CHILDREN'S AID PARTY

A colorful programme of folk dancing by a number of the smaller pupils of the Digby schools, was featured at the lawn party and pantry sale held on the beautiful and spacious lawn of F. L. Anderson, King St., on Monday afternoon, under the auspices of the Digby Children's Aid Society. A sum of nearly $50 was realized, which is one of the largest amounts raised at any of these lawn parties since their inception three years ago. The donors, Miss Jean Anderson, Miss Ina O'Brien and Miss Dorothy Moses, wish to express their thanks to all those who contributed toward its success. The lawn party was originally advertised for Saturday afternoon, but had to be postponed until Monday on account of unfavorable weather conditions.

NOVA SCOTIA DENTAL ASSOCIATION CONVENES

Dr. V. E. Crowe, of Truro, is presiding over the 46th annual convention of the Nova Scotia Dental Association, now in session at the Pines Hotel. Some sixty dentists from all parts of Nova Scotia are attending.

The first business meeting of the convention was held yesterday morning when carefully prepared reports were received and discussed. The question of a dental health education campaign for the province was discussed at length before the meeting adjourned.

Dr. Crowe, in his presidential report, contended that the general milk supply in the province was lacking in mineral qualities due to poor pasturage, and urged greater co-operation with the farmer with an aim to bettering the quality of the milk supply.

Attending the convention are Doctors Bromner and Svenson, of New York, two of the chief clinic commissioners. Dr. Svenson is expected to speak today. The convention will be in session throughout today and will finish some time tomorrow.

An interesting feature of yesterday afternoon was a soft ball game between the dentists and dental supply dealers, the game ending with an 8-8 tie. Dr. Melanson, of Yarmouth, umpired.

F. C. Meilke Wins Pines Tournament

F. C. Meilke, of the Pines course, captured the Sir Edward Beatty trophy, up for competition in the First Annual Pines Hotel Golf Tournament, played over the 18-hole 6330 yard, Pines course, on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Coming up from fourth place at the end of Tuesday's 36 holes (for which he tied with J. M. Matthews, of Chester) with a 172, Meilke upset the proverbial apocryphal, so to speak, by finishing the tournament on Wednesday with 330, winning over his nearest competitors, Dr. Jarvoe, of Chester, and J. N. "Nip" Ross, of Gorsebrook, three strokes. Dr. Jarvoe and Ross tied for second place, Ross winning the decision in a play-off on No. 1 fairway. Tuesday's 32 the Chester golfer finished in the lead, with 167—one stroke better than Ross' 168. He finished with 88 in the first 18 and 79 in the second; Ross finished with 85 in the first 18 and 83 in the second. On Tuesday W. L. Miller, of Chester, finished third place with 171—an 88 and an 83. Miller finished the 72 holes with 344, making 87 and 86 in the last 36. Meilke scored two 86's on Tuesday, and two 79's on Wednesday.

During the two days of the tournament 79's were the best scores made in any 18 holes on this 71 par course. In this Ross, Meilke, Jarvoe and R. C. Duchemin (Ashburn), tied for the "best 18 holes" prize, Ross making 86.

DEPENDABLE ADVERTISING

People believe more about a commodity or a service that is advertised in newspapers than in any other form of argument. A survey contacting 5,000 persons representing 122 occupations in 22 states showed that 85 per cent considered statements made in newspaper advertising more reliable than those made by men elected to public office. Eighty-three per cent expressed more confidence in newspaper advertising than in salesmen's claims. A man may say a thing and then forget that he said it or claim he didn't say it. A thing published is not forgotten, and cannot be side-stopped. The newspaper can be identified and made responsible and therefore it is deservedly the most reliable advertising medium in the world. No wonder the survey showed almost unanimous belief in the credibility of the newspaper. Birmingham (Mich.) Eclectic.

THREE BEST BOOKS

Many will register surprise or shock, and some amusement, at the three best books chosen by the faculty of the University of Iowa. They are the Bible, Grimm's Fairy Tales and Darwin's Origin of Species. Religion, folk lore and evolution—these are the subjects of the professors say it isn't so incongruous as it may seem. They recommend the Bible to the students not primarily for religious study, but as a literary work of supreme cultural value. It would doubtless be that, if no more. From it the greatest masters of English literature have drawn much of their style and inspiration. The "Origin of Species" is a famous scientific work, representing the modern method of research and developing some ideas that have changed the modern conception of life. The Fairy Tales show the child mind and the primitive imagination of the race, helping people to understand each other and themselves. Of course anybody who doesn't like these can pick out "best books" for himself or his children. For instance?

MACHINE CARE

Every manufacturer takes much pride in the products of his factory. He knows his machines will do good work; he guarantees them to do so when properly operated. It hurts pride to see one of his implements covered with rust, warped out of shape and gummed with old oil and grease. He knows that the machine can not do good work under such conditions and that it will not prove good advertising for him. The manufacturer, by making good farm machinery, builds up a good reputation which he is anxious to maintain. That is why he says "Give this machine as good care as you give the horses that haul it about the fields and it will render good service for many years."

After Thirty Years.

A woman strolled into Jim Lee's laundry, North Adams, Mass., and asked for her washing. Mr. Lee seemed to have difficulty in recognizing his customer and asked her for a check.

After some rummaging in her bag she finally produced a crumpled ticket. Considerable scouting on the part of Mr. Lee failed to produce the missing wash and he has forced to ask her when it had been left. "About 30 years ago," was the reply. Mr. Lee was most apologetic.

DISTINGUISHED MUSICIANS
VISIT DIGBY

Chester E. Whiting, Supervisor of Instrumental Music in the Malden, Mass., schools, accompanied by Wm. Vidito, spent a week recently in Bear River and vicinity, and were daily visitors to Digby. Mr. Whiting has under his direction 9 bands, 2 orchestras and 8 drum corps, and has also been for many years director of the famous old 110th Cavalry Band, Massachusetts National Guard, one of America's outstanding military bands. Mr. Vidito is president of the Band Association.

Plans are well under way to bring this great band to Digby for two concerts, Saturday and Sunday nights, August 1 and 2. This fine musical aggregation will doubtless draw large crowds to Digby and incidentally good business for some of our merchants, for opportunities to hear a really famous band are rare in these parts—probably no band of the same class has ever played here.

The Digby Music Council, relying on the generous support of the public, is sponsoring these concerts, and the costs will be met by subscriptions, or collections, or perhaps a Tag Day.

The band will bring camping equipment and pitch their tents in a convenient location in the town limits.

REPORT OF INSTITUTE FOR THE BLIND

Miss C. Ethel Hawker, Maritime Field Worker for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, completed a survey of Digby County last week in the interests of the adult blind.

Miss Hawker investigated 47 cases. Of these 15 had been previously registered with the Institute and of this number 11 remained active cases. 21 new cases were registered, making a total of 32 in the county. Of these, 14 are in the Municipality of Clare. There had been 8 deaths among the remaining 15 investigated. One had moved away, others had more vision than the Institute register, or for various reasons were not registered.

Last year there were 592 blind in Nova Scotia registered with the Institute, and over 1000 in the Maritime Provinces. The activities of the Institute include: registration, home teaching, library, salesroom, placements, prevention of blindness.

The income from Nova Scotia last year was $11,451.88, and the blind in Nova Scotia received, earned or were paid $21,208.80.

In addition to the number of registered blind in Canada last year, which was approximately 5,000, the Institute assisted 2,050 prevention cases. These received examination, treatment, glasses, and in many cases transportation at Institute expense.

The total circulation from Institute libraries for the year was 33,866, with a reading list of 1,246 names. In addition to this about 3,800 records were loaned for talking books for the blind. These are slow speed gramophones. A record takes eighteen minutes to play itself out. A book of ordinary size can be recorded on from eight to fifteen records.

The Institute had 176 placements in Canada last year, that is, canteens, cafeterias, lunch stands, newsstands, operated by the blind; 19 of these were in the Maritimes and several new ones are being erected this year.

A blind person, wishing to travel by train, accompanied by a sighted guide, is privileged to purchase two first-class one-way or return tickets for the price of one. Any of the Maritime blind wishing to take advantage of this privilege, should first write the Maritime Office, 172 Almon-

Free radio licenses may also be procured, and Braille watches, specially designed chess boards, checker boards, typewriters, games, puzzles, playing cards, Braille writing paper, and other articles used by the blind may be bought at cost price, by those registered with the Institute.

The Institute has been earnestly endeavoring to secure a pension for the blind. On March 9th, last, this matter was thoroughly discussed in the House of Commons, but the Minister of Finance, Hon. C. A. Dunning, when giving his report, stated that while the resolution was being given careful consideration and the government was favorable to it, he felt immediate action was doubtful. In view of the present state of the country's finances. However, the blind may rest assured that the Institute will leave no stone unturned in its efforts to bring about the enactment of pensions for the blind.

At the 18th annual meeting of the Institute held in Toronto, June 16th, Capt. E. A. Baker, Managing Director, said he thought "it was safe to assume" a pension system would be instituted and that within the next year or two unemployed blind persons would likely be in receipt of pension cheques of sufficient value to take care of their material needs.

Camp Arcadie is directed by Mrs. Helen J. Anthony, formerly of Bear River, and will open on July 1st. The campers to arrive on the opening day are:

If other public enterprises were as anxious to boost and support newspapers as they are to have newspapers support their pet enterprises and projects, what a merry life the publishers would lead. But, alas, they are not. Other public enterprises, or at least many of them, can only see one side of the case—their own. No consideration is given to the publishers, who must bear the cost of publication. Publicity cannot be furnished for nothing.

Swastika Cut Into Wrist

Dr. Alberto Landi Gozquez, of Mexico City, told police his young son, Alberto, was set upon by bigger boys, who cut the Nazi swastika onto his wrist and rubbed the raw wound with substance to make the scar last. Other children have been similarly marked, he said.

Home For Good

Jack Behan, Dartmouth-born war veteran, who, with his son, Clifford, walked the 3,000 miles across Canada from Halifax to Vancouver in 137 days in the 1921 walking marathon, has returned to his home to spend the rest of his days. For the past 11 years he has been employed in Boston.

Panther Roams, Kills Six.

A panther, which is terrorizing the hill station of Landsdowne, India, has already killed six persons and mauled twelve. The district is noted for its man-eaters. Between 1918 and 1926 one of them killed 200 people before it was slain.

News Items Out of The Ordinary

Chained Warden to Table.

After chaining the warden to his office table, thirteen prisoners, including a murderer, escaped from jail in Verrulam, South Africa, but the warden's daughter, although knocked down in the fray, gave the alarm.

Woman, 100, Gets Divorce.

A woman, aged 100, and her 88-year-old husband, living near Belgrade, Yugoslavia, have celebrated the diamond jubilee of their wedding with a divorce. The couple, Nikola Maslarwvitch and Savka, his wife, explained that they were too old to look after one another. They sold their house and divided the proceeds. The man has gone to live with his nephew and the woman has returned to her family.

Double Parachute Devised.

Tests of a double parachute devised by a Soviet engineer have been made near Moscow. The two envelopes combined are 40 per cent smaller than one ordinary parachute, yet it is claimed that the new model will retard the velocity of descent by 30 per cent. In descending the lower parachute opens first, and the air rushing through an opening in the centre compels the upper one to open.

Man Has Throat Stretched.

Swallowing of caustic acid 25 years ago was the cause of the admittance to a hospital in Melbourne, Australia, of a man whose life was in danger. When three years old he accidentally took the acid, and it caused severe burns to his throat. The scar grew gradually until it blocked the gullet. While eating meat recently a piece of the food stuck in his throat, which had to be stretched with probes before the obstruction could be removed. The man probably will be compelled to have his throat stretched periodically for the rest of his life.

Birds Flocking to Church.

So many birds are finding their way into the churches of rural Sussex, in England, that congregations are asked to close the doors on entering and leaving. In one church birds were found on the pulpit, the window ledges, and also sitting in the pews.

Death for Kidnapping.

The first execution for the crime of kidnapping took place in Oklahoma last week. To those reading of the fact in cold blood and at a distance, the punishment seems severe, but some stringent measure was necessary to curb deeds—that were becoming a national horror. We have no doubt that some people contemplating an abduction decided, as they read of the scene in Oklahoma, that they had better not take the chance.

Another New Fad.

One of the newest fads among the luxury lovers of New York is the keeping of hives of ants and observing their movements. Daring his visit to the United States on the first trip of the Queen Mary, Sir John Reich, of the B. C. was presented with a hive. But upon arriving in England, he was obliged to surrender his prize to the custom officials who regard ants as "destructive pests."

INDUCTION SERVICE FOR DEEP BROOK PASTOR

An event of more than local interest took place on Friday evening of last week at the Deep Brook Baptist Church, when the new pastor, Rev. C. E. Hockingham, was formally inducted into the work. Supper was served to the visiting ministers and their wives in the social hall, at 6 o'clock, and the induction service followed at 7.45.

The service was in charge of Rev. I. D. Lyttle, a former pastor of the circuit and an intimate friend of the incoming minister. A splendid program was carried out by the various parts being taken by the pastors of Digby and Annapolis Counties. Rev. Mr. Steeves and Rev. Mr. Lyttle rendered a duet, "The Cross is Not Greater Than His Grace," and Rev. Mr. Rockingham sang as a solo "The Stranger of Galilee."

Rev. Ross Eaton, of Bridgetown, brought the message of the evening from Paul's words, "Ambassadors of Christ." Each of the ministers present brought greetings from his church, and after Rev. Mr. Lyttle had extended a formal welcome to Mr. Rockingham on behalf of the churches of the pastorate, Rev. Stanley Steeves gave a welcome to the Digby County Quarterly, and Rev. H. Barber brought a like welcome from Annapolis County.

A feature of the evening was the welcome to Mrs. Rockingham by Mrs. I. D. Lyttle. Accompanied by little girls carrying floral offerings, Mrs. Lyttle went to the platform and read an address to the pastor's wife expressing the earnest hope that new union might prove mutually helpful.

In addition to Rev. and Mrs. Rockingham and Rev. and Mrs. Lyttle, who live at Deep Brook, the following ministers and their wives were present:

Rev. and Mrs. C. L. Chute, Little River; Rev. J. C. Dimock, Centreville; Rev. M. C. Higgins, Barton; Rev. and Mrs. Stanley Steeves, Bear River; Rev. and Mrs. A. W. L. Smith, Clements; Rev. and Mrs. W. B. C. G. Well, Lower Granville; Rev. and Mrs. I. A. Corbett, Annapolis Royal; Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Prosser, Annapolis Royal; Rev. and Mrs. Ross Eaton, Bridgetown; Rev. and Mrs. Harry Barber, Paradise.

Several other pastors, who found it impossible to be present sent letters expressing their appreciation of the new minister, and wishing him success.

HOW RUSSIA HANDLES SHIPPING

As is well known, the Soviet administration enjoys a monopoly of all Russia's foreign trade. It is thus not only the producer of the goods it exports, but also the shipper, charterer and shipowner of the bottoms in which those goods are carried. And with this power it has already, to quote Premier Baldwin, "wiped off the seas" the British ships that used to carry the lion's share of traffic between the United Kingdom and the Baltic and Black Sea Russian ports. Now, according to official reports just issued in England, it appears that the British tramp steamers on these routes are to suffer a similar fate.

This is the way it is working. In both 1934 and 1935 about two million tons of Russian timber were imported from Russia by Great Britain. In 1934 British tramp ships carried 339,000 tons of this, but last year their share had dropped to 201,000 tons—a decrease of forty per cent., while during the same period the tonnage of Russian ships entering British ports increased by fifty per cent.

A director of the Anglo-Soviet Shipping Company has just declared that for the current year practically all the requirements for timber tonnage will be carried by Soviet vessels. It is an undisputed fact that so far this year, and with consignments arranged up to the end of this month, not a single ton of Russian timber has been or will be carried on British ships.

Now this is clearly a violation of the spirit of the Temporary Anglo-Soviet Commercial Agreement of 1934, which at present regulates Anglo-Russian trade, and which requires the Soviet Government to use an increasing percentage of the returns from its exports to Great Britain in "payment for goods purchased in the United Kingdom and for the utilization of British shipping services." Not only is the Russian Government not using British shipping, as called for by the treaty, but it is now largely ignoring the British market in favour of Germany, Czechoslovakia and the United States, in its purchases of machinery, machine tools, and other manufactures which Britain is perfectly well able to supply.

The whole matter is now before the British Government for consideration. Urgent representations have been made by Boards of Trade, Chambers of Commerce, and shipping interests, to the effect that the temporary treaty should be abrogated and replaced by one which will give the Russians no opportunity to wipe any more British ships off the trade route.

Mrs. John Juerdgen and two sons, from Staten Island, New York, are visiting the former's mother, Mrs. Fred Goucher.

George Hawkesworth, accompanied by Miss Rose Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Riley, motored to Yarmouth on Tuesday.

Mrs. Charles Clarke and daughter Laurel, of Tatamagouche, are guests of Mrs. Clark's parents, Dr. and Mrs. L. B. Braine, at their summer cottage.

FIRST BAND CONCERT

The first open-air concert of the season by the Digby Civic Band, sponsored by the Town Council, was played last night with a most interesting program which included selections from "The Merry Widow," "Alpine Sunset Waltzes," "Scenes from Operaland," and "Gayety Polka," a baritone solo by Billy Christie. Among the marches, "Colonel Bogey," "Them Basses," and Sousa's "Thunderer" were played. Four of these concerts will be in Digby—Thursday nights—but in place of a fifth concert on the 30th, a rare treat is provided for Saturday night, August 1st—a grand concert by one of America's outstanding military bands, the 110th Cavalry, Massachusetts National Guards. This will be a most unusual event that will draw visitors from all over the province.

Miss Helen Havey, of Roxbury, Mass., youngest daughter of the late John Havey, is a guest at the home of her grandfather, Bernard Havey.

In the picture at the left, an exposure of 3 seconds captured the light of the set pieces on the ground and the successive bursts meanwhile of the aerial display. An exposure of one minute recorded the buildings in the other picture.

CONSIDERING that it is an exceptional community that lets a summer go by without the celebration of some sort of event with a display of fireworks—Victoria Day, Dominion Day, a local anniversary, convention or fair—the opportunity to obtain novel and beautiful photographs of such a display is lacking to few. Don't fail to be on hand with your camera that night when the fireworks begin.

Fireworks pictures are easy to take. The brilliant, gracefully falling streams of light from bursting rockets and the dazzling patterns of set pieces, both can be recorded with any camera that has a "time" exposure adjustment, and when the film is developed and printed, the exclamations of "Ah! How lovely!" and "Oh! Isn't that beautiful!" are likely to be repeated. Also you will be proud of the pictures as photographic studies.

Use a large stop opening and with box cameras, the largest. Have the camera on a tripod or some firm support that will allow its being pointed skyward. Set the shutter for "time." For the rockets and star shells, aim the camera at the space where they will explode. Open the shutter and let it stay open for two or three successive bursts, or, if the first one is large and graceful enough, turn the film at once for the next picture. You'll want variety in your fireworks pictures. Be careful, of course, to see that the view is unobstructed, and you must be prepared to close the shutter should any spectators get too close to the scene. For these aerial displays the chrome type of film will be quite satisfactory.

For large and brightly glowing set pieces, the camera may be held in the hands and snap taken if you use the super-sensitive panchromatic film and a large lens aperture. Otherwise set the camera for time exposure. If it is desired to bring out buildings or other objects, give time exposures even as long as a minute.

JOHN VAN GUILDER.

IN MEMORIAM—In loving memory of a dear son and loving brother, Nathan A. Stark, who departed from this life, July 7th, 1934.

A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is stilled;
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.
Though on earth we sadly miss him,
As we see his vacant chair,
Some day we hope to meet him,
In that land so bright and fair.

RATEPAYERS FAVOR SCHOOL ADDITION

At a largely attended meeting of the ratepayers of the Town of Digby, held in the Court House, Monday evening, the proposed addition to the school house and the installation of a hot water heating system, was approved, and the Council given authority to borrow the sum of $14,500 for this purpose.

His Worship Mayor M. C. Denton presided over the meeting at which Town Clerk Alfred Boden, was Clerk. The Clerk read the resolution of the Digby Town Council, as advertised in the past two issues of the Courier. This resolution, which was sponsored by the Digby Board of School Commissioners, was moved by A. R. Turnbull and seconded by P. W. Holdsworth. His worship allowed one hour for discussion.

Mr. Boden, in giving figures on school enrolment since 1933 stated the congestion was at first in the primary grades but had now moved up to the higher and high school grades. An increase in the enrolment, without a grade XII, of some forty pupils, was forecast for the 1936-37 term. (The estimated enrolment for the next term is about 400).

The need of the addition was stressed by A. J. Dillon, chairman of the school board, and F. C. Purdy, principal of the Academy. Mr. Dillon spoke of conditions of congestion that have existed during the past several years, and reminded the ratepayers that one year a room in the court house was used for classroom purposes, and that also in other years the primary classes were divided into morning and afternoon classes which was contrary to school law and such a measure had been refused by the Nova Scotia Board of Education, which body through the inspector of schools had reminded the commissioners that the town was not doing what the estimated enrolment (which had been very carefully checked and re-checked) of some four hundred pupils during the coming term would mean there would be no room in the school building for fifty pupils.

Others who spoke at this meeting were B. Haves, himself a retired school master. Mr. Haves, although he said he would not oppose the resolution, favored a separate primary school. It was explained that this, with heating and all, would prove too costly. Other speakers were W. K. Ganong, H. T. Warne, Dr. Kirkus and O. Wright.

The proposed addition calls for two class rooms and an auditorium, the latter to be so constructed that, if necessary, it can be made into two additional class rooms. It also provides for a new hot water heating system for the school.

Miss Phyllis Roop, R. N., arrived from Montreal this week to spend her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roop. Miss Roop, in company with Miss Helen Turnbull, motored to Digby.

Watson Lewis and his sister, Alice, of Bridgewater, Maine, are on a visit over the week end with friends and relatives.

James Chisholm is visiting in Middleton.

Two Dead by Poisoning

The funeral of little eight year old Reginald Titus, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Titus, of Centreville took place Wednesday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Brown, pastor of the Digby Neck Charge of the United Church of Canada, officiating.

To-morrow morning, at Church Point, the funeral of Marius Boudreau, 47 year old fisherman, who is survived by his wife and six children, will take place from beautiful St. Mary's Church.

The eighty year old boy and the forty-seven year old fisherman were victims of two of the most unusual tragedies to occur in the history of Digby Neck. Although separated by more than 15 miles, conditions causing their death were identical. Both were poisoned by eating mussels.

In each instance two companions suffered from the effects of the poison, and in both cases, the conditions of each of the two were considered serious for some time. However, word has been received that little Donald Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loran Shaw, and companion of the dead lad, was "most favorable"—and from Church Point came the word that Simeon Gaudet, fellow fisherman with Boudreau, will recover.

At ten o'clock Tuesday morning young Titus with his brother Alvin, and Donald Shaw were playing on the shore at Centreville. They found some mussels, always considered a delicacy in those parts, built a little fire, cooked and ate them. Almost immediately afterward they were taken violently sick. Dr. F. E. Rice, of Sandy Cove, was called to attend the boys. The little Titus had died at about three o'clock in the afternoon, although his brother soon recovered from the effects. The Shaw boy was under the doctor's care for sometime afterward.

Fifteen miles down the same stretch of coast, a similar scene was being enacted. Three fishermen from Clare had crossed the Saint Mary's Bay in their motor boat to carry on their occupation in the waters near Petite Passage, at Blackhead Point, or near there, they picked a quantity of mussels from the rocks, cooked them for their lunch, and they too, after eating the shell fish, were taken violently ill.

Accompanying Boudreau and Gaudet was Bernard LeBlanc, whose home is at Concession. From East Ferry a frantic call was sent for Dr. Rice, who at the time was attending the poison victims at Centreville, fifteen miles away. Boudreau was at the point of death when he arrived; Gaudet was very ill. LeBlanc made a fairly quick recovery. The men ate the mussels at about 11 o'clock, Boudreau died around four o'clock. In both cases deaths occurred within five hours.

At first the theory that poisonings were due to creosote absorbed by the mussels from wharf timbers to which they at some time may have been attached, was advanced. Since, however, this theory has been discounted.

The mussels eaten by the fishermen were taken from a point some distance from creosote breakwater timbers. It is generally believed the poisonings were caused through the condition of the mussels. This theory was advanced by Dr. Rice, who attended both cases. Fishermen will tell you that mussels are poisonous during spawning season—and to-day some foundation is given to the old superstition (?) that warns people not to eat shell fish in any month without an "N".

O. R. Crowell, Halifax, was elected Wednesday president of the Maritime Wholesale Hardware Dealers' Association, who met for their 34th annual convention at the Pines Hotel on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. The convention, with 103 registered, was the largest in the history of the association.

Other officers elected were: Vice-President, J. F. Tilton, of Saint John; New Brunswick executive, H. Walter Emerson, Saint John; Budd A. Taylor, Moncton; and J. S. Neill, Fredericton; the Nova Scotia executive; Roy Calkin, Kentville; N. Stephens, Amherst; L. M. Thompson and Lovett Crowell, Halifax.

The highlight of the convention was an address by Harry Diplock, vice-president of the Steel Company of Canada, Montreal, who spoke on business conditions as they pertained to the industries of Canada and on Canada's international trade. There were also addresses from Mr. Long, vice-president of the Dominion Steel Corporation, and others.

The trap shooting, which took place on the shore near the Pines, was under the direction of Jack Learmont, of Truro, and was most successful. Medals presented by the Dominion Ammunitions Division of Canadian Industries, Limited, were awarded to W. H. Thackeray, of Saint John, and O. S. Greening, of Hamilton, Ontario.

The Association's annual golf tournament took place on the Pines course Wednesday afternoon. There were thirty-two contestants.

The annual banquet was held in the banquet room of the hotel Wednesday evening. Entertainment was in the form of a Walter Winchell broadcast, with Darrell Rivers, of Canada Steel Works, as announcer and impersonator. He was assisted by M. Bell, of Canada Paint. The black face comedian of the evening was Jack Learmont. John Patterson was the magician.

John H. Wilson, a widely known Boston newspaper man and lecturer, has been stopping in town for a few days, following a rather extensive tour of the province. This is Mr. Wilson's sixteenth visit to Nova Scotia and he is generally recognized through the Valley as one of the best "boosters" for the province. From here he goes to Yarmouth where he boards the boat for Boston.

CANADIAN SEED GROWERS' ASSOCIATION TO MEET AT DEEP BROOK

Fifty members of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, now in session at Fredericton, N. B., will arrive at Digby on the Princess Helene, Saturday, for an adjourned session to take place at Sea Breeze Hotel, Deep Brook. At Digby they will be met by car and taken to Deep Brook, via Bear River, where, it is understood, they will inspect the turnip field of Harvey Chisholm, one of the principal turnip seed growers of that district. The session at Deep Brook will be attended by an equal number from various points of Nova Scotia. In the evening the delegates will be guests of the Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture, at an entertainment to be held at Deep Brook.

On Sunday they will be taken on various trips. Mayor Kells, of Annapolis Royal, will head a large party on a visit to the big game country of this district.

To Celebrate 50th Anniversary.

On July 19th the United Baptist Church celebrates the 50th anniversary of the dedication of its present house of worship. Dr. H. T. DeWolfe, of the Department of Theology of Acadia University, will be the guest speaker at both services.

Mrs. J. M. Wallis and little daughter, Janet Louise, have returned from Middle LaHave, where they spent three weeks at her home. They were accompanied to Digby by her brother, Mark Corkum, Miss Doris Myra, and Miss Vera Corkum. Mr. Corkum and Miss Myra returned on Tuesday; Miss Corkum is spending a few weeks in Digby.

Crowd Champions Bull.
During a bull fight in Carmanchel, Spain, the matador was pinned and the crowd arose, thinking that he was injured fatally.
The man, however, sprang to his feet, and was about to attack again, when the spectators invaded the arena, shouting that the bull had won and must not be killed. They hemmed the animal in against the barrier, refusing to allow anyone to molest it, and were persuaded to return to their seats only when a new bull was produced.

Seven On Liner to Wed.

Seven stewards on the Aber-

Esperance Bay, which called at Southampton, England, on the way from Brisbane to London, were eagerly awaiting the end of the voyage for all were to be married. Each had made arrangements separately to be wed at the end of the trip and it was only a casual conversation on the voyage that led to the discovery that there were seven prospective bridegrooms on board.

A Bronze Age Pottery Vessel.

A pottery vessel of the early Bronze Age—1800-1500 B.C.—
which was found by S. Hazle-dine Warren on the foreshore at Clacton-on-Sea, has been restored in the British Museum. This vessel represents a little-known ceramic type, and is the first example from England to be exhibited in a complete form. A variant of the familiar "beaker," it is allied to the Dutch "glockenurne." Pottery displaying a similar tradition has been recorded from the Wiltshire timber-circle of Woodbridge (again suggesting a connection with Holland) and at Sutton's Courtenay, in Berkshire.

Principal's Report for Digby Public School

Mr. Chairman:—I beg to submit the following report on the Public School for the Town of Digby for the school year, 1935-36.

Examination Results

Despite the fact the school year was broken, due to the unprecedented conditions arising out of the epidemic which swept the school from the first of October until mid-winter, the examination results are most gratifying. The teaching staff was confronted with an almost insurmountable task in their attempt to meet curriculum requirements in the face of adverse conditions.
The attendance, which during the past four years, had not fallen below 90 per cent, dropped to an abnormal low in some instances of less than 50 per cent.

It should be obvious to parents that such conditions could not exist without seriously affecting the general standard of work throughout the entire school, necessitating, in some cases, the repetition of the year's work. The members of the teaching staff, therefore, earnestly solicit the co-operation of all parents in order that we may regain as speedily as possible the high standard of our school. We also urge parents to give careful attention to matters pertaining to home study and regular attendance for only through such co-operation can any measure of success be obtained.

The following statistics reveal the result of our year's work:

Grade	Passed	Failed
XI	13	3
X	14	2
IX	14	2
VIII	18	1
VII	20	1
VI	25	1

High School Closing

The fourth annual graduation exercises of the Academic departments were held in Holy Trinity Parish Hall, Friday, June 19th, when thirteen members of the senior class were awarded their diplomas by the chairman of the Board, Mr. A. J. Dillon.
Rev. Mr. Gabriel gave the charge to the graduates. The pass lists and prize lists of the high school grades were announced by the principal.

The Staff

The personnel of the teaching staff for 1936-37 will remain unchanged. Early in January Mrs.
Josephine Driffield was obliged to relinquish her duties because of ill health. Mrs. Driffield is a most valued member of the staff and we learn with sincere regret that she will be unable to return to her post next term. She has been granted one year's leave of absence by the Board.

Next term we are to welcome
Miss Betty DeWitt as a new member of the staff. Miss De-Witt comes to us highly recommended and will probably take charge of Grade III or the new Grade V. She will also have charge of music in the junior grades. No substitute has been appointed by the Board for Grades VII and VIII.

The Digby school is staffed by a group of capable and well qualified teachers. The Board follows a policy of carefully selecting the teachers with the view of building a permanent staff.
This policy has done much to strengthen our teaching organization and to maintain the high standard of the school. Transitional periods are difficult to cheer and pupil and should, so far as possible, be avoided.

Extension of School Facilities

I again urge the citizens of Digby to consider the need for larger school accommodation so as to make possible instruction in the twelfth grade work. The Digby High School ranks as an academy, and a such receives special aid from the government, yet fails to provide instruction in the full course of study prescribed by the Department of Education, for the senior high school grades. Only last year a large number of students were denied the privilege of carrying on advanced studies, because of insufficient class room accommodation. This year unless some immediate steps are taken, fifty pupils in the common school will be without adequate accommodation when school reopens in September. Let me, therefore, strongly recommend to the ratepayers that they give most careful consideration to the question of increased school facilities when they are presented with the opportunity at the forthcoming ratepayers' meeting. I am convinced the future welfare of our town depends on the product turned out from our school. No effort should be spared to prepare these future citizens for their responsibilities. This can be done best, by providing more adequate facilities for our school work and maintaining the high standard of the staff.

The School Building

I have served with the local school board for a period of five years and in that time no breakage or defacement of school property has occurred. The board is to be congratulated on the excellent sanitary condition of the school and the splendid state of repair in which they have kept the building. Every possible thing has been done to secure the greatest degree of health and comfort of the pupils.

Discipline

The discipline of the school has been of a high standard, and this can be maintained only through the earnest co-operation of every member of the staff.
In closing I would like to express my appreciation to Mr. Boden for his continued interest in covering a wide range of subjects, were of a most instructive nature and a source of inspiration to both the pupils and myself. I trust we may be able to welcome Mr. Boden when we return to our work in September.
Mr. Chairman, I feel deeply indebted for your interest, friendship and counsel during the years I have served as your principal and I trust our pleasant association may be continued.

Respectfully submitted,

F. Courtney Purdy
Principal of Digby School

INSANITY IS INCREASING

The pitfalls of mental disease and insanity lay along the road of fast-moving present-day life, Dr. H. B. Atlee, of Halifax, told graduates of the Nova Scotia Hospital at their annual exercises a few days ago.

"Go out and tell humanity that if it doesn't wake up to the sinister menace of mental illness, it will find itself in a madhouse more than it does now," he said.

"Psychiatrists all over the so-called civilized world have recognized that insanity is on the increase, and more and more people are being broken psychically on the wheel of life."

APPALLING LOSS OF LIFE

During the last fifteen years nearly 300,000 men, women and children have been killed in highway accidents in the United States, or an average of more than 25,000 a year. This represents a greater death toll than that nation has sustained in all the wars in which it has participated. The record of the losses shows the number of men killed in action, together with those who died of wounds, to be as follows: Revolutionary war, 4044; War of 1812, 1956; War with Mexico, 1549; Civil War, 74,524; War with Spain, including Philippines, 1704; World War, 50,510. This makes a total of 244,357. In the year 1935, deaths resulting from automobile accidents reached the all-time record of 36,000. Going back to 1934, motor vehicle accidents caused 105,000 permanent disabilities, and 1,150,000 temporary disabilities. Making no mention of the human factor involved, total economic loss to the nation from these deaths and injuries, together with the property damage loss, is beyond computation.

WELL-EARNED REST

Sir William Mulock, chief justice of the Ontario court of appeal, has retired at the age of 82 years. His resignation became effective on July 1st. In carrying out the exacting and important duties of his high position until such an advanced age Sir William has made something of a record. His contemporaries have long since gone into retirement or have passed to their reward.

It is just forty years since he entered the first cabinet of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. It is recalled that he organized the department of labor in 1900 and had as his first deputy minister W. L. Mackenzie King, now prime minister of Canada. Among his other outstanding services it was at his instigation that the Inter-Imperial Postage Conference in London adopted penny postage within the Empire.

IT'S SIMPLER HERE

If you are one of those who think that our Canadian party system is too complicated and ought to be reduced to a mere designation of liberals as opposed to conservatives, consider for a moment the situation in France.

There, in the recent elections, the people were faced with a line-up that would baffle the most astute political student. They were required to choose, somehow, from Communists, Dissident Communists, Radical Socialists, Independent Socialists, Dissident Socialists, and just plain Socialists! Left Republicans, Right Republicans, Popular Democrats and Conservatives. Fortunately, our system is not yet as involved as that of France. But the increasing number of "isms" we have faced in the last ten years is a warning. We might in time become as hopelessly tangled up in our voting as the French. That would mean to us just what it has meant to France—ever-changing government.

BLACKFLIES

It is common knowledge that blackflies are among the most annoying and injurious insect pests that afflict wild and domestic animals and man, but it is only recently that investigations carried out by certain officers of the Entomological Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, have thrown light on the identity and number of the species in Canada, and their distribution, breeding places, and habits.

Like mosquitoes, only the female blackflies are bloodsuckers; but unlike mosquitoes, their attacks are confined to the daylight hours. They are usually most numerous in the early part of the season, in late May and June but may persist in smaller numbers throughout the summer, and often are abundant again, in some localities in late summer and fall. Although their worst attacks are usually experienced in wooded or forested country, they are sometimes a severe pest in more open regions in which satisfactory breeding places occur.

A recent study of the species in Eastern Canada by an officer of the Entomological Branch, at Ottawa, showed the presence of 23 species of this troublesome insect in this region, twelve of which are new to science. The majority of them were reared in Ontario and Quebec, in the Ottawa district, from fast-flowing rivers, streams and rills, in which the insects pass their larval life, or where collected on the wing, or in the act of sucking blood. It is probable that most of them are widely distributed in the eastern provinces. A total of 38 species of blackflies are known to occur in various parts of Canada, and it is probable that further study will bring to light the existence of additional species. Five of these species are widespread throughout the Dominion; fifteen others have been found only in the West, and eighteen only in the East.

The importance of blackflies as bloodsuckers has long been recognized, not only in Canada, but also in other parts of the world. Among the most famous and spectacular of blackflies, or buffalo or turkey gnats, as they are sometimes called, are those that have occurred in the lower Mississippi Valley of the United States, and in parts of Southern Europe. In both regions, at various times, blackflies have caused the deaths of thousands of wild and domestic animals. Recently, blackflies have been shown to carry certain disease-producing organisms. For instance, in parts of Africa, and in Mexico and Central America, blackflies were found to be transmitters of a parabolic worm (filaria) that causes disease in man. In Canada and other parts of North America, a common species is the carrier of a serious and prevalent protozoan blood disease of wild and domestic ducks, which is frequently fatal to young birds.

