very marked from the first application. The waxy discharge was easier removed and did not reappear. Inflammation subsided and has not returned."

Friday, Oct. 24. We extend our sincere sympathy to the bereaved widow, parents and other relatives in the passing away of one so young and promising.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hewey entertained a number of young folks at a party on Thursday evening, a nice time was spent by all in games and dancing.

Miss Dorothy Simpson is spending the week end with Miss Miriam

The Most Economical Car in the World to Operate

A YEAR ago the Chevrolet Motor Co. of Canada, Limited, put on a unique gasoline economy contest, open to Chevrolet owners everywhere in Canada.

It was then that a Canadian-built Chevrolet Sedan, under official observation and conditions, established the world's mileage record of 55.4 miles per gallon. The grand average of all the contestants in every province in Canada was 34.1 miles per gallon.

What would Chevrolet average over a period of months in every-day service? How economical from the other phases of upkeep? Here are the answers—supplied by owners everywhere in Canada—

Average miles per Gallon of Gasoline.	Average miles per Gallon of Oil.	Average cost of Repairs per thousand miles (not including tires)
29.5	1,420	78 cents

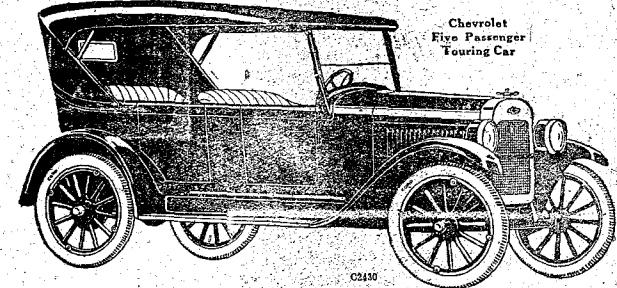

The cars on which these mileage averages were based have travelled anywhere from 1,500 miles to over 36,000. Some of the cars were used for pleasure, others for business. Almost a third of these cars are giving economical service in the taxi business.

Chevrolet's remarkably low upkeep, together with its low first cost, make it the world's greatest motor car value.

Just Talks--On Common Themes Struck by Train At Weymouth Station But Escape Alive

On "Just A Bird Story"

MacMILLAN, the Arctic explorer, has acquired the art of picturing in speech to a degree never before attained in my opinion by any modern speaker. It comes from a mind overflowing with fact and with feature and from a power of deliberation and quickness that speakers frequently have lost. Public speakers too often dwell on the things they would like to say and scant the things they do say.

In writing to The Courier, a friend says that he heard MacMillan twice since his return and he has never repeated a story or dwelt on the same elements of his experience and each address has been on an entirely new phase of this wondrous, mystical eloquent North. And once he thought it so dull and uninteresting.

Maybe it will not be out of place to paraphrase a story out of his speech to the newspaper men at Portland, Me., a few days ago, a report of which was sent me by a friend, just because it is so full of what I want to say. It has been a frequent suggestion of this column, that religion is not a matter of determination by science or by disproof by science or extermination by science. The more science advances the more need of religion is such. The more we know the greater the question—why, how, whence? The more science discovers, the greater its confession "I do not know."

This little tale that took MacMillan perhaps ten minutes for its graphic telling illustrates merely one phase of bird-migration, which has always come to a stop in science with that question—why? What makes the bird migrate and how does the bird know? We do not know why or how the bird knows. These birds that know no winter in their year, "wild birds that change their season in the night and wait their way from cloud to cloud down the long wind."

What journeys they take—the arctic tern was found by the "Scotia" explorers in the far South. How swiftly they fly and how confidently across pathless seas, at night, at great altitudes. How strange that usually the young birds first fly away without waiting for those who have made the journey before. How striking that birds frequently return from thousands of miles away to the same garden where they passed the summer before.

So MacMillan was telling about what they brought out of the great North, lesser things maybe, yet full of comfort and delight to students. One of these completed the life history of a certain bird. My friend claims he could not quite get the name as it was pronounced by Mr. MacMillan, but he heard it as the calico-baked snipe. I am an ornithologist—let it go at that. In the life-stories of birds so many chapters are blank. Where do they nest? The book will say of many birds "probably in Labrador." But no one knows and thinks what is the eagerness of those who would write the life-stories of birds to be able to say from exact knowledge.

Going north and ever north, MacMillan asked the Eskimo about the birds—certain kinds. "We do not know," said the Eskimo. "They went north, past here." And so MacMillan went on and on, and he, ever asked the question and the answer was "they went north and on."

At length they came to their northern outpost. Beyond this point the continent. Beyond this was the sea about the pole, where Perry dropped his plummet and found no bottom, at 9,000 feet—a great sea, always a sea; never was any land there. Here on the tip of the world, MacMillan sought the meeting place of the bird—he mentioned this snipe as my friend called it, the most timid and fleeting bird on earth.

One day, as a last resort, he organized a game. He took a long rope from his stores and himself at one end and one of his men at the other end, he called all the little Eskimo children and putting their little hands on the rope, he made a play-game. They were to take the rope and run, here and there, hither and yon, over the mossy earth, where birds might nest.

They thought it play; MacMillan knew that it was a scientific experiment. And so they went flying over the moss; falling down and getting up and playing with their shining eyes in the fun. Wherever they went they flushed birds. Days passed before up from the moss arose with flight, the "calico-baked snipe." Eureka! The scientific play experiment has come to a successful ending. In the deep moss MacMillan saw a tiny nest and in it three tiny eggs.

This was the first egg, of all the scientists of the world, ever to have seen the nest and the eggs of this tiny bird. He was looking on something that ornithologists had long considered the mystery of mysteries. Tenderly he took the nest; tenderly packed it and its eggs; tenderly brought it home.

On the way, he told about the finding of this nest and the eggs over his radio. Before a week had passed came an offer from a famous collector, of $300 for the eggs and the nest. MacMillan said "no." Again came an offer, "I will give you $1,000 for the nest and eggs." Again MacMillan said "no," and the eggs rest securely in a famous American museum, today, where all may see them.

"What strange impulse; what pre-natal instincts send this little bird to the top of the world to nest," asks MacMillan with his eyes full of wonder—his eyes so blue and clear.

She seeks the farthest north. If land went on, yet more degrees of latitude, she would doubtless go. She sinks her warm nesting bed, on the end of earth. And there she builds her nest. How does she find it; what almost infinite urges it; how countless the beatings of her tiny wings, seeking the place to fulfill her motherhood? Who hath told her? What makes her never-failing in this impulse? How finds she her path down the meridians?

Science stops here. Science can not tell. Science can no more tell than she can tell why or how the seed of the poppy builds so stately a mansion for its own housing—so wonderfully bedecked so like a castle for gems and, at the same time builds the stem, the flower, the color, the perfume, the reproductive organs and resilience to the passing winds. Before these questions, science stands perplexed. And in steps—God.

Obituary

MRS. MARY BINGAY

It is with regret that we record the passing of Mary, widow of the late Geo. T. Bingay, M. D., which took place at Westport on Oct. 25, in the 84th year of her age, leaving to mourn their loss two sons and two daughters, viz., Robert V. Bingay, residing at Westport, Penn., Manager and principal owner of the Pittsburgh Transformer Co., William, residing in New York City, engaged in the Electrical Business, Mrs. Albert Blanton of Westport and Mrs. Colin Thompson of whom her mother-in-law resided for many years.

Also two sisters, Mrs. Geo. Graves of Amesford, Kings Co., and Miss Georgia Vroom, of Boston, Mass.

Dr. Bingay and family formerly resided in Annapolis, but in 1888 removed to Westport, Md. He died in 1904, leaving some 24 years. Mrs. Bingay was highly cultured lady and had a large circle of friends and relatives.

She dearly loved her garden and while she was able to look after it, her flower beds were her delight and many a bouquet was seen in the sick room of the community.

At the period of the Great War, she was an earnest worker in the Red Cross and always kept her hands busy to send relief to our boys across the seas.

She was also a faithful member of the B. M. Aid Society and did her best to help her ever-giving word and work.

Mrs. Bingay always said that she did not want a long and painful illness, and Providence granted her request as only a few days before her death, she said Good Bye to a friend at the front door of her residence.

Very few will be missed in any community as Mrs. Bingay's sympathy is extended to the sorrowing ones.

Weddings

WENTWORTH-SABEAN

An attractive autumn wedding was that on Saturday evening of Miss Thelma Sabean, daughter of Mrs. Ida J. Sabean, of Westport, and Mr. William Wentworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin A. Wentworth, of Dexter, Maine. The ceremony was performed at eight o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, the Rev. A. A. Rideout, pastor of the First Baptist church officiating, and Rev. Mr. Rideout, pastor of the First Baptist church officiating, and Rev. Mr. Rideout, pastor of the First Baptist church officiating.

The bride who was given in marriage by her uncle, Asby Sabean of Westport, was a beautiful young woman, with blue eyes and blonde hair, and a tall, well built figure. She was dressed in a white gown with a long train and a full skirt. Her hair was styled in waves and she wore a large veil. The groom was a young man of about the same age, with dark hair and a well built figure. He was dressed in a dark suit and a white shirt with a bow tie.

During the evening music was furnished by J. Spencer, Trio. The house was beautifully decorated with palms, ferns and chrysanthemums.

The bride's party was assisted in receiving by her mother, Mrs. Ida J. Sabean, and her sister, Miss Thelma Sabean, and her sister, Miss Thelma Sabean, and her sister, Miss Thelma Sabean.

Church Point Boy Victim Of Tragic Shooting Accident

Leo LeBlanc Instantly Killed By Bullet From His Own Rifle

In a tragic shooting accident which occurred Friday in the Gib Woods, eight miles from Church Point, Digby county, Leo LeBlanc, 19 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Adrien LeBlanc of Church Point, lost his life. Under circumstances which are shrouded with mystery, the unfortunate youth was shot through the head and almost instantly killed by a bullet from his own rifle, fired while he was alone in a cabin in the woods.

With Camille Thibodeau, of Church Point Station, as his companion, Leo LeBlanc left home Thursday morning on a hunting expedition to the Gib Woods. According to the story told by Thibodeau after the shooting had taken place, he and LeBlanc had entered a camp which they found in the woods and, after remaining for a short time, he, Thibodeau, went out of the cabin, leaving LeBlanc there alone.

When a short distance from the building, he declared, he heard a shot and returning hurriedly, he found LeBlanc lying on the floor in a pool of blood, shot through the head, his rifle lying beside him.

Dr. Thibault, of Little Brook, was summoned to the scene of the shooting and on his arrival he pronounced LeBlanc dead. A jury, empaneled by Dr. Thibault, with Stanislaus Doucette, of Little Brook, as foreman, returned a verdict of "death by accidental shooting." The bullet penetrated LeBlanc's lower jaw making an exit near his eyes.

The circumstances under which the unfortunate youth met his untimely end probably will never be known, as he was alone in the camp at the time. From statements made by Thibodeau, however, it is believed that for some reason he stepped on a branch in the cabin and that in getting down he accidentally discharged his rifle. The trigger spring of the weapon was found to be broken, indicating it is held that it had received a severe blow.

Besides his father and mother Leo LeBlanc is survived by several brothers and sisters. He was well known and respected in this community which has been saddened by his tragic death.

Generous Gifts

The immense value offered by The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal this season is meeting with the success the publishers deserve. Their large catalogues for 1925 are now on sale. The "Sale of Old Dominion" is proving a very popular premium, while the Ten Thousand and Dollar Election Contest is a record breaker. For those who raise clubs of new subscribers, there is a catalogue of some very handsome and useful rewards. The Family Herald is securing thousands upon thousands of new subscribers by their generous gifts, added to the super excellence of the paper itself. In fact few homes will be found without that great weekly when Two Dollars will suffice so much.

No Hydro Till Profits Guaranteed

DIGBY wants hydro and is hoping to get it. Every business man feels the need of it because it means cheap and abundant light and power. Women of the household need it because it would lighten their labor in a hundred ways. Progressive action taken by the Digby Town Council at their last meeting was a good step, and puts Digby in the forefront, almost alone, among those to benefit by it. Enthusiastic and impulsive people seem to think that hydro is now assured, and are elated over it, but sober-minded and thoughtful persons are pessimistic, and declare that recent developments show clearly that hydro is a long ways off. Some claim, and with apparent good reason, that the prospect seems farther removed than ever, and they point to a careful analysis of the letter published in last week's Courier addressed by K. H. Smith, Chief Engineer of the Power Commission, to Mayor DuVerne of Digby. This letter is written clearly. It is diplomatic and non-committal. It contains no promises. It does not contain one word of assurance. But it does emphatically state that "It is not the policy of the Commission to undertake power developing until contracts are in hand . . . warranting the development from an economic standpoint . . . circumstances which in the judgement of the Commission justify the development."

If that means anything, it means that nothing will be done until the Commission is convinced that IT WILL PAY, and from the taxpayer's point of view that is a sane and business like position for the Commission to take, however much it may disappoint Digby.

Again these critics point out that the Yarmouth situation is far from clear, and, without Yarmouth, hydro development may be unprofitable and therefore not probable. They also point to Mr. Smith's reference to the Bear River Pulp Mill, which seems to make development still more improbable "in view of the past history of the Pulp Mill at Bear River." The Commission seems to have taken a reasonable stand on that matter as the following quotation will show

"The Commission would hardly be justified in undertaking a development to supply this mill with power until doubt as to the CONTINUOUS OPERATION of this mill OVER A TERM OF YEARS is dispelled so far as is reasonably possible."

A careful reading of the letter in question will disclose that its statements are shrewdly negative in character—not one affirmative assurance appears anywhere except the commonplace courtesy that the Mayor's letter "will be brought to the attention of the Commission at an early date," and the further suggestion that the matter would be "advanced" if the Digby Council sign a contract, and still more advanced if Yarmouth Council sign a contract—all of which is easily understood as a step in the right direction—but the hill-top is not reached by one or two steps, and hydro is by no means assured when Digby and Yarmouth sign contracts, nor when the Pulp Mill joins in with proof that it will run continuously "for a term of years." These three contracts will not make hydro profitable, and these doubtful questioners are asking some one to show them where the other contracts and income are obtainable to make "circumstances which, in the judgement of the Commission, justify development."

Anyhow the Digby Council has done its part well, so Digby may stand at ease, but if Courier readers will take pains to peruse Mr. Smith's frank letter, in connection with this article, they will not be absurdly confident of the early development of hydro for Digby. Indeed they will not expect it for many years.

Human Nature

SOME people are always "reporting" clerks, porters, deliverymen and others for such terrible offences as incivility, discourtesy or slow service.

In its chronic form, this "reporting" is a symptom of diseased nerves—sometimes of mania.

All of us have it, at times. Psychologists explain: The individual encounters many disagreeable things in the course of his daily business—things which he must swallow in silence, for fear that a retort would injure his own welfare. For instance, a bullying boss "rags" an employee who dare not talk back, else he loses his job.

Resentment piles up inwardly and finally is vented on some unfortunate Pullman porter or clerk who forgets that he should be fawned over, no matter how nasty we become, and commits the unpardonable sin of neglecting to play up to our vanity.

Many of us are Chinese emperors at heart—particularly when we are buying goods or service.

But these clerks and conductors and others who serve us in our buying and travelling are human beings. We might treat them as warm friends if we knew them intimately.

Sensible and Christian are members of the Appreciation League, who "report" only good service and courtesy—and overlook incivility as something that eventually delivers its own punishment by keeping the doer from becoming successful or happy.

Why Weaklings Win

AFIFTY-NINE year old man raced a jockey ridden horse in London, England, 10 hours a day for six days. The man, C. W. Hart, won. He ran 345 miles, the horse 337 miles.

The horse could easily out distance the man early in the race. But Hart had more endurance.

Power wins battles. Endurance wins the war.

It's like the prizefighter who "didn't know when he was beaten." Not knowing he refused to give up fought doggedly until his superior lasting powers overcame his opponent's superior skill and strength.

In this race between a man and a horse, the man winning, you have a clear-cut illustration of why brilliant men are often left far behind by men of inferior ability, in the race for success.

Natural ability and influential friends often count less than endurance.

In this case, endurance involves several things:

One—Superior physical power aids an average brain to "beat out" the superior brain in a weak body. A bright light burns out quickly if it has a weak battery.

Two—Reliability and thoroughness are frequently more desirable than intellectual genius. A plodder who can be depended on will outdistance a man with a better brains handicapped by a tendency to be slipshod and unreliable.

Three—Determination, ambition and willingness to work hard for success—these make a man force ahead of a rival who may have more ability but is easily discouraged or lazy.

Going To College

MOST boys and girls who were graduated from high school last spring have decided by this time whether they will continue their education by going to some liberal arts college or to a technical school.

It is a critical time in the life of every young person—the period when they realize for the first time that there are problems outside of school books and the decision they reach now will have a very great influence on their life.

What the high school graduate did this summer, determined what kind of a citizen he will be—whether he decides to go to college, enter a trade or just drift along without trying to get additional training to make himself more capable his life purposeless.

Giving a boy or girl four years of education means to many parents considerable of a sacrifice and the loss of the companionship and help of their children, but in most cases if that sacrifice is made now, the future years will be richer for both parents and children in every way.

Thousands upon thousands of high school graduates are lost to further education because not enough interest is taken in them and their welfare.

A learned gentleman recently said that the foundation of popular government is laid upon a sufficiently trained and enlightened intelligence, and that the real creative ability that develops the country is supplied by the genius of the people and not by the government.

How closely education is connected with the cultivation of the national genius is shown by the fact that one person in every four in Canada is directly concerned with education, either as teacher, student or administrator.

Aside from the personal benefit obtained, every young man and woman should seek knowledge so as to better able to function as citizens of Canada.

Ignorance is an economic and moral waste and education is the only means of breaking the power of evil and liberating the spirit of truth.

Good Manners

THE ill-mannered boy invariably becomes an ill-mannered man and the girl who has no manners grows up to be a woman whom everybody dislikes.

An ill-mannered man is not often successful in a business which requires that he come into daily contact with the buying public.

An ill-mannered woman never has any friends and lives a dissatisfied and discontented life.

School teachers are always endeavoring to improve the manners of their pupils, but they find it difficult where good manners are not taught in the home.

Parents who wish a happy life for their children, both in a business way and socially, will begin to teach early that to have friends, it is necessary to recognize the wishes and privileges of others.

Gift

THERE is one of the rarest combinations—philanthropy and old-fashioned horse sense.

Dr. Becker, wealthy New York physician, will furnish eyeglasses free of charge to every school child in his city who needs but cannot afford them. He figures it will cost him $20,000. It will do more real good than 20 millions spent for economic investigation and similar bromide "charity work."

A box of Personal Stationery as advertised on Page Six would make an excellent Xmas Gift. Mail your order today to The Courier Job Dept.

Subscribers should not fail to send in their remittances at once. All subscriptions should be paid strictly in advance.

Our People Need a Tonic Now

They Should Take Father John's Medicine

It is not uncommon for old people to feel frail and weak and unable to resist the cold as the chill of winter comes on. Their body energy is often at a low ebb. They have not been getting quite the proper amount of nourishment from their food. When this is so, they should at once begin to take a food medicine to strengthen the body, and to nourish and enrich their blood.

Father John's Medicine is the best food tonic and is perfectly safe. It nourishes nerve and body tissue and builds up the resisting power so that the system is able to throw off poisons, waste matter. It acts as a very mild laxative. All pure food. Guaranteed free from dangerous drugs.

Hallowe'en Entertainment

The entertainment given at Holy Trinity Hall on Oct. 30th, was a great success.

