THE DIGBY WEEKLY COURIER

TERMS:—$1.50 per Year in Advance. Single Copies, 4 cents.

DIGBY, NOVA SCOTIA, FRIDAY, JULY 3, 1931

VOLUME LVII, NO. 48

WHO'S WHO

Hon Wm. Atkinson

BRITISH COLUMBIA's Provincial Committee of the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference is headed by Hon. William Atkinson, who holds the agricultural portfolio in the government of the Pacific Coast Province.

Mr. Atkinson is a native of Ontario, having been born at Whitby in 1858. He was educated in the public schools of Whitby and Seaforth.

When Hon. S. F. Tolmie was called upon to head the government of British Columbia he invited Mr. Atkinson to his cabinet as Minister of Agriculture. Mr. Atkinson had been elected to the Legislature in July of 1928 for the Chilliwack constituency and was sworn in as a member of the government a month or so later, being re-elected by acclamation.

Discouraging Outlook for the Fishermen

Great quantities of hake are being caught in these waters, and are bringing the shore fishermen the lowest price in years—30 cents a hundred weight—and even at that low price they are not wanted. There are approximately one quarter of a million pounds of last year's dried hake still in the wholesale fish warehouses of Digby Neck, and no market for them, due to conditions in Brazil and Cuba, where the bulk of these fish are sold. At least one fish dealer has refused to take any hake this season. At this rate the fishermen are barely netting expenses in what the Courier is informed that no shore fisherman can "make wages" unless he gets at least 60 cents per hundredweight for his hake. The price for haddock (which are not very plentiful) is a little better, although very low, namely, $1.25 per hundredweight.

Manhattan Opens Under New Management

The Manhattan Hotel, one of the finest hotel properties in Digby, opened Wednesday, under the management of G. H. Churchill, former principal of the Digby schools. This large hotel is situated on Montague Row and commands one of the finest views of the historic Annapolis Basin. Mr. Churchill has had some experience in the hotel business, and last year was assistant manager of the Lour Lodge. His head waitress, Miss Moses, of Darling's Lake, Yarmouth County, has had a wide experience in this work in hotels in Florida and the White Mountains. Mr. Churchill has several tours booked for the summer and is looking forward to a busy season.

Ross C. Smallis has moved from the "Dunham Building" so called, to the MacGregor store a little further along Water St.

Rev. Father Nio, of Montreal, was a visitor in town on Wednesday, en route to Church Point, where he will remain for two weeks. Father Nio was professor of music on the staff of St. Anne's College, twenty years ago, and this is his first visit to Church Point since that time.

Mrs. Sarah Cossaboom was recently presented with a very nice picture of the old trees on the Digby Golf course, by Miss Harriet Campbell, on behalf of the young ladies' class of the Digby United Baptist Sunday School. Mrs. Cossaboom taught the class last winter, during the absence of the regular teacher, Mrs. H. T. Warne.

Former Digby M. P. and Son Killed

Hurled a score of feet from their wrecked automobile by the speeding Edmonse express, Avaril L. Davidson, K. C., former member of the House of Commons for this constituency, and one of the most prominent citizens of the Valley, and his only son, Herbert, were instantly killed at Stoddart's Crossing, near Lawrencetown, on Wednesday at noon. Mrs. Davidson, the only other occupant of the car, was badly injured, her skull possibly fractured, and she lies in the Middleton Hospital in a critical condition.

The machine in which they were riding was completely demolished, and a moment after the crash, which tossed the occupants clear, it burst into flames.

Kiwanis Club May Be Formed in Digby

Sponsored by the Halifax Kiwanis Club, a branch club of Kiwanis International may be formed in Digby. The preliminary steps were taken on Tuesday evening under the direction of Field Service Representative Walter Ingram, of Chicago. Before the Club can be an assured fact there must be at least twenty-five members—but it is hoped to get the necessary number shortly. However a temporary organization was effected with the following officers:

President—M. C. Denton, contractor.
Vice-President—T. E. G. Lynch, bond broker.

Secretary—H. J. Campbell, electrical superintendent.
Treasurer—R. H. Lockward, bank manager.

Directors—Dr. W. R. Dickie, physician and surgeon; F. L. Anderson, assistant manager; E. J. Theriault, lawyer; G. V. Turnbull, dentist; G. Morrell, garage proprietor; A. J. Dillon, merchant; W. J. Agate, hotel proprietor.

More About the Gore Road

To the Editor of the Courier:—Sir—Permit me to make as brief and as satisfactory an explanation of the activities of a few in reference to the efforts of such who were anxious to make the Shore Road passable for travel of all kinds. For the information of "A Reader," whose article appears in the recent issue of the Courier, in which it is suggested that various road officials or the County Council should wake up, I may say that either two or three years ago, I circulated a petition which was signed by nearly every influential person in the Town of Digby, and from the County, including merchants, garage owners, taxi drivers, hotel proprietors, and many others—a very lengthy petition—urging that the Highways Department of Nova Scotia make that beautiful road passable. The petition met with great favor because everyone seemed to realize that the opening of that piece of scenic beauty would be a great asset to the county at large. The most beautiful drive in Nova Scotia would be offered to all who wished to take that advantage; more building sites would be sold, and more homes would be built. The petition was also supported by the C.P.R., who would, I feel sure, have contributed in some way, to make the plan go over. I understand that the Minister of Highways made a trip over that road after the petition was sent in. Later I was informed in an indirect way that the road would be repaired.

We waited, and waited, and waited—and are still waiting—for action to follow the petition that was sent with all earnestness and good faith.

Jas. F. Hillman
Question—Why is Moore's Tea the most popular tea among the people of Nova Scotia?
Answer—Because it has great strength and delicious flavor and in addition it is thick luscious and of rich color in the cup.

William Raymond had the first lot of local cherries on the market yesterday—July 2—the earliest on record. They were the "Governor Wood" variety and were taken from Miss Agatha Stewart's trees. The 7th is the earliest he has ever had them before this year.

Personal Mention

Capt. Fred Snow spent the week end in Digby.

Ross Harlow was a passenger to Saint John on Monday.

Mrs. Maurice Webber is spending a few weeks in Boston.

E. R. Gaudet and R. Comeau, of Weymouth, were in town on business, on Thursday.

Mrs. Jack Uhl and daughter, Betty, of Huntington, W. Va., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Milberry.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Syda arrived from Boston on Saturday to spend the next two weeks with relatives here.

Miss Jennie MacDonald, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. MacDonald, returned to Boston on Saturday.

Rev. Father Quinlan, of Halifax, was a visitor in town on Monday, accompanied by Rev. Father Murphy, of Annapolis Royal.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester MacMahon, of Boston, arrived Monday and are the guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. MacMahon.

HOSPITAL NOTES

The Ladies' Hospital Aid acknowledges with thanks the following donations forwarded to the Hospital:

One child's crib, one crib mattress, two flannellette crib blankets, one wool crib blanket, two crib spreads, one teddy bear put—contributed by the pupils of the five lower rooms of the Digby school.

One bedspread, contributed by Mrs. Gilbert Ellis.

One pair bath towels, one pair flannellette blankets, one pair baby's flannellette blankets, contributed by Mrs. James Handspliker, Culloden.

The Hospital Sewing Circle was entertained on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. L. Smith. There will be no circle next week owing to the picnic to be held on Wednesday.

Summer Home Is Totally Destroyed

A two and a half storey summer house, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Powers, of New Jersey, situated opposite Lour Lodge, was totally destroyed by fire on Sunday evening. When the fire was discovered it had obtained a strong hold on the upper floor. The firemen worked desperately to save the home but were unsuccessful. None of the contents of the upstairs rooms was saved, but almost everything was removed from downstairs in a moment or less damaged property was insured.

Extending Service In Digby County

Work was commenced Friday to open up a trail along the Henry Robichaud road to enable the Evangeline Mutual Telephone Co. to extend their line to Hecatanova and to Mayflower. Steps are also being taken to extend the line to Richfield as the people there are very anxious for a telephone service.

WEDDINGS

Goodwin-Morehouse.
The marriage of Miss Stella Morehouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Morehouse, of Sandy Cove, and sister of Miss Margaret Morehouse, of Granville Ferry, to Lawrence Goodwin, of Upper Granville, took place at the United Church parsonage, Granville Ferry, on Sunday, with Rev. G. T. Bryant, officiating. Mr and Mrs. Goodwin will reside at Upper Granville.

In the list of pupils of Grade V, who were successful in passing at the recent examinations the name of Ruth MacCullough was omitted: Her marks were 64.1.

There are a few tourists in town, but judging from our country correspondence quite a number of summer visitors have arrived in the county.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Sarah R. McFadden—There passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. Frank McClelland, Deep Brook, on Monday evening, Mrs. Sarah Rebecca McFadden, at the age of 87 years and 8 months. Deceased was the daughter of the late James Hogan and Sarah (McNeil) Hogan, and was born at Albany, Annapolis County. She moved to Bear River as a young girl, and spent the greater part of her life there. It was in that town that her late husband passed away fifteen years ago. For the last ten years she has resided with her daughter. The funeral services were conducted on Wednesday afternoon, by Rev. H. W. Habel, assisted by Rev. A. A. MacLeod, of the United Baptist church, of Bear River, of which church she became a member while Rev. G. D. Cox was pastor.

Freeman Bell—Freeman Bell, one of the oldest and most respected residents of Marshalltown, passed away on June 23rd. Mr. Bell, who was in his 85th year, was born in Acadiaville, and later removed to Marshalltown, where he engaged in farming. He is survived by one son, Otis Bell, with whom he lived; one daughter, Mrs. Corning Woodworth, North Easton, Mass.; also three stepsons, Will and Charles McNeill, of Waltham, Mass., and George McNeill, of Connecticut; also one step daughter, Mrs. Leroy Krom, of Martinez, California. His wife predeceased him nine months ago. The funeral took place last Friday, with interment in the Baptist cemetery at Hill Grove, the Rev. F. E. Bishop conducting the services.

Mrs. Cordelia Morse—The death of Mrs. Cordelia Morse, widow of the late Leander Morse, occurred in the Digby General Hospital, late Wednesday afternoon. The late Mrs. Morse was, before her marriage, Miss Upper, of Annapolis County. She is survived by one son, Frank, a professor at Columbia University, and one daughter, Mrs. Clarke (Louise) of New York. Mrs. Clarke is expected home today. The late Mrs. Morse only returned home about a week ago, after spending the winter in Reno, Cal. and New York. The interment will be at Bridgetown tomorrow afternoon. There will be a short service in Trinity church tomorrow morning.

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Letteney—The death of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Letteney (75) occurred at the home of Arch. Bremner, Lighthouse Road, on Sunday, June 28th. The deceased was the daughter of the late Neil MacNeil and Sarah (Thomas) McNeil, of North Range. Interment was in Fairview cemetery on Tuesday afternoon. Rev. Reginald Roach, of Annapolis Royal, officiating.

THE DENTAL ASSOCIATION

A meeting of the Western Counties Dental Association was held at Weymouth on Friday last, with fifteen members present. The meeting was called to order by the president, Dr. Harlow, of Bridgetown. The general order of business was carried out, and the following officers were elected:

President—Dr. Taylor, of Yarmouth.
Secretary-Treasurer—Dr. Turnbull, of Digby.
Executive Officers—Dr. Melanson and Anthony, Yarmouth; and Dr. A. F. Hogan, Weymouth.

Dr. Melanson, of Yarmouth read a very interesting paper on "Ancient and Modern Dentistry," which was greatly appreciated.

A motion regretting the death of Dr. E. S. Allen, Yarmouth, one of the most active members of the Association, was passed.

An enjoyable dinner followed, after which the session closed with the singing of "All Be Happy Till We Meet Again."

Several of the members were accompanied by their wives who were entertained during the afternoon at a bridge party, by Miss Grace Bridget. The prize winners were: Mrs. (Dr.) Taylor, Yarmouth, first, and Mrs. (Dr.) Melanson, of Yarmouth, consolation.

WESTPORT

THE HOME TOWN PAPER

The merchant's relations to his home town newspaper are supposed to be of an advertiser. That is a narrow view. The home town newspaper is an institution. The merchant can no more escape its influence than anybody else in the community, whether he advertises in it or not.

Yet as a consistent advertiser his relations with the local newspaper become definitely constructive. He becomes a part of this institution without which no community can express itself. Whatever its merits or demerits, the home town paper is an expression of the community.

Literally, it is the voice of the people, in a sense that cannot hold true of any other medium.

This institution keeps them in touch with friends. To the best of its ability it answers Who, What, When, Where, How and Why? It brings the individual out of himself. It speaks the local language. It interprets community life. Week by week it tells the story of the town and county.

Most of us are so accustomed to the town paper that we take it as a matter of course. If we think anything about it at all, we think of its deficiencies. These are present largely because it is run by fallible human beings. The wonder about the town paper is that it contains so few mistakes—not so many.

To the merchant especially, the home town paper is an opportunity. His business, too, is a local institution. Unless it finds some kind of expression in the home town paper, both the paper and the business have, to an important extent, failed to function. Each is affected somewhat by every successive failure in the other.

It does not cost a great deal of money to advertise in the local paper. Most advertisers are over-judicious, rather than extravagant. It is the continual message that counts most. Sporadic advertisements, now, then, are of doubtful value. Perhaps they are better than no advertising at all. Every advertisement placed by a business house should blend into every other advertisement it places. The merchant should think in terms of a campaign rather than in terms of the single insertion.

Vast progress has been made in advertising within recent years. Outstanding examples of it are to be found in the national field. Locally, however, advertising has much room for development. Aside from some who have found advertising pays the average merchant in the small town gives too little study to the power of advertising.

But conditions are changing. More and more, merchants are coming to realize that they are losing money and prestige when they are not to be found in the advertising columns of the home town paper. This is one of the healthiest signs in the field of advertising.

A NOBLE OCCUPATION

(Listowell Banner)

The family which possesses a piece of land and will work it so that it will produce the things they must have to sustain life, is vastly better off than the general run of population of the towns and cities, even though they may not be out of employment now. It has been a long, hard pull lately for the farmers, but they are not without something with which to pull, as is the unhappy condition of the unemployed in the cities.

And that is the reason why the people of the agricultural districts are the most substantial citizens of Canada. Producing their living from the soil with the aid of Mother Nature, the farmers are as near to complete independence as it is possible to attain.

Farming is one occupation in which the individual may still engage on his own account, and thus provide a home and employment with the reasonable assurance of some return for himself and family.

THE BRITISH EMPIRE

Admiral of the Fleet, Earl Jellicoe, who succeeded the late Earl of Mearns as president of the Empire Day Movement, recently issued a message in which he referred to the difficult and weighty problems confronting the Empire today, and expressed the hope that the people would face problems with true sympathy and comradeship. The Empire, he concluded, stands for all that is good in the modern world, so let us be worthy of our destiny. The Empire for which Earl Jellicoe speaks is a monumental institution. In this connection some fact may be quoted in proof from the seventh and revised edition of "The Wonderful British Empire," a pamphlet compiled by Rev. Alexander Sharpe, St. Barnabas, Plymouth, England. On the cover it is declared that the proudest boast a man can make today is, "I am a citizen of the British Empire."

The Rev. Mr. Sharpe then proceeds to furnish facts, some of which may astonish the person who accepts membership in the Empire as a matter of course. It is declared that the British Empire is the greatest political pact and the most extensive empire the world has ever seen. Its area is 14,000,000 square miles, or one quarter of the earth's surface, and it has a total population of 450,000,000.

During the last sixty years it has increased by about 4,000,000 square miles. Its states and provinces are found on every continent and in every ocean. Canada alone is nearly as large as all Europe, and of the Empire's area, about 8,000,000 square miles represent new lands. These new lands have 20,000,000 inhabitants and could sustain 300,000,000. The Empire is the largest land-owner on the continent of Africa, in the Eastern Hemisphere, and in the Western Hemisphere; it owns more land in Central America than any other non-Central-American country, and the same may be said of South America. Its population, in fact, constitutes a quarter of mankind, including more races, languages and religions than any other empire that ever existed.

In the matter of natural wealth, it is pointed out that the greatest wheat areas are in Canada, and that Quebec province is the world's chief producer of asbestos and mica, while Ontario surpasses every province and state of every country in the world in the production of precious metals. Reference is likewise made to the coalfields of Nova Scotia, British Columbia and Alberta, and other Canadian resources. These are but a few of the things that Rev. Mr. Sharpe points out as something to be proud of in an Empire that holds most of the great "gates" of the world, such as Gibraltar, Suez, Aden, Singapore, and Quebec. His conclusion is that wherever the Empire's flag flies, there is the British citizen's country. "The Crown binds the Empire—not the Homeland Parliament."

ANGLING AMENITIES

(Meaford Mirror)
A day on a trout stream is hard to beat. Away from the anxieties and bothers of everyday life one has time to relax, to ease up, to let the springs down a little. Then the joys of hospitality and good fellowship are not purchasable or saleable, and the angler, like the Arab, believes in hospitality and practices it. He may not be willing to hand over his own particular rod, but if a fly or two, or something of that kind is wanted, it is invariably forthcoming. Henry Vanduyke wrote:

This is not a proud desire of mine.

I seek for nothing superfluous.

No heavy weight, no salmon great.

To break the record of my line.

Only a trout or two to dart.

From foaming pools to try my art;

No more I'm wishing old fashioned fishing.

And just a day on nature's heart.

Trust in Providence; be quiet and go a-angling.

Thought for the Week

Said the sparrow to the robin,

I should really like to know

Why these restless human beings

Rush about and worry so.

Said the robin to the sparrow,

Friend, I think that it must be

That they have no Heavenly Father,

Such as cares for you and me.

Edmonton's land sales for the first quarter this year amounted to $15,000 more than for the same period last year.

Seven years later a company cavating begun. As before bulheads were found at every ten feet. The flooring laid 93 feet below the surface was covered with a layer of coconut husks, and on top of it a large

Buried Treasure

"Buried Treasure"—the very words are romantic. Who among us is so unromantic that the words "buried treasure" or "pirates' gold" do not bring a desire to unearth a chest full of lost "doubloons" or "pieces of eight" and live a life of ease and pleasure ever after?

A few years ago two thousand dollars in twenty-dollar gold pieces were dug up on an Alabama farm. It was a cache of treasure made during the Civil War by the owner of the farm. After his death no one knew where to look for the buried gold. But years after one of his sons, going over old papers, found a key to the location, and a gang was set to work digging. They worked for a week before finding the buried boundary stake, but at last discovered it, and then dug up an old powder can filled with gold pieces.

Take the stern and forbidding coast line of our own Maritime Provinces, whose bays and coves are traditionally full of buried treasure, legends about which have been handed down from generation to generation. Perhaps the foremost of all is the one about Oak Island, in Mahone Bay, near Chester, which has commanded the money and time of hard headed business men for more than a century and a quarter, and which has recently had the quest renewed with more capital and greater vigor than ever before. One of our Weymouth boys is among those who have been employed there. Through the development of hydro in the past thirty years, much has been learned relating to the science of hydraulics, and it is now claimed that the recovery of the treasure believed to be hidden at Oak Island, offers no obstacles that technical engineering cannot overcome.

Those who have made a study of the piracy of the North Atlantic suggest that the booty there probably represents the fruits of several successful raids on Spanish treasure ships bound from Mexico and South America to Spain. They mention Sir Francis Drake's famous voyage of circumnavigation, in which he captured the Spanish ship, "Cacafuego" off the Yucatan Peninsula, which yielded fifty-five tons of silver and eighty pounds of gold, also jewels and plate.

Lynn C. Doyle, in a recent number of Macdonald's Magazine, tells in a most interesting manner of the work having been done there in previous years. In his story he tells us "that the first known discovery of anything being buried there was made by three young men, named Smith, McGinnis and Vaughn, in 1795. They discovered a clearing with a sunken spot in the earth directly beneath a stately oak tree, which bore markings that nature had failed to heal, despite the many years that had elapsed. They secured equipment and started excavating and then discovered that they were working in a well defined shaft of about 8 feet diameter. The walls were of hard blue clay which showed the original pick and shovel markings. Ten feet down they struck a flooring of heavy oak planks, which was repeated at every ten feet of depth; after excavating thirty feet they were compelled to give it up as it necessitated a larger working force. The natives refused to lend their aid as they thought that the place was haunted.

Seven years later a company was originated and further excavating begun. As before bulheads were found at every ten feet. The flooring laid 93 feet below the surface was covered with a layer of coconut husks, and on top of it a large flat stone on which it is said certain characters or hieroglyphics were chiselled. This was found at knocking off time so it was left until morning for any further excavating. During the night the tidal water broke through and filled the shaft so the enterprise was again abandoned.

In 1849 another company was formed, and considerable work was done. They discovered five stoned drains leading from the bay to a shaft filled with loose rock under a blanket of coconut husks, topped by a bed of sand; considerable work was undertaken at great expense and risk of life, but was destroyed by the equinoctial gale. Further funds not being available, work at the cove was abandoned and drilling begun in the money pit. At 98 feet the auger penetrated spruce five inches thick, then dropped twelve inches and went through four inches of oak, then through twenty-two inches of metal in pieces, but failed to bring any of the metal to the top excepting three gold links resembling an ancient watch chain. It then went through eight inches of oak thought to be the bottom of the first box, and the top of the next; then through 22 inches of oak, as before; then four inches of oak and six inches of spruce, and on into clay for seven feet without striking anything else. A collapse of the cribbing, the submerged timbers of which greatly hampered the work of drilling, caused this undertaking to be abandoned.

The next work while attempt was made in 1896, when a large amount of work was done. The drilling this time discovered at 126 feet wood and iron; 138 feet, iron, 157 feet, seven inches of cement and five inches of oak and a small fragment of parchment, which upon microscopic examination was discovered to be sheepskin parchment, with the letter "w" or "u" on it with India ink and a quill pen; at 171 feet they came upon iron which could not be penetrated, and so, after four years of strenuous effort, they, too, were forced to give up.

It is claimed that in all seven containers or chests containing metal in pieces have been bored through, in the money pit. Interesting stories? Yes! It is exciting to read of finding treasures, but even as we read thrilling accounts like that we may be neglecting a greater treasure hidden close at hand. Hidden treasure is one of the commonest things of life, but unfortunately most of it is rarely, if ever, found, because it is never hunted for.

Thomas Edison had an enormous treasure hidden in his brain, when, only a young boy, he set out to cultivate it and he has added millions and millions to the world's resources by his inventions, and made living more comfortable for us all. Woodworth thought of the idea of the ten-cent store to aid those of small means to buy what they most needed; he kept on despite the laughter and derision of others. In time he reached a large treasure—the great Woolworth building in New York stands as a memorial of his success. Mary Roberts Rhinehart, while a young nurse, was sure that she had a treasure in her brain. She started to write and as she dug deeper and deeper she discovered more and more. Today we all know her books and she is still writing, and a larger and larger circle are becoming delighted with her books. Perhaps we say that we cannot all have such treasures as these. True; but these are only three examples taken at random—there are hundreds more. Every person who resolves to find treasures will do so if they persevere. It may not be what they have imagined but it will be treasure. In every life there is much that is individual and worth while, if it is only developed. Who knows what treasure may be hidden in the next field.

A man catching a fish is not new news, but a fish is not new news, but a fish catching man rates a big time here. This happened at Lake Minniewanka, near Banff, recently when a fisherman was pulled off the pier into the lake by the sudden strike of a monster trout. Constable James of Calgary put off in costume and landed both fish and fisherman.

Six days, nine hours and eleven minutes was the time of the record run of the "Empress of Japan," 22,000-ton flagship of the Canadian Pacific fleet, on his last trip from Yokohama to Honolulu, while a double record was made when the same ship completed the voyage from Honolulu to Victoria in four days, nine hours and 16 minutes.

For the second time in the past three years, Canadian Pacific Railway police are all-Canada revolver champions. The railway's Ontario team, defeated the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, of Lethbridge, in the finals for the trophy recently. The railway police scored 1410 out of a possible 1200 against the Mounties 1352 thus becoming Dominion Open Revolver Police Champions.

WEDDINGS

Davies-Morehouse

The United Baptist church at Little River was the scene of a very pretty wedding on the morning of June 25, when Miss Eunice Arlene Morehouse became the bride of Chesterton Davies, of Clarence. The church was beautifully adorned for the occasion. Banks of fern, wiggle, asyria and potted plants made a lovely background of pink, white and green, for the bridal party as they entered the church and took their places under a floral arch, as the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin was rendered by Mrs. John Thask. Among the out of town guests were Mrs. J. M. Davies, of Clarence, mother of the groom; also his sister, Miss Gertrude Davies, of New York; Miss Lola Marshall, of Bridgetown; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wheelock, Miss Mildred Wheelock and Fred Parker, of Clarence; John Rand, of Middleton; Mrs. Shannon Raymond and Mrs. Archie Hersey, of Centerville; Mr. and Mrs. Edie MacKay, of Sandy Cove; and Mrs. Arthur Harris, of East Ferry.

BEAR RIVER EAST

Miss Dorothy Fish, of Princesdale, spent the week end at the home of Mrs. Richard VanBuskirk.

Mrs. Mary E. Milner is visiting friends at Clementsvalle.

Mrs. Fred Ruggles, of Clementsvalle, was a recent guest of her sister, Mrs. Ashford Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Rosenkrantz, Mrs. Otto Long and son, Lewis, Malcolm Baxter and Mrs. Delbert Wagner and two children, spent Sunday at the Elli House.

Charles Rosenkrantz is laid up with a cut knee.

Miss Mildred Dukeshire is a guest of Miss Ida Berry, Victory.

Mrs. William Alcorn, of Bear River, is visiting her niece, Mrs. Arthur Jefferson.

Last Friday night, being stormy, there was no Mite Society. It will be at Mrs. A. S. Jefferson's next Friday night, and a ten-cent tea will be served.

Mrs. Charles VanBuskirk has moved to Bear River for the summer months, and Miss Lucy VanBuskirk has gone to the Millford House for the season.

Mrs. John Simpson and daughter, Edith, of Victory, were recent guests of Mrs. Ashford Robinson.

More than seventy carloads of rhubarb have been shipped this season from the Okanagan district of British Columbia to Prairie points, making it the record movement in many years.

THE THINGS THAT COUNT

Now, dear, it isn't the bold things. Great deeds of valor and might, That count the most in the summing of life at the end of the day. But it is the doing of odd things. Small acts that are just and right. And doing them over again and again, no matter what others say. In smiling at fate when you want to cry, and in keeping at work when you want to play—Dear, those are the things that count.

And dear, it isn't the new ways. Where the wonder seekers crowd. That lead us into the land of content, or help us to find our own. But it is keeping to true ways. Though the music is not so loud. And there may be many a shadowed spot where we journey along alone.

In flinging a prayer at the face of fear and in changing into song a groan—Dear, these are the things that count.

My dear, it isn't the loud part Of creeds that is pleasing to God. Not the chant of a prayer, or the hum of a hymn, or a jubilant shout of song.

But it is the beautiful proud part Of walking with feet faith shod; And in loving, loving, loving thro' all, no matter how things go.

In trusting ever, though dark the day, and in keeping your hope when the way seems long—Dear, these are the things that count.

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox

SERIOUS CAR ACCIDENT

A Ford truck, driven by Eben Doucet, of Havelock, and having in it Charles Doucet and Louis MacAlpine, of the same place, apparently travelling at too high a rate of speed down the Church Hill at Weymouth North, on Monday afternoon, failed to make the turn and turned completely over. The cab was smashed and Eben Doucet was pinned beneath it. Men near by raised the truck and succeeded in getting him out, badly hurt, one arm being broken, an ear almost severed and otherwise cut up and bruised. Dr. Melanson was called and had the patient removed to the Digby Hospital. Charles Doucet sustained a broken nose and other injuries, and MacAlpine was cut about the head and face. The provincial police checked up on the accident.

LIKES THE FORD TRUCKS

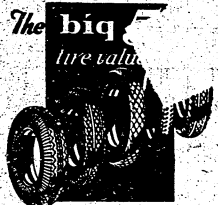

W. R. Harris

Weymouth

While driving through from Bear River last fall at South Range I visited the lumber camp owned by Jesse Jefferson and was very much interested in his operations. While there I noticed he had two Ford trucks removing the material from the mill, and, being a contractor, I was very much interested. I had had nearly every make of truck, with the exception of a Ford, and I had never seen trucks working in the woods or on woods roads, in such a satisfactory manner. I returned to Mr. Jefferson's mill about the middle of March to get further information regarding the win-try operations of his Ford trucks. He assured me that they had given perfect satisfaction, having been in operation every day; also that he had never missed the Saturday trip to Digby, regardless of the condition of the roads, one trip alone taking five hours without a stop, to make the distance of twenty miles through heavy snow. So, returning home, I purchased three new Ford trucks, with dual wheel, the same as Mr. Jefferson was using.

A few days ago, when on my way through the Valley, I met Mr. Jefferson and found he had purchased two new Ford trucks. He also informed me "that they had stood up better than any other truck he has ever used; and that he has also received wonderful service." I also feel very much pleased with the service given me by the new trucks I have purchased. Here's hoping Mr. Ford continues his good work.

C. Watson Jefferson has made a number of trips to Yarmouth and Liverpool, being successful in disposing of a large number of crates of strawberries on each trip.

Samuel Spring, Boston, who has come to Bear River regularly for a number of years, arrived Friday to spend some weeks here, and will be a guest at the Grand Central Hotel.

The Golden Key Group of the United Church were entertained at a party on Friday afternoon by their leader, Miss June Schmidt. A large Jack Horner pie, from which gifts were drawn, was a delight to the little girls. Miss Schmidt, on behalf of the group, presented Eleanor and Mildred Sawdon each with a snap-shot album, as this was their last meeting with the group. Their tea table was prettily decorated with place cards, etc., and the refreshments were enjoyed by the little folk.

C. G. I. T. MAKE PRESENTATION.

The Senior C. G. I. T. of the United Baptist church, Miss Grace Hubley, president, on the conclusion of their meetings for the season, used the money remaining in the treasury to purchase a beautiful blanket throw and a pretty counterpane, which they presented, through the Bear River Hospital Committee, to the Bear River room in the Digby Hospital. This gift was much appreciated by the management of the hospital, and has been acknowledged by them.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE PARTY

J. MacKenna, manager of the Bear River Branch Royal Bank, was pleasantly "surprised" by his fellow members of the Men's Auction Bridge Club on Friday evening, who presented him with a handsome pipe, and a generous supply of the necessary "weed" in honor of his birthday. Bridge was played at two tables and Mrs. MacKenna served a dainty luncheon. Mr. MacKenna has only been in town a few months, but has already made many friends in business and social circles.

CHERRY CARNIVAL, 1931

The following constitute the organization for the Cherry Carnival for 1931:

Head Committee—A. M. Simons, A. Dunn, L. V. Harris.

Officers—Chairman, A. M. Simons; Treasurer, A. B. Marshall; Secretary, L. V. Harris.

Sports Committee—J. H. Cunningham, Dr. L. J. Lovett, R. R. Baxter.

Parade—A. Dunn, C. E. Clarke, Carley Henshaw.

Advertising—J. L. Warren.

Booths—J. E. Langley.

Evening Entertainment—A. M. Simons.

Tags—Mrs. Hilyard.

Decorating—B. C. Clarke.

Meals—Mrs. Romans, Mrs. R. A. Harris, Mrs. F. Dunn, Mrs. F. R. Harris.

Secretary for Committees—Miss Hatfield Marshall.

Band—L. V. Harris.

The above committees appeal to you for assistance in order that the Carnival this year may be kept up to the usual standard.

We all should realize that the Carnival is a community affair and unless the community in general supports this undertaking it cannot be a success.

If you have any suggestions to offer which you think will help to improve the carnival you are urged to give such suggestions to any of the committee above.

If there is some particular way in which you would like to assist in the work, the committees will be only too glad to know of it.

If you willingly consent to assist when called upon and will cheerfully undertake the work you are requested to do, it will go a long way towards assuring a successful carnival, besides creating a "pull-together" feeling, which is a great factor in any undertaking of this sort.

PARKER'S COVE

There will be service in the United Church on Sunday at 3 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bent, of Granville, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. David Milner.

School has closed for the summer holidays and Miss Lillian Milbury returned home last week.

Miss Annie Milner, of Hampton, is spending her school vacation at the home of her grandfather, Thomas Milner.

Gordon Eaton, of Granville Centre, was a guest of Mrs. David Milner on Saturday last.

Mrs. Austin Halliday, of Hillsburn, and Mrs. Longley Hamilton, of Boston, Mass., recently visited Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Anderson.

Miss Vera McGarvie and Raymond McGarvie, who have attended the Academy at Annapolis Royal the last year, have returned home; also Miss Clara Robinson, who wrote her examination papers in the same school.

Mr. and Mrs. David Milner recently visited the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Eaton and Mr. and Mrs. George M. Bent, of Granville Centre.

H. S. Fry

PUBLICITY is the special forte of Harold S. Fry, of Regina, chairman of the Publicity Committee of the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference.

He was born at Buffalo, N.Y., and holds a B.S.A. degree from the University of Toronto. For three years he was demonstrator in horticulture of the Ontario Agriculture College.

Mr. Fry entered journalistic work with the Canadian Countryman of Toronto, and has also been Associate editor of the Farmer's Advocate and managing editor of the Western edition.

In 1927 Mr. Fry became associated with the Saskatchewan Co-operative Wheat Producers Limited, commonly known as the Wheat Pool. He is director of publicity for the organization and brings a lengthy and varied agricultural experience to bear upon the publicity work of the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference.

Splendid Rally Annapolis-Digby Women's Institutes

On Friday last the District Rally for the Women's Institutes of Annapolis-Digby convened in Oddfellows' Hall, as the guest of the Bear River Institute, a morning and afternoon session being held.

Mrs. L. J. Lovett, district president, presided at the morning session, Mrs. William Morine, president of the local institute, giving an address of welcome to the visitors. This session was principally devoted to business, with the exception of a very interesting address by Miss C. Thomas, (Smith's Cove Institute), on "Horticultural School Exhibitions"; one from Dr. Cunningham, stressing buying Nova Scotia products, and a demonstration by Mrs. C. Vreese (Balanced and Nourishing School) illustrated by one neatly packed.

An informal luncheon followed, the Bear River ladies having arranged tables for their guests and providing tea and coffee. At the "table of honor" were Miss MacDougall, Dr. and Mrs. Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. LeBlanc (Meteghan), and Mrs. F. Stevens, the District Secretary (Bridgetown).

Miss MacDougall, superintendent W. I. for Nova Scotia, who had been prevented from attending the morning session by an accident to her car, presided at the afternoon meeting.

A fine programme, consisting of community singing; a demonstration, "Invalid Meals Properly Served," by Miss Warner (Plympton Institute); an inspiring address by Miss MacDougall; a paper, "Women's Institutes as a World-Wide Organization," by Mrs. Lovett (Bear River Institute); a duet by Mrs. H. C. Anthony and Miss Mary (Bridgetown); an amusing monologue, "Harris' Antidote," by Mrs. F. Shafer, (Nictaux Institute); a charming French song by the members of the Meteghan and Bellevue's Cove Institutes; a radio address in French by Miss d'Entremont, president of the Meteghan Institute (which she afterwards repeated in English); a paper by Dr. Munro, superintendent of education for Nova Scotia, subject, "How Shall We Turn the Educational Corner from the 19th Century to the 20th Century"; several selections by the Bear River Oakdene Academy School Orchestra (Mrs. Anthony, leader); a musical skit by four Bear River ladies, Mrs. Fred Harris, Mrs. J. Warren, Mrs. Simons and Mrs. H. Anthony, in costume; and a splendidly presented tableau, "The Order of Good Times", a scene from the early history of Port Royal, wonderfully accurate in costume and historic details (Lower Granville Institute).

As the 26th was Miss MacDougall's birthday, at the conclusion of the session, a handsome bar pin and little finger ring, set with Nova Scotia amethysts, and a birthday cake, beautifully decorated with candles, sprays of cherries and silver ribbons, made by Mrs. W. M. Romans (Bear River), was presented by Mrs. Lovett, district president.

A number of the efficient Institute ladies of the Bear River Institute had charge of the arrangements, namely, Mrs. J. H. Cunningham, Mrs. L. V. Harris, Mrs. A. B. Marshall and Mrs. W. M. Romans.

Mrs. L. R. Morse, of Lawrencetown, gracefully expressed the thanks of the visiting ladies; responded to by Mrs. Morine, president of the Bear River Institute.

One hundred and fourteen ladies registered at the morning session, and nearly two hundred attended the afternoon, the largest attendance since rallies were inaugurated in Nova Scotia. A special feature was the large delegation from the Municipality of Clare, the first time these Institutes have participated in a Rally.

The following were appointed members of the Executive for 1932, for this District:

SCOUT NOTES

On Sunday last the local troop attended Divine Service in the Bear River United Church, the special occasion being the farewell Sunday of Rev. F. W. Sawdon, the pastor of this church.

The pouring rain did not dampen the ardour of the Scouts and almost a full attendance was present. Instead of marching from the Scout hall to the church transportation was provided by cars, by scouts of the troop and by Old Scouts who are home on their vacation. The generosity of the latter was especially appreciated. Mr. Sawdon's address was in line with some of the principles of Scout Law.

On June 30th Troop Leader Howard MacLean and Patrol Leader Allan Harris, left for the Scout Leaders' Summer Camp, at Chance Harbor, Pictou Co. This camp is in charge of Scout Director Limbrey and is open from July 1 to 8. The thanks of the Troop are extended to General Bremner, Dr. L. J. Lovett and Miss Alice Rice, who have made this course possible to the leaders.

Wilson Jefferson and Milton Morgan motored to Liverpool on Wednesday.

Hardware Men In Annual Meeting at The Pines

The two-day convention of the Maritime Wholesale Hardware Association, opened at the Pines on Tuesday. It has been attended by nearly a hundred members and delegates, and their wives. It concluded on Wednesday with a continuation of the general meeting, election of officers for the ensuing year, and a number of social and sport activities, chief of which was a golf tournament on the new course opened for the hotel last month. Though the convention officially ended with a banquet and dance, many guests remained over to witness the finals in the golf tournament.

At the general meeting on Tuesday private business was transacted, while on Wednesday the election of officers was held and several addresses were heard by the members.

The following officers were elected:

President — R. M. Bartsch, Saint John.

Vice-President — Colonel R. B. Simmonds, Halifax.

Executive Committee—R. W. Emerson, Saint John; B. A. Taylor, Moncton; C. R. Crowell, Halifax; Eric Spitzner, Yarmouth; D. MacDonald, Halifax, and I. R. Crowell, Halifax.

Speakers heard by the meeting were: I. R. Crowell, retiring president; C. B. Lang, vice-president, Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation; David Griffiths, sales manager B. G. Smith Wire Co., Hamilton, Ont., and D. R. Fowler, sales manager Canadian Foundries and Forgings, Brockville, Ont.

C. B. Lang reviewed the present economic situation, and while offering no forecast, voiced the general sentiment of confidence in the future of the hardware trade. The speaker also stressed the importance of supporting the railway systems, which, he said, were the largest buying units in the country.

David Griffiths, who recently returned from a trip to Western Canada, during which he attended the convention of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at Victoria, compared the conditions existing in the Maritimes with those in the West. Business in the Maritimes is, relatively speaking, good, he said. Western Canada is going through a period of hardship and it is well for the East to realize how comparatively well off it is, in spite of the general quietness of business.

C., and Jasper and Wainwright National Parks, about the 1st of August.

Digby Pastor at Toronto

Rev. E. W. Forbes, of the United Church, of Digby, occupied the pulpit at a union service of Wesley and West End churches, in Toronto, on Sunday, while Rev. R. S. Johnston, minister of West United church, occupied Mr. Forbes' pulpit here. Mr. Forbes will be absent during the month of July, and Mr. Johnston will take the services at Digby during this period. The action follows the suggestion of Dr. E. H. Oliver, Moderator of the United Church of Canada, that there should be an interchange of ministers between Conferences in Eastern and Western Canada.

Activities of the Victorian Order of Nurses

The monthly meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses will be held on Tuesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, in the Court House. Mrs. Woodford Connell and Miss Daley will be the convokers.

Miss Cunningham, the relief nurse, who has been in Digby for the past two months, has gone to Brampton, Ont., where she will supply for the summer months. Mrs. Sturgeon, who so ably carried on the work in Digby a few years ago, has returned and is now on duty.

Letters to the Editor

Educational Training

To the Editor of the Courier:

Sir—The closing exercises of the elementary department took place a few days ago, under the direction of Mrs. Arnold Lent to whom grateful recognition and praise is due for the splendid results she has shown in her teaching during the year.

If the home is the foundation of a nation and those principles laid down in the hearts and lives of men find their greatest impulse at the shrine of a mother's knee, then the elementary department of a school is, in my opinion, of greater importance than any other phase of the curriculum, inasmuch as it deals with the earlier stages of child life upon which the foundation of all future studies must rest.

Leaders of thought throughout all time have emphasized the importance of paying special attention to the young. Is it not well, therefore, with due circumspection for more advanced studies, for us to lay special stress on those fundamentals that shall incorporate into well being those elements of enlightened thought and forceful expression in the youth of our land, that shall redound to the honor and glory of the nation.

Our leaders in the educational field have a great responsibility in directing those courses best fitted to meet the demands of our children, and yet that responsibility should not be left for them to bear alone. It is incumbent upon all citizens to share in that responsibility through hearty co-operation and sympathetic understanding with the various efforts put forth to hold high the standard of educational training in an institution that is of paramount importance in a province where traditional records in the field of education are outstanding and unique.

Weymouth, N. S.

WESTPORT

Mrs. William Thompson and daughter, Peggy, of Montreal, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Colin Thompson.

Capt. A. E. Moore was in town on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Cameron, of Yarmouth, are visiting Mr. Cameron's mother, Mrs. Harriet Cameron.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Campbell, of Boston, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hilbert Carron.

Mrs. Willie Poole arrived on Monday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Barkhouse.

D. B. Kenney returned from Boston on Monday.

TALK OF THE TOWN

The Ladies' Aid of the Grace United church, will hold their annual Garden Party, on Thursday, July 30th.

Dr. H. W. Kirkpatrick, of Halifax, will be at his office in Middleton, for treatment of diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat, on Tuesday, July 14th, and Wednesday, the 15th. Glasses fitted.

Carpenters are at work erecting a taxi and fruit stand as an addition to Art's Spa. The work is being done by M. C. Denton, and the place will be open for business tomorrow night.

Dr. J. R. McCleave, late of Steviack, arrived in town on Wednesday. Dr. McCleave will open an office in the Warner Block. He is a graduate of Dalhousie University and has had hospital experience in the Victoria General Hospital, Halifax, and the Pittsfield, (Mass.) Hospital.

The telephone cable between East Ferry and Tiverton, has recently been undergoing repairs. During the week Messrs. Edwards and Sampson, of Halifax, and Mr. Young, of Pictou, also Mr. Gidney, of Mink Cove, have been engaged on the work. While in Tiverton they were the guests of L. E. Sollows.

John Russell, D. L. S., of the Topographical Survey of Canada, (Interior Department, Ottawa), has taken up his residence in Digby, and as he is a fully qualified provincial (Nova Scotia) land surveyor, and well equipped with the necessary implements, is in position to solicit whatever of such work anyone may desire to have done. He has had a wide experience while in the employ of the Canadian government, on levelling, subdivision and control and exploratory surveys.

"Dorothy G. Snow" to Be Repaired

The fishing schooner Dorothy G. Snow, Captain Simon Maise, which grounded at Seal Island, last week, attempted to go on the marine slip at Yarmouth, but owing to the prevailing low tides was unable to do so. After getting partly on, she had to be drawn back. The vessel proceeded on Wednesday morning for Meteghan, where repairs will be effected. Owing to the loss of her rudder, it was necessary for a motor launch to tow for steering purposes, although the vessel supplied its own power. Captain Simon Maise accompanied the schooner. The "Dorothy G. Snow" is owned by Lawrence Sweeney, of Yarmouth.

Consider the ant. He is so busy he breaks up other people's picnics.

Daughter—"How long, mother, did you say we had been using Morse's Tea in our house?"
Mother—"For nearly forty years, and your grandmother had been using it for a quarter of a century before that."

OBITUARY

Mrs. H. Benson—The death took place yesterday at her home in Bear River, of Mrs. Lillian Grace, wife of Harding Benson. Mrs. Benson, who was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Ray, of Granville Centre, was born in that place almost fifty years ago, but has lived in Bear River since she was about four years old. A host of friends will learn with deep regret of her passing. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon.

Miss Miriam Turnbull, Mr. and Mrs. William Galley, and daughter, Louise, motored from Melford, Mass., recently and have been spending a couple of weeks with Mrs. Elizabeth Turnbull, Bay View. They started on their return trip on Wednesday and expect to arrive in Medford on Sunday.

The Kiwanis Club, of Digby, will hold their first luncheon at the Pines Hotel, on Monday, July 13th. Luncheon starts at 12:15 sharp and members are urged to be on time.

HIGHWAYS SHOULD BE BEAUTIFIED

The following quotation is taken from a recent weekly news letter of the United States Chamber of Commerce:

"Highways are more than arteries of commerce and travel. To all who approach a city through a highway such highway is the front door to that city. It welcomes or repels the stranger according to its beauty or unsightliness."