It is possible that further studies will show them to be of greater importance, as disease carriers than is at present known but whether this proves to be so or not, their blood-sucking proclivities alone place them in the category of insect pests of major importance in Canada.

OPENING OF NEW MUSEUM IN LOUISBURG

The pages of North American history will be turned back for more than two hundred years, when the new historical museum building on the site of the Louisbourg Fortress, Cape Breton, is officially opened on July 22nd, by His Excellency, the Governor-General of Canada (Lord Tweedsmuir). Representatives of the governments of Great Britain, France and the United States are expected to join with lieutenant governors, senators, members of the Dominion parliament and Provincial legislatures at the formal dedication ceremonies, which will be presided over by the Hon. T. A. Crerar, Minister of the Interior.

Once the proudest fortress and only walled city in North America, Louisbourg in the brief span of less than 50 years experienced all the drama and tragedy associated with centuries. Constructed by the French between 1717 and 1740 at the capital of the Acadian settlement on Ile Royale, as Cape Breton then was called the fortress served as a naval base for French privateers and a clearing house for trade between Old and New France. Its military importance was unquestioned, for it guarded the mouth of the St. Lawrence and constituted an ever-present menace to the New England colony. Its fortifications cost the present equivalent of ten million dollars, and were considered by their designers to be impregnable to attack either by land or sea.

Captured by a colonial expedition from Massachusetts under William Pepperell and Commodore Peter Warren in 1745, Louisbourg was returned to the French in 1749 under the provisions of the treaty of Aix-la-Chapelle. During the next ten years the great fortress was greatly strengthened, and the garrison was well prepared to meet the next attack of the English under Major General Amherst and Admiral Boscawen, in June, 1758. After a siege of nearly two months, during which most of the outposts and batteries were captured, Louisbourg capitulated for the last time and the combined English forces took possession. Two years later orders were received from England for its complete destruction, and for six months soldiers worked with explosives, spades and levers until nothing remained of the noble citadel but a shattered group of casemates or bomb-proof shelters.

For years the site remained neglected, until the ruined fortifications were overgrown with sod, and small farms had been established above the ruins. Impressed by its historical importance the Department of the Interior in 1928 negotiated the purchase of private holdings, and since that time has secured control of more than 300 acres in the immediate vicinity. Considerable restoration work has been carried out from time to time by the National Parks Service of Canada. Bomb-proof shelters have been partially restored, main streets have been excavated, foundations of principal buildings unearthed and rebuilt, and outstanding features designated by appropriate markers.

Many interesting memorials have been erected to the memory of its heroic defenders and conquerors. Among the most prominent is a tall granite pillar erected in 1895 outside the site of the king's bastion by the Society of Colonial Wars in America, to commemorate the capture of Louisbourg by the New England forces under Pepperell and Warren in 1745. Other memorials include two field stone cairns, each bearing a bronze tablet, which mark the site of the king's and dauphin's bastions. Bronze tablets have also been affixed to the lighthouse on the north side of Louisbourg harbor, commemorating the heroic deeds of English and French batteries during the engagements of 1745 and 1758.

of native Nova Scotia stone, has been designed to harmonize with the surroundings, following architectural lines of the French period of occupation. It incorporates modern features of construction, is fireproof, and will house a large and interesting exhibit of historical relics relating to early Acadian history. Louisbourg Fortress is accessible from Sydney by a good motor road, a distance of 26 miles.

The long drawn-out struggle between two great and powerful nations for the possession of Cape Breton ceased in 1758 with the capitulation of Louisbourg to the British. Since that time the island has played an exceedingly important role in the commercial, industrial and recreational development of the Dominion, and the coming ceremonies will add but another glory to its long list of important events.

Use Your Camera for Other Hobbies

An amateur photographer-entomologist had fun making this picture of a "Grasshopper Night Club" (note the fan dancer). He used amateur equipment. It was a time exposure with a 25-cent floodlight for illumination.

HAVE you another hobby besides your camera? If so, why not introduce them to each other and double the pleasure? Why not make photographic souvenirs of the changes in your garden, your antique collection, the growth of your miniature railroad, your new ship models, or what have you?

We know a man whose other hobby is entomology—bug-hunting to his friends. He gets a tremendous lot of fun photographing his insect specimens.

Some of his pictures of these tiny subjects are remarkable. The most surprising thing about them is that they were made with the simple apparatus used by the amateur photographer. Not only does he make serious "portraits" of individual insects, but, having a flare for the dramatic and the amusing, he photographs groups of them theatrically posed to represent the goings on of human beings. As in the picture of the grasshopper night club above, or it may be a June-bug wedding, a tumble-bug football game, spider spooks haunting a graveyard, grasshoppers playing leapfrog—he finds the subject possibilities are endless. The pictures he displays are, of course, enlargements.

You don't have to be an entomologist to make pictures like this yourself, if you, or some one for you, will but collect the insects. Here's what he does:

He builds a "set" a la Hollywood,

Those assisting in serving were Mrs. Fred Moxon, Mrs. Charles Wharton and the Misses Gertrude Ritchie and Joan Smith. The sum of $11.00 was realized.

Many friends in Annapolis Royal heard with interest that the Canadian schoolboys party sailed recently from Montreal for Europe by the steamer Ausonia, under the personal supervision of a former towns-bro, Lawrence Patterson, M. A. (Harvard), older son of Mrs. Laura (Graham) Patterson, of Annapolis Royal, and the late Rev. H. P. Patterson. The itinerary in cludes visits to many interesting cities in England, Scotland, France and Germany, with an opportunity to witness the Olympic games at Berlin, and the party is expected back on August 23.

Mr. Patterson received part of his early education at the Annapolis Academy and graduated in Arts from Mount Allison University. For three years he was Dean of Residence at Alberta College, Edmonton, and then took a post-graduate course at Harvard, where he received his M. A. in Mathematics. For the past six years he has taught physics and mathematics at the Westmount high school, Montreal.

PRESBYTERIAL MEETING

The Summer Rally of the Annapolis Presbytery was held in Lawrencetown United Church of Canada, on June 29, the President, Mrs. W. R. Turner, calling the delegation together at 2.30 p. m. Bear River Auxiliary conducted the Devotional period, the lesson being from Romans 12, and hymn "O Master Let Me Walk With Thee."

Mrs. Ewing of Lawrencetown, gave an address of welcome which was fittingly replied to by Mrs. Kinker of Middleton. The Call of Auxiliaries was answered by 92 members; also representations from 1 Circle, 4 Mission Bands and 1 Baby Band. After which all stood and repeated the Watchwords.

The election of a delegate to The School for Leaders, convening at the Berwick Camp in August, gave Miss Joudrey of Bridgetown, with Miss Jean Parker, Waterville, as alternate. The Branch delegate, Mrs. Nichols, of Aylesford, gave her report in a very pleasing manner. Parts of this were taken by Mrs. Pentz, of Aylesford, who called on Mrs. J. B. Hall, Branch Missionary Secretary, to give her report in too as at Halifax Branch; by Mrs. Lank, of Kings-ton, on Stranger's Secretary; by Mrs. Dean, of Berwick, on Mission and Baby Bands; by Mrs. Sanders, Berwick, on Finances; and by Mrs. Davidson, of Bear River, on Events in Transit.

A duet by ladies of Bentville, was followed by helpful suggestions on "Christian Stewardship" by Mrs. Hicks, of Leclaire, by Miss Jost and on Temperance by Mrs. Wentzell; all of Bridge-town.

Mrs. F. R. Elliott, of Middleton, gave a most comprehensive review of the year's study book, "The New Africa". After singing "In Christ There Is No East Nor West", and Benediction, all repaired to the vestry, where a picnic supper and social hour was enjoyed; thus bringing to a close one of the most inspiring Summer Rallies ever held.

Miss Irene MacArthur, of the Katherine Gibbs School, Boston, is spending the vacation with her mother, Mrs. George MacArthur, at the home of Sheriff and Mrs. J. K. Edwards.

ANNAPOLIS TOWN COUNCIL

The town council of Annapolis Royal met on Monday evening with Mayor Kelsall presiding and the following councillors in attendance: Ruddock, Wentzell, Eason, Foster and Fortier, Coun. Stewart being the only absentee.

An application from F. J. Miller for permission to erect a dwelling on St George Street was granted.

A meeting of the ratepayers will be called some time within three weeks at which the question will be submitted to the ratepayers, "if they are in favor of borrowing a sum of money not to exceed $5,000 for the purpose of hard-surfacing St. George Street, from the Court House to Granville Bridge and on Victoria Street from the railway station to St. George Street." They will also be asked if they are willing to vote a sum not to exceed $1000 to lay an asphalt sidewalk from the railway bridge to the post office.

It was also learned that some 50 per cent of the 1936 taxes are paid to date.

Locusts Produce Profits.

Locusts, the dreaded pests which cause crop damage totaling millions every year, have been made to produce a profit in Argentina. Under the direction of the Argentine Ministry of Agriculture, more than 1,500 tons of locusts were gathered by ranchers last year and turned over to receiving stations where they were ground into meal for use as fertilizer. As the plague promised to be particularly bad during the current season, the Ministry of Agriculture started early in the spring to combat the pest in the northern part of the country. Between 2000 and 3000 tons of locust meal fertilizer is expected to be produced this year.

London Season Boosts Trade.

Because of King Edward's announcement that the public which cause crop damage total-mourning except at Ascot and that the royal family wished the "season" to be disturbed as little as possible, London's present social season is expected to be a golden one for trade. It is estimated that more than $100,000,000 will be spent before August 15. Those expecting to benefit include dress designers, jewelers, florists, hairdressers, hotels and caterers. It is estimated that 5,000 unemployed hotel and catering workers will return to work.

Youth Finds Many Thrills.

Kidnapped by Chinese bandits, attacked by wild animals and robbed eleven times while travelling 23,000 miles in three years, was the report given by K. C. Bannerjee, aged 25, on his return to his home in Calcutta, India. Three years ago Bannerjee left Calcutta on foot. Since then he has travelled unaccompanied through India and the Far East. From Calcutta he went to Burma. There he bought a bicycle and rode through China, Manchuria, Korea, Japan, the Philippine Islands, Borneo, Java, Sumatra, Malaya and the Straits Settlement. On his way to Outer Mongolia from Peking Bannerjee was kidnapped by armed Chinese bandits. After many adventures he was released. He now hopes to explore Africa.

Americans Go Far for Wasp.

In search of a wasp two young Americans went to East Africa and have spent a year there searching for it. They are F. A. Bianchi and Noel Krauss, entomologists, who were detailed by the United States Department of Agriculture to find the wasp. It is not an ordinary wasp which can be found any day in the jam, but a special gangster type which takes unsuspecting larvae for a ride and bumps them off. The entomologists are working for the defence of Hawaiian fruit industry, which is suffering from the depredations of the Mediterranean fruit fly. They hope to find in East Africa a parasite which will lay its eggs in the fly's larvae, thus preventing them from maturing. For this purpose they are making pots of every likely parasite, feeding them on ripe fruit and nursing their young.

Police Guard Roman Coins.

Special police were called to keep guard in the Dorset Museum, Dorchester, England, over 20,000 Roman coins which were recently unearthed. Dug out by men working on foundations of a store, the hoard is one of the largest ever discovered in Great Britain. Police took the coins from the spot where they were found, and some have been sent to the British Museum for experts to decide if they are treasure trove. So great was the crowd round the scene of discovery that extra fences have been erected. Behind these the workmen are excavating carefully, and bit by bit the plan of a village once inhabited by a wealthy resident of Roman Dorchester is being unfolded. The coins were in a beautiful bronze ewer, nearly eighteen inches high, and a bowl more than a foot across.

Fish Saves Catcher's Life.

That a fish which he had caught saved his life, is attested by a man in Vaalwater, South Africa. The fisherman had caught several small fish and placed them under a bush. When he went to get them a large poisonous snake was there, ready to strike. But it had attempted to swallow one of the fish head first with the result that the fish had caught in the roof of its mouth. This prevented it from striking and the man killed the deadly reptile with blows from his steel fishing rod.

Towers Get Yards of Rain.

Inches are inadequate in measuring recent rainfall in Northern Queensland, Australia. Tully reports seven feet of rain in ten weeks; Innisfail and Babinda had more than six feet, and they were run close by several other towns. Mackay could report only a yard and a half, but its total rainfall, if up to the average, should measure enough to float a battleship.

THE VIMY PILGRIMAGE

With a total of 256 registrations made in Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island for the Vimy Pilgrimage this month, a perusal of the list shows that more than forty are from the Valley. They, with groups from other parts of the Dominion, will travel to Europe on five boats, each steamer being under a party leader appointed by the Vimy Pilgrimage committee. Arrival in port is scheduled for the morning of July 25, the Montcalm and Montrose docking at Antwerp, and the Duchess of Bedford, Antonia and Escania, at LeHavre.

After lunch that day the pilgrims who are not visiting cemeteries have, the choice of two trips by motor coach. One tour includes the Ypres salient, taking in St. Eloi, Dickebusch, Ringhelst, Poperinghe, Vlaminghe, Ypres, Maple Avenue, Hill 62, Zonnebeke, Tyne Cot, Passchendaele, St. Julien and St. Jean.

The other excursion includes Ypres, Elverdoghe, Vlaminghe, Poperinghe, Abele, Steenwoerde, Hazebrouck, Nispe, Baillieu, Armentieres, Neuve Eglise, Kemmel and Dickebusch.

Both trips conclude at either Arras or Douai, where the pilgrims will be billeted.

The pilgrims on the Montcalm and the Montrose leave immediately after disembarkation by special train for Arras and Albert, where they lunch. In the afternoon those who are not visiting cemeteries have the choice of a motor drive of the Somme battlefields area, including Dury, Cambrai and Courcelle, or of the billeting area, taking in Mont St. Eloi, Camblain l'Abbe, Estrees Cauchee, Rebreuve, Ranchicourt, Houdain, Bruay, Bethune, Noeux-l'Abbe, Bully Grenay, Aix Nonette and Souchez. They then proceed to Lille for evening dinner and night's lodging.

On the following day, Sunday, July 26, all parties converge on Vimy Ridge where the unveiling of the Canadian Memorial by His Majesty, King Edward VIII will take place at 2:30 o'clock. All pilgrims will have an opportunity to inspect the monument, the range Tunnel, and the reconstructed trenches before returning to their billets.

The next day, Monday, July 27, the Montcalm and Montrose parties will visit the Ypres area, proceeding later by special train to Antwerp, where they re-embark on the two liners and arrive at Tilbury the next morning for the London visit.

The pilgrims from the Duchess of Bedford, the Antonia and the Escania on this day visit the Somme and the billeting area covered by the Montcalm and Montrose passengers on Saturday. The Antonia and Escania parties then proceed by special train from Albert to Hare for re-embarkation, and will arrive at Tilbury the next morning.

LEARNING BY OTHERS' EXPERIENCE

What a wonderful thing it is that we have the experience of others in all the generations from which to learn! We have the wisdom of the centuries behind us, we are the "heirs of all the ages on the foremost files of time." We do not have to begin gardening where Adam began; we have the experience of Adam and all his descendants for thousands of years. If we were setting out to travel in Europe, one of the first things we would do would be to find out from others who had been there what there was to see, how best to see it, what to do, what to avoid, and all the rest of it. We would get guide books and con them with interest and delight—and then we would accept their advice. That would be simple common sense. Well, we have all to make a more important trip than that to Europe. Ours is a great venture in living through the next score or three score years of life ahead, not to speak of the eternity beyond the years. Well is it not just common sense to hear and heed what others have said who have travelled the way before us?

Just take their words about one thing today—alcohol. A man like Thomas A. Edison is worth listening to. He says: "To put alcohol in the human body is like putting sand in the bearings of an engine. I am a total abstainer from alcoholic liquor. I always felt I had better use for my head." Abraham Lincoln has a word for us: "Liquor might have defenders, but no defense. Whether or not the world would be vastly benefited by a total and final banishment of all intoxicating drink seems to me not an open question." Sir Frederick Treves, and English army officer, said: "As a work producer alcohol is exceedingly extravagant, and like all other extravagant measures, leads to physical bankruptcy." Dr. Charles Mayo says: "You can get along with a wooden leg, but you can't get along with a wooden head. It is the brain that counts, but in order that your brain may be kept clear you must keep your body fit and well. This cannot be done if one drinks liquor." And now you are ready for that Great Book of Wisdom and Experience: 'Wine 'o a mocker; strong drink is raging; and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise.' Why, in the face of such words from the experience of the great and good, will men continue to fool themselves with alcoholic liquors? With our eyes opened to the facts of life, let us with the 'Seven Men of Preston' each write out this pledge and sign it: "In order that I may be at my best in building the world of tomorrow, I sign this pledge: to abstain from all liquors of intoxicating quality."

Sound Waves Spur Potatoes.

Sound waves are being used by Russia to make potatoes more precocious. Moscow reports, say the waves vibrate through the seed 40,000 times a second. As a result the "spud" thus treated flowered earlier, grew bigger and contain more starch than others. The purpose of the research has been to prepare potatoes which will grow in more northerly and colder climates than before.

Cobbler Becomes Fire Chief.

Forty years ago James Marshall left his cobbler's bench in a country village and went to Glasgow, Scotland, to seek work. He joined the fire department. As chief of Glasgow's fire fighters, he was honored by his men. He was preparing to retire after being in sole charge of the city's fire fighting system for eight years, during which time it expanded greatly.

Movies of Mic Mac Indians

A. H. Leighton, of Baltimore, Md., who arrived a short time ago to spend the summer at the Leighton home at Smith's Cove, has been engaged these days in shooting movies of Mic Mac Indians hunting porpoise in the waters of the Bay of Fundy. Mr. Leighton's story of the porpoise hunt as outlined to us, is most interesting, and should make a splendid film. It is his intention to take a series of these motion picture films of old Nova Scotia customs, which, unfortunately, are fast dying out, and thus preserve a living record in picture for future generations.

Mrs. Beale Gilmer, of New York, is visiting at the home of Mrs. H. B. Short.

STUDYING THE SCALLOP

The "Zoarcos", operated and owned by the Biological Board of Canada, and in command of Capt. J. A. Calder, of St. Andrew's, N. B., has arrived in port to assist J. A. Stevenson in his work of compiling the life history of the scallop.

The "Zoarcos" has been out since April making hydrographic surveys of the outer banks of Nova Scotia, investigating the cod and haddock. This craft is engaged for the twelve months of the year in the investigation of fisheries in the Maritime Provinces.

Returning to St. Andrew's the "Zoarcos" put in at Digby, where she will remain for several days to assist Mr. Stevenson in his work, and in an endeavor to locate scallop larvae and scallops in young stages.

While in Digby Capt. Calder and Mr. Stevenson were presented with membership and card which makes them members of the Order of Good Times.

CHESTER WHITING'S MILITARY BAND COMING

Chester E. Whiting's famous 110th Cavalry Band of Boston, which is to play two concerts in Digby at the invitation of the Digby Band, is a Military Unit and subject to rigid restrictions when leaving home and entering a foreign country. Permission to leave Massachusetts must be obtained from the U. S. War Department, the Governor of Massachusetts and the Regimental Staff, and then permission to enter Canada must be granted by the Canadian Minister of National Defence—all this red tape just to play two concerts in Digby and one in a neighbor town. But they will be grand concerts in every sense, hugely enjoyed by the public and highly profitable to the Digby Band boys who will learn much from hearing, at close range, a really great band performance.

HELPING LOCAL SOCIETIES

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan MacD. Little, of New York City, arrived last Saturday at their summer cabin in the Harbor View Colony, Smith's Cove, where they have spent their summers for many years. On their way they motored from New York to Trois Rivieres, in the Province of Quebec, where Mr. Little conferred with the Syndicate d'Hoteliers on the matter of the International Amateur Movie contest to be held in connection with the 3rd Annual St. Maurice canoe race, a race extending 125 miles down that beautiful and rapid river. Mr. and Mrs. Little also motored to St. Simeon, near the mouth of the Saguenay River, in which, as in the past two summers, they showed their motion pictures made in the region and which are the only movies that have ever been seen in the neighborhood.

Then after a visit to Quebec city they journeyed to Riviere du Loup, far out on the Gaspe Coast, for two more showings, which are also the only movie shows ever seen in the community.

At Smith's Cove, here in Nova Scotia, they showed more films Tuesday evening, for the benefit, as in previous years, of the local library association, when $31.00 was realized for the library fund; and this (Friday) evening their films will supplement the programme at the Bijou Theatre. The results of this evening's performance will be for the benefit of the local Girl Guides, a custom established last year.

In their pleasurable work of carrying motion pictures to remote communities Mr. and Mrs. Little gratefully acknowledged the active help of the International Y. M. C. A., in New York and of the Canadian government motion picture bureau in Ottawa, as well as the aid and co-operation of the Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph and Le Nouvelliste, of Trois Rivieres, Que.; and in Nova Scotia of the Digby Courier and the Halifax Chronicle and Herald.

Mrs. V. C. Marshall, of Marshall's Town, left yesterday for a two weeks' visit with friends in Boston.

Her many friends in Digby and Smith's Cove will be glad to welcome Miss Edith Wilbank, who arrived today via the Acadia, from New York, accompanying her grandfather, Frederick S. Little, one of the old guards at Harbor View.

F. W. TOWNLY-SMITH

Lashburn, Sask., president of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, and who presided over the meetings at Deep Brook the past week end.

Seed Growers in Convention

More than sixty delegates, representing every province in the Dominion, arrived on the Princess Helene on Saturday morning to attend the final sessions of the Canadian Seed Growers Association convention, at Sea Breeze Hotel, Deep Brook. At Deep Brook they were met by an almost equal number of local swede turnip seed growers and members of the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculturists.

Deep Brook, the home of the Ditmars Bronze Top Turnip, was selected as the Nova Scotia meeting place because of the vision of a small group of farmers in that area. These farmers, themselves producers of the Ditmars Bronze Top, were congratulated on their success, and their fields inspected by the visiting delegates.

At luncheon in the Sea Breeze hotel, Saturday, F. W. Townly-Smith, elected president to succeed Prof. Robert Summerby, at the Fredericton sessions, introduced Major Daniel Owen and Mayor Arthur Kelsall, both of Annapolis Royal, who extended a welcome to the Association, the latter giving a brief history of the part that section of the country has played in the agricultural development of Canada, pointing out that not far from Deep Brook the first crops of the North American continent, north of the Spanish settlements, were planted by the early settlers. Professor Summerby also spoke at the luncheon.

In a later address at the session held at the Sea Breeze auditorium, Professor Summerby traced the evolution and development of the association and its object in selecting and promoting superior seeds, stating that the improvement of crops in Canada through the use of superior seeds is the primary objective of the association. To reach this objective attention must be paid to the variety and genuineness of the seeds grown. Sometime, he said, one variety is sold under the name of another. He stressed that superior seeds should be free from weeds and disease. Plant disease is spread through seeds grown

Wood, of Kentville, became the bride of Donald, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Condon, also of Kentville. The ceremony which was performed by Rev. W. C. The honeymoon will include a motor trip to Massachusetts, which will be taken via Digby and Saint John. Both Mr. and Mrs. Condon are popular with the younger people of that town and have been guests at pleasing affairs during the past weeks. On their return they will reside at Kentville, where the groom has been in business for the past few years. M. A. Condon and family are former residents of this town.

from unhealthy stock. The association confined its attention to the production of superior varieties. This is done by checking the source of supply, obtaining the pedigree of the seeds, and making tests. New varieties must be successfully grown for five years and at least twenty-five tests made before a certificate of registration is given. The origin of the seed is traced in order to make sure they come from pure stock, and checkups are made continually to make sure that registered seed has not become contaminated by cross

CANOE RACE BETWEEN LA TUQUE AND TROIS-RIVIERES

The 3rd Annual International Canoe Race on the St. Maurice River, between La Tuque and Trois-Rivieres, a distance of 125 miles, the outstanding sporting event of the year in the Province of Quebec, will be held on August 21-22-23 under the auspices of the Radisson Canoe Club of Trois-Rivieres and the patronage of the Provincial Road Department.

The St. Maurice Valley country has always been noted for the prowess of its canoe-men. Many of them are French-Canadian descendants of the voyageurs and coureurs de bois who, in the 17th century, set out from Trois-Rivieres to discover half a continent. Later, when the forests of the district were opened by lumber and pulp-wood operators, the rivermen of the St. Maurice became noted for their skill and daring. When, in 1851, General Wolsey needed experienced river-men to ascend the Nile to relieve Khartoum, it was from Trois-Rivieres district that he secured his most resourceful recruits.

The canoe race will be the subject of an international Amateur Movie Contest, organized by the "Syndicat d'Initiative" of Trois-Rivieres. It is being promoted with the active co-operation of Mr. Arthur Bergeron, director of the "Office Provincial du Tourisme", and of Mr. Duncan Mac-D. Little, of the Metropolitan Motion Picture Club of New York.

A first pick of the best films will be made by a Canadian-American jury on which Mr. Kermit Roosevelt, son of the late President Theodore Roosevelt, will represent the American element and Honorable Frank Carrel, M. L. C., President of the English daily newspaper in Quebec City, will head the Canadian section with M. Leon Franque, art critic of "La Presse" of Montreal.

This annual canoe race was organized in 1934, to mark the Tercentenary of the founding of the city of Trois-Rivieres. It was found that the race offered so many race cinematographic opportunities and such remarkable films were produced by amateurs that the committee in charge decided to make it an official competition subject.

All along the course of the race the scenery is wildly picturesque. A fine motorroad follows the river, and there will be ample opportunity to include some very interesting subjects, as well as studies of the colourful "voyageur" types who will participate in the race.

The St. Maurice River is one of the largest tributaries of the St. Lawrence, draining an area of 17,000 square miles. This territory is studded with innumerable beautiful lakes. From its source to its mouth the river falls 1,135 feet, and in the 125 miles of the race course, there are dozens of brawling rapids where thrilling scenes will be witnessed as the competitors guide their frail craft through the boiling waters.

PICNIC AT BARTON

On Thursday of last week, the ladies of the Digby Baptist Women's Missionary Aid Society met in the vestry for their regular meeting when the officers for the ensuing year were elected. After the meeting the members of the Aid Society, accompanied by the husbands of some, and a number of other guests including the pastor of the church, proceeded to Barton, in response to an invitation extended a month previously by Mrs. David L. Welch, for a picnic on their grounds. The happy anticipations of the month were more than realized. Mr. and Mrs. Welch received the party with their customary gracious hospitality, banishing thoughts of the heat of the day with cold fruit drinks served in their arbor.

After a most enjoyable social time, tables were set up, and the baskets produced a most bountiful supper, to which some twenty-five guests did justice. The table was graced by a handsome and delicious birthday cake, supplied by Mrs. H. L. Smith, in honor of those whose birthday fell in the month of July. Four of the guests qualified for a share in this, and Dr. Timpany was privileged to cut the cake and pass it around the tables.

The delightful weather and surroundings made the guests reluctant to break up the party, some of the cars leaving only in time to enjoy the band concert in Digby that evening. Thanks are due Mr. and Mrs. Welch for the happy occasion.

SPECIAL SERVICE AT BARTON-BRIGHTON CHURCH

A service of special interest to the Barton-Brighton people was held in the United Church there last Sunday evening. The entire programme of music including hymns and special numbers had to do with the sea, while the address was on "God's Way Being in the Sea". The message from the Psalmist reminds us that when God's way is in the sea it is also in the way that we tread, and the way of mystery, and of restlessness, also that in Him is the meeting-place of all classes. It is expected that this service will be repeated at the Heart Memorial United Church in Weymouth, next Sunday evening.

A POPULAR ERROR ABOUT MACHINERY
The people see a new machine do the work which was formerly done by 10 men. They immediately jump to the conclusion that machinery is causing an eternal problem of unemployment. In every such case the machinery causes trouble and annoyance to the workmen who are temporarily displaced but in most cases the increased production of the machine provides demands which give the old workmen new jobs often at higher wages. Displacement by machines causes dislocation of labor but in the end provides thousands of new jobs.

The indictment of the machine has convinced many that invention of new machinery should be checked, and that we would be better off if we broke up most of our complicated labor-saving machinery. But if we look to British India where the machine is rejected on every hand, labor has every opportunity to do all the work which is necessary, we see only perpetual heart-rending poverty instead of the degree of prosperity which we have enjoyed in this machine loving country. Those who want to know the truth will swiftly conclude that civilization can not live in comfort without the use of the labor-saving machine. We shall never go back to employing men with picks and shovels; at digging the foundations of great buildings when a machine can do it so much better without breaking the hearts and backs of the laborers. The invention of labor-saving machinery will go on making life more comfortable for everybody. Even the poor today live better than the moderately well-off lived 40 or 50 years ago.

Labor-saving machinery in the end makes more jobs. It gives money which can hire more labor for other needs and luxuries. Does the invention of labor-saving machinery in the manufacture of automobiles hurt labor? Not by any means. It enables more autos to be sold and the new auto demand labor of every kind. New labor-saving machinery for producing is constantly being invented and the number of people directly and indirectly engaged in the production of motor cars has increased by millions. The statisticians tell us that from 1900 to 1930 there was a gain of 20,000,000 jobs. Those 30 years marked the greatest invention of labor-saving machinery. During the last 50 years the population of the United States has increased 200 per cent while the jobs have increased 300 per cent with higher wages.

EGYPTIANS LIKE FISH EGGS

Egyptians are great lovers of fish eggs, otherwise known as caviare, as are also the people of other neighboring countries bordering on the Mediterranean and there is, therefore, a fairly large consumption. Quality is governed by color, the cheaper varieties being red or pink, while the more expensive article is dark brown or black, such as sturgeon's roe. Shell fish is prohibited to Moslems by their religion the same as pork, and this makes for a restricted demand in that class of fish food. Japan is the chief source of supply for canned caviare and claims for the limited demand that exists.

$2,500 for Free Ice Cream.

Vancouver's school children had their dreams come true July 1. The city council appropriated $2,500 to supply the kids with free ice cream when the Golden Jubilee celebration opened.

Gas Attack Lessons Taught.

Education authorities of Turkey have ordered that all schools shall have regular instructions about dealing with poison gas attacks. Demonstrations will be given by travelling experts who are to tour the schools.

War-Time Bomb Found.

An aerial bomb which is believed to have been dropped by a German rider during the war has been found by William Morland, of Woolwich, England. The bomb weighed six pounds and was found eighteen inches below the surface of a field.

Woman Reaches 101 Years.

Once Dublin's most beautiful woman and a distinguished horse-woman in Irish Free State hunting fields, Mrs. Elizabeth Hume celebrated her 101st birthday recently. Her birthday falls on the same day as that of her granddaughter, Marjorie Hume, the film star.

Child Saved from Wolf.

While children were playing in the yard of a farmhouse on the edge of a forest in the Vilna district of Poland a wolf suddenly appeared, seized one small boy by the sheepskin coat he was wearing and dragged him into the wood. The parents gave chase, and the wolf dropped the child, who was found to have escaped with only shock.

Wake 18,000 Police at Once.

A device by which the 18,000 policemen in Paris can be simultaneously summoned from their beds has been developed by two French inventors. A similar system is already in operation in the city of Poitiers for the fire department, and the present invention may shortly be installed in Paris. It consists of an alarm which is installed by the bedside of each officer. These alarms are connected to a "pivot" station and are operated by plugs like a telephone switchboard. It is suggested that the device would be of great value in times of air raids.

Finds Heirs of Rancher.

After a long search the heirs of a Scotch boy who ran away from home because his father did not leave him a gold watch he had been promised, has just ended. The boy, Alexander Adamson, fled from near Edinburgh, Scotland, to Argentina where, as a cattle rancher, he amassed nearly $2,000,000. He died intestate aged 84, seven years ago. A firm of Edinburgh attorneys conducted the search for the heirs, and as a result of their efforts the Argentine government has just awarded the fortune to two men in Argentina who have satisfied the government that they are the sons of the Scotsman.

Shetlands Get Radiophone.

Tinkle of the radiophone was heard for the first time recently in the Shetland Islands off the coast of Scotland, when the Provost of Kirkwall Orkney Islands, telephoned a message of congratulation to Shetland from the radio station in Kirkwall through a new radio beacon which has been erected at Samburg, Shetland.

She Scores Hole in Nothing.

Driving from the first tee at Albert Park Golf Club, Melbourne, Australia, Mrs. A. M. Ferguson, holed in one. Her partner, Mrs. Arnott, struck the flag with her tee shot, then tapped in a four-inch putt. As each player received a stroke at this hole, Mrs. Ferguson holed out in nothing, and Mrs. Arnott in one.

Glider Towed 2500 Miles.

To arouse interest in glider aviation, a German glider, manned by a well-known Osaka pilot, is touring Japan. It is being towed by an airplane and is covering 2,500 miles in its flight, which touches all large and many small cities. The glider is practically identical with the one used by Wolf Hirth, the German master pilot, who coached Japanese glider men last year. It is the best machine of the kind in the country except that owned by army air forces.

Television Funds Needed.

Although all plans for launching television service from London in October have been made by the British Broadcasting Corporation, more funds may be needed. Official regular three-hour daily programs will begin at that time. A television staff of 100 has been appointed and are working in Alexander Palace, new home of the project. "Our plans for television are complete," said a B.B.C. official, "but no one can say what expenditures will be necessary for launching and maintaining the new service. Already the $900,000 named the Television Committee has been exceeded. Program expenditure must be extra."

Giraffe Puzzle Solved.

Add to the many problems besetting the railroads the one now facing the Kenya-Uganda Railway in South Africa. Bridges are not high enough to allow giraffes to pass underneath. If the business of supplying birds to the zoos of the world is going to grow, it seems that the giraffes will have to walk to Mombasa. Recently six were created and sailed. The journey was uneventful until the train approached a bridge. The engineer moved forward foot by foot, but the giraffes' necks were too long. Finally, the animals were unloaded, the crates were carried past the bridge and reloaded on the next train.

Parrot Rivals Mary's Lamb.

Mary's little lamb has a rival in "Cocky," a parrot which every day escorts the Russell children to school from their farmstead home in Warwick, New South Wales. Having seen them safely inside the school gates, he flies home again. First, however, Cocky escorts an older boy, Stan, to the station to catch his train to his job. Then he returns for his trip to school. Whenever a car approaches he perches on the shoulder of one of the children in a protecting attitude. Cocky is the boss of the animals and birds in the neighborhood, and permits no impudence from dog, cat, or fowl. None dare approach his beating wings or his beak.

Barbarous Baptism Revived.

Two half-moon scares were cut on the cheeks of a baby during the revival of the Turangian faith, a Hungarian heathen religion, near Oroshaza, Hungary. The marking of the infant was performed at sunrise by the shaman (priest) who is Dr. Eles, a local lawyer. The father of the child thus scarred for life by this pagan baptism is wealthy Andrew Janko. Before dawn several hundred men in Sunday clothes, and women in white dresses, assembled on a low hill. As the sun appeared over the horizon, the priests, in fantastic dresses, set fires and a blood-red flag decorated with a golden sun, was hoisted. Hymns were sung in honor of the sun, the deity of this cult. The idea of cuts in a child's face dates from the days when it was necessary to terrorize one's enemies.

Temperance Table Talks

By UNCLE JOHN

(Sponsored by the Social Service Council of the Temperance Alliance)

HAVE COURAGE TO SAY—NO!

This will be my last talk for two or three months. I am going into "summer quarters" until October, but before I go, I want to leave with you the refrain of a hymn that might well be sung again and again these days until it became a slogan—"Have Courage, My Boy, to say NO!" Note that it says "My boy," but it is a strange commentary on our advanced (?) civilization that in these days we need to sing with real earnestness, "Have Courage, My Girl, to say NO!"

Let me tell you a story I came across the other day. It is a business man's story of how several years ago he was a travelling salesman employed by a large firm whose late salesman in this same territory had been both popular and successful. As a new man he felt he had quite a record to match, and it was up to him to make good. He stopped at his first town, a bit away from Toronto, and called on two of his firm's most regular customers, inviting them over to see his goods. One of them called into the sample room, and after a little chat about the weather and other casual things gave him an order for a small bill of goods. The second came in, talked about everything else but business, and at last blurted out, "Say, young man, aren't you going to 'wet' our first business transaction like your predecessor always did?" The new salesman courteously replied that he did not drink himself and did not care to purchase liquor for others. Up jumped his would-be customer and went out, banging the door behind him. This looked like a bit of a failure for himself as a business getter—so mused the young man. "Alright, he wasn't going to use liquor for any business consideration! He quietly packed up his trunks, did his honors to the dining room, and prepared to leave town. Before going to the train he called around to say good-bye to his two unprofitable customers.

"Do you mean to say you are leaving town without selling me a bill of goods? What will your firm say to that?" That was a poser, and it came from the man who banged the door of the sample room. "I cannot help what the firm may say," replied the young man. "If I cannot sell you goods on their merits, I will quit the job." "Go back to your hotel, young man, and open up your cases," said the man who banged the door. The result was the largest order the merchant had ever given the firm. The salesman of that day is a highly respected and successful Toronto manufacturer of this. He had other tiffs, of course, with other merchants, but he was firm and was able to gradually release himself from the slavery of liquor, so far as he was concerned. Now, young man, don't you see that man who offers you a drink will really respect you far more if you do not take it than if you do. It is always true. Don't you be afraid "Have courage my boy to say—NO!"

