The Town Plot is situated at the east of the township just within the entrance to Annapolis Basin, and twenty miles from Annapolis Town, and six miles across land from the head of St. Mary's Bay. This laid out from the water's edge, partly on level ground and partly on the declivity of a modern till, dry and pleasant, and having with an eastern aspect, a view of the Annapolis Basin and its cultivated shores for twenty miles in where it terminates with the Fort and River's mouth of that name. It was settled by Loyalists from New York in 1783, the most of whom went early to farms, or, moving to other countries, left the whole

Obituary

William Howard Graham

The death of William Howard Graham, a well known carpenter in Digby, occurred at the residence of Mrs. Frank Muise, Seabrook, on Monday morning, July 31st. On August 1, at 7:30 o'clock, a historical pageant depicting leading events in the life of the community will be given. On Thursday, August 2nd, there will be a church banquet and fellowship hour followed by a roll call. Friday evening, the 3rd, is a community night. On Saturday, at 10:30 in the morning, water sports; at 2:00 a bell game, followed by a community picnic. In the evening a play, "Cinderella Rose," will be presented. Ira Oscar Crosscup

Ira Oscar Crosscup, a native of Granville, died in San Francisco on June 22, aged 71 years. His mother before her marriage was Miss Life Nichols, of Acadiaville. He went to California more than 50 years ago and was engaged in engineering. He leaves a widow.

Ida May Harris

Ida May Harris, wife of Bernard I. Harris, died on Tuesday, at her home, in Seattle, Washington. Mrs. Harris was born in 1857, the eldest daughter of Asenath, and Joseph Roop, of Clementsport. She is survived by a brother, Rev. F. E. Roop, in Moncton; two sisters, Josephine Roop and Mrs. Reagh Burns, in Clementsport; her husband, who was with her; two sons, Fred, in Bear River, and Joseph, in Seattle; and two daughters, Cora and Eleanor, both in Seattle.

SCHOOL CLOSING

On Friday last, the pupils and faculty of the Digby school, assembled in the Bijou Theatre for the closing exercises. The ceremonies opened by singing, "O Canada," followed by a few words from the chairman, A. J. Dillon, Principal Purdy gave the year's records and stated that the average attendance for the school this year, through all the terrific snow storms, had been 93 per cent. The guest speakers of the day were Frank Jones, K. C., and Dr. Soloman, one of the leading educationalists of the province. Mr. Boden also gave a delightful talk, leaving many good thoughts for the pupils to carry with them. His Worship, Mayor Shortliffe, presented the many prizes for excellent marks. The ceremonies closed with God Save the King and best wishes for a very happy vacation.

Miss Florence Keen spent the week end in Granville Ferry.

Little River Home Destroyed by Fire

The cries of little Reta Stanton, seven-year-old daughter of Burwell Stanton, Little River, who was suffering with toothache in all probability saved the lives of the members of the Stanton family early Wednesday morning. Going to the medicine chest shortly before one o'clock, the little girl's mother found the house ablaze; there seemed to be very little smoke but the flames had made considerable headway. The family, consisting of the parents, the little girl, and a boy of nine years of age, made their escape.

The house and furnishings, with the exception of a few articles from the lower floor, were destroyed. The building, locally known as the Cynthia Morehouse place, was situated near the head of the government pier, at Little River. An alarm was sounded by blowing the whistle of the nearby fish market.

Fanned by heavy winds the flames spread rapidly, carrying burning embers great distances. Roofs of several other buildings caught fire but were extinguished by volunteer fire fighters.

Burning embers were also carried by the river setting a small fire in the woods; this, too, was also extinguished.

In helping save some of the furniture from the burning house, the piece of glass or some other sharp nine-year-old boy, who was barefooted, cut his foot so badly on an object that Dr. F. E. Rice, of Sandy Cove, had to be called to dress the wound.

The Stanton family were taken into the home of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Trask until later in the day, when they went to Mink Cove to live for a time with relatives there.

Mrs. Dora A. Davies, of New York, has arrived to spend the summer in Digby and Barton.

Miss Regina Woolaver, of the telephone office, is spending her vacation in Yarmouth.

Arthur Appleby, of Toronto, was the guest of his mother, Mrs. Minnie Appleby, on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wefmore, accompanied by Arnold Cream, left for Yarmouth last week.

Mr. D. C. Cronin, of South Natick, Mass., is visiting her parents, Capt. and Mrs. P. A. Robinson.

Allen Wright left this week for Wolfville, where he will attend the summer school at Acadia University.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Harvie, of Kentville, spent the week end with their son, Fred Harvie, and Mrs. Harvie.

Rev. P. A. and Mrs. Bower, Albemarle, N. C., are spending a month with Mrs. Bower's mother, Mrs. Howard Anderson.

Mrs. Olen Denton, of Little River, was in Digby on Wednesday to undergo treatment for an infected finger, caused by a splinter.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Hospital Aid Society will be held at the Court House, at 3:00 o'clock this afternoon.

Capt. H. B. Fitzgerald, Miss Kathleen Fitzgerald and Miss Roberta Rand, of Weymouth North, were visitors in town on Tuesday.

Mr. Atwood Miller, of Lansdowne, is undergoing treatment at the Victoria General Hospital, Halifax. She was accompanied to Halifax by Mr. Miller, who has since returned home.

Dr. H. W. Kirkpatrick, of Halifax, will be at his office in mid-afternoon for treatment of diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat, on Tuesday, July 10th, and Wednesday, July 11th, until 4 o'clock, p.m. Glasses fitted.

The engagement of Edith Marguerite Curkun, daughter of Leander I. Curkun, Middle Lefrere, to James MacNaughton Wallis, son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Wallis, Digby, has been announced. The marriage will take place next week.

Dale Young, of Deep Brook, the eight-year-old son of Aubrey Young, holds a unique school record. He has been attending school for two years and seven months—and is now a pupil of Grade VI. The lad, who lives with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Adams, attends the Deep Brook school.

Services will be held at usual in Grace United Church, Sunday morning and evening. Sunday's service will be conducted by Rev. T. W. Hodgson, the new pastor of the church. Dr. Hodgson was inducted last evening by Rev. M. R. Ewing of Weymouth, and Rev. W. J. Dean of Berwick. We are unable to give a full account of the induction service this week, but hope to be able to publish an account in our next edition.

A very successful dance was held at Harbor View last Friday evening for the benefit of the Digby General Hospital, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Harold Nichols. The net proceeds were approximately $87. The Ladies' Hospital Aid wish to thank all who materially helped to make this affair a success, to "Duke" Cosabon, who donated the use of the Casino, and other courtesies: to the Scotia Restaurant and Harold Hew Scott's Restaurant, and Harold Hew Scott's Restaurant, to the ticket sellers who gave their time, and to all those who cheerfully loaned their cars. Music was furnished by Charlie Longmire's Orchestra.

Local and Personal

Mrs. Eugenie LeBlanc returned to Comeauville Friday after spending two weeks in Digby, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. William Theriault, and Mrs. George Muise.

Reserve Wednesday, July 11, for the Lawn Party to be held at Miss Rose Turnbull, in aid of the Tennis Club. Tea cups read: Home Cooking for sale. If stormy will be held Thursday.

The concert of choruses, quartettes, duets and instrumental music given in the Digby Baptist church, on Sunday, June 23rd, by a special male choir, will be repeated in the Hill Grove Baptist church, on Tuesday evening next. Silver collection.

Capt. Simon Theriault, formerly of East Ferry but now of Gloucester, master of the fishing schooner American, completed his third trip of the season last week, when he docked at the Port of Digby, with 18,000 pounds of halibut and 17,000 pounds of salt cod. The halibut sold in that city for 20 cents per pound.

The United Church Garden Party will be held on Thursday, August 9th. Dr. Harry Eaves, of the Port of Digby, and son Clifford, were guests of the doctor's father, B. Eaves, on Sunday, en route to Yarmouth to attend the Medical Association meeting.

The Misses Elizabeth and Frances Harvey, who accompanied them, were given the degree of Master of Arts. Miss Robbins is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Robbins. Mrs. Robbins was formerly Miss Janet Cowan of Digby.

Silas Parke still has his legs—but not his pants—as a result of a peculiar accident in Warner's mill recently. In some manner, Mr. Parke's clothing became tangled in a piece of machinery. His pants were torn from him—and he found himself seated in a remote section of the building—minus his trousers. Outside of a few minor bruises, his dignity was all that suffered and his legs were all right.

The Digby Kiwanians commenced Tuesday to hold their weekly luncheon at the Pines Hotel and will return to the Princess Helen in the fall. On Tuesday Prof. J. S. Comeau, of the Normal College, Truro, was guest speaker. He took as his subject, "The Political Situation in France," and explained many of the differences between the French constitution and ours. ## No Action Taken Yet in Bragg Case

No action has been taken by the town authorities on the Bragg case. Bragg, through his solicitor, R. W. E. Landry, of Yarmouth, asks the town to refund him the money he paid in for licenses during the past two years, and also to refund the fine of $15 and costs imposed upon him for peddling meat without a license this year. Licenses were jumped to $35 for transient meat peddlers, and for a number of years, have been paying the town an annual license of $7.50. The peddlers contend that the town has no authority to charge them a license, and Bragg is threatening to bring action against the town for the license money he has paid in.

DIGBY COUNTY GIRL RECEIVES PRESENT

On Tuesday evening of last week the members of the B. Y. P. U. and several of the older members of the Baptist church, at Hampton—fifty in all including Pastor Sippell and his wife—gathered at the home of the president, Mrs. Vernon Dunn, in honor of the teacher, Miss Edith Gidney, of Sandy Cove, who has taught there the past two years, and was an active and valued member of the B. Y. P. U. During the evening Miss Gidney was presented with a camera and a sum of money in appreciation of her services in the church and B. Y. P. U. She responded very fittingly. A very pleasant evening was spent with music and social intercourse. Refreshments were served with prayer by the pastor and best wishes from all for Miss Gidney.

Cyril Merkel is visiting A. Merkel, in Halifax.

Miss Edith Lynch has returned home after spending some time in the U. S. Army.

Marriages

Ryan-Codwell

A very quiet wedding was solemnized in the Digby Baptist church at 6:30 Sunday evening, when Marion J. Codwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolbert, Elgin Codwell, Gaspeaux, became the bride of George Clifford Ryan, of Digby. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. E. Bishop, pastor of the Digby Baptist church. The bride and groom were attended by Mrs. Eleanor Wood and George Winfield. Mrs. Ryan has been a valued employee in the office of H. T. Warne for many years. They left immediately after the ceremony for points in King's County and along the South Shore. On their return they will reside in Digby where Mr. Ryan conducts a grocery business.

Briefly-Continued

The marriage of Irma G. Comeau, of Worcester, Mass., daughter of Mr. Martin J. Comeau, Smith's Cove, to Raymond E. Briery, 15 Cheever St., Worcester, Mass., was recently solemnized at the home of the officiating clergyman, Rev. Thomas S. Roy, pastor of the First Baptist church, Worcester. The young couple were attended by Flora E. Savage and Warren T. Briery, the latter a brother of the groom. The bride wore a heavy blue crepe ensemble and matching accessories, and gardenias and lilies of the valley fastened her bouquet. The couple received at the home of the groom's parents after the ceremony. After returning from a wedding trip to New Jersey, they will reside at 20 Shattuck St., Worcester, Mass.

Hymn—"Steal Away."
Scripture Quotation—Psalm 24.

After the programme Miss Fraser, the helping teacher, gave a short address on the origin of "Our Flag." This was followed by a fast salute and song, "We'll Never Let the Old Flag Fall." Rev. Mr. Anderson gave a short address and offered prayer. A few words from the teacher followed, after which the programme closed with "God Save the King."

The shipping of cordwood from St. Mary's Bay ports has developed into an important industry this year. So far hundreds of cords have been shipped, mostly to Gloucester and Boston, from Port Gilbert, and more are to follow.

The motor vessel Beatrice L., Captain L. G. Melanson, arrived at Port Gilbert in ballast, on Wednesday, and cleared the same day with 65 cords of hardwood for I. J. Neuter & Son, Boston.

SMALL'S LIQUOR WAS EXPENSIVE

Hanford Small, of Centerville, formerly of Grand Manan, was yesterday convicted before Stenbury, J. A. Taylor, on a Customs Act charge, and fined $50, plus costs $7.40, and the value of the alcohol found in his boat. Unable to pay the fine, Small will spend 30 days in the County Jail. Only yesterday the accused completed a 30-day term which he served under the Nova Scotia Liquor Control Act. Both sentences arose out of the finding of two gallons of alcohol in his boat at Centerville. Prosecution was conducted by the Mounted Police. Small pleaded guilty.

BAND NOTES

It was a most enthusiastic audience that listened to last Monday night's concert by the Digby Civic Band. Cacophonous applause from a hundred auto horns greeted every number and occasionally stopped the show until some particular hit had been played a second time. Al Hayes' splendid arrangement of "The Best-Loved Southern Melodies," was especially well received and the band played it in a characteristic snappy and effective manner. Fred Jewell's "Spick and Span Overture" was a brilliant and complicated number calling for solo work in all sections of the band, and was probably the best selection musically, but the great variety ranged from a slow waltz to a dizzy galop with some of the most beautiful music in the repertoire. The program follows:

O Canada.
Star Scout March—Chenette.
May Flowers Overture—Laurens.
The Scoutmaster March—Jewell.
Roses of Memory March—Jewell.
The Best-Loved Southern Melodies—arr. Al Hayes.
Rally Round the Flag Melody March—arr. Al Hayes.

5 minutes' Intermission.
2nd Connecticut Regiment March—Reeves.
Spick and Span Overture—Jewell.
Intermezzo—Cavalleria Rusticana—Mascagni.

There's Something About a Soldier—arr. Al Hayes.
Operatic Medley—Missud.
Galop—"Go"—Jewell.
God Save the King

Gordon Burnham, of Halifax, occupied his former post in the corner section with his old comrades, who were greatly pleased to see him. The Burgoyne, that versatile musician, gave great assistance to the bass section, which played in noticeably fine style.

Interest in these concerts would be greatly increased if the titles of each number were announced by megaphone, and the Director would like to find a suitable announcer; his help would be highly appreciated.

The second of these concerts provided by the Town of Digby for the month of July will be played next Monday night, at 8 o'clock. No arrangements have yet been made for August concerts, but popular sentiment will doubtless call for them.

Miss Violet Woodman, who has been teaching for the past two years at Pelzen South, Lunenburg County, has returned to spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Woodman.

Miss Muriel Snow, of Halifax, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Snow.

JOHN BARLEYCORN AT THE DOOR

Aside from the statistics of increased automobile fatalities, arrests for drunkenness, and motor traffic accidents, with their unfavorable effect upon those persons who think, another subject for concern in the liquor business must be the comparatively low rate of beer consumption, says the Christian Science Monitor. Despite vigorous advertising, beer consumption has been at a rate less than half that in 1917. So a writer in the current issue of the Western Brewer, a national trade monthly, reports that:—

Conditions (in the beer business) are considerably worse than they ever have been since the legalization of beer. If beer is not accepted by the public during this year, it will take several years of drastic effort and considerable expense to overcome this setback.

Beer has not generally been accepted by the American public because the public has not learned to like it. Beer drinking is an acquired taste. Few United States citizens under thirty years of age know much about the taste of beer, and the younger generation has little use for this type of beverage.

The chief bulwark against the encroachments of the beer trade undoubtedly is the American home, whose high standards frown upon making it an adjunct of the saloon. That a determined effort is to be made by the brewers to bring beer into the home in unlimited quantities and that this is meeting with resistance on the part of American womanhood is revealed by the American Business Men's Research Foundation, reporting the results of a questionnaire sent by brewery representatives to the mothers and housewives of the nation.

The charge of prohibition's enemies that the whole country was turning to "home brew" seems to have been thoroughly discredited by the replies from 82.2 per cent of the women questioned who declared that they had never made beer. Even 58.7 per cent of the city housewives replied that beer was not drunk in their homes. From 65.5 to 73.1 per cent of the women never served beer at social gatherings.

Obviously here is a field for the brewers' most cunning and persistent efforts. The billboard advertisements in which women and the beer glass predominate indicate that they seek to emulate the cigarette manufacturers. The results of the questionnaire have been forwarded to every brewer in the United States with a letter which says: "The American home is the woman's domain, and to us, the brewers' objective should be to obtain the unrestricted home use of beer."

Altogether the attack is on. Active telephone canvasses have begun in many cities. The radio's appeal becomes more fervent. Every effort is being made to place the beer bottle on the luncheon table. It will be delivered like the milk, unostentatiously, and even in unmarked trucks. Charge accounts are so plentiful. Every inducement is being offered to make it easy for beer to enter the home. Once inside, beer's proponents expect to convert the whole family to the habit, even the children.

The defense against this insidious campaign lies with the American women. Those who know them best believe that they will firmly, and consistently, close the door to John Barleycorn.

Hawes of Quincy, Mass., left Boston on June 17th on a pleasure cruise around the coast, stopping at Rockport, Cape Porpoise, Portland, Rockland, Winter Harbour, Cutler, Maine; North Head, Grand Manan; arriving in Westport June 28th, leaving on June 30th for Yarmouth. They plan to make the round trip in four weeks, stopping at the different ports.

CANADA'S FINEST TEA IS BLENDED IN THE MARITIMES

The Maritimes have the distinction of being the home of Canada's finest tea. This is Morse's Selected Orange Pekoe Tea, the pioneer in Canada of this type of blend. It is known as Canada's tea de luxe, though selling at a price somewhat less than most of the blends which claim to be of corresponding grade. The price is 70 cents per pound package. While this is higher than the prices of the grades more commonly used, there are many people who are realizing that it is really an economical tea after all because its strength is such that a package will make many more cups of tea than will a package of the commoner grades. Not only do you get more cups out of Morse's Selected Orange Pekoe Tea, but more flavour, more energy, more refreshment, more pleasure. The fact that sales of Morse's Selected Orange Pekoe Tea are increasing is a reflex of the growing conviction among Maritime tea drinkers that this tea is well worth the price at which it sells.

FUNERAL SERVICE

C. C. NICHOLL—Weymouth, N.S.

After two years' study of the proper equipment necessary for Digby Co. roads, we have modeled a Funeral Car that is adaptable to our roads at all times, practically similar to the cars used in the larger cities of United States and Canada, demanding instant recognition and traffic rights as a Funeral Car.

Our Equipment is valued today at seven times its value. After two years, also, proving our continual growth. We are constantly adding new equipment as it demonstrates its value to the public.

We employ no agents, entirely soliciting patronage by the merits of our service. Prices are kept down to the minimum and our service the best, with transportation easily possible to and from any point in Nova Scotia.

DIGBY, NOVA SCOTIA, FRIDAY, JULY 13, 1934

VOLUME LX, NO. 56

Obituary

The death of Nathan Ambrose Stark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Stark, occurred on Saturday last. He had been confined to his bed for five months with tuberculosis. Deceased was twenty years of age. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. F. E. Bishop, and the hymns sung were "Safe In the Arms of Jesus," "The Old Rugged Cross," and "In the Sweet By and By." He leaves to mourn his parents, three sisters, Edna, Julie and Fern; three brothers, Curtis, Hedy and Otis, all at home. The floral tributes were many and beautiful, testifying to the high esteem in which deceased was held.

HARDWARE DEALERS MEET IN DIGBY

The Maritime Wholesale Hardware Dealers' Association met at the Pines on Thursday, of last week, in their 35th annual convention and the 10th consecutive convention to be held in Digby. The convention opened with an executive meeting in the morning, and a general business session in the afternoon. Some 35 persons were present. Officers elected were:

President—A. W. Morton, (A. M. B. & Co., Halifax).
Vice-President—B. A. Taylor (Sumner & Co., Moncton).
Executive—H. W. Emerson (Emerson & Fisher, Saint John; John Neil, (Neil & Son, Fredericton); I. L. Crowell (Crowell Bros., Halifax); Roy Calkin (T. F. Calkin & Son, Kentville); D. McDonald (Dunlop Bros. & Co., Amherst); and L. Thompson (Thompson & Son, North Sydney).
The secretary is to be appointed later, by the new executive.

Miss Lydia Haynes spent one day last week in New Germany.

The Cherry Carnival, Bear River

Everything is set for the Cherry Carnival in Bear River, on Wednesday of next week, and it promises to be a successful affair. The Canadian Legion, under whose auspices it is being put on, have been working on it for some time, and the programmes have been issued. The day's sports will start with a grand parade at 9:30 o'clock, and this will be followed at 11 o'clock by a few land sports. The water sports, of which there are quite a number, and in which it is expected that a number of those who took part in the sports in Boston last winter will take part, including Eber Peck, the champion woodman of North America, will be held in the afternoon. These, with a ball game, dancing, rifle shooting and fireworks, should provide a day full of thrills. Dinner and supper, the former 35 cents and the latter 25 cents, will be served in the warehouse on the steamship wharf.

The band concert last Monday evening was attended by a large and enthusiastic audience but not even its most ardent fans appreciated it as much as Guy Morehouse's "family" of 39 children, with which he loaded his bus, free of charge. Guy invited these children in his circuit from East Perry to Digby, to attend this concert, had them well looked after while in town and even secured reduced rates for his little charges at the "movies" and saw to it that they saw the show. Many of the children had never been outside their own village before, and these wide-eyed youngsters think Guy is a pretty fine guy.

HUNDREDS OF CHILDREN'S LIVES CAN BE SAVED

In the past, before medical science had attained its present high standard of efficiency, hundreds of infants have been sacrificed yearly through the deadly ravages of the common house-fly.

Now, through intensive research by doctors and scientists, it has been proved that just as the mosquito carries Malaria, so does the common house-fly cause "summer complaint," or infant diarrhoea through the invisible poisonous specks it deposits on milk food, everything with which it comes in contact. If every father, every mother, every man, woman and child could only have this tragic fact driven home to them there would be such a crusade carried on against flies that they would become rare.

And yet, one has only to look around to see how seemingly thoughtless some people are.

Cleaning up all unsanitary, fly-breeding spots around the house, keeping food covered and cupboard doors closed, using screens on doors and windows will help. But the safest, cleanest, easiest method of killing all the flies that do get into the home is to use Wilson's Fly Pads.

For an hour or two, daily, during the warm weather, they'll keep you absolutely free of these menacing and disgusting pests. It's so easy to take a little thought and do your bit for the children's sake.

The auction of the Jesse W. Jefferson properties took place last Saturday. It was largely attended and all the lots were sold. The woodland was bid in at an average of about sixty cents an acre. The property at the Racquette, consisting of the dance hall and two finished bungalows, was sold to Guy Dunn for $1450. Harry and Joseph Jefferson bought the farm—the one with the big barn, at Mt. Pleasant, for $1000. Another farm at Mt. Pleasant, consisting of 100 acres, sold at $395.

Mrs. Driscoll, of Saint John, is the guest of Miss Kate Tobin.

A. V. Banks, D. D. G. Master, of Bear River, will install officers of St. George Lodge, I. O. O. F. tonight. After installation some members of the Digby Civic Band will give a concert. A full attendance is requested.

Marriages

The Halifax Daily Star, of Tuesday says:—Mr. and Mrs. James MacN. Wallis, are in Halifax today en route to Upper Canada where they will spend their honeymoon, later returning to Digby to make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallis were married yesterday at St. Mark's church, Middle Street, by the Rev. A. G. Jacob, pastor of the church. The bride, who was Miss Edith Marquette Corkum, daughter of Mr. and the late Mrs. Leander Corkum, of Middle LaHave, wore a charming frock of white or cream, with ruffles and frills of the same material and a white hat. She carried a shower bouquet of sweet heart roses and sweet peas; and was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Jennie Corkum, sister of the bride, presided at the organ and rendered the wedding march, and the ceremony took place in the presence of relatives and friends.

The bride, who is a popular and well-known young lady, was the recipient of a large collection of beautiful gifts and was the guest at a miscellaneous shower given last week by a son of Mr. Walter Corkum. Mr. Wallis is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wallis, of Digby, and is one of the best known of the younger newsmen in the province. He is a member of the staff of the Digby Courier, and representative of the Halifax Chronicle and the Halifax Daily Star in Digby.

The marriage of Miss Dorothy M. Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rogers, 42 Mount Vernon Street, Roxbury, Mass., to Freeman I. Davison, Jr., took place on June 30th, in the Memorial Church, in Harvard Yard, Cambridge. The Rev. B. Stanger Baldwin officiated at the ceremony, which was followed by a reception for the immediate families, at the home of the bride's parents. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin and lace, with veil, and carried a bouquet of roses. Her bridesmaids wore white, with white and pink orchids. Miss Phyllis Oran was maid of honor and wore green mottled de sol. with lace hat, and carried yellow roses. The bridesmaids—Miss Marjorie Davison (sister of the bride), Miss Ardis Maxwell, Miss Rosalind Gould, Miss Priscilla Gifford, Miss Marjorie Sawyer and Miss Dorothy Borden—wore yellow organdy, with lace hats, and carried red roses. Allen Davison acted as the best man, and the ushers were George Norton, Richard Morton, Robert Cossaboom, Gordon Walters, Alfred Shepherd and Walter Rogers. Mr. and Mrs. Davison are spending the summer at South Duxbury.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin and lace, with veil, and carried a bouquet of roses. Her bridesmaids wore white, with white and pink orchids. Miss Phyllis Oran was maid of honor and wore green mottled de sol. with lace hat, and carried yellow roses. The bridesmaids—Miss Marjorie Davison (sister of the bride), Miss Ardis Maxwell, Miss Rosalind Gould, Miss Priscilla Gifford, Miss Marjorie Sawyer and Miss Dorothy Borden—wore yellow organdy, with lace hats, and carried red roses. Allen Davison acted as the best man, and the ushers were George Norton, Richard Morton, Robert Cossaboom, Gordon Walters, Alfred Shepherd and Walter Rogers. Mr. and Mrs. Davison are spending the summer at South Duxbury.

The marriage of Miss Dorothy M. Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rogers, 42 Mount Vernon Street, Roxbury, Mass., to Freeman I. Davison, Jr., took place on June 30th, in the Memorial Church, in Harvard Yard, Cambridge. The Rev. B. Stanger Baldwin officiated at the ceremony, which was followed by a reception for the immediate families, at the home of the bride's parents. ## TOMATO A CENTENARIAN

Jacksonville, Tex., celebrates the 100th birthday of the tomato, although frankly admitting that the birth records are none too convincing. It is clear, though, that New England farmers were the first white folks to eat tomatoes, and that before 1800 they were thought to be poisonous to anyone but witches. Indians in Mexico ate them in the sixteenth century and the French considered them an effective love potion. "Love apples" they used to be called.

Today the tomato takes on prime dignity and importance, whether it appears whole, or in paste, pulp, sauce or juice. The rise in juice sales has been the most spectacular of any food in industry during the depression. Congratulations, and many happy returns!

THE MAN OF BLOOD

Every dictator sooner or later has to kill some of his opponents. Hitler, the man of blood, is no exception to the rule. Although Germans are more docile than the French, English or the Americans, they were not quite so sheep-like as to accept Hitler's domination without a protest. Von Papen's outburst was entirely unexpected in America, but its advent taught us all that something was going to happen in Germany. Our surmises fell far short of the truth. It seemed probable that Hitler, the dictator, was on his way out. His fortunes indeed may be declining, but what happened was a bloody repression of the rebellion. Heads rolled as Hitler had predicted. Did Mussolini advise him to act thus? Is this the Germany of Kant, Heine and Schopenhauer? Forty years ago it was the ambition of every young American to gain a German Ph.D. How are the mighty fallen!

From Immanuel Kant and German idealism we turn to the present dark spectacle of formerly trusted statesmen, aroused from bed at 4 a. m., and given the alternative of suicide or execution. We turn from Wagner and his ineffable harmonies to drum head court martials and the firing squad, at the command of a black headed Austrian barber. From Schopenhauer's agonized and unsuccessful effort to see the world in the light of pessimism, from its surface deep reason and the sincere effort to pierce the secret of human life, we turn to the heathen swastika, the thralldom of both the Protestant and Roman Catholic forms of the Christian religion, the bating of innocent Jews. Surely this modern Germany is headed for disaster, if it has not already reached it. It has lost that liberty which real Canadians treasure more than life itself. And all this madness both in Germany, the United States and all Europe, is a result of that ill-fated World War in which the conquerors were themselves conquered.

What of the Baptists who have already laid their plans to meet in early August in world conference in Berlin? Canadian delegates have been paying their Berlin expenses by instalments. They must be having a bad moment just at present. Probably, however, peace will have returned under den Linden by that time. Lovers of the old Germany may well grieve at the slavery and degradation of that great people today. Commercially, spiritually and morally, Germany is nearly in a state of collapse.

"ANY TIME IS TEA TIME"

There is always one thing you can depend upon to refresh you and make the daily round seem lighter, whenever you are that feeling of fatigue. It's a cup of Morse's Tea. Just now people are getting familiar with the slogan of the Ceylon Tea Bureau, "any time is tea time." Enjoy good tea frequently, at any odd time of day—Morse's Standard Tea, for example. With its full, satisfying flavour, the good old family tea of the Maritimes will never fail you. At the present time it is an especially economical beverage, for while teas that claim to be of corresponding quality are selling at 60 cents in Central Canada, Morse's Standard Tea costs the Maritime tea drinker only 50 cents per pound package. The strength of Morse's Standard Tea is so great that it lasts longer than low priced teas and gives better value not only in its spending power, but in its satisfying quality.

One Generation Is Apt

—to spend time proving that which is not worth proving;
—to waste effort looking for that which is not worth finding;
—to conclude that all of civilization will end with us;
—to think that no other generation ever thought;
—to decide that if a thing is obscure it is modern;
—to believe if anything is righteous it is uninteresting;
—to think its opinions constitute the moral order of the universe.

The generous rarely get rich.

Do your best and leave the rest.

The "yellow peril" of the world is gold.

Success builds targets for the envious.

Mercy is a jewel in the crown of justice.

Without sorrow we should not appreciate happiness.

Battlefields demand less courage than daily life.

NERVOUSNESS

We are born with certain instincts which, if they were allowed to govern our conduct, would soon bring us into conflict with the established standards of social behaviour, most of which we, individually, will have accepted. Unconsciously, there is going on within us a constant conflict as between our instincts and these standards. The individual who makes a satisfactory adjustment between the two and finds a personally satisfying and socially acceptable outlet of expression for his instinctive drives, has mental health. Failure to resolve the conflict in a satisfactory manner leads to mental conflicts which express themselves in actions and behaviour of a kind that is commonly known as nervous behaviour, or nervousness.

Nervousness takes many forms, one of which is neurasthenia. Fatigue is a prominent symptom. The slightest exertion causes fatigue; the morning finds the sufferer more tired than when he went to bed. There is difficulty in concentrating attention, which means that it is hard to get work finished. This, in turn, leads to worry and to irritability, expressed in outbursts of anger or tears.

Worries and fears can be run away from or suppressed for the time, being if the individual becomes ill, for no one, and certainly not the sick man himself, expects that a sick man will do his work or deal with problems in the mental, not the physical, neurasthenia unconsciously begins to develop pains, aches and other symptoms associated with physical disease. The symptoms are not imaginary; they are very real, but their cause lies in the mental, not the physical life of the individual. Mental health and physical health are closely related, and any disturbance of the mental or emotional side of the body may express itself in physical changes.

Neurasthenia varies in severity from mere fatigue and inability to sleep, to a condition of well-developed fears and severe physical prostration, what is called a nervous breakdown, or nervous exhaustion. Neither our nerves nor our brains become exhausted from work. An exhausting physical illness, or a sudden and severe mental shock may be important factors in the development of neurasthenia, but in the vast majority of cases, the condition grows out of mental conflicts. There is no such thing as a "shell-shock" in the ordinary sense of the words; the symptoms of shell-shock express an involuntary mental conflict between the instinct of self-preservation and the accepted standard of duty.

Neurasthenia does not develop in the individual in whom good mental habits are established in childhood. Treatment consists in the sufferer's gaining an understanding of himself and as to why he reacts in the way he does to certain situations. With that knowledge and under proper guidance, he can work out a satisfactory adjustment to the world in which he finds himself.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

WHO HAS THEM?

Some year ago—possibly 20 and it may have been 30—quite a number of the bound files of The Digby Weekly Courier, were borrowed, and taken away from the office, but by whom nobody knows, except those who have them. The late Isaiah Wilson once told me that he was not sure about them all being bound, but he knew they had been loaned, as a former manager of the Courier told him he had handed them out himself. It is possible these files are still in existence in somebody's attic. They belong to us and we would like to have them. But we do not want those who have them to have their trouble for nothing after all these years, as the chances are that the party who borrowed them has "passed on" here this, so we will give two full years' subscription for every year's file returned.

More time for the THINGS YOU LIKE

The time you save with Kellogg's Corn Flakes gives you more leisure to do things you enjoy. No cooking. No trouble to prepare. Just pour these crisp golden flakes into bowls, and breakfast's ready!

Kellogg's are so appetizingly crisp—so delicious in flavor—that everybody likes them. They're nourishing too. Rich in energy and easy to digest. An ideal lunch. A splendid evening meal for children. Serve with milk or cream and a bit of fruit.

There's real economy in buying Kellogg's Corn Flakes. They save fuel as well as time. And the red-and-green package, holding many servings, costs but a few cents. Always oven-fresh in the heat-sealed WAXTITE inside bag—an exclusive Kellogg feature. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

FUNERAL SERVICE

C. C. NICHOLL—Weymouth, N.S.

After two years' study of the proper equipment necessary for Digby Co. roads, we have modelled a Funeral Car that is available to our roads at all times, practically similar to the cars used in the larger cities of United States and Canada, demanding instant recognition and traffic rights as a Funeral Car.

Our equipment is valued today at seven times its value, and we are growing our own equipment as it demonstrates its value to the public.

We employ no agents, entirely soliciting patronage by the merits of our service. Prices are kept down to the best, with transportation easily possible to and from any point in Nova Scotia.

What you can do with a $1.00 bill

It's hardly enough to pay for a year's subscription to The Digby Weekly Courier, but some times $1.00 is easier to get hold of than $1.50!

—and for $1.00 we will be glad to send the Courier to you for the next eight months, or if your subscription happens to be arrears, let us apply it to your account.

THE REBEKAH GIFT

Among the gifts received at the recent wedding in New York, of Mr. and Mrs. Harrie T. Whit. (formerly Alison Killam) was a floor rug made by the members of the Rebekah Lodge, of Weymouth. This gift, representing many hours of labor, is really a work of art and much prized by its possessor.

It was accompanied by verses written by some of the lodge poets, of which the following is a sample:

May God bless each and every hat That gave its life for this felt mat. If hats had soles like boots and shoes We're sure in Heaven now they'd shoe.

But anyway, they have a crown, It's hard to keep a good hat down.

So Alison, please take this mat That we've been so long working at, And sewing till we're most cook-eyed But now it's done we're filled with pride.

And all Rebekahs down this way Wish you a joyous wedding day!

CELEBRATED FIRST MASS

The Acadian parish of St. Bernard witnessed Sunday one of those faith-stirring events with which long history is so gloriously decked. Rev. Arcade Theriault, ordained to the priesthood at Halifax, June 24, was given the honor of celebrating his first solemn high mass, in his native village church. Rev. N. Theriault served as deacon, L. d'Entremont as sub-deacon, while Rev. A. Blinn fulfilled the functions of Assistant Priest. The sermon was given by Rev. J. Doucet and Rev. L. Gaudet directed the specially formed choir.

BAND NOTES

Mrs. Thomas F. Anderson, of Boston, an invalid guest at Lour Lodge, was given a short complimentary concert by the Civic Band last Monday evening, preceding the regular concert at the band stand, and although twelve important players were unable to be present Mrs. Anderson made allowance for the deficiency and wrote a most gracious letter of appreciation to Director Yates, enclosing a generous donation for the Band. Other guests at the hotel seemed also to like the program and evidenced their enjoyment by a real little contribution. The boys have played numerous times in the past for the "band-stand" but look special pleasure in playing this little concert, not only for the enjoyment Mrs. Anderson might derive, but also in recognition of the active part taken by Mr. Anderson nearly two years ago in arousing interest and pointing out to Digby people the crying need of a good brass band in any tourist town, and especially in Digby.

The second of four concerts sponsored by the town of Digby was given last Monday evening to a very large and appreciative audience. The remaining two will be played on Monday evenings, the 16th and 23rd of July. A notable feature of the last concert was the charming "Gaiety Polka" beautifully played by 14-year-old Billy Christie as a soloist solo. It was heartily enjoyed but lack of time prevented repetition. Billy has been asked to play it again next Monday night. The band has several good soloists but the limited time of summer rehearsals makes preparation difficult.

Happy Days are Here Again—Ager. O Canada.

Olympian Overture—Chenette Young Love—Mawell.

Citizens' Pride—Crosby. Moonlight in Dixie—Clement.

A Symphonic Serenade—Chenette. Intermission

Dance of the Teddy Bears—Weldt. Old Guard March—Hall.

Gaiety Polka (Euphonium solo)—Crosby. Southern Roses Waltz—King.

Booster's th' Basses—Chenette. Hail Columbia—Patriotic Air—Pryla.

E Pluribus Unum March—Jewell. God Save the King

The stylish new band caps made their first appearance this week. The boys look something like real band men now, and their playing seemed correspondingly more snappy. Each member is buying his own cap, but the caps necessary to complete the uniforms must be secured by funds raised outside the membership. ## SCHOOL MEETING

The adjourned annual School Meeting on the 3rd, inst., resulted in the ratification of the trustees to issue debentures not exceeding $10,000 in all, to complete the building and equipment. This amount, added to the insurance money, will make the cost of the new school house approximately $22,000.

At the February meeting plans were produced and recommended by the trustees, the ratification being told the expense would be about $16,350. It would therefore have been in order for the trustees at the annual meeting to have given clear statements of the various items showing the original figures as compared with the actual cost. Instead, they contented themselves with vague allusions to the increased price of labor and materials, including the preference given locally at the ratification.

It is hardly believable that this would account for the raise of 30% over the original estimates, especially when one of the trustees told the meeting that when their attention was called by an outside source to the excessive electric lighting work, they had to so to that contractor, and beg him to vary his contract, as they were in a hole.

Summed up, it would seem that the original estimates given the trustees were on too low a basis, no doubt to secure the job. Naturally, the trustees are not practical builders, and they have given an immense amount of unremunerated time and trouble to the job, and also have run the school without interruption.

The meeting recognized this, by voting the extra sum required and by giving a hearty standing vote of thanks to the trustees for all they had done. Unfortunately the retiring Chairman, H. L. Warren, was not present, to personally receive this mark of the ratification.

The vacancy has been filled by the election of Vernon L. Harris; the old assessors and auditors were re-appointed. In round figures it will cost about fifty cents per annum per $100 assessment to pay off the $10,000 debentures and interest in twenty years. Against this there will be the saving in the upkeep of the new building.

DIGBY, NOVA SCOTIA, FRIDAY, JULY 20, 1934

The Great Digby Hospital Fair, the Time Wednesday J. W. Matthews 1934 Champ. August 15th, the Place Manhattan Hotel

J. W. Matthews, a strong, rugged, and deeply sunburned summer resident of Chester, N. S., who is 53 years of age, and has had many years of golfing experience, is the 1934 champion of Nova Scotia. He beat out exponents of the ancient game of every age from 15 to 60 in two days of thrilling play on the long and hazardous Pines course, to be crowned the new amateur titlist.

A native of Baltimore, Maryland, who holds the senior golfing title there and was last year the runner-up for the Nova Scotia championship, he played a steady, thoughtful game throughout the 72 holes of medal play, seldom missed a putt of less than six feet, drove 250 yards constantly and was deadly accurate with his irons. He finished up with 324 for the 72 holes.

L. Miller, of Chester, runner-up for the title this year, had a one-stroke advantage on the titlist for the last 18 holes, scoring a brilliant 78, but an 88 Wednesday set him three strokes behind the new champion for the total play. Miller, playing sensationally and followed closely by spectators from many parts of the province, was at one time only two strokes from tieing Matthews.

On that last round he had four birdies, and equaled par seven times. His putting, accurate at times, failed him at others and gave him high scores on one or two holes. Matthews was steady as a rock, took par on 12 holes, was one above on five others, and two above only once.

The defending champion, "Gint" Cain, of Yarmouth, was there, too, right to the thick of it, in the thrilling championship play. The three leading players at the 27th hole matching shots together, but the old champion had consistent hard luck. His drives were shorter and less accurate than usual, long putts to haul holes with the others rimmed the cups, and when it was over he had an 82, five strokes more than Miller.

Cain did not even get third place. That was robbed from him by "Nip" Ross, of New Glasgow, who carded 162 Wednesday and stole into third place, one stroke ahead of the blond defending champion, The Matthews-Miller-Cain match was by far the most thrilling threesome in the entire two days.

Richard (Dig) Lynch, a young player of Digby, who was rather far down the list throughout, created a sensation around the links when he made a hole-in-one on the 190-yard fifth, the only ace in two days. On his first nine holes for the afternoon he carded a 37, lowest score for any nine holes made during the play.

The Chester delegation of Matthews, Miller, J. L. Miller and K. Hutchins, took home the shield for the team having the lowest gross score with 1,304. The same team also had the lowest net score with 1,272.

Young "Bidy" Babcock, son of the Gorsebrook professional, was too excited and got into trouble in the play which died down toward noon. Playing brilliantly in the first 36 holes, he ended up only one point behind the new champion, who led the field the whole way. The 19-year-old youth started in second place, but carded a high 90 to drop down into the pack and the 80 he had in the final play only brought him back to sixth place, behind Matthews (324), Miller (327), Ross (333), Cain (334) and R. C. Duchemin of Ashburn (337).

Professionals shot brilliantly and gained several strokes on James Rimmer of Ashburn, to end only three strokes behind the golfer credited with being the best third in Canada. Rimmer in 72 holes of medal play

THE INDIAN CARNIVAL

The committees which have in charge the Indian Carnival and Sports Meet to be held in Digby on Tuesday, July 31, met in the town hall on Wednesday evening to compare notes and report on their activities. The chairman of the committees were appointed as an advertising board and J. W. Merkel was named as the chairman of this board, the "contact man" so to speak. Matters are shaping up well and there is every indication that the affair will be a success. The expenses will be quite heavy, but if the weather is favourable, there will likely be a surplus which will be split four ways, a quarter going to the Kiwanis Club, another to the Order of Good Cheer (Annapolis), another to the Indian Reservation (Bear River), and the fourth being held as a nucleus for next year's Carnival.

Mrs. L. P. Harlow, of Tampa, Fla., who has been visiting in Digby, and two children, Anita and Robert, of Washington, D. C., are spending the summer with their mother, Mrs. Minnie Appleby, Birch Street.

Apple orchards in the province are looking good, with fruit growing well in spite of the dry weather. The application of the first maggot spray was general last week. The July drop is now on and is doing a considerable amount of natural thinning. Many trees can stand it, as the set was very heavy. Apple scab seems well under control and prospects look good for a clean crop.

We very often refer to the seemingly phenomenal luck which attends W. A. Bacon's farming operation and yet they are not so much the result of luck as they are of hard work. But he did have a streak of luck visit him this week. A little more than three weeks ago he missed one of his hens, and thought something had happened to it. This week she walked back into the farmyard with thirty chickens. Beat that, now!

The ladies of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic church will hold their annual Garden Party on Wednesday, July 25th.

British Premier Will Visit Digby

Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald, of Great Britain, is expected to arrive in Digby, this morning on the Princess Helene, from Saint John. They reached Quebec yesterday on the C. P. R. steamer, Duchess of Richmond. He will be accompanied by a number of prominent men, and a special all-steel C. P. R. train arrived here yesterday to meet the party. Premier MacDonald, on the advice of his physician, is seeking a rest and it is hoped that he will find Digby to be the ideal place.

DEVILISH, IF TRUE

Periodically, says the New York Post, ugly rumors of war fly about the United States. In recent years Japan has headed the list of potential enemies. But there is another list in which that country's name appears prominently. Figures just made public by the U. S. Customs Bureau show that Japan is the best customer of American munitions manufacturers. It is by no means unlikely, suggests the Post, that many of the war scares and much of the "Yellow Peril" talk originated in the propaganda agencies of the American munition makers. And yet those same interests are selling the instruments of war to the nation they would have us hate and fear. Their business has the convenient feature that every gun they sell to Japan means greater opportunity to sell weapons to the United States.

Bernard Trohan spent the week end in Saint John.

THE SMOULDERING SMOKE

Where there's smoke there's fire. Of modern fire hazards the cigarette is the worst offender because so many smokers throw it away unextinguished.

A volunteer reformer submits a drastic suggestion. Observing that a cigarette burns like punk until it is entirely gone, and that the effect is "disastrous" when smokers, as they often do, throw their burning stubs into waste baskets, awnings and dry grass in the woods, he says: "If you can't put your foot on a cigarette stub, swallow it."

Two or three swallowings would lead to more careful habits.

In lieu of any such general reform couldn't the manufacturers do something about it? It might be good strategy to produce cigarettes that would burn out completely by the time they were reduced to the length of an ordinary stub. That, surely, is not beyond the power of the human intellect.

SHAKESPEARE AT CHICAGO

The reformation of the Chicago fair, which was cheap and vulgar in many ways long past, seems to have gone pretty far. Not only are the Midway indecencies eliminated or subdued, they are replaced by various novelties of positive merit. One of the most surprising is a replica of the original Globe Theatre of Shakespeare's time. It is surprising to find that the institution at a fair, still more surprising to see how the visiting public takes it.

Only Shakespearean plays, given by a repertoire company, are presented at that theatre. Many of the plays, not ordinarily regarded as commercial successes, are having their first presentation in America. The house is said to be selling out for every performance, and Shakespeare is doing regularly a greater business than the side-shows.

Here is verification of the view expressed by some critical visitors last year, that Chicago had underrated the intelligence and taste of the national public. Here is a hint, too, for professional theatrical men throughout the country. There may soon be other Shakespearean theatres opening up again.

THE NAME STILL APPLIES

The first name of the second largest city in the world was Manahattaniuk, meaning in American Indian "the place of drunkenness." The nearest early Dutch settlers could come to this was Manhattan and Manhattan Island it became.

SUN BATHING

Warning against the dangers of bathing and people trying to "get a tan" during the summer, is embodied in the monthly report of Dr. G. P. Jackson, M. H. O.

The report urges greater exposure to the sun during the summer, but warns against attempts to acquire a tan too rapidly and points out that some skins, especially those of children and infants, "simply will not tan."

The FIRESIDE PHILOSOPHER

By ALFRED BIGGS

Those who say a lot don't always know a lot.

Before taking offense, be sure that it was intended.

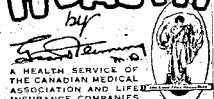

A nation's true wealth lies in the character of its citizens.

One needs a lot of strength to overcome his own weakness.

Crime, the result of mental disorder, is rarely cured by prison.

Man is not the only animal that the sun's rays will not burn.

HEALTH

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

EATING UTENSILS

The easiest ways are the usual ways by which disease germs are passed from one person to another. Most of the disease germs which we, in Canada, have to combat leave the body in the secretions of the nose and mouth. It is the transference of these germ-laden secretions which accounts for the spread of germ diseases.

In the act of coughing, sneezing and loud talking, particles of secretion are thrown into the air, and any one who is in the line of fire receives these particles, which, if they gain entrance to the nose or mouth of the person within reach of them, carry with them any germs which were in the nose or mouth of the individual emitting them. In the act of kissing, the transfer is more direct and more certain.

During the summer, there are fewer colds and so fewer coughs and sneezes; people are out of doors more which means that they run less chance of being near those who cough or sneeze or talk at close range. The result is that this manner of spread of disease germs is not found so frequently in summer as it is in winter.

Another easy way for disease germs to be passed around is by the use of unsterilized eating utensils. This happens even in the home, so it can be readily imagined how it can occur more easily in restaurants or at soda fountains where the same utensils are used by a number of patrons within a short space of time.

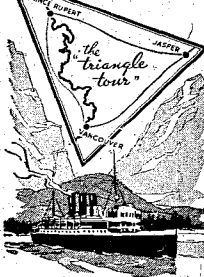

What happens depends upon what is done to the eating utensils after each time they are used. If, after having been washed, they are placed in water that is hot enough to kill germs, they are perfectly safe. If not, then the second user receives the secretions of the first which may contain disease germs. Paper cups and dishes which are used only once are, of course, safe.

You can be satisfied as to your own safety if the restaurant and the soda fountain which you patronize are regularly inspected by a health department which has authority to require the sterilization of all eating utensils and the sanitary preparation of foods. The task of health departments would be made easier and the result would be better if the public would assist by demanding cleanliness of their eating places.

There is not the same amount of danger in the home because dishes are not used by large numbers of people, and there is usually time for many of the germs to be destroyed by drying, between meals. There is real danger in the common drinking cup in the home, whether it be found in the bathroom or at the kitchen sink.

HEAD MAN—NO FOOLIN'

A travelling salesman visited a small town, and sold the proprietor of its general store an order of jewelry.

When the jewelry arrived it was not as represented and the merchant returned it. But the wholesale house nevertheless, attempted to collect the bill, and drew a slight draft on the merchant through the local bank, which returned the draft unhonored.

The wholesaler then wrote to the postmaster inquiring about the financial standing of the merchant, and the postmaster replied laconically that it was "O. K."

By return mail the wholesaler requested him to "hand the enclosed account to the leading lawyer" of the place for collection.

This is the reply they received: "The undersigned is the merchant on whom you attempted to palm off your worthless goods."

"The undersigned is president and owner of the bank to which you sent your sight draft."

"The undersigned is the postmaster to whom you wrote, and also the lawyer whose service you sought to obtain for your nefarious business."

If the undersigned were not also the pastor of the church at this place, he would tell you to go to hell!"

Newspaper advertising is helpful to both buyer and seller.

Some people with convenient memories too frequently and deliberately misunderstand newspapers and their motives.

For the sake of better business and a more progressive town, every business man should be an active member of the Board of Trade.

If you are looking for a ground floor investment, watch your step.

The advertising columns of this newspaper show you where and when to save money.

Fresh From Ovens

Located in Moncton, near the centre of the Maritime Provinces, the Brown Holder Biscuits, Limited, are able to reach promptly with their products every corner of the Atlantic Provinces. This means that the chances are two to one that the Brown Holder biscuits, which you see displayed by your grocer, are fresh from the Brown Holder ovens. The importance of getting freshly baked biscuits is recognized by everybody. Make no mistake.

Ask your grocer for Brown Holder biscuits; there is no test like trial.

DEADLY COMBINATION

To every observant person it is apparent that most traffic accidents in this country at least, are due to one of these causes:

1.—A drunken person at the wheel.

2.—An irresponsible fool at the wheel.

3.—Road hogs, corner cutters, and speed maniacs.

Somewhat the consequences of drunken driving should be made so unpleasant as to be impressive. The deadly combination of gin and gasoline should not be beyond our powers of control—and would be controlled more effectively if we were not all getting so tolerant of recklessness on the roads, so accustomed to the notion that accidents are one of the penalties of speed and progress.

WHO HAS THEM?

Some year ago—possibly 20 and it may have been 30—quite a number of the bound files of The Digby Weekly Courier, were borrowed, and taken away from the office, but by whom nobody knows, except those who have them.

The late Isaiah Wilson once told us that he was not sure about them all being bound—but he knew they had been loaned, as a former manager of the Courier told him he had handed them off himself.

It is possible these files are still in existence in somebody's attic. They belong to us and we would like to have them. But we do not want those who have them to have their trouble for nothing after all these years, as the chances are that the party who borrowed them has "passed on" ere this, so we will give two full years' subscription for every year's file returned.

THE FIRST CHARITY HOSPITAL

The first charity hospital and welfare institution in the world is believed to have been the Hospital of St. Cross, established in 1136 in Winchester, England, by Bishop Henry Blois, brother of the King. It apparently also was the first almshouse, for it issued a slice of bread and a mug of ale to all wayfarers. It is still in existence, and dispenses alms to thirty persons a day!

NOVA SCOTIA HISTORY BRIEFS

(From the Halifax Herald)

At an early date in Digby's history, the county became famous for the quality of its smoked herring, known as "Digby Chickens." From the very first every effort was put forth to conserve and further their fishing interests.

The first general meeting of the inhabitants of the Township of Digby was held on the 3rd day of November, 1784, in the house of Robert Ray. Isaac Bonnet presided. Matters pertaining to the fisheries took up a good deal of attention and the following regulations were laid down at that time:

"That no person or persons not inhabitants of Nova Scotia, shall be permitted to catch herring in the Basin of Annapolis."

"That any weir within the Basin of Annapolis, in which three barrels of dead of odious fish be found remaining twenty-four hours, the owner thereof shall pay the sum of Five Pounds, one-half of which shall go to the informer, and the residue to Overseers of the Poor, in the Parish in which the particular Weir shall be situated."

"That no sweep nets shall be set or drawn nearer any private Weir than one hundred fathoms."

"That no sweep nets shall be longer than one hundred and twenty fathoms; and those to be drawn from and to the shore, and no other nets or seines than those to be made use of."

"That no sweep nets shall be drawn toward the Grand Joggins Weirs, nearer than a line drawn from Burket's Point to the point of land westward of Smith's Cove; and none to be drawn nearer to Bear River than the base of Bear Island."

"By order of the Court of General Sessions of the Peace."

"SEA CHANGE"

A famous Atlantic skipper severed his connection with the sea at the completion of voyage 44 of the Canadian Pacific fleet, Empress of Britain.

Captain Robert Gibson Latta, first Commandant of "Empress," the passenger fleet, first Commandant of the Empress later in July, and friend of Prince, Prime Ministers, and thousands of other travellers from all parts of the world, has been retired under the pension plan of the Canadian Pacific after 30 years in passenger service between Canada and the Old Country.

E. W. Beatty R. C., President of the Canadian Pacific, and in announcing his retirement: "His departure from the sea will be a loss that is balanced only by the gain which will accrue to the land in which he takes up his residence. While it is with regret that his friends in the Company say farewell to Commander Latta, and that his close association with us comes to an end, all I can urge in join with me in felicitating him upon being still young enough to anticipate many years of useful service to his country."

Latta completed 35 years as a seaman. He started as an apprentice in the sailing ship "Arcturion" in 1898, and joined the Canadian service eight years later as a Fourth Officer. He was appointed to command in 1923, and became the first Captain of the 42,500 ton Empress of Britain for her maiden voyage in May, 1931, from which date the big liner has not known the touch of any other commander in the course of travelling 32,000 miles.

L. C. Captain Promoted.

Connected with the announcement of Captain Latta's retirement was the appointment of Captain R. N. Stuart, V.C., D.S.O., C.B., R.N.R., to succeed him as the second Commandant of the big white liner, and the second Commandant of the "Canadian Pacific" fleet.

Captain Stuart also commenced his association with the sea in a sailing ship, and his appointment at the age of 42 as the youngest Commander in the Merchant Service estimated 22 years of sea anchor.

The transfer of command took place at Southampton July 7, when Captain Stuart took over his new command, and the genial "Jack" Latta swallowed the service which included four and a half years in the navy during the war.

His war service is well known, and as a commander of "Mystery Ships" and Destroyers he was awarded the Victoria Cross, Distinguished Service Order, and the Navy Cross of the United States. Of him Mr. Beatty said: "Captain Stuart's record for his Country is one of the outstanding war stories of the sea, and his record with the Company is equally brilliant."

Command of the Empress of Britain with her high speed and almost continuous service, calls for men of very high calibre, and I know that in appointing Captain Stuart to the Empress of Britain, and naming him the second Commandant of the Canadian Pacific fleet, we have chosen a worthy successor to Captain Latta."

Command of the Empress of Britain with her high speed and almost continuous service, calls for men of very high calibre, and I know that in appointing Captain Stuart to the Empress of Britain, and naming him the second Commandant of the Canadian Pacific fleet, we have chosen a worthy successor to Captain Latta."

The transfer of command took place at Southampton July 7, when Captain Stuart took over his new command, and the genial "Jack" Latta swallowed the service which included four and a half years in the navy during the war.

His war service is well known, and as a commander of "Mystery Ships" and Destroyers he was awarded the Victoria Cross, Distinguished Service Order, and the Navy Cross of the United States. Of him Mr. Beatty said: "Captain Stuart's record for his Country is one of the outstanding war stories of the sea, and his record with the Company is equally brilliant."

Sky Line Trail Hikers

"To Yoho we will go," is the slogan of the Sky Line Trail Hikers of the Canadian Rockies for the coming season and the dates fixed are Friday, August 3 to Monday, August 6 which will be the first night of the hike. If they wish, on the Trail Ride (July 27-30) or taking part in the Annual Camp of the Alpine Club of Canada (July 16-31) and follow on with the Trail Hike. Plans at present are to meet at Emerald Lake Chalet on the morning of August 3, starting out after lunch over the Yoho Pass to the Yoho Valley Chalet-Bungalow Camp, seven miles distant. The first night will be spent in that camp and the morning hike on the second day will be to Twin Falls. In the afternoon there will be a hike to the upper meadows, to the Yoho Glacier. Camp for this and also the second night will be at the Twin Falls Cabin, supplemented by tent accommodations. The third day will be spent hiking through the Little Yoho Valley, returning to Twin Falls Cabin. The fourth day there will be a hike over the high line trail back to the Yoho Valley Chalet-Bungalow Camp where the Post-War will be held in the afternoon. Those who wish to catch train or bus for Lake Louise or Banff can do so while there is the choice of staying over and hiking over Burgess Pass to Field or continuing their exploration of the beautiful Yoho Valley. A large turn-out is expected following the successful hike of year.

ELIJAH HEARS GOD'S VOICE

Golden Text:—Speak, Lord, for thy servant heareth.—1 Samuel 3:9.
Lesson Passage:—1 Kings 19:9-18.

So I go on not knowing, I would not if I might; I'd rather walk with God in the dark.
Then walk alone in the light; I'd rather go with him by faith Than walk alone by sight.
—David J. Burrell

God's Voice Within, 3, 10

The world in which we live, the sun we see by day, and the stars we see by night are evidences of the majesty and power of God. Yet it is what happens in our inner consciousness that makes us sure that this is a spiritual universe, and that the Spirit of God may touch our spirits. Elijah had seen a great conflagration upon Mount Carmel, but duty became clear when an inner voice asked him, "What does thou hear, Elijah?" It is a good practice to ask oneself occasionally, "Am I where I ought to be? Should I be at church on Sunday? Should I be at work or at a ball game? Should I be burning midnight oil when the body needs sleep? Should I be in Canada or in some other land?" When these questions are asked and answered honestly, there does come a reassurance that one may know God's will in action. Such self-examination may lead to correction of self-indulgences and a redirection of activity.

Band Notes

Last Monday night's concert by the Digby Civic Band, conducted by Paul Yates, was the third of the series sponsored by the Town of Digby for the month of July, and next Monday night will be the last one. If a fifth one is given this month it will be connected with the Indian Carnival on Monday, the 30th, the evening of the pageant in Annapolis and repeated here the following night under entirely different conditions. A fine programme could be offered, but the audience would be expected to pay for it by subscriptions or a collection, and it would be an interesting part of the Carnival proceedings. The last concert attracted the largest crowd of the season, and contained several numbers not played at any previous concert. The "Barcarole" from "Tales of Hoffman" was delightfully rendered, and Victor Herbert's "22nd Regiment March" was a favorite. While the "Alpine Sunset" Waltz by K. L. King, was warmly applauded. The full program follows:—"O, Canada," and "Red, White and Blue."

Joy Riders' March—K. L. King. Festival Overture—Edward Hazel. Silver Cascade Waltzes—Holmes. Show World March—Richards. Barcarole—Offenbach. Circus Echoes—Gale. Hughes. Intermission. Underneath March—Jewell. Alpine Sunset Waltz—King. Gaily Polka, (by request)—Hartley. Baritone Solo by Billy Christie. 22nd Regiment March—Herbert. Plantation Echoes—Bruckton. Three American Patriotic Airs. Florida March—Richards. "God Save the King".

THE GOOD OLD DAYS

An English paper just at hand gives a "write-up" of an interesting old book which has come into its possession. It contains the reports of the whole proceedings held at Justice Hall, in Old Bailey, London, for the seven sessions from December, 1795, until the following September.

At these sessions no less than 78 persons received the death sentence. Five of these were children, aged 15 and under.

One was a girl, named Mary Thorpe, who was accused of stealing 10 guineas from her master who kept a public house in Cross Street, Holborn, in Old Bailey, London, for the seven sessions from December, 1795, until the following September.

Then there was a Thomas Purcell, aged 15. His crime was the theft of 54 yards of silk ribbon from a haberdashery shop in Hollywell Street, London.

Michael Parker, convicted of larceny at the age of 14, was ordered to be transported for 7 years. He was seen in London a year later, was brought before the court and sentenced to death.

William Miller was a brave lad of 15 who helped support a widowed mother with younger children than William, by making baskets. He stole a pocket book valued at 2 shillings. William received the capital sentence.

Peter Tracey hit a man on the head with a poker, and the injured man was robbed by Peter's mother and another woman. This happened at 8 Safford Street, in Whitechapel, London. Mrs. Tracey, her woman accomplice, and Peter all received sentence of death. And Peter was only 9 years old!

And to think that people still talk about the "good old days!"

FIRE

The exceptional drought has left many a spot like tinder ready to take fire with the nearest spark. Nova Scotia is not alone in this, but shares the drought in common with other provinces. Any child may start a fire, but the whole province may not be able to quickly subside it, and the hazards of fire need no emphasizing. One disquieting feature about some of the many recent fires is the feeling that has passed from tongue to tongue that they are not all by any means the result of accident. Any person who would deliberately set a fire, knowing what it may mean in the destruction of property and the possible hazard to human life, deserves to feel in full force the stern justice of the law, and where there is the least suspicion it should be hunted down and the guilty party, if guilty party there is, brought to book.

Marriages

Jones-Morehouse

On Monday evening, July 9th, in Toronto, Amy Gertrude Morehouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Beecher Morehouse, Centerville, became the bride of Alfred George Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Jones, of Orangeville, Ont. Salen Bland, D. D., officiated. Miss Jean Magennis, of Toronto, was bridesmaid. The groom was attended by Charles Hepworth, of Midland, Ont. A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniels, 97 Claremont St. Among the many guests present was the bride's mother, from Centerville, Mr. and Mrs. Jones left for a trip to the Maritime Provinces, where they will be for the rest of the summer.

CLAMOR OF CIRCUS POSTERS SEIZES KIDDIES IMAGINATION

BOLIVAR

AND DIXIE WHITAKER

Get ready! The circus is coming! The A. G. Barnes show, one of the world's largest, will exhibit in Kentville, on Friday, July 27. Three special trains are used this season to transport this great organization from city to city. Travelling with the great organization are 1,000 employees in addition to 100 advance men. Twenty-two tents covering twelve acres of ground house the transient city in the daytime. The circus has its own doctor, lawyer, dentist, U. S. postman, detectives, blacksmith, carpenters, and in fact, every artisan in the average small city.

The famous A. G. Barnes menagerie, declared to be the finest and most complete travelling zoo in the world, is a part of the show. Many new, rare and costly specimens of the wild animal kingdom have been gathered from all parts of the globe. Tapirs, gnus, Vlak Varks, lions, tigers, camels, dromedaries, zebras, leopards, panthers, yaks, eagles, jaguars, pards, seals, and three herds of elephants are but a part of the travelling university of natural history.

The wonder spectacle of all time, the "Fiesta of the Rio Grande," a gorgeous professional fiesta of old Spain, is used this season as a prelude to the circus proper. More than 1,000 men, women, horses, camels and elephants take part in this never to be forgotten pantomime of enchantment. Upwards of $70,000 was expended on the wardrobe. The mighty audiences which daily greet the magnificent production are among the largest that have ever been drawn together in the history of the amusement world.

Great starts from eighteen foreign countries, the respective champions in their line, participate in the gigantic display of athletic numbers. The trained wild animal displays are headed by Miss Mabel Stark. Johnny Myers and Capt. Terrell Jacobs. In massive steel girted arenas will be seen performing lions, tigers, jaguars, and pumas, all subjugated by master trainers. Forty dancing horses and forty dancing girls will be seen in a horse show unrivaled. Among the city spectacles will be "Poodles" Hanford, the riding clown, and the Hanneford family of equestrians. The petite and charming Esther Escalante, intrepid aerialist, comes from old Mexico to thrill and amaze the city. Flying Clarksons, international aerialists, sixty clowns will furnish fun for the little folks.

Performances will be given at 2 and 8 p.m. Doors will be opened an hour earlier to permit an inspection of the zoo or to enjoy a concert of popular and operatic music by Prof. Redick and his military band.

Cherry Carnival

Shattering all previous records, the annual Cherry Carnival held at Bear River, Wednesday was witnessed by 2,000 people representative of many sections of Nova Scotia and visitors from other parts of Canada and the United States.

From early in the morning until late at night the huge throngs milled about the community witnessing the various attractions.

Beginning the day with a parade at 10 o'clock, the crowds, reached their peak in the afternoon when the water sports were run off, while hundreds saw the boxing exhibitions and enjoyed the dancing that marked the close of the festival.

Arcadia Girls' Camp won the prize for the best decorated car, the British Empire placing second and the Boy Scouts third.

The results of the water sports follow:

Single Canoe Race (18 and under)—1, Walter Jack; 2, Morris Dares. Single (Free for All)—1, Eber Peck; 2, Watson Peck. Double (18 and under)—1, Morris Dares and Walter Jack; 2, Willard Dares and Watson Peck. Double (Amateur)—1, Carl Parker and Russell Harris; 2, Clinton and Fred Miller. ### MONDAY'S STORM

A very heavy thunder and lightning storm passed over Digby on Monday shortly after noon, probably the heaviest we have had since St. Patrick's Church was struck over ten years ago. No very serious damage was done in town. Several radios were put out of commission and one or two trees on the Lighthouse Road were struck. In Smith's Cove, the residence of Mrs. George Hunt was struck and damaged. A barn was struck in Bellevue's Cove, and another building in Grosse Coques suffered a little damage.

The storm seems to have covered the whole province and considerable damage, with loss of life, was done to the eastward of us.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Nichols, of Waltham, Mass., have been visiting his brother, Horace Nichols, and sister, Mrs. Grace Marr at Rosway. They took the opportunity while there of going to Brighton to visit Mr. Nichols' uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. George Coleman, and D. Ruggles, formerly of Waltham. They also went on a trip to Milton and Liverpool visiting relatives. While returning home from these places they had the unusual experience of

GEORGE RYAN, DIGBY

BAND NOTES

Last Monday night the Digby Civ. Band finished its series of summer concerts sponsored by the Town Council, with a surprisingly large attendance for showery weather. No arrangements as to future concerts can be made before the next Council meeting, July 30, but it is expected that the public demand will persuade the Council to make a liberal appropriation.

The new play "Simora" beautifully played at the last concert was a general favorite, and the megaphone announcing of each title by George Peters added greatly to the interest of the audience.

Thirty-four players helped make the recent Cherry Carnival at Bear River more enjoyable to the large crowds in attendance, and the boys spent highly of the very courteous treatment received from the committee of arrangements, and especially from the ladies' J. catering department.

A handsome large flag kindly loaned by Mr. Boden, has adorned the flagpole at the band stand during recent concerts, and served as a notice that there was "something doing" at the pavilion.

Through the efforts of Director Yates and the kind co-operation of Chief Engineer McQuarrie of the Dominion Atlantic Railway, the unsightly ditch in front of the band room has been drained and filled up to the street level. When properly graded the appearance of the street will be greatly improved.

Mrs. Harris Poirer, who has been visiting her brother, Frank Wilson, and Mrs. Wilson, Point Prim, has returned to Yarmouth, en route to her home in Malden, Mass.

The staff of the Royal Store had a very enjoyable moonlight sail on Monday evening in Captain Fred Snow's boat. There were twenty-four present.

Obituary

Capt. Albert Edward Pinkney

The death of Albert Edward Pinkney, retired master mariner, occurred at his home in Deep Brook, at 7 o'clock, Monday evening. He was 84 years of age, and was born in Deep Brook, and was a son of David and Eleanor (Goodwin) Pinkney, of that place. Surviving are his widow, formerly Bridget Sullivan, of Ireland; two daughters, Euth, in the United States, and Mrs. John P. Gresham, in Bear River; two sons, Leander at home, and William A. Another son, Frank, was killed in action during the Great War. He is survived by two brothers, Geo. at present in Deep Brook; and David, of Bridgetown; and one sister, Mrs. Louise Robb. The funeral services were held at the late residence on Wednesday afternoon, with Lie. W. H. Turner, pastor of the Deep Brook Baptist church, officiating. Interment was in the cemetery at Clements.

Mrs. Walter W. Payson, the death of Mrs. Mable Grant, wife of Walter W. Payson, occurred at her summer home, near Bear River, on Tuesday. The deceased, who resides in Malden, Mass., was 59 years of age, and was born in Somerville, Mass. She was the daughter of Wm. Harris and Eliza (Henshaw) Harris, formerly of Bear River. Funeral services were held from the home yesterday afternoon, Rev. Stanley Steeves, of the Bear River United Baptist church, officiating. Interment was in the Mount Hope cemetery.