The quotation is a true one and is applicable to many countries including the several provinces of this Dominion, Nova Scotia, with its rural and town highways not excepted. The Saint John, N. B., Telegraph-Journal, in elaborating on the above quotation, says:

"The beautification of roadways, need not necessarily depend wholly on the planting of trees and flowers. There are many other ways in which effective improvement may be carried out. Driving through the country one passes through stretches of beautiful scenery on all sides, only to encounter unsightliness and untidiness as cities and towns are approached. Restful green meadows give way to piles of junk and other debris. Trees yield place to dilapidated fences and signboards. Roadside flowers and shrubs are replaced by unsightly and unpicturesque tin cans and derelict automobiles. These conditions need not exist. A little public spirit on the part of the residents of these localities, encouraged by public authorities and organizations, can accomplish much in remedial way. With the blemishes all removed the next step is the planting of decorative hedges, shrubs, trees, and flowers. This feature again brings to the fore the necessity for some measure of relief from the dust nuisance on our roads. Many worth while efforts have been rendered almost useless by the smothering of what would otherwise have been beautiful landscape cultivation in a pall of gray dust. The whole matter in roadside beautification is one which deserves the consideration, not only of individual citizens, but also of municipal and provincial government bodies and all public organizations."

SUCCESSFUL CROPS ARE INDICATE FOR FARMERS

Crops throughout Nova Scotia are in good condition. While the season for the most part has been moderately cool, there has been sufficient rainfall, along with the heavy snowfall of last winter, over most of the province, to bring crops forward. A heavy hay crop is assured over much of the province, although the crop in parts of the Valley and the western part of the province will be spotty. Due to the mild winter, clover fields have come through well. Pastures are in good condition and milk flow has been heavy as evidenced by 17.4 per cent. increase in production of creameries in the month of May as compared with the same year ago. Stock is in good condition. There is a heavy lamb crop and early lambs are already starting to move to market. Small pigs have been in good demand with numbers in excess of last year.

Grain crops for the most part were seeded early and look well. The total acreage of cultivated crops shows a considerable increase over last year, in fact it is the heaviest that there has been for years. This increase is very noticeable in sections where lumbering has been an industry and where farmers are now turning to farming. Early grain is very forward. Some grain on heavy soil was late seeded, but the proportion is limited. In the Antigonish-Guysboro district there has been a greatly increased seed barley this year which would indicate a decided increase in the acreage seeded to this crop.

Potato acreage is about the same as last year. Although a smaller acreage has been planted in the Valley district, that in the North Shore district has been larger. There has been a decided trend this year toward the use of certified seed. Root crops promise a heavier acreage than last year.

The apple blossom in the Valley district was very heavy with an excellent set of fruit. Full bloom was earlier than normal. The weather held good during the blossom period but has been cloudy and showery most of the time since with the result that scab has developed on leaves and there is grave danger of development on fruit due to inability, on account of weather conditions, to protect by spraying. Orchards were never as well taken care of. Sales of fertilizer and spray materials have been very heavy this season, with a decided swing toward lime sulphur sprays. Sales of fertilizer over the province this season have been heavy, even though orders were slow in coming in at first. Some sections report scarcity at the close of the season.

The strawberry crop is reported excellent with a heavy blossom and good development of fruit thus far. It has been sufficient rain to promote good growth and prospects are for a good crop. Blueberry crop prospects are also good. Garden crops show an increase in acreage in many sections in the eastern part of the province and are growing well. However, in a few districts in Antigonish and Guysboro there has been considerable frost injury.

That alfalfa can be grown successfully under Nova Scotia conditions has been clearly proven by upwards of twenty farmers scattered from Antigonish in the east to Yarmouth in the west, who have enthusiastically entered their fields in the crop competitions. For years it was believed that alfalfa could not be grown in this province but a few people continued to experiment with it. As a result of the interest shown it was placed on the list of field crop competitions sponsored by the Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture and the Dominion Seed Branch this year. This valuable fodder crop is thus definitely taking its rightful place in Nova Scotia agriculture as it has elsewhere. Moreover, larger yields may be expected in the moist climate of this province than in many parts of the drier west.

W. C. T. U. MEETING AT WEYMOUTH NORTH

A special meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held at the home of Mrs. Alfred Sabean, Weymouth North (one of the "Shut In" members of the Local Union) Thursday evening last. Mrs. M. R. Bwing had charge of the devotional meeting, after which Mrs. Ada L. Powers, of Lunenburg, Provincial Secretary of the W. C. T. U. addressed the meeting.

In the evening Mrs. Powers spoke in the Riverside United Baptist Church, at a service which was presided over by Mrs. William Lent, President of the Local Union. The order of the service was as follows: Hymn: "Let the Lower Lights Be Burning." Scripture: Isaiah 40, read by Rev. F. C. Amery, Pastor of the church. Prayer: Rev. M. R. Ewing, of the United Church.

Hymn: "My Faith Looks Up to Thee." Mrs. Lent then introduced Mrs. Powers, who spoke on the "World's Conference of the W. C. T. U.", which was held in the Royal York Hotel, at Toronto, on June 3rd to 10th, when representatives from the Unions all over the world were present. At this conference there were five officers, twenty-nine superintendents, 625 delegates, and over 1,000 visitors.

Mrs. Powers first gave a brief history of the W. C. T. U., which is now operating in 51 countries. She then gave a brief account of some of the speeches that were made by the delegates from Canada, United States, Denmark, Sweden, Egypt, South America, India and Assyria. She spoke of one interesting feature of the convention when the same greeting was broadcast in 19 different languages. The greeting was: "How do you do? Canada (or whatever nationality the speaker happened to be) brings greetings to you, and as Frances Willard said, 'Only the Golden Rule of Christ can bring the Golden Rule of Man.'" She told of four resolutions which were passed at this meeting:

1—That each nation observe a day of prayer for Temperance,

You might as well enjoy the luxury of Drinking KING COLE TEA

when the cost is less than one-fifth of a cent per cup. Where will you find such a luxury for your table that will cost you so little? You can still buy a pound of this tea of distinctive flavour for and that it be the first Thursday after the first Sunday in the New Year.

2—That one day in May be observed as Mother's Day.

3—That they work for more protection for the youth of the world.

4—That they work with National Prohibition as their aim. At the close of the lecture by Mrs. Powers, an offering was taken while the choir sang the hymn, "True Hearted, Whole Hearted."

A solo, "The Great Judgment Morning" was sung by Rev. F. C. Amery. Hymn, "Dare To Be a Daniel" by the congregation. Benediction by Rev. M. R. Ewing.

WHAT ARE YOU DOING NOW?

It matters not if you lost the fight and were badly beaten, too; it matters not if you failed outright in the things you tried to do; it matters not if you toppled down from the azure heights of blue— But what are you doing now?

It matters not if your plans were foiled and your hopes have fallen through; it matters not if your chance was spoiled for the gain almost in view; it matters not if you missed the goal, though you struggled brave and true— But what are you doing now?

It matters not if your fortune's gone and your fame has withered, too; it matters not if a cruel world's scorn be directed straight at you; it matters not if the worst has come and your dreams have not come true— But what are you doing now?

—R. Rhodes Stables, in Success.

Delicate Child

One of five girls all of whom took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills (tonic).

Now a Fine Healthy Woman

She was the eldest of five girls," writes Mrs. A. G. Richardson, St. West, Kitchener, Ontario, "and my mother gave Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to us all. My youngest sister was very delicate. She was nearly thirteen when mother took her to the doctor and he said 'Give her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills like you gave the other girls.' Mother did so, and today she is married, and is a fine healthy woman."

The iron and other elements in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills (tonic) increase the amount of haemoglobin or oxygen-carrying agent in the blood. The increased supply of oxygen kindles life in all your tissues. The result is a better appetite, a feeling of well-being, and restful sleep.

Begin now to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. 50 cents a package. Buy any size. Be sure to say "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills" so that the druggist will know exactly what you want.

ASHMORE

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Doty were visitors in Weymouth North on Sunday.

The Mission Band and the Women's Aid Society will meet with Mrs. Annie Kinney today. After the meeting the children will have their annual picnic.

Simon Sabean, Alice Kinney and Elizabeth and Frederica Sabean were visitors to Digby on Friday.

Mrs. Elvin Marshall and daughter, Rebecca, and niece, Frances Kinney, were the guests of Mrs. C. P. Mullen, in Digby, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Brooks and Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Marshall went to South Range on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mullen, and daughter, Louise, and Miss Zilpha Grant called on friends here on Sunday.

A truck having a load of 20 barrels of clams on it, being shipped to the United States by Jos. Doucett, of New Edinburgh, upset at New Edinburgh on Friday, in front of the home of Whitman Doucett, on account of the heavy load. Seven barrels of the clams were smashed, but the truck was not damaged and the driver was unhurt.

• PONTIAC •
"A fine car, a modern car, a General Motors value." 6 models, listing from $875 to $1,015 at factory, taxes extra. Over 40 points of rubber insulation in the chassis absorb engine vibration, noise and road shocks.

• OLDSMOBILE •
6 models, listing from $1,085 to $1,230 at factory, taxes extra. A car of superb performance selling at the price of an ordinary six. Includes such advanced engineering refinements as the famous Synchro-Mesh transmission and Duo-Draft carburetor.

• McLAUGHLIN-BUICK •
22 models, listing from $1,290 to $2,660 at factory, taxes extra. More than 8 out of 10 McLaughlin-Buick owners buy McLaughlin-Buick again and again. Every McLaughlin-Buick has the non-clashing Synchro-Mesh transmission and Engine Oil Temperature Regulation.

• CADILLAC •
Over 30 models available ranging from the Cadillac V-8 at $3,520, and the Cadillac V-12 at $5,130, up to the Cadillac V-16 with custom bodies for $15,000 and more. All prices at factory, taxes extra. The world's finest cars.

GENERAL MOTORS CARS HAVE OUTSTANDING VALUE

GENERAL MOTORS REALIZES that the investment in a motor car must be safeguarded by a reasonable assurance of continuous satisfactory performance. So General Motors issues to the buyer of every one of its cars a definite statement of the service to which he is entitled. This agreement—known as the Owner Service Policy—is an important part of the extra value that you obtain in the purchase of a General Motors car.

Typical of the eight provisions of this policy is the second, which states that for 90 days after delivery (provided the car has not been driven more than 4,000 miles) defective parts will be replaced by any authorized dealer in Canada or the United States without any charge to the owner for either material or labor. The value of such a clause is immediately apparent: for it is supported by the pledge of more than two thousand General Motors dealers and service stations in Canada who stand ready and willing to safeguard the extra value that has been built into your General Motors car.

Ask your General Motors dealer to show you how the provisions of the Owner Service Policy protect your motor car investment. And ask him, too, to explain how economically General Motors cars may be purchased through GMAC—the low-cost-time payment plan.

Look in the classified pages of your telephone book under "General Motors Cars" for the address of the nearest dealer.

Prominent Yacht Designer Visits in Barton

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Purdy, of Port Washington, N. Y., accompanied by their four sons, Gilbert Jr., Donald, St. Clair and Bingay, and a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Donald Purdy, arrived in Barton on Monday to visit Mrs. Purdy's sisters, Hattie and Dorothy Perry.

Mr. Purdy was a regular summer visitor for several years; but, for the past few years has been spending his vacations at his camp back of Ottawa. He is a well known designer of speed boats, having built the winner in the Gold Cup races for the past two years; his boats also winning in the President's Cup. He has designed many of the palatial yachts owned by prominent Americans. His boats are well known in England also, one having been owned by Sir Henry Seagrave, and, after his death, was purchased by "Lawrence of Arabia."

During Mr. Purdy's visit here he has visited many streams where he fished years ago, and is as enthusiastic as ever over the beauties of Nova Scotia.

Teacher—How many people are there in this country?

Student—Er-h-h-r

Teacher—Hurry, hurry; every second you dilly-dally the number grows larger.

SUCCESS

Those who have made a study of the lives of great men and women, the ones who have been counted as truly successful, have found that invariably they all possessed the characteristics of a real desire to succeed; power to look ahead and dream; and the ability to work intelligently. From the very dawn of history we find that there have been a distinguished few of both men and women who have had a great desire to render useful human service they have been the ones who have succeeded. The great inventors, statesmen, writers, scholars, etc., have been those who have had a real desire to succeed. No one ever succeeded yet against his own will. When we look at the lives of any of the great men, for example: Lindbergh, Hoover, Edison, Lincoln, or any of the many we may think of, we will see that each before they had won their distinguished place in American life had visioned their achievements. Those who have not the power to dream and to look into the future; but can see no further than those with whom they work from day to day, will never reach any farther than the common level of their surroundings. They must be inspired by a great vision, and then work with a greater ambition to bring it about, simply dreaming is as evanescent and unstable as the clouds. We must have a real desire to succeed and an imagination to lead the way. Unless to-day's generation dreams, tomorrow's generation will stand still. But we must add intelligent labor to our wish- ing and dreaming or it will end right where we began. Stevenson has said, "Little do you know your own blessedness; for to travel hopefully is a better thing than to arrive, and the true success is to labor." Intelligent effort is never left out of any dependable formula for success, as it is intelligent effort, intelligently directed that leads upward. None of us know our final destination. But, as Tagore has so beautifully put it in one of his essays, "Even our road may become a part of our destination."

All of our great people in the world today are those who know their jobs and know how to work because they see results from the beginning, and are wrapped up in their efforts. The whole world is in the hands of such men and women. What we are travels right along with us. Our work is what we are. And it tells the world much more about us than our brilliant talents or any material things which we may possess. No one however can apply ambition, furnish vision, or an earnest desire to succeed—each must do that for himself.

When we travel hopefully and to the extent of our abilities, rewards will gather about us, rewards which we perhaps little dreamed would come our way. The following definition for "Success" comes in a poem from "Cheerio":
It's doing your job the best you can, And being just to your fellow men;

It's making money, but holding on to it;
And drinking deeply of life and ends; It's figuring how and learning why And looking forward and thinking high;
It's going onward despite defeat, And fighting staunchly but keeping sweet.
It's looking-up at the stars above, And drinking deeply of life and love; It's struggling on with a will to win, But taking loss with a cheerful grin;
It's sharing sorrow, and work and mishap, And making better this good old earth;
It's serving, striving, through strain and stress, It's doing your noblest—that's success!

In accordance with a very ancient custom, several hundred people visited the Wishing Well at Culloiden, Scotland, on a recent Sunday, made a wish, dropped a coin into the well and tied a rag to an adjacent tree. The money will be divided among local charities.

Walker's Shows In Town

The Walker's Shows, Limited have again pitched their tents in the large field used by the Maritime Fish Corporation, at the head of the Long Wharf, and were greeted by a large crowd at their opening Wednesday evening. The Walker's Shows are here under the auspices of the Digby Branch of the Canadian Legion, and will be in town for ten days. This Nova Scotia Company has the reputation of being one of the cleanest and best companies of its kind on the road. On Wednesday evening the merry-go-round and the Ferris wheel seemed to be the principal centres of attraction but there are many other interesting features to be enjoyed on the grounds.

Sparks Circus Season of 1931 Not Duplicated

When the long trains, bearing the wonders of the Sparks Circus, arrive in Digby, on Monday, July 27th, they will bring as part of their precious freight a zoological collection that is said to be the largest and rarest of its kind in the world. It will include several hundred beasts of every kind and description, many of which are specimens seldom found in captivity. The Sparks' Circus this season is a veritable Noah's Ark and among its inhabitants are a number of trained animal actors, lately imported from Europe. Two of these groups, which will be subjugated by Franz Woska, are said to represent the highest development of wild animal intelligence. In addition to the marvellous troupes of trained horses, ponies, bears and dogs, are new features that have never before appeared with a circus. All in all, the Sparks' Circus representatives state that the 1931 performance is the best in history. Circus grounds will be located at the White House Farm.

Appreciated Work of the Firemen

Thomas Lynch, Mayor Digby, Nova Scotia
My dear Mr. Lynch:
I want to thank you, and through you the Fire Department of Digby for the efforts which were made to save my cottage, also I want to express my appreciation of the efforts of the people of Digby to salvage my possessions.

My family and myself have become so attached to Digby in our many years of association with it that we more than appreciate the friendly interest shown to us in this recent catastrophe.

I am enclosing you herewith my check for $25.00 for the use of the Fire Company, and in appreciation of their efforts.

Yours, very truly,
Wm. H. Brooks
Philadelphia, July 11, 1931.

(We understand that Chas. G. Power, joint owner with Mr. Brooks in the property recently destroyed, has also presented the firemen with a cheque for $25.—Editor Courier.)

A tractor has been at work this week levelling off the new piece of road along Water street, which is now being surfaced. Already a number of cars have used the new thoroughfare which will be one of the great improvements the town has made in years.

Telegraphers of D. A. R. Meet in Pines Hotel

With L. R. Goodwin, local chairman, of Yarmouth, presiding, the annual meeting of the Dominion Atlantic Railway Branch Order of Railway Telegraphers, Division 134, was held at the Pines, over the week end. The chairman's report and the financial report, submitted by Secretary Stanley Tavenor, of Tupperville, showed the Local to have had a successful year. O. C. Jones, former local chairman of the Division, now supervisor of Canadian Pacific hotels in Nova Scotia, delivered an instructive and interesting address.

Kiwanis Club Is Now An Assured Fact

The newly organized Digby Branch of the Kiwanis International, held its first luncheon in the Pines hotel, last Tuesday. About thirty-five sat down to the tables, only three of the club members being absent. Telegraphic messages were read from Harry C. Murphy, on behalf of the Halifax Club; from C. A. Fowler, Kiwanis Lieutenant-Governor for the Maritime Provinces, and from I. T. McNab, Lieutenant-Governor for the Ontario-Quebec-Maritime Province Kiwanis District.

The visiting speaker for the first meeting was Walter Ingram, Kiwanis service representative from Chicago.

ROADS

There is a road to happiness;
There is a road to pain;
A road to failure and success;
A road to loss and gain;
A road to meadows gay with flowers;
A road to eveningfall;
A road to bright and shadowed hours—
God lets me tread them all.

There is a quiet road that finds
The little, singing streams;
A road that reaches till it winds
Along the hill of dreams;
A road to hope, to duty done,
And to that last clear call
Across the gates of setting sun—
God lets me tread them all.

—Clarence E. Flynn

The history of roads is an interesting one. A visitor in New England once asked, "How did all these little roads come to be?" The answer, as we all know, is the same as the answer as to our own roads came to be. When the early settlers came they followed the lines of least resistance, the narrow Indian trails, and the paths that animals had made for themselves. As the need arose these trails and paths were widened into roads. Some of them became the great arteries of travel between city and city and from coast to coast. Possibly the motive of those who built them was to give the best service possible to all, and they gave generously of their time and work for that end. In contrast to this is the Appian Way built by Rome. While it was most wonderful, it was constructed by sullen, hating, driven men, men who had been conquered and pressed in to the service of Rome against their will. Probably the motive of those slaves was to get out of every bit of hard work they could, or to get all they could for as little labor as possible.

Wherever we travel we are thrilled by new scenes and a variety of beauty. New roads have always fascinated us. Whether we travel them along the shores of the rivers, lakes, or bays; through the forests; or upon the hillsides; they always seem to hold so much of mystery and beauty about them. When motoring it is always so interesting to learn the new roads, the lesser travelled roads, through more natural spots where one is always sure to discover interests that give added pleasure to the trip.

We recall the privilege we have had during the past four summers while spending our vacations at camp, of walking over trails which seem to us among the loveliest in the world. Beneath our feet was the thick green moss, like velvet to the touch; occasionally there would be rocks; and spreading roots of the trees which tower above the trails. These pine and spruce trees allowed streaks of the sunlight to pierce through their branches here and there weaving golden patches in the pathways.

Two of these trails come especially to our mind, ones which we loved to walk early in the morning to watch the sunrise, or late in the evening, when the sun all aglow, was sinking into the west. What sweetened memories hover and cluster about such trails and roads!

Each of us are given the privilege of travelling different roads, at least occasionally. New happenings, new discoveries, and new scenes, warm our hearts and stimulate our brains. George Matthew Adams has said: "No single human being takes the same road in life. We all cross the roads of many and travel along with others, but our special road may be made most glorious, and even spectacular, to ourselves, simply by having the desire and the courage to keep closing the lesser travelled roads."

And these roads or trails of life stretch out in every direction. There is the glittery one—the money trail. There is the delightfully sunny one—the pleasure trail. There is the trail that lies in shadow—the way of discipline. We cannot see the end of them. If we could it would make such easy choosing. Every new venture in life is just a new road—who knows what happiness it may bring!

Ever just over the top of the next brown rise

I expect some wonderful sight to flatter my eyes.

"What's yonder?" I ask of the first ways in I meet.

"Nothing!" he answers, and looks at my travel worn feet.

"Only more hills and more hills, like the many you've passed,

With rough country between and a poor enough inn at the last."

But already I am aware, for I see he is blind,

And I hate that old grumble I've listened to time out of mind.

I've tramped it too long not to know there is truth in it still

That lure of the turn of the road, of the quest of the hill.

So I breast me the rise with full hope, well assured I shall see

Some new prospect of joy, some brave brave venture a tip toe for me.

For I have come far and confronted the calm and the strife.

I have fared wide and bit deep in the apple of life.

It is sweet at the end, but oh, sweet-er still at the core;

And whatever be gained, yet the reach of the morrow is more.

At the crest of the hill I shall hail the new summits to climb:

The demand of my vision shall beggar the largest of time.

For I know that the higher I press, the wider I view.

'Tis more's to be ventured and visioned, in worlds that are new.

So when my feet, failing, shall stumble in ultimate dark,

And faint eyes no more the high lift of the pathway shall mark,

There, under the dew I'll lie down with my dreams, for I know

What bright hilltops the morning will show me, all red in the glow.

—Charles G. D. Roberts

HOW TO JUDGE MEN

George Horace Lorimer, editor of the Saturday Evening Post, gives this advice in sizing up men:

"Look in a man's eyes for honesty; Around his mouth for weakness; At his chin for strength;

At his hands for temperament; At his nails for cleanliness;

His tongue will tell you his experience and prove or disprove his statements as it runs along."

It is interesting to try this test out on our friends and others that we know. So many times these physical characteristics check up with the qualities of a man that it is not necessary to ascribe every man's success to "pull".

SNEAK THIEVES AT WORK IN WEYMOUTH
On Tuesday evening Dennis Pelvey, the Weymouth North mail driver, parked his car on the station grounds, while he attended Walker's Shows. Upon returning to get his car a little later in the evening, he discovered that the spare tire and rim had been stolen, the nuts which held it on having been cut off, apparently with a chisel. The nuts were found laying on the ground where they had dropped, and a rubber floor mat, evidently from the car which needed the spare, and which evidently had been used to kneel on while the nuts were being cut.

For many years Weymouth had its annual outbreaks of shop breaking, petty thievery, etc., but during the past few years, and especially since the Nova Scotia police came to the county, conditions in this respect have been better. It is sincerely hoped that history is not going to repeat itself.

Here and There

The zoo at Toledo, Ohio, has secured a mammoth sturgeon, captured in Lake St. Clair, Canada. The fish weighed 239 pounds and was sold to Toledo for $100.

Feeding bees on sugar and milk at the Government Experimental Farm at Agassiz, B.C., has resulted in an average of 23 pounds more honey than on ordinary diet. This may mean a further impetus to Canadian honey production.

Capital amounting to $600,000,000 is invested in the development of 13,000,000 horse power electrical energy in the provinces of Quebec. Throughout Canada electric power development investments total $1,400,000,000.

East and west of Suez are also in London, Berlin, Paris and other famous centres, canned and frozen British from British Columbia was successfully marketed last year. Most of the shipments went from Victoria.

Monday, August 10, has been officially set as the opening date of the fourth "Buyers' Week" to be held in Montreal. The first Buyers' Week brought 251 buyers from all over the continent to Montreal; the third brought 1,100 buyers, indicating the growing success of the plan.

Individual holders of Canadian Pacific Railway common stock numbered 21,186 on September 2, 1930, and by the 1st June, 1931, there were 34,872 holders, an increase of 13,686. This shows the growing popularity of this stock since its split into four new shares for one of the old stock.

Unity of all peoples who live on the shores of the Pacific was the object behind the recent visit to British Columbia and Alaska of the Portland, Ore., Chamber of Commerce who took a seven-day cruise on board Canadian Pacific steamer Princess Charlotte in northern waters.

Completing a coast-to-coast holiday trip, Viscount Dufferin, son of Canada's Governor-General, the Earl of Bessborough, and his cousin, Hon. Arthur Ponsonby, arrived in Vancouver over Canadian Pacific Lines from the east recently. They went on to a six-day trip of British Columbia waters aboard S.S. Princess Maquinna.

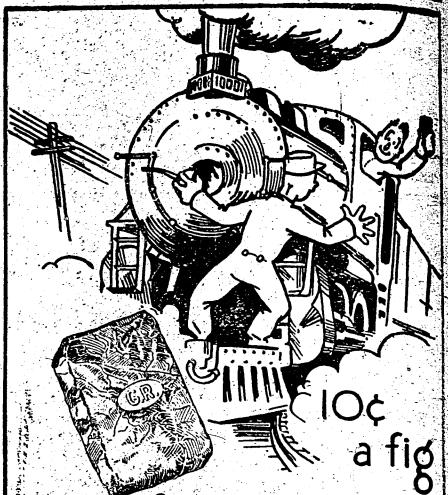

Ladies evidently also prefer blondes, judging by the decision of the Alpha Delta Pi, sorority who elected Miss Margaret Jensen, blonde beauty of Hunter College, New York, as the sisterhood's most beautiful bathing girl at the convention recently held at the Chateau Lake Louise, in the heart of the Canadian Rockies.

Effective July 1, the Toronto Terminal division of the Canadian Pacific Railway was merged with the Bruce division of the company, the combined divisions being known as the Bruce division. R. W. Scott was appointed superintendent with headquarters at Toronto.

Visiting the Canadian Rockies for the second time in forty years, Colonel R. Stanley, of Alveston, B.C., said he was astounded at the progress and development attained in that comparatively short period. He was a guest at the Banff Springs Hotel, which was last seen as a guest of Lord and Mrs. Stephen.

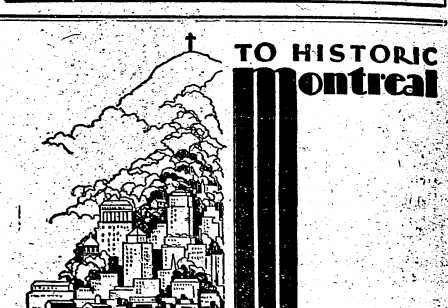

The reason many people are poor is because their parents were honest.

THOSE NOISY HORNS

To the Editor of the Courier:

Sir—Why do our auto manufacturers so furiously rage together to produce the most rancorous horn? Why not a few mellow bars from the old English coaching days, or a few stirring notes from the bugle, say
"Taps" or "Last Post," as a reminder? Is a sudden wild cat scream conducive to a prompt and sane move to safety? It is not!

A sedate meditative pedestrian, complacently sauntering along the roadside, in comparative safety. Suddenly confronted by the unearthly shriek of a lost soul, is instantly converted into a frantic grasshopper, and jumps some ten feet into the air and lands in the middle of the fairway, where a vigorous, enterprising mudguard deftly flicks his remains into a ditch.

I have a hunch (until it is rolled out of me by a balloon tire, that the right place for a pedestrian is on the wrong side of the road. The traffic rules semi-protect your rear; then, if you have the eyes of a hawk, the ears of a fox, and the feet of a cat, you should be able to sidestep what's in front for sometime.

The most depressing feature of our dreadful highway slaughter, lies in the tacit acceptance by the general public, as no one dreams of going on an auto slaying party, without being lingered for the morgue.

Wounded $100 Each.

Fish that have cost $100 each are being reared in an artificial lake established by the fish company of the Paulo, Brazil. This lake with a dam
75 feet high and more than 4,000 feet long, covers nearly 80 square miles.

Howard Brunson of Nebraska, of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries, went to Brazil about a year ago to install a fish experimental station. Now he is stocking the lake with "dourado."
Brunson believes this species of bass can be propagated from the eggs, as at home, but while some success has been attained, it is estimated that $100 in the lake have cost about $100 each.

Statue to D'Artagnan.

D'Artagnan, the swashbuckling hero of Dumas, is coming into his own. His exploits are being made a statue in his memory. The French, who love monuments, have somehow so far forgot to forget that D'Artagnan character immortalized by Dumas.
D'Artagnan's statue? His fellow Gas-cons will tell you there never was a living man more vivid than he.

The town of Auch is grading a site for the statue and the inhabitants are pouring in the money to perchase the statue. The contest is on for the best drama about D'Artagnan, to be enacted by players from the Comedie Francaise.

Origin of Barley.

Barley was probably the earliest plant cultivated by man and the rice of civilization can be dated from the time it was first deliberately sown.
Dr. E. S. Beaven says: Origin of all the present races of civilized man, he told the Institute of Brewing, England, was the wild form still to be found in Palestine. The origin of barley, he said, has been found by explorers in Egypt,
he said.

TEA AND FLOWERS

On the hill above Racquette Beach lies one of Digby's newest and most interesting developments. Since the spring of 1930 there has grown from the hay field of many years a big glass house, the beginnings of what the owner, T. J. Harris, hopes to make the most beautiful garden in Nova Scotia.

Mr. Harris has had unusual experience, having been trained at Kew Gardens, in England, and has had years of successful work, both in the Tropics and in Canada; therefore if, as he puts it, "the weather will only give him a chance," he hopes in time to have a place to which the townspeople and visitors will resort in search of that joy in garden beauty which is the heritage of the English speaking peoples; and also as an inspiration and encouragement to improve and beautify their own gardens. In England the smallest cottage will have its flower box, or in a few inches of ground snatched from the roadside.

When once the citizens of this fair land realize how much such small gardening adds to its attractiveness, Nova Scotia, both town and country, will begin to blossom from one end to the other.

Behind the long glass house at Racquette Garden there is a small lawn, shaded by apple trees and enclosed by flower beds. Here there is served a real English tea, delicious cakes, toast, tea cakes and home made brown bread and butter, brought by a blue and white maid.

The China even has a romantic old English history.

In 1746 an ancient cracked plate was discovered in a South cottage (England cottage). No one knew its age or origin but the design pleased and it was kept until early last century, when it was broken. Even then a fragment was cherished and a few years ago an artist took it from the fragment reconnected the scroll design and establishing a small plant, began to turn out hand made and hand painted china. Now the plant has grown and he makes many forms and designs, but none more interesting than the cool blue and white of the old blue scroll.

This is a little heaven, within easy reach of the town, which those who enjoy a quiet tea among dainty surroundings will find well worth discovering.

GRANVILLE FERRY

Capt. C. D. and Mrs. Morse, of New York, are guests of the captain's sister, Mrs. Albert
Parker, and Mr. Parker.

Mrs. Fred Whitman, of Aylesford, was a week end guest of her father, J. V. Robblee.

Mrs. Craven L. Betts, of New York, arrived on Saturday and is the guest of Miss E. P. Elliott.

Rev. L. F. Wallace was a week end visitor to relatives in this community.

On Saturday evening the Women's Institute met at the home of the president, Miss Primrose Elliott. A good number were present. After the business of the Institute was finished C.
L. Betts gave a literary talk, which was enjoyed by all.

Alfred H. Armstrong, of New York, is a guest of his sister, Mrs. J. T. Thorne, and Mr.
Thorne.

INEXPENSIVE SATISFYING

Sparks Circus Season of 1931 Not Duplicated

Circus Day will soon be a reality. Youngsters and their elders who have been in an anticipatory mood for the past few days will soon bask in the joy, pleasure and entertainment of the "white top." Sparks' Circus, now on its 41st annual tour, will stage two exhibitions on the circus grounds at White House Farm, Digby, on Monday, July 27th, afternoon and evening.

Press representatives who have been calling on the newspapers in the interest of the Sparks' Circus report the programme as the best in history. Many changes have been made in the personnel since the show was here last. The bigger show also required larger tents, both for the main performance and for the menagerie. In fact when the Sparks' trains left winter quarters in Sarasota, Florida, early in April, the show was practically new, being entirely rebuilt during the off season.

Two of the outstanding features of the 1931 tour will be the displays of wild animals, presented in the steel arena by Franz Woska, famous subjugator of jungle beasts, and the Original Nelson Family, peerless acrobats and risley artists. Now in their third generation the Nelson family consists of father, mother, son and four daughters. Many other imported features and novelties will be given prominent displays.

An American is managing the construction of a reservoir, which will have a capacity of 19,000,000 gallons, near Hong Kong, China.

Life should be a route, not a routine.

PORT WADE

Although the tourist business in Digby town does not seem to be "quite up to the mark" there are quite a number of summer guests here. The smaller hotels and rooming houses say that business with them is better than usual, but the larger hotels are complaining. Those located in the nearby villages appear to be getting a good share of the business. Our Smith's Cove correspondent informs us that there are eighty guests at the Harbor View Colony, while Frank Ditmars, of the Sea Breeze Hotel in Deep Brook tells us that that hotel is, so far, enjoying one of the best seasons in its history.

Earle Anderson, of Camp Aldercliff, attended the Maritime Sport Meet, at Halifax, on Saturday, which event was participated in by contestants from all over the Maritime Provinces. He became the individual star of the meet, winning four firsts and scoring twenty points, which put Camp Aldercliff third on the list. The first prizes won were: Running High Jump, Throwing Discus (12 lbs.) Shot Put and the Javelin. Earle is a son of Frank L. Anderson, of Digby, and is a student at Acadia University. For the summer he is on the staff of Camp Aldercliff, at Weymouth North.

BAN IS PLACED ON ADVERTISING SIGNS

New Ruling Effective This Month Will Sweep Provincial Roads Clear of Objectionable Signs

The Minister of Highways, Hon. Percy Black, has announced the regulations respecting advertising signs along the highways of Nova Scotia, outside the limits of cities and incorporated towns, will be brought into effect.

Numerous complaints have reached the Department of Highways, both from residents of the Province and from summer visitors, in respect to the obvious lack of control over advertising signs in Nova Scotia. The regulations that have been made in this respect are similar to those in effect in other provinces in Canada and in force in the more progressive states of the Union.

It is widely felt that the control of advertising signs along our highways is necessary in the interests of public safety, as complaints have frequently arisen with respect to the erection of signs at such dangerous points as sharp curves, road intersections, and level railway crossings. Certain advertising signs containing the word, "Stop" or other imitation of traffic signs are particularly objectionable. The removal of needless signs along our highway is also necessary for the beautification of our highways and in the work of developing our promising tourist trade.

The following are the principal features of the regulations respecting advertising signs:

No signs may be erected on the highway right of way (33 feet on either side of the centre of the highway) except official safety and direction signs.

No advertising signs may be erected, nor existing signs maintained, without a license, within 100 yards from the limit of any highway, except that a person may, without a license, affix one not more than ten feet in length to his place of business, showing his name and articles for sale, or nature of business. This includes a sign showing property for sale.

Licenses will be issued for four classes of signs, as follows:

Advertisements not exceeding 25 square feet in area, $1.00.

Advertisements exceeding 25 square feet but not exceeding 100 square feet, $5.00.

Advertisements exceeding 100 square feet but not exceeding 600 square feet, $10.00.

Other special advertising devices, $10.00.

The following are among the conditions under which licenses may be issued:

Licenses expire on April 30th following the date of issue.

Working on licensed signs may not be changed without permission of the Department.

No signs shall measure more than 50 feet in length and the top shall not be more than 15 feet above the ground and the bottom not less than 3 feet off the ground.

No advertisements may be painted upon, attached to, or made part of a fence, building, rock, or other surface adjacent to the highway, except to advertise a business conducted upon the property.

All advertising signs must be kept in proper condition.

Signs may not be placed in points where they would endanger traffic or where they would interfere with traffic signs or obscure a desirable view, or within any area specially prohibited by the Minister or where they might be reasonably objected to by residents in the vicinity.

PUT POWER CANAL TO FISH CULTURE SERVICE

Unique Plan Tried by Dominion Department on Nova Scotia Salmon River

Carrying out a unique new plan experimentally, the Dominion Department of Fisheries, through its culture division, is this year utilizing the canal of a municipal power plant at Nictaux Falls, in Western Nova Scotia, for the capture and detention of salmon for cultural purposes.

Appropriately enough, perhaps, in national census year, though the condition is coincidental only, the plan is also being used to obtain a census of the salmon that ascend the Nictaux river by means of the fishway at the falls, so that at the end of the season there will be an accurate record showing the number of these fish which went upstream beyond this point each day—information which will be of value in helping to determine future action for securing early run salmon at this point.

Up to June 13th, a total of 528 salmon had gone up the fishway. Of this number 300 have been retained for fish culture purposes.

The Nictaux Falls plan, which was initiated with the consent of the town of Middleton, operator of the power plant, has several important points in its favour. For one thing, it is carried on in a river which has "early run" salmon. For another only limited initial outlay was necessary and the plan is inexpensive in operation. It also has the merit that it does not necessitate any handling of the fish, except at the time when they are stripped of spawn.

As the salmon swim up river they ascend the fishway leading from the foot of the dam to the power canal, and then into a trap, with white painted bottom, at the fishway's outlet. An opening, with wings, leads from

OBITUARY

Charles W. Pyne—Late Thursday evening last there passed away in the Yarmouth Hospital Charles William Pyne, a native of Long Island, Digby Co. The deceased had reached the advanced age of over eighty years, and during the latter part of his life had made his residence at Wellington, Yarmouth County. Mr. Pyne is survived by two sons and two daughters. The funeral took place on Sunday, interment being in the cemetery at Port Maitland.

Mrs. John d'Ambrose — The death occurred at her home in Brighton, on Friday last, after a long illness, of Mrs. John d'Ambrose. She is survived by her husband and large family of children and grandchildren. The funeral took place on Sunday, with interment in the St. Croix R. C. cemetery, at Plympton.

The trap into the canal. The white bottom to the trap makes it possible for the salmon to be readily examined without handling. Perfect fish, showing no sign of injury or net marks, are selected for retention, and when selection has been made the gate across the opening from trap to canal is lifted and the chosen fish swim into the canal. The other fish are sent on their way into the power pond above the fishway and canal and continue their ascent up the river of their own accord.

The Ladies' Hospital Aid extends thanks to those who attended and assisted at the recent Hospital picnic, and especially to Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Faust for the use of their cottage. The proceeds amounted to $35.50.

Have you taken notice of the many beautiful floral displays in town and the surrounding country? The rock garden at the D. A. R. station deserves special comment.

Postage Stamps Are Good On Cheques

Described by some parliamentarians, notably Herbert Spencer, as the greatest nuisance feature of the greatest nuisance tax, the necessity of placing a special two-cent excise tax on cheques is to be dispensed with under the new stamp-tax provisions, which allow the use of the standard postage stamp, which is so much easier to find.

Premier Bennett has intercepted the seemingly minor, but apparently highly interesting information when Liberal members, notably Hon. Fernand Rinfret and Hon. Charles Stewart, were pummeling the proposal to reinstate the two-cent stamp tax on all cheques. After condemning the form of taxation on principle, Hon. Mr. Rinfret went on to say: "There is also the other point that special stamps must be used. That is a nuisance in itself. You have to look for the stamp, and sometimes you have to go a considerable distance to get it."

Premier Bennett—it is provided in the act that postage stamps may be used.

DIGBY TOWN

O I know a land
Where a boy should be;
There are sheep on the hills
And ships on the sea.

There a boy may rove
Till the hills grow brown,
Till the ships come in
And the sheep come down.

There is no other land
Where the hills are green
That is half so fair
As the land I mean.

There is no other land
When the hills are brown,
Where the sweet winds croon

OCTANE RATING 59

The Average of REGULAR
PRICED U. S.
GASOLINES

(U.S. Bureau of Motor Report, March, 1931)

How OCTANE RATING
Is Determined

INTO the head of the testing motor is placed the Midget Bouncing Pin, a scientific instrument which forms an electrical contact when the motor knocks.

The contact caused by the engine knock is at once registered electrically on a dial.

The motor is run on the gasoline whose octane rating is to be measured. The load on the motor is increased until the dial registers knocking.

Without stopping the motor, the gasoline is cut off, and the motor is run, with the same load, on a mixture of octane and heptane.

Different mixtures are tried until the dial again registers knocking. The percentage of octane in the mixture is seen at that time is the octane rating of the gasoline.

Octane is a fluid costing $25 a gallon. Heptane, on the other hand, a motor cannot be made to knock. Heptane is another costly liquid. Using heptane, however, a motor knocks violently.

Therefore, the higher the percentage of octane in the mixture of octane and heptane, which matches the gasoline being tested, the better is the knocking performance and the higher is the octane rating of that gasoline.

Here's Definite Proof of BLUE SUNOCO Superiority

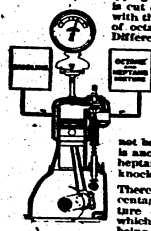

Ask any automotive engineer. Octane rating of OVER 70 in a motor fuel is essential for modern high compression motors. And the premium rating of BLUE SUNOCO—throughout the Dominion—is MORE THAN 72!

That's why, to-day, BLUE SUNOCO remains leader—the premium Motor Fuel at Regular Gas Prices. Four years ago its superiority was proved by the Canadian Automobile Association. BLUE SUNOCO was found to have a knockless rating far above all regular price gasolines. Only ONE premium priced fuel equalled BLUE SUNOCO'S rating. AND THAT COST 4c MORE PER GALLON.

Try BLUE SUNOCO in your own car. Test it. Again and again its superiority has been proved by Canadian authorities.

Here are more miles per dollar. More power per gallon. Here's a really knockless motor fuel. Yet it saves you 3c per gallon. ASK YOUR DEALER.

Bear River Cherry Carnival a Big Success

Despite the rain and disagreeable weather, the Bear River Cherry Carnival, held on Wednesday, after being postponed from the previous day, proved to be one of the "best yet"—a great success in every way. It is estimated that almost four thousand people were in attendance, coming from all parts of western Nova Scotia.

One of the most spectacular events in the morning's proceedings was the half-mile long procession of decorated cars and floats, a procession which surpassed anything of like nature ever before seen in Bear River.

Excellent order was maintained during the whole day, the Provincial Police being on hand to watch over the proceedings. No automobile accidents were reported.

Dinners and suppers were served to the thousands of visitors by the ladies of the town. In the evening a corking good minstrel show was presented in the hall. The proceeds will help to fill the coffers of the newly organized Bear River Fire Brigade and will help purchase some much needed material.

The whole interesting programme of land and water sports was carried out. The prize winners were as follows:

Decorated Cars, (46 entries)—1st, Mrs. Muriel Andrews; 2nd, Ruth Dunn; 3rd, Carl Miller.
Flower—1st, Valentine Barr; 2nd, Charles Harlow; 3rd, Denton Trimper.
Axe Chopping—1st, Eber Peck; 2nd, James Harlow; 3rd, Louie Pictou.
Log Sawing—1st, Eber Peck, Geo.

Oickle, 2nd, Joseph Louis, Solomon McEwan; 3rd, Chas. Harlow, Louie Pictou.

In the spacious rest room of the Overseas Club in London, whither it was recently moved from the office of the agent-general of British Columbia, in the Empire capital, hangs a landscape in pastel, "Bute Inlet." It is a glowing reminder to British Columbians abroad of the unsurpassed scenic grandeur of their province. It is a wordless but eloquent invitation to those who are yet strangers to Canada's Pacific slope to come and view its wonders, sense its vastness and thrill to the same inspiration that filled the creator of the picture and fired his genius.

From the studio of Digby Robinson in Esquimaux the picture came, and its hanging in so frequented a spot as the Overseas Club is directing attention to the work he is doing on the British Columbia coast. It has won many admirers for his unique style.

Digby Robinson works not in oils or water colors, but in a modified form of pastel. He explains it is not uniform pastel work, as many of his tones are obtained by the use of common school pupils' crayons and chalks. It is unnecessary to have resort to a palette, as the production of the tints is done on the picture surface itself, technically known as architects' exhibition board. The colors are thoroughly rubbed in, and Mr. Robinson is confident his work will prove to be no less enduring than pastel pictures of past generations, many of which, adequately protected from handling and the erosive action of the atmosphere, give promise of a life computable only in centuries.

The multitude of color tones nature produces under the varying conditions of light and air are at once the wonder and despair of artists. To capture even a few of these is the most any painter can hope for. Mr. Robinson is satisfied with his choice of materials and methods, at least to the extent that he has found a greater plasticity than he could have achieved in any development of water colors or oils.

An artist who is satisfied in all things is one who is slipping from the heights to the darkness of mediocrity. Digby Robinson is far from feeling the glow of a general content with his achievements. To him art means effort. In every landscape he sees the infinite variety of nature. He comes upon scenes of ineffable beauty that defy reproduction with any materials less alive than the blues and golds and grays nature uses; but he accepts the challenge where it can be accepted, and out of the fine fidelity and patience that illumine his character have grown effects so delicate and so true that even he must regard his success as measurable.

"The sky is not blue color merely; it is blue fire—and can not be painted," wrote Ruskin. Mr. Robinson had not worked long at his art before he discovered that and other truths. Steadily he developed his technique until now he claims for his skies a greater luminosity than he could produce with the use of any other medium.