THE POPULAR TEA OF THE FUTURE

The blenders of Morse's Selected Orange Pekoe Tea believe that this is the popular tea of the future. As its choice flavour and really economical quality become known it is used by a wider circle of tea drinkers. The price is thirty-five cents the half pound package, but at that is economical as cheaper blends because of its superior strength and spending qualities.

Perpetual Motion Clock.

A "perpetual motion" clock has been invented, no batteries, no magnet, yet it runs. It is activated by change of temperature. A variation of only one degree in the temperature is enough to keep the clock going for 120 hours, and it is so sensitive that it varies less than a minute in a year in the accuracy of its time.

College Professors Investigate.

Extensive geological surveys are being made this summer in Newfoundland. The island has been divided into geological areas, and formations containing nickel, marble, gypsum, coal and copper are being explored. The work is being carried on under government direction, but the investigators are professors and students from American colleges.

INCREASED USE CANADIAN TIMBER

Plans are under way in Britain for the use of Empire-grown timber for railway ties following an investigation which was commenced some time ago and for the purposes of which two experts representing British railways made a tour of eastern and western Canada. The London, Midland and Scottish Railway has been purchasing a considerable quantity of hemlock ties from British Columbia for experimental purposes and Douglas fir ties from that province are being used in increasing quantities. In 1934 fourteen per cent of the ties and crossing timber purchased by this railway came from British Columbia while last year the quantity amounted to 49 per cent.

Mourning Turns to Joy.

Somewhere the good book says "And their sorrow shall be turned to joy." This old truth is being given another significance in Addis Ababa. There the women who ordinarily wear only white are seen in pinks, blues and yellows, their form of mourning for dead soldiers and dead hopes. The "foreigners" in the midst welcome the change. Their gladness at the change in scenery is caught somewhat even by those who mourn and their mourning is thus turned into joy.

CLASSIFIED

GONE AWAY

IN MEMORY of my mother, who died July 13, 1925.

A short but happy life was meant for her, who was so content. The loveliest rose perfumes the way. Then dies, in one brief summer day.

She lay so still, and all the while so lovely, alone, as if that same quiet smile.

Would light that same dear face. And white hands, moved with old time grace.

Though that of her brings starting tears.

Yet, she is free from doubt and fears. Her going but left us more aware. How thin is the veil between Here and There.

E. Ruth Britton.

LEAVES ON VIMY PILGRIMAGE

Gerald Syds left Digby on Tuesday to join the Pilgrimage to Vimy, and will be the representative of the town of Digby and the Digby Legion at the unveiling of the Canadian Memorial at Vimy Ridge. He takes with him a letter of introduction to the Honorable Burgomaster, Mons, Belgium, as follows:—

13 July 1936

The Honourable
The Burgomaster
Mons, Belgium.
Honoured Sir:—

This will introduce Sergeant Gerald Syds, of Digby, Nova Scotia, Canada, who is conveying greetings from his comrades—many of whom were with soldierly pride the valued "Mons Star".

He and thousands of other patriots responded to the call which the Mother-Land sent out in 1914, when your own loved country was invaded by a foreign foe. They crossed the Atlantic and after preparation many of them took their positions amongst those of British nationality who were fighting their faith with Belgium, and in those four terrible years they fought on your behalf—many of them being wounded, and many, very many left their bones on your national soil. Mr. Syds was several times wounded, but providentially escaped death and returned to his native Canada.

He is now in Civil Service and chosen by the Town and his comrades to make the Pilgrimage to the battlefields of Flanders and to take part in the ceremony of dedicating Canada's Memorial to her Dead, and he is worthy to participate in the honourable service.

The citizens of Digby rejoice that your beloved Digby is now free from the invader and trust that it will ever maintain its National Integrity and be allowed to live in peace.

The members of the British Empire Service League—who have vivid memories of your battle-fields—particularly desire to felicitate you and your country at this time, and on their behalf and of the citizens of Digby the undersigned gladly append their names.

Major M. C. Denton
Past President of No. 20 Branch, B. E. S. L. and Mayor of the Town of Digby.

Alfred Boden
Member of Branch No. 20, B. E. S. L. Town Clerk of the Town of Digby.

BACK TO VIMY

(By a Member of the Digby Legion)

Back to Vimy; not by Khaki.
Not to face a silent foe.
Not to wallow in the trenches.
As they did once long ago.
Not to grope twist tangled wires.
Up a hillside fraught with hell.
Fighting, bleeding, pressing forward.
Facing bayonet, shot and shell.

Back to Vimy, buck you soldiers.
Back to where your comrades died.
Gave their all for King and Country.
Ere they turned the battle tide.
Back where rows of wooden crosses
Mark the shabby tale.
And the crimson poppies flutter.
As the summer breezes wail.

Back to Vimy, where in thousands.
With their memories alone.
Men will stand in thoughtful silence
At a monument of stone.
Built by a grateful country.
A tribute to its dead.
That their name might be remembered
Down the years that lie ahead.

HOSPITAL FAIR

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 19

Local and General

Making Progress in Paving.

Splendid progress is being made on the highway paving work in the lower end of the country, principally in the Clare section. There are some 17 miles of continuous paved highway through that section of the county. Beginning just the other side of Meteghan the pavement is now down as far as St. Bernard. From St. Bernard there is (or was on Saturday) a short stretch of unpaved road, which, we understand, will be paved immediately. At Weymouth paving begins again, and the work of preparation is going on above that village. The paving from Meteghan to Saint-Nicolas church was done last fall; the rest—and greater part of the work—has all been completed since spring.

Among the arrivals at Harbor View at Smith's Cove last week were Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Nisbitt, of Irvington, N. Y., who have been summer visitors for a great many years, both at the Cove and in Digby. It is noted that Miss Nisbitt is a movie maker, which makes three amateurs among our summer friends: Mr. Little, whose pictures we have all seen; Mr. Leighton, who is right now making his "porridge film" and now Mrs. Nisbitt. We hope we may see her pictures some time soon.

Showing Good Pictures.

Mr. Walker is to be complimented on the splendid pictures he has been showing in the Bijou Theatre these days. Evidence that they are appreciated by local audiences is seen by the large crowds that have been attending at recent shows. It has not been unusual for the theatre to be filled to capacity for the two shows each evening, and we understand that on more than one occasion large numbers have been turned away. One has to be among the early arrivals to get a seat these days.

Trinity Garden Party.

The Trinity Church Garden Party and Sale will be held on the Rectory grounds on the afternoon of Wednesday, August 5th. Don't forget the date.

On Tuesday last the Missionary Aid of the Central Grove Baptist church met at the home of Mrs. Frank Delaney, in that village. The annual election of officers was held and an interesting feature was the unanimous re-election of the treasurer, Mrs. Frank Delaney, who has held that office ever since the Aid was formed 29 years ago. Mrs. Melvin T. Bert was made a life member. The Aid are life members. After the meeting delightful refreshments were served.

Two Cars in Crash.

Two cars were involved in a crash at the crest of the town hill, near the Digby General Hospital, Sunday evening, and although both were damaged, none of the occupants of either car were injured. The accident occurred when the car occupied by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Faust and Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Dickie, all of Digby, was returning to town and was struck by a car operated by Herbert Hicks of Bridgetown. It is alleged that Mr. Hicks, who was leaving Digby, swung out too far in endeavoring to pass others in the hill. Both automobiles had their front end and front wheels torn off, and the Faust car also sustained a broken front axle.

Band Tag Day, Saturday, August 1st.

Cherry Carnival a Success

Cherry Carnival Day at Bear River, Wednesday, was one of the most successful in the long history of this event, one of the oldest of Nova Scotia's annual celebrations. The crowds that flocked to this beautiful town among the hills, famed far and wide for its luscious cherries, were larger than those seen in many a day, and outnumbered last year's attendance, thought then to be the largest in years, by many hundreds. The attendance was well in excess of 4,000.

It was feared for a time that the weather would be against the 1936 Carnival, but, instead, the rains of Tuesday night settled the dust for the countless automobiles that wended their ways up and down the river—and apparently the overcast weather of the morning failed to keep many from the town, for, long before time for the parade, the streets were thronged with visitors.

Every preparation for the best carnival on record had been made. The time of the carnival was chosen at the season when Bear River's famous cherries could be had in abundance. In the centre of the town a dining hall, with a seating capacity of some 400 was conducted by the ladies. The tables, well filled at meal hours, were tastefully decorated with cut flowers.

A mammoth street parade, over half a mile in length, was the first event on the day's programme. In this procession were many beautifully decorated floats and cars, all of which represented many hours work by their sponsors. The parade, headed by the Digby Civic Band, passed the bandstand where it was reviewed by the judges. The prize for the best decorated car was awarded to the Ladies' Aid of the Bear River United Church, their car was decorated to represent the Society's Quilting Party; the second prize in this class went to a car decorated to represent the radio "Bill Billies."

In the floats Eber Peck captured first prize. Mr. Peck, who is one of the best known woodmen and athletes of Canada and the United States, had his float trimmed to represent the Nova Scotia Guide's Meet at Lake William, C. Chisholm, with his float, "The Old Rugged Cross," captured the second prize in this class.

A special prize for horseback riders was awarded, to be divided between Mrs. Harry Benson and Miss Edith Benson.

The proceeds of the Carnival were for the benefit of the Bear River Fire Department, and were realized chiefly through a tag day. The amount raised has not as yet been made known. An amateur play "The Dutch Detective" staged in the evening in Oakdene Hall, helped to swell the funds.

Land and water sports went off like clockwork, and the sports committee is to be congratulated for their efficiency. The prize list for the land sports is as follows:

BAPTIST CHURCH HOLDS ANNI-VERSARY SERVICE

Special morning and evening services Sunday marked the 50th anniversary of the dedication of the present Digby United Baptist Church. Guest speaker at both services was Rev. H. T. DeWolfe, of the Theological Department, Acadia University. Special music by the choir was also featured.

At the evening service, Rev. T. B. MacDormand, of the Baptist Church, Amherst, occupied the pulpit with Mr. DeWolfe and Rev. A. G. Robertson, pastor of the church. At this service Mr. MacDormand offered prayer.

For the evening service Mr. DeWolfe chose the words, "Jesus met them" from the 28th chapter and 9th verse of the Gospel of St. Matthew, emphasizing in his sermon that Jesus Christ was inevitable—He must be received or rejected. Salvation does not come to us through what we believe, or through reading about the Christ, but through following as near as possible the example set by Christ.

OLD TIME SUNDAYS

Discussing the present day Sundays the Stratford, Ont., Beacon remarks that Sunday used to be a quiet day. People used to reckon they would not have to get up quite so early as they did on other days; they slept a little longer in the morning and felt better for it. Why, actually, they used to say they were catching upon a little of the sleep they had lost during the week.

Then breakfast on Sunday morning was a trifle different. It was a leisurely sort of function; no person was in a hurry to get to the shop or office; the children did not have to be off for school before nine o'clock. The only need was to get things cleared away in time to be off for church around 11 o'clock.

The afternoons and evenings were somewhat the same. Many times that old custom was brought into practice of having some one in for supper on Sunday; then, too, they used to drop in after church on Sunday night. No rush about it—a pleasant sort of day that seemed quite different from the others that had run on before it and those which were to follow. We imagine there was spiritual and physical benefit in that sort of day.

But it's different now. To know that, all that is necessary is to read the papers on Monday. We find that in many places there men whose business is to drive the ambulances have had a very busy time on Sunday; they have been requested to hurry out and bring in some people who have been badly hurt in an auto wreck.

"KINGDOM OF THE AIR"

"Empire is to be carved this summer," says William Clemmens in the Cosmopolitan. "In London, Washington, Paris, Berlin, groups of frock-coated gentlemen will sit around mahogany tables and mete out national shares in transatlantic commercial aviation. They will be mapping the new world of the air, the trade world of the future."

"What they decide, the way these suave gentlemen partition access to the Atlantic airways will constitute a landmark which to historians of the future may be as significant as the congress of Vienna."

"Dominion of the North Atlantic sky," as the chancellories of the world know, will secure to its holders the imperial power and greatness of the latter twentieth century. The Real Age of Air may well date from such coming conferences."

Too bad for him that Alexander lived so soon. He craved worlds to conquer.

YOUR CAR AND PHYSICS

What happens when you drive your car at 50 or 60 miles an hour is detailed in Harper's Magazine for July, and if you figure that you are a careful driver and can get away with speed, Curtis Billings' article will be a revelation.

Quoting Prof. R. A. Moyer of Iowa State College, Mr. Billings shows how every driver is at the mercy of physical laws over which his control diminishes as his speed increases.

"A driver," he points out, "is entirely dependent on the fractional resistance of the tires on the road, and if this resistance is reduced suddenly his car will go into a skid."

A bump in the road may be sufficient. And it doesn't need to be a big bump.

At high speed a surface roughness so slight as to be undetected by the naked eye may bring a crash. Malcolm Campbell found Daytona Beach, one of the smoothest surfaces in the world, too rough at a speed of 300 miles an hour.

Or take a car on a curve. It is the object of opposing forces—centrifugal, sidethrust friction and the pull of gravity if the curve is banked. "Although few drivers realize it, when taking a curve at a high rate of speed the wheels are always out of line with the direction of travel and so the car really slips or slides 'round the curve at an angle. . . . This 'slip angle' may be so large that the rear of the car is several feet farther out on the curve than the front end. The greater the speed the greater the slip angle must be, because the friction required to hold the car on the road increases as the square of the speed."

Given high speed, a wide slip angle plus an unseen irregularity in the surface of the road, and the next thing that may dawn on your consciousness is the music of golden harps.

An illiterate who could not read warning signs along the highway would be barred off the road.

Yet the streets are filled with drivers equally illiterate where the physics of automobile traction are concerned and who are hourly endangering their own lives and the lives of their passengers.

Mr. Billings' illuminating contribution suggests the time may come when nobody will be permitted to take a steering wheel until he has been schooled in the physical forces upon which life may depend.

Water Costs Penny a Bucket.

"A water famine" is reported in Epworth, an agricultural district near Doncaster, England. Water is being sold from house to house at a cent a bucket. Arrangements for an emergency supply from the Doncaster and Tickhill Water Board's Work at Austersfield, 15 miles away, have been made.

Natives Fear Police Change.

To allay the fears of natives regarding the change of policing of Durban, South Africa, from municipal to state police, men city officials had a strenuous task. Agitators had spread the word that native women would have to carry passes and show them upon demand, and both men and women were in a warlike mood. Denial of the pass plan was spread by friendly natives and all native preachers were summoned by Deputy Mayor C. H. Scott and asked to counter their congregations in their sermons that no law-abiding citizen had anything to fear.

COUNTY COURT

The summer term of the County Court opened in the Annapolis Royal Court House on Tuesday of last week, with three cases on the docket for trial. In the first case, B. Verge vs. Merle Rawding, the plaintiff claimed damages to his automobile as a result of an accident with Rawding's car. The case occupied all day and was tried with a jury, which after deliberating for over two hours and having returned twice for instructions in that time, returned a verdict for the plaintiff, for $292.85, together with the costs of action. Solicitor for plaintiff, Kenneth S. Smith; for defendant, Daniel Owen.

On the following day two cases were heard, Hankinson vs. Lewis and Hankinson vs. Daniels, judgment being given for plaintiff in both cases.

MOTHERS AND/OR SHORTS

In recent years "shorts" seem to have established their brevities in otherwise circumspect families. Some mothers approve of their daughters appearing in such costume, others do not. The warm days of June are placing on our heavily-laden postman sundry questionnaires. Which ever deck your Women's Editor decides to plant her Triple A that shoe is surely destined to be scorched. But we never cared to sit on both sides of a fence so here we stand.

If the flies and the mosquitoes don't eat your little girls legs until they resemble a case of measles, or shingles, or what have you—though we believe shingles usually encircle the waist, and measles incline to the face, but as to the habits of these several pests and their favorite locale we confess ourselves not well versed—Therefore, returning to flies and mosquitoes, of which insects we know too much, and to your innocents, we can see no reason why these youngsters, minus war anklets or sandals, minus hosiery, if you so decide, it does seem foolish for mothers to freeze their children by neglecting to cover their legs and knees in the winter. Surely later years will collect from the children via rheumatic routes for such folly. But extremely high-water skirts, which consist of a ruffle below the waist, are not to be approved, for your little 4 and 5 year olders. Protect your innocent ones by early habits of modesty in dress and actions. Innocent boldness in tender years, through habit, may become conscious boldness a little later on.

Girls who are developing, whose legs are rounding, and who are at least semi-conscious that they are growing into women, (and it is well to remember these contours appear as early as 8 and 10 years in some children), should not be encouraged in wearing extremely short dresses and anklets.

We think it atrocious taste to see girls 12, 14, 16, parading in shorts. Yet one does witness the spectacle in glaring sunlight, on the streets, in residence neighborhoods. Usually a tennis racket, or other sport impediment, will proclaim the maiden is out for pleasure and exercise. But really one can't call such costume modest. And parents, and others who have the young under their care, should permit their common sense and Christian decency to guide them in directing the dress of their adolescent daughters. These older ones should also realize that such parading of the physical is not beneficial to their young sons and no aid to grown-up men.

If girls are taught modesty in early childhood they will have more reserve in adolescence and young womanhood. Clean thinking and virginal reserve—modesty in action—protect your youth, preserve virtue.

The nudist movement is not backward in our own country. It is important for parents to see that their daughters are not caught by its less notorious expressions. Catholics should not follow the standards set by the world. It is their duty to correct such false standards. The best method is that of good example.—Our Sunday Visitor.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Cunningham, Miss Jessie Cunningham and Miss Helen Cochrane left on Monday for a short vacation in Halifax.

Marriages

Banks - Banks

On Saturday, July 11, a quiet but pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Banks, Clementsport, when their daughter, Mildred Viola, became the bride of Charles Anthony Banks, son of Mrs. and the late Alonzo Banks, of Kingston. The ceremony, which was performed by Rev. F. Howard of Clementsvalle, took place on the lawn beneath an arch of evergreen and pink and white roses. The bride was attired in azure blue silk crepe and carried a bouquet of pink roses and maiden-hair fern. Miss Lennie J. Banks, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, wearing yellow silk crepe. Little Marjorie Lyne, niece of the bride, was flower girl, dressed in dainty pink carrying a basket of pink and white roses. Aubrey A. Durling, of Lawrence town, was best man. The ceremony was followed by a reception at which the bride received many nice gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Banks will reside in Kingston.

Women Attacked by Owl

Swooping like a vampire, an owl which frequents the tombstones in the cemetery in Aldershot, England, has been attacking men and women. It has set upon many walking on Cemetery Hill, a lonely road fringing the large burial grounds. Albert Waken, who was attacked by the bird, said that many women are now afraid to pass the spot at night. R. H. Diment reported that the owl flew down and gave him a terrible blow on the back of his neck, blood from the wound covering his shirt and collar.

TOURISTS LIKE MORSE'S TEAS

One thing that tourists find distinctive about the Maritimes is the fact that Maritime people are great tea lovers. They are not surprised at that when they are served Morse's Selected Orange Pekoe tea or Morse's Fine Darjeeling at hotel or restaurant. They are at once captivated by the flavour of these superior quality teas. They may find the suggestion worth while to take a quantity of one or the other of these famous blends home with them as part of that hundred dollars' worth of goods they are allowed to take back to the States with them free of duty. Many tourists in past years have done this very thing and it is not uncommon for tourists who have tasted Morse's Teas while here to write back for quantities after their return home.

Trial By Jury.

A Japanese jury has acquitted a man for the first time in the history of the country. He is Tamejiro Umehara, an Osaka shop-keeper, who was being tried on a charge of arson. Though trial by jury was instituted in Japan six years ago, prisoners usually elect to be tried by a judge. There has been only about a dozen trials by jury, and at each of them the prisoner has been convicted. In the case of Umehara the Kobe police presented a signed confession, but Umehara's counsel repudiated it on the ground that it was exacted by "Third Degree" methods. The Court heard 22 witnesses, and states Reuter, apparently disregarding certain police evidence, the jury brought in their verdict of not guilty. Holding the case to be against the weight of evidence, the presiding judge refused to release the prisoner, and adjourned the trial until the legality of the verdict has been decided.

Escaping Death.

Sirani, the world-famous escapologist, claims that ever since he was eleven he has been escaping death for a living. He claims that he has jumped in a strait jacket into the shark-infested river at Brisbane, Australia, chewed and swallowed glass tumblers as a twice nightly variety turn, performed tricks of magic before audiences in London, natives in the wilds of Africa, and troops way up on the Khyber Pass. Houdini was the cause of it all. He became his apprentice in South Africa at the age of eleven. He was fascinated by his magic and determined to become an escapologist.

Mrs. L. Dillman, of Halifax, visited friends in town this week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Harris, of Fredericton, are spending their vacation at the home of Mr. Harris' parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Harris.

The Misses Violet and Elsie Rawding entertained a number of their friends at a private dance at their summer cabin at Sandy Bottom Lake, on Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Audrey Hardwick, who have been visiting Mrs. Hardwick's parents, returned home on Saturday. Their oldest daughter, Evelyn, will remain for the summer.

Town Manager James Rippey, of Windsor, and his two small sons, arrived in town on Monday and will spend a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rippey.

Australia May Make Planes.

The necessity for Australia to manufacture its own aircraft in view of the feverish speed at which the air forces of the Great Powers are being strengthened, was stressed by Minister of Defense Parkhill in Canberra in reply to a deputation from the Australian Air League. Parkhill said that programs for expansion of air armaments were moving so rapidly that it was difficult to secure reliable data of present strengths. The deputation asked for a subsidy of $50,000 for the extension of the work of the league. It was urged that education of the youth of Australia in aviation was most valuable as a defense move.

Letter to the Editor

Editor of the Courier.

Sir:-- I have been asked by American visitors and others how the Digby bandmen induced such a noted organization as the 110th Cavalry Band to visit Digby. The story is simple. Last summer, Director Whiting, accompanied by his assistant, Director Powell, and Secretary
Vidotto, made his first visit to Nova Scotia and became infatuated with its climate and scenery. Stopping in Digby a few hours, he was invited to conduct one of our open-air concerts, where his mastery musicianship was instantly recognized. At the same time the boys of our young
Band won his keen friendly interest.
Last September, at his invitation, I heard the splendid work of his Band at rehearsal in Commercial Avenue, Boston, meeting all his players and talking Nova Scotia for hours.
One player is a native of the province, while three are married to Nova Scotia girls. All the above people are enthusiastic boosters for Nova Scotia and the entire Band has caught the fever. When the matter of a week-end vacation in Digby was mentioned it seemed like a fantastic notion, but long correspondence has resulted in the present arrangement-- they come as guests of our Band, and I am sure will be treated as guests of the entire town.

They arrive in Digby Saturday morning, remaining until Monday afternoon (see advertisements as to concerts), bringing their own tents and cars.

Transportation expenses will be about $500, part of which will be paid by the Digby boys, who will also provide meals at various hotels. With the large crowds expected, tag sales and contributions should cover our own expenses, and enable us to help out with theirs to the extent of $100 while leaving an equal sum for our own depleted treasury, which will be greatly in need of it. We are not able to guarantee any definite sum.
Besides giving a very rare musical treat to everybody, the Digby Band boys will receive incalculable benefits from close contact with eminent musicians and personal friendship with gentlemen of their class. We respectfully solicit your generous cooperation in making this a memorable event for our guests and ourselves.
Yours truly,

Paul Yates,

Director Digby Bands.
P. S.--When the Boston Symphony Ensemble made its first appearance in Annapolis Royal, several years ago, a few of us had to provide a cash guarantee of $450 for one concert-- and we came out even.

100,000 Build New Road.

With the laying of the last rail of the new north to south railway in China, there was completed one of the largest manpower construction jobs of this generation. The line links Calais, France and Hong Kong, China. An army of 100,000 coolies was employed, and the railway has been built over the South Mountains dividing the provinces of Hunan and Kwang-tung. The biggest of all was to carry the line across the River Lei. A bridge of 1,280 feet has been built, its 11 piers consisting of 851 concrete and 600 Oregon pine piles, brought by boat with the superstructure from Chuchow. This bridge has been almost entirely placed in position by manpower. With a north south railway and west-east water-ways China's communications will soon be knit together effectively.

Ideas for Memorial Unique.

Several hundred suggestions for a King George Memorial have been received by the Lord Mayor of London, and he and the King George Memorial Fund is considering them. Among them are: re-naming Trafalgar Square King George Square, removing Nelson's Column and the lions to Tower Hill, erecting statues of King George and his four sons, and placing the Cenotaph in the center of the Square are some. A flood lit Mausoleum in Hyde Park is another. The erection of a colossal flood-lit statue on the cliffs of England, near Lee-on-Solent, similar to the Statue of Liberty in New York, visible at sea for 20 miles, is still another.

Old Art Treasures Found.

Several valuable art treasures have been found in dusty, neglected rooms in the Forbidden
City of China; according to a report of the director of the Palance Museum in Peking. The finds include scrolls of paintings of horses by Castiglione, Chu and Han bronze and manuscripts and specimens of beautiful Chinese handwriting by a number of Fang and Sung masters, including Liu Kung-Chuan and Chao Sung-Shueh. The report was issued the day after the Ranpura with all the priceless art treasures which were shown at the Chinese Exhibition in London, arrived back safely at Shanghai.
They were dispatched by an armed train with military escort to Nankin.

Cocoons Sent U. S. Pupils.

To further cement the ties of friendship between the United States and Japan, children of 270 schools in Kanagawa Prefecture of Japan have sent 510 silk cocoons as a gift to school children of America. The presentation ceremony was held in the Memorial Hall in Yokohama. It was attended by several hundred Japanese children, a group of American school boys and girls, teachers, officials of the prefectural and municipal governments, representatives of the Home Office, the Foreign Office, and the American consul, Richard F. Boyce, who made a speech on behalf of the school children of the United States. Following the playing of the National Anthem of Japan and the United States, a report was made outlining the origin and purpose of the gift, after which the presentation of a glass jar, containing the cocoons, was made.

Can't Depend On Dobbin.
Sam Riegher, of Philadelphia, returned home last week after spending a few days here. He tells an amusing story of his experiences. He is fond of horseback riding and while here engaged one of the few horses sill on hire, and undertook to ride to Annapolis. Our horses are accustomed to travelling perhaps eight or ten miles but when it comes to riding--he had to go to the horse him to Annapolis all right, and part of the way home. Then it came out that Mr. Riegher had to walk the last twelve miles leading his steed, but he says, "I expected to have to carry it on my back before reaching town."

Bank—Gidney

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin B. Gidney, of Mink Cove, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Saturday evening last, when their eldest daughter, Edythe Vroom, was joined in holy wedlock to Stanley E. Banks, of West Ingleville. Rev. Mr. Brown, pastor of the United Church at Sandy Cove, officiated. The bride, beautifully attired in white and carrying a bouquet of white and pink roses, entered the room on the arm of her father and took her place under an arch which was trimmed with green leaves and white roses. The bride and groom were unattended. After the ceremony refreshments were served. They were the recipients of many lovely gifts. On Sunday afternoon the young couple departed for their future home in West Ingleville.

Notice—Cars please detour to First Avenue Saturday and Sunday nights. Street closed at Band Stand.

Open-Air Band Concerts.

The town council has arranged for four open-air concerts during August by the Digby Civic Band, to be played at the Pavilion as usual every Thursday night. This young band now ranks with the best in the province, and their programmes present a carefully chosen variety of interesting material.

It Will Be Good Publicity.

In Boston Mr. Whiting's Cavalry Band receives $275 for each engagement—plus travelling expenses. Digby's two concerts would cost $550 at that rate, but this great band has paid the highest possible compliment to Digby's band and to Digby's vacation attractions by coming as our guests, meeting their own travelling expenses, and leaving it to our generosity to voluntarily contribute toward covering their outlay. Let us see to it that they become a "Digby Boosters' Club," on their return to Boston.

Hospital Aid Today.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Hospital Aid Society will be held in the Court House this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Did Not Stop, Costs $5

Six persons, who have appeared before local magistrates in the town and country during the past week were fined $5 and costs for not stopping at "Stop" signs placed at highway intersections. Town police and R. C. M. P. are keeping a close watch for violation of that sort.

Digby Bandsmen in Yarmouth.

Three Digby bandsmen have been engaged for the entire week at Yarmouth's big celebration and are playing daily with Stanwood's "Citizens' Band," where they have made a decided hit with the older players by their excellent work. They are Churchill Turnbull, Ross Turnbull and Glenn Bailey.

Celebrated Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Lent, of Weymouth North, celebrated their twentieth wedding anniversary on Tuesday. In the evening they entertained a number of their friends at a delightful social evening. At the close of which refreshments were served. They were the recipients of a number of pretty and useful gifts of china.

Another New School.

The little school house at Conway which has for many years been the school home for the colored children of Acaciaville and Conway, was torn down this week and the foundation is being laid for a modern school building 24 by 34 feet, to be built lengthwise to the street. Wilson Francis has the work in charge, and it is expected the school will be ready for the coming term.

Helping the Band.

The Digby Band is extremely fortunate in having as its warm friend and ardent supporter, a prominent member of Digby's summer colony in the person of Dr. Channing Lefebvre, organist of Trinity Church, New York City. Dr. Lefebvre is giving valuable time in helping the boys meet the heavy expenses of the concert this week-end by Boston's fine 110th Cavalry Band.

V. O. N. Garden Party.

A very successful garden party was held on Thursday of last week, on the beautiful grounds at Capt. George Morrell's residence. Delicious dainties were served at afternoon tea, when the tables were set among the beautiful flowers. The sum of $37.70 was realized for the benefit of the Victorian Order of Nurses. The committee extend their thanks to Mrs. Morrell for her kind hospitality, and also to those who assisted.

Marshalltown Home Struck.

The home of I. T. Morgan, in Marshalltown, was struck by lightning at 2.30 o'clock Sunday morning. Mr. Morgan, who was awakened by a loud crash of thunder, feared his barn was struck and got up to investigate. He discovered the roof of his home on fire. Neighbors were summoned and the fire extinguished, but not until after it had burned a hole some 12 feet by eight feet. No other damage was done.

Contract For School Addition Awarded.

The contract for building a two-room addition and auditorium to the Digby Academy, and for installing a hot water heating system in the building has been awarded to M. A. Condon & Son, of Kentville. Work on the addition will commence immediately. Authority for this work was granted at a meeting of the Digby Ratepayers held in the Court House on July 6th, at which time it was unanimously voted to spend $14,500 for this work. Two tenders were received. The tender of M. A. Condon & Son was for $13,980.

Have your Band Tag ready, and KEEP IT IN SIGHT at the concert. It is your only admission ticket.

Warning Re. Mussel Poisoning

Recently two deaths, as well as a few cases of rather severe illness, manifesting poison symptoms, occurred in Digby County, following the consumption of mussels. While shell fish poisoning has been known for a considerable time in Europe and latterly in California, this is the first time, so far as we are aware, that fatalities in humans have been reported from the use of mussels in Nova Scotia.

A study was undertaken in the Department Laboratories to determine if possible whether or not the deaths referred to above were due to poisonous substances contained in the shell fish, and if they were, the nature of the poisons. This investigation has not been completed, nevertheless, experiments carried on to date would indicate that at least some of the mussels gathered from the shores of Digby Neck contain a toxic substance, the exact nature of which is not yet known and further, that this substance is of a very virulent nature.

A search of the literature reveals the fact that shell fish poisoning of a paralytic type has been known for years in Europe. It is separate and distinct from the form affecting people who are sensitive to certain foods and it also differs from the type due to putrefactive changes and contamination of water. In the past century the European literature records something over 100 cases with 24 deaths. In California between 1927 and 1934 more than 200 cases are said to have occurred with fourteen deaths, all between the months of June and September. The most prominent symptoms are tremulous sensation in the extremities, numbness and in some cases, paralysis and death within a few hours.

Although this condition has been known for some time outside of Nova Scotia, its cause is still considerable of a mystery. The poisonous substance has not been definitely isolated, yet it is known to be very active. It is not destroyed by boiling and no neutralizing agent has as yet been discovered. The poison is usually present in the summer months although not necessarily every summer, nor in all the mussels during a season in which it is present, neither is it known in all localities where mussels are abundant. It appears to be concentrated in the digestive gland and in the fluid about the fish.

Protection of the public against this type of poisoning in the light of our present knowledge, is difficult. Just now the best preventive would appear to be education of the people, hence this brief writing on the subject.

I desire therefore to warn the people of the Province generally and of Digby County in particular, against the use of mussels as a food until such time as further research will bring to light more exact information on this obscure phenomenon.

The assistance given the Department by Dr. H. J. Pothier, M. H. O. for Digby Municipality, who forwarded the necessary specimens to the Laboratory, and by Dr. F. E. Rice, of Sandy Cove, who furnished a clinical description of the poison cases, is gratefully acknowledged.

SUFFERING FROM SHOCK OR STROKE

Lapsing into a coma Monday afternoon, Miss Violet Cossett, of Smith's Cove, was admitted to the Digby General Hospital Wednesday, where her condition is considered as serious.

On Sunday morning, during a severe electrical storm, Miss Cossett, who is a daughter of Robt. Cossett, got out of bed to put the window down. At the same instant a vivid flash of lightning appeared to enter the bedroom.

Since then the young lady has suffered severe pains in her right leg. The toes of her right foot have been bent almost double, yet there are no burns to indicate she was struck by lightning. The muscles of her right leg have become badly knotted through spasm. Since passing into coma on Monday she has remained in a semi-conscious condition and her attending physician, Dr. Dickie, thought it wiser to move her to the hospital.

Trinity Church Garden Party will be held on the Rectory grounds, Wednesday, August 5. Tea served from 5 to 7 o'clock. Tea tickets and admission, 50c. Admission alone, 10 cents.

ABOUT QUAAHAUGS

The quahaug is a hard shell clam, which in Canada is taken principally in Prince Edward Island and the north east shore of New Brunswick, but there are some also in Nova Scotia.

Quahaug is an Indian word and the Department of Fisheries tells us that in the old days the aborigines used these hard shells as coinage. So it is not too far fetched to picture a young Micmac brave strutting proudly before the lady of his dreams and rattling the small change in his wallet to show how rich he was in pocket money and well able to support a wife as she should be supported.

The eggs of the quahaugs are minute things, measuring about one-third hundredth part of an inch in diameter. At that they are slightly larger than the eggs of the oyster.

The catch of quahaugs and other clams is over 40,000 barrels in a year and when marketed, either fresh or canned, that popular dish has a value of over $110,000.

These figures are taken from a report issued by the Fisheries Branch of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

PERPETUAL GOVERNOR

For the 17th year in succession Montague Norman, who spent the summer in Digby, at the Pines Hotel, a few years ago, has been elected by his fellow directors of the Bank of England to be its governor.

Norman's permanent position as the head of the most powerful financial institution in the world signifies that he will continue to influence profoundly Europe's financial policies, especially if a world economic conference to deal with monetary stabilization and sharing of raw materials should follow a peace settlement between France and Germany.

Boy Travels Far to Grave.

To fulfill the sacred duty of the Chinese of making a pilgrimage to the grave of a parent, Chong Sheng-Yin travelled thousands of miles to see the rest of the world and has reached Sydney, Australia. Lack of money did not deter the youth, who at the age of 15 set out to work his way from China. He was forced to accomplish his journey in stages, going first to Japan, then to the United States, Columbia and Ecuador, and on to Peru. He next visited Chile, the Argentine, Uruguay, and Brazil; then went to New York and crossed to England, intending to tour Europe and return across Siberia, but the unsettled political situation deterred him and he crossed his way to Java and Australia.

Bees Survive Burial.

After being buried underneath an avalanche since February, two hives full of bees at St. Antonien, in the Swiss Canton of Graubunden, have been brought to life. Melting snows revealed the hives, and the villagers placed the bees in the sunshine to "thaw them out." Within a few hours all the bees had completely recovered and are now flying about busily in search of honey.

Fish Fall From the Sky.

When a Wick, England, man saw several objects fall from the skies to his lawn he was surprised to find that they were small fish, known as sand eels, measuring about five inches in length, and in a fresh condition. It is supposed that the fish were dropped by a seagull, which, having gorged itself with more than it could conveniently carry, had been compelled to jettison some of its cargo.

New Altitude Try Planned.

An attempt to beat the altitude record of 47,000 feet, now held by Italy, is to be made by a British Royal Air Force officer, who does not know he is to be chosen. R. A. F. and Air Ministry officials have not yet picked the man, but the machine is nearing completion in secret at Bristol, England. The man who flies in the stratosphere in an airplane has a fifty-fifty chance of never coming down alive. The choice lies among half a dozen young officers, all of them first-class pilots all in perfect physical condition. They do not know that they are even being considered for the task. It is possible that they will have the option of refusing it when it is offered to them. But none will refuse. Each of them would give everything one possessed to climb into the cockpit of the mysterious new airplane.

Governor Who Sold Papers.