Mrs. Wallace Wright, of Barton, has returned home, after having visited relatives and friends at Annapolis and vicinity. On returning she was accompanied by Mrs. Willy Anderson, and Mrs. Eugene Coates and son.

GREAT BRITAIN'S PREMIER VISITING IN DIGBY AT PINES

Our town was the gathering place of people in high positions in public life of the Province, Dominion and Empire on Friday last, when the Princess Helene brought Rt. Hon. J. Ramsay MacDonald, Premier of Great Britain, and his daughter, Isabel, who are spending two weeks vacationing in a cottage at the Pines Hotel. Many were at the wharf to greet and cheer the British Premier, his daughter and the official party accompanying them, although the public reception was held in their honor. Premier Ramsay MacDonald, of Nova Scotia, boarded the steamer as she docked and greeted the British statesman in his cabin. In fact, the MacDonalds' visit is very much of an occasion on this occasion—the two premiers, Miss Isabel and Capt. MacDonald of the Princess Helene.

Newspapermen were on hand to flash the news of their arrival at Canada's most delightful summer resort to all parts of the globe, news and newspaper camera men were there to focus their lenses on this distinguished party, and doubtless pictures showing their arrival will be flashed on the silver screen here, there and everywhere.

To Digby goes the honor of receiving the most prominent statesman in the world to-day. Great Britain's premier is here for rest and quietness. He is "keeping in trim" by long hikes and lots of time in the open air. We trust that he will find here the rest and quietness he seeks, and that on his return he will feel better fitted to go about his task—the biggest and most important job in the world—the premiership of Great Britain.

During their visit the party have taken automobile trips to sections of Digby County and other parts of the province. They have visited the Clare District among other places, and, as a souvenir of their daily presence during the week, they found New Edinburgh at the mouth of the Sissiboo River, named after Scotland's capital, old histories tell us that the New Edinburgh was the first town in Digby County, and that it was founded by United Empire Loyalists, who later abandoned the settlement to move to larger newly formed Loyalist communities.

Again, we welcome the British Premier and his daughter to our town and to the province, and trust that their stay here will be most pleasant; we hope too, that on their return to the mother country they will always cherish fond memories of Digby, of our province, and of our people.

CULLODEN

Miss Barbara Ross spent last week with friends in Mt. Pleasant. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mason, of Saint John, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Judson Handspiker recently.

Miss Faye Handspiker has returned home from her visit to her sister, Mrs. James Bruden, at the Pines Hotel. Handspiker and sister, Muriel, of Point Prim, spent the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Handspiker.

Karl Watkins, of Digby, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Campbell, at home of Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Campbell.

Rev. A. E. Gabriel, of Digby, held service in the Baptist church here, on Sunday. Rev. W. H. Forsythe was the preacher in the United Church.

Judson Handspiker spent Thursday of last week with Crawford VanTassell, Mt. Pleasant.

Mrs. Helen Daley, Mrs. William P. Ross and John Daley, and little son, Herbert, attended the Bear River Carnival last Wednesday.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. John Daley was taken to the Halifax Hospital on Monday, in care of Dr. and Mrs. McCleave, to undergo a serious operation. The latest word is that the baby is doing nicely.

The ladies of the Baptist church held a pie sale at the home of Russell Small, on Friday, the 13th, for the purpose of raising money to repair the church. The sum of $24.05 was realized.

Miss Evelyn Hayden left on Tuesday for New York, to spend a few weeks.

The idea of speed seems to have become very popular in Europe this summer, where one of the slogans is "See Europe by Air". Reports say that air liners which are swifter and even more luxurious, and time tables which bring more than a day's flying of London, are leading to a rapid increase in aerial-touring. One official is reported as saying "the speed of your air-liner enables you to reach your destination so quickly that you can spend more time for sight seeing, motor car trips and other excursions. Day trips from London to Paris and back by air are becoming increasingly popular. Flying over from London in the morning, you can spend nine hours in Paris and return to London the same night, dining in the air during your return flight.

Car Dropped 50 Feet, Driver in Hospital Here

Called from a funeral service, the hearse of S. A. Keen was yesterday afternoon put into service as an ambulance to rush Charles Greene, of Bear River, the well known Kewellish man in this territory, to the Digby General Hospital. Mr. Greene narrowly escaped death in an automobile accident late yesterday afternoon. He was driving along the River Road when, apparently, something went wrong with his car at the bridge near the residence of Robert York. The car swerved and went off "the low side" of the bridge, a sheer drop of forty to fifty feet. Mr. Greene was badly injured, but we are informed that from "all appearances his injuries are not serious." He was able to move his arms and legs, and sit up a bit. He was brought to the Digby hospital for observation, where he was reported last evening as "doing as well as could be expected."

At the time of the accident his family were at their summer camp at Waterford, Digby Neck. Mr. Greene is noted as being a most careful driver, and was very familiar with the road on which the accident occurred. For exact reason it is thought that the accident was the result of some part of the car's mechanism going awry.

Local and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Syda and child are visiting friends in Digby and Barton.

Miss Charlotte Turnbull left on Tuesday to spend a few days in Yarmouth.

More White Hats expected for the week end at the Hat Shoppe—Gertrude Oliver.

Mrs. (Dr.) E. O. DuVernet and two children have left for their home in Vancouver, after spending several weeks with Dr. and Mrs. E. DuVernet.

Recent guests at Fairview Cottage, (Loran Adams'), Bay View, are Mrs. Herbert Doerr, John Doerr, Miss Jane Doerr, Herbert Doerr, Jr., and Herbert Rapold, Hantsport, Valley, P.E.I. A very successful party sale and afternoon tea was held by the ladies of the Barton-Brighton United Church, in the Barton Union Hall, on Tuesday of last week. The sum of between $70 and $75 was realized.

The Barton-Brighton S. and G. Club will meet in Sunshine Grove, behind George Adams' home, tomorrow. Take your own bean supper, around 6.30 p.m., or go later if you prefer. There will be an interesting programme of sports, etc., with music. C. Smith, J. Specht and Mrs. Krausnick are the committee in charge.

The ever popular "Tam-o-Shanter" and "Trotter" will be among them at the show at the Hat Shoppe—Gertrude Oliver.

K. Kelly, of Yarmouth, whose voice is so well known to the radio fans of Digby County who listen in to the programmes of CULS, spent a large part of Wednesday in town, on business in connection with that station.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. MacDonald and daughter, Mary, and Flavilla M. Comau, accompanied by Miss Ella E. Phillips, of New London, Conn., were in town on Wednesday evening, recently visited Mrs. Emma Robichaud.

You are invited to the Community Church, in Roxville, on Sunday afternoon, to hear a reply to the challenge of the world as to the practicability of the Gospel. This reply is addressed to the church, which has failed to often of itself to make a satisfactory reply.—A. L. Morehouse will be the speaker.

The Nova Art Company, whose representatives were in town some weeks ago, is now making deliveries of the enlargements ordered. We would not ordinarily take notice of this, but in this case we want to say that this is not one of the concerns which expect you to buy a frame with your enlargement.

There will be a Hospital Benefit Bridge and Tea at the home of Mrs. Fred Graham this afternoon at 3.00 o'clock. Conveners, Mrs. (Dr.) DuVernet and Mrs. (Dr.) McCleave. Bridge and Tea, 50 cents. Afternoon Tea, 25 cents.

One of the most interesting picture shows we have seen for a long time was that given by Duncan Little, a regular summer visitor to Harbor View, in the Temperance Hall, at Smith's Cove, on Wednesday evening of last week. Mr. Little is an amateur photographer of ability and makes a specialty of taking movies of the places visited by him and his family.

He showed six reels, three were of the Province of Quebec, showing the more human side than is generally seen in pictures of that province. One whole reel was devoted to the Pines swimming pool and its surroundings, and two showed pictures on the grounds of Harbor View and of Smith's Cove. The show was given for the benefit of the public library in that village.

Trinity Parish Annual Garden Party and Supper will be held on the rectory grounds, Thursday, Aug. 2. If it rains the day following, tickets, 50 cents. Admission alone, 10 cents. All the usual attractions.

MARSHALLTOWN

Mrs. T. S. Layton and little daughter, Jean, arrived last week from Waverley, Mass., to spend the summer with Mrs. Stephen Marshall.

Mrs. Burton Sypher and children, of Sandy Cove, are visiting her mother, Mrs. Archie Wright.

Charles MacNeill, of Waltham, Mass., is spending a few weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Bell.

Rosina Elliott, Chester, and Keith Outhouse, of Tiverton, were the week end guests of Miss Grace Marshall.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Marshall and daughters, Vivian and Ruth, of Connecticut, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Marshall.

Mrs. C. MacNeill and son, Don, are visiting friends in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut. They expect to leave for home during the early part of next week.

In a little open space, immediately behind the Courier office, completely shut in by buildings on every side, there appeared about four years ago above the ground, a little twig, which, as time went on, grew and grew, until it has now become a handsome maple tree about fifteen feet high. The trunk is nearly two inches in diameter. The lower branches have been cut off to prevent them from growing against the windows of the surrounding buildings; but the top is growing in height several feet every year and the upper branches are spreading rapidly on every side. In spite of smoke from nearby chimneys and steam from an exhaust pipe close to its trunk the tree has in this short time become a thing of beauty, and we hope will flourish and be a joy to its neighbors for many years to come.

Major and Mrs. George Davis, of the Sydney Corps of the Salvation Army, arrived yesterday to visit Captain and Mrs. Selva, for the week-end. The major conducted the meeting last night, and will hold a special open air service in Bear River tonight. On Sunday he will conduct the services at 11 and 7.30 o'clock. The public are cordially invited to attend and enjoy the inspiring messages as well as the special singing and music.

T. F. Burnham and daughter, of Buffalo, are visiting relatives and friends in Digby and Annapolis Royal.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Foster, of Sandy Cove, were in town Wednesday to meet his sister, Mrs. Elma Dickie, of Lynn, Mass.

Marriages

Mullen—Hamilton

The United Church at Minasville, Hants Co., was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday, at 1 o'clock, July 18, when Rev. George Gough, of Noel, united in marriage Mrs. George Hamilton, of Minasville, and Winston B. Mullen, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mullen, of New Tusket.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, made a charming picture in her gown of white satin with a short train. Her veil was white embroidered silk, net caught at either side with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of white roses and maiden hair fern. The bride's only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Wilbur Sabers, of New Tusket, who was dressed in blue and white rough crepe and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The groom was unattended. The Lohengrin wedding march was played by the organist, Mrs. A. Pomunish, and Varden and Harold Hileigh, cousin of the bride, acted as ushers. Following the wedding ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home. The happy couple left on a honeymoon trip visiting several Upper Canadian cities, including Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton, Ont.

The bride's travelling costume was a blue ensemble with grey accessories. On their return they will reside at New Tusket.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Lockward, of Liverpool, spent last week in town.

Mrs. Harvey Walker, of Boston, arrived on Monday to spend part of the summer here.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND—PARISH OF DIGBY

The services on Sunday will be as follows:—
8.00 a.m.—Holy Communion.
11 a.m.—Matins and Sermon.
Preacher—Rev. Dr. Kirkus.
3.00 p.m.—Service at Culloden.
7.30 p.m.—Evensong and Sermon.
Preacher—The Rector.

Wednesday, August 1—Service at Marshalltown, at 8.00 o'clock.
Friday, August 3—Service at Sandy Cove at 8.00 o'clock.

The congregation and friends of Holy Trinity church are earnestly asked to give whole-hearted support to the ladies who have charge of the Garden Party to be held on the Rectory grounds on Thursday, August 2nd. The church has an overdraft exceeding $800 and considerable expense is anticipated for needy repairs to the property. Won't you come and help?

Henry Condon and Edward Johnson, of Boston, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. G. Syda, returned home on Saturday.

I. T. Morgan, of Marshalltown, on Wednesday, brought in to our office a real hen's egg—measuring 8 1/2 inches around the long way, 6 1/2 around, and weighing 3 ounces.

There has been a slight change made in the Indian reception announced to take place at the wharf, on the arrival of the ship Jonas, on Tuesday morning. It had been intended to have a formal reception, but instead it has been decided to have a party and greet DeMonts and the other explorers at the wharf. They will then take part in the parade and the formal reception will be given, then on the arrival of the parade at the Pines.

Attention

All Legion Members are requested to attend a meeting at their rooms on August 1st, at 9 p.m. Official visit of Provincial President B. W. Roscoe, K.C., D. S. O. and Provincial Secretary A. McKinnon.

DYNAMITE

How Cicero, denouncing Cataline's conspiracy to the Roman Senate, would have revealed in Hitler's oratorical hook-up, with the whole civilized world for an audience! Hitler, though no Cicero, did a good job, everything considered. His case, like Cicero's, may be somewhat "phony," but he probably made the best of it.

His official audience, the German Reichstag, roared approval. What else could it do, when the subject-matter was 77 German leaders shot in the back with their faces to the wall, for differing with their Leader?

The German public, ignorant of many things, grasping at any straw of belief and hope, added its cheers. It is necessary to cheer in Germany, to keep up courage and avoid execution. For Der Fuehrer is really no Cicero, vigorous only in speech. He is a Caesar—not a mighty and benign Julius, but one of the later, more decadent, type, himself fearing death.

To most Canadians, Hitler seems to be plunging headlong with his people toward destruction. His explanations of the "Error" satisfy only reckless followers, and a despairing public that will grasp at a straw. He preaches still more intense nationalism. He further alarms and antagonizes neighboring powers. So the foreign ring tightens more and more about the Fatherland.

The German nation may be crushed by external pressure and internal decay. Or it may expand and burst its barriers. It is when tightly confined that dynamite is dangerous. Germany may explode in another war. Hitler is the fuse.

TRUE LOVE IN TURKEY

We have never thought of the Turks as particularly romantic. Yet here is a little story that seems to beat the world for faithfulness in love. It came from Bucharest the other day, shortly after the death of Zaro Azha, reputed to be the 160 years old and the world's oldest man.

The death news had percolated to a little Rumanian village where lived a Turkish woman, named Amfe Amet Mutafa, herself a centenarian, claiming 120 years. Amfe, it appears, in her youth, had been in love with Zaro. He had actually asked her for her hand when she was about 20. Her family would not let her marry him, and forced her to enter the harem of a rich Turk, who took her to Rumania.

For one hundred years the woman had cherished the memory of Zaro. She had written to him a number of times, but he had never answered. Yet she remained faithful at heart. When she heard of his death, the shock resulted in a stroke that was immediately fatal.

Surely, some hard should write a poem about that—but we hope that our amateur poets in Digby County will not take this as an invitation.

Maine is about to try to beat the depression by returning to the old Indian system of bartering goods, thereby eliminating the worries of cash buying and selling. From Augusta comes the report that a state supervised system of barter, with community storehouses for the clearance of surplus commodities, is contemplated by the director of Maine's rural rehabilitation program. The first unit in the project, financed by federal funds, probably will be set up near Van Buren, where families are on the verge of starvation. It is said, "The organization plans to take over, civil works projects and other relief measures" and on through the past year.

DESCENDANTS RUN TO MEDICAL MEN

A gathering of the descendants of John Robertson, who settled in Pictou Co., will take place at Churchville, in that county, during the period August 16th to 19th. Prominent among the surnames of the descendants, in addition to Robertson, are Fraser, Grant, MacKenzie, MacKay, MacGregor, etc., and they include one Federal member of parliament, one member of the local legislature, one judge, five militia officers, six clergymen, eleven doctors, two professors. Alistair Fraser, vice-president in charge of traffic, Canadian National Railways, Moncton, is a descendant.

It will be seen that the descendants run to medical men. They are scattered all over the North American continent, one in Great Britain and two in the Orient. Of the eighty-eight living in the United States, twenty-six are in Massachusetts, nineteen in Rhode Island, eleven in California, ten in New York State, four each in Maine and Colorado, three each in New Jersey and Illinois, two in Texas and one each in Vermont, Virginia, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, Ohio, Nevada. Two hundred and fifty are in Canada, of which one hundred and ninety-three are in Nova Scotia, many in Digby and Yarmouth Counties, twenty-five in Ontario, fifty twelve in the city of Toronto; ten in Quebec with nine in Montreal; seven in Vancouver, four each in Saskatchewan and Alberta, three in New Brunswick and two each in Prince Edward Island and Manitoba. One is located in Liverpool, Eng., one in Shanghai, China, and one in Tokio, Japan.

COPRA HAS FALLEN ON EVIL DAYS

In the old days of the clipper ships copra was frequently carried as cargo. Later with steam it was still sought after as cargo and about two years ago the price reached $150 a ton but it has gradually fallen off until today it can only bring about $32.50 per ton. It requires a piece of not less than 400 a ton to make the copra profitable. Copra is the commercial name for the meat of the coconut broken into small pieces, dried in the sun, smoke dried or dried by hot air. Oil is made from the product and it requires five hundred pounds of copra to make twenty-five gallons of coconut oil. The oil is used chiefly for making margarine and, in a more limited way, for soap making and other purposes. Germany, France and the United States were formerly the principal importing countries but owing to import restriction measures the trade has slumped. The South Sea Islands are among the important producers of copra, also the West Indies.

RADIO IN EGYPT

Were King Tut to come back to earth he would find the night air of Egypt filled with the emanations from the hundreds of radio sets which have invaded that ancient land. Last year imports increased in value 149.1 per cent over the year previous, total value for 1933 being $616,780. The United States supplied the greatest quantity of radio sets, followed by Holland, the United Kingdom, Germany and France. The gramophone is running radio a close second with the United Kingdom supplying nearly the full quantity. Grand and player pianos came at the end of the procession of musical instruments and of 212 imported Germany supplied 119. The click of the modern typewriter is also heard in the land. Typewriters show an increase in numbers imported, mostly from the United States.

MILFORD

Miss Pauline Fancie has returned home after visiting friends in Kentville for several weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gross, of Boston, are spending two weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Gates. Mrs. Joseph Williams, of Kentville, and sister, Mrs. Freeman Carter, of Saint John, are spending a few days with their mother, Mrs. James Mainland.

It does seem that a lot of people are jumping as busy as a wind-mill trying to make politics the principal industry in this country. If they are not stopped they may succeed.

A whole lot of claims in every town never open their shells to look around.

Jim Barrett, managing director of the Oklahoma Biltmore Hotel, tells me that the only true economy is paying less for equal quality. Paying less for lesser quality is not a saving and may prove very wasteful. He further says that by reading the advertisements in your newspaper you will find the goods advertised which are lowest in price and highest in quality.

Some people not in business are hampered with such an unhappy nature they spend the time they should spend in making a living in trying to run down some other man's business. It is always a good idea to attend to one's own business of making a living and let the other fellow take care of his.

There are all kinds of merchandise for sale, but only one kind is offered you through the advertising columns of your newspaper—and that is the best kind.

Many people seem to be walking around with their heads in the clouds most of the time. If they don't look out they will be in the clouds for all time to come.

A man of seventy nowadays is past most fears of death. He cannot hope to live forever. He considers the future with dauntless eyes. He knows that old age must eventually overtake him, but when it does come he will be ready.

WHO HAS THEM?

Some year ago—possibly 20 and it may have been 30—quite a number of the bound files of The Digby Weekly Courier were borrowed, and taken away from the office, but by whom nobody knows, except those who have them. The late Isaiah Wilson once told us that he was not sure about them all being bound—but he knew they had been loaned, as a former manager of the Courier told him he had handed them out himself. It is possible these files are still in existence in somebody's attic. They belong to us and we would like to have them. But we do not want those who have them to have their trouble for nothing after all these years, as the chances are that the party who borrowed them has "passed on" by this, so we will give two full years' subscription for every year's file returned.

"The FIRESIDE PHILOSOPHER"
By ALFRED BIGGS

Defy the future: don't fear it.
Wrongful gains never satisfy.
You can't be right if you don't think right.
Don't expect perfection without giving it.
Electricity hasn't done away with mid-night oil.
Harsh criticism generally can least stand criticism.
Good acts are remembered when good; bad ones are forgotten.

MARITIME TEA DRINKERS ENJOY GREAT ADVANTAGE

Some of the leading tea firms have recently put up the prices of their lower and medium package teas so that their 45-cent teas are now retailed at 50 cents and their 50-cent blends have been put up to 55 cents. One firm at least has put up its Orange Pekoe grade to 60 cents. The firm of J. E. Morse & Company, however, have not yet advanced the prices of their teas, accordingly Morse's Standard Tea—the good old family tea of the Maritimes—which for some time has been selling at 50 cents a pound, is still selling at this price, while some other teas, claimed to be of corresponding grade, are selling here at 55 cents. How great an advantage Maritime tea drinkers enjoy is shown in the fact that in Central Canada the price for teas of this standard is 60 cents a pound—10 cents a pound higher than Morse's Standard Tea. The same advantage is enjoyed by users of Morse's Selected Orange Pekoe Tea, the finest package tea sold in Canada, which still sells at 70 cents, while some of the other Orange Pekoe blends offered in the Maritimes are priced at 75 and 80 cents.

Nova Scotia
Makes Her Own

A Panorama of Local Products will Feature the Provincial Exhibition

To prove that Nova Scotia is more of a manufacturing province than is commonly known is the chief aim of this year's Provincial Exhibition at Halifax, August 27th to September 3rd. Special efforts are being made to gather all Nova Scotian manufacturers, large or small, together in an unprecedented display. It is already evident that the variety of products, from foodstuffs to clothing and machinery, will be wide and amazing. The focal point of this industrial exhibit will be the effective and novel Nova Scotian Department Store, against whose brilliant decorations, Nova Scotian wares will be exposed for sale in a manner and to an extent which has never been equalled before. Not only is an education in our resources but also as a tangible stimulus to the Buy at Home movement, this leading feature of 1934's Big Fair is already exciting keen comment.

But it is only one of myriad other attractions, old and new, educational and entertaining. The track will stage the greatest Maritime race meet of recent years with six days of racing. There will be two complete programs of seasonal entertainment. The Midway will present a number of brand new amusements. The Nova Scotia Kennel Club will sponsor the Dog Show while the Halifax Riding and Driving Club will participate in horse shows which will attract entries from all over the East. An innovation will be the museum of ship and aeroplane models while the retained. Thousands of Halifax school children and scores of Nova Scotia artists will display their handiwork. An unusual livestock display will climax in a dramatic parade of the prize winning cattle, horses and sheep. There will be poultry and vegetable shows and many other attractions. More interesting than ever before because of its fresh industrial slant, The Nova Scotia Provincial Exhibition of 1934 promises to achieve its greatest success.

YOUR DEPENDENTS

Trusteeship

Countless pitfalls beset the path of those upon whom is laid the administration of monies or property. Even the most capable, experienced, and well-intentioned individual is rarely equal to evading all of them. In the best interests of your dependents, appoint an executor beyond individual frailty—

—one with strength and competence which will assure the fulfillment of every provision. The Eastern Trust Company places at your disposal an organization skilled in the manifold duties of trusteeship, with experience gained in over forty years of progress and development.

RAW SILK INDUSTRY OF JAPAN IN BAD WAY

The extent to which rayon is replacing silk made from the silk worm is shown by figures of United States consumption. In 1900, 200,000 pounds of rayon were consumed in the United States last year as against 62,000,000 pounds of raw silk. This has had a deleterious effect on the silk industry of Japan which supplies 80 per cent of its raw silk exports to the United States. Japan is now looking to expansion of the domestic and other markets.

FUNERAL SERVICE

C. C. NICHOLL—Weymouth, N.S.

After two years' study of the proper equipment necessary for Digby Co. caskets, we have modeled a Funeral Car that is adaptable to our roads at all times.

Practically similar to the cars used in the Newburys of the United States and Canada, demanding instant recognition and traffic rights as a Funeral Car.

Our Equipment is used today at seven times its value eleven years ago, proving our continual growth. We are constantly adding new equipment as it demonstrates its value to the public.

We employ no agents, entirely soliciting patronage by the merits of our service. Prices are kept down to the minimum and our service the best, with transportation easily possible to and from any point in Nova Scotia.

Note Concerning Glooscap

The original inhabitants of Nova Scotia were the Mic-Mac Indians, a tribe of the Algonquins.

GLOOSCAP was the Great Spirit of this tribe, originally having his dwelling on the bold headland now known as Blomidon. From Blomidon, Glooscap dominated the land with mighty words and mightier deeds.

Many and startling are the tales of Glooscap's prowess, which space does not permit us to recount here. Of the truth of these tales, however, there can be little doubt—proofs abound on every hand. For instance, travellers to this day may see, off the Parrsboro Shore, the "Five Islands," so called, which are actually the five great rocks hurled by the angry Glooscap at the colony of beavers who annoyed him by slipping their tails on the water. If further proof were necessary, observe that there are no beavers to be found since in that district to this day!

Glooscap was finally drowned in the stormy Bay of Fundy from his great canoe. Spencer's Island, so named by the white men, is formed by nothing less than the upturned canoe of the great departed. His voice is still heard in mighty peals of thunder over Bay and Valley.

GLOOSCAP now reappears in his native haunts

A BIRD IN HAND

The knot was tied, the pair were wed. And then the smiling bridegroom said:

Unto the preacher, "Shall I pay To you the usual fee today?

Or would you have me wait a year, And give you then a hundred clear?

If I should find the married state As happy as I estimate?"

The preacher lost no time in thought, To his reply he studiously brought.

There were no wrinkles on his brow, Said he, I'll take $3 now.

to greet new scenes and faces and to foretell a great future for Nova Scotia—C. L. B.

Miss Jennie Peck, who has spent her vacation at her home here, returned to Needham, Mass., on Saturday last.

CHERRY CARNIVAL

The success of the Bear River Cherry Carnival, on Wednesday of last week, was due to the support and co-operation that the Bear River Branch of the Canadian Legion (the sponsors), received from the Bear River Branch of the Women's Institute. They were superb and proved their public spiritiveness by their generosity and untiring efforts. We wish to thank them, also those other ladies who assisted them in serving our public dinner and supper.

Our thanks and gratitude are likewise extended to those who so generously prepared and donated such a large supply of well cooked food.

Today as never before, our Branch of the Legion feel that we have a great many friends. We sincerely thank Dr. L. J. Lovett for taking charge of the sports; also R. R. Baxter and all those who assisted in the work; to the boys from Camp Aldercliff and other outside districts; also the Bear River boys and girls and our fine aggregation of professional guides. I wish to say that you put on a good show and made the day enjoyable for all, and we wish heartily to thank you. The same sentiments are for all our local men for contributing 120 pounds of beef for our dinner; and to the MacKenzie Camp for 10 pounds of butter; Berwick Bakery, 18 doz. Rolls, and the Yarmouth Bakery (per Harold Nichol) rolls and brown bread, all for our public dinner. We wish to thank our local merchants for cash contributions for 10 pounds of butter; for same, donating towards our prize list. Our other friends, outside of Bear River, by whom prizes of merchandise were donated, and to whom we feel grateful, including: Sherwin-Wood, Paint Co., Ltd., Brander-Henderson Paint Co., Ltd., Martin & Moore Paint Co., Ltd., Wrigley Gum Co., Ltd., Robert Simpson Co., Ltd., Geo. E. Barbour Co., Ltd., T. H. Estabrooks Co., Ltd., Almonds, Lonsdale Co., Ltd., J. J. Davis, Digby Courier, R. H. Davis & Co., Ltd., Imperial Tobacco Co., Ltd., Everhart Co. (J. & M. MacMillan), Emerson & Fisher, Ltd., Rankin & Co., Ltd., W. H. Thorne & Co., Ltd.

The Digby Band was indispensable to our success and the public enjoyment, and we thank them for coming at so low a cost to us.

To all who helped make the parade and all other attractions, to the judges, announcers, members of the R. C. M. P., and tag girls we feel very thankful.

Last but not least we wish to thank our patrons, the great many people who attended and helped both materially and financially, to make the cherry carnival a success, and we hope that all went away satisfied and happy, and with a determination that they will be present at the next Bear River carnival, if at all possible.

On behalf of the Bear River Branch of the Canadian Legion
L. L. HENSHAW
Chairman Bear River Cherry Carnival Committee

YOUTHFUL ORIGINALITY

At the Cherry Carnival on Wednesday last, the most original booth that was planned and conducted by "Jim" Campbell, eleven-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Campbell. Acting as his own "barker" Jim drew attention to a display of model planes, built by himself at various times during the past year; also a large collection of model, made by Lewis Sutherland and himself during the past few weeks. Lew is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. D. Sutherland, of Lockport, and is spending the summer at the home of his grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. L. J. Lovett. This booth was visited by a fairly large number of those interested in planes, the most fee of one cent being charged as admission. A total of $2.10 was handed to the Carnival committee. The Legion members expressed appreciation of this unsolicited assistance from the boys, both of whom are sons of returned men.

MISTAKES
"What's done is done, and we can't turn back."
I've made "mistakes"—just the same as you.
The same "mistakes" that all mortals do.

Just a "mistakes" and big "mistakes"—Bringing us little and big heartaches; Bringing us sorrow and sighs and tears.

Some of them shadowing all our lives; Turning life's song to a sad refrain—Let's try to forget them, and start again!

Let's turn our thoughts to the future, And let the "past" with its sorrows, end; Let's turn our eyes to a brighter day, And let the bitterness fade away; I've made "mistakes"—just the same as you.

And millions of souls have made them too; We've made "mistakes", like all mortal men—Let's try to forget them, and smile again!

Let's turn away from the yesterday, And cease our sighing and dry our tears; "What's done is done," and we can't turn back—Let's bravely start down the future's track.

And solemnly strive to efface, erase "Mistakes" we've made, and with a smiling face.

Do what we can to help other men Who've made "mistakes"—to take their hearts again—James Edward Hungerford.

CLEMENTSPORT

MICAH SPEAKS THE TRUTH

Golden Text:—"What the Lord saith unto me, that will I speak"—1 Kings 22:14.

Lesson Passage—1 Kings 22:1-14.

Guard me, O Lord, that I may never Forsake the right, or do the wrong; Against temptation make me strong, And round me spread Thy sheltering care.

—William T. Matson

Without War, 1-4

The word that comes down to us from over twenty-five hundred years ago concerning the history of Israel is that once they continued to three years without war between Syria and Israel. The peace was just an interlude between wars. It is said that there have been eight thousand wars in the last three thousand years. The world is rarely, if ever, wholly free from war. In several countries during this present year there has been war. No sooner was the Great War finished than some nations began to prepare for the next war. The preparations are going on more feverishly now than at any previous time. Some well informed students of international affairs are Europe another two years. More men are in standing armies and much more money is being spent on armaments than prior to 1914. Certain statesmen are working heroically for the cause of peace, but more depend upon the Christian church than upon the League of Nations. The Christians in the world have enough influence collectively to stop war if and when they unite to do it.

A Changed Attitude, 5, 6

A colonel who had done much recruiting during the War, stated before an audience composed largely of returned soldiers that if war broke out again he would oppose enlisting as actively as he had previously encouraged enlisting. His statement called forth no protest. He and the returned men knew what war is. If all the men killed in the last war were to march down the street twenty abreast, it would take about four months for them all to pass without halting once. That is the result in loss of lives in modern warfare. Just before his death the commander of the Canadian Corps wrote one of the strongest appeals for peace ever written. He said that he knew what war did to men in the trenches and also what it has done for soldiers since the war. A questionnaire sent out to one hundred thousand ministers showed a marked swing in sentiment against war. It may be that in future the church will refuse to bless wars. A book such as "Cry Havoc" shows that the profit motive animates the munition makers and in future men will demand to know all the facts about the cause of a war before they will flow to the colors to add millions to the private fortunes of munition makers. This is no slacking of patriotism; it is a recognition that patriotism may be shown by working for peace even better than by dying in war. The many people have been prompted to careful thinking by visits to the shrines of the unknown soldiers in different lands to be stampled hurriedly into another war.

An Honest Prophet, 7-9

To speak the truth is one of the greatest tests of courage. It is so easy to omit essential facts or to shade an emphasis. Yet the men whose names stand out in history are those who have been fearless and uncompromising. In a deputation before a provincial cabinet in Canada, a minister spoke out fearlessly. People said that he was rude and discourteous and ridiculous, but years afterwards the premier who was attacked said that this very man was the only member of the deputation whose sincerity he respected. Any man with truth on his side has an armor-plated shield. There may be temporary opposition, but in the long run truth and the man who stands for truth will win respect. Micahiah was unpopular with the king, because this fearless prophet interfered with the smooth workings of court intrigue, but in the issue of the days Micahiah was right and Jezebel was wrong. Over and over it has occurred in human life that a man who has been ridiculed and opposed has after a quarter of a century commanded almost universal respect and affection.

Church and State, 10-12

How may the Christian church best influence the state for good? Assuredly not by the church going into politics as an organization, but rather by enunciating principles and winning support for these principles, by rebuking actual cases of wrongdoing, by sending to parliament Christian men who will like their religion into public life, by upholding the men who follow high standards and by fostering a spiritual life that will purify the nation. The electors have a responsibility as well as those who are elected. The church is a factor in good government as well as a party or a cabinet. Instead of saying that "politics are politics," Christian men and women must act upon the faith that politics may be clean, and may send their best men to parliament to follow out this faith. To believe that politics must necessarily be corrupt, that the animating motive has to be patronage, and that the public must be caloused is sheer atheism. There is no need why standards in politics may not be just as high as in education or scientific research or in religious work itself. It is a common saying that a nation receives the government it deserves. High minded citizens in time will select high minded men to govern them, if they will but overcome the senseless divorce between religion and politics.

The Inner Voice, 13, 14

Micahiah heard two voices: one from without and one from within. He obeyed the voice from within. The voice from without was that of the king's messenger, a man who knew the world, who would not be fussy about scruples, a man who had found that in dealing with those in power money was better than vinegar. This messenger was a man who knew the world and trusted to the play of selfish motives, but his words of worldly prudence made no appeal to Micahiah. Instead, Micahiah listened to what God's Spirit told him to do. There was no struggle about it. Micahiah was in the habit of hearing and obeying God's Spirit, and was inwardly armed long before this actual temptation came to him. Micahiah did not feel that he himself was speaking at all; it was God's Spirit speaking through him. If any of us say to God, "Speak Lord, for thy servant heareth," the words we speak to men

TURKEY MAKES SWEEPING REFORMS

Three-quarters of the population of Turkey is engaged in agriculture. Lack of railways and other means of transport has prevented Turkey from developing her agricultural resources. The government is taking steps to remedy this, according to the Agricultural Department of the Canadian National Railways. Turkey is another country which has gone in for increased production in wheat there being an increase of 377,000 bushels produced in 1933 over the previous year. Production of tobacco has been more than doubled. The present government of Turkey is modernizing that country, has taken up the education of agricultural institutions and has sent abroad 100 professors and students to gain knowledge of this branch. A modern agricultural institute has recently been founded in Ankara, composed of four faculties, natural sciences, agriculture, veterinary surgery and agricultural industry, with foreign experts as professors. Twenty-two other agricultural institutes of lesser importance complete the organization for higher instruction. There are four institutions for secondary instruction, and five schools of agriculture along with several schools of agricultural mechanics.

Many other notable reforms in the internal and political economy of Turkey are the abolition of the Caliphate and the "cheri" tribunals which took place in 1904. Followed the next year by suppression of the law, the traditional headgear of Turkey, and the adoption of international time and calendar. The next year round the promulgation of new civil, penal and commercial codes based on those of Switzerland, Italy and Germany. Two years later the Latin alphabet was adopted and in 1933 Istanbul University was re-founded. On January 1st this year the metric system of weights and measures came into force. Compulsory free primary education has been established, secondary education has been reorganized and the women have been emancipated. All of this is a stupendous undertaking when one considers the centuries that the ancient customs and usages held sway.

INDIAN CARNIVAL PROVED A GREAT SUCCESS

Colorful Scenes Mark Arrival of Champlain's Good Ship "The Jonas"

From small beginnings great things are born—and this is especially true of the big spectacular Indian Carnival that took place at Annapolis Royal on Monday and at Digby on Tuesday. Desiring to awaken the spirit of the Indians at the reservation at Bear River, Rev. Leo Murphy undertook last year to arrange a carnival that would depict the age-old customs of the Mic-Macs, together with their Indian sports, games and such. The presentation was a success and seeing the possibilities of such an event, the Kiwanis Club of Digby and the Order of Good Cheer at Annapolis joined with Father Murphy and Chief John Paul, with the result that the historic features of Annapolis and Digby were added to a remarkable pageant of the whole arranged. Mic-Mac Indians from Bear River, Lequille, Shubenacadie, Hectanooga, Cambridge, and even from Prince Edward Island, entered into the spirit of the occasion, with the result that two hundred of them in the full regalia of their tribe, took part in every event from early morning to late at night. To depict the early days of Western Nova Scotia twenty descendants of the original Acadians were gathered together, as were also about two hundred of the Loyalist descendants, and these, in the costumes of those early days, were put under the pageant director—Miss Daisy Foster—and the whole affair brought into one big living picture of the exciting days of those early beginnings in this section. Once under way both towns united to make it the first big pageant to be produced hereabouts and the result was—the big Indian Carnival. Indian villages were built with fidelity. Champlain's ship Jonas was reproduced; sport events were carried out; historic features carefully portrayed. It was a good show and favored with delightful weather. Such events tend to arouse interest in our province—tend to advertise our province to the tourist. A great many witnessed it; they will go away and tell others of the unique feature they saw here. Let us make our Western Nova Scotia attractions known to all the world and we will benefit by it.

Thousands flocked to Annapolis Royal and Digby to witness the re-enacting of historical scenes from Nova Scotia's past, and to enjoy the many land and water sports. The event was one of the greatest successes of its kind Western Nova Scotia has ever seen. Ancient days lived once more. Champlain and DeMonts again sailed up the Annapolis Basin to found a settlement of hardy adventurers. As in the seventeenth century the Mic-Mac Indians were on hand to greet the strangers from Old France, and the romance of early days was effectively re-created.

The first day's programme was at Annapolis Royal. Champlain's ship, the Jonas, left Digby early in the morning to sail up the Basin to Canada's oldest town; thousands were on hand to greet this picturesque craft, which sailed up the Basin just as the original Jonas did three centuries ago. The Jonas was one of the big attractions and the excellent workmanship of the replica evoked much favorable comment. Capt. Krans is to be congratulated on his master-piece.

ESCAPED DEATH IN SUNDAY'S AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS

George Delaney, of Central Grove, narrowly escaped death in an auto accident at East Ferry, on Sunday morning, when the truck he was driving plunged off a forty-foot embankment into Pettie Passage. At Bear River, some 300 yards from the Moose Hollow Bridge, the scene of last Thursday's accident when Chas. Greene almost lost his life, another car left the bank and started on its plunge towards the river with its six passengers. Two hemlock trees stopped the vehicle in its descent, thus saving it from falling into the river below, where escape would have been almost impossible.

Although the occupants of both cars were badly shaken up, they got off very lightly as far as actual bodily injuries were concerned. Some cuts and scratches which required medical attention but nothing of a major injury.

Mrs. B. Blatt (Ida Webber), of Revere, Mass., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Webber.

The party then proceeded to DeMonts' monument towering over the scene and placed thereon a wreath of flowers. The scene of the arrival has seldom been surpassed in Canadian pageantry and the natural beauty of the historic surroundings, the faithfulness of detail in the costumes of Champlain, DeMonts, Poutreacourt and other members of the court, all combined to form a picture not soon to be forgotten. The party then marched to the parade ground, followed by the Indians in their paint, feathers, beads and bright garments. There, on a platform surrounded by trees of the forest, were grouped the mayor and members of the council, with a dozen ladies gowned in quaint silks and satins of by-gone days.

After Mayor Owen had welcomed the party each of the ladies advanced and curtised gracefully to the visitors. The party then marched to the town hall where dinner was served by the Order of Good Cheer after the manner of Champlain's club 300 years ago. Among the speakers were Mr. Brooks, of the Eastern S.S. Co., A. T. Smith, of the D. A. R., Hon. F. B. McDurdy, of Halifax, Rev. Leo Murphy and the chief of the Mic-Macs.

The afternoon was devoted to the land sports which took place at the foot of a slope—adjoining the marsh—another setting of picturesque charm with the unique and colorful sports of the Indians enacted before the crowds on the hill side.

The Annapolis Regimental Band played for the opening parade of the Indians in costume and prizes were awarded to Chief Paul, John McEwan, Levi Brooks, James Pictou, and Bill Gehu.

Kettle Belling Contest—Peter Michael, Lewis Pictou.

Log Chopping—James Harlowe, Edor Peck, Charles Harlowe.

Crosscut Sawing—Edor Peck, Chas. Harlowe.

Tue-o-War—Bear River team.

Moose Calling—John McEwan, John Muise, Levi Brooks.

Step Dancing—Denny Brooks, Levi Sack.

Other features included step dances by the various reservations; tug-of-war and dancing by D. Bradford, of Cambridge, fiddling by Joseph Penell, singing in both English and Mic-Mac and many unusual attractions.

Most interesting was the crowning of the Mic-Mac princess, Miss Hazel Paul, of Lequille—the Indians all grouped around her singing their native songs and the crowning being performed by Matt Pictou, aged 98 years, and the feather presented by Silvi Pictou. The affair closed with the presentation of prizes and gifts to the various chiefs. A band concert preceded the pageant which was followed by a dance in the town hall.

Tuesday in Digby

Digby was visited by thousands of people for the second day of the Carnival. The Jonas again cast anchor in the waters of the Basin: Champlain, DeMonts, Poutreacourt, Les Carbot, Pontgrave and others visited Digby where they were accorded a reception by Mayor Shortliffe and the Digby town council.

At Green Point hundreds of Mic-Macs coming from all parts of the province, were encamped in their

KIWANIANS HEAR OLD DIGBY PASTOR

What the world needs is six Ramsay MacDonalds, said Rev. T. S. Roy, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church, Worcester, Mass., in his address to the Digby Kiwanis Club and their friends, at the weekly luncheon, at the Pines Hotel, on Tuesday.

Dr. Roy's first charge was the Digby Baptist church, which body he served twenty-one years ago. He mentioned particularly the celebration in honor of DeMonts and Champlain, which he said, was very fitting in such times as these, for the early explorers and adventurers are not sons of prosperity.

His mention of Ramsay MacDonald was in connection with world peace and governments. He said the world needed men like Ramsay MacDonald, if there were more MacDonalds in the world; peace would be assured.

In his reference to Democracy, he stated "It is difficult to get an A1 government with C3 politicians."

P. W. Hodsworth, past president of the Club, extended thanks on behalf of the Club, to Dr. Roy for his splendid address. Rev. Father Murphy also extended his personal thanks to the members of the Digby Kiwanis Club for their co-operation in putting across the Indian Carnival and Sports Meet.

Harry Murphy, of Halifax, was among the guests present. He extended greetings from the Halifax Kiwanis Club and spoke briefly on Kiwanis Convention to be held in in Halifax this fall.

At the luncheon last week Dr. Hodsword was the speaker and E. C. Sollows was chairman.

AN IDEAL SPOT

The Gloucester, Mass., Daily Times, in a recent issue, editorially remarked: "Montague Norman, Head of the Bank of England, and Ramsay MacDonald, prime minister, are both summing down to the eastward of us—or soon will be! Most of us know that noble scene at Digby where the premier is resting. Going across the Bay of Fundy from Saint John, as Mr. MacDonald did last week, the traveler on the packet sees the high Nova Scotia coast slowly rising. At last a crack in it appears. Digby 'Cut'! The local passes through, into the calm waters of the Annapolis Basin stretching northward. No more restful scene could be found to won the conscientious head of the British Empire to forget his own ill health and the tremendous cares upon him."

SALT FISH TRADE OF BRITISH MALAYA

The dried salt fish trade of British Malaya presents a peculiar anomaly. In the Netherlands India, British India, Ceylon and South China are large shippers of dried salt fish to British Malaya, chiefly to the main port of Singapore, where they are large buyers of this commodity from that colony. The British Resources Department of the Canadian National Railways. The reason for this is that all of the countries mentioned, including British Malaya, being tropical and semi-tropical, are forced to ship part of their fish catches to other neighboring markets where it is in a consumable condition. The climate causing the fish to deteriorate rapidly. The local production of British Malaya is estimated at approximately 75,000 tons of fresh fish annually and of this quantity 30 per cent is consumed in the fresh state, 20 per cent by Chinese population for home and quick feed or as a fertilizer, and the remaining 50 per cent is dried and salted for local consumption and for export. British Malaya imported during 1933 40,000 tons of dried salt fish of which only a little over 4,500 tons were consumed locally. An important feature in the export of dried salt fish to British Malaya, in addition to that of drying, is the method of cutting the fish, which is to split it down the back, detach the backbone from the belly and leave it attached to one side of the fish and allow the head to remain. The reason for leaving the bone and head attached is that they are used in the preparation of soups. The imported fish is heavily salted, containing approximately ten per cent salt. Some of the fish would be considered unfit for human consumption in Canada and, in addition to being heavily salted it is strong and in many cases badly broken up. This fish is sold more cheaply than the rest and is used mainly by the lower class as a condiment with rice. For many years Canadian dried fish has been reaching British Malaya, by way of Hong Kong and the China market, being exported to Singapore. It is considered that a better chance is offered to enter the British Malaya market by Canadian exporters dealing direct with Singapore dealers. The most suitable Canadian varieties of dried salt fish for the British Malaya market are herring, squid, mackerel and, perhaps, cod.

A government official says the church is a financial failure. It isn't as great a financial failure as the government would be if it were run by voluntary contributions.

COL. HUBBARD, PUBLICIST, TO VISIT NOVA SCOTIA

Col. and Mrs. Walter Whiteley Hubbard, book artists and writers of Brooklyn, New York, arrived in Yarmouth on Tuesday for a visit of ten days in this province.

Col. Hubbard, former U. S. magazine and newspaper publisher, and a former staff executive of the Canadian City Bureau of Toronto, is a World War veteran, having served overseas with both the heavy artillery and signal-aviation corps units of the United States Army. He was, at that time, the only enlisted man to be assigned to front line duty as both an artist and a photographer, and was decorated by the State of New Hampshire for his work. For some time he was attached to the British and Canadian troops in Flanders.

The couple plan to visit Digby, Annapolis Royal, Kentville and Halifax before their return to New York. Mr. Hubbard, formerly of Columbia University, and a city librarian, hopes to be able to visit several of Nova Scotia's public libraries. Col. Hubbard, a travel lecturer and radio speaker, is at present the only public relations counsel in the United States devoting his entire time to travel, hotel and resorts promotions. As a boy, Col. Hubbard lived with relatives in Saskatchewan, in the tiny town of Tantallon. During the World War he sailed from Halifax harbor with a Canadian convoy, landing in Glasgow, Scotland, with the first contingent of United States troops to reach Scotland. He is at present conducting a campaign in the New England and Middle Atlantic States to get motor tourists to visit Nova Scotia, having been a former Director of Public Relations for the American Automobile Association and at present representing the Canadian Pacific and Dominion Atlantic Railways in his work.

John Garland Pollard says: "Equality of all religions before the law is firmly established throughout the Nation, but it is not completely enthroned in the hearts of all the people. There was a religious tyranny in law now happily passed away, but there still remains in all of its crevices a tyranny which estranges condemns and denounces men on account of their religious affiliations. I need hardly remind you that in many American communities membership in some religious sects still constitutes a social, political and business handicap. Conversely, membership in other sects is considered an asset. Wherever public sentiment allows such a condition to prevail, the spirit of religious liberty is dead. "I can exercise my rights of property and my rights of person without the slightest criticism anywhere in this country, but there are many places where I cannot exercise my freedom of conscience without being made to suffer. I plead for a broader and more tolerant spirit towards the adherents of other faiths. To the end that we may bring to its complete fruition the work which our forefathers so nobly began when they embodied religious liberty in the law of the land.

"Rights of persons, rights of property, rights of conscience, these three, but the greatest of these are the rights of conscience."

STILL REASONABLE IN PRICE

These are days when Maritime tea drinkers can induce their taste for good tea at low cost. While the primary markets have advanced to a very considerable extent, the prices of the popular Morse's Teas have been kept down to the very lowest level consistent with maintaining the high standard of quality for which they have so long been famous. While some blends claimed to be of corresponding grade to that of the rood old family tea of the Maritimes have been put up to 55 cents, Morse's Standard Tea is still available at all good grocers at 50 cents per pound package, and it is significant that in Central Canada teas that are claimed to be of corresponding quality sell as high as 60 cents a pound. The same with Morse's Selected Orange Pekoe Tea. Its price is still 30 cents a pound and at that is the finest package tea sold in this country, while teas claimed to be of corresponding quality sell at 80 cents a pound. It is encouraging to the consumer to know when so many commodities are being advanced, that teas of the high Morse standard are still so reasonable.

HAEMOPTYSIS

The change which has taken place in medicine, thanks to increasing knowledge, is well illustrated by recalling that not so long ago, haemorrhage from the lung was considered to be a cause of tuberculosis and not, as we now know it to be, a result of the disease.

The old belief was based upon observation that a progressive tuberculosis followed, in many cases, upon haemorrhage. Reference is made to this belief because it is the purpose of this article to point out to our readers that as haemorrhage from the lung is so commonly a symptom of tuberculosis, all such bleedings should be considered as being due to tuberculosis until proved otherwise. The appearance of blood in the mouth is the first evidence of tuberculosis in many cases. Looking back, other symptoms may have preceded it, but it was the haemorrhage which first made the patient realize that there was something amiss, and sent him to his doctor. It is likely unfortunate that all cases of tuberculosis do not experience haemorrhage very early in the disease. Those who ignore such symptoms or fatigue, loss of weight, or persistent coughs, are sufficiently frightened by finding blood in the mouth, or observing it in their sputum to seek medical care.

Although the sight of blood frightens the patient, the haemorrhage itself is rarely dangerous. Nearly all haemorrhages subside without, in themselves, doing the patient any serious harm. Haemorrhages which occur early in the disease may do a great deal of good, indirectly, by causing the patient to seek treatment at that early stage of the disease when there is a much better chance for recovery, thus lessening the required time for treatment, and decreasing the danger of spreading the disease to others.

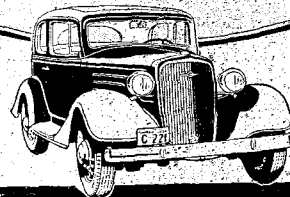

Haemorrhage from the lungs may be caused by diseases other than tuberculosis. A thorough medical examination and a study of the patient's condition are required to determine the cause in each particular case. Practically it means that the appearance of blood should always be regarded seriously, and that the cause should be immediately ascertained. This is the only means whereby proper, early treatment may be secured.

We are meeting with considerable success in our work on tuberculosis but there is still much to be done before this foe is vanquished. Individually and collectively, we can help by knowing more about the beginning of the disease, in order that those who show or who experience the signs or symptoms associated with the onset of tuberculosis may not delay in finding out the true cause of these symptoms in their particular case, and when necessary secure the early treatment which is most effective.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

WHO HAS THEM?

Some year ago—possibly 20 and it may have been 30—quite a number of the bound files of The Digby Weekly Courier, were borrowed, and taken away from the office, but by whom nobody knows, except those who have them.

The late Isaiah Wilson once told us that he was not sure about them all being bound—but he knew they had been loaned, as a former manager of the Courier told him he had handed them out himself.

It is possible these files are still in existence in somebody's attic. They belong to us and we would like to have them. But we do not want those who played on the office to have their trouble for nothing after all these years, as the chances are that the party who borrowed them has "passed on" ere this, so we will give two full years' subscription for every year's file returned.

Feel Fit. You Needn't use Calomel To Do It.

It's your liver, failing to pour out the vital two pounds of bile, daily, into your bowels, that makes you feel so off-color and down.

Lack of bile means poor digestion. Food stays too long in your bowels and decays. Your system is poisoned. You go through the misery of gas, bloating, pain, heartburn. You have a dark brown, absorbable taste in your mouth and bad breath. Your skin's unbecomingly and often your head aches. Your whole system feels off.

How can you reasonably expect to clear up a condition like this by merely taking salts, laxative water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum or cathartics? These only move the bowels, and that's not enough. You must wake up your liver bile.

Avoid alcohol (mercury). Take Carter's Little Liver Pills. They're purely vegetable, gentle, pure and safe. They'll make you feel a hundred per cent better in a very short time.

Don't waste your money on substitutes. Get the definite Ask for Carter's by name—and get them! Look for the name-Carter's, on the label. 25c. at all druggists.

Ramblings of A Rolling Stone

MEMORIES

"If I could have my wish, 'twould be to have a line, and have a pole, and fish."

The "zick zick zick" of a black and yellow-jumped "snapper" on a drowsy August afternoon.

The balancing pause, the breath taking drop, the rumble of distant thunder and the "chimney swallow" has returned to her nest in the parlor chimney.

"Splashing up shrimps"—minnows—with an older pole at the Sand Bed of the Provost Lake.

Chewing up "choke berries" to find out if they really choke a feller.

Picking blueberries in a birch bark dish.

Throwing stones at a black horse's nest and trying to out-distance the hornets.

Drinking buttermilk to offset the effect of a raid on a bees' nest in the work shop.

Turning the grindstone with one hand and killing gnats with the other on a damp morning in haying time.

Making a "lasso" out of the strips of a mother had cut for mat rags.

Making a "pistol" with an old "lateral side" for a barrel. Using the work bench in the "shop" as a testing ground. Blowing out about half of one window. Never seeing "hide nor hair" of the pistol again.

Gathering wild rose buds as bait for partridge "yokes."

Shooting at sap-suckers with a bow gun.

Climbing a cherry tree to catch a cat bird. Landing on my head when I fell. (Wonder if the damage might not have been permanent. Cat bird's foot work too good.)

Touching off gunpowder in school to make the teacher ill.

Paring, quartering, coring and stringing apples for drying.

Setting rabbit snares to catch the rooster and being caught by grandfather.

Pinding a handful of dried-up anise worms in my coat pocket.

Posing for my first portrait, with my head in an iron clamp to keep it quiet. A tintype, taken by a wandering photographer. Do you still have the picture, mother?

A black cap, shaped like a gravy boat—with long tails on it.

Blueberry fungi; baked apple dumplings, with cream sauce; raised loughnags; huckleberry pie.

Gathering bonsets; tapping trees; picking up beech nuts; peeling "bubbling," and then trying to wash off the fir balsam.

Paying a cent and sticking a couple of hard rubber tubes in my ears to listen to a phonograph; sticking my fingers in my ears to keep from hearing radio crooners.

Boots with copper toes and a horse and rider rampant on the red tops; wading in the first puddle to see if they leaked.

Completely puzzled and more than half-scarred on hearing a saw whet for the first time.

Catching a harvest mouse by the tail; having it catch me by the fin-

"The FIRESIDE PHILOSOPHER"

By ALFRED BIGGS

Anger kills justice.

A quick temper ruins judgment.

Indulgence has ruined many a reputation.

Diplomacy often arises from lack of courage.

Don't bargain with those who have nothing to lose.

Mental idleness will destroy anyone's possibilities.

You need real courage to go forward when you're afraid.

UNITED KINGDOM OFFERS MARKET FOR BOX SHOOKS

The United Kingdom offers a substantial market for Canadian box shooks. Those that have been already supplied have given satisfaction but the market is dominated by price. A Scandinavian shook made of white wood although not as satisfactory as the Canadian shook made of spruce, is competing with the Canadian product due to lower price, and it is felt that if Canadian manufacturers can meet the Scandinavian price Canadian would secure a considerably larger market.

SAWDUST VALUABLE BY-PRODUCT

It was not so long ago that the principal concern of the sawmills was how to dispose of the sawdust. Modern industry has changed all this and what was once a liability is now a great asset, states the Industrial Department of the Canadian National Railway. The sawdust is ground up into wood flour of a texture even finer than the finest of wheat flour and is used extensively in the manufacture of dynamite and cordite and in the making of linoleum and bakelite products.

ELISHA HELPS THE NEEDY

Golden Text:—"Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."—Matthew 25:40.

Lesson Passage—II Kings: 1:7, 42-44.

He is a path, if any be misled:

He is a path, if any be misled: If any chance to hunger, Elisha is bread: If any be a bondsman, He is free: If any be but weak, how steadfast is He!

To dead men like He is, to sick men He is a path, if any be misled:

To blind men sight, and to the needy wealth: A pleasure without loss, a treasure without stealth.

—Giles Fletcher

Cruel Poverty

Many religious workers have had to live living bordering upon the poverty line. Their remuneration has been small and sometimes uncertain. This condition is difficult enough while the breadwinner remains alive, but after his death a widow and children may have a bitter struggle with poverty. For this reason, nearly all religious organizations have pension funds. The annuities are not large, but they keep the wolf away from the door, and remove the horror of facing the years without any income. This is a fine Christian example of the many bearing the burdens of the few. The strong helping the weak. The widow of the prophet who appeared to Elisha for help did not have even the protection of a pension fund. Her husband, a good man, had died leaving her penniless. Her creditor threatened to enslave her children in payment of a debt she could not meet. Such a penalty was legal in the year 850 B. C. Of course it is not sufficient to have religious works. In this rich world it is a vision of every worker to be assured of a livelihood. This is not an impossible social ideal. It needs only wise organization and sympathetic hearts to achieve it.

Self-Help, 2-4.

Elisha made use of the slender possessions of this needy widow. She had nothing left but a small flask of oil. This was used as a basis for the solution of her economic problem. She was encouraged to use what she had. In relieving distress it is always much better to arrange for some form of self-help than to give a gift outright. Those who have lived upon a dole without any necessary activity in return deteriorate in body, mind and soul. Governments are now planning public works in which those who receive state aid may give some return in work for the money they receive. It is much wiser to help a family to grow their own food than to give them money where-with to buy food. It is better social planning to build highways in times of economic want than to use public funds to provide relief accepted in idleness.

Out of Debt, 5-7.

This brief story has a happy ending. The woman responded to the suggestion of Elisha and acted upon her faith. Her trust in God was justified. The family debt was paid and enough oil was left to provide supplies for some little time. Instead of the mental anguish of debt the family was now able to live for a time in security. What is needed today even more than great wealth is security for the day's needs. The fact is that many families have discovered that they do not possess security. If the taxes for one year go unpaid, the family may be forced to leave their home. If a mortgage is tripled for a year or two, it may be foreclosed. When a factory shuts down, one thousand workers may be thrown out of employment without warning. These things have happened so often that there is a silent dread in many homes. The tragedy of this state of affairs is that it is so unnecessary. Consumption is a long way from the production point. If only wiser methods of production and distribution could be arranged.

Church Support, 42

In the past there has been great variety as to the methods of church support. The simplest has been by a payment in kind, or giving to the religious organization the first fruits of the harvest. As civilization advances and community life becomes more highly organized this is changed to some regular method of finance. Religious orders have collected tithes and some churches have been maintained by pew rents. There is now fairly general agreement that religious organizations preserve their standards best when they depend upon voluntary support. Endowed churches have sanctuaries become decadent churches. Whatever method of church finance is used there will always be the need of generosity even to the point of sacrifice. Many gladly for Christian work because they feel they have received the full value and are merely giving expression to their gratitude through their gifts. If all Christians gave regularly no church work would need to suffer. The trouble is that so often the minority in a community contribute the largest amount of financial support.

Enough For All, 42, 44

For large sections of mankind great universal needs have been almost fully met. Electricity has solved the problem of darkness. Reservoirs and pumping stations have provided for water supply. A motor car is now a normal transportation demand. Is it too much to think that food and shelter may also be provided without fear of want and suffering? The earth is sufficiently fertile to supply enough food for the less than two billion people now upon the earth. Business has developed methods of distribution capable of handling a much larger volume of trade than at present. What is needed is wise planning with sufficient governmental control on an international basis to remove permanently the fear of starvation and unemployment. In modern days governments are dealing more and more with economic questions. The problems are not, however, solely economic as justice, education and in a large degree religion also depend on a safe and secure economic basis. Where we have failed is not in scientific cleverness of production but in humane-heartedness more than in technique. It is a great social ideal that is kindred in spirit with the action of Elisha feeding a large company of men in need, but both incidents serve to furnish an ideal for modern government on a world wide scale. There is need for the spirit of Christ, who said of the hungry people, "Give them to eat."

Questions for Discussion

- 1.—How, in Elisha's allowance, justifying his disciples in Canada?
- 2.—What is the annual harvest distinction?

Fossilized Remains of Marine Monsters to Arrive in Ottawa This Week

The fossilized remains of the two prehistoric "sea serpents" dug from clay beds northwest of Morden, Manitoba, where they lay buried for an estimated period of 60,000,000 years, have arrived in Ottawa. C. M. Sternberg, of the National Museum, who directed the digging operations which attracted thousands of curious visitors to the scene of discoveries, has returned to Ottawa and is to supervise the preparation of the two mosasaur skeletons for exhibit.

The larger of the two skeletons is probably the longest of which there is any record. Mr. Sternberg advises. As excavated it measures 33 feet, but a considerable portion of the tail is missing, and its total length probably exceeded 40 feet. The smaller mosasaur skeleton is 15 feet long with a portion of the tail also missing. Combined shipping weight exceeds two tons. Discovery of the two skeletons marks the first occasion that any considerable part of the fossilized remains of mosasaurs have been found in Canada, though fragments have been located near Miami, Manitoba, a few miles to the north of the site of the present discoveries.

Mr. Sternberg describes the mosasaur family as most nearly related to the modern aquatic monster. By a gradual process of evolution they developed from land animals to become adapted to sea life. Their occurrence in Manitoba is explained by the fact that at the time of their existence a great sea extended from the Gulf of Mexico to the Arctic ocean, dividing the North American continent in two, and covering the greater part of Manitoba and Saskatchewan, with its swampy western shores extending into Alberta. Dinosaurs and other animals roved the swamps that bordered the western shores, while the mosasaurs inhabited the shallow seas lying to the east.

Possessing a flat, V-shaped skull, more or less elongated, but large in proportion to the remainder of the skeleton, the mosasaur was particularly well adapted to an aquatic life. Of very predacious and pugnacious habits, it apparently depended upon its sudden and quick lateral movements, for which its powerful and flexible paddles were admirably suited, for the capture of its prey. Its shape, though slender, does not suggest the extraordinary speed in the water. The teeth are sharp, conical, and recurved, and occur in the upper and lower jaws, and on the roof of the mouth. Looseness of the two sides of the jaws facilitated the swallowing of prey. Its long slender trunk terminated with a long, slender tail.

It is rather significant that no fossil remains of very young animals have been found despite the thousands of mosasaur skeletons missing (fossilized stomach contents) have been found. This fact suggests that the mosasaurs were oviparous as are most other lizards.

As geological time is measured, mosasaurs reached their culmination in size, numbers, and variety in a relatively brief interval, and disappeared forever near the close of the Cretaceous period.

The happy hunting ground of mosasaurs collectors is the chalk formations of Kansas. Here specimens have been found of such a perfect state of preservation that there is scarcely anything concerning the prehistoric animal that is not known. The character of its food, the nature of the skin covering, and even some of the colour markings of the living animals have been determined with certainty.

The two skeletons found in Manitoba will probably be exhibited in panel mount, the bones being left in the original matrix but cleaned up to be more readily examined.

Three Workmen

We are reminded of a story. A philosophically minded traveller waiting for a train at a station became fascinated by a group of workmen. Some were pounding and sawing. Others were dumping gravel and cement into the maw of a crunching gravel mixer. Tractor-drawn ploughs were slicing the turf into gleaming black ribbons. All was bustle, activity.

"What," he asked of one workman, "are you doing?"

"Breaking stone," was the reply.

Farther along the same question was put to another. "Me," he working for $3.00 a day," came the answer.

The traveller approached the third workman and again asked the question. The man straightened up and stared steadily at the tourist. "Why," he said, "I'm helping to build a road."

Freeporters are Celebrating Two Important Anniversaries

These are Freeport days! Freeport is celebrating two anniversaries, the sesquicentennial of the founding of the settlement in 1783, and the centennial of the organization of the church, in 1834. The celebration commenced on Tuesday and will continue until Sunday when special services will be held in the Freeport United Baptist church.

Wednesday evening's programme was perhaps the greatest attraction. On this evening the play "Ten Scenes Out of Freeport's Past," written and directed by Rev. Dr. W. R. Greenwood, pastor of the church, was presented before a large audience. This play, of an historical nature, was the opening scene, "Earliest Beginnings," took place at the home of Nathaniel Bates, Cow Lodge, in 1783; then came the Loyalists; the organization of the church; the old singing school—and many other scenes. In most cases, as will be seen by the "cast" published below, the actors are descendants of the characters they are impersonating, and no doubt have many of the "mannerisms" of their ancestors, which should make the play doubly interesting.

Carnival

wigwams. Chiefs and braves were there in their picturesque dress and feathered headdress, and squaws and papooses, with their many colored beads and bright clothing. Thousands enjoyed the spectacle, thousands witnessed the re-enacting of those days when Acadia was unknown to the white men from across the seas. They saw the explorers and pioneers from old France as they sailed on the very waters that De Monts and Champlain first visited 330 years ago.

Then came the gala parade led by the Digby Civic Band. The explorers in real Mac-Mac Indians paraded in their quaint costumes of old, beautiful floats, "comic" floats and floats decorated cars, covered wagons and ox carts followed. The parade was one of the most picturesque ever given in Western Nova Scotia.

A prettier setting for the afternoon's water sports could not be found than at Green Point, around the Racquette; the forest, the Pines hotel, and a real Indian village of tents and birch bark wigwams formed a fitting background for the occasion. Thousands were in attendance, hundreds of cars were parked along the way. Many of North America's famous guides took part in the Eber Peck, of Bear River, crowned the champion sportsman of North America at the recent New England sports show, again played a prominent part and carried away many of the prizes. Eber Peck, Charlie Harlow, John Harlow and Henry Peters again carried off the prizes for the four-man canoe race. This quartet has never been defeated in any event they have entered. Awards for the water sports were as follows:

Single Canoe Race — Eber Peck, Henry Peters, Louis Harlow, Canoe Bottle Race—Carl Parker.

The Pageant

On Monday evening at Annapolis Royal, and on Tuesday evening at Digby a wonderful historical pageant under the direction of Miss Daisy Foster—was shown. It was a splendid production and was witnessed by it is estimated, 2000 at Annapolis and 2500 at Digby. The colorful scenes, the dancing of beautifully costumed girls, the living pictures of past and present events—all combined to make a scene which will not soon be forgotten. A Splendid Success. In every way the "Indian Carnival" was more than a success—it was a triumph. Weather conditions could not have been better. Recent rains had settled the dust on the roads and made travelling easier for the hundreds of motorists who visited these two historic towns during the two days of sport and pageantry. As well as being a success from the point of view of entertainment, the sponsors have every reason to believe they will come out ahead financially, but a full financial statement will not be obtainable until after the 10th, as there are a number of bills yet to come in. Preceding the presentation of the pageant in Digby was a band concert

Obituary

Bland W. Cousins

The death of Bland W. Cousins occurred recently at Manchester, N. H., at the age of 70 years. He was the second son of the late James and Lucy Cousins, and was born in Westport. He lived most of his life in Digby until 1913, when he left for the United States where he has since resided. The deceased was a member of the original Digby Band, and has served this town in the capacity of councillor. Surviving are his widow, formerly Miss Churchill, of South Ohio, Yarmouth County, three daughters and three sons, also two brothers, Harry and Arthur, of Digby.

Mrs. Edward McKay, of Sandy Cove, was a visitor in town for the past week.

BRAGG CASE TO COME BEFORE THE COURT

On the reading of a letter from R. W. E. Landry, of Yarmouth, the case of Alfred Bragg against the Town of Digby was again discussed at the last meeting of the town council. Mr. Landry's letter stated that unless the town repaid Bragg the amount of fine and license collected from him, he would proceed to sue the town for same. The letter also requested that the town name the solicitor to whom service would be made.

The council discussed the question and did not think they should depart from their original decision to see the case through. On motion of Councillor Sollows, seconded by Councillor Anderson, it was decided to appoint town solicitor E. J. Thersault to accept service of any "papers" or writ in the case against Alfred Bragg.

This case, which has occupied the attention of the town council for some months, arises out of a dispute between the town and transient meat peddlers. In previous years the town had charged and collected an annual license fee of $7.50 from transient meat dealers. This year the fee was increased to $35. Bragg, who had not paid his license for 1934, was also fined. The meat dealers claim that the town has no authority to charge licenses for the sale of the products of the farm, for, in the opinion of the town, the peddlers are not selling their own produce, but produce they buy up from the farm, and are therefore liable to a license.

Harold A. Nichols, solicitor for the Municipality of Digby, asked that payment of an account of $169.55 for the case of transient meat peddlers be made. This bill has also been before the town council on several occasions. The transients who sell their goods in the town, are therefore liable to a license.

A letter from W. H. Farnham, complaining that the sewer from the Myrtle Hotel was in a bad state of repair, was read. The matter was referred to the Medical Health Officer, Mr. Harold Nichols, who complained that during recent rains the sewer along Water Street had backed up water into the cellars from the Bank of Nova Scotia building north of it. In his opinion he believed this was caused by the big town surface drain which enters the sewer clogging up so that during heavy rains water from Street properties could not find an outlet. He believed that the big sewer should be diverted to its original outlet, the beach of the town, which was referred to the sewer committee.