The various items on the programme were rendered in a manner reflecting the highest credit on trainers and performers alike, and a large number of eucors showed the appreciation of the audience.

The only criticism heard over the tea cups was that "a dollar entertainment" had been given for a quarter.

The proceeds amounted to $44.00 for the missionary work of the girls.

The programme was as follows: Chorus—A Smile Will Go a Long Long Way.

Recitation—"The Duet" by Eugene Field Bernice Roop.

Piano Duet—"The Misses Jones and Green.

Chorus—W. A. Girls.

Danish Folk Dance—W. A. Girls.

Reading—Miss Edith Burnham.

Intermission for sale of Candy.

Song—Miss L. Jones.

Spanish Dance—Miss Sarita Daley.

Recitation—"Little Orphan Annie" by J. W. Riley—Master Victor Cardozo.

Song—Miss Mary Lynch.

Chorus—W. A. Girls.

Local Druggists Have Modern Remedy for Colds

A Vaporizing Selve which is Rubbed Over Throat and Chest for Colds.

When Vicks VapoRub, the "external" method of treating sore throat, bronchitis, deep chest colds, or croup, is applied over throat or chest, the ingredients are released as vapors by the body heat.

These vapors, inhaled with each breath carry the medication directly to the affected air passages, loosening the phlegm and relieving the congestion.

At the same time Vicks acts as a counter-irritant, stimulating the skin, and thus helps the vapors inhaled to break up the inflammation.

Colds are usually relieved over night.

COUGH

WHETHER it is a simple cough that you have been inclined to ignore, or whether it is a cough that almost seems to burst in your throat, you are by the racking exertion, with aching head, and aching body.

Get a box of Peps at once, take a tablet from its silver wrapper; and as it dissolves on the tongue, breathe in the HEALING, BALSAMIC FUMES that are then given off. Notice how the balsamic odors find their way by inhalation along all the breathing passages and there allay the inflammation causing your trouble.

You cannot possibly get at these delicate membranes by any other way. Liquid medicines are merely swallowed into the stomach. Peps act direct on the affected tissues and remove the cause of the irritating cough in a way no other device remedied can.

The friends of Shirley and Kenneth Esner about twenty-five in number were pleasantly entertained at a "Hallowe'en Surprise Party" at their home on Thursday evening Oct. 30th. The girls appeared in Hallowe'en costume of various styles and colors. Games both old and new were played for the evening amusement, but the games were somewhat interrupted when a lady-friend "enquiring for Mr. MacDonald" appeared on the scene but finding him enjoying other company soon took her departure for parts unknown. At 11 p. m. the guests were invited to the dining-room which had been decorated in orange color for the occasion and seated around a well filled table with greetings from a number of pumpkin grinders. At the close of the supper the guests were joined together with Hallowe'en confetti and as the lights were dimmed sang "Good night Ladies", thus bringing to a close a delightful Hallowe'en party.

Read this letter from J. M. Pennington of New Rockland, P.Q.

"In 1918, I was taken with Bronchial Asthma and no one knows what I suffered during the winter. I began having choking spells and would just gasp for breath and could not speak. The doctor said he could do nothing for me."

In the spring of 1920, I started taking "Fruit-a-lives" and soon the choking spells became easier and I have not had one since May 7th, 1920. It is such a relief to be able to go to bed and have no thought of having to get up in the night for an hour or more as I did all that winter, but never have to now, all because I take "Fruit-a-lives" tablet every night.

Fox Industry at Bear River

On October 31st, a large and choice shipment of Silver Black Foxes, left the Pleasant Valley Fox Ranch—operated by Frank B. Dunn at Bear River enroute to the Colonial Silver Black Fox Ranch Inc., at South Sudbury, Mass.

These splendid specimens were personally selected by—David A. Vuill who was accompanied on the trip to Bear River by Mrs. Vuill.

This is the second shipment which Mr. Dunn has forwarded to the Colonial Silver Fox Ranch within the past four months.

This shipment would have been larger but for the scarcity of good breeding stock caused by the tremendous demand for quality foxes during the past season.

The present indications are that 1920 will be a banner year in the fox industry and those who have good foxes to sell will find a ready market.

Special

Owing to the illness of the President Mrs. J. H. Cunningham, the annual meeting of the Women's Institute had to be postponed on Monday afternoon until Saturday afternoon of this week.

Mrs. Soley, of Parrsboro, is a guest of Miss Wilbur, at the home of Miss Adelaide Cumming.

Miss Dorothy Cook, of Yarmouth, is visiting Miss Isabel Cossett.

At and Mrs. Lingley, of St. John, are here for a few days.

Miss Reta Annie, of Bear River, was the guest of Miss Greta MacGregor, a few days last week.

E. L. Mears and family, of Maitland, are occupying John Smith's house for the winter.

Miss Woodlawn, of Annapolis, who has been nursing Mr. N. F. Rockwell, returned to her home on Friday.

A Hallowe'en Masquerade was held in the Public Hall on Wednesday evening last under the auspices of Home Districts. A very large number were in attendance, and all reported a good time.

Hallowe'en Party At Smith's Cove

The "Six" Class, of Smith's Cove, held a Hallowe'en party on Friday evening at the home of Miss Thora Comeau, as the following day was her birthday.

The evening was spent in games and singing. Among the interesting, as well as "spooky" features, was the visit of an apparition, which caused many weird and ghostlike yells to penetrate the midnight air.

Refreshments for refreshments were obtained by means of "claps" upon which were written words suitable for Hallowe'en.

Among the out of town guests were: Misses Reta Annie, of Bear River, and Dorothy Cook, of Yarmouth; Charles Barry Roop, Carey Nichols, and Charles DeLans, of Hill Grove; Misses R. Williams, Elizabeth, and Jones, of Grand Tupper; and Jack Pickett, of Digby; also C. Soley, of Parrsboro.

NEW LAMP BURNS

94 p.c. AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new lamp that gives out an amazing brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U.S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, no simple, clean and safe. Burns 94 p.c. air and 6 p.c. common kerosene (on oil).

The inventor, J. M. Johnson, 246 Clark St., W. Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on ten days' FREE trial, or even to GIVE ONE FREE to the first one in this locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also see him to explain how you can get the best results from your lamp, experience or money save $20 to $500 per month.

Motor Rules For

The Perfect Lady

1. Don't start your car with the brake on; it doesn't like it.
2. Don't park on the left side of street, and don't leave the engine running while you shop; the policeman has to earn his salary.
3. A quart of oil in your own car better than a gallon in someone else's. Look yourself to see that you have oil, water and gas before you start.
4. Look out for the bicyclist and blow your horn till you are sure he hears; he usually is riding with bent head, dreaming about his latest girl.
5. Don't try to show how clever you are by just passing a passing car; you are liable to lose a hubcap and hear some bad language.
6. Don't keep it in the middle of the road near the top of a hill; the other fellow, coming up the other side, may be doing the same thing.
7. If you are going a good clip and a car behind you wants to pass, let it; you are not practising for a motor race and the driver behind may be getting the doctor for his mother-in-law!
8. Keep your eyes on the road and your hands on the wheel where they belong; your friends conversation in the back seat may be interesting, but you won't enjoy it in the ditch.
9. Keep her down to 35 miles if you want to play the child or if you own a dog yourself you won't want to hurt any dog; and as for a child—
10. If you see a car coming towards you at great speed, take it for granted that the driver is intoxicated, either with liquor or speed; give him three-quarters of the road.
11. Don't try to break a record. Enjoy your car; don't show off. Thirty miles an hour is pretty good speed compared with the old horse.
12. Slow down passing country villages. Someone I know killed a child, and though the Court did not hold her liable, her feelings would never let her drive her car again.
13. Take pride in the fact that it is generally accepted that women are more careful drivers than men. Live up to your reputation.
14. Never "take a chance."

Pains and Headaches Relieved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Dublin, Ontario.—"I was weak and irregular, with pains and headaches, and could not sleep nights. I learned about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound by reading the letters in the newspapers and tried it because I wanted to get better. I have got good results from it as I feel a lot stronger and am not troubled with such bad headaches as I used to be and am more regular. I am gaining in weight at the time and I tell my friends what kind of medicine I am taking. You may use my letter as a help to others." Mrs. JAMES RACRO, Box 12, Dublin, Ontario.

Halifax Nurse Recommends: Halifax, N.S.—"I am a maternity nurse and have recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to many women who were childless, also to women who need a good tonic. I am English and my husband is American and he told me of Lydia E. Pinkham while in England. I would appreciate a copy or two of your little book on women's ailments. I have one which I keep to hand. I will willingly answer letters from any woman writing about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. S. M. COLEMAN, 24 Union Street, Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Rail services of the Canadian National provide the highest standard of travel comfort for those whose desire it is to spend the winter in Sunny California, or in British Columbia.

From the Atlantic to the Pacific the Canadian National Railways operate trains of the finest equipment—all steel trains with library cars, observation-compartment cars, standard sleepers, modern diners, tourist sleepers and spacious coaches.

The services of the Canadian National are not excelled anywhere.

Two superior trains run from Halifax to Montreal—the "Ocean Limited" and the "Maritime Express."

From Montreal the famous "Continental Limited" leaves Bonaventure Station at 10.15 p. m. for Ottawa, North Bay, Winnipeg, Edmonton, Saskatoon and Vancouver.

From Montreal the famed "International Limited" runs daily to Toronto, Detroit and Chicago, leaving Bonaventure Station at 10.00 a. m. At Toronto connection is made with "The National" leaving Toronto daily for the Coast.

There are optional routings to California points via Chicago.

To escape the rigours of winter such a trip is desirable, and by the C. N. R. Lines it can be made a tour of delight, so excellent is the service given and the personal attention shown every patron.

Ticket Agents of the Canadian National Railways will give intending travellers every information and arrange reservations, or one may write to the General Passenger Department at Montreal for descriptive literature and full details of such a trip.

Schooner Adeliza D. Lost

A two-masted schooner wrecked near Marco on Caxambun Bay during a storm, has been identified as the Adelaide D., of Weymouth, N.S., according to a telegram received at Tampa, Florida, on Tuesday. The vessel is said to be about two years old and was about 90 feet long. The crew has not been heard from and a coastguard cutter has been sent out to investigate.

The foregoing probably refers to the schr. Adeliza D., built by the Hankinson Shipbuilding Co., at Bellevue's Cove, in 1919. The craft measured 73 feet long by 20.9 wide, 10 deep and was 60 tons gross. The vessel was controlled by Pubnico interests and for a couple of years the Adeliza D. was fresh fishing out of Pubnico and also Yarmouth. Following that the schooner did some "freighting," after which for several months the vessel was laid up at West Pubnico. Last spring the Adeliza D. was purchased by parties in Havana; and early in the summer, was taken there by Capt. Oliver Comeau, of Weymouth, with a Digby party crew. The Nova Scotians returned home; and it is believed that the crew of the schooner since that time has been made of Cubans.

Just Talks On Common Themes

On The Ripened Tree

WE STOOD by the dining-room window Sunday in a Nova Scotia town and looked down the field. There in the centre of the emerald sward, with its lush fall rowen, was a tree all glorious.

It was gold mingled with fire. Nobody living in this Province needs assistance in description. We all know what the ripened tree looks like. In the Song of Solomon, the most passionate of all songs of love, the poet had no simile except the garden. "A garden inclosed is my sister; a spring shut up; a fountain sealed. Thy lips are like a thread of scarlet."

As the apple flushes its sides in the autumn, as the day reddens at dusk, so reddens the ripened tree. The other day we read some scientists said that it was dust in the air that made the evening sun red. It is dust that diffuses the light. It is dust, in rain and small particles, that makes the blue sky, as the light of the sun falls on it and sets up the colors of the violet and of the solar spectrum. It is dust in larger particles and more thickly disseminated that makes the yellows of the middle spectrum. It is dust in its thickest and largest particles that makes for the reds. And the shining sun thus paints the skies, and the dust diffuses or spreads the light as does the frosted glass of the chandeliers.

So the ripened tree. Science tells us all about the ripened tree. The botanical friends say that the tree is red because of the breaking up of the green grains into chlorophyll and xanthophyll. These come along as the tree begins to die, its work all done for the season; its little furnaces and laboratories and breathing apparatus of the leaves all thru for the life of a period. The biologist then says that the xanthophyll affected by the acidity of the cell-sap, creates a special pigment or color, the death-pigment of the tree, if you so please to call anything so radiant. This pigment is called anthocyanin. This displays itself in all of the tints that this ripened tree shows me this morning as I look at it in the sunlight. It is much like the dying of day, reddening the west. It is much like the wonderful glory of the rainbow.

Science is always trying to tell us how the wheels go around. It is always explaining things, that do not explain after all. When we see the rainbow, we are told exactly how it happens—nothing but light shining thru a prism and breaking the ray into its components. How John Keats, the poet, did swear at Newton for robbing mankind of the wonder of the rainbow. The rainbow is just as beautiful today as it was when it arched over Noah and yet some people seem to think it is no longer wonderful, when we may tell them how it happens scientifically.

The aurora borealis flashes and snaps in the skies some night; pulsating in pale greens and rose colors, like the wings of some of the giant bird. We wonder—as did ancient peoples, awe-struck beneath the arching procession of the great gods. When some scientist tells us that it is a familiar electro-magnetic phenomenon, we perhaps cease to wonder. So with the tree; with the reddened sun of twilight; with the rainbow and the stars.

Yet after all, when the half-gods go, the Gods arrive. We may be told of all these things and yet may ask of ourselves further questions. When the scientist explains the aurora borealis by saying that the corpuscles projected from the sun and bombarding the earth, are affected by terrestrial magnetism and travel in spiral coils toward the poles, until at a certain distance they exhaust themselves in giving off cathode rays and so on and on, in explanations that do not explain to our poor minds, we have a right to more questions. And the chief question is: "How? Then it is 'Why?' Then it is 'Who did it?' Every one of these inquiries leads us to feel, if we ever do think, that the world is grander than ever, in spite of Science and because of Science. If we see behind and beyond the wonders of science, the rainbow may be even more beautiful and wondrous; the ripened tree even more glorious; and the dying day not explained, but spothisized.

This ripened tree ought to bring to every person who sees it—not doubt and not explanations but encouragement, in the one great hope for the ending of all things in Beauty. Even in decay, come forms of transformation into beauty. Science is always trying to tell us how things happen but never does she answer the one vital question, "Who did it?"

If we could think of this world in the way that we think of the clock, ticking on the wall, we shall see that science tells us the physical laws according to which the wheels go; what is the physical reason for their movement—in the watch spring or the pendulum. We know that this clock was evolved from a simpler clock and that from a simpler still—as was this world-clock. But if we ask science to tell us who was the clock-maker, she will be silent. If you ask science why it is that the pressure of the tightly wound spring makes motion or why it is that the pendulum weight goes down instead of up, Science does not know. If you ask science why the prism breaks the light, she does not know. If you ask science why the tree dies in the fall and ripens in the spring, she does not know.

Now—pardon the triumph of this conclusion—does not this strengthen your Faith in an overruling Divine Law (call it what you will) that is so great that we poor finite minds cannot comprehend it. This willingness to trust, to hope, to believe in Faith. For indeed, are those who, leading into astronomy, botany, physics (all of the sciences, in fact), nothing but materialism, fail to see what is to such men as Pupa and his like, the supreme glory of it all. A Universe, majestically it must be for such a Faith, pervaded by a Common Law of God—for Earth, fit for Mars, fit for worlds on worlds, spaces on spaces—the Beginning, the End. Will you read this into the ripened tree?

—E. S.

Doctor Prescribes Moir's

A druggist in Moncton noticed that one of the nurses in the hospital there was buying cream centred chocolates every day.

Inquiry revealed that these were for a patient who had been operated on for appendicitis and stomach trouble. After the operation the doctor prescribed chocolates a the best means of obtaining a sufficient supply of sugar in his diet, orders being to give him a half-pound daily. When his wife noticed this she volunteered to buy the chocolates. She was instructed by the nurse to buy Moir's Chocolates.

Though the mans diet is increased and more varied now that he is up and around he still takes his Moir's Chocolates regular.

A Large Number Rendered Home- less By Fire At Windsor, Sunday

Property Loss Estimated at $350,000, On Which There Is Only Small Insurance

Forty-three families homeless—$350,000 worth of property destroyed; four town blocks wiped out; and the entire town threatened with disaster worse than the calamity which temporarily wiped it out of existence in 1897—such were the results of the fire which broke out on the waterfront of Windsor at 1:15 Sunday morning and ravaged through a large section of the town until subdued about daylight. Helpless in the face of the threatened disaster, a conflagration fanned by a forty mile north-west gale, carrying sheets of flame from one end of the town to the other, the citizens sent out appeals to Halifax, Dartmouth, Wolfville and Kentville. When the fire was stayed Windsorians were the first to acknowledge that had it not been for the assistance which came to them by special train and rushed by motor along every highway leading to the town, history would have indeed repeated itself, and Windsor would have been again but acres of smoking ruins. The factor that saved Windsor was good roads, over which motor fire apparatus could travel at a mile a minute.

The fire started in a shed on the waterfront, back of the Hants Wholesaler Warehouse and did not stop until it had cut a swath extending the whole length of the north side of King Street, reaching and including the residence of George Gaidard. On the south side of King Street it destroyed the residence of M. A. Gouge—but here it was compelled to recoil; for there it met the combined fighting forces of Windsor, Kentville, Wolfville, Dartmouth and Halifax—otherwise nothing would have saved Windsor. Outposts of citizens prevented the fire from ravaging other sections of the town for sparks, that were as a great blizzard grips a place with hail, burning boards, like fire ships in the air, and even sheets of flame were carried over the heads of the fire fighters and momentarily for four hours, threatened every home of the town.

Residences a mile and a half away from the scene of the fire were threatened by falling embers, while the dead leaves along King Street for a mile kindled from the sparks which fell among them. A mat on a doorstep of a house almost a mile away burst into flames and menaced that home. From the time the fire started until it was well under control after daylight, more citizens spent the night on the roof of their houses than there were in their beds. Fear and faith; fear that all they had recovered in the years since the terrible Sunday when they stood without a roof over their heads and compelled to begin life all over again, was to be wiped out by another scourge; faith that some Providential intervention would save them, directed the feet of many a citizen to the Churches, and it was said that from two o'clock, when there seemed that nothing could save Windsor, until long after daylight, there were continuous prayers in the Anglican church and Catholic churches, the only two that were open, people coming to and from the sanctuaries with the hope that was borne of despair.

When daylight came, 43 families of Windsor were homeless. To some of them, the loss, while serious, was not of the cruel nature it was to others. It was comparatively easy for some to find shelter among friends and relatives or that which money could procure, but for others aid had to be sought immediately, and immediately without seeking it was offered.

Spurgeon Jeffrey and Clinton Harris have been at Bridge-town picking apples arrived home last week.

Armistice Day

IT DOES not seem to be six years ago, that, flushed with emotions too deep for expression, we hurried thru the gray dawn of that merry November day to a certain newspaper office and wrote an editorial on Armistice Day.

The whistles had blown, the bells had rung; the factories and the shops had emptied forth their happy throngs to the streets where they rioted like children, scarcely knowing what forms to let their emotions take. The light that penetrated many a room that daybreak, shone on weeping women and desolate households. The merry-making was not all joy. Yet all was thanksgiving. In our hearts we swore that never, never, could we, would we, forget the cause for which we fought and the lads who won the victory.