A diminutive, bespectacled woman pushed her way through a row of soldiers and officials to grasp the hand of Governor James Curley, of Massachusetts, at a function at Boston. "Hey, Governor," she called out. "I used to buy papers from you." The Governor, formally attired in silk hat and frock-coat, paused as he was getting out of his car and smiled down on his visitor. "You remember," she went on, "my aunt used to send me out to buy a paper and I always bought it from Jim Curley. You were born the month after me, in November, 1874."

One Man in a Boat.

This month there will leave Sydney a tiny boat, containing a man and a small dog on a 4,000-mile voyage to Adelaide and back. The man will be 25-year-old Gordon J. Doherty, his boat a 16-foot one, while the dog remains to be chosen. Mr. Doherty intends to go as far as Wilson's Islands to Tasmania and on to Adelaide, after circumnavigating the island. The lone voyager thinks that his journey will take him from six to eight months.

Flowers Cause Art Ban.

Because several foreign-made art objects contained decorative motifs which resembled Japanese Imperial crest, they were ordered withdrawn by the police from an exhibition in Nihonbashi, Japan. The design is reported to be similar to the chrysanthemum which appears on the crest. Included were an Italian cake tray, a French stein, a set of hair ornaments and a Japanese ink set. The owners of the objects and interested Japanese were summoned to the police station and compelled to sign an abject apology.

Paint For "Immodesty."

The vexing problem of what to do about women who insist upon wearing "immodest" clothes has been solved by the police of Nanchang, capital of Kiangsi Province. Women found wearing dresses with sleeves shorter than those prescribed in the regulations are taken into custody and their arms painted to the point where the sleeves should end. The police use paint to match the colour of the dress. Nothing has been done about the skirt lengths, however.

Samuel Apt.

There passed away at his home in Waldeck West, Samuel Apt, aged 97 years. Although he has been in poor health for some time he was able to be around until Monday, July 13, when he had a shock which rendered him unconscious. All that medical aid and his hands could do was of no avail and he passed away on Sunday, the 19th. The funeral took place from his late home and was conducted by Rev. T. W. Howard, pastor of the Clementsvalle Baptist church. The hymns sung were "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," "Safe In the Arms of Jesus," and "Asleep In Jesus." He leaves to mourn, besides a sorrowing widow, four sons, Lovitt, Harold, and Kenneth, of Waldeck; and Harry, in Massachusetts; one daughter, Maud (Mrs. Burton Ellis), Digby. The pall bearers were his three sons and son-in-law, and interment was in the family lot at Waldeck.

Makes Fortune, Dies Poor.

After acquiring a fortune in East Africa, a Kenya Indian has just died a poor man in Nairobi at the age of 82. He was A. M. Jeevanjee, a picturesque figure, who dominated the early commercial development of that part of the country. Arriving at Mombasa 38 years ago, Jeevanjee immediately sized up the possibilities of commerce between the coast and the interior, and in the course of a few years built up vast trading organization which netted him a fortune computed at $20,000,000. During the World War, Jeevanjee's assets were rapidly swollen by profitable contracts and he acquired a line of coasting steamers and much land and property in Kenya and Uganda. Ill health and the depression caused him to lose everything.

ANNAPOLIS ROYAL PAVING

Ratepayers of Annapolis Royal on Friday last voted 45 to 10 to go ahead with a $5,000 paving program and 38 to 17 for sidewalk paving.

The paving question was discussed at a public meeting in the Memorial Town Hall Thursday night of last week, which was attended by 30 ratepayers.

The meeting was presided over by Mayor Keisel, who read a letter from Town Manager Wightman, of Kentville, on the subject, and also the questions to be voted on as follows: "Are you in favor of borrowing a sum not to exceed $5,000 for the purpose of hard surfacing St. George Street from the Court House to Drury Lane, Drury Lane to St. Anthony Street; St. Anthony Street to the Annapolis-Granville bridge; Victoria Street from the railway station to St. George Street?" Also: "Are you in favor of borrowing a sum not to exceed $1,000 for the purpose of laying an asphalt covering on the sidewalk on the north side of St. George Street from the overhead railway bridge to the Post Office?"

The first speaker was Councillor C. B. Foster, chairman of the streets committee for four years, who stated that each year the committee found it harder to keep up the surfacing of the town streets, and realizing that something should be done soon, was in favor of paving. H. W. Binning was frankly against the idea of borrowing money and criticized the policy of allowing those who had not paid their taxes the right to vote. George E. Corbett also disapproved of the scheme and commented on the condition of some of the sidewalks. Councillor T. H. Fortier explained the situation, stating that $1,800 was needed annually for the maintenance of the streets at present, and that if the town could maintain roads at cheaper rates, the taxes would not be increased.

An interesting feature of the evening was the address of F. C. Wightman, who gave a detailed description of the process of surfacing the roads, and described his satisfactory experiences in Kentville in regard to the paving situation. Others who took part in the discussion by questions or expressions of opinion were: L. W. Harris, S. G. Parker, Dr. A. B. Crowe, F. M. Dargie, A. W. Banks, Miss G. Robinson and J. E. McCormand.

The Professional Convict.

Sosuke Kakubari, a 51-year-old ex-convict, is in prison at Tokio awaiting with pleasure the prospect of his twelfth conviction. He has sworn that before he is 60 he will have been convicted twenty times and then commit suicide "in a novel way." The strange vow dates from 1898, when he concluded his first prison sentence. Finding it impossible for an ex-convict to get work Sosuke decided he would remain an ex-convict and make his curious vow. Since then he has not looked back. As soon as one sentence is over Sosuke calmly commits an obvious theft, gets arrested and goes back to prison again. He considers this to be an "expression of revolt against an unjust system."

PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES AT WESTPORT

Franklin Delano Roosevelt, the president of the United States, arrived at Westport early Friday evening last. The president, his two sons, and other members of the presidential party had been making a cruise along the south shore of the province. This was King.

his second visit to Westport in twenty-five years. They later sailed for Grand Manan and from there to Campbell, where President Roosevelt had a summer home. From Campbell he will leave for Quebec to meet Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, and the Premier, Hon. MacKenzie.

At Westport the president expressed his thanks to the people of the province of Nova Scotia for the many kindnesses and for the hospitality shown him during his stay in the province.

SNARED IN LILY ROOTS—DROWNED

Caught in the treacherous vine-like root of lily pads while bathing at Flag Lake, Plympton Station, Sunday afternoon, Everett Amaro, 15, was drowned in less than fifteen feet from the shore. Young Amaro was bathing with three companions, Norman Thibault, Edward Amaro and Edward Melanson. He was a short distance from the others and when his legs became caught in the vines he called to the others asking them to get him a pole. They started towards shore and when they turned again in his direction, he had disappeared. They immediately called for help and the cries were answered by Payson Amaro and his brother, Chester. They dove at the spot where the youth had disappeared and succeeded in bringing the body to the surface after some little time.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning from St. Croix church, conducted by Rev. Father Gaudet. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Amaro and is survived, besides his parents, by five brothers, Arthur, William, Gilbert, and Roy, at home, and Cecil, in Weymouth; five sisters, Elsie, Vera, at home; Mrs. Fred Reichers, (Gertrude), Mrs. Clyde Rott, (Margaret), Brooklyn, N. Y., and Mrs. Verna LeBlanc, West Concord.

DEANERY MEETING HELD IN DIGBY

A most interesting and instructive meeting of the Rural Deanery of Annapolis, was held here last week. The Quiet Hour for the clergy was conducted by the Ven. Archdeacon F. W. Vroom, with a consideration of the "Meaning, Character and Importance of Love." At the Deanery service in the evening Rev. C. A. Simpson, of the General Theological Seminary, New York, followed the same line of thought in an impressive sermon based on the words of St. Luke 1:78, 79. "The dayspring from on high visited us, to give light to them that sit in darkness and in the shadow of death, to guide our feet into the way of peace."

Rev. Dr. Kirkus, of Wilmington, Delaware, read a paper entitled, "Episcopacy and Absolute Succession," and Rev. Dr. D. F. Forrester, of the General Theological Seminary, presented a lucid and instructive consideration of I Cor. 7.

His Grace Archbishop Richardson, of Fredericton, and the Rev. Mr. Ebert, engaged in hospital and social service work in the city of New York, were welcome visitors, as was also Ven. Archdeacon A. W. Watson, of Halifax.

HOW TO GET YOUR SEATS FOR THE BAND CONCERT

Extensive preparations have been made to accommodate the crowds expected at the two concerts by the 110th Cavalry Band of Boston, at the Digby Pavilion tomorrow and Sunday evenings, at 8.30 o'clock.

By authority of the Town Council the block surrounding the pavilion will be closed to traffic shortly before the concerts so that the modest admission fee of 25 cents by tag may be collected from everybody who wishes an advantageous place to hear this superb band. In no other way can the Digby bandsmen hope to meet the heavy expenses they incur in presenting this extraordinary entertainment for your enjoyment. No one is likely to object seriously when asked to take the brief detour of one block to First Avenue. Until the parking place is filled, cars will be admitted within the lines, but each passenger must show a 25-cent admission tag. The bleachers used for the Carnival pageant last year will be suitably placed to provide good seating accommodations for almost everybody.

In Case of Rain

The concerts will be held on Long Wharf in the large freight shed made available through the courtesy of the Canadian Pacific Ry. This immense building is well adapted to the purpose with ample accommodations for a big crowd, and seats will be provided as far as possible.

FATHER OF NOTED ACTRESS DIES IN CLEMENTSPORT

Following a brief period of ill-health, Bernard Bara, father of the noted actress, died at his summer home in Clementsport, on Monday morning. His death came as a shock to his daughters and friends, as his passing was entirely unexpected. His daughter, Lori Bara, arrived in Clementsport two or three weeks ago from New York, after hearing that her father was not well.

He was 80 years of age and at one time a designer of clothes in New York City, but had been retired from active business for the last twenty years, ten summers of which he had been in the habit of spending at his summer cottage in Clementsport. He was a well read man and a keen thinker, and capable of conversing upon a wide range of subjects with a keenness of intellect possessed by few men of his advanced age.

He was of Polish extraction and besides his two daughters is survived also by a son, Mark Bara, in business in New York and Chicago.

His body left by Monday's train for Yarmouth from where it left by steamer for Boston, accompanied by Miss Lori Bara. At Boston the remains were met by his son and the funeral took place in that city followed by cremation.

Following the funeral Miss Lori returned to New York to take part in arrangements for an amalgamation between a British screen company she is employed with and an American film company. She is located in London, England.

CROSSES BAY OF FUNDY IN ROW BOAT

Harry F. Phillips, 56, Boston financier and oarsman, sailed from Yarmouth on the steamer Yarmouth, on Friday evening of last week, after a successful crossing of the Bay of Fundy in a 13-foot rowboat. Mr. Phillips, of whom it is said he is the first to row across the Bay in half a century, set out from Jonesport, Maine, on the Friday previous to his sailing from Yarmouth. His trip was some 130 miles in length.

From Jonesport he rowed to Bay Island where he met with Biological students from the Bowdoin College, who were encamped at Kent Island, fifteen miles at sea from Grand Manan. He spent some time with them and early Monday morning set out for Westport. Strong tidal currents caused him to alter his course and run further up the Bay, finally arriving at Tiverton Monday night.

After resting at Tiverton he set out for Meteghan Tuesday afternoon and on Wednesday night started from there for Yarmouth, docking his tiny at that port on Thursday afternoon.

U.S. Bandsmen Give Fine Concert in Digby

The band of the 110th Cavalry of Massachusetts, has been and gone. They arrived on Saturday, via Yarmouth and left again on Monday, but during their brief stay presented four concerts to thousands of people—two in Digby, one in Bear River and one in Annapolis Royal. The band is under the leadership of Chester E. Whiting, W. O. The arrival of this band has been looked forward to for some time. While in Digby they were the guests of the Digby Civic Band and this visit was the outcome of Conductor Whiting's visit to Nova Scotia last summer. While in Digby on that occasion Conductor Whiting directed and conducted one of the Digby Civic Band's open air concerts. Later Conductor Yates, of the Digby Civic Band was Conductor Whiting's guest at a rehearsal at the Commonwealth armory, Boston.

Saturday afternoon the visitors made a trip to Bear River and while there delighted the citizens of that town with a short concert. On Saturday evening crowds from the town and surrounding countryside for miles around came to Digby to listen to the open air concert at the band stand and again on Sunday evening after church. They were also greeted by a large crowd in Annapolis Royal on Sunday afternoon.

At Sunday night's concert Harold A. Nichols, president of the Digby Board of Trade, expressed his appreciation to Warrent Officer Whiting and his musicians, on behalf of the Board of Trade and the citizens generally. Greetings to the mayor and citizens of Digby from Governor Curley, of Massachusetts, were read by Mr. Whiting.

Highlights of the Visit
Smoothest kind of police work by the R. C. M. P. and chief Tibault, with his staff of special men and the firemen—thousands of people handled and hundreds of cars parked in small spaces without the slightest hitch or the least murmur or complaint. Congratulations!

Warm personal interest and unstinted labor on the part of Dr. Lefebvre and his enthusiastic corps of tag vendors obtained splendid cash returns and received unanimous and vociferous—vote of thanks from Digby band-men, to be supplemented by formal recognition from the Music Council. Dr. Lefebvre's name enrolled by the Band as "pre-eminent friend in Need". (Incidentally, this gentleman's cash donation was by far the largest received.) Keen interest and hearty co-operation by young ladies from our summer colonies deserving the highest possible praise!

Thanks to the Municipal Council for co-operation with camping site and facilities of the Court House.

Courtesy of the United Church in loaning extra seats for 100 people much appreciated. Total seating accommodations approximately 1000. Estimated total attendance 5000. Proceeds not yet determined, awaiting settlement of bills.

Smart work by Mr. and Mrs. Guy Dunn in preparing a fine lunch for sixty people on about sixty minutes notice. Bandsmen still wonder how they did it. A most enjoyable "get-together".

Digby bandsmen greatly pepped up by personal contact with more experienced players. Vast deal of helpful information obtained. Digby Bandmaster looks for much improvement in the work of his men. Many warm friendships formed.

Visiting Band-men highly appreciative of cordial reception and warm hospitality of Digby people. Delighted with the place, the climate, and the people. Every man of them wants to come again. Good advertising for Digby and worth all it cost.

Civic Band unable to express its gratitude for magnificent co-operation by entire community. Special help from many mentioned above. Can only say with most sincere appreciation thanks everybody.

COURSE RECORD BROKEN

The amateur course record on the Pines course was broken on Wednesday morning when Richard Berry, of North Hartford, Conn., made the 71 par course in 71. Berry, playing with his father, went out with a 37—two above par. Coming home he started with a 3 on a par 5, and had a birdie on No. 17 which brought him in two under par. This record is as follows:

Par Out	4 3 4 4 3 5 3 5—35
Berry	4 3 5 4 3 5 5 3—47
Par In	5 4 4 4 3 4 3 5—46

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Watch Your Background

The young lady on the right seems to have sprouted wings, or is she about to be seized by birds of prey? These pictures illustrate the importance of observing backgrounds before you shoot.

SOMETIMES we amateur photographers, in trying to catch outdoor "off-guard" pictures of our friends, especially of children, take too little thought of the picture's background. We rush to the most convenient "shooting" point, take a haphazard aim and pull the trigger, as it were, much as if we feared being actually shot ourselves if we did not act quickly.

Too often we find that after all we did not win the skirmish because we discovered when the picture was developed that in our haste we have included in the background some unpleasantly dominating or distracting object, or one so placed in relation to our subject as to create a photographic illusion that makes him look ridiculous. We find the angel face of Baby Ann competing with an over-turned garbage can, or plump Aunt Jaggie seeming to be the pedestal of a flag pole, or we behold Uncle Henry grinning from ear to ear, but what ears! Each has been magnified to donkey-like proportions by the tips of fence pickets.

Such poorly composed pictures we may treasure just the same and say in parody that "It is better to have shot and lost than never to have shot at all," which may be true, but certainly we are not proud of them as examples of our ability to make artistic photographs.

Instead of taking chances with these "off-guard" pictures, it is worth while to stalk the subject until he voluntarily moves to a more aesthetically attractive place, or, if he does not move voluntarily, to entice him there. Even then we should take notice of what is behind him before snapping the picture, lest we include some large object that will distract attention or otherwise spoil the composition.

Of course, if it is to be a picture of a person engaged in some characteristic activity, objects that pertain to the activity properly belong in the picture, but to take a picture, for example, of a dainty maiden gathering flowers in the garden against a background of the family wash hanging on the line is not artistic composition. Let us take pains to exercise all the artistic judgment we possess in keeping our pictures free of the incongruous.

Weddings

Comeau - Saulnier

A very pretty wedding took place at St. Mary's Church, in Church Point, on Tuesday morning of last week, when Ismay Saulnier, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustin Saulnier, of Little Brook, became the bride of Joseph Comeau, son of Sifroid Comeau, of Comeauville. The bride was attired in a white satin gown with veil and orange blossoms. Accessories matched, and her bouquet was of white roses. Miss Lucille Saulnier, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and was attired in pale blue crepe de chine. The groom was attended by Joseph LeBlanc. The bridal party entered the church to the strains of the wedding march rendered by Professor Comeau, of the staff of St. Anne's College. Rev. Father Comeau, parish priest, officiated at the marriage ceremony and high mass. A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, attended by many relatives and friends. WINDMILLS

This country once had many windmills used for power. Now it is filled with them. Every economic cure, social reform, and political movement has its battery of windmills.

Great causes mount windmills on soap boxes in big cities, and on nail kegs in country groceries.

Politics has more windmills than any other game on earth. And the unfortunate thing about these modern windmills is that they cannot be shut up, as our forefathers used to shut off theirs.

Ours is a free country, and all we can do is to grin and listen to them.

GOVERNMENT BY TAX-EATERS

The manner in which federal, provincial and local taxes have increased in this country in the last quarter of a century would seem to indicate that we are in danger of having a government of tax-eaters, for tax-eaters, and by tax-eaters.

In this army of tax-eaters must be included all persons who draw their incomes in whole or in part from the public treasury. They may receive salaries, wages, pensions, bonuses, doles, or subsidies of one kind or another.

The one thing that seems certain is that such persons will never vote themselves off the public payroll. Those who get the dole either in the form of cash or relief, may be expected to vote overwhelmingly to retain it. Salaried workers for the government—and these now number many thousands—move heaven and earth to retain their positions when some one suggests that a bureau be abolished or a commission curtailed.

When those on the various government payrolls become numerous enough they can control the government, and when this comes about they may be expected to vote overwhelmingly to retain it. The tax-payers will be helpless.

The one thing necessary at the present time is to see to it that public employees do not become numerous enough to control the government. And the best way to do this is to limit government to its essential functions. We could get along very well with about one-third the amount of government we now have, and with not more than one-third the number of government employees. But don't suggest this to any political office-holder, or to any person on the government payroll.

COUNCIL DISCUSSES PARKING

The Town Council held their monthly meeting on Monday evening, August 3rd, with the Mayor presiding and all the Councillors in attendance. Much of the time was given up to the parking problem in the town, as the present way is quite unsatisfactory. S. G. Parker presented his views on the subject and much discussion followed. Mr. Parker was at the meeting representing himself and other merchants, who were unable to attend. It was decided to have one-hour parking limit from the Royal Bank to the Post Office, signs to be purchased and put up at once.

Marriages

Pitman-Wade

On Thursday morning of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Norman Wade, of Granville Centre, a wedding of much interest took place when Rev. T. E. MacLennan, pastor of the United Church, Annapolis Royal, united in marriage, Emma Jean Wade, their eldest daughter, and Harold Maynard Pitman, of Oak Park, Shelburne Co. Thirty-five relatives were present to witness the ceremony. Wearing a becoming jacket ensemble of pale green with beige accessories and carrying a bouquet of sweet peas and baby's breath, the bride made a charming picture as she took her place under a floral arch on the piazza, on the arm of her father, by whom she was given in marriage, as the wedding march was being played by her sister, Beatrice Wade. They were attended by the bride's youngest sister, Myra Wade, who was dressed in ivory silk, carrying a basket of ivory pees. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served. Mrs. Archibald F. Troop and Mrs. Arthur Lyett poured and Eleanor Troop, Norma and Beatrice Wade and Shirley Wade served. Following the reception the couple left by motor for Oak Park, where they will spend a brief honeymoon before taking up their residence in Barrington.

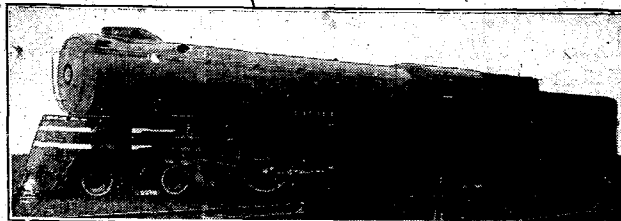

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Doucette and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mosher, of Middleton, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wharton.

Makes Railway Epic

New Locomotives Poems in Steel

Canada's newest railway locomotives are poems in steel, graceful, light-weight, semi-streamlined, machines capable of 110 miles an hour. Radical departures in construction have been made in the Canadian Pacific Railway's five new "3000" engines, the first of which was taken over on Monday, July 27, at a brilliant ceremony which was broadcast on a nation-wide radio network through the facilities of the company's Communications Department, and which included addresses by Sir Edward Beatty, G.B.E., K.C., L.L.D., chairman and president, Canadian Pacific Railway; His Worship Mayor Camille Houde of Montreal; William C. Dickerman, president of the Montreal Locomotive Company, where the new locomotive was built; and J. N. Burke, Canadian Pacific veteran. The new Jubilee Locomotives, so named because they will go into operation in the jubilee year of the company's transcontinental passenger service, will pull a completely new type of train, lighter than the ordinary, semi-streamlined, and comfortable. The new coaches are under construction.

For years she was known as the "snow baby," being the first known white child born within the Arctic circle.

On Monday evening a Ford sedan, belonging to Burton Vidito, of Milford, burned up on the road between Annapolis and Milford. Mr. Vidito was proceeding along just this side of Mickey Hill, when the car burst into flames and it became a total loss. It is thought there was a short circuit in the wiring, probably in the radio with which it was equipped.

UNIQUE COLLECTION SEEN AT HOBBY SHOW

Another brilliant success crowned the efforts of Fort Anne chapter, I. O. O. E., Annapolis Royal, in organizing a novel entertainment in the form of a "Hobby Show," which was held on Wednesday afternoon of last week, in the Memorial town hall. Although the weather was most unfavorable a large crowd attended and examined with evident pleasure the unique collection of rare and beautiful articles on exhibition. The convenor, Mrs. F. F. Smith, and collectors for the various branches had met with a ready response from the citizens, and much surprise was expressed at the variety and value of the treasures, shown for the first time to the general public.

Wonderful Curios

Miss L. B. Johnson had charge of the "Captain's Table," a collection of wonderful curios from foreign lands, consisting of shell work, flowers made of fish scales, ships' models, pictures of unusual workmanship, and a beautiful shawl, made of the fibres of the alps plant, and brought to Mrs. A. D. Munro by her husband sixty years ago. This was one of the three in the world, the other two being presented respectively to the late Queen Victoria and a daughter of the late President Grant.

Mrs. Kenneth Smith's tables were classed as "collections" and contained furs, stuffed birds, geological specimens, bric-a-brac, articles of brass and china, scrap books, old photographs and articles of historic interest. Mrs. B. D. C. Stewart had charge of the wood work department, which in addition to interesting carving contained articles of brass and leather handwork, with pieces of furniture and a carefully protected hive of bees. Miss Charlotte Perkins presided over a table of exquisite roses and other flowers, and Mrs. W. C. Macpherson had charge of the well known "Finger Industries," with a collection of lovely hooked rugs and other articles.

Over Century Old

Mrs. Arthur Kelsall, wearing a beautiful dress of grey silk trimmed with lace and pearls, worn by Mrs. Edward Horsfall as a bride in 1894, exhibited the rare collection of needle work, including bead work, quilts, samplers, cross stitch on horse hair, linen over 100 years old and articles of clothing made in 1862. Miss Myrlice Collins had charge of the knitting and crocheting table, and here articles in silk and yarn from lace dresses to mittens, were displayed. Mrs. Ernest Mills presided over a table of dainty cakes and other articles of home cooking, and Mrs. F. St. C. Harris was in charge of the popular Art Department. Especially noticeable among the many pictures of real artistic merit displayed here, were the water colours of Mrs. Agnes Munro, painted at the age of 91 years, and among the photographic exhibits the work of Harold Sturtz and the engravings of Edgar Shaffner were outstanding. An exhibit belonging to Mrs. Henry How which attracted much attention was a miniature house, made of thousands of pieces of wood, all interlocking and put together without nails or glue.

Eber Peck May Enter 125 Mile Race in Quebec

The Third International Canoe Race to be held August 21st, 22nd, and 23rd, on the St. Maurice River, Province of Quebec, has become a matter of local interest with the expectancy that Eber Peck, of Bear River, will be one of the contestants.

Mr. Peck's prowess as a guide and sportsman is well known, not only throughout the Province of Nova Scotia, but in other sections far afield. Last winter he won considerable prestige for himself and the Province by his outstanding ability in the water sports at the Sportsmen's Shows held in several of the large cities in the eastern part of the United States.

Mr. Armour Landry, Secretary of the St. Maurice Valley Regional Tourist Bureau, the organization in charge of the arrangements for the Race, has written, "News that Mr. Peck was interested was received with great enthusiasm. His reputation is well known by a certain number of our local sportsmen."

Eber hopes to have Hector McQuarrie as his partner in the Race, as each canoe is to be manned by two men.

The Race covers a distance of 125 miles on the St. Maurice River, from La Tuque to Trois Rivieres, and contains all the necessary elements to make it an outstanding sporting event. The course is an impetuous stream, with turbulent rapids, three dams, and several portages, the longest being one mile. The distance of eighty five miles to be covered the first day will be a severe test of endurance. The many obstacles of the Race offer difficulties that will bring into play all the resources and skill of the contestants.

Cash prizes, amounting to $600.00, cups and other trophies will be distributed among the winners.

Eber left yesterday for the Guides' Meet at Lake William, where he hopes to complete his plans to enter this important Race. We trust that he can go and that he may bring back the winning prize of the Contest and again add to the fame of this Province. His efforts should merit all possible local help that can be given.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

DARING VIEWPOINTS

The eye looks up from below; why not the camera?

CONSIDER the worm and his viewpoint—he's in on the ground floor. Viewpoint means much, and is an important factor in picture making. It has much to do with the perspective we get to pictures. If the perspective is not pleasing to the eye, it will not be pleasing in the picture, and if the effect as seen from the viewpoint of the camera lens is odd or startling, it will be recorded just so in the picture.

While distortion is to be avoided in the truly artistic photograph, it is possible to obtain many interesting effects from unusual points of view, even though the perspective be a bit violent. Expert photographers are today seeking and finding new angles from which to make their pictures, and for the most part the results are pleasing as well as attractive and unusual. Many amateurs are also finding a new interest in picture making from this effort to get something different. They, too, are shooting from positions that are daring and new.

wholly because of the position from which it is taken. To get a similar picture the camera should be held about eight inches from the ground with the golf ball far enough away to assure good focus. A very small lens opening should be used and the exposure timed accordingly. This, after all, is a faithful rendering of the perspective that the eye sees from this lens viewpoint. Similarly with the shot of the man and the derrick atop the new building.

Try a number of worm's-eye views, some bird's-eye views (even a slight elevation will give the latter effect), and, shall we say, some cross-eyed views or snaps from odd angles. Many of them probably will be of no value, until you have been taught by experience to see the most effective combination of angle and subject for a given picture. Doubtless the most of them will be criticized as crazy-looking, but after all, what does it matter? The answer is that you were after something uncommon, startling, weird or fantastic, and you got it. You will find experiments in this sort of picture taking of fascinating interest. JOHN VAN GUILDER.

Fire Department Answers Two Alarms.

The Digby Fire Department was called out twice on Monday morning to fight fires in the south end of the town. The first alarm was rung at 4 o'clock in the morning. In this fire the cook house of the H. T. Warner Ltd., plant was totally destroyed. The second alarm, rung in shortly before 11 o'clock was for a roof fire at the home of G. H. Peters.

The origin of either blaze is unknown, although, it is thought that the blaze on the Peters' roof was caused by a spark from the chimney. The damage to the building was not serious.

The estimated loss at the Warner cook house is some $1,500. Fortunately very little wind was blowing at the time, and thus none of the larger and valuable plant buildings nearby were in no serious danger of catching by flying embers. In accordance with his usual custom, the plant watchman lighted the cook house fires about 3:30 a. m. The structure was discovered in flames half an hour later. In addition to the building quantities of provisions were destroyed.

Later in the day stoves were set up out-of-doors, and the many employees of the lumber mill, box factory and machine dined "a la picnic".

Found Fishing Good John J. Hart of Newarke, N. J., was a very pleased fisherman last week—he succeeded in catching a 16 1/2-lb. cod off the breakwater at Centreville. Other members of the party, namely Mr. and Mrs. Hart H. McCormick and Miss Katherine Hills, caught 80 pounds of flounders off the same pier. A wedding of much interest took place at Wakefield, Mass., on Saturday, Aug. 1st, of A. Wilber Hayden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Hayden, and Miss Hazel June, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Sederquest, all of Wakefield. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Ann Hayden, sister of the groom, and pastor of the Methodist Church at Merrimackport, Mass. The bride and groom are well known in Wakefield, where they will reside. The happy couple have been visiting relatives in Digby, returning via Princess Helen yesterday. The groom's parents were former residents of Digby.

FARMERS REPORT FINE CROPS

The crop prospects in Digby County are the best for some years. Farmers in every district report root crops coming along nicely with every indication of there being plenty of everything; tomatoes, cucumbers, corn and other crops are looking well and tomato plants especially appear to be very healthy.

Small fruits were also plentiful. 1936 was a bumper year for strawberries and cherries. With the wild berries, blueberries appear to be most plentiful, large quantities arriving in town daily.

One farmer stated the hay crop this year was the best he has seen in twelve years.

CAR DROPS THIRTY FEET ONTO BEACH

Daniel Bonant and Joseph Theriault, of Yarmouth, had a miraculous escape from death Monday morning when the car Bonant was operating snapped off a 12 foot pillar, dropped 30 feet to the beach below, and was completely demolished.

Mr. Bonant sustained a severely injured shoulder, and minor cuts and abrasions. Mr. Theriault suffered only from shock. The two were travelling from Yarmouth and at the very sharp curve at the entrance of the Victoria Bridge at the mouth of the Bear River, Mr. Bonant's foot slipped off the brake pedal on to the accelerator while applying the breaks. Having lost his right hand some years ago, he was unable to regain control of the car on the curve.

With a crash that was heard for some distance, the car snapped off one of the giant pillars, broke it cleanly off, hung for an instant on the edge then plunged to the sands. The occupants, dazed, managed to free themselves from the wreckage.

Mrs. Fletcher Adams, who lives near the entrance of the bridge summoned Dr. L. J. Lovett, of Bear River, immediately, and Mr. Bonant was later removed by the doctor to the residence of Frank Adams, Deep Brook. Fortunately for the two men the tide was out when the accident occurred. At high water there is some 16 feet of water at this point.

Church of England Garden Party, Sandy Cove, Thursday, August 20.

Joint Memorial and Decoration Service is Held

One of the finest decoration services ever held in Digby took place Sunday afternoon under the auspices of St. George Lodge, No. 55, I.O.O.F. The Digby Legion and the Digby Fire Department had been invited to unite with the Oddfellows, and make this a joint decoration service.

The weather was ideal and a large number turned out. Headed by the Digby Civic Band the parade left the Oddfellows' Hall and marched through the south end of the town to Fairview (United) Cemetery on top of the hill overlooking the town and Basin.

En-route a large number of spectators in cars and on foot, joined them and when the cemetery was reached there was the largest audience ever gathered in Digby for such a service.

The beautiful ritual of the Order was carried out, and during the service officers of the three bodies read the names of the deceased members who were being remembered. The Band led in the singing and the guest speaker, who took as his text, "What of Thy Life" from St. James, was Capt. Walter Selva, of the Salvation Army, himself a returned man and a former Oddfellow.

CELEBRATES FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY

An event of local interest took place Wednesday of last week when Mr. and Mrs. David F. Young celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage at their home, 11 Cadworth Street, Massachusetts. They were assisted by their five living children and ten grandchildren. An informal reception was held during the afternoon and evening, when over one hundred persons called to extend congratulations to the couple. Many bouquets, gifts, and cards of well wishing were received. One bouquet of fifty talisman roses with gifts of money attached, was from the family. Refreshments were served, with Mrs. Clarence B. Mather, of Medford, presiding at the banquet. Mrs. William P. Bennett, of Southville, serving punch. A large wedding cake, decorated with a miniature bride and groom, was served at this time. Mr. George Young of Stoneham, was in charge of the guest book, which was signed by each visitor, as a memento of the occasion. Music was furnished by a trio composed of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Tcho and George Lafond, of Hooksett, N. H., with vocal selections by Leon Galley, of Dorchester, Mass., accompanied at the piano by Miss Rhoda Young.

David F. Young and Alva P. Welch were married at Westport, N. S., on Aug. 8, 1886, and lived for many years in Digby, later moving to Massachusetts. The children are: Mrs. Charlotte Bedell, of Sausage, Mass.; George Young, of Stoneham; Mrs. Irene Knapp, of Medford; Mrs. Sally Tcho, of Hooksett, N. H.; and Miss Rhoda Young, of Medford. There were two other daughters, Mrs. Viola spurrier, who passed away two years ago, and Inez, who died in infancy.

Mr. Young, who is 82 years of age, enjoys good health with the exception of a lameness caused by a fall a few years ago. Mrs. Young is 69, and is active in the affairs of the First Baptist Church. She is also a member of Truth-Revelation Lodge.

Among the guests were Mrs. Thomas Poor, of Hooksett, N. H.; and Mrs. John MacDonald and Mrs. Walter Shirley, of Manchester, N. H., nieces of Mr. Young, and former residents of Digby. Others were from Baltimore, Maryland; Marlboro, Massachusetts, and all parts of suburban Boston, many of them being former residents of Digby.

BAND NOTES

The Civic Band will play an open-air concert Sunday night, Aug. 23rd, at 8.30, taking the place of the regular Thursday concert cancelled last week because of rain. This was the first postponement caused by rain during the entire four seasons of these summer concerts.

At next Thursday's night's concert an unusual feature will be presented, when a spirited new march "The Legionaire" will be played with its composer in person conducting the Band. This march has not yet been published and is played from the manuscript. Capt. Slater's famous 48th Highlanders have featured it on several occasions. The composer-conductor is Percy Belyea, formerly bassoonist of Canada's greatest concert band, the Toronto Symphony, and at present playing with Harry Cochran's Pines Orchestra.

"The Clown Band" heard Whiting's Cavalry Band play the William Tell Overture on their visit here, and were inspired to prepare a looney overture of their own for last night's concert—"Don't tell William." We hope the players escaped unhurt.

"ACTS OF GOD"

In a legal document we find the above phrase. Floods, hurricanes, dust storms, and such are attributed to the Almighty. But it seems to us some of them are due to man's ignorance.

Man denuded our mountains, hills, and plains of trees, leaving nothing to hold the water back and giving the winds a clean sweep. He "killed" the soil and reduced it to dust. He has brought on other calamities. True he used, but he also abused to the point of waste.

Had he planted trees to take the place of those he cut down, had he returned "food" to the soil, had he done many other things he should have done, there would not have been so many "Acts of God."

JUDGE NOT BY THE HOURS

If we would read intelligently the story of our times we should make certain that we are getting the proper perspective. In this connection it is well to remember the words of Emerson:

"The lesson of life is to believe what the centuries say, as against the hours."

In times as strenuous and experiences as varied as the world has had during the last 15 or 20 years, this counsel should be remembered.

The hours may tell us the world is so deep in the mire of its own selfish mistakes that it will never get out. But the centuries may report merely a temporary slowing-up of the ever-improving welfare of the human race.

The hours may tell us that democracy is a failure, that man is selfish and sordid in his aims, that crime is triumphant over law, that good men must continue to bow to knaves.

But what of the story of the centuries? That reveals a different tale, the story of the gradual improvement of both man and his civilization. Read the signs aright.

THE WOMAN WHO BEGAN AGAIN

Some years ago an Irish-Canadian sewing woman entered the Massachusetts General Hospital for the amputation of a diseased leg. She had saved her money and taken the long journey for this specific purpose. After the operation was over, she settled down in the surgical ward for a long, slow period of convalescence.

Very soon the doctors began to note a vastly improved morale among the patients of that ward. They discovered the Irish seamstress to be the cause of it. She had brought her sewing with her and her busy playing of the needle interested other patients. The result was the whole ward was soon at its needlework.

Then came to this woman the idea that she might set up a little shop somewhere for plain sewing, using cripples and incurables as her assistants. She went ahead, even though she had to suffer amputation of her other leg. Today she is as busy and as happy as if she had both legs, and she has also given those who work with her other things to think about than their own physical troubles.

Many persons today would be far better off in their afflictions and handicaps if they were to find the secret of contentment discovered by this woman. She simply turned her mind to other things when her world crashed around her. She found something else to do, something else to interest her. She began again.