G. H. Peters was appointed clerk assessor for 1934; Fitz Dakin and A. R. Turnbull, ward assessors.

On motion of Councillors Turnbull and Anderson, $100 was voted to the Digby Band in payment of two concerts to be given during August.

In the matter of extending an invitation to the Digby Nova Scotia Municipalities to convene in Digby no action was taken by the town council.

SAFE DRIVING

While traffic officials and the Mounted Police are doing much to regulate automobile traffic over the roads, there is much that the motorist himself must attend to. All car operators should drive for safety, not only for themselves, but for other people on the highways. The regulations concerning passing other cars on hills and curves should be strictly enforced. With the present dusty condition of the roads there is greater need for care in driving. Automobile drivers should not race one another even on wide roads for there is always chance for accidents. We have offenders against traffic regulations in some of the visiting drivers. The safe and sane driver has a pretty tough time on the roads this summer. If we could down the dust much of the hazards of the highway would be removed. Under present conditions the autoist must look after himself as well as for the other fellow.

Truck drivers at times cause some trouble on the road, though generally speaking, they are more reliable than those operating passenger cars. After all what is needed among motorists on the roads is a spirit of co-operation where the other fellow is given the same consideration we would expect ourselves.

LIFE

Life seems to us like a road—a road that is always going around corners. And when we are quite young we expect to find something new and delightful round every turn. But the road gets harder and harder as we get farther along it, and there are often lions in the path, and unpleasant surprises meet us when we turn corners; and it is not always easy to hide and bide and keep a cheerful face, and lines come—and wrinkles. But if the lines come from being sorry for others, and the wrinkles from laughing at ourselves, then they are kind lines and happy wrinkles, and there is no sense in trying to hide them with paint and powder.

SUMMER COMPLAINT

Relieved!

A mother in Thomaston, Ontario, writes: "My 3 year old child has been suffering from a severe summer complaint, vomiting and diarrhoea. I have tried everything but nothing has helped. I have been told to give him a little of the little white tablets and sure enough, after taking them for all single child ever had. Price 25¢ every where."

Dr. Williams' BABY'S OWN TABLETS

COOL OFF
By Cooling
Your Blood

It is when the heat gets into your blood that you begin to "feel the heat". Take a sparkling, invigorating glass of Andrews Liver Salt at such times. Taken while it is still effervescent, Andrews will have an almost immediate cooling effect, because it is not only a delicious, thirst-queller, but a means of cooling your blood.

You will feel cooler for hours after taking Andrews—and more vigorous, too. Andrews, indeed, is a splendid conditioner when taken occasionally the year round, say about twice each week.

If you pursue common-sense principles in your living, eating and sleeping habits and take Andrews occasionally, you will escape all the minor mal-adjustments which occur in every normal system.

Keep cool—and fit—by taking Andrews. At all drugists. In tins, 35¢ and 60¢. New, large bottle, 75¢. Sole Agents: John A. Huston Co., Ltd., Toronto.

HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

PECK OF DIRT

The old philosophy which acquiesced in the idea that we must eat a peck of dirt before we die does not fit into our present practices of living.

It is not long since that statement was true, however. Before the time when drinking water was purified and care given to the keeping of milk clean, or attention devoted to the thorough washing of fruits and vegetables that were to be eaten raw, nearly everyone consumed a considerable amount of dirt.

There is more than one kind of dirt from a health point of view—clean dirt and dirty dirt. "Clean dirt" is the soil, dust, or other waste in what we might describe as its natural state. "Dirty dirt" becomes dirty, or filthy, and, at the same time, dangerous when it is contaminated or soiled by secretions from the human or animal body. The reason for this is that body secretions carry away from the body any disease germs which are present in the body, so these germ-laden secretions impregnate the dirt with which they come in contact.

The term "dirty" is also used in other ways. We speak of "dirty dishes" to describe dishes which have been in use, although there is nothing on them but remnants of food. Such dishes are not dangerous unless they have been soiled, while they were in use, by secretions from the body. The dirty dish, in a health sense, is the cup, glass, spoon or fork, which has been brought into contact with the saliva. Saliva is always potentially dangerous because such a high percentage of the infections we meet in this country gain entrance to our bodies through our mouths, and leave in the saliva.

This brings us to the conclusion that the only important dirt is that which comes from our own bodies, and we are reminded that we are the reservoirs of the germs which afflict us and that the only real menace of any kind of dirt lies in the disease germs which have found a home in it.

You cannot eat a peck of this kind of dirt in safety. The smallest amounts are dangerous. Disease germs are microscopic, and many thousands of them can survive, without crowding, on the head of a pin. For the forces of drying and light gradually destroy these disease germs after they leave the body in whose warm, moist and dark interior they have flourished.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

THEY LIKE IT IN THE STATES

Although the firm of J. E. Morse & Company have not entered much to trade outside the Maritime Provinces, there are many people in central and parts of Canada and in the United States who write to Halifax from time to time to get a supply of Morse's Selected Orange Pekoe Tea.

Usually the parties so writing are people who have visited the Maritimes and having carried back with them a recollection of the bouquet and winy flavour of Morse's Selected Orange Pekoe, have not been content until they could get some of it for their own use at home. It does not need to be said that it is quite a tribute to the quality of Morse's Tea that such enquiries should be received. Morse's Selected Orange Pekoe is Canada's Tea de Luxe and at 70 cents per pound is a special bargain. Some blends claimed to be of corresponding quality are sold as high as 70 cents and 80 cents. In fact, as 70 cents a pound Morse's Selected Orange Pekoe is economical in view of the high prices of the run of package teas.

MOST-TALKED-ABOUT VALUES OF
1934

LAST December, people said: "You can count on Chevrolet to lead the way in 1934!" And, as everybody knows, Chevrolet has justified the prediction.

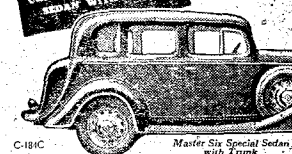

First of all came the new Chevrolet Master Six, pioneering fully-enclosed, protected, Knee-Action!

Then came the 1934 Chevrolet Standard Six—the lowest-priced car in Canada.

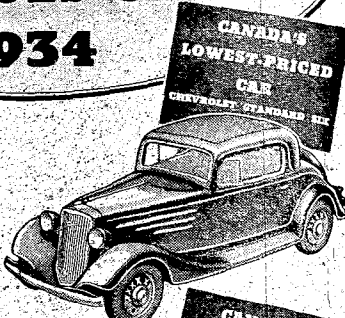

Now comes a brand-new, five-passenger Master Six Sedan with built-in trunk—a further proof, if one were needed, that Chevrolet leads its field in modern body styling.

Is it any wonder that the car to greet all these triumphs, is Canada's Great Sales Leader? Drive a Chevrolet yourself, today!

YOUNG PEOPLE'S PICNIC

The Young People's Service Club of the Heart Memorial United Church, Weymouth, numbering thirty, held a most enjoyable picnic and camp fire on Monday evening of last week, at one of the beauty spots on the beach at Weymouth North.

A grand feast was enjoyed, followed by games and the camp fire around which were presented a humorous stunt followed by a sing-song and a worship service at which Rev. M. R. Ewing gave an earnest and appealing address, basing his remarks on the subject, "The Dominating Power of Life". Taps, "Thanks for the Evening, Comrades," and another sing-song around the dying embers of the fire, brought to a close the best picnic this society has ever enjoyed.

The entire program was carried out along the lines of the evening programs at the recent Maritime Young People's Conference, held at Sackville, to give the members who were not privileged to attend this conference, a chance to learn some of the things done there.

The convokers in charge for the evening were:

Supper—Misses Louise Mullen and Kathleen FitzGerald.

Games—Miss Katharine Blackadar Camp Fire—Miss Louise Mullen Stunts—Miss Kathleen FitzGerald.

Sing-Song—Jack Hankinson. Worship Service—Rev. M. R. Ewing.

Marriages

Comeau-d'Eon

LeBlanc-d'Eon

A double wedding was performed by Rev. J. D. Comeau, in St. Peter's Church, Middle West Public, on Monday, July 30, when Miss Louise Augustin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustin A. d'Eon, of Middle West Public, was united in marriage to Adelbert Comeau, son of Mrs. Mary Marthe Comeau and the late Docile Comeau, of Church Point. The best man was Delphis Comeau, brother of the groom, and the bridesmaid was Miss Irene d'Eon, sister of the bride. The bride was handsomely attired in a white satin dress with veil and carried a bouquet of roses. The other contracting parties were Miss Imelda F. d'Eon, sister of the first bride, and Willie LeBlanc, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian LeBlanc, of Church Point. The bride, who was becomingly dressed in a white satin and lace dress, wore a veil, carried a bouquet and was attended by the groom's sister, Miss Celeste LeBlanc, while the groom was attended by the bride's brother, Albanie d'Eon. Miss d'Eon, being a member of the Sodality of the Children of Mary, she was preceded up the aisle by Miss Louise d'Entremont, of Middle West Public, president of the Sodality, carrying the banner, while the vicars on each side were held by the little Misses Marion and Monique d'Eon, cousins of the bride. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the brides' home to fifty invited guests, after which Mr. and Mrs. J. Willie LeBlanc left for Church Point where a wedding dinner was tendered them at the home of their parents. They will make their home in Yarmouth, Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert Comeau came to Digby and took the boat for Saint John and to American cities. On their return they will reside in Weymouth.

GARDEN PARTY IS SPLENDID SUCCESS

The Ladies' Sewing Circle of the Riverside Baptist church held their annual garden party on Wednesday, the sum of about $62 being realized. The convokers were:

Fancy Work—Mrs. A. G. Lent. Supper Tickets—Mrs. H. B. FitzGerald.

Candy and Grabs—Mrs. H. M. Mullen.

Ice Cream—Miss Gerry FitzGerald Tea and Coffee—Mrs. G. L. Coggins, Mrs. G. W. Brooks.

Supper Tables—Miss Kaye FitzGerald, Mrs. Wm. Lent.

Waitresses—Mrs. Roy Mullen, Mrs. Cook, the Misses Louise Mullen, Doris Brooks, Treva Cosman, Jean Doty, Violet Nesbitt, Gwendolyn Titus.

Kitchen—Mrs. A. Prime, Mrs. D. Raymond, Miss Evelyn Wesley and Miss Phyllis Weaver.

WHO HAS THEM?

Some year ago—possibly 20 and it may have been 30—quite a number of the bound files of The Digby Weekly Courier, were borrowed, and taken away from the office, but by whom nobody knows, except those who have them.

The late Sarah Wilson once told us that she was not sure about them all being bound—but he knew they had been loaned, as a former manager of the Courier told him he had handed them out himself.

It is possible these files are still in existence in somebody's attic. They belong to us and we would like to have them. But we do not want those who have them to have their trouble for nothing after all these years, as the chances are that the party who borrowed them has "passed on" ere this, so we will give two full years' subscription for every year's file returned.

FUNERAL SERVICE

C. C. NICHOLL—Weymouth, N.S.

After two years' study of the proper equipment necessary for Digby Co. roads, we have modelled a Funeral Car that is adaptable to our roads at all times, practically similar to the cars used in the larger cities of United States and Canada, demanding instant recognition and traffic rights as a Funeral Car.

Our Equipment is valued today at seven times its value, eleven years ago, proving our continual growth. We are constantly adding new equipment as it demonstrates its value to the public.

We employ no agents, entirely soliciting patronage by the merits of our service. Prices are kept down to the minimum and our service the best, with transportation easily possible to and from any point in Nova Scotia.

Meteghan, Nova Scotia

A BOARDING SCHOOL FOR GIRLS CONDUCTED BY THE SISTERS OF CHARITY

ADVANTAGES:

1.—The thoroughness of its courses, including all grades from 1 to XII.

2.—The exceptional opportunities it affords for the study of French; special attention being paid to conversation and composition in that language.

3.—The attention that it pays to the moulding of character.

4.—The training that it gives in Art, in Music, in Plain and Fancy Sewing, in Light Domestic Duties.

5.—Its exceptionally low rates, notwithstanding the fact that the board is of very good quality.

6.—Its accessibility, not only to pupils from the Maritime Provinces, but also to students from Boston, New York and vicinity, it being only an hour's journey from Yarmouth, the terminus of the boats from those cities.

7.—Its delightful and healthful situation, removed from the distractions of town life, which makes it an ideal spot for study.

8.—The fact that it is an examination station, which permits its pupils to write the provincial examinations in familiar surroundings—a circumstance which tends to lessen feelings of nervousness evoked by new situations.

Harriet Cook Killed; Bishop Cook and Josephine Cook Hurt

The many Digby friends of the late Reverend Philip Cook, Bishop of Delaware, and his family, were shocked to learn of the serious automobile accident which occurred in New Jersey on Thursday, of last week at 6:30 o'clock p.m., and resulted in the death of Harriet Cook, the second daughter of Bishop and Mrs. Cook, and painful injuries to the Bishop himself and to his daughter, Josephine.

The Bishop and two daughters were returning to Wilmington from New York, where the Bishop had just conducted a memorial service to a deceased treasurer of the Church. Missionary Society. They were motoring by one of the main thoroughfares through New Jersey, in a driving rain storm which induced poor visibility and a slippery road surface. At a point near Bardonia, N. J., on a down grade, the Bishop's car apparently skidded and collided with a large truck coming in the opposite direction.

The car was a complete wreck. The Bishop and his daughter Josephine both suffered minor injuries, while Harriet must have been killed instantly. Some tourists camping in the vicinity of the accident took them all to the St. Francis Hospital, in Trenton, N. J.

The Rev. P. M. Kirkus, summer resident of Digby, and an intimate friend and former Rector of the Cook family, was notified of the accident by telegram from Mrs. Cook last Friday morning, and many letters have been received since, containing news of the tragic incident.

The Bishop's injuries are described as a fracture of the fibula of his right leg about half-way between the knee and the ankle; a small piece chipped off the left elbow, and a swelling of the left leg. The X-Rays taken do not show anything alarming. Josephine has a lame back and legs, but the X-rays show no serious injury. Both are suffering severely from shock and will be detained at the hospital in Trenton for some days more.

Harriet met her death on her twentieth birthday. She was a debutante of last winter and one of the most charming and popular young women in Wilmington. She was buried from Trinity Church, Wilmington, on Monday morning of this week, with a crowded congregation present made up of devoted and sympathetic friends and mourners.

The profound sympathy of this community, where the family have hosts of friends, goes out to the Bishop and Mrs. Cook and their whole family.

Miss Mary Beaton, of Brighton, Mass., is visiting her mother, Mrs. Mary Beaton, at Adams' Cottage. She is accompanied by Miss Mary Meehan, also of Brighton, Mass.

SMITH'S COVE

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Welsh and granddaughter, of West Roxbury, Mass., are spending a month at their home here.

Mrs. Robert Austin, who has been seriously ill at her home, is much improved in health.

OHIO FARMERS VISIT DIGBY

A group of 120 farmers from the mid-western state of Ohio, who have been touring sections of the United States and Canada, visited Digby on Sunday last, arriving by special train. While here they stopped at the Pines Hotel. They are studying agricultural conditions outside their own state. From Digby they journeyed to Kentville, where during the afternoon they were guests of the Kentville Board of Trade and the Wellville Chamber of Commerce, who took them for a drive through the orchard district. On their way to Kentville a train stop of one hour was made at Annapolis Royal to give the visitors an opportunity of inspecting historic Fort Anne.

The plaster had fallen in the kitchen, the glass was out of the windows and the doors of the old square pews: A dense thicket of alders and shrubbery, hid the last resting places of the old pioneers.

This has been restored and the last testing place of its old time worshipers is now in keeping with Christian ideals and teaching.

Since 1821 an annual memorial and decoration service has been held in this old structure in memory of the old pioneers and worshippers who lived in the United States on this year the service will be held next Thursday. The Very Rev. Dean Whalley, of All Saints' Cathedral, will be the speaker.

Since its restoration the ancient house has been made a "casket of historic gems." Within its walls are contained many articles of interest which show how the old pioneers lived, and tell much of the history of this section of Nova Scotia.

In conversation with us, told us that he heard all the news of Digby and vicinity at the barber shop in Toronto he was in the habit of patronizing, through the proprietor, Roy Weir, who is a subscriber to the Courier.

BAND NOTES

The Band intends to play three more open-air concerts before September 1st, at all of which the audience will be expected to PAY for its entertainment, because the last FREE concert of the month has been played, and the Band must make strenuous efforts to obtain funds for its winter support. Collectors will call on everybody and will give a printed programme to all contributors as a substitute for an admission ticket. In addition to the collection individual subscriptions may be collected in advance, and it is believed that a generous sum can be raised among its many friends who have reason to be proud of their HOME TOWN BAND.

The splendid band concerts are attracting larger crowds each week. Last Monday 85 parked cars were counted early in the evening. Probably about 900 people heard part or all of the concert, besides the hundreds more who listened from their own verandas. First honor went to the trombone section for their snappy "Topsy Turbo" and the bugle work of the three basses in "E Pluribus Unum" deserves special mention. Sousa's famous "Semper Paratus" was played to the accompaniment of the band, and the greatest applause and had to be repeated. The great American march, "National Emblem", was played as a special feature. The band played to the accompaniment of the band, and the greatest applause and had to be repeated. Digby Hospital Fair a Success

The Digby Hospital Fair, held Wednesday afternoon and evening at the Manhattan Hotel and grounds, was a success in every way. As usual the fair was well attended, approximately 600 persons paying admission to the grounds.

Gaily decorated booths in which fancy work, home cooking and numerous other articles were sold were among the attractions. The booths were in charge of those interested in the welfare of the Digby General Hospital, from Digby, Bear River, Annapolis Royal and Weymouth.

The "Midway" with its many devices for loosening pocket books, presented a busy scene throughout the day. Barkers were crying, wheels were spinning, darts and balls shooting most of the time.

Many of the items which were not sold during the day were auctioned off in the evening by J. W. Merket. At all times hundreds gathered about the auction stand. In most cases the items sold in that manner brought good prices.

A delicious supper was served in the dining room of the hotel, by the Digby Hospital Association, furnished by the Pines Hotel Orchestra, furnished the music for the dancing in the evening.

The proceeds, which will go toward the support of the hospital, amounted to $1,428.87.

Racing Revival Climaxes at Fair

N. S. Provincial Exhibition Will Offer Six Days of Sensational Racing.

Told Galt, dynamic race horse now owned by H. M. Sweeney, of Bridgeview, out-standing Grand Circuit favorite with a record of 2,000/4 and focus of interest for all track-conscious minds in Eastern Canada, will race during the six days of harness races at the Nova Scotia Provincial Exhibition, Halifax, Aug. 27th-Sept. 3rd.

Among other provincial favorites on the track to assure tense and thrilling moments will be Calumet Brownie, 2,014; Darkey Gratlan, 2,034; Hunter Hedgewood, 2,034; Marjorie M., 2,074; Betty S., 2,07.

Of even greater interest to Nova Scotian race followers is the probable appearance of notable horses from the United States and Upper Canada. G. W. Cummery, well known racing man of Chatham, Ontario, is planning to bring his entire string, headed by the famous Guy the Tramp, 2,022. Grand Circuit star, who has been racing on the Bay State Circuit this season. Other Grand Circuit and Upper Canadian winners are expected as entries and there is a possibility that an important Winnipeg stable, now working east, will also participate.

Recently revived interest in harness races, which has brought banner attendance to P. E. Island, Cape Breton and Valley meets, will climax in the Exhibition program, one of the most ambitious ever staged at Halifax. There will be eighteen races, including several Free-for-Alls for $7,300 purses. Races will be held on all but the opening day and the closing—Labor Day—card will be unusually strong. The track has been re-surfaced, re-seeded, and drained and training horses pronounce it top-notch and speedy.

Dog fanciers will be catered to by the three-day Nova Scotia Kennel Club Dog Show, Aug. 28th to 30th, which will stress English Bull Terriers this year and several champions of this breed are coming from the United States. Twenty-five daring and amusing performers, straight from New York, will present ten acts of the most exciting and laughable circus vaudeville imaginable. The colorful Midway will be crowded with new features. As never before the Nova Scotia Provincial Exhibition will present the acme of amusement and culture in every department and will provide an irresistible magnet for autumn vacationists.

Marriages

Cossett-Hauptman

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Hauptman, Natick, Mass., a short time ago, when their daughter, Alice May, became the bride of Mr. Bruce John Cossett, son of Mrs. Hubert Wilson, of Joggin Bridge.

The Rev. Elbert B. Holmes, of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, performed the ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attended by Mrs. Arthur Watson, as matron of honor. The best man was Arthur Watson. Only members of the family were present. The bride wore a gown and hat of white crepe-de-chene, with white roses. The matron of honor wore blue with pink roses. Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Hopkins, of Keene, N. H., decorated the home for the occasion. After a short honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Cossett will reside at 517 Bennington St., Newton, Mass.

Freeport Celebrates Founding

(Held over from last week)

Last week while Digby and Annapolis Royal were celebrating at the Indian Carnival the town of Freeport, on Long Island, was making its preparations for a gala week to commemorate the hundred anniversary of the organization of the church at Freeport and the sesquicentennial of the settlement of the village. The celebration started Tuesday evening with the reading of the history of Freeport as compiled by Dr. Walter R. Greenwood, the history was very comprehensive and interesting, especially those whose ancestors had done so much for the settlement.

On Wednesday evening ten scenes out of Freeport's past were presented at the church to a capacity house, in the first scene we saw the very first settlers, Nathaniel Bates and his wife, Mary Bates, who settled there about 1783. In the next scene Mr. and Mrs. Bates welcomed three new settlers, who had come from New York as Loyalists. Scene three depicted 21 of the settlers who met together to organize a church in 1834, and in the next scene we were the guests of a conference meeting at the little church they had erected in 1839. Scene five was a characteristic scene showing four gentlemen who together in front of a polling both and talked about the merits and demerits of confederation. Next we were permitted to witness the weird antics of a couple of boys who at midnight were hunting for pirates gold, this was such a delightful Tom Sawyer escapade that the audience were in gales of laughter. Then came the old time singing school in which the local singers gave several selections which showed beautiful harmony and great training. After that we were permitted to peep into a meeting of the Western Star Division which was carried out in the same manner as it would have been fifty years ago. Scene nine showed Geo. Finigan opening the first motor boat engine to come to Freeport; he was joined by two of his neighbors who gravely and pessimistically harangued on what would happen if everybody got to using such new-fangled machines and who ran away in horror when he gave them a whiff of the gasoline which was to run it. In scene ten we went back with the Rev. Percy Hamilton to 1919, to the occasion where he unveiled the monument to those who had served in the Great War. There was a moment of silent prayer and in the solemn hush that prevailed we were carried back to those years which many of us remembered so vividly. The grand finale was reached when the "Spirit of Freeport" called to her the good ones who are the hope every community, and the characters of the past, who have been our inspiration, and they sang together the old hymn, "Faith of Our Fathers." All the characters throughout the whole of the pageant were garbed in costumes suitable for the occasion and the scenes were all vividly interesting and real. Much praise is to be given to Dr. Greenwood who wrote the pageant and collected all the data that made it real as well as interesting.

Thursday evening was "Community Night" and the meeting was held in the hall instead of in the church; the seats being placed lengthwise of the hall to make the occasion more informal. The most unusual part of the program was when four of the oldest, native inhabitants of Freeport—Mrs. Selma Stevens, George MacNeill, George A. Thurber and Edwin Haines—from the platform, told most amusing anecdotes of the past. After the program ice cream was sold; the young people played games upstairs and everybody went about renewing old acquaintances and making new ones, and so a very enjoyable evening was spent.

On Friday evening the members of the church had a supper in the vestry and in spite of the disagreeable weather it was very largely attended. In the evening the church roll call was held.

Saturday was a "full day." In the morning races were held on the highway, and in the afternoon the ball team met Bear River at the ball field and after a tight contest defeated them 3 to 1. It was a good game and many attended from Westport, Tiverton and "up the Island" as well as from Freeport. After a picnic supper the crowd gathered at one of the old wharves where the races were to be held. There was a motor boat race, a dory race and a tub race and special mention should be given to two girls—Dorothy Brooks and Helen Curry—who swam across the cove, a distance of about half a mile, in the cold water. Miss Curry won the race. After the water sports everybody rushed to the Community Hall where a play—Cinderella Rose—was presented. The hall was packed; there was scarcely standing room for the late comers—and the play was worthy of such a crowd. An excellent cast and a jolly plot, with fine music, made a very worth-while programme and everybody considered the evening well spent. Dr. Weir was the director of the programme and the proceeds were donated to the church.

Sunday ended this celebration; in the morning, Rev. F. H. Faxon, former pastor of the church, conducted the service. At the Sunday School session a pageant was very beautifully given by the children; and in the evening, Dr. Greenwood was assisted by Rev. Egbert Prime and Rev. Eric Tins, both former Freeport boys. Before the benediction Mr. Ernest Haines and Dr. Greenwood's mother stepped to the platform, and Mr. Haines presented Dr. Greenwood with a beautiful pair of cuff links and Mrs. Greenwood with a lovely floral bouquet on behalf of the town.

presented. The hall was packed; there was scarcely standing room for the late comers—and the play was worthy of such a crowd. An excellent cast and a jolly plot, with fine music, made a very worth-while programme and everybody considered the evening well spent. Dr. Weir was the director of the programme and the proceeds were donated to the church.

H. B. Muir, General Manager of the Kingston (Ontario) Whig-Standard, says:

"Did you ever stop to think what would happen if the newspapers suddenly stopped publishing? Gossip and rumour would run rampant. No clearing of the air every day with the newspapers have made it possible for us all to get acquainted with the peoples of the world and renew contacts every day, we would find ourselves cut off."

"Fancy trying to do business without newspapers—with people afraid and suspicious."

"Did you ever stop to think that the newspapers—news in both news and advertising columns—have made possible our boasted standard of living in North America—highest in the world. Stop that force, encouragement and guidance in cooperative effort, and our highest standards would soon tumble and crumble."

"Fine to stop to think—think how to use the great power of advertising for the good of all the people."

The Tourists

So far this year Digby and vicinity are enjoying a splendid tourist season. Most of the larger hotels in the district have been filled up on occasions while in the case of the smaller places guests have had to be turned away. Judging from present reservations, there are prospects for a few more good weeks during the summer of 1934.

Almost without exception, Digby hotel managers and proprietors report this summer's season ahead of those in recent years. One Deep Brook hotelman says that registrations at his house are 50 per cent. over last year. Camp Aldercliff, the well known boys' camp at Westmouth North, reports the best season since 1929.

All the Digby hotels have had a good run. Hotels at St. John's, Smith Cove, Deep Brook and Clementsport are also enjoying good patronage. Some of the hotels report more "comers and goers" otherwise known as transients or motor tourists than in previous years, while others report that more are stopping for longer periods of time than they have in some years. All declare that the days when tourists came with several trunks prepared to stay the whole season is past, and that for the most part the tourists are motorists who stop for a night or two, or for a day or two, or for a week or so. There are still reservations, but the tourists are not as frequent as they used to be. The tourists stay up when they feel like it, and if the place appeals to them, they stay awhile.

Tourists interviewed all seem pleased with Nova Scotia and the hospitality given them. "You Nova Scotians are so courteous and obliging," said one. On the other hand there are those who like our province, but who complain that they have been "baited" by itinerant tradesmen who, they allege, "have half a dozen prices for the tourist" but these complaints, fortunately, are few and far between.

BAND NOTES

The Civic Band last Monday night sustained their reputation for fine musicianship by playing another of their delightful open-air concerts for an appreciative audience, which was not so large as usual owing to the rain and threatening weather that preceded the concert.

In consequence of the bad weather the proceeds were not so good as expected, and it began to look as though the Band might have much difficulty in keeping up its work through the winter. However, the management is by no means discouraged and will continue its strenuous efforts to secure the needed funds. Sincere thanks are due the young ladies who did the collecting so thoroughly, and so courteously.

Next Monday night the public is again asked to lend its aid by attending another concert, at which the audience will be requested to pay for the fine entertainment it receives. The Band will make a special effort to give an unusually fine concert, and it feels confident that the public will cordially respond to its request for financial support.

The Benefit Dance at the Pines Casino proved to be a most enjoyable event, and though the proceeds were not large they were very gratifying and will be a material help. The affair was handled throughout by Churchill Solloks, whose energy and careful attention to details made certain that everything would go smoothly, and its success was due to his efforts. Hay Cochrane deserves special credit because he carried his work through to a finish though as ill as to require the services of a physician at the beginning of the dance.

Obituary

Caleb Gilliland

The funeral of Caleb Gilliland, 78, was held Thursday, August 9, from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Harry Rice, 9 Clifton Avenue, Salem, Mass., with Rev. B. P. Croswell officiating. Mrs. Martha Davis and Mrs. Dorothy Coburn sang at the service. There were many beautiful floral tributes in evidence. The pallbearers were Boyd Sabers, Leonard Calder, Harry Rice, Austin Gates, William Gibbons and Norman White. The deceased was born in Roseway in 1856 and lived there until twenty-nine years ago, at which time he moved to Salem, Mass. He was a member of the First Baptist church. He passed away Tuesday, August 7, after a long illness; at his late home, 11 Clifton Avenue, Salem. Besides his wife, formerly Miss Marie Peters, daughter of the late Capt. Henry Danvers, Mass., and Daniel, of Norwood, Mass.; and three daughters, Mrs. Emma Calder, of Norwood; Mrs. Mabel Gates, of Danvers; and Mrs. Helen Rice, of Salem; also nine grandchildren and one brother, Edward, in Danvers, Mass.

Mrs. John G. Rice

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Florence Nightingale Rice, widow of the late John G. Rice, who died suddenly in Halifax on Sunday morning last, were conducted from Holy Trinity church here, Tuesday afternoon, by Rev. A. E. Gabriel, the rector. The deceased was born in Port Williams, King's County, and was the only daughter of the late Capt. Henry Gilliland and Anne (Corbett) Gilliland. She lived for more than twenty years in the United States. Since her marriage to the late John G. Rice, she resided in Digby until going to Halifax six years ago. Services were conducted in Holy Trinity church here, Tuesday afternoon, by Rev. A. E. Gabriel, rector of St. Mark's church, Community, and made in Forest Hill cemetery, Digby. The late Mrs. Rice was of a most estimable character and many friends throughout the province will mourn her passing.

GOLF TOURNAMENTS

In recent tournaments held over the Digby Golf Course for the Lord Lodge and Harbor View Clubs, Vernon Hewitt won the Harbor View cup for the lowest score of 167 for 36 holes. Hewitt, tied with Lawrence Ross, the tie was broken by a play of 18 holes play, Hewitt winning three up and two to go. Ross was awarded second place.

Theodore Nesbitt was the winner of the net score competition and was presented with the Lord Lodge Cup. His score was 76 for 18 holes. Lawrence Dickson won second place in this class with a score of 82.

The Ladies Cup, presented by the Digby Golf Club, was won by Anna Burns, score 98 for 18 holes. Runner up, Mary Lynch, with 107.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Scragg, of Saratoga, New York, are guests of Frank Scragg, of Greenfield.

Vernon Bent, Jr., spent the week end with friends in Caledonia.

Motor Accidents

Mrs. W. K. Smith, of Toronto, suffered a sprained ankle as a result of a collision at the corner of Warwick and Queen Streets (near the South End Grocery) here, Tuesday afternoon. The Ontario car, driven by Mr. Smith, was proceeding down Warwick Street, when struck by a Whippet driven by Brade Comeau, of Digby. Comeau was crossing the street intersection. Both cars were travelling at a slow rate of speed when the accident occurred. At the time Mounted Police Officers, Snow and Eddy, were at the corner, and took Mrs. Smith to the office of Dr. W. R. Dickie. The front end of the Whippet was quite badly damaged, while the damage to the Ontario car was only slight.

Two men were taken to the Digby General Hospital Monday evening for treatment, after their car crashed into a barn near the gravel pit on the Yarmouth-Halifax highway. The accident occurred about three miles from town, not far from Queen's Bridge. The injured men were brought to the hospital by Walter Chute, of Bear River, who was returning from the Yarmouth-Bear River ball game at Yarmouth.

LEAVES ARE CHANGING COLOR

Evidence that fall will be soon upon us are seen on every hand by the changing colors of the leaves of the hard wood trees in this vicinity. As yet the display is not near as magnificent as it will be in a few weeks' time, but already many of the trees, especially in the lowlands, have changed color. To many the season appears to be a little earlier than in other years. Perhaps these chilly nights, when extra bed coverings are almost essential, are the cause. But others say not. They claim that the frost has very little to do with painting the foliage in glorious hues, and attribute it to the fact that the leaves have merely lived out their "span of life"—and have, like humans, are most attractive in their declining days.

The Misses Gertrude and Bernice Abramson motored to Yarmouth on Thursday and will return today.

At a delightful family party at Point Prim, Lighthouse, Bay View, Mrs. A. G. Sully, of Deep Brook, her eight living children, grand children and great grandchildren were reunited on Tuesday afternoon. The party comprised twenty-eight persons. The eight surviving children present were: Mrs. Frank M. Ross, Digby; W. A. Sully, Digby; Miss Clara Sully, Digby; Miss Mary Sully, Digby; Mrs. Mary Sully, Digby; Mrs. Mary Sully, Digby; Mrs. Mary Sully, Digby; Mrs. Mary Sully, Digby.

BUSINESS BAROMETER IN STEADY RISE

The returning tide of prosperity continues to make a comparatively steady advance, indicating that the business recovery which has taken place is diversified throughout the whole economic structure and is of a solid nature. Business for the first six months of 1934 as compared with the same period last year shows an increase of 20.3 per cent and is fast overtaking the drop from the higher levels. Railway earnings, which are an important factor in portraying the rise and fall of trade, show a gain of approximately 10 per cent in June this year over last. Another item which stands out as one of the landmarks in plotting the course of trade is output of electric generating stations. In the Maritime Provinces there has been an increase of 7,467,000 kilowatt hours in electric output June, 1934, as compared with the same month last year. Quebec, Ontario, the prairie provinces and British Columbia all show increase, the total increase for the whole of Canada for the same period being 404,368,000 kilowatt hours or 33.9 per cent. Railway payrolls for the month of May show an increase indicating a greater number of employees engaged and working full time as compared with the same month last year.

What Room Can There Be

—for nobility in a heart filled with selfishness?
—for honor in a nation that is given over to materialism?

—for friendship in the heart of a man who loves only himself?
—for greatness in the life that has made no sacrifices.

—for improvements among a people who have no sense of responsibility?
—for beauty in a world that has no love for little children?

Here and There
with G. R. T.

How do you like your summer weather? Hot, cold or medium? Plenty hot out here, on the Pacific Coast for the past week; nights, however, have been fairly cool, therefore no complaint from us at all about the weather. The sleeping is so satisfactory that I did not take any chances on missing the eclipse of the moon which was seen on the coast between 3 and 4 a.m., last Thursday, so I set my alarm for three o'clock. Vitality is said to be at ebb tide at that hour, but it mattered not to this lover of the moon. I slipped down stairs and out of doors and took a few peeks through the telescope of my neighbor, and then back to bed. My friend is quite an astronomer. He made his own telescope; ground his lenses at home and gathered up most of the metal for the tube and other necessary parts in the auto wrecking yards. This machine has a ten-inch lens and picks up Jupiter and its four moons; Saturn, with its rings; Mars, brings them very close to the man Venus, and other important stars and on the earth. Through the telescope the moon looks like a huge ball of ice, frozen to a blue white color, with many air holes and craters over the surface.

If you are interested in building your own telescope you can obtain full information on how to go about it by reading the Scientific American Magazine. I believe the largest telescope in the world is in the Mount Wilson Observatory, at the top of the Sierra Madre Mountains, near Pasadena, Los Angeles County. Mount Wilson can be reached on foot or by automobile over a narrow mountain road on which one way traffic only is permitted. If you happen to get by the controls and meet a car it means that the man coming down the mountain must back up until he reaches a "turn-out" when the oncoming car can pass. Those wide open roads, two or three hundred feet deep, just over the edge of the road, sort of take your breath at times. A funny feeling, that, if you are not used to looking down from high places.

A new telescope for Mount Wilson, with a two hundred inch lens, is under construction. The mirror is now in the mould and although that glass was poured from the melting pot last March, it is still hot. Cooling and polishing, it is said, will take at least a year—possibly more. And when that spy glass is finished, "we shall see what we shall see," maybe the pearly gate, who knows?

Do you get the Hollywood Bowl concerts on your radio? They are on the air Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, beginning about 8.30 o'clock. That means something after midnight in Nova Scotia—but they are worth waiting up for. Sir Hamilton Harty, of Dublin, Ireland, is the conductor this week. Sir Henry Wood, of London, conducted the first three weeks of the season. The orchestra is made up of Los Angeles musicians but artists come here from all over the world to take part in the eight weeks' season which begins early in July and ends in the latter part of August.

The Hollywood "Bowl" is Los Angeles' great open air theatre and is located in a canyon in the Hollywood Hills, back of Hollywood. The word "bowl" seems to describe the place fairly well. The west side of the bowl, which rises gradually from the entrance to the canyon, has been terraced off to provide space for the wooden benches with which this theatre is equipped. The popular priced seats being "up the hill," while the more comfortable, and of course, the more expensive seats are "down the hill," close to the enormous stage which has another hill for a perfect background. The place seats about 20,000 people. The average attendance at the concert this summer has been around 10,000.

If you are a music lover this is a fine place to spend a summer evening with all quiet and restful under the stars, listening to some of the world's finest music, while the big silvery moon rises slowly over the mountain back of the stage. A feeling of peace and contentment come over you that you will remember for many a year. But if you ever attend any of these summer concerts be sure to take along a wrap or an overcoat for the evenings out there in the Hollywood Hills get very chilly at times. I well remember my first trip to the "Bowl" for a summer evening entertainment. Leaving down town Los Angeles on a hot night I scooped the idea of taking an overcoat along, carrying an extra pair of trousers over my arm seemed to me to be fully as sensible. But I learned my lesson. I got chilled through and through and had to leave before the concert finished.

It took five bowls of "Scotch Broth" at Sandy McNab's place when I got back to town to get my blood in circulation again.

Today, out on Forest Lawn Memorial Park, the rank and file of film-land paid the last tribute to Marie Dressler, who passed away at Santa Barbara Saturday, July 28th. The funeral services were held in the little chapel at the cemetery and were conducted by Rev. Neal Dodd, pastor of Hollywood's "Little Church Round the Corner" (Episcopal). Although a large crowd had gathered at the church only a few close friends—stars, directors and executives of the motion picture industry—were admitted to the services. The chapel was banked with flowers, orchids, gardenias and roses, sent by people who had loved her and knew her as the "Grand Old Trouper" of the stage and screen.

Marie Dressler was 62 years of age and was born in Coburg, Ontario. Her family name was Koerber; her father was an officer in the German army and served in the Crimean War, and her mother was English. Resigning from the army Koerber came to Canada where he taught music. His daughter did not receive much of an education as the family was always on the move. She claims that she got her education from reading the newspapers and from talking to and observing people. Taking the name of Marie Dressler for a stage name (which was the name of an aunt), Marie began her theatrical career at the age of 14. Her first job paid $8.00 weekly.

She had many ups and downs in the show business and was about to declare herself a failure when she got her chance in the talking picture "Anna Christie" with Greta Garbo. She made such a hit in this picture that a long term contract followed. $4000 per week it is said that her salary has been for some time past. If you have seen the pictures "Min and Bill", "Reducing", "Emma", and the rest of them you have had many a good laugh.

My landlord—who is also an assistant director at the Metro-Goldwyn Studio where Miss Dressler worked—tells me that everyone around the studio just about worshipped her. If any of her old friends and stage associates were ever in want and she heard about their distress she lost no time in doing something for them that was worth while. She used to give some famous parties—she entertained in the good old-fashioned way. She had no patience with the modern Hollywood way of doing things. She was noted as a good cook and delighted in preparing unusual and delicious dishes for her guests. The Metro-Goldwyn Studio gave a great party for her on her 62nd birthday. About 1000 persons attended. There was a birthday cake that weighed 500 pounds and everybody got a piece of it. Miss Dressler said it was the grandest time of her life.

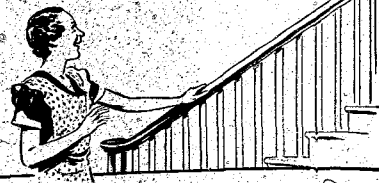

But in the last two years she was suffering from "physical ailment" which there is no known cure—cancer of the stomach. She kept on playing and smiling—she never allowed the studio to know her condition. Then along about the middle of June she found that it was impossible to go on. She was taken very ill at the home of a friend in Santa Barbara. Doctors fought to prolong her life by every known method of medical science but a week ago she drifted into a coma from which she never rallied.

Thousands who have seen her pictures will mourn her death but none more deeply than those associated with her for so long at the studio where she worked and played.

Another old trouper who recently passed on and one whom you will all remember was Alec B. Francis, one of the grand old men of the screen and a lay reader at St. Athanasius Episcopal church, in Hollywood. He was only ill three days. He underwent an emergency operation at the Hollywood Hospital but failed to recover consciousness. He was born in England, educated for the ministry but went on the stage and played in India and South Africa. He came to America thirty years ago. He had a brilliant stage career but went into pictures in 1910 and continued in picture work up until a few days before his death.

He was one of my favorite actors—a fine and gentle old man, much beloved by all who knew him.

Canada still holds the railroad train speed record. In an article in the August issue of the Canadian National Railways Magazine, Robert R. Brown, secretary of the Canadian Railroad Historical Association, tells of the run of locomotive No. 618, of the Canada Atlantic Railroad between Coteau Junction and Montreal, when it was "clocked" at a speed in excess of 10 miles per hour. This record was made nearly 30 years ago.

MORE PREVALENT

In a recent issue of the Quarterly Bulletin distributed by the Department of Health of New York City, there is an interesting article which is written as an answer to the question, "Is cancer becoming more prevalent?"

It is pointed out, first of all, that it is to be expected that there will be an increase in the total number of deaths from causes such as cancer, which occur in the older age groups. As is generally known, the average expectancy of life has increased considerably, and that today, a larger percentage of the population are in the age groups attacked by cancer.

No one has questioned this fact, but many have said that after making due allowance for this aging of the population, there has been an actual increase in cancer. The New York figures do not support this view, and the conclusion is reached "that cancer is probably no more prevalent now, in any given age group, than it was a generation ago."

We do not think that this ends the controversy, but we do believe that this note of comparative optimism should be heard. The cancer problem is serious enough that it does not require the slightest exaggeration to focus attention upon it. But it is equally desirable that we should not become unduly pessimistic.

These New York figures were in doubt, then, in so far as the population of that city is concerned, there is no new force or condition which has arisen, in recent years, to cause an increase in cancer. There is nothing to indicate that the foods used or the methods of cooking employed by civilized people today are leading to an increase in cancer.

Whether or not cancer is on the increase is of little interest to the person who develops the disease. To him, the one and only question of importance is—Can anything be done for me in the way of treatment? The answer to this question remains the same as it always was. The chance of cure depends very largely upon early recognition of the pres-

Marriages

Dinnigan-Hamilton

A quiet wedding took place at St. Mary's Cathedral, Calgary, on July 10th, when Mildred Alberta Hamilton, daughter of Mrs. A. Hamilton, of Weymouth, became the bride of William Albert Dinnigan, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dinnigan, of Calgary. The bride was charming in powder blue tulle, with large picture hat to match, and pearl jewelry accessories. She carried a bouquet of Madame Buttery roses. The bride's maid, Miss Charlotte Dinnigan, her only attendant, wore deep pink organdy and carried a bouquet of sweet peas in pale tulle. P. Dinnigan, the bride's father-in-law, was best man. Rev. Father Cosman, of Drumheller, uncle of the bride, performed the ceremony. Miss Evelyn McIntosh played the wedding march and appropriate organ selections, while Miss Lois King rendered a violin solo. The wedding breakfast was served at the Tea Kettle Inn, following which Mr. and Mrs. Dinnigan left by motor for the Pacific coast. They will reside in Calgary.

Campbell-Theriault

An interesting event took place in St. Bernard's Roman Catholic church, on Monday morning, when Miss Cecile Theriault, became the bride of Samuel J. Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Duncan Campbell, of Margaree, C. B. The bride was attired in a travelling suit of brown satin with white accessories. Miss Marie Theriault, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and wore a navy blue ensemble, with white accessories. Peter J. Campbell, of Margaree, brother of the groom, was best man. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to relatives and friends at the home of the bride's parents, after which the happy couple left on a honeymoon trip through the provinces. They will reside in Liverpool where Mr. Campbell is in the office staff of the Mersey Paper Company. Mrs. Campbell was formerly a teacher and last year was on the Weymouth school staff. Both bride and groom, who were very popular among the younger set, were the recipients of many beautiful gifts. They have the best wishes of a large number of friends.

Olive Branch Rebekah Lodge held its semi-monthly meeting in the lodge room, in the Ruggles Building, on Wednesday evening. At this meeting a report of the Rebekah Assembly, held at New Glasgow this month, was given by Mrs. N. L. Ruggles, who was a delegate from this lodge. Plans were also made for an afternoon tea and pantry sale, to be held on August 29th. On Friday evening several of the members gathered at the home of one of their members—Dr. E. O. Hallett—who is unable to meet with them on account of ill health. A social half-hour was spent, after which refreshments were served by Mrs. R. S. Hallett. Dr. Hallett, on this occasion, presented the lodge with a gift which is valued very highly by the members.

VISITORS CATCH BIG FISH

Mr. and Mrs. F. Steelman, Mrs. B. VanKeehan and daughter, of Eatonville, N. J., who have been spending their Nova Scotia vacation in Bear River at the Grand Central, returned home this week very much delighted with their luck at "deep sea fishing". Several of their party caught very large fish; both Mrs. Steelman and Mrs. VanKeehan landing twenty-pound cods and Miss VanKeehan a seventeen-pound pollock.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC HELD

The United Church Sunday School, with the Baptist Sunday School for a picnic on Thursday last at Henshaw's Point, Deep Brook, took about two hundred attended. They were conveyed to and from the grounds by autos and trucks. Ideal weather, a large attendance, boating, bathing and games of all kinds were indulged in, followed by a sumptuous dinner, made the day all that could be desired.

Mrs. Joseph Warren left for a visit to Boston yesterday.

Guests at the Commercial House this week were C. E. Walker, J. H. Dwyer and W. O. Sullivan, of Halifax; the Misses Ethel S. Bliss and Mabel E. Hays, of Dover, N. H., and Myra H. Johnson, of Douglas, Mass.

Mrs. H. Anthony, of Arcadia Camp, Deep Brook, has had Miss Margaret Fairweather, of Saint John, as her guest until Monday last, when Miss Fairweather was called back to New Brunswick by the death of Mrs. W. Allison.

An odd specimen of belated growth was observed by Arnold Banks, of this town. On a small branch of a Baldwin apple tree, is a well formed apple, and apparently from the same fruit bud, another stem, bearing six blossoms.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Harlow, who were recently married in Bridgetown, have been visiting Mrs. Harlow's sister, Mrs. G. Benson, for several days, and left for their home Sunday, accompanied by Ralph Harris, who will stop at Lake William to attend the Guides' Sports.

Mrs. John Rupp entertained recently at a "whistle board" party, in honor of Mrs. Carey Morgan, Lansdowne, Mass., who is visiting from Massachusetts, New York, and Connecticut. The highest playing score was made by Carey Morgan.

Mrs. E. F. Powers, of Deep Brook, her guest, Miss McAnn, of Fredericton; Mrs. W. Sutherland, of Lockport; and Mrs. L. J. Lovett, of Bear River, went to Annapolis Royal, on Saturday afternoon for tea at the Whistling Rock, Mrs. Powers being hostess.

W. W. Kinney, proprietor of the Osburn Camps on White Sand Beach, arrived from Boston last week, and with his niece and two sons, will occupy his camp until the latter part of the month. His efficient guides are Lewis Peters and son, Henry.

Mr. and Mrs. R. McLeod, of North Tanawanda, N. Y., returned to their home by motor, starting on Tuesday last week. They have been guests of Miss Anna Lake, Mrs. MacLeod's aunt, for four weeks, and during this visit and former ones, have made many friends and acquaintances in town.

A number of local "sports" are attending the Lake William Guides' Meet this week, as well as many well known guides from Bear River. Many fine records have been made by our local guides this year, both at home and in the United States, and no doubt they will repeat their former successes at Lake William.

Prize Lists for the Digby Co. Exhibition, to be held in Bear River, on Thursday and Friday, September 20, 21, have been issued. Preparations are being made by the various committees to make this one of the best shows ever held here. The fruit and field crops are looking exceptionally good in this district, and promise a fine display.

Miss Pat Hatheway has been entertaining two of her Acadia classmates at the Hatheway Camp, Lake LeMarchant, and on Monday gave a farewell party in their honor to which a number of town young people were invited. The out-of-town guests of Miss Hatheway, Peggy Archibald, of Bedford, and Isabel Cook, of Lunenburg, left on Wednesday for their homes. Miss Hatheway accompanying Miss Archibald to Bedford for a visit.

Turner, pastor of the Deep Brook Baptist Church, assisted by Rev. Burton Long, of Clinton, Mass.; Rev. Frank Smith, of Oxford; Rev. Jost Castille, of Malden, Mass.; and Rev. G. C. Warrent, of Wolfville, who gave the address. The music was in charge of Bert Turner, of Toronto, with N. H. McBain, at the organ; the church choir, the Misses Mae and Betty DeWitt, of Wolfville; the male quartette of Acadia—D. C. MacKay, John Murley, Joseph Vincent and Fred Rupp; also John Castille, who sang "Jesus of Galilee," and played a violin solo, assisting. Following the service the rite of baptism was administered to nine candidates, by Rev. G. C. Warrent.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Dickens and daughter, Suzanne, who have resided in Deep Brook for five or six years, have closed their home and on Wednesday sailed from Halifax to return to their native land—England—where they will again take up their residence in the city of Northampton. Family reasons made the change necessary, but it is with regret they found it necessary to leave. They have travelled considerably and have had temporary residences in several countries, but the scenery at Deep Brook, the ever-changing face of the Annapolis Basin, and the festive surroundings appealed to them very strongly, and they pronounced it the prettiest place they had yet been in. The Courier wishes them every success in their new home.

Obituary

Mrs. Edwin W. Silver

News of the passing, at the Digby General Hospital, early on Thursday evening, of last week of Mrs. Edwin W. Silver, of Deep Brook, was received with deep regret by her many friends in that place. Deceased was the daughter of the late Zachariah and Margaret (Wright) Hubley, of Lake Munroe, where her early life was spent until her marriage in 1907.

Surviving are her husband and daughter, Nergie, who arrived on Friday from a short vacation spent in Boston, wholly unaware of her mother's death, one son, Perry, at home; two sisters, Mrs. Lawrence Orde, of Granville, and Mrs. Emley Orde, of Glyndwood. The funeral service was held Sunday afternoon at her late home, conducted by Lie. W. H. Turner, pastor of the Baptist church, with music by the church choir. A very large number of relatives and friends were present. The floral offerings were many and beautiful. Interment was at Clementsvale.

ONE FALLS DOWN MOUNTAIN
ANOTHER DOWN STEPS

Two local citizens met with unfortunate accidents, resulting in fractured bones, over the week end. On Friday afternoon Charles Turnbull, an elderly householder, fell from the station steps and broke his right arm. Mr. Turnbull, who is 82 years of age, went for water in the absence of his son, who was in town on business. The family well having gone dry during the dry weather, it was necessary to go to a mountain-side spring. In so doing he lost his footing and rolled down the side of the mountain striking his shoulder against the trunk of a tree.

Yourig Vidito met with an accident during May in which he fractured his right shoulder when he fell from the side of the mountain a few days before meeting with the accident on Saturday.

Between Ourselves

Most of us have heard of biting dogs and kicking mules. Perhaps some of us have had experience with them.

But biting and kicking is not merely confined to quadrupeds. You and I are both well acquainted with men and women who can do more than their share.

Personally, I am somewhat of a kicker myself. In fact, I believe that a little kicking now and again is quite essential in order to save ourselves from being walked over— if you get what I mean.

Still, the mule usually kicks to amuse himself at the discomfort of others. If he couldn't kick, he would be quite unhappy. Some folks, like the mule, kick for the same reason, and if they couldn't kick they would be decidedly unhappy.

On the other hand, a dog, unless he is mad and is out of his balance, seldom bites unless he has a good reason and usually when a dog "back-bites" some intruder is immediately on the back of the back dog is a hanging out.

But, when men and women "back-bite" they bite at a long distance—and the further away the "back" is the deeper and harder they can bite. The biting is usually out of clear sheer jealousy or enviousness. Often they bite the more poisonous than that of a dog with hydrophobia.

I hate biters. Especially the kind of biter, (or gossip) who chews the ear of the neighbor, and then hearing and seldom, if ever, gives you a chance to grab a mouthful for yourself.

Still, I suppose they were in the world almost since the beginning of time—and they will be with us until doomsday—why—that's not for me to say, but there are two things I have never been able to find any excuse for their being, and those two things are houseflies and malicious gossip—both of them spread poison to the ends of the earth, and it is difficult to say just which kind of poison does the most damage.

Nevertheless, I think most of us, and I included, are sometimes—guilty of gossiping. We may not intend to say hard things about our friends and neighbors, but we are often unconscious of the slide off the end of our tongues to be picked up by someone else who retells our story with variations—until the original story comes back to us again, it is a brand new yarn, one that we have never heard before.

And yet, if we must talk about our fellows, it is only natural that we do so. It is strange too why it is so much more natural for us to "bite" and say something that is going to hurt someone, rather than to say something nice. Wouldn't it be a good idea if the next time we felt like saying something that would reflect against someone else to change our mind and say something good about them? If we try hard enough we can always find nice things to say about even our worst enemies, and if we think and speak of these good points often enough we will gradually find more good than bad and discover they are not such terrible people after all.

Harris and Gordon Port; Freem and Joseph Speil; Fort; Fives, Mrs. Parker Lamberton and Samuel Cosman; Crokinole, Mrs. John A. B. Capen. Door prizes, Mrs. Laymond. Delicious refreshments were served by the ladies of the Barton and Brighton Hospital Aid. The sum of $27.10 was raised.

TREATY OF VERSAILLES AS GREAT TRAGEDY AS WAR

"The war to end wars has only planted seeds for future wars," declared Dr. G. H. B. in the conclusion of his address on "The European Situation," before the Kiwanis Club, on Tuesday.

The World war was a tragedy on a scale of magnitude that the treaty of Versailles was almost as great a tragedy. The purpose of this treaty was drawn up by conquerors who declared themselves victors, and Germany unable to initiate another war. It was hoped that this treaty would put an end to all wars, but it has only given rise to further trouble for the world.

Through the treaty Germany was charged with the sole responsibility for the war. Yet, today, he said, no one is responsible for the war. The treaty was a tragedy, and many with the sole responsibility. Furthermore, through the treaty of Versailles, he declared, a reparation was made, but it was a reparation that was impossible, was thrust upon Germany. Through the Dawes and Young plans these reparations have been added down to about one percent, other nations depending upon Germany's payments are now unable to pay their war debts; thus, Germany is responsible for the debt problem and the depression. To settle this problem the United States and Great Britain must get together without the interference of politicians, and devise some tangible plan.

He referred to the Polish Corridor and the Free City of Danzig as danger spots, which are and will continue to be a source of trouble and tension. The ten-year pact of peace between Germany and Poland insures peace for that period, but eventually, he said, Germany will demand that the Polish Corridor be eliminated.

The Saar Basin he named as another problem and another possible danger spot, and that trouble in this quarter, will not be eliminated by the plebiscite to be taken in January, 1935, for which plans are now being made. Both Canada and France are working for the vote and it is now difficult to maintain order in this section. Should the plebiscite favor Germany, that nation would be able to purchase the extensive coal mines in that district from France. Not long ago, he said, it looked very bright, as though the Saar Basin plebiscite would go in Germany's favor, but since the Hitler Blood Pledge, the leaning now seems to be in favor of France.

Austria, which, as he said, is now Vienna with a surrounding rural population, was dismembered by the treaty. Nationalism has run up barriers until Austria without market has become strangled. The Nazis of that country and of Germany are striving for an economic union of Austria and Germany, but that, against the terms of the treaty which fears that a political union would grow out of such an economic arrangement. He named Hitler for recent trouble in Austria, and claims that both Germany and Italy are catering to Austria's needs, and attributed to the racial minorities in various Central European countries much of the troubles today.

The treaty of Versailles was disarmed. The allied nations, too, by a "gentleman's agreement" promised to return to Germany's level, he declared. But, he added, the nations of the world are more heavily armed today than they were in 1914. In the fact that they have not kept their promise, Hitler is a strong talking point, but, yet, he said, "What is to be done?" France will not disarm until she has a guarantee of security. Japan is arming in the east—Russia fears her, and Hitler is the storm centre of Europe.

The Treaty of Versailles and the World War constitute the background of most of the world's trouble today. The War to end wars has only planted seeds for future wars—and democracy has its back to the wall and is fighting for its life in Central Europe where twelve nations are under dictatorial rule.

ADVANTAGES:

1—The thoroughness of its courses, including all grades from I to XII.

2—The exceptional opportunities it affords for the study of French, special attention being paid to conversation and composition in that language.

3—The attention that it pays to the moulding of character.

4—The training that it gives in Art, in Music, in Plain and Fancy Sewing, in Light Domestic Duties.

5—Its exceptionally low rates, notwithstanding the fact that the board is of very good quality.

6—Its accessibility, not only to pupils from the Maritime Provinces, but also to students from Boston, New York and vicinity, it being only an hour's journey from Yarmouth, the terminus of the boats from those cities.

7—Its delightful and healthful situation, removed from the distractions of town life, which makes it an ideal spot for study.

8—The fact that it is an examination station, which permits its pupils to write the provincial examinations in familiar surroundings, a circumstance which tends to lessen feelings of nervousness on the part of the students.

J. M. Matthews is Maritime Seniors' Golf Champion

Fifty-three year old J. M. Matthews, of Chester, won the Maritime senior amateur golf championship after two days of thrilling play over the long and hazardous Pines course on Tuesday.

With a dazzling 34 out (par 35), Matthews was "not so good" coming back with a 46, making his total for the 36 holes played during the tournament 157. His putting was remarkably good throughout the meet, hole after hole being made in one putt.

Matthews, a native of Baltimore, Md., holds the senior championship there, and last month won the Nova Scotia golfing championship.

Monday when Matthews finished the first 18 holes of the tournament with a 77, six above par and eleven strokes less than his nearest opponent, it was a foregone conclusion that he would carry off the championship. His uncanny accuracy with the iron on long drives and short drives and middle sized drives, his remarkable putting, the fact that he was in splendid form, and the splendid condition of the greens were all in his favor during the two days of the tournament.

Father Holland the runner up, equaled Matthews' score Tuesday afternoon. The Saint John priest scored 40 in each nine, thereby neither gaining or dropping behind the champion's lead of Monday. His total of 163 strokes for the 36 holes played during the meet was still 11 more than Matthews'.

H. A. Cook, of Halifax, in a brilliant game equaled his Monday's score of 91, making his total for the 36 holes 182. Hon. F. B. McCurdy finished with a 97, which, added to Monday's score of 91 brought his total to 188. Senior Robinson, who on several occasions has been president of the Association, scored an even century Tuesday, making his total for the tournament 198.

At the annual dinner of the Association held in the main dining room of the Pines Hotel, Tuesday evening, the following prizes were awarded by the chairman, George E. Graham.

What's the Matter With Digby? Is Speaker's Subject

"What's the matter with Digby?" was the subject of a talk given the Digby Kiwanians at their regular luncheon by Rev. Dr. P. M. McKus, of Digby and Wilmington, Del.

He deplored the fact that all visitors to Digby were dubbed "tourists" as many of them who have taken up summer residences here consider themselves Digbyites as the citizens of the town. Digby, he pointed out, was a poor tourist point from the standpoint of the tourist who wants to cover as much ground as possible, and see as much as possible in a very limited time. He considered Digby as a poor tourist point from the standpoint of the tourist who wants to cover as much ground as possible, and see as much as possible in a very limited time.

Among other matters he discussed the shortening of the summer season, special effort should be made he said, to bring more visitors here during the months of June and September. He suggested that in advertising literature a special appeal be made to the educators. Digby should be advertised as "a summer resort for long term holiday makers where the tourist will be made welcome," he said.

Edward Morsey, of Gilbert's Cove, spent a few days recently, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O'Neill, Marshalltown.

Eber Peck Winner of Guides' Meet at Lake William

Eber Peck, of Bear River, once again is champion of the Nova Scotia guides.

Pulling out from behind, the veteran guides' leader overcame a formidable lead to defeat young Walter Hubley, of Simpson's Corner, one of the most sensational performers of this year and for a time leader in points, to retain his title. Peck, of Bear River, finished but a scant 2 points up with a grand aggregate of 53 points compared with 51 points scored by Hubley.

The closing of the meet on Saturday night, President B. H. Annis, of the Nova Scotia Guide Association, assisted by several other volunteer assistants, distributed the prizes from the main prize booth as hundreds looked on.

All the old-time guides were represented. Burton Flavie, off-time champion, this year was out of the more vigorous events because of his health, but Burton, nothing daunted, entered in everything he could manage and made a fine showing.

Vic Walker, of Jordan Falls, Shelburne County, was another outstanding performer among the old timers. Vic, this season, won the favor of thousands who lined the shores of the lake as he did his over the "log-ger leap" a stunt in which Walker, wearing caulked shoes, leaped into the air and completely over the body of another woodsman seated on a rolling log, and landed upright on his feet at the other end of the slick after completing the leap. This is a stunt which no other guide in the world has ever been successfully able to duplicate, according to available records. It requires both perfect timing and uncanny ability as a log burler.

Local guides and sportsmen fared as follows in the events being held:

Old Guides Log Bunting Without Caulks—2nd, Levi Brooks, Bear River; Louis Harlow, Bear River.

Moose Calling—Won by Johnnie McEwan, Bear River.

Swampship Kettle Belling Contest (Guides over 45)—2nd, Owen Balcom, Clementsport, time 3 minutes 59.3 seconds; 4th, Louis Harlow, Bear River, time 4 minutes 1.8 seconds.

Nestles Championship—(Kettle belling contest, all guides) 2nd, Jim Harlow, Bear River, time 3 minutes, 47 seconds.

Guides' 22 Rifle Shot—Won by Eber Peck, Bear River, score 80.

Best Tent (Guides)—2nd, Owen Balcom, Clementsport.

Revolver Shooting—Won by Eber Peck, Bear River, score 89.

Salmon Fly Casting (Guides over 45)—3rd, William Muise, Bear River.

Four-in-Arm (old guides): Won by Levi Brooks, Vic Walker, C. E. Wambolt, William Muise; 2nd, Michael Glode, Louis Harlow, Andrew Francis, John Francis, 3rd, John Labrador, John McEwan, Peter Michael, Elmer Wambolt.

Trout Casting, Accuracy (All Guides): 4th, Billy Muise, Bear River.

Photo Contest: Won by William Muise, Bear River, (picture of a cow moose standing on the edge of a bog looking across the water at the photographer in a canoe).

Guides Trapshoot: 2nd, Eber Peck, Bear River, score 20.

Guides Single Gunwhale: Won by Eber Peck, Bear River.

Canoe Race Without Poles or Paddles: 3rd, Eber Peck, Bear River.

Old Guides Log Bunting with Caulks: 2nd, Louis Harlow, Bear River.

Bow Canoe Race: Won by Eber Peck, Bear River; 3rd, Charlie Harlow, Bear River.

Canoes Rescue: 2nd, Charles Harlow and Eber Peck, Bear River; 3rd, Louis Picot and Henry Peters, Bear River; 4th, Hector McQuarrie and Jim Harlow.

Four Man Canoe Race Against Time: 2nd, L. Toney, C. Harlow, G. DeLone, Wagner.

Swamping Canoe: 4th, Charlie Harlow and Henry Peters.

Grand Aggregate: 1st, Eber Peck, Bear River; 53 points; 2nd, Walter Hubley, Simpson's Corner, 51 points; 3rd, Allen Hunt, Greenfield, 45 points; 4th, Elmer Wambolt, Molesia Mines, 35 points; 5th, Clarence Oickle, Liverpool, 27 points; 6th, Charlie Harlow, Bear River, 25 points; 7th, Lawrence Toney, Cambridge, 25 points; 8th, Henry Peters, Bear River, 25 points.

Aggregate (Guides over 45 years): 1st, Vic Walker, Jordan Falls, 29 points; 2nd, C. S. Wambolt, South Brunswick, 19 points; 3rd, Billy Muise, Bear River, 19 points.

Grand Aggregate (Guides Canoe Events): 1st, Allen Hunt, Greenfield, 35 points.

Mrs. G. M. Morrell, who with her friend, Mrs. E. J. Broadman, of Mat-tabisset, Mass., motored from Saint John to Cape Cod; returned home on Tuesday.

Bernardo Gets Into Difficulties At Salmon River

The motor vessel Bernardo, which arrived at Salmon River last week to load pulpwood for Bangor, Me., got into difficulties at the breakwater, and was towed to Springfield for repairs on the Meteghan Marine Railway.

The cargo was put on board Monday. That evening the vessel sprung a bad leak, and partly filled with water. This necessitated the unloading of the deck-load Tuesday morning. She was towed to Meteghan by the motor vessel, Bear Cat.

Salmon River people allege that the government breakwater at that place is not adapted for vessel loading, and on other occasions other vessels have got themselves into difficulties.

Presentation Made To Freepoint Pastor

At the annual picnic of the Central Grove United Baptist Sunday School, held on the grounds of Leslie Powell last week, Rev. W. R. Greenwood, D. D., was presented with a fountain pen and set of collar buttons by the members of the school. The following address of presentation was read on behalf of the scholars by Mrs. Mohr Pynch:

"Dear Mr. Greenwood: We take this opportunity of expressing our gratitude to you for your kindness. We acknowledge our appreciation of your service and we trust that the truths you have so faithfully taught will always remain in our lives as we grow older. Allow us, therefore, to present you with our gifts as a token of our esteem and a souvenir of the pleasant times we have had together in our prayer services. We shall always cherish happy memories of you and pray that God's richest blessing may rest upon you at all times. With best wishes from the primary class and teacher of the Central Grove Baptist Sunday School."

THE FUTURE OF LIQUOR IN U.S.A.

The seizure of a 400 gallon still in Lincoln, Mass., by federal agents reminds us of prohibition days although it occurred very recently. It is announced that dozen rum running vessels are off the American coast today. This reminds us all not only that the promises of the repealists were slightly optimistic but also that the control of liquor is an eternal question. In Massachusetts a very liberal liquor law was passed in a hurry and in less than a year it is easy to see that stricter control of the business is absolutely necessary. The Boston license commission, awakened from its somnolence, is taking away the licenses of questionable joints in the big city. If stories going the rounds are true concerning certain places in that city, the license board would do well to take summary action at once and revoke the licenses of these places that have become questionable resorts. It is a safe prophecy that strengthening features in the liquor law will be passed next winter, and that this fall some communities will vote no license to rid themselves of liquor nuisances where the privilege has been much abused.

Drunkness has increased greatly under repeal. The Massachusetts newspapers are quick nowadays to tell the actual results of the new regime. The weekly report of the registrar of motor vehicles tells us quickly that accidents and deaths from drunken drivers are increasing rapidly. In fact we have to pay more for our compulsory auto insurance on that account. It is so all over the country. New York shows a 55.5 per cent. increase in drunkenness. Los Angeles 95.5 per cent.; Worcester, Mass., 51 per cent., and Boston 21.1 per cent. The liquor stores are open and 20,000 schools are closed. The feature which causes the most adverse comment locally and throughout the state is the number of women and young girls who patronize the liquor stores. Automobiles filled with girls of not more than High School age drive up to the drinking places and take away an untold cargo. The arrests of women for drunkenness in Boston have increased greatly.

Those places which are shocked by these developments may make a change this fall. In November they vote on license or no license. It is likely that many towns and cities will vote to exclude the sale of hard liquor and try out the sale of beer and wine alone as an experiment. Time alone can solve this eternal question.

A POPULAR TEA AT A POPULAR PRICE

These are certainly great days for Maritime tea drinkers when a tea of such outstanding quality as Morse's Standard Tea can still be had for 50 cents a pound. In view of the high and strong position of the primary markets in India and Ceylon, some blenders have already advanced the prices of their grades, claimed to be of corresponding quality to 55 cents a pound, while in central Canada such teas have come up to 60 cents. But the good old family tea of the Maritimes, as Morse's Standard Tea is known, is still selling at 50 cents. Obviously it will not be possible to keep such a high grade tea down to the low price indefinitely, but for the time being tea drinkers appreciate the action of J. E. Morse & Company in still maintaining the popular price of this popular package tea.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK
God is behind all.
We find great things are made of little things.
A little things go lessening, till at last C'mes out behind them.—Robert Browning.

BABY SLEEPS

Babies cry because crying is one of the few ways they have of expressing their feelings, or of securing the attention they need. Just how often or for how long a baby will cry will depend upon a number of things.