The writers impression that day was that we had won a victory for the Spirit. We felt that we had demonstrated that a nation with no God, could not rule a world. Out of that conflict as day by day we watched the wavering red line of the German advance and retreat, as marked on the wall in our room, and our daily faith was that God must fight with us. So far came the lines to Marne and they were swept back—by what intervention, a world yet hardly can explain. Again the line of the invaders advanced and again that intervention. Did the angels of the Cross, led by Jeanne d'Arc, fight in the skies for us? So they said. Under the grass and the sod waiting the judgment day lay all creeds and no creeds; Protestant, Catholic, Jew, Gentile, each consecrated into sacred clay by the sacrifice of all they had to give for what they believed to be a Cause. It was all a world tragedy, Titanic in its way; yet only an affair of Earth—or did Mars and Jupiter and other solar systems share in the glory of the Spiritual forces behind it?

We mention all this only by way of recalling the exalted state of mind in which a world lived that memorable day—perhaps the most universal in fellowship that the Earth has ever known. How have the years passed since then? What have we done to foster and exalt that emotion, since then? Have we forgotten in any measure the promises we made, the oaths we took, the resolutions we passed in our minds?

The other day, we saw a picture in a London illustrated magazine. It was entitled "A Heritage of the War." It showed a man, pale man on a bench in a deserted public park at night with the falling snow thickly veiling the lights of the passing timousines. His eyes were hollow with hunger and with longing. What did it mean? The other day we saw a picture that was entitled "Then and Now." It showed a lusty lad charging the enemy; his iron hat over brows knit in determination and on his back his pack and kit and his rifle with bayonet affixed yielding nothing to the foe. In the other panel of this picture was a clerkly, palld, weary looking young man, shabby genteel, reading the want-ads in a newspaper—looking for work.

We are not an unkind people—we are only busy and self-absorbed. There are many so called agencies for the care and assistance of veterans of the War. Six years after the armistice they are yet busy. They had inadequate funds. They have cases and sad scope and requirements. Shall we not swear anew on each Armistice Day as we used to say we would swear on each Memorial Day that we, too, shall fight and not forget to fight for the rehabilitation and the restoration to usefulness and happiness of all whom the war may have stranded. "What price Glory?" Have you thought of it? Are you ready when the call comes to stand by—to give, to help, to look, to see "What price glory?" Do you care to know anything about the lads who came and went and yet suffer? Have you again classified creeds? Do you remember the names of those lads who went away to fight for what you called Democracy, which too often we construed into slipped ease by our untroubled firesides. Have you forgotten that there was Burke and Callahan and O'Brien and Levinsky and Creeden and Wilson and Brown and Jones and Smith and that there were Norwegians and Swedes and all races and creeds.

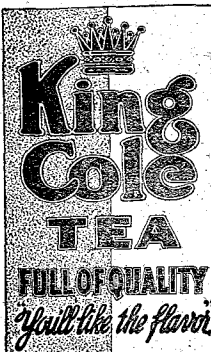

Armistice Day can do good enough if it only revives those forgotten truths and makes the fires burn again on the shrine of tolerance and fellowship. Did you see in the lines of those broken lads who marched up our streets later any difference in them because of the way they worshipped their God?

If we get out of the War a firmer belief in some higher power; if we get out of it tolerance for our poor ways of worship, whatever they may be, if we get any new faith, if we compassed a new sense of human frailty and a higher regard for human sacrifice—we get something. We cannot see, perhaps, any new world peace; we can see a need of world preparedness. We can see that war's discipline is something and that the nation that has its entity must maintain its self respect. We can perceive the way of the world in reduction of argument; but we cannot brook the philosophic pacifist who has no conception of anything but his own ego, in the disregard of the sad workings of human nature in others.

The other day a friend died. He has left the writer stricken—so that he had not been able to refer to it. He was a foe of dilettante pacifism. He backed the army; the navy; the boys who have seen the fields of war by day and night. His own son walked ahead of tanks into battle and saw the fighting all along the line.

We recall that every armistice day, he rededicated himself to his country. The writer never knew a person so truly patriotic; so kindly; so generous; so forgiving; so eager to help others. The pacifist who takes it out in talk and who does nothing to assist those who have given him peace, wears me. The pacifist who supports the agencies that we have; who assists, who hopes that war may end and who yet believes in keeping his powder dry, is the type of pacifist whom we adore.

Let us get into mind the deepest significance of Armistice Day that we can—each to his opinion, for we seek to contravene none. But let us remember that it marks the end of a cruel and useless war—a war of envy, of desire, of ambition and that God fought against the success of that war; that men gave their lives; that shattered and suffering men yet live uncares for; that the memories of their sacrifice are kept alive by the G. W. V. A. and that to that organization Canada owes its allegiance and its support. When they call they have a claim. Ye are indeed ungrateful—ye who sit in riches and comfort as a result of that war—if ye are deaf and blind and dumb to its call.

Rev. C. M. Mack left last Monday for Toronto where he will remain a few days. Mr. Mack is the representative of this conference at a convention of the Evangelical and Social Reform Department of the Methodist church which is being held in the above city.

Miss Freda Knight is spending a few days at Mrs. Emma Ford's.

Mrs. R. J. Anthony and Miss Violet Wright have returned from a visit to Truro and Halifax.

Mrs. Frank McNaught went to Halifax last Wednesday.

Miss Helen Rowland of Halifax has returned home after a short visit with Mrs. A. B. Campbell.

Mrs. W. J. Wright returned last Tuesday from a visit to her sister, Mrs. James C. Brown, in Taunton, Mass., and also to friends in Brattleboro, Vt.

Mrs. Litchfield, Mrs. R. H. Purdy and children, Miss Rattle Marshall and Mrs. Don have motored to Weymouth Mills and Weymouth North with R. J. Vance on Sunday.

The ladies of the Walpole Baptist Sunday school held a bazaar on the upper part of the home of Mr. and Mrs. George York. A good time was enjoyed by all. Home-made candy was sold, and the sum of $11.23 was realized for church purposes.

Miss Helen Collum, of New Glasgow, is visiting her sister, Miss Gladys Collum, at the home of Mrs. B. A. Harris.

The annual Roll Call of the Baptist church was held in the church on Wednesday afternoon. Supper was served in the vestry and the evening Rev. E. Mason, B. A., Supt. of the Home Missions preached in the auditorium.

Miss Ellen MacMillan and Miss Edith Snow, of New York, who have been spending a few weeks in Newfoundland are guests of Mrs. Rantoul at the Grand Central.

Gustave Hirtle of Digby, spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. Stanley Sullivan.

Mrs. W. J. Wright returned Tuesday from a six weeks visit to her sister, Mrs. J. C. Brown in Taunton, Mass., and to friends in Vermont.

Armistice Day in Bear River was celebrated by a united service of the Methodist, Baptist and Anglican congregations in the Methodist church on Sunday.

Nov. 11. The members of the local G. W. V. A., participated and marching in a body, occupied the front pews of the auditorium, which was decorated with flags of the Allied Nations.

Blaise Heber's beautiful hymn, "Holy, Holy, Holy," used as a Processional by the choir and organists as they proceeded to their places in chancel and pulpit, made a most impressive beginning to the service.

The prayer, eloquently offered by Rev. R. S. Gregg of the Baptist church, was followed by a solo, "Pie as a bird," rendered by Fred R. Harris. The music further included a quartet by Messrs. Stevie Harris, Percy and Moore, and a very appropriate, well rendered anthem, "Holy Memories" by the full choir—Mrs. H. A. Harris singing the contralto solo.

The Rev. C. M. Mack read the Scripture lesson, which was followed by a very inspiring sermon by the Church of the Good Shepherd, Rev. A. W. L. Smith. The text was taken from St. John XI, 25-26: "I am the resurrection and life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live: And whosoever believeth in me shall never die." Touching but lightly on the topic of Armistice Day in its more obvious aspects, the speaker passed to the deeper spiritual lessons on the eternity of life, to be found in the application of the latter part of the text—a beautiful and comforting thought to the hearts of many.

An appeal to the men before him to enlist under the banner of the church, to "fight the good fight of faith," even as valiantly as they have fought the enemies of the Empire and this joint in final victory with the comrades whose supreme sacrifice has won for them the Life Eternal; closed an address of much earnestness and power.

The hymn "Lord of the Lands," sung by choir and congregation to the tune of "O Canada," brought the impressive service to a close.

Smith's Cove

Mrs. John Smith and Miss Hazel Snow left on Tuesday to attend the Grand Division, Halifax.

Obituary

WILLIAM ALFRED FROST

Word was received here Thursday, Oct. 30, of the sudden death of William Alfred Frost at the home of Mrs. Rev. E. B. Graham, Canoe, at the age of eighty five years and eleven months. He had been suffering from cancer of the eye the past year but death was due to heart failure, yet he had taken his daily walks and was as cheerful up to about three weeks before his death.

He had spent the summer with his daughter, Mrs. Albert Denton, at his former home Little River, Digby Co. He joined the Little River Baptist church at the age of sixteen years, and had been an active member, having held Superintendent of the Sunday School for over twenty years, until the death of his wife in 1922 when he removed from his home to live with his daughter where he died.

He was temperate in all things, an active member of the Sons of Temperance until age and ill health prevented when he was made an Honorary member. He was a man whose life and character won him the high respect of all who knew him. He was survived by his two daughters above mentioned and two sons, Fred and Burpee at home, besides thirteen grandchildren and eleven great grand-children.

His remains, accompanied by Mrs. E. B. Graham, were brought to Little River and buried from the residence of his eldest son, Fred on Sunday afternoon with interment in the Baptist cemetery, conducted by his former pastor Rev. G. C. Durkee, Clementsville. The late Mr. Frost was the last survivor of the late Stephen and Elsie Frost of Argyle, Yarmouth, who was a daughter of the Rev. Peter Crandall, first Baptist Minister of Digby Neck.

Annual Report of Bear River W. I.

Since November of 1923 the Bear River Women's Institute has held 9 regular and 3 special meetings. Our membership has reached the figure 55, although of these about 15 members are at present residing in other places. The average attendance at meetings has varied from 15 to 20, but the usual spirit of good fellowship and co-operation has prevailed whenever any occasion for special work has arisen.

The most outstanding feature of our work this year has, we think, been the establishment of a War Memorial Fund, which has now passed the $400.00 mark and will be added to as funds are available. The nucleus of this sum was obtained by catering for meals on "Cherry Carnival Day", in July when about $37.00, including a number of donations was earned by this method. Last December at Christmas time our members sent five Xmas Cheer boxes to needy families and also made a layette for one of these homes.

The Oakdene School Prize list was again raised by the Home and School committee, this being the third year in which this task has been undertaken, and successfully accomplished.

After our February meeting at which Miss MacDougall, our Supt., was present, we were fortunate in having the Home Economics Course put on here for three days 33 ladies enrolled for this course, which was most instructive, and everyone was delighted with Miss Miller, as well as with the lessons. The Institute has also purchased a six foot flag which is used at our meetings. Our library is still flourishing and giving pleasure to the members many joining primarily for library privileges and then becoming interested in the work.

For the coming year we expect to have a number of lectures from the various colleges, and thus increase our sphere of usefulness in our town.

As the Institute seems to be our outstanding Community Society, let us give it our fullest support during the coming year.

Rev. C. M. Mack left last Monday for Toronto, where he will remain a few days. Mr. Mack is the representative of this Conference at a convention of the Evangelistic and Social Reform Department of the Methodist church which is being held in that city.

Mrs. Frank McNaught went to Halifax last Wednesday.

Summer Hotel-Cottage Colony Development

"Champlain Heights", our development tract at Victoria Beach easily ranks first among all the tracts in which we are interested. In fact it is universally conceded the very finest for the purpose, on the American continent. Here we propose a modern Summer Hotel here we want to develop the International Summer City of America.

Successful development means untold wealth for your district and prosperity for you. But our policy is to operate only where development is welcome. Capital is available if you are interested - if not, we must use it to produce prosperity elsewhere. The whole project depends on you. You must decide - and now.

We must hear from 200 by Nov. 15th. Our previous offer of Free Lots is still open. Reserve yours or show your public interest by asking us to call.

Obituary

MRS. R. J. McCULLOCH

It was with general regret that the news was received on Monday to the effect that Mrs. McCulloch had passed away in the Brandon hospital. For a couple of weeks it had been pretty well known that little hopes were given by the physicians in attendance, but even this knowledge did little to lessen the sorrow felt when the announcement came of her death. Seven weeks ago the late Mrs. McCulloch underwent in Brandon an operation which was not considered at the time to be serious. Complications, however, set in about a month ago which in spite of the best medical attention were followed by further complications. Last week a transfusion of blood was resorted to in an effort to add to her gradually failing strength, but it was without avail. On Monday morning, after a month's suffering, she went to sleep and never awakened.

Born at Bear River, Nova Scotia, in 1857, she was, therefore, in her 57th year. Her early life was spent in that province and at Newton Centre, Massachusetts. During the Knox church, pastorate of Rev. Mr. Mulhrew she came to Souris as soprano soloist and leader of the choir. In June 1910 at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. McCulloch, Newton Centre, she became the bride of Richard J. McCulloch, of Souris, and returned to Souris to reside at their new residence on Fifth Ave. During that portion of her life, spent in Souris and ways taken, her splendid soprano voice and pleasing personality made her a host of friends who are regret her early passing. It will be many a day before those now living in Souris will forget the splendid tributes given by her in the productions of "H. M. S. Pinero" and "The Mikado."

Besides her husband and mother, she leaves a family of three, Robert Eleanor and Kathi, also three brothers, Carman at Schenectady, N. Y., Oscar, of Newton Centre and Lee, at Colinton, Alta., and one sister, Mrs. H. P. Ireland, of Birmingham, N. Y.

The funeral will be held privately from the family residence on Thursday.

Central Grove

Tilman Tibert and V. Pyne returned home from the West last week.

Georgé Delaney went to Plympton on the S. S. Grace Hankinson Friday 31st.

Reginald Titus who has been working in the United States for several months returned home last week.

Carl Tibert spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Tibert.

We are glad to report Mrs. Wm. Hersey slowly recovering from her recent illness.

Mrs. Mary Delaney is spending a couple of weeks with her daughter, Mr. Edgar Ring, at Freeport.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Finigan, of Freeport, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Powell.

Miss Vivian Cann is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Mendle Bates at Freeport.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hersey and son Clarence, who has been visiting their daughter, Mrs. Eldry Guier returned to Mink Cove last week.

Greenland

John Whyte left for St. John on Monday expecting to work there this winter.

Mrs. Levi Peck, accompanied by Mrs. Derby Jack and family, spent Thursday with Mrs. John Peck.

Mrs. John Peck recently found rather a peculiar apple in her orchard, having the appearance of twins grown together.

On Sunday, Orland Peck found several species of spring flowers, among them being a buttercup, a strawberry blossom and a mayflower.

DOCTOR ADVISED AN OPERATION

Read Alberta Woman's Experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Protest, Alberta. "Perhaps you will remember sending me one of your Bibles a year ago. I was in a bad condition and would suffer awful pains at times and could not do anything. The doctor said I could not have children unless I went under an operation. I read testimonials of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the papers and a friend recommended me to take it. After taking three bottles I became much better and now I have a bonny baby girl four months old. I do my housework and help a little with the chores. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and am willing for you to use this testimonial letter. - Mrs. A. A. ADAMS, Box 54, Provost, Alberta."

Pains in Left Side

Lachine, Quebec. "I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I suffered with pains in my left side and back and with weakness and other troubles women so often have. I was this way about six months. I saw the Vegetable Compound advertised in the 'Montreal Standard' and I have taken four bottles of it. I was a very sick woman and I am so much better. I would not be without it. I also use Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I recommend the medicines to my friends and am willing for you to use my letter as a testimonial. - Mrs. M. W. ROSS, 880 Notre Dame St., Lachine, Quebec."

Weddings

HUBBLEY-CRESS

At Digby, November 7, Miss Mary J. Cress, of Waldeck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Cress, of Waldeck, became the bride of Earl P. Hubbey, son of Dwight Hubbey, of Clementsvalle.

The bride was attired in a navy blue travelling suit. The ceremony was performed at the Baptist Parsonage by Rev. Nunn. The presents were many and beautiful.

The happy couple left by way of Yarmouth, for Spring St., Adams, Mass., where they will reside and be welcomed by friends and relatives there.

DAKIN-POTTER

Miss Madeline Dakin, daughter of Mrs. Caroline T. Dakin, of Clementsvalle, Annapolis Co., N.S., was at 10.30 a.m. Wednesday Oct. 29th united in marriage to Alexander Potter, of Tupperville, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Potter, of Clementsvalle. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Durkin, Pastor of the Clementsvalle Baptist church, the single ring service being sung. The bride wore a gown of blue silk, maiden hair fern, blue broadcloth vest hat, and carried a bouquet of mixed flowers. Her going away dress was navy blue. The bride was given away by her uncle, Eber Potter while Willis Potter, a brother of the groom was best man. Immediately following the ceremony the happy couple left on the noon express for Tupperville where a reception was held at the home of the groom with only the immediate relatives and friends in attendance. The young people received many gifts of cut glass, silver and purse of gold. The young people still reside in Tupperville where they will be at home to their many relatives and friends who wish them a very long and happy prosperous wedded life.

GIRLS! SHE'S MARVELOUS SINGING DOLL-CHILD GIVEN TO YOU

For a Few Hours of Your Time

Come and Pick Out the One You Want

The Doll Lady Says:

I want little girls who live in Nova Scotia to have the most wonderful and accomplished girl in the whole world.

She actually sings and plays at night or any time you want her to and she is not bashful, but modest.

She is as large as a real live baby and truly a marvelous "dollar doll" - hold her hand and she will walk along beside you, sing and dance.

She has real human hair to touch, but two front teeth and shows her little pink tongue.

She is irresistible, all dressed up in white organdy trimmed with Valenciennes lace, ribbons and fancy rose buds, and dainty white, pretty combination undergarments, all of which can be taken off when you want to put her to bed.

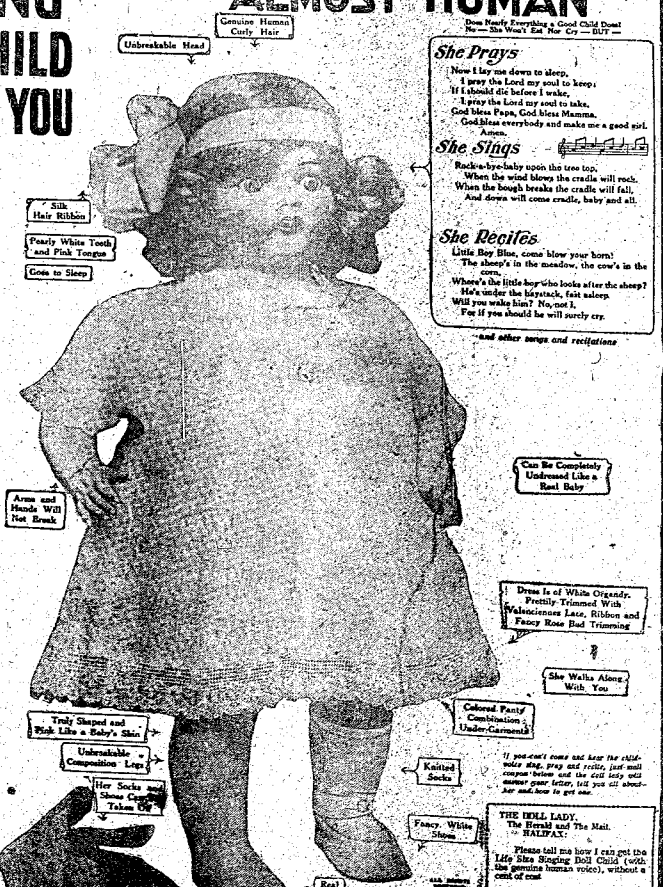

Kissed white socks and fancy white shoes cover her little feet in size number ten.