This little story is worth passing along for the suggestions it may contain to others who sit alone and die amid the ruins of their hopes and plans. They, too, can begin again.

THE FIRM OF
Mr. and Mrs.

THEIR ASSETS—Health, a few securities, and hope for the future.

THEIR PROBLEM—To raise money for a temporary need, and still retain their securities.

THEIR SOLUTION—They talk it over with their banker, arrange to borrow against their securities. Within a reasonable time they pay off their loan (for they are thrifty), and will get back their securities intact.

Thus the firm of Mr. and Mrs. have established a line of credit. Perhaps even more important, they have discovered their local bank manager is more than a banker—he is their friendly counsellor too.

APOLOGIES

We think it was Emerson who said: "No sensible person ever made an apology." Explanations seldom explain.

Certain it is that explanations never undo what has been done. They merely admit the doing and confess responsibility for it. Such self-indictment of lack of common sense does no one any good, for it discounts any sorrow expressed over the wrong done.

Much better than an apology is a frank plea for forgiveness, for this more quickly leads the wronged to forget, while it imposes on the doer an obligation which has a deterring influence. An adage has it: "He who explains is lost, but he who confesses may be saved."

GREETINGS TO "GUESS
SOME MORE."

San Francisco calling Back Bay, Boston, long distance—Bobby Nichols calling Back Bay. Hello—who do I want? I want my big brother in Back Bay. What did you say—that is his name? Yes, yes, I understand you. Guess Some More—that is the name. What? You don't understand. Well, it's Guess Some More. His age—you want his age? I can't tell you more except that his weight is within 90 winters—age plenty young. What? I told you his age was plenty young. Oh!—you got him. My, but you're smart getting Back Bay. I'm to go ahead—alright. Hello, Guess Some More. I just got the Digby Courier, issue of July 24th.

Say, Big Brother, so glad to hear your voice. Sounds just like good salt water clams. Say, who shipped that cargo of storm-clams to Boston? And, what's the idea of living among the big bugs of Nob Hill, Boston, when the small bugs on the fish market are less annoying?

Hanging your feet over the Hill Grove range into the valley of Acadia would be a sweet refrain, and the aroma from the hillsides—from acacia and beech trees—do their part. And don't forget those balm of gilead trees along the old shore road adjacent to the mill pond.

Yes, Big Brother, Bobby Nichols remembers the Howard Jordan-Bill Kent episode, when we were boys around the old ridge road and valley. And you can bet your sweet mosquito bites that Elsie was a good old mammy. Yes, and please read Bobby's episode in the Courier entitled, "The Good Old Colored Folk," wherein was mentioned Howard Jordan, Peter Butler, the Wilnot family, the old church and the song services. Yes, Big Brother, I was there.

Sleeping among the roses or between the roses with a newspaper for a sheet, on Boston Common, was as we infer conducive to rose fever. Yes, and say—did you ever have the real old hay fever? Well, if you did, you sure have no reason to complain of the flower gardens on Boston Common, nor the big bugs on Beacon Hill, nor the small bugs on fisherman's row. Just consider your misfortunes are all wrapped up in your own unjustified misjudgment of the fact that if you are prone to—and could, should or would—go right down home, hook your arm around Tupper, escort him down to the old valley below the mill and over the bank into the sweet flood waters of the clearest brook—which in terms of faith, honesty and truth is nearest in every respect to the holy waters of the Jordan, as of gospel times; you would there cleanse yourself of your mental illusion of a prospective fact that you are inflated with rheumatics.

—Now, my good brother, your whole foot trouble is mental. Go to the Joggin and jump overboard, as Bobby suggests; then bask in the sunshine of the valley, and likewise take your bug-ridden friends with you. Introduce them to the balm of gilead. Take them to the old mill stream. Give them a good ride in the moonlight on the Joggin River at high tide, and you'll go back to Boston fully reconverted as to your mental, physical and foot understanding.

Hello, long distance, I have my man, thanks to you, and we are ringing off. Reverse the charges—as Guess Some More, Back Bay, Boston, has advised thusly. And thanks, long distance, for the time you took to pick up my Big Brother. Good night.

Bobby Nichols

CONTROL THIS GREAT CANADIAN COMPANY

THE BRITISH-AMERICAN OIL COMPANY offers Canadian products for Canadian motorists

Patriotism alone is not a sufficient reason for buying a particular brand of gasoline. But when one trial tankful is enough to convince critical motorists that NEVR-NOX offers a new high in quick starting, acceleration and smoothness... would you not prefer to use this Canadian refined fuel?

The British-American Oil Company was founded by a Canadian, is owned by Canadians, and employs Canadians. Its products are refined in five Canadian refineries, with an eye to Canadian conditions. That is why more and more Maritime Motorists have found—during the past year—that both AUTOLENE oil and NEVR-NOX gasoline are particularly suitable for the Maritimes. Try them and see.

You can see the B-A sign at longer range than most others. This is of real service to tourists who, naturally, don't want to risk getting away but British-American oil and gasoline. Only British-American products are sold where you see the sign. Follow the example of the many who always watch for the B-A sign wherever they go!

Insist on Canadian products!

THE CHRISTIAN DOCTOR

Something of Christ is with him as he goes
Among the suffering to heal and bless;
Something of Christ's own comfort he bestows
Through his compassion and his tenderness.

Through his compassion and his tenderness,
Virtue comes from him through the pressing hours,
To all who touch him down life's crowded ways.

Faithfully he dispenses his powers
Through sleepless nights and long demanding days.

He is first at birth to free the strange, long breath;
Through intervening years he is a wise
And kindly counselor, and then at death

His are the hands that close the weary eyes.
Surely, dear God, all Christian Doctors share
Your mercy for mankind, your loving care.

(The above poem was received by a local Doctor in appreciation of service freely given. Does it not apply to all our country doctors?)

THE TEA TRADE AND ART

It is interesting to note that during the eighteenth century the tea trade exerted a profound influence on European art. At that period China was the sole source of supply for the tea trade and, as the demand for this beverage steadily increased in Europe and America, more and more fine specimens of Chinese skill and craftsmanship accompanied the tea cargoes, to enrich and inspire the world of art. To day, of course, Empire teas have long been predominant, China no longer rules the trade, and the first Canadian tea house to recognize fully the value and importance of the teas of India and Ceylon was the firm of J. E. Morse & Co. Hence the leadership so long enjoyed by Morse's Teas and their continued growth in popularity and public esteem.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile daily. If it does not, you are not doing freely, your food does not digest, your stomach, bowels, and kidneys get out of order, you get indigestion, gas, and the world looks dumb. A more powerful movement doesn't always get the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up" again. Remember, you need a good liver to make the life flow freely. They do the work of a hundred but your own liver is the best. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills in any drug store. Nothing else will do.

A Long Diversion
To transport her cargo of tinner from Iquitos, Peru, to Callao, a distance of 600 miles, the Dutch freighter Telamon was forced to travel down the Amazon to the Atlantic, through the Panama Canal, then south to Callao and Peru again—a distance of 5,000 miles.

German Youths Not to Smoke.
Boys and girls under 18 have been forbidden to smoke in restaurants, cafes, parks, street and other public places in Mecklenburg, Germany. The police declare ordering the ban declares that offenders are liable to be sent to prison for two weeks or fined $62.50.

Italy Bans "Sandwich"
You cannot ask for a "sandwich" in Italy any more. It has been announced in Rome that the word has been banished from the Italian language because it owes its origin to a famous earl in a "sanctionist" country. Now it will be known as "pampini", which means filled bread.

Fiji Native Holes in One.
That the honor of being the first native Fijian and the first South Sea Islander to hole out in one on a golf course has fallen to Ratu Savenaca, captain of the Fijian Golf Club, has been reported in Sydney, Australia.
Nearly all the members of the club are native chiefs and officials.

A "Lie Detector"
The latest apparatus to detect the liar is known as the Keeler Polygraph, invented after many years of experiment by three American experts. The chief purpose of the instrument is to make a sensitive record of the changes in the breathing and the blood-pressure of the subject while he is being questioned.
This apparatus has just won legal recognition and its use in American courts is expected to increase from now on. The judge who has been the first to allow the "lie detector" to be used in evidence before a jury is Mr.
Justice Van Pelt, of Wisconsin.
Presiding over the trial for "assault with intent to murder" of two youths, Grigano and Lonello, the judge instructed the jury to consider the findings of the machine as evidence and convictions were duly returned against both of them. Many of the big American banks now refuse to employ clerks who will not submit periodically to tests made with this apparatus. Their decision has followed a sensational examination by the Polygraph of two thousand bank clerks. From ten to twenty-five per cent of the staffs of many banks were found lying about disappearances of money by the machine.
It is nearly every instance of indication were confirmed later by confessions. Full confessions have been obtained in this way from nearly 3,500 criminals.

der of the Nova Scotia Golf Association held at Lake William in conjunction with the annual tournament.

Elmer Peck and Alan Hunt will combine to give the bluesone province a mighty strong representation and to contest the guides championship of the world.

The former has averaged as an aggregate winner at the Nova Scotia tournament eleven times, six of them being at Lake William.

Alan Hunt has always been an outstanding competitor. Hunt has been a veteran just the same, he has always featured in the canoe events, sailing up to the majority of the points by wielding the paddle.

H. Annis, of Hibernia, was selected president of the association for another year. Harnett Allen, general secretary, of Yarmouth, was also re-elected to the office which he has held so carefully for many years.

The full slate will be re-elected:

President—B. H. Annis.
Vice-Pres.—Allan Patterson.
Secy.—Trans.—G. S. Allen.
Comml.—V. Walker.
Falk.—Elmer Peck, Bear River; Jordan Frayle, Caledonia; Charles S. Butler, Chebogue Point; Fred De Long, Barris Corner.

One of the important decisions of the association was the boost of the prize list from $1000 to $1400.

The display of prizes which have been in charge of H. H. Nichols, Barris Corner, has attracted considerable attention since the opening of the meet at Lake William.

The association also voted $50 from the funds to be presented to Louis Peters, veteran Indian Guide of Bear River, who is suffering from the effects of a severe gash in his right foot, inflicted with an axe some time ago. It is possible that Louis Peters, a popular participant in the guides meet for years, will be permanently crippled as the result of the accident.

fire ladders, dream that barn feelings with burrs as the only stimulant to emotion. But, the close to 3,000 spectators who saw the Cops whip the Firemen in donkey ball at Shannock Park, with a score of 3-1 will testify that the boys are sore. They will surely be sore. And lame. For the little animals spared nobody's feelings. They tested their riders right and left. They kicked up their heels with great delight when they found a "hatfoot" or a "smoke-cake" ready to mount. It was great fun while it lasted—four innings of burlesque, drama and comedy. It was truly dramatic when donkey and rider found themselves reversed. A portable lighting plant was used to brighten the field. An amplifier-loud-speaker system carried announcements throughout the game. We add in another column.

Golfer Drives Into Nest.
"Pulling" one's drive may net results. So thinks James Hole, of Ballinluig, Scotland. He was playing on the local golf course with John Henry, Jr., and Alastair Stewart, when he "pulled" his shot at the seventh tee. The ball was found in a partridge nest containing 17 eggs. It lay in the centre of the setting, but not a single egg was broken or cracked.

A Few Facts About Light and Sight

In grade schools 1 child out of every five has defective eyesight.
In colleges the number is doubled.
At fifty years of age, 60 people out of a hundred have poor eyesight.
It is estimated that the eyes do thirty per cent. more work today than they did thirty years ago.
Daylight in the shade of a tree, is 100 times as bright as that produced by a 100 watt lamp bulb on a book three feet away.

With good light so cheap, don't risk the child's precious eyesight. We will gladly make a test in your own home with our Sight Meter, which shows the facts.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD
THE MAGIC OF FILTERS

The best color effects are obtained by using a yellow filter. A medium yellow filter, K-2, was used for the picture above, taken with a shutter speed of 1/100 second, aperture, f.8.3. A lighter yellow filter, K-1, caught the clouds in this right and picture at 1/25 at f.11.

With all conditions seemingly perfect for a glorious landscape picture, how does it sometimes happen that those beautiful clouds are scarcely noticeable in the print and the distant hills just barely visible? Maybe because when we took the picture we did not use a small enough lens opening, but even that would not always be the answer.

The failure is more likely due to the fact that we did not use a filter, that magical little gadget of colored gelatin fixed between glass discs, which, when placed over the lens, changes the effect on the film of the different rays of the spectrum.

Just what is the property in a filter that so cleverly captures the beauty of clouds and helps to bring out distant detail? It is its color that makes the difference and generally yellow filters are used.

The reason is that in photography the invisible ultra-violet rays of the spectrum and the violet and blue rays do most of the recording of images; and on all types of film their effect tends to predominate regardless of variation in the sensitivity of different types of film.

Colors, yellow, of a certain quality, in a filter will counteract these rays, holding them back and letting the other rays do their work on the film without interference.

Clouds and blue sky both are rich in ultra-violet, violet and blue. So if we put over our lens a yellow filter to hold these rays back, the other rays will do the work and the clouds will be distinguished from the sky. They will appear whiter than the sky. Strange as it may seem, clouds also contain a certain amount of green and orange rays. So, if we use a film which is not very sensitive to the orange and green rays, the (chrome type) the contrast between clouds and sky will be emphasized.

A yellow filter also makes grass and the leaves of trees photograph lighter instead of appearing black. It also performs another valuable function. It gives sharper detail to distant objects by cutting through haze, which has an excess of blue light. Also in taking pictures of flowers, or of indoor furnishings, a filter enables us to achieve correct tone contrasts.

There are five yellow filters suitable for amateur use, each performing somewhat differently. Among them the K-2, which is a medium yellow, gives the best general color correction with the ordinary and the chrome type of film, and practically full correction with the anti-atomic and panchromatic film.

Especially with a filter must be increased, depending on the density of the color. Instructions furnished with each filter tell just how to use it.

If you have never tried a filter, put a K-1 or K-2 over your lens some sunny day when there are tumbling white clouds over the horizon. You will be surprised at the difference it makes.

CHARACTER

Often it is said of a man, "It's a shame he is a failure; he has such a pleasing personality."

Of another it may be said: "Too bad he doesn't get along better; he has not much ability."

What is lacking in both these types is character. Without personality or ability, of course, not even a characterless man can do much harm. His field of operation is too limited. He neither impresses nor attracts people but merely joins the ranks of the more or less harmless good-for-nothings.

But a "good personality" projecting itself from a characterless soul, is an evil combination. Of such are charming loafers, entering lounge lizards and unscrupulous exploiters. They smile and flatter their way through life dodging responsibility and honest labor because they have discovered an easier way of making a living.

Likewise ability without character leads to an equally bitter end. These so-called inevitably are undone by shameless practices. They seem unable to resist the temptation to cheat and rob. Mental capacity prompts them to flout the law and custom. Eventually they over reach and are disgraced.

Emerson said that character ranks above intellect. It ranks above everything. It is the priceless ingredient of human nature.—Ex.

REAL ARISTOCRACY

We once had an aristocracy of heredity titles. Then came one of wealth, acquired or inherited. Gradually we are establishing an aristocracy of character, morals, and service to mankind.

This new aristocracy is self-created, its members coming from all classes of people—the rich, the poor, the educated, and the ignorant. It is created by those who see that life's greatest opportunity lies in man's making himself a man.

God made man "a little lower than the angels" that he might minister in every possible way to make this world a paradise for all His creatures.

It's the men today who are doing all they can to carry out this divine plan who constitute true aristocracy, which only can endure because it is founded on that which is good.

ARE YOU A GENTLEMAN?

Ask the average Canadian if he is a gentleman, and the chances are that he will become quite angry at you.

Certainly he considers himself a gentleman. He takes off his hat in the presence of ladies, he doesn't cheat while playing cards, he is kind to children and considerate of the aged.

He wouldn't think of crowding in ahead of others waiting in line for tickets to a show, or to buy something at a counter. He wouldn't yell "Get out of the way!" as he walked by others on the street. Certainly he's a gentleman! But—

Do you drive a motor car? Do you try to take advantage of everybody else while driving your car? Do you horn in ahead of other cars waiting in line for traffic to clear? Do you blow your horn instead of using your brakes? Do you take your half of the road in the middle? Do you "bawl out" every pedestrian and driver who fails to give you the right of way? Do you do those dozen and one things that bear the hallmarks of discourtesy and selfishness?

We know it isn't sportsman-like to do such things, and we move half suspect that it isn't gentlemanly. So consider this question again: "Are you a gentleman?"

A CRITICAL AUDIENCE

Maritime tea-drinkers form, so to speak, a critical audience. They know what they like and know when they are getting it. In short, the tastes and preferences of tea-drinkers in other sections of the Dominion do not influence them, a fact that some tea firms have had to discover by experience. Morse's Teas are selected and blended by Canada's oldest tea firm to satisfy Maritime tastes. That is why Morse's Teas are preferred throughout the three Maritime provinces. Tea connoisseurs everywhere equally appreciate them.

Zoo Snakes Die In Mystery
Scientists are trying to find out what killed all the snakes in the Zoo, at Melbourne, Australia. The first deaths were ascribed to disease probably contracted before capture. The reptiles had been feeding in pastures protected by rabbit-proof fences and had gorged themselves so that they were unable to pass the fumes to healthy high land. Suddenly deaths increased and before the nature of the complaint could be found every snake was dead.

Shrine Cash Lures Thieves.

Three times have burglars robbed the famous Ba-Tee shrine, at Kalutara, Geylon, since a unique toll was devised by the keepers of the sacred place. Bus and truck drivers are required to pay a tax during the Singhaes New Year observances. At the end of each journey the driver put a coin worth about 25 cents in the collection box. One company alone has 20 busses running all day and the toll from the transport companies reaches large amounts.

Exile Finds Home Too Tame

Alain Gerbault has returned to Tahiti because his home in England proved too tame. For years he sailed the world alone and once he stayed awhile on a Pacific island where the brown people made him a prince. Homesickness finally took him back to England where his craft, the Firecrest, was built. He even stopped to play lawn tennis; his favorite sport in other days, but found it insipid. In a new ship he set out for the burning shadows of the south seas and now, at last his friends hear that he is in Tahiti to stay.

Boy Reads Upside Down.

What to do about Jimmy Locke, 7 years old, of Beamish, England, greatly worried his teacher when he came into her class and she sent out a hurry call for a psychologist. It was decided that Johnny could not go on reading and writing upside down and his peculiarity is being corrected. He starts writing at the bottom of the page and finishes at the top. With his book the wrong way up he can read as fast and as well as any classmate.

HARBOUR IMPROVEMENT

Mr. Putnam, engineer from the Federal Department of Public Works, was in town on Monday making arrangements for starting the new work on the water front at the government pier.

This lot has a river frontage of 186 feet and extends from the north end of Sanford's Garage to the main highway where it crosses the Bear River bridge.

For some years past the natural beauty of the river has been marred by the presence of the ruins of dilapidated wharves and piers which are no longer in use. And the new work contemplates the removal of these unsightly relics, replacing them with a regular line of crib-work which will add greatly to the appearance of the harbour and will also provide additional space on the government lot.

The level of the lot will be raised about a foot and a half so that the high tides will no longer flow over it.

This work is made possible through an appropriation secured by the Federal member for this constituency, the Hon. J. L. Hilsley.

LIFE IS A GAME

A game, a race, a fight—that is life! In this contest there are dangers and hardships, as in any other. No game is worth the candle that lacks the element of hazard and the chance of losing.

Life is like this. Until it presents risks, until it makes the blood leap and the heart pump faster, we do not love it. That is why men turn upon life and challenge it. That is why they dare the polar ice, the risky air, the inaccessible mountain tops. They don't care to have life carry them along like a chip on a stream.

Needless to say, such a game calls for control and courage and something definitely to do. We give and take. We play solo parts, and we play with others. We are social beings and play together. The highest development of all of us depends on the winning spirit of the least of us. This is the law of the game—we win or lose together.

All of which is to say: There is a mean way to live and a gallant way to live. There is a way to live with shoulders back and head up, proud of the goal we strive for.

Just at present the score is running against a good many people. But the game is never called on account of darkness. When you play your part or not, the play goes on. Nor does it matter to the game: there are plenty of players. But it matters to you! Play the game!

QUITTERS

We all have heard someone say, "Don't be a quitter." Probably we have said it ourselves. Whether or not, there are two kinds of quitters.

There's the kind that quits because they are tired of the game, generally if they are not winning.

And there's the kind that deliberately decides the game is not worth the candle—they quit to stop waste.

This latter kind intelligently reserves its energies and resources for something worth while, and, in the long run, wins.

If by quitting one momentarily loses caste, he eventually regains respect because he succeeds in a game in which brains count.

WOLF CUBS IN CAMP

The Bear River Wolf Cub Pack, under the leadership of Cub Master Edward McDormand, and Mother Wolf (Mrs. F. H. Hatheway), ably assisted by Walter Harris, spent an enjoyable three days at "Barby" Camp, Lake LeMerchant, formerly owned by Captain F. H. Hatheway and now the property of General A. G. Bremner and kindly lent by him for the occasion. Because of limited sleeping accommodation it was necessary to divide the pack into two sections, the first section going out on Tuesday morning and returning Wednesday evening, and the second section going out Wednesday afternoon and returning Thursday evening. Guests at the camp were Millard Phinney and Bob Wright, of Middleton; Jim Nichol, of Deep Brook; Chipman and Lloyd Rice, of Morgantown.

Instruction was given in sailing, rowing, woods lore and swimming, and "quarters" were inspected twice each day, when points were awarded for neatness and ingenuity in making "gadgets", which are articles made by the Cubs from whatever materials are available, such as clothes hangers, toothbrush holders, etc. Hikes were also taken along the old woods roads and observation tests held. Swimming was probably the most popular event and over 90 per cent. of the Cubs can swim well.

Each morning and evening the Pack assembled for Flag Ceremony and in the evenings there was a "Council Fire" when the Cubs, each with his blanket draped about his shoulders and a bandana handkerchief about his head, sat about the Circle and watched Mother Wolf approach with a birch bark torch and light the council fire while "Akela", the Cub Master, recited the mystic words of the ceremony, to be followed by the singing of "O Canada", and a sing-song, ending with a story read from the words of Rudyard Kipling, and toasting of marshmallows.

Possibly the feature of the stay in the woods was "Meals". Over eight gallons of milk were used, 200 pancakes, half of a lamb and other food in proportion. The Wolf Cubs are grateful to General Bremner for the use of the camps, to the local Scout Council for arranging and financing the trip, to Dr. A. B. Campbell and L. V. Harris, Dennis Wright and Oscar Balcomb for supplying transportation and to the parents and friends who contributed food and other supplies.

One of Japan's most popular songs this, "Don't Forget Me, Honey, Please," has been banned by the Home Office on the ground that it has an undesirable influence on the public. An order has been issued, forbidding the sale of phonograph records of the song throughout Japan, and the singing of the song in public is forbidden. In Osaka alone 50,000 records were seized within 24 hours.

«The Giant of The West»

One of the Great Robin Hood Mills situated in the heart of Western Canada where the world's finest spring wheat grows at their very doors.

Home of Robin Hood Produce Now Stored in New Digby Warehouse

Painted on the side of a towering elevator house at the west end of the city of Moose Jaw in Saskatchewan stands Robin Hood, of England—ninety feet tall. He is the famous trade mark of Robin Hood Mills and his facsimile on a good many million bags of flour has gone out to every corner of the earth.

Robin Hood himself stands unique — the largest pictorial sign on the North American Continent—but the great milling plant, over which he presides, is duplicated at Calgary and again at Saskatoon.

Today the three plants of Robin Hood Mills are capable of turning out 10,000 barrels of flour and 24,000 packages of Rolled Oats, daily. Twenty-six years ago the total capacity of the one Robin Hood Mill was exactly 150 barrels of flour daily.

There, truly, is a picture of what growth in Canadian industry can be.

One of the latest strides in the forward march of this "Giant of the West" is of particular interest to the people of Digby and Annapolis Counties. Robin Hood has recently constructed at Digby a fine modern warehouse capable of housing a very large stock of flour and feed. From this warehouse the growing demand for Robin Hood products can be quickly and conveniently supplied.

The men who started in the diminutive mill at Moose Jaw twenty-six years ago, had the expressed intention to "mill the best flour that can be made from the best wheat the Lord sends." Early days were not easy; but gradually the quality of their product began to be recognized and markets opened to Robin Hood Flour. The "Giant" is a type and example of Canadian development through a generation.

A glance at the map of Western Canada shows one very good reason for the spectacular growth of the Robin Hood organization. Moose Jaw, Calgary and Saskatoon form a rough triangle in the heart of a vast country noted for growing the best wheat that ever ripened on earth. "Through this country to the wide-spreading veins of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways, gathering in this wheat, carrying it to the doors of a Robin Hood Mill.

Wheat selection — where so vast a supply is available—is something that can be carried on with leisure and care. Examination can be thorough—only wheat that is exactly what is required need be selected. An idea of the thoroughness of Robin Hood methods is gained from the fact that a sample from every ear of wheat coming to the mill is ground into flour, baked into bread and the wheat bought only when laboratory tests have been confirmed by this actual baking.

Flour milling has made great progress through the past generation and Robin Hood Mills have had a part in every forward step. Many of these steps they have pioneered. The washing of wheat before milling is an example of the application to "tomorrow's methods today"—and the system of wheat selection mentioned above is another. All in all it is fair to say of the "Giant" that he has given a fine product to Canada and has given to the rolls of Canadian industry a name of which it may well be proud.

It is certain that the coming Robin Hood Baking Contest which offers $200.00 in prizes to the women of the district will create great interest.

Old Days in Acacia Valley

Once again boys I am with you in spirit and heart. Wouldn't it be wonderful if I could just drop down into the old Valley, and greet all you good friends, and spend a happy day—yes, a week or a month. What a season of joy we might have in the old haunts, with the streams running deep and the fish plentiful. Down along the old Joggins with its tide twice a day, and all the multiple relations that go to make up Nature—never changing, but ever going onward. These accounts, in a measure, for the exactness of God's design. There is reverence in the thought—there is life in the ever changing process, and we, as creatures of the Deity, gather inspiration and deep love and devotion to that which we know to be inevitable and of the greatest truth.

Life in the old Joggins, and on the Ridge, and along the Shelburne Road was life in truth. There was no thought of time, beyond that it should not be wasted. That it was sacred, and whether it be work, play or devotion—all should be consistent with the laws of the Creator, and that such laws should be upheld and sustained. No time for waste—but always for the best good of mankind at large.

Such was the mode of living, and the accepted code of working and helping as neighbor to neighbor—friend to friend, in the days in that district, of which I write.

Back in 1892 there was a scourge of diphtheria. The Porter family lost two of their number, and in our own household there were three that fell victims to the dread disease. Father had regained health and took a position in Boston, where with a greater field of endeavor he would be better able to recoup losses sustained. I was the oldest boy at home and it fell to my lot to take care of the farm and all the stock—the hogs, chickens, cattle, the garden truck and the fences, and last but not least my good cows.

I worked the most of that first year making up for lost time, caring for neglected and needed repairs, and helping dear Aunt Kate, whom you boys and girls knew as the Queen of the Valley. Well, between us, and my dear mother, we got along pretty well.

We had help with the crops and plenty of wood set by for winter. Father came home that fall much refreshed, and we were happy. Winter passed in a normal way excepting that father had returned to Boston, as he was allowed but six weeks' leave of absence.

In the spring following, after things were "tuned up", I was able to spend much time at the home of good old Uncle John Nichols, on the Shelburne road. Uncle John and Aunt Margaret were the parents of my cousins, George, Annabelle, D'oebe and Ella May Nichols.

Annabelle was the wife of Alfred Bell, the brother of Elkany and Freeman Bell, whom I have mentioned in previous writings—and how well I remember those dear folks. The Bell boys did all the extra work at our home place, and I was always as welcome at cousin Annabelle's or Uncle John's as if I were in my own home.

I still remember one incident which occurred when I was about seven years of age, and I know that cousin, Ellamay, and the folks, won't cry if I tell this story. Ellamay used to drive the cows away back to pasture along the Shelburne road beyond where Steven Warne lived. Along the road was the Warne goose corral, and a pestering old gander used to chase and hiss at Ellamay as she would pass by. One morning it seemed that the Scotch in her was aroused and she bravely caught M. Gander by the neck, swung him around like a base ball bat, and threw him over the corral fence. The gander weighed nearly as much as she, but her fighting spirit was aroused—and she did the job up right.

Well, folks, I'm running pretty well up to the limit of my space. You know, our good Editor checks up on us and we must keep within due bounds. However, I cannot pass this writing without sending my best regards to more of the good friends who were so kind and generous and loving to me when I was a boy. Don't you know, if I did not keep fresh in my heart, and memory the kindly contacts of the old home and surroundings, that there would be no thought or desire to write. It is these sincere memories that call the spirit home—to the days of fifty years ago.

So, may good friends, the Porters, Franklins, Hunts, Balsors, Bells, Warnes, Roops, Gormans—also Charlie Campbell, who has long since gone to his final home, and who—dragging himself wearily home from Digby when he might stumble and fall and bruise his head and face—would say, "That's nothing, folks, I didn't fall down, the ground flew up and hit me." Well, to one and all, I acknowledge a wealth of sweet memories that have brightened the years that have passed.

Good night, folks—I'll be back again before long, for the story is not complete.

R. M. Nichols

POVERTY

We deplore and seek to relieve poverty, which inflicts physical suffering, but are perplexed by mental and spiritual poverty which robs the cold and hungry of that which might give desire for life itself more than for raiment and food.

The most impoverished man or woman in the whole world is the one who seeks only the material things of life and thereby loses sight of the needs of the mind and soul.

Such poverty causes unhappiness, leads to despair, and questions even the love of the Infinite. And, in this land of school and church, opportunity and freedom, this is almost inexcusable.

"Incline thine ears unto wisdom," admonished Confucius, "and she will direct thy path to abundance, for mind and soul which are properly nourished will add thee to bear all the vicissitudes of life."

QUINT HEALTH SHOW

The Dionne quintuplets continue to attract many tourists. Nearly 8000 persons viewed the famous little girls in their new playground on one day recently. The visitors, of course, are invisible to the objects of their pilgrimage.

Papa Dionne no longer hides sulkily from the throngs of tourists. The legal guardians of the five sisters built a refreshment stand for him across the road from Dafoe Hospital, and there he does a lively business with the sightseers. He sells refreshments, souvenirs and auto graphs. He employs six girls to wait on customers, so thriving is his trade.

To anyone who feels critical of the whole idea of showing off the quints it should be added that to Dr. Dafoe and the other guardians it is not merely a money-making scheme or gratification of curiosity seekers, but a demonstration in excellent child care. When those babies were born, their chances of living were extremely low. Today they have as good a life expectancy as many children who had a far better start. Proper food, good habits and protection from causes of disease have made them the healthy little creatures they are.

HOW THE OFFICIAL PROCLAMATION READS

Thanksgiving Day will be on Monday, October 12. That is simple, quite clear and tells the whole story, but that isn't how officialdom does it at Ottawa. Here is the official proclamation: Edward the Eighth, by the Grace of God, of Great Britain, Ireland and the British Dominions beyond the Seas King, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India.

To All To Whom these Presents shall come or whom the same may in anywise concern, Greetings:

And we do invite all our loving subjects throughout Canada to observe the said day as a day of general Thanksgiving.

In Testimony Whereof We have caused these Our Letters to be made Patent and the Great Seal of Canada to be hereunto affixed. Witness: Our Right Trusty and Well-beloved Counsellor the Honourable Lawrence Arthur Dumoulin Cannon. Welcome First Train

The cowcatcher of old Engine 371 makes a fitting platform for these costumes of the 50's adorning bellies of 1886 who took part in the pageant at Port Moody, July 3, celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of the first P. R. train from Montreal to the Pacific. The old engine, driven by the original engineer hauled into Port Moody a string of six old-style wooden cars handled by the original conductor of the first train in a colorful re-enactment of the event. More than 2000 visitors, including scores of rail veterans in service in '86, flocked to Port Moody for the celebration.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning

The liver should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It sits down in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Humoral poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sick and the world looks ugly.

A more powerful movement doesn't always get bile out of the liver. It takes those good, old Castor Oil Pills. They get bile out of the liver. They flow freely and make you feel good. Humoral and gastric, they take the bile from the bowels. They do the work of a colon but have no calomel or mercury in them. And of Castor Oil Pills. Live like a man! Struggle with anything else. No.

"CAJUNS" AT ANNAPOLIS ROYAL

The glorious sunshine after early hours of thunder showers and fog, greeted the Louisiana Acadians on their arrival at Annapolis Royal on Monday morning, and Fort Anne was a scene of peaceful loveliness, as the long line of pretty girls gowned in picturesque aprons, kerchiefs and caps, marched through the driveway and took their position on the land first settled by their forefathers.

The pilgrimage was met at the special train by the regimental band, which played the French national anthem and headed the procession to Fort Anne. Here, the mayor, town clerk and councillors, with scores of citizens, were ready to greet the members of the party to whom the mayor was introduced by F. G. J. Comeau, of Moncton, retired general passenger agent of the D.A.R. who had joined the party at Yarmouth.

Mayor Kelsall then gave an address of welcome with a short resume of the history of the Acadians in Annapolis, and was followed by Col. E. K. Eaton, superintendent of Fort Anne park, who cordially greeted the guests. A stirring address by Dudley J. LeBlanc, organizer of the party, was followed with warm friendliness and on his introduction Rev. Fr. LeChapelle, of Leonville, gave a short address in French, as did also Senator Henry Leclerc.

Two priests from Bathurst accompanied the party and Miss Laura d'Entremont, who visited the Acadians at Louisiana on a former pilgrimage, represented the Clare district and joined the party at Yarmouth.

A trip through the museum under the guidance of Col. Eaton and assistants and a hurried view of the fort grounds, was all that the limited time at their disposal would allow, and again headed by the band the party marched to the station and entered for Grand Pre and Halifax with Mr. Comeau shouting thanks to the band as the train pulled out.

The visit was marked by the stir of festivity and friendly spirit which prevailed and the Acadian girls entered freely in conversation with those around, and evidently appreciated the warm welcome accorded them.

"THE KING IS DEAD. LONG LIVE THE KING."

A glorious reign, extending over a period of seven years, ended on Saturday last, when Eber Peck, of Bear River, monarch of the woods since 1929, stepped down from the throne and was succeeded by youthful, tousled-haired Alan Hunt, of Greenfield.

Eber went out in a blaze of glory. Reluctant to quit the throne he has graced so well, he gave all of everything he had to retain his title but his total of 45 points for the meet could not match the total of 55 compiled by the twenty-four year old Hunt.

Second place went to Walter Hubley, a veteran of many years' experience on the trails. Hubley waged a magnificent battle for top honors. He conceded a lot of years to his rivals but managed to accumulate 51 points, four less than the winner. Eber Peck was third, these three outclassing the rest of the field.

In Hunt Peck has a worthy successor. This quiet unassuming youngster from Greenfield is highly proficient in all branches of a guide's calling. Like all his conferees he has the quality of sportsmanship to a high degree. Modest, quiet spoken and ever smiling his win was most popular and there was none more cordial than the deposed champion in offering his congratulations.

D. C. ALTHOUSE LOSES ANOTHER VESSEL

Capt. Cecil Thugher, Freeport, master of the ill-fated motor ship, Thomas J. Carroll, which is a total loss on the rocks near Arichat, Cape Breton, returned to Halifax on Wednesday with his crew. He had little comment to make on the misfortune which overtook his vessel while en route to Gloucester, Mass., from Souris, P. E. I., last Saturday night.

A rainstorm was raging and there was thick fog with considerable swell, when the vessel piled up on the rocks, he said. The crew had little trouble in taking to the boats and reaching the mainland, he declared.

D. C. Althouse of Halifax and Tiverton, owner of the vessel, said that he has made arrangements to take over another vessel to complete the season's work. The Thomas J. Carroll had a cargo of 430,000 pounds of salt fish. The loss he estimated would be considerably high, the vessel, which was only built this year, alone costing some $40,000.

Golf

Once again J. M. Matthews, of Chester, is champion of the Maritime Senior Golfers. The brilliant South Shore shotmaker, who also finished Baltimore, Md., as his residence, led the field Tuesday with a gross of 159 in the 36 holes of medal play to take the title in the most successful tournament in the history of the association.

Col. J. A. Miller, also of Chester, runner up in the competition, turned in an 83 card giving him a gross 163.

In both 18's, Matthews has a two stroke lead over Miller. Major Westmoreland, of Ashburn, who tied for R. M. Wyman, Yarmouth, for third place Monday, held the same position in the final results of the tournament Tuesday evening. Professor G. J. Murphy, of Ashburn, who played a 106 Monday, played a much better game on Tuesday's 18, and turned in his card Tuesday evening with an 89.