The new-born baby sleeps most of the time, waking only to be fed and then going off to sleep again. As the child grows older, he sleeps less, and if he is to sleep throughout the night, then he must be trained from birth, in regular habits of sleeping, feeding, elimination and bathing. It is much more simple to establish the proper habits from the first than to have to correct bad habits later on.

The baby will not sleep regularly unless he has other daily habits which are also regular. "Peeg by the clock" is good advice which might be extended to bed-time, bathing and elimination. It is helpful to the child's development to have these habits established early so that they become second nature to him, requiring no attention, and leaving him free to develop other activities.

The baby, who is upset when feeding time comes, is apt to swallow a great deal of air with his food; this may mean that he will not secure sufficient food, and the result is a restless sleep after such a feeding. Holding the child over the shoulder and gently patting his back helps to expel the air from the stomach.

Keeping him warm enough, but not too warm, and turning him so as to give him a change of position, encourage sound sleep. The baby has not the same ability as the adult to adjust the body temperature, hence the importance of providing him with just the right amount of clothing and covers, depending upon the temperature. The baby, who is over-clothed is irritable and restless, because he is uncomfortable.

Colic gives rise to severe pains. It is due to an irritation of the bowel from some cause. The baby with colic usually lies with his legs drawn up, and the pain gives rise to piercing cries. Bowel movement gives relief, and the baby will be willing to take some food.

A cold in the head not only interferes with breathing, but in the case of the baby, it interferes with his suckling, so it is to be expected that his sleep will be restless if he has a cold. Fever is another cause of poor sleep. As previously stated, the control of body temperature is not well established in the baby, and so babies run high temperatures very readily.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

Master Gerald Lent, of Weymouth North, was a recent patient at the Digby General Hospital, where he had tonsils removed.

Not only to be prosperous but to enable its citizens to live decently, and country at the present day—and in the future—has to plan its economic life.

Planning is 'not' necessarily even the remotest approach to communism, and all great countries will have to proceed on planned lines. These lines, for many years at least, develop in conformity with national ideals. Russia can have her five-year plan and other countries many other plans, which in their wisdom or folly seem best to them, and this country too must have its plan, based upon its traditional characteristics.

Its success depends in large measure upon realizing two facts and acting accordingly. The first fact is that no part of this country is sufficient unto itself. The second fact is that the people, as a whole, are more capable than any political unit in planning its present and future.

The object of sane planning is to form one great stable unit from more capable than any political unit, which stability can be spread to all corners of the country.

BEAR RIVER PARTY MEET WITH ACCIDENT

On Friday afternoon last, a car owned and driven by Miss Grace Hubley, of the Oakdene Academy teaching staff, and occupied by Miss Maud Otto, of Dartmouth, (a visiting friend of Miss Hubley's) Mrs. Gilbert Hubley, Mrs. Rupert Harris and Mrs. Burton Harris, all of Bear River, suddenly left the road at the top of the Purdy Hill, a very steep and winding incline near Deep Brook, about two and a half miles from town.

Medical aid was at once summoned from Bear River, and though the occupants were all badly shaken up, none were injured with the exception of Mrs. Hubley, who was thrown under the car, badly bruised, and had a very nasty cut on the lip, necessitating four stitches. Miss Hubley's face was bruised and swollen, and was, with her mother, conveyed to the Digby Hospital, where Mrs. Hubley remained for further inspection, not returning home until Tuesday.

No cause is assigned for the accident, as the car was in fine condition, and was going slowly at the time, and though the mud guards were bent and the car scratched by its journey over rocks and rough ground, it was brought home under its own power.

Harding Clarke, who has been spending the past three weeks a guest of Mrs. W. W. Clarke, left on Monday for his home in Montreal.

Little Joyce Steadman entered the Digby General Hospital on Monday morning for removal of tonsils, returning to Harbor View, where she will be the guest of her grandmother, Mrs. Wm. Cossaboon, until Monday, when Mr. and Mrs. Steadman and children will return to Wolfville.

Carroll Clarke motored to Yarmouth on Monday to meet Mrs. Clarke and children, who are returning from two months spent at Mrs. Clark's former home in New York State.

Mr. Clark was accompanied by Mrs. E. Purdy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Purdy, who returned to New York, after visiting her parents here.

On Sunday, a family party, consisting of Mrs. F. Fraser, Mrs. H. Cunningham, Mrs. A. G. MacIntyre, Willard MacIntyre, Mary Fraser, Clarke Fraser and Dr. and Mrs. Lovett, "picnicked" at Caledonia, meeting there W. D. Sutherland and family, of Lockeport.

W. L. Morrell, of the John Palmer Co., Fredericton, who has been on a business trip through Nova Scotia, returned home on Saturday, and was accompanied by Mrs. Morrell and two daughters, Ruth and Mildred, who have been visiting Mrs. Morrell's parents, Capt. and Mrs. E. Woodworth.

Dr. Avery DeWitt and family, of Wolfville, were guests on Saturday evening of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cunningham, and leave the early part of this week for their home, after spending the summer months at their Deep Brook bungalow.

The Misses DeWitt were active members of the Bear River Tennis Club through the season.

On Friday last Captain D. W. Kennedy, Deep Brook, having recovered sufficiently from his illness, was removed to Camp Hill Hospital, Halifax, travelling by the night train.

The week previous Dr. E. K. MacLellan, C. M. O., of Camp Hill Hospital, visited Capt. Kennedy at his home in Deep Brook, also at the home of Dr. A. B. Campbell, in Bear River.

Mrs. F. E. Coates and daughter Evelyn, of West Medford, Mass., have been spending a week at the Grand Central Hotel, the guests of Mrs. Coates' sister, Mrs. W. Chute. They will be joined this week by Mr. Coates, a member of the staff of the University of Toronto.

On Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Haines, of Philadelphia, Rev. and Mrs. Perry, of Connecticut, and James Watt, of Aberdeen, Scotland, together with a small number of local people interested in the work of the Oxford Group, met at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Campbell and were entertained at tea. Later this International Team conducted the United Service at the Baptist Church and after meeting, returning to Digby at the conclusion of same.

DR. L. J. LOVETT HONORED ON HIS BIRTHDAY

On Tuesday evening Dr. and Mrs. L. J. Lovett and Mr. A. B. Marshall were guests at Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Campbell at an informal dinner party, following which they began to enjoy an evening of contract. About thirty thirty the office bell rang, and on being answered, an inquiry for Dr. Lovett was made. He not being at his own office.

Stepping into the office expecting to be met by a patient, what was his surprise to be greeted not by a patient but by a long file of personal friends (not patients that night) who came to pay their respects to him and wish him many, many happy returns of the day.

Surprise being a part of the doctor's daily life, he was ready with a suitable reply, and with tables for contract quickly set up a pleasant evening was spent.

Later in the evening the hostess asked the guests to assemble in the dining room for refreshments, chief of which was a large birthday cake, gaily decorated and candle lighted, to be cut by the doctor.

L. V. Harris, on behalf of the guests, then presented Dr. Lovett with a gift signifying the esteem in which he has served so well during such a long period of time, and which he continues to serve at the present time.

After refreshments had been served the singing of "For he's a jolly good fellow" was the breaking of the party, which was the signal for breaking up a gay, informal party, which was expressed the feeling, not only of the group participating, but of the community at large.

Those attending the party were members of the Ladies' Contract Club, and the members of the two Tuesday Evening Gentlemen's Clubs.

Mrs. J. H. Cunningham poured, and assisting the hostess, Mrs. A. G. MacIntyre, Mrs. J. D. Hubley and Miss Muriel Kinney. The following "Presentation Poem" was read by L. V. Harris:

The honor of making this presentation was thrust on me, so with hesitation I undertake this recitation.

And yet this act gives exultation In spite of my dire desperation And my lack of elocution.

Accept most hearty congratulation From this friendly congregation Who hold you high in estimation.

This gift of meagre valuation Is a visible substantiation Of our sincere appreciation.

This present means a conflagration In which you need no initiation. We trust it gives exhilaration.

Miss M. Blanche Purdy left on Tuesday for Orlando, Florida, where she will spend the winter, a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Stevens.

Mr. Katherine Purdy, who has been the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Purdy, for the past few weeks, returned to New York on Monday.

Allister Harris will enter Horton Academy at the opening of the term. His many friends are very glad of this, and wish him success in the work he will take up.

Little Agnes Russell was a patient in the Digby General Hospital on Friday, having had her tonsils removed. She returned home that same evening, and is doing well.

THE PROPER CARE OF YOUR AUTOMOBILE

Refinishing the Top

THE danger of neglecting the closed car top was explained in the previous article. All of this can be avoided by starting care of the top when the car is new. Then, all that is necessary is to rub in a little high grade wax dressing every two or three months. The wax filters out the ultra-violet rays of the sun and prevents weathering.

Even though this care is not taken the formation of cracks can be prevented. When the original finish has lost its film strength, the top should be re-finished with a properly formulated top dressing, which removes the protection.

It is unwise to apply top dressing before the check marks appear. The factory varnish is of a different type, and they expand and contract at different rates. When one is applied over the other they pull against each other and are apt to cause rather than prevent weathering.

If the top is old and badly weathered it should first be brushed to remove loose particles of varnish, and then cleaned with gasoline to remove all grease, dirt film and chalked pigment. After the top is thoroughly dry and clean the dressing can be applied.

Because weathering is caused by wax, most automobile tops should be re-finished at least once a year.

Obituary

Sylvain Pothier

The death occurred recently at Bel Brook, of the foremost citizen of that place, Sylvain Pothier, a native and life-long resident, who had carried on a business there for over sixty years. He was a son of Leon Pothier and was 83 years of age. His wife, who was Miss Francoise Bourque, predeceased him by three years. Rev. Father Comeau conducted the funeral services from St. Anne's Church. Surviving are eight children: Leo, at home; Eva, of Providence, R. I.; Frank, of Lockport, Elize, of Andover, Mass.; Alvide, of Malden, Mass.; Dr. Hector Pothier, of Weymouth; Joseph, of Andover, Mass.; Mrs. Emilienne Dubois, of Haverhill, Mass.; two brothers, James of Melrose, Mass.; and Ambrose, of Belleville; also 27 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

Henry B. Potter

In the passing of Henry B. Potter at his home on Boblett Street, Blaine, Washington, on Saturday morning last, another pioneer of Blaine has gone. Mr. Potter, who had resided there for the past forty years or more, was a man of sterling character. He was in the undertaking business for many years, and in close contact with many people in their hours of sorrow, always offering a comforting word to help them at that time. He had not been well for the past few years and had retired from business about eight years ago, disposing of his business to E. E. Purdy and Sons. Funeral services were held Monday morning at 10 o'clock from the Purdy Chapel, with Rev. G. E. James, pastor of the Methodist Church, officiating, and cremation followed in Bellingham. The chapel was beautiful with many lovely floral offerings, and a large crowd of friends were present at the services. Surviving are: his wife, Mrs. Mary Potter, of Blaine; a son, Herbert Potter, of Seattle; and a daughter, Mrs. Mabel Mendelsohn, of Strathmore, California; a sister, Mrs. Bernice Jones, of Weymouth; and a brother, Geo. Potter, of Digby; also a brother, Whitfield Potter, of Boston, Mass. Sympathy to the family from a wide circle of friends is extended at this time.

Miss Adele Blackadar was an overnight guest of her grandmother, Mrs. A. C. Johnson on Wednesday.

Ernest Doty, who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. Russell Henshaw and Mr. Henshaw, at Waldec Lane, has returned home. He was accompanied by Mrs. Henshaw, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Doty, at Weymouth North.

Mrs. Geo. Wm. Melanson, who was called here some time ago by the serious illness and death of her mother, Mrs. John L. LeBlanc, returned to her home at Prospect Park, Pa., on Wednesday of last week. She was accompanied as far as Yarmouth by her sister, Miss Rosetta LeBlanc.

William C. Hinkinson has returned from the Guides' Meet at Lake William, where he had charge of the Loud Speaking system. The meet this year decided to use the Loud Speaking System instead of megaphones, as previously used, and the Acadia University System was used. Mr. Hinkinson being asked to act as operator.

The Halifax Herald last week contained a Concession family picture of four generations. Those shown in the picture were: Mrs. J. MacDonald, of Concession; her daughter, Mrs. Annie Moberg, of Lynn, Mass.; Mrs. Moberg's daughter, Mrs. H. Wellington, East Weymouth, Mass.; and her little son Henry. Mrs. MacDonald is the oldest resident of that place being 92 years of age. She has 5 children living, 16 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

SCOUT CAMP

On the 20th of August twenty-two scouts and their Scout Master, Mr. Powell, left Weymouth for a camping trip of six days, to the camp Mr. and Mrs. Sack had given them. Mr. Sack, who had named the camp, let each scout guess what he thought was the name, the one guessing nearest would receive a hunting knife. Fred Knoult and Lindley Jones guessed it. Each boy having a knife of his own, presented the knife to Mr. Powell. The name of the camp chosen was Camp Powell.

Arriving in camp, all set to work some making fireplaces, others building spruce huts to sleep in, some getting meals. Each patrol had its own kitchen out doors, fireplace, eating table and dry place for wood. When night came on and work was finished, all would gather around the council fire and sing songs and tell stories. On Tuesday some of the boys went to Lake Doyle, two miles away from the woods, for a swim. Next day a group of boys started to make an archway at the camp's entrance with letters, Camp Powell, made of natural wood placed on the top.

Another group with Mr. Powell, started blazing a trail through the woods due east towards Mr. Sack's camp, six miles distance on Long Tusk Lake, working all day they completed a mile. Next day being Thursday most all the scouts, struck out on the trail prepared for an overnight stay in the woods. At nightfall they made Little Culbary Lake, camping there all night. At 3 p. m. next day they made Mr. Sack's camp, where a grand dinner waited for them, and they ate. After a good rest they retraced their steps to Camp Powell, arriving there in the evening.

Next day all broke camp, cleaned the camp grounds up and headed for home at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. A vote of thanks was given to Mr. and Mrs. Sack, who had made it possible for their grand time in the woods.

Lindley Jones, Scribe

JUNIOR BASEBALL TEAM

The recently organized Weymouth Junior Baseball Team has this year reached the Nova Scotia playoffs in the Junior Baseball League. They went to Lake Doyle, two miles recently, but reciprocated by defeating the Yarmouth team, on Wednesday last they went to Kentville to play the Halifax Pirates.

The Weymouthians were leading at the end of the fifth inning with a score of 1-0 but the Halifax team then came to the forefront and the final score was 17-3 in favor of the Pirates.

Belliveau pitched for the Weymouth team the first seven innings and was then replaced by D. Comeau. Halifax—Smith, ss.; MacDonald, 3b.; R. Foley, rf.; Jones, c.; Paul, 1c.; R. Foley, 2b.; Rouse, lf.; Beasley, lf.; Carrigan, p.

Weymouth—Belliveau, p. and ss.; Halliwell, lf.; Hamilton, 3b.; Comeau, ss.; and p.; Killam, c.; E. Comeau, lf.; Jarvis, cf.; Langford, rf.; Johnson, if.

Mrs. Edmund Melanson, of Corberrie, while attending a card party at the home of Sefrou Melanson, in aid of the Southville Roman Catholic Chapel, had the misfortune to fall down stairs, cutting her head quite severely. Mrs. Melanson was immediately rushed to the office of Dr. Herbert Melanson, at Weymouth, who found it necessary to take seven stitches to close the wound.

The First Weymouth Boy Scout Troop returned from a week at camp on Saturday.

Marriages

Handspiker—VanTassel

Erected nearly half a century ago, in 1886, the little Baptist Church, at Culloden, was the scene of its first wedding on Tuesday evening, when Miss Faye Handspiker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Handspiker, Culloden, was united in matrimony to Eric VanTassel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar VanTassel, of Mount Pleasant.

On this unique and memorable occasion, the church was very prettily decorated by friends of the bride. The bride, who carried a bouquet of sweet peas and maiden's breath ferns, looked the picture of loveliness in her wedding gown of white georgette, as did her sisters, Muriel and Gwendolyn, who acted as bridesmaids. Muriel's dress was green and orange and she carried a bouquet of pink gladioli. Gwendolyn wore yellow orsande and carried a bouquet of yellow gladioli.

Thy "Peggy" Norris made a charming little flower girl, and added much to the charm of this very pretty wedding which was solemnized by Rev. A. E. Gabriel, rector of Holy Trinity Church, Digby. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Wallace Handspiker. Fraser Handspiker supported the groom, Mrs. C. L. Bowley played the wedding march, Sullivan Handspiker and Vernon Everett were ushers. A reception was held at the home of the bride.

DECIDE TO HOLD INDIAN CARNIVAL AGAIN IN 1935

Meeting at the Grand Central Hotel, Bear River, on last Thursday evening, the managing committees of the recent Indian Carnival decided unanimously to hold the event again next year.

The meeting took the form of a supper and the business was discussed over the tables in the dining room of the hotel.

The total expenses in round figures were $1,903, and receipts from all sources $2,368.

A managing committee consisting of Rev. Father Leo Murphy, chairman; J. W. Merkel, Digby; A. B. Marshall, Bear River; W. A. Livingston, Annapolis Royal; with J. A. MacKenna, Bear River, as secretary, was appointed to supervise the 1935 Carnival.

J. J. Wallis of Digby, and Dr. D. J. Hill, of Annapolis Royal were appointed a committee to get in touch with Indian Celebrations all over America, and get copies of their advertising and adopting the parts that can be used for the local celebration.

Water Supply Ample Says Superintendent.

At Wednesday night's meeting of the town council, adjourned from Monday on account of there not being sufficient councillors present to form a quorum, W. W. Hayden, superintendent of streets and water in his report stated that the town reservoir was now overflowing, and there was an ample supply of water for all purposes. His men had also hauled gravel and rebuilt a portion of Lower Water Street in the vicinity of the fish meal plant.

The fire committee reported having visited Yarmouth where they inspected the equipment there. They were favorably impressed with the pump that the local brigade had themselves installed at a cost of about $1,200, and the whole equipment would be in the neighborhood of $3,000. They intend to make a further inspection of the Middleton equipment and will bring in their report later.

The council voted to pay the band $50 for a concert on Labor Day.

In the matter of the jail bill for transients which has been under discussion for some years, the matter was referred to town solicitor, E. J. Theriault, to arrange for an offer of a portion of payment to the Municipality, and report back to the Town Council. This bill, amounting to nearly $1700 has been in dispute for some time and arises out of the matter of board for transients lodged in the Digby Jail by the local Chief of Police at that time last month.

Municipality, through their solicitor, H. A. Nichols, served the town with a notice of suit.

Town Clerk, Alfred Bode, told of a special meeting of the Barton-Brighton Library Committee, which was held at the Library on Friday, Aug. 24, with the President, Mrs. Hensley, presiding. The work of the year was reviewed and approved. Several new names were added to the committee, and a Junior Committee was appointed to assist at the Library.

The Senior Committee now consists of Mrs. Hensley, Mrs. Chas. E. Smith, Mrs. (Dr.) W. C. Harris, Mrs. S. Cosman, Mrs. John Russell, Mrs. Avard Adams, Mrs. Evelyn Trevo, Mrs. M. Bacon, Mrs. Parker Lamberton, Mrs. Eva Wendell, Mrs. J. Specht. The Junior Committee as named is Beatrice Cosman, Freda Cosman, Irma Adams, Mary Theriault, Winnie MacEroy, Dorothy Ring, Margaret Specht. Plans were made for a concert to be held on Sept. 8th, to raise money for current expenses and more books.

NEW TUSKET
Mrs. Ernest Sabean, of Waltham, Mass., who has been spending several weeks at her former home at Ashmore, is visiting relatives and friends here. She expects to be joined by Mr. Sabean on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lyon and family, who have been visiting Mrs. Lyon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Prime, returned to Lexington, Mass., on Monday.

Mrs. Evelyn Hudson and family, who have been visiting relatives and friends here, have returned to Kempville, Yarmouth Co.

Gordon Prime, who has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Prime, returned to Wolfville on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Crowell, of Kentville, is visiting relatives and friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Sabean and baby have moved to Yarmouth.

Miss Clara Smith, of Boston, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smith.

Mrs. Eldon Ford spent two days this week at Weymouth North.

Who Wants a Rabbit ?

In our window Monday you will see three young Siberian Hares. They are the prizes for the holders of three lucky tickets. These three tickets will be hidden in our school supplies. You might find them hidden in the leaves of your exercise books or drawing books or in a bundle of pencils. We will not be able to tell ourselves where they are after the supplies are piled out on the counter. But anyone is liable to get a little slip saying they are the winner of one of these pets.

BAND NOTES

George Burgoyne's trombone solo "Air Varié" at last Monday night's concert by the Digby Civic Band was a delightful surprise to the audience.

"The Old Home Down On The Farm" was the theme, and three variations on that theme made a long and brilliant number which was played in a finished style seldom surpassed in these parts. The band accompaniment, with its subdued harmonies, was a credit to the players and added greatly to the beauty of the solo.

Mr. Burgoyne, whose home is in Yarmouth, has been playing all summer with this band, and efforts are being made to find some employment to make it possible for him to settle permanently in Digby. The presence of such an experienced musician at rehearsals and at concerts is a great help and stimulus to all other players.

The Benefit Dance at the Pines Casino gave the Band the very nice sum of $35.00 as the report shows, and there is a possibility of a further rebate from the Amusement Tax.

The town has engaged the Band for a "Labor Day Concert" next Monday evening at 8 o'clock. The Band was offered a paid engagement out of town for that entire day, but because there was no other home entertainment for the holiday, it was thought a band concert would be much appreciated. This is a "free" concert and probably the last open-air concert of the season. It is hoped that George Burgoyne will repeat his popular trombone solo "Air Varié".

If you noticed a few rough spots in one or two selections at the last concert it was due to the necessary absence of three solo chime players, whose missing parts caused a few other players to "miss their cue".

Annual Library Committee Meeting
A special meeting of the Barton-Brighton Library Committee, which was held at the Library on Friday, Aug. 24, with the President, Mrs. Hensley, presiding. The work of the year was reviewed and approved. Several new names were added to the committee, and a Junior Committee was appointed to assist at the Library.

Alfred Ellis and step sister, Miss Orey, of Boston, were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Collins, Queen Street. Mr. Ellis is a brother-in-law of Mrs. Viola (Collins) Ellis.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Ellis and daughter Phyllis, of Auburndale, Mass., have returned to their home, after spending a pleasant vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Ellis, Shore Road.

Capt. Albert J. Pedersen, of Kentville, (formerly in charge of the Salvation Army corps here), was in town, visiting friends, on Labor Day.

Fritz Dakin, and Sydney Smith have been spending several days in the woods on a fishing trip.

1933 Champion Eliminated in Golf Tournament

Once again Digby is being watched by the golf fans of the Maritime Provinces. On Monday the Maritime Provinces Golf Association opened their tournament over the 18-hole championship Pines course. On that day players entering the tournament registered, met in friendly competitions and to make themselves acquainted with the greens. T. E. G. Lynch, of Digby, was defeated in a match with the vice-president, H. M. Doull.

In the 36-hole qualifying rounds of medal play on Tuesday E. A. Sharpe, champion of the Westfield course, Saint John, led the field, beating out his 68 competitors, turning in a score of 76 in both rounds. Allan Finlay, of Sydney, 1933 Maritime champ, took second place with an 82 and 76.

J. M. Matthews, Nova Scotia's Senior champion, turned in two 83's; "Gint Cain," present New Brunswick title holder, and former holder of the Nova Scotia championship, scored 83 and 86. The sixteen players who entered the championship matches on Wednesday, including the above, were Pete Kelly, C. MacKinnon, Charlottetown; R. Ducharme, Ashburn, Halifax; J. A. Like, Westfield, Saint John; R. Stenson, St. Andrews; G. D. Raymond, Yarmouth; B. L. Davidson, Westfield, Saint John; B. Babcock, Guysboro; Halifax; Donald Miller, Lewis Miller, Chester; A. E. Lamy, Amherst, and D. Cameron, Pictou.

In the quarter finals of Wednesday, Matthews and Cain, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick Amateur champions, Donald Miller and E. A. Sharpe remained to compete in yesterday's semi-finals.

In yesterday's semi-finals, Matthews was ousted by "Gint" Cain, of Yarmouth, while E. A. Sharpe of Saint John eliminated Don Miller of Chester. Cain and Sharpe will play off for the Maritime amateur championship to-day.

Mrs. B. H. Thurber and three sons, James, Harry and Hoyt, left yesterday to return to their home in Watertown, Mass., after spending their holidays at their bungalow on the Shore Road.

Loran Hayden was the winner of the Myrtle House Cup in the recent tournament played over the Digby Golf Course. His score was 75 net, Lawrence Ross came in second with a score of 77.

John MacKinnon spent last Thursday in Yarmouth.

BAND NOTES

Following last Monday's concert someone asked Director Yates what selection brought such a storm of applause that it was heard all over town. He was informed that the applause was not for the music played but that George Peters, official announcer for the Band, brought the audience to signify their desire for noisy response when he asked the other concert Monday the 10th. It was announced that no further concerts this fall are provided by the town, but that the Band would gladly furnish such entertainment if assured that the public is ready to support it. It was then asked that those who were ready to contribute for another concert express their wish by applauding. The answer was long and loud, and the bandmen were highly gratified at the success of their novel means of getting a public vote. The Band promises to make special effort in preparing an excellent program for next Monday night, and if the weather continues warm, another concert or two may be given "by request" this month.

Plans are under way for a Grand Benefit Dance for the Civic Band and the Myrtle House, next Thursday night at the Myrtle House. Capt. Spurr has made a most liberal offer, and has set a fine example of generosity in offering the use of his hotel for the dance, with refreshments free of all cost to Firemen or Bandmen, so that all the money taken will be divided equally between the two organizations after deducting cost of music and advertising, etc. Capt. Spurr declines to accept remuneration in any form. Don't forget the date, Sept. 13. This should be made the greatest event of the month.

Delightful Tea At "The Locusts"

Mrs. Edward Burton Taylor, of Smith's Cove, was hostess to a delightfully arranged tea at her home "The Locusts," recently in honor of Mrs. Edward C. Winchester and daughter Lillian, of Digby; Mrs. C. B. Wetmore, Sr., Saint John; Miss Clara I. Horner, Boston, and Miss Ella Rothermal, Wilkes Barre, Pa. The attractive rooms were gay with late summer flowers, the dining table being centred with a silver bowl of beautiful sweet peas and lily-stems. Mrs. Edward Winchester and Mrs. George Whitman were invited to perform the tea honors. Those assisting in the serving were: Miss Winchester, Miss Horner, Miss Rothermal and Mrs. Paul R. Morgan.

The guests included Mrs. Edward Bryant, Miss Ida Bryant, Mrs. Ralph Cossitt, Miss Isabel Cossitt, Mrs. George W. Whitman, Miss Edith Whitman, Miss Nellie Coombs, of Smith's Cove; Mrs. (Dr.) A. B. Campbell, Bear River; Miss Mary Cornwell, Mrs. Fred Smith, Mrs. A. H. Hubley, and Mrs. Paul R. Morgan.

Louise Thibault and Clara Amerault spent the week end with their parents at Doucetville. Miss H. G. Ramey, of the Canadian National Telegraphs, spent the week end and labor day with friends in Annapolis Royal.

Mrs. George S. Steele, who has been spending the summer in Digby, left on Monday to return to her home in Brookline, Mass.

Mrs. Avery Sully arrived this week to be here during the illness of Harry Smith. Smith's Cove, who is a patient in the Digby General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jones entertained a few of their Digby and Bear River friends at three tables of Bridge at Colonial Arms, Tuesday evening.

Miss Katherine Patterson, Miss Mary McKenzie, Miss Helen Plamondon, Miss Jane Flannigan, Miss Betty Davis, Mrs. L. W. Snyder and Mrs. Joseph White have returned to their homes in Philadelphia, after spending several weeks at Fairview Cottage, Bay View.

Miss Louise Cossaboom, who has been in the employ of the Digby County Power Board for several years, left on Saturday for Ottawa, to begin training in the Ottawa Civic Hospital. She is succeeded on the Power Board staff by Kenneth Beck, with, of Paradise.

Principal and Mrs. F. C. Purdy, who have been spending the summer with the latter's parents, Rev. and Mrs. Colin McRae, New Germany, arrived back in town last week. They are taking up their residence in the house recently occupied by R. H. Lockward.

Recent guests at "The Locusts" have been Charles B. Kellogg, Waterbury, Conn.; Mrs. L. C. Dennett, Colchester; Home Economics, Ithaca, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Poole, Vancouver, B. C.; Mrs. S. L. Dunham, Long Beach, Cal.; Mrs. Albert L. Kennell, Scarborough, N. Y.; George H. Batchelor, New Jersey.

Local and Personal

Miss Georgina Hill is again teaching at Conway.

Clyde Denton, of Little River, left on Wednesday for Boston.

Gordon Burnham, of Halifax, was a visitor to Digby on Labor Day.

Hats for "Kiddies" $2.00 each. At the Hat Shoppe, Gertrude Oliver.

Mrs. Boyd H. Trask, of Brantree, Mass., spent the week end with relatives in town.

A. J. Westhaver spent the week end in Clementsport with his son, William Westhaver.

Dancing with band music at the Benefit Ball next Thursday night, at the Myrtle Hotel, and get a new thrill.

Miss Helen Smallie, who has been visiting her father, R. C. Smallie, and Mrs. Smallie, returned to Saint John on Tuesday.

John J. Connell returned to Saint John on Monday, after spending two weeks' vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest VanAsselt, Mt. Pleasant.

Miss Evelyn Cummings, R. N., of New Bedford, Mass., arrived on Monday to spend a month with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cummings.

The Misses Kathleen Denton, of Little River, and Barbara Mulock, of Clementsport, spent the week end with Miss Ida M. Trask, Marshalltown.

Take advantage of the 26 per cent. Cash Discounts at B. J. Roop's, Friday, Saturday and Monday.

Miss Annie Perry, R.N. of Shrewsbury, Mass., was a visitor to Digby last week, the guest of Mrs. Marilla Walker, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Sallows.

Mrs. Harold Cartwright and son, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Cartwright, left for their home in Halifax, accompanied by the latter, on Monday. Harold Cartwright, who has been participating in the golf tournament here this week, accompanied by his father and sister, Miss Mildred, leave for Halifax today.

A Benefit Tea for the Women's Auxiliary, will be held at the Racquet Gardens, on Wednesday next. Price, 35 cents.

A mistake was made in an item published last week relating to a picnic and presentation to Rev. Dr. Clement, and Rev. Dr. Groves. The picnic and presentation were by the members of the primary class of the Baptist Sunday school, of which Mrs. John S. Pyne is teacher. In error the Courier called it the annual picnic of the Central Grove United Baptist Sunday School.

Stay away from the Benefit Ball next Thursday night, if you don't want what you miss, but buy a ticket anyhow.

Rev. F. Jefferson Neal, pastor of St. Lawrence's Congregational Church, of Portland, Maine, and chaplain of the celebrated "13" Bible Class of that city, with Mrs. Neal and son Frederick, and Mrs. Neal's mother, Mrs. Field, who have been spending the summer in their cottage on St. Margaret's Bay, were in Digby on Wednesday on their way home. While in town they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wallis.

Mr. and Mrs. John Aker and son, Donald; and Mrs. Lenington and Mrs. L. Aker, of Winnipeg, who are making a round trip by car, spent the week end with the latter's sisters, the Misses Chisholm, Birch Street.

Mr. Aker, who is one of the buyers for the T. Eaton Company, has just completed his 25th year with that concern, at which time employees are given a two months' vacation and on their return to business presented with a gold watch.

Commencing to-day, for three days, all lines of merchandise at B. J. Roop's store are marked down 26 per cent. for each.

The Digby Girl Guides spent four grand days recently camping on the Porter's Lake ground, under the able leadership of Miss Lois Walker, assisted by Mrs. Harold Nichols and Miss Maryette Cox. The Guides cooperated splendidly in everything from getting all their own meals to improving their swimming in the two twenty-minute dips daily. Those present were Marjorie Holdsworth, Audrey Holdsworth, Virginia Turnbull, Ella Robinson, Gwendolyn Abramson, Helen Hadden, Gill W. W. Hadden, Mary Hadden, Lorna MacKinnon, and Marie Winchester.

The Digby Firemen and the Civic Band are enthusiastically occupied in arranging for the Benefit Ball at the Myrtle Hotel, next Thursday, and hope to make it a huge success. Unlike many so-called "benefits" the entire proceeds are divided equally between the two organizations. The Myrtle Hotel is accepting no "rake off" whatever. The music will be a novelty, being furnished by an assembly of a dozen players from the Civic Band directed by Fritz Dakin. Probably the firemen and the band will give a short parade, followed by a brief concert on the Myrtle veranda, preceding the dance.

Mrs. Marilla Walker, of Digby, was in Freeport recently visiting her son, E. A. Walker, and Mrs. Walker, and also her brother, F. Powell, who is in poor health.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Shortliffe, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Young, were week-end guests of Mrs. Young's sister, Mrs. Armoore Co., in Jordan Falls, Shelburne Co.

Miss Ethelyn Snow, who has been spending the summer with her parents, Capt. and Mrs. William Snow, King Street, has returned to Clarke's Harbor to resume her position on the teaching staff.

BREAKWATER WILL ASSIST THE FISHERMEN

A breakwater, giving employment to a large gang of men is being constructed near the Maritime Fish Corporation buildings by the Public Works Department. This breakwater, will provide a harbor for fishermen's boats. During past years, boat owners not having private oiled piers were at a loss where to harbor their craft and spent many anxious moments during storms. The new breakwater will solve that question and likely will induce more local fishermen to purchase boats and get into the business which has shown excellent signs of recovery during past months.

W. A. Livingstone Appointed County Court Judge

The appointment of W. A. Livingstone, of Annapolis Royal, to the County Court Judgeship for District No. 3, comprising Annapolis, Digby and Yarmouth Counties, succeeding the late Judge J. A. Grierson, of Weymouth, was a popular one, and the Courier joins with his many friends in the province in offering congratulations.

Mr. Livingstone was born at Big Bras d'Or, Cape Breton, in 1892, son of the late Captain William Livingstone and Sarah McLean Livingstone. His paternal grandfather was a first cousin of the famed explorer, David Livingstone. After attending school in his native town, he went to sea. After several years at sea, he studied electrical engineering in the United States, and at the outbreak of the war was in the employ of the Montana Power Company. Early in 1915 he returned to Canada, and enlisted in the 40th Infantry. The following year he received a commission, joined the 25th Battalion in the field in 1916, and commanded one of the companies of that famous fighting battalion until the close of the war.

He took part in all the major operations of the Canadian troops, was wounded five times, decorated by the King with Military Cross and bar, mentioned twice in despatches, and twice recommended for the Victoria Cross.

After his return he attended Dalhousie University, graduating in law in 1922, when he went to Annapolis Royal and opened law offices. In 1930 he admitted Kenneth S. Smith into partnership under the firm name of Livingstone & Smith. In 1919 he married Nursing Sister, Edith Clarke of Annapolis Royal, a graduate of Newton, Mass., hospital, who served overseas with the Canadian forces.

Mrs. G. M. Trohon was a visitor to Yarmouth last week.

Miss Fern Adams, of Bay View, was a passenger to Halifax on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Sallows have returned home from a motor trip through Cape Breton.

Miss Ina L. O'Brien has returned from Noel to resume her duties on the staff of the Digby school.

Miss Dorothy Moses, primary teacher in the Digby schools, returned from her vacation on Monday.

Miss Margaret (Peggy) Hall, of Halifax, spent the holiday week end with her mother, Mrs. E. J. Warner.

Rachael H. Marshall, R. N., is en route to Bermuda where she will visit Mrs. Shirley, at Beauséjour.

Mary B. Marshall, M. A., has returned to Toronto to resume her duties in the Bishop Strachan school.

Miss Elizabeth MacWhinnie, of Port Wade, returned to Digby on Monday to resume her duties as vice-principal of the Digby Academy.

Some visitor to the Courier this week left a package of Kruschen Salts on the counter. Now don't all claim it at once!

Recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Short have been Dr. F. W. MacKinnon, prominent Ottawa surgeon, Mrs. Bessie Gillman of New York and Mrs. Pauline Larraide of Caracas, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin O. Tibert, of Central Grove, arrived in town on Saturday to visit Mrs. Tibert's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wallis.

We take pleasure in welcoming Miss Vera Mason, of Mahone Bay, back to her position on the Digby Academy staff after a year's leave of absence.

Mrs. Marilla Walker, of Digby, was in Freeport recently visiting her son, E. A. Walker, and Mrs. Walker, and also her brother, F. Powell, who is in poor health.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Shortliffe, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Young, were week-end guests of Mrs. Young's sister, Mrs. Armoore Co., in Jordan Falls, Shelburne Co.

Miss Ethelyn Snow, who has been spending the summer with her parents, Capt. and Mrs. William Snow, King Street, has returned to Clarke's Harbor to resume her position on the teaching staff.

Villages Threatened by Forest Fires in County

The Digby County villages of East Ferry, on Digby Neck, and Cape St. Mary, on the Bay of Fundy shore, a few miles from the Yarmouth County border, were threatened this week by forest fires. The latest reports are the fires are well under control, without doing any serious damage.

At East Ferry the fire started in the blueberry barrens near the village, on Tuesday afternoon, of last week, burning through waste land and pasture, and coming dangerously near the village, for a time threatening the residence of Harry Harris and the East Ferry school house. Rains on Tuesday night helped to extinguish that blaze. Water to fight the fire was hauled by ox team from Petite Passage.

The Courier was informed by telephone that 200 men were fighting the blaze near Cape St. Mary on Tuesday. This fire spread through a large tract of small woodland from which quantities of firewood are hauled every year. At one time the residence of Sylvia Devant, some distance away from the village, was thought to be in danger and all the furnishings were removed. Sea water is being pumped in to fight this fire.

In both instances, due to the extremely dry weather, firefighters have experienced considerable difficulty through the fire burning deep into the parched ground.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Anthony, Wm. Anthony and Miss Romans, of Bear River, accompanied by Miss Jackson, who has been spending the summer at Colonial Arms, Deep Brook, left on Wednesday for Montreal. Mrs. Anthony, who has been conducting the Girls' Camp, "Camp Arcadia," at Deep Brook, reports a very successful first season, with prospects for a much better one in 1935. On their return from their trip she will resume her duties of Matron, at Newwood School for Girls at Redhead, N. B.

Max Pigott, of the D. A. R. staff, is on his annual vacation.

EMINENT NEW YORK SURGEON ADDRESSES KIWANISANS

Dr. Bancroft, surgeon in charge of the 5th Avenue Hospital, New York City, who, with Mrs. Bancroft, has spent the past ten summers at Sandy Cove, on Tuesday addressed the Digby Kiwanis Club, at its weekly luncheon, telling of the wonderful advances made in medicine, surgery and hospital technique.

During the course of his address he urged the establishing of service stations along all highways where victims of automobile accidents (taken to a hospital) He claimed that could be given first aid before being often "punctured" from fractured bones caused while the patient was being conveyed to a hospital, were more serious than the fracture itself. The luncheon this week was held at the Myrtle Hotel. Dr. W. R. Dickie was chairman. The attendance was larger than it has been for several weeks.

Baptist District Meetings At Tiverton Next Week

The Quarterly District Meetings of the United Baptist Churches of Digby and Western Annapolis Counties will be held at Tiverton on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. On Tuesday evening Rev. F. E. Bishop, pastor of the Digby Baptist church, will give an account of the recent Baptist convention. Following Mr. Bishop's address Rev. Stanley Stevens, of Bear River, will preach the sermon.

Rev. J. T. Dumock, of Centreville, will lead the devotional service on Wednesday morning. This service will be followed by the business session which will include reports from the churches and the address of the key man. In the afternoon Rev. Dr. W. R. Greenwood, of Freeport, will read a paper on "Local Baptist History." The Women's Missionary Union meeting will be held in the afternoon at 3.15. L. W. H. Turner, or will preach the evening sermon.

SPECIAL VALUE IN TEA

The housewife can still get Morse's Standard Tea, well known as "the good old family tea of the Maritimes," at 50 cents a pound. This is very special value; for the cheapest grades offered by many blenders are sold at this price. Morse's Standard Tea has quality equal to if not in excess of some blends that are claimed to be of corresponding grade but sell at 55 cents here and at 60 cents in some consuming markets. The great privilege of getting such a high grade article as Morse's Standard Tea at 50 cents a pound is fully appreciated by the thrifty and discriminating housewives of the Maritimes. Visitors from other parts of Canada and from the United States are not surprised, when they taste the good old family tea of the Maritimes, that the people of these provinces have become such confirmed tea drinkers. No doubt those parts of the world which have not yet become tea drinkers would also become such if they were to be supplied with tea like Morse's Standard Tea.

HEALTH

by Dr. J. H. McLeod

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

SCHOOL DAYS

The school does many things for the child. More and more is the school expected to take on new responsibilities, and many parents appear to be only too ready to unload on the school the entire responsibility for the care and training of their children.

It is impossible for the school to take the place of the home. The best results are secured when parents and teachers work together, each doing their part and trying to help the others through an understanding of the difficulties of each. Bickerings and criticisms get nowhere, and the child is apt to take advantage of them to escape from his duties both at home and in school.

Every school owes its children protection against disease while they are in school. Parents should take their part in this effort to keep their children well. They can begin by having their children vaccinated against smallpox and immunized against diphtheria before they send them to school.

Any child who appears to be unwell or who shows symptoms which arouse suspicion of a communicable disease is sent home from school. This is not only in the interests of the child who should be in bed, but is also for the protection of the other children to whom he might spread disease if he is coming down with one of the communicable diseases.

The school can only do its own part, and if the communicable diseases are to be kept out of school, then parents must see to it that when their child is coughing or sneezing, when he does not eat, or when he has a sore throat or rash, he is not sent to school. Bed is the place for a child who is unwell. If he is going to be ill, he is much less likely to suffer so severely from his illness if it develops when he is at rest in bed.

Most schools provide for the medical examination of their children at regular intervals. It is the responsibility of the parents to the correction of the defects of the parents to give prompt recta which may be found. Poor eyesight, diseased tonsils, enlarged adenoids, poor hearing, and decayed teeth are conditions which definitely handicap the child in his school work, predispose him to serious complications if he becomes ill, and often cause heart disease or other similar conditions in later life. Give your children a chance for good health by working with the school in its efforts to improve the health of the children.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

CLARE CROP REPORT FAVORABLE

J. A. Deveau, of Salmon River, writes as follows: "The farmers have about finished harvesting their hay, and on account of the prolonged dry season, the crop will be in general a third less than that of last year. The marsh hay will be all harvested this year to compensate for the shortage of upland hay. The potato crop, in spite of the dry weather, promises a good result. There has been a larger acreage planted this year.

Edmund L. Deveau, general merchant, has about seven or eight acres of A. N. Deveau, Norman O. Deveau, Ben. W. Deveau and Emma L. Deveau have also extensive tracts of land not reported so far. There has also been considerable increase in acreage of grain sown. From Beaver River Corner to Salmon River church there might be about 45 acres sown in grain. Frank E. Burridge, Charles O. Deveau, Emile Doucet, Joseph A. Thibault, and Simon G. Deveau have extensive tracts sown. The barley is coming well up to maturity and promises good yield.

Vincent Thibault, of Hectanooga, will be on hand again this year with his threshing machine, at the same place he occupied last year. The root crop, especially the beets and turnips, may not be up to last year's standard. Mangels and sugar beets, however, are well in evidence. Peas, beans, carrots and other vegetables will give a good yield; and in general in garden stuff planted. There may be a shortage in cucumbers, pumpkins and squash.

But notwithstanding the dry weather, the crop in general promises to be fair. The potato bug pest has been heavy in some places, but it has been kept under control.

Fred McHugh, of Digby, was in town on Thursday.

Mrs. B. J. Roop, of Digby, visited friends in Weymouth North on Labor Day.

Arch. Morse, who spent his vacation with his sister, Miss Nellie Morse, returned to Lynn, Mass., on Friday.

Obituary

Dr. E. O. Hallett

The community was saddened on Monday to learn of the death of Dr. E. O. Hallett, which occurred at his residence that morning, after a lingering illness, which was borne with great patience. Deceased, who was 73 years of age, was kind, sympathetic and charitable in every sense of the word, and he will be greatly missed, not only by his many friends, but by all who knew him. His wife, who was Miss Ida Smith, predeceased him some years. He is survived by three daughters, Edith, wife of Dr. Bethune, Berwick; Barbara, wife of Dr. Harner, Boston; Daisy, wife of Dr. Bruce, New York; and one son, Stanley, at home; one sister, Mrs. Ogle, Halifax, and several grandchildren also survive. Dr. Hallett was graduated from McGill about 45 years ago, and has practised in Africa, Denmark and Weymouth. He was a staunch supporter of the Conservative party in politics, a member of the Forester Lodge, St. Thomas Lodge, I. O. O. F., and Olive Branch Rebekah Lodge. The funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon from St. Thomas' Anglican church, of which he had been warden for a number of years. Interment was in St. Peter's cemetery, at Weymouth North, and the Rebekah service was conducted at the grave. The pall bearers were all members of the medical profession. The floral offerings were many and beautiful.

Capt. William Trahan

Captain William Trahan passed away at his home in Meteghan, on Tuesday, August 21, after a lingering illness. Deceased followed the sea for the greater part of his life, and has been in a number of shipwrecks. A number of years ago he retired and since then has resided in Meteghan, his native place. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Etienne Trahan, of Meteghan. He leaves his wife, who was formerly Elizabeth German; and one son, George, both of whom reside in Meteghan. The funeral took place from Stella Maris church, Rev. Father Charette, officiating.

Notice

Very few people who own watches understand the delicacy and intricacy of a watch movement. Watchmaking is a science that has been constantly developed and improved for over four hundred years.

A watchmaker must spend years learning his trade.

The balance wheel of your watch revolves 18,000 times an hour; 137,600,000 times a year. If this wheel were rolling in one direction it would travel nearly 4,000 miles in one year.

You change the oil in your automobile every thousand miles; why not oil your watch every 4,000 miles?

Have your watch cleaned and oiled at least once a year.

Proper lubricating and cleaning will prevent many faults which will otherwise stop your watch.

BRIDGE AND FORTY-FIVES PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. George D. Sack entertained at a most enjoyable Bridge and Forty-Fives Party at their home The Farm, Weymouth North, on Saturday afternoon, in aid of the First Weymouth Boy Scout Troop. The sum of about $25.00 was realized. Prize winners were:

Bridge
First—Mrs. E. Gates.
Second—Mrs. G. D. Campbell, Jr.
Consolation—Mrs. Gardiner.

Forty-Fives
First—Mrs. Hannah Walker.
Second—Jack Walker.

Consolation—Mrs. Andrew Elliott.

At the conclusion of the play, the guests gathered upon the lawn, where a most delicious lunch was served by the Boy Scouts assisted by Miss Penelope Sack and Miss Anna, Barkhouse.

The Scouts then put on the following program:

"Harmonica Solo"—The Old Pine Tree," by Donald Barkhouse.

Marriages

Melanson-Thibideau

A wedding of interest took place at Church Point, on August 31st, being solemnized at St. Mary's church, when Rev. J. M. Dreaan, assisted by Revs. Herbert and Hache as deacon and sub-deacon, united in marriage Miss Regina Thibideau, daughter of Mrs. Mary Thibideau, and Edmond J. Melanson, son of William S. Melanson, both of Church Point. The bride looked charming in a gown of white satin, with veil and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of white gladioli and sweet peas. Her attendant, Miss Celeste Bellevue, chose a gown of pale rose crepe de chine, with hat and accessories, and carried a bouquet of pink gladioli and sweet peas. The best man was Philip Thibideau, a brother of the bride. The bride was given in marriage by her brother and entered the church in the strains of a wedding march played by Ulysse Comeau. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home at which fifty guests attended.

Hershey-MacAlpine

At the Reformed Baptist Parsonage, in Port Maitland, on Friday, August 24, Minerva Ethel MacAlpine, of Hasset's, was united in marriage to Borden Earl Hershey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grace Hershey, of Port Maitland. Rev. P. J. Trifon performed the ceremony in the presence of immediate relatives and a few friends. The happy couple will reside in Port Maitland. A host of friends wish them a long life of wedded bliss.

Blinn-Horscroft

The wedding took place yesterday at the Little Church Around the Corner, New York City, of William Joseph Blinn, aged 36, a native of Little Brook, to Ruth S. Horscroft, aged 34, a nurse, whose first husband died in 1926. Blinn is a son of Joseph and Evelyn (Comeau) Blinn, of Little Brook.

Co-Tibert

The marriage of Miss Muriel Ethel, daughter of W. K. Tibert, director of Provincial Vocational Education, and Mrs. Tibert, of Fredericton, to Geo. Ernest Coy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Amasa Coy, of Upper Gagetown, N. B., took place at one o'clock, August 29, at the home of her parents. Rev. G. W. Guion, pastor of the Brunswick Street Baptist church, officiated. The ceremony was performed in front of a bower of palms and pale pink gladioli. The bride, who was given away by her father, carried a bouquet of white gladioli and Ophelia roses. The only attendant of the bride was her cousin, Miss Helen Frost, of Little River. She was charming, her gown being of powder blue georgette, made on princess lines; high neck and shirred sleeves, and ending in a short train. The trimmings were in a darker shade of transparent velvet, with sash to the bottom of the dress. She wore hat and shoes to match and the only ornament, the gift of the bridegroom, was a diamond ring of Johnnie Hill and Ophelia roses. The only attendant of the bride was her cousin, little Miss Jean Carter, who was prettily attired in pink silk. She carried a basket of sweet peas in pastel shades. The bridegroom was unattended. Master Junior Tibert, brother of the bride, and little Miss Dorothy Tobin, niece of the bridegroom, attended the door. After the wedding ceremony, a reception was held about seventy guests being present. The bride's table was surmounted by a three-tier wedding cake which was decorated with a white bell and orange blossoms. On the bridal table were candles and pink and white sweet peas and smilax. The house was attractive with flowers, the stairs being banked with a profusion of lion's paw, club moss and smilax. The tea table, which was attractive in pastel shade gladioli, was presided over by Mrs. Arthur Hoben, of New York, and Mrs. M. Chapman, Saint John. For a travelling costume the bride chose a deep brown swaguer suit, trimmed with kolinsky, with accessories to match. Mr. and Mrs. Coy left on a honeymoon trip which will include a canoe trip on the Belle Isle and Kennebecasis. Mrs. Tibert mother of the bride, wore a gown of black trimmings, black velvet hat and a corsage of red rose buds. Mrs. Coy, mother of the groom, was gowned in brown crepe back satin, brown velvet hat and a corsage of yellow roses. The out-of-town guests included the bride's grandmother, Mrs. J. E. Woodworth, Bear River; Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Coy, parents of the groom, Upper Gagetown; Miss Ethel Woodworth Bear River; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Carter and family, Saint John; Mrs. M. Chapman and Miss Sadie Chapman, Saint John; Mrs. Arthur Hoben, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Ashley George, Upper Sackville; Miss Vera Campbell, Saint John; Miss Dorothy Morris, Woodstock; Miss Nettie Coy, New York; Miss Gretchen Hanson, Durham Bridge; Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Currier, Upper Gagetown; Mr. and Mrs. Weston Coy, Upper Gagetown; Miss Ella Hayes, Apohaqui. ### JUNIOR FARMERS OF NOVA SCOTIA VISIT THE CAPITAL

On Tuesday, August 28th, one hundred and fifty boys and girls from the Province of Nova Scotia, arrived in Halifax as delegates from different Calf Clubs.

The boys proceeded to the Halifax Hotel, where they were given rooms and breakfast, free-of-charge, and the girls proceeded to the Y. W. C. A., where they were given rooms and breakfast, also free of charge.

On Wednesday the members were called at 7 a. m., and had breakfast in the dining room of the Halifax Hotel. At 7:45 a. m., two street cars arrived at the hotel and one at the Y. W. C. A., for the members, and were taken to the railway station.

From there they proceeded on foot to Pier B, (now under construction) and many interesting things in the construction of this building were shown the boys and girls. A talk was given by C. T. Lowell.

From Pier B the girls and boys went to the cold storage plant where they were shown through some forty rooms. It was 80 above zero and the young folks saw quite a difference when they went in a room 16 degrees below zero. Many rooms were visited and very interesting specimens of fish were displayed, all frozen as hard as stone.

After coming out of this building they proceeded to Pier 28 where the steamship Lady Drake was moored. Seventy minutes were spent aboard this magnificent floating hotel.

From there they proceeded to Pier 24, which is heated in winter so as to keep all perishable articles safe. In turn, Piers 33 and 22 were gone through, followed by a visit to the Harbor Commissioners' Building where the offices were visited and they were taken to the verandas from where a magnificent view of the harbor was obtained.

A visit to the car barns was next in order and here they found street cars waiting ready to take them to Citadel Hill. After a ride of twenty minutes the members alighted and walked around Citadel Hill—one of the show places of the city. Then to the Public Gardens where a pleasant hour was spent and many photos taken. Dinner was next in order followed by an hour's rest. At 2:00 o'clock the street cars were again at the hotel, to take the young folks to the Exhibition grounds. After arriving there they were left to their own resources until 7:15 when they were got together and taken to the Forum.

On Thursday, after breakfast, they were again taken to the exhibition grounds, and until 1:30 o'clock judge was carried out. From 1:30 until 2:15 the boys and girls were free to do whatever they wished. Tug street cars were again placed at their disposal to take them to the Government House. After inspecting this interesting building they were given a talk by a government official on parliamentary procedure.

While in this building they were given the opportunity of meeting the premier and minister of agriculture, afterwards listening to short but interesting addresses from them.

At 7 o'clock the clubs were entertained at a banquet in the dining room of the Halifax Hotel, followed by number of addresses. The awarding of the prizes—quite a number of them going to members from Digby County—brought to an end this interesting trip.

EAST FERRY

School has re-opened with Miss Meredith Morehouse, of Little River, as teacher.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Stanton on the birth of a son, August 23rd.

Mrs. A. S. Merritt and family, also Miss Phyllis Lamb, of Saint John, have returned home, after visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Small.

Mrs. Minnie McLeod, of Ohio, and Mrs. Ruby Foster, accompanied by friends of Yarmouth, called on Mrs. McLeod's sister, Mrs. F. P. Small, recently.

The Misses Dorothy and Esther Wagner have returned to their home in Danvers, after visiting at their sister, Mrs. W. F. McCafferty.

Mrs. Harley Theriault spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Payne, at Centreville.

Mrs. W. F. McCafferty and child, Marion and Robert, have returned home, after visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Wagner, at Danvers.

The forest fire that broke out at East Ferry last Friday, is still burning. It has burned over a large area, including Curtis' Stanley, under Theriault, W. F. McCafferty and H. B. Harris wood and pasture lands. An easterly wind would threaten the village, in the vicinity of the residences of Arthur Harris, Carl Small and Wilfred Theriault. Mr. Banks, of Bear River, was called again Tuesday morning as the fire was burning within the wind breezed up.

Herman Theriault, of Tidville, has purchased the house formerly owned by Herbert Theriault.

Mrs. John MacNair and little son, Earl, who have spent the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Dunn, went

A Burden of Fat Gone

Here is another case where the trim, slim figure of youth has displaced the coarse, fat outline of middle age. It is a housekeeper writing. She says:

"I cannot say what weight I was, but I was very fat—a burden to myself. I have taken three bottles of Kruschen Salts, and now I am quite slender. I am over 56, and people take me for 40. I am more than proud of myself. You can take it from me that every word of this is true. I took a teaspoonful in hot water every morning till I used three bottles. Now I only take half a teaspoonful each morning. I cannot recommend the Kruschen Salts enough, for they are worth their weight in gold."—Mrs. A. H.

Kruschen-Salts combat the cause of fat by assisting the internal organs to perform their functions properly—to throw off each day those waste products and poisons which, if allowed to accumulate, will be converted by the body's chemistry into fatty tissue.

DEEP BROOK

Miss Lillian Hendry, of Queens Co., has taken up her work in the advanced department of the school, and Miss Mae White, of Kennetcook, is substituting for a few weeks for Miss Virginia Silver, primary teacher.

Mrs. Lovett Fraser and son, David, of Medford, Mass., are spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Adams. Mrs. Willis Rice and three sons, of Nictaux, have been recent guests at the same home.

George Pinkney, of Wakefield, Mass., has been spending some time with relatives and renewing old acquaintances here, after an absence of eleven years.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Williams, of Halifax, and Mrs. R. Massey Williams, of Ontario, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McClelland. Miss Louise Harris, of Annapolis Royal, and Mrs. S. B. Henshaw, of Somerville, arrived on Monday for a few weeks' visit at the same home.

Miss Lavinia Berry, Malden, Mass., accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Minerva Moore, of Wallace, spent several days last week as guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Berry.

Miss Ruth McClelland, Stewart Dillon and Walter Kennel left on Tuesday for their homes in Legonia, Mass.

Miss Margaret Jones and Miss Virginia Lindon left on Saturday for Newton Upper Falls and Brookline, Mass.

The United Baptist Sunday School met on Friday at Strong's Point for their annual picnic. The day was very pleasantly spent with motor boat trips in the morning and a good dinner, with games and contests, in the afternoon.

Lt. W. H. Turner, pastor of the United Baptist Church, attended the Maritime convention at Wolfville. Mr. Turner met the Examining Council and was recommended unanimously for ordination. The ordination service will take place probably before he returns to Wolfville for his senior year in arts and theology at Acadia University.

Last week Rev. Turner and W. H. MacBain, of Toronto, held a series of evangelistic meetings here. They were well attended.

HEZEKIAH LEADS HIS PEOPLE BACK TO GOD

Golden Text:—"God is gracious and merciful"—II Chron. 30:9.

Lesson Passage:—II Chron. 30:1-13.

So, as I enter here from day to day, And leave my burden at this minister's gate,
Kneeling in prayer and not ashamed to pray,
The tumult of the time disconsolate,
To inarticulate murmurs dies away
While the eternal ages watch and wait.

—Longfellow.

Post Office and Church, 1

The post office is an auxiliary to the church. It distributes religious publications, makes possible religious education and leadership training by correspondence, carries, announces, meetings, conventions and financial appeals, and, by making possible the interchange of letters, keeps religious leaders in touch with one another. How handicapped the modern church would be if we had to revert to the slow methods of Hezekiah's day when letters had to be written by hand and carried by runners. Today we have the facilities of telegraph, telephone, air-mail and radio. Even thus there are a few people who get their mail a few times or only once in a year, and are cut off from co-operative projects. Mention is often made of the Hudson Bay factor who reads his London Times each morning, one year later. Modern means of communication have put an invaluable instrument of publicity in the hands of the church. We have a story to tell to the nations and we must tell it far and near in the most attractive form possible. Advertising is not sufficient to revive a congregation, but genuine spirituality plus honest publicity can work wonders.

A Post-War Passover, 2-5

Immediately after the close of the war in 1918 we heard much about reconstruction. There was to be a new heaven and a new earth. Governments appointed committees and commissions and much was done through public works financed by borrowed money. Yet, on the whole, this, as often proved, disappointing, chiefly because the minds of the people centred on business prosperity. The test of national well-being came to be mounting cost quotations and too little consideration was given to education and religion. In our study of Hebrew history we have been paying attention largely to the prophets, but Hezekiah was a king who saw the spiritual foundations upon which national welfare must rest. Though king of Judah, he invited the separated Northern tribes to come to the special Passover feast in Jerusalem. They might still have a degree of spiritual unity even if national unity could not be restored. The remnant left in Samaria after the Assyrian invasion might be more susceptible to a religious appeal. By a friendly meeting and by worshipping together a sense of unity would be gained. By counselling together common purposes could be undertaken and the soul of the nation strengthened.

Surpassing Our Ancestors, 6-8

The appeal of the past awakens strong sentiment. How often we make reference to the pioneers of Canada, or to Reformation leaders, of first century Christians! How often in Old Testament literature reference is made to the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob? We idealize the past, forgetting the faults of leaders and remembering their virtues chiefly. There is much in the history of the past to inspire us to courageous action in the present, but we must not be satisfied to be mere ly as good as our ancestors. We stand on their shoulders. We have advantages and opportunities such as they never had. They may be a warning to us as well as an incentive. Hezekiah did not hesitate to recount the failures of the fathers and to warn his people to improve upon their ancestral record. We too may see clearly the mistakes of the past, the greed that all too often has made business heartless, the nationalism that has led to wars, the sectarianism that has weakened the moral and spiritual power of the Christian faith. We need to hear Hezekiah's

THAT DEPRESSED FEELING IS LARGELY LIVER

Wake up your Liver Bile

—Without Calomel

You are "feeling lousy" simply because your liver isn't moving its daily two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels. Digestion and elimination are both hampered, and your entire system is being poisoned.

What you need is a liver stimulant. Something that moves faster than bile, mineral water, salt, laxative candy or sipping corn or rhubarb which only move the bowels—spoiling the real cause of trouble, your liver.

The Mercy of God, 9

Human conduct may be improved by getting a nobler conception of God. Those who thought of God as a "Man of war" naturally were militaristic. Those who think of God as the Father of all mankind may be expected to develop international sympathies. Those who conceive of God as merciful will themselves become more humane. We must remember, however, that God's mercy is conditional upon our obedience.

"To sin because mercy abounds is the devil's logic. He that sins because of mercy is like one that wounds his head because he has a plaster: he that sins because of God's mercy shall have judgment without mercy. Mercy abused turns to fury. Nothing sweeter than mercy when it is improved, nothing fiercer when it is abused; nothing colder than lead when it is taken out of the mine, nothing more scalding than lead when it is heated; nothing blunter than iron, nothing sharper when it is whetted. The mercy of the Lord is upon them that fear Him. Mercy is not for them that sin, and fear not; but for them that fear, and sin not."

Meetings and Interviews, 13

Hezekiah succeeded in convening a great assembly. Ideas were spread that purified individuals and cemented national unity. Much may be done by great meetings. Expectations are aroused and a sense of fellowship is engendered. By means of modern transportation and communication great national and international conventions may be held. The real problem to-day is not to get a crowd but what to do with the crowd when assembled. Sometimes more effort goes into advertising than achieving. In some meetings too much dependence is placed on oratory and speechmaking. Often a humorist catches the ear of a crowd and a thinker is unheard. Many religious leaders admit that their most effective work has been done in personal interviews rather than by public addresses. Individual work is by far the more important.

Questions For Discussion

1. What use does your congregation make of the post office?
2. Which must come first, spiritual or economic reconstruction?
3. Can the past furnish standards adequate for the present?
4. Just what does the "mercy of God" mean to you?
5. Which helps you more, a church service or private meditation?

Harold Beals, of Berwick, spent a few days last week with his grand-children. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Beals. On his return last Saturday he was accompanied by Mrs. War, who entered the Berwick Hospital, where, on Tuesday morning, she underwent a successful operation.

Rev. A. S. Payzant returned to Berwick, Mass., on Friday last. He was accompanied as far as Yarmouth by Mrs. Payzant and son Arthur, and Mrs. Edward Payson, who returned the same evening.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Wetmore and family, who have spent the summer here, returned to their home in Wolfville on Monday.

The young people enjoyed a "corn-bol" on Thomas' Beach, last Thursday evening.

William Berry, Paul Morgan and George Rice, who are employed by the D. A. R. spent the week end at their homes here.

Miss Bartheaux Payson underwent a successful nose operation in the Digby General Hospital, last Saturday evening. Dr. Phinney, of Yarmouth, operated.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Deola, who have spent the summer at Harbor View, left on Wednesday for Boston and California.

Rev. A. M. Nitch, a former Baptist minister on this circuit, was calling on friends here on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley W. returned to Roslinville, Mass., on Wednesday.

A military ball, under the auspices of the 1st Battalion, Annapolis Regiment, was held in the Harbor View Casino last Tuesday evening.

St. Ann's Chapel, on the Harbor View Point, has been fortunate this summer in the presence and renewed health of His Lordship, Bishop Richardson, of Fredericton, who has conducted the services there twice every Sunday at 8:00 o'clock in the morning and at 11. The services have been well attended, as the Harbor View Hotel has had a more successful summer this year than last, as to number of its guests, who always represent socially a high quality of Canadian and American vacationers.

An item to be noted is that, through the generosity of these summer visitors, electric lights have been installed in the chapel, so that, after the temporary residents leave, the permanent residents of Smith's Cove, who now number a growing constituency of Anglican church people, may have the benefit of evening week-day services, which represent the only available time of the rectory. The Rev. A. W. L. Smith, of Clements, port. By this arrangement the beautiful little chapel may be used through September and October, and up to cold weather. There is at present no means of heating the building.

A baptismal service was held in the chapel on Tuesday, August 28th, Bishop Richardson officiating, at which the late William Cossaboom's grandson, little William Cossaboom, second, son of Donald Cossaboom, of Smith's Cove, was christened. Miss Estelle Ogden, of New York, and Ralph Cossitt and Harold Sullivan, of Smith's Cove, acted as god-parents.

Smith's Cove and Digby both had a distinguished visitor this summer—early in August—whose presence has not been noted. This was Professor Marston T. Bogert, of New York City, Professor of Chemistry in Columbia University for many years, and who also served in Washington, during the war, on the Advisory Board of Special Scientists, selected by the United States government at that time. He was for two years President of the American Chemical Society and is a member of various foreign societies in that line, and was at one time president of the New England Society of Chemical Industry. He motored here this summer from his estate of 1000 acres on the Belgrade Lakes, Maine, where he indulges his love for fishing and his love of nature. Prof. Bogert is a first cousin of Miss Jaggar, who resides in Smith's Cove. His brief visit to the Cove was for the purpose of calling upon her.

BARTON

Mrs. Krausnick, mother of Dr. Walter Krausnick, who has been spending the summer in Brighton, left on Tuesday for her home in Saint Louis.

Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Harris entertained at four tables of mixed bridge on Thursday. The ladies first prize went to Mrs. Dean (Perry) Brown, and the gentlemen's first to S. P. Freeman. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Chas. E. Smith and Miss Dorothy Perry.

On Thursday afternoon Mrs. Eva Wendell entertained a few of the small friends of her son, Billy, at a beach picnic, the occasion being Billy's tenth birthday. After lunch was served games were played on the shore, and marshmallows roasted around a beach bonfire, at twilight. The unusual fact was discovered at the party that five of the twelve children present have September birthdays. The guests were Billy's classmates and a few other friends.

Do not forget the meeting of the School and Community Club this evening, and the concert for the benefit of the library, at Union Hall, Barton.

Hold-Up Near Grosses Coques

Daring highway robbery by two men who ordered Edmond Blinn, 19, to "stick 'em up," has just been revealed.

Blinn was returning home late at night near Grosses Coques, when he was accosted by the men who commanded him to raise his hands. They went through his pockets, and took all the money he had, $3.50. Then they ran to a car, parked some distance away, and fled.

Blinn declared he was so frightened he did not think of notifying police.

Obituary

Basil LeBlanc

Basil LeBlanc, prominent merchant of Concession for the past 27 years, passed away at his home Friday morning. He was 82 and until six months ago actively carried on his business with lively interest and keenness of mind. He was a native of Concession and lived in one of the first-built houses in that village. He was married twice and his second wife is still active and well, although only three years his junior. They were the oldest couple of the place. Mr. LeBlanc was the father of 19 children, of whom 10 are living. They are Mrs. Mary Corcoran, Mrs. Emeline Melanson, Julius, Eliot, Bernard and Alphonse LeBlanc, of Concession; Mrs. Eliza Thibodeau, Mrs. Catherine Portiers, Louis and Wilfrid, of the vicinity of Boston. He was the last of a large family. The whole village mourns their loss. He was a devout Catholic and always ready to give his services to the church. The funeral was largely attended. Services were held at Our Lady of Mount Carmel church Sunday afternoon. Rev. J. LeBlanc, of Holy Heart Seminary, Halifax, officiating.

Mrs. Maria G. Farnham

At an early hour, Monday morning, Sept. 3rd, Mrs. Maria G. Farnham, of Weymouth, died at the Home for Incurables, Saint John, where she had been a patient for the last four years. Mrs. Farnham was a daughter of the late Jacob and Sophia Weyman, of Weymouth, N.S. She is survived by six children: W. S. Farnham, of Winchester, Mass.; Uteley Farnham, of Windsor, Ont.; William E., of Brewer, Me.; and Charles E., of Saint John; Mrs. R. P. Heather, of Dorchester, Mass., and Mrs. O. P. Vaughn, of Sussex, N. B.

Mrs. Farnham will be remembered by many in Digby, where she lived for some years in the present Armstrong Cottage, Queen St., when her husband, Charles E. Farnham, was the editor and manager of The Weekly Courier.

Guests at Denton's Cottage, Westport, are as follows:—Basil McKinnin, Edward Moore, New York; Mrs. W. J. Glen, Fredericton; Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wheeler, Boston; Mrs. John Koen, Boston; Charles F. Morse, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Wallace, Washington; and Miss Elmina Newcombe, Brookline, Mass.