Then the last thing at night, her eyes closed tight, the very best mother and father human voice.

Will you tell me how easy it is to get one?

Just Talks--On Common Themes

On "Them Good Old Days"

I FIND that there never has been a time when they did not mourn for their good old days. Noah is said to have sighed as the rain kept on monotonously for them good old days when it was dry. Moses sat on the mount and mourned for them good old days when they had manna all ready at hand. Aaron was worshipping a golden calf. They were cutting up high jinks down below and he came to town and smashed things.

O Tempora! O Mores! exclaimed the old Roman as he sighed at the depravity of the times and the morals. Marcus Aurelius wrote a book on the depravity of modern customs. Epictetus bewailed the lack of former chastity and prudence, among the people of his times. John the Baptist called the "Jews" back to their former ways of righteousness. Samuel told the children of Israel a chapter full of instances in which they had forsaken the ways of their fathers and gone wrong. Them good old days again.

How little we consider the passing of life, how rarely we stop to think; that what is now new shall soon be old. The glamor of the past obscures the vision. We forget the evil of the day that was then, the present time.

I read Josh Billings who laments in his familiar philosophy "Them good old daze."

"How I long once in a while for them good old daze. The daze when there was more fun in thirty cents than there is now in seven dollars and a half."

"Them daze when a man married 145 pounds of woman and less than 9 pounds (awl told) of anything else."

"How I dew long for them daze when edukashun konsisted in what a man did well."

"Them daze when deakers were as austere as horse-redish and ministers preached to men's souls insted of their pockets."

"Them daze when poltiks was the excepshun and honesty was the rule of offis-seekers."

"Them daze when, if a man wadn't bizzy, he was watched, and when women spun that kind of yarn that was good for the darning of stockings."

"How I dew long for them daze, when now and then a gal baby was named Jerusha and a boy wadn't spilt if he was named Jerrymler."

"And ye who have tried the feathers and fuss of life and who have had the codfish of wealth without sense stuck under your nose, cum beneath this tree and loath for an hour with me, for them good old daze, when men were ashamed to be fools and women were afraid to be flirts."

"N. B.--They used to make milk-punch in them daze that was handy to take."

Barring, of course, the last sentiment, which is included for completeness of pictorial representation of seventy years ago when Josh Billings wrote the foregoing, this represents pretty well the temper of a good many people today. They long for them good old "daze" when earth was young and all of the memories of the past seem to be so much sweeter than they are today.

I am reading a book on this subject, in which an earnest woman discusses with a girl the "modern tendencies" toward disregard of chastity and to free-love, etc. It reads like a modern thing. But it is not. Girls and boys are not worse now than ever in their natural inclinations. They have freer exercise of them. They have more liberty; but their shrewd little heads are as long now as ever; nature, exacts the same penalties; shame is as potent; social laws have not abated their severity.

For a time, here and there certain evils seem rampant. We have adverted to such things as football drunkenness and after-football dance orgies at some hotels. But there is less drinking sordidly now than a hundred years ago in colleges. And a single orgie exacts its shame and its penalty, just the same now as then. Outraged nature pays its claims in full.

What we have to do is to preach the bettering of our natures; the upspringing of our better selves. Sin is a conscious breaking of laws. And not all laws, either. Yet—justice demands accordance with laws, even man-made. The laws of God are eternal. Those of men are variant. But consonance with all law is imperative. Departure from them is sinful, if it be no fundamental sin. Let the good old days be treated tenderly, lovingly, sweetly in memoriam. They are not a 'club; they are a song.

—E. S.

Freeport

Mrs. Whitney Titus of Central Grove spent several days of last week in this place visiting relatives and friends.

Rev. Mr. Hamilton, late of Tackett, arrived here several days ago to take the pastorate of the church.

Last Sunday morning an address appropriate to Thanksgiving Day was delivered by the pastor and at the evening service a very impressive memorial service was held to commemorate the memory of those who fell during the "Great World War."

Those who have recently had radios installed are A. R. Westcott, A. MacNeil and M. Sollows.

S. A. Keen of Digby was the guest of Mrs. W. H. Stevens on Tuesday.

King Solomon Lodge of Digby, was strongly represented at the Freeport Masonic Lodge on Tuesday evening last, where the visiting brothers conferred the 3rd degree upon several candidates. Refreshments were served at the close.

Mrs. E. McDormand and little son of Westport, are spending a few days with her sister Mrs. George Crocker.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Craswell who have been spending a couple weeks in America, have returned home.

Dr. Cormier of Weymouth is expected here this week where he will practise dentistry for an indefinite period.

It pays to advertise in The Digby Weekly Courier.

Quarterly Exams. Of Digby School Held Last Week

Good Showing Made By Pupils--Report of Principal Chisholm

To the School Board, Town of Digby.

Sirs—I beg to submit, for your approval, my report of the Public School of Digby for the quarter ending November seventh, 1924.

The program of the schools during the quarter has been highly satisfactory. Pupils and parents, generally, have co-operated with the teachers to the best advantage. If such co-operation is continued a successful year is assured.

We are somewhat impeded by a small teaching staff and insufficient accommodation for pupils. This necessitates such a combination of the lower grades as to overthrow the balance of the entire curricula.

The teachers are unable to give sufficient attention to the pupils of any one grade. Since the basis of child training is laid in the lower grades the future of the pupil is, as a consequence, endangered. He ultimately enters the High School totally unprepared for the work of that department. The present High School is a painful example of this condition.

If the parents entered the co-operative spirit, evidenced in class work, to the solution of such problems the success of our schools will be greatly enhanced.

The new arrangement in Grade One whereby the primary pupils attend in the afternoon and the more advanced pupils in the morning has been most successful. The congestion in that grade is thus relieved and the teacher is able to give more individual attention to the pupils.

The number of pupils enrolled in all the grades is 313, a slight decrease compared with last year. Of the number 39 are classified as High School students.

The total days attendance in all the grades is 12,938. The average daily attendance in 269.5. The percentage daily attendance 86.1.

Pupils, generally, are to be commended for the regularity of their attendance. In no case was it necessary to enforce the provisions of the Compulsory Attendance Act.

On behalf of the faculty I wish to thank each member of the Board for his indefatigable efforts to promote the intellectual and physical welfare of pupils and teachers.

The results of the quarterly examinations are affixed.

Crossed Atlantic Unafraid

Little Samuel Molynes, arrives

A stepped off the Canadian Pacific train, between the conductor and an official of the department of immigration, into the noise of hurrying express trucks, and the bustle that attends the arrival and departure of friends, Samuel Molynes, 398 Oakwood Avenue, Toronto, as the label on his little bag proclaimed him, paused for a moment, and then, overcome by a sense of loneliness produced by the loss of his friends of ship-board and train, burst into tears. A second later, when he had been separated for one and a half of his four years, and sobbed himself to contentment in his arms.

Samuel came to Canada on the Montclair, making the complete trip from the old land to Toronto by himself. Samuel was a favorite on ship-board, according to reports. He became particularly attached to the ship's nurse but was the pet of all the passengers and crew.

Doctor Prescribes Moir's

A druggist in Moncton noticed that one of the nurses in the hospital there was buying cream centred chocolates every day.

Inquiry revealed that these were for a patient who had been operated on for appendicitis and stomach trouble. After the operation the Doctor prescribed chocolates as the best means of obtaining a sufficient supply of sugar in his diet, orders being to give him a half pound daily.

When his wife noticed this she volunteered to buy the chocolates. She was instructed by the nurse to buy Moir's Chocolates.

It's Uniform Quality is due to Infinite Care~

YOU know how impossible it is to judge flour quality by a mere inspection.

Different flours may cost the same and look the same, yet give entirely different results. Then, too, you will often find a good flour, that varies in quality—a success in one baking and a failure in the next.

Your only real safeguard in buying flour is to select one that has been tested and proven in advance—and is guaranteed uniform in quality.

Maple Leaf Flour is made from the finest selected Canadian hard wheat, skillfully blended and milled. Exacting tests at every stage of the milling make possible its sale under a definite "money back" guarantee of uniform quality and satisfaction. You can depend on Maple Leaf Flour for unvarying baking results—always.

Ask your dealer about a wonderful new flour in "Cookery Arts and Kitchen Management"—FREE on every user of Maple Leaf Flour.

Annual Roll Call of Baptist Church

The Annual Roll Call Service was held in the Baptist church, Wednesday afternoon Nov. 14th, when a large number were present to answer to their names and receive letters from non-resident members, were read by pastor Gregg making the number responding 172. Social music was furnished by the choir. At the conclusion of the Roll Call, Rev. E. S. Mason gave a very inspiring address taking as his subject "Our vision and our achievements," based on the third chapter of "Philippines." After this followed the serving of the communion. A social hour was then enjoyed and all were invited to the vestry where about 200 sat down to partake of the good things provided by the ladies. This was followed by an evening service at 7.45. The visiting clergymen on the platform were Rev. L. E. Nunn, Digby, Rev. E. S. Mason, Sup't. of Home Missions, Rev. A. Gibson, Annapolis, Rev. G. C. Durkee, Clementsvale, and Rev. Frank Smith Deep Brook. A male choir furnished music for the evening. Rev. E. S. Mason gave the address his subject being "The Religion that lives" from the 61st chapter of Isaiah. At the close of the service pastor R. S. Gregg announced that the offering amounted to $357.85. After singing the hymn "Faith of our Fathers" the meeting closed with the Benediction by Rev. L. E. Nunn.

Weymouth North

On Thanksgiving night at St. Peter's Guild Hall, the following children held a minstrel show for the benefit of the Digby Hospital: Lilian Doty, Alice Doty, Frances Lent, Louise Mullen, Tom Coggin, Dorothy Coggin, Margaret Rand, Fred Rand. The entertainment was a great success. Twelve dollars and seventy cents was realized. Several local hits on affairs at school etc. caused a good deal of merriment.

On Armistice morning the bell of St. Peter's Episcopal church was tolled for one minute and rung for one minute in remembrance of the soldiers that gave their lives in the world war and also in remembrance of the victory that they gained.

Rev. Mr. Taylor gave the public school scholars a short address on Armistice Day after which Miss Newcomb the principal read a poem entitled "Somebody". The children then saluted the flag and the King and remained silent, standing at attention for two minutes after which God Save the King was sung.

Mrs. Grace Minda left on the 3rd for Boston.

The W. C. T. U. held a parlor meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Lent on Wednesday evening. The program was as follows:

The W. C. T. U. Anthem
Piano duet—Mrs. Frances Lent and Mrs. Lent
Reading—Mrs. F. H. Lent

Questions on W. C. T. U. work—asked by the president Mrs. Rudolf, answered by union members

Vocal Duet—Mrs. Skidmore and Miss Simmonds

Recitation—Miss Kathleen Fitzgerald

Vocal Duet—Mrs. Skidmore and Miss Simmonds

Recitation—Mrs. Skidmore

Piano Duet—Mrs. Frances Lent and Mrs. Wm. Lent.

The remainder of the evening was spent in music, singing and social talk. Dainty refreshments were then served by the Union members after which the W. C. T. U. anthem "Some Glad Day" and God Save the King were sung.

Simid LeBlanc returned from the West last week.

Mrs. Rudolf left on Friday for Boston where she will spend the winter.

Marvelous New Doll Prays, Sings, Recites

When even adults are enthusiastic over her, you can imagine the excitement amongst all the girls of Nova Scotia at the news that a doll has at last been perfected that can pray, sing, and recite. And every girl can get one free.

The ability of this new little being is not confined to a word or so. At the word of command she says the prayer commencing "Now I lay me down to sleep" or sings "Rock-a-bye Baby" or recites that everlasting classic of childhood, "Little Boy Blue".

In addition to this astonishing ability this new almost-human doll has everything about her that a girl could desire. She walks, she sleeps, she shows her pink tongue between her pearly teeth. Real human hair, richest of removable clothes and life-size add to her attractions.

An advertisement elsewhere in this issue gives full details about this new doll. It is illustrated by a large picture of the doll itself. But no picture and no description can convey an idea of how wonderful this doll is. Send the coupon in the advertisement to The Doll Lady, care of the Herald and Mail, Halifax, and learn how without a cent of cost you can get a genuine life-size singing Doll Child, with a real human voice. Send the coupon now so that you will have the doll in time for Christmas.

Fancy gift boxes of Stationery at Connell's.

BABY'S COLDS

Children's delicate digestions are easily disturbed by too much "dosing." Still, the little ones' cold troubles cannot be neglected.

At the very first sign of croup, sore throat, or any other cold trouble, apply Vick's VapoRub over the throat and chest. There is nothing to swallow—you just rub it on. Colds go over night, croup is usually relieved in 15 minutes.

RADIO

Before buying your radio set list in to an Ozarka. Guaranteed range of 1000 miles on the loud speaker. Let the whole family enjoy the concert and dance to the music. A beautiful instrument at moderate cost. Ask for demonstration.

To The Footwear Merchants OF NOVA SCOTIA

Our rubber boots and other rubber footwear which we formerly distributed to the trade through Ames Holden McCreedy, Limited, are now branded:

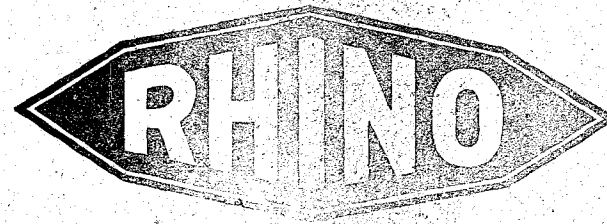

We are not connected in any way with our former selling agents, Ames Holden McCreedy, Limited, and, since the beginning of 1924, have not manufactured any rubber boots other than:

RHINO is "A Name which is New for a Fame which is Old." You are no doubt familiar with the high quality of the rubber boots made by us in 1920 to 1923. This quality is now to be had only in "RHINO" Brands. Explain this to your customers who come into your store and want the same high-grade boots which gave them such long wear and good service in the past few years

Mr. W. H. Dargie, who was formerly with Ames Holden McCreedy, Limited, is now with us and will in future offer you:

We will open a wearhouse in Halifax about Jan. 1st, where a complete stock of Rhino Rubber Footwear will be carried for your convenience in sorting. Complete stocks carried at Moncton, N. B. and Charlottetown, P. E. I.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL NEWS

The Courier asks every reader to help make this page interesting by contributing any local news or personal items they may know about. The editor must depend on the parties interested to make this page interesting. Don't hesitate to send personal news or your family. We want them all. Don't blame the editor if what you expect is not here if you have not yourself taken the pains to see that the office was informed of the item. Anything in the matter of advertising being paid for at the rate of 5c a line. This applies to Cards of Thanks, Announcements, etc. Charged items will be 10 cents a line. No advertisement less than 50 cents.

J. J. Mitchell, of Middleton, was in town last week calling on friends.

Mrs. J. Fred Rice was a passenger to Boston by way of St. John on Tuesday. R. C. Bishop, of Lunenburg, was in Digby to-day enroute to Montreal, where he will spend a few weeks visiting friends.

Mrs. Capt. Howard Anderson left this week for Morganton, North Carolina, where she will spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. F. A. Bower.

Andrew Merkel, of the Associated Press, Halifax, was in Digby over the week-end visiting his mother, Mrs. M. Merkel.

The schooner Mins Nanda, Capt. Walter Ogilvie, sailed Wednesday for Havana with a cargo of 1,500 barrels of seed potatoes and 200 overcoats.

Walter Go-see, the young man sentenced to five years in Dorchester Penitentiary and 20 lashes, by Judge Grierson last week, was taken to the above institution this week by Sheriff Bishop.

A. M. L. Swabey and T. G. Lynch left Tuesday evening for Halifax to attend the Church of England Synod, as delegates from Trinity Church. The Synod is holding a special session to elect a confederator.

George I. Higgins, of the firm of Byles & McNeice St. John, who has been in Digby during the past two weeks auditing the books of the Digby Printing and Publishing Company, Ltd., left for home by Wednesday's boat.

As a result of the amalgamation of the Clifton News with the New-Herald, the town of Clifton, like many other centres in Ontario, has but one newspaper now. The New Era has been published continuously for over 40 years. High overhead cost is the cause of the amalgamation.

A Spanish woman died in Los Angeles a week ago from pneumonia. Within a few days nine of those who attended her funeral were dead. The infected district has been quarantined and a strong cordon of police thrown around it. There have been seventeen deaths since the funeral a week ago.

The first snow storm of the season visited Digby early Monday morning. Citizens on arising were surprised to see the ground covered with snow. Traffic at noon was completely tied up as a real blizzard was in progress. Several auto parties, who arrived from Toronto and different parts of the Province, were obliged to take the train home Monday, leaving their cars in Digby.

A man named George Forester was arrested by Chief Beale last Saturday evening. He appeared before Magistrate Magistrate Harvey Monday morning charged with disorderly conduct and drunkenness. After Forester was placed in the lockup he did considerable damage to the furniture, breaking the water pipe, for the damages, which was paid, and the prisoner was taken to the Government wharf, given a ticket for St. John, and ordered to leave town by the S. S. Empress.

Obituary

MRS. (DR.) W. H. MINER
The death of Emma R., widow of Dr. W. H. Miner, took place recently at the home of her daughters in Arlington, Mass. She was 69 years of age and her passing was comparatively sudden following a brief illness of bronchial pneumonia.

Mrs. Miner was always a resident of Digby County until the death of Dr. Miner, about fifteen years ago, when she went to make her home with her children in Massachusetts. She always maintained a kindly interest in the affairs of her native community, however, and spent many summers at her old home.

The deceased is survived by three daughters: Misses Gertrude, Mildred and Georgia, all of whom accompanied the body on the Prince Arthur Wednesday morning and went forward by the D. A. R. to Barton; also one son, Wallace H. in Brooklyn, N. Y. The funeral took place at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from the Barton U. B. church, of which Mrs. Miner was for many years a most consistent adherent.

No one who once forms the MORSE'S tea habit ever wants to give it up. A man may even give up his wee drop of whiskey or even stop smoking, but once he becomes a user of MORSE'S SELECTED ORANGE PEKOE tea, he sticks to it for life.

The Editor on Monday was handed several large ripe fully developed strawberries picked at an early hour in the garden of W. H. Redding, by J. W. Yette of Digby. There were a number of other berries on the vines. And this was Nov. 17!

Now that winter may be expected to set in, the prospects for hockey should be gone into by the local fans. If any action is going to be taken to get a team together for entry into any of the leagues now being formed it should be done without delay.

A auto party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Clarke and Mrs. Arthur Wood, Lakeville; also Miss Anna Campbell, Kentville; were in Digby on Sunday last, guests at the Traveller's Inn. They left in the afternoon for Mink Cove, where they are spending a short vacation with relatives and friends.

Acting on the advice of the Board of Fire Underwriters, a Yarmouth electrical firm has opened offices in Digby for the purpose of revising the town. The wiring of the homes of 70 per cent. of the citizens has been found defective by the Board of Fire Underwriters and a large increase in insurance rates became effective a few months ago on account of this.

A few days ago the Editor had a visit from Mrs. Joseph Thurber, Weymouth North. Mrs. Thurber has been a regular subscriber of this great family journal for upwards of 22 years, and while here renewed her subscription for the year 1925. She also complimented the management on the improvement which has taken place in the Courier during the year 1924.

For the first time in its history seed potatoes was shipped from Digby to Havana this week by the schooner Nina Madina, Capt. Walter Ogilvie, who loaded a cargo of 1,500 barrels at the Government wharf. The loading of the schooner was done under the direction of Fred L. Robb, of St. John. The schooner Nadina also loaded 2,000 bundles of quinine crates for Cuba, which was made by the firm of H. T. Wayne.