The love of locality is strong in Mr. Robinson. Born in Rothesay, N. B., of United Empire Loyalist stock, he was educated in Digby, where his father was a postmaster for many years. During his residence in Digby his home was on Birch Street, in the house now owned by Mrs. Lillian Halliday, and he is well remembered by very many people in town. Having won a scholarship at an art school, he went to Brooklyn, N. Y. He lived there and studied for a short period, but, surrendering to economic necessity, he abandoned art as his sole pursuit and attracted to commerce, entered the iron business, in which he continued until 1917. In that year he returned to Canada and, first taking a course of instruction at the Esquimaux navy yard, joined the Atlantic patrol.

Dedication in Trinity Church on Sunday

His Grace Archbishop Worrell, Metropolitan of Eastern Canada, will be at Trinity Anglican church on Sunday morning to dedicate the carved retdos, memorial to Rev. William Driffield. The members of the choir are asked to attend Choir rehearsal this evening, at eight o'clock, to practice special music for the morning service.

Tomorrow, being the Festival of St. James the Apostle and Martyr, there will be a celebration of the Holy Communion at 8 a.m.

The services on Sunday will be as follows:

8 a.m.—Holy Communion.
11 a.m.—Morning Prayer and Dedication.—Preacher, Archbishop Worrell.

3 p.m.—Service at Marshalltown.
7.30 p.m.—Evening Prayer.
Preacher, Rev. A. E. Gabriel.

Homeless As Result of Fire

Gordon Porter, with his wife and seven children, were rendered homeless, when their home at Waterford was destroyed by fire on Sunday morning, between 9 and 10 o'clock.

The fire is supposed to have originated in a defective flue. It was first seen by the occupants of a passing car, who noticed the smoke issuing from the roof and gave the alarm. There was no available water supply, and the flames made rapid progress, but notwithstanding this a large part of the contents of the house were saved.

This property was formerly the homestead of the late Elihu Porter, from whose estate it was purchased by Gordon Porter, who moved there about two years ago.

Wreck of the Empress To Be Sold

The C. P. R. is advertising for tenders for the steamer Empress, as she now lies, in damaged condition, in Saint John. The tenders close at noon on August 10th.

The steamer Empress, which plied between Digby and Saint John from 1916 until last August, when she was replaced by the steamer Princess Helene, was badly damaged in the big fire in Saint John, a few weeks ago. She was built at Newcastle, England, in 1906, originally for the Charlottetown Steam Navigation Company, and was operated as a ferry between Summerside and Point du Chene until 1916, when she was bought by the C. P. R. for the Bay service.

Victoria Beach Bell Tower Burns

The old bell tower and fog alarm that guarded the east side of the Digby Gut, at Victoria Beach, is now a thing of the past, falling prey to flames about four o'clock on Monday morning. The building was burned to the ground.

This building was erected some fifteen or twenty years ago, on the Granville side of the Gut, and was kept by John McGrath, of Victoria Beach. The origin of the fire is unknown. It is understood that the structure will be replaced.

Caught Mackerel With a Shovel

On Friday last H. B. Nichols, of Rossy, sent his son Arthur, aged 15 years, to the shore with a team to get a few loads of sand with which to repair a road. He had with him a shovel and fork. He did not come home at noon, but was in plain sight from the house. When he did return, he had 37 mackerel which he had taken while standing on the bank, and his fishing implement was his shovel, with which he had scooped them ashore.

Motor Vessel Gerald D. Is Missing—Anxiety Felt

Some anxiety is felt for the safety of the fishing boat, Gerald D., Capt. Oswald Banks, of Centerville, in this county, which has been missing for some days. With a crew of five she left Yarmouth on Wednesday, of last week for the Seal Island fishing grounds. On Saturday morning when about 25 miles southwest of that island, she developed engine trouble, and as Capt. Banks or the engineer, were unable to remedy the trouble, three of the crew were put in the dory to row to Seal Island for help. They arrived safely and help was at once sent, but the boat has not been seen since. She was well found and in charge of skilful men, and it is thought they are safe, as there have been no big storms. A number of vessels are engaged in the search.

Well Known Railroad Man Dies Suddenly

Robert Golden, of Yarmouth, a locomotive fireman on the D. A. R., was found dead in his automobile, in front of the home of his stepson, Griffin Bauckman, Annapolis Royal, with whom he boarded, on Sunday afternoon. He had been driving with the family earlier in the day, and upon returning left the car, apparently as well as usual. It was noticed later that he was sitting in the back seat, and when Mr. Bauckman went out to call him in, he found he was dead. Dr. Sutherland was summoned and pronounced death due to heart trouble, the result of a serious illness of blood poisoning, eighteen months ago.

(Mr. Golden was well known in Digby where for some months he has been daily as fireman on the "Suburban")

Yarmouth Kiwanis to Take Charge of Meeting

Harold Johnston, chief engineer of the N. S. Power Commission, was the speaker at last Monday's meeting of the Digby Kiwanis Club, at the Pines Hotel, choosing as his subject, "The Tidal Powers of Nova Scotia," touching upon the wonderful possibilities of developing tidal power at Goat Island in the Annapolis Basin; at Round Hill, on the Annapolis River; at Noel Head, and other Bay of Fundy points. Mr. Johnston stated that the estimated horse power of the Bay of Fundy tides was 178,000,000, of which it may be possible to develop 3,000,000 horse power in time, but he said that it was improbable that even 1,000,000 could be developed during the present century.

There was a good attendance of the luncheon, with visitors from many parts of the United States and Canada. Mr. Johnston conveyed greetings from the Halifax Club to the youngest sister club.

The next luncheon of the Digby Kiwanis will be held in the Pines Hotel, on Monday, at 6.30 p.m., when the Yarmouth Club will take full charge of the meeting. Dr. Ledbetter will be the chief speaker, and his subject will be an interesting one. It is expected that some thirty Kiwanians from that town will be present.

The east side of Water Street, between MacPhee's store and R. Turnbull's, is being extended out into the Basin.

THE POLICE AS A CAREER

(Toronto Mail and Empire)

Universities are some times said to be turning out too many graduates for the positions available. If this is so, a new career seems to be open to them. At the annual convention of the Chief Constables' Association of Canada, held in Quebec, Chief Newton, of Winnipeg, secretary-treasurer, said that of all public services the one that has attracted most during the last twenty-five years is the police service, for it has changed from an occupation to a profession to which men are proud to belong, and rightly so. "Today," he said, "men from the universities and colleges are joining police departments in increasingly large numbers everywhere. The fact is there has been open before the young men of the present generation a new career, a career of public service, which while the commencing pay is adequate, offers also plums to those who seek them, provides adventure, and calls for initiative and enterprise." This new and, it might be added, honorable career, would become better known if the secretary in his next report, gave some statistics on the subject. Incidentally such statistics might help to soften the traditional enemy between students and police.

UNSELFISHNESS

Self—that elusive, intangible, something which is each of us, has been defined as "A tiny flicker of consciousness, serving as the agent of our activities, the subject of our feelings, the guardian of our character and capacities." Too many of us, however, instead of keeping self concealed from the public gaze, keep it as a "touch-me-not" sense of reserve which we show to the world at large, or parade between ourselves and our fellow-men.

We spend far more time looking down at self to see what we can do to serve our own interests, happiness and comfort than we do in trying to look about and see what we may do for others. One of the most powerful factors in the world today is unselfishness. The life that is lived in unselfishness—lived to help others is the happiest and most successful life.

Sometimes we practice forms of selfishness which we do not recognize as such, we may be very generous in sharing our possessions with others, and yet do it in such a way that after all it is nothing but selfishness.

We are sometimes led to think that this old virtue of unselfishness is becoming lost to the world, as we seem to see it so infrequently. Yet if all the facts were known we might discover that there are more people in the world today doing deeds for others than we dream of. In the little book entitled, "The Faith of an American," Woodberry, while writing on the character of Wendell Phillips, and speaking of his home says: "A rich man's home, as wealth was then accounted in that community—foregoing enjoyments, refinements, luxuries, natural to the master's birth and tastes, in order that the unfortunate might be less miserable, is the monument by which in my mind I remember him: a life of daily sacrifice."

People at this time seem to be trying harder than ever before to obtain happiness, and yet like the bluebird it seems to be always fleeing just beyond their reach. The best way to bring happiness to ourselves or to get ourselves out of our difficulties, is to try to bring happiness to others or to try to get others out of their difficulties. There is nothing that brings so much happiness to the one who gives it, as giving to make happy through personal sacrifice to himself. This is his compensation.

Victor Hugo once wrote:

"Be like the bird that, on the bough too frail to bear him, gaily sings. He carols though the slender branches fail. He knows that he has wings."

We too may banish selfishness with joy if we only will. In this age of selfishness and self-seeking it is a great relief to come in contact with people who are living lives which are really unselfish. What higher ideal could any man or woman aim at, than to cultivate the beautiful characteristics of unselfishness?

THE SWALLOW

Whenever I look at a swallow
I think of my tailor, and say:
"No sign of a chest that is hollow
You ever appear to display;
And your coat isn't slack
As it hangs on your back.
Like mine, when I'm dressed up that way."

"Pretty bird, you go darting and wheeling
All day 'neath the blue of the sky;
Yet no wrinkle your vest is revealing
And your shirt front is never awry;
Any your wife on the wire,
As she views your attire Never bothers to straighten your tie."

"Oh, wonderful aerial sailor,
You were born to the swallowtail dress;
You leave no excuse to your tailor
When your garment is not a success;
But my chest is too flat
For an outfit like that,
And my waistline no fitter can guess."

"But this I have learned, little swallow,
That each for his purpose is made.
We're all built for the paths we must follow,
And none may the others invade.
The suit which you wear,
As you swing through the air,
Can't be made out of broad cloth and braid."

OBITUARY

Garnet McGrath—The funeral services for Garnet McGrath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen McGrath, Port Wade, were very largely attended on Saturday afternoon. Mr. H. S. Hartlin, pastor of the United Baptist church, led the devotional service, and the choir sang softly, "His Jewel." Mr. Carty rendered a solo, "Gather Up the Sunbeams." The floral tributes were many and beautiful. A touching scene occurred at the grave, when the primary class, of which Garnet was a member, sang sweetly, "Jesus Loves Me." Nine little boys and girls dropped a flower on the little white casket, as they marched and sang. Much sympathy is felt for Mr. and Mrs. McGrath and the rest of the family, who are left to mourn the little child who passed away earlier in the week from tubercular meningitis, aged 5½ years.

Mae Saulnier—The death took place, on Tuesday last week, at her home in Woodvale, of Miss Mae Saulnier, at the age of forty-eight years. Deceased was a daughter of the late Henry Saulnier and Mrs. Saulnier. She had been in poor health for a number of years. Deceased was an accomplished pianist and for a number of years was organist at St. Vincent de Paul church, at Salmon River. She leaves behind, an aged mother, in Woodvale, and a brother, Neil Saulnier, in the United States. The funeral took place on Thursday morning from St. Vincent de Paul church, the Rev. Father Maillet officiating. Interment was made at Salmon River.

ANNUAL ROLL CALL SERVICE

The annual roll call service of the Riverside United Baptist church, Weymouth North, was held in the church on Tuesday evening of last week, it being the 132nd anniversary of the founding of the church. Following is the order of the service:

Hymn—"He Is So Precious to Me"— Congregation.
Scripture—Matthew iv: 1-11—Rev. F. C. Amery.
Prayer—Rev. E. S. Mason, D.D.
Duet—"My Saviour"—Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Mullen, of New Tusket.

Rev. F. C. Amery, pastor of the church, gave a short history of the church. It was founded in 1799 by seven persons, and the original building stood on the site now occupied by its successor. It was known as the "Sissiboo" church. The first minister was the Rev. Enoch Turner. Another of the pioneer ministers of this church was the Rev. Thomas Randall, who had charge of the pastorate from 1831 to 1876, the parish then taking in not only Weymouth, Ashmore and New Tusket, as now, but also as far up the Bay as Hill Grove. During his pastorate he married 475 couples and baptised 532 persons.

During the taking of the offering, which amounted to $53.70 (which will be used for the Denominational Funds), the choir sang, "The Spirit and the Bride Say Come."

Rev. E. S. Mason, D. D., of Wolfville, secretary of the home mission board, preached a most interesting and helpful sermon on the subject of, "Worship and Slavery."

This was followed by a solo "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," by Mrs. R. S. Claycomb, of East Orange, N. J., who annually spends the summer months with Mr. Claycomb, at Camp Aldercliff.

The service closed with the singing of "When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder," and the benediction.

SEA BROOK AND ROXVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Octive L. Morrell, of Barton, spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Muise.

Mr. and Mrs. George Van Tassel, of the Lighthouse Road, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Budd.

The Misses Bertha M. B. Budd and Esther Budd have gone to Bridgetown for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Bruce and family, of Centrelea, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gibbons.

Mr. Curtis and Ralph Height, of North Range, are at present employed by William Porter.

NOTED EXHIBITION SPECIALIST TAKES CHARGE OF WORLD'S GRAIN SHOW BUILDING

World's Grain Exhibition and Conference Building

J. O. Turcotte, Canadian Exhibition Commissioner, has arrived in Regina for the purpose of conferring with members of the executive and exhibition committees of the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference to be held at Regina in 1932. Mr. Turcotte will have charge of the interior decoration of the building specially erected to house the 1932 exhibition and conference.

Recently, Mr. Turcotte returned to Canada from the British Trade Exposition at Buenos Aires, Argentina, where he had complete charge of the Canadian Pavilion. He is expected to remain in Regina for a few days in conference with various officials of the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference.

Mr. Turcotte, who is a French-Canadian by birth and a Paris trained architect, was appointed Canadian Exhibition Commissioner in 1925. For some years prior he had been assistant exhibition commissioner. He was responsible, almost in its entirety, for the Canadian pavilion at the British Empire Exhibition, Wembley, England, 1924-25, and for the Canadian Pavilion at New Zealand in 1924. He was also in charge of the decorative features of the buildings which housed the World's Poultry Congress at Ottawa in 1927, the Canadian pavilion at the Antwerp Exhibition in 1930, the Canadian pavilion at the World's Poultry Congress at the Crystal Palace, London, England, last year, the Canadian exhibit at the Paris Exposition, the same year and the Canadian Pavilion at the British Trade Exposition at Buenos Aires last March.

On two occasions Mr. Turcotte has been signally honored. At the opening of the Wembley Exhibition, attended by over 110,000 people, he was one of five presented, by command, to His Majesty the King, and at Antwerp he was also presented, receiving congratulations on both occasions for the excellence of his work.

Mr. Turcotte personally prepares the plans and specifications of the buildings in which Canadian exhibitions are housed. He supervises the construction, designs, educational and commercial exhibit stands and is also responsible for the entire color schemes and decorative features.

Mr. Turcotte is the originator of the style of decoration work in need, samples of which have already been displayed at Regina in the form of the crest of the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference. When his services for the decorative work of the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference building at Regina were made available to the organization by the Canadian Department of Trade and Commerce he saw the opportunity to develop the seed style of interior decoration as being particularly appropriate for the first exclusive world's grain exhibition and conference in history.

This style of interior decoration came as a result of Mr. Turcotte's hobby of mosaic work. If color schemes could be worked out in similar schemes could be evolved from natural Canadian products and for the interior decorative work of the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference he has chosen seeds of various kinds which will permit him to work out the most elaborate decorative features.

Those who have been associated with Mr. Turcotte at former world expositions state that he has built up a reputation of never being late. All Canadian pavilions of which he has had charge at expositions in different parts of the world have been ready for the public by opening day. He created a noteworthy record at Wembley in 1924 when the Canadian Pavilion was the only one of the hundreds of structures actually complete in all detail at the hour set for opening.

Mr. Turcotte also established another record in connection with the Buenos Aires Exposition. The Canadian Pavilion was actually built in London, England, and consisted of a wooden building about 80 feet high, 100 yards long and 40 yards wide, made in 3,000 pieces. The pieces were numbered, packed into thousands of cases, the whole weighing about 1,200 tons. They were shipped to Buenos Aires and upon his arrival Mr. Turcotte laid out the work, set the building up, planned and erected the decorative features and had the pavilion ready for the public nearly two weeks before the official date of opening. English newspapers, in commenting upon this remarkable feat, described the building, at the time of packing, as the world's greatest jigsaw puzzle.

The above picture lay-out shows the magnificent new building erected on the exhibition grounds at Regina to house the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference in 1932. The cost of the building and decorations is approximately $250,000. It has an area of 150,000 square feet with an exhibit frontage in excess of one and one-half miles. The building is practically ready to hand over to the National Committee of the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference who, in turn, will place it at the disposal of Mr. Turcotte (below) for the purpose of interior decoration.

of Annapolis Royal, were the guests of Mrs. Kelsall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Thomas, at the "Out-of-the-Way" Inn, on Sunday. On their return they were accompanied by their son, John, who had been spending a week with his grandparents.

Mrs. Walter Outhouse and daughter, Ellen, spent the week end in Tiverton. On their return they were accompanied by Mrs. Outhouse's father, Herbert Outhouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Irwin and daughter, who have been guests of Mrs. J. H. Melendy, returned to New York last Friday.

Special services were conducted in the United Baptist church last week. The pastor, Rev. H. W. Habel, was assisted by Dr. Sidey, of Kingston.

Mrs. Minerva Sullis celebrated her 94th birthday on Tuesday. She was remembered by friends far and near.

Among the recent arrivals are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Witherbee, Brookline, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Shennette, Toronto; Rev. A. S. and Mrs. Payzant and son Arthur, of Beverly, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gore, and Mr. Patien.

George Lohnes, P. L. Christensen and family, of Matland Bridge, were recent guests of Mrs. Minerva Sullis.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack, of Bridgetown, were guests of Mrs. Matilda Cornwell on Sunday.

There is nothing truly valuable that can be purchased without pains and labor.—Joseph Addison.

Circus Day Will Be Children's Aid Tag Day

The work in which the Children's Aid Society, of Digby, is concerned has been carried along quietly, yet effectively, during the past twelve months. One of the striking features of the Society is that it is completely independent of all other societies and organizations, except for co-operative purposes. It is also free from governmental and municipal control, in its management; however, it is an incorporated body, having a specific work of its own to do in caring for friendless, destitute and incorrigible children.

The society's legal powers and duties are defined in and governed by "The Children's Protection Act," but the largest and most important part of its work is of a personal, voluntary, and humanitarian character. Every member of the society is a committee of one, in his or her rural municipalities, the societies combine to a large extent, depending upon the ability of the agent and the financial resources of the society, the functions of a family and community welfare agency with their child welfare activities. Indeed, child, family and community welfare work cannot be separated. "I am profoundly convinced," said Lloyd George, "that we need to devote more thorough and systematic care to child welfare problems.

It is of general interest to know that the Children's Aid Society, of Digby, whose activities extend, not only to the Town of Digby, but to the whole county, has during the past year twelve children, several of whom were utterly destitute and were living under conditions of want, almost beyond conception.

As to the activities and interest of the Society in the delinquent child, its object and aim is to save the child from becoming a criminal. Some of these erring children have responded in a remarkable way to the Society's policy toward them.

is his sea. And like all true creative geniuses, he feels an urge to pass on to others the message nature brings to him.

Digby Robinson's home is a cosy bungalow that nestles among vines and conifers little more than a stone's throw from the Strait of Juan de Fuca, across which are to be seen the mountains of the State of Washington, with now and then a fleeting glimpse of snow-capped Mount Rainier, 140 miles away.

Between the bungalow and the sea is a fringe of low-lying fir which away in the breeze and seem to be whispering of ages gone by, when not white men, but red men, pitched their camps beneath them. If to be an artist a man must 'catch glimpses of 'worlds which no mortal can see but with the vision of genius,' here, indeed, is a spot fashioned by nature to soothe him into those moods, where the fetters of the workaday world fall away and the spirit of creation takes possession of him.

At present in the studio home are to be seen more than a score of scenes produced within the past few months. The largest, "Knight Inlet, Mount Lang," is a charming view of a tortuous arm of the Pacific east of the head of Vancouver Island, flanked by timbered mountains, snow-mantled Mount Lang, patriarch of the neighborhood, in the far distance. A wisp of smoke curls about the summit of a verdure-clad hill in the left middle foreground. It is an extremely realistic piece of work, and the beholder feels that actually was what he saw—one of those drifting ethereal wreaths of cloud that lie so lightly on the peaks they seem unreal.

Ucleat Rapids, near the entrance of Bute Inlet, was chosen for depiction at its most turbulent moment, with the surging flood tide churning it into a whirling mass between cape and island. The crayon result is impressive, the nearer hills being olive green and the white peaks in the background little more than a suggestion.

"Head of Bute Inlet" is an early morning scene. The radiance of the rising sun, glorifying the rolling broken sides of the rocky hills, broken by foaming cascades, has been caught with precision. It is a thing of brilliance.

As a background for his view of Desolation Sound, Mr. Robinson had the lofty summits near Jervis Inlet, many miles to the southeast.

"Loughborough Inlet," is an arresting bit of British Columbia scenery in its softest mood. The stillness of 4 a. m. gives the water a mirror-like placidity, and the gentle first light of day heightens the sense of restfulness.

Digby Robinson has voyaged up and down the coast of British Columbia in a strange assortment of craft. Coastal liners, offering all the luxuries of modern ocean travel, have carried him to the chief harbors. He has traveled on little freighters which wound their way through the innumerable islands, dropping and picking up cargoes at ports too obscure for the liners on their train-like schedules. He has cruised as a guest on private yachts, whose courses were shaped only by the desires of the voyagers. He has trusted himself to tugs, those miniature tramps whose confirmed habit is to nose into all sorts of odd channels and backwaters. All enlarged his acquaintance with the country's western sea margin.

Partly because there is much gypsy in him, but chiefly because they brought him most intimately into contact with the environment he sought, he speaks with greatest fondness of the tugs. To the inspiration their wanderings brought him he attributes many of his most admired works.

For Digby Robinson art exists not merely that it rules may exist, but primarily that it may add to man's enjoyment, that it may relieve the darker struggles of life, and as long as he feels his pictures contribute to that end, he purposes to continue to create them. His untrammelled attitude towards his work, the richness of his field, and his enlightened enthusiasm, lead his admirers to predict he will make for himself a secure place in the history of Canadian art.

OCTANE RATING

Octane Rating of U. S.
Regular Price Gasolines

59

BLUE SUNOCO

How OCTANE RATING Is Determined

INTO the head of the testing motor is placed the Midgely Bouncing Pin, a scientific instrument which forms an electrical contact when the motor knocks.

The contact caused by the engine knock is at once registered electrically on a dial.

The motor is run on the gasoline whose octane rating is to be measured. The load on the motor is increased until the dial registers knocking.

Without stopping the motor, the gasoline is cut off, and the motor is run, with the same load, on a mixture of octane and heptane.

Different mixtures are tried until the dial again registers knocking. The percentage of octane in the mixture is used as a standard for the octane rating of the gasoline.

Octane is a fluid costing $25 a gallon. Running on octane, a motor cannot be made to knock. Heptane is another costly liquid. Using heptane, however, a motor knocks violently.

Therefore, the higher the percentage of octane in the mixture of octane and heptane, which matches the gasoline being tested, the better is the knockless performance and the higher is the octane rating of that gasoline.

Here's Definite Proof of BLUE SUNOCO Superiority

The higher the Octane rating of motor fuel, the less the engine will knock. To-day Automotive engineers everywhere agree that for modern high-compression motors an Octane rating of OVER 70 is absolutely essential. And the premium rating of BLUE SUNOCO is MORE THAN 72—throughout the Dominion!

BLUE SUNOCO was the first knockless Motor Fuel to be sold at ordinary gas prices. The Canadian Automobile Association proved, once and for all, that BLUE SUNOCO had a higher knockless rating than all regular price gasolines... that it was better than three higher-priced motor fuels... and that it was equalled by only ONE premium priced fuel WHICH COST 4c MORE PER GALLON.

Test for yourself BLUE SUNOCO's superiority. Know what it is to have more miles per dollar—more power per gallon—more all-round motoring satisfaction. Use BLUE SUNOCO. You'll save at least 3c per gallon. ASK YOUR DEALER.

OBITUARY

Mrs. H. Clifford Rice—The sympathy of the many friends in his home town of Bear River, goes out to H. Clifford Rice, of Kentville, in the loss of his wife, nee Gladys Marie Kennedy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Kennedy, of Hortonville, King's, Co., who died at her home in Kentville, on Sunday night, at the age of 36 years. The late Mrs. Rice had been critically ill for several months, and her death was not unexpected. Beside her husband and small son, her immediate surviving relatives are her father and mother, two sisters, Mrs. Fred Rand of Cambridge; Miss Edith Kennedy, Kentville; and two brothers, Gordon and Waldon, also of Kentville. The largely attended funeral service was held on Tuesday morning at the Roman Catholic church, in Kentville, the Rev. Father Donahue officiating, and interment in the adjoining cemetery. Many lovely floral pieces attested to the love and sympathy of relatives, personal friends, and acquaintances. Among those out of town who attended the funeral were Mr. Rice's father and aunt, J. Arthur Rice, and Miss A. N. Rice, of Bear River; and Mrs. E. F. Powers, of Deep Brook.

Miss Gladys Warren, of Westboro, Mass., arrived home on Monday.

United Church services at Clementsvalle, at 7:30 p.m. Sunday School will meet at the close of the morning service. The Adult Bible Class meets with the Sunday School. Our theme is "The Growth and Power of the Early Church," using the Acts of the Apostles as the basis of the study.

UNITED BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. A. A. MacLeod, B. A. Pastor

Services on Sunday will be as follows: 10:30 a.m.—Morning worship; sermon theme will be "The Two Paths". 3:00 p.m.—Preaching service at Greenland, 7:30 p.m.—Short evening service of one hour; sermon—the second in a series on "A Devil's Trinity". The Church school, with classes for all ages, meets for bible study immediately following the morning service. Strangers and visitors are extended a hearty welcome to any or all of these services.

The regular weekly social prayer service will be held on Wednesday evening, as usual.

The United Baptist church held its annual garden party on the grounds of Mrs. John Roop, on Wednesday afternoon of last week. Weather conditions were perfect, and the stately maples surrounding the lawn, made a fitting background for the bountiful laden tables, and booths where handwork and fancy articles were displayed. About 250 people were seated at the tables and did justice to the splendid fare provided.

Mrs. Kate Follett, and son Reid, and Mrs. T. Smith, of South Brantree, Mass., and Miss Sarah Lantz, of Fox River, N. S., were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Greene.

COSTLY MOSQUITO PEST

FOUND TO-DAY IN ALL LANDS AND CLIMATES.

Origin of Mosquito is a Mystery—No One is Immune From Bite—It is the Female That Does the Stinging.

Next time a mosquito alights upon your body (or, for the sake of your comfort, upon a companion), whip out a magnifying glass and watch her. She is always "she", for the male mosquito never bites—will reveal to your eyes a complete index to her feelings.

Next time she rubs her legs, wings, and proboscis and sings in a low tone; if she rubs her wings very fast for a short time with her six feet beneath her, she is anticipating a delightful feast. She is in the throes of a complete feeling of pleasure.

But if she flies away as soon as she alights, and remains at a distance, with her proboscis curved upward, she is giving vent to a feeling of disgust and repulsion. If the little gnat-winged lady keeps one or two of her hind legs bent upward, and moves her wings fast without coming to rest, she is a little afraid of you. This is her signal of caution.

"Nonsense," says somebody; "how can anyone know these things?" "Probably," says another, "we know."

For about ten years, says a writer in Tit-Bits, Dr. Rudolfs has been weather-analyzing, chemico-analyzing, and biologically analyzing mosquitoes. For the last four summers he has lived in the swamps, allowing the pests to bite him. Always equipped with charts, barometers, thermometers, velocimeters, and hundreds of chemical compounds, he has tabulated his observations every few minutes. He knows why mosquitoes bite, when they bite, how fiercely they bite under any given set of conditions, and he has been able to determine the taste of almost any chemical.

When the mosquito originated, or where, seems to be a mystery. But the fact remains that it is found today in all lands and climates. There seemed to be little chance of control in the Panama canal, or in Cuba during the Spanish-American war, during which more men died of malaria than of enemy bullets. Nevertheless, thanks to the ingenuity of modern sanitation experts, the malarial plague and yellow fever, formerly carried by the mosquito, are no longer greatly feared in these regions—because the breeding of the Anopheles and of the Stomoxys has been effectively checked.

Asked the man in the street under what conditions the mosquito bites, he will usually answer, "When it is hot, humidity is high, and there is no wind." "The reply," "Eighty mosquitoes sighted in one minute, biting very ferociously."

On a warm day, in the same place, the temperature was 84, the humidity was 76, the wind was blowing at the rate of only four miles per hour, and the mosquitoes were cloudy—and yet only one mosquito landed each minute while these were the conditions listed; and the lone mosquito failed to show little inclination to bite.

So the true answer must be different from that of the man in the street. With a decrease of only two degrees in temperature, an increase of two degrees in humidity, and a lessened velocity of the wind, there was almost an entire cessation of activity. All through Dr. Rudolfs' charts and graphs appear the same type of apparent inconsistencies in the habits of the pest. If man could regulate the weather, Dr. Rudolfs could tell what conditions of temperature and humidity should be maintained for the elimination of the mosquito. But the regulation of the weather by man seems highly unlikely at present. So Dr. Rudolfs and his sanitary engineers have sought to find the next best means of achieving extinction. In Panama and in Cuba the method was chiefly drainage. Dr. Rudolfs has tabulated the effects of several dozen chemicals on the pests in the marshes, and may have found the key to the situation.

Pyrethrum is the strongest repellent yet discovered. It is a powder made from the chrysanthemum flower. The aroma of this substance kills the mosquito within a few minutes. Among the other chemicals with which Dr. Rudolfs experimented there may be one which will be available in the near future for use on a big scale in killing the larvae while they are in the water. Kerosene has been used to some extent to this end, with fair results.

Any discussion of mosquitoes usually brings forth from someone the statement that he is immune from mosquitoes. That the pests do not bite him. People who say this usually believe it. Dr. Rudolfs began to believe it, although he was frankly puzzled.

Then one day he brought out on the marsh with him an elderly man who claimed that he had never been bitten by a mosquito in his life. All day long, while Rudolfs was busy slapping the pests all over his body, the elderly man walked about in apparent comfort. In the evening he grinned and said triumphantly, "I told you so, didn't I?" And Dr. Rudolfs had to agree that it certainly seemed that the elderly man was immune from bites.

On the way home, however, they rode in a truck. Rudolfs was seated behind his guest and was interested to see about fifty mosquitoes on the man's neck and beneath his shirt, cloaked to the bursting point with the blood on which they were feeding. The victim was oblivious to them and was amazed when Rudolfs told him to run his hand over the back of his neck.

GOOD WILL PRESENTATION

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Clarke, of River View Lodge, Bear River, were given a surprise gift by the guests of the Lodge on Tuesday afternoon. Most of the guests, about 35 in number, who come to the Lodge every summer, being appreciative of the efforts of Mr. and Mrs. Clarke to make their stay pleasant and entertaining, clubbed together and presented them with an electric clock of latest design and finish. The clock requires no winding and will run as long as the electricity is constant. Dr. H. C. Groscup, of New York City, made the presentation speech to which Mr. and Mrs. Clarke both responded with a few well chosen words. They felt that the sentiment thus expressed by their guests was more to them than the material gift. They will keep the clock in the Lodge living room as a constant reminder of the good will expressed by their guests in the summer of 1931.

Miss Katherine Parker of Boston, is the guest of Mrs. Emerson Read.

Miss Melita Ford has been engaged to teach in the advanced department in the Caledonia (Queens Co.) school, for the fall term. Miss Ford, who matriculated from the Bear River Oakdene School, has recently graduated from St. Francis Xavier University, with a B.Sc. degree. Her mother, Mrs. Rose Ford, is the efficient teacher on the local Indian reserve.

JOGGIN' BRIDGE

Mrs. H. T. Petrie spent a few days in Bear River recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Alcorn, of Bear River, spent Sunday the guests of Mrs. Alcorn's sister, Mrs. M. M. Woodman.

Mr. and Mrs. Arleigh Banks, of Greenwood, visited friends here on Monday.

Alfred Armstrong and son Jack, of New York, were calling on friends in this village last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Smith are spending a few days in the village.

Mrs. Edward Riley, of Saint John, is visiting Mrs. S. I. D'Arcy.

Rev. C. L. Snow is spending a few days in Kingston.

Rev. G. C. Warren spent the week end in Bridgewater.

J. H. Farwell is spending a few days in Saint John on a business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Wilson spent Sunday as guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wilson.

Mrs. H. H. Woodman spent Sunday as the guest of Mrs. H. L. Woodman.

VICTORIA BEACH

Miss Sadie McFadden returned to her home in Lynn, Mass., last week, after spending her vacation with her sister, Mrs. Eddie Ellis.

A number from here attended the funeral of Minnie Halliday, at Hillsburn, on Monday.

Reid McGrath returned to Lynn on Tuesday of last week, after visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McGrath.

Mrs. Stephen Haynes is visiting her daughter, Mrs. George H. Haynes.

Sunday visitors at Charles Boudreau's were: Mr. and Mrs. George Gates, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boudreau, jr., and family, Granville Ferry.

Mrs. Stephen Ellis and son, Cecil, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Davis, of Lynn, Mass., are staying at the former's home here, for the summer months. Seats that become sleeping berths, a buffet, and a wireless are to be fitted to new luxury motor coaches to run between Paris, Berlin and Warsaw. The trip between Paris and Berlin will cost about $515 and occupy twenty-seven hours.

Self-confidence is the first requisite to great undertakings.—Dr. Johnson.

Great Railroad Has Fine Police Force

White gloves, part of their official dress, are especially appropriate to members of the Canadian Pacific Railway Police, not only for the smart touch thus added to their blue uniform, but because they are emblematic of the force itself, an organization of spotless reputation and unflinching courtesy. Not only is this picket body of men, uniformed and ununiformed, the safeguard of the property of the world's greatest transportation system and its thousands of patrons, but its members are friends and mentors to countless travellers in all parts of the Dominion. Wherever the company has an interest, be it a great terminal, a wharf or a vast freight yard, "the man in blue" is to be found. Many of the constables and their officers are ex-servicemen and at their head is Brigadier-General E. de B. Panet, C.M.G., D.S.O., A.D.C., a distinguished Canadian soldier with a splendid record as a staff officer during the Great War. The force has won many trophies for first-aid work and also in revolver shooting, its Ontario team having captured the Canadian police revolver championship for the whole Dominion this year.

Fishing Industry

Topic of Parley

Fishing experts and inspectors were in session in Digby several days last week, leaving for their homes on Saturday. It was one of the most successful conferences ever held in Western Nova Scotia, in connection with the St. Andrew's biological station arrived a few days ago and held a joint session with H. H. Marshall, supervisor of fisheries, and seven fisheries inspectors. There was an interchange of ideas both in the seeking and dispensing of information relative to the fishing industry, also to statistical work and stock taking of the western Nova Scotia district. Those attending were: Dr. A. G. Huntsman, Dr. H. Besson, Dr. G. W. Jeffers, Dr. J. A. Stephenson, Dr. J. N. Morton, Dr. V. D. Veadovr, Dr. Helen J. Battle, Dr. Anne M. Jeffers, Dr. Viola M. ## OBITUARY

Mrs. Bernard Marshall — A very sudden death took place at Marshalltown on Friday of last week, when Bessie, wife of Bernard M. Marshall, of Brighton, Mass., died. She had been in poor health for some months and on Monday of last week, with Mr. Marshall, arrived at the old homestead in Marshalltown, to spend a vacation, and where it was hoped the rest and quiet would be beneficial. On Friday, however, she was taken with a bad turn and passed away almost before any assistance could be rendered. Mrs. Marshall was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Gray, of Yarmouth County. The remains were sent to Brighton on Saturday.

Question — Why is it that thousands of American tourists each take home a few pounds of Morse's Selected Orange Pekoe Tea?
Answer — Because they find it superior to any tea they can buy in the United States.

No Wonder He Was Surprised

A letter was recently received in Digby from Greece, which relates a rather interesting little story. The writer was a young man from the Valley, who has been engaged in archeological work in that country. The ancient city on which they are working, is situated a few miles from Athens, and dates back into early history. He speaks of watching a laborer dig out a very fragile vase. He was handing it with great care, and when he had removed it, the writer goes on to say, "Imagine my astonishment when the man reached out for a piece of paper in which to wrap his find, to see him take up a copy of The Digby Weekly Courier. And it was quite a late copy, too."

Our Air Band Concerts Assured for Digby

The Digby Town Council has appropriated $60.00 for two concerts, costing $100, on condition that the public raise the other $40. A committee of hustling business men will begin at once to collect the amount required, but they have conceived the happy idea of increasing the amount sufficiently to secure the band for a separate engagement in connection with the Hospital Fair, August 19. Bandmaster Yates assures the committee that the band will contribute $15 to the Hospital Fair by reducing the customary charge to $35. The committee is therefore undertaking to raise a total of $75, which will assure two concerts for the town and an extra one for the hospital. The committee anticipates an immediate response and have provided for an over-subscription. Every dollar in excess of the required sum will be given to the Hospital Fair Funds. The concerts will be rendered by the First Battalion Band (Annapolis Regiment), under the direction of Paul Yates, and will be given at the band stand, probably during the second and fourth weeks of August, with the Hospital engagement on Wednesday of the

HOSPITAL NOTES

The postponed business meeting of the Ladies' Hospital Aid will be held at the Court House this afternoon at three o'clock. This will be the last meeting before the Fair and a full attendance is requested.

Miss Campbell, R. N., superintendent of the Digby General Hospital, is spending her vacation at her home in Whycomagh. Mrs. J. W. Merkle, R. N., is relieving in her absence.

Recent discharges from the Digby General Hospital include Mrs. Burgess Winchester, and Miss Bernice Roop, of Digby.

Miss Jackson, of East Orange, N. J., is a patient at the Digby General Hospital, suffering from injuries received from a fall at Harbor View, Smith's Cove.

Another silent policeman has been set up on the corner of Birch and Carleton Streets. The last one was knocked down by an American car on Tuesday morning. How many does this make?

third week. The committee announce that even the smallest sum will be accepted, but liberal subscriptions will be greatly appreciated by all concerned.

WHO'S WHO

James B. Fairbairn

A FRUIT grower of many years' experience in the Niagara Peninsula and active in farmers' organizations, James B. Fairbairn, Deputy Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, is associated with the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference as a member of the Provincial Committee of Ontario.

Newcastle, Ontario, was his birthplace and his education was obtained in the public and high schools of Toronto and the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph.

Mr. Fairbairn has been president of the Niagara Peninsula Fruit Growers' Association, of the Farmers' Club, and chairman of the Board of Education. He is a director of the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association, and is a member of the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculturists.

Lawn bowling is one of Mr. Fairbairn's hobbies. He has been president of the Ontario Lawn Bowlers' Association and of the Dominion organization.

Kiwanis Club Luncheon

Last Monday evening was certainly a big "day" in the history of Digby's newly organized Kiwanis Club. The luncheon was in the evening, instead of at noon, as usual.

At this luncheon the boys from the Yarmouth Kiwanis Club took charge of the event, and those boys "sure know how to do it." Dr. Morton, of Yarmouth, was song leader, and a good one, too.

It was worth more than the price of the luncheon to hear Dr. Melanson and Morton render "Alouette" and to hear "Sandy" Fraser in humorous songs with banjo accompaniment.

Dr. T. I. Lebbetter was the speaker of the evening, his subject being "Preventive Medicine." He advised his hearers to look after their bodies and to be examined at least once a year by a physician, in order to keep "tabs" on themselves, and thus enable them to check an ailment before it gets too firm a foothold. He told us that Nova Scotia's death rate from cancer was higher than that of any state in the Union, or any province in Canada, and that this province's death rate from tuberculosis was higher than elsewhere in the Dominion.

Following his address a motion picture film, "Inspection" loaned to the club through the courtesy of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, was shown. The machine was operated by "Bob" Guest, of Yarmouth.

President Goudy, of the Yarmouth Club, gave a short talk on the work being done by that Club for the underprivileged children of the town of Yarmouth, and described how the Club had started and finished their camp at Pleasant Lake for that purpose.

A vote of thanks to the Yarmouth Club and to the speaker was moved by Alfred Boden and seconded by Earl Cossaboom.

The following Kiwanians from Yarmouth attended the luncheon: A. R. Goudy, A. R. Campbell, Roy Williams (who presided at the piano), G. O. Rogers, Peter L. Judge, A. J. Fraser, A. A. Crosby, Peter Nichols, Ben. Kerr, C. K. Fuller, W. G. Kirk, T. Melanson, T. A. Lebbetter, W. R. Rozee, H. L. Crook, A. W. Hulton, H. L. Crosby, C. A. Huestis, R. F. Guest, Walter Sweeney, visitors with the Yarmouth boys were J. R. Hart, Brooklyn, N. Y., and Lindsay Burrell and Stipendiary Magistrate Pelton, of Yarmouth.

Next Monday's luncheon will be at 12.15 o'clock, as usual. On this occasion the Saint John Kiwanians will take charge of the meeting. Let's have a 100 per cent attendance.

The benefit afternoon tea and pantry sale of the Victorian Order of Nurses will be held as usual, tomorrow, at the Golf Club house, with Mrs. Howard Anderson as convener.

Chief Liberal Whip Was In Digby on Wednesday

"The Maritimes have an impressive history, illumined with shining examples of fortitude and courage and the names of some of the greatest men in the history of this country, and it is my belief that the future will show these provinces to have a destiny that will be affected only in transient fashion by periods of temporary depression," declared Pierre F. Casgrain, K. C., chief liberal whip in the House of Commons, who passed through Digby on Wednesday, with the "Excelsior Life Insurance convention."

"Over twenty years have passed since it was my privilege to visit Nova Scotia," Mr. Casgrain said. The Liberal member's constituency extends from near Quebec city to the Labrador border, and travelling over that distance takes up much of his time. "During the time that has passed since then, the changes in this province have been truly amazing. It is astonishing to find agriculture so well developed throughout these beautiful valleys, and such an impressive harbour and city as you have in Halifax. The educational systems of the Maritimes have always had my greatest admiration, and their justification has been in the large numbers of leaders in every walk of life who leave their doors to help in the building of this country of ours."

Mr. Casgrain was impressed by the beautiful memorial park to the memory of exiled French-Canadians, which is one of the outstanding attractions of the Evangeline country. "It is a tribute to the history of a great and enduring people, whom we of Quebec are proud to call our cousins," he declared, while the members were visiting the park at Grand Pre. "Acadia has sent out many great men to all parts of the world, and the memory of the pioneers who settled these shores is here kept green, as a reminder of our debt to the ancestors of many who are today contributing their share to the development of Canada. We should learn a lesson from the spirit of these people, and follow their example of courage and industry, for the sooner this is done the quicker will prosperity return to our great country."

BEAR RIVER AMATEUR $100 PRIZE

The first prize for snap shots, for the Maritime Provinces, goes to Alvan Yorke, of Bear River. His picture was a snapshot of a small boy industriously reading a newspaper. It was the kind of picture any boy or girl could make, but he caught a pose that would interest anyone. The second prize of $50 was won by Mrs. R. O. Bethune, of Berwick. These prizes were awarded in the preliminary contest, which closed July 1st, but Kodakers are busy everywhere on the big contest still open to all amateurs until August 31st.

FORMER DIGBY MINISTER CELEBRATES 40TH ANNIVERSARY

Publications from Kent, in Washington Territory, U. S. A., contain interesting accounts of the fortieth anniversary celebration of Rev. D. E. Hatt's entrance into the Baptist ministry. The commemoration was held in the Knox Baptist church, of which he is pastor on Sunday, June 2th. At the morning service letters of greeting were read from friends in Nova Scotia, Victoria, Vancouver, B. C., and Seattle, paying high tribute to his work as friend and pastor. The anniversary was fittingly observed by two excellent sermons. Mr. Hatt was presented with a basket of forty red carnations as a token of appreciation from the church. On Tuesday a lawn social and dinner observed the birth anniversary of the pastor, bringing another shower of good wishes to him.

On June 2th, Rev. D. E. Hatt completed his fortieth year as a Baptist minister. He was ordained in 1891 and during his early pastorate in Nova Scotia completed college and university work, receiving the degrees of B.A. and M.A. From Rochester Seminary he received the degree of B.D. in 1901. Rev. Mr. Hatt has published several volumes of poetry and given many programmes as a reader. After being in missionary work in Canada, and in war work in the Y. M. C. A., he was pastor of the Digby Baptist church for some time. Leaving here he went to Toronto as the manager of the American Baptist Publication Society branch in that city, afterwards going to Seattle for the same society. Although managing this large business profitably, he still finds time to prepare fine sermons and lead the Kent church as pastor. He has lived in Kent since 1928.

Sixteen-Year-Old Collector Visits Digby

Loring Lemperley, of Cleveland, Ohio, was a visitor to the Courier office on Monday of this week. This sixteen-year-old boy is a collector of newspapers, and incidentally, while here, he added a copy of the Courier and a few of our exchanges to his collection of over 3,100 titles.

He started this collection some eighteen months ago, and, without once leaving the North American continent, has gathered papers from nearly every country in the world.