The annual dinner of the association took place at the Pines Tuesday evening, at this time the winners were awarded their prizes by H. Dev Chipman. In the finals for the Harbor View House, emblematic of the Digby Golf Club Championship, Richard Lynch parred the first 6 holes making him 5 up on Gerald Ross. The seventh, a par 4, was halved with 35 after Ross failed to take advantage of a wide open chance. The 8th and 9th were par 3. Ross collected both easily as Lynch blew himself with a 7 and 6. Medal scores of the first 9 were Lynch 41, Ross 42. On the homeward stretch Ross had a 40 and Lynch a 36, and the match and cup went to the latter by a 5 and 4 margin. Results in the early stages of the competition were as follows:

W. E. Tupper defeated Capt. K. P. V. Forrester 5 and 4.

Richard Lynch defeated Lawrence Ross 2 and 1.

J. Ernest Ross defeated Thomas Howe 2 and 1.

Rev. J. W. R. Stewart defeated Charles C. Hubbell 2 up.

By virtue of a 3 and 2 victory over W. E. Tupper, Richard Lynch advanced to the final along with Ernest Ross, who scored a 6 and 5 win in his match with Theo. B. Nesbitt.

Out of respect for the late John G. Sheehan, whose death occurred suddenly on the Digby Golf Course a short time ago, the Myrtle Hotel Handicap cup will not be up for competition this year. Mr. Sheehan was one of the finalists in this annual competition.

Several informal net score tournaments have been held over the Digby Golf Club this season. The winner of the special tombstone competition was W. W. Howe of Cincinnati. O. Mr. Wing of Boston, was runner up.

Best and Mr. Hubbe with 66 each—par for 146 to layout. A loss of the coin decided the issue in favor of Mr. Hubbell.

Marriages

Hitchie - O'Brien

The United Church at East Saint John, was the scene of a pretty wedding recently when Miss Ella Gertrude O'Brien, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. W. O'Brien, became the bride of William Munroe Hitchie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Hitchie, of Noel, Hants County. The bride's father officiated and was assisted by her uncle, Rev. Dr. E. A. Rees, and Rev. L. J. Wason. The bride was escorted to the altar by her brother, Arthur O'Brien, and was wearing a lovely dress of turquoise blue chiffon, made on long lines, with three quarter length sleeves, hat of the same material and shoes to correspond, and long white gloves. Her bouquet was of Tallinn roses. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Anna O'Brien, who wore a becoming dress of maize taffeta, a brown velvet hat, shoes and lace mitts to match and carried a bouquet of brown-eyed Susans. Gordon Hitchie, brother of the groom, was groomsmen, and the ushers were Kenneth Rees, and Douglas Breen. The wedding is of interest to many Bear River friends as the Rev. J. W. O'Brien was stationed at the Bear River United Church for some years, and the bride is a small girl attended Oakden School.

HONORED BY SHOWER

On Friday evening a merry party, under the leadership of Mrs. J. A. McKenna and Mrs. James D. Hubley, took place at the Colonial Arms, Deep Brook, which was to have been a corn-toss on the beach—but the disappointing weather seemed only to raise the spirits of the guests, who, to the number of thirty-four, ate their corn at small tables in the hotel.

Following supper, several rounds of bridge were enjoyed, when seven tables were in progress and the prizes were won by Mrs. Walter M. Romark, Fred R. Harris, Miss Maude Hall and Walter Harris.

Shortly before eleven o'clock a very beautiful basket of flowers was presented with musical accompaniment, to Mr. and Mrs. Carrel E. Clarke, who for the first time realized they were the honored guests and the party in their honor.

Then appeared a huge decorated basket filled with mysterious bundles, and a most hilarious hour was spent while Mrs. Clarke opened the parcels and Mr. Clarke read the—in many instances, very ridiculous verses which accompanied the gifts, and which proved to be an array of very attractive and useful kitchen utensils and dishes.

After singing "For They are Jolly Good Fellows," the party dispersed for their homes in Bear River amid expressions of regret at the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Clarke, who left, with their family, on Tuesday to take up their residence in Aylesford.

THE BEAR RIVER BOOTH

The committee in charge of the Bear River booth at the Hospital Fair last Wednesday, greatly appreciated the hearty response to the solicitation for fancy cooking and other donations by the town people.

The booth itself was prettily decorated with crepe paper in sweet pea shades, and baskets of beautiful sweet peas donated by Mrs. E. F. Powers, Deep Brook, (Victoria Bridge).

A tribute to the attractive array of dainty cakes and other delectable food displayed, was the readiness with which it was purchased, not one was crumb remaining when the booth was closed at ten o'clock. The gross receipts were $42.15, the net, $41.65, and when one considers that the cakes sold at an average price of about twenty cents per dozen, this means the handling of over two hundred dozen. The proceeds were handed to the treasurer of the Digby Hospital Association by Mrs. W. M. Romans, treasurer of the Bear River Women's Institute.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Copeland are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brinton.

No Cure for Onions

Science confessed itself beaten by the smell of the onion. The only way to stop "onion breath," two doctors reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association, was to quit eating them. Mouth wash was no help, they said, because the onion eater breathes deeply from the lungs. It took a lot of scientific sniffing to decide the question, the two physicians declared.

Believe It or Not

A farmer near Stratford, Ont., had a new idea when a stack of hay was about to be built. He decided that the easiest way to press it down would be to saddle his horse and ride around on the growing stack. Everything worked fine till the stack was complete. Then the horse was on top of it, with no way to get down. The neighbors were called into consultation, a half load of hay was backed up to the stack and the horse persuaded to step on it. After this shift the horse was still up in the wagon, so the hay cart was driven into the river, the horse pushed off and swam ashore.

THE LATE HARDY H. BENT

Obituary

Hardy Herbert Bent

The death of Hardy Herbert Bent, one of the best known and most highly respected colored citizens of the county, occurred at his home on Church Street on Friday morning of last week. Hardy was born at Round Hill, Annapolis County, 80 years ago, and was the son of the late Brubury and Mary (Connors) Bent. For over half a century he operated a shoe shining stand in Digby, forty years of that time on the little platform in front of the Courier office. It was more than sixty years ago that Hardy first started shining shoes. In his younger days he was quite a victim of "wanderlust" and he carried his outfit to Halifax, Saint John, New York and Toronto. It was while employed as a news agent on the Grand Trunk Railway between Detroit Junction to Toronto, run that Hardy lost his right leg. That was some sixty years ago and from that time until his death he wore a "peg leg". During his lifetime he shined the shoes of many notable personages, among them the late King Edward VII, when as Prince of Wales, he made a visit to Toronto. His first customer in Digby, after he had returned to this town to remain, was Samuel C. Hood, sr., ex-mayor of Yarmouth, who is still living in that town. Hardy's memory for faces was wonderful and he would often surprise an American visitor who had not been here for many years, by recalling incidents in his previous stay. This was the first summer since Hardy started in business here that he has not been at the old stand. Taken sick in the early spring he was not able to come "down town", and he has been missed considerably. Many tourists having enquired about him. Some thirty years ago he joined Holy Trinity and the funeral on Saturday afternoon was conducted by Rev. A. E. Gabriel, rector of that church. Interment was in the Anglican cemetery.

The following poem was written in May, 1921, on the completion of Hardy's fiftieth years in business, by the late Thomas F. Anderson, of Boston, a warm friend of Hardy's for many years:

Since '71, in fashion neat
He's shined the shoes of Digby's feet.
He's scanned a hundred thousand faces
You'll find him shining hard and late.

Close by the local Fourth Estate,
The shoes he's brushed, if jucked in ears,
Would reach from here clear up to Mars.

He shines for Tories, Griffs and Trumps,
And knows a lot concerning "vamps".
Likewise the tongues of shoes and women,
And "Louis" heels and footwear trimmings.

He'll polish up your auto "shoe"
As slick as one of kung-fu.
Of styles and "lasts" he knows the vogue,
And keeps a brogan from a "hrogue".

He's shined the "shock of Howes and Tappers",
And knows when we are on our "uppers".
He's filled with orthopedic knowledge,
And tho' he never went to college

He ranks high as an Oxford "gent",
And makes our summer tourists glad,
He's interested in their "rolls",
But bothers little with their soles.

We hope to meet him by and by,
When living costs are not so high;
But Hardy will outshine us all,
For he'll receive St. Peter's call.
To harness with celestial fire,
The sunbeams of the Heavenly Choir.
So let us quit a cheering song,
To Hardy, whilst he shines 'em up.

AN UPSIDE-DOWN UTOPIA

What a topsy-turvy world this is turning out to be. In our childhood we were told that work was the only way to health, wealth and happiness. And now the United States pays huge sums to people for not raising corn and cotton and sugar. And the children of this generation are being taught that the easiest way to get health, wealth and happiness is not to work. And the harder you don't work the richer you get.

Obituary

At Meteghan, on Saturday morning of last week, Mrs. Pierre Deveau, better known as Mrs. Maggie Deveau, died at her home aged 80 years and 6 months. She was a daughter of the late Walter Welch and Catherine (Melanson) Welch, of Plympton. She was married 52 years ago to Pierre Deveau, who predeceased her 43 years. She leaves to mourn their loss two sons, Edmond Deveau, J. P., and John F. Deveau, manager of the Meteghan Shipbuilding Co.; and one daughter, Annie, (Mrs. Joseph Robichaud), two brothers, James Welch, of Salem, Mass., who came for the funeral, and John, of Boise City, Idaho; three sisters, Elizabeth (Mrs. Louis B. Robichaud), Calvie, (Mrs. Julius Deveau) and Miss Frances Welch, all of Meteghan. The funeral took place Monday morning in the Stella Maris church, Rev. Father d'Entremont, officiating, assisted by Rev. Father Maillet, of Salmon River, and Rev. Father LeBlanc, of St. Alphonse de Clare. The choir was led by Rev. A. Comeau, with Mrs. Joseph LeBlanc at the organ. The pall bearers were Walter Deveau, Andre Deveau, Andre Robichaud, Raoul Deveau, Edward and Desire J. Deveau.

Many friends have learned with regret of the passing of Peter LeCain Wright at his home at an early hour Tuesday morning, following a brief illness, at the age of 70 years. He was of Huguenot descent, being the son of James and Eliza LeCain Wright, whose ancestors came out from the Isle of Jersey in 1742 and settled in Annapolis Royal. Mr. Wright was born at Lake LaRose, Annapolis County, Oct. 15, 1865, and resided in Digby for the past fifty-six years. He was an authority on the early history of railroading in Nova Scotia, and in his youth was on the staff of the steamer

Evangeline. Mr. Wright was greatly beloved by the younger people of the town, having given many faithful years of service at the Digby Academy, Grace United Church and I. O. O. F. Lodge, retiring six years ago, owing to ill health. Surviving members of the family are: Mrs. Gladys Budrow, with whom he made his home; Grace (Mrs. Edward Hayden) of Digby; Goldie (Mrs. Lloyd Fletcher) of Amherst, and Hulton A., of Haverhill, Mass.; one sister, Mrs. Jane MacKinnon, of Digby; and brother, George B., of Brookline, Mass.; also eight grandchildren. Funeral services took place from his late residence yesterday afternoon with Rev. Dr. Hodgson, pastor of Grace United Church, officiating. Interment was in Fairview (United Church) cemetery.

The death of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Beaton occurred at the home of her sister, Miss Effie Adams, Birch Street, Digby, on Wednesday morning. Deceased, who was 81 years of age, was born at Bay View, Digby County, the daughter of the late John and Mary Ann (Morrison) Adams. When a young girl she moved to Weymouth, where she resided most of her life. In 1930, a short time after the death of her son, Arch, she came to Digby to live with her sister, Miss Effie Adams. Fifty years ago this February past she married, at Weymouth, Alexander Beaton, of Mabou, C. B., who predeceased her in 1917. Surviving Mrs. Beaton are four sons and one daughter, namely: Alexander H. Beaton, Brighton, Mass.; Herbert A. Beaton, Providence, R. I.; Irving A. Beaton, Brighton, Mass.; Clifford E. Beaton, LaHave, and Mary E. Beaton, Brighton, Mass.; also two sisters, Miss Effie Adams and Mrs. Annie Post, Digby. Interment took place this morning at St. Joseph's cemetery, Weymouth, with Rev. Father D. C. Melanson officiating. During her lifetime in Weymouth, Mrs. Beaton, who was a devout member of the Roman Catholic church, was very prominent in affairs of the church and community. Her death followed an illness of little more than a week.

BAD AUTO ACCIDENT LAST NIGHT

Seven persons were taken to the Digby General Hospital last night for treatment following an automobile crash at Taylor's Corner, Conway, about two miles from Digby. They were Mr. and Mrs. A. Freeman Rafuse, of East Brenton, Yarmouth Co., their four children, Lauretta, Jean, Hilda and Ardona; also another child, Campbell, Arsenault. The Rafuse family resided in Halifax until moving to Yarmouth County village a short time ago.

Of the seven occupants of the car, Lauretta, the eldest child, about ten years of age, was the most seriously injured. Thirteen stitches were required to close a wound in her forehead and several were required for a bad cut on her shoulder. Jean and Hilda were less seriously injured and only a few stitches were required. The baby and young Arsenault, as well as Mr. Rafuse, did not require medical treatment. Mrs. Rafuse was cut about the hands.

The accident occurred about 8.00 o'clock. Witnesses say the car was travelling about 25 miles an hour but as Mr. Rafuse applied the brakes to turn the corner into Digby, the speed was cut down to about fifteen. The cause of the accident was attributed to the locking of one of the front wheel brakes, locking that wheel and allowing the other to run free. The machine skidded into a deep ditch and turned over, becoming a total wreck. All the glass was broken, one side completely demolished and the top crushed in on the seats. The occupants were got out through the roof and taken to the home of William Tobo, Dr. Dickie and the R. C. M. P. were summoned and the doctor ordered their removal to the hospital for examination. They were discharged from that institution about ten o'clock and taken back to Tobo's where they spent the night.

Little Girl In Auto Fatality

With her new books tucked under her arm, little Ada Stanton, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Stanton, Tiddville, skipped gaily from the Tiddville school house Tuesday afternoon, completing the second day in her school career. A few minutes later her broken body lay on the roadside, where she had been struck by a passing car.

The little body was picked up and carried tenderly into the nearby home of Daniel M. Frost, but life had expired before Dr. F. E. Rice, who had been summoned from Sandy Cove, could reach her.

Apparently the child had become confused on the road. With several small companions, after leaving the school, she started to cross the main Digby Neck highway. Almost across and out of harm's way, they saw a car approaching them travelling in the direction from Digby.

For some reason the little Stanton girl retraced her steps and walked directly into the path of the car, almost before the driver could apply his brakes.

The child was knocked to the ground and the wheels of the car passed over her body. The driver, Edgar Trask, of Little River, did everything possible to avoid the accident, according to witnesses, but the child stepped into the path of his car so suddenly he was unable to prevent the accident. Her small companions watched from the side of the road.

To the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Stanton, the remains were taken after Dr. Rice had pronounced death as almost instantaneous.

An inquest was conducted on Tuesday night, at the home of the grandparents, before Coroner W. C. Harris, of Barton, and a verdict of "Accidental Death," was returned.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Thurber and son James, after spending a few days at their bungalow on the Shore Road, returned last Friday to their home in Watertown, Mass.

Big Masonic Gathering.

An Tuesday evening King Solomon Lodge, A. F. and A. M., was host to a large number of visiting Masons, about a dozen different lodges being represented. The special occasion was the conferring of the Master Mason degree on two candidates by Hiram Lodge, of Yarmouth. The work was beautifully done and the musical parts of the ceremony, rendered by a special quartette from Yarmouth, were wonderful. Refreshments were served and the visitors went in the "wee sma' hours."

Struck By Car.

Walter Handsaker, well known resident of Mount Pleasant, suffered cuts and bruises Tuesday night, when struck and knocked to the road by a car driven by Reginald Handsaker, also of Mt. Pleasant. The accident occurred on the west side of the Racquette Bridge. Reginald Handsaker, in order to avoid a car turning at the corner of the road going towards the Pines Hotel, swerved and struck the elder Handsaker, who was unconscious when picked up from the road. He is making a good recovery.

Former Digby Pastor Hurt.

On a recent Sunday Rev. W. H. Watts, of Point de Bute, narrowly escaped serious injury, when his car "skidded" on a muddy road and went into the ditch. Mr. Watts was thrown against the steering wheel with such force that the wheel was broken in three places. Fortunately no bones were broken, although he was badly bruised.

V. O. N. Benefit Next Thursday.

A Telephone Bridge and 45's Party will be held next Thursday, 10th, for the benefit of the Victorian Order of Nurses. Mrs. Sypher and Mrs. Fritz Dakin are the convenors. Tickets, 35 cents. Bridge and 45's.

A Generous Gift.

As a reward to the firemen of the Town of Digby for their excellent work on the night of the recent fire on the mill property, in which they were successful in confining the flames to the cook house, H. T. Warner very generously gave each member of the department a load of wood—a gift which was much appreciated by the men.

Old Picture Found.

Given the task of renovating a 10-foot by 4-foot portrait canvas which has hung in the entrance hall of the Prince's Theatre, Bradford, Eng., for many years, a local art dealer discovered that the picture is an original painting by John Collier, a famous portrait painter of the last generation.

Overnight Cabins.

During the past few years overnight cabins have been coming more and more in use. The first built were small and rather crude but of late they have been steadily improving. A short time ago the editor and his wife, on a trip through the Valley, stopped at The Elms Overnight Cabins, between Wolfville and Grand Pre and found them all that the average tourist could desire. Clean, comfortable, well furnished and very accessible, they are a credit to the Valley.

Gypsy Lad Returned.

Abandoned in Saskatoon ten years ago, a Gypsy lad was returned to his relatives after a visit of the Gypsy band attracting by the Saskatoon Exhibition. Ten years ago a pair of Gypsies visited a little home in Nutana, suburb of Saskatoon and arranged to leave their one-year-old child for a short time. Weeks later when the boy's parents failed to return, the foster parents headed for the Gypsy camp only to find the parents had left the vicinity. The baby was not well at the time and was taken to the hospital where he was christened "Toddle" but later received the name David, after entering the Children's Shelter. Now the 11-year-old boy is out seeing the world because his uncle offered to rear him as his own son.

Union of Municipalities Meet in Convention Here

Warden J. Vian Andrews, president of the Union of Nova Scotia Municipalities, presided over the 31st annual convention, which concluded this morning with the election of officers for the ensuing year. The convention opened at the Pines Hotel Wednesday morning.

Addresses of welcome to the delegates and their guests were delivered by His Worship, Mayor M. C. Denton, of Digby; Warden Leo LeBlanc, of the Municipality of Clare; and E. P. Hankinson, deputy warden of the Municipality of Digby. Replies to these were delivered by Mayor E. J. Cragg, Halifax; Mayor S. E. Muggah, Sydney; F. W. Harris, town clerk, Annapolis Royal, and R. S. MacKay, town solicitor, Yarmouth.

In his address Mayor Denton extended a hearty welcome on behalf of the town, and promised the warm support of the towns, people and local committees in charge of the convention. Warden LeBlanc brought greetings from Clare, and spoke of the two races working and living hand in hand, with a common object at heart—loyalty to the crown. Deputy Warden Hankinson, in extending greetings from the English speaking Municipality of Digby, stressed briefly on the geography and industries of the district.

In responding to the address, welcome Mayor Cragg, of Halifax, said that in his opinion the municipal governments were the most important of all government units, they being the nearest to the people, collecting more in taxes than either the provincial or federal governments, and having more servants on their pay rolls, yet the cost of operation of the municipal governments was less than that of other forms. He also stated government was becoming more and more complex, interfering more and more with private business of industrial and social nature. He stressed the need of simplification, and suggested as a possible cure, the abolishment of municipal and provincial governments, and direct control from Ottawa.

Mayor Muggah extended an invitation to the Union to meet at Sydney for the 1937 convention, and Mr. Harris and Mr. MacKay spoke briefly on the charm of Digby and surroundings and of the early history of this area, the latter speaker making special mention of the ship-building in Digby County.

After thanking the convention for the honor bestowed upon him by electing him as president of the Union, J. Vian Andrews, in his presidential address, spoke of the many changes that have taken place in the 31 years since the organization of the Union. Municipal and civic governments are now confronted with problems that did not exist in those days, he said, and named among the new problems those of unemployment, loss of revenue and the gradual sliding away of morals of certain classes who are

Miss Bessie J. MacNeill, of Wolfville, returned to her home on Saturday, after spending two weeks at the Barton House. Among last week's guests at the Barton House were: Mrs. D. A. Davies, New York City; Mrs. W. VanBlarcom, Digby; Mr. and Mrs. W. Work, Brockton, Mass.; Charles A. Abbott and wife, of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Warren (nee Mary Hayden) and little daughter Evelyn, and Mrs. Geo. Kutchukian (nee Goldie Hayden) have returned to their homes in Brockton and Cambridge, Mass., after spending two weeks with their parents, Capt. and Mrs. James Hayden. They were accompanied by Mrs. Hayden's sister, Mrs. Ida L. Graham, of Hyde Park, Mass. Mrs. Warren and Mrs. Kutchukian attended the Miller-Edwards wedding at Bridgetown, recently.

The recipients of alms doled out under the name of social service. Although the government, through old age pensions, widows' allowances, needy "T. B." cases, etc. was doing all it could to help financially, there was, nevertheless, the question of how much longer the taxpayers could stand the steady drain. In 31 years taxes have trebled, and the earning power of the people reduced considerably.

The financial report of the Union was presented by the secretary-treasurer, Judge Arthur Roberts, who also read the lengthy report of the executive committee, in which was reviewed much of the work that had been accomplished during the year. Tribute was also paid, in this report, to a number of members of the Union who had died since the last meeting, and to several who had been associated with municipal affairs for thirty years and more.

G. E. Romkey, M.L.A., and former president of the Union, gave a brief resume of the acts of legislation which had been passed during the year. He admitted the taxpayers of the province were in a serious position, yet, he added, the government is only endeavoring as far as they deem wise, to grant the many requests for new laws that come from these taxpayers. One of the most unique bills passed during the year, he said, was the one to reduce the membership of the municipal council of the Municipality of Halifax, through which that municipality expected to make a saving of $1,800 annually, as well as to give more efficient administration.

The Resolutions committee named at Wednesday morning's session was as follows: R. M. Fielding, municipal solicitor of Halifax, chairman; A. H. Sperry, municipal clerk, Lunenburg; F. W. Harris, town clerk, Annapolis Royal; W. A. Gates, alderman, Halifax; D. M. Bower, town clerk, Shelburne; R. D. Crawford, town clerk, Amherst; H. M. Ferguson, municipal clerk, Cumberland; E. F. Hankinson, deputy Traffic across the Bay of Fundy, by the Princess Helene, has been very heavy recently. So heavy has the transport of passengers and automobiles become that the boat had to make a special trip on Sunday to catch up on its freight shipments. One day last week the steamer carried 860 passengers in one day—a new record for this service.

Sufferer Follows Good Advice
—and Takes Kruschen

The writer of the following letter had a bad attack of rheumatism, and was advised to take Kruschen. He did so, and describes his experiences in the following words:

"About two years ago I developed a severe attack of rheumatism in my left shoulder blade. I tried all sorts of remedies, but with no results, until one day my brother-in-law, on hearing of my suffering, exclaimed, 'There is only one thing for rheumatism! That is—Kruschen Salts.' I decided to purchase a bottle, and for the first week took a teaspoonful in a glass of hot water each morning. The pain gradually disappeared and has now gone entirely. I am still taking my early morning dose, as I feel convinced that it is helping to keep me fit."—J. G. B.

Rheumatic conditions are frequently the result of an excess of uric acid in the body. Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts are notable for their work in dissolving uric acid. Other ingredients of these Salts assist Nature to expel the dissolved acid from the system.

Of these pictures Mr. Syda is presenting the Town of Digby with the one showing His Majesty, King Edward, and the Canadian ministers, who were present at the unveiling ceremonies, and to present to the Digby Branch of the Canadian Legion, B. E. S. L., the large pictures of the unveiling ceremony and of the Mehin Gate, at Ypres, Belgium.

Since his return Mr. Syda has given souvenirs to his friends who sponsored the Legion's fund to send him to Vimy as their representative at the unveiling, and pictures of the monument unveiled to those in Digby whose son or relative lost their lives overseas, and whose names appear on the Digby War Memorial.

It is with pleasure that we begin with this issue Mr. Syda's story of his experiences on the pilgrimage, beginning with the time he left Digby. Other installments will deal with the reception accorded the pilgrims overseas, and of the return voyage.

On Tuesday, July 14th, I started on my second trip to "Hillgrove"—it was just twenty-one years ago to the month since we left Canada for England and then to the battlefields of France and Flanders. This trip, however, was of a different nature than that of more than a score of years ago. This time we were bound across the pond to pay our respects and homage to our comrades and buddies who paid the supreme sacrifice "over there," and whose bodies, marked by little crosses, sleep peacefully and quietly in fields once torn by the strife of war and hate.

Boarding the Princess Helene, at Digby, for Saint John, from which city we were to take our train for Montreal, I was joined by others, who were my fellow pilgrims to Vimy. Among them were Ken. Edwards, of Annapolis Royal; Frank H. Beattie, of Bridgetown; Sheriff Currie and D. C. Morris, Windsor; Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Walsh and Miss D. Hiltz, of Kentville; and Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hennigar, of Wolfville.

In crossing the Bay of Fundy the weather might have been better, but I can't say that I minded it much; in fact, I enjoyed it, and found on board several who were pretty good sailors, and had many chats with them—chats about the old days "over there" and "guesses" of what was ahead of us on this voyage on which we were about to embark.

Before landing at Saint John, Chief Stewart, George Bailey, Second Stewart Lawrence and Purser Hartshorn invited me to sit down to a delightful supper with them. Stewart Bailey presented me with a letter of introduction to his sister, Alice, and brother, Sydney, who reside in London, while Mr. Lawrence, who at one time lived in Antwerp, asked me to look up an old friend of his, in that city.

Making up my minds to travel via C. P. R., to Montreal, our party took the train for that great Canadian metropolis almost immediately after the Princess Helene docked. On the train I became acquainted with Col. Bullock who had a lot to talk about, in fact, it was well after midnight before any of our party took to our berths—we were more anxious to talk than we were to sleep.

It was Friday morning that I became real chummy with Frank Beattie. He joined me on the train and we sat together until we arrived in Montreal about 11 o'clock. One of the first persons we met when we got off the train was George Cardoza, of Digby. We also met George Tidd, formerly of Digby, who wished to be remembered to all his old friends at home and showered me with question after question on what has taken place in the old town since he left. Ross Hunter, of Round Hill, was another acquaintance we met in Montreal. After seeing George Cardoza off on his home-ward trip we spent the rest of the day sight-seeing.

Perhaps the most exciting day of our trip, while we were still in Canada, was Thursday, July 16, the day we embarked on the steamer Montcalm, on our voyage across the ocean. We arrived on the dock at 8:30 in the morning, and sailed at 11. The docks and river banks were lined with thousands of people who came to see us off and to bid us God-speed and a safe return. This farewell reminded me to some extent of the day twenty-one years ago when we left the Canadian shores for overseas, many of us never to return, to this beloved country; and, truly, it was in memory of those lads who did not return we were making this second trip, which in reality, was a sacred mission on their behalf.

It was on board the Montcalm that we first realized how extensive were the plans that had been made for us, and the efficiency by which these plans were executed. Before leaving home each of the pilgrims were mailed a card giving necessary information re. deck, stateroom number and berth. Presenting these cards, we were all located and settled for the voyage in very short time. My roommates were James Mayne, Toronto, and R. J. Pollard, Vancouver, two very congenial lads, and we remained close friends throughout the trip.

After becoming acquainted we went on deck and got into the lineup for our pilgrimage medals, haversack and barrel, and were given a list of passengers and fellow pilgrims, of which there were 1,200 on board our ship.

Later, we were lined up again for our sittings at mealtimes. I was a fortunate chap and got a seat at the first sitting—table 16, chair 387. How I pitied the hungry lads who had to wait for later tables!

At 8 o'clock in the evening we arrived off the historic city of Quebec. There, as in Montreal, crowds lined the banks to bid us farewell. At this city we were joined by other pilgrims who joined us from a ferry boat. All along the banks were cheering crowds; whistles everywhere along the St. Lawrence greeted us by their shrill blasts. We called it a day after locating our baggage—and what a day!

En route we rose at 6:30, when we were served a cup of tea. Breakfast was served at 8; lunch at 12:30; tea at 4 and dinner at 6:30. Dancing and concerts were held every night.

On Saturday we were off the Newfoundland coast, passing Belle Isle about 6 p.m. There was still some snow on the ground, and several icebergs in sight. I, like many others, got out a camera to take snaps of these. It was on this day I met Dr. R. Anderson, of Toronto, one of my old buddies. Dr. Anderson recognized me as his sergeant while walking across the deck, although I had to confess I didn't recognize him. It was Dr. Anderson who told me Hubbard (Dr. J. P. Hubbard, Detroit) was on board, with his wife. Dr. Hubbard was another of the old buddies. Needless to say, we had a lot to talk about.

It was Anderson who suggested that we post a notice on the bulletin board to learn if there were any others of the old 28th and 16th on board. This notice brought results. We found Lewis, of Guelph, Ont.; Harry Joyce, of Windsor, Ont.; and G. Potter, of London, Ont. A group photograph of the six of us was arranged, but, unfortunately, Potter failed to show up, so only five appear in the picture.

On Monday we were granted permission by the captain to visit the pilot house—a privilege rarely given. While on the bridge we took a few snaps and met Major Burbridge, in whose charge we were placed for this voyage. During a long chat with the latter he requested I present the medals at Mons. During the day we managed to collect the Nova Scotians on the forward deck for a group photograph and also took snaps of Major Burbridge, and our escort, the "Sarcophagus," which followed us closely.

Tuesday and Wednesday went by quietly. We all took part in games, both on the "horses" and ship's mileage—sometimes with luck but more often without; met and talked with new and old friends who came from all parts of the Dominion. During these days we had group photographs of the Maritimers taken, lined up for tickets for our hotels in London and for money exchange. An Au Revoir Turkey dinner was served Thursday night—a magnificent feast.

We sighted land on Friday, the 24th, passing Lands End, Isle of Wight and on to Dover, passing up the English Channel over to the Belgian coast, sighting Zeebrugge and "The Mole." In the history of the great war, "The Mole" will be remembered by many as the scene of one of the most heroic feats in those days

Don't let the high cost of feeding your family discourage you. There's still one delicious food that hasn't gone up in price. Kellogg's Corn Flakes—nourishing and rich in energy—are one of the biggest values you can buy. Ask your grocer for Kellogg's, and serve them often.

MAKING PREPARATIONS FOR BIG FAIR

A brightly painted, green-lawned and great halled city is springing to life within the 50-acre enclosure controlled by the Nova Scotia Provincial Exhibition in Halifax.

Populated only by maintenance men during the long winter and spring months, the city in which all Nova Scotians are shareholders, is being prepared for a population of 75,000 during this year's annual big fair, September 28th-October 3rd.

It is a city of glamor, bright lights and thrills that E. Frank Lordy, secretary-manager of the exhibition, is planning for Nova Scotia's show window of industry, agriculture and art.

In preparation for this year's show, the exhibition plant is receiving a thorough house-cleaning. For weeks a small army of workers have been going over the entire property and the sound of many hammers is heralding the approach of a larger, different and more fascinating exhibition.

"The big fair cannot be allowed to remain unchanged from year to year," says Mr. Lordy. "There must be changes, improvements and always more things new. That is what the Commission is accomplishing and this year patrons can be assured of many original features."

So the show manager who is all for change is going about directing his staff of workers in remodeling the fair grounds and buildings under a planned program of improvements, which have already worked wonders.

Great halled buildings have been painted and repaired. Wide sweeping lawns are cropped clean, and white powdered stone covers winding walks, under beautiful shade trees. Some of the walks have just been added. Gaily decorated stairways have been built where the ground slopes away. Never, the horseman says, has the race track been in better condition.

Of the extensive program of change and improvements that have been carried indoors as well as throughout the grounds, Great high walls of the Exhibition buildings have all been done over and some of the buildings remodelled to better suit the needs of exhibitors and patrons.

More exhibits than ever have been secured for the big fair and the educational value the exhibition has to offer has been correspondingly increased.

The background of the parade of Nova Scotia Industries, will be one of thrills and merriment unsurpassed. It will be a carnival city full of glamor, a variety of clean entertainment and spectacular events that will greet patrons this year, and remember—CHANGE. You can't afford to miss it.

HOW TO BEAT THE MAIL ORDERS

The busy stores are those which send to their customers' living rooms the Home Newspaper containing their own advertisements of products and prices. People are busy today. They will not take time out to shop where merchants hide their wares and keep their prices secret. Advertising has become of the greatest service to busy housewives, both as a time-saver and money-saver. She knows from advertising where she can buy what she wants and also what it costs. The merchant who succeeds in business is the one who has what the people want and who lets them know he has it.

WHO OWES YOU A LIVING?

Millions of people are being educated in the world today to believe that someone owes them a living. The laws of nature do not seem to recognize this doctrine.

Just go out into a primitive country and see who owes you a living; you will soon find out that your existence depends on your ingenuity and initiative.

Governments were organized to go nature one better and make it a little easier to live and take care of the helpless whom nature would otherwise unceremoniously remove.

But today many perfectly healthy able-bodied people are being taught to loaf at the expense of the savings of others instead of to rustle for themselves.

Such a system can endure only so long as there are stored-up savings to confiscate, then the inexorable laws of nature will prevail.

An epidemic of pests completely devours a tree or field of grain, and then the pests die. Nature takes care of that.

The same thing can happen to governments—if they eat up their capital to maintain idleness, they will eventually find that nature refuses to hear their demands that "some one owes them a living."

GLARE LIGHTS

All over this continent the automobile death rate is now almost fifty per cent higher than during the hours of daylight. The truth is the menace of night driving is due to ill-adjusted neglected and worn lights on motor cars. And the worst of all perils of the night is the glare light. That can be found in expensive cars and on old ones. Headlight glare has made night driving a "game of blind man's bluff" that often ends in tragedy. Glare is responsible for a larger percentage of fatalities than any other one light fault. While many of the accidents occurring in darkness could be prevented by careful driving or by proper care of equipment, glare is essentially a problem beyond the pale of carelessness, according to the conclusions arrived at by special investigators. This is definitely established by scientific research in the field. Physiologists have found that if it takes one second for a man's eyes to contract and adjust themselves to the glare, it requires sixty seconds—a full minute—for his eyes to return to the focus required for night driving without glare. It has been shown that the driver of a car going twenty-five miles an hour who is subjected to the glare of head lights, is blind to any object in his way after passing the glare for from 111 to 148 feet. Going at forty miles an hour he is unable to see clearly for from 177 to 236 feet.

Old Days in Acacia Valley

Well, folks, you'll remember I told you in my previous writing that the story was not complete so here I am, back again, with more memories of the Shelburne Road and vicinity. And you'll know, too, that the thought and spirit of my recollections embrace every one of you in that old-day district, even though space does not permit the relating of some outstanding memory.

I'm thinking right now of Charlie Campbell, whose home place lay in the valley between the two ranges. It bordered the old mill creek, far below Uncle John Nichols' place, lying to the east and south of the Shelburne Road.

Well, much of the little valley—Campbell's flat we used to call it—was as level as the kitchen floor. And there was a regular riot of beautiful trees and flowers along the creek. It was a wonderful sight. The creek itself was a racing torrent in the winter and early springtime, for the melting snow from the mountain sides gave bountiful supply of water.

I have been on Campbell's flat when the cherry trees and the apple trees were in blossom. The hardwood trees would be in bud. It was, to me, a most beautiful and picturesque sight—one never to be forgotten.

Now, let's go up and visit Uncle John Nichols and dear Aunt Margaret once more. It was always, "Hello, folks," and "Hello, George, how are you today, and what are you going to do? You know those turnips are ready for thinning, and the day is just right for it." So off to the fields we would go, and what a good time I would have, for I liked cousin George and loved to have him tell me stories of which he had a goodly supply. We'd hurry through that turnip job and then George might tell me that the apples would soon be coming along, and I'd reply,

"Say, George, I'm going over to the Bell place tomorrow, as I know the bough apples will be ripe and I'll have a good time with Elkanah and Freeman out in the back orchard."

And so I'd go for that visit, and the boys would urge me to stay for lunch or dinner. And what a feed Cousin Hannah would set out. The boys just wouldn't let me go back to Aunt Margaret's. They said my cousin Hannah would scold if I didn't stay and eat.

I'm reminded right now, George, of those courtship days of yours, when Bobbie was on the job. What good times I had with your sweet heart! And with Uncle John! Times I'll never be forgetting.

Then, there were my other good friends—the Indian folks, Jim Gorman, his wife, and Jim, Jr. Many a happy day have I spent out back of the Gorman log cabin, located near Steve Warner's goose corral. Mrs. Gorman taught me how to weave baskets, and I used to help color them, using those home made Indian dyes. I liked their "eats" and in time I learned quite a few words of their language. I could make a bow and arrow and learned how to use them. Young Jim said I would go into the woods with our bows and arrows and old muzzle loaders, and many a good piece of rabbit meat we brought home, as well as part-wares. I learned nearly every path and trail that the Indians knew, all through that section. I learned all the best of the hardwoods, from which they would select material for their baskets, bows and numerous other articles. Those were the happy days.