Died on November 19th, at the "Cottage Colony" of the Danvers, Mass. hospital for the insane, Alice May, wife of the late Edward Barrett Goodall, of Portmouth, N. H., after an illness of several years, in which time her mind was a blank, caused by a stroke of paralysis. Mrs. Goodall, who was 84 years of age, was the daughter of Capt. and the late Mrs. Richard Marshall, of Weymouth. She leaves a grown up family all residing in Lynn, Mass.

Rev. Clyde W. Robbins, formerly pastor of the Baptist church in Digby, but now at North Attenton, Mass., has resigned in the latter place and accepted a call to Rosindale church, Boston. Mr. Robbins is a graduate of Acadia University, Wolfville, and is at present secretary of the New England Alumni Association of his college. He holds a B. D. from Newton Theological Institution, and will receive a master's degree in religious education from that institution next commencement. He has also pursued graduate work in theology and religious education at Boston University.

Other Troubles Women Often Have

Eachine, Quebec.—"I took Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I suffered with pains in my left side and back, and with weakness and other troubles women so often have. I was this way about six months. I saw the Vegetable Compound advertised in the Montreal Standard and I have taken four bottles of it. I was a very sick woman and I feel so much better I would not be without it. I also use Lydia E.

Thanks Life Saving Crew

Editor, Digby Courier.

Sir:—
I would like through the columns of your valuable paper to thank the Captain and members of the life saving crew at Digby for valuable assistance rendered me when my boat, the Freda and Blanche, was ashore at the entrance of Digby Basin on Monday October 27th.

Referring to your news note to the effect that the engine of the boat guard cutter was out of commission, would like to say that our boat was stuck hard and fast on the rocks and so it was only a matter of making her comfortable until she floated again.

In this crew rendered all help possible, running a kedge for us, helping pump and shift cargo and when she righted again we hauled her off to safety with practically no damage sustained.

This seems to be a valuable and necessary institution and the willingness of the crew to help was to me very noticeable.

Sincerely yours,
SHIRLEY D. TIDD,
Little River.

Have The Best Always

When buying a newspaper the same rule should apply as when buying goods. You want the best for your money. There is one "best" in Canada and it should be in every home. You should have your own local paper without doubt, but you should also have the Family
Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal. It is undoubtedly the greatest family and farm paper on the continent and at the low price of Two Dollars it is a wonderful bargain. This year the Family Herald is giving to each subscriber a chance to win as much as Five Thousand Dollars cash, and each subscriber receives a large calendar with a fascinating picture that would adorn any home. For those who secure new subscribers there are some very handsome rewards, which are described in a catalogue obtainable free.

Miss Winifred Ernest, Box 46, Blockhouse, N. S., writes:

"Ever since I was a little child, I suffered with eczema on my face. At times my face was completely covered with large sores, and I tried nearly every kind of medicine that I heard of with no result.
This lasted for over twenty years, until one day I asked the advice of my druggist, who bade me give Dr.
Chase's Ointment a trial.
After using the Ointment for a few days, the sores began to heal, and soon I was completely relieved of the disease."

GIRLS! SHE'S MARVELOUS SINGING
DOLL-CHILD
GIVEN TO YOU

For a Few Hours of Your Time
Come and Pick
Out the One
You Want

The Doll Lady
Says:
I want little girls who live in Nova Scotia to have the most wonderful and accomplished girl in the whole world.

She actually sings and plays at night or any time you want her to and she resides before any one—she is not haughty, but modest.

She is as large as a real live baby and only a marvelous "character" doll.
Hold her hand and she will walk about beside you, singing as she goes.

She has real human hair to brush, has two front teeth and shows her little pink tongue.

She is irrefragable, all dressed up in white satin extremely with Valenciennes

Just Talks--On Common Themes

On "Our Pastors And Their Views of Sin"

INASMUCH as two distinguished clergymen in this County have so delightfully responded to our suggestion that "Sin" as developed in the Leopold and Loeb case--which was the background of the "talk" in this column some weeks ago, is a good topic for the sermon, I have no occasion to reprove. Knowing the great ability of the trained preacher to deal with the subject, than can one who has to deal with everything else also, the pastoral reaction is the thing! Whether it agree with me, or not, is nothing.

It is, therefore, agreed that Sin is "a departure of the individual from the ways of God." Is it "a state of mind," it is an overt act; it is the wink of the eye at a pretty girl. It is anything that harms body, soul, mind. It is anything that damages humanity, in either of the elements of its Trinity. It is anything that by damaging the individual reverts on humanity, either in soul, mind or body. In so far as it damages the individual, it damages humanity. We are component parts of a whole. Humanity marches on like an army. Its mission is the perfect on of the Spirit. The spirit alone endures. When we taint the individual soul, we taint the whole body of the Spirit, which is (as we see it) God; or, if we be Christians, His exemplar, Christ.

Of course, some things that may harm the Soul of one person, may not harm the soul of another. There is a complication--like an irregular verb in grammar. Clarity is a matter of geography. Sometimes, the Esquimo is not chaste, we are told. The Eskimo woman is simply with, out any moral sense as to chastity. Does she sin? Men and women battle together, in style of Adam and Eve, in many countries of the east. Thus, modesty is a matter of geography. One could hardly call an ancient custom a sin, to those innocent of evil in the state of mind.

Snake-bites do not poison some animals. Some people are immune from certain bacterial diseases. Sin is, therefore, a "conscious" departure from God. Let the definition as given by the church stand.

What are we doing about it? What is the modern attitude toward it? THAT is the great question. Is sin a discarded theory--definition and all? Is it something to be used as a delightful condiment to titillate the jaded palate of the age? As some people enjoy walking along precipices are we to walk along the borders of this path that turns aside from old fashioned ways, so to speak?

Of course Sin is a State of Mind. But it is more than that; just as a revolver is a deadly weapon; but does more harm when it is pointed at someone and fired than when it is not. A man may commit adultery in his mind by looking in lust; and so may a woman. But society is not so dislocated by a wink as it is when adultery breaks up a home and sends children trailing parents into the divorce court. And we have to give some reward to withstand temptation.

There never was a great subject that had not its ramifications. Sin is a perfect paradise for metaphysicians. There are at least ten or twelve definitions of Sin in the Standard Dictionary. It is a "Voluntary" departure from the ways of God. It is a "transgression" of the ways of God. It is an "offence" against God, etc. But when you get to the man on the street he asks you "what is God?" What IS GOD as apart from Humanity? Nothing at all as our limited powers can conceive. We know only as we are empowered to know. We are as the snail in his cavern seeing a strip of sky and saying "that Heaven" is a parallelogram; or we are the bird in the tree seeing that it is a globe; or we are as the fish in the sea, seeing that it is wet.

So--we go along--(here on earth and in the universe, perhaps)--a varying mass of swirling passions and purposes. One conceives, brooding over it like a protecting wing, a divine law. That law applies to mind, body, spirit--the Spirit the thing, that endures. What we do to harm the spirit hovering over this swirling mass, does harm to the progress of Life.

Now what was the matter with the Loeb-Leopold lads? They were monsters of one-sided training. They were the most remarkable productions of intellect that a great university, many tutors, great wealth, the most cultured and intellectual home could make. Their emotional training had been neglected. They had never been trained of the spirit--which is God. They were not taught the three-in-one, of man.

One of these lads took up music for a time. He developed it exactly as one develops mathematics. He tried to discover how many notes he could play in a minute. Music is both mathematical and spiritual--emotional. When we teach music so that it may express the aspiration, the emotion, the imagination, the light of the eagle of the soul, then we step into that world where God dwells as the Great Spirit. What may not music do, for the salvation of man-kind? If we could only teach it as a medium, a means, not an end of accomplishment.

I am pleased at the way the preachers have taken up the suggestions of the discussion of Sin. We started with the thesis that modern youth did not fear the overt acts of sin, for any danger it might be to themselves. We felt that in many cases they did not fear the possible damage to their souls, their minds, their bodies. They did not fear even the physical consequences, grave as they are; nor did they fear the degeneration of the intellect; nor fear the smirches of the pure, sweet innocence of a soul, akin to God in its inception. Sin is thrilling, when one escapes its immediate discomforts. Sin is not so dangerous as typhoid microbes. Is this the modern attitude? If so, it must be met.

I do not know that this is so. I have maintained usually that boys and girls are as good now as ever. But, let it be not preach some doctrine as sets up as a real thing the Spirit of Man, as makes it a concrete element of life; as proves the theory that harm to be fundamental to creation. Sin is a state of mind! Yes. It may be anything, whatsoever; but let us preach against it--whatever it may be; not to frighten mankind to better ways, altogether, but also outside of metaphysics, to lead a troubled world to the assurance that the "way of the Lord is a path of pleasantness and peace."

Doctor Prescribes Moir's

A druggist in Moncton noticed that one of the nurses in the hospital there was buying cream centred chocolates every day.

Inquiry revealed that these were for a patient who had been operated on for appendicitis and stomach trouble. After the operation the Doctor prescribed chocolates as the best means of obtaining a sufficient supply of sugar in his diet, orders being to give him a half pound daily. When his wife noticed this she volunteered to buy the chocolates. She was instructed by the nurse to buy Moir's Chocolates.

Though the man's diet is increased and more varied now that he is up and around he still takes his Moir's chocolates regular.

Variety of Industries Keeps People of Digby Co. Busy

Tourist Traffic, Fishing and Pulp Manufacture Among Sources of Revenue

By A. M. BELDING
(Staff Cor. Telegraph-Journal)

Every time the writer crosses the Bay of Fundy, and that is seldom, he recalls his first voyage. It was from Digby to St. John, in the early spring of 1878, on a steamer called the "Scud." It was a very tempestuous voyage, and the steamer pitched about at a terrific rate in a driving storm. Nearly all the passengers were seasick, but the young traveler escaped. Landing at Keed's Point after dark he spent the night in a boarding house in British street, near the wharf, and in the morning walked to the railway station on route to Kings County, through streets where new houses were going up on every side; for that was the spring after the great fire.

On Tuesday of last week the voyage to Digby was very pleasant. The writer did not leave the deck all the way across. The bay was calm, the air not too cold, and relays of gulls conveyed the impress all the way. A duck that came up when about half way across had urgent business somewhere on the Nova Scotia shore, for it passed the steamer at a rate of speed that quickly carried it out of sight.

Some distance out from the entrance to Digby Gut the crew of a motor boat were engaged in scallop fishing, and it was learned later that they would take about 150 pounds per day, and that scallops were worth $4 per gallon in the Boston market.

ASHORE AT DIGBY

There were few people on the wharf at Digby, compared with the crowds on summer days when travel is heavy and the town filled with tourists. The first man the reporter met on entering the Waverley for dinner was Robert Ewing of St. John, who had just arrived from Toronto and Montreal by way of Boston and the steamer to Yarmouth. He was in Ontario when the plebiscite was taken, and was of opinion that Premier Ferguson would now make a vigorous effort to enforce the Ontario Temperance Act.

Digby does not by any means rely altogether upon tourist traffic. The Maritime Fish Corporation has a branch there, with the world for a market. It handles cod, hake, haddock and pollock, and has two trawlers engaged in deep sea fishing. The company employs about twenty men in its Digby plant. H. B. Hayden, Floyd Snow, and H. H. Syda also engage in curing and shipping fish, and the height of the season there is a large trade. Fishing at present is reported to be fair.

Considerable quantities of pulpwood are shipped from Digby to Maine ports. At the wharf on Tuesday a schooner was loading with potatoes and onion skins for the market.

H. T. Warne has a large wood-working plant, and also owns a schooner, which had just sailed with a lumber cargo for Boston. A new industry that gives promise of expansion is that of Jack and Cardozo, who manufacture jams, jellies and pie fillings, which are sold through the Maritimes and also in a portion of Quebec.

Digby is hoping for better light and power. There is a possible development which would include Digby, Yarmouth, and the Bear River pulp mill. The town council of Digby is showing a very keen interest in the project and the Courier says: "Digby wants hydro and is hoping to get it."

With regard to industries in the county, the Courier says it has reliable information that a group of American capitalists intend erecting a mill at Plympton, to manufacture staves, and that contracts for 1,000 cords of hardwood have been awarded giving employment to about 25 men.

JOURNALIST AND ARTIST. Of the Digby Courier itself a good word must be said. It is an excellent county paper, now conducted by Edmund Stratton, and a citizen predicted that Mr. Stratton would make it a strong influence for good in its constituency.

There is one place in Digby where the visitor likes to linger. It is the studio of Paul Yates, filled

Little N. S. Town Is Shocked By Terrible Crime

Mrs. Bishop, Struck on the Head With Axe, Has Skull Fractured

Not since the Lent-Potter scandal has such a sensation been caused in the little town of Bear River as that which occurred Thursday when a young man, Lloyd Bishop, struck his mother over the head with the flat of a double bladed axe, crushing her skull so badly that she had to be brought to the Digby Hospital where a de-compression operation was performed, by Dr. Campbell, of Bear River, assisted by Doctors DuVerney and Read, of Digby.

Last summer he was taken to the United States for medical treatment and arrived home greatly improved in health. Soon after his arrival he began to drift back into his old habits, and the medical fraternity held a consultation and decided to have him removed to a hospital for demented people. His mother refused to sign the necessary documents, saying that she was not afraid of her boy.

All went well until Thursday morning, according to the story given by Dr. Campbell, when the demented man struck his mother, after rendering her unconscious, the man proceeded to the home of a neighbor, saying that his mother had met with an accident, and asking for assistance, which was immediately given. The mother tried to shield her son from any blame. Dr. Campbell was immediately called and it was after his arrival that the truth was known. He dressed the wound and got in communication with Dr. DuVerney. Thursday afternoon and after examining the injured woman, decided to have her removed to Digby Hospital, when the critical operation took place.

Dr. Campbell while in Digby got in touch with the sheriff and Thursday evening Bishop, who is 25 years of age, was placed under arrest and taken to the jail at Amherst, where he will await the decision of the Attorney General at Halifax.

With gems of photographic art, plain and in colors. A photographer in another town, who is himself no novice in the work, paid Mr. Yates the tribute of saying, that in his opinion the latter had few superiors in landscape photography. His skill brings him a large patronage from tourists seeking artistic souvenirs.

It is a secret of the local publicity bureau, and a booklet prepared is of the sort to make the tourist think of Digby as a place not to be overlooked. It tells of big hotels, small boarding houses, quiet farm-houses, cabin colonies, dancing pavilions, orchestra, golf, tennis, canoes and motor-boats, horse back riding, clam-bakes, bathing, deep-sea and other fishing, motoring on good roads, resources awaiting development, fertile farms and great climatic attractions, "where forest, farmland, mountain and bay form a panorama."

The reporter was only a few hours in Digby. If he had remained longer he would be writing about it all winter.

PULP AND FOXES

The Bear River pulp mill is about to begin operations. The Telegraph-Journal man had a word with C. W. Rantoul, the manager, who said a pipe line to convey water five and a half miles had been constructed, and the mill would operate in a few days, with a good supply of raw material. It will manufacture sulphate, kraft pulp, and has a company of 45 tons. The product will go the Parkin Goodwin Company of New York, and will be shipped by water. About eighty men will be employed. The Bear River Pulp Co., Ltd., the present owners, have between 50,000 and 60,000 acres of woodland in Digby and Annapolis counties.

There is a fox industry at Bear River. The Courier notes that a large shipment of silver-black foxes was recently made from a ranch

Chartered Accountant to Audit the Town Books

At the regular meeting of the Town Council held at the Council Chambers on Monday evening, it was decided to employ a chartered accountant to audit the books of the town for the year 1924. After some discussion, Coun. Holdsworth moved that the Mayor be authorized to obtain a chartered accountant for the Town of Digby. This was seconded and carried unanimously.

Another important matter discussed was the question of a donation for sufferers in the Windsor fire. This matter was brought to the attention of the Town Council by His Worship Mayor DuVerney who was of the opinion that something should be done for the sufferers in the fire. Coun. Jordan thought that a personal canvass of the town would be better than a donation, but this did not fall in line with opinions of Coun. Holdsworth, who believed that Digby as a town should express its sympathy. It was the duty of the town to come to the rescue of the sufferers in the Windsor fire, declared Coun. Holdsworth. We as a town would let this go by unnoticed, and be moved that the sum of $100.00 be taken from the town funds and forwarded to Windsor. This was seconded by Coun. Aymar and carried unanimously.

Coun. Anderson was the only absentee at the meeting. After the reading of the minutes of last regular meeting, a number of accounts were read and on motion of Coun. Holdsworth and Peck ordered paid.

The report of the Supt. of Streets, W. W. Hayden, was read. During the month considerable work had been done. The barbed wire around the Monument had been taken up, as well as bulbs, etc. The Supt. said great credit is due Geo. Trohan and Wm. Cairnes for the good work done during the past year in looking after the Soldiers Monument. Three water systems were removed and replaced, and two new systems installed on Church street. The system on Church street has been completed. The report was on motion received.

Coun. Jordan moved that a resolution be forwarded to Messrs. George Trohan and Wm. Cairnes, thanking them for the work which they had done during the past year around the Memorial Monument. This was seconded and carried.

The report of Health Officer, W. F. Read was read and showed that the town was free from contagious disease. Dr. McGregor and Turnbull had held a dental clinic at the school during the past quarter, as well as a Tuberculosis Clinic held by Dr. Campbell, of the Public Health Department.

Town Clerk Roden said acknowledgment had been received from Premier Ashcroft regarding the petition for power, as moved at the last meeting of the Town Council, as well as the resolution regarding the Motor Vehicle Act refund.

Board of Trade

A meeting of the Bear River Board of Trade was held in the Masonic Reading room on Tuesday evening 18th, inst.

The matter more especially considered was that of more adequate fire protection. Now that the pipe line is completed there is an opportunity to take advantage of the very superior water supply thus afforded.

Some months ago the community, through the Board of Trade gave tangible expression to its interest in this water supply and pipe line, at which time the manager of the Pulp Co., stated it was his intention to install at least two hydrants at strategic points, primarily for the protection of their own interests but which would be placed fully and freely at the disposal of the town under some efficient organization for fire protection purposes. This Mr. Rantoul fully confirmed at the meeting on Tuesday evening which expressed its appreciation to Mr. Rantoul as manager of the Bear River Pulp Co., for making possible this opportunity with its consequent reduction in fire insurance rates.

With this available water supply and the two regulation hydrants already installed, it was considered advisable to procure one thousand feet of standard Fire Underwriters hose, this being about the distance the power would be effective on account of the elevation of some of our streets.

In order to secure all the information possible, both locally and from the Board of Fire Underwriters, a committee of four was appointed consisting of F. R. Harris, W. G. Clark, who acted forthwith to secure all necessary data and submit their report to a meeting of the Board of Trade for further action.

It Pays to Advertise

The hearing of the International Advertising Convention brings to mind the answer which Mark Twain as editor of a Missouri paper, once sent to a superstitious subscriber who wrote to say that he had found a spider in his paper, and asked whether this was a sign of good luck. Mark Twain replied—

"Finding a spider in your paper was neither good luck for you nor bad luck for you. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant is not advertising so that he can go to that store, spin his web across the door, and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

there to South Sudbury, Mass., and that next year is expected to be a banner one for ranches with good foxes to sell.

Perhaps one should not take leave of Digby for a run to Yarmouth without a reference to the oxeen, which are still used by some Digby farmers. A fine pair hitched to a wagon with the driver sitting comfortably on the seat, went down the street on Tuesday, unmoved by the motor cars that flashed past.