FUNERAL SERVICE

C. C. NICHOLL—Weymouth, N.S.

After two years' study of the proper equipment necessary for Digby Co. roads, we have modeled a Funeral Car that is adapted to our roads at all times, practically similar to the cars used in the larger cities of United States and Canada, demanding recognition and traffic rights as a Funeral Car. Our Equipment is valued today at seven times its value eleven years ago, proving our continual growth. We are constantly adding new equipment as it demonstrates its value to the public. We employ no agents, entirely soliciting patronage by the merits of our service. Prices are kept down to the minimum and our service the best, with transportation easily possible to and from any point in Nova Scotia.

Such Wrecks Happen Sometimes

By Harold E. Langley

Most wrecks are disastrous affairs—too disastrous. But, of course you have heard of the old sailor who said, "he was no kind of a hand to spin a yarn what sounded away from the truth"—although he told about a wind that blew everything off the ship, including the sailors from the yards and the whisksers from the captain's face. Then it veered about and blew them all back again—even the stove, pots, pans and cook back into the galley. It didn't spill anything, either!

Years ago, a certain character around the Bear River wharves must have been that kind of a sailor. For he said that he was once wrecked at sea in the middle of the Atlantic Ocean. His old tub began to leak and it was "all hands, plenty pump," but she was still a very wet old hulk and fast getting wetter. So the crew wanted to leave her, but the captain said to take a drink and try again. Then they sat on the cabin roof and drank a jug of rum! Afterward they tried again and pumped her dry in a minute. On arriving on the other side of the ocean, they drownded the ship and found a hole in her bottom—with a large fish wedged in it.

Well, there are real wrecks that turn out something like that. For example, there was the wreck of the Lord Mayo, two-masted schooner, R. J. (Joe) Anthony, master. She was owned in Bear River and sailed from that port.

It was before daylight on March 17, 1885—(my father, a member of the crew, thinks it was '85 or '86) that this ship cleared the river mouth and set her course across the Bay for the Maine coast. She was bound for Boston with a cargo of cordwood. But a storm was threatening overhead, and later, this threat became a thick snowstorm. So, late in the afternoon, the captain decided to run inside the harbor of Eastport, Maine, for shelter.

At that time, near the head of that harbor, there was an unmarked tidal ledge, and just about dusk it was the fate of the Lord Mayo to strike there. She struck so solidly, in fact, that she stuck fast, with a large point of rock rammed through the bilge of her bottom amidships. And to make a bad matter worse, the tide was ebbing. As the vessel tilted the crew went overboard to the emerging ledge. They took a couple of cords of wood along and built a fire. By its side they ate their supper which had been cooked before the vessel struck. It must have been a bizarre scene. There, as the centre of interest in the dark water, was the darker ledge with its burden of ship and blazing fire. Around the fire stood the crew, and in the outer circle of darkness drifted the boats of fishermen and others. They were all waiting expectantly for the schooner to dive off her rocky roost.

However, she seemed bent on disappointing them. She had been nearly across the ledge when she struck so she tipped forward until her bow was under water nearly to the foremast, and, according to the crew, a load of hay could have been driven along the ledge beneath her rudder without touching it. Then the rising tide hoisted her up and beyond her first position. In the middle of the night as the tidal force became great enough, with a cracking, grating sound the Lord Mayo floated from her undesirable berth. Of course, as the tide had risen, the ledge had gone under water, the fire had gone out, and the crew had gone back aboard! There they were soon faced with hard pumping, while they worked hastily to beach their floating home about a quarter of a mile away. On careening the ship, the point of rock was found still wedged in place. It was removed from the hole to leave, in addition, a couple of cracked timbers. This hole was soon stuffed with oakum and tarred canvas, over which were nailed boards that were ripped from the bunks.

The late V. T. Hardwick, former Postmaster

After caulking and painting the patch, the schooner made all haste to Boston with her cargo. After the wood had been discharged the Lord Mayo was docked for repairs before returning to Digby with flour, furs and other merchandise. One could wish that all wrecks might turn out as fortunately.

Sixty-one Years of Exhibitions

The Bear River Exhibition, which takes place in that town next Thursday and Friday, is just one year older than the Courier. It was in 1873 that the Hillsburgh Agricultural Society was formed, with the following officers:

President—J. V. Thomas.
Vice-President—Edw. Clarke.
Secretary—Watson T. Nicholl.
Treasurer—Wallace Purdy.

The society started with quite a membership. It was decided to hold an exhibition, and as there was no building available, the piece of land on the side of the river, known as Clarke's lower flat, was secured for it. A lady who attended the first exhibition, tells us that the flat was surrounded by a thick fence constructed of alders, which kept out the people. The land was used for three exhibitions. Later it was the site of Benson's ship yard and mill, and during the past few years has been a tennis court. After the third exhibition they were dropped for a time.

About forty-five years ago J. V. Thomas and his associates purchased land from William R. Rice, on the Cross Road, so-called, adjoining the Edward Clarke farm (now occupied by H. R. Kinney) and erected the present building thereon. Mr. Thomas took personal charge of the work, designed the building and superintended its erection. Three years later the first exhibition was held in this building, sponsored by the Hillsburgh Agricultural Society of which Mr. Thomas was still president. Edward Clarke, vice-president, and Wallace Purdy, treasurer, as in the original Bear River Society. Mrs. Nicholl, the first secretary, had been succeeded by Wilbur D. Ryerson, who died but a short time ago.

At these earlier exhibitions there was a much larger display of fruits and vegetables than there has been in the last few years. There were not so many draft horses, but carriage horses were numerous. Oxen predominated among the cattle, but cows were scarce. On the evening of the first exhibition, in the building, 42 years ago, Eliakim T. Tupper, then the local member, was the principal speaker.

Exhibitions were held in this building, more or less regularly, Bear River taking its turn with Digby and Weymouth, as these towns staged exhibitions at that time. Weymouth discontinued them years ago and the old building—Sissiboo Hall—has since been demolished. Digby's last exhibition was in 1919, at the rink, and that, too, has since been destroyed.

In 1918 the last exhibition in Bear River under the auspices of the Hillsburgh Society, was held. During the pastorate of Rev. E. J. Barrage, now of Truro, he called several meetings of the men of the community, in order "to get something started". Finally, in 1927, a meeting was held in the Masonic Reading Room, and largely through the efforts of J. L. Warren, Wilson Jefferson, Fulton Parker, Reuben Alcorn, H. R. Kinney, C. D. Rice, Chas. McDormand and others, it was decided to organize the Bear River Agricultural Society, during that year it had been decided to hold a Calf Club exhibition on private property, but pressure was brought to bear, and the calves—along with quite a number of cows—were shown on the exhibition grounds. By this time the building, through neglect, had become somewhat dilapidated, and the society's first efforts were to raise money for necessary repairs. This took almost two years, and in the fall of 1929 the first exhibition was put on with considerable success. Heartened by this success the building was still further improved. A concrete floor was put in and the open space between the galleries filled in, adding a second floor to the building, which floor is now used for the school exhibits, domestic manufactures, flowers, fine arts, etc. At the same time the exhibition was changed from a one-day to a two-day affair, and it is now listed among Nova Scotia's important county exhibitions—and long may it continue!

ANNAPOLIS-PRESBYTERY MEETING.

The Annapolis Presbytery of the United Church, held its Fall Quarterly meeting on Thursday afternoon and evening of last week, in Granville Ferry. The following ministers and laymen were present: Rev. T. E. McLennan, Annapolis Royal; C. L. Blanchard, Bear River; W. J. Dean and Mrs. Dean, Berwick; T. W. Hodgson, Digby; W. H. Forsythe, Digby Neck; E. W. Forbes, Granville Ferry; Theodore Ross, Kingston; A. S. Adams, Lunenburg; A. I. Higgins, Middleton; M. R. Ewing, Weymouth; H. H. Hamilton and Fred Bath, Bridgetown; Mr. Longley, Lunenburg; Mr. and Mrs. John Russell, Barton; H. W. Cossaboom, Centerville; and Mr. Dunn, Granville Ferry.

At the afternoon meeting Rev. A. S. Adams, Chairman, presided. Considerable attention was given to the work of the church at Culloden on the Digby Neck mission. It was decided to instruct the missionary in charge, to give the people weekly services. The indebtedness of the church at Waterville also came up for consideration and the Presbytery instructed its secretary to urge on the Conference Committee the need of immediate action in relieving the congregation of its heavy burden. Arrangements were made for a general exchange of pulpits in the Fall in the interests of the Missionary and Maintenance Fund. The communication from the President of the Conference on the study of the social implications of christian morality was considered. The Presbytery was divided into three groups for the purpose of studying and discussing this subject. The evening session was given to prayer: Rev. C. L. Blanchard presided. A brief address was given by Rev. E. W. Forbes on "The Church at Prayer." The whole work of the church was carefully interlarded for, and the meeting was one of power and inspiration. At the supper hour a bountiful repast was served by the ladies of Granville Ferry.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1934

Sixty Years Ago

It will be sixty years ago Tuesday, since R. S. ("Dick") McCormack printed the first edition of the Digby Weekly Courier. Since then the "Courier" has been rolled off the press regularly every Friday.

In that time, before the days of automobiles and washboard roads, there have been many changes for the better, in the country. In those days the railways had not become a realization, it was before Digby boasted of regular steamship communication with Saint John; it was in the days when stage coaches were the only regular means of travel in these parts; in the days when Digby was important as a fishing, shipping and ship building point.

Unfortunately, we are unable to refer to files of the first few years of the Courier's publication, for, while one of our predecessors wielded the editorial pen, some dear soul borrowed these valuable files and forgot to return them. We hope and pray that sometime, somebody somewhere, will find them stored away in an attic somewhere, someplace, and return them to us.

With the aid of an old Belcher's Almanac and Wilson's History of Digby County, a little bit of give and take, and a little information on who was who in those days, for instance the Belcher's Almanac for that year (which, then, gave much more valuable information than it does now) tells us that Robert Stephen, M. D., P. W. Smith, M. D., G. B. Oakes, M. D., and H. Syda (registered under section 37, act of 1872) were practicing medicine in Digby town; Henry D. Ruggles, M. D., and C. H. Morse, M. D., ministered to the sick and the suffering in Weymouth and vicinity. At Bear River we find Dr. Archibald Maxwell and A. P. Landry, M. D., medical practitioner at Little Brook.

Coroners "in and for the County of Digby" were E. J. Budd, Robert Stephens, M. D., Edward H. Oakes, Lemuel Morehouse, Anslem M. Comeau, Jr., Charles Everett, Charles E. Payson, J. C. McLennan, Henry C. Sabean, J. B. Morrison, M. D., Hubert Syda, M. D.

According to Belcher, Dr. J. C. McLennan, who is named amongst the coroners given above, was practicing in Weymouth in 1874. We are unable to locate Dr. Morrison. Evidently these gentlemen must have moved to, or away from, this vicinity at about that time.

The population of Digby County, based on the census of 1871, was then 17,037. The county was divided into fourteen districts, classified as follows: Brier Island, 643; Long Island, 701; Petite Passage, 390; Sandy Cove, 11,135; Digby, 1,951; Hillsbury, 1,570; Head of St. Mary's, 1,100; St. Mary's Bay, 1,709; Weymouth, 1,440; Bellevue, 1,036; Clare, 1,877; McTeghan, 1,883; Salmon River, 1,183; New Tusket, 419.

Incorporated under Imperial and provincial charters, the Windsor and Annapolis Railway connected at Windsor with the Nova Scotia Railway from Halifax, to the town of Annapolis Royal, thence connecting with a line of steamers for Saint John during the summer months, and a daily line of mail coaches to Digby and Yarmouth.

First class fares over this railroad from Halifax to Annapolis Royal were $3.50, and proportionate rates for intermediate points. Fares to Saint John $4.00. A stage carrying Her Majesty's mails, left Digby for Yarmouth daily from the arrival of the mail from Halifax. Coaches left Digby for Westport Island twice weekly.

The County of Digby, comprised of giving relief to insolvent debtors and for taking affidavits to hold to bail were: Charles Budd, Edward Hagan, Edward B. Timpany, John Donagan, Edward M. Marshall, Louis G. Bourque, Basil A. Robichau, Charlton Sabean, Holland E. Payson, Colin Campbell, Sr., W. B. Stewart, B. H. Ruggles, William B. Stewart.

B. Viets was the Collector of Customs for Digby. Sub-collectors for the outposts were: Z. Croscupp, Bear River; C. Gidney, Sandy Cove; B. H. Ruggles, Westport; J. Thurler, Freeport. At Clementsport in Annapolis County, G. F. Dittmars was sub-collector of customs. S. Jones was collector at Weymouth, while sub-collectors for Weymouth outposts were: A. Bonneau, Acadia, (had we noticed this sooner we would have investigated to learn the present name of that outpost); J. V. Stuart, Bellevue's Cove; R. Sanderson, Port Gilbert.

Evidently, post offices in Digby County were few and far between in those days. Clara W. Bent was post mistress at Digby; V. T. Hardwick, Sr., at Bear River; W. S. Raymond, at Beaver River Corner; R. M. Shaw, at Clementsport; John C. Morse, at Sandy Cove; James Bancroft, at Westport; C. P. Jones, at Weymouth and Wm. W. Payson, at Weymouth Bridge.

Justices of the Peace, District of Digby, 1874:—Colin Campbell, Sr., Stephen Payson, Edward A. Jones, Holland Payson, Edward M. Marshall, William B. Bent, John Eldridge, Benjamin H. Prof. R. C. Denton, wife and daughter, Marjory, of Montreal, accompanied by his brother, Dr. Lynian Denton and wife, of Kansas City, have returned to their homes, after spending the past three weeks with their sisters, Mrs. I. D. Harvey and Mrs. Minnie Trask.

Miss Kathleen Denton has returned home after spending the past week with Mrs. George Cheneveth, near Ruth Cheney at Saint John.

Miss Cheney, who spent a month with her grandmother, Mrs. Boardman Cheney, at Grand Manan, has returned home.

Weldon Trask, accompanied by his sister Barbara, who have been visiting relatives at Port Maitland, have returned home.

Clyde Taylor, who has been visiting relatives and friends at Berwick, has returned home.

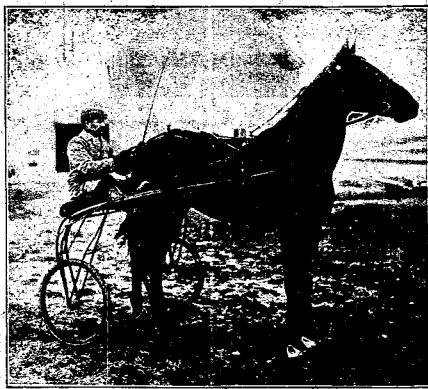

Miss Zelma Frost, who has been spending the past two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burpee Frost, has returned to Berwick, where she has been employed the past year.

Miss Ruby Trask, who has been employed in Digby, has returned home.

Madam Mabelje Morse and daughter Grace, who have been visiting her brother, Thomas Denton, have returned home.

The decrease in marriages may be due largely to the increasing difficulty in supporting both the government and a wife on a present-day income.

History of Old Clementsport Iron Works

Editor Digby Courier:

The saga of our "Iron Works" at Clementsport:

In 1824 my illustrious ancestor, grandfather Moses Shaw, went to the "States" and formed a company of "Yanks and Blues" who built the original smelting furnace at Clementsport. In September, 1825, Messrs. Alger and Jackson arrived with a corps of skilled workmen and put up the plant. It consisted of some eleven or twelve buildings, including the blast furnace for pig iron, a puddling furnace for converting the cast into wrought iron, a plant for hollow ware, as they termed it, i. e., pots, kettles, and also stoves — the open Franklins, with two big double doors their "chef d'oeuvre" — and many of them are still extant; a trip hammer for pounding out impurities from the cast iron, — the whole plant costing 3000 pounds sterling. The stone, earth and mason work dam, controlling the whole river and costing 2000 pounds, was subsequently taken over by the government, heavily reinforced on the lower side with stone, and since used as a viaduct. All that is left today of this entire plant that promised so much for Moose River, is one lone building, a cone of debris and the old indestructible trip hammer.

The product of this plant was of a superior quality, by virtue of the charcoal, thereby eliminating all sulphur. Everything useful was close at hand; ore but 3 1/2 miles away, all down grade, whereupon my grandfather laid the first railroad of the continent. Moulding sand was a quarter mile away; charcoal content was everywhere. Each farmer with a woodlot could sport a charcoal pit, that is, a cone, the shape and size of a big wigwag, composed of small, short sticks, alder preferred, covered with earth and burned slowly for several days and nights. This was hauled to the works by ox teams, in big flaring bodies, unloaded at the coal houses by the delightfully simple process of hitching the team to the two floor boards, the coal being left outside the buildings and closely observed for several days before storing, in case a smouldering brand should start up an excitement — which it sometimes did — behind the frantic oxen. Then there was fun alive! This temperamental, red-headed produce was prudently located well away by itself. A long covered railway connected the fiery furnace with its rations of coal and ore at the highway. The furnace was fed by a continuous procession of two big steel handcart loads of charcoal, to a singleness, cart load of cracked ore. By the fortune or misfortune of being "born thirty years too soon," "casting iron" substituted the movies. A wonderfully brilliant spectacle, this fiery display, in the sombre darkness of the big casting shed. This white hot river of molten iron, sweeping in an irresistible flood, from a great opening in the clay plug at the bottom of the furnace, which a couple of heroic workmen had disrupted with a long iron bar. This fierce fiery river would roll majestically down the main channel in the moulding sand, then branch through several side trenches: from these to many minor ones, some 4 to 6 feet long by 4 in. square, constituting what was known to commoners as pigs. As soon as semi-cool they were shipped to market, via shiploads.

The power for these works was supplied by a huge undershot waterwheel. The school children of my early days would extract much joy and gladness from the suicide content, embodied in the exciting pasmo of leaping into this huge squirrel wheel, just previous to a great spoke — an oak standard — cutting in as two.

PAINLESS

The severity of a pain is to many people a fair measure of the severity of the disease or abnormal condition responsible for the pain. Pain is one of nature's danger signals. Nevertheless, it is most unfortunate that the public are apt to believe that if pain means danger, then the absence of pain assures safety. That this is not true is evident when we come to consider how many of the major tragedies of illness which undermine without causing a twinge of pain health and endangers life, occur until it is too late to do much about it.

Ask the woman who comes to her doctor for the first time with a cancer of the breast why she did not come sooner, and almost inevitably the answer given is to the effect that she did not think the lump in her breast could be anything serious because there was no pain. It should be cried from the house-tops that in its early stages, cancer of the breast is painless; indeed it does not cause even tenderness. There are exceptional cases, but no woman has any justification for thinking that she can neglect the lump in her breast just because it does not give rise to pain or tenderness.

There is another popular misconception concerning cancer of the breast, namely that such cancers rarely occur in women under forty. It is quite true that the majority are found after that age, but it is equally true that a large number occur between the ages of thirty and forty, and that quite a number develop in women in their early twenties, occasionally even earlier.

This simply means that a woman cannot say to herself: "I cannot have cancer of the breast because the breast is not painful and I am under forty." Cancer of the breast occurs at all ages, and at all ages it is usually painless in its early stages.

There is only one safe and sure way for a woman to approach this subject. She knows the appearance and the feel of her own breasts. If at any time she observes or feels a change in her breasts, then she should consult her doctor without any delay. By "change" we mean any discharge from the nipple, or alteration in the appearance of the nipple, or a feeling of thickening, or a lump in the breast.

The reason why we insist upon the importance of the early recognition of cancer of the breast is simply that when the symptoms are recognized early and properly treated, the results are good. Early treatment is the only effective remedy, and early treatment can be given only if there is an early diagnosis, and early diagnosis depends upon the patient's going to her physician with the earliest signs.

Questions concerning health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 134 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

HALF A CENTURY PROVES ITS MERIT

The good old family tea of the Maritimes, as Morse's Standard Tea is known, still grows in popularity. Every month this year has registered an increase in sales and the sales for August were very much larger than in the corresponding month of last year. Early this is to be explained by the fact that the blenders of Morse's Teas have not taken advantage of the advancing price in primary markets but are giving to Maritime tea-drinkers the benefit of the favourable purchases which they have made as large buyers in the primary markets. Still more, however, it is due to the high standard of quality which they have put into this as into all their blends, blended to suit the exacting taste of Maritime tea-drinkers. Morse's Standard Tea is still such a favorite as to more and more justify its title as the good old family tea of the Maritimes. In the more than fifty years in which Morse's Standard Tea has been offered to the tea drinkers of the Maritimes, many teas have come and gone, but Morse's Standard Tea is more firmly entrenched than ever it was in public esteem.

Annapolis Basin Down Through The Ages

Editor Digby Courier:

In fulfilling your request for an article for your anniversary number of the Courier, I think the saga of Digby Basin should be apropos for the occasion.

For many aeons the giant Atlantic rollers towered and thundered along the entire Annapolis and Cornwallis Valleys, until Dame Nature, who is always doing something kind and considerate for rare little old Novie, graciously pushed up through our sandstone base from the fiery bowels of the earth, a solid rock barrier, some 120 miles long, one to four miles wide, 100 to 500 feet high, right hot off the griddle, consisting of basalt crystals, some 12 or 15 inches in diameter, such as the famed Giants' Causeway, of old Ireland.

Originally there was a barrier left at Digby Gut, Gap or St. George's Channel, according to the proper propriety of one's parlance, consequently creating a big freshwater lake. In aeons more, the silt washed in from the surrounding terrain, creating in turn, a rich deposit of deep, alluvial soil. After still more aeons, the barrier gave way by pressure and erosion of the tremendous waterfall, or by volcanic action (geologists are divided on the subject), whereupon the Annapolis River promptly cut its way down along the mountain, Moose River and Bear River joining, all three with their tributaries, uniting at the Gut. Then started the erosion of the soil, via the action of the waves and tides plus the subsidence of the continental shelf, now 100 miles out to sea. Extremely slow at first, faster each year, as the run of the waves increased in volume and power. In one man's life time, on the Dutch shore, the shore line has receded fifty yards. I well recall two Bear Islands, No. 2 of generous size supporting many big spruce and oftentimes picnic parties. The last time that I saw my tight little island it consisted of but a single sod, 12 inches long, 12 inches broad. One blow of the first big comber—gone forever!

Our Digby-Annapolis Basin is justly famed for its remarkable mirages. In my early days, back in the middle of the last century—or the one before—a ship half a mile away would change from near hull down to a 70-gun ship of the line; large lakes would suddenly appear half way up the mountain; the diminutive cliff of Goat Island, the Palisades.

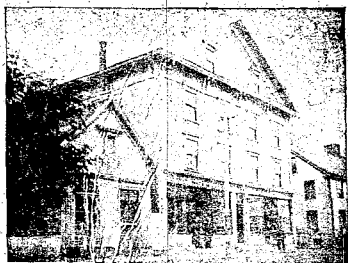

One remarkable innovation of our remarkable Basin is its "brasil guns". Whilst fishing in my early days (not being on the water so much as formerly I hear and see less of these things), usually it would be on a calm, weird sunset, we would hear a sullen roar as of big guns, commencing near Digby and running under the boat up the Basin. The local name for this curious phenomenon, among the fishermen and sailors, was as expressive as it was impolite. Science, after a world-wide investigation, landed just where they started, i. e., "a curious subterranean, submarine disturbance of unknown cause or origin." Most profuse, at Brasil, in the Bay of Bengal, hence the name. On the Basin it has sometimes been mistaken for Indians shooting porpoise.

(The editor has noticed a peculiar phenomenon in this respect. We live on Birch Street, in the north end of the town. On a still morning as the morning train from Halifax is passing from Deep Brook station to Victoria Bridge, the house trembles as though a slight earthquake were in progress. Sometimes the tremble is violent enough to wake the sleeper. It has on two occasions acted as an alarm clock when the editor wanted to catch that train to go to Yarmouth. The vibration lasts two or three minutes and takes place about when the train is passing the gypsum plant a short time before it blows for Victoria Bridge. No doubt it is caused by a geological "fault" of some kind.

In LesCarbot's map of 1609 he depicts a fortified island off Goat Island, also an island off Shaw's Point—both now half-tide ledges. A big island midway between Shaw's Point and the Gut—fortified—is now ten feet under water at the lowest tides. My wife's grandmother picked strawberries off Gull Ledge. Legend gives a chapel on Pompey. This is the chef d'oeuvre: the first white child of the three Americas was born of Viking parents, on the shores of Annapolis Basin, in 1007—presumably at Digby. Wah's like us? Deil a yin!

ISAIAH CONTRASTS TRUE AND FALSE WORSHIP

Golden Text: — "Who shall ascend into the hill of the Lord? Or shall stand in his holy place? He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart."—Psalm 24:3, 4.

Lesson Passage:—Isaiah 1:10-20.

My mornings, noons and nights
May nothing mean to thee.
For I may fare by lights
That thou canst never see.

Yea, each man goes a way
To other men unknown,
For each man has a day.
That dawn for him alone.

Sacrifice and Self, 10, 11

"With mouth of gold and morning in his eyes" Isaiah began his career as a social reformer towards the end of the eighth century B. C., and became the greatest orator of his nation. He was a young prince or aristocrat who threw himself into political and religious leadership. He lived through the period of Assyrian attacks and tried to make his nation pure within whatever happened from without. He found that the rulers were very punctilious about carrying out formal sacrifices, but the sacrifices were only of the lives of animals; there was no sacrifice of self, the thing that really mattered. The rulers were self-seekers living dissolute lives. Isaiah described them as "rulers of Sodom" and the nation as "people of Gomorrah." Conditions must have been bad indeed to warrant such offensive descriptions, but Isaiah was a prophet who had had such a vision of the holiness of God, and his standards were higher than those of his fellow countrymen. This lesson is taken from the first chapter of Isaiah but his vision recorded in the sixth chapter had taken place before he began to prophesy. Isaiah knew what it was to dedicate himself unreservedly to the service of God and he saw little value in religious rites that left the self unchanged.

Meetings and Merit, 12-14

Isaiah could not complain that the people of Judah were not religious. They were fussy religious, but their religion found expression in wrong forms. They held many meetings and attended many feasts. They observed new moons and sabbaths; they burned incense, they had sacrifices to such an extent that Isaiah said God was weary of them. Their thought and energy were devoted to ritual but they did not clean up their own lives nor did they have a thought about social justice for the poor. The message of the Hebrew prophets was that God cared for righteousness more than for ritual, that religion without morality could not be true religion, and that private conduct was the test of faith rather than outward observances of worship. Isaiah expressed these principles in words of power and beauty which are valid for us. For our own day there is still the danger of being satisfied with going to church instead of going to God, of thinking that making an Easter communion keeps us in good standing as Christians instead of living in daily fellowship with Christ. There is still the danger of thinking that a large subscription to religious or charitable organizations can cleanse tainted money. We still need an Isaiah to uncover greed, hypocrisy, cunningness and formalism, and to remind us of the weightier matters of the law, purity, unselfishness and love.

Worship and Worth, 15-17

Can it be that there are people who have no right to pray? Isaiah ridicules the hands outspread in prayer that are covered with blood through murder or economic injustice. Restitution for the past and a thorough cleansing of soul are necessary before prayers can be acceptable to God. Moral worth must precede genuine worship. The test is to cease to do evil and to learn to do well; to seek justice, relieve the oppressed, judge the fatherless, plead for the widow. In our time Isaiah would not let us compliment ourselves overmuch on the fact that we have had no bank failures in Canada; he would want to know how many people have been on relief, how many homes have been broken through poverty, how many children have been deprived of normal care. But before we condemn business men for what they have done in a large way, let us examine ourselves for what we have done in a small way. Have we taken advantage of sweated labor? Have we drawn dividends from companies that have profited by dishonest trade practices? Isaiah had transformed his own life before he presumed to condemn the rulers.

Building Now Occupied by Art's Spa Before Erection of Oddfellows Hall

Character and Courage, 18

Isaiah had a message of forgiveness as well as criticism. His purpose was not to hurt but to heal. Bad as the conduct of rulers and people had been, they could be changed and become righteous before God. Was the evanescent ever more tenderly expressed than in these words: "Come now, and let us reason together, saith the Lord; though you, sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool." Bad people may be good. The past may be lived down. A burden of guilt may be lifted and replaced by a radiant experience of the love of God. After a soul-searching sermon on business honesty a merchant walked into the vestry of his minister and asked who had been selling commercial secrets of his firm. The minister had taken his principles from the gospels and from the prophets and knew nothing specific about this man's business, yet the merchant in the pew recognized himself and before the middle of the week following had made restitution to the extent of several thousands of dollars. He lost money but he gained self-respect. The greatest tribute to religion's power is when bad people are made good.

Surrender or Sword, 19

To Isaiah the alternative for his nation was very clear. Either they must reform from within or they would be conquered by the Assyrian hosts from without. The situation has modern parallels. If Europe continues to be an armed camp, in the end they will be a "mutual suicide club," but if they will learn the way of peace and good will they may banish poverty, ignorance and disease from the whole continent. In Canada, if we organize on a basis that gives great wealth to a few and brings hardship on the many, we will have constant social strife. If we can learn to consider our neighbors' welfare as important as our own, then we can make of Canada a peaceful and contented nation. The alternatives are clear. Greed and graft will bring trouble; Christian brotherhood and economic justice will make us unified and strong. If enough lives are surrendered to God, politics, education and religion will be transformed.

Questions for Discussion

- 1.—Is there any inconsistency between public worship and private conduct?
- 2.—Is there a valid distinction between churchianity and Christianity?
- 3.—Why should we examine our own lives before we presume to criticize others?
- 4.—How may scarlet sins be replaced by snow white purity?
- 5.—It is either Christ or chaos. Is that the 20th century alternative?

WHAT PRICE GLORY?

The World War, all told, cost—apart from 36,000,000 lives—$400,000,000,000.

With that money, we could have built a $2500 house, furnished it with $1,000 worth of furniture, placed it on five acres of land worth $100 an acre and given this home to each and every family in the United States, Canada, Australia, England, Wales, Ireland, Scotland, France, Belgium, Germany and Russia.

We would have given to each city of 20,000 inhabitants and over, in each country named, a $5,000,000 library and a $10,000,000 university. Out of what was left we could have set aside a sum at five per cent that would provide a $1,000 yearly salary for an army of 125,000 teachers and a like salary for another army of 125,000 nurses.

Could Not Sew a Button on

Her Hands Were Helpless with Rheumatism

At one time she thought she would lose the use of her right hand. But "a blessing"—in the form of Kruschen Salts—put her right again. "I was sure in a bad state," she writes. "In fact, I could not do my housework. I was so bad with rheumatism in my arms and hands. I could not sleep at nights, and I thought I would lose the use of my right hand. I could not hold anything, nor could I sew a button on. My arm would go dead. I was advised to try Kruschen, and inside of three weeks I found such a change. I have kept on taking it, and now I sleep all night—thanks to Kruschen's help and relief."—Mrs. J. H. Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts have the power of dissolving uric acid crystals, which are responsible for rheumatic, agonizing. Other ingredients of these salts assist Nature to expel these dissolved crystals through the natural channels.

CLEMENTSVALE

Maurice Potter has gone to Boston for a few days.

Willis Potter and Greta Potter are home from Deep Brook.

The ladies of the W. M. A. S. of Clementsvalle, were very pleasantly entertained at the meeting of the W. M. A. S. of Bear River, on Thursday last. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Ralph Purdy. An interesting programme was given and at the close dainty refreshments were served.

Miss Thelma Potter returned from Deep Brook on Friday.

Mrs. Leander Potter, of Tupperville, spent last Friday with her mother, Mrs. Caroline Dakin.

Birthday Party

On Friday last a birthday party was given Mrs. Phoebe Potter, at the home of her son, Watson Potter, to celebrate her seventy-third birthday. The old home was decorated very prettily with ferns, autumn leaves, gladioli and sweet peas. Mrs. Potter lives in Lynn, Mass., but she is spending the summer at her old home, where she brought up twelve children—nine boys and three girls—all of whom are living. They are Ralph, Willis, Fred, Watson, of Clementsvalle; Leander and Harry, of Tupperville; Harold, Clifton, Albert, Mrs. Richard Starratt, and Miss Isabelle, of Lynn, Mass.; and Mrs. Chester Bartlett, of Woonsocket, R. I. There are 36 grandchildren and two great grandchildren. All the children and grandchildren who live in Nova Scotia were present at the party, besides a number of other relatives and friends. The evening was pleasantly spent in singing old time songs and hymns. The organ was played by Mrs. Watson Potter and Mrs. Percy Ruggles. Mr. and Mrs. Chipman Potter favored with instrumental music. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served, including a large decorated birthday cake with 73 candles on it, made and presented by Mrs. Harry Potter, of Tupperville. She was the recipient of several useful gifts, also a purse of money.

ACACIAVILLE

Mrs. Ruth Nichols and children have moved to Yarmouth to live for a time. She was accompanied by Mrs. F. Gates, who returned on Monday.

Miss Susie DeLong was a guest at the home of her brother, Dr. Walter DeLong, of Wolfville, while attending the Baptist convention.

Miss Margaret Best, of Berwick, a former teacher, spent the week end as the guest of Miss Postdon, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leigh Marshall.

Mrs. Estelle MacGillip, of Boston, is spending her vacation at the home of her brother, Mr. Murley, and Mrs. Murley.

Mrs. Walter DeLong, of Wolfville, is here for a short time, the guest of Miss Susie DeLong. The staff of the Digby Hospital, staff, is spending her vacation at her home.

A Few Remembrances of Westport

(By F. G. Coggins)

To my mind the most correct expressions of thought that can be uttered are contained in poetry—remembrances of the past—what a wonderful thing is memory.

In writing of the past one hardly knows where to begin—what feature to take up first. It is impossible to give correct detail in every instance. In our backward look at Westport we shall begin with the mercantile marine industry. As a lad I remember Captain Holland Payson, Edward Jones, Captain Joseph Payson, who owned and operated square riggers plying between Westport and the West Indies, carrying fish, lumber and other products of Nova Scotia, and returning with salt, sugar, molasses, tamarinds, and products of far away lands. The salt was brought in its raw state, here it was manufactured or ground, by horsepower, making it fit for use.

Other well known Westport captains were George Potter, Wellington Morrell and Gilbert Healey. Captain Jesse Harris was indeed one of Westport's "landmarks". He built a small three-master schooner and launched it from his own waterfront property—that was more than one hundred years ago—and engaged in the whaling business, and industry by which in those days large sums of money were made. Capt. Harris commanded his own craft.

Captain Barney Morrell sailed the two-topmast schooner "Solferino"; Benjamin H. Ruggles was owner of the large schooner "Sophia", commanded by Capt. Charles Bailey, all going foreign. Captain Webb loaded the schooner "Wave" with lumber at Weymouth, bound for Ireland, and was not ashore on the "flat ground" of Briar Island.

Others prominent in Westport's shipping days were William Ruggles, owner of the "Wave" and of the "Hazard". Among the commanders of his vessels were Captains Charles McNeill and Captain George Coggins of the schooner "Shooting Star" in the West India trade.

The schooner "Carrie Douglas", also in the West India business, was sailed by Captain Maurice Peters; Captains Wellington Morrell and John Rice sailed "foreign" for B. H. Ruggles, well known Westport ship owner of that day.

The first steamer to sail out of the Saint Mary's Bay ports was the little steamer "Almeida", of which Captain Joseph Payson was captain. Then came the Insular Steamship Company's boats, No. 1, 2, and 3, of which Captain Payson was in command. Other captains to command steamers out of Westport were Captain Byard Powell, who lost his life in the wreck of the Greave Hankinson and Ruby L. in 1930; Captain Ernest Lewis, now in command of the Government Fisheries Patrol Boat, "Capelin"; Capt. Earl Denton and Capt. St. Clair Cann.

In more recent years Captain Fred Barkhouse built a large three master which he, and his son Donald, also an excellent seaman and navigator, sailed to France, where the vessel was sold. The next feature of our Westport reminiscences which we shall touch will be the fishing industry.

In those days there were no gasoline boats. Fleets of sail boats, about 60 in number, laid at anchor in our beautiful harbor, with fine crews and bound for the fishing banks. These boats only operated in the summer and fall months, and after the season was over, laid up in winter quarters. Now there is not one of these craft left; the gasoline boats have taken their places and our fishermen are obliged to work the whole year to make a living.

Let us look back at the merchants of those days—such men as Edward Jones, Capt. Holland Payson, Byron P. Ladd, Joseph Bancroft (who was also "postmaster"), Isaac Peters, Livingstone Coggins, Oberon Glavin, John H. Churchill and Thomas Hicks.

Edward C. Bowers purchased the Ladd business on Mr. Ladd's retirement. He enlarged the property and dealt in soft coal and other commodities as well as groceries. He was a man of fine personality, keen business sensibilities and once served as

THE SLEEPLESS ONE

By E. C. Bowers

The hours I spend awake each night
Are not as pearls or beads to me;
I count each time those hours strike,
And long the morning lights to see;
With nerves all tense, the motor boat
Strikes on my ear with dismal note.

For want of sleep, the hours I toss
My wearied frame and seek repose.
The voices of the night are lost;
Then comes the day with all its woes.

The weeks go by, I long for rest,
Tis hard to think this way is best.

The memories that come by night,
When sleep we vainly try to evey,
Reach round the world, see every sight,
The present, past and future view;
Our thoughts distrust and make us wild.

We cry for sleep as when a child,
Thus days and weeks and months pass by
To those who lie on beds of pain;
They often dread when night is nigh,
And look for rest by day in vain;
But, hark, those words, in accents sweet:

"He giveth His beloved sleep."

our representative at Ottawa. In later years, we regret to say, he was stricken with spinal trouble through which he was confined to his bed until the time of his death. He wrote poetry during the long weary hours of his confinement, and, Mr. Editor, I am enclosing one of his poems which I hope you will print alongside this article.

We remember E. C. Bowers also as a school master—the first taught in Westport. We also have a good word for Bernard Havey, now of Digby. He was one of our best school masters. He also did business, with Mr. Bowers as a partner. Mr. Havey has given this writer, who was one of his scholars, many a good chastising.

Records show that Rev. Peter Crandall was the first pastor at Westport, his pastorate covering a period of sixteen years. It is recorded that he held his first meeting on Briar Island in 1809, and that the islanders threatened his life if he ever dared to venture there again. However, he was not discouraged, neither was he afraid, being assured of the fact "who is for us, is more than all against us." At that time, in 1809, sixteen or eighteen families constituted the inhabitants of Briar Island.

The next preacher in order would be Rev. Samuel Bancroft (1834); the Rev. Ebenezer Stronach was pastor for a short time; the next was Rev. Peter Jackson (1850); then Rev. P. F. Murray, in 1853; Rev. W. H. Caldwell closed his pastorate in 1859; then came Rev. James Walker was Rev. John Miller, in 1860; then Rev. Samuel Richardson in 1864. From 1868 to 1869 Rev. S. C. Morse ministered to the people of Westport. He was succeeded by Rev. J. H. Hughes, who remained until 1871. Other Baptist pastors in Westport were Rev. S. C. Moore, 1871-74; Rev. W. C. Rideout, 1874-79; Rev. A. E. Ingram, 1879-83; Rev. S. McC. Black, M. A., 1883-85; Rev. J. H. Saunders, D. D., 1885-89; Rev. C. C. Burgess, 1889-94. Rev. L. A. Cooney held the pastorate six months; in 1897 Rev. C. E. P. MacGregor, 1901-06; Rev. P. S. Osgood Morse, 1906-11; Rev. D. M. McKenzie, 1911-13; Rev. H. L. Kinsman, 1913-18; Rev. E. P. Calder; Rev. J. B. Anderson, Rev. H. H. Phinney and the present pastor, Rev. H. C. Morgan.

In the past 125 years thirty-one pastors have served this field. Also are recorded the different Elder Pastors and Evangelists of the Christian church, or Disciples of Christ, located at Westport: Elder George Garrety, 1859; I. W. Gates, Rev. E. C. Ford, I. E. Applegate, H. E. Cook, Howard Murray, William Murray, I. W. Bolton, I. W. Hamilton, Rev. J. W. Derby, Rev. O. O. Stott, Rev. Mr. Mason, Rev. Wilfred Outhouse, Rev. R. L. Morton and Rev. Malcolm Outhouse, the present pastor.

Looking back sixty years we are reminded of Charles Morrell, the first Grand Passage ferryman; he was succeeded by Fairfield Morrell, who was succeeded by his son, Edward. After his passing, his son, Ralph, who so recently passed to his reward. At the present time the family still operate the Grand Passage ferry.

The present editor of the Courier tells me that he well remembers his first trip over the Passage, in November, 1896 thirty-eight years ago—

"The day was dark and gloomy.
The boat she was not roomy;
And to emphasize the ferrage state,
He walked ashore on a lobster crate.
Landing at Duck Point, so says the poet.

Just a small spirit sail boat was used then and for many years after, until more commodious gasoline boats took their places.

We are told that the first settlers on Briar Island were people by the name of Rice and that the island was named after one of them—Briar Rice.

The Backward Look of Time

In the Backward Look of Time the Poet Has Expressed Himself thus:

Time's an hand-breadth, tis a tale;
Tis a vessel under sail;
Tis an eagle in its way
Darting down upon its prey;
Tis a rainbow on a shower;
Tis a shortlived fading flower;
Tis a momentary ray,
Smiling on a winter's day;
Tis a torrent's rapid stream,
Tis a shadow, 'tis a dream;
Tis a closing watch of night,
Dying at the rising light;
Tis a bubble, 'tis a sigh;
Be prepared, O man, to die.

A FORCE FOR PROGRESS

WHEN the "Digby Courier" was founded sixty years ago, the gathering of news was an entirely different matter from what it is today. Then the news staff had to depend almost entirely on "shanks mare" in collecting items of local interest, and compared to the methods of the present time it was a slow and unsatisfactory process, indeed.

TO-DAY the editor may sit at his desk and have not only the entire constituency of the paper at his fingertips, but practically the whole world. Through the Telephone on his desk he may collect news not only of local interest, but of happenings both national and international.

IN the newspaper field as well as in most other spheres of activity, the Telephone has added immeasurably to the efficiency as well as ease of operation. Without it much of the progress of the past half-century would have been impossible.

PRINCEDALE

Mrs. Mary Sabean, of Greywood, visited at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Milledge Wright, over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. William Spurr and daughter, of Deep Brook, visited at Elder Frasers, on Sunday.

Miss Hatt, of Greywood, spent the week end with Miss Maxine Black, at the home of Mrs. M. Wright.

Friends of Mrs. Harold Fish are pleased to see her out again after her recent illness.

Miss Maryquene Dunn, of Upper Clements, has returned home after spending some time at the home of Mrs. Reginald Fraser.

LeRoy Berry, of Milton, Mass., spent the week end with relatives here. Mrs. Berry and children returned with him. They have been at the home of Albert Fraser during the summer—Other guests at the same home recently have been Chipman Daley and friend, of Culloden, and Samuel Pyne, of Clementsvalle.

Miss Bertha Fraser had a corn boil at her home on Saturday evening.

Belva Wright, R. N., of the staff of the Digby General Hospital, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Wright.

LOWER GRANVILLE

Miss E. Silver, who has spent the past few weeks at the home of Mrs. Bertha Melanson, has returned to her home in Montreal.

Mr. John Littlewood arrived home from Digby on Saturday, where she has been employed at the Pines Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Shaffner are spending a few days in Middleton, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shaffner.

Mary Ellis returned home from the United States on Friday, much improved in health.

Mrs. Fred Whitman, of Aylesford, spent a few days last week with her father, J. V. Robbier, who is confined to his bed.

Capt. and Mrs. C. D. McRae have returned to their home in New York, after a pleasant visit with relatives here. On their return, they were accompanied by Capt. McRae's sister, Mrs. Albert E. Parker, who will visit them, and another brother, Harold McRae, of Lynn, Mass.

Mrs. Olie Amberson and Pearl Melanson attended the Saint John Exhibition.

GRANVILLE FERRY

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Casswell, Mrs. Leander Oliver and Miss Dorothy Wood went to Sandy Bottom Lake on Saturday.

Miss Hazel Eaton, R. N., and Miss Rea Flink sailed for New York on Monday to resume their duties at the Lennox Hill Hospital.

They were accompanied as far as Yarmouth by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Eaton.

Capt. and Mrs. John Payne have sold their property to Rev. A. J. Prosser, and with their little son, Barry, sailed for England on Sunday.

Two of our oldest residents are not very well at the time of writing, namely, Joshua Stark, who is ninety-five, and Miss Annie Delap, who recently passed her eighty-sixth birthday.

Mrs. Walter Mitchell, of Halifax, visited her mother, Mrs. Mary Will, a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wagstaff and daughter, Patricia, returned to their home in Greenfield, Mass., last week, accompanied by Mr. Wagstaff's mother, Mrs. Mary Wagstaff, who will now make her home in the United States.

Miss Mildred Wood, of Belmont, Mass., has returned home after spending the past two months with her parents and sisters here.

Mrs. George Baltzer left for the United States on Friday. While there she will visit her son, Albert, and Mrs. Baltzer.

An American's Impressions of Digby Neck and The Islands

Following is a portion of an article published in the Lowell Mass. Courier-Citizen:

We are now at our last port of call in Nova Scotia—Westport—a tiny fishing village on the extreme tip of Digby Neck, and, as we were told, the nearest point in Nova Scotia to the United States. Two ferries were used to bring us to this island, which is the second inhabited one from the mainland. At Westport we met "By" Blackford, who is probably better known to American tourists than any other three men in the province. He has been ferrying automobiles across the treacherous stretch of water between Digby Neck and Long Island for the past 42 years, ever since he was 19 years old. "By" has an inexhaustible store of stories and jokes, and he is always willing to dig into it for the amusement of his customers.

The second ferry plies between Westport and Westport; it's pilot and owner, a Mr. Morrell, is similarly equipped with yarns. My car, he said, was the first to be ferried to Westport in nearly two weeks and its arrival in Westport was sufficiently unusual to collect a crowd of nearly fifty persons. As in Marie Joseph, Westport's homes are straggled around the bay, with only a road and breastworks separating the houses from the water. Piers extend into the water in all directions, and a sizeable collection of fishing boats is anchored just off the shore. Directly in front of me, as I type this, is a weir, not more than 50 yards from the front lawn of the home at which we are stopping. Yesterday the weir captured a "horse mackerel," or, as it is better known, a tuna.

It was nearly two hours before the weir's owners were able to kill the fish, which was found to weigh nearly 750 pounds. Harpoons and fishforks were called into play before it was sufficiently subdued to be towed to a wharf, where its head was cut off. The tuna appeared about eight feet long and was nearly as thick through its body as it was long.

Thisseline, even the senior addict, was presented three "propellers," of which the fish had about 40. I don't know the purpose of these beautifully-colored fins, but they may have been, as some one said, to keep the fish from rolling over on its back. Two of the three "propellers" are a deep yellow, edged with black, while the other is made up of various shades of yellow, blue and white.

As I write this, I am convinced that fishing holds no more thrills for me. I've caught a shark—and not a "mackerel shark" either, but the variety that are not at all adverse to sampling human flesh. Furthermore, I hooked it with a small pollock line, and brought it alongside the boat without assistance. After that I was profoundly grateful for any help that was given me. Lloyd Denton, at whose home Thisseline and I are staying and who has taken us on some of his regular fishing trips, was responsible for landing the ugly-looking, furious fish. I held the line, while he stabbed it repeatedly with a long gaff. It was still alive and lunging, or "sheering" as they call it here, when Mr. Denton and I hauled it on the stern of the boat in order to allow Thisseline to take pictures. She snapped several. Eventually, and it did not seem nearly soon enough, the fish was shoved back into the water, where it circled around the boat for nearly an hour before finally disappearing. The stern of the boat was flimed with blood before the fish was finally cast adrift.

Mr. Denton assured me that it was hardly unusual to hook and bring a shark alongside a boat with only a light line. He attributed it to the fact that the hook had lodged in a corner of the shark's mouth, where it was unable to bite off the line. Fishermen here, I was told, frequently lose hooks and weights when a shark takes hold, and it is not out of the ordinary to have them bite through big ropes or even to sever wire leads.

Sharks are hunted only for sport and apparently serve no useful purpose. Mine, Mr. Denton said, weighed about 170 pounds, and was about seven feet long. Not a big one, but plenty big enough for a light line and a small motorboat. Last year a whale was beached near her and sharks followed it for food. Westport fishermen harpooned many of them and one was brought ashore. To all appearances the fish was dead, and men and boys were pulling the teeth for souvenirs. The teeth were nearly all extracted when the shark suddenly revived, flopped down the beach and into the water, where it swam away. You don't have to believe it, but every other person in Westport will verify the story.

But we were out for pollock and not sharks, and later in the day we caught many of the Ninety-four to be exact, and weighing approximately 1000 pounds. Waters hereabouts abound in fish, although August is considered an off month for them. Thisseline caught most of the large ones, several of which weighed in the vicinity of 30 pounds. While we were fishing a school of dolphins played all around us.

There are four popular methods of fishing here, three of which Thisseline and I have tried. They are known as "drilling," "plugging," "tiding" and "trawling." Tiding is the most economical, and so far, has been productive of the greatest number of fish. The fishermen goes out just before flood tide and anchors his boat off the ledge or shoals where he knows the fish feed. As the tide goes out, the water rushes past his boat and carries the lines, of which he had seven, well out to sea. The lines are attached to outriggers and are less weighted and longer on the outside than those nearer the boat. A fish is hooked by the flow of the tide when it bites at the bait, and it is simply a matter of pulling it in. Only pollock are caught by tiding, and the fish are game enough to put up a sharp struggle as they are hauled near the boat. The fish come in rushes, and with a struggling victim at the end of each of seven lines a fisherman has his hands full. Even Thisseline abandoned her exclamations of delight at the coloring of the fish and devoted herself to pulling them in when they came fast. Formerly there was invariably a two-minute recess for enthusiasm over the weight, appearance or gameness of the fish.

We also tried drilling, which would be recognized in the States as trolling. Lines are hung over the stern of the boat and the motor set at a low speed. The fish are harder to land, since the forward motion of the boat increases the amount of pull on the line. Plugging is a still more arduous method, chiefly used for cod, since it involves constantly throwing out the line and weight and hauling it in. A cod will generally follow the bait part way up before biting at it. Trawl fishing consists of sinking a long line to which 100 or more small lines and hooks are attached. The trawl is "run" at regular intervals and fish are removed from the lines attached to the long one. Halibut are frequently caught this way. Still another method is called drifting, which means simply that lines are fastened over the unanchored boat, which drifts to and fro with the wind across the fishing grounds.

Our second day's fishing yielded approximately 160 fish which had a total weight of 1500 pounds. There were times when Lloyd, Thisseline and I were frantically busy, although at infrequent times there were five-minute, or less, intervals of comparative rest. Lloyd cooked supper aboard the boat in its small cabin and served us a dish which was unknown to me. It was stewed pollock hearts and cod tongues, a delicious concoction and a justly popular course in this section.

There is a social convention in Westport which, apparently, even summer visitors must observe. Every clear Saturday night, at 7 o'clock sharp, natives and visitors dress up and parade slowly up and down the main street until 8 o'clock, when it is permitted to return home or to go to the town's solitary weekly movie. Dressing up involves a suit, complete with coat and vest, one cap and a shave. Nearly every one is out walking at that time. Men collect outside the few stores, while women-folk busy themselves with Sunday shopping; girls stroll in giggling groups of three and four; and young men and boys congregate in the shadows of wharf buildings to comment in scarcely audible voices on the parade. Because there are no street lights, the walk ends at dark. A majority move off to the town's only other important street, which is graced by a school, Odd Fellow's Hall and residence, to attend the theatre, while others turn towards their various homes.

Thisseline and I did not go to the show, but we were told about it. The picture was "The Singing Fool" with Al Jolson, but was unfortunately lacking in the equipment to make it audible. Since, as I remember it, the picture's chief virtue was its music and "Sonny Boy" the townspeople's lack of enthusiasm over the entertainment may be readily understood. Church circles and fraternal organizations make up the chief social activity in Westport, and the show's only competition as an amusement centre is infrequent dances, music for which is furnished by local talent. Oh, yes, there are also baseball games, although a good run of fish, fog, or storms often causes their postponement. Saturday evening I watched a loudly-cheering, victorious nine return home. The team, plus the fans it had brought with them, were packed solidly into a fishing boat which was ploughing noisily and triumphantly across the bay.

I hope I have not given the impression that Westport is a dull place. It is anything but that. The people here are friendly and hospitable to an extreme, and take a genuine and kindly interest in the entertainment of their infrequent guests. In all of the towns I have visited in Nova Scotia, I have found none more charming than this one. Tourists, I suppose, will eventually "discover" it and make of it, like Digby, a place of summer hotels, overnight cabins, hooked rug stands and tearooms. I hope the day is far off. In the meantime, I've found a place which I hope to return to often.

No Digby sea yarn would be complete without the tale of the Marie Celeste—this story is one of the most astounding mysteries in the history of shipping.

In December 1872, the Digby brigantine "Die Grata," Captain Morehouse, arrived at Gibraltar with the American brig Marie Celeste picked up as a derelict at lat. 38.30N; longitude, 17, 15W, but without apparent cause for her abandonment.

At a special survey, ordered by the Admiralty Court, the ship's hull showed no damage. There was no evidence of her having struck a rock or of being in a collision. The stern, stem, post and rudder were in good condition.

As with the exterior, so it was with the interior of the derelict. A minute examination proved conclusively that no accident had befallen her and that she had not encountered heavy weather, for the pitch of her waterways had not been started and the hull masts and yards were as perfect as they could be.

There were no cracks in the paint of the deck house. The seamen's chests and sundry articles aboard were quite dry; moreover a small bottle of sewing machine oil, and a reel and thimble over it had not been upset. The harmonium and the rest of the cabin furniture stood in their proper places.

No bills of lading, no manifest, rewarded the industry of the active searchers. They found however, abundant evidence of the presence of a lady and child. The last entry on the log showed that at 8.00 a.m., on the 9th of November she had passed to north of St. Mary's, one of the azores; but, for divers reasons it was inferred that she was not abandoned until some days later.

Why had the Marie Celeste been abandoned. A very terrible answer was suggested by the finding of a sword, appearing as though it had been stained with blood and afterward wiped; the discovery that the top gallant rail bore marks of the same ominous character, while both sides of the ship's bow had been cut with some sharp instrument. One writer maintains that the following is the true story of the Marie Celeste:

"In the early hours of that December morning, before daylight, Captain Briggs' brig, the Marie Celeste, was swamped down upon by Riff pirates, who made captives of all on board. The early hours of a dark December morning would be the very time chosen for such an attack on a vessel, such as the Marie Celeste. It is not difficult to conjure up a picture of the scene on board at such a moment. Besides the mainmast, the wheel, there was probably but one other seaman on deck—suddenly he caught sight of the Moorish galleys rushing toward the brig. He raised a shout and ran for the nearest weapon which happened to be a cutlass, and made for the bow where he may have been seen by the pirates in the act of climbing aboard. It is not impossible that the slashes resulted in the vain attempts to repel them."

"The noise of the tumult brought the rest of the crew to the deck. Capt. Briggs rushed up from the cabin with his wife and child. One and all were instantly secured and rushed to the galleys alongside. The raiders then turned their attention to the cargo, from which, no doubt, they hoped to fill their craft with plunder. They lifted up a hatch, flung it on the deck in their haste to discover what was inside; they tested one of the casks, which, to their disgust, they found contained alcohol. That was enough to render them furious, for alcohol is anathema to the Moslem Moor.

"By this time it was probably daylight. They may have caught sight of the sails of the Die Grata in the distance. They scrambled back to their galleys, not caring in what condition they left the brig. They dared not set fire to her knowing that the blaze would attract attention from other vessels in the vicinity—and to attract attention was the last thing they desired to do.

"One shudders to think of the fate in store for the captives, hustled away inland, driven on relentlessly day by day, with life long slavery awaiting them at the end of their journey—that was their destiny. Better far that they had found a grave in the Atlantic!"

Interesting Reminiscences of Weymouth and Vicinity

Many Changes in All Indian Life in Forty-eight Years Ago In Weymouth Mills Phases of Life

"Lovely and dim, the far hills lie
Beneath the dreaming summer sky.
Familiar once, their beauty lay
Above us, common as the day.
Now from afar, the years reveal
The beauty time could not conceal.
The dawns that sing, the eves that glee."

How strange that we must journey
From where the homelands valleys are.
To learn with vision clear, and see How lovely hills of home can be!"

Hello, everybody, and how do you do! Aren't we going to have a grand time, we boys and girls of Nova Scotia at our Old Home week. I can stay three days and I want to see so much and so many that I don't know where to start. I just got here, you know, and I believe I will just visit around this first day to see who is here and ask where they have been all these years. Faces and forms are a little strange, are they not? Some that used to be short and fat are now tall and lean, and vice versa there are grey hairs a plenty. But every one is smiling and looking so glad to be here. Hello, there's the McCormack girls, Emmie, Nell and Gwen. Hoo-hoo, Nell!
Come sit by me. You were my pal years ago. Remember how I used to haunt the telephone office and you taught me to play solitaire? Sometimes when you wanted to be away for a few hours I would tend office for you in fear and trembling I admit, because the switch board looked like a regular monster to me, but I managed to keep untangled until you got back. What good times we used to have playing around. We left home together.
You went back to settle down in Canada, I am still here, and I don't think I have seen you once since that day. Is that Bertie Butler over there? She has come a long way to be with us.
Also Hazel Foote and Kitty Mc-Donald, all the way from British Columbia, but I knew they wouldn't miss this gathering.
And there is G. R. T., from California. Handsome as can be and looking just like his dear old dad, whom we all loved and miss.
The Oakes girls are here and Annie and Lennie Goodwin also Mame Butler, Fannie and Addie
John, and Alma and Maggie Wilson. Come let's all sit under this tree and talk about the boys. Where are they all? Some are gone, we know, and we'll speak of them with keen regret.
Percy Journey and Joe Grant, Haste Taylor, Vincent Hogan, and perhaps others, that I don't know of. Where are the Butler boys, Will and John. The Freeman boys, Oakes boys, the John boys and Francis and Selwyn Journey. But wait, who is that coming down the road? None other than Dr. Grace Rice and her sedate sister, Francis.
Watch your step, because if you get excited, and your blood pressure rises, Grace would love to give you a pill, and if you need your kimono cut out she could do that, too. And Francis, who would think to look at her now that she was known to the whole lot of us as "Topsy". If the afternoon train will bring Nellie Falvey and Emma Journey, why our old gang will all be here. There are others, whose names are but memories. Lois and Sadie Bruce, Emma and Je-sie Steele, and Hattie and Alice Berry. What ever did become of them? There are boys and girls from up the river and down the river, I hope to see them before the day is over. Hi! there is Bert Leary. I wonder if he remembers some one that he used to call "bears". I see L.

H. S. has come from the West Coast, and if he will come along, we will hunt up T. S. Farnham, and talk about old printing office days. Leslie will confess about leaving the roller sticking in the ink, and I will tell him how I used to hate to go down stairs when he had to print cotton posters, and pull them out the big press. We will talk about V. A.
Landry, and how he would come hurrying down stairs, waving a paper, right off the press, all stirred up because someone hadn't done a good job at proof reading. I can see his eyes now, a color like a black cherry, with a glow of red behind, and when he was angry, his eyes would all most burn a hole through you.
We will laugh at the memory of the day the tide rose so high it washed away Ruel Hollowell's pig, and the whole office staff stood on the steps giving advice and offering suggestions as to how the animal could be rescued.
I don't remember that it was, though. Tomorrow, we will all go to church. Oh yes, we will every mother's son and daughter of us, and we will see some well remembered and loved faces there, and hear again the dear old hymns: "Faith of Our Fathers", "Nearer My God to Thee", and many others. Monday, if the day is fine and the tide right, we might go to Edinboro on a picnic, and when the camp-fire burns low and the stars come out, one by one, we will live again, the dear old days, and now that we will all return for another get-together. Tuesday,
I must leave for home, and after I get back, in spite of the fact that I talked every one of my waking minutes, I will think of a thousand things that I wanted to say. I wanted to talk about the old 24th of May celebrations, of the "Calithumpian" parades, the greased pig to catch and pole to climb, of the booths along the road to the station ground, and of the free-for-all fights that usually took place several times during the day. People would start coming early in the morning, from New Tusket, up the Bay and along the French shore.
They came in ox-carts and horse and carriages, and ten miles was almost a day's trip. The day usually ended with a concert in Sissiboo Hall. I wanted to talk about the band concerts, and the moonlight excursions on the river; of the occasions when a British man-of-war ship would anchor in the mouth of the bay, and every one that possibly could, would visit her; of the days in the early fall when the fishing boats from Briar Island, Grand Manan and Westport would come to Weymouth to exchange salt herring and mackerel for winter vegetables. I used to think that real excitement, and often wonder if they still do so. L. H. S. mentioned some time back in the Courier, of the changing of the name 24th of May or Queen's Birthday, to Empire Day. So many changes have taken place in our ways of living and travel. We have gone a long distance since we rode to celebrate Queen's birthday in an ox-cart to the automobile in which we ride to celebrate Empire Day. First, we had bicycles, speedy though, but like a snail compared to autos today. It was no joke to be knocked down by a bicycle then. Now we wonder how one could possibly do any damage.
One thing to remember was that planes have been known to crash through the roof and automobiles come right in your door.
Another thing that has greatly changed is the store of our grandfathers' day. One little Dry goods on a few shelves, dishes and silver ware on a few more. Boots and shoes had a little corner, and there was usually a small shelf of family medicines. The rest of the room contained groceries, tea, coffee, cheese, dried salt fish, and kerosene contributed an odor that one never will forget. Now days the store has grown and expanded to such an extent, that a whole floor is confined to each item mentioned, and the grocery store is in the basement. It is so glorified you would hardly recognize some of the things you see, but the smells are just the same, gasoline is substituted for kerosene, that's all. I get a great kick out of visiting a big department grocery store. All a woman needs to know to-day about house keeping and cooking is how to wield a strong arm. For years the battle cry of men was "Woman's place is in the home", and they have contrived and invented everything possible to help women get out of the home.

You can buy anything in a can, from soups to nuts. If you want hot biscuit, grab a can opener, and you will find your biscuit,
all made ready to put in a pan, and in the oven. Cakes of all kinds are ready by adding a little water and a few brisk stirs.
Your jams, preserves and jellies are made for you at less expense than one can purchase fruit, sugar and glasses. You can even, if you are a little bashful, whisper a few words to the nice clerk, and he will wrap up a few bottles of beer, and tuck them right in the basket with the groceries. When you get home you don't even have to light a match to cook your food. No more running out in the yard for an apron-full of chips to start up the fire, just press a button, or turn a switch, and your stove is ready. City women don't have to sweep or dust if they don't want to. Vacuum sweepers do the work more efficiently than a broom. An attachment dusts the walls, furniture and mattresses. Men have invented all sorts of gadgets to make work easier for their women folks. And so the dear little women wouldn't strain her wrist sewing on buttons, they even invented safety pins, and if you don't think they are a boon to mankind, just think what would happen to Mahatma Gandhi, if he should lose his.

Yes, we boys and girls of Nova Scotia have come a long way since we left our snug little Peninsula. We have seen many changes, some for the better and some for the worse. We have seen automobiles, submarines, air plains, radios, and many other things, but we could have seen them just the same if we had never left home. There is not one of us but what would exchange our electric or gas ranges for a seat by the old kitchen stove with all our loved ones gathered round. I would turn down a trip to Coney Island any day, for a clam bake on the Ed-inboro shore. We come to the big city, and get snooty and hard boiled outside, but waxy down deep we are just the simple country boy or girl that we started out to be. I have enjoyed that there were no hit-and-run drivers then. If you were knocked out, so was your assailant.
Then came the automobiles, and well I remember the first one I ever saw. An old Stanley steamer, chugging along, with the driver sitting many feet up in the air. It had enough brass work to sink a battle ship, and more attachments than Peggy Joyce with seven husbands.
Now they are so streamlined and built so close to the ground that they are like enormous bugs.
Then came airplanes, racing along at a speed of 150 to 250 miles an hour. More and more people are travelling that way.
Everybody is in a hurry. That every new mode of transportation is more dangerous, causes more loss of life, makes no difference. Progress must go on.
The death rate has gone up, and the birth rate has gone down. It is no more safe to stay at home to avoid accidents, because aired our Old Home Week, and hope you all have, and let's go

Indian Life in Nova Scotia by One of Them

I have been asked to write about Indian life in Nova Scotia.
As I am one, I suppose it should all come natural to me. Unfortunately however, I do not know much about them as our family has always seemed to live apart from the Indians. Therefore as a consequence, I do not even know the language. Still I have met Indians from practically all over Nova Scotia and a few from New Brunswick.

The greater part of the Indians to-day live on reservations, while again there are a goodly number, who, like ourselves, live away from the 'other Indians'.
We all have comfortable homes, very much like our neighbor, the pale face. On most of the reservations there are schools and Shubenacadie, an institution has been established where boys and girls are taught to care for the home, farm and school.

About eighty per cent. of the men still earn their living by hunting, trapping and guiding.
The best guides found to-day are Indians. There are a few farmers, but not many are thus occupied. In the eastern part of the province a goodly number go in for fishing and make their living this way. Most of the Indians still know the art of basket making, and certainly do wonderful work and show great skill in this work. Sad to say—the factories are now taking this occupation away from the Indians. The freewater of the whiteman is still a great handicap to many who never seemed to control themselves in this respect, but rather let the fire-water get control of them.

There are many Indians of today who do not as far as appearances go, look like Indians, and are often taken for their friend, the white man. Still on the other hand, you could tell some who were Indians even in the dark!
I said before that I do not know the Indian language or even understand it, except perhaps a couple words—but when I am again asked to write about the Indian I hope to better understand Indian life as well as the language, and be able to say a few words more than I already know.

back again soon. And let us all feel that.
Good night to all.
When our earthly life is ended,
And we lay our burdens down
We'll go back where we'll be welcomed
To that little country town.

They will lay us in that dear old church yard,
There to wait the Judgement morn
And our sleep, it will be peaceful
In the town where we were born."

Sixty Years a Mason

(By George Kennedy, of Bear River)

Sixty years is a long time for any man to be a Mason. Not many attain that distinction and with those who do arrive at the sixtieth milestone in Masonry,
I can imagine the pleasure and joy with which they look back over the road they have travelled. The road may have been rough in places and the clouds dark and lowering, the social in-tercourses and friendly greetings they have enjoyed with their brethren have made Masonry worthwhile.

Still pressing onward in their journey, they behold a rift in the clouds and see the sun shining forth to guide them on their way, thinking not of "what I can get for myself" but of "what can I do for my fellowmen".
The principal tenets of Masonry are "Brotherly Love, Relief and Truth" which point us to the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man. The Mason is taught the duty he owes to his fellowman; to serve and benefit each other; through this service does man develop his own spiritual nature and moral stature. The greatest of these tenets is love.

Love is the supreme law which includes all others. It is the foundation of every virtue and the inspiration of every good deed. Love in its broadest sense embraces all that is vital in Masonry; forms ceremonies and rituals are useful, but they are only the husk that protects and preserves the kernel within. If love were taken from Masonry it would be like taking the spirit from the body and leaving it a helpless hulk.

The creed of Masonry, then, is love, which includes within its wide range, everything that is wise and true. It is this again. It was thirty-four years later that I made my second trip, and then again four years ago I made my last visit there. Now

I am well but I know I would feel better if I could go again this year, for it is so nice to go there after all of these years away, and see all of the old friends and relatives, and also the new ones, and to enjoy the beautiful scenery.

In writing this it brings back memories of olden times and old friends, especially school days, which were pleasant to me, and the games of croquet that I played at the homes of my school mates; that have now passed away. Mrs. Addie Moore (nee Goodwin) was my first teacher; Mrs. Kate MacConnell (nee Journey) my third, and Miss Palfrey was my second.

She is married but I do not remember her name. They were all good teachers, and I tried to please them all. I enjoyed very much the poetry Miss Palfrey taught us and the spelling class Mrs. MacConnell had. How often I think of it all.

I used to enjoy going to Plympton where my relatives lived near the ocean and having a good time with my cousins.
I enjoy the Courier very much, last winter when I read in it of the snow it reminded me so much of when I lived there.

ECONOMY is the watchword of ELECTRICAL COOKING

with a Northern Electric Range

Here is one of the most attractive ways of saving money you have ever seen. Cook electrically. So doing, you not only practice real economy, but relieve yourself of tiresome hours of kitchen drudgery and have all the coolness, comfort and cleanliness of a modern kitchen as well.
The perfect, even, controlled cooking heat of a Northern Electric Range ends the waste that results from overdone or underdone dishes. It makes every meal a treat; treat with all the goodness and palatability of meat, vegetables, liquids and fruits retained. Thus, electrically cooked foods always go farther. None of their goodness has been lost. And this economy soon shows in reduced housekeeping bills.
Modernize your kitchen and save money with a

Old Times in Joggin and Acacia Valley

(By R. M. Nichols, formerly of Acacaville)

Your request communication received and I observe that you were established in 1874 which makes your paper just two years my senior in age, therefore, for old times sake, let us go back about fifty years.

I was seven years old when I first went to school, at Hill Grove. Mrs. Thomas Hill, better known to the young folk as Grandma Hill, was the teacher, and she was a good motherly old soul, was fond of the kids as though they were all her own flock. There are many of the boys and girls who went to school in those days when I did, who still have sweet memories of Grandma Hill.