Now let me mention Christopher Reep, the father of Jim Reep. He was a dweller on the Shelburne Road, living pretty much alone, as Jim would be away farming. Christopher had a neat little bachelor home. He had his yoke of oxen and kept busy with the general routine of planting, harvesting and taking his products to market. Anything from potatoes to cordwood—and he'd always bring back a light load of some character, more often a load of sea weed to be used as fertilizer. He would gather this from the beach off the Digby road.

Well, Christopher would start out for Digby with his wagon well loaded. It would be an early start for it was a full day round trip. In the course of his journey to and from Digby he would often travel what seemed about four times the distance, due to his nervous temperament. For, as the oxen slowly plodded along Christopher would sometimes be twenty feet ahead of them and sometimes be twenty feet behind them—walking back and forth and constantly talking to himself. Occasionally he would break into this talk with himself long enough to shout, "Gee, haw, Buck and Luke—giddap—go long there." How memories do linger!

Well, there were the Hunts, the Balsers and others, and what good times we often had together. I can even now see Johnny Hunt, Manassah Hunt and those dear sweet sisters. It always brings a glow of pleasure to recall those days and the kindly welcome that always awaited me. Truly they were emblematic—for they were the happiest days of my life.

To cousin Hannabelle—my love and thanks for many good and happy times in your home. There were your daughters and Freeman's children, with good old Elkanah a constant right bow, always carrying a smile and a heart full of sunshine for all the world.

Some day I hope to come back and visit you all—and be just a boy once more. And why not? For we are only as old as we feel—we are only children of an older growth, as blind to the future as when we were boys and girls together. There is always hope and expectation—making up and accounting for our ambitions in life. If we did not possess this there would be but little to live for. So, blessings on you all, and that most loving place in all the world—the cradle of our childhood.

Goodnight, folks.

R. M. Nichols

ODE TO 'THE LOUSTS'

Guarded by two locust trees,
Swaying gently in the breeze,
Stands a white house by the highway.

Where green lawn and shadows lay;
Inviting one to rest and leisure.
To read, to sew—what gives them pleasure.

While drowsy bee and red top clover
From the fields the roadway over,
Call us to wander, care free, dreaming.

Down the path in sunlight gleaming
With Queen Ann's lace gaily bordered,
To the Cove where Nature's hoarded

Love's scenes of happy water.
As the tide of Pundy falls,
Ere they seaward sound retreat.

To their home in the boundless deep,
Or the bells of Sabbath draw us
To the Wildwood Chapel service.

And the hill around us beckon—
So we climb, nor stop to reckon,
Till regard for all our patience

By a view of Cove and Basin,
And the distant hill and town,
How the shady road dips down.

Where the wavelets gently quiver
From the summit to Bear River,
On their journey to the sea.

Thus this song we sing to thee,
Thou honey Locust, path Locust tree,
And the lady dear, who calls thee Home.

As reluctantly we our footsteps turn
Back to the city's noise and heat,
From this, our lovely fair retreat.

Mullen—Wilcox

A wedding of much interest to a wide circle of friends and relatives in Nova Scotia and Grand Manan as well as Black's Harbour, N. B. was solemnized on Saturday, Aug. 22nd at the Reformed Baptist parsonage, Carleton St., Saint John, when Miss Norma Natalie Wilcox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Wilcox, of Wood Island, Grand Manan, became the bride of Oscar Mullen, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Asa Mullen, of Weymouth, N. S. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. S. Mullen, an uncle of the groom. The bride was attended by Miss Evelyn Wilcox, a cousin, as maid of honor, while DeVerne Mullen, a cousin of the groom, was groomsmen. After a brief motor trip the couple returned to Black's Harbour, where they will reside. They were given a chariot by the young people of that place on Monday evening, at the home of Rev. and Mrs. H. M. Kimball. Mrs. Kimball is a sister of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Mullen have the good wishes of a host of friends.

A simple but pretty wedding took place on Monday last in St. Joseph's church, Weymouth, when Winifred M., daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. F. Hogan, was married to Dr. James J. Burns, of Dedham, Mass. The bride, attired in a travelling suit with matching accessories, entered the church on the arm of her father. Her only attendant was her sister, Kathleen, while the groom was supported by his life-long friend, John T. Carey, of Dedham. The pastor, Rev. Father Melanson, officiated, and appropriate music was rendered by Mrs. Dixon Rice as organist, and Mrs. Harley Amiraunt and Mrs. Dennis Theriault, vocal soloists. Following the ceremony, breakfast was served to members of the immediate family at the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Burns is a graduate of the Jamaica Plains High School and the Leslie School, of Cambridge, Dr. Burns graduated from the Chicago College of Dental Surgery and Forsyth Dental Infirmary, Boston. Sable light in a small boat, when they were overtaken by one of the recent heavy thunderstorms. They had considerable difficulty in reaching shore and when they did they were a mile from their intended destination. On Tuesday evening about 9 o'clock a slight shock, as of an earthquake, was felt here, and three large balls of fire were seen at the entrance of St. Mary's Bay. (Sandford reports an explosion off that port the same evening. It is possible there has been a marine disaster, fire and explosion on a motor vessel, or something of that nature. Possibly floating wreckage will tell the story shortly—Editor Courier).

Nova Scotia Boys in Race on St. Maurice River in Quebec

Nova Scotia has added new laurels to her already large collection.

The cordial feeling of the world at large has been increased. The dignity and prestige of the province has grown and its fair name and honour were ably upheld by Eber Peck and Alan Hunt during their participation in the recent great canoe race, held on the St. Maurice River, in the Province of Quebec.

These two young men, one for many years the champion guide of North America, the other just newly crowned with that title, arrived at Trois Rivières, in Quebec, to enter the race as strangers.

There they received a gracious and friendly welcome, for the way had been paved for them.

But in short order they were received in even more gracious and friendly manner, for though between them and the residents of the "Mauricie" was a barrier of language, no one failed to recognize that they were not only able men in their own craft, but fine characters personally and everything that the world understands by the term Gentleman.

Gentlemen they were—first, last, and all the time.

They were offered their choice of the canoes of the Club Canotage Radisson—but the best was not so good as many other canoes in the race.

No complaint was voiced by "Our Boys"—they took graciously what was offered and carried on with a smile, but no repining.

They met and talked with many people—the lowly peasant and his wife—the humble laborer and insignificant clerk—the public official and the cabinet minister—the prominent banker and his socially prominent wife—and one and all were charmed by the innate refinement and genuineness of Eber Peck and Alan Hunt.

Persons were there from all parts of the great province of Quebec—from numerous places in the United States—even one man there has his residence in far-off Japan.

And all of them have gained a sense of uplift and pleasure because of knowing these two Nova Scotia boys—Our Boys, they all called them—and the fame of Nova Scotia will spread.

Having been primarily responsible for the presence of these two in the great race, I wish thus to testify to the pride that I have taken in them, and to the pleasure and happiness that is mine because of the manner in which they won the affection and admiration of everyone—even of their competitors.

The Nova Scotia crew finished the great race in Number Eight position—but they won the race. They it was who received the heartiest applause.

They it was for whom songs of victory were sung by the Troubadours of Trois Rivières.

They it was whose picture was centered in the next morning's newspaper.

They it was who gained the most lines in the columns of that same paper.

And so I say—they won the race for they won the respect and admiration of a people.

I am very proud and happy to be their friend.

D. MacD. Little

By D. MacD. Little, Special Correspondent of Digby Courier

FIVE A. M.

Up and down the hotel corridors the sound of buzzers.

Waking everyone.

That they might be ready on the river bank.

For the start of the Great Race.

Sleepy and excited we gather in the kitchen.

To prepare our own breakfasts.

Coffee only.

The regular hour was not yet.

The management, even for this most exciting event, were not to be disturbed from their regular routine.

Besides, the staff had been on duty until three the night just past, with a great wedding party.

A party that danced the night through largely to the strains of "Mademoiselle, volez vous danser."

Thence to the river bank—

Dawn barely present—

A heavy mist on the water—

Box Scouts busy—

Directing where the many cars should park—

Directing where the spectators should stand—

Then having to see that they did stand there—

Competing teams arriving—

Canoes on shoulders—

A handsome bunch of athletes Guides, Lumberjacks, and rivermen.

Picturesquely attired: Amateur cameramen, Press Correspondents, Sociators, Mounties, in charge of all, Red-coated, with wide sombreros cocked over their eyes.

Cold—exciting—thrilling—tense—

Sponsors—backers—friends—

shaking hands and wishing success to the various crews—

Flashlight popping—

People calling to each other: They suddenly—

BANG—the pistol speaks—and the GREAT RACE is on.

Eighty-five miles to do that day.

Eighty-five miles of wild river—

quick current—here and there a run of rapids—and the spruce-clad mountains rising steeply on either hand.

The Race is on!

Quickly we hasten to our cars, that we may get down stream to Quisque Rapids.

There to pick advantageous spots from which to get our pictures.

From which to cheer our particular teams—and the others, too—

For this is all good fun.

No enmity between crews or backers, even though many a man had wagered a year's earnings or more on how his favourite would finish.

There they come!

Man, what paddling!

They're gone—

Come on, let's go to Rabaska.

At Rabaska is a great crowd.

All the crew at the one-time Hudson Bay Company's post across the river is gathered on that bank.

A goodly number have come on M. Crete's boat upstream from Grandee Piles.

They must have left at midnight to do it.

Others, who had slept at MacKenzie's little hotel there—

He is doing a "Land Office" business.

Coffee—

Coca-Cola—

Ice cream cones—

And of course—cigarettes.

Color—excitement—good humor—friendliness—

And yet more excitement.

Suddenly

Around the bend

And out from the rapids

Shoots a canoe;

Then another—

Then a couple more:

Our Nova Scotia boys—

Paddling easily—swinging like clockwork—

In number 12 place.

Oo-oooh—Eber

Oo-oooh—Alan,

Keep it up, boys!

Bravo—Nouvelle Ecosse—

From across the water, the flash of a paddle raised in signal—

And faintly—

Hi, Dunc—

Then another canoe—

And another—

And in short order the race has passed.

Time serves to stop here a bit and chat—

The next real point of vantage will not see the canoes for maybe an hour—

We stroll about—

Talk a while with the Mounties—

With MacKenzie—

Son, grandson and great-grandson of the one-time Factors of the "Old Company's" Post yesterday—

Talk too, with Arthur Bergeron.

The charming and able Sous-Ministre de la Voirie of the Province—

On down the river again—

Now on the boat of M. Crete—

Called "King of the Mauricie"—

Eventually catching up with And passing

The contestants—

Giving my sandwiches to one pair of paddlers—

They told us theirs were spoiled.

They shipped a wave in Quisque Rapids.

Past the beautiful northland state of Mme. MacCormick—

Past logging camps—

Log houses of newly settled colonists—

Always surrounded by the beautiful spruce-clad mountains—

At times one wonders where on the river find its course—

But always the way opens and the course appears.

At St. Roch de Mekinae—

Just above the rapids—

We again take to our car—

It had been driven thus far for us—

And we hasten on to another vantage point.

So went the day—

Excitement—

Always excitement—

And always too, the beauty of the northern Bush—

About three in the afternoon, we came to where were several cars at the top of a hill looking far up and far down the stream.

In one the Lane's, just arrived from Larchmont (N. Y.) to film the event—

While talking there and waiting for the race came numerous other cinematographers and photographers—

Some we knew, others were strangers—

It was a grand point of vantage—

The crews come on—

By now "Our Boys" in tenth place—

They pass—

We dash on

To find a place at the finish.

All Grand! Mere is there—

Cars—bicycles—buggies—people about—

The landing decorated with flags—

In the bright light of late afternoon, a pretty sight—

A long wait—

Occasionally a shout—

Canoe in sight—

Only to be succeeded by another—

No, just a group of logs—

(The drive was still on.)

"At last a canoe actually in sight—"

Then another—

And another.

Nova Scotia in tenth place—

Hearty cheers for Nova Scotia.

Those boys are already popular—

Their fame is spreading.

No sooner are they landed than we rush them to the hotel.

Under hot showers.

Eighty-five miles is a long and gruelling grind, all in one stretch.

At racing speed it seemed endless.

And neither of those boys had ever paddled that far—

Nor half that far—before.

Eighty-five miles laid across Nova Scotia would reach out far into the Bay of Fundy, and as far in the Atlantic Ocean, too.

We give the boys a stiff rub-down.

Leave them in bed for an hour before supper.

A quiet evening with our friends from home and nearby—

The boys growing in popularity because of their simplicity and genuineness—

Early to bed for them—

Not so early for us.

The start next day directly after lunch—

Crews starting one minute apart.

Because of a portage soon encountered—

Our boys are off in number ten order—

Again loud cheers for Nova Scotia.

Then a quick dash by car to Shawinigan for the day's finish.

This day the effort is for SPEED.

The course ending with five circuits of the island just opposite the Esplanade.

Yesterday it was ENDURANCE and GUTS—

Tomorrow it will be SKILL.

On the Esplanade literally thousands of people—

Maybe three thousand, tho't the Mounties

A camera is reason enough for the crowd to let one through.

Apparently no pushing nor shoving.

Exceeding good will and friendliness shown to all by all.

Here they come—

Paddles flashing—

Canoes plunging on—

Crowds cheering—

Flags waving—

Hands clapping—

Hi, boy, look—

Nova Scotia has passed the Indians—

They finish the day in number four position—

Number nine place for total time.

Grand work, Nova Scotia!

A picture show at the hotel that evening—

Films by the assembled amateurs.

Telegrams read from friends far and near—

A happy interlude.

The start next day at eleven.

Two minute intervals—

The first portage is less than a mile away.

Nova Scotia starts ninth—

The Indians eighth.

We hasten from the start

To get round the bay to the top of the portage.

Never mind the stoplights—

We are an official car.

Rounding the corner on the inside—

Thus passing five cars.

We're there!

Eber and Alan not yet, but very near.

The Indians land—

Start up—

It's a hard carry—

Straight up a very steep and a very high hill—

Then straight down again on the other side.

Old Charlie—

His wrist in a splint—

But smiling.

Attaboy, Charlie!

Charlie knows neither French nor English—

But he understands.

Qui-ee, Qui-ee!

He replies with a little smile.

Charlie knows that we are his friends—

Down the other side they go.

Eber and Alan coming—

Eber has the canoe—

Alan the paddles and lunch;

Both at a run—

Come on, Nova Scotia!

We're coming, says Alan with a grin—

And they keep coming right along.

At the top

Eber puts down the canoe—

Grabs the lunch and paddles, and is off;

Alan has the canoe on his back.

Sooner than you can say it—

And is slipping and sliding down the other slope—

A hundred feet—

They disappear in the bush.

When next we see them

They are in the stream,

Paddling like demons.

Hooryay!

Two lengths ahead of the Indians.

More cheers for les Nouvelles Ecosais.

Away we rush—

We want to get to Forges Rapids.

There will be pretty work at that point.

It is hard to get there—

We drive as fast as possible over a back road—

Scramble down a bank—

Over boulders—

And logs stranded after a freshet—

Work a precarious way to a bit of bar below the rapids—

Now over rocks—

Now knee deep—

Or deeper—

In the water—

But we gain a favorable place

And no cameras wet.

Soon come the leaders—

And presently come Our Boys.

In fifth place now—

Grand work, Eber and Alan.

Excitement—

Vegetables for the Hospital

Mr. Baker, Bear River, made a very nice donation of vegetables to the Digby General Hospital, which was much appreciated. Interest of this kind is to be commended as it shows that the value of the Hospital to our community is recognized by our newer residents. When one looks back a few years to the time when serious illness or the need of operation made a long train trip necessary, with all the attendant discomfort and added danger, it should bring very closely to us the fact that this is our hospital, and we should do all in our power to support it and help it and help to enlarge the scope of the work that can be done successfully within its walls for the good of the community.

Annual Picnic

On Wednesday of last week the members of Milford Corner Sunday School, together with a number of friends and summer visitors, held their annual picnic at Lake Joli, there being ninety persons present. The weather was perfect, and after a plentiful and delicious dinner, games of various kinds were enjoyed. Candy was distributed to all, and much too soon the time for departure arrived. The ladies, who had charge of the arrangements for serving, deserve great credit for their work, and the spirit of good-will and co-operation shown was a wonderful example of what can be done when all work together for the good of the community. Milford Corner may well feel proud of the record of their Sunday School, now well into its third successful year of work.

DOCTORS ENTERTAINED

On Thursday of last week, Dr. L. J. Lovett held a most unique "stag dinner" at his cabin at Henshaw's Beach, when the guests were the doctors on the staff of the Digby General Hospital.

The color scheme of table decorations was in orange, and blended well with the blue and orange of the cabin walls. After a bounteous supper, a staff meeting was held and then bridge was played until a late hour. All voting the occasion one of the most enjoyable functions of the year.

Mrs. W. L. Morrell and daughters Ruthie and Mildred, of Fredericton, arrived on Tuesday to visit the former's parents, Captain and Mrs. J. E. Woodworth.

ROBIN HOOD FLOUR

Makes Brilliant Showing at Canadian National Exhibition

A recent telegram received by Robin Hood Mills from Elwood Hughes, General Manager of the Canadian National Exhibition, gives striking testimony to the merits of Robin Hood Flour. The telegram was as follows:

"Robin Hood Flour wins First Prize for White Bread 57 other Prizes out of Possible 59 at Canadian National Exhibition. Robin Hood Flour wins First Prize for White Bread Fifth Year in Succession Congratulations."

Elwood Hughes, General Manager Canadian National Exhibition. The Canadian National Exhibition is Canada's greatest exhibition and its Baking Contest is a yearly rendezvous for fine cooks. Robin Hood's phenomenal showing was made in open competition with exhibits baked from all other flours and indicates as clearly as possible that this great modern flour milled from selected wheat on the prairies of Western Canada is "The Choice of Champions."

Robin Hood's success is a well deserved one. Through a quarter century of pioneering Robin Hood has become a name which all across Canada stands for the best in flour. "Everlasting Improvement" might well be the motto inscribed on a Robin Hood sack. Better methods of wheat selection, better milling, convenience in supply for Robin Hood dealers—all these are problems which Robin Hood has attacked and solved. Then comes the great wheat washing process—by which every grain of Robin Hood wheat is scrubbed and scoured to sparkling cleanliness before being milled—a revolutionary milling improvement resulting in the improved flavor and color for which Robin Hood Flour is famous. It is all these great improvements which have led the finest cooks to choose Robin Hood Flour and which have made possible the maintenance of Robin Hood's famous guarantee—"Absolute Satisfaction or your money back plus 19%."

Instantly Killed While at Play in Tree

With 11,000 volts of electricity passing through his body, ten-year-old Edward Moriarty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Moriarty, Birch Street, Digby, met instant death on Tuesday afternoon while happily at play picking horse chestnuts from a tree directly opposite Acacia Cottage, Maiden Lane.

Passing through the tree are three high tension wires leading directly from the hydro plant at Weymouth Falls to the Canadian Pacific pier at Digby. In coming down from the tree the little boy's hand evidently touched one of the wires, causing instant death.

(The father of the lad is well known all along the D. A. R. line from Digby to Halifax, he being employed for little more than a year as express messenger on this run. He had just returned from Halifax a few minutes before a young companion of Edward's—George Parker—ran up to tell him he thought Edward had been hurt. He picked him up and carried him home—but the little fellow was dead.)

Edward, with two younger chums—George and Claude Parker—had been in the tree picking chestnuts, and were evidently descending when Edward touched the deadly wire. The tree, still wet from the rain of the night before, in all probability increased the intensity of the shock.

Burns on the body indicate he grasped a wire with his right hand, the charge leaving his body through the left leg. The palm of his left hand was also pitted with smaller burns, indicating that hand must have been pressed against the trunk of the tree.

Little George said he saw Edward fall and lie still on the ground but thought he was "just fooling." Going to his side he shook him and spoke to him, but received no answer. Thinking he must be hurt he ran to tell his (Edward's father) who had just arrived on the afternoon train from Halifax. A doctor was called but it was too late—the little fellow had been killed instantly.

Owing to changes being made in the Digby school building certain of the younger classes are only holding half-sessions, and it was for that reason Edward was not at school Tuesday afternoon, his class having the afternoon off. He was enjoying the half holiday like all the boys of his age do, running, coasting in his car, climbing trees and picking chestnuts, when death came with such suddenness.

Beside his grief-stricken parents, heart-broken at the loss of their only son, he has survived by an older sister, Marie.

WILL DIGBY BECOME A TUNA PARADISE

We learn that the possibilities of tuna fishing in the waters of the Bay of Fundy and St. Mary's Bay are being investigated. This week Capt. Harry Raymond and Edward Webber have made two cruises into these waters, but on account of weather conditions had little opportunity to fish. They sighted many big fellows and succeeded in landing one fifty-pounder. We understand a well known tuna fisherman, Captain Gray, is expected this week.

Scallop Fleet Will Be Greatly Increased this Year

It has been learned that seventeen new boats will likely join the local scallop fleet when the season opens October 1st. Some of these will replace craft that are no longer suited to the heavy strain of scallop dragging, and others will be entirely new comers to the fleet.

The scallop fleet in the Digby area is expected to reach 80 boats before this coming season closes. It is said. This will be the largest scallop fleet in history, not only of Digby, but of the entire world. Local blacksmith shops are now—have been for several weeks—working to capacity in order to keep up with the many orders booked ahead. Almost from the beginning scallop rakes, nets and other accessories have been manufactured locally.

The fleet this year will represent an investment of some $300,000 by fixing the average value at between $3,500 and $4,000. In the early years of the fishery each boat was said to represent an average investment of $3,000. This value has increased since then, due largely to improvements that have been made in the designs of boats, and to the evolution of the type of gear used in the business. Shortly after the scallop fishing became an "industry" here, twin nets took the place of the old single net drag; later came triplets and quadruplets; and last season the majority of the boats operated with six net drags. This year, it is understood two of the new boats are being designed to carry eight nets when dragging on smooth bottom.

Due largely to the improvements that have been made in scallop boats and gear, there has

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile isn't flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, weak and the world looks grim.

A more powerful movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". They cleanse and give the liver a little rest. They do the work of natural bile but without the harmful poisons. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills in every drugstore and get a little else, too.

Rarer than the birth of human quintuplets, according to the professors, an Albino frog is a captive at the home of Mrs. Howard A. Reabe, Detroit, Mich. The amphibian is pinkish white, with the tell-tale pink eyes that mark true Albinism. The fact that it has been able to mature is rare indeed, as conspicuous mutations are usually destroyed by enemy creatures. DON'T LET IT HAPPEN AGAIN

Tuesday afternoon's tragedy, which took the life of young Edward Moriarty, should serve as a warning for officials to check up on cases where similar accidents could take place, and where, even possible, remedy conditions.

It is too true that little Edward is dead—but there are a great many other youngsters who might under very similar conditions, come in contact with high tension wires. Little boys—and girls, too, for that matter—will climb trees. They always have and as long as there are little boys and girls, they always will. Climbing trees is one of the great thrills of childhood.

One admits it is not the safest sport they can indulge in, nevertheless, to them, trees are made for climbing, and when high tension wires pass through the branches of these trees in positions where little bodies may come in contact with them, something should be done before another young life is taken.

Wherever possible we would recommend the removal of such trees altogether; we admit shade trees are things of beauty, but to our mind, there isn't a tree that grows of sufficient beauty to be worth the life of a child.

On Birch Street, for instance, there are several cherry trees with wires passing through them. True, in this case, the lines are of a great deal lower voltage than the deadly lines that pass through the chestnut tree on Maiden Lane, but danger lurks in these wires, and during the cherry season there is scarcely a day passes but what half a dozen or more youngsters may be found in almost any of these trees—and one can't blame the kiddies for not likely one in a thousand gives the electric wires a thought.

Don't let a similar accident happen again.

Obituary

John Henderson

The funeral of John Henderson, well known Digby County farmer, who died at his home, the old Henderson homestead, Roxville Digby Neck, early Sunday morning, took place Wednesday afternoon from Grace United Church, Digby, members of St. George Lodge, I. O. O. F., of which deceased was a member, being present, and later taking the committal service at the grave. The officiating clergymen were Rev. Dr. T. W. Hodgson, pastor of Grace United Church, and Rev. H. J. Brown, in charge of the Digby Neck circuit. Interment was in the cemetery in Centreville. The deceased, who was the son of the late John and Margaret Henderson, was born at Roxville 65 years ago, and is survived by one sister, Mrs. I. G. Blood, of Lynn, Mass., who has been with her brother during his lengthy illness. He was prominent in the affairs of the United Church both in Digby and Centreville.

THE BAND IN FREEPORT

On Sunday the members of the Digby Civic Band, motored to Long Island for a picnic and to give an open-air concert in Freeport. They landed at Tiverton about 11.00 o'clock and stayed there for lunch. At 12.30 they played a few numbers in front of E. C. Outhouse's store, leaving immediately afterwards for the other end of the island. Here, at Freeport, in front of the school house, they gave a full concert. A large crowd turned out to hear them and since it has been some years since a band visited the Islands it was the first time that most of the children had ever heard one thus providing a double thrill for them. The program, consisting of many hymns and old fashioned tunes, was greatly enjoyed. After the program a bountiful supper was served by the ladies, to which the boys did full justice.

Canada's Newest Trains

Keeping thoroughly abreast of the times, the Canadian Pacific Railway is putting into commission four semi-streamlined lightweight trains which will operate on the day runs between Montreal and Quebec, Toronto and Detroit, and Edmonton and Calgary. At present these deluxe trains are on tour for public inspection in Ontario, Quebec, and Western Canada, where they will be seen by many thousands of residents.

Economical in operation, and approximately "only half" the weight of a regular standard train of the same equipment, these trains, which consist of 100 feet, 4-4-4 type locomotives, light class mail and express cars, new train, and parts of the first class coaches, make a distinct forward movement in modern transportation in Canada. These streamlined trains are equipped with all the latest and will be found clean, fresh and airy, and will be found comfortable, warm in winter, and pleasantly cool in summer. In the pictures above are shown the class mail and express cars, new train, and parts of the first class coaches, making a distinct

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Attend to Your Shadow Contrasts

Strong shadow contrasts, plus foreground objects and a foreground "frame," all combine to give these pictures depth and perspective.

WHAT makes some pictures seem real enough to walk right into, while others appear to be little more than a design on a flat wall?

The thing that makes the difference is that quality in a picture, variously called "perspective," "depth," or "third dimension effect," that puts objects in relief so that they appear solid, and makes it possible to perceive their relative size and position.

In photography, this quality of reality is created chiefly by proper attention to contrasts in lights and shadows. Remember that to achieve reality in a painting, the artist creates light and shadow contrasts, but that in nature such contrasts do not always come ready made. They must be looked for. In nature what often seems a good picture to the eye is not a good picture for the camera lens, because of the absence of contrasts.

The eye is aided by our imagination, but not the lens. In the print, the scene may turn out flat and uninteresting, especially if we try to include the whole country side in the picture.

Hence, to get perspective, pay attention to light and shadow contrasts. Look for vantage points that best reveal them. Usually the longer and more sharply defined the shadows the greater is the third dimensional effect and the appearance of reality of objects depicted. In outdoor photography there is value in taking pictures when the sun is low, because then shadows are long and accentuate the perspective. Always remember, the photographer's maxim: "Expose for the shadows and the high lights will take care of themselves." That, however, does not mean always to expose for a very deep shadow, but, in general, to expose to reveal detail in the intermediate shadows.

Another way to accentuate depth in a photograph, especially in scenic views, is to include a distinctive foreground object, which emphasizes the diminished size of objects in the distance, thus creating "depth." A human figure or tree, in the foreground at the right or left, will often serve the purpose and at the same time add interest.

Another way is to choose a vantage point which will give the picture a foreground "frame." Such a frame often serves where long shadows and distinctive foreground objects are absent. Foreground trees with lacy overhanging boughs are splendidly useful as frames. They are full of beauty in themselves, and, if in the print they show completely in silhouette, that is to say, in dark outline without interior detail, the effect is often all the better. Everything beyond is accented by the dark tone that strikes its deep note in front.

Similarly a foreground archway or a bridge or other structure is not only an attractive element itself, but helps the eye to move forward into the picture to the scene beyond.

Study these points before you "shoot."

JOHN VAN GUILDER

Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Brittain, of Lunenburg County, formerly of this place, visited friends here for a few days this week.

Weddings

Long-Selig

A quiet wedding took place in Deep Brook on Thursday, Aug. 28, at the home of the groom, when Miss Gertrude Selig, daughter of Solomon Selig, of North Brookfield, became the wife of Clayton Marshall Long, son of Mrs. Harriet Long. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Harris Sitwell, of Yarmouth, and the bride, who was unattended, was gown in pale blue net with darker blue accessories and travelled in a blue ensemble. After a motor trip around the South Shore, Mr. and Mrs. Long will reside in Deep Brook.

Hayden - Freeman

The United Baptist church at Caledonia was the scene of a most attractive wedding, when Vesta Delmore, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Freeman, was united in marriage to New. P. R. Hayden, pastor of Temple Baptist church, Yarmouth, on the evening of August 31, the father of the groom officiating. The church was prettily decorated in yellow and white and the bridal party stood within an arch of white flowers. Little Miss Betty Douglas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Douglas, acted as flower girl. Miss Lennie Freeman, sister of the bride, was a charming bridesmaid in pale blue chiffon, with velvet toque to match, and carrying a bouquet of asters. The bride was lovely in white satin with veil and orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of orchids. She was given in marriage by her father. The groom was supported by Roy Smith, of Liverpool. Miss Mary Hayden, sister of the groom, played the wedding marches and during the signing of the register sang "Because," accompanying herself on the harp. The ushers were Messrs. Laurie Freeman and Lawrence Mott. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The rooms were tastefully decorated with asters and gladioli. About eighty-five guests were received. Mr. and Mrs. Hayden left for a trip to Yarmouth and Boston. On their return they will take up residence at Truro. The bride received many very nice gifts. She has been a valued member of the staff of Frosst & Wood Company, while the groom is a popular teacher at Lower Onslow. This wedding is of special interest to folks in Annapolis Royal, as Mrs. Hayden at one time attended the Academy here and has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Atkinson at different times, and has many friends among the young people of the town.

Gibson-FitzRandolph

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth FitzRandolph, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry FitzRandolph, of Round Hill, to James Alan Gibson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gibson, also of Round Hill, took place at the home of the bride's parents, with Rev. J. D. Townsend officiating. The bride, who was charmingly gowned in white silk with veil and orange blossoms and carried a sheaf bouquet of gladioli, was attended by her sister, Miss Dorothy FitzRandolph, who was gown in blue silk and carried a bouquet of asters. The groom was supported by Oliver Gibson and the wedding marches were played by Mrs. C. C. Rice. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served during which the best man proposed the toast to the bride, and later the young couple left on a motor trip around the South Shore.

CLUB IS FORMED FOR TWO COUNTIES

On Thursday of last week, at a meeting of the Kings College Alumni and students, held in St. Luke's Parish Hall, Annapolis Royal, it was decided to form a Kings College Club in the two counties of Annapolis and Digby. Miss Zaidie Horsfall, of Halifax, was present, and outlined the purpose and work of the clubs. Chas. Knowlton, of Barton, was appointed president and the Rev. A. W. L. Smith, secretary-treasurer. At a meeting to be held in October other officers will be appointed and a constitution and by-laws will be adopted.

Miss Margaret Wainwright arrived from Halifax on Friday last, and is the guest of her cousin, Miss Muriel Wainwright.

Her Knees Swelled With Rheumatism

To Go Upstairs Was Agony.

There is nothing in which rheumatism is a greater handicap than in doing ordinary household duties—kneeling, stooping, running up and down stairs. How to overcome that handicap, and relieve rheumatic aches and pains, is the subject of the following letter.—

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for three months. When I started I had rheumatism in both knees. They were very swollen. I could not rise from a chair without assistance. I could not kneel, and to go upstairs was agony. Now I can run upstairs and kneel as much as I like. Since I have taken Kruschen, I can work like a horse."—(Mrs.) H. S.

Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts are effective solvents of uric acid. Other ingredients of these Salts have a stimulating effect upon the internal organs, and assist them to expel the dissolved uric acid from the system.

BREAK IN DYKE CAUSES TROUBLE

A bad break in the dyke on the Allain River marsh during the recent high tides, has caused endless trouble and expense to the owners of the marsh.

A heavy wind during the flood-tides last spring swept away a large portion of the main dyke and the expense of rebuilding being so great it was decided to abandon part of the marsh and build a cross-dyke. This was done with a great amount of labor and heavy expense and this recent break in the dyke of the abandoned canyery bog, where a good crop of hay had just been cut, has let the tidal waters over the redeemed part of the marsh.

WILL TAKE UP ORGAN STUDY

Allison G. Patterson, B.Sc. B. Ed., younger son of Mrs. Laura (Graham) Patterson, of Annapolis Royal, and the late H. P. Patterson, has left to enter the Toronto Conservatory of Music, where he will study the organ with Charles Peaker, Mus. Doc. F.R.C.O., and conducting with Reginald Stewart.

Mr. Patterson came to Annapolis from Aylesford after his father's death in 1926, and attended the Annapolis academy until finishing Grade XII. He then entered Mount Allison university, graduating in 1934 with bachelor of science degree and taking a post graduate course in education work, received a superior first-class teacher's license.

He also studied harmony and theory for three years with Professor Harold Hamer, F.R.C.O., director of Mount Allison Conservatory of Music and held the position of chapel organist for some time.

Mr. Patterson has the distinction of being the first to receive the degree of bachelor of education at Mount Allison, which was awarded him at the close of the summer school sessions which he attended this year.

Kidney Acids Rob Your Rest

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—their backs ache, their heads throb, and they feel "nerves" when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons from the blood. If they are faulty and fail, poisons stay in the system and sleeplessness, headache, backache often follow. If you don't sleep well, try Dodd's Kidney Pills—for half a century the favorite remedy. 103

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Shooting From High Places

The effect of altitude is enhanced in these two pictures, (below) by including in the foreground the brow of the hill, and (right) by the shadow of the building (Empire State) from which the downward shot was made. The pictures were taken at exposures, respectively, of 1/50 second at f.16 and 1/25 second at f.16.

IN RECALLING your vacation home, did it ever occur to you how often you were taken or went to high elevations for a view? The summit of a hill, the edge of a precipice, the mountain peak, the skyscraper, the lofty monument, the church tower, the crow's nest of a ship, not to mention going aloft in airplanes. Therein lies a picture-taking idea for the next time you start going places. Forget not your camera, and whenever you find yourself "on top of the world" somewhere, make yourself "monarch of all you survey" by snapping the picture below. Reserve a part of your album for such pictures with an intriguing title—"Jumping Off Places I Have Known," "Scenes from High Perches," "My Camera Goes Aloft," "Topside Snaps," "Hitting the High Spot" or what better can you think of? If you will take advantage of such opportunities—and once you get started on this hobby, you are likely to see that you go to high places purposely for picture-taking—you will soon have a collection of compelling, not to say dizzy, interest.

The impression that you want to give in these pictures is that of every attitude. To do this it isn't necessary to teeter on the brink of your perch or otherwise to risk your life while you snap the picture. It is better for you and the picture to stand far enough back to include a little of the brink in the foreground, thereby intensifying the feeling of height. Having the horizon line well toward the top of the picture also helps by adding distance and vastness.

You may be tempted to poke your camera over the edge of a retaining wall or window ledge and shoot down. It is a country landscape, shooting down will not usually give the perspective that conveys the effect of great altitude, so well as shooting with the camera held level, although the picture may still be interesting. In any case, when you do shoot down, the effect will be helped by taking in a nearby object located on the way, such as a protruding cornice from a church tower, a jutting rock from a precipice, or a bit of the wing or wheel of your airplane. Have the sun at your back, because the shadow of your elevation on the terrain below also helps to tell that you were high up when that picture was taken.

In all such snapshotting it is advisable to use a small lens opening, otherwise, you will lose a little detail in the distance. Frequently, too, it is worth while to use a filter, particularly if your picture is to include a cloud-studded horizon or if there is haze.

whom were played by Miss Florence Dunn; Miss Marsh soloist, Moncton, and Harry Cochrane, and his Pines Hotel orchestra.

Perhaps the busiest session of the Convention was the concluding one on Friday. At this time ten resolutions were before the meeting, and of these, nine of them passing; and one, through an amendment to the amendment which passed, held over until the matter could be thoroughly discussed by municipal councils and school trustees. This resolution had to do with the enlarging of the school administrative system into a municipal unit. Other resolutions passed dealt with unemployment problems; the promotion of sale of Nova Scotia coal; bank interests charged on municipal overdrafts; further assistance from the government in needy tubercular cases; reduction of rates charged by the Nova Scotia Hospital; the apportionment and return of moneys to the municipalities paid the provincial government by the C. N. R. in lieu of taxes; and a vote of thanks to all who helped make the convention a success.

It was voted to hold the next annual session in Sydney. New officers were chosen as follows:

President—S. E. Mynall, Mayor of Sydney.

First Vice-President—A. H. Sperry, Municipal Clerk, Lunenburg.

Second Vice-President—J. M. Butler, City Auditor, Halifax.

Secretary-Treasurer—Judge Arthur Roberts, Bridgewater.