Digby has good farms on the outskirts, and has a flourishing agricultural society.

The business men interviewed expressed the view that times are on the mend, and they look for a good year in 1925. There is naturally much interest in the announcement that a tract of land on Digby Neck along the line of the D. A. R., large enough to locate 200 families of English settlers, has been purchased by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company.

This Lassie Has Her Colds "Rubbed Away"

The mother of this attractive little girl, Mrs. E. E. Emmons, of 215 Seventh Ave., N. E., Portage La Prairie, Man., is one of the many Canadian mothers who are enthusiastic about the vaporizing salve, Vicks VapoRub, for treating children's colds. Mrs. Emmons writes: "My little girl had croup at night pretty badly and Vicks did her a lot of good. I have also used it with very satisfactory results for head and chest colds."

Vicks is just "rubbed on" for sore throat, tonsillitis, bronchitis, croup or deep chest colds. When so applied, Vicks has a double direct action: internally medicated vapors are inhaled while, at the same time, externally, it is absorbed through and stimulates the skin.

The condition of Mrs. Mary Bishop, who is a patient at the Digby Hospital suffering from a bruised head at the hands of her devoted son, shows signs of improvement, according to advice received up to the time of going to press, and every hope is now being held out for her recovery. According to information given The Courier, it is doubtful if the lady would be living today if the doctors had been obliged to had the lady removed to Halifax or Yarmouth for an operation as in former years. The Digby Hospital is a great benefit to this country, and this has been proven on several occasions since it was established.

Word was received here at five o'clock Tuesday that the Halifax two-masted schooner, Robert and Arthur, Captain Fred L. Moore, of Westport, was ashore at Brier Island. Later, it was learned that the vessel during the gale of Sunday, lost considerable of its sails, including the jibs and foresail. The engines were more or less out of order, and Tuesday afternoon Capt. Moore got the craft to close in its disabled condition, to shore, and was unable to work the vessel off. After rounding on the rocks the vessel moved into deep water and sank immediately. Only 100 cases of alcohol was saved from the ship, it being reported that her cargo consisted of 1500 cases of choice liquor.

Weddings

SHIPLEY-POTTER

A very pretty wedding took place Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock, in the church of England Rectory, when Rev. W. Driffield united in marriage Miss Shipley-Potter, daughter of the late Mr. Frank Potter of Bear River, and Kemball W. Shipley, of Annapolis. The bride was attended by Miss Carrie Vantassel, of Digby, and Donald Winchester acted as best man.

After the ceremony the happy couple drove to the Waverly Hotel where a fairly large wedding reception was held.

The bride and groom left on Friday for a honeymoon trip to the States, followed by the best wishes of a host of friends.

CHARLES BLACKADAR

Charles Blackadar aged 81, died Thursday Nov. 28 at his home, 53 Harwood St., Lynn, Mass., after an illness of more than a year. He was born in Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, and came to Lynn to reside some 30 years ago. He was known here as a custom shoemaker and worked at this trade nearly all of his life. He leaves a wife Margaret Blackadar, two daughters, Mrs. C. L. Sawyer, with whom he made his home at 53 Harwood street, and Mrs. John Davis, Salem, three sons, Norman and Herbert Blackadar of Lynn, Walter Blackadar of Revere; 11 grandchildren, two great grandchildren a half brother George Blackadar of Lynn; and a brother Hugh Blackadar, of Bear River, Nova Scotia.

MRS. SIDNEY GUIER

Tiverton was shocked, early Tuesday morning, to learn of the sudden death of Mrs. Sidney Guier. The deceased, it was thought, was slowly convalescing from her recent illness, when suddenly she became unconscious, and a few seconds later, passed to the "Great Beyond." Besides a sorrowful husband, she leaves to mourn the loss of a loving mother, two dear little children, the youngest, an infant of three weeks, also a kind and loving father, one sister, and three brothers. Nellie who has been called to be "At Rest" at the early age of twenty-seven, was beloved by all who knew her. The funeral service, which was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Hamilton, of Freeport, was very impressive, and was largely attended. The floral tributes were very beautiful especially the one received from her Sunday School Class.

SAMUEL A. MELANSON

Samuel A. Melanson, a member of the J. I. Melanson shoe concern of Lynn, died at his home, 60 Andrew St., Swampscott, Mass., last week, after an illness of several months.

Mr. Melanson was born in Digby, N. S. 35 years ago, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Melanson. For 17 years he was a resident of Swampscott and for 22 years had been associated with the shoe firm of J. I. Melanson. He was a member of the I. O. O. F.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Melanson, three daughters, Miss Louise of Lynn, were held from his home, with a solemn high mass of requiem at St. John's Church. Rev. Mr. J. Reardon, pastor, was celebrant, assisted by Rev. Fr. James A. Hurley, deacon, and Rev. Fr. Francis T. Mahoney, sub-deacon.

Funeral services for Samuel A. Melanson, prominent shoe manufacturer of Lynn, were held from his home, with a solemn high mass of requiem at St. John's Church. Rev. Mr. J. Reardon, pastor, was celebrant, assisted by Rev. Fr. James A. Hurley, deacon, and Rev. Fr. Francis T. Mahoney, sub-deacon.

The funeral of W. S. Trask was held at Little River, Sunday afternoon and, despite the inclement weather, a large number of friends and relatives from various parts of the province attended to pay their last respects. Rev. I. D. Byrle, of Fairbairn, a friend of Mr. Trask's, officiated at the services at the church and graveyard. Mr. Trask, who had conducted a caulking factory in his home town, was widely known throughout the Maritime Provinces. Wreaths and flowers were received from all parts of Dominion as well as telegrams and letters of condolences.

Christmas Shopping

Only 7 days remain until Christmas. Everyone is busy selecting suitable gifts for their friends and relatives. The age-old question, "What shall I buy for them?" is again puzzling many. The Digby merchants are anxious to assist you in making your selection. To them are contained beautiful and reasonably priced gift suggestions of every possible variety that the business men of Digby are eager to have you see. It is not necessary to go out of town to do your Christmas shopping. In fact only unparagoned citizens of the town, and those whose conception of prices and values is irreparably distorted contemplate doing so, for the majority of intelligent buyers realize that they can save money for themselves by purchasing at home.

Yes! It's The Case Just Talks--On Common Themes

Right Here In Digby Plenty Of People Postpone Payments On Provisions Permanently

The writer happened in upon one of the merchants of the town the other day and saw him laboring over his books. "What are you doing there, making out your income tax returns?" said the merchant. "I'm just sending out a few reminders to the poor sports who won't come in and settle up for what they owe." This is the case with nearly all the merchants in the small towns of Nova Scotia to-day, they are laboring under a heavy disadvantage compared with the big mail order houses and other large firms that do a C. O. D. trade.

If everybody paid their debts promptly the average business man would have a much easier time doing business and could sell his goods for less money. For verifications of this statement, ask any Digby business man he knows. Is it any wonder that there has been so many failures in all lines of retail business the past few years? Money has been scarce enough, but when a business has to be run on the goodwill of some members of the public who think nothing of running up a large "charge account" and seldom remember to pay up, it puts the merchants in a very bad position.

Human nature is the same the wide world over, and therefore a news item from a southern city will be as much appreciated here as there. Even though they might not care to give it their endorsement as a regular practice, honest folk will not be wanting in sympathy for the merchant taken by a Housewren. Smugling under the sting of having been forced into bankruptcy, the man posted on his front door a list of persons who he declared owed him money and stated that if they had paid their debts he would have been able to pay his. "These people forced me into bankruptcy," said the sign over the names. In the list were the names of some of the prominent housewives of the town. They were naturally but not righteously indignant. About twenty of the women stormed the shop and tore the sign down.

has also gone to Boston to visit relatives. Miss Adams, teacher at Graywood, spent Sunday evening with friends here. Rev. I. F. Wallace will conduct the Xmas services in this parish, coming from Lunenburg for the occasion. Miss Myrtle Gates has returned from a short visit at Lequille.

On "A Father's Gift"

READ about a man who was going to give his boy a very peculiar Christmas present.

The story surrounds Leigh Mitchell Hodges who is a well known magazine writer and is told by him. He was on a railroad train and a very remarkable business man was with him. The business man said he had his son's Christmas present in his pocket.

Everyone's expected to see a beautiful gift of some sort, because money is no bar to this man's gratification of his wishes. Hodges thought "What a costly present this man can give his boy." The business man took from his vest pocket a piece of paper. On it he had written this gift. "To my dear son: I am going to give you one hour of each week and two hours of each Sunday of my own personal time for you to do as you please with."

The article in which I read this went on to reflect as to what this boy would say and think and do when he got this message on Christmas Day. The author of the little discussion, William Feather, one of the best humiliated writers that I know anywhere, thinks that the boy at first may be very much disappointed, very much dissatisfied. If he is an ordinary boy, unthinking, he will think exactly that. But if he is an extraordinary boy, he will think about like this: "Dad has given me the most precious thing he possesses. He has given it unreservedly. He has very much less time than I have, provided I live out my days. Hence his time is worth vastly more than money. He has given me something I can never repay."

I once knew a boy who appeared before a manager for stealing, the father and mother both were in the office to see the manager about it. Both acknowledged that they knew almost nothing about the boy's daily life. He came and went; showed up at meals; never said much about anything in particular; seemed absorbed in only a few subjects. He was just a sort of "odd" boy. They never seemed to be able to get "next" to him.

The story goes with this incident of Mr. Hodges and this merchant who was giving this Christmas gift to his son, that Hodges asked the man how it had occurred to him to do this thing. He said:

"The other day a fellow whom I had not seen since he was a kid about my boy's age, came into my office to 'make a touch.' His face and bearing carried the tell-tale marks of idleness and dissipation. He was simply a human derelict. 'Robert!' I exclaimed in amazement, 'to see you like this--and you with such a father!'"

"Well, I've often heard that dad was a fine man," the boy answered. "All his friends have told me so. I never knew him. He was so much occupied with his business and his clubs that I only saw him occasionally at meals. I never really knew him."

"That made me think furiously and I decided to attempt, at least, to get acquainted with my son. So I am making this gift. He may not accept it. I hope he will. I reckon that perhaps we might have a lot of fun together and that perhaps both of us would be benefited. He might help me to see things differently; I might help him to put proper estimates on things. I am ready for any sort of a disposition of that time that he may select."

It is useless to force attention on a son. But the sort of friendship ought, if possible, to be set up so that they can have good times together. I think personally that the best way is by the woods. I believe that if father and sons went hunting together in the fall and fishing in the spring and up the silent streams and learned wood-craft together that we should have wonderful good from it.

Would you, father of a son, be willing to GIVE eight hours a week to your boy and let the boy dispose of that time? Think it over. There is vision in the thing. What about it?

Obituary

LAURA DENTON

The public at large were profoundly shocked on Monday evening, Dec. 15th, when they learned of the death of Laura Denton. Her death came with tragic suddenness at 10 o'clock Monday evening. She had only been confined to her home for about a week, when she suddenly expired.

Laura was a prominent and popular young woman, very attractive, ever displaying her magnificent manner to everybody and she was loved by all who knew her. She always had a smile on her face for everybody, and to think she was called from our midst at the early age of 26 years is a deep and more than deep loss to the community. To lose such a promising young woman from our midst truly brings a deep and heavy shadow over the community in which she lived, which will be hard to graffiate remembrance. The sudden removal of such a life from us leaves a vacancy, and a deep shadow that will be deeply realized by all the members of the family, and will prove a serious loss to the community and the public.

The funeral took place Friday from her late home, Rev. L. D. Harvey conducted the services at the house, and spoke in words of tenderest sympathy and comfort.

With deep sympathy with the bereaved relatives of the deceased, the public express their hope that even so great a loss to us all may be overruled for good by Him who dwells all things well.

Laura was the daughter of the late Chipman Denton. Besides her mother she leaves four sisters and five brothers, Maple, of Cape Breton; Alice, of New York; Carrie, of Chester; Nancy, of Halifax; brothers, Thomas, of New York; Robert, of Little River, William in the West.

Your Worth 98c

Do you know how much you are worth? A professor of Chemistry in a University is quoted as having said recently, that if the average man divided his life into two elements of which his body is composed, there would be enough to make a pair of blankets from enough to make a ten-penny rail. One enough to make a good sized chicken coop, phosphorus enough to make 100 matches, and sulphur enough to kill the flies on a medium sized dog. If you should go to a store where these things are sold, the amount of minerals found in the human body could be purchased for 98 cents. The inference is that we are "large" but these elements are so wonderfully and skilfully bound together in a human brain that the value of a person is inestimable.

Good Cheer, Notwithstanding

Simple Comforts May Give Place To Sumptuousness, And Pleasant Customs And Credence Bow to the Times, But the 25th of December Is Still Christmas--

Are Christmas what they used to be, we ask ourselves?

It is an elderly question and goes with the one about toys and their amusing qualities. But, truly, there are some things lacking in the mass comforts of to-day which tend to destroy the cheerfulness of Christmas pictures as the world has, been accustomed to conceive them. No illustration of a happy family at home on the twenty-fifth of December would be complete without a roaring fire, the light glowing and sparkling upon at least three generations of assembled company, with the rich heritage of their furniture, pictures, bric-a-brac, and presents about them. The radiant peace and good-will of this atmosphere would be sensibly diminished if the same family were gathered round the steam-heating pipes or the old-fashioned register. Gas-lights are far from romantic, and while red hot stoves convey plenty of warmth, they hardly present the traditional welcome. Yet, in the length and breadth of the land, how many people are sitting about roaring and crackling flames compared with how many are not? Our very grandest apartment-houses are centrally heated out of all need of a fire, even if a fireplace has been provided. No wonder Santa Claus has given up coming down the chimney. He would only land in the boiler-room.

Well, then, the fireside is largely exposed as an integral part of Christmas, and of course, Santa Claus has, for some time been losing prestige even among the elderly. They now hardly insist that to please them any but the very young shall affect to believe in him. Of course, the elderly young do not hesitate to exhibit their scepticism and caustic cynicism so expressive of their age and cold, clear outlook on life. Sage, aloof, and wary they used to stagger along on unsteady, appealing legs, now stride about upon brisk, cool, contemptuous of senile fables even while they smile at the olden tales. They have fresh, east-aster tendencies and appear their own hard-headed selves. But, bless us and save us all, Santa Claus was a merry myth while he lasted, contributed not a little to the general hilarity! Even though we remember that we did not ourselves credit all we heard about him--and this, too, in an age when youth was less opposed to being considered glib than it is now--we wish that he could be imposed upon all respectable households, among transparent elders, at any rate, as a proper family fiction.

We know it can't be. We only wish it could; just as we wish that oranges, lemons, grape-juice, and barley water had not taken the place of more sunny, bubbly, rich, rare, warm-hearted, and enlivening beverages at temperate tables. Our imagination hovers round the idea of a wassail-bowl, but even sugar, ale and apples (which the dictionary gives as its ingredients) would be denied us. Memory furnishes us with pictures which the brightest scenes of reality of to-day may never rival. We had better bridge any scepticisms and give our minds to a repetition of that fine formula set in the mouth of either Uncle Tom, in Uncle Tom's Cabin, or his good wife: "Let's think on our marries."

Setting aside flickering flames, lusty liquors, and jovial salutes, we

Fresh And Dried Fruits

Everything you need to add to the looks of your Christmas dinner and to "fill in the chinks" after the heavier things are disposed of: Delicious Oranges, Grape-Fruit, Apples, Figs, Dates, Raisins -- everything you look for at Christmas. We have the canned fruits, too, but we know you are more interested in the other kinds for Christmas.

Spices and Pickles

Imagine, if you can, a good turkey or goose dinner without stuffing and that kind of thing. It's the sage and onions, thyme and parsley, and such things that makes the bird smell so good, to say nothing of the taste. We have everything you need to fix your dinner "to the king's taste" -- but don't leave your purchases to the last minute. We do not say that because our stock is short -- it is not that -- but because you can enjoy your dinner so much better, if most of your work has been done in advance.

Candy and Nuts

We always carry a large stock of these very necessary articles for Christmas and this year we have made a better choice than ever in our stock. Hard Candies, Cream Candies, Gum Drops, Xmas Mixture, Chocolates in bulk or boxes, and at prices to suit the poorest man or the millionaire. Nuts, the freshest obtainable: Walnuts, Brazil Nuts, Almonds, Filbert, Peanuts -- and in large quantities.

The N. C. C.

FORMATION OF CLUB

In order to provide as many cricketers as possible (in the Western districts of Nova Scotia) with a chance of playing the good old game, it has been decided to form a cricket club to be called "The Nondescript Cricket Club", this name being used as the membership will be drawn from many different localities.

ORGANIZATION

For the purpose of organizing such a club, a meeting was held last summer at Bridgetown, when F. A. K. Walker of Kentville, was appointed captain, and Dr. F. E. Rice of Sandy Cove, secretary, and it was further decided to charge an annual subscription of $1.00 for the purchase of gear and other expenses, and that the necessary tickets be printed and circulated to elicit membership.

OBJECT OF CLUB

It is not the intention of this club to interfere with any existing clubs in the western counties of Nova Scotia but amongst other things, to give such isolated cricketers, as are not numerous enough to form a club in their own localities, an opportunity to play cricket during the summer by joining an independent club such as the N. C. C. for the membership of which they would be heartily welcome.

COMPOSITION OF CLUB

The N. C. C. will therefore consist of such isolated cricketers and of as many members of local existing clubs as may like to become members of the N. C. C.

PLAN OF ACTION

It is intended that the N. C. C. will play matches with the local teams in the district stretching from Yarmouth to Windsor, and elsewhere if so desired. In such cases where the local teams are also members of the N. C. C. such local cricketers will play with their own team against the N. C. C. but in the other matches they would play with N. C. C. against the other teams; for instance when a match is arranged, N. C. C. against Bridgetown, all the Bridgetown members of the N. C. C. would play for Bridgetown against the other members of the N. C. C.

It is also proposed to take an N. C. C. team every year to Halifax at the end of the season for a week of cricket, to play against the Wanderers, the Garrison, West Indians and possibly a team from Eastern Nova Scotia.

ADVANTAGE OF A LARGE MEMBERSHIP

The N. C. C. with its large membership would be in a position to handle such a proposition as a week's cricket in Halifax, as some members might decide to play in one match and some in another during the cricket week, for probably not many could afford time to play in all the matches.

MEETING

It was further proposed to hold a meeting of all the members of the N. C. C. soon, at some convenient place, of which notice will be given in due time.

F. E. RICE,
Secretary.

Acaciaville

Several from here attended the Roll Call held in the Baptist Church at Smith's Cove last week. The services were enjoyed very much.

Mrs. Roberts of Seabrooke is visiting at the home of Mrs. James Roope.

The school children, under the careful training of the teacher, Mrs. Whitman, are preparing for Christmas entertained.

Darcy Roope returned home on Saturday after a short visit to the United States.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Albert Nichols which was held here on Sunday was largely attended. The remains were accompanied by her sons Judson and William from her home in West Roxbury. The bell which was donated to the church by her was tolled for the first time, in honor of her. The deceased was 80, (eighty) years of age and leaves sons and daughters to mourn. Her son Starrett was buried here three weeks ago.

R. S. C. Chapter 115

G. D. Campbell, of North Weymouth, Digby county, Nova Scotia, hereby gives notice that he has under said Act deposited with the Minister of Public Works at Ottawa and in the office of the District Registrar of the Land Registry District of Digby at the Town of Weymouth a description of the site and plans of a wharf built a number of years previous to June 1915 on the eastern side of Sissibou river and extending into the channel at low water about or between thirty and forty feet and running from thence to the shore at Ship Yard Point at North Weymouth aforesaid shore now owned by G. D. Campbell.