Other teachers I remember were: Crain, Parker, Lamar, Miss Cosset, who if I am not mistaken, became the wife of Eugene Welsh; also Minnie Nichols and still others whose names I cannot at this moment recall.

The old school was a wonderful place and gave us a foundation which can never be forgotten. We got our reading, writing and arithmetic. We had the old spelling matches and we were taught many things by those good wise teachers which make for character and honesty.

I recall one incident when we boys had gotten into some mischief and Deacon Abraham Nichols, who by the way, was my uncle, was called into investigation. I will never forget his words which were, "Speak the truth and speak it ever, cost it what it may". That made a great impression on me, likewise my companions. We got a lecture, we promised to be good boys, and the deacon went home satisfied.

Now, let's go down to the old Raymond sawmill. Captain Nathaniel Raymond, a former deep-sea captain and a Yarmouth man, owned the properties and the mill site at the Joggin. There was the mill pond, the saw-mill, lumber yard, threshing mill, grist mill, blacksmith shop, smoke house and general store. Walter Payson was manager of the store and mill in general. His boys, Leander, Walter and Horace likewise the Nichols boys, the Hunt boys, the Franklin boys, the Woodman boys, the Parker boys, the Welch boys, and many others, used to work at the mill. There was plenty of fun and excitement in the winter and springtime when the logs were coming in. We were in the timber and on the pond and in the mill. We bundled lathes and shingles when they were green and wet, and the bundle of lathes weighed more than the boy who wrestled with it. I spent lots of time in the grist mill with Mr. Bishop, the miller, and there is where I received my first lessons in milling, which stood me well in hand in later years. The threshing season was wonderful, and we were kept busy. The wheat, the oats, the barley and the rye, into the threshing, and we boys were in our glory when some of the farmers whom we did not like so well as others, would be in the wagon loading after the threshing, and we could smother them with straw from the upper platform. The days were hot, the beads would stick, and between loads we would go into the pond or river. In fact, we lived in the water much of the time during the summer season and would break the ice to go swimming in the cold, abundance of snow, skating and coasting plentiful, the houses and barns were banked outside with tanbark to keep the frost from the cellars. The cellars were packed full of fruit and vegetables, with plenty of good home-made jams from the wild berries. There were plenty of pickles, dried blueberries, hoghead cheese, corned pork and corned beef, pickled herring, wood chopped and stored for the winter.

And there were the peeling parties, where the apples were peeled, quartered, strung and dried. And there were quilting parties, basket sociables and all that went to make life happy and comfortable. Those were good old days.

We had our snares for rabbits and we would run hedges a block long, back in the Hackmatacks, on the old back road. We caught lots of rabbits and partridge, all of which was great sport. Fishing was second nature to us, and this would make a story of itself. I often wonder if the boys and girls of today have as much fun and get as much out of life around those good old haunts as did the boys of fifty years ago. We got all of our pleasure from nature's garden, the fields, forests, the lakes and the streams. There were no movies, no radio, no autos, no airships, but just the good old ox wagon. Three were few horses. So, times have changed and we likewise, have changed with the times.

Some day I am coming back, cut myself a willow fishing pole, and with my can of worms, and dig up the old sawed-off flint lock, throw my shoes away—and yes, I want my old straw hat and my pocket bulging with apples—and beat it back to the lakes, and I'll bring you home a nice bunch of trout, if mother don't tell me to go dig clams, which of course I love to do.

Trusting that the foregoing reminiscences may prove of interest to you, and if so we may give you more, we remain,

Sincerely yours

R. M. Nichols.

Guess Who . . .

Hello Folks—How be yah:—

I saw something in the Digby Courier tother day asking all the old timers to rife home and tell the folks all about what they've been doing since we left home and what we did before that.

I never rote to the papers before 'cause I didn't know what to rite about.

As I know pretty well what I've been doing the last 40 years and can remember some things I did before that, I'm going to take a blind dive in literature. That sounds pretty good all ready.

Well, I was born on the Ridge road, Digby County, so they tell me. That was a long time ago—can't remember the date. Learned my A-B-C's in the little school house near the church. Didn't do much of anything until I was 14 years old, except feed the hens, pigs, drive the cattle to water, set rabbit snares and steel pumpkins before hallowe'en.

Being a big boy for my age, I told the folks I wanted to learn a trade. I got a job in the saw mill at Acacia Valley, saved what little money I got and began to step out a bit. Used to tend tea meetings; quilting parties, apple peeling parties; singing school and the like. I finally got Isaiah Wilson to propose my name as a member of the Band of Hope Temperance Society, that met every week in the Valley Hall. I enjoyed the meetings—or rather enjoyed meeting the gals there every week, and seeing them home in the dark—those were the happy days, no electric lights then, only an occasional moon. Used to tell the gals bear stories so they would hold on my arm tight. Wish some of those gals would rite the paper during Old Home Week.

The boys around the Ridge road, like George Nichols, Will Craig, Tupper Warne and others were fast growing up. The outlook for earning a living was not so good—except staying on the farm.

About this time Tupper Warne and Will Craig began going to the Digby school for their education. I can see them now starting out at sunrise, each with a basket of carryway cookies and red apples, covered with a bandanna handkerchief, for a three-mile hike to town and three miles back. (I guess the red apples were for the teacher). Could not see any sense then of going to all that trouble for an education—There is where I made a mistake.

It was then I began to think seriously of going to the States to try my luck. It was hard for me to make up my mind to leave the farm and the gatherings among the village folks. I finally the Band of Hope gals I used to treat to sticks of candy at Aymar's store before the meetings.

It would be hard to part from the farm stock too. They all knew me and liked me—sentimental, can't help it. Mornings when I would go out in the yard the hens would cackle and the roosters crow, the ducks would quack, the geese would quack, the old gobbler would feather out and strut around speaking for the females, who never had much to say. The horses would neigh, the cows would moo and the calves would kick up their hind parts and jump around, even the pigs would jump up on the side of the pen and look pleasant while the big fat hogs would grunt. All saying good morning, in their way. I used to call them all by names which I gave them. Don't you think it would be hard to leave that bunch? I do.

Well, the boys of the village were members of the Band of Hope Society too. Because of Tupper and Will's habit of stealing my gal away after the meetings, I began thinking more of going to the States. I got acquainted with the village school mam at an apple peeling party one night. My feelings for going away left me. The outlook was brighter until one night at one of the gatherings Will Craig horned in and stole the school mam. It gave me a feeling that I was alone in the world. I said good by to the Ridge folks and started for the States.

So here I be, with no hard feelings for Tupper, Will and the other boys, for they were all good chaps. They tell me Tupper has been very active these many years, and very successful. Glad to hear it old chap. Lord knows he was active enough before I left the Ridge. He knew so many funny yarns that the gals fell for them. The only thing I could think of to talk about was the weather, farm stock, the man in the moon, and of course, bear stories.

Since I have been in the States things have been different. Lots of work until the darn, depression struck the country.

While I think of it I must say a word about Will Craig. He was some smart chap. Those hikes to Digby for an education certainly gave him a good start. When he came to Lynn he started studying again. He was a druggist in no time. I called on him occasionally. Later he was appointed city chemist. He made politics a study for a number of years, got the nomination and was elected State Senator, representing Lynn on Beacon Hill, Boston. I used to visit the senate chambers and talk with him. It was a tonic for homesickness, with which I was troubled occasionally. I forgave him for grabbing the school mam from me. That gave me my start in life—drove me to the States. After Will got through being Senator he was appointed Postmaster at Lynn by Pres't Theodore Roosevelt. He held that job four years—there was a change in government and he stepped out. During all this climb to fame and fortune, Will was studying law, finally passed the bar and did a successful law practice. Owing to hard work and study his health gave out, and one day he passed on to his reward. Those were two great boys—Will and Tupper—I forgave them both for those boyish pranks when we were on the ridge.

I am still plugging away here in the States, helping to knock out old man depression. This letter is so darn long, and paper scarce, I will have to rite more some other time. Providing, of course, that you decide to print it, after fixing the spelling and grammar.

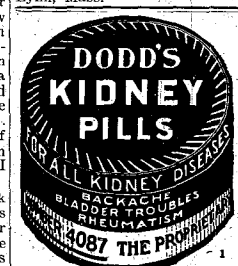

If I don't see it in that Old Home Week paper I will know you don't want another instalment.

So long folks. I am lonesome for the old ridge road and the little school house.

Will sign my name to the last instalment, until then—

Guess?

Lynn, Mass.

Nurse Tells of Early Days at Waldec

Dear Editor:

I am in receipt of one of your circular letters which came to me folder in one of the issues of the Digby Weekly Courier, telling me that you are making plans for a big anniversary edition, a real "old home" edition of the Courier. The Digby Weekly Courier should be commended and it is my hope that you receive help from every one who receives one of your letters.

Your first line reads: "Dear Friend, you used to live round here once, didn't you?" To this question I can answer yes. I was born at Waldec Line, district of Bear River, Annapolis Co., on February 18, 1876, and still love the name and call it my home.

Attended Waldec school; my teachers names were: Miss Laura Copeland, Miss Sarah Cossitt (now the widow Sarah Cossaboom, Smith's Cove) and Mrs. Edith Lettney (Henshaw), now the wife of Capt. Roland Henshaw, Deep Brook. School mates were as follows: Wallace, Alice and Garnet Harris, now of Bear River; Richard and Frank Dunn, I am filling the position of matron at the Medfield State Hospital of Bear River; Frank Henshaw, tal, Medfield, Mass., which has 1800 patients. My husband, Dr. George Allen Troxell, is assistant superintendent. We have been here in this position for 26 years.

Have made frequent trips to Nova Scotia, which we both enjoy because it seems like home. For the past five winters we have spent two months in Sarasota, Florida, and always have the Digby Courier sent us there. I have been a yearly subscriber of the Digby Courier for the last 25 years and enjoy receiving it, and learn of my old friends in Nova Scotia. Our aim and intentions are (when we retire to private life, which is now but a few years away), to tour, and spend a great deal of time in Nova Scotia.

My parents were Keziah Hamm and Thomas Morgan Henshaw.

How the Municipal Council The Past Sixty Years in Does Its Work Transportation

The Municipality of Digby was incorporated in 1875 there being 24 municipalities incorporated at that time in the province of Nova Scotia, and the number still remains the same.

The municipality of Digby is divided into twelve wards, which are represented each by one councillor, who is elected by the people for a term of three years. At the present time municipal elections are held on the third Tuesday in October.

An elected councillor does not take office until the second Tuesday in January. He then takes the oath of office administered by the municipal clerk. The warden is chosen from the members of the council either by acclamation or election.

The warden immediately presides as chairman and the business for the municipality begins. A councillor soon finds that there is something more than the honor of being a councillor. He finds that if he has not an executive turn of mind and is not capable of interpreting the meaning of the law as it is meant to be, he is of little use in the council. On the other hand, if he has had some experience and has a mind capable of remembering what he has learned, he will in time become a valuable asset to the municipality.

He is the executive in his own district, being a J. P. He is chairman, ex officio, of all committees in his district under municipal government, such as the Poor Committee, Constables and Police Constables, Board of Health, etc., etc., and he should inform himself and be able to give information to the officials he has appointed. If he cannot keep up with these requirements, he is of little use as a councillor these days, when sometimes a great deal depends upon the judgment of a municipal councillor and it is up to the electorate to choose the man most fitted for the office, regardless of creed or political affiliations.

Returning to the council chamber, the warden asks that a nominating committee be appointed and as soon as they are named they retire and appoint their various committees from the members of the council. If satisfactory this is passed by the council and it is then ready for business. The most important committee is the Tenders and Public Property committee, as almost all bills that are paid by the municipal clerk and treasurer, which are not fixed by statute, must be paid by an order from the chairman of this committee. The chairman of this committee never issues an order for payment unless he has had an order from one councillor and his committee to do so or a cheque.

There are other bills that are paid by the orders of the whole council, otherwise there are bills paid by the clerk and treasurer. A few years ago the auditor, Mr. McNeice, could not find what became of 2 cents that had been paid out of the treasury in auditing the yearly account. In re-checking up the cheques he found the two cents which had been paid on a cheque.

The Arbitration Committee and the Hydro Committee are important. The latter is a new committee which is the outcome of our Hydro Distribution in the County.

The Poor Relief work is handled in each ward by overseers appointed by the council, with the councillor of the ward as chairman, ex officio. The Digby municipality differs in this from any other municipality. There have been many important changes during the 18 years that I have been attending council. The council used to have control of the highways and bridges. In 1917 automobiles were first assessed by the municipality. This matter was discussed by the council. It was decided that $10.00 was a fair tax so Dr. Harris, Dr. Hallett and E. F. Hankinson, I think, were the only ones to suffer. The road act was changed and instead of statute labor for the payment of taxes or a road tax, this was taken almost entirely out of the hands of the municipalities so that all that is required of the municipality is to collect the tax and the government does the rest. There was also a change in the county grant for schools. The change was from 35 cents to $1.00 per head per population. It made a difference of some $7,500 to add to the tax bills.

There was also a change in the maintenance of the insane at the N. S. Hospital. The cost which had been $3.50 per week was increased to $10.50 per patient. Through the good offices of the Union of Nova Scotia municipalities this has been reduced to $8.50 per week but this has meant an additional tax burden of from $3,000 to $5,000 per year, according to the number of patients the municipality has there.

The Children's Protection Act has also come into existence. One hesitates to criticize this act as the Children's Aid Society functions under this act and is composed of the best people we have, but like all good things there will always come a time when it over reaches the mark. If depression had never fallen upon the country we would not have thought much about it. We would have accepted it as just one more aggravation to our problems. In the days of prosperity it was one of our minor problems but now it is presenting itself to us in much larger proportions. It seems nothing for a man to leave a family of six or eight children because he knows they will be cared for. Also women will leave their husbands and families of like number and go to a distant country or place and come back with five or six more children and place them all in the arms of the Children's Aid Society—and more taxes are added to the burden of the diligent taxpayer. Now instead of the problem being solved and the world passing along as usual we will wake up some fine morning and find that instead we have laid the foundation of a great evil.

These children rapidly grow into manhood and womanhood with fire in their veins. What is going to happen to them? I may say that we have already started on the second generation. In 1918 the total cost for delinquents amounted to $300 (in 1917 the children's protective act came into force). Now the cost runs into thousands of dollars for our municipality alone. Since the unemployed relief started the children's protection act has put on a new phase. Men who always paid taxes are saying, "Well, I have to be helped and I can't pay my tax. If they put me in jail the Children's Protection Act will care for my family and they board well at the jail," and so the diligent tax payer will have some more added to his bill. The taxpayer? Who is he? We all know him. He is one of the majority of our population—a hard working and a respectable person who has a good opinion of himself and is kind hearted and hospitable and has paid his taxes cheerfully, although he works very hard whether it is fine or stormy weather, and although his returns for his labours are very low, perhaps as low as the fellow who refuses to work would receive if he worked. I repeat that the taxpayer at present forms the majority of our population but there is danger that he may find himself in the minority. You may smile at this but I can point out a few towns where the problems show a more serious aspect than here. Now what is to be done to put a stop or call a halt to this? I might suggest a Central Prison where those who refuse to support their families could be sent, where they could be made to do a good day's work and legislation could be made wherein others who I might mention, would be under a like penalty viz:—A sentence to hard labor at the Prison Farm. A few of my ideas of a Prison Farm are as follows:—

June 29, 1934
Central Prison Farm, (Letter from County Warden, N. S.)

"The impression was created that a Central Prison Farm would entail the expenditure of an immense sum of money and as far as the Municipalities were concerned they were quite willing for the Provincial Government to spend whatever money they wished, provided that they did not call upon the Municipalities for any, as the Municipalities were already carrying too heavy burdens in taxation; and so the idea of a Central Prison Farm got a set-back.

To my mind the only way to make a success of the Central Prison Farm proposition is to show that it can be started as a beginning of things with a very small outlay of capital, for instance: A piece of land be acquired containing plenty of stone for all purposes, as well as good farming land. The next step would be to erect temporary buildings for the prisoners to sleep in and eat in. Our soldier boys have done with less. Also a place for the guard and staff necessary to look after the prisoners. All of this can be figured out and built under contract and done cheaply.

Now the real construction can be done with or by the prisoners, i. e., a stone prison, a hospital, a dwelling for the guard and staff. Farming may be carried on by the prisoners. All that would be necessary would be a plentiful number of prisoners to do the work. A minimum cost would be set at a figure below the cost per day in our jails. Anything above could be born by the Provincial Government. This would mean a great saving for the towns and Municipalities."

J. V. A.

The Municipality used to control the liquor question. This was when the duty was low on a gallon of booze and one could not earn his salt at the rum-running business, and the boot-legger did not make a living on this alone, but had side lines, such as horse trading, etc. The Council handled this under what was called The Scott Act Inspector, and if he were on his job he would collect a number of fines which would become an asset to the Municipality. But there was not much money collected in that way, as it was deemed a disgrace by many to be caught with even the smell of liquor on their breath. Since then the Government has taken charge of all kinds of liquor problems, relieving the Municipality and putting this business on a more honourable footing. The Municipalities obligated themselves to pay for the Western Counties Railway, Right of Way through-out the Municipality, Clare taking care of its end of the County. The last of this Grant was paid some time around 1920. This was one of the problems that had to be fought in its time similar to the Hydro which has a history of its own and if the people of Digby County keep control of it, it will become a valuable asset to them. Their own heritage. There is in the Sissiboo River something of great value. It may be developed for Hydro in five places. In other words, the same water may be used five times. The river bed is of bed rock formation and there are many lakes for storage of water which prove of great help in dry seasons, with many swamps almost as valuable as the lakes.

J. Vian Andrews.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen H. Yorke, of Bear River, have been visiting relatives in Mount Pleasant for the past few weeks. They were called home a few days ago by the illness of Mr. Yorke's father.

(As told by LeCain Wright)

During the sixty years of the Courier's existence probably no changes have been more pronounced than those which have occurred in transportation. The first sod of the Western Counties Railway, connecting Digby and Yarmouth, had only been turned a few months before and no metals had yet been laid. Stage coaches still did the work. Horses and oxen were the only means of transportation by land—even bicycles were still ten or twelve years in the future, and then it was the old fashioned high wheel and not the one we are familiar with today. And if any one with prophetic vision had even hinted at such a thing as horseless carriages he would have been judged insane.

In water transportation, however, there had been a little more progress. Sail was still the principal means of propulsion but steamers were edging in here and there. There were still schooners doing a large portion of the packet work between here and Saint John, but when I came to Digby 64 years ago, at five years of age, I can remember we came from Annapolis in a small side wheel steamer. I was too young to remember her name, but I have an idea it was the original Empress. The Steamer was another side-wheeler—one of the first I remember distinctly. She was very fast, in fact none of the later steamers have been able to beat her time much. She was built in England and on her way out ran out of coal and they had to tear out some of her fittings to supply her with fuel to finish the trip. The Edgar Stuart, owned by the Fishwick's, of Halifax, came on as a winter boat. She was a propeller boat. At this time two trips a week were sufficient to handle the trade.

The old Dominion ran off and on for several years and the Alpha made a few trips. They were both owned in Yarmouth.

The Hiawatha, one of the Churchill fleet, of Hantsport, ran for several seasons, and the Secret, another side-wheeler, made a few trips. The Cleopatra, a wooden screw steamer, also made several trips.

The steamer Hunter, Capt. Simpson, came on about 1881, and ran from Digby to Boston. She was owned by the Hatheway Steamship Company. Then came the Prince Rupert, probably one of the biggest favorites ever on the route. She was a sidewheeler, with beautiful lines—yachtlike in appearance, and very fast. Originally planned to go on the Pacific coast, to Puget Sound, she was bought by the D. A. Rice, and completed for this service. The old favorite Boston boat from Yarmouth—the original Yarmouth—came on as a winter boat. Considerably earlier than this the trips had been increased from two a week to three, and then to daily. About this time even daily trips seemed to slow and the St. George, originally a British Channel boat—also very fast—was put on as a second boat, and with the Yarmouth, two trips daily were made for some time. The St. George finally went back to England and the Yarmouth continued the trips for some time, before being succeeded by the Empress which came here from the Gulf of St. Lawrence. She continued on the route up to a few years ago when she was succeeded by the present palatial steamer, the Princess Helene, undoubtedly the finest coastal steamer on the coast.

During two summer seasons the steamer Boston ran between this port and Boston.

During the time of the "steamboat war" which was taking place in Yarmouth between the Yarmouth Steamship Company and the Dominion Atlantic Railway, another was being staged here, when the Prince Rupert and the City of Monticello ran in opposition for a time. The Monticello lost out.

The Boston was not the only steamer which ran to Boston. The Secret, Cleopatra, Forest City, and Mity Point also made trips to that port, and for one season of about nine months, a regular service was kept up with Bar Harbor, the steamers employed being the Frances, City of Richmond and Longfellow, all owned by the Bar Harbor S. S. Company.

Other steamers that have been on the route, chiefly as relieving steamers, have been the Prince Arthur, Grand Manan, Flushing, Lansdowne and the Bridgewater.

Before the railway was completed between here and Annapolis, the steamer Evangeline ran a regular service.

The changes in steamship agents have not been as frequent as those of the steamers, only four having served, namely, H. H. Raymond, H. B. Short, Albert E. Williams and C. F. McBride.

Sixty Years With The Bench and Bar

(By Frank Jones, K. C.)

The activities of the lawyer touch society in so many vital points that a review of the progress of affairs in this or any other county would not be complete without some mention of those members of the Bench and Bar who have lived and labored within its borders. But a short and imperfect sketch of the legal profession in Digby County is all that can be given here in the time and space at the writer's disposal.

In its early days, apparently, most of the legal business in this county, not attended to by magistrates, was transacted by lawyers from other parts of the province, mostly from Annapolis and Halifax. Several prominent Halifax barristers were in the habit of going on circuit with the Judges of the Supreme court and, while attending the sittings of the court in the various counties, they would be consulted and retained by local parties, who had, or thought they had, need of their services. In this way they picked up many fat fees and considerably enlarged their business and reputations.

Notable among the earlier resident practitioners in the town of Digby were James A. Dennison and John C. Wade. The former had an office on Water St. In the building now occupied by Yates' Studio. He was a man of sound judgment and had the confidence of the people, many of whom regarded him as a guide, philosopher and friend. He lived to a good old age and many of his descendants still reside here.

John C. Wade was a man of a different type. He was more of a politician than a lawyer, although he enjoyed a good practice. He became member of parliament for Digby County and experienced the ups and downs of a political career. Two of his sons, Harry and Alan V., also became lawyers. But Harry, a young man of much promise, died soon after he began to practice, and Alan V. accepted a position in the Civil Service at Ottawa, where he spent the remainder of his life.

Undoubtedly one of the most talented and picturesque characters that ever adorned the courts of this county, was Alfred W. Savary. He was a native of Digby County and was born in the year 1831 and died in 1920. He resided in the house now owned and occupied by Maynard Denton, at the corner of Birch and Carleton streets. Tall and graceful in figure, deeply learned in law and gifted with eloquence and originality, he quickly took the lead in his profession. He, too, turned for advancement to the political field and represented Digby County at Ottawa for a number of years. Had his industry and perseverance equalled his ability, he might have attained to the highest rank of Canadian statesmen and jurists. But he was offered and accepted the position of first County Court Judge for this district. Needless to say he performed the duties of that office with efficiency and distinction until the time of his retirement. Judge Savary was popular with the members of the Bar in his district, whom he called his "boys"; and, though he could be strict upon occasion, he was always kind hearted and courteous. He had a strong taste for literature, edited and published a History of Annapolis County, and wrote a number of biographical sketches, of which perhaps the most interesting was that of Colonel David Fanning.

Thomas C. Shreve, a native of Guysborough County, came to Digby while quite a young man, married Miss Mary Dakin, and practiced law here until his death, some twenty or more years ago, a portion of the time in partnership with Mr. Savary, under the name of "Savary & Shreve". Mr. Shreve was energetic, aggressive and self-confident. He was not popular with his brother barristers, over whom he was disposed to lord it at times. But, like most of the older lawyers, he was of convivial habits, and, when off duty, was as agreeable a companion as one could wish to meet. His favorite exercise was to take a five- or ten-mile walk before breakfast. Mr. Shreve was the first mayor of the town of Digby, and devoted much time and labor to the duties of that office.

which he filled for a number of years.

John M. Viets, a son of Botsford Viets, for many years Customs house officer at Digby, was a contemporary of Mr. Shreve. He was a man of sterling character and quiet disposition, but he never took law very seriously and he eventually retired from practice and succeeded his father as customs officer. The writer of this article studied law in his office, and afterwards in the office of Robert G. Munroe, who came to Digby from Annapolis county, and who practised here for many years. He was a good lawyer and took much interest in public affairs. He finally went west and opened a law office, dying there a few years afterwards.

Edward Ellershaw, an English lawyer, practised in Digby for a few years, and then removed to South Africa. "Albert J. S. Copp, was another outsider who came to Digby as a young man, married here and carried on a law business until his death. He entered politics and was elected more than once to represent this county in the House of Commons, at Ottawa.

Harry H. Wickwire and Harry L. Dennison both came to Digby from Kentville, and both returned to Kentville after practising here for a number of years. Mr. Wickwire represented Kings County in the House of Assembly, at Halifax, for several years and became a member of the Provincial government. Mr. Dennison for a long time was Town Clerk and Solicitor for the Town of Digby and was also Prosecuting officer for Digby Co.

J. Arthur Grierson also came to Digby County from Kentville and settled at Weymouth, where he practised law until his appointment, some sixteen or seventeen years ago, to the County Court bench as successor to Judge Sandford H. Pelton, who was the immediate predecessor to Judge Grierson. Judge Grierson proved to be an excellent judge and was respected and liked by everybody. The soundness of his decisions was shown by the fact that remarkably few of them were appealed from. He died only a few months ago, and W. A. Livingstone, a prominent barrister of Annapolis Royal, has just been appointed to take his place. It may be noted here that Judge Pelton was a Yarmouth man, who, before his appointment to the Bench, was regarded as one of the ablest lawyers in Nova Scotia, and his reputation as a judge was equally high.

Two brothers, E. Hart Nichols and Frank W. Nichols, sons of the late Abram Nichols, of Acadiaville, became prominent members of the Digby Bar. They practised in partnership in Digby for a time. Hart then went west and continued his practice in Calgary, Alberta. After some years he returned to Nova Scotia and settled at Halifax, and entered into partnership with Gerald P. Flavin, under the name of Nichols & Flavin. F. W. remained and continued to practice in Digby. He was a hard worker and enjoyed a good business. He was mayor of Digby town for a time and was secretary of the Digby Board of Trade and of the Digby County Agricultural Societies for many years. Both brothers died a year or two ago within a few months of each other.

Johnston Chew and H. R. Dickie came to Digby a few years ago and opened law offices here, but only remained for a short time. Mr. Chew is now practising in Glace Bay, Cape Breton, and Mr. Dickie is conducting a law business in Kentville. The Digby Bar now consists of E. J. Theriault, who was born in the Township of Clare; Harold A. Nichols, a son of the late Frank W. Nichols, and the writer of this sketch.

Some mention ought to be made, in closing, of a few men, who, though not lawyers, have nevertheless figured prominently in the administration of justice in Digby County. Among these are Sheriffs William Hanley, Benjamin VanBlarcom, W. E. VanBlarcom, Harry A. P. Smith and Heber R. Bishop. William B. Stewart and James A. Taylor have been the only prothonotaries at Digby within the memory of the present writer. Mr. Taylor is also Registrar

Memories of Mt. Pleasant and Broad Cove

(By Mrs. Rebecca Lord, of South Lubec, Maine)

In response to your request for "old home letters" I am making this little contribution, and trust that you can make use of it in your Diamond Jubilee number.

I will begin by telling a little about myself. I was born in Digby and well remember one of my teachers, Miss Maude Hinxman, of Bear River. Another Mr. Stark, a fine man that ever lived, used to make three trips a week from Broad Cove to Digby selling fish to his neighbors along the road.

—and if it so happened that any of us were short of ready cash on the days he came around—why—it was O.K. we had our codfish dinner just the same and paid for it on his next trip. David Handsaker was a well known butcher in those days. He and his wife, who was Miss Rebecca Hamm, of Bear River, lived on their Mt. Pleasant farm. Mr. Handsaker drove his meat cart over various routes in the vicinity, selling lamb, beef, chickens, geese, etc., most of which he raised himself. His son-in-law, Charles R. VanTassel, was also in the same business, and was very popular in the neighborhood. (Mrs. Luther Stark, the Courier's correspondent in Mt. Pleasant, is a granddaughter of David Handsaker.—Ed. Courier)

In those days Charles Turnbull carried the mails making his trips every Saturday afternoon. The blast of his horn used to summon us from our houses to the street for our letters from friends from all parts of the world. He used to bring us the Digby Courier, which was as welcome then as now. We always enjoyed reading the notes from Bay View, Mount Pleasant, North River, Bear River, and many other of the surrounding villages. We just loved to learn of marriages; was building a new home; where the stork had been flying—and such items as only the home town paper bothers with.

I must certainly say a good word for my old Sunday School teacher, Ross C. Smallie—a real Christian man. Many a good lesson he has taught me in the little old Mount Pleasant school house and it seemed the longer I went to him, the closer I wanted to go. I shall never forget the lesson he taught us about Moses writing the laws of God. I hope that God will fill his crown with stars for his many good deeds.

Another good business family at that time were the O'Connors, who operated the Bay of Fundy House. They were noted for their hospitality, and were "neighbors to the stranger within their gates", as well as to the people of the community. During the summer I lived there 60 guests were registered at the Bay of Fundy House, and, as a reader of the Digby Weekly Courier I see that this house is still doing business. I hope that the new owners will be as successful in their venture as John O'Connor was in his day.

Harry Churchill kept the stable for the O'Connors and the five-seated buckboard, with its four fine horses, was driven by James Budd. Since coming here I have made many new friends. Among them are Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Ingersoll. Mr. Ingersoll, who came here from Seal Cove, Grand Manan, is engaged in the smoked herring industry and employs a number of men. Mrs. Ingersoll was formerly Miss Susie Tidd, of Rossaway, Digby County, and has many relatives in Digby and Rossaway.

The old Pines Hotel, have done much for the development of Digby by the railroad, in 1919, improved and modernized to a considerable extent, but it was soon found that this "splendid old hotel" was not large enough to accommodate the ever increasing summer business. In January 1928 it was announced by the late Grant Hall that a new hotel would be built. Work was soon commenced, and the splendid new Pines Hotel was opened for the season of 1929. This hotel with its beautiful grounds, salt water swimming pool, is one of the attractions of Western Nova Scotia. Following the hotel the railway built the 18-hole Pines Golf Course, on the Racquette Hill. This course is recognized as one of the finest in the continent. The new Bay of Fundy stamer, Princess Helen, which has shortened the distance in time, in crossing from Saint John to Digby, has been a wonderful asset to Digby commercially as well as a summer resort.

However, they could not adapt themselves to the severe Nova Scotia climate. Many of them became troublesome and in 1793 they were transported back to Sierra Leone, Africa, by the government which brought them out. A few of the old families remained and their descendants, with the descendants of the slaves brought here by the Loyalists, comprise the colored settlement at Jordantown today.

The corner now known as Warner's Corner, was then called Hangman's or Gallows Corner. Here the gallows were erected upon which troublesome blacks were hanged. Remains of the old Brindetown settlement may be seen today—more than twenty old cellars still being discernable in the vicinity of the Little Joggins.

The only reference to the Brindetown settlement the writer can find in Wilson's History is that the "early Methodist church lost most of its congregation when the blacks were transported to Sierra Leone in 1793. Perhaps the writer overlooked the more important references.

"Despite the fact that in those early days the colored population of Digby became troublesome their descendants and successors today are law-abiding citizens and deserve great credit for what they have done in the building-up of their own community."

George Potter, of Joggins Bridge, tells us an interesting story of the colored settlement of Jordantown. Before the American Revolution, so he says, a number of colored families—about ninety—were brought to this vicinity by the British government as settlers. The

RECEPTION FOR JUDGE LIVINGSTONE

The dining room of the Myrtle Hotel was the scene of a reception to His Honor, Judge W. A. Livingstone, of Annapolis Royal, newly appointed judge of the County Court for Yarmouth, Digby and Annapolis Counties, to succeed the late Judge Grier, on Wednesday evening. Present at this reception were the members of the Bar for the three counties, with the exception of R. W. E. Landry, of Yarmouth, who is on a trip to Boston; O. S. Miller and Kenneth Crowell, of Bridgetown.

Sheriffs and prothonotaries of Yarmouth, Digby and Annapolis Counties were also present.

Two toasts, one to His Majesty, the King, and the other to Judge Livingstone, were proposed. The toast to the new judge was proposed by Frank Jones, K.C. of Digby, chairman of the gathering; E. S. McKay, of Yarmouth, and D. Owen, of Annapolis Royal. Practically every lawyer present added a few remarks following which, Mr. Livingstone made his reply.

Immediately after the reception a meeting was called for the purpose of organizing a bar association for the three counties.

Marriages

Trask—Chambers
St. Joseph's Church, Halifax, was the scene of a pretty ceremony at 6 o'clock Mass, Tuesday, Sept. 11th, when Miss Adelaide Mary Chambers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Chambers, was united in marriage with Herman A. Trask, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Trask, of Little River. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, made a charming picture in her wedding dress of white satin with which she wore the conventional veil. Her bouquet was of white and yellow roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Rose Chambers, as bridesmaid, who wore radium lace of shell pink with hat and shoes to match, and carried a bouquet of white and pink roses. Frank Pender, cousin of the bride, attended as best man. Miss Muriel Carey presided at the organ and during the service, John Muldowney sang "Ave Maria." Following the ceremony a buffet wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Livingstone Street. The bride's mother, Mrs. Chambers, was given in a costume of brown crepe de chene with accessories to match and wore a corsage of pink roses. Many friends and relatives were present at the home to wish the young couple well, for both are widely known and very popular. Both Mr. and Mrs. Trask were employed for some time with Charles A. Pender Bus and Taxi Company. Immediately after the wedding breakfast for which the rooms were decorated with beautiful flowers, the bride and groom left on a motor trip to Cape Breton, New Brunswick and Maine. For going away the bride wore an English tweed suit of brown, with matching accessories. The groom's gift to the bride was a cheque; to the bridesmaid, an amethyst ring; to the groomsmen, a cigarette lighter; to the organist a bracelet and to Mr. Muldowney, a cigarette case.

SUCCESSFUL MISCELLANEOUS CONCERT
The miscellaneous concert at Union Hall, Barton, on Saturday, and directed by Mrs. Hensley, was a decided success. The programme was much enjoyed throughout, and consisted of dialogue musical numbers, recitations, "Seth Parker" singing school, and sketches. The musical numbers were rendered by Miss Pauline Melanson, L. H. Potter and three Potter Girls—Esther, Barbara and Margaret, all of Weymouth. Added greatly to the programme. Local talent performed in the other numbers, reflecting great credit on both the performers and their director.

The net proceeds amount to about $25 and will be used for the benefit of the Barton-Brighton Community Library. This library, started but a year ago, has become an asset of which any small village might well be proud.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND—PARISH OF DIGBY

Sunday will be observed as Harvest Thanksgiving Sunday and the churches at Digby, Rossway and Sandy Cove will be decorated with the fruits of the earth and flowers of the field, thus lending atmosphere to this distinctly English celebration of Harvest Home. Special music in the form of a Sacred Cantata is being prepared by Trinity choir which will sing at all three churches. Soloists are Marie Fleming, Mrs. Frank Hayden and Geoffrey DuVigne.

Members of the congregation are asked to send vegetables, fruits and flowers to the church not later than Saturday morning.

Instead of the regular session of Church School, the children are asked to attend the Harvest Service at 11 o'clock, and bring a small bunch of flowers to decorate the Harvest Home. Immediately after the service the scholars will place the flowers on the graves in the churchyard.

Robert Elmer Weir

The death of Robert Elmer Weir occurred suddenly from a heart attack early Monday evening. The late Mr. Weir was well known in Digby, and for many years followed the occupation of fisherman, until he accepted a position on the staff of the Maritime Fish Corporation, which he held until he had to give up work on account of poor health. He was born at Clementsport 65 years ago, and for the past 55 years has been residing in Digby. He was the son of the late Robert Elmer Weir and Martha J. (Richards) Weir. Surviving are his wife, formerly Lillian Stark, one daughter, Mrs. Ralph Thibault, of Digby, and two sons, Percy and Arthur, also of Digby, and his aged mother, in Stoneham, Mass. Funeral services took place Wednesday, with interment in Woodlawn (Baptist) cemetery, with Rev. Dr. Hodgson, pastor of the United Church, in the absence of Rev. F. E. Bishop, pastor of the Digby Baptist church.

Miss Eliza A. Forsyth

The death of Miss Eliza A. Forsyth, well known and highly respected, occurred yesterday afternoon at one o'clock. The deceased, who observed her 83rd birthday on Wednesday, was failing in health for some time, and for the past five weeks has been confined to her bed. She was born in Tipperary, Ireland, and was a daughter of Daniel Forsyth and Annie (Coles) Forsyth. Funeral services will take place from her late residence at 230 tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock, in the view (United Church) cemetery, Rev. A. E. Gable, rector of Holy Trinity, and Rev. Dr. Hodgson, pastor of the United Church, will officiate. Dr. W. W. Chipman, of Montreal, is a nephew; Mrs. J. F. Merritt, of Digby, a cousin.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Turnbull left on Saturday for Boston.

Fred Peck, of Somerville, Mass., is visiting his mother, Mrs. Wesley Peck.

Kendall Graham has been visiting his father, C. F. Graham, Joggin Bridge.

Chester Levy, accompanied by his mother, of Windsor, left for Boston this week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Trohon spent a few days in Saint John this week attending the exhibition.

Mrs. Laura McKay, of Kirkland Lake, Ont., is guest of her brother, Evan Dunn, and Mrs. Dunn.

Frits and Frolles, Play and Entertainment, at Culloden Baptist Church, Tuesday evening, September 18th, at 8 p. m. Adults 25 cents. Children 10 cents.

Mrs. F. Prime and son, who have been spending the summer here, have returned to Medford, Mass.

George E. Bailey and son, Rutherford, who spent a few days in Halifax this week, have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Appleby and two children, of Middleton, arrived on Wednesday to visit Mrs. Minnie Appleby, Birch Street.

Miss Mary Letteney, of Kentville, is visiting her father, Jonathan Letteney. Miss Letteney has also been visiting her sister, Mrs. (Rev.) A. B. Higgins, at Petite Riviere.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. McCarthy, who have been spending three weeks at Ramblers' Rest, returned last Thursday to their home in Chicago.

The Fall Rummage Sale of the V. O. N. will be held on Saturday, September 29th, in the Armour Store. A set of good platform scales will be on sale.

Rev. F. E. Bishop, of the Digby Baptist church, is enjoying a three weeks' vacation. During his absence Rev. D. Lottie, of Bridgewater, a former pastor on the Smith's Cove circuit, will occupy the pulpit.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Wilson and son Robert, of Arlington, Mass., have returned home after spending their vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wilson, Shore Road.

Mrs. Walter Henshaw, Miss Arline and Junior Henshaw, left on Saturday, via Saint John, for their home in Massachusetts, after spending the summer with Capt. and Mrs. David Ellis.

Fred Parker, of North Range, met with a painful accident Monday morning when he fell from a pear tree on the grounds of H. H. Syda. He was taken to the Digby General Hospital suffering from severe bruises and a bad shaking up.

At a special meeting of the board of management of the Grace United Church Sunday School Wednesday evening, the resignation of J. Oakley Turnbull, who has been superintendent for a number of years, was accepted with deep regret. Jabez Appleby was appointed to succeed him in this office. Miss Eleanor Wallis was appointed to succeed Miss Gertrude Abramson, as pianist. Miss Abramson will attend Mount Allison University at Sackville, this year. Mrs. J. M. Wallis will take Miss Abramson's class in the Sunday School.

EPIDEMIC OF SHEEP SHOOTING ON DIGBY NECK

Casswell H. Denton, of Rossway, has inserted a notice in this week's issue of the Courier, offering a reward of $25 for the arrest and conviction of the party or parties who have been shooting and stealing sheep and lambs. Mr. Denton has missed a number of his flock, and found several shot and wounded.

His advertisement further states: "The arrest of these scoundrels is urgent as apart from the loss to me and the suffering of the animals, they are very dangerous characters as the terrible murder at Sea Brook a few years ago attests."

This murder, known as the Waters Hutchins murder, will be remembered by many of the Courier readers. At the time young Garfield Tebo was caught red-handed by the farmer, who was shot and killed, by Tebo. The 18-year-old lad was convicted of murder and sentenced to hang; the sentence was later commuted to life imprisonment in Dorchester penitentiary. This murder occurred August 4, 1922.

Digby Neck is one of the best known sheep raising districts in the province. Epidemics of sheep stealing have broken out in this section from time to time.

Thomas F. Anderson arrived last week, returning to Boston on Monday with Mrs. Anderson, who has been spending the summer here. This was Mr. Anderson's fourth trip to Digby this summer; next year he hopes to spend a real vacation in his "adopted home town."

Reward

$25 will be paid anyone giving information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of the party or parties shooting and stealing lambs and sheep.

The arrest of these scoundrels is very urgent. Apart from the loss to me, and the suffering of the animals, they are dangerous characters as the terrible murder at Sea Brook a few years ago attests.

United Church of England and Ireland in Nova Scotia—Digby, Rev. J. Ambrose, M. A. and Rev. A. M. McKel, A. B.; Clements Point, Rev. Wm. Godfrey, A. B.; Weymouth, Rev. Philip Fillett, A. B.; Rural Dean.

Wesleyan Methodist Conference of Eastern British America—Digby, Rev. James England; Hillsburgh, (Beaver River), Rev. G. M. Baratt; Weymouth, Rev. E. B. England; Digby Neck, Rev. William Dobson.

Roman Catholic Church—Annapolis Royal and Digby, Rev. Thomas Grace; Clare, Rev. Dr. Walsh; Meteghan, Rev. J. Daley, V. G.; St. Bernard, Rev. James Brennan.

Associated Baptist Churches—Digby, Rev. J. N. Parker; Beaver River, Rev. J. H. Saunders; Lower Grandville, Rev. J. C. Bleakley; Clements, Rev. John Williams; Weymouth, Rev. Charles Randall; Freeport, Rev. W. L. Parker; Saultierville, Rev. M. Normandy; Westport, Rev. J. A. Moore; Digby Neck, Rev. J. C. Morse; Bear River, Rev. G. D. Cox.

"This list of clergymen is taken from Belcher's Almanac, of 1874. Its mention of a Baptist church in Saultierville made us think that Belcher's had made a slip. Knowing Clare as we do we could not imagine a Baptist church in that village so solidly Roman Catholic. Then we went to Wilson's History and find further reference to a Baptist minister in Saultierville on page 251, as follows: "...a tract of land at Saultierville, Clare, had been purchased and the Mission removed thither March 2nd, 1870, the Acadia French Mission church was organized, with thirty-three members." Still further the paragraph says: "In 1883 Mr. Normandy moved to Westport, New Brunswick, Rev. P. E. Rouleau, of Canada, succeeded him as missionary in April, 1885, but after an unfruitful incumbency resigned in 1890 and became a citizen of Manitoba. The mission is now vacant and the premises at Tusket, Saultierville and Plympton passed into other hands."

OAKES S. DUNHAM

called the hotel proprietor—Capt. Joe Payson—from his chamber, and with hastily chosen words told him what had happened and what he thought of law and order in Westport, also a parting tribute to the fellow who threw the sod. Capt. Joe humbly apologized for the miscreant's act. There was still evidence of Henry's indignation if through the night.

If the Civic Band contemplates concert tours in neighboring towns beware of Westport. That chap with no ear for music may still be living.

Now, Mr. Editor, I will close this letter of random thought, not that the subject is ended, but it is quite enough for one edition. I trust it may be interesting reading for most of the old timers.

Former Courier Man Recalls Old Days

Dear Mr. Editor:—

The idea of an "Old Home Week issue of the Courier" is a good one. It will make interesting reading for those who are fortunate enough to have subscribed for the paper—both at home and abroad. Especially so if all those old timers "donate an article."

Now my dear Jonathan—Jericho Wallis "are you looking for me?" I noticed in a recent issue of the Courier an invitation to contribute an article for that occasion. Just what subject to choose is hard for me to decide. Perhaps a review of the earlier years in the life of the Courier in comparison with recent years might be interesting.

My memory goes back to about 1875 or so—when the Courier—only an infant—was published on the second floor of a large three story wooden building on the lot where now stands the building occupied by A. J. Dillon, and others. The entire top floor was used by Hawkesworth's Shoe Factory, who did a very large business at that time. On the second floor were the offices of the Courier, a telegraph office, and rooms occupied by John Quirk, proprietor of a large tannery in the south end, and stores were on the first floor.

Richard S. McCormick was editor and proprietor; Mr. McClelland, a Scotchman, manager; C. E. Farnham, foreman; Charlie Young and the writer was P. Ds., (Printer's Devils). It required two of the latter to complete the staff. The only press we had was a Hoe hand press. There was no job work in those days. The whole staff was sworn to secrecy in the matter of divulging the names of persons contributing editorials, correspondence, etc., and the training we received by the Scotchman was a great help then and in later years.

The editorials were supposed to be written by the editor, of course. Every issue of the Courier, published at that time, carried a column and a half of editorials on the most important matters concerning town, county and province, and an occasional write-up on Dominion affairs. Editorials were contributed by Rev. John Ambrose, Judge A. W. Savary and other well informed gentlemen in Digby at that time. Here is where the oath of office came in. I was the editorial copy sleuth and it was my duty to get copy, show proof and return same to the office without being detected. This I did with great care. I have donated a shilling to encourage secrecy.

These editorials, along with several columns of local items of news and suggestions for town improvements and business opportunities, made the Courier very interesting and popular throughout the country.

Dick McCormick, the proprietor, was considered one of the best country newspaper publishers in the province—and he surely was.

On Tuesday of each week it was my duty to have two full cases of type ready for him. Wednesday and Thursday he would compose three or four columns of local news—without copy. It was always a mystery to me how he could set all this substance—without copy—and whistle "Old Black Joe" and "Rosen the Bow" at the same time.

We had several very clever correspondents. One of the best was Thomas Meahan, who was clerk in the law office of T. C. Shreve. He wrote a series of articles under the non de plume of "Farmer Jacques"—very interesting to the farmer. At times he would answer these correspondents under some other non de plume and in this way got the surrounding country folks so enthused that our local subscription list doubled. He was a clever writer with plenty of humor.

You may think, Mr. Editor, that you and Junior Ed. are kept busy from week to week, commencing with those who labored so faithfully during the first years of the Courier's existence. Don't kid yourselves. We could not use the scissors then—only on short stories. We had to dig for news. There were no trains to meet that could give us a column or two of personal news. Only one boat a week from Saint John with no tourists to interview and no newspaper. No band council or civic news. No board of trade. No Kiwanis Club. We had ship building, shoe factories, tanneries, logging and lumber industries, shipping, trading, and the fishing industry which was then only in its infancy.

I noticed your issue of July 27, was Vol. LX, No. 52. At such a time we would have a two column editorial reviewing the past year's accomplishments and predictions for the future. I looked over your editorial page for the main heading and I found it was "Dynamite." How that column has changed.

I will never forget my first reporting adventure. It was the wreck of the "Paddy Blake" loaded with apples and potatoes bound for Boston. During a heavy northeast snow storm the schooner broke anchor on the north side of the old government pier, crashed through the pier and went ashore near Dakin Bros. store. A number of the boys were on the pier at the time. As she broke through we jumped on board. Having had no experience in navigation we could not save the vessel. I galloped to an iron clock that afterwards ticked off the time for many years on the shelf in the composing room. It may be there yet. The cargo was sold at auction. I bought one barrel that was addressed to a party in Boston. It contained apples, potatoes, turnips, and in the center of the barrel was a dozen woolen socks—some bargain. The wreck and the heroism of the boys made a good write-up.

I will tell you of an instance of a newspaper man of the old days and you Eds. and Junior Eds. of today.

Dick McCormick was a real sportsman. Every winter he would spend a month in the woods, moss hunting. He always returned with a mood. He would put an item in the Courier inviting the subscribers to call at the office and receive a piece of steak or a roast free—and they did—and incidentally paid their subscriptions.

I have not noticed an item of that nature in the Courier since you fellows have sat in the editorial chair; on the contrary you seem to be on the receiving end: steaks, game, berries, large apples, large eggs, etc.

Have not noticed that "thank you" item lately. Do you keep it standing? Cheer up, pumpkins will soon be ripe.

Some years later the plant was moved to the Turnbull & Welch building, and later to the building where it now operates. I was connected with the staff through all these changes. In the meantime they had put in several job presses, a Cranston cylinder press and steam power to run the machinery. The Courier has been a success from the beginning and you are to be congratulated on keeping it up to the high standard it has attained. It is a welcome visitor to our home. I read it every Monday evening.

I wish you continued success—may do better next time. Have been busy trying to beat the depression.

T. S. F.

Boston, Mass.
P. S.—I hope you will persuade By. Blackford to write his reminiscences or observations. You would not have Couriers enough to go round.

BAND NOTES

Two more open air concerts are promised by the Civic Band if the weather continues warm. One will be played next Monday night and another on the following Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Sept. 23, which will be the last of the season.

At next Monday's concert the audience will be expected to make contributions for band support, and it is hoped will be more liberal than last week when too many pennies and big nickels found their way into the collection boxes with too few dimes and quarters, although the concert, played by a large band of 37, was said to have been the best of the series.

The concert proposed for Sunday, the 23rd, might be called a complimentary concert, being a sort of "good-will" offering by the Band without remuneration. No collection will be taken. Directors Yatus would be pleased to consider requests from any one who would like to hear some favorite number for the last time of the season, but requests should be sent in several days in advance of the concert.

SALVATION ARMY

Capt. Selva, Mrs. Selva and comrades, and friends of the Digby corps are looking forward with anticipation to the coming week end meetings which will be conducted by Brigadier A. MacDonald, from Toronto. It will be remembered by many that Brigadier MacDonald was the Divisional Commander of the Halifax Division for some time, receiving his transfer to the Montreal Division about nine years ago.

A fiery speaker, a plain teacher of Bible truth, the Brigadier's meetings are always enthusiastic and fruitful. Enthusiasm is also high for the special meeting which will follow on Monday night when the newly appointed Divisional Commander, Major Mundy, will pay his initial visit in this capacity. Major Mundy was formerly the private secretary to Commissioner Hay. Thoroughly at home with the concertina singing plays a large part in the major's meetings. Salvationists throughout the province are happy over the appointment of Major Mundy to the Halifax Division and it is expected that Digby comrades and friends will give him a warm welcome on Monday night.

Marriages

MacNaughton-Fraser

A marriage of interest to a large circle of friends was solemnized at the Campbell Memorial church, St. John's, on Thursday evening last, when Miss Bertha Fraser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Fraser, of Watermark, became the bride of Robert MacNaughton, of Goshes, Guysborough County, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan F. MacNaughton. The bride is well known throughout the province, having held the position of helping teacher, first in Guysborough and for the past three years in Annapolis Digby counties.

Old School Days, Remember?

By Harold E. Langley

Those days we were together and those things we used to do? When we first went to school—playing on the beach at recess? The teacher asked me why I was late and I started crying. It startled her so that she got all mixed up with herself trying to reassure me. I guess it must have been one of the first "school scares on a sensitive nature"—or something.

Remember when we used to get the colic from eating too many raw carrots, green peas, and green apples mixed together?

And when Johnny was running about the hay field with bare feet and ragged pants? He bumped a hornet's nest and one stung him through a hole in the seat of his trousers. Remember how mad he got, and how he tore into that nest with both hands, cursing and crying at the same time? What a "swell" he was afterward!

Remember the time that we walked in the "medder" road ahead of the team, and heard such terrifying stampings in the woods down the side of that gravel knoll? And how the sight of the heads of a cow moose and her calf, rising through the wayside shrubs, lent wings to our previously fear-gripped feet? "Oo, moose! Moo-se! Moo-oo-se!"

Remember when "Mittin" choked Joe S—, until Joe's tongue hung out, and threatened to do it some more as soon as he could get at him? I never did find out what it was about.

When we had Valentine's mail boxes in school—and the awful comings-in spite of teacher prohibitions? And how we'd "eat treats" in a darkened room?

Remember when I was a first grader and Everett P— from the upper grades, told me that "Injun" story during the recess? He said it was about my great, great, great, great, great, great, grandfather.

It seems that my great grandfather was splitting cordwood one wintry day, when a group of ten or twelve Indians stole up on "m. Grandpa" and just stuck the axe in and a crack showed the whole length of the log. So he made signs for the Indians to put their fingers in the crack, indicating derisively that they couldn't hold it open, much less pull it apart. Hm-m-m, heep big Injuns—could do! Anything! So they put in their fingers. "Course, grandpa" looked out the axe and knocked 'em all on their heads. Ten or twelve "skelps"—just like that!

Hm-m-m! Mighty warriors my pee-put! Take his word for it! He said "twas history—Well, he stuck to it!"

And remember when taffy-haired Eddie passed out the prizes from the penny-sacks of pop-corn she had brought to school for stringing as Christmas decorations? Strips of transfer pictures went farthest because she tore them apart. I got a tin whistle vished on me—apparently because nobody else wanted it. But I wanted a transfer picture, too. How thoughtfully she turned on me. "But I gave you the whistle, didn't I?"

Oh, well! That seems to have been my share Sad Eyes!

And remember that time when Jimmy C—, tan-colored and tan-faced, thought that he had "one up" on this "edification racket"?

He wrote his multiplication tables on the back of his reader and held it against his chin while in class. But the teacher caught him! His memory was not so good and he had to look when asked, instead of only by answer questions.

That last one reminds me of a Bear River pupil well before us, who memorized his spellings

Interior of "Smith & Short" Shoe Store Now A. J. Dillon's

according to a numbered list. He couldn't have been so bright, either. The teacher skipped a word so that pupils' numbers didn't match. When his turn came, he promptly said, "G double o s e—barn."

It seems to have been more or less appropriate—but I understand that he died, leaving $10,000. Have you got $10,000 yet, Sad Eyes?

Remember when we had our pictures taken? Just we first and second grades with our teacher, Miss D—. I've never seen one since, nor heard what became of her, but I have one of the large pictures of the whole school taken that same day. You're in it, Sad Eyes, as natural as life, and equally as homely.

Remember when the Italian barques laid at Bear River wharves? And the smell of fresh-sawn lumber under the sun? And tarred ropes?

Many tall ships have been here, Sad Eyes, but they must have been the ships that pass in the night, for they come no more. Their place has been taken by a few rusty, smoky, dirty, tramp steamers.

Remember when the Italian sailor peeked in the primary room window? Such a scare! He had been after a meal-sack of apples for the galley.

And the small ocarina that Lyle S—, got from one of them in a trade—but couldn't play it?

And how agile they were, running up and down the anchor chains to get into a row-boat? And how we played "black-hand" and other such games among the lumber-piles? Such risks we took of broken limbs or necks, but thought little about it.

Remember when we used to catch smelts, tommy-cod, flounders, and eels from the end of the boat-slip, and clambered precariously over the floating boat-house roof? And stoned the skate that had come in with the tide? A tourist, perhaps?

And remember how Eunice L— shook me loose from my anchorage after every dictation—correcting period?

A relative still claims that she was the "smoots" gull that evoked "what do a doah". Well, she must have been that, if "dictation" proves anything (I doubt it), because she nearly always had her correct. Hence her loose-sided reason for trying to shake me out of my clothes! How I suffered for her brightness! She had a grip in her talons! Of that I'm very sure!

Do you remember us two singing as deep-voiced as possible, at chorus rehearsals for a Christmas concert, in order to get transferred over where the rest of the boys were? And failing to make a go of it—so refusing to sing at all? Ah, Sad Eyes, the contrariness of human nature can beat out any tale!

And do you remember deep-voiced "Jinny" I—, and some of her relatives, trying to sing "Roll On Deep River" or something like that? We never could get it all because of Joe S— rolling his eyes at "Jinny". She laughed so that she always had to quit, and it was like taking the foundation from under a house—the others had nothing left to carry them.

Then, while we're at the job, Sad Eyes, do you remember soulful-eyed Lou staring back at us every time we looked up from desk work?

And how those girls liked to sing that song, "Every Girl Loves a Sailor", and the one about the "bees a-buzzin' round the honey-suckle vine"?

They do say as how it's "Love" that makes the world go 'round. Has the spinning made you dizzy yet, Sad Eyes?

But here is where I drop a stitch or two in my knitting, Sad Eyes. Perhaps next week we'll visit again together the halls of memory?

Elijah Sabeen, Master Mariner

Nova Scotia's history is vitally connected with the sea. From her almost insular position, her shores bathed with the waters of the mighty Atlantic, and with a coastline indented with a multitude of spacious bays and snug harbors, it is not to be wondered at that many of her sons have taken to the sea as the proverbial ducks to the water.

Digby County has contributed her full share of these hardy mariners, many of them captains whose reputations as master mariners have ranked with the best. A history of Digby County captains would make interesting reading for all who enjoy things nautical, and perhaps someone in the future will undertake to write such a book. This would require a pen more capable than that wielded by this scribe but it may not be presumptuous for him to attempt a brief sketch of one of Digby County's little known captains.

If a search were made into the shipping records of the port of Yarmouth, in her palmy days of 40 or 50 years ago, among the list of captains would be found the name of Elijah Sabeen. He was one of the numerous descendants of the Sabine—another spelling of the same name—pioneer, Jeremiah, who settled at the mouth of the Sissiboo early in the history of Digby County.

No doubt he would be listed as a Yarmouth County man, for he resided in that county for a number of years; but he was born in the hamlet of New Tusket, in Digby County. On the site of the home of Charles Hudson, the subject of this sketch first saw the light of day in the fall of 1850, the son of Simon and Eliza Sabeen. He grew to young manhood on the old farm, but at the age of 16 said goodbye to loved ones, and went to Yarmouth town and apprenticed himself to learn the trade of a ship-blacksmith. At this he showed marked ability and aptitude and made good progress, but finding that the dust of the forge disposed him to asthma, he took this trade and took to the sea. Here again he made rapid progress and at once took up the study of navigation and soon passed from an ordinary sailor before the mast through the various steps to a full-fledged captain and became master of one of Yarmouth's finest ships. A goodly number of the young men of New Tusket about the same time made a sail to going to sea, but Elijah Sabeen alone had the distinction of being the only captain raised in that place.

While still a young man he married Sarah Leanders, of Sandford, Yarmouth County. To this union four children were born. One son died in childhood; another, Fred, while mate of his father's vessel at the age of 18, died of yellow fever in Santos, Brazil; another son, Ralph, missing some 25 years ago and has not since been heard from. A daughter, Flossie, resides near Boston. Mrs. Sabeen passed away 25 years ago. In December 1895 Captain Elijah Sabeen met his final doom. While acting as mate in the Yarmouth bark, "Talisman", he was lost with the rest of the crew in the English Channel. Nothing is known of the fate of the ship. The facts as known are these: Captain Sabeen sailed the "Nellie Moody", a Yarmouth Barque of 746 tons, to Ireland, where she was sold by the owners; thus finding himself without a ship he shipped aboard the old "Talisman" somewhere in the old country to fill in time until he should find another ship. This barque made a trip to the Southern States and on the return trip left Ship Island, near the entrance to Mobile Bay, on August 31st, 1895, bound for Newcastle-on-Tyne, England. She was spoken on the 2nd of December off Portland Bill, south coast of England. She was not heard of afterwards. A name board bearing the word "Talisman" was picked up on the Dutch coast on Dec. 3rd.

Captain Sabeen was for a long time master of the barque "Nellie Moody", and among other ships was also master of the "Fannie L. Cann", a 797 tons barque, built in 1878.

A fine little anecdote touching the subject of this sketch, was recently related to me by one of Yarmouth's few old captains of the old school who was personally acquainted with the parties mentioned. The story was particularly interesting, as it showed something of the spirit and boldness of Captain Sabeen.

Captain Baker, one of the old time Yarmouth masters, with plenty experience with winds and waves, wherein he had learned the benefit of caution, was in the midst of the "Western Ocean" bound for New York.

Seeing signs of an approaching gale, he lay to, with everything furled and flocked down tight. Presently coming up from astern, home in sight, the "Fannie L. Cann" with every stitch of canvas to the breeze, and passed by, and on out of sight, with a clean pair of heels. When Captain Baker reached port he inquired for Captain Sabeen, and found that he had not arrived in New York, which was also his destination.

Captain Baker's only comment was "Captain Sabeen is young yet, he will learn". Captain Sabeen had paid for his rashness and was compelled to go out of his course and run into Bermuda in distress, with a shifted cargo, and other troubles, and was days behind in reaching New York.

Captain Elijah Sabeen was a God-fearing christian man and left a clean record behind, but, nevertheless, he held up the old traditions of the Yarmouth captains in that he was master of his own ship.

Note:—The above named Captain, was an uncle to the writer on the maternal side, being a brother to the writer's mother.

OFF COLOUR? HOW IS YOUR LIVER?

Wake up your Liver Bile Without Calomel

Your liver is a very important organ, but it is easily clogged up with bile, and this is the cause of many of the troubles that afflict you. You won't completely correct such a condition by taking salts, or mineral salts, or any other purgative. You need a liver stimulant. Kelllogg's Little Liver Pills will soon bring back the machine into proper life. They're purely vegetable. Safe. Sure. Ask for them by name. ## THE PROPER CARE OF YOUR AUTOMOBILE

Auto Top Mouldings

ANOTHER thing to watch in the care of your automobile is that the top fabric does not crack along the mouldings. This is a danger that exists only on the more recent model cars. On older models, the top fabric covered the entire top of the car and extended down the side. On the newer cars, however, this fabric is set in a panel on the top and is fastened at the edges with moulding. In previous articles it was told how the top fabric, if not taken care of, will develop weathering which eventually starts cracks. A danger point for these cracks is along the moulding. Even the tops of new cars occasionally develop moulding-leaks. It is important, therefore, that the moulding on top of the car be inspected frequently to watch for the cracks. If the crack is caught in time, it is comparatively simple to make the repair. All that is necessary is to seal it with a waterproofing compound. This sealer may also be used for stopping leaks at the rear window, or for repairing cigarette burns in the top fabric. In repairing a hole caused by a cigarette butt, it is only necessary to apply some of the sealer around the hole, lay a small cloth patch over it, and then apply more of the compound.

Shipping Tales of The Long Ago

"I'll Sail Tonight Or Go To Hell..."

(As Told By Lester Haight) It is said, too, that the concert was not the only reason the son wished to postpone the trip; the night was not fit for a sloop such as the "Minnie" to battle with the angry waves and mighty tides of the Bay of Fundy. But, Capt. Young was determined. He would sail or go to Hell, he sailed, leaving his son on shore.

On that fateful evening the Minnie was ready to sail from White Head, Grand Manan, with a general cargo for Eastport, Me. She was a trim little craft and carried a crew of seven—among them the captain's son, who, on that night desired to go to a concert in the village, and asked his father to delay the sailing.

The Minnie was never heard of again. No trace of her hull was ever found. The sea never gave up the bodies of her captain and crew, but, Obijah's sea trunk came home! It was found one day at Gulliver's Cove where he left his family, to join the crew of the Minnie. What seems more than a coincidence was the fact that Obijah's trunk came ashore right on the very ways from which he used to launch his fishing boat before he "went to sea". Another trunk was picked up at Gooseberry Cove below Gulliver's Hole. Quantities of smoked herring which comprised part of the Minnie's cargo, also drifted ashore in this vicinity. For that reason it is always supposed that the Minnie foundered somewhere near Gulliver's.

It is reported too that for sometime after the Minnie's disappearance the "ghost" of Captain Young was seen walking along the shores of Grand Manan on several occasions.

Loss of Brig 'Sea Breeze' on Grand Manan

(As Told by Thomas Kinghorn, of Port Wade, the Only Living Survivor).

The brig Sea Breeze, with master, sailed from Bear River with a cargo of lumber for Demerare, in the fall of 1878. Other members of the crew were Charles Kiley, of Digby, mate; Cook; Steve Beals, Bear River; Harry Reed, Port George; Tom Kears, Bear River, and Thomas Kinghorn, Bear River, sailors.

Mr. Kinghorn, who now resides in Port Wade, is the only living survivor, and it is Mr. Kinghorn who gave us this thrilling account of the wreck of the Sea Breeze.

"We made a good passage out," he said, "and after discharging our cargo, took on a load of molasses for Boston. Right then our troubles began. On the voyage to Boston we were twice driven off the coast—the trip took us 49 days, the longest in my career.

"After discharging the molasses at Boston we took on a general cargo of 700 barrels of flour and corn meal; canvas rope and wire rigging for fitting out two new vessels being built at Bear River.

"We had a good run down the coast until arriving at Digby Gut. At 2 p. m., January 15th, we ran into a heavy north east gale with blinding snow. Unable to make the gut we laid to under goose wing topsail, main staysail and reefed spanker.

"During the day and evening the wind increased to hurricane force. The captain thought we would drive out of the Bay, but at 10.30 that night she struck White Head, Grand Manan. The first sea took our bows, and we saw at once that our fine ship was doomed.

"Our only hope of escape was on the jib boom over the bow. After going down a rope one by one, we found, to our utter dismay that we were on a rock, with a deep gully between us and the mainland.

"The captain then called for volunteers to swim the gulch with a rope. Being the youngest, only a mere boy, and a strong swimmer, 'I sez, sez I, I'll go.'

"After several attempts I made a landing, tied the rope to the rocks and we all reached shore. After wandering through the woods for several hours that seemed like weeks with our clothing fast freezing to our bodies, and somewhat exhausted, we sighted a light which proved to be a small house occupied by weir fishermen. There we were made comfortable for the remainder of the night.

"Next morning we walked down to size up the place where we were stuck. We found our fine brigantine had broken in two and turned turtle. The cargo of flour and cornmeal was strewn and broken on the rocks.

"After a few days' through the kindness of Captain Joe Gas-kill, we were taken to Eastport, Me. There I was taken to a hospital for a few days' treatment. Then I was sent to Saint John by the British Consul, and from there across the Bay to Digby via the old steamship "Empress", Captain Potter."

An Old Story of Sailing Ship Days

(From an Old Reprint)

The recent destruction of the barkentine John C. Meyer, on a reef off Libby Island, near Machiasport, in the lower Bay of Fundy, while on a voyage from Parrsboro to Norfolk, Va., and the announcement the former famous bark Belmont, of Yarmouth, is to be converted into a barge are reminders that the limited number of old-time square-rigged craft is gradually dwindling. The old wind-jammer, for the construction, ownership and operation of which Saint John was long renowned the world over, is now a rarity on the high seas, particularly on the North American side of the North Atlantic Steamships and

Sandy Cove Captain's Death on Nantucket

A pathetic tragedy of over a quarter of a century ago and one which cast a gloom over St. John and Sandy Cove particularly was the loss of the full-rigged ship Asia, on Breat Round Shoal, Nantucket Sound, off southern Massachusetts. Among the 28 persons who perished in the disaster were Capt. Dakin, Mrs. Dakin and their young daughter all residents of Saint John—but formerly of Sandy Cove. The Asia loaded a cargo of hemp and jute at Manila, Philippine Islands, for Boston, and had almost arrived at her destination when she met misfortune. Upon the completion of the voyage Capt. Dakin had intended to retire from the sea and spend the remainder of his life at home.

When the Asia was beating up the long stretch of Cape Cod coast and was almost in sight of Boston light, she ran into a heavy northeasterly snow storm the wind rapidly increasing in velocity until it reached gale force. Sails were shortened, but many of the blocks and ropes were ice-encased and it was difficult to handle the deeply laden craft.

Capt. Dakin's main idea was to avoid the many treacherous bars and shoals which lie to the eastward of the entrance to Vineyard Sound. He succeeded in escaping these, but was carried further south by wind and tide to Nantucket Sound. Bearings were lost in the impetuous atmosphere. Before the captain and his officers realized that fresh danger was ahead the Saint John ship struck in the night with a terrific shock on the deadly Great Round Shoal, long the dread of mariners. Spars crashed to the decks, great seas tumbled over the stricken craft, the vessel heeled over at times, and pounded heavily on the bottom. The numerous life-saving crews of that region were miles away on the mainland beaches or on the far distant island of Nantucket.

The Asia began to leak at a rapid rate. In directing the work of the crew, Capt. Dakin was thrown into the well of the ship, sustaining a fractured leg. Seeing that the ship's boat would not survive the great, tumbling seas, the officers and members of the crew resorted to life rafts.

Several men were drowned in the attempt to leave the ship, but finally the first mate, who had lashed himself and the captain's daughter to a raft, were able to clear the vessel. Two sailors on another raft, performed a similar feat.

After these four had left the doomed Asia there is no account of what happened on board, as no witness there survived the tempest of that terrible night.