Executive—Fred W. Harris, Town Clerk, Annapolis Royal; Mr. Macintosh, Mayor, Antigonish; Leo LeBlond, Warden, Clare; J. Van Andrews (ex officio), Warden, Digby; H. M. Ferguson, Municipal Clerk, Colebrook; Miss B. Downing, Municipal Clerk, Cumberland; A. B. Wilson, Mayor, Springfield; J. R. Campbell, Mayor, Canso; R. M. Phillips, Municipal Auditor, Halifax; E. J. Craig, Mayor, Halifax; A. W. Gate, Alderman, Dartmouth; J. Rippey, Town Manager, Windsor; Col. B. W. Rose, Mayor, Kentville; Dr. Young, Mayor, Pictou; D. M. Bore, Mayor, Lunenburg; J. J. Cameron, Solicitor, Liverpool; R. B. Henson, Town Clerk, Yarmouth; R. A. MacKinnon, Warden, Cape Breton; D. W. Morrison, Mayor, Glace Bay; J. S. Escombe, Town Clerk, Dominion; H. S. Hunt, Mayor, Lunenburg; A. C. MacCormick, Mayor, Sydney Mines; D. S. Leod, Warden, Victoria; J. Johnson, Warden, Richmond; Arthur Langley, Mayor, Port Hawksbury.

The retiring president, Warden J. Van Andrews, was made a life member of the Union.

The Scallopers

been a large increase in the number of scallops caught. There was a time when if a boat brought in four barrels after a day or a day and a half of dragging, it was regarded as something "big" and out of the ordinary. Nowadays a "four-barrel-day" is just considered an average and last season one boat brought in 17 barrels after 34 hours' dragging.

Most of the boats operating this year will make their headquarters in Digby, although the "Digby area" insofar as the scallop fisheries are concerned, includes the Bay of Fundy coast from Hillsburn, Annapolis Co. to Petite Passage.

After much agitation better facilities for the scallop fleet are being provided at Digby. A year or so ago a breakwater was provided at the Racquette. This summer extensive dredging is being carried out on the east side of the spur pier where most of the fleet ties up when in port. Several electric lights have also been placed on this pier for the accommodation of the scallop fishermen—more than 100 of whom make their homes on the boats during the winter months. The task of getting on and off the boats in the darkness of the unlighted pier has always been regarded as a ticklish and dangerous operation.

Miss Bernadette Thibault and Lester Swinmer spent the week end with Miss Thibault's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hartford S. Thibault, Doucetteville.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Ellis, who have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Ellis, Shore Road, returned to their home in West Newton, Mass., on Friday last.

Weddings

Trefry - Tibert

At Central Grove, at 2:30 Monday afternoon, the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Tibert was the scene of a beautiful wedding when their only daughter, Margaret Winnifred, became the bride of Wilfred Knowles Trefry, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Trefry, of Yarmouth. The bride, who recently graduated from the Yarmouth Hospital, was given in marriage by her father. She was becomingly attired in white satin and wore the conventional veil. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Earl W. Elbridge, pastor of the Springfield (Annapolis County) United Baptist church, and formerly of Yarmouth—an intimate friend of the bride and groom. Miss Amy Johnson of Central Grove, gowning in yellow georgette with white accessories and carrying a bouquet of pink and white roses, was the charming bridesmaid. The groom was attended by Edward Hare, of Yarmouth. The wedding march was played by Miss Eleanor Wallis, of Digby. Mrs. C. M. Tibert, mother of the bride, wore a dress of black sheer crepe, trimmed with lace, while Mrs. Trefry, the mother of the groom was attired in sand crepe, trimmed with lace. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home, attended by a large number of relatives and intimate friends of the contracting parties. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Trefry, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Trefry, and a party of fifteen from Yarmouth. Mr. and Mrs. Trefry left immediately on a tour to Cape Breton. On their return they will reside in Yarmouth where the groom holds a position as accountant in Trefry's Garage. They were the recipients of many useful and beautiful gifts.

Dunn Warren

A pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Roney, Birch Street, yesterday afternoon, when Pauline Olive Warren, daughter of Harry Warren, became the bride of Webster Fulton Dunn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy D. Dunn. The officiating clergyman was Rev. A. C. Robertson, pastor of the Digby United Baptist Church. The bride, who looked charming in a suit of blue figured chiffon, was given in marriage by Mrs. B. A. Roney. The double ring service was used, and the ring bearer was little Olive Munroe, niece of the bride. Ruth Lent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Lent, was the flower girl. Mr. and Mrs. Dunn left immediately after the ceremony for Boston, via Saint John, and will be away about a week.

PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION

Australia's champion woodchoppers, who risk mutilation from their flashing axes in a series of breath taking stunts will be presented for the first time in Canada by the Nova Scotia Provincial Exhibition in the Forum show of the big fair in Halifax, September 28 to October 2.

One of the most difficult feats, performed by no other team on the stage, is when the woodchoppers take an axe and split an apple held in the palm of a hand. This requires expert judgment.

Most amazing team to come to America from down under, the Australian Woodchoppers hurl axes at targets, never failing to make a clean hit. They also saw huge logs with incredible speed.

The climax of their presentation is a tree-felling contest that is beyond doubt a most exciting spectacle. Each man whisks his axe like fury, taking huge chunks from the tree with each strike, each man striving to out-speed his opponents. The falling of the tree proclaims the winner.

The Australian Woodchoppers are really men with an "axe to grind" and you cannot fully realize the full meaning of this phrase until you have witnessed them for they have many axes and judging from the way they are used, they have to be well ground.

It is a fact that this different and memorable it is only one of the thrilling spectacles of the gigantic indoor show which will bring together one of the greatest arrays of outstanding vaudeville performers ever presented to an audience in Eastern Canada.

Interment was made in the Port Wade cemetery. The pall bearers were Percy McGrath, Arch. McGrath, Cyril MacWhinnie and Garland Hudson. The service at the home, church and grave was conducted by the pastor, Rev. W. B. Crowell. The funeral was a very large one, relatives and friends coming from long distances to pay their last tribute of love and respect to the one who was gone. The floral tributes were many and beautiful, mute evidence of respect for the dead and sympathy for the family. The funeral was under the direction of John P. Covert, funeral director, of Kentville, assisted by his brother, Fred W. Covert, of Karsdale, the only two nephews of the deceased. Much sympathy goes out to the family in their time of sorrow especially to the husband and daughter who were so uniting in their care.

Mrs. Marguerite Robinson, of Boston, was a guest recently of her cousin, L. M. Ellis, at their home in Bay View. She also visited relatives in Point Prince.

Obituary

Mrs. Edward Johns

On September 3rd there passed to her eternal rest, Ella Grace, beloved wife of Deacon Edward Johns, of Port Wade. Hallowe'en Dance at Dunn's Hall—Friday night, Oct. 30.

The Male Choir's Visit.

The visit of the Yarmouth Male Choir to the United Church Sunday evening was much enjoyed. They put on a splendid programme and possibly it was heard by the largest congregation ever in that church. The collections for the day amounted to nearly $250. The re-builder, who was in for much praise, and Mr. Keeble is being heartily congratulated on his work. It has a very sweet tone and lots of volume when required.

Two Chimney Fires.

Two fire alarms coming close together Tuesday noon caused some little fear that a serious fire had broken out, but they happened to be for two separate chimney fires, one in the residence of A. J. Dillon, who was disposed of very quickly; the other in the cottage next south of Lour Lodge, occupied by Mrs. Howe. This took a little more time as the roof had to be wet down to prevent sparks catching, but in neither case was there any material damage.

Basin Claims Another Victim

Again tragedy has struck in our town, this time removing from us John Alexander Stevenson, a Toronto University student, who for the past two seasons has been employed by the Biological Board of Canada to study the life and habits of the scallop. He left his boarding house—Mrs. Halliday's—Tuesday afternoon to make another trip on the Basin, as he has been doing almost daily for months. He rode his bicycle to the wharf and got into the boat he has been in the habit of using—a small craft belonging to John Abramson. Mr. Abramson saw him go and advised him not to use the sail when dragging. The boat was seen just inside the Gut about 4 o'clock that afternoon, with the sail up—and it was not seen again until it was picked up the next afternoon, at Goat Island, bottom up. A search was instituted and kept up all day Wednesday without result. Mr. Stevenson, who was born in England, was about 23 years of age. He was a tireless worker and had devoted a great deal of time to this particular work, in which he was deeply interested. He took his M.A. degree in Toronto this year and was returning on Monday to work for his Ph.D.

Discontinued Business.

"Smith's Stores" which started business here a few months ago, pulled down the blinds for the last time this week, and the stock has been removed to another town. Any store which tries to do business without advertising is on the losing side.

On Tour of Inspection.

Morris W. Wilson, Montreal, president and managing director of the Royal Bank of Canada, accompanied by Wm. F. Angus and Paul F. Size, of Montreal, and H. P. Robinson, Saint John, directors, arrived in Digby Tuesday on an official inspection visit, later leaving for Halifax. Mr. Wilson is a native of Lunenburg.

With the V. O. Nurses

Mrs. Sturgeon, who has been the V. O. N. in Digby for some time, left on Monday to take up her new duties as nurse in Netherwood School, Rousesay. Her sister, Miss Gulliver, who has been with her for some time, left for her home in Ontario at the same time. The latter has been very active in organizing the Brownies, and this group of young girls were at the boat to see her off. The new V. O. N. will not arrive until about Oct. 1st, and in the meantime her duties are being assumed by Mrs. R. Shaffner.

CHILDREN MUST BE SAFE-GUARDED

To the Editor of the Courier: Sir—While I most heartily endorse your editorial, Sept. 11, on the tragic death of Edward Moriarty, I submit that the terms you use are far too mild, and the reprimand you administer far too gentle.

Proof of this, if proof be needed, lies in the significant fact that to date nothing has been done to prevent the same thing from happening again. Unless, and until the persons responsible for the safeguarding of the lives and property of Digby's citizens are made to realize that they are public servants, and that it is the public will that this particular menace be checked at once, nothing will be done. May I therefore appeal through your columns to all parents whose children might, by an evil chance, meet with a similar end, to unite in demanding that every tree, through which electric cables pass, and which presents reasonable possibility of being climbed by anyone other than an unclimbable fence.

And, how it done now, not after you have buried your own child.

A Dieby Father.

THREE JEWS

Evidence of the high value placed on a human life in Canada, as compared with certain other countries, can be found in the treatment accorded three Jews who were arrested at Sault Ste. Marie for illegal entry into this country.

Being anti-Nazi refugees, they faced possible execution if deported to Germany. The federal government would have been active within its rights in sending them back, regardless of the fact that it would be tantamount to signing their death warrants, but, apparently, the authorities took the humane view. The Jews have been notified that they can stay and go wherever they like.

GIVE IT A NAME

The farm with a name ceases to be a farm and becomes a home with a reputation to live up to. One takes pride in the farm with a name on the barn or on a neat sign over the gate, because no one with a bad appearing farm wants to advertise who the owner is. This advertising value of the farm is evidently appreciated by some wide-awake firms that will pay real money in order to be allowed to advertise their wares in ugly signs painted all over a good-looking barn. If it is worth real money to a business firm to decorate the barn or fence, it is worth more to a farmer to advertise himself and his business in that space. If you have a farm you are proud of, give it a name and put the name up where everyone can see it.

To Vimy and Return

Third Installment

As I told you in concluding the last installment of this series of articles we arrived at Vimy Ridge as the loud speakers were calling us to hurry to our markers. Finally we were called to attention. A nearby battery fired the royal salute, which was followed by the playing of "God Save the King" and "O Canada".

Those things heralded the arrival of King Edward VIII, with Hon. Ernest Lapointe. After inspecting the guard of honor from H. M. C. S. Saguenay, he ascended the monument, where a number of Canadians were presented.

Formal presentations over the king mingled with cheering veterans who broke into the martial strains of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" as the Sovereign stopped to talk with one or other of their number. He spent twenty minutes chatting and asking questions, smiling broadly at the enthusiasm.

As they came to the base of the Memorial the air directly overhead was suddenly thick with aeroplanes. Two squadrons of the R. A. F. darted out of the grey sky and passed at tremendous speed to the left of the pylons.

Hardly had they melted away into diminishing specks when eighteen other planes with the insignia of the French Air Force dived low at a dizzy angle towards the right pylon, saluted, and were also gone.

Resounding cheers greeted him, drawing out the distant guns which were still firing a royal salute. They rose with a doubled force as he began to move slowly among the pilgrims, escorted by Brig.-Gen. Alex. Ross, Dominion president of the Canadian Legion.

The king went first to the little group of blind men. He shook each one by the hand and spoke sympathetically. He patted along the line. It was touching to see their faces light up one by one when they heard the sound of his voice.

His Majesty then went to the widows and mothers who were standing near by and conversed with several. Among them was Mrs. Catharine Woods, of Winnipeg, who sent twelve sons to the war. Only five came back. Now, at the age of 75, she was fulfilling the greatest wish of her life in standing on the Ridge where some of her boys fought and died.

As the king continued his walk through the ranks of the pilgrims their emotion was perceptible and the lines swayed around him. When he reached the far side of the arena some 200 persons were following him and others were running up to see him pass.

The French ex-servicemen stationed there gave their enthusiasm full vent. They were inclined to form an impromptu escort of their own as they kept shouting, "Vive le Roi!"

of some 60,000 persons through a most efficient system of loud speakers, placed at every vantage point. The Hon. Ian MacKenzie, Canadian Minister of National Defence, then asked the king to unveil the monument.

Shortly before the king began to speak the sun emerged from an overcast sky, which had threatened since dawn to deluge the old battle field with rain. It shone with unexpected brilliance on the assembled pilgrims from overseas, standing with their colours and wreaths of remembrance. It was a moving scene, this culmination to a long and weary journey from far-off homes back to the Ridge where sons of Canada in their thousands had made the supreme sacrifice for the empire.

In recognition of the fact that the president of France was present at the ceremony, the king began his speech before the unveiling, in French, and continued in English. For the benefit of those who perhaps have not had the opportunity of reading the address of His Majesty, I am requesting that it be reprinted at this juncture.

The King's Speech at Vimy

"For my own part I am glad of the opportunity you have given me of expressing thus, from the bottom of my heart, my thanks to the French nation and the gratitude of the people of Canada for the honour you have done to those whose sacrifice is inscribed on this monument, and for the welcome you have accorded to their relatives and friends at this inauguration.

"In the capital city of Canada, at the heart of the Dominion, there is a memorial chamber set apart as a perpetual reminder of the service and losses of Canada in the Great War.

"Nine years ago I had the privilege of dedicating the altar within it, where will lie for ever a Book of Remembrance, recording the names of more than 60,000 Canadians who gave their lives for the cause which Canada made her own. Above the door of the chamber is engraved:

"All's well, for over there among his peers a happy warrior sleeps."

"These words reveal the inner meaning of what we do today. They tell us that, beautiful and impressive as is the memorial at Ottawa, the Canadian people could not feel that it was complete.

"It was 'over there' that the Canadian armies fought and died. It is 'over there' that their final monument must stand.

"Today, thousands of miles from the shores of Canada, we are assembled around the monument. Yet we are not on alien soil. One of our English poets wrote that where he lay would be 'forever England'—that England for which he died. He spoke a parable; but, here today that parable is living truth. The realization of it will I know, bring comfort to many thousands of Canadian men and women.

"For this glorious monument, crowning the hill of Vimy, is now and for all time a part of Canada. Though the mortal remains of Canada's sons lie far from home, yet here where we now stand in ancient Artois their immortal memory is hallowed, upon soil that is as surely Canada's as any acre within her nine provinces.

"By a gesture which all can understand, the soldiers especially, the laws of France have decreed that here Canada shall stand forever. We raise this Memorial to Canadian warriors. It is the inspired expression in stone, chiselled by a skilful Canadian hand, of Canada's salute to her fallen sons.

"It marks the scene of feats of arms which history will long remember, and Canada can never forget. The ground it covers is the gift of France to Canada.

"All the world over, there are battlefields, the names of which are written indelibly on the pages of our troubled human story. It is one of the consolations which time brings that deeds of valour done on those battlefields long survive the quarrels which drove the opposing hosts to conflict.

"Vimy will be one with such name. Already the scars of war have well-nigh vanished from the fair landscape spread beneath us. Around us here today there is peace and the rebuilding of hope.

"And so, also, in dedicating this memorial to our fallen comrades, our thoughts turn rather to the splendour of their sacrifice and to the consecration of our love for them than to the cannonade which beat upon this ridge a score of years ago.

"In that spirit, in the spirit of thankfulness for their example, of reverence for their devotion, and of pride in their comradeship, I unveil this memorial to Canada's dead."

"The King was now on Canadian soil, the site of the Memorial and the Ridge around about, a total of 210 acres, having been presented by the French Government in perpetuity.

Following the unveiling the "Last Post" was sounded, followed by a two-minute silence, so impressive one could actually feel the sacredness of it. Then followed the "Reveille" and a most impressive address by the president of France, who, in conclusion, expressed the hope that it might bring together in benedictory peace the peoples made anxious by the uncertain future.

"In the name of the Government of the Republic and of the whole of France," he continued, "I thank King Edward VIII for having honoured our country with his august visit, where formerly British and Canadian and French armies fought together.

"I welcome in the persons of the ministers, the Canadian government, whose happy initiative has made possible the erection of a monument on this piece of land, now become Canadian, which our compatriots will surround with reverent solicitude through the centuries.

"To the thousands of pilgrims who have crossed the ocean to assemble in the territory where they and their brothers fought, I address the most fervent sympathy of the French nation."

"Land of Hope and Glory," "Le Marais," and "God Save the King," were then played by the bands. Wreaths were then placed on the monument by His Majesty and the President, who then departed. Some five hundred wreaths were placed by the pilgrims and the French populace.

The monument then became a mass of human beings, going and coming. It was here in all the excitement and crowd that I lost my chum Mayor, who had been with me throughout the trip, but found "Bill" Herbert, known to most in Digby, and for many years a conductor on the D. A. R. trains; and "Ernie" Rathburn, past secretary of the Canadian Legion, and at one time a resident of Digby, where he was employed in the D. A. R. station. "Ernie" recognized me by my name on my haversack.

After the unveiling I had an opportunity to look about a bit, and had a chance to pick up several chips from the monument to bring home as souvenirs. There was also an opportunity to take snap shots, and by good fortune I succeeded in getting a snap of the name, F. Young, better known to us as "Font" Young, who fought and died overseas, and whose name is inscribed on the monument along with 11,285 other of our Canadian boys who have no known graves, and who fought and died on the Vimy front. I have already presented the negative of this snap to his brother, C. Y. Young.

Ship Visits Island Hermits.

Two men, who fled to Sunday Island to lead the lives of hermits are alive and well, after a year of their adventure. Commendore of the New Zealand cruiser Dunedin reports. When the war vessel set out on its annual cruise to island possessions the mother of one of the hermits asked the commodore to take letters to her son, Bruce Robinson, and his companion, Roger Bacon. To the men of the Dunedin they were a wild looking couple. "It's all right; I'm a civilized," called one of the hermits, as he clambered up the ship's ladder.

Jap Railways Mend Manners.

Japan's railway officials have posted a code of manners for passengers. One rule is that the passenger should not go into the dining car in a nightdress. It is objectionable for one person to attempt to occupy a seat for two especially when the train is crowded, by putting a package beside him. It is also a serious breach of good manners to pretend to be asleep when the conductor tells you to make room for other passengers. Passengers in groups who sing at night are not welcome, say the rules.

England May Get Nickel Coin

The question of introducing a nickel coin, valued at threepence, or six cents in American money, into the new Edward VIII coinage is being considered by the Bank of England and the Royal Mint. The chance, if it takes place, will bring Great Britain into line with most other countries and would mean a big reduction in the number of pennies in circulation. The present three-penny piece is unpopular. The new nickel would be about the same size.

He was stopped for speeding, and later fined $5.

It had become entangled in their trawl, and towed the boat over half a mile before tiring. It weighed over 500 pounds.

Every Home Should Have a Garfire Gun

A Garfire is sudden death to burning gasoline, greases, fats and woodwork. Unbeatable for chimney fires where an injection can be made at the bottom of the flue or at the heater pipe hole. For furnaces with check draft simply open the check and pump Garfire compound into the pipe and a fire smothering blanket goes up the chimney. This is a much better method than plugging the fire from the top with the added danger of bursting the chimney. Garfire compound is harmless to fabrics, woodwork finish and delicate machinery.

MUCH BUILDING IN THE PROVINCE

Returning from a trip through the province the writer notes there is considerable building activity throughout the province. The largest building seen under construction was the new government building in Halifax, but in almost every district there are evidences of activity along this line. There is scarcely a village or town but what there are one or more buildings under construction, including private garages, commercial garages, service stations, school houses, churches, barns and a great number of beautiful residences and bungalows, as well as many modest dwellings.

In general there has been a marked improvement in the highways. Railroad crossings have been eliminated at Clements in this district, and near Lunenburg, on the South Shore. Many bad curves have been straightened, and in some districts new roads have been cut for distances of one mile or more to eliminate curves. In all sections many miles have been saved—near Halifax, Truro, Shubenacadie, Springhill, Dartmouth, and even "way back" around Musquodoboit.

Of course, in our trip we tried to avoid as much as possible the construction work. The worst we ran into was in the vicinity of Great Village and Highland Valley, but the worst roads we struck on the trip of over a thousand miles, were those in Stewiacke and Annapolis Royal.

Bear River Exhibition

With fifty more entries than ever before and with greatly increased facilities the Digby County Exhibition at Bear River opened yesterday and in spite of the threatening weather and rain, was fairly well attended. Almost every department shows an increase and the quality of the exhibits all through is splendid. The erection of a new dining hall has thrown that portion of the main building formerly occupied by the kitchen and tables, into exhibition space, and that, too, is fairly well taken care of. The Garden Club exhibits—both good and bad—are too—occupy a large portion of this increased space, and a bowling alley takes up the rest.

The ground floor is nearly all taken up with farm and garden produce, principally the root crops. Flowers, fruits and grains occupy the main floor upstairs, while the sides are devoted to fancy work and cooking. Mats, rugs and quilts galore festoon the large room, and so the women folk tell us—the display is far above the average. There is a much larger display of flowers than usual, although fruit, possibly, has fallen off a little. The grain crops show up well.

There is a considerably larger display of live stock in all classes except fancy pet stock, such as rabbits, etc. Some fine horses and oxen are on the grounds, many of which take part in the hauling contests.

The new dining hall, which we have previously referred to, is a fine addition to the plant. Those helping in the kitchen have lots of room and the tables will seat quite a large number, without crowding. When not being used as a dining room it can be readily converted to other uses, and last night it was a "talkie" theatre.

Judging was still going on yesterday afternoon, and the list of prize winners will be published in the Courier as soon as they can be copied from the books—probably in two weeks.—The prizes will be paid as soon as the government grant is received.

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill V. Bartheaux, Moschelle, were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stuart and son, of Milton, Mass., Mrs. Stewart Small, Byron Delaney, Mrs. E. R. Tibert, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Tibert and son, Ray, of Central Grave, and "Tommy" Brown, of Tiverton.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wallis and daughter, Janet Louise, have returned from a vacation trip through the province.

Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Dickie and Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Warne were recent visitors to Halifax.

SCALLOPS WILL LIKELY BE UP IN PRICE

M. P. Levy & Co., of New York, write us that during the summer months, as a rule, the local boats out of New York bring in extremely large quantities of sea scallops from near-by points. Therefore, prices are as a rule, very reasonable. This year, the production of sea scallops by the local boats was very light. Therefore prices were from about 25 cents to 50 cents per gallon more than the year previous. In fact, a good many of the hotel supply dealers and retail men were waiting for lower prices in order to place their supply in storage for winter sale. The result is that now the production of scallops is practically over and a good many dealers have found themselves without any scallops in storage. They look for a good market on sea scallops this winter. They are in a better position than ever to handle the shipments of scallops that are produced in Canada. Quantity is no object. The main trouble is in getting a sufficient quantity to take care of the requirements. They have in the past handled as high as 4000 gallons in one day, and solicit shipments from Canada and assure the fishermen that the prices and promptness of returns will meet with their approval.

SOME HENS!
Mrs. D. P. Melanson tells us that for six days in succession one of her hens has presented her with eggs measuring approximately 7 1/4 x 6 1/4 inches. The largest measured 8 3/4 x 7 1/4. Most of them were double and triple yolked. The hens are government registered Rhode Island Reds, which Mrs. Melanson bought last year in Barrington Passage. She claims that every few months these hens go on a "spree", and lay large eggs for eight or nine days in succession—the last time being Easter. Though they have not been able to find which hen is laying these record eggs, Mrs. Melanson is fully satisfied with the price paid for this small flock of five.

CORN BOIL AND SUPPER

Mrs. H. T. Warne entertained the Hospital Sewing Club at the Warne camp, on Wednesday afternoon and evening.

A short business meeting was held before partaking of the many good things provided by the hostess and a detailed account of the past year's work was read and plans made for future activities.

Mrs. Warne, who for the past seven years has proved a most successful president, begged to be relieved of the arduous duties of that office, but the clamorous objections of every member present caused her to reconsider her resignation and finally agree to carry on for another year with Miss Edith Mullen as vice-president and Mrs. J. J. Wallis as secretary.

The club held 33 meetings during the year and took in $161.33 from dues, sale of work and donations, while disbursements amounted to $74.38, leaving a balance of $87.25 on hand. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Percy Wormald on Friday next.

Mrs. Walter O. Ross and daughter, Lois, who have been spending a few weeks with relatives in Sea Brook and Roxville, have returned to their home in Portsmouth, N. H.

They were accompanied by Mrs. E. K. Budd, who will spend some time in the United States, visiting relatives.

Clayton Snow was a passenger to Boston on Tuesday.

HOLIDAY CLOSING

The corn may not yet be dry and "crackly," and there may not yet be any "frost upon the pumpkin." But, says the Sussex Record, there is something in the air that brings us to the all too harrowing conclusion that the holiday season has passed, and the hectic halcyon days of vacation are now a dreamy past.

Manfully, or womanly, as the case may be, we turn from the golden days and favorite vistas, and place our feet firmly again upon the path of duty.

There is, however, one class of people who can ignore the demands of the approaching season. That is that rare people who put off taking their holidays until the last moment. We have often suspected that most of these souls take their holidays in the autumn, not so much to enjoy the cooler air, as to revel in the wistful glances of those whose vacations are already just "their yesterdays." They don't mean to be cruel, but they very often are unwittingly are.

Dull days grow more numerous. The blackbirds and starlings are gathering into flocks. Here and there the trees gleam yellow leaves. The urge to go fishing has abated, and the boys and girls are back in school.

Yet there are compensations for the returned vacationist. There is a new road ahead. It is hoped that there is a renewed heart and mind and body to make travel along that road easier.

The seasons change so quickly. Today we say with Shakespeare: "For now I am in holiday humor. But tomorrow we shall grow philosophical again, and quote another observation from the same pen, made no doubt after reconciliation with the inevitable:

"If all the year were playing holidays, To sport would be as tedious as to work."

MACHINE-MADE SLAUGHTER

The National Safety Council of the United States has verified these facts about the automobile slaughter in that country:

Each day—100 KILLED.

Each hour—100 injured.

Last year, the driver of every twentieth car killed or injured someone.

III
WAR—A. E. F. 18 months ending Nov. 11, 1918: Killed, 50,517.
PEACE—Motors, 18 months ending June 30, 1936—Killed, 52,390.

IV
The last 10 years our motors killed more than all our wars for 100 years. These frightful facts of a carnage worse than war should burn into the consciousness of the mayors, the judges, the police, the newspapers, the drivers—everyone—the need of not just doing "something about it," but everything possible.

GREATER SAFETY NEEDED

The demand for greater safety on the highways is imperative. At the recent convention of the Canadian Good Roads Association in Charlotte, Ontario, an appeal to this effect was sounded and by recent happenings in this province as well as other parts of the Dominion it is high time that something should be done.

Drastic but simple governmental action should be taken immediately to curb the appalling number of road fatalities. Theodore G. Morgan, of Montreal, told the Association in moving for the immediate establishment of an inter-provincial traffic committee. He contended that uniform motor vehicle laws throughout the Dominion with strict and severe penalties would lessen materially loss of life and damage to property through highway accidents. He believed rigid and more uniform methods must be applied to the issuing of drivers' licenses, and the driver must be made to understand that for any serious infraction of the traffic regulations he would not only lose his license but the use of his car as well.

"Until we, unitedly as provinces, put into effect just such drastic but simple measures, we will continue to have an appalling loss of life upon our highways."

All this is good indeed, comments an exchange; but in the consideration of highway safety it must be always kept in mind that cars as well as drivers must be in good shape. A good driver is helpless in emergency if his car is faulty. The coolest head in the world cannot, at times, prevent a serious crash, if car brakes are not working. The urgency of having all cars on the road in good mechanical condition should be an objective ever before those entrusted with the safety of our highways. Seasonal inspection serves a purpose, but highway safety will be best realized when all operators realize that car inspection is liable to be sprung at any time.

personal nature, but the following excerpts are of public interest:

"When I tell you that every man in the band had a wonderful time, I greatly minimize the truth. We have been together for over sixteen years and the trip to Digby was the finest ever in our band's life. The manner in which your boys fraternized with ours, the unusually attentive audiences, the hospitality of all with whom we came in contact, the very best of food—these all evidenced the intentions of all to make our visit one which we can never forget."

"We are already planning another trip next year, and are beginning to make plans to build our treasury during the coming winter. What about it?"

"If you see Dr. Lefebvre will you kindly thank him for both his letter and check, and say that I will write him in the near future."

"Will you express to all your boys our warm thanks for their many courtesies and, to you and to them from all of us here, good luck and good health till we meet again."

Cordially yours,
Chet.

Obituary

George B. Harris

Word has been received in Annapolis Royal by relatives of the recent death in Vancouver, of George B. Harris, a former townsman and well remembered as the donor of the Masonic Hall on Church Street. Mr. Harris, who was 83 years of age, was a son of the late Alexander and Helen (Barteaux) Harris, of Moschelle, and as a young man learned the carpenters trade and worked in Bear River, Liverpool, Boston, San Francisco and Panama. He later returned to his old home and conducted a grocery store on the site of the present post office, which he sold to Mosher & Malcolm, and purchased by Misses Copeland. In 1895 he sold his property in Annapolis and moved to Vancouver, returning east for an occasional visit. His wife, formerly Miss Alice Newcombe, of Canning, and one son, Stanley, predeceased him, and he is survived by two daughters, Ethel, living in Paris, and Marjorie, in Vancouver; one son, Gordon, of Penicton, B. C., and two brothers, Alexander, residing on the old homestead at Moschelle, and Arthur, of Annapolis Royal. Mr. Harris was a prominent Mason and had joined the Annapolis Royal Lodge, No. 33, while residing in Annapolis. His continuing interest in the mother lodge was the cause of his valuable donation of the large building, which is thus the outstanding monument to his memory.

Early this month word was received in Deep Brook by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Spurr that he intended to visit Deep Brook, and they were awaiting word of the exact date of his arrival when the news of his tragic death was received. "TIRED" ALL THE TIME

She felt miserable—drained—low in vitality—lazier in spirit. She hadn't thought of her kidneys, until a friend advised her to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. At once she took Dodd's. The washed out feeling was soon replaced by clear-headed energy and restful sleep. Headache, backache, lassitude and other signs of faulty kidneys disappeared.

a cup of black coffee and rum (of course I just drank the coffee and left the other in the cup). After a good breakfast we were ready for another day.

About 9.30, we boarded our bus and were away, singing and waving farewell to good old Armentieres—and as you all know of the little song we used to sing about "Mademoiselle from Armentieres". I may here say there are now plenty of mademoiselles in the old city, which has again reached its pre-war population of 30,000. This city was only two and a half miles from the front line, and shelled continually during the war. We Canadians spent a lot of time on this front. The city has all been rebuilt, and its citizens gave us pilgrims a very hearty welcome.

Major and I are again on the same bus, but occupy different seats. In a short time we reached the Belgian border where a few questions were asked us before we were allowed to proceed. On our way again we headed for Ypres, our route following the Delue River to Warneton. This ten miles was occupied by the Germans for nearly four years of the war.

The next eight miles covered ground that was fiercely contested in the Battle of Messines. I could see Kemmel Hill (the first place we went into action in Belgium). In the distance, Opposite the Wycheaete—Messines Ridge—there is a large British memorial at the junction of Wycheaete and Holbe Roads.

On through to St. Elou where our 3rd Division fought valiantly for the Craters in the spring of 1916 (this was my first battle), and where the Ypres Salient commences. This itinerary covered ground, every inch of which was tramped by Canadian troops.

Crossing the Ypres Canal many familiar spots were to be recognized, among them Bedford House, used as a dressing station. Shrapnel Corners—which tells its own story at the scene of their entrance of Ypres continued along the Main Road, past Hellfire Corner, where we struck a new road, one and a half miles long, on to Mount Sorrel.

The new road is known as Maple Avenue, and is bordered with maple trees from Canada and is the main approach to the Sanctuary Wood and trenches. We got out here, as this is one of the show places—left just as it was a score of years ago.

Time has not been able to erase the terrible destruction. Butts of trees, cut off at all heights by shells, are still to be seen, and although new trees have grown, and there is a lot of underbrush, the tunnels and trenches look as hard as ever—with lots of water in some. All kinds of war relics are to be seen on the ground about, which certainly shows those who know little or nothing of the horrors of war, just what was tossed back and forth between enemy and allies, regardless of how or where they exploded.

The Belgian who owns this particular stretch of land makes his living by exhibiting it as a show place. In connection with his new home he has a museum and makes a charge of 3 francs.

His Lumbago Went In Two Weeks

Never Felt Better In His Life

Though he tried many so-called remedies, this man continued to suffer with lumbago for years. It troubled him, in fact, until he found the right remedy, Kruschen-Salts. These are his own words—

"I would like to tell you of the benefit I derived from taking Kruschen-Salts. For some years past I have been a sufferer from lumbago. I tried no end of other remedies, but got no relief whatever until one day I saw Kruschen advertised and thought I would give it a trial. I did, and to my surprise the lumbago left me after taking Kruschen for a fortnight. I am now taking it regularly every day and never felt better in my life."—W. K.

Kruschen is a combination of mineral salts which assist in stimulating your liver, kidneys and digestive tract to healthy, regular activity. If you could see how Kruschen dissolves away uric acid deposits, you would agree that the Kruschen treatment should bring relief in cases of lumbago.

admission to these places—and I certainly think it worth the cost. A visit is an education in itself, especially to those unacquainted with the horrors and destruction of war.

I took snaps of the trenches and tunnel entrance, and also of Mrs. Wood, who I mentioned in a previous installment as being 75 years young and having lost many sons in the war.

Back in the busses again, we motored to the Canadian Memorial on the summit of Hill 62, where stands the memorial pillar, erected in honor of the valor of our Canadian boys who fought in defence of the city of Ypres.

Further on the Tyne Cot cemetery was reached. In one corner is a memorial to the missing. On this memorial a semi-circular flint wall, fifteen feet in height and some 500 feet long, are carved on panels of stone the names of 34,888 men to whom the fortunes of war denied known and honored burial as given to their comrades in death. There are also in this cemetery 12,000 graves, 966 of them the resting places of four Canadian boys. Each is marked with headstone and is beautifully kept.

We arrived next at Ypres through the Menin Gate, where we stopped for ten minutes. I took a few snaps here of this memorial gate, on which the names of 56,000 missing soldiers (7,000 of whom are Canadian) are inscribed. Each night at this gate bugles are sounded, and two minutes of silence observed. (To be continued)

Mr. and Mrs. William Morine and Miss Laurie Barron and Milton Morgan motored to Maitland Bridge on Sunday.

Mrs. J. E. Woodworth is visiting her daughter in Saint John.

THE NOVA SCOTIA PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION

To Vimy and Return

4th Installment

Time is passing and we leave Armentieres at 5.30. While waiting for my 'bus I met and had quite a chat with sergeant-major Gill, a former policeman of Bridgetown, and known to many here.

After a further examination of the monument, and drinking in the view of the surrounding country, which could be seen for a great distance, I bought a few souvenirs of the monument as well as two sets of four etchings. I then mailed a few cards to the folks back home, and saw it was time to look up my 'bus for Armentieres.

The drive, which took us thro' Pottise Vimy, Vimy, Levins and Lens (now a large city), was a lovely one. We passed many of the old battle fields, all of which have been greatly changed, and arrived at Armentieres at 4.00 o'clock, (7.00 p. m.). At Armentieres I was billeted to sleep in the large dormitory of a girls' college.

Supper over we were away to the city hall where we were all given an invitation from the municipality and citizens of Armentieres to a musical concert to take place at 21 o'clock. In our honor the Town Hall tower was illuminated, houses and streets decorated and kindly and cordial wishes accorded us. We enjoyed ourselves to the full until the early hours of the morning—then, with friends of mine, returned to our sleeping quarters in the college dormitory (as you know the girls were on their vacation). Arriving there, on the second floor, I found my chum Mavor ("vor" not "vor") just getting ready for bed, only six cots away from mine. We had a chat over what had transpired since our separation on the Ridge, and then turned in for a few hours' sleep.

Up early, we met in the city square at 9.30 o'clock, and here mailed a few more cards, took a few more snaps, and were served