Life Insurance Men Pass Through Digby

Astonishment at the development of industry and agriculture in Nova Scotia, and amazement at the size of Halifax, which they had believed to be a much smaller city, were among the impressions with which a large party of high-ranking insurance writers of the Excelsior Insurance Company left this province on Wednesday, after holding their 1931 convention in Halifax. Headed by their president, Alex. Fasken, K. C., James L. Ross, first vice-president, both of Toronto; and Pierre Casgrain, K. C., Montreal; George S. Kilbourn, Owen Sound, and Stuart Cameron, Vancouver, censors, the forty insurance men forming the company's Excelsior Club, spent Wednesday morning enjoying a sight seeing excursion through the Annapolis Valley, arrived here on the "Blue-nose", and left in the afternoon on the Princess Helene for Saint John, where they took the C. P. R. express for Montreal.

The first convention of the Excelsior Club to be held in Nova Scotia was characterized by Mr. Fasken as the most successful in the history of the club. "Practically none of us had been in Nova Scotia in recent years, and we were greatly astonished to find the development that has been taking place here," he declared. "Halifax has one of the finest harbors in the world, and the city is both beautiful and enterprising."

"Our meetings were very successful, and we are all of the opinion that, in spite of the depression, the Maritimes have much to look forward to, and we probably not feeling the hard times to the same extent as other parts of Canada."

The excursion through the Annapolis Valley was greatly enjoyed by the members. Arriving at Grand Pre by train, they first visited the Evangeline Memorial Park and Museum, afterwards driving through the Gaspeaux and Cornwallis Valleys to Kentville, where the provincial government's experimental farm was inspected. From Kentville they came to Digby by the Blue-nose. All the members were impressed by the wealth of apple orchards and other signs of busy activity in the Evangeline country, and many expressions of delight in the beautiful scenery were heard from among the members, many of whom had come over 3,000 miles to attend the convention in this province.

BORROWING TO SAVE

A unique development in farming this year is the extent to which farmers are borrowing money from banks in order to pay cash for commodities such as fertilizer, and thereby effecting a material saving in interest payments, according to a statement issued by the Seed Branch of the federal Department of Agriculture.

The trend to economy is noted particularly in the purchase of fertilizers. Buying this year is practically all being done in car lots and payments are being made largely in cash to take advantage of liberal discounts accruing from cash payments.

Both federal and provincial Departments of Agriculture are giving active support to this movement toward practical farm economy. The change appears to be one which is not only good agricultural economics but one which holds tangible benefit to the farmer in that it lowers the cost of fertilizer to him.

In addition to being good business the practice is one which has a four-fold benefit. It makes fertilizer actually cheaper to the farmer; it benefits the fertilizer trade in making it possible to sell for cash, therefore at lower cost and in larger volume; it benefits the banks in providing a new field for loans for well secured purposes; and it benefits the railway companies through the larger volume of freight carried.

HOSPITALS FACE HARD PROBLEM

(Calgary Herald)

Economic conditions are accentuating the always difficult problem of hospitals to make ends meet. Hospitals can be operated as business institutions to a degree. Strict supervision may be exercised over the purchase of supplies of all kinds, advantage taken of the best markets and paid labor restricted to the minimum. But these are minor economies and must not be allowed to interfere with the efficiency of the service provided for patients. A certain high standard is demanded of all modern hospitals in the treatment of patients. A sick patient must be given the best attention available and be supplied with all the delicacies and medicines ordered by the medical attendant. When life and death are at stake, there can be no petty economies practised. The hospital problem is one of financing. Annual deficits are unavoidable when patients are unable to pay for the treatment they receive. No suffering applicant for treatment can be turned away because he is lacking in funds, and he is a factor in increasing the difficulty of the hospital authorities.

Provincial and municipal contributions assist in hospital financing, but experience everywhere throughout the Dominion shows that this aid is not sufficient to enable public hospitals which must accept non-pay cases, to pay their way.

GASOLINE, GOLF OR GOSPEL?

Steering wheel, golf stick or hymn book?

Which of these three will take up our time next Sunday? We can get away with all of them if we are fast workers. But justice may not be done to either. Do not try more than two. Better devote all our time to one if real results are expected.

Gasoline takes more time—likely all day. Allowances must be made for time troubles. That always causes delay, and sometimes, profanity.

A church aisle is a one-way street. It is much safer on Sunday than a crowded pike. One leads to happiness, the other may land you in a hospital. Everybody is not a careful driver.

Considerable time is required to go over an 18-hole golf course. It takes just as much time on Sunday as on any other day. Possibly we may make a poor score and permit a few reckless words to escape. That is bad form at any time, especially on Sunday.

There are no poor strokes in church attendance; no punctured tires or detours; no necessity for saying things we should not say. Those having experience know. And it takes much less time than the other two things mentioned.

If you have tried the others on past Sundays, let us test the third next Sunday. The very novelty may make it interesting. It is not well to try all of them. Few of us can serve three masters. Thank you!

PROVERBS OF A TRAVELLING MAN

You can't tell the number of guests in a hotel by the number of chairs occupied on the front verandah.

Never mistake a salesman for a stage performer. They will both feel offended if you do.

It's a wrong idea that all leather from cows is put into shoes; some of it is made into steaks.

Never judge the size of a house by the picture on the salesman's card.

When you strike a dead town, don't knock it; think of the advantage you have over the advertiser—you can leave it.

Don't estimate the salary of a travelling salesman by the number of trunks he carries, or the size of his sample case; for if this were the scale, some of us would be carrying match boxes.

If some salesmen would sell as many goods in the merchants' stores as they do in the hotel lobbies, more of us would be making $10,000 a year.

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS.

What is the secret of success? Push, said the button; Take pains, said the window; Never be led, said the pencil; Be up to date, said the calendar; Always keep cool, said the tie; Don't do business on tick, said the clock; Never lose your head, said the barrel; Do a driving business, said the hammer; Aspire to do greater things, said the nutmeg; Make light of everything, said the fire; Make much of small things, said the microscope; Never do anything off hand, said the glove; Spend much time in reflection, said the mirror; Do the work you are suited for, said the glue; Get a good pull with the ring, said the door bell; Be sharp in all your dealings, said the knife; Find a good thing and stick to it, said the glue; Trust to the stars for your success, said the night; Strive to make a good impression, said the seal.

HOME

"It takes a heap o' livin' in a house to make it home."

A house must have the love-light of the home life which gives the inmates joy by just being in it and of it, before it really becomes a home. Truly it takes "a heap o' livin' in a house to make it home," but it takes more, too. It takes all the love, unselfishness, and intelligence of the occupants. It is not a matter of money so much as it is a matter of ideals, clearly seen, and steadfastly pursued. Jeffery Farnel has said: "Roof and walls, be they cottage or mansion, do not make intimacies of thought, the joys and sorrows endured together, and the never failing sympathy—that bond invisible yet stronger than death."

A London paper once offered a prize for the best answer to the question, "What is Home?" Over eight hundred replies were sent in. These replies coming from homes of refinement and wealth, and from homes of crudeness and poverty. Following are a few of what the editor called "Gems", and which were published:

"The golden setting in which the brightest jewel is Mother."
"The jewel casket containing the most precious of all jewels."
"A little hollow scooped out of the windy hill of the world, where we can be shielded from its cares and annoyances."
"Home is the blossom of which Heaven is the fruit."
"A place where the small are great and the great small."
"The place where our stomachs get three-square meals a day and our hearts a thousand."
"A world of strife shut out, a

KING COLE
Tea and Coffee of Royal Quality world of love shut in."

"The Father's Kingdom, the Mother's world, and the Children's paradise."

"The centre of our affection, round which our heart's best wishes twine."
"The place where we grumble the most and are treated the best."

Edgar A. Guest, America's best loved poet, whose sure and sympathetic interpretation of what is in the heart of every-day folks, has made his name famous, and his popularity grow from year to year, starts his collection of poems, in his book called "The Path to Home", with the following:

There's the Mother at the doorway, and the children at the gate, And the little parrot window with the curtains white and straight. There are shaggy asters blooming in the bed that lines the fence And the simplest of the blossoms seem of mighty consequence. Oh, there isn't any mansion underneath God's starry dome That can rest a weary pilgrim like the little place called home.

Men have sought for gold and silver; men have dreamed at night of fame; In the heat of youth they've struggled for achievement's honored name; But the selfish shavings are tinsel, and their shining jewels paste, And the wine of pomp and glory soon grows bitter to the taste. For there's never any laughter, however far you roam, Like the laughter of the loved ones in the happiness of home.

There is nothing so important as the mother's lullabies, Filled with peace and sweet contentment, when the moon begins to rise— Nothing real except the beauty and the calm upon her face, And the shouting of the children as they scamper round the place; For the greatest of man's duties is to keep his loved ones glad, And to have his children glory in the father they have had.

So Where'er a man may wander, and whatever be his care, You'll find his soul still stretching to the home he left somewhere; You'll find his dreams all tangled up with hollyhocks in bloom, And the feet of little children that go racing through a room, With the happy mother smiling as she watches them at play— These are all in life that matter, when you've stripped the sham away.

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING

On Monday evening of last week about forty friends of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Foote were invited to their home in Weymouth to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Foote (Sarah E. Morton)—were married at Barton, on July 19th, 1881, by Rev. W. L. Parker.

After the guests had congratulated the bride and groom of fifty years ago, a short musical programme was enjoyed. C. C. Nicholl and C. Fay Nicholl sang a duet written for the occasion by Mrs. Skidmore, to the tune of "Put On Your Old Grey Bonnet" followed by the chorus of this old song. Mrs. William Lent gave an address, with original poetry by herself, from the W. C. T. U. of which Mrs. Foote is a member. Little Catherine Smith, of Saint John, presented the happy couple with a piece of gold and a beautiful bouquet of roses. Donald Nicholl, of Calgary, presented his grandparents with the gifts from the guests, which included a number of pieces of gold. A duet, "If He Abide with Me" was sung by Rev. P. C. and Mrs. Amery, followed by a solo by Mr. Amery. Refreshments were served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Foote were surrounded by their friends while "For They are Jolly Good Fellows and "Auld Lang Syne" were sung.

Among those present were: Mrs. Andrew Burns and Mrs. A. C. Smith, of Saint John; Rev. and Mrs. F. C. Amery, Rev. and Mrs. K. Newcombe, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Mullen, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Mullen, Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Lent, Mrs. E. F. Nicholl, C. C. Nicholl, Mrs. Minnie Rudolf, of Weymouth North; Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Blackadar, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Blackadar, Mrs. E. J. Elderdin, Rev. and Mrs. M. R. Ewing, Mr. and Mrs. E. Gates, Capt. and Mrs. C. F. Granville, Mr. and Mrs. P. K. Gates, John McDonald, Dr. E. O. Hallett, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hanksin, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Sabine, Rev. L. W. Mosher, Weymouth; Mrs. Vroom, of Vancouver; W. H. Corbett, of Digby; Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Nicholl, of Calgary; Mr. and Mrs. Wightman, of Smith's Cove; Miss Nora Lambertson, of Calgary.

NOVA SCOTIAN RESOURCES

The Maritime Provinces stand in a somewhat similar relation to the world's supply of fish as do the Pacific Provinces to wheat, and Nova Scotian fishermen have won for themselves a prominent place in the industry. In Nova Scotia, too, apple orchards are what orange and lemon groves are to California—a staple industry known far and wide and a lodestone to attract settlers. This province in addition possesses a mine in the nine provinces, while its manufacturers have, in recent years, been marked by rapid progress.

Minerals lead in the primary production of Nova Scotia, the value of mineral production of the province in 1929 being $30,904,453. Field crops rank second with $20,945,000, while fisheries come third with $11,455,491. The value of fruits and vegetables in the estimate is placed at $3,628,000, while the figure for forest products is $3,572,208. The production of creamery butter and cheese in 1929 was valued at $1,780,841, and furs for the season 1928-29 at $442,096. Among the mineral products of the province coal leads with a value of $28,071,956, while gypsum comes second at $1,152,160.

Nova Scotia fishermen share with the fishermen of the other Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland, as well as with those of the United States and France, the rich fishing ground of "The Banks." These areas, supplementing those of the North Sea helped to supply Europe with fish before John Cabot came to Labrador in 1497, and they are still one of the most prolific fisheries in the world. The cod fishery has always been of first importance in Nova Scotia, while the lobster fishery has taken second rank. The production of the cod fishery in 1929 was valued at $3,504,583.

Lobster Fishers

The Nova Scotia lobster fishery is the largest and most productive in the world, the catch for 1929 being 19,083,500 lbs. with a landed value of $2,156,776. Haddock is third among the principal kinds of fish in order of value, followed by herring, halibut, mackerel, hake, cusk, salmon, smelt, scallop and sword fish. The chief salmon fishery of the Dominion is on the Pacific coast.

There is an abundance of fertile land in Nova Scotia for general farming, but the richest area of the province is the Annapolis Valley and its extension, the Cornwallis Valley. These are the centres of the apple industry, which is the outstanding feature of Nova Scotian agriculture. The French introduced the apple in 1633. From 20,000 barrels in 1880, the pack increased to the present record of 2,145,000 barrels in 1929. Nova Scotia as a province has won the gold medal of the Royal Horticultural Society for apples in competition with other parts of the Empire. In 1924 at the Imperial Fruit Show the province took four gold and five silver medals. Nova Scotia added the raising of furs to her farm operations as far back as 1904, and it is estimated that in 1930 there were more than 400 fur farms with the value of properties and animals approaching $1,250,000. The physical position of Nova Scotia offers great inducement to the industrial investor. It has a good share of water power, an abundance of coal, plenty of raw material and numerous fine harbours where supplies of raw materials from foreign countries can be laid down cheaply. Her industrial development is not as great as that of some of the other provinces, but the advance in recent years has been noteworthy. In 1929 the manufacturing production of Nova Scotia was valued at $94,292,816. Two years earlier in 1927, the value of Nova Scotian manufactures was $74,458,297, so that the increase in the two years has been over 25 per cent. Outstanding developments in this field in the last year or two have been the development of the water power resources and the parallel growth of the newsprint industry.

BEFORE you invest in any motor car, consider carefully the advantages of obtaining a General Motors value. You know in advance that your car is specifically designed and constructed for Canadian climatic and road conditions. You can be confident that its Canadian materials and craftsmanship are of the finest.

Gratifying, too, is the fact that wherever you may travel throughout North America, the comprehensive terms of the Owner Service Policy relieve your mind of possible service problems. For example, this policy entitles you, within the limits of the new car warranty, to have any defective parts replaced without charge for parts or labor. Such provisions of the Owner Service Policy are the responsibility of General Motors dealers everywhere.

Choose from General Motors cars in any price class and you are assured of value that is unexcelled. To facilitate your purchase you can buy out of income on the G.M.A.C., General Motors' own economical, time payment plan.

Midway Gives Big Chance To Gain Real Fun

Lynch's Augmented Shows to Provide Thrilling Rides and Interesting Shows at Exhibition

Halifax, July 31.—For everyone the "Midway" holds magic lure, and the Nova Scotia Provincial Exhibition Commission have completed a contract with William Lynch for the Big Fair, to be held at Halifax, August 28th to September 5th. Not alone will there be the Lynch thrilling mechanical rides and the interesting side-shows, but his marvellous aggregation will be augmented for the occasion.

What boy or girl, or for that matter, what adult, can resist the call of the Merry-Go-Round, the Ferris Wheel, the Whip, the Aeroplane Swing, the dip and sway of Lynch's nature ride, or other thrillers that this showman has to offer? All these will be at the Nova Scotia Provincial Exhibition.

New Side-Shows

William Lynch has some new side-shows this year, in addition to his regular popular attractions, that will prove of complete interest. He gives his assurance, based on years of experience in catering to public taste, that this year's Exhibition "Midway" will eclipse all previous ones.

For those who wish to play, there will be numerous games, with valuable rewards for the winners. The "Midway," one of the attractions that always appeal to those imbued with holiday spirit, will be "Rico," but it will be only one of hundreds of marvellous attractions offered by the Nova Scotia Provincial Exhibition, at Halifax, August 28th to September 5th.

Here and There

"What could we farmers hope to accomplish without our railways?" asked a Kentville agriculturist recently. He added that no agency had contributed more to the prosperity of the farmer than the railways.

"I have never yet found any place where the salmon fishing could compare with New Brunswick," said Arthur Train, well known novelist, speaking at a dinner given in his honor recently by the New Brunswick Tourist Travel Bureau.

Encouragement came to western Canada's farmers and agriculturists with the return to normal temperatures and varying rainfall of mid-July. In the drought areas of Alberta and Saskatchewan, and to a less extent in Alberta very great benefit has been felt.

Authentic rainbow trout weighing 7 1/2 lbs. were taken recently in the French River six miles below the Kentville camp. The first ever caught there according to the oldest guide. It was caught by E. A. Farintosh, of New York, a yearly guest at the camp.

Since the split up of Canadian Pacific Railway common stock into four for one, this issue has taken on great popularity with the general run of investors. Between September and June 1931, the number of these increased from 21,186 to 84,872, an increase of 15,686.

Over 250 members from Bamesa Temple, Toronto, went to Clarendon, Ontario, to attend the annual convocation and imperial council of the Ancient and Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. This convocation was held last year in Toronto.

A great influx of tourists is coming into the Maritime Provinces this year, the chain of the Canada's hotel at Yarmouth, Digby and Kentville proving strong influences in promoting the trade. The latter day also the Toronto Exhibition next month also drawing much attention in the Maritimes.

Grain exports from the port of Vancouver this year will probably exceed 75 million bushels. Up to June 4th wheat shipments amounted to 65,381,601 bushels. A considerable increase for deep sea vessels has been made from 12 piers in 1920 to 24 piers at the present time and elevator capacity has increased from 1,240,000 bushels to 16,205,000 bushels.

An Indian Schoolboy's band of which the leader was also a schoolboy and in which the instruments were mouth organs, gasos and other noise-makers was one of the features of Indian Park at Banff which opened July 21. This was counterbalanced by a septuagenarian Chief's Choir of 18 chiefs and ex-chiefs to render a song taught by the first western missionaries back in the 1860's long before the Canadian Pacific Railway penetrated the mountains.

Six First Aid championships and five second places fell to Canadian Pacific Railway teams across Canada according to the recent annual report of the St. John Ambulance Association. Of these, three first and one second were captured by the Railway's Montreal Police Team.

The second was in the coveted Montclair Trophy, representing the championship of Canada for all comers in which they were only five points behind the winners, Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps of Kingston, Ont. (761).

A CHALLENGE
TO THE WORLD OF LOWEST-PRICED CARS

THE NEW PLYMOUTH is the challenge of Chrysler Motors engineering genius to the whole world of lowest-priced cars.

"Floating Power"—Plymouth's new, exclusive discovery which eliminates four-cylinder vibration—challenges all old-fashioned four- and low-priced cars with its smooth power-flow.

Floating Power truly gives the Smoothness of an Eight and the Economy of a Four.

Plymouth challenges with a 56 brake-horsepower engine, which gives actual stop-watch speeds of 65 to 70 miles an hour and pick-up from a standstill to 60 miles per hour in 9.7 seconds.

Plymouth challenges with Free Wheeling—that thrilling feature of high-class cars which makes it possible literally to glide through heavy traffic. You can shift between all forward speeds without clutching.

Plymouth challenges with a new, Easy-Shift transmission. You can shift quickly from second to high and back again at speeds up to 45 miles an hour without clutching, even with Free Wheeling locked out.

Plymouth challenges with weather-proof internal, self-equalizing hydraulic brakes—simple and unexcelled for safety and smoothness.

Plymouth challenges with double-frame—a feature of high-priced cars that gives a much lower center of gravity.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Francella Morehouse — The death of Mrs. Francella Morehouse, took place at her home in Centreville, Digby Neck, on Thursday, of last week, after an illness of several weeks of heart complications. Mrs. Morehouse was 77 years of age and was postmistress for many years, retiring about four years ago on account of ill health. She is survived by one son, Beecher Morehouse, and two daughters, Mrs. Kenneth Dakin and Mrs. Cassie Morehouse, all of Centreville; three half brothers, F. L. Dakin, of Centreville; Harold Dakin, in Quebec; and five half sisters, Mrs. Lemuel Raymond, (Centreville); Mrs. Minnie Purdy, (Centreville); Mrs. McWhinney, (Centreville); Mrs. Elizabeth Dakin, in the United States.

Edward Eaton — The death of Edward Eaton, a life long resident of Freeport, occurred at his home in that town, on Wednesday morning of last week. Mr. Eaton had been in ill health for a long time, but was able to be out until a few days before his death. He was 61 years of age and is survived by his widow and four daughters, Mrs. Jones and Miss Wilneve, in the United States; and Mrs. A. E. Weir and Miss Elaine, in Freeport. Two brothers also survive him, Ralph, of Freeport, and Boyd, in New Brunswick. Mr. Eaton was a member of the Freeport United Baptist church, and of Freeport Lodge, A. F. and A. M. The funeral took place on Sunday.

The Courier was informed this week, that up to date, the freight passing through Digby was 800 tons in excess of the corresponding month last year.

Weymouth and Vicinity

F. B. Sweeney spent a few days recently in Yarmouth.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Rudolf spent Monday in Annapolis Royal.

Arthur Moore, jr., has returned home from the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Mullen and son, Willis, spent Monday in Digby.

Mrs. Tibbetts and little son, of Barton, are visiting at her former home here.

An aeroplane passed over here about 9.15 on Saturday morning, flying very low.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Foote and Mrs. Fay Nicholl, were visitors in Digby on Tuesday.

The motor vessel Herman B., Capt. Ralph Haines, of Freeport, was in port last week.

Mrs. Thompson, of Westport, is a guest of Capt. and Mrs. G. W. Brooks, of Weymouth North.

Dr. H. J. Pothier was called to Eelbrook on Wednesday by the serious illness of his mother. Miss Margaret Grant spent a week recently in Digby, a guest of Miss Marguerite Baxter.

Jackie and Katherine MacNeill, of Digby, are visiting their grandmother, Mrs. Annie MacNeill.

Miss Evelyn Melanson was successful in obtaining her "B" certificate in the Provincial examinations.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Ansley Marshall, of Imperoyal, have been visiting Mr. Marshall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Marshall, Weymouth North.

Rev. J. H. Copeland, of Nicotau, is in town spending a short time with Mrs. Copeland and son, Grenfell, who are spending the summer here.

Miss Mabel LeBlanc, of the post office staff, who has been spending her vacation with relatives in Saint John, has returned to resume her duties.

Among those successful in obtaining their "C" certificates were: The Misses Lennie and Agnes Payson, George Taylor, Elaine Moore, and Helen Tooker.

L. W. Jones has a very attractive window display of miniature barques, barguenettes — made by Edward Grenier, Weymouth North. They show very fine workmanship.

Andrew Burns, of Saint John, arrived on Saturday to spend the remainder of the month with Mrs. Burns, who is a guest of her sister, Mrs. C. H. Grant, at Weymouth North.

George Crouse, of Boston, who has been visiting his niece, Mrs. R. A. Mullen, and Mr. Mullen, at "The Outlook", Weymouth North, left on Saturday to visit relatives in Bear River.

Capt. and Mrs. C. F. Granville, while returning from a motor trip to Digby, on Sunday of last week, passed a bear on the main road, between the overhead bridge and the County Home.

Gerald VanTassel, of Digby, was brought before Magistrate J. M. Sabine, on Thursday, tried on an offence of driving a car while under the influence of liquor. He was sentenced to ten days in the county jail.

Mrs. Enoch Mullen and Mrs. Brooks, of Easton, spent a few days recently, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Grant, Weymouth North. Mrs. Brooks, who is Mrs. Grant's mother, is 91 years old, and is still well and active.

The new loud speaker for the Community Theatre arrived last week and was used for the first time on Friday and Saturday evenings, when the thrilling picture, "The Green Murder Case" from the book by S. S. VanDine, was played. Every word is now clearly distinguishable, and Weymouthians may well be proud of their pretty theatre and splendid talking machine.

Mrs. L. B. Thompson and Miss Ruby Thompson, of Oxford, are guests of the former's sister, Mrs. F. H. Lent, and Mr. Lent, at Bayside Farm, Weymouth North.

Mrs. C. C. Allen and two children have returned from Saint John, and are visiting Mr. Allen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Robertson, before returning to the United States.

Among the recent guests at Lour Lodge have been the Misses Clara Gunther and Lillian Miller, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., and P. A. Gibbs, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

The ladies of Saint Patrick's church are holding their annual garden party next Friday afternoon, on the grounds recently acquired by the church, opposite the school house. Supper will be served at 5.30 o'clock.

USE APPLIED PHYSICS.

Dr. Lachlan Gilchrist Finds New Methods of Geological Survey.

Application of modern scientific knowledge of electricity, magnetism, and the elastic properties of the earth, will revolutionize geological survey methods of the Ontario and Dominion Governments, according to Dr. Lachlan Gilchrist of the University of Toronto, physics department. When set down on paper, Dr. Gilchrist's methods seem comparatively simple. Some substances make better electrical conductors than others. The conductivity of a metal supposed to be in a region is found by laboratory work, and the region is then electrically tested. Variations in the conductivity of the surface soil and rock indicate with a high degree of accuracy the mineral predominating in the area.

Rock and soil of varying density will transmit earthquake shocks with varying degrees of speed. Minor quakes are set up by the use of dynamite. Seismographs, such as are used in observatory work for recording earthquake disturbances, are placed surrounding, at a distance of about a mile, the site of the blasting operations. When the shock waves travel faster or slower in one direction than in another it is estimated that something unseen at the surface lies under the earth. Working with the Ontario Geological Survey, Dr. Gilchrist has already located lignite fields in Northern Ontario.

"Mary" Who Owned the "Lamb." The original "Mary" who inspired the famous nursery rhyme recently celebrated her 50th birthday. She is Mrs. Mary Hughes, who still lives at 175 Jura Farm, Langens, North Wales, where she was born. Many years ago there came to stay at Mary's home three maiden sisters, the Misses Beal, of London, and one of them was so amused by the story of the lamb which followed Mary to school that she wrote the poem. "When I was about seven I had two pet lambs, Nell and Billy," said Mrs. Hughes. "One day Billy followed me to the village school, but frisked and gambolled about the room, causing such a commotion that the school mistress made me take him away."

WEDDINGS

Denton-Powell

The marriage of Evelyn Natalie, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Leonard Powell, Maccan, to Rev. Harvey LeRoy Denton, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Denton, of Little River, in this county, took place a short time ago, at the United Baptist church in Maccan. Rev. I. D. Harvey, grandfather of the groom, officiated, "assisted" by Rev. T. W. Howard. The quaint historic church, almost ninety years old, was beautifully decorated with pink roses and ferns. The wedding march was played by Miss Alice Giles, cousin of the bride. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of white georgette with insets of lace, fashioned with short coat and long flowing skirt. Her veil, arranged in cap effect, was caught with pearls and orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Dorothy Powell, as maid of honor, gowned in a frock of Nile green georgette, with matching taffeta coat, transparent lace, mittens and moire slippers. The bridesmaids, Misses Mary MacDonald and Marie Sutherland, cousins of the bridegroom, wore gowns of pale pink crepe and georgette, fashioned on long full lines, with wide trimmed hats, lace mittens and slippers of deeper pink. Each carried a quaint nosegay of roses, cornflowers and summer flowers. Little Miss Phyllis Sharpe, an alluring and diminutive flower girl, was dressed as a miniature bride. She carried a basket of roses and baby breath. Rev. Raymond Tingley was best man, and the ushers were Blair Elderton and Rev. C. N. Hamilton. During the signing of the register, Mrs. David Drury rendered most acceptably, "All Joy Be Thine". After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, which was a bower of roses, snapdragon, potted plants and fern. Mrs. Powell, mother of the bride, as hostess, received in a handsome gown of rose-beige lace and georgette, with matching hat of lace straw. Mrs. Denton, the groom's mother, was attractively attired in a gown of navy and white figured chiffon, with navy hat. Following the reception the young couple left on an extended motor trip, the bride travelling in a printed silk frock of navy and grey, with hat and accessories repeating the colors. Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Denton, will on their return, reside in Parrsboro, where Mr. Denton is pastor of the Baptist church.

Another Big Day with the Kiwanis Club

Last Monday was another big day with the local Kiwanis. This time the programme for the noon hour luncheon at the Pines was sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Saint John, and these boys were chock full of good ideas to put the luncheon across in great shape.

One thing about the Saint John boys—there were no "Mistakes" in the bunch. Each one wore a big button on which was printed, in big letters that could be read across the room, his Christian name (or club name); under that was his name in full, and then his occupation.

Jim Brittain, a past lieutenant governor of the Kiwanis for this district, was chairman, and introduced the speakers, namely, Walter Ingram, of Chicago, who organized the Digby Club four years ago. Walter was on his return journey after organizing a club in Truro. Dr. H. L. Abramson, chairman of the Kiwanis Child Welfare Commission for New Brunswick, gave a short talk on the splendid work along that line that Kiwanis is doing in our sister province; other speakers were Garfield White and "Bob" Harris, of Saint John.

John N. Flood was the boy who imposed fines on the members of both clubs for any little offence he could think of.

Rev. F. E. Bishop moved a vote of thanks to the members of the Saint John Club, which motion was seconded by Paul Yates, and passed unanimously.

There were thirty-three from Saint John, and about as many at the luncheon from the Digby club.

Rev. Dr. F. M. Kirkus, of Wilmington, Del., will be the speaker at next Monday's luncheon, which will be held at the Pines Hotel, at 12.15 o'clock. Let's show Dr. Kirkus what a fine club we have.

Major E. J. Vickery, of Halifax, one of the International officers and representing the Halifax Club, will be present to complete arrangements for the Charter Night, which, it is expected, will be held early in September.

He Has "Shot" Digby for Twenty-Five Years.

"A Quarter Century in Photography at the Same Stand" is the heading under which Paul Yates announces that he is celebrating this week, his 25th anniversary at The Little Art Gallery. His first Nova Scotia photograph was used exclusively in the many advertising booklets issued by the railroads and resorts to show the charms of Nova Scotia scenery. During the past ten years he has devoted his time to obtaining a permanent collection of landscape and marine views possessing the highest artistic merit. In this he has been eminently successful and the great number and variety of his views astonish the visitor to his studio, while the high standard of his work and the beauty of his pictures are attested by the fact that thousands of them are sold every year, and they may be found in almost all parts of the world. He is extending a general invitation to visit "The Little Art Gallery" where his slogan reads: "Whether as Critic or Customer you are equally welcome."

Governor-General Will Visit Digby.

Mayor Lynch received official notice on Monday that His Excellency, Earl of Bessborough, Governor-General of Canada, will visit Digby officially on October 6th. The visit will be a short one. No definite word was received regarding Her Excellency as to whether she would or would not accompany Earl Bessborough.

Mrs. Frank Buddock spent the week end in town.

J. A. Grenier

In his position as honorary vice-president of the Quebec Committee of the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference, J. A. Grenier, Deputy Minister of Agriculture for Quebec Province, is taking a keen interest in this world-wide coming event.

Mr. Grenier was born at Plessisville, and following his early education studied law at Laval University. When he was twenty-five years of age he was called to the bar and for some few years practiced law.

In 1912 he entered the civil service of his native Province as assistant secretary in the office of the Ministry of Agriculture. Later he became secretary to the Minister and in 1915 he was appointed Deputy Minister, being only twenty-eight years of age at that time.

Mr. Grenier is a member of the Agricultural Council of Quebec, a director of the Dairy Society, and his many services to agriculture have been recognized on several occasions. He has been decorated with the Order of Commander of Agricultural Merit and the Order of the Leopold.

Information Regarding Heirs Wanted.

The Chief of Police has received the following letter, which he asks us to make public:

"Francis J. Walker died in the States and I am attempting to locate his heirs in order to see that they are paid an inheritance due them.

"Mr. Walker was born in Canada about the year 1850. He was the son of Frank Walker and Eliza Doherty. It is believed that he has a brother, or children of a brother, residing somewhere in Canada. From information I have received, it would appear that the relatives might be located in your district or nearby your district.

"I will appreciate it if you will inform me whether or not you know any relatives of the above named deceased.

"If you cannot locate any heirs, perhaps a reading notice in your local newspaper might be of assistance.

(There are Walkers in Digby County. If any think they are related to the deceased Francis J. Walker will they please write to the Courier or to the Chief of Police.—Editor Courier).

First Band Concert Next Monday Evening

When the town council makes an appropriation to pay more than half the cost of two open-air concerts in Digby by the 1st Battalion Band, with a proviso that the public raise the balance, they gave the public a fair chance to prove their desire for such concerts. There was no uncertainty in the answer. The collectors found such a quick response that the amount was subscribed at once, and enough more to secure the Band for the Hospital Fair on the 19th, giving three concerts instead of two. More than that, the amount was over-subscribed and a very nice sum will be left to swell the Hospital Fair funds. The response was surprisingly generous, and the collectors, who are still working, report only one or two definite refusals to contribute. The first open-air concert will be given at the band stand next Monday night, at 8.15, and the second two weeks later, Monday, the 24th.

Rev. G. C. Warren, B.D., of Wolfville, will be the preacher in the Baptist church, on Sunday morning.

OUR BIRTHDAY

Well, folks, just take a look at the date line of this old paper this week. You will see that it says Volume LVIII, No. 1.

You know what this means, don't you?

It means that with this issue the Digby Weekly Courier is celebrating its fifty-seventh birthday and entering upon its fifty-eighth year.

We ought to be congratulated! Fifty-seven years is a long time for any newspaper to serve the public.

Yet, during these years, with their ups and downs, and ups and downs, the old Digby Courier has rolled off the press every Friday morning and is still rolling along.

Of course, we know that we have not pleased all the public—no newspaper or individual could ever expect to accomplish the impossible! We know that we have been both cursed and blessed on more than one occasion. We know that we have said things we have thought better of afterwards, and we also know that we have left unsaid a multitude of things we might have said.

We know that there are those who ask: "What good is the Courier anyway?" and we also know that those same people make the biggest fuss when through some mishap they do not get their paper some weeks, and get hot under the collar when we forget to tell the world that they were away over the week end.

And yet the Courier has lived for fifty-seven years, and some of these same years have been the best we cannot say that we were ever "fat and prosperous."

Still and for all, what would Digby do without the Courier? It has become a part of this old town during this half century and more. The town would be lost without this friendly sheet filled with all the local gossip—and then some!

We hope that the old sheet will still be a part of this fair town for many more years to come, and we know that all you folks hope the same. The Courier has always strived for the betterment of the community it serves; to put Digby town and country "on the map"; to play the part of a weekly letter to our thousands of friends who look forward to our sheet each week. We trust that we have not "fallen down" in this respect.

Furthermore we know that you will be good sports and give us a hand by sending in the little bits of news that we are likely to miss—it is impossible to get everything; by keeping our subscription paid, and by patronizing our advertising columns.

And, in closing, we want to thank every one of you for the support you have given during the past, and the support you are going to give us in the future. Most especially do we wish to thank our country correspondents, and the Bear River and Smith's Cove Women's Institutes, who regularly contribute the little items of news which add pep and zest to our columns.

Improve Conditions by Buying Nova Scotia Products

A true Nova Scotian got up this morning from a bed made at Oxford or Windsor, the spring of which had been manufactured in New Glasgow. He felt fully rested after a comfortable night's sleep on a mattress made at Windsor Junction or New Glasgow. The blankets from Truro or Oxford had kept him warm and cosy. After a bath in a tub made in Amherst he donned his socks, underwear and shirt from Truro. He noticed how well the socks were held in place by garters made at Windsor. The twined of his suit, woven at Oxford, was giving a remarkably good service, and his braces, made at Windsor, gave full play to his shoulders. The chair he sat on was from Bass River. He put on his Amherst made boots and came down to breakfast, remarking to his wife that the mustard prepared at Halifax added zest to the Halifax cured Nova Scotia bacon, while his wife remarked that the fish cakes, canned at Lunenburg, made a very tasty meal. At his business office a little later he commented on the neat appearance and good quality of his office stationery, which had been printed in Digby, and a little later advised his wife, who had decided it was too much trouble to put up her own preserves, by all means to buy the Digby made jam.

THE SET OF THE SAILS

One ship drives East, another drives West.
While the self same breezes blow.
It's the set of the sails and not the gales
That points the way to go.

Like the winds of the sea are the ways of fate.

As we journey on through life;
It's the set of the soul that decides the goal,
And not the calm nor the strife.

The above is a brilliant statement of an immortal truth. This world is a maelstrom of human activities in which we all move up or down, "While the self same breezes blow." Some people become great while others remain unknown. Why? Because some of them set their sails toward purpose, vision and work, while others are content just to drift with the wind.

Diogenes, carrying his lighted lantern under the noonday sun, sought for an honest man. The twentieth century philosopher, in spite of all our modern conveniences and improvements, would have an equally difficult task to find a satisfied man.

Yet, after all, it is not better perhaps to be dissatisfied than too self-satisfied, and content? To our minds contentment is among the degenerating things of the world. When we are content we are satisfied to sail with the wind. Contentment most certainly is alright in its place, but that must be after we have done some worth while task, and not before.

Discontent often means growth, many times it is a key to success, it is the thing which spurs many a person on. But there are two kinds of discontent, the kind that is forever tearing down and the kind which is building up. We should not confuse these two, because it is from the latter that everything great comes. It is this discontent which looks ahead and causes us to "set our sails."

We must not forget that the greatest goal or success is not always won by gaining distinction, wealth, power or whatever we may desire to attain, but by our striving and inspiring and building each day towards something which is higher and better.

Whether we all become successful in life or not, we must not forget that as the poet said, "It's the set of the soul that decides the goal." We all have the chance of being possible winners and it is up to us to bring that about. If we have not shirked or slacked and have done our best and utmost to bring about success, and we fail—who is there that will condemn us?

Somewhere we once read a little poem, which as near as we can recall, ran as follows:

He cast his net at morn, when fishers toil.
At e'en he drew it empty to the shore;
He took the diver's plunge into the sea,
But thence within his hands,
No precious pearls he bore;
He ran a race, but never reached the goal;
He sped an arrow, but he missed his aim—
And slept, at last, beneath a solitary stone.
With no achievement carved about his name.

Men called it failure, but for myself,
I dare not use the word;
For what if Heaven shall question
Ere its judgment shall be given;
Not hast thou won—but only—
Hast thou striven?"

Letters to the Editor

The Editor of the Courier:

Sir:

It must be apparent to all thoughtful people that the problems arising out of the present conditions must be dealt with before they become too large and complicated to handle effectively. Naturally, I make reference to conditions that exist in Digby County, where a large part of our population have suffered through circumstances over which they have no control. There is no use of mincing words over the matter. The tillers of the soil and toilers on the deep sea have, and are, having a mighty hard time to make both ends meet. The farmers and the fishermen are the mainstays in this county of Digby. Upon them depends the progress and prosperity of our country. They are the producers. They toil on the land and on the sea, the source of all wealth. When the sun of prosperity shines on the farmers and fishermen of Digby County, we all feel its warming rays, and by that same token, when the farmers and fishermen are not prosperous, all the people, or nearly all, feel the depressing effects. It would be a waste of space to enumerate the causes of depression that Digby County farmers and fishermen, and other workers, are suffering. They are too well known to repeat.

It must be also apparent that another period in our history is commencing, and throughout the whole world the movement is gaining momentum. It is the period of re-adjustment, and the quicker we realize that fact, the better it will be for us all. During this period of re-adjustment a lot of our tax payers are finding it hard to meet their obligations and I suggest that the Municipal Council be elected this fall take the lead in easing the burden of the tax payer.

As one means of saving money I suggest that there shall be a ten per cent. reduction in all expenses over which the Municipality of the District of Digby has direct control.

In taking another tack, I think it is about time that there was a substantial reduction in the rate we are paying for Municipal patients in the Nova Scotia Hospital. A few years ago the rate was jumped from seven dollars per week to ten dollars and fifty cents per week. Now, that the cost of living has dropped, it would be in order to get the rate back to the former amount. We paid nearly six thousand dollars last year to the Nova Scotia Hospital. Simple arithmetic will show what a saving there would be in that direction at the normal rate. If overhead expenses can be cut in other directions there is nothing to prevent a reduction of expenses at that hospital. I submit that we are paying too much at the present time.

Another matter that effects is the fact that the Highway Tax must be paid before the end of August. Our taxes are not collected by that time, which necessitates borrowing with its attendant interest charges. More money paid out! The argument will be advanced that the Highways Department needs the money to carry on. We need the money just as badly as the Department, and I think that there are enough receipts from autos to carry on highways work until the ratepayers have paid their taxes.

The Union of Municipalities, meeting at Halifax this month would be well advised to urge upon the Provincial Government the necessity of a change in Highways Tax collection and a reduction in the prevailing rates at the Nova Scotia Hospital.

It shall come to pass sooner or later and the sooner the better. In referring to the reduction in Municipal expenditures I have not conferred with anyone. It is my idea solely, to be accepted or rejected. No councillor or prospective candidate for Municipal honors has been my confidante because I wish to deal fairly with them all. It is not an election-kite to be flown in election year. There is nothing of a political flavor about it. It deals solely with Municipal finance. There may be flaws in those ideas of mine, but constructive criticism of the taxpayer will soon pick out the flaws I am writing this in the hope that it will arouse interest among the people; that they shall urge for reforms that will lessen the burden of taxation or at least prevent it from rising higher.

THE ANTI-STEEL TRAP MOVEMENT

To the Editor of the Courier:

Sir-In a recent issue of your valued publication, an article was published against the use of the steel trap. The writer of that article, L. V. Shaw, gives the impression that in certain states where the anti-trap law has been in effect, that it has worked out well. The fact is, however, that there is a growing dissatisfaction concerning the inhumane trapping law, and that the legislature in North Carolina, at a recent legislature meeting, exempted practically every county from the law. In Georgia the conservation agents have recently found that the grouse are practically exterminated, and have placed the blame on the plentifulness of foxes due to the anti-trap law. In Massachusetts, the Landowners' Association, resenting the hardships brought about by the anti-trap law, have posted 90 per cent. of all the best hunting and fishing territory against trespass, thus keeping the City people from their lands because they forced the unpracticable trapping law upon the rural population.

The Anti-Steel trap League, with headquarters at Washington, D. C., and branch offices in various states and provinces, and who are known in outdoor circles as sponsors of the cause of the wildcat, weasel and wolf, have been trying to enact legislation to prevent the use of the common steel trap. Steel traps provide over one and a half million men and boys in the United States and Canada with a means of converting their spare time into cash, during the winter months when the "unemployment situation" is always at its worst. They also protect farmers against pests that otherwise might constitute a serious menace to crops and live stock, and they save from their natural enemies millions of game and song-birds and other desirable wild life.

The proponents of the prohibition against the steel trap would deprive us of the best implements with which to gather our annual rich fur crop, without providing an adequate substitute. This group of women and visionary professional reformers is perhaps actuated by humanitarian ideals, but it does not take into consideration the law of the "survival of the fittest"-the irrefutable fact that the suffering which fur-bearing predators that maintain slaughter 365 nights in the year, not only for food, but often for the pure lust of killing, inflict upon our defenseless wild life, far eclipses the discomforts of a trapped animal before it is dispatched by the trapper.

The arguments of the Anti-Steel Trap League instantly flat when mentioned in any circle where conditions in the fields and forests are understood. Unfortunately, however, they usually centre their attacks in cities, among sentimentalists who do not understand either the function or the mission of the steel trap, but who none-the-less have a certain power to interfere with the affairs of the outlying districts.

The destiny of our wild life is now in the hands of provincial and state conservation agents. These men are naturalists, understanding the predatory nature of some of our wild animals and the tremendously prolific and destructive potentialities of others. Under their able guidance the legal trapping period of each species is carefully guarded and controlled so that our more desirable wild life may propagate unmolested while our vermin may be checked with traps. We believe you will agree that these practical conservation authorities are much better fitted to sponsor our trapping legislation, than the handful of reformers who may have money, leisure and zeal to burn, but have no ability in controlling resultant confagurations.

So-called "Killer" traps have never been made for any but the smallest animals. A trap that would kill a wolf or even a fox would be a dangerous contraption to live stock, beneficial wildlife and even humans. Those that have been tried out for small animals were found more cruel than the common trap. They mainly having a killer bar or jaw that rarely killed but created extreme pressure on the back or shoulders of the animal. Box traps are not humane because during a storm or sickness of any trap user, the animal is left to starve, whereby the common trap offers a chance to escape.

Out Door Life Calls for Nourishing Food

By AMY SMITH
Well Known Domestic Science Authority

Off for a day or a month-in the car or hiking, boating, fishing-a few hours you will find FOOD looms up as the biggest thing in the world. Scenery, yes-but such appetites.

Of course milk, and plenty of it, is essential for nourishing, appetizing food-and for campers or picnickers Borden's St. Charles Brand Evaporated Milk is by far the best choice, providing plenty of pure, rich milk, regardless of weather conditions, rough journeys, out-of-the-way camping, places-and lack of ice.

Because Evaporated Milk has had half the water removed, you can rely on its extra richness, which can be utilized to take the place of eggs or butter in many kinds of cooking. For instance, an old guide, famous for his fish fries, told me that in camp he always dipped the fish in undiluted Evaporated Milk before the final coating with corn meal.

When Evaporated Milk is used instead of milk in any recipe, it should be diluted with an equal part of water. Remember this simple rule and you will find it successful in your own recipes. To "cream" your coffee, use it undiluted.

Speaking of Fish-

A "fry pot" is used by Canadian guides for cooking large chunks. After dipping the pieces of fish in Evaporated Milk and then in corn meal, drop into the deep fat (very hot) and fry until brown. And, by the way, take this hint from seasoned camp cooks-a very little fire of the right kind in the right place (if possible sheltered from the wind) will do the job better than a face-blistering conflagration.