Twenty-four hours later fishermen in Nantucket Sound picked up the two seamen on their raft. The sailors were semi-conscious and half-frozen, but they lived, the only survivors of the ship's whole company of 30 souls. The bodies of the mate and the girl he so gallantly endeavored to save, were picked up several miles away. They had perished by exposure to the cold and fury of the elements.

The Asia was smashed to pieces by the action of the seas within nine hours after she struck Great Round Shoal, and Nantucket Sound for weeks was strewn with fragments of her hull and rigging, and with her cargo of jute and hemp.

government of the British Navy, the island being used as a prison camp for General Croft.

During the World War Capt. Fitzgerald was sailing for the Australian government in the schooner Speedway, which was purchased by that government from Weymouth parties.

He tells you of cyclones in the China Sea, pomposes in the South Atlantic, hurricanes in the North Atlantic and ice bergs off Cape Horn. In his entire ship-going career, he never lost a ship or a man at sea.

Since retiring from sea Captain Fitzgerald conducts a general store in his home village, where he is also pilot of the Weymouth harbor, and takes an active interest in things pertaining to the community, having been councillor for Weymouth North for the past fourteen years.

Could Not Sew a Button on

Her Hands Were Helpless with Rheumatism

At one time she thought she would use the use of her right hand. But "a blessing" in the form of Kruschen Salts put her right again. "I was sure in a bad state," she writes. "In fact, I could not do my housework. I was so bad with rheumatism in my arms and hands. I could not sleep at nights, and I thought I would lose the use of my right hand. I could not hold anything, nor could I sew a button on. My arm would go dead. I was advised to try Kruschen, and inside of three weeks I found such a change. I have kept on taking it, and now I sleep all night—thanks to Kruschen's help and relief." Mrs. E. H. Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts have the power of dissolving uric acid crystals, which are responsible for rheumatic agony. Other ingredients of these salts assist Nature to expel these dissolved crystals through the natural channels.

NOT BADLY HURT WHEN CAR DROPS 118 FEET

Going over the steep embankment at the Mountain between Five Islands and Parrsboro, on Monday of last week, with a car turning barrel somersaults ten or eleven times, Mrs. Janet H. Ward, of Westville, N. J., miraculously escaped with bad bruises and cuts but no serious injury. She is under treatment in the Colchester County Hospital, where her condition is reported as quite satisfactory and that she is making good recovery despite her advanced years.

Mrs. Ward was operating her car over the crest of the Economy Mountain, when a flat tire caused the car to go out of control, and it swerved over the embankment down 118 feet. The aged woman succeeded in getting clear of the almost demolished auto and made her way to the top of the bank, where she was met by Elizabeth Seftoy and Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Miller of Halifax.

The American visitor was on her way to Weymouth, en route from California. She said she was travelling about 25 miles an hour at the time the car left the road.

It required all day Tuesday for the garage crane and a gang of men to again place the car on the highway, so steep was the embankment.

Printers Devil in Weymouth Free Press Office

One often hears some person spoken of as "knowing the business from the ground up," implying that that individual has a thorough knowledge of some particular industry. In the printing business one seldom starts at the ground; at least I did not. The basic principles of typography as taught to me, began at the floor. One of the first and most important duties which devolved upon me was the sweeping of the floors of the composing and job rooms every week day morning. I remember that after the first few faithful sweepings the job began to be exceedingly irksome, particularly that part of the clean-up which called for the picking up of all the type dropped on the floor by the compositors, the preceding day. I was not long in discovering a far more efficient method of dealing with the type problem. A "swish" of the broom would send it flying under the cases and out of sight. Thursday afternoon was almost sure to reveal a shortage of "cap M's" and "lower case" u's. A column and a half of "personals" and a good line of "village notes" was sure to deplete our slender stock of "cap" M's. I often wondered just how large a percentage of that shortage was due to the ungarnished type.

I was rather proud of the fact that a few days after making my debut in the Free Press Office, I was called up stairs by T. S. Farnham and initiated into some of the mysteries of the job press. By the way, that first job of printing was a thousand envelopes for Dr. E. O. Hallett. I am not depending on memory for this as I still have the small pocket account book in which I kept a record of the "jobs" I run off on that old "Prouty" during the first few months of my apprenticeship. One day I thoughtlessly called T. S. F.'s attention to my record, who, after scanning it, said:—"I don't see any account of the ones you spoiled." I have been somewhat chary of taking the general public into my confidence ever since. I had been in the office only a few months when there came to us a young man, somewhat older than I, who evinced a consuming desire to learn the trade. Being proud of my position as pressman, I was alarmed one morning on opening the composing room door, to hear the rattle which told of the job press in operation. Of course, I at once proceeded to investigate, and found the new comer busily engaged in printing "Comet Stove Polish" wrappers. He had "run off" quite a lot of them which would have been all right had it not been for the fact that he had neglected to put any ink on the "disk." When I called his attention to this defect I was at once put in my proper place by "I don't take orders from kids." However, I seem to remember that those "Comet Stove Polish" wrappers were the beginning and ending of his press work while he stayed with us.

The acquisition of knowledge through experience is a somewhat tedious process; at least I know that this is true insofar as I am concerned. However, this truth has rarely, if ever, been a deterrent to me. While still ignorant of the art of "make-up" and of the correct use of "furniture" and "galleys," I decided that a person holding a position of as great responsibility and importance as I held, needed, nay, must have, visiting cards. I did not know how to put a "form" to press, but I did know how to "lock up" a line of type on a "galley" and "strike a proof." Also, I knew where the "script" case was. Some trimmings of red, blue, purple, pink, "Bristol Board" furnished the stock and the old "Proof Press" was the power plant. Long-suffering T. S. F. found one of the results of my labors on the floor and while he should have shaken me thoroughly—patiently explained to me why the roller of the proof press was not just the right thing to run over his high priced type. By the way, I used that same roller to ink my "form" which M. G. T. seems to remember so well.

How many of you steam engineers remember using tallow as a cylinder lubricant? We had a square tin box, which sat on a shelf in the basement, which we used as a storage place, for the unmelting tallow. The cover, if there ever was one, must have been mislaid by one of my predecessors, and that loss resulted in many a well fed mouse. Feeling, as I did, that not one of that long line of immortal inventors from Archimedes, who discovered the word "Eureka" down to the inventor of "Kickapoo Indian Sagawa," were more blessed with inventive genius than I, it behooved me to formulate some plan to prevent the mice from eating up all our tallow. (The market price of beef tallow was 4 cents per pound at J. H. Cook's butcher shop.) The simple plan of covering the can with a piece of board does not seem to have occurred to me. If it did, the idea was discarded as unworthy of a budding Edison. After some time spent in study, I devised a really complicated mouse trap, which, once set, need never be "sprung." I placed the can of tallow on the shelf with the open end flush with the edge. Alongside, and extending somewhat over the edge of the shelf, I placed a piece of iron pipe, well smeared with machine oil. Beneath the tallow can and the greased pipe I sat the live rat. I have read something, sometime, somewhere, to the effect that a beaten path would be made to the door of the master mouse trap maker. There is no path, I didn't advertise. However, as long as I kept the can, the pipe, and the live rat in their proper places the mice went tallowless to bed.

I have been a more or less interested participant in a number of rather hard fought election campaigns, both in the East and in the West. "Believe it or not" the only time I ever saw fire arms in evidence was during the campaign of 1908. The "well heeled" person was an Eastern newspaper editor.

COMMISSIONER RECOUNTS A STRANGE EXPERIENCE

On being presented with a pair of hand carved ebony elephants recently by the Salada Tea Company, Mr. F. E. B. Gourlay, Commissioner in Canada for the Ceylon Tea Bureau, recalled an interesting experience.

Mr. Gourlay has recently arrived from Ceylon where he has been cultivating tea for a number of years and the little gift reminded him immediately of the following incident.

"Just a year ago, in Ceylon, he said, 'I was sitting in my tea garden one evening, five thousand feet above sea level, meditating upon the prospects of snipe shooting. The moon was full so I decided to go, cep to the plains on the morrow and try my luck. The valley looked so, near, lying there below, but I knew it would take me a trek of many hours through the jungle before I could reach it, so early next morning I set out.

"As I was pursuing my way along a narrow jungle path I met a string of tame elephants, each hauling a large ebony log about ten to fifteen feet long.

"At that time the commercial depression was at its height in the East and as ebony is a luxury wood I was curious as to who the fortunate purchaser might be. On enquiring I was told the logs had been ordered by a firm in Colombo called the Salada Tea Company and were being taken there to be carved into elephants. At the time I could not imagine why the thousands of elephants these logs represented could be wanted by one tea firm even as large as Salada—but now I realize how popular they have become in this country."

It is interesting to follow the adventures of these logs before the little hand-carved elephants reach Canada from Ceylon—that Pearl of the Indian Ocean so many thousands of miles away.

First of all the ebony trees must be found. They grow here and there, in the dense jungle. Ebony is a most extravagant wood as only the heart of the log is used. This is the black hard wood we are familiar with but to obtain it the white outer shell, about a foot thick, has first to be removed. As this white wood is without grain and has no commercial value it is stripped off and left to rot in the jungle. When the logs have been roughly shaped into portable lengths the difficult task of bringing them out to a highway commences.

Curiously enough this laborious task is performed by real elephants and they use amazing intelligence in lifting and dragging the heavy slabs. After moving the logs for possibly fifteen or twenty miles they are loaded on to bullock waggons or perhaps modern trucks, for their 45-mile journey to Haputale, the nearest railway station, six thousand feet above sea level, where only soft wood trees can grow. Here they are transferred to the freight cars and they come the trip to Colombo. The railway winds through some of the most magnificent tropical scenery in the world, traversing mile after mile through flourishing tea estates till the coast and Colombo are reached.

The logs are then taken to the native workshops where the brown-skinned craftsmen sit cross-legged on the floor or bench, plying the trade of wood carving which has been known in Ceylon for thousands of years—long before any white man ever set foot in Canada. "This they do by holding a small section of ebony between their toes and with the aid of only a wooden mallet and a primitive chisel, probably hand-forged from an old file they slowly but surely produce these perfect little models of the Ceylon elephant."

When finished and polished they are packed into crates to travel half round the world before they are delivered in Montreal. There they are unpacked and inspected. Occasionally the change in climate from tropical heat to our Northern atmosphere is too much even for this hard and seasoned wood and it cracks a little but this is easily repaired with a little filler and colour. Thousands of these little elephants, which are regarded by many as "good luck" tokens, are to be found today in Canadian homes throughout the Dominion, there to remind folks of the sunny island of far-off Ceylon and the comforting tea that it produces for their daily enjoyment. It is in-

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. John McLaughlin, of Church Point, a happy couple, who have just celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary. About twenty guests were present at their home, where they spent a very enjoyable evening, the party ending up with the serving of refreshments.

WEYMOUTH SCHOOL ADOPTS GRADE XII

The Weymouth schools, which opened on August 27, have now reached an enrolment of 113, distributed as follows: Primary, 48; Intermediate, 31; Advanced, 34. This is considerably larger than last year, and it is notable that the number of beginners is 16. The teachers are G. R. Pierce, Principal; Miss Evelyn Melanson and Miss Clara Hankinson.

A new departure is the establishment of a high school department, Grade XII having been transferred to the Intermediate department, and the introduction of Grade XII. While this adds a heavy burden to the work of the school, it is an opportunity for many students who would otherwise be unable to get this work, and the class of seven includes several from out of town.

Recent visitors to the school have been Dr. David Solano, chief inspector of schools, and M. C. Foster, inspector for Annapolis-Digby, who were here in connection with the organization of the new High School. The school board is planning to purchase considerable equipment, and a successful year is anticipated. It is hoped that these school notes can be continued at intervals throughout the school year.

NEW THEATRE TO BE KNOWN AS 'THE EMPIRE'

The 'Empire' has been selected as the name of the new theatre which will open in the old Knights of Columbus building on Coburn Street, Saint John, about the end of this month. It was announced last week. Remodelling of the building into a theatre is going ahead rapidly.

With the announcement of the theatre's name came word that Stephen Hurley has been appointed manager. Mr. Hurley has a wide knowledge of theatre operation, having been manager for 10 years of the former Unique Theatre. He has also been active giving recitals as Paul Collins. 'The Strolling Vagabond'.

Ed. note—Mr. Hurley, better known as 'Paul Collins', has many friends in Weymouth, who wish him success in his new position.

F. H. Lent was a visitor to Digby on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Titus are guests at Sissiboo Lodge, Weymouth North. Arnold Lent, of Digby, spent the week end at his home in Weymouth North.

Mrs. G. L. Coggins went to Halifax on Saturday, to remain for three weeks.

Mrs. Baisey, of Saint John, is a guest of Mrs. J. C. Cornwall, Weymouth North.

Arch. L. Thuermer was a recent week end guest of his brother, Horace, at Freepoint.

SUPERIOR OF COLLEGE PRESENTED WITH MEDAL

Thursday afternoon a party of French delegates to the Carlier celebration visited Church Point and were tendered a public reception at St. Anne's College, crowded to capacity by people from all over Clare and Yarmouth districts. The distinguished visitors were Gabriel Louis Jaray, le Comte de Caix, formerly 'secrétaire général' of the French government in Syria; Fortunat Strowski, professor at the Sorbonne; Gaillard de Champris, professor at the Catholic University of Paris; Mr. Foix, professor at the University of Algiers; Madame J. Dal Flax, Madame Simon Henri-Martin and Madame C. Badier, secretary of the French delegation.

Before going to the assembly hall into a theatre were served in the college dining room to the visitors and a number of guests. Rev. Father LeGresley, superior of the college, proposed a toast to France and le Comte de Caix responded with a toast to Canada and the Acadians.

In the assembly hall Father LeGresley officially welcomed the distinguished visitors for the College and the French population, and Hon. J. W. Comeau, in the name of the government of Nova Scotia, Mr. Jaray tendered to the Rev. Father Superior, in the name of France, a gold medal commemorative of the Jacques Cartier Celebration, together with an engraved picture of Cartier and a reproduction of the first map of Canada.

Mr. Putnam, government engineer, was in Weymouth North on business on Tuesday.

Murray Mullen and Jack Walker left on Tuesday for Weston, where they have secured employment.

'Uncle Tom's Cabin,' was presented at the Community Theatre, on Monday evening, to a large audience.

Miss Marion Blackadar, R. N., of Boston, is spending her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Blackadar.

Mrs. Russell Henshaw, of Waldeck Line, arrived on Tuesday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Doty, at Weymouth North.

Mrs. A. W. Carr and Miss Constance, Weymouth North, went to Truro on Saturday. They were accompanied home on Monday by Mrs. Ward, who has been a patient in the Truro Hospital since her serious automobile accident on Labor Day.

Jerome, Digby County's Man of Mystery

Perhaps the most 'written-up' person who ever lived in Digby County was Jerome.

No one knows who he was or where he came from. The mystery of his life will probably never be solved although many prominent writers have made their guesses.

In the summer of 1866 a large ship was seen in the Bay of Fundy along the coast of Digby Neck. There seemed to be something very peculiar about her appearance—she was unlike any vessel that had ever been seen along that shore. Some of the fishermen guessed she was a man-of-war; others—a pirate ship. But, whatever she was, there seems to be little doubt but what this strange vessel brought 'Jerome' to that shore.

Early the next morning, after the ship had been seen, a man by the name of Albright, coming down to the shore to gather rock weed, found, not very far above the tide mark, the huddled up form of a man. Both legs had been freshly amputated just above the knees—evidently by a skilled surgeon. Beside him was a jug of water and a loaf of coarse black bread.

His legs, though skillfully bandaged, were still sore and bleeding. Also, he was suffering from cold and exposure. He was carried to the home of a Mr. Gidney in Mink Cove, wrapped in blankets and given warm drinks.

Upon regaining consciousness he was questioned as to his name, what had happened to him, and why he was left in that condition on the shore. No answer could ever be obtained. He spoke but one word 'Jerome'—and for that reason he was known afterward as Jerome.

As he made no further effort to speak, nothing could be learned of his nationality. It was decided then to send him to Meteghan amongst the Acadians on the 'French Shore'—some one there might be found who could speak his language, and thus the mystery of his casting away might be solved.

Jerome was dark complected. It was thought by many that he might be an Italian. At Meteghan lived a Corsican by the name of John Nicholas and nicknamed 'the Russian', who spoke not only Italian but several other European languages, and to Nicholas' home Jerome was taken. Nicholas received him cordially, and his family cared for the castaway until the case was brought to the attention of the Nova Scotia Government, and thereafter he was allowed $2.00 a week for the man's keep.

Nicholas tried all his languages on the mysterious Jerome, but he would not speak, although it was quite evident that he understood both French and Italian. That he lived in deadly fear of some one or something was equally certain. Only on three or four occasions during the forty-two years he lived on 'the French Shore' was any information obtained from him. Each occasion when he was off guard, and for weeks afterward he lived in deadly panic.

On one occasion when asked suddenly where he came from, he answered 'Trieste'. On another 'What ship brought you to the Bay of Fundy Shore?' his reply was 'Colombo'.

Jerome learned to walk quite well on his stumps, but he never went anywhere. He shunned all companions. Most of the time he sat on the kitchen floor, his head bowed, his hands folded.

He spent seven years at the home of John Nicholas. After the death of Nicholas' wife he was boarded with Mrs. Didier Comeau, of St. Alphonsie de Clare—then known as Chetivland.

At this home he often watched the children in their play. Sometimes, when he was sure no adults were around, he spoke to them, but, always, when asked by the children, why he would not speak with the grown ups, his reply was always, a shake of the head and 'No, no'. Once, in answer to their questions as to how his legs were cut off, he replied, 'Chains' and then 'sawed off on a table'. That he could speak English was proven on one occasion when visitors came to see him he refused to leave his room. Francois Comeau coaxed, placed his hand on his shoulder—Jerome cried out angrily, and in perfect English 'I'll bite you'.

He was a man of extraordinary strength, but never offered to do work of any kind whatever. He also was possessed of a violent temper, but his tantrums were usually short lived except when the word 'Forban' (pirate) was mentioned, then it took days for his anger and excitement to cool. When he thought himself alone, he would stand at his window and watch for hours ships passing and repassing in the Saint Mary's Bay.

Occasionally the Government printed short accounts of the castaway, in the hope that some information would be obtained. One of these notices brought a letter from New York, written by two sisters, by the name of Mahoney, who thought Jerome might prove to be their long lost brother. Mr. Comeau and his brother Francois, later visited New York and called on the sisters. They learned from them that their brother Jerome had run away from home three times before he was eleven years of age. The fourth time he disappeared completely, and although their father had searched all his life, and spent money lavishly, the brother was never heard of again. They were of the opinion that the castaway was their brother, and the age when he left home and his apparent age—twenty-five—when found, would tally satisfactorily. But the mystery of his life which was evidently spent in foreign lands or on the high seas, the amputation of his legs, his abandonment on the Nova Scotia coast, were never solved.

Not long before his death in 1908, Mrs. Doucet, daughter of John Nicholas, called to see him. She had played about him as a little child. 'She was one of the children to whom he had spoken and she had very kindly memories of his. As she entered his room he raised his eyes and looked at her, then dropped them again. To her repeated appeals for him to speak to her he leaned forward as though anxious to comply, making several supreme efforts to articulate, but, evidently the vocal cords, long in disuse, refused to function, and the murmur she construed into 'je ne puis pas'—and she turned sadly away.

The idea was held by those who knew him best that he was in possession of a secret which it was feared he might divulge. His admission that his legs were injured by chains in some way confirms this theory. That some secret was in his keeping seems reasonable. How, otherwise can the silence of almost half a century be accounted for? That conscience troubled him, and that he was doing penance for past sins was construed from the fact that he held his hands on a red-hot stove on two occasions, and that he was seldom kind to smile. Whatever the sins of his youth were, he had ample time to review and repent of them in the pathetic silence of forty-two years spent with the kindly disposed Acadians along the 'French Shore' of Digby County.

Miss Louise Mullen was visitors to Digby on Saturday.

Mrs. Helen Dart, who spent the summer at her former home, 'Beechwood', Weymouth North, left on Tuesday for Halifax en route to England.

Mrs. Gordon Ross, of Lynn, Mass., arrived on Monday to visit relatives and friends at her former home at Weymouth North. She was joined on Tuesday by Mr. Ross.

Newspaper History of Digby County

The following is copied from "Wilson's History of Digby County":

"Hitherto the people of Digby County had depended entirely for literature upon outside productions. In 1857 a deaf mute, named David A. Nicholson, circulated the prospectus of a weekly newspaper, devoted to local interests, which would be issued in Digby from the beginning of 1858, to be called the "Weekly Anthracinum." But this commendable enterprise proved a failure for want of sufficient patronage. A second venture was launched on Tuesday, December 6th, 1859, by Messrs. Albert E. Dodge, of Annapolis County, and Ingram B. Gidney, of Angus, Gidney, formerly editor of the Yarmouth Herald, a native of Sandy Cove, in this county, who then issued in Digby the first number of The Acadian, an eight-page weekly paper, twelve by eighteen inches, under the partnership of Dodge & Gidney. The office was in the building of Dr. Bent, which stood on Water Street, between Sydney Street and Birch Place, two doors north of the old Andrews' homestead, known as the Waverly Hotel. The motto of this paper was "Mind with Mind Direct Communication Holds." Subscriptions, $2.00 per year, when paid within six months, otherwise $2.50 per annum. Advertisements, 80 cents first insertion, 25 cents for each continuance. The venture was not a flattering success financially, and consequently the junior partner withdrew, Dec. 14, 1860. Mr. Dodge assuming all liabilities and collecting every debt due the late firm. The latter continued the paper unchanged until 1861, but reduced it to four pages in the following year, though issuing regularly until the building and the entire plant were accidentally burned in the autumn of 1863. The next was the Weekly Examiner, having four pages, sixteen by twenty-four inches, commenced in the county town on Friday, May 12, 1865, by John A. Cossett & Son, proprietors. The latter, John Byron Cossett, was editor, and was the great grandson of Lewis G. Cossett, of Smith's Cove. It was designated "A journal of art, science, literature and general information." This continued until the close of 1867. Subscription prices and terms of advertising were identical with those of its predecessor. The county was without a printing establishment until Friday, September 18th, 1874, when R. S. McCormick published the initial number of the Digby Weekly Courier, having similar dimensions of the Examiner, and independent in politics. The Courier has continued uninterrupted to the present. Following McCormick, Charles E. Farnham and W. T. Ford were editors. In 1887 it became the exponent of Liberal principles. Consequently the Canadian was inaugurated Thursday, December 10th, 1891, by the Canadian Printing & Publishing Co., Ltd., on the east side of Water Street, Digby, one lot north of the foot of Church Street, as the exponent of Conservative tenets, being four pages, 22 x 28 inches. It was edited by J. E. Jones, M.D., with Charles E. Farnham business manager. At the same time Mr. Ford wielded the Courier's editorial pen. A lively warfare of words with a thorough canvass for subscriptions, now commenced. After finding both papers could not flourish on such limited ground, with two in Weymouth and one in Clare, the Weekly Courier again donned political independence, and the Canadian ceased publication in 1893.

While the Courier was being published by a company Rev. E. d'Homme, Cure of St. Vincent, Salmon River, obtained a column on the fourth page for the benefit of the Acadians, to be printed in that language. It was not however, fully satisfactory to that class of our citizens. Valentine A. Landry, a descendant of Rene Landry, who married a relative of Charles de LaTour, a school teacher, began L'Evangeline, in Digby, November 23rd, 1887, assisted by Joseph A. A. Cullen. It was about the size of the Canadian, published weekly at $1.00 per year. Meanwhile, Weymouth was thriving rapidly, and attracting a large share of public attention. Newspaper ventures were invading every vacant centre. "The great lumbering mart could not remain unoccupied. Eugene J. Hainer, formerly of Oshawa, Ontario, but a representative of the Fourth Congressional District of Nebraska, in the United States House of Representatives from 1892 to 1894, issued the first copy of The Weymouth Times, Wednesday, March 7th, 1888, in a building on the western side of the highway southward from Weymouth Bridge, formerly occupied by Edward Egan. After several months spent somewhat unsatisfactorily to himself at least, he sold the plant to Nathaniel E. Butler, a native of Yarmouth but a citizen of Weymouth for a number of years, who had efficiently taught advanced public schools in Digby County. This was a four-page weekly, 15 x 26 inches, devoted to general news, literature and county interests. After a successful and commendable but brief career, the entire business was purchased by the editor and proprietor of L'Evangeline, who, coupled with a commodious residence at Weymouth, a few rods north of the Egan building, removed the latter journal thither, amalgamating L'Evangeline with the Times, whose name he changed to the Weymouth Free Press, on December 13th, 1889, they were both issued still from the same office on Wednesdays and Fridays respectively. Later, but by no means least, L'Acadie Libérale, a weekly periodical of four pages, reaching in dimensions the Weymouth Times, appeared October 18th, 1890. It was published at Meteghan, boldly espousing the Liberal cause. But, like others advocating the claims of a particular party, its life was short and comparatively uneventful.

(The above concludes the Wilson account of the county newspapers—and we carry on from here.)

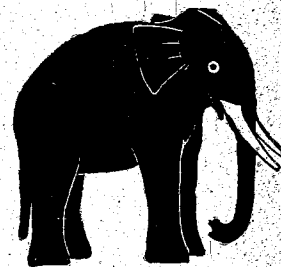

Trouble in the Free Press office in Weymouth resulted in the withdrawal of certain members of the staff, who established The Siskiboo Echo and L'Acadie, both being published in the Muise building, now occupied by Harris' Garage. They were good papers but the town could not support them all, and they eventually discontinued publication. L'Evangeline was moved to Moncton, and is still going strong.

In Digby J. T. McBride established a small daily, called The Telegraph. Its life was short, however. He made another attempt in 1908-09 to establish a paper, publishing for some months, The Digby County Record, which was printed first in Weymouth, then in Annapolis.

In 1906 J. J. Wallis, the present editor of the Courier, established The Weymouth Gazette, and a year later admitted L. H. Sabine, now of Raymond, Wash., into partnership. This paper ran about three years but was never a success financially. The Courier in the meantime had been pursuing the even tenor of its way. Several editors occupied the chair—we personally only knew two, Aubrey Fullerton and the late Oakes Dunham. When the latter left to go to Bridgetown, George E. Chisholm, now of Kentville, succeeded him. Having secured a better position in Kentville he resigned in December, 1918, and was succeeded by J. J. Wallis. The latter held the position until late in 1924, when he opened on his own account The Wallis Print, and went into job printing. E. S. Stratton succeeded him as editor, although Mr. Wallis, who had purchased a small block of stock never lost touch entirely as he had been made one of the directors. Stratton was succeeded by R. C. Mills. In 1929 Clarence Jameson, the president and principal owner of the Courier, died, and in a short time his holdings were on the market, and Frank Jones, K. C., became the purchaser. He at once took the paper over and called Mr. Wallis back to the editorship. A couple of years later Mr. Wallis secured from Mr. Jones the Jameson holdings—and that is how the paper stands at the present time. The history of newspapers in this county has been a checkered one—but the Courier has succeeded in retaining the friendship of the people and is one of the few papers which is still forging ahead.

In response to repeated requests on the part of the local merchants of Weymouth the Weymouth Gazette was re-established in 1931. Its first number came out with the patronage of seventeen local advertisers—and prospects looked good. After it had been running for a few weeks "they commenced with one accord to make excuses" and dropped out. Subscriptions came in fairly well—but it takes more than subscribers to keep a paper going. But, hoping against hope, that the business men would again rally to keep their promise, it was kept going at a loss for three years, when it was again discontinued, and we feel it will be some time before Weymouth again has a paper of its own.

Several attempts have been made to establish a paper in Bear River. The first to try was Fred Mulhall, of Lawrenceville, who, on the 17th of March 1896, brought out the first number of the Bear River Telephone. His office was in the building now occupied by the Legion. After a short time he sold out to "Jack" DeVany, then a teacher at Indian Hill. Mr. DeVany ran it for a time but it eventually came into possession of the Bridgetown Monitor and was continued by them as a separate paper, with local managers, for some time, before they amalgamated it with the Monitor. Then Geo. I. Brooks, who had been connected with the Telephone, started the Bear River News, which ran for quite a time. In 1931 an attempt was made to revive the News, but after a year's fruitless effort it was dropped.

In this brief history of news in Digby County we should not omit mention of The Tiny Tattler, published in Central Grove, by Ivan Shortliffe, a fifteen year old school boy. It has been officially recognized by the government—an honor that very few amateur publications attain. It is the world's smallest newspaper enjoying second-class postal rates, and has built up quite a circulation.

SANDY COVE

Last Friday a number of men and boys from here went to Weymouth on a motor boat trip. On their way back, just as the boat was under the railway bridge at Weymouth, engine trouble developed. Seymour Bishop, son of I. A. Bishop, of New York, who was one of the party, removed his clothing, tied a line about him, and jumping overboard, towed the boat across a distance down the river until they could reach a wharf. From here one of the New Edinburgh boats was secured to tow them across to their home port.

Mrs. George Boyd, of Lynn, Mass., is visiting at the home of her niece.

DIGBY, NOVA SCOTIA, FRIDAY, SEPT. 21, 1934

VOLUME LXI, NO. 1

Judge Livingston's First Official Appearance

His Honor Judge W. A. Livingston presided over the first session of the County Court at Digby since his appointment to the County Court Judgeship for District Number 3, comprising Yarmouth, Digby and Annapolis Counties. Judge Livingston succeeds the late Judge Grier, son of Weymouth.

The only case to occupy the attention of the Court to-day was that of the Trustees of the North Range School Section vs. Heber MacNeill. This case, arising out of a disputed $10 due on taxes which MacNeill claims to have paid the section—and which the section alleges he did not pay—has attracted a great deal of attention not only in North Range, but throughout the county in general.

Last May the case was tried before Judge J. A. Taylor's court and decision given in favor of the school section. MacNeill appealed the case to the County Court.

MacNeill, who claims to have paid this account to the then secretary, A. W. Andrews, alleges he has lost his receipt. Andrews alleges that this amount—the balance due on MacNeill's taxes—was not paid. The books and rate sheets have been lost or destroyed.

A strange feature in this case is that Manning MacNeill, now secretary of the section, and son of the defendant, brought the action against his father for the North Range School Section. Manning, as well as MacNeill's two daughters, collaborated their father's evidence that the money had been paid to Andrews in the MacNeill kitchen.

This case which may become as famous as the renowned "Ox Case" was concluded Tuesday, and apparently, like in the case, the decision will rest upon whether, or not the rate lists were certified by the trustees.

Frank Jones, K. C. was solicitor for the defendant, and E. J. Theriault for the plaintiff. Decision was reserved by his honor.

The case of the Municipality of Digby vs. the Municipality of Annapolis was adjourned until the 28th.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Humphrey returned to their home in Somerville, Mass., last week.

Water Scarcity Serious Problem

Recent rains have helped the water situation in Digby County, but even yet quantities of rain are needed. In many sections wells and reservoirs have gone dry, and the inhabitants are forced to carry water for long distances—in some cases for half a mile or more.

At Westport the situation is almost regarded as serious according to reports that have reached the Courier Office. Housewives are taking their washings to the homes of more fortunate neighbors. The little reservoir which supplies several houses in the island village has gone dry. It is difficult to find water for commercial and household use, and for livestock. There being no lakes or streams on the island, it is a difficult matter to secure fresh water for everyday use, and it has been rumored that unless the situation improves it may be necessary to import water from the mainland or from Long Island.

The situation isn't much better at Clementsport. Many of the wells in this pretty little village have gone dry, and several families are "boring" water from the wells of their neighbors, or carting it for long distances. At Doucettville and other villages conditions are similar. Wells never known to have gone dry before are without a drop of water.

On account of the dry summer crops have suffered everywhere. The hay crop was far below normal. Roots and green crops have also felt the affects of the drought.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND—PARISH OF DIGBY

The Rev. Frederick M. Kirkus, D. D., will have charge of the services in Holy Trinity church, during the next two weeks.

On Sunday the services will be as follows: Holy Communion at 8:00 a. m., Morning Prayer and Sermon at 11:00 a. m.

There will be no service in the evening. All appointments at Marshfield, Rossway and Sandy Cove will be suspended until further notice.

Special Anniversary Edition Pleases Readers

Since last week we have received a number of telephone calls, letters, and even one telegram of congratulation on our twenty-second golden jubilee edition. Many too, have called at the office to extend their congratulations. One Acadiaville subscriber even went so far as to say that last week's issue was the best the Courier had ever put out.

All these compliments have made us feel very proud of our effort, which could not have been accomplished without the co-operation of our readers whom we have to thank for many contributions. We'll not hesitate in saying that this issue meant a lot of work—night and day on our part.

Requests for extra copies have been numerous. We still have a number on hand which may be obtained at our office at the regular price. After this week when copies are scarcer, the price may be higher. If you wish us to mail them to your friends, we will be glad to do so at no extra charge, for any papers within the British Empire. Copies from our office to the United States and Foreign countries will be charged two cents extra for postage.

BAPTISMAL SERVICE

There will be a Baptismal Service at Cossabomb's Beach, Smith's Cove, on Sunday, at 4:30 o'clock, p. m. Everybody welcome; Come!

See the week-end display of New Millinery—"Just around the corner" at the Hat Shop. (Gertrude Oliver).

Home Division, Sons of Temperance, at Smith's Cove, will re-open next Wednesday evening, after the summer vacation. Members should make it a point to be present.

Mrs. Mattie Trask and daughter, Mrs. P. Walter, and two children, Philip and Hazel, who have spent the past five weeks at their former home here, are returning to their homes in Somerville, Mass., on Tuesday.

John Pope, accompanied by Miss Alice Copeland and Miss Ada D. Turnbull, left last week on a motor trip to New Hampshire. Before returning home, Miss Turnbull will visit Boston, Somerville, and other cities in Massachusetts.

M. L. Saunders, local manager of the C. P. R. Telegraph Office, was a visitor to his home in Windsor last week. On his return he was accompanied by his sister, Miss Aithes Saunders, who is spending several days with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alpheus Marshall, at Weymouth North.

Work was commenced on Monday at building an extension on the Commercial Public Wharf at Weymouth North. This extension will be 180 feet long and 40 feet wide and is giving employment to a large number of men who appreciate the work very much. The amount to be expended is $9,200, granted through the efforts of H. B. Short, M. P., of Digby.

Wanted—Small, medium or large size stove for Scout Hall. Have you one? We will call for it.

Charles E. Blizard is spending a few days in Digby. This is his first visit to town since leaving here forty-six years ago, at that time his father operated a canning factory at the Joggins. In conversation with the Courier he informed us that his sister Margaret, learned her "trade" as compositor on the Courier staff, under the late Charles Farnham, and afterward became the fastest hand compositor in the city of Boston.

Each member of the crew of the schooner American, Capt. Simon P. Theriault, at Gloucester, Mass., shared $90 for their recent halibut trip, when the stock of the craft amounted to $4,780 out of which had to be taken over $400 for lost gear. Like many of the haddockers and halibutiers this past summer, the American lost a lot of gear through the ravages of sharks, and the owners and fishermen have suffered because of it. Capt. Theriault sailed again for another halibut trip.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Warner left on Tuesday for a two weeks trip, and will visit various cities in the New England states.

Miss Emily Agate, accompanied by friends from New York, arrived on Tuesday to visit the former's father, William Agate.

Burpee Durling, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Alice Durling, of Liverpool, are visiting relatives in the United States.

Miss Ruth Cushman, who has been spending a vacation with Mrs. C. Gordon Ellis, will leave tomorrow to return to her home in Swampscott, Mass.

We have received several letters concerning the articles published in our anniversary edition, which we are unable to find room for this week, but will try and do so in our next issue.

Ex-Chief of Police, Alfred G. Cowan, who retired from the force owing to ill health, and who recently underwent a major operation in the Victoria General Hospital, Halifax, has returned home. We are glad to report that our good friend is greatly improved.

Richard Beaton was very pleasantly surprised on Wednesday evening, when a number of classmates gathered at his home on King Street, the occasion being his birthday. The evening was spent playing games, one of them a mock trial. The birthday cake made its appearance at the end of the evening, followed by other refreshments.

Digby Kiwanis Club Enters Buckingham Contest

The Kiwanis Club of Digby has entered the Buckingham Christmas Gift contest. In other words they will save wrappery from Buckingham cigarettes—10's, 20's and 25's; from Buckingham fine cut and pipe tobacco—10, 15 and 20 cent packages, and the voting certificates found in Buckingham cigarettes 50's and 100's and in pound and half-pound tobacco tins.

Each wrapper and certificate has a certain vote value; every 10,000 votes entitles the Kiwanis Club of Digby to one toy. These toys are not just toys—but toys that will delight the heart of any boy or girl at Christmas time—and Christmas is just a little more than three months away.

The Kiwanians hope in this way to secure votes enough to enable them to secure many toys for their annual Christmas Cheer these toys will be distributed among the poor and needy children of the community. Ballot boxes into which you are asked to deposit your Buckingham wrappers and certificates will be deposited at strategic points in the town. Their locations will be announced later.

Remember—Do not cut the package; simply send it as it is. The law requires that the excise stamp be broken when opening the package, to show that this has been done leave part of the broken excise stamp on the package you deposit in the ballot box.

Summer Business is About Over

The closing of the Pines Hotel last week practically marked the end of the summer season in Digby for 1934—and without the least doubt this summer will go on record as the best since 1929. This season, hotels and boarding houses have been filled with summer visitors, and it is estimated the increase was fully 50 per cent over last year. The Pines, particularly, has enjoyed an excellent season; this hotel, classed among the most up-to-date in Canada, was filled the better part of the season.

The Harbor View, at Smith's Cove; Sea Breeze and Colonial Arms, at Deep Brook; Mountain Gap at Joggins Bridge; the Myrtle, Lour Lodge, Fairview and Excel Inn, at Digby, as well as the smaller houses in the town and vicinity, all report increases over last year.

A new departure for local summer resorts—the girls' camp "Arctic" at Deep Brook, which just closed for the season, reports a very successful first season, with every prospect of doing better in the years to come. This camp was opened by Mrs. Helen Anthony, of Bear River, mistress of "Netherwood," the girls' school at Rothesay, N. B.

Those who have watched the traffic closely this summer comment on the fact that it was the high priced hotels and the smaller hotels and boarding houses which got the lion's share of the patronage, the "middle class" hostels, although showing a decided improvement over recent years, have not been as popular as the others. This, they claim, is due to the fact that "times" have not come back to the place where the middle class merchant or professional man can afford his vacation. The vacationists this year, according to the analysis, have been the wealthy ones, who can afford the higher priced hotels, and school teachers, stenographers, artists, and "professional" folk who come for a quiet, restful vacation at the least possible expense.

From the local merchants' point of view, the season has also shown improvement, but with them, the increase has not been so marked as with the hotels. Taken as a whole, the most of them report more long drives than in recent years.

In addition to Digby's natural scenic beauty, the two golf courses—the 18-hole Pines Course and the 9-hole Digby Course—have been a big source of attraction. Four major events—the Provincial Women's tournament, the Nova Scotia Golf Association's tournament, the Maritime Seniors' tournament, and the Maritime Golf Association's tournament, played over the magnificent Pines

Rev. C. L. Blanchard Speaks On "Fellowship"

On Tuesday the Digby Kiwanians, who boast of being the only service club in the world to hold their luncheon in the dining saloon of a passenger steamer, returned "home" to the Princess Helene, after holding their luncheon during the summer months in their special dining room at the Pines.

At this luncheon, Mr. Hess, of Kiwanis International was a guest. He spoke briefly telling how the service clubs—particularly Kiwanis—have weathered the depression. In the peak year 1929 Kiwanis had a membership of 103,000—this dropped to a low ebb of 73,000, but since the low ebb was reached, 8,000 more have joined or re-joined the ranks of Kiwanis. The Ontario-Quebec Maritime district was the only district in Canada or the United States that did not drop below their charter membership during the depression years.

The guest speaker was Rev. C. L. Blanchard, pastor of the United Church, Bear River, who spoke on the subject of "Fellowship," but more from a world viewpoint rather than a fraternal viewpoint. He stated that fellowship can be for good and evil—the gangsters, so called, in the competition cities are "gangs" that have grown out of the natural human desire for fellowship. Mussolini, Hitler and Stalin are all striving to mass their countrymen into one great fellowship, he stated.

"Hal" Campbell was chairman of this luncheon.

On Wednesday next the Digby Kiwanians expect to be hosts to a large group of delegates attending the Ontario-Quebec-Maritime District Convention, which meets at Halifax on Friday, Monday and Tuesday, will visit Digby. On Wednesday morning a special train will leave Halifax, the visitors will stop at points of interest along through the Annapolis Valley, and arrive in Digby in time for lunch with the Digby Kiwanians.

GRACE UNION, M. A., PH. D. Rev. T. W. Hodgson, Ch. A. Minister

The services on Sunday are as follows—11 a. m. Morning Service, 3:00 p. m. Smith's Cove; 7:30 p. m., Evening Service. Welcome!

course, have attracted hundreds this season. Summer visitors have declared that Digby is losing a golden opportunity by not making greater use of the Annapolis Basin as its "front door". This beautiful sheet of water should be the haven of many yachts and pleasure craft, as in days of yore, they claim.

From a standpoint of a summer resort, Digby has enjoyed a prosperous season, and prospects for the years to follow are brighter than they have been for some years.

SOURD ON THE WORLD?—THAT'S LIVER

Wake up your Liver Bile

—No Calomel necessary

Many people who feel sour, sluggish and generally weakened make the mistake of taking salts, oil, mineral water, laxative candy, or anything else, or anything which only cures the bowels and ignores the liver.

What you need is to wake up your liver bile. Start your liver pouring the daily two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels. Use your stomach and intestines working as they should, once more.

Clarke's Little Liver Pills will soon set you up. Purely vegetable. Safe. Sure. Quick. Ask for them by name. Before bedtime, 25¢ at all druggists.

TIVERTON

Blanchard Outhouse, who was taken ill at Beaver Harbor, N. B., was brought to his home here last week, accompanied by Mrs. Outhouse.

HEALTH

HALF-DEAD

Our sympathy goes out to that large group of people, mostly women, who drag out a miserable and uncomfortable existence year after year. They are not sick in the ordinary sense of the word; if they were, they would be receiving some attention, which they deny themselves because they have no obvious disease of the heart, lungs, kidneys, or other vital organs.

These are the people who are half-dead, or more dead than alive. They are not like some who "enjoy poor health" because their supposed poor health is used by them as an excuse to get out of doing work, and to secure for them attention and service, either from some one who is fond of them, or because they have money to pay for it.

Women suffer more than men from poor nutrition. In the first place, the mother will deprive herself of food, if necessary, to feed her children and her husband. In the second place, the mother is more often tired, and after having prepared a meal, she is so worn out physically that she cannot digest her food properly. The woman who feels "half-dead" is very often an undernourished, fatigued mother.

It has been found that among women, particularly in the lower income group, who have borne a number of children, many are dragging themselves about, more dead than alive. These women do not, as a rule, complain; they have come to accept this condition as their normal and they go on, year after year, only half alive. Needless to say, these women cannot be good housekeepers as they have not sufficient energy to do their housework. In many cases, these women are anemic; there is a lack of haemoglobin in their blood. These women, however, can be cured by proper treatment.

We might as well enumerate a number of other conditions which sap the health without causing serious disease. The person who feels "half-dead" requires medical care. Just as much as does the person with typhoid fever or any other evident disease. The need is not as urgent, but it is just as imperative. Health means happiness, and the person who feels "half-dead" is missing the happiness in life to which he or she is entitled.

This problem will not be solved by dosing with so-called "tonics".

It is necessary in each case, to get at the cause of the condition and to remove the cause; otherwise, there will not be any improvement. Do not live half a life, secure health and happiness through proper treatment.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 144 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

MacWhinnie-Hartlin

On Wednesday morning, Sept. 12, the Port Wade Baptist Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when Miss Ruth Elizabeth MacWhinnie, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles MacWhinnie, was united in marriage to Rev. Howard Stearns Hartlin, now stationed at Bedford (formerly of Jeddore). The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. B. Crowell. The church was beautifully decorated by girl friends of the bride. The couple standing beneath an arch of golden glow, from the centre of which hung a white wedding veil. The bride was given in marriage by her father, and was beautifully crowned in white crepe-back satin, with the conventional veil and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia Roses and Maiden Hair Fern. The bride's maid was Miss Marion MacWhinnie, sister of the bride, who wore a gown of pink net over pink silk, and carried a bouquet of roses and fern. The groom was attended by Harry Burnie of Hillsburn. The ushers were Miss Doris Walker and Miss Eleanor Parker. They were dressed in pastel shades of green and blue silk. Mrs. Clifford MacWhinnie presided at the organ, and rendered the wedding march as the bridal party entered and left the church. Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's uncle, Watson Anthony and Mrs. Anthony. The presents were lovely, including silver, linen and money. Rev. and Mrs. Hartlin left for a brief honeymoon-trip to Saint John. The bride travelling in navy blue with grey accessories. Upon their return the happy couple will reside in Bedford.

Rev. Mr. Hartlin is a former pastor of the Port Wade Baptist Church.

A WEYMOUTH MAN WRITES FROM THE WEST

Editor Digby Courier.
Sir:—Here is a line or so for your "Old Home Week Edition," which I hope will be of interest. I was born in Weymouth North in the year 1870. I left in 1892 for the States. Then I made my way to the great open west where I still am. At that time

It wasn't much when we came here but is a very attractive city today. It can boast of some very fine homes, beautiful lawns and gardens, and the best schools of all vocations in the west. Of course our winters are sometimes very severe the fact being that we think the thermometer is going to break at times but in spite

Use Laco Mazda's for Schooltime Study

Impaired eyesight from constant strain, in a great many cases, is never corrected and the child goes through life with a great handicap. By using a sufficient quantity of light this can be prevented. Laco Mazda's give you the maximum of light for the current consumed giving you full candle power for wattage, as in the manufacture of this lamp only the best of cold drawn tungsten is used. Using cheap lamps, not bearing the Mazda mark, is more than likely to increase your monthly bill and you do not get extra light for the increase in cost.

THE PROPER CARE OF YOUR AUTOMOBILE

Sport Model Tops

WHILE they are made of a different material and are not coated with a varnish, as are the tops of cheap cars, a certain amount of inspection, and care is necessary to the upkeep of the sport model top. This style of top is made from a gray, tan or khaki colored fabric called teal or Burbank cloth. It usually consists of two layers of closely woven cloth which are fastened together with rubber cement. When this material is new it will resist water. After the car has been in service for a year or two, however, the top material sometimes loses its waterproof qualities and leaks develop.

When this occurs it is useless to try to waterproof the material with a coating of varnish, lacquer or any other kind of surface finish. They are not suited to material of this type, and are liable to cause it to stiffen, pucker, or become discolored. The proper compound to use on sports model tops to renew their waterproof qualities is one which will sink into the cloth and waterproof the fibres without changing the color or appearance of the material in any way.

THE BANK OF CANADA

Shares of the Bank of Canada to the amount of $5,000,000 are offered for public subscription by Honorable Edgar N. Rhodes, minister of finance. The shares of $50.00 each and are offered at par. Not more than fifty shares may be held by any one person and only persons who are British subjects ordinarily resident in Canada or Canadian corporations controlled in Canada may own stock. These provisions will ensure a wide-spread interest in all parts of Canada in the sale of the stock of an institution to which Parliament has entrusted wide powers and responsibilities affecting the financial and economic welfare of Canada.

The Bank is authorized to pay dividends from its profits, after provision for expenses, depreciation, etc., at the rate of 4½ per cent per annum, payable half-yearly, which is considered to be an attractive return in comparison with ruling interest rates on high grade securities. Surplus-profits are to be applied to the rest fund of the Bank or paid into the Consolidated Revenue Fund as provided by the Bank of Canada Act.

The subscription list opened on September 17th and will close today. The shares are being offered simultaneously in every part of Canada, and whether or not the list closes today, consideration will be given to all applications posted not later than midnight of the day on which the list is closed.

Subscriptions are to be mailed direct to the Minister of Finance Ottawa, and must be accompanied by an initial payment of $12.50 for each share and by a statutory declaration which forms part of the application for the applicant to become a shareholder. The balance of the subscription price, $37.50 a share, will be payable on January 2nd, 1935, or on about which date the Bank is expected to commence operations.

The official prospectus and application forms are obtainable from post offices, banks and other financial institutions.

One of the important functions to be performed by shareholders is the election of seven directors, who, with the Governor and Deputy Governor of the Bank, form the Board of Directors who will supervise and control the conduct of the business of the bank. The seven directors are to be elected from diversified occupations, as follows:

- Two, whose chief occupation is in primary industry;
- Two, whose chief occupation is in commerce or manufacturing;
- Three, whose chief occupation is other than in primary industry or commerce or manufacturing.

In the By-Laws of the Bank, which have recently been promulgated by the Governor in Council, provision is made for the nomination of directors by shareholders and for notice of such nominations to be mailed to each shareholder prior to the shareholders' meeting. For the convenience of those who cannot attend meetings, provision is made for the registration of their votes in accordance with written instructions which they may give to the Minister of Finance.

One of the first steps to be taken in the organization of the Bank, after the stock has been subscribed, will be the nomination and election by shareholders of the first Board of Directors.

LOWER GRANVILLE

Verdell Montrose, of Lynn, Mass., is spending a few weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hudson.

A number from here attended the Hartlin-McWhinnie wedding in the Baptist church at Port Wade.

Billie Shaffner, of Lawrencetown, spent the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Angus.

Pauline Johnson spent a few days during the past week, visiting friends in Lawrencetown.

Dr. and Mrs. Cameron, of Lawrencetown, spent the week end in their bungalow here.

Mrs. A. B. Thorne has been returned from Digby, where she has been employed at the Pines Hotel.

GRANVILLE FERRY

Miss Katherine Reed entered the Kentville Sanatorium last week for treatment.

Miss Johanna Chisholm has been spending a few days at the home of Mrs. R. F. Chisholm.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fox are visiting Mr. Fox's mother, Mrs. Ada Holmes, who will return with her son to the United States for the winter months.

Dr. Gordon Mahaney had the misfortune to damage his car badly while trying to avoid a dog on Granville bridge last week.

Mr. John Adams, of Deep Brook, has been visiting his niece, Miss Alice Gilliat.

Mrs. Ross C. Smith and son, Junior, of Watertown, Mass., are visiting the former's sister, Mrs. Charles Saunders.

Mrs. Edward Wilson, of Framingham, Mass., and her mother, Mrs. Albert Hudson, of Port Wade, spent last week with Mrs. Wilson's sister, Mrs. Roland Hudson, and Mr. Hudson.

Mrs. Willard Fulton, of Halifax, is the guest of Mrs. Rupert Shaffner. Mr. Fulton spent the week end at the same home.

HAVE A LITTLE EXTRA IN THE LARDER.

It might be worth while to put in a little extra supply of Morse's Standard Tea now in view of the fact that the present price is so low. It seems hardly possible that the price of this tea can be kept down to 50 cents a pound in view of the advances that have taken place in the countries of growth from which tea supplies are imported. Some blenders have already put up the price of teas claimed to be of corresponding grade 5 cents per pound, and in central Canada such teas are 10 cents a pound higher. Users of Morse's Standard Tea are very fortunate in getting an article of such superb quality as so low a price, but the time is measurably near when the high prices in primary markets will necessitate an advance. In the meantime it must be a matter of great satisfaction to them that their interests have been protected by the blenders for so long a time. It is now several months since other blenders put their prices up.

Of course some subscriptions come due in January, some in February, March and April—and so on throughout the year. But at this time we usually make a little drive to collect as much of our subscription money as possible. We are going to go through our lists one of these fine days and make out bills to all our subscribers in arrears.

Some of our subscribers seem to object to our dunnies. Maybe this will be a hint for them to send their remittances before we send them their bills.

Who knows? Our rate in Canada is $1.50 per year. In the United States, $2.00 per year. Your address label tells when your subscription expires.

ISAIAH COUNSELS RULERS

Golden Text:—"Thou wilt keep him in perfect-peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee."—Isaiah 26:3.

Lesson Passage:—Isaiah 31:1-9; 36, 37.

I saw the mountains stand.
Silent, wonderful, and grand,
Looking out across the land.
And I heard a low voice calling
Over distant dome and spire
Come up higher!
Come up higher!
From the lowlands and the mire
From the vain pursuit of self—
From the attitude of self—
Come up higher!
Come up higher!

National Policy, 1

Because he was so vitally religious, Isaiah was in politics. He could not keep out of politics because the religious destiny of the nation was at stake. The nation was threatened by an invasion from Assyria and one political party counseled making an alliance with Egypt. Isaiah thought that the cure was worse than the disease. For one reason, Egypt could not compete with Assyria in a military way and further, an entangling alliance with Egypt would corrupt the Jewish religion.

The character of Isaiah looked strong, but Egyptian influence would undermine Jewish manhood. It took courage to withstand this Egyptian party, but Isaiah was fearless and urged his people to put their trust in God rather than in Egyptian armaments. Because of his high birth, and because of his friendship with the rulers, Isaiah was able to present his case effectively. To-day some of the greatest peace leaders are former soldiers. They know at first hand what war is. They know that military preparedness is not the chief guarantee of national safety. The character of the people is the basic defence.

What Guns Cannot Do, 2, 3

"Now the Egyptians are men, and not God; and their horses are flesh, and not spirit." In other words, spiritual factors are more decisive than material forces. At the Battle of the Marne military advantages were very one sided, but the stronger side did not win. At present the French have great air forces, but we think that British national character is the real force back of the British Navy. If half the effort were put into the production of character that has gone into the reduction of armaments, we might be much farther ahead. The armaments have actually been increased and at the same time national jealousies and fears have been augmented. A race in armaments means ultimate loss to all contestants. The Hebrews have made their great contribution to the world not by military exploits and imperial colonization but through religion, literature and science. They have been distinctive in the field of morals. They led in the search for a spiritual religion. The real weapons of our warfare are spiritual, and not carnal. The war machine of the future will have to reckon with the forces of conscience and faith. As a matter of fact the power of both Egypt and Assyria did not last long while to this day the Hebrew race continues to make great contributions to the higher life of mankind.

Lions and Birds, 4, 5

Isaiah was a master of metaphors. Part of the charm of his words is the unique way in which he could see the unseen in the seen. He pictured the strength of God as that of a lion. The ruling classes in Jerusalem were as frightened sheep, but Isaiah was confident that God would protect his people like a lion coming up the mountain side ready to fight. At the same time Isaiah likened God to a mother bird protecting his young, fluttering across the trail to put marauders off the scent. The mother bird collects food for the fledglings in the nest and will even sacrifice its own life if the young birds are in danger. That said Isaiah, is the way God loves our nation. In interpreting parables and metaphors it is necessary to observe the point of comparison and not try to push the likeness too far. Isaiah took one thought concerning lions and birds and used them to illustrate the character of God. On the lips of a skilled speaker these nature illustrations were effective. Many speakers, however, have found that metaphors are platform pitfalls unless they are used with great discretion.

Turning to God, 6-9

Instead of turning to Egypt, Isaiah urged his fellow countrymen to turn to God. They could begin by

Cheering and comforting

"SALADA"
TEA

'Fresh from the gardens'

discarding the idols of silver and idols of gold which they had fashioned by their own hands and turning to the unseen, holy God who is a spirit. If they trusted God and obeyed the will of God they would be defended against the Assyrians. This was a great assertion of faith, but it proved to be true. Isaiah was in the minority in his war predictions, but he was right. During the Great War there were many predictions, but turning over the files of the newspapers of twenty years ago we find that many of the predictions have not come true. Isaiah risked his reputation on his belief that national character and obedience to right were the real defences of his nation. Though the Assyrians were coming down like a wolf on the fold, with great wealth and huge armies, Isaiah continued to maintain that God was the sure defence of the city of Jerusalem. He dared to say this although a few years previously the Assyrians had overthrown the Northern Kingdom. Was Isaiah justified by events?

Questions for Discussion

- 1.—Which is more dangerous, armament or disarmament?
- 2.—How far does national strength depend upon national character?—between strength and tenderness?
- 3.—Is it possible for the Christian religion to give the world peace?
- 4.—Napoleon's army was destroyed by Moscow, frost and the Spanish Armada by a storm at sea? Were these special acts of God?

An Unexpected Factor, 37: 36, 37

The over throw of the Assyrians was one of the great events of history. Everything appeared to be in their favor. The Jews were not a military people and the defences of Jerusalem were weak; yet the Assyrians were routed. There has been much discussion as to what happened. Most probably a plague decimated the Assyrian army. Accounts of the incident are found in Hebrew, Greek, Latin and Arabic.

Here and There
with G.R.T.

With the United States government's boost in the price of silver stories of the boom days in the old silver mining camps are being revived, and told over again for the entertainment and education of a younger group of citizens who knew little of the doings of old prospectors and miners who found and dug the white metal from the bowels of the earth and sent it to the mints to be transformed into the coin of the realm and to silversmiths who fabricated it into spoons and other articles of table ware and ornamentation. It was enough to know that there was plenty of silver coin in the land but where the silver came from and how it was obtained, very few of the younger generation had any idea, nor did they care. But now that the silver excitement is on again, it is not an unusual thing to bump into a group of three or four youngsters, outfitting themselves for a prospecting trip into mineral zones of eastern California and Western Nevada, Montana, Idaho, and Utah, seeking wealth and adventure. Old time prospectors, who have hung around many of the old and almost deserted mining towns are again on the trail with their burros loaded with camp and prospecting outfits, seeking out some of the old ledges and outcroppings of silver-bearing ore that they found years ago but left in disgust when the price of silver dropped to what they termed

"nothing." These old boys, grizzled, gaunt and tough, with a working knowledge of ledge formations, pay rock and an equally important knowledge of being able to find their way through the mountains and live on practically nothing, will perhaps have a better chance than the youngsters fresh from school, who took a course in geology at "Poly High" or even at some school of mines. But at that, history is full of stories of tenderfeet who ran upon a good thing which old prospectors had travelled over for years and had regarded as nothing more than "country rock", a prospectors' term for ordinary stone of no mineral content.

If you are a reader of the Hearst newspapers you no doubt enjoy the daily articles entitled "Human Side of News," written by Edwin C. Hill. I find them very interesting and never miss reading them. I also enjoy Mr. Hill's radio talks on matters of human interest and consider his voice and manner of speaking as about the finest that comes over the air. Not excepting that of President Roosevelt, of whom it must be admitted, he is a voice that is full of charm, which he knows how to use to the very best advantage, when addressing "My Friends," from coast to coast over the radio.

On Saturday, August 18th, Mr. Hill had a most interesting article about the early silver mining days on the Comstock Lode in Virginia City, Nevada. I am sure that you would have enjoyed reading it. He mentioned two books that you might find pleasure in reading if you have not already done so. They are George D. Lyman's new book, "The Saga of the Comstock Lode," and Mark Twain's old book, "Roughing It." All admirers of Mark Twain have probably read the book long ago but it will stand reading again. Mark Twain was something of a miner himself, although he did not work at it with any great amount of enthusiasm. And it has been said by some who claim to have known him that he was free to admit that while it was fine to get up in the morning it was finer to be in bed. Whether Mark ever worked on a graveyard shift (midnight to 8 a. m.) I do not know.

Another book, though not mentioned by Mr. Hill, will also be found very interesting, is "The History of the Big Bonanza," by William Wright, publisher and editor of the Virginia City Enterprise, Wright, who wrote under the pen name of Dan DeQuille, and was a contemporary of Mark Twain, published his book in May, 1876. It is the most interesting, I think, of any books written about Comstock days. Wright, of course, being on the ground and being a keen observer and a splendid writer, put everything in his book that went on in those early days. The book is all that the writer claimed for it. Being "an authentic account of the discovery, history and working of the world-renowned Comstock silver lode of Nevada, including the present condition of the various mines situated thereon; sketches of the most prominent men interested in them; incidents and adventures connected with mining; the Indians and the Country; amusing stories, experiences, anecdotes, etc., and a full exposition of the production of pure silver."

This book was dedicated to John Mackay, Esq., Prince of Miners and "Bon" of the Big Bonanza.

The Comstock lode was named for one of the discoverers, H. P. Comstock, better known among his friends as "Old Panekake." His crowd located and staked their claims as placer diggings. As a matter of fact the ground was really first located by two Irishmen, Peter O'Reilly and Patrick McLaughlin, and their first clean-up amounted to two hundred dollars in gold dust. Then Comstock came along and bluffed them out of their claims but later induced them to include his name and the names of two of his friends upon the original location notice. None of them realized that they owned one of the richest silver deposits in the world. All of them died poor men. McLaughlin sold out his interest for thirty-five hundred dollars and later went to work as a cook at forty dollars a month. Comstock gave away most of his holdings but sold a piece of his ground for eleven thousand dollars. He died in Butte, Montana, a pauper. O'Reilly held on longer than the others but, finally sold out for forty thousand dollars and promptly lost his money in stock speculation. He died in an insane asylum.

The first miners to work the outcroppings of the Comstock ledges were gold miners from the California mines and knew nothing about silver, and when the silver ore got into their sluice boxes and clogged the riffles and carried away their quicksilver they cursed it roundly and threw it away. No one recognized this blue black stuff as the rich silver ore which was the true wealth of the Comstock. A Mexican miner, who worked for Comstock and his friends for a few days, did recognize the Nevada rock as being similar to the ores mines in Mexico and tried to tell his employers about it. But he spoke no English and they understood no Spanish and the more excited he became in his endeavor to make them understand what he was trying to tell them, the more convinced they became that the Mexican had gone "loco" (Spanish slang for crazy), and paid him off and ordered him to get out of camp. Then one day after the original locaters had gotten rid of their property a California rancher paid a visit to the district and carried away a sample of blue black ore which was causing the miners so much grief. He gave the specimen to a friend, who was curious enough to have it assayed. The assayer's report revealed a value close to five thousand dollars per ton and from the minute that this became known the rush to the Comstock Lode at Virginia City, Nevada, was on and a very few years later a new crop of millionaires, made rich by the Nevada silver mines, set up their homes and built their palaces in San Francisco. The better known of these bonanza kings were Mackey, Flood, Fair, Haran and O'Brien. John P. Jones, who afterwards became United States senator from Nevada, later moved to Southern California and founded the city of Santa Monica. His residence, which he called Miramonte, is still standing and is now a part of the Miramonte Hotel. Lucky Baldwin, who made his fortune in speculation in Comstock mining stocks, also moved to Southern California and purchased huge tracts of land upon one of which he established the town of Arcadia. His race track upon his estates engaged in the business of raising race horses and also went into the production of fine wine and brandy on a large scale. For many years the Baldwin Ranch was one of the show places of Southern California, but in recent years a good portion of the ranch has been sold to small farmers and others for small country estates. At the time of Baldwin's death in 1909 his estate was estimated at $25,000,000, the bulk of which went to his two daughters, one of whom is still living.

Another famous character of whom a book has been written was Elsie Arrunth, "Queen of the Comstock." Elsie was a Scotch girl who came to America with a band of Mormon converts. Her first husband was a Mormon bishop and the second was just a plain Mormon. She discovered both of them in Nevada, which is early days just as easy of accomplishment as in the present time. Then she went to the Comstock country and opened a boarding house where she fed some of the miners and did their washing. One of her boarders, being unable to pay his board bill, turned over to her his interest in a ten-foot strip of ground in a mining claim. This adjoined another ten-foot strip, belonging to a teamster named Sandy Bowers, who had acquired the ground by gift from the original locater, "Old Panekake" Comstock, who, being in a generous frame of mind one day, was giving away some of his possessions. Sandy and Elsie thought it would be a wise thing to form a merger so they joined hands, were duly married, and decided to call their piece of ground the Bowers Mine. One day Sandy got an offer of four thousand dollars for their mine and was about to close the deal, but Elsie refused to sign the papers, which, call it what you will, was an intuition or just an old Scotch custom of holding on for a better price, proved to be a very wise act for the Bowers family. Some months later it was found that the Bowers Mine was rich in silver ore running three or four thousand dollars to the ton. In a short time they were getting returns from the smelter to the tune of fifty, seventy and a hundred dollars per month. Elsie and Sandy then decided to give a party in keeping with their financial position. Every delicacy that the markets of San Francisco could supply in the way of food and drinks was ordered—and at that time San Francisco had quite a name for extravagance—so the party was a great success. Sandy made a speech in which he coined that famous phrase which is still dear to a miner's heart, "I've got money to throw to the birds." Then they made a trip to Scotland. Elsie wanted to call on the Queen of England. Elsie was heartbroken when she learned that the Queen never received people who had been divorced. Then they went to Paris where Elsie bought much finery for herself and furniture and furnishings for their new home in Nevada. Sandy threw his money at the birds, feathered and otherwise.

Returning to Nevada they built a palace costing $250,000. Silver knobs were on the doors and silver pots were in the kitchen. Two dozen waiters were scattered through the rooms upon which were displayed the gimeracks and other odds and ends of niggardly purchased abroad. When all the furniture was in and in place, including a second hand throne purchased in Paris, Elsie gave a great house-warming party to which all of the elite of the camp were invited. Elsie was going to show the ladies of the Comstock a sight that would simply overpower them. But the mean things did not come; they sent their husbands, though, who drank Sandy's liquor and had a grand time while Elsie sat upon her throne in the drawing room and waited and waited. In due course the Bowers Mine stock market crashed, all efforts to pick up the pay ore again, failed. Bowers had spent and loaned all of his ready cash. He had to "hire" some money from the bank; soon the bank owned the mine and then Sandy died. Elsie tried to turn her great home into a hotel, but by that time the Comstock mines were closing down for various reasons. She had to give up her grand home. Matters went from bad to worse. She moved to San Francisco and became a fortune teller. She had always been something of a crystal gazer and with her "peep stone" as she called it claimed to be able to predict coming events, and many people believed in her ability to do so but not enough of them came to her "studio" to make it a paying proposition, so poor Elsie passed out having known poverty coming and going, but with one glorious time along the way, "throwing money at the birds." The histories of the old mining camps of the West are full of similar cases.

The Crosby Kid
Contest32
Wonderful Prizes for Boys and GirlsThe Crosby Kid
Speaking:

"Boy, oh, boy, is this a Contest! Real C. C. M. bikes for the winners, Joycycles for the smaller kids, and well, Cameras and nifty Watches for the runners-up. Thirty-two prizes in all—and somebody's got to win 'em! Remember, the Contest's wide open to every boy and girl between 6 and 18 in the Maritime Provinces.

"All you need to qualify, is an entry form from your grocer. He'll give you one the next time you buy Crosby Gold Star Molasses—whether you get a gallon, a half-gallon, or only a quart. If he doesn't, ask for one. It's coming to you! Now just listen to what the Contest Editor has to say. Then go to it—and good luck to you. 'Take it over, Mr. Contest Editor!'"

The Contest Editor
Speaking:

"The first thing I want to say is, 'What's your age?' Because the Contest is divided into two age groups. For the senior group, boys and girls from 12 to 18 years old, prizes will be given for the best essays on 'Why I Like Molasses.' Just get an entry form from your grocer—you'll find some helpful hints on the back of it—then write in your own words why you like molasses. You don't have to make it long. Somewhere between 100 and 200 words will be plenty."

"Now we come to the junior group of the Contest. For boys and girls from 6 to 11 years of age, prizes will be given for the best pencil drawings of a boy and a girl eating bread and molasses. You can draw them sitting down or standing up, just as you prefer and you can colour in the drawing with your crayons if you like. Remember, your age will be taken into account in awarding the prizes, so just do the best you can and send it with an entry form to the Contest Editor before October 30th."

Marriages

Stevens-Parker

A very pretty wedding took place on Saturday evening, September 8, at the United Church manse, when Rev. C. L. Blanchard united in marriage Dorothy May Stevens, youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Stevens, and Franklin Alfred Parker, of Bear River. The bride was gowned in pale blue silk crepe suit, with accessories to match. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Stevens. After the ceremony they left for a short honeymoon trip after which they will reside in Bear River.

SHOWER PROVES TO BE PLEASANT EVENT

On Friday evening, Sept. 14th, in the vestry of the United Church of Canada, a most nuptial shower was given to Mrs. A. C. Bergman (nee Esther Benson). An array of flowers, golden glow, daisies, and asparagus made a lovely setting for the gift table in the centre of which was a lovely set of pentop china. The presentation was made by Rev. C. L. Blanchard, on behalf of the congregation and friends. Mrs. Bergman thanked all in return. Games were played, after which a buffet lunch was served to about sixty guests. Those assisting in serving were: Mrs. R. Baxter, Mrs. H. E. Harris, Mrs. Wm. Morine, Mrs. McMurtry, Mrs. H. Cress, Mrs. J. Lattimore.

CLEMENTSVALE MAN HAS SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Genos Sanford, of Clementsvale, was badly injured on Saturday, when his car with two other occupants, left the road a short distance from Middleton, toward Marsareville, turning over five times.

Mr. Sanford and Mayor Owen, of Annapolis Royal, (one of the other occupants) were injured, and necessitated immediate medical attention at the office of Dr. Messinger, at Middleton, before returning to their homes. Mr. Sanford is badly cut and bruised and is under medical care at his Clementsvale home.

MILL OPERATOR INJURED

Monday morning, Albert Wamboldt, a skilled employee of the Princeville Mill, at Princeville, was injured in the right leg by the driving belt flying off, and striking him with great force.