And take notice that after the expiration of one month from the date of the first publication of this notice G. D. Campbell will under said Act apply to the Minister of Public Works for approval of said site and plans and for a Grant of or permit to use the shore of the channel and extending there into not exceeding forty feet westward from low water mark and seven hundred feet upward and a wharfway along said channel at low water mark forty feet wide with sufficient room for ships to lay at said wharf for loading and discharging cargoes as heretofore enjoyed and laying at all times of tide with all due assistance to proper navigation and promotion of trade.

Chinese War Spoils Royal and Ancient Game

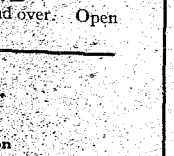

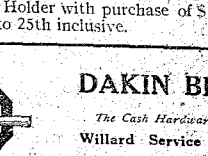

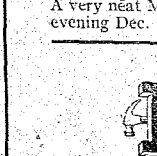

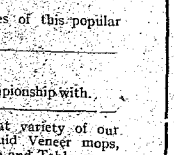

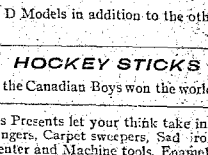

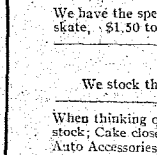

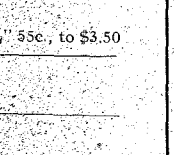

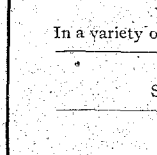

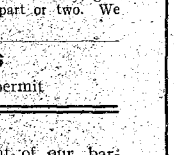

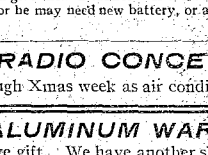

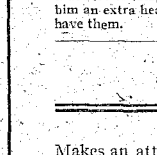

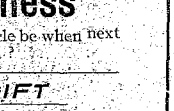

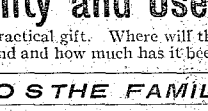

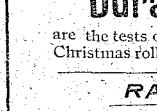

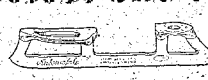

This Shanghai News Bulletin Shows How Additional Hazards Were Created

In the opinion of Canadian Pacific officials stationed in China, the cessation of hostilities in that country will, in all probability, be followed by a remarkable development of Canada's trade with the Orient. From letters received at the Montreal headquarters of the great transportation company, Canadians, Europeans and other foreigners did not take the Chinese war quite as seriously as did the Chinese themselves. Business was affected a little as travel to and from the interior was somewhat restricted, but at no time did the foreigners feel apprehension as to their own safety, even though at times, the actual scene of the fighting was not known but was quite close. The main things worrying the Europeans in Shanghai were the possibility of a food shortage and the fact that the city's best golf links was in the fighting zone and had, therefore, more than the usual hazards; but trafficking and travel may now be said to have returned almost to a pre-war basis.

To the Chinese, however, the war was a first-class war, as will be seen from the accompanying reproduction of a news bulletin published at Shanghai and forwarded from that city by one of the officers of the Canadian Pacific Steamships, to Montreal. The whole of the bulletin is taken up by war news. Pictured in the centre are Generals Chi and Su. At the top left one sees how General Kay, finding no line in which to escape from the Chekiang troops after the defeat of the Su soldiers at Lew Hoo, was forced to jump into the river, where he was finally captured. Below that, he who understands Chinese hieroglyphics reads that recruiting workmen for station work and the transportation of munitions at Jiatank was comparatively easy as many who volunteered for this work were fearful of being forcibly recruited for service at the front if they were found to be without employment. Underneath the portraits of the contending generals, the artist has endeavored to show how Mt. Gay Pong of the Su army fired on the Chekiang troops at Wong Doo, forcing them to retreat, and, at the right, how the Chekiang troops, by entrenching themselves round Lew Hoo and by remaining quiet, tricked the Su army into thinking that the town had been evacuated, being thereby enabled to vanquish General Kay, who sought to occupy it.

But the war is about over now, and on this side of the Pacific we are just left to ask, "What did it all mean?" The Canadian Pacific has included Shanghai in the itinerary of the "Empress of France" round the world cruise which is to commence at New York on January 14th, 1925, and to the participants in this cruise the late Chinese war may mean a few battlefields to visit or a few more souvenirs to buy, but that is about all. Amid all the charm and beauty, mystery and intrigue of the Orient, a little thing like a war is soon forgotten, by the average visitor to that country at least.

The Spirit of Christmas

Once again the steady march of time has brought us to a other happy Yuletide Season, the Christmas Season of 1924. And because of its salient significance as an epochal event in the history of Mankind and its inseparable association with the progress of Christianity down through the ages, civilized people everywhere openly or secretly welcome this most memorable of all anniversaries, no matter what their condition or status in life may be. Every human heart is instinctively welcoming the Spirit of Christmas.

"The joys and sorrows of the year that is drawing to a close are gone forever. The events which have gladdened or saddened our days during the last twelve months, whether spelling success or failure for us in their passing, must for all time be consigned to the history of a chapter of our lives that has been lived and a period which we have no power to recall. But whatever the unpleasant memories of the past year, the Spirit of Christmas heralds at least a brief respite from our personal burdens and fills our lives with a fellowship and good-will which it would seem impossible to achieve at any other season of the year.

There is, perhaps, no power on earth so efficacious and so far reaching in its effect as the Spirit of Christmas. With the Dawn of Christmas Morn young hearts and old the whole world over will joyously respond to the mysterious cheer peculiar alone to the Christmas season. In all corners of the globe wherever homes are found the Spirit of Yuletide will find its way—from the squalid attic of destitution to the palatial homes of the rich.

The Spirit of Christmas knows no limitations, no fettering conventions, no barriers of caste or creed, no impartiality or pride. It is a worker of miracles the world over; a dispenser of gloom and selfishness, a harbinger of hope and happiness.

It renews the youth of the aged and gladdens the heart of youth. It gives us a stupendous example of the wonders that may be worked through kindness. It fills the world of children with boisterous delight. It softens the seared souls of those who have grown bitter against Society and corrects their distorted vision on the business of living. It melts the frigid heart of a cold world and moves millions to generous impulse. It brings back lost smiles to saddened faces, forgotten music to downcast hearts and erstwhile harmony to drab and cheerless homes.

It is the wonderful alchemy which transforms the dross of life into the gold of things worthwhile. It annihilates the ugliness of human existence and reveals the hidden beauty in every human heart.

Christmas too, is essentially a time of thankfulness and it is partly this consciousness of gratitude that makes it what it is. In Bear River we have much to be thankful for. Recent years have recorded progress in all departments of our social, religious, educational, industrial and municipal life which should inspire profound gratitude in every breast.

A few short years ago the celebration of Christmas might have seemed the cruellest irony of the age, for, as we sang of "Peace on Earth, Good-will toward Men," the familiar Christmas picture was veiled in the smoke of battle, the Christmas bells were drowned in incessant crash and thunder of the guns and the Yuletide snow was reddened with the blood of the slain. But today that is past.

A measure of peace reigns over the world. Conditions are readjusting themselves, the outlook for the future is most cheering and gives promise of even greater prosperity to come. A Kind Providence has been most lavish in His Blessings and there is every reason to be deeply grateful.

Let us try to realize this more fully as the Joyous Christmas Season approaches and let us try to remember it after the happy day is past and gone.

Let's try, the true Christmas Spirit is a spirit of Unselfishness, spontaneous Good-will and sympathetic understanding of the rights and needs of others. So let us hope that as the years come and go we will not only continue to whole-heartedly welcome the Spirit of Christmas, but honestly endeavor to retain something of its noble sentiments in our hearts the whole year.

Local and Personal

L. H. King, who has been working for the McDonald Construction Co., for the past six months, returned to his home in Horvathville, Friday.

Capt. G. M. Morris, in command of the tern schooner, Certificate Parsons, arrived home from Yarmouth, Saturday. He was accompanied by Mrs. Morris, who has been visiting friends in and around Boston.

A. C. McDonald, foreman for the MacDonald Construction Co., has completed laying the pipe line for the Bear River Pulp Co., left for his home in Halifax, Friday.

Miss Rita Annis has returned from Smith's Cove, where she has been visiting Miss Greta MacGregor.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Rantoul motored to Halifax, Saturday. They were accompanied by Mrs. W. M. Romans.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist Church was entertained at the home of Mrs. Mary Hubbard, Tuesday afternoon. Tea was served.

"The Poor Married Man," a Comedy in three acts, was given in Oakeside Hall last Thursday evening, by a company of amateurs from Annapolis Royal.

We are sorry to report the first accident which occurred Sunday at the Pulp Mill, when a workman was quite badly hurt by being caught in the machinery and fracturing his elbow.

Surprise Party

A Surprise Party and miscellaneous shower given to Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Warren on Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chipman Harris. About forty of their friends were present and gave them a genuine surprise. A jolly good time was had by all, ice cream and cake were served, and many pretty and useful gifts received.

Obituary

EPHRAIM BROOKS

The death of Ephraim Brooks, for over seventy years a resident of Weymouth and widely known throughout that section of Digby County, took place at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles Massey, in Waltham, Mass., on Wednesday. He was 80 years of age and his death followed an illness of about four months. He had always lived at Weymouth until about five years ago, when he went to make his home with his daughters in Massachusetts.

Mr. Brooks was always of a quiet, unassuming disposition, but notwithstanding was always aggressive in his calling as a farmer. He was, as a citizen, most honorable in all matters and was highly esteemed by a large circle of acquaintances.

Besides the daughter mentioned Mr. Brooks is survived by two others: Mrs. George Ennis, of St. Louis; Mrs. Anna Libby, of Waltham; also two sons: Capt. George Brooks, master of the tern schooner Westway; and Wade Brooks, of Manchester, Meas.

The remains, accompanied by his three daughters, arrived by the Prince Arthur from Boston this morning. They were forwarded by the D. A. R. to Weymouth, and the funeral took place there immediately after arrival of the train.

Pheasants For Nova Scotia

We are always very pleased to hear of any one who wishes to conserve and add to the game of our Province. In this connection we can report that General Bremner who recently purchased a very fine property at Chathamville, Annapolis Co., imported last May from his former home in England, fifty pairs of pheasants. Apparently they have taken kindly to the change as several have been seen lately on the farm of H. R. Kinney in Bear River, Digby Co. Let us hope spot hunters don't see them for a while.

Start the Week With a Smile

She always used to shake my hand
With touch as light as feather;
Last night I said I loved her and She shook me altogether.

Madam: "If I should die, dear, I want you to marry again." Monsieur:
"Why do you want that?" Madam:
"So that you will be sorry I died."

"What name?" Prison-Magistrate: "Occupaor: "Locksmith." Magis-Smith up."

A little girl returning from a visit to the barber's and referring to his use of the electric clippers on her remarked to her mother, "I know my neck was dirty
'cause he used the vacuum cleaner on it."

"When I am not well, I go to the doctor, for doctors, must live. I take his prescriptions to the chemist, for chemists must also live. When I get home I throw the medicine in the garbage pail. "Why?" "I must live also."

A well-known bishop, famous for absent-mindedness, once met an old friend on the street and stopped to talk with him. The friend suddenly assumed a puzzled expression. "Tom," he said, "when we met was the bishop's face cleared."
"It's a hunch," he said. "I had been home to lunch."

The solemnity of the meeting was somewhat disturbed when the eloquent young lecturer pictured in glowing words the sensitiveness of men who spend their evenings in clubs, leaving their wives in loneliness at home. "Think, my hearers," he said, "of a poor, neglected wife all alone in the great, dreary house, rocking the cradle of her sleeping babe with one foot and wiping away her tears with the other!"

Walking down a street in Belfast one day a gentleman saw an old Irish woman begging. As he was passing he saw she stopped him and said: "Could ye spare a copper for an old woman, sorr?" Taking pity on her, he gave her sixpence.
"God bless you sorr!" said the old woman,
"and may every hair of yer head be a candle to light you to glory." Taking off his hat and showing a bald head, the gentleman said dryly: "It won't be much of a torchlight procession, madam!"

Chara had just passed her fourth birthday, and since before his marriage her father had worn a beard. One Saturday night, moved by a whim, he told the barber to give him a clean shave. Then he went home and to bed. Next morning Chara came to visit her parents. Her mother was awake, her daddy snored.
The child was in the act of kissing her mother when her gaze fell upon her father's smooth face. Her eyes widened in astonishment. "Mummy, dear," she whispered, "who is the gentleman?"

He has sent us word to that effect. He says that he has lots of toys for good little girls and boys, but he had an awful time getting down to civilization and his reindeer were quite tired out. However, he has borrowed a big engine from the Canadian Pacific people, one of those so powerful that it pulls a heavy train between Montreal and Winnipeg in less than forty hours and he's alright now. "Don't you worry," he says, "I'll be there alright if nobody stays awake trying to catch me."

Twenty Year 4 1/2% Sinking Fund Secured Note Certificates

Date of Issue December 15, 1924.

Date of Maturity December 15, 1944.

Principal and semi-annual interest (June 15 and December 15) payable direct to holders by cheque negotiable at par at any Branch in Canada of the Bank of Montreal. Fully registered Note Certificates will be issued in denominations of $500, $500, $1,000, $1,000, and $100,000. Redeemable in whole or in part on any interest date on six weeks prior notice at 102 and interest up to and including December 15, 1925, and at a declining premium of 1/2 of 1% during each five year period thereafter.

Legal Investment for Canadian Insurance Companies.

TRUSTEE AND REGISTRAR: THE ROYAL TRUST COMPANY.

Transfers may be effected at the Registrar's offices or agencies in Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary and Vancouver.

Mr. E. W. Beatty, K.C., President of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, has summarized his letter of December 8, 1924, as follows:—

These Note Certificates will be direct obligations of the Railway Company and have priority over $93,335,254 Preference Stock and $260,000,000 Common Stock, representing an equity at present market prices of approximately $460,000,000. The Preference Stock has received 4% dividends without interruption since its issuance in 1885. The Common Stock has paid dividends continuously since 1882, with the exception of the year 1895, the rate since 1912 having been 10% per annum.

In addition they will be secured by the assignment to the Trustee, by way of security, of all unpaid purchase money or deferred payments owing or accruing due to the Railway Company in respect of lands in the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, sold or contracted to be sold by it prior to December 1, 1924. The amount due or accruing due to the Railway Company on December 1, 1924, in respect of said sales was $66,000,000. The Railway Company will covenant to pay to the Trustee all monies, both principal and interest, less expenses and taxes paid to protect the security, received by the Railway Company in respect of the said contracts. The Railway Company covenants that it will not charge the lands in respect of which such deferred payments are or shall be due, so as to prejudice in any manner the security hereby created.

All monies received by the Trustee will be utilized for the payment of interest on these Note
Certificates and thereafter as a Sinking Fund for the purchase and cancellation of these Note Certificates at the best prices obtainable up to the call price prevailing at the time of such purchase. If Note Certificates cannot be so purchased the Trustee shall redeem the Note Certificates by lot at the prevailing call price. The Railway Company will covenant that in the fourth and each succeeding year the annual amount available for the purchase of Note Certificates will be at least $300,000.

The Note Certificates will be issued under, secured by and subject to a Trust Agreement between the Railway Company and The Royal Trust Company as Trustee.

The net earnings for the last five years, after paying all fixed charges, including interest on Consolidated Debenture Stock and all other obligations, have been as follows:—

Year ending December 31, 1919	$31,320,868
" " " " 1920	32,844,083
" " " " 1921	33,169,887
" " " " 1922	33,545,140
" " " " 1923	34,899,409

Yearly interest on these Note Certificates amounts to $1,350,000. The average yearly net earnings for the last five years as above set forth amount to $33,155,873, or over 24 times annual interest requirements on these Note Certificates.

These Sinking Fund Secured Note Certificates are offered if, as and when issued and received by us, and subject to the approval of all holders of the said stocks. The Trustee Certificates in interim form or Note Certificates in definitive form will be available for delivery on or about December 30, 1924.

Christmas and New Year

It will not be long before the silvery noise of chimneys and the tuneful echoes of Christmas carols will be resounding throughout the universe carrying with them, as it were, a message of good cheer.
Christmas is considered by every Christian throughout the world as a day when worries should be cast aside, and the spirit of this festive season entered into. To many it will be a day of great joy. To others it may mean a re-awakening of pleasant memories that will leave sadness in their wake. Many do not go in for their own happiness, but strive to make this day one of real joy for others and thus derive pleasure.

In many parts of the country mother and fathers are counting the days to this great holiday when they long to see a Christmas hope realized. They recall the days gone by when their sons and daughters gathered around their festive board and their merry chatter gladdened their hearts. If they could only realize that their presence would be the greatest gift possible many would now be consulting Christmas at an old homestead. Of all times in the year when parents long for their family it is Christmas. They recall years gone by when they decorated a little tree for their baby, the toys, candy, etc. that they placed in the little stockings, the way of delight that echoed through their home in the wee small hours of the morning when the treasures were discovered; and now with memories alone Christmas at an old homestead. If the hundreds or thousands of citizens would only go back to those happy days and then put themselves in their beloved parents' place they would long since have known just what train they were going to take, how long it would be before they arrived, and the little remembrance they would take along with them.

There can be no excuse today that the distance is great and travel difficult.
The Canadian Pacific Railway with their luxuriously fitted coaches and sleeping cars, comfortably heated, and containing every convenience, can accommodate all points throughout Canada. The Canadian Pacific will get you there in good time and in good spirit.

Christmas

Some special remarks that shall be appropriate to the Christmas season, are usually expected, and that world wide holiday makes its annual approach. These remarks generally contain good advice, some moralizing, strong injunctions to be charitable, and are professedly with a description of the origin, history and observance of the festival, which has a terrible sameness and a doubtful veracity.

The enthusiasm with which we regard the approach of Christmas depends very much upon our time of life. In childhood and early life we are rapturous and count the days that intervene. In middle life this enthusiasm has pretty nearly left us, and we simulate the interest we have lost, in sympathy with our little ones, and in old age we discover that in this, as in most of our other matters, it is in vain we try to force an interest in the present, while we live in the past, our pleasures are low and flickering, our altars are low and flickering, there is no heat, and desire fails.

But there is another aspect which the Christmas season presents, when we view it as marking the central point in the history of heaven and earth, when Christ the Lord became incarnate, when He whose advent had been looked for down the dim ages of the past, whose coming had been seen in prophetic vision, and symbolized in Jewish worship, visited our earth to redeem and save mankind. In this we have a common interest, that is irrespective of age or condition. It matters not whether the day we celebrate be the correct one or not, it is sufficient that we do it in commemoration of the most important occurrence that has ever been known since the creation. It is appropriate that the season should be a joyful one. Infinite are the possibilities of happiness that by our blessed Saviour's birth and death and ascension, have been opened up, and that Peace which the angels proclaimed comes to many a sin sick soul; the "Peace which passeth all understanding."

A hundred years ago festivities which hilarity were indulged in to a greater extent than they are now.

"On Christmas eve the bells were rung; on Christmas eve the mass was sung; Then open wide the bar's hall, to vassal, tenant, serf and all. For 'twas his lord of rule aside, and ceremony doffed his pride. The heir with roses in his shoes, might any village parter choose. England, was merry England, when old Christmas brought his sports again. 'Twas Christmas eve, the night of the ale; 'twas Christmas told the merriest tale. Such Christmas gambols of would cheer a poor man's heart for half the year."