A savory fish chowder is always a welcome dish in camp, and it's easily made with Evaporated Milk.

Fish Chowder
Cut the fish in chunks and remove as many bones as possible. Cover the bottom of an iron pot with slices of salt pork and fry but part of the fat. Remove part of the pork slices, then add a layer of sliced, raw potatoes, some sliced onions and a layer of fish. Cover with pieces of hard tack biscuit and season each layer, scattering the salt, for the pork is very salty. Repeat the process until the pot is two-thirds full. Add just enough water to cover to level of the fish. Cover the pot and simmer for one-and-a-half hours, or until the potatoes and fish are tender. Add one tall can of Borden's St. Charles Milk. Bring just to boiling. Serve.

Easy Hot Breads
Hot corn breads to eat with the bacon, fish or pork and gravy, are a huge success after a day in the open -or to begin the day.

Cornmeal Flapjacks
1 cup cornmeal.
1 cup flour.
4 teaspoons baking powder.
1/2 teaspoon salt.
1/2 cup Borden's St. Charles Milk.
1/2 cup water.
2 tablespoons melted fat (bacon fat may be used).
Mix and sift the dry ingredients. Add the milk, diluted with water, and beat well. Add the fat. Bake on a hot greased griddle or frying pan. They need a little longer cooking than wheat griddle cakes.

Camp Corn Dodgers
Put one quart cornmeal into a bowl. Make a hollow in centre of meal and into this put one tablespoon lard and one teaspoon salt. Pour over this equal parts Borden's St. Charles Milk and water heated to scalding point, stirring all the time until a dough is formed which can be molded with hands. Cool slightly, form into cakes and cook slowly on a well greased griddle. (The quantity of diluted milk needed depends on the kind of cornmeal used).

UNITED BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. A. A. MacLeod, R. A., Pastor

The services on Sunday will be as follows: 10.30 a. m., Morning worship. Sermon theme, "What Is Sinful?" The Church school will meet at the close of the morning service, 7.30 p. m., Short summer evening service of one hour. Sermon theme, "Seeing Things." Strangers and visitors are cordially invited to these services. A hearty welcome awaits you.

Rev. A. A. MacLeod will preach in the United Baptist church at Greenland, at 3 o'clock on Sunday. Why not go to church next Sunday?

Large congregations were present at both services of worship last Sunday. By special request the choir repeated the music which they rendered so acceptably the previous Sunday. The sermon stressed the importance of the Ordinance of the Lord's Supper. The text was from 1 Cor. xi: 23: "The Lord Jesus, the night in which he was betrayed, took bread." It is needless that we think ourselves back into that night before we can obtain a right approach to the supper of our Lord. It was a dark and awful night, and its circumstances gave the setting to the solemn counsel of the Saviour. On the way to the communion the disciples had showed a quarrelsome spirit as they debated who would have first place in the new order which Christ was to establish. One of them was even vulgarly in quest of money. A spirit such as this can spoil a common meal. One bitter and resentful spirit can break the fellowship and turn the wedding feast into a funeral. It was in this atmosphere that the Lord Jesus took bread. "You are thinking of keeping your bodies whole," he seems to say, "and not to break it in sacrifice, while this is my body broken for you." At the evening service the pastor brought the concluding message of the series on "A Devil's Trinity." These addresses were especially to the young men of the community. The text, 1 Cor. iii: 16, "Know ye not that ye are the temple of God?" was the general theme of the three messages. Two weeks ago the message centered around the sin of impurity. Last Sunday the sin of betting and gambling was dealt with. This Sunday evening the thought stressed was the sin of drunkenness. A welcome guest at the services on Sunday was the Rev. T. B. MacDormand, B. A., pastor of the Middleton United Baptist church. Mr. MacDormand assisted in the morning service.

Among the guests at the Grand Central during the week were Herbert N. Ree, sr., of New York, who with his son, Herbert, jr., have gone into the woods for a fishing trip; Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Nickerson, Yarmouth; C. B. Larde and J. N. Fader, Halifax; Jos. Morgan, George Discomb and C. E. Colwell, Saint John; H. Clifford Rice, Kentville.

There was a large attendance at the tennis courts on Thursday when tea was served by the head committee, Mrs. Howard Cunningham, Miss A. M. Rice and Miss Blanche Purdy, assisted by Mrs. V. Dittmars.

UNITED CHURCH RECEIVES GIFT OF BONDS

On Wednesday, July 29, the Official Board of the Hillsburg United Church invited the members of the congregation to meet with them in the vestry of the church. A very pleasing feature of the evening's proceedings was the acceptance of a gift from Mr. Wilbur Ryerson. The chairman of the board expressed the thanks of those present. Mr. Ryerson spoke of the influence of the Church in the days of his boyhood, and many memories were refreshed as the older members were reminded of the associations of those days. The bond is to be the property of the Hillsburg congregation to be used in its interest.

Opportunity to See Ocean 'Greyhounds'

Visitors to Nova Scotia Provincial Exhibition Have Chance to See Finest Atlantic Liners

HALIFAX, August 7th.—Thousands of Nova Scotians the sight of one of the great "greyhounds" of the ocean, of the leading steamship fleets, will be a novel experience. To the people of Halifax they are not much of a novelty, but to those living inland, and at points more remote from the Capital City, there cannot help but come a thrill, with viewing one of these monsters of the deep—in reality a whole floating city, capable of wandering over the vast expanse of the water surface of the globe.

Visitors to the Nova Scotia Provincial Exhibition, which this year is scheduled to be staged August 28th to September 5th, will be particularly favored, for during that period there will dock at Halifax some of the most gigantic liners afloat. Throughout the entire summer the leading steamship companies have been running special cruises out of the port of New York, with Halifax the only port of call.

During Exhibition Time

During the period from August 28th to September 5th, there will visit here, according to schedule: "Olympic" and "Transylvania", August 29th; "Mauretania", August 30th; "Belgenland", August 31st; "Cameronia", September 1st, and "Aquitania" and "Transylvania", September 2nd.

Why not plan to visit Halifax with your family, and not only see these leviathans of the Atlantic, an experience long to be remembered, but also attend the Provincial Exhibition, the greatest that Nova Scotia has ever presented. Prizes totaling $20,000 are this year drawn, the highest type of livestock and other exhibits, along with the fastest race horses that have ever been gathered for the Big Fair. Vaudeville attractions are of a calibre that is unsurpassed by other Provincial Exhibitions, and a marvellous display of fireworks has been booked for four nights. The "Midway" will insure a continuous round of merriment. There are many feature attractions, such as The Halifax Herald and The Halifax Mail High School Olympiad and the Maritime Tug-of-War Tournament, sponsored by The Halifax Chronicle and The Halifax Daily Star, along with others.

Remember the dates and plan to be in Halifax at some time from August 28th to September 5th, for the Nova Scotia Provincial Exhibition.

Don't forget to attend the weekly afternoon tea and pantry sale tomorrow afternoon, at the Golf Club house, for the benefit of the Victorian Order of Nurses. Mrs. Sypher will be the convenor.

ACACIAVILLE

Mrs. Joseph Bell was a passenger to Amherst, Monday, to attend the funeral of her sister, Miss Bertie Goodwin, who had recently moved there with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Goodwin. Much sympathy is felt for Mrs. Bell. The deceased made her residence here with Mr. and Mrs. Bell for several years.

Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Payzant and son, of Massachusetts, are spending their vacation at their beautiful summer home at Acacia Valley.

Little Miss Mary Murley, who by falling a short time ago suffered a very severe sprained ankle, entertained a number of her little girl friends at a birthday party on Tuesday.

Dr. W. A. DeLong, of Wolfville, is making a short visit to his father, W. W. DeLong.

Miss Susie DeLong was tendered a very genuine surprise party on Monday night when about forty-five friends invaded the home and took possession. It was to remind her that another milestone had been passed on life's journey. She was presented with a purse of gold by D. C. MacKay as a token of appreciation for the position she has held as organist in the church for some time. A general good time was enjoyed in music and games. Refreshments were served during the evening.

Walter Lamb, of Saint John, is spending a part of his holidays at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bacon.

Mrs. Annie Kinney and granddaughter, Louise Kinney, of Ashmore, spent the week end at the home of her sister, Miss Nettie Warne.

Mrs. W. A. Bacon and daughter, Catherine were the week end guests of her mother, Mrs. Adams, of Deep Brook.

Albert Marshall (of West Medford, Mass., who has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leigh Marshall, returned to his home this week.

A collection of Nova Scotia water color paintings, by Mrs. Ida Mae Wright, of Barton, is on display in the sun parlor of the Harbor View Hotel, Smith's Cove.

The Sunday services in the United Church will be as follows:—Digby, at 11 a.m., and 7.30 p.m.; Bay View, 1.45 p.m.; Smith's Cove, 3.30 p.m.

The monthly meeting of the V. O. N. will be held on next Tuesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, in the Court House.

DEEP BROOK

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Spurr, of Kentville, were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Spurr.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Richardson, of Bridgeport, Conn., are guests of the Misses Blanche and Grace Spurr.

Miss Phyllis Thomas, of Bear River, is spending her vacation with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Elburn Berry.

Miss Ruth McClelland, of Leominster, Mass., arrived on Monday, accompanied by Miss Janet Dillon, of the same place.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Long and two daughters returned last week to their home in Allston, Mass.

Rev. A. N. McNinch, of Brookfield, received a very warm welcome at the United Baptist church, on Sunday morning. Mr. McNinch had a happy pastorate on this circuit for nearly seven years. His sermon was listened to with pleasure and profit.

Rev. Burton Long, Mrs. Long and three children arrived on Wednesday and will occupy their bungalow for the month of August. We are happy to announce that Mr. Long will be the supply at the United Baptist churches during the month.

Harry Nichols arrived on Monday from Somerville, Mass., to spend his vacation with Mrs. Nichols, who arrived last week. They are guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McClelland.

C. H. Lawton left on Friday for Pawtucket, R. I. He expects to return for the month of September to join Mrs. Lawton, who is spending the summer at their summer home here.

Rev. A. N. McNinch, of Brookfield, was a Sunday guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Sherman. The young people from Deep Brook, who wrote the provincial examinations at Bear River, were all successful.

VICTORIA BEACH

Mr. and Mrs. George Snow arrived from Springfield, Mass., on Monday, and are visiting Mrs. Snow's mother, Mrs. David Everett.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Ellis and family, of Lynn, arrived here on Monday to visit Mr. Ellis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ellis.

Mrs. Ralph Haynes is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Avard Wilson, at Clarence.

Fred. Arnold, of Annapolis, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Ellis.

Mrs. Robert Chisholm and children, of Saint John, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Amos Everett.

Brid and Groom Given Reception

On Tuesday evening a wedding reception was tendered to Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Cleveland at the home of Mrs. Cleveland's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Gower. Attesting to the popularity of both the bride and groom were numerous presents received from friends, which consisted of quilts, blankets, linen, pillows, aluminum ware, silver, etc. About seventy guests were present. The evening was spent in dancing and playing bridge, after which refreshments were served by friends of the bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland left on Thursday morning, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Francis Lent on a motor trip through the province. The car was beautifully decorated with white ribbon and roses.

On Tuesday morning a Westport man charged with stealing a compass from the motor vessel "Dream Girl", at Yarmouth, was found guilty in the police court in that town, and sentenced to three months in jail.

The annual garden party of the Hill Grove United Baptist church, will be held on the grounds of J. A. H. Nichols, near Taylor's Corner, on Thursday afternoon next.

Mrs. D. H. Thurber, of Watertown, Mass., arrived in Digby last week and is occupying her bungalow on the Shore Road.

Chester Ellis, of Lynn, Mass., is spending his holidays with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Ellis, Shore Road.

"WRIGHT'S"

Digby, Nova Scotia

My Dear Mr. Wright:

We are again at home following our trip through interesting Nova Scotia.

One of our enjoyable visits was at your establishment in Digby. While we purchased only a few articles, it was nevertheless noticeable that you and your helpers were most anxious and patient to see that a complete service was rendered us and for this I wish to express my appreciation.

It just makes us feel that we would like to visit you and Nova Scotia again another year.

With best wishes for your future success, I am

Sincerely Yours,

DIGBY ACADEMY TEACHING STAFF, 1931-32

The following named comprise the staff of the Digby Academy for the ensuing school year:

Principal—F. Courtney Purdy, B.Sc.
Vice Principal—Miss Elizabeth McWhinnie.
Grade Teachers—Mrs. Josephine Driffield, Miss Vera R. Mason, Miss Bertha H. Curry, Miss Bessie B. Turnbull, Miss Ina L. O'Brien, Miss Dorothy M. Moses.
Singing Teacher—Miss Agnes S. Munro.

Annapolis Band Concert Appreciated

The Annapolis Royal Band gave us the first of a series of three band concerts subscribed for by the people of the town of Digby, on Monday evening. Crowds of persons, from all parts of the surrounding country, (we were told on good authority) that there were in the vicinity of three hundred cars in town for the concert) congregated about the bandstand.

The band of twenty-three pieces played beautifully under the capable leadership of Paul Yates and Digby on Wednesday.

his assistant, Clyde Slauenwhite. The hearty applause of the audience was evidence of their appreciation of good band music.

We are delighted to learn that this splendid band has many engagements for the remainder of this season.

The Acadiaville African Sunday School wish to thank all those who contributed through Miss Annie Miller towards William Barton's expenses to the Association.

Misses Genevieve and June Martin, of Trask, of Yarmouth, were visitors to Digby on Wednesday.

Canadian Pacific Officials Visit "Pines" Hotel.

On a tour of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, E. W. Beatty, K.C., chairman, and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, left Montreal, at noon Monday, and was accompanied in his special train by Sir Herbert Holt, chairman and president of the Royal Bank of Canada, and a director of the C.P.R., and F. E. Meredith, K.C., director of the Canadian Pacific Steamships, Ltd.

Traveling via Saint John, through which they passed early Wednesday morning, Mr. Beatty's party first visited Sydney, arriving there Wednesday afternoon and leaving that evening for Halifax, where the train arrived Thursday morning.

The special left Halifax the same morning, and after luncheon at the Cornwallis Hotel, Mr. Beatty and his party proceeded to Digby, spending the evening at the Pines. This morning they will motor to the Lakeside Hotel, Yarmouth, and return to Digby in the afternoon on Saturday. The party will take the S. S. Princess Helene for Saint John, N.B., and will visit the Algonquin Hotel, Saint Andrews, Sunday, and Fredericton, Monday, leaving Fredericton by train for Woodstock, and returning thence via McAdam to Montreal.

Rev. Dr. Kirkus Addresses Kiwanis Club

We had a very good crowd at the Kiwanis luncheon again on Monday. Although somewhat smaller than it has been during the past two weeks, this doesn't mean that the Digby Kiwanis are losing interest in their club, not by a long way, but you must remember that at the last two luncheons we had the Yarmouth Club and the Saint John Club, with us.

President Maynard Denton was presented with the president's gold pin. The presentation was made by Kiwanian Alfred Boden. Rev. E. W. Forbes was taken in as a member of the club, and presented with his "21."

Rev. Dr. Kirkus, of Wilmington, Del., and Digby, was the speaker. His address was one of the best we have heard yet, he spoke on the customs and religious life of the Canadian people. Dr. Kirkus, you remember, was in charge of the American Episcopal Church in Munich, Bavaria, for four months this winter. We hope that we will have the pleasure of hearing him again before very long.

The committee in charge of Kiwanis Education will take charge of the programme on Monday. This will be a very important meeting and you are asked to make a special effort to attend.

Two Cars Collide Near Meteghan.

A serious automobile accident occurred between Meteghan and Meteghan River, Wednesday evening, when Captain Fred Ladd, of Yarmouth, driving his own car, collided with a car from Truro. Dr. Williamson of Yarmouth, was called immediately to the scene of the accident.

Both cars were badly damaged, and the occupants of Captain Ladd's car, which included Mrs. Ladd and Mrs. John Killam, were injured.

Chief of Police A. G. Cowan received a letter from a Boston law firm this week re the inheritance due the heirs of Frank H. Norton, son of Henry and Isabelle Norton. Frank Norton was born in Nova Scotia about the year 1875.

Question—How long should tea be brewed?
Answer—If it is Morse's Selected Orange Pekoe it requires 5½ minutes in water that has just come to the boil.

Party of American Teachers Visit Digby.

A party of United States School teachers on their third annual tour, visited Digby, yesterday, and had luncheon at the Manhattan Hotel. The party crossed from Saint John yesterday morning. The tour is conducted under the auspices of the Clark University, and is in charge of Professor George F. Howe, instructor in geography at the State Normal College, New Britain, Conn.

The object of the trip was to attain a geographical knowledge of this country, and to secure a first hand internal viewpoint of how people live in the Maritime Provinces and other parts of Canada.

The party was very much pleased with the charm of Digby. They were accompanied by George F. Parker.

There will be a street parade in connection with the Hospital Fair, at 2 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon.

Next Week to be a Busy One

Next week promises to be a pretty full week for the people of Western Annapolis and Digby Counties. The Digby Hospital Bazaar will be held on Wednesday and we all want to be there to do our bit for the hospital, and from the way things are looking just now, there is going to be a wealth of a crowd there.

On Tuesday and Wednesday will be the Annual Church Picnic in aid of the new church at Saint Bernard and, as usual, thousands of people will be there. Strange to say, the Hospital Bazaar and the St. Bernard's picnic always come on the same date, and these two both reap proceeds running into the thousands of dollars.

Then on Thursday afternoon there will be the Annual Memorial and Decoration Service of the Old Saint Edward's Church, at Clementsport, and those of us who can get there don't want to miss that service either.

Beside these extra "attractions" there will be the usual doings of the week, and we don't want to forget the Hospital Bazaar and Forty-Five Party in the Union Hall, Barton this evening.

V. O. N.

The usual Afternoon Tea and Pantry Sale for the benefit of the Victorian Order of Nurses will be held to-morrow, at the Golf Club House, if the weather is unfavorable tea will be held at Mrs. Lynch's house.

WHAT IS PERSONALITY?

When we hear the comment "he has such a fine personality," made relative to some person, we are interested. We wonder just what is meant by the word, "personality." What qualities does that person possess? What particular virtue must one cultivate to achieve that distinction of person? What are the characteristics which make for popularity for a life-time, and endear one to the many persons one meets?

Probably first of all is the companionable quality. No characteristic goes further to enrich personal relationships. The companionable spirit establishes a bond of attraction between persons. As much as one thing could, it aids the self-centered person to get his mind away from self to interesting people, objects and events. In genuine interest in others, in what they are, and do, and say, is no more than any normal person should acquire for himself.

No one wants to be a square peg in a round hole or a misfit in life. "Fit" as Colonel Roosevelt tersely said. Each of us must adjust himself to the situations of life as we face them.

Purposeful activity must precede personal development. Some years ago, a backwoods young man boarded a train for the first time, his destination being a school. Densely ignorant, he was wise enough to realize his disadvantage. Being a person of spirit and action he determined to overcome every handicap. Today, he is a successful, forceful business man. Another person of less action, less personality, would have let his handicaps be a stumbling block to his progress.

An ingrowing personality does not attract. Try always to broaden your perspective on life, cultivate the companionable quality, and learn to fit into all situations of life as we find them, thereby approaching more closely that ideal we each have of being a fine personality.

NEW FEATURES FOR CALF CLUB SHOWS

Lawrencetown, N. S., August 8th—Many of the Calf Clubs in Western Nova Scotia are planning on having their Annual Shows in August, this year. In some cases there will be exhibits of cows with production records, two year olds, yearlings, and calves, so that numbers of stock present will vary in different clubs, from 15 to 60 head, according to the size of the Club.

All Clubs have arranged for demonstrations on dairy subjects and for some Sports later in the afternoon.

The experimental farm at Kentville, is sending around a tent full of exhibits, which promises to be an interesting feature. Prominent speakers will attend many of these Club Shows. James Bremner, Acting Secretary of the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club will attend the Jersey Clubs; and J. H. King, Live Stock Promoter for New Brunswick, will attend quite a number of these Shows, and it is probable that Mr. V. B. Leonard, prominent Guernsey breeder will be present at a number of the Shows.

Club members are working hard to make these Shows the most interesting ever put on, and they will merit the support of all interested in agriculture. Shows will be held at the following places, on the following dates:

Barss Corners Jersey Club, August 14th., Mrs. Roxie DeLong's.

North Middleton Jersey, August 15th., The Pines, Spa Springs Western Kings Guernsey, August 17th., Clarence Banks, Kingston Village.

DEDICATION SERVICE

A service of unusual interest was held at the little Church of the Nativity, Sandy Cove, on Sunday morning of last week, when the new cross which surmounts the spire, was dedicated by Archdeacon Vroom. This cross, which is made of copper and of good proportions, was the gift of the Rev. Dr. Norwood, to replace the original wooden one that for about a century bore witness to the faith. It was a glorious morning and a good congregation, consisting of the people of the neighborhood and summer visitors, climbed the hill for the service. When the people were assembled in the churchyard, Dr. Rice, on behalf of the congregation, petitioned that the cross be dedicated, which was done by the Archdeacon, with appropriate prayers, after which all entered the church, and the hymn, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross," was sung. The service was reverent and hearty, consisting of shortened Mattins and Holy Communion, and the sermon was on the text, "God forbid that I should glory save in the cross of Jesus Christ." It was singularly appropriate that one of the hymns sung, was "We Love the Place, O God," written by Dean Bullock, who was the builder of the church when he was rector of Digby. Mrs. L. G. Morehouse kindly played the organ for the service.

Deep Brook W. M. A. S. Hold Regular Meeting

The W. M. A. S. of Deep Brook, met on Wednesday of last week, at the home of the Mrs. C. H. Lawton. The newly elected president, Mrs. Myrtle Jackson, conducted the meeting. A very interesting and helpful programme was enjoyed by the large number present. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

On Thursday the Deep Brook Missionary Society enjoyed a delightful afternoon as guests of the Bear River Society, at the home of Mrs. John Roop.

The attractive programme of music and readings was an inspiration to the large number present. Mrs. John Berry, president of the Bear River Society, welcomed in a few well chosen words the Deep Brook Society. Mrs. Jackson fittingly responded. A social hour was enjoyed and refreshments served by Mrs. Roop, the hostess.

AUSTRALIAN FRUIT HAS EDIBLE SEEDS

Passion fruit, little known in Canada as being tried out on Canadian appetites. A consignment of this odd product will reach Montreal this summer aboard the Canadian National freighter, Canadian Cruiser, which left Australia some time ago.

This fruit is highly nutritious but one must cultivate a taste for it. The size compares with a plum and the general appearance when ready to eat suggests a prune. It contains seeds which have great food value. The plant belongs to the genus Passiflora.

Recently a shipment of passion fruit was sent to New York from Australia. Hotel menus contained the striking hint that one should eat the seeds, which are about the same in appearance as grapefruit seeds. Mr. Average American could not accustom himself to eating seeds and the New York experiment was not successful. However, Australians are hopeful that the passion fruit will creep into the hearts and stomachs of Canadians.

WEDDINGS

OWEN—MULLEN

A very pretty wedding of interest to a large number of friends both in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, was solemnized at Hassett's on Wednesday afternoon, August 5th., when Hazel Bell, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Mullen, of that place, became the bride of Rev. Arthur Owen, of Royalton, N. B.

The ceremony which took place under a nuptial arch on the lawn of the home of the bride's parents was performed by the Rev. Stillman Mullen, of Marysville, N. B., brother of the bride. The Scripture was read by Rev. F. A. Dunlop, of Saint John, N. B. Prayer was offered by Rev. H. Mullen, of Port Maitland and Benediction by Rev. F. C. Amery, of Weymouth North, followed by a short discourse by Rev. H. C. Mullen, of New Tusket.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked most charming in a modish wedding gown of white tulle with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of roses. She was attended by Miss Alice Teddie, of Hartlock, N. B., who also looked charming in a flowered gown of yellow silk crepe, with accessories to match, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. Bennett Cochrane, a friend of the groom acted as groomsman. Little Miss Isobel Owen, niece of the groom, acted as flower girl and Master Waldon Mullen, nephew of the bride, acted as ring bearer.

During the signing of the register "Oh Love That Will Not Let Me Go" was very beautifully rendered by Bennett Cochrane. About 150 guests were present at the wedding and reception which followed and among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. Owen and daughter; Isabella, Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Bourque and son, Sheldon, of Royalton, N. B., Rev. and Mrs. F. A. Dunlop, of Saint John, N. B.,

Rev. and Mrs. Stillman Mullen and family, and Donald Mullen, of Marysville, N. B., Mrs. Raymond Smith, of Port Maitland; Rev. and Mrs. Sears, of Yarmouth; Bennett, Cochrane, of N. B. and Rev. and Mrs. H. Mullen, of Port Maitland.

Mrs. Herbie Mullen, of New Tusket and Mrs. Fred Hankinson, of Weymouth were served by girl friends of the bride. The large collection of gifts included gold pieces, cheques, linen, china, silver, woolen blankets, hand embroidered pieces, etc.

The bride had been the guest of honor at several showers in New Brunswick, where she had been working in the Ministry of the Reformed Baptist Church. The happy couple were over night guests at Bayside Farm, Weymouth North, after which they left on a motor trip down the South Shore, spending the week end at Wood's Harbour, then proceeding by motor through New Brunswick and Maine. They will reside in Medford, N. B., where the groom has a pastorate. They were followed by the good wishes of a host of friends.

test the value

THIS week, test the outstanding value contained in every General Motors car. At your convenience, a car of the size, price and body type you prefer will be brought to your door, by your General Motors dealer, for you to drive and inspect. You can then see the many points of beauty and mechanical design which are made possible through association with General Motors' worldwide organization. You can appreciate those special features which adapt the cars to Canadian road and climatic conditions. And you will be shown how the car is manufactured in Canada, by skilled Canadian workmen and, for the most part, of material purchased within the Empire. General Motors issues with every car, a generous Owner Service Policy which states the exact service to which an owner is entitled—and which holds good at any of the thousands of General Motors dealers throughout North America. Call your dealer today. If you wish, you may buy economically on time payment through G.M.A.C.

Look in the classified pages of your telephone book under "General Motors Cars" for address of the nearest dealer.

UNITED CHURCH OF CANADA

REV. C. L. Blanchard, Minister

Services will be held on Sunday as follows: 10.30 a.m.—Morning Worship. Sermon theme, "Seeing Things." 7.30 p.m.—Special Missionary service under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society. Mrs. J. H. Berry will preside; members of the society will take part in the program, and special missionary music will be provided. The pastor will speak on the theme, "The Boundless Beneficence of Our Bounteous Benefactor." Members of the society are requested to occupy the seats reserved for them at this service. A special missionary offering will be taken. Those without a church home are cordially invited to these services. Strangers and visitors to Bear River will be cordially welcomed. Why not go to church next Sunday?

The church school will meet for bible study immediately after the morning service. Adult theme, "The Effects of Alcohol." This is the quarterly temperance lesson. The attendance last Sunday showed a marked increase over that of a year ago. Let us keep up that record.

Rev. A. A. MacLeod will preach at Lansdowne at 3 p.m. on Sunday.

The guest preacher at the United Baptist church last Sunday evening was Rev. T. B. McDormand, B.A., pastor of the Middleton Baptist church. Mr. McDormand is spending his vacation with his parents in Bear River and is receiving a warm welcome from his old friends here. It was a pleasure to all to have the privilege of hearing him in his old home church on Sunday evening. Taking for his text, Acts i: 8, "But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you," Mr. McDormand gave a helpful message on the Holy Spirit and his relation to the Christian life.

GARDEN PARTY GREAT SUCCESS

Last Tuesday afternoon, with ideal weather conditions, the ladies of the United Church, held their Garden Party on the grounds of Fred R. Harris.

The several booths were very attractive and well patronized. Mrs. L. Nichol made a very realistic "Rebecca" at the well and dispensed lemonade to the thirsty. Miss June Schmidt presided over the Jack Horner pies, with their mysterious plums.

The Fortune Teller also was kept busy foretelling the future.

The supper tables were very attractive, centred with baskets of flowers, and laden with food, delicious and varied enough to appeal to the appetites of all.

The proceeds amounted to about $150.

Mrs. (Dr.) H. C. Fletcher, of Halifax was a recent arrival at Bay View, where she is guest of her brother, James F. Hillman and Mrs. Hillman.

HER HUSBAND TEASED HER

But not for long!

"I started taking Kruschen Salts for biliousness, and for the last two years I have been perfectly free from attack. Now I continue to take them, as I find they keep me in perfect health. My husband used to joke about me taking Kruschen Salts, now he takes them himself, so do my children. My sincere thanks."

When your gastric or digestive juices refuse to flow, your food, instead of becoming absorbed into your system, simply collects and ferments inside you, producing harmful acids and gases which give rise to biliousness, heartburn and flatulence.

Kruschen is a combination of six mineral salts, which goes right to the root of the trouble. It first stimulates the flow of gastric and other juices to aid digestion, and then ensures complete, regular and unaltered elimination of waste matter every day. And that means a blessed end to biliousness, and a renewed and whole-hearted enjoyment of your food without the slightest fear of having to pay the old painful penalty.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

The Women's Missionary Society of the United Baptist church held their summer meeting at the beautiful home of Mrs. J. E. Roop, on Thursday afternoon last. A special feature this year was the presence of the members of the Deep Brook society as guests. The president Mrs. J. H. Berry, conducted the meeting. After the devotional exercises the president welcomed the visiting society on behalf of all present. A short business session followed, after which a delightful and interesting program was rendered, including a Vocal Duet, "Here Am I Lord," by Mrs. J. L. Warren and Mrs. A. L. Marshall; Mrs. Chas. Greene read an interesting letter from Miss Cora Elliott, missionary; Reading, "Omitting the Fourth Stanza," Mrs. J. E. Roop; Piano Duet, Mrs. Roop and Miss Louise Harris. An inspiring letter received from another missionary, Miss Bessie Lockhart, was read by Mrs. Carl Miller. Short addresses were given by Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. R. Spurr, of the Deep Brook Society, during which they thanked the Bear River Society for their hospitality. The Lord's prayer recited in unison, brought the meeting to a close. Mrs. Ralph Purdy, the efficient pianist of the programme. Following the meeting a social hour was enjoyed by all. Delicious light refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Edna Peck and Miss Melba Sullivan. The thanks of the ladies were very fittingly expressed to Mrs. J. E. Roop for her kind invitation to her home and also for her untiring efforts to make the meeting interesting and helpful. The hope was freely expressed that more fraternal joint meetings such as this be held in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. Graven Betts and Miss Primrose Elliott were also present. Miss Emily Taylor and Miss Carolyn Waters, being librarians, have taken a great interest in our little library.

WHEN DOUKHABORS TOOK TO HARNESS HE TOOK HORSES

Strange scenes in the early history of Manitoba were recalled on the retirement of E. A. Field, Land Commissioner of the Canadian National Railways for Western Canada, who was recently presented with a gold watch and chain by his colleagues. Nearly thirty years ago, the Doukhobors of Manitoba in a sudden frenzy of religious passion determined to do away with their horses and cattle—it was before the days of tractors—and plough their fields and haul their wagons by man power. They cast 500 head of horses and cattle adrift in the Swan River Valley and the Department of the Interior gave Mr. Field the task of salvaging them.

BRITISH TAKE TO HOME-CANNED GOODS

The remarkable development of the fruit and vegetable canning industry in Britain has been one of the features of the market situation affecting Canada, from where in the past large imports of canned goods have been made. Six years ago there was no such thing as a canning industry in Britain. Now it has immense proportions; this year's objective being 500 million cans of English fruit and vegetables.

Approves of Mr. Hillman's Plan

To the Editor of the Courier: Sir:—Reading Mr. Hillman's letter last week, it seemed to me reduction in municipal taxation was all right as far as it went—but did not go far enough. He mentions the pay at Halifax for a patient, ($10.00 a week), where a few years ago it was only $7.50, and that under present conditions it should be back to $7.50, which would be proper; also that the fees from motor cars should take care of expenditure so that road tax could be collected later in the year, all of which I believe should be.

A few years ago we were only paying $3.00 per day to members of the council. There should be a cut of 40% making it $3.00 at present, which would be in line with his letter of last week. If Mr. Hillman should be a member of the incoming council and would make this cut in his own salary, and induce the other members to do the same for the next three year term, then a grateful public would believe in his sincerity, and hail him as "The Poor Man's Friend".

A Third Band Concert Proposed

The first open air concert drew such crowds and proved so interesting, that it is hoped a third one can be arranged. Monday, Aug. 31 would be a suitable date if the band can be secured. The only feasible method of getting the money seems to be by collection, but the band would need a guarantee of a sufficient amount. One of the bandmen suggests that a collection could be taken on the night of the second concert, a week in advance, and if the amount looks big enough to insure the cost after the final collection is added, the concert will be given. He also suggests that if the first collection is too small to warrant the band coming, the entire collection be passed over to the V.O.N. If this plan is carried out, the public should show enough interest to make the first collection a big one—at least thirty-five dollars—leaving twenty-five to be added the final night.

MOTOR TRUCK BRINGS TRAFFIC PROBLEMS

"There is no law of God nor man runs north of fifty-three" according to Rudyard Kipling, but Mr. Kipling will have to make a switch in his Typography if he wants his verse to be correct. Churchill, Canada's most northerly port of latitude 59 has the beginning of a traffic problem. Recently there arrived at that historic spot the first motor truck to ramble along the shores of Hudson's Bay. The truck is the property of the Roman Catholic Mission and is being used to freight the supplies from Churchill station to the various missions strung out along the shores of the bay. Eskimos and Indians ran for cover when the truck came plunging along the trails, but a few of the braver were coaxed to take a ride and they now strut about with a very superior and knowing air.

In 1932 when Churchill is officially opened and building commences, there will no doubt be numerous trucks and automobiles in the Northern port, who knows, there might even be a traffic cop.

FIRST AID IS TAUGHT IN MOTION PICTURES

Canadian National employees who study First Aid and undergo the St. John Ambulance Association tests will be assisted in their preparation for usefulness in emergency by motion pictures. A. O. Beck, Chief First Aid Organizer for the System, announces. Three copies are now being made up of a reel on artificial respiration, one of which will be kept in the Central Region, one sent to Winnipeg and one to the Maritimes. The prone pressure method of resuscitation is taught in the Canadian National ambulance classes, and the theory and practical demonstrations will be made even more valuable by the movie. It pictures the reviving of three men, one overcome by carbon monoxide fumes in his garage, one a victim of electric shock and the third a man who was almost drowned. Diagrams of the human body, showing the action of the lungs and the diaphragm, are followed by a demonstration of artificial respiration in practice and of the proper methods of caring for the patients. Great emphasis is laid on the need for hurry in the first place and for well-regulated scientific action in the second.

LAND OF LAISSEZ-FAIRE

Life drifts sweetly on many of the thousands of islands along the route of the Canadian

National's West Indies liners.

Consider Bermuda, its political history: Initial settlers under Sir Thomas Warner gave up because aboriginal Caribs, now extinct made life strenuous. The island was later granted to a family called Codrington for use as a garden and shooting estate. Next a company called the Barbuda Island company took charge. Squatters began to settle illegally and indifferently along its shores. The Governor of the Leeward Islands (British) then decided to take possession, about 1898. Legal proceedings against His Excellency's claim "pettered out" and there things stand, in sunny Barbuda, where "Heaven and Earth and Nature are in tune."

Lee Outhouse, of Tiverton is visiting friends here.

Hugh Denton spent the week end with his family here.

Whole Wheat An Ideal "Depression" Diet

In these days when family incomes are often insufficient to afford expensive foods many medical men urge housewives to concentrate on those cheaper articles of diet which are known to possess high food values. Whole Wheat foods, for instance, are remarkably economical in that, while inexpensive, they contain many important elements necessary to build up and sustain bodily health.

"Shredded Wheat" is a striking example of a whole wheat product which can be served in many appetizing forms. It is made entirely of Canadian whole wheat with nothing added and nothing taken away. It is perfectly palatable yet served with whole milk makes a perfectly balanced meal for either children or adults.

The manufacturers of this popular commodity have for years been educating the public through advertising to appreciate the food value of the whole wheat berry, and realizing the need for popularizing the purity of standard articles, are arranging a complete "Shredded Wheat" processing unit for demonstration at the forth-coming Canadian National Exhibition in the Pure Food Building. The public will thus be able to see whole grains being spun into filmy shreds before being baked into the well-known "Shredded Wheat" Biscuits.

WHO'S WHO

Colonel J. H. Innes

AS Deputy Minister of Natural Resources for Nova Scotia, Colonel Innes is going to the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference wholeheartedly.

He was born at Coldbrook, N.S., and educated at McGill University, securing from that institution B.S.A. degree. For some years he was manager of a fertilizer organization of Toronto, and in 1918 a director of the Soldier Land Settlement scheme of Ontario.

For eight years Colonel Innes was director of agriculture, Dominion Land Settlement Branch. He was appointed to his present position, Deputy Minister of Natural Resources for Nova Scotia, about four years ago.

Colonel Innes is secretary of the Maritime Development Association, and owns and operates a large fruit farm in the Annapolis Valley. He is vice-chairman of the Nova Scotia provincial committee of the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference.

Supplementary Appropriations for Digby County

At the closing sessions of the House of Commons on Monday of last week, much last minute business was rushed through in very short order. Among the various matters were the supplementary estimates for the Dominion and they included appropriations for various works in all parts of Canada. Among the estimates as tabled at the closing session, we find the following for Digby County:

Grosses Coques—Repairs to harbor works, $4,500.
Belliveau's Cove—Wharf repairs, $4,100.
Cape St. Mary's—groynes—to complete under construction, $1,600.
Digby—Harbor improvements, under contract, $50,000.
Freeport—Breakwater repairs $11,500.
Little Brook—Breakwater repairs, $10,000.
Meteghan—Breakwater repairs, $3,000.

Annual Service in Old St. Edward's Church

The annual decoration day and memorial service was held in the old historic St. Edward's church at Clementsport Wednesday afternoon. At this service a tablet to the memory of Dr. Frederick Boehme, unveiled by Senior Warden L. V. Shaw, and dedicated by Ven. Archdeacon Froom. Following is the inscription on the tablet: "To the Glory of God and in Grateful Memory of Dr. Frederick Boehme, Physician to the Waldeck and Hessian Mercenaries and the counter-attendant. Died 1818. Donor of the Bell and Communion Plate now in use in this part of the Parish. He lies buried in the old Church Yard. Erected by the Parishioners, August, 1931."

This service in the quaint old church, which commands a view of the whole Annapolis Basin, is held annually, and is perhaps, one of the most impressive services of its kind. For the cups which were drunk about the year 1754, by the Waldacian and Hessian soldiers, brought out to fight for the British in the American Revolution, and who were given a grant of land in the vicinity of Clementsport. A few years later the church was dedicated to the Anglican church on condition that one service a year be conducted in the German language—a custom observed until all the German speaking people had passed away; but the annual services, although not in the German, have been revived.

The speaker on Wednesday was Rev. Dr. Savary, rector of St. Paul's, Halifax. A collection of $60 was taken.

The members of the Weymouth baseball team went to Westport and played two games, the first with Westport, resulting in a score of 23-3 in favor of Weymouth; and the second with Freeport, resulting in a score of 9-5 in favor of Freeport. The teams then went back to Westport, where they spent the night, being delightfully entertained at a dance during the evening. The members of the team wish to take this opportunity, through the columns of the Courier, to thank the people of both Freeport and Westport for their kind hospitality; also for the cups which were presented to two of the members of the team, the sentiment prompting the gift being especially appreciated by them.

JOGGIN BRIDGE

Mrs. George Archules and son, Joseph, left on Saturday for their home in Dorchester, Mass.

Miss Kathleen Miller, of Brighton is spending a few days with her aunt, Mrs. Edith Berryman.

Mrs. Alice Bell, of Deep Brook, who has been spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Woodman, has returned to her home.

Mrs. B. Moore, of Moncton, is spending her vacation the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Farwell.

Miss Helen Fraser, who has been spending a few days with Miss Jean Warren, has returned to her home in Fredericton.

Mrs. Jiggs—"One may stress the delight of corned beef and cabbage, but for me there is nothing I enjoy so much as a well made cup of Minnie's Tea."

Mr. Jiggs—"Right again, Maggie! In fact, you're always right."

Little Jackie Atkinson, of Annapolis Royal, the seven-year-old drummer mascot of the 1st Battalion Band, will play the snare drum in the "Stein Song," at the open air concert in the Digby band stand next Monday evening. The concert begins at 8.15.

Digby Man Swims a Mile To Rescue Boy from Drowning

A daring rescue was carried out in the waters of the Annapolis Basin, near Digby, on Sunday afternoon last, when Edward Spriggs, of the Spriggs Taxi Service, rescued a nine-year-old lad, Douglas Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Robinson, of Joggins Bridge, about three miles from town. The little fellow had been paddling on a log, a short distance from his home, and before he realized his position he had drifted out into the deep waters of the Basin off Robinson's Point. His cries for help were heard by his mother, who, on looking out, was horrified to see him clinging to the log quite a distance off shore. Terrified, she telephoned Robert Russell for assistance, and he in turn, after vainly trying to get one or two parties, finally reached the Provincial Police, Hetherington and Kiggins, who at once caught up five boys who were swimming at the boat slip, and rushing them by car to Robinson's Point, at the same time word was sent to Maurice Raymond, the highway warden, driving along the highway saw the plight the boy was in, and stopping his car, ran through the bushes and undergrowth to the water's edge, and plunged in. He is a strong swimmer and although the distance was about a mile made it in good time, shouting words of encouragement to the boy whenever he had a chance. He reached the boy, who obeyed all his instructions to the letter, and started back to the shore with the log. Fortunately he did not have to swim all the distance as Maurice Raymond met them with his boat and took them both in. As can be expected Mr. and Mrs. Robinson are indeed grateful to Mr. Spriggs and all who helped in the rescue of their son.

Tourist Felt Through Wharf; Quite Badly Hurt

Lewis J. Silverstein, New Jersey tourist, stopping at Kungford Cottage, met with quite a bad accident Saturday afternoon, when he went through the flooring of the old Anderson wharf, which has been practically abandoned for some years, falling quite a distance to the beach. As he was passing saw the accident and called for help, Michael MacKinnon and A. Sultis went to the rescue, and when they reached him, beneath the wharf, he was unconscious. He was taken once to the hospital, but his identity was not learned until he had gained consciousness some hours later. He was cut a little and badly shaken up.

Miss Caroline Jones, of Boston, arrived on Monday to spend a couple of weeks in town.

Juliette Gaultier To Give Recital

Juliette Gaultier de la Verendrye, sweet singer of folk songs of Canada, most particularly of the Acadians, is at the Pines Hotel, where she will give a recital on Tuesday evening. This will be one of the greatest treats our Digby people and summer visitors have had the privilege of enjoying in years. She has charmed vast audiences in many of the greatest cities of the world, millions have been thrilled by her voice as it came over the radial. Her voice is recorded on the Victor records.

Ms. Gaultier has recently been acclaimed in a week of concert recitals in Toronto; she had sung for the King and Queen of Siam at a reception given them in the French Embassy, at Ottawa.

Her voice and violin have been heard from Budapest, Hungary, to Alaska; at Royal Conservatories; in opera, and in singing the old folk songs of the people. Her work, that of searching for old folk songs and legends, has brought her in close contact with the fisherfolk of Newfoundland and Canada; the Acadian people of our own province; the French Canadians of Quebec, the Esquimaux of the Far North. She has devoted her life of music to the music, language, legends and folklore in general of the Canadian people.

In "Acadie" she has re-discovered many of the folk songs and legends of the people, and has come back to sing the songs she has collected and to revive the music. Some of the legends, she gave, date back to the year 352 A.D., and the songs of the 12th century. Among her favorites is the Acadian lullaby, "Berceuse in Acadie," which she will sing on Monday evening. This lullaby is typical of the Acadians of Nova Scotia.

The "Times," of London, England, says this about Ms. Gaultier: "What she brings should attract the attention of all who are interested in primitive music, both the experts and the amateurs. She sang a few songs, not as one who had learned them, but as one who had lived them. The songs were sung to instruments, which properly belonged to them."

Juliette Gaultier de la Verendrye will give a recital at the Pines on Tuesday evening, and we will be given the rare treat of hearing this Canadian born artist, watch for posters with further announcements.

Master Bobby Lewis, of Bridgeport, who has been spending a few days with his grandparents, Capt. and Mrs. E. Lewis, returned home on Monday.

NARROW VISION

THERE was a man, a goodly man,
Who loved the right and true;
He could not see how men could be
So wicked, through and through
And find delight, both day and night
In things he wouldn't do.

Upon himself he kept an eye
So watchful and alert,
That circumstance nor careless chance,
Nor fancy could assert.

In any hour, their dreadful power,
To cause him lasting hurt.

"I'll save my soul at any cost!"
This good man often cried;
"On sinners vile I will not smile,
I'll walk the world in pride,
Correct and sure, no whim or lure Shall make me stay aside."

He stayed aloof from worldly men,
With rigid self-control,
He frowned away all mirth and play,
Hoping at Heaven's goal,
When life had passed, to come at last
A pure, untarnished soul.