Medical aid was summoned from Bear River, and Mr. Wamboldt's injuries dressed at the home of Harland Trimmer, before being conveyed home to Clementsvale; he will probably be unable to resume work for some time.

CONGRATULATIONS

When a weekly country newspaper publishes such a fine and large edition as that of last week's Anniversary Digby Courier, it is only fitting that the editors should receive commendation from its subscribers. That edition is worthy of preservation, and also of sending abroad to friends, showing them that there is not only intellectual ability possessed by the citizens of our fine county, but the spirit of progress is alive and active. Congratulations, Mr. Editor, from your Bear River associates and subscribers.

A RULE OF LIFE

Wouldst fashion for thyself a seemly life?

Then fret not over what is past and gone;

And spite of all thou mayst have lost behind.

Yet act as if thy life was just before.

What each day wills, enough for thee to know;

What each day wills, the day itself will tell.

Do thine own task, and be therewith content;

What others do, that shall thou fairly judge;

Be sure that thou no brother mortal hate.

Then all beside leave to the Master Power.

The FIRESIDE PHILOSOPHER

By ALFRED BIGGS

Happiness is a state of mind.

Nature never disappoints.

A rich mind is better than a full purse.

After all, you're only one point of view.

A day without a good deed is a day lost.

A prosperous life is a pain in the neck.

Don't wait until he is dead before you praise him.

Thou'lt assume you're innocent until you're broke.

A TRIP TO HOWE CAVERNS

An account of the trip to one of the many world-renowned shrines visited by countless pilgrims yearly, namely the Howe Caverns, is given as follows, by Mrs. C. E. Clarke, Bear River. These caverns are located 30 miles southwest of Schenectady, N. Y., and 40 miles west of Albany, in a little town called Cobleskill. Only a little to the south of Howe Caverns lie the foothills of the Catskill Mountains, where Rip Van Winkle, in that most familiar legend, played ten pins with the jolly dwarfs and took his famous nap. Driving through Cobleskill we followed the signs showing the way to the Caverns, named after their discoverer, Lester Howe, who, in 1842, noticed a draught of cool air coming from a hole in the rocky ledge. His curiosity compelled him to enter the opening which led to this underground wonder.

At the end of the road, we found a lodge resembling a country club, where we could buy lunches, souvenirs, etc. In this building we registered, paid our fare and with a courteous uniformed guide entered the elevator which took us 156 feet below the earth's surface. Of course, if one preferred to walk down he could take the 245 steps instead, but few people go that way. Descending in the elevator, a change of air was very perceptible and we were glad to put on our coats, though the temperature on the surface was near the 90 mark. When our elevator came to a stop our guide pointed to the thermometer in the caverns which registered 54 degrees, and he told us that it remains about the same year round—both summer and winter. So when it is around 20 below zero on earth it must be quite comfortable down here.

We noticed a telephone connecting with the lodge above and were told that we would find several others of our journey, so that word could quickly be relayed to the surface should accidents occur. Though Mr. Howe discovered the caverns in 1842 it was not until 1929 (when over half a million dollars were spent, that travel through these caves became easy. Until 1828 explorers had to wear old clothing, high rubber boots and carry torches in order to see these wonders. But it is now made so that walking is as easy as on any village street. (The walks are built beside (and from 4 to 18 feet above) the bed of the underground river, "Styx", which still makes perfect reflections of the rocky ceiling above. These reflections are so clear that one thinks he is looking down still further into the earth, until the guide throws a pole and proves that it is water there, causing the reflections. Only the floor of the caverns has been improved, the walls and sides being as nature left them. A system of lighting has been installed, having more than 1400 lights, in the mile and a half of passage through which we walked. These lights of different colors are so placed as to bring out to best advantage the interesting spots and places. At the mile and a half was an underground lake on which were two flat-bottomed boats, each accommodating eighteen passengers, and two boatmen who propelled and steered the boats with poles, like the gondoliers of Venice. These boats, we were told, were so large to bring into the caverns so they were made in sections and assembled at the head of the lake.

By the use of different switches our guide showed us most beautiful lighting effects over the water: picturing sunrise, sunset, a night in Venice, etc. The beauty of it cannot possibly be put into words. These caverns are a result of a million years or more perhaps, of the steady and persistent cutting of an underground stream, and to us there was nothing more fascinating than to stand in some of the great rooms in the earth and gaze about at the mys-

THE PHILATHEA GLASS HOLDS MEETING

The Philathea Bible Class of the Baptist church held its meeting at the home of Mrs. H. R. Kinney, on Thursday evening last, with an attendance of about sixty members and guests. After a large amount of business had been transacted a very fine programme of musical numbers and readings was given, including a very interesting and instructive paper, read by Mrs. C. E. Clarke, on a cave she visited in New York while on her vacation. (This paper appears elsewhere in the Courier). At the close of the programme, it being Mrs. Clarke's birthday, a very handsome cake, beautifully decorated, was presented to her and served with ice cream. A social hour was enjoyed, after which the singing of "Blest Be the Tie that Binds," brought the evening to a close.

SCENARIO WRITER, SISTER OF STAR, VISITS PROVINCE

This province is being visited by a member of the Hollywood film colony, sister of the once famous Theda Bara, and noted in her own right as a prominent scenario writer. She is Miss Laura Bara, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Bara, who maintain a summer cottage in Clementsport. It is her second trip to Nova Scotia. "I like your province very much," said Miss Bara, "it is a wonderful vacation land."

Her sister, who has made a number of trips to Nova Scotia could not get away this summer because she is working on a big picture in a strong "come-back" attempt.

Miss Laura Bara was with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for some time. She was acquainted, she said, with Louis B. Mayer, executive of the company, formerly of Halifax and Saint John, and Walter Pigeon, actor, formerly of Annapolis Royal and Saint John. She recently returned from India, China and London. In the former place she had worked on a picture for Metro, which has not yet been released. Her last big picture, she said, was Samarcand, produced by United Artists.

Miss Bara expects to return to the United States this week.

terious, beautiful and colorful stalactites and rock creations about us. These great airy rooms, we were told, were caused by erosion, and the interesting formations are the result of age-long seepage of water, and through evaporation, the deposits of tiny particles of limestone.

One cannot remember all details, but I can just name over a few of the most interesting and unusual sights we saw in this underground cavern, which begins at 156 feet below the earth and slopes gradually downward toward the lake, which is 200 feet below the surface. One curious example of erosion by water was the winding way. It surely did wind in and out—a series of S's. The widest spot in this winding way was ten feet and the narrowest place three feet, with a ceiling sixty feet above. How an electrician placed a light on the rocky ceiling was a mystery to us. But one was there. Underground plant life was seen only under the electric light bulbs. Evidently seeds or spores have germinated under the action of the heat and light. Different rock formations took on amusing and interesting shapes. One was a cathedral archway through which we saw what looked exactly like the pipes of a pipe organ, of white and ivory tints. Another rock shape was that of the Leaning Tower of Pisa, which was a stalagmite with indentations resembling the famous Italian tower; then there was a Broken Idol, a glacier with all the real appearances of ice, but only rock formation; stalactites of a church spire and a stockade, looked like an inverted village; a bridal altar, where several weddings have been performed, the ninth one having taken place there but 3 weeks before our visit; a small walled-up pool about two feet in diameter, in which no fish can live. The guides found that frogs can live there, but the cavern company represent stage. A quotation from Thoreau richly expresses this work of God's hand: "The finest workers in stone are not copper or steel tools, but the gentle touches of air and water, working at their leisure with a liberal allowance of time."

He Thought He Had Strained a Muscle

But Actually It Was His Kidneys That Caused the Pain.

Halifax Man Took Dodd's Kidney Pills and Was Soon Relieved.

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 21 (Special)

"I always thought I was pretty healthy until one morning I was seized of a stinging pain across the small of my back," writes William Peacock, 33 Veith Street, Halifax, N. S. "Thinking I had only strained a muscle I had it rubbed and gave no further attention to it as the pain seemed easier for a time. Soon a more acute pain came and then I began to feel anxious because every time I bent I could hardly raise myself unless I put my hands to my back. I tried everything I could think of, but my back got worse, with the result that I had to be taken home from work and put to bed. One of my friends suggested Dodd's Kidney Pills, and before I had the third box finished I was fit to get up, relieved of my trouble and feeling a new man altogether, but still continued to take the Pills. Many of my friends thought I would never work again, but here I am completely relieved after suffering for over ten years. Thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills. I thoroughly recommend them to any person suffering from pains in the back, especially Kidney trouble."

(The Halifax Chronicle)

The Halifax Chronicle cordially extends the heartiest congratulations to the Digby Weekly Courier on the happy celebration of its Diamond Jubilee. Sixty years is no small period in this country in the life of an institution or a weekly paper, bound up as it is so intimately with the life of its immediate community, and fulfilling such an important function in the community. Its familiar weekly appearance is like that of a member of the household.

It is the little things which are the biggest things in life, "the little unremembered acts of kindness and love," and it is after all the little things which are recorded from week to week which fix the tone and tenor of the community. In that work the local paper plays a very important part. That the Courier has served its constituency so successfully for sixty years must be a source of pride to itself and a pleasure to the community it serves, and from our longer experience of more than a hundred and ten years in the Provincial field, we wish our younger brother continued success and still greater influence as the years lengthen into the century.

(The Halifax Herald)

J. J. Wallis, Esq.,
Editor, The Digby Courier,
Digby, N. S.
Dear Mr. Wallis:

May I, on behalf of the staffs of The Halifax Herald and The Halifax Mail, congratulate you and your associates on the occasion of the celebration of the Diamond Jubilee of your newspaper.

It is unnecessary for me to say that we have the most profound respect and admiration for the weekly press of the Province, in which your publication holds such an important and respected place.

The Courier has always held a proud position in the community it serves; and our best wishes are for a continuance of its progress and usefulness throughout the years.

Yours, fraternally,
Edgar E. Kelley,
Editor

(Yarmouth Light)

Editor Weekly Courier,
Digby, Nova Scotia

Sir—It is more than the ordinary expression of congratulations that the Yarmouth Light is pleased to offer the Digby Weekly Courier on the occasion of its Diamond Jubilee, for coupled with this lengthy service is the fact that its present editor and principal owner, is a Yarmouth boy who served his apprenticeship through his boyhood to majority, and in the latter years, with those fine gentlemen of the Fourth Estate who have long since been gathered to their Fathers.

To have reached the 60th milestone of service to the public, through the medium of a journal that has rendered the very highest degree of conscientious effort is more than something to view with pride; the confidence of advertisers and readers alike is its reward and finest asset, their appreciation has made the success possible.

In these days of stress and uncertainty, there are few newspapers who may point to such a record, and those who have passed down through the years and emerged through the trying period of the past decade must indeed have displayed courage and confidence to ensure such an epic success.

says MISS M. McFARLANE, Dietitian at St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto

MAGIC BAKING POWDER

MAGIC Baking Powder costs so little—and can always be depended on to give you uniformly good results. It actually takes less than 1¢ worth of Magic to make a big three-layer cake. So why take chances with inferior brands? Always bake with Magic and be sure!

"CONTAINS NO ALUM." This statement on every tin is your guarantee that Magic Baking Powder is free from alum or any harmful ingredient.

(The Kentville Advertiser)

At the annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, held in Montreal last month, leaders in many walks of life spoke in glowing terms of the important part weekly newspapers play in the molding of public opinion and the service they render to their communities. They were unanimous in the opinion that the "weekly" has a definite place in the programme of news dissemination and is a vital influence in the formation of that public opinion which leads to the promulgation of policies, election of governments and development of the country.

The Digby Courier has served the town of Digby and its surrounding district for sixty years in a way that must give satisfaction to residents in that part of Nova Scotia.

On the 14th of September it completed its sixty years of service and we take advantage of this occasion to tender our congratulations and wish for this worthy publication prosperous years for the future.

(The Bridgetown Monitor)

Last week the Digby Courier attained its sixtieth birthday, a noteworthy event in the life of a weekly paper particularly in these days of strenuous competition featured by amalgamations and disappearances into oblivion which have marked the fate of many useful and meritorious publications throughout Canada.

The Courier may, we believe, attribute a large measure of its success to the fact that it has not been subject to numerous changes of management, but has had directing its affairs and policy generally, men who have made lifelike studies of the needs of its constituency and have interpreted well those things which are for the benefit of the Town of Digby and the County generally. More than ever, at the present time, a little weekly paper must show the reason for its existence.

We congratulate the management of the Courier on the sixtieth anniversary, not forgetting the pioneers of past years who laid well and truly the foundations of present success.

(The Richmond County Record)

The Digby Courier has the unique distinction of celebrating its Diamond Jubilee on Sept. 14, and the Richmond County Record, which celebrated its 37th anniversary in July last, extends to Mr. J. J. Wallis, who springs from a family of journalists, its heartiest congratulations on the event. The Courier is always replete with spicy and informative editorials and its news columns present the town and county happenings in a very bright and interesting manner. All in all, the Courier is one of our best and newest exchanges and we wish it the success it deserves. Its mechanical appearance leaves nothing to be desired. Continued success to you, brother.

(The Yarmouth Herald)

We heartily congratulate the Digby Weekly Courier which celebrated its Diamond Jubilee on September the fourteenth. Sixty years in public service is a long time in these days of constant change, and it is with pleasure that we extend congratulations and best wishes for the future success of the Courier, which is a clear straightforward paper, always a welcome visitor to our sanctum.

(The Truro News)

Newspaper work is tough. The work is exacting, the details innumerable, the appreciation very frequently negative, and the returns, in most cases, almost niggardly. Yet strange to say the game continues and those who enter it seldom, very seldom, forsake it. And, another strange thing, the longevity of newspapers is probably greater than that of any other line of business.

These remarks are prompted by the fact that the Digby Courier is shortly to observe its Diamond Jubilee. Before stressing that point we would point out the dates of establishment of some well known Nova Scotian papers, all of which have been in operation for more than forty years:

Amherst News, 1893
Amherst News-Sentinel, 1867
Annapolis Spectator, 1882
Antigonish Casket, 1852
Berkwick Register, 1896
Bridgetown Monitor, 1873
Bridgewater Bulletin, 1891
Caledonia Gold Hunter, 1888
Halifax Chronicle, 1844
Halifax Star, 1873
Halifax Herald, 1875
Halifax Mail, 1878
Kentville Advertiser, 1871
Liverpool Advance, 1878
Middleton Outlook, 1893
Eastern Chronicle, (New Glasgow) 1843

Free Lance (Westville) 1894
North Sydney Herald, 1872
Pictou Advocate, 1893
Truro Daily News, 1891
Truro Weekly News, 1892
Truro Citizen-Sun, 1871
Windsor Tribune, 1891
Windsor Hants Journal, 1867
Wolfville Acadia, 1893
Yarmouth Herald, 1893
Yarmouth Light, 1899
Yarmouth Telegraph, 1888

—surely a lengthy list, and just sixteen short of the total of all daily and weekly newspapers in the province.

We would heartily congratulate our contemporary in Digby in reaching its sixtieth year of publication. Sixty years in business bespeaks a long span of public approval.

To scan the Courier's pages is to see how reflective it is of the life of the community. Those who have their little joke on the home paper, and fail to consider the difficulties of publishing in a small constituency would do well to ponder on what the home paper means to their place of residence. What it is to the home community is expressed in the phrase "home paper." In it are printed the little things of life, that are so dear to the home folks. And after all the nearer the news the dearer the news. What happens in China is not half as interesting as what happens next door. The home paper giving the news of the home stores, theatres, churches, clubs, societies, individuals, publishing the births and deaths, the marriages, etc., and a thousand and one things that perform the big city paper cannot find room for, is an invaluable asset to any community. And the home publisher that sticks to the job for sixty years is rendering a service that cannot be overestimated.

Once more we congratulate the Courier on reaching its diamond jubilee and trust that many, many more anniversaries will be experienced and enjoyed.

(The Liverpool Advance)

The hand of fellowship is extended this week to the Digby Weekly Courier, one of our best friends and one of the best conducted weekly papers in our fair province. Sixty years of progress and sixty years of labor is a feat worthy of special mention and with this issue the Courier commemorates such an event. Sixty years is a long time to look back but it has been sixty years of usefulness, help and courage to the community it serves. Weekly newspapers are not money-making propositions and to survive the storms and tribulations for such a period is a credit not only to the community but to the energy and ability of the owners. The Courier is ever welcome to our office as no doubt it is to the many homes it enters in its own district. Its younger brother, the Liverpool Advance, extends congratulations and best wishes for continued prosperity in the future and with the hope that sixty years from now we will again be called upon to mark an even more successful anniversary.

(From I. C. R., Halifax Herald)

I gladly embrace this opportunity to extend congratulations to the Digby Courier on this, the anniversary of its Diamond Jubilee. When the Courier started I was serving my time learning the printing business in the office of a "country" newspaper. Sixty years is a long time to be connected with the newspaper business. As I came from the office of a country paper I have never lost interest in what we call the country press. It has been my privilege to read the Courier for at least a half a century, and to note its progress. I am therefore fully equipped to extend my congratulations. The Courier is a worthy paper, worthy the whole-some support of the town and county in which it is printed. It is not a political hack, for one thing. I have long felt that the country paper that puts party politics before anything else is badly handicapped. It is comforting to me to note that the partisan feature is fast disappearing and in time the country press will be able to give the big city papers a lesson in independence and service.

May the Courier go on pointing the way. Its a fine weekly, well printed and newsy, and a valuable asset to the town and county of Digby.

This from an old printer still in harness, who holds to the motto which adorned the front page of the paper on which he first served: "This is true Liberty when free born men, having to advise the public, may speak freely."

(The South Shore Record)

The South Shore Record, while very much a junior in the newspaper realm, offers hearty congratulations to its older brother, the Digby Weekly Courier, on attaining its 60th birthday. The Courier is a bright, newsy publication, well printed, and a credit to its editor, J. J. Wallis, who is remembered in Lunenburg County, as having at one time been editor of the Progress-Enterprise.

Mr. Wallis, who is also the proprietor of the Wallis Print, is recognized as a master of the printing trade and the Record, in extending good wishes, includes that organization, in the hope that both may continue and prosper for many years.

Bear River Exhibition a Good One

The Bear River Exhibition opened yesterday. It was glorious exhibition weather and the attendance was good.

The show is a good one and will be continued today.

In spite of the dry weather the farm products look well. The big squash and pumpkins are not so big as they have been but still more than one pie can be made out of any of them. The potatoes exhibited look just the same as they always have done, and the big turnips, sugar beets and mangels are apparently not suffered from dry weather. There are not so many exhibits of the smaller "garden truck" but what there are are good.

Upstairs the fancy work, domestic manufactures and home cooking show considerable of an increase, both in quantity and quality. The Women's Institute have a table of articles manufactured in Nova Scotia.

and are also showing an interesting collection of antiques. The fruit display is excellent; perhaps, on the whole, the apples are not so large, although they are fair size, but they are well colored and free of blemish.

There are a few more crates of poultry than in the past, and they contain some fine-looking birds. The outdoor display of cattle, hogs and sheep is, of course, the most interesting to the men. There is a mighty good display, and the new saddle shed, built this year, is going to be a big improvement.

On the whole the exhibition is one to be proud of. It is a pity that Digby county generally—or at least the Municipality—does not take more interest in the Bear River show. If Digby and Weymouth haven't backbone enough to put on an exhibition, they should at least aid their sister town.

FREEPORT

The pupils of Mrs. Willie Stevens' Sunday School class enjoyed a picnic on Friday afternoon last at the camp belonging to Mrs. A. H. Weir. About fifteen were present and after supper a delightful evening was spent in games, etc. They returned to their homes about 10:30 o'clock.

Many from Freeport attended the Baptist Quarterly meetings held in the Baptist church, at Tiverton, last week, on Tuesday and Wednesday. A few people from Freeport assisted in the music, and the services were thoroughly enjoyed.

H. O. Connell, of the Freeport branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, enjoyed a visit on Sunday last from his father, brother and two children, all of Bridgetown. They motored to their home again on Monday of this week.

Reynold Haines and Evelyn Flanagan, two Freeport teachers, attended Institute at Sandy Cove, on Saturday last.

Mrs. William Tibert returned from a trip to Digby on Saturday. Mrs. Walter Titus and son, of Westport, spent Sunday last with Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Bates.

Mrs. Preston Thurbur recently returned from a visit to her home in Port Maitland.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Thurbur, Mrs. Anthony and daughter, Doreen, accompanied by Mrs. Moses Solloway, left Tuesday morning for London, Ontario, the home of Mrs. Anthony Mr. Thurbur will return later to spend a week before returning to his home in Johannesburg, South Africa.

Miss Margaret Weir left for the Academy at Church Point this week. She will remain there for the coming year. Miss Elaine Eaton accompanied her for a week's vacation.

Mrs. and Mrs. Byron MacNeill and children Lloyd and Alma, and Miss Ida Frank of Marshalltown, were the Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard Morrell.

We note that a number of people are entering the fox industry. There are two new ranches being started at Freeport, and the prospect of a few more later. We wish them every success.

H. B. Short, M. P., and a party of friends were in town on Tuesday of this week.

M. C. Foster, Inspector of Digby and Annapolis County Schools, is in town this week. He is accompanied by Mr. Williams of Bridgetown.

H. P. Bowers, of Westport, has been quite ill for some days.

E. M. Robertson, of Saint John, has been spending a few days in town.

The Rev. J. A. and Mrs. Winfield, of Kentville, are visitors to Digby, and are guests at Lord Lodge.

Obituary

Mrs. Albertina Langford

The death of Mrs. Albertina Langford, wife of William Henry Langford, Conway, occurred at her home in that place on Saturday morning. The deceased, who was 75 years of age, was thrice married, her first husband being the late Wilson Francis, and her second the late James Ford. She was born in Yarmouth County, and was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson. Surviving are her husband and an adopted daughter, Mrs. Laura Taylor, of Boston. Funeral services were conducted on Monday by Rev. M. L. Anderson, pastor of the Acaciaville African Baptist Church, with interment in Woodlawn Cemetery, Digby.

Hospital Worker Drowns Near Annapolis Royal

The entire community was plunged in gloom when word reached Annapolis Royal, Tuesday, that Mrs. (Dr.) I. R. Sutherland had been drowned by slipping off a rock while fishing at her husband's camp, near Perot.

Dr. and Mrs. Sutherland left after lunch to spend an afternoon at their cabin in the woods and it is understood that Mrs. Sutherland had taken the boat across the lake to fish, while the doctor remained at the cabin with Fred Todd. The men heard the call and witnessed the tragedy, but before they could get to the boat Mrs. Sutherland had disappeared.

As soon as the news reached town a party was organized and left at once to search for the body, which was recovered before 5 o'clock.

Mrs. Sutherland was formerly Miss Effie Pauline Bonnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Bonnell of Saint John, and was a graduate nurse of the General Hospital in that city. In October, 1928, she married Dr. Ira R. Sutherland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sutherland, of Picton, and went to Annapolis Royal to reside. She was secretary-treasurer of the Hospital Aid Society, and was prominent in social affairs.

BARTON-BRIGHTON

Mrs. Arthur Lamberton has returned from spending a two weeks' vacation with relatives in Natick, Mass.

Mrs. (Dr.) Krausnick and Mary left on Saturday to join Dr. Krausnick and Walter, in St. Louis, Mich. Miss Ruth Specht, Mrs. Eva Wendell, Miss Helen Banks and Corlana Adams attended the Teachers' Institute and Exhibition at Lawrence-town, on Friday last.

Arthur Robinson returned to Watertown, Mass., after spending the summer with his mother, at the Barton House.

One would hardly think to look for strawberries at this season of the year, but Balfour Specht picked a ripe wild strawberry on Monday.

Work On New Church Started

Workmen commenced to break the ground yesterday for Digby's new Roman Catholic church. Rev. Fr. Leo Murphy, parish priest of Digby and Annapolis Royal, is supervising the work.

The new church will take the place of old St. Patrick's church, built in 1844. The present church has become too small for the congregation which has shown a rapid growth during the past few years.

Father Murphy informed the Courier that only the basement for the new church will be completed this year. This will be 35x80 feet and will stand about ten feet high. It will likely be completed within the next six weeks. Faced with a false front it will be used by the congregation as the centre of their church activities until further steps are taken to build the new church.

The new church is being built on the lot of land purchased by the congregation a number of years ago. This lot is in the centre of the town, between Queen Street and First Avenue.

Frank Mills, of Granville Centre, and Delbert Longmore, of Delap's Cove, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. David Milner.

A pie sale was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Robinson recently. The proceeds are to be used for the upkeep of the cemetery.

Mrs. Dannie Robinson, of Litchfield, was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Carol Robinson, recently.

The motor boat Terraplane, Captain Elwood Oliver, went to Saint John on Monday (for freight for R. E. Hudson and several others in this vicinity).

BAND NOTES

Next Sunday afternoon, at 3:00 o'clock, the Band will play a complimentary concert at the Band Pavilion, as a presentation to the people of Digby because of their joyful support and their friendly approval of the band's efforts to entertain them during the summer.

This last concert of the season will be the fifteenth performance, all of which have been well attended by townspeople and summer visitors, with many from out of town. The average number of players has been thirty-five, the smallest number being thirty on one occasion. The programmes have shown infinite variety to suit all tastes, and the band's work has been very creditable to the players themselves as well as to the director. They have played in fine style some difficult music seldom undertaken by so young a band.

The band has proved its usefulness and demonstrated its value as an asset to the town. There can be no question that these concerts were greatly enjoyed by the public, and highly appreciated by our summer guests, as numerous communications appearing in print indicate. The individual players have received words of warm praise from hundreds of listeners and have been greatly pleased with the many compliments. After next Sunday's concert the band will take a short vacation, during which plans will be laid for future work, and the difficult matter of meeting expenses during the winter will be discussed. Possible changes in the personnel may also be considered.

The benefit ball by the Digby Firemen and the Band was a great event. The two organizations made a most striking appearance on parade. It was the first attempt of the band to play marches entirely from memory. The concert preceding the dance was enjoyed by a large crowd on the grounds, and the dance music supplied by a small band ensemble directed by Fritz Dikin, proved great for dancing. The rhythm being pronounced perfect by those who know, such music will probably become quite popular in the future.

Too much cannot be said for the splendid liberality of Capt. Spurr, who not only opened his fine hotel and served an excellent lunch in perfect style, without any remuneration, but who also took the greatest care to arrange his house expressly for the convenience of the musicians and dancers, giving his personal attention to every detail. As one of his friends remarked "When Gus starts anything he does it right."

MUNICIPAL NOMINATION DAY

To the Editor of the Courier:—Sir—Next Tuesday (Oct. 2nd), will be nomination day for Municipal Council. The election will be held two weeks later. No particular form of nomination paper is submitted, but it is suggested that at least six persons qualified to vote at the election, and it must be filed with the Presiding Officer of the District on nomination day between the hours of 8 o'clock in the morning and 5 o'clock in the afternoon, at the place named by the presiding officer in the notice of election.

People in this country are supposed to govern themselves through their elected representatives. Therefore, it is important that these representatives should be competent and disinterested business men. It is up to the people to be wide awake and alert in this matter, but to elect only capable, honest and fearless men are elected to the Municipal Council. For upon that the amount of taxes we have to pay for the next three years will largely depend. Don't lose this opportunity of getting the right men in the Council.

Taxpayer.

Gilbert's Cove Port Has Been Busy

Capt. B. N. Melanson, of Gilbert's Cove, was a visitor to Digby this week, says that the Cove has been a busy little port this season and that there is more shipping from that section of the Saint Mary's Bay than there has been for a number of years. Most of the shipments have been of peeled pulp wood and hardwood lumber to the United States. Capt. Melanson has found a ready market for cordwood in New England, and so far this season has shipped over 700 cords.

Telephone Bridge

The Telephone Bridge, (Hospital benefit) held Sept. 20th, was a decided success. Proceeds amounting to $50.00. The prizes were donated by Mrs. H. Anderson, Mrs. G. Marriages

The marriage of Miss Lydia Rachel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Haynes, of Digby, to Fernley Edwin Silver, son of Edwin Silver and the late Mrs. Silver, of Deep Brook, took place at Upper Clements, Nov. 30th, 1933. Rev. A. J. Prosser officiating. The bride was attired in brown silk with accessories to match. They were attended by Mrs. H. Raymond, of Digby.

The marriage of Alma "Mama" Amaro, of Digby, daughter of G. C. Amaro, of Plymouth, to John Edward Cowan, son of ex-chief of police and Mrs. A. G. Cowan, of Digby, took place Friday evening last at the Baptist parsonage, Digby. Rev. F. E. Bishop officiating. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Kenneth Turnbull, of Digby. Mr. Turnbull supported the groom. Following the ceremony a dainty lunch was served at the home of the bride's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Cowan will reside in Digby.

A wedding of interest took place at Concession, Wednesday morning of last week, when Maria Thierault, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Thierault, was united in marriage to Eude Gaudet, son of the late Donat Gaudet. The bride was attractively dressed in navy blue silk with white accessories. The bridesmaid, Miss Cecile Comeau, Saultier Station, also wore a navy ensemble, with grey accessories. Volens Thierault, of Concession, was best man. After mass breakfast was served to numerous guests at the home of the bride. Supper and the evening end, the newly weds will reside at Lakeville, Annapolis County, and have the best wishes of their many relatives and friends.

Quiet Session of Council is Held

Monday night's regular session of the Digby Town Council was one of the quietest in months. Outside of the routine of passing bills for payment, reading of correspondence and smaller details of town government, very little was done. Streets and Water Superintendent, W. W. Hayden, in his report stated that but little work had been done on the town streets during the month past. The light grader had been used several times, a few holes filled in, and a cement curbing 60 feet long, 18 inches deep and 1 foot wide, on Water Street near Dakin Bros. store.

Considerable work had been done in regards to the water system. Several leaks and water services were repaired. The ditch that leads from Broad Cove Road to Lily Lake, the source of Digby's water supply, was cleaned out. Two cement walls running out of the lake forming a channel were raised to a height well above the water level. The water is full. This job required 94 bags of cement. A gate was also placed at the outlet of this channel in order to regulate the water supply, and the channel cleaned and repaired when necessary.

The old 14-inch filter was replaced with a new one, and another two others, one 29 inches and another 18 inches installed. Tests of water pressure showed the pressure at Leo Van Tassel's house, 114 lbs., at the Pines 140 lbs., but greatly reduced when taps were running. Permission was granted by the Council to Myron Robicheau, to build a residence on Victoria Street, and to the Roman Catholic Church, to build a new church on Queen Street. In both cases plans are to be submitted to the Town Council at a later date.

ANOTHER WHO IS DOING SOME GUESSING

To the Editor of the Courier:—Dear Mr. Editor:—I received, the 60th week's issue of the Courier—this morning—and was surprised and have reviewed many of the writings with a great deal of pleasure, particularly the letters from those far away. They brought out some suggestive of the days gone by and mention names of persons with whom the writer had an acquaintance years ago. I was glad to see one to look back with pride and deeper love and greater interest toward the old home town, village, and people.

I was especially interested in the article by Mr. "Guess Who", from Lynn, Mass., who says in closing, "so long as I am breathing, I will come to the old Ridge Road and the little school house."

Now you can appreciate, Mr. Editor, that the "Guess Who" was not a guess, maybe five or six as to who "Guess Who" really is. Therefore, if it will not be cheating, but just to give the "Guess Who" a little more and he will answer a few questions, I will then be able to make the right guess.

I spoke so knowingly of George Nichols, Will Craig, Tupper, Wayne, and others.

I knew Will Craig and Tupper Wayne and my good cousin, George Nichols, and others, very well, although I was like the little brother, so to speak, who would look up at him, and he would grow up and be a man. Therefore, of course, I was not old enough nor big enough to travel with "Guess Who" and his pals.

Now for questions:—Does "Guess Who" remember how Will Craig came to go to Boston? Well, it wasn't "Guess Who" who sent him, but "Guess Who" remember the history of Uncle Bishop's smoke house which went "bang" down in the water. Does "Guess Who" remember when his friend, my cousin, George Nichols, was married in the Fall of either '92 or '93, on which occasion Tupper Wayne supervised the wedding? And what was a real one it was.

Does "Guess Who" remember that at the wedding Tupper Wayne and the gang moved across to the old back road about midnight and serenaded old John Dunbar? If so, he will surely remember R. M. N., the writer.

I appreciate Mr. "Guess Who's" article very much and, like himself, am someone for the old back road and the little school house, and the old Joggins, the hills and valleys, the stream and the partridge coles, and my good old boy and girl friends whom I knew in those days.

Now, to your good self Mr. Editor:—congratulations for your good work of the Home Town and the "Guess Who" is a masterpiece and worthy of all the praise possible from all your subscribers and friends of the Digby Courier. Therefore, more power to you, and some such issue once or twice a year will, I feel sure, gain the hearty support of your readers and be a nucleus to a greater clientele.

Yours with thanks, R. M. Nichols.

Archibald Horner, of Tidville, who was one of the men engaged in erecting a wharf for Carl Small, at East Ferry, had his left foot badly crushed, the toes being split, when a heavy log slipped and fell on him a few days ago. He will be unable to work for some time.

Getting Ready for Scallop Season

Scallop fishermen are active in their preparations for the scallop fishing season which opens in these waters on October 15th. Boats are being put into condition, and local blacksmiths are busy repairing old rakes and making new ones.

In probably the Digby fleet this season will be larger than that of last year. Capt. G. M. Morrell has had two new boats built especially for scallop dragging, these boats are the Sypher M., recently launched at Tiverton by J. B. Outhouse, and the Sonata, which will be launched next week by J. Thierault. Belliveau's Cove. Surveyors have just taken the measurements of these two boats for registration, and as yet their draglines and tonnage are not available.

As usual, boats from "up the bay" on the Annapolis County shore will make Digby the centre of their operations. It is expected too, that a number of boats from Grand Manan will also make Digby their headquarters. Several boats from Lunenburg—Capt. Maynard Colp and Capt. Parks, who dragged out of Digby last season—will also be in the harbor. It is also understood that Capt. Darrel Cheney, of Little River, will be in the harbor this winter. This boat will be another addition to the fleet. Four Newfoundland boats are also contemplating coming to Digby for the scallop fishing this season, and members of their crews are already seeking homes here.

Last season was one of the most successful the fleet has ever experienced, although bad weather was a great handicap. The beds of Digby are the most prolific along the Atlantic seaboard, and the Digby catch amounts to about one half of the total Canadian scallop catch.

Obituary

Clarence E. Woodman

The death of Clarence E. Woodman, well known Digby painting contractor, occurred suddenly from heart failure, at his residence, early Saturday afternoon. The late Mr. Woodman was born at Joggins Bridge, on October 12, 1863, and was the son of John and Mary (Gree) Woodman. For many years he was proprietor of the Digby Mail and Wall Paper Co. He sold out his business here and went to the United States, returning to Digby about four years ago when he purchased the residence of the late Clarence Jamieson. Since his return he has taken on many painting contracts, one of the most recent being the painting of the Grace United Church and Hall. He spent the last week in the woods with a D. Daley, at the latter's camp. On Saturday he appeared in his usual health and was about town, all morning. After dinner he complained of not feeling well, shortly after a nurse and doctor were called, but too late. Funeral services were held from his late residence Tuesday afternoon, with Rev. F. E. Bishop, pastor of the Baptist Church, officiating at the house. Commitment was in the Woodman private cemetery at Joggins Bridge, with Rev. Thomas W. Hodgson, pastor of Grace United Church, and the members of St. George's, L. O. C. P., officiating at the grave. Surviving are his widow, formerly Miss Mary Duffy, and one brother, Arthur, in California. Mrs. Woodman's brother, Thomas C. Duffy, of Atkinson, N. H., arrived in Digby on Tuesday to attend the funeral.

O. K. ALE BUT

It was hot inspection, and the soldiers had their things laid out on their beds. The orderly walked into the room and approached Private Brown.

"Three shirts, Brown?" he asked.

"Yes, sir. One, on one in the wash, and one in the box" replied the private.

"Two pairs of boots?"

"Yes, sir. One pair on and one pair in the box."

"Two pairs of socks, Brown?"

"Yes, sir, one pair on and one pair in the box."

"Good! Now, where's the box?"

"Dunno sir, I've lost it."

Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Morrell, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Pugh, Annapolis and Cleveland Morrell, of Westport, were visitors to Digby and Yarmouth this week.

SHIPPING NOTES

Recent arrivals at this port were the Jessie May, Capt. S. Tidd, from White Head, Grand Manan, with fish for the Maritime Fish Corporation; and the Earl H. Capt. Victor Halliday, also from White Head, with fish for the Maritime.

The Beatrice, Capt. L. Melanson, cleared from Gilbert's Cove this week with 55 cords of hardwood for Boston, shipped by B. N. Melanson.

The bandmaster is willing to give a mixed cargo of forty tons of canned clams, canned shrimp haddie, salt herring, etc. The cargo was shipped by the Davis Fisheries, of Freeport, to the Davis Fisheries, of Gloucester, Mass. The Ayia J. Captain Givanti, also cleared from Westport with a cargo of 96,000 lbs. salt cod and 45 barrels of fish oil.

BAND NOTES

Beginners in music are wanted for the band, especially in the alto section, as well as for other instruments. The bandmaster is willing to give private instruction without charge to start any beginners who will make immediate application. This opportunity is a rare one to play and to become a member of such a successful band is something any wide-awake young fellow should be quick to profit by. There may be a lack of ambition and energy but there is no lack of talent in the town. Wake up, young man! Don't miss this chance!

On last Sunday's programme Ross Turnbull's trombone solo, "The Lost Chord," was beautifully played, and Billy Christie's baritone solo, "Fanny Lee," was rendered in the smooth but sprightly style intended by the composer of this fantasia. The ever-popular "Best Loved Southern Melody" was played at the request of Rev. Ghas. Rand, of Middleton, conductor of the Middleton Band. At the invitation of Director Yates Mr. Rand came to the platform and made a few remarks to the bandsmen. He expressed surprise and pleasure at the excellent performance of such a young band, and complimented them on the high grade of music they were learning. Because of his prominence and his wide acquaintance with bands and music his kind words of praise were greatly appreciated.

The band is taking a vacation from rehearsals. A week or two of rest will give them keener appetites for a winter of hard work. There may be some changes made in the instrumentation and perhaps in the personnel, which are expected to improve the band as a whole.

The band is taking a very generous offer to the Band the free use of its hall at the Racquette for a Benefit Dance. It will be given early in October and the date will be announced in a few days. Keep it in mind and look ahead to an evening of real enjoyment and good music.

A FARMER'S DILEMMA

Something new in dilemmas has appeared on the agricultural horizon after the patience and endurance of the American farmer have been tested to the utmost, says the Christian Science Monitor. First, he had falling prices of almost everything he sold to contend with. Then the problem of overproduction had to be faced. And just as expert measures to meet that situation were provided along came the drought and upset all calculations.

Now a farmer in one of the New England States, writes to his newspaper protesting against what he calls "unwitting governmental discrimination." He says, "I have a cousin (also a farmer) in a southern state received an order from Washington to plow under 25 per cent. of his cotton crop. The cousin replied that there was not so much as a single boll on his property. He was then informed that as he was on the government list as a cotton planter, it would be appreciated if he would kindly cooperate and plow up 25 per cent. of his land anyhow.

Shortly after this puzzling incident it is reported that he received another government communication ordering him to get rid of 25 per cent. of his pigs. Again he took his pen in hand and regretfully declared that his farm could not boast even as much as three little pigs. And again he was told that he was on the government list as a pig-breeder and would be pleased to something about it.

After his correspondence with Washington had been forgotten, the Southerner one day received two official-looking envelopes in which he found two handsome checks from Uncle Sam. One was for plowing under the cotton he did not grow and the other was for doing away with 25 per cent. of the pigs he did not own.

And now the New England farmer wishes to know how he can get on the same list as his cousin. He can't grow cotton in his neck of the woods, pigs are prohibited by the selectmen, and he does not wish to pull up stakes and go South. So what is he to do?

It is probable that an incident like the above gave rise to the following sarcastic letter which is being sent out in large numbers, as political propaganda:

R. Jackson, Esq.,
Advisor in Matters Jeffersonian, Wilsonian and Rooseveltian Principles of Democracy.

Dear Sir:
I have a friend who has received a Government cheque for $1,000.00 this year for not raising hogs. He now proposes to get a farm and go into the business of not raising hogs. In fact, that not raising hogs appeals to him very strongly.

Of course, he will need a hired man, and that is where I come in. I write to you as to your opinion of the best kind of farm not to raise hogs on, the best strain of hogs not to raise, and how best to keep an inventory of the hogs you are not raising. Also, do you think capital could be provided by issuance of non-hog-raising Gold Bonds?

My friend who got the thousand dollars got it for not raising 300 hogs; now we figure we might easily not raise 1,500 or even 2,000 hogs so you see the possible profits are only limited by the number of hogs we do not raise.

My friend who received the $1,000.00 cheque has been hog raising for 40 years, and the most he ever made was $400.00 a year. Kind of pathetic to think how he has wasted his life raising hogs when not raising them would have been so much more profitable.

Write to hear from you soon—along Republican who now wishes to join the Democratic Party.

Two Criticisms From Westport

To the Editor of The Courier.

Sir:—Congratulations on your anniversary paper, which I enjoyed reading very much, with the exception of one article written by "An American's Impressions of Digby Neck and The Islands". I do not think much of his impressions of Westport. First he says "The arrival of his car in Westport was sufficiently unusual to collect a crowd of nearly fifty persons." Which is not so, as a hundred or more cars are crossed to Westport every year, and fifteen cars are owned in Westport. Second he says: "Homes are straggled around the bay." When Westport is very thickly settled, some houses only being a driveway between. And I also note he says "Directly in front of me as I type this, is a weir not more than 50 yards from the front lawn where I am stopping." He has a poor judgement of yards, as it is at least 550 yards. In another place he speaks of "infrequent guests," when Westport has hundreds of visitors every year.

And about "A Social Convention, which apparently even summer visitors must observe," he is all wrong. And the giggling girls, and young men he speaks of are the finest and most manly young people you will find in any place, either city or town.

Perhaps if he and Thisseline had went to the show they would have got a surprise, as W. G. Strickland has one of the best talking picture machines in the Province, and C. K. Rogers off of the finest dance halls and the music is not furnished by "local talent" either.

I guess American will have to bring his Thisseline to Westport again and get the right impression of one of the prettiest little villages in Nova Scotia. The citizens of Westport are by no means ignorant, as the poorest families can boast of a High School education.

Thanking you dear Editor for the valuable space taken.

A Westport Citizen.

Westport, N. S.

To the Editor of The Courier.

Sir:—I was very much interested in your Diamond Jubilee edition, and feel that you are to be congratulated upon the success of your effort. It was interesting and entertaining from first to last, and I would like to express my appreciation of it.

However, if you have a bit of space one of these days, I would like to correct a few erroneous impressions that might arise from the article by an American on the subject of "Westport". In the first place, we have a population of nearly 500, which, while not large, I would not exactly call "tiny". Also I would hardly say the houses "straggle" along the bay, which is, by the way, one of the finest harbours on the coast. The homes are, on the whole, well kept and cosy, with modern conveniences, laid out fairly close together, each family's grounds adjoining his neighbour's. Most of the homes are beautiful, in summer by flowers and lawns. The reference to "residence" (in the singular) on the second street mentioned, is perhaps a typographical error, but has caused comment, and I would say that many of the pretty homes are situated here.

Of course I could not criticise his reference to the show lacking audibility, as it is only within the year that the new "talking" machine has been installed. As to the Saturday night programme—perhaps he used reportorial license to make it sound good, or perhaps he didn't stay out after dark, or then again, he may be right. A ministerial visitor seemed to entertain somewhat different views however, when he made the remark that "Westport is the nearest pace to Heaven I have ever been, for there is no night there".

The reference to the cars is somewhat pointed, but many of the people own their own cars and trucks, so they can't be a very great curiosity—perhaps it was the driver that drew their attention. I thank our Reporter friend at any rate, for not accusing us of enjoying The Singing Fool as a silent picture.

Now I don't want to give the impression that we are all going to clamour for Mr. Reporter's blood, if he ever comes this way again—far from it. It's his job to make a good story, and if he treats upon anybody's toes, it is a simple matter to kick his shins and then everybody be friends again. That is just what I am trying to do, and I won't even try to cap his fish story.

Mr. Editor, if you can give me this bit of space in the interests of "The Islands" I would appreciate it very much.

A Reader.

CONGRATULATIONS FROM THE
E. B. EDDY CO.

We have for acknowledgement copy of your anniversary edition under date of Sept. 14, 1934. This is certainly a splendid issue of the Weekly Courier, and we would like to congratulate you on it. We note that this issue completes 60 years of continuous publication, which represents practically the entire period in which the Dominion of Canada has existed. We trust that the Courier will continue to serve the area surrounding Digby for many years to come, and wish for the paper all prosperity during the coming years.

Dear Sir:—I notice in your last edition my name is mentioned in the Fife and Drum Band of fifty years ago.

I being the fellow that made the Drums, should know pretty well when the Band began to play. I remember very well how we obtained our instruments by subscriptions from townsmen. I sent to C. Flood, Saint John, for the Fifes to make a start; then I went to Dakin Bros., and from my own dimensions I had a shell made for the bass drum and snare drum. Then I had the hoops to make, which was quite a job for me. In the meantime, I had ordered from George Beaman, our north end Turner, the calks for the drum heads, and I distinctly remember how disappointed I was on going after school to get them and he didn't have them ready for me. I also remember sending to Lyon & Healey, Brass Instrument makers, away out in Chicago, to get the metal and leather and cord tighteners, and by the time we received these necessary things we had learned many times to play on the Fifes. Many Bands those days had Triangles to keep the time, so I went to Fred Dakin, our fine blacksmith, and he made me a very fine-tuned Triangle out of an old file, and I have it now—a very fine job, of which Fred was noted those days.

When Tommy Parnham came over from Saint John we had him join us, and he eventually joined the Brass Band. We had no band room to speak of, only over the old barber shop, next to the Royal Hotel. When we were first learning we would go up to Gilpin's Point, where the old stone abutment jutted out for the bridge they never built across the Joggin. It was fun. Poor little Burt Saunders, being a cripple on crutches, he couldn't play the Triangle on the march, but as soon as we stopped to play Burt would climb in with his Triangle. "Oh boy," when we would come down the front street with torches burning bright in the evening, everybody flocked out to hear us, and said "They play well for youngsters." Those were happy days to us—all gone now to return.

"Tommy" has Will Bacon and I mixed up about the garden truck. I am the Bacon, that raises the fine chickens and calves.

Hoping this will meet with your approval for publication, I am

CONGRATULATIONS FROM AN NAPOLIS ROYAL

To the Editor of The Courier.

Sir:—Just a word of congratulation on your issue of the 14th, the reading of which has indeed been an inspiration. That from the pen of Mr. Anderson is very interesting, although we can remember beautiful Digby even longer than he can. We first went there by Mr. Corbett's Evangeline, and like Mr. Wright, can well remember the side wheeler Emma, then on the Saint John Digby and Annapolis Royal service as well as the Scud, Dominion, Flushing, Bridgewater, Dorcas and other boats, including the Monticello, all of which were before the Prince Rupert. Many were the excursions on the Emma, and down the river and to Bear River right up to 1891, when W. W. Clarke became a hero and it is awful to think of the men and women as well as the boys and girls of those days, who are now more, it is not hard to remember

R. S. McCormick, Frank Crozier and numerous other nice men, who extended a hand when you went to enjoy a sail in one of the fleet of boats then moored in front of the town that was beautiful then, but, as Mr. Anderson says, is perhaps in many ways improved, and is the town in which I have long had a desire to reside. Congratulations again.

F. B. Arnaud.

Annapolis Royal, Sept. 21.

To the Editor of The Courier.

Sir:—Among the many interesting articles appearing in your 60th Anniversary issue, and by the way, congratulations, there appears one the "History of Old Cementsport Iron Works". This makes sad reading, and I suppose this industry suffered the same fate as many Maritime industries, after and during the intervening years since Confederation. This same condition has been duplicated many times in these sea girted provinces, and although improvements are noted in many ways, nevertheless, the country as a whole, it is realized has retrograded.

BRITISH TOUR TO AID CANADIAN INDUSTRY

Kellogg Company of Canada Limited, London, Ontario, Entertains Important Visitors from Old Country.

Eighty leading buyers and industrialists from the British Isles who are at present touring Eastern Canada, with a view to increasing trade between the Dominion and the Mother Country, were recently the guests of the Kellogg Company of Canada at a delightful dinner in the Hotel London, London, Ontario.

This visit, known as the "Maple Leaf Tour" was arranged by the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, High Commissioner to Great Britain. The visitors include men and women from practically every industry in the United Kingdom and the Irish Free State. It is stated reliably that the aggregate buying power represented by the group runs into several millions of pounds sterling annually.

The dinner sparkled with geniality and goodwill. W. P. Butler, manager, and C. Garfield McCormick, Sales Manager of Kellogg's, extended warm greetings to the visitors. Major Wempe and Frank White, M. P., were the other local speakers, while the spokesmen for the British were James Walker, head of James Walker & Sons, grocers, of Bathgate, Scotland, and William Collier, J. P., managing director of William Collier Ltd., Duva Bakery, Lancashire, and of Ford & Sons, of Oldham.

Mr. Walker pointed out that in Scotland, the traditional dish was oatmeal, and "our fathers built up strong constitutions on it. Yet an excellent substitute, I am sure, has been found in Kellogg's Corn Flakes," which the British were guests—thanks of the party to the Kellogg Company for their hospitality and Canadian sport for the first time.

spoke of the deep impression made on the visitors by the Kellogg factory and other industrial establishments they had seen.

Mr. Butler introduced the famous girls' Softball Teams of the United States and Canadian Kellogg Plants, who later competed in a game at which the British were guests—many of them seeing this popular Company for their hospitality and Canadian sport for the first time.

Sitting in front of his radio, listening to the Byrd broadcast from Little America, P. E. Meinholz, of Bellevue, Long Island, was amazed by this spoken message from his radio.

Mr. Meinholz, the Times wants you to home up your telephone receiver, so it can call you on the phone.

Meinholz, an employee of the New York Times and left his telephone receiver off the hook and his office could not get him by phone.

Knowing he was listening to the broadcast, and with no other way of notifying him, quickly they sent a radio message 20,000 miles to reach him—although he was only ten miles away. The message was sent in code from New York to the expedition ship, "Eleanor Bolling," in the South Polar regions. From there it was relayed to the ship, "City of New York," by radiotelephone, where again it was broadcast to the world and to Mr. Meinholz.

BARBADOS DRAWS INCREASING NUMBER CANADIAN TOURISTS

The tourist trade of the island of Barbados in the eastern group of the British West Indies has been steadily growing in importance in recent years, the majority being Canadians many returning year after year and spending two to four months on the island. This condition has been brought about largely through the direct service provided by the popular "Lady" liners of the Canadian National Steamships playing between Halifax, Saint John, Boston and the eastern group of the British West Indies and the tourist travel from Canada is a great factor in developing Barbados's export trade to that island colony of the Caribbean. The date when Barbados was discovered is uncertain but it is claimed some Portuguese visited there in 1538 giving the name "Los Barbudos" to the island, from the bearded fig trees which they found there, and leaving behind them a stock of pigs which eventually became wild and upon which later adventurers and the early settlers in Barbados subsisted. The fact of the wild pigs as a sport and food supply is attested on an old map of Barbados published in England in 1657. It was in 1605 that Great Britain took possession of the island and twenty-one years later a settlement was effected. For a time Barbados claimed the first status erected to the memory of Lord Nelson, but it was later found that a Montreal, Que., was ahead of them by one put up in 1808. Bridgetown, the capital of the island, contains the residence where George Washington with his brother Lawrence, stayed in 1751 with one Captain Richard Crofton. George Washington in his diary referring to the trip, states "We pitched on the house of Captain Crofton, the commander of James' Fort. He was desired to come to town next to propose his terms." An agreement of £15 a month was arrived at "exclusive of liquor and washing" which Washington states "we find ourselves". Fourteen miles from the capital is the tomb of the last descendant of the Greek Christian emperors, who bore the name Ferdinand Paleologus, who were driven from Constantinople by the Turks. His father lies buried at Llandulph in Cornwall, Wales.

In the Parish Church of St. George is a painting of the "Resurrection" by the celebrated American Quaker painter Benjamin West, who afterwards became President of the Royal Academy. The vestry of the church was once offered $10,000 for the painting, but refused to sell it. The eye of the century in the painting is damaged and the damage has an interesting history. The painting was stored away at one time and a burglar who broke into the place where it was stored, was so alarmed at the fixed manner in which the century was glaring at him that he pushed the eye in.

Since its occupation by the British in 1605, Barbados has known no other flag but that of Britain, and through all the long troublesome years that followed, it never wavered in its allegiance to the British crown.

Even during the days of Cromwell the Royalists defended the island against the expedition sent out by the Commonwealth and only yielded after a stubborn defence on honorable terms.

Canada purchased over half of all exports from Barbados during 1933 and in return, a wide range of Canadian products are being sold in the colony and the number on sale is steadily increasing. Established lines such as lumber and other products, motor cars, trucks and tires are meeting all competition.

A FURTHER STEP on the Road to Recovery

A Statement by the Prime Minister of Canada

THE Dominion of Canada will offer for public subscription within the next few days the 1934 Refunding Loan. It is an undertaking of such significance to every citizen that I think it fitting to present this brief explanation of its close relation to the welfare and continued progress of our country.

The 1934 Loan is not an accidental effort. It is a part—and an essential part—of the great debt conversion programme in which Canada has been engaged since 1931, and by which we are refunding at maturity the large sums borrowed for wartime purposes. The national importance of this programme—and of the 1934 Loan as part of it—cannot be over emphasized. It is important from three aspects: 1—National Credit; 2—National Economy; 3—National Recovery. I shall deal with each of these in turn.

1. National Credit

National credit means to a nation what an honest reputation means to a man. Its maintenance is a primary essential and prerequisite that each obligation be met fully and promptly, as it comes due. Our debt conversion programme is then, in the first instance, our method of meeting our obligations and thus maintaining our credit. By this programme Canada has already refunded $68,000,000 of maturing wartime debt, and completion of the 1934 Loan will bring the refunded total to over one billion dollars. As a result, Canada's credit stands notably high, both at home and in the great money markets of the world.

Striking evidence of our high credit standing was given within the last few months when Canada secured immediate over-subscription of a long-term loan in London at a price to yield the investor less than 3½% and, in New York, obtained a one-year Loan of $30,000,000 bearing interest at 2 per cent. And there is equally striking evidence at the present moment in the fact that every internal issue of Dominion of Canada Bonds now outstanding is selling today at substantially above its issue price. The twelve-year 4½ Bonds of the 1933 Refunding Loan, issued at 96½, are now selling at 104 to yield approximately 3½%.

2. National Economy

The debt conversion programme, in the second place, is providing substantial savings in public interest charges. The debt which we are refunding was incurred with interest rates at artificially high wartime peaks. Refunding is now being accomplished with interest rates brought down to the normal level, and the result is a steady downward trend toward more normal levels—an encouraging movement which is essential to business recovery. By refunding under the 1934 Loan Canada has already obtained a reduction of the previous interest charges amounting to more than $9,000,000 per annum, and completion of the 1934 Loan will provide a further saving of over $5,000,000 per annum. The annual saving of over $14,000,000 thus secured has a direct cash benefit to every tax-payer. This saving has much more than offset the interest charges on the debt which has been incurred to meet the extraordinary burden of unemployment relief. It has, to a considerable extent, offset the heavy burdens which the depression period has imposed with respect to taxes and other current requirements. It will also have the way to tax reductions with the return to better times.

3. National Recovery

The debt conversion which Canada has achieved since 1931, by thus maintaining national credit and securing national economy, has been a major factor in our progress toward business recovery.

A year ago, preliminary to the 1933 Refunding Loan, I took occasion to express the belief that Canada had passed the low point of depression and was definitely upon the road to recovery. Today, our progress toward recovery is a matter of established fact. Since the low point of February 1933, the trend of business has been moving steadily upward in an improvement so marked and so consistently sustained that we need no longer doubt its reality. The facts of business recovery are written beyond dispute in our statistical records. The most significant indices relate to physical volume of business, industrial production, carloadings, electric power production, employment and prices. Here is the record in each case:

	During Past Year	Since Low Point February 1933
Physical volume of business	12.8%	42.8%
Industrial Production	15.7%	56.9%
Carloadings	10.3%	29.4%
Electric Power Production	12.4%	32.7%
Employment	14.7%	17.1%
Wholesale Prices	4.0%	13.7%
Farm Products Prices	1.7%	43.3%

On the issue of carloadings, employment and prices, the latest figures available are those for August; for other items, those for July.

Our external trade figures are equally encouraging. During the first eight months of the present year, exports of Canadian products increased approximately $99,000,000, or 32½% over the same period last year. The corresponding increase for imports has been slightly under $93,000,000, or 32½%.

A Further Step

Anyone who reflects upon these three aspects of credit, economy and recovery will at once appreciate that the debt conversion programme is vitally important to every Canadian and that, consequently, the success of the 1934 Loan is the personal concern of every man and woman in the Dominion.

The 1934 Loan is a further step in a great national undertaking; its success means a further step on the road to recovery. I hope that I need not point out the attractiveness of the Loan to the soundest possible investor, for that will be universally recognized. I do, however, earnestly call upon my fellow Canadians to support this Loan to the limit of their abilities as an opportunity to promote our national welfare. I know of no way in which the individual citizen can render greater service to himself and to his country.

BEAR RIVER'S AGRICULTURAL FAIR A SUCCESS

Splendid weather and large attendance marked the opening, Thursday last, of the two-day Bear River Agricultural Society's annual exhibition, conducted under the auspices of the Digby County Agricultural Society, which culminated all previous exhibitions held here. The newly-constructed cattle shed, 100 feet long by 28 feet wide, was of great advantage to exhibitors from distant points and housed a remarkable fine showing of pure bred and grade Jersey cattle, for which Bear River and district is particularly noted. There were also increased entries in all classes of cattle over other years.

Another class well filled was that of heavy draught and agricultural horses and a surprisingly large entry of fine 1934 foals.

One of the most attractive events to the throng of visitors was the oxen pulling match in which seven teams competed, the winning team hauling 2.12 pounds per pound weight. Poultry, sheep and swine exhibits were well shown, and the showing of quantity and quality, the showing of apples a credit to the fruit growers of the district. Domestic exhibits of fruit and vegetables, eggs, chickens and dairy products were at least 25 per cent above last year while the display of knitted and crocheted articles, quilts and rug work, and other handicrafts were in evidence.

DOUBLED UP WITH RHEUMATISM

Could Not Wash Himself Nor Brush His Hair

So bad was his rheumatism that his friends declared he would never work again. Although he is 70 years old, he proved they were wrong. Read what he says—

"I am seventy years of age. Last Christmas I was completely doubled up with rheumatism. I could not brush my hair or wash myself. People said I should never work any more. I am working harder than a young man today. Thanks, many thanks to Kruschen Salts. I take them in my tea, and I have recommended them to many. I could not get in or out of bed myself, nor sit up. But see me work now—12 hours a day sometimes. Kruschen Salts have done it."—G. J.

Rheumatic conditions are the result of an excess of uric acid in the body. Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts have the power of dissolving uric acid crystals. Other ingredients assist Nature to expel these dissolved crystals through the natural channel. In addition, there are still other salts in Kruschen which prevent food fermentation in the intestines, and thereby check the further accumulation not only of uric acid, but of other body poisons which undermine the health.

DEEP BROOK

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spurr entertained recently at a dinner party in honour of the eightieth birthday of Mrs. Spurr's sister-in-law, Mrs. Eleanor McClelland, Newton Centre, Mass., who has been her guest.

The teachers, Miss Lillian Hendry and Miss Vergie Silver, with pupils of the Deep Brook School attended the Exhibition at Lawrenceton on Friday, Sept. 14th.

The many friends of Mrs. Bessie McBride will be pleased to learn that she is making a satisfactory recovery from an operation for appendicitis performed last week at the Digby Hospital.

The property of the late Wm. Curtis has recently been sold to Aubrey Landers, of Paradise. Mr. and Mrs. Landers and family moved here last week. We welcome them to our village.

THAT "LIKE THE DICKENS" FEELING IS LIVER

Wake Up Your Liver Bile. Feel Fit. You Needn't use Calomel To Do It.

It's your liver, failing to pour out the vital bile, that is the cause of the "like the Dickens" feeling. Food stays too long in your bowels and decays. Your system is poisoned. You go through the misery of flatulence, pain, heartburn. You have a dark brown, ashy tinge in your mouth and bad breath. Your skin's uncleanly and often your head aches. Your whole system is out of kilter.

How can you reasonably expect to clear up a condition like this by merely taking salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum, or "cathartics"? These only move the bowels and that's not enough. You must wake up your liver bile.

Avoid calomel (mercury). Take Carter's Little Liver Bile. They're purely vegetable, gentle, sure and safe. They'll make you feel a hundred per cent better in a very short time. They'll make you feel like a new man. Be definite. Ask for Carter's by name—and get it. It's the only one. Your doctor will tell you. 25c at all druggists.

REVIEW:—GOD IN HEBREW HISTORY.

Golden Text:—"Thy kingdom is an everlasting kingdom."—Psalm 145: 13.

Devotional Reading:—Hebrews 11: 32-40.

Devotional Reading:—Hebrews 11: 32-40.

Awake at dawn and listening in high places

Will I await the call.

With the compass needle of my soul

Will I follow where it leads.

Through through fire and flood it take

I'll make but this reply:

'Tis the King's call,

Oh, list!

Thou heart and hand of mine.

Keep trust—

Keep trust or die!

Hebrew Law

The title of this lesson is "God in Hebrew History". Of course God is working out his purposes through all history, but there is a very special sense in which we see traces of divine purpose in Hebrew history. It is not alone that the Jews thought of themselves as chosen people: it is rather in objective facts. Certain Hebrew values have proved to be enduring. Hebrew law underlies much of both British criminal and civil law. The Ten Commandments have had an increasing influence for three thousand years. While emphasis in interpretation may change these laws tested in experience have proved to be of enduring validity. Much of the social teaching of Moses is still helpful. The Book of Deuteronomy repays study by students of the social sciences. We owe much to Moses in the one matter of sanitation. Christian ministers may glean helpful hints for their work from the laws laid down for the priests of ancient days. Christ said that he came to fulfill the law: he did not overthrow it. Eternal principles are enunciated in the directions for a primitive society among the early Hebrews.

Hebrew Literature

The world's best seller, year after year, is the Holy Bible, a gift of the Hebrew race to mankind. The stories of the patriarchs never lose their charm, either for adult or for children. Hebrew poetry has a unique place in literature, what race has a literature to rival the psalms? The prophets also are distinctive. The rapturous prose of Isaiah, the rugged metaphors of Amos, the tender pleading of Hosea, the suffering spirit of Jeremiah, are treasures of literature as well as of faith. Nor must we forget that the Hebrew race gave to us most of our New Testament. When we speak of the Christian scriptures we must never forget that racially they are also nearly all Hebrew scriptures. This marvellous Hebrew literature is, of course, an effect of great thinking, great living and great worshiping. The eloquence, beauty and power of Hebrew literature come from religion. In fact, religion is the golden key which alone can unlock the mystery of Hebrew influence in the world. Just as the Romans made great contribution to law and the Greeks to art and philosophy, the gift of the Hebrews to mankind has been in religion.

Racial Identity

There has been much controversy as to the extent in which the racial stock of the Jews has been kept pure. There has always been a certain amount of intermarriage. In the very line of David Ruth was a Moab. Intermarriage of Jews and Gentiles is becoming common in North America. Yet the Jew retains a national consciousness and a racial differentiation wherever he goes. The environments may be very different for Russian, Polish, German, English and American Jew, but the Jew is always recognizable. Whether he attends the synagogue or not, whether he is a reformed, liberal or orthodox Jew, there are habits of thought, manners of speech, standards of conduct that stamp him as different from the rest of mankind. Modern Zionism is but one indication of the national consciousness and racial solidarity of the Jew. This is in part because the Jew has so long been homeless, because there are many more Jews outside Palestine than in Palestine, because they have been able to adapt their language to the vernacular of their adopted homes and because they have taken pride in their racial history and national literature. Some of the greatest statesmen, scientists and authors of recent years have been of Jewish descent.

Hebrew Religion

Abraham is called the father of the faithful and his greatness grew out of a religious experience. Moses the lawgiver, lived a God-given life. The moral authority of the prophets was due to the fact that they spoke in the name of God. The psalmists have won their place because they expressed truths about God and man which may be verified in present experience. We study Hebrew history primarily to learn more about religious truths and motives. Hebrew thinkers rooted all human virtues in the character of God. They pleaded for justice among men because justice is first of all in the very heart of God. The will of God must be translated into conduct even in business and social life. The prophets discussed such mundane matters as taxes, laws, slavery, debt, just weights and measures and health. Though nurturing an intense national consciousness they took an interest in other nations and laid down principles for international relationships. Though some thought of Jehovah as a God of wars, the Hebrew relation has strong teaching about peace. With the patchwork government of the world today there is something to be said for the inner meaning of what the Hebrews meant by theocracy.

Christian Fellowship

Jesus Christ held fellowship with the great characters of the Old Testament. He quoted from the law and the prophets and the psalms. On the Mount of Transfiguration, the presence of Elijah and Moses was felt. In the synagogue at Nazareth Christ took words from the prophet Isaiah to set forth his mission upon earth. The truths of the beatitudes may be found in germ in more ancient Hebrew writings. If Jesus nourished his spirit upon these great truths and characters, we too may have fellowship with Abraham, who went out not knowing whither he went, with Moses whose face shone with an inner radiance, with Isaiah of rapt vision, with the shepherd who wrote the twenty-third Psalm and with the Suffering Servant, who symbolizes his own nation's history as well as our Savior's unselfish love. And in Christ's law of love we may find the law and the prophets summed up and made livable by us. A good Christian will always show gratitude, respect and sympathy to the Jews. They have been benefactors to mankind.

MAPLE LEAF CONTEST PUT ON BY RAILWAYS

The beauties of the Canadian Maple Leaf in the Autumn will probably be studied with more enthusiasm and vigor this season than ever before. The two Canadian railway systems, the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific, have instituted a nation-wide contest to encourage a greater interest in Canadian Autumn scenery and they are offering prizes for the most beautiful leaf and for the largest. Last year more than ten thousand leaves were submitted for the consideration of the judges who were elected from the Royal Canadian Academy. There are three prizes in each contest. The most beautiful leaf wins $50.00, a second prize of $20.00 and a third prize of $10.00. The largest leaf wins $15.00 for first prize and the second prize of $5.00. All leaves entered must be gathered within two miles of a station of either railway and each leaf must be mounted on a separate card with gummed paper holding the stock in place. Each entry must be forwarded packed flat between two pieces of stiff cardboard and accompanied by a sheet of paper five inches by seven inches on which must be written the name and address of the sender, the date of gathering, and the name of the railway station near which the leaves are gathered. Contestants must not write their names on the card on which the leaves are mounted. No entry is to contain more than five leaves, though contestants may forward as many entries as desired.

In view of the fact that it is the intention of the railways to arrange a coast-to-coast exhibition for the most beautiful leaves, the regulations provide that all leaves submitted are to become the property of the railways. The contest is not open to employees of either railway, but in view of the wide interest being taken by the children throughout Canada, is open to members of their families. The decision selecting the most beautiful Maple Leaf will be based on color as well as shape while the decision on the largest leaf will be guided by surface area. Entries are to be addressed to Post Office Box 1500, Montreal, Que., and full information as to the contest can be obtained from any agent of either company.

Last year the first prize for the most beautiful leaf went to Mrs. C. McConnell, of Fredericton, N. B., and that for the largest leaf to Bob. Hume, of British Columbia. His leaf had a measurement of 222 square inches.

DEER PLENTIFUL NEAR HECTA-NOOGA

Deer are very plentiful around Hectanooga and a source of annoyance to the farmers in destroying parts of their crops.

The long continued drought has dried up all the wells around Hectanooga and the two wells contain water. People have had to resort to the lakes in the vicinity for all their water, except that used for drinking. One well has to supply eight to ten families. On Sunday we had a little rain but so far there has only been sufficient to slightly moisten the parched-up soil.

GENUIN IS RIGHT

The American Indians, according to Prof. Berry, of the University of Missouri, were "the greatest agricultural geniuses in all history." This statement will require a great deal of proof and clarification. Are not our modern white farmers, with their irrigation, their fertilization, their adoption of crops to the soil, and so on, more proficient at their job than those under-privileged savages?

Undoubtedly, yes. In those respects our white men are the best farmers ever known. It must have been in the matter of labor saving that the Red Men were superior. They knew a thing or two about that. White men have machinery, of which they are justifiably proud, but machinery, we admit, does only a part of the farm work that must be done. The Red Men, not so easily satisfied with imperfection, had women who did all of it.

New Governors (walking in the park with her young pupil)—"I wonder what that beautiful beech tree would say to us if it could speak?"

Pupil—"I expect it would say, 'Excuse me, but I am an Elm tree!'"