To-day our pleasures are of a simpler kind, and we are more disposed to remember its religious significance, and to recognize with grateful heart the goodness of an Almighty Father, in providing for the redemption of a lost and ruined world.

Penny For Your Thoughts

"A penny for your thoughts," how often have you heard that expression?

Very frequently, no doubt. You may expect some such a quiet rebuke from a friend when you are lost to everything about you.

Yet, how many of us waste much valuable time with "penny-for-your-thought" thinking?

It's nothing new that as a man thinks, so is he. And the more he thinks in the right channels, the better he will be able to reach the goal in life which he has set for himself. But he is selfish if he thinks only of himself and his aims. He is not a good citizen unless he shares his thoughts with the place where he lives.

And when he thinks of the community where he lives, does he think constructively or destructively? Does he see improvement and a bright future for his home town, or does he see nothing but a dark and gloomy future in his thoughts only about failure for every public act that is attempted.

and none of the latter. We want men, and women too, for that matter, who believe in Digby or in whatever community of Digby Co. they live in, who are willing to translate their thoughts into action.

Only by multiplying their number can we get ahead and win for ourselves as a town the position to which our natural advantages entitle us.

A Profitable Pastime

Boosting, like an infectious disease is "catching."

Those who boost find in it that their whole system is permeated with the spirit of boosting and that their viewpoint on every question is better.

Honest boosting is profitable. I recite favorably and brings results when everything else fails.

Boosting renders a service for the booster. It takes his mind off the petty things which occupy his attention and prevents him from developing a clear case of brain fog.

Even though it be for selfish reasons, boost and then boost some more.

And when you get the right mental attitude for boosting, take your early training in boosting for Digby. There is no better place in the world to live. We all believe that, but we don't think about it often enough.

This community which we call home may have some disadvantages. But when that idea works its way into your thoughts push it out by enumerating in your mind some of the many drawbacks of communities you know. Digby never suffers by comparison. It always will grow in your estimation if you will take a few minutes now and then to think over some of its good points.

And its disadvantages? They will disappear when we boost together as we should for its betterment.

What Do You Do Best?

A young man is undecided what trade or profession he is best fitted to train himself for. To help him make up his mind, many colleges now have "vocational guidance experts." There are similar efficiency doctors personally engineers—in private life, charging a fee, doing a big business.

The theory of these experts is that each of us has certain natural abilities. One is "cut out to be" a lawyer, doctor, dentist, carpenter, machinist, salesman, promoter, organizer and so on.

And, the experts reason, a man is apt to be a failure if he follows the wrong line.

Prof. Carl C. Brigham, psychologist, of Princeton University, attacked this theory that each of us has a highly developed gift for one kind of work and not for others. He says, for instance, that a student's inability in a certain branch is in reality a matter of distaste and emotional bias rather than natural inability.

In other words, a student is a star at mathematics because he likes it, not because he has a gift for figures.

Another shows up poorly at mathematics for the reason that he dislikes it.

The simple truth is that we do best the things we WANT to do. Why bother debating whether the inclination is generated by talent born in us?

Many a man gravitates into the legal profession, spurred by the desire to live a lawyer's life, and only secondarily urged forward by a talent for his profession.

A trade or profession, after all, is merely a means to an end. The end or goal may be wealth, power, applause, dignified standing, short hours of toil, travel, companionship, pleasant surroundings, quest for the mysterious or unknown.

We are like the average boy who at some time or other has a burning ambition to be a railroad man. What he really wants is travel. The thing you most want to do is apt to be the thing you would do best. The line of work that will enable you to live the kind of existence you crave, is where you probably should put forth your best efforts.

Simmered down, it all confirms the ancient saying that a man does his best when his heart is in his work.

Leaders In Home Comforts

The average Canadian home has more comforts and conveniences than the palaces of Europe. Home for home, the Canadian household has a well-kept look, an atmosphere of prosperity and contentment you can not find in the homes of any other country in the world.

In foreign lands the modernized dwelling as we know it is found only in limited numbers and then only in the larger cities.

In Canada, even in remote rural districts, you find pianos, vacuum cleaners, electric washing machines, up-to-date heating systems, phonographs, telephones, radios and numberless appliances that make life easier, happier and more worth while.

You may not realize it, but Canada's high standard of home life is due largely to advertising. For the development of advertising is distinctively Canadian. It has taken its place as a leading force in bringing together the interests and wants of a great, united people. And a large share of this credit is due to the newspapers.

Stop and think how many of the appliances you use, the clothes you wear, the food you eat and other articles entering into your everyday life, were popularized by newspaper advertising.

Then you will realize what a vital part advertising has played and is playing in your daily life.

ITCHING ECZEMA DRIED RIGHT UP BY THIS SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even erythema, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-

Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist.

Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema, right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement suffered from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowle's

Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like a cold cream.

Local and Personal

E. Raymond of Centerville, was in town Monday, calling on friends.

E. Trask, of Berwick, spent the weekend with his family returning on Monday.

W. Troop was a passenger to Boston on Tuesday where he intends to spend the winter.

T. Stockhouse, Yarmouth, was in town on Monday on business, returning on Tuesday.

Mrs. M. Theriault and niece, of North Range, were in town Thursday visiting relatives.

E. Ellis was a passenger to White's Cove on Wednesday where he has bought a new boat for next season.

W. J. Robbins, of Margate Harbor, C. B., arrived here Tuesday to spend the winter with relatives.

G. O. Thies accompanied by his son Carl, motored from Bridgetown on Thursday, returning the same day.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Curtis arrived from N. H. on Tuesday, having been called home owing to the illness of Miss Gertrude Curtis.

The schooner Ronald S. Longmire, Capt. Burns, was taking a cargo of lumber at the local wharf for American parties.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Barnett, Chester Street, Yarmouth, are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a son. Mr. Barnett is the representative of the Imperial Tobacco.

Radio fans again had the pleasure, on Monday and Tuesday evening, of listening in to several musical selections by Jamie Dillon, one of our own town boys, who is at present in Pittsburgh.

A very pleasant event took place at the home of Mrs. W. D. Handparker on Monday last, when a number of her friends gathered at the home to celebrate Mrs. Handparker's eighty-sixth birthday. Speeches were delivered by a number of the guests, and the aged lady was recipient of a large number of presents from her friends in different parts of Canada and the United States.

Everybody admires beautiful pictures. Everybody wants them. Every friend of yours would appreciate such a gift. There are hundreds upon hundreds of real art works to be seen at the Yates Studio, and the prices are moderate. We doubt that any other small town in Canada could offer its people desirable and artistic scenes; photographs to surprise the exhibit now shown by Paul Yates at his studio.

SULPHUR CLEARS A PIMPLY SKIN

Apply Sulphur as Told When Your Skin Breaks Out

Any breaking out of the skin on face, neck, arms or body is overcome quickly by applying Mentho-Sulphur. The pimples seem to dry right up and go away, declares a noted skin specialist. Nothing has ever been found to take the place of sulphur as a pimple remover. It is harmless and inexpensive. Just ask any druggist for a small jar of Rowle's Mentho-Sulphur and use it like cold cream.

Obituary

CHARLES WALLACE BERRY

Charles W. Berry, who passed away at The Franklin Hospital, Oct. 24, was born in Bear River Digby County, Nova Scotia, March 18, 1885, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Berry, now residing in Nova Scotia. He came to Stratton sixteen years ago. He spent his younger days in the woods as a logger, then as cook, December 1, 1910, he married Miss Alice R. Jordan and to them were born three boys, Raymond, Myron and Eddie, all of whom survive. He is also survived by his wife three brothers and five sisters, three in Western Canada, two in Nova Scotia.

They resided in Strong for about two years, thence moving to Fairbanks. There they lived for about four years. Fire destroyed the home and Mr. Berry had to begin anew. He bought the place on lower Main Street, where the family still lives. This he remodelled and improved a great deal in the last seven years.

He worked for C. W. Steele of this village for two years and won many loyal and true friends. He then engaged in the trucking business to the great satisfaction of the townspeople, who always found him punctual and accommodating.

Mr. Berry was devoted to his home and family. He was a good friend and neighbor and will be greatly missed in the community. He was kind to all and was ready to help whoever was in need. He was a member of the I. O. O. F., Elks, Canadian Legion and Farmington Grange. Funeral services were held the following Sunday afternoon at the Baptist Church, the Rev. Ralph Taylor Adam officiating. A vocal duet was rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Whitmore. Burial was in Riverside Cemetery. The provision of beautiful flowers testified to the love and esteem felt for him—Mass Exchange.

MRS. SOPHIA MORRELL

No one hears the door that opens. When they pass beyond recall: Soft as loosened leaves of rose: One by one, our loved ones fall.

Mrs. Sophia Morrell, widow of the late Capt. Morton Morrell died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. V. Perry on Sunday, December 14th, 1924, after a long illness for some months, and at times a great sufferer, but her pain was greatly alleviated by the tender loving care of her children, who were much at her bedside.

Mrs. Morrell, who was the daughter of the late Deacon Edward Spring was from childhood surrounded by Christian influences, and at a very early age gave her heart to Christ, and united with the Freeport Baptist Church.

Her whole life was one of devotion to the work of His Kingdom. Thro' the many years in which she lived in Freeport, her voice was often heard pleading with young and old, to give their hearts to the Saviour.

For nearly fifty years she was a faithful member of and an earnest worker in the local W. M. A. S. and when in later years she went to live in Sandy Cove with her son George and wife, she was made an honorary and life member of the Freeport W. M. A. S. society.

She leaves six children, twenty-four grandchildren who will mourn their loss and miss her presence.

Her husband pre-deceased her about thirty-one years ago.

Many friends in different places will hear of her passing with deep regret.

The funeral took place from the home of W. V. Perry and was conducted by Rev. P. Hamilton. Many friends assembled to show respect to Mrs. Morrell, and the W. M. A. S. Society walked in a body from the house to the church.

ALBERT TREVOY

The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon at the late Albert Trevoy of Bloomfield, with interment in the family lot in Burdett cemetery. Rev. Mr. Nunes, of

Women's Institute Is There A Santa Claus?

(From the New York Sun of September 21, 1897.)

We take pleasure in answering at once and thus promoting the communication before, expressing at the same time our great gratification that its faithful author is numbering among the friends of The Sun.

"Dear Editor:—

"I am 8 years old.

"Some of my little friends say

"there is no Santa Claus.

"Papa says 'If you see it in The Sun, it's so.'

"Please tell me the truth: Is there a Santa Claus?

"VIRGINIA O'HANLON,

"115 West Ninety-Fifth Street."

Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the scepticism of a sceptical age. They do not believe except they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little. In this great universe of ours man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus. It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childish faith then, no poetical romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas Eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real thing in the world is those that neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world.

You may tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there's a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance, can push aside that curtain and view the picture the supernatural beauty and glory beyond. It is all real! Ah, Virginia, in all the world there is nothing else so real as this.

No Santa Claus! Thank God! he lives, and he lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, may, ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood.

THEY BASK IN MID-WINTER SUNSHINE

Why pick on me?" says the little fellow, "there are many other things which can interest you and hold your attention. And so there are, but after all the native life of the 'Isles of the Biscas' is worth a little study, is it not? Take this little Jamaican for instance. If you took away his shirt and broom handle you would not leave him much other than a full tummy, yet he is a British subject, and as such has an opportunity of becoming—well, of doing pretty well for himself and of gathering enough of this world's substance to give him comfort at least in his later years. He will grow up in a ramshackle hut on the edge of the town maybe, and learn to be jealous of his rights as a citizen; and when he comes to the age of understanding he will feel he will, in all probability, speak at least two 'English' languages. In one of these he might improve you to buy his fruits or lace bark souvenirs of as foreign as any you will meet with in your tour of the West Indies, but if you listen intently enough you will catch an 'I' and an 'an' or a 'Yes'; then gradually your ear will be able to distinguish all the words and you will wonder that you could not understand the dialect. They are interesting, those people. Watch them as they swarm around your cruising vessel docked in Kingston harbor, in their tub-like canoes, and dive deep into the water for your coppers. They are a different people in every sense of the word. Participants in the cruises to the West Indies by the Canadian Pacific S.S. Montreuil in January and February next will be afforded every opportunity to study the various peoples with whom they come in contact and will return with at least a few impressions and a better understanding of them. No matter how different they may be, they are never forgetful. This is especially true of the British process. If one would really get to the heart of these people he dare not patronize them. If he does this he only finds the type that he expects to find.

Deep Brook

Mrs. James Dittmars entertained the Dorcas Society on Wednesday Dec. 10th, afternoon and evening. This proved to be one of the most enjoyable meetings of the season. Sixteen were present at supper, Mr. and Mrs. McNaught, of Bear River, were special guests. It was learned at the supper hour that Mr. and Mrs. Dittmars were celebrating their thirtieth wedding anniversary and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Vroom their fifth anniversary. Miss E. A. McClelland on behalf of the society, extended congratulations and best wishes.

Miss Florence Dunn of Bear River spent the week end with her friend, Miss Irene Rice.

The many friends of Miss Gertrude Curtis, who has been very ill for two weeks, will be happy to know that she is resting comfortably. There is good hope now that she will recover.

Ouch! Aching Joints,
Rub Rheumatic Pain

Rub Pain right out with small trial bottle of old
"St. Jacobs Oil."

Rheumatism is "pain" only. Not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Stop dragging! Rub "St. Jacobs Oil" into your sore, stiff, aching joints, and relief comes instantly. "St. Jacobs Oil" is a heretofore unrecognized liniment which never disappoints and cannot burn the skin. Linger up! Quit complaining! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, and stop a moment yourself from rheumatic pain, soreness and stiffness. Don't suffer! Relief awaits you. "St. Jacobs Oil" is just as good for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, backache, sprains.

Here and There

Of the 20,000 harvesters who went west this summer over Canadian Pacific Lines, 14,000 are known to have returned east, according to C. B. Foster, Passenger Traffic Manager, Canadian Pacific Railway, and it is thought that many others have returned, while several thousand are believed to have accepted positions in the west for the winter.

An indication of the increase in the value of exports being brought into Canada by shippers from the United States is shown in the latest report to the Department of Trade and Commerce. From April 1 to September 30, exports so classified were valued at $3,129,333, as compared with $2,666,467 in the same period last year, an increase of $462,866.

A feature which will add greatly to the attractions of Vancouver, B.C., as a winter resort, to say nothing of increasing its summer attractions, will be the new golf course to be laid out there at a cost of $120,000, exclusive of land. Work on the course will commence next spring. Fees will be merely nominal, fifty cents being charged for an 18-hole round, $2.50 for a season's play and $40 for a year. Play will be open to any member of the public.

Immigrants entering Canada during the 12 months ending October 31, 1924, totalled 124,189, as compared with 126,744 in the corresponding period of 1923-1924, according to the Department of Immigration and Colonization. These figures are more encouraging in view of the fact that the number of Canadians emigrating to the United States has to some extent increased, while the number returning from the United States is on the increase, according to the department.

On November 29th, Hon. Marguerite Shaughnessy, daughter of the late Lord Shaughnessy, chairman of the Canadian Pacific Railway, performed the launching and christening ceremony at the Clydebank yards of John Brown and Co. when the new Canadian Pacific S.S. Princess Marguerite, named in her honor, was slipped into the water. The Princess Marguerite is the second of the two vessels recently ordered by the Canadian Pacific for the company's British Columbia coastal service.

An entirely new service between Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg, operating on the fastest schedule yet established for these cities, was inaugurated by the Canadian Pacific Railway on December 4. The new train, leaving Montreal at 6.15 p.m. daily, and Toronto at 9.45 p.m. daily, reaches Winnipeg at 9 a.m., 39 hours, 45 minutes after leaving Montreal and 36 hours 15 minutes after leaving Toronto. Express shipments are especially benefitted, as shipments reach the terminal cities in time for delivery on the second day after leaving, instead of on the third as formerly. Passengers gain a business day and earlier connections for more distant points, as reaching the train of this service connects direct with the Frontenac for Quebec city, passengers and express bound for that point also gain greatly by reduced time.

An Ideal Gift

HERE is one Christmas gift which you can order with the certainty that it will be gratefully appreciated. It's a year's subscription to the old home paper, The Digby Courier. Such a gift means not only the passing thrill on Christmas morning but a pleasant reminder of the giver, renewed week by week throughout the year.

The pleasure derived from the gift itself is enhanced by the delightful method of announcing it. In the Christmas mail the recipient will receive from the publishers a beautiful card, bearing your name and stating that the subscription has been ordered for the succeeding year.

The subscriptions will begin with the first issue after Christmas—your announcement card will arrive in the Christmas mail. If you should send in the name of a present subscriber, your gift will be entered to extend the present subscription and the subscriber notified of the extra period of enjoyment in store for him.

New Issue By C. P. R. Is Made Available In Canadian Market

Company Decides to Invite Dominion Investors to Take its Securities

An official announcement was issued following a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway of the issuance by the company of $30,000,000 4 1/2 per cent. note securities, secured by deferred payments on lands.

Following is the statement as sent out from the office of President E. W. Beatty: "The company is not short of funds by any means, its bank account being of very comfortable proportions, but it has for many years been the company's policy to maintain a strong position in its cash resources, and, considering the magnitude of the enterprise, this is manifestly prudent. Works of improvement in contemplation to provide for its traffic and for the betterment of existing facilities will require a considerable sum in the near future, and to meet these expenditures and to provide ample working capital for other purposes the directors of the company have decided to make an issue of note securities in much the same way as was adopted in 1914, save that the issue will be of a public character instead of being restricted to participation by its own shareholders.

"In the belief that more extensive holding of the company's securities in Canada is desirable from all standpoints, the company has sold the issue to a strong Canadian financial group consisting of the Bank of Montreal, the National City Company, the Royal Bank of Canada, the Canadian Bank of Commerce, the Dominion Securities Corporation, Wood, Gundy & Company, and A. E. Ames & Company.

"Already a very wide distribution is assured at a price to the public which will make it an attractive investment. It was quite open to the company to secure the requisite funds in the United States on terms equally favorable, but in view of the interest in the company's securities by Canadian investors, as evidenced by the increase in the holdings of its common stock and bonds, the directors were led to be able to make the issue a Canadian one."

"These 4 1/2 per cent Secured Notes are one of the highest grade and most thoroughly protected securities ever offered in the Canadian market. They are a direct credit obligation of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, and in addition are specifically secured by Trust Agreement, under which the Railway covenants to pay to the trustee the payments coming due to the Railway Company totalling approximately $60,000,000.

"This offering is the largest single piece of corporate financing ever undertaken in Canada. Prior to the present year, all Canadian Pacific Railway financing has been done abroad, principally in Great Britain or in United States, in which markets the company's securities rank as market leaders. For example, in 1902 the company's 4 per cent. debenture stock sold in London at 118 3/8, to yield only 3 3/4 per cent at a time when direct Dominion of Canada long term bonds were selling at approximately the same basis.

"Following upon the success of the Dominion Government in refunding its maturing War Loan issues in the domestic market, the Canadian Pacific Railway Company issued $12,000,000 Collateral Trust Bonds in the spring of the present year. Although new to the average Canadian investor, these Bonds quickly reached a price comparable to the price of Dominion of Canada Victory Loan Bonds. It is not surprising, therefore, that the company has arranged to offer this larger issue in Canada. The offering is timely, inasmuch as the Dominion Government issued on 15,000,000 of long term bonds to replace $107,000,000 of maturing Victory Bonds, and it is evident that there is available the large sums of money whose owners desire the highest grade of security. The present offering of Canadian Pacific Railway securities will meet these requirements.

It is expected that the issue will be quickly absorbed by all classes of investors.