I hold no brief for wrong and sin,
Nor years in folly spent,
But blocks of wood are just as good
As men on safety bent;
Nor can I think so small to shrink
The soul was ever meant.

SHIPS OF YESTERDAY

They don't come back across the tide
Those ships of yesterday,
In distance black their masts Glide
Then sink beyond the bay.
In painted mists their passing forms
Forever sail the spray,
And someone's missed, when rising storms
Bring thoughts of yesterday.

They don't come back across the years
Those dreams of yesterday,
No binnacle rainbow tapers,
No compass for peace of clay,
No guiding stars of soul desires
Rise in their somber gray,
And through their bars of evening fires
Gleam tints of yesterday.
They don't come back in spite of tears
Those deeds of yesterday,
Some good they lack'd off reappears
In shadow form today,
Though roses strewn may withered lie
Far back upon the way,
The soul's great boon—today's clear sky—
Smiles on life's yesterday.

Everything Would Turn BLACK

Mrs. H. E. Swaney Considers that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills (tonic) Saved Her Life.

"Feeling Like a Different Person."

"I could hardly walk across the room," writes Mrs. H. E. Swaney, R. N., of Collingwood, Ontario. "Everything would turn black and I would become so dizzy I would have to rest. I thought I would never be strong when I was advised to get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I used them until I had taken six boxes. Soon I was feeling like a different person. I am now the mother of six strong, healthy children."

The iron and other elements in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills (tonic) increase the amount of haemoglobin, or oxygen-carrying, in the blood. The result is a better appetite, a feeling of well-being, restful sleep, and the ability to do your work happily.

Begin now to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. 50 cents a package.

You are PAYING for a New Roof

Change Your Roof Maintenance Costs Into Time Payments on A Beautiful J-M ROOF

PERHAPS you, like this lady's husband, have thought a new roof too expensive. Get that idea out of your mind. It is your old roof that is too expensive. Apart from the serious damage that the first unexpected leak may cause, the cost of continual roof repairs will quickly exceed the cost of a new Johns-Manville Roof. And repairs to an old roof never cease. They keep getting more expensive.

A Dividend-Paying Investment
Look at it anyway you like—a new Johns-Manville Roof is a sound investment—an investment which you can make easily under the J-M Deferred Payment Plan. It will more than pay for itself by ending your present roof repair expense. It will stop all worry and assure your home perfect protection against fire and weather. It will give your home transforming beauty, and increase the value of your property. And it will do these things at the lowest cost per year.

A J-M Roof for every home
Age has no effect on J-M Rigid Asbestos Shingles, except to make them more beautiful. Or, for many years of roof satisfaction at the lowest first cost you can get the roof of your choice from J-M Asphalt Shingles. There is a complete range of colour in both types.

Why not use this experience?
Johns-Manville is the roof authority, and each J-M dealer has been selected for his expert roof knowledge. Go and see the nearest dealer now, today. (His address is below). ### OBITUARY

Mrs. Phillip Belliveau—The many friends of Ella M., beloved wife of Phillip Belliveau, of 19 Göttingen Street, Halifax, formerly of Weymouth, were deeply grieved last week to learn of her death, which occurred at the Victoria General Hospital, Halifax, on Monday, after a most painful illness, heroically borne. Mrs. Belliveau more than a year ago, developed her fatal malady, but it was only recently that her condition became grave, and it was recognized that death was but a matter of a short time. She was thirty years of age, and had a wide circle of friends, both in Weymouth and Halifax.

Besides her sorrowing husband, she leaves to mourn their loss, two little lads of four and five years, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Corbin; two brothers and four sisters.

The body was brought to Weymouth for interment, and the funeral service was held in St. Joseph's church on Friday morning, Rev. Father Melanson officiating at the Requiem High Mass, which was largely attended. Mrs. Dennis Theriault, accompanied by Mrs. Nelson Rice, beautifully rendered "Nearer, My God, to Thee," at the close of the Mass.

Mrs. E. C. Outhouse—With deep regret we announce the death of Mabel, wife of Elbridge C. Outhouse, of Tiverton, which took place at her home last Thursday morning, at the age of 47 years. While it was known that she had not been in good health for the past four years, her death came as a great shock to her relatives and friends. She was a member of the Christian church, being baptized when very young, and for many years was a faithful worker in the church. Left to mourn, besides her husband, are one son, Chester, of Tiverton; two sisters, Mrs. Elias White, in California; Mrs. George Gale, Marblehead, Mass.; two brothers, Norman and Judson Robbison, Tiverton; also a large circle of relatives and friends. The funeral took place from her home on Friday afternoon, Chester Sommer, of the Christian church, officiating.

Enos Doucette—The death of Enos Doucette, of New Edinburgh, took place last week at the Yarmouth Hospital where he had been taken for an emergency operation. The funeral took place from St. Joseph's church, on Friday morning. Besides his sorrowing wife he leaves to mourn their loss for brothers, Dennis, Whitman, William and John, of New Edinburgh, and one sister in the United States.

Safe for Summer Feeding

HOT weather babies need careful feeding. The most important thing to remember in warding off summer troubles is to have baby's food uniform, pure and easy to digest.

Borden's Eagle Brand Milk is very easy to digest, it's purity is guaranteed—and it is always the same. Eagle Brand has been satisfactorily used by hundreds of thousands of grateful mothers and since 1857 has been recognized as the leading infant food. Be sure to take Eagle Brand when visiting out of town. It will save the trouble caused by changeable or uncertain milk supply.

DIES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

The death of Evangeline, wife of Benjamin Alcorn, occurred on Friday morning after several days' unconsciousness, due to paralysis, and although she had not had good health for some time, it came as a great shock to her family and many friends.

Mrs. Alcorn was a daughter of the late Henry and Hannah Wyman, of Overton, Yr. Co., and was born in that place 62 years ago. She leaves to mourn, besides her husband residing in Bear River, one son, Sterns, of the Nova Scotia Light and Power Company, Halifax; also two brothers, Sterns W. Wyman, of Medford, Mass., and Chas. Wyman, of Cambridge, Mass. The funeral was held from her home on Sunday with interment in Mount Hope cemetery.

Henry Ford, Jr., arrived on Friday from Mountain Lakes, N. J., and is the guest of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Ford, at Harbor View.

SMITH'S COVE

At the 11 o'clock service at St. Anne's chapel last Sunday, Bishop Richardson dedicated two memorial tablets. One was in memory of Archbishop Fortin, father of Mrs. Richardson, who, during the declining years of his life, found peace and happiness here. The other was in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Norton, who spent many summers in Smith's Cove, and were very much interested in the welfare of the community. The preacher at this service was the Rev. A. S. Payzant, rector of St. Peter's church, Beverly, Mass. The services next Sunday will be as usual. Holy Communion at 8 o'clock; morning prayer and sermon at 11 o'clock, at which Bishop Richardson hopes to be the preacher.

TUNA FISHING THRILLING TO NOVA SCOTIANS

Little Nova Scotia, for all its brevity, is the province of romance and thrills. Just take for instance, the fishing of albacore, practically all of which is concentrated in the waters of St. Margaret's Bay.

St. Margaret's Bay is a few miles to the west of Halifax Harbor, and with its blue waters and countless islands it is as beautiful a spot as any in picturesque Nova Scotia, writes Helen Creighton, in The Canadian Geographic Journal, and reproduced in a recent issue of the New York Herald-Tribune. Fishing is always good here and albacore are plentiful, but for many years this fish, now so eagerly sought, was considered only a nuisance. It got into traps set for mackerel and tore great holes in the nets. Nobody thought of serving it at the table until 1903, when the Italian population of Boston cried loudly for "de bigga da fish," a favorite in the homeland.

In a twinkling the prestige of the albacore underwent a startling revision and three firms changed their whole system of fishing in order to export them. Perhaps albacore is a new word to you. Mayhap you would know the fish better as tuna and it is quite possible that a "Chicken" sandwich you have enjoyed was a tuna with another name. For, as a local authority says, "It is albacore in Nova Scotia, horse mackerel on the Boston market and tuna when canned. In its final state it is very like chicken and is frequently used in its place."

There are three ways of catching albacore—by trap, harpoon, and hook and line. The tourist, lured to the wharves by the sight of huge heads lying inert and ungilded curiosity. Personally the sight merely whetted my appetite for adventure, and the next day saw me going with the Coolens to empty their traps of their catch.

To reach the fishing grounds we clambered into dories and rowed to a huge motor boat. Here the dories were tied together and we were towed to the open sea, some of the boats carrying men, others nets. In a few moments our objective was reached and the onlookers were invited to a seat on top of the motor boat's cabin, a sort of private gallery from which we could watch the excitement without in any way endangering ourselves or being in the fishermen's way. Fastening ourselves frequently entertained in this way, for the fishermen love to share their thrills.

The hosts of the day were all men of one family—nine hardy Coolens, "from England" as old Al. Coolen said, "a Scotch-Irish family, the worst combination in the world." It was slow business getting the nets in place for after the sweep was down the spiller had to be set. This fits inside the other two. "Like a box," Al. explained, "with one side left open." When this is placed and the fish swim inside, the box the net is closed, and until the fish are forced to swim in a few feet of the motor boat.

"Fishermen are patient people," said old Al. as an hour passed and the nets were only then in place. From our vantage point we searched the waters. For fifteen minutes we sat breathlessly with expectant eyes. For half an hour, then another, we sat there, but nobody uttered complaint. The restraint was almost unbearable. Then suddenly the cry came.

"Haul 'em in! Haul 'em in!" and the nets were pulled into place as we watched breathlessly. One by one the fishermen joined Al's boat and slowly drew in their net, or spiller. At this time they were about 100 feet from the motor boat and as they drew the net up we saw the albacore faintly first, and then, as their sphere of action became more limited, their bodies became more clearly visible.

Nearer and nearer to the boat came the struggling albacore and then one arose, raised an angry head and flashed his tail in scorn. Then his whole bulk arose, and suddenly, as they got close enough to the boat to be touched by a gaff, the sun caught the under-side of an upturned albacore. It was as though a brilliant silver light had been thrown up to us, dazzling in its beauty. It lasted a moment and was gone, and then the aesthetic became further entranced by the deep blue shades upon their backs as the sun touched them in the water. Flecked with a mottled indigo, they were further beautified by a regal purple stripe, running from head to tail, tiny yellow fins, like half

Freiberg Passion Players Bring Own Costumes and Scenery

Willie Funk, who combs and curls sixty wigs every day; Lena Schneider, whose portable sewing machine has made costumes in almost every city in the world; and Carl Brenner, her brother, who designs the costumes, are three very important adjuncts of the "Freiberg Passion Players", who are to present this sacred drama at the Kentville Arena, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights only, August 24, 25, and 26.

Barber, seamstress and designer are all natives of Freiburg, Baden, Germany, and grew up in their respective vocations. They have spent their entire lives in the employ of the sacred caravan. While there is in the neighborhood of fifteen hundred costumes carried with the Players on the present pilgrimage of the Passion Players, more than one hundred and fifty will be used during the local stay in Kentville. Mr. Brenner is very proud of the fact that the robes are historically accurate in design, coloring and materials. All the cloth is purchased by the bolt in Germany for the reason that American made broadcloths have a floral effect which was unknown at the time of the sacred story which will be unfolded here.

Historically correct and the most careful accuracy in design governs every detail of the many beautiful costumes worn in the presentation and regulates the number of yards of brocade in a Roman soldier's cape and the shape of the leather sandals worn. An exact replica in the minutest detail as to scenery and properties necessary to the proper production of the biblical story is exercised and will be noted in the local presentations to be given at the Kentville Arena.

Burdetta Carter, Mount Allison graduate in piano-forte, will open a Local Centre Studio in connection with Mount Allison, on September 1st. Instruction includes all theory requirements for examinations.

The weekly afternoon tea for the benefit of the Victoria Order of Nurses will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Golf Club house. Mrs. Forbes and Mrs. Morse will be the convener.

The gross receipts at the annual church bazaar, at St. Bernard's, in aid of the new church, which was held this week, realized the sum of $2,100.00.

The population of the French Polynesia Islands has sunk in three or four generations from hundreds of thousands to a few scattered thousands.

butterflies twitched restlessly in a last vain effort for freedom.

Poised in the bow of the dory that contained the spiller, a younger Coolen stood with cudgel ready. When the first fish swam toward him he raised this cudgel in the air, and smote it upon the head. Immediately the water all about him became a seething mass, screening the men from sight, for the great fish was now churning the sea up with all the weight in its huge frame. Men in the boats were soaked from top to toe and it is there the danger lies. Al nearly swamped his boat once, just saving himself from drowning. Like many of the fishermen he cannot swim.

So in spite of the glorious rainbow that appeared in the lying spray we were alive to the danger of the men who stood in dories. As soon as it was possible to strike another blow the fish gave up the ghost and the first albacore was gaffed, hauled up by a derrick and laid upon the floor of the launch.

Next Monday will be the last hand concert of the season unless the public take up the proposal for an extra large collection during the coming concert—large enough to guarantee the band that a second collection of the night of the proposed concert, will cover the cost. In the past several concerts have been secured by such contributions, but on one occasion a few skydiving youngsters passed their own hats and made off with the contents. The public should be warned against unauthorized collectors.

What How Why?
PLYMOUTH FLOATING POWER
THE WHOLE NATION WANTS TO KNOW MORE ABOUT IT

What is Floating Power?
Floating Power is a term applied to the new and revolutionary principle of mounting the engine in the car frame.

Why and How is Power Increased?
Because the elimination of vibration allows higher compression, which gives greater horsepower without increasing cylinder size.

Harvey Mitchell

THE chairman of the provincial committee for New Brunswick of the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference, Regina, 1932, is Mr. Harvey Mitchell, the Deputy Minister of Agriculture.

Mr. Mitchell was born at Keswick Ridge, N.B., in 1871, and received his preliminary education in the public schools of that district. Later he went to the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph.

For fourteen years he was engaged in field work for the Department of Agriculture of New Brunswick and for twelve years, maritime representative of the dairy division of the Federal Department of Agriculture.

In 1921 Mr. Mitchell was appointed Deputy Minister of Agriculture for New Brunswick.

Attempted Holdup Near Clementsport

By cracking one "hold-up" man over the head with a wrench, and throwing another off the running board of her car, Mrs. Chisholm, county clinic nurse, of Yarmouth, saved herself from robbery and possible injury on Sunday. Driving to Yarmouth from points in the Valley, Mrs. Chisholm when in the neighbourhood of Clementsport, noticed a Ford touring car standing crosswise of the highway. Presuming it was an accident the nurse brought her automobile to a standstill. Before she could again get the car under way, two colored men jumped on the running board, one on either side, and made an endeavour to open the doors. Fortunately at Mrs. Chisholm's feet was a massive monkey wrench, which, with great presence of mind, she quickly brought into action, and one of her assailants received a smashing blow which knocked him clear of the car on to the road-way. "Stepping on the gas" Mrs. Chisholm started her auto, and the second alleged robber was violently thrown into the ditch. Passing the obstructing Ford was safely accomplished, but Mrs. Chisholm's car nearly overturned, when she was forced to take to the embankment at the side of the highway.

Burdette Carter, Mount Allison graduate in pianoforte, will open a Local Centre Studio in connection with Mount Allison, here, on September 1st. Instruction includes all theory requirements for examinations.

Folk Songs of Canada Heard in Digby

Every seat in the Pines Casino was filled on Tuesday for Mlle. Juliette Gaultier de la Verdy's novel recital of the Folk Songs of Canada. Her programme was divided into three groups, the first group devoted to songs of the Eskimo of the far north; the second to the Indians of British Columbia, Alberta and Ontario; the third to the songs of the French Canadians of Quebec and the Acadian people of our own province. She appeared for each group in an appropriate costume, first wearing the dress of the Copper Eskimo, then the elaborate attire of the Nootka Indian Women, and, lastly in the costume of the French Acadian Women.

Mlle. Gaultier accompanied herself with the primitive native instruments, beating the tom-toms for her Eskimo and Indian songs, and in accompaniment for her Acadian selections she played a small harp as beautifully as she sang.

From a musical point of view, Juliette Gaultier's programme was quite unique, from an entertainment standpoint, it was some thing altogether different. "Juliette Gaultier, is above all, a supreme entertainer with a gift for making people so forget their own woes as to allow themselves to be transported to the realms envisioned by the artist."

Juliette Gaultier is greatly recognized for the work she has done. She has devoted her life to the gathering of folk songs of her native Canada and bringing them to the public with her beautiful voice. She studied under the patronage of her uncle the late Sir Wilfred Laurier and of Lady Laurier and Lord and Lady Strathearn.

1st. Battalion Band Scores Another Big Hit

The open air concert last Monday night attracted a large crowd to the Digby band stand and was thoroughly enjoyed by an appreciative audience, hundreds of whom are now standing until the last note was played.

The program was interesting in variety and was rendered in fine style. Among the selections "Bassology" showed off the superb bass section to great advantage, while the affection of the public for old-time favorites was illustrated by the hearty applause given "La Gondolina" (played by request), and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," the former rendered as a cornet duet by Messrs. Miller and Slaugenhove, and the latter as a cornet solo by Mr. Slaugenhove who responded to an encore with "Annie Laurie." But the hit of the evening was made by little Jackie Atkinson, the "drummer-mascot" of the band, who played the Stein Song from an elevated platform where his diminutive figure was not hidden by other players. This 7 year old musician played his part precisely as the music was written, and with the utmost concern, though he was somewhat embarrassed in the midst of the tumultuous applause when two charming young ladies presented him with huge bouquets—a graceful act which redoubled the noisy demonstration.

This is the last concert of the season at Digby. Arrangements which were under way to secure another concert for next Monday have been called off owing to the fact that the band is engaged to play at the Halifax Exhibition and are leaving for Halifax very early Tuesday morning, making it impossible to accept an engagement for the previous evening.

DIGBY

If you seek a treasure chest
Wherein time you may invest,
Golden hours of play and rest,
Try Digby.

Little town of hill and tree,
With her fingers in the sea,
Fairer place there cannot be,
My Digby.

Other lovely spots of Earth
With their beauty and their mirth
And their own intrinsic worth,
Intrigue me;

Yes, wherever I may roam,
Your dear name will still spell
"Home,"
Hall, Digby!

—Pearle Thompson Ellis.

OBITUARY

Dr. Walter C. Howe—News was received here Tuesday, of the sudden death of Dr. Walter C. Howe in Boston, Mass. He with Mrs. Howe had been spending their summers in Nova Scotia for many years and much of the time they were at Smith's Cove. On Friday he passed through here to return home. Dr. Howe was born at Dedham, Mass., 59 years ago, son of Elijah and Julia Ann (Hunt) Howe. He was graduated from Amherst College, class of 1894, and Harvard Medical School '98. He was a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity. He was a house officer of the Boston City Hospital, the Living in Hospital and the Children's Hospital. He had been engaged actively in practice in Boston since 1902. He married Miss Amelia Ely, who survives him with two children, Frederick Howe and Miss Emily Howe. Dr. Oliver H. Howe, of Cohasset, Mass., is an older brother. Dr. Howe was a member of the American College of Surgeons, the American Medical Association, Massachusetts Medical Society, New England Surgical Society, Boston Surgical Society, Natural History Society, Boston Medical Library and the Harvard Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Farnham, of Jamaica Plains, Mass., are visiting friends in Digby and in the Annapolis Valley. Mr. Farnham is a son of a former owner of the Courier, and was himself, at one time, foreman of the plant.

Here and There

Canada's total wool clip is about 21,000,000 pounds annually, while Canadian mills use at least twice as much as this every year, and Canadian consumption of manufactured woolsens equals about four times the clip.

Lake Louise, Icelandic poppies, one of the glories of that part of the Canadian Rockies, are in demand in thousands of gardens all over the world. Gardeners at the Château are now busy gathering seeds which will later be mailed to guests of the hotel this season.

Representing an increase of 31,000,000 bushels over the same period last year, 1931-32, bushels of grain were marketed on Canadian Pacific Railway western lines during the twelve-month period since August 1, 1930. This gives the railway company a percentage of 52.3 of all the grain handled in that period.

More than 479,000,000 fish eggs, fry, fingerlings, and yearling fish and a few older fish were distributed last year from the hatchery establishments operated by the Fish Culture Division of the Canadian Department of Fisheries. Largest distribution was from the hatcheries in the Prairie Provinces.

Nipigon River Bungalow Camp Trophy competition is getting some fine entries this season. Recent a trout of seven pounds and one ounce was put in, and shortly afterwards, a six pounds, fifteen-ounce trout was taken. Catches of three to five-pound fish are frequent and one of the best seasons in years is reported from the camp.

J. O. Turcotte, Canadian Exhibition Commissioner, who visited Regina recently in connection with interior decoration in the magnificent new building which will house the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference, states that a start on this work will be made immediately. Decoration will be in grain seeds, no paint of any kind being used.

The Dutch wheat mixing law, effective July 4, enforcing a maximum of 25 per cent. of soft domestic wheat in the making of bread in Holland, may lead to an increase of this percentage which should have the effect of creating a great demand for Canadian hard wheat, says J. C. Macgillivray, Canadian Trade Commissioner at Rotterdam.

"Development of Canada's ocean ports is not merely a Dominion problem but is a matter of interest and concern to the British Empire and the world as well," is the conviction expressed by Sir Alexander Gibb, G.B.E., world famous engineer and authority on port development and operations, who has been called in to superintend the rebuilding of the Saint John port facilities, recently destroyed by fire.

Would Be Burglar Frightened Away

The falling of a window did a would be burglar, who entered the store of B. J. Roop the other evening, out of his loot. The burglar gained entrance by means of a skeleton key.

In the morning when Mr. and Mrs. Roop opened their place of business, they found in a neat pile, sweaters, neckties, socks, etc. The pile had been placed ready to take away by someone who came into the store to help themselves. Several boxes of stock had also been ransacked, and as further evidence, pipe ashes were found near where the burglar was at work.

Mrs. Roop told the Courier that her window over the store fell with a bang during the night. She got up to raise it again, and at that time remembered hearing some noise, but took no notice of it, thinking it was someone on the beach or on the platform in front of the store. It was no doubt this crash that frightened the burglar, nothing has been missed from the store.

Accident Sends Two Men To Hospital

Mitchell Lipwich and Abie Star, both of Yarmouth, N. S. were rushed to the Digby General Hospital early yesterday morning as the result of a bad automobile accident near Speich's Cove at Barton.

The accident occurred about nine o'clock when the two men, driving from Yarmouth, en route to Kingston, attempted to pass a load of grain, the front wheels of their Studebaker leaving the road. The car turned over twice, and both men were badly injured, Lipwich suffering from a broken leg, while Star was badly sprained about the muscles.

DR. VAN ALLEN DIES IN GERMANY

The Rev. Dr. William H. van Allen, known as "Father van Allen" to hundreds of Bostonians during his pastorate of 27 years at the Church of the Advent on Brimmer street, died Sunday at Schwabinger Hospital in Munich, Germany.

He was 61 years old and had been under treatment at Munich since last April, following a stroke which he suffered while en route to Munich from Florence, Italy. Previously he had strained his hip in a fall on the steps of a church at Florence.

One of the most widely known New England pastors, Dr. van Allen concluded his rectorship at the Church of the Advent in 1929 because of ill health.

During his long rectorship, Dr. van Allen, through his prominent writings, and his activities in a wide scope of religious service, became known to churchmen throughout the country as a leading educator and an exponent of sound churchmanship.

He was well known in Digby, having been a summer visitor to this neighbourhood for a number of years.

TALK OF THE TOWN

The annual garden party in connection with the Baptist Church, at Deep Brook is taking place this afternoon.

There was a large attendance at last Monday's Kiwanis' luncheon at the Pines. Bishop Cook of Delaware, was the speaker.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Ladies' Hospital Aid will be held at the Court House this afternoon, (Friday) at three o'clock.

A plane piloted by Wesley N. Raymond made a landing on the Digby golf course Wednesday morning. Raymond, leaving Rockland, Me., Tuesday, touched at Calais en route to Digby. He is to pay a visit to his mother, who resides at Bear River.

New York Advertiser Boosts Digby

The Royal Diamond and Watch Company, of 170 Broadway, New York, with stores at Elizabeth and Bayonne, N. J., and Yonkers, N. Y., are this week sending out 5,000 circulars to mailing lists in these cities, advertising a special sale of diamonds and watches. These circulars are all dated from Kumbur Cottage, Digby, and contain pictures of views at Porter's Lake and along the Lighthouse Road. The entire work of printing and mailing is being handled by the Wallis Print, of this town, printers of the Digby Weekly Courier.

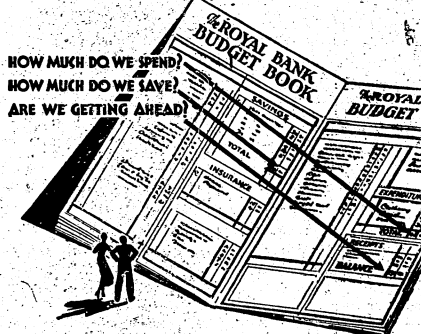

C. M. Bradbury, the advertising manager of this concern, with Mrs. Bradbury, have recently returned to New York, after spending two weeks at Kumbur Cottage, and were very much impressed with the charm of our town and are now confirmed Digby boosters.

Gilbert's Cove Residence Destroyed by Fire

Fire destroyed the fine residence of Capt. Bernard Melanson, at Gilbert's Cove, Digby, on Saturday afternoon. About 3 o'clock the maid was startled when she heard a crackling sound coming from the office of Capt. Melanson. Becoming alarmed, she ran to the door and hauled Forrest Eisener, who was passing in a car. Eisener immediately got busy and in a short time a crowd of neighbours had gathered to fight the fire with a bucket brigade. The firemen from Yarmouth also responded. All the furniture was saved, but the house was gutted so that it is almost a total loss. The flames spread through the ell on the house and ignited the large garage which was burned to the ground. Capt. Melanson was not at home at the time the fire was discovered.

Mrs. Wallace Hersey spent the week end in Yarmouth.

ANNUAL PICNIC AT SAINT BERNARD

Tuesday and Wednesday were "big" days in the Clare district, when thousands of people visited the village of Saint Bernard where the annual picnic in aid of the new church was being held. Although the attendance was very good, there was considerable falling-off from the receipts of previous years. The gross proceeds this year were $2,100.00.

This new Saint Bernard's Church is one of the many attractions of the "French Shore." The story of this church is something quite out of the ordinary. The construction of the edifice was commenced in 1910 by the then Parish Priest, Rev. Edward LeBlanc, who is now Bishop of Saint John. Each year since that date, more than twenty years ago, something has been added to the magnificent structure until the Eglise Ste. Bernard has finally taken form; the exterior is about completed, but it will be many years before the church will be dedicated as a place of worship. When completed the structure will cost in the vicinity of a quarter of a million dollars, of which more than half has been paid already. The building, as magnificent as any cathedral, is entirely built of grey granite, quarried at Shelburne. It is said that one tier of this beautiful stone around the edifice costs more than one thousand dollars. The work is done by the people of the community under the direction of the Parish Priest, Rev. Father Emile Bourneuf.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONCERT

A miscellaneous concert in aid of the Weymouth Falls Baptist Sunday School was held in Community Theatre on Thursday evening before a large and appreciative audience. The program was as follows:

Piano Solo.
Choruses: "Oh Canada," "Roll, Jordan, Roll," "The Summer Will Soon Be Over."
Restoration: "This Is What I Would Do For Him."
Chorus: "Since I Laid My Burden Down."

Mixed Quartette: "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot."
Chorus: "Mary, Don't You Weep."
Restoration: "Mother's Fool."

Male Trio: "Steal Away!"
Duet with Pantomime: "Dip Them in the Golden Sea."

Solo with Pantomime: "The Orphan Child," Miss Katherine Langford.

Vocal Duet and Charleston Dancing: "Get Away, Old Man, Get Away," by two tiny tots.

Dialogue: "Jupiter Johnson and the Fair."
Choruses: "He Moves," "Pick Up the Young Lamb," "I'm Bound to Leave This World."

Restoration: "As I Sat by My Window Last Night."

Chorus with Solo Parts: "Tell Me Where You Have Been So Long."

Choruses: "Can't You See a Bright Light," "Standing in the Need of Prayer," "Come and Praise Him."

Dialogue: "The School."

Solo: "Just 45."

Chorus: "Jane Melrose," "Mary Jane, Go Change Your Name."

"Breathing Dead and Gone."

Step Dancing and Charleston to Harmonica Accompaniment.

Chorus: "We Are All Done Singing."

Step Dancing and Charleston.

Chorus: "National Anthem"

The parts were all very well taken but special mention should be made of the two tiny tots who sang the vocal duet and did the Charlestoning so well.

GENERAL MOTORS CARS HAVE OUTSTANDING VALUE

In the building of General Motors cars, there is no compromise with quality. If a part fails to conform to specifications, in either substance or dimensions, it is rejected. General Motors has modern plants, up-to-date machinery and equipment, and every known facility for progressive manufacture. Materials, both raw and finished, are for the most part obtained from reliable sources within the Empire, and uniformity in quality is assured through the watchful care of skilled inspectors. Craftsmanship is of high order, tasks are performed with the neatness and skill characteristic of Canadian workmen. Direct results are smooth performance, quietness, dependability, long life and unusually low prices. Gauge these qualities for yourself. Your dealer will gladly furnish a car for demonstration at your convenience. He will also explain GMAC, the economical time-payment plan, and the General Motors Owner Service Policy, which gives comforting assurance that the outstanding values of any General Motors car will endure.

Look in the classified pages of your telephone book under "General Motors Cars" for address of the nearest dealer.

HE COULDN'T READ FOR INDIGESTION

"For some years previous to 1922 I was subject to indigestion, with headaches and thousands of stars sparkling in my eyes, which prevented me from reading. I decided to try Kruschen. That was August, 1922, and I have taken a little in my first morning cup of tea ever since. I now eat anything, and am entirely free from indigestion or stars."

"Now let it be said quite definitely, that what Kruschen did for him, it will do for everybody else who suffers from indigestion as he did. The fact is that 'the little daily dose' first stimulates the flow of gastric juices to aid digestion, and then ensures complete, regular, and unailing elimination of all waste matter every day."

"Soon after you start on Kruschen you will begin to feel the benefit. You will find to your satisfaction that you are able to enjoy your food without any distressing after-effects. And, as you persevere, you will see that the relief which Kruschen brings is lasting relief."

The New York yacht, "Warrior", 718 tons register, arrived in Digby from Eastport, Me., on August 24th. This yacht carried a crew of forty men, under Captain Severin Augustinsson.

In a telegram to Mayor Lynch Alfred Boden, town clerk, who was called to Toronto by the serious illness of his nephew, Jarvis, states that he expected to return to Digby on Saturday. He reported the condition of his nephew as very bad.

William G. Sutcliffe, Professor of Economics at the College of Business Administration of Boston University, who has been teaching at the summer school of that institution, has just joined his family who are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Daley.

The Acaciaville Colored Baptist Church will hold its Annual Garden Party on the church grounds, on Wednesday, September 2nd, if fine, if not, the next fine day. Supper from 5 o'clock. Tickets 35 cents. Proceeds for the new hall. Everybody welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Aymar, accompanied by J. A. Dunham, left last week for Prince Edward Island. While there they took in the Charlottetown Exhibition. Coming back they chanced to Saint John, where they left Mr. Dunham, who intends to visit in Toronto. They returned on Sunday.

Mrs. Merkel, who had charge of the Book booth at the Hospital Fair, wishes to thank those who so kindly sent in such nice books unsolicited, and asks if those and all friends of the hospital, after reading their books the coming winter will put them aside for the Fair next year. The proceeds this year were nineteen dollars and fifteen cents.

Annual Field Day Calf Feeding Club

The Acaciaville Guernsey Calf Feeding Club held their annual Field Day and Exhibition on Tuesday, at the farm of D. C. McKay, Hill Grove. The show was arranged by J. A. Steele, Live Stock Promoter and Charles Collins, Agricultural Representative. Thirty-five head of stock were on the ground of the Guernsey breed, and some outstanding animals were shown. A pleasing and educational feature of the show was an exhibit of fruit, grains, grasses and general agricultural products put on by the Experimental Farm, at Kentville, and displayed in a large tent, in charge of James Porter, of the Farm Staff.

Dairy Promoter Churchill placed the awards in a very impartial and satisfactory manner, no easy task owing to close competition in some of the classes. The following is a list of the prize winners:

After the awards had been placed and the various competitions held, the gathering was addressed by Mr. Porter, Chief Herdsman, at the Experimental Farm, on the care of stock, which was much appreciated. Charles Collins also gave a talk which dealt with the work that the various Clubs are doing. After a very interesting game of soft ball, tug-of-war, etc., was indulged in the youthful exhibitors gathered their stock together and returned to their homes voting this the most successful held by the Club since organization.

The memorial service of St. George Lodge, No. 55, I. O. O. F. will be held on Sunday. The lodge will meet at 2 o'clock at the Oddfellow's Hall and proceed to the Baptist Cemetery, where the entire service will be held. A committee will decorate the graves of all deceased members in the different cemeteries. All members are urged to be present.

What Every Young Home Should Know

THAT an Electric Washer is indispensable in any home, young or old, and that the Easette Washer is just the type you need. Taking up very small space it does its work equally as well as any larger machine.

The Easette is enamelled inside and out, and this machine is very easy to keep clean. Of the gyrator type the parts will last a lifetime as they continually run in a bath of oil.

We offer you a new low price on this machine, (which is in a class with $140 machines of other makes). Our price is

$114.50

We also sell on time payment plan costing you very little more. Come in and see for yourself and we will give you a demonstration with the

Blue and Red Patronize The HOME OWNED STORES M.M.A.

The Maritime Provinces have lumber, fish, minerals and agriculture; also a wonderful climate. What they need is money. If you send your money away, or spend it where it is sent away, you cannot have prosperity or build up your own locality.

When you spend your dollars in the Blue and Red Home-owned Stores you get good goods and service, your money remains here where the coming winter will put them aside for the Fair next year. The proceeds this year were nineteen dollars and fifteen cents.

The M. M. A. helps you to help others.

Gas in the Stomach Is Truly Dangerous

Gas, Pain Bloating and a feeling of fullness after eating are almost certain evidence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Too much acid irritates the delicate stomach lining, frequently causing chronic Gastritis and dangerous Ulcers. Food ferments and sours, forming a gas that distends the stomach and often seriously affects the heart.

It is genuine folly to neglect such harmfulness to use Bismarck digestive aids that cannot neutralize the stomach acid. A better way is to get from your druggist some Bismarck Magnesia (powder of tablets) and take a little after each meal.

This famous but simple and inexpensive stomach sweetener and antacid can be depended upon to prove its value in less than five minutes. In most instances, relief comes instantly. Pleasant, and perfectly harmless to use. Bismarck Magnesia does give wonderful relief in nine out of ten cases. Ask your Doctor or Druggist.

What Every Young Home Should Know

THAT an Electric Washer is indispensable in any home, young or old, and that the Easiette Washer is just the type you need. Taking up very small space, it does its work equally as well as any larger machine.

The Easiette is enamelled inside and out, and this machine is very easy to keep clean. Of the gyrotor type the parts will last a lifetime as they continually run in a bath of oil.

We offer you a new low price on this machine (which is in a class with $140 machines of other makes). Our price is

$114.50

We also sell on time payment, plan costing you very little more. Come in and see for yourself and we will give you a demonstration

The secret of keeping fresh

The great secret of feeling fresh is to keep the mouth fresh. The cool flavor of WRIGLEY'S refreshes the mouth. It removes all trace of eating, or smoking, sweetens breath.

WEDDINGS

Bailey-Sullivan
A very pretty wedding which was attended by a large gathering of guests took place Wednesday morning in the Baptist Church, when Miss Melda Gertrude, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Sullivan, became the bride of Ernest Ellison Bailey, of Yalesville, Conn. The ceremony was performed at 10.30, the Rev. A. A. McLeod, pastor of the church officiating. Cut flowers arranged very artistically formed a background for the bridal party as they entered the church to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Louise Harris.

The attractive bride, who was given away by her father, was attired in a pretty gown of white crepe back satin, with train of georgette, the conventional veil caught with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas and maiden hair fern. The guests were ushered by Miss Evelyn Stewart, who wore a dainty gown of pink flat crepe, and Miss Edith Benson, who was daintily gowned in mauve flat crepe, each wearing mohair hats to match their gowns.

Little Elsie Marshall, who was a winsome little flower girl, looked very sweet dressed in white, carrying a large flower basket of sweet peas and maiden hair fern.

Following the ceremony an informal luncheon was served at the family residence, which was tastefully decorated with cut flowers. A splendid array of gifts were received by the bride, that from the groom being a substantial cheque; to the organist and lady ushers, necklaces; to the flower girl, a string of pearls. The happy couple left that afternoon for Yarmouth by motor; from there they will enjoy a trip through Maine and New Hampshire. Mr. and Mrs. Bailey will reside in

LANDS IN HIS OWN BACKYARD

Wesley M. Raymond, son of Mrs. Annie Raymond, flying expert of the Bird Aircraft Corporation, New York, landed here on Wednesday morning in his airplane, at his own backyard. Mr. Raymond's plane is a sister ship to the one privately owned by Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, the wife of America's flying hero.

Mrs. John Coombs, who was a patient at the Digby Hospital, returned home on Friday.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC

The United Church Sunday School held their annual picnic on Thursday, August 27th, at Henshaw's Beach, Deep Brook.

The day being clear and fine a large number of teachers and pupils of the Sunday school with their parents and friends gathered at the church and were conveyed to the picnic grounds by those who kindly loaned their cars for that purpose.

A bounteous dinner was served in true picnic style after which games, races and contests filled the early afternoon hours. The distribution of prizes causing a good deal of merriment and fun.

Baseball was in progress for the latter part of the afternoon, a rather unusual feature of the game being the three generations of players from the Langley family.

After an early supper the picnicers once more assembled in the cars and left for home having spent a very happy day.

The Officers and teachers and pupils of the Sunday school wish to thank all those who loaned cars and provided bonbons, peanuts etc. or helped in any way to give them such a delightful picnic.

INSTITUTE MEETING

On account of Monday being Labor day, the regular meeting of the Institute will not take place, but further notice will be given.

Major and Mrs. A. M. Simons entertained delightfully on Thursday evening, when guests numbering about sixty sat down at 7 o'clock to a corn spread spread on long tables on the veranda. The evening was spent at bridge and dancing.

The novelty prizes were won by Dr. L. J. Lovett and Mr. Horace Moore; the prize for contract was won by Mrs. W. M. Romans.

Mrs. H. C. Anthony spent the week end in Saint John.

Maternity Nurse Gives Advice

"Helped me so much"

"I AM a maternity nurse. In my 42nd year I used to have a sick spell every two weeks. A woman always seems to have some derangements at Change of Life."

"The Vegetable Compound helped me so much that I recommend it to mothers and young girls as well as older women. Mrs. Eugene St. Germain, 1604 Gladstone Ave., Cote St. Paul, Montreal, Quebec."

Our Schools

are special schools in which a few things are done well. We appreciate the fact that we cannot teach everything—so we teach a few things of supreme usefulness. Our courses are MODERN and adopted to present-day business requirements. They are arranged to give the student the maximum training in the minimum time and at the least effort consistent with thoroughness.

START NOW!

This can happen to you!
but THERE'S A STRONGER REASON FOR BUYING A NEW J-M ROOF NOW

THE ever-present threat of leakage presented by your old roof is reason enough why you should talk over your roof problem with the nearest J-M dealer.

But there's an even stronger reason: A new J-M Roof will cost you actually less than the totals of repair bills on your old roof.

For when your roof is a J-M roof it will give you dependable protection (and beauty, too) at the lowest cost per year. It has back of it the name Johns-Manville—a recognized authority on roofs.

The dealer who supplies these roofs is himself an authority to whom you may turn with as great confidence. Call on him today. (His address is below.) Get him to show you examples of roofs of ever-lasting Asbestos Shingles—or of long-lived Asphalt Shingles. Both are fire-safe—both weather-resistant—both economical—and both available in an almost endless variety of tones and blends. Ask him for a free roof inspection and for details of the J-M Time Payment Plan.

Don't patch. Re-roof with colourful, durable J-M Shingles. It is less expensive. Canadian Johns-Manville Co., Limited, 904 St. James St., Montreal.

SPECIAL SERVICES AT DANVERS

Special services were held in the Christian Church at Danvers every night last week by Rev. Mr. Johnston of Saint John.

The Annual Roll Call Service was on Sunday afternoon, when the church was crowded full, a large number of people standing outside.

A patriotic sermon from the text, "Canada for Christ" was preached by Rev. Johnston. A duet, "He is Not a Disappointment" was sung by the Misses Hilda and Melba Wagner. A number of hymns were sung by special request of those responding to their names by letter.

The collection amounted to $52. Following the Roll Call Service, baptism was held in the lake at Danvers, when the following were baptised: George Gaman, Lennie Lewis; Reginald Gifford and Hubert Lewis, Audrey Baxter, Jennie Amero, Althea and Mary Spavold, and Clarence Mullen, Marion Cosman, Bessie, Helen and Vivian Wagner.

In the evening a service was held followed by the Holy Communion Service at which there were 150 communicants. The fourteen who were baptised also Mildred McCullough of New Tuskett were given the Right Hand of Fellowship into the Church, and at the same time were presented with a copy of the New Testament. A duet, "Whispering Hope" was beautifully rendered by Mrs. George Wagner and Mrs. George Everett of Weymouth. The subject of the evening's service was "The Way of the Transgressor is Hard." The service closed with the singing of the hymn, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

GUIDES' SPORTS A SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

A To The Editor of the Courier: We were both wise and fortunate enough to secure some four delightful days and nights at the N. S. Guides' encampment on the beautiful, picturesque and romantic arena at Lake William through the annual performing of our guides. The efficiency of the management, the capability and untiring efforts of our congenial hosts, even Messrs. De-Long and Verger wearing out a couple of megaphones in the encounter, thereby making of this event, the most successful extended and profusely attended of all the Guides' glorious Jamborees. One night at the open theatre our estimated number was 2000 including 206 guides.

This year's entertainment was spiced by a goodly number of novelties. Surfboard riding for instance, behind one of these furious hydro humming birds of 47 knot reputation, in the first wild swoop around the lagoon, a girl manfully, or maidenfully, retained her feet. The next fearsome swoop was taken by a man, who in the fierce turmoil of wake and wash of this wild mustang, was sent clear of everything. Then the hydroplane took a hand in the exciting game, flinging man and canoe both, galley west on the curves. A prof. diving from a dizzy 30 foot platform, immediately followed by a number of venturesome amateurs, among the swain, a lassie, I guess, they do undress so much alike.

The ultra popular bathing stage with its two spring-boards often under water, beneath a forest of bare, brown and white legs. When our modern girl, of sufficient physical attraction to make it worth while, starts shedding raiment, the sky is the limit, or thereabouts. In the first place, she buys her garment what little thereof it is, as brief as her bisection will prevent and the water shrinking does the rest. Greatly gratified to see the fourman canoe races, won by four of our lithe and muscular wild Indians, L. Picot, S. and J. McEwan and Willie Muise. The swimming race was won by Jimmie Tupper, of Clementsfort, Eber Peck, the big cup for keeps, and Conductor Young, the smaller cup. Target scores highest this year ever, two 23's, four 21's, and two 20's. So nothing below 19 and only two of those, in on the ten dinner plate shoot, shot standing off hand, at 200 yards; each man his individual plate. The sports wound up on the last day in a rolling-pin throwing ladies' contest. The firing began down an all too narrow lane, between two long lines of apprehensive spectators, which through erratic shooting was promptly converted into one straight line. Still more fierce and erratic firing, breaking that up into frantic groups of squealing terror.

Very truly yours

TALK OF THE TOWN

There are lots of holes in the Digby streets that are badly in need of patching.

The Seagulls class of the Grace United Church Sunday school, held a corn supper in the church hall last evening. The proceeds were for class purposes.

The monthly meeting of the Children's Aid Society of Digby will be held this afternoon in the Town Hall. A good attendance is requested.

Re the book booth at the recent hospital fair, our informant told us the receipts were $19.15. This was an error. The amount received was $13.45.

On Wednesday evening, the fire department was called out to fight a blaze in a barn on First Ave. used by A. L. Robinson as a warehouse. Considerable damage was done to the stock.

The Halifax bank robbers were still at large last evening, as were also many of the gangland of that city who have been responsible for a great many daring burglaries and similar crimes of late. If Halifax keeps up, Chicago will soon be losing her reputation.

Omitted from list of local donations to the variety booth at the Hospital fair:—One Bress Umbrella Stand, by S. A. Keen; One French Doll, donated and sold by Mrs. Arthur Reetz of Boston; One Tea Service, by Fritz Dakin and one Tea Pot by B. H. Ruggles.

In an article published a short time ago relating to the rescue of Louis J. Silverstone, who fell through the Anderson Wharf, Digby, the Courier named the rescuers as Michael McKinnon and A. Sulis. This should have been Michael McKinnon and Harold Sulis. Harold Sulis is a son of W. A. Sulis, Warwick St.

A bottle was picked up on the shore near Weymouth on Tuesday in which was sealed an ordinary shipping tag with a message written in one of the "red and blue" codes. Translated in the conventional Radio code, the message read: "Onslow, Sunshine Cottage", written in long-hand above the code were the words Clue No. 17. The bottle was found by Willis Cosman.

A. J. Westhaver who has considerably improved his store during the past year, has added new bins and tables for the proper handling of fish as it is his intention to go into that business on a more extended scale than in the past. He has also built on his bungalow grounds, a stucco smokehouse with cement floors for the smoking of furred haddies, kippered herrings, etc.

The tourist season is drawing to a close and the homeward bound travel on the D. R. is much greater these days. The season has been a short one, but, when one considers conditions as they are today, it has not been too bad. The thing for we Digbyites to do now is to work some scheme to lengthen the season. We have the hotel, you find a place much more beautiful and more colorful than Digby in fall of the year? Can you find an atmosphere more invigorating? Furthermore, we are just within a "stone's throw" of some of the best game sections of the province.

E. L. Gray
BORN in Ontario, educated in the schools of Saskatchewan and at the Ontario Agricultural College, where he was a member of the Department of Agriculture. Mr. Gray gives to his work as chairman of the Alberta Committee of the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference a wealth of agricultural experience. Mr. Gray's home is in Grey County, Ontario, where he was born in 1885. In 1902 he moved to Saskatchewan with his parents and received his early education in the public and high schools of that province. In 1923 he graduated from the Ontario Agriculture College, after which he taught school in Saskatchewan for three years. He served overseas during the war with the C.E.F. and for a time acted as a county agricultural agent in Ontario. His agricultural experience was greatly increased during the period he occupied the position of farm manager and instructor in animal husbandry at the School of Agriculture, Claresholm, Alberta, and for nearly three years as district agriculturalist at Hanna, Alberta.

Mrs. Emma Madden, of Liverpool, arrived on Wednesday to visit her sisters, Mrs. Mary Weston and Mrs. Effie Adams. She was accompanied by her son Harry Madden, Mayor of Liverpool, who attended the Kiwanis banquet at the Pines. Mr. Madden returned home on Thursday.

James A. Graham and son Norman of Hartford, Conn., were guests last week of Mr. Graham's brother, W. Howard Graham, First Ave. This was his first visit in seventeen years, and he saw a lot of improvement at that time. They returned home on Monday.

Durability - Smartness - Economy -

Three good reasons why you should purchase a Winter Coat at WRIGHT'S
When the average woman buys a Coat there are three things uppermost in her mind:
Will the Coat Wear Well?
Is It Smartly Made?
Is It Priced Reasonably?
To all these three questions we answer "Yes." Wright's Coats are sturdily made of Real Cloth; they are made in the smartest styles, and they are popularly priced.
Is there any good reason why you should not wear a Coat from WRIGHT'S?
The Representative of James Corstine Company, Montreal, Super Furriers, will be at WRIGHT'S with a full line of Furs for you to choose from.

Song and Jest Marked Kiwanis
Charter Night

Nearly two hundred persons, by the hotel management but representing the Kiwanis Clubs of Yarmouth, Halifax, Saint John, Sydney, Liverpool and Truro, with their Queens and guests, met at a banquet with the Kiwanis Club of Digby, (who were presented with their charter) at the Pines Hotel, Wednesday evening.
The committees in charge all deserve praise for the tireless work they did to make the charter night the success it was.
The officers and members of the Kiwanis Club of Digby are as follows:— President, M. C. Denton; Vice President, P. W. Holdsworth; Secretary, R. H. Lockward; Trustee, Alfred Boden; Board of Directors, W. R. Dickie, F. L. Anderson, George Morrell, W. J. Agate, C. L. Bowly, and H. M. Warner; Members, T. E. G. Lynch, Victor McNeill, Paul Yates, O. Wright, J. J. Wallis, O. C. Jones, F. W. Nicols, Frank Jones, A. T. Spurr, C. E. Walker, C. R. Sypher, E. C. Sollows, G. W. Wightman, H. T. Warner, Rev. F. E. Bishop, B. Short, F. R. Eisener, Rev. A. E. Gabriel, Earl Cossaboom, J. MacN. Wallis, Rev. E. W. Forbes.
Following the presentation of the charter and toasts, other presentations were made to the Kiwanis Club of Digby, which included a Canadian Flag from the district Governor, Isaac T. MacNabb, presented by Major "Jim" Vickery of Halifax; an American Flag, presented by the Kiwanis Club of Portland, Me., (this presentation was made by Rev. Dr. Kirkus, of Wilmington, Del., on behalf of H. C. Sanborne, president of the Portland Club); going from the Kiwanis Club of Halifax, presented by Fred Sterling, vice-president of the club; a clock from the Yarmouth Club, presented by Arthur Goudy, president of the club; a Kiwanis sign from the Liverpool Club, presented by Harry Madden, mayor of Liverpool, (this sign is a product of that town).
The programme for the evening was as follows: "O Canada"; "Kiwanis" all clubs; Dinner; Toast to the King, proposed by Harry Murphy, president of the Halifax Club; Welcome to Lieut. Governor Fowler, Harry B. Short; response and presentation of charter, C. A. Fowler; acceptance of charter, M. C. Denton; duet, Fritz Schaeffer and Eddie Matheson, with Mrs. Schaeffer playing the accompaniment; "Our Sponsors", proposed by Alfred Boden, response by "Jim" Vickery; Our Visitors, proposed by T. E. G. Lynch, mayor of Digby, response by Tom Carter, of Saint John, and George E. Graham, Vice-president and general manager of the Dominion Atlantic Railway; The Ladies, proposed by R. W. E. Landry, of Yarmouth, responded to by a solo by Mrs. C. A. Fowler with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Vickery, after which both ladies were presented with bouquets; song, "Let me call you sweetheart". This was followed by dancing in the hotel lounge. Music was provided by Harry Cochran's orchestra of Halifax, one of the snappiest that has ever been heard in Digby. The singing was directed by Fritz Schaeffer, choir leader of the Halifax Kiwanians. The dining room of the Pines was decorated with Kiwanis emblems and Kiwanian colors: blue, white and gold; hats, caps, whistles, balloons, clappers and noise makers of every description were furnished by the management of the hotel, who took every precaution to see that this big Kiwanian party would stand out in the memory of all present for years to come. Too much cannot be said for Mr. O. C. Jones and his capable staff for their part in connection with the banquet. Visiting Kiwanians and their friends were given full swing at the Pines. To them was given the free use of the swimming pool, the golf course, auto drives and boat trips—everything possible was done to give a grand welcome to the visitors, not only

Comeau-Melanson

Before leaving the United States, where he had passed many years, Louis Comeau, son of Mande Comeau of Church Point, was united in marriage in Boston with Miss Marie Melanson of Meteghan Station. Mr. and Mrs. Comeau are re-opening the family residence at Church Point, which has been renovated throughout. Upon their arrival at Church Point, they were greeted by many friends and in the evening, a large reception was held tendered by Mrs. Edmond Thibodeau, sister of the groom. They were the recipients of numerous and valuable presents.

Saulnier - Deveau

A wedding took place at St. Vincent de Paul Church at Salmon River, Monday, when Ben Saulnier, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Saulnier of Saulnierville, was united in marriage to Miss Annie Deveau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent S. Deveau of Hecctanooga. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father A. Maillet, rector. Nuptial High Mass followed the marriage. The bride was attired in blue silk tulle, with matching accessories, and was attended by her sister, Miss Ceretha Deveau. The groom was attired by Eddie V. Deveau. After Mass the party motored to Yarmouth and returned for dinner at the home of the bride, where over 100 guests were assembled to receive them. Dinner was served and after which old time dances were indulged in till the wee hours of the morning, when the party left for Saulnierville to the home of the groom. There also a large number of invited guests assembled and a supper took place, followed by a reception and dance. They received many costly and useful presents in silver, china, cut glass and linen.

GEO. GILLIATT KILLED BY LIGHTNING

The first lightning fatality in this section of the province in many years occurred yesterday afternoon some time about four o'clock, when George Gilliat, 73-year-old fisherman, was killed when struck in the back by a bolt of lightning while fishing in his power boat, some two and a half miles above the east side of Digby Gut. The remains were brought to Digby by the life boat crew, of the Bay View Life Saving Station, in command of Capt. Harry Raymond, and taken to Keen's Undertaking Parlors.

Gilliat left his home in Clementsport for the fishing grounds in the morning, and was seen, standing in his boat, by members of the life saving station crew, about three o'clock in the afternoon. About 5.30 Captain Raymond received word from Lorne Ring, a Victoria Beach fisherman that a fishing boat, supposedly George Gilliat's, was drifting about in the Bay, and they immediately launched the lifeboat.

As stated before the unfortunate man's boat was located about two and a half miles above Digby Gut, and about a quarter of a mile off shore. When the lifeboat located the boat, another fishing boat, operated by Hiram Everett and his mate, of Victoria Beach, was alongside. They had already cut Gilliat's trawl lines and were about to take the boat in tow, with the body of the victim. Instead the body was transferred to the lifeboat and brought to Digby, and the boat was also towed in.

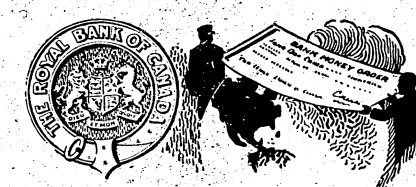

Gilliat's clothes were burned and torn off him, the neckband of his shirt being the only part which was intact.

He is survived by his widow, in Clementsport, and by one daughter by a former marriage, Mrs. Harris, of Montreal.

Acids In Stomach Cause Indigestion

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.
Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist, some Bismarck Magnesia and take a teaspoonful of powder or four tablets in water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bismarck Magnesia (in powder and tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of Magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Afternoon Tea at the Racquette Gardens will be discontinued after tomorrow.

"How do you get him to chew his food?"

"I give him Shredded Wheat and it's so crisp he has to chew it—the more he chews it the better he likes it and the more nutrient he gets out of it. Many children bolt down their food without chewing—that means imperfect digestion, poor teeth and unhealthy gums. Shredded Wheat with milk makes a perfect food for growing children, and it's perfectly delicious with bananas or stewed fruit."

Meets Success In Developing New Industries

(Halifax Herald)

One of the most interesting visitors to the Provincial Exhibition is H. Tupper Warne, of Digby, well known as one of the most active business men in that section of the province. Mr. Warne is a firm believer not only in the future of Nova Scotia but in its present opportunities—a faith which is well founded in the success he has achieved in his various business enterprises.

Associated with him are his son, Hubert, and his daughter, Miss Dora Warne. Realizing the opportunity for the establishment of a plant for the assembling of custom built motor trucks Mr. Warne engaged experts in that line of work to train local men, and he now has fifteen skilled mechanics employed in this new industry. Since the opening of the plant, twenty motor trucks have been assembled. Nova Scotia workmen and Nova Scotia materials have been used, and there is every indication that this new enterprise will develop into a large and steadily increasing industry.

Impressed with the big possibilities of a big market for Nova Scotia clams, Mr. Warne visited prominent dealers in Boston and points in Maine, learned that there was a demand for shucked clams and also clams in the shell, packed in boxes to contain one bushel, and again he brought back an expert to Digby to train his men in the art of proper shucking and packing, and then commenced operations, and since the first of June this year over fifty carloads of clams, shucked, and in the shell, have been shipped to Boston—a business representing approximately $20,000. Mr. Warne found that clams in the shell brought $1.50 a barrel, but shucked clams obtained $4.00 a barrel.

Making an arrangement with transportation companies for the shipment of clams in carload lots this business has already proved highly successful and profitable.

Making the boxes and cases for the shipments has boosted Mr. Warne's lumber business, found employment and distributed money in Digby and the adjacent communities. In addition to these activities Mr. Warne finds time to superintend fairly extensive mixed farming operations, raising this year over sixty sheep.

Here is a striking instance of successful business enterprises in lumbering, fishing and mixed farming—three industries of which some claim cannot be successfully operated in Nova Scotia today.

Mr. Warne and those associated with him have demonstrated and are demonstrating today, even in a period of general depression, that vision, foresight, energy and courage can surmount obstacles and win success.

In conversation with the Halifax Herald, Mr. Warne said he had a visit from a brother-in-law living in Alberta since 1907 who had threshed 14,000 bushels of wheat last year but who frankly admitted that he had made a mistake in leaving Nova Scotia, and that the people in this province, from the standpoint of living conditions, employment, and financial returns, were infinitely better off than the people of the Prairie Provinces.

"If," said Mr. Warne "I had the chance of starting life all over again I should most certainly choose Nova Scotia as a land of opportunity; unrivalled in the Dominion. There is nothing helpful or constructive," he added, "in the attitude of those who talk pessimism and romance about good old days; such talk is not true and only discourages the people."

"There are opportunities right here waiting to reward those who will avail themselves of them with initiative, hard work

Macgregor-Parker

A wedding of interest to Bear River friends was solemnized on August 26th, at the home of Mrs. Bessie A. Parker, North Salem, Hants County, when her daughter Verna Claire was united in marriage to Peter Alexander MacGregor of Bear River.

The bride looked very charming in a gown of white chiffon and lace with bridal veil and orange blossoms. Her arm bouquet was of lilies of the valley and roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Marion Parker, R. N. of Salem, Mass. wore a dress of white chiffon and lace and carried a bouquet of sweet peas and roses. Mr. Charles Eishop of New York was groomsmen; Mr. Lawrence Parker of North Salem, Mass. played the wedding march.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. I. Higgins of Middleton assisted by Rev. Mr. Vincent.

The home was beautifully decorated with cut flowers, the color scheme in the dining room being yellow and white, the gift room in blue and white, with the dining room in pink and white.

The ceremony was followed by a reception, and after receiving the best wishes of a host of friends, the bride and groom left on a trip through the province after which they will reside in Bear River. The bride's travelling suit was of blue and sand silk crepe with hat and accessories to match. The groom's gift to the bride was a wrist watch, and to the bridesmaid an amethyst pendant, and to the organist, a necklace. The wedding gifts of china, linen, cut glass, silver, etc., were very numerous, testifying to the popularity of both bride and groom.

Rain Did Not Spoil Activities

The pouring rain, of Thursday last did not discourage the continuance of social activities in and around Smith's Cove and its thriving hotels and summer residences.

Miss Jaggar had invited a number of friends, including many of the Harbor View Colony, to an informal afternoon tea, intended to be held on the verandahs and lawn of Kelpie Lodge. Needless to say, the guests had to content themselves indoors, around the open fire in the living room, with the range of the library and dining room; and the lovely view of Digby Gap ordinarily receiving much attention, being hopelessly hidden in a fog and mist, was entirely neglected.

One object of the gathering was to give special opportunity to the older summer residents to meet the Reverend and Mrs. Arthur Payzant and their son, of Beverly, Mass., (formerly of Halifax); and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Weyhe of New York, and their daughter. Both of these gentlemen have lately acquired house and lands in the beautiful Acaciaville Valley; and the nucleus of a new colony of charming people is thus growing up around the Joggin Bridge. Cottages already on the field near there are those of Dr. and Mrs. Vedder of Chester, Pennsylvania and of the Rev. and Mrs. J. Westra Stewart of Philadelphia; and of Dr. and Mrs. Warren of Wolfville, N. S.

Among the other guests at Kelpie Lodge were his Lordship, the Bishop of Fredericton and Mrs. Richardson; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Lawrence Turner, whose cottage tops the highest hill on Jaggar Point; Mrs. Edward Morse and her son, Mr. George Morse of Clementsport and New York and Mrs. Lowe of Ridgefield, Conn., the Rev. and Mrs. Leslie Smith of Clementsport, and their two charming little daughters; Mr. J. B. Lord; Mrs. Henry Vedder; Mrs. Charles Bostwick; Miss Amelia Jackson, who with her sister is occupying the O'Dell Cabin; Mrs. Edward Payson of Smith's Cove, sister-in-law of Mrs. Payzant, who poured the tea, assisted by Miss Anna Burns, Miss Gertrude Weyhe, and Miss Barbara Payson; Mrs. Joseph Steadman; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cossaboom and others.

The rain ceased about five o'clock; but in spite of the gloomy weather, the really distinguished company gathered indoors seemed to enjoy their intercourse and the refreshments provided.

SMITH'S COVE

REGISTRAR OF OCEAN.

Lloyd's Keeps Register of Birth and Life of World's Ships.

The latest edition of that wonderful book of the sea, Lloyd's Register of Shipping, tells in figures and columns of carefully-prepared technical statistics the throbbing romance of all the Seven Seas. It is the Domestic Book of ocean business—the register of the birth and life of most of the world's ships.

Everything worth knowing about a ship's career—the good and the bad—is to be found there, and with 1,500 agents throughout the world's ports nothing of importance is left unrecorded. And yet this remarkable institution had its beginning in an obscure, coffee-shop in Abchurch Lane, Lombard Street, where ship-owners and masters met to discuss the hazards of shipping and to learn news of overdue voyages.

The register grew from gossip and fears and hopes, and in its time has witnessed the introduction of steam and the slow passing of sail; and now, with the coming of the internal combustion engine, it looks back on the passing of the steamships. Yet another new-comer has slipped into the pages—the electric ship, of which there are now 67, 63 being owned in America.

One of the most remarkable facts to be learned in the new Lloyd's Register is that motor vessels are rapidly finding favor and are ousting the age-old steam. While the world's steamships have increased by only 148,176 tons, during the last twelve months, sailing ships have decreased by 83,079 tons, motor-ships show an increase of 1,446,231 tons. There are now 3,696 vessels, including a great many auxiliary ships of various types, totalling 8,036,337 tons, which are fitted with internal combustion engines.

Between 1898 and 1914 Britain easily outdistanced the rest of the world in the introduction of motor vessels. But in the next sixteen years, 1914 to 1930, the tables have been turned. The percentage of the world's increase in shipping tonnage has been due to the growth of the United States mercantile marine, which has increased by an enormous figure of 8,619,000 tons.

In 1898 Britain owned 54 per cent. of the world's steamships and passenger vessels. In 1914 the percentage had shrunk to 41.6 per cent. To-day it is only 29.9 per cent.

But by motor barges, fishing vessels, river boats, ferries, and other odd craft, and considering only the real mercantile marine, we find that Britain and Ireland own 40 per cent. of the world's ocean-going vessels and 29.87 per cent. of the world's steam and motor vessels, a very encouraging view of the efficiency of the mercantile marine of the British Isles.

When it is remembered that the remaining percentage is spread over a great many countries, it is still truthful to say that Britain is the world's luggage carrier.

The births and lives of 15,693 vessels are revealed in Lloyd's Register, nearly all the ships having been built under the inspection of the society's surveyors. The deaths of ships—the tragedy that is almost always a mystery—are chronicled clearly and encouragingly. It is still Lloyd's task to post the details of the lost—and the register is known as the "Black Book."

TO PRESERVE WILDERNESS.

Proposal to Furnish Perpetual Recreation Field on Canadian Border.

An untouched wilderness as large as the size of Connecticut, the last frontier of the great bull moose, teeming with wild life and lakes, will never be scarred by progress, penetrated by modern highways or startled by the honk of an automobile horn, though within easy reach of many great cities.

This vision out of a Leather Stocking novel, picturing virgin nature forever exempt from all travel except by canoe or on foot as in the redskin days, was presented as something that will soon be a fact when Senator Walcott of Minnesota, chairman of the special committee of the Senate on wild life resources, addressed the closing dinner at the seventh annual American game conference. The area described by Senator Walcott lies in the northeastern corner of Minnesota, extending from the Canadian border for approximately 150 miles, and has been investigated by his committee during the last recess of Congress with the view of turning it into a unique national park.

The province of Ontario would probably maintain an equal area on the Canadian side as a recreational and wilderness area, he said.

In addition to the national forest's purpose of preventing watershed floods and preserving a home for moose, deer, black bear, beaver, and all other species of wild life, it will furnish a perpetual recreation field for all who long to go into the woods as the forefathers did, instead of in the more modern comfort of automobiles.

Matraving.

An American who was staying with a hospitable tea-planter in Assam thought he would send a cable home. It read: "All well. Staying on the borders of Mongolia."

His hostess pointed out that Mongolia was hundreds of miles away. The American countered the bluff by remarking that his people knew where Mongolia was, but most probably had never heard of Assam.

The hostess, a loyalist, was rather hurt. In due course they went to the telegraph office, where the cable was handed in. In a moment a dusky face appeared at the pigeon-hole, and the clerk said, "Sah . . . where is New York?"

"What," shouted the American, "have you never heard of the United States?"

"Oh, yes, sah," said the clerk, brightening. "Part of Canada, eh?"

WHAT IS GREATNESS

Most people are accustomed to call great, those exceptional beings upon whom heaven has bestowed some of its choicest gifts, such as wealth, fame, etc., which amazes and dazzles the world by the brilliance of faculties, unusually developed, even when these faculties are much marred by defects and weaknesses which make them minus of good. But this is not in my estimation, at least, the highest conception of greatness; a well balanced mind, faculties well and evenly ordered, the luminous insight of a calm judgment are gifts which are rarely found in one human being, as the possession of the more dazzling though less solid qualities.

And when these high qualities are found in a man, combined with purity of soul, kindness of heart, generosity of disposition, elevation of purpose and devotion to duty, this is what seems

Mrs. Sam. Woodman Hurt In Car Accident

Early last evening, at the corner of Warwick and Queen streets, a Dodge car, owned and operated by Samuel Woodman, of Conway, collided with one of John Comeau's Digby-Yarmouth express trucks. Mrs. Woodman, who was in the car with her husband, was badly cut about the face by flying glass, and was taken at once to the Digby General Hospital, where it is understood that her condition is not serious. The Courier understands that the accident happened during a downpour of rain. The Woodman car colliding with the truck, while the latter was turning into the Super Service Station. Both cars were badly damaged.

EAT GOOSE FOR LUCK

There is an old superstition, we believe it belongs to the west of England; to the effect that if you want a year's good luck, some say, have money in your pocket for a whole year, you must eat goose on Michaelmas Day. The origin of this is ascribed to Queen Elizabeth who was enjoying a dish of goose on the Feast of Michael when news was brought her of the final destruction of the Armada. Thereupon she swore with a round, Royal Tudor oath that all loyal subjects should for ever eat goose on Michaelmas Day, to commemorate the crushing victory over their enemies. It was just after the war that we first heard this story and we said, "We must have a goose if it breaks us." We did. It was a tender delicious bird and our party did full justice to it. A day or two later, in turning out an old dressing case, a tiny turn was discovered and in it that already rare and beautiful object, an English gold sovereign. We felt that there was a wonderful fitness in our reward. Since then we have always had our Michaelmas goose, and so far have not found ourselves penniless. Naturally this result can not be guaranteed. Fortune is fickle; but at any rate you will have enjoyed a very good dinner, and to these, in search of good luck we would say:

"First find your goose, then eat him."

The Digby Branch of the Canadian Legion, will parade to the monument on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock for the annual decoration of the graves of fallen comrades. All members are requested to meet at the Legion rooms at 1 o'clock. Dress-casual with medals.

Sea Breeze Hotel at Deep Brook will close for the season on September 25th. This season has been fully up to the average, and guests are still coming in good numbers. It has been an exceptional year for bridal couples and this hotel has catered to quite a number of them.

Canadian Airways recently put into service, a Bellanca Monoplane which was assembled at McMurray, Alberta, under the supervision of Horace Torrie, a son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Torrie, of Digby. It is said that this is the first Bellanca ever built and assembled in the north.

The Digby schools reopened on Tuesday of this week with two changes in the teaching staff, namely Courtney Purdy, of Deep Brook, who succeeds G. H. Churchill as principal and Mrs. Driffield, who succeeds E. M. Oakes. The staff is as follows: Principal, Courtney Purdy, Deep Brook; vice principal, Miss E. McWhinnie, Port Wade; junior grades, Mrs. Driffield, Digby; Miss Bertha Curry, Wilmot; Miss Vera Mason, Mahone; primary grades, Miss Besie O'Brien, Noel; Miss Dorothy Moses, South Old.

A communication unique in the annals of Masonry in this province, was held in Hiram Lodge, in Yarmouth, on Tuesday night. The third degree was conferred on a number of candidates by acting Worshipful Master, Lyman J. Rogers, aged 91 years, who has, for the past 66 years been an honored member of the fraternity. All the officers of his staff were past masters, and two of them, Arthur Rogers and J. W. Boyd, acting senior and junior wardens respectively, were in their 70's. Quite a large number from King Solomon Lodge, of Digby, were present.

Power of Dollar Is Increased.

According to the results of a nation wide survey announced by the Investors' Syndicate the 1926 dollar is today worth: $1.53 in buying clothes; $1.38 in purchasing foods; $1.29 in building a home; $2.19 in replacing the worn tires on the family car.

This gain of over 40 cents on the average can be employed to definite advantage by retail sales organizations the review points out. Workers in the more stable fields of employment such as government and municipal, telephone and public utility now have a considerably larger surplus for buying since a smaller part of their income is required for necessities. These and many other groups offer a fertile field for sales endeavor, owing to their increase in real wages during the depression.

DISCOVER ANCIENT TOMB.

Contains Remains of Irish King and Queen.

The remains of a king and queen, believed by experts to have reigned from 1,800 to 2,000 years ago, have been found on Shedd, a mountain near Carrick, Co. Sligo, Ireland, says the London Sunday Times.

The skeletons, lying side by side, were discovered in a vault, the entrance of which was barred by a solid block of dressed masonry weighing more than ten tons. Their heads were facing the former royal seat of the Irish king, who were supposed to have been buried in pagan days. Historians believe they are members of a dynasty which has been lost in the mists of antiquity.

Further exploration is being carried out, as treasure and armor are believed concealed in another chamber in the interior of the mountain. The ruins are being guarded night and day by civic guards.

Private 'Planes for Eskimos.

Another old tradition has gone west! Apparently our old ideas of the Eskimo mode of travel as far from the truth as the legend that snow and ice are characteristic of the British Christmas.

According to reports, some Eskimo families have received as much as $40,000 from the sale of fox furs, and quite a number have netted $25,000. The business-like Eskimos are now shy of selling to traders on the spot; they charter private planes at $375 a time, and fly to Edmonton to sell their furs. Experience has taught them that the $375 is well spent, because they can get better prices in Edmonton.

Their home life, too, is different. Most of them have wireless sets, and they don't drink oil, though they can make it from blubber. But the oil is used for fuel.

Fishery By-Products.

Over 4,400,000 gallons of fish oil, exclusive of medicinal cod liver oil, and more than 2,700 tons of fish meal were produced in the fisheries by-product industries in Canada in 1929, according to returns made to the Dominion Department of Fisheries. Including medicinal cod liver oil (21,322 gallons) the oil product totalled 4,566,316 gallons and had a marketed value of $1,845,000, while the fish meal produced had a marketed value of $1,013,000.

Danes Settle In Nova Scotia.

Through the activities of the Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture, working in conjunction with the colonization departments of the two transcontinental railway companies, Danish families have been located on farms in Nova Scotia. The families, comprising 165 persons, brought approximately $50,000 new capital to the province.

Marking Our Boundaries.

To maintain in a state of effective demarcation the 5,500 miles of international boundary between Canada and the United States is one of the duties of the International Boundary Commission, the Canadian section of which functions under the Survey Bureau of the Department of the Interior. This work involves the re-opening of the boundary vista through wooded areas, the repair of deteriorated boundary marks or monuments, or their removal to other sites when necessary, the erection of additional monuments when required, the marking of the boundary on international bridges and in tunnels, and the revision of the boundary maps.

Fastest Growing Oak.

The most rapidly growing kind of oak tree is the scarlet oak.

Twins In Canadian Nomenclature.

The word "twin" occurs fairly often in Canadian place names. For instance, there is a town of Twin Lake, Yoho river, British Columbia; Twin Peaks, and the Twins, the latter a double-headed mountain, both in the Rocky Mountains of Alberta; Twin Sisters Islands in the St. Lawrence river, Ontario; and Twintree Lake, Mountain, and Creek in Alberta.

Prehistoric Relief.

A bone needle 25,000 years old, used by some cave man or woman in making-reindeer-skin clothes, is an interesting relic of prehistoric culture in France.

Trees Without Roots.

There is a peculiar kind of tree in Bombay whose branches have a habit of turning into trunks, and these are generally the kind that come down during floods. To all outward appearances the tree looks pretty substantial, but when floods have brought one down people are astonished to see there are absolutely no roots—or if there were they have become rotten.

Such trees constitute a real danger to life and property when they exist on the sides of roads, and it would seem desirable to have a thorough examination of the roots when the trees are cut down, so that they might fall across the roads. Not long ago several of them fell like nipa-pines—without any warning. What they are, and how the woodcutter has a superstitious objection to touching them!

Shark Spine Cane.

Making walking canes from the backbone of sharks is one of the diversions of the Diamond Shoals lightship crew. Out on the edge of the Gulf Stream it is a daily incident for them to catch sharks 12 to 20 feet long. The shark's spinal column is removed, dried, sand-papered and then polished. The canes, when completed, are a mixture of ivory and bone, but eventually turn a yellowish color similar to malacca. The lightship is fourteen miles off shore in the path of coastwise steamers.

The gas screw yacht, Korona, 41 tons register, with a crew of four men, Captain L. M. Shinson, arrived from Saint John on Wednesday, and later cleared for Yarmouth. This yacht is on a pleasure cruise of these waters, and is owned by E. K. Leighton of Rockland, Me. There were six guests on board.

VOLUME LVIII, NO. 7

WHO'S WHO

J. Wilfred Boulter

BROUGHT up on a farm in Prince Edward Island and for many years associated with education, J. Wilfred Boulter, Minister of Agriculture for the province, has a long record of association with agricultural activities. He is secretary of the Prince Edward Island committee of the World's Grain Exhibition and Convention.

He is Mr. Boulter's birthplace. He was reared on a farm and received his early education in the district. For about eight years he taught school, a part of which was as principal of the first consolidated school in Prince Edward Island. In 1907 he was a public school inspector and in 1918 was appointed Deputy Minister of Agriculture. Two years later he was appointed manager of the Potato Growers' Association, organized in 1920.

Mr. Boulter's other public activities include a directorship of the Standard Wholesale Phosphate and Acid Works, of Baltimore, Maryland; secretary of the Charlottetown Driving Park and Provincial Exhibition Association; secretary of the Provincial Dairyman's Association, and secretary of two black fox farm companies.

Arrested As Result Of June Drowning

Charged with manslaughter, Cleveland Rice, Bear River youth, was arrested Wednesday night by the Provincial Police and brought to Digby.

The case arises out of a tragedy on Barnes Lake in June, when Charles Payne, and three other youths were boating. The boat was upset and Payne was drowned. The other reached the shore in safety. The young man who lost his life, was the son of John Payne, of Lansdowne.

It is understood that charges have been made that the accused upset the boat carelessly.

The preliminary hearing will be held at Digby this morning at 11 o'clock before Magistrate James F. Taylor with E. J. Theriault appearing for the defense and Frank Jones K. C., for the Crown.

Extend Lobster Fishing Season In Nova Scotia

Changes in the lobster fishing season in Western Nova Scotia were announced Wednesday by the Department of Fisheries. Because of existing conditions in the industry, the fishing season this year will open Dec. 1st and close Jan. 15th. This will effect the coast line from Burn's Point, Digby County, to Cole Harbor, Halifax County. The minimum catch, it was stipulated in the regulations, will be nine inches exclusive of claws and feelers. The spring season in this section will open March 1, 1932, and close May 15. This will be two weeks shorter than the usual season and will compensate for the enlargement of the all season.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Freeman Handsaker

The death occurred at her home in Culloden on Tuesday afternoon of Mrs. Freeman Handsaker, 64, daughter of the late Whitman Peck, of Bear River. She is survived by her husband. The funeral took place from her residence, with interment in the United Church cemetery, Digby.

Miss Odile Comeau—One of Meteghan River's most loved and respected citizens passed away a few days ago, at the Yarmouth Hospital in the person of Miss Odile Comeau. She was in fairly good health until the week before her death, when she suddenly became ill. She was immediately taken to the hospital where she passed away. Besides her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andre Comeau, she is survived by several brothers and sisters. The funeral took place on Monday of last week from Stella Maris church, Meteghan, where deceased was a faithful attendant. She was popular owing to her many sterling qualities and kindly disposition.

George R. Pineo

George R. Pineo of Digby, widely known throughout Nova Scotia, passed peacefully to rest at his home on Monday afternoon. The deceased, who had been in poor health for several years, was born at Canard, 13 years ago. He was an Anglican and very prominent in church and social circles and had always taken a deep and active interest in public affairs. After the death of his wife, he removed to Digby and purchased a residence about one mile from town on the Lighthouse Road where he resided with his son, St. Clair. He had a pleasing personality which endeared him to many, a warm heart and an indomitable will; of ceaseless energy, he battled for years against an insidious disease. He is survived by three sons, Charles, Assistant General Manager of the Royal Bank of Canada, Montreal; Hollis, of Spokane, Washington; and St. Clair at home. The funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon.

The schooner, James William, arrived at Bear River from Liverpool last Saturday and is loading a return cargo of pulpwood.

Mrs. Bean—"You never use any other tea than Morse's, do you?" Mrs. Keen—"Well, I have tried other kinds but I like the flavor of Morse's, and there's no doubt it gives more cups to the pound."

Personal Mention

Mrs. Boyd Snow of Liverpool, is in the hospital in Halifax.

Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Judge of Yarmouth, were in town on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Wright are spending a few days in Charlottetown.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Usher of Bermuda, who have been spending the summer at the Waverly, left this week for their home, sailing from Halifax on Tuesday.

Melvin Saunders, manager of the local C. P. R. telegraph office, left last evening to spend two weeks' vacation at his home in Windsor. He is being relieved by Miss Simpson, of Pictou.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Henry of Edmonton, Alberta, announce the marriage of their daughter, Alice Elizabeth to Mr. Leslie W. Snell, of Flagstaff, Arizona. Mr. Snell is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Snell, Bear River.

SCOUT NEWS

Come On Out!

The Scouting season re-opened on Friday with its first meeting. Due to the absence of the Scoutmaster, O. Wright, Scout Earle Anderson took charge of the meeting. The meeting was well attended, and although no actual Scout work was taken up everything was put shipshape and patrols re-organized for work in real earnest at the next meeting.

On Sunday the Scouts marched with the Returned Soldiers and took part in the Decoration Service at the Memorial.

The Kiwanis Club of Digby held their weekly lunch at Harbour View Hotel on Monday. There was a good attendance. The speaker was Rev. A. W. L. Smith, who spoke on the fish and game resources of the province. The Courier has the address in full, but unfortunately, we haven't the equipment to handle a long story, if it comes into the office after Monday. Our feature articles are all set on Saturday and Monday; after these days, the ordinary run of local news and advertising crowds everything else to one side.

The Yarmouth County Exhibition is being held from Sept. 23rd, to 25th, inclusive, with an exhibit bigger and better than ever. The Exhibition will open to the public on Wednesday, Sept. 23rd, at 1 p.m. See advertisement in another column.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stark of Bay View, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Forrest.

Fisherman Facing Trying Times

The outlook for the fishermen of Digby and Annapolis counties this winter is not too encouraging. Fish have been selling all summer at prices away below what any fisherman could make a decent day's pay at. In many cases they have been unable to dispose of their catches (even at 80 cents a hundredweight for hake) and boat loads of fish, representing the day's toil of the shore fisherman have been dumped back into the sea or used for compost because no market could be found for them, even at the prevailing low prices.

On the other hand, there has been but very little reduction in the price of gear used by the fishermen. His overhead has been reduced but a trifle, his credit at the village store is badly strained. He has almost forgotten what "hard cash" looks like.

Disastrous Fire At Lower Saultville

A bad fire took place at Lower Saultville, Digby County, early Sunday evening when the large barn, measuring 40x80 ft., on the premises of Germain Theriault, was totally destroyed with all its contents, including a valuable yoke of steers and an automobile. How the fire started is not known, but it was discovered about 7 o'clock, and at that time had gained such headway that it was quite impossible to enter the building. The loss to Mr. Theriault is a serious one as his entire cut of this season's hay, farming implements, cattle and car, as stated, were all burned, and he had no insurance on either the building or its contents.

The schooner, Elisha Crowell, Capt. Tower, cleared on Saturday for Plympton to load cordwood for an American port. The cargo is being shipped by Capt. B. M. Melanson.

Charles Cossaboom of Rossaway, is the guest of his son, Alfred, at the Fairview Hotel.

Hospital Notes

The Ladies' Hospital Aid wishes to thank all those who patronized and contributed to the recent benefit bridge held at Colonial Arms Hotel from which the sum of $50, was realized. Special thanks are extended to the management of Colonial Arms for their hospitality and to car owners, for the use of their cars. The prizes were donated and won as follows: Ladies' first prize, bridge, donated by Ladies' Hospital Aid, won by Miss Dora Warner; Ladies' lucky prize, bridge, donated by Mrs. DuVernet, won by Mrs. L. V. Harris; Gentlemen's first prize, bridge, donated by Mrs. H. M. Warner, won by Mr. Alfred Porter; Gentlemen's lucky prize, bridge, donated by S. A. Keen, won by H. F. Williams; Ladies' prize, forty-five, donated by Ladies' Hospital Aid, won by Mrs. C. Beaton; Gentlemen's prize, forty-five, donated by Mrs. Budrow, won by W. V. Hayden.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Hospital Aid will be held at the Court House next Friday, Sept. 25th., at 3 o'clock. Kindly keep the date in mind.

BARTON

The annual meeting of the Barton and Brighton Hospital Aid Society was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Harris recently and the following officers were re-elected for the coming year: W. C. Harris, President; Mrs. Balfour P. Speech, Vice President; Mrs. Charles E. Smith, Secretary-Treasurer. At the hospital bridge, which was given in Union Hall on August 14th., $42.00 was realized. The membership of this society has recently been increased to forty and they have undertaken the payment for furnishing a two bed maternity ward in the hospital which will be designated as the Barton and Brighton room. These Communions have already donated more than five hundred dollars to the general fund of the hospital.

CIVILIZATION (?)

A carpenter in an American city was forced to pay a fine because he had infringed the rules of the unions had laid down. He was not permitted to work on his own house after hours. The painters' union objected. A man was fined in Ottawa recently for something which seems just about as foolish.

This man, it seems, when he drove to his office in his car, got into the habit of taking two or three of his neighbors along with him. He took them along as a matter of course. They lived alongside each other and as his car went down town empty, he took them along with him. He charged them nothing for his neighborly act, but naturally enough they thought it only right to chip in and help pay his gas. The street railway company hailed him to court and he was fined ten dollars and costs for competing with the railway. And worse still, the company's solicitor announced that hereafter charges will be laid against car owners who give a friend a lift, who otherwise would use the street car. Next we will be hearing that it is unlawful to loan a neighbor the lawn mower when his own goes out of commission, or that the loan of a garden hose brings down punishment on the head of too generous a loaner. Great is civilization!

EAT GOOSE FOR LUCK

There is an old superstition, we believe it belongs to the south west of England, to the effect that if you want a year's good luck, some say, have money in your pocket for a whole year, you must eat goose on Michaelmas Day. The origin of this is ascribed to Queen Elizabeth who was enjoying a dish of goose on the Feast of Michael when news was brought her of the final destruction of the Armada. Thereupon she swore with a round, Royal Tudor oath that all loyal subjects should for ever eat goose on Michaelmas Day, to commemorate the crushing victory over their enemies. It was just after the war that we first heard this story and we said, "We must have a goose if it breaks us." We did. It was a tender delicious bird and our party did full justice to it. A day or two later, in turning out an old dressing case, a tiny torn purse was discovered and in it that already rare and beautiful object, an English gold sovereign. We felt that there was a wonderful fitness in our reward. Since then we have always had our Michaelmas goose, and so far have not found ourselves penniless. Naturally this result can not be guaranteed. Fortune is fickle, but at any rate you will have enjoyed a very good dinner, and to these in search of good luck we would say:

"First find your goose, then eat him."

SMILING THROUGH

The thing that goes the farthest to making life worth while, That costs the least and helps the most is just a "Pleasant Smile." The smile that bubbles from the heart that loves its fellow men, Will drive away the clouds of gloom and coax the sun again. It's full of worth and goodness, too, with manly kindness blent; It's worth a million dollars, and it doesn't cost a cent.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

BUILDERS

Isn't it strange that princes and kings,
And clowns that caper in jaded rings,
And common folks like you and me,
Are builders for Eternity!

To each is given a batch of tools,
A shapeliness mass, and a book of rules,
And each must make, ere life has flown,
A stumbling block or a stepping stone.

Isn't it true that each of us by our lives are being "stumbling blocks or stepping stones" for others. Never is a house, a bridge, a boat or anything built that does not have interest attached to it. No matter how crude it may be, it is beautiful in its own way and full of meaning.
Is it not true also of our own lives? Lillian Gard has said:

"God gives you something to build today;
It may be a palace or back lane wall;
Whatever it is, with a heart that's gay,
Go—build it all."

Don't leave out parts of it. Aim faith-high,
With pride in your heart, remembering still
That kingly plans about you be
And a kingly will.

And if it's a wee little cottage you rear,
And folks laugh long at its simple grace,
Just cry: "My architect's plans were clear—
He needed the place."

When we think of some of the wonderful buildings of today, for instance, the Empire State Building in New York City, the official opening of which, on May 1st, our New York correspondent told us of. This is said to be the highest building in the world, it has 120 floors, which tower above the skyscrapers of other years. Then also the new bridge which is being built between Manhattan and New Jersey, which our New York correspondent has also told us of. This wonderful bridge, which is said, will be open for traffic in less than a year, will be the largest and most remarkable suspension bridge in the world; it will have cost $60,000,000. The great overhanging cables on the New Jersey side are buried 250 feet deep in the Palisades, while on the New York side the anchorage is an almost solid block of masonry, ten stories high.

Then, too, we can think of the bridges which dot the great mountains in our own Canadian Rockies, over which the trains travel daily thousands of feet above the valley and river below. How wonderful to have been a participant in such buildings as these, and yet we may be participants in just as wonderful buildings—the buildings of our own lives and characters. As Henry W. Longfellow said:

All are architects of Fate,
Working in these walls of Time;
Some with massive deeds and great,
Some with ornaments of rhyme.

Nothing useless is, or low;
Each thing in its place is best;
And what seems but idle show
Strengthens and supports the rest.

For the structure that we raise
Time is with material filled;
Our todays and yesterdays
Are the blocks with which we build.

Truly shape and fashion these;
Leave no yawning gaps between;

Think not, because no man sees,
Such things will remain unseen.

In the elder days of Art,
Builders wrought with greatest care
Each minute an unseen part—
For the Gods see everywhere.

Let us do our work as well.
Both the unseen and the seen;
Make the house where gods may dwell
Beautiful, entire and clean.

Else our lives are incomplete,
Standing in these walls of Time,
Broken stairways, where the feet
Stumble as they seek to climb.

Build today, then, strong and sure,
With a firm and ample base;
And ascending and secure
Shall tomorrow find its place.

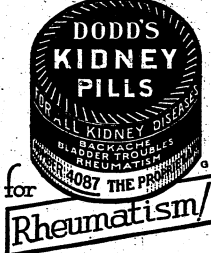

Thus alone can we attain
To those turrets, where the eye
Sees the world as one vast plain
And one boundless reach of sky.

The World's Greatest Lobster Fishery.

Two or three generations ago, the lobster, then found in great abundance all along the shores of the Maritime Provinces, was regarded as of little value. And perhaps few realize that the world's greatest lobster fishery is here and that it is one of the most valuable of Canada's fisheries. The lobster is shipped in the shell, sometimes alive where the market is available, but the canning industry takes care of the greater part of the product. Lobsters are also caught off of Newfoundland, in some of the Atlantic waters of the United States, and in certain European areas but, as Dr. D. K. Tressler, a United States authority, has pointed out, "the scale of the business is very much greater in Canada than anywhere else in the world." Last year the Dominion's lobster fishery yielded a catch of over 40,728,000 pounds and was second only to the salmon fishery in point of marketed return—$5,215,000. Nova Scotia is the largest producer of lobsters, and accounted for approximately 20,820,000 pounds of the Dominion's 1930 catch. In New Brunswick the year's catch was slightly more than 9,000,000 pounds while the Prince Edward Island and Quebec landings amounted to about 8,100,000 pounds and 2,768,000 pounds, respectively.

A bulletin from the Fisheries Department at Ottawa says: "The lobster found in North American waters is known scientifically as Homarus Americanus, as distinguished from Homarus gammarus, its European brother. Normally, adult lobsters are dark green in colour when taken from the sea but when they are boiled the shell colouring is transformed into red. "The sea bottom is the natural abode of the adult lobster, the source of its food, and the scene of all its activities. It never forsakes the water or leaves the bottom of its own accord. Lobsters wander close to the shore and out to depths of over 100 fathoms in search of prey. In travelling over the bottom the lobster walks nimbly upon the tips of its slender legs; but when transferred from sea to land it can only crawl in vain attempts to walk. In the water the lobster is agile, wary, pugnacious, capable of defending itself against its enemies, and sometimes moves at a high rate of speed. The lobster is essentially a creature of nocturnal activity; it is generally far more active at night than by day. Lobsters live chiefly on fish, alive or dead, and on the invertebrates which inhabit the bottom and come within reach. They catch many small live fish and a few of the more sluggish larger fish. Adult as well as larval lobsters are cannibalistic. Lobsters are caught in "traps" or "pots," which the fishermen set on the sea bottom at suitable spots. Briefly described, the trap or pot, several feet long, is a device made of laths, with coarse netting at the ends. A funnel-shaped opening in the netting, narrowing inwards, offers a means of entry for the lobster when it is attracted by bait placed within the trap. When the trap is pulled up by the fishermen the captured lobsters are removed through a small door.

A great part of the Canadian catch is put up in canned form, but of late years there has been an increasing growth in the trade in live lobsters. In 1930, for instance, the shipments of live lobsters amounted to more than 12,500,000 pounds, as compared with a little more than 11,000,000 lbs. in 1929, slightly less than 9,800,000 pounds in 1928, and about 8,690,000 pounds in 1927. Most of the trade goes to the United States and last year these export shipments were over 9,600,000 pounds.

The output of canned lobsters from the 333 lobster canneries in operation last year was 139,109 cases—substantially larger than the production in other recent years. A large part of the annual pack of canned lobsters is exported to the United Kingdom and other European countries and to the United States. Other products of the lobster

CANADIAN STEAMSHIPS' ATLANTIC RECORD

The fact that during the last half century there has been relatively little increase in speed of trans-Atlantic liners, until recent years, has been emphasized by the fast performance of the Empress of Britain in arriving at Quebec on August 31st, from Cherbourg.

In 1882 the steamship Alaska crossed the ocean from Queenstown to New York in six days and some hours. Twenty years previously—in 1862—the Scotia made the same voyage in nine days. The Alaska, a vessel of 6,400 tons, held the palm until 1889, when the City of Paris reduced the time by a few hours. Small reductions were made by other ships in later years. It was not, however, until 1907, when the Lusitania and Mauretania set up a new record that any real advance was made. The latter, a ship of 30,636 tons, made the run from Queenstown to New York in 1909, in 4 days, 10 hours, 41 minutes.

Fifteen years later, in 1924, the Mauretania established a record of 5 days, 1 hour, 40 minutes, from New York to Cherbourg. The Bremen, in 1929, eclipsed this time by running from Cherbourg to New York in 4 days, 18 hours, 17 minutes. The best time of the Empress of Britain is 4 days, 9 hours and 23 minutes between Father Point and Cherbourg, capturing the palm for a Canadian line, says the Toronto Mail and Empire.

fishery, in addition to canned and live lobsters are lobster meat and paste, but the business done in them is relatively small as yet.

Canada's lobster catch in the past five years (1926-1930) has averaged nearly 35,179,000 lbs. a year, an increase of about 134,000 pounds over the average for the preceding five years.

WEDDINGS

Harris-Frizzell

A quiet wedding, of interest to many friends in Bear River and Digby, was solemnized at Port Williams on September 7th, when Isabel M. Frizzell, of Kentville, became the bride of Reginald W. Harris, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Harris, Bear River. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Gregg, a former pastor of the United Baptist Church, Bear River. The young couple will reside at Wolfville, where the groom is employed with the Maritime Telephone Company. They will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Harris in the near future.

Attends W. C. T. U. Convention

Mrs. John Roop left for Wolfville on Tuesday to attend the W. C. T. U. Convention which met in that town on the 15th, 16th, and 17th. The sessions were held in the Baptist Church, the public meetings each evening in the United Church.

Under the efficient leadership of Mrs. N. V. Newcombe, Provincial President, the various meetings were intensely interesting.

At the Convention, Mrs. Roop submitted a report of the "Temperance" work done in our Oakdene school in 1931.

DIVIDE DOUBLE HEADER

Freepoint's baseball team divided a double header with Bear River, at Freepoint, on Monday last, before a good crowd. The score in the first game was 6-1 in favor of Freepoint. A. Elliott and B. Finigan did the pitching for Freepoint, and Hirtle and Parker for Bear River.

In the second game, which went seven innings, Bear River won by the close score of 6-5. This game was full of thrills. Young and Elliott pitched for Freepoint and Parker for Bear River.

Dr. Clarence MacKinnon Lectures On Russia.

The people of Bear River enjoyed a special treat as they listened to Dr. Clarence MacKinnon tell the story of "The Revolution in Russia," on Friday last, in the United Church.

With a map of the city of Leningrad (the old St. Petersburg and afterwards Petrograd) before them, the audience followed with intense interest the march of events which led to the days of the revolution. In his introductory remarks, Dr. MacKinnon told of the meeting of the revolutionaries in the parliament; the excited meetings led by Lenin in the Smolney institute, across the city; the dissatisfaction of the soldiers; the cry for peace; and finally the day appointed for the meeting of the Soviets (the committees representing the different districts of Russia). The Soviets were to assemble on the sixth of November, nineteen hundred and seventeen. Lenin planned the "zero hour" of the revolution for the seventh, when all the members of the Soviets would be there but not settled down.

The explosive ideas of Karl Marx, issued years before, were bearing fruit. The Russians of the Bolsheviks disregarded his first idea of revolutionary development toward the ideal of ownership by the people of the implements of industry, and instead, followed the advice of the embittered writer by demanding these things in a revolution.

At this stage of the lecture, the audience followed the steps of a newspaper correspondent, who was in Leningrad on the eventful day. They heard the gossip in the drawing rooms of the great families, the loud talking on the street corners, the complaints of the soldiers who had been ordered to the front by the general in command of the garrison; and then they saw the change: the soldiers appearing with red bands on their arms taking possession of the Winter Palace and controlling the means of communication with the outside world; they were thrilled with the excitement among the followers of Lenin and Trotsky; and they were amazed that all this should have been accomplished with such swiftness and order.

The Soviets were soon at work sending their messages to the rest of Russia, and what took place in Leningrad was repeated all over that vast country in every town and village.

In bringing the lecture to a close, Dr. MacKinnon gave his reasons for believing that communism will finally be a failure in Russia. He reminded the audience of a quotation by H. G. Wells; "The system in Russia is communist capitalism." The first enemy of the present system is the biological law of torpidity. That is to say, the tendency of all effort is to slackness unless there is continual stimulus. He believes the stimulus is lacking. It is true they are trying to enliven the industrial system by offering rewards for good work. Secondly, man must be independent. In Russia their whole life is controlled. Thirdly, no nation can afford to ignore or abuse those laws, or sanctions that control the sexual life. The strongest reason is that no people can build their lives upon any system that ignores God.

At the close of the lecture, Mr. Fred Harris expressed the appreciation of the audience by a vote of thanks to Dr. MacKinnon.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

On Monday afternoon the regular September meeting of the Women's Institute was held with the president, Mrs. Wm. Morine in the chair, after the conclusion of routine business, plans were formulated for an afternoon tea and Pantry Sale to be held on Saturday, Sept. 26. The next meeting in October is the annual meeting when reports of all officers and convenors will be submitted, new officers will be elected and plans made for the winter's activities.

CHILDRENS COLDS

Horticultural Demonstration Held at Smith's Cove

The Annual Horticultural Demonstration for the Smith's Cove and Lansdowne schools, put on by the Women's Institute was held in Temperance Hall, Thursday afternoon and evening last. In spite of inclement weather, the attendance was large.

Some fine examples of bird houses, prettily dressed dolls, fancy work and hooked rugs made by the children were displayed.

Clever exhibits of Vegetables representing animals, namely an Elephant, a Camel and a pig attracted much attention, and were so good that Mr. Collins, the Agricultural Representative, took them to Lawrence town to be on display at the fair. There were also exhibits of home cooking, and another interesting article displayed was a quilt, over a hundred years old, made by the mother of Mrs. William B. Snow.

The rear of the platform was banked with flowers, arranged by Miss Inez Rice, made a beautiful background.

A Chinese laundry took the place of the regular "Grab Bag" which proved even more popular. The laundryman being sold out long before the customers were satisfied.

The "White Elephant" table turned out to be a huge success. The Candy, Delicatessen, and Tea tables were as popular as ever.

The evening program began with a chorus by the school children, then Mr. Collins, the Agricultural representative addressed the children on gardens. Mr. White, who accompanied Mr. Collins, also gave an address on gardening.

The prize essays were read by Ceneth Thomas.

Miss Anna Burns awarded the prizes for the best dolls, and Mrs. E. B. Taylor presented the school prizes. The prize list follows:

TALK OF THE TOWN

The motor vessel, Earl H. Capt. Halliday, which has been fishing out of Digby, cleared for Wilson's Beach, N.B., this week for bait.

The motor vessel, Tagati, Capt. Thurber, of Freeport arrived this week in ballast and cleared for Vinal Haven, Me., with cordwood, shipped by Capt. B. N. Melanson.

Fred S. Smith of Smith's Cove, this week pulled eight carrots from his garden, the total weight of them being 8 lbs., 5 oz. He says they are about as any he ever saw.

The Kiwanis luncheon next week will be held at the Myrtle Hotel, with Isaac MacNabb the immediate past president, as the speaker. It will take place on Thursday, instead of Monday.

Monday evening, a Mr. Martin of Maine had his car upset at the lower end of Barton. It was not badly damaged but Mr. Martin had quite a bad scalp wound, besides other cuts and bruises.

Willie George Tebo of Plympton Station while motoring from Digby a few nights ago, ran over a deer. His car had one of the lights broken and the radiator cracked. (This was professed by Dr. Phinney).

Dr. H. W. Kirkpatrick, of Halifax, will be at his office in Middleton, for treatment of diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat, on Tuesday, September 22nd, and Wednesday, September 23rd. Glasses fitted. 7:15 p.

Mrs. Ruby Houle, of Charlottetown, vice president of the Rebekah Assembly of the Maritime Provinces, will pay an official visit to Zelma Rebekah Lodge on Thursday next. The degree will be exemplified and refreshments will be served. A full attendance is requested.

A garden party will be held at Marshalltown on Tuesday, September 22nd, in aid of Saint Theresa's (Roman Catholic) church at Marshalltown. This Edifice, situated on the main highway, was built early last year, and is one of the four churches of the Plympton Parish.

A large hawk was captured in Fred Muise's dry cleaning and pressing establishment on Tuesday morning and has been on Exhibition since, in an improvised cage made for it in back of the shop. The bird, in spite of the fact, that it is held captive, seems to have a healthy appetite.

The Rally Day Service of Grace United Sunday School will be held in the auditorium of the church on Sunday, Sept. 27th, at 11 a.m. The members of the school will march from the Hall and the primary and junior children will decorate a cross with flowers on entering the church.

When Dr. Phinney, of Yarmouth, was driving to Digby on Saturday evening, about 8:30 o'clock, he noticed something thrashing about on the side of the road, between the Alms House and the overhead bridge. On investigation, he found a buck deer which had been struck previously by a car, and had both legs broken. He put the animal out of its agony and brought the carcass to town. G. H. Peters, who arrived on the scene a few minutes afterwards, reported the affair to Carl Miller, game warden, Bear River, who on hearing the particulars, ordered that the animal be handed to the Alms House, which was done.

The Digby Branch of the Canadian Legion held their annual memorial service last Sunday. There was a short service at the monument at which Mayor Lynch and Rev. A. E. Gabriel were the speakers, after which the men proceeded to the different cemeteries to decorate the graves. The Boy Scouts turned out with them. A touching tribute was paid to the late Mrs. Julia Morine, whose grave was also decorated. This old lady, it will be remembered, was one of the town's charwomen. She worked hard and made very meagre earnings, yet out of her small pittance she made up and sent of the boys overseas, almost 150 parcels—one of the greatest examples of self-sacrifice that Nova Scotia has seen.

Miss Clara Cruff of Marblehead, Mass., who has been visiting her sister, Miss Maggie Beaman, has returned home.

Messrs. Corneliuss and Henry Unruh, of Nalgonda, India, who have been spending the summer in Digby, guests of Mrs. J. S. Timpany, will be leaving for Wolfville on Monday to resume their studies at Acadia University.

"Spud" Campbell, of the C. P. R. Telegraph staff at Yarmouth, spent Tuesday in Digby, leaving Wednesday to spend his vacation at his home in Sackville. "Spud" was one of the local C. P. R. Telegraph staff during the summer of 1930.

Mr. and Mrs. Fife of New York, Mrs. Anne Adams of New Jersey, Mrs. Walter Krauswick of St. Louis, Mo., Mrs. Edward Young and daughter of Brighton, N. S., held a picnic on the grounds of Mr. Jonas Rice, Smith's Cove, on Thursday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. David L. Welsh, who have been occupying their summer home at Barton, were guests over the week end of Mr. B. Havey and Mrs. J. S. Timpany. They left on Monday for Boston. Other guests at the same house was Rev. Frederick Lent, Ph. D., president of Elmira College, Elmira, New York. Dr. Lent is one of Digby County's sons, who has brought honor to his native Province, over the border. With his wife and daughter, he has spent the summer travelling in Europe, and on their homeward journey, he turned aside to visit the scenes and friends of his early years.

WEDDINGS

Sabine—Morgan

A pretty wedding which was attended by a large gathering of friends, took place on Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 15, in the Baptist Church at Bear River, when Catherine Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan of Bear River, was united in marriage with Dwight Lawrence Sabine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sabine, of New Tusket. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. A. MacLeod, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. C. Amery of Weymouth. Potted plants and cut flowers were used artistically as the church decorations, and the wedding marches were rendered by Miss Louise Harris. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, John Morgan, wore a pretty gown of white silk, the conventional veil caught with orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of sweet peas and white asters. Her sister, Miss Mary Morgan, was bridesmaid. The groom was supported by Thomas Mullen of New Tusket. Little Doris Berry made a charming flower girl. A buffet luncheon was served after which the happy couple left for a short honeymoon trip through the province. The gifts were many and beautiful. Mr. and Mrs. Sabine will make their new home in Digby.

Plans for Financial Condition of World Drawn Up in Digby

When the history of this present financial crisis which is affecting the whole world comes to be written, it will be rather interesting to see what part Digby played in bringing it on. For several weeks prior to the closing of the Pines, Montague Norman, the governor of the Bank of England, made that hotel his headquarters. By telegraph, telephone and cable he kept his fingers on the financial pulse of the world; several leading Canadian and American financiers were here to consult with him, and he himself made several trips to Montreal, New York, St. Andrew's—to say that the entire plans were drawn up here and put into effect as soon as these experts went back to their respective duties. At any rate within ten days after Norman left here England startled the world in her decision to abandon the gold standard, a move engineered by the Bank of England, which is still, as it has been for centuries, the power behind the British parliament.

Isaac McNabb Addresses Kiwanis Club

Yesterday's luncheon of the Kiwanis Club of Digby, held in the dining room of the Myrtle Hotel, was one of the best attended since the inception of the club. Kiwanian A. T. Spurr, proprietor of the hotel deserves especial credit for the excellent service given, and for the extremely tasty decoration of the dining room.

At this luncheon, the local club was well represented and many visitors and guests were present to enjoy the luncheon and speeches with us.

The guests of honor were Isaac McNabb, governor of the Ontario, Quebec and Maritime District and John Craig, honorary secretary treasurer for the district. John Craig was the first speaker; he expressed his delight of being with the local club at this luncheon. During the course of his address, he extended greetings from the Kiwanis Club of Peterboro, Ontario, and presented the club with a handsome gavel, a gift from the Peterboro Club. President Maynard Davidson accepted the gift for the Digby Club.

O. Wright brought greetings from the vice president of the Rotary Club of Charlottetown, P. E. I.

Isaac MacNabb, of the Peterboro Club, and governor for this district gave us an address on the Ideals of Kiwanis. He prophesied great things for the Digby Club, and expressed the hope that through the election of Chas. Fowler, of Halifax, as District Governor, the number of clubs in this section should increase from eight to fifteen by the time of the District Convention in Seattle, B.C., next year. The objects of Kiwanis, he said, are to build up a better understanding between countries, to forget nationality, to weld a better understanding between local factions.

Next Monday, being the night of the town council meeting, the meeting of the Kiwanis Club, scheduled for 6.30, has been postponed until Tuesday evening at the same hour. This luncheon will be in the form of a fish chowder supper, at Capt. George Morrell's Summer cottage, at Mountain Gap Inn. Kiwanian George Whitman is preparing the chowder.

Digby Motors Building Being Demolished

A wrecking crew commenced Tuesday to tear down the old Digby Motors garage building at the corner of Birch and Prince William Streets. The portion of this building used as a dwelling, has been purchased by W. C. Warrington, and will be moved on Monday. The building is being disposed of to make way for a modern filling station to be erected on that corner by the Imperial Oil Company. This building is one of Digby's old landmarks and was well known as the Viet's place. It was converted into a garage several years.

New Talkie Machine Big Improvement

The new sound on track machine, installed by Mr. Walker, of the Bijou Dream, is a wonderful improvement over the old record machine, and Mr. Walker certainly picked out a good film with which to introduce his new talkie projector to the public.

Some of us who went to see Winnie Lightner in "The Life of the Party" thought the picture even better than "The Gold Diggers of Broadway" and all of us got a good laugh out of it. If you haven't heard this new machine, make it a point to go at the first opportunity. Watch Mr. Walker's ads—he has some big pictures coming.

We have a real good report of the W. C. T. U. convention, handed us by Mrs. Roop, of Bear River, which we had intended to run this issue. But it is an unwritten law in a country newspaper office that local news must have the preference, and in consequence, this report is crowded out, but will appear next week.

Bear River Exhibition Success In Spite Of Rain

In spite of the bad weather yesterday morning and afternoon, the Bear River Exhibition went over big. Without asking any questions, we would judge that there were about double the exhibits in all departments that there were last year. The building has been improved by the addition of a second floor, the full size of the building, instead of a gallery around it, and this gives room for all the household manufactures, fancy work, school work and flowers, making a good display with ample room for the spectators. All these departments were well filled, as were also the tables devoted to field crops and school gardens on the ground floor. The outdoor show was splendid and the display of cattle and other animals exceptionally large. Unfortunately the rain in the afternoon made it necessary to remove them a little earlier than would otherwise have been the case.

At five o'clock, when our representative left, the attendance had been fully up to that of last year. With clearing weather last evening, and several special attractions, we have no doubt the attendance was large.

The County Court In Session.

The County Court, with Judge J. A. Grierson presiding, has been in session here this week. Two criminal cases, the King vs. Brooks, an appeal from a decision of Stipendiary Magistrate, J. M. Sabine, was heard. Much new evidence was adduced since the case was heard in the magistrate's court. Judgement was reserved.

Another case was that of the King vs. Van Hise, also an appeal from Magistrate Sabine's court. Judgement was reserved in this case.

Three civil suits brought about by the Ruggles estate (Tiverton), were settled out of court.

Cleveland Rice Sent Up for Trial.

Cleveland Rice, of Bear River, who was given a hearing on Friday and Saturday of last week, before Stipendiary J. A. Taylor, on the charge of manslaughter, was sent up for trial by a superior court. The case arose from a drowning accident at Barnes Lake, near Bear River, on June 21st, when young Charles Payne lost his life. Rice is accused of unnecessarily upsetting a boat in which Payne and three other lads were rowing.

OBITUARY

Vernon George Stanton
On September 1st, Vernon Geo. Stanton was taken to the Yarmouth Hospital in a very serious condition, from his residence at Port Maitland, and all that could be done, proved fruitless, and he passed away on the 14th, at the early age of 33 years, 10 months. It was with deep regret his many friends learned he had passed to the great beyond. He was the son of the late Joseph Henry Stanton and wife, Ruth, of Central Grove, and served three years in the late war, going to Port Maitland eight years ago. His remains were taken to his residence in Port Maitland and the funeral services took place there on Wednesday afternoon at 2.30 conducted by Rev. H. J. Friend, of Bay View Baptist church, of which he was a member, assisted by Rev. H. E. Mullen, of the Reformed Baptist church. The male quartette sang "The Beautiful Land", and there was also a duet by Rev. and Mrs. Friend, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere". The message was delivered by Mr. Friend to a large gathering. The floral offerings were beautiful, showing the esteem and sympathy of his many friends. Interment was at the Island cemetery. Those left to mourn their loss are a sorrowing young widow, two half brothers, Elden Stanton, of Central Grove, and Emerson Thurber, of Islesboro, Maine; also a host of relatives and friends.

A Courageous Rescue

What might have been a serious accident happened at Port Maitland recently, when Miss Vivian Cossaboom and her brother Albert were bathing in Clarke's Lake near their home. They ventured out on a raft and seeing his perilous position in deep water Albert dived from the raft, and being unable to swim, failed to come to the surface. His sister seeing his perilous condition, swam to the place and with the aid of a pole, she had secured from the water, managed to dive and reach him. He was going down for the last time when she caught hold of him. He clutched her neck, pulling her under. Miss Cossaboom was swimming all the time to keep afloat. Their mother stood on the shore but was powerless to render them any assistance, and she expected them both to disappear at any moment. But by careful management, Miss Vivian got her brother on to the pole and ashore in safety. She, being in poor health was almost exhausted after making the rescue. It was a most courageous act on her part and she is being highly commended. They are the daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cossaboom, Port Maitland. Mr. Cossaboom is a brother of Mrs. Frank Hazelton, of Digby.

Holy Trinity Church Notes

The institution of a Children's Flower Service in Trinity Church two years ago, has proved of interest to Sunday School scholars, not only in Trinity, but other churches have adopted it as an annual event in the religious life of their children. Now, we must widen our scope and include all scholars not only Sunday School but Day School, because we feel there is little opportunity for scholars of the several classes assembling together for religious worship or school exercises. Perhaps some day our Public School may be able to boast of a large Assembly Hall; meanwhile this step is being taken, and it is earnestly hoped that All Students will be present in Trinity Church on Sunday evening, Sept. 27th. Trinity Choir will render special music and the Rev. A. E. Gabriel's address to the students will be from the text "What doest thou here?" 1 Kings 19:13. Principal Purdy has been asked to take part in the service and students will act as ushers. Parents are asked not to sit with their children because we wish to have students seated in one section of the church as a "body corporate". Let us make this service of real interest to the scholars generally, and parents of this town. The members of Trinity choir are asked to attend the rehearsal at 8 o'clock tonight, for the purpose of choosing special music for this important service; also to practice Harvest Thanksgiving music for the Harvest Home Service at Rossway.

Trinity church services:
8 a.m. Holy Communion
11 a.m. Mattins and Sermon—Subject, "Pillars or Wells?"
3 p.m. Service at Marshalltown
7.30 p.m. Student Service and Address. Subject, "What doest thou here?"

All Saints, Rossway Church

The little white church on the hill at Rossway continues to grow in interest and influence—even people from Digby like to motor there and enjoy the mission service held every Wednesday evening. The annual Harvest Home service, typical of the English Church, touches a note of sympathy with all. The church is usually decorated with the Harvest of land and sea, which gives all members of the community a share in the offering and worship on that occasion. The little congregation who are so loyal to their church apostolic, will welcome you at their special service on Friday evening, October 2, at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. George Morrell is expected to arrive home today.

Square Mile of Land Staked Off as Mining Claim and Prospecting Is Carried On

A discovery of hard coal has been made on the farm of Thomas Franklin, at the top of the Acacia Valley Hill, and already a claim of one square mile has been staked off by Thomas Franklin and John McGuire. The discovery was made by Mr. Franklin four weeks ago last Sunday while taking his cows to pasture. He noticed a shining black rock which had been washed off in the recent heavy rain falls, in the path, picked it up and examined it, and then sent it to Mr. McGuire, of Smith's Cove, a veteran prospector and miner.

Both these men gathered more samples and some of them, the latter took to Halifax to be examined. They were analyzed as having coal. Since that time, considerable prospecting has been done, and quite a quantity of coal found which is said to have exceptionally good burning qualities. The prospectors are now looking for a lead that will make it profitable to open the mine.

Coal has been found in this vicinity before, but at no time has a definite action been taken. It is said that some fifteen or twenty years ago, a farmer near Marshalltown found a quantity on his premises. American tourists have remarked many times that the slate rock formation at Joggin Bridge was almost identical with the geological formations near the hard coal fields of Pennsylvania. This ridge of slate follows the Acacia Valley almost its entire length, and extends back in the vicinity of Marshalltown.

Prospecting for minerals in the vicinity of the Acacia Valley is not new. Prospectors have gone over that section for almost every kind of mineral under the sun. Gold has been found there, and for a time, was mined quite successfully. We are informed that a crew of from twelve to twenty men were kept busy for some years digging gold bearing quartz which was shipped away to a stamping mill. We are also told that the mine was always able to meet expenses and show a little profit. Others interested in geology have told us at various times that there were evidences of copper along the Acacia Valley Brook and Chute's Brook (so-called), which enters the Acacia Valley Brook, near its mouth.

Young People's Society Organized in United Church

A young people's society was organized on Wednesday evening in the United Church, and the following officers were elected:

Hon. President—Rev. E. W. Forbes
President—John E. Kean
Vice-President—Charlotte Turnbull
Secretary—Dorothy Dunn
Treasurer—Clayton Snow
Organist—Burdette Carter.

Twenty-five signed the roll as charter members. The meetings will be held on the first and third Thursdays of the month. The first regular meeting will be held on Thursday evening, October 1st, when further steps in organization will be taken, following the report of the executive committee on a suggested constitution.

Bell Tower About Completed

Work on the Bell Tower, under construction at Victoria Beach is about completed. The actual construction of the building will be finished this week, although the installing of the new bell and timing clock will be at a later date. The machinery for this equipment will arrive on the C. G. S. Laurentian. The dimensions of the new tower are 8 x 12 feet, considerably smaller than the dimensions of the tower destroyed by fire last spring.

On Thursday afternoon Mrs. Roderick Abramson and Mrs. John Abramson entertained at afternoon tea at the home of the former, in honor of Mrs. Houle, Vice President of the Rebekah Assembly.

Tourist Season Was Not Too Far Behind!

With the summer tourist season practically over, and many of the summer hotels in the town and surrounding districts closed for the year, Digby has no real cause to feel down hearted over the result. The season was a short one due to the fact that the tourist business during the month of June and July fell off considerably as compared with other years, but August proved to be up to "par" with the average years.

Most of the hotel men whom we have interviewed, seem satisfied with the summer. Due to prevailing conditions in the cities of the United States and Canada, they were not expecting to break any records this season, although some say they were not much behind last year, others say that the season was equally as good, and at least one says that his hotel came out $150. ahead of any year in its history.

More cars were carried across the Bay of Fundy this summer than ever before, and automobile traffic generally was even greater than in any former years.

ABILITY

It is a true sign of extraordinary merit, when those who envy it, are forced to praise it. The art of setting off moderate abilities steals esteem, and often gains more reputation than real merit. The world rewards the appearance of merit more than merit itself. Merit has its season as well as fruit has. We should not judge of a man's abilities by his great qualities, but by the use he makes of them. The desire of appearing to be persons of ability, sometimes prevents us being so, and to those who have abilities, it requires no small degree of judgement to know when to conceal them. The height of ability consists in a thorough knowledge of the real value of things, and of the genius of the age in which we live.

HE DID IT

Somebody said that it couldn't be done.
But he with a chuckle replied
That "maybe it couldn't" but he would be one
Who wouldn't say so till he tried
So he buckled right in with a trace of a grin on his face.
If he worried he hid it.
He started to sing as he tackled the thing
That couldn't be done and he did it.
Somebody scoffed: "Oh, you'll never do that."
At least no one ever has done it."
But he took off his coat and he took off his hat,
And the first thing we knew he'd begun it.
With a lift of chin and a bit of a grin,
Without any doubting or quibble,
He started to sing as he tackled the thing
That couldn't be done any he did it.
There are thousands to tell you it cannot be done,
There are thousands to prophesy failure;
There are thousands to point out to you one by one,
The dangers that wait to assail you,
But just buckle in with a bit of a grin,
Just take off your coat and go to it;
Just start to sing as you tackle the thing,
That "cannot be done," and you'll do it.

—Edgar Guest.

Thought for the Week

"The world is being prepared. I am persuaded, for a spiritual awakening on a very extensive scale. I do not say this lightly—it is a growing conviction, forced upon me by the facts. The issues are now being cleared, religion is becoming more and more Christ-centric and God can trust us with power to the utmost; if it is to be used to make us Christlike."—E. Stanley Jones.

WHEN GASTRIC JUICES FAIL TO FLOW

You know how badly an engine runs when it gets clogged up. It's the same with your body when your gastric—or digestive—juices fail to flow. Your food, instead of being assimilated by your system, simply collects and stagnates inside you, producing harmful acid poisons. What you need then is a tonic—Nature's own tonic—Nature's six mineral salts. You get all these six salts in Kruschen Salts, and each one of them has an action of its own. Together, they stimulate and tune up the bodily functions from a number of different angles. The first effect of these salts is to promote the flow of the saliva and so awaken the appetite. The next action occurs in the stomach, where the digestive juices are encouraged to pour out and act upon the food. Again in the intestinal tract certain of these salts promote a further flow of these vital juices which deal with partly digested food and prepare it finally for absorption into the system.

WEALTH

You may have thousands in the bank.
You may have house and land.
You may have priceless furniture.
And cars both large and grand;
But if you've never a bosom friend
In whom you can confide,
You're beggared, bankrupt, all the same.

Though you have all beside.
You may have travelled round the globe,
And seen a thousand things;
You may have been in every land,
And hob-nobbed with kings;
But if a field of buttercups,
A skylark in the blue,
Just leaves you cold, you're beggared, sir.

Whatever you may do!

And though you have a flat in town,
A bungalow or two,
And perhaps a mansion in the shires,
Yet I must say to you
You're beggared if you lack the love
Which makes the house a home.
For love's a thing that wealth can't buy.

Wherever you may roam!

We have all added, multiplied, and magnified the things which we feel that money might secure for us, but we wonder just how much we ever think about the many, many things that money won't buy. When we ask ourselves "What are we worth?" do we ever think of it in terms other than dollars and cents. For if that were the measurement, we might be a millionaire and yet be a pauper, paradoxical as that may sound. Poverty may seem like a state of being, but it is often a habit of thinking. Five or ten dollars added to the salary of a working person seems like a fortune, whereas the millionaire who drops a fifth of his capital in the Stock Market will feel pinched.

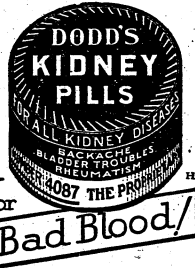

We normal human beings have often wished more than once that we had been blessed with more of this world's goods. There have been many times when we have wanted things which we could not have, and many of us have spent a good bit of time dreaming over the things we would do, or the things we would be able to have if we had as much money as Mr. So and So. In our dreaming we are always philanthropic and magnanimous and think of the many good deeds we could do with this money for others as well as for ourselves. Of course we always feel that we would be satisfied with a million—yes—a half a million, but I doubt if we would; we would then be feeling that we would be happy when we got another million.

So many of us keep such an anxious eye on our pocket book and become so worried over the amounts that we have to pay for fear that they will exceed the amount that we have, that we become irritable and fretful, and fail to see the opportunities which are right in our pathways. We should remain calm and thus determine whether the expenditures we are incurring are wise and necessary and if so to enjoy them, whether it be a new car, a trip to some other place or simply a new hat. It is often the way that we think that determines what we have. We need not school ourselves to do without nice things, but we should consider whether the thing which we so ardently crave will bring us happiness we think it will.

Money does not bring us happiness; it only brings us to the place where we can make others happy. Every day the sun rises and sets, people are spending millions of dollars in their search for happiness. They buy expensive cars and clothing; build fine homes, travel to foreign countries, but this alone will not bring the happiness they crave, it can be obtained with gold only when it is spent to make others happy. Then and then only are we storing up wealth in the bank which knows no depression. Money may unlock the door to fashionable society, and put it's owner in the elite class, but it cannot buy friends. Friends who are our friends only while our money lasts are not worthy of the name of friend. How much would we take for our friends, those who know all about us and love us just the same? Those who stick by us in time of trouble, trial and affliction? Yes money may buy us associates, but it cannot purchase us friends, for friends will not be bought—they are not for sale. How abundantly rich are they who have true, loyal, faithful friends. One of life's richest blessings is health, and money cannot purchase us this either, no more than it can purchase love or character. When we sit down to seriously consider it, we will discover that all of the things which matter most in life are really beyond the reach of gold but within the reach of each and everyone of us.

"What are we really worth?" What have we each and every one contributed to the work of humanity? Many who have given liberally of their money in contributions to the different societies have become forgotten in a fortnight, while others who have never had any money to contribute, have lingered long in the memories and affections of others. What are our lives worth to those around us? Are we too like those who were merely a speck between two eternities to be so soon forgotten, or have we given some little thing to enrich those about us. Life is full of heartaches and sorrows; our service, love and sunshine are needed in lives of others. Then as Lovick P. Law said, "People whom you have blessed will stand by your grave when the colors of glory burnish the Western sky and earthland drifts into dreamland and say, 'Here lies a man or a woman who made it harder to live wrong and easier to live right," and folks will cherish your memory throughout all time and say: "There was a rich man."

When I lie down at last—I'd like to feel
I've helped some fellow mortal here
That I have caused some lone heart to be brave
And made some soul forget it's fear.

I wish that little children fair would come
And say, "We'll miss the man that smiled."
And some might say to me, "Because he lived We've walked life's pathways undefined."

I would not care what marker showed my place,
I do not crave a purple shroud,
I do not want the vulgar cheap displays.
Nor grief that shows in mourning loud

I'm sure I shall be satisfied, at last,
If some poor wandering human clod,
Shall think of me with thankful heart, and say,
"Through him, I learned the way to God."

—J. W. Holland.

WHAT KNOW WE?

What know we of the gnawing grief
That dims perchance our neighbor's way.

The fretting worry, secret pain
That may be his from day to day?
Then let no idle word of ours
Rattle his sad heart with more dismay.

What know we of temptations deep
That hover round him like the night?
What bitter struggles may be his,
What evil influences blight!
Then be not hasty to condemn,
If we have strayed from paths of right.

We know so little of the hearts
That everywhere around us beat,
So little of the inner lives
Of those whom day by day we greet;
Oh, it behoves us one and all
Gently to deal with those we meet.

Gently to deal and gently judge,
With that divinest charity
That thinks no evil, but would seek
The good in every soul to see,
Measuring not by what it is,
But by that which it strives to be.

BELLIVEAU'S COVE

Professor Dean, of Ste. Anne College, was the guest of Arcade Theriault, last week.

Rev. Father L. Gaudet, P.P., of Plympton, was here one day recently on business.

Mr. Tyler of the Eastern Pulp and Paper Co., Bangor, Maine, was here last week on business in his pleasure boat.

Among those who returned to the St. Anne College, Church Point were: Louis Theriault, Charles Doucet, Jean Theriault, Paul Theriault and Andrie Blinn.

Mrs. Bourneuf and son, who have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Gaudet, returned home to Boston on Friday.

Thanksgiving Day will be celebrated this year on October 12th, by official announcement of the passing of an Order-in-Council to this effect recently. Thanksgiving Day will now be celebrated separately from Armistice Day—or what is now known as "Remembrance Day". While Remembrance Day will be celebrated each year on November 11th, the date for the observance of Thanksgiving Day will be fixed each year by Order-in-Council.

He is indeed the wisest and the happiest man, who by constant attention of thought, discovers the greatest opportunity of doing good, and breaks through every opposition, that he may improve these opportunities.—Doddridge.

SCHOOL TRACK MEET

Friday, September 18th, the second annual, County Inter-school Track Meet was staged at Lawrenceton in conjunction with the County Exhibition. The weather boded well for a disagreeable day, but late in the morning, King Sol put in an appearance to every contestant's and fan's delight. In all events, the day was a day packed with thrills. Every contestant of the 105 entered, gave of his best for his respective school. The major schools represented were: Annapolis, Bear River, Bridge-town, Lawrenceton and Mid-dleton.

Bear River was represented in the 9-12 years group by: L. Harris, Walter Jack, Weldon Stevens, Alvin Trueman, Merton Yorke.

In the 13-15 group by: John Vidito, Walton Snell, Lawrence Copeland, Willard Jack, Watson Peck, Morris Darras, Hinson McLeod, Ira Davis.

In the 16-19 group by: Clayton Hirtle, Malcolm Parker, Clifford Harris, Alan Harris.

In the open class by: Howard McLean, Alex Wentz, Lawrence Hubley, Billy McIntyre, Walter Read.

The prizes of greatest moment were three in number: 1st, a beautiful silver cup, donated by the Success Business College, Saint John; won last year by Bear River; this year by Bridge-town. 2nd, a smaller silver cup, donated to the person with highest individual score. 3rd, a silver cup donated by O. A. Eisner to highest scorer in the open class.

Although Bear River won none of these, they are to be commended on the sportsman-like way in which they defended the cup, and went down to defeat smiling, knowing that they had done their best to return home with their former prize. The scores are as follows:

Annapolis 5; Bear River 51; Lawrenceton 5; Bridge-town 5; Midleton 41.

Points won by Bear River: 16-19-75 yard dash—Clayton Hirtle, 1st.

9-12—standing broad jump—Weldon Stevens, 1st; Walter Jack, 3rd.

13-15—50 yard dash—John Vidito, 1st; Lawrence Copeland, 3rd.

9-12—40 yard dash—Walter Jack, 1st.

16-19—shot put—Malcolm Parker, 3rd.

13-15—75 yard dash—John Vidito, 2nd; Lawrence Copeland, 3rd.

9-12—50 yard dash—Walter Jack, 2nd.

13-15—standing broad jump—John Vidito, 3rd.

9-12—obstacle relay—3rd place.

16-19—obstacle relay—1st place.

13-15—shuttle relay—2nd place.

16-19—shuttle relay—3rd place.

Of the twenty-two boys representing Bear River, we have nothing but praise to offer, and it is difficult to pick out any stars, for everybody did their duty and did it well, nevertheless, stars they were, in fact all stars.

People of Bear River, let's get behind our young athletes and help them along. We have an excellent chance to make the "Big Cup" permanent home at Oakdene.

Open Class

Shuttle relay—2nd place.

Obstacle relay—2nd place.

Running broad—2nd, Lawrence Hubley.

Shot put—2nd, Howard McLean.

STANDARD BRANDS LIMITED EXPANDING THROUGHOUT DOMINION

New Buildings for Montreal and Halifax; Larger Quarters in Edmonton and Saskatoon.

MONTREAL, Sept. 25.—Corwin Wickham, president of Standard Brands Limited, has recently announced a program of expansion for the company that includes new office buildings in both Montreal and Halifax and new, larger premises in Edmonton and Saskatoon.

He further states that this expansion is a direct result of the steady growth in popularity of all Standard Brands products since the merger of Fleischmann's Yeast, Chase & Sanborn, E. W. Gillett & Co., Limited, and Royal Baking Powder, two years ago.

The new building in Montreal will serve as headquarters for all divisions of the company. It will provide increased storage facilities for all products, and at the same time permit of the concentration of all activities, other than manufacturing, under one roof. This new structure completes, for the present, the development plans started in Montreal, just over a year ago, when the new, million dollar Fleischmann's Yeast plant was erected at Ville La Salle.

Similarly in the Maritimes and West, the new, larger quarters being taken over in Halifax, Edmonton and Saskatoon are part of the company's plan to provide improved facilities for the sales and handling of Standard Brands Products in all parts of the Dominion.

WOMEN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The regular meeting of the W. M. S. was held at the home of Mrs. Croscup, on Friday afternoon with a good attendance. After the usual opening exercises were over, a letter was read asking for help, for stricken families in the West.

The devotional leaflet for the month was based on Peter 1, 13-20.

Two new members were welcomed to the society. Thirty calls were reported for the month of August, which shows that the interest in work has been splendidly kept up during the summer season. The new study book is to be taken up in October, and the society is anticipating a very interesting study on missions.

Plans are being made for a Pantry Sale in the near future. The meeting closed with the hymn "Pass Me Not O Gentle Saviour", after which Rev. Mr. Blanchard dismissed the meeting with prayer.

Mrs. Lovett Fraser and son, David, have returned to their home in Medford, Mass., after a six weeks' visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Loran Adams, Deep Brook. On her return, she was accompanied by Mrs. Frank Adams and daughter, Shirley, who will visit relatives in Providence, R. I.

Test it for Yourself.

Cheap Price low grade teas have at best only coarse strength in the liquor, and frequently not even that. You have to use much more in the Teapot and always miss the enjoyable flavor of a fine cup of Tea.

"KING COLE" Tea, expertly blended, is full of rich, tea flavor. It requires much less in the pot. It is truly economical.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Olivia Hill

The death occurred on Sunday morning, at half past six, of Mrs. Olivia Hill, widow of the late Gilbert Hill, who predeceased her forty years ago. Mrs. Hill had reached the fine old age of eighty-nine years and seven months, and has always lived in Bear River. A faithful and loyal member of the Baptist Church, as long as her health permitted, she attended the services of the church that she loved. She will be much missed by her friends and relatives in Bear River. Mrs. Hill is survived by one sister, Mrs. Israel Hocking, of this place, her two sons, Owen of U. S., and Benjamin, with whom she resided; her son-in-law, John Doherty, of South Carolina, and ten grand children. The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon, from the home of her son, and was conducted by her pastor, Rev. A. A. MacLeod, and assisted by Rev. C. P. Henderson, of the Advent Christian Church, Interment in the Mount Hope cemetery.

Here is a Delightful Dessert!

BREAD PUDDING

2 cups St. Charles Milk
2 cups sugar

WEDDINGS

Saulnier—Deveau

A wedding took place at St. Vincent de Paul Church at Saulnierville on Monday morning, when Miss Minnie Deveau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Deveau was united in marriage to Benjamin Saulnier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emilia Saulnier of this place. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Maillet. Nuptial high mass followed the ceremony.

D'Eon—D'Entremont

A wedding of interest took place in St. Joseph's Church, Somerville, Mass., at 7 p.m. Saturday, September 25th, when Benoit A. D'Eon, son of Capt. and Mrs. Ambrose D'Eon, of Upper West Pubnico, was married to Miss Marjorie D'Entremont, daughter of Fishery Inspector and Mrs. James D'Entremont of Middle West Pubnico, Father Quinlan, the pastor of the church, officiating. The bride wore a dress of white satin with the conventional veil, and she carried a bouquet of white roses. She was attended by Miss Rita D'Entremont, who wore a peach satin dress, with hat to match, and carried peach roses. After the church ceremony, the wedding party held a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Zacharie D'Entremont, 41 Lewis Street, Somerville, where one hundred guests were present. The bride was handsomely remembered with checks, silver service and a great collection of valuable and serviceable gifts. The newly married couple took the Boston-Yarmouth steamship and came to Pubnico to visit their parents and relatives, and to make a tour of the Province. After their return they will reside in Somerville.

Sabeau—Morgan

A pretty wedding was solemnized in the United Baptist Church, Bear River, on Tuesday when Miss Kathryn Louise Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Morgan, became the bride of Dwight L. Sabeau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sabeau of New Tusket. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. A. McLeod, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. C. J. Moore of Weymouth. The church was effectively decorated for the occasion with asters, gladioli, asparagus, and potted plants of girl friends of the bride. Miss Louise Harris presided at the organ. The young bride who was given in marriage by her father, presented a picture of girlish loveliness in her dress of white satin, with train of georgette, the conventional veil caught with orange blossoms, and carrying an arm bouquet of asters and maiden hair fern. Miss Mary Morgan sister of the bride, as bridesmaid was dressed in green tulle, with picture hat to match, and carried a bouquet of gladioli. Little Doris Berry made a winsome little flower girl, wearing a frock of white satin and carrying a basket of sweet peas and maiden-hair fern. The groom was supported by Thomas Mulen of New Tusket, the ushers were Chester Isles and Earl Marshall. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Miss Grace Morgan, sister of the bride and Miss Frances Mulen, wearing gowns of blue tulle, presided over the daintily decorated table which was centered with the bride's cake, over which was suspended a wedding veil. In both the dining room and living room were a profusion of fall flowers, the color scheme being pink and white. Rev. C. Amery gave a vocal solo, "When Love Shines In." Mrs. Morgan, mother of the bride, was wearing a gown of black satin with trimmings of ecru lace. The bride received a splendid array of gifts, silver, cut glass, linen, china, that from the groom being a substantial cheque, to the organist, a compact; flower girl, necklace; bridesmaid, methyst ring; ushers, gold cuff links; best man, leather belt.

The happy couple left that afternoon by motor for Cape Breton and other parts of the province, before returning to Digby where they will reside. The bride's travelling suit was a brown ensemble with accessories to match. The bride was a graduate of Normal College, Truro, having taught for the last few years at New Tusket, where she won a host of friends. The out of town guests were: Miss Mahar, Mr. and Mrs. T. Mulen, New Tusket; B. Goudy, Misses Helen and Frances Mulen, Havelock.

Simple Home Recipe For Bad Stomach Gives Swift Relief

If you are a victim of Stomach Troubles—Gas, Sourness, Belching—Bloating—you may have quick and certain relief by following this good advice.

Artificial digestants and starvation diets are seldom needed. With in reason, most folks may eat what they like, if they will keep their stomach free from souring acids that hinder or paralyze the work of digestion. And the best and easiest way to do this is to follow every meal with a little Bismarck Magnesia—a pleasant, harmless form of magnesia that swiftly neutralizes acidity and keeps your stomach sweet and clean.

A few days' trial of Bismarck Magnesia (powder or tablets), which you need not eat, supply at trifling cost, should quickly convince you that fully 90% of ordinary stomach distress is absolutely unnecessary. Try Bismarck Magnesia today!

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

How little it costs if we give a thought.
To make happy some heart each day
Just one kind word of a tender smile.
As we go on our daily way;
Perchance a look will suffice to clear
The cloud from a neighbor's face
And the press of a hand in sympathy
A sorrowful tear efface."
